6 WEEKS AGO HE SAID: "SHE'S TOO SKINNY!"

Posed by professional models

NEW DISCOVERY GIVES THOUSANDS 10 TO 25 POUNDS—in a few weeks!

If you seem "born to be skinny"—if you've tried everything to gain weight but with no success—here's a new scientific discovery that has given thousands of happy people just the pounds and rounded curves they wanted—and so quickly they were amazed!

Not only has this new easy treatment brought solid, naturally attractive flesh, but also normally lovely color, new pep, and the many friends these bring.

Body-building discovery

Scientists recently discovered that thousands of people are thin and rundown for the single reason that they do not get enough Vitamin B and iron in their daily food. Without these vital elements you may lack appetite, and you don't get the most body-building good out of the food you eat.

Now one of the richest known sources of Vitamin B is cultured ale yeast. By a new process this yeast is now concentrated 7 times, made 7 times more powerful. Then it is combined with 3 kinds of iron, pasteurized whole yeast and other valuable ingredients in pleasant tablets.

If you, too, need these vital elements to aid in building you up, get these new Ironized Yeast tablets from your druggist today. Note how quickly they increase your appetite and help you get more benefit from the body-building foods that are so essential. Then, day after day, watch flat chest develop and skinny limbs round out to natural attractiveness. See better color and natural beauty come to your cheeks. Soon you feel like an entirely different person, with new personal charm.

Money-back guarantee

No matter how skinny and rundown you may be from lack of sufficient Vitamin B and iron, these new "7-power" Ironized Yeast tablets should aid in building you up in just a few weeks, as they have helped thousands. If not delighted with the benefits of the very first package, your money instantly refunded.

Only be sure you get genuine Ironized Yeast. Look for the letters "IY" stamped on each tablet.

Special FREE offer

To start thousands building up their health right away, we make this FREE offer. Purchase a package of Ironized Yeast tablets at once, cut out the seal on the box and mail it to us with a clipping of this paragraph. We will send you a fascinating new book on health, "New Facts About Your Body." Remember, results with the very first package—or money refunded. At all druggists. Ironized Yeast Co., Inc., Dept. 775, Atlanta, Georgia.

The man who has directed the home study training of more men for the Radio Industry than any other man in America.

Be a Radio Expert

Many make $30 $50 $75 a week

I will train you at home for many Good Spare Time and Full Time Radio Jobs

Do you want to make more money? Radio offers you many opportunities for well-paying spare time and full time jobs. And you don't have to give up your present job or leave home and spend a lot of money to become a Radio Expert.

Many Radio Experts Make $30, $50, $75 a Week

Radio broadcasting stations employ engineers, operators, station managers and pay up to $5,000 a year. Spare time Radio set servicing pays as much as $200 to $500 a year—full time jobs with Radio jobbers, manufacturers and dealers as much as $30, $50, $75 a week. Many Radio Experts operate their own full time or part time Radio sales and service businesses. Radio manufacturers and jobbers employ testers, inspectors, foremen, engineers, servicemen, paying up to $6,000 a year. Radio operators on ships get good pay and see the world besides. Automobile, police, aviation, commercial Radio, and loud speaker systems are newer fields offering good opportunities now and for the future. Television promises to open many good jobs soon. Men I have trained are holding good jobs in these branches of Radio. Read their statements. Mail the coupon.

There's a Real Future in Radio for Well Trained Men

Radio already gives jobs to more than 300,000 people. In 1935 over $300,000,000 worth of sets, tubes and parts were sold—an increase of 20% over 1934! Over 1,100,000 auto Radios were sold in 1935, 25% more than in 1934! 22,000,000 homes are today equipped with Radios, and every year millions of these sets go out of date and are replaced with newer models. Millions more need servicing, new tubes, repairs, etc. Broadcasting stations pay their employees (exclusive of artists) more than $23,000,000 a year! And Radio is a new industry, still growing fast! A few hundred $30, $50, $75-a-week jobs have grown to thousands in less than 20 years!

Many Make $5, $10, $15 a Week Extra in Spare Time While Learning

Practically every neighborhood needs a good spare time serviceman. The day you enroll I start sending you

Extra Money Job Sheets. They show you how to do Radio repair jobs that you can cash in on quickly! Throughout your training I send you plans that made good spare time money—$200 to $500 a year—for hundreds of fellows. My training is famous as "the Course that pays for itself."

I Give You Practical Experience

My Course is not all book training. I send you special Radio equipment and show you how to conduct experiments and build circuits which illustrate important principles used in modern Radio receivers, broadcast stations and loudspeaker installations. I show you how to build testing apparatus for use in spare time work from this equipment. This 50-50 method of training makes learning at home interesting, fascinating, practical.

You Get a Money Back Agreement

I am so sure that I can train you successfully that I agree in writing to refund every penny you pay me if you are not satisfied with my Lessons and Instructional Service when you finish. I'll send you a copy of this agreement with my Free Book.

The Day of Your Birth Remains A

By MORTON
Noted Authority On

WHAT a fascinating subject Astrology is! When anyone admits knowing something about it, there is instant and breathless clamor for information.

And as few astrologers can refuse such a plea, the air is soon surcharged with questions concerning love, journeys, health, finances, prospects and numerous other queries.

It is easy enough for an astrologer, particularly one aided by an understanding of numerical vibrations, to answer some of these questions by merely ascertaining the day and month of birth of the inquirer. But the data is not enough when more explicit details are required.

Essential Information

At this point the astrologer will explain to his hearers that to get more accurate knowledge, it is also essential to know the year of birth.

The instant this detail is supplied the astrologer can then refer to his ephemeris showing the aspects on the day and month and year in question. A brief glance provides the astrologer with enough material for a much longer talk which is, under those circumstances, extraordinarily accurate.

However, inasmuch as Astrology is a correct and accurate science, a complete and individual horoscope based on the specific hour, day, month, year and place of birth is indispensable. The astrologer makes this clear to his audience—of one or more—and emphasizes the need of working with the Natal Chart in searching for the deeper truths of the personality, as well as the effect of progressed and current aspects.

The Deciding Factor

It is intriguing for the astrologer to compare the procession of the Planets, both progressed and transiting, with the position of the orbs in the Natal Chart.

Without adequate experience, an amateur astrologer might look at the day's aspects and immediately identify them as a calamitous configuration, merely because a square or an opposition or a conjunction of the so-called malific Planets occurs.

Personal Environment

Perhaps this aspect seems to identify itself with some difficulty which might occur in the First House, sometimes called the House of Personal Environment. And the person whose chart is being analyzed might become panicky at the prediction.

This is a bad practice, and a competent astrologer rarely makes such sweeping statements—because, irrespective of the daily aspects, it is the position of the Planets in the Natal Chart which indicates what the deciding factor in the situation might be.

A Specific Example

For instance, let us say, the Planet Mars transits Scorpio while the Planet Uranus is transiting the polar opposite Sign, Taurus. This brings about the opposition of the Planets Mars and Uranus. As a matter of fact, this aspect will be constantly active during the greater part of this year, 1937, affecting people who have a number of Planets in either or both these Signs—Scorpio and Taurus.

Should one of these Signs of the Zodiac be the occupant of the First House, i.e., the Ascendant, then the situation would be more pronounced.

The immediate tendency is to cry out that this means volcanoes, earthquakes, fires and all forms of sudden violence, disruption and accidents. Such predictions, in fact, have been widely published in the years' mundane forecasts, but should be taken with reservations.

It is true that under this configuration these things will be happening over the face of the Earth and will involve many human beings. But this does not necessarily mean that each Scorpio and Taurus person will be drawn into the turmoil. Those who have strong Taurus and Scorpio charts are, astrologically speaking, protected to a great extent. The signification of this Planetary opposition should be envisaged as presaging universal rather than individual disturbance.

After a Slow Start

Let us now assume that we are studying the Natal Chart of a young man who has Scorpio Ascendant, in an early degree, with Sun close by, and Mercury about halfway through Scorpio.

This young man, as is obvious from a survey of this division of his radical horoscope, was slow in action in his early youth. Yet, during 1937, he would be aroused and stirred to the very depths of his enormous resources, physical, mental and spiritual.

The Planet Mars, the Natal Chart reveals, is in the Tenth House which has jurisdiction over Business, and Mars is in beautiful trine with the Planet Venus in the Second House which governs Finance.

By this we know that the transiting of Mars in Scorpio will arouse and stir our young man into action, greatly benefiting him in his personal, business and financial environments.

Beneficial Results

Now we come to Uranus, the other planetary culprit. In the Natal Chart of the young man whose radical and current prospects are under consideration, we find the Planets Uranus and Jupiter in close conjunction in the Eleventh House which has dominion over friendship—and both these Planets are in trine to the Planet Neptune in the Seventh House, ruling partnership.

The present opposition of Uranus and Mars, therefore, may bring him beneficial friendships, partnerships, astrological interests, social pleasures, a sea voyage perhaps, and possibly other big opportunities.

Worth Knowing

The qualified astrologer watches the progressed and transiting Planets, but in the final analysis gives preference to the manner in which they affect the Natal Chart.

So-called bad aspects are, to an extent, the concern of everyone because world events and conditions are brought under the influence and focused by the unfavorable squares, oppositions and conjuncts.

But for the delineation of the aspects which they concern any one person's horoscope, these configurations should be ignored as omens of evil and should only be regarded as activating stimulants.

Therefore, it is often valuable to know what the horoscope set up for the day of birth would show. It is my judgment that the only accurate and reliable basis for astrological diagnosis is the Natal Chart.

Is that money enough for you? Do you want the freedom it gives—freedom from work—the opportunity to live anywhere in the world in luxury?

Well then, just remember that thousands of young men—men no older than yourself—are earning, good money today. And getting it! But you've got to be full of vitality...bursting with health, all the time. You can't afford, for a single minute, to be dragged down and depressed by constipation—by clogging, poisonous wastes.

So if you want to step up your energy . . . if you want a quick mind and a healthy body . . . remember this one thing and never forget it—see that your bowels move regularly!

But the way you move your bowels is important. Instead of taking a laxative that disturbs your system and upsets your stomach, take gentle Ex-Lax.

Ex-Lax limits its action entirely to the intestines, where the actual constipation exists. It gives the intestines a gentle nudge, emptying the bowels thoroughly—but easily and comfortably. Ex-Lax works in such a simple, common-sense way. And it is such a pleasure to take. Ex-Lax tastes just like delicious chocolate. At all drug stores—10c and 25c. (In Canada—15c and 35c.)

Progress of Major Planets—1937

THIS unique map shows the progress of the Major Planets during 1937. Jupiter, Uranus, Pluto and Neptune remain in their respective Signs throughout the year.

Saturn leaves Pisces on April 25th, entering Aries on that day. Saturn returns to Pisces for a while. This is called retrograde motion. After Saturn goes direct, he again moves forward to Aries where he is to remain for his full transit period of approximately two and a half years. 2 1/2

The small duplicates of the Saturn symbol show this apparent forward and backward movement.

The only other Major Planet so represented is Mars which started the year in Libra and progresses to Sagittarius. By May 15th he returns to Scorpio, because he also is in retrograde motion. After he goes direct during the summer, he keeps moving forward until he reaches Pisces.

The Sun, Moon, Mercury and Venus are not included in this chart because their motion is so rapid and the aspects change so swiftly, that only the daily ephemeris can show their mutual relationship.

As the Planets move in their appointed orbits, they form angles and contacts with each other which are, astrologically considered, favorable, adverse, or neutral. The Square is an adverse aspect. So is the Opposition. The Trine is considered favorable. There are sub-divisions of these aspects with which you will be able to familiarize yourself, as you progress with your knowledge of astrology.

GRETA GARBO

ROBERT TAYLOR

By ADRIAN D. LORNER

Famous Astrological Analyst

IT IS a puzzle to many why Greta Garbo is able to be so exotic in her dramatic interpretations, without ever having had a devastating love affair of her own.

This might be a riddle to the ordinary analyst, but astrologically there is a reason for this apparent paradox.

When Greta Garbo was born, September 18, 1906, the Sun was in Virgo, "The Sign of the Virgin." This solar starting point gave her beauty, charm, and grace; also a strict moral and personal code.

The Planet Mercury, ruler of Virgo was also in its own Sign at the time of Miss Garbo's birth, enhancing her intellectual faculties. Her mastery of the English language is an example of her amazing mentality.

You who have seen and heard her on the screen are familiar with her superb acting, as well as her clear, resonant voice. At times there is a slight, almost imperceptible accent. This is inconsequential when you remember that she learned to speak English in early womanhood, after her speech habits had been definitely established. This alone would entitle her to a fine score even if she had done little else to keep up her high record. But in point of fact she is a very ambitious person.

She Is Emotional

It is a mistake to think that Miss Garbo lacks emotion and that she is only synthetically romantic. As a matter of fact, she is a very ardent lady, except that she has learned to keep her feelings under rigid control, so much so that it is almost second nature with her now to be frigid in her contact with others.

But those familiar with Astrology know that anyone born with Venus in Scorpio, as was the case at Greta Garbo's birth, is far from being an emotional iceberg. Fortunately for Miss Garbo, her Virgo rectitude enables her to separate her professional from her personal emotions.

The Planet Mars was also in Virgo at her birth, and this, with the other two aspects gives her triple sensitiveness. Incidentally, to this Mars position may be traced Greta Garbo's phenomenal success in a land so far from her place of birth.

Barricaded as Venus is, therefore, by Virgo influences, the romantic part of her nature is dormant rather than absent. She could be tender and lavish in her affections. Even the delay of personal courtship has not destroyed that spark. It is still quite potent. Some day she may have a chance to reveal this part of her emotional self to her true soul mate.

A Born Actor

Robert Taylor was born August 5, 1911. He has an actor's horoscope—with Sun in Leo, and Moon in Sagittarius, both Fire Signs.

He might even branch out later and become a talented musician in addition to his dramatic attainments.

His is really not a flexible nature, and he likes to tell others what to do rather than to accept instructions. But so strong is his wish to become a great actor that he is submitting to direction with docility.

Robert Taylor's horoscope indicates that he can adapt himself easily to almost any role and he likes to cooperate with his supporting cast. He likes to understand his part and enjoys developing each characterization accurately and fully.

Despite his association with the lovely ladies of the screen, Mr. Taylor's chart shows that he is using his emotional resourcefulness to add lustre to his chosen art rather than for personal gratification. Personal romance is sometimes of secondary importance when Venus is in Virgo—as it was at the time of Robert Taylor's birth.

Be that as it may, from an astrological angle, Robert Taylor is a successful actor, not because he happens to be lucky, but because he has the horoscope of a determined and enterprising worker who is able to express himself through dramatic interpretations.

Why They "Clicked"

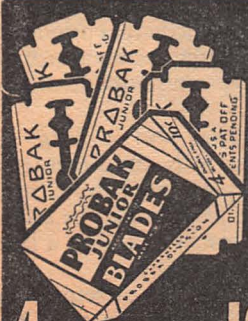

The success which Greta Garbo and Taylor scored in "Camille" is not accidental, according to astrology. Their charts reveal several similarities. For example, both Mercury and Venus were in Virgo at the time of his birth—the same Sign of the Zodiac in which the Sun, Mercury and Mars transited at the time of Miss Garbo's birth. Mentally they were en rapport when working on this famous masterpiece, and each found stimulation in the other's grasp of the respective parts.

Another astrological meeting point for them is the fact that the Planet Jupiter was in Scorpio when he was born. You will remember that this is the Sign of the Zodiac where Venus was at Miss Garbo's birth. He is adventurous and ambitious, while she is imaginative and industrious, according to the influence of Jupiter in Cancer when she was born.

Much in Common

There are differences in the nationalities and upbringing of Greta Garbo and Robert Taylor, but they have much in common and did they so desire, theirs might become a delightful friendship—not sentimental perhaps, but worthwhile to each, nevertheless. Both their horoscopes are replete with aspects which denote artistic merit, professional success and mutual cooperation.

With such admirable astrological background, they ought to go far in their chosen careers—and neither need hesitate to work with the other again.

The Moon's Message to YOU!

ALUNATION, as the New Moon is called, occurs when the Sun and Moon seem to be in conjunction; that is, to pass each other in such a way that the Moon is an invisible object to observers on the Earth.

Astrologically this is an important aspect. When the other configurations at the time of a New Moon are favorable, then the month to follow is interpreted as one that is likely to be peaceful and harmonious.

The Lunation of May 10th brings elements of new hope and fresh vigor for troubled humanity. For Mercury joins the Sun and Moon today in a close tie-up with Neptune—of a harmonious character, releasing new ideas, inspirations and fresh points of view. Venus, too, adds a conciliatory and gracious quality to the scene.

For the time being, Mars and Uranus have entered into a truce and the undercurrent of hatred and distrust, so angrily surging in recent months, sinks below the surface.

It is true that Jupiter and Pluto are in opposite camps and the world is still not ready to sign a treaty of peace—but chaos is not altogether the victor either.

A lot of personal initiative will be successful, however, and young people will show of what stuff they are made. Whether you are young in spirit or in years, use this month to do some active work. Keep busy. That is the Moon's message to you!

THE SUN IS

A Brief Analysis of

• By PAUL

Author of "A Short

EVERY day the Earth aspects the Sun from a different angle—a total of 360 degrees from one vernal equinox to another. These degrees are divided into twelve parts, allowing thirty degrees to each part. The Earth's progress through the Zodiac forms the Sign divisions, allowing thirty degrees of the Zodiac to each Sign. These signs are identified with certain celestial constellations. For astrological purposes, only the twelve major constellations are listed in connection with their related Zodiacal Signs.

Beginning approximately March 21st when the Sun enters Aries, a Fire Sign, human beings are classified in Astrology according to their solar birth periods. Each group is also divided by the degree position of the Sun on the day of birth—and the modification of the planetary positions at this auspicious (or sometimes rather inauspicious) Zodiacal starting point.

Analyses of Birth Periods

That you are interested in your own solar birth sign goes without saying. There is so much to be told about the Sun position alone that unnumbered volumes have been written about it. But it is possible to learn much even from a brief outline, and the following synopsis analyzes each solar birth period.

ARIES. You who were born between March 21 and April 20 have Sun in the first sign of the Zodiac. It belongs to the Fire Triplicity and is ruled by the Planet Mars. You are impetuous, aggressive, energetic, direct, and emotional. You are not tolerant, not even with yourself, when it comes to driving force. You are determined to conquer obstacles, and even though you apparently lose interest quickly nevertheless you often fight on—even against unequal odds when others who are deemed more persistent are ready to give up.

Because you don't like to be a drudge, you are not considered patient. But where your own wishes are involved, you are exceedingly resourceful. You like to be a leader. You are ambitious and have a good deal of initiative. You like to have your own way and in any contest, you want to be first. You don't always win because you can't be bothered with details and so don't take time enough to prepare yourself for the struggle.

Resourceful

Where the victory is easy, then you are in the first rank. You are not easily discouraged. You can often find the silver lining in any cloud. You can always figure out ways and means to foil Father Depression. You need rest, but you wait until the last minute to get it—for fear you might miss something. During the Saturn transit in Aries which begins in April of this year and which will continue for two-and-a-half years, (with the exception of its retrograding to Pisces for some months beginning this summer) you may find a startling change in your personality.

With Saturn acting as a sort of brake to your nature, you might find yourself more prudent, more dignified, more grave. You can make this a reconstruction period, stabilizing your affairs on a sound basis. Develop your resourcefulness and practice economy of physical as well as material assets. You have fine recuperative faculties and this is the time to use them in a constructive way.

Sink or Swim

YOU can do some noble things during the next thirty months or so—or you can sink down to the bottom if you let Saturn submerge you. Pride is your stimulant as well as your handicap. Saturn may remove the blinkers from your eyes, as it were, and then you will be able to see yourself in relation to your background with clear vision, placing pride where it belongs. Start the Aries-Saturn union with a clean slate and you may find that you are able to solve your problems much more accurately than you did before. Thus can the ponderous Saturn train you to find the gold nuggets in your own character.

The "Healing Touch"

TAURUS. The Sun was in Taurus when you were born, between the 21st of April and the 20th of May. You belong to the first Sign in the Earth Trinity which is ruled by the Planet Venus. Good health, a well proportioned physique, a magnetic personality and symmetrical features are the gifts which Nature bestowed on the majority of your solar group. You are neither puny in body nor mind and that is why you have magnetic appeal to those who are small, sick, or stunted. You strengthen those who are weak by your very presence. It is natural for you to be sympathetic, soothing and comforting to the infirm and there are many in your solar group who have "the healing touch."

You are kind and good natured, but when you feel yourself being imposed on, you are like a stone wall. You like to have your own way, and as Taurus is a Fixed Sign, you do not often give up a notion once it has become part of your stock in trade. You have strong self-control and driving force—although you are rather indolent unless driven by necessity.

A Good Head

Intellectually you can be very superior, and instinctively you know which ideas to pick out of those generally floating about for your working material. You are acquisitive and that is why you can absorb knowledge and attract possessions with a minimum of effort. You must live in a wholesome atmosphere, away from besmirching influences to be at your best. If you are surrounded by those who are jealous, stupid, or sordid, you lose some of your friendliness.

You succeed best with the co-operation of those who are constructive, practical and energetic in viewpoint and effort, the same as you are. It is now two years since the Planet Uranus entered your solar birth Sign, Taurus, and he will continue to make his residence therein until 1942. As is well known, the Planet Uranus stands for the unexpected, the original, the surprising element. You, with your steady, systematic alignment are not especially enchanted with the passing of Uranus through your Sun House. The prospect of change does not thrill you.

A Real Test

But things cannot remain as they were—particularly with Mars occupying the zodiacal opposing arc. If you are too strenuous in your resistance to the upheaval, you may add friction to the energy that is being created by Mars right now. Instead of helping the cosmic forces to stimulate your tempo, your very attitude might wreck the plans which you want to carry out. And then you would blame the Planets for your downfall.

It is to your advantage, therefore, to know the full capacity of these revolving spheres, so you may co-ordinate everything you do in harmony with their vibrations. Taurus people are facing a real test. What will be your average?

Experimentally Inclined

GEMINI. From May 21st to June 20th the Sun transits Gemini, an Air Sign that is ruled by the Planet Mercury, giving your natal group highly mental qualities. You have a diversity of interests, principally of the intellectual type. You are quick-thinking, active, mentally alert and investigative.

You like to experiment, getting more satisfaction out of the why and wherefore of a problem than out of its ultimate solution. You like to putter around with all sorts of gadgets, keeping your head as well as your hands busy. You can be equally occupied with setting things to rights where they are obviously wrong, or you can get things much upset, if you so desire.

You are a creature of moods and habits—some of them gracious and lovely; others unstable and inconsistent. You can be lovable and sweet—and also ruthless and fickle. Like air, you cannot be controlled by any rules except of your own acceptance. Many of your friends and associates have had proof of your ingeniousness. You do not hesitate to use them for your own benefit, yet you willingly serve them when the need arises.

An Interesting Period

You must take care of your nervous system. Do not let it run riot. Work moderately and find enjoyment in music, art and literature. While literature is your natural element, yet you do not read with the same not only to your solar Sign group, but to the world as a whole.

Career People

IN THE interim, you who were born when Neptune was in Gemini, about forty years ago—are producing some original writings. It is also easy for you to speak, so the radio and the orator's platform employ many of you. Those of you who were born prior to 1914 when Neptune was in Cancer are turning to music for a career in quite large numbers. And, of course, there is always the sales field and teaching for you who have Sun in Gemini. Since this is the age of mental output, it should not be hard for your solar birth group to get jobs. As for keeping them—that is entirely up to you as an individual.

Sensitive Souls

CANCER. Three quarters of the Planet on which we live, and which we call the Earth, is covered with water. You who

What Is Your Solar Birth Period?

There Is So Much To Be Told About The Sun Position At The Time of Your Birth That Unnumbered Volumes Have Been Written About It. Read This Comprehensive Outline

avidity that other solar groups do. Books to you are companions and you prefer the ones which suit your needs. You select them for their usefulness.

At this time Gemini is not involved in any of the major planetary transits. The inferior Planets, that is Mercury and Venus, make their annual visits, and Mars its bi-annual trip—but not until 1942 will Uranus enter Gemini, and Saturn will also begin its journey through Gemini at about that time. With both these Planets in your Sun Sign, things are bound to be interesting—were born when the Sun was in Cancer between the 21st of June and the 22nd of July belong to the Water Trinity. The Moon is the orb which governs this Sign of the Zodiac.

The outstanding characteristic word used to describe your solar group is "sensitive-ness." Your feelings are like the fine-strung instruments of the virtuoso. The slightest touch and you vibrate—either pleasantly or discordantly, according to the manner in which they were struck. You are tender, and devoted, and anticipating.

You love your home and make of it a haven of love and peace when given the chance to work out your genius in its behalf. But when disturbing factors enter, worry and distrust drive you from the shelter of your residence. You wander and change, but to you there is no place like home.

Esthetic

YOU appreciate good food, but must take care not to devote too much attention to the inspiration of cooking as to do so might be detrimental to your figure. Many Cancerians are corpulent. You like to dress well and you have a natural flair for fashion. You like to be modern and up-to-date outwardly, but there is another part of you which goes in for the collection of antiques.

You are frugal and you abhor extravagance, except to gratify the love of beauty and to add to your possessions. You are so economical and such a good manager that it is no effort at all for you to become the guardian of the exchequer, whether it be your own or that of your employers. You work well with others but the tendency is for you to dominate your associates.

A Powder Keg

During 1937 the Planet Jupiter is in polar opposition to Cancer, but his effect is harmonious and he ought to stimulate indirect good fortune for many in your solar group. This Planet is said to be strong in your Sun Sign and while he is right now as far from home, so to say, as he can go, yet he may be relied on to do his utmost for you who deserve his aid.

