PRELIMINARY REMARKS.

Work implies some object to be gained. This object may be to court good or to avoid evil. In the final analyses we find man striving his best to achieve what he has before him, in the shape of good and thus add comforts or avoid miseries. It becomes extremely interesting for each man to know when to commence good work, and thus add greater facilities for its success. In season, the work bears successful results. Out of season the objects are defeated and ruin is wilfully courted. A wise man—in his own interests and in the interests of those who are dear and near to him—therefore commences his work when everything is favourable to make it yield the best fruit, while a fool misses very good opportunities by trusting too much in his arrogance and by neglecting to take advantage of the ripe experience of immense cycles of past centuries. The following hints are offered with a view to minimise the chances of evil and facilitate the chances for success.

Days and times which should be avoided for transaction or commencement of good work.

I.—RAHU-KALAM.

			From	To
(1)	Monday	7-30	9 A. M.
(2)	Tuesday	3	4-30 P. M.
(3)	Wednesday	12	1-30 „
(4)	Thursday	1-30	3 „
(5)	Friday	10-30	12 NOON.
(6)	Saturday	9	10 30 A. M.
(7)	Sunday	4-30	6 P. M.

Rahu eclipses the Sun and the Moon and therefore indicates loss of light and vitality. Times specially under the influences of Rahu show evil results and therefore must be carefully avoided in the transaction of all good work.

II.—GOOD AND BAD LUNAR DAYS.

The 4th, 6th, 8th, 12th, and 14th days of the two halves of the lunar month go under the name of Pakshachidras and ought to be avoided in commencing good work. Chidra means a hole or break up and they indicate ruin to good work.

III.—LAGNA THYAJYA.

Avoid the first half ghatika or 12 minutes in all good work in the signs of Mesha, Vishabha, Dhanas and Kanya, as an evil force under the technical name of "Bhujanga" (poison) controls that time. In Makara, Meena Karka, and Vrischika, the last half ghatika should be avoided, as the force called Rahu controls it. Rahu means, darkness or absorption of all vitalising energies. In Mithuna, Kumbha, Simha, and Thula, the half ghati in the middle of those signs should be avoided for doing auspicious work as an evil energy called "Grudhra" controls it. Grudhra means a vulture or that which destroys good.

IV.—NAMAKARANA.

The following must be consulted for Namakarana or giving a name to a newborn child. (baptising).

In constellations, Anoradha, Punarvasu, Makha, Oottara, Oottarashadha, Oottarabhadra, Satabisha, Swati, Dhanista, Sravana, Rohini, Aswini, Mrugasira, Raivati, Hasta, Pooshyami, in fixed signs, when the 3th house is clean and without a planet, on Friday, Wednesday, Thursday, Monday and Tuesday, the name may be given to a newborn child.

V.—GOOD DAYS AND CONSTELLATIONS FOR ANNAPRASANA (THE 1ST FEEDING OF A CHILD.)

(1) Punarvasu, (2) Mrigasira, (3) Dhanista, (4) Pushyami, (5) Hasta (6) Swati, (7) Aswini, (8) Anoradha, (9) Sravana, (10) Satabhisha, (11) Oottara, (12) Oottarashada, (13) Oottarabhadra, (14) and Chitta are good. All the Lunar days except 8, 12, 6, 4, 14, 15, 30 and 9 are good. The 10th house from the Lagna (the feeding sign) should be without any planet.

VI.—AKSHARASWIKARANA (COMMENCING EDUCATION.)

The following days and constellations are good :—Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, (1) Aswini, (2) Punarvasu, (3) Hasta, (4) Chitta, (5) Swati, (6) Anoradha, (7) Jaista, (8) Raivati, (9) Sravana. The following lunar days are preferred:—1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 10, 11, 12, 13. The eighth house from the Lagna should be clean without a planet.

VII.—UPANAYANA OR THE CEREMONY FOR INVESTITURE OF THE SACRED THREAD.

