

The Reviewer.

1990

happiest style. The lectures were amusing, and as composed of young inspirers of our generation with in-ceedings by ex- in a very effec- questions, and great satisfac- those of the last ld freely, may be largely exertions of harmes us; on the contrary she has infused a large hall to overflowing with very intelligent and appreciative audiences, whose interest in the lectures has been of the increasing rather than of the waning order. When a speaker can not only draw but hold an audience composed largely of some of the most intelligent and thoughtful people of our city, it is evidence that the speaking is of a high order. These lectures have not only been an intellectual treat but a financial success, inasmuch as they have interested a class of people who cheerfully

GRAND RAPIDS.—A two days' quarterly meeting was held at this place the latter part of November, during which Mr. J. W. Kenyon delivered five lectures. Of the meeting and the general state of Spiritualism Mr. K. writes: "There was a large gathering of people from HUDSON.—Mary Foster, upon renewing her subscription, Nov. 21st, writes: "I wish to thank you for notifying me that my subscription had nearly expired, as I should be very sorry to lose a single number. I enjoy reading the Banner of Light very much, and have read again and again the lectures entitled 'My Heavenly Home.' I wish to contribute a portion of the enclosed amount to 'God's Poor Fund.'"

From Whitcomb, Dutchess Co., N. Y., Nov. 23d, 1856.
Asabel H. Hawland, (of heart disease,) aged 70 years.

[Obituary Notices not exceeding twenty lines published gratuitously. When they exceed this number, two cents for each additional line, payable in advance, is required. Ten words make a line.]

the beautiful and solemn relations of the earthly and heavenly worlds, and to the means of attaining the ever-longed-for rest of soul and body of angel ministry.

Bound in cloth, 22 pages, 1/2, postage 5 cents.
For sale by COLBY & RICH.

Is It the Despair of Science?

BY W. D. GUNNING.

This pamphlet is very pleasantly written, suggesting the possibility of solving the mysteries of spiritual manifestations by tracing the analogies offered by the subtler forces of Nature.

Paper, 15 cents.
For sale by COLBY & RICH.

Mr. A. J. Cranstoun, Esq., writes us from Lucerne, Switzerland: "I am very glad you have been able to increase the size of the Banner of Truth. What an admirable discourse was that of Mr. Colville in the paper of the number for Oct. 1842."