The entire year 1937 is a momentous one and is in some respects like a powder keg. Watch yourself rather closely, therefore, especially your emotions. Keep them under control and then attend to business with calmness and dispatch.

No Middle Course

LEO. From the 23rd of July until the 22nd of August the Sun remains in Leo, a Fire Sign, and astrologically the Sun rules Leo. Were there only one quality in each solar Sign, then it would be easy to say that a certain Sun group is very, very good; and that another group is very, very bad.

But as a matter of fact, each Sign of the Zodiac has its high type and its low type and unfortunately Leo, one of the Signs that has produced some of the greatest leaders in the world, has also set into motion some of the greatest renegades. You cannot be responsible for the shortcomings of your solar group—but you can be proud of what is accomplished by the Leo natives.

There is a long list of adjectives that applies to what you are and what you can do and each is superlative. You are honorable, frank, generous, vivacious, and conscientious. You take your responsibilities seriously and you cannot condone thoughtlessness. Fame is your handmaiden. It comes easily at your bidding, when you use your talents wisely. But you must not burn out your vitality on the altar of your ambition.

A Sacred Trust

It is you who must conserve your strength or else you will deplete it ere it has served its full purpose. Those who accept your leadership follow your flag to the very edge of the precipice and gladly jump into the void at your signal. That is why you must be extremely careful how you plan your campaign.

It is a sacred trust to be a leader and although the slogan has always been "A king can do no wrong," yet you know full well that human frailty makes even a king mistake the route. Leo, the Lion, who in song and story is acclaimed the king of beasts is brave—even to the point of rashness—but this does not make him infallible. So concede the right to others to have an opinion—whether you are at the head of your household, or the boss of a big corporation.

Harmony An Ideal

You love beauty and you have an extensive knowledge of colors. You can blend them artistically and your natural refinement expresses itself in harmonious blendings. Education and the drama are fields in which many of your group excel.

THE theatre has more young performers between the ages of seven and twenty-two than ever before—and this may well be attributed to the transit of Neptune through Leo during the year 1914-1928. This was indeed a period of fierce struggle and dreadful bloodshed, but there was compensation and the world is now well repaid by some of the gifted youngsters who are rapidly reaching maturity.

A world that still has music and art may well dream of universal peace—and you who have Sun in Leo are well equipped to carry on the good work. Harmony is your ideal and leadership your objective. Use both and help stabilize the world.

Orderly Minds Me

VIRGO. The Sun enters this Sign of the Zodiac on August 23rd and leaves it on the 22nd of September. Virgo is an Earth Sign, governed by the Planet Mercury. You like to organize yourself and others. You like to hold on to things, and you index them and file them away for safe-keeping.

This trait of conservation gives you a sense of superiority, for you are really well informed. And because you often know more than those who set themselves up as experts, you are a capable critic. Not that this makes you popular, but it does enhance your value as a guardian of knowledge. You like to tell others what to do and how to do it.

Hygiene can be your vocation as well as avocation. You are familiar with the chemistry of food. Diet and cleanliness are your hobbies; although you have numerous others.

You rarely betray the trust or confidence placed in you and you know how to keep a secret. Your sense of service is highly developed. Often you have more than you can do because you combine brains with brawn. You take care of your health and in turn it takes care of you. At times you are even called a crank, but this doesn't bother you. You can be beautifully oblivious of fault-finding when it is directed at you.

A Momentous Year

This year the Great Cosmic Trine of the Planets is formed between Neptune in Virgo, Jupiter in Capricorn, and Uranus in Taurus—all Earth Signs. That is why 1937 is a momentous year. It also has the Great Cosmic Square which stirs up strife, hatred, panic and disturbance here on Earth. This Square and also the Great Trine are described and illustrated elsewhere in this issue.

So, you see, there is good and bad in the world today, and you have an immense universal reservoir from which to draw the inspiration and help your need for self development. You are neither a shirker nor a slacker, and right now, your Sun Sign being the hostess of Neptune, you are in a position to delve deeply into the innermost recesses and secrets of Nature.

You may well be proud of the remarkable discoveries which have been made in recent years. Some of them are for the benefit of humanity and it should be the aim of every high-minded person who has Sun in Virgo to curtail the use of these wonderful secrets as weapons of destruction. They are meant for the betterment of life. It is a great heritage you have from Nature that your Sun Sign should be identified with this stupendous cycle.

Each Sign of the Zodiac has its own cosmic part to play, so you in your way can do no less than your Sun Sign—Virgo—is doing. Remember, Neptune will remain in Virgo until 1942, so you have quite a lot of leeway. Let Astrology serve as your guide and mentor. Will you be a willing pupil?

A Sense of Justice _____

LIBRA. On the 23rd day of September the Sun enters Libra, an Air Sign, and leaves on the 22nd of October. Libra is ruled by the Planet Venus. There is one consistent characteristic that makes most of you who have Sun in Libra an outstanding group—and that is your willingness to fight for the rights of others.

You make this a holy grail and a cause to supercede all other causes. You will take up the cudgels for another much more willingly than you would in your own behalf. You are so imbued with this sense of justice and the principle of the balanced-scale, that you become first-class combatants. Even those of you who are diffident and gentle can deliver a pretty strong punch to protect the reputation or honor of someone who is being maligned—and who is frequently found guilty, after the smoke of battle clears away.

And this same instinct to protect the rights of others leads you on to become champions. You enter the arena without a sense of fear. You feel that you must win and even your sense of humor is submerged and your famous tolerance neither gives quarter nor asks it until you have mowed down your enemy.

You can use words just as effectively as weapons and the world is full of your books and pamphlets in which you pursue evil as the crusaders of old went after the infidels. You are good-natured and versatile, and you are naturally free from strange fads and fancies.

Lovers of Praise

But sometimes for the sake of relaxation you join companions who are not altogether suited to your mode of life, and when anyone objects to your choice, you resent it bitterly. You cannot allow fault-finding, when it is directed at you. You like to praise and applaud others, and you want the same to be done to you. You want them to gloss over your less desirable traits, without calling attention to them.

The high type of your Sun group are truly marvelous persons and deserve all the appreciation that they expect. They are unstinted in their kindness; liberal to a fault; and broad-minded in every respect.

You must not play second fiddle to anyone. You have good judgment. You are capable. You are intuitive. You can be patient as well as earnest, and even though you are rather careless yet there are so many favorable attributes in your make-up that this need not prove a handicap.

No Time For Change

YOU may in the next several months begin to feel the effect of the Saturn transit through Aries, your opposing solar Sign, so stick closely to your job. It is not a time for change, nor for selfish motives. As a matter of fact, selfishness is not part of the Libra personality. But when worry enters, high-mindedness may fly out of the window. So stick to your ideals and try to make your affairs so smooth and simple that you won't need to wander far afield.

Saturn, the Great Stabilizer, may call you to account. So be sure that your books, actually and figuratively, are balanced.

Strong-Minded

SCORPIO. You who were born between October 23rd and November 22nd are said to have Sun in Scorpio, a Fixed Sign of the Zodiac belonging to the Water Trinity. The planetary ruler is Mars. As a class you are aggressive, determined, resourceful, intrepid. You have cool judgment and you are clear thinkers.

You are self-reliant, masterful, strong-willed. You do not accede lightly to the behests of others, unless it suits you to do so. Yet you are agreeable and sincere. Your home is your castle. You like comfort, even luxury, for its own sake. You have an innate refinement that is neither schooled nor forced.

The less advanced members of your solar group are jealous, envious and tactless. Their sense of humor does not scintillate and sparkle as yours does, and their original wit usually turns to sarcasm. The constancy and fidelity of the Scorpio person is well known. You hold dominion over your affections and you have your own opinion of right and wrong.

A Good Friend

As a friend you are unexcelled. Your character is staunch and as an executive you get unquestioned obedience. Your rule is just and fair. You do not demand more than you are prepared to give yourself in the way of service and competence. But you will not tolerate slovenliness, nor inaccuracy. You may delay a job until the last minute yourself, but when you start to work you accomplish what you set out to do, and you do not leave loose ends for anyone else to tie up. You expect the same excellence from your associates.

With Uranus in Taurus, directing its rays across the zodiacal arc to your Sun

Sign, you are now energized by the magnetic force of this Planet. This can be a year of accomplishment and advancement; not so much in a material way but in the fundamentals of your personality. You do not need to break away from the old to take up the new. There is too much inherent strength in your nature for you to relinquish your entire past for a problematical future.

But the Uranian inspiration is strong enough to guide you towards a real goal, and although it may seem visionary to many, yet it is real to you. Until 1942 then, while Uranus remains in Taurus, you can awaken the dormant side of your nature and more courageously face the issues with which you are confronted. Success when inspired by Uranus has been known to take some unusual guises. Where will your inspiration lead you?

Extravagant, But Generous

SAGITTARIUS. About the 22d of November the Sun enters Sagittarius, a Fire Sign, and leaves on December 21st. Sagittarius is ruled by the Planet Jupiter. As a group you are intense, active, impulsive, sensitive, harmonious. You are kind, generous and sincere. You are so observant and analytical that you may almost be termed prophetic.

You are extravagant, albeit generous. You aim for the higher things of life. You are not content with the humdrum, daily grind. You want to attain ease and elegance, even though you do not like the physical effort of striving for what you want. Yet, when it comes to persistence, you have a fair share of it.

You spring to the defense of those who need your help, although you do not mind inflicting pain, especially the verbal kind, when you think it will accomplish your purpose. You have a good deal of self-confidence, and you seldom make mistakes of the ordinary kind.

Watch Out for Accidents

But you must be careful of accidents, because you are apt to take chances without heeding the consequences. You are both brave and wise, although the less advanced members of your solar group are cowardly and merciless. You think quickly and accurately in an emergency whereas as a rule you appear rather indolent.

You are rather conservative, and when Jupiter is well placed in your natal chart, it may lead you to study law, and the judge's cap and gown may be your ultimate reward. You must take care of your health because you are apt to overdo. You become so absorbed in whatever fad captures your interest that you keep at it until you—or it—is worn to a frazzle. But you always have surplus vitality to start off with something else, not always with the complete approval of your friends and family. It is not easy for them to keep up with your enthusiasms.

Don't Give Away Your Shirt

You sometimes make statements that are inaccurate and you are ready to back them up without having verified your facts. That is a grievous fault that might prove disadvantageous at times. You are a lover of music and a judge of harmony. When you take up music as a career, you excel in it. You have a heart of gold, and you must see that this does not become a detriment, for you might even be willing to give away your shirt—and without a shirt you know what would happen to you!

The timid Sagittarian does not like to gamble, but there are enough of you who would bet to the last cent, and even borrow to get a stake. Thus, instead of amassing wealth, you might even lose your inheritance. Yet so great is your self-confidence that you always believe your good fairy will supply you with fresh capital. May you never find that you are mistaken!

Personal Effort Pays 7/8

CAPRICORN. From the 22nd of December until the 19th of January the Sun remains in Capricorn, an Earth Sign, ruled by the Planet Saturn. The majority of your solar group are prudent, grave, able, thorough. Stick-to-it-ive-ness should be your motto. You have unlimited endurance and this leads you to overtax yourself. You become tired and exhaust your physical stamina. You start work again before you have fully recuperated.

You take a great deal of responsibility on yourself because you know you have the foresight to manage your affairs properly. You are a good administrator as well as a capable detail worker. But you can become so entangled in the web of your own making that you lose your perspective, and then you are transferred to the filing department. You become more concerned about keeping things orderly than in building a big structure.

You are enterprising within specified limits. Yet wealth and good fortune are the portion that comes to you who have Sun in Capricorn through your own efforts. You are independent and you do not often ask for favors. You are patient and qualified trainers. You become very useful citizens and do much to advance knowledge through precept and example.

Patient in Detail

You are a good research worker and when you set a task before yourself, you do not relinquish it easily. That is what gives you artistic perfection—because you have the persistence to practice long and arduous hours. You have a good mind and absorb a great deal of knowledge that you store away in your consciousness, using it later when the occasion arises for that particular information.

You are not naturally optimistic, so it may not be easy for you to accept Jupiter with the complete sense of freedom that other Signs feel when he makes his year-long transit. Since the beginning of this year Jupiter has been in your Sun Sign, therefore you might be used to his munificence. However, you probably feel that so much good fortune cannot be entirely true and that it has to depart soon or late anyway, so why bother to become too enthused about the treasures that Jupiter has gathered for your Sun Sign.

Be that as it may, this is really an excellent Capricorn year, all things being equal. To you Capricornians who have, more might be given. And you who have had but have lost, might regain. And you who have never had might get a taste of what it means to have something more than the mere necessities. May good luck be yours—to keep!

AQUARIUS. The eleventh Sign of the Zodiac begins when the sun enters Aquarius on the 20th of January and abdicates on the 18th of February. Aquarius is an Air Sign, of the Fixed Group. The ruling planet is Uranus. The group has members who are forceful, enterprising, inventive, and original.

The modern age has many Aquarian leaders. Their mistakes are the sins of omission rather than of commission. So anxious are they to do more than is expected of them that they can scarcely accomplish what they schedule for themselves or what they allow others to demand from them. They have a sense of integrity, and the honorable type rarely breaks a promise.

They like to associate with those who have some special or outstanding trait, yet they never act "high-hat" nor superior with the less advanced in financial, social, or educational circles. They are to be found in almost every class of work, preferably that which has a mental angle. They are popular leaders and logical as well as inspired orators.

Radical Thinkers

You are radical thinkers and seldom accept the regulation viewpoint. You like to work out your own problems and come to your own conclusions. In the end you are likely to be right, but it takes a lot of convincing to "sell" your ideas to the rank and file.

It has often been stated that this is so because the Aquarian individual is the advance guard of the Aquarian Age which is about to dawn—when a new state of affairs will replace the conditions with which we are so familiar at the present time. Only time and experience will tell. But you are rather sensitive and it hurts you to see so many lives lost and so much cruelty inflicted when a little more tolerance and justice would make the world a really safe place for life and the pursuit of happiness.

Thoroughly Human

You may be ahead of your times in some respects, but you are sensible enough to live in compliance with existing laws. You do your best to change them, but when you meet with rebuff, you don't hold a grudge, apparently. Yet you have a long and retentive memory, and you seldom stay licked.

You face reality when you have to, but you prefer to live in a world of your own where beauty and sympathy are natural and normal. Inharmony, discord and strife affect you in a physical way, and you really suffer when there is a lack of peace or when you are subjected to criticism, nagging, or fault-finding.

You believe in liberty and fair-play, yet you don't hesitate to rebuke those who infringe on your rights. As a rule you are tactful and self-effacing, but you can also be aroused to passion and anger. All in all, you are thoroughly human, with the good and the bad characteristics common to all.

The Two Extremes

PISCES. Here you are at the twelfth Sign of the Zodiac, when the Sun enters Pisces on the 19th of February and departs on the 20th of March. It is a Water Sign and is ruled by the Planet Neptune. So many nice things can be said of your solar birth group! You are charming, tender, reserved, considerate and appreciative. You respond to kindness and friendship. You are liberal and conscientious—and genuinely thoughtful.

You who are methodical cannot bear to have anything misplaced. But you who are not, are just the opposite. You have so much pity in your system that you are even sorry for yourself. And very often there is no reason for this. You like to stay in one place, and would rather not change nor move about. You like to keep odds and ends that you have always had—and that is why you remain faithful to your vows and your obligations.

You become easily discouraged and yet you have a great deal of resiliency. You do not like to discipline yourself, and you are not a harsh task master. It is easier for you to let others have their own way than to follow through with insistence that your instructions be carried out. You act more as the result of instinct and feeling than through planned conduct.

Steadying Influence Needed

Your birth Sign has recently been co-partners with Virgo in a very great astrological event—the opposition of Saturn and Neptune. The Planet Saturn leaves Pisces on the 25th of April, but will come back after a stay of several weeks in Aries, to remain in your Sun Sign until the end of the year. This will give you more of the Saturn stabilizing aspect, and enable you to develop certain phases of your character which need to be steadied.

You are taking your lessons with better grace than you have done heretofore, and in many respects it has been a valuable experience for you to have Saturn transit your Sun Sign. You appreciate what you have acquired in the way of love, family, and prestige. You are less likely to run away from your obligations, knowing full well that the day of reckoning ultimately comes.

Saturn, the Task Master

THAT is what Saturn, the Task Master, teaches and when the lesson is taken to heart, life has more to offer than for those who skim over its surface touching its beauties lightly as a butterfly skims over the silken petals of the summer flowers. But life is real and life is earnest—as you can well verify now, after close association with Saturn.

You cannot quite close your book yet. The accounts are not completely balanced, but in the meantime—look ahead. And in another two years, Jupiter will begin its sojourn in your Sun Sign. May the interval be one of optimism and good cheer. You can make good use of these!

May 28. You are being given a rousing surprise party, so much so, that someone might complain through sheer jealousy. But don't worry. You are the winner.

May 29. By and large this should be a very happy birthday for you, according to the good wishes of the celestial aspects. But keep romance on a firm level, lest it fall.

May 30. You can take much in your stride—good fortune and leadership and responsibility. Take no advice from friends or strangers, without investigation.

May 31. You close this month's celebrations with a mixture of guests—some of whom endeavor to bring you success, and some who may act differently. Good luck!

Mountain Lion Attacks Camp

Flashlight is Mightier than the Gun, says Arizona Woman

"I wakened to the ominous snarling wolf-growl of Fritz, our German police dog," writes Mrs. Corinne Jennings of San Carlos, Arizona.

"As I lay there in our tent, too petrified with terror to make a move, something brushed against the canvas wall beside me. Then I screamed and the thing made off with Fritz after it.

"My husband and I leapt from our cots and joined the chase. There wasn't a gun in camp at that time, so Buck took the flashlight.

"Following Fritz's howls of rage to a tall pine, the flashlight pointed out a huge mountain lion snarling down from the upper branches. He stopped as the light struck him and cowered in fear, finally making a desperate leap for the ground and crashing off through the underbrush like a young elephant.

"I for one was mighty thankful we had used the power of those fresh DATED 'Eveready' batteries on our visitor, instead of powder and shot. While a dead mountain lion is harmless, a wounded one is murderous company.

"Out here in the wilderness batteries that 'always work' are mighty important, so you can be sure we get 'Eveready' batteries and look for that DATE-LINE.

Author of "Discovering the Universal Aspects," etc.

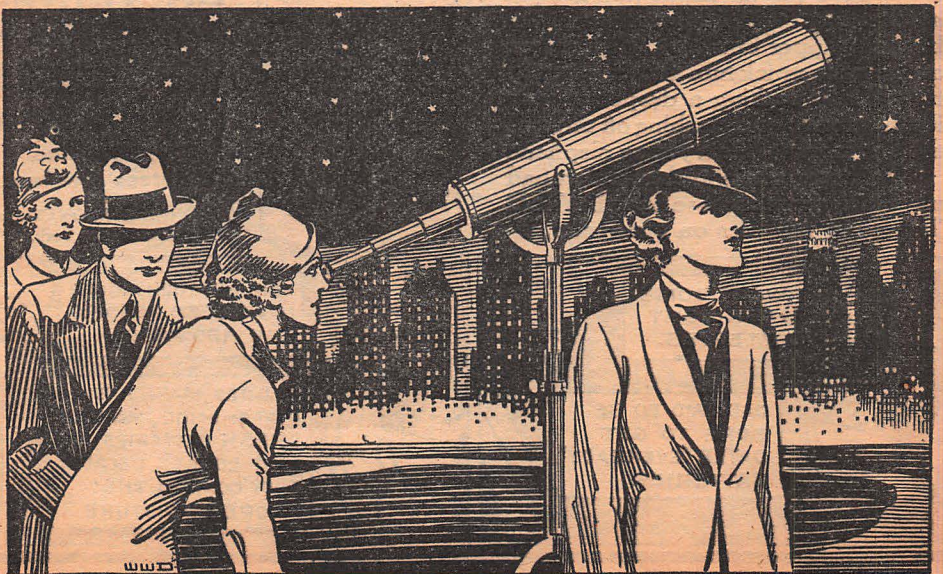

YESTERDAY you were a day younger than you are today, and as you unravel the skein of days backwards, you come to the most significant day of all—when you were born.

And this is your link with the cosmic universe. You are the pinnacle of certain vibrations that started in eons gone by. Your parents and all your ancestors carried in them the seed of your birth, preparing for you the introduction to life in your present form. You are the composite of all this background and the celestial pattern formed at the hour of your birth.

But you do not want to look back to the past. You are much more concerned with the present and the future. But in order to understand what is ahead, you should know what is behind.

And so, to find the key to your person-

Your Personal Story

The youth of today are not willing to accept everything that is told them without knowing the why and wherefore. Every young person is entitled to know the truth, and dawning maturity comes easier through self-understanding. EVERYDAY ASTROLOGY will teach younger readers to set up personal horoscopes and through its pages explain the significance of each Sign, Planet and Aspect.

Therefore, not only will you be able to keep yourself informed about the current astrological configurations and how they affect your solar group, but how you as an individual are influenced.

Astrology tells you a personal story. It reveals your contact with the Universe. It shows what you are and why. It explains you to yourself and why in your heart and soul you want things that seem not to fit in with your environment.

Astrology can show the kind of work you might do, with the right kind of training. It can show the type of person who would be best suited to you in marriage. It can show you the important cycles in your life—for expansion or for slowing-up.

You who were born between the years 1918 and 1923 will now have a chance to learn some startling personal truths. So, too, will parents whose children were born between 1918 and 1923.

Subsequent issues of EVERYDAY ASTROLOGY discuss younger boys and girls. Be sure to keep this copy, because it will be necessary to refer to it later, and if lost or mislaid, it will be like a missing link in an important chain.

When Were You Born?

ACCORDING to the calendar, the year is divided into twelve months, each month beginning on the first day and ending on the thirtieth or thirty-first. Except February.

But in Astrology, the division is somewhat different. There are twelve periods to the year, but they begin about the twenty-first of each month. Their duration is approximately thirty days. These twelve periods are equal to the Earth year of 365⁵ days.

And in Astrology, these twelve annual periods are known as Signs of the Zodiac. Your birth date occurred when the Sun was in one of these Signs. And on that day, the Moon and the other Planets were also in the Signs of the Zodiac. While it is easy enough to tell you where the Sun was when you were born, according to the date, the only way it is possible to let you know where the Moon and the other Planets were, is to look up the dates and position in an astronomical calendar.

The Twelve Major Signs of the Zodiac

On Page 35 is a list of the twelve Signs of the Zodiac and the approximate dates when the Sun enters each Sign annually.

The Signs in addition to having allegorical symbols, are also divided into four groups, according to elements. The letter in parenthesis before each Sign shows its astrological grouping: F-Fire; E-Earth; W-Water; A-Air.

The Starting Point

IF YOU familiarize yourself with the twelve Signs of the Zodiac, and their element grouping, you will find it much easier to learn the astrological lessons to follow.

It doesn't matter in what year you, or your friends, or members of your family were born. The solar starting point (that is, the position of the Sun in the Sign of the Zodiac) at the time of birth is identified with one of the Signs listed above. The only variation may come at the beginning or end of a Sign—known as the cusp. The difference of a few hours, always verified by accurate calculation, will reveal the actual Sun Sign.

Another fact that should be kept in mind is that the astrological New Year starts in the Spring—at the time when the Sun enters Aries.

A Live Science

As the Sun goes from Sign to Sign it is, astrologically speaking, modified by the nature of that Sign, and those born within that period are influenced by that particular Sun Sign unity.

Astrology has a voluminous literature and every writer of note has added to this rich treasury of interpretative deductions. As you advance in your knowledge of Astrology, you will be delighted to contact each authority. But for the sake of brevity, only the high-lights of each Sign as it acts as host or hostess to the transiting Sun, Moon and Planets will be given in these simplified lessons.

There was a time, not so long ago, when astrological information was at a premium. It was sacredly guarded. There was a reason for this; because the majority of people were not ready for its truths.

But now even the younger generation are given the chance to study Astrology in early youth and so are storing up valuable facts which would otherwise remain as remote as the symbology of the ancient cults. And no actual expense is involved.

ASTROLOGY is a live, vibrant science. It is a source of inspiration and help; a guide and a guardian. It aids one to discard non-essentials and to develop those abilities which are a real part of the ego. It explains you to yourself and reveals characteristics in others that might not be manifest through ordinary observation.

The Symbols

Having learned the names of the twelve major signs of the Zodiac, the next step is to know the names of the luminaries, and the Planets. The Sun is the central luminary, or light, of our solar group. The Moon, because it shines by reflected glory, is the other luminary. The orbs which travel around the Sun are called Planets. The Earth is also a Planet.

THE Sun, Moon and Planets have their own astrological symbols, similar to those which are given to the Signs of the Zodiac.

Like musical notes which never vary and which any musician, regardless of what his mother tongue may be, can read and understand at a glance, so the symbols used in astrology are universal. Books about astrology are printed in many languages. You may not be able to read the text, but if you are familiar with the astrological symbols, you can understand quite easily the meaning that the author wishes to convey.

Planetary Rulers

Each Sign of the Zodiac has its own Planetary Ruler. Years of investigation have proved that the Signs and their Rulers are sympathetic to each other. The Planets, naturally, do not always remain in these Signs. They transit each Sign of the Zodiac with rhythmic regularity, according to their own speed rates.

In the chart below are the names of the Planets, the Signs they govern, and the influences attributed to them.

centuries and reconstruct the position of the celestial orbs at that time.

Also, it is possible to determine what the relationship of these heavenly orbs will be in the far future.