The following 15 constellations are good:—(1) Aswini, (2) Rohini, (3) Mrigasira, (4) Punarvasu, (5) Oottara, (6) Hasta, (7) Chitta, (8) Swati, (9) Anoradha, (10) Oottarashada, (11) Sravana, (12) Dhanista, (13) Oottarabhada, (14) Pushyami, (15) Raivati. The following week days are good:—Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Monday. The Rasees or signs viz. Aries, Taurus, Gemini, Cancer, Virgo, Libra and Pisces are preferred. There should not be any planets in the 8th house.

VIII.—MARRIAGE.

Lunar Months.—Kartika and Margasira are ordinary. Magha, Phalgun, Vaisakha and Jaista are good.

Constellations.—(1) Moola, (2) Anoradha, (3) Mrigasira, (4) Rohini, (5) Hasta, (6) Raivati, (7) Swati, (8) Makha, (9) Oottara, (10) Oottarashada, (11) Oottarabhada. All these are preferred.

Jupiter, Venus or Mercury in the Lagna or Kendras, except the 7th, will produce beneficial results from the marriage.

The last five days of a month, Rikthathithies, New-moonday, Ashtami, Shasti, Vyatipatha and Vydruti should be left out. The 7th house from the marriage Lagna should be without any planets. Venus must not be in the 6th and Mars should be scrupulously avoided in the 8th house,

IX.—NUPTIALS.

The constellations—(1) Sravana, (2) Rohini, (3) Hasta, (4) Anoradha, (5) Swati, (6) Raivati, (7) Moola, (8) Oottara, (9) Oottarashada, (10) Oottarabhada, (11) Satabhisha are good. The 4th, 8th, 6th, 14th, 15th and 30th of a lunar month are bad as also the week days, Sunday, Tuesday, and Saturday. The following Rasis' (signs) are good—Taurus, Gemini, Cancer, Leo, Virgo, Libra, Aquarius, Pisces and Sagittarius. There should be no planets in the 8th house.

X.—TRAVELLING.

On the 4th day of the dark-half of a Lunar month, travelling towards the east is forbidden, on the 2nd and the 10th of a bright half towards the north, on the 3rd and 11th towards the south-east, on the 5th and 13th towards the south, on the 6th and 14th towards the west, on the 7th and 15th towards the north-west, on the 8th of the bright half and Amavasya towards the north-east.

Travelling towards the East on Tuesday, towards the South on Monday and Saturday, towards the West on Wednesday and Thursday, towards the North on Friday and Sunday are recommended in the astrological works.

Persons should not go towards the—

East on Saturday and Monday.

West on Sunday and Friday.

North on Tuesday and Wednesday.

South on Thursday.

Good constellations for travelling are—(1) Mrigasira, (2) Aswini (3) Pushyami, (4) Punarvasu, (5) Hasta, (5) Anuradha, (7) Sravana, (8) Moola, (9) Dhanista, (10) Raivathi.

Travelling in Sagittarius gives victory over enemies, in Taurus the person gets happiness, in Virgo he gets fever, in Cancer political success, in Leo prosperity, in Scorpio boils and wounds, in Gemini and Aries he suffers death or accident, in Libra success, in Capricornus imprisonment and disgrace, in Pisces fear from heavy rains or storms and in Aquarius good beating from robbers or bad people.

When beneficial planets occupy quadrants or trines and evil planets occupy the 6th, 3rd and 11th houses, travelling is recommended. Here it means that at the time a person starts, some sign of the Zodiac must rise as a matter of course and this is called the Yatra Lagna or the Lagna (rising sign) for travelling. The conjunctions of planets must be taken with reference to this Lagna.

Every day at about 12 o'clock in the noon, the Sun necessarily gets into the most powerful state and that particular sign where he is most powerful is called Abhijillagna, and this, it is stated by eminent Astrological writers, will minimise the evil influences a great deal and will facilitate success.

Those who go on a pilgrimage in the following Rasis will meet death; Aries, Leo, Virgo, Scorpio and Aquarius.

XI.—TARA BALA.

