It may be interesting to the Craft to know that "THE FREEMASON" Life-boat will be stationed at North Berwick station.

CONSECRATION OF THE UNITED SERVICE LODGE, No. 1361.

This new lodge was consecrated at the Swan Hotel, Ridgway, Wimbledon, on Saturday, the 9th inst. Bro. John Hervey, G. Sec., presided, assisted by Bros. J. Brett, P.G. Purs., as S.W.; W. Hyde Pullen, P.G.S.B., as J.W.; Rev. D. Shaboe, P.G.C. Middlesex, as Chaplain; John Boyd, A.G. Purs., as I.G.; and R. Wentworth Little, P.G. Sec. Middlesex, as D.C.; and a very large concourse of brethren.

The ceremony of consecration was admirably rendered by Bro. Hervey, the oration being given by Bro. Brett.

Bro. Major E. Hamilton Finney, W.M.-designate, was then presented for installation, and was duly installed after the usual preliminaries. The other officers appointed being: Bros. G. Cowell, F.R.C.S., S.W.; Captain J. B. Payne, J.W.; and E. H. Finney, jun., S.D. The usual addresses were then delivered by Bros. Hervey, Brett, and Pullen.

It was proposed, seconded, and resolved that the thanks of the lodge be tendered to Bros. Hervey, Brett, Little, Shaboe, Pullen, and other brethren who had assisted during the ceremonies, and the distinction of honorary member was also conferred upon Bros. Hervey and Little—appropriate acknowledgments being made by the several brethren.

Several propositions having been made, the lodge was closed, and the brethren sat down to a cold collation. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given by the W.M., and were all heartily received, and the proceedings terminated at an early hour.

Among the brethren present we noticed Bros. W. Ough, P.G. Purs.; J. Glaisher, F.R.S., P.G.S.W. Middlesex; F. H. Gottlieb, J.P., P.P.D.G.W. East. Archipelago; W. Carpenter, P.M. 177; A. A. Pendlebury, P.M. 1086; J. Willing, Captain Snow, C. Hogard, H. Potter, F. Walters, W. Roebuck, S. H. Stephens, &c.

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

THE CRAFT.

METROPOLITAN.

Perfect Ashlar Lodge, No. 1178.—On Thursday, the 7th inst., at the Gregorian Arms' Tavern, 90, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, this lodge met, Bro. J. Green, W.M., presiding. There were present: Bros. G. J. Grace, S.W.; J. W. Dudley, J.W.; F. Walters, P.M., Sec.; J. H. Harmsworth, S.D.; J. H. Fudge, J.D.; T. W. Cox, I.G.; C. Deakin, D.C.; J. Ruse, W.S.; J. W. Avery, P.M.; &c. The visitors were: Bros. E. Harris, P.M. 73; C. T. Bass, 79; W. Bellamy, 91; R. P. Hooton, W.M. 165; J. Howes, P.M. 879; J. Harvey, W.M. 957; &c. Bro. J. W. Avery, P.M. raised Bro. C. J. Joslin to the third degree. Bro. G. J. Grace, S.W., was then elected W.M.; Bro. F. H. Ebsworth, P.M., Treas., was re-elected; and Bro. W. J. Laing, P.M., Tyler, re-elected. Bro. H. Bartlett resigned his membership, which was accepted with great regret. The work, as usual here, was well done. The audit was fixed to be held on the 29th inst. There was not any banquet.

PROVINCIAL.

BELVEDERE, KENT.—Cornwallis Lodge, No. 1107.—This very efficient lodge held its last meeting for the season on Wednesday, the 6th Sept. Bro. T. W. Knight, W.M., in the chair, supported by his officers. The lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the former meeting were read and confirmed. The ballot was taken for Mr. Sidney James Hall for initiation, also for Bro. C. Cook, of the Nelson Lodge, as a joining member, which was unanimous in each of their favour, and Mr. Hall, being in attendance, was received into the mysteries of the Order. Bro. Debney was passed, and Bros. Landrock, Daniells, and Pidduck were raised. A gentleman having been proposed for initiation, the lodge was adjourned till the first Wednesday in April, 1872. The brethren, to the number of thirty, then partook of an excellent banquet, provided by the worthy host, Bro. Long, and to which ample justice was done. The cloth having been withdrawn, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to. During the evening the brethren were highly delighted by the admirable singing of Miss Rebecca Isaacs (Mrs. Roberts), and Miss Roberts, assisted by Bros. G. Tedder and W. H. Sherwin, Mrs. G. Tedder presiding at the piano. A very happy evening having been spent, the brethren parted in perfect harmony. Visitors present: Bros. T. Smith, P.M. 829 and P.P.G.D.C. of Kent; G. Smith, 913; Watkins, 829; and Roberts.

MARK MASONRY.

METROPOLITAN.

St. Mark's Lodge, No. 1.—The installation meeting of this lodge was held on Monday, the 11th inst., at Masons' Hall Tavern, Masons' Avenue, Basinghall-street, and was fairly attended, considering the season of the year. Bro. the Rev. W. B. Church, M.A., was installed as W.M., and the officers appointed were as follows: Bros. T. Cubitt, S.W.; G. Kenning, J.W.; S. C. Davison, M.O.; J. McKiernan, S.O.; T. B. Yeoman, J.O.; H. C. Levander, P.M., Treas.; R. W. Little, P.M., Sec.; W. Dodd, R. of Marks; J. W. Dawson, S.D.; A. B. Donnithorne, J.D.; H. Parker, Org.; J. W. Barrett, D.C.; J. Boyd, I.G.; and Major E. H. Finney, Steward. The new W.M. then advanced in excellent style Bro. T. S. Carter, of the Hertford Lodge, No. 403, to the degree of Mark Master. The lodge was then called off for labour in the Cryptic Rite, when Bro. Levander was installed as Principal Conductor of Works, and Bros. Cubitt, Hubbard, Davison, Yeoman, Finney, Barrett, Boyd, Bayles, Parker, and Gilbert were admitted to the secret vault, and afterwards obligated as S.E. Masters. The council and lodge were then closed, and the brethren adjourned to a splendid banquet furnished with Bro. Gosden's usual attention to details, and a very pleasant evening was spent. Bro. Massey responded ably for the visitors, and Bro. Marsh, I.P.M., for the Past Masters.

ORDERS OF CHIVALRY.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

PROVINCIAL.

MANCHESTER. — Jerusalem Encampment.—A meeting of this old conclave was held at the Hall, Manchester, on Monday, the 11th inst., Sir Kt. R. McDowall Smith, E.C., in the chair. Comp. Chas. N. Coates, being highly recommended, was installed a Knight of the Order. Sir Kt. John Yarker, P.E.C., at the close of the evening, addressed the E.C. in the following terms: In common with other members of the encampment, I have received a copy of what purports to be a treaty between the G.C. of K.T. and a S.G.C. 33°. I wish to know whether it is intended to imply by such distribution that this encampment comes under said treaty, as, if so, I must enter my protest against it on these grounds:—1st. This conclave had a high-grade chapter attached years before the rite of 33° was concocted at Charleston, America, and half a century before its introduction into this country. 2nd. Said treaty has no retrospective effect, and takes things as they stand. The action of this high-grade Chapter is covered by the G.C. law of 1866, and by closing lines of paragraph 1st in the treaty. There are half a dozen encampments which contributed to the formation of Grand Conclave in 1790 which have like privileges with this, and any attempt to interfere with same will inevitably split up Grand Conclave. 3rd. The "prohibition" of these allied bodies is offensive in taste, and the first result is that other bodies are organising rites intended to absorb these and everything else. 4th. Said treaty is illegal, inasmuch as no notice of it was given to this province. The affair was burked, and the S.G.C. 33° packed Grand Conclave by a private whip, which I can vouch for, as I have seen it. This shows the necessity of setting about the organization of proxy voting. In this affair I disdain to fight against individuals, but "principalities and powers, and spiritual wickedness in high places;" and as the oldest P.E.C. present this evening, I wish to enter my protest against the implication in the distribution of this circular, that this ancient conclave, or its members, are in any way subject to its enactments.—After considerable dissolatory discussion, in a proper and fraternal spirit, in which Bro. Yarker denied the right of the conclave to vote on degrees above them, the E.C. ruled him out of order, and requested him to give notice of motion. The encampment was then closed in harmony, and the knights adjourned to supper.

BOOTS of the Period at BLAKEY'S, Lime-street, Liverpool (under the Alexandra Theatre).—[Advt.]

BRO. BUCHANAN'S letter on "The Transactions of 1717: Were they, or were they not, the 'Revival' of Freemasonry?" will appear next week.

Foreign Masonic Intelligence.

DISTRICT GRAND LODGE OF BURMAH.

A Special Communication of the District Grand Lodge of British Burmah was held at the Masonic Temple, Rangoon, on Friday, the 5th May, 1871, under the presidency of W. Bro. H. Krauss, P.M. 1268, D.G.S.W., as D.G.M. There were also present: W. Bro. C. Pascal, P.M. 614, P.D.G.S., as D.D.G.M.; Jos. Dawson, W.M. 832, as D.G.S.W.; A. M. Buchanan, P.M. 614, as D.G.J.W.; E. Hopper, W.M. 614, as D.G.S.D.; D. M. Paul, No. 614, as D.G.J.D.; J. Jackson, D.G. Purst.; J. Clark, D.G. Tyler; Bro. W. D. Cruickshank, No. 1268, D.G. Sec.; and the following representatives of lodges:—

Lodge Star of Burmah, No. 614: Bros. M. Appavoo Pillay, and W. A. Nichol. Victoria in Burmah, No. 832: Bros. C. B. Cooke, W. Hall, and B. Samuel. Rangoon, No. 1268: Bros. J. R. Kay, L. Booth, and J. V. Douglas de Wet.

Visitors: H. Brodie, 426; H. Godbier, P. Kinsley, J. McPhail (P.M.), W. Robinson, J. Larkin, 832; A. Hotson, F. Maynard, H. J. Williams, N. McPhail, A. Y. Jamieson, W. A. Main, 1268.

The District Grand Lodge was opened in form at 7.30 p.m.

W. Bro. H. Krauss, in the eastern chair, said that the District Grand Lodge had met that evening for the purpose of installing the District Grand Master-elect, W. Bro. Major Harvey Tuckett Duncan, who had lately returned to the province. W. Bro. Duncan was well known to most of the Masons in Burmah as a zealous and experienced brother, who was thoroughly interested in the well-being of Masonry; and he (W. Bro. Krauss) felt assured that under his able management the District Grand Lodge would ere long be brought to a high state of efficiency.

W. Bro. Duncan having been announced, W. Bro. Krauss directed the District Grand Deacons to retire and introduce him. This was done accordingly.

The District Grand Master-elect produced his patent of appointment, which was read. He then intimated that he was prepared to accept the responsibilities and perform the duties of District Grand Master of British Burmah.

Brethren below the rank of Installed Masters then withdrew, and the District Grand Senior Warden installed the District Grand Master-elect in due and ancient form.

The Board of Installed Masters having been closed, all Master Masons were re-admitted, and the District Grand Master was proclaimed and saluted successively in the E., W., and S.

The District Grand Senior Warden then spoke as follows: "R.W. Bro. Duncan, the M.W. the Grand Master of England has entrusted the government of the District Grand Lodge of British Burmah to your care, and I am persuaded you cannot be insensible of the duty which devolves upon you as its head, nor of your responsibility for the faithful discharge of the duties annexed to the appointment. The extent and obligations of that duty and that responsibility are so well known to so distinguished a Mason as yourself that I need not further enlarge upon them to you. Suffice it to say, that I think I am speaking the sentiments, not only of myself, but of every Mason in the province, who now holds, or may hereafter hold, office in the District Grand Lodge, when I say that it will always be to us at once a duty and a pleasure to co-operate with you in anything that you may see fit to do for the good of Masonry in the province. To the W. Masters and Wardens of lodges, and the other members of Grand Lodge present, I would say that your first duty towards the R.W. the District Grand Master is a prompt and ready obedience to all summonses and commands which may be sent to you by his direction. To all other Masons present I would say the same, and I would add that any communications and complaints which you may find it necessary to address to him will be carefully and promptly considered.

The District Grand Master addressed the District Grand Lodge, stating the pleasure he had in rejoining the district, and how much he felt the honour that had been conferred upon him by the Grand Master. He deplored the loss Masonry had sustained from the death of R.W. Bro. Greenlaw, late District Grand Master, a valued friend of his, and one who had devoted all his energies and Masonic influence to develop and consolidate the Craft in British Burmah. He also thanked the brethren for the kind welcome they had given him, and stated that he had every confidence he would receive their support.

The District Grand Lodge was closed in due form at 8 p.m.

CANADA.

Address of the Grand Prior of Canada at the Annual Grand Conclave held on the 10th of August, 1871, at Hamilton, Province of Ontario.

Fratres of the Grand Priory of the Dominion,—It is a privilege we owe to a merciful Providence that we are again permitted to meet together at our annual Grand Conclave, and I greet you all with kind feeling and fraternal regard.

One old familiar face we miss never again to appear amongst us, and have to mourn the loss of a truly Christian Knight, a worthy upright and zealous brother of our Order, who has been lately summoned to appear before the Great Tribunal were to trust he is now reaping the reward promised to those who while on earth faithfully perform their duties as soldiers of the Cross. Eminent Sir Knight Samuel Deadman Fowler has passed to his rest. The valuable services he rendered to the Order and the Craft generally in Canada, I have a melancholy pleasure in bearing testimony to. Our late eminent frater was one of the first candidates that I installed in Canada, on the establishment of the Order and formation of the Hugh ae Payen's Encampment at Kingston in 1854, and on the organization of this Provincial Grand Conclave, I selected him as the first Provincial Grand Chancellor and Registrar, these offices he filled for several years, materially aiding and assisting me, and to his zeal and efficiency I attribute much of the success which has been attained in placing the Order on its present firm and constitutional basis in the Dominion. He also held the rank of a Deputy Grand Commander and that of a past Grand Officer of the Grand Conclave in England and Wales. With sincere regret I have to record the loss sustained by the Grand Priory and the Order in Canada, of so illustrious a frater.

The Dominion Grand Chancellor will be pleased to direct that the officers of Grand Priory wear the usual mourning for three months, for their late lamented Past Deputy Grand Commander, and a memorial record be added to their proceedings, with such other tribute to his memory as Grand Priory may deem proper to adopt.

At our last annual assembly I directed a committee to be formed for the purpose of ascertaining what were the actual requirements of the Order in Canada, that proper measures might be adopted to meet either the grievances complained of by some members, or point out such changes as would add to the prosperity of the Canadian Branch of the Temple.

I have not as yet been furnished with this report, and cannot therefore enter into any further explanation of my views expressed last year or determine what course I shall pursue, until I know what the fratres of this jurisdiction have to bring forward.

My own feelings continue loyal to the Supreme Governing Authority in England; and be assured the Order of the Temple under English rule, both in its government and ritualism is far superior to any fancied advantages the love of change might lead those who have not thoroughly investigated the matter to expect. The inconsistencies that appear in other systems should be a warning to avoid invading the purity of our own.

The unfortunate differences which have sprung up in Canada by a separation of the Craft Lodges of the province of Quebec from the Grand Lodge of Canada is much to be deplored, and, I regret to say, has given rise to feelings quite foreign to the principles of Freemasonry.

In this matter, as far as relates to the Order of the Temple, I have not permitted any interference whatever. I had no official communication on the subject, and even if such had being the case I would not have felt myself justified in refusing admittance to any candidate Royal Arch Mason in good standing, no matter what jurisdiction he belonged to, or fail to recognize any Knight Templar because he preferred being a member of one Grand Lodge more than another. The statutes of the Temple provide only that its ranks be filled by Freemasons who have attained the grade of the Royal Arch, which is in England the climax of the third degree, further than this no other connection exists between the Masonic body and the Temple Order.

Our English Templar system is but a revival of the chivalric order attaching itself during the last century to the Masonic Fraternity with which it still continues to be allied.

It has been lately strongly advocated by a section of the Masonic press, that a system of rites be established, making it compulsory to obtain several degrees in rotation before receiving that of the Temple, and that the Degrees called "Royal and Select Masters" lately introduced into Canada be preliminary to the Temple. While I myself and many of my Grand Officers are members of these rites, and uphold their principles, for me to assent to such a proceeding would be a direct violation of the statutes of, and renunciation of my allegiance to, the Grand Conclave of England.

You are all aware that I obtained some years ago authority to communicate the Degree of the United States "Red Cross," or "Babylonish Pass," to Canadian Templars, for the purpose of preventing any difficulty in visiting the United States encampments, where this degree in a pass of their Templar system, but is not compulsory with us, nor do I think it would be of any advantage to graft it in our purely Christian Order. This Degree is now, in Canada, placed under control of and given in Councils of Select and Royal Masters.

The revival lately of several obsolete degrees and orders in England, has unfortunately given rise to much controversy and unpleasant correspondence, and it is greatly to be regretted the pure system of English Freemasonry should be disturbed by so many Grand Bodies springing up and wishing to imitate what are really incongruities in the American system.

With reference to the Order called the "Red Cross of Constantine" there appears to be some misunderstanding, probably from a similarity of names and titles with other orders and degrees. I can state that the Constantinian Order (founded on the legend of the vision of Constantine the Great), is purely Christian, and that the first grade, or "Novitiate Cross," is the same as that long established under the control of the Scottish Knight Templar Encampments; the second and third grades, namely, those of "Viceroy" and "Sovereign" are the installation ceremonies of the two principal officers, added at the revival and revision of the ritual in England. I can find nothing objectionable, or that it interferes in any way with other existing orders and degrees.

It is with much pain I have to announce to Grand Priory that I was under the necessity of suspending the warrant of "The Richard Cœur de Lion" Encampment of London, province of Ontario. For upwards of twelve months a party feeling had sprung up in the encampment quite a variance with the teachings and principles of the order, disputes and recriminations took place relating principally to the election of an Eminent Commander. On carefully investigating the matter, I considered it my duty to suspend the warrant and close the encampment. The Past Eminent Commander at once complied with the demand to surrender the warrant to the Dominion Grand Chancellor, stating that the Registrar of the encampment, Frater Thomas McMullen, who was the Eminent Commander-elect—and with whom and the other officers the disagreement originated—refused to deliver up the minute and cash books. I directed the Grand Chancellor to apply to him direct. This application, although sufficient time had been allowed, was not attended to, when I caused another to be made, pointing out the great impropriety of his conduct, and that it rendered him liable to the penalty of suspension. This frater persisting in his contumacious conduct, violating his vows to the order and the duty he owed to his superiors, I have suspended from all the privileges of a Knight Templar, and reported the circumstances to the Supreme Grand Conclave of England. It has been a source of great regret to me, to be called upon thus to exercise my authority, being the first case of direct insubordination to constituted authority which has come to my knowledge since the introduction of the order into Canada under English rule.

I must again draw the attention of Eminent Commanders to the necessity of greater care being observed in the admittance of candidates to our ranks; they are bound by their terms of office to attend to this point. Sufficient care has not at all times been observed, and there has been great laxity as regards the social position and requirements of persons admitted. There exists no desire or intention to make the order an exclusive or conservative club, but neither is it right to admit as members those whose social position unfit them as associates in private life. The Order of the Temple is not strictly a Masonic society, and it never was intended that for the sake of attaining coveted high-sounding Masonic rank, many, otherwise worthy Masons, should be taken out of their own sphere—and often to the prejudice of their private avocations, brought forward to fill offices in the Order of the Temple. The Grand Conclave in England has already animadverted on the admission of members, who by the returns received from encampments, were shown not to be persons eligible for admission.

Page 37 of the statutes clearly define that no one shall be installed a Knight Templar unless previously balloted for in open encampment, and that his name, place of abode, and his description, profession, avocation, etc., etc., shall have been inserted in the summons for the meeting at which it is proposed to take the ballot. It is therefore, the bounden duty of all members to attend such summons and should an objectionable candidate be proposed, the remedy is in their own hands, and I am sure I have only to request that every possible care and precaution be taken in ascertaining the standing, position and eligibility of all candidates for installation.

The Supreme Grand Master, at my recommendation, has been pleased to grant patents to Eminent Sir Knights Robert Ramsay, the Rev. Vincent Clementi, and James Kirkpatrick Kerr, of this Grand Priory, to hold rank in the Grand Conclave of England as Past Grand Captains.

It is truly gratifying to record a continuance of the most fraternal intercourse with our American confreres. An exchange of representatives between the Grand Encampment of the State of Ohio and this Grand Priory has been effected this year. Right Eminent Sir Knight R. Babcock to be our representative at the Grand Encampment of Ohio, and I have nominated Eminent Sir Knight Robert Ramsay to be their representative at this Grand Priory.

The General Grand Encampment of the United States having announced their intention of holding their triennial assembly in September next, at Baltimore, I purpose nominating a committee to represent this Grand Priory, and offer to the Right Eminent the General Grand Master and assembled Knights Templar of the United States our fraternal and knightly regards and good wishes for their continued prosperity, trusting that Unity, Peace and Brotherly Love may ever exist between us as members of the same great Christian Order.

A new Encampment and Priory has been added to our roll since last year, the Supreme Grand Master having on the 14th April, 1871, granted a warrant to open the "Harrington" Encampment, in the town Trenton, Ontario, under Eminent Commander Dr. H. W. Day. I regretted very much being unable to attend at the opening installation of the Eminent Commander and Officers, in consequence of having met with an accident a short time previous to the occasion. The ceremonial was ably and satisfactorily performed by the Provincial Grand Commander of Ontario and Quebec, Very Eminent Sir Knight Charles Davis Macdonnell, of Peterborough.

In Montreal, a revival of "The Richard Cœur de Lion" Encampment has taken place, having granted a dispensation for the installation of the Eminent Commander-elect, Sir Knight E. M. Copeland, who had not previously served his year of office in the required grades.

I am happy to announce that the printed proceedings of this Provincial Grand Conclave and Priory, from its organization in 1855, are nearly completed and will shortly be ready for issue.

And now, Frateres of the Temple, accept my warmest thanks for the unceasing kindness you have at all times showed towards me, and be assured, that having the well being of the Order in Canada at heart, I will use my constant and best endeavors to promote its honor and prosperity.

With every kind wish for your welfare and happiness, I am, in the bonds of the Order,

Your faithful Frater,

W. J. B. MACLEOD MOORE,
Grand Priory of the Dominion of Canada.

V. E. Frater S. B. Harman on behalf of the committee on address submitted the following report:—

To the V. E. the Grand Priory and the Officers of the Grand Priory:

Your Committee beg to submit the following report on the address of the V. E. the Grand Prior:

That the cordial acknowledgment of Grand Conclave be tendered with the highest knightly courtesy to the distinguished Templar, who having been instrumental in its introduction into Canada, has since so worthily and zealously watched over, encouraged and upheld the dignity of our high order there, will, we feel assured, be voted with one generous and respectful accord, and with a hope springing from the heart of every Templar that he may be long spared to preside over our councils and direct our chivalric career.

His address, just presented, is an illustration in itself of his high qualification for office, in the interest exhibited in existing encampments, in the case of the establishment of yet another, and in the firmness with which he has exercised his high, however painful, prerogative of suspension.

The allusion to the removal by the hand of death of that distinguished mason and Templar V. E. Sir Kt. S. D. Fowler, so touchingly made by the Grand Prior is received with deep and melancholy emotion by Grand Conclave, who will feel it a duty to obey the injunction of the Grand Prior to pay an outward tribute of respect to the memory of one whose name and good works are engrafted on their hearts.

We echo cordially the counsel of the Grand Prior as to the necessity of the greatest caution being observed in the matter of the admission of candidates into the ranks of an order which in all ages has been distinguished for its orthodoxy of membership; for while, as he says, "there exists no desire or intention to make the order an exclusive or conservative club, neither is it surely desirable to admit as members those whose social position may unfit them as associates in private life,"—the slightest consideration will show the wisdom of this counsel.

We feel further that whatever may be the course of future events, the maintenance at present of a warm and zealous allegiance to the Grand Conclave of England should be regarded as "an article of faith," for surely while the Illustrious Templar bodies in the United States are looking to the old land of the crusades, and penetrating her archives for material with which they may more perfectly mould and fashion American Templarism, we should be the last rightly to yield the right and prestige attaching to the Canada branch, to profit by the efforts of the parent body to place the order on the highest pinnacle of chivalric perfection, and the concessions made on every occasion so courteously and gracefully by the Grand Conclave of England to every Canadian representation should be a further inducement, although the first named should be all sufficient to lead to the most courteous reciprocity of sentiment and attachment.

We are certain that Grand Conclave will cordially endorse the action of the Grand Prior in the appointment of a representative at the Grand Commandery of Ohio, and welcome with knightly courtesy V. E. Sir Kt. Babcock from that Grand Commandery, and in his further appointment of a committee to represent this Grand Conclave at the triennial assembly of the General Grand Encampment of the United States to be held at Baltimore in September—Grand Conclave joining in the desire of the Grand Prior that the most fraternal relations may be fostered between the American and Canadian Templar bodies.

In conclusion your committee feel that Grand Conclave will receive with the highest respect and consideration the information so opportunely conveyed by the Grand Prior with respect to many dormant if not obsolete degrees sought to be revived in England, as well as others desired to be engrafted into our Temple system, and will be guided by his counsel, dictated alike by the wise principles of moderation and judgment.

All which is respectfully submitted.

SAMUEL B. HARMAN,
Past Grand Sub. Prior of England, and Chairman of Committee.

NEW ZEALAND.

Lodge of St. John, No. 1137.

The installation meeting of the above lodge was held on Saturday, the 1st July, at Timaru, Canterbury, New Zealand. There was a goodly muster of the brethren. The R.W. D.D.G.M., Bro. C. W. Bishop, presided, and was supported by Bro. J. F. Crawford, W.M., Bro. Powel, P.M., and the officers of the lodge. The minutes of the election meeting having been read and confirmed, Bro. John King, J.W., was duly installed W.M. for the ensuing year, and he appointed his officers as follows: Bros. G. H. Wildie, S.W.; W. H. Wilcox, J.W.; R. Scott, Treasurer (re-invested); W. M. Sims, Secretary (re-invested); J. H. Jenkins, S.D.; Thomas Patterson, J.D.; George Cliff, I.G.; C. Jacobs, D.C.; H. Exley, Tyler. The R.W. Bro. Bishop gave the appropriate addresses in a very efficient manner. The lodge was afterwards duly closed.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—In bilious disorders, sick headache, indigestion, and affections of the nerves these famous Pills, so highly appreciated in all quarters of the world, are regarded as a perfect remedy. They purify the blood, regulate the secretions, give tone to the stomach, restore the appetite, and renovate the whole system. After a course of these Pills, the once emaciated and feeble patient is so changed that his friends are both wonder-struck and delighted. These cheap preservatives of life and health are a blessing to mankind. It would be hardly possible to overstate the good that they have effected in diseases which through maltreatment or neglect, had gained such a mastery over the system, that their eradication seemed perfectly hopeless.—[Advt.]

SMALL-POX, FEVERS, AND SKIN DISEASES.—The predisposition to is prevented by Lamplough's Pyretic Saline. Vitalising and invigorating, its effects are remarkable in their cure and prevention. Take it as directed. Sold by chemists and the maker, H. Lamplough, 113, Holborn-hill.—[Advt.]

Poetry.

SONNET.

[From the American Freemason.]

THE TWENTY-FOUR INCH GAUGE.

The Gauge our operative brethren use
To measure and lay out their work; but we Who're known as Masons Accepted and Free,
This instrument for a nobler purpose choose.
We're taught to use it in our Art sublime,
To measure, lay out, and divide our time.
Its inches, ever numbering twenty-four,
Are emblems of the hours of the day,
Which we divide by three, whereby we may Find eight for God—His blessings to implore,
His holy name to reverence and adore—
And worthy brethren in distress; eight more
For usual labour we are taught to keep;
And eight for rest, refreshment, and for sleep.

EMMETT.

Florence, Laurens Co., Georgia.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending September 23, 1871.

The Editor will be glad to have notice from Secretaries of lodges and chapters of any change in place or time of meeting.

MONDAY, SEPT. 18.

Lodge 720, Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham.
" 901, City of London, Guildhall Coffee House.
Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern-Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Swan Tavern, Mount-street, Grosvenor-square, at 8.
Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30; Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. Dilley, Preceptor.
St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 19.

Board of General Purposes, at 3.
Lodge 73, Mount Lebanon, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark.
" 95, Eastern Star, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 435, Salisbury, 71, Dean-street, Soho.
" 704, Camden, York and Albany, Regent's-park.
" 857, St. Mark's, Duke of Edinburgh Tav., Brixton.
Chap. 19, Mount Sinai, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
" 186, Industry, Freemasons' Hall.
Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.

Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, Preceptor.
Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 20.

Lodge of Benevolence, Freemasons' Hall, at 6.
Lodge 700, Nelson, Masonic Hall, Woolwich.
" 1044, New Wandsworth, Spread Eagle Tav., New Wandsworth.
" 1320, Blackheath, Royal Standard, Blackheath.
Chap. 10, Westminster & Keystone, Freemasons' Hall.
Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7½.
Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Landus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 21.

House Committee Girls' School, at 4.
Lodge 1278, Burdett Coutts, Approach Tavern, Approach road, Victoria-park.
Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses, Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern, Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.

St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 22.

House Committee Boys' School.
Lodge 780, Royal Alfred, St. Andrew and Garter, Kew.
Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Htl., Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Muggerridge, Preceptor.
St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
Royal Standard Lodge of Instruction, Marquess Tavern, Canonbury; Bro. R. Lee, Preceptor.
Burdett Coutts Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West Smith, Preceptor.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 23.

Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. J. Comb, Preceptor.
Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 8; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
South-Eastern Masonic Charitable Association, New Cross Branch.

"MORE than a year ago one of my children was attacked with bronchitis, and, after a long illness, was given up by my physician as 'past cure.' I was then induced to try your Vegetable Pain Killer, and from the time I began the use of it the child rapidly got better, and is now strong and healthy.—JOHN WINSTANLEY, 10, Whittle-st., L'pool, Jan. 1869.—To P. D. & Son."

Every Person requiring an OUTFIT should send for

“THE OUTFITTER:”

PUBLISHED AND FORWARDED FREE BY

GANN, JONES & Co.,

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURING OUTFITTERS.

For Military Outfits, estimates, &c. ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Shirts of all descriptions ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Naval " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Hosiery and Underclothing ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Civil Service " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Rugs and Umbrellas ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for the Traveller ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Waterproof Clothing ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for the Emigrant ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Tropical " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for Lads going to School ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Canadian " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for Lads going to Sea ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Cricketing " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for an Apprentice ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Collars, Shirt-fronts, Wristbands... see THE OUTFITTER.
For the New Books of the Quarter ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Gann, Jones & Co.'s Sewing Machines see THE OUTFITTER.
For Routes to principal parts of the World ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For the New Machine, "The Lady" (£2 15s.) ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Distances, Passenger Rates, &c., to ditto... see THE OUTFITTER.		For the leading Machines of all Makers ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Cricketing and Athletic Reports for the Quarter, see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Leading Manufacturers ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Prices of Gentlemanly yet Economic Dress ... see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Enterprising Tradesmen ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Prices of the Very Best Shirts ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For the Addresses of Good Schools ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.

Depot, 171, FENCHURCH STREET. Manufactory, 15 and 16, BLOMFIELD STREET, E.C'

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGES
FREEMASONRY AND ISRAELITISM ... ..	595 & 596
LAUNCH OF THE "FREEMASON" LIFE-BOAT ...	596
LAYING THE FOUNDATION-STONE OF A TOWN
HALL FOR WIRKSWORTH ... ..	596 & 597
CONSECRATION OF THE DORIC CHAPTER, No. 933	597
THE MISSION OF FREEMASONRY ... ..	598
MULTUM IN PARVO ... ..	599
THE RITE OF MEMPHIS ... ..	599
LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE ... ..	600
POETRY—Sonnets ... ..	600
ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE—
The Rite of Misraim ... ..	600
The Transactions of 1717: Were they, or were they not, the "Revival" of Freemasonry? ... ..	600 & 601
"A Masonic Student" on the Master Degree and the Royal Arch ... ..	601
THE CRAFT—
Provincial ... ..	601
India ... ..	601
MARK MASONRY—
Provincial... ..	601
SCOTLAND ... ..	601 & 602
IRELAND ... ..	602
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ... ..	603
ADVERTISEMENTS ... ..	593, 594, 603, & 604

FREEMASONRY & ISRAELITISM.

BY BRO. WILLIAM CARPENTER, P.M. & P.Z. 177.

XVIII.

One is sometimes startled at seeing the very opposite qualities that are united in the same person or the same race. In the Saxon race, this is especially noticeable. You shall sometimes, and not unfrequently, find a noisy boasting bully sneak away, if but a comparative child bravely rebuke his brutality; and you shall find a hero of indomitable courage exhibiting the tenderness and sympathy of a woman. Who forgets Falstaff? Who remembers not Havelock? As Emerson says, "The English delight in the antagonism which combines in one person the extremes of courage and tenderness. Nelson, dying at Trafalgar, sends his love to Lord Collingwood, and, like an English school-boy that goes to bed, says, 'Kiss me, Hardy,' and turns to sleep. Lord Collingwood, his comrade, was of a nature the most affectionate and domestic. Admiral Rodney's figure approached to delicacy and effeminacy, and he declared himself very sensible to fear, which he surmounted only by considerations of honour and public duty. Clarendon says the Duke of Buckingham was so modest and gentle that some courtiers attempted to put affronts on him, until they found that this modesty and effeminacy was only a mask for the most terrible determination. And Sir James Parry said of Sir John Franklin, that if he found Wellington Sound open, he explored it; for he was a man who never turned his back on a danger; yet of that tenderness that he would not brush away a mosquito. Even for their highwaymen the same virtue is claimed, and Robin Hood comes to us described as the gentlest thief." A people who unite in themselves these qualities, are not formed to be conquered and subdued. They know, as the writer just quoted says, "where their war dogs lie. Cromwell, Blake, Marlborough, Chatham, Nelson, and Wellington are not to be trifled with, and the brutal strength which lies at the bottom of society, the animal ferocity of the quays and cockpits, the bullies of the costermongers of Shore-ditch, Seven Dials, and Spitalfields, they know how to wake up." Was anything like this predicted of Israel? Was Israel, after its dissolution as a kingdom, to become a powerful people, in the presence of all the nations, withstanding and overcoming all who should rise up against them, and compelling an acknowledgment of their superiority, while they evinced an all-embracing sympathy and benevolence? We have seen that it was thus predicted; and we have seen, in part, the fulfilment of those predictions, in tracing the progress of the Getæ, or Goths, from their settlements on the Euxine westward, their conquests in the Roman Empire, and their settlement in these islands. They were to be "terrible" in their anger, when attacked by others. They were to be exposed to great vicissitudes of success and loss, but they were not to be finally conquered. It was said to them, several years after they had been carried into captivity, "Fear them not, for I am with thee; be not dismayed, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness. Behold, all they that were incensed against thee shall be ashamed and confounded; they shall be as nothing; and they that strive with thee shall perish. . . . They that war with thee shall be as nothing, and as a thing of nought" (Isaiah xli. 10-12). I know that many revolt from the idea, that God, in his moral government of the world, uses peoples, as He does His angels, to execute His judgments, and to effect those changes in the condition of nations recorded on the pages of history, and which the devout student discovers to be indispensable to the fulfilment of His final purpose, which is the happiness of the creation. In fact, I think it is impossible to read history, with a mind open to conviction, and not to discover in it the hand of God. No doubt much will be inexplicable and irreconcilable with our imperfect ideas of His justice and mercy, but the historical facts remain, and if they are properly weighed, and their results carefully gathered up, and estimated in their relation to the world at large, there are few cases in which it will not be seen, that, however startling and distressing the occurrences in themselves may appear to have been, mankind has, upon the whole, been benefitted by them, in the foundation they have laid for an improved condition of things. It will be difficult for those who deny the moral government of the world to account for this fact, while those who admit the moral government of the world, find no small consolation in wading through the darker pages of history. Well, then, Israel was to be not only invincible, putting to shame all who might contend with her; she was to subdue peoples, and to bring them into subjection to her. "Behold I will make thee a new sharp threshing instrument; a new corn-drag armed with pointed teeth: thou shalt thresh the mountains, and beat them small, and shalt reduce the hills to chaff: thou shalt winnow them, and the wind shall bear them away; and the whirlwind shall scatter them: but thou shalt rejoice in the Lord; in the Holy One of Israel shalt thou triumph" (Isaiah xli. 15, 16). From the beginning it was foretold that they were to possess the gate of their enemies; and subsequently it was said that nations should bow down to them (Genesis xxii. 17, xxiv. 60, xxvii. 29). And then, and long after, even while they were in captivity, it was declared that they should "trample on princes like the mortar, even as the potter treadeth out the clay" (Isaiah xli. 25); and still more emphatically, and with more particularity, Jeremiah says, "Thou art my battle-axe and weapons of war: for with thee will I break in pieces the nations; and with thee I will overthrow kingdoms; and with thee will I break in pieces the horse and his rider; and with thee will I break in pieces the chariot and its rider; with thee also will I break in pieces man and woman; and with thee will I break in pieces old and young; and with thee will I break in pieces the young man and the maiden; I will also break in pieces the shepherd and his flock; and with thee will I break in pieces the husbandman and his yoke of oxen; and with thee will I break in pieces captains and rulers" (chap. li. 20-23).

 Let any one read "The Rise and Fall of the Roman Empire," "The great European Battles," and the "History of India," and see in them how far these prophecies and promises have been accomplished in the Saxon race. And let him also look at the progress and issue of the late terrible war between the Germans and the French, and therein see how, "Through Thee, they shall thrust down their enemies, and in Thy name trample on those who rise up against them." These are the same people, descendants of the old Getæ (Israel), against whom the Romans so long fought in vain, and who, after a war of centuries, was broken to pieces by them. In the old empire, the rumour ran, that there was never any that meddled with them that repented it not. The Roman legions, during the last century of the commonwealth, and in the first of the empire, assailed and subdued Gaul, Britain, Rhætia, Vindelicia, and Pannonia. One nation alone of all the European nations that Rome attacked, maintained her independence. These Goths, or Germans, as they came to be called, conquered and dismembered Rome's Western Empire; but it was still more to their glory that they resolutely withstood her, when in the very zenith of her power; when there went forth a decree from Cæsar Augustus that "all the world should be taxed;" and when the earth seemed almost void of independent nations. The Germans extorted the respect as well as the fear of Rome, by their indomitable valour in maintaining their independence, not less than by their domestic virtues, and the free, but orderly, spirit of their internal governments. For ages, the power of this race was dreaded; nations bowed down to them, and kings submitted to them. Long after their conquests in the Empire, the fleets of Norway and Denmark grievously vexed all Western Christendom; and after Charlemagne's death, a large province in the north of France was ceded to them, and they became the civilised and Christianized chivalry of Normandy. This is the people that was carried captive by the Assyrians into those regions in the north of Europe where we first found them, and whence we have traced them coming westward, by the marks they left in their progress, and which exist at this day. They have subdued many nations, but they are not to be subdued. Nations may make war upon them, but they are not to fall. The Lord their Redeemer says, "Whosoever shall gather together against thee shall fall, for thy sake; no weapon that is formed against thee shall prosper." "All they that devour thee shall be devoured; and all thine adversaries, every one of them, shall go into captivity; and they that spoil thee shall be a spoil; and all they that prey upon thee shall be a prey" (Jere. xxx. 16.) These prophetic promises, be it remembered, have reference to Israel, and not to Judah; and they have been to a considerable extent fulfilled in the history of the Saxon race. The Norman conquest of England presents no difficulty, for the Normans were of the same Saxon race.
 But England, to maintain her high position, must be mistress of the seas. Situated in the midst of nations, some of whom envy her power and regard her greatness and wealth with jealousy, she has sedulously to guard her shores, and while ever putting forth efforts to promote and maintain peace among other nations, she has to be on the alert, lest she herself should be taken at a disadvantage. It is a remarkable fact, in relation to the theory I am maintaining, that Israel, to the exclusion of Judah and Benjamin, the two tribes who united when the revolt took place, was educated in maritime affairs. The inheritances of Dan and Ashur lay along the shores of the Mediterranean, and it was, no doubt, with the seamen here trained that Hiram's servants, "who had knowledge of the sea," sailed, when Solomon's ships made a voyage to Ophir, and fetched gold (1 Kings ix. 28.) That Israel, after her captivity, was to become a maritime people is obviously implied in those prophecies and promises which give her possession of the islands of the seas, and colonies and settlements in both hemispheres. Those colonies and settlements could not have been acquired by any but a maritime people. "The abundance of the sea" (Isa. lx. 5) could not have been given to any other people. It has been given to the Anglo-Saxons; and the world concedes to them pre-eminence of the seas. It is said that Charlemagne, one day, looking out of a window in a town of Narbonne Gaul, saw a fleet of Northmen cruising in the Mediterranean, and then entering the port of the town, creating great alarm. As they went out to sea again, the Emperor gazed after them, his eyes bathed in tears, "I am tormented with sorrow," he said, "when I foresee the evils they will bring on my posterity." His forebodings were not without good reason. The Anglo-Saxons took after their kindred Norsemen. "As soon as this land got a hardy people into it," says Emerson, "they could not help becoming the sailors and factors of the globe. From childhood, they dabbled in water; they swam like fishes; their playthings were boats. In the case of the ship money, the judges delivered it for law, that England being an island, the very midland shires therein are all to be accounted maritime; and Fuller adds, 'The genius even of land-locked counties driving the natives with maritime dexterity.'" As early as the Conquest, it is remarked, in explanation of the wealth of England, that "its merchants traded to all countries."

LAUNCH OF THE "FREEMASON" LIFE-BOAT.

A movement to establish a Freemasons' life-boat has just been brought to a successful termination. This movement was inaugurated by a few brethren of the Lodge of Faith, No. 141, whose very names (except in their own lodge) were unknown to the Craft. They resolved that the Masonic Fraternity should be represented at one of the noblest institutions of which this country can boast, whose mission is identical with the principles of Freemasonry, by providing for the alleviation of human suffering, without distinction of country, colour, or creed. The best intentions, and frequently the most disinterested actions, are liable to be misinterpreted. Hence, although the good work made steady progress, yet it was not at first entirely without opposition; but the brethren who formed the committee were happily endowed with characters of a nature to which opposition served as a stimulant. They continued to work, one and all, shoulder to shoulder, pushing onwards gradually, but surely, and soon the name of Bro. J. R. Stebbing figured on the list of committee. This in itself was a sufficient guarantee that earnest and straightforward work was meant. Other names of brethren eminent in the Craft followed, and success was certain. Many were the prognostications that their efforts to gather sufficient money among the Freemasons of England to purchase a life-boat would be futile; but these prophecies proved to be false prophecies, and their prophecies delusive, for on Tuesday, the 12th of September, 1871, the first life-boat obtained by means of funds collected for that purpose amongst the Freemasons of England was launched at the works of Messrs. Forest (Boat Builders to the National Life-boat Institution), at the Regent Canal Basin, Limehouse. The ceremony was certainly not imposing, but decidedly interesting.

According to appointment, about twenty members of committee and a number of visiting brethren met at the above-named works. The boat (a first-class one, thirty feet long, seven and a half feet wide, and rows ten oars double banked) was placed on a new transporting and launching carriage near the basin, its name, the "Freemason," appearing upon it in letters of gold, flanked at each end with the emblems of the Craft. All preliminaries being completed, the R.W. Bro. J. R. Stebbing, P.G.D. of England and Prov. D.G.M. Hampshire, took his stand near the head of the boat, the brethren and a few ladies ranging themselves around him. Bro. the Rev. D. Shaboe, P.M., P.Z., and P.G.C. Middlesex, offered a short Masonic prayer, commending its future career to God's protection. Bro. Stebbing then approached the boat, and breaking a bottle of champagne (kindly provided by Bro. Mortlock) over the bow, exclaimed, "God speed the Freemason life-boat." At this moment, amid the enthusiastic hurrahs of the spectators, the vessel, like a "thing of life," darted down the slanting platform into the water with astounding rapidity, and bounded once or twice, as if rejoiced at being on a congenial element, but almost instantly steadied itself, and swam gracefully the length of the cable to which it was attached. Subsequently the usual tests were applied. By means of a crane, it was turned keel upwards, and then righted, by which a quantity of water was shipped, which was self ejected in less than twenty seconds. At this stage some thirty men stepped into the boat, who contrived to sink her within two feet of the rowlocks, and she was then allowed to raise herself, which she accomplished in about the same period of time. All its qualities were fully and satisfactorily tested, and explained by a gentleman who was understood to be Captain Robertson, R.N. The whole of the proceedings were highly gratifying to the vast number of spectators who had assembled to witness the trial.

The following are the names of the brethren who were present: R.W. Bro. J. R. Stebbing, the Rev. D. Shaboe, A. E. Harris, P.M. 141, President of the Committee; S. Davis, 141, the promoter and Treasurer; E. Gottheil, P.M. 141, the Hon. Sec.; T. Kennett, 141; Dairy, 141; Berg, 141; Gluckstein, P.M. 51, 141, P.P.G.S.W. Essex; Mortlock, P.M. 186; Magnus Ohren, P.M. 452; William Mann, P.M. 186, 1306, and P.Z. 186; John Boyd, P.M. 145, 534, P.Z. 145, 534; Charles Lacy, P.M. 174; D. Beck, S.W. 1306; Emmett, 186; H. M. Levy, P.M. 188; M. Davis, P.M. 188; Swallow, 382; J. Frankford, 188; Davy Davis, 141; Maurice Davis, 141; Philip Davis, 141; Major Finney, W.M. 1361; Henley, 186; Dr. Corner, 95; and J. Davis, 188.

A private omnibus being in attendance, twenty-four of the above-named brethren adjourned to Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., to partake of a dinner a la Russe, provided (at their own personal expense) by Bro. Gosden, which was served in a manner highly creditable to the establishment, and elicited a unanimous vote of thanks to the worthy host.

Bro. A. E. Harris presided, and the vice-chair was graced by Bro. John Boyd. The toasts were given in the following order:—

By the Chairman: "The Queen, as Patroness of the National Life-boat Institution, and the Craft;" "The Most Noble the Marquis of Ripon, M.W.G.M.;" "The Earl of Carnarvon, D.G.M., the Earl of Zetland and H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, P.G. Masters, and the rest of the Grand Officers."

Bro. John Boyd, A.G.P., responded for the G. Officers.

The toast of the evening, "Success to the Freemason Life-boat," was responded to by Bro. Stebbing, who discoursed most eloquently upon a subject so congenial to his feelings, to which his auditors listened with undivided attention, and on resuming his seat he was greeted with hearty and unanimous applause.

"The Visitors," to which Major Finney replied.

"The Committee," coupled with the names of Bros. Mann and Mortlock; "The original founders and promoter," was proposed by Bro. Dr. Corner in brief but suitable terms, and responded to by Bros. Harris, Davis, and Gottheil.

Various other toasts were given and responded to. These were interspersed with songs, by Bros. J. Davis, Mortlock, Henley, Emmett, H. M. Levy, and M. Ohren.

Thus terminated a day's rejoicing, for every brother must have felt a pleasant consciousness of duty done without hope of reward, and a gratifying sensation that the work thus completed may be the means of rescuing precious lives from the most terrible of deaths, and perhaps of some who belong to the "household of the faithful." The best thanks of the Committee are eminently due to Bro. Mortlock, who most kindly undertook the management of the whole proceedings, and succeeded most admirably (assuredly not without expense to himself), proving himself to be the right man in the right place.

This report ought not to be closed without an expression of sincere thanks to R. Lewis, Esq., Secretary to the National Life-boat Institution, for his amiability and courtesy to the brethren who negotiated with him for the purchase of the boat.

During the evening letters, regretting absence, were read from W. Bro. John Hervey, G.S.; Bros. R. W. Little, John Coutts, John Coombe, Hayle (Cornwall), and Dr. Johnson (Liverpool). The last-named brethren having taken a most active part in the collection of the fund, the mention of their names was a signal for loud and prolonged cheering.

LAYING THE FOUNDATION STONE OF A TOWN HALL FOR WIRKSWORTH.

The ceremony of laying the foundation stone of a new town-hall for Wirksworth was gone through with Masonic honours on Thursday week, by Bro. Captain A. P. Arkwright, R.N., M.P., and his brother members of the "Derwent" Lodge of Freemasons, Wirksworth, No. 884. At an early hour in the morning the town was all astir, and flags and banners were streaming from many of the shop windows, as well as from the scaffolding of the town-hall building. The time fixed for the forming of the procession was 12.30, but long before that time a large concourse of people had assembled from the surrounding districts, which, coupled with the frequent strains of music, and the appearance of the Wirksworth Volunteers in their new uniform, gave the quiet little town a very gay appearance. At 12.30 the procession formed in the usual order and proceeded to church.

On arriving at the church gates, the procession was met by the church choir, who sang "Onward, Christian Soldiers," on their way to the church. The prayers were read by the Rev. Bro. J. R. Porter, vicar of Kniveton, and a most eloquent sermon was preached by the Rev. Bro. A. A. Bagshawe, P.G.C., vicar of Wormhill, Rural Dean. After the service, a collection was made on behalf of the "Royal Masonic School for Boys," when upwards of £10 was taken.

On leaving the church, the procession reformed, and headed by the choir singing a hymn, proceeding to the Market-place for the purpose of laying the stone. On arriving at the town-hall building, the brethren were placed in their respective positions, and the Rev. Bro. J. R. Porter offered up prayer.

On the conclusion of prayer, the choir sang "Jesus shall reign where'er the sun," in which the greater portion of the vast crowd assembled joined.

The Worshipful Master (Dr. Webb) then gave the following address:—Ladies and Gentlemen, my brother Freemasons,—It affords me very great pleasure to come forward on this interesting and important occasion, in obedience to the wishes of the Derwent Lodge, to present, in behalf of the brethren, this trowel to our honourable member and brother, Captain Arkwright, in order that he may lay the chief corner-stone of this town-hall for Wirksworth. I say pleasure, because I believe this building, when completed and made serviceable for all classes, must benefit this good old town. I hope, in common, no doubt, with nine-tenths of my fellow-townsmen, that it will add to its commercial prosperity, and promote the comfort, convenience, and happiness of every person living in this neighbourhood. I have pleasure also, because it gives you an opportunity of seeing a Masonic ceremony and it enables me to say that although, Freemasons have secrets peculiar to themselves, there is nothing in those secrets at all subversive of the peace and good order of society. Freemasonry I regard as a grand Catholic benevolent society, whose object it is to diffuse "brotherly love, relief, and truth" throughout the world. It constantly inculcates its members to practise benevolence and charity—that charity which "suffereth long and is kind," "which thinketh no evil," that charity which not only giveth a cup of cold water, but which has always an inexhaustible spring from which supplies can constantly be drawn, hidden in the innermost recesses of the heart. At one time we Wirksworth people contemplated having a much grander and far more imposing ceremony than the present one. We were, indeed, ambitious enough to wish this stone laid by the Grand Lodge of Freemasons of Derbyshire, but insuperable obstacles presented themselves against the accomplishment of our wishes. The noble Marquis, who, as you know, is at the head of the Craft in this province, could not be here to-day by reason of his pressing engagements as a member of the Government, and from a communication made to myself by the Secretary of the Grand Lodge, Mr. Okeover's presence seemed exceedingly doubtful; therefore, in the face of these obstacles, having determined to lay the stone in Masonic form, I think we are peculiarly fortunate in having secured, in the person of our honourable member, so good, so kind, so estimable, and so benevolent a brother to lay the stone in connection with the Derwent Lodge, to which he belongs; and apart from the many excellencies of his own character, upon which in this neighbourhood and in his presence it would not become me to dwell, I know no person upon whom this duty could more fitly devolve, or by whom it could more worthily be discharged than by one who, himself a member of the Legislature, is also a descendant of that great man through whose genius and inventive skill the wealth and importance of this nation were so greatly increased; and through whose ingenuity hundreds, thousand, aye, tens and hundreds of thousands of our fellow-creatures were the better enabled in all time to earn their daily bread. I have, therefore, great pleasure in presenting this trowel to Captain Arkwright, and I hope it will always be to him a pleasing memento of this day's Masonic work. (Great cheering.)

The architect, Mr. Bradley, then handed to Bro. Arkwright the plans and mallet, after which Bro. Strutt, the treasurer, deposited the box containing newspapers and coins in the cavity of the lower stone. Bro. Arkwright then stepped forward and spread the cement with the silver trowel, and requested the stone to be lowered. The stone having been placed in position, accordingly to Masonic custom,

Bro. Captain Arkwright, M.P., then said: The Craftsmen having done their part it only remains for me to complete the work, and striking the stone three times with the mallet, said "I declare this stone to be well and truly laid." (Tremendous cheering.) Silence being restored, the honourable member spoke as follows: Ladies and Gentlemen, my brethren: We have assembled in this good old town of Wirksworth to-day for a very important purpose, and I am obliged to my brethren of the Derwent Lodge for the part they have permitted me to take in this day's work. I have known Wirksworth all my life and am interested in its welfare and prosperity; and if the work in which we have this day been engaged will in any way benefit the town, promote concord and union amongst its people, diffuse happiness and increase its trade, then it will have been the work of true Freemasonry. (Cheers). Brethren, let all our dealings with each other and with the rest of the world be always on the square. I thank you all for kindly attending here to-day. It is a proof to me that you are all interested in the advancement of brotherly love, relief, and truth. (Tremendous cheering.)

The process of anointing the stone with corn, oil, and wine, having been gone through by the Worshipful Master, a prayer was offered up by the Chaplain, and the square, level, plumb, rule, and plans, were handed by Bro. Arkwright to the builder, Mr. Edwin Tomlinson, of Derby, for his guidance.

An oration was then delivered by the Provincial Grand Chaplain, Bro. A. A. Bagshawe, and the Old Hundredth having been sung, and blessing given by the Rev. Bro. J. R. Porter, the Freemasons retired to close their lodge.

At three o'clock, a public banquet was held in a tent erected for the occasion, on the site of the new building, where Mr. C. Low, of Derby, served up a most excellent spread, which appeared to give general satisfaction. The chair was occupied by Dr. Webb, and the vice-chair by J. F. Kingdon, Esq. On the cloth being removed, the usual toasts were duly honoured.

The following brethren were present during the proceedings:—W. Webb, J. Hindle, C. Parkin, B. Street, C. B. Dunn, W. Milligan, G. Harvey, E. Birch, W. S. Lugg, J. Kinder, C. Wright, F. Barton, A. P. Arkwright, J. P. Bradley, N. Wheatcroft, A. O. Brookes, A. Macbeth, J. Pickard, C. B. Dunn, W. Milligan, G. Harvey, W. Shaw, J. V. Bettle, C. B. Marshall, W. Lennox, J. Stone, W. L. Hall, G. Smith, A. Roome, J. F. Kingdon, Derwent Lodge, No. 884, Wirksworth; F. Campion, Lodge of Repose, No. 802, Derby; A. A. Bagshawe, Rural Dean of Buxton, and P.G.C. of Derbyshire, R. Duke, E. Milligan, Phoenix Lodge of St. Anne, Boxton, No. 1235; W. Dawson, St. John's Lodge, Bolton, No. 221; J. H. Casson, H. Cupit, S. Rowbotham, Royal Alfred Lodge, Alfreton, No. 1028; J. R. Porter, Tuscan Lodge, London, No. 14; J. Clotine, Minerva Lodge, No. 300, Ashton, T. Hall, A. Wallis, T. Gentles, W. Slinn, Tyrian Lodge, No. 253, Derby; J. Bibby, Alexandra Lodge, Sevenshulme, No. 993; W. Green, W. Edmunds, Scarsdale Lodge, No. 687, Chesterfield; W. R. Holland, F. Brittain, J. Witham, W. A. Cox, St. Oswald Lodge, No. 850, Ashbourne; Cannon, H. Barker, Rutland Lodge, Ilkeston, No. 1179; E. Cunningham, Thistle Lodge, No. 275, Scotland; Fitzherbert Wright, J. Bowmer, W. H. Fisher, M. Hooper, Okeover Lodge, No. 1324, Ripley; W. Kirkland, Tyrian Lodge, Eastbourne, No. 1110; B. Wilson, W. H. Burton, F. H. Plock, Arboretum Lodge, No. 731, Derby; W. Guton, Lodge of Unanimity, No. 287, Stockport; J. F. Hurt, Lennox Lodge, Richmond, Yorkshire, No. 123; B. Cooper, R. D. Cooke, W. M. Ingle, J. Pym, J. Moore, W. Perkins, F. Johnstone, J. Simpkins, W. Adsetts, G. Bollington, S. Stone, J. Pegg, W. Loverock, G. Small, J. Stanhope, Beaureper Lodge, No. 787, Belper; R. M. D. Smith, Lodge of Friendship, No. 44, Manchester.

CONSECRATION OF THE DORIC CHAPTER, No. 933.

Another chapter was added to the rapidly-increasing roll of metropolitan chapters, on Tuesday, the 19th inst., when the "Doric" was ushered into existence through the kindly medium of the Grand Scribe E., Comp. John Hervey. The consecration took place at Anderson's Hotel, Fleet-street, and the proceedings commenced about half-past five o'clock, when Comp. Hervey, as M.E.Z., opened the chapter, having Comp. J. W. Halsey, P.Z., on his right as H., and supported on the other side by Comp. James Brett, P.Z., D.G.C., as J. The companions were then admitted—a procession having been formed by Comp. R. Wentworth Little, P.Z., who officiated as Director of Ceremonies.

The Acting G.S.E. read the petition and charter, and the M.E.Z. inquired of the companions if they approved of the officers named in the charter. The companions having signified their approval in Masonic form, the M.E.Z. proceeded to constitute the companions into a regular chapter in ancient form, and called upon Comp. Brett to deliver the oration, which he rendered in a faultless manner. An anthem (133rd Psalm) was then sung by the choir, consisting of Comps. G. T. Carter, P.M. 382, T. Distin, and W. Dawson. The first portion of the dedication prayer was repeated, and the M.E.Z. gave the invocation, after which the Scripture portions were read. The chapter pedestal was then uncovered, and the J. and D.C. carried the elements three times round the chapter, &c. The J. took the censer three times round the chapter, solemn music being played during his progress. The second portion of the dedication prayer followed, and the M.E.Z. then dedicated and constituted the chapter. The fine anthem, "I have surely built Thee an house," was splendidly sung by the choir. The patriarchal benediction by Comp. Brett closed the proceedings of the consecration.

A conclave of Installed Principals was then formed, when Comp. J. G. Stevens was successively installed into the third and second chairs, in a very able manner, by Comp. Brett. The First Principal-designate, Comp. T. J. Barnes, H. 554, was then presented by the D.C. for installation, and the ceremony of installing him devolved upon Comp. Hervey, by whom it was rendered in a most impressive manner. Comp. George Snow, the J., being already a P.Z., took his seat as Third Principal. Upon the readmission of the companions, a ballot was taken for Scribe E., when Comp. J. Griffin was unanimously elected to that post. It was then proposed, seconded, and unanimously resolved, that the thanks of the chapter be recorded on the minutes, and presented to Comps. Hervey, Brett, and Little, and that they be elected honorary members, in recognition of their services at the consecration and installation ceremonies. Each of the companions expressed his high appreciation of the compliment, and wished the chapter every prosperity. Several propositions for exaltation were then made, and the chapter was closed.

A cold collation, to which about five-and-twenty sat down, was served, and gave general satisfaction. After the cloth was cleared, the M.E.Z. proposed "The First Grand Principal, the Marquis of Ripon, K.G.," and "The Second and Third Grand Principals, Lords Carnarvon and De Tabley, and the rest of the Grand Officers." Comp. Brett, G.D.C., returned thanks in a very fluent manner, and with evident heartiness. The M.E.Z. then gave "The Health of the Consecrating Officer, Comp. John Hervey, G.S.E."—(great applause)—and eulogised highly those qualities which the worthy companion is so widely known to possess. The Grand Scribe E., in responding, said he looked forward to a bright future for the Doric Chapter, and then called upon the companions to drink success to it, coupled with "The Health of the M.E.Z., Comp. Barnes," who was assuredly the right man in the right place. After an excellent speech, in reply, from the M.E.Z., "The Health of the Visitors," coupled with the name of Bro. Binckes, P.Z., and "Success to the Charities," was proposed, and elicited a telling response from the Secretary of the Boys' School. Several other toasts followed, and the companions then separated. The musical arrangements were most effective, and several duets and songs were sung by Comps. Carter, Distin, and Davison. Comp. Stevens, H., also delivered a capital recitation.

THE MARQUIS OF RIPON is expected to arrive at Studley Royal at the end of the month from his shooting-box in Scotland.

BOOTS of the Period at BLAKEY'S, Lime-street, Liverpool (under the Alexandra Theatre).—[Advtd.]

TO ADVERTISERS.

THE Circulation of THE FREEMASON being now at the rate of nearly Half-a-million per annum, it offers peculiar facilities to all who advertise.

It is well known that the Fraternity of Freemasons is a large and constantly increasing body, mainly composed of the influential and educated classes of society; and as

The Freemason

is now the accepted organ of the Brotherhood in the United Kingdom, and also enjoys an extensive sale in the colonies and foreign parts, its advantages as an advertising medium can scarcely be overrated.

For terms apply to

GEORGE KENNING,
198, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.

NOTICE.

The Subscription to THE FREEMASON is now 10s. per annum, post-free, payable in advance.

Vol. I., bound in cloth	...	...	4s. 6d.
Vol. II., ditto	...	...	7s. 6d.
Vol. III., ditto	...	...	15s. od.
Reading Cases to hold 52 numbers...	...	...	2s. 6d.

United States of America.

THE FREEMASON is delivered free in any part of the United States for 12s. per annum, payable in advance.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferred to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

All communications for THE FREEMASON should be written legibly on one side of the paper only, and, if intended for insertion in the current number, must be received not later than 10 o'clock a.m. on Thursdays, unless in very special cases. The name and address of every writer must be sent to us in confidence.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price of THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the Editor 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him but cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

THE MISSION OF FREEMASONRY.

IN a utilitarian age, like the present, no institution, however venerable—no system, however deeply rooted or widely extended—can long hope to escape that crucial test of criticism which is expressed in the somewhat cynical words, "cui bono?" To fancy that Freemasonry is an exception to this wholesome rule, is simply to deceive ourselves; on the contrary, it is precisely from a fraternity like ours that the world expects most, and, mainly, because the influence of Masonic teachings is supposed to be as powerful as it is pure. It is, of course, well known that the Craft comprises within its fold a vast number of adherents in every civilised country and clime, and it is likewise believed that all are actuated by the same principles and inspired by the same fraternal sentiments. But, as we have had occasion to point out before, the Masonic code is variously interpreted in various places. In France, the teachings of Freemasonry have been warped into identity with the doctrines of 1789, and the mottoes of a revolutionary horde have been pressed into the service of a peaceful association. Hence the delusions which at times betray our French brethren into acts which are high treason against the Brotherhood. In Germany, the Institution has kept aloof from politics, but the consideration of subjects which affect the general wellbeing of the community is not prohibited in the lodges. A large proportion of the German Masons are men of education and experience, and probably no other nation in the world has produced so many elaborate and philosophical treatises on the origin, progress, and objects of the Craft. Admission into the Masonic Order is not very easily obtained in Germany, and a long probation—generally a year or more—must be submitted to before an Apprentice can be advanced to the next degree, or a Craftsman to that of Master. The high grades are not in much favour among our Teutonic cousins, although many of the Templar leaders, such as Baron Hunde, during the last century were natives of Germany. The ceremonial duties of Freemasonry are conducted with great solemnity in most of the German lodges, and the Fraternity is respected by men of all ranks. But it is only in England that we find powerful organizations at work to give practical effect to the benevolent principles inculcated by the teachings of the Craft. Beyond doubt, much private assistance is rendered by our brethren abroad to necessitous cases, but there are no institutions corresponding with our Masonic Schools, our Asylum, or our Annuity Fund. And, in this respect, we hold that the mission of Freemasonry is not fully fulfilled by Continental Masons. In the present age, we want something more than the ideal link of brotherhood, and our union should be cemented by deeds and not by words. Our acts ought also to be on a scale commensurate with the dignity and importance of the Order—not desultory acts of generosity, but regulated by a high sense of justice, and a desire to confer permanent benefit.

English Masons are sometimes reproached for their love of conviviality, and the pleasures of the table, but, happily, this does not prevent them from supporting—and nobly supporting—institutions for the education of the young, and the shelter of the old. There is no reason why the Masonic body in Germany, France, Spain, or Italy should not dedicate a portion of their funds to the accomplishment of similar results. They are rich enough, and numerous enough, to ensure success, if they will but undertake the duty. Even our brethren in the United States, energetic and enthusiastic as they are, have been somewhat behindhand in this matter. The Grand Lodge of New York, we believe, is now collecting funds for the payment of annuities to aged Masons in distress, and no doubt the excellent example will be followed by the other State Grand Lodges. If such a course were generally adopted, we should hear less about the alleged inconsistency between Masonic precept and Masonic practice—good works flowing naturally from the faith that is in us. We are far from urging that Freemasonry should be suffered to degenerate into a mere benefit society; neither do we think that there is any parallelism between the case of a zealous Mason, who, after long years of good service, is provided for by his brethren, and the case of a member of a friendly society, who can claim so much because he has contributed to the society's funds, although he may never have advanced its interests, or worked for it, as very many Masons work for the Craft. We do hold, however, that no deserving Mason should be abandoned to the rigors of poverty and adversity in his old age; we do hold that it is the duty of the Brotherhood to succour him in his hour of distress, literally and substantially. If our French friends spent less money upon banners and sashes, and some of our brethren in England curtailed their post prandial enjoyments, what a fund might be raised for the widow and the orphan, and those ancient members of the household who have no place to lay their heads. It is a subject which deserves not only consideration, but instant action, and we hope our Continental brethren will take the hint and inaugurate the movement in their lodges. Schools for youth, retreats for old age—such should be the programme of the Fraternity, wheresoever dispersed. This would at once place Freemasonry at the head of all the philanthropic systems in the world—it would be an all-sufficient answer to inquiring minds which might seek to probe the mysteries of Masonic science, and we need hardly add that it would prove a stimulus to many earnest Masonic workers to continue their exertions for the permanent progress and prosperity of the Order.

We do not question the fact that Freemasonry is even now superior to any other organization in the beneficence of its members, and the brotherly feeling which, with but rare exceptions, prevails amongst its followers. But its mission will never be satisfactorily achieved until every land can boast of possessing Masonic institutions akin to those supported by the English Craft.

NEW LODGE IN DUBLIN.—Masonic Lodge No. 227 was constituted on Monday, the 11th inst., by R.W. Bro. the Rev. Simpson G. Morrison, P.G.C., when the following officers (to whom the warrant was granted) were installed with due ceremony: Bros. William Doolin, P.M. 494, W.M.; Thomas Callinan, S.W.; and Thomas Fitzgerald, J.W. Bros. Morrison (Dublin), Yarker (Manchester), and Ashworth (Rochdale) were proposed for honorary membership, and twenty-one other brethren for affiliation as subscribing members. The lodge being duly closed, the brethren present, to the number of thirty, proceeded to the Royal Arcade Hotel, where an excellent banquet was provided for them by Bro. Auguste Mouillot, W.M. 120. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and very heartily responded to, and the brethren separated at an early hour, wishing every success to the new lodge. A large number of P.M.'s and other officers of lodges assisted at the ceremony of constitution.

Multum in Parvo, or Masonic Notes and Queries.

THE NEW IRISH CONSTITUTIONS.

The interesting observations by an "Irish H.K.T." on the above subject will, we hope, receive due consideration by the members of the Grand Lodge of Ireland. The article is evidently written by a brother thoroughly acquainted with the wants of the Craft in our sister Grand Lodge, and we thank him for his most fraternal review of our suggestions respecting the forthcoming edition of the "Ahiman Rezon." We know of few better opportunities to obtain the general views of the Fraternity on such an important question compared with the advantages the columns of THE FREEMASON offer, and we hope other brethren will avail themselves of the present advantage of ventilating their opinions before the proposed alterations became law.

To prevent any misunderstanding, we beg to state most positively, we do not believe in sectarian prayers in Craft lodges. We simply drew attention to such being permitted under the Grand Lodge of Ireland, but certainly it is a great error to allow such a violation of our universality to be perpetrated.

On this subject we enclose an extract from the address of Bro. Edward White, which we commend to the serious perusal of all who differ from us in advocating that one of the leading ideas of Masonry is "unlimited tolerance in religious matters," compatible with Theism.

W. J. HUGHAN

"But if we should undertake to teach any particular religious creed our ancient landmarks would be swept away and one of the very best features of masonry, to-wit, its universality, would be irrecoverably lost. It is the brightest jewel in the crown of masonry, that its moral creed is such that it receives the approval of the good and virtuous of every land, and that its sublime principles find as ready recognition under the crescent as under the cross. The God of the Christian, the Allah of the Mussulman, and the great spirit of the untutored Indian is, after all, the same Supreme Architect of the Universe, whom, as masons, we all adore. The same solemn obligation rests on us and on them; the same great principles actuate both; the same sublime purpose is followed by both with equal zeal and sincerity; and the very blood that flows in their veins is derived from the same Almighty Parent that has furnished ours; and shall we, because our religious belief happens to be different, refuse to take by the hand as brethren those in every respect as worthy as ourselves? If I chance to travel in a Mahomedan country, and am beset by ruffians, and wounded and robbed, shall I refuse to receive the assistance of the Masonic brother who hastens to my relief simply because his faith differs from mine? If I sink, fainting in the burning desert, shall I dash the cup from the hand of him who seeks to minister to my wants, simply because he hopes to attain salvation through the intercession of his prophet, and I through that of my Saviour? Or if I chance to meet with a man loyal in his friendship, sterling in his integrity, exemplary in his habits, and irreproachable in all the relations of life, shall I refuse to form a connection with that man for business or otherwise because we cannot agree on questions of doctrine? If such a principle were adopted, our society would be no longer Masonry, but Christianity; our lodges would resolve themselves into churches; and then, instead of orderly and harmonious meetings, would begin angry discussions of nice doctrinal questions; all manner of schisms and heresies would spring up, and our nice proud organization would sink into drivelling insignificance. But why expect of us the recognition of any particular system of religion? Is it expected that our banking institutions, our insurance companies, and our railroad corporations should have a recognition of Christianity embodied in their charters? Then why of us?

"Our plans and purposes are as distinct from those of the church as are the plans and purposes of the business organizations just alluded to. Ours is a code of morals, not religion; except so far as natural religion is necessary as the foundation of morals. We seek to soften the rigors of life, but not to transport the soul to the hereafter. Through the thorny paths and gloomy ways of life, Masonry walks with man, sympathizing with his misfortunes, and soothing his sorrows; but when he stands on the dark shores of that sea which separates time from eternity, her task is done, and then on the church, the spiritual guide of the soul, devolves the last duty of committing it to that 'Divine ark which will safely waft it over the tempestuous sea of troubles, and that anchor which will safely moor it in a peaceful harbour where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary shall find rest.'

"But while Masonry, as an organization, attaches itself to no system of religion, it interferes with no man in the worship of God according to the dictates of his own conscience. Individually we are Christians, Mahomedans, Jews or Eclectics. As Masons, we know nothing save the great reciprocal duties to the performance of which we have so solemnly pledged ourselves."

THE ROYAL ORDER OF SCOTLAND AND ITS ANTIQUITY.

The communication of "An Edinburgh Member of the Royal Order of Scotland," at page 585, contains a mistake even in the second line. There is no "letter" by "X. Y. Z." at page 473. Then, to find fault with me for writing anonymously whilst he is also doing the same, is simply ridiculous. However, these and other childish remarks appear to me to be simply done for a purpose—partly to throw dust in the eyes of the readers of THE FREEMASON, if it can possibly be done, under cover of which an E.M. of the R.O. in Scotland may hide his retreat. Instead of any "proofs satisfactory," we have about two columns taken up with statements and threats most unsatisfactory! And because "X. Y. Z." refuses to swallow all the "buncombe" related about the Royal Order, and related, too, without the slightest shadow of any substantial proof to support it, he is told he may be "prosecuted for libel." Could anything be more silly? "An Edinburgh Member of the Royal Order of Scotland" may light his pipe with his libel, and then ponder over the "awkward position" in which he has put himself. And, certainly, his remarks do anything, in my opinion, but add more credit to his Order. As to the members of the Royal Order believing in its pretensions, they may very possibly do so, at least generally; but if they do so on an imaginary, or false foundation, that only shows their credulity. They ought to be able to give a reason for their faith. I may here observe that I am a Freemason, and, as such, I consider it my duty to stand up for the truth. In doing so in this case, I am not "gratifying spite," either against the Royal Order or any of its members, for I have none against either. And instead of "An Edinburgh Member of the Royal Order of Scotland" dodging the real question at issue by any such unmasonic imputation, it would have been much more manly to have either remained silent or else written satisfactorily to the point. He asks me to tell him who I am, and then he will give me these wonderful "proofs satisfactory" he has been alluding to. Now, I reject his offer with disdain. I want no "hole and corner" work; the pretensions were set forth in THE FREEMASON, and in it they ought to be established, if possible. Further, I have not the slightest anxiety to know who my antagonist is—laird or lord, it is all one to me; what I care for is, the evidence. I do not believe any documents are in existence which show the Royal Order to have been in existence either in or before 1736. It may have in its possession documents "more than two hundred years old" about something else. As to the pretensions anent Kilwinning, Bro. D. Murray Lyon gives them the go-bye; while, at page 426 of Bro. J. G. Findel's "History of Freemasonry," it says: "The Royal Order, according to this Ritual, which is written in Anglo-Saxon verse (?), boasts of great antiquity. But too much stress must not be laid upon this circumstance, for it is well known that the English (Scotch?), like the Germans, possess their false Masonic documents, &c." Then, at page 427, Bro. Findel accuses the manufacturers "of the Royal Order of fabricating certain things for the purpose of giving antiquity to the Order." Now, if Bro. Findel is wrong, and if the Royal Order be really older than the establishment of the Grand Lodge of Scotland in 1736, its members ought to prove it.

X. Y. Z.

THE RITE OF MEMPHIS.

For the information of our readers we insert the following copy of a circular issued by the Craft authorities, with reference to the spurious Order of Memphis. This circular appeared, some time since, in our contemporary, but its publication now may be of greater use to the brethren in England.

"Freemasons' Hall, London, A 24th October, 1859: 02

"Dear Sir and W. Master,—I am directed to inform you that it has come to the knowledge of the Board of General Purposes that there are, at present existing in London, and elsewhere in this country, spurious lodges claiming to be Freemasons.

"I herewith furnish you with a copy of a certificate issued by a lodge calling itself "The Reformed Masonic Order of Memphis, or Rite of the Grand Lodge of Philadelphes," and holding its meetings at Stratford, in Essex.

"I am directed to caution you to be especially careful that no member of such body, be permitted under any circumstances to have access to your lodge, and that you will remind the brethren of your lodge that they can hold no communication with irregular lodges without incurring the penalty of expulsion from the Order, and the liability to be proceeded against under the Act 39, George III., for taking part in the meetings of illegal secret societies.

"I am further to request that you will cause this letter to be read in open lodge, and the copy of the certificate to be preserved for future reference, in case of necessity.

"I remain, dear Sir and Brother,
Yours fraternally,
WM. GRAY CLARKE, G.S."

THE OLD LICENSE LAWS.—It is a singular fact that in all old representations of the manners and customs of our forefathers, cups and drinking vessels are more plentiful than dishes. The early inhabitants of England no doubt were hard drinkers, especially after the occupation of the kingdom by the Danes, who brought some very bad habits with them. In fact, to such an extent did the drinking evil prevail that Dunstan, Archbishop of Canterbury, put down a number of ale-houses, and only allowed one to a town. He also ordered that pins or nails should be fastened into the drinking vessels at stated distances, and he who drank beyond these at a draft was liable to punishment. We offer a hint to the present Home Secretary.—Food Journal.

LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

The monthly meeting of the Lodge of Benevolence was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday, the 20th inst. Bro. John Clabon, P.G.D., the President, occupied the chair, and among other brethren present were the Vice-Presidents Bros. Nunn, P.G.S.B., and Brett, P.G.P.; the Grand Secretary, Bro. Hervey; Bros. J. Smith, P.G.P., W. Ough, P.G.P.; J. Boyd, A.G.P.; Gale, Walters, Mann, Halsey, Stevens, Thompson, &c.

One of the grants requiring confirmation, namely, a sum of £40 to Bro. E. W. P., was not confirmed, after a somewhat long discussion. Grants were made to the following petitioners:—

Mrs. M. T., Lodge 202	...	...	£20
" T. E., "	208	...	10
" C. M. C., "	771	...	40
" A. C., "	820	...	20
" J. C., "	192	...	20
" M. D. J., "	1076	...	10
Bro. O. D. C., "	376	...	30
" J. B., "	147	...	15
" R. C., "	392	...	20
" E. B. C., "	392	...	10
" L. E. R., "	438	...	30
" J. W. B., Scotch	...	...	20
" E. B., "	515	...	20
" W. D. F., "	135	...	20

Two cases were deferred, and the Lodge was closed.

P o e t r y .

SONNETS.

[From the American Freemason.]

THE EAST.

The sun ascends his Orient throne at morn,
To drive away the dark'ning shades of night;
From whence the day to open and adorn,
He floods the earth with beams of golden light.
To labour then the universe he calls—
To work! to work! the tacit summons falls,
In majesty he mounts the azure sky,
And rolls through vast ethereal realms on high.
So in the EAST the MASTER rises too,
To set the Craft to work, and to impart
The light and knowledge of our sacred Art,
In lessons known but to the favour'd few;
And there we, the PILLAR OF WISDOM see,
A firm supporter of Freemasonry.

THE SOUTH.

Still higher up the blue expanse of heaven
We now behold the glorious sun ascend,
Bright golden tints are to the landscape given,
And beauteous colours with each other blend;
Yet higher up the arch he moves along
In splendour, the ethereal clouds among,
Nor falters, stops, nor waves to either hand,
Until within the SOUTH we see him stand.
There, now he makes a grand, sublime display,
For 'tis the beauty and the glory of the day.
Our JUNIOR WARDEN, too, that post commands,
To superintend refreshment there he stands;
And there we, the PILLAR OF BEAUTY see,
Another firm support to Masonry.

EMMETT.

Florence, Laurens Co., Georgia.

Original Correspondence.

The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.

THE RITE OF MEMPHIS.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR AND BROTHER,—Will you permit me to state, that the Ancient and Primitive Rite of Memphis of the United States of North America, which has but lately been introduced in this country by W. Bro. B. D. Hyam, Past Grand Master of Craft Masons of California, U.S., and who was present as a visitor at the last Grand Lodge Quarterly Communication, has no connexion whatever with the spurious body of the Order of Memphis, or the Reformed Rite of Memphis, claiming the rights and privileges of a Grand Lodge, and exercising the power of conferring the first three degrees.

The American Rite originally obtained from the Grand Council of Rites of France, and for years holding fraternal relations therewith, admits none but Master Masons, of good standing, belonging to a regularly-constituted Lodge of Craft Masons, and does not confer any degrees belonging to Craft Masonry. And many of the distinguished American visitors but lately feted here hold high rank in the Order.

Trusting to your sense of fair play to insert this,

I am, Sir and Brother,
Yours fraternally,

MEYER A. LOEWENSTARK.

Devereux-court, Temple, W.C.,

Sept. 21, 1871.

THE TRANSACTIONS OF 1717: WERE THEY, OR WERE THEY NOT, THE "REVIVAL" OF FREEMASONRY?

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I am sorry to have to differ upon this subject from one I esteem so highly, and to whom I am so much indebted, as Bro. Hughan, but according to the evidence as yet before me, I feel bound so to do. If Bro. Hughan, instead of merely alluding—as he does at page 484—to something he has formerly said, perhaps elsewhere, which he considers or imagines, supports his views, will here state properly and definitely—as we think he is entitled to do, and which the readers of THE FREEMASONS have a right to expect—what that evidence really is, then we shall all be able to examine it personally and see what it is worth; but instead of doing so definitely, he contents himself with a mere allusion! Now that will not do, it is satisfactory proof to the point, that is wanted. More, we want that proof laid before us here, in the pages of THE FREEMASON, so that all your readers may be able to read and study it for themselves—that is to say, if such proof really exists!

However, as I expressed at page 442, I doubt the existence of any such proof; and what is also curious, Bro. Hughan himself backs me up in my ideas, for at page 491 we find him saying: "In fact, Masonic degrees were unknown before A.D. 1716, so that they are all inventions of modern times." Now, as it is well known that our system is one of degrees, it follows that if neither these degrees, nor any degrees at all, existed before 1716, then our system could not have existed before then, either, and as a consequence, the application of the term "Revival" to the transactions of 1717 is either an imposition, or a misnomer, and as a further consequence Bro. Hughan is not justified in continuing the use of any such term whenever it can be shown that its use is unjustifiable. No doubt certain extraordinary transactions in connection with the Masonic body did take place in 1717, but as these consisted in the introduction of something new and extraneous, then it is a mistake to speak of them as a "Revival of Freemasonry." Transition would be an honest word. "Transition" implies change, but that change is not necessarily a "Revival;" e.g., our nineteenth-century steam-shipping, although an improvement upon the old sailing vessels, cannot properly be called a "revival," seeing steamers never formerly existed. Their introduction was more than a simple evolution, it was a revolution, or a construction on an entirely new and different basis. So with our 1717 Freemasonry, it also was a construction on a new and different basis. Of course an old lodge could undergo a metamorphosis, just an old sailing vessel could be transformed into a steamer by having the necessary new apparatus put into it, but that would not be a "revival," but a transformation. To turn "common gavel" into swords would hardly be reviving then, the transaction would more properly be denominated a transition. To revive, is to impart new life to something going to decay, but Masonic lodges in 1717 were not decaying, nor, in many cases, until long after did what would cause such decay come into force. The remarks of Preston and many others upon the state of Masonic lodges in and about 1717 were made, in my opinion, either through ignorance or from the desire of imposing; or, as I may otherwise express it, knowing nothing properly of the subject, they made use of fanciful speculations in order to hide their real ignorance, and fill up their books. As to Bro. Hughan telling us (page 485), that "the great majority of Masonic authors have believed in the 'revival' of 1716 or 1717," I ask: What has that to do with proving it? Certainly nothing. It only shows how largely ignorance and credulity existed among them; just as with myself before May, 1868. There is another point here, however, which I wish to draw attention to, viz., I do not consider that all those who have written upon Masonry have done so in good faith, i.e., really believing what they were promulgating. Many write in ignorance—they are to be pitied; others, however, with longer heads, simply write whatever suits the popular taste at the time, or what will find a market; as to what they write or publish being true, that is only a secondary consideration,—these latter are to be scorned. It is only recently that we find real trustworthy pilots in Masonic matters; and among them all Bro. Hughan is one of the best, yet, as history shows, none if us are infallible; consequently, while Bro. Hughan is generally right, in this case, in continuing to use the word "Revival," and especially as done and understood, I think he is wrong. Supposing (page 485) that our "Freemasonry" was a "reconstruction of an ancient society," that is not the point. The question is—Is our Freemasonry either a "Revival," or continuation of, the fifteenth and sixteenth century Freemasonry? Supposing, as I expressed at page 442, that our system of Freemasonry was the Renaissance, or "reconstruction of an ancient society," viz., of some form of old Pagan philosophy, that would not constitute it a "Revival" of Freemasonry. In short, Bro. Hughan has, as yet at all events, brought forward nothing which supports him in his use of the word "Revival," but the very opposite. The only thing which I have yet seen which could support him in his views, is the Sloane MS. 3329, fol. 142, if it could be proved to be older than 1716, which, however, I doubt. So far as I can judge from the perusal of a copy of it which Bro. Hughan very kindly sent me, it is no older than about A.D. 1720, whatever less. No doubt Bro. Findel, at page 118 of his "History of Freemasonry," inclines to put it at the end of the seventeenth century; and Bro. Hughan, at page 25 of his "Unpublished Records of the Craft," while stating its age as doubtful, places it between "1640 to 1700;" yet the former has brought nothing forward, as yet, to support his idea properly, while the latter, at the very same place where he gives its age as "1640 to 1700," also quotes good evidence which goes to prove it to be more modern; for, while stating that Mr. E. A. Bond and Mr. R. Sims agree that it is "probably of the beginning of the eighteenth century," he also adds, "We are also informed by a gentleman, whose name has been honourably associated with the British Museum for years, that, as Sir Hans Sloane only died in 1753, the article on MS. 3329, might easily be of a date after 1717." Now, with the above statements before him, why Bro. Hughan should have confined its age as between "1640 to 1700," I cannot understand. It would have been better and fairer, in my opinion, to have said 1640 to 1720, which latter date I consider was only fairly due to the statements of the gentlemen I have above referred to, two of whom place it at the beginning of the eighteenth century, while one says it may easily be after 1717. In writing to me some time ago anent its age, Mr. Bond inclined to put it between 1700 to 1710, but he adds, "I see no certain evidence, and I judge by general character of the writing." Now, as Mr. Bond only judges from the writing, it appears to me that we must allow a few years to go and come upon. For, if a man, 35 years of age, wrote in this style in 1710, I ask: What difference, if any, would there be in the style of his writing in 1720? Very little, if any, consider, for a stranger especially to judge by. Under the above circumstances, therefore, and for other reasons, such as its internal evidence, &c., I must give it as my opinion that this Sloane MS. 3329, cannot be allowed to be pronounced any older than 1717, without the very best of real evidence to support it. I think, Bro. Hughan would do well to publish it, so that brethren interested might be able to read it for themselves. At page 490, Bro. Hughan observes: "Undoubtedly, these ancient lodges were speculative as well as operative." Now, that is highly calculated to mislead, for brethren who know no better would at once conclude that if these old pre-eighteenth-century lodges "were speculative," then, of course, they practised Speculative Masonry; and also, of course, said speculative masonry was undoubtedly our Speculative Masonry! Which, according to Bro. Hughan's own showing, would simply be untrue. The fact is, these ancient lodges were not "speculative" in any such sense as we now use and understand the term; although Masonic societies used to admit non-operatives, just as did the Tailors' Company, yet they therefore no more practised speculative Masonry thereby than the latter practised speculative Tailory.

* Before the eighteenth century we had a Renaissance of Pagan architecture; then, to follow suit, in the eighteenth century we had a Renaissance in a new dress of Pagan mysticism; but for neither are we indebted to the operative masons, although the operative masons were made use of in both cases.

As to where Doctors Desaguliers and Anderson got their ideas from when they instituted our system, that is another matter. If our doctrines and ceremonies were introduced by them, it shows that the term "Revival" is a mistake. Possibly, John Bunyan's "Solomon's Temple Spiritualized" might have afforded some suggestions or ideas to Dr. Anderson, while assistance upon many points could be derived from other quarters.

As to Bro. Hughan's idea (page 485) of the "operative masons of the second decade of the eighteenth (not "17th") century" being themselves deceived, that is simply gratuitous. No fear of that, they knew well enough what they were doing; the thing was, to deceive the public. In conclusion, as this is my second letter, and the next my third, and according to arrangement the last, I trust Bro. Hughan will enter into the matter as fully and pointedly in his answer as he possibly can, so that I may have a chance of replying to his statements.

I am yours fraternally,
W. P. BUCHAN.

"A MASONIC STUDENT" ON THE MASTER DEGREE AND THE ROYAL ARCH.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—“A Masonic Student,” at page 586, has done just as I expected—viz., shown the “white feather.” So far as my experience goes in connection with this subject, he has for long been a capital promiser, but a very poor performer; he is always going to produce something in the “indisputable” way, but somehow it never comes! How is this? I am not astonished at our brother not exactly relishing “the controversy on Bro. Buchan's principles;” the opponents of Wellington and Moltke did not like their “principles” either, each had such a curious “way of his own.” It is quite unnecessary, under the circumstances, for me to take up your space, only there is one statement made by “A Masonic Student” which I must challenge, as I consider it is untrue, viz.: “what others besides myself have answered successfully before.” I deny that he has ever done so, and defy him to point out when, where, and how, he ever did so “successfully,” as yet?

I am, yours fraternally,
W. B. BUCHAN.

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

THE CRAFT.

PROVINCIAL.

LANCASTER.—Lodge of Fortitude, No. 281.—The regular meeting of this old-established and prosperous lodge was held on Wednesday evening, the 13th inst., at the Masonic Rooms, Athenæum. The chair was occupied by the W.M., Bro. Dr. Moore, P.M., G.S.B. England, who was supported by the following officers and brethren:—Bros. John Hatch, I.P.M.; W. Hall, S.W.; B. Mills, as J.W.; E. Simpson, P.M. and Sec.; W. J. Sly, S.D.; J. Bell, J.D.; J. Harrison, I.G.; James Taylor, Organist; Watson and Beeley, Tylers; R. Taylor, Steward; Whimpray, P.M.; Kelland, P.M.; Bailie, Hartley (W.M. 1353), W. Heald, J. Stanley, R. Balfour. Visitors: Bros. R. Harger (1051), R. R. D. Adams. The lodge was opened and the usual business transacted. The W.M. announced that he had represented the lodge at the Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge on 6th inst. Bro. Robert Balfour gave proof of his proficiency as a F.C., and Bro. Hatch, I.P.M., having taken the chair, he was raised to the degree of M.M. The ballot was taken for Mr. Robert Gregson, Schoolmaster, who was declared to be unanimously elected, and he being in attendance was initiated into the mysteries of Freemasonry by the W.M., the working tools being presented by Bro. Hall, S.W. The brethren were reminded that the next meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge would be held in Liverpool on the 4th October, and a brother having been proposed as a joining member the lodge was closed in due form.

ALDERSHOT.—Aldershot Camp Lodge, No. 1331. The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Royal Hotel, on Thursday, the 7th instant. The chair of K.S. was occupied by the W.M., Bro. C. Carnegie, P.M., G. Purs. Hampshire, who was supported by the following officers: Bros. J. Fenn, S.W.; Captain Richardson, R.E., as J.W.; A. McKenzie, as S.D.; Gourley, as J.D.; Laverty, I.G.; Bennett, O.G.; R. White, Sec.; and Osmond, P.M. The lodge was opened in form, and with solemn prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Sergts. Marversly and Horsford, A.H. Corps, and Corporal Orton, 9th Lancers, were initiated by the W.M., the Senior Warden presenting the working tools. Bro. Bishop was passed to the second degree by Bro. Osmond. It was resolved to subscribe two guineas annually to the “Aldershot Camp Female Hospital.” The W.M. stated that he attended the Provincial Grand Lodge meeting at Gosport on the 17th ult., with five brethren of the Lodge, and that the Prov. G.M. had been pleased to appoint him to the office of Grand Pursuivant; and that, with twelve brethren, he had represented the lodge at the banquet given by the Sphinx Lodge, 12th Lancers, No. 179 I.C., on the 25th ultimo. Bro. J. Fenn, S.W., was unanimously nominated as W.M. for the ensuing year. The votes of the lodge for the Masonic Charities were placed at the disposal of the W.M., who was also requested to inquire into and relieve a case brought before the lodge by Bro. White. Some other business having been transacted, the lodge was closed in due form and the brethren adjourned to refreshment. In responding to the toast of “The Visiting Brethren,” Bro. Steel, Sphinx Lodge, I.C., said it was a source of much pleasure to him in witnessing the excellent working of the Camp Lodge, and the Masonic spirit which pervaded its members.

INDIA.

SECUNDERABAD, DECCAN.—St. John's Lodge, No. 434.—This flourishing lodge held its annual banquet in honour of St. John the Baptist on the 2nd August last. Previous to the banquet, the lodge was opened in due and ancient form in the first degree, when Mr. Stones, Ex. Engineer H. H. the Nizam's State Railway, and Mr. Faux Dunn, Major H.M.'s 76th Regt., were initiated by the W.M. in his usual impressive style. The brethren sat down to a capital dinner at 8 p.m. After the cloth was removed, the following toasts were given: “The Queen and the Craft,” by the W.M., Major Twentyman, 18th Hussars; “The Prince and Princess of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family,” by the W.M.—solo and chorus, “God bless the Prince of Wales,” by Bro. W. B. Gadsden, P.M.; “The Rt. Hon. the Marquis of Ripon, M.W.G.M.,” by the W.M.—glee, “Hail Smiling Morn,” by the choir; “The Rt. Hon. the Earl of Zetland, P.M.W.G.M.,” by Bro. W. B. Wilkins, P.M. and D.J.W. of Burmah (Surgeon 29th Regt.)—solo and chorus, “Auld Lang Syne,” by Bro. Giles (Lieut. 76th Regt.); “The Lord Patron of Freemasonry in India, the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Mayo,” by W. Bro. Gadsden, P.M., D.G.D.C. of Madras; “The R.W.D.G.M. of Madras, A. Macdonald Richie,” by W. Bro. Ramsey, I.P.M. (Quarter-Master 18th Hussars)—glee, “The Hardy Norseman,” by the choir; “The W. Dep. D.G.M. of Madras, and the rest of the D.G. Officers,” coupled with the name of W. Bro. Gadsden—glee, “All Among the Barley,” by the choir; “The D.G. Officers of other Districts present this evening,” by the I.P.M.—glee, “See our Oars,” by the choir; “The W.M.,” by the I.P.M.—glee, “Since First I Saw your Face,” by the choir; “The Newly-Initiated Brethren,” by the W.M.—song, “The Entered Apprentice,” by W. Bro. Gadsden; “The Visiting Brethren,” coupled with the name of W. Bro. O'Donoghue (Colonel 76th Regt.); “The Ladies,” by the Treasurer, Bro. Rawlings (Capt. Royal Artillery)—glee, “Here's a Health,” “The Officers of St. John's, No. 434,” coupled with the name of the I.P.M., (by permission) W. Bro. O'Donoghue; “To all Poor and Distressed Masons,” by the Tyler, Bro. Wightman (18th Hussars)—solo and chorus, “Hard Times,” by Bro. Logan (Lieut. 76th Regt.); and the final toast, by the W.M.—solo and chorus, “The Farewell Toast,” by W. Bro. Gadsden, P.M. During the evening capital songs were sung by Bros. Giles, Logan, and Taylor (76th Regt.), Bro. Aylmer (R. Artillery), and other brethren. The W.M. retired about 1.30 a.m., but the younger brethren kept up the fun until nearly 4 a.m. About thirty brethren sat down. The members within the last few years have so increased in number (sixty-five on the register) that it is proposed to enlarge the hall, which will, no doubt, be commenced next hot weather, as, notwithstanding the liberal donations to local charities, widows, &c., there is a balance now in hands of over £100. The W.M. and several of the brethren, however, object to these funds being used for alterations, but wish them to be carried out by subscriptions. The lodge was built many years ago at the private expense of a worthy Mason, who, when he left the station, presented it to the Fraternity. The days of meeting are: St. John's, No. 434, last Saturday in the month; Keystone, No. 81 (Mark Masons), first Saturday; Royal Arch Chapter, second Saturday; Encampment of Knights Templar, third Saturday; and Priory of Malta, fourth Wednesday, in each month.

MARK MASONRY.

PROVINCIAL.

LIVERPOOL.—West Lancashire Lodge, No. 65.—The regular meeting of this lodge was held on the evening of the 4th instant, at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool. There were present: Bros. Edward Bootle Wilbraham, Lord Skelmersdale, W.M., G.S.W. of England, P.G.S.W. of Lancashire; Peter M. Larsen, D.W.M.; Hamer, P.M., P.G.O.; J. Robert Goepel, P.M., Treas., and P.G.S.O.; Robinson, P.M.; J. K. Smith, P.M.; W. T. May, P.M. and P.G.S.; Clark, S.W.; T. Ashmore, J.W.; J. Wood, Sec.; with a large number of other officers and brethren of the lodge. After the minutes had been read and confirmed, Bros. Reed, Adams, Nelson, and Platt were advanced to the degree of M.M.M. by the D.W.M. (Bro. Larsen), assisted by the W.M. (Lord Skelmersdale) in a most admirable and efficient manner. The whole of the officers also deserve great credit for the efficiency which marked their share in the advancement ceremonial—an efficiency which was favourably criticised by several of the Past Masters, auguring well for the prosperity of Mark Masonry in Liverpool. The lodge then proceeded with the election of W.M. and Treasurer. Bro. P. Clark, S.W., was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing year. Bro. J. R. Goepel, P.M., was re-elected Treasurer for the same period—a position which he has filled for the last five or six years with the utmost application, and complete satisfaction to the lodge. Bros. May, Robinson, and Brown were elected Auditors. After the transaction of some routine business, the lodge was closed in proper form and the brethren separated, after a meeting marked by the utmost harmony and good feeling.

SCOTLAND.

EDINBURGH.

A convocation of the Edinburgh Red Cross of Constantine, Conclave No. 4 (recently transferred to that city from Ipswich), was held on Tuesday, Sept. 11, at the Albert Hotel, Hanover-street, Edinburgh, and considering that this was only the second meeting, it was very well attended. Present: Sir Kts. D. Mercer, M.P.S.; R. P. Brown, E.V.E.; J. Taylor, Prelate; J. Jonas, S.G.; and there were also present: Sir Kts. Grant, Buttie, Henry (W.M. of the St. Clair Lodge), and H. Thompson, P.M., P.S. of the St. George's Conclave, No. 18. The conclave having been opened in imperial form, it was announced that Bro. George Watson, P.M. of the St. Clair Lodge, was in attendance, and desired admission to the order. He was accordingly introduced, and duly installed as a knight of the ancient order, that ceremony being excellently performed by the M.P.S.; but, at the same time, it would be improper to omit mention of the talented manner in which Sir Kt. Taylor discharged his office, and the great judgment with which he delivered the oration. The rest of the ceremony was then gone through, and Sir Kt. Watson received hearty congratulations on his admission to the order. The conclave was then opened in the second grade, and Sir Kts. Grant, Buttie, and Henry were advanced to the honorary degree of the V.E. Afterwards it was opened in the supreme degree, and Sir Kt. Henry was duly enthroned as M.P.S., that honorary distinction being conferred on account of the high respect entertained for him as W.M. of the St. Clair Lodge. A series of by-laws were submitted and agreed to, and the conclave was closed in imperial form. At the conclusion of the business, the Sir Knights assembled for refreshment, and the customary toasts were given and were well received.—The M.P.S. said they could not separate without he drinking a special toast, which he had great pleasure in proposing, and that was "The Health of Sir Kt. Thompson, of the St. George's Conclave in London," who had that evening honoured them with a visit, and he was sure that all the Sir Knights would be very happy to receive him. It was to him most gratifying that they should, in the early days of their meetings, be honoured by the presence of a member of their order from so great a distance. He gave "The Health of Sir Kt. Thompson," a toast which he was sure, would be cordially responded to. (The toast was well received.)—Sir Kt. Thompson, in acknowledging the compliment, said he had that night enjoyed an unexpected pleasure in being present at the meeting of the Edinburgh Conclave, for which he was indebted to his dear friend Sir Kt. Henry, who had informed him of their meeting, and wished him to accompany him, and the recollection of it would not be the least pleasurable incident in his visit to their city, now for the first time; but he trusted it would not be the last occasion on which he should have the pleasure of visiting it. He thanked them heartily for the welcome they had given to him, and, on his return to London, he should not fail to make known at the headquarters of the order the position it had taken in Scotland, and doubted not it would be gratifying to them to hear of the success it had attained.—The meeting then broke up, amidst expressions of satisfaction at the way in which they had commenced the order in Scotland, about twenty brethren having been installed already.

MEMORIAL
SIR

GLASGOW.

The Thistle and Rose Lodge, No. 73, met in the Hall, Buchanan-street, on Tuesday, 5th inst., Bro. G. McDonald, R.W.M., in the chair, supported by Bros. W. Walton, S.W.; W. Donaldson, J.W.; J. S. Ampleford, Sec.; and a very full attendance of brethren. The business consisted of the initiation of Mr. Robert Hood McAulay, and the raising of Bros. George Hamilton and Hans Peter Olson, both ceremonies being performed with that care which marks Bro. McDonald's working.

The Star Lodge, No. 219, met in St. Mark's Hall, Buchanan-street, on the 8th inst. Present: Bros. John M. Davidson, R.W.M.; J. Robertson, S.W.; J. Wilson, J.W.; &c., &c. Three candidates were proposed; and Mr. J. Gardner, being present, was duly initiated. Bro. Waits presided at the harmonium, and the solemnity of the ceremony was much enhanced by the whole of the brethren present singing a hymn, composed for the occasion, immediately after the candidate entered the lodge. The R.W.M. brought forward the case of the orphan son of a deceased Mason, stating that as the little fellow was only 8 years old, he had got him into a public school and a friend had promised to find him lodgings; but he wished the lodge to help to clothe him until he was able to do something for himself. A discussion ensued, some of the brethren thinking it better that it should be done by a subscription rather than from the funds of the lodge, and the question was adjourned till the next meeting. A plan of the proposed new hall was handed round to the members, but discussion on the subject was deferred. The lodge was then called off for refreshment, and on being resumed was closed in due form.

The St. Clair Lodge, No. 362, met in their own Hall, Robertson-street, on Monday, the 11th inst. The R.W.M., Bro. G. Thallon, presided, assisted by Bros. W. Gibson, S.W., and R. Stevens, as J.W. Bro. John Brown was passed, and Bros. Willson, Findley, Philips, and Brills were raised. The sum of two guineas, to relieve her present necessities, was voted to the widow of a seafaring brother who died of cholera at Hull.

The St. Andrew's Royal Arch Chapter, No. 69, held their monthly meeting in the Chapter-rooms, 179, Buchanan-street, on Tuesday, the 12th instant. The chapter was opened in the Marked degree by M.E.P.Z. Thomas M. Campbell, assisted by P.Z. Grabb, of Glasgow Chapter, No. 50, and Comps. Adams, Stewart, Gray, Prout, Campbell, Crosher, Mathieson, Mullen, &c. Bros. John L. Hunter, John C. Fraser, and David Smith, of Lodge Clyde,

No. 408, and J. D. Fleming, of Gorandale Lodge, No. 437, were duly Marked, and on the lodge being raised to the chair degree, the before-mentioned brethren were installed as Past Masters, Bro. Duncan McGeachy, P.M. Union and Crown Lodge, No. 103, taking the oath de fidei to the S.G.R.A. Chapter. The lodge was again advanced to the degree of Excellent Master, when Bros. Hunter, Fraser, Smith, Fleming, and McGeachy were received into the Adoniramite Order. The degrees were all wrought by M.E.P.Z. T. M. Campbell. In mentioning his name, it would be superfluous to say anything, as his well-known abilities for working the degrees is unequalled. The brethren then proceeded to nomination of office-bearers for next year, and the lodge was then closed in regular form and according to ancient custom.

The Girvan Encampment of Knights Templar, No. 32, held their usual monthly meeting on Tuesday, the 5th instant, the M.N.C., Sir Kt. R. Bell, presiding. This being the night for the nomination of officers, the M.N.C. was re-elected, along with the majority of the officers. In accordance with the terms of the charter, the installation takes place on September the 14th, that being Holy Cross Day. Comp. Peter Hepburn, of the Shamrock and Thistle Chapter, was then duly introduced, dubbed, and created a Knight Templar in ancient form. There was a very full attendance of Sir Knights on this occasion.

I R E L A N D .

PRESENTATION TO W. BRO. THE RIGHT HON. JAMES FRANCIS VISCOUNT BERNARD, ON HIS COMING OF AGE.

The admission of Bro. Lord Viscount Bernard, only son of the Right Hon. Francis third Earl of Bandon, of Castle-Bernard, in Ireland, on the 22nd of April, 1869, (by dispensation,) to Lodge 84, "Antient Boyne," was recorded by us in THE FREEMASON as an event of importance to the advancement of Masonry in the county of Cork, and in which we have not been disappointed. His lordship's attention and interest in the Order was duly appreciated by the brethren of 83, and he was, on the election of officers for that year, elected Junior Warden, the duties of which he fulfilled so much to the satisfaction of the lodge, that in the following year he was elected Worshipful Master of the lodge, and during his year of office won the esteem of the brethren. Masonry in Bandon increased so much during the past three years as to require a second lodge, which was duly opened.

On the arrival of age of Viscount Bernard, on Tuesday, the 12th inst., the brethren of the two Bandon lodges, 84 and 130, in order to show their appreciation of his lordship's attention and interest in the mysteries of Masonry, determined on making him a suitable presentation on the occasion, and entered into a subscription for the purpose. Accordingly, on the 12th inst., the brethren of Lodges 84 and 130, joined by brethren from Skibbreen Lodge 15 and Cork city lodges, assembled at the demesne of Castle Bernard for the purpose of the presentation, and having robed themselves in the estate office, about half a mile at the Bandon end of the demesne, proceeded in procession, in the following order, to Castle Bernard:—

The Tyler, bearing the sword of No. 84.

The Inner Guard.

The two Deacons (Bros. Walter Bullen and Thos. Peters), with wands.

The Secretary and the Treasurer (Bros. Martin and Wolfe) bearing the warrant of Lodge 84 on a blue velvet cushion.

Entered Apprentices.

Fellow Crafts.

Master Masons.

Two Master Masons, bearing on a blue velvet cushion the open Bible and the Working Tools.

The Chaplain, Bro. the Rev. H. Cole.

The two Wardens, Bros. Matt. Lee and Richard Wheeler Doherty.

The W.M., Bro. Stewart R. Tresilian.

Lodge 130, in the same order of procession.

The band of the South Cork Militia played before them the "Freemasons' March," which, coupled with the splendid sunshine, tended to enliven the imposing scene.

On the arrival of the procession at the principal entrance of Castle Bernard, the brethren were received by Viscount Bernard, the Earl of Bandon, the Lord Bishop of Tuam, Lord Gough, Sir Arthur Guinness, Col. the Hon. H. B. Bernard, and the other distinguished guests and members of this noble family.

The lodges then formed into a semi-circle, and Bro. Wm. Belcher, of Lodge 130, proceeded to read the following address:—

"ADDRESS from the Free and Accepted Masons of Lodges Nos. 84 and 130, Bandon, to Bro. Lord Viscount Bernard, P.M., R.A., on his coming of age.

"We, the Free and Accepted Masons of Lodges 84 and 130, Bandon, desire to offer you our warmest congratulations on the auspicious event which we celebrate to-day.

"From the day you joined our Institution as an Entered Apprentice, to the present time, when you occupy the high position of Past Master, you have manifested a cordial appreciation of the various degrees, and performed the duties of the several offices you have filled in a manner worthy of the Masonic Order.

"Our institution is, as you are aware, non-sectarian and non-political. Our laws inculcate the practice of every social and moral virtue, and we have ever been desirous of seeing the rights of property preserved, and loyalty to the Crown and Constitution upheld.

"We request your acceptance of the accompanying Past Master's jewel and collar as a mark of our fraternal esteem and regard.

(Signed on behalf of No. 84)

S. R. TRESILIAN,

Worshipful Master.

(Signed on behalf of No. 130)

W. BELCHER, M.D.,

Worshipful Master.

"Bandon, 12th September, 1871."

Bro. Tresilian, as Master of the senior lodge, then handed the address to Lord Bernard, and presented him with a Past Master's jewel and collar, the former being a perfect gem of artistic beauty of 18-carat gold (hall marked), manufactured by Bro. George Kenning, of London, and was greatly admired as a most perfect work of art.

Lord Bernard replied as follows: Brethren, I thank you from my heart for your address of brotherly kindness, and for the beautiful present which accompanied it. I shall highly prize it as a mark of your esteem and affection. It is now two years since I was admitted to the mysteries of your Craft—an unusual honour, which I owe to the great kindness of the friends I see around me. I was thus at an early age enabled to bear my testimony to the value of this, the most ancient fraternity in the world. But while the same bond unites us to our brethren in every part of the globe, my affections must ever find their centre in the lodges with which I was first united, and no jewel can ever, to my eyes, exceed in brightness the one with which you have this day adorned me.

The brethren then saluted Lord Bernard according to Masonic usage, which concluded the presentation.

At half-past one o'clock, the brethren, on the invitation of the Earl of Bandon, luncheoned with the private guests and friends sojourning at Castle Bernard.

After luncheon, Bro. S. R. Tresilian proposed the health of Lord Bernard, speaking of him as a virtuous, amiable, and courteous young nobleman, whose amiabilities and virtues were well known—not alone to the residents of Bandon, but to many others. (Applause.)

Lord Bernard (who was loudly cheered) said he was quite overwhelmed by the addresses he had received that day, and the kindness of all who had assembled there to celebrate his coming of age. (Applause.)

Thus ended the most interesting event that has taken place for several years in the South of Ireland.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—In these autumnal months the human health is sorely tried by the extreme changes of temperature which weaken the digestive organs, lower the bodily tone, and lay the system open to numberless complaints. The vast majority of maladies affecting the throat, lungs, and circulation, may be checked in their dangerous course by rubbing this curative unguent briskly twice a day upon the skin covering the seat of the ailment, and by taking at the same time appropriate doses of Holloway's purifying, corrective, and aperitive Pills. This simple treatment knows no failures, is devoid of danger, restores strength to frames debilitated by disease, and imparts vigour to the nervous centres, however much shaken by repeated illnesses.—[Advt.]

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending September 30, 1871.

The Editor will be glad to have notice from Secretaries of lodges and chapters of any change in place or time of meeting.

MONDAY, SEPT. 25.

- Lodge 79, Pythagorean, Ship Hotel, Greenwich.
- " 831, British Oak, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Bancroft-place, Mile End.
- Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
- Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
- Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern-Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
- St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Swan Tavern, Mount-street, Grosvenor-square, at 8.
- Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30; Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
- British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
- Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. Dilley, Preceptor.
- St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 26.

- Audit Committee Girls' School, at 2.30.
- Lodge 141, Faith, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
- " 186, Industry, Freemasons' Hall.
- " 1158, Southern Star, Montpelier Tav., Walworth.
- Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
- Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
- Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, Preceptor.
- Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
- Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
- Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
- Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
- Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
- Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 27.

- Lodge 507, United Pilgrims, Edinbro' Castle, Brixton.
- " 753, Prince Frederick William, Knights of St. John Hotel, St. John's Wood.
- " 754, High Cross, Seven Sisters' Tav., Tottenham.
- " 898, Temperance in the East, 6, Newby-place, Poplar.
- " 1056, Victoria, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
- Chap. 820, Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond.
- Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
- United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
- Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
- New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
- Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7½.

- Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
- Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
- Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Lindus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 28.

- General Committee Girls' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4.
- Lodge 65, Prosperity, Guildhall Coffee House, Gresham-street.
- " 766, William Preston, Clarendon Hotel, Anerley.
- Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses, Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
- Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern, Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
- United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
- St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 29.

- Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
- Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
- Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Htl., Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
- Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
- Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Muggeridge, Preceptor.
- St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
- United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
- Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
- St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
- Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
- Royal Standard Lodge of Instruction, Marquess Tavern, Canonbury; Bro. R. Lee, Preceptor.
- Burdett Coutts Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
- Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West Smith, Preceptor.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 30.

- Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. J. Comb, Preceptor.
- Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 8; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
- Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
- South-Eastern Masonic Charitable Association, New Cross Branch.

SMALL-POX, FEVERS, AND SKIN DISEASES.—The predisposition to is prevented by Lamplough's Pyretic Saline. Vitalising and invigorating, its effects are remarkable in their cure and prevention. Take it as directed. Sold by chemists and the maker, H. Lamplough, 113, Holborn-hill.—[Advt.]

"MORE than a year ago one of my children was attacked with bronchitis, and, after a long illness, was given up by my physician as 'past cure.' I was then induced to try your Vegetable Pain Killer, and from the time I began the use of it the child rapidly got better, and is now strong and healthy.—JOHN WINSTANLEY, 10, Whittle-st., L'pool, Jan. 1869.—To P. D. & Son."

Advertisements.

THE FREEMASONS LIFE BOAT.—Committee Room: Bro. FORSTER'S, Railway Tavern, London-street, E.C.

- COMMITTEE:
- Bro. A. E. Harris, P.M. 141, President.
  - " S. Davis, 141, the Promoter and Treasurer.
  - " E. Gottheil, P.M. 141, Hon. Secretary.
  - " John Thomas, P.M. 507, P.G.D.C.
  - " Rev. D. Shaboe, P.M. P. G. Chaplain Middlesex.
  - " T. Kennett, I.G. 141.
  - " H. M. Levy, P.M. 188.
  - " N. Gluckstein, 141, P.M. 51, P.P.S.G.W.
  - " C. C. Taylor, S.W. 141.
  - " Rev. M. B. Levy, P.M. 1017.
  - " M. Davis, P.M. 188.
  - " E. J. Page, W.M. Grand Stewards' Lodge, & P.M. 23 and 860.
  - " B. Salmon, 141.
  - " T. S. Mortlock, P.M. 186.
  - " J. Boyd, 1260, P.M. 145, 534, P.Z. 145, Z. 534.
  - " R. W. Little, W.M. 1293, P.M. 975, P.M. & Sec. 862, 1194, 1319, P.Z. 177, 975, Prov. G. Sec. Middlesex.
  - " Chas. Dairy, 141.
  - " Jas. W. Gillard, 180.
  - " F. A. Philbrick, W.M. 18.
  - " Ellis Berg, 141.
- BANKERS.
- London and Westminster Bank, Eastern Branch.
  - The following brethren who are not on the Committee have promised their support:—Br. Col. Malet de Carteret, P.G.M. Channel Islands; Br. Prosser, P.M. 244, Jersey; Br. Gardner, W.M. 84, Guernsey; Br. Ashley, P.M. 254, Coventry, P.G.J.W. Warwickshire; Br. De Grute, Birmingham; and others.
- The Committee meet at their Room on the first Thursday in every month at 8 p.m. All subscriptions, together with the names of the donors, will be acknowledged in THE FREEMASON. In order to ensure success, it is hoped that every Brother will personally interest himself in the movement.
- Bro. E. GOTTHEIL, P.M. 141, Hon. Sec., 120, Mile End Road, E.

Masonic Note Paper and Envelopes,

For Craft, Mark, Royal Arch, Red Cross of Rome and Constantine, Rose Croix, Knights Templar, 30th Degree. IN BOXES THREE SHILLINGS.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
BRO. GEORGE KENNING'S
MASONIC DEPOT, LITTLE BRITAIN, LONDON.

SPORRANS.

- No. 1.—Goat-skin Sporrans, with ornament on top .. 5/0
  - No. 2.—Ditto, " " and size .. 5/6
  - No. 3.—Ditto, same size as No. 1, with bells and chain on ornament .. 7/0
  - No. 4.—Ditto, same size as No. 2, with cantle, bells, and chains on ornament .. 8/6
  - No. 5.—Ditto, same size as No. 2, with cantle, bells, and chains, and ornament .. 9/0
  - No. 6.—Ditto, same size as No. 2, with engraved top, cantle, bells, and chains .. 11/0
- BLACK, WHITE OR GREY, AS DESIRED.

An assorted quantity of Badges on Sporrans at prices as above. IN STOCK AT Kenning's Military Warehouse,

2, 3 & 4, LITTLE BRITAIN.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS,

TO BE HAD AT KENNING'S
MILITARY AND NAVAL WAREHOUSES,

2, 3, AND 4, LITTLE BRITAIN, LONDON.
RIBBONS FOR WAR MEDALS.

Every Person requiring an OUTFIT should send for

"THE OUTFITTER:"

PUBLISHED AND FORWARDED FREE BY

GANN, JONES & Co.,

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURING OUTFITTERS.

For Military Outfits, estimates, &c. ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Shirts of all descriptions ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Naval " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Hosiery and Underclothing ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Civil Service " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Rugs and Umbrellas ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for the Traveller ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Waterproof Clothing ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for the Emigrant ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Tropical " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for Lads going to School ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Canadian " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for Lads going to Sea ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Cricketing " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for an Apprentice ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Collars, Shirt-fronts, Wristbands... see THE OUTFITTER.
For the New Books of the Quarter ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Gann, Jones & Co.'s Sewing Machines see THE OUTFITTER.
For Routes to principal parts of the World ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For the New Machine, "The Lady" (£2 15s.) ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Distances, Passenger Rates, &c., to ditto... see THE OUTFITTER.		For the leading Machines of all Makers ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Cricketing and Athletic Reports for the Quarter, see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Leading Manufacturers ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Prices of Gentlemanly yet Economic Dress ... see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Enterprising Tradesmen ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Prices of the Very Best Shirts ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For the Addresses of Good Schools ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.

Depot, 171, FENCHURCH STREET. Manufactory, 15 and 16, BLOMFIELD STREET, E.C.

LONDON AND SUBURBAN
MUTUAL BUILDING-SOCIETY,

Enrolled in 1855, pursuant to Act of Parliament.
SHARES, £25 each, may be paid in one sum, or by Monthly
Subscriptions of 5s. per share.
INVESTING MEMBERS receive 5 per cent. Interest, and Share of Surplus Profits.
MONEY ADVANCED ON MORTGAGE, without Premium, for any term of years.
J. Bro. JONATHAN TAYLOR (Doric 933), Secretary.
Office: 107A, FENCHURCH STREET, E.C.

THE BIRKBECK
BUILDING SOCIETY whose Annual Receipts exceed ONE MILLION!

How to Purchase a House for Two Guineas per Month,
With IMMEDIATE POSSESSION and NO RENT TO PAY.
Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY,
No. 29 & 30, Southampton-buildings, Chancery-lane.
How to purchase a Plot of Land for Five Shillings per month
With IMMEDIATE POSSESSION, either for Building or Gardening Purposes, Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND
SOCIETY, 29 & 30, Southampton-buildings, Chancery-lane.
How to Invest Money with safety at 4 per cent. Interest,
Apply to the Office of the BIRKBECK BANK.
All sums under £50 repayable upon demand. Current accounts opened similar to Ordinary Bankers. Cheque Books supplied.
Office hours from 10 till 4 daily, on Mondays from 10 till 9, and on Saturdays from 10 till 2. A small pamphlet, containing full particulars, may be obtained gratis, or sent Post-free on application to FRANCIS RAVENSROFT, Manager.

MONEY, in large or small amounts, and for long or short periods, with or without a life policy, readily obtainable at the NATIONAL GUARDIAN ASSURANCE COMPANY (Limited), No. 484, Oxford-street, W.C.
THOS. BOURNE, Res. Sec.

MONEY promptly ADVANCED on personal or available security. A moderate interest, repayable by installments. Stamp for reply. REAL and PERSONAL ADVANCE COMPANY (Limited), 3, Tavistock-street, Covent-garden, and 14, Southampton-row, Bloomsbury. P. J. HARVEY, Sec.