The amazing instrument used in these Planetariums is so arranged and the sky pattern is traced in lights on the domed ceiling in such a way as to make it appear to the observer that the scene is actual.

EVERY boy and girl, and even adults, should visit a Planetarium and listen to the illustrated lectures. Each would then

The Planets Move

In a number of large cities of the world, there are so-called "Planetariums" where, through intricate mechanical arrangements, illuminated diagrams are reflected on domed ceilings to illustrate the stellar and planetary arrangements of any given period. Mathematical calculations make it possible to go back a hundred, or a thousand or more have a better understanding of the forces and energies which dominate the universe and of what an important part cosmic rays play in each life.

Among the millions of stars in the sky there are comets, nebulae, planets, moons, satellites and other fascinating phenomena. There are some delightful modern books about amateur astronomy that will open wide to you this world of fact and romance.

Orderly Progression

The Sun, so vital to our very existence, astronomers will tell you is only a star—and of rather medium size. But for our purpose it is ponderous enough and bright enough. It rotates on its axis, but it has no orbit. It turns around and around, but it does not remain in the same place. It moves forward, in compliance with a law that carries all the celestial bodies toward some point in the Universe at a tremendous speed. Astronomers have solved many puzzles and they are concentrating on this stupendous problem now. The answer, when it comes, might revolutionize life itself.

Though the Sun has only two motions—axial and forward—the Planets, in addition have a third movement which is a rotation around the sun. It is necessary to keep these facts and the following in mind in setting up an astrological chart accurately.

The SUN is in the center.

MERCURY, the nearest known Planet to the Sun, requires only 88 days (Earth days) to speed around the Sun, and return to its original starting place. That is, it really has no regular starting and stopping point. It just moves around and around. But in 88 days it will be back again in the same zodiacal degree where it started.

VENUS is the next Planet. It covers its orbit in about 224 days.

Then comes the EARTH. It is a Planet, of course, but astrologically it has no significance, being given neither rulership over any Sign of the Zodiac nor indicative of any special attributes. Yet, in geocentric astrology, it is the pivotal point since it receives and reflects the cosmic vibrations and the children of the Earth are correspondingly affected. The Earth day is 24 hours, and the Earth year a few hours over 365 days.

A Two-Hundred-and-Forty-Year Journey

MARS takes about two years to travel around the SUN. It is a small Planet, even smaller than the Earth.

JUPITER comes next. Its orbital path is almost twelve Earth years. It is the largest of the planetary group—about 88,000 miles in diameter.

SATURN, the last of the Planets known to the ancients, requires almost thirty years to travel around the Sun.

TOWARDS the end of the Eighteenth Century a celebrated astronomer, Herschel, made a tremendous discovery. He located a new Planet in the sky, and the orb was named in his honor. It is also known as URANUS and doesn't return to its orbital starting point until it has taken a sky journey lasting 84 years. A long time.

But astronomers were not satisfied and kept on searching and figuring, until in 1846 in a most dramatic fashion two mathematicians—one in Europe and the other in America—came to the same conclusion (without either knowing about the work of the other) that there was still another Planet, beyond Uranus, and that it might be spotted at a certain point in the sky through a telescope. And that happened. It is his story that NEPTUNE took its place in the Planet family. It is so far from the Sun that it takes over 164 years to go around the Sun, spending approximately fourteen years in each Sign.

The Planet PLUTO is, as already explained, the last of the group, and while little is known of its characteristics from an astronomical or astrological angle, it is known that it needs 240 years to travel around the Sun, and its stay in each Sign of the Zodiac is twenty years.

The Moon's Significance

The twelve major Signs of the Zodiac, one Sun, one Moon, and eight major Planets (excluding the Earth) are, therefore, the nucleus of popular astrology.

The significance of the Sun in each Sign of the Zodiac is briefly outlined in the article in this magazine entitled "The Sun is Your Friend." A short synopsis of the Moon's position in each Sign is necessary to further understanding. Inasmuch as the Moon travels so quickly in its orbit around the Earth, it remains approximately only two and a half days in a Sign. So without an ephemeris, it is not possible to tell where the Moon was on the day of your birth.

Because the Moon position is so important in every birth chart, this data is vital. At the end of this article will be found the approximate position of the Moon listed for six years, beginning 1918 and ending 1923.

If you were born during these years, you can easily learn the name of the Sign where the Moon was on the day of your birth, then read its astrological significance. This will give you a good start toward analyzing your personality, traits and characteristics in connection with the placement of the luminaries.

The Moon is a comparatively small sphere. It is a satellite of the Earth. It shines by reflected light and affects the ocean tides on Earth. School books teach that, but they do not tell of its influence on human beings. That instruction will come through Astrology. So begin here:

You Can Be "Boss"

MOON IN ARIES. If you were born when the Moon was in Aries, provided it was well aspected, you are intellectual, impulsive, quick-tempered and courageous. You are self-reliant, and your job may take you from place to place. You are much better at directing others than at being able to stick to details and routine. But be sure that you have mastered your own technique, so that you will be qualified to be "the boss."

MOON IN TAURIUS. The placement of the Moon in this Sign at your birth indicates an even temperament. You are determined, ambitious and independent. You like to stay in one place and this desire prompts you to invest in real estate. You like to own houses and tracts of land. You like music and often have a melodious voice. You become rather fixed in your habits and you cannot tolerate deviation from your system. You should be independent.

MOON IN GEMINI. You have a flexible nature if the Moon was in Gemini at the time your birth. You are candid, sincere and progressive. You are always busy, even when at rest. You can hatch out more ideas in a given time than a dozen others put together, unless there is another Moon-in-Gemini person among them. Your occupation will depend on your environment because you are so constituted that you can do almost anything which interests you.

Loves Mother

MOON IN CANCER. You have a changeable and emotional nature if you were born when the Moon was in Cancer. But you like to stick close to home. You take your obligations seriously and are close to your mother. She might depend on you, or you on her. In your own quiet way you have great tenacity of purpose. You can express yourself through music, literature and the drama. You also like the sea, unless the Moon was adversely aspected at birth.

MOON IN LEO. You can be noble and strong-willed if you were born when the Moon was in Leo. There is nothing petty or underhanded in your nature when the Moon is well placed. You are candid, proud, able and popular. You can be a good orator, a first class executive and a practical manager. You command the respect of your associates and they trust your judgment implicitly. You can think for yourself and for others.

MOON IN VIRGO. You are intuitive, polite and reserved if you were born when the Moon was in Virgo—provided it was not afflicted. You can adapt yourself to circumstances and you have more than a passing interest in chemistry. You can be an excellent teacher and a patient guide, criticism is natural to you and you can use this trait professionally. Your career should depend on your mental preparedness. You work well with others.

MOON IN LIBRA. You are a clear thinker and yet warm-hearted, if you were born when the Moon was in Libra. You are faithful, loyal, dependable and courteous. You have good manners and you do not consciously like to offend anyone, although you are aggressive when necessary. You can do well as a nurse, beauty expert, personal advisor. In fact any occupation that brings you in touch with others is in line with your accomplishments.

No "Also-Ran"

MOON IN SCORPIO. You are reserved, energetic and persistent if you were born when the Moon was in Scorpio. A good deal depends on its radical aspects. You can be enterprising and you like to plan things on a big scale. You like to associate with those who appreciate you and your abilities. You like to be at the head of all undertakings, and your foremost aim is to win success. You do not like to be an also-ran.

MOON IN SAGITTARIUS. You are broad-minded, sincere and expressive if you have the Moon in Sagittarius in your birth chart. You are quick, optimistic, and agreeable. This position frequently denotes prophetic qualities. You like animals, sports, the social side of life. You are not a recluse. You work well alone or with others and frequently have outstanding talents. You are well informed and are better at mental than at manual occupations.

MOON IN CAPRICORN. You are prudent, economical and highminded, if the Moon was in Capricorn at the time of your birth. You are a good administrator and although you like to be exclusive, you can mingle with others when it suits your purpose. If other planetary aspects in your horoscope are favorable, you might attain a high standing. Politics is one of the spheres in which you could do well. And so is business.

Color and Beauty

MOON IN AQUARIUS. You have a distinctive personality and a sociable though quiet nature, if the Moon was in Aquarius at the time of your birth. You are emotional, but can keep yourself under control as a rule. You often ally yourself with radical thinkers and enjoy being a reformer. Your ideas and ideals merge. You are a hard worker, but sometimes lack persistence. You have a good deal of initiative, however, and executive ability.

MOON IN PISCES. Yours is an harmonious and composed personality, if the Moon was in Pisces when you were born. You like to have peace wherever you are. Strife and discord affect your health. You can express yourself easily and enjoy all things that are beautiful and colorful. Your best work is done in quiet places. You are sympathetic. Medicine, art, religion and service work call many of you who have Moon in Pisces.

One of America's Foremost Astrologers

“THERE IS A tide in the affairs of men” said that grand old oracle, Shakespeare, “which, taken at its flood, leads on to ‘ortune.” Finish the quotation in your own words. You know how it ends—about losing your chance to touch the winning tape at the sound of the gong, or words to that effect.

That Shakespeare knew something about Astrology seems likely. In fact, he apparently knew more than a little about Astrology. That is why he talked about a “tide” in human affairs. There are flood tides, and there are ebb tides; there are safe tides, and there are turbulent tides. But tides there are—for like the sea, life is seldom quiet. It moves back and forth and you, like a floating cork on the wide stretches of water, bob along with the currents and tides.

These tides, or cycles as we call them in Astrology, are not the sudden and uncontrolled upheavals that some people imagine them to be. When you realize that the tides of the oceans are so accurately measured, that tables are computed a long time ahead, you will perhaps go on to the next step which will show you that there are many other calculations telling in advance the effects of the vibratory movements and tides in Space.

Let's Take a Trip

With so much preliminary talk about tides, all we need is a big ship to take us somewhere for a pleasure cruise. Let's pretend that we are on a luxurious liner, with all kinds of instruments that can do almost any kind of stunt required.

So here we are on a deck of this beautiful ship—and there are only twelve passengers, you being among them. What, only twelve persons on an enormous boat like this? But never mind—don't fret. We'll learn a lot more and have a better time than if a big crowd were aboard.

● Take A Cruise on This Liner with Only Twelve Passengers—One for Each Zodiacal Sign! ●

Here Comes The Captain

Here comes the captain. He has on a glittering uniform and he certainly looks impressive in the dazzling sunlight.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he says, "I have a little surprise for you. I have a pair of eyeglasses for each one of you, made of special material. And they will fit only the person for whom they are intended. I have them marked, not with your names, but according to your birth periods. That is why only twelve passengers have been selected—one for each Sign of the Zodiac.

FIRST comes Aries, that fiery, impetuous gentleman at the head of the line. Your glasses are red tinted. Wait, do not put them on until the others are given theirs. You always like to be first—to rush ahead. But never mind, you are a good sport and nobody minds your energy.

"Next I have a pair of turquoise-colored glasses for Taurus, and to save time I'll hand out the others quickly, without comment. Azure to Gemini, cream-colored to Cancer, orange to Leo, blue to Virgo, rose-colored to Libra, dark red to Scorpio, green for Sagittarius, brown for Capricorn, a rather indefinite grey for Aquarius and lavender ones for Pisces.

A Marked Deck

"But before you put them on, I wish to tell you what to do. You will see that the deck is marked. It shows a circle, divided into twelve parts. The circle is the Zodiac, and the twelve divisions are the twelve major signs of the Zodiac. Stand on the one corresponding with your birth period. Then put on your glasses and look out into space, facing the rail.

What Do You See?

"Again starting with ARIES. Can you see that marvelous Planet Saturn up there in your part of the sky—the one with the broad, brilliant ring around it? For the next two or three years you who were born in Aries will feel the Saturn influence in your Sun Sign. Be grateful for his visit.

He can do much to help you stabilize yourself, and your trends during his transit should be decidedly favorable.

"You like to look at the bright side of life, and during the coming two or three years you'll have cause for optimism. You are walking hand in hand with opportunity now. Hold on tight. The little speck nearby, but which is so sparkling that its rays almost penetrate the film of your magic glasses, is Venus—the Planet of Love. You are on good terms with Venus and this month it is helping you to have a nice time. So enjoy yourself.

Taurus Is Next

TAURUS, you are next. What do you see? Yes, that is Uranus, that remarkable Planet which has intrigued human imagination since it was first discovered by Sir William Herschel, one of the world's great astronomers, in Seventeen Eighty-one. When Uranus transits a Sign, there are likely to be ups and downs. You are full of ambition, courage, and determination. Even when things break down, there are ways to build them up again.

"Since Nineteen Thirty-five, when Uranus began his present journey through Taurus, there has been excessive fluctuation in world currency. Finance manipulations have engrossed the most astute bankers—and driven a good many of them almost frantic. This may keep up until Nineteen Forty-two when Uranus leaves Taurus. In the meantime, you can hop, skip and jump along—if your Taurus dignity will permit—and feel free to carry out your pet projects. If you wait too long, Saturn will come along and curtail some of your Uranus spontaneity. So your trends are of the best for this year if you take advantage of them.

"GEMINI, now is your turn. There isn't any major Planet in your Sign at the moment, but on the twenty-first the Sun makes you his annual visit. The way is open for you to do all sorts of things. You needn't hesitate to buckle on your sword and shield and fight dragons. You may encounter some sneaky ones in dark corners, for Neptune is square your Sun Sign now, and there may be hidden, secretive things now and then to bother you. But otherwise you are going strong, and the good things of life are ready to be gathered. Your imagination is working overtime, and as usual there is some unexpected friend who is ready to help you. The trends for your solar group are excellent.

The Latest Celestial Find

"CANCER, have you had to strain your eyes to see that far-off Planet which is the latest celestial find—Pluto? Gaze upon this orb. It is only you who live in this day and generation who can see it. Never before in human history has it been seen. What does it bring you, astrologically? Many things, but most in the way of advice and caution which I hope you are wise enough to follow.

"The Pluto cycle is one that few will heed, although it applies to all. The finding of this Planet may seem accidental but and your solar Sign just happens to be 'on the spot' in more ways than one. However, you are not the type to give in easily, and you'll stick to your post until the enemy slinks off in defeat. Your trends at the moment are, therefore, a trifle precarious, but much depends on your personal good sense.

Vagrant Ideas

"VIRGO, you have been so busy looking at Neptune that I am sure it hasn't been easy for you to concentrate on what I have said to your fellow passengers. You are concerned with spiritual and intellectual aspects of life just now, I know, trying to catch all those vagrant ideas which are flashing across your path this year. Neptune seldom shows anything in its entirety. He prefers half lights. He is shadowy in his promises, but often quite concrete in their fulfillment.

SHAKESPEARE UNDERSTOOD ASTROLOGY!

This is shown by his use of the phrase "A Tide in the Affairs of Men." These Tides, or Cycles as we call them in Astrology, have an amazing influence upon Human Affairs.

it has always been in the sky. Can you isolate yourself from the turmoil, and bitterness, and greed of this world? If so, you are learning the message that Pluto is trying to convey—and your trends are in the right direction.

LEO, you haven't discovered anything yet? No, because there is nothing on your horizon. But don't feel neglected, for you are wedged in between two active forces. From one direction you are getting the push of Uranus and from the other direction comes the pull of Mars. If you feel dizzy, take your glasses off and rest your eyes. The two Planets, Uranus and Mars, are trying for supremacy right now,

"You are in the midst of doing big things, and your trends are waiting to be crystallized. Don't putter around with the illusive. If you do, you'll lose a lot of chances. Get back to Earth and depend on Neptune to stay where he is for seven more years. He'll flash ideas to you now and then, and to make sure that you won't miss them, keep the magic glasses as a souvenir.

LIBRA, you are also without a planetary visitor at this time. But you ought to be glad that there is this interval which allows you to go off on your own. After all, you are participating in all that concerns the other Signs of the Zodiac, but to a lesser degree. It is a good thing not to be stirred up by the malifics, and so far as the benefics (as the more friendly Planets are called) are concerned, be glad that some of your friends and relatives are getting a chance to entertain them.

Take Things Easy

"Take things easy; enjoy yourself. Make plans. Decorate your home. Buy clothes. Read books—and by all means write them, if you can. Nor should you neglect the theatre. Drama is one of your great loves. And in this leisurely way, find contentment in your current trends.

"SCORPIO, you are impatient I see, and well you may be, with Mars rushing swiftly around in your vicinity. He is just as impatient to leave your neighbor's hospitality as your neighbor is to be rid of this rather amazing guest. For Mars doesn't conform to any of the usual rules and regulations that apply to house guests. He wants things his own way, and after the fifteenth of May he'll have more leeway, with you as the host. Then he'll be able to go hammer and tongs at Uranus—and the sparks certainly will fly.

"So keep your magic glasses lest some of the cinders fly into your eyes. You need clear sight and cool judgment these next few weeks while Mars is in your Sun Sign. Remember he is your planetary ruler, and he will be glad to lend his aid in every enterprise, so you see your trends are interesting and progressive.

Startling Gifts

"SAGITTARIUS, you are watching the rather rapid leavetaking of Mars now that he is drawing near to Scorpio. You and he are really good friends, and after you part for his usual two years' absence, you always look back to his return. This time he'll come back sooner than you expect because he is in retrograde motion and when he goes direct again, he'll visit you once more—in August. In the meantime, you'll be able to catch up with all the startling gifts he has bestowed on you, augmenting your good humor.

"You and he have many adventures. You both love to travel, to invent new things, and that is his surgical aid to those who need to put ideas into execution, and to go in for sports in a big way. There is also a practical side to Mars when he is with you, help. Stick close to Mars until the fifteenth of May, when he moves over to Scorpio, and you'll make your trends go farther than if you don't co-operate with Mars.

A Stupendous Orb

"CAPRICORN, I know you have been waiting patiently to find out about the stupendous orb that is in your division of the Zodiac. Isn't it an enormous celestial sphere, and how many moons revolve around it! It is almost like an independent solar group. And this beautiful Planet in your Sign is Jupiter, the largest member of the Planet family which belong to our own wonderful Sun. Your trends, while of the best, are modified by the opposition from Pluto at this time. This is nothing to be afraid of, but if you have paid attention, you will have heard what I said to Cancer regarding the restraint that is so essential.

"Jupiter is good to you in many ways, and ought to help bring prosperity close to you, as well as other good things. It is a time of plenty, and it is entirely up to you to choose what you do with all you are getting. If you dissipate it, it is your loss. If you are prudent, you can save for the future. Stick to your magic glasses, and gaze often at Jupiter as a reminder.

The Reflex Quadrangle

"AQUARIUS, you are free from direct planetary visitation for the moment but like Leo you are being bombarded by the square being formed by Uranus and Mars, in a sort of reflex quadrangle. You are the type who can break loose from inhibitions. You are a born reformer and with Uranus and Mars lending their aid in reverse action, as it were, you are getting up steam to start a little revolution all your own.

"When you can't get followers, you are content to do your own war-making, and you often prove a competent warrior. Whether you win or lose doesn't matter—so long as you fight against the sordidness and cruelties and bigotries of the world. You don't like frustration, and when you meet defeat in one place, you go elsewhere. So this year you are finding the very opposition between Uranus and Mars the allies you need and you are off to new conquests—personal and otherwise. Your trends are certainly far from being sluggish.

Too Late to See Saturn

"PISCES, you are just too late to glimpse Saturn through your magic glasses. He was in your Sun Sign for a couple of years and I am sure you still see evidence of his occupancy. He has smoothed things out and has clamped down the guards on many things which were loose and floating rather carelessly about. He helped you take stock of yourself. He gave you chances to do and dare, in a practical way. He showed you the difference between your assured assets and the dubious ones that you sometimes accept at their face rather than actual value.

No Time For Idleness

"WELL, there is no planet in your divination now, but it is not a time for idleness. Better keep busy and get things done because Saturn is coming back to inspect what you have accomplished. Be sure that the results are worthwhile. Saturn seeks only the best and that is why you are still at the right pitch to harmonize with the favorable side of your trends."

The captain salutes and goes back to his bridge. The passengers remove their magic glasses and rub their eyes. They have seen miracles and can hardly wait to get back to shore to spread the great tidings. The captain, knowing their impatience to get home, moves a lever in his modern instrument board and—presto—the ship glides up to the dock. The passengers step off and hurry away, each to his or her own residence. But the captain's words are not forgotten and everyone is determined to carry out the suggestions about Cycles and Trends.

COSMIC FLASHES

For You Who Were Born With Sun in Aries

March 21
to
April 20

WITH the Planet Venus in Aries, your Sun Sign, during May, you are entitled to feel romantic. But don't be too hasty in turning to Love as the complete cure-all. To do so might be a hindrance rather than a help, as your beloved may make greater demands on your time and attention than you wish to spare.

Yet love is beautiful, and Venus in Aries stimulates ardor. Be content with the affections of your true soul mate, and if at the end of May some unexpected expenditures arise, due to the Venus-Jupiter square, don't be too downcast. Money is of secondary consideration when love is at stake.

This is not a time to look for favors from those "higher up." The Planet Jupiter who is considered, astrologically, "the friend in need," has troubles of his own right now and may not be able to pay attention to your problems, due to the opposition of the Planet Pluto which is rather a long-drawn-out affair, increased by the retrograde motion of Jupiter which begins on the 16th of May.

So don't rely on the Jupiter intercession at court this month. He has no "pull," except perhaps in the wrong direction.

However, you are well able to take care of yourself. Your mental animation is keen and your wits are off on a hunt for new plans. If your thoughts and actions synchronize with the world tempo, you should find yourself in a rather favorable position. Therefore, the best friend you have at court right now is your own personality. You couldn't have a better or more competent emissary, if you spent thousands.

Saturday, May 1. Plan wisely. Constructive preparation is half the battle for success. So take definite action because a new cycle is forming and you are being stimulated in a definite way. Be sure that wishes are not dissipated through lack of coordination.

Sunday, May 2. You are a proud person and when you are really set to go places, you don't count the consequences. That's all very well, but for your own sake, don't strip the gears by being too assertive today. Quiet persistence will carry you more comfortably forward. You'll get there more quickly by hurrying less.

Monday, May 3. "Seek and ye shall find," is an old saying. Well, if you try hard enough you can find both joy and strife. It isn't a good day for new love affairs, but it is excellent for friendship that has stood the test of time. You can find a lot of satisfaction by doing something nice for an elderly person.

Tuesday, May 4. Remember the old saying, "There are no friends like old friends"? A good day to act on this impulse, especially as Venus is here to give assurance—if you need it—that you can be happy in renewing old ties.

Wednesday, May 5. The Moon is now in Pisces, your Twelfth Solar House, involving secrets. Your Aries nature prefers to be open and above-board in everything, so keep up this fine record. Hide nothing; it won't stay hidden.

Thursday, May 6. Are you feeling let-down and depleted? Never mind. It is only a passing mood, and you will soon be your inspired self again. The Aries verve won't forsake you for long, so take life easy.

Friday, May 7. Your natural exuberance will be enhanced today. Tremendous energies are let loose. Use them to promote new affairs, particularly of the creative type.

Saturday, May 8. The vigorous qualities of yesterday are continuing, but will gradually diminish towards evening. Be prudent and save some energy for tomorrow. The lunar aspects are more favorable for quick-moving projects than for those which need longer attention.

Sunday, May 9. Today is excellent for money affairs. Use your own initiative. Deals which are genuine and developed for mutual profit should do well and bring satisfactory results.

Monday, May 10. Here comes the New Moon. An amazingly good time for expressing yourself in the way you like best—by beginning new things. Buy new clothes, meet new people, alter your home, plant your garden—do the thousand and one things that are always ready for your deft touch.

Tuesday, May 11. Even if you are not an editor or publisher, take your pen, or typewriter, in hand today and write something. You are all pepped up and you will find yourself saying lively and clever things. Your mind is focused in the right direction for literary effort.

Wednesday, May 12. And here is the day for you to be just as scintillating vocally as you were through the written word yesterday. If you have the chance to make a public address, either on a platform or through a microphone, do it. Say what you think. You are fluent and convincing.

Thursday, May 13. Attend to routine activities. Finish whatever you started yesterday. It may not be easy for you to be original or spontaneous in thought or action, so don't force yourself.

Friday, May 14. You will find the morning suitable for steady work, and in the evening you may find pleasure in inexpensive pleasures, provided you don't accept the challenge of a quarrel or an argument.

Saturday, May 15. Here is your Aries-Mars chance for vigorous progress. It is the sort of day on which the phrase, "I am master of my fate" was first uttered. At any rate, you are on the up-swing of your current cycle and should do well where you are needed.

Sunday, May 16. This is not the football season, but you can tackle the opposing player with such force that you can make a touch-down without further obstacle. Respond to the happy note of this day. Thought and action synchronize.

Monday, May 17. Health problems may need attention, but you have a great deal of latent energy in reserve. And don't put too much trust in anyone who would flatter you. It isn't a good day to believe in honeyed phrases.

Tuesday, May 18. Because the luminaries form such aspects, each month has its own periodic ups and downs. Right now your work may slow up for no apparent reason. It isn't serious and so long as you don't start more than you can finish, everything will turn out well.

Wednesday, May 19. There is still too much devitalization in your house of occupation for you to make a winning score. It may mean a little heavier going, but don't for a moment think you are losing your grip. You still have a full quota of the Aries-Mars vision and determination.

Thursday, May 20. Perhaps you are still feeling slowed-up and relaxed. That's good. Just wait for that spark to hit all cylinders. If you are called upon to make a decision, try to delay the answer. Avoid pressure, if possible.

Friday, May 21. Let somebody else lead the band today, so to speak. You can do better by standing in the side lines. The wise executive always has a substitute ready for emergencies. You can afford to keep in the background today.