In the preceding paragraphs certain constellations are given as good for travelling, marriage, nuptials, education etc. The "Punchaka" or the “Five-source-energy” should be carefully consulted, and if that proves unfavourable then good work ought not to be commenced at all. There are also two other sources of evil which should be carefully avoided. (1) They are Tara Bala or the strength of constellations and (2) Chandra Bala or the strength of the Moon. Short directions will be given here to find out these. First try and remember the constellation (Nakshatra) which rules a man at his birth, and then count from it to the constellation which rules on the day at the time of starting or marriage or education and divide the figure by nine if it is divisible or if not take it as it is. Then apply the following (1) Janma, (2) Sampat, (3) Vipat, (4) Kshema, (5) Pratyak, (6) Sadhana, (7) Nidhana, (8) Mitra, and (9) Parama Mitra. The names are indicative of their own results. Janma means birth and may be used in some cases but generally it shows danger to body. Sampat means wealth or prosperity and it is good. Vipat means loss or accident and it is bad. Kshema means good or prosperity and it is good. Pratyak means loss of business or obstacles. Sadhana indicates steady work and it is good. Nidhana shows death and must be avoided in all sorts of work. Mitra and Parama Mitra indicate friendship and they are good. Take one or two illustrations. A man is born under the star Raivati and he wants to travel on the 10th March 1906. Counting from Raivati we get on the 10th March 1906, the constellation Poobba and that means 12 constellations from Raivati to Poobba both inclusive. Deduct 9 out of this and then there is a balance of 3. According to the table given above 3 indicates Vipat Tara and he ought not to travel on that day as he is sure to meet with an accident. A man is born in Aswini and he wants to have his marriage celebrated on the 24th of April 1903. On that day we find Bharani and counting from Aswini we get 2. Two, as per above rules, indicates Sampat Tara and is good, but as Bharani is a bad and condemned star for all good work, he should not get married although it is good for his star. Chundrabala means the position of the moon at the time of birth or Lagna of a person. A man born in Aswini will have his moon placed in Aries. He wants to do a good thing on a day which contains the star Raivati. The moon accordingly occupies Pisces on that day and will be therefore in the 12th house for a man who had the moon in Aries at the time of his birth. A man born in Makha has his moon placed in Leo. He wants to do a thing on a day which is under the control of the star Sravana. But moon on that day will be in Capricornus, and as Capricornus is the 6th from Leo he must not do good work on that day.

Therefore the Moon should be avoided in the 6th, 8th and 12th houses specially for all good work from his position at the time of birth or from the rising sign of the person at the time of his birth. Moon, it must be remembered, represents mind and positions unfavourably occupied by him, will cause, sorrow, loss and misery to mind. People should not run away with the idea that having secured these conjunctions, they will at once achieve all favourable results and avoid all evil influences. The successes and failures of men are not so easy to be explained or guided. They are brought about by very complicated energies working in many directions, and Astrology, like hygiene, throws a flood of good light upon minimising the evil and augmenting the good. Later on I shall explain what these mean.

XII — PANCHAKA.

There are several methods by which this source of good and bad time is prescribed. I shall here state briefly the most familiar and the easiest method for reference and guidance. Take the number of lunar days from the first of each lunar month, the number of weekdays from Sunday, the number of constellations from Aswini and the number of signs or Lagnas from Mesha and add them all together. A certain total figure will be obtained. Divide this by nine and look to the remainder. If the remainder is one, it is called Mrityu (death or danger). If it is two it goes under the name of Valni (Fire). If it is four it is called Rajapanchaka (royal). If the remainder is six it is called Chorapanchaka (thievish) and if it is eight it gets the name of Rogapanchaka (disease). If the remainder, three or five or seven or there is no remainder, then it is good. Take two or three illustrations. After finding the Tara and Chundrabala good; suppose a man wants to have his marriage on the 25th of May 1906, say at about 10 o'clock in the morning.