MR. RICHARD RING, Solicitor, of 29, Frederick Street, Gray's Inn, begs to inform his Clients that he has opened an Office at 23, WORSHP STREET, FINCHURCH, and that Divorce Cases are conducted. Arrangements with Creditors promptly made under the present Bankruptcy Act.

TO CONCESSIONAIRES, PROMOTERS, and FINANCIAL AGENTS.—Shares in new undertakings successfully influenced and placed.—Address, in perfect confidence,
"Operator," care of Brother John Baptist Wolpert, Advertising Agent, 24, Austin Friars, London, E.C.

A WIDOW LADY, aged 35, desires a SITUA-TION as Companion to a Lady who travels (no objection to go abroad), or LADY HOUSEKEEPER in a private family where a cook and housemaid are kept, or in a house of business. No objection to children. Clever with the needle. Unexceptionable references.—Address, R. E. S., 5, Cecil-street, Margate, Kent.

THE SOUTH-WESTERN INDEX LIST OF Furnished and Unfurnished HOUSES TO BE LET, and of ESTATES FOR SALE in the SOUTH-WEST of LONDON, is published Monthly by

MR. JAS. STEVENS, AUCTIONEER & ESTATE AGENT,
CLAPHAM COMMON, S.W.

A useful work of reference for those seeking Residences, and saving much trouble in obtaining information of properties for disposal in the S.W. district.

Send postcard with your address, and a copy will be forwarded by return post.

THE LONDON MIRROR.

Published every Saturday; price 4d.
The object of this journal is to set forth the claims of the many Religious, Educational, Benevolent, and Prudential Institutions of the United Kingdom, and week by week to report their proceedings, whether as Meetings, Sermons, Anniversaries, or Elections, so as to present these National Institutions to the favour of the Public.
Office, 59, Southampton-row, Russell-square, London, W.C.

"THE FREEMASON" OF ST. LOUIS.

The Largest Masonic Monthly in the World. Published at St. Louis, Mo., by Geo. FRANK GOULBY, Grand Secretary and Recorder of the four Grand Bodies of Missouri.
The Freemason contains tidings from every quarter of the world and will be found of great advantage to all Masons, especially those interested in American affairs. Terms $2 per annum, and to those who subscribe for the London FREEMASON the price will be $1 50 currency. Postage free.

Subscriptions received by the London FREEMASON.

THE MASONIC TROWEL.—A Masonic

Journal, published on the 15th of every month, by H. G.
REYNOLDS, Jun., Springfield, Illinois, United States of America.
Sixteen pages large quarto. Circulation 20,000 monthly.
Terms to be obtained, and Subscriptions received, at THE FREEMASON Office, 2, 3, and 4, Little Britain, and forwarded free of charge.

THE JEWISH RECORD. ONE PENNY
WEEKLY.

Office:—3, DEVONSHIRE STREET BISHOPSGATE.

THE JEWISH CHRONICLE,

Price Twopence.
Office:—43, FINCHURCH SQUARE, E.C.

Bro. JAMES B. SLY,

Gold Engraver of Arms, Crests, Monograms, and Inscriptions,

RATHBONE PLACE, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON, W.

Volunteer Prizes and Presentation Badges engraved with great dispatch. White Cases Enamelled with Arms and Monograms, Saw-pieces, Monograms made in Metal-Gilt Silver, or Gold, and mounted to Book Covers or Cigar Cases. Masonic emblems made.

DIE-SINKING DEPARTMENT.
Note-paper and Envelope Dies Sink for Keltel, Plain, or Illuminating. Company's Seals and Ornamental Dies cut for Jewellers Relief and Illuminated Stamping executed. Stationery supplied.
Circular and Sample Sheets Free.

GLENFIELD STARCH

is the only kind used in Her Majesty's Laundry.

Those Ladies who have not yet used the GLENFIELD STARCH, are respectfully solicited to give it a trial, and carefully follow out the directions printed on every package. It is rather more difficult to make than other Starches, but when this is overcome, they will say, like the Queen's Laundry, that it is the finest Starch they ever used.
When you ask for the Glenfield, see that you get it.

TESSELATED CARPETING,
FOR

Lodges, Chapters, Encampments, &c.,
Four Feet wide, 3/9 per Yard.

MASONIC DEPOT, LITTLE BRITAIN.

MASONIC BOOKS IN STOCK

Table listing various Masonic books and their prices, including titles like 'Sickel's Ahiman Rezon', 'R.A. Companion', 'Guide to the Chapter', etc.

MASONIC MUSIC IN STOCK

Table listing various Masonic music pieces and their prices, including titles like 'THE RED CROSS SONG', 'WHAT BETTER THEME THAN MASONRY?', etc.

COSMOPOLITAN
MASONIC CALENDAR,

1871.
LISTS OF LODGES, CHAPTERS, CONCLAVES
ENCAMPMENTS, &c., &c.,
IN

The United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, America,
Switzerland, &c., &c.

Post-free, 2s. 2d.; Morocco, Tucked and Gilt.

GEORGE KENNING, 2, 3 & 4, Little Britain, and 198, Fleet-street, London, and 2, Monument-place, Liverpool; and may be had of all Booksellers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Printers, Wholesale
Stationers, and Account Book Manufacturers,
PLAYHOUSE YARD, BLACKFRIARS, LONDON. E.C.
Next the "Times" Office.

REEVES, SON and CO., Publishers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Newspaper Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Magazine Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Law Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Commercial Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Show Card Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Label Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Ornamental and Colour Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Bankers' Cheque Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Copper Plate Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Lithographic Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Lithographic Artists.

REEVES, SON and CO., Map Printers and Colourers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Designers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Stereotypers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Engravers and Die-Sinkers.

REEVES, SON and CO. offer many advantages to Manufacturers and all persons requiring large quantities of Paper and Printing, as they possess the most approved machinery, as well as every other facility for executing orders entrusted to them in the cheapest and best manner.

As PUBLISHERS, their Offices are very central, and they render accounts monthly.

MAPLE and ROSEWOOD
MOULDINGS, best in London.

GILT MOULDINGS, cheapest in the Trade.

10,000 feet of GILT ROOM
BORDERING, in stock, from 1d. per foot.

FIRST-CLASS ENGRAV-
INGS, from 2s. each

CHROMOS, from the Best
Masters, at reduced prices.

57, DRURY LANE, W.C.

BORWICK'S
BAKING POWDER

HAS BEEN AWARDED
TWO GOLD MEDALS

FOR its SUPERIORITY over all OTHERS.

MAKES BREAD, PASTRY, PUDDINGS, &c.,
LIGHT and WHOLESOME.

SOLD in 1d. and 2d. PACKETS,
ALSO 6d. and 1s. PATENT BOXES.

Printed by Brother JAMES ADLEY REEVES and SON, Playhouse Yard, Blackfriars, in the City of London; and published by the Proprietor, Brother GEORGE KENNING, at his Offices, 2, 3 and 4, Little Britain, and 198, Fleet-street, in the City of London, and 2, Monument-place, Liverpool, in the county of Lancaster.—
SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1871.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGES
FREEMASONRY AND ISRAELITISM ... ..	607 & 608
TRADING ON MASONIC REPUTATION ... ..	608
PROV. GRAND LODGE OF CHESHIRE 608, 609, &	610
PROV. GRAND LODGE OF WARWICKSHIRE ... ..	610
PROV. GRAND LODGE OF JERSEY ... ..	611
WEST KENT MASONIC CHARITABLE ASSOCIATION	611
SCOTLAND ... ..	611
ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS ... ..	612
THE MASONIC SEASON ... ..	612
MULTUM IN PARVO ... ..	613
ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE—
"Freemasonry and Judaism" ... ..	613 & 614
The Royal Order of Scotland ... ..	614
Bro. Buchan Again ... ..	615
PROV. GRAND CHAPTER OF YORKSHIRE ... ..	615
CONSECRATION OF A CHAPTER AT KIDDERMINSTER	616
THE CRAFT—
Metropolitan ... ..	616
Provincial ... ..	616
ROYAL ARCH ... ..	616
MARK MASONRY ... ..	616
FOREIGN MASONIC INTELLIGENCE—
Canada ... ..	617
Turkey ... ..	617
POETRY—Sonnet ... ..	617
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ... ..	618
ADVERTISEMENTS ... ..	605, 606, 618, 619, & 620

FREEMASONRY & ISRAELITISM.

BY BRO. WILLIAM CARPENTER, P.M. & P.Z. 177.

XIX.

In my last paper I glanced at the military and maritime qualities which are united in the Anglo-Saxon race, by the exercise of which they have asserted and maintained their high position amongst the nations of the earth. Notwithstanding the comparatively small extent of their home-territory, and the inferiority of their military strength and appliances, they have achieved those conquests and hold those possessions which have already been described. What they have lacked in the numerical strength of their armies, they have made up in their wonderful pluck and endurance. They are brave in fight, and heroic in suffering. No privations or discomforts have sufficed to make them succumb in the face of an enemy, however numerous and powerful, or advantageously circumstanced he might be. They have "supreme endurance in war and in labour;" and their kindred in Germany and in America exhibit the same invincible strength and heroism, and the same self-sustaining qualities. One of the most ardent desires of the first Napoleon was to secure the alliance of England, believing that France and England united might rule the world. But it was not to be. The pre-eminence was reserved for the Saxon, and England, Germany, and America—one race—now rule the world. To England it has been given to occupy the more prominent part in diffusing the truth, for the preservation and promulgation of which Israel was selected, and for the accomplishment of which, power and independence were indispensable. Accordingly, the Anglo-Saxon history is a continuous record of triumphs over difficulties, and of conquests over the opposing powers of darkness and oppression. On this I must be permitted to quote the testimony of one of a rival race, the Abbé Milot, a French Roman Catholic and professor, to whom I have before referred. In the preface to his "Elements of the History of England," he thus writes, and although his sketch is tinged by the bias which we might expect in one so far removed from us in race and religion, his admiration for our character and achievements was not overcome by his predilections and prejudices:—

"No modern history, it must be confessed, presents to our view so great a number of striking pictures as that of England. We see here a people free, warlike, unconquerable, and a long time ferocious, preserve the same characteristic qualities through a successive train of bloody revolutions. Depressed by the arms and the despotism of the ambitious William, Duke of Normandy; gloriously governed by Henry the Second, the most powerful monarch of Europe, though embroiled with the Church; they groaned afterwards under the tyranny of King John; and this very tyranny procured them the Great Charter, the eternal basis of their freedom. The English then imposed their crown on France, drove out the French prince they had called to the throne, and became the terror of the monarchy of Clovis, which seemed on the point of submitting to the yoke. But France, at length, after an interval of calamity and madness, called forth its resources, recovered its ancient glory, inseparable from the cause of its kings; triumphed over a haughty enemy, whose victories were the fruit of our fatal dissensions; and to revenge itself had only to leave its enemy a prey to dissensions still more cruel. Two rival, but kindred, houses, impelled to arms by rage and ambition, snatched from each other's brow a diadem drenched in blood; princes assassinated princes; the people massacred each other for the choice of a master, and England became a theatre of anarchy and carnage. Under the Tudors we see tranquility restored, and the national strength augmented; but liberty destroyed. A prince, violent and capricious, habituates to the chains of despotism this proud and restless nation. He domineers over religion itself; and Rome, for having opposed him, loses, at one blow, a kingdom which had ever been one of its most fruitful sources of services and of riches. Mary attempts, in vain, to restore, by severe punishments, a worship which, having truth for its basis, ought to subdue minds by no arms but those of persuasion. She succeeds only in making inconstant hypocrites, or inflexible fanatics; she renders for ever detestable herself and the faith she wishes to establish. At length Elizabeth reigns. Her genius enchains fortune, fertilizes the earth, animates all the arts, opens to her people an immense career of commerce, and fixes in the ocean the foundations of the English Dominion. Continually surrounded by enemies, foreign or domestic, she defeats conspiracies by her prudence, and triumphs over the forces of Philip the Second by her courage. Happy had she known how to conquer her own heart, and to spare a rival, whose blood, alone, tarnishes her memory! But how impenetrable are the decrees of Heaven! The son of Mary Stuart succeeds to Elizabeth; the scaffold, on which his mother received the stroke of death, serves him as a step to mount the throne of England, from which his son is destined to be precipitated, to expire also on a scaffold. It is at this period we see multiplying before our eyes those celebrated scenes of which the universe furnishes no example: an absurd fanaticism forming profound systems of policy, at the same time that it signalises itself by prodigies of folly and extravagance: an enlightened enthusiast, a great general and statesman, opening to himself, under the mask of piety, the road to the supreme power; subjects carrying on judicially the trial of a virtuous monarch, and causing him to be publicly beheaded, as a rebel. The hypocritical author of all this, reigning with as much glory as power: making himself the arbiter of crowns, and enjoying, even to his tomb, the fruits of his tyranny: the Parliament—the slave of the Tudors, the tyrant of the Stuarts, the accomplice and dupe of Cromwell, exercising the noblest right which men can possess over their fellow-creatures—that of making laws, and maintaining their execution. At length, from this chaos of horrors, comes forth a government which excites the admiration of Europe. A sudden revolution again changes the face of affairs. The lawful heir is acknowledged; his stormy reign develops the sentiment of patriotism; the imprudence of his successor alarms the national spirit of liberty; his subjects revolt; they call in a deliverer; the Stadtholder of Holland dethrones, without bloodshed, his timid and irresolute father-in-law; the usurpation is established by the sanction of the laws; but those very laws impose conditions on the prince, and whilst he holds the balance of Europe, his will is almost without force in England. After him a woman presides over the destinies of nations, makes France tremble, humbles Louis the Fourteenth, and covers herself with immortal glory, by giving him peace, in spite of the clamours of an ambitious cabal. Anne, with less talent and more virtues than Elizabeth, has merited one of the first places among great monarchs. The sceptre passes again into foreign hands, complicated interests embarrass the government, and the British Constitution seems declining from its original principles."

The averment with which the Abbé concludes is true. Upon the death of Anne, George, Elector of Hanover, was proclaimed king. The Whigs having thus secured their object, the Tories opened a correspondence with "the Pretender." The West of England and Scotland, rising, proclaimed Charles Stuart king, and a day was fixed for his coronation. But the Whigs again triumphed. The Pretender and many of his distinguished adherents escaped to France, and the Hanoverian family was established on the throne. The party contests of the Whigs and Tories, however, waxed fiercer and fiercer; and in the time of George the Second, bribery and intimidation were unscrupulously employed by one party to put down the other, so that Parliament became a hotbed of corruption, and the instrument of aristocratic misrule and violence. The electoral system was an impudent sham, employed for the purpose of maintaining and strengthening the power of which the aristocracy had possessed themselves. As Sidney Smith wrote, "The country belongs to the Duke of Rutland, Lord Lonsdale, the Duke of Newcastle, and about twenty other holders of boroughs. They are our masters." So far was the House of Commons from being a representation of the people, that when Pitt informed the king that the House of Commons desired his mercy to be exercised in favour of Admiral Byng, his Majesty replied, "You have taught me, sir, to seek for the popular opinion elsewhere than in the House of Commons." In the few boroughs that were not absolutely ruled by the aristocracy, bribery and intimidation formed the "constitutional" power. Foote, in one of his comedies, makes an elector say, "When I first became an elector, I got only thirty guineas for a pair of knight's boots, whereas my neighbour, for just the same affair, had the luck to receive a fifty-pound note for a pair of wash-leather breeches." This was only a fair representation of parliamentary corruption. In 1790, a gooseberry-bush was sold, during an election, for £800. The polling, in case of a contested county election, lasted forty days, during which time the public-houses were thrown open, and the candidates paid for all that was therein eaten or drank. In 1767, Lord Chesterfield wrote to his son, that rotten boroughs were to be had for from £3000 to £5000; but they soon rose to £9000, and then very much higher, for, at the election of 1794, Gatton fetched £70,000, and Lord Monson is said to have given as much as £180,000 for it. To bribery was added coercion; and Court influence made itself felt by the withdrawal of custom, or the dismissal of functionaries. What was done in the Palace was done elsewhere, and wherever intimidation or coercion could be substituted for bribery, it was unsparingly used. And all this was openly defended in Parliament itself, as necessary for the well-being of the country. "According to the theory of the Constitution," said the Earl of Chatham, "there should be a constant connection between the representatives and the electors. Will any man say that this connection now exists?" Speaking of the close boroughs, he said, "They are the rotten parts of the Constitution, but, like the evils of the body, we must bear them patiently—we must carry them about with us; the limb may be mortified, but amputation would be death." And Burke declared that the Parliament was still, and ever had been, exactly what it should be; and that whoever wished to reform it would be attempting to overthrow the Constitution. It needs hardly be said, that the result of this state of the parliamentary "representation," as it is called, was to place the lower ten thousand at the mercy of the upper ten thousand. This was described by Lord Erskine, in alluding to the trial of Hardy for high treason, he having been his counsel. Referring to the pressure against which he had to contend, he said, "Under all this I could have looked up for protection, in other circumstances; I could, as defending one of the people in a fearful extremity, have looked up to the Commons of England, to hold a shield before the subject, against the Crown; but in this case, I found that shield of the subject a sharp and destroying sword, in the hands of the enemy—the protecting House of Commons was itself, by corruption and infatuation, the accuser, instead of the defender, of the subject: it acted as an Old Bailey solicitor, to prepare briefs for the Crown, and that in a case which the judges declared to be so new that they were obliged to try experiments in the legal constitution, to find a way of trying it."

The power of the aristocracy, as exercised through their landowning, and their control over the legislature, was such as can now scarcely be conceived of. As Emerson remarks, "The Selwyn correspondence, in the reign of George the Third, discloses a rottenness in the aristocracy which threatened to decompose the State. The sycophancy and the sale of votes and honour, for place and title; lewdness, gaming, smuggling, bribery, and cheating; the sneer at the childish indiscretion of quarrelling with £10,000 a year; the want of ideas; the splendour of the titles, and the apathy of the nation are instructive, and make the reader pause, and explore the firm bounds which confine these vices to a handful of rich men. In the reign of the Fourth George, things do not seem to have mended, and the rotten debauchee let down from a window, by an inclined plane, into his coach, to take the air, was a scandal to Europe."

This might seem to be enough to sink the nation into a slough of despond; but, "Fear not, for I am with thee; be not dismayed, for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee by the right hand of my righteousness" (Isa. xli. 10). Through all insurrections, and intrigues, and political and religious corruption, through wars and conspiracies, the nation has been borne, and we have lived to see the day in which the buttresses which were raised to preserve aristocratic rule and misrule, and all the exclusive privileges which they had taken to themselves—monopolising not only the seat of power, with all its appendages and emoluments, but the great seats of learning also—colleges and universities—are being thrown down, one after another, and all classes are taking their proper places within the portals of the Constitution, while the foundations of that glorious edifice are being so enlarged and strengthened that we may foresee the time when it shall be said of the race, "Behold, I will lay thy stones with fair colours, and thy foundations with sapphires: and I will make thy battlements of rubies, and thy gates of carbuncles: and the whole circuit of thy walls shall be of precious stones; and all thy children shall be taught by Jehovah; and great shall be the prosperity of thy children. In righteousness shalt thou be established. Be thou far from oppression; yea, thou shalt not fear it; and from terror, for it shall not approach thee. . . . Whosoever is leagued against thee shall come over to thy side. . . . Whatsoever weapon is formed against thee it shall not prosper; and against every tongue, that contendeth against thee thou shalt obtain thy cause. This is the heritage of Jehovah's servants, and their justification from me, saith Jehovah" (Isa. liv. 11-17).

TRADING on MASONIC REPUTATION.

A practice—to call it by its mildest name—has found its way among us. I allude to that of bartering and trading upon Masonic reputation. This practice, pernicious in every way, can not wholly have escaped your observation. It spreads, like every other evil, and in the West seems to have passed unrebuked. I desire to point to it as immasonic, and brand it as infamous. What would we not be justified in saying of that man who, to obtain special favour or credit, or to sell his merchandise, pledges his sacred honour as a man and a Mason, but when his end is attained or his business accomplished, scruples not to bid open defiance to him by whom he has been so kindly favoured. Such men are suffered to pass through the door of the Mystic Temple. Shame, shame upon such! they no longer deserve the name of Mason, for they have long since forfeited all claims they may have had by such practices, so closely akin to swindling, and professions full of falsehood. Figure to yourselves, I pray you, one who, having put on our sacred and time-honoured emblems, goes out into the world, and in the full blaze of day unblushingly prostitutes them for mercenary purposes. Scorn is the sole reward due to all such pretenders. May stern contempt meet them at every turn, until they reform or for ever abandon our temples and avoid our ranks on public and private occasions. I trust this Grand Lodge will, at this time, put its mark of condemnation upon all such vices, and thus reaffirm a right as old as our Institution, to correct such as threaten its prosperity. The integrity of Masonry depends upon the purity of its members. There is no purity in wrong—no sanctity in vice. Whoever, then, would be an upright man and a Mason, must eschew the one and avoid the other. A stand must be taken! The time is propitious! Let us, then, do what both law and reason dictates, and find our recompense in a continuance of order, harmony, and peace; and, while we rejoice in personal progress, no less so may we in the unsullied beauty of our ancient Order. Time tries all things and tests all reputations. We, too, must pass the ordeal. May the Supreme Architect grant us the power to do somewhat as Craftsmen to which our successors can point with joyous pride and receive with glad emotions.—Jno. H. Brown, G.M. Kansas.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF CHESHIRE.

On Thursday, the 21st instant, the Right Honourable Lord de Tabley, R.W.P. Grand Master, held his annual Provincial Grand Lodge of the province of Chester at the Castle Hall School, Staleybridge, which was more largely and influentially attended than any that have yet been held. His lordship's popularity as the Masonic head of the province has never been doubted, and the gathering on Thursday, as well as the hearty reception given to him by all the brethren assembled, gave still further evidence of the high place he occupies in the affection and esteem of all classes of Masons within his jurisdiction. The Staleybridgers made their rather uninviting town as pleasant and lively as possible by a profuse display of bunting in the principal streets, and crowds of open-mouthed spectators lined the principal thoroughfares when the brethren of the mystic tie turned out as a body to attend church, The Birkenhead contingent, about thirty strong, started from Lime-street about eleven o'clock, and arrived at Staleybridge shortly after twelve, where a large body of Masons from the other parts of the province had already assembled. With one exception, the whole of the thirty-five lodges in the province were represented, there being about 270 brethren present, exclusive of visitors.

Amongst the principals in Masonry present were Bros. H. Bulley, P.P.J.G.W.; S. E. Ibbs, P.G.S.B.; J. P. Platt, P.P.J.G.W.; J. F. Jones, W.M. 1276; Thomas Platt, P.P.J.G.D.; E. Friend, P.M. 1013, W.M. 1289; F. K. Stevenson, P.M. 537 and 1289; J. H. Johnston, P.P.G.S., S.W. 477, W.M. 1350; J. B. Mackenzie, 349; T. K. Hughes, P.M. 477, W.M. 1013; W. Little, Sec. 477; E. Harbord, P.M. and W.M. 477; Thomas Dixon, S.D. 477; John Griffiths, J.W. 477; J. Sillitoe, W.M. 605; John Horbury, P.M. 605 and W.M. 1325; R. Ridyard, 477; J. Buckley, S.W. 1322; J. Lancashire, W.M. 1354; W. Davies, W.M. 1218; James D. Buerley, P.M. 1088; W. Emmett, W.M. 1088; J. D. Kennedy, P.P.G. Treas. E.L.; F. Gaskell, W.M. 267; J. H. Hartley, S.W. 1126; R. Gracie, P.M. 477; John Clayton, W.M. 89; G. Seddon, P.M. 830; J. R. France, W.M. 830; J. Drinkwater, W.M. 361; C. Hadfield, P.M. 830; J. Ashton, P.M. 320; S. Warhurst, P.M. 89; J. Bowden, W.M. 336; T. H. Fleming, W.M. 1088; J. McEvoy, W.M. 721; P. Wills, P.M. 1088; W. S. Astle, P.M. 267; S. Drury, P.M. 89; J. E. Williams, W.M. 425; J. Howard, P.M. 1030; W. Bradley, P.M. 89; C. H. Hill, P.M. 1276 and 321; James M. Radcliffe, S.D. 605; C. Staley, J.D. 605; C. Dutton, P.G.S.B.; S. W. Wilkinson, Past P.J.G.D.; T. Smith, P.P.J.G.D.; J. Brattan, P.G. Supt. of Works; E. J. Willoughby, P.P.J.G.W.; and R. Beales, P.P.J.G.W.

About an hour after the specified time (12 o'clock), the R.W.P.G.M. and the other Grand Officers entered the lodge room, and were received in a truly Masonic manner. The lodge was then opened in a due form, after which the roll was called. The P.G. Secretary read the minutes of the last annual and special Provincial Grand Lodge meetings, which were confirmed unanimously. The minutes of a meeting of the committee of the Fund of Benevolence on the 29th March last were also read and confirmed without comment. The R.W.P.G.M. read a letter from the P.G. Treasurer apologising for and regretting his absence from ill-health, and afterwards expressed a hope that he would soon be restored. When it was considered that only 18 years had elapsed since they had merely £300 invested, and contrasting that with the present financial position of the Fund of Benevolence, he thought they ought to congratulate themselves on the progress which had been made in the cause of charity.

The Deputy Treasurer read the statement of accounts of the Fund of Benevolence, from which it appeared there were £1200 invested, and £70 6s. 4d. in hand, and the Provincial Grand Lodge Fund now amounted to £145 14s. 1d.

The R.W.P.G.M. said he doubtless expressed the cordial feeling of that numerous and influential meeting when he rose to propose that Bro. Bland be re-elected P.G. Treasurer for the next twelve months. This re-election was fully warranted by the healthy state of the funds. He again expressed a hope that Bro. Bland might soon be restored to health.

Bro. Cope said he had much pleasure in seconding the nomination, especially as it was now made for the eighteenth time.

The proposal for the re-election of Bro. Bland was then carried amid loud cheers.

The R.W.P.G.M. then invested the following Grand Officers, each of whom was cordially applauded, the investiture by his lordship being made with that suavity and kindness of manner which have made him so popular in his province:—Charles Dutton, P.G.S.W.; Captain Fearnly, P.G.J.W.; Rev. R. Hodgson, P.G. Chaplain; J. Wood, P.G. Reg.; G. H. Griffiths, P.G. Secretary; T. Wainwright, P.G.S.D.; W. I. Bates, P.G.J.D.; J. T. Lea, P.G. Sup. of Works; F. Jackson, P.G.D.C.; T. Bowers, A.P.G.D.C.; F. K. Stevenson, P.G.S.B.; Barlow, P.G.O.; B. Cooper, P.G. Pur.; J. Swindell, P.G. Tyler; Fenton, Hill, Howard, Jackson, Ingham, and A. Wallace, P.G. Stewards.

The R.W.P.G.M. then said he could not do better than re-appoint Bro. Cope as Chairman of the Committee of the Fund of Benevolence for the ensuing year, feeling that in doing so he was only consulting the feelings of every Brother in the province. (Loud cheers.)

The R.W.P.G.M. said he would now address a few words to the brethren, and he was happy to be able to say they would be words of good omen and congratulation—congratulation on the state of Masonry in that province. He could not help expressing satisfaction at the harmonious working of all the lodges throughout that large district, and the complete good feeling which prevailed generally amongst the brethren of their Order. (Cheers.) He hoped and trusted that the spirit of Masonry would spread—and it would spread—and that brotherly love and harmony would increase. The past year had not been characterised by any remarkable event, but the progress of Freemasonry had been slow and steady, which was, perhaps, more satisfactory than any sudden outburst of new lodges. He had the satisfaction of consecrating a new lodge in that province on Monday last, which promised to take a high place, bearing the name of one whom they all respected—the Cope Lodge. (Applause.) The Fund of Benevolence was in a most flourishing state, and during the past year £50 had been voted for the relief of the sick and wounded in the war, and £30 for the relief of two deserving brethren. His lordship also referred to the success which had attended their efforts in obtaining the admission of one boy to the London Freemasons' School, which was entirely owing to the exertions of the committee. He also congratulated the brethren in the province in having three boys in the school, five old Masons on the Annuitants' Fund, and two widows on the charity—a fact which was highly satisfactory. He trusted the brethren would pull together in the future, so that they might always carry their candidates. He also expressed great satisfaction at the cordial reception the Provincial Grand Lodge had received from the brethren in Staleybridge, as shown by their large muster, and concluded by announcing his intention of holding the next Provincial Grand Lodge at Crewe. (Applause.)

After a vote of thanks had been proposed to the Rev. Thomas Floyd, incumbent of Holy Trinity Church, for the use of that building for the service, the lodge was closed in due form and with solemn prayer.

Headed by the band of the 13th C.R.V., a procession was formed, and the brethren proceeded to Holy Trinity Church, where full cathedral service was performed under the direction of the P.G.O. (Bro. G. Barlow). A sermon was preached by the P.G. Chaplain (Bro. R. Hodgson), who gave a discourse peculiarly suitable to the occasion. A collection amounting to £20 10s., was made at the close of the service, which will be divided between the Fund of Benevolence and the district infirmary of Staleybridge.

On their return from church, nearly 300 brethren sat down to dinner in the Mechanics' Hall, under the presidency of the R.W.P.G.M., who was supported right and left by the Prov. Grand Officers, past and present. The repast was anything but satisfactory, and complaints were very general as to the insufficient supply of provisions, there being something like a scramble to get anything in the shape of creature comforts. The excuse for shortcomings was that the number who sat down greatly exceeded what was anticipated, and it was also stated that the purveyor had made the provision at very short notice, in consequence of the person entrusted with the arrangements having given them notice only on the previous evening. As all the brethren paid the full figure, however, and as many had only a half-dinner and no dessert, the complaints were not without good foundation. The gallery was fully occupied by a brilliant and fashionable assembly of ladies, to whom cake and wine were supplied during the evening. The large hall was decorated with great taste by a profuse display of flags, parti-coloured cloth, flowers, &c., giving the interior of the hall a peculiarly striking and attractive appearance.

After dinner, the R.W.P.G.M. proposed the toast of "The Queen," referring to her Majesty's recent illness, and expressing a fervent hope—a hope which must be cordially cherished by every Mason—that she might be speedily restored to health, and be long spared to reign over them. (The toast was honoured with great cordiality.)

In proposing the toast, "M.W. Patron of the Order, H.R.H. The Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester, the Princess of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family," his lordship said he had great pleasure in being present recently at the installation of the Prince of Wales as W.M. of a private lodge—the Royal Arthur. By taking this position, H.R.H. had shown his interest in the Craft, and proved that he was a true and enthusiastic Mason. He had also given his countenance to all the dinners connected with their Charities, and was, therefore, with the Countess of Chester (the Princess of Wales), worthy of their cordiality in honouring that toast. (Drunk with the greatest enthusiasm.)

Lord de Tabley then gave "The Health of the M.W.G.M., the Marquis of Ripon," a Masonic sovereign of whom they had just cause to be proud, and he was certain the brethren would drink the toast with all the enthusiasm which it deserved. (Loud cheers.) He considered the Craft was particularly fortunate in having a man of Lord Ripon's position and ability to preside over them—(hear, hear)—and doubly fortunate, when they found he could devote so much time to the performance of his duties. He was not only distinguished as a statesman, but equally so as a Mason. His mission to their English-speaking cousins in America had been carried out in the true spirit of Masonry—(hear, hear)—and with all the ability of a statesman. (The toast was received with great cordiality, and "three times three.")

Lord de Tabley next gave "The D.G.M., the Earl of Carnarvon, and the officers of the Grand Lodge, Past and Present," and said he was proud to have had several of their number present at the meeting that day. In referring particularly to Lord Carnarvon, he said his lordship was above party politics in connection with the Craft, in which he was only guided by brotherly love. (The brethren received the toast with the greatest cordiality.)

Bro. Latham, Past G. Reg., whose name, along with Bro. Cope's, was coupled with the toast, returned his most hearty thanks for the manner in which the brethren had honoured the toast.

He could assure them that all connected with the Grand Lodge were most anxious to do their duty and attend to the interests of all the lodges; and although the charge was sometimes brought that provincial interests were overlooked, it was not because the officers of Grand Lodge willingly neglected them, but because the different lodges in the country did not send up their Masters and Wardens to attend the Grand Lodge. (Hear, hear.) Apart from this subject, however, he had a charge to bring against some one—and particularly against those who had had the arrangements in hand in connection with the proceedings of that day—for degrading the sacred cause of Masonry into mere processions through the streets. Whereas, the procession of Masons was only allowed for a particular object, where something was to be done, that day they had been taken, at great trouble and inconvenience, through street after street, where nothing was to be seen and nothing to be done. Therefore, in the names of Masonry and the Grand Officers, he must strongly protest against such proceedings, which would bring Freemasonry into the same category with Oddfellows, Druids, and other bodies of a like nature. The objects of Masonry were much higher, and not like those of mere benefit societies, which get up their processions with the view of attracting members and securing contributions. The objects of Freemasonry were charity and benevolence—not to benefit themselves, but to do good to the whole world. He, therefore, thought Masons should act differently from those societies, whose principal object in these processions was to raise funds to support their members in old age. As a proof that Masonic objects were not to be limited to their own lodges, he (Bro. Latham) might adduce that precedent when that Great Master—one of the greatest Masons who ever lived on this earth—was asked on the holy mountain whether there should not be three lodges—one to celebrate the Christian dispensation, one the Masonic dispensation, and one the prophetic dispensation—made no answer but went down to the world to suffer persecution and do good to the whole world. If Masons acted in this way, instead of considering the Craft a mere gathering for their own purposes, it would then be respected all over the world as one of the links in the grand chain of human sympathy.

Bro. Cope, who was received with long and continued applause, also responded to the toast, and before sitting down proposed "The R.W.P.G.M.," passing a glowing eulogium upon him as a Freemason, a statesman, peer, landlord, and neighbour, and expressing an earnest hope that he might long be spared to reign over the province of Cheshire. (The toast was received with the utmost enthusiasm.)

Lord de Tabley, on rising to respond, was again cheered to the echo. He remarked that he had never seen a more numerous or influential gathering of that lodge than there had been that day, only one lodge out of the province being unrepresented. Bro. Latham had referred to a most difficult and delicate subject, and one with which he also felt a little puzzled, but one in which he felt bound to submit to the feelings of the province, and those particular towns and localities which he visited. ("Hear, hear," and cheers.) Strictly speaking, they had no right to go to church, but they did so in accordance with ancient custom, irrespective of creeds or sects, and as one great community. He must speak with great respect of Foresters, Oddfellows, and other societies of a like nature, which were all excellent in their way; but the brethren ought to remember that, as Freemasons, they were bound together for the sacred cause of charity. While thinking their processions ought to be curtailed, that which had taken place that day had brought out the evidence of a hearty welcome by the inhabitants of Staleybridge. If they asked him as a Mason, he would say, "Don't have any processions;" but if they asked him as a P.G.M., he felt it his duty to concur in the arrangements made by those who managed them. (Applause.)

The toast of "Bro. George Cornwall Legh, M.P., R.W.D.P.G.M., and the P.G. Officers," was responded to by Bro. Dutton, P.S.G.W.,

Mayor of Chester, who remarked that he felt the responsibility of that office more than those in connection with his native city, because he followed one (Bro. Cope) who had long and ably performed the functions devolving upon him.

The P.G.M. then proposed the toast of "The W.M.'s of the Moira and Royal Edward Lodges," and, in reply, Bro. Davies, D.C. 324 and W.M. 1218 (who spoke on behalf of the brethren referred to), said he deeply regretted to hear the remarks which had been made upon other orders, which fulfilled their duties as sincerely as Freemasonry itself. (Hear, hear.) He regretted this all the more because he felt bound to say that four-fifths of the brethren present belonged to other orders. (Cries of "No," and "Yes.") They ought to give the members of those orders credit for honesty; but he quite agreed with Bro. Latham in thinking that there ought to be no Masonic processions through the streets, and therefore he hoped that brother would not carry away with him the impression that they were fond of parade.

After the toast of "The Visiting P.G. Officers of the neighbouring Provinces" had been responded to by Bro. Kennedy, P.P.G.T. E.L., Lord De Tabley gave "The charities within the Province," referring especially to the Cheshire Masonic Educational Institution.

Bro. J. P. Platt acknowledged the toast, remarking that in their educational institution they had 24 children who were receiving its benefits. That institution had great claims upon the brethren within the province, and he trusted they would continue their efforts for its prosperity.

"The London Charities" (proposed by Bro. J. P. Platt, and acknowledged by Bro. Cope), "The Visiting Brethren," and, "All Poor and Distressed Masons," were amongst the other toasts on the list. During the evening an excellent selection of music was sung at intervals by Bros. Edmondson, Stafford, Andrew, Ball, Vaudrey, and Moss, under the direction of Bro. Barlow, P.G.O., who presided at the pianoforte.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF WARWICKSHIRE.

The annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Warwickshire was held at Kenilworth. The brethren assembled at the King's Arms Hotel, where proceedings were opened in the Stoneleigh Lodge, of which Bro. Bushell is Worshipful Master. Lord Leigh, as Prov. G.M., assumed the chair. There were also present: Lieutenant-Colonel Machen, Deputy Provincial Grand Master. Officers of the Stoneleigh Lodge: F. Bushell, W.M.; J. D. Whitty, P.M.; H. E. Barton, S.W.; B. Hicks, J.W.; H. Bursell, J.W.; F. Stonhouse, Chaplain; J. Overton, Secretary; G. Godfrey, S.D.; W. Manton, J.D.; J. Owen, I.G.; W. Turner, Tyler; D. R. Wynter, Senior Steward. Members: Flinn, Stockwell, Hammond, Owen, Adams, Hicks Eaves, Corbett, and Masters. Visitors: J. R. Chirm, P.M. 473; J. Darwen, P.M. 473; M. Baker, W.M. 1016; C. H. Williams, W.M. 43; W. Ketty, W.M. 739; E. Worrall, P.P.G.D.C.; H. Harding, 587; Henry Watts, Athol Lodge; S. Wood, S.W. 1163; J. Walker, W.M. 254; W. Hall, W.M. 1031; J. Goffe, 1246; J. Hutton, W.M. 473; G. Rogers, 1246; H. Swinson, J. Kennedy, J.D., 1031; F. Cohen, W.M. 1333; J. Somers 1153; H. Holemslaw, W.M. 138; W. Walters, P.M. 74; M. Suffield, P.M. 925; J. W. Taverner, P.M. 432; W. M. Cooper, 1180; W. H. Powell, W.M. Leigh Lodge; J. W. Vivian, J. G. Biermas, J.W. Temperance 739; J. Beech, P.G. Secretary; H. Smith, W.M. Holte Lodge; R. Redman, 892; W. D. Fairfax, P.M. 43; Edward Bushell, 254; Thomas Jackson, Old Globe Secretary; G. P. Dunn, P.M. 301; P. Packwood, P.M. 1014; T. Clarke, 284; T. H. S.

Cundall, 284; R. D. Vaughton, W.M. 567; G. S. Walton, 567; W. Hawkins, 1180; C. A. Horton, 1180; W. H. Hayward, S.W. 887; W. Shakespeare 887; C. F. Crich, J.W. 395; J. Pursall, P.G.S.W.; T. Griffiths, 395; T. Bragg, P.M. 74; J. P. Salt, P.G.S.B., 887; C. Lee, P.G.S.D.; J. Bragg, P.M. 473; T. Clarke, P.P.G., S.W. 254; V. Taylor, 925, P.G.P.; G. W. Dickenson, P.P.G. Supt. Works, 502; H. Swete, P.G.O. 1222; J. W. Hance, 395; J. B. Hall, 1031; E. Burfield, 395; W. Walby, 395; H. Slantey, 393; W. Green, 395; and many others.

After the opening of the lodge in the customary form, the various lodges were called. After which the roll of P.G. officers was submitted. The minutes of the P.G. Lodge, holden at the Grosvenor Lodge, Birmingham, on April 19, 1871, were then confirmed. The reports of the Audit Committee and the Benevolent and Annuity Fund Committee were next laid before the meeting and approved.

P.G.S.B. Salt presented the lifeboat report, which stated that the first meeting of the committee was held at the Masonic Hall on May 3rd, at which the following officers were appointed:—Bro. Lord Leigh, P.G.M., president; Bro. Colonel Machen, D.P.G.M., chairman; Bro. Capt. Salt, P.G.S.E., treasurer. At a meeting of the committee, held on 7th September, additional subscriptions, amounting to £100 11s., were announced, making a total of £263 18s. 6d., leaving to be collected £216 18s. 6d. The committee had issued 1,000 circulars to brethren in the provinces, and it was hoped that when the lodges resumed labour, the amount required to complete the subscription list would be speedily forthcoming. The committee was of opinion that the time had arrived when a vigorous effort should be made to close the list, and urged upon the brethren the desirability of taking steps to accomplish that object.

D.P.G.M. Machen, in moving the adoption of the report, remarked that the lodges of the province were deeply indebted to Bro. Salt for the kind interest he had taken in, and great labour he had bestowed upon, the scheme for purchasing a Warwickshire Masonic Lifeboat. He hoped that before the lodge met again, the whole of the money required would be subscribed. He was gratified to announce that the Provincial Grand Master (Lord Leigh) had authorised the Hon. Secretary to double his subscription of ten guineas. He trusted that the liberal act of his lordship would be an incentive to those who had not yet contributed to the fund.

The adoption of the report having been duly seconded,

Bro. Salt announced that the committee had arranged to hold their next meeting in November, for the reason that by that time all the lodges in the provinces would have met for business. It required only the small sum of £10 from each lodge to complete the subscription list. If it were possible to launch the boat before winter, the Freemasons of Warwickshire would have the satisfaction of feeling, when they ate their Christian dinner, that something had been done by them for those whose dangerous business it was to go down into the deep waters, and brave the tempest, for a livelihood. Looking to the temper of the lodge, and the Freemasons generally, upon the subject, he had no doubt that before the next meeting the balance required to purchase the lifeboat would be subscribed.

Bro. Quilter (Holte Lodge) rose to present to the P.G.M. a cheque for 20 guineas, the proceeds of a garden party held the other day at the Aston Lower Grounds in aid of the Masonic Lifeboat scheme. Bro. Quilter said he had hoped the contribution would have been double the sum; but there was the satisfaction of knowing that the introduction of ladies into the gathering had resulted in the collection from them, after tea, of a sum of nearly seven guineas.

The P.G.M., on behalf of the Grand Lodge, thanked Bro. Quilter for his kindness, and for his handsome subscription. He added that the brethren must be deeply indebted to Bro. Salt, for the warmth and energy he had displayed in the movement.

The report was then adopted, and notice of motion was given that at the next meeting a vote of twenty guineas towards the lifeboat, from the funds of the Prov. Grand Lodge, would be proposed.

The only Warwickshire candidate for the Masonic Charities was a girl named Jennings, whom it was unanimously resolved to support. Her father was an old and a deserving member of a Birmingham Lodge.

After the lodge meeting, the brethren proceeded to church, where a sermon was preached by the Rev. Bro. Harris, Provincial Grand Chaplain. He selected for his text the 6th verse of the 133rd Psalm, "Behold, how good and how joyful a thing it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." After speaking generally on the blessings of peace and concord among men, and the horrors of warfare, such as had been witnessed recently on the Continent, he proceeded to remind his brother members of the peaceful principles on which their order was based. They called themselves, and were proved to be so, an ancient and honourable fraternity, and without question that appellation was strictly true and appropriate. Ancient they were, and honourable they must be, if they only carried out in their daily lives their professed principles. In proof of antiquity, they could point to a countless number of stately edifices, the foundations of which were laid by members of their Craft, in remote ages gone by, and were by them erected for purposes of worship, defence, or beauty. Even in the neighbourhood of the church in which they were now assembled, stood the ruins of a proud castle which once over-awed the nation with its towers and battlements, among the walls of which were stones speaking to the initiated of the labours of their ancient operative brethren. As to their being an honourable body, he need scarcely remind them that for many a century past, the best and noblest in the land had regarded it as a high honour to have their names enrolled as members of their order. But that was not all, there was still another and a higher sense in which they might claim to be regarded as honourable—namely, those glorious principles to which they had given in their adhesion, and to carry out which was their solemn profession. These were faith, hope, charity, brotherly love, relief, truth, loyalty, justice, and virtue—a trial of three-fold cords, which neither the malignity nor subtlety of their foes could rend asunder. Here were to be found true "liberty, equality, and fraternity," words much abused by the world, and but slightly comprehended by many; but they represented principles really ancient, which lay at the bottom of all true religion, of all civilisation, of all that constituted a man's duty to his God and his neighbour.

At the conclusion of the service, a collection was made in aid of the benevolent fund of the Order. The brethren then marched back to the King's Head, where a first-class dinner was provided by Mr. Dempster, the landlord. Lord Leigh presided.

PROV. GRAND LODGE of JERSEY.

The annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge for the Island of Jersey was held on the 18th instant, at the Masonic Temple. The R.W. Bro. Colonel Edward C. Malet de Carteret, Prov. G.M., occupied the throne, assisted by W. Bros. Dr. J. Le Cronier, D.P.G.M.; A. Schmitt, S.W.; J. O. Le Sucur, as J.W.; Edward D. Le Couteur, P.P.G.S.W., as Secretary; P. W. Benham, Treas.; A. Viel, S.D.; H. E. Tinckam, Dir. of Cers.; Ed. M. Lott, Organist; General Lane, C.B., Sword-bearer; Fred. Cooke, Purst.; John Thomas du Jardin, P.P.G.S.W.; W. Adams, P.P.S.G.W.; Ph. Binet, P.P.G. Reg.; C. Kingsworth, P.P.J.G.W.; John Durell, P.P.G. Treas.; John Blampied, P.P. Dir. of Cers.; Henry L. Manuel, P.P.G.D.C.; Col. Kelly, the Prov. G. Stewards, Masters, Past Masters, and Wardens of the several lodges in the province, and about 40 other brethren.

The Prov. Grand Lodge was opened in due form, when the minutes of the last Prov. Grand Lodge were read by the Secretary and confirmed. The report of the Committee of the Local Fund of Benevolence was also read, approved, and received.

The Treasurer read a financial statement, duly audited, for the past year, and an abstract of the accounts to the present time, which were unanimously adopted.

The report of the Committee for General Purposes was next presented, stating that the following lodges had made their returns, viz., Mechanics (245), Royal Sussex (491), La Césarée (590), Royal Alfred (877), St. Aubin's (958), and Prince of Wales (1003). This report was also adopted, and ordered to be entered on the minutes.

Before presenting to Bro. John Durell, a vote of thanks, artistically inscribed on vellum, in accordance with the resolution adopted at the last meeting of Prov. Grand Lodge, the Prov. Grand Master expressed his pleasure in being called upon to remit him this mark of high esteem and appreciation by the Prov. G.L. of his continuous and zealous efforts to promote the advancement of Masonry, and the interests of the Craft in this province particularly, as the most effective means the brethren had of conveying to him their fraternal regard, and in recognition of his faithful and devoted services to the Fraternity. The Prov. G.M. then read the inscription, which is as follows:—

"At a meeting of the Prov. Grand Lodge held at the Masonic Temple, on Tuesday, the 13th October, 1870, it was unanimously resolved, on the proposition of the R.W. Bro. Col. E. C. Malet de Carteret, Prov. G.M., seconded by the V.W. Bro. Dr. J. Le Cronier, D.P.G.M.:

"That the most cordial thanks of this Provincial Grand Lodge be due, and are hereby given, to W. Brother John Durell, P.M., P.Z., 590, for the admirable, honourable, and satisfactory manner in which under difficulties of no ordinary character, he has faithfully, and with credit to the Craft, filled the high and responsible office of Provincial Grand Treasurer during four consecutive years, viz., 1866, 1867, 1868, and 1869; and that a copy thereof, inscribed on vellum, be presented to that worthy brother."

The tableau, neatly framed, containing the vote was then handed to Bro. Durell, and full Masonic honours were paid to the deserving recipient.

W. Bro. John Durell, on rising to respond, was received with repeated rounds of applause. He set forth, in a few feeling words, the lively gratification which had come to him in the presentation of the testimonial he had just received. He felt assured his efforts, humble as they had been, were at least directed to one great point—the advancement of Masonry and the promotion of fraternal concord and affection; and in thanking cordially the Prov. G. Master and the brethren for this token of their approbation of his services, he concluded by wishing all prosperity and happiness to those who had thus kindly marked their approbation of his Masonic conduct.

Bro. P. W. Benham was unanimously re-elected Prov. Grand Treasurer, and the following brethren were appointed and invested by the R.W. Prov. G.M. as Provincial Grand Officers:—

John Durell, P.M. 590	...	S.W.
Edwin M. Lott, P.M. 245	...	J.W.
P. W. Benham, P.M. 244	...	Treasurer.
W. T. Pugsley, P.M. 245	...	Registrar.
J. O. Le Sucur, P.M. 491	...	Secretary.
O. Dodge, W.M. 245	...	S.D.
Frederick Cooke, W.M. 877	...	J.D.
Abraham Viel, P.M. 590	...	Supt. of Works.
Henry L. Manuel, P.M. 590	...	Dir. of Cers.
De Le Geyt, 877	...	Asst. D. of C.
H. E. Tinckam	...	Sword-bearer.
G. Walden, P.M. 1003	...	Pursuivant.
R. Barrow, W.M. 491	...	Steward.
G. J. Renouf, P.M. 590	...	"
Ph. Blampied, 245	...	"
J. R. Dawe, P.M. 245	...	"
Bennett, S.W. 244	...	"
Gilley, S.D. 491	...	"
W. Toms	...	Tyler.

The question concerning the inanimate existence of Somares Lodge (559) being placed on the agenda paper, was taken up by Bros. Schmitt, Benham, Du Jardin, and others, and an unanimous sentiment was elicited thereon, "That its warrant should be delivered to the M.W.G.M., were it only for the sake of sparing the G.S. the trouble of transmitting it summons and other circulars which remain in and adorn the ante-room of the Temple."

Six members were elected by ballot to serve on the Committee of General Purposes, and the Prov. G.M. appointed Bro. C. Kingsworth its president.

The labours of the Prov. Grand Lodge were brought to a close in due form about 6 p.m., and between fifty and sixty of the brethren adjourned from labour to a banquet.

The Prov. G.M. occupied the chair, and was supported on his right and left by his principal officers. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts having been given from the chair and heartily honoured,

Bro. Benham, in a neat speech, dwelt upon the services rendered to the province by the Prov. Grand Master, Bro. Col. Malet de Carteret, and concluded by proposing the R.W. Brother's health. (The toast was received with a perfect explosion of applause, which was again and again renewed and continued for several minutes.)

The Prov. G.M. feelingly acknowledged the compliment so kindly and enthusiastically paid to him.

The health of Bro. Dr. John Le Cronier, Dep. Prov. G.M., was next proposed, and was received with hearty demonstrations of Masonic feeling.

Other toasts followed, interspersed with some capital songs and recitations, and the brethren separated at an early hour, highly delighted with the proceedings of the day.

WEST KENT MASONIC CHARITABLE ASSOCIATION.

A number of brethren in the Greenwich district have started an Association, under the above name, the object of which is to enable any member of the Craft to gain a Life Governorship, or a Life Subscribership, in one of the Masonic Charities. The Association has arisen in connection with the Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (75), and on Wednesday evening last week, when the officers of the new society were appointed, nearly forty brethren were enrolled as members.

SCOTLAND.

LINLITHGOW.

VISIT OF ST. MUNGO'S LODGE (GLASGOW).

On Tuesday week a large deputation of No. 27, St. Mungo's Lodge, Glasgow, visited Linlithgow, and, after inspecting the ruins of the old Palace, St. Michael's Church (founded by the same "sair saunt for the Crown" as their own cathedral), the spot where Regent Murray was assassinated, and other local historical places which make Linlithgow so interesting to strangers, adjourned to the Star and Garter Hotel, where a most excellent dinner was awaiting them. By previous invitation the R.W. Master, the Senior and Junior Wardens, and other brethren of No. 17, Ancient Brazen, were kindly invited to be present. After the cloth had been removed, some most excellent speeches were delivered, and about half-past 7 the deputation in a body visited the Ancient Brazen Lodge, in their lodge-room in the Town-hall, The lodge having been previously opened in the Apprentice degree, the deputation were tested by Bro. J. S. Saunders, and admitted with all the honours by the White and Blue Rods, to the tune of "The Merry Masons." After the deputation had been seated, Right Worshipful Master, D. B. Buglass, of No. 17, delivered the following address of welcome:—Right Worshipful Sir, in rising to welcome yourself and the other brethren of St. Mungo Lodge, who have honoured us with their presence this evening, I beg to express the great pleasure which the brethren of the Ancient Brazen feel in meeting you on this occasion. The interchange of thought of kindred spirits seem to me to contribute not a little to the higher enjoyment of that higher phase of life which we are all, may I not humbly hope, striving to attain to. As a Brotherhood we profess to be actuated in our dealings with each other by motives in which bigotry and sectarianism have no place; and it says something for our Craft, I think, that it has for its foundation those broad principles of Christian charity which the good of all times have loved to cherish. True we must often be mortified on finding how miserably we fall short of living those principles, as it were, in our everyday intercourse with those around us; still, the very consciousness of our shortcomings in this respect indicates a struggling activity within our souls towards the good, which, if encouraged and fostered, will eventually raise us above and beyond those little party jealousies which so frequently lead us to deviate from reason and from truth. Towards attaining to such a standard as this, the mutual intercourse of the brethren is calculated, I think, to play no unimportant part—indeed, it enables us to compare our own particular views of life and its relations with those of other minds, and will it be doubted that from such a comparison our own must needs be enlarged and improved. For this, and other reasons which I might adduce, I assure you, that the brethren of our Ancient Lodge feel very great pleasure indeed in meeting you all this evening.

The R.W.M. of No. 17 next gave the toast of "Prosperity to the Lodge of St. Mungo, coupled with the name of the R.W.M., Bro. G. Sinclair," who responded with great cordiality, expressing the pleasure it gave them in having visited the ancient and historical town of Linlithgow, and his appreciation of the Brotherly and enthusiastic manner in which they had been received by this ancient lodge. He hoped that the new-made friendship which had to-day been formed would long be continued, and that, at no distant day, No. 27 would have the pleasure of receiving No. 17 in their lodge in Glasgow.

The "P.M. of St. Mungo" was next given by the Junior Warden, Bro. W. Park; "The S.W. and J.W. of St. Mungo," by Senior Warden, Bro. Dr. Gilmour; "The Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow," by Bro. Andrew Little, coupled with the name of Bro. M'Taggart, the P.G. Secretary, who, in responding, spoke at some length on the subject of proxymasters, which is at present agitating the Grand Lodge of Scotland. He referred to the fact that, by appointing proxymasters from so many Edinburgh lodges, the brethren of Edinburgh had the whole power and say in the Grand Lodge, to the serious detriment of outlying provincial lodges; and stated that in three lodges in Edinburgh, viz., No. 8, 3, and the "Rifle," there were no fewer than 300 votes, which were always used for Edinburgh purposes, and often to the injury of the lodges which they were supposed to represent. He hoped that the brethren of the Ancient Brazen Linlithgow would take up this matter, and lend such assistance to the brethren of the west as will put all lodges on an equal footing. He also alluded to the fact that this same clique had repeatedly refused to allow the financial books to be put into the hands of a public accountant, and that it was well known that the state of the finances was far from being in a satisfactory position. When he informed them that in the Glasgow district alone last year no fewer than 700 members were passed and raised, a large proportion of whose entry money found its way into the Grand Lodge coffers, no one need wonder that the brethren of the west felt some reason for being dissatisfied. He thanked them for the honour done him in proposing his health.

After some most excellent singing by the brethren of St. Mungo, and one of the most enjoyable and happy meetings, the deputation took its departure by the 9.30 p.m. train for the west, mutually congratulating themselves on the pleasant day spent in old Linlithgow. The deputation numbered 25 members.

"MORE than a year ago one of my children was attacked with bronchitis, and, after a long illness, was given up by my physician as 'past cure.' I was then induced to try your Vegetable Pain Killer, and from the time I began the use of it the child rapidly got better, and is now strong and healthy.—JOHN WINSTANLEY, 10, Whittle-st., L'pool, Jan, 1869.—To P. D. & Son,"

TO ADVERTISERS.

THE Circulation of THE FREEMASON being now at the rate of nearly Half-a-million per annum, it offers peculiar facilities to all who advertise.

It is well known that the Fraternity of Freemasons is a large and constantly increasing body, mainly composed of the influential and educated classes of society; and as

The Freemason

is now the accepted organ of the Brotherhood in the United Kingdom, and also enjoys an extensive sale in the colonies and foreign parts, its advantages as an advertising medium can scarcely be overrated.

For terms apply to

GEORGE KENNING,
198, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.

NOTICE.

The Subscription to THE FREEMASON is now 10s. per annum, post-free, payable in advance.

Vol. I., bound in cloth ... ..	4s. 6d.
Vol. II., ditto ... ..	7s. 6d.
Vol. III., ditto ... ..	15s. 0d.
Reading Cases to hold 52 numbers...	2s. 6d.

United States of America.

THE FREEMASON is delivered free in any part of the United States for 12s. per annum, payable in advance.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferred to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

Answers to Correspondents.

All communications for THE FREEMASON should be written legibly on one side of the paper only, and, if intended for insertion in the current number, must be received not later than 10 o'clock a.m. on Thursdays, unless in very special cases. The name and address of every writer must be sent to us in confidence.

BRO. J. YARKER.—We do not consider it advisable to publish the correspondence you have sent.

We shall be glad to receive votes for the Girls' and Boys' Schools, on behalf of two very deserving cases.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price of THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the EDITOR 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him but cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

THE MASONIC SEASON.

THE season of Masonic work again approaches, when the almost unbroken silence which has prevailed in our lodge-rooms during the summer months will give place to the stirring realities of renewed labour. Although but a brief period has elapsed since the close of the Masonic season, it will be found that the membership of the Craft has not been unaffected by the usual chances and changes that chequer this mortal life. Some of the fraternal band have passed away in the interval—their voices never more to be heard in the solemn utterances of our secret rites —their ears never more to listen to the sublime exhortations of our sages—their hands never more to clasp a brother's in the living circle of the mystic tie. For them our words have now no echo—no significance—the dread secret which they have solved can be attained only by passing through the portals of death; they have leaped the barriers which separate the corporeal from the spiritual, the finite from the infinite, the ephemeral from the eternal. But it cannot be said that their good works have perished with them; treasured up in many a kindred breast, they will yet bear abundant fruit, and inspire, let us hope, future generations of Freemasons with a noble emulation of their dead forefathers' fame. In Freemasonry, we boast no high Valhalla for departed greatness—neither “storied urn nor animated bust” are required to perpetuate to all time the honoured names of our Prestons and Ruspinis. Still it should be our pride to recall the deeds of those worthies of the past, who have striven so zealously and so gloriously in the cause of benevolence and fraternity.

The approaching season beckons us once more to tread the mosaic pavement, and to play our parts in that mimic world—a “lodge of free and accepted Masons.” In what spirit do we again return to the scene of Masonic labour? Is it with the firm determination to be “brothers of the Craft” in more than the mere name—to be intelligent workers for good, instead of routine attendants at ceremonies, which, however solemn and impressive, lose much of their import, and all their elevating tendencies, unless the duties they enjoin are practised out of the lodge? It is incumbent upon every man who wears the badge of Masonry to endeavour, at all times and at all seasons, to harmonise his conduct with the principles of the Craft. Yet, although this dictum will be generally accepted as true by the brethren, how frequently do we find instances in which the influence of Freemasonry appears to count for nought—when the choicest precepts of the Order are practically contemned—when, instead of generous encouragement in the trials of life, we witness the baneful presence of envious malice to retard our course—when, instead of the hand to help and the outstretched arm to succour, we seem to view the gleaming eyes and the uplifted weapon of a Cain-like assassin. How repugnant such actions are to the very genius of Freemasonry few will deny, and yet the tide of hatred and uncharitableness rolls on unchecked, bearing with it to the boundaries of existence many bitter thoughts and sad reflections upon the frailty of all human ties. Can nothing be done to awaken those erring brethren to a sense of their own peril and misery? Are all the solemn vows, the oft-repeated covenants of the various grades of Freemasonry, merely tinkling cymbals and sounds that vex the air? Forbid it, Faith in humanity! forbid it, Hope in the Brotherhood! forbid it, Charity that crowns, and glorifies, and sustains the whole! We do not toil in vain, and though distant may be the day when none shall be admitted to our mysteries but those who can abide the Ithuriel touch of truth, yet even now we can labour in the goodly work of elevating and purifying the minds of such unhappy brethren as may fall into evil because they cannot comprehend the beauty of good.

Let us, then, all with one accord, return to Masonic work with a due sense of our responsibility as Masons; the old and the experienced to act the part of shepherds to the flock—to restrain the wayward, reprove the inconstant, and reward the diligent. But it must not be forgotten that the youngest Mason, the most juvenile Apprentice, has also his appointed station and allotted task, and no man can desert his post or betray his watchword without exposing the whole Body to danger. If the Craft were merely a convivial society, its progress or decay would be of little moment to mankind; but we, the proselytes within its gates, know that it is more—ininitely more—than a bibulous club of joyous spirits. Even if the antiquity of Freemasonry and all the quaint traditions which seem to link it with a remote, but splendid past, be indeed but pleasant myths, like the fabled deities of Olympus—even if all its claims to Temple-glory be scattered to the winds—the framework of the Order—fraternity and charity, unity, peace, and goodwill to all—would still remain enthroned upon the pinnacle of honour, within the human heart. We have, therefore, a standard of excellence before us—a goal which should be reached by all who profess to be Masons; and it will not do to fold our arms and let the few perform the work of the many. Unhappily, so much apathy prevails amongst the bulk of the Craft, that many well-meaning and intelligent efforts to achieve the purpose of Masonry are viewed in certain quarters with suspicion and dislike, simply because brethren will not take the trouble to study the bearings of the questions involved. We are glad to say, however, that the claims of charity are not unheeded; but we want also more of that charity of spirit—that temperance in word and deeds which is the wise man's coronal. Let us simplify the maxims of Freemasonry by doing to others as we would be done by—a fitter interpretation of Masonic truth than all the homilies ever written or spoken. For be it remembered, Masonry does not deal in abstractions—it is a living force; it offers no vague code of morals, no Utopian system of philanthropy, to the earnest student, but rather points to solid principles and great realities.

The sooner this is understood by the Fraternity, the better it will be for mankind, and it is to be hoped that English Masons will not be the last to comprehend or to apply the lesson to their lives.

BOOTS of the Period at BLAKEY'S, Lime-street Liverpool (under the Alexandra Theatre).—[Advt.]

Multum in Parbo, or Masonic Notes and Queries.

RESULTS OF NONCONFORMANCE WITH THE LAWS OF THE LAND.

The constitution of any Grand Lodge not complying with the laws of the land would be vitiated, and members holding under its jurisdiction would be entitled to protest and withdraw. Lodges holding of it would also be released from their obligation to it; for there is a mutual obligation, and the obedience of these lodges to the Grand Lodge can only be required whilst the Grand Lodge itself maintains and acts in accordance with the principles and laws of Freemasonry, one of the first of which is compliance with the laws of the land.

A disruption of the Masonic Order would thus take place, and a new Grand Lodge would be constituted—or, rather, a Grand Lodge claiming to represent the Grand Lodge which had hitherto existed, but which by violation of the laws of Freemasonry in transgressing the law of the land, and by the vitiation of its own constitution in the admission of brethren having no right to take their places amongst its members, would be held to have destroyed, and to be no longer worthy of the name to which it would probably continue to lay claim, or of the obedience from lodges and members of the brotherhood which it would probably still demand. Such a result would be much to be deplored, but the blame would rest with those who refused to conform to the law, and not with those who showed themselves desirous to uphold it in its integrity,

CHALMERS I. PATON.

FREEMASONRY AND JUDAISM.

Bro. "J. W. C., 228" (p. 587) is rather angry at the propositions I advanced in a late number, but he has not attempted to disprove them. I can feel for "J. W. C.," for I have experienced the same agitation in my mind on the same subjects; but I did not "forbear, however, to enter upon the discussion of the important subject," but went into it with fear and trembling certainly, yet with a determination to canvass well the subject and to be resolved, and I am perfectly satisfied with the result. "J. W. C." says, "I venture to believe that if he does so"—that is, running while you read—"the result will be that he will discover the Garden of Eden and the fall of man to be no allegory;" and he says, "The doctrine of the Trinity has been taught, with more or less distinctness, from the earliest times." This I have disproved from orthodox history, and he has not even attempted to answer my proofs. Has he attempted to give any proof that the Garden of Eden and the fall of man was not taught as an allegory during the earliest time of the Church? Has he even read Church history? If so, I will refer him to the time of "Origen," who flourished full a century before the Nicene squabbles were commenced. He is described as being a most learned, pious, and industrious member of the Church, and died, I think, about A.D. 237. He did more to disseminate the truths of Christianity than any man of his time, and the body of Christians named Quakers owe some of their doctrines to the learned and pious Origen. Celsus, the learned Pagan author, attacked Christianity, ridiculing the account of Eve and the serpent. Origen replied to him, and it is acknowledged that he succeeded in refuting him. Origen said, "Celsus has not been honest in his attack, for he knew that the Christian Church only put that forth as an allegory, leading to Divine and spiritual teaching, and not as a literal fact. I will also refer our brother to Ezekiel xxviii., verse 13, and will he please to tell me where the King of Tyrus had been, as well as the date of his visit? He again says that "St. Paul had gloried in the cross of our Lord;" but what did he mean? The whole of his writings prove that he understood it in the precise manner that Our Lord and Master has commanded all: "Take up thy cross," and bear that cross as I am bearing mine, with patience and meekness; bear your own cross, and if ye endure unto the end, ye shall be saved. "Take up thy cross, and follow me;" but Christ nowhere said: Leave your own cross, your own "battle of life," and lean upon mine, but follow me as your exemplar.

W. B., 742.

A SCOTTISH CHARTER.

Many lodges in Scotland work most prosperously under the following charter.

OBSERVER.

CHARTER OF THE IMPERIAL SCOTCH MASONIC SUPREME GRAND LODGE, &c.

Freemasonry Constituted by Royal Authority since Time Immemorial according to the Laws, Customs and Ordinances, Rights, Ceremonies, and Mysteries of Free and Accepted Masonry.

To all whom this doth or may concern:

WHEREAS, we, the Most Worshipful the Grand Master, the Right Worshipful the Deputy Grand Master, Substitute Grand Master, Wardens and Remnant Office-bearers and Members of the Most Ancient and Honourable Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons, in full Grand Lodge assembled, in due and ancient form, in the city of Glasgow, county of Lanark, and kingdom of Scotland, do hereby solemnly sanction, empower, and authorise the Brethren belonging to this Charter of Constitution and Erection, to meet as a Regular Lodge of Master Masons, and likewise to hold meetings solely for Masonic purposes, at . . . . ., under the name and title of the . . . . ., and there to discharge the duties of Masonry in a Constitutional manner, according to the forms of the Order and laws of Grand Lodge; as we do not practise nor recognise no Degrees of Masonry but those of Apprentice, Fellow-Craft, and Master Mason, denominated Blue or St. John's Masonry.

Given under our hands and seal, at the Supreme Grand League of Scotland, in the city of Glasgow, this . . . day of . . . . ., in the year of our Lord 18 . . ., and of Masonry 58 . . ., No. . . on the G.L. Register.

- .....Senior Grand Warden.
- .....Junior Grand Warden.
- .....Grand Secretary.
- .....Supreme Grand Master Mason.
- .....Depute Grand Master.
- .....Substitute Grand Master.
- .....Grand Clerk.

WE have authority for stating that no successor has yet been appointed to the late Bro. Colonel Bowyer, in the office of Provincial Grand Master for Oxfordshire. For the present, as is usually the case under similar circumstances, the province has been placed in charge of the Grand Registrar of the Order, Brother Æneas J. McIntyre, and notice thereof has been officially communicated by the Grand Secretary to the Master of each lodge in the province. We may state that he has notified to Bro. Alderman R. J. Spiers, of Oxford, his desire that that gentleman should continue in the office of Deputy Provincial Grand Master. He has also desired him to inform the officers appointed at the Provincial Grand Lodge meeting, in May last, that they are requested to retain their respective offices until another Provincial Grand Lodge meeting be held.

THE Fifteen Sections will be worked in the Fidelity Lodge of Instruction, held at the "Goat and Compasses," Euston-road, on Thursday evening next, October 5th, at seven o'clock. Bro. T. A. Adams, P.M., P.Z., and P.G.P., in the chair.

Original Correspondence.

The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.

"FREEMASONRY AND JUDAISM."

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR,—According to annual custom at this season of the year, I ceased from labour and went to refreshment, and on resuming labour I found in a back number of THE FREEMASON two letters touching myself—one from Bro. Carpenter, and another from a "R.A. Comp., 30° K.H." I do not know what the last title means, not finding it in the "Book of Constitutions." P.Z. I lay claim to, which is the ne plus ultra of English Freemasonry, nothing beyond that being acknowledged by the Grand Lodge of England.

Bro. Carpenter begins by "greatly respecting my motives and appreciating my intentions," but how he can respect motives and appreciate intentions which he immediately afterwards condemns, requires a process of ratiocination which my limited reasoning powers cannot cope with. He then says: "He has exhibited a great lack of judgment in publishing it in THE FREEMASON." Well, be it so; but why did he begin it? He is the aggressor; for, if he supposes that the pre-Messiah history of the Jews is nothing more than a part of profane history, I think he is ignorant of his subject, though I admit that he has written with much neatness and painstaking upon the posterior history of the Jews.

Subsequent to the destruction of Jerusalem by Titus, A.D. 70, just suppose an individual fresh from reviewing the excavations of "Layard," and forming his own theory from what he saw, he would say: "Why, the Assyrians of old were a wonderful people; what a pity that they are not alive now. They not only had wings themselves, but they had bulls with wings, and the men actually had faces like the face of an eagle, with other monstrosities!" But he is told that these figures not real but representative—that these monstrosities, as you suppose and term them, correspond to the attributes of their gods, their heroes, their religious and social polity. Just imagine that individual replying with contempt, "No such thing; they are literally what they are made to be. But, for certain reasons, I have made up my mind not to discuss subjects of religion, or I would soon convince you how wrong you are; but, I have no time to do so." Such is the logic of our Bro. Carpenter. Not to attempt infallibility, but to rest my assertions upon infallible proof, I will refer you to the 78th Psalm, which opens thus: "Give ear, O my people, to my law: incline your ears to the words of my mouth. I will open my mouth in a parable, I will utter dark sayings of old, &c., &c., &c." And after this sublime exordium, what follows? The history of the children of Israel, from Moses down to the time of David, the facts of which are known to almost every Sunday school scholar better than the history of his own race, or the times in which he lives; but these Jewish episodes are declared by the Almighty to be His law uttered in a parable in dark sayings. Your space and my time will not allow me to allude to more than one of these dark sayings, and that is contained in the 25th verse: "Man did eat angels' food." This evidently alludes to the supply of manna in the wilderness; but that could not have been "angels' food," but only a correspondence to it. Our Lord said: "Your fathers did eat manna in the wilderness and are dead," but "I am the bread of life," and going on to explain in what way and many, said, "This is a hard saying, who can hear it?"

But Bro. Carpenter says further: "I know of no writer who has more strangely mistaken the facts of history than "W. B." has done, and he makes his perverted facts the ground upon which he runs a-muck against all forms of religious belief." Let me tell Bro. Carpenter that there is no body of men calling themselves Swedenborgians; there are thousands of men, both in the old world and the new, who read and study his works who would scorn to use his name as a party cry, but would glory in proclaiming the great truths which he endeavoured to enforce, "Peace on earth, and goodwill towards men." His grand motto was, "All religion has relation to life, and the life of religion is to do good." He strictly enjoined every one to adhere strictly to the command of our Lord in Matt. xxiii., 10: "Neither be ye called Masters, for one is your Master, even Christ." And if the question be put, "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?" the answer can only be, "Come and see."

But to return to the charge made by Bro. Carpenter, that I have "perverted facts." I cannot allow this to be passed over without an attempt on the part of Bro. Carpenter "to point out my errors and false teachings." In each case I have given authority for my opinions, save one—the Council of Nice—and I will now give you that authority, or, rather, authorities. In Dr. Mosheim's "Ecclesiastical History" (which is a standard work, and to be found in every theological library, and the orthodoxy of which I have never heard questioned) he gives a lamentable account of the Christian Church, owing to the prevalent heresies during the third century, which appear to have culminated in the beginning of the fourth century by "The rise of the controversy with the Donatists," vide Mosheim Cent. iv., chap. 5, sec. 11. To trail through this controversy would be to show that, under the sacred name of Christianity, men could act against each other in a manner that would scarcely have been tolerated by Pagan nations. It was the opening of the dark ages. Constantine—who, beyond all human expectation, had made his way to the imperial throne—had done so by the assistance of the Christians in obtaining his victory over Maxentius. Constantine had hitherto discovered no religious principles of any kind, but he embraced Christianity as a means of obtaining empire, with all its splendour. From this time he became patron and protector of Christianity, as then understood; he entered into all their disputes, and presided at their great meetings. Eusebius, Bishop of Nicomedia, was his personal friend and historian. I will now quote Mosheim, sec. ix.: "The faction of the Donatists was not the only one that troubled the Church during this century. Soon after its commencement, even in the year 317, a new contention arose in Egypt upon a subject of much higher importance and with consequences of a yet more pernicious nature. The subject of this fatal controversy, which kindled such deplorable divisions throughout the Christian world, was the doctrine of three persons in the Godhead—a doctrine which, in the preceding centuries, had happily escaped the vain curiosities of human researches, and had been left undefined and undetermined by any particular set of ideas." And, in section 12, he says: "The Council assembled by Constantine at Nice, is one of the most famous and interesting events that are presented to us in ecclesiastical history, and yet, what is more surprising, there is no part of the history of the Church that has been unfolded with such negligence, or, rather, passed over with such rapidity. The ancient writers are neither agreed concerning the time nor place in which it was assembled, the number of those who sat in council, nor the bishop who presided in it. No authentic acts of its famous sentence have been committed to writing, or, at least, have been transmitted to our times." Such is the record as given by Mosheim. I will now quote another orthodox author, Dr. Jortin, who says ("Ecclesiastical History," book iii.): "Constantine viewed the whole question as trifling and utterly unimportant—he regretted that the peace of the Church should be so vainly disturbed." And, further on, he says: "Let us consider by what various motives these various men might be influenced: by reverence to the Emperor, to his counsellors and favourites, his slaves and eunuchs; by the fear of offending some great prelate, who had it in his power to insult, vex, and plague all the bishops within and without his jurisdiction; by the dread of passing for heretics, and of being calumniated, reviled, hated, anathematized, excommunicated, imprisoned, banished, fined, beggared, starved, if they refused to submit, &c., &c., &c." These are the orthodox authorities upon which I rely. I have not quoted the authority of Gibbon, as being not acceptable to the High Church party; but from what I have quoted, I call upon Bro. Carpenter to make good his assertion "that I have perverted facts," or hereafter to hold his peace.

I am afraid that I have affrighted the mind of "W. L. A., R.A. Comp. and 30° K.H." (whatever the latter may mean), from its propriety. I can't help it, and I feel no contrition for having done so. George Waddington, of Trinity College, Cambridge, in remarking upon Dr. Jortin's history, says: "The decision has now been followed by the great majority of Christians for fifteen centuries." But I submit that the establishment of Christianity must date from the time when the disciples returned from the mount called Olivet, and met in an upper room belonging to Peter, James, and John, which was A.D. 33. There is therefore about 300 years intervening between this assembly and the Council of Nice. What is to be done with the hiatus? who will supply it? Will our friend "W. L. A." attempt it? He says, "It would be easy to refute the errors into which 'W. B.' has fallen in this and other particulars;" but he has not done so. Will he assay it? He says "it is easy," and surely it ought to be a labour of love to give a reason for the hope that is in us; but until that hiatus is satisfactorily filled in, the history of the New Church down to the time of the third or fourth century will remain as much a myth as the names of the founders of Rome or the games of Olympia.

I have now replied to the two letters, and so far my task is done. Your insertion of my former attempts, you, only, had a right to decide; but I submit my claim to have this inserted, as it is a reply, and, if it be your will, I will here finish. Bro. Carpenter has, I think, made a great mistake in thinking that an external history of the Jews is a final one. As well give a nutshell with the kernel extracted, and call it a perfect nut. Bro. Carpenter has been standing upon holy ground, and has not taken off his shoes. The ground upon which he is now standing, I think, he may wear his shoes, if he pleases. The facts which he will select will be, I have no doubt, made with care and impartiality; but the results which he will draw from them, apparently, will be wild and extravagant, as forming no unison in the workings of Divine providence.

Fraternally yours,
W. B. 742.

THE ROYAL ORDER OF SCOTLAND. (To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR AND BROTHER,—I take the liberty of entering the arena of debate, which at present owns as its denizens "X. Y. Z." and "An Edinburgh Member of the Royal Order." I sign my name in honour of the latter's scruples, and I admit myself to be a Freemason of many degrees and of years' standing.

In an age when Reason, after wringing the nose off the face of Faith, kicks her further off the threshold of history, certes, it is refreshing to find some salt of the dethroned deity extant in the human heart. Age and experience rub off the gilding from many a youthful fancy, but until a very late period we were not doomed to find, not only the fabric of Freemasonry attacked, but even the very foundations of the Institution erased. I look around, and behold the Malcolm Canmore Charter is a forgery; the Templars are denied a niche in the Masonic edifice; and, to crown all, "X. Y. Z." seems to be about to annihilate the Royal Order. It is refreshing, I say, to find that Faith still holds her reign supreme in one bosom, and to vindicate the Royal Order from the new asperser's calumnies, I present my right hand to "An Edinburgh Member."

"X. Y. Z." demands proof of the antiquity of the Order. I admit that it is difficult to produce these, and I think the Edinburgh Member is perfectly justified in declining to comply with "the stand-and-deliver" demand of "X. Y. Z." As Jack Falstaff says, and a good deal of sound practical common sense had the knight-corpulent, "What! upon compulsion? No. Were I at the strappado, or all the racks in the world,

I would not tell you on compulsion. Give you a reason on compulsion! If reasons were as plenty as blackberries, I would give no man a reason upon compulsion. I!" Now, sir, what is the real history of the Royal Order? It is as follows:—

Among the many precious things which were carefully preserved in a sacred vault of King Solomon's Temple was a portrait of the monarch painted by Adoniram, the son of Elkanah, priest of the second court. This vault remained undiscovered till the time of Herod, although the secret of its existence and a description of its locality were retained by the descendants of Elkanah. During the wars of the Maccabees, certain Jews, fleeing from their native country, took refuge first in Spain and afterwards in Britain, and amongst them was one Aholiab, the then possessor of the document necessary to find the hidden treasure. As is well known, buildings were then in progress in Edinburgh, or Dun Edwyn, as the city was then called, and thither Aholiab wended his way to find employment. His skill in architecture speedily raised him to a prominent position in the Craft, but his premature death prevented his realising the dream of his life, which was to fetch the portrait from Jerusalem, and bestow it in the custody of the Craft. However, prior to his dissolution, he confided the secret to certain of the Fraternity, under the bond of secrecy, and these formed a class known as "The Order of the King," or "The Royal Order." Time sped on, the Romans invaded Britain, and previous to the crucifixion, certain members of the old town guard of Edinburgh, among whom were several of the Royal Order, proceeded to Rome to enter into negotiations with the sovereign. From thence they proceeded to Jerusalem, and were present at the dreadful scene of the crucifixion. They succeeded in obtaining the portrait, and also the blue veil of the temple rent upon the terrible occasion. I may dismiss these two venerable relics in a few words. Wilson, in his "Memorials of Edinburgh" (2 vols., published by Hugh Paton), in a note to Masonic lodges, writes that this portrait was then in the possession of the brethren of the Lodge St. David. This is an error, and arose from the fact of the Royal Order then meeting in the Lodge St. David's room in Hindford's Close. The blue veil was converted into a standard for the trades of Edinburgh, and became celebrated on many a battle-field, notably in the First Crusade, as "The Blue Blanket." From the presence of certain of their number in Jerusalem on the occasion in question, the Edinburgh City Guard were often called Pontius Pilate's Prætorians. Now, these are facts well known to many Edinburghers still alive. Let "X. Y. Z." go to Edinburgh, and inquire for himself.

The brethren, in addition, brought with them the teachings of the Christians, and in their meetings they celebrated the death of the Captain and Builder of our Salvation. The oath of the Order seals my lips further as to the peculiar mysteries of the brethren. I may, however, state that the Ritual, in verse, as in present use, was composed by the venerable Abbot of Inchaffray, the same who, with a crucifix in his hand, passed along the Scots' line, blessing the soldiers and the cause in which they were engaged, previous to the battle of Bannockburn. Thus, the Order states justly that it was revived—that is, a profounder spirit of devotion infused into it—by King Robert, by whose directions the Abbot reorganised it.

I may have something else to add at a future time, should "X. Y. Z." still persevere in his blind state of carp. How many affairs of antiquity do we take blindly upon trust, more unworthy of credence than this? Has he never found that there are many things which he cannot prove, and yet believes; many things which he can prove, and yet disbelieves? Quid est veritas? asked Pilate. Have we yet the answer to "What is truth?"

Fraternally yours,
RANDOLF HAY.

37, Main-street, Govan, near Glasgow.

In 1880, the Templar secrets hid in Sweden.

will be, in accordance with instructions, made public to the world. The King has the key.

R. H.

BRO. BUCHAN AGAIN!

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have read Bro Buchan's characteristic reply, and could not fail to be amused, as many of your readers will be, at his very modest and appropriate comparison of himself to "Wellington and Moltke"!! But I must beg on my side, and having regard to my own Masonic character, to withdraw at once from a controversy which is conducted by Bro. Buchan neither in the ordinary language of gentlemen, nor in the true spirit of Freemasonry.

Like a good many other foolish people at the present day, Bro. Buchan apparently hopes to obtain notoriety by reckless assertions, violent language, and personal vituperation of all those who venture to differ from him. My time is too valuable, and my avocations are too important, to allow me to continue such an unprofitable discussion, and in a manner so painful to all true Freemasons. For the course which Bro. Buchan has thought well so regularly and deliberately to pursue, is the same which, followed by other Masonic writers, in times past, in utter forgetfulness of the most sacred principles of our Order, has served only to render all attempts at fair Masonic discussion useless and hopeless, and has even made our Masonic professions of brotherly love and consideration for others a standing joke among those who are non-Masons.

For myself, I can only say, as is well known to many of my brethren, as an old Mason of thirty years' standing, I have sedulously endeavoured, for many years now, to study our Masonic history, to search for and collect all the undoubted evidences and archaeological facts which bear on the remarkable and interesting annals of our venerable and valuable Brotherhood. I am not likely now to be deterred from my efforts to illustrate the true history of the Craft, or to do it otherwise than at my own time and in my own way, by vulgar taunts or ill-merited observations. In all that I have hitherto submitted to the notice and consideration of my brethren, I have never claimed any superior knowledge or information on the subject—any infallibility as regards my own views or theories—but have simply put them forward, as "a Masonic Student," striving with many others for a common end, as opinions and arguments, fairly deducible from certain facts and authentic evidence, and such as might fairly be commended to the thoughtful approval of intelligent Masons and reasonable men. I mean to continue the same course for the future, and shall never again, under any circumstances, after Bro. Buchan's last personal and offensive letter, take the slightest notice of any of his communications, or participate in any controversy in which he is mixed up.

I am, dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

A MASONIC STUDENT.

23rd September, 1871.

P.S.—As it may interest some of my brethren, I beg to inform them that, in consequence of this recent controversy, and with the consent of Bro. Kenning, I purpose to reprint in THE FREEMASON of Oct. 7th, No 1, of the "Illustrations of the History of the Craft," and continue my "Illustrations" fortnightly, until (D.V.) they are concluded.

A M. S.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR AND BROTHER,—I have been a subscriber to your valuable paper almost from its first number, and I am indebted to its pages for many pieces of useful information in regard to Masonic work, and have read many of the papers on the various subjects of Masonic lore with great benefit and instruction; but I regret to find that your correspondence columns are open to those whose sole object seems to be to break a lance, and that in by no means a knightly manner, with some degree, or some member of a degree, with which the writer does not agree. Cui bono? It is more than possible that your paper may (and it does) fall into the hands of outsiders, as occurred to me, a few days since. A gentleman, waiting my return home, met me with the remark, "I thought you Freemasons were all unity and concord; it does not appear so, however, from this paper."

It appears to me that we have one common bond of union, having all been obligated in the same manner in Craft Masonry; as Masons, then, let us, to outsiders at any rate, show a front of unity, and not allow ourselves to be squabbling about the antiquity of various ornamental orders, the possession of which neither adds to nor takes from our duties and privileges as Masons—when we might devote the talents, now used in senseless wrangling about trifles, to some work more worthy of our noble Order of Masons.

Hoping you will find room for these few words, and that they will be taken as meant, I subscribe myself,

Fraternally yours,

JOHN MACKENZIE.

P.S.—I have signed my name, because I am not ashamed of what I have written, and because I consider it both ungenerous and, most certainly un-masonic, to attack a brother under the shelter of an alias.

J. M.

PROVINCIAL GRAND CHAPTER OF YORKSHIRE.

A Provincial Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of the North and East Ridings of Yorkshire was held, by special appointment, in the Humber Chapter, Kingston-upon-Hull, on Thursday, 31st ult. Present: M.E. Comp. John Pearson Bell, M.D., Gd. Supt., Z.; E. Comps. G. Waugh, P.P.G.S.B., as H.; W. B. Hay, M.D., P.P.G.P. Soj., as J.; M. Chas. Peck, Scribe E.; Thos. Hewson, P.P.G. Soj., as Scribe N.; Geo. Hardy, P.P.G.N., P.S.; S. H. Armitage, M.D., P.P. G.D.C., 1st Asst. Soj.; J. Marshall, 2nd Asst. Soj.; R. W. Hollon, Treas.; W. D. Keyworth, P.P.G. Soj., as Registrar; J. H. Emes, Sword-bearer; J. N. Scherling, P.P. G.S.B., Standard-bearer; J. Walker, P.P. G.N., Dir. of Cers.; Comps. J. Ward, I.J.; Wm. Johnson, O.J.; John Hudson, H. C. Martin, H. E. Voight, W. Petchell, Stewards; also the Principals and Past Principals of the various chapters in the province.

The Prov. Grand Chapter having been opened in antient and solemn form, the minutes of the last Prov. G.C. were read and confirmed.

Letters of apology for absence were received from Comps. Chr. Foster, Prov. G. H.; W. F. Rooke, M.D., Prov. G. J.; Jas. C. Miller, Prov. G. N.; Mark L. Simpson, Prov. G. P.S.; W. Lawton, Prov. G. Reg.; and Thos. Turnbull, Prov. G. D.C.

The Prov. Grand Treasurer then read his annual balance-sheet, which, having been audited and found correct, was unanimously adopted.

The various chapters then made their returns; the Dundas Chapter was, however, not represented, and the Prov. Grand Scribe E. was requested to communicate with its Principals.

The Prov. Grand Treasurer then, in accordance with notice given, moved, "That one guinea be annually subscribed by the Prov. Grand Chapter to the Palestine Exploration Fund," and stated that after the handsome donation to the Fund which had been voted (in 1869), by the Prov. Grand Chapter, he hoped the companions would not think him exacting in asking for an annual subscription. He considered that by the reports of the works which had been issued, we had received ample value, and that the object of the exploration commended itself more particularly to Freemasons.

The motion was seconded by Comp. Keyworth, and carried unanimously.

The Prov. G. Treasurer was unanimously re-elected.

The M.E. Grand Superintendent then appointed the following Provincial Grand Officers:—

John Wilson, 57	...	...	Prov. G. H.
Theophilus Smith, 250	...	...	J.
M. C. Peck, 250...	...	...	Scribe E.
Ll. W. Longstaff, 1010	...	...	Scribe N.
Augustus Fricour, 1248	...	...	P. Soj.
Wright Petchell, 6c2	...	...	1st Asst. do.
Henry Preston, 57	...	...	2nd do. do.
C. James Todd, 1010	...	...	Registrar.
R. W. Hollon, 236	...	...	Treasurer.
Henry Grover, 200	...	...	Sword-br.
John Marshall, 660	...	...	Standard-br.
Thomas Cooper, 236	...	...	Dir. of Cers.
Robt. Sloman, Mus. Doc., 1248	...	...	Organist.
John Ward, 236	...	...	I. Janitor.
Wm. Johnson, 57	...	...	O. Janitor.

The M.E. Grand Superintendent directed that each chapter in the province should nominate a Prov. Grand Steward.

The M.E. Grand Superintendent then addressed the Prov. Grand Chapter, giving an account of the various events which had taken place during the past year in Grand Chapter and in this province. He observed that only 16 warrants for new chapters had been issued by Grand Chapter—two of these were in this province, and both of which it had been his privilege to consecrate. He called attention to an important decision of Grand Chapter, that to be eligible as a Principal of an English chapter a companion must have served the office of W. Master in an English lodge; companions who had been W. Masters under other constitutions were not eligible. After alluding to the law enforcing the more regular furnishing of returns, he stated that he had, for the instruction of the companions, drawn up an explanation of the Royal Arch tracing-board, which he should be happy to lend to those Principals who might desire to introduce it in their chapters. He then explained the symbolism of the double equilateral triangle, and requested the companions to notice that no degrees purporting to be higher than the Royal Arch could be deemed strictly Masonic, as in them the universality of the Craft is lost. He concluded by thanking the Principals and companions of the Humber Chapter for the use of their handsome Hall for this meeting, and stated that he had received an invitation to hold the next Prov. Grand Chapter in the Zetland Chapter, at York, which he had much pleasure in accepting.

The Prov. Grand Treasurer said that although he had no desire to interfere with the prerogative of the M.E., Grand Supt., yet, in compliance with the wishes of several friends, he ventured to submit that it would tend to the great convenience of companions desiring to attend Provincial Grand Chapter, if a certain time was fixed for the meeting of the Chapter, and that it be held in the various chapters in the province according to seniority.

The M.E. Grand Superintendent, in reply, said that although he received every suggestion of the companions with consideration, the one now introduced could not be entertained without an entire alteration in the laws of the Order, and was of such a nature that it would be impossible for him to accede to. Not only was it an interference with the prerogative of his office, but, if adopted, would bind his successor to a definite course which would be not only illegal, but might become highly inconvenient.

The Provincial Grand Chapter was then closed in antient form and with solemn prayer.

A collation was subsequently held in the Banqueting-hall, at which the M.E. Grand Superintendent presided. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, and a most agreeable evening passed.

CONSECRATION OF A CHAPTER AT KIDDERMINSTER.

Friday, Sept. 8th, was a red-letter day in the annals of Freemasonry in Kidderminster, owing to the consecration of a Royal Arch Chapter attached to Lodge Hope and Charity, No. 377. A warrant having been obtained, the M.E. Prov. Grand Superintendent, Comp. A. H. Roysds, and several companion Grand Officers attended.

The chapter having been opened by E. Comps. W. Bristow, P.Z. 252, as Z.; E. M. Warrington, Z. 498, as H.; and W. H. Jones, P.Z. 498, as J. The Prov. Grand Supt. and his Grand Officers entered the chapter-room in procession, and took the chairs as follows: the M.E. Prov. G. Supt. as Z., E. Comp. J. Barber as H., and E. Comp. W. Maxfield as J.

E. Comp. C. C. W. Griffiths, acting D. of C., having called upon the companions to salute the Prov. G. Supt. and Grand Officers in due form. E. Comp. W. Bristow, acting Scribe E., read the warrant, and the M.E. Prov. G. Supt. then proceeded with the impressive consecration service, during which the anthem, "Let there be light," the ode, "Hail, universal Lord!" and the 122nd Psalm were sung, and most effectively accompanied on the harmonium by Comp. T. Troman, Prov. G. Organist.

At the conclusion of the consecration service, the Prov. G. Supt. called upon Comp. W. Bristow to instal the Principals as follows:—Comps. A. J. Hancock, Z.; James Fitzgerald, H.; W. L. Faucett, J.; after which the following companions were nominated to fill the respective offices in the chapter, viz., G. W. Grosvenor, S.E.; P. Bellitzay, N.; A. T. Hancock, P.S.

Four companions were proposed as joining members, and eight candidates for exaltation.

On Monday, 11th inst., the first regular meeting of the chapter was held, when three candidates were exalted.

"For thy brethren and companions' sake, we will wish thee prosperity."

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

THE CRAFT.

METROPOLITAN.

City of London Lodge, No. 901.—The regular meeting was held on Monday, the 18th instant, at the Guildhall Tavern, City. Bro. J. Child, W.M., opened the lodge, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The candidate for raising was out of town, and a letter of condolence was voted to be sent to Bro. W. E. Haycock, I.P.M., who was absent through illness, when the lodge was closed. There were present: Bros. E. Develin, S.W.; A. Griffiths, J.W.; G. Darcy, Treas.; E. Sisson, P.M., Sec.; W. Lewis, S.D.; S. Carey, W.S.; &c. The visitors were Bros. E. J. Brown, D.C. 30; F. Walters, P.M. 73; Dr. Vogel, German Constitution; Vohmann, S.W. 9, Virginia (American Constitution); &c. An excellent cold collation was served, and the usual toasts were given.

Rose of Denmark Lodge, No. 975.—This lodge met at the White Hart Tavern, Barnes, on Friday, the 15th instant. Bro. C. A. Smith, W.M., presided, supported by Bros. W. H. Barnard, S.W.; S. H. Stephens, J.W.; G. T. Noyce, P.M. and Treas.; R. W. Little, P.M. and Sec.; J. H. Tyler, as S.D.; Rev. J. S. Darvell, Chaplain; T. Farrell, W.S.; C. Willcox, W. Hamlyn, H. N. Hewitt, T. T. Willcox, J. Ayles, S. Curtis, W. Harris, C. E. Angel, G. Makepeace, W. Palmer, Burton, &c. After the confirmation of the minutes, and the usual preliminaries, the W.M. initiated Messrs. H. O. Hinton and J. W. Jackson, passed Bro. Palmer, and raised Bro. Doerr to the degree of M.M. The lodge having been resumed in the first degree, the elections for the ensuing year were held, and resulted unanimously as follows: Bros. S. W. H. Barnard, S.W., W.M.; G. T. Noyce, P.M., Treas.; and J. Gilbert, Tyler. Auditors: Bros. Tyler, Hewitt, Curtis, and Ayles. The resignations of Bros. G. H. Oliver, P.M., and J. H. Graham were announced, and received with regret. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren sat down to a splendid banquet, and this being the eighth anniversary of the lodge, which was opened in September, 1863, Bro. Willcox, the host and one of the founders, provided a bountiful allowance of champagne in honour of the occasion, and a very pleasant evening was spent.

PROVINCIAL.

IPSWICH.—Perfect Friendship Lodge, No. 376.—This lodge met on 20th inst., at the Masonic Hall. Present: Bros. W. A. Smith, W.M.; J. B. Frazer, S.W.; James Franks, P.M., as J.W.; Rev. Chas. Woodward (Chaplain to the Boys' School), Chap.; S. B. King, Sec.; A. Christie, S.D.; N. Tracy, P.M., as J.D.; G. S. Findley, D.C.; G. Godbald, I.G.; G. Spalding, Tyler; James Godball, R. Woodward, G. R. Scopes, G. S. Golding, A. C. Parker, John Gay, and G. R. Mannistre. Visitors: Bros. J. H. Staddon, W. T. Westgate, Henry Juff, J. A. Pettitt, R. Burrows, W. P. Mills, C. Davy (225), P.M.'s; P. Cornell, W.M. 114; L. Jonas, 1024; J. Dunne, 372; and Elliott. In consequence of the agenda paper being heavy, the W.M. ordered the brethren to assemble at 6.30, instead of 8 p.m. The lodge was opened in due form, with solemn prayer, and the minutes of the last lodge meeting were read and confirmed. The ballot was then taken for Mr. John Gay, declared unanimous, and that gentleman was duly initiated. Bros. Mannistre and Woodward were passed to the F.C. degree, the working tools being described by the W.M., and Bro. Parker was raised to the sublime degree of M.M. The working of the three degrees was the admiration of every one—the W.M. through the whole time (four hours) being well up. The lodge retired from labour to refreshment, when a very recherché supper was placed on the table by Bro. G. Spalding. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and were well received, the responses to those requiring acknowledgment being hearty. Lodge closed in harmony.

LEICESTER.—John of Gaunt Lodge, No. 523.—The first regular meeting of the season was held on Thursday, the 21st inst., when there was a numerous attendance of the brethren of both this and the sister lodge, No. 279. The lodge was opened by Bro. W. Sculthorpe, W.M., and he was supported by the R.W. Bro. William Kelly, P.G.M. and P.M.; Bros. George Toller, jun., P.G. Sec. and P.M.; the Rev. Dr. Haycroft, S.W.; F. J. Baines, J.W.; the Rev. W. T. Fry, Chap.; W. B. Smith, Treas.; S. S. Partridge, Sec.; C. A. Spencer, J.D.; W. T. Rowlett, I.G.; A. Sergeant and J. F. Smith, Stewards; and other brethren. Visitors: Bros. T. Manton, No. 3, Cork; Clement Stretton, the W.M., and several brethren of No. 275. There were three candidates for passing, of whom two, Bros. Young and Taylor, were present. These brethren were duly passed to the second degree by the W.M., the ceremony, which was the first worked by him since his accession to the chair, being performed by him in a most praiseworthy and efficient manner. At the request of the W.M., the S.W., Bro. the Rev. Dr. Haycroft, delivered the lecture on the tracing-board. The lodge was closed in the second degree, and the brethren proceeded to elect a brother for nomination to the P.G.M., to represent the lodge as P.G. Steward. On the ballot being taken, the choice fell on Bro. E. Mace, last year I.G. of the lodge. The Chairman of the Hall Committee read the report of the Committee on the alterations to the building, and requesting subscriptions to defray the expenses thereof. After a joining member and a candidate for initiation had been proposed, the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to refreshment.—The alterations above alluded to have been made during the recess, and have greatly increased the utility and comfort of the building. The hall itself has been entirely repainted and decorated, and the arrangements for lighting it have been much improved. A new sleeping-room for the Tyler has been added to the building, from the adjoining house, which is the property of the trustees of the hall, and another, and more commodious, kitchen has been formed, and fitted with a large patent cooking range. The alterations have been carried on under the superintendence of Bro. J. Malcolm M'Allister, who has gratuitously prepared and furnished the plans, specifications, &c., and devoted a considerable amount of time and attention to the supervision of the work. Bro. Widdowson also rendered valuable assistance. The total cost is about £250, which has to be defrayed by subscriptions of the brethren. About £60 was subscribed during the evening.

HAMPTON, MIDDLESEX.—Lbanon Lodge, No. 1326.—This prosperous lodge held its regular meeting on Friday, the 15th instant, at the Red Lion Hotel, Hampton. In the unavoidable absence of the W.M., Bro. S. Wickens, which was caused by his having met with a severe accident, Bro. Frederick Walters, P.M. and Secretary, presided as W.M., and was well supported by Bros. J. C. Woodrow, P.M., as S.W.; J. Truelove, P.M., as J.W.; W. Hammond, P.M., J.D.; H. Potter, P.M., W.S.;

J. Hammond, P.M.; C. S. Simpson, J. McRitchie, H. Stevens, C. W. Fox, J. C. Sinclair, &c. There were present as visitors: Bros. F. B. Davage, P.M. 167; J. Truelove, P.M. 871; J. Hayward, 946; C. Saunders, 1275; E. Townshend, 1275; and W. Bell, 1275. The ballots, taken separately, proved unanimous in favour of the admission of Bros. J. C. Woodrow, P.M. 15; C. W. Fox, 15; J. Catchpole, 1306; and Jackson, 1306. The ballot was unanimous in favour of Mr. James McRitchie, and he being in attendance was initiated into Freemasonry. Bros. C. S. Simpson, H. Stevens, and E. Townshend (1275) were introduced separately and passed to the second degree. Bro. C. Saunders was raised to the third degree. All the officers assisting in the work being Past Masters, the ceremonies were rendered in an efficient manner. The presiding W.M. was warmly congratulated by all present for the admirable manner in which he had performed his part. Bro. J. Hayward, 946, was proposed as a joining member, and several candidates were proposed for initiation. The lodge was then closed, refreshment following labour.

ROYAL ARCH.

GIBRALTAR.—Calpean Chapter, No. 278.—The regular meeting of this chapter was held in the rooms of the Friendship Lodge, on the 13th inst. In the unavoidable absence of the M.E.Z., Comp. Henry, P.Z., Comp. Cornwell presided, supported by Comps. Ellison and Beal as H. and J. respectively. The business of the evening, in addition to the exaltation of Bro. Beck, of Adam's Lodge, Sheerness, included the election of officers for the ensuing year. From a long list of candidates, Comp. Balfour Cockburn was almost unanimously elected 1st Principal, only one vote being recorded against him. We heartily congratulate Comp. Balfour Cockburn on his success, a success the more gratifying as it is mainly due to the untiring energy and attention he has bestowed on the chapter, having for the last two years acted as Principal Sojourner and Scribe E. with the utmost assiduity and ability. Comp. Dantz, a staunch and tried supporter of the chapter, was elected to the second chair, and Comp. Hector Cavairna, a most warm and zealous Mason, to the third chair. Comp. Richardson, who, during the past year, performed the duties of Principal Sojourner in a most effective and able manner, was elected Scribe N.; Comp. Heppe, Scribe E.; and Comp. Andrews, Principal Sojourner. Comp. Marin, who has so frequently merited and elicited from the chapter its highest encomiums, was unanimously re-elected Treasurer. The Janitor Peleskie was re-elected by show of hands. The labours of the evening being ended, the chapter was duly closed, when the companions retired to refreshment, and the remainder of the evening was spent in social intercourse and harmony, P.Z. Cornwell making a very telling speech in welcoming the newly-exalted companion, Bro. Beck, within the chapter.

MARK MASONRY.

IPSWICH.—Albert Victor Lodge, No. 70.—This lodge met on Sept. 16th, at the Masonic Hall. Present: Bros. the Rev. R. N. Sanderson, W.M.; W. Cuckow, S.W.; E. Holmes, 31<sup>o</sup>, J.W.; J. Chinnock, M.O.; C. Robertson, S.O.; C. Davy, J.O.; G. S. Golding, Treas.; C. T. Townsend, Sec.; J. Townsend, Reg. of M.; G. Cresswell, S.D.; G. Spalding, Tyler; Bros. W. Parsons, W. P. Lewis, A. R. Staines, G. R. Beaumont, Sergeant Colthorpe, and W. T. Westgate. Visitor: Bros. R. W. Beaumont, Colthorpe, Lewis, and others, were duly balloted for and declared unanimously elected. Six brethren were then advanced to the degree of M.M. in the usual efficient manner of the W.M., ably assisted by his officers, the charge and explanation being given by the W.M. This being the evening of election for W.M. for the ensuing year, the ballot, as such, fell on Bro. E. Holmes, who was declared duly elected. The Treasurer, Bro. G. S. Golding, having signified his intention to withdraw from his office, the ballot was declared in favour of Bro. W. Cuckow. Bro. G. Spalding was elected Tyler. The brethren then adjourned to the banquet-hall, where a pleasing evening was spent in harmony.

WE have great pleasure in announcing that Brother Hughan has been elected unanimously a Life Member of Lafayette Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, Washington, at its stated convocation on the 2nd instant, "as a token of the fraternal regard entertained for him among Royal Arch Masons in the capital of the United States."

Foreign Masonic Intelligence.

CANADA.

[From the Northern Light, Orillia, August 25.]

SECOND ANNUAL VISIT OF THE GRAND PRIOR OF CANADA, COL. MACLEOD MOORE, TO ORILLIA.

As Orillia has been termed "The Masonic Village of Canada," we may be pardoned for giving a brief account of the visit of the Grand Prior to this somewhat out-of-the-way place.

On Saturday week, Col. Moore, accompanied by the heads of the several Masonic bodies in this place on their return from Grand Chapter, arrived here per "Emily May," and during his stay was the guest of V.E. Frater R. Ramsay.

On Thursday evening, the subordinate degrees were worked with much impressiveness in Signet Chapter, No. 34. The Mark by R.E. Comp. R. Ramsay, and Past and Most Excellent by E. Comp. Atkinson. Col. Moore, as Past Grand H. of the Grand Chapter of Canada, highly complimented the companions upon the regularity and precision with which all was conducted.

On Friday afternoon, at about four o'clock, the fratres of Mount Calvary Encampment met at the Masonic Hall to do honour to the head of this knightly order in Canada, E. Frater C. S. Elliot presiding, supported by Fratres Ostrander and Bridgland. The several grades of the Temple were conferred upon three candidates with great solemnity, and Col. Moore at the close of the evening expressed himself highly gratified with the same.

After the encampment was closed, Sir. Kt. G. M. Wilson opened Gethsemane Conclave, of the Red Cross of Constantine, assisted by Frater Ostrander as V.R., and Fratre Corbett as Prelate. The novitiate cross of this beautiful rite was given by these brethren, assisted by the others, in a manner that brought forth the highest encomiums from the Chief Intendent-General, and which must have proved very gratifying to those who conferred the degrees.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies the fratres adjourned to the refreshment-room, accompanied by some thirty brethren of other grades, who had accepted the invitation of Mount Calvary Encampment.

E. Frater Elliott occupied the chair, supported on his right by the guest of the evening, V.E. Frater Col. W. J. B. MacLeod Moore, 33°, Grand Prior, &c.; the Rev. Canon Ramsay, Past Grand Chaplain G.L. of Canada; Col. Thorne; W. Bro. N. A. Gamble; W. Bro. F. Kean, W.M. of Orillia Lodge, No. 192; and Rev. Harris. On his left by V.E. Fratre Robert Ramsay, 32°, M.W.S. of Immanuel Rose Croix Chapter; Sir William Colles; E. Frater G. M. Wilson, M.P.S. Gethsemane Conclave; E. Comp. T. S. Atkinson, 1st Principal Z. Signet Chapter, No. 34; W. Bro. J. A. Ardagh, Com. of Olive Branch Lodge. Fratres Ostrander and Corbett acted as Vice-Chairmen, W. Bro. Summers, Bros. Carpenter, Densmore, Empey, Rawson, and other visitors, were also present.

A blessing having been asked by the Rev. Canon Ramsay, all set to with a will at the cold turkey, chickens, ham, and other viands that fairly loaded the table. Coffee, tea, iced water, and bottled ale were in abundance, and if we may judge from the rapidity with which the edibles disappeared, we must admit that "mine host," Frater Robert Ross, is no mean caterer on these occasions. After ample justice had been done to the inner man, dishes, &c., were removed, and toasts and songs became the order of the day.

E. Frater Elliot gave first "The Queen and the Craft," which was followed by "God Save the Queen," by Frater Bridgland.

The Chairman then proposed "The Grand Master and Grand Lodge of Canada," remarking as he did so, that under the guidance of the present head of Craft Masonry he trusted the clouds of the eastern horizon would soon be dispelled. (The toast was received with Masonic honours.)

He next gave "The Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter of Canada," and alluded in highly eulogistic terms to M.E. Comp. Harington, 33°, as one who had during a most difficult crisis in Canadian Masonry steered the bark of the Capitulat Branch safely through the breakers that at one time threatened to overwhelm the ship.

The Chairman then proposed "The Grand Master and Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of Ontario." Ill. Comp. J. H. G. Neidgemier, of Toronto, responded, followed by the Grand Recorder, Rt. Ill. Comp. R. Ramsay.

E. Frater Robert Ramsay then gave the toast of the evening. Frater Ramsay, in doing so, alluded to the many acts of kindness and courtesy that the brethren of Orillia had on several occasions received from the guest who had on the present occasion honoured them with his presence, and concluded by calling upon all to drink bumpers to "The Long Life, Health, and Prosperity of Col. W. J. B. Macleod Moore, 33°, Grand Prior of Canada, and Chief Intendent-General of the Constantinian Order for the Dominion."

The toast was received with the greatest enthusiasm, and after the Masonic honours, the brethren insisted upon singing "For he's a jolly good fellow," with three times three.

The Grand Prior, in responding, after complimenting the fratres, companions, and brethren upon the thorough manner in which they had conducted their impressive ceremonies both yesterday and to-day, reminded them that there was something higher and grander in Masonry and Templarism than mere ceremonial, and that was principle and honour. After expressing the pleasure he felt at seeing so many true men and brothers, he resumed his seat amidst great applause.

E. Comp. Corbett then proposed "Our Visiting Brethren," to which R.W. Bro. Canon Ramsay, Sir William Colles, and the W. Bros. Gamble and Summers briefly responded.

Song and volunteer toasts followed in quick succession, including some very appropriate lines, composed and sung by that venerable Mason, Col. Thorne, which elicited great applause. At a little before "low twelve" the brethren separated, all expressing the pleasure they had experienced in meeting one who may be looked upon as the connecting link between English and Canadian Masonry, and the words "God bless our beloved Chief" were on that occasion uttered with hearts full of deep reverence, respect, and love for one who has so long upheld the true interests of Templarism on British soil.

On the following morning the fratres again assembled at the Hall to confer the grade of Malta, E. Frater Ramsay presiding, after which Olive Branch Lodge of Royal Ark Mariners was opened by the Com. N., W. Bro. J. Ardagh. Col. Moore, as representative and Inspector-General of the Order, communicated the secrets of C.N., and conferred the honorary rank of Commander N. upon the heads of the different bodies in Orillia, viz.: Bros. F. Kean, T. S. Atkinson, G. M. Wilson, C. S. Ostrander, and C. S. Elliot, also upon R.W. Bro. Canon Ramsay and Sir William Colles. He likewise created W. Bro. J. A. Ardagh an Honorary Sovereign of the Constantinian Order, and Ill. Sir Kt. Elliott a K.H.S. He also afterwards appointed the Rev. Canon Ramsay, M.A., a Past Deputy Grand Commander of the Grand Priory of Canada, and thus terminated one of the most interesting Masonic proceedings that ever have taken place in "The Masonic Village of Canada," and we feel sure we only express the sentiments of all when we can say that every brother, from the youngest Entered Apprentice up, look forward to these annual visitations of the Grand Prior as one of the events of his life.

TURKEY.

The following letter appeared in the Levant Times of 18th inst. :-

(To the Editor of the Levant Times and Shipping Gazette.)

Dear Sir and Brother,—The report that it has been submitted to his Highness Mahmoud Pasha, Grand Vizier, to withdraw the favour of the Ottoman Government from any of its subjects who may belong to our Masonic Brotherhood, I can with difficulty believe. Indeed, I am sure that his Highness is too well informed as to the principles of our Order, especially those of loyalty of the brethren to their Sovereign and Government and of patriotic devotion to the welfare of their country, to permit personal malice, or, rather, profound ignorance, to influence him against us. His Highness, also, must be well aware that, at the present moment, there is scarcely a sovereign, an hereditary prince, or an eminent statesman in Europe who does not belong to our world-wide Fraternity and take a warm interest in the promotion of its welfare and prosperity. His illustrious predecessor, whose decease we all mourn, though a strict Mussulman, and whose patriotism was beyond all doubt, and though not, like his friend and colleague, Fuad Pasha, a Freemason, was of too noble and generous a character and too warm an advocate of strict justice, ever to allow such a prejudice to enter his mind, and his memory will ever be dear to us, though he did not belong to our Order.

Perhaps, the ill-feeling which has prevailed for many years past against the Order of the Bektashis is to be revived; but this will not, I am certain, find any response in the heart of his Highness Mahmoud Pasha. I allude especially to this Tarik, or Order, because there are many very excellent persons here who fully believe in a similarity between it and Freemasonry.

Should, however, such a report, unfortunately, have any foundation, I need not more than add that it will find small sympathy—perhaps, it will cause great surprise—all over Europe and in the United States of America, as well as in all other parts of the world, throughout which are distributed millions of Freemasons. Certainly, no Masonic act can have given rise to such a want of favour towards the Order, and common justice between man and man requires that no one should ever be condemned without a hearing.

In conclusion, I can safely say that his Imperial Majesty has no more devoted and faithful subjects, in high or low positions, than those whom we call "our brethren."

I remain, dear Sir and Brother,
Yours fraternally,
JOHN P. BROWN,
District Grand Master for Turkey.
Constantinople, Sept. 16, 1871.

P o e t r y .

SONNET.

[From the American Freemason.]

THE WEST.

Down, down the clouded vault with changing mien!
Moves slowly on the gold-crowned king of day;
Robed now in light less dazzling, in serene
And placid grandeur on he makes his way;
With evening's veil his glittering brow he shades—
His soft, sweet rays stream through bright sylvan glades,
To close the scene he seeks the distant WEST,
When on his downy couch he sinks to rest.
So in the WEST the SENIOR WARDEN stands,
To assist the Master as he may propose,
To aid in opening Lodge and help to close,
To pay the wages due the labouring bands,
And then we, the PILLAR OF STRENGTH may see,
A third supporter of Freemasonry.

Florence, Laurens Co., Georgia.

EMMETT.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—In bilious disorders, sick headache, indigestion, and affections of the nerves, these famous Pills, so highly appreciated in all quarters of the world, are regarded as a perfect remedy. They purify the blood, regulate the secretions, give tone to the stomach, restore the appetite, and renovate the whole system. After a course of these Pills, the once emaciated and feeble patient is so changed that his friends are both wonder-struck and delighted. These cheap preservatives of life and health are a blessing to mankind. It would be hardly possible to overstate the good that they have effected in diseases which, through maltreatment or neglect, had gained such a mastery over the system that their eradication seemed perfectly hopeless.—[Adv.]

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending October 7, 1871.

The Editor will be glad to have notice from Secretaries of lodges and chapters of any change in place or time of meeting.

MONDAY, OCT. 2.

Lodge 25, Robert Burns, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 69, Unity, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
 " 72, Royal Jubilee, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 " 144, St. Luke's Pier Hotel, Chelsea.
 " 188, Joppa, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-street.
 " 1319, Asaph, Freemasons' Hall.
 Chap. 28, Old King's Arms, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 1056, Victoria, Masons' Hall, Mason's Avenue, Basinghall-street.
 Kent Mark Lodge of Instruction, Lyceum Tavern, 354, Strand, at 7.30.
 Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
 Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
 Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern-Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Swan Tavern, Mount-street, Grosvenor-square, at 8.
 Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30, Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
 British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
 Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. Dilley, Preceptor.
 St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, OCT. 3.

Colonial Board, Freemasons' Hall, at 3.
 Lodge 7, Royal York, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 9, Albion, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 101, Temple, Ship & Turtle Tav., Leadenhall-st.
 " 167, St. John's, Holly Bush Tavern, Hampstead.
 " 172, Old Concord, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 217, Stability, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 " 765, St. James's, Market Tavern, New Westons-street, Bermondsey.
 " 1257, Grosvenor, Victoria Railway Station.
 " 1259, Duke of Edinburgh, New Globe Tavern, Bow-road.
 " 1261, Golden Rule, Great Western Htl., Paddington.
 " 1298, Royal Standard, Marquess Tav., Canonbury.
 Chap. 169, Temperance, White Swan, Deptford.
 Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
 Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
 Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, Preceptor.
 Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
 Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
 Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
 Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 4.

Lodge 511, Zetland, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
 United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
 Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
 Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7½.
 Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
 Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
 Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Ludus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, OCT. 5.

Lodge 27, Egyptian, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 " 45, Strong Man, Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell.
 " 136, Good Report, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street.
 " 192, Lion and Lamb, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-st.
 " 227, Ionic, Ship & Turtle Tav., Leadenhall-st.
 " 538, La Tolerance, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 554, Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
 " 742, Crystal Palace, Crystal Palace, Sydeaham.
 " 822, Victoria Rifles, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 1155, Excelsior, Sydney Arms, Lewisham-road.
 " 1178, Perfect Ashlar, Gregorian Arms, Bermondsey.
 Chap. 174, Sincerity, Cheshire Cheese, Crutched Friars.
 The R.A. Chapter of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor. Ceremony, read By-laws, elect officers, &c., &c.
 Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses, Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern, Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
 United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
 St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.

FRIDAY, OCT. 6.

Lodge 706, Florence Nightingale, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich.
 " 890, Hornsey, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 " 1305, St. Marylebone, Eyre Arms Tavern, St. John's Wood.
 Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
 Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
 Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Htl., Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
 Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Muggerridge, Preceptor.
 St. Lake's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
 United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
 Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
 St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
 Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
 Royal Standard Lodge of Instruction, Marquess Tavern, Canonbury; Bro. R. Lee, Preceptor.

Burdett Coutts Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
 Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West Smith, Preceptor.

SATURDAY, OCT. 7.

General Committee Boys' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4.
 Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. J. Comb, Preceptor.
 Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 8; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
 Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.

SMALL-POX, FEVERS, AND SKIN DISEASES.—The predisposition to is prevented by Lamplough's Pyretic Saline. Vitalising and invigorating, its effects are remarkable in their cure and prevention. Take it as directed. Sold by chemists and the maker, H. Lamplough, 113, Holborn-hill.—[Advt.]

Advertisements.

MONEY!

CONFIDENTIALLY ADVANCED, in Town or Country, to Household, on their furniture and effects, without removal or publicity. Stocks, valuable effects, plate, diamonds, watches, furniture, pianos, &c., BOUGHT for IMMEDIATE CASH, or Advances made thereon without delay. Dry Store-rooms for the deposit of furniture and household effects.

The highest references given on application to

MR. A COHEN,
 130, Duke-street,
 LIVERPOOL.

(Private Office.)

N.B.—Apply personally or by stamped directed envelope.

Bro. WM. N. S. COPE,
 THE NOTED 10/6 HATTER,
 38, LONDON ROAD, LIVERPOOL,
 Hosier, &c., at 61, London-road.

THE "LONDON,"
 Clayton Square, Liverpool,

(Next to Prince of Wales' Theatre),

HAS been arranged by Bro. CHARLES GOSDEN (late of The Freemasons' Tavern, London) for the Business of A RESTAURANT.

Bills of Fare ready from 12 o'clock noon till 11.30 evening.

Private Rooms for Dinners, Suppers, &c.

Public and Private Billiard Rooms.

TARIFF OF CHARGES MODERATE.

WILLIAM WINSOR, of 8, Miles's-lane, London-bridge, Imports CIGARS of the very Finest Brands only, and Manufactures Cigars from the Choicest Tobaccos. Wholesale and Retail.

Every Person requiring an OUTFIT should send for

"THE OUTFITTER:"

PUBLISHED AND FORWARDED FREE BY

GANN, JONES & Co.,

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURING OUTFITTERS.