Saturday, May 22. You will find it was worth while to stay neutral for a few days, because now the tempo changes. Everything goes at a faster pace. You have a charm and graciousness about you that is pleasing to others. Happiness and contentment dominate the scene, giving you an extra sense of pleasure.

Sunday, May 23. The ice-box holds a lot of good things that can't be used for the time being. That's the place for any fair promises that are handed out to you today. Just stick them into the refrigerator temporarily. When you take them out again, you will know if they are worth saving or should be thrown into the garbage pail.

Monday, May 24. Keep the string of whatever you handle under your own control, especially if these are connected with cash. Your earning capacity is good and you are justified in standing up for your rights.

Tuesday, May 25. Your solar group strives for the best, and if you have used your opportunities properly this month, you had a chance to attain some of your ambitions. The Saturn ingress on the 25th acts as a brake in your Sun Sign; but you will admit there are times when you need it. This is a good day for money and for work.

Wednesday, May 26. You can be amusing today, and it is enchanting to have fun. Smile. Play. Enjoy life. You can do all these and yet not lose a minute from getting ahead in your work. Details can be handled without friction today, because your sense of humor is stimulated.

Thursday, May 27. Use the early part of the day for quick turnover of whatever arises. As the day progresses, you may feel a slower response. Go to the theatre or visit friends in the evening. Good for social intercourse.

Friday, May 28. Be positive in your decisions today. You need facts as well as intuition to see where you are headed. Don't ask for favors, especially if estate or legal matters are involved.

Saturday, May 29. Today take time off from active work and relax; seek outdoor pleasures. Build up your physical personality. You really need this Saturday to catch up with yourself. If you can use it as part of the national week-end holiday, so much the better.

Sunday, May 30. Give thought to your friends. If necessary, you can even approach them for help, as they are well disposed toward you. Read books of an instructive nature, and if you like lectures be sure to attend one. Or listen to the informative speeches on the radio.

Monday, May 31. This is a day for research; for digging; for taking stock of what you have and what you need. Far and near ideas are merging for benefit. Whatever your work may be at the present time, you can find new and valuable help by asking advice from the right people and looking for it in the right place.

COSMIC FLASHES

For You Who Were Born With Sun in Taurus

to
May 20

WITH Mercury now retrograde in your own Sun Sign and coming to a parallel of Uranus on the 18th, you may look at things in an oblique way this month, as though you took delight in finding fault with the quirks and foibles of others.

The direct and retrograde motion of a planet in any Sign creates a rather double-action aspect. You may feel mentally on edge. But your judgment is good, and you are likely to have twice as many good ideas as usual, under these interesting Mercury auspices.

Incidentally, the month of May also opens with Venus retrograde in Aries, so be careful about sentiment and emotion if you want to enjoy the fullness and abundance of this fruitful season.

Your solar group may find the Sun-Mars opposition on the 19th like a magnetic force pulling you from where you are to where you don't wish to be. You may find yourself involved in situations which you neither planned nor expected. The experience may be rather a battering one, for there is nothing gentle nor peaceful about Mars. On the other hand, the period may prove stimulating and exciting. Even under adverse conditions, Mars keeps a supply of zest and vim in his war-chest. He might present you with a medal as a reward, after the affray.

So keep your head. Don't let the hysteria or frenzy of false prophets scare you. You can be firm and self-reliant. Remember that Taurus is a fixed Sign. Let nothing daunt you. You have an abundance of courage and self-confidence. Don't hesitate to use either this month. You'll find your faith in yourself is justified.

May 1. There are three excellent aspects today, falling in your Solar Ninth House. They favor travel, sentiment, change, progress, promotion and all those worthwhile rewards dear to the heart of the steady-going Taurean.

May 2. Yesterday's vibrations still hold good and even if it is Sunday, manage to settle details and plans, otherwise they might drag along and stand in your way for a considerable time.

May 3. At the zenith of your Solar Chart is Aquarius, squaring your Sun Sign. There is a little byplay there now which is like a red light signal. Nothing serious, but just enough to stress the need of caution. Sudden upsets might occur if you sign papers without knowing their contents. Otherwise be aggressive.

May 4. Alertness should be your motto today. Somebody might offer a plan that seems genuine enough, but things may work out differently than expected. Wait until tomorrow. Regrets are even harder to cure than delays.

May 5. Here's a day for a party, provided you don't have to plan it or cater for it. Do something that will take your mind off yourself and your affairs. Seek companions, but be sure they are old friends. Avoid strangers.

May 6. Up goes the curtain and the scene shifts, but the players are the same. So it is with friends. They continue to be helpful, because they are friends and not mere acquaintances. Give yourself, and them, a little playtime in the evening.

May 7. That watchdog of the sky, Saturn, is in fine fettle today. He says, "Go to it." And as Jupiter, Venus and Mercury are also in the upper sphere of your solar chart, it is not a time for you to lag. A day to mix pleasure and business.

May 8. Do you carry a little note book? If so jot down the ideas that pop into your head. Don't lose these memos for they should come in quite handy ere long. Even if some of your ideas seem fantastic, don't discard them. They have come to you for a purpose.

May 9. This is the first of two days where all born in your Solar Sign, Taurus, should get ready to forge ahead. Your mind should be filled with brilliant, energetic, new ideas. Hold on to them.

May 10. It will be some time before the return of another period of such glory and power and potential charm. The New Moon today is harmonious with Jupiter, Neptune, Mercury, and Venus.

May 11. Open conflict is often preferable to underhanded friction. If you don't know what is going on behind you, it isn't easy to protect yourself. But keep close to your own base, and thus keep the game in your own hands.

May 12. To hold what you have is an old law, but modern experience has proved that it frequently pays to yield a little to get more. This is a day for you to see what you can do for others, and thus assure yourself future gain.

May 13. Good fellowship between kin should be the rule rather than the exception. Friendship between brothers and sisters is a wonderful bond. Do your share to make this relationship a symbol of family unity. Thoughts are things, you know, and if you think right today about your relatives, something good might ensue.

May 14. Is there anyone whose opinion you value? Find the time to further this. You can entrench yourself strongly by attending strictly to business—your own. Don't ask for advice, and if possible, don't offer it.

May 15. A day will come when mediators will be more powerful than soldiers—because the world will have learned that it pays to arbitrate rather than to fight. So build up your reputation as a reasonable exponent of justice and take time off for social pleasure.

May 16. This is a propitious day for furnishing and decorating the home. If there is little you can do in your own dwelling, send something to the prospective bride and groom, or to the newlyweds. Handle food in large or small quantities.

May 17. Elated? That's good, but then you can carry your elation with the same practical quality that you do when you encounter difficulties. Things you do today may have future significance so don't turn your back to the advice of old friends who are perhaps wiser, because they are more experienced.

May 18. Brilliant achievement beckons you. Do take advantage of your inspiration. Music, art, architecture, literature and all intellectual pursuits need interpretation. What is your angle? And who can better develop land and sell it than the Taurus-born? Start something today.

May 19. Professionally you can perform what might well-nigh be termed miracles if you will sail right along on the waves of cosmic energy which are favoring your group in the pocket-book area. There is an inflow today, but you must do your share.

May 20. Life can be pleasant if you can only garner its beauties at the right time. This is a day made for simple existence. There may be strife and warfare in the atmosphere, but there is quiet somewhere. Find it.

May 21. If you live near the water, take a boat ride. Or if there is a pool available, take a swim. Or if neither of these fit in with your scheme of things, do something with fluids and liquids. Concoct a new drink. Do something about your favorite recipe—or buy a cook book. Quite a mixture, isn't it? But so is the day.

May 22. Any gloom around the house? It's not your fault, so don't let anything that happens get under your skin. There are petty situations, but nothing serious enough to warrant anger. Refuse to quarrel. Your ruling birth Sign Planet, Venus, is conjunct Sun, so you need not be apprehensive.

May 23. If you had a chance to live in a climate that is always uniform, or in a house where things never happened—even though everything was always smooth and pleasant—would you exchange it for the interesting existence that is possible under your present mode of life? Well, if there is an argument at home or with fellow-workers, stop to think of this alternative and then shake hands all around.

May 24. Didn't it pay to "kiss and make up"? And what's more, it will pep you up enough to step up the tempo of things around you. There may be new light illuminating your viewpoint. Exercise judgment.

May 25. Love has its ups and downs, and sometime it may explode like a bombshell. It isn't pleasant to be caught in a love tangle. Escape may not be easy. So just keep the weather open for storm signals. Steady your craft and keep your grip on the purse strings.

May 26. Still feel romantic? All right, but don't stir up antagonism. Retain your guard, otherwise something might hit you from an unexpected angle. Stand pat.

May 27. If, at the end of the day, you feel that you have gained little, don't be upset. All you need do is to guard against dissipating what you already have. It is a good day for action, but it must be done in a self-effacing way, so far as you are concerned.

May 28. The start of a new week and the beginning of new foundations for you—either of short or long duration, depending on what your preparations are. The ground is fertile, actually and figuratively. Plant your seeds and tend your garden. The aspects favor love.

May 29. Destiny wags a finger, and if you catch it at the right instant you land at the top. Anyhow, it's worth a try. The less you dilly-dally today, the better. Travel, new ideas, new openings and determination well favored.

May 30. You are not an "easy mark" particularly when anyone offends you. You do not forgive nor forget easily. Today may open the breach between you and someone who has been or might still be a staunch ally. So, for your own sake, steer clear of involvements that call for criticism, sarcasm, envy or strife.

May 31. Draw upon your inner self today for anything you might need. Even cold cash has less value than your self-reliance. And self-reliance needs the cooperation of friends. Take advantage of their help today.

COSMIC FLASHES

DURING MAY, 1937

For You Who Were Born With Sun in Gemini

June 20

WITH utter disregard for the way you feel about it personally, the ruling planet of your solar Sign, Mercury, is constantly forming all sorts of angles and aspects with the other celestial orbs. Being nearest the Sun, and the swiftest of the Major Planets, Mercury contacts all the spheres in fairly quick succession.

During the middle of May your solar group may feel in a sort of mental haze, manifesting itself first on or about the 11th when Mercury is conjunct and parallel the Sun. Procrastination and disinclination to work may be mild indications of the way you feel.

Fortunately, the next day the scene shifts, as Mercury and Venus get into semi-sextile contact, reducing your fidgets considerably. Before Mercury gets into less favorable aspects again with Saturn and Uranus (on the 16th and 18th respectively) take your little tool kit in hand and do some necessary repair jobs. In other words, straighten out old problems before they become more complicated.

Don't allow yourself to be diverted unless you can afford the time and the cost. If you are your own master, by all means accept the challenge that Uranus has ready for your Sun Sign. You would doubtless get a lot of fun out of testing your skill in untried fields. You enjoy tinkering with the new and unusual, anyway, so while Mercury and Uranus are parallel on the 18th of May it should be quite easy for you to get off on a tangent.

But if you have to live in a work-a-day world, depending on trained ability to find the wherewithal of existence, stick to deeds instead of dreams.

May 1. You don't like to apologize, because you think your own way is best. But this time you might be in error, so end whatever friction might still be in the air by taking your share of the blame.

May 2. Sunday is a good time for a family check-up in addition to having a spiritual interview with yourself. See what may be done to bring your relatives in closer accord. Such solidarity is of practical benefit. Family unity is often a sound investment, as may be verified by study of fortunes that have been well managed.

May 3. The marker points towards opportunities, but you really need to concentrate. You enjoy doing things which come easily to you, but try to be thrifty today, especially with accrued savings. Economize with time and money.

May 4. You are waking up this morning to powerful aspects which will bring favorable vibrations. Do something constructive. You can be dynamic, stabilizing, analytical. You are sensitive, yet energetic. Far-away affairs may be developed advantageously. But don't mix sentiment with business.

May 5. If you are an air traveller, keep close to the ground today. The press may be full of aviation news, but so far as you are concerned let it be merely news. Start something new along original lines. Remember your aptitude with the written as well as the spoken word.

May 6. This is a double-value day. The efforts you put into whatever you do today should increase two-fold in the payment you receive—which does not necessarily mean actual dollars and cents. Depend on your own viewpoint and judgment.

May 7. There is less tension today from friends and associates than yesterday, although it is just as well that you don't make a bid for popularity. Let your previous record speak for itself and when the psychological time arrives, you will have a chance to reach the level for which you are aiming.

May 8. Here is a day that should be made to count for something worthwhile. These lunar aspects pass quickly, and if the favorable ones are allowed to lapse, it may not be so easy to find another similar auspicious occasion. Good for matters of friendship.

May 9. Nature is on the job with her invisible signals. If you have been overdoing, or going at too fast a pace, this is a day for quiet repose. Don't be upset or discontented. Just pause in your full gallop, and catch your breath.

May 10. Lay aside your burdens for a short interval, if you can. And if you feel that you can't, save an hour or two for quiet reflection. You are not a dray horse, to be kept in harness and driven with a whip. Enjoy life while you may. It is your duty to yourself to look at life through rosy-hued goggles sometimes.

May 11. There will be a good deal of talk today, and you'll doubtless do your share of it. When you can discuss interesting topics in congenial company it is pure delight. Watch the free exchange of ideas. And how refreshing not to encounter malice or gossip.

May 12. Bubbles in the air! How you love them. But don't be upset if something comes along and punctures them. In other words, deal with realities and don't expect to win a fortune by staking everything on the turn of a wheel.

May 13. You can engineer yourself in and out of all sorts of situations today. But you are enjoying the fire and enthusiasm that carries you along. Be sure to see some good acting, or hear some good music.

May 14. It may be that your own emotions are safeguarded by the natal aspects, but as today's aspects are distinctly adverse to love and its many ramifications, make no move that will leave love in the lurch; or rather that may leave you in a precarious position.

May 15. Imagine living in a world without love! Dreadful, to be sure. Only don't spend too much time sorrowing for the lack of love. If it is absent today it'll come back with a zip in a day or so.

May 16. Here is a Trine of Venus and the Moon, so love is again well aspected. This is a mighty good thing, because everything else seems to be at sixes and sevens. Straighten out matters with kindness and generosity. Be firm rather than expedient.

May 17. Write letters of friendship and to those who are near and dear to you. Otherwise spend the day quietly and read some good books.

May 18. If you must go on a trip, be sure that you don't use second-rate vehicles. There is a threat of danger and you may find emphasis of this in your work. It is like lightning that may strike unexpectedly, but if you use tact you are that much ahead.

May 19. Somebody always has to pay, and this time you may be the one who has to accept the bill. If so, take it with good grace. Help may come from an unexpected source, so don't be too fretful or forceful.

May 20. Some day the world may be startled by the news of a great invention—and its inception may occur from midnight to midnight today. You, with your Gemini ingenuity can appreciate real cleverness in yourself and others. So if you have a clever idea today, hold on to it.

May 21. Every now and then you feel per-haps that you can begin all over again—if you could only drop the past. This is a day for new beginnings, but you can start doing whatever you wish, wherever you are. Have faith in yourself.

May 22. It isn't pleasant to meet with obstacles when you carry something precious and fragile. Today you may meet with indifference or downright wreckage. Prove yourself superior to conditions by going on with your plans in as even a tenor as possible. If you can't avoid debris, walk around it.

May 23. You are probably not the sort of person to fuss much about your health. Too busy with other things, aren't you? A little care with diet today would repay you, however, as a preventive step.

May 24. If you didn't overeat yesterday, certainly don't begin today. The same care is still in order. And try to avoid the fatigue which always adds to the severity of any condition.

May 25. There is more than one type of hangover, and it may be there are the tail ends of a quarrel or argument that have to be explained away, and which should have been disposed of yesterday. Right thinking can do wonders, and by smoothing out your own temper, you will control the situation.

May 26. This is the sort of day when your best intentions may go haywire. The fault is not yours. The trouble is with the response you are getting from others. Don't blame them either. They may be so intent on their own affairs that they can't afford time or thought for yours. The best ideas are being generated in yourself.

May 27. You'll be thinking a good deal of money matters today and you'll wonder how to make ends meet. There is no compromise with the cashier, except to let him have his own way. So keep your fingers out of your purse, and don't add to your future burdens by signing your name to installment contracts.

May 28. Some people buy when the market is rising, but others make their fortunes by investing only in that which has future sales value. This is not a good day to speculate with your assets, nor to enter into deals with which you are not familiar.

May 29. Can you plan your day in such a way that excitements and responsibilities are automatically excluded? If so, don't interview lawyers, nor threaten to sue anybody. Entertain as little as possible—or not at all. But work diligently. A big mental scoop may be yours today, if you avoid entanglements.

May 30. You feel that you want to do something nice for someone and it may be that the other persons is imbued with the same general impulse regarding you. That's as it should be. Stick to old friends.

May 31. Good little boys and girls deserve a party today and those who are not so good would be much better if they were invited to a dance and given ice cream and cake. Treat yourself to a good time by sponsoring a social event for those who are young in age—and in spirit.

COSMIC FLASHES

For You Who Were Born With Sun in Cancer

to
July 22

THE Planet Saturn is now squaring your Sun Sign. Saturn abhors delusion, so make this a period of reality. When Saturn sanctions anything, it must be real and not any half-baked proposition. He recognizes only sincerity and honesty. This applies to romance as well as money!

Nor is this a favorable time for you to start any new ventures—if you have to depend on others to carry out your plans. Better stick to what you know and let experience be your stand-by.

You will need to keep close to your base during the next two or three years while Saturn continues his long square to your Sun Sign. Not only that, but his entry into Aries results in a Sign square to Pluto which is now in Cancer. So watch your step in every way.

Now is your chance to make full use of your inherent charm. Open the gateway of your personality—not for frivolous reasons, but for serious ones. Apply friendliness and courtesy to all contacts, even casual ones. They have more value, sometimes, than dollars and cents.

Throughout May you can do much to forge the links of your popularity, if advancement is your aim. Don't accept favors, however, without reciprocity. If you receive invitations to parties, be sure to entertain also. In fact, you might take the initiative in such things. And if you can do anything for an organization, or club, or association with which you are affiliated, don't let the chance slip by.

But take things easy. Don't push yourself beyond the point of endurance. Watch your energy and vitality. Find the limit of your capacity before you reach it—and don't go beyond it.

May 1. Yours is a hospitable soul, and you like to entertain with fine viands. If you have over-eaten at your own feast, stick to your good resolutions — and your diet—for a day or two.

May 2. Even though it is Sunday, you can still think about your job. Rest, relaxation, inspiration, and right thinking all provide a substantial and sustaining fabric for raising the standard of your achievement. Therefore, even while you are taking life easy, you are doing much to gain headway in your job.

May 3. Still necessary to guard your health, so do not strain the digestion. You can have a good time and enjoy life, fun, and frivolity to the fullest extent, but abstain from sampling table dainties.

May 4. This is a good day to give time and thought to your duties, and the job which supports you, whether it pays you a direct or an indirect salary. Friendship, courage and originality are the contributing factors today. Use the directing aspects as lines to help you get what you want.

May 5. An army may "march on its stomach" but a case of gastritis may upset a household. Should anyone close to you start an argument, let it be a one-sided one. It won't amount to anything, if you provide something to soothe exciting nerves. The whole condition may be a nutritive one, due to Jupiter's aspects.

May 6. Get out of your rut. Your share in public affairs should be more than passive. Find out how you can serve the community and if experience such as you have can be of help, don't hesitate to offer it.

May 7. Look after little things and the big ones will take care of themselves. Be conservative and steady. Support the "powers that be" even if you do not agree with their policy. Your profit comes from cooperation rather than dissension.

May 8. Forget injustice and petty bickering. Give thought to your real assets and not those foisted on you at intervals by others. Steady yourself and forget your sensitiveness. You can accomplish much if you exclude worry.

May 9. The next three days are important to your solar group. The New Moon touches your public relationship zone and supplies the ideal time for the tide of your affairs to carry along your ideals, aspirations and expectations. Your horizon can be as far as you want it to be.

May 10. If you have had long-time problems interfering with your plans, see what you can do to get at least one or two out of the way. You may have the necessary vim to force a settlement. Towards evening, however, suspend aggressive action. Treat yourself to a good time.

May 11. Do as much as you possibly can today. You may feel restless and chafe at delay, but you are really getting a lot more done than you realize. Be sensible; accept Nature's law. It is, after all, the only unbreakable one.

May 12. The general vibrations are rather difficult and unless you are prepared, you will fall into a deep pit of indecision. Skirt around this morass by straight thinking. If possible, do a lot of reading and as little active work as is consistent with your obligations.

May 13. There are always seeds of growth germinating in the ego and your capacity for regulating their growth furnishes the success of their fruition. Your intellect is now surcharged and you may have a surge of ambition to do big things. Do not stifle this impulse. Let the desire carry you on.

May 14. This is the sort of day that requires a minimum of effect to accomplish a maximum of results. You can swing right through the incoming and outgoing jobs. Friends are friendly, and enemies are too busy to concern themselves with you. So strive for the best.

May 15. The middle of the month finds you in the center of a little whirlpool—revolving and revolutionizing. Yet, being in the very center, you have the seeming faculty of standing still and resisting the tremendous force around you. Good. You can gain from what the others are doing. Direct them, but retain your center.

May 16. You can modify and harmonize conditions around you. There is no actual difficulty with which you need cope, so you can be soothing and helpful. Give common-sense advice where needed and logical guidance to those who would be extravagant.

May 17. Your sphere of usefulness is still to the fore, and it may be an adverse situation has developed that needs the utmost tact on your part. Don't allow yourself to be frustrated, nor permit your feelings to be scorched. Deal with practical issues.

May 18. Imagine going back to the old times when there weren't any of the mechanical contrivances which are so essential to our well being in this modern age. So, find out what you need to make your equipment even more complete and add a few more devices to your collection.

May 19. First of all, make up your mind that you will not be upset with the furore that attacks others. The next step is for you to liquidate what you have. This is in fact literal, for today is excellent for buying and selling liquids and beverages of all kinds. Water sports and water trips are also getting publicity.

May 20. Sort out and boil down your ideas. Do some solid, constructive thinking. Single out the best items and give them first attention. Build your foundations firm. Do nothing that might bring discord and strife into your home.

May 21. Romance is coming in for considerable bombardment today and it wouldn't be wise to lock horns with Sir Cupid. But fortunately Venus is a fast-moving Planet, and with the utmost dispatch she is doing her best to ring down the curtain on emotional friction.

May 22. You may feel uncertain about favors from strangers, but don't be at all in doubt about the kindness of friends. Even love and lovers should do something about the tiff of yesterday. If there is no other way of reconciliation, write a note.

May 23. Devote today to looking after your own affairs. Prepare for the coming week by strengthening your reserves. Go to church, and get all the good you can out of the day's spiritual significance.

May 24. Whisk ahead into the future, if you like, but keep your eye on the present. Because your bread and butter—and also your cake and ice-cream—come from what you do with your head and your hands. Don't let mental confusion lead you astray.

May 25. Today's full Moon may mark a culmination in your affairs. Be ready to act quickly if new opportunity comes to your notice—especially in your work.

May 26. You can be popular today, and yet find something missing from complete enjoyment. But try to have a good time and be sturdy in your affections.

May 27. The course of true love should run just as smoothly in family affairs as it does when "boy meets girl." But some people are not on a friendly footing with close relatives. Why not use this day to cement more closely the affection between you and your kin?

May 28. There are powerful forces let loose in the world today—a whole regiment of fire and brimstone. Maybe you'll be tempted to throw up your job and let those depending on you shift for themselves. Regret will follow such imprudence.

May 29. If you took yesterday's warning with good grace, repeat the same clear-headed judgment today. Do what is right and fair—especially in connection with your co-workers.

May 30. You may feel that you are being pulled out of your course and thrust into an alien field. But there is a good deal of latitude in this situation and you can step right back to where you want to be. Success needs courage.

May 31. This is the day for industry and close application to routine tasks. Let nothing daunt you. Settle down to work and get as much done as possible. It should make the cash register ring!

COSMIC FLASHES

DURING MAY, 1937

For You Who Were Born With Sun in Leo

to August 22

WITH Uranus now in your Tenth Solar House, all angles of your chart are sensitized. For you who can accept the obligations that this entails, it should be a time of opportunity. There can be much unexpected joy and great recompense from unusual sources.

Yet your home life may not afford you the comfort and satisfaction that you expect, with Mars retrograde in Scorpio, in your Fourth Solar House. Your Leo temper may be one of the chief factors in the discord, as you cannot tolerate substitutes for integrity and honor.

Your patience may be stretched to the utmost through the feeling that you are hampered by under-surface currents. But neither deception nor fraud should drag you down from your high level when you adhere to the rigid principles of your own solar sphere.

There are the usual lunar trines and sextiles in May, as well as squares and oppositions, giving each day its own vibratory aspects.

You need not be perturbed by the adverse configurations. Take them in your stride. Resistance, if it is violent and strenuous, might wear you out and accomplish little. On the other hand, going along with the cosmic stream gives you a chance to develop your personality, to increase your confidence, and to visualize the present in its true proportions.

Be especially careful not to let your mind become muddled or foggy. Enjoy life and its gifts. With Saturn trine to your radical Sun, you can steady your craft and trim your sails! Saturn is a stabilizing influence. It is a great help to have Saturn in a friendly position while less harmonious cosmic aspects are crisscrossing your solar chart.

May 1. Concentrate on your job. Let other things wait. Your health and your stamina are equal to whatever needs to be finished. Get it out of the way to prepare for bigger opportunities.

May 2. Stabilize yourself. Handle yourself with care, because if you ignore certain health rules, you may have to retrench at a time when you need all your energy.

May 3. The first of two days that may be rather baffling, particularly in problems that relate to partnership, or the life partner. You are not always tolerant, and you demand your own way quite often. But for the sake of harmony, ignore the tension. Give way. You'll soon get back the leadership.