The lunar day is the 2nd of Jaista and this gives us two. The week day is Friday and it gives six counting from Sunday. The constellation is Mrigasira and it is the fifth from Aswini or it gives us five. The rising sign on that day at about 10 o'clock in the morning will be Cancer or Kataka and this is the 4th from Aries and gives four. Now totalling up all these we get lunar day two, plus week day six, plus constellation five, plus rising sign 4 or 17 This divided by 9 will give us a remainder of 8 and 8th indicates Rogapan- chaka or that which shows sickness and misery. This must be avoided. Suppose on that day he tries to have the marriage at 12 o'clock. Then he will have the Lagana of Simha and as this gives 5, the total comes up to 13 which when divided by 9 gives no remainder and therefore will be good; provided other combinations are also favourable. A man wishes to have his nuptials at 11-30' o'clock in the night on the 30th of June 1906. The lunar day is 9. The week day is 7. The constellation is Chitta at the time and it is 14. The sign rising on that day at 11-30 o'clock in the night will be about 45-30 ghatikas after sunrise and we get therefore the sign Meena which is the 12th from Aries. Totalling up all these we get $9+7+14+12$ or 42. Divide this by 9 and there is a remainder of 6, which denotes Chorapanchaka. If he has his nuptials then there will be frequent thefts in his house, etc.

There are very many things—as in medicine—so in astrology—which when properly understood and followed would tend to minimise the chances of evil influences indicated by planets, lunar days, constellations, and rising signs, and in all these the idea seems to be to avert the evils which would arise as a matter of fact from the attraction or combination of the subtle influences contained in time and the chemical changes which arise from the conjunctions and repulsions of various forms of energies, some of which are visible, while many of which are subtle and very mysterious in their nature. A wise man controls his planets while a fool obeys them.

XIII.—KSHORNA OR SHAVING.

People seem to laugh at the idea when astrologers tell them that they should have this operation on particular days and at particular times. The science of electricity (Vidyutsakti) was so perfectly known to the ancients that with a view to concentrate and conserve all good energies in man, and to dissipate and get rid of all evil forces in the human body, they have laid down certain rules, which when studied by themselves look quite arbitrary and meaningless, but which when carefully examined in the light of conservation of energy—principle—look most wonderful and striking with regard to the knowledge the ancient Rishis possessed in physical sciences. The famous scientist Rishi Vatchayayana thus explains the principles of electricity in his Vidyutsakti Prakarana or the treatise on the exhibition of electric currents in the human body. He observes in the Sutras thus—“ Akshi (eyes), Vakshasi (chest) Kakshaocha (stomach) or belly, Siro (head) Madyayathatha Hridi (heart) Hastashu (hands) Uptasa

(feminine organ) Nabhoucha (navel) Medra (male organ) Adho Bhaga Nalayaha (lower intestines or canals) Bnddhistanay (seat of intelligence) Brahma Danday (the seat of the kala or ray of Brahma) Pranakosay (the seat of life) Prakasatay (shines or illuminates). Hence cutting off hair from the head, means so much loss of vitality to the body and such times should be selected as would minimise or neutralise the flow of electric currents from those sources. The injunctions are for men, who wish to, or who possess abundance of electricity. The police warn the people as guardians of property to be careful and shut all sources of danger from which thieves might enter their houses and take away their property. But in the case of veritable beggars or mendicants, who have no property to lose, the advice of the police looks quite absurd and they may even call the police fools for giving such warning. But their advice is sound and necessary in the case of rich men. Sciences also will have to be interpreted in their proper spheres. Shaving operations and cutting or peering the nails etc. should always be conducted when the subtle influences exercised by the lunar days, constellations, planetary conjunctions etc. are such as would not act prejudicially against the conservation of the godly or spiritual energy in man or in other words when the Satwa Guna (vital energy) is not likely to suffer from these operations, or when the chances of its outflow are minimised. Hence good days must be fixed for such acts. Shaving may be had in the following constellations—(1) Pooshyami (2) Punarvasu (3) Raivati (4) Hasta (5) Sravaua (6) Dhanista (7) Mrigasira (8) Aswini (9) Chitta (10) Jaista (11) Satabhisha and (12) Swathi. Those who take a shave on the 4th of the lunar day court ruin to mother, on the 14th lunar day ruin comes to sister, on the 6th day misery to brothers, on Parva days (Amavasya and Poornama) misery comes to father, on the 1st and 9th days loss occurs to wealth and grain and on the 8th evil befalls on the man's wife. The best week days are Monday, Wednesday and Thursday.