For Military Outfits, estimates, &c. ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Shirts of all descriptions ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Naval " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Hosiery and Underclothing ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Civil Service " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Rugs and Umbrellas ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for the Traveller ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Waterproof Clothing ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for the Emigrant ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Tropical " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for Lads going to School ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Canadian " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for Lads going to Sea ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Cricketing " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for an Apprentice ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Collars, Shirt-fronts, Wristbands... see THE OUTFITTER.
For the New Books of the Quarter ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Gann, Jones & Co.'s Sewing Machines see THE OUTFITTER.
For Routes to principal parts of the World ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For the New Machine, "The Lady" (£2 15s.) ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Distances, Passenger Rates, &c., to ditto... see THE OUTFITTER.		For the leading Machines of all Makers ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Cricketing and Athletic Reports for the Quarter, see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Leading Manufacturers ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Prices of Gentlemanly yet Economic Dress ... see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Enterprising Tradesmen ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Prices of the Very Best Shirts ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For the Addresses of Good Schools ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.

Depot, 171, FENCHURCH STREET. Manufactory, 15 and 16, BLOMFIELD STREET, E.C.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGES
"ORIGIN OF FREEMASONRY," &c.—
No. 2 ... ..	623, 624, & 625
ROYAL ARCH CHAPTER OF IMPROVEMENT ...	625
THE CRAFT—
Metropolitan ... ..	625
Provincial ... ..	625
ROYAL ARCH ... ..	625
THE ANCIENT AND ACCEPTED RITE ...	626 & 627
ILLUSTRATIONS OF THE HISTORY OF THE CRAFT ... ..	627 & 628
ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE—
"Freemasonry and Judaism" ... ..	628
An Urgent Appeal ... ..	628 & 629
William Phillips Barrett's Candidature ...	629
CONSECRATION OF THE CLAPTON LODGE, No. 1365 ... ..	629
THE AMERICAN K.T. TOURISTS ... ..	629
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ...	629 & 630
ADVERTISEMENTS ... ..	621, 622, 630, 631, & 632

"ORIGIN OF FREEMASONRY," &amp;c.

No. 2.

(Continued from page 485.)

Bro. W. P. Buchan has favoured the readers of THE FREEMASON with the second of a series of three articles in support of the negative side of the question of the "Revival" (or non-revival) of Freemasonry A.D. 1717, and in his communication wishes me to "enter into the matter as fully and pointedly in my answer as I possibly can, so that he may have a chance of replying to my statements." Surely, Bro. Buchan has mistaken the object of the discussion, which was entered on by me in the belief that something was to be advanced in favour of the negative, which would prove the following words of mine to be wrong: "That the true history of Freemasonry in this country is the history of an operative body;" and substantiate that "what took place in 1717 was not the revival of operative Freemasonry, or of any other Freemasonry, nor is the Institution known as 'speculative Freemasonry' a lineal descendant of either operative masonry or operative Freemasonry."

At page 393 of THE FREEMASON, Bro. Buchan challenged my statement of the question, and, at page 442, undertook to prove exactly what we have quoted above. For what he has offered as proof, the readers of THE FREEMASON are respectfully referred to pages 442 and 600, and I think they will agree with me in believing that Bro. Buchan has utterly failed to produce one iota of evidence that militates against the transactions of 1717 being, in every legitimate sense, a "Revival of Freemasonry."

My first communication (which would have been a lengthy answer to Bro. Buchan's first article, if there had been anything in it requiring a detailed and explicit examination) was mainly to show that the point in dispute was not whether there were three degrees in operation before 1717, because it is known that the parties to this discussion believe there were not three degrees in Masonry anterior to the last century. In concluding my reply, I also mentioned at least five distinct propositions with respect to the "Revival of Freemasonry," which it was in my power to substantiate, and thought, naturally, that Bro. Buchan would object to one or more of these, seeing that if their truth was admitted, the position advocated by me would be abundantly verified. The contrary, however, has been the case, for these separate and distinct propositions have been ignored; and in the second letter on the negative, Bro. Buchan again returns to the antiquity of Masonic degrees, although he must know they have nothing whatever to do with the question at issue between him and me. It is absurd to complain of the paucity of my first communication. It was the necessary effect of his barren article (barren so far as evidence against my position is concerned). The challenger should certainly be prepared with facts in support of his right to challenge, and while I am quite ready and willing to have all my observations with respect to the Fraternity challenged, I must certainly reserve to myself the right to expect that whenever any statement is disputed, the objector should be prepared with something like prima facie grounds to justify his opposition. It is easy enough to challenge, and the work of a lifetime may be treated as though it were nothing, by some; but, surely, the Craft would not sanction such a treatment unless proof were forthcoming. It is not my province to furnish any fresh matter for Bro. Buchan to write upon during this discussion. To justify him in challenging, he must be in possession of facts to disprove my statements in reference to the origin of Freemasonry; and therefore it is for him to make them known through the medium of this paper, especially as I have written often on this subject before, and there is, consequently, the less need for me to reiterate what has already been said and re-said many times within the last few years.

The second letter by Bro. Buchan is now before me, and the following is my answer to it, and, as he has done, I have written it, without any attempt to beg the question, and with a strong desire to promote truth and elicit information of value to the Craft:—

(a) The first point to examine in Bro. Buchan's defence of his position is, "It is well known that our system is one of degrees; it follows that if neither these degrees, nor any degrees at all, existed before 1716, then our system could not have existed before then either." It is quite true our present system of Freemasonry is one of "degrees," but it is not clear that at the "Revival" it was so, and for several years afterwards it certainly was not so in England generally. The majority of the lodges were not in possession of the secrets of the Third Degree, especially, for some years after the "Revival," and many were quite content at being Apprentices or Fellow-Crafts, in proof of which may be adduced the early minutes of lodges wherein Fellow-Crafts were registered as such, and even appointed as deputations to open new lodges, so late as A.D. 1751, and also the vote of Grand Lodge permitting ordinary lodges to confer the Third Degree a few years after its institution. Now, although it is hereby admitted that there was no series of degrees anterior to 1717 such as we have had since, yet it is my firm conviction that the main secrets known to Masons before the "Revival" were incorporated into the ceremonies of Freemasonry about A.D. 1717 and since. My belief is based upon a number of floating proofs which should be carefully consulted, and which decidedly point us to the conclusion mentioned. The question is, what were the peculiar secrets of Masons, known to the Craft as such before the last century, and have these been retained? In Scotland, the ancient documents still preserved appear only to refer to the "Mason-word," and so long as this word is contained in connection with the present ritual, and the manners and customs of the ancient Fraternity are preserved, their traditions kept, and their charges delivered in lodges (which we firmly believe to be the case), then, as the Craft did revive in Scotland A.D. 1736, the proceedings may fairly be termed a "Revival" of the ancient Order. But if so in Scotland, how much more so in England? There is plenty of evidence in print to satisfy the most exacting that there were signs (not only a sign, but signs) used by Freemasons in their chapters years before the "Revival." In the "Natural History of Staffordshire," by Robert Plot, LL.D., printed at Oxford in the year 1686, we find, on perusal, the following relating to Freemasons: "They proceed to the admission of them, which chiefly consists in the communication of certain secret signs, whereby they are known to one another all over the nation, by which means they have maintenance whither ever they travel; for if any man appear, though altogether unknown, that can show any of these signs to a Fellow of the Society, whom they otherwise call an Accepted Mason, he is obliged presently to come to him." After alluding to certain laws which are found in a "schrole or parchment volume they have amongst them," Dr. Plot goes on to observe: "But some others they have (to which they are sworn after their fashion) that none know but themselves" . . . , I found persons of the most eminent quality, that did not disdain to be of this Fellowship." Other printed evidence of the customs of the Freemasons as to their having "signs," &c., before the "Revival" are in existence; but this will suffice for the present. In MSS. there are two of importance, one of which all judges, so far, have admitted it to be about A.D. 1650, and the other, the date of which has been questioned, and, in fact, is just now in process of elucidation by "A Masonic Student," and others. The first MS. is No. 2054, f. 33 (Harleian MS. British Museum). For the benefit of all concerned I present a copy of it from my "Masonic Sketches and Reprints," p. 46, part 2, wherein it was printed for the first time:—

"There is Several words and signes of a freemason to be reveiled to yu. wch. as yu. will answ. before God at the Great & terrible day of Judgmt. yu. keep secret & not to revaile the same in the heares of any person or to any but to the Mrs. & fellows of the said Society of free masons so helpe me God, &c."

The second document is the Sloane MS., No. 3329, f. 142, of which I have a certified copy, but which I do not see my way clear at present to publish. Bro. Buchan devotes a considerable portion of his letter to the consideration of the probable date of this MS., and fixes it according to what appears to him the nearest approximation, viz., "not any older than 1717." At first sight I was inclined to think it belonged to the early part of the last century, but after a careful examination of it, in connection with the foregoing work by Dr. Plot, it seems to me to be difficult to decide, and at present we prefer waiting the result of "A Masonic Student's" investigation. Bro. J. G. Findel, the Masonic historian of Germany, believes Dr. Plot knew of it when writing his history in 1686, and, certainly, it is a fact that we find in his work of A.D. 1686, and in the MS., what we can find nowhere else. Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford (an excellent authority on the subject) believes it was written before the middle of the 17th century, and the late Mr. J. R. Wallbran (a gentleman well versed in ancient manuscripts, and considered by many to have been the first authority in England as to their antiquity, and who was accepted as a most competent judge on the subject by the authorities of the British Museum) dates it "before the middle of the 17th century," just as Bro. Woodford does. There is no better judge at present mentioned among the several who have expressed their opinion. However, the question as to the words and signs may safely be trusted to the evidence in print of A.D. 1686, and the Harleian MS. No. 2054. Should this not prove sufficient, we can produce other, if required. Now, as it is evident signs were known and used by Masons before the "Revival," and a number of the Fraternity met A.D. 1716 (belonging to the ancient Institution), and restored and revived the lodges that were drooping, and, subsequently, other old lodges and members were received into the new organization or arrangement of the ancient Society, what more natural than to conclude that the signs and words formed part of the new Ritual? Some of these brethren declare such to have been the case, and as they were men of position and influence, we surely must not doubt them without having evidence to the contrary. Remembering this, it should not be forgotten that other lodges who did not participate in the Revival continued to work apart for some years, and their minutes read just as those of the other party. These have since joined the Grand Lodge, and no word has at any time been heard of any material differences in their mode of work. Indeed, with some lodges, it is absolutely impossible from the records to decide when such a union was consummated, so little did it affect the general conduct and arrangement of the lodge. It is also a fact that members of the Grand Lodge visited lodges which had not recognised them, and after being tested were admitted duly, thereby showing some basis on which they agreed, and about which there could be no mistake as to their actually being the secrets of operative as well as speculative Freemasonry, the secrets not simply of the last century, but, most probably, for centuries. It should also be remembered that there are records of lodges prior to A.D. 1717 the members of which were gentlemen, and in no sense, at the time we speak of, was it an operative society, excepting as a preserver of the secrets of Freemasonry. One of this class subsequently established a Grand Lodge of its own in England, and chartered lodges, and although it has now ceased to exist, when it was first started it met with great success; and as a keen rivalry and jealousy existed between it and the Grand Lodge of 1717, for certain they would soon have exposed any attempt to foist on the Craft, degrees which were in no sense a continuation of the operative secrets of former years. No complaint, however, is made by either Grand Lodge from A.D. 1725 to 1790 of such an occurrence, although at times their hostility was bitter and most personal, and, hence, this circumstance is of importance. I could multiply such instances if time permitted, but must rest contented with enunciating a principle for guiding inquirers as to the Revival, and the presentation of sufficient evidence to prove the assertions made. It follows, then, from the foregoing facts and premises, that our system of Freemasonry, although not in full the same as was wrought before the Revival, at all events, "by legitimate succession and continuation of the old operative Assembly," and by having (as its promoters profess to have done, and facts warrant our believing them) "carefully guarded the secrets and traditions of the operative sodalities in England," is the only representative of ancient Freemasonry as a secret society, and dates its organisation as a restored Institution from the "Revival of 1717." So that our system, though "now one of degrees," which the ancient Society was not, yet they had throughout the first part of the last century so many points in common, that their actual similarity as to some of the secrets is rendered almost absolutely certain from the evidence of the Records and published works which have been preserved to the present time; and, therefore, Bro. Buchan cannot be justified in so flatly denying any continuation or representation of ancient Masonry in the Revived Society of 1717. I say it without any fear of contradiction by those who are familiar with the evidences accumulated on the subject in my library, that were Bro. Buchan and me to sit down quietly for one evening, and submit the whole to a careful analysis, he would rise from their study convinced that the Revival of 1717 was, in some degree, a continuation of the operative Freemasonry which its promoters actually belonged to, before that period. I say more. Bro. Buchan would admit it as readily as he did the forgery of St. John's charter, provided he was convinced of his error. Proof is what he wants and deserves, but as such has already been presented, although but fragmentary it is true, I still believe we will yet have him supporting the operative origin of Freemasonry.

(b) Bro. Buchan next remarks, "No doubt certain extraordinary transactions in connection with the Masonic Body did take place in 1717, but as these consisted in the introduction of something new and extraneous, then it is a mistake to speak of them as a 'Revival of Freemasonry.'" I am astonished any reflecting Mason should make such a statement as the foregoing! We do not know what was introduced A.D. 1717, and all evidence accumulated decidedly points to a continuation of the old ceremonies, secrets, and customs, with a large increase of new ceremonies, and, subsequently, the division into degrees, &c. Hence, for anyone to dogmatically ignore entirely the old secrets, and to state positively the so-called Revival was simply an entirely new organization, is, to say the least, wholly unwarrantable and opposed to the facts already accumulated. I challenge any one to show a justification for such a statement as Bro. Buchan's. If he had kept to saying we do not know what secrets are old and what new, and that at the "Revival" we cannot be sure as to how many were retained of the old customs, &c., one might easily have understood his position; but, at present, he has decidedly committed himself to a statement which has not one iota of evidence in its support, but, on the contrary, it is virtually demonstrated otherwise. I quite admit, with Bro. Buchan, that "our 1717 Freemasonry, was a construction on a new and different basis." Who does not admit this? but surely it would not follow from this fact that the secrets of the operative fraternity, as also their customs, had no place in the ceremonies of the Revivalists? The basis was different, certainly, because for the first time an actual Grand Lodge was formed (although assemblies had been held before). As respects speculative lodges, they had existed prior to this, and there is plenty of evidence to warrant us in believing the "new basis" did not obliterate the traces of the more ancient institution of Free and Accepted Masons of which modern Masonry is the lineal descendant and representative.

(c) Bro. Buchan ventures another dogmatic statement which he cannot prove, and for which he can furnish no reasonable excuse for making. "Masonic lodges in 1717," he says, "were not decaying, nor, in many cases, until long after did what would cause such decay come into force." We beg to remind him that, in England, the operative lodges were drooping early in the last century, and in the former century. As a secret operative body, it was gradually dying out, and many lodges had decayed, as their documents which remain abundantly testify, and especially in London and neighbourhood the decaying spirit had been at work. Hence the "Revival" was a necessity, under the exigency of the circumstances, and the appropriateness of the term is at once palpable.

(d) Bro. Buchan wishes to know what "the great majority of Masonic authors believing in the Revival of 1716 or 1717," has to do with proving it. I did not mention this fact to prove the "Revival," but only as collateral evidence, in connection with proofs submitted, why we should not consider it unreasonable to believe in the "Revival," seeing that such a belief has been general until of late. Of course, they may believe in an error, but, on the other hand, when considered with the evidence gathered from all parts of this country respecting the operative body, and its state about 1717, all the respectable Masonic authors of the past fully accepting the Revival as a fact, should carry some little weight.

(e) Bro. Buchan says "the question is—Is our Freemasonry either a revival or continuation of the fifteenth and sixteenth century Freemasonry?" Why should the 17th (and early in the 18th) century be omitted? I have shown it was a continuation and revival of Freemasonry as existing early in the 18th and in the 17th centuries, and the Freemasonry of that period was assuredly a continuation of that of the "fifteenth and sixteenth centuries," so what can Bro. Buchan want more? I do not desire to show that "our Freemasonry was a continuation of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries," if there were not a continuation of the society during the seventeenth and early part of the eighteenth centuries, but I am not aware any one as yet denies this fact.

(f) Bro. Buchan considers my statement that "These ancient lodges were speculative as well as operative" is "highly calculated to mislead." Really, I doubt if any one but Bro. Buchan has thought so, and should like to hear from brethren on the subject. He says, "If these old pre-eighteenth century lodges were speculative, that of course they practised speculative Masonry." That is so much to the point that I cannot do better than draw the attention of Masonic students to the question, "Of course they practised speculative Masonry," that is exactly what many of us contend for. As lodges were in existence before 1717, and as some of the members met as Masons, and were gentlemen, what else could they practise but speculative Masonry? Surely they were not operatives? The brethren at York (England) and Haughfoot (Scotland), and elsewhere, who assembled as Masons anterior to the "Revival," it must be conceded, were actually speculative Masons; and what is more, it was the gradual introduction of the speculative element which paved the way for the speculative G. Lodge of 1717, but which element at the same time, unless such a "Revival" had taken place, was fast destroying the old operative body, and with it would soon have passed away. The "secrets" of Masonry were no longer essential to be known in order to learn the trade of a mason, and, hence, unless the gentlemen who belonged to the old body had conserved its customs and ceremonies the probability is, that, as a society, it would be now utterly extinct and without a representative. I do not say that our Masonry was theirs, but that their Masonry is contained in ours.

(g) Bro. Buchan again makes a statement to which all familiar with the English language must object. He says, "The fact is, these ancient lodges were not speculative in any such sense as we now use and understand the term." Now, the fact, Bro. Buchan, is this: that they were speculative in the sense we now use the term. What could be more speculative than for gentlemen to join an operative body, and, in some cases, constitute the majority of the members of lodges? Such speculative Freemason, at the time we refer to, means one who is not an operative Mason being admitted as a member of the operative Masonic Body, and thus made a participant in the secrets of the Craft.

(h) Bro. Buchan observes that, "although Masonic societies used to admit non-operatives, just as did the Tailors' Company, yet they, therefore, no more practised speculative Masonry thereby, than the latter practised speculative tailory." Certainly, "no more," but we beg to observe they practised it quite as much. A gentleman becoming a member of the Tailors' Company in olden time, if he were made acquainted with peculiar signs and words, and had charges read to him, and antique customs observed on his admission, was, to all intents and purposes, a speculative tailor, and so, in like manner, others because speculative Masons.

(i) I am sorry Bro. Buchan is of the opinion, that the operative masons of the second decade of the eighteenth century endeavoured "to deceive the public." How, he does not say; but it is possible to guess his meaning. For that he has but a surmise on his own part, and no proof. These operative and speculative Masons certainly wove their old traditions into the introduction to the Book of Constitutions of 1723: but there was no deception intended, as many of the charges were well known beforehand, and although in some respects they were erroneous, I have yet to learn that the object of the "Revival" was deception. Certainly, the practice of the Craft, from that time to this, would warrant us in believing otherwise, and for my part I am proud to be a humble member of a Fraternity that has so noble a history.

Bro. Buchan will now have an opportunity to reply to my arguments, as in deference to his wishes I have written fully in answer to his second communication; and I believe that as we have both endeavoured to carry on this discussion in a fair and Masonic manner, the third articles in support of negative and affirmative will be closed in harmony.

W. JAMES HUGHAN.

THE ROYAL ARCH CHAPTER OF IMPROVEMENT.

We have great pleasure in reminding our readers that the Royal Arch Chapter of Improvement will now meet regularly throughout the season every Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. The meetings are held at Freemasons' Hall, and when we add that instruction is imparted by Comp. James Brett, G.D.C., we have said all that is needed to induce the attendance of every companion who desires to become proficient in the mystic rites, ceremonies, illustrations, and traditional lore of Royal Arch Masonry.

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

THE CRAFT.

METROPOLITAN.

Lodge of Faith, No. 141.—The brethren of this ancient and flourishing lodge assembled for their first meeting of the season at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, on Tuesday, the 26th September, 1871. Bro. Joseph Speed, W.M., presided, and was very efficiently assisted in his laborious duties by Bros. C. C. Taylor, S.W.; Green, J.W.; Themans, S.D.; Catmur, J.D.; and Kennett, I.G. There were also present: Bros. William Carter, P.M., Treas.; Thomas Anslow, P.M., Sec.; Hill, I.P.M.; W. Stewart, P.M.; N. Gluckstein, P.M.; A. E. Harris, P.M.; E. Gottheil, P.M.; and a strong gathering of brethren. After the opening formalities were disposed of, the minutes of the last lodge meeting were read and confirmed. A Fellow-Craft lodge was then formed, and Bros. Gluck, Wigel, Berg, Houseman, and Hyman were permitted to pass a step further into the ancient mysteries of the Craft. On the lodge being lowered to the first degree, the ballot was taken for the following gentlemen: Mr. Hyam Nathan, of Hundsworth, near Birmingham; Mr. Alf. Challis, "French Horn," Lambeth; Mr. Jacob Levy, 14, Drury-lane; and Mr. Fred Stokes, 17, Landseer-road-row, which proved in each case to be unanimous in their favour. They were then introduced into the lodge in conformity with ancient custom, and passed through their initiatory probation with admirable decorum, evidently deeply impressed with the beauty of the ceremony, the performance of which they for the first time witnessed. The evening's programme included the choice of officers for the ensuing year. The ballot was taken for the office of W.M., and resulted in the unanimous election of Bro. C. C. Taylor, the S.W., to that dignified post. The brethren were pleased to receive the announcement with great Masonic applause. The confidence of the brethren of the Lodge of Faith, No. 141, in the peculiar fitness of Bro. William Carter, P.M., as their Treasurer, is so great, and his popularity so universal, that to endeavour to supplant him in that office would result in total and unmitigated failure. The moment, therefore, his name was mentioned all hands were up in his favour; and Bro. Longstaff was requested to retain the post of Tyler for the ensuing twelvemonths.—Bro. S. Davis then rose and said: "Worshipful Master and brethren, I am sure it will be pleasant to you to learn that the "Freemason" life-boat was launched during the recess, and is now stationed at North Berwick. The movement commenced in this lodge, which subscribed £5 5s., towards the fund, and most of the brethren belonging to it added their mite for the same purpose. It was therefore thought just and proper to identify the boat with the Lodge of Faith; and as this lodge was first on the list of subscribers, I beg to propose that it again occupy the same place, by subscribing £1 1s. per annum towards maintaining the boat.—The proposition was seconded by Bro. N. Gluckstein, and carried without dissent.—The case of the child, Frances Mary Hart, a daughter of the late Bro. S. Hart, P.M., was strongly and eloquently advocated by Bro. William Stewart, P.M.—The lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned from labour to refreshment. This was bountifully served in the customary satisfactory manner which always characterises the superintendence of Bro. William Smith. The various toasts were proposed and responded to with most delightful brevity and in the following order: 1st. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts. 2nd. "The Initiates," responded to by Bro. Stokes—song by Bro. Maurice Davis. 3rd. "The Visitors," replied to by Bro. Major Finney, W.M. 1361. 4th. "The W.M.," to which Bro. Joseph Speed responded—song by Bro. Painter; recitation, the quarrel scene between Brutus and Cassius, by Bros. S. Davis and D. Davis. 5th. "The W.M.-elect," most feelingly responded to by Bro. C. C. Taylor—song by Bro. Mallett. 6th. "The P.M.'s," and other toasts were given and received in the usual manner, and the Tyler's toast terminated a very happy and enjoyable evening. The visitors were: Bros. F. H. Thomas, 481; W. H. Sewives, 86; Major Finney, W.M. 1361; C. H. Finney, jun., 1361; E. G. Hably, 87; Wright, W.M. 79; Wingston, 1188; Batty, 741; and Mortlock, P.M. 186.

St. Luke's Lodge, No. 144.—On Monday, 2nd instant, at Masons' Hall Tavern, this lodge met. Bro. E. D. N. Walbancke, W.M., passed Bro. Heath to the second degree and installed Bro. W. Mann, W.M., who then initiated Messrs. T. Smith and W. Corby. The officers are: Bros. Patient, S.W.; H. Kirke, J.W.; Birch, P.M., Treas.; J. Todd, P.M., Sec.; Wicks, S.D.; M. Edwards, J.D.; Pullen, I.G.; Kirke, P.M., D.C.; Maples, P.M., W.S.; and Longstaff, Tyler. Banquet was served, after which Bro. Walbancke had a Past Master's jewel presented to him. Visitors: Bros. W. Ough, P.G.P.; J. Brett, P.G.P.; Hughes, P.M. 59; F.

Walters, P.M. 73; Tallent, W.M. 186; Mortlock, P.M. 186; Beck, J.W. 186; &c.

William Preston Lodge, No. 766.—On Thursday, the 28th ultimo, at the City Terminus Hotel, this lodge held its installation meeting. Bro. Miller, W.M., presided, and raised Bro. Jones and initiated Mr. Johnson in an able manner. Bro. H. Garrod, P.M., in a correct and impressive style, installed Bro. W. H. Harper, W.M., for which he received a vote of thanks, to be entered on the lodge minute book. The W.M. then appointed his officers as follows: Bros. G. Newman, S.W.; Worrell, J.W.; Kain, P.M., Treas. and Sec.; Braun, S.D.; Pringle, J.D.; Crag, I.G.; Jackson, D.C.; and Spencer, Tyler. A Past Master's jewel was presented to Bro. Miller, and banquet followed. Visitors: Bros. J. Hervey, G.S.; F. Walters, P.M. 73; H. Garrod, P.M. 749; &c.

PROVINCIAL.

HERTFORD.—Hertford Lodge, No. 403.—The usual meeting of this lodge was held on Tuesday, the 26th September. The brethren present were: Bros. H. B. Hodges, W.M., in the chair; J. D. Medcalf, S.W.; O. H. Wagner, J.W.; T. S. Carter, Sec.; J. R. Cocks, Treas.; W. H. Nicolls, J.D.; C. P. Wyman, I.G. and Org.; S. Neale, M.C.; C. Drummond, I.P.M.; S. Austin, P.M.; E. A. Simson, J. Boatwright, H. Campkin, E. Salisbury, W. P. Willson, F. Taylor, W. Warrener, J. Harrington, P. Page, F. Fountain, J. E. Cussans, A. J. Small. Visitors: Bros. H. C. Heard, 449, and A. H. Bryant, 12. Bro. the Rev. Lewis Deedes was appointed Chaplain, and Bro. Boatwright Senior Deacon. Bro. Harrington was raised to the third degree; Bro. Small, Page, and Fountain were passed to the degree of F.C.; and Abel Smith, Esq., M.P., of Woodhall Park, and Robert Dimsdale, Esq., M.P., of Essendon Place, were initiated into the mysteries of the Masonic art. The whole of the ceremonies were worked by the W.M. in a faultless manner. Bro. J. D. Medcalf, S.W., was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing year, and Bro. Cocks was re-elected Treasurer. £7 7s. was voted to purchase a Past Master's jewel for presentation to Bro. Hodges, W.M., for his great zeal and ability during his year of office. Two candidates were proposed for initiation, and two joining members were proposed. The brethren afterwards adjourned to an excellent supper at the Salisbury Arms Hotel.

WALTHAM NEWTOWN.—King Harold Lodge, No. 1327.—The above lodge met at the "Britannia," Waltham New-town, on the 19th ult. Bro. West, P.M. 1076, P.G.D. Herts, the W.M., presided, supported by Bro. Terry, P.M. 1327, &c., and P.B.G.S.B. Herts; Bro. Parke, S.W.; and Bro. C. W. Barnes, jun., J.W. The lodge was opened in due form, with solemn prayer, when the W.M. proceeded with the business of the evening. Bros. G. Clements, Mooney, and Smith were raised, Bro. Auber and Tydeman were passed, and Mr. John Crockett was initiated. Bro. W. C. Barnes, jun., the J.W., was elected W.M. for the next year. Bro. Barwick, the Treasurer, was re-elected for the coming year. Bro. Allison was elected Tyler. The sum of ten guineas was voted to purchase a P.M.'s jewel for presentation to Bro. West, the W.M., on his retirement from office, in consideration of the very valuable services rendered by him to the King Harold this, the first, year of its existence. Bro. West returned thanks in suitable terms. This having concluded the business of the evening, the lodge was closed in perfect harmony, with solemn prayer.

ROYAL ARCH.

Victoria Chapter, No. 1056.—This young, but most prosperous chapter met at Bro. Gosden's, Masons' Hall, Masons'-avenue, E.C., on Monday, the 2nd October. There were present: Comps. E. Clark, Z.; Pendlebury, S.E., as H.; E. Gottheil, J.; Forsyth, N.; James Brett, P.Z., G.D.C., Treas.; Oliver, P.Z.; and a number of other companions. The convocation was opened in the usual form, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The Auditors' report was read and adopted. The following companions were then installed and invested in their respective offices: Long, Z.; Gottheil, H.; Forsyth, J.; Pendlebury, S.E.; Einhaus, N.; James Brett, Treas.; Newman, P.S.; Ferguson, 1st Asst.; J. D. Taylor, 2nd Asst.; and Grant, Janitor. Bros. T. Kingston and Henry Chapman, both of 177, were admitted to the degree in the manner usually observed by Royal Arch Masons. After the closing of the chapter, the companions adjourned to partake of a splendid repast, which gave the utmost satisfaction to all present. Bro. Gosden, the present proprietor, being evidently determined to re-establish the high reputation which the house formerly enjoyed, but had latterly lost through mismanagement of a former host. The usual toasts were given and received, and were interspersed by songs. The principal responses were given by Comps. Patten, Brett, Pendlebury, and Carpenter, and the songs by Comps. S. Davis, Garrod, and Forsyth. The visitors were Comps. E. H. Patten, P.Z., P.G.S.B.; Garrod, P.Z. 507; and Mortlock, J. 186.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferred to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

WE shall be glad to receive votes for the Girls' and Boys' Schools, on behalf of two very deserving cases.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price of THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the EDITOR

198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him but cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

The ANCIENT and ACCEPTED RITE.

[FIFTH ARTICLE.]

THE Knight of Kadosh, or the Thirtieth Degree of the Ancient and Accepted Rite, is one of—if not—the most important in the series. The word Kadosh is a Hebrew one, signifying holy, consecrated, or set apart; and it denotes the sacred character formerly attributed to the possessors of this sublime degree. In fact, the Abbé Pluche, in his marvellous work on the Heavens, which we have recently had an opportunity of referring to, unmistakably proves the identity of the appellation "Kadosh" with the "Caduceus" of the Greeks, which, as we all know, was a kind of sceptre borne by heralds and other privileged messengers as a symbol of the immunities and honours to which they laid claim. The ceremonies of the Masonic degree now known as "Kadosh" are of a very solemn and imposing character. Strictly speaking, when a reception takes place, there ought to be five chambers: the first being termed the "Judges' Hall;" the second, "Chamber of Reflection;" the third, "Forum;" the fourth, "Senate Chamber;" and the fifth, "The Road to the Holy Land." The first is hung with black, and is lighted by a single lamp of antique form, suspended from the ceiling. The second presents the appearance of a cavern or grotto, with a mausoleum in the centre, which represents the tomb of Jacques de Molay, the martyred Grand Master of the Knights Templar. The third and fourth apartments are hung with red drapery, or, in some chapters, with white and black curtains, strewed with red crosses. There is a throne in the East, surmounted by a double-headed eagle, crowned, and holding a poniard in his claws. Behind the throne are two banners—the one being white, with a green Teutonic cross embroidered thereon, and the motto, "Deus vult," and the second banner being green, with a red cross on one side, and on the other a double-headed eagle, with the motto, in silver letters, "Aut vincere, aut mori." The second officer, or Grand Chancellor, presides in the Chamber of Judges, into which the aspirant is introduced, and afterwards obtains permission to proceed to the Chamber of Reflection. There he is directed to kneel in the midst of the decaying relics of mortality which lie around, and prayers are offered up in his behalf. The Grand Commander then addresses the candidate upon the history of Masonry, alluding more particularly to the building of the Jewish Temple, and the wisdom of King Solomon in selecting a few chosen brethren to oversee the work, and to make themselves perfect in the arts and sciences. The traditionary lore connected with the first Temple is fully unfolded, and the narrative is continued through all the varying incidents attending its progress down to the final destruction of Hiram's masterpiece. Then follows an explanation of the rise of the second Temple, under Zerubabel; the origin of the Knights of the East, or Sword, under Cyrus; the establishment at Jerusalem of the Knights of the East and West; the Rose Croix Degree, and its connection with the building of the third Temple; and, in conclusion, the formation of the Order of Knights Templar, when eleven Grand-elect and Perfect Masons presented themselves before Garinus, Patriarch of Jerusalem, and pronounced their solemn vows between his hands. The candidate is then obligated, and instructed in a portion of the sacred mysteries, which, of course, cannot be revealed here. After having advanced on the road to the Holy Land, he is invested as a Knight Kadosh by the Grand Commander, who thus exhorts him: "Be firm, true, and faithful unto death. I arm you with the sword, Sir Knight, as a defence against your enemies, and the enemies of the Order; you will wield it also for the defence of poor pilgrims, and in defence of innocence and virtue. I also arm you with this dagger, it is the avenging blade, and the dagger of mercy; and I now invest you with these knightly gold spurs. Wisdom is symbolized by gold. Never let wisdom, with temperate zeal and true love, forsake you. You are now, Sir Knight, invested with the knightly spurs, in testimony of the zeal and activity with which you are henceforward and for ever to be goaded on in the performance of your duties and beware lest, through negligence or, unfaithfulness, you shall be deemed unworthy of our confidence, and be ignominiously degraded from our Order. I also present you with the collar and jewel. You will now take your place in the ranks of the Order. You are in the ranks of those who shall be elected to the grand work, and we trust and hope that the delicious perfumes of your good actions will give you the true happiness you desire."

The thirty-first grade bears the title of Grand Inspector Inquisitor Commander, and the assembly is styled a "Supreme Tribunal." In this degree, the candidate is arraigned for supposed offences against Masonic law, in order that, by personal experience, he may be himself enabled to preside in judgment, and decide with impartiality. The wise sayings of sages and law-givers are therefore quoted for his instruction by the Counsellors present. Thus the first, who represents King Alfred, says:

"I was the just King Alfred of Saxon England; I framed wise laws, made upright judges, independent of my will and that of the people, and caused just and speedy judgment to be given. In all my realm justice and right were sold to none; denied to none; delayed to none. I slept little; I wrote much; I studied more. I reigned only to bless those over whom I had dominion. I have vanished into the thin past, and many ages have marched in solemn procession by my grave, yet I still live in the memory of men. They call me great king, wise law-giver, just judge; follow, then, my example, or shudder to sit in judgment on thy fellows.

"I was Socrates, the Athenian; I knew the holy mysteries, and revered God in nature. In the sacred groves of Athens, I taught to young and old that God was one, and the soul of man immortal. I taught obedience to the laws and decrees of the people of Athens, and the council of five hundred. When I sat in the court of Areopagus, I swore by the paternal Apollo, by Ceres, and by Jupiter the King, that I would sentence uprightly and according to law—or, when the law was silent, to the best of my judgment; and that I would not receive gifts, nor should any other for me; nor receive bribes from any passion, prejudice, or affection; nor allow any other person to do the like by any means, whether direct or indirect, to prevent justice in the court. And when, by an unjust judgment, the same court condemned me to death, I refused to flee and escape, lest I should bring the laws into disrepute; holding the good citizen bound to submit to even the unjust judgment of the State. If thou wouldst fain become a judge of others, first prepare thyself by learning to obey the laws.

"I was Confucius, who read and interpreted to the people of ancient China the great laws engraved by the finger of God, in everlasting letters, upon the pages of the many-leaved book of nature. I said to them, desire not for your country any other benefit than justice; the great law of duty is to be looked for in humanity. 'Justice is Equity,' to render to every man that to which he is entitled. He who would stand above the ordinary level of man must be exempt from prejudices and self-conceit and obstinacy, and be governed by the mandates of justice alone. Hear much, reflect much, and say nothing superfluous. Let doubt of guilt be acquitted; and presumption of innocence be solid proof. 'That is the noblest recompense of human virtue!' Do thou strive so to live and act, to obey and govern, and thou, too, mayst live in the good opinion of men, after thou art dead, and thine influences may make thee, too, a king over the minds of men.

"I was Minos, the law-giver of Crete. I taught the Cretans that the laws which I enacted were dictated by Zeus, the Father; for all true and righteous laws, and all human justice, are but developments of that eternal and infinite justice, that is of the essence of the Deity. He who assumes to judge his brethren, clothes himself with the prerogative of God. 'Woe unto thee,' if, being thyself vicious or criminal, thou dost assume to judge others; and still more, if thou givest corrupt judgment; for then will thy memory be execrated, and in all time it shall be the bitterest reproach to an unjust judge to call him by thy name.

"I was Zoroaster, whose words became law to the Persians. I said he was the best servant of God, whose heart is upright, who is liberal, with due regard to what is just to all men; who turns not his eyes towards riches, and whose heart wishes well to everything that lives. He alone is just who is charitable, and merciful in his judgments; and he alone is wise who thinks well, and not evil, of other men. Satisfy thine own conscience, and fear neither the outrages of fortune, nor the injuries of enemies. Crime is not to be measured by the issue of events, but by the bad intentions of the doer. Study, therefore, the dominion of thyself, and quiet thine own commotions, and hold it the noblest ovation to triumph over thy passions.

"I was Moses, the leader and lawgiver of the Israelites. I was initiated into the mysteries and wisdom of Ancient Egypt; and that wisdom dictated the statutes by which Israel was governed. Thou shalt take no gift, for the gift blindeth the wise and perverteth the words of the righteous. Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment. Thou shalt not respect the person of the poor, nor honour the person of the mighty. Ye shall hear the small as well as the great. Ye shall not fear the face of man, for judgment is of God."

And the Senior Counsellor sums up thus:

"Thou has heard the words of the great sages, lawgivers, and philosophers of antiquity. Behold! the monogram of the greatest lawgiver that has ever come among men, and listen reverentially to his teachings. If ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your heavenly Father forgive your trespasses. But if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you. With what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged. And with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again. If thy brother trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone. If he shall hear thee, thou has gained thy brother. Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment. If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him, and if he repent, forgive him; and if he trespass against thee seven times in a day, and seven time in a day turn again to thee, saying, 'I repent,' thou shalt forgive him. Blessed are the merciful; for they shall obtain mercy."

After which he invests the new Inquisitor with the white collar and the jewel of the degree, warning him that the purity of the former and the lustre of the latter must never be sullied or dimmed by injustice, inhumanity, or impurity.

In a future article we will conclude with the two highest degrees of this ancient and interesting Rite.

We are requested to state that the Rite of Memphis is not, and never has been, recognised by the Grand Orient of France; and, further, that it is viewed as an imposition by the heads of the Masonic Order in America, who have repeatedly denounced the reputed "Sovereign of Memphis," Bro. Harry J. Seymour, and his colleagues, not only as spurious Masons, but as men unworthy of credit in every respect. We are also informed that the Rite is impious and atheistical in its teachings, and that active measures are on foot to expose the iniquity of the whole proceedings.

On Thursday, 28th ult., the ancient custom of swearing in of the Sheriffs for the City of London and Middlesex took place in presence of the Lord Mayor, aldermen, and the principal officers of the corporation, the members of the Court of Common Council, the livery, &c. Bro. F. W. Truscott, P.G.S., presented himself and was duly sworn in, also Alexander Crossley, Esq., as his Under-Sheriff. Bro. Young, Prov. G.W. Cambridgeshire, who had been elected to the office, was unable to attend on account of severe indisposition (an event that had only occurred twice), but the retiring Sheriff, Bro. Jones, of the Cambrian Lodge, Merthyr Tydvil, who had so ably filled the office during the past year, consented to act until the recovery of Bro. Young. Bro. T. Beard, whom he had appointed his Under-Sheriff, will act in that capacity pro tem.

"MORE than a year ago one of my children was attacked with bronchitis, and, after a long illness, was given up by my physician as 'passé cura.' I was then induced to try your Vegetable Pain Killer, and from the time I began the use of it the child rapidly got better, and is now strong and healthy. — JOHN WINSTANLEY, 10, Whittle-st., L'pool, Jan. 1869.—To P. D. & Son."

ILLUSTRATIONS of the HISTORY of the CRAFT.

By a MASONIC STUDENT.

PREFACE.

In consequence of a good deal of recent controversy, it has been considered advisable to reprint the first four chapters of these "Illustrations of the History of the Craft," which appeared, some twelve months ago in the columns of the Freemason's Magazine, and which much family affliction caused the writer to leave thus imperfect and incomplete.

It is now proposed to carry on the original design, and (D.V.) to continue the "Illustrations" until the Revival in 1717. Whatever may be the value attaching to the views and statements of the writer, he hopes that his brethren will regard the "Illustrations" as a slight and humble effort, on the part of a sincere Freemason, to help forward the attempts of many able and excellent brethren, in America, Germany, and England, to arrive at that great "desideratum," a thoroughly reliable and satisfactory history, of our ancient and world-wide Order.

Sept. 23rd, 1871.

CHAPTER I.

The object of this and the following papers is, to illustrate, if possible, the true annals of the Craft, and to induce a more careful study of its history and archæology.

They have been written in no controversial spirit, but simply with a desire after truth, that we may accustom ourselves, as Freemasons, more than has hitherto been our wont, to patient study of our evidences, and historical accuracy in our assertions.

Our Masonic writers seem to have accepted far too readily, as regards the records of our Order, the good old adage, "quieta non movere," as they have all more or less adopted, without hesitation and without inquiry, unaccredited statements and dubious assertions, for no other reason, seemingly, than because these statements and assertions had been once given forth to the world.

Not that in so doing they ever meant to impose on the initiated or the profane, to put forward an untrue narrative or a fictitious claim, but that they accepted without doubt or demur statements repeated so often that they came at last to be accepted as true!

Hence there has arisen among modern writers a grave distrust of Masonic history, as generally received, and critical doubts have been expressed as to the validity of our Masonic claims to antiquity; many of our traditional statements are openly assailed, and the accuracy of the dates we give under authority, relating to persons and occurrences in the past, is questioned and challenged, as we know, from day to day.

Mr. Hallam for instance has asserted, that "Masonic calumniators and Masonic paneygerists are all equally mendacious;" while De Quincy has said, "I affirm as a fact, established upon historical research, that before the beginning of the 17th century no traces are to be met with of the Masonic Order, and I challenge any antiquary to contradict me."

Mr. Gilbert Scott talks of the "fables of the Freemasons," and we have lately heard much harsher words used, such as "imposture," and the like.

Now, it is in order to lead others, even more qualified, to remove this unfair and, as I believe, unjust reproach on the Craft that these papers have been put together.

If we are enabled gradually, by reliable evidence and accurate assertions, to remove doubts, to clear away difficulties, to harmonise anachronisms, and to stimulate inquiry, we shall best prepare the way, ere long, for a more authoritative and reliable history of our Order than we at present possess.

My anxiety has been, and still is, simply, in the cause of Masonic truth, to lay before my brethren the humble results of earnest study and reflection—to give, what is so difficult, "novelty to what is old, and authority to what is new, value to what is obsolete, and light to what is obscure, favour to what is despised, and trust to what is doubtful."*

May, then, these illustrations of our Craft history be received by my brethren in the spirit in which they have been drawn up—viz., a sincere love for our useful and valuable Order, and a humble but firm belief in the essential truth of its ancient legends and time-honoured traditions.

To trace the early history of any ancient and useful institution is, in almost every case, a matter of deep interest to the archæologist, but how much more must it be to the Masonic student, since the early annals of Freemasonry seem lost in the dimness of ages; and though it is a subject about which much has been written, yet, after all, how very little is really known about it?

And if, then, we may have ourselves, with the world at large, a not unnatural curiosity in respect of the origin and progress of a society, of which so much has been said, whether for good or evil, yet it also seems to be our imperative duty to try and give a straightforward and intelligible account of this world-wide Order, to trace carefully the laws which have controlled its progress, to unfold the causes which have led to its success or failure among men, and to submit to all intelligent readers the evidence and the facts, the historical proofs and the undoubted statements, on which we base the conclusion to which we have legitimately arrived.

What, then, is the true history of Freemasonry? what is Freemasonry itself? are questions which are often asked, and repeated to this day, with an unmistakeable expression of complacent scepticism.

As we know, those of us who have studied the question, the most contradictory and the most absurd theories have been hazarded relative to its origin and progress.

To recapitulate all the different solutions, of what still to some appears an inexplicable enigma, would be also a hopeless task, and certainly an unprofitable waste of time.

We can only notice some of the leading explanations of the rise and continuance of our Order, whether from friendly or hostile writers, and which seem to demand our attention and deserve our notice. There are those who seem willing to trace Freemasonry to the loyal adherents of the Stuarts, as preparatory to the restoration of King Charles II., while others, equally sagacious, would connect it with the hopes and aspirations of the exiled family of King James II.

There are a few who see in Freemasonry a Jesuit Order; there are some who regard it as a purely political body—the School of Illuminés, the centre of revolution.

Probably it is not too much to say, that by far the larger number of writers, it is looked upon as a benevolent association or a convivial club.

In former times it was the wont of many writers, Masonic and otherwise, to connect Freemasonry with the Druids, with the Culdees, and, above all, with the Eleusinian mysteries.

No doubt Freemasonry is connected, and has ever been, with the history of secret initiation and personal probation, the great characteristic of all the early mysteries.

It may be perfectly true moreover, that Freemasonry possesses in its carefully preserved ritual and traditions some traces of the oral teaching of those early mysteries, but it is not safe, it has always appeared to me, to rely simply on an esoteric connection, when we are asked, and naturally asked, to give a reasonable account of our outward organization, the channel by which the secrets and mysteries of Freemasonry have been handed down to ourselves.

There are three other theories of Masonic life and history which we must briefly notice.

There is the view which links our Freemasonry to some early Christian body, whether as successors of the Essenes, or some development of the "disciplina arcani," which seems to be the suggestion of Dr. Leeson. A modification of this view is to be found in those who connect Freemasonry with Rosicrucian adepts, with the followers of "Rosenkreutz," if that were really his name.

* "Res ardua vetustis novitatem dare, novis auctoritatem, obsoletis nitorem, obscuris lucem, fastiditis gratiam, dubiis fidem."—Min. Nat. Hist.

But it is almost unnecessary to add that there is not the slightest valid or historical evidence to be adduced in behalf of such a theory. It is purely imaginative—the "baseless fabric of a dream."

Neither can I speak more hopefully or encouragingly of that claim, propounded with such confidence, to consider our Freemasonry of to-day as derived from the Knights Templar.

To say nothing of the intense difficulty, historically, of the transmission or preservation of any real Templar secrets, one thing is plain, though I am sorry to say it as it may hurt the feelings of many excellent brethren of mine, the Masonic Knights Templar never had, and have not now, the slightest real connection with the old Knights Templar.

The history of the dispersion and ultimate fate of the majority of the Templars is pretty well known. The accounts we hear of Templars holding meetings at York, or Scotland, and elsewhere, to perpetuate the hidden mysteries of their secret chapters, are so opposed to the real facts of history, as fairly come within the reproach of being "fables of the Freemasons."

Up to the present time not the slightest historical evidence is forthcoming of any prior existence of Masonic Knights Templar before 1740. As I propose to treat in a subsequent chapter of the connection existing between the Knights Templar and Freemasonry, I need not allude further to the subject now than to say, that the Knights Templar borrowed, if they did borrow, their secrets from Freemasonry—not Freemasonry from the Knights Templar.

There is a third view, which has of late been advocated with more zeal than discretion—namely that which would limit Speculative Freemasonry to 1717, and would seek to contend that at that epoch the phraseology and working tools of the operative guilds were adapted and adopted for the purposes of a philanthropic and benevolent association; but that there was no further bond of union or continuity of propose.

So far back as 1733, in the Gentlemen's Magazine for February, an anonymous writer, untruly calling himself a brother, says we may as well call ourselves "carpenters or ratcatchers as Freemasons," and he further asserts that the present Order is a "gallimawfry of the restorer of the society."

This is the view, practically, which has been pressed upon us in such a variety of ways and under such different forms, with more zeal than discretion, for some time past—a view, I do not hesitate to say, most mistaken, utterly unsupported by the evidence we already possess, and most opposed to the evidence we shall gradually obtain. This I hope convincingly to show in the progress of these illustrations.

Having thus pointed out what I believe is not and cannot be the true history of Freemasonry, I propose in the next chapter to develop what I believe that true history is, and where it is to be found.

(To be continued.)

THE UNITED PILGRIMS' AND DORIC LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.—We recently reported a most interesting visit of the members of the "United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction to that of the "Doric," when the Fifteen Sections were worked by the members of the former lodge under the presidency of a brother of the Doric. We are informed that the Secretaries of the respective lodges are now arranging for the return visit, during this month, and anticipate a very successful meeting. Due notice of the date fixed for this meeting will be given in our pages, and meanwhile we recommend to our readers in the South of London a visit to the United Pilgrims, meeting every Thursday evening at the Duke of Edinburgh Tavern, Shepherd's Lane, Brixton, under the able preceptorship of Brother John Thomas.

Original Correspondence.

The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.

"FREEMASONRY AND JUDAISM."

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I do not believe that Brother W. B. will consider it ill-naturedly said, or interpret it as meaning anything beyond what I intend, if I express a doubt as to whether he had wholly recovered from his long indulgence in "refreshment," when he penned his reply to me, in your last. If one who is generally sensible and acute fails to distinguish between things that differ, we usually attribute it to some temporary hallucination or confusion of mind, a condition, I regret to say, which sometimes exists after "ceasing from labour and going to refreshment." But, whatever the cause, he certainly blunders as much in his opening sentence about my letter, as I stated he had done about church history. His "limited reasoning powers" cannot, he says, "cope with a process of ratiocination which greatly respects another's motives, and appreciates his intentions, but which the writer immediately afterwards condemns." How, either directly or by implication, have I condemned his motives and intentions? I have not done so; but Bro. W. B. fails to discern the difference between condemning motives and intentions, and condemning alleged facts and opinions. His motives and intentions I believe to be good, very good. His alleged facts and opinions I hold to be altogether erroneous. As much does he confound things when he says that I began that for doing which I said he evinced a great lack of judgment. For doing what, did I attribute to him a lack of judgment? For plunging into a sea of Christian controversy, in the columns of THE FREEMASON, and condemning all churches and beliefs but one. Did I "begin that?" Have I ever done so? Let W. B. look out for the proof, and when he has it gibbet me upon it. I began it, he says, "for if he supposes that the pre-Messiah history," &c. But I suppose nothing of the kind. I have never written anything that can be so construed; nay, I have more than once declared the contrary, which my brother ought to know, if he has read all my papers; if not, he is as rash in making this statement as he was in most of the statements in his former letter. Surely, I may treat of the literal fulfilment of prophecy, without denying its secondary and higher sense. W. B.'s supposititious case of the Assyrian monstrosities rests upon his if, and does nothing, therefore, towards damaging "Bro. Carpenter's logic." I quite concur in what Bro. W. B. says relative to Swedenborg's anti-sectarian teaching; and believe it would have been well had those who adopted his theology adopted the example he set them. But they have done quite the contrary. The world has not forgotten the scandal originated in the acrimonious dispute between the "Swedenborgians" and "Bro. White;" nor are we oblivious of the fact, that there are Swedenborgian churches, Swedenborgian books, Swedenborgian Repositories, and many other Swedenborgian things, which the members of the "New Church" have created or adopted, although they sometimes repudiate being called after the name of any man. But this is little more than trifling. If they do no worse than call themselves, and their buildings, and books, and schools, by this distinctive name, they do not do much harm; it is when they pronounce sentence of condemnation upon all other beliefs than their own, and declare that "the theology of the day, or as now made up, was hardly known until the fourth century after Christ;" and say that the history of the new church down to the third or fourth century is as much a myth as the names of the founders of Rome or the games of Olympia" (?), that they are censurable. I must not permit Bro. W. B. to provoke me to alter the course I have determined upon, and which, I think, should be rigidly observed by all who contribute to THE FREEMASON. He calls upon me for proof that he has perverted facts, offering me the alternative, on my refusing to do so, of perpetual silence. Well, I must submit, for I not only "could," as he does "like to avoid doctrinal discussion" in THE FREEMASON, but am determined to do so. I am ready for a friendly controversy with W. B. in any appropriate publication, but not in this. I think, I may, however, without departing from the rule I have laid down for myself, refer Bro. W. B., who alleges that the doctrine of the plurality in the Godhead, and the doctrine of the Atonement, were hardly known until the fourth century after Christ, to the writings of Clement of Rome, whom the voice of antiquity identifies as the contemporary of Peter and Paul, whom he speaks of as belonging to "the present generation," to Cyprian, Origen, Tertullian, Athenagoras, Justin Martyr, and other of the ante-Nicene Fathers, as they are called, who all lived in the first half of the second century, for abundant proof that these doctrines were not only well known in their time, but that they cherished and taught them as the most precious doctrines of the Christian faith. Let me also refer Bro. W. B. to his Eusebius and Jortin, from whom he has quoted, in his last, but whom he totally misreads. They are not speaking deprecatingly of the doctrine of the "Triune God," any more than Constantine did. They deprecated only the vain and mischievous attempt, afterwards made by the Council of Nice, to define the mode of His existence—a thing which W. B. confounds with the Divine existence itself!

Yours fraternally,

WILLIAM CARPENTER.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR,—I have no intention of breaking a lance again with the brother who signs himself W. B. 742, contenting myself with re-stating my opinion that discussions upon special points in theology are unsuited to the columns of a Masonic journal. W. B. sneeringly alludes to the addition of 30° K.H. to my initials, and affects ignorance of the meaning of such, on the ground of no mention being made thereof in the "Book of Constitutions." I should have thought our brother would be aware that, though nothing beyond Royal Arch is sanctioned by Grand Lodge, yet there is nothing singular in being connected with the A. and A. Rite of 33 degrees, or any other rite which has a legitimate constitution.

I am, Sir, yours fraternally,

W. L. A.,

R.A. Comp., K.T., Mark M., & 30° K.H.

AN URGENT APPEAL.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR AND BROTHER,—At the risk of its being thought an unusual intrusion upon your space, I take the liberty of bringing under the notice of your readers, and especially our brethren in the Navy and Engineering interest, the case of Frederick Augustus Furley, No. 20 on the list of candidates for the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. A more melancholy and deserving case it is almost impossible to imagine.

The father was a man of singular ability and promise; having served with distinction in the Royal Navy as Engineer on board H.M.S. Firefly on the west coast of Africa, during the latter days of the suppression of the slave trade, and in other ships. He afterwards left the navy, and carried on the business of an iron ship-builder, being appointed, in 1864, the manager and chief constructor to a large iron ship-building company. After only a few months, during which time his energy and attention to business never flagged, he was struck down by paralysis, which took away his speech and the use of his right hand, leaving him totally helpless. His wife and three little children were thus entirely dependent upon friends for their support; whilst the poor afflicted breadwinner remains a burthen to himself and those about him, although tenderly watched and cared for by his aged mother and a sister, with whom he with two of his children reside, whilst his wife seeks her bread elsewhere by her own industry. Frequent attacks of epilepsy, too, are a cause of misery to him, and constant anxiety to those in charge of him.

In the hope that some of the brethren who peruse these lines, will associate themselves with the large and important province of Lincolnshire in bringing about the success which, amongst so many deserving cases, is at the ensuing election more than ever difficult,

I remain, Sir and Brother,
Yours with fraternal regard,
THOS. H. OLDMAN,
P.M. 422, P.G.S. Lincolnshire.
Gainsborough, Sept. 27, 1871.

WILLIAM PHILLIPS BARRETT'S CANDIDATURE.

(To the Editor of the Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Would you kindly give me a corner in your valuable journal to advocate the claims of the above New Zealand candidate for the Boys' School? Having no province to go to in this country—his father belonging to Christchurch, as will be seen from the advertisement in this number—I am obliged to get what publicity I can through your aid, to support this case. I shall be truly thankful for any brother's vote, who is not tied to his province, and I can assure him of the hearty thanks of the widow, as well as,

Dear Sir and Brother,
Yours faithfully and fraternally,
THO. L. WELDON.

Proxies sent to me at 3, Belle Vue Terrace, Seven Sisters' Road, or to the Widow, Mrs. Barrett, dressmaker, Henley-on-Thames, will be acknowledged by return of post. T. L. W.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR AND BROTHER,—I was astonished to read in your edition of last week, an unauthorised report of a meeting of the Edinburgh Red Cross Conclave No. 4. It is so inaccurate that I cannot allow it to pass without remark.

The M.P.S.'s name is J. B. Mercer; the E.V.E., R. S. Brown. The other office-bearers present that evening were Sir Knights W. Grant, S.G.; J. A. Butti, J.G.; J. Taylor, Prelate; A. M. Bruce, Treas.; F. Law, Prefect; H. E. Jonas, Herald. Bro. Watson is not a P.M. of St. Clair Lodge; Bro. Henry did not receive the hon. grade of Sov. owing to his connection with St. Clair Lodge, but for respect entertained for him as a member of the conclave. The report also omits to state that Sir F. Law was also advanced to the hon. grade of V.E.

J. B. MERCER, M.P.S.
Edinburgh, Sept. 29, 1871.

THE Fifteen Sections will be worked at the Confidence Lodge of Instruction (193), Railway Tavern, London-street, E.C., by fifteen brethren of the Doric Lodge of Instruction (933), on Wednesday evening, the 25th inst., at 7 o'clock. Bro. Cundick, 742, will preside on the occasion. Those who are desirous of knowing with what perfection Craft Masonry can be illustrated, should attend on that evening, for there is not a doubt their visit will be most gratifying and will well repay the trouble.

THE following lodges and chapters hold their meetings at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street:—

Belgrave Lodge.	Jubilee Lodge.
Belgrave Chapter.	Manchester Lodge.
Burgoyne Lodge.	Roman Eagle Red
Lodge of Confidence.	Cross Conclave.
Dalhousie Lodge.	Mt. Sinai Chapter.
Doric Lodge.	Lodge of Stability.
Doric Chapter.	Stability Chapter.
Domestic Lodge.	Star Lodge.
Domestic Chapter.	Victoria Lodge.
Egyptian Lodge.	Whittington Lodge.
Lodge of Faith.	Zetland Lodge.
Hornsey Lodge.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—“By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills.”—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each package is labelled—“JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London.” Also, makers of Epps's Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk).—[Advt.]

CONSECRATION OF THE CLAPTON
LODGE, No. 1365.

A large and highly-respectable body of Masons assembled on Wednesday, the 20th ult., at the White Hart Tavern (Bro. Bryan's), Clapton, to assist at the consecration of the new lodge, but, owing to the sudden and severe illness of the W.M.-designate, Bro. J. D. Taylor (862), to the very great disappointment of all present, the ceremony had to be postponed. The Consecrating Master, Bro. James Terry, P.M. 228, however, rehearsed the consecration, and Bro. Henry Marsh (Henry Marston, the eminent actor), recited a very beautiful ode, written by Bro. Savage, of the Urban Lodge. The furniture and fittings of the new lodge-room are of the most costly and elegant description, nearly all being presentations to the lodge from various brethren, and the decorations were the theme of universal satisfaction, and reflected great credit on the Committee of Taste, consisting of Bros. Lutwyche, Buller, and Bryan.

A most excellent banquet followed, reflecting great credit on Bro. Bryan, the wines being of first-rate brands. The musical arrangements were under the direction of Bro. H. Thomas (1196), assisted by Bros. McDavitt, Hunt, Hubbard, and Limpus, and were perfect, the consecration music being an entirely new arrangement for the occasion. Bro. Terry, the Consecrating Master, most ably presided at the banquet, and proposed the usual toasts, though not the usual Masonic ones. In proposing “The Health of the Founders,” he coupled with it “The Health of the Secretary-designate, Bro. R. Buller, P.M. 9,” and paid that brother a very high compliment for the untiring exertions he had used in forming and founding the lodge, and expressed himself pleased to see that a P.M. of an old lodge had undertaken the duties of Secretary.

Due notice will be given of the date of consecration, and from what we saw, and from what the Secretary stated, we can predict a very bright future, indeed, for the Clapton Lodge.

The officers are: Bros. J. D. Taylor, 862, W.M.-designate; W. Stephens, 87, S.W.; J. Saunders, 1278, J.W.; W. Lutwyche, S.D.; C. R. Miles, J.D.; H. W. Cattlin, I.G.; R. Wyatt, D.C.; H. Smith, Steward; and R. Buller, P.M. 9, Sec. The visitors present were: Bros. R. Empson, P.G.S.B., P.M. 227; Dr. Barringer, P.G.S.W. Herts; R. H. Marsh, P.M. 1196; H. Massey, P.M. 619; H. M. Levy, P.M. 188; H. Lloyd, J.W. 1278; J. Morton, W.M. 907; D. Barrett, 619; W. Laing, Klenck, Batchelor, Room, Herbert, Bernard, &c.

THE AMERICAN K.T. TOURISTS.

The Knights Templar took their departure, according to programme, by the “Oceanic,” and Mr. John M. Cook accompanied them to Queenstown, taking leave of them at the same point he first met them in June last. The two or three final days in England were much appreciated by the Sir Knights, the final route from London being by the Great Western Company's line from Paddington to Stratford-on-Avon; thence to Birmingham, where they stopped for the night at the Great Western Hotel, each one being delighted with the kindness and attention received from the proprietor of that well-appointed first-class Hotel. From Birmingham the Midland Company supplied saloon carriages for the journey to Rousley, where carriages met the party to drive them to Haddon Hall, and thence to Chatsworth. At Chatsworth, Mr. John M. Cook was most courteously received by J. E. Collingham, Esq., (successor to Sir Joseph Paxton), who wished him to inform the Sir Knights that the duke and family being all absent, they were not in a position to dispense the hospitalities of the ducal residence as the noble owner would have wished had he been at home; but instructions had been given for the private apartments to be shown, and for the “Emperor” fountain, with all the cascade accompaniments, to play during the visit of the Sir Knights; and it is scarcely necessary to say that the beauties of the “Palace of the Peak” will have a lasting impression on the Sir Knights. After viewing Chatsworth they adjourned to the Edensar Inn, and did justice to the dinner provided by Mr. Harrison; in the evening they were driven off to Rousley Station, and took train for Manchester. At Manchester, they had to divide between the Queen's and Trevelyan Hotels, and left at mid-day for Liverpool, where the whole party were accommodated at the new Hotel of the London and North Western Company. We are sorry to say the final impressions of English Hotel management were not good, almost every one expressing the same opinion, viz.: that it was one of the finest houses, but the worst managed, they had been in during their visit to Europe; and they could not help contrasting the civility and kindness of the managers of various Hotels they had visited with the absurdly haughty conduct of the manager, who stood for about half an hour on the front steps, as though he were a perfect stranger, without addressing a sentence to any one. The passage from Liverpool to Queenstown was most enjoyable, and the hearty “three cheers and a tiger” given for Mr. John M. Cook, at our departure in the tug-boat, will ring in our ears for some time. We are very glad to find that the “Oceanic” made one of the quickest passages on record, viz., eight days and eighteen hours; therefore, we are convinced the Sir Knights will long ere this have reached their homes in the far West.—Cook's Excursionist.

THE Fraternity are cautioned against applications from William Thomas Lawson, who has been making many representations which cannot be supported. It is requested that all brethren to whom he applies should ask him to produce his certificate. Birmingham, Oct. 4th, 1871. P.M.

THE following articles, &c., stand over:—“Freemasonry and Israelitism,” by Bro. William Carpenter; “Israelitish Origin of the Anglo-Saxon Race;” “The Fair Sex and Adoptive Masonry;” the Centenary Festival of Lodge Friendship, No. 202; Prov. Grand Conclave of Knights Templar for Devonshire; Notes and Queries; “The Morals of Masonry—Addressed to Ladies;” “The Footsteps of Masonry, or Freemasonry in Relation to Authentic History,” by Bro. W. V. Bedolfe, M.D.; “Freemasonry and Judaism,” by Bro. Buchan, with other correspondence; “A Review of Freemasonry;” “The Crown Prince of Prussia as a Mason;” report of the Annual Meeting of the Royal Bank of Ireland; poetry—“The Holy Royal Arch” (dedicated to Comp. J. Brett), “The Long Ago;” foreign—New Zealand. Also the following reports: Craft Lodges, Nos. 195 and 1330; Chapter 169; Mark Lodges, Nos. 2 (S.C.) and 19; with several Scotch reports, and other matter.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending October 14, 1871.

The Editor will be glad to have notice from Secretaries of lodges and chapters of any change in place or time of meeting.

MONDAY, OCT. 9.

- Lodge 59, Royal Naval, Freemasons' Hall.
- “ 193, Confidence, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
- “ 879, Peckham, Maismore Arms, Peckham.
- “ 957, Leigh, Freemasons' Hall.
- Chap. 22, Mount Zion, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-st.
- Kent Mark Lodge of Instruction, Lyceum Tavern, 354, Strand, at 7.30.
- Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
- Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
- Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern-Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
- St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Swan Tavern, Mount-street, Grosvenor-square, at 8.
- Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30, Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
- British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
- Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. Dilley, Preceptor.
- St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, OCT. 10.

- Lodge 180, St. James' Union, Freemasons' Hall.
- “ 198, Percy, Ship and Turtle Tav., Leadenhall-st.
- “ 211, St. Michael's, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-st.
- “ 228, United Strength, Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell.
- “ 548, Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
- “ 834, Ranelagh, Sussex Hotel, Hammersmith.
- “ 917, Cosmopolitan, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-st.
- “ 933, Doric, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
- “ 1269, Stanhope, Thicket Hotel, Anerley.

Chap. 185, Jerusalem, Freemasons' Hall.
 Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
 Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
 Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, Preceptor.
 Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
 Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
 Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
 Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 11.

Committee R. M. Benevolent Institution, at 3.
 Lodge 3, Fidelity, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 13, Union Waterloo, Masonic Hall, Woolwich.
 " 15, Kent, Guildhall Coffee House, Gresham-st.
 " 87, Viruvian, White Hart Hotel, College-street, Lambeth.
 " 147, Justice, White Swan Tavern, Deptford.
 " 238, Pilgrim, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street.
 " 749, Belgrave, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 " 781, Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, Limehouse.
 " 1017, Montefiore, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 1216, Macdonald, Head Quarters 1st Surrey Rifles, Brunswick-road, Camberwell.
 " 1228, Beacontree, private rooms, Leytonstone.
 " 1260, Hervey, Iron School Room, Moore Park, Walham Green.
 " 1306, St. John of Wapping, Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping.
 Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
 United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
 Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
 Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7.30.
 Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Malsmore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
 Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
 Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Londus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, OCT. 12.

Quarterly General Court Girls' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 12.
 Lodge 19, Royal Athelstan, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-st.
 " 200, Friendship, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
 " 550, Dalhousie, Anerton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 " 1076, Capper, Marine Hotel, Victoria Docks, West Ham.
 " 1288, Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tavern, Seven Sisters'-road, Holloway.
 Chap. 206, Hope, Globe Hotel, Royal-hill, Greenwich.
 The R.A. Chapter of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor. Ceremony, explanation of E. A. Jewel and Solids, part sections.
 Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses, Fuston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern, Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
 United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
 St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.

FRIDAY, OCT. 13.

Lodge 177, Domestic, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 Chap. 33, Britannic, Freemasons' Hall.
 Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
 Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
 Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Htl., Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
 Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Muggersidge, Preceptor.
 St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
 United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
 Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
 St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
 Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
 Royal Standard Lodge of Instruction, Marquess Tavern, Canonbury; Bro. R. Lee, Preceptor.
 Burdett Counts Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
 Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West Smith, Preceptor.

SATURDAY, OCT. 14.

Lodge 1328, Granite, Freemasons' Hall.
 Mark Lodge (104), Macdonald, Head Quarters 1st Surrey Rifles, Brunswick-road, Camberwell.
 Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. J. Comb, Preceptor.
 Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 7.30; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
 Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.

BOOTS of the Period at BLAKEY'S, Lime-street Liverpool (under the Alexandra Theatre).—[Advt.]

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Determination of blood to the head, flushings, palpitation, and shortness of breath are cured by these grand regulators of the heart's impulse. Under Holloway's grand specific, the current of blood throughout the body becomes steady and unchanged by the passing thought, hence the suffusion of the head and cheeks is avoided, and nervous embarrassment prevented. They in like manner remove excessive sensitiveness, so often the opponent to the ease and grace inherent in the healthful and strong-nerved frame, and eradicate the doubts of the nervous. In intellects declining from intense study, free living, or over-anxiety, no equal remedy is attainable. Without exaggeration, they give muscular energy to the paralysed and ease to the pained.—[Advt.]

SMALL-POX, FEVERS, AND SKIN DISEASES.—The predisposition to is prevented by Lamplough's Pyretic Saline. Vitalising and invigorating, its effects are remarkable in their cure and prevention. Take it as directed. Sold by chemists and the maker, H. Lamplough, 113, Holborn-hill.—[Advt.]

Advertisements.

GEO. CARR AND COMP.,

Manufacturers and Importers of HARMONIUMS AND PIANOFORTES,
 AND INVENTORS
 OF THE
 TRANSPOSING PIANOFORTES

Enabling Performers to transpose music into any key.
 PIANOFORTES with PATENT MOLINEUX ACTION and the PATENT ESCAPEMENT ACTION, from 25 Guineas
 PIANOFORTES
 WITH CARR'S TRANSPOSING KEYBOARD,
 From 45 Guineas.

PARIS GRAND MODEL OBLIQUE PIANOS, from 35 to 65 Guineas.
 HARMONIUMS with or without Percussion action and Transposing Keyboard, from 5 to 65 Guineas.
 HARMONIUMS for Extreme Climates, to order.
 HARMONIUMS with two rows of Keys and Pedals, to order.

THE MUSICAL STANDARD,

(ESTABLISHED 1862),
 Published every Saturday, Price 2d.

All communications to be addressed to 42, BREAD ST., 27, CANNON ST., LONDON, E.C.

THE FREEMASONS LIFE BOAT.

Committee Room: Bro. FORSTER'S, Railway Tavern, London-street, E.C.
 COMMITTEE:
 Bro. A. E. Harris, P.M. 141, President.
 " S. Davis, 141, the Promoter and Treasurer.
 " E. Gauthier, P.M. 141, Hon. Secretary.
 " John Thomas, P.M. 507, P.G.D.C.
 " Rev. D. Shaboe, P.M. P. G. Chaplain Middlesex.
 " T. Kennett, I.G. 141.
 " H. M. Levy, P.M. 182.
 " N. Gluckstein, 141, P.M. 51, P.P.S.G.W.
 " C. C. Taylor, S.W. 141.
 " Rev. M. B. Levy, P.M. 1017.
 " M. Davis, P.M. 183.
 " E. J. Page, W.M. Grand Stewards' Lodge, & P.M. 23 and 866.
 " B. Salmon, 141.
 " T. S. Mortlock, P.M. 186.
 " J. Boyd, 1260, P.M. 145, 534, P.Z. 145, Z. 534.
 " R. W. Little, W.M. 1293, P.M. 975, P.M. & Sec 862, 1194, 1319, P.Z. 177, 975, Prov. G. Sec. Middlesex
 " Chas. Davy, 141.
 " Jas. W. Gillard, 180.
 " F. A. Philbrick, W.M. 18.
 " Ellis Berg, 141.
 Bro. Thos. White, W.M. 27.
 " John Coutts, P.M. 27, 1210, P.Z. 324, 177, A.G.P.
 " C. A. Cottebrune, P.M. 733-657, 1257, P.Z. 177 733, 77-
 " Jas. Wyld, 511, Prop. Lic. Vict. Guardian.
 " Mann, P.M. and P.Z. 186, W.M. 136, 8c.
 " T. Bartlett, W.M. 813.
 " Lacey, P.M. 174.
 " S. Levy, 141.
 " Wm. Carter, P.M. & T. 141.
 " J. R. Stebbing, P.M., and P.G.D. England.
 " Dr. Johnson, P.M. 249 & 1024
 " E. Grant, 228 and 742, Hon. Mem. 435.
 " Fred. Webb, W.M. 704.
 " John Coombe, P.M. & Sec. 450 & 1272, P.G.S., P.G. Steward, and P.P.S.W. Cornwall, etc., etc.
 " D. Beck, J.W. 1306.
 " Chas. J. Corder, P.M. 732, 271, 851, P.Z. 732, P.P. S.G.W. Sussex.
 " Magnus Ohren, P.M. 452, S.W. 33, J. 33.
 " H. Emmett, 186.
 " Francis Democh, P.M. 1, P.Z. 2, and P.G.S.

BANKERS.
 London and Westminster Bank, Eastern Branch.
 The following brethren who are not on the Committee have promised their support:—Br. Col. Malet de Carteret, P.G.M. Channel Islands; Br. Prosser, P.M. 244, Jersey; Br. Gardiner, W.M. 84, Guernsey; Br. Ashley, P.M. 254, Coventry, P.G.J.W. Warwickshire; Br. De Grote, Birmingham; and others.
 The Committee meet at their Room on the first Thursday in every month at 8 p.m. All subscriptions, together with the names of the donors, will be acknowledged in THE FREEMASON. In order to ensure success, it is hoped that every Brother will personally interest himself in the movement.
 Bro. E. GOTTHEIL, P.M. 141, Hon. Sec., 220, Mile End Road, E.

Province of Lincolnshire.

THIRD APPLICATION.—Votes to carry forward, 210. No. 20 on List of Candidates.

TO the President Vice-Presidents, Governors, and Subscribers to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

Your Votes and Interest are fraternally solicited on behalf of

FREDERICK AUGUSTUS FURLEY, AGED 8½ YEARS,

Son of W. C. FURLEY, formerly an ENGINEER in the Royal Navy, afterwards an Iron Ship Builder, who, from paralysis, is helpless and dependent on friends.

Brethren in the Navy, and Masonic Engineers, are asked to give their vote and influence to this very distressing and deserving case for the October Election.

Proxies will be thankfully received by—

Bro. F. O. HODGKINSON, 168, New Bond-street, London, P.P.G.W. Wilts.
 Bro. W. H. RADLEY, Boston, Lincolnshire, Hon. Sec. Charity Committee.

Votes will be accepted for the above, to be repaid at a future Election.

Boston, Sept. 13, 1871.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

ELECTION, OCTOBER, 1871.

NEW ZEALAND CANDIDATE—4th APPLICATION.

Urgent Appeal.

NO PROVINCE TO ASSIST.

THE favour of your Vote and Interest is earnestly solicited on behalf of

WILLIAM PHILLIPS BARRETT,

(Grandson of the late T. Barrett, of Hasalbury, Crewkerne.)

Whose Father, JOHN BARRETT, was a member of the St. Augustine Lodge, Christchurch, New Zealand, No. 609, and died in May, 1867, leaving his Widow and two children unprovided for.

The following brethren have kindly consented to use their influence on his behalf:—

- Bro. E. J. PAGE, P.G.S., P.M. 23, 860, & G.S.L., P.Z. 12, and V.P. of the four Charities; 188, Kennington Park Road.
- " J. FREEMAN, P.M. 18 and 1146; 15, Radnor-place, Gloucester-square, London, W.
- " W. H. BOWDEN, P.M. 103, P.P.G.J.W., Bristol.
- " J. N. FROST, P.M. 228, 704, 865, P.Z. 553; 33, Victoria-road, Kentish Town.
- " E. BUSHER, P.P.G.S., P.P.S.G.W., P.G.S.B.; 95, Strickland-gate, Kendal.
- " J. BUDGE, P.M. Parrett and Axe, 814, P.P.G.J.D. Somersetshire.
- " G. LYDDON, 444, 1101; Forbury, Reading.
- " R. SYDENHAM, P.M. 137; Poole.
- " J. O. GOODMAN, W.M. 261, P.G.P.; 13, Fore-street, Taunton, Somerset.
- " T. L. WELDON, 925, Ch. 587; 3, Belle Vue Terrace, Seven Sisters' Road, London, N.

Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.

SECOND APPLICATION.

YOUR Vote and interest at the ensuing OCTOBER ELECTION is earnestly solicited on behalf of

ANNE GERTRUDE TIPPETT,

Whose Father, Bro. HENRY TIPPETT, late of Fowey Lodge, 977, was a Master Mariner, residing at Polman, near Fowey, Cornwall, and was a thoroughly industrious and persevering man, and highly respected. He died on the 18th November, 1869, after a short illness of inflammation of the lungs, at the age of 44 years, leaving the candidate's Mother in very straitened circumstances, with six children, three of whom are entirely dependent on her for support.

The case is strongly recommended by

- R.W. Bro. AUGUSTUS SMITH, P.G. Master of Cornwall.
- " Rev. JNO. HUYSHE, P.G. Master of Devon.
- W. Bro. LORD ELLIOT, Deputy P.G. Master, Cornwall.
- " SIR F. M. WILLIAMS, Bart., D.P.G. Master, Cornwall.
- Bro. Col. PEARD, P.P.G.W. Cornwall.
- * Rev. Dr. TREFEY, P.P.G.C. do.
- " Rev. Geo. ROSS, P.P.G.C. do.
- " W. J. HUGHAN, P.P.G. Sec. do.
- * E. CARLYON, P.G. Sec. do.
- * Dr. A. A. DAVIS, P.M. 977.
- * W. N. ABBOTT, J.W. 977.

* By whom proxies will be thankfully received.

Masonic Note Paper and Envelopes,

For Craft, Mark, Royal Arch, Red Cross of Rome and Constantine, Rose Croix, Knights Templar, 30th Degree. IN BOXES THREE SHILLINGS.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Bro. GEORGE KENNING'S MASONIC DEPOT, LITTLE BRITAIN, LONDON.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGES
FREEMASONRY AND ISRAELITISM ... ..	635 & 636
OBITUARY—
Bro. William Thompson ... ..	636 & 637
THE CROWN PRINCE OF PRUSSIA AS A MASON ...	637
THE ROYAL BANK OF IRELAND ... ..	637 & 638
ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE—
"Freemasonry and Judaism" ... ..	638 & 639
THE CRAFT—
Metropolitan ... ..	639
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS ... ..	640
ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS ... ..	640
A CONTRAST ... ..	640 & 641
MULTAM IN PARVO ... ..	641
THE FOOTSTEPS OF MASONRY ... ..	641
THE FREEMASONS' LIFE-BOAT COMMITTEE ...	642
CONSECRATION OF THE ROYAL ALBERT CHAPTER,
No. 907 ... ..	642
PROV. GRAND LODGE OF WEST LANCASHIRE	642 & 643
PROV. GRAND LODGE OF STAFFORD-
SHIRE ... ..	643 644, & 645
POETRY—
Light ... ..	345
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ... ..	646
ADVERTISEMENTS ... ..	633, 634, 646, 647, & 648

FREEMASONRY & ISRAELITISM.

BY BRO. WILLIAM CARPENTER, P.M. & P.Z. 177.

XX.

The money-power of the Saxon race is one of the most noticeable traits in their character. The scale of living amongst their industrial classes is much higher than is to be found among either Celts or Franks. They feed better, clothe better, are housed better, and their social habits ensure them comforts and luxuries to which the other races are comparative strangers. But while the Saxons thus expend more upon themselves than others do, they save more money; that is, accumulate more than any other peoples. What enormous sums England, America, and Germany have expended in wars during the last century, and yet what a mass of accumulated wealth they each possess! England stands first in this, as in most other things. "In spite of her huge National Debt," says Emerson, "the valuation mounts. During the war, from 1789 to 1815, whilst Englishmen complained that they were taxed within an inch of their lives, and by dint of enormous taxes were subsidizing all the Continent against France, they were every year growing rich, faster than any people ever grew before." It is their maxim, that the weight of taxes must be calculated, not by what is taken, but by what is left." The creation of wealth in England, during the last century, is a main fact in modern history. The wealth of England determines prices all over the globe. All things, precious, or amusing, or useful, or intoxicating, enter into her commerce, and are floated to London. Some English private incomes reach, and some exceed, £250,000 a year. A hundred thousand mansions adorn the land. All that can feed the senses and passions; all that can succour the talent, or increase the comfort, of the intelligent middle classes, who never forego anything for their own consumption; all that can gratify taste or secure enjoyment, is in the open market. Whatever is excellent and beautiful in civil, rural, or ecclesiastical architecture, in fountain, garden, or grounds, the English nobleman crosses land and sea to obtain, or to copy at home. Such a wealth has England earned—ever new and augmenting. But the question suggests itself, "does she take the step beyond; namely, to the wise use in view in the accumulated wealth of nations? We estimate the wealth of nations by seeing what they do with their surplus capital." Well, we have seen that a part of her wealth goes to establish schools and hospitals, and in a thousand other ways to minister to the minds and bodies of those who need it. Hundreds of churches, schools, hospitals, for every ailment to which humanity is liable; with asylums for the deaf, the dumb, the blind, the idiot, and the mad; and refuges for sorrowing Magdalens and penitent thieves; and beneficent societies for helping the aged, the crippled, and the temporarily embarrassed, abound. But after having dispensed so largely as England does, in this way, she has so much left in hand that she supplies the world, or any part of it, with all the money it requires. But to this I shall more particularly speak further on.

Whence, we may ask, is all this wealth obtained? Chiefly from our manufacturing and mercantile industry. The products of our labour are estimated at between seven and eight hundred millions sterling a year. Our foreign commerce is so vast that the declared value of the exports exceeds £220,000,000 a year. During the first seven months of the present year their declared value was £121,455,961. The sums passed through the Bankers' Clearing-house in the city of London—the centre of this commerce—amounted, in the first six months of the year, to £2,205,549,000. If I had the materials at hand to give, approximately, the sum of the accumulated savings, only, of England, America, Germany, and the rest of the Saxon nations, the figures would be bewildering. I have adverted to the superior condition, as regards the various comforts of life, which characterizes the Saxon peoples, especially the Anglo-Saxons, and, above all, England and her colonies. An English artizan, an English labourer of any description, in his home-land, America, or Australia, consumes much more than the artizan or labourer of any other race does; and the middle classes live much more freely and luxuriously than those of other peoples. But while they all thus live, they do not consume all they acquire. They have a surplus, as savings' banks, benefit societies, of various kinds, freehold land societies, life insurance companies, and stocks and shares of all descriptions testify, for while savings' banks, benefit societies, and some other descriptions of investments are almost wholly sustained and derive their funds from the middle and working classes, these classes also invest a comparatively large amount in British and Foreign Funds. "Foreign Stocks"—that is, money lent to foreigners—is a familiar phrase; for although foreigners have borrowed so freely, that, after all they have repaid, they still owe no less a sum than £2,800,000,000, the greater part of it to England, they are continually coming for more, and are never sent empty away. Nor have they to wait long for what they ask. A loan is announced for some State in the Old World, or the New, and the subscriptions so pour into the banks appointed to receive them, that the usual thing is for many millions more than are required to be offered, in a week, sometimes in a day; the applications for permission to lend to the borrower being so numerous, that an applicant is not permitted to contribute more than a half, or a third, or less than that, of what he offers. So enormous are the loans, that the amount of interest paid upon them, in England, alone, sometimes exceeds five or six millions sterling, in a single month. And while we have thus lent, and are still lending, the amount of unemployed capital is often so great, that, though offered, on loan, at from 1 to 2 per cent., borrowers cannot be found.

The Saxons never go to the Celts or the Franks, to borrow. To them they are ever lenders. They borrow amongst themselves—Germany and England are large creditors of the Americans, their kinsfolk; and England has sometimes, not often, helped the Germans, her kinsfolk. England herself has, in times past, borrowed largely; but it has been the State borrowing of the nation—the rulers borrowing of the people; for although a considerable amount of British Stocks is held by foreigners, it is not because we borrowed the money from them, but because they, having such confidence in our resources and our honesty, have purchased the securities from those who originally held them, as securities a long way a-head of anything they could find elsewhere. The chief ground of this confidence is the unswerving rectitude of the English character. I have quoted Emerson two or three times, as describing traits in the English character, and I quote him once more, because, not being an Englishman, he cannot be supposed to speak under the bias with which an Englishman might be supposed to speak of his countrymen's character. He says: "They have a national singleness of heart, a name which has a proverbial significance of sincerity and honest meaning. The arts bear testimony to it. In old sculptures and illuminated missals, the faces of clergy and laity are charged with earnest belief. Add to this hereditary rectitude, the punctuality and precise dealing which commerce creates, and you have the English truth and credit. The Government strictly performs its engagements. The subjects do not understand trifling on its part. When any breach of promise occurred in the old days of prerogative, it was resented by the people as an intolerable grievance. And, in modern times, any slipperiness in the Government, in political faith, or any repudiation or crookedness in matters of finance, would bring the whole nation to a committee of inquiry and reform. Private men keep their promises, never so trivial. Down goes the flying word on their tablets, and it is as indelible as Domesday Book. Their practical power rests on their national sincerity. They are blunt in saying what they think; sparing of promises; and require plain dealing of others. They will not have to do with a man in a mask. 'Let us know the truth. Draw a straight line, hit whom and where it will.' To be king of their word is their pride. When they unmask cant they say, 'The English of this is' so and so; and to give the lie is the extreme insult. The phrase of the lowest of the people is, 'Honour bright;' and their vulgar praise—'His word is as good as his bond.' They hate shuffling and equivocation; and the cause is damaged, in the public opinion, on which any paltering can be fixed. An Englishman understates, avoids the superlative, checks himself in compliments, and alleges that one cannot speak in the French language without lying. They confide in each other. English believe in English. The French feel the superiority of this probity. The Englishman is not springing a trap for admiration, but is honestly minding his own business. The Frenchman is vain. Madame de Stael says that the English irritated Napoleon, mainly, because they had found out how to unite success with honesty."

Have we any intimations in the ancient prophecies, of the wealth and monetary power of the Israelitish race? We certainly have, although these prophecies are not so numerous as those of many other traits in their character, which I have already produced, and which we have found to be the characteristics of the descendants of the Getæ, of which the Anglo-Saxons constitute the chief branch, and which characteristics are not to be found in any other people on the face of the earth. The prophet Hosea, after exhorting Israel, in the midst of the calamities into which she had fallen through her iniquities, to return to the Lord in prayer and supplication that He might take away her iniquity and receive her graciously, pronounces the Divine promise thereon, not only of spiritual blessings, but of abundant and diversified temporal ones, also: "I will be as the dew unto Israel; he shall grow as the lily, and cast forth his roots as Lebanon; his branches shall spread; his beauty shall be as the olive tree, and his smell as Lebanon" (Hosea xiv. 1-6). This imagery was familiar to the people, who could not mistake its meaning, but who would interpret it as a sure prophecy of their secular as well as of their spiritual prosperity; and no selection or accumulation of Oriental metaphors could more vividly describe the future flourishing condition of the people of whom the words were spoken. But it is to the great prophet of the restoration and future of Israel that we must turn for an amplification of these prophetic promises. In Isaiah lx., we find a long and beautiful description of Israel's future prosperity and final restoration, uttered while she was yet in captivity: "The riches of the sea shall be poured in upon thee; the wealth of the nations shall come unto thee . . . all of them from Saba shall come: gold and frankincense shall they bear . . . thy gates shall be open continually; by day or by night they shall not be shut . . . Thou shalt suck the milk of nations; even by the breast of kings shalt thou be fostered. Instead of copper I will bring gold; and instead of iron I will bring silver; and instead of wood brass; and instead of stones iron . . . The little one shall become a thousand; and the small one a strong nation." The chapter in which these extraordinary promises are made, has, no doubt, to receive a much more comprehensive and glorious fulfilment, in the progress of time, for it stretches onward until the restoration of the tribes, and their re-establishment in their own land, where they are to become the praise, or admiration, or wonder, of the whole earth. The history of the world, which records the fulfilment of the roll of prophecy, so far, shows that all things are brought about by the employment of human agency, and therefore in a gradual, and, sometimes, in an almost imperceptible manner. We read of few sudden and apparently miraculous changes in the history of nations. They rise and fall by degrees—by gradually advancing or retrogressing steps. And this gradual advance appears to be destined for the chosen people. Their growth in numbers, in power, and in wealth will furnish the means for consummating the Divine purpose, in their final and unparalleled exaltation. No one can read the history of the Gothic race, and take note of its wonderful progress, its mighty achievements, and its present and advancing position in the world, without a conviction, if the subject be duly reflected upon, that it is destined for some great purpose in the order of the Divine economy. How well the passages I have quoted from the prophet Isaiah describe a wealthy mercantile people—a people trading largely with foreign countries, exchanging their metals and other commodities for silver and gold, and growing wealthy thereby—must be obvious to all who read them. The nations and their kings are to pour their wealth into their lap, so that "the little one shall become a thousand, and the small one a strong nation;" the sons of strangers building up their walls, and their kings ministering unto them.

But what was Israel to do with her wealth? As we have seen, she was to unloose the bonds of oppression; to give slaves their freedom; to clothe, feed, and house the destitute poor: in a word, to help all who were cast down, and comfort all who were distressed. And what was she to do with her superfluous wealth? She was to lend it to others.

One of the rewards of obedience, especially of consideration for and bounty to the poor, promised to the collective descendants of Jacob, was that they should be so largely blessed—blessed in their storehouses, and in all that they set their hands to; so plentiful in goods, in the fruit of their body, in the fruit of their cattle, and in the fruit of their ground, that they should lend to many nations, and borrow of none (Deut. xv. 6, xxviii. 12). This, it must be admitted, is a most extraordinary prophetic blessing—a thing so unlikely to come to pass in the history of a people not yet formed into a nation, whose views of territorial occupation were confined within very narrow limits, and who, as a nation, were to have but little intercourse with other people, that no impostor would have ventured to utter it. But there it stands recorded, in two several places, amongst the especial blessings that were predicted of his people by the great and inspired lawgiver. It obviously implies that the people of whom it was spoken, though then just escaping from slavery, poor, despised, and conspired against by all the nations whose path they crossed, should exceed all others in accumulated wealth. Other nations would require monetary assistance from without, but these, never. On the contrary, they were to lend to all others. They were not only to possess abundance, but of their superfluity they were to lend to all others. That this was said of them as a nation, and not as individuals, is clear, for all the blessings and curses pronounced in these two chapters, were addressed to them in their collective or national character; as is also clear from the terms in which the borrowers are spoken of—"nations;" and what I have already said as to the amount of foreign debts, the greater portion of which is owing to England, shows the literal fulfilment, in a most remarkable manner, of this most remarkable prophecy, and identifies the Anglo-Saxons with the people of whom it was spoken.

BRO. the Rev. G. R. Portal and the Rev. J. O. Bigg have each been presented with a massive silver inkstand by a deputation from the tradesmen and cottagers of Albury; and Mrs. Portal has received an elegant casket for biscuits, in glass and silver, from the teachers and scholars of the Albury schools.

LORD BYRON—himself a confirmed smoker—expressed a decided preference for the cigar as weighed against a pipe, and says in his invocation to tobacco in the world-renowned and witty poem to Don Juan :—

"Thy true lovers more admire by far Thy naked beauties—give me a cigar!"

There are thousands of smokers who entertain the same predilection, but are unable to gratify it, and are obliged to be contented with a pipe of good tobacco, preferring that to a weed of inferior quality, such as, alas! they know by sad experience they will generally obtain, whether they pay a moderate or a high price for the luxury. The extensive and daily increasing business of Mr. Grunebaum, of Sackville-street, Piccadilly, one of the largest importers in England, and his liberal system of selling retail at wholesale prices, enables him to furnish cigars of every brand at moderate and reasonable prices, and his customers have the satisfaction of knowing that they can always depend upon getting what they ask for, which is rarely the case elsewhere, as we know by bitter experience.

Obituary.

BROTHER WILLIAM THOMPSON,

P.P.S.G.W. Oxfordshire, &c.

From the Oxford Chronicle and from other sources we gather the following records of a highly-esteemed member of the Craft, Mr. Justice William Thompson, whose death took place on the 8th of August, at his residence, Thornbury Lodge, Park Town, Oxford. Bro. Thompson's death was not unexpected, as he had been ill for many months, and for some weeks past his recovery was known to be hopeless. It will be satisfactory for his numerous friends to know that he submitted to his fate with patient resignation and Christian fortitude.

The deceased had for many years taken an active part in the public affairs of the city of Oxford. His strong sense of public duty, his active, energetic character, and large heart led him to be a promoter of various institutions which were likely to contribute to the present or future happiness of his fellows; and although he was, of late years, the representative of an unpopular political party, his genial disposition and kindness of heart secured for him a large circle of friends. He was first elected a member of the Town Council, for the East Ward, in 1847; he was elected Sheriff in 1860, and Mayor in 1862. At the same time he was elected Alderman, which office he held until 1868, when, under the excitement and party feeling created by the general election which was then pending, he failed in securing his re-election. He was absent from the Town Council, however, for only a short time, for in the following year he was elected one of the Councillors for the East Ward, with which he had been so long connected. The deceased gentleman took a great interest in the proceedings of the Board of Guardians, over which he for some time presided, and in all the offices which he filled, whether as a Town Councillor, a member of the Local Board, or as a Charity Trustee, he was zealous and unremitting in the discharge of his duties. In March, 1870, he had the honour of being appointed one of the new Justices of the Peace for the city of Oxford. During Bro. Thompson's shrievalty, in 1862, the foundation-stone of the new Corn Exchange was laid with Masonic honours, and he entertained a large party to a grand banquet in the Town Hall on the occasion. During his mayoralty he projected, and successfully carried out, a bazaar in St. John's College gardens, for the benefit of the Radcliffe Infirmary, which, through his energetic and liberal conduct, resulted in the munificent sum of £2240 being netted and presented to that excellent institution. In acknowledgement of this service he was made a Life Governor.

Bro. Thompson was initiated into Freemasonry in the Alfred Lodge (340) in 1831, was W.M. in 1846, and S.G.W. of the province in 1849. He was elected a joining member of the Apollo University Lodge (357) in 1841, and succeeded his father as Treasurer. In the fulfilment of that office the carrying out of the details and the arrangements of Masonic fêtes and balls devolved upon him, and it was chiefly through his instrumentality and business tact that they were successfully carried on, year after year, to the advantage of the citizens as well as to the gratification of the visitors who were attracted to Oxford during the great annual academic festival. In the various other branches of Freemasonry, viz., those of the Royal Arch and the Knights Templar Order, as well as that of the Mark Masters' Degree, he filled the highest offices in each, also in the Grand Conclave that of Grand Constable, and in the Grand Mark Lodge, of Grand Deacons. Those members of the University who have been admitted into Freemasonry during their academical career, and those who have been accustomed to visit Oxford on the occasion of the Masonic festivals, will have most agreeable recollections of his urbanity and of his anxiety to administer to their pleasure and their comfort.

He leaves a large family, of a widow, of five daughters, and of four sons, three of whom are Freemasons, and are members respectively of the medical, legal, and clerical professions, with one a student at St. Bartholomew's Hospital.

The funeral of the deceased took place in Holywell Cemetery, and was attended by the Mayor and members of the Corporation, robed, and preceded by the civic mace, together with a large number of the brethren and of private friends.

THE CROWN PRINCE OF PRUSSIA AS A MASON.

A rare opportunity recently offered itself to the Crown Prince of Prussia to give expression to the ideas of liberal progression which he is said to entertain. The occasion was the celebration of the centenary of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Germany, at Berlin, and if his acts in political life are to be governed by the sentiments which he then and there enunciated, the people whose destinies will, in all human probability, be guided by him at no distant day, may rest satisfied. It is safe to assume that the address was not gotten up merely to gain popularity, inasmuch as the proceedings of Masonic lodges, particularly in Germany, are never given to the public. The ideas advanced by the Crown Prince in his address are the more remarkable, as the Grand Lodge of Germany is proverbially the most conservative of the three occupying, to-day, the same position in every respect, which it occupied a century ago. Other Grand Lodges have long ago disregarded the idea that all and everything pertaining to the history, principles, laws, and regulations of Masonry must be carefully concealed from the eye of the public. And there is now almost nothing, if we expect the ritual, but what is accessible to him who desires to investigate it. The result of these investigations is readily perceived in this country, particularly in the immense increase of lodges and members, and the fear is not unfrequently expressed by Masons that the great danger which now threatens the Fraternity is a too-great popularity.

The Grand Lodge of Germany, at Berlin, is not, as might be inferred from its title, the Grand Lodge of the whole of Germany, but simply one of the three co-ordinate bodies which the Prussian Government permit in its dominions. The ritual practised by this Grand Lodge is the so-called "Swedish System," and differs in many essentials from that practised by other Masonic bodies. It was brought from Sweden to Berlin by Von Zinnerdorf, in 1776. According to this system, there is an independent Inner Council or Directory, which guides and controls the affairs of the Grand Lodge. It was but the day previous to the delivery of the Crown Prince's address that the Grand Master addressed the Grand Lodge in a most orthodox strain, closely adhering to the traditions which, he said, had been brought to them a century previous from Sweden. And when the Crown Prince, who is Grand Master of the Order in Prussia, made known his progressive ideas, it is said that some of the more conservative gentlemen were so much overcome by the heresies of his Royal Highness, that they have not recovered from the effect to the present day. Without, however, inquiring into the truth of this report, it is nevertheless certain that the address has created quite an excitement in the Masonic circles of Germany. It is of great length, and is as remarkable for the bold positions it assumes as for its favour and liberality; the latter evidently the result of conviction. There is no doubt that the Masonic Fraternity will find it as interesting as that of Germany found it startling, and we regret that we are compelled to limit ourselves to a short synopsis of it.

After an appropriate introduction, the Crown Prince remarked that the three Grand Lodges of Prussia were alike near to him, and that according to his convictions there exists but one Masonry, represented in all systems, through different forms only. Explaining why Masonry conveys ideas by symbols, he said that it was possible that they may be variously interpreted, as the traditions of the Order have been handed down through various channels. The past century was not wanting in violent struggles between the different systems, but the present time witnesses a different state of affairs, of which the representatives of the various systems present were the living witnesses. He entreated the brethren present to hold firmly to the unity of Masonry, and admonished them that each should divest himself of the belief that he alone was in possession of the whole truth and the only correct form for the same: that whilst they prided themselves in possessing the most correct interpretations, they should not fail to solve the true problem of the royal art, and be influenced by the teachings of the Order to practise its precepts in life. There is no value, he said, in the name of "brother," if the struggle for superiority leads to the discarding of brotherly sentiments. He warned the brethren against the danger of considering the trivial and unessential the main object of Freemasonry. He said that the Grand Lodge of Germany has been misjudged and assailed, because its rites, history and regulations were not understood, and asked if something could not be done to enable larger circles to form a correct judgment. He advised the publication of the history, origin and development of the Grand Lodge, and urged that body to break through the wall of historical secrecy. He ordered a document to be read, heretofore kept secret, to-wit: the charter of the Grand Lodge obtained by Von Zinnerdorf. The necessity of a revision of the ritual was alluded to, and it was acknowledged that the historical criticism of the day had become a power, from which even the most sacred traditions can no longer escape. That power, he declared, was making demands upon the Order which could no longer be refused. Satisfactory proof of historical traditions is demanded, and he acknowledged that the requirements of the present time would have to be complied with. Investigation has been commenced, and would be followed to as satisfactory conclusion. If the traditions were confirmed, doubts would disappear; and if anything should prove to be untenable, love of truth would give them courage to sacrifice it.

He also demanded a simplification of lodge life, but did not desire reforms at the expense of those old customs which still possess and can diffuse vitality. "Shall the decayed and superfluous," he asked, "be permitted to smother that which is good and possesses vitality? If we permit this, it will be our fault that many brethren will never penetrate to the substance; that some will turn away reluctantly or in derision, while others will use the Order as a means of gratifying selfishness and vanity; so that it will become morally corrupted, instead of morally elevated." "Let us beware," he said, "that by a too obstinate adherence to old customs, of which we have grown fond, we do not become blind to the necessities of the present, whilst the age progresses with tremendous strides."

He cautioned the brethren, however, not to proceed indiscreetly, but to see that the Order by its rites and regulations, morally ennobled its members; for if it did not effect that, their labors, in spite of the richness of the symbolisms and explanations, would become a useless waste of time and strength, and degenerate into empty phrases and a barren plaything. He directed particular attention to the necessity of imparting sufficient information to the brethren of the lowest degree to enable them to understand what was offered to them. He did not wish it to be understood, however, that the rites and symbolic acts should be thrown together promiscuously, or that Entered Apprentices should be promoted to Mastership before the proper time; but that a proper understanding should be obtained from the beginning, of what is new and strange to them. The acts and symbols of the Order should warm their hearts, incite their thoughts, and strengthen the conception of the present time, the indispensable condition for which is a proper understanding. "Let us discard the fear," he said, "that we are doing wrong when we transfer from the teachings of the higher degrees into the lower all that fructifies the latter. It is the best use we can make of these higher degrees; for, in our time, the St. John's Lodge is the chief object in Freemasonry, and therefore of the highest importance."

He thought it would be unnecessary to defend himself against the suspicion that he wished to use Masonry for purposes foreign to it upon principle; he harboured the hope—and that hope kept his interest in the Order alive—that by its quiet labour it would stimulate a healthful moral life in the people, which it would do most successfully if the germ of its spirit was extended to the largest circles. All knowledge in Masonry: he said; was contained in the first degree, and if this truth became a reality, it would remove the suspicion that the higher degrees taught anything but St. John's Masonry. He requested the brethren to examine his views without prejudice, to move fearlessly and perseveringly with discretion and forbearance, and he assured them that he would faithfully support them in the important undertaking. "The closing century," he said, "has left us imperfections; the coming century will at its close point out the imperfections of our own labours. But let us hope that it will acknowledge that we have honestly tried to act in the sense of those ancestors who deserve the name of 'the wise,' and in accordance with the spirit of our time have given the Order that form which is suitable to its noble aims, and which can be valued by the present generation, and will result in its prosperity."—Buffalo Courier.

THE ROYAL BANK OF IRELAND.

The thirty-fifth annual meeting of the proprietors of the Royal Bank of Ireland was held on the 27th ult., at the Bank House, Foster-place. There was a large attendance of shareholders.

Valentine O'Brien O'Connor, Esq., presided.

Mr. John North, Secretary, read the advertisement convening the meeting.

The directors' report, which was published in our last, and which recommends a dividend at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum, was taken as granted.

The Chairman then moved the adoption of the report. He said: Gentlemen, in moving the adoption of the report and accounts, I have to congratulate you on the Royal Bank being able to pay a dividend of £12 per cent. Considering the very low rate of interest, this must be deemed very satisfactory. Few banks are doing better. We have discounted over £5,900,000 of bills, and made no bad debts this year. I am happy to say that our branches are succeeding, and that new accounts are continually opening. I would urge upon our shareholders to assist us by getting their friends to do their business with our bank. This, with the advancing rate of interest, will add much to our prosperity. As the report is so comprehensive, I need not trouble you with any more details. We have to regret the loss of our valued friend, Mr. Callwell. By his death, and by the retirement of our much esteemed friend Mr. Findlater, two vacancies have occurred on our board. We have been fortunate in getting the High Sheriff, Mr. Parker, and Mr. Drummond, to take their places; two more efficient gentlemen to act as directors, could not be found. I conclude by saying that we are much indebted to our managing director, our secretary, and officers, for their great attention and care, which is the cause of our success.

Mr. Archibald McComas, in seconding the adoption of the report, said it was extremely gratifying to find that notwithstanding recent monetary crises, they were able now to give a dividend of 12 per cent. per annum. It was really a thing that they could not have expected, but yet under the excellent management that was adopted he could almost express no wonder. (Hear, hear.) With regard to the death of Mr. Callwell, he should say it had left a great blank in their board. He was a gentleman well known to the commercial community. He had his (Mr. McComas's) confidence for many years, and as years rolled on he esteemed him all the more: A more honourable man he never knew. He had had many very heavy transactions with him, and from all their dealings the utmost satisfaction resulted. As to Mr. Findlater, he was a gentleman well known to them all. None could excel him in high-mindedness and honour, and his vacating his seat on the board was a matter to be deeply regretted. (Hear, hear.) Under all the circumstances he thought if it had not been for the gentlemen who had presented themselves as directors in the room of these other gentlemen, he was almost going to say they might feel somewhat despondent. But he would not say despondent, because there was no room for despondency as regarded the management of their property. (Hear, hear.) He saw with pleasure the new names presented, and he hoped the institution would go on prosperous and prospering. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Thomas Dockrell said he had a sort of conditional amendment to propose. He was aware that at this time of the year a great many shareholders were anxious to have the dividends paid with a view to meeting their September rents. The amendment he would propose was that "the report be not received unless the directors undertake that all future accounts furnished be audited and properly certified." The directors could deal with that, perhaps, without eliciting any expression of opinion from him.

The Chairman: Our customers would not approve of such a course as that. They would not like to see their accounts gone into by any body of gentlemen outside. (Hear, hear.) They are satisfied with the directors, and would not wish their business to be made known to gentlemen outside. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Dockwell said if that was the case, it became his duty to express his feelings to the meeting on the subject. The chairman and directors might rest assured that he had the highest respect for them, and it was not his intention to say one word against them. They were all thoroughly deserving of the very high positions which they occupied. They were a body of gentlemen of whom any shareholders ought to be proud—(hear, hear)—but yet the best body of men might be lead astray, and might hold different views from the shareholders regarding the management. He had known the late Mr. Callwell for many years, and always found him a straightforward, upright, and honourable gentleman. As to Mr. Findlater, his name was a guarantee to any society. (Hear, hear.) His liberality all classes and creeds had access to, and he had raised testimonials by his generosity and kindness that would be handed down to posterity, and convey to them his munificence and liberality. (Hear, hear.) The Chairman was aware that in their place there were equally excellent gentlemen as directors, but if from time to time the board was weighed in the balance and found wanting; if their directors were, as he esteemed them, all first-class and of high mercantile reputation, the greater would be the loss of the shareholders to lose them by any dispensation of Providence. Who could tell but it would be some young fellow like himself (Mr. Dockrell)—(a laugh)—with all the giddiness of youth, that might be led into juvenile indulgence, that would be elected to fill the place of the first director if anything happened? It was to guard against such a surprise he was anxious. The property of the shareholders was all there, and the responsibility of the directors was very great. He need not tell them that in an Unlimited Liability Company the responsibility was very great; and therefore the shareholders should avail themselves of every safeguard in their power. He knew not what the articles of association were—whether it was mandatory or permissive to have an audit—but he would assume there was a share of common sense used in the framing of them. The chairman's predecessor had said that he did not know why the shareholders should not have an audit if they wished, and it was for the meeting now to decide what was the value of their report at present. If he litigated 2s. 6d. of a claim for dividend before any Petty Sessions Court in the country, there was not a magistrate who would give an award without a declaration. Suppose he produced the report as evidence of his claim, he did not say a magistrate would give him the hint the Connaughtman got to go down stairs, but he would put him out of court, and tell him the document was valueless—that it was not audited, and could not be relied upon. There was not a shareholder in the room that day who could tell that minute whether it was from capital or revenue they were to be paid the dividend. They had the directors' words for it, it was true, and there was no one more anxious to rely on that than he was; but yet the fact remained, they did not know whether it was from capital or revenue it came. A noticeable example of that had occurred at the Midland Railway, where money was borrowed to pay a dividend of 5 per cent, when the company was in the greatest misery. If that was done before, it might be gone again elsewhere, but far be it from him to say it would be done in their bank. However, to guard against it, they ought to have an audit. He would venture to put forward these opinions now, and he thought he would be assisted by the shareholders. The chairman had started an objection that some of the depositors or customers at the bank would be apt to leave in case there was an audit; but he (Mr. Dockrell) thought that that was far from being a right argument.

The Chairman: I beg your pardon; what I meant to convey was that those who send their bills here to be discounted would not like to have outsiders acquainted with their business, and of course an auditor's business would be to look into all accounts, and a long time it would take them to do so.

Mr. Dockrell said that secrecy was observed in all banks. He had an account in the Bank and his son had another, and neither of them could find out what was to the other's credit unless they told each other. Why could not auditors be bound to secrecy? Even suppose customers left the Bank, where would they go but to other banks? and they were auditors in the whole of them.

The Chairman: Only in one.

Mr. Dockrell though there was more than one. At the last meeting Judge Little had put a question to the directors which appeared to be important, and nothing could be more satisfactory than the answer of the directors. They not only gave an account of that Bank, but also of the Scotch banks and their statistics. He assumed from that that the board would have no difficulty in answering a question that he now wished to put—what did the branches cost, and what did they make above it? As to the policy of having those branches here and there, he dissented from it, and they should consider whether it would be better to continue them or not. He would not detain the meeting longer, but would beg to propose the amendment, whether it was seconded or not, to test the shareholders in reference to the question he raised.

Judge Little said that before the amendment would be put he would explain what Mr. Dockrell had alluded to. At the last meeting several shareholders said the expenditure of the bank was larger in their judgment than it ought to be. He intimated that view to the managing director, and informed him that it would be desirable that he should be prepared on the next occasion with a statement to satisfy the shareholders on that point. Now, it was not exactly a fair way, he took it, to ask what might be the direct expenditure of the branches, because the branches were new—they were only gatherers, as it were, for the great stream. What he would now wish to ask was, relatively what was their expenditure compared with the expenditure of other banks with regard to capital and business? That was the question, and that was the question put to him to ask on the last occasion of meeting by several gentlemen who were now present. With reference to the principal question before the meeting, he thought it was quite legitimate and quite expedient, where there was so much capital embarked, that there should be a ripple created on the surface where there was so much water, but it might only ripple to show the water was all the clearer underneath. (Hear, hear.) The appointment of auditors, he thought, would be an additional expense, but then the question came back—had they confidence in the directors? (Hear, hear.) If there was a shadow of suspicion on that point it would be the duty of any man to propound it. The gentlemen who constituted this board were well known to the public. They were gentlemen of position and capital, of practical ability and of great commercial experience. It might be if there was an infusion of somewhat a different element, it would give a certain satisfaction to some of the shareholders. It might be that some present were not satisfied, as they were not on the last occasion, that they had not a greater variety combined in the board; but for practical ability and commercial ability he thought no exception could be taken to the gentlemen of the board. (Hear, hear.) He did not see himself the propriety of appointing auditors, who were only two additional directors in reality if they went to that. (No, no.) They might have the name of auditors, but their duty would be to revise the operations of the directors, and the business from day to day. There would be no bill-discounter that would not come under their observation, and no account could be opened that was not submitted to them, and they passed their judgment not only on all the advances made to branches but on the business of the principal institution itself. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Charles Copland, managing director, said he was happy to be able to answer the question that had been asked—the branches did pay and returned a profit. They were important additions, and not only created a new business for them but secured the old, for, in consequence of the competition that was going on, unless they had put out these feeders others banks would have done so, and drawn from them what they had now secured. It was a gratifying fact that during the last year the accounts were increased 160 odd, and within the last ten years they would be surprised to hear the accounts had increased 1,100. In 1861 the current accounts were 2,590; in 1871 they are 3,660, and the increase of 160 has taken place within the last twelve months. (Hear, hear.) With respect to the inquiry in reference to the expenditure, he had taken pains to ascertain, as far as possible, the expenditure of the bank. He should remark that other banks did not give the full details they did in their report. Of course that was a matter entirely for their own consideration, but comparing their expenditure with that of those banks that gave details, he found the satisfactory result that the Royal was 6 per cent., compared with 7, 8, and 10 per cent. of other establishments. (Hear, hear.) He did not like to mention names, for that would be invidious, but any gentleman who took the trouble of examining such accounts of expenditure as were published would see that the Royal Bank was decidedly and considerably under other similar establishments.

With respect to having auditors, that was a question he could not enter upon—it was entirely for the shareholders.

Mr. Dockrell then stated that as his amendment had not been seconded, he was quite satisfied that his opinions were not acquiesced in by the other shareholders. He would, therefore, withdraw the amendment.

The Chairman then put the original motion for the adoption of the report and accounts, which was passed unanimously.

Mr. Taylor proposed that Mr. Valentine O'Brien O'Connor, retiring director, be re-elected.

The motion was seconded and adopted.

Mr. Findlater proposed that Mr. Alexander Parker, High Sheriff, be elected director.

Mr. O'Brien seconded the motion, which was also adopted.

Original Correspondence.

The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.

"FREEMASONRY AND JUDAISM."

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In replying to Bro. Carpenter's letter at page 570, I desire that it be kept in mind that we are "Freemasons," and that, as such, it matters not whether we be Jew or Turk, Hindoo or Christian, Unitarian or Trinitarian; all are alike to Freemasonry, and justice to itself demands that within its pale all be put upon the level—agreeing to differ, and differing to agree. Consequently, while the Christian reader of THE FREEMASON may state what his views are (as does J. W. C., at page 587), it is only fair to allow any non-Christian, Mahomedan, or Hindoo reader to come forward and state his. To return to Bro. Carpenter, however. We have all seen that for many weeks back he has been giving his views upon the above subject, and in doing so he has not only made it apparent that he considers the Bible to be emphatically The Book and infallible, but he has also supported the idea that Christianity, as given out by him, is The Religion. Now, I am aware that many brethren think otherwise, and that instead of the Bible being infallible, it is full of mistakes, and one version full of mistranslations; while, also, many fables have crept into it, marring the beauty of its other noble features. As to Bro. Carpenter's explanations and assumptions, upon many things, they seem to be rather gratuitous. He looks upon the latter portion of the xlv. chapter of Isaiah as a prophecy, written by Isaiah long long before the Babylonish captivity, and therefore miraculous, or supernatural; but where is his proof for such an extraordinary idea? He does not bring forward the shadow of a substantial proof to support it; while as to its being a song of thanksgiving, not only does its own contents, or the internal evidence, show this, but such an idea is quite natural and in accordance with all the circumstances of the case, and although Bro. Carpenter may tell us that Isaiah was its author, yet Renan and others tell us he was not, and, independent of them, looking to the whole circumstances of the case, it appears to me that, allowing Isaiah to have died a considerable time before the Babylonish captivity took place, then he no more wrote this "song" referred to than I did. It was, however, written by a kindred spirit, probably in order to stimulate the Jews during the going on of some of the transactions recorded in Ezra, and being so written it was afterwards incorporated with Isaiah.

It appears to me to be with Bro. Carpenter just as it has been with myself, viz., we have both been taking far too many of our ideas, in connection with the Bible, upon trust. That is to say, that instead of examining it in an impartial and thoroughly independent manner, we have altogether been guided, hitherto, by our early training and belief, thus getting only a one-sided view. Now that is wrong, for that shows that our belief in the Bible as a better book than the Vedas or the Koran is simply, in great measure, owing to the mere accident of birth or parentage. This is little credit to either of us, and leaves the possibility of our being wrong quite open. For years after joining the Masonic fraternity I believed, generally speaking, in the popular ideas of its history, rise, and progress, but no sooner did I begin to examine into these thoroughly. than I was obliged to throw them up; and as it was with Masonic ideas in 1868, so has it been in religious matters in 1871. Investigation into, and thought upon both has led me up to departure from the popular ideas. And there is, surely, nothing unmanly or unmasonic in admitting we are wiser to-day than we were yesterday. If otherwise, how could progress be possible? I begin to fear that we have been far too conceited—looking down upon every other nation and belief as far beneath our own, while, all the time, we were utterly unaware of the “beam” of credulity and superstition which lay within our own eye.

Bro. Carpenter has been pointing to the so-called “prophesies”* in the Bible as proving that God had, some-how, a much closer and different connection with the descendants of Abraham than He had with any other nation, but that is all imagination. All peoples were equally the children of God, and had a common interest and share in His bounty. And what we perceive in the national struggles which we read about in the Bible and elsewhere, is simply the working out of that great law of the struggle for existence. When a nation was young, strong, and moral, then we see it rising and spreading forth its branches; but when it became degenerate, immoral, and effete, then its days were numbered. And all this in agreement with those natural laws which T.G.A.O.T.U. has established, the descendants of Abraham being subject to their operation, just as other nations. The idea of there being anything special or miraculous in their case above that of others is simply a dream, and as to their being the especial custodians of God’s only revelation, that also is a mistake, for many of the doctrines, &c., contained in the Bible existed, and were taught elsewhere, before the Jewish writers had even got the length of engrossing them.

The Bible, as we now have it, is simply, in great measure, a mere collection of Hebrew pamphlets, full of interpolations and alterations upon the works of the original authors. It is also simply a Jewish literary production, and, as such, liable to exactly the same criticism as the literary productions of any other people, while the “inspiration” contained in it is just the same as that found in Shakespeare, Luther, Milton, Newton, Scott, Watt, or Gladstone. God is just about as much present, and in a similar manner, in the minds of some of our nineteenth-century philosophers, inventors, and statesmen, as ever he was to Abraham, Moses, or even Jesus. It may require long, calm, and perhaps even special consideration to see, feel, and understand this properly; but when it is so felt and understood, then the hand of God in history, instead of seeming remote and partial, as narrow and sectarian views so often make it, is known to be very near, as also very omnipresent. As to Bro. Carpenter’s idea about the Anglo-Saxons, or the inhabitants of the British Isles being the descendants of the ten tribes of Israel, I would simply ask: Are we, or are we not, of the Semitic race? If we are not—as I believe we are not—then all Bro. Carpenter’s assumptions and deductions fall at once to the ground. It requires more than resemblance in some points here and there to constitute relationship. All nations and peoples have, and must have, many things in common. They have many common feelings, failings, wants, and aspirations—so it is nothing wonderful to find resemblances among them. A like cause being favourable also to the production of a similar effect, I would be more inclined to consider England as possessing traces of Phœnician connection than of Israelitic, as the former probably traded to England for tin. I fear it would be taking up too much of your space to say much more; but at page 436, where Bro. Carpenter tells us that the Israelites reckoned from “evening to morning,” that is a mistake, as Lev. xxiii. 32 says, from “even unto even.” At page 484, he writes “Holy Spirit,” as a Trinitarian would do, and on same page he speaks of Israel’s “Christianization.” Now, I am not aware that Israel has ever been Christianized as yet, or is ever likely to be. In fact, from the statements of some of the leading thinkers of the day, Christianity, or Protestantism, has made little or no progress for many years, while others feel that some great change is coming over it. The world is progressing, and what does not agree with that progression will just be left behind. Many of the doctrines of Jesus* will find their realization in the hearts and walk of men for ages yet to come; but that is different from the existence of a certain system of Christianity. As to Abraham and his seed (p. 499) being specially “chosen of God,” that is simply the old narrow-minded fallacy over again; while the remarks about colonies at page 531 only show how Darwin’s idea of “the struggle for existence” is carried out in practice—the weaker race going to the wall. Then (page 544) before saying too much about “ancient superstitions,” it might be better to look within and see if there be no modern or extant superstitions amongst ourselves? And as to stating, page 548, that “England has inoculated all nations with her civilisations, intelligence, and tastes,” that, taking it for granted, is only the old thing over again, for Rome did so before her, Greece before Rome, and Egypt before either. And in how many things, even in the Christian beliefs, are there based upon Egyptian or Indian ideas? More, in how many points also are these beliefs different from the Mosaic, Davidic, or Jobite ideas? And we must not forget who “inoculated” England in the sixteenth century, nor who, in some things, is also inoculating her now in the 19th. Even in Freemasonry we find that, although England gave Germany its Freemasonry, the best “History of Freemasonry” yet published is the work of a German. Thus showing a system of “give and take” at work. To return to the Israelites, we are told that the old Jew, while believing in God as T.G.A.O.T.U., had no belief in resurrection, or the immortality of the soul, yet this, although opposed to both Pagan and Christian ideas, is probably what a union between science and Monotheism is now again pointing to; for, what we have considered to be the “soul” is possibly simply human consciousness, or the conscious acting of the human brain, it being with man, just as with other animals, a mere matter of cause and effect—as, so long as the brain is in working order, just so long is the “soul” able to think, or does the thinking power exist in the man or animal. Such a view of matters may be novel to many, but the great point with us all ought to be, not mere dreams or longings, but the truth. The love of virtue for its own sake ought to be more our loadstone, not merely the hope of a supposed heaven, or that great lever of imposition, the fear of a highly-coloured and imaginary hell. The path of duty therefore lies in working while it is called to-day, or as Ecclesiastes ix. 10 has it, “Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest.” If the foregoing remarks are true, and it is possible that, on the whole, they may be, then their effect ought to be to lead us all the more strongly and faithfully to support those grand principles of our noble Order—Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth.