May 4. Send out a little more of that innate gracious tact that serves the Leo needs so often. It is only a matter of hours before the opposing aspects fade and then, if you have done what is wise, you will win your decision.

May 5. Good advice is always at a premium. You prefer to give it rather than ask for it. This isn't a good day to consult or be consulted, especially if the query concerns legal points.

May 6. Some development might be eluding proper settlement. There may be uncertainty and limitation, but there need be no permanent loss of opportunity or resources if you are just a little flexible. Remember that even an oak may bend with the wind, to save itself from breaking.

May 7. Justice looks on with calm mien and asks if you have been fair to the person Nature intended you to be. If she finds that you have used your endowments properly, you may attain another notch in your report card. In other words, favorable vibrations are at work and many Leo-born will benefit.

May 8. What a red letter day! There you are, approaching the zenith. Glamor, elegance, achievement, luxury. The sort of day which starts with a bang and ends with a flourish. Nothing humdrum nor penurious about things. Sun, and Moon, and Stars salute you who are worthy!

May 9. And the drums still proclaim the glad tidings near and far. You hear them with joy. Make your bow and retire while the plaudits are still loud. There is a fading quality in the cheers, so look down from the heights and choose the easiest way down.

May 10. For down you must come, down to earth where a practical and thriving humanity is striving to make ends meet. Do your share. Royalty itself gets short shrift these days, so don't let your Leo inertia be a handicap.

May 11. Deal with many things. Whatever arises should be disposed of. You are ingenious rather than analytical today. However, you proceed with true accuracy and make few mistakes.

May 12. Regulate your day in such a way that you will have a few hours for the one who is nearest and dearest to you. And also take time off to experiment with some thought or notion that may need to be perfected. Don't shirk.

May 13. Don't let confusion deter you from your purpose. You need every bit of self-control of which you are capable. Forge ahead, despite doubts, fears and secret pressure. It may be your own inhibitions at that, so get rid of them speedily.

May 14. Stick to what you have and enjoy it. There is a full measure of good to be gained from the past and present. Forget the future. It will take care of itself.

May 15. So here you are, with the reins again in your own hands and you need not have lost anything in prestige in the previous two days. Your pride is intact and you may have prevented a minor crisis from becoming a major one.

May 16. As a reward for good behavior, you may win a smile from Dame Fortune. She beckons you to relax. Play games. Sing. Dance. Amuse yourself. Fling care aside and let joy prevail.

May 17. "A soft answer turneth away wrath," the Bible says. And if you have gone through these days of possible upset with a firm and pleasant manner, you have achieved a real victory over yourself and you may expect better results next time such configurations arise.

May 18. Today's transits are favorable for finances, real estate, and love. Your own solar group is getting the full benefit of these aspects in matters of future importance. So if your campaign has been well prepared, as suggested in the last several days, go ahead with full confidence.

May 19. Money, payment for what you do, is going to be on your own mind for the next two days. Take your job seriously. Analyze it from every angle. See how you can improve it, so you may ask for promotion. If you are your own boss, still you are doing a job and it's up to you to sell your services at a higher rate.

May 20. Want to travel? Good. There are many enchanting spots on Earth waiting for your visit. There is no magic carpet that will carry you there in the twinkling of an eye, but there are books and pictures; and also the radio. You can take a long journey in an hour and wake up at your own fireside.

May 21. There is always a golden moment. Without warning something glorious might come your way, but if you look the other way, you might not even see it. So keep your eyes open. You might see the golden bell and hear its tinkle.

May 22. "Not so fast," your good fairy whispers. In other words, stick to plain everyday tasks, and you'll get more done than seems possible at first sight.

May 23. Dust and water make mud. If you don't want to get splashed, stay out of the rain. This second day of adverse configurations stresses your inner fastidiousness, so look where you step.

May 24. Tests are always coming up. At school everybody in the classroom has to answer the same questions. But in life, you may have a private examination of your own. Take time to study your problems, and take no chances.

May 25. Keep on with that idea that's swimming around in your head. It has possibilities. You are now working in a field that is well planted. All you need do is to clear out the weeds. Better do it voluntarily because Saturn, now in your Ninth Solar House, is bound to use pressure if you are lax.

May 26. Being Leo-born, you are actively interested in all societies, fraternities, clubs, etc. And holding office is as natural to you as eating your meals. If you have such duties before you today, you will enjoy handling them.

May 27. Take a long walk today and air out your grievances. Fill your lungs with oxygen and your mind with hope. Get a good dose of cheer while you are outdoors and when you return to your tasks, you will feel wonderfully refreshed.

May 28. You may have an overpowering urge to go places and see things. If you can do so physically, you will enjoy the trip. But if circumstances prevent your leaving home, don't fret. It is all for the best.

May 29. Look at the Moon. See how it is diminishing in size? And yet only a week ago it was full and bright. This is merely to let you know that you cannot live at high speed all the time.

May 30. It takes more than one to make tension and misunderstanding. You will have a chance to fight and bicker with members of your household for the next two or three days. It's your turn to be magnanimous, so make the best of it.

May 31. Some words cannot be forgotten nor forgiven. They may be as poisonous as gas, and as deadly as bullets. Say little and reflect much. Planetary aspects may be exciting domestic friction, but you need not succumb.

COSMIC FLASHES

DURING MAY, 1937

For You Who Were Born With Sun in Virgo

to September 22

DESTINY is one thing, and impulsiveness something entirely different. With Mars in Sagittarius until the middle of May, transiting your Fourth Solar House, you might want to tear up your roots and transplant them elsewhere.

Where this is justified, there is no reason why you should remain where you are. But if this is merely a temporary urge, why change?

But there is a constructive side to this sudden intense desire to move. It can be used for the liberation of creative forces which have long been held captive in your nature.

If you want to cut loose and go off on new paths, don't hesitate. Others have blazed the trail and have left sign posts and guides. Draw ideas from the Infinite and engineer your plans in such a way that you will gain from this stimulating Mars transit.

On the 19th of May, Mercury and Neptune are trine to each other—a symbol of magnetic vibration. This is a good time to accelerate interest in art, literature, occultism, arcane sciences and other ideals which you may have kept dormant within yourself too long. Awaken your spiritual and mental self. If you are wise, you will let nothing deter you from taking full advantage of the planetary vibrations which are, in many respects, exceptional. Let them play an important part in the development of your personal magnetism.

As a matter of fact, you really ought to celebrate, for on the 25th of April, the Planet Saturn moved temporarily out of Pisces. But even though the respite is comparatively brief, yet you ought to rejoice, as the Saturn removal from Sign opposition to Virgo is a definite help.

May 1. In the next two weeks solar aspects require that you advance upwards—like climbing up a ladder to the top of a lofty perch so you may gaze about you with satisfaction and admiration at the view below. See the good things all around you, and rejoice.

May 2. Are others pushing you? If so, it is for your own good. Don't let anything petty stand in the way of fast work and real achievement. Keep your ambitions at high pitch.

May 3. If you feel that you have come full tilt against a stone wall, stop to reconnoiter. Stand still so that Nature will have a chance to start you off again on your cycle of achievement. You may be a little upset, temporarily. Work it off.

May 4. Routine work is your meat and drink. You like to delve into innermost recesses of your job and develop it with remarkable skill. Stick to your tasks, whatever they be, for you are at a high level of production today.

May 5. Relatives interest themselves in your affairs because they instinctively like to bask in the reflected glory of your success. So do not take amiss their advice and suggestions. Say the right thing at the right time, and they will all be your friends. Sometimes their help may count for a good deal.

May 6. Think as little of your pains and aches as possible today. Accept your health, whatever it is, with good grace. Watch your relationship with associates, dependents, companions, partners, marriage mates, and let the better part of your nature guide your attitude towards them.

May 7. Accrued values are an important link with your future. What you have done in the past should make your future more secure, and today seals both ends, so fuse them strongly with courage and common sense.

May 8. If you use a budget, keep strictly to its limits. Don't spend more than you can afford, and don't draw anything from the bank. Saving may be out of the question, but prudence and economy are a helpful combination to save the day.

May 9. Start the day with a boom, both resonant and prolonged, so the ripples of sound will linger in the air. For this is a day for stupendous things and full of little as well as big surprises. Fill your lungs with air and breathe deeply. Start something new and worthwhile.

May 10. Enter the New Moon, and you are called to shoulder arms in the battle of success. Draw upon your reserve energies and if you have inherited wealth in the form of cash or intellectual bounty, use either or both to advance towards victory.

May 11. You are now at the topmost rung of the ladder and you must watch your step not to stumble, for the fall would be a long and hard one. In other words, save yourself from doing or saying anything that would hurt your prestige.

May 12. How about trying to stay exactly where you are, for a few hours? In case your path seems blocked be tolerant and patient with yourself. The tension will not last long.

May 13. Social events are helpful and a long talk with friends should be stimulating and refreshing. Give and take in verbal repartee. Act cheerfully and your composure will survive the demands of the day.

May 14. Friendly advice is a real asset today and should not be discarded lightly. Be pleasant and steer clear of complications, so far as taking other people's jobs on yourself is concerned. Fix the little breaks so they don't become big ones, particularly those connected with arguments in which friendship is involved.

May 15. Look behind doors and into dark closets, if you like, but don't pry into secrets that had better remain secrets. If you really feel in an investigative mood, read a detective story, see a movie thriller, or listen to mystery broadcasts on the radio. Detect secrets for your own amusement, and let it go at that.

May 16. You can do a great deal of good today by cooperating with large societies or organizations. Sick people need cheering up. A little thoughtful act always starts an ill person away from being self-centered. Do your share to increase the feeling of hope within the confined walls of institutions, hospitals and sick rooms. Be a messenger of good service.

May 17. You may be intensely conscious of yourself and your problems today. At the same time you must keep in mind that you are a part of a great cosmic force that translates itself into almost two billion human beings on Earth. So seek the best out of life by doing your best for life.

May 18. The tide is turning. Now with increasing strength the ripples bring you the sailing craft that have been out on the ocean gathering the sea's strange gifts. As your ships come back to shore, prove yourself worthy of their cargo. Always remember your sense of proportion. Don't succumb to chaotic fevers surrounding you. Depend on yourself. Use restraint today.

May 19. Find something to do and do it with all your might. Your wishes should be translated into actions today, with Mars, the Planet of energy, sextile the Moon. This stimulates earnings. If you work diligently and competently, you may well expect a practical reward.

May 20. You may have to be prudent in small expenditures today, although there should be a substantial drawing account standing to your credit somewhere. As you save, so shall you reap—and you won't be a victim of slumps or depressions.

May 21. Skimming over a job never satisfies you. All sorts of notions are simmering through your head. Sort them out and use only those which are practical. Stick to your work, despite minor ructions.

May 22. Concentrate on having a good time today. See the right people and make a successful party. All you need do is to start the ball rolling and everybody will be glad to join the dancing, and singing, and merrymaking.

May 23. Sunday arrives on schedule to give you a spiritual interval. You look at the sober side of life anyhow, so Sunday harmonizes surprisingly well with your general moods. Stay at home.

May 24. There is a great deal of comfort in the philosophies of the world. Do a little research and you will come across gems of scintillating beauty. Derive a sense of peace from reading and meditating what spiritualists say. Seek their guidance today.

May 25. Concentrate on getting ahead. The fields close at hand are just as green as far-off pastures. In other words, cultivate the sphere in which you live and get the best out of today's vibrations.

May 26. Words are meaningless if they are not backed by proper actions. To make progress, you must work with a vim and not let zigzag fallacies lead you astray. Think clearly and concisely, so that your next step will lead you ahead and not sideward.

May 27. Emerge from the shell of self-contemplation and get right into the swing of liveliness and gaiety that acts as a buffer against despair. You will be refreshed by a little recreation, and a feast is also a great stimulant. Do a little love-making, because love is the strongest emotion of all.

May 28. A knock at the front door may announce the coming of a great opportunity. So keep the doorknob polished, and the welcome mat dust-free. Anticipate the good things ahead but don't put your eggs in one basket. Get spiritual inspiration.

May 29. Open wide the doors of your consciousness so that all the glorious strains of the cosmic rhythms are echoed and re-echoed in every fibre of your being. Catch every glimmer of spiritual strength and let it sustain you at your work.

May 30. Restless undercurrents are affecting the home life of your solar group. Responsibilities seem heavy and pressing. Forget worry and strife. You are a mental type and if forced to carry exciting thoughts, your health may be affected.

May 31. Delay activities stressing home and household duties. You are still at sixes and sevens about family or home worries, but there is sunny weather coming, if you wait a day or two.

COSMIC FLASHES

DURING MAY, 1937

For You Who Were Born With Sun in Libra

October 22

THE Saturn transit in Aries which started April 25th, in opposition to Libra, might give you actual proof of what real abundance means. When you have a sufficiency of everything you become more or less accustomed to wealth and comfort. When, however, there is a lack of abundance you understand its true significance.

Therefore, store something away for the future. But don't become miserly. Do everything in your usual balanced way, saving part of your earnings, developing your credit, and otherwise preparing for the real test that is to come.

May is a good month for most of you who have Sun in Libra. But don't close your eyes to the fact that life is not a bower of roses without thorns, although you who have won recognition for outstanding success in your profession or career are entitled to this belief.

Having fortified yourself to withstand floods, so to say, start out on a tour of inspection to see that everything is safe and sound. Saturn is preparing to "fall stationary" this summer, so watch your affairs closely. Take nothing for granted and if there are weak spots in your structure, be sure to strengthen them.

But don't try to thank the stars for your security. Stars are not conscious of human gratitude. They are merely symbols in the sky, punctuating celestial time and space. Rather thank yourself that you are able to rectify your charts from time to time and act as a fairly reliable pilot of your personal ship. There are rocks ahead, and you who have Sun in Libra are nearing rather perilous waters, so be doubly careful. But during May the seas are still serene.

May 1. Refresh your endurance today. That which has gone before might have sapped your vitality, but you who have Sun in Libra are frequently favored by admirable recuperative faculties. So keep your energy and health at par.

May 2. You need some of that surplus vigor to deal with recalcitrant conditions. Someone may be trying to impose on you, or you may not be able to convince your friends that your judgment is right. And it may not be. Better refrain from forcing issues.

May 3. Fortune's smiles are rather partial today, so maintain your confidence. Your endurance and resolutions are adequate, and your health should be equal to the demands you make on it. Spend what you need, without worrying about extravagance.

May 4. There is some remarkable and amazing spiritual thought hovering at the portals of your consciousness. Inspiration and sympathy exalt you. Listen to the harmony within yourself, as you would to symphonic music.

May 5. You can accomplish more by being noble and generous today than by driving a hard bargain. Do what you can for others, and they in turn will do their best to favor you. If, however, you start the day with the wrong foot forward, there might be a lot of annoyance.

May 6. Here is where success and attainment march side by side, but there is also interference standing in the way. Avoid taking advice from an eccentric person, and send doubt into the wilderness.

May 7. Mingle with jolly people today. Develop conscious optimism. Wear some bright clothes, and fill your rooms with flowers. Think of beauty and joy. Lift up your pride, and you might go through today's Saturn-lunar opposition without feeling downcast.

May 8. Concentrate on your relationship with your life partner. While you might come up against some restrictions, yet there is nothing fickle or disturbing in what you meet. Be candid, sincere and friendly. Deal also with larger issues and superiors.

May 9. If you feel devitalized, or out of sorts, stay at home where you can relax. Or go out where you can get the message of a trained mind devoted to interpretation of spiritual and religious viewpoints.

May 10. Don't force any issues today. Haste, quarrels, arguments and impulsiveness add to the general confusion that you might encounter. Avoid bitterness and discord, and discount all censure.

May 11. There is a golden glow and charm about everything. You feel happy and relaxed. A pleasant and gratifying sense of well being links you to your dear ones. All you do for them, and they for you, is for your common good.

May 12. All things considered, this can be one of the best days of the month. There is a zip and zest to whatever you do. Make decisions; handle property; buy and sell. Settle distant affairs. Complete what has been started, if it is for your benefit, or for the good of others.

May 13. Take advantage of your keen, vivid common sense to keep in line, otherwise you might let a sudden spurge of lavishness get the best of you. Don't let household problems loom too big on the horizon, or else your judgment about your public standing might be affected.

May 14. Somebody's demands might be costly, but the practical side of your nature should protect you and keep you from becoming too much involved. Stop extravagance, whether your own or that of another, before it becomes a detriment to your success.

May 15. Sometimes you are in danger of betrayal by those whom you most befriend. Take nothing for granted today, except the sincerity and affection of those who have proved their loyalty over and over again.

May 16. You feel conscientious and considerate. You are generous, without being ostentatious. You are good to your friends, and some of your advancement may come through their favor. But keep your mental balance.

May 17. Don't be rash or lose your self-control because others are doing so. You can afford to disregard anger today. You can get a lot of quiet pleasure out of life and good fellowship.

May 18. Test the truth of anything unusual you hear or see today. Don't take statements for granted. Eat abstemiously.

Keep away from fancy foods. Watch your diet and let your meals be simple.

May 19. Have confidence in yourself, and faith in your friends. Conditions for success are what you make them, but if you let gloom and pessimism array themselves against you, they can become more formidable enemies than the most unscrupulous bandits.

May 20. The first of two days for sticking to your job, and for thinking about the responsibility of your position. Develop your real assets—your honor, your self-reliance and integrity.

May 21. Be receptive of ideas which come to you today, and concentrate on what you are doing. It is not a good day for you to handle any one who is selfish, or for you to display a hard-hearted or hard-headed attitude. Get what you want through altruism.

May 22. The aspects now are concerned with your finances, and suggest that caution is essential today. Hold up decisions concerning expenses and refrain from assuming new money obligations.

May 23. There might be something underhanded or unsettled in your work sphere. Or perhaps you feel that you have to do too much for your salary—whether it is a direct wage, or payment you receive otherwise. Watch your purse, to prevent its contents from fluctuating.

May 24. Don't make any plans or moves that call for a cash outlay or require that you underwrite some investment. Keep busy by attending to your usual affairs.

May 25. Your mind is like a galloping horse. Just be sure it works for you and your progressive interests.

May 26. This is a splendid day for you. Your imagination is going at top speed. Write, if you must, but don't publish it right now. It is not a good day for you who have Sun in Libra to launch a new book, nor to broadcast secret documents.

May 27. There are hurdles to jump, and when you have negotiated them safely, there is always the satisfaction of knowing that you have conquered obstacles. You can show your superiority by keeping your temper under control. It is a step in the right direction.

May 28. Advertising and publicity are only advantageous to those who want to sell their wares over a wide area. Silence is a better policy for you today than widespread discussion of your affairs. Say little and be philosophical.

May 29. You may feel uneasy and uncomfortable at home due to a tension that you cannot overcome. But don't go in for too many distractions. Use your head and let your heart guide you. There is latent success in today's aspects for many of you who have Sun in Libra.

May 30. Don't be despondent today about small items or allow yourself to become irritated about the acts of neighbors. If you have an intellectual or literary problem to handle, work at it.

May 31. An interruption in your plans might occur. But don't let it upset you because your mind and judgment are attuned to the higher vibrations, opening the doors of understanding to you.

COSMIC FLASHES

DURING MAY, 1937

For You Who Were Born With Sun in Scorpio

to November 22

THE Planet Mars, ruler of your Sun Sign, is retrograde in Sagittarius, your second Solar House during the first half of May, supervising your income as well as expenditures.

It is good to have Mars in charge of finances for a while. He may lead you away from several inhibitions, so far as spending is concerned. There is a happy medium between extravagance and penuriousness and Mars frequently aids in this direction.

After the 15th of May, Mars returns to Scorpio, in his retrograde motion. This is a strong, energizing influence. It is so stimulating that it makes for aggressiveness, and often leads on to combativeness. The backward and forward movement of Mars in Scorpio activates the fighting impulses, causing battles and strife.

To you it can mean conquest of fear, overcoming of obstacles, and leading others on to definite achievements.

You have stamina and endurance—and surplus vitality for emergencies. At this time, however, you may need an extra amount of vigor to keep up with the Mars' pace. So try to take it easy, whenever possible. An interval of rest and quiet is often as satisfying as a longer vacation.

The emotional side of your life while not especially prominent now, may also need some expert handling. Even if romance is a closed chapter to you personally, you may have to act as a love arbiter to others. In love, as well as in other respects, it is well to prevent little frictions from becoming big ones. At any rate, your Scorpio intellect, training, and determination are admirable helps during this strenuous period.

May 1. Mental stimulation right now is far more necessary to you than even food. You have a fatalistic point of view, and strong convictions. There is great appeal to you in these interesting thoughts, but don't let them supplant the standard facts of your existence, otherwise you might find yourself suffering from isolation.

May 2. Hold on to the pessimism! Stop being sorry for yourself and don't let the discord around you jar you loose from good sense. Bruises may result from today's friction, but you needn't add to the injuries. Sidestep the wreckage, and get back to work.

May 3. Study well the affairs of your house. Fortify it as if against a siege, so that were an emergency to arise, you would be prepared to weather whatever betide. See that your home is well taken care of.

May 4. Residential concerns are still in the foreground, but you can turn your thoughts to other subjects. You are full of good ideas and enthusiasm. Some of them will meet with approval, but others should be held in reserve.

May 5. You might have a great ambition gratified today, but you have to be particularly careful not to attempt to achieve your ends through force. Make no rash promises, and be circumspect with others, even with friends, so that you are not involved in extravagance nor in spending more than you can afford.

May 6. You have a hobby? Then let it alone until the evening when you can concentrate on it to your heart's content. The daylight hours are reserved for forming new friendships and its ramifications need settling of Food, rest and relaxation—in proportions—make for vigor. And directed properly, aids in bringing to results. Find the zest for new opportunities today.

May 8. Employment is the keynote of the day. Some angles of it may be adjusted expeditiously, but others should be left in obeyance. Friendliness soothes the ruffled feelings. There is considerable restriction, but at the same time a lot of gain may be possible from work done today.

May 9. There is a great capacity for big inspirations. You can relish the flavor of the prize you hope to win. And the prospects are not at all dim, if you polish your sights and take careful aim. Avoid distractions.

May 10. This is where you need diplomacy, even though being diplomatic doesn't come easily to you. There may be a tendency on your part to break away from traditions and do something drastic. But it would not be well to submit to this urge altogether. Moderate and modify it.

May 11. It is still necessary for you to keep your impulses fettered. Be ardent and dynamic, but be sure that your emotions are under control. Romance and glamor surround you—and yet a single misstep may lead you down instead of up.
Insist on doing the right thing for others and they will want to do the right thing for you.

May 12. If you have any enemies, imagined or real, this is the day for you to harmonize them. Approach each difficulty with assurance and dispose of it without fear of ill consequence. You can do much to make happiness multiply itself. Joy stirs up more joy and this is a good day to give it a whirl.

May 13. The first of two days to use philosophy in a practical way—not only your own philosophy but the accumulated knowledge of the seers. Religion and faith are replete with rules and ideals that are the essence of philosophy and of immeasurable inspiration when sought with sincerity. Postpone water journeys.

May 14. You may feel that you need a change of scene and Spring being what it is, staying in one spot has little allure.
Ventures afar beckon and jousts with time-tables may begin. If you must start, do so. But if you can delay the trip awhile, it would be much better.

May 15. Try not to be stubborn today, even though you see no reason why you should make any overtures. Be practical and win your way by seeming to give in to the opinions of others.

May 16. Appraise conditions for what they are and not for what you want them to be.
Something amiss with your judgment, so make no decisions and give no unsolicited advice, especially to members of your family.

May 17. The spirits of insistence and resistance are abroad in the land, but you are not obliged to entertain them. Take it easy, and you will be much happier.

May 18. Test the love of friends, and draw your soul mate closer by those invisible bonds that many times are stronger than links of steel. If you select your words with care and do kindly little acts, overlooking past grievances, smiles instead of frowns will appear on the faces of your dear ones. Stay away from strangers.

May 19. Perhaps you resent the fact that you have to carry the burdens of others.
That is a justifiable emotion, but don't lose heart because you think you are not being appreciated. Do the best you can and accept present responsibilities with good grace.

May 20. Good resolutions might come to naught today and lead you astray. Avoid signing papers or rectifying mistakes which some good friend tries to dump into your lap. You may meet with some unusual and clever people today.

May 21. You are intellectual and reserved today, wrapped up in those subjects which are esoteric and religious. Spiritual and occult thoughts are easy. Live your private life privately, but start no new chapter in romance or you may regret the sentiment later.

May 22. You are now entering a smoother cycle with cheer and pleasure dancing attendance on you. You are ambitious and forceful, approaching facts without hesitation. You have an original point of view, and should not allow doubt to mar your progress.

May 23. You can do something good and kind today, without getting a lot of publicity. You have the means to be generous and bountiful to those who have less. Or you might lend a helping hand to steady the boat of someone who might, without your help, capsize in a swift and treacherous current. Secrets are not likely to be violated today.

May 24. There is a bit of scandal in the air that is rather bothersome, and you might be hurt and angered by whispering behind the scenes. But there is a good deal of sympathy available and you ought to make use of it. You might be inspired to do something wonderful, so let your better self dominate you today.

May 25. Pay day—either to pay or to be paid. Reckonings, statements, bills and all forms of accounting should be scrutinized carefully. Don't make any mistakes in the handling of money, either in large or small sums.

May 26. Be philosophical and broad-minded about any decisions that you have to make.
There may be some income problems that still need careful thought, but with tact and judgment you will adjust most financial developments.

May 27. Violence and irritations are less significant today, although your mind may still be full of friction. Despite this mental conflict, however, you can make money and solve a number of important problems concerning property and real estate.