* Looking upon the ancient “prophets” principally as the foretellers of coming events, is apt to mislead. They were the teachers, leaders, or sages of the people, and often possessed the far-seeing genius which is the gift of all great minds. They knew, of course, that a certain cause would produce a certain effect, just as our own nineteenth-century philosophers or sages do, but the former were no more able than the latter to enter into particulars.

I am sincerely and fraternally yours,
W. P. BUCHAN.

Glasgow, Sept. 23, 1871.

* There is no nobler gem in the crown of any philosopher or thinker than Jesus’ parable of the Prodigal Son, while even Hope itself can point to no better human beacon.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—For the information of the Craft in general, may I request you to state, in your next impression, whose duty it is to prove a stranger visiting a lodge under the E.C.?

Your Subscriber from the first,
TAURUS.

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

THE CRAFT.

Lion and Lamb Lodge, No. 192.—The first regular meeting for the season of this old and excellent lodge was held at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, on Thursday, the 5th instant. Bro. George Kenning, W.M., P.G.D. Middlesex, occupied the chair, fully supported by all his officers, as follow: Brothers J. J. Harris, S.W.; F. Trott, J.W.; W. Goodyer, P.M., Treas.; J. G. Marsh, P.M., P.G.P. Middlesex, Sec.; Geo. Abbott, S.D.; A. J. Dickinson, J.D.; Geo. Newman, I.G.; and Thos. Cohu, D.C. The following P.M.’s and brethren were also present: Bros. E. Roberts, I.P.M.; E. King, P.M.; W. Elliott, T. Fisher, S. Edwards, H. Davis, Geo. Parker, R. E. Bright, B. Marsland, R. G. Dixon, S. Haynes, J. Mayo, T. Gardner, Chas. Cann, A. C. Payne, E. Taylor, J. Kent, Chas. Arkill, W. Donne, A. J. Garnett, A. F. Iselton, Chas. Hopkins, G. T. Smith, W. R. Baker, and E. Jones. The lodge was opened in the first degree, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The lodge was then opened in the second degree, and Bros. Cotter and Ramsey, being present and having proved their proficiency, were passed to the degree of F.C. The lodge having been resumed in the first degree, the ballot was taken for the following gentlemen for initiation, viz., Mr. Richard George Putnam, Mr. Joseph Cook, and Mr. W. R. King, and declared to be unanimous in their favour. The two first-named gentlemen being present, were accordingly initiated into the Order. The work of the chair throughout was performed by the W.M. (Bro. Kenning) in a most efficient manner. Several matters of business having been disposed of, the lodge was closed in due form and adjourned. The brethren then repaired to a most sumptuous banquet, provided in Bro. Spencer’s usual good style, which was ably presided over by the W.M., Bro. Kenning, who did ample justice in proposing the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, which were agreeably interspersed by some very excellent songs from many of the brethren, the Tyler’s Toast at last bringing a very enjoyable meeting to a close. The visitors present were Bros. Col. M. T. Fielden, Chas. Lacey (P.M. 174), W. J. Miller (P.M. 766), W. Figis (Vitruvian), G. H. Reuter (879), and Thos. A. Taylor (206).

THE Right Honorable the Earl of Talbot and Shrewsbury, R.W. Prov. G.M. of Staffordshire, has consented to preside at the anniversary festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys in March, 1872.

A PARAGRAPH which has obtained currency, stating that the Prince of Wales will visit the Freemasons’ meeting at Norwich, is now said to be incorrect. His Royal Highness, who is a member of the lodge held at King’s Lynn, is expected to be present at the meeting of the Prov. Grand Lodge of Norfolk, which will be held this year at King’s Lynn, at the end of the present month or the beginning of November, but the date will be fixed to suit the convenience of the Prince.

THE Burdett-Coutts Lodge of Freemasons, which was lately presented with a Bible by Lady Burdett-Coutts, has paid a compliment to Colonel Francis Burdett, on the expiration of his year of office as the first Worshipful Master of the lodge. The badge which has been presented to him by the officers and brethren of the lodge is an elaborately-designed and highly-finished jewel of gold of 18 carats, manufactured by Mr. George Kenning, of Little Britain. Its design is shown in our illustration.—Illustrated London News, Oct. 7.

THE following matter stands over:—“The Philosophy of Freemasonry;” “The State of Masonry in England from the Earliest Traditions to the Norman Conquest;” “The Fair Sex and Adoptive Masonry;” “The Morals of Masonry;” “The Royal Order of Scotland;” a letter from Heidelberg; Knights Templar Review at Baltimore; “Israelitish Origin of the Saxon Race;” Reports of Prov. Grand Lodges for Derbyshire and Cumberland and Westmorland; The Discoveries at Jerusalem; Interesting Discovery at the old Jewish Synagogue in Birmingham; Notes and Queries; Correspondence; Reports of Lodges 531, 1302, and 1330, Chapters 169 and 1086; &c.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS’S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—“By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors’ bills.”—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled—“JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London.” Also, makers of Epps’s Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk).—[Advt.]

TO ADVERTISERS.

THE Circulation of THE FREEMASON being now at the rate of nearly Half-a-million per annum, it offers peculiar facilities to all who advertise.

It is well known that the Fraternity of Freemasons is a large and constantly increasing body, mainly composed of the influential and educated classes of society; and as

The Freemason

is now the accepted organ of the Brotherhood in the United Kingdom, and also enjoys an extensive sale in the colonies and foreign parts, its advantages as an advertising medium can scarcely be overrated.

For terms apply to

GEORGE KENNING,
198, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.

NOTICE.

The Subscription to THE FREEMASON is now 10s. per annum, post-free, payable in advance.

Vol. I., bound in cloth ... ..	4s. 6d.
Vol. II., ditto ... ..	7s. 6d.
Vol. III., ditto ... ..	15s. 0d.
Reading Cases to hold 52 numbers...	2s. 6d.

United States of America.

THE FREEMASON is delivered free in any part of the United States for 12s. per annum, payable in advance.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferred to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

BIRTH.

AMOS.—On August 22nd, at Callao, Peru, the wife of Henry C. Amos, Esq., of a son (still-born).

Answers to Correspondents.

All communications for THE FREEMASON should be written legibly on one side of the paper only, and, if intended for insertion in the current number, must be received not later than 10 o'clock a.m. on Thursdays, unless in very special cases. The name and address of every writer must be sent to us in confidence.

We have received a copy of a Lecture by Bro. the Rev. P. H. Newnham, Prov. Grand Chaplain, Dorset, and purpose making some extracts therefrom next week.

THE RITE OF MEMPHIS.—We have received a letter from a brother, signing himself "Sincerity," who denies the accuracy of a statement which we inserted last week respecting the Rite. He maintains that "Memphis" is recognised by the Grand Orient of France, although Bro. Thevenot, Grand Secretary of that body, has officially denied the recognition. We shall be glad to learn that the characters of Bro. Seymour and other heads of the Rite in America are as unsullied as "Sincerity" affirms—but this is beside the question as it stands. The point for us, as well as for all loyal English Masons, to consider is simply this: that the Rite of Memphis is the only so-called Masonic Rite which has incurred the denunciation of the Grand Lodge of England, and until that censure and prohibition be removed, we can neither support the Rite nor counsel any English brother, who has a respect for his obligation, to join or encourage it.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price of THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the Editor 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him but cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

A CONTRAST.

WE have frequently had occasion to refer to the splendid organisation of American Masonic bodies, and have even incurred the wrath of certain quidnuncs at home for the outspoken manner in which we have awarded the palm in this respect to our Transatlantic brethren. Fortunately the tidings of Lord Ripon's Masonic reception at Washington so strongly corroborated the estimate we had formed, that thoughtful English Masons are beginning to inquire whether our English system is all-perfection? whether the want of cohesion—nay, the ill-disguised hostility unhappily existing—between some of the branches of English Freemasonry, is worthy of our ancient reputation and renown, or consistent with the progressive tendencies of the age? In no other Grand Lodge in the world, save our own, would a man of shady antecedents—a man actually under the ban of suspension from two such widely-acknowledged Masonic Orders as the Knights Templar and the Ancient and Accepted Rite; in no other Masonic body, we repeat, would such a man have been allowed to pour forth, as far as the limited extent of his capacity would admit, a tirade of abuse and vituperation against influential Masonic degrees and respectable brethren. Yet, unhappily, it is too true that this disgusting exhibition took place at the last Quarterly Communication of the Grand Lodge of England.

Let us consider the case. For many years past a fair proportion of the gentlemen who receive the Craft and Royal Arch degrees in this country have entered what are here termed the "unrecognised" Orders, which, with the exception of the Mark Degree, are Christian in their traditions and ceremonials. So far from those unrecognised degrees being antagonistic to the Craft, they absolutely depend upon it for membership, and rise or fall with its fortunes. Nor do we find that the authorities of Grand Lodge, in former days, looked with a jealous eye upon the progress of the chivalric degrees. On the contrary, it is well-authenticated that some of these degrees were worked in England over eighty years ago, under charters expressly granted to the then Grand Treasurer, Bro. James Heseltine, the Grand Secretary, Bro. William White, and a clerk in the office of Grand Lodge, Bro. George William Sweetimbourg. Nor were the executive officials at that period the only representatives of the Grand Lodge of England in the "unrecognised" degrees, for even such mighty dignitaries as the Royal Grand Masters patronized the knightly assemblies, and promulgated Rosicrucian and Templar mysteries. The Duke of Sussex ate the forbidden fruit—his Secretary, William Henry White, son of the above-mentioned White, nibbled at it under his Royal Master's sanction, and even for some time after the Mason prince had been gathered to his fathers.

Now, these are facts which cannot be gainsayed, denied, glossed over, or erased from the page of our Masonic history; and, being facts, they make us blush for the intolerance which some—let us hope an insignificant minority—of the English Craft express towards their brethren of the so-termed "higher grades." Far otherwise is it in the United States of America. There, where Masonry, like the light of Heaven, is found in every village, and spreads its canopy over every State—there, where our Institution has made unparalleled progress, is to be found, not only the greatest development of Templar Masonry, but the utmost good feeling and brotherly love, between all who "profess and call themselves" Masons.

The moment is opportune for comparison, inasmuch as the Knights Templar of the United States have just held their triennial Grand Encampment at Baltimore. How were they greeted by their brother Masons? Let Grand Master Latrobe's words sufficiently testify:

"In the name of the Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of Maryland, I bid you welcome to the State. As Grand Master of the Masons here, I place our Temple at your disposal. Not myself a member of your Order, I still know that, to become a Templar, one must first be a Mason; and in executing the office with which I have now been honoured, I feel that I am greeting Masons not less than Templars with words of kindness and regard."

Is not the feeling which dictated this welcome more in harmony with true Masonic principle than the narrow-mindedness which would have said to the Templars: "Away, pollute not our Temple with your presence—we do not acknowledge you as part of the great Masonic family; ye are as lepers—unclean and abhorrent to the sight of a true blue Mason!" Is it not better to evoke fraternal sentiments like those expressed in response by the Grand Commander, Sir Knight William Gardner Sewall?

"Your warm and fraternal greeting is most gratefully received by the Grand Encampment of the United States, and by the Knights Templar of the Union assembled in your city. As Templars, we recognise the Institution of Ancient Craft Masons as the foundation-stone upon which we have erected our Christian Temple. If this foundation is insecure, or uncertain, or if it should be withdrawn from beneath the structure, the Temple of Knighthood, which now safely and securely rests upon it, would topple over, and be buried in a general ruin. Your words of welcome cheer us. They show the deep sympathy which exists, and which, it is claimed, has existed for centuries, between the great Fraternity of Freemasonry and the Order which we represent. We have come up here from all the States, from the district and from the territories, not only as knights of our illustrious Order, but as citizens of the Republic, having a common interest in the perpetuity of our institutions of government, and in the preservation of a Union which, we trust, will be perpetual."

Now, the moral of all this may be gathered in a few sentences. As we intimated, some weeks since, when writing upon the introduction of the Cryptic Rite into England, there is really no specific recognition of the Royal Arch, the Knights Templar, or any other Masonic organization, by any of the Symbolic Grand Lodges in America. The degrees beyond Master Mason are known to be part and parcel of the system, and there the knowledge of the Craft Grand Body ends. But, in consequence of the friendly, the fraternal attitude of the Grand Lodges, all the other bodies support blue or symbolic Masonry with the utmost zeal and affection. Suspend or expel a Master Mason, and forthwith a similar ostracism is decreed in the other grades to which he may belong. The work of the several degrees is carried on under the same roof in very many instances, and, in fact, provision is made in all the large Masonic Halls for the accommodation of the knightly orders. This is as it should be, and the time has surely arrived when, without seeking positive recognition, or sacrificing one jot of the independence which is their heritage, the heads of the unacknowledged degrees now worked in England might come to some understanding upon the subject with the heads of the Craft. It must be thoroughly settled that a brother who chooses to join any knightly order, such as the Red Cross or the Templar, or any rite or degree, like the Mark or the Rose Croix, is not to be subjected to the periodical paroxysms of rage of any bedlamerite who may choose to run amuck, like a hog in armour, against extraneous degrees, and to pour the torrent of his foul, though imbecile, anathemas upon the heads of honourable men. With such a Mason as the Earl of Carnarvon in the front, we shall look for a speedy solution of this problem, and we trust that the solution will be found to be in consonance with the toleration—not to say the mutual good feeling and amity—which should ever sway the minds of good men and true.

Multum in Parvo, or Masonic Notes and Queries.

How many Past Master Masons are necessary to form a Past Master's Lodge, from the third degree, to impart the O.B. of Past Master, and instal him Master of it?

W. J.

[Three must be present.—ED. F.]

THE ROYAL ORDER OF SCOTLAND.

The letter by Bro. Hay, at page 614, is such a capital joke that comment upon it is not only unnecessary, but would be simply superfluous. I therefore content myself with thanking him for the trouble he has taken in recording the result of his very valuable antiquarian and authentic researches!

X. Y. Z.

The Freemasons, sprung originally from the wandering Masons of Como, in Lombardy, who visited town after town where their services were required, this confederation of Magistri Comacini did, in time, as work failed in their own country, visit other lands. Houses, or lodges, were established for their reception or aid, much as at the present day exist among the German travelling apprentices, only that, in a great measure, monasteries were their head-quarters and homes. As their expertness became known, their assistance was more widely sought, and few buildings of importance arose in the twelfth century which they had not assisted in constructing. The clergy were wealthy, the nobles generous, and the people zealous; so much so, that Hughes, Bishop of Rouen, writing in the year 1145, informs us that the inhabitants of Chartres were generally employed in casting materials for the construction of the cathedral at their own expense; but skilled workmen were scarce, and it was from this society of Masons that the principal workmen were obtained. At the close of the thirteenth century, Edwin von Steinbach, the architect of Strasburg Cathedral, was elected head of the Freemasons in Germany, and was granted extensive privileges by the Emperor and the Pope. In the fifteenth century, Masonic Lodges existed in Alsace and Germany, which appear to have been regular schools for architecture and sculpture. In 1452, Dotzinger, of Strasburg, formed all the scattered German lodges into a national association; and in 1459 a general council was held at Ratisbon, where the rules of the society were definitely arranged, and the architects to Strasburg Cathedral chosen as perpetual Grand Masters. The extent and power of this German association was very great, but as the power of Freemasons rose with the rise of Gothic architecture, so with its fall they fell, and little now remains of them but a name.—Digby Wyatt.

THE FOOTSTEPS OF MASONRY;
OR,
Freemasonry in relation to Authentic History.

BY BRO. W. VINER BEDOLFE, M.D., S.D. 1329,
Hon. Sec. Sphinx Lodge of Instruction.

Having been appointed S.D. in a Masonic lodge, and accepted the office of Hon. Secretary to a lodge of instruction, it has happened that brethren who I have conducted through their initiation have asked me for some concise information as to the origin and history of the Fraternity into which they had entered. With the view of being better enabled to reply to them, and for my own satisfaction, for I confess I knew little about it, I set to work to study the subject, and soon found myself possessed of a small collection of notes, gradually amassed, as the result. Hoping they may serve as a point of origin which others may develop more fully, I ask the favour of a few pages in THE FREEMASON.

I address them more particularly to my brethren initiated during the past year in the Sphinx Lodge, and to the younger members of the Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, with the hope that, unitedly, we may better work for the strengthening and supporting of that glorious fabric, founded on Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth, which our predecessors, through long and varied vicissitudes, have handed down to us. For whatever modifications and additions it may have undergone, I believe it still (as when our royal founder first issued his edicts from his Curule chair) to be instinct, in the words of Shelley, with life, hope truth, and love:

"Life may change, but it may fly not;
Hope may vanish, but can die not;
Truth be veiled, but still it burneth;
Love repulsed, yet it returneth;"

and Masonry is still unchanged.

The few chapters which I purpose publishing are not penned in any dogmatical spirit, but should be considered only as contributions towards the elucidation of the history of Freemasonry—an endeavour to trace its footsteps along the pathway of time.

In looking through the Masonic journals, and in general conversation with Freemasons, nothing is more evident than the vague ideas formed of its authenticity and antiquity. In fact, some persons, only looking at evidence within their own reach, believe it a mere modern invention, dating from the time of its so-called resuscitation in 1817. Others, again, peep about buried stones, relics of wild Indian tribes, to solve the mystery, as if technical Freemasonry had its origin before the confusion of tongues, in pre-historic, or even geological eras.

But modern science, in inquiring into the history or properties of the subject of its investigation, does not content itself with external evidence; it examines the elements and materials which compose it, and logically deduces the conclusion. For as in a "cavern of bones," even of extinct animals, by taking the fragments and referring each to that epoch or era to which scientific experience demonstrates it to belong, so must be taken each remaining fragment of Freemasonry, and each remaining fragment be referred to its historic relations.

Let us, then, enquire—

Firstly. What eras the fragment to which our researches should be directed belong.

Secondly. What is the exact position each holds in relation to authentic history.

The eras to which the fragments belong may be thus arranged (but in order not to prejudge the question, I will leave the nomenclature in blank):—

- (A) The Ancient . . . . . period, in connection with
  - (a) Its municipal institutions.
  - (b) Its pagan institutions.
  - (c) Its philosophical institutions.
- (B) The latter . . . . . period, when . . . . . ideas present themselves.
- (C) The . . . . . period, when . . . . . traditions become added.
- (D) Its diffusion in the middle ages in western Europe, and its connection with modern ideas.

The consideration of its literature may also present an interesting subject.

The character and era of its kingly founder.

An eminent Mason, Bro. John Thomas, says, "It is my opinion that the present Freemasonry springs from an operative association," and a settled conviction from one so versed in our traditions, and who has so long meditated upon the subject, may, for practical purposes, be reasoned upon as a fact.

Professor Huxley remarks that, "Art is the elder sister of Science, and reached her maturity whilst Science was still in her leading-strings." In Freemasonry, both were evidently included, for it is difficult to determine the exact point where science begins and art ends in its composition.

Hence there is no doubt that in its higher degrees it has a relation to science and philosophy, and that our present Lectures are the analogue of some ancient moral and scientific teaching, whilst the first, or lower, degree was operative.

I think, then, we may take it for granted that it originated (and such, also, is the generally received opinion) in an architecturo-masonic association, or corporation; precisely, indeed, as our traditional history indicates.

That this association, or corporation, commenced in 1717, or even any modern era, as some seem to think, may at once be dismissed from consideration; for although Professor Owen asserts, in scientific language, that living beings arise whenever two sheets (of matter) come together, yet our common sense tells us that organized societies like ours are not the result of chance, but must have had an adequate origin and long infancy for their full but gradual development.

We must therefore look to antiquity.

We may now enquire—

Firstly. At what age Institutions governed like our own, well known and recognised as existing in ancient times, were founded.

Secondly. Are there any institutions which were founded at that epoch still in existence?

The answer is:—

- 1. That institutions founded at the epoch here alluded to, and long cherished by the people amongst whom they were founded, still rule the world.

2. That customs founded at this same epoch, after various wanderings, have come down to our day.

In the next paper we will endeavour to illustrate and prove our argument.

THE FREEMASONS' LIFE-BOAT COMMITTEE.

The object for which this Committee was formed having been attained, a final meeting was held at the Railway Tavern, London-street, E.C., on the 5th inst. Bro. A. E. Harris occupied the chair. There were present: Bros. S. Davis (Hon. Treas.), E. Gottheil (Hon. Sec.), Mortlock, Emmett, Dairy, C. C. Taylor, and Gillard.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The Hon. Secretary then submitted the following financial statement:—

DR.	£	s.	d.
Acknowledged in THE FREEMASON	443	16	0
Per Bro. John Harris (proceeds from sale of "Lines on the Masonic Institution, Croydon," written by him ...)	2	10	0
Per Bro. Mortlock ...	0	2	6
Per-centage from London and Westminster Bank ...	2	14	6
	£449	3	0
CR.
Purchase money for Life-boat ...	422	14	6
Postage ...	0	9	6
Advertisements... ..	6	10	0
Printing, &c. ... ..	1	4	6
Sundry expenses incidental to the launch of the boat ... ..	1	15	0
	£432	13	6
Balance in the hands of Bro. S. Davis ...	16	9	6
	£449	3	0

The balance (£16 9s. 6d.) will be held by Bro. Davis, and handed over to the Treasurer of the committee which is now in process of being formed for the purpose of maintaining the life-boat.

Several of the members of the late committee have intimated their intention of giving their services to the new movement, and a meeting has been arranged to take place on a Tuesday during this month for the purpose of constituting the new committee, elect Chairman, Treasurer, and Secretary, frame by-laws, &c.

The business of the evening having been completed, the Chairman was about to close the proceedings, when

Bro. Mortlock said, that before separating, he wished to propose a vote of thanks to Brothers Harris, Davis and Gottheil, for their services. This was seconded by Bro. Emmett, and carried nem. con.

Bro. Harris then formally dissolved the committee, and the brethren separated with mutual congratulations that their labours have so successfully terminated.

CONSECRATION of the ROYAL ALBERT CHAPTER, No. 907.

The ceremony of consecrating this chapter took place on Wednesday, the 4th inst., at the White Hart Tavern, Abchurch-lane, Cannon-street, Comp. J. Brett, G.D.C., being the consecrating officer. After the ceremony, Comp. J. Smith was installed as Z., Comp. J. Farnfield as H., and Comp. the Rev. — Vaughan as J.

Comps. J. Brett, W. Watson, and J. Terry received votes of thanks and honorary memberships for their services in the consecration and installation ceremonies. Several members of Lodge 907 were proposed for exaltation on the 25th inst. On the business being concluded, the companions adjourned to banquet.

There were present during the evening, besides those named, Comps. W. Farnfield (P.Z. 5), W. Platt (P.Z. 19), W. Bilby (who officiated as Org.), T. Allsopp (25), F. Walters, E. Harris, W. Smeed, T. W. White, &c.

BOOTS of the Period at BLAKEY'S, Lime-street Liverpool (under the Alexandra Theatre).—[Advt.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF WEST LANCASHIRE.

This large and important province held its annual meeting, by command of Sir Thomas George Fermor-Hesketh, Bart., M.P., R.W.P.G.M., at the Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool, on Wednesday, the 4th instant. For years the brethren within the West Lancashire province have increased both in numbers and influence, and a striking proof of this progress was afforded at this annual gathering. The attendance was by far the largest which has yet taken place, and the proceedings were unusually animated and interesting. The zeal and earnestness of the brethren were proved by the fact that the whole of the fifty-six lodges embraced in this division of the extensive province were represented, with three exceptions—the absentees being lodges Nos. 178, Wigan, for the second time; 950, Fleetwood; and 986, Croston—upon whom the usual penalties were imposed. The brethren numbered about 400, and in more than one instance the local lodges were represented by nearly twenty brethren. It was expected the Craft lodge would be opened about eleven o'clock, but fully an hour had elapsed after that time before the business of the day was commenced and the brethren had taken their seats.

Amongst the Masonic notabilia of the Grand and Provincial Grand Lodges present during the day were the following:—Bros. Sir Thomas George Fermor-Hesketh, Bart., M.P., R.W.P.G.M.; Lord Skelmersdale, W.D.P.G.M.; Hon. E. A. Stanley, P.S.G.W.; Brabner, as P.J.G.W.; Hamer, P.G.S.; White, P.J.G.D.; Alpass, P.G. Sec.; Wylie, P.G. Reg.; Ibbes, P.G.S.B.; Pickering, P.G. Purs.; Robert Wylie, P.G. Dir. of Cers.; Broadbridge, Rowson, Fowler, Johnson, and Sharrock, P.G. Stewards; Busher, P.G.S.B. of Eng.; Moore, G.S.B. of Eng.; Mott, P.P.G.S.D.; Bowes, P.P.G. Reg. Cumberland and Westmorland; Barker, P.G.T. of E.L.; Mawdsley, P.P.G. Reg.; Armstrong, P.P.J.G.D.; Laidlaw, P.P.G. Supt. of Works; Sherlock, P.P.G.R.; J. H. Johnston, P.P.G.S. Cheshire, W.M. 1350; F. Binckes, P.G.S.O. of Eng.; and W. A. Bowler, P.P.G.S.D. of Essex. Amongst the principals from the different lodges were: Bros. G. Turner, P.M. 86 and 823; J. Kelllett Smith, P.M. 249 and 1094; J. R. Goepel, P.M. 155 and 823; J. B. Robinson, P.M. 1013; Henry James, W.M. 203; Thos. Clarke, P.M. 594; W. Doyle, W.M. 724; W. Crane, P.M. 249 and 1299; T. Ashmore, P.M. 823; D. W. Winstanley, W.M. 1094; T. A. Lowe, P.M. 1013; H. Pearson, P.M. 594; Edwin Hughes, S.W. 249; R. Washington, 1094; Joseph Wood, 1094; T. K. Hughes, W.M. 1013; S. Lewis, S.W. 1013; J. Kenyon, J.W. 1013; Pickup, 1094; R. Denson, S.W. 1094; Brown, 241; J. Seller, W.M. 220; S. Haynes, P.M. 823; W. Richardson, W.M. 148; W. Woods, W.M. 1258; D. W. Finney, P.M. 148 and 1250; Jackson, 124; J. Pelham, W.M. 292; J. Platt, P.M. 613 and 1313; J. Holland, S.W. 823; J. Sillitoe, W.M. 605; J. C. Lunt, W.M. 1086; J. Banning, W.M. 343; J. Healing, P.M. 1264; R. Jones, W.M. 220; H. Nelson, W.M. 673; T. Clark, P.M. 673; E. Shaw, W.M. 680; C. H. Hill, W.M. 724; H. Pearson, W.M. 249; J. Lloyd, J.D. 249; E. T. Gee, W.M. 1021; M. Mawson, Sec. 1013; J. Pemberton, 249 and P.M. 1264; T. Dodgson, W.M. 995; W. Cottrell, S.D. 823; S. Cookson, P.M. 1182; R. Brown, J.D. 241; W. Archer, P.M. 1086; P. Pinnington, P.M. 249; H. Williams, P.M. 249 and 1264; J. W. Baker, W.M. 241; E. M. Sheldon, P.M. 1094; W. Hughes, W.M.

1013; J. Cobham, P.M. 241; R. H. D. Johnson, P.M. 1094; T. H. Hustwick, J.W. 292; G. R. Smith, Sec. 216; and J. B. Mackenzie, 349.

The Craft Lodge was opened in the first and raised to the third degree—Bros. Stoddart, No. 32, being W.M.; Richardson, 148, S.W.; James, 203, J.W.; R. Jones, 220, S.D.; and Baker, 241, J.D. After the lapse of some time, the Provincial Grand Officers entered the lodge-room and were received in due form and with appropriate music. The throne was then taken by the P.G.M., who proceeded at once to open his lodge with proper ceremonial and solemn prayer. "Behold how good" (an anthem of rare merit, by Bro. J. Skeaf, P.G.O., and well adapted for Masonic and other purposes, as it is arranged for male voices) was next sung by Bros. Haswell, Busfield, Evans, J. Jones, and T. J. Hughes, after which the business of the Grand Lodge was proceeded with.

The minutes of the preceding meeting and of the Committee of the Fund of Benevolence were read by the P.G. Sec., and unanimously confirmed.

Bro. Hamer, P.G. Treas., then presented his accounts, and stated that the balance now amounted to £1135 7s. 9d., of which £1000 was invested in the bank, and £135 7s. 9d. remained in his hands, which he should be happy to hand over to his successor as soon as he was appointed.

In accordance with previous notice, Bro. Hamer now resigned the position of P.G. Treasurer.

A vote of thanks was accorded to Bro. Hamer for the impartiality and integrity which had been shown by him during the many years he had held that office.

The lodge then proceeded to the election of P.G. Treas., and, after considerable discussion, a vote was taken, when Bro. Armstrong was declared duly elected P.G.T., and he briefly returned thanks for the honour conferred upon him.

It was agreed that the sum of twenty guineas be voted for the purpose of forming a nucleus for the presentation of a testimonial to Bro. Hamer, which might be added to by members of the Grand Lodge.

The R.W.P.G.M. next proceeded to invest the following Grand Officers for the ensuing year: Bros. the Rt. Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, W.D.P.G.M.; the Hon. F. Stanley, as P.G.S.W.; T. Wilson, P.G.J.W.; Rev. J. F. Goggin, P.G. Chap.; Thomas Wylie, P.G. Reg.; H. S. Alpass, P.G. Sec.; Robert Wylie, P.S.G.D.; James Pickering, P.J.G.D.; B. W. Rowson, P.G. Supt. of Works; G. Broadbridge, P.G.D.C.; J. W. J. Fowler, P.G.A.D.C.; R. Sharrock, P.G.S.B.; J. Skeaf, P.G. Org.; J. Boxendale, P.G. Purs.; Dr. Mercer Johnson, Captain of the Stewards; R. Robinson, J. W. Baker, G. De La Parelle, W. Doyle, J. Cocker, Stewards; W. Ball, G. Tyler; and P. Ball, A.G. Tyler.

The P.G. Sec. (Bro. Alpass) read the annual report, in which he congratulated the brethren on the progress and prosperity of Freemasonry in the province during the past year, which had been very satisfactory.

The report was unanimously confirmed.

Lord Skelmersdale, in accordance with his previously expressed intention, formally presented a set of very handsome silver consecration vessels, designed by Bro. Wylie, and executed by Messrs. Elkington.

Bro. R. H. D. Johnson said, as the brethren were doubtless aware, a Masonic lifeboat had recently been purchased and placed on a dangerous part of the coast, and the committee were now very anxious that sufficient funds should be procured for the maintenance of that lifeboat. The Grand Lodge had given £50 for that purpose, and as a member of the committee he now asked the P.G. Lodge to aid in the same noble undertaking.

It was unanimously agreed that £20 be given for the maintenance of the lifeboat.

Bro. G. Turner said a new Masonic hall was about to be erected in the town, and as it was highly desirable that it should be made worthy of the province—at all events, worthy of Liverpool—and as funds were required for the purpose, he proposed that the sum of £250 be granted from the funds of the P.G. Lodge.

Bro. Healing seconded the motion.

Bro. Alpass thought it hardly worthy of the Masons in Liverpool that they should ask their country brethren to assist them in the erection of a new hall.

Bro. J. B. Robinson pointed out that half of the lodges—or nearly the half of the lodges—in the province met in Liverpool, and therefore he considered the motion a perfectly proper one.

Bro. Cobham said he desired to repudiate any sympathy with the motion which had just been made.

Several country brethren spoke strongly against the grant, and Bro. Turner subsequently withdrew his motion.

Bro. T. Wylie moved, and Bro. Mott seconded, a proposition, which was agreed to, that the sum of £30 be given to the old men and women's Institution in London, in order that the P.G. Treas., P.G.S.D., and P.G.J.D. might be made Life Governors.

The Grand Lodge was next resolved into a Court of Governors of the West Lancashire Masonic Educational Institution, when Bro. A. C. Mott, P.P.G.S.D. and P.P.G.S.W., Hon. Sec., read the minutes of the meetings during the year, and presented the report, which showed a very considerable increase of the funds of the Institution.

After the transaction of some business, the Provincial Grand Lodge was resumed, and afterwards closed in proper form.

THE BANQUET

took place in the evening in the splendid hall of the hotel, and about 130 brethren sat down, under the presidency of the R.W.P.G.M., who was supported on each side by a goodly array of his officers. The banquet was of a high-class character, and admirably served, thanks to the care and attention of Bro. Rudd, manager of the hotel, and the arrangements were carried out with much success by Bros. Broadbridge, P.G.D.C., Dr. M. Johnson, S.G.S., and his willing coadjutors. After refreshment,

The R.W.P.G.M. gave, in happy terms, the toasts of "The Queen," and "Bro. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, M.W.P.G.M., the Princess of Wales, and the other members of the Royal Family."

Bro. the Hon. F. Stanley proposed "The Army, Navy, Militia, and Volunteers," which was responded to by Bro. Major Wilson. In the course of a lengthy speech, he referred to the efficiency and devotion of the volunteers, and spoke adversely of the provisions of the Army Regulation Bill, as likely to bring forward men who would be neither followed nor respected.

The combined toasts of "The Earl de Grey and Ripon, M.W.G.M.," and "The Earl of Carnarvon, M.W.D.G.M., and the other Officers of the Grand Lodge," were given by Sir Thomas Hesketh, who spoke of the invariable kindness, courtesy, and attention he had received from the G.M. in all his dealings with him. Very able assistance was rendered by Lord Carnarvon and the Grand Officers, upon whose zeal and application depended the welfare of the Masonic body at large. At no time had Masonic interests been in better hands than now, and it would be difficult to find gentlemen who were more able and willing to discharge their duties.

The toast was responded to by Bro. Moore, G.S.B., who said the executive officers discharged their duties with zeal and ability, and the honorary officers attended the Grand Lodge with exemplary regularity. As a proof of his earnestness, he stated that he had probably travelled 4,500 miles to attend the duties of the Grand Lodge, and he hoped in future to be able to show the same devotion. (Applause.)

Bro. Major Wilson, P.G.J.W., then proposed the toast of "Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Thomas George Fermor-Hesketh, Bart., M.P., R.W.P.G.M.," and characterised it as the most important on the list. Their P.G.M., he said, deserved the love and esteem of every Mason in Lancashire, and referred to the immense amount of time he devoted to the interests of Masonry. They also respected him as their representative in Parliament, as he stood up manfully for Queen, Church, and State. (Hisses.) They did not want Republicanism; they must have a man who would stand up for their Constitution, especially in these days, when it was so often assailed. (Renewed expressions of disapprobation.) They must know how dangerous it was to tamper with the Constitution of the country, and when they found such a man as Sir Thomas—

Bro. Morgan: I must protest against this. This is not a political meeting, and these subjects ought to be discussed here.

The R.W.P.G.M.: I am sure Bro. Wilson will confine himself to the business of the meeting.

Bro. Wilson, in a few additional sentences, submitted the toast, which was received with great cordiality.

The R.W.P.G.M., in reply, said he highly esteemed the way in which the toast had been received, and he could only regret that two or three of the brethren had felt aggrieved at some remarks which had fallen from Major Wilson, who, he was sure, had no intention of wounding the feelings of any one. He (Sir Thomas) had always endeavoured to promote the welfare and extension of Masonry, without reference to party or creed, and without the slightest political bias. So long as the province of West Lancashire remained under his guidance—and he trusted it would remain so as long as he lived—(great cheering)—the great object of his mind would be to do his duty to the best of his ability.

"Lord Skelmersdale, W.D.P.G.M., and the P.G. Wardens" (proposed by the P.G.M.), was responded to by Bro. the Hon. F. Stanley, P.G.S.W., in the unavoidable absence of Lord Skelmersdale.

The remaining toasts on the list were "The Provincial Grand Masters of the Adjoining provinces," given by the P.G.J.W.; "The Provincial Grand Officers, Past and Present," given in a lengthy speech by Bro. F. Binckes, and acknowledged by Bro. Armstrong, P.P.J.G.D., the newly-elected P.G. Treas., who, in referring to the contest of that day, said he freed those who had proposed and supported the other candidates from any personal antagonism to him; "The W. L. Masonic Educational Institution," proposed by the P.S.G.W., and acknowledged by Bro. Brabner, P.P.S.G.W., hon. solicitor to the Institution; "The Worshipful Masters of the lodges in the Province," given by Bro. Alpass, P.G. Sec., who referred with satisfaction to the fact that not a single complaint had been made during the year as to the working of any of the lodges. Bro. J. Skeaf, W.M. 216 and P.G.O., responded. The toast of "The P.G.O., the Musical Brethren, and the P.G. Stewards," proposed by Bro. R. Wylie, was acknowledged by Bros. Dr. Johnson, S.G.S., and Jones, P.M., "The Ladies," and "All Poor and Distressed Masons," were the remaining toasts.

The musical part of the evening's proceedings was of a specially interesting character, thanks to the excellent arrangements of Bro. J. Skeaf, P.G.O., assisted by Bros. Haswell, Busfield, Evans, D. Jones, P.M., J. Jones, T. J. Hughes, and Armstrong, P.P.J.G.D. and P.G. Treas.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF STAFFORDSHIRE.

The annual Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons for the province of Staffordshire was held in the Shire Hall, Stafford, on Tuesday. The attendance of brethren was more than ordinarily numerous, nearly 300 being present—the principal cause of this large gathering being the installation as Right Worshipful Grand Master of the province of the Right Hon. the Earl of Shrewsbury, who had been recently nominated to that distinguished position by the Marquis of Ripon, Grand Master of England.

The Provincial Grand Lodge was opened in the Grand Jury Room, about one o'clock, the Right Worshipful Bro. George Singleton Tudor, 236, Deputy-Provincial Grand Master, presiding. He was supported by the R.W.P.P.G.M. Lieut.-Colonel Vernon, the R.W.P.P.D.G.M. Foster Gough, LL.D.; the Rev. P.G. Chaplain J. Westbury, the Rev. P.P.G. Chaplain James Downes, Bro. W. Masefield, P.P.S.G.W. of Worcestershire, &c. The minutes of the last Prov. Grand Lodge were read by Bro. Cartwright, the P.G. Secretary, and the statement of accounts by Bro. W. Howells, the P.G. Treasurer, and adopted. Letters of apology were read from the Most Noble the Marquis of Ripon, Lord Combermere, Bro. Vine, the P.G. Treasurer of Worcestershire, and several other brethren.

Before vacating the presidential chair, which the D.P.G.M. has for several years filled to the entire satisfaction of his brethren, he feelingly acknowledged the kindness he had invariably received, and expressed the gratification he felt in giving way for their Grand Master nominate, the Earl of Shrewsbury, who, judging from what he had seen of him, would be largely instrumental in furthering Freemasonry in the province.

The R.W.P.P.G.M. Lieutenant-Colonel Vernon, who had been deputed by the Marquis of Ripon to perform the installation, in the absence of the D.G.M., the Earl of Carnarvon, then directed the R.W. Bro. George S. Tudor, the R.W. Bro. Foster Gough, several P.G. Masters, and four Stewards, to form a deputation to introduce the Grand Master nominate, who was received by the brethren standing, and saluted Masonically. The installation then took place, and the noble Earl was invested with the insignia of office, and subsequently took his seat in the chair of King Solomon, prayed being offered by the P.P.G. Chaplain, James Downes.

The noble Earl, who was again Masonically saluted, then thanked the brethren of the province for their cordial acceptance of himself on the nomination of the Grand Master of England. He could assure all present that he had not taken the office without considerable thought, and he would endeavour, with their assistance, and under the direction of the great Architect of the Universe, to perform its onerous duties efficiently. He had already received from the Masters of lodges in the province very kind congratulations, and he intended to visit every lodge as the commencement of his duties, and to take an early opportunity of working himself up as a Master of a lodge. They would excuse him if he said what they wanted throughout the province was uniformity of action, so that when the P.G.M. visited a lodge he might find the working in each to be similar. He should seek the assistance of the Deputy Grand Master and of others, who took an interest in Masonry; and he could not conclude without expressing how much he was indebted to the Deputy Grand Master for the assistance he had rendered him. From the admirable manner in which the D.G.M. had performed the duties of the province, he (the P.G.M.) had wished him on that occasion to nominate the officers, but as he declined to do so, he should himself act on the Deputy Grand Master's recommendation in their appointment.

The R.W.P.G. Master then proceeded to the appointment of his officers, whom he invested with their respective collars and jewels, accompanying each with some felicitous remark indicative of the duty he would have to discharge. They were as follows: The Right Worshipful Bro. George Singleton Tudor, Deputy Provincial Grand Master; Senior Grand Warden P.M. Edwin Yates, 482; Junior Grand Warden, P.M. George Sargeant, 418; Grand Chaplain, the Rev. J. Westbury, 418; Assistant Grand Chaplain, the Rev. Thomas Henry, 347; Grand Registrar, W.M. J. Pilling, 726; Provincial Grand Secretary, P.P.S.G.W. William Cartwright, 460; Senior Grand Deacon, P.M. Robert Robinson, 624; Junior Grand Deacon, P.M. Wm. Bayless, 539; Superintendent of Works, M.P. Alfred Caddick, 662; Director of Ceremonies, P.M. Samuel Hill, 546; Assistant Director of Ceremonies, P.M. Wm. Allen, 966; Prov. Grand Sword Bearer, P.M. Wm. Bindley, 1060; Grand Organist, P.M. B. Barlow, 966; Grand Pursivant, P.M. John Warner, 460; Grand Standard Bearer, P.M. John Myatt, 98. On the nomination of the R.W.P.P.D.G. Master, Bro. Foster Gough, seconded by the R.W.P.P.D.G. Master, Lieut.-Colonel Vernon, P.P.S.G.W. Bro. William Howells, 347, was re-appointed Grand Treasurer, and P.M. H. Baggaley, 460, was re-appointed Tyler for the 35th time.

Amongst the brethren present, in addition to those already named, were Earl Ferrers, 779, P.G.J.W., Leicestershire; Frederick Binckes, P.G.S., of the Stewards Lodge of England, and Secretary of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys; B. Brookes, P.M., Stourbridge, P.P.J.G.W.; Bro. Barstowe, P.M., P.P.G.S.W.; Bro. Westwood, P.M., P.P.G.J.W.; Tansley Witt, W.M. 173; a guest of the Earl of Shrewsbury; Chas. Matthews, 582, P.P.G.M.; Thomas Bragg, 74, P.P.G.S.D. Warwickshire; E. L. Bullock, 482, P.P.G.J.W.; George Spilsbury, P.M. 726, P.P.G.J.W.; Dr. J. D. Hewson, P.M. 726, P.P.G.J.D.; J. L. Warren, P.M. 726, P.P.G.R.; John Bodenham, 726, P.P.G.S.D.; H. Woodhouse, T. 726; F. A. Harrison, 1163, P.P.G.S.W.; James Rodgers, 418, P.P.G.J.D.; C. Newnham, 419, 526, P.P.G.S.W.; Henry Parker, 451, P.P.G.J.W.; Richard Mayger, 624, P.P.G.R.; Thomas Sneyd, 539, P.P.G.J.D.; J. Beaumont Piercy, 473, P.P.G.S. of Works; John Pursall, 1163, P.P.G.S.W.; S. Fenn, 473, P.P.G.S.W.; Charles Turner, P.M. 418, P.P.G.S.D.; W. R. Blair, P.M. 546, P.P.G.J.D.; C. F. Newman, P.M. 797, P.P.G.S.D.; Alfred Glover, 546, 460, P.P.G.S.W.; James F. Wileman, 546, P.P.G.J.D.; Charles Howard King, 460, P.P.G.J.D.; Wm.

Hargreaves, 460, P.P.G.S.W.; Clement Marsh, P.M., W.M. 460; Rev. R. Lomas Lowe, 726, P.P.G.C. Vancouver; George Baker, 451, P.P.G.S.W.; John Baker, 966, P.P.G.J.D.; J. S. Barber 1039, 794, P.P.G.R.; W. H. Folker, 451, P.P.G.R.; John Burrell, 546, P.P.A.D.C.; Ralph Dean, 98, P.P.G.A.D.C.; George Cooper, 456, P.P.G.P.; George Sargeant, 418, P.P.G.R.; W. H. Hales, P.M. 418, P.P.G.A.C.D.; Samuel Hyslop, P.M. 460, P.P.G.P.; G. M. Waring, W.M. 347, P.P.G.D.C.; S. Gibson, jun., 966, P.P.G.A.D.C.; Edwin Shargool, M.P. 726, P.P.G.O.; Thomas Mason, 460, P.P.G.O.; Edward Baguley, 419, P.P.G.P.; John Storer, P.M. 726, P.P.G.S.B.; W. Dibb, P.M. 726, P.P.G.S.B.; John Twiss, P.M. 480, P.P.G.O., Cheshire; G. Barlow, 533, P.G.O., Cheshire; Rev. W. Westall, 281, P.P.G.S.; E. A. Schuth, 482, P.P.G.S.B.; G. Blanshuall, 347, P.P.G.P.; J. Webberley, P.M. 546, P.P.G.P.; W. Shaw, 726, P.G.S.; F. Greatrex, 726, P.G.S.; George W. Hodgkinson, 726, P.G.S.; Sam. Yates, 726, P.G.S.; A. F. Whittome, 726, P.G.S.; H. Fairhead, 726, P.G.S.; E. T. Fernie, 726, P.G.S.; J. C. M'Clean, 1039, P.P.G.S.; W. Elkington, P.M. and T., 1039; Fred. Crabb, 1039; T. W. Crabb, J.D. 1039; John Warner, P.M. 469, 673; Charles Hickson, S. 460; George Barclay, I.G. 460; Thos. Bedmore, 439; Henry Bailey, I.G. 408; Edward Tildesley, P.M. 419; W. Allen, P.M. 966; J. C. Ball, P.M. 966; Lyons Wright, P.M. 419; Edwin Yates, P.M. 482; J. W. Whittome, P.M. 482; James Rider, W.M. 966; J. P. Denson, J.D. 966; G. Allen Smith, J.W. 966; James A. Deane, 966; John Barlow, 966; H. J. Johnson, 966; Thomas Tonkinson, W.M. 451; H. Smith, W.M. 1246; Chas. Round, P.M. 347; Thomas Stanford, S.W. 347; Thomas Powell, S.D. 347; James Senior, S.W. 726; Thomas Moore, S.D. 726; F. Dukes, S.W. 726; J. C. Marson, J.D. 726; J. T. Cox, S. 726; W. G. Gray, 726; M. Lewis Brown, 726; R. F. Stone, 726; Richard Heath, 726; J. C. Daniel, P.M. 418; Thomas Taylor, W.M. 418; Thos. Palmer, 418; John Beach, 347; Brabazon Wood Ellis, 451; Warwick Savage, S.W. 451; Taylor H. Tomkinson, J.W. 451; John Broomhall, P.M. 460; J. Walker, 460; H. Hyatt, 460; John Marshall, S.D. 460; W. Whitehouse, S.D. 347; W. M. Flewker, P.M. 526; Henry Lovatt, 526; G. Davids, 482; W. H. Darden, 347; Joseph Round, 347; J. Wilson 347; Charles E. Underhill, 347; Augustus Duckworth, 460; Adam Durant, 460; T. V. Cook, 419; W. H. Hayward, S.W. 887; Henry Stainsburgh, 1180; W. M. Glover, I.G. 419; T. B. Higginson, 419; Stephen J. Walker, S.W. 419; Joseph Plant, J.D. 419; R. H. Lowe, 419; H. Langman, 419; Thomas Hallows, S.W. 966; George Chell, 966; S. Nicklin, 347; Simeon Round, 543; J. T. Smith, 98; J. Prior, 1060; Richard Haynes, 460; J. Myatt, P.M. 98; J. H. Meredith, S.W. 624; Thomas Beach, 347; Thomas Harvey, C. 347; Benjamin Miller, 347; Richard Sudbury, 726; James Taylor, S.W. 696; Arthur Beddoe, I.G. 699; Thomas Hitchen, W.M. 696; Thomas Turner, 546; Frederick Mather, J.W. 696; W. Bayliss, P.M. 539; Richard Tooth, S.D. 637; T. Whittles, P.M. 966; T. H. Griffiths, 546; Jas. M. Darwin, 546; W. Bindley, P.M. 1060; P. Hodgson, 966; W. Bentley, S.D. 98; A. G. Irwin, S.W. 546; C. A. Pearce, 941; G. O. Cartwright, D.C. 560; J. Waterson, S.W. 482; T. Cook, jun., J.D. 1060; W. J. M'Neal, S.D. 546; T. Gilbert, J.W. 1016; S. Bennett, 98; W. C. Thomas, P.M. 539; W. R. Betteley, S.D. 482; W. H. Hammersley, I.G. 966; Samuel Hughes, 966, P.M. 726; J. G. Bakewell, W.M. 546; Benjamin Love, S.W. 539; Charles Drigg, W.M. 1037; Thomas Till, 546; J. Nixon, 546; H. Price, 482; S. Smith Dorsett, 539; T. Mount Humphries, 539; Thomas Rowley, 539; James Symons, W.M. 539; C. Bill, P.M. 539; F. S. Wright, W.M. 546; F. Garner, Tyler 347; W. Marshall, S.W. 1039; H. Burton, 1039; F. Turton, P.M. 526; James Hay, 456; W. Johnstone, 460; J. L. Gibbons, S.D. 1060; W. Footman, S.D. 353; R. Robinson, P.M. 624; John Upton, P.M. 624; E. Storey, W.M. 624; J. Barclay, 524; Arthur Barnes, 1039; John Owen, 1039; A. Shemmonds, 1039; Thomas Nicholls, 539; W. H. Poole, 482; F. Nicklin, 460; Arthur R.

Britten, P.M. 601; W. Colenso, T. 601; J. W. Thomas, P.M. 637; Jabez Smith, 637, 546; H. E. Morley, P.M. 637; R. Bindley, W.M. 1060; W. Snelson, S.W. 637; W. Jackson, J.W. 637; Thomas Brettell, S.W. 252; James Bunkle, 482; B. H. Brough, I.G. 546; C. B. Allerton, 546; James Norton, 1060; F. A. Ryles, W.M. 98; Thomas Redfern, S.W. 533; J. Jacobs, P.M. 482; H. G. Quilter, J.W. 1246; John Hutton, W.M. 1060, 473; James Rowley, 539; Joseph Waterhouse, 654; N. Noyce Sec., 726; T. L. Brough, P.S. 726; &c., &c.

Immediately after the appointment of officers, the Grand Lodge was adjourned, and the brethren, who were marshalled in proper order, walked in procession to St. Mary's Church, preceded by the P.G. Sword Bearer, the "Book of the Law" being carried, as usual, by four sons of Free and Accepted Masons. The noble edifice was filled throughout, and amongst the worshippers were the Countess of Shrewsbury and other members of his lordship's family. Prayers were read by the Rev. T. Henry, of St. Mark's Tipton, Assistant Grand Chaplain, and the Rev. Lomas Lowe, of Bradley; the first lesson by the Rev. W. Westall, of St. Paul's, Forebridge; and the second by the Rev. James Downes, of Stonnall, P.P.G.C. The sermon was preached by the Rev. J. Westbury, vicar of Hartshill, the P.G. Chaplain, from the 37th verse of the 37th Psalm, "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace." It was described as an admirable discourse—brief, but full of weighty truth—entirely Masonic, whilst Christian duties were strongly enforced. Bro. Shargool, organist of St. Mary's, presided at the organ with its usual ability, and his selection was warmly commended by the noble P.G.M. at a subsequent part of the day. The collection amounted to £18 15s., and on the return of the brethren to the Grand Lodge this sum was made up to £21, and divided in the following manner:—To the rector of St. Mary's for the parochial schools, £5 5s.; to the Rev. J. Westbury for his schools at Hartshill, £5 5s.; and five guineas each to the funds of the Staffordshire General and North Staffordshire Infirmarys. These votes having been carried in the usual manner amongst Masons, and an acknowledgment offered by the Grand Master to the P.G. Chaplain for his sermon, the Grand Lodge was closed.

THE BANQUET.

was served at 4 o'clock in the Assembly Room of the Shire Hall, which had been tastefully decorated. The tables were admirably arranged for the convenience of the guests, 201 of whom were comfortably seated, the noble Earl, as R.W.P.G.M., occupying a seat in the centre, on the west side of the hall. The sumptuous character of the repast was considerably enhanced by a magnificent collection of choice fruits and flowers from the gardens of the noble President, which were arranged with much taste and to admirable advantage by Mr. Phipps, of Ingestre, his lordship's gardener. The dinner was served by Bro. James Senior, of the Swan and Vine Hotels, and it may be sufficient to say that every one was pleased and satisfied. His lordship was supported on the right by the R.W.D.G.M., Bro. Tudor, and the R.W.P.P.D.G.M., Dr. Foster Gough; and on the left by Bro. the Earl of Ferrers, and the R.W.P.P.G.M., Lieut.-Colonel Vernon, together with several of the principal past and present officers of the province. On the removal of the "creature comforts" which had been provided, Non Nobis Dominie was sung, Bros. Edmondson, of Stockport, and Dumville and Standen, of the Cathedral, Manchester; immediately after which the R.W.P.G. Master proposed "The health, the better health, of her Majesty the Queen," which was drunk standing, followed by the Masonic version of the National Anthem.

The R.W.P.G.M., the Earl of Shrewsbury, again rose and proposed "The health of P.G.M. his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, the Princess of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family." As regarded the Prince of Wales, his Royal Highness, he said, had proved himself a good Mason, while the Princess had endeared herself to every English heart. (The toast was very warmly received.)

The R.W.P.G.M., in proposing "The health of the M.W.G.M., the Marquis of Ripon," said he need hardly remind them as Masons that obedience and loyalty were due to the head of the Craft. They must all deeply regret the absence of the most noble and most worshipful Marquis, but knowing that a period of rest was necessary for him, as a member of the Government, after the long and arduous labours of the past Session, they would cordially excuse him. He had known the Marquis from childhood, and formed a cordial friendship with him, and the noble Marquis's nomination of him as their P.G.M. had caused him the greatest gratification. He believed that the M.W.G.M. was thoroughly permeated with the principles of Masonry—friendship, obedience, and fidelity—and the Craft ought to be indeed proud of having so eminent a man at their head. With the toast he would couple the name of the M.W.D.G.M. the Earl of Carnarvon, and the officers of Grand Lodge, including their respected brother, the R.W.P.P.G.M. Col. Vernon. (Loud applause.) The noble earl, he might say, was also a valued friend of his, and one of the proudest moments of his life was when he saw his patent bearing the signatures of his lordship and the Marquis of Ripon.

The toast was warmly drunk, and the R.W.P.P.G.M., Col. Vernon, on rising to respond, was received with enthusiastic cheering. He said the names of the M.W.G.M. and his Deputy were sacred, and no one could respond for them. On behalf of the officers of the Grand Lodge, he might say that no body of men were more anxious to perform their duties. Col. Vernon then proceeded, amid loud cheering, to propose "The health of the R.W.P.G.M., the Earl of Shrewsbury." They had all, he observed, seen how the P.G.M. worked the P.G.L. that day, and from his kindness of manner and his thorough grasp of detail, they must all have said to themselves, "Here is the man for us." (Hear, hear.) Before he became a Mason, their R.W. brother showed how thoroughly he was imbued with some of the best principles of the Craft—charity and philanthropy—and now that he had obtained high honours among them, his earnest desire was to prove himself worthy of them. (Applause.) The best interests of the Craft were now in good hands, and he trusted that their R.W.P.G.M. might long live to preside over them. (The toast was drunk with much enthusiasm.)

The R.W.P.G.M., the Earl of Shrewsbury, whose rising was the signal for a renewed burst of cheering, said he felt that that day was an important era in his existence. He had not accepted the responsible office of their P.G.M. without careful enquiry as to what were its duties, and whether with his other varied engagements he could efficiently discharge them. Having decided in the affirmative, he accepted, but with diffidence, the proud position which was offered him. In these days of work, if a man aspired to any commendation among his neighbours, he must be determined to live a life, not of pleasure and idleness, but of real hard work. (Hear, hear.) In the position he had by their kindness been placed, he trusted to be able to assist them in carrying out great and good works, and to show the world that Masonry was not a mere social club but a great power for good. (Loud applause.) He had made it his business to glance over the reports of many of their Masonic charities, and he believed that the Masonic School of Boys and that for Girls ranked among the grandest Institutions of the kingdom. (Renewed applause.) No community was so ready as Masons to stretch out a friendly hand to the widow and orphan, and he could not but regard as one of the safeguards of the Constitution of a free country like this, the existence of a society which, revering all that was good and rejecting all that was bad, bound together its members in the ties of truth and fidelity. (Applause). After a few remarks on the importance of a feeling of unity between the various lodges, the P.G.M. went on to propose the health of the R.W.D.P.G.M., G. S. Tudor, of his services to the Craft he spoke in the highest terms, and who, he said, ought to have occupied the position which he (the P.G.M.) then held. From the moment, however, that he communicated with Bro. Tudor respecting his appointment, he had received nothing but the greatest kindness and courtesy, and the most valuable advice. Further alluding to a subject which he had mentioned in Grand Lodge, the R.W.P.G.M. reiterated his intention of visiting the various lodges, in company with the R.W.P.D.G.M., with the view of making himself thoroughly acquainted with the work of Masonry, and promoting uniformity of action. So far as lay with him, Masonry should not remain stagnant. (Loud applause). Alluding to the sermon preached at church by the P.G.C. Westbury, the R.W.P.G.M. observed that their rev. brother had said in twelve minutes what it would have taken some rev. gentlemen an hour to deliver. (Hear, hear.) In this brief but edifying and most true and honest discourse Bro. Westbury had fully set forth the principles of Masonry, and he should like to see the sermon in print, and a copy attached to the by-laws of every lodge. (Hear, hear.) (The health of the R.W.D.P.G.M. was then drunk with great cordiality.)

The R.W.P.D.G.M. Tudor, in acknowledging it, gave expression to the earnest desire to discharge his duties efficiently which had always actuated him, and his gratitude to them for their invariable kindness, and especially to P.G.S. Cartwright and the P.D.G.M.'s Dr. Gough and Dr. Burton for the invaluable advice they had from time to time given him.

Briefly, but happily, the P.D.G.M. then proposed the health of the P.P.G.M., Col. Vernon, under whose reign, he said, Freemasonry had flourished. Since then dark clouds had overshadowed them, but now they were scattered, and the sun was shining brightly upon them, but whether in adversity or prosperity, the Freemasons of Staffordshire would always entertain feelings of the greatest respect and regard for their R.W. Bro. Col. Vernon. (The toast was enthusiastically received.)

The R.W.P.P.G.M. Col. Vernon, in acknowledging the compliment, said they would allow him to say that he thought he deserved it. (Laughter and applause.) He had served the province faithfully and well, and their approbation was to him a full reward. He was glad to see that they had not forgotten the old man, and he could assure them that although he no longer lived among them, he still took the same honest and hearty interest in their welfare which he always did. (Loud applause.) He thought they would bear him witness that his rule, though firm, was not unkindly. (Hear, hear.) While it existed, he had as his right-hand men Bro. Ward, of Newcastle, Dr. Burton, and Dr. Gough, who rendered him invaluable assistance, and during his involuntary absences executed his orders with zeal and fidelity. It therefore gave him the greatest pleasure to propose their health. (Loud applause.)

The R.W.P.D.G.M., Dr. Foster Gough, in acknowledging the toast, assured the brethren that his partial retirement from the active duties of Masonry had been solely caused by the necessity of taking some relaxation, and that his desire to promote the best interests of the Craft continued as great as ever.

P.P.S.G.W. the P.G.S. Wm. Cartwright, in proposing the health of the P.G.C., J. Westbury, hoped that the happy brevity which had distinguished the rev. gentleman's sermon would be imitated by every minister of the Church of England. (Loud applause.)

P.G.C. Westbury briefly acknowledged the toast.

The R.W.D.P.G.M. Tudor proposed "The P.G.W. and Officers of P.G. Lodge," coupling with the toast the name of S.G.W. Bro. Yates, who, in acknowledging it, said the St. James's Lodge, Handsworth, of which he was a member, had very properly viewed his nomination to the office of S.G.W. as an honour conferred upon them.

The R.W.G.M. the Earl of Shrewsbury proposed "The Visitors." He regretted the absence of several distinguished friends, who had been invited, but congratulated the company on the presence of Earl Ferrers, the G.M. of the Ivanhoe and Ashby-de-la-Zouch Lodge. He was sure that though one part of his noble friend's heart belonged to Leicestershire, the other belonged to Staffordshire. In addition to Earl Ferrers, the R.W.G.M. coupled with the toast the name of Bro. Witt, who, his lordship humorously stated, had been professionally engaged in auditing his accounts, and had enabled him to come to that banquet with a clear conscience.

Bro. Earl Ferrers and Bro. Witt briefly acknowledged the toast, the noble earl observing that though he was a Mason of Leicestershire he was proud to be a native of Staffordshire.

Bro. Bristow, of Worcester, also responded.

P.S. W. Yates proposed the health of the P.G.T. and the P.G.S., to the great value of whose services he bore warm testimony.

The toast was briefly acknowledged by P.G.T. Howells and P.G.S. Cartwright.

"The Masonic Charities" was given by P.J.W. G. Sargeant, and was acknowledged in an excellent speech by Bro. Binckes.

The R.W.D.P.G.M., Dr. Foster Gough, in a happy speech, proposed "The Ladies," which was acknowledged by Bro. J. C. Marson.

The R.W.P.G.M., the Earl of Shrewsbury, proposed "The Stewards," coupling with it the name of Bro. Joyce, to whose able services, he said, they were deeply indebted. His lordship also connected with the toast the name of Bro. Senior, of whose catering he deservedly spoke in high terms. At the same time he warmly thanked P.P.G.O. Shargool for the admirable manner in which he conducted the musical service at church.

Bro. Joyce having responded, Bro. Senior sang, in admirable style, "Beautiful Venice," and the Tyler's toast having been given by Wm. Dibb P.P.G.S.B., the brethren separated, after singing the National Anthem.

The musical performances were under the direction of Bro. Barlow, P.G. Organist, who was kindly assisted by Bro. Twiss, the W.P.P.G.O. of Cheshire.

P o e t r y .

L I G H T .

BY WILLIAM PITT PALMER.

[From the Freemason, St. Louis, U.S.A.]

[Pronounced by one of the most eminent critics in Europe to be the finest production of the same length in our language.]

From the quickened womb of the primal gloom,
The sun rolled bleak and bare,
Till I wove him a vest for his Ethiop breast,
Of the threads of my golden hair:
And when the broad tent of the firmament
Arose on its airy bars,
I pencilled the hue of the matchless blue
And spangled it round the stars.

I painted the flowers of Eden bowers
And their leaves of living green,
And mine were the dyes in the sinless eyes
Of Eden's virgin queen.
And when the fiend's art on the trustful heart,
Had fastened its mortal spell,
In the silvery sphere of the first-born tear
To the trembling earth I fell.

When the waves that burst o'er a world accursed
Their work of wrath had sped,
And the Ark's lone few, the tried and true,
Came forth amongst the dead,
With the wondrous gleams of my bridal beams
I bade their terrors cease,
As I wrote on the roll of the storm's dark scroll
God's covenant of Peace.

Like a pall at rest on a senseless breast,
Night's funeral shadow slept—
When shepherd swains, on Bethlehem's plains,
Their lonely vigils kept—
When I flashed on their sight the heralds bright
Of Heaven's redeeming plan,
As they chanted the morn of a Saviour born—
Joy, joy to the outcast man!

Equal favour I show to the lofty and low,
On the just and unjust I descend;
E'en the blind, whose vain spheres roll in darkness and tears,
Feel my smile, the best smile of a friend;
Nay, the flower of the waste by my love is embraced
As the rose in the garden of kings,
At the chrysalis bier of the worm I appear,
And, lo! the gay butterfly wings.

The desolate Morn, like a mourner forlorn,
Conceals all the pride of her charms,
Till I bid the bright hours chase the night from her flowers
And lead her young day to her arms!
And when the gay rover seeks Eve for his lover
And sinks to her balmy repose,
I wrap the soft rest by the zephyr-fanned west,
In curtains of amber and rose!

From my sentinel sleep by the night-dreaded deep
I gaze with unslumbering eyes,
When the cynosure star of the mariner
Is blotted from out the skies!
And guided by me through the merciless sea,
Though sped by the hurricane's wing,
His compassless, dark, lone, weltering bark
To the haven home safely he brings.

I waken the flowers in their dew-spangled bowers,
The birds in their chambers of green,
And mountain and plain glow with beauty again,
As they bask in the manual sheen.
Or, if such the glad worth of my presence on earth,
Though fretful and flecting the while,
What glories must rest on the home of the blest,
Ever bright with the Deity's smile!

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending October 21, 1871.

The Editor will be glad to have notice from Secretaries of lodges and chapters of any change in place or time of meeting.

MONDAY, OCT. 16.

Quarterly Meeting Boys' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 12.
Lodge 21, Emulation, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street.
" 58, Felicity, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
" 185, Tranquillity,
" 720, Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham.
" 862, Whittington, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
" 901, City of London, Guildhall Coffee House.
" 907, Royal Albert, Freemasons' Hall.
" 1201, Eclectic, Freemasons' Hall.
Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem
Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro.
James Terry, Preceptor.
Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern,
Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern-
Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Swan
Tavern, Mount-street, Grosvenor-square, at 8.
Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30; Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship
Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern,
Deptford, at 8; Bro. Dilley, Preceptor.
St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun
Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, OCT. 17.

Board of General Purposes, Freemasons' Hall, at 3.
Lodge 73, Mount Lebanon, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark.
" 95, Eastern Star, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 435, Salisbury, 71, Dean-street, Soho.
Chap. 11, Enoch, Freemasons' Hall.
" 19, Mount Sinai, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
" 186, Industry, Freemasons' Hall.
Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, Preceptor.
Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom
Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro.
T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G.
Baker, Preceptor.
Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel,
Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall,
William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.
Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, Gladstone Tavern, Bishopsgate-street Within, at 7.30; Bro. Bolton (W.M.
1227), Preceptor.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 18.

General Committee Grand Chapter, at 3.
Lodge of Benevolence, Freemasons' Hall, at 6.
Lodge 30, United Mariners, George Htl., Aldermanbury.
" 140, St George's, Trafalgar Hotel, Greenwich.
" 174, Sincerity, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street.
" 619, Beadon, Greyhound Hotel, Dulwich.
" 700, Nelson, Masonic Hall, Woolwich.
" 1044, New Wandsworth, Spread Eagle Tav., New Wandsworth.
Chap. 217, Stability, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, Kentish Town, at 8;
Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch
Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7½.
Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Landus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, OCT. 19.

House Committee Girls' School, at 4.
Lodge 49, Gihon, Guildhall Coffee House, Gresham-st.
" 55, Constitutional, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-st.
" 169, Temperance, White Swan Tavern, Deptford.
" 179, Manchester, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
" 181, Universal, Freemasons' Hall.
" 733, Westbourne, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood.
" 1139, South Norwood, South Norwood Hall.
" 1287, Great Northern, Great Northern Htl., King's Cross.
Chap. 79, Pythagorean, Ship Hotel, Greenwich.
The R.A. Chapter of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor. Ceremony, illustrations of banners and ensigns, part sections.

Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses, Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern,
Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.

FRIDAY, OCT. 20.

House Committee Boys' School.
Lodge 143, Middlesex, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street.
" 813, New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton.
" 975, Rose of Denmark, White Hart, Barnes.
Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Htl.,
Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33,
Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Muggerridge, Preceptor.
Robert Burns Lodge of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air, street, Regent-street, at 8; Bro. Wm. Watson, Preceptor.
St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J.
Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion,
Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
Burdett Coutis Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach
Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 7.30; Bro.
John Saunders, Preceptor.
Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West
Smith, Preceptor.

SATURDAY, OCT. 21.

Audit Committee Boys' School.
Lodge 1297, West Kent, Forest Hill Hotel, Lewisham.
" 1329, Sphinx, Stirling Castle Tavern, Church-st., Camberwell.
Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby,
New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. J. Comb, Preceptor.
Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 7.30; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.

SMALL-POX, FEVERS, AND SKIN DISEASES.—
The predisposition to is prevented by Lamplough's Pyretic Saline. Vitalising and invigorating, its effects are remarkable in their cure and prevention. Take it as directed.
Sold by chemists and the maker, H. Lamplough, 113,
Holborn-hill.—[Advt.]

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Hereditary diseases are never more likely to develop their existence and to display their intensity, than during the autumnal months. It should therefore be known that the tendency to particular ailments transmitted from parent to child exercises a wild influence in producing diseases remediable by these preparations. Few persons are free from hereditary predispositions; consumption, gout, and scrofulous disorders are from this cause ever present, and yearly rob us of our dearest treasures. Holloway's Ointment and Pills have the power of removing from the blood the morbid qualities in which lie the essence of all hereditary diseases, and not only do they cleanse the blood, but purify every living tissue throughout the frame.—[Advt.]

Every Person requiring an OUTFIT should send for

“THE OUTFITTER:”

PUBLISHED AND FORWARDED FREE BY

GANN, JONES & Co.,

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURING OUTFITTERS.

For Military Outfits, estimates, &c. ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Shirts of all descriptions ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Naval " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Hosiery and Underclothing ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Civil Service " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Rugs and Umbrellas ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for the Traveller ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Waterproof Clothing ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for the Emigrant ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Tropical " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for Lads going to School ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Canadian " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for Lads going to Sea ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Cricketing " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for an Apprentice ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Collars, Shirt-fronts, Wristbands... see THE OUTFITTER.
For the New Books of the Quarter ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Gann, Jones & Co.'s Sewing Machines see THE OUTFITTER.
For Routes to principal parts of the World ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For the New Machine, "The Lady" (£2 15s.) ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Distances, Passenger Rates, &c., to ditto... see THE OUTFITTER.		For the leading Machines of all Makers ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Cricketing and Athletic Reports for the Quarter, see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Leading Manufacturers ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Prices of Gentlemanly yet Economic Dress ... see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Enterprising Tradesmen ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Prices of the Very Best Shirts ... see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Good Schools ... see THE OUTFITTER.

Depot, 171, FENCHURCH STREET. Manufactory, 15 and 16, BLOMFIELD STREET, E.C.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGES
REVIEWS ... ..	651
PROV. GRAND LODGE OF DERBYSHIRE ...	651 & 652
PROV. GRAND LODGE OF CUMBERLAND AND WESTMORLAND ... ..	652
PROV. G. LODGE OF N. & E. YORKSHIRE	652 & 653
THE CRAFT ... ..	653
MARK MASONRY ... ..	653
THE "OBSERVER" AND THE CRAFT ... ..	654
ILLUSTRATIONS OF THE HISTORY OF THE CRAFT ... ..	655 & 656
ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE ... ..	656 & 657
PROV. GRAND K.T. CONCLAVE FOR DEVON ...	657
THE FAIR SEX AND ADOPTIVE MASONRY ...	657
LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE ... ..	658
THEATRICAL ... ..	658
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ...	658 & 659
ADVERTISEMENTS ... ..	649, 650, 659, & 660

Reviews.

Freemasonry; What it is not, and what it is. By Bro. the Rev. P. H. NEWNHAM, M.A., Rector of Frome Vauchurch, P.P.G. Chaplain Dorset, &c. London: R. Spencer, Great Queen-street.

To the historian of the Lodge of Hengist, No. 195, we are again indebted for an interesting and suggestive contribution to Masonic literature. In common with the increasing number of intellectual men in our ranks, Bro. Newnham feels that the stereotyped platitudes put forth respecting the moral advantages of the Craft are not convincing proofs to intelligent minds of its utility and importance. Nevertheless, we are not prepared to agree with all the conclusions of the reverend author. Even on the principle that the man who causes a blade of grass to grow where none had previously existed, is a benefactor to his race, we hold that the good achieved by an institution like Freemasonry constitutes one of its chief titles to our regard, and, beyond question, greater good, and upon a more comprehensive scale, can be accomplished by organized and united action, than by the desultory efforts of individuals, however well intended. From the presence of certain archaisms in our ritual, as well as from some of the observances of Masonry, Bro. Newnham argues that "the true light in which we ought to regard these symbols is, that they are, so to speak, the original root-words of that one grand universal heart-language of aspiration, adoration, and worship, which God seems to have implanted, as a necessary instinct, in the bosom of man, His last and highest work;" and expresses the conviction, that "he is the true Mason at heart who attends his lodge as a duty; who comports himself, when in lodge, as one who is discharging a duty and who is assisting in the carrying on of a great work; and who, when the matter is brought before him, is ready to believe, and to rejoice in the belief, that this our Institution in an heirloom of God's handiwork in the hearts of our forefathers; that it embodies a summary of His scheme for the moral education of the world; that it has preserved, in a peculiar manner, the archives of the growth of religious thought in the human species." This is a really grand conception of the Masonic scheme, and deserves grave and thoughtful study. For practical purposes, however, we would advocate an earnest and thorough performance of the duties which press home to the heart and life of every sentient being, in preference, even, to the enunciation of the loftiest theories. We say not this to detract from the merits of Bro. Newnham's investigations, but merely to vindicate the teachings of the Order, and we trust that every brother will remember that one of its principal objects is to lessen the aggregate of human misery and vice. Bro. Newnham does not, however, pursue vague theory, as his past career will abundantly testify, and the fact that this little work is published for the benefit of the Masonic Charities, is another proof of his sympathy with the practical aims of the Order.

We have great pleasure in welcoming as one of our exchanges a new and promising periodical — the Freemason's Repository, published at Providence, Rhode Island, and of which the first number has reached us. It is exceedingly rich in choice extracts, one of which so completely tallies with our own views, that we do not hesitate to "annex" it:—

"Masonry has a literature that has come down to us along the ages, gathering to itself, century by century, and year by year, still rarer gems of thought and science and knowledge, until to-day, in this advanced age of progression and learning, we can point to the literature of Masonry as not a whit behind the progressive wisdom of the nineteenth century. Were Masonry simply a charitable society, whose only attraction consists in well conferred degrees, is it to be supposed for an instant, that this alone would have presented attractions sufficient to bind to the Order the wise and learned men of the whole world and of every age? No! Were this all there was of Masonry it never could have withstood the ruthless current of time that has swept into oblivion systems, dynasties, and institutions, some of them as ancient as herself. It is because possessed of other virtues that it has come down to us hoary with age, in imperishable strength and silent grandeur, like the adamant foundations of earth itself. And this attractive virtue is to be found in its literature! The wise who have sought its shrine and penetrated its arcana, have been surprised at its fulness, the depth, the beauty of its science. The moral and religious have lingered with pleasurable emotions over the wealth of virtuous precept and example there taught. The philanthropist receives therefrom a stimulant to greater exertions for the amelioration of mankind. The scientific, the antiquarian and sage, who enter the temple of Masonic literature find there a rare and inexhaustible intellectual feast. To those, then, who have heretofore considered the acme of Masonry to consist in its charities and the polished workings of its degrees, we recommend that their intention be turned to its literature, as the substance of Masonry, while the workings of the lodge are but its forms. Read, and study it, then—it will ennoble and polish the man, and fit the mind as a living stone for a place in the great Temple of Souls.

'Literature—serene Philosophy—
Effusive source of evidence and truth!
Without thee what were unenlightened man?
A savage, roaming through the woods and wilds,
Rough clad, devoid of every finer art
And elegance of life.'

We have also received Loomis's Musical and Masonic Journal, of New Haven, Connecticut, a well-written and very interesting magazine. We were somewhat amused, however, to find in the September number an article on "Freemasonry and Politics," which is cleverly compiled from one of our own on French Masonry, the disguise, although skillful, being still rather transparent. Need we add that we feel flattered, and hasten to assure our excellent friend Loomis that he is welcome to use our leaders in any manner that seemeth unto him best. We wish his periodical every success.

THE General Grand Conclave of Knights Templar of the United States met at Baltimore, Maryland, on the 19th ult., and subsequent days. Nearly five thousand delegates from the various State encampments and subordinate commanderies attended, and the scene was one of great interest to the citizens. The whole of the knights marched in review order through the streets, and great enthusiasm prevailed.

BREAKFAST.—EPSS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled—"JAMES EPSS & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, London." Also, makers of Epps's Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk).—[Advt.]

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF DERBYSHIRE.

The annual meeting of the members of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Derbyshire was held in the Assembly Rooms, Derby, on Tuesday afternoon last week, but the attendance was considerably below the average. The lodge was opened in due form at two o'clock, by Bro. H. C. Okeover, D.P.G.M., prayer being offered by Bro. the Rev. A. A. Bagshawe, Vicar of Wormhill, Rural Dean of Buxton, and Provincial Grand Chaplain.

The minutes of the previous Grand Lodge (held at Ashborne) were read and confirmed. The Worshipful Masters of the Craft lodges in the province presented their reports, from which it appeared that Masonry is making steady progress. The report of the Masonic Hall Committee was read and confirmed. The importance of increased support being given to the charitable institutions of the Order was brought prominently before the members by the Prov. G. Chaplain, who made an earnest appeal for the Boys' School, Wood Green, London. After an interesting discussion, it was unanimously resolved, amidst considerable applause, that the Prov. Grand Lodge should make Bro. Okeover, D.P.G.M., a Vice-President of the Boys' School. It was also suggested that at the future meetings of the Prov. Grand Lodge the members should follow the example of other provinces, and attend Divine service at church, a collection to be made in aid of the Masonic Charities.

On the motion of Bro. H. Carson, P.P.G.J.W., seconded by Bro. Hewitt, P.P.G.S.W., Bro. Thomas Cox, P.P.G.S.W., was unanimously elected Prov. G. Treas. The D.P.G.M. then proceeded to appoint and invest the following brethren as his Grand Officers for the year ensuing: Bros. F. Campion, P.S.G.W.; S. Foulds, P.J.G.W.; Rev. A. A. Bagshaw, P.G.C.; T. Cox, P.G.T.; S. Taylor, P.G.R.; W. Naylor, P.G.S.; G. T. Wright, P.G.S.D.; R. A. Grundy, P.G.J.D.; G. H. Sheffield, P.G.S. of W.; R. R. Duke, P.G.D. of C.; T. R. Gee, P.A.G.D. of C.; R. S. Potts, P.G.S.B.; W. H. Marsden, P.G.O.; J. Worsnop, P.G.P.; P. Hammond, P.G.S.B.; T. Slinn, P.G.T. Stewards: Bros. T. Hall, E. Ward, F. H. Witton, J. H. Warner, J. W. Webster, J. M. Moore.

The lodge was closed at 3.30 in form, after solemn prayer.

The following, amongst others, were present at the Provincial Grand Lodge:—Bros. H. C. Okeover, as P.G.M.; T. Cox, as D.P.G.M.; A. Hillam, P.S.G.W.; R. Darwin, P.J.G.W.; Rev. A. A. Bagshaw, P.G.C.; Henry Turner, P.G.R.; William Naylor, P.G.S.; E. B. Knobel, P.S.G.D.; John Vertigans, P.G.A.D. of C.; Joseph Pegg, P.G.S.B.; W. H. Burton, P.G.P.; William Webb, P.G.S.B.; L. L. Simpson, P.G. Steward; T. L. Gentles, P.G. Steward; Thomas Slinn, Tyler; James Crossley, P.P.S.G.W.; Thomas Horsley, P.P.S.G.W.; Wm. M. Hewitt, P.P.S.G.W.; Hy. Carson, P.P.J.G.W.; J. Farnsworth, P.P.J.G.D.; F. Iliffe, P.P.G.D. of C.; W. Giles, P.P.G.S. of W.; R. Waite, P.P.G.S. of W.; J. H. Casson, P.P.G.O.; R. A. Grundy, W.M. 625; J. C. Gribble, W.M. 731; Samuel Taylor, W.M. 654; John Varley, P.M. 506; W. H. Marsden, 253; J. Allen, 1324; J. M. Moore, 1085; Charles Humphreys, 731; J. McAdam, 654; Edmund Grindred, 654; J. M. Ritchie, 731; Fitzherbert Wright, 1324; F. H. Witton, 731; J. C. Merry, 731; F. Campion, P.P.G.P.; G. T. Wright, P.M. 731; R. R. Duke, W.M. 1235; G. Haslehurst, W.M. 681; R. P. Cooke, W.M. 787; J.

Howell, W.M. 850; Philip Klitz, P.M. 1235; James Britton, P.M. 850; P. J. Hammond, 253; J. W. Fearn, S.W. 681; Edward Mills, 731; J. H. Warner, 731; Samuel Whitehead, 654; Joseph Hibbert, 654; J. R. Reed, 731; James Crossley, jun., 1324; James Jones, 731; H. M. Humphreys, 506; John Wood, 1324; G. H. Sheffield, 731; William Footman, 353; Frederick Turner, 1235; Rev. W. J. M. Ellison; W. Allen, P.M.; J. F. Baldock; &c.

The banquet was held at Bro. King's, Bell Hotel. Bro. T. Cox, P.G.R., presided, Bro. F. Champion, P.G.S.W., being in the vice-chair. The dinner was of a most recherché character. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and duly responded to.

The Tyrian Craft Lodge was held at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, when Bro. T. Cox, P.G.R., was installed W.M. for the ensuing year, the ceremony being performed by Bro. F. Iliffe, the retiring W.M. Bro. Cox appointed the following as his officers: Bros. R. Waite, S.W.; C. F. Oding, J.W.; J. Bloor, Treas.; H. Marsden, Sec.; P. J. Hammond, S.D.; T. Hall, J.D.; E. Ward, I.G.; T. L. Gentles, Dir. of Cers.; and T. Slinn, Tyler. The Duke of Devonshire, as usual, sent a fat buck for the anniversary.

PROV. GRAND LODGE of CUMBERLAND and WESTMORLAND.

The annual meeting of the above Prov. Grand Lodge was held, by the kind permission of the Mayor, in the Town-hall, Kendal, on Friday, Oct. 6th, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon. Craft Lodge was opened in due form by Bro. C. Gardner Thompson, W.M. of the Union Lodge, No. 129, assisted by his officers, soon after which the Prov. Grand Director of Ceremonies, Bro. John Holme, warned the brethren of the approach of the R.W. Prov. Grand Master, the Right Hon. the Earl of Bective, M.P., and the Prov. Grand Officers, whereupon his lordship entered the lodge, preceded by his officers past and present, and received the salutation due to his Masonic rank, as also did the W. Deputy Prov. G.M., Col. Whitwell, M.P., R.W.G.W. of England. Grand Lodge was then opened, and the minutes of the preceding meeting at Whitehaven were read and confirmed, and a new code of by-laws for the government of the Prov. Grand Lodge was finally confirmed.

Amongst other business transacted, it was agreed to subscribe the sum of £5 from the Grand Lodge funds to the "Simpson Testimonial," which, it may be explained, consists of a new pulpit of Shap granite, to be presented by the Masons of the province to Bro. the Rev. James Simpson, vicar of Kirkby Stephen, who is now engaged in the restoration of the parish church of that place.

A similar sum was also voted to the testimonial in course of presentation to Bro. Binckes, the energetic Secretary of the Freemasons' Boys' School in London.

A vote of condolence was unanimously accorded to the Rev. Bro. James Simpson, P.S.G.W., on the death of his wife.

After some votes had been taken, and other business transacted, the R.W.P.G.M. proceeded to appoint and invest his officers for the ensuing year as follows: Bros. Capt. C. W. Braithwaite-Wilson, S.G.W.; John Holme, J.G.W.; Rev. W. Williams and Rev. R. Rutherford, G.C.'s; John Lemon, G. Treas.; Henry Cook, G. Reg.; Edward Busher, P.G.S.B. of England, G. Sec.; Wm. James, S.G.D.; James Robertson, J.G.D.; Henry Rauthmell, G. Dir. of Cers.; Dr. Henry, Asst. G. Dir. of Cers.; Titus Wilson, G. Supt. of Works; Edward Fearon, G.

Sword-bearer; Dr. Jones, G. Org.; Wm. Court, G. Purs.; and James Muncaster, G. Tyler. Bros. John Talbot (Kendal), E. G. Smith (Penrith), John Wood (Keswick), G. Brooker (Workington), James Porter (Wigton), and William Alsop (Whitehaven), G. Stewards.

At the conclusion of the business, the brethren were marshalled in processional order, and proceeded to the parish church, where prayers were read by the Rev. F. Scammell, the first lesson by the Rev. Bro. Cave, and the second lesson by the Rev. Bro. Williams. The anthems performed were two composed by the late Bro. Thos. Scarisbrick, organist of the parish church, for a similar Masonic meeting. The Archdeacon took for his text 2 Cor. 5, v. 1:—"For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

At the close of the service the brethren returned in reverse order to the Town-hall, and subsequently to Albert Buildings, where the whole of the brethren were entertained at a banquet of the most recherché description by the W.D.P.G.M., Colonel Whitwell, provided by Mr. Dawson, of the King's Arms Hotel. The chair was occupied by the G.M., the Earl of Bective, who was supported by the Venerable Archdeacon Cooper, Rev. F. Scammell, Rev. W. Dent, Longsleddale; Rev. A. C. Curwen, P.P.G. Chaplain, rector of Harrington; Rev. J. Graves, Underbarrow; Rev. E. Curwen, Grasmere; Rev. F. A. Cave Brown Cave, P.P.G.W. Oxfordshire; Rev. W. Williams, Cockermouth, and Rev. J. Rutherford, Newlands, P.G. Chaplains; Colonel Whitwell, P.D.P.G.M.; Dr. Greaves, P.D.G.M.; Capt. Mott, P.P.G.D. W. Lan.; John Holme, P.G.S.W.; Kearne, P.M. 241; Edward Busher, P.G.S.B. of England; John Bowes, P.P.G. Reg.; Garnett Braithwaite, P.P.G.W. Cams.; Capt. Gee, C.B., &c., Lucknow; John Lemon, P.G. Treas.; Captain C. W. Baithwaite-Wilson, P.G.S.W.; Dr. Jones, Maryport; J. Rowlands, Brougham; Dr. Henry, Whitehaven; J. C. Greer, Belfast; Dr. Barber, Ulverston; Thomas Atkinson, P.P.G.P.; C. Gardner Thompson, P.P.G. Reg.; John Pearson, P.P.G.D.; Richard Robinson, P.P.G.D.; Kenworthy, P.P.G.W.; C. Morton, P.P.G.W.; Hayward, P.P.G.W.; Foster, Longtown, Stubbs, Silloth, Muncaster, Egremont, James Porter, Wigton; J. Robertson, E. Fearon, James Dodd, J. A. Wheatley, Thomas Lumb, M'Kelvey, Gaspey, Dr. Crosthwaite, and about 150 other brethren.

Grace before and after meat was said by the Prov. Grand Chaplain. On the removal of the cloth, the usual toasts were proposed and duly honoured.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF N. & E. YORKSHIRE.

The Provincial Grand Lodge of the North and East Ridings of Yorkshire was held in the Victoria Rooms, Bridlington Quay, under the auspices of Londesborough Lodge, No. 734, on Wednesday, the 4th inst.

Present: W. Bro. J. P. Bell, D.P.G.M., as R.W.P.G.M., on the throne; W. Bros. Christopher Sykes, M.P., P.S.P.G.W., as D.P. G.M.; J. Woodall Woodall, P.S.P.G.W., as S.P.G.W.; Samuel King, J.P.G.W.; Rev. H. V. Palmer, M.A., as P.G. Chap.; Richard Welch Hollon, P.G. Treas.; G. C. Roberts, as P.G. Reg.; Michael C. Peck, P.G. Sec.; George Hardy, as S.P.G.D.; John Jones, J.P.G.D.; H. Thompson, as P.G.S. of Wks.; A. B. Brockwell, P.G.D. of C.; R. Davison, P.G. Sword-bearer; G. E. Harding, P.G.O.;

Bros. John Ward, P.G. Purst.; W. Johnson, P.G. Tyler; A. W. Ansell, Wm. Greathead, John W. Teale, M.D., A. Scotchburn, T. C. Davidson, and J. Wilkinson, P.G. Stewards. Visitors: W. Bros. Bentley Shaw, P.G.D. of England and D.P.G.M. West Yorkshire; W. H. Porritt, P.G. Steward W. Yorkshire; W. E. Howlett, P.P.G.D.C. Lincolnshire; many P.P.G. Officers, the W.M.'s, P.M.'s, and Wardens of the various lodges in the province, &c., &c.

The Prov. G. Lodge having been opened in form and with solemn prayer, the P.G. Sec. read the minutes of previous P.G.L., which were confirmed.

Letters of apology for non-attendance were received from Bros. Sir H. Johnstone, Bart., M.P., S.P.G.W.; Rev. J. S. Warman, P.G.C.; J. O. Surtees, P.G.R.; R. A. Marillier, P.G. Supt. of Works; and others.

The Prov. G. Secretary read the report of the Board of Benevolence, showing that the Board had that day voted £10 to a brother of the St. Germain's Lodge. It was recommended that the support of the province be given, and the votes of the brethren be solicited in behalf of Agnes Mary Wray, aged 8 years, of Burton Stather, whose late father was a member of two lodges in this province, a candidate for the Masonic Girls' School. The Prov. G. Treasurer's account showed a balance of £134 9s. 11d. in favour of the Fund of Benevolence. (The report was adopted and confirmed.)

The Prov. G. Treasurer then read his annual financial report, which was unanimously adopted.

A motion "That one guinea be annually subscribed by the Prov. G. Lodge to the Palestine Exploration Fund," was carried unanimously.

The various lodges in the province, all of which were represented, then communicated. The returns showed a total of 1345 subscribing members.

The Acting R.W. Prov. G. Master then appointed and invested the following Prov. Grand Officers for the ensuing year:—

W. Bros. H. Armitage, M.D., (I.O. 1248), S.G.W.; H. Onslow Percy (1040), J.G.W.; Rev. H. V. Palmer, M.A., (236), G.C.; R. W. Hollon (236), G. Treas. (re-elected); C. J. Todd (1010), G. Reg.; M. C. Peck (1040), G. Sec.; Harrison Groves (1244), S.G.D.; J. N. Scherling (250), J.G.D.; Wm. Tesseymann (57), G. Supt. of Works; A. Farmer (602), G.D.C.; J. S. Walton, M.D., (1337), G. Sword-bearer; C. Willman (602), G.O.; Bros. J. Ward (236), G. Purst.; W. Johnson (57), G. Tyler. Six Prov. G. Stewards were directed to be nominated by the following lodges, viz.: The York, Minerva, Constitutional, Lion, Cleveland, and Zetland.

The Acting R.W. Prov. Grand Master read a portion of a letter which he had received from the R.W. Prov. Grand Master, the Earl of Zetland, in which his Lordship expressed his regret at not being able to be present at the meeting, on account of his late severe accident.

The Acting R.W. Prov. Grand Master then delivered a most instructive and interesting address, being a resumé of the condition of Masonry both at home and abroad. In the course of his remarks, which were listened to with great attention, he dwelt upon the great prosperity of the Order, and exhorted the brethren to be very careful, not only in their lodges, but outside, to sustain the high character of the Craft, and to be especially careful respecting the admission of candidates. He congratulated the province upon the continued harmony which existed amongst the various lodges, no case of complaint having been preferred during the past year. Middlesborough not having been visited by the Prov. Grand Lodge since 1860, he should, with the concurrence of the R.W. Prov. Grand Master, appoint the meeting next year to be held there under the auspices of the North York Lodge.

The Prov. Grand Lodge was then closed in form, and with solemn prayer.

The annual banquet, at which the Acting R.W. Prov. Grand Master presided, was held the same evening, at the Britannia Hotel, when a large number of brethren dined; due honours to the Craft were observed, and true Masonic feeling prevailed.

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

THE CRAFT.

METROPOLITAN.

Confidence Lodge, No. 193, held a meeting at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, on Monday, the 9th inst., Bro. Thomas, W.M. There was not any work, Banquet was partaken of. Visitors: F. Walters, P.M. 73, J. Stevens, P.M. 720, and Oliphant, 152. After banquet, Bro. J. Stevens, in a most pleasing manner, recited "The Mason's Vow."

United Strength Lodge, No. 228.—This old lodge met on Tuesday, the 10th inst., at the Old Jerusalem Tavern, Clerkenwell. The W.M., Bro. B. Robards, presided, supported by a fair muster of officers and brethren. The lodge was in mourning for the late Bro. Vivian, P.M. No work presented itself, and the lodge being duly closed, the brethren adjourned to banquet.

Belgrave Lodge, No. 749, met on Wednesday, the 11th inst., at Anderton's Hotel. After the lodge had been duly opened and the usual preliminary business transacted, Bro. Hester, the W.M., in an able manner initiated two gentlemen, passed one brother, and raised another. Bro. Parsons, S.W., was elected W.M. for the ensuing year, and Bro. Froude, P.M., was re-elected Treas. A five-guinea P.M.'s jewel was voted to Bro. Hester. After the business of the lodge had been duly brought to a conclusion, the brethren sat down to an excellent banquet. The visitors included Bro. G. Palmer, W.M. 11, Bro. H. Muggerridge, P.M. 192, Bro. F. Walters, P.M. 73, and others.

Hornsey Lodge, No. 890, held a meeting on the 6th inst., at Anderton's Hotel, Bro. T. Garner, W.M. No business was before the lodge. Banquet followed. Visitors: Bro. F. Walters, P.M. 73, Bro. Baddiley, 548, &c.

Perfect Ashlar Lodge, No. 1178.—This lodge met on Thursday, the 5th inst., at the Gregorian Arms, Bermondsey. Bro. J. W. Avery, P.M., installed Bro. G. J. Grace as W.M. The other officers are: Bros. Dudley, S.W.; Homesworth, J.W.; Ebsworth, P.M., Treas.; F. Walters, P.M., Sec.; Fudge, S.D.; Cox, J.D.; Deakin, I.G.; Ruse, D.C.; Avery, P.M., W.S.; Laing, P.M., Tyler. The usual jewel was voted to Bro. Green, I.P.M. Banquet followed.

Macdonald Lodge, No. 1216.—The first meeting of this lodge after the recess was held at Head Quarters of the 1st Surrey Rifle Corps, Camberwell, on Wednesday, the 11th inst., the W.M., Bro. S. H. Wagstaff, presiding, supported by Bros. James Stevens, I.P.M.; Waterall, S.W.; Bridges, J.W.; Dr. Cronin, Treas.; Curtis, Sec.; Messenger, S.D.; Hastie, J.D.; Larlham, I.G.; Hammond, W.S.; Carnell, C.S.; Kethro, Willis, Peall, Thos. Meggy, P.M.; &c., &c.; and visitors, Bros. J. Maddern (720), Dawson (173), Hubbard (679), Gompertz, &c. The lodge was opened in the three degrees, and Bro. Peall was raised to the degree of Master Mason. Subsequently, propositions for joining and initiation were taken, and the W.M. then formally handed to Bro. Stevens, I.P.M., a very handsomely engrossed copy of a resolution, previously passed in open lodge, expressive of the thanks of the lodge to that brother for services rendered as the originator and principal founder, and which, in addition to the superb P.M. jewel of the lodge, was voted to him on his leaving the chair in May last.—Bro. Stevens acknowledged in suitable terms the honour conferred upon him, and expressed his best wishes for the continued prosperity of the lodge.—A sum was voted from the charity fund in aid of a worthy distressed brother, which was supplemented by individual subscriptions. The lodge was then closed and adjourned for refreshment.

PROVINCIAL.

LEICESTER.—St. John's Lodge, No. 279.—The first meeting of the season was held at the Masonic Hall on the 4th instant. The occasion was one of exceptional interest from the fact that the son of the W.M., who had the day before attained his majority, was a candidate for initiation. About ninety brethren were present, amongst whom, in addition to the W.M., Bro. Clement Stretton, were the R.W. Bro. W. Kelly, Prov. G.M.; Bros. L. A. Clarke, P.P.S.G.W.; Jos. Hames, P.P.G.T.; W. Weare, P.P.G.D.; and G. Brown, P.P.G.R., P.M.'s; E. J. Crow, P.G.O., S.W.; Dr. Pearce, P.G.P., J.W.; R. W. Widdowson, P.G. Steward; J. W. Smith, J.D.; J. Halford, I.G.; Rev. J. G. Packer, P.P.G.C.; T. Thorp, E. Gosling, J. M'Allister, J. Langham, and many other members of the lodge. Visitors: Bros. T. H. Johnston, P.M. 129, P.P.J.D. West and Cumb.; Jos. Cassidy, 145; H. E. Goodacre, P.M. 840; T. Barnard, Sec. 1130; several members of 523, including Bros. Sculthorpe, W.M., F. Goodyer, Rev. J. Spittal, P.P.S.G.W.'s, V. B. Smith, P.G.T., G. Toller, jun., P.G. Sec., A. M. Duff, P.P.G.D., Rev. Dr. Haycroft, P.G.C., S. S. Partridge, P.G.R., C. Johnson, P.P.S.G.W. Jersey, C. Spencer, Dr. Bolton, J. E. Hodges, W. Barfoot, Dr. Clifton, Luke Turner, E. Mace; &c., &c. The minutes of the last regular meeting and of two lodges of emergency having been confirmed, and the ballot for Mr. Clement Edwin Stretton proving unanimous in his favour, he was initiated in ancient form, the ceremony being performed by the Prov. G.M., assisted by the Prov. G. Sec. The charge was delivered by the W.M. Bro. C. Johnson presided at the organ, and the various chants arranged by him for this degree were given with great effect. A donation to the library by Bro. Bithray having been acknowledged, the Prov. G.M., as chairman of the Hall Committee, drew attention to the recent alterations in the Hall (noticed in our report of the last meeting of Lodge 523), and requested subscriptions to defray the expenses. In the course of the evening about £80 was collected, nearly £150 having thus been raised at the two first meetings of the season. Only £100 more is required to discharge all liabilities in connection with the alterations. After the lodge was closed, a banquet took place to which every member of the town lodges had received a special invitation from the W.M., who most handsomely took upon himself the whole cost of the entertainment. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given by the W.M., the Rev. Bros. J. Spittal and Dr. Haycroft both responding for "The Bishop, Clergy, and Ministers of all denominations." The Prov. G.M. proposed the health of the W.M., and afterwards, in due course, that of his son, both toasts being most heartily received. The evening was enlivened by songs from Bros. Atwood, Hunt, Deane, and others, Bro. Crow giving that of "The Final Toast," succeeded by the Tyler's Toast and the National Anthem. Thus ended one of the pleasantest meetings in the history of the lodge. It should be mentioned that the elegant appearance of the Hall was greatly enhanced by numerous plants and flowers dispersed over it, kindly lent for the occasion by Bro. Charlesworth.

MARKET HARBOUROUGH.—St. Peter's Lodge, No. 1330.—The brethren of this lodge met for the first time since the summer recess, at the Assembly-room, Three Swans' Hotel, on Friday, the 29th ult., under the presidency of the W.M., Bro. William Kelly, R.W. Prov. G.M. There were also present: Bros. the Rev. John F. Halford, J.W.; W. H. Marris, P.M., Sec.; J. H. Douglass, J.D.; T. Macaulay, M.R.C.S., I.G.; Freestone, Steward; Dixon, Org.; Dr. Grant, Lawrence, Whitehead, Shovelbottom, Healey, Plattford, and others. Visitors: Bros. Slater, of the Franklin Lodge, Boston, and Cleaver, of St. John's Lodge, Leicester. The lodge having been opened, and the minutes read and confirmed, a letter was read from Lady Halford, apologising for the absence of the S.W., Bro. Sir H. St. John Halford, Bart., on account of his being in Norway. The Treasurer, Bro. Waite, P.M., was prevented being present owing to serious illness, and the Chaplain, Senior Deacon, and others, by the tempestuous state of the weather. A ballot having been taken in his favour, Mr. John Wiggins, veterinary surgeon, of Market Harborough, was initiated, the musical part of the ceremony being conducted by Bro. Dixon on the harmonium. The lecture on the tracing-board and the charge were then given by the W.M. This being the concluding meeting of the first year of the lodge's existence, during which there have been nineteen candidates initiated, passed, and raised, and three brethren joined, a ballot took place for W.M. for the ensuing year. This resulted in the unanimous election of the S.W., Bro. Colonel Sir Henry St. John Halford, Bart., of Wistow Hall. Bro. Waite, P.M., was re-elected Treasurer. The Provincial Grand Master giving six of the lodges in rotation the privilege of nominating a Prov. Grand Steward annually, Bro. James Heger Douglass, solicitor (the first candidate initiated in the lodge), was chosen unanimously to that office for this lodge. It is worthy of remark that this young lodge possesses amongst its members two Provincial Grand Masters, viz., its present W.M., and Bro. the Right Hon. the Earl of Shrewsbury (a native of Gumley, in this neighbourhood), who has just been appointed to rule over the Craft in the province of Stafford. It also possesses the very handsome and costly set of furniture which was formerly presented to the Lodge of Antiquity, by H.R.H. the late Duke of Sussex, when W.M. A candidate having been proposed, the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to refreshment, and passed an hour or two very pleasantly.

ALDERSHOT.—Aldershot Camp Lodge, No. 1331.—The regular monthly meeting was held on Thursday, the 5th inst., the W.M., Bro. C. Carnegie, G.P. Hampshire, presiding, supported by Bros. J. Fenn, S.W.; Capt. Richardson, as J.W.; McKenzie, as S.D.; Anderson, as J.D.; R. White, Sec.; Capt. Coates (99th), as P.M.; Laverty, I.G.; Bennett, Tyler; &c. The chief business was the passing of Bros. Marversly, Horsford, and Orton. Bro. Fenn, S.W., was elected W.M. for the ensuing year; Bro. C. Carnegie was re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. Lucas was elected as Tyler. It was arranged that the installation and banquet should be held on the 2nd proximo. The sum of one guinea was voted to the "Aldershot Lodging Association for Soldiers married with leave," and the lodge was closed.

MARK MASONRY.

LEICESTER.—Fowke Lodge, No. 19.—The regular meeting of this lodge was held at the Freemasons' Hall, on the 28th ultimo, Bro. Charles Johnson, the W.M., presiding. There also present: Bros. Wm. Kelly, P.G.M.; Duff, P.M.; Weare, S.W.; S. S. Partridge, 18°, J.W.; C. Stretton, Treas.; G. Toller, jun., 18°, S.O.; W. Sculthorpe, Sec.; C. A. Spencer, 18°; W. R. Bryan, C. S. Thomson, Geo. Santer, A. Sergeant, L. L. Atwood, &c. The candidates being unable to be present, the meeting was resolved into a Lodge of Instruction.

GIBRALTAR.—Gibraltar Lodge, No. 43.—This lodge held a meeting on the 6th inst., which was very numerously attended. Among the brethren present we noticed Bros. J. Balfour Cockburn, W.M.; Graham, S.W.; Donald, J.W.; Wall, M.O.; Hills, S.O.; Beck, J.O.; Lyon, Campbell, Andrews, Trenerry, Osment, Ashton, Clavesso, &c., and several visitors. After the minutes of the former meeting had been read and confirmed, and the Secretary, Bro. Brown, had submitted to the W.M. and brethren a statement of the financial position of the lodge, the W.M. notified that the chief business of the evening was to ballot for and, if approved, to advance Bro. Williamson (Lieut. 74th Highlanders), Hardy (Capt. 74th Highlanders), Farie (Lieut. 74th Highlanders), Lonsdale (Lieut. 74th Highlanders), Hymers, and Bensclum. The ballot having in each instance proved unanimously favourable, and the brethren being in attendance, they were duly advanced to the honourable degree of M.M.M., the ceremony being conducted by the W.M. in a clear, lucid, and impressive manner. The explanatory lecture was delegated to Bro. Graham, S.W., who performed that duty with his usual ability. The newly-advanced brethren having taken their seats, the W.M. notified the results of the half-yearly communication of Grand Lodge, held June 6, 1871, and recommended that the newly-instituted tracing-board should be obtained as soon as the finances of the lodge warranted the expense. The W.M. then added that, having placed himself in communication with Bro. Binckes, G.S., respecting the degree of Royal Ark Mariner, after a most courteous correspondence on the part of that officer of the G.L., a dispensation had been forwarded, enabling the Gibraltar Mark Lodge to work and confer this degree. No impediments would be thrown in the way of taking full advantage of this authority, and Bro. Balfour Cockburn expressed his earnest desire—a desire which he would use his utmost endeavours to realize—that the Gibraltar Mark Lodge should be one of the first colonial lodges to work and confer all the degrees which, since the recent events at head-quarters, it was so very desirable that every Mark Master Mason should possess.—At the conclusion of business, the brethren retired to refreshment, when, after the usual toasts, the Worshipful Master took the opportunity of saying a few parting words to Bro. Osment, a very old member of the lodge, who is on the point of quitting the station. Bro. Osment replied with much feeling.

SOUTHAMPTON.—St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 63.—The usual meeting of this lodge was held lately at the Masonic Hall, Southampton, for the election of W.M. for the ensuing year. The chair of Adoniram was filled by the present W.M., Bro. Abraham, assisted by several of his chief officers. Bro. Hickman, S.W. (A.P.G.D.C. of Craft), was elected W.M., and his election was received with great satisfaction. The installation meeting and banquet were fixed for St. Andrew's Day, the 30th November. A communication was made to the lodge that it was the wish of the Prov. G.M. of Mark Masonry of Hants and Berks (Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P.), to form and open a P.G. Lodge to meet the requirements of this degree, which is making such rapid progress in that part of the country, and a committee was appointed to confer with the Prov. G.M. thereon. The usual banquet followed.

NOTICE.

The Subscription to THE FREEMASON is now 10s. per annum, post-free, payable in advance.

Vol. I., bound in cloth ... ..	4s. 6d.
Vol. II., ditto ... ..	7s. 6d.
Vol. III., ditto ... ..	15s. od.
Reading Cases to hold 52 numbers...	2s. 6d.

United States of America.

THE FREEMASON is delivered free in any part of the United States for 12s. per annum, payable in advance.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferred to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

DEATH.

YOUNG.—On the 15th instant, at his town residence in Buckingham Palace Road, Bro. Richard Young, Sheriff of London and Middlesex, Prov. G.W. Cambridgeshire, &c., aged 62 years.

All communications for THE FREEMASON should be written legibly on one side of the paper only, and, if intended for insertion in the current number, must be received not later than 10 o'clock a.m. on Thursdays, unless in very special cases. The name and address of every writer must be sent to us in confidence.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price of THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the Editor 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him but cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

THE "OBSERVER" AND THE CRAFT.

IT is a great thing to be endowed with a superior mind, and to be enabled to survey from one's own peculiar altitude the weaknesses and follies of other less-favored mortals. Above all, it is refreshing to pour the vial of one's ridicule or wrath upon opinions, or men, or institutions concerning which we have but the slenderest knowledge, and especially delightful to obtain the character of profound wisdom by contemning what we cannot comprehend. Accepting, as we do most heartily, these dicta as truisms, we have to congratulate our contemporary, the Observer, upon the elysian felicity in which it has recently revelled—the legitimate and entrancing result of as blissful a state of ignorance respecting Freemasonry as it is possible for any human being to conceive. We quite envy the delicious sensation experienced by our Sunday friend, when, in addition to THE FREEMASON, Bro. Spencer's reprint of the old Masonic Constitutions, first became visible to the editorial eye. How the said eye must have sparkled with incipient joy we leave to abler historians to describe, contenting ourselves with a few cursory remarks upon the learned and impartial conclusions of our contemporary.

In the first place, the critic himself essays to answer the query with which he commences his article, "Freemasons and their Literature." What is it all about? To his high order of mind, it appears to be supreme idiotcy for "men to don aprons and bedizen themselves with ribbons and medals" in connection with their membership of the Craft. How far such a denunciation of decorations which are worn chiefly as symbols is justifiable, may be deemed a matter of opinion; but few will contest the point, that the argument, if applicable at all, holds equally good against the use of every decoration, device, or peculiar badge by which rank is denoted or station signified in the community at large. In his zeal against Freemasonry, however, the critic forgets that many other societies, such as the Oddfellows and United Friends, wear aprons and similar distinctive marks; and we have yet to learn that the practice is considered reprehensible by those who have given attention to the rise and progress of those very useful associations.

But the "literature" of Freemasonry is evidently the bête noir of our delectable reviewer. The "startling statements" of the Rev. Dr. Oliver as to the origin of the Craft are referred to with manifest gusto, and we are certainly free to confess at this point that the silly fables propagated about "Noah's Ark" and Adamite Masonry by some of the earlier Masonic authors are calculated to lower Masonry in the estimation of thinking men. Dismissing the reverend doctor as an incorrigible mystic, whose views are not universally accepted even by Masons, the Observer turns to THE FREEMASON for light, opining that "the brethren will not object to be judged by the flourishing periodical they support to-day." Now, as a test of the literary qualifications of the Craft, we consider this judgment unfair—as, although in many respects a class periodical may reflect the views of the class or body which it represents, it does not follow that those views are at all times expressed in the highest style of literary excellence, or with the eloquence which their importance may seem to demand. Nor do we think that the reviewer has wisely selected our esteemed Bro. Carpenter's articles on the "Lost Tribes" theory as samples of Masonic literature. Well-written and argumentative as those articles are, they in no sense represent Masonic theories on the subject, nor can they be identified with the ordinary stream of Masonic thought. Nevertheless, to men, like the Freemasons, who reverence the Scriptures, and treasure up ancient legends and Israelitish traditions, articles like those of Bro. Carpenter are peculiarly interesting, and, with all due deference to the Observer, by no means uninteresting. Passing on to recent discussions in this journal upon the comparative antiquity of Speculative Freemasonry, the reviewer's next "hit" is directed against our "leading columns," where he finds a description of the Thirtieth Degree of the Ancient and Accepted Rite, which evidently appears to be beyond his comprehension. We can assure him, most penitently, that it was not written for his special enlightenment, but for the edification of certain of our readers—and their numbers are not a few—who desire information respecting every degree or rite purporting to be Masonic. And, strange as it may seem to our critic, we shall consider it our duty to pursue this branch of our vocation as a Masonic journalist, so long as inquirers exist in the land amongst the Philistines who "dress up to dine together." We need hardly remind so eminent an authority of the words of the old dramatist, "Homo sum: humanum nihil a me alienum puto;" and pause but to assure him that nothing which relates to, or which may tend to illustrate, the various rites of Freemasonry can be considered "foreign" by an earnest Masonic student.

With reference to Bro. Spencer's edition of the old Constitutions, the work cannot be expected to possess great interest for non-Masons, and we can quite understand our reviewer's feelings of disappointment if he had hoped to derive much mystical knowledge from its contents. The development of operative Masonry into the symbolic and speculative science which modern Masons practise, is in itself a subject by no means thoroughly comprehended by the learned, and doubtless it must appear terribly obscure to a superficial Observer.

We must, however, protest against the gratuitous assumption that Masons boast of their charity—the very contrary is the fact. It has been affirmed over and over again that Freemasonry is not a benefit society, and that no brother is permitted to hold out the faintest inducement of the kind to candidates for admission into the Order. If, however, the critic believes that no good can come out of Nazareth, we feel it would be a hopeless task to attempt his conversion. Fraternity, charity, and all the other concomitants of true Masonry are ignored by the sweep of his pen, and we are even subjected to the insulting pity of the Observer, whose reflections are saddened by the thought that "human beings can be found to maunder over and be interested in such abject nonsense." Notwithstanding this severe blow, we do not despair of the future of the Craft—convinced, as we are, that foundations which are based upon the holiest emotions of the human heart, can never be shaken or destroyed by the shafts of ridicule.

ON Wednesday evening Lord Derby distributed the prizes to the members of the 1st Lancashire Rifle Volunteers at Liverpool. The noble earl, in the course of an address on the subject of our national defences, spoke of the "needless panic of last winter," and said that perhaps the present danger was on the side of indifference and neglect. Looking abroad, the country was, he believed, at this moment as clear of foreign complications as it ever had been, or as any European State could be. The autumn campaign was, in his opinion, a wise step, and he hoped it would be continued yearly.

SMALL-POX, FEVERS, AND SKIN DISEASES.—The predisposition to is prevented by Lamplough's Pyretic Saline. Vitalising and invigorating, its effects are remarkable in their cure and prevention. Take it as directed. Sold by chemists and the maker, H. Lamplough, 113, Holborn-hill.—[Advt.]

ILLUSTRATIONS of the HISTORY of the CRAFT.

BY A MASONIC STUDENT.

CHAPTER II.

I propose in this chapter to point out what I believe to be the only true foundation, on which the history of our Order can safely rest.

In a few words, I am anxious to advocate and uphold what may be called the Guild Theory.

In 1863 I made the following statement, in regard to the opinion I then ventured to intertain in respect of this much "vexata quæstio," and subsequent study and consideration have only tended to strengthen the conviction I then expressed, and which I had arrived at after some years of patient and careful inquiry.

"Freemasonry as we have it to-day, affected, no doubt, to a great extent by the preponderance of the Speculative element, has come down to us, I venture to believe, through a long succession of centuries, and may be most safely and satisfactorily traced through the operative guilds and Masonic sodalities of the middle and early ages, to Roman Collegia, to Grecian communities, and thence to Jewish and Tyrian Masons."*

And it is this same view, substantially, of our Masonic Order, which I wish to bring now more formally before my brethren generally, because in it, and in it alone, I feel persuaded the true history of Freemasonry is to be found.

The more we study the whole question—difficult as it confessedly is in all its bearings—the more shall we be convinced, I feel confident, ere long, that no other theory can satisfy the exigencies of historical criticism on the one hand, or harmonise the confused traditions of Freemasonry on the other, but that which regards our Speculative Order to-day, as nothing more and nothing less, than the direct continuation and legitimate result of the olden system of operative sodalities.

Let it be granted that Freemasonry exists under an altered condition of things, and is to be found perhaps in a wider sphere than of old, when it was confined to the building societies of an operative brotherhood: yet, its normal state, from which our present Freemasonry has derived its life and history, was that of an operative Masonic guild.

Now it is a mistake to suppose, as some modern writers seem to do, that this explanation of our Masonic annals and progress is a novel one, of a comparatively very recent date and unknown to our earlier historians. It has been said, for instance, by our latest Masonic annalist, our learned German Bro. Dr. Findel, that the "first writer on the subject of Freemasonry who ventured to hint at the existence of an historical connection between the Fraternity of Freemasons, and that of the stonemasons was the Abbé Grandidier, a non-Mason," who wrote in 1779.†

But though I am quite willing to admit, that he is perhaps the first non-Masonic writer who openly argued for the distinct existence of a purely operative brotherhood, with signs and symbols, forms and teachings analogous to our own, yet we should never forget, that the assertion of a secret bond of union, of a similarity of symbolic teaching, of a continuity of organisation and existence, as between operative and speculative Freemasonry, is really as old as the time of Anderson and Preston.

Anderson, the first edition of whose "Constitutions of the Freemasons" was published in 1723, and Preston, whose first edition appeared in 1772, have based their entire history of the Order, though with differences of detail peculiar to each writer, as our Bro. Findel has himself admitted, "on a history of architecture taken from the legends of the guilds"

And though since their time the subject has been greatly elaborated by many able foreign writers on Freemasonry—to some extent by Bro. Laurie—and especially by German writers,‡ and though it may be true, that the terminology of the operative guild theory has only of late years assumed its present development and position among Masonic writers, yet we are bound, as it appears to me, to accord in justice to Anderson and Preston, the credit of asserting and maintaining the true theory of the operative origin of Freemasonry.

A great deal of ridicule has been cast upon Anderson, especially, for the high-flown language in which he claims to carry up the antiquity of our Order to the earliest ages of the world, and for the free use he has undoubtedly made of even patriarchal names.

Yet it should be borne in mind, that he probably intended, after all, by such language, only to state paraphrastically the old teaching of the connection supposed to exist between Freemasonry and the primæval and later mysteries.*

Accepting this view, that the early mysteries were the depositories of sacred truth, though by degrees debased and corrupted, Anderson with many others seems to have held that Freemasonry still retains in its carefully preserved inner teaching some traces of these earlier mysteries, and that it was in itself therefore as old as the patriarchs, and coeval with the first germs of civilisation among mankind!

It must, however, fairly be admitted, that he has unwisely claimed "nominatim" as patrons and members of our Order, many whose affiliation to Freemasonry could be only, at the best, but a legendary tradition, and that he has allowed the influence of this old and attractive theory to outweigh the more sober claims of historical evidence and practical accuracy.

Let us, however, return to the more immediate subject matter.

There are three views, apparently, of the guild theory, which merit our present and careful consideration:—

1. There is the view, for instance, of our learned German brother, Dr. Findel, to which we will give our first attention.

If we understand his words rightly in his very valuable and interesting History of Freemasonry, he accepts without reserve the guild theory, and looks upon our modern Order as the direct continuation, though somewhat developed and expanded by the revival of 1717, of the operative guilds.

He advocates distinctly and without doubt the operative origin of Freemasonry; and though it is not quite clear from his valuable work whether he accepts our modern ritual and organisation as identical in all respects with that of the operative Fraternity, yet he seems to do so, inasmuch as he more than once advocates the view I have often contended for—that the ritual and ceremonies and oral teaching and mystic symbolism of the purely operative lodges were to a great extent under the direction and approval of the monastic orders.