May 28. There is little to recommend this day. Your angle should be a passive one, settling whatever arises without rancor. Be amiable.

May 29. Money is in the foreground of your thoughts today. You can earn it or acquire it otherwise, but take care that some of it isn't taken from you through deceit or fraud.

May 30. You are now as in a stagnant pool, unable to get where you belong. Try not to assert yourself nor to catch at straws. There is little strength or substance to what you do and some of your pet structures might topple. Don't waste too much energy in fighting this strain.
The aspects are, after all, only transitory.

May 31. This is the second day of stress and downward trends. But there is help from a source that you least expect, although it might not be powerful enough to serve you, if you do anything risky or foolhardy. Don't be abrupt.

COSMIC FLASH

DURING MAY, 1937

For You Who Were Born With Sun in Sagittarius

to

SOME people are made to be leaders. Others cannot even follow without taking the wrong turn.

If you belong to the former class, don't hesitate to go places and do things for you are under the energizing and stimulating aspects of the Planet Mars early in May, when courage and daring will be a dominating force.

However, don't let the constructive side of this aspect degenerate into rash impulsiveness. Nor resort to inflation of your ego. You have enough native self-confidence to use this Mars influence properly.

With Mars stirring up your personality, you may want to fight in more ways than one. By all means do so, if your cause is just. But let the battle be a bloodless one. Conquer adversity and fear, and give no odds to doubt. Then collect the spoils of war—success and honor!

Your mind, your personality and your emotions may be affected by the opposition of Jupiter (the ruling Planet of your Sun Sign), to Pluto during May. It may accentuate antagonism and disappointment. Worry and waste might enter the picture. It is not a good time to indulge your whims. They might prove expensive and give you little satisfaction in the end. If you don't like to be criticised, don't do anything which will give others reason to find fault with what you say and what you do.

A good word for you is "Retrench." Don't plunge nor take chances and above all, don't be too flippant in your treatment of Lady Luck. Fame and fortune are real pals—but they select their own companions. Look out for pitfalls, so that neither you nor they need stumble.

May 1. "All that glitters is not gold," but to your Sagittarian eyes it may look like diamonds. What does it matter, you argue, so long as you are satisfied? But try to be a little conservative, otherwise you might lose even more than you can afford.

May 2. Another day cut to suit your pattern because there is nothing so enchanting to you as the chance to do something new and startling. With little effort you have the key in your hands. Will you use it or lose it?

May 3. Records are being made, and almost everywhere the Sagittarian participates. Your energy and ability are equal to most tasks. Just don't let love tangle you in its web. Sign papers, but be sure to read them first. Your judgment is good.

May 4. The sextile between the Sun and Moon in your Solar Third House is a favorable aspect. To you it may be a bulwark against petty interference and criticisms of friends, neighbors or near relatives. Self-discipline is a helpful asset.

May 5. Everybody will be aggressive in thought and action. You will want to follow the crowd, but you will find suitable results by keeping close to your fireside. Stick close to your own affairs.

May 6. Postpone until tomorrow the things that aren't easy to do today—especially mental pursuits. Your inherent judgment may be a bit confused. Don't volunteer advice nor suggestions to anyone. Delay decisions.

May 7. You like to be popular and you derive satisfaction from what your friends say to you and about you. If they are a little more profuse in their cordial attentions than they have been lately, take it all with a grain of salt. They mean well, but flattery is frequently an empty balloon.

May 8. Is a circus nearby? Then gather a careful of children and escort them to it—not so much for their sake, but as an excuse to get there yourself. Be young in spirit and in action. Or, lacking a professional circus, make one yourself by inviting a lot of youngsters to a frolic.

May 9. A new trend is forming today and for your solar group it is identified with work and health. Look ahead, into the future, and take stock of your health assets because to get the finest flavor out of life, you need good health to do good work.

May 10. You have confidence in yourself, and you are philosophical. You need both these attributes today to blast through or climb over obstacles. There may be an unexpected setback in connection with your job, and somebody else may get the preference, but there are opportunities beckoning you.

May 11. This may seem like any other day, but it has subtle properties that may enter into family relationship. Be patient a little longer. If you have been involved in any conflict with relatives, do your share to pour oil on the troubled waters. A solution may be close by.

May 12. Can you imagine what would happen if all road signals were suddenly removed? It would mean chaos and death to thousands. Heeding these signals saves countless lives each day. So save yourself risks and rifts at home—for Astrology warns that there are rocks ahead unless you are careful.

May 13. Can you be decisive and cautious at the same time? Well, here is a good chance for you to practice this dual role. You may want to do one thing and reason dictates another. But with your usual Sagittarian acumen, you'll do what is best.

May 14. Like the good athlete you are, conserve your energy for the spurt at the tape. You are climbing high, and the higher you get, the more reserve power is needed. Join in today's social activities with a minimum of exertion.

May 15. Freedom from restraint—that is the first meal that is served you by the current aspects. And as you assimilate this, a host of friendly sprites in the guise of inspiration, philosophy, understanding and golden dreams dance before you. Each is ready to be your comrade. Accept them all.

May 16. Sunday is here again and is a welcome interlude. Visit friends who live nearby, so you don't need to drive nor use the main highways. Traffic accidents may be prevalent. Love and lovers are favored today.

May 17. Expect the unexpected today—especially from a distance. It may cause you a little anxiety, but on the other hand, it is just as well to get things out into the open. Moreover, you might learn something to your advantage through investigation and detection.

May 18. Listen to that still, small voice that whispers a secret in your inner ear. Let it remain a secret with you, if it relates to your work or your profession. Store it away carefully in your consciousness for future use.

May 19. There is an old doggerel that warns children against fooling with knives, forks, scissors and fire. For your own sake, keep this motto in mind. Accidents and dangers are sometimes due to anger and confusion. Seek harmony.

May 20. This is your day—the kind that makes you feel that you are at the top of the world. What a thrill and joy there is in life! You can see a silver lining in every cloud. Exceptionally good for adjusting employment problems.

May 21. Your mind is still filled with enthusiasm, but you can see things in more sober hues. It is a good day for sentiment; for planning vacations; and for selling something that somebody else needs and wants. Even if you have nothing else to sell, exchange your good humor for the grouch of another person—and then throw the grouch away. At that you will be getting the best of the bargain.

May 22. Generally speaking, this day may leave a chain of petty annoyances around for you and others. But it needn't be a complete flop. After all you are the kind who can be oblivious to discord, so tackle your problem with a grin and keep a steady eye ahead.

May 23. The imp of deceit and treachery may pop up today, but don't let him exasperate you. Look for no favors from individuals. Your strength comes from universal sources.

May 24. The morning hours have little to recommend them, but the afternoon offers excellent opportunities for accomplishment. Evening hours should be reserved for entertainment.

May 25. The full Moon today occurs in trine with Saturn which is in your Solar Fourth House. A splendid rhythm for attending to real estate and property matters and for bringing to a culmination anything connected with your home.

May 26. If you attended to the material side of your home yesterday you are in a position today to enjoy the pleasure and recreation afforded by your own possessions. For now Venus comes on the scene and will brighten up everything for you.

May 27. The next two days call for controlled emotions. The prizefighter who loses his temper is an easy target in the ring. It is a good business and social asset to seem quiet and serene. It is to your advantage not to let others get under your guard. Do something nice for someone you love.

May 28. Take no chances with your work today. Use your tools carefully, whether you work with machines or household implements. And don't use sharp words. If you are dissatisfied with your job, this is a good time to lose it. But if it means something to you, and you want to keep it—watch the red flag.

May 29. The air is not entirely clear yet, and you are in jeopardy so far as inaccurate judgment is concerned, but friendly factors are helpful and with care you should emerge from the swirl that the Sun-Uranus aspects of the last two days presented in your Sixth Solar House.

May 30. Don't trade in the old for the new. Keep what you have for a little while longer. You are generous with your possessions, it is true, but don't part with anything, either material or otherwise, without due regard to the future sales value of what you are giving away.

May 31. There are opposing forces to your personality and you may find yourself blocked. You mean well, but your ideas are not being accepted graciously by others. Keep them sizzling; you'll put them over later.

COSMIC FLASHES

For You Who Were Born With Sun in Capricorn

THUMB-INJURED-AT-UNIVERSAL-MACH CO
SEPT-19-1925-8:45 A.M.
JUPITER-IN-CAPRICORN

to January 19

THE last time the Planet Jupiter was in Capricorn, your Sun Sign, was 1925, twelve years ago. He is in Capricorn again and will remain therein until December of this year.

Jupiter is known, astrologically, as the Greater Fortune. When well disposed, he does much for those he favors. While he is in Cosmic Trine this year to Neptune and Uranus, you are participating in a rather favorable astrological aspect.

If you have "cashed in" on this configuration during the last three months, be careful not to overplay your hand in May when Jupiter and Pluto are in direct opposition. Better be careful and put everything where you know it is safe and protected.

Remember that Capricorn is an Earth Sign and you are accustomed to keep your feet firmly on the ground. So you are not apt to let prosperity turn your head, any more than you allowed yourself to be pulverized by the grinding during the less favorable aspects.

It is now your turn to get the full benefit of the Jupiter transit, but do nothing that is unsound or speculative during May. This is the period for promotion and advancement of your Solar group, yet you must be able to use the Jupiter help in any intelligent way. Back up this opportunity with determination and if, at birth, you were endowed with good aspects, you may be able to look back at this year as one of the high spots in your life.

There is substantial headway and gain for many of you who have Sun in Capricorn, so act wisely, think straight, and depend on yourself.

May 2. If you have a chance to start something big, go to it in a big way. Be constructive and have confidence in yourself. You have the esteem of your associates, but keep everything on an impersonal level. Don't mix business with pleasure. Deal with those whom you can trust, without signing contracts.

May 4. Hold your horses. Halt the tendency to go off at a tangent. Some sand in the gears perhaps, but you can clean the machinery. Do your own work.

May 5. Read, write, sign papers and finish whatever good thing was started yesterday. You may want to begin something new today, and if you take time to plan and consolidate your ideas instead of following only your instinct, worthwhile and unusual results might follow.

May 6. Fold your hands and sit still. There will be a lot going on around you and many suggestions will come pouring in over the ether waves. Listen and assimilate what you hear, but take little active part in temporary issues.

May 7. It is easy enough to shirk, and today there may be good reason to sidestep work and worry. But winners don't stop to get rid of obstacles first. They run, or jump, or swim best against competition. The same rule applies to work. If you seek only easy jobs, reward may be equally small. This is not a good day for argument with the management.

May 8. Time places everything on its own level. Sometimes the good endures, sometimes the bad. There is a taste of both today. Persevere, but don't press too strongly for your rights lest the decision go entirely against you.

May 9. You may have an unexpected visitor—if not a physical one, then perhaps a mental one. Interest yourself in children's problems and spend as much time as possible with young people today. It is a day for youth and for ideas that are youthful. Leave doubt behind.

May 10. Be wide awake and progressive about your work today. Interview people who have things to tell and get all the information available. If you find it necessary to change or adjust anything, don't hesitate. Prove yourself equal to handle responsibilities that are thrust at you.

May 11. Exclude strangers as well as strange thoughts from your surroundings. If you want to be popular, lock the door and enjoy your own company. Watch your health and don't go to extremes.

May 12. It may not be easy to do things today, but see that whatever is accomplished is finished and out of the way—if you don't attempt too much headwork. Organize and systematize records so they don't become a hindrance instead of a help.

May 13. You might have to deal with some unreasonable condition today. Perhaps someone is supersensitive; or it may be that your feelings are being hurt. Still there is no need to take offense. If you do, it will affect your health and interfere with some of your pet ambitions.

May 14. Give your loved ones some proof of your devotion. Waste no time with illicit and provocative problems. Let public as well as private hysteria strictly alone. Cultivate cheerfulness.

May 15. Don't form any secret alliances and hold no confidential conversations, even with those whom you can trust implicitly. They might reveal what you wished to keep secret—under compulsion perhaps. And also look out for your foes so that you don't fall into their clutches. Your own lack of self-confidence may be your worst enemy, so keep it under control today.

May 16. Perhaps you are responsible for the management of unlimited properties, both actual and figurative. If so, there is need for your care and cooperation. But don't sign papers.

May 17. Your mind and imagination are fertile. Don't be skeptical of what you think and what you conceive. You are quick-witted and full of good ideas. Let them roam where they will. They'll gather a good many others and provide you with useful information when you need it. Superb day for the writers of your solar group.

May 18. Thrift, savings, good judgment are under your jurisdiction today. You can trust your viewpoint and whatever projects you handle should have success.

May 19. If you can discard all material thoughts and respond only to those which are spiritual and sublime, the day might pass without friction. But if you hunt for trouble, it is quite handy. Rest on your past laurels. There are no new ones being handed out right now.

May 20. This can be the sort of quiet that either follows or precedes a storm. It is your right to use it either way. Start early in the day to augment your popularity. Be social and friendly, and make use of your personal talents.

May 21. Cast your bread upon the waters and it will come back buttered! But say one unkind word and do one unkind deed and you'll lose the respect of the entire community. Face contingencies without complaint.

May 22. Looming on your immediate horizon may be little personal conflicts that are irritating and disappointing. You may have sentimental worries. Perhaps your affections are not required, or one whom you trusted implicitly is not worthy of your confidence. At any rate, rely on old friends.

May 23. Inside information can become outside information, if you need it and know whom and where to ask for it. Wishing won't get you what you want, but sturdy self-reliance may open portals that are closed at present. Look ahead. Invest little in finery today.

May 24. There may be unrestrained emotions let loose in the world today and destruction may run rampant. Secret combinations may prove a menace. Avoid them.

May 25. Make up for yesterday's exuberance by being rather exclusive today. Stay at home and study philosophy. Read books on astrology and occultism. Avoid petty strife and sarcasms.

May 26. Get the car properly serviced today, and have the tires examined. Then put it away in the garage and don't go anywhere. It is not a good day to take a trip. If you drive, do so slowly and watch the signals. And also be slow in making friends with erratic people or those who are conceited.

May 27. The aspects are still dominantly adverse, but your own personality is equal to the demands made on it. Write to anyone at a distance whose interests are tied up with yours, as proof of your sincerity.

May 28. You may feel heavy and downtrodden today. Perhaps melancholy and gloom are stalking you. Sort out your sorrows and you will see that most of them are imagined rather than real. Look at the happier side of life. It streams merrily along. Why not let it spray you also?

May 29. End the month without the fanfare of bugles or drums. But don't draw too much into your shell, or tamper with secrets that don't concern you. Below-surface work may be done effectively, and no publicity is needed to make it popular.

May 30. Saturn, aspecting the Moon in your Second Solar House, may require some special action on your part—relating to the home, to business, or to real estate. In addition, the trine between Mercury, Neptune, and your own Sun presents unusual opportunities for your hidden talents to blossom into new forms of beauty.

May 31. The exhilaration of yesterday carries over into today and is raised even a degree higher by the added charm of a favorable smile from Venus. Go to it.

For You Who Were Born With Sun in Aquarius

to February 18

NOW that Saturn has left your astrological House of Money for the first time in over two years, you may feel like celebrating. This may prove expensive, and a drain on your resources. Remember that Saturn is to return later to Pisces where he has created such havoc in the region of your pocketbook. But for the time being, his pressure is decreased.

With your usual open-handedness, you might wish to give more than you can afford, and so find yourself imposed upon. So put it clearly before yourself that you cannot afford to pay for luxuries right now, either for your own or for some other person's. You do not need to be selfish, but you must look at facts as they are and not as you want them to be. Buy what you need if you like to keep money in circulation. But so far as non-essentials are concerned, call a halt.

The great Planet Uranus which governs your solar birth Sign is said to be a malific. Astrologers look to Uranus for disruption and discord, but they also identify him as a wonder-worker.

You, with your Aquarian perceptions, often act like a live dynamo at the loosening of Uranian energy. And like a dynamo, you can govern and direct this force. Uranus and Mars, in opposing Signs, are energizing humanity. Instead of using this strength for growth, people use it with inimical purpose. You, too, can let this power get out of bounds so that it can shatter and kill. Or you can harness it and use it to help the less enlightened. Let your own soul-urge guide you, for both Uranus in Taurus, and Mars in Scorpio are squaring your Sun Sign.

May 1. Be on your guard against disputes, oppositions, and criticisms. These may affect your independence, or strike at your public position. Subordinate yourself to circumstances, if need be. It is not a day for you to insist on standing in the limelight.

May 2. Refusal to do what you were asked yesterday may cause some dissension today. You don't like to deny requests, but even friends are known to be selfish. Perhaps a hope that you held dear has brought you disappointment. But you may be able to do some outstanding work today.

May 3. You are being prodded by friendly forces to get down into the recesses of your own nature for a survey of what assets you are holding. You have a serious obligation to yourself, and this is the day to act in your own behalf. Find the main-spring of your being. Good developments are possible.

May 4. Carry a message of hope to someone who needs encouragement. You have something to give today that is more precious than rubies—and that is kindness. Words of hope are like a resurrection when despair is too overwhelming. Distribute hope, therefore, where you can.

May 5. This day may afford you some unusual experiences. But you are able to impress those with whom you come in contact that you are a real person and that you are entitled to what you want. Don't let false emotions befuddle you, however.

May 6. You are intensely conscious of your attributes today. You are awake to wondrous possibilities in yourself. But you must hold on with both hands to this overwhelming consciousness, or you may land in the middle of nowhere.

May 7. The general aspects favor effort and enterprise. You can sell some of your ideas at a good profit today. But don't push your advantage or the whole deal will fall down. At any rate, work assiduously. What you produce is worth something to someone as well as to yourself.

May 8. Something unexpected may occur today that will offset the general strain that is affecting your pecuniary affairs. Your expenses may be greater than you feel you can afford. But there is no use arguing about it. Work is your only consolation.

May 9. There are a number of problems confronting you today, and some of them may pertain to close relatives or neighbors. There may be some rebellion at your suggestions, but tact and friendliness are working overtime.

May 10. Give a thought to your father. He has done much for you, and maybe you can reciprocate in some way. Attend to family affairs and visit friends, or invite them to your home.

May 11. This is the sort of day that seems made to order for an Aquarian. You can be original in thought, active in performance, and mercurial in intellect. If you let this day go by without starting something, then you will have no one but yourself to blame for a zero at the end of the day.

May 12. This is a fruitful time for you. Promote the interests of your offspring—both physical and the product of your enlightened mind, your brain child.

May 13. Better stay in your own groove and don't go off at any tangent, or on any journey. Travel and new contacts are distinctly adverse. Spiritual matters are likely to be more satisfying than practical ones. If you invest in finery, be sure that you can buy something that will suit you later.

May 14. If it weren't for your rapid, expeditious sense of logic, you might succumb to the heavy depression that prevails today. But you are able to see beyond the immediate present, and you will work out your problem somehow. Protect your rights, both near and far.

May 15. There may not be much justice in the world today, but there is a lot of persistence and soul structure. You need these in your workshop today—whether it is in a large organization, or in the privacy of your own home. Don't insist on being independent. Wait for some other day to assert yourself.

May 16. There may be a little bitterness or trouble with someone who is dear to you, but you won't be sorry for things said—if you leave them unsaid. Don't trust anyone who gives you unsolicited information. It is not worth hearing.

May 17. You planned a delightful surprise, and it fell through. Don't fret. It is merely one of those things. Look ahead and stop some foolish extravagance.

May 18. Separate yourself, even for a few hours, from worrisome conditions. You can't carry a load heavier than you should. Someone ought to share your responsibilities, and your task should be eased also.

May 19. A clever trick may turn rather sour. Don't try to take advantage of the other person's discomfiture. Just let it pass and retain your self-respect. At the suitable time, you will be able to extract the good you established by playing deaf, dumb and blind today.

May 20. If you find yourself fleeing from your own thoughts, it is because they are keen and razor sharp. Don't be afraid of them. They are good ideas and will result in some remarkable inventions and developments. Among the fortunate workers who make good use of these ideas may be some modern Aquarians. Will you be one of them?

May 21. Almost the last day of this period that has its own favorable aspects and it should be devoted to successful enterprises. Deal with young people. Be sociable. Interest yourself in public works. Then go to the theater in the evening.

May 22. You may be vexed through the mismanagement of others. Perhaps you planned some social event and you are not able to attend. Or you may be nervous and irritable. Something is amiss, and your only surcease comes from literature and self-communion.

May 23. Sunday rolls around, and it should draw its mantle of peace around you. But you may not be satisfied with the state of affairs in which you find yourself and are giving far more thought to your affairs than is advisable.

May 24. You are set and ready to do a good day's work and someone pours a little fault-finding into the mixture, giving you the fidgets. But the "higher up" is with you and if you can only overcome your own lack of coherence, you can accomplish a good deal today. Smile while you work.

May 25. This is where ardor steps in and infuses itself into your personality. You are enthusiastic and your executive ability is serving you well. You know what you want and your associates are complying with your wishes.

May 26. Don't expect a golden spoon to be handed to you, but the Golden Fleece is still to be captured from the sleepless dragon. Imagination and determination are weapons that are unsurpassed. This is allegorical, but to you the meaning should be clear. Watch your judgment.

May 27. You may be drawn into a debate today that might lead to acrimony. You might encounter impatience, or you might yourself be restless. But you can put this to good use, rousing yourself to a higher pitch.

May 28. There is still some deceit and enmity—both seen and imagined—that might hinder you, or withhold certain plans from meeting the approval of friends. But otherwise you are popular and in good social standing.

May 29. There is some danger from unexpected aggravations, as though you were approaching treacherous territory. But the way is lighted, and you need not get too near the pitfalls. Play safe.

May 30. Friends may prove a bit trying today. They may want to borrow money, or ask for favors which are not easy for you to grant. Oppose any scheme that makes you the silent partner, or depends upon secret arrangements.

May 31. Any letters that you write or receive should not be taken too seriously. Quite unwittingly you might say something to offend a friend, or be offended by what is said to you in writing. But by word of mouth you can say whatever you wish, and it will be taken in the right spirit by your friends.

For You Who Were Born With Sun in Pisces

to March 20

THERE is one sphere in our part of the sky which moves with such rapidity that it completes an entire trip through the twelve Signs of the Zodiac in a month. This fast-moving traveler is the Moon. Its swift progress accounts for many interesting aspects, furnishing the key to a good many minor cycles.

May is, therefore, replete with sundry matters, including friendship, routine social affairs, and possible journeys.

The overtones of your personality are higher, and the undertones perhaps more muted. It is a good time to come out of darkness. There is a remarkable dawn for your solar group this month and you should be happy that you are in line for improvement.

The event for which many of you who have Sun in Pisces waited either consciously or unknowingly, was the end of the Saturn transit in your Sun Sign. This occurred on the 25th of April, although Saturn will return to Pisces again for a comparatively short time in the Autumn.

It is a mistake to ascribe all difficulties and trials to Saturn. He deserves a lot of credit for the good he encourages. For example, if it weren't for Saturn, there might be more puffery in the world. As a matter of fact, while Saturn was in your Sun Sign during the last two years, you probably have made more headway than you are ready to admit. Saturn doesn't encourage wasting of time.

Now, however, is your chance to show your real mettle. Apply prudence and persistence to all you do. Be practical and productive, and turn losses into gains. If you want to have something worthwhile at the end of the Summer, take advantage of the Saturn absence during May.

May 1. This may prove to be a dismal day for you if you play with secrets or look into dark nooks and corners. All is well and all you need do is to face today's needs with confidence. Rely on yourself and take advice only from those authorized to give it.

May 2. Ritual and worship open the heart and mind to spiritual aspirations. Seek the joy and delight there is in hearing someone who is fervent and inspired expound divine law. You should gain much from listening to such a discourse.

May 3. Who is trying to pat you on the back and make you feel "puffed up" so as to get you to do something which had better remain undone? Don't be led astray with specious flattery. Use your head. It is quite adequate to do your thinking.

May 4. You may hear some good news from afar. Messages are most gratifying. Your friends are sincere and you should issue invitations or accept them for a good time during the evening hours. Buy some clothes of unusual color and design.

May 5. Today the world is flooded with practical thoughts and trading is going on with all-round dispatch. Attend to business and finish whatever deals have been hanging in the air. Sign only those papers which are absolutely essential and put nothing into writing that is likely to have upsetting sequences.

May 6. There is a lull that can be useful to you. Stay out of active affairs. If you can manage to stay at home, puttering around in your own back garden, so much the better. Safety first today—and that means away from traffic.

May 7. You and your affairs are the focal point of your thoughts today. Something might displease you, giving you a let-down feeling. But, in point of fact, there is a good deal of charm and pleasure available near at hand, and all you need do is to see the cheery faces of friends and well wishers to eradicate your gloom.

May 8. Mental fog slows up production, and you may act as though in a haze today. Look carefully ahead, and even then you need to keep every sense alert so as not to be caught unaware. There is a good deal of deceit which may catch you in a stranglehold. Make no promises; accept none. And neither buy nor sell on credit.

May 9. Call on your neighbors personally, or talk with them on the telephone if you have anything optimistic to say to them. Get in touch with your brothers and sisters, just for the sake of mutual accord. Get things organized with those close at hand, and forget about finances.

May 10. Wouldn't it be appalling if there were always a sameness to everything? The Springtime change is a sign of renewal; of discarding the old and making room for the new. With you this may express itself in a short journey or the acquisition of new books, newspapers and various other publications. Seeds are sprouting.

May 11. If there are any matters in your household affairs that need attention, or concerning which you need advice, this is the day to press them. Don't leave them for tomorrow. Make all appointments with those in authority for today also. Expedite and settle responsibilities.