The great value of our learned brother's history to the Masonic student consists in this, that he so ably points out the real operative origin of Freemasonry; that he introduces with great clearness in support of his argument, the rules and regulations, the customs and traditions of the operative German Masons, clearly proving a similarity of usage and identity of symbols between them and our Speculative brotherhood to-day.

The peculiarity of Bro. Findel's view consists in this, that he assigns the origin of the Masonic Order, as an operative institution only, to the German "Steinmetzen," or stonemasons of the middle ages, and seems to fix on the beginning of the 11th century as the epoch when we have for the first time satisfactory evidence of their existence and proceedings and purpose.

And though it must be ever most interesting to all Freemasons, thus to be able to trace the history of the German operative "Bauhütten" or lodges, through several centuries, yet it would be, I venture to think, most unsafe, as it is in truth impossible to contend, or seriously for one moment to suppose, that Freemasonry could have thus sprung up all of a sudden in the history of the world—could with all its old legends and time-honoured traditions and mysterious symbolism, have been alone the product of the ingenuity and skill of German stonemasons, and transplanted from Germany to England.

Our learned brother's argument, that because he finds the legend of the "Four Crowned Martyrs" in our earliest known Masonic MS., and traces, as he thinks, of "Vehmic" usages in the Sloane MS. 3329* therefore our English Freemasonry was introduced by German operative Masons, is, though ingenious and very creditable to his patriotic sympathies, utterly opposed to all the known facts of the case, and completely irreconcilable with the evidence of history, and the witness of our own English Masonic traditions.

No doubt Bro. Findel's theory is in itself a very interesting one, and in some respects an easy way of surmounting many of the difficulties and peculiarities of our Masonic annals. It may serve also to dispel some of the doubts and remove some of the objections of hostile criticism, but it does by no means clear the way perfectly for the Masonic or un-Masonic enquirer, and still leaves unaccounted for, on any safe and satisfactory authority, the origin, existence, progress, and perpetuation of one of the most remarkable institutions the world has ever seen.

To say nothing now of other patent objections to it, how are we to deal, if we accept it, with that very important subject of Masons' Marks?

Our learned brother E. W. Shaw contended some years back, and I have never seen any satisfactory reply to his assertions, that one great principle pervaded all the known Masons' marks in the world, namely, that they were outward symbols of an inner meaning or teaching.

From the almost innumerable fac-similes he had collected after many years' arduous labour, which I have myself seen, from all quarters of the world, he found the same unity of design and actual identity of form in all the remarks he had so carefully gathered together, whether they had been found on Egyptian pyramids or Roman walls, on Hindoo or on Mexican temples, on early or mediæval ecclesiastical buildings, on the stones of Tyre, on the very buildings of Jerusalem!

His argument, then, which always appeared to my mind irresistible, that we have in these Masons' marks a strong proof of the antiquity of our Order, and of its wide diffusion at a very early period, has recently received a striking confirmation by the underground discoveries of Bro. Lieut. Warren in the Holy City itself, who has brought to light the long-buried marks of Tyrian and Jewish Masons.

If, however, we accept our learned Bro. Findel's theory, we must surrender this valuable evidence of the great and real antiquity of Freemasonry.

Believing, then, in common with all who have had the opportunity of studying his most interesting work, that a debt of gratitude is owing to him for his careful and accurate investigations, and regarding his history as a most valuable aid and addition to Masonic literature in general, I still think that we cannot safely adopt his limited view of the antiquity of the Craft, the late origin he assigns to the operative guilds, or find in his skilfully-developed theory a satisfactory solution of the true and full history of Freemasonry.

2. There is a second view of the guild theory, which I may dismiss with a very short notice, for it is historically and archaeologically untenable.

It is that which asserts that the history of Speculative Masonry is to be entirely severed from that of the operative guilds, and that though the guilds existed, certainly they had little or nothing in common without our modern Order, and that the revival in 1717 was but the adaptation by Speculative Masons, without any warrant or natural connection of the phraseology, usages, and legends of the operative guilds.

In short, to repeat the Abbé Grandidier's words, Freemasonry as we have it to-day, in its inner speculative teaching and outer and formal organisation, is but the "servile imitation of an ancient and useful Fraternity of actual Masons."

But this very modern view of the history of the Craft, as far as I know or understand the * Oration before Pentalfa Lodge, Bradford, 1863.

† Findel's History of Freemasonry, p. 15.

‡ Vogel, Albrecht, Mossdorf, Schröder, Fessler, &amp;c.

* Hutchinson, Lenoir, Clavel, Oliver, Faber, Authorlogia Hibernica.

* It was my privilege to ask Bro. Findel's attention originally to this interesting MS.

arguments of its supporters, has so far nothing but crude hypothesis and intolerant assertion in its favour, and seems destined to land us as a Fraternity, ere long, again on the shore of a most unlearned and unreasoning exposition of our archæology, our usages, and our history.

If it be true, we may as well bring to an end at once those studies and investigations which of late years have been undertaken by so many able brethren, in order, from the unerring records of the past, to erect a lasting edifice standing on sure foundation, perfect in its parts and honourable to the builders, which shall be able to resist alike successfully the attacks of criticism, and offer a satisfactory and reasonable history to our brethren and the world of our ancient and beneficent Order.

3. But the third view remains for our consideration, namely, that our Freemasonry may be safely traced through the mediæval and early guilds, direct in the first instance to the Roman Collegia, and then even much further back, in harmony with our own ancient traditions. Bro. Dr. Findel puts the whole question most fairly, when admitting that a "certain connection existed" between the mediæval guilds and the Roman colleges, he goes on to ask, whether the former be a "direct continuation" of the latter—whether "there exists sufficient historical proof to justify the tracing back the Fraternity of Masons to the building corporation of Rome"?

And though he has thought well to answer both these questions in the negative, and to say that "attempts to trace the history of Freemasonry further back than the middle ages have been up to the present time most decided failures," I think he has allowed his preference of his own view to blind him somewhat to the result of the researches of those able brethren who advocate the connection between the mediæval guilds and the Roman Collegia, and that he has not given sufficient weight to the evidence which may be adduced in support of this larger theory of Masonic history.

It is impossible to hope to find to-day historical evidence of a perfect uniformity of ritual and ceremony, of customs and usages, in which some set so much store, between the present and the past. Indeed, if that be requisite, Bro. Findel's argument in respect of the German Steinmetzen utterly breaks down, for he himself admits that a "complete insight into the customs in use among the Fraternity of stonemasons into their origin and progress will most likely never be vouchsafed to us."* Nevertheless he goes on to contend that they were the forefathers of modern German Speculative Masons, and in all essential particulars identical.

I would only adopt my learned brother's own admission and argument, and apply it to the view I am now advocating.

In common with those who maintain the same view of Masonic history,† I contend that the evidence we are already in possession of, to link us on to the building colleges of the Romans, and thence to Grecian communities and Egyptian mysteries is very clear and very striking, and cannot any longer be disputed or cavilled at.

There is a very great body of evidence, which requires to be carefully considered and respectfully treated, and cannot, as it ought not to be hastily dismissed, without due weight being given, to what may be incontestably proved, in favour of any favourite hypothesis or preconceived opinion of what the History of Freemasonry can safely be supposed to be.

That they are many difficulties in the way of a perfect development of this last theory, no one can deny, but they are not really greater than attend on Bro. Findel's more limited view, and such a difficulty, after the lapse of centuries, must be reasonably expected, as well as from the peculiar condition of the Masonic system! I hope, in the next chapter, to put before my brethren what is really the amount of reasonable evidence, or even any view at all of Masonic history, as regards the ancient building colleges and sodalities, up to the fall of the Roman Empire.

* Findel, page 61.

† Rebold, Krause, Clavel, Lenning, Schauberg, Fallou, Dalloway, Hoop.

Original Correspondence.

The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.

"FREEMASONRY AND JUDAISM."

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Bro. Buchan has done me the honour to bestow some time and labour upon the columns I have been permitted to contribute to THE FREEMASON, on the Israelites and Anglo-Saxons. Permit me to offer a preliminary remark on the mistake into which Bro. Buchan, W. B., and others have fallen, in referring to my papers under the title of Freemasonry and Judaism. I fear that after all the pains I have taken to point out and maintain the distinction between Jews and Israelites, an important one—though both the seed of Abraham—they lose sight of that distinction, as does a writer in the Observer, who supposes that I am desirous to prove that all Englishmen are Jews. I have no reason to be other than well satisfied with the tone and spirit in which Bro. Buchan comments upon what appears to him to be my errors. He has brought out two or three points on which we are heartily agreed—at all times a good work among brethren. He has also more fully than heretofore brought out some of the points on which we are at decided antagonism. Our points of agreement are, I am sorry to say, but few; they are enough, however, to enable us to stand upon the same platform, and cordially to take each other by the hand. He opens his letter by affirming that "It matters not whether we be Jew or Turk, Hindoo or Christian, Trinitarian or Unitarian, all are alike to Freemasonry, and justice to itself demands that within its pale all be put upon the level—agreeing to differ and differing to agree." That I accept as one of the fundamental principles of our common Craft; and I believe I hold it fast, and act consistently with it. Bro. Buchan's closing admonition is no less deserving our acceptance and observance than his opening proposition: "The path of duty lies in working while it is called to-day; or, as Ecclesiastes has it, 'Whosoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might, for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the grave, whither thou goest.'" I agree with him, too, in feeling that "there is surely nothing unmanly, or unmasonic, in admitting that we are wiser to-day than we were yesterday"—provided always the fact is so. I regret that it is only in these two or three points in Bro. Buchan's letter that he and I are agreed. His philosophy appears to me to be as superficial and erroneous as is his biblical and historical reading; and in the expression of opinion there seems to me to be an exhibition of credulity not exceeded by what he attributes to those who, myself included, substitute idle dreams and the vagaries of the imagination for substantial truths. Bro. Buchan deals very tenderly with my errors and prejudices touching the Bible, which he attributes to the same cause that induced his own former errors in religion, from which he is now, as he feels, happily emancipated. He says, "instead of examining it (the Bible) in an impartial and thoroughly independent manner, we have been altogether guided, hitherto, by our early training and belief, thus getting only a one-sided view." This, he thinks, "is little creditable to either of us." Bro. B.'s investigations and thought have, he says, "led him up" to a departure from this thralldom; while I, alas! am still "cabin'd, cribb'd, confined, bound in" by the dreams and fables of childhood. But I cannot accept his apology for my errors and prejudices; for if he has been investigating and thinking, so have I; but while his investigations and thinkings on this subject have led him out of those errors in which he was entangled by early training and belief, my investigations and thinkings have led me out of what I had imbibed by early training into my present, and, according to Bro. B., erroneous views touching the Bible and what pertains to it. My early training gave me the same notions of the Bible as those now held by Bro. B., after his conversion. Whether I have, as he has, investigated in "an impartial and thoroughly independent manner," I will not positively assert. I believe I have done so; at all events, that was what I desired; and I have endeavoured to give a reason for the faith that is within me, in the writing and publication of many hundreds of pages, forming some bulky volumes, on biblical literature, embracing the genuineness and authenticity of the books of the Bible; the integrity of the text; the value of the various readings found on a collation of ancient MSS. and early versions, &c. These investigations were for the satisfaction of my own mind; and the publication of their results has been in the hope of aiding others, who, like myself, had been led by such writers as those which the end of the eighteenth century produced, to think as Bro. B. now thinks, that "The Bible, as we now have it, is simply, in great measure, a mere collection of Hebrew pamphlets, full of interpolations and alterations of the works of the original authors . . . being full of mistakes, and one version full of mistranslations; while, also, many fables have crept into it." I should be sorry to think that Bro. B. has not "examined in an impartial and thoroughly independent manner" all the various branches of biblical studies, so as to be quite justified in pronouncing his judgment upon them. I will only say for myself, that fifty years of investigation have led me to conclusions the very opposite of those enunciated by Bro. B.; that I read history by a different light, and estimate the value of evidence upon principles different from those by which Bro. B. appears to be guided; so that, while he holds the Bible to be a mere collection of Hebrew pamphlets put together by whom, nobody knows, corrupted in the text, interpolated with fables, and inspired only as Shakespeare, Luther, Milton, Newton, Scott, Watt, Gladstone, and others, have been, I have evidence which I believe no amount of science, sophistry, criticism, ridicule, or Positivism can invalidate, that it is "The Book," full of sublime truths, Divine teachings, and marvellous prophecies, the progressive fulfilment of which is so plainly written on the page of history, that "he who runs may read;" and that he who, after comparing the pages of prophecy with the pages of history, can regard their agreement as only so many "resemblances," or casual coincidences, must have an amount of credulity by far exceeding what he fancies to prevail amongst believers in the Bible.

I have read a good many strange and fanciful things about the human soul, but it appears to me that Bro. Buchan has "capped the climax." He defines it to be (1) "the action of the brain," or (2) "human consciousness." As if action and the consciousness of action were one and the same thing; or (3) "a mere matter of cause and effect." The consciousness being, I presume, the effect of the cause; that is, "the acting of the human brain" originated by some self-generated power, which is, also, the seat of consciousness. Such teaching, it is to be supposed, is much more satisfactory, because more comprehensible and more in accordance with the lights of science than the Mosaic statement, that God the Creator breathed into the material body of man "the breath of lives, and he became a living soul."

I am obliged to Bro. B. for the correction of an error on page 436, where it reads that the Anglo-Saxons, like the ancient Hebrews, reckoned their day from evening to morning, instead of, from evening to evening. It is evidently a clerical error, as there is a reference to the passage, Lev. xxiii. 32, where the words are, "from even to even." It should be observed, however, that it was probably only the sacred day of the Hebrews which they thus reckoned.

I must decline, at present, though with all respect to those who differ from me, to discuss any isolated passages in my papers on Freemasonry and Israelitism. They will soon be brought to a close, and then will be the time for refutation and defence—if they be susceptible of it.

WILLIAM CARPENTER.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR,—Would some learned brother Mason inform me, through the medium of your valuable paper, the names of the several degrees, as practised in English Masonry up to the 33<sup>d</sup>? I fancy the English degrees are under the York Rite. I have made the enquiry from many old and generally well-informed Masons in my own neighbourhood, but, strange to say, not one of them can give me the desired information.

Please understand that I don't want the names of the 33 degrees under the "Ancient and Accepted Scotch Rite," those I have; what I want is, the names of the 33 English degrees.

Compliance with the above will greatly oblige
Yours fraternally,
W.M., R.A.

FREEMASONRY IN HEIDELBERG.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Perhaps some of your readers may be interested by a few words regarding the working of the M.M. degree at Heidelberg. I attended the lodge Rupprecht zu den 5 Rosen, by invitation from one of its members. The lodge itself is a large handsome building in the Byzantine style, and has not long been built; it was used as a hospital during the late war. The whole ceremony of the M.M. degree differs materially from ours. Of course I am precluded from mentioning various points in which the German ritual varies from our own, but such as I can refer to I will.

The lodge was held at 10 a.m. on Sunday. The S.W. and J.W. were both placed in the W. The three candidates were all raised together. The brethren kept on their hats during almost the whole of the ceremony. The lodge was not opened in the E.A. and then gradually raised to the M.M., but was at once opened for work in the latter degree. The candidates were in no wise prepared, as in our lodges.

There were other and greater differences in the manner of working, which I cannot more nearly refer to, but which made the ceremony entirely unlike that of our own lodges. The whole, however, was most excellently performed; the worthy W.M. went through his duty in a very impressive manner, and his officers (not always the case in our own lodges) knew their work thoroughly.

The lodge numbers nearly one hundred members, and the W.M. and brethren are always happy to see strange brethren at their meetings.

Yours fraternally,
G. E. C.

PROVINCIAL GRAND CONCLAVE OF KNIGHTS TEMPLAR FOR DEVON.

A meeting of the above Grand Conclave was recently held at Plymouth. Present: V.E. Sir Knights Rev. J. Huyshe, M.A., P.G.C., and L. P. Metham, D.P.G.C.; E. Sir Kts. J. Sadler, 1st Capt.; J. Shanks, 2nd Capt.; I. Watts, Treas.; J. J. Clase, Chancellor; F. Codd, Vice-Chancellor; Hilley, 1st Expert; Austin, 2nd Expert; J. N. Blake, D. of C.; E. A. Davis, Asst. D. of C.; P. B. Clemens, Capt. of Lines; P. Holmes, 1st A.D.C.; Warren, Sword-br.; Gregory, Equerry; J. Rogers, Asst. Equerry; also Sir Knights Bird, Harvey, F. R. Tomes, H. F. Hearle, C. Godschalk, H. Bartlett, T. Hunt, J. Port, Coad, J. Secombe, J. B. Kerswill, J. E. Curteis, T. S. Bayly, J. O. Oxland, J. Montgomery, J. Matthews, J. R. Hicks, J. W. Keyworth, T. Dand, S. Jones, Robinson Rodd, &c.

The sum of twenty guineas was granted from the funds of the Prov. G. Encampment to the Fortescue Memorial Fund, five guineas to the Boys' School, and two guineas to the Masonic Bed in the Devonport Royal Albert Hospital.

The V.E. Prov. Grand Commander appointed the following Sir Knights as officers for the ensuing year:—J. P. Metham, D.P.G.C.; Colonel Elliott, G. Prior; Capt. Shanks, G. Sub Prior; Rev. J. Dickinson, G. Prelate; John Way, 1st Captain; H. Dubosc, 2nd Captain; J. J. Clase, G. Chancellor; F. Codd, G. Vice-Chancellor; Hambly, G. Treas.; J. R. Hicks, G. Almoner; Curteis, G. Registrar; Keyworth, 1st Expert; Dand, 2nd Expert; Passmore, 1st Capt. of Lines; Henry Bartlett, 2nd Capt. of Lines; Montgomery, Dir. of Cers.; Kerswill, Asst. Dir. of Cers.; Port, Herald; Coad, Standard-bearer; Hearle, Sword-bearer.

THE FAIR SEX AND ADOPTIVE MASONRY.

(Continued from page 389.)

ARTICLE IX.

The songs, appointed by the Eastern Star Order, possess some merit in a literary point of view, and, when efficiently rendered, must add very materially to the solemnity of the service prescribed. The compositions forming the repertoire of the Institution may be summarised thus: "The Lament," "Pious Devotion," "The Widow's Advent," "Sublime Prayer," "Inflexible Faith," "Immortal Home," "The Sister's Funeral," "The Sister's Grave," "Love and Light," "Come Home Early," "Good Night."

The restrictions as to the decorations that shall be worn by a sister are expounded in such a manner as to obviate all misunderstanding. They are as follows:—

"Ladies who receive the degrees of the Eastern Star are entitled to wear, as a decoration, any well-arranged device, emblematical of the Order, and they are earnestly advised to adopt some appropriate badge, particularly when travelling, because, in case of an accident, their claims to the protection of Masons (if any who may have received the degrees should be present) would be easily recognised. The pin or brooch, in the form of a five-pointed star, of gold, enamelled, or of precious coloured stones, may be worn, on all occasions, as a dress ornament. The scarf of silk ribbon, three inches wide, the five proper colours woven lengthwise through it, is most appropriate at Masonic festivals, where Masons appear in regalia. The scarf should be ornamented with three rosettes; one on the shoulder (flat, of red and blue-coloured ribbons), one on the breast (quilled, of blue, white, red, yellow, and green-coloured ribbons), one at the crossing (flat, of yellow and green-coloured ribbons); each rosette ornamented with a five-pointed gilt star in the centre—the ends of the scarf to be finished with coloured silk fringe. It is to be worn from right to left."

The certificate presented to each sister who has passed through the several degrees is addressed to members of the "mystic tie," and appeals for the extension of favour from the Craft to the lady in possession of the document. The formula is in this wise:—

"The Order of the Eastern Star.

"To all enlightened Free and Accepted Masons around the Globe, Greeting.—This is to certify that the bearer, _____, is Masonically vouched for to us as the (wife, sister, or daughter) of Brother _____, a Master Mason in good standing in _____ Lodge, No. _____, at _____.

"She has received under solemn pledges of honour, from one of the patrons of the Eastern Star, all the light of this Order, and she truly emulates the virtues of the immortal characters therein commemorated. So faithful and so true a lady deserves the favourable regards of Freemasons, whose principles she admires, and in whose benevolent work she is ready to co-operate. She is therefore recommended to the protection and fraternal respect of all Free and Accepted Masons, wherever dispersed.

"In testimony whereof we, the representatives of the National Order of the Eastern Star and of the State Branch of _____, have subscribed our names at _____, and caused the national seal to be affixed the _____ day of _____, A.D. _____.

"_____, National Patron.

(Seal.) "_____, National Treasurer.

"_____, National Secretary.

"Virtus Omnia Probitate."

The Eastern Star Order has of late received some favour among the ladies in America, and has unquestionably wrought much good in the social condition of the country. The number of Master Masons associated with the Institution has not been divulged by the authorities, but it is, in many quarters, believed to be very limited in consequence of the lukewarm interest in its maintenance displayed by the regular Craft. If encouragement and support be not extended to the Society by the Fraternity generally, it may be reasonably predicted that the sisterly community will not be able to increase its sphere of action beyond the limits of the continent, and may, therefore (like many undertakings), eventually collapse after a lingering existence. It would, of course, be quite impossible for uninitiated members of "the mystic tie" to identify any lady connected with the Order, if they felt ever so disposed to award that protection and respect which the principles of the Sisterhood demand. The operations of the Institution are at present almost exclusively confined to the fair sex, and unless powerful aid is afforded by Free and Accepted Masons throughout the world, the intentions of the founder cannot be realised. There can be no doubt that the numerous platform women orators spread over the different States of the Union entertain no misgivings of the permanent success of the Order, because the sisterly community is viewed by them in the light of a precursor of the "independence," of women and the establishment of "rights" in civilised nations. This peculiar sect advocating woman's cause, as it is termed, must be credited with much persistency and aptitude in disclaiming against the supposed wrongs and oppression suffered from the opposite sex. It must, however, be acknowledged that, notwithstanding the noisy and foolish demonstrations incessantly paraded before the public, there are in different parts of the world millions of sensible women who view these scenes with great indifference, and who prefer to enjoy the confidence and goodwill of the sterner sex rather than waste time in frivolous behaviour that would surely disturb the serenity of the matrimonial firmament. It is hard to comprehend the meaning of these "rights." How may they be interpreted? Do they signify that women must be so exalted as to render man subservient for ever to her wishes, and that man must be deprived of the important trust given to him by the Creator? Do these "rights" imply that woman shall till the soil, and do every conceivable out-door labour, while man must remain contentedly at home, doing nothing for the maintenance of the household? If these questions are answered in the affirmative, then may it be said that such a revolution in the social aspect of the world would prove incalculably disastrous to the respect and esteem the sex has hitherto enjoyed from the "lords of creation." The writer is impelled by his own feelings to assert that mankind would deplore the change greater than any other worldly consideration, because woman would, by taking a foremost part in the rough business of life, become hardened in nature. The deprivation of the attributes of woman would be felt throughout the world, and it is difficult to imagine the evils that would be entailed upon succeeding generations if this loss were a reality. It is to be hoped that the disaffection now observed in various places will soon subside into oblivion. Let woman confine her attention to her home duties, and assiduously study to improve the condition of man, and she will assuredly sustain his admiration and ensure his lasting protection and sympathy. The words of Goldsmith and Matthew Henry are worthy of being produced in this column for the consideration of both sexes. The former author says: "The modest virgin, the prudent wife, and the careful matron are much more serviceable in life than petticoated philosophers, blustering heroines, or virago queens. She who makes her husband and her children happy, who reclains the one from vice, and trains up the other to virtue, is a much greater character than ladies described in romance, whose whole occupation is to murder mankind with shafts from the quiver of their eyes." The latter-mentioned author is equally explicit in his views. He observes that "Woman was made out of the rib, taken from the side of a man; not out of his head, to rule him, but out of his side to be his equal, under his arm to be protected, and near his heart to be beloved." The present writer is impressed with the idea that woman can exercise great influence over the actions and dispositions of man, rendering the roughest nature tractable to her will. Shall one secret be divulged for the benefit of wives in general, and of those ladies who meditate marriage in particular? This proposition will possibly receive the ready assent of every fair reader, for what can be a more interesting theme than the proper management of a husband?

(To be concluded in our next.)

LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Benevolence was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday, the 18th inst., under the presidency of Bro. J. Numm, S.V.P., who was supported by Bro. J. Brett, J.V.P., as S.W.; J. Savage, as J.W.; J. Smith, F. Walters, H. Garrod, S. Gale, C. A. Cottebrunc, S. May, W. Mann, P. Kirke, W. C. Crick, C. P. Ward, G. Bolton, C. J. Hogg, E. H. Finney, and other brethren.

Grants were made to the following cases: The widow of Bro. S. A., of Lodge 344, Radcliffe Bridge, £20; Bro. W. R., 384, Bangor, £5; the widow of Bro. J. F., 153, Gibraltar, £10; the widow of Bro. J. D., 159, East Stonehouse, £10; Bro. A. G., 879, Peckham, £20; the infant child of late Bro. C. L. N. D., 957, London, £10; Bro. R. J. P. B., 548, Deptford, £30; Bro. C. J. P., 548, Deptford, £10; Bro. J. P., 59, London, £30; Bro. W. F., 239, Jamaica, £15; and Bro. W. H., 87, London, £15.

Four cases were deferred to the next meeting, and the lodge was closed.

INSTRUCTION.—The return visit of the Doric Lodge of Instruction to the United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction is fixed for the evening of Friday, the 27th inst., at six o'clock precisely, when fifteen members of the former lodge will work the Fifteen Sections, under the presidency of Bro. John Thomas, P.M., P.Z. 507, 720, 1239, &c., the Honorary Preceptor of the "United Pilgrims." The meeting will be held at the Duke of Edinburgh Tavern, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton. We strongly recommend such of our readers as are instructed in the spread of Masonic instruction to attend on the occasion, as they will have an opportunity to observe the great advantages to be derived from the interchange of visits which these lodges have originated. We are requested to notify that with a view to extend the usefulness of the United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, its members have reduced the amount of introductory fees and subscriptions, and have made such other arrangements as will doubtless considerably increase their numbers and their ability to do good Masonic service in the south of London.

AN OLD FREEMASON.—Amongst the notabilities of Haworth is the oldest regular Freemason in England, viz., the venerable James Brown, P.M., who was duly initiated into the mysteries of the Order A.D. 1807, and is a member of the "Three Graces Lodge," Haworth, No. 408. He is now in his eighty-sixth year. During his lifetime he has seen much service both at home and abroad, for he was at Quebec engaged in the American war in 1814. He has been a strong, healthy, active man, and is at present in a stronger state of health and strength than most at his stage of life.

DEATH OF AN OLD CUMBERLAND FREEMASON.—We have to record the death of the oldest Freemason in the province of Cumberland and Westmorland, and one of the oldest, if not the oldest, in England. Bro. John Pearson, of Wigton, died on Saturday morning, 23rd ult., curiously enough on the very day he completed his eighty-sixth year. He was made a Freemason so long ago as the year 1805, at Neston, in Cheshire (Lodge No. 258). In the year 1807, Bro. Pearson removed to Wigton, and was one of the "three Johns" who established the Wigton St. John's Lodge, now 327—then 607—and the first warrant was granted to him and others. He was all his life an enthusiastic Mason, and attained to as high a position as is possible to any ordinary member of the Fraternity; in fact much higher than is usually attained. He was Provincial Grand Secretary. He gave the late Sir James Graham, P.G.M., his two higher degrees; and also assisted in advancing the late Admiral Graham. He gave the late Bro. Blair, P.G.M. for Lancashire, all his three degrees, and there were few Masonic ceremonies in the two counties which he did not take part in. He attended the anniversary meetings of his lodge for no fewer than fifty-six years, never missing one until the infirmities of age prevented him. Up to the day of his death his memory and faculties were quite clear, and he could recall even the most minute portion of the mystic ceremonies of the "ancient Craft." He was interred on Monday, 25th September, and his remains were attended to the grave by a large number of the brethren, many of the neighbouring towns being represented. The coffin was borne to the grave by some of the oldest members of the lodge, and a large number of his old friends attended the funeral.

THEATRICAL.

DRURY-LANE.—The performances at this fashionable theatre commences with the laughable sketch, by Mr. J. Oxenden, entitled, "The Wrong Man in the Right Place," supported by the talented Vokes family. "Rebecca," from the pen of Mr. Andrew Halliday, is the drama, and for spectacular effect it has never been surpassed. "Number Six, Duke-street," a farce, is the concluding piece. The theatre is crowded every evening. The novelty likely to be produced at Christmas will, we hear, be founded on the old British legend of "King Arthur."

ADELPHI.—We need only remind our readers that "Notre Dame" has now reached over its 170th night, to show (as we predicted) what a glorious success it really is. "Down in a Balloon" commences, and "Buttons" finishes, the attractive programme of this popular theatre.

VAUDEVILLE.—The comedietta "Autumn Manœuvres," J. Albery's comedy, "Apple Blossoms," and H. J. Byron's extravaganza, "The Orange Tree and the Humble Bee," comprise the entertainments at this select theatre. The house is crowded every night, and we advise all to apply early for booking seats, so as to prevent disappointment.

We notice with pleasure that Bro. Samuel Adams announces his first complimentary benefit will take place at the Royal Music Hall (where he is manager), on next Wednesday, 25th instant.

BRO. W. HOLLAND is, we understand, to have the general management at the Royal Victoria Palace of Varieties, which is nearly completed. We cordially wish him every success.

It is with pleasure that we have heard of the proposal to erect a Provincial Grand Lodge for Dundee, under the designation of the "Provincial Grand Lodge for the Municipal Province of Dundee." The brethren have selected Bro. Lieut.-Col. Alison, for the proposed honour. Hitherto Dundee has been made the Provincial Grand Lodge of Forfarshire, and when we state that that Grand Body has not met for three years past, this step on the part of the lodges in Dundee is certainly necessary.

AN EXCITING SCENE IN THE CITY.—One of those accidents which sometimes take place in the City and cause such havoc and stoppage of business occurred last week in Gracechurch-street. About four o'clock a dray was being driven, when from some cause or other the horses suddenly became restive and unmanageable, and the dray with its ladder protruding behind was backed into the shop front of Bro. Kibble, jeweller, of No. 22, Gracechurch-street. The large plate-glass front was shattered to pieces and the valuable stock of watches, clocks, and jewellery scattered in the roadway. The accident happened near one of the shafts being driven for the main drainage—of which there are several in the street—and the kicking of the horses in their struggles to free themselves from the reins, which had become entangled with their legs, terrified the large crowd which, as a matter of course, soon collected. A number of the swell mob and light-fingered gentry—always on the alert for such accidents—were quickly on the spot, under the pretence of "assisting," and, of course, made the most of such an opportunity of helping themselves and confederates. Seeing how matters stood, the neighbours and a number of friends, under the direction of Inspector Harrison, of the City police, joined hands and formed a ring round the scene of the disaster, and thus quickly put an end to the practices of the light-fingered "helpers." The police rendered every assistance by stopping the carriage traffic at once, and it is mainly owing to their prompt exertions that much more valuable property did not go amissing. Several bushels of broken glass were picked up, and these have to be carefully looked through for diamonds and other precious stones, as well as pieces of gold, before the exact loss can be ascertained.

The following matter stands over:—"Freemasonry and Israelitism" (XXI.); "The Footsteps of Masonry"; "Israelitish Origin of the Anglo-Saxon Race"; "The Philosophy of Freemasonry"; "The state of Masonry in England from the earliest Traditions to the Norman Conquest"; "The Royal Order of Scotland and its Antiquity"; "Bro. Carpenter and Bro. Buchan"; "The Purple in West Lancashire"; Poetry, Notes and Queries, &c., &c. Reports of Craft Lodges 216, 1194, 1289, 1302, 1327; Mark Lodges 104 and 137 (consecration); Byzantine Red Cross Conclave; &c.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending October 28, 1871.

The Editor will be glad to have notice from Secretaries of lodges and chapters of any change in place or time of meeting.

MONDAY, OCT. 23.

Lodge 28, Old King's Arms, Freemasons' Hall.
 ,, 183, Unity, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
 ,, 902, Burgoyne, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 ,, 905, De Grey and Ripon, Great Ilford.
 Chap. 25, Robert Burns, Freemasons' Hall.
 Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
 Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
 Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern-Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Swan Tavern, Mount-street, Grosvenor-square, at 8.
 Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30; Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
 British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
 Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. Dilley, Preceptor.
 St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, OCT. 24.

Lodge 14, Tuscan, Freemasons' Hall.
 ,, 92, Moira, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
 ,, 145, Prudent Brethren, Freemasons' Hall.
 ,, 186, Industry, Freemasons' Hall.
 ,, 205, Israel.
 ,, 1158, Southern Star, Montpelier Tav., Walworth.
 ,, 1196, Urban, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell.
 Chap. 7, Royal York, Freemasons' Hall.
 Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
 Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
 Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, Preceptor.
 Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
 Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
 Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
 Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.
 Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, Gladstone Tavern, Bishopsgate-street Within, at 7.30; Bro. Bolton (W.M. 1227), Preceptor.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 25.

Lodge 212, Euphrates, Masons' Hall, Masons'-avenue, Basinghall-street.
 ,, 507, United Pilgrims, Horns Tavern, Kennington.
 ,, 754, High Cross, Seven Sisters' Tav., Tottenham.
 ,, 871, Royal Oak, White Swan Tavern, Deptford.
 ,, 898, Temperance in the East, 6, Newby-place, Poplar.
 ,, 1056, Victoria, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 Chap. 13, Union Waterloo, Masonic Hall, Woolwich.
 ,, 753, Prince Frederick William, Knights of St. John Hotel, St. John's Wood.
 Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
 United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
 Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
 Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7½.
 Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
 Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
 Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Landus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, OCT. 26.

General Committee Girls' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4.
 Lodge 22, Neptune, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street.
 ,, 60, Peace and Harmony, London Tav., Bishopsgate-street.
 ,, 65, Prosperity, Guildhall Coffee House, Gresham-street.
 ,, 66, Grenadiers, Freemasons' Hall.
 Chap. 29, St. Albans, Albion Hotel, Aldersgate-street.
 ,, 73, Mount Lebanon, Bridge-house Hotel, Southwark.
 ,, 177, Domestic, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 ,, 534, Polish National, Freemasons' Hall.
 The R.A. Chapter of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor. Ceremony, History of Moses' Rod, and part sections.
 Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses, Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 Pannure Lodge of Instruction (720), Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7; Bro. John Thomas, Preceptor.

Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern, Bath-street, City-rod; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
 United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
 St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.

FRIDAY, OCT. 27.

Lodge 569, Fitzroy, Head Quarters Hon. Artillery Company, Finsbury.
 „ 861, Finsbury, Jolly Anglers, Bath-st., St. Luke's Chap. 749, Belgrave, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
 Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
 Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Htl., Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
 Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Muggerridge, Preceptor.
 Robert Burns Lodge of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, at 8; Bro. Wm. Watson, Preceptor.
 Burgoyne Lodge of Instruction, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, N.W., at 8.
 St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
 United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
 Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
 St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
 Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
 Burdett Courts Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
 Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West Smith, Preceptor.

SATURDAY, OCT. 28.

Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. J. Comb, Preceptor.
 Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 7.30; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
 Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.

BOOTS of the Period at BLAKEY'S, Lime-street Liverpool (under the Alexandra Theatre).—[Adv.]

“MORE than a year ago one of my children was attacked with bronchitis, and, after a long illness, was given up by my physician as ‘past cure.’ I was then induced to try your Vegetable Pain Killer, and from the time I began the use of it the child rapidly got better, and is now strong and healthy.—JOHN WINSTANLEY, 10, Whittle-st., L'pool, Jan. 1869.—To P. D. & Son.”

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Look to your health.—Any abrupt change in the weather, always causes much disordered action in the human body. It is a matter of primary importance to rectify every irregularity without delay, which it is in the power of every one to do by taking Holloway's Pills. These Pills are the best preventives of indigestion, and the mildest aperients ever prescribed. They purify and cool the blood, and equalise the circulation through the system, even to the minutest vessels of the skin. They act admirably on the liver and kidneys; by these salutary effects many ailments are averted, and more serious illness prevented. Persons subject to bilious attacks, flatulency, gout, rheumatism, and rheumatic gout, will be benefited by this treatment.

Advertisements.

LONDON AGENT or REPRESENTATIVE.—Advertiser having finished an Engagement, offers his Services, partial or entire, or would treat for PARTNERSHIP, as TRAVELLER, MANAGER, and AGENT. Has done business, principally, with Ironmongers, Oil Merchants, and Oilmen, in London and towns south of Leeds. Has City Office and small basement Storage. Best references.—Address, K. L. M., care of A. Reed, 21, St. Paul's-place, Canonbury, London, N.

Masonic Note Paper and Envelopes,
For Craft, Mark, Royal Arch, Red Cross of Rome and Constantine, Rose Croix, Knights Templar, 30th Degree.
 IN BOXES THREE SHILLINGS.
 WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
 BRO. GEORGE KENNING'S
 MASONIC DEPOT, LITTLE BRITAIN, LONDON

TILL ROBBERIES IMPOSSIBLE.

Patent Self-Locking THIEF-PROOF DETECTOR TILL

THE drawer is securely locked when closed, and as easily opened as a common drawer by the person in charge; but any other person trying to open it would instantly double-lock it and ring an alarm. No Key is used. The person in charge, or his next going to his drawer, would know that an attempt had been made. The unlocking, double or single, is easily done by the proper person. Each Till is susceptible of thirty distinct changes of setting—easily done—or thirty of these Tills can be used in one warehouse and all differently set. They are in general use in America. Can be fixed to Table or Counter in a few minutes by four screws, and may be used with confidence in an Open Market, Warehouse, or Shop.

To be had from the Agent :
 JOHN BAIN, 35, FINSBURY-CIRCUS, LONDON, E.C.

M. A. VERKRÜZEN (Grower's Agent),

Invites attention to his Fine and Extensive Stock of PURE AND SELECTED GERMAN WINES, INCLUDING THE LIGHT, REFRESHING DINNER SORTS, and all grades up to the Greatest Growths.

As also to his Fine CHAMPAGNES, SHERRIES, CLARETS, PORTS, &c.

to which the following Testimonial has been awarded :—
Thirty-ninth Annual Meeting of the British Medical Association, held for 1871 at Plymouth.

“We, the undersigned Members of the British Medical Association, having tasted the various Wines exhibited by Mr. M. A. Verkrüzen, of 3, Fell-street, Wood-street, London, in Palatinate Wines, Moselle and Saar, Red Hocks, Champagnes, &c., we feel pleasure in testifying to their excellent character for purity and wholesomeness; especially these Wines we can strongly recommend for Invalids, possessing as they do all the invigorating and exhilarating qualities, and, being purely natural Wines, contain no alcoholic or other dangerous adulteration.”

SIGNATURES.

JOHN A. BOLTON, M.D., Leicester.	PEARSON R. CRESWELL, Merthyr Tydvil.	S. W. BROADBENT, Durham.
HENRY STEAR, Saffron Walden.	W. BROWN, Callington.	A. H. DOLMAN, Derby.
THOMAS LITTLETON, M.B., Plymouth.	J. F. MILLER, Paris.	SAML. DAY ROSS, M.D., London.
WILLIAM HALL, Salford.	A. B. CIEVES, M.B., &c., Devonport.	B. NANKIVELL, M.D., Torquay.
THOMAS WILD, Manchester.	A. MACKINTOSH, M.D., Callington.	FREDK. ROW, M.D., Devonport.
JOHN BEATTIE, Plymouth.	E. J. WORTH, Millbrook, Devonport.	THOS. CHAS. S. CORRY, M.D., Belfast.
EDMUND JONES, Ross.	J. RABY, St. Germans.	RICHD. CANNON, H.M.S. Royal Adelaide (Flag Ship).
ROBT. BARNES, London.	HENRY GREENWAY, Plymouth.	JOHN WHIPPLE, F.R.C.S.
F. JAGIELSKI, London.	BENSON BAKER, London.	GEO. ECCLES, Plymouth.
J. MILNER FOTHERGILL, Leeds.

Many of the above and other eminent Medical Gentlemen have since patronised Mr. M. A. Verkrüzen with Orders for his Wines.

Detailed Price-list sent free by post on application.

Wholesale Depot: 3, Fell-street, Wood-street, London, E.C.

Every Person requiring an OUTFIT should send for

“THE OUTFITTER:”

PUBLISHED AND FORWARDED FREE BY

GANN, JONES & Co.,

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURING OUTFITTERS.

For Military Outfits, estimates, &c. ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Shirts of all descriptions ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Naval " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Hosiery and Underclothing ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Civil Service " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Rugs and Umbrellas ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for the Traveller ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Waterproof Clothing ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for the Emigrant ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Tropical " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for Lads going to School ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Canadian " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for Lads going to Sea ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Cricketing " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for an Apprentice ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Collars, Shirt-fronts, Wristbands... see THE OUTFITTER.
For the New Books of the Quarter ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Gann, Jones & Co.'s Sewing Machines see THE OUTFITTER.
For Routes to principal parts of the World ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For the New Machine, "The Lady" (£2 15s.) ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Distances, Passenger Rates, &c., to ditto... see THE OUTFITTER.		For the leading Machines of all Makers ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Cricketing and Athletic Reports for the Quarter, see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Leading Manufacturers ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Prices of Gentlemanly yet Economic Dress ... see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Enterprising Tradesmen ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Prices of the Very Best Shirts ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For the Addresses of Good Schools ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.

Depot, 171, FENCHURCH STREET. Manufactory, 15 and 16, BLOMFIELD STREET, E.C.

LONDON AND SUBURBAN
MUTUAL BUILDING-SOCIETY,
Enrolled in 1855, pursuant to Act of Parliament.
 SHARES, £25 each, may be paid in one sum, or by Monthly Subscriptions of 5s. per share.
 INVESTING MEMBERS receive 5 per cent. Interest, and Share of Surplus Profits.
 MONEY ADVANCED ON MORTGAGE, without Premium, for any term of years.
 Bro. JONATHAN TAYLOR (Doric 933), Secretary.
 Offices:—107a, FENCHURCH STREET, E.C.

THE BIRKBECK
 Is the only BUILDING SOCIETY whose Annual Receipts exceed ONE MILLION!
How to Purchase a House for Two Guineas per Month, With IMMEDIATE POSSESSION and NO RENT TO PAY. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY, 29 & 30, Southampton-buildings, Chancery-lane.
How to purchase a Plot of Land for Five Shillings per month With Immediate Possession, either for Building or Gardening Purposes, apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY, 29 & 30, Southampton-buildings, Chancery-lane.
How to Invest Money with safety at 4 1/2 per cent. Interest, Apply to the Office of the BIRKBECK BANK.
 All sums under £50 repayable upon demand. Current accounts opened similar to Ordinary Bankers. Cheque Books supplied. Office hours from 10 till 4 daily, on Mondays from 10 till 9, and on Saturdays from 10 till 2. A small pamphlet, containing full particulars, may be obtained gratis, or sent Post-free on application to FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

THE UPHALL MINERAL OIL COMPANY (LIMITED).
 The Paraffin Oil manufactured by this Company is now admitted to be the finest in the market.
 D. FLANNERY,
 15, BACHELOR'S WALK, DUBLIN,
 Sole Agent for Ireland.

MONEY, in large or small amounts, and for long or short periods, with or without a life policy, readily obtainable at the NATIONAL GUARDIAN ASSURANCE COMPANY (Limited), No. 484, Oxford-street, W.C.
 THOS. BOURNE, Res. Sec.

MONEY promptly ADVANCED on personal or available security. A moderate interest, repayable by instalments. Stamp for re-ly. REAL and PERSONAL ADVANCE COMPANY (Limited), 3, Tavistock-street, Covent-garden, and 14, Southampton-row, Bloomsbury.
 P. J. HARVEY, Sec.

TO CONCESSIONAIRES, PROMOTERS, and FINANCIAL AGENTS.—Shares in new undertakings successfully influenced and placed.—Address, in perfect confidence, "Operator," care of Brother John Baptist Wolpert, Advertising Agent, 24, Austin Friars, London, E.C.

MR. RICHARD RING, Solicitor, of 29, Frederick Street, Gray's Inn, begs to inform his Clients that he has opened an Office at 23, WORSHP STREET, FINSBURY, and the Divorce Cases are conducted. Arrangements with Creditors promptly made under the present Bankruptcy Act.

WILLIAM WINSOR, of 8, Miles's-lane, London-bridge, Imports CIGARS of the very Finest Brands only, and Manufactures Cigars from the Choice of Tobaccos. Wholesale and Retail.

The Case of Annie M. Pattison.

MRS. PATTISON, of Colchester, Essex, begs to express her most sincere and heartfelt THANKS to all the Brethren who, by their activity and zeal, secured the election of her child to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.

COMMISSION.—Wanted, a first-class MAN to represent a well-known Rheims Champagne House in Scotland and Ireland. None need apply except those with a good connection, and who can furnish good references addressed to Bro. John Baptist Wolpert, Advertising Agent, 24, Austin Friars, City.

THE SOUTH-WESTERN INDEX LIST of Furnished and Unfurnished HOUSES TO BE LET, and of ESTATES FOR SALE in the SOUTH-WEST of LONDON, is published Monthly by

MR. JAS. STEVENS, AUCTIONEER & ESTATE AGENT, CLAPHAM COMMON, S.W.
 A useful work of reference for those seeking Residences, and saving much trouble in obtaining information of properties for disposal in the S.W. district.

Send postcard with your address, and a copy will be forwarded by return post.

THE LONDON MIRROR.
 Published every Saturday: price 4d.
 The object of this journal is to set forth the claims of the many Religious, Educational, Benevolent, and Prudential Institutions of the United Kingdom, and week by week to report their proceedings, whether as Meetings, Ceremonies, Anniversaries, or Elections, so as to present these National Institutions to the favour of the Public.
 Office, 59, Southampton-row, Russell-square, London, W.C.

"THE FREEMASON" OF ST. LOUIS.
 —The Largest Masonic Monthly in the World. Published at St. Louis, Mo., by GEO. FRANK GOBLEY, Grand Secretary and Recorder of the four Grand Bodies of Missouri.
 The Freemason contains tidings from every quarter of the world and will be found of great advantage to all Masons, especially those interested in American affairs. Terms $2 per annum, and to those who subscribe for the London FREEMASON the price will be $1 50 currency. Postage free.
 Subscriptions received by the London FREEMASON.

THE MASONIC TROWEL.—A Masonic Journal, published on the 15th of every month, by H. G. REYNOLDS, Jun., Springfield, Illinois, United States of America. Sixteen pages large quarto. Circulation 20,000 monthly.
 Terms to be obtained, and Subscriptions received, at THE FREEMASON Office, 2, 3, and 4, Little Britain, and forwarded free of charge.

THE JEWISH RECORD. ONE PENNY WEEKLY.
 Office:—1, DEVONSHIRE STREET BISHOPSGATE.

THE JEWISH CHRONICLE,
 Price Twopence.
 Office:—43, FINSBURY SQUARE, E.C.

TESSELATED CARPETING,
 FOR
 Lodges, Chapters, Encampments, &c.,
 Four Feet wide, 3/9 per Yard.
MASONIC DEPOT, LITTLE BRITAIN.

MASONIC MUSIC IN STOCK
 AT
 BRO. KENNING'S MASONIC DEPOTS.
 THE RED CROSS SONG; composed by Bro. H. PARKER, words by Bro. R. W. LITTLE ... 3/0
 WHAT BETTER THEME THAN MASONRY? words by Bro. JAMES STEVENS; music by Bro. WILHELM GANZ ... 4/0
 BROTHERLY LOVE, RELIEF AND TRUTH; written by Bro. SEWELL; composed by Bro. J. RHODES ... 4/0
 THE FINAL TOAST; written by D. L. RICHARDSON; music by Bro. EDWIN J. CROW ... 3/0
 THE E.A. SONG; arranged by the late Bro. PARRY, of the "Lodge of Antiquity," No. 2 ... 6d.
 MASONIC HARMONIA ... 7/0
 MASONIC MUSIC, compiled for the use of the "Merchants Lodge," No. 241, by Bro. J. H. YOUNGHUSBAND, P.M., P.Z., P.E.C., and P. Prov. J.G.W. West Lancashire ... 6d.
 THE FREEMASON (Tell me the sign, John); written by GEORGE PALMER ... 3/0
 THREE TIMES THREE; Composed by Bro. HARROWAY, "Royal York Lodge," Brighton ... 3/0
 THE SHAKE OF THE HAND (in G & B flat); composed by JOHN BLOCKLEY ... 3/0
 THE FREEMASONS' FESTIVAL MARCH & MASONIC HYMN, by Bro. W. B. TOLPUTT (Past Master of the "Temple Lodge," No. 816, Folkestone) ... 3/0
 THE FREEMASON QUADRILLES; inscribed (by permission) to the Right Hon. the Earl de Grey and Ripon, K.G.; by Bro. JOSHUA MARSHALL (P.G.O., West Yorkshire), Solo or Duet ... 4/0
 MUSIC FOR THE CEREMONY OF ADVANCEMENT TO THE MARK DEGREE; composed by Bro. EDWIN J. CROW, dedicated to the Grand Master, Bro. Rev. G. R. Portal ... 3/0
All the above Half-Price.

THE MASONIC SERVICE; by J. C. BAKER, No. 241 ... 1/0

MASONIC BOOKS IN STOCK
 AT
 BRO. KENNING'S MASONIC DEPOTS.
 Sichel's Ahiman Rezon (cloth) ... 5/-
 " Freemason's Monitor (tucks) ... 4/8
 R. A. Companion ... 3/6
 Guide to the Chapter (cloth) ... 5/-
 Manual ... 2/6
 Book A. and A. Rite ... 17/6
 R. and S.M. Council Monitor ... 3/6
 Swedenbourg Rite ... 4/6
 Masonic Token (cloth gilt) ... 7/-
 Macoy's Manual E. Star ... 3/3
 Simon's B.K. Commandery (tucks) ... 3/6
 Origin of Masonry ... 3/6
 Chase's Digest of Masonic Law ... 5/6
 Pierson's Traditions ... 7/-
 Signet of King Solomon ... 4/6
 Rationale and Ethics (cloth) ... 5/6
 Simon's Jurisprudence ... 5/6
 Washington and Compeers (cloth) ... 9/-
 Obituary Rites ... 1/6
 Masonic Gatherings, by Bro. G. Taylor, P.M. ... 5/0
 Portal's Symbols (cloth) ... 3/6
 Lockwood's Masonic Law ... 4/-
 Webb's Monitor (tucks) ... 3/6
 Drew's Handbook ... 3/6
 Lawrence's Moral Design ... 3/6
 Wooldriff's Masonic Code ... 2/-
 Lights and Shadows (cloth) ... 6/-
 Cross True Masonic Chart ... 4/6
 Mystic Tie (cloth) ... 5/6
 Ritual of Freemasonry ... 14/-
 Reflected Rays of Light ... 1/-
 Red Cross Statutes ... 1/6
 Freemasonry in Relation to Civil Authority and the Family Circle ... 1/-
 Kingston Masonic Annual ... 3/-
 Knight Templar Sermon ... 6d.
 The Rosierucian ... 1/6
 S.G.C. Regulations ... 2/6
 Royal Arch ... 1/6
 G.L. Constitutions ... 2/6
 Mark Constitutions ... 3/6 and 5/6
 Knights Templar Statute ... 3/6 and 5/6
 Craft, Mark, R.A., R.C., R. +, K.T. Books.
 Vols. I, II., and III. of the FREEMASON, 4/6, 7/6 & 15/-
 Book of Illustrations Clothing and Jewels (coloured) 2/6
 General History of Freemasonry (Rebeld in Europe) 15/-
 World's Masonic Register, Hymneman ... 17/6
 Stories of the Fireside, Barber ... 7/6
 Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar, 1871 and 1872 ... 2/-
 Grand Lodge Calendar ... 2/-
 Lodge Bibles ... 15/- 21/- 42/-
 Chapter Bibles ... 15/- 21/- 42/-
 Laws of the Supreme G.C. of Scotland ... 3/6
 Masonic Trials, by H. M. Look ... 6/-

WANTED.—PUPILS to learn CHROMO-LITHOGRAPHY (a notion of drawing required)
 .t Mr. Rosenthal's, 2, Red Lion Square.

The Lombard Exchange & News Room,
 LOMBARD STREET, LONDON, E.C.

TERMS: £ s. d.
 Entrance Fee ... 3 3 0
 Annual Subscription ... 3 3 0
 Members residing and carrying on business at a distance of fifty miles and upwards from London, Merchant Captains, & Clerks to Subscribers (no entrance fee) ... 1 1 0
 The Room is well supplied with newspapers, telegrams, and books of reference. It includes a Post-office, Poste Restante, Telegraph-office, Reading and Writing Room, Restaurant, Lavatories, &c.; also copying machines for the use of subscribers.

Bro. JOHN H. YOUNGHUSBAND,
 P.M., P.Z., P.E.C., P.P.J.G.W., &c, Manager.

Bro. JAMES B. SLY,
Silver and Gold Engraver of Arms, Crests, Monograms, and Inscriptions,

RATHBONE PLACE, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON, W.
 Volunteer Prizes and Presentation Badges engraved with great dispatch. Watch Cases Enamelled with Arms and Monograms. Saw-pierced Monograms made in Metal-Gilt Silver, or Gold, and mounted to Book Covers or Cigar Cases. Masonic emblems made.

DIE-SINKING DEPARTMENT.
 Notepaper and Envelope Dies Sunk for Relief, Plain, or Illuminating. Company's Seals and Ornamental Dies cut for Jewellers. Relief and Illuminated Stamping executed. Stationery supplied. Circular and Sample Sheets Free.

REEVES, SON and CO., Printers, Wholesale Stationers, and Account Book Manufacturers,
 PLAYHOUSE YARD, BLACKFRIARS, LONDON, E.C.
 Next the "Times" Office.

REEVES, SON and CO., Publishers.
REEVES, SON and CO., Newspaper Printers.
REEVES, SON and CO., Magazine Printers.
REEVES, SON and CO., Law Printers.
REEVES, SON and CO., Commercial Printers.
REEVES, SON and CO., Show Card Printers.
REEVES, SON and CO., Label Printers.
REEVES, SON and CO., Ornamental and Colour Printers.
REEVES, SON and CO., Bankers' Cheque Printers.
REEVES, SON and CO., Copper Plate Printers.
REEVES, SON and CO., Lithographic Printers.
REEVES, SON and CO., Lithographic Artists.
REEVES, SON and CO., Map Printers and Colourers.
REEVES, SON and CO., Designers.
REEVES, SON and CO., Stereotypers.
REEVES, SON and CO., Engravers and Die-Sinkers.
REEVES, SON and CO. offer many advantages to Manufacturers and all persons requiring large quantities of Paper and Printing, as they possess the most improved machinery, as well as every other facility for executing orders entrusted to them in the cheapest and best manner.
 AS PUBLISHERS, their Offices are very central, and they render accounts monthly.

BORWICK'S BAKING POWDER HAS BEEN AWARDED TWO GOLD MEDALS FOR its SUPERIORITY over all OTHERS. MAKES BREAD, PASTRY, PUDDINGS, &c., LIGHT and WHOLESOME. SOLD in 1d. and 2d. PACKETS, ALSO 6d. and 1s. PATENT BOXES.

GLENFIELD STARCH
 is the only kind used in Her Majesty's Laundry.

THOSE LADIES who have not yet used the GLENFIELD STARCH, are respectfully solicited to give it a trial, and carefully follow out the directions printed on every package. It is rather more difficult to make than other Starches, but when this is overcome, they will say, like the Queen's Laundress, that it is the finest Starch they ever used. When you ask for the Glenfield, see that you get it.

Printed by Brother JAMES ADLEY REEVES and Son, Playhouse Yard, Blackfriars, in the City of London; and published by the Proprietor, Brother GEORGE KENNING, at his Offices, 2, 3 and 4, Little Britain, and 108, Fleet-street, in the City of London, and 2, Monument-place, Liverpool, in the county of Lancaster.—SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1871.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGES
REVIEWS ... ..	663
FREEMASONRY AND ISRAELITISM ... ..	663 & 664
ISRAELITISH ORIGIN OF THE ANGLO-SAXON RACE ... ..	664 & 665
THE PHILOSOPHY OF FREEMASONRY ... ..	665
THE FOOTSTEPS OF MASONRY ... ..	665
THE FAIR SEX AND ADOPTIVE MASONRY ... ..	666
THE MORALS OF MASONRY... ..	667
THE DISCOVERIES AT JERUSALEM... ..	667
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS ... ..	668
HELP FOR CHICAGO ... ..	668
GRAND LODGE OF QUEBEC ... ..	668
MULTAM IN PARVO ... ..	669
ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE—
Bro. Carpenter and Bro. Buchan ... ..	669
The Purple in West Lancashire ... ..	669 & 670
Masons' Marks ... ..	670
An Appeal for Chicago ... ..	670
GRAND CHAPTER OF ENGLAND ... ..	670 & 671
CONSECRATION OF A MARK MASTERS' LODGE AT HUDDERSFIELD ... ..	671
INTERESTING DISCOVERY AT THE OLD JEWISH SYNAGOGUE, BIRMINGHAM ... ..	671
SCOTLAND ... ..	671
THE CRAFT—
Metropolitan ... ..	672
Provincial... ..	672 & 673
MARK MASONRY ... ..	673
ORDERS OF CHIVALRY—
Red Cross of Constantine ... ..	673
INSTRUCTION ... ..	674
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ... ..	674
ADVERTISEMENTS ... ..	661, 662, 674, 675, & 676

Reviews.

The Old Constitutions belonging to the Ancient and Honourable Society of Free and Accepted Masons of England and Ireland, &c.; edited by the Rev. JOHN EDMUND COX, D.D., F.S.A., P.G. Chaplain, &c. London: Richard Spencer, Great Queen-street.

The judgment which this work has already elicited at the hands of certain literary critics—some of whom may, but most of whom assuredly do not, belong to the Masonic Order—is probably known to many of our readers, especially as we more than hinted at the fact in our last week's leader. The Standard has written fairly and sensibly upon it, albeit a vein of dry humour runs through the review; but the Observer's remarks are conceived in such bad taste as to render its criticism comparatively valueless. Now, we hold that Bro. Spencer has really conferred a boon upon the Masonic reading public by the publication of this work, and our thanks are due to him more particularly for the reprint of what we may now term the "Roberts' " Constitutions, the earliest printed copy of Masonic regulations extant, and which is, on good grounds, believed to be the only copy of the edition now in existence. These curious "Old Constitutions" possess a quaintly-written preface, and the traditional history of Masonry commences with the following invocation or prayer:

"The Almighty Father of Heaven, with the wisdom of the Glorious Son, thro' the goodness of the Holy Ghost, Three Persons in one Godhead, be with our beginning, and give us His grace so to govern our lives, that we may come to His bliss, that never shall have end. Amen."

(To be continued.)

On the Advantages of Gas for Cooking and Heating; by MAGNUS OHREN, A.I.C.E., Secretary of the Crystal Palace District Gas Company.

This pamphlet, which we have read carefully, is calculated to convince the most sceptical as to the saving to be effected from the use of gas for the purposes advocated by the author, whose well-known reputation as a scientific engineer stamps his opinions on the subject with a high value. In this instance, moreover, details and proofs are cited which render his positions impregnable, and entirely remove theories into the domain of facts.

FREEMASONRY &amp; ISRAELITISM.

BY BRO. WILLIAM CARPENTER, P.M. & P.Z. 177.

XXI.

Notwithstanding that I have occupied so much space in the columns of THE FREEMASON, in exhibiting what I consider some of the proofs to be found in history of the identity of the Gothic race, especially of its great Saxon branch, with the Ten Tribes of Israel, I have by no means exhausted them. There are other points of identity which will present themselves to the student, and which, if not so striking as those I have selected, are sufficiently so to suggest that proofs of Israel's identity with the Saxon race are to be found in great profusion in sacred scripture and profane history. If they are not proofs of the identity of the Saxons with "Israel," "Ephraim," or the "Ten Tribes" so long supposed lost, they exhibit a number of coincidences of the most extraordinary kind known in ancient or modern times. No believer in the history of the Hebrew race, from the call of Abraham to the overthrow of the kingdoms of Israel and Judah, and the final overthrow of the latter by the Romans, in the first century of the Christian era, can, I think, reconcile to himself the idea, that ten-twelfths of that people, who had been chosen by the Almighty to preserve, as in a sacred depository, the knowledge of His being and worship—when all the world had plunged into the darkness and licentiousness of idolatry—and whose preservation, restoration, and final and unparalleled glory, as a people, occupy so large a portion of the prophetic writings, were destined to be kept out of sight—"lost"—in no way employed in bringing about that emancipation, restoration, and universal dominion so emphatically and reiteratedly predicted of them, as to constitute, as it were, the central page of prophecy. The two tribes known as Judah, or the Jews, are not "lost," but are, and have been for nearly two thousand years, the witnesses, all over the world, of the truth of those terrible prophecies which foretold the punishment, dispersion, and affliction that should follow upon their persistent violation of the Law, and rejection of the Divine promises. With a conviction of their obligation to keep the Law, but unable to do so, as outcasts from their land, and destitute of an altar and of a sacrifice, Judah, or the Jews, wander abroad, sighing and praying for a return to the land of their forefathers. But while Judah is thus answering one of the great purposes of God, in testifying to the verity of the Word that was written so many ages ago, can it be believed that Israel, of whom it is written, "O, Israel, thou hast destroyed thyself, but in me is thine help, I will be thy king: where is any other that may save thee in all thy cities?" (Hosea xiii. 9, 10), and of whom, also, so many and such wonderful things are predicted, as to themselves and as to their relations with the nations—can it be believed that these were to be as a light put under a bushel, for the space of 2500 years, and then, in some miraculous way, to come forth as a numerous people—a great people, possessing the Islands—a people unto whom kings shall bow down, into whose lap the nations shall pour their riches, and at whose footstool they shall do homage? This is not the way in which the G.A.O.T.U. has been found, in past history, to govern the world. Progression seems to be the Divine law; and it is exhibited in nations as in individuals. Under the Divine guidance, men and nations prepare themselves to occupy the place and do the work which tend to the consummation of the Divine purpose in relation to the human race; and it is reasonable to believe, independently of all predictions pointing in that direction, that during the time the world and the church have been fancying the Ten Tribes to be "lost," or to have been found only in a few isolated spots in the East, living in small communities, in no way contributing towards the accomplishment of the Divine purpose, they have been instrumentally employed in effecting those great changes which, during the last 1500 years, or so—proceeding from the very regions into which Israel was carried captive, and having their foundation laid by the Gothic race, in the diffusion by them of those Divine truths which were revealed to their forefathers—have been progressively making "the wilderness and the solitary place to be glad for them, and the desert to rejoice and blossom as the rose," because "preparing a highway for our God." I thus now put the question upon a purely rational basis, apart from all prophetic intimations, in the hope that it may lead to such reflection, on the part of some who have followed me in these disquisitions, as will induce them to meditate more deeply on the wonderful harmony between the prophecies relating to Israel, after her captivity, and the history and character of the Saxon race, of which I venture to think I have given some glimpse. But there is one prophecy to which I cannot help referring, as it appears to me to be, more, perhaps, than any other, incompatible with the common notion of the disappearance of these tribes, until shortly before the time shall arrive for their restoration to their own land. In Isaiah lxi. 9-11, we read, "Their seed shall be known [or illustrious] among the nations, and their offspring among the people: all who see them shall acknowledge them, that they are a seed which the Lord hath blessed . . . . For as the earth pusheth forth her tender shoots, and as a garden maketh her seed to spring forth, so the Lord Jehovah shall cause righteousness and praise to spring forth in the presence of all the nations." It is thus that the people that have come of Israel are to become known, or illustrious, as a people, among, or in the midst of, the nations—not as Israel; for, as we have seen, they were for a time not to be known, or identified either by themselves or by others, although, as we now know, they have been all along doing Israel's work; or the work which it was predicted Israel should do. The meaning of the prophecy, I take it, is, that they are to be distinguished amongst the nations, as an extraordinary and a superior people whom the Lord hath blessed. They are to be a prosperous people—pre-eminently prosperous. And they are to be a people eminently religious, for they are to be clothed with "the mantle of righteousness, and with the garments of salvation" (ver. 10). They are thus to appear as a nation. The worship and service of God are to be identified with them; and the acknowledgment of Him as their Creator, Redeemer, and Governor, is to be nationally made, as is found to be the case, not only in England and her dependencies, but in all Saxon nations. This, as I have said, is not a people who are to break forth suddenly upon the world. They are progressively to become thus distinguished; their growth is to be gradual, and, like the seed which has sprung forth and arrived at maturity they are to cast their seed abroad, gradually widening the area they occupy. They are to "take root." "Israel shall blossom and bud, and fill the face of the world with fruit" (Isaiah xxvii. 6). Nothing could more beautifully, or more expressively, depict the gradual mingling of Israel with the people, in all the regions of the earth, just as the Saxon race has been, and are being mingled. And it is through them that "the Lord God will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth before all the nations," as we see He is doing.

Wonderful, indeed, must the course of the Divine government appear to the diligent and reflecting student, as he traces it from the mission of Abraham, through the chequered history of Israel, if he even goes no further than the captivity of the Tribes by the Assyrians and Babylonians. To speak of nothing beyond the subject of which these papers purport to treat—the captivity of the chosen people, and their future, with the relation which one portion of them was to bear to the rest of mankind, and the blessings they were to be the means of conferring upon them—it may be unhesitatingly affirmed, that the captivity of the Tribes was, in itself, the instrument of incalculable benefit to the rest of the world. It brought them into contact with the Western races. In place of the Shemitic Assyrians, with whom Israel had to do at the close of the seventh century before Christ, and of the Hamitic Chaldeans, under whose power a portion of them were, during the first two generations of the sixth century, the Indo-Germanic (Japhetic) race of Persia now comes to the front. At the same time Grecian influence was beginning to make itself felt in Egypt, and Daniel made known the true God and exercised those wonderful powers which compelled an acknowledgment of His omniscience and omnipotence. That the Persians "bring about a purer conception of God, and introduce a purer code of morality," says Haneberg, "is not to be regarded as an isolated fact. There was felt among all civilised nations, about a generation before the appearing of Cyrus, a great intellectual awakening. That period was characterised, in Greece, by the first movements of the comprehensive philosophy of Pythagoras; in Bactria, by the rise of Buddha; in China, by that of Kong-fu-tse (Confucius) and Lao-tse. But nowhere was this movement carried out more systematically and successfully than among the Persians." Daniel was not a prophet of Israel, but of the nations; and, for becoming so, the position he occupied in the Babylonian and Medo-Persian courts peculiarly fitted him.

It is impossible to estimate the amount of true light and Divine knowledge which, through the prophet Daniel and his captive companions, who occupied so high a position in these courts of Babylon and Medo-Persia, was diffused, or how far they were the means of influencing the religion and morals of the nations around. But we know, as already said, that the outburst of light which thus occurred, and which, spreading, as it were, from that region in which the captive tribes originally had their place, was not a solitary instance of such an outburst from the midst of these chosen, wonderfully preserved, and wonderfully employed people. But this must form the subject of another paper.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. —Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, London." Also, makers of Epps's Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk). — [A 176.]

ISRAELITISH ORIGIN OF THE ANGLLO-SAXON RACE.

Dr. Moore, in his "Lost Tribes and Saxons of the East and the West," says: "If we could but clearly demonstrate our unbroken descent as Englishmen from the house of Israel, and believe the Prophets, with what interest we should look upon the promises made to Israel, and try to read our destiny in the Bible!"

I read, weekly, with very great interest, Bro. Carpenter's papers, in "THE FREEMASON," on this subject. The fate of the lost ten tribes of Israel, after their deportation from Palestine by the Assyrians, is a subject which has puzzled the learned for many generations, but at no time has it excited so general and wide-spread an interest as within the last twenty or thirty years. In considering and discussing this highly-interesting subject, writers have been mainly anxious to force into prominence their own peculiar views and theories, and, in so doing, have been apt to overlook or ignore some very important points connected with the subject.

The fate of the lost ten tribes is a question to which I have given a good deal of attention, and I have ransacked libraries and have examined works ancient and modern, English, Irish, and foreign, to obtain crumbs of information on the subject. In the main, I agree pretty generally with Bro. Carpenter's conclusions, because, after a great deal of thought, I am unable to form a more reasonable theory than his. I, like he, take my stand on the Bible, and say such and such things are set forth by inspired penmen, such and such blessings have been promised. Where do we find in the history of the world a fulfilment, or partial fulfilment, of these prophecies and blessings pronounced by the prophets and patriarchs under Divine inspiration? I cannot help feeling that the Anglo-Saxon race, to a very great extent at least, answer to the description of the peoples that are to come from the Israelitish stock. Bro. Carpenter's papers on "Israelitism and Freemasonry," are by far the most logical that have come under my observation; but even he (as it appears to me) has missed one or two important points, to which I would wish to direct attention. Let us consider, in the first place, the condition of the Israelites at the time of their deportation by Shalmanezzer, and the difficulty, if not utter impossibility, of carrying away captive the whole nation (according to the generally-viewed opinion), and placing them in the cities of the Medes. We have no account of the actual number of the people of Israel at the time of their destruction as an independent nation, but, inasmuch as a very few years before their captivity (namely, in the time of Ahaz, King of Judah), they were powerful enough to bring a large army of fighting men into the field, and to inflict a loss of 120,000 men killed in battle on Judah, besides taking 200,000 women and children prisoners, it will be obvious that the numbers of the ten tribes under Hoshea, at the time of their captivity, could not reasonably be placed at less than a million men, women, and children. I do not lose sight of the fact that two tribes and a half had (twenty-five years before) been removed; but, after making ample allowance for losses by wars, disease, famine, and other causes, they must have numbered at least one million. Now, to transport such an immense body of people, with all their impedimenta, a distance of from 800 to 1000 miles is a task, which would have been totally beyond the power of the Assyrians. There is no necessity, however, for us to assume that a migration on so gigantic a scale took place, although we must undoubtedly believe that the flower of the nation was carried away captive, and placed in the localities mentioned in Scripture. If, however, only a portion of the people were carried away and placed in the "cities of the Medes," it may be asked, what became of the rest? In the first place, it is clear from the Scripture narrative of events, long subsequent to the deportation of the ten tribes by Shalmanezzer, that a considerable number remained behind, as was the case in the Babylonish captivity of the Jews. It has generally been taken for granted that, when the Israelites were taken away, the land was left a howling wilderness, until the Assyrian monarch again populated it with people drawn from other parts of the empire. An attentive perusal of Scripture will, however, prove that this was not the fact, as we find that in the time of Josiah, 100 years after the Israelitish captivity, this King of Judah was having dealings with the inhabitants of the land of Israel, who, from the context, it is clear must have been of Hebrew extraction. The Israelites who were left behind no doubt became mixed up with the heathen immigrants who were sent by the Assyrian king to people the country, and for that reason in later times they were not considered by the Jews as true Israelites, and therefore the Jews would have no dealings with these Samaritans.

It must, moreover, be borne in mind that the Assyrian wars in Judea and Palestine generally, were not only sanguinary, but very long and tedious, lasting for years, and keeping the whole country in a chronic state of alarm and constant ferment. It must also be recollected that the Assyrians attacked the neighbouring countries of Tyre and Sidon, and, after many years of battles and sieges, ultimately conquered them. Now, these Phenicians being a maritime people, naturally made great use of their ships, both to obtain supplies of food, clothing, and other articles, and also to escape from their enemies. One cause of strife between the Assyrians and Phenicians was, that the latter helped the Israelites in their disputes and contests with Assyria. A similar cause of complaint arose from the Israelites helping the Phenicians against the common enemy. Nothing is more natural, therefore, than that both Israelites and Assyrians should be involved in one common ruin, and, therefore, that numbers of the former should escape in the ships of the latter. There is a tradition in Ireland that the aboriginal inhabitants of that country were descended from the Canaanites, or Phenicians, and if so, a communication between the two countries would be established and kept up, and no doubt migrations would take place from time to time. The probability, therefore, is great that, when Tyre was conquered by the Assyrians, many of the inhabitants, including many Israelites, would escape in ships and reach Ireland, for, although the distance appears to be great, the dangers, difficulties, and labour would be far less than going 1000 or 1200 miles to Media. Although the stories handed down by tradition must not always be taken as historically true, it is generally admitted that they usually have some foundation in fact, and therefore must not be unceremoniously rejected as idle fables, especially when the probabilities are strongly in favour of their truth, as is the case in the present instance. In corroboration of the truth of the Phenician origin of the Irish people, we find several remarkable traces in the ancient Irish language, as well as remains of tombs, buildings, cromlechs, &c., which, there is every reason to believe, were of Phenician origin.

The Rev. F. Glover, M.A., in a remarkable and deeply-interesting work, "England the remnant of Judah and the Israel of Ephraim," has entered very fully into this question, and undertakes to show, not only that there was an extensive emigration from Palestine to Ireland, but that, among others, the prophet Jeremiah went to that country, accompanied by some of the seed royal of Judah; and that from these immigrants are descended some of the ancient kings of Ireland (Meath), also the royal line of Scotland, and, consequently, the present royal family of Great Britain and Ireland. If, then, Bro. Carpenter and Mr. Glover are right (and I must confess that, so far as I have investigated the question, I see no reason to doubt it), we are in presence of the astounding facts: (1) that we, the English people, are the descendants of Ephraim, the possessors of the birthright, and (2) that we are under the sceptre of Judah.

In a future article, I will show how and why England, Scotland, and Ireland form one United Kingdom, and how all these nations are deeply interested in these matters.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF FREEMASONRY.

INTRODUCTION.

Too much importance has been attached to the question of antiquity by writers upon Freemasonry; too little to its philosophy and teachings. Age cannot improve what is radically bad; youth cannot impair or diminish what is good. For many years I have wondered at the amount of wasted talent displayed in the columns of the Masonic press; wasted, because all the special pleading in the world cannot supply the absence of authentic documents or admitted facts. When, however, a question does arise regarding the antiquity of a lodge or order, certainly, there is every reason why the same should be thoroughly discussed, and a definite result obtained; but to occupy page after page of a paper with vain recriminations, assertions unsupported by credible authority, seems to be alike useless and to be deprecated. Moreover, does it not give a handle to our enemies, of whom the numbers are legion, to twit us with a pretence of glory which is vain, with a conduct-epistolary which is unfraternal, and with a history which some of us hold to be as false as it is absurd? There is truth in the words, "By your fruits are you known."

That there is no want of talent among the contributors to the Masonic press, especially in Britain, any one may perceive from a glance at the columns of THE FREEMASON. But is it utilized? Have the writers taken up subjects more germane to the feelings of the Craft at large than they could have done? Are there no other questions than antiquity, no other subjects than charters, to be discussed? To the present writer it seems that, instead of bread, we have been receiving stones; instead of a fish, a scorpion. Impatience of contradiction has hurried many estimable brethren into an unguardedness of expression, a warmth of language, much to be deplored, and doubtless deeply regretted by the authors themselves. Knowing personally what it is to wage a paper warfare, to fight a l'outrance with skilful opponents, I have much to pardon in my antagonists, and still more pardon to ask from them. My motto henceforward will be, "to afford as much instruction to those brethren who may condescend to accompany me in my task as I am capable of giving; but to give offence to no one." The very title of my present series of papers declares my intention, for, to write upon philosophy philosophically, one must be cool; and to deal faithfully with a subject, one must bridle the temper, and curb the imagination. It has, furthermore, been a subject of consideration whether I should append my name to these papers, but, considering that they would derive little advantage from the same, if bad, and cannot receive any more force, if good, I sink it, and assume the anonymous. Should controversy arise, I shall adopt the line of conduct which I have indicated, certain that it will be followed by those who may enter the lists.

To write properly upon the philosophy of Freemasonry requires special qualities of mind, and a widely-extended knowledge of human nature. It properly ought to be the work of a Mason who, after serving the Craft faithfully during his best years, leaves his experience as a legacy to coming generations. Massinger writes:

"Tis proved in me, the curse of human frailty,
Adding to our afflictions, makes us know
What's good, and yet our violent passions force us
To follow what is ill."

He, then, who, knowing what is good, has yet succumbed to the fatal black drop in our humanity; who has struggled for the world's honours, and found them after all bitterness and dead sea fruit, or who has stood calmly on the bank, and watched with an observing eye the surging tide of frail humanity speed past him, is the fit one to undertake the task. That I am fitted for the post I do not pretend—fitted, if from this pen a comprehensive view of the philosophy is to flow; but having sinned and suffered, having fallen and regained my feet, having seen something more of life than is gathered in the gardens of prosperity, then I may claim a lefthand right to initiate a new course of Masonic study, and if I succeed in drawing to the front pens more capable, I may claim, in the last words of the Roman plays, "clap your hands."

In the following papers, I shall deal neither with historical nor religious questions. I am perfectly content to take Freemasonry as I find it, and do not think that its teachings can be more pertinent, although its descent be proved from Adam, Noah, or Solomon. I shall take the broad principle of the Order, which admits of a belief in a Supreme Being and a future state, and which is antagonistic to that of Palladas, when he writes—

"Naked to earth I came, and to the earth naked shall I go;
Why vainly do I labour, when my naked end I know."

To labour is the lot of man, as much a pleasure as it is a toil. The man who conscientiously performs an allotted task on earth, who keeps the golden rule of "doing to others as he would be done by," who acts up to the dictates of reason, and who has faith in the Great Creator, cannot have a "naked" end, in the Greek's sense of the word. Whether Jew, Mahomedan, Christian, or Deist, the faith that is in him must have its reward in the hereafter. Freemasonry teaches this, and we have to view the subject as Freemasons.

Now, when Freemasonry has attained a position in the eyes of the world so prominent as to invite the thinking to solicit its advantages, and to call from the bigot abuse, it becomes the Craft in earnest to proceed to eradicate from amongst us those weeds of self-indulgence which have sprung up; to cultivate the true Masonic crop, and systematically work out a reform in our rendering of the ritual and ceremonies. Masons are wont to say that the genuine secrets are lost. Lost they are, but not irrecoverably. Nothing which is for the benefit of man ever becomes lost; a noble sentiment, like a fruitful plant, bears, in time, its fruit. Our secrets are still to be found in the lodges, still in the ritual, if we conduct the first in true Masonic fashion and study the latter by the full radiance of a Master Mason's light. Our lodges should be schools of learning, not banqueting halls, and our ceremonials something more than an introduction to a circle of good fellows. How often do we hear of some unfortunate wreck of humanity spoken of as being a victim to Freemasonry. The charge is false. Freemasonry can ruin no one, but the "adjournments" of Freemasonry may. I do not advocate total abstinence, nor am I in favour of driving conviviality from our midst; yet so long as conviviality is the sole chief end of Masons, I denounce it, and call upon the brethren at large to awake from this dream, and turn like men to the work in hand. It is absurd to suppose that our rituals were framed, our Society instituted, only to imitate the convivial societies of the last and its preceding century. Let us have our convivial meetings by all means, but let them be fewer in number, and secondary to the business of the lodge. Let our rituals be properly rendered, and our teachings receive more attention at the hands of the brethren, then we will find the members crowding to the lodges as to a welcome home. It will interest the old, while instructing the young.

Taking the second degree as a case in point, we find almost all important questions affecting the human race embraced. The liberal arts and sciences are wide enough subjects, surely, yet how little attention do Masons pay to them. Either Freemasonry is a gigantic farce, and Masons dupes to nonsensical forms, or it is a reality, which we are too careless or indifferent to pursue. Are our obligations of no effect to us as men of honour? Yet do we act up to them as we ought? No one of us does. I speak for myself—as yet I have looked upon the obligations as mere forms. Doubtless, I have kept them to the letter, but I have sadly failed in the spirit. Considering their solemnity, they deserve our most earnest attention, and we shall never view them as they ought to be viewed, till we give an ecclesiastical character to our lodges, and infuse a better spirit into our ceremonial. Dr. Oliver writes that some of his happiest hours were spent alone in the lodge room, and I feel convinced that all of us could say the same, were we to look upon our meetings in a more sacred light. "Where the holy name of God is invoked, no danger can ensue," and surely peace, fruition, and complete gain shelter under that powerful name. Let us, then, give earnest heed in the future that our present prosperity does not completely sap the foundations of the Masonic edifice, and, as with the mighty kingdoms of the past, end in ruin and a shameful fall.

ERROL.

(To be continued.)

THE FOOTSTEPS OF MASONRY;

OR,

*Freemasonry in relation to Authentic History.*BY BRO. W. VINER BEDOLFE, M.D., S.D. 1329, Hon. Sec. Sphinx Lodge of Instruction.

(Continued from page 642.)

In our last paper we attempted to point out that Freemasonry (as represented indeed in our traditions, and also as the generally received opinion) originated in an Architecturo-Masonic institution, but that the grand characteristic of its existence, and which forms the bulwark that has preserved it from the destroying effects of time is to be found in the fact that in its formation and government it is essentially MUNICIPAL.

"Throughout the grand eras of time, nothing," says M. Guizôt, the great historian of civilization, "has ever seemed permanent, except municipal and Christian institutions." Now, Freemasonry is undoubtedly a municipal institution, in its form, government, and objects, and it is of great importance to our investigation that Blackstone, the celebrated author of the "Commentaries on the Laws of England," actually, yet unconsciously, describes the constitution of a Freemasons' municipal lodge, or corporation, and traces its rise and progress. His words are:—

"The honour of originating these municipal institutions belongs especially to the Romans. They were introduced by Numa Pompilius, their second, their wisest, and their greatest king, who finding, upon his succession to the throne, that the city was torn to pieces by two rival factions of Sabines and Romans, thought it a prudent and political measure to subdivide these two tribes into many smaller ones, and in which both could equally unite, by instituting separate bodies of every manual trade and profession," and amongst those especially mentioned are the Masons. "These bodies," continues Blackstone, "enjoyed, subsequently, great consideration from the civil law, in which they were called 'Universitates,' as forming one whole, or Collegia, Collegium [or lodge], in which the members were individually gathered together. They were also adopted by the canon law, and from them our spiritual corporations are derived."

This, then, is the unconscious evidence of our great legal authority.

Now, the maxim of the Roman law was, "tres faciunt collegium;" precisely equivalent to the Masonic dictum, "three rule (or form) a lodge." "Tribus" is the dative and ablative case of "tres" (three), hence the Master and his two Wardens were anciently called the "Tribunes," to whom they correspond.

"Corporations," continues Blackstone, "by the civil law, seem to have been created by the mere act and voluntary association of their members; provided such convention was not contrary to law, for then it was 'illicitum collegium'—an unlawful lodge.

I quote Blackstone to show, from an independent authority, how Municipal institutions actually commenced. We must now compare the actualities of Freemasonry with the habits, customs, and even signs, of that ancient people, and especially with the institutions of Numa, who, according to some authors, was nearly cotemporary with King Solomon—although actually about 250 years later. Now, Numa, the great and religious king of Rome, chief founder of its eternal institutions, became second king A.U.C. 38, or A.C. 715 (about 250 years subsequent to the reign of King Solomon), by general acclamation of the people, and reigned in peace and prosperity 43 years, for during his entire reign the temple of Janus was closed. At that time the people still retained the asperity and ruggedness of the troublous times of Romulus, "and judging," says Plutarch, "that hard bodies, and such as are not easily mingled so long as they remain in their gross bulk, are best united by being beaten to powder and then incorporated together, he (Numa) determined to distribute the whole people into many lesser divisions. That distribution was made according to the several arts or trades, as of masons, goldsmiths, braziers, potters, &c., and as of other artificers, who were all formed into companies, to each of which were appointed their several halls, courts, and ceremonies of religion."

Here, then, in the words of Plutarch, we have our present condition clearly defined. Reference to these collegia, or lodges, is frequent in the Roman writers. Livy and Tacitus both refer to them; Cicero speaks of the Merchant Lodges, "Collegia mercatorum," and of the judicial decisions of the masters, "Collegii sententiæ pronuntiant," and although "Collegisse juvat" may not have had the meaning sometimes facetiously given to it, and prove Horace a lodge-fellow, or Mason, yet his satirical reference to certain lodges in his second satire, "Collegia ambulaburum, pharmacopolæ, mendici, balatrones," that is, the lodges of musicians, drug-sellers, begging priests, &c., points out how extensively lodges of different kinds existed, since we have them all in history, and how deeply these institutions were engrafted in the Roman mind.

The Grand Lodge, in those days, was styled the "Universitas," and the affiliated bodies "Collegia," whence the French word "Loge," and the English word Lodge, are derived, the names being synonymous. Hence, also are doubtless derived our Masonic "lodges."

Guizôt relates that Roman corporate bodies and institutions existed in Roman Gaul (Province, France), in unbroken succession, as late as the 11th and 12th centuries, and while that most celebrated institution of Numa, viz., the "Pontifex maximus," not only retains his splendour and dignity, but even the very name at that period conferred upon his predecessor, it is not other than a strictly logical conclusion that our Masonic Institution may be the analogue of those created by him—there is a moral certainty that they are identical.

Having thus endeavoured to point out the period when societies so analagous to our own were founded amongst the ancient Romans, let us now see how far our present principles of Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth agree with the expressed principles of our Royal Founder.

"My dispositions," said Numa, when offered the crown, "are these—an extraordinary love of retirement and of quiet studies; a strong deeply-rooted love of peace, which has always grown up with me, and a delight in the society of such men as assemble only for the worship of the gods, or for the sake of friendly conversation, and employ the rest of their time in their respective occupations."

These will be recognised as precisely our principles, after 2500 years.

Now, Numa was also said to have communed with the Muses, an emblematical expression for his love of the liberal arts and sciences, so especially described to us as the object of the second degree. One of his celestial visitors he particularly recommended to his friends under the name of "Silence," and whom we, his followers, still profess deeply to reverence even at this interval of time.

Such were the practices inculcated by Numa, and such are, or ought to be, the practices of every Mason still. Such were the characters he impressed upon the lodges he formed (for he appointed even the mode of conduct, we are especially told, to his colleges), nor could a better description be given of what Freemasonry professes to be at the present day. It is the actual thing.

I do not desire to place too much stress on resemblances which, taken separately, might be deemed casual or accidental, but as my first object is to identify the peculiarities of our government, principles, and practice, with the government, principles, and practice of societies existing at that epoch, in order to prove the identity of two bodies we must first prove their existence.

In considering further the identity of Masonic doctrines with those of Numa, we may mention the traditional one of respect for holy-days, and considered by some a proof of the Israelitish origin of Freemasonry. Let us see the teachings on this subject of our royal Roman founder. He did not, indeed, recognise the Jewish sabbath, but "strictly commanded that on Holy-days set apart for religious worship, the people should apply their meditations to religion as a business of the greatest moment, and that the streets should be free from noise and all obstructions, so that no disturbance might be given to the holy ceremony."

It might be objected that such injunctions could not leave behind them permanent impressions. To this I reply, that it was Numa who first established our present Holidays, and he named them "Dies feriæ"; but when the merchant on Change, or the clerk at the bank, speaks of the "Ferial days," he may not think that he refers to an institution founded by our Royal Master, and coeval with the origin of Freemasonry.

I mention the foregoing to show how long-lived have been the institutions founded by Numa, how vast their influence on the human race. Is it, therefore, wonderful that our own peculiar institution should still exist?

In our next we shall continue this identification.

THE FAIR SEX AND ADOPTIVE MASONRY.

ARTICLE IX.

(Concluded from page 657.)

Woman, it must be confessed, is in possession of many artifices peculiar to her nature. These artifices, when skilfully applied, ensure the greatest possible harmony in the domestic circle. Man, as a breadwinner, is subjected, in his daily labour, to innumerable vexations and annoyances, and being burdened with many cares, naturally looks forward to the time when he shall return to his domicile to receive that comfort and tenderness for which his heart truly yearns. Now, the faithful counsellor and presiding genius of his household, with the quick perception so characteristic of her nature, can easily discern on his brow the troubled state of his feelings, and can allay the agitation by the strategy with which she is gifted, viz.: by wisely abstaining from giving utterance to any censorious language, which would surely aggravate the case; using gentle and persuasive tones, and assuming a cheerful but unobtrusive bearing towards him during his temporary distress. It is astonishing how these tactics chase away the dark cloud gathered on his countenance, and how quickly they excite the pleasantest emotions on the part of the husband. These observations clearly point out the basis of peace in a home, and may safely challenge denial from cynical minds. Every well-disposed man inwardly appreciates the kind considerations shown by his wife when he is in a disturbed mood occasioned by a heartless and calculating world, and will not be slow to reward her in some way for her praiseworthy forbearance. Let woman ever remember the phrase, that "a soft answer turneth away wrath," and she will profit by the adoption of the principle in all her associations with the opposite sex. But this is a digression.

The writer has heretofore offered no comment upon the introduction of the Eastern Star Order into Great Britain, but has confined his observations to the organization, &c., of the Institution. He now purposes to propound as briefly as possible his own views concerning this subject, which has, undoubtedly, created much interest in different quarters. Having carefully considered the question, he is convinced that the establishment of a similar Order in this country would prove to society an innovation highly prejudicial to the domesticity characterising the nation. Indeed, he should regard it a duty to oppose any system which has a tendency to influence his countrywomen to show a disregard for home ties and affections. In this opinion he thinks he has the sympathy and support from all intelligent English matrons, who regard the duties imposed upon them by society as being essential to the realization of the greatest possible felicity in the business of life. The love instinctively felt by all British people for home sanctities is proverbial, and may well excite curiosity and comment from every other nation. In no other part of the globe is home so greatly cherished and venerated as in the United Kingdom, and this circumstance goes a great way to explain the cause of England's power and greatness. May the affection displayed by all classes for domestic interests ever be maintained in its integrity!

The habits and customs of American society would not be tolerated here, simply because they are, in the main, extremely offensive to good taste. Every one, who has a due regard for the moral code, will consider the Eastern Star Order peculiar to the exigencies of the American people.

The information communicated by Dr. Wheeldon, of Buffalo, at a debate of the Dialectical Society, a short time since, indicates the present aspect of public morals in the New World. He said that "the morality in the central and other parts of America is such that he should be sorry to see anything approaching to it in this country. Divorce was perfectly free there, and women had sometimes children by several husbands." Bearing in mind these facts, which are too palpable to admit of any doubt, the reader will probably see the urgent necessity for organising a tribunal having for its object the reformation of this state of affairs, and the inculcation of moral doctrines among citizens in general. The Eastern Star Order is calculated to lesson the evils known to exist in American territory, but its presence in Great Britain is not essential to the present social condition of the people.

In conclusion, the writer begs most respectfully to tender to the proprietary of this journal his cordial thanks for their liberality and courtesy in reserving so much space for his disquisition upon the subject of Female Adoptive Masonry, with which a large majority of members of the Craft in the United Kingdom has for a long time been imperfectly acquainted.

C. S.

THE MORALS OF MASONRY.— ADDRESSED TO LADIES.

BY F. J. ADAMS, M.D.

I know many of your gentle bosoms heave with some little apprehension of your husbands, your brothers, your affianced, perhaps, becoming Freemasons, as if some impenetrable mystery would henceforward veil them from our gaze, into which it would be all in vain to seek a solution. Cease, ye fair flowers of the creation; cease for the future to have any vague doubts or fears upon this subject; listen to the truth-telling assertions of a Mason of some experience, who has seen its noble work in other lands, under various forms of government, and where many languages are spoken, yet he has ever found the prevailing principle to be that, which ye, fair ones, so beautifully embody—"Love." In a Freemason he has ever found a brother, and in his heart a home, genial and warm, from the chilling influence of the cold world without. Weary and friendless he may journey along; he arrives in a large and populous town, or, it may be, some out-of-the-way, obscure locality; no eye to smile on him, no friendly hand to greet him, no welcome to cheer his exile; he inquires, and meets a brother; "seek and ye shall find," they soon recognize each other, and, whether many or few, all their hearts are open to him, and he is no longer a stranger, but with those of his own household. Wherever the principles of our beloved Order are carried out, and men act worthily of their profession, the cup of love always brims over, and the selfish ties of human nature are released.

Oh! it would do your loving hearts good could you but witness the friendly recognition one brother meets from another after he has proved himself to be such.

Sectarian prejudices are quite unknown in Masonry, the Jew and the Gentile lose their distinctiveness, and are one heart as well as hand—brothers under one common Father, who, in His Word, has said: "Love thy neighbour as thyself."

But, ladies, ye may perhaps ask why all this mystery about it? Ah! let me tell you, ye hear ten times more about the mysteries of Masons than they themselves are acquainted with; for strange tales are often told about them, always without foundation or regard to truth. We have no mysteries beyond such tokens as are necessary to prevent us from being imposed upon by strangers; and if ye knew them all, they would scarcely gratify you. We are a band of Brotherhood, formed to carry out our leading principle of "Brotherly love, relief and truth," irrespective of whatever a man may be, provided he be honest, free-born, and of good report. There is nothing in Masonry opposed to the Bible—which we call the "first great Light"—nor is there anything antagonistic to the religious prejudices of any man. As Masons, we recognize no political parties; and if I were a hot Tory, and my brother a hot Democrat, outside Masonry, within the pale of the Order we know nothing of such distinctions, because love cements our union, and love worketh no ill to his neighbour, and love is the fulfilling of the law. Masonry beautifully chisels down the rough angularities of our nature, and is admirably calculated to develop our higher social, and better faculties. If a man acts up to the spirit of Masonry, he must necessarily become a better citizen, a better husband and father of a family, and, ladies, what most assuredly you will not object to, a more devoted and admiring lover:

"We're true and sincere, and just to the fair,
Who will trust us on any occasion;
No mortal can more the ladies adore
Than a free and accepted Mason."

The principles of Masonry are drawn from the Bible; its practices are sanctioned by it, and its discipline is most salutary and corrective. There are, it is true, bad Masons, and bad men who are Masons; and the same may be said of church members—and among even the twelve Apostles, one was a traitor, but in the principles and workings of the Craft, there is everything to make a man better than it found him.

THE DISCOVERIES AT JERUSALEM.

Mount Moriah has been found to be a sharp crag or ridge, with so little space on the top as scarcely to afford room for a temple of small dimensions. On all sides it fell off rapidly and very steeply, except from northwest to southeast, the direction in which the ridge ran. The area on the summit was enlarged by walls built along the declivities, the outside walls deep down the valleys, from 100 to 150 feet below the area on which the temple buildings stood. One hundred feet again below this lay the original bed of the brook Kidron. The foundations of the temple, therefore, were 250 feet above the deep defiles around. This area, originally built by Solomon and enlarged by Herod, still exists, running on the south along the valley of Hinnom 1,000 feet and along the Kidron 1,500 feet.

This inclosure was originally covered with splendid edifices. First were the porticos or covered walks, built along the outer walls, and overlooking the Kidron and Hinnom. They were magnificent structures, resembling the nave and aisles of Gothic cathedrals. The middle walk, or nave, was 45 feet broad, and the two aisles 30 feet. The aisles were 50 feet high, and the nave, rising like a cleve-story between the two, was more than 100 feet high. Add now terrace-walls to the height of the porticos, and we have a solid and continuous wall of Masonry 250 feet high. But these were only the outer buildings of the temple area. The porticos opened inwardly upon a court paved with marble, and open to the sky. Steps led up to a second court. Beyond this again, through beautiful gateways, was a third, and rising above them all was a fourth, in which stood the temple proper, ascending story above story, and said to have been 100 or even 150 feet high. These horizontal measurements have been verified. Of course we cannot vouch for the correctness of the reputed height of these immense structures. We have the less reason, however, to doubt the last, as we have established the first. If one looked upon Mount Moriah from the Mount of Olives opposite, coming round the brow of Olivet on the way from Bethany, as our Lord did when beholding the city, it must have been a sight which, for architectural beauty and grandeur, perhaps, has never been equalled, certainly not surpassed. It was an artificial mountain from the deep ravines below, wall, column, roof, pinnacle, culminating in the temple within and above all, and probably measuring between 500 and 600 feet.

The palace of Solomon, too, added to the impressiveness of the sight. It is settled by recent discoveries that this pile of buildings was on the southeast corner of the area, joining on the House of the Lord above, and extending below to the King's gardens, where the two valleys met and "the waters of Siloam go softly." All these buildings, porticos, columns, pinnacles, altar and temple have perished. "Not one stone remains upon another which has not been thrown down." The area alone remains, and the massive sub-structure that for three thousand years have been sleeping in their courses. The preservation has been due to the ruin. Buildings so vast have toppled down the slopes of the Moiah that the original defiles and valleys have been almost obliterated. What had been regarded as the original surface has been found to be debris from 70 to 90 feet deep.

With pickaxe and shovel British explorers have been down to the original foundations. Fallen columns have been met with and avoided or a way blasted through them. The cinders of burnt Jerusalem have been cut through and turned up to the light—rich molds deposited by the treasures of Jewish pride. The seal of Haggai, in ancient Hebrew characters, was picked up out of the siftings of this deposit. The first courses of stones deposited by Phœnician builders, have been reached, lying on the living rock. At the southwest corner of the area, debris has accumulated to a depth of not less than 125 feet—the accumulation of ages, made up of the ruins of successive Jerusalems; and here some of the most interesting discoveries have been made. Here is the famous arch of Robinson, shown now to be an arch, as he conjectured, by the discovery of the pier upon which the first span rested. It is the remains of a bridge which crossed the valley on arches, and connected Mount Moriah with the mountain opposite—the modern Zion. It is the skewback or abutment that slopes to receive the end of the arch. Three courses remain. The stones are five or six feet thick, and 20 or 25 feet. The valley here is 350 feet wide, and this must have been the length of the bridge connecting the temple with the royal palace on the other side.

AN election for a Sheriff took place on Friday, the 20th inst., at the Guildhall, under the presidency of the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, who was supported by the Senior Sheriff, Bro. F. W. Truscott (P.G.S.), the aldermen, law officers, and a numerous attendance of the livery. T. Chambers, Esq., Deputy Recorder, announced that they had assembled to elect a sheriff in the room of the late lamented Bro. Jones (whose death we recorded last week). Mr. Jones proposed, and Mr. H. Spicer seconded, John Bennett, Esq., citizen and spectacle-maker, for the office, and that gentleman being declared elected, was duly sworn in, as also was Bro. Thomas. Beard (P.M. Temple Lodge) as Under-Sheriff. The latter brother has, by an event unprecedented, been Under-Sheriff three times in one year—first, by Bro. Jones, the retiring Sheriff, afterwards by the late Sheriff, and then appointed by the newly-elected Sheriff.

ROOTS of the Period at BLAKEY'S, Lime-street, Liverpool (under the Alexandra Theatre).—[Advt.]

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Weakness and Debility.—Unless the blood be kept in a pure state, the constitution must be weakened, and disease supervene. These wonderful Pills possess the power of neutralising, and removing all contaminations of the blood and system generally. They quietly but certainly overcome all obstructions tending to produce ill health, and institute regular actions in organs that are faulty from derangement or debility. They improve the appetite, and thoroughly invigorate the digestive apparatus. Holloway's Pills have long been known to be the surest preventives of liver complaints, dreadful dropsies, spasms, colic, constipation, and many other diseases always hovering round the feeble and infirm.—[Advt.]

NOTICE.

The Subscription to THE FREEMASON is now 10s. per annum, post-free, payable in advance.

Vol. I., bound in cloth	...	...	4s. 6d.
Vol. II., ditto	...	...	7s. 6d.
Vol. III., ditto	...	...	15s. od.
Reading Cases to hold 52 numbers...	...	...	2s. 6d.

United States of America.

THE FREEMASON is delivered free in any part of the United States for 12s. per annum, payable in advance.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferred to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

DEATH.

ROGERS.—On the 11th instant, at Watford, Bro. Thomas Rogers, P.P.G. Treasurer of Herts, &c., aged 84.

All communications for THE FREEMASON should be written legibly on one side of the paper only, and, if intended for insertion in the current number, must be received not later than 10 o'clock a.m. on Thursdays, unless in very special cases. The name and address of every writer must be sent to us in confidence.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price of THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the EDITOR 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him but cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

HELP FOR CHICAGO.

THE tremendous conflagration at Chicago is one of those catastrophes which awake a universal thrill of interest and terror in the human breast. Calamities like fire and sword and pestilence, have in all ages wrought ruin and destruction upon the earth, but there are degrees of desolation; and man has seldom had to mourn such havoc as has recently befallen the young but magnificent city of the West, which was so justly esteemed the pride of the great American Republic. It is true that some disasters have occasioned greater loss of life than the burning of Chicago—as when Pompeii and Herculaneum were overwhelmed by the fiery flood, or when Lisbon reeled and tottered in the giant grip of a deadly earthquake. These were, indeed, terrible events—scarcely paralleled in the history of the world. Still, the only fitting comparison of the wide-spread misery caused by the Chicago conflagration is to be found in a misfortune of similar nature and extent, and, happily, as yet, the annals of mankind afford us but one example—in the fire of London of 1666, which, for magnitude, can be likened to the rapid ruin that has overwhelmed Chicago. No wonder, then, that our hearts are stirred to their inmost cores with emotions of mingled pity and amazement. No wonder that true men in every land—and not least of all, in this land of ours—are stretching forth their arms across the Atlantic in practical sympathy with their afflicted brethren. From the patrician pound, to the plebeian penny from the extremes of wealth and of poverty, in the British islands, help is being freely offered to the homeless and foodless citizens who, though far away, are the descendants of our own kith and kin. Already, much has been done to assist them, and yet the stream of benevolence has but begun to flow—of that we feel assured, because the occasion is a great and a sad one, and English liberality is not wont to flag until substantial and permanent aid has been given to the distressed. We have, therefore, no misgiving that the free-will offering of our countrymen will not be worthy of themselves, or of the sacred cause of charity to which it is dedicated; but there is one section of our countrymen whose views we are proud to represent—a section not inconsiderable in numbers, in wealth, or in influence—a body, whose principles peculiarly inculcate noble deeds—in a word, we desire to see the Masonic Craft identified with the movement for the relief of Chicago. It is not solely on the ground that Freemasonry has greatly flourished in the State of Illinois, although it is worth noting that more than six hundred lodges and forty thousand Masons were on the roll of the State Grand Lodge when it held its last communication in the doomed city. It is not, however, simply for this reason we hold that the Grand Lodge of England should contribute to the relief fund; but upon the more comprehensive ground of a Mason's susceptibility and ready response to the cry of affliction, wherever and whenever it may be heard. We gave to the Patriotic Fund, good—to the Indian Mutiny Fund, good—to the Lancashire Relief Fund, good—each time a thousand pounds. Latterly, we have subscribed to the Peruvian Earthquake Fund, and in aid of the Sick and Wounded in War. We quote these instances, not boastfully or vaingloriously, but merely as precedents by which to shape our course, now that a greater, a more dire calamity has befallen our friends in America. Still, although we advocate the extension of aid to all who have suffered in the Chicago catastrophe, we hope that some special effort will be made to reinstate the Masonic lodges of the city in something approaching their former prosperity.

Not many weeks ago we had the pleasure of meeting Bro. Bailey, the editor of the Voice of Masonry, an influential magazine published in Chicago, and he assured us that Freemasonry was worked to perfection in that city. Little, then, did he dream that the splendid edifices and spacious streets, which he described to us so graphically, were so soon to be consumed and reduced to ashes. It will, however, be some consolation to the unfortunate citizens to know that the appalling scourge which has swept away their homes has awakened feelings of regret and compassion throughout the civilised globe—sentiments, too, that have ripened into practical deeds, the true test of genuine emotion.

The Freemasons of England must bear their part in this noble work; they must be prepared to vindicate the credit of the Order by a substantial donation, irrespective of their own private subscriptions to the relief fund. Recent events have brought us into closer communion with the American Craft—an interchange of compliments has taken place—a vow of mutual friendship has been recorded. Let us now waft across the Atlantic something more than courtesies—a tangible evidence of sympathy—a kindly offering of our goodwill. Then will be realised, indeed, what we faintly foreshadowed upon hearing of our Grand Master's reception at Washington—observations which have evoked so friendly a response in the breasts of several eminent American brethren, that we cannot better close this article than by quoting one of many, culled from Dr. "Mackey's National Freemason," where, in allusion to the meeting of English and American Masons in the Masonic Temple, he remarks that it "is already producing the happiest results, in securing a warmer and kindlier social feeling between the peoples of the two countries. We need no better evidence of this than the following extract from an editorial in the London FREEMASON, the leading organ of the English Craft, which we gladly transfer to our pages: 'We feel satisfied that the English Craft will treasure within its heart of hearts the many kind and beautiful expressions of fraternity and fellowship on the part of our American brethren, which we have now placed on record. May the union of the two nations be perpetual; may their march be ever in the van of progress and civilisation; their victories those of peace; their rivalry but a friendly emulation in the arts that tend to increase the comforts and happiness of the human race. That our ancient science of Freemasonry can contribute to so blissful a result none but the veriest sceptic can doubt, and that it will, may be fairly predicted from the cordial relations which are now established between British and American Craftsmen.'

Are we not bound to fulfil our part?

GRAND LODGE OF QUEBEC.

The Grand Lodge of Quebec held its second Annual Communication on the 27th and 28th ult., at Montreal, and we rejoice to learn that the differences between that body and the Grand Lodge of Canada are likely to be settled at an early date.

M.W. Brother John H. Graham, L.L.D., of Richmond, was unanimously re-elected Grand Master, and R.W. Brother John H. Isaacson, of Montreal, Grand Secretary.

The proposed terms of settlement of the difficulties with the Grand Lodge of Canada were not acceptable to the Grand Lodge of Quebec, but instructions were passed to enable all regular G.L. of Canada lodges in Quebec honourably and constitutionally to join the G.L. of Quebec.

Multum in Parvo, or Masonic Notes and Queries.

THE ROYAL ORDER OF SCOTLAND AND ITS ANTIQUITY (p. 599).

THE FREEMASON of September 23, 1871, contains another letter on the question of the antiquity of the Royal Order of Scotland, in reply to mine, which appeared in THE FREEMASON of September 16th, 1871. "X. Y. Z." rejects "with disdain," as he is pleased to say, my offer to give him all the information he can desire, and to adduce satisfactory proofs of the existence of this Order long before the establishment of the Grand Lodge of Scotland in 1736, because I stipulate, as a necessary condition of so doing, that he shall come forward openly, giving his name, that it may be known if he is really a Mason in good standing, to whose view Masonic documents, not proper to be laid before the general public, may, with propriety, be admitted. I adhere, however, to my offer, but still on the same terms on which it was made, and this, I think, will appear to most readers of THE FREEMASON to be all that can reasonably be expected of me. "X. Y. Z." seems to think it a strong point against me that, whilst finding fault with him for writing anonymously, I write anonymously myself. He fails to observe how entirely different the case is. In what I wrote, I merely gave what I believe, and still believe, to be a true account of the Royal Order of Scotland and its history. In so doing, I made no imputation against any man or body of men. "X. Y. Z.," not content with expressing doubt of the sufficiency of the evidence as to the antiquity and origin of the Royal Order, did not scruple, in his first letter on this subject, to impute to the members of the Royal Order, both of the present and of former times, wilful imposition and falsehood, accusing them of putting forth for the Order a claim to respect on the ground of antiquity, which they knew to be unfounded. He who makes such accusations is not entitled to do it anonymously, but is bound to come openly forward and accept the responsibility which is involved in the making of them. It was on account of the grave character of the charges brought against the members of the Royal Order by "X. Y. Z." that I said he was liable to prosecution for libel. He has ventured to defame the character of every member of the Order; and the disdain which he now expresses may well be regarded with contempt. An honourable man ought surely to be ready either to express deep regret for having hastily written and sent to the press assertions of so injurious a kind as those of "X. Y. Z." were, or to stand forward and maintain their truth. Anonymously to accuse an individual of wilfully imposing upon the public is always deemed a serious matter. Is it less so when the accusation affects a whole body of men, all of them in good esteem as members of society—and not only touches the reputation of the living, but of the dead, of all who have belonged to the Royal Order for more than 100 years? "X. Y. Z.," indeed, now seeks to screen himself by saying—after pleasantly and elegantly remarking that I may light my pipe with my libel—that, "as to the members of the Royal Order believing in its pretensions, they may very possibly do so, at least generally; but if they do so on an imaginary or false foundation, that only shows their credulity." Here, however, he really makes the case worse instead of better; for his qualifying clause, "at least generally," leaves it to be inferred that he regards some of the members of the Royal Order as guilty of wilful deception and falsehood.

As for the references which "X. Y. Z." makes to authority, I care nothing for them. As for Findel, his work is, from beginning to end, evidently that of one who has a particular theory to maintain, who enters upon his subject with a foregone conclusion, to which everything must be accommodated, not that of an unbiassed and impartial inquirer into the facts of history.

I thank Bro. Randolph Hay for the support he gives me in his letter in THE FREEMASON of September 30th.

I will not again reply, until such time as "X. Y. Z." gives up his name as a proof of good faith in his own assertions.

AN EDINBURGH MEMBER OF THE ROYAL ORDER OF SCOTLAND.

THE TWENTY-THIRD PSALM.

The subjoined eccentric translation of the 23d Psalm is by a distinguished doctor of divinity, who used to employ his leisure hours in making similar free translations of the Bible:—

"Deity is my pastor. I shall not be indigent.

"He causeth me to recumb on verdant lawns. He conducteth me beside the unrippled liquidities.

"He reinstateth my spirit; he conducteth me in the avenues of rectitude, from the celebrity of his appellations.

"Indubitably, though I prambulate the glen of the sepulchral dormitories, I shall not be perturbed by appalling catastrophes; thy crook and thy wand insinuate delectation.

"Thou positest a refection for me in the midst of inimitable scrutations; thou perfumest my locks with oderiferous unguents; my chalice exuberates; unquestionably, benignity and commiseration shall continue all the denturnity of totality, and I will eternalise my habitance in the metropolis of nature."

FREEMASONRY AND UNITARIANISM.

The philosophy of Freemasonry and the doctrines of Unitarianism, proper, have so many things in common, that the two are almost identical. Both believe in God as the Great Architect of the Universe, while belief in the universal fatherhood of God and the universal brotherhood of man are necessary adjuncts. Both aim at universality, and in their own spheres. What is to hinder both from being universal? I know of nothing, unless it be faithlessness to the truth. W. P. B.

FRATRES ROSICRUCIANÆ SOCIETATIS IN ANGLIA.

The quarterly meeting of the Metropolitan College was held on the 12th instant, at the Freemasons' Tavern, when the following fratres were present: Col. F. Burdett, Hon. V.P.; J. Brett, M.G.; R. W. Little, P.M.G.; C. H. Rogers-Harrison, D.M.G.; H. G. Buss, T.G.; W. R. Woodman, M.D., S.G.; W. B. Hambly, J. Weaver, W. Carpenter, and E. Stanton Jones, Ancients; W. J. Ferguson, T.B.; G. Kenning, M.; E. H. Finney, A.S.; S. H. Rowley, Past S.G.; J. Willing, jun.; Major E. H. Finney, D. M. Dewar, F. H. Gottlieb, J. S. Banning, S. Rosenthal, W. Roebuck, T. W. White, J. Boyd, and P. Burdett Yeoman. Frater Gilbert occupied his position as Acolyte.

The mystic circle was duly formed, after which the minutes were read and confirmed.

Ballots were then taken for several aspirants to the grade of Zelator, and the following being in attendance, were severally introduced, and having passed the required tests, received as fratres of the Brotherhood: Captain Arthur B. Donnithorne, James Lewis Thomas, Moses Mawson, and Joseph B. Robinson—the last two brethren being admitted on behalf of the college at Manchester.

The balance-sheet for the past year was then read, and showed a handsome balance in the Treasurer-General's hands.

The circle was then dissolved, and the fratres separated.

Original Correspondence.

The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.

BRO. CARPENTER AND BRO. BUCHAN.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I am not at all anxious to take part in the controversy which has arisen between the two above-named brethren, as, not only do I think such controversies most useless and hurtful in themselves, but utterly unsuited to the pages of THE FREEMASON.

I feel bound, however, as an old Chaplain of our Order, to protest against the tone and tendency of Bro. Buchan's ill-judging communications, especially of that one which appears in your pages of October 14th. I cannot conceive anything more likely to shock the minds of all right-thinking Masons, or to do more harm to those without our Order, than such a discussion, conducted in such a spirit, and, above all, the utterly irreverent and reckless manner in which Bro. Buchan thinks well to treat the most cherished sympathies and the most sacred convictions of the vast majority of his brethren.

As for any large number of Freemasons holding the same mournful views, as Bro. Buchan seems to intimate, I feel convinced that such an idea is an entire delusion. I know the Order, from long experience, pretty well, and I make bold to say that the overwhelming majority of Freemasons would utterly repudiate such opinions, and would join "ex animo" in the protest I venture to make on their behalf and my own, to-day.

Much, no doubt, will be said by Bro. Buchan as to the right of free discussion, and his undoubted privilege, as a Freemason, in this free country, to state his opinions openly and fully. But I venture to think that there must, after all, be a reasonable limit to this abstract right, and that it cannot be fitting, at any rate, that in your pages Bro. Buchan should abuse the well-known toleration and liberty of our Order. He is not, surely, warranted, as a brother of our kindly brotherhood, in advancing propositions and hazarding statements which, he well knows, must hurt deeply the feelings and shock the earnest belief of thousands of his brethren. If Bro. Buchan really holds the views he does not hesitate to propound, I venture to think and to say, that he had better keep them to himself, as such topics ought not to be made matters of controversy among Freemasons, or be ostentatiously promulgated in a journal like yours, which is intended for the information, improvement, and edification of the Universal Brotherhood. From the pages of THE FREEMASON, I repeat, and I know the great majority of your readers will concur with me, all political and religious discussions should be carefully excluded, and nothing should there appear which, in any way, would tend to foment that "odium theologium," which has already done so much mischief in the world.

Hoping that I may never be compelled to read again such irrelevant and ill-timed assertions, which will deeply pain very many besides myself,

I am, dear Sir and Brother,

Fraternally yours,

AN OLD CHAPLAIN OF OUR ORDER.

THE PURPLE IN WEST LANCASHIRE.

(To the Editor of the Freemason.)

SIR AND BROTHER,—Another year has passed since I addressed you on this subject, and the provincial grand honours, notwithstanding a strong expression of feeling throughout West Lancashire to the contrary, have been again distributed in the same extraordinary way which has characterised the proceedings of the P.G.L. for many years past. Brethren who were unable to retire, at least for a time, with past rank, instead of postponing their elevation a little, until a few deserving brethren of the fifty-six lodges in the province had stood a chance, have either retained office, or, with indecent haste, sought re-appointment to a higher grade. I do not attach the least blame to Sir Thomas Hesketh, the R.W.P.G.M., in this matter, but to the "wire-pullers," as they are now called, who lend themselves to this exclusive system. The close contest for the office of Treasurer, from which Bro. Hamer very considerably and gracefully retired, and which the candidate run by the P.G.L. officers only gained by a majority of six votes, must have demonstrated clearly how keenly the brethren felt the attempt to snatch this one privilege of election from them. The new Treasurer had already past rank; the popular candidate was a good, well-qualified, and energetic Mason of twenty years' standing, but the time had not arrived for him to be allowed to enter the charmed circle.

It is thus, sir, that brethren with Masonic enthusiasm and ability are treated in West Lancashire. Instead of being readily seized hold of, developed, and utilized, they are left out in the cold until, chilled below zero, their love for the Craft becomes frozen by the indifference of a knot of determined office-seekers, who, relying upon the influence of a father or friend in the P.G.L., see none so worthy as themselves for distinction.

I am, Sir and Brother, yours fraternally,
P.M.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Any one of your readers not present at the meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Lancashire would fancy that that meeting was (with one notable exception) characterized by brotherly love, peace, and harmony. Such, however, I am sorry to say, was not the case.

From what took place on that occasion, it is very evident that there is a deep and widespread dissatisfaction at some of the practices of the Grand Lodge, and especially in the appointment of officers, as was evinced by the proceedings in connection with the election of Treasurer. That office, as most brethren are aware, is an elective office, and the only one in which the brethren have a share in selecting.

At the meeting of the P.G. Lodge in 1870 Bro. James Hamer, who had held the office for ten years with credit to himself and benefit to the Craft, intimated his intention of resigning at the next annual Grand Lodge meeting.

Considerable interest was created amongst the brethren for some months past as to who should be appointed to that office; and when it was found that a P.G. Lodge officer, who already wore the purple, was about to be nominated by the Grand Lodge, some of the brethren felt that there were many very worthy Masons of position, and who had not been Grand Lodge officers, in whom the office of Treasurer might be safely reposed.

Bro. Thomas Armstrong was proposed by Lord Skelmersdale, seconded by the Hon. F. Stanley. Bro. George Turner was proposed by Bro. E. Hughes, and seconded by Bro. Goepel. All brethren not entitled to vote were then requested to leave the room. The voting was then commenced by the members of the Grand Lodge voting "to a man" for Bro. Armstrong. The votes of the representatives of the lodges were then taken, and at the close it was found that there were seventy-six for Bro. Armstrong, and seventy for Bro. Turner.

Now, if we deduct twenty-nine votes of the Grand Lodge officers, we have seventy votes of the lodge representatives for Bro. Turner, and forty-seven for Bro. Armstrong, clearly proving that Bro. Turner was the elected of "the people" by a majority of twenty-three votes.

Such a result cannot fail to speak volumes to men in "high places," and I do really think that the brethren might be left to their own choice in the only officer they have the power to select.

Some of the other appointments appear to be quite as objectionable to the brethren as on a former occasion. Many of those appointed lately not having been able to give even the three Craft degrees; whilst they who have done the work for them are left out in the cold. I should suggest that the P.G.M. would take the appointments into his own hands, and so do away with the dissatisfaction which at present exists.

Yours fraternally,
A P.M. & P.Z.

MASONS' MARKS.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—On page 655 of your last number, I find "A Masonic Student" alludes to innumerable fac-similes of masons' marks collected from all quarters of the world by Bro. E. W. Shaw. I shall be glad to know whether this interesting collection has ever been published? At the same time, perhaps you will allow me to draw attention to what I have always thought to be the earliest printed communications on the subject of masons' marks—namely, the two memoirs by George Godwin, F.R.S., F.S.A., read before the Society of Antiquaries in December, 1841, and February, 1843. These, with five quarto plates, containing over 150 marks from ancient buildings in England, France, and Germany, were printed in the "Archæologia," vol. xxx. Mr. Godwin has since read a paper at the Royal Institute of British Architects on the same subject, and if any of your readers wish, they can find this printed in vol. xxvii. of The Builder, with two pages showing a vast number of masons' marks from various parts of the world. Those of my brethren who are interested in "an inner meaning or teaching," of which these marks are thought by many to be the outward symbols, I would refer to four papers, signed "John E. Dove," in the vol. of The Builder for 1863. I have ventured to offer these few remarks, believing the subject to be as interesting to most Craft and Mark Masons as it is to

Yours fraternally,
J. F. C., P.M. 957.

AN APPEAL FOR CHICAGO.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—You will well remember, on the occasion of the Quarterly Communication in June last, the M.W.G.M., who had just returned to England, in his address to Grand Lodge, spoke in the very highest terms of the reception that he had received, not only from the Masonic Body, but also from every class of society in the United States; and, at the same time, expressed a hope that the Masons of England would not fail to reciprocate that kindness, when opportunity offered. That time has now arrived; the American people are suffering under a visitation which is probably the most horrible calamity in history. Chicago, the capital of the Western States, a city containing more than 300,000 inhabitants, has been, in the short space of three days, more than half consumed, and tens of thousands of its inhabitants are literally perishing for lack of food and other necessaries. Gigantic efforts are being made here and throughout the whole continent to meet immediate requirements; but, with the winter fast approaching, it must be evident that something beyond the mere necessaries of life will be required. The extent of the losses cannot yet be ascertained, but are variously estimated from 150 or 300 millions of dollars.

The Masons of America are bestirring themselves (while I write a meeting of the Grand Lodge of New York is being held), and I feel certain that the brethren in England will gladly hail the opportunity of assisting in that cause, which, "ever lovely in itself, is the brightest ornament that can adorn the Masonic profession," and at the same time show that they hold in some veneration the wishes of their G.M., and are ever ready to repay tenfold any courtesy or kindness shown to him.

Yours faithfully and fraternally,
A LONDON P.M.
New York, Oct. 10th, 1871.

GRAND CHAPTER OF ENGLAND.

The following is the report of the Committee of General Purposes, which will be read at the Grand Chapter Convocation on Wednesday next:—

The Committee of General Purposes beg to report that they have examined the accounts from the 19th July, 1871, to the 17th October, 1871, both inclusive, which they find to be as follows:—

To balance 19th July ... ..	£357	4	11
„ subsequent receipts... ..	161	4	6
	£518	9	5

By disbursements during the quarter ... ..	£122	13	10
„ Balance ... ..	395	15	7
	£518	9	5

which balance is in the hands of Messrs. Willis, Percival and Co., bankers of the Grand Treasurer.

The Committee have likewise to report that they have received the following petitions:—

1st. From Comps. John Middleton as Z., John Laybourn as H., Thomas Williams as J., and eight others, for a chapter to be attached to the Isca Lodge, No. 683, Newport, to be called "The St. Woolo's Chapter," and to meet at the Masonic Hall, Newport, Monmouthshire.

2nd. From Comps. Theodore Cooke, M.A., as Z., William Henry Hussey as H., Henry Lees Smith as J., and six others, for a chapter to be attached to the Lodge Orion in the West, No. 415, Poona, to be called "The Chapter Orion in the West," and to meet at the Masonic Hall, Poona, East Indies.

3rd. From Comps. Henry Hover Lock as Z., John Mackintosh as H., William George Murray as J., and six others, for a chapter to be attached to Lodge Star of Orissa, No. 1106, Cuttack, to be called "The Fiducia Chapter," and to meet at Cuttack, East Indies.

4th. From Comps. John Pursall as Z., Alfred Emanuel Fridlander as H., George Septimus Phillips as J., and six others, for a chapter to be attached to the Trinity Lodge, No. 245, Coventry, to be called "The Trinity Chapter," and to meet at the Castle Hotel, Coventry, Warwickshire.

5th. From Comps. George Kenning as Z., Ebenezer Roberts as H., Edward King as J., and seven others, for a chapter to be attached to the Lion and Lamb Lodge, No. 192, London, to be called "The Lion and Lamb Chapter," and to meet at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, London.

The foregoing petitions being in all respects regular, the Committee recommend that the prayers thereof be respectively granted.

The Committee have also received a petition from Comps. Edward James Morris as Z., Chas. Bath as H., George Browne Brock as J., and twenty-one others, for a chapter to be attached to the Talbot Lodge, No. 1323, Swansea, to be called "The Talbot Chapter," and to meet at the Masonic Rooms, Swansea, Glamorganshire.

This petition is regular in form and is very strongly recommended by the Grand Superintendent of the Province, but inasmuch as Grand Chapter at its last meeting expressed an opinion on the subject of granting charters for chapters to be attached to lodges which had been but recently established, the Committee—although this appears to be a very exceptional case—prefer to remit the consideration of the subject entirely to the wisdom of Grand Chapter.

The Committee beg to call the attention of Grand Chapter to the fact of a charter for a chapter having been granted to be attached to the Tynwald Lodge, No. 1242, Douglas, Isle of Man, in May, 1870, which grant was confirmed at the following meeting in August. The petitioners, however, having failed to take up the charter, the Committee recommend Grand Chapter—now that fifteen months had elapsed since the grant was made—to annul the charter.

The Committee have also to submit to Grand Chapter an appeal from Comp. W. George Laws Z., of the De Sussex chapter, No. 406, Newcastle-on-Tyne, against a decision of the Grand Superintendent for Northumberland, on a complaint made to him by certain Comps. of the chapter, that it had been removed from its former place of meeting before the minutes of the chapter agreeing to that removal had been confirmed.

The following notice of motion has been given by E. Comp. the Rev. John Huyshe, Grand Superintendent for Devon:—"To strike out the 'except in the Colonies,' page 16, Art. 8, of the Royal Arch regulations, and to add the following words at the end of the article:—"But this regulation is not to apply to the Colonies, where Comps., not having served a subordinate office, if otherwise qualified, shall be eligible to be elected to a Principal chair, and were a regularly installed Master of a lodge under a Foreign Constitution shall also be eligible to be so elected."

(Signed)

W. PULTENEY SCOTT, President.

Freemasons' Hall, London, W.C.,
18th October, 1871.

CONSECRATION of a MARK MASTERS' LODGE at HUDDERSFIELD.

Friday, the 13th inst., was the day appointed for consecrating the Truth Lodge of Mark Masters, No. 137, at Huddersfield, West Yorkshire, the first Mark lodge since the inauguration of the Provincial Grand Lodge. Shortly after 3 p.m. a Lodge of Mark Masters was opened, and then the P.G.M.M., Bro. T. Perkinson, accompanied by nearly all his P.G. Officers, entered the room. The following are the names of those who attended: Bros. John Wordsworth, D.P.G.M.; Matthews, P.S.G.W.; Allison, P.J.G.W.; Roberts, P.G.M.O.; Firth, P.G.S.O.; Hartley, P.G.J.O.; Normanton, P.G. Treas.; Burgess, P.G. Reg.; Cooke, P.G. Sec.; Bennett, P.G.S.D.; Schofield, P.G.J.D.; Horsfall, P.G. Ins. of Works; Armitage, P.G. Dir. of Cers.; Wilkinson, P.G. Asst. Dir. of Cers.; Hoybroyd, P.G. Sword-bearer; Oakden, P.G. Standard-bearer; Whitaker, Sykes, Loble, and Crossly, P.G. Stewards; and Greenwood, P.G. Tyler.

The usual salutations having been gone through in due form, Bro. Higgins, the W.M.-designate, explained the reasons why they had petitioned for a warrant, and the advantages which, they hoped, would accrue therefrom to Mark Masonry.

Bro. Cooke then read the warrants, and the members expressed their approval of the officers named therein.

Bro. Roberts next gave an oration on Mark Masonry, after which the P.G.M.M. proceeded to consecrate and dedicate the Truth Lodge according to ancient usage and custom.

Bro. Wordsworth, D.P.G.M., then undertook the next business, that of installing Bro. Thomas Sellers Higgins as the first W.M. of the lodge, which being over, the brethren were re-admitted and saluted the W.M. with the honours due to his rank. The W.M. then invested some of his officers, the remainder being left over till next meeting: Bros. Jackson, S.W.; John Burgess, J.W.; Marshall, M.O.; Williamson, S.O.; and Thomas Burgess, J.O.

The P.G. Officers then retired, four candidates were balloted for and accepted, and three subsequently advanced, after which the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to supper.

The cloth having been withdrawn, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to; but, owing to many brethren having to go away by train, this part of the business had to be done very briefly. From remarks made by some of the visitors as to the working of the newly-invested officers, there is every probability of this lodge becoming one of the best-worked lodges in West Yorkshire.

INTERESTING DISCOVERY AT THE OLD JEWISH SYNAGOGUE, BIRMINGHAM.

After the erection of the Hebrew new synagogue at Singers' Hill, Birmingham, the old place of worship of the Jews, in Severn-street, was purchased by the Athol Lodge of Freemasons, and by it converted into a place of meeting for the members of that section of the Order. Recently, certain alterations and additions have been made to the building, and, in sinking the foundations for a newbanqueting hall, the memorial stone of the old temple was discovered. Fitted to this stone was a brass plate, bearing the following inscription in Hebrew:—

"This plate was placed here by the hands of the most respected Mordecai, the son of Solomon, in this town, on the 8th day of Sivan, in the year 5569 A.M., and the five principal men who were occupied in raising this building were David, the son of Solomon, president; Judah, the son of Coleman, treasurer; Solomon, the son of Mordecai; Jacob, the son of Samuel; and Moses, the son of Lyon—A.M. 5566.

The Christian date of the ceremonies would be 1809, or 62 years ago. At that time the Jews were a small body in Birmingham; now they number 5,000. A second brass plate, bearing date 5,609—40 years later—was also found during the alterations.

At a meeting of the Athol Lodge, held recently, Bro. Michael Davis, W.M., presiding, it was resolved to present the memorial plate to the Hebrew congregation, by whom it will no doubt be carefully preserved as an interesting historical relic. At the same time the lodge laid the memorial stone of the new building, the extension part of which consists of a reception room, banqueting hall, and tyler's house. The brethren having assembled in open lodge, and all the customary ceremonies having being performed, Bro. Thos. Bragg, P.M. and P.P.G.S.D., delivered a short address on the ancient institution of Freemasonry; after which he was presented by Bro. Muggleton, P.M., with a handsome silver trowel, suitably engraved. The architect, Bro. T. Naden, produced the plans; the contractor, Bro. J. Moffatt, handed the mallet; and Bro. Bragg, assisted by the W.M., Bro. Michael Davis, then laid the stone according to ancient custom. In the cavity of the stone was placed a glass bottle, containing a description of the events connected with the ownership and extension of the building by the Athol Lodge; also some coins, a newspaper, and a copy of the old plates commemorating the erection of the building by the Hebrew congregation. The stone was then lowered, and, having been tested by the W.M., Bro. M. Davis, Bro. Bragg declared the stone well and truly laid. The W.M., Bro. Davis, delivered a short address. Corn, oil, and wine were sprinkled on the stone, and prayer having being offered, the ceremony closed. On the stone is engraved the following:—"This stone, to commemorate the extension of the building, was laid by Bro. Thomas Bragg, P.M. and P.P.G.S.D., assisted by the W.M., Bro. M. Davis, October 4th, 1871.

When the buildings are completed, the members of the Athol Lodge will be able to congratulate themselves on having a hall suited in every way for Masonic purposes.

ROYALTY AT THE OLYMPIC.—The Olympic Theatre was, on Monday night, honoured by the Prince and Princess of Wales and the Duke of Edinburgh and their suite. The Royal party appeared highly pleased with "The Woman in White," and Mr. Vining ("Count Fosco") was called into the box, and warmly complimented upon his conception and performance of the character.

"MORE than a year ago one of my children was attacked with bronchitis, and, after a long illness, was given up by my physician as 'past cure.' I was then induced to try your Vegetable Pain Killer, and from the time I began the use of it the child rapidly got better, and is now strong and healthy.—JOHN WINSTANLEY, 10, Whittle-st., L'pool, Jan. 1869.—To P. D. & Son."

SCOTLAND.

DUNDEE.

We have great pleasure in noting the rapid advancement of Lodge Broughty Castle (No. 486), Broughty Ferry. The name of Broughty Ferry must be familiar to many who enjoy a "dip" in the cool waters. It is a flourishing collection of palatial residences, rather than a village, and is the nearest and most-favoured "outing" for the Dundonians. Beside being an attraction to no end of summer residents and bathers, it has a steady, active, and well-to-do community of its own, who change not at the voice of the cuckoo, but who thrive by the changes of others. Some years ago, a few gentlemen resident there, applied for, and got, a charter from the Grand Lodge of Scotland, for the "purposes of Masonry." Bro. Robert Kid was selected as the first Master, and he conducted the business of the infant lodge (as he does his own) with such ability, assiduity, and discretion that a large addition to the membership was quickly made, of those who are calculated to uphold the honour and dignity of our ancient institution. After between two and three years' active attention to lodge matters, Bro. Kid vacated the chair in favour of Bro. James Scott, builder, who has since conducted himself and the lodge in a manner affording the utmost satisfaction to every brother. Till now, the lodge meetings were held in the Victoria Hotel, but, comfortable and convenient as the Masonic rooms of that hotel are, the desire which prevailed amongst the brethren of having a "biggin o' their ain" took shape, and has resulted in the opening of a neat and suitable Hall, which has been obtained on a lease and at a very moderate rent. The opening dinner took place on Tuesday evening se'nnight, the R.W.M., Bro. Scott, occupying the chair, supported by the Past and Deputy Masters, &c. There were also present as visitors, Kelt (R.W.M. 49), Rogers (R.W.M. 225), McFarlane, Langlands, Robertson, and Hutchison, from Dundee; as well as a very full attendance of the "Broughty Castle." The usual toasts were duly honoured, some excellent songs were given at intervals during the evening, and the utmost goodwill and happiness pervaded the meeting.

In virtue of a special dispensation granted by Supreme Chapter, the members of Union Royal Arch Chapter, No. 6, held their annual meeting on the 25th ult., at the Newport Hotel, Fife (Bro. David Dickson's.) Comp. James Berry occupied the chair, having on his right Comp. Colonel Alison, P.Z., and on his left Comp. Alexander Kelt, Z.-elect. After an excellent dinner the companions formed themselves into a Lodge of Mark Masons. Comp. Berry then called the lodge from labour to refreshment, and gave the usual loyal and other toasts. In proposing the toast of "Continued Success to the Union Chapter," Comp. Berry referred at considerable length to his connection with the chapter—its present position as being one of the first working chapters in Scotland, and the pleasure he had had in occupying the First Principal's chair during the past year. Being called from refreshment to labour, the Mark Lodge was duly closed. The chapter was then duly formed and opened, when the following were elected office-bearers for the ensuing year, namely: Comp. Alexander Kelt, P.Z.; John Logic, P.H.; George F. Roger, P.J.; James Berry, Past P.Z.; James Robertson, Scribe E.; James Dunne, Scribe N.; Wm. F. Longmuir, Treas.; Wm. McFarland 1st Soj.; James Langlands, 2nd Soj.; Frank Whitehurst, 3rd Soj.; James Reid and James Baird, Janitors; Comps. Alison, Todd and Smyth, members of the committee. Proxy First Principal representing chapter at Supreme Chapter meetings, Comp. James Berry, 11, Shore-terrace, Dundee, he chapter was thereafter duly closed, and after spending another hour in harmony the companions returned to Dundee.

PARTICK.

The annual meeting of the Partick Royal Arch Chapter, No. 113, for the election and installation of office-bearers, was held on Friday evening, 22nd ult., when the following companions were elected and duly installed: Thomas Halket, M.E.Z.; Alex. Campbell, H.; William Christie, J.; Wm. White, S.E.; John Bain, S.N.; David Stevenson, Treas.; Robert Anderson, 1st Soj.; B. H. Remmers, 2nd Soj.; John Dawson, 3rd Soj.; and William Latimer, Janitor. The installation ceremonies were performed in a very able and eloquent manner by Comp. James Crabbe, M.E.Z. 50. The chapter having been duly closed, the companions and friends adjourned to an excellent banquet.

SMALL-POX, FEVERS, AND SKIN DISEASES.—The predisposition to is prevented by Lamplough's Pyretic Saline. Vitalising and invigorating, its effects are remarkable in their cure and prevention. Take it as directed. Sold by chemists and the maker, H. Lamplough, 113, Holborn-hill.—[Advt.]

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

THE CRAFT.

METROPOLITAN.

Mount Lebanon Lodge, No. 73.—This justly-celebrated old lodge commenced its session meetings on Tuesday, the 17th inst., at the Bridge House Hotel, Southwark. Bro. Loewenstark, W.M., presided, supported by Bros. G. Free, S.W.; G. J. Grace, J.V.; E. Harris, P.M., Treas. and acting Sec.; A. L. Dussek, J.D.; J. S. Gomme, I.G.; I. Wilkins, D.C.; J. H. Butten, W.S.; F. Walters, P.M.; T. J. Sabine, P.M.; D. Rose, P.M.; F. H. Ebsworth, P.M.; and a large number of members were present. Mr. T. S. Hill was initiated, the work being well rendered. The following brethren were elected Stewards for 1872 to represent the lodge: Bros. Loewenstark, for Benevolent Institution; G. Free, for Boys' School; and E. Harris, for Girls' School. Notices of motion for altering by-laws and other important business were given, when the lodge was closed, banquet following. Visitors: Bros. E. Walter, 87; Crutchley, 177; Dawson, J.W. 211; Richmond, 890; W. Batchelor, 1178; and M. D. Loewenstark, 1300.

Whittington Lodge, No. 862.—This lodge resumed its meetings for the season on Monday, the 16th, at Anderton's Hotel, the following brethren being in attendance: Bros. S. S. Davis, W.M.; J. Salsbury, S.W.; W. J. H. Jones, J.W.; R. W. Little, Sec.; J. Brett, P.G. Purs., W.S.; D. J. Davis, P.M.; W. Hurlstone, P.M.; J. Weaver, P.M.; B. Seeleg, I.G.; T. Kingston, D.C.; H. R. Haley, C. Bergmann, C. Walker, E. Kern, G. C. Pritchard, T. Voight, and C. Steiner. Visitors: Bros. D. Morrin, P.M.; H. C. Levander, P.M.; and other brethren. The only ceremony performed was the raising, Bro. Choyce being the recipient of the third degree. The elections for the ensuing year were then held, with the following result: Bros. Salsbury, W.M.; Quilty, P.M., Treas.; Gilbert, Tyler; Weaver, P.M., Treas. Benevolent Fund; Davis, P.M., and Hurlstone, Trustees Benevolent Fund; Walker, Whitehead, and Bergmann, Auditors. A five-guinea jewel was voted to the retiring Master, Bro. Davis, for his efficient services in that capacity, and after the transaction of some formal business, the lodge was closed. An excellent banquet followed, under the superintendence of Bro. Smith, of the hotel, and the usual toasts were given and duly honoured.

PROVINCIAL.

Bournemouth.—Lodge of Hengist, No. 195.—The winter session of this lodge was inaugurated on Thursday, the 28th ult. There being no ceremony to be worked this evening, notice had been given that the W.M. would deliver an original lecture, entitled "Fossil Religion;" and, despite of the unfavourable weather, there was a large gathering of brethren present.—After the usual routine business had been despatched, the W.M. (Bro. the Rev. P. H. Newnham, P.P.G.C. Dorset, P.G.C. Hants, &c.) introduced his subject by saying that he proposed to offer to the brethren some thoughts which, in his opinion, would enable them to give a satisfactory reply to that question which we were so often called upon to face, either as asked in our own minds, or by our non-initiated friends—namely, What is the real use of Freemasonry? Passing over, for the time, the more or less equivocal reasons which were often adduced for our attachment to our Craft, there was assuredly one reason which, if rightly apprehended, would place Freemasonry in a very high position in the opinions of all thinking men. Freemasonry had preserved to us the invaluable relics of the religious systems of the primæval races of mankind; and, thus, the true study of its symbols was a science, capable of being studied according to a method similar to that preserved in Geology. For, just as in the latter the examination of fragments of bone and shell enabled us to reconstruct the world of bygone ages, so, in Freemasonry, the study of the mass of fragmentary symbols and allegories (which are nowhere else found in anything like mutual connection) enabled us to trace out the history of the steps by which God has been pleased to elaborate the religious idea in His human creatures. Thus, Freemasonry was emphatically a cabinet of religious fossils. The lecturer then proceeded to classify the principal symbols and ceremonies used in the lodge, tracing them all back to the religious practices of other countries, and to dates which were from one to at least three thousand years anterior to Christ. He showed that the original worship of the sun as the source of life, with its early modification of phallic worship, and the later semi-astronomical, semi-moral mysteries, was the source whence nearly all our Masonic symbols and rites had flowed. Many of these rites and symbols were known to the wonderful religious body popularly called the "Druids," who worked ceremonies on which the modern Master's degree was founded, probably several centuries before Christ; and as the Druids were not extinct in England in Canute's reign, and the worship of the phallic circles and stones was found on the Continent much later still, it was at least possible, if not probable, that the earliest known compilers of the Masonic doggel (say about A.D. 1400) had been more or less influenced or instructed by these sources. However this might be, there was no mistake but that Freemasonry, studied in this point of view, brought before us the grandest idea of God—inasmuch as it showed Him to us as a Father, who, in the darkness of the past, had steadily been educating His children according to one definite plan or system, teaching them finally to recover the lost Word, and to know the one I AM. The lecture, which was extempore, occupied an hour in delivery; and notwithstanding its length, was listened to with great interest by the brethren assembled.—After its close, some interesting remarks were made, and questions asked; and after a vote of thanks to the lecturer, the lodge was closed.

LIVERPOOL.—Harmonic Lodge, No. 216.—The brethren of this old and highly-prosperous lodge, which has the distinguished honour of being the most ancient, with two exceptions, in Liverpool, were summoned to attend its duties at the Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool, on Thursday, the 12th inst., and the W.M.'s instructions were responded to by a large body of his subjects. The meeting was especially interesting from the fact that the attendance of "purpled" visitors was greater than any which has been seen at a private lodge meeting in Liverpool for some time. The officers of the P.G.L. of West Lancashire present during the evening were: Bros. G. F. Goggin, P.G. Chaplain; T. Wylie, P.G. Reg.; H. S. Alpass, P.G. Sec.; J. Hamer, P.P.G. Treas.; A. C. Mott, P.P.G.S.D. and Sec. to the W.L. Masonic E.I.; and J. Pickering, P.G.J.D. Amongst the other visitors were: Bros. A. J. Friedberger, Milwaukee, Aurora Lodge, No. 30; S. Forrest, P.M. 241; W. Nash, 823; P. B. Gee, S.W. 1264; Richards, J. B. MacKenzie, 349; &c. Bro. J. Skeaf, W.M. of the lodge, presided during the evening, the other officers of No. 216 present being Bros. J. McKune, P.M.; W. Laidlaw, Treas.; George Rigby Smith, Sec.; J. Jones, S.W.; J. Beesley, J.W.; John Turner, S.D.; W. B. Lennie, I.G. After the lodge had been opened in due form and with solemn prayer, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Messrs. W. Skinner were then initiated into the sublime mysteries of the Order by the W.M. in a strikingly effective manner, the charge being also given, by the S.W., with great impressiveness. The lodge was then raised to the second degree, when Bros. H. W. Ardran and W. Beadle, having proved their efficiency as E.A.'s, were passed to the honourable positions of F.C.'s. Bro. S. Forrest brought before the brethren the case of a highly-deserving widow and family of a deceased Freemason, and the sum of £5 was unanimously voted for her relief. The brethren were afterwards called from labour to an excellent banquet, served in the large dining hall of the hotel, Bro. J. Skeaf, W.M. presiding. After the removal of the cloth, the W.M. gave in brief but pointed terms the toast of "The Queen," "The Prince and Princess of Wales and the rest of the Royal Family," and the "Marquis of Ripon, M.W.G.M., and the Right Hon. the Earl of Carnarvon, M.W.D.G.M.," both of whom, he said, reflected the highest credit upon the exalted positions they held in the Masonic, as well as legislative body.—In giving the health of "Bro. Sir T. G. Fermor-Hesketh, Bart., M.P., R.W.P.G.M. of W.L.," Bro. Skeaf referred in eulogistic terms to the manner in which Sir Thomas performed the duties of his office, and the courtesy which marked all his dealings with the brethren of the different lodges within the province.—Bro. the Rev. J. F. Goggin, P.G.C., responded to the toast, remarking that he did so with great diffidence as that was the first opportunity which had been afforded to him of replying to the toast since his appointment to the office of P.G.C. He was truly delighted to hear the name of their P.G.M. so well received by the brethren of No. 216. As one brought into daily and almost hourly contact with Sir Thomas, as squire of his (the speaker's) parish, he could speak of his kindness and generosity with some confidence, and as an instance of his liberality he referred to the fact that when, a short time ago, £150 or £200 was wanted for defraying a debt in connection with the parish, Sir Thomas immediately gave him a cheque for the amount. (Applause.) He has no hesitation in stating that within the last twelve months, the P.G.M. had given for charities and various good objects no less than from £2000 to £3000. (Cheers.) He mentioned this because his charities might otherwise be hidden, and to show that a man could not be a good Mason without being a good husband, good brother, and good friend. (Applause.)—In proposing the health of "Bro. Lord Skelmersdale, R.W.D.P.G.M.," Bro. Skeaf referred to the valuable present of silver consecration vessels which his lordship had recently made to the P.G.L., and the zeal with which he performed his duties.—Bro. Alpass, P.G. Sec., in responding to the toast, spoke of the appropriate and acceptable gift made by the D.P.G.M., and referred to the progress which had been made within the province. The lodges had increased from thirty to fifty-six, but he hid not think their zeal had increased in proportion. About a dozen years ago, when there was not half the number of Masons, they managed to get a piece of land; and now, when they were endeavouring to erect a building on it, they had great difficulty in raising the money, but he hoped the erection of the new hall would speedily be carried to a successful issue. In the purchase of that land No. 216 played a very leading part, and he trusted the brethren would occupy the same honourable position in connection with the building. "The W.L. Masonic Educational Institution," proposed by the W.M., was acknowledged by Bro. A. C. Mott, the Sec.; and "The Newly-initiated Brethren" by Bros. Francis and Skinner. "The Visiting Brethren," also given by the W.M., was acknowledged by Bro. Friedberger, who said he had travelled thousands and thousand of miles and had arrived in Liverpool without knowing any one; but no sooner had he proved himself a Mason, than he had been received with great cordiality and true brotherly kindness. He considered Masonry something higher than a mere scheme of benevolence, or it would not have existed so long and prospered so greatly; and he concluded by passing a glowing eulogium upon the M.W.G.M. of England, who had left his mark upon American Masonry during his recent visit.—The toast was also acknowledged by Bros. Pickering, Richards, Gee, S. Forrest, Nash, and MacKenzie.—"To all poor and distressed Masons" was the last toast. During the evening, harmony was greatly promoted by the vocal efforts of Bros. J. Busfield (who sang Felicien David's "Over the Rolling Sea" and "Stay with me" in splendid style), J. Jones, S.W.; Williams, Lennie, Forrest, and MacKenzie. The accompaniments were played with the finest taste by the W.M., whose generosity went far to made the meeting a pleasant one.

TWICKENHAM.—Villiers' Lodge, No. 1194.—The installation meeting of this lodge was held at the Grotto Hotel, Twickenham, where the lodge has removed from Isleworth. The following brethren, amongst others, were present: Bros. Dodd, W.M.; Hy. Allman, S.W.; E. T. Osbaldeston, J.W.; R. W. Little, Sec.; F. J. Lancaster, S.D.; T. Smale, J.D.; W. Harvey, E. H. Dalby, T. Cubitt, T. L. Green, G. L. Ridge, T. A. Woodbridge, Thomas Verity, John Verity, C. G. Stawson, W. S. Plimsaul. Visitors: Bro. J. Smeed, 946, Prov. G.A.D.C. Middlesex, and E. Worthington, P.M. 857. The lodge was duly opened by the W.M., and the minutes read and confirmed. The lodge was then opened in the second degree, and the W.M.-elect, Bro. Allman, was presented for installation, and the first part of the ceremony performed. Bro. Plimsaul, the candidate for the second degree, having arrived, was duly passed. The lodge was then opened in the third degree, and the ceremony of installation proceeded with, Bro. Allman being duly installed W.M., according to ancient custom, by Bro. Dodd, the out-going Master. The R.W. Prov. G. Master was then announced, and a deputation was sent out to escort him into the lodge. Bro. Allman appointed his officers as follows: Bros. E. T. Osbaldeston, S.W.; F. J. Lancaster, J.W.; W. Dodd, Sec.; T. Smale, S.D.; W. Harvey, I.G.; Thomas L. Green, D.C.; John Gilbert, re-appointed Tyler. The other offices were left open, as the brethren were not in attendance. The address to the W.M. was given by the Installing Master, that to the Wardens by Bro. Smale, and the last by Bro. Penhalebury. It was proposed by Bro. Cubitt, and seconded by Bro. Lancaster, that a jewel and collar of the value of £6 6s. be presented to the I.P.M., Bro. Dodd. Carried unanimously. It was proposed by the W.M., and seconded by Bro. Cubitt, that Bro. Little, P.M., Prov. G. Sec., be elected an honorary member, he having declined to be re-appointed Secretary, in consequence of his time being so fully occupied. Carried unanimously. The brethren were unanimous in their desire to see Bro. Little as often as possible, as they feel that he is, indeed, the father of the lodge, though not a P.M., he having declined that honour in favour of Bro. Clark, the first Master. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren partook of an excellent banquet, provided by the hostess, the widow of the lamented Bro. Bendy, and the usual toasts were given, with all the honours.

ROCK FERRY, CHESHIRE.—Rock Lodge, No. 1289.—On Friday, 13th inst., this lodge held its usual meeting at the Albert Rooms, Rock Ferry, and was well attended by members and visitors, amongst the latter being Bros. C. F. Matier, S.G.W. Aberdeen; Thomas Platt, P.P.J.G.D. of Cheshire, P.M. 537; Tysilio Johnson, P.M. 1013; Lieuts. Miller, R.N., and Turner, R.M.L.I. of H.M.S. "Resistance;" Charles Sayer, 477; E. L. Grundy, &c., &c. The officers present were: Bros. Moore,

S.W. ; Lewis, J.W. ; Stevenson, P.G.S.B. Cheshire, Treas. ; P. J. Pearson, S.D. ; and F. L. Bolton, Sec. The usual routine of business over, Mr. Eugene Wigdahl was balloted for, elected, and duly initiated by the W.M., Bro. Edward Friend. Bro. Turner, Lieut. R.M.L.I., of Lodge 1205, Stonehouse, was regularly raised to the sublime degree of a Master Mason. It was resolved that the lodge meet in future at the Rock Ferry Hotel. The lodge having been closed in due form, the brethren adjourned to the Rock Ferry Hotel for supper, which was ably served by Mr. Taylor, the proprietor. The cloth having been removed, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to, also "The Health of the Newly-initiated Brother" and "The Visitors," the latter being eloquently acknowledged by Bro. Matier.—Bro. Moore, S.W., in returning thanks for the toast of "The Officers," alluded to the two years now nearly passed since the lodge first sprung into existence. He said he could only account for its comparative want of success by the very bad accommodation for its meetings, which was proved by a sudden influx of members when a new place of meeting was arranged. He could say this, that although the Rock Lodge had not been prosperous, it was not for want of exertion on the part of the W.M. and others who had assisted in forming it, and now those exertions were about to be rewarded. And he laid particular stress upon one fact—namely, that, through all the trials of the lodge, the brethren had remained united, and worked together in harmony.—In the course of the evening Bro. Cooke enlivened the proceedings greatly by recitation, and several good songs were sung before the Tyler's toast brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

HALIFAX, WEST YORKSHIRE.—De Warren Lodge, No. 1302.—An emergency meeting of this lodge was held on Saturday, the 7th inst., it having been called for the purpose of enabling Bro. F. Whitaker, P.M., P.J.G.D., to present to the lodge a large oil painting of the respected Tyler, Bro. John Greenwood, P.M., to be hung in the lodge-room. The lodge was opened soon after six by the W.M., Bro. W. H. D. Horsfall, and there was a good attendance of the officers and members, with a few visitors, including the painter of the portrait, Bro. Siddall, of Douglas, Isle of Man. After the presentation had taken place, the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to supper. The cloth having been withdrawn, and the usual loyal and Masonic toasts given, "The Health of Bro. F. Whitaker" was proposed by the W.M., who alluded to the various means Bro. Whitaker had taken to further the interests of the several charitable institutions of the Craft in every way, and gracefully referred to the handsome present he had just made to the lodge, as, in addition to the portrait, he had also generously been at the expense of Bro. Greenwood's fortnight's sojourn in the Isle of Man, to give sittings to the artist.—Bro. F. Whitaker, in responding to the toast, mentioned that the artist and Bro. Greenwood were both in their 70th year, a fact which rendered the painting (itself a work of art) all the more valuable.—Bro. Firth, I.P.M., then proposed "The Health of Bro. Greenwood," and spoke in glowing terms of the respect in which that brother was held, not only by the members of the De Warren, but also in the various lodges in the neighbourhood, where he was the acting Tyler.—Bro. Greenwood, in reply, remarked that he was made a Mason in 1822, and had continued a subscribing member of his mother lodge ever since. He had always endeavoured to discharge his duties to the utmost of his ability, and was never so happy as when in the company of Masons. He especially thanked Bro. Whitaker for his kindness towards him, and said he felt deeply thankful to all his brethren for the good feeling which had been so frequently shown to him.—Bro. F. Whitaker then proposed "The Health of the Artist, Bro. Siddall," who suitably responded. Several other toasts followed, and a happy evening was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

WALTHAM NEWTOWN, HERTS.—King Harold Lodge, No. 1327.—The installation meeting of this lodge took place on the 17th inst., at the Britannia, Waltham Newtown, Herts. Present: Bros. West, P.M., P.G.S.D., the W.M. ; W. C. Barnes, jun., J.W., W.M.-elect ; Parker, S.W. ; Terry, P.M., &c. ; Watkins, P.M. 1076 ; Lacey, P.M. 174 ; Barwick, Treas. ; Reilly, Sec. ; Young, S.D. ; Evans, J.D. ; Gilbert, I.G. ; Auber, Austin, Calvert, A. Clements, G. Clements, Copeland, Cox, Driver, Etherington, Eversfield, Fisher, Hodges, Holmes, Kent, Mooney, Noyes, Purvis, Sheldon, Skinner, Smith, Tydeman, members. Visitors: Bros. Hodges, P.G.S.W. ; Bruce, P.P.J.D. ; Tustin, P.G.—; Carter, P.G. Supt. of Works, Herts ; Forsyth, W.M. 869 ; W. C. Barnes, S.W. 869 ; Bilby, P.M., &c., Org. ; Gaskell, W.M. 1076 ; Ashdown, S.W. 1076 ; Brown, J.W. 1076 ; Henderson, P.M., Sec. 1076 ; Smith, P.M. 403 ; Perry, M'Gee, Burrell, Crotarz, and Mann. The lodge was opened in due form, with solemn prayer, and Bros. Auber and Tydeman were raised.

Bro. West, in a most impressive manner, installed Bro. W. C. Barnes, jun., as W.M. for the ensuing year. The appointment of officers then took place, as follows: Bros. Parker re-appointed S.W. ; Young, J.W. ; Reilly, Sec. ; Berwick, Treas. ; Evans, S.D. ; Gilbert, J.D. ; Auber, Org. ; Etherington, I.G. ; and Allison, Tyler. Mr. William Martin Creed was initiated. P.M. Terry presented on behalf of the lodge, a splendid P.M.'s jewel to Bro. West, the I.P.M., on his retirement from office, also, by subscription, a suit of clothing for a P.G.S.D. Bro. Terry, in his usual happy way, dilated on the many valuable services rendered by Bro. West during the first year of the King Harold, and Bro. West returned thanks in a most feeling manner. This concluded the business of the evening, and the lodge was closed in perfect harmony, with solemn prayer, when the brethren retired to a splendid banquet, provided by the worthy host, Bro. Sheldon. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly drunk and responded to. Bros. Dr. Hodges and Bruce responded on behalf of the P.G. Officers of Herts in most eloquent terms. The band of the 41st Middlesex Volunteers, under the able direction of Bro. Etherington, played several selections during the evening.

MARK MASONRY.

METROPOLITAN.

Macdonald Mark Lodge, No. 104.—A meeting of this lodge was held on Saturday evening, the 14th inst., at the Head-quarters of the First Surrey Rifle Volunteer Corps, Brunswick-road, Camberwell, and although scantily attended, was highly interesting from the great ability which was displayed by all the officers in the working of the different portions of the ritual. There was but one candidate for advancement, who came forward, but the ceremony was, nevertheless, given with the care and accuracy which the attendance of a large number of brethren usually encourages the officers to display, and the excellence of the working was the more commendable as the Master and his officers came direct to their body from a heavy march-out, which delayed the opening of the lodge an hour beyond the appointed time. Bro. Eugene Cronin, M.D., W.M., presided, and afterwards filled the posts of Chaplain and M.O., while Bro. James Stevens P.G.O., P.M., advanced Bro. Arthur Southam, to this ancient and honourable degree, Bro. T. Meggy P.G.O., P.M., the while occupying the S.W. chair, and Bro. C. Hammerton the J.W., Bro. W. Worrell presiding at the organ, Bro. Robert Berridge taking the J.D.'s office, Bro. C. T. Dean, I.G., and Bro. Moody, D.C., at the conclusion of the ceremony, Bro. T. Meggy presented the report of the Audit Committee, which was most satisfactory, and showed with what economy and prudence the affairs of this young lodge had been conducted. Bro. James Stevens proposed that a guinea be given by the lodge and placed on the list of subscriptions to the Binckes' Testimonial, as the Macdonald Lodge was much indebted to that brother for his exertions on its behalf, but as Bro. Meggy, in seconding the motion, thought the lodge could afford a couple of guineas for the object, Bro. Stevens amended his motion in that particular, and the brethren unanimously passed it for the larger amount. Bro. Stevens then proposed that a guinea be given out of the Charity Fund of the lodge to the Masonic Boys' School. Bro. Moody seconded the proposition and the brethren adopted it. Thereupon, Bro. Meggy handed the guinea to Bro. Stevens, who obtained the W.M.'s permission to sign and use the proxy obtained by this subscription for Croydon's case at the election on the following Monday. After such a full amount of work for a few brethren to have performed, the W.M. closed the lodge with the usual pleasant musical accompaniment, and entertained the members and a visitor at an agreeable little supper. As time ran very short to enable the brethren to comply with the lodge rule that the Tyler's toast shall be given by eleven o'clock, the speeches were cut down to a delightful brevity, and not a single song was sung, though Bro. Stevens gave the recitation of "A Mason's Vows," which he acquired from the American brethren who lately visited us. The whole of the speeches were comprised in the following few words: The W.M.: Brethren, I propose the first toast, "The Ruler of the Realm and the Ruler of Mark Masonry."—Bro. James Stevens P.M.: Brethren, there will be only this toast that I am now about to propose, and another, this evening. I give you "The health of the W.M.," hoping that he will have a good year of office, and a much better attendance of the brethren during the remainder of his term than he has had this evening. We are all very much indebted to him for accepting and holding the office of Master; but I do not know that I need detain you at this time of the evening by descanting at any great length on his good qualities. You all know his merits, and I ask you as an acknowledgment of them to drink his health. (Cheers.)—The W.M.: Bro. Stevens and brethren, I thank you very much for the cordial way in which you have proposed and drank my health. I think I owe a little apology to the lodge for not attempting the working of the ceremony of advancement. I knew I could not do it perfectly, and I thought it better that I should let those who could, work it out. I knew I could not work it as Bro. Stevens could, and I preferred that our newly-advanced brother should have a fair opportunity of witnessing the impressiveness of the degree. With the work of Bro. Stevens, and the support given him by the officers, I have every reason to be pleased, and I think our candidate must confess that we work very satisfactorily.—The W.M.: Brethren, we have one toast that we cannot disturb this evening, and that is "The health of the Advancee." When we looked at our summonses we thought we should have had several advancements, but we were disappointed, as they did not attend. On that account we owe all the more honour and praise to that one who has ventured so far, and come up. I am sure we shall find him a most worthy brother. He comes from an eminent lodge, the Royal Clarence, Brighton, and I know he will be an ornament to our Mark Lodge here, and that we shall soon have him in office. (Applause.)—Bro. Southam: W.M. and brethren. I thank you sincerely for the manner in which you have drunk my health, and for the manner I have been received in your lodge this evening. I have had great pleasure in what I have seen, and I have no doubt that I shall derive both pleasure and instruction from my intercourse with you. I feel very great pleasure, indeed, in the consciousness that I have taken the Mark degree, and I return my sincere thanks to you, especially to our W.M. and Bro. Stevens, who has introduced me to this lodge, for your favour. It was a great kindness on his part, a kindness which has also been repeated by all the brethren who have received me. (Cheers.) The Tyler's toast was then given and honoured and the brethren separated. The meeting of this lodge on the 12th of August last, was honoured by the presence of Col. Burdett, Prov. G.M. of Middlesex and Surrey, and that brother expressed his approval on that occasion of the general working of the lodge, and also of the working of the ceremony of advancement. This was recorded on the minutes which were read at the opening of the lodge at the last meeting; and the same minutes also recorded a letter received from the Percy Lodge, conveying the thanks of the brethren to the members of the Macdonald Lodge for the assistance they rendered at the constitution of the province of Middlesex and Surrey.

ORDERS OF CHIVALRY.

RED CROSS OF CONSTANTINE.

PROVINCIAL.

LEICESTER.—Byzantine Conclave, No. 44.—The first regular assembly of this conclave, for the present season, was held at Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, on the 11th inst. The chair of C. was occupied by the M.P.S., the Ill. Sir Kt. W. Kelly, Int.-Gen. Leicestershire and Rutland, who was supported by E. and P. Sir Kts. Toller, 18°, Hon. P.S., and the Rev. Dr. Haycroft, Hon. P.S., H.P. ; Sir Kts. Sculthorpe, Treas. ; Partridge, 18°, Recorder ; Duncomb, S.B. ; Deane, Herald ; Comp. Bembridge, Sentinel ; and other Sir Knights. Visitors: E. Sir Kt. G. S. Phillips, 18°, V.E., and Sir Kt. W. T. Belcher, Mus. Bac. Oxon., Org., both of the Rose of Sharon Conclave, No. 19, Birmingham. The conclave having been opened, the M.P.S. announced that the M. Ill. Sov., the Earl of Bective, having been pleased to appoint Sir Kt. the Earl of Ferrers a member of the Senate, with the rank of Grand Herald, and Sir Kt. the Rev. Dr. Haycroft to be one of the seventeen Knights Grand Cross, who are not members of the Senate, he (the M.P.S.) had received an authority from the Most Ill. Sov. to confer the grades of Viceroy and Sovereign on those Sir Knights. Sir Kt. Earl Ferrers was unavoidably absent, but Sir Kt. the Rev. Dr. Haycroft being in attendance, a College of Viceroys, and afterwards a Senate of Sovereigns was opened, and those grades duly conferred, the former ceremony being performed by Sir Kt. Toller, Hon. P.S. and S.G., as V.E., assisted by Sir Kt. Phillips as H.P., and the latter by the M.P.S. The ballot was taken for three candidates, one of whom, Bro. E. Wood, of No. 523, Leicester, being present, and having been duly elected, was installed as a Knight Companion of the Order, by the M.P.S. Sir Kt. the Rev. Dr. Haycroft, H.P., delivered the charge in a most impressive manner. After an alteration had been made in the by-laws, and some other business transacted, the conclave was closed, and the Sir Knights adjourned to the refectory. The ceremony of installation was rendered with the advantage of Sir Kt. W. T. Belcher's able assistance as musical conductor.

INSTRUCTION.

BRO. HENRY MUGGERIDGE, P.M. 192 and 725, Preceptor of the Stability Lodge of Instruction, &c., will give a lecture in the first degree, at the Strong Man Lodge of Instruction, No. 45, Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, on Monday next, 30th instant.

THE Panmure Lodge of Instruction, No. 720, is held every Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock from October to March, and at 7.30 from April to September. Bro. John Thomas is the Preceptor, and brethren are invited to attend.

THE St. James's Union Lodge, No. 180, has removed its place of meeting to the Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street (opposite the Pantheon), Oxford-street, where it now meets every Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Bro. J. R. Stacey, a P.M. of the mother lodge, and who is well known for his careful and correct working, is the Preceptor. His appointment, and the removal of the lodge to a more central position, have given great satisfaction, and will doubtless bring a large accession of new members to this lodge of instruction.

HARTLEPOOL, DURHAM.—During the summer months of this year the members of the St. Helen's Lodge of Instruction, No. 531, Hartlepool, have been holding regular meetings on the third Thursday in the month, under the preceptorship of Bro. J. J. Armstrong, I.P.M. They have been conducted with that good feeling which ought ever to characterise Freemasonry, and many of the younger members of the lodge who have availed themselves of this opportunity have given ample proofs of the benefit they have received. On Thursday evening the 28th inst., their conclusion was celebrated by an excellent banquet at Bro. C. Humble's, Cleveland Hotel, Bro. J. J. Armstrong presiding, the vice-chair being occupied by Bro. Hunter, S.W. After the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, Bro. S. Armstrong, P.M., proposed "The St. Helen's Lodge of Instruction," in suitable terms, and it was responded to by Bro. T. Turnbull (who has acted as Secretary) in a neat speech. Bro. S. N. Sidney (artist) took this opportunity of presenting Bro. T. Turnbull with an excellent photograph of our worthy Bro. J. J. Armstrong, surrounded by a frame of remarkable beauty. It was admired by all the brethren present, and Bro. Turnbull, in very feeling terms, thanked Bro. Sidney for the gift, and complimented him on its selection. The remainder of the evening was rendered enjoyable by contributions of harmony from Bros. J. J. Armstrong, J. Hunter, T. Forbes, J. Tucker, and T. J. Johnson. The visiting brethren were Bros. Haigh (Truth), Wm. Sadler (Harbour of Refuge), Sidney, Abrahams, and Harris (St. John's), and Davis. This is the first year lodges of instruction have been held in connection with St. Helen's, but having met with good support, it has been determined to continue them next year.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS
For the Week ending November 4, 1871.

The Editor will be glad to have notice from Secretaries of lodges and chapters of any change in place or time of meeting.

MONDAY, OCT. 30.

Lodge 79, Pythagorean, Ship Tavern, Greenwich.
,, 531, British Oak, the Hall, Beaumont-square, Mile End.

Chap. 188, Joppa, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street.
Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern, Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30; Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street (opposite Pantheon), Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. J. R. Stacey, Preceptor.
Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. Dilley, Preceptor.
St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, OCT. 31.

Lodge 141, Faith, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, Preceptor.
Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.
Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, Gladstone Tavern, Bishopsgate-st. Wilhin, at 7.30; Bro. Bolton (W.M. 1227), Preceptor.
St. Marylebone Lodge of Instruction (1305), British Stores Tavern, New-street, St. John's Wood, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 1.

GRAND CHAPTER, at 7.
Lodge 511, Zetland, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7½.
Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Landus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, NOV. 2.

Lodge 27, Egyptian, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
,, 45, Strong Man, Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell.
,, 136, Good Report, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street.
,, 192, Lion and Lamb, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-st.
,, 227, Ionic, Ship & Turtle Tav., Leadenhall-st.
,, 231, St. Andrew's, Freemasons' Hall.

Lodge 538, La Tolerance, Freemasons' Hall.
,, 554, Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
,, 822, Victoria Rifles, Freemasons' Hall.
,, 1155, Exceisior, Sydney Arms, Lewisham-road.
The R.A. Chapter of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor. Work 12 clauses of four sections.
Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses, Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Panmure Lodge of Instruction (720), Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7; Bro. John Thomas, Preceptor.
Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern, Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.

FRIDAY, OCT. 27.

Lodge 706, Florence Nightingale, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich.
,, 890, Hornsey, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
,, 1305, St. Marylebone, Eyre Arms Tavern, St. John's Wood.
Chap. 3, Fidelity, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Htl., Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Muggeridge, Preceptor.
Robert Burns Lodge of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, at 8; Bro. Wm. Watson, Preceptor.
Burgoyne Lodge of Instruction, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, N.W., at 8.
St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brampton-road, S.W.
United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
Burdett Count's Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West Smith, Preceptor.

SATURDAY, OCT. 28.

General Committee Boys' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4.
Lodge 142, St. Thomas's,
Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. J. Comb, Preceptor.
Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 7.30; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.

The following matter stands over:—"The Future of Freemasonry in Ireland," and other articles; reports of Prov. G. Lodge of Durham, Lodges 145, 183, 576, 597, 1056, 1276, 1326; Chapters 422 and 1194; Prov. Grand Mark Lodge Lancashire (S.C.), Bon Accord Mark Lodge, Prudence K.T. Encampment; &c.

Every Person requiring an OUTFIT should send for

"THE OUTFITTER:"

PUBLISHED AND FORWARDED FREE BY

GANN, JONES & Co.,

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURING OUTFITTERS.

For Military Outfits, estimates, &c. ...	... see THE OUTFITTER	For Prices of Shirts of all descriptions ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Naval " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Hosiery and Underclothing ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Civil Service " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Rugs and Umbrellas ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for the Traveller ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Waterproof Clothing ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for the Emigrant ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Tropical " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for Lads going to School ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Canadian " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for Lads going to Sea ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Cricketing " " ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for an Apprentice ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Collars, Shirt-fronts, Wristbands... see THE OUTFITTER.
For the New Books of the Quarter ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Gann, Jones & Co.'s Sewing Machines see THE OUTFITTER.
For Routes to principal parts of the World ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For the New Machine, "The Lady" (£2 15s.) ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Distances, Passenger Rates, &c., to ditto... see THE OUTFITTER.		For the leading Machines of all Makers ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Cricketing and Athletic Reports for the Quarter, see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Leading Manufacturers ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Prices of Gentlemenly yet Economic Dress ... see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Enterprising Tradesmen ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Prices of the Very Best Shirts ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For the Addresses of Good Schools ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.

Depot, 171, FENCHURCH STREET. Manufactory, 15 and 16, BLOMFIELD STREET, E.C.

THE Freemason.

Reports of the Grand Lodges are published with the special sanction of the Most Honourable the MARQUIS of RIPON, K.G., the M.W. Grand Master of England; the Right Hon. the EARL of ZETLAND, K.T., &c., M.W. Past Grand Master; the Right Hon. the EARL of ROSSLYN, the M.W. the Grand Master Mason of Scotland; and the Grand Masters of many Foreign Grand Lodges.

VOL. 4, No. 139.]

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1871.

REGISTERED FOR TRANSMISSION ABROAD. [PRICE 2d.]

MUSIC

FOR THE

CEREMONY OF ADVANCEMENT

To the Degree of a

MARK MASTER MASON,

Composed by

Brother EDWIN J. CROW, F.C.O., P.G.O. Leicestershire.

Published with the approval of

THE M.W.G.M. Bro. Rev. G. R. PORTAL, M.A., whom it is, by his permission, dedicated.

POST FREE, 1/7.

London: GEORGE KENNING, 2, 3 and 4, Little Britain.

"What better theme than Masonry?"

MASONIC SONG.

Words by Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M. 720 and 1216, P.Z. 720,
G.J.O. Mark, W.M. 104 Mark, M.P.S. 14, &c.

Music by Bro. WILHELM GANZ, Grand Organist, P.M. 435
Org. No. 4, and of British Chapter No. 8.

GEORGE KENNING, 2, 3 & 4, Little Britain, and 108, Fleet-street,
London, and 2, Monument-place, Liverpool.
Post-free 25 Stamps.

NOW READY. PRICE THREE SHILLINGS.

New Masonic Lyric.

"THE FINAL TOAST,"

Written by Bro. D. L. RICHARDSON.

Arranged, with Pianoforte Accompaniment, by Bro. EDWIN J. CROW, Fellow of the College of Organists, S.W. 279,
P.G.O. Leic. and Rutland.

GEORGE KENNING, London and Liverpool; Post-free 19 stamps.

The Great American Masonic Poem.

New ready, Price Two Pence, or sent post-free to any part of Great Britain or Ireland on receipt of three Penny Postage Stamps.

"KING SOLOMON'S TEMPLE,"

A MASONIC POEM.

By Bro. AUGUSTINE J. H. DUGANNE, of New York City.

Bros. TWIDDELL and Sons, Cleveland Printing and Publishing Offices and Masonic Depot, 87, Linthorpe-road, Middlesbrough.
London: GEORGE KENNING.

NOW READY,

Price One Shilling, Second Edition, Revised and Enlarged,
Freemasonry in Relation to Civil Authority and the Family Circle,

By Bro. CHALMERS I. PATON.

THIS work is a perfect handbook of the principles of Freemasonry, founded on the Ancient Charges and Symbols, and will be found to be eminently practical and useful in the vindication and support of the Order.

Members of the Craft wishing copies should order them from London: GEORGE KENNING, 2, 3 and 4, Little Britain.

Liverpool: 2, Monument-place.

Edinburgh: JOHN MENZIES, 2, Hanover-street.

Dublin: CHARLES HEDGECOCK, 26, Grafton-street.

And may be had of any Bookseller throughout the Kingdom.

NOW READY,

REFLECTED RAYS OF LIGHT UPON FREEMASONRY:

OR,

The Freemason's Pocket Compendium,

With an Emblematical Frontispiece.

A Hand-Book of the Principles of Freemasonry, and Pocket Vade
Mecum and Guide to the various Ceremonies connected with Craft Masonry, so far as the same are allowed to be communicable, in accordance with the principles of the Order.

Price One Shilling, Post-free for Fourteen Stamps

Sold by Bro. Geo. KENNING, 2, 3 & 4, Little Britain, London, E.C.

Rose Croix Tracing Boards,

Five Guineas the Pair.

THE MASONIC DEPOT, LITTLE BRITAIN, LONDON.

E. MOSES and SON'S

WINTER SUITS, 32s. to £4 4s.

WINTER OVERCOATS, 19s. to £5.

E. MOSES and SON supply every description of clothing, ready made, or made to measure, for all ages, all occasions, and all classes; also Hosiery and Drapery, Hats and Caps, Boots and Shoes, and complete outfits for all climates.

All Goods marked in Plain Figures.
Any Article exchanged if not worn or injured.
List of Prices, with Rules for Self-measure, Patterns, and Fashion-sheet, gratis and post free.

E. MOSES and SON'S easy and accurate system of self-measure enables them to execute orders by post, with the guarantee of a faultless fit.

E. MOSES and SON'S Establishments are closed every Friday evening at sunset, till Saturday evening at sunset, when business is resumed until 11 o'clock.

The following are the only Addresses of E. MOSES and SON:

LONDON.

CORNER of MINORIES and ALDGATE.
NEW OXFORD-STREET, CORNER of HART-St.
CORNER of TOTTENHAM-COURT-ROAD and EUSTON-ROAD.

Country Branch.

BRADFORD, YORKSHIRE.

MASONIC ASSURANCE OFFICE

9, NEW BRIDGE STREET.

Chairman London Board ... DR. BEAMAN.
" Portsmouth " ... ALD. FORD.
" Leeds " ... ALD. ADDYMAN.
" Plymouth " ... MAJOR STUDY.

This Company invites the attention of the Craft to its entirely novel and original instrument of Positive Life Policy.

FREDK. BIGG, P.M., Manager & Actuary.

LOANS GRANTED.

Norwich & London Accident Insurance Association.

ESTABLISHED 1856.

SUBSCRIBED CAPITAL £100,000.

For Insuring against

ACCIDENTAL DEATH,

With

Compensation for Personal Injury

Caused by Accidents.

CHIEF OFFICES—ST. GILES' STREET, NORWICH.

LONDON: 10, OLD JEWRY CHAMBERS.

Secretary: CHARLES R. GILMAN, Esq.

London Manager: Mr. GEORGE POWELL.

The Lombard Exchange & News Room,

LOMBARD STREET, LONDON, E.C.

TERMS: £ s. d.

Entrance Fee ... .. 3 3 0

Annual Subscription ... .. 3 3 0

Members residing and carrying on business at a distance of fifty miles and upwards from London, Merchant Captains, & Clerks to Subscribers (no entrance fee) ... 1 1 0

The Room is well supplied with newspapers, telegrams, and books of reference. It includes a Post-office, Poste Restante, Telegraph-office, Reading and Writing Room, Restaurant, Lavatories, &c.; also copying machines for the use of subscribers.

BRO. JOHN H. YOUNGHUSBAND,

P.M., P.Z., P.E.C., P.P.J.G.W., &c., Manager.

GENTLEMEN'S and BOYS' CLOTHING in all Textures, Fashions, and Prices; OUTFITS, HOSIERY
WATERPROOF-CLOTHING and SHIRTS in Long Cloth
Linen, and Shrunken Flannel; supplied wholesale or retail by

GANN, JONES and CO.,

OUTFITTING MANUFACTURERS, 171, FENCHURCH-ST.

3/- Assam Pekoe Souchong.

Is it not a universal complaint that you cannot get good Tea, pay what you will?

That difficulty we obviate by supplying NEW SEASON'S ASSAM PEKOE SOUCHONG

At 3/- Pound,

which is the most delicious Tea you can buy.

Delivered free to any Railway-station or Market Town in England. Terms Cash.

PARTRIDGE AND CO.,

CHINA AND INDIAN TEA DEALERS,

356, Edgware-road, W.

NOW READY. PRICE TWO SHILLINGS.

(Roan, Truck, Gilt edges.)

THE

COSMOPOLITAN

MASONIC CALENDAR

AND

Pocket-Book for 1872.

Containing:—

LISTS OF LODGES, CHAPTERS, CONCLAVES, AND ENCAMPMENTS,

With the

NAMES OF OFFICERS,

In the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, the Colonial Dependencies, Europe, the United States, South American Empires, &c., &c.

To be had of all Booksellers, Tylers, Janitors, Sentinels, Equerries, &c.

Publishing Office, 198, FLEET STREET, LONDON.

STILL & SPARKLING RHINE WINES
AT GROWERS' PRICES.

A PURE NIERSTEINER, 21/- per doz.

In original 3-dozen cases.

A First-class SPARKLING HOCK or MOSELLE, 33/- per doz.

SAMPLE BOTTLES ON APPLICATION.

The above Wines for shipping charged less the duty.

NET CASH PRICES. NO CHARGE FOR CASES OR BOTTLES.

Cheques crossed Glyn, Mills & Co.

SOLE AGENT:

Bro. H. W. WICKINS, 6, Gutter Lane

Bro. R. P. ATKINS and Co.,

General Shipping, Forwarding, Custom-house, and Commission Agents, & Universal Foreign Parcels Express.

PARCELS and GOODS regularly despatched by the overland routes, mail steamers, clipper ships, and express railways to all parts of the world.
Insurances effected. Baggage shipped and cleared.
Passages engaged. Indents executed. Tariffs at chief office, 10, St. Mary-axe, E.C.; 155, Piccadilly, W.; 26, Stockbridge-terrace, Pimlico, S.W.; London; 4, Seaton-buildings, Liverpool; Meadow-street, Bombay.

YARMOUTH HERRINGS.

DURING the months of October, NOVEM-BER and DECEMBER, GEORGE HARVEY will send, carriage paid on receipt of remittance, REAL YARMOUTH HERRINGS of very best quality, carefully cured and smoked, 6s. per box. Best Kip-red Herrings, 7s. per box.

Letters and Cash remittances payable to GEORGE HARVEY, Office, No. 9, Fish Wharf, Great Yarmouth, will receive prompt attention.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER
Registered. Masonic Clothier, &c., 725, High Holborn, W.C.

THE GREAT WESTERN HOTEL
(SNOW HILL STATION).
BIRMINGHAM.

"One of the most elegant, comfortable, and economical Hotels in the three kingdoms.—The Field, July 31, 1869."
"From experience gained by repeated visits, we are happy to be able to testify to the exceeding comfort of this Hotel. We have much pleasure in recommending it."
—The Engineer, October 14, 1870.
"An establishment remarkable for its able management, reasonable charges, and general comfort."—Bell's Life, June 17, 1871.
Good accommodation for Lodges, Chapters, &c.

Mason's Hall Tavern,

MASON'S AVENUE, BASINGHALL STREET, CITY.

THE above old-established Tavern is NOW OPEN, newly decorated, by Bro CHARLES GOSDEN, late Manager of the Freemasons' Tavern Company. Every accommodation will be found for Lodges, Chapters, Mark and other degrees, for their Meetings, Dinners, Suppers, &c., and every attention will be paid to their comfort and enjoyment by the new Proprietor.

Beer in Bottle.

WHITBREAD and CO.'S
London Cooper, Stout and Ales.

Sole Agent, ROBT. BAKER.

Prices and full particulars can be obtained at the Stores,
277, GRAY'S INN ROAD, W.C.

Bro. George Kenning,

GOLDSMITH,

JEWELLER & WATCHMAKER.

London: 2, 3 & 4, Little Britain,

AND

198, Fleet Street.

Liverpool: 2, Monument Place.

Masonic Note Paper and Envelopes,

For Craft, Mark, Royal Arch, Red Cross of Rome and Constantine, Rose Croix, Knights Templar, 30th Degree.
IN BOXES THREE SHILLINGS.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

BRO. GEORGE KENNING'S

MASONIC DEPOT, LITTLE BRITAIN, LONDON.

JONES'S PATENT

"DOUBLE L" SADDLE BOILER.

These Boilers possess all the advantages of the old Saddle Boiler, with the following improvements, viz.: The water-space at back and over top of saddle increases the heating surface to such an extent, that a "PATENT DOUBLE L SADDLE BOILER" will do about twice the amount of work with the same quantity of fuel; the cost of setting is also considerably reduced, and likewise the space occupied; at the same time these Boilers are simple in construction, and being made of wrought iron, are not liable to crack. They are made of the following sizes:—

Sizes.			To heat of 4-in. pipe.	Price.
High.	Wide.	Long.	Feet.	£ s. d.
20 in.	18 in.	18 in.	300	5 0 0
20 "	18 "	24 "	450	6 0 0
20 "	18 "	30 "	600	7 0 0
24 "	24 "	24 "	700	8 0 0
24 "	24 "	30 "	850	10 0 0
24 "	24 "	36 "	1,000	12 0 0
24 "	24 "	48 "	1,400	15 0 0
28 "	28 "	60 "	1,800	20 0 0
30 "	30 "	72 "	2,600	30 0 0
36 "	36 "	96 "	4,500	50 0 0
48 "	48 "	108 "	7,000	75 0 0
48 "	48 "	144 "	10,000	100 0 0

And are kept in Stock and sold only by the Inventors and Patentees, J. JONES and SONS.

PRICE LISTS of HOT WATER PIPES and Connections with Boilers of all sizes and shapes; or ESTIMATES for HOT WATER APPARATUS, erected complete, will be sent on application.

J. JONES and SONS,

Iron Merchants,

6 Bankside, Southwark, London, S.E.

WINDOW BLINDS.

W. J. BERRYMAN,
MANUFACTURER OF

VENETIAN, WIRE, & OUTSIDE SPRING SHOP BLINDS.

Old Blinds renovated to look equal to new.
Estimates and Contracts supplied on the shortest notice.
43, Aldersgate-street, City.

Bro. JAMES STEVENS,

(25, 720, 1216, &c.)

AUCTIONEER & SURVEYOR,

House and Estate Agent, &c.,

CLAPHAM COMMON, S.

Valuations for Probate or Legacy Duties. Agent to the Imperial Fire and Life Insurance Offices.

"TRUTH MUST PREVAIL."—Common Sense.

Lamps, Balbs, Cutlery, Brushes, Fenders and Fire Irons, Electropate and Nickel-Silver Goods.

R. D. PARR,

General House-Furnishing Ironmonger,

42, BLACKMAN STREET, BOROUGH.

OFFERS nothing extraordinary, but REALLY GOOD Articles at fair and reasonable prices. He does not keep an "Immense Stock," but SUFFICIENTLY LARGE for any person to select from. He does not sell "cheaper than every other house in the Trade," but quite as cheap as ANY.
A visit will, at all times, be very much appreciated.

To Consumptives.

A GRATEFUL FATHER is desirous of sending by mail, free of charge to all who wish it, a copy of the prescription by which his daughter was restored to perfect health from confirmed consumption, after having been given up by her physicians and despaired of by her father, a well-known physician, who has now discontinued practice. Sent to any person Free. Address O. P. BROWN, Secretary, 2, King-street, Covent-garden, London, W.C.

CROSBY'S
BALSAMIC

COUGH
ELIXIR.

DISEASES OF THE

LUNGS AND AIR-VESSELS.

CROSBY'S

BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR.

Opium, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief in Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling the digestive organs and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy.

SELECT TESTIMONIAL.

Dr. Roake, Scarsdrough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdued cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease."

This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Fallacious Night Sweats, of Consumption, Quinsy, and all affections of the throat and chest. Sold in bottles at 1s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, by all respectable Chemists, and whole sale by JAS. M. CROSBY, Chemist, Scarborough.

* Invalids should read Crosby's Prize Treatise on "Diseases of the Lungs and Air-Vessels," a copy of which can be had GRATIS of all Chemists.

YOUNG'S ARTICATED CORN AND BUNION PLAISTERS are the best ever invented for giving immediate ease, and removing those painful excrescences. Price 6d. and 1s. per box. May be had of most chemists. Observe the trade mark.—H. Y.—without which none are genuine. Be sure and ask for YOUNG'S.

RUPTURES.—BY ROYAL LETTERS PATENT.

WHITE'S MOC-MAIN LEVER TRUSS

Is allowed by upwards of 500 Medical Men to be the most effective invention in the curative treatment of HERNIA. The use of a steel spring, so often hurtful in its effects, is here avoided; a soft bandage being worn round the body, while the requisite resisting power is supplied by the MOC-MAIN PAD and PATENT LEVER, fitting with so much ease and closeness that it cannot be detected, and may be worn during sleep. A descriptive circular may be had, and the Truss, which cannot fail to fit, forwarded by post, on the circumference of the body, two inches below the hips, being sent to the

MANUFACTURER,

Mr. WHITE, 228, Piccadilly, London.

Price of a Single Truss, 16s., 21s., 26s. 6d. and 31s. 6d. Postage 1s. 6d. of a Double Truss, 31s. 6d., 42s. and 52s. 6d. Postage 1s. 6d. of Umbilical Truss, 42s. and 52s. 6d. Postage 1s. 6d. Post Office Orders to be made payable to JOHN WHITE, Post Office, Piccadilly.

NEW PATENT ELASTIC STOCKINGS, KNEECAPS, &c.

The material of which these are made is recommended by the faculty as being peculiarly ELASTIC and COMPRESSIBLE and the best invention for giving efficient and permanent support in all cases of WEAKNESS, VARICOSE VEINS, &c. Price, 4s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 10s., and 16s. each. Postage 6d. SPINAL MACHINES, LEG IRONS, and Every Description of Surgical Appliances.

JOHN WHITE, Manufacturer, 228, Piccadilly London.

THE RETURN VISIT OF THE DORIC LODGE OF INSTRUCTION TO THE UNITED PILGRIMS.

The success of the new movement for encouraging the interchange of visits between lodges of instruction was put beyond a doubt on Friday evening last week, at Brixton, when a gathering of brethren from every district around London put it beyond the power of the "United Pilgrims" to afford accommodation, and proved the anticipation they had formed of a "strong muster" to be very weak, indeed, in proportion to the result. We were sorry to notice that so many brethren were unable to gain admission to the lodge-room, but it was quite unavoidable, the room being positively crowded by those present, amongst whom we observed the following: Bros. Barnes, Rugg, Johnston, Appleby, Berry, Verry, Yetton, Scurr, Morrison, Chadwick, Musto, Cundick, Bowron, Mortlock, Austin, Middleton, Price, Wintle, Barnes (jun.), Grant, &c., all of the Doric Lodge; John Thomas, James Stevens, Poore, Larlham, Hodges, Welsford, Ross, Southam, Stolz, Pulsford, H. Martin, V. Bedolfe, Timewell, J. Noke, J. Wright, Withall, Bye, Griffin, Goddard, Maddern, Moody, &c., of the United Pilgrims; Wagstaff, W.M. 1216; Trusler, Lane, and Pulman, of No. 720; Swallow, Royal Union; Catherwood, 55; Gompertz, 869; Newton, 766; Silk, 508; Haywood, Williams, and Catchpole, of No. 1306; Pinder, 15; Bliss, 73; Roy, 1003; Sayers, 1349; Linsey, 1000; Staten, 1207; J. Hayward (Vitruvian), Kiddy, and others whose names we were unable to ascertain.

The United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction having been opened by Bro. John Thomas, P.M., and Preceptor, the brethren of the Doric Lodge were received and took their places in the western half of the lodge-room, their Secretary and Preceptor, Bro. Thos. Barnes, occupying the Senior Warden's Chair.

The business of the meeting was then proceeded with, the whole of the Fifteen Sections being worked in most admirable style by the following "Doric" brethren, viz.: First Lecture, section 1st, Bro. Rugg; 2nd, Bro. Johnson; 3rd, Bro. Appleby; 4th, Bro. Berry; 5th, Bro. Verrey; 6th, Bro. Yetton; 7th, Bro. Scurr; second lecture, section 1st, Bro. Morrison; 2nd, Bro. Chadwick; 3rd, Bro. Musto; 4th, Bro. Cundick; 5th, Bro. Bowron; third lecture, section 1st, Bro. Mortlock; 2nd, Bro. Austin; 3rd, Bro. Barnes.

The most earnest attention was paid to the several brethren who thus elucidated the beautiful teachings of the sublime Craft, and unanimous expressions of satisfaction rewarded their respective efforts. A short interval for rest and refreshment was taken between the first and second lectures, and at the conclusion of the work, the thanks of the United Pilgrims' Lodge were voted to the "Doric" brethren. The Fifteen Section-workers were elected honorary members of the United Pilgrims' Lodge, and eleven of the visitors were also elected members. On the lodge being closed the brethren adjourned to a supper provided by the United Pilgrims, who entertained their guests in most hospitable style, hearty greetings being exchanged between the two lodges, and wishes expressed that the good work they had commenced might be continued to the advantage of Freemasonry generally throughout the metropolis.

A more interesting meeting of brethren we have never before attended, and we trust that similar opportunities may occur to spread the benefits of Masonic instruction far and wide. The United Pilgrims' and the Doric Lodges have our best wishes for the permanent success of their most commendable endeavours.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills.—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, London." Also, makers of Epps's Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk). [Advt.]

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGES
THE RETURN VISIT OF THE DORIC LODGE OF INSTRUCTION TO THE UNITED PILGRIMS' ...	678
ILLUSTRATIONS OF THE HISTORY OF THE CRAFT ... ..	679 & 680
THE PHILOSOPHY OF FREEMASONS ...	680 & 681
GRAND CHAPTER OF ENGLAND ...	681
THE CROWN PRINCE OF PRUSSIA ON MASONIC KNOWLEDGE ... ..	682
ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE—
"Freemasonry and Unitarianism" ... ..	683
The Purple in West Lancashire ... ..	683
COMPLIMENT TO RETIRING VOLUNTEER BRETHREN ... ..	683
PROV. GRAND LODGE OF DURHAM ... ..	683
PROV. GRAND MARK LODGE OF LANCASHIRE (S.C.) ... ..	684
THE CRAFT—
Metropolitan ... ..	684 & 685
Provincial... ..	685 & 686
ROYAL ARCH—
Provincial ... ..	686
MARK MASONRY—
Metropolitan ... ..	686
Provincial ... ..	686
ORDERS OF CHIVALRY—
Knights Templar ... ..	686
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ...	686 & 687
ADVERTISEMENTS ... ..	677, 678, 687, & 688

ILLUSTRATIONS of the HISTORY of the CRAFT.

By a MASONIC STUDENT.

CHAPTER III.

I propose in the present chapter to call attention to the evidences which may be adduced relative to the existence of Masonic guilds, or sodalities, up to the fall of the Roman Empire.

In 1863, I thus stated the general proposition in words which I venture to repeat to-day: "One thing is plain from history, that, from the earliest period of civilized life in the world, architecture has been considered almost as a sacred art. In Egypt, Greece, and Rome, the colleges of architects and the sodalities of Masons were recognized by the State and cherished by the priests. For as architecture, by its very symbolism, by the buildings it reared, the temples it adorned, by the objects of nature it sought to delineate in the ornamentation it employed, as ministering both to utility and beauty, had ever an inner and mystical teaching, it is not at all surprising that, from the very first, the builders of the world seemed to have thrown around their outward occupation and associated companies, the attractive if serious conditions, of initiatory probation and secret organization while they carefully guarded both their principles of art, and their ritual of observance, their secrets and their mysteries, from the sight and knowledge of the outer world."

But what, then, is the actual evidence we are able to put forward, in support of this enlarged view of our Masonic history?

To answer this fully, let us examine, seriatim, the remarkable and interesting details of Egyptian, Grecian, Tyrian, Jewish, and Roman Masonry, which archæological enquiry has collected, and careful study and research have substantiated and approved. To begin with Egypt.

All writers seem to agree in this, however different on other points (Clavel, Schauberg, Heldmann, Krause), that the priests, as a general rule, directed all the works of architecture, and taught the art in secret.

They were, as we know, a caste, or close corporation, admitting none into their Order but those who were their relatives, except their kings, and some of the greater princes, whom they elected honorary members.

The temples and pyramids were built by designs traced along by the priests, and there seems little reason to doubt that they initiated all who were permitted to labour in the sacred work of architecture into a secret brotherhood!

Of their mysteries, we now know but very little, having only scattered hints to guide us, alike in early heathen and Christian writers, but the great central hall of the pyramids, and the inner room of the temples were, we have reason to believe, employed for the purposes of secret reception and trying probation. Many of the implements and special emblems of Masonry still adorn the walls of Egyptian tombs and temples, especially the tombs of the inspectors of the quarries of Silsilis at Syéne, and it is impossible to suppose that the use of them is fortuitous or meaningless.

It has been before pointed out, that the Masons' marks on the pyramids and temples, whether made by Jewish or Egyptian hands, are identical with those of the mediæval guilds, as well as with those of Roman and Tyrian workmen. When, then, we remember to-day, that the Egyptians were the oldest and greatest builders in the world, and that they distinctly communicated their principles of art and sodalities of architecture, to the three greatest building nations of antiquity—the Grecians, the Tyrians, and the Etruscans—though we must perforce be content, after this lapse of time, with general and probable evidence of the fact, rather than precise and particular proof, we need not hesitate to assert or accept the statement, that the building corporations of later times may be traced back, satisfactorily, to the early associations of Egyptian builders, which the priests had contrived to invest with the solemn character of an impenetrable secrecy and a mysterious lore.

When we turn to Greece, if the evidence be still not all we could wish for, the light seems gradually growing clearer.

That the sumptuous temples in which ancient Greece abounded, were the works of architects in combination with a Fraternity of Masons κοινωνία, no reasonable doubt can be entertained, says Dallaway, in his History of Architecture.

Other writers (Thiersch, Schauberg) have said that the priests of Dionysius, having devoted themselves to architectural pursuits, established, about one thousand years before the Christian era, a society of builders, in Asia Minor, who are styled by ancient writers the Fraternity of Dionysian architects, unto which society was exclusively confined the privilege of erecting temples and other public buildings.

Now, there is a considerable amount of striking evidence, which has been collected, in support of the previous statements.

For though it may no doubt be contended successfully, that the Greeks were at a very early period divided into handicraft corporations, yet it is also clearly demonstrable that the society of architects, or community, of builders, enjoyed great privileges, and stood higher than all the others in social importance.

Whether we call them το κοινον ο εργαρια, whether we accept the account of the Dionysian architects, or that of the Dædalidæ (Oliver, Mackey, Clavel), deriving their name from Dædalus, the famous artist and builder of Crete, there is so much identity between the general organization and particular customs of these building lyceums, and our modern Freemasonry, that we are led to the inevitable conclusion, that these Grecian building communities were the forerunners of the Roman collegia, and thereby linked on to these mediæval guilds, from which we ourselves clearly and continuously descend.

There are decrees still extant ("Antiquitates Asiaticæ," of Chandler, Chishull) conferring the special honours of these communities on members and non-members, and so striking is the similarity between their customs and ours, that one writer declares, the organization of the building sodality in Teos, 300 years before Christ, offers a striking resemblance to that of the Freemasons at the close of the 18th century (Clavel).

These communities had a secret and distinct organization; they called each other παιτροφεξ, or brethren, they had words and signs of recognition, and were divided into separate communities or lodges, which had local titles, as αιωνον των ατταλις των, community of Attalus, αιωνον της ακινου συμμαχιας, community of the division of Echinus (Clavel, "Antiquities of Ionia").

Their presidents and officers were elected annually, and persons non-operative were made patrons and honorary members.

In the exercise of charity the more opulent were sacredly bound to provide for the exigencies of the poorer brethren.

We have also the fact that priests were attached specially to these communities, as we hear of Κρατινος ιερης των τεχνιτων, Cratinos, priest of the builders or artificers.

They employed in their ceremonial observances many of the symbols which are still found among Freemasons, particularly, says Schauberg, the cubical stone, and the smooth and rough ashlar, and their signs of recognition enabled them to distinguish one another "in the dark as well as in the light" (Mackey), and united the "members scattered over India, Persia, and Syria, into one common brotherhood."

Bro. Findel has said (Findel's History, pp. 25 and 26), that all that has been stated has only "confirmed anew, what it must be conceded no one doubted, that these institutions and confederations resembled those of the Freemasons," and has "furnished fresh material for a more perfect recognition of this, and has shown that everywhere certain tokens are to be met with, the counterparts of which may be found in Freemasonry," yet "it is very evident, that the borrowing and appropriation of these is something nearer the truth than the reception of the improbable presumption of a propagation of some mystic order or other."

And he goes on to say, if "Freemasonry were really a continuation of these ancient confederacies, we must of necessity know more of their method of instructing, and their internal arrangements, than the rest of mankind, which is by no means the case."

But in saying this, Bro. Findel begs the whole question, as regards what is the real origin and meaning of our Masonic symbolism and teaching, and oral traditions.

As regards "their method of instruction," the principles of their operative system have no doubt passed out of memory, as have also the principles of the masters of the mediæval guilds.

But as no one can safely question, and Bro. Findel does not himself, the existence of the mediæval guilds, or their identity with our modern Order, though all traces of those plans and their system of procedure have long since perished utterly, and are practically altogether unknown, so I do not think we can fairly question, on account of the absence of such special and convincing testimony, the general identity of the Grecian with the later building societies, or the clear continuation of the same great order in the world.

All that we can expect to do to-day, is to trace, so far as we are permitted by the change of times and conditions, the general similarity in the usage of certain well-known forms and common symbols, and, so far as is possible, to educe, from contemporary or later historians, some few scattered hints of their technical system or mystical teaching.

Though there is no doubt some difficulty as regards both the Tyrian and Jewish Masons, I do not think that it is insuperable. The Phœnicians were, as all readers of history know, great builders, though all their wondrous works have perished utterly from the earth, and Tyre is as if she had never been.

There is also no doubt that, for all their principles of art-knowledge, their building designs, as well as their building sodalities, they were indebted to the old and wonderful land of Egypt.

It has often struck writers, whether Masonic or not, how very difficult it is to account, on ordinary grounds, for the union of the Tyrian and Jewish workmen at the building of the First Temple at Jerusalem. Knowing the repugnance of the Jews themselves to foreigners, and the direct prohibition of contact with unbelievers, especially in sacred works, there seems no à priori objection to the unchanging tradition of our Order, that Tyrian and Jewish Masons were bound together by one common organization, and were members of one comprehensive operative brotherhood.

If it be true that they had all found a common origin in the building societies of Egypt, and that all the operative sodalities of the world were members of the one same great confederation, under the attractive condition of secrecy in art and primæval truth, we should find, I think, a satisfactory solution of the whole question.

And as the unity and eternity of God, the immortality of the soul, the accountability of man, were the great secrets of the mysteries, until they were overlaid by superstition and debased, and with the building societies in all countries the mysteries of the time and locality were in some form or other bound up, we find here a link of union, a bond of fellowship, which would naturally cement together, associate together, Tyrian and Jewish masons in so great and so good a work as building the Temple at Jerusalem.

There is no doubt, also, a leading objection to the theory of an actual confraternity of Jewish Masons, with secrets and mysteries, from the well-known fact that all the Gentile mysteries and απορρητα were prohibited apparently to the Jewish people.

Yet, we cannot, on the other hand, explain it as we will, get over the fact that Tyrian and Jewish workmen assisted in the elevation of the great Sanctuary of the Hebrew race at Jerusalem, and Captain Warren's researches have proved, among other things, not only that our Masonic traditions however, seemingly strange, sometimes, to us to-day, are not à priori, either improbable or impossible, and that a remarkable unity existed between the workmen, whether Tyrians or Hebrews, alike, in the quality of the work they executed, all governed by one great design, as in the marks, common to both, and understood by each nationality, still marked in colours as perfect as if only painted yesterday, in subterranean passages, and wondrous crypts and hidden halls beneath the existing city.

It has always struck Masonic students as a very remarkable fact, that the traditions and history of our Order, as well as our carefully-preserved ceremonies and ritual, have such an Hebrew colouring and character.

Whence has this arisen?

Some have contended that the Jewish confraternity have substituted a veritable history for the figurative teachings of the earlier mysteries, while others have asserted that the Jewish element and teaching were absorbed by the building colleges at Rome, and that thenceforth there was interwoven with all their oral ritual and ancient observance the characteristic tradition of Hiram, the great architect of the first Temple, which would entirely harmonise with the aim and sympathies of the building sodalities as they gradually became entirely Christian.

Be this as it may, the undying testimony of our traditions links on Freemasonry to the Temple at Jerusalem, and we cannot discard it without shaking the very foundation on which Freemasonry rests.

One thing is, indeed, most clear: that the marks of the Jewish, as well as the Tyrian, Masons are the same with those of later times; that they are evidently all belonging to the same great family, and are identical with the usages and customs of the operative order everywhere.

Some of our most cherished Masonic symbols, we may well remember, are purely Jewish, such as the Pentalpha and the double triangle, or Solomon's seal.

And despite the hasty and unreasoning assertions of some modern writers, I see as yet no cause whatever to doubt the truth or reject the authority of the Hebrew legends of our Order.

There is some evidence to show that there was attached to the Temple a secret order called Chasidim or Hasidim, whose special object was "to preserve it from injury and decay," though whether they were attached to other religious buildings is not clear.

It is said by some that this fraternity arose during the captivity at Babylon; by others, that it sprung up soon after the Restoration. It has even been contended that they were the precursors of the Essenes, and they have been even termed, "The Knights of the Temple of Jerusalem."

There is in the "Grand Bibliotheque" (Rue Richelieu, at Paris), a very curious book, which treats of the Knights of the Maccabæan chivalry, and alludes to their duty in defence of the Temple.

But I am not prepared to say that I have seen, so far, any evidence of Bro. Mackey's statement, that "they were, in fact, the conservators of Masonry among the Jews, and deposited it with their successors, the Essenes, who brought it down beyond the time of Christ."

Some writers contend, as I have just said, that from the Chasidim sprang the Essenes—a remarkable sect of the Jews, from whom some Masonic writers have of late asserted that Freemasonry is altogether derived.

From Josephus and other sources we gain the following particulars, which are striking to Freemasons:—

On initiation, at the close of the probation and his novitiate, the candidate was presented with a garment. He was required to take an oath* not to divulge the secrets with which he was entrusted, and was then made acquainted with the customary words and signs of recognition.

He was afterwards instructed in the traditional teachings of the Order, and devoted himself, with his brethren, to the "acquisition of knowledge and the dispensation of charity." There seem to have been degrees among them, and they are said to have been divided.

And though I cannot shut my eyes to the remarkable similarity between the customs of the Essenes and those of Freemasonry, like Krause, I believe the safest course, on historical grounds, is to endeavour to trace the origin and continuation of Freemasonry to the building corporations of the past.

I must leave for another chapter the history of the Roman sodalities.

* Krause has, however, said that though there is in truth a strong resemblance between the constitution and symbols in Freemasonry and the sect called the Essenes, whoever should give this as a reason for asserting that the Essenes had been incorporated with the Society of Freemasons would greatly err by coming too hastily to such a conclusion.

(To be continued.)

LIGHT, DELICATE, PALE SHERRIES.—A great and beneficial change has already taken place in the habits of our upper and middle classes by the more extended introduction of a variety of light wines of varied and unimpeachable dietetic value. The reduction of the wine duties has been a great boon, as not only has it had the effect of doubling the consumption of wine within the short space of ten years, but it has made light wine—what it should undoubtedly be—an article of daily and ordinary consumption, and far less liable to be taken in excess than when wine was a highly-stimulating and costly luxury. At the present time the facilities for obtaining cheap and wholesome wines and other stimulants, bearing the guarantee of large and respectable dealers, in almost every town and village, is an advantage which deserves to be kept in view. Cheap wine has no doubt a certain amount of prejudice yet to overcome, and the medical man may do much in assisting to dispel this. Cheapness in wine does not necessarily argue a deficiency in stimulating and nourishing qualities, still less unwholesomeness. In our issue of January last we touched upon the article Sherry, and drew attention to the important place occupied by Spain as a wine-producing country. Since that time we have continued to use opportunities of testing and comparing the relative qualities and prices of various Sherries offered for sale, and have been especially struck by some light, delicate, pale Sherries obtained from the Messrs. W. & A. Gilbey. We think it due to the commercial enterprise, and a fair recognition of the undoubted benefit which this firm has conferred upon medical patients in the introduction of sound wholesome wines at moderate prices, to say that some of these Sherries approach nearer to our idea of what a good, generous, stimulating wine should be than anything we have seen for some time past, while the price places them within the reach of all when required for medicinal and dietetic purposes. —British Medical Journal.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF FREEMASONRY.

(Continued from page 665.)

CHAPTER FIRST.

LIBERTY—EQUALITY—FRATERNITY.

Liberty, Equality, and Fraternity are three grand words; trump cards in the hands of the skilful adventurer, but very apt to cut the fingers of the tyro. They are three words, good in themselves, but which have been made the tools of the predatory, and political adventurer. Like platonic love, they are apt to change their characters, and from being virtues degenerate into vices. No fault of theirs, but because humanity is frail, and the slime of the serpent's track causes the footpath of life to be slippery. A good many philanthropic individuals who go about the platforms, calling men's attention to wrongs with which they were previously unacquainted, offer in these three words an universal panacea, forgetting that man is a progressive animal, and that he must creep before he goes. Some of these wiseacres, with a stock of brass which would furnish forth a brazier's shop, hesitate not a moment in giving a definition of things, sacred or profane, crudely conceived, vulgarly uttered, and constantly wrong. Setting up for philanthropists, and devoted to the welfare of others, they have no time to look into their own private matters. They are fatally ignorant of the old Greek's advice, "Know thyself," and of them may be said, in the words of Palladas:

"Wilt thou, poor earthworm, measure land and sea,
And know not first: the measure of thyself?
Put up thy puny instruments upon the shelf;
Know thine own measure first, and then immensity."

We have had a few of these pretenders in Freemasonry, who unfortunately have left their signmanual amongst us, such as Cagliostro and Co., the adepts of Egyptian mummary, a jargon of commingled nonsense, pretence and lies, that our wonder is equally divided between the success of the swindler and the gullibility of the dupe.

"Liberty," exclaimed Madame Roland, as she went to the guillotine, "how many crimes are committed in thy name." Human nature often mistakes licence for liberty, forgetting that the river, to be useful, must be retained within its boundaries, otherwise, by overflowing, fields will be inundated and property destroyed. A Freemason can claim liberty, liberty of thought and action, so long as these are kept within the bounds of accepted moral limits, and where they do not encroach upon the freedom of others, No one has the liberty of subverting the liberty of another, for, then, liberty degenerates into licence. Were no limits placed to our liberal wishes, the world would degenerate into anarchy. "The last resort of a blackguard," says Dr. Johnson, "is patriotism;" and when we hear a cry from some forty-horse-power-lunged orator, we like to know a little of his past history before we confide in him as our deliverer. Landmarks are not to be removed at the bidding of every charlatan, and we decline to throw down our shield of protection, till we have time to look at the one offered in its place. We often hear some youthful aspirant to Masonic honours, whose education has been very much neglected, come forth with some farrago of nonsense relative to the duties of Freemasons. He has the liberty of doing so. We grant him the liberty freely; but when he asks us to remove our safeguards, and those landmarks which have guided the Order for so many years, we in turn take the liberty of declining till we have maturely considered the question. Liberty, to a Mason, means the uncontrolled right to inquire into our mysteries, to analyse them, to work with the points of the compass extended loyally, for his own and the Craft's profit, but not to use one point as a weapon of offence, where-with, by a crafty blow, he may bring confusion upon the Craft. We confess to a dislike to all those who strain at the "unco quid," forgetting that man is fallible, and with their overbearing liberty of action, calling brethren who have lapsed into mortal error before the Masonic tribunals, and invoking all the terrors of the law to punish the delinquent.

Liberty is a sacred privilege of a Mason, the right to reason with the faculties, which God has given him, so that his less gifted brethren may be benefited by the result of his inquiries. He has the liberty of expressing his opinions freely in lodge, and when characterized by wisdom and justice, he is an object of estimation, and a guide worthy of following. But when he expresses himself in a selfish, narrow-visioned fashion, with a mind cast in a trivial groove, every noble and large-souled sentiment absent, we grant him the very poor privilege of doing so, but we decline to be of his following. A Mason ought to be liberal, although just in all things, liberal of his counsels and liberal in his conceptions of these; liberal of his purse, liberal of his inquiries into the characters of those he relieves; liberal in all these qualities which raise a man in the scale of virtue, in the roll of honour, but chary of aught which may tend to subvert the pillars of truth and justice.

Liberty has had its dupes, although not to the same number as equality. A fine sounding name is equality. "All men are free and equal," cried the Yankee slave-owner, and then added this forcible explanation, "and every man has a perfect right to wallop his nigger." Equality on earth is a dream, a myth, a falsity. Are men born of an equal stature, of equal rank, or of equal talents? Nature has flatly contradicted this, and life daily proves its falseness. A father acquires wealth by prudence and talent, which he leaves to a foolish son, who squanders all in riot and debauchery, dying a beggar, and indebted to charity for the very boards which form his coffin. If every man was equal, the world be unbearable. There would cease to be any cause for exertion, every pursuit would cease, education would become neglected, every generous impulse destroyed. A more dangerous fallacy never was palmed upon a confiding public than this same equality, and those who cram this down the people's throats are just those very ones who would make stepping-stones of their dupes' necks to gain power, and destroy their bait of equality.

Masonic Equality is well defined, and there can neither be cavil nor mistake about it. All Masons in the bosom of the lodge are equal, and no one can claim by position in the world a superiority over his brethren there. It must be admitted that this is not always followed amongst us, and that we find the rank has its influence, and that men of position are found to fill our highest offices. But, as we have said, human nature is frail, and a title has a sounding effect. Yet, with very few instances, we have no cause to grumble at our honours being so conferred. These brethren have served their apprenticeships, worked as Fellow Crafts, and as Master Masons may claim their positions, not as a special right belonging to their worldly rank, but to the fact that they are free of the Craft on all points. England and Ireland are pretty free from crowding their lists of Grand officials with noble names, and commoners find the honours pretty plentiful for them. Equality means a mixture of all classes appearing at the same board, and if twenty commoners find themselves at the table, they cannot complain of the presence of one lord.

Every Mason can aspire to office in his lodge. From Inner Guard to Master the honours are open to him, upon his showing his fitness to wear them. Thus far are all Masons equal, but as men have not all the same talents, it follows as a matter of course that those endowed with large understandings, and extended experience of life, must hold a higher position among the brethren. Such men show themselves prominently by virtue of these qualities, just as Saul showed himself among the people taller by the head. In all ages, and among all nations, there required to be leaders, just as we find the Press now-a-days the leader of public opinion, or the forcible exponent of the same. Men of a feeble order of mind, of a vacillating disposition, naturally look for guidance and support to those of a strong and more steadfast, and it is thus that we find amongst us brethren standing prominently before the eyes of the Craft, not that they have thereby risen above the equality of Freemasons, but the equality of Freemason looks to them for protection and support. ERROL.

(To be continued.)

GRAND CHAPTER OF ENGLAND.

The Quarterly Convocation of Grand Chapter was held on Wednesday evening, at Freemasons' Hall. Comp. the Rev. John Huyshe took the Z. chair, Comp. Dr. Hamilton the H., and Comp. S. Rawson the J. Comp. W. Pulteney Scott was present as N., and Comp. John Hervey, E. Comps. Snell, Benjamin Head, Talbot, H. Browse, T. Fenn, Joshua Nunn, W. Ough, Jas. Stevens, F. Binckes, H. Muggeridge, Joseph Smith, James Brett, James L. Thomas, H. G. Buss, F. Walters, M. A. Loewenstark, George Neal, Hyde Pullen, R. Spencer, John Savage, John Boyd, H. Massey, and many others, were also present.

The G.S.E. having read the minutes of last Grand Chapter, the same were unanimously adopted, and the accounts, showing a balance of £395 15s. 7d. in the hands of Grand Treasurer, were taken as read, and passed nem. con.

Warrants were then unanimously granted to the Isca Lodge, No. 683, Newport, to be called "The St. Woolo's Chapter," and to meet at the Masonic Hall, Newport, Monmouthshire; to the Lodge Orion in the West, No. 415, Poona, to be called "The Chapter Orion in the West," and to meet at the Masonic Hall, Poona, East Indies; to Lodge Star of Orissa, No. 1106, Cuttack, to be called "The Fiducia Chapter," and to meet at Cuttack, East Indies; to the Trinity Lodge, No. 254, Coventry, to be called "The Trinity Chapter," and to meet at the Castle Hotel, Coventry, Warwickshire; and to the Lion and Lamb Lodge, No. 192, London, to be called "The Lion and Lamb Chapter," and to meet at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, London.

On the petition from Comps. Edward James Morris as Z., Chas. Bath as H., George Browne Brock as J., and twenty-one others, for a chapter to be attached to the Talbot Lodge, No. 1323, Swansea, to be called "The Talbot Chapter," and to meet at the Masonic Rooms, Swansea, Glamorganshire, Comp. W. Pulteney Scott rose, and said this was a very extreme case, and the Committee would not have recommended it to Grand Chapter, had they not felt it to be necessary to be consistent in their dealings with applicants for charters. There were two lodges and two chapters in Swansea, and from circumstances that had arisen, it was desirable that one party should terminate its connection with the other. A very considerable portion of the lodges and chapters had formed a new chapter, and there were as many as ten Past Principals and a great number of old R.A. Masons ready to join the new chapter. They had, therefore, petitioned for a charter for the Talbot Chapter; and the Committee, feeling that they had before recommended the refusal of warrants to lodges which had only been established twelve months, felt the inconsistency of submitting this case to Grand Chapter's consideration, but relied only on the very exceptional circumstances of the present instance as their justification for doing so.

Comp. Talbot explained that the new lodge in Swansea was presided over by the best working Masons in the kingdom, and had amply fulfilled the expectations that had been entertained of it. The chapter was one of the best in the province. It numbered seventy members, and it was quite necessary that a second chapter should be formed to supplement the work of the first. The same companions had now taken the lead in petitioning for the Talbot Chapter. They were twenty-one in number; there were eleven P.M.'s of lodges, and eight or nine Past Principals of chapters. It was with the firm conviction of the necessity for the new chapter that he recommended the granting of the warrant.

Comps. Walters, Joseph Smith, Dr. Hamilton, and Savage supported the recommendation, and the charter was then granted.

The charter which was formerly granted to the Tynwald Lodge was annulled, the companions not having taken it up within fifteen months of its being granted. Grand Chapter then proceeded with the consideration of an appeal by Comp. Laws, from a decision of the Grand Superintendent for Northumberland on a complaint of the removal of the place of meeting of No. 406 before the minutes of the chapter agreeing to the removal had been confirmed. After considerable discussion, Grand Chapter affirmed the decision of the Grand Superintendent, and dismissed the appeal.

An alteration was made in the 8th article of the Royal Arch Regulations, and the Grand Chapter was thereupon closed.

SMALL-POX, FEVERS, AND SKIN DISEASES.—The predisposition to is prevented by Lamplough's Pyretic Saline. Vitalising and invigorating, its effects are remarkable in their cure and prevention. Take it as directed. Sold by chemists and the maker, H. Lamplough, 113, Holborn-hill.—[Advt.]

NOTICE.

The Subscription to THE FREEMASON is now 10s. per annum, post-free, payable in advance.

Vol. I., bound in cloth ... ..	4s. 6d.
Vol. II., ditto ... ..	7s. 6d.
Vol. III., ditto ... ..	15s. 0d.
Reading Cases to hold 52 numbers...	2s. 6d.

United States of America.

THE FREEMASON is delivered free in any part of the United States for 12s. per annum, payable in advance.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferred to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

All communications for THE FREEMASON should be written legibly on one side of the paper only, and, if intended for insertion in the current number, must be received not later than 10 o'clock a.m. on Thursdays, unless in very special cases. The name and address of every writer must be sent to us in confidence.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price of THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the EDITOR 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him but cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

THE CROWN PRINCE OF PRUSSIA ON MASONIC KNOWLEDGE.

THE FIRST DEGREE,

OUR attention has been directed, by a valued correspondent, to a remarkable passage in the Masonic oration delivered by the Crown Prince of Prussia at the recent centenary celebration of the Grand Lodge of Germany at Berlin, and we are requested to express our views thereon.

The Prince is reported to have said that "All knowledge in Masonry was contained in the first degree," and added that, "if this truth became a reality, it would remove the suspicion that the higher degrees taught anything but St. John's (or, as we in England term it, 'Craft') Masonry." At first sight, these axioms appear to lead to contradictory conclusions, and to involve a certain amount of inconsistency. It will be necessary, therefore, to place on record some of the reasons which, to our mind, justify the observations of our illustrious brother, even if they do not corroborate his ideas to the fullest extent. It will be generally admitted that the lessons imparted to a candidate in the first degree are of exceeding significance and importance; but that point is not the question at issue. What we have to consider is simply this: Does the symbolism of the degree bear such an interpretation as to warrant the somewhat startling assertions, that "all knowledge in Masonry" is conveyed to an Entered Apprentice, and that the higher degrees merely confirm and illustrate—so to speak—the teachings of the Craft? Now, to understand these theories in all their ramifications, we must bear in mind that the object and design of all the ancient mysteries—in fact, the grand aim of initiation in the primitive ages—was to introduce the neophyte into a new sphere; to make him, as it were, a being apart from the uninitiated world, a partaker in loftier hopes and diviner aspirations than those which swayed the vulgar herd. How far this design is preserved in Freemasonry, we shall now proceed to examine and explain. A lodge of Masons—whether it be opened in the first or the third degree—is an epitome of the world; but of the world divested of its cares, its sorrows, its ambitions, and its hates. The symbols of the lodge are in harmony with this conception. Thus, the sun, bright ruler of the day—whose beneficent influence is felt throughout the realms of nature—finds an appropriate representative in a Masonic lodge. The moon, "refulgent lamp of night," although shining with reflected splendour, is also a conspicuous emblem; and from these luminaries, we are taught to advance to the type of "intellectual light," and to endeavour to attain that illumination of heart and spirit which the child of Truth inherits and enjoys. In the ancient Grecian mysteries, similar symbols were employed, and the office of torch-bearer, or light-giver, was one of the most honourable in the secret rites of Eleusis. The Entered Apprentice Freemason is thus brought out of figurative darkness into light or knowledge, and therefore one of the greatest lessons of life is made familiar to his mind. Even as the giant oak is evolved from the tiny but potential acorn, so, from the foundation of the first degree, springs a superstructure of wisdom and morality. In this sense, "all knowledge" may truly be said to be comprised in the primary grade of Freemasonry. But a further investigation will convince all who believe in revelation, that the truths of Freemasonry are based upon the Sacred Volume; and we need scarcely add that this knowledge is at once conveyed to the initiate. He is told that his faith is to be guided and governed by the unerring laws laid down in the code of inspiration; he is directed to look beyond the illusions of sense to the never-fading glories of eternity. And although these great lessons are again forcibly inculcated in the third degree, nothing can surpass the simple sublimity of a creed which is embodied in the words, "Faith, Hope, and Charity." In the first degree, the candidate is dedicated, or set apart from the outer world; he receives the seal of Freemasonry, and is clothed with the badge of a Mason, which is a token of innocence and purity. From the most primitive times, a white garment has ever been deemed a sign of regeneration. In the early days of Rome, candidates for civic offices arrayed themselves in white robes as emblems of their tegrity, and hence the very term "candidate" is derived from the Latin word, candidus, which signifies "white." But the newly-made Mason's instruction does not terminate here; the three great principles of the Fraternity into which he has been admitted are also communicated and explained—"Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth," at once the foundation and apex of the moral temple of Freemasonry. Upon the nature of the ceremonies by which these grand principles are enforced it is not our province to expatiate; but we may observe that when performed with earnestness and dignity, the initiatory rites of the Order are calculated to produce a lasting impression upon the mind of any thinking man.

In thus tracing the figurative career of an Apprentice Freemason, we learn that he enters a new world, into which the baser passions of life should never penetrate; that his conduct should be influenced by faith, stimulated by hope, and adorned by heaven-born charity. May it not, therefore, be said, with some truth, that he who can comprehend these things knows enough, and that further developments or degrees in Freemasonry merely amplify or elaborate the teachings of the first degree?

In a future article, we shall endeavour to reconcile the seeming inconsistency of advancing to higher grades, when the first step leads so far. Let us, in the meanwhile, counsel our readers to study the ritual and symbolism of Apprentice Freemasonry, and to consider its relations with the succeeding degrees, whether they be the Master Mason's, the Royal Arch, or the Christian orders. Viewed as a series, we believe that all these degrees will be found to be based upon one central idea, from whence radiate varying interpretations. The subject is undoubtedly an important one, and the remarks of our royal German brother being evidently the result of careful thought, may well engage our attention, especially as there is every reason to believe that an impartial investigation of the claims of the several Masonic degrees, now so extensively practised, will but strengthen our admiration of the first great bond which associated us with the Sons of Light.

THE Annual General Communication of the Prov. Grand Lodge of Leicestershire and Rutland, will be held at Loughborough, on Friday, 24th day of November instant, under the auspices of the Howe and Charnwood Lodge, No. 1007.

RED CROSS OF CONSTANTINE.—We are informed that the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, Past Grand Warden of England, and seven other brethren, were admitted into the Red Cross Order in the Liverpool Conclave, No. 55, on Wednesday, the 1st inst.

ROSCRUCEAN ORDER.—By dispensation from the Manchester, Liverpool, and Northern Counties College, the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, Deputy Prov. G.M. West Lancashire, was, after passing the required tests, initiated into this Order by the Suffragan, Frater Captain Turner (VII.), at the Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool, on Wednesday, the 1st inst., and admitted to the grade of Zelator. Fratres Smith, Treasurer-General; Goepel, Fourth Ancient; Robinson, C. of N.; Mawson, Herald; Clark, Torch-bearer; and others, being also present.

Original Correspondence.

The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR AND BROTHER,—At our lodge (Phoenix St. Ann, 1235), held on the 26th October, the distress and losses of our Masonic brethren at Chicago were deeply deplored. We entered into a subscription for their relief, and have, through myself as Prov. G.C. of Derbyshire, made the general wish known, that, under this awful calamity, something should be done for them in addition to what we are sure will be done by Grand Lodge.

Would you kindly forward this good cause in every way you can, according to Masonic usage.

Believe me, Sir and Brother,

Your constant reader,

AUGUSTUS A. BAGSHAW.

Wormhill Vicarage, Buxton,

Oct. 30, 1871.

"FREEMASONRY &amp; UNITARIANISM."

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—We are strictly enjoined, in order to prevent dissension, to refrain from religious discussion in connection with Freemasonry. In the spirit of that injunction, permit me to suggest that you should avoid the insertion of such articles as that which appeared in the last number of your journal asserting an identity of religious opinion between a sect known as "Unitarians" and Freemasons. Such an announcement in a journal read by many non-Masons, is not only calculated to create unfounded alarm, but also to give grave offence to the majority of Freemasons who see in our ceremonies and symbols, especially in those of the R.A., a signification of a totally opposite nature.

Yours, fraternally,

THO. FENN.

14, Bedford-square, W.C.

[We cordially endorse our correspondent's remarks. With Unitarianism, as a religious dogma, the teachings of Freemasonry have nothing whatever to do, and had we believed that Bro. Buchan meant to assert an identity between them, his objectionable observations would not have been inserted.—ED. F.]

THE PURPLE IN WEST LANCASHIRE.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I was present at the last meeting of the Prov. Grand Lodge of West Lancashire, and I have read the letters, under the above heading, in your last issue.

Bro. Turner's friends acted without due consideration of the importance of the subject they took in hand. I influenced at least seven votes in favour of Bro. Armstrong; but if Bro. Turner's proposer had stated the reasons why they brought him out, those votes would most assuredly have been given in favour of the principle, and against Bro. Armstrong.

Prior to the next annual meeting let the friends of candidates for the Prov. G. Treasurership send a circular to each lodge in the province, and success will be sure.

Fraternally yours,

ANOTHER P.M.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR,—The two letters on this subject in your last issue evidently do not emanate from the same source, therefore I would reply to "A P.M. & P.Z.," and say that if there were any deficiency of "brotherly love, peace and harmony" at the late Prov. G.L. meeting, it was not caused by the very gentlemanly conduct of the unsuccessful candidate for the P.G. Treasurership, who polled seventy votes (including his own, and all obtained without canvassing his friends for months previous to the meeting), his conduct being all that could possibly be desired—but how the galled jade did wince!

Your correspondent has strong grounds for feeling aggrieved at the conduct of the Prov. G.

officers in voting "to a man" for Bro. Armstrong. True they have votes as P.M.'s of their respective lodges, but it is well known that the wearing of the purple entirely deprives a brother of all power of discrimination and the ability to see anything good in those who do not wear it.

How the P.G. officers could vote against Bro. Turner is a mystery. Had they but known, as I do, his extreme worthiness and modesty (and none of his pledged supporters left the room rather than vote against his competitor) matters might have been very different.

If an Armstrong is to be put in competition for, and appointed to, the only elective office in the P.G. Lodge, against such a man as Brother Turner, it is quite evident to the meanest intellect that "a change in the manner of appointing the other Prov. G. officers is very necessary," and those in high places ought to take note of it at once.

Only look, brethren, at what the able and enthusiastic Bro. Turner has done for Masonry in the last 20 years, and you will agree with me, that he, of all men, should be our R.W. Prov. G.M.; and he will be, if the case is properly represented in London. Then, the current of Masonry in this province will be Turner'd into a (Lowe) channel, which it has not been Hughes'd to of late, and no brother shall be Goepel'd to take the purple against his own wish and that of the Prov. G. Master, as is frequently the case at present.

Yours, &c.,

DI. CRAN. KIN.

COMPLIMENT to RETIRING VOLUNTEER BRETHREN.

On Saturday evening, the 21st of October, a complimentary dinner was given by the non-commissioned officers and sappers of the 1st Lancashire Engineer Volunteers at the George Hotel, Dale-street, Liverpool, to Bros. Major R. B. Mulliner and Capt. Henry Newman, on their retirement from the corps. The chair was occupied by Colour-Sergt. Handley, and amongst the guests were Lieut.-Col. Ellison, Major Bousfield, Capt. Ward, Barry, Boggs, and Owens, Viscount d'Aragon, Bros. G. Dyke, Richard Morley, J. T. Macbeth, W. Chapple, J. B. MacKenzie, &c.

In the course of the evening, beautifully-illuminated and handsomely-framed addresses were presented to Bros. Mulliner and Newman, which contained expressions of profound regret for the loss which the corps was about to sustain by the retirement of two such efficient and zealous officers, a cordial recognition of their services, and assurances of high esteem and affectionate remembrance.

The Chairman, in presenting the addresses, said both gentlemen had been about eight years in the corps. Major Mulliner was a most excellent officer, and the members of the corps had a deep sense of his kindness and generosity towards them. Captain Newman was also an officer of great ability, and had endeared himself, not only to the members of E company, which he commanded, but to every man in the regiment. During his connection with the corps, he had attended, on an average, upwards of fifty drills a year, and they all felt pride and pleasure when he was on parade.

Lieut.-Colonel Ellison also expressed regret at losing their services, and said nothing would give him greater pleasure than if both gentlemen would cancel their resignations and resume their red coats.

Major Mulliner and Capt. Newman returned thanks in feeling terms, and expressed their gratitude, not only for the addresses, but for the invariable kindness they had received from every one during their connection with the 1st L.E.V.

It was stated during the evening that both gentlemen would remain honorary members of the corps.

A number of toasts were proposed, and a pleasant evening was greatly enlivened by a number of songs and recitations.

BOOTS of the Period at BLAKEY'S, Lime-street, Liverpool (under the Alexandra Theatre).—[Advt.]

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF DURHAM.

This Provincial Grand Lodge met at the Borough Hall, Stockton-on-Tees. It was the largest gathering of the Fraternity which has for some time been in this province, and the reception given by the Stockton brethren far exceeded that of any previous meeting. The spacious hall being especially adapted for such a demonstration, and the introduction of the vocal music, we believe for the first time since the lodge was held in this town six years ago, together with the presence of a Provincial Grand Organist at the instrument—a thing of rare occurrence of late—all tended to increase the pleasure of the brethren who had travelled from all parts of the country to hear of the success of the Craft in the province, dispense their funds to charitable objects, and discuss questions for the good of Freemasonry in general.

The Fund Committee met at the Borough Hall at twelve, under the presidency of Bro. Joseph Dodds, M.P. They recommended grants to local petitioners amounting to £25, 25 guineas to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys', and the like amount to the Girls' School, also £25 to the Royal Benevolent Institution for aged Freemasons, and the same sum to the Widows' Institution.

The Provincial Lodge was opened in due form at half-past two, Bro. John Fawcett, R.W.P.G.M., in the chair, Bro. Jos. Dodds, as S.G.W., and Bro. James Groves, J.G.W. On the dais we observed: Bros. the Rev. G. P. Wilkinson, Rev. Edmund Hutchinson, Rev. John Cundell, Rev. G. R. Bulman, Rev. Chas. Dale Trotter, Victor Williamson, P.G.W. Eng.; A. Knowles, Wm. Best, J. E. MacNay, A. Farmer, J. P. Morrell, C. Jackson, M. Cadle, Wm. Nelson, J. G. Thompson, John Settle, H. Thompson, C. Willman, G. J. Wilson, H. Faber, H. Groves, Thos. Nelson, Stokoe, John Morrell, B. Bolton, &c., &c.

The minutes of the Provincial Grand Lodge, held at Bishop Auckland last year, were read and confirmed. The Treasurer's accounts were read, showing the balance in the Treasurer's hands to be £544. After paying the before-mentioned grants, it was recommended, as heretofore, to fund £150 in Consols, thus bringing that fund up to £2,000, which is invested at 3 or 3½ per cent. The adoption of the accounts being moved and seconded, the roll of lodges was called, when very gratifying reports were presented.

Apologies were tendered for the absence of the Earl of Durham, W.M., of the Lambton Lodge, and Earl Vane, W.M., of the Fawcett Lodge.

The re-election of the Treasurer was moved by Bro. Joseph Dodds, and seconded by Bro. G. J. Wilson.

The R.W.P.G.M. then appointed and invested his officers for the following year: Bro. Sir Hedworth Williamson, D.P.G.M., who was prevented being present through having to attend an important meeting at Newcastle; Bros. Dodd, S.G.W.; C. Rowlandson, J.G.W.; C. D. Trotter, P.G. Chap.; Cooke, S.G.C.; Watson, J.G.D.; Joseph Morrell, P.G. Supt. of Works; Skelton, P.G.S.B.; John Trotter, P.G. Reg.; Walker, P.G. Org.; Dixon, P.G. Purst. Stewards—Bros. Pearson, Phoenix Lodge; Hebborn, Granby Lodge; Wells, Fawcett Lodge; Cross, Williamson Lodge; Dickinson, St. Bede's Lodge; Railton, Barnard Lodge.

The lodge was then closed in due form, and many of the brethren adjourned to dinner at the Freemasons' Hall.

PROV. GRAND MARK LODGE OF LANCASHIRE. (S.C.)

The annual meeting of this Provincial Grand Mark Lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall, Bolton, on 21st October, 1871, by command of the Rev. Prov. G.M. The St. John's Mark Lodge, No. 2, was opened at three o'clock, and shortly afterwards the Prov. Grand Lodge was announced, and was received and saluted by the brethren according to custom. The P.G. Lodge was then opened in ample form by R.W. Bro. Entwisle, P.G.M.M., assisted by R.W. Bro. C. F. Matier, D.P.G.M.M., V.W. Bros. Brockbank, P.G.S.W., Mitchell, P.G.J.W., and the other officers, many of whom had travelled long distances to be present. The first business was the submission of the minutes of last Prov. Grand Lodge, held in Manchester, for confirmation, which being done, Bros. Newton and Harwood presented the audit of the Treasurer's account, which was found correct.

Bro. George Galloway was then unanimously re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. Dawson, Tyler, and the Prov. G.M.M., proceeded to appoint and invest the following officers:—Bros. G. Parker Brockbank, P.G.S.W.; John Mitchell, P.G.J.W.; J. P. Platt, P.G.M.O.; Capt. Hunter, P.G.S.O.; Wm. Foster, P.G.J.O.; George Galloway, P.G. Treas.; J. W. Taylor, P.G. Sec.; Wm. Wayne, P.G. Reg.; Rev. E. A. Lang, P.G. Chap.; Col. Birchall, P.G. Supt. of Works; Wm. H. Hopkins, Dir. of Cers.; Whittaker, Asst. Dir. of Cers.; D. Stansfield, P.G.S.D.; Harwood, P.G.J.D.; W. G. Turner, P.G.S.B.; Edward Friend, P.G.T.K.; H. T. Robberds, P.G. Org.; Wm. Dawson, Tyler.

These brethren, having been duly proclaimed and saluted, returned thanks for their several appointments. An apology was presented from Bro. Capt. Hunter, R.W. Prov. G.M. Aberdeenshire East (Craft), Prov. G.S.O., who was detained on Masonic business in his province. An exceedingly interesting account of the formation of the Prov. Grand Mark Lodge was read by J. W. Taylor, P.G. Sec., and was inserted in the records. The general business for the good of the province having been finished, the Prov. Grand Lodge was then closed in due form with solemn prayer, and the officers retired in procession, marshalled by Bro. Hopkins, P.G. Dir. of Cers. The St. John's Mark Lodge, No. 2, was then closed by Bro. T. Morris, P.N.T. acting R.W.M., assisted by the officers.

At five o'clock, the brethren sat down to dinner in the board-room, presided over by Rev. Bro. Entwisle, P.G.M.M., supported, right and left, by his officers. At the conclusion of the banquet, the brethren returned to the lodge-room, and after the door was tyed, proceeded to honour the customary loyal and Masonic toasts, which were proposed from the chair.

The toast of "The S.G.R.A. Chapter of Scotland," was responded to by Bro. C. F. Matier, D. Prov. G.M.M. and P.H. 38, Fraserburgh.

"The Prov. Grand Lodges of East and West Lancashire, Cheshire, North Wales, Cumberland and Westmorland," was responded to by Bros. Col. Birchall, P.P.G.J.W. W. Lancashire, I. P. Platt, P.P.G.J.W. Cheshire, H. Bulley, P.P.G.W. Cheshire, W. Foster (Maryport), and several others whose names we were unable to catch.

The next toast was "The Health of the P.G.M.M.," and was proposed by the D.P.G.M.M., who referred at some length to the long and arduous services of Bro. Entwisle to the cause of the Mark degree, and to the graceful recognition thereof by the Supreme Chapter of Scotland, in appointing that R.W. brother as one of their delegates to the conference recently held in London. Bro. Matier also called attention to the fact, that the Prov. Grand Lodge was really a District Grand Lodge, as Bro. Entwisle ruled over the entire counties of Lancashire, Cheshire, Staffordshire, North Wales, and Cumberland and Westmorland. The speaker also congratulated the Prov. G.M.M. on the large accession of members to the organization during the past year, and referred to the fact, that several new lodges were in progress of formation, and one old one was about to be resuscitated.

These splendid results had been produced by the unremitting attention of the P.G.M.M., and he (Bro. Matier) had much pleasure in calling on the brethren to drink a bumper to his health.

The P.G.M.M. then rose to reply, and was received with loud and continued applause. R.W.D. Prov. G.M.M. and brethren, permit me to express my deep feeling at this mark of your approbation, and the pleasure I feel at the undoubted success of our past year, the first of our new organization. You are all familiar with the events that preceded the formation of the St. John's Lodge, No. 2, and with those that more immediately followed its establishment. For some fourteen years the Mark lodges on the roll of the Supreme Chapter of Scotland acted as private lodges, with more or less success, but had no governing body nearer than Edinburgh, as no charters had for some years been granted, until the coming of Bro. Matier to Manchester, when he and several members of the St. John's Lodge, obtained one to work the St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 22, which was consecrated by myself. This gave a great impetus to this degree, and brethren in all parts of the country were led to seek for advancement under the auspices of Scotland. Several new lodges obtained charters, among which I may mention the Lodge Barrow-in-Farress, the St. David's, Llandudno, and the True Friendship, Maryport. My patent as Prov. G.M.M., was also granted. All the lodges of the Scottish Constitution have been well worked, and I must give great credit to the masters past masters and officers for their energy. The Supreme Chapter of Scotland having the well-being of the degree at heart, and being exceedingly anxious to see the degree placed on a proper footing in England, acceded to the request of the Grand Mark Lodge of England, and in conjunction with representatives from the G.L. of Scotland, and G.C. of Ireland, met in conference in Freemasons' Hall, London. To this conference I had the honour to be a delegate on the part of the Supreme Chapter of Scotland, but, as I dare say you have all seen the published report of the proceedings, I shall not refer to them at length, further than to say that it has been agreed on by the Supreme Chapter of Scotland to again ask the Grand Chapter of England to assume the management of those degrees which in every other country are worked under a Royal Arch Chapter, or failing this, to recognise some Grand Body in England, to whom the superintendance of these degrees shall be committed. This message to the Grand Chapter of England will be delivered at the next meeting in November, and should that body decline to adopt either of the courses I have mentioned, the Supreme Chapters of Scotland and Ireland will then consider the propriety of according recognition to a body in England to govern those degrees. I do not think, however, that this body will be the present body, styling itself the Grand Lodge of Mark Masters, but a new body, established on a footing more firmly based, and formed by a union of all the contending jurisdictions, and which will be in authority over all these degrees called side degrees, such as the Royal Ark Mariner, Knight of the Sword, Knight of the East and West, &c. Some of these according to the system obtaining in all other countries, are only conferred on R.A. Masons, but the present G.M.M. wishes to work them under the G.M.L., and confer them on Mark Masters, thus in effect putting the greater in subjection to the less. This is one objection to recognition of the G.L. of M.M., and the Supreme Chapter deprecates acknowledging any new Grand Masonic Body in England, if it can possibly be avoided, for two reasons: 1st, because such body exists in no other country; and, 2nd, because were such a body to be recognised it would doubtless become so numerically strong as to even affect prejudicially the Grand Lodge and Chapter of England. Brethren, I thank you heartily for the honour you have done me, and trust for still greater success in the coming year.