May 12. Important issues might come up today, calling for sincerity, good judgment and cooperation. You should do whatever you can to cut the Gordian knot, so there is as little red tape as possible. Bank on the good that is being done all around, and maybe you will find your bank deposit is bigger than you expected.

May 13. Another admirable day to keep up the good work. Saving and earning are to your advantage. There is a minimum of trickery, but of course, sensible caution is always essential. New opportunities are developing.

May 14. There are three favorable features to the aspects as they relate to your solar chart—mental, practical and spiritual. You can, therefore, concentrate on educational problems satisfactorily, and so increase your self-confidence.

May 15. Turn a cold shoulder to anyone who is not familiar with you or your close relations. You need not be rude, but shut out the mongering of busybodies. Spend the day at home, with members of your household.

May 16. This is a day for occupation. Develop whatever your job offers and don't let the little things force you to lay aside the big ones. Also take care of your health and diet so that your mind will be able to grasp ideas quickly and accurately.

May 17. Cupid is shooting his arrows, but some of them aren't landing in the right place. Watch out that this spry elf doesn't entangle you with someone who prefers to take rather than give. But if you look for it, you can find love where it has always been and where it belongs.

May 18. There are strictures in the atmosphere, not of your making. Do not blame yourself if things go wrong—that is, not altogether. There is a conjunction of Moon and Neptune in opposition to your radical Sun Sign, and this does not make for harmonious accord. Forces are at work that might become explosive if not handled properly. Be heroic, if you like, but also careful.

May 19. There are certain obligations that you must perform which may not be agreeable, but nevertheless you must go through with them today. Remember the law of compensation—that both good and evil reckonings come in for payment and even though you may not always approve of the way the law works, nevertheless it is a just one.

May 20. Look towards the future. What are you doing for yourself and your loved ones? Are you making the best possible use of your heritage, and providing suitably for those whose welfare should be your first aim? This is a good day to do a lot of sub-surface thinking. Keep these thoughts to yourself until they are ready for use.

May 21. Save for the future, but go in for conservation. If you spend extravagantly without stocking up something for the time when you may not have so much cash reserve, this is lack of foresight. So when you lay out money, be sure that something tangible is added to what you have.

May 22. You can hold out a helping hand to those below, for you are now at the top. But take care that you do nothing unorthodox. Play safe, or else the very ones whom you have aided might disturb your equilibrium.

May 23. The fact that this is the Sabbath saves a lot of discord. Friends, love, entertainment, donations, and all sorts of generous acts may be expected today. But if serious business were handled, it might not prove satisfactory. Don't do any long-time planning. Be content with immediate opportunities.

May 24. Use your integrity to its limit. You have good intentions, and there is a substantial look to the real issues which you are handling. Salute success!

May 25. Animosities that may make you unhappy are possible, especially from someone who has a domineering disposition. It is not good to argue with anyone who has a bad temper. Be diplomatic.

May 26. Neutral qualities are sometimes better than active ones, so just treat yourself to a day of quiet with one you admire and respect.

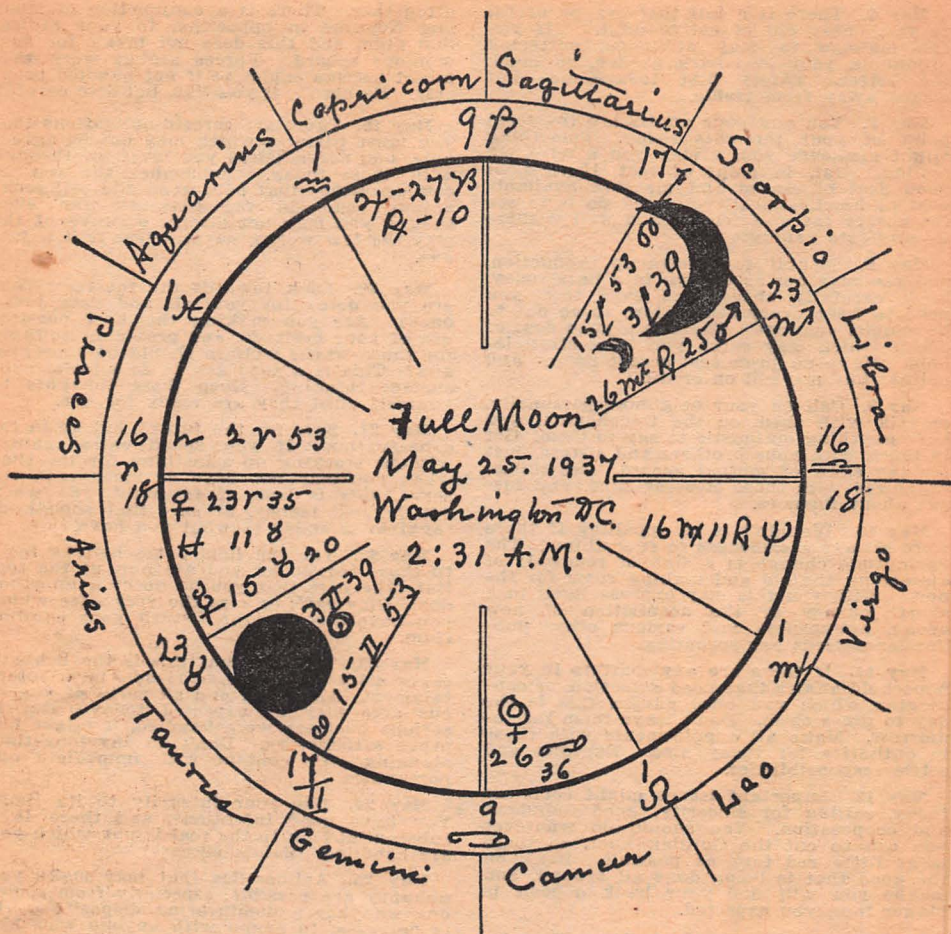

May 27. Don't be timid today. Favors should be granted by you voluntarily, and not under compulsion. You are in a position to be generous, but you may feel hampered through criticism or unusual world events. Fortify your courage.

May 28. If you need help, seek your best friend today. Favors should be showered on you, and people will put themselves out to help you.

May 29. Find some congenial associates and something interesting to do. Have a lot of fun. Or better still, go off with your loved one for a full day of pleasure. Get a thrill out of fellowship with love. But don't write sentimental letters. Say the things in your heart by word of mouth.

May 30. Someone at the top might not be entirely friendly to you today, so suppress any applications for assistance, either actual or implied. Don't speculate, either. Attend to the affairs of the younger generation and plan the week-end activities.

May 31. The general aspects are not favorable, and with you this may involve a bitter quarrel about land, about the weather, or about politics! Don't expect sympathy from anyone. The best counsel comes from your inner self, and that would help you far more than your realize. So give it a chance.

The Full Moon's Unfavorable Aspect

WHO is not familiar with the glory of the Moon when it is full and bright? At that time it is really opposing the Sun—and receiving the full benefit of the Sun's rays.

That is why it is so beautiful.

And yet, astrologically, this lovely sight is considered an unfavorable aspect. It denotes a force that pulls asunder, or rather a force that has reached its maximum intensity and must now retreat, so as to get ready for another forward push later.

On May 25th the Sun is in Gemini and the Moon is in Sagittarius, while both are in very favorable aspect to Saturn. Fire and Air Signs are involved in these aspects. Original ideas are spreading like wildfire and enthusiasm mounts high. The very favorable aspect between Mercury and Neptune continues and heads are bursting with new visions.

This inflow of mental illumination gets weaker every day, however, as the Moon wanes, and if practical gains were not consolidated quickly, these lovely new plans and hopes may evaporate. If you cannot use them immediately, tuck them away and wait for another favorable period to execute them.

The unfavorable opposition between Jupiter and Pluto continues unabated and helps to keep up the undercurrent of national and group antagonisms. These aspects come into being slowly and last for some time because of the vast distance between the Planets. Hence, no marked change may result now, but ultimate effects are anticipated by those aware of far-reaching astrological influences.

THE STARS ARE WISE

Mimi Learns that Planets in their Courses Through the Ages, have Predicted that Every Man Must be a King in his Own Home.

By DIANE DAVIS

"Love Me Always"

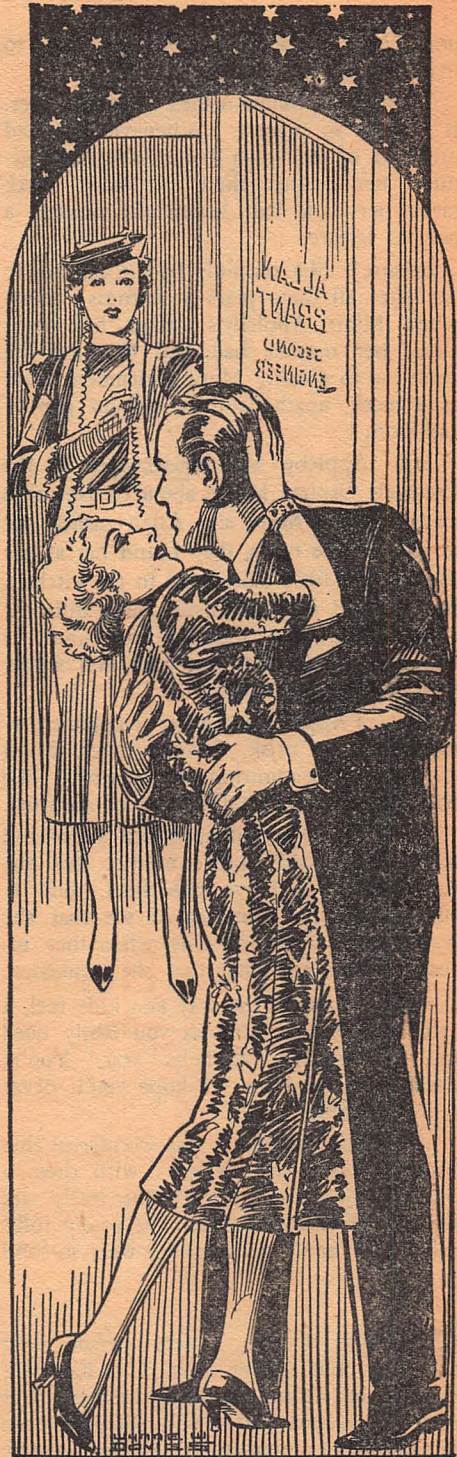

"The Angry Sky," etc.

"DARLING, what was it that first made you love me?" Even as she asked the question, Mimi realized that it had been asked by every woman in love since Eve. Still, she wanted to know.

Allan had just asked her to marry him. They were sitting on a couch in the sun parlor on a mild, Saturday afternoon in April. He leaned over and kissed the little curl behind her ear.

"Well," he said and smiled, "I really picked you because I wanted your mother for my mother-in-law. She's a swell person, honey, and, when we get married, I hope she'll throw up her job and come to live with us."

The waitress was in his arms

Tears of happiness rushed to Mimi's eyes. It was all so perfect. Whenever she had dreamed of her own home, she had pictured her mother there in smart, black satin, her dark hair beautifully waved; a lady of leisure.

Leisure! She certainly had it coming to her after all these years in harness! Even when Mimi Appleby's father had been alive, her mother had had to wear the pants, so to speak. Mimi remembered him as a meek, apathetic man without pep or ambition.

Mrs. Appleby was housekeeper at the Crestdale Orphan House about twelve miles away. When Mimi and Allan rushed out to tell her the news, they found her at her desk in her little office next to the kitchen. She was tall and handsome, quite different from Mimi, who weighed just under a hundred pounds and was pink and white, with honey-colored curls.

As Mrs. Appleby sat at her telephone giving orders in brisk, decided tones, Mimi could not help admiring her efficiency. She was like a general at the head of an army.

After the congratulations and kisses and tears, Allan told Mimi's mother that she was to resign and live with them. She refused, although Mimi could see that she was touched. It was only when they insisted they needed her that she weakened.

"Well, if that's the way you kids feel, I can't refuse. As long as you really need me, I'll be there to help you. You're darlings to want me. I hope you'll never feel differently."

Everybody thought it was wonderful that Mother was going to live with them—everyone but Aunt Terry. She really was no relative of Mimi's. All the young folks called her "aunt" because they were so fond of her.

SHE was a slim, dainty person over forty, but sorrow burned in her dark eyes. Life had not been easy for her. Her fiance had been killed and she had been lamed in an automobile accident a few weeks before their wedding day.

Yet, there was a healing tranquility about her that brought the world and its troubles to the living room of her little white

Colonial house with the green shutters. She would sit in her armchair and listen. Then, she'd smile and say, "The stars are wise," and would reach over to her book-shelf for one of her astrology works.

And somehow, after she had found the key and given her answer, the burdens seemed lighter, the future clearer and more optimistic.

Mimi's joy fairly poured out as she rushed to tell Aunt Terry the glad news that afternoon. "And Mother is going to live with us! Isn't that marvelous!"

Aunt Terry's white fingers tapped on the desk. "I always heard that three was a crowd," she mused. "Don't you think, dear, it might be wiser to start off without her—just until you and Allan get acquainted?"

Mimi stiffened. There were times when she felt Aunt Terry might use a little more tact.

"But Mother's different! She's not the interfering kind. She's only coming because we insist on it. You're all wrong, Aunt Terry. You'll see."

"Well, maybe I am. At any rate, Mimi, I hope you'll be as happy as you deserve to be."

It was a June wedding. Everything went off beautifully, thanks to Mimi's mother who planned every detail. Even the roses responded to her coaxing so that the ceremony could be performed in the garden. And now it was over, and there was a wedding ring beside the solitaire on Mimi's finger.

She had not wanted a solitaire engagement ring. There had been a quaint hoop in Crosby's window that she had adored. The stones—a diamond, emerald, amethyst, and others spelled out "dearest." Allan had given a ten dollar deposit on it.

But that night when they told Mother about it, she went to her jewel box and brought out a heavy gold ring with a good-sized diamond in its clawlike centre.

"It was your grandfather's, Mimi," she said. "The stone weighs over a carat and a quarter, and is pure white. I want you to have it. I'm sure Crosby will apply the ten dollars toward a nice platinum setting. After all, isn't it ridiculous for you two children to spend two hundred dollars on a ring that's just a novelty? You'll be better off putting the money into your home."

OF COURSE she was right. Mimi and Allan both thought it was fine of her to help them like that. Still, every time Mimi passed Crosby's window, she turned her head the other way. It gave her a twinge to see the "dearest" ring there.

They went to Bermuda for a two weeks' holiday. It was a bit of paradise with its quaint white houses, vivid flowers, and the klop-klop of the horses' hoofs. Mimi and Allan spent hours lying on the beach and planning their future.

They had selected the site of their home. They were going to buy one of those adorable, modernistic bungalows that were going up just outside Crestdale. Honeymoon Hill, it was called, because so many brides were moving there.

"I can just see myself in a frilly organdy apron, fussing in the kitchen," Mimi said dreamily. "Let's have queer metal furniture and cork lamps—"

"And a ping-pong table and a bar," Allan added. "They ought to be ready for inspection by the time we get back. Gosh, honey, I can hardly wait."

It rained the day they docked in New York. It rained still harder when their train slid into Crestdale late that afternoon, and they saw Mother in her slicker, watching for them from the platform. Mimi and Allan made a glad rush for her.

"Oh, you darlings! You look wonderful! You don't know how I've missed you. Get your luggage together and let's start. I have a marvelous surprise for you!"

They piled in the front seat, all three of them, all talking at once. In fact, it was only when the car stopped and they got out that Mimi saw that they were in front of a strange house.

"Why, Mother! You've taken the wrong turn. This isn't—"

But Mother was hurrying on up the porch steps ahead of them. She opened her bag, took out a key, flung open the door. "Children, welcome to your new home!" she said heartily.

Home! Mimi walked slowly up the porch steps. She knew now where she was. This was the old Perry house, shut up since the death of the old man almost five years ago. Mimi crossed the threshold and looked at the dark brown woodwork, the turkey red carpet on the stairs, the stuffed elk's head on the papered walls, and a chill went through her.

Allan looked around, too. "I don't understand," he said slowly.

Then Mother explained in that convincing, breezy way of hers.

"Well, I couldn't see you children going to the expense of buying a house when here was a completely furnished home standing idle. What do you think I got it for, Allan? Forty dollars a month, furniture and all. Just enough to cover the taxes, and Mrs. Perry was glad to let us have it. Isn't that a wonderful bargain, Allan?"

ALLAN cleared his throat. "Sure. Swell. But, Mother, Mimi and I sort of figured on buying up on—"

"I know, dear,"—she put an arm around each of them—"but you see how impractical that would be, don't you? I figured you could take that three thousand you would have to put up and buy some six percent bonds in your construction company, Allan. It'll give you a return, and put you in right with your boss. Please don't think I want to interfere. It's for your good, you know. That's all I'm thinking of."

Mimi stole an anxious glance at her young husband. There had been a tense look about his mouth, but now it gradually relaxed.

"Gosh Mother, you should have been a man," he said admiringly. "You certainly can put a deal over. Come on, Mimi, let's look our ancestral castle over."

Mimi breathed a sigh of relief. For a moment, it had looked as though there might be friction. But later, when she undressed in the room that was to be hers, she looked at the big carved bed, the heavy mahogany high-boy, the dark green damask draperies with their heavy gold fringe, and felt a dull ache inside of her. The bungalow would have been so gay and flippant. Then she put the disloyal thought away from her. Mother was right.

With the honeymoon over, Mimi and Allan settled down. He was an engineer with the American Construction Company. He threw himself into his job with all his strength and his enthusiasm. As for Mimi, she set about the business of becoming a perfect wife. Actually, there was little she could do. Mother was so much more efficient and economical.

Mimi tried. She cooked and baked and made curtains and lamp shades, but it was always Mother who had a better recipe or could pinch-pleat a heading more skillfully.

"You're a lucky girl, to have your mother to help you," the neighbors would say when they saw how smoothly her household was run.

A lucky girl. They all said the same thing. One of them said it the afternoon that she came into the kitchen and found Mother mixing a birthday cake for Allan.

Mimi slipped away and went for a walk in the park. She had wanted to make that cake, even if she bungled it. But she was ungrateful. Here she was, the luckiest girl in town. She ought to be ashamed of herself.

It was on her way home that she met Aunt Terry.

"Hi, there, Mimi," she called from a bench. "All serene?"

"All serene," Mimi called back gaily.

ALLAN said a strange thing that night at dinner when Mother brought in the feather-weight, beautifully iced cake.

"Your wife wanted to bake the cake today," Mother laughed. "Can you picture her with a blister on every finger?"

Allan looked at Mimi. She felt that there was an odd undercurrent in his voice.

"Maybe I'd like my wife to have a little scar to show for me," he said.

They laughed it off, but it seemed to Mimi that from that time on he became restless, dissatisfied. It was true that Mother did manage to influence them, but it was always for their good.

Like the time she insisted on paying half when Allan bought the piano for Christmas. He acted like a sulky little boy. He had wanted it to be his own gift. Mimi and he had their first real quarrel over it. She felt he was unreasonable. He should have appreciated Mother's generosity.

As a matter of fact, no man in Crestdale was catered to as Mother catered to him. She watched the papers for clothing sales for him. She knit him warm driving gloves and mufflers. She gave elaborate dinner to the heads of his department at the plant. Still, the old, happy-go-lucky quality that had made him such fun when Mimi had met him gradually dulled.

They had been married a year and a half when Allan came bounding up the stairs two at a time, and burst into their bedroom.

"Merry Christmas, honey," he shouted, and pulled Mimi up from the dressing table where she was combing her hair and waltzed her all around the room.

"Why, Allan, aren't you a little previous?" she laughed. "Christmas is three days off."

"I know it," he said, "but I just got my bonus. Four hundred berries. Listen, sweet—" He sat down and pulled her down on his knee. "I have a wonderful idea. Let's blow it in, every cent of it, on the silliest, most extravagant things we can think of. Anything sensible is out."

His enthusiasm was infectious. Mimi found herself carried along by it. "Darling, I think you've really got something this time. Let's see. I'd like a rose velvet negligee and one of those little fur jackets and some orchids—"

"And a New Year's Eve dinner at a twenty-five dollar a plate nightclub. We'll tell Mother tonight, and remember, Mimi, nothing is going to stop us."

They had coffee in the big, gloomy living room that night. Allan lit a cigar, and was just about to tell Mother when the bell rang, and Fred Mason, one of Crestdale's insurance men, breezed in. He was a short, bald fellow with a persuasive voice and smile.

"Hello, Fred," Allan said. "Nice of you to drop in like this. How's the insurance business?"

FRED grinned. "According to your mother's tip, it's going to be better before the night's over. What were you thinking of, Allan, straight life or endowment?"

Mimi felt Allan stiffen. "I'm afraid Mother steered you wrong, Fred. I can't afford insurance now."

"But you can, dear," Mother broke in. "I've gone all over the different forms. I thought I'd save you the trouble. Your Christmas bonus will take care of your first year's bonus. I knew all along how much you'd be getting. I asked Mr. Groton."

Allan had a queer, desperate look—as though he had been cornered. "But Mimi and I were planning a blow-out. She's my wife, and it's my money and—"

Mother smiled patiently. "Of course it is, dear. What babies you two are. You have no more idea how to take care of yourselves. . . . I've been worrying about you children. I want to see you protected against illness, accident, disaster. I haven't much, Allan, but if you feel you can't afford this insurance, I'll pay it as long as my money holds out."

Allan ran his hands restlessly through his hair. "Well, if you put it that way," he muttered.

"Wait a minute," Mimi said, and made him go into the dining room with her. "Listen, dear," she said. "I'm willing to take my chances for the future. If you want to blow in the money, let's go ahead and do it as we planned."

He shook his head. There were new lines etched across his forehead. He looked worn, older.

"It's no use, Mimi. We wouldn't enjoy it now. She's right. She's always right. That's the trouble. Come on. Let's sign up and get it over with."

That night, for the first time since their marriage, Allan went out alone. It was four in the morning when he came back, so drunk that Mimi had to undress him and put him to bed.

After that, he got into the habit of stopping off for a few drinks before he came home for dinner. Then, he began having dinner downtown and playing cards with the boys two or three times a week. Mimi was beside herself with anxiety. She did not want to be one of those possessive wives who forbade their husbands to spend any evenings away from home, but it was such a bad habit to drift into.

Was he getting tired of her? Or was it Mother's presence in the house? What could she say to Mother? "You have been too considerate of our welfare—therefore you must go?"

Then came their third anniversary, the milestone that marked off three restless, distorted years. One night, a few weeks before the anniversary, Allan said with sudden enthusiasm, "Say, Mimi, let's throw a party. We haven't had the old crowd in an age. We'll round up Sam and Buck and Alice and the rest of the gang. What do you say?"

MIMI was all for it. Allan had not shown that much interest in anything in weeks.

But the next morning, she came into the hall just in time to hear the tail end of her mother's conversation over the telephone.

"Yes, Mrs Groton. I'm so happy that you can make it. Dinner is at seven. Don't forget. June sixth. Goodby."

Mrs Groton, a dull, boring woman over sixty, the staid wife of the president of the construction company!

"Mother!" Mimi rushed up to her. "Why are you inviting the Grotons? Don't you remember? Allan distinctly said he wanted the old gang at his anniversary dinner."

Mother smiled. "I know, dear, but I happen to know that the assistant to the chief engineer is resigning. That would mean a big promotion for Allan if he could get it, so I thought it good diplomacy to invite the Grotons and some of the vice-presidents and their wives. Now, just leave it to me, dear."

Mimi felt as though she were suffocating. She turned and went upstairs slowly. She dreaded telling Allan. Maybe if she had him to herself, she could do it better. Suddenly she got out one of the dresses he liked best, a pale green print, and put it on. Then she brushed her curls back, put on her cream cartwheel hat with the green band, and went downtown.

It was over lunch at the Blue Bowl Tea Shoppe that she told him. He never said a word. Just went on drawing animals' heads on the back of the menu. Their waitress came over to write the check and saw it.

"Say, did you draw that? Gee, that's wonderful. You're clever all right."

Allan turned and looked at her. She was pretty in a cheap way. Her hair was peroxidized, and her mouth would have been attractive if she had not smeared it so thick with lip rouge.

"What's your name?" he asked.

"Dulcy."

Mimi saw him take out a ten dollar bill and hand it to her.

THE MYSTERY OF GENIUS

TEACHES YOU HOW TO DEVELOP YOURSELF TO THE HIGHEST!

By M. A. DANALS

Author of "Great Men and Astrology," etc.

BEETHOVEN composed imperishable music despite opposition that would have defeated a lesser genius. He was nervous, deaf, frequently in debt, and without normal affection or home life.

It is an historical fact that one of his masterpieces was written during a military siege, amidst the roaring of cannon.

The man and his background have long since passed, but his work survives.

There are just as great miracles being accomplished today and when a synopsis is made of the sum total of achievement during this age and generation, it will be found that genius has been with us, contributing to the world's wealth.

Genius Defined

The astrological definition of genius is this: That the forces of the Universe are combined at a certain tempo at the birth of a certain individual who, instead of frustrating Nature, submits to the cosmic urge and labors with rather than against the vibratory energies generated within.

The task of Astrology is to teach you that you were created for a certain definite purpose—not merely to live for a passing hour or two of Eternity and perish forevermore, but to leave your impress on your own and future generations by the quality of your response to the sublime faculties with which you were endowed at birth.

No Royal Road!