The P.G.M.M., then proposed the next toast, "The health of the Deputy Prov. G.M.M. Bro. C. Fitzgerald Matier," and, in a most eulogistic speech, mentioned the many services of Bro. Matier, which he had rendered most ungrudgingly. He had never called on him in vain, but had always found him prompt and ready to fulfil any duty he might be entrusted with.

The D.P.G.M.M. briefly replied, and assured the brethren of his unabated zeal and sincere desire to do all in his power to promote the interests of Mark Masonry, and this P.G. Lodge.

Bro. Brockbank, P.G.S.W., and Bro. Platt, P.G.M.O., replied for the officers, and Bros. P. W. Mills (Birkenhead), P.P.G.O., and Dr. Allison (Barrow-in-Furness), P.P.G.D., for the retiring officers.

The toast of "Prosperity to the Mark Lodges in the District and Province," was coupled with the name of Bro. W. Foster, P.G.J.O., and R.W.M.-designate of the True Friendship Lodge, Maryport, who, after a long and eloquent speech, concluded by hoping for the speedy advent of the day when all Masons should be brethren, not only in name, but also in very deed and truth.

The D.P.G.M.M. proposed "The Visitors," which was responded to by Bro. Henry Bulley, P.R.W.M. No 5, who said that, although from his very intimate connection with other orders of Masonry, he was not an active member of the Mark Degree, still his sympathies were entirely with it, and with the Scottish Constitution.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Stewards (for which Bro. Rutter responded), and also to the St. John's Lodge for the handsome manner in which they had entertained the Prov. G. Lodge.

The Tyler's toast brought a delightful evening to a close about 9.30.

We may also mention that several charming songs were rendered in an excellent manner by Bros. Mitchell, Newton, Pratt, Hignett, and Dawson; and that Bro. W. H. Hopkins ably discharged the duties of Director of Ceremonies, and proved himself no unworthy successor to the lamented Bro. Whyatt, who was suddenly cut off in the prime of life a few months ago.

Among the brethren present we observed: Bros. T. Entwisle, P.G.M.M.; C. F. Matier, D.P.G.M.M.; Brockbank, 1st G. Capt. Eng., P.G.S.W.; Mitchell, P.G.J.W.; J. P. Platt, P.G.M.O.; W. P. Mills, P.P.G.O.; W. Foster, P.P.J.O.; Rev. E. A. Lang, P.G. Chap.; Taylor, P.G. Sec.; Galloway, P.G. Treas.; William Wayne, P.G. Reg.; Stansfield, P.G.S.D.; Harwood, P.G.J.D.; Dr. Allison, P.P.G.D.; Ambler, P.P.G.D.; Turner, P.G.S.B.; Friend, P.G.T.K.; Henry Bulley, P.M.; William Bulley, P.M.; T. E. Hignett, W. H. Pratt, P.P.G. Steward; Lieut-Col. Birchall, P.G.I. of W.; Newton, Thomas Morris, Bailey, Orton, &c.

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

THE CRAFT.

METROPOLITAN.

Prudent Brethren Lodge, No. 145.—This lodge held its first meeting this season at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, on Tuesday se'nnight, under the presidency of Bro. Walter, W.M. There were also present: Bros. Moore, I.P.M.; John Boyd, P.M. and Treas.; G. States, Sec.; about thirty other members of the lodge, and ten visitors, including Bros. Dr. Ward and C. A. Long, who kindly assisted the W.M. by filling the offices of S.W. and J.D. in the absence of Bros. Last and Bull. The brethren appeared in deep Masonic mourning for the late Bro. William Carter, an old and distinguished Past Master of the lodge, whose loss appeared to be very deeply felt by the members generally, but perhaps more particularly by the Past Masters, who each made some observations upon the gap made in their ranks, not too full at any time. It was unanimously resolved that the heartfelt regret of the lodge should be recorded upon the minutes as a mark of respect to the memory of their late esteemed brother. The business of the lodge consisted of the three ceremonies, which were very ably worked by the W.M., the election of a joining member, and a candidate for initiation at next meeting. The lodge was closed in due form, and the brethren retired to a plain supper, after which the usual toasts were given and responded to. Bro. John Boyd, in returning thanks for the Grand Officers, alluded very feelingly to the deep loss he had personally sustained by the death of their lamented brother, and how much he regretted appearing before them for the first time as a Grand Officer, with his badge covered with crape.

The brethren were visibly affected by the remarks made, and at the conclusion of a very eloquent address, they drank to the memory of Bro. Carter in solemn silence, and adjourned at an early hour.

Lodge of Unity, No. 183.—This old lodge met at the London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street, on Monday, the 23rd ult., for the first time after the recess. The W.M., Bro. H. Wadling, presided, supported by Bros. Jabez Garrett, S.W.; R. H. Groombridge, J.W.; Speth, P.M. and Treas.; Rev. D. Shaboe, P.M., G.C. Middlesex, Chaplain; E. Collins, J.D.; Spencer, I.G.; C. W. Todd, Tayler, and Thompson, P.M.'s; and other brethren. Visitors: Bros. H. Podmore, P.G. Purst. Surrey, and Hall, 1347. After the lodge was duly opened, Bro. Shaboe was appointed Secretary, in the room of Bro. F.V. Doggett, deceased. In a very impressive manner, Bro. C. W. Todd proposed, and Bro. Tayler seconded, a vote of condolence and sympathy with the family of the late Secretary, Bro. Doggett, who was one of the oldest and most respected members of the lodge. There being no further business, the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts being proposed by the W.M. The harmony of the evening was much enlivened by the songs of Bros. Todd, Tayler, and others. The rendering of "Life is a River" by Bro. Todd, and "The old Elm Tree" by Bro. Tayler were especially excellent and much applauded.

Victoria Lodge, No. 1056.—This lodge met at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, on the 25th ultimo. Present: Bros. Ulysses Latreille, W.M. (presiding); Alfred Robbins, S.W.; Wm. Ashby, J.W.; Wm. Wrenn, P.M., Treasurer; A. A. Pendlebury, P.M., Sec.; F. Y. Latreille and Geo. Roberts, P.M.'s; J. Martin, S.D.; Hy. Wainwright, J.D.; G. H. Harwood, G. Collier, W. G. White, H. Allen, T. Maggs, P. Quelch, D. H. McGregor, H. F. Atter, A. B. Parker, T. W. Skelton, J. E. Hastings, J. R. C. Tisen, John Winder, Wm. Perrin, J. C. Henry, C. Gall, W. G. Durrant, H. Marsh, William Brown; visitors, Bros. David Steers (late 25), Wm. Roach (49), Francis Hill (49), John Bulmer (174), T. E. Hardy (W.M. 538), Owen Fitzgibbon (1374), Thos. Wolstenholme (55), R. Campbell Chanter (1159), A. Wadson (1228). The following business was performed: Bros. Peter Quelch and Henry Allen were raised, Messrs. Edward H. Williams and Thomas Duncombe Eagles were duly initiated, and the lodge was duly closed. After the banquet, the usual toasts were responded to, and the evening passed away very agreeably, enlivened by the vocal harmony of several brethren.

PROVINCIAL.

IPSWICH.—British Union Lodge, No. 114.—The usual monthly meeting of this old-established lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Ipswich, on the 26th ult. The agenda paper comprised an initiation and the working of the sections of the first degree. Present: Bros. P. Cornell, W.M.; Dr. E. F. Long, S.W.; Dr. Beaumont, J.W.; C. Schulen, Treas.; W. Spalding, P.M., Sec.; C. J. Meadows, S.D.; N. Tracey, P.M., as J.D.; S. Wright, I.G.; G. Spalding, Tyler; Rev. E. J. Lockwood, D.P.G.M.; A. J. Barber, I.P.M.; E. Holmes, P.A.D.C.; E. Hayward, P.P.A.G.S.; W. Bobby, H. Neeve, F. Gull, and H. G. Moore, P.M.'s. Visitors, Bros. Golding, W.M. 225; Davy, P.M. 225, P.P.S.G.D.; Woods, Gower, Tracey (P.P.S.G.W.), King (P.M.), and Gammon, 376; Freeman, P.G. Treas., 516; George, 726; Creswell, J.W. 959; Rev. R. N. Sanderson, P.P.G.C., W.M. 959; J. Calloway, 959. The lodge was opened in due form; minutes of last lodge were read and confirmed; and a petition from Bro. Parke, aged 92, was presented, and signed by the W.M. and most of the brethren present. The ballot was then taken for Mr. A. Moore, Clerk in Holy Orders, as a candidate for initiation, and proved unanimous in his favour. The candidate not being in attendance, the working of the sections in the first degree was proceeded with, Bro. N. Tracey, P.M., being the Preceptor, assisted by the W.M., the Rev. R. N. Sanderson, and W. Bobby. So ably was the working carried out, that a vote of thanks to the several brethren was ordered to be recorded on the minutes of the lodge. A motion was then made as to an united Lodge of Instruction, combining the four lodges of the town, which, after argument, was deferred till the next meeting, the representatives of the lodges agreeing to bring the subject before their respective lodges. The lodge was then duly closed, and the brethren retired to a neat banquet, served in Bro. G. Spalding's usual good taste. The loyal, Masonic, and personal toasts, interspersed with song and sentiment, brought a pleasant meeting to a close just before high twelve.

LEICESTER.—John of Gaunt Lodge, No. 523.—A regular meeting of this lodge was held at Freemason's Hall, Leicester, on Thursday, the 19th ult., and was numerously attended. The W.M., Bro. Wm. Sculthorpe, presided, and nearly all the officers were in their places. Bros. W. Kelly, R.W.P.G.M., Toller and Smith, P.M.'s, and the following visitors were also present, viz., Bros. C. Stretton (W.M.), Worthington, and Attwood, of 279, and Bro. White, of Ballymena, Ireland. The minutes having been read and confirmed, a ballot was taken for Bro. J. H. Johnston as a joining member, and for Mr. George Staynes as a candidate for initiation, who were both unanimously elected. Bro. Tibbets was duly passed by the W.M., and Bros. Young and Taylor were raised to the third degree, the impressiveness of the ceremony being much enhanced by the musical accompaniments on the organ by Bro. Charles Johnson. The W.M. announced that at the recent election of applicants for admission into the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, the local candidate, Alfred Nutt, had been successful. The lodge was then closed and the brethren proceeded to refreshment.

STOWMARKET.—Phoenix Lodge, No. 576.—At the monthly meeting on Friday, the 20th ult., there were present: Bros. J. W. Sheridan, P.G.R., I.P.M., Acting W.M.; G. S. Golding, P.G.S.B., W.M. 225, S.W.; F. Warner, J.W.; G. Ransom, P.M.; S. H. Wright, P.P.G.D., P.M.; &c., &c. Visitors: Bros. Emra Holmes, P.G.A.D.C., P.M. 531, 114; C. Schulen, P.P.G.D.C., P.M. 114; and Philip Cornell, P.G.J.D., W.M. 114. After the usual business, the Acting W.M. called upon Bro. Emra Holmes to deliver his lecture, as announced in the summons, entitled "Random Notes on Freemasonry;" and, as was to be expected from so erudite a brother, it proved—as the W.M., in proposing a vote of thanks for Bro. Holmes' instructive and interesting lecture, justly remarked—there was not one word in it the brethren would not endorse, one point at which they were at issue. He particularly approved of the remarks made as to appointments in Grand Lodge, and it was only at a recent Mark Lodge the Prov. G. Secretary for Suffolk was complaining of the very thing to which Bro. Holmes alluded—the great difficulty experienced by provincial Masons in gaining appointments in Grand Lodge. Bro. Golding seconded the proposition, and spoke of Bro. Holmes as the most enthusiastic Mason he had ever met with. A vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to Bro. Holmes, and ordered to be recorded on the minutes. The lodge being closed in due form, the brethren adjourned to refreshment, and after the usual Masonic toasts had been honoured, separated, delighted at having spent so enjoyable an evening, combining, as all lodges ought to do, valuable information and instruction with pleasure. The W.M. of the British Union Lodge, No. 114, Ipswich, announced that Bro. Emra Holmes had kindly consented to repeat his lecture in that lodge at a very early meeting. [We have received a copy of Bro. Holmes' very interesting lecture, and regret our space precludes its insertion, at least for the present.]

HOLYHEAD.—St. Cybi Lodge (late Hibernia), No. 597.—A regular meeting of the above lodge was held in the lodge-room, Marine Hotel, on the 2nd ult. There were present: Bros. John Peters, W.M.; J. Lloyd Griffith, S.W.; William Lewis, J.W.; Owen R. Ellis, Secretary; John Ellis, S.D.; Dr. Owen Williams, J.D.; Rev. O. Williams Jones, Chap.; William Evans, Steward; James Lloyd, I.G.; Samuel Hughes, Tyler; and a fair muster of the brethren. The lodge having been opened, the opening ode sung, and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed, the W.M. called upon the Secretary to read the confirmation of the revised by-laws, which had been received from the R.W. Prov. G.M., Sir Watkin W. Wynn, together with his sanction to have the name of the lodge changed from that of "Hibernia" to the "Lodge of St. Cybi;" also a letter from the G.S., Bro. John Hervey, stating that the lodge had been duly registered in the Grand Lodge books, under its new name of St. Cybi. The W.M. then said he had much pleasure in declaring that the Lodge of St. Cybi was duly opened, which declaration was received with general satisfaction. After this, the ballot was taken round for the following gentlemen as candidates for initiation, viz.: Messrs. William Ankers, Richard Jones, Robert Parry, Stephen Dyer, and David Davies; also for Bro. J. Hughes, of Hesketh Lodge, No. 950, and Bro. F. Bapty, W.M. of the Lodge of Israel, No. 126, Ireland, as joining members. The result proved favourable in each case. Accordingly, the above-named candidates were regularly initiated, the ceremony being most ably performed by the W.M. and his colleagues. Bros. Henry Evans and John Hughes were advanced to the degree of Master Masons, the solemnity of the service, accompanied with suitable music, rendering the whole performance very impressive. The W.M. proceeded to lodge business, and Bro. J. L. Griffith, S.W., called upon the Secretary to show the design for a seal, which he had been requested to make for the use of the lodge, from the image of St. Cybi above the church door. It was produced accordingly, and after due inspection, was unanimously adopted, a vote of thanks being passed to that official for the pains he had taken in the matter. After receiving propositions and compliments, the W.M. closed the lodge in perfect peace, harmony, and concord. — A Lodge of Emergency was held in the lodge-room, Marine Hotel, on the 6th ult., for the purpose of passing Bros. William Jones and James Knowles Morris. Most of the officers were present, and a good few of the members. After opening the lodge, and going through the usual preliminaries, the two brethren above-named were advanced to the degree of F.C. Freemasonry. The lodge was then reduced, and closed in due form.

LIVERPOOL.—Walton Lodge, No. 1086.—The regular meeting of this lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Kirkdale, on the 18th October. Present: Bros. Joseph C. Lunt, W.M.; R. Abraham, S.W.; J. P. McArthur, J.W.; J. Grimes, S.D.; H. Hughes, J.D.; C. McEwen, I.G.; J. Ellis, Steward; J. L. Parry, Org.; Mott, P.P.S.G.D.; William Archer, P.M., Treas.; John Lunt and James Goodacre, P.M.'s; and a large attendance of members. Visitors: Bros. Hamer, P.P.G. Treas.; Baker, P.G.S., W.M. 241; Horbury, P.M. 605, W.M. 1325; Pemberton, P.M. 1264; Wells, J.W. 580; &c. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and confirmed, when the ballot was taken for Mr. R. H. Houldin, which proved unanimous in his favour, and he being in attendance, was most ably and impressively initiated by the W.M. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to the banquet, which was presided over by the W.M., who proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts. The visiting brethren vied with each other in praising the excellent working they had witnessed. The pleasures of the evening were very agreeably enhanced by the singing of Bros. Mott, Baker, Mabrick, and Wells. The brethren separated highly satisfied with all the arrangements made for their comfort. — An emergency meeting was held on Tuesday, the 24th ult., for arrears of business, when Bros. Rogers, Thomas, and Shandley were passed to the degree of F.C., and Bro. John Walker raised to the sublime degree of M.M.

OAKHAM, RUTLAND.—Vale Catmoss Lodge, No. 1265.—This lodge held its usual monthly meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 25th, this being the day appointed for the election of W.M., Bro. Duncombe, P.G.A.D.C. for Norths. and Hunts., the S.W., was duly elected. Visitors: Bros. Rev. William Langley, P.M. 50 and 1130, P.P.G.S.W.; Rev. W. K. Robinson, P.M. 1130, P.P.G. Chaplain; Douglas, P.M. 1130, P.P.G.S.D.; Orford, P.M. 466, P.P.G.S.W. for Norths. and Hunts. The lodge was soon afterwards closed, and the brethren partook of refreshment, after which the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured.

SEACOMBE, CHESHIRE.—Warren Lodge, No. 1276.—A meeting of this lodge was held in the lodge-room, Stanley Arms' Hotel, Seacombe, on the 17th October, for the purpose of installing Bro. Thomas Somerville Jones, the W.M.-elect. There was a large attendance of members and visitors, amongst the latter being: Bros. Henry Bulley, P.P.G.J.W.; J. P. Platt, P.P.G.J.W.; J. S. Hamer, P.P.G.T. W. Lan.; William Bulley, P.P.G.J.D.; Thomas Platt, P.P.G.J.D.; J. T. Lea, P.G. Supt. of Works; H. Williams, P.M. 249; H. Davies, P.M. 605; J. Pemberton, P.M. 1264; C. H. Hill, P.M. 1276, W.M. 724, 321; E. Hignett, W.M. 537; J. F. Jones, W.M. 1276; with other well-known Masons. The minutes of the previous lodge having been confirmed, a ballot was then taken for Dr. Bell, a candidate for initiation, who was accepted and duly initiated by Bro. J. F. Jones, the W.M. Bro. T. S. Jones, the W.M.-elect, was duly installed as W.M. by Bro. William Bulley in a most impressive manner. Bro. Jones then proceeded to invest as his officers: Bros. J. F. Jones, I.P.M.; Holt, S.W.; Earp, J.W.; Ward, Sec.; Ridehalgh, S.D.; Pennington, J.D.; Taylor, I.G.; McKay, Looney, Cato, and Price, Stewards; and Mills, Tyler. The Auditors' report showed a considerable balance in hand, thus proving the lodge to be in a sound and healthy condition. The W.M., in the name of the lodge, and in very flattering terms, presented a Past Master's jewel to Bro. James F. Jones, I.P.M., for his valuable services to the lodge during the past year, for which he returned thanks in suitable terms. The lodge was then closed down in due form and perfect harmony by the W.M., and the brethren adjourned to the house of Bro. Stokes, the Seacombe Hotel, where they sat down to a sumptuous banquet, after which the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given.

HAMPTON.—Lebanon Lodge, No. 1326.—On the 19th ult., this prosperous lodge held its regular meeting at the Lion Hotel, Hampton. Bro. J. T. Moss, I.P.M. and Treasurer (who had come from Margate purposely to initiate several personal friends he had proposed), by desire of the W.M., Bro. Samuel Wickens, opened the lodge. The minutes of the last regular and several emergency meetings were read and confirmed, after which the dispensation, granted by the Prov. G.M., Bro. Col. Burdett, under very special circumstances, and authorising the initiation of more than five candidates at this meeting, was read. Bro. John Hayward (946) was then admitted as a joining member, and ballots, taken separately, resulted unanimously in favour of the admission into Freemasonry of Messrs. G. W. Solly, G. Jones, J. Wells, H. Livett, A. Brown, E. Werner, and Linton. The first five named gentlemen, being present, were accordingly initiated by Bro. Moss, who also gave the charge and the lecture, all being done in a faultless manner. The chair was then assumed by the W.M., Bro. Wickens (whom we are happy to congratulate on being once more at his post after his late severe accident), and Bros. E. Fleet, J. McRitchie, W. Bell (1275), and E. S. Lane (1275), were severally introduced and passed to the second degree. Bro. F. Walters, P.M. and Sec., then took the chair and raised Bros. H. Stevens, C. S. Simpson, J. Fox (1275), and E. Townsend (1275) to the third degree. Apologies (for the most part on account of ill-health) were received from Messrs. E. Werner, Lindon, T. Wallis, G. Wood, and Bell, candidates for initiation, regretting their inability to attend. Bro. Wickens presided for the remainder of the evening. Some joining members and candidates for initiation having been proposed for the next meeting, the lodge was closed, after four hours' work. The brethren afterwards partook of a very good banquet, followed by some excellent speeches in the proposing, and responding to, the customary toasts. The visitors were Bros. J. Chynswith (J.D. 4, 33), J. T. H. Moss (169), F. Holmes (196), T. Vesper (P.M. 554), R. J. Elsam (S.D. 201), Trotter (1044), E. Townshend, J. Fox, W. Bell, and E. S. Lane (1275), &c.

ROYAL ARCH.

PROVINCIAL.

LEICESTER.—Chapter of Fortitude, No. 279.—A regular convocation was held at the Masonic Hall, on the 26th ult. The business included the installation of Comp. G. H. Hodges as 1st Principal, which ceremony was ably performed by the Prov. G. Supt., Comp. W. Kelly, assisted by the following P.Z.'s: Rev. J. Spittal, George Bankart, and W. Weare. There were present, in addition to those above-named: Comps. G. Toller, jun., H.; C. Stretton, E.; S. S. Partridge, N.; E. J. Crow, P. Soj.; and others. An apology for unavoidable absence was received from the Rev. C. J. Smith, J. After the minutes of the last chapter had been read and confirmed, a ballot was taken for two candidates, which proved favourable. Of the six candidates on the list, two only were present, namely: Sir H. St. John Halford, W.M. 1330, and F. J. Smith, 523, both of whom were exalted in due form, the ceremony being efficiently performed by the M.E.Z., assisted by Comp. Toller, who also delivered the symbolical lecture and explanation of the signs, the historical lecture and remainder of the mystical lecture being given by the P.G. Supt. Bro. Crow, for the first time, very ably performed the duties of P. Soj. The officers for the year were invested as above, and after a candidate for exaltation had been proposed, the chapter was closed in due form. It is much to be regretted that the meetings of this—probably the finest and most impressive of all Masonic degrees—have of late been so poorly attended. The chapter numbers upwards of seventy subscribing members, but the attendance seldom exceeds one-sixth of that number. We believe that the Prov. Grand Chapter, which has been in abeyance for some years, will be shortly reconstituted, and that the Prov. G. Supt., Comp. W. Kelly, will be so mally installed in his office. This event, which will doubtless bring together most of the R.A. Masons of the province, anxious to do honour to one to whose unwearied exertions it may be said, that R.A. Masonry in this province owes its continued existence, will, we trust, at the same time, be the means of diffusing a more general and lasting interest in this degree.

GAINSBOROUGH.—All Saints' Chapter, No. 422.—A convocation of this chapter took place, for the first time, in the new Masonic Hall, Market-place, Gainsborough, on Monday, the 16th ult., under the presidency of the M.E. Comp. James Frederick Spurr, Z.; John Hawksworth, H.; and John Loughton, J. The minutes having been confirmed, Bros. Pigott and Swallow, of the Alcholve Lodge, Brigg, were exalted to the Holy Royal Arch. Bro. Robinson, Org. 422, was elected for exaltation. The election of officers then took place, when Comp. Spurr, at the request of all the companions present, accepted the office of 1st Principal for the third year. Comp. John Moxon was elected H., and Comp. Thomas Hugh Oldman, J. There were also present: Comps. Robbs, Goodman, Dr. Hamlin, Bladen, Kirk, Howlett, Howsham, Box (Janitor), and visiting Comp. Nelson, Oliver Chapter. The chapter was then closed in due form, at 9 o'clock.

LIVERPOOL.—Walton Chapter, No. 1086.—The regular meeting of this chapter was held at the Masonic Hall, Kirkdale, on the 6th ult. The following companions were present: John Lunt,

M.E.Z.; Thomas Chesworth, H.; Joseph C. Lunt, J.; William Sephton, S.E.; De la Perelle, S.N.; William Archer, P.Z., Prov. G.S., Treas.; and John Horbury, P.Z. Visitor: Comp. J. W. Baker, H. 241. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, and Comp. Bush was elected a joining member. Bro. Pyer, who had been previously elected, was exalted to the supreme degree of R.A., the duties of P.S. being performed by Comp. Baker in a very able manner. This was the first meeting since the installation of Principals, and all the officers performed the duties of their several offices in a very efficient manner, which augurs well for the success of the chapter. Bro. Wells, J.W. 580, was proposed as a candidate for exaltation. The labours of the evening being ended, the chapter was closed in due form.

TWICKENHAM.—Royal Middlesex Chapter, No. 1194.—This young chapter met at the Grotto Hotel, on Saturday, the 21st ult., when, in the absence of Col. Burdett, M.E.Z., Comp. R. Wentworth Little, P.Z., S.E., presided, supported by Comps. W. Roebuck, C.E., H.; G. Cattell, J.; W. Dodd, S.N.; G. Kenning, P.S.; A. C. Morton, 1st A.S.; H. W. Hunt, 2nd A.S.; Major E. H. Finney, D.C.; H. Parker, Org.; J. Coutts, P.Z. 177 and 382; and H. C. Levander, Z. 76, P.Z. 720, a visitor. The chapter having been duly opened, Bro. Arthur B. Donithorne, I.G. 1293 (Captain 2nd Lanark Militia), was regularly exalted into Royal Arch Masonry, the ceremony being rendered by the Principals and officers in a faultless manner. The elections for the ensuing year resulted unanimously as follows: Comps. Roebuck, Z.; Cattell, H.; Dodd, J.; Little, E.; Kenning, N.; Horsley, Treas.; Morton, P.S.; and Gilbert, Janitor. Comps. Dodd, Hunt, and Finney were chosen as Auditors. The chapter was then closed, and the companions sat down to an excellent banquet, after which the usual loyal and R.A. toasts were given, and the companions separated.

MARK MASONRY.

METROPOLITAN.

Bon Accord Lodge.—A convocation of this lodge was held at the Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen-street, on Wednesday, the 18th ult. Present: R.W. Bro. Magnus Ohren, G.M.O., W.M.; Bros. Walter Richardson, W.M.-elect; Frederick Binckes, Sec.; Henry Empson, Treas.; Richard Spencer, S.W.; William Sugg, J.W.; Bros. Haig, Jennings, and several other brethren. Visitors: Bros. Hyde Pullen and Major Smith, the latter from India. Bro. David Hodge (33) was balloted for and unanimously accepted as a joining member, and Bro. Frederick Williams (452) was advanced. The W.M. was then installed, and appointed and invested his officers. The sum of £2 2s. was voted to the Binckes' Testimonial Fund. A sum was voted from the Charity Fund for an old and distressed member, the vote being supplemented by a private subscription at the banquet, which followed.

PROVINCIAL.

RAMSGATE.—Holmesdale Lodge, No. 129.—This lodge met at the Royal Hotel, Ramsgate, on Thursday the 26th ult. In consequence of the inability of Bro. George Neall, the W.M., to attend on that occasion, his duties were discharged, by special request, by the V.W. Bro. James Stevens, P.M. 104, W.M. 139, and P.G.O., who was supported by Bros. L. Finch, S.W.; Henry Wootton, as J.W.; T. H. G. Snowden, M.O.; J. L. Ellerm, S.O.; J. J. Darley, J.O.; Rev. G. W. Sicklemore, Chap.; B. Z. Hiscocks, Sec. and Reg.; J. D. Clarke, S.D.; G. Walker, J.D.; R. Mitchel, I.G.; G. Meager, Tyler; &c. The lodge having been opened in due form, ballots were taken for Bro. John W. Deveaux as joining member, and for Bros. G. Miles and J. W. Smith, of the Craft Lodge 1209, as candidates for advancement, and were respectively declared clear. Bros. Miles and Smith were then introduced, and duly advanced to the respective degrees of Mark Man and Mark Master, the ceremony being performed in accordance with that used in the lodges with which Bros. T. Meggy and Stevens, Past Grand Overseers, are connected, and which has received the approval of the W. Grand Mark Master. Propositions for future advancements were received, and the thanks of the lodge having been voted to Bro. Stevens for his attendance from London, and performance of the duties of the chair, the lodge was closed in ancient form and adjourned.

ORDERS OF CHIVALRY.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

IPSWICH.—Prudence Encampment.—The quarterly conclave of this encampment was held on Wednesday, the 25th ult. Present: Sir Kts. W. O. Chambers, E.C.; Rev. R. N. Sanderson, 30°, D.P.G.C. Suffolk and Cambridge; W. S. Golding, 1st Capt.; Dr. Mills, P.E.C.; J. Pitcher, P.E.C.;

C. Davy, P.E.C.; G. S. Findley, P.E.C.; Emra Holmes, 31°, 2nd G. Capt. of Lines, P.G. Reg. Suffolk and Cambridge; Dr. Beaumont, R.M., 2nd Capt.; P. Cornell, S. B. King, J. Franks, R. G. Wood, R.E.; M. A. Smith, &c. This being the annual meeting for the election of E.C., the majority of votes were recorded in favour of Sir Kt. Emra Holmes, Sir Kt. Golding generously retiring in his favour. There being no other business, the brethren retired for refreshment, and an agreeable evening was spent.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending November 11, 1871.

The Editor will be glad to have notice from Secretaries of lodges and chapters of any change in place or time of meeting.

MONDAY, NOV. 6.

Lodge 12, Fortitude and Old Cumberland, Ship & Turtle Tavern, Leadenhall-street.
 " 16, Royal Alpha, Willis's Rooms, St. James's.
 " 25, Robert Burns, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 72, Royal Jubilee, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 " 83, United Lodge of Prudence, Albion Hotel, Aldersgate-street.
 " 90, St. John's,
 " 144, St. Luke's, Pier Hotel, Chelsea.
 " 171, Amity, Ship Hotel, Greenwich.
 " 188, Joppa, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-street.
 " 256, Unions, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 1319, Asaph, Freemasons' Hall.
 Mark Lodge, Panmure (139), Balham Hotel, Balham.
 Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
 Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
 Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern, Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30, Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
 British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
 St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street (opposite Pantheon), Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. J. R. Stacey, Preceptor.
 Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. Dilley, Preceptor.
 St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, NOV. 7.

Colonial Board, Freemasons' Hall, at 3.
 Lodge 7, Royal York, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 9, Albion, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 18, Old Dundee, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
 " 101, Temple, Ship & Turtle Tav., Leadenhall-st.
 " 172, Old Concord, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 217, Stability, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 " 765, St. James's, Market Tavern, New Westons-street, Bermondsey.
 " 1257, Grosvenor, Victoria Railway Station.
 " 1259, Duke of Edinburgh, New Globe Tavern, Bow-road.
 " 1261, Golden Rule, Great Western Htl., Paddington.
 " 1298, Royal Standard, Marquess Tav., Canonbury.
 Chap. 169, Temperance, White Swan, Deptford.
 " 507, United Pilgrims, Horns Tavern, Kennington.
 Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
 Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
 Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, Preceptor.
 Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
 Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
 Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
 Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.
 Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, Gladstone Tavern, Bishopsgate-st. Wilkin, at 7.30; Bro. Bolton (W.M. 1227), Preceptor.
 St. Marylebone Lodge of Instruction (1305), British Stores Tavern, New-street, St. John's Wood, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 8.

Committee R. M. Benevolent Institution, at 3.
 Lodge 3, Fidelity, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 11, Enoch, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 13, Union Waterloo, Masonic Hall, Woolwich.
 " 15, Kent, Guildhall Coffee House, Gresham-st.
 " 87, Vitruvian, White Hart Hotel, College-street, Lambeth.
 " 147, Justice, White Swan Tavern, Deptford.
 " 238, Pilgrim, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street.
 " 749, Belgrave, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 " 781, Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, Limehouse.
 " 820, Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond.
 " 1017, Montefiore, Freemasons' Hall.

„ 1216, Macdonald, Head Quarters 1st Surrey Rifles, Brunswick-road, Camberwell.
 „ 1228, Beacontree, private rooms, Leytonstone.
 „ 1306, St. John of Wapping, Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping.
 Chap. 1260, Hervey, Walham Green.
 Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
 United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
 Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
 Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7 1/2.
 Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
 Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
 Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Lindus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, NOV. 9.

Lodge 19, Royal Athelstan, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-st.
 „ 91, Regularity, Freemasons' Hall.
 „ 206, Friendship, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
 „ 263, Bank of England,
 „ 534, Polish National, Freemasons' Hall.
 „ 657, Canonbury,
 „ 860, Dalhousie, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 „ 1076, Capper, Marine Hotel, Victoria Docks, West Ham.
 „ 1288, Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tavern, Seven Sisters'-road, Holloway.
 „ 1321, Emblematic, Tulse Hill Hotel, Tulse Hill.
 Chap. 554, Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
 The R.A. Chapter of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor. Ceremony, explanation of R.A. Jewel and Solids, part sections.
 Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses, Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 Pannure Lodge of Instruction (720), Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7; Bro. John Thomas, Preceptor.
 Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern, Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
 United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
 St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.

FRIDAY, NOV. 10.

Lodge 33, Britannic, Freemasons' Hall.
 „ 134, Caledonian, Ship & Turtle Tav., Leadenhall-street.
 „ 157, Bedford, Freemasons' Hall.
 „ 177, Domatic, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
 Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
 Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Htl., Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
 Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Mugeridge, Preceptor.
 Robert Burns Lodge of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air street, Regent-street, at 8; Bro. Wm. Watson, Preceptor.
 Burgoyne Lodge of Instruction, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, N.W., at 8.
 St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
 United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.

Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
 St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
 Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
 Burdett Coutts Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
 Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West Smith, Preceptor.

SATURDAY, NOV. 11.

Lodge 108, London, Freemasons' Hall.
 „ 173, Phoenix, Freemasons' Hall.
 „ 1328, Granite, Freemasons' Hall.
 Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. J. Comb, Preceptor.
 Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 7.30; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
 Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.

THE following reports will appear next week : Lodges 606 and 710, and Red Cross Conclaves 8 and 55.

Pomeroy's Democrat notes the safe arrival home of Bros. Jackson H. Chase, C. H. Thompson, and John J. Martin, on the 11th Sept.

“MORE than a year ago one of my children was attacked with bronchitis, and, after a long illness, was given up by my physician as ‘past cure.’ I was then induced to try your Vegetable Pain Killer, and from the time I began the use of it the child rapidly got better, and is now strong and healthy.—JOHN WINSTANLEY, 10, Whittle-st., L'pool, Jan. 1869.—To P. D. & Son.”

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—With the approaching winter, it is prudent for all to rectify any ailment afflicting them, but it is incumbent on the aged, suffering under ulcerations, and similar debilitating causes, to have them removed, or worse consequences will follow. This Ointment is their remedy; on its powers all may confidently rely; it will not simply put their sores out of sight, but extirpate the source of mischief, extract the corroding poison, and stimulate nature to fill up the ulcer with sound, healthy granulations that will abide through life. Under this treatment “bad legs” soon become sound, scorbutic skins cast off their scales, and scrofulous sores cease to annoy. Such hope for the diseased was unknown in former days.—[Advt.]

M. A. VERKRÜZEN (Grower's Agent),
 Invites attention to his Fine and Extensive Stock of
PURE AND SELECTED GERMAN WINES,
 INCLUDING THE
 LIGHT, REFRESHING DINNER SORTS, and all grades up to the Greatest Growths.

Certain of these Wines have acquired celebrity for their curative effects in cases of stone and gravel, they act beneficially on the liver and kidneys, counteract constipation, promote skin action, are invaluable in cases of dropsy, rheumatism, and gout, tone and purify the blood, greatly assist digestion, and diffuse throughout the system, even in the coldest weather, an agreeable sense of gentle warmth.

Nothing is so refreshing, nothing gives such zest to a meal.

DELICIOUS DINNER SORTS. From 17s. 6d. to 36s. per doz.	DESSERT CLASS. VERY FINE. 40s. to 72s.	GRANDEST. 78s. to 150s. doz.	HOCK. 30s. to 78s.	SPARKLING. MOSELLE. 30s. to 60s. doz.
---	--	---------------------------------	-----------------------	---

Packing and delivery within three miles' radius free.

Wholesale Depot: 3, Fell-street, Wood-street, London, E.C.

Each bottle bears the name of M. A. VERKRÜZEN, as a guarantee.

“VERY FINE CHAMPAGNES” (by special contract), 34s., 40s., 46s., 52s., 70s. per dozen.

CHOICE SHERRIES. 26s. to 96s.	FINE PORTS. 30s. to 72s.	FINE CLARETS. 12s. to 36s.
----------------------------------	-----------------------------	-------------------------------

Other Wines of Superior Quality, at lowest prices (the Wines may be tasted at the Depot).
Detailed Price Current forwarded on application. Terms Cash, Cheques crossed “Bank of England.”

WINES FOR INVALIDS SPECIALLY SELECTED ACCORDING TO THE CASE.

Every Person requiring an OUTFIT should send for
“THE OUTFITTER:”

PUBLISHED AND FORWARDED FREE BY

GANN, JONES & Co.,

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURING OUTFITTERS.

For Military Outfits, estimates, &amp;c. ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Naval " " ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Civil Service " " ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Outfits for the Traveller ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Outfits for the Emigrant ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Outfits for Lads going to School ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Outfits for Lads going to Sea ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Outfits for an Apprentice ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For the New Books of the Quarter ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Routes to principal parts of the World ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Distances, Passenger Rates, &amp;c., to ditto ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Cricketing and Athletic Reports for the Quarter, see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Prices of Gentlemanly yet Economic Dress ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Prices of the Very Best Shirts ... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Shirts of all descriptions ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Prices of Hosiery and Underclothing ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Prices of Rugs and Umbrellas ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Prices of Waterproof Clothing ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Prices of Tropical " " ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Prices of Canadian " " ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Prices of Cricketing " " ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Prices of Collars, Shirt fronts, Wristbands... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For Prices of Gann, Jones &amp; Co.'s Sewing Machines see THE OUTFITTER.                  For the New Machine, “The Lady” (£2 15s.) ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For the leading Machines of all Makers ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For the Addresses of Leading Manufacturers ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For the Addresses of Enterprising Tradesmen ... see THE OUTFITTER.                  For the Addresses of Good Schools ... see THE OUTFITTER.
---	---

Depot, 171, FENCHURCH STREET. Manufactory, 15 and 16, BLOMFIELD STREET, E.C.

LONDON AND SUBURBAN
MUTUAL BUILDING-SOCIETY,

Enrolled in 1855, pursuant to Act of Parliament.
SHARES, £23 each, may be paid in one sum, or by Monthly Subscriptions of 5s. per share.
INVESTING MEMBERS receive 5 per cent. Interest, and Share of Surplus Profits.
MONEY ADVANCED ON MORTGAGE, without Premium, for any term of years.
Bro. JONATHAN TAYLOR (Doric 933), Secretary.
Offices:—107a, FENCHURCH STREET, E.C.

THE BIRKBECK

Is the only BUILDING SOCIETY whose Annual Receipts exceed ONE MILLION!
How to Purchase a House for Two Guineas per Month, With IMMEDIATE POSSESSION and NO RENT TO PAY. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY, 27 & 30, Southampton-buildings, Chancery-lane.
How to purchase a Plot of Land for Five Shillings per month With Immediate Possession, either for Building or Gardening Purposes, apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY, 29 & 30, Southampton-buildings, Chancery-lane.
How to Invest Money with safety at 4 per cent. Interest, Apply to the Office of the BIRKBECK BANK.
All sums under £50 repayable upon demand. Current accounts opened similar to Ordinary Bankers. Cheque Books supplied. Office hours from 10 till 4 daily, on Mondays from 10 till 9, and on Saturdays from 10 till 2. A small pamphlet, containing full particulars, may be obtained gratis, or sent Post-free on application to FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

Remittances to Australia, New South Wales, and New Zealand.

ROYAL BANK OF IRELAND.

LETTERS of CREDIT on Melbourne, Sydney, Adelaide, Auckland, and all the principal towns, can be obtained on the most favourable terms at the office of this Bank.

By order.
FOSTER PLACE, DUBLIN, March, 1871.

THE UPHALL MINERAL OIL COMPANY (LIMITED).

The Paraffin Oil manufactured by this Company is now admitted to be the finest in the market.
D. FLANNERY,
15, BACHELOR'S WALK, DUBLIN,
Sole Agent for Ireland.

MONEY!

CONFIDENTIALLY ADVANCED, in Town or Country, to Householders, on their furniture and effects, without removal or publicity. Stocks, valuable effects, plate, diamonds, watches, furniture, pianos, &c., BOUGHT for IMMEDIATE CASH, or Advances made thereon without delay. Dry Store-rooms for the deposit of furniture and household effects.
The highest references given on application to
MR. A COHEN,
130, Duke-street,
LIVERPOOL.
(Private Office)

N.B.—Apply personally or by stamped directed envelope.

TO CONCESSIONAIRES, PROMOTERS, and FINANCIAL AGENTS.—Shares in new undertakings successfully influenced and placed. Address in perfect confidence, "Operator," care of Brother John Baptist Welpert, Advertising Agent, 24, Austin Friars, London, E.C.

MR. RICHARD RING, Solicitor, of 29, Frederick Street, Gray's Inn, begs to inform his Clients that he has opened an Office at 24, WORTH STREET, FINSBURY, and that Divorce Cases are conducted. Arrangements with Creditors promptly made under the present Bankruptcy Act.

WILLIAM WINSOR, of 8, Miles's-lane, London-bridge, Imports CIGARS of the very Finest Brands only, and Manufactures Cigars from the Choice of Tobaccos. Wholesale and Retail.

THE SOUTH-WESTERN INDEX LIST OF Finished and Unfinished HOUSES TO BE LET, and of ESTATES FOR SALE in the SOUTH-WEST of LONDON, is published Monthly by useful work of reference for those seeking Residences, and saving much trouble in obtaining information of properties for disposal in the S.W. district.

MR. JAS. STEVENS, AUCTIONEER & ESTATE AGENT, CLAPHAM COMMON, S.W.

Send post-card with your address, and a copy will be forwarded by return post.

THE LONDON MIRROR.

Published every Saturday: price 4d.
The object of this journal is to set forth the claims of the many Religious, Educational, Benevolent, and Prudential Institutions of the United Kingdom, and week by week to report their proceedings, whether at Meetings, Anniversaries, or Elections, so as to present these National Institutions to the favour of the Public.
Office, 59, Southampton-row, Russell-square, London, W.C.

"THE FREEMASON" OF ST. LOUIS.

—The Largest Masonic Monthly in the World. Published at St. Louis, Mo., by GEO. FRANK GOULEY, Grand Secretary and Recorder of the four Grand Bodies of Missouri.
The Freemason contains tidings from every quarter of the world and will be found of great advantage to all Masons, especially those interested in American affairs. Terms $2 per annum, and to those who subscribe for the LONDON FREEMASON the price will be $1 50 currency. Postage free.
Subscriptions received by the LONDON FREEMASON.

THE MASONIC TROWEL.—A Masonic Journal, published on the 15th of every month, by H. G. REYNOLDS, Jun., Springfield, Illinois, United States of America.
Sixteen pages large quarto. Circulation 20,000 monthly.
Terms to be obtained, and Subscriptions received, at THE FREEMASON Office, 2, 3, and 4, Little Britain, and forwarded free of charge.

THE JEWISH RECORD, ONE PENNY WEEKLY.
Office:—1, DEVONSHIRE STREET BISHOPSGATE.

THE JEWISH CHRONICLE,
Price Twopence.
Office:—43, FINSBURY SQUARE, E.C.

TESSELATED CARPETING,
FOR
Lodges, Chapters, Encampments, &c.,

Four Feet wide, 3/9 per Yard.
MASONIC DEPOT, LITTLE BRITAIN.

MASONIC MUSIC IN STOCK

- AT
BRO. KENNING'S MASONIC DEPOTS.
- THE RED CROSS SONG; composed by Bro. H. PARKER, words by Bro. R. W. LITTLE ... 3/0
  - WHAT BETTER THEME THAN MASONRY? words by Bro. JAMES STEVENS; music by Bro. WILHELM GANZ ... 4/0
  - BROTHERLY LOVE, RELIEF AND TRUTH; written by Bro. SEVELL; composed by Bro. J. RHODES ... 4/0
  - THE FINAL TOAST; written by D. L. RICHARDSON; music by Bro. EDWIN J. CROW ... 3/0
  - THE E.A. SONG; arranged by the late Bro. PARRY, of the "Lodge of Antiquity," No. 2 ... 6d.
  - MASONIC HARMONIA ... 7/0
  - MASONIC MUSIC, compiled for the use of the "Merchants Lodge," No. 241, by Bro. J. H. YOUNGHEUSAND, P.M., P.Z., P.E.C., and P. Prov. J.G.W. West Lancashire ... 6d
  - THE FREEMASON (Tell me the sign, John); written by GEORGE PALMER ... 3/0
  - THREE TIMES THREE; composed by Bro. HARROWAY, "Royal York Lodge," Brighton ... 3/0
  - THE SHAKE OF THE HAND (in G & B flat); composed by JOHN BLOCKLEY ... 3/0
  - THE FREEMASONS' FESTIVAL MARCH & MASONIC HYMN, by Bro. W. B. TOLPUIT (Past Master of the "Temple Lodge," No. 816, Folkestone) ... 3/0
  - THE FREEMASON QUADRILLES; inscribed (by permission) to the Right Hon. the Earl de Grey and Ripon, K.G.; by Bro. JOSHUA MARSHALL (P.G.O., West Yorkshire), Solo or Duett ... 4/0
  - MUSIC FOR THE CEREMONY OF ADVANCEMENT TO THE MARK DEGREE; composed by Bro. EDWIN J. CROW, dedicated to the Grand Master, Bro. Rev. G. R. Portal ... 3/0
- All the above Half-Price.*
THE MASONIC SERVICE; by J. C. BAKER, No. 241 ... 1/0

MASONIC BOOKS IN STOCK

- AT
BRO. KENNING'S MASONIC DEPOTS.
- Sichel's Ahiman Rezon (cloth) ... 5/-
  - " Freemason's Monitor (tucks) ... 4/8
  - R.A. Companion ... 3/0
  - Guide to the Chapter (cloth) ... 5/-
  - Manual ... 2/6
  - Book A. and A. Rite " ... 17/6
  - R. and S.M. Council Monitor ... 3/6
  - Swedenborg Rite ... 4/6
  - Masonic Token (cloth gilt) ... 7/-
  - Macey's Manuel E. Star ... 3/3
  - Simon's B.K. Commandery (tucks) ... 3/6
  - Origin of Masonry ... 3/6
  - Chase's Digest of Masonic Law ... 5/6
  - Pierson's Traditions ... 7/-
  - Signet of King Solomon ... 4/6
  - Rationale and Ethics (cloth) ... 5/6
  - Simon's Jurisprudence ... 5/6
  - Washington and Compeers (cloth) ... 9/-
  - Obituary Rites ... 1/6
  - Masonic Gatherings, by Bro. G. Taylor, P.M. ... 5/0
  - Portal's Symbols (cloth) ... 3/6
  - Lockwood's Masonic Law ... 4/-
  - Webb's Monitor (tucks) ... 3/6
  - Drew's Handbook " ... 3/6
  - Lawrence's Moral Design ... 3/6
  - Woodruff's Masonic Code ... 2/-
  - Lights and Shadows (cloth) ... 6/-
  - Cross True Masonic Chart ... 4/6
  - Mystic Tie (cloth) ... 5/6
  - Ritual of Freemasonry ... 14/-
  - Reflected Rays of Light ... 1/-
  - Red Cross Statutes ... 1/6
  - Freemasonry in Relation to Civil Authority and the Family Circle ... 1/-
  - Kingston Masonic Annual ... 3/-
  - Knight Templar Sermon ... 6d.
  - The Rosicrucian
  - S.G.C. Regulations ... 1/6
  - Royal Arch ... 2/6
  - G.L. Constitutions ... 1/6
  - Mark Constitutions ... 2/6
  - Knights Templar Statute ... 3/6 and 5/6
  - Craft, Mark, R.A., R.C., R. +, K.T. Books.
  - Vols. I, II., and III. of the FREEMASON, 4/6, 7/6 & 15/-
  - Book of Illustrations Clothing and Jewels (coloured) 2/6
  - General History of Freemasonry (Reheld in Europe) 15/-
  - World's Masonic Register, Hymnman ... 17/6
  - Stories of the Fireside, Barber ... 7/6
  - Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar, 1871 and 1872 ... 2/-
  - Grand Lodge Calendar ... 2/-
  - Lodge Bibles ... 15/- 21/- 42/-
  - Chapter Bibles ... 15/- 21/- 42/-
  - Laws of the Supreme C.C. of Scotland ... 3/6
  - Masonic Trials, by H. M. Look ... 0/-

J. E. PETERS,
ORNAMENTAL ENGRAVER AND FANCY ENAMELLER,
41, Clerkenwell Close.

Writing, Engraving of every description, Masonic Emblems Engraved or Enamelled; old Enamelled work repaired; country orders attended to with dispatch.

S. WELCH,
WRITER AND GRAINER,
6, MAIDENHEAD COURT,
ALDRSGATE STREET, E.C.

Bro. JAMES B. SLY,
Silvers and Gold Engraver of Arms, Crests, Monograms, and Inscriptions,
9, RATHBONE PLACE, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON, W.
Volunteer Prizes and Presentation Badges engraved with great dispatch. Watch Cases Enamelled with Arms and Monograms, Saw-pierced Monograms made in Metal-Gilt Silver or Gold, and mounted to Book Covers or Cigar Cases. Masonic emblems made.

DIE-SINKING DEPARTMENT.
Notepaper and Envelope Dies Sunk for Relief, Plain, or Illuminating. Company's Seals and Ornamental Dies cut for Jewellers. Relief and Illuminated Stamping executed. Stationery supplied. Circular and Sample Sheets Free.

REEVES, SON and CO., Printers, Wholesale Stationers, and Account Book Manufacturers, PLAYHOUSE YARD, BLACKFRIARS, LONDON. E.C.
Next the "Times" Office.

REEVES, SON and CO., Publishers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Newspaper Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Magazine Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Law Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Commercial Printers

REEVES, SON and CO., Show Card Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Label Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Ornamental and Colour Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Bankers' Cheque Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Copper Plate Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Lithographic Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Lithographic Artists.

REEVES, SON and CO., Map Printers and Colourers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Designers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Stereotypers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Engravers and Die-Sinkers.

REEVES, SON and CO. offer many advantages to Manufacturers and all persons requiring large quantities of Paper and Printing, as they possess the most approved machinery, as well as every other facility for executing orders entrusted to them in the cheapest and best manner.
As PUBLISHERS, their Offices are very central, and they render accounts monthly.

BORWICK'S
BAKING POWDER
HAS BEEN AWARDED
TWO GOLD MEDALS
FOR its SUPERIORITY over all OTHERS.
MAKES BREAD, PASTRY, PUDDINGS, &c.,
LIGHT and WHOLESOME.
SOLD in 1d. and 2d. PACKETS,
ALSO 6d. and 1s. PATENT BOXES.

GLENFIELD STARCH
is the only kind used in Her Majesty's Laundry.
THOSE LADIES who have not yet used the GLENFIELD STARCH are respectfully solicited to give it a trial, and carefully follow out the directions printed on every package. It is rather more difficult to make than other Starches, but when this is overcome, they will say like the Queen's Laundress, that it is the finest Starch they ever used. When you ask for the Glenfield, see that you get it.

Printed by Brother JAMES ADLEY REEVES and SON, Playhouse Yard, Blackfriars, in the City of London; and published by the Proprietor, Brother GEORGE KENNING, at his Offices, 2, 3 and 4, Little Britain, and 108, Fleet-street, in the City of London; and 2, Monument-place, Liverpool, in the county of Lancaster. SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1871.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGE
THE FUTURE OF FREEMASONRY IN IRELAND	691 & 692
THE RITE OF MEMPHIS ... ..	692 & 693
GRAND LODGE OF SCOTLAND ... ..	693
FRATERNAL COMPLIMENTS FROM THE UNITED STATES ... ..	693
THE SECOND DEGREE ... ..	694
MULTAM IN PARVO ... ..	694 & 695
ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE—
The Purple in West Lancashire ... ..	695
MASONIC LITERATURE ... ..	695
THE CRAFT—
Metropolitan ... ..	696
Provincial... ..	696 & 697
ROYAL ARCH—
Metropolitan ... ..	697
Provincial ... ..	697
MARK MASONRY ... ..	697
ORDERS OF CHIVALRY—
Red Cross of Constantine ... ..	697 & 698
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ... ..	698
ADVERTISEMENTS ... ..	689, 690, 698, 699, & 700

THE FUTURE OF FREEMASONRY IN IRELAND.

FIRST ARTICLE.

Our esteemed Bro. W. J. Hughan has aided materially, in his various contributions to THE FREEMASON, those who are disposed to attain to some knowledge as to the past of Freemasonry in this country. The past throws some light on the present, and it might be useful, both to ourselves here, and to the Craft at large, if some effort at divining the probable future of the Order in Ireland were now made, seeing that we are fast approaching a crisis, on the issue of which will very much depend the well-being and prosperity of our "Ancient and Honourable Society."

I therefore purpose bringing before my brethren here, and also under the notice of our English and foreign brethren, who have no small interest in the position and prospects of Irish Masonry, a few thoughts and suggestions that can be taken for whatever they may be worth. I make no pretensions to superior wisdom, and dogmatism is one of the last things I would wish to be guilty of in such matters; but I have given the subject a good deal of attention, and I believe that in much that I have to say I express, not merely my own views and convictions, but also those of many other brethren, whose opinion, collectively, will have more weight when the various matters in question come to be "fought out."

I think the time has come when it is imperatively necessary to speak out, plainly and fearlessly. I think there are dangers threatening the usefulness and influence of our Society, which those who love its principles and submit to its teachings should, if possible, lend a hand to avert. So, at the risk of my being possibly thought egotistical and presumptuous, I propose to consider some of the tendencies and consequences of the influences that are brought to bear on Freemasonry in Ireland, and to suggest what, to my mind, appears to be, perhaps, the only course calculated to save our Order from future injury and final disintegration and decay.

In approaching the consideration of the subject, I would wish to avoid any transgression of the laws of the Order, as proclaimed in Ireland. I believe I have always kept "within due bounds," and I trust I always shall submit cheerfully to any rules and regulations laid down by the Grand Lodge for the government of those under its authority, even though I might, in some cases, be disposed to question their wisdom or expediency. I am not unmindful of the fact that one of the rules of our "Ahiman Rezon" prohibits the publication of Masonic intelligence here, and, going still further, forbids "comment" on, or "reference" to, certain Masonic proceedings; but I consider that that rule does not apply to articles such as I propose to contribute to THE FREEMASON, and in explanation of that view I give the rule as it at present stands: "Rule 33. The transactions or proceedings which shall occur at any meeting of the Grand Lodge, or of any private lodge, or of any Masonic committee, or any comment thereon, or reference thereto, shall not be printed or published without the permission of the Grand Lodge, or of the Grand Master, or of the Deputy Grand Master."

I think it is quite clear that this rule applies only to the publishing "the transactions or proceedings" of lodges, or committees, and to comments on, or references to, such "transactions or proceedings." It cannot be intended to place under a tyrannical restriction all contributions to Masonic literature dealing with general principles, or exposing and attacking abuses or corruptions in any branch of the great Masonic body of which the Grand Lodge of Ireland is the governing power of a section, and I do think that a full and free discussion of such general principles, legitimately conducted, with careful avoidance of any unwise trespassing on the "secrets and mysteries" of the Craft, is useful to the order at large, and well calculated to repress the tendency to abuse or corruption, if it exists, and to uproot it, should it unfortunately have become to any extent developed. Holding that view, I have not applied for "the permission of the Grand Lodge, or of the Grand Master, or the Deputy Grand Master," to sanction the articles I propose to pen; but as I have no desire to shelter myself, if mistaken, behind a nom de plume, I append my signature, and am, of course, amenable to the judgment of the Grand Lodge.

The present is a peculiarly favourable time for us to look about us, and see what we have been doing, and what we are about to do. A new edition of our "Ahiman Rezon" is in course of preparation, and from the time when it shall take effect, "all other general laws and rules, whether contained in the 'Ahiman Rezon' hitherto published, or in the Grand Lodge Books, shall be considered to be abolished, except as regards any proceeding of the Grand Lodge hitherto taken." We are, therefore, as regards our rules, practically in the position of a new society about to adopt regulations for its government, and we should be very careful to adopt such regulations as shall be most in accordance with the spirit of Freemasonry, and most calculated to develop and extend its principles and influence.

Much of the cohesiveness of Irish Masonry may be attributed to the prestige attaching to the name of our universally-respected and beloved Grand Master, whose wisdom and sound judgment have largely contributed to the present prosperous condition of our Order. But when he shall have passed from amongst us, and his more than half a century of guidance shall be for the Craft in Ireland but a proud memory, when the sceptre passes into, possibly, less able or less trusted hands, it is difficult to predicate what course events may take. It is for us now, while his hand is still on the helm, so to arrange our rules and settle our position, that we can look forward with confidence to the future, knowing that, as the principles on which Freemasonry is founded are unchangeable and eternal, if we make our rules in accordance with those principles, our Society has nothing to fear from within or from without. But if we depart in any particular from those principles, if we perpetuate in the future any mistakes or perversions of the present or the past, we must expect that those mistakes and perversions will, in due time, bear bitter fruit. If we sow the wind, we may expect to reap the whirlwind. The adoption of our new laws has been, for a season, postponed, and we cannot do better, both as individuals and as lodges, than thoroughly sift and examine them, see their meaning and bearing, and be prepared to discuss them fully when the proper time arrives. If a reasonably large number of lodges, after due deliberation, were united in their views as to the advisability of either expunging certain existing statutes, or of adding others conducive to the well-being of the Craft, an influence would be brought to bear on those who are technically the framers of the rules which they could not well resist, and much otherwise necessary unpleasant discussion in Grand Lodge might be avoided. What is wanted by those who wish to reform certain existing defects and disfigurements is proper organisation. Organisation exists amongst those who have, from their standpoint, an interest in maintaining "things as they are." It is true that such organisation is rather felt than seen; but it is well understood that, when required, brethren holding particular views come down in force to Grand Lodge, and until such action is met by a counter-system on the part of those who differ with them, it is almost hopeless to expect any great improvement in the matter. The apathy of the Past Masters of the various lodges is the principal difficulty with which those who would gladly help to inaugurate a better state of affairs than now exists, have to contend. Unfortunately, very many brethren, when they have attained to the honour of the chair, seem to think that, as no further honours are to be conferred upon them, their duty of attendance is relaxed or ceases, and if they do not drop out of actual membership, they no longer take that active interest in Masonic affairs which should actuate every member of the Craft. There is a rule which debar from the privileges of membership of the Grand Lodge all Past Masters who do not take out a P.M. certificate, the fee for which, being only 5s., can hardly be considered the cause why so few comparatively qualify themselves for taking their proper place among the legislators of the Order. It is a matter of regret to earnest Masons who prize their rights and privileges in the Order, to see the practical indifference with which those rights and privileges seem to be regarded by others, and an effort should at once be made to arouse those apathetic brethren to a proper sense of their duty to themselves and to the Society. I would suggest that some of the lodges should, during the interval between the present time and the beginning of the discussion of the laws in May next, hold special meetings for their consideration, and invite the brethren of other lodges to meet them, and take part in such consideration.

By this means a wide spread understanding of the new rules and their probable effects would be secured, and possibly a common course of action might be arranged. It would be most desirable that the country lodges should also be roused to a full investigation into the subject. They will be under the rules when passed, and they have nearly as great an interest as those in the Dublin district in seeing that those rules are for the general good, and that they are really consistent in every respect with the great principles on which our Order is based. There are elements in our present constitution which, if injudiciously handled, or unduly ignored, may, at no distant date, lead to weakness and misunderstanding, if not actual disruption, and it would be but wise to give due weight to the opinions of our country brethren, some of whom are perhaps rather dissatisfied at what they consider the centralizing policy of our present laws.

And I see no reason why our English brethren should not give us the light of their experience, either as a guide, or a warning. Freemasonry is cosmopolitan. We are all members of one great family, and while we may, as individuals, prefer our own country to any other, as Freemasons we know, or should know, no distinctions. The "Right Hand of Fellowship," gives a universal grasp, and while we are fully competent to make rules for our own government, we would be glad to have the ideas of those not under that government, who might be supposed to be in some respects more impartial judges of the matter than we ourselves. We have already to thank Bro. Hughan for an article on our proposed new laws. I hope he will return to the subject, and that he and others will help to show that, without intrusion on our right of "self-government," our English brethren sympathise with us, and will give their moral weight to redress grievances, and reform abuses, if such exist.

There is at present a tendency on the part of some of our Irish Masons, to place themselves "en rapport" with portions of the English system. Many of us are members of English Orders, and as some of the new rules are framed directly to sever our connection with those Orders, and to place under a ban those who join them, our English and Scotch brethren are to some extent personally interested in the matter, and should help to secure for us the same individual liberty of action which they enjoy themselves.

Having thus "cleared the way," to some extent, for the consideration of the subject, I propose in my next article to enter more particularly into the special subject, and to deal more in detail with the fallacy which underlies much of the conception that undoubtedly prevails, as to the connection between the so-called "high grades" and Ancient "Craft Masonry."

JOSEPH H. WOODWORTH,
P.M. Commercial Lodge, No. 245.
Dublin, 24th October, 1861.

THE Annual General Communication of the Prov. Grand Lodge of Leicestershire and Rutland, will be held at Loughborough, on Friday, 24th day of November instant, under the auspices of the Howe and Charnwood Lodge, No. 1007.

ERRATA.—The following errata in the third chapter of "Illustrations of the History of the Craft" must kindly be corrected by our readers: φρατορες for ψιτορες, κοινοι for αοινοι, αταλιστων for αταλις των, κοινοι again for αοινοι, Εχινοι for αχινοι, and ιερεις for ιερνς, all on page 679; Kasidim for Hasidim, Grande for Grand, and Rue de Richelieu for Rue Richelieu, on page 680.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London." Also, makers of Epps's Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk).—[Advt.]

THE RITE OF MEMPHIS.

We extract the following articles upon the Rite of Memphis from Pomeroy's New York Democrat, which render further comment from us superfluous:—

THE SPURIOUS RITE OF MEMPHIS.

Whenever we could, without going out of our way, warn all regular Masons from connecting themselves with the bogus and swindling Rite of Memphis, we have done so. Its fosterers in America have been charlatans, mountebanks, and speculators in Masonry, devoid of social or Masonic position.

One of the lieutenants of that speculating mountebank, ex-playactor, costumer, and dealer in tow wigs, H. J. Seymour, of New York (impudently styling himself Sov. Grand Master for the United States)—named Calvin C. Burt, formerly of New Jersey, but sent to propagate the Rite in the West, as agent for the Masonic impostor, Seymour, who stands expelled from the A. A. Rite, for gross unmasonic conduct towards that Rite—has come to grief.

According to the Jackson Daily Patriot, of September 6, he was indicted for forgery and suspended from the Bar. He was also indicted for arson, but escaped owing to a disagreement of the jury. He was indicted and convicted of larceny in the Washtenaw Circuit Court, Mich. The verdict of the jury was as follows: "The people of the State of Michigan v. Calvin C. Burt. Indictment for larceny. In this case the jury, after having heard the proofs and allegations of the parties, the arguments of counsel, and the charge of the court, retired from the bar thereof, under the charge of D. D. Fitzgerald, an officer of the court, duly sworn for that purpose, to consider of their verdict to be given; and after being absent a short time returned into court, and say upon their oath that they find the said Calvin C. Burt guilty in manner and form as the people in their indictment in this case charged."

And yet this man, who left New Jersey characterless, went to the West as the agent of Seymour, par nobile fratrum, and disseminated the bogus affair, seducing by his plausible manner, and bold and impudent assumption, many worthy men to connect themselves with the unclean thing. A revolution, however, is taking place, and intelligent and respectable Masons, who had been duped, are renouncing and denouncing it, as will be found from the following, which we find in Our Mutual Friend:—

"We clip the following advertisement from the Detroit Post, and reprint for the benefit of whom it may concern:

"MASONIC NOTICE.—Egyptian Masonic Rite of Memphis. We, the undersigned members of the Sovereign Sanctuary of the E.M.R. of M., sitting in the Valley of Detroit, in and for the two hemispheres, in solemn conclave assembled, did on this the 26th day of August, A.L. 5871, A.D. 1871, dissolve the E.M.R. of M., and do hereby renounce and denounce the aforesaid rite, and declare that we will hold no Masonic communication with any person or persons, body or bodies, claiming to be members of the aforesaid rite, or any other Rite of Memphis.

A. H. ALLEN, S.G.W.
THOS. FRARY, S.G.W.
FRED. PROPER, J.G.W.
J. S. BOWMAN, G.S.
ORIN B. CARPENTER, G.T.
JOHN FAIR, G.P.
GEO. H. THOMAS, G.E.G."

THE MEMPHIS SWINDLE IN ENGLAND.—A SKETCH OF HYAM, SEYMOUR'S AGENT.

On the 16th September last, in the Masonic Department of Pomeroy's Democrat, we gave an account of how one of Harry J. Seymour's pupils in the bastard and spurious, so-called Rite of Memphis, and subsequently his agent for the sale of the 95 degrees of the unclean thing in the West—that being the number before Seymour's expulsion from the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, December 14, 1865; but which that ex-playactor, costumer, and wig-maker subsequently reduced to 33, calling it the Ancient and Primitive Rite—came to grief; for Mr.

Calvin C. Burt, as we then stated, was indicted for forgery, and suspended from the bar; indicted for arson, but escaped, owing to a disagreement of the jury; and indicted for larceny, and convicted at the Washtenaw Circuit Court, Michigan. It is true that Burt separated from the original owner of the Memphis swindle, and set up business on his own account, in 1867, or thereabouts, in Chicago, Ills., styling himself "Grand Master 96°," but this was only following in the footsteps of his former patron, who now magniloquently styles himself Sov. G. Master for the U.S. of America.

We are now called upon by brethren of the highest distinction in England to give them "particulars of B. D. Hyam, who has been deputed by Harry Seymour to establish the A. and P. (Ancient and Primitive) Rite over there—said rite being the Memphis reduced to 33°." We shall do so, and clearly establish the fact that this new agent of the man Seymour is as infamous, as a Mason, as the convict Burt.

A reference to the printed journal of proceedings, G. Lodge of California, page 196, shows that B. D. Hyam was on the 8th May, 1852, elected Grand Master. On the 24th of July following, a Special Communication of Grand Lodge was called by the Deputy Grand Master, Rt. Wor. Charles M. Ratcliff, to be holden in San Francisco, August 17 following, which brother, in his circular, said: "This call of the Grand Lodge is occasioned by certain extraordinary proceedings of the M.W. B. D. Hyam, Grand Master of Masons in this State, which deeply and vitally affect the Institution of Freemasonry, and it is therefore especially desired that every member may be present."

The Grand Lodge accordingly assembled in Special Communication on the day named, when, after organizing, the G. Lodge adjourned till next morning, when it re-assembled.

A complaint from California Lodge No. 1 was then presented, in which Bro. B. D. Hyam was charged with "tyranny over and malice toward individual lodges, and his wanton abuse of the great power and trust reposed in him." Also, that he had made Masons of rejected candidates and others in the vicinity of lodges, without notifying the lodges, and "received and retained the fees therefor."

This complaint was referred to Special Committee, and from their report we extract the following. It is to be found on pages 217, 218, 219, 220, and 221 of the Journal of Proceedings, Grand Lodge of California:—

"Your committee, appointed to take under consideration the complaints made by California Lodge No. 1 against the conduct of the M.W. Grand Master, B. D. Hyam, respectfully report that they have patiently and carefully examined all the facts and authorities in relation thereto, of which they could obtain possession. Their duty has required considerable attention and labour, which they have performed to the best of their ability, and with a due sense of the importance of the subject and of their own responsibility. The case is one of so remarkable a character that no express provision appears to have been made to meet it, owing doubtless to the fact that the supposition was never entertained of its coming within the range of possibility. The complaint involves, to a lamentable extent, the reputation of a brother who has been exalted to the highest honours that the Fraternity can bestow, and is of so serious a nature as to demand the most prompt and decisive action.

"The absence of the Grand Master from this investigation was a source of regret to the committee. Knowing, as he did, that the Grand Lodge was about to assemble for the express purpose of considering his Masonic conduct, they could not but wonder that he should depart from the State, the more especially as he had been earnestly solicited by a large convention of the brethren to remain. Offences so grave as those with which he is charged should not have been treated so lightly, nor should the desire of the brethren who had so recently elevated him to power have been thus scorned or disregarded. Still, all proper allowance was made on that score, and the case of the Grand Master has been considered with as much delicacy as though he were present at the discussion. Indeed, the committee have manifested more concern for his reputation than himself appears to have entertained, and under all the circumstances, he can have no reasonable ground to complain of the result."

Besides other imputations that have been presented to the committee's notice injurious to the Masonic standing of the Grand Master, the following allegations are embraced in the complaint of California Lodge No. 1:—

"1. That Grand Master B. D. Hyam, on the night of the 25th of June last, assembled several Master Masons in a house not devoted to Masonic uses, and there conferred the three degrees of Masonry upon an individual who had been duly rejected as a candidate on the third day of the same month in California Lodge No. 1, in the presence of the Grand Master, and that those degrees were given purposely in a covert manner, and in a spirit of malice towards the lodge in which the candidate had been so rejected.

"2. That the Grand Master, on another occasion, in a similar manner, conferred the Masonic degrees upon a candidate who had been rejected in Mountain Shade Lodge, No. 18, receiving a fee of 100 dols. therefor.

"3. That on another occasion, in the near vicinity of working lodges, the Grand Master, in known opposition to the desires of the Fraternity, and without any good reason, much less necessity for so doing, made Masons at will, receiving fees for the work, and appropriating them to his own use.

"4. That the Grand Master has entered a working lodge as a visitor, interfered with its proceedings, refused to obey the gavel when called to order, and to treat the Master with the respect due to his office, used language unworthy a brother, and otherwise conducted in an unmasonic manner."

Such is a brief synopsis of the offences of the Grand Master, of which complaint is made. The evidences of their truth are conclusive. The facts were substantially admitted by the party accused. At the convention above named, the Grand Master confessed to having acted injudiciously in regard to the rejected candidate of California Lodge, and could furnish no excuse by which to justify his conduct. On being assured that he had lost the confidence of the Fraternity in the State, and solicited to discontinue the further exercise of the powers he so strangely abused, he refused in such terms as to indicate a disregard for the opinions of his brethren, or the prosperity of the Institution of which he had been made the head. He persisted that, though his acts might tend to evil, he could do no wrong for which he could be held responsible; for, by virtue of his office, he had the power and the right to perform such acts as he might deem proper. He had obtained the impression, which he pertinaciously maintained, that, as Grand Master, he was superior to all Masonic authority—that his will was above all law—that in him was vested the discretion and power to make and break Masons, and create and destroy lodges at will—that he could not be shaken from his high position—and that to himself alone was he accountable.

The ancient Romans had no law by which to punish fratricide, they not supposing it possible that a man would be so vile as to commit a crime so terrible. But when a case occurred, a law was made for the occasion. So with our ancient Brotherhood. They never supposed it possible that a Grand Master could, to any extent, abuse his high prerogatives. But the case has transpired, and it now becomes the brethren everywhere to look well to the matter, and guard by proper and effectual means against its repetition. If there are no proscribed limits to the powers of the Grand Master, there should be, and they cannot be too soon adopted. If there is no law that holds the Grand Master accountable for unworthy actions, it is high time that one should be established.

That our present Grand Master has shamefully abused the powers of his office; that he has employed that office for unworthy purposes; that he has exhibited an inexcusable indifference toward the consequence of his unmasonic acts; that he has wilfully violated the spirit of our Grand Lodge Constitution; that he has appropriated to his own use money that was never contemplated being employed for any other than Masonic uses; that he has conducted himself with impropriety at a lodge meeting; that he has treated his brethren with unmerited contempt; that he has done all this and more, deserving of reprehension, there is no room for any one conversant with the facts to doubt. And, we repeat, if there is no precedent or law by which we can reach such flagrant acts, it is proper that one should now be made.

The Committee thus concluded their report, which was received and concurred in, and the resolutions separately adopted:—

"It is the deliberate opinion of the Committee that it is of the utmost importance to the well-being of Masonry that Grand Master Hyam should retire from the responsible station he so unhappily fills; and that he may be induced so to do, we offer for your consideration the following resolutions:

"Resolved—That Grand Master B. D. Hyam has, since his elevation to the office of Grand Master, been guilty of conduct unbecoming his high station, and tending materially to disturb the harmony and prosperity of the Fraternity within his jurisdiction, and has therefore merited the unqualified reprehension of this Grand Lodge.

"Resolved—That upon his return to this State, from which he is now temporarily absent, Grand Master Hyam be requested to permit the Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master to discharge the functions of Grand Master during the remainder of the present Masonic year.

"Resolved—That the Grand Lodge request each lodge under its jurisdiction to appoint a committee to notify Grand Master Hyam of the proceedings of this Convocation, and to induce him to comply with the terms of the foregoing resolutions."

But B. D. Hyam absented himself from California. When he committed these crimes, there were neither railroads nor telegraphs, as now. He arrived in the city of New York before the news of his misdeeds were known. He pretended to have urgent business at Washington—where he said he had only to reach to obtain ample means—and as Grand Master, borrowed on his Masonic honour, for a few days, 100 dols. from the Grand Lodge of New York, 100 dols. from Bro. John W. Simons, of this city, and 10 dols. from the writer of this, neither of which sums, nor any part thereof, has ever been paid back.

Such is the man whom the speculator in Memphis humbuggery, Seymour, has sent to England, to induce those of the English Craft (who may be fools enough) to part with their pounds, shillings, and pence. Hyam can now be judged as well as the convicted Burt. We have fairly given his record. He is just such an instrument as his employer always works with, and each is worthy of the other. The English Craft will govern themselves accordingly.

THE Sphinx Lodge of Instruction held its semi-annual meeting, for the working of the Fifteen Sections, on Saturday, Oct. 28th. Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor of the lodge, presided, and the following brethren worked the sections: Bros. Dawson, Larlham, Wingham, Cohen, Noke, Thomas, Stevens, Bedolfe, and Worthington.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Scrofula, Skin Diseases.—In no disease is more early or constant vigilance required than in the treatment of scrofula; early curative measures save great risks and much unnecessary suffering. The nurse or parent must meet the first approach of the foe, or his defeat will be difficult. Enlarged glands about the neck, flying pains through the limbs, and irritable skin, warns us of the presence of this hereditary malady, and not a moment should be lost in the employment of Holloway's anti-scorbutic remedies, to throw out from the blood at once the morbid cause of all future disfigurements; these wonderful remedies leave the system pure and vigorous, so thoroughly do they banish the poison.—[Advt.]

GRAND LODGE OF SCOTLAND.

The Quarterly Communication of the Grand Lodge of Scotland was held on Monday, 6th inst., in Freemasons' Hall, George-street, Edinburgh. In the absence of the M.W. G. Master, the Earl of Rosslyn, the meeting was presided over by W. Mann, the Senior Grand Warden, supported by Lord Lindsay, Prov. Grand Master of Aberdeenshire (West); Col. Campbell of Blythswood, Prov. Grand Master of Renfrewshire (East); J. C. Abbott, Acting Senior Grand Warden; and others.

After the transaction of the usual routine business, the nomination of Grand Office-bearers and Grand Stewards for the ensuing year was proceeded with, when the following were elected: The Right Hon. the Earl of Rosslyn, M.W. Grand Master; the Right Hon. the Earl of Dalhousie, K.T., R.W. Past Grand Master; Sir Michael Shaw Stewart, Bart., R.W. Depute Grand Master; Henry Inglis of Torsonce, R.W. Substitute Grand Master; Col. A. C. Campbell of Blytheswood, R.W. Senior Grand Warden; the Right Hon. Lord Erskine, R.W. Junior Grand Warden; Samuel Hay, R.W. Grand Treasurer; Alex. J. Stewart, R.W. Grand Secretary; John Lauric, R.W. Grand Clerk; the Rev. D. Arnott, D.D., and the Rev. V. G. Faithfull, M.A., V.W. Grand Chaplains; Wm. Officer, V.W. Senior Grand Deacon; Major W. H. Ramsay, V.W. Junior Grand Deacon; David Bryce, W. Architect; A. Hay, W. Grand Jeweller; John Coghill, W. Grand Director of Ceremonies; D. Robertson, W. Grand Bible-bearer; James Ballantine, Grand Bard; the Right Hon. Lord Roschill, Grand Sword-bearer; C. W. M. Muller, Grand Director of Music; R. Davidson, Grand Organist; M. Mackenzie, Chief Grand Marshal; A. T. Apthorpe, Grand Marshal; W. M. Bryce, Grand Tyler; and James Baikie, Outer Guard.

Charters were granted for new lodges—"Maryhill," Glasgow; "Star of Central China," Hankow; "Thorn Tree," Thorliebank; and "Peabody," New South Wales. The dormant lodge, "St. Anthony," Inverary, was reponed upon Grand Lodge Roll.

The arrangements for the festival of St. Andrew were remitted to the Board of Grand Stewards.

Several motions were postponed to next Quarterly Communication.

FRATERNAL COMPLIMENTS FROM THE UNITED STATES.

"HONOURS JUSTLY PAID.—Lafayette Royal Arch Chapter, No. 5, of the City of Washington, at a recent convocation, elected as life members the Marquis of Ripon (late Earl de Grey), Grand Principal Z. of the Grand Chapter of England; Lord Tenterden, Principal Z. of the Chapter of Iris, London; Sir John A. Macdonald, of the Grand Chapter of Canada; and William James Hughan, the distinguished Masonic Historian. Life membership in Lafayette Chapter may be considered of some value, as the chapter is very chary in the bestowal of that honour, it having been hitherto granted to only three persons: Bros. Albert Pike, Albert G. Mackey, and Ben Perley Poore."—National Freemason, Oct., 1871.

SMALL-POX, FEVERS, AND SKIN DISEASES.—The predisposition to is prevented by Lamplough's Pyretic Saline. Vitalising and invigorating, its effects are remarkable in their cure and prevention. Take it as directed. Sold by chemists and the maker, H. Lamplough, 113, Holborn-hill.—[Advt.]

"MORE than a year ago one of my children was attacked with bronchitis, and, after a long illness, was given up by my physician as 'past cure.' I was then induced to try your Vegetable Pain Killer, and from the time I began the use of it the child rapidly got better, and is now strong and healthy.—JOHN WINSTANLEY, 10, Whittle-st., L'pool, Jan., 1869.—To P. D. & Son."

NOTICE.

The Subscription to THE FREEMASON is now 10s. per annum, post-free, payable in advance.

Vol. I., bound in cloth ... ..	4s. 6d.
Vol. II., ditto ... ..	7s. 6d.
Vol. III., ditto ... ..	15s. od.
Reading Cases to hold 52 numbers...	2s. 6d.

United States of America.

THE FREEMASON is delivered free in any part of the United States for 12s. per annum, payable in advance.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferred to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

All communications for THE FREEMASON should be written legibly on one side of the paper only, and, if intended for insertion in the current number, must be received not later than 10 o'clock a.m. on Thursdays, unless in very special cases. The name and address of every writer must be sent to us in confidence.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price of THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the EDITOR 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him but cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

THE SECOND DEGREE.

IN resuming the consideration of the subject which we broached last week, let us take as a starting-point the theory, that the second degree teaches a Mason to apply the knowledge that he acquired in the first grade. A Fellow-Craft's attention is directed to the truths of science, and by every symbol in the lodge he is enjoined to cultivate his intellectual faculties, and to improve the talents with which he may be endowed. He is expected to explore the mysteries of nature, to sound the depths of philosophy, and, above all, to exemplify in his conduct the strictest principles of morality and virtue.

We may, therefore, contend that the second degree practically enforces the lessons taught in the first; and, in fact, it may be observed that the aim of every succeeding degree in Freemasonry is to shed additional light, if possible, upon the foundational tenets of the Order. But, apart from its moral value, the Fellow-Craft's degree possesses a special interest to every Masonic student, because it contains the first reference to the science of Geometry, with which Operative Masonry has so long been connected. It is well known that our ancient brethren were as frequently called Geometricians as Masons, and the importance of the science was so universally recognised, that no man who was ignorant of geometry could claim to be considered learned. Among the great philosophers of old who cultivated this useful art, the name of Pythagoras is one of the most conspicuous, although it is also true that many Pythagorean doctrines were unfolded through the medium of numbers. Thus: One, the monad, was the emblem of God, without beginning and without end—the central fire, or point within the circle. Being indivisible, it also denoted love, friendship, and peace. The number Two represented darkness, or the evil principle; it was a symbol of misfortune—hence, the second month of the year was, in ancient times, dedicated to the infernal deity, and the second day of that month to the memory of the dead. Three was the mystical number in the system of Pythagoras, and signified harmony or perfection. It likewise appears to have been venerated as a sacred numeral in most of the Pagan mysteries. In the rites of Mithras, for instance, we find the three intelligences, and in the Indian rites, the trinity of Brahma, Vishnu, and Seeva. The Druids entertained a high respect for this number, composing even their religious chants in triplets. As to Freemasonry, it has been well remarked that the number three pervades the whole ritual. There are three degrees of ancient Craft Masonry, three chief officers of a lodge, three lights, three supports, three ornaments, three principles, three working tools, three principal orders of architecture, and other coincidences too numerous to specify. Four was the Divine number, because it referred to the Deity, and was considered the image of God. The Tetragrammaton of the Hebrews and the Tetractys of the Greeks bear evidence to this fact, and Iamblichus relates that Pythagoras obligated every aspirant to the higher mysteries upon this sacred figure, expressed by ten jods in the form of a triangle. In the school of Pythagoras, Five represented light, and his disciples adopted the five-pointed star as an emblem of health (at a later period the Kabbalists used this sign as a talisman), the name of God being placed on each of its points and also in the centre. Six was called the Symbol of Justice, because it was the first perfect number; Masonically, it alludes to the six days of the creation of the world. The numeral Seven was held in high estimation; the Pythagoreans called it a venerable number, because it referred to the completion of the work of creation, and was made up of two perfect figures, the triangle and the square. References to this number are almost countless, so a few examples must suffice. There were seven planets, and seven pleiades; seven altars burnt continually before the image of the God Mithras. The Goths had seven deities, from whose names are derived the day of the week. The Arabians reckoned seven holy temples, the Persians had seven caverns through which the candidate for the mysteries was required to pass, and Plato taught that the soul of the world was generated out of the number seven. In Scripture, we find that seven persons accompanied Noah into the ark. The walls of Jericho were invested seven days by seven priests, bearing seven rams' horns. Abraham pleaded seven times for the wicked cities of the plain. Jacob served seven years for Rachel, and also another seven years. King Solomon was seven years building the Temple, which he dedicated in the seventh month, and the festival lasted seven days. The ordinances of Israel abound with similar references. Unleavened bread was to be eaten by the people seven days, and every seventh year was appointed as a year of rest. In Freemasonry, the number seven is highly important, inasmuch as a perfect lodge of the brethren must consist of seven regularly-made Masons, without whose presence no candidate can be legally admitted into the Craft, although five may hold a Fellow-Craft's lodge. The number Eight was esteemed as the first cube, and was considered an emblem of friendship and prudence. Nine was called the finished number, or symbol of perfection, in allusion to the nine months required for the development of a human being before birth. Nine is a sacred number in Freemasonry, and bears a peculiar significance in the Royal Arch and the high degrees. Ten was denominated heaven, or the consummation of all things—it being constituted by the union of One, the monad, or active principle; Two, the duad, or passive principle; Three, the triad, or world, proceeding from their union; and Four, the sacred tetractys. The number ten, therefore, contained all the numerical and harmonic relations of the Pythagorean theory.

The second degree directs our attention to these instructive subjects, and, hence, the true Craftsman is expected to make a daily advance in knowledge and science. But the greatest lesson of all awaits him in the degree of a Master Mason, when the veil of life is temporarily lifted, and his soul is brought into communion with itself, and face to face with the shadows and darkness that encompass the grave. The mysterious teachings of the third degree are in accord with the most sublime teachings of revelation, and deserve the closest study and attention; but we must defer our remarks thereon to a future occasion.

Mulum in Parbo, or Masonic Notes and Queries.

MASONIC PUBLICATIONS.

We have reason to believe that Brother Woodford, Rector of Swillington, P.G.C., will soon publish the Masonic M.S. from the volume of Sloane MSS. 3329, with a preface, and a fac-simile of the MS. The fac-simile will be taken by the new process, and will give a most accurate specimen alike of the handwriting and the archaic MS.

We hope to be able to announce further particulars in our next number.

QUESTIONS FOR CONSIDERATION.

Has not the time arrived for a revision, or modernization, of our Ritual, to free it from its present absurdities and Johnsonian verbosity, and to bring it into accordance with the spirit of the nineteenth century?

Has not the time arrived for stopping the publication of the unauthorized, and too complete Rituals with which this country and the United States are so abundantly supplied?

Can this be done in any other way than by Grand Lodge following the example of Scandinavia and Germany, and sanctioning the printing of a Ritual (omitting the secrets)?

Is there any other way of securing "uniformity of working"?

Could not the time now spent in orally acquiring the Ritual be devoted to better purposes?

Does not the having to do so prevent many able men from filling our chairs?

Is it not more impressive to hear the Ritual decently read, than hesitatingly and badly delivered, as is so often the case?

LL. W. LONGSTAFF, 18, P.M. 1010,
P.G.W. N & E. Yorks.

MASONIC PUNISHMENT.

Obedience to constituted authority is one of the first duties which is impressed upon the mind of the candidate, and hence he who transgresses the laws of the land under which he lives, violates the teachings of the Order, and is for this cause justly liable to Masonic punishment.

CHALMERS I. PATON.

FREEMASONRY IN CUMBERLAND 70 AND 80 YEARS AGO.

The following is from the Cumberland Packet of January 1, 1788:—"We hear from Kendal, that on Thursday last (being St. John's Day) Sir Michael le Fleming, Bart., and a number of other gentlemen, members of the most ancient and honoured society of Free Masons, dined at the White Lion, in that town; when several constitutional and other toasts were drunk, and the day spent in the most convivial and harmonious manner."

The following is from the Carlisle Journal of January 11, 1800:—"On St. John's Day, the Union Lodge of Freemasons in Kendal walked in procession to St. George's Chapel, where a sermon was preached by the Rev. Thomas Airey, Curate of Selside, from 1st Peter, 2nd ch., 17th verse, 'Honour all men, love the brotherhood.' The gentlemen afterwards dined at the Coffee-house."

[We believe the Rev. Thomas Airey was grandfather to the present estimable and energetic Prov. G. Sec. for Cumberland and Westmorland, Bro. Edward Busher, P.M., P.Z., P.P.S.G.W., and P.G.S.B. of England.—ED. F.]

Original Correspondence.

The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Will you kindly oblige by answering in your next issue the following question:—

A and B are initiated in the same lodge—A in 1850, B in 1851. A and B are appointed officers. B succeeds in becoming W.M. a year before A, and A is his successor, and both are now the senior P.M.'s of the lodge.

Question: "Which takes precedence as Installing Master, if the W.M. is incapable of performing that duty?"

Yours fraternally,
A & B.

November 8th, 1871.

THE PURPLE IN WEST LANCASHIRE. (To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR AND BROTHER,—Your report of the last Provincial meeting omits the fact that (as stated in the local papers) the Prov. Grand Secretary "gave notice that at the next meeting he should bring up the Resolutions of the Prov. G. Lodge during the last twenty years, with a view to their being passed as By-Laws for the government of the province;" and that (evidently acting upon this announced intention) a brother gave notice of motion somewhat as follows:—That a Return of all Provincial Grand Lodge appointments made in this province during the last twenty years, showing the names and descriptions of the brethren appointed, with their rank and the numbers of the lodges to which they respectively belonged, be also laid before this Provincial Grand Lodge, together with a return of all lodges now in the province and the number of subscribing brethren in each.

This notice the Provincial Grand Secretary declared he would not receive or enter on the minutes, although the information asked for can be extracted from the minute-book at the same time as the resolutions referred to in his own notice.

The Prov. G. Secretary also reported "a letter from Bro. McIntyre, Grand Registrar, requesting that the propriety of altering the boundaries of this and the neighbouring provinces should be taken into consideration, and expressed his (the Prov. G. Sec.'s) opinion, that those attempts should be resisted, and that he had accordingly replied to Bro. McIntyre's letter, stating that the boundary was already defined, and that he could not see that any better boundary could be suggested, and would not, therefore, make any proposal as to its alteration." Certain brethren deeming this a matter rather for the consideration of the Prov. Grand Lodge than for the absolute decision of the Prov. G. Sec., one of them gave notice of motion to the following effect: "That this Prov. G. Lodge is of opinion, that the time has arrived for this province to be divided into two provinces, to be called 'North Lancashire' and 'West Lancashire,' and that the boundaries between this and adjoining provinces be taken into consideration and mutually adjusted." This notice the Prov. G. Sec. also refused to receive or to enter on the minutes, declaring both notices illegal.

These notices of motion, and the manner in which they were treated by the Prov. G. Sec., convey, without further remark (for the present, at all events), a fair guide to the general opinion entertained of the present advisers of the Prov. Grand Master. Yours fraternally,
Southport, 2nd Nov., 1871. ARGUS.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—The letters in your last issue, from "Another P.M." and "Di. Cran. Kin." (the latter, I presume, one of the recently-initiated Japanese brethren) need some reply.

As to the former, it would have been well had he thought a little ere he attempted to influence seven votes in favour of the successful candidate for the office of Prov. Grand Treasurer. The reasons for Brother Turner's nomination were thoroughly explained and debated by a large number of the members of Prov. Grand Lodge, and it was most earnestly asserted that, although no man could be more highly esteemed or held in greater respect by Bro. Turner's friends than Bro. Armstrong, it was intended by this movement—the only means in our power—to express our disapprobation with the appointments made in Prov. Grand Lodge of brethren who, year after year, receive rank, to the exclusion of many of whom it has been openly stated by some of "the party," "We care not what work they do, so long as we are here they shan't enter." On these grounds, and these alone, the opposition to Bro. Armstrong—already a Past Prov. G.L. officer of some years' standing—was carried out.

So long as brethren find that years of service and good work fail to entitle them to the just and proper reward of their labours, so long will this protest—only just made, in an open and formal manner—against a system that is fast carrying the Prov. Grand Lodge of West Lancashire into disrepute, be repeated.

A large majority of the brethren in Liverpool have expressed their determination to support a petition to the Grand Lodge of England for authority to form a new province, to be called "South Lancashire," and it has been decided to carry this out, as it is generally believed, if the power be continued in the hands of the present purple-holding obstructives to advancement, the direct results must follow.

Let the purple brethren weigh this matter in their minds, and recommend those "Wily" ones who have the ear of the ornamental Masons of the Provincial Grand Lodge to advise a speedy change, lest they be "Allpassed" into another province.

The writer of the second letter is easily disposed of. Take heed, good Di Crankin; attend your club less frequently, or we may yet have to inscribe upon a tablet to your memory:—

Whist, O Brother!
Kind fortune frown'd upon the ponderous Lanky;
In an evil hour
He trumped his partner's trick,
And died Cranky.

Fraternally yours,
ONE OF THE "MARK'D."

MASONIC LITERATURE.

There are among our readers, we believe, a goodly number of Free and Accepted Masons, to whom some information about the current literature of the Craft will prove interesting. Cromwell has its "Kilwinning Lodge of Freemasons," Bro. J. A. Preshaw being the W.M. It is matter for regret that we have not also a Masonic Hall in the town; but perhaps the proposed new Athenæum may be so constructed as to serve the purpose of a Masonic Lodge-room better than the present arrangement.

We have before us a couple of copies of a weekly journal published in London, styled THE FREEMASON, which is devoted to the publication of all matters connected with the Craft, and is duly recognised and authorised by the Right Hons. the Earl de Grey and Ripon, K.G., the M.W. Grand Master of England; the Earl of Zetland, K.T., M.W. Past Grand Master; the Earl of Rosslyn, the M.W. Grand Master Mason of Scotland; and the Grand Masters of many Foreign Grand Lodges. This weekly journal is exceedingly well got up, and is full of matter of the deepest interest to every member of the Brotherhood. It boasts a circulation of nearly half-a-million per annum. The subscription is 12s. a year (post free), payable in advance.

In America, too, Masonic journalism appears to flourish. At Springfield, Illinois, a monthly journal is published, styled The Masonic Trowel, which has a circulation of 20,000 monthly. The largest Masonic monthly in the world is published at St. Louis, Missouri, the editor being Bro. G. F. Gourley, Grand Secretary and Recorder of the four Grand Bodies of that State.

For many years Masonry has found a modest place in periodical literature; but it is only recently that the brethren have taken up the pen with a vigour almost equal to that with which they have for ages handled the mystic trowel. Of course the published literature of the Craft is not allowed to go beyond certain well-defined limits; the secrets of Masonry must not be divulged in any printed form. Judging from the samples we have before us, the conductors of THE FREEMASON are fully alive to their duty; and the interests of the Craft will be considerably advanced by their labours. We have not space for any lengthy extracts; but the articles are conceived in excellent spirit, and rendered with discriminating taste. The great hope and endeavour of the true Mason is to make the world a temple fit for the dwelling-place of the G.A.O.T.U. Masonic mysteries and lore we may not here enter upon; but we feel justified in commending THE FREEMASON to the attention of members of the Craft in New Zealand and the adjacent Colonies.—The Cromwell Argus, Cromwell, Otago, N.Z.

BOOTS of the Period at BLAKEY'S, Lime-street, Liverpool (under the Alexandra Theatre).—[Advt.]

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

THE CRAFT.

METROPOLITAN.

Lion and Lamb Lodge, No. 192.—The second regular meeting of this old lodge was held at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, on Thursday, the 2nd instant, Bro. George Kenning, W.M. and P.G.D. Middlesex, in the chair, ably assisted by his officers: Bros. F. Trott, J.W.; W. Goodyer, P.M., Treas.; J. G. Marsh, P.M., P.G.P. Middlesex, Sec.; George Abbott, S.D.; A. J. Dickinson, J.D.; Geo. Newman, I.G.; Thomas Cohu, D.C.; and E. King, P.M., Steward. The lodge having been opened in the first and second degrees, Bros. R. G. Putnam and J. Cook, being present, were duly passed to the degree of F.C. The lodge was then resumed in the first degree. The following gentlemen having been unanimously elected by ballot—viz., Messrs. W. J. Davis, F. Jacksons, J. G. Rollins, Henry Abbott, and F. Scott—were regularly initiated into the mysteries of this ancient Order. The ceremonies of passing and initiation were worked by the W.M., Bro. Kenning, in a most efficient manner. The Secretary introduced to the notice of the lodge the proposed testimonial to Bro. Binckes, in acknowledgment of his eminent services in connection with the Boys' School, to which fund the lodge voted the sum of two guineas; and we are glad to notice that the appeal from the Secretary of the Royal Benevolent Institution was not disregarded, the W.M. undertaking to represent the lodge in serving the office of Steward at the forthcoming festival. Amongst the brethren present, we noticed: Bros. E. Roberts, P.M.; J. G. Chillingworth, R. G. Dixon, W. Baker, R. E. Bright, S. Haynes, T. Fisher, E. Taylor, J. McKiernan, H. Davis, W. Putnam, George Parker, A. F. Iselton, J. B. Clements, W. Donne, C. Arkell, S. Lucas, A. C. Payne, B. Marsland, and J. Glinnan. The business on the agenda paper of the lodge having been disposed of, the lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned to its next regular meeting in December. The brethren then sat down to a sumptuous banquet in the pillar-room, which was well served in Bro. Spencer's usual good style, and gave general satisfaction. The W.M. proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, which were received in the most hearty manner, and ably responded to. The visitors present—viz., Bros. S. Rosenthal, P.M. 92; T. Knott, W.M. 1314; R. H. Williams, S.W. 1314; L. Cotterell, J.W. 173; W. Worrell, J.W. 766; J. Roberts, 193; J. Bance, S.D. 574; and A. Todd, 574—expressed themselves highly gratified with the genial reception and the hospitality given to them, for which this lodge is particularly famed. After having spent a very pleasant evening, the Tyler's toast brought the proceedings to a close at a very early hour.

PROVINCIAL.

DEVONPORT.—Lodge Friendship, No. 202.—This lodge having reached the 100th year of its existence, the event was celebrated by a banquet at the Oddfellows' Hall, Devonport. Previous to the banquet, the brethren met at the lodge, which was opened in due form by the W.M., Bro. J. Purse. On the entry of the R.W. Prov. G.M., the Rev. John Huyshe, the D.P.G.M., Bro. L. P. Metham, &c., Bro. Purse ten to the Prov. G.M. the chair.—The Prov. G.M. said he did not assume the gavel on this occasion because he thought their W.M. was unable to govern the lodge, but for a particular purpose—because he felt that the occasion of their now assembling was one of the most important that could occur in a man's lifetime, and certainly one that no one present would see again. They had come there to celebrate the centenary of their existence. They had arrived at a very considerable number of brethren, and they held a very high position in the province as supporters of the charities, and as being well-conducted Masons. Their lodge was one of the best in the district, and he considered it one of the highest. He congratulated them on having attained to a hundred years. How very great must be the difference between the first meeting of the lodge and their present meeting. When the lodge was first instituted, no doubt, the numbers they had were few, and they well knew that the charities of the Order were in abeyance, and that Masons did not practise that universal benevolence and charity which they now did. They stood forth now as an institution of fraternity, no longer laughed at by people, but looked up to by all who are not Masons, and greatly respected by all who are. It was impossible for a man to be a true Mason and to have in his heart the principles which ought to be in the heart of every Freemason, without glorying in that Order to which it was his privilege to belong. He was probably the oldest Mason there, having been one almost fifty years, and he could safely look back through that long vista and say he never regretted the moment when he was made a Freemason, for he owed to it some of the greatest friendships he had made in this world, which he hoped he should take with him into the Grand Lodge above. If they went on in the same glorious progress they had hitherto done, he could assure them, in their case also they would look back with gratification to the day when they were made Masons. Let them be able to say that the poor brother never held out his hand but he received a welcome and relief. The P.G.M. then thanked them for the attention with which they had listened to him, and returned the gavel to the W.M. amidst loud applause.—The W.M., after saying a few words, proceeded to close the lodge, and the brethren adjourned to the Oddfellows' Hall, where, with visitors and all, 105 sat down to the banquet, supplied by Bro. Hawton, of Devonport. After the banquet, the usual toasts were heartily honoured and some capital speeches made, the whole proceedings being carried out to the complete satisfaction of all.

LEICESTER.—St. John's Lodge, No. 279.—A regular meeting was held at the Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday, the 1st instant. Present: Bros. C. Stretton, W.M. (presiding); E. J. Crow, Prov. G.O., S.W.; Widdowson, Sec.; J. W. Smith, J.D.; J. Halford, I.G.; Gosling, Weare (P.M.), Shuttlewood, Blankley, Matts, Wilkinson, Barfoot (523), Deane (1007), Toller (P.M. 523), Sculthorpe (W.M. 523), C. Johnson (P.M. 523), Rev. W. T. Fry (523), and a number of other brethren. The R.W. Prov. G.M., Bro. Kelly, was also present, and by desire of the W.M. assisted in the ceremonies, which consisted of passing Bros. H. T. Kirby and C. E. Stretton. An apology for unavoidable absence was received from Bro. Dr. Pearce, J.W., and a letter from Bro. Roper, requesting his name might be removed from the list of subscribing members, was read. A letter was also read from the R.W. Prov. G.M., announcing his appointment of the Right Hon. the Earl Ferrers, of Staunton Harrold, in this county, as his Deputy Provincial Grand Master for Leicestershire and Rutland. The W.M. informed the brethren that the next Provincial Grand Lodge would be held at Loughborough on the 24th instant. Bro. Captain P. P. Goodchild was unanimously recommended for the office of Prov. Grand Steward. Three gentlemen were proposed as candidates for initiation. The lodge was then closed in due form, and the brethren proceeded to refreshment.

CARNARVON.—Segontium Lodge, No. 606.—A meeting was held on the 26th ultimo, at the Royal Hotel. Amongst the brethren present were: R. A. Jones, W.M.; R. Humphreys, P.G.S.B., S.W.; G. G. Bradbury, J.W.; J. W. Poole, S.D.; W. Hamer, J.D.; T. H. Nicolls, I.G.; W. D. Potter, P.M.; T. C. Roden, P.M., P.P.S.G.W.; W. Bulkeley Hughes, M.P., P.P.S.G.W.; J. R. Paynter, R. R. Williams, Hugh Thomas, John Pugh, J. B. Morgan, J. T. O. Richards, T. Thomas, R. Rowlands, T. S. Nicholls, T. G. Cowell, George Owen, L. H. Aronson, Ed. Humphreys; visitors, Wm. Y. Hardy (P.M. 384), H. Morgan (525, China), W. H. Carter (P.M. 897), W. Robinson (S.D. 384), M. Dyer (P.M. 284, 111), J. Owen (P.M. 384), Walter F. Hooper (P.M. 1198, Madras). The lodge was opened in due form, after which the ballot was taken for the following gentlemen: Chas. Rees, John Thomas, Robert Williams, and Wm. G. Owen, all of Carnarvon, who were unanimously elected. Messrs. Wm. Paynter, Chas. H. Rees, and Wm. G. Owen, were duly initiated. Bro. Robert Humphreys, S.W., P.G.S.B., was installed by P.M. Bro. Roden, P.P.G.S.W. It is needless to say that Bro. Roden performed this important ceremony in his useful and impressive manner. After the new W.M. had been regularly installed, saluted, and greeted according to ancient custom, he proceeded to invest the officers for the ensuing year as follows: Bros. J. W. Poole, S.W.; G. C. Bradbury, J.W.; Webb, Treas.; C. Foulkes, Sec.; T. H. Nicholls, S.D.; J. T. O. Richards, J.D.; Wm. Hayden, Org.; T. S. Nicholls, I.G.; and Bros. G. Owen, and John Lloyd, Stewards. The report of the audit committee was read, showing that the funds of the lodge were in a very flourishing condition. Hearty good wishes having been given from Lodges 384, 524, 1113, 1198, the lodge was closed. A very large number of the brethren then adjourned to a sumptuous banquet, provided in a most liberal and costly manner by Bro. Ed. Humphreys.

TOTNES.—Pleiades Lodge, No. 710.—The annual meeting was held at the Masonic Rooms, on Thursday, October 26th. Noon was the time named for commencing business, but it was half an hour later before the chair was taken by Bro. William Cuming, W.M., who opened the lodge, assisted by Bros. A. B. Niner, S.W.; Stafford, J.W.; Rev. J. Powning, Chap.; Presswell, Sec.; Pridham, I.P.M.; De Schmid, S.D.; Maye, acting as I.G.; Taylor, Org.; Past Masters Watson (Treas.), J. Heath, Marks, Dr. Hopkins, with many members of the lodge and visitors from Torquay, Paignton, Kingsbridge, &c. At a later period of the day many others arrived, among them Past Masters Owen, Oliver, Rev. R. Bowden, G. Heath. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The Secretary read the Treasurer's accounts, which showed a balance of upwards of £40 in favour of the lodge, besides arrears of dues, and also laid before the members the report of the Audit Committee. As in the latter several subjects were alluded to which appeared likely to cause much discussion not interesting to visitors, nor desirable in their presence, it was decided to postpone the consideration of it till the next meeting. Bro. Crocker was unanimously re-elected as Tyler, and Bro. Seale was admitted by ballot as a joining member. The lodge was opened in the second degree. Bro. Dr. Hopkins, P.P.G.S.W. for Warwickshire, having been deputed to officiate as Installing Master, took the chair. Bro. A. B. Niner was presented to him as W.M.-elect by the W.M. and the Chaplain, who, from a thorough knowledge of him as having been his instructor in early life, and from subsequent opportunities of watching his career spoke in high terms of his conduct and qualifications. The Installing Master, as his instructor in Masonic observances and rituals from the time of his admission to the rank of M.M., supplemented these remarks by testimony as to his zeal, ability and success in acquiring the requisite knowledge, by which he had rendered himself capable of performing the ceremonies of the three degrees, and congratulated him on his preferment. The preliminary forms having been gone through, the obligation of W.M.-elect was administered. The retiring W.M. then resumed his chair and opened the lodge in the third degree, after which all except the P.M.'s retired from the room. A Board of Installed Masters was constituted in due form, when Bro. Niner was re-admitted and regularly installed as W.M. by Bro. Dr. Hopkins. Bro. Cuming was invested as I.P.M., and the Board was formally closed. The Master Masons, Fellow Crafts, and Entered Apprentices, successively entered and took part in the salutations and procession which preceded the proclamations. The actual ceremony was concluded by the presentation to the W.M. of the charter, the Book of Constitutions, and the By-laws. The following were appointed and invested: Bros. Stafford, S.W.; Presswell, J.W.; Rev. J. Powning, Chap.; Maye, Sec.; Watson, Treas.; Westhead, S.D.; Goodridge, J.D.; Fowle, Dir. Cer.; Taylor, Org.; Drennan, I.G.; Scale and Middleton, Stewards; Croker, Tyler.—The Installing Master gave a special address to the brother who on that day vacated the eastern chair, thus: "Worshipful Immediate P.M. Cuming, before I proceed to the customary charges to the new officers, permit me to address a few special words to you. At this time last year you doubtless congratulated yourself on the attainment of the summit of a laudable Masonic ambition, and laid your plans for the year now expired, accompanied with resolutions as to the course you should pursue, and with a determination to earn the approval of your brethren on this day by the fulfilment of the pledges then given. When you were initiated into Freemasonry, you were charged to become 'an ornament to our Society.' Can any of us doubt that your conduct in the subordinate Masonic offices, as well as your demeanour to the outer world, entitled you to be considered as such? I am sure that I shall be supported by the brethren in giving a negative reply. When you were placed in the chair of King Solomon, you said that you were able and willing to fulfil the duties devolving upon him, and entered into a solemn obligation faithfully to perform them; and further, the Installing Master invoked the aid of the G.A.O.T.U. to enable you so to act as to satisfy your own conscience and to be of advantage to the lodge. There cannot be one among us who has witnessed your efforts but must acknowledge that the highest aspirations of yourself and your brethren, for ability and success on your part, have been realized to the full extent. It is under such an impression that I venture to congratulate you on becoming one of the permanent rulers in the Craft, by the occupation of the seat in which you have just been placed, and which you have so well earned. A good idea of the character of a lodge may generally be formed from the array of Past Masters regularly present in its assemblies. It remains therefore only to remind you of what too many fail in—an estimation of the importance of a continuance of efforts on behalf of our Order, by regular attendance and assistance to those who will succeed you in the first chair of the lodge. Should you carry out this obligation in the spirit you have manifested as to all others, you cannot fail to close your Masonic career, let us hope many years hence, with a consciousness of satisfaction to yourself and of having conferred benefit on the Fraternity in general. In conclusion, allow me to illustrate, Masonically, the jewel you are now entitled to wear as an emblem of your office, containing the 47th proposition of the first book of Euclid, the discovery of which is attributed to Pythagoras, and is said to have extorted from him the joyful exclamation, Eureka, I have found it. After the explanation of the jewel just referred to, the Installing Master gave the customary charges to the W.M., the Wardens, and the brethren of the lodge.—Bro. Dr. Hopkins gave notice of two propositions, with a view to obtain a more regular payment of subscriptions, for consideration at the next meeting. The lodge was closed at 2 p.m. After an interval of an hour and a half, those who had been present at the ceremony, and others, reassembled at the Seven Stars Hotel to partake of the annual banquet. The arrangements were very complete, a programme which had been prepared was strictly adhered to, the usual Masonic toasts were duly honoured, and the proceedings, which passed off with great éclat, terminated at about 8 o'clock, the party breaking up early owing to the exigencies of trains.

MARKET HARBOURGH.—St. Peter's Lodge, No. 1130.—The first annual Festival of this flourishing young lodge was held at the Assembly-room, Three Swans Hotel, on Friday, the 27th ult., the W.M., Bro. Wm. Kelly, R.W.P.G.M., in the chair. There were also present: Bros. Col. Sir Henry St. John Halford, Bart., S.W. and W.M.-elect; Rev. John F. Halford, M.A., J.W.; Rev. A. A. O'Neill (P.P.G.C. East Lancashire), Chaplain; W. H. Marris, P.M. and P.P.G.S.D., Secretary; F. Kemp, S.D.; J. H. Douglass, J.D.; T. Macaulay, M.R.C.S., I.G.; J. E. Dixon, Org.; H. Freestone, Steward; E. Clarke, Tyler; and Albert Pell, M.P., Rev. F. M. Beaumont, M.A., Dr. Grant, E. Fuller, J. Shovelbottom, J. Gibbs, J. Whitehead, J. Newton, jun., Joseph J. Harrison, Healy, Lewin, Lawrence, Wiggins, &c. Visitors: Rev. T. M. N. Owen, Chap., and Dobson, J.W., 455; T. Miller, W.M., and T. Butcher, Sec., 737; J. Mason Moore, 1085, P.G. Steward Derbyshire; George Toller, jun., P.G. Sec.; Dr. Clifton, J. Halford, and S. Cleaver, Leicester. Apologies for absence were received from the D.P.G.M. for Norths. and Hunts. (a frequent visitor of the lodge), and other brethren. Great regret was expressed at the absence, owing to sudden and dangerous illness, of the zealous and active Treasurer of the lodge, Bro. Robt. Waite, P.M. On the completion of the preliminary business, and a ballot having resulted in his favour, Mr. Willoughby Frederick Ellis, of Market Harborough, was duly initiated by the W.M., the musical chants, &c., being conducted by Bro. Dixon on the harmonium. Bro. Sir Henry St. John Halford, Bart., was duly installed by his predecessor according to ancient custom. R.W. Bro. Kelly, "as a slight memento of his official connection with the lodge as its first W.M. and P.M.," presented a silver jewel of office for the P.M., which was accepted with thanks. The W.M. then appointed and invested the following brethren as the officers for the ensuing year, viz., Wm. Kelly, Prov. G.M., P.M.; Rev. J. F. Halford, P.G.C., S.W.; F. Kemp, J.W.; Rev. Francis Morton Beaumont, Chaplain; James H. Douglass, Secretary; Thomas Macaulay, S.D.; Frederick Grant, J.D.; Jas. Edward Dixon, Org.; Edward Fuller and H. Freestone, Stewards; Joseph James Harrison, I.G.; E. Clarke, Tyler. Thanks for his services in the chair were voted to, and acknowledged by, Bro. Kelly, who (the printed abstract of the lodge accounts having been taken as read) proposed a vote of thanks to P.M.'s Waite and Marris for their services as Treasurer and Secretary, which was responded to by Bro. Marris, an earnest hope being expressed by both brethren for the speedy restoration to health of Bro. Waite. Thanks were also accorded to the P.G. Sec., Bro. Toller, P.M. 523, for his valuable aid in the duties of the lodge for the past year, and which that worthy brother suitably acknowledged. On the lodge being closed, about forty brethren sat down to an elegant banquet, the newly-installed W.M., Bro. Sir Henry Halford, of course, presiding, and by whom a plentiful supply of game and champagne was contributed. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, the healths of the P.G.M. and the W.M. being most cordially received. The toast of "The Right Rev. B: o. the Bishop of the Diocese and the Clergy of all Denominations in the Province," was ably proposed by Bro. Pell and wittily responded to by Bro. the Rev. T. M. N. Owen. The Tyler's toast brought a very pleasant réunion to a close at an early hour.

HAMPTON.—Burdett Lodge, No. 1293.—This lodge met at the Mitre Hotel, Hampton Court, on Saturday, the 28th ult. Bro. R. Wentworth Little, W.M., presided, supported by Bros. R. Kenyon, S.W.; George Kenning, J.W.; H. G. Buss, P.M., Treas.; W. H. Hubbard, P.M., Sec.; Major H. W. Palmer, S.D.; Capt. A. B. Donnithorne, I.G.; J. Self, M.D.; S. Rosenthal, D. R. Adams, R. Boncey, and E. Baxter, P.M.'s; H. Phythian, J. W. Sanders, J. W. Wiles, and other brethren, including Bros. Marsh and Walters as visitors. The only business was the elections for the ensuing year, which resulted unanimously as follows: Bros. Kenyon, W.M.; Little, Treas.; and Gilbert, Tyler. When the lodge was closed, the brethren sat down to a first-rate banquet, and passed a very agreeable evening together.

ROYAL ARCH.

METROPOLITAN.

Caveac Chapter, No. 176.—The installation meeting of this chapter was held on Thursday, the 2nd inst., at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, City.

The chapter was opened by Comps. P. A. Nairne, Z., P. Browne, H., and M. Scott, J., assisted by Comps. F. Walters, P.Z. and Treas., R. W. Little, P.Z., &c. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed, and the report of the Audit Committee, which showed that a good balance was in the hands of the Treasurer, was received and adopted. A ballot proved unanimous in favor of the admission of Bro. Louis Beek (205), who was duly exalted. Comp. F. Walters then installed Comp. Pemble Brown, Z., and Comp. Montagu Scott, H. The installation of Comp. R. S. Foreman as J. was deferred owing to his unavoidable absence. The other officers appointed and invested were Comps. F. Walters (5th time), Treasurer; T. Quhampton, S.E.; J. Hills, S.N.; J. C. Hall, P.S.; W. Holland, 1st A.S.; W. A. Hinde, 2nd A.S.; F. H. R. Godsell, D.C.; W. D. Barnett, W.S.; C. J. Speight, Janitor. The newly-installed M.E.Z. then, on behalf of the chapter, presented his predecessor with a splendid gold P.Z. jewel (a fine specimen of design and workmanship of Comp. Geo. Kenning), which was duly acknowledged by Comp. Nairne. A vote of thanks was passed to Comp. Walters, as Treasurer and Installing Principal, and the chapter was closed, the companions adjourning to banquet.

Domestic Chapter No. 177.—This old chapter met on Thursday the 25th ult., at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, under the presidency of the M.E.Z. Comp. W. J. Gilbert, and among other companions present were G. Wilson, H.; T. Cubitt, J.; H. G. Buss, P.Z., Treas.; R. W. Little, P.Z., S.E.; W. Carpenter, T. A. Adams, C. A. Cottebrune, J. Brett, E. Sisson, and C. B. Payne, P.Z.'s; J. R. Foulger, S.N.; J. W. Barrett, P. Soj.; A. T. Hayward and M. Scott, Asst. Soj.'s; J. Weaver, Org.; G. Bolton, J. G. Webb. Bro. Amos Treadwell of the Domestic Lodge, was duly exalted into Royal Arch Masonry, and the chapter was then closed. A banquet followed the work of the chapter, and the evening was most enjoyably spent by all present.

PROVINCIAL.

EASTBOURNE.—Hartington Chapter, No. 916.—The first regular meeting of this chapter was held at the Sussex Hotel, Eastbourne, on Wednesday, the 1st inst., at five o'clock. The chapter was opened in regular form, and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. Five candidates then presented themselves for exaltation, the ceremony being performed by Comp. Dr. Cunningham, Z., assisted by all his officers, who were almost perfect in the work. The by-laws having been agreed upon, the chapter was closed in solemn form, and adjourned till the first Wednesday in February. The companions afterwards sat down to a well-provided supper, at which they had the pleasure of seeing several distinguished visitors, who expressed themselves well satisfied at their instruction in chapter and entertainment afterwards.

MARK MASONRY.

Pannure Lodge, No. 139.—This newly-established lodge held its second meeting on Monday evening, the 6th inst., at the Balham Hotel, Balham, when were present the V.W. Bro. James Stevens, P.G.O., P.M. 104, W.M.; W. Bro. John Thomas, P.M., Prov. Grand Sword-bearer, Middlesex and Surrey, S.W.; W. Bro. Henry F. Huntley, Prov. Grand Standard-bearer, Middlesex and Surrey, J.W.; Bros. H. F. Hodges, M.O., Sec.; R. Huntley, S.O.; George Lilley, J.O.; Payne, S.D.; Maddern, J.D.; G. T. Smith, I.G.; Hellendean, Steward; and several members, together with W. Bro. S. Rosenthal, P.M., P.G.D.C.; W. Bro. Dr. Eugene Cronin, G.D., W.M. 104; and Bro. A. Southam, 104, visitors. The minutes of the consecration meeting having been read and confirmed the names of several brethren desiring advancement were mentioned, and the ceremony was then rehearsed by the W.M. and his officers, in order to secure a proper performance of their respective duties at the ensuing meeting when, after usual ballot, the proposed brethren will be duly advanced. The W.M. delivered the explanatory lecture of the degree, and exemplified to the brethren its application to their respective duties as officers. A most instructive and agreeable evening was spent in this manner, and its good result will doubtless be experienced in the perfect working of the lodge when it next meets to induct candidates for the degree.

ORDERS OF CHIVALRY.

RED CROSS OF CONSTANTINE.

JERSEY.—Concord Conclave, No. 8.—The annual assembly of this conclave was held at the Masonic Temple, on Tuesday, the 24th of October. The conclave was opened in solemn form by B. Sir Kt. P. W. Benham, P.S., in the unavoidable absence of the M.P.S., assisted by Sir Kts. Col. Malet de Carteret, Int. Gen. for the division of Jersey; Ed. D. Le Couteur, V.E.; Joseph Gregg, S.G.; Ed. M. Lott, H.P.; A. Schmitt, Rec.; J. Oatley, P.; A. J.