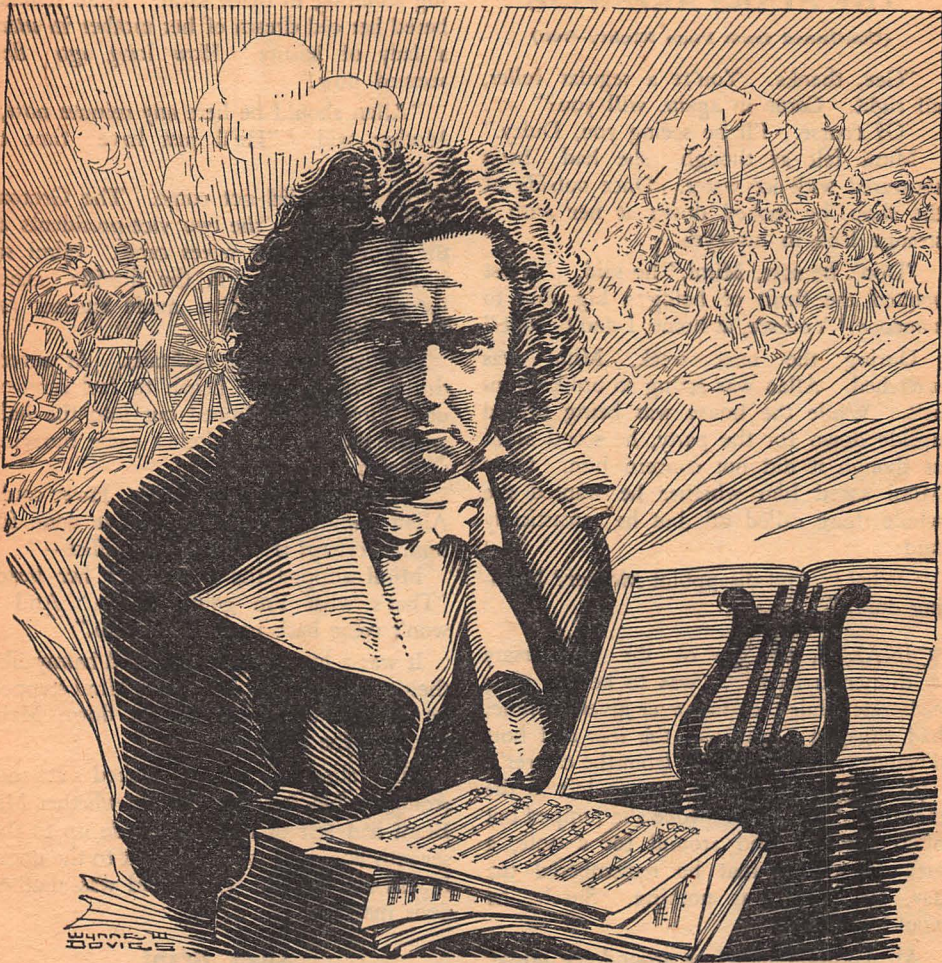

The good things of the world are not reserved for any one stellar group. All the Signs of the Zodiac have had men and women who have left their mark on the history of the centuries. There is no royal road to success. The spotlight of time shifts and moves and only durable qualities assure one a place in the front line.

If you think that any one person was born under a "lucky star," then study that person's horoscope. You may find Sun, and Moon and Venus favorably placed, but some of the other Planets might be in opposition, square, or in unfriendly conjunct to each other.

Nature's Treasures

Yet, in a most amazing way there is an apparent streak of luck which placed that individual in the first rank. Why? Because instead of submitting to the sub-harmonious configurations, the better ones are selected for the drawstrings to open the bins in which Nature keeps her Universal treasures.

These treasures neither increase nor diminish. They are always available. But it is only through human perception and acceptance that cosmic abundance reveals itself.

Sometimes it is one, and sometimes a score of men and women who lift the veil from the so-called mysteries—and the world is illumined with glorious knowledge.

Miracles of Today

Such was the miracle which brought spiritual light where only darkness and superstition had prevailed. And such is the miracle that in these latter days has given us electricity, and radio, and motor locomotion, and telescope developments, and telephones, and dozens of new inventions.

We are now entering a new era. Astrologers have seen it coming for many years and have made every effort to prepare the world for its coming. Only enlightened souls are accepting the wonder of this Great Change. The spiritually blind will not heed the "writing in the sky." There is a new dawn, a great awakening and even now we are going through the travail of birth.

We who are now living in this transitory period are preparing for the future through increased scientific and educational facilities. A host of young people are being trained to see and interpret the cosmic signs so that nothing need be lost through lack of understanding.

Life's Good Things

The good things of the world are being shared now as never before. Travel is far more convenient. Knowledge is free through books, and magazines, and news-

"Gee, thanks. You're a regular feller, all right. Come in again, will you?"

"Of course. I'll be seeing you, Dulcy."

Mimi felt as though she had been showered with ice water. Once outside of the shop, he looked down at her with a strange look in his eyes.

"Don't be sore, Mimi," he said, "I just wanted the thrill of being a big shot to someone. You see, at home, I don't count."

During the next week, Mimi was wretched. Allan was acting so unlike himself. While the house was being turned upside down for the party, he stood aloof as though it did not concern him. Once Mimi asked him whether he wanted the whole thing called off, but he sarcastically said:

"What? And disappoint Mother? Nothing doing!"

FINALLY, the day of the anniversary dinner arrived. It was to be the most elaborate affair they had ever given. Mother had engaged a waitress; the ices and hors d'oeuvres were coming in from the caterer's.

Mimi was asleep when Allan left in the morning. When she awoke she jumped out of bed and looked around for a note, a gift, some sign that he remembered the day, but there was nothing. Surely, he would call later.

All day long she hung around the house, waiting for that call. Every time the phone rang her heart leaped into her throat. Finally, late in the afternoon, she pocketed her pride and called him.

"I—I just wanted to remind you about the dinner tonight," she said.

She was hoping that he would say something sweet about this day. Instead, he asked politely, "Oh, am I expected? I didn't know I had been invited."

There was a hard lump in her throat. She hung up before her tears betrayed her.

Six o'clock. Mimi took a last look at herself in the mirror. She was wearing a new gown—a pale peach chiffon with yards and yards of ruching billowing about her feet.

ing stunning in black satin. Mimi remembered her old dream of her mother in satin, a lady of leisure. How long ago that seemed now!

"Allan should be here any minute now," Mother said. "He'll just have time to dress."

But Allan did not come. The Grotons came, the judge, the two vice-presidents of the firm and their wives came. Mimi sat like a stone image in the fireside chair, listening while Mother made excuses for him.

Another round of cocktails. At seven-thirty, Mimi's smile began to feel screwed on. Finally she slipped out into the hall, and found a coat. Mother came hurrying after her.

"Darling, this is terrible! How could Allan humiliate me after all I've done for him. Perhaps if you tried the office—"

Mimi slipped the hood over her head. "That's what I'm going to do. And I won't come back until I find him."

It was a lovely night, soft and balmy like their wedding night had been. Mimi stepped on the gas and sped straight down Main Street to the office.

The elevator starter looked at her strangely. No, he could not say whether Mr. Brant had left or not. She rode up to the seventh floor and marched right to the door. It was not locked. Just ahead was another door marked:

Allan Brant Second Engineer

There was a pane of ground glass in it. Through it, she could make out something that looked like his silhouette, and another shadow. She could hear the low murmur of voices. How dared he stay here when he knew she was waiting for him at home. And on this day of all others!

SHE took a deep breath, flung open the door, and stood riveted to the threshold. Allan with that girl—that cheap waitress of the tea shop in his arms!

For a long moment, no one spoke. A great calm came over Mimi. She twisted the solitaire and the wedding ring off her finger and laid them down on the desk.

Then she turned and walked out of the office. It was not until the elevator man spoke to her that she realized that she was sobbing aloud.

Four o'clock the next afternoon Mimi was waiting for the expressman to come and take her trunk away. She was going to stay with a cousin in Philadelphia. She wanted to get away from all memories of her unhappiness. Later, after the divorce, perhaps she would return.

For the last time she moved about the ugly, somber bedroom. How still it was—as though someone had died here. Well, someone had—the happy carefree Mimi who had come here as a bride.

The bell rang. Probably the truckman. Mimi knelt and snapped the lock of the trunk.

"All right. Take it away," she said. Then, turning; "Why, Aunt Terry!"

"Well, Mimi, all serene?"

It was as though a tight iron band around her heart gave way. Mimi flung herself on the floor, and burying her head in Aunt Terry's lap, wept bitterly.

"Oh, Aunt Terry, I never dreamed Allan would do this to me! The drinking was bad enough, but I never thought he would be unfaithful."

"There now, sit up and stop feeling sorry for yourself, child. It's Allan who deserves sympathy, not you."

Mimi sat back on her heels. "Allan! After the way Mother worked and connived for his good!"

"Applesauce!" Aunt Terry said briskly. "The boy would have been better off accumulating happy memories instead of six percent bonds. Look at his side of the story. He had to live in a house he didn't want, entertain people he didn't like, deny himself the pleasure of buying his wife the gifts he'd have chosen. No wonder he started drinking. As for Dulcy, he didn't care a hoot about her. He just wanted the thrill of hearing someone tell him he was wonderful."

"But why couldn't he come and tell me how he felt?"

"Because, Mimi, he was ashamed. He realized that your mother's motives were unselfish, but in spite of himself, he rebelled. Mimi, every man must be king in his own home. Come, dear, admit that you weren't altogether satisfied, either. Wouldn't you have been happier with your silly little ring, and your modernistic bungalow than you are with your bonds?"

MIMI bit her lip. "But Mother—" she faltered. "I can't hurt her. Why can't we adjust ourselves?"

"Because it can never be, never in this world. I knew it from the first, Mimi, because the stars are wise; your mother was born under the sign of fire; you and Allan under water signs. You three can never blend. She is a strong, dominating influence. She must direct, order, manage. That is why your father became such a spineless creature. She wore him down.

"There is only one solution if you want to preserve your marriage. Let her go back to her work at the Orphan House. There she finds an outlet for her Napoleonic tendencies. They are directed in useful channels. I happen to know they will be glad to have her again. Think it over."

Mimi walked her slowly to the door.

"I never realized the stars were so wise," she said. "If I had only listened to you from the beginning, I might have avoided this mess. From now on, though, I'm coming to you for guidance. Do you mind?"

Aunt Terry smiled. "Of course not. I'll be glad to analyze your problems according to astrology at any time. And now, there's a man waiting down in the hall. I forgot to tell you when I came in."

"Probably the truckman," Mimi said.

Mimi went out on the landing and looked down. Then her heart pounded against her ribs as though it would jump out.

"Hello," she said in a small voice.

"Hello. Want to take a ride?"

She walked down the stairs in a trance. "Ride? Where?"

Allan took her two hands in his. "There's a new bungalow going up on Honeymoon Hill. Shall we look it over?"

Mimi brushed her cheek softly against his. "Yes," she whispered. "But let's hurry. We've lost so much time already."

papers. Reading and writing is the rule rather than the exception, thus spreading facts, which have hitherto been known only to the few among the many.

This includes the study of Astrology that has for many centuries told of wondrous resources in the human and cosmic worlds. The ignorance and cruelty in the past made occult and arcane sciences inner circle subjects. Only initiates and those going through the most rigid secret tests were allowed access to the sacred teachings. As ordinary words and written script might be understood by the masses, a system was devised which was so clear and concise and explicit that it has never been necessary to revise them. They are still in use.

After a lapse of hundreds of years the keepers of the symbols relinquished their trust the hour having come when liberty had at last gained them the hoped-for goal—thus ending the long, long vigil. Thanks to these watchers who have, century after century handed over to the next generation the esoteric facts gleaned from predecessors, you and millions of others are able to study Astrology in an open and inexpensive way.

Home and school and library are filled with books and pamphlets simplifying Astrology and explaining it in modern terms. Interpreting the symbols is no longer reserved for holy oracles. Instead you and all others who aspire to reading the "signs in the sky" can do so within a short time, and without fear of interference by anyone authorized to stop you. The only obligation is that you use your knowledge and your privilege with the same high-minded purpose that has been the unbroken vow of all who guarded and are still guarding Astrology.

Astrology is legitimate. It has always been so. If at times it has fallen into disrepute, it has been because of its detractors. Eventually those who have attempted to besmirch or ridicule it have either found out and acknowledged their error, or soon realized that they could do nothing to stop Astrology from keeping its rightful and honorable place.

"The Wheel of Life"

There are men and women who rely on Astrology every minute of the day. Hourly Astrology is their unflinching guide. They watch "The Wheel of Life" as the chart with its twelve House Divisions is called. Important matters are analyzed and recorded according to the position of the Signs of Zodiac and the cusps of these Houses, and the placement of the Sun, and Moon and Planets in the Signs. This revolving "Wheel" tells a story that is amazingly clear to those who work and live in compliance with what it shows.

The great Evangeline Adams, one of the foremost modern astrologers, was a brilliant analyst of Horary Astrology. And the renowned author, Rudyard Kipling, in his famous novel, "Kim", devoted a good deal of space to "The Wheel of Life." Mr. Kipling could have been a ranking astrologer had he chosen to practice as one, instead of devoting himself to literature.

So, you see, Astrology is a living science. It reveals current aspects as well as the merging vibrations which affect the wider spheres. It leads you on to study the Stars and brings you back to Earth. Everything in the Universe is affected by cosmic energy.

Astrology, analyzing the nature and character of objects has long since compiled a table which divides and subdivides them with relationship to the Signs and Planets.

That is why it is possible to make so-called predictions or prognostications of coming events. For example, astrologers said long ago that when Saturn entered Pisces in 1935 while Neptune was in its 14 years' transit through Virgo, stupendous strides would be made in chemistry.

Amazing Discoveries

During 1935, 1936 and in 1937, with Saturn in Pisces, (now in Aries temporarily), the chemists of the world have made amazing discoveries.

Newspapers report development of scientific phenomena which are now taken as a matter of course but which, during any previous era, would have been looked upon as pure magic—even had the chemists and scientists had the temerity to admit knowing about such miracles.

Coming out of the Dark Ages has brought public acceptance of scientific wonders—and with it has come the realization that the vibratory forces of the Universe are really potent enough to influence humanity, as astrologers have endeavored to prove since the dawn of time.

Future Events

A. G. King, the reviewer said: "Reading the predictions of certain profound astrologers is like knowing months in advance how certain trends and events are likely to shape themselves. It is amazing how the making of history is recorded in these books long before the circumstances themselves occur. What would happen if, instead of disregarding astrologers, governments and rulers would again consult them as of yore? It is an interesting contemplation. If the Signs in the Sky were really heeded, would life on this planet we call the Earth, be happier? Having made so many futile experiments, it might not be such a bad notion for humanity to run the world according to astrological interpretations. I think I should enjoy the test."

By VICTORIA GRAY
Noted Writer on Astrology

THE reason a medical practitioner must see his patient personally before he can prescribe for a specific ailment is because "circumstances alter cases."

A child of four and a man of forty might have the measles simultaneously. They might be father and son. They might be in the same room, but the child's condition and the man's need different handling. Obviously the age difference is the factor that requires the most delicate judgment. Strange as it may seem, it is the more robust physique of the man which has the harder battle to fight against the onslaught of the disease. The child, less rugged, is frequently more protected by Nature to overcome certain germ ailments.

The same principle applies to Astrology. It is easy to analyze surface problems. But to arrive at an accurate solution, the astrologer must have accurate data on which to work. The prevailing aspects may affect different people in different ways. So, if you wish a specific answer, look at the specific part of the chart that is involved. Health, employment, travel, love, home, etc., have their own chart divisions or Houses, and their Sign as well as Planetary occupations tell their story.

A Mental Type

PROBLEM: My son is now at college, studying electrical engineering. He was born August 31, 1918, at noon. Is he likely to succeed at this, or something else? Mrs Randolph L.

ANSWER: Your son has a natural interest in science. His Sun is in Virgo and his Moon in Gemini. Mercury is also in Virgo. That in itself is an excellent trio for a student. But in addition he has Uranus in Aquarius, increasing his scientific aptitude. However, he has many lessons to learn, otherwise he might dissipate his talents. He is a mental type and with proper training, he should develop his writing gifts. You are fortunate to have a son of this calibre and you are wise to let him choose his own profession. Apparently he is on the right track.

Something In Common

PROBLEM: I am going into business with a man who was born July 23, 1907, and I was born April 4, 1906. What are our prospects? I mean, are we suited to each other as business associates? K. P. D.

WHAT IS YOUR PROBLEM?

Write Victoria Gray, care of this magazine, and she will answer you. Enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope if you desire a personal reply.

ANSWER: You have Sun in Aries, and he has Sun in Leo, both Fire Signs. He has Moon in Sagittarius, also a Fire Sign. It may be that you have Moon in Leo. It depends on the hour of your birth, for on the day you were born the Moon entered Virgo. However, this is immaterial, for the solar indications are favorable for mutual interests. Had you given the hour of your birth and his, it would have been possible to ascertain the Seventh House positions and come to a closer analysis. But you have a good deal in common and with a proper amount of tact and courtesy, ought to get along swimmingly. Provided your business is one that you both understand and for which there is a commercial demand.

Wait Till He Comes Along

PROBLEM: I was born August 27, 1918. Will you please tell me something of my future mate? Anita S.

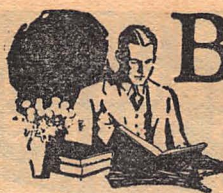

ANSWER: There is one general answer that may be given to one who asks a question like yours, namely that the solar starting point may serve as the motivating force in the selection of a husband, in the case of a girl, and the lunar position in the case of a man. There are variations to this rule, of course, but if you want to know the kind of man who would appeal to you, then look for one who has Sun in Virgo, or another Earth Sign. The only way you can ascertain this, is to wait until the young man comes along—and if you like him well enough and he also likes you, then ask him for his birthday. Ask your astrologer to analyze the two charts, and decide what to do after you get your report.

See Both Sides

PROBLEM: I want to marry a girl who was born September 13, 1918, and I was born October 7, 1911. Are we suited to each other? Charles C.

ANSWER: You have Sun in Libra, an Air Sign, and Moon in Aquarius, also an Air Sign. She has Sun in Virgo, an Earth Sign and her Venus has also just entered Virgo on the day of her birth, the same Sign of the Zodiac in which Venus was transiting at your time of birth. Thus, you see, you have several planetary aspects in common which, combined with your social personality which stands you in such good stead that you should do well as a husband. She might make certain demands on you, but you will know how to handle these very effectively. Remember, the astrological symbol of Libra is portrayed by "The Scales," signifying a person who can look at both sides of a situation. As a husband, you will have to see your wife's side, as well as your own. So be prepared to use your Sun and Moon influences to full capacity!

Who Is Boss?

PROBLEM: My husband was born January 5, 1903, and I was born January 27, 1906. We have no children, but my mother lives with us. She was born June 29, 1884. I am unhappy because my husband has left me and wants a divorce. What can I do to get him back? My mother is heart-broken and so am I. Mrs. Rose F.

ANSWER: It may be that you have waited a little too long for a reconciliation. Had you asked an astrologer at the outset, you would have been told that your husband has Sun in Capricorn, and that your mother has Sun in Cancer. Their Signs are in opposition, and this accounts for the interference in your marriage. If your mother had lived elsewhere, the probability is that you and your husband would not have separated. He would have had dominion over his house and home. Instead, it is probably your mother who runs the house and merely looks to him for the payment of bills. Are you the home manager, or is your mother? There is one way to get your husband back, but this calls for drastic and dramatic action, and probably you are not capable of either gesture. All you need do is to turn your home, lock, stock and barrel, over to your mother. Pack a bag and go off somewhere by yourself. When your husband hears of this, he might follow you. And should this occur, then do not return home. Even if you have to live in a single room—keep your mother out of your lives. This may sound like a desper-

Work Together

PROBLEM: My first marriage was a failure. Now I am engaged to a man who was born June 8, 1900. I was born February 6, 1907. Do you think we are suited to each other? Grace E. T.

ANSWER: According to astrology, this marriage should work out better, inasmuch as you have Sun in Aquarius, an Air Sign, and he has Sun in Gemini, also an Air Sign. Moreover, he has Moon in Libra, the third Sign in the Air Triplexity. There are, however, two or three aspects which are not quite favorable. But then, it is not always possible to find the perfect mating charts. For example, he has Venus in Cancer, a Water Sign, and you have Venus in Sagittarius, a Fire Sign. It may be that his emotionalism would dominate him, making him sensitive, and you, having a fertile imagination, might not always be sympathetic to his viewpoint. This might result in a clash, even though in other respects your natures are congenial. However, you doubtless learned a lot through your previous marriage, and if such an experience does nothing else it does teach the value of patience and tolerance. So if you want to be happy, do your utmost to make your husband work with you to make your union a pleasant one.

More Necessary Than The Wish

PROBLEM: I was born October 30, 1910, and I have always wanted to be a dramatic actress. Do you think I have the qualities that are required for such exacting work? Beatrice S.

ANSWER: You have Sun in Scorpio which gives you great tenacity of purpose. You have Venus in Libra which inclines you to singing, music and self-expression through the emotions. You also have Moon in Libra which shows that you would seek an occupation that would yield public acclaim. You also have Mars in Libra that places certain restraints in your way, such as competition and rivalry. You may have much to contend with, and if your training is not adequate, then it would not be easy for you to attain your heart's desire. But so far as this review of your planetary positions shows, you should have more than passing interest in the stage. Neptune in Cancer at your birth is also an excellent factor in this type of career—providing that you have had the chance to study and make yourself proficient.

Try to Understand Him

PROBLEM: I have been married six years now, and we still wander around. What I want is a home of my own. I was born May 8, 1908, and my husband was born April 14, 1902. Do you think there is a chance for us to get settled some day as I am sick and tired of living with other people? Mrs Kate L. B.

ANSWER: When you were born, the Sun was in Taurus, a Fixed Sign of the Zodiac. You like system and order. You like to have things cut and dried for you, so that you will have a minimum of change. Your husband, however, has Sun in Aries, a Cardinal Sign. It is not easy for him to remain in one place. He likes to move about. This does not mean that he is wrong, and that you are right. What it does mean is that you each have different natures, and the conditions which satisfy him are not acceptable to you. He thrives best when he has change of scene. You, on the other hand, are happier when you can remain rooted in one spot. If you become too tyrannical and insist that he give up his mode of life he might become less proficient. His earning capacity depends on what he does, according to his birth endowments. If you try to change him, then you will make him into a misfit. Try to understand him, if you can. Even though you are not content to wander about, as you say, still there are worse things in life than to have a mobile home. A much harder fate would be to have no home at all.

Ask Astrology Next Time

PROBLEM: I was born November 14, 1911, and I have just relinquished my sweetheart to another girl because she said she was his first love before he met me. I adore him with all my heart and I wonder if he will ever return to me or will he remain faithful to the other girl. Clarice A.

ANSWER: Yours is indeed an unusual inquiry and an interesting one. However, it is not possible to analyze it properly because you did not furnish the birthday of the other lady, nor that of the man. Is he so fickle that he can change his loves merely at the request of the ladies involved? If so, it might be just as well not to take him too seriously. You have Sun in Scorpio, a Water Sign, giving you a fixed nature. You want someone who is positive and who has enough will power to match your own. Your Venus is well placed, being in Libra. This makes you sociable and attracts friends to you. But you have Moon in Virgo, and while this is not a major factor in a woman's horoscope, yet it might be the aspect which caused the emotional triangle to arise. Be of good cheer, and hope for a stauncher sweetheart next time, one who knows his own mind and who does not so easily let go of a charming lady. It would be well for you to ascertain the placement of the Sun of the next man with whom you fall in love. Be sure that it is not in a Fire Sign—or in Gemini. Astrology might be a wonderful aid to you.

Combine The Two

PROBLEM: I was born June 16, 1913, and after I graduated from college, my Father insisted that I join his prosperous business. But I like to write and my Father wants me to devote all my time to work at the store which is making money. I am his only son and I will inherit the property. I am almost worried sick because I don't enjoy selling merchandise. What I want is to become an author or editor. I have al-

ANSWER: You have Sun in Gemini which is ruled by the Planet Mercury. Your first and foremost interests are mental, of course. Editing and writing are a part of most Gemini-born persons. But you have certain other aspects which will make it easy for you to compromise with your nature and with your Father's wishes. There should be little conflict, indeed, after you have proved the amazing and miraculous adjustment you can make. You like to write. Well and good. Your Father wants you to sell merchandise. Also well and good. Why not combine the two? How? By writing about what he has to sell. In other words—write advertising. No longer is it necessary to keep advertising down to cut and dried formulae. You can make it as interesting and fascinating as a best seller. Adapt it to the screen. Write radio scripts. Produce a series of circulars, form letters, booklets. There are an infinite number of variations, and each one full of possibilities. This should satisfy your creative urge, and give your Father a joyous thrill. It is a privilege to act as an interpreter of your aspects—and may you find full compensation for being a devoted son.

Robert H.

ANSWER: For more than two years the Planet Saturn has been transiting your birth Sign, Pisces. This has produced a certain restraint. Beginning with April, Saturn moves out of Pisces for a while. During this interval, you might be able to get a breathing spell. Saturn does not return to Pisces until October, and early in 1938 should be entirely out of your Sun Sign, not to return for thirty years! So you see, conditions have a chance to improve. It might have been worse, you know. You say you have not had a steady job. Apparently you did have some work, and the trouble might have been with you. Perhaps you have allowed a sense of inferiority to come between you and your work. Perhaps you have had to contend with unfairness, and rather than stand up for your rights you allowed injustice to take from you what was your privilege. Moreover, in January of this year the Planet Neptune was in opposition to Saturn, and this also was a poor time. But this aspect is definitely out of the way. Why not try to take up some scientific work? You have an excellent combination—Sun in Pisces and Moon in Aquareius. And this is a scientific age, you know!