Boullier, H.; J. Blampied, Treas.; &c. After the confirmation of the minutes, the circular convening the conclave was read. Sir Kt. Comp. Lucas, of Conclave No. 7, was balloted for as a joining member, and unanimously admitted. The officers for the ensuing year were then elected as follows: Sir Kts. E. D. Le Couteur, M.P.S.; Ed. M. Lott, V.E.; Joseph Gregg, H.P.; John Oatley, S.G.; D. Le Geyt, I.G.; A. Schmitt, Rec.; John Blampied, Treas.; A. J. Boullier, P.; W. H. Long, Standard-bearer; Lucas, H.; and G. Rogers, Sec. The M.P.S.-acting opened a College of Viceroy's of the Order, when Sir Kts. Col. Ed. C. Malet de Carteret and Ed. M. Lott, V.E.-elect, were admitted to the Priestly Order. A Senate of Prince Masons and Sovereigns of the Order was then opened by the M.P.S., assisted by the Recorder, who enthroned the E. Sir Kts. Malet de Carteret and Ed. D. Le Couteur, M.P.S.-elect of the conclave, in the chair of C. The ceremony throughout was performed in a solemn and impressive manner. The members were admitted, and saluted their new chiefs. The M.P.S. then invested the elected Sir Knights in their respective offices. The M.P.S. now informed the conclave that the M. Ill. the G. Sov. was pleased to appoint the Ill. Sir Kt. Col. E. C. Malet de Carteret to the post of Intendant-General for the division of Jersey, at the same time requesting the Recorder to proceed with the ceremony of his installation as such. The Ill. Sir Kt. Malet de Carteret was then presented to the Installing Officer by Sir Kt. Benham, who caused the commission nominating him to that exalted post to be read. The Recorder, after having expressed, in the name of the conclave, the unanimous and cordial ratification of the appointment, performed the ceremony of installing and obligating the Intendant-General in due form. He was then proclaimed as such for the division of Jersey, and saluted accordingly. It was moved by the Recorder, seconded by the Intendant-General, and resolved by acclamation, "That a most cordial vote of grateful thanks be recorded in the minutes to E. Sir Kt. P. W. Benham, P. Sov., in recognition of the valuable and graceful services he has rendered to this conclave, not only in faithfully and religiously discharging his onerous duties thereof as M.P.S. for three consecutive years, but also for the energy and untired exertions he has displayed during that period to promote the harmonious prosperity of the conclave, as well as to preserve the prestige and dignity of the Order." The conclave was closed in love and perfect harmony.

LIVERPOOL.—Liverpool Conclave, No. 55.—By order of the M.P.S., Gen. Sir Kt. J. Kelleit Smith, the Sir Knight companions of the Liverpool Conclave, No. 55, of the Masonic Order of Knights of Rome and of the Red Cross of Constantine, were summoned to attend an assembly of the conclave at the Adelphi Hotel, Lime-street, on Thursday, the 26th ult. The enthusiasm shown at the first meeting of the conclave was again displayed at the second by the attendance of a great number of Sir Knights. Gen. Sir Kt. J. K. Smith, M.P.S., occupied the chair of C., and amongst those who answered to the roll-call were: Ill. Sir G. Turner, Int.-Gen. West Lancashire; Sir Kts. J. R. Goepel, V.E.; J. B. Robinson, S.G.; H. M. Molyneux, J.G.; R. Washington, H.P.; J. Wood, Treas.; H. James, Recorder; T. Clark, Prefect; E. Hughes, Orator; J. Skeaf, Organist; W. Crane, Herald; H. Nelson, S.S.; P. Ball, Sentinel; Moses Mawson, D.C.; G. H. Wilson, A. Pickup, W. Doyle, J. B. Mackenzie, R. Brown, H. Scott, J. Lloyd, J. E. Jackson, A. Jarvis, J. J. Rose, J. S. Robertson, I. W. Robinson, S. Hague, &c. Invitations had been sent to the Int.-Gens. for neighbouring provinces, but business engagements prevented them from being present, and Sir Kt. C. F. Matier, P. Sov. of the Palatine Conclave, No. 50, Manchester, was the only visitor present. The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale was on the list of approved candidates for installation, but his lordship had sent a most brotherly note to the M.P.S. regretting his unavoidable absence, in consequence of his attending the funeral of a niece. Lord Lindsay was also on the list for joining, but he also was absent. The conclave having been opened with solemn ceremonial and according to ancient custom, the Recorder read the minutes of the previous assembly, which were approved. Out of the sixteen approved candidates, the following six brethren presented themselves for installation, and, after the ballot, were duly installed: S. Johnson, L. Archdeacon, G. D. Urquhart, G. H. Turner, Cron, and McDowell. The conclave was subsequently closed in peace and harmony, after which banquet was served, to which about thirty Sir Knights sat down. The M.P.S. gave the toasts of "The Queen and Royal Family" and "The Earl Bective, M.I.G.S., and the Officers of the Grand Conclave," which were duly honoured. Ill. Sir Kt. Turner proposed "Sir Kt. T. N. Williams and Grand Officers of the College of Viceroy's," which was acknowledged by Sir Kts. Goepel and Matier. —The M.P.S. said he had great pleasure in giving "The Health of their Intendant-General, Sir Kt. Turner," and he was certain the toast would be received with the greatest cordiality. It was certain they could not be presided over by a better man, and he had used his best efforts to bring the conclave into its present position. While regretting the absence of Lord Skelmersdale, and sympathising with him in the circumstances which kept him away, the M.P.S. expressed his conviction that his lordship would soon be amongst them for installation. He could hardly speak too highly of the work which Sir Kt. Turner had done on behalf of the conclave, and, therefore, he was sure the toast would be honoured as it deserved to be.—Int.-Gen. Sir Kt. Turner, in responding, said that so long as he had the good opinion of his fellow-men, he would feel satisfied; and he was very proud of the success which had attended that conclave. He would not say that he wished to die in harness, or keep his office as long as his health continued, because he thought that those who were deserving should have a share of the honours; but he would endeavour to do his best for the conclave while he held his present position. They were perfectly aware that he was a defeated candidate, but in allowing himself to be nominated for the office of P.G. Treas., he wished to establish a principle, and that was, that the only elective office in the hands of the brethren should be filled by them, and not by the votes of a self-elected body, who dictated as to who should fill certain offices. He wished it to go forth that he did not think the P.G.M. so liable for this state of things as those who advised him wrongly. In a large province like West Lancashire changes should frequently be made in the officers, and there were many who desired and hoped for better things. He was sure the brethren would succeed in their efforts in this respect if they went about it in a proper and Masonic spirit. He held no man in higher esteem than Bro. Armstrong—(hear, hear)—but as he had been in the G.L. for many years, he ought to give place to others not similarly honoured. He did not wish to say anything uncharitable about those who opposed him, but he must protest against the manner in which his Masonic position had been attacked by them, a position which he was prepared to maintain.—“The M.P.S.’s Health” was proposed by Sir Kt. Turner, and acknowledged in eloquent terms, and after a number of other toasts, the Sir Knights adjourned.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending November 18, 1871.

MONDAY, NOV. 13.
Lodge 59, Royal Naval, Freemasons’ Hall.
,, 193, Confidence, Anderton’s Hotel, Fleet-street.
,, 222, St. Andrew’s, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
Chap. 22, Mount Zion, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-st.
,, 720, Panmure, Horns Tavern, Kennington.
Mark Lodge, Panmure (139), Balham Hotel, Balham.
Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John’s Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern, Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30; Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
St. James’ Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street (opposite Pantheon), Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. J. R. Stacey, Preceptor.

Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. Dilley, Preceptor.
St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, NOV. 14.

Lodge 46, Old Union,
Lodge 96, Burlington, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-street.
,, 166, Union, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
,, 180, St. James’s Union, Freemasons’ Hall.
,, 198, Percy, Ship and Turtle Tav., Leadenhall-st.
,, 211, St. Michael’s, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-st.
,, 228, United Strength, Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John’s Gate, Clerkenwell.
,, 235, Nine Muses, Clarendon Hotel, New Bond-st.
,, 548, Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
,, 917, Cosmopolitan, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-st.
,, 933, Doric, Anderton’s Hotel, Fleet-street.
Red + Conclave, Plantagenet, No. 2, Caledonian Hotel, Robert-street, Adelphi.
Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, Preceptor.
Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John’s Tavern, St. John’s-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman’s-yard, at 8.
Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, Gladstone Tavern, Bishopsgate-st. Within, at 7.30; Bro. Bolton (W.M. 1227), Preceptor.
St. Marylebone Lodge of Instruction (1305), British Stores Tavern, New-street, St. John’s Wood, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 15.

Grand Stewards’ Lodge, Freemasons’ Hall.
Lodge 30, United Mariners, George Hill, Aldermanbury.
,, 140, St. George’s, Trafalgar Hotel, Greenwich.
,, 174, Sincerity, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street.
,, 190, Oak, Freemasons’ Hall.
,, 700, Nelson, Masonic Hall, Woolwich.
,, 1044, New Wandsworth, Spread Eagle Tav., New Wandsworth.
,, 1150, Buckingham and Chandos, Freemasons’ Hall.
Chap. 217, Stability, Anderton’s Hotel, Fleet-street.
Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales’ Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7.30.
Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Lindus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, NOV. 16.

Lodge 23, Globe, Freemasons’ Hall.
,, 49, Gihon, Guildhall Coffee House, Gresham-st.
,, 55, Constitutional, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-st.
,, 63, St. Mary’s, Freemasons’ Hall.

Lodge 169, Temperance, White Swan Tavern, Deptford.
,, 179, Manchester, Anderton’s Hotel, Fleet-street.
,, 181, Universal, Freemasons’ Hall.
,, 733, Westbourne, Lord’s Hotel, St. John’s Wood.
,, 1139, South Norwood, South Norwood Hall.
,, 1278, Burdett Coutts, Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park.
,, 1287, Great Northern, Great Northern Htl., King’s Cross.

The R.A. Chapter of Improvement, Freemasons’ Hall, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor. Ceremony, illustration of Banners and Ensigns, and part sections.
Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses, Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Panmure Lodge of Instruction (720), Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7; Bro. John Thomas, Preceptor.
Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers’ Tavern, Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
United Mariners’ Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
St. George’s Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.

FRIDAY, NOV. 17.

House Committee Boys’ School.
Lodge 143, Middlesex, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street.
,, 201, Jordan, Freemasons’ Hall.
,, 813, New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton.
,, 975, Rose of Denmark, White Hart, Barnes.
,, 1118, University, Freemasons’ Hall.
Chap. 92, Moira, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.’s, Freemasons’ Hall, at 7.
Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Htl. Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Mugeridge, Preceptor.
Robert Burns Lodge of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, at 8; Bro. Wm. Watson, Preceptor.
Burgoyne Lodge of Instruction, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales’ Road, N.W., at 8.
St. Luke’s Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
United Pilgrims’ Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd’s-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
St. James’ Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
Burdett Coutts Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West Smith, Preceptor.

SATURDAY, NOV. 18.

Lodge 715, Panmure, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street.
,, 1297, West Kent, Forest Hill Hotel, Lewisham.
,, 1329, Sphinx, Stirling Castle Tavern, Church-st., Camberwell.
Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. J. Comb, Preceptor.
Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 7.30; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.

REPORTS OF LODGES 511, 597, 959, 1134, 1319, 1331, will appear in our next.

Every Person requiring an OUTFIT should send for

“THE OUTFITTER:”

Published and forwarded, on receipt of 3 stamps, by

GANN, JONES & Co.,

WHOLESALE MANUFACTURING OUTFITTERS.

For Military Outfits, estimates, &c. ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Shirts of all descriptions ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Naval “ “ ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Hosiery and Underclothing ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Civil Service “ “ ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Rugs and Umbrellas ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for the Traveller ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Waterproof Clothing ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for the Emigrant ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Tropical “ “ ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for Lads going to School ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Canadian “ “ ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for Lads going to Sea ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Cricketing “ “ ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Outfits for an Apprentice ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Collars, Shirt-fronts, Wristbands... see THE OUTFITTER.
For the New Books of the Quarter ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For Prices of Gann, Jones & Co.’s Sewing Machines see THE OUTFITTER.
For Routes to principal parts of the World ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For the New Machine, “The Lady” (£2 15s.) ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Distances, Passenger Rates, &c., to ditto ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For the leading Machines of all Makers ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Cricketing and Athletic Reports for the Quarter, see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Leading Manufacturers ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Prices of Gentlemanly yet Economic Dress ... see THE OUTFITTER.		For the Addresses of Enterprising Tradesmen ... see THE OUTFITTER.
For Prices of the Very Best Shirts ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.	For the Addresses of Good Schools ...	... see THE OUTFITTER.

Depot, 171, FENCHURCH STREET. Manufactory, 15 and 16, BLOMFIELD STREET, E.C.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGE
REVIEWS—
The Old Constitutions, &c. ... ..	703
The Educational Places of Amusement in London... ..	703 & 704
FREEMASONRY AND ISRAELITISM ... ..	704 & 705
THE PHILOSOPHY OF FREEMASONRY ... ..	705 & 706
ILLUSTRATIONS OF THE HISTORY OF THE CRAFT ... ..	706
THE FOOTSTEPS OF MASONRY ... ..	707
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS ... ..	708
MASONIC HISTORIANS ... ..	708 & 709
MULTAM IN PARVO ... ..	709 & 710
ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE—
“Merit and Ability” ... ..	710
The Purple in West Lancashire ... ..	710 & 711
“The Fair Sex and Adoptive Masonry” ... ..	711
POETRY—
“Our Nautical Brother” ... ..	711
THE “FREEMASON” LIFE BOAT MAINTENANCE COMMITTEE ... ..	711
SCOTLAND—
Glasgow ... ..	711
THE PURPLE IN WEST LANCASHIRE ... ..	712
THE CRAFT—
Metropolitan ... ..	712
Provincial... ..	712 & 713
MARK MASONRY—
Metropolitan ... ..	713
Provincial ... ..	713 & 714
ORDERS OF CHIVALRY—
Red Cross of Constantine ... ..	714
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ... ..	714
ADVERTISEMENTS ... ..	701, 702, 715, & 716

Reviews.

The Old Constitutions belonging to the Ancient and Honourable Society of Free and Accepted Masons of England and Ireland, &c.; edited by the Rev. JOHN EDMUND COX, D.D., F.S.A.; P.G. Chaplain, &c. London: Richard Spencer, Great Queen-street.

(Continued from page 663.)

The usual traditional account of the origin of Masonry is given at page 4, &c., as follows:—

You ask me how this Science was invented; my Answer is this, That before the General Deluge, which is commonly called Noah's Flood, there was a Man called Lamech, as you may read in the Fourth Chapter of Genesis, who had two Wives, the one called Ada, the other Zilla; by Ada he begat two Sons, Jabal and Tubal, and a Daughter called Naamah. These four children found the beginning of all Crafts: Jabal found out Geometry, and he divided Flocks of Sheep, and Lambs; he first built a House of Stone and Timber. Tubal found out Musick; Tubal found out the Smith's Trade or Craft, also of gold, Silver, Copper, Iron and Steel; Naamah found out the Craft of Weaving. And these Children knew that GOD would take Vengeance for Sins, either by Fire or Water, wherefore they did write these Sciences, that they had found, on two Pillars of Stone, that they might be found after that GOD had taken Vengeance; the one was Marble, that would not burn, the other was Latrass, that would not drown in Water; so that the one would be preserved, and not consumed, if GOD would any People should live upon the Earth. It resteth now to tell you how these Stones were found, whereon the said Sciences were written, after the said Deluge: It so pleased God Almighty, that the Great Hermarmes, whose Son Lunie was, who was the son of Sem, who was the Son of Noah. The said Hermarmes was afterwards called Hermes, the Father of Lunie, he found one of the two Pillars of Stone. He found these Sciences written thereon, and taught them to other Men. And at the Tower of Babylon, Masonry was much made on; for the King of Babylon, who was Nemorth, was a Mason, and serv'd the Science; and when the City of Ninevah, and other Cities of the East, should be built, Nemorth sent thither Threescore Masons, at the Desire of the King of Ninevah; and when they went forth, he gave them a Charge after this manner, That they should be true one to another, and love one another, that he might have Worship by them in sending them to his Cozen the King. He also gave them Charge concerning their Science; and then it was the first time that any Mason had Charge of his Work. Also Abraham, and Sarah his Wife, went into Egypt, and taught the Egyptians the Seven Liberal Sciences; and he had an ingenious Schollar called Euclydes, who perfectly learned the said Liberal Sciences.

It happen'd in his Days, the Lords and States of the Realm had so many Sons unlawfully begotten by other Men's Wives, that the land was burthen'd with them, having small Means to maintain them withal; the King understanding thereof, caused a Parliament to be called or summoned for Redress, but being so Numberless that no Good could be done with them, he caused Proclamation to be made through the Realm, that if any Man could devise any Course how to maintain them, to inform the King, and he should be well rewarded; whereupon Euclydes came to the King, and said thus, My noble Sovereign, if I may have the Order of Government of those Lords Sons, I will teach them the Seven Liberal Sciences, whereby they may live honestly like Gentlemen, provided that you will grant me Power over them by virtue of your Dominion; which was immediately effected, and there Euclydes gave them these Admonitions following:

- I. To be true to their King.
- II. To be true to the Master they serve.
- III. To be true, and love one another.
- IV. Not to miscall one another, &c.
- V. To do their Work so duly, that they may deserve their Wages at their Master's Hands.
- VI. To ordain the wisest of them Master of the rest of the Work.
- VII. To have such reasonable Wages, that the Workman may live honestly, and with Credit.
- VIII. To come and assemble together in the Year, to take Council in their Craft how they may work best to serve their Lord and Master, for his Profit, and their own Credit, and to correct such as have offended.

Note, That Masonry was heretofore term'd Geometry, and sithence the Children of Israel came to the Land of Bethest, which is now called Emens, in the Country of Jerusalem, where they began a Temple, which is now called the Temple of Jerusalem: And King David loved Masons well and cherish'd them, for he gave them good Payment, and gave them a Charge, as Euclydes had given them before in Egypt, and further, as hereafter followeth; and after the Decease of King David, Solomon his Son finished the Temple that his Father had began; he sent for Masons of divers Nations, to the Number of Four and Twenty Thousand of which number Four Thousand were elected and created Masters and Governors of the Work. And there was a King of another Region or Country, called Iiram, who loved well King Solomon, and he gave him Timber for the Work; and he had a Son called Amon, and he was Master of Geometry, and he was chief Master of all his Masons, of Carving-Work, and of all other Work of Masonry that belong'd to the Temple, as appears by the Bible in Lib. Regum Chap. 4. And King Solomon confirmed all Things concerning Masons, that David his Father had given in Charge; and then Masons did travel divers Countries, some to augment their Knowledge in the said Art, and to instruct others.

And it happen'd that a curious Mason named Memongreus, that had been at the building of Solomon's Temple, came into France, and taught the Science of Masonry to the Frenchmen; and there was a King of France called Carolus Martel, who loved greatly Masonry, who sent for the said Memongreus, and learned of him the said Sciences, and became one of the Fraternity; and thereupon began great Works, and liberally did pay his Workmen: He confirm'd unto them a large Charter, and was yearly present at their Assembly, which was a great Honour and Encouragement unto them; and thus came the Science into France.

The Knowledge of Masonry was unknown in England until St. Alban came thither, who instructed the King in the said Science of Masonry, and also in Divinity, who was a Pagan: He walled the Town now called St. Alban; he became in high Favour with the King, insomuch that he was Knighted, and made the King's Chief Steward, and the Realm was governed by him under the said King. He greatly cherished and loved Masons and truly paid them their Wages Weekly, which was 3s. 6d. the Week. He also purchased for them a Charter from the King to hold a General Assembly and Council Yearly. He made many Masons, and gave them such a Charge as is hereafter declared.

It happen'd presently after the Martyrdom of St. Alban, who is truly term'd England's Proto-Martyr, that a certain King invaded the Land, and destroy'd most of the Natives by Fire and Sword, that the Science of Masonry was much decay'd, until the Reign of King Athelston, which some write Adleston, who brought the Land to Peace and Rest, from the insulting Danes. He began to build Monasteries, built many Abbies, and other Religious Houses, as also Castles and divers Fortresses for Defence of his Realm. He loved Masons more than his Father; he greatly study'd Geometry, and sent into many Lands for Men expert in the Science. He gave them a very large Charter, to hold a Yearly Assembly, and Power to correct Offenders in the said Science; and the King himself caused a General Assembly of all Masons in his Realm, at York, and there made many Masons, and gave them a deep Charge for Observation of all such Articles as belonged unto Masonry, and delivered them the said Charter to keep; and when this Assembly was gathered together, he caused a Cry to be made, that if any of them had any Writing that did concern Masonry, or could inform the King of any Thing or Matter that was wanting in the said Charge already delivered, that they or he should shew them to the King, or recite them to him; and there were some in French, some in Greek, and some in English, and other Languages, whereupon the King caused a Book to be made, which declared how the Science was first invented, and the Utility thereof, which Book he commanded to be read, and plainly declared, when any Man was to be made a Mason that he might fully understand what Articles, Rules and Orders he was obliged to observe; and from that time unto this Day Masonry hath been much respected and preserved, and divers new Articles have been added to the said Charge, by good Advice and Consent of the Masters and Fellows.

(To be continued.)

The Educational Places of Amusement in London. James Hogg & Son, York-street, Covent-garden.

This little work is one of the few which agreeably blend instruction with pastime, and no one can regret the time spent in its perusal. Nearly every object of interest in or near the metropolis—nearly every exhibition, museum, picture gallery, or famous public building—is noticed, more or less; and the work is embellished with twenty-four engravings of the principal sights. As a specimen, we extract the following condensed account of St. John's Gate—a site, which is almost as interesting to the Freemason as to the antiquarian:—

“That little valley must have been a delightfully rural spot, with its numerous springs of sparkling water, its tiny dells and fairy glades, mantled in glittering verdure. When the Valley of the Fleet was really outside of London it was wont to be a place of great resort upon holiday occasions; it was there the city clerks (gentlemen in holy orders) amused the innocent cockneys by acting sacred plays, near the well from which the district takes its name. Many a picturesque group of human beings must have giving life and variety to the landscape in this valley during the reign of the sturdy Tudors, when the ‘lords of creation’ were swells in doublets and trunk hose, and the ‘girls of the period’ made charming by being decked out in farthingales, furbelows, whalebone cases, and stiff-starched collars!

“There have been many change: in the social

FREEMASONRY &amp; ISRAELITISM.

BY BRO. WILLIAM CARPENTER, P.M. &amp; P.Z. 177.

XXII.

I feel much indebted to an anonymous brother, who, at page 664 of THE FREEMASON of 28th October, has favoured us with his thoughts on "The Israelitish Origin of the Anglo-Saxon Race." On a subject so interesting and important, and which, as he observes, "has puzzled the learned for many generations," every contribution intended for its elucidation should be received with thankfulness, and be read and studied with care. I am, of course, gratified to learn that one who has not only given a good deal of attention to the subject, but who has also ransacked libraries and examined works, ancient and modern, to obtain information thereon, should, in great measure, adopt my conclusions, which have been worked out without the important aids of which he has had the opportunity of availing himself, not any of them having been within my reach while writing the papers on "Freemasonry and Israelitism." I have, no doubt, missed many important points in the inquiry, both because I have been unable to give the time necessary to the full discussion of the subject, and because I have, all along, felt that I was occupying a very large space in THE FREEMASON, which might reasonably have been claimed by others. But I had not overlooked the point on which our brother has dwelt in his very interesting paper; that is, the completeness of the deportation of the Israelitish nation by their Assyrian conquerors. That point presented itself to my mind at a very early stage of the inquiry, and I made some progress in collecting the data for estimating the numbers occupying the land at the time of the final conquest of Samaria. For the reasons already adverted to, however, I put them aside, and assumed what I ought, perhaps, to have attempted to prove. The same reasons compel me to abstain from making the attempt now; but a few words on the subject may not be without their use, and I interrupt the regular course of investigation to offer them here.

Our brother, taking, as I do, "his stand on the Bible," will permit me to call his attention to the fact, that, not only is the national captivity of Israel—that is, such a deportation of the people as should extinguish the nation, as a nation—threatened as the consequence of their prolonged disobedience to the requirements of the Divine law, and their addiction to the foul practices of idolatry, but it is also attested by the pen of the sacred historians. When the wife of Jereboam went to consult the prophet Ahijah, as to what should befall the child and hope of the king, the old prophet, looking forward to the time when the Divine judgment should fall on Israel, for going after and making "other gods and molten images," and casting their covenant God "behind their back," uttered, under Divine inspiration, as the sequel shows, this terrible threat: "The Lord shall smite Israel, as a reed is shaken in the water; and

He shall root up Israel out of this good land, which He gave to their fathers; and shall scatter them beyond the river, because they have made their groves, provoking the Lord to anger" (1 Kings xiv. 15, 16). No chosen words could, I think, more explicitly declare the deportation, not of "the flower of the land" only, but of the nation itself. It would not be necessary that every individual should be carried away, to justify the interpretation I put upon these words. But it would be necessary that so large a proportion of the nation should be rooted up and carried off, as should utterly extinguish it, as a nation. With this the language used by the writer of the second Book of Kings fully agrees, for, after describing the enormities of which the people were guilty, "selling themselves to do evil in the sight of the Lord," he says, "Therefore the Lord was very angry with Israel, and removed them out of His sight; there was none left, but the tribe of Judah only. . . . And the Lord rejected all the seed of Israel, and afflicted them, and delivered them into the hand of spoilers, until he had removed Israel out of His sight, as he had said by all his servants, the prophets. So was Israel carried away out of their own land into Assyria, unto this day" (chap. xvii. 18-22). It has been pertinently observed, that the words, "unto this day," lead to the conclusion, that this portion of the history was not drawn up until some considerable time after the destruction of the kingdom of Samaria—a conjecture which seems fully confirmed by the last verse in the chapter, which thus describes the conduct of the heathen colonists of Samaria: "Lo, these nations feared the Lord, and served their graven images, both their children and their children's children; as did their fathers, so did they unto this day" (ver. 41). If we take the time of three generations, literally, the statement was probably written in the reign of Josiah; but if, as is likely, the phrase is used only to summarily describe several generations, it is probable that this portion of history was compiled after the return from the captivity, and not later than the days of Ezra and Nehemiah. If so, we have a biblical testimony, says a writer in the Journal of Sacred Literature (vol. 1, p. 202), later than the return from the Babylonian captivity, to the important fact, that captive and exiled Israel still resided, as a distinct and separate body from Judah and Benjamin, in the remote lands in which their fathers had been located by their Assyrian conquerors. It is to be observed, too, that this was the Jewish historical tradition, long after the close of the Scripture canon, for Josephus, in the eleventh book of his Jewish History, written about A.D. 93, says, with reference to the return from captivity of those who came back with Zerubbabel: "The entire body of the people of Israel (the ten tribes) remained in that country (beyond the Euphrates); wherefore there are but two tribes in Asia and Europe subject to the Romans, while the ten tribes are beyond the Euphrates till now, and are an immense multitude, not to be estimated by numbers." This shows, at least, the probability of the opinion, that the Jewish historical tradition concerning the removal of the ten tribes beyond the Euphrates, and their continuance in those eastern regions, as a separate and distinct people from Judah and Benjamin, had remained unchanged from the day in which the latter portion of the seventeenth chapter of the 2nd Book of Kings was penned, even unto the time of the Christian era; or I might bring it down to the fourth century, by quoting Jerome, who says, in his notes on fashions of the civilised world since Edward I. and his lovely bride Eleanor found a quiet retreat in the Priory of St. John; and the old systems which regulate the affairs of men and nations have been frequently revolutionised since Wat Tyler and his undisciplined band of patriots made the Priory pass through the ordeal of their insurrectionary fires in 1381. St. John's Gate was not erected to be a mere ornament to the Priory, like the lodge to a gentleman's hall; its great strength and large proportions were well calculated to enable it to resist a powerful besieging party. As time wore on and the 'muscular Christianity' of the Knights Templars had become unfashionable, and the Priory, as a religious institution, had ceased to exist, the good old gate was left to battle against time and the innovations of a restless people.

"About the middle of the last century Mr. Cave, the printer and publisher of the Gentleman's Magazine, carried on his business in the apartments of the gate, three of which are of considerable size. After that great egotist and literary autocrat Dr. Johnson came to London, he found occasional employment at the gate. For some time after coming to town we have reason to believe that he had a hard struggle to keep soul and body together; and, though he suffered much for the importunities of his stomach, his false notions of manly independence were often the means of keeping his dental machinery out of healthy employment. Mr. Cave, who was said to have been a man of kindly feeling, had occasionally some difficulty in getting the surly self-willed doctor to take the goods the gods had sent him in the shape of food. While at the gate, the doctor's life was not all gloom after his old schoolfellow Garrick came to town, though they were both struggling for a living; they spent many happy hours together, and as the world with its blank and prizes was all before them, they frequently found comfort in speculating upon their chances in the great lottery of life. It was in one of the rooms of the gate that Garrick submitted his dramatic powers to the critical judgment of his friend. We believe that it was during the time the doctor was engaged in writing for the Gentleman's Magazine that he became acquainted with Goldsmith.

"The first number of the Gentleman's Magazine was published in 1731. How long Mr. Cave continued in business at St. John's Gate we have not learnt; but when he removed, another change in the character of the business carried on there took place. The gate-house at the present time, and beyond the memory of the 'oldest inhabitant,' has been a licensed place of refreshment.

"The late Mr. Benjamin Foster, who occupied the gatehouse during several years, was a man of considerable talent, and had a decided taste for ancient lore. While acting in the capacity of landlord, he compiled a very interesting history of the gate and the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem. This work is both tastefully and artistically illustrated. He had copies of these illustrations handsomely framed in chronological order, and hung round the walls of his public-room, and to these were added valuable drawings and the portraits of many eminent men who were contemporary with the ponderous lexicographer. In this room, too, there is a plain, wood-bottomed armchair, which is still retained as a relic of the doctor.

"St. John's Gate is not only a landmark between civilisations of a very dissimilar character, but it remains a living memorial of a society whose name and fame hold no small space in the pages of the world's history. The gate is now kept by a son-in-law of the late Mr. Foster. He is also a man of antiquarian tastes, and has done much to decorate the house with souvenirs of the past. To people with archaeological predilections the interior of the building will afford no ordinary treat; there is certainly no other house in London in which a stranger will find himself surrounded with so many associations of the past history of both the Knights of St. John and their once magnificent and richly-endowed Priory."

Altogether, we can safely commend this book as one of the best literary shilling's worth we have seen for a very long time.

Hosea, "The ten tribes inhabit, at this day, the cities and mountains of the Medes." But it is not only in the Book of Kings, and in Josephus and Jerome, that we thus read of the deportation of the ten tribes, as of the deportation of the whole kingdom. Jeremiah thus describes the desolating character of the predicted judgment that was coming upon Judah: "And I will cast you out of my sight, as I have cast out all your brethren; even the whole seed of Ephraim" (Jer. vii. 15). I might refer to other passages in the historical books, in confirmation of the total extinction of the nation, by the deportation of the people, but it is not necessary to do so. The passages I have quoted are so free from ambiguity, and seem so plainly to set forth the total deportation of Israel, that no one who takes his stand on the Bible, and gives to language its proper force and meaning, can resist, as it appears to me, the conclusion I have suggested. The difficulty which presents itself in the way of this theory is "the transportation of such an immense body of people, with all their impedimenta, a distance of from 800 to 1000 miles." But what shall be said of the invasions of Egypt by Cambyses and Xerxes?

I cannot help thinking, however, that the numbers of Israel assumed to have been carried away at the final overthrow of the kingdom have been greatly over-estimated. A reference is made to the number of men slain, and of women and children taken captive, by Pekah, king of Israel, in a war with Ahaz, king of Judah, only a few years before the captivity. But that furnishes no reliable data, I think, for estimating the numerical strength of the kingdom of Israel. When we call to mind the facts, that for the long space of 200 years, or more, the kingdom had been incessantly involved in internal and external feuds and wars, in some of which famine added numerous victims to those of the sword, Samaria having been once reduced to so dire a condition that women were, as in the subsequent siege of Jerusalem, reduced to the almost inconceivable condition of eating their own children; and that it had been, during all that time, in a condition of growing degeneracy, the people becoming more and more effeminate; and not only thus, therefore, reduced in number by wars, insurrections, and deterioration of character, but by the sacrificing of their young children, which they evidently did, in large numbers, in their idolatrous rites, we can hardly avoid the conclusion, that the number of the slain and captives of Judah which are stated to have fallen and been led away by Pekah, requires some correction. Nor is this a solitary instance in which such correction seems called for. There are several passages in which errors in numbers present themselves in our present text. Thus, 50,070 persons are said to have been smitten by the Lord in the small town of Bethshemesh (1 Sam. vii. 19), because they had profanely looked into the ark of the Lord; a thing, one might say, impossible to have been done by so large a number, in so short a space of time, even if they were to be found in the place. In the book of Judges (xii. 6) we read, that 42,000 men of Ephraim were slain by the Gileadites; and (1 Sam. xiii. 5.) that the Philistines had 30,000 chariots of war; and so, in this narrative of the wars between Israel and Judah, Pekah is said to have slain, in one day, 120,000 valiant men of Judah, and to have taken prisoners 200,000 women and children (2 Chron. xxviii. 6-8). Surely, we need not hesitate to say that each of these several numbers is incredible, as are others that might be referred to. But this is only what might be expected, if the Hebrew numerals were employed, the similarity of some of them being so great that nothing is more likely than that transcribers should, occasionally, have fallen into error, by substituting one for another. But the fact is, that we do not know what mode of notation was employed by the Israelites, or other Oriental peoples. Nothing, in truth, is more perplexing than this question of numbers, in both sacred and profane history. In my large edition of Calmet's Dictionary, I have dealt with the subject at some length, availing myself of the very ingenious investigations and conjectures of Charles Taylor, as advanced and elaborately illustrated in his "Fragments." But whatever the numbers of Israel in the time of Ahaz were, it appears to me almost beyond reasonable doubt that they were comparatively few in the reign of Hoshea, when Samaria was taken, and the remainder of the people carried away. The country had been so far over-run and desolated by Pul and Tiglath-Pilezer, and so much further depopulated by internal wars and the calamities attendant upon such occurrences—a considerable portion of the people, too, having been already transported to Assyria, while many others probably took refuge in the cities of Judah, and many more had taken their departure for more distant places—that, when, in the first year of the good Hezekiah's reign, he had made preparations for celebrating a great passover, and sent invitations to the Israelites to unite with Judah and Benjamin in the solemn festival, he did so in these words: "Turn again unto the Lord, and He will return to the remnant of you that are escaped out of the hands of the kings of Assyria" (2 Chronicles xxx. 6). This, be it remembered, was before the final invasion of the land by Shalmaneser, so that the "remnant" consisted of those who had survived the desolating invasions of Pul and Tiglath-Pilezer, and other subsequent and unrecorded inroads. And it was this very "remnant" which, before the lapse of many years, was to be slain or carried captive by the army which finally captured the kingdom of Samaria. Now, if before the invasion of Shalmaneser, and in the first year of Hezekiah, the Israelites who had survived the desolations and captivities of Pul and Tiglath-Pilezer were regarded as a "remnant" only, the scattered few who, in the sixth year of Hezekiah, survived the capture of Samaria, and the final overthrow of the kingdom of the ten tribes, and who still remained in the land, were only the scanty remnant of that "remnant." Precisely the same conclusion is to be drawn from the fact of heathen colonists having been sent into Samaria, by the Assyrians, instead of the children of Israel (2 Kings xvii. 24), nor less from the fact, that, even after these foreigners were sent to colonise the land, it was so scantily peopled that wild beasts multiplied and slew many of them (2 Kings xvii. 25).

But although I thus think that the number of people whom Shalmaneser found in Israel, at the time he laid siege to Samaria—or, rather, whom Sargon, who appears to have finally taken it, found there—was not so great as to have presented any insuperable difficulty in the carrying of them to Media, I do not, as I have already intimated, reject our anonymous Brother's conjecture, that, in addition to such of Israel as remained in Judah on going up to celebrate Hezekiah's passover, and those who took refuge there on the approach of the army of Shalmaneser, others escaped by means of the ships of the Phœnicians, that people being involved in one common ruin with the Israelites. Some of these, probably, as the Rev. F. Glover conjectures, reached Ireland, and there settled down, giving birth to some of the ancient kings of that country. The whole subject is full of interest, and it may be hoped that the desire now being manifested to elucidate it will bring to light such facts as may place beyond all reasonable doubt our Israelitish origin. I await, with pleasurable anticipation, the further communications of our Brother, as a valuable contribution towards it.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF FREE-MASONRY.

CHAPTER FIRST.

LIBERTY—EQUALITY—FRATERNITY.

(Continued from page 680.)

Fraternity appeals at once to the sympathies of man. All men, as children of the dust, are brothers; brothers, whether born in the purple or hodden grey, subjects of the same ills that flesh is heir to, victims to the same vicissitudes of fortune. Disease spares not the noble in his castle; passes not the peasant in his humble cot. Nature confers her gifts to no particular section of society. Her brightest children have sprung from the ranks of the people. In fact, all great leaders of the world, all initiators of new thoughts, have no noble origin to boast of. When flatterers thought, by a pretended noble pedigree, to win the favour of the great Napoleon, he simply laughed at their folly, and while honours were conferred on the whilome almost-forgotten holy Napoleon, he remarked that the order of things had been reversed, and that the sinner had benefited the saint. Watt, Newton, and Stephenson were of the people. Nelson was no noble. Tell could boast of no blazoning. Among the ancient nations we find the same law in force. Mahomet founded a new religion by the sole power of his native genius, and empires were called into existence by men whose origin was obscure and common-place. So despotic is nature, that we seldom see a clever son succeed a clever father, and seldom that two of the same family rise to eminence. There are exceptions to this, as to every other rule; but these exceptions only prove it. The brotherhood of mankind has been universally accepted, and societies have been formed wherein the sacred name has been consecrated. Even among the savage nations, brother is a word of honour bestowed upon the stranger, a symbol of a wide-spread relationship and of a common origin.

In Freemasonry, the word has a sacred and peculiar meaning. A participant in the mysteries is taken from the profane, and becomes one of the elect. He becomes to us of a nearer and dearer tie. Our interests are bound up in his. His fortunes and misfortunes become ours. We mourn with him in his sorrows, and rejoice with him in his joys. Our ears are open to the voice of his supplications, our hearts melt at his tale of sorrow, and our hands open to relieve his wants. In sympathy, in charitable relief, as Freemasons, we can claim a pre-eminence over other societies, for, while rules curb these, and certain qualifications are necessary before the applicant can be provided for, the poor brother has only to present himself at our doors to find immediate assistance. In relief, there is no question of Freemasons neglecting their duties; but there is something else wanted to make our claim to brotherhood perfect.

It would be a work of supererogation to point out that many brethren are in needy circumstances, that there are many brethren who systematically live upon the Craft; but it is also true that there are many brethren who, by accidents of fortune, are compelled to seek assistance, who would rather, by employment, earn money wherewith to provide for their wants. Now, this is a point in which, as yet, no steps have been taken. Money, in thousands of pounds, can be easily raised for Freemason charitable purposes, but are there not many Masons who would rather die than accept of such pecuniary assistance, and yet who would gladly accept the hand offered to procure them the means of earning their own livelihood. Money is, at best, but a temporary relief. It often acts as a temptation to the recipient to abandon labour altogether, and the trade is one easy to learn, to start in the world as a Masonic cadger. We have many boards of relief. Why not add to these one of employment? A brother could then accept of relief, distinctly understanding that from his earnings the sum advanced him should be returned. In this manner the money subscribed for charitable purposes would be of more utility, and many brethren would be prevented descending into the lower and abject scale of beggars, while the feelings of others would be spared the sting of receiving charity.

Freemasonry also extends the hand to those who wish to retrieve their positions. Man is fallible, and he who sayeth he standeth should take peculiar heed that he do not fall. We are told upon the authority of the Great Teacher, that our brother should be forgiven, although he sin against us for the seventy-and-seventh time. Man, generally, is an unforgiving animal, but, as Freemasons, mercy should overrule all our actions. As brethren, we should strive to reclaim the erring, and to lead back to the principles of rectitude those who may have strayed from the path.

ERROL.

"AND so ye have taken the teetotal pledge, have ye?" said one Irishman to another. "Indeed I have, and am not ashamed of it either." "And did not Paul tell Timothy to take a little wine for his stomach?" "So he did; but then, my name is not Timothy, and there's nothing the matter with my stomach, bedad."

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London." Also, makers of Epps's Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk).—[Advt.]

ILLUSTRATIONS of the HISTORY of the CRAFT.

BY A MASONIC STUDENT.

CHAPTER IV.

Whether or no the Roman guilds were so arranged by Numa Pompilius, or Servius Tullius, matters very little, but there is no doubt that, from a very early epoch, the artificers of Rome were formed into guilds, or corporations—"collegia, sodalitates." One statement of the historians deserves our notice: that the original members of the Building Collegia were Greeks.

From a comparison and careful collation of authorities, we are warranted in thus summing up the Roman evidences:—

The lodges, or "maceriæ," were held in secluded rooms or buildings exclusively appropriated to the purpose, and most of the lodges had schools attached to them for the instruction of the apprentices and inferior workmen.

These lodges had their regular meetings and peculiar ceremonies, generally monthly. Their proceedings took place in secret. They met, we are told, to admit new members, to regulate the affairs of the college, and unfold their teaching in art and science. The members took an oath mutually to assist each other, and indigent members received relief during their lives, and at their death were buried at the expense of the "arca communis," or common chest. Three members formed a collegium; hence the saying, "Tres faciunt collegium," an adage entirely in accordance with our own Masonic traditions and usages.

They kept a register of their members, some of which are still extant (Schauberg, Krause, Lenning), and these members were known to each other by signs and words.

They also paid monthly contributions. The members of these colleges were exempted "a muneribus publicis" and "immunes" from taxes and service to the municipalities and the state. Hence, probably, the real origin of the word Free-Mason.

According to Vitruvius, the College of Architects admitted none into their mystery but their own children and relatives, though they elected, from time to time, honorary members, as "patroni perpetui," or "honorati, ad lecti honorati," and even ladies were admitted as "honoratæ matroux"—honorary members and patrons.

The names of their officers are preserved on many inscriptions (Gruter, Spon, Orelli). Their masters were called magistri "præfecti," or quinquennales, as elected for five years; their wardens, decuriones; their elders, seniores; secretaries, scribæ; priests, sacerdotes collegii; keepers of the archives, tabularii; messengers, erantistas; serving brethren, viatores, or servos; and flag-bearers, signiferos.

The members were called "fratres" (a corrupt Latin word for brethren), and collegiati, or collegæ, and sometimes "sodales."

One inscription still declares that the collegium commemorated yearly its foundation, "diem natalem," by a feast for the members at the common cost—a custom not altogether unknown to the present members of our excellent Order.

As regards their ritual and mystical teaching, nothing has so far been discovered, or has survived, but many emblems have been found on the tombs of Roman Masons, members of these collegia, which are clearly identical with our own. There, may still be seen, as well as on tessellated floors and mural paintings, the square and compasses, the gavel and plumb-rule, the sprig of acacia, and five-pointed star.

Guitere, in his remarkable work, preserves some most wonderful epitaphs and inscriptions. On one, for instance, though unhappily mutilated, we have recorded many names of members of the collegium—its "præfecti" and "quinquennales," its "honorati," and its "scribæ." On another, we have a list of "patroni," of "quinquennales perpetui," of "quinquennales," and a long list of members, "ad lecti." One epitaph records that the person has been "bis electus quinquennalis," and another that he has been "ter electus," whilst there are constant mention of "quinquennales," or "præfecti perpetui," as well as "patroni perpetui."

A Greek κοινωνία of builders, so late as the time of the Emperors, records its existence at Rome, and we hear, more than once, of the "marmoræ sodales."

As far as can now be made out, the full name of the collegium of builders was "Collegium Fabrorum." Some writers think that they were also sometimes called "Dendropæri," while others have alluded to the frequent epitaphs of the "tignariorum centonariorum"; but, on the whole, the evidence seems to preponderate in favour of the simpler appellation, "Collegium Fabrorum."

That such corporations existed amongst the Roman municipalities in Italy and Gaul, Germany and Britain, up to the fall of the Roman empire, seems to admit of not the slightest doubt, and may be proved in a variety of ways.

In one of the famous Pliny's (Plinii Epistolæ, Gesneri Annot. Lib. x., Epistle xl.iii.) letters to the Emperor Trajan, there is an interesting proof, if proof were wanting, of the existence and importance and secret organisation of such an order, and, incidentally, of the custom of admitting honorary members even then:—

"Plinius Trajano Imperatori.

"Tu Domine despice, au instituendum putes, collegium Fabrorum, duataxat hominum 150; ego attendam ne quis nisi Faber recipiatur, neve jure concessio in aliud utatur."

The Emperor refuses the request, and alleges as a reason, "sed meminiverimus provinciam istam, et præcipiæ eas civitates, ab ejus modi factionibus esse vexatas."

A remarkable witness, surely, to the power and actual customs and usages of such secret confraternities!

That these collegia came over into England may be proved from monumental evidence.

There is still extant in Chichester the oldest, so far, Roman inscription known, which is a tablet declaring that the "collegium Fabrorum" in this country "had erected a temple to Neptune and Minerva." This is the first proof, so far, of associated artificers in England.

Later proof is, however, supplied by Musgrave's learned work ("Julii Vitalis Epitaphium," &c. Guil. Musgrave, 1711) of such a sodality in this country.

In Sir F. Palgrave's interesting work, the "History of the Anglo-Saxons," referring to the Roman occupation of this country, we find the following most striking and apposite passage:—

"Each city, or 'municipium,' contained various colleges or companies, or guilds of trades and artificers, and if I were a Freemason, which I am not, I should, perhaps, be able to ascertain whether the Lodge of Antiquity at York is, as the members of the Craft say, a real scion from the noble stock, existing through so many changes."

Here, however, I must stop to-day, and hope to resume this interesting subject in Chapter V.

We learn that the Provincial Grand Master of Leicestershire and Rutland, Brother Kelly, has appointed Bro. the Right Hon. the Earl Ferrers, P.M. of No. 779, to the office of Deputy Grand Master of the Province, and that his lordship will be installed at the Annual General Communication of the Provincial Grand Lodge, to be held at Loughborough, on Friday, the 24th inst.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Lumbago, Rheumatism, Tic Doloreux, all excruciating pains of the muscles and nerves are relieved with astonishing rapidity by the use of this extraordinary Ointment. The affected parts previously fomented with warm water, have only to be briskly rubbed with this soothing unguent to obtain instant ease. The Pills much assist in banishing the tendency to rheumatism, and similar painful disorders, whilst the Ointment cures the local ailment. The Pills remove the constitutional disturbance, and regulate every impaired function of every organ throughout the human frame. The cure is neither temporary nor superficial, but permanent and complete, and the disease rarely recurs, so perfect has been the purification performed by these searching yet harmless preparations.—[Advt.]

THE FOOTSTEPS OF MASONRY; OR,
Freemasonry in relation to Authentic History.

By BRO. W. VINER BEDOLFE, M.D., J.W. 1329,
Hon. Sec. Sphinx Lodge of Instruction.

(Continued from page 666.)

The chief object we have hitherto endeavoured to point out is, that Masonry is essentially a "Municipal" Institution; and in further allusion to our "cavern of bones," we may remark that this fact constitutes the "backbone" fragment on which, as on a foundation, the "basis and superstructure" of our argument rests.

I can well recollect when, a youthful geologist, I found in the "clayey grounds," or lias formations, near Clifton, my first copper-encrusted "vertebra." Almost instantly I had compared my newly-found treasure with a fish vertebra, on the one hand, and, on the other, with a mammiferous one. It was at once clear I had found a reptile vertebra of the Saurian kind, and the animal, in all its conditions, was at once created to my apprehension.

Now, as one chief division of animals is into "backbone and spineless" (or, "vertebrate and invertebrate"), so one chief division of civil societies and institutions has been into municipal and patriarchal.

This point of genuine affinity once ascertained, the entire family relations are established, and its history and conditions of existence at once determined. In all its relations, Masonry is identified with "municipality."

We have also further pointed out, that (1st) municipal institutions are essentially Roman, and (2nd) that institutions of this kind, and customs founded by the great and wise King Numa, still exist.

It is further to be remarked, and constantly borne in mind, that, being a municipal society, it is essentially a "human," in contrast to a "Divine" institution, and that, in its higher or speculative character, it is philosophical, and not religious. It is, in fact, on this basis that its practical utility rests, and its recognition of the especial unity of philosophic ideas common to all mankind which ensures its universality.

It was on the model of this municipal system that the Abbé Sieyès founded his Imperial Republic for the first Napoleon—viz., that the lower grades should elect the highest officer, the highest officer, in turn, nominate the inferior ones; and this continues the mode of election in our lodges.

Our object in the present chapter is to continue the investigation and study of the minor fragments, and show, one by one, the analogy of our present principles and practice with those of the ancient municipal institutions. And in order to explain the signification of the more familiar actions and symbols, we may first inquire to what philosophic sect Numa belonged.

Since the time when fabled Prometheus stole celestial fire to animate the hearts of mortals, men have belonged to one sect or other of philosophy. Now, the doctrines of Numa resembled those subsequently taught by Pythagoras, and by whom he regulated his life and actions. In fact, Numa was both a learned man and founder of institutions—at once the Moses and Lycurgus of his people.

"These doctrines supposed that the Supreme Being was not an object of sense, or capable of any suffering or infirmity, but was incorruptible and invisible, to be comprehended only by the mind;" and Numa forbade the Romans to represent the Deity in the form of man or beast.

Hence, Masons believe in one God, who created all things, and by whom all things exist. To this Supreme Being all our lodges are consecrated, and they are, in fact, traditionally considered as proper places for the exercise of certain devotional ceremonies, as, for example, being placed due east and west, ceremonial prayers and vows may be offered therein.

CONSECRATION OF LODGES.

Probably, no ceremony of Freemasonry may be looked upon as more ancient than that solemnity with which a lodge is consecrated. It must be ancient or very modern indeed, for ignorance could not have invented it. Corn, oil, and salt were used in the ancient consecrations, and carried in procession by going round the building, precisely as is adopted now in the consecration of a Masonic lodge.

It is a law of institutions, as of nature, that everything, whether of good or evil, should bear the impress of its Creator, and the use of these substances and the mode of consecrating are identical with the inculcations of Numa.

The Pythagorean precept was, "No sacrifice shall be performed without meal;" and Numa forbid them to be celebrated by a cruel effusion of blood, but that they should consist chiefly of flour, oil, and libations of wine, such being (says Plutarch) chief proofs of His universal bounty to all; and Numa's laws, as further stated, by Pliny, expressly declare "that the Gods shall be worshipped with these things"—"puge et salsa molâ"—with fruits and unleavened bread.

Customs last long, for the Romanists (who still give to the consecrated bread the same name, mass, or "mola," as did the first Pontifex Maximus) make the consecrated wafer in the same manner as Æneasis said to have done, when, in his descent into hell, he bribed Cerberus with a cake made of honey, oil, and flour. "Melle soporatam, et medicatis frugibus offam, objecit"—Virgil, Lib. 6, 420.

Here, then, in the consecration of our lodges to the Deity, we do what Numa expressly instituted, and we do it in the same way, as custom and tradition has handed down, even to the present day. Had King Solomon directed such a consecration, he would have appointed burnt offerings; but our lodges are consecrated in accordance with the laws of Numa.

THE SYMBOL OF THE CENTRE.

A very important object in connection with Masonic ceremonial, worship, and working is the symbol of the centre: That "sacred symbol in the centre of the building which alludes to the G.G. of the U." We have also an older form "burnt to ashes in the centre," evidently alluding to "fire." It is a term which greatly puzzles young Freemasons.

As before stated, the philosophy of Numa resembled that of Pythagoras. Now, Pythagoras distinctly and clearly taught the doctrine of the roundness of the earth, and of its motion round a "centre," afterwards worked out by Copernicus.

Among the numerous temples built by Numa, was the Temple of Vesta, and which he intended for the reception of the sacred symbol "fire." It was first in the form of a vast globe—not to represent the figure of the earth, but the frame of the universe—in the centre of which the Pythagoreans suppose to exist the "sacred fire" emblematical of "God," the "Grand Geometrician of the Universe," for the Pythagoreans, says Plutarch, hold that "the earth has a circular motion around the 'central fire,'" and there is no evidence to the contrary but that the reference to this in our second degree dates from this early epoch.

It was also the opinion of Plato that the earth was placed at a distance from the "centre," for that, being a principal place, was reserved for some more noble and refined Being.

Here, then, is the explanation of the Masonic "centre." Our older, and, no doubt, more correct form, has the sentence, "burnt to ashes in the centre, and when that centre is supposed to be a fire, it gives the phrase a still stronger meaning, for it is fire that purifies. It may also allude to the worship of Baal; but would an Israelite have taught such doctrine or instituted such forms?

THE TRIANGLE.

It was to keep this "symbolic fire" burning in the Temple that Numa instituted the "collegium or lodge" of vestal virgins, and it, no doubt, has left a characteristic mark in Masonry; for, should this fire have been extinguished, it was necessary to renew it by obtaining a pure and unpolluted flame from the sun.

This, Plutarch says, "they kindle by means of such a parabolic figure, or instrument, as is formed by the revolution of a rectangular triangle, and by means of such the rays of the sun were reflected to a focus." Hence a triangle may be considered emblematic by that Divine Fire, the Deity, which enlightens and enlivens the world, as emblematically does the W.M. the lodge, and which emblem the Perfect or Past Master still carries.

"THE SITUATION OF THE W.M. IN THE EAST, AND WHY OUR LODGES ARE SO SITUATED."

In all times peculiar dignity, sanctity, or both, have been attributed to the east, and, consequently, the "effigies" or image of the Deity was placed at the east end of the Temple, the priest being stationed in front, as in Romish churches, and probably if the triangle occupied its ancient position as emblematic of the "Triune God," to whom our Masonic ceremonial worship is paid, it should be placed above and behind the W.M.

The immediate reason, however, why our W.M. is seated in the east is this, that in the Roman Basilicæ, or halls of justice, the judge presided at the east end, the people sitting around the hall. On the sides were arranged small "convenient rooms adjoining the lodge," and much as they now exist, under the name of "chapels," in Romish churches.

The Basilicæ now signifies the cathedral church of the bishop, who thus (as did the ancient Roman judge) gives sentence "from his official seat," or "ex cathedra."

The "east end" having thus been the seat of honour in the ancient Roman institutions, tradition has evidently handed the custom down to our lodges of the present day.

My object in continuing this identification of the "fragments" is to show that all we do, say, or even think, has its prototype in Roman institutions, and which will become more special and striking as we proceed.

OUR LODGES ARE OPENED AND CLOSED WITH RELIGIOUS WORSHIP.

Now, we are distinctly told by Plutarch that, in establishing his "collegia," or lodges, Numa gave to each forms of religious worship.

In the municipal (and other) institutions of Rome, the "Magister," or Master, presiding sat in his curule chair, as above stated, at the east end, and before opening and closing his court, offered prayers, and if a candidate was to be proposed, addressed the people; but Livy, the authority for this fact, does not mention the prayer.

At the period here mentioned, the distinction between priest and laic was not so definite as it is now. The Vestal Virgin put off her sacred character when forty years of age, resuming her civil character, and priests were appointed by the civil power, for, in Cicero's oration for Milo, Milo is represented as going on a certain day to Lanuvium to appoint a priest. Hence, a layman could officiate.

We are also informed that, before transacting any public business whatever, the Romans performed religious worship, and all institutions, from the Senate downwards, were always opened with solemn prayer, according to a set form; and as this custom continues unchanged in our lodges unto the present day, may not our prayers be based upon the old ones? Whether they are so, or not, the custom is identical.

As an illustration, and to show the spirit of our great and royal founder in his religious and social habits, I cannot do better than quote the words of his chief historian: "In Numa's reign every one applied himself to industry, to the quiet education of his children, and, above all, to the worship of God. Festivals, social banquets, mutual benevolence, kind entertainments of friends, visiting, and conversing freely without fear or jealousy, became the practice in all Italy."

Can we, then, wonder that an Institution formed in such an age, and by such a founder, should still exist, and, existing, retain some vestige of that sacred fire which illumined its birth. What life could better illustrate our principles of Faith, Hope, Charity, Brotherly Love, Relief and Truth, than the life of our royal founder?

In our next we shall continue the investigation.

TO ADVERTISERS.

THE Circulation of THE FREEMASON being now at the rate of nearly Half-a-million per annum, it offers peculiar facilities to all who advertise.

It is well known that the Fraternity of Freemasons is a large and constantly increasing body, mainly composed of the influential and educated classes of society; and as

The Freemason

is now the accepted organ of the Brotherhood in the United Kingdom, and also enjoys an extensive sale in the colonies and foreign parts, its advantages as an advertising medium can scarcely be overrated.

For terms apply to

GEORGE KENNING,
198, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.

NOTICE.

The Subscription to THE FREEMASON is now 10s. per annum, post-free, payable in advance.

Vol. I., bound in cloth ... ..	4s. 6d.
Vol. II., ditto ... ..	7s. 6d.
Vol. III., ditto ... ..	15s. 0d.
Reading Cases to hold 52 numbers...	2s. 6d.

United States of America.

THE FREEMASON is delivered free in any part of the United States for 12s. per annum, payable in advance.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferred to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

DEATH.

KLEIN.—On the 6th instant, at No. 47, Princes-street, Leicester, in the 84th year of his age, Bro. John Frederick Klein, of Dusseldorf, and formerly of Finsbury-square, London; a P.M. of the Emulation Lodge, 21, a Past Grand Steward, &c.

All communications for THE FREEMASON should be written legibly on one side of the paper only, and, if intended for insertion in the current number, must be received not later than 10 o'clock a.m. on Thursdays, unless in very special cases. The name and address of every writer must be sent to us in confidence.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price of THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the EDITOR, 98, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him but cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

MASONIC HISTORIANS.

No. IV.

FREDERICK DALCHO, M.D.

THE following is the title-page of the volume from which we have made quotations in evidence of the character of Dr. Dalcho's works: "Orations of the Illustrious Brother Frederick Dalcho, Esq., M.D. Reprinted by permission of the author, under the sanction of the Ill. the College of Knights K.H. and the original Chapter of Prince Masons of Ireland. Dublin: Printed by John King, Westmoreland-street, 1808"

(pages iv., 33, and 103; title-page copper-plate engraving). The first of these orations was delivered by Dr. Dalcho in the "Sublime Grand Lodge of South Carolina, in Charleston, on the 21st March, A.D. 1803, before the members of that lodge, the Symbolic Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, and a considerable number of visiting brethren." The author was an Inspector-General under the "Ancient and Accepted Rite," and was favourably known early in this century as a defender and supporter of the Hautes Grades, and the second was addressed to the same body subsequently. An appendix is likewise inserted.

So much by way of explanation! Now for the work itself. The author observes, "I am of opinion that the ancient Society of Free and Accepted Masons was never a body of architects; that is, they were not originally embodied for the purposes of building, but were associated for moral and religious purposes" (p. 11, part 1st). It is rather strange that the earliest documents known relating to the Craft connect the Fraternity with "building," and all we know of historical Freemasonry induces us to believe that the Society was founded for operative purposes, although, undoubtedly, they were also "associated for moral and religious purposes," as their charges abundantly prove.

In accordance with the fanciful notions on Freemasonry with which the author favoured his audience at Charleston, we are not surprised to find the following: "The term mason is derived from the Greek, and, literally, means a member of a religious sect. . . . The reason of the term Free being prefixed is probably derived from the Crusades, in which every man engaged in the expedition must have been born free, and under no vassalage or subjection. The term Accepted is derived from the indulgence granted by the Pope to all those who would confess their sins and join in the enterprise for the recovery of the Holy Land. . . . This subject is well understood by those brethren who have received the 20th degree" (p. 12). We can only add, if so, then save us from the degree, and from accepting such an origin for Freemasonry!

The learned doctor, when descanting on the objects of Freemasonry, is more at home, and, evidently, is better suited to be a moral philosopher than a historian. He says: "To cultivate peace and goodwill towards men, to improve the general condition of mankind, and to worship the only true and living God in fervency and truth, are among the indispensable obligations of Freemasons." His advice to the Fraternity as respects their conduct, habits, pursuits, friendships, aims, and future life, is, indeed, valuable, and as he endeavours to promote everything that would tend to maintain the "key-stone of our mystical fabric—charity," however much we may disagree with him respecting the origin of the Fraternity, we will cheerfully acknowledge the purity of his motives, the power of his eloquence, and the excellence of his morality. He asks: "What sight can be more acceptable in the eyes of God, whom we adore—what object more gratifying to the feelings of humanity—than an extensive society of benevolent men, established for the great purposes of relieving the distresses of their fellow-creatures; of softening the sorrows of the widowed heart, and of offering protection and support to the helpless orphan; rocking in the cradle of poverty and woe; of breaking asunder the iron bands of the prisoner, and cheering his sight with the blaze of the noontide sun; of exchanging the cell of his loathsome dungeon for the possession of liberty, that choicest blessing in heaven's gift; and, in short, established for the purpose of confirming man in his worship of the Deity, and of offering, to the ripening youth of our country, a living example of virtue, science, and benevolence. Such, my respectable brethren, are the purposes for which the societies of Freemasons were founded, and such are the principles which should govern the professors of the mystic science." He also observes, truly: "That our associations are not attended with the happy advantages I have here described is attributable, not to the profession, but to the professors. We have it in our power to become everything that is great and good; but, unfortunately, many, I fear, when their curiosity is gratified by initiation, think everything is attained, and give themselves no further concern than that of procuring the decorations of the Order. Pleased with the sounding title of Free and Accepted Mason, they neglect to study those sublime and important truths which form its basis, and remain as ignorant of the principles of the Order, and the derivation of the symbols, as if they had never been initiated." This was true in 1803, and it is equally true now. Dr. Dalcho declares, "the brethren of the three first degrees are called Blue Masons, from the colour of their decorations; and Symbolic Masons, from the persuasion that their mysteries are, at this time, preparatory to the superior degrees." The former statement is true, but the latter is most erroneous, as the three degrees were symbolic long before the institution of the "superior degrees." After questioning some of the circumstances narrated in our lectures, and exposing their error, as also recommending an alteration in the ritual, to secure uniformity in connection with accuracy, he remarks: "The road to truth, particularly with subjects connected with antiquity, is generally choked with fable and error, which we must remove, by application and perseverance, before we can promise to ourselves any satisfaction in our progress. Because a story has been related in one way for an hundred years past, is not, alone, sufficient to stamp it with truth; it must carry, on the face of it, the appearance of probability, and if it is a subject which can be tried by the evidence of authentic history, and by just reasoning from established data, it will never be received by an enlightened mind on the ipse dixit of any one."

After such a sensible view of historical research in Freemasonry, we feel disappointed in finding so much of precept and so little of example. Dr. Dalcho says: "It is a source of infinite satisfaction to us that we are enabled, in the sublime degrees, to arrive at the knowledge of the original system, and there to view, with unceasing delight, the development of those circumstances on which symbolic Masonry was established" (page 39, part 2). That this is acting contrary to the principles he himself has laid down as the rule to be followed in studying Masonry, must be evident to all who have examined the subject. How absurd to suppose that the degrees in question (which were manufactured years after symbolic Masonry) actually enable its votaries to "arrive at the knowledge of the original system." Craft Masonry knows no superior in its own sphere, and beyond its pale, ancient Freemasonry is not to be found—so that the folly of expecting more light as to its history from extraneous sources, than from its own records, must be plain to all. We do not deny the excellence of the "sublime degrees," and are ready at once, in many respects, to admit their superiority, but, Masonically, our faith begins and ends with the "Craft." Dr. Dalcho, we think, makes a great mistake in supposing Craft Masonry to have been instituted as preliminary to initiation into the philosophical, chivalric, and religious degrees. The author considers that, "The peculiar manner in which the three first or blue degrees are given, as well as the matter of them, clearly evince them to be merely symbols of the superior or sublime degrees. They were formed as the test of the character and capacity of the initiated, before they should be admitted to the knowledge of the more important mysteries." We can only admit the truth of the foregoing by acknowledging that the brethren who, in A.D. 1717 (and for a few years afterwards), divided Freemasonry into degrees, and enlarged its ceremonies, &c., knew not their object in so doing, and were in ignorance as to what Masonry was then, or before that period; and that it has been reserved for some members of the Society, about a century later, to discover what really were the motives that actuated the early members of the Fraternity! Dr. Dalcho actually states that, from authentic records of the Ancient and Accepted Rite, the "sublime and ineffable degrees of Masonry were established in Scotland, France, and Prussia immediately after the first Crusade." He also declares, "They fell into neglect until the year 5748 (A.D. 1744), when a nobleman from Scotland visited France, and re-established the Lodge of Perfection in Bordeaux" (page 58, part 2). These statements are contrary to fact. No degrees of Masonry were known until after the Revival of 1717, and the "hautes grades" came into existence subsequent to this period. The probability is, the year 1744, referred to by Dr. Dalcho, witnessed their birth. Dr. Dalcho's faith is something extraordinary, as may be gathered from the following, which concludes his notes: "The sublime degrees are the same at this moment (A.D. 1803), as they were at the time of their first formation. Not the smallest alteration or addition has been made to them. The same principles and the same ceremonies are everywhere observed; and, as we know from our archives, they have existed for many hundreds of years in their original state." Without investigating this wonderful assertion, we may just refer to the author's own observations in the preceding page: "All the sublime degrees were established before the year 1776. . . . One only has been established since, on the 1st of May, 1786." This sounds like addition, any way. He then mentions that no provision was made for the appointment of a successor to the Grand Commander, and the "upper councils and chapters could not be opened without his presence. . . . The King of Prussia, being conscious of this, established the 33rd degree." If we mistake not, this was an alteration in the Constitutions; but we will not dwell on this point, as we would rather conclude our sketch of this distinguished Mason by quoting his own eloquent words on our Order: "An Institution which recommends submission to the laws of our country, adoration to the Supreme God of nature, universal benevolence, and every virtue which can endear us to each other, which conveys instruction to the mind, and expels rancour, hatred, envy, and every unruly passion, and binds all its followers in the bond of goodwill, is certainly worthy of praise and encouragement." Such is the Society of Free and Accepted Masons.

WILLIAM JAMES HUGHAN.

Multum in Parvo, or Masonic Notes and Queries.

QUESTIONS FOR CONSIDERATION.

I have read, with deep regret, Bro. Longstaff's suggestions for a printed ritual, which I am very sorry to see again propounded, especially by a brother of some standing and ability, as I believe that they are fraught with the greatest amount of practical evil to the Craft at large.

It is the peculiar and distinguishing characteristic of our English Freemasonry that its ritual and ceremonies have ever been, and are still, "oral," handed down by faithful brethren, who received them from others, equally true and trusty in their time and generation. I feel persuaded, from long study of our Masonic ritual, that nothing would more tend to destroy its life and interest than a dull and leaden uniformity, and reduce it to the lower level of the printed ritual of some modern benefit society, than the proposal to do away with its oral character; while, at the same time, it would preclude the Masonic archæologist from deriving, as he does to-day, from them, any little discrepancies of ritual, to which Bro. Longstaff seems so much to object—powerful arguments in favour of the real antiquity of our time-honoured and carefully-preserved ceremonies and mysteries.

I must also venture to make my humble protest against the disparaging terms in which Bro. Longstaff speaks of the ritual itself.

I have most carefully studied, for many years, our own ritual and that of other "jurisdictions," and I have no hesitation in saying that I know of no other ritual which can, for a moment, be compared with our English ritual, either for propriety of language, or felicity of expression. He is, indeed, a bold man who ventures to characterise it as marked by many "absurdities and Johnsonian verbiages," and any attempt, I make bold to say, to modernise it, or adapt it to the "improved" (?) taste of the present day can only result in the utter destruction of its genuine antiquity, its solemn reality, its perfect harmony, and its prevailing excellency.

I have no sympathy with those "able men," of whom Bro. Longstaff speaks, and whose real existence I somewhat venture to doubt, who will not give time or trouble to master the work of those offices to which they aspire. If they grudge the labour and the pains necessary to qualify them for the discharge of their allotted duties, our "chairs," as our Order, are well quit of them, and it is the fault of any lodge which allows any of its officers to deliver, as Bro. Longstaff complains, the appointed ritual "peculiarly," or "badly."

The change in our system in this respect advocated by Bro. Longstaff would only tend to afford a premium to idleness, ignorance, and incapacity, and would check the zeal and deaden the energies of numbers of young, active, and intelligent Masons.

From what I know of our Order, I feel sure that such a proposition will be steadfastly resisted and rejected by a very large majority, as in itself unwise, uncalled-for, very objectionable, and most prejudicial to the present and future welfare of our Order.

A MASONIC STUDENT.

I read, with some regret, in THE FREEMASON of the 11th inst., the suggestions of Bro. L. W. Longstaff in favour of a printed Masonic ritual. I am aware, in the language of Preston, that "it is a weakness in human nature that men are generally more charmed with novelty than with the intrinsic value of things," but I certainly did not expect to find, in a Mason of such earnestness and cultivation as Bro. Longstaff, an advocate for that which, I consider, is both detrimental to the social and intellectual status of our Order. Whoever takes an office in a Masonic lodge should, undoubtedly, possess the advantages of a well-cultivated mind and retentive memory; and as Masonry particularly inculcates the improvement of the mental faculties, I think everything which has an opposite tendency should be strenuously opposed. The committal of the ritual, or a part of it, to memory requires no inconsiderable mental exertion, while the beautiful precepts of it, thus impressed upon the mind, seldom fail to have a highly-beneficial effect. I am a member of a few literary and other societies, and, for a young man, have had some experience with regard to the formulas of initiatory requirements; but I must say I never met with any ceremony more really beautiful, or more sublimely impressive, than the one on my initiation into the mysteries of our ancient and honourable art; but I am bound to admit that the reverence with which I regarded that ceremony would have been, to a certain extent, decreased had the ritual taken place as suggested by Bro. Longstaff.

As to the time having arrived for stopping the publication of unauthorised rituals, I think an effort should have been made to do this long ago; but the difficulty is, how to do it effectually. There is no law to prevent the publication of spurious Masonic works, and as long as capital can be thus made, a certain class of printers and publishers will always be found to circulate the catch-penny trash with which, I am sorry to say, we are now almost inundated; and to remedy which the Grand Lodge is completely powerless.

I cannot see that an authorised printed ritual would tend to secure "uniformity of working." The lodge to which I have the honour to belong (the Humber, No. 57) is particularly fortunate in this respect, which I attribute to the efficiency and intelligence of the officers, and the strictly Masonic behaviour of the brethren; and I think, in any lodge, that this alone can secure so important a desideratum as "uniformity of working."

Bro. Longstaff inquires if the time now spent in orally acquiring the ritual could not be devoted to better purposes? I think not, and for this reason, that the oral acquisition of the ritual constitutes an important part of a Mason's preliminary education, and more firmly fixes upon his mind those inspiring principles which he may afterwards be called upon to elucidate to others. Neither, as I believe, that having to do so, prevents many able men from filling our chairs. Should any person be either incompetent or unwilling to learn the ritual, or so much thereof as appertains to the proper discharge of the duties of any office he may have to fulfill, I do not think he should be considered, in a Masonic sense, an "able man."

It is certainly more impressive to hear the ritual decently read, than hesitatingly and badly delivered; but, as a rule, it is easier, by far, to deliver well than read impressively, and there are many men who could deliver a charge very creditably, who, if they were called upon to read it, would make it almost unintelligible.

In conclusion, let us always endeavour to keep the insidious and the uninitiated from prying into the secrets of our Order; let us, in strict accordance with its teachings, observe an inviolate secrecy with regard to all relating to its mysteries. Let us remember that all who wish to teach must submit to learn; and, in the language of a skilled brother, "if we depart, in any particular form, from the principles on which Freemasonry is founded; if we perpetuate in the future any mistakes or perversions of the present or the past, we must expect that those mistakes and perversions will, in due time, bear bitter fruit. If we sow the wind, we must expect to reap the whirlwind."

A YOUNG MASON.

Bro. Longstaff proposes in his questions the revision of the Rituals and their printing. I am afraid the brother is entering upon an impracticable task. The revision of the Rituals was proposed by Bro. Adam Thomson, P.M. Lodge St. John's Galashiels, to Grand Lodge of Scotland in 1865. By it the matter was referred to Grand Committee, who appointed a sub-Committee to report. This sub-Committee never met, but one of its members (Bro. William Hay) stated that he saw no reason to entertain the question. This did for it. True, in 1865, a clique predominated, which at a future time received a stunning blow, from which it is slowly recovering, and which, unless means are taken the clique will again resume its supremacy. This clique is opposed to everything but pure Freemasonry, which in Scotland takes the form of mountain dew, with hot water and a piece of sugar in it. I cordially sympathize with Bro. Longstaff in his scheme. The American brethren have published authorised Rituals of all Masonic degrees, and we should do the same, but I am afraid that the worthy Brother is entering upon a subject which will bring down upon his head all the petty and narrow minds who love the letter, and hate the soul, of Freemasonry.

RANDOLF HAY.

FREEMASONRY AND UNITARIANISM.

By turning back to page 683, it will be seen that I spoke of the "Philosophy of Freemasonry." I would not wish to see Freemasonry and Unitarianism identical, only it is my opinion that Unitarian Freemasons have just as good a right to have their views expounded in THE FREEMASON as Christians—if references to one sect are to be kept out, so ought all to be. Another point is, that brethren ought to understand that a Masonic paper and a Masonic lodge are two distinct things, as are the functions of a Masonic editor and a Masonic W.M. What might be wrong in a lodge, is perfectly allowable in a Masonic paper.

W. P. B.

Original Correspondence.

The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.

"MERIT AND ABILITY."

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR AND BROTHER,—As the good old landmarks of the Craft, Merit and Ability, do not seem fully recognised in some provinces, and promotion is regulated more by favour and influence than zeal and knowledge, I would suggest for discussion in your columns the subject of establishing, in connection with every P.G. Lodge, an examining Board. The examiners should test every brother presenting himself (voluntarily, of course) as to his acquaintance with the history, principles, practices, usages, ritual, constitutions, charities, and, in fact, the whole scheme of Freemasonry. No brother should be elected W.M. unless he is thoroughly up in the duties of the office. As an indication of proficiency, the brother who comes up to the standard should be entitled to wear a jewel, so that, if visiting a lodge, the brethren, seeing his qualification, might invite him to lecture or assist in the ceremonies, as the case might be. The jewel might bear upon it the words "Merit and Ability," and have bars upon the ribbon, with "Lecturer," or "Installing Master," or "Instructor," or all three, according to the degree of proficiency attained. R.W. Prov. Grand Masters would then be able to select their officers sans peur et sans reproche. It is a sorry spectacle, indeed, to witness a P.G. officer exhibit his ignorance in giving a degree or opening a lodge. The P.G.L. of Cumberland and Westmorland does the next best thing to examining the brethren. It sends a deputation periodically to each lodge, to observe and report upon its working, a proceeding which is worthy of the imitation of other provinces.

I remain, Sir and Brother, yours fraternally,
P.M.

THE PURPLE IN WEST LANCASHIRE.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Will you allow me space for a few lines in reply to your correspondent "One of the Mark'd"? He says, "the reasons for Brother Turner's nomination were thoroughly explained." This is quite true, but he ought to have added, "when Bro. Turner himself spoke, after the ballot was taken." This was the mistake. Had Bro. Turner's proposer or seconder "thoroughly explained," the result would most assuredly have been the election of Bro. Turner as P.G.T.

Yours fraternally,

Nov. 11, 1871.

ANOTHER P.M.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR,—You will not be surprised to learn that the purple fever is very rife in this province. "Another P.M." has opened his mouth, put his foot into it, and communicated to the World that he "influenced at least seven votes in favour of Bro. Armstrong." What a mighty effort, and yet he lives!

Well, wonderful things are done, even in Masonry; but it would, indeed, be wonderful to find that some P.M.'s had in them more of the true spirit of Masonry. I suppose the next thing to be suggested by "Another P.M." will be a little quiet bribery. If this be tried—why, then, "success will be sure."

Doubtless I am very ignorant—many P.M.'s are—but I can tell "Another P.M.," that "if Bro. Turner's proposer had stated the reasons why they brought him out," (a proceeding not sufficiently straightforward to be acted upon), the Prov. Grand Secretary would have had to record a much larger number of votes in favour of Bro. Armstrong.

Yours, &c.,

DI. CRAN. KIN.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—It is difficult to tell whether your correspondent, "Di. Cran. Kin," in reply to "A P.M. and P.Z.," intends to be funnily sarcastic, or indignant; but I have good reason to think that he is one of those who have personal cause for feeling annoyed at the fact, that a great number of the brethren of West Lancashire, having become wily, are determined not to let all pass unchallenged that a small clique of three or four might do or say, and have the firmness to expose some of the abuses which ought long ago to have been laid low, and who now feel sufficiently strong in the arm and head to point out to them the perilous position to which they are steering themselves and the P.G.L. of West Lancashire. They may, ere long, require the aid of a broad bridge to carry them clear of the sharrocks and shoals which are ahead.

Bro. Armstrong's victory must be very gratifying to him, when he finds that it was won so easily, it being inferred that it was not necessary to his success that his friends should visit Prescott, St. Helen's, Ormskirk, Southport, &c., &c. It is, however, a fact that they did; and many promises of support were obtained from four to six months prior to the election of Treasurer.

With regard to the manner of appointing Prov. Grand Officers, does "Di. Cran. Kin" deny the fact that those appointments have been given (with very few exceptions) to the worst working Masons in the province, many of them never having attempted to give the second and third degrees in a Craft lodge, and, in one or two instances, not even the first?

I would only further remark, that Bro. Turner is quite able to answer (if needs be) any of the silly inferences of "Di. Cran. Kin."

Yours fraternally,

A P.M. & P.Z.

Liverpool, 7th November, 1871.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR,—I am sure all right-thinking Masons must deprecate the unkindly feeling that is now showing itself amongst the brethren of West Lancashire on the score of the Prov. G. Lodge appointments, and doubtless think, with me, that it is a great pity the disappointed ones can't rest without letting their vexation be seen of all men, and making ill-natured remarks and spiteful insinuations against their more fortunate brethren.

Whether the appointments of the Prov. Grand Master give satisfaction or not, is one thing; the right of any brother to challenge them is another. Your correspondents seem to lose sight of the fact, that the number of offices for each yearly distribution is extremely small when compared to the number of brethren in the province; and further than this, they seem to forget that the bestowal of them is in the hands of the P.G.M. absolutely, and however partially they may be awarded, no one has a right to challenge his prerogative. He might bestow them all on his relatives, had he a sufficient number, and we could only grin and bear it, though the interests of the Craft would certainly suffer. My object in writing this is not to uphold the present system of appointments, but simply to remind the grumblers that they are not going the right way to get an alteration.

Perhaps I might suggest, as a means of lessening the dissatisfaction that undoubtedly exists:—1st, Let it be understood, as I think it seems to be at present, that every year a certain number of vacancies are to be filled, they need not necessarily be always the same offices; and, secondly, that the Prov. G.M. communicate, through the Prov. G. Sec., with the W.M.'s of the province, or, in a very large province like this, with those in a certain district, taking the others in rotation, asking if they have any worthy brother they wish to recommend for Prov. Grand honours; the Prov. G.M. at the same time retaining his veto. I know one province where this is the rule and has given satisfaction. Such a plan would, I think, make the appointments more equally distributed and remove any idea of partiality. I can quite enter into the feelings of some of the older and experienced Masons at seeing their juniors promoted before them—sometimes, not one step and done with, but year after year, and each time a little higher. Now, I have the privilege of acquaintance with several members of the Prov. Grand Lodge, some of whom have got into that august body, apparently, for no other reason than that they are their fathers' sons, but once in they have shown what sort of stuff they are made of; and even if favoritism and partiality have entered into the appointments of our Prov. G. officers, I can assert, from my own knowledge, that the greater part do their work well and truly in lodge, in committee-room, in charity business, and in other ways, and I should very much question whether those who express their dissatisfaction so loudly would do anything like the same amount of work, but rather think they would rest content with the onerous duties of sporting the purple on all likely and unlikely occasions.

And now a word with "Di. Cran. Kin." How he could write such a letter I don't know; surely he could not have been present at the last Prov. G. Lodge. He speaks of the "very gentlemanly conduct of the unsuccessful candidate for the Prov. G. Treasurership," and of his "extreme worthiness and modesty"! Of the former of the two last attributes I have no doubt whatever, and of the other I can only say that I thought he looked uncomfortable under the eulogium of his belligerent proposer; but of the gentlemanly conduct, I think there must be some mistake, as the candidate's speech, made in returning thanks for those votes recorded in his favour, showed he had not much of the gentlemanly spirit in him, and brought upon his head the severest rebuke it has ever been my lot to hear from our usually placid Prov. Grand Master. The other three brethren whose names are introduced in "Di. Cran. Kin's" letter, doubtless feel much aggrieved by the weakly puns of your correspondent, as otherwise their names and recollections might have subsided into their usual obscurity. Lastly, I would add, that a reform in the distribution of Prov. Grand honours will not be obtained by blustering talk and threatening notices.

I am, Sir, yours fraternally,
FIDELIS.

"THE FAIR SEX AND ADOPTIVE MASONRY."

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I am afraid the soil of England is not likely to prove exactly congenial to this "Eastern Star Order, and, so far as I can judge, we need not be at all sorry at it. It appears to me that our wives, sisters, and daughters are more at home looking after household affairs—darnin' stockings, or whatever happens to be necessary—than holding forth at meetings of any Eastern Star. As expressed at page 657, "The modest virgin, the prudent wife, and the careful matron are much more serviceable in life than petticoated philosophers, blustering heroines, or virago queens." Modesty is a tender plant, yet none the less beautiful upon that account, but I can hardly fancy the air of a pseudo female-masonic lodge the best place to rear it. Everything in its own place is a very good axiom, and the proper place, in my opinion, for the female who wishes to be truly loved and respected is outside all such concerns. Some of them may be well conducted for a time, but the danger is too great, as in the hands of designing parties they might be gradually transformed into mere temples of Venus—"revivals" of some ancient, but anything than woman-elevating, rites or customs of our eastern predecessors. Requiescat in pace.

I am yours fraternally,
W. P. BUCHAN.

P o e t r y .

"OUR NAUTICAL BROTHER."

BY WILLIAM BERNARD.

Dedicated by permission to Bro. William Tesseyman, W.M. of the Humber Lodge, Hull.

Here's a toast! Fill your glasses, 'tis one I hold dear,
Let revelry settle before it,
E'en Bacchus himself, were that jolly god here,
Would ponder in thoughtfulness o'er it.
Then fill to the brim,
As we thus honour him,
Through wandering oft from his Mother,
Yet comes back to find
That a welcome most kind
We have all for a Nautical Brother.

The works of The Great Architect he has seen
In calmness and in a commotion,
And often, perchance, in the danger has been
Of strife on the angry ocean;
But putting his trust,
As a good Mason must,
In the Master whose aid cannot fail him,
He never despairs,
But courageously dares
Whatever in life may assail him.
Then fill, &c.

We'll pledge him to-night, whether absent or near,
And hope that he always may find
A Lodge in the heart of each Mason sincere,
And the goodwill of all humankind;
For when ploughing the waves,
Which he nobly braves,
For England, for home, and for beauty,
He carries our art
To a far distant part,
And its precepts of love, truth, and duty.
Then fill, &c.

The widow and orphan in him never fail
For charity hearty and willing,
For so gen'ous is he, as he lists to their tale,
That he'll give e'en his very last shilling.
He's worthy the toast,
Though of it we ne'er boast,
For flattery we one and all smother,
So let's drink to-night,
With unclouded delight,
"The Health of our Nautical Brother."
Then fill, &c.

THE "FREEMASON" LIFE BOAT MAINTENANCE COMMITTEE

A meeting, to constitute the committee whose object will be to collect subscriptions towards maintaining the "Freemason" life-boat stationed at North Berwick, was held at the Railway Tavern, London-street, E.C., on Tuesday, the 7th inst. Bro. A. E. Harris, P.M. 141; was voted in the chair. There were present: Bros. Chas. Lacy, P.M. 174; J. Gillard, 180; N. Gluckstein, 141, P.M. 51, P.P.G.S.W. Essex; E. Gottheil, P.M. 141; P. Davis, 141. Bro. S. Davis was prevented from being present on account of indisposition, but a letter was read, in which he expressed his willingness to serve on the committee. The committee was formally constituted, and it was resolved that the officers of the former committee should retain respectively their former positions. The following brethren have signified their assent to be members of committee: the R.W. Bro. J. R. Stebbing, P.G.D. England, P.D.G.M. Hampshire; R.W. Little, P.M. 975, 1293, 862, 1194, 1319, P.Z. 177, 975, P.G.S. Middlesex; John Boyd, P.M. 145, 534, P.Z. 177, 975, A.G.P.; John Coutts, P.M. 27, 1310, P.Z. 177, 382, A.G.P.; R. H. D. Johnson, P.M. 249, 1049; H. M. Levy, P.M. 188; E. Grant, 228, 742, Hon. Mem. 435. It was also resolved that the committee meet on the first Tuesday in the months of November, February, May, and August, and that each member pay the sum of five shillings per annum towards the fund.

The following subscriptions were announced:

	£	s.	d.
Bro. Geo. Kenning, W.M. 192, J.W. 1293, P.G.D. Middlesex	...	1	1	0
Brethren of St. Chads Lodge, 1129	...	1	10	0
Great Northern Lodge, 1272	...	1	6	0
Great Northern Lodge, 1287	...	1	1	0
Bro. J. Gillard, 180 (annual)	...	0	5	0
Treasurer's balance of former fund	16	10	0
Total	21	13	0

After a vote of thanks to Bro. Harris, the meeting was adjourned.

The cost of maintaining the boat is £50 per annum, and the committee appeal to the brethren to second them in their efforts to collect the required amount, to the payment of which the former committee have pledged themselves.

SCOTLAND.

GLASGOW.

The Thistle and Rose Lodge, No. 73, met on Tuesday, when the R.W.M., Bro. G. M'Donald, passed and raised Bro. George Swanson. Bro. Mathew Micklejohn, of the Rutherglen Royal Arch Chapter, was then affiliated by Bro. T. Stewart, the I.P.M., and arrangements were made for the annual meeting of the lodge.

The Caledonian Unity Royal Arch Chapter met at their hall, Buchanan-street, on the 9th inst., when the chairs were filled by Comps. Gilchrist, Z.; G. M'Donald, H.; and G. W. Wheeler, J.; with Comps. M. Figdon, 1st Soj.; G. M. Leod, Scribe E.; and T. Findler, Scribe N. Bros. Joseph Etileston, Harris, Silverstone, and William Berwick were then advanced to the Mark and Chair degrees, and at the request of Comp. Singleton, Z., and H. Matison, H., of the Shamrock and Thistle Chapter, No. 37, the same degrees were then given to Bro. John F. Watson, on behalf of that chapter. Comp. Balfour, P.Z. 73, imparted the Chair degree, both the ceremonies being rendered in a very impressive manner.

DR. FRANKLIN says that "time is money." This may account for the fact that persons, when in most need of money, ask for time.

THE PURPLE IN WEST LANCA-SHIRE.

The following circular has been forwarded to the lodges of West Lancashire:—

Ulverston, 1st Nov., 1871.

Worshipful Sir and Brother,—Having noticed for some years past the way in which Prov. Grand honours have been distributed in West Lancashire, I have, with the advice of several experienced brethren, the honour to draw your attention to the accompanying memorial to the R.W.P.G.M.

If your lodge approves of it, I would suggest that you instruct your Secretary to write out the memorial, and forward it, signed by yourself and Wardens, on behalf of your lodge, to the R.W.P.G.M., stating at the same time any special cause of grievance you may have.

I remain, Worshipful Sir and Brother,

Yours truly and fraternally,

HENRY BARBER, M.D., P.M. No. 995.

To the Right Worshipful Sir Thomas George Fermor-Hesketh, Bart., M.P., Prov. Grand Master of West Lancashire.

"We the undersigned, being Master Masons of this province, beg respectfully to draw your attention, Right Worshipful Sir, to the mode of appointment of Prov. Grand Officers in this province of late years, feeling sure that the matter requires only to be brought under your immediate notice to receive that attention which we know is always most readily granted to questions affecting the honour and welfare of the Craft.

"We desire more particularly to refer to the fact that many Prov. Grand Officers who have attained positions enabling them to retire with grace and dignity on past rank, are year after year re-appointed, to the exclusion and neglect of many deserving, energetic, and enthusiastic Masons in the province, who have been led to believe that these honours would be conferred according to merit and ability, and that time and diligence would enable them to participate in them. We therefore respectfully suggest that, in order not to lose the valuable services to Masonry of these earnest brethren, as well as to keep up a spirit of emulation, and to encourage them that do well, you will, Right Worshipful Sir, consider the desirability of distributing the Prov. Grand honours more generally over the province, and in accordance with the great principle of our Order already quoted.

"With every feeling of respect and fraternal regard,

We have the honour to remain,

Right Worshipful Sir,

Yours obediently," &c. &c.

We have pleasure in announcing that Earl Percy, M.P., Prov. Grand Master for Northumberland, has consented to preside at the Annual Festival of the Royal Benevolent Institution, on the 31st January next.

"My brethren," said Swift, in a sermon, "there are three sorts of pride: of birth, of riches, of talents. I shall not speak of the latter, none of you being liable to that abominable vice."

"MORE than a year ago one of my children was attacked with bronchitis, and, after a long illness, was given up by my physician as 'past cure.' I was then induced to try your Vegetable Pain Killer, and from the time I began the use of it the child rapidly got better, and is now strong and healthy.—JOHN WINSTANLEY, 10, Whittle-st., L'pool, Jan. 1869.—To P. D. & Son."

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

THE CRAFT.

METROPOLITAN.

The Britannic Lodge, No. 33.—This highly-distinguished lodge met at Freemasons' Hall on Friday, the 10th instant, when Bro. J. Glaisher, F.R.S., W.M., presided over a very numerous assemblage of the brethren, amongst whom were Bros. Magnus Ohren, S.W.; F. G. Finch, J.W.; G. L. Crombie, P.G.D., P.M. and Treas.; T. A. Chubb, Sec.; E. Eachus, S. D.; J. Chynoweth, J. D.; F. Pendred I.G.; Past Masters A. G. Church, H. Bridges, P.G.S.B., R. Galloway, J. Strapp, J. S. Peirce, F. W. Shields; Bros. G. N. Strawbridge, C. Horsley, E. Burke, J. Davis, C. Pawley, T. Spencer, D. Hodge, A. Hodge, W. T. Sugg, J. Church, H. Rowland, T. D. Parker, J. N. Sharp, E. Palmer, H. Finlay, J. B. Paddon, J. W. Wright and F. Williams. Among the many visitors present were Bros. Æ. J. McIntyre, G. Registrar; J. Hervey, G. Sec.; B. Baker, P.G.D.; S. Edwards, and R. W. Little, P.M. The lodge having been duly opened and ballots taken, the W.M. proceeded to initiate separately five gentlemen, Messrs. E. Strouts, H. Kent, A. J. Dudgeon, W. L. Dudgeon, and G. T. Huntley. The work was done in such admirable style by all the officers as to elicit the highest commendations from the Past Master and visitors. Bro. Magnus Ohren then proposed, and Bro. J. Chynoweth, J.D., seconded "That the sum of two Guineas be voted to the Binckes Testimonial, and the proposal was carried unanimously. The W.M. then called for three stewards to represent the lodge at the forthcoming festivals of the Masonic Charities, when his appeal was at once responded to by the J.W. and two other brethren, who undertook the important duties appertaining to those offices. The lodge was then closed, and about 80 brethren sat down to the banquet, which was provided by the Freemasons' Tavern Company. Grace was sung by the professional brethren engaged, and who were under the leadership of Bro. G. Titus Carter, P.M. 382. After the cloth was cleared, the W.M. proposed the usual loyal toasts, and in announcing the healths of the D.G.M. and the Grand Officers, alluded to the distinguished services of those present, Bros. McIntyre, Hervey, Baker, Crombie and Bridges, the two last named being members of the lodge. Bro. McIntyre, G.R. responded in a very eloquent speech, in which he congratulated the old "Britannic" on the proud position it continued to maintain in the Craft, and also congratulated the five gentlemen initiated during the evening on their good fortune in having been admitted into a Lodge of such prestige and importance. Bro. Hervey, G.S., returned thanks for the visitors, and Bro. Magnus Ohren, S.W., for the officers. In the course of the evening several songs and glees were sung in excellent style by the professionals, and the whole proceedings were conducted in a manner calculated to sustain, if not to enhance the ancient reputation of the lodge.

Lodge of Faith, No. 141.—This justly-celebrated old lodge held its installation on Tuesday, Oct. 31st. The lodge was opened by Bro. J. Speed, W.M., who was supported by Bros. C. C. Taylor, S.W. and W.M.-elect; J. A. Green, J.W.; J. W. Carter, P.M. and Treasurer; T. Anslow, P.M., Secretary; A. Themans, S.D.; Catmauer, J.D.; Kennett, I.G.; W. Stuart, E. Hopwood, E. Gottheil, and W. Power, P.M.'s; &c. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The W.M. raised Bros. Hyman, Downey, Houseman, and Berg to the third degree. Bro. E. Gottheil, P.M., then took the chair, raised Bro. Wigel to the third degree, and passed Bro. Challis, Levy, and Nathan to the second degree. He then, in the presence of twenty Installed Masters, installed Bro. Taylor as the W.M. for the ensuing year, who appointed and invested as his officers the following: Bros. J. Speed, I.P.M.; J. A. Green, S.W.; A. Themans, J.W.; J. W. Carter, P.M. and Treasurer; T. Anslow, P.M., Secretary; Kennett, S.D.; Waygood, J.D.; M. Davis, I.G.; Mallett, W.S.; Scott, D.C.; Longstaff, Tyler. The ceremony of installation was given in an impressive and correct manner. Bro. C. C. Taylor, W.M. at once gave proofs of his proficiency, by the admirable manner in which he initiated Messrs. Covington, Mead, and R. Ellis into Freemasonry. All business being ended the lodge was closed. Nearly eighty brethren sat down to an admirable banquet provided by Bro. Clemow in his usual first-class style, and served up under the able superintendence of Bro. Smith, whose courteous manner and anxiety to please have so deservedly made him popular with all who attend at this hotel. All the usual toasts were proposed and responded to, and Bros. L. Davis and T. Mortlock sang some of their best songs. Amongst a long list of visitors we noticed Bros. F. Walters (P.M. 73), L. Davis (73), J. Terry (P.M. 228), S. Bayfield (P.M. 1158), T. Mortlock (P.M. 186), C. A. Smith (W.M. 795), J. Stack (834), H. M. Levy (P.M. 188), D. Posener (1227), J. Frankford (188), R. Snare (228), W. Lotham (P.M. 382), E. Holland (144), J. Fordham (554), De Camer (92), Goodyer (P.M. 192), G. De Maid (1328), W. Heart (93), and others whose names we were unable to ascertain.

Zetland Lodge, No. 511.—This numerous and still-increasing lodge met at Bro. Clemow's (Anderson's Hotel), Fleet-street, on the 1st inst. Bro. H. J. Birch, W.M., in the chair, supported by P.M.'s Andrews, Barfield, Schofield, and Copus, about sixty of the members of the lodge, and visitors Bros. Worthington (W.M. 834), Mann (W.M. 144), Lines (P.M. 834), Slack (P.M. 834), Adamson (P.M. 834), Thompson (P.M. 834), Bryatt (J.W. 834), Lamborn (P.M. 40), Willis (P.M. 157), Lacy (P.M. 174), Birch (P.M. 144), Cornellison (P.M. 89), Walker (P.M. 902), &c. Two brethren were raised to the third degree, and one was passed to the second degree, by the W.M. in his usual good style. Bro. Birch then installed as his successor Bro. George Reed, which beautiful ceremony he rendered in the most perfect manner. The new Master then initiated four candidates in an admirable manner. The following brethren were invested as officers for the ensuing year, viz.: Bros. Horstead, S.W.; Game, J.W.; Barfield, P.M., Treas.; Andrew, P.M., Hon. Sec.; Pardoe, S.D.; Russell, I.G.; Whittick and Gottfried, Stewards; and Schofield, P.M., D.C. Nearly eighty brethren then sat down to an excellent banquet, and the visitors expressed their strong admiration of the working of the lodge generally, especially in the installation ceremony. In the course of the banquet Bro. Reed, W.M., presented Bro. Birch, I.P.M.; with a P.M.'s jewel, unanimously voted to him by the lodge. Five new candidates were proposed.

Lodge of Asaph, No. 1319.—On Monday week this lodge met at Freemasons' Hall, and the W.M., Bro. E. Stanton Jones, installed Bro. Charles Cooté as Master of the lodge for the ensuing year. The ceremony was performed in splendid style, and Bro. Jones received the congratulations of the brethren on resuming his seat. Bro. Cooté appointed as his officers: Bros. J. M. Chamberlin, S.W.; James Weaver, J.W.; C. Cooté, jun., Treas.; Frewin, S.D.; C. S. Gekyll, J.D.; W. A. Tinney, I.G.; W. H. Stephens, D.C.; and W. H. Cremer, W.S. These appointments seemed to give great satisfaction to the brethren of the lodge, as each brother was greeted with great applause on his being invested by the W.M. A vote of thanks was passed to Bro. James Weaver for the pains and trouble he had taken in performing the duties of Secretary of the lodge, and a similar compliment was paid to Bro. Tinney for writing the bye-laws. Resignations were received from Bros. Jas. Thorne and Dearle, and the names of two gentlemen were given in for initiation at next meeting. The brethren then adjourned to an admirable banquet, supplied by the Freemasons' Tavern and its manager, Mr. Francatelli, and at the conclusion of the repast the usual toasts were faithfully honoured, and a massive tennessee P.M. jewel was presented to Bro. E. Stanton Jones. The W.M. in the course of the evening announced that the voluntary subscriptions to the Lodge of Asaph Benevolent Fund amounted to over £20, and that Bro. Starkey of Conduit-street, had most generously presented the lodge with a handsome sword. Bro. J. Honey and Walter Joyce treated the brethren to songs and recitations, and the meeting was one of the most delightful that Masonry could afford. There were present during the evening: Bros. E. Stanton Jones, P.M.; C. Cooté, W.M.; J. M. Chamberlin, S.W.; James Weaver, J.W.; E. Frewin, C. Cooté, jun.; C. S. Jekyll, W. A. Tinney, Frederic Ledger, P.M.; T. A. Adams, P.G.P.; G. Compton, H. J. Tinney, John Read, P.M.; W. Graves, H. Snyders, J. Horton, J. Egerton, J. Baker, W. H. Weston, E. Terry, E. Swanborough, W. H. Stephens, J. Honey, C. B. Wright, J. Starkey, W. H. Cremer, G. Horton, J. M. Ball, T. Gough, J. Perry, W. T. Wrighton, C. Harper, L. Silberberg, A. J. Phasesy, T. Edgar, H. Reynolds, H. Snelling, W. Easton, G. Snelling, R. H. Maldon (J.D. 382), T. Smith (75), Wybert Reeve (200), S. J. Reynold (S.W. 101), J. B. Buckstone (157), Walter Joyce (1158), J. Rumford (S.W. 90), and H. Massey (P.M. 619).

PROVINCIAL.

HOLYHEAD.—Lodge of St. Cybi, No. 597.—A regular meeting of this lodge was held on the 6th inst., at the lodge-room, Marine Hotel. There were present: Bros. John Peters, W.M.; J. L. Griffith, S.W.; William Lewis, J.W.; Owen R. Ellis, Sec. John Ellis, S.D.; Dr. O. Williams, J.D.; Rev. O. W. Jones, Chap.; Evan Evens, Steward; James Lloyd, I.G.; Samuel Hughes, Tyler; visiting Bro. H. Williams, P.M. 249, 1264, 1276; and a very fair gathering of the brethren. The principal business of the evening was the initiation of Mr. John Jones. Bro. J. Clark was elected as a rejoining member. There being one of the candidates for passing not in attendance in due time, the lodge was raised to the third degree, for the purpose of further advancing Bros. Jones and Morris, which was done accordingly, the imposing and solemn ceremony being conducted with propriety, accuracy, and all due solemnity, by the W.M. and his officers. Bros. Ankers, Jones, Dyer, and Parry were then passed. The W.M., after receiving propositions and congratulations from the brethren, closed the lodge, and the labour of this happy and harmonious evening terminated by singing the closing ode. The brethren then adjourned to refreshment.

IPSWICH.—Prince of Wales' Lodge, No. 959.—The members of this lodge held their annual banquet in their hall on the 6th inst., under the presidency of their worthy W.M., Bro. the Rev. R. N. Sanderson. The usual routine business having been disposed of, a ballot was taken for a gentleman proposed for initiation at the previous meeting, who was duly accepted; but, as he was not present, the brethren passed the time, till called to refreshment, by working the first two sections. Two candidates were proposed for initiation, and four or five brethren of distant lodges as joining members. The charity box having been passed round, the lodge was closed, and the brethren, numbering about thirty, sat down to a vécheré dinner, after which the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given, special enthusiasm being shown by the brethren to the toast of "His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, Past Grand Master, and a member of this Lodge." Bro. Dorling, P.P.G. Sec. Suffolk, proposed "The Health of the W.M." in his usual happy style.—Bro. Sanderson returned thanks, in which he expressed his gratitude to the brethren for this oft-repeated mark of their confidence, and observed how very pleased he was to see, sitting in a line on his right, the Masters of the three other lodges of the town, which, he said, argued well for Masonry in this town; and he hoped that it would not be the only time such an event would occur.—"The Health of the Visitors" was received most heartily, and was responded to by the respective Masters of the lodges represented. Amongst the visitors were the W. Bro. Lucia, P.G. Sec. Suffolk, as well as two foreign brethren, who, during the evening, expressed the great pleasure they had experienced by being allowed to meet the Ipswich brethren. At high twelve the brethren finished a most enjoyable evening, which passed off to the satisfaction of all who were present.

CANTERBURY.—St. Augustine Lodge, No. 972.—On Monday last this lodge held an annual meeting to install a new W.M. and appoint new officers for the year. The gathering, which took place in the Madrigal Room adjoining the Theatre and Guildhall Hotel, was numerously attended by members of the lodge and visitors, among the latter being the following P.G. officers and P.M.'s: Delmar, Coppin, and Pont, 31; Finch, 1209; Darby, 429; Admanson, 1208; Wilson, 199; Pensfold, 1274; and Griggs, 133. The W.M. of the lodge was also joined by P.M.'s Ellenor, Blake, and Beer, 972. The ceremony of installing S.W. Pierce was ably performed by Bro. Ellenor, and the officers for the ensuing year appointed as follows: W. J. White, S.W.; G. Pilcher, J.W.; F. Walker, S.D.; A. Cannon, J.D.; R. Shaxby, I.G.; and Harnett, Hon. T. The actual working having terminated in a most satisfactory manner, the brethren, to the number of forty-seven, sat down to a sumptuous banquet provided by Bro. Shaxby and Mr. Henry Shaxby, and presided over by the newly-installed W.M. The usual loyal toasts having been given and responded to in due Masonic form, "The health of the Prov. Grand Officers" was submitted by the W.M.—Bro. Admanson, in acknowledging the compliment, referred to the progress Masonry had made in the county of Kent since Lord Holmesdale had held the office of Prov. G.M., and to the very active services rendered by Bro. Dobson, D.P.G.M.—Bro. Wilson, in responding to the toast of "The Visitors," said it was a matter of great interest for brethren from other lodges to visit that of St. Augustine, and they were pleased to see it hold so high a position. Everything connected with the lodge was conducted in the strictest manner, and great credit was due to the W.M., who had just vacated that post, for the way in which he had brought about so great a degree of efficiency.—The I.P.M., Bro. Green, next gave "The Health of the W.M.," and, in doing so, expressed his conviction that Bro. Pierce would be as efficient in the discharge of his new duties as he had proved himself to be in those appertaining to the office of S.W.—The W.M., having acknowledged the toast, Bro. Beer proposed "The Health of the I.P.M., Bro. Green." He said the Lodge of St. Augustine owed much of its present prosperity to the energy exhibited in its favour by the subject of the toast.—Bro. Green, in responding to the toast, observed that the secret of his success was in the fact of his receiving so large a share of the cordiality and good feeling of his brethren, and if this were extended to the new W.M., he had every confidence that the lodge of St. Augustine would prosper more during the next year than it had in the one just ended.—Bro. Finch, in submitting "The Health of the Installing Officer" of that day, alluded to the considerable ability Bro. Ellenor had displayed in the discharge of his very arduous duties, and complimented the lodge on having so valuable and kind an instructor as one of their members.—Bro. Ellenor having briefly replied, the W.M. proposed "The Officers."—Bro. White, S.W., in responding, paid a deserved compliment to those members in Lodge 31 who had rendered their assistance in founding and helping Lodge 972, and took the opportunity of thanking, in the name of the lodge, Bros. Delmar and Pont for their especial kindness.—Bro. Pont replied, by saying that he had taken great interest in the lodge at, and since, its formation, and the sincere wish of himself and others connected with No. 31 was, that it should continue to prosper.—The interesting proceedings were rendered more enjoyable by music and singing, executed by members of the Order, and the company broke up at a reasonable hour, after having participated in one of the most successful gatherings that has yet fallen to the lot of St. Augustine's Lodge.

JERSEY.—Prince of Wales' Lodge, No. 1003.—The anniversary meeting of this well-worked and prosperous lodge took place on Thursday evening, Nov. 9th, at the Masonic Temple. Bro. G. Grigg, W.M., presided, being supported by Bros. A. J. Bouillier, Prov. Grand Org., S.W.; G. J. Renouf, P.M., as J.W.; G. Walden, I.P.M.; P. W. Benham, P.M., P.G. Treas.; J. Blampied, Sec.; John Pallot, Asst. Sec.; William Adams, P.M. 244; G. Rogers, P.M.; Ed. Gilley, S.D.; L. Pitcher, I.G.; &c. There was a very numerous attendance of members and visitors on this occasion, among whom were Bros. A. Smith, P.P.S.G.W.; John Thos. du Jardin, P.P.S.G.W.; Ed. Lott, P.J.G.W.; T. Collett, P.M. 135, P.P.S.G.D.; Joseph Gregg, W.M. 590; John Oatley, W.M. 958; O. Dodge, W.M. 245; W. H. Long, P.M. 958; Ph. Blampied, D.C. 245; Bennett, S.W. 244; &c. The lodge having been duly opened, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The W.M. requested Bro. P. W. Benham (the father of the lodge) to kindly undertake the duties of Installing Master. Bro. A. J. Bouillier was presented to the officiating Master as W.M.-elect by the W.M. and I.P.M., and was installed as W.M. of Prince of Wales' Lodge according to ancient custom. This interesting and impressive ceremony was worked with great accuracy and effect, amidst a large assemblage of P.M.'s (fourteen in number). The W.M. appointed his officers as follows: Bros. John Pallot, S.W.; L. Pitcher, J.W.; P. W. Benham, P.M., Treas.; John Blampied, Sec.; Ed. Gilley, S.D.; Francis Bois, J.D.; W. T. Tucker, I.G.; R. Mutton, D.C.; and William Toms, Tyler, and they were invested and addressed by the Installing Master, in his peculiar and graceful style of excellence. The Treasurer's accounts for the past year showed the satisfactory financial position of the lodge. It was then unanimously resolved: "That a most cordial vote of thanks be recorded in the minutes to Bros. G. Grigg, I.P.M., P. W. Benham, Treas., John Blampied, Sec., and John Pallot, Asst. Sec., for the untiring zeal, fidelity, and devoted exertions they have displayed in fostering the interests of the lodge." No other business offering, the lodge was closed. The brethren then adjourned to the banqueting-room, and sixty-seven sat down to an excellent dinner. The evening was spent in a very pleasant and harmonious manner.

EAST LANCASHIRE.—Newall Lodge, No. 1134.—Seldom has it been our good fortune to witness a more interesting ceremony than that which took place on Monday se'nnight, in connection with this lodge, at the Masonic Rooms, Salford, the occasion being the festival of St. John and the installation of the Worshipful Master-elect, Bro. J. L. Barrett, and the ceremony was performed with full musical accompaniments, which rendered it exceedingly pleasing and effective. The lodge was opened in the first degree, when the beautiful ode, "Hail, Eternal, whose aid," &c., was sung by the choir. The lodge was opened in the second degree, when the W.M.-elect was presented in due form by the I.P.M., Bro. S. Thompson, the choir chanting, "I will lift up mine eyes," &c., and whilst the candidate was saluting the Volume of the Sacred Law, "Keep thy tongue," &c. The lodge was opened in the third degree, and afterwards as a Board of Installed Masters, when Bro. P.M. Hankinson proceeded, in a most effective manner, to install the W.M. The lodge was closed down in the several degrees, and the working tools, &c., were presented by Bro. J. W. Petty, P.J.G.D. E.L.; the officers invested by the I.P.M., Bro. Thompson, assisted by Bros. Beresford, P.M. 104; and the charges given: In the East, by Bro. Barker, P.P.G.S. E.L., the choir singing, "The Lord is thy keeper," &c.; in the West, by Bro. J. E. Gillman, W.M. 1345, the choir singing, "I will wash my hands in innocency," &c.; and in the South, by Bro. J. L. Hine, P.P.G.S.W., the choir chanting the anthem, "Behold, how good and pleasant," &c. The lodge was closed in due form by the W.M., the choir and brethren heartily singing, "Now the evening shadows closing," &c. The brethren then adjourned to a most excellent banquet, after which the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed and received in the most hearty manner. The musical arrangements were suggested by, and carried out under the control of, Bro. Hankinson, P.M., to whom great credit is due for their careful selection. One very pleasing circumstance in connection with this lodge is, that one-half of the funds is devoted to charitable purposes, while the other is retained for working expenses.

ALDERSHOT.—Aldershot Camp Lodge, No. 1331.—The installation meeting of this lodge was held on Thursday, 2nd Nov., in the Royal Hotel. The chair of K.S. was occupied by Bro. C. Carnegie, P.M., G. Purs. Hants., who was supported by the following officers: Bros. J. Fenn, S.W.; Captain Richardson, R.E., as J.W.; Mayer, as S.D.; Summers, as J.D.; Laverty, I.G.; Bennett, Tyler; White, Sec.; and Osmond, P.M. There were more than forty brethren present, including Bros. R. Eve, P.S.G.W. Hants, W.M. 723; C. C. Gold, Sec. 723; and several other visitors. The lodge was opened in form, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The report of the Committee of Reference was also read and confirmed. It stated that the Treasurer's accounts had been audited, and that there was a balance of £44 to the credit of the lodge. The W.M. brought the case of the widow of an Irish brother before the lodge, and £4 13s. was contributed for her benefit. A ballot was then taken for Bro. Clisham, No. 697, as a joining member, which proved unanimous in his favour. Bro. J. Fenn, the W.M.-elect, was duly installed as W.M. by Bro. C. Carnegie, P.M. Bro. Fenn then proceeded to invest as his officers: Bros. C. Carnegie, I.P.M. and Treas.; Captain Richardson, S.W.; M'Kenzie, J.W.; Anderson, S.D.; Laverty, J.D.; Bennett, I.G.; White, Sec.; Lucas, Tyler; Mayer and Summers, members of Committee of Reference. Proposed by Bro. Summers, seconded by Bro. Captain Richardson, "That a silver tea service be presented to Bro. C. Carnegie, P.M., in recognition of his valuable services in the establishment of the lodge." Carried unanimously. Bros. Hanley, Denison, and Wyatt, of the Cavalry Brigade, were proposed as joining members. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren sat down to an excellent banquet, served à la Russe, after which the usual Masonic toasts were given, and a happy evening was spent. Bro. Eve, P.S.G.W. Hants, responded for the P.G. officers and the visiting brethren. In returning thanks for his health, Bro. Carnegie stated that, though the lodge was only a year old, it numbered sixty-four members; there had been twenty initiations during the year, and forty brethren had joined; and the funds were in a very prosperous state. The harmony of the evening was supplemented by the songs of Bros. Eve, White, &c.

MARK MASONSRY.

METROPOLITAN.

St. Marks' Lodge, No. 1.—This lodge met at Masons' Hall Tavern, Masons'-avenue, on Monday, the 6th inst., under the presidency of the W.M., Rev. W. B. Church, M.A., who was supported by Bros. Cubitt, S.W., Past Masters Levander and Marsh, and a large number of brethren. The lodge having been opened, ballots were taken for two joining members, Rev. Dr. Earnest Brette and Capt. G. Turner, also for several candidates for advancement, of whom the following being in attendance were regularly advanced to the degrees of Mark Man and Mark Master: Bros. H. B. Hodges, M.D., W.M. 403, Prov. S.G. Warden Herts; T. H. Edmands, W.M. 8, Past Grand Steward; W. R. Woodman, M.D., P.M. 66, P.Z. 33; C. P. Wyman, Lodge 403, Prov. G.O. Herts; C. Cook, No. 13; and Wm. Bays, No. 88. After the ceremony the lodge was closed, and the brethren sat down to supper, and enjoyed themselves most thoroughly, all being pleased to witness the continued prosperity of this old Mark Lodge. Several candidates were proposed for the next meeting, and the members anticipate a great future. On the following evening several companions were admitted into the Cryptic Rite, at the same house, amongst whom were Capt. A. Stewart, G. Turner, Dr. Woodman, T. W. White, J. D. Larsen, C.E., and E. H. Finney.

PROVINCIAL.

EXETER.—St. George's Lodge, No. 15.—This lodge met at the Masonic Hall, Exeter, on Thursday, 2nd inst. Present: Bro. John Way, W.M.; Easton, S.W.; Pasmore, J.W.; Samuel Jones, Chap.; Alfred Bodley, Sec.; W. Hugo, S.D.; C. Adams, Senior Steward; James Gregory, Tyler; William Cann and T. J. Brownridge, P.M.'s; Dr. Hy. Hopkins, P.M. 26 and 74, P. Mk. G.W. of Eng.; Southcott, Myers, Parkhouse, Yelland, Dand, Gould, and Whidborne. The lodge was opened, and the last minutes read and confirmed. Bro. William Easton, the W.M.-elect, was then installed in ancient form by Dr. Hy. Hopkins, after which the following brethren were chosen and inducted to the several offices, viz.: Bros. John Way, I.P.M.; W. S. Pasmore, S.W.; Samuel Jones, J.W.; Alfred Bodley, Chap.; Rd. Southcott, Treas.; Charles Adams, Sec.; Walter Hugo, Reg.; John Moats, S.D.; Hy. Hooper, J.D.; J. Tucker, Master of Cers.; James Mills, Org.; Joseph H. Warren, Senior Steward; Fredk. D. Myers, Junior Steward; and James Gregory, Tyler. Seven candidates were afterwards advanced, viz.: Bros. Sharland, Featherstone, Linscott, Body, England, Thomas, and Carter. One candidate was proposed. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren retired for refreshment.

LANCASHIRE.—Lancashire Lodge, No. 65.—The annual meeting of this lodge was held on Monday, the 6th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool, for the purpose of installing for the W.M. for the ensuing year, and also for the appointment and investiture of officers. The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, G.S.W. of England, P.G.S.W. of Lancashire, was the retiring W.M., but his lordship sent a letter apologizing for absence on account of the illness of two of his children. While expressing regret at his absence on the last day of his tenure of office, he did so especially as he wished to thank the brethren personally for their great kindness in having allowed him to fill the office of W.M. in the lodge during the past year. He hoped, however, to have an opportunity of doing so at some future time, and concluded by wishing success to the W.M.-elect and prosperity to the lodge.—The lodge was duly opened about four o'clock by Bro. Peter Miller Larsen, D.W.M., who was supported by an excellent attendance of P.M.'s, officers, and other brethren. The minutes of last meeting and lodge of emergency were read by Bro. J. Wood, Hon. Sec., and unanimously confirmed. Bro. Thos. Clark, the W.M.-elect, was then introduced by Bros. J. R. Goepel, and Dr. J. K. Smith, and efficiently installed by the D.W.M. The newly-chaired W.M. afterwards appointed and invested the following officers for the ensuing year: Bros. Thos. Ashmore, S.W.; J. Taylor, J.W.; H. Nelson, M.O.; John Halton, S.O.; W. Doyle, J.O.; W. Shorbis, Chap.; J. R. Goepel, P.M., P.G.S.O., and P.G.S.O. of Lancashire, as Treasurer for the sixth year; Jos. Wood, Sec.; G. Turner, Reg. of Marks; J. C. Lunt, S.D.; M. Mawson, J.D.; J. Kelleit Smith, P.M., as D.C.; R. Brown, Steward; J. E. Jackson, I.G.; and P. Ball, Tyler. The P.M.'s present were Bros. Hamer, Goepel, May, Smith, Lunt, and J. B. Robinson, and Bro. J. Banning was present as a visitor from Lodge No. 60, Carlisle. The newly-installed Master then proceeded with the ceremony of the advancement of Bros. J. T. Parkinson, J. R. Ellison, and P. F. Buck to the sublime degree of M.M. Masons, and a brother was subsequently proposed for advancement at the next lodge meeting.—The Treasurer next read his annual statement, from which it appeared there were fifty-three members at the beginning of the year, thirteen had joined during that period, and twenty-nine had been advanced, making a total of ninety-five members. Against that, five members had resigned, one had died, besides eight non-subscribing members, and thirteen suspensions for non-payment of subscriptions, leaving about seventy brethren actually on the roll.—The fifth annual financial statement submitted by Bro. Goepel gave a full and interesting account of the income and expenditure, showing the funds were in a healthy state, as the lodge began the year with a balance of over £100.—In moving the adoption of the Treasurer's report, Bro. Hill; senior auditor, passed a high eulogium upon the manner in which the accounts had been kept and the admirable style in which the annual statement had been prepared by Bro. Goepel, thereby making the auditors' duties of the most easy and pleasant character.—The report was unanimously adopted and cordial votes of thanks were passed to the Treasurer and auditors (Bros. Hill and Taylor) for their valuable labours.—The lodge was then closed in due form, and the brethren retired to an excellent banquet prepared by Bro. P. Ball and an able staff of assistants. Upwards of fifty brethren sat down, and after the repast the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed and responded to in the most hearty spirit. In the course of the evening, the utmost sympathy was expressed for Bro. Lord Skelmersdale, I.P.M. of the lodge, in connection with his family affliction, and the general tone of remarks showed that his lordship was highly respected and greatly esteemed by all the brethren in the province. After spending a very pleasant evening, the brethren adjourned at a seasonable hour.

SMALL-POX, FEVERS, AND SKIN DISEASES.—The predisposition to is prevented by Lamplough's Vyre's Saline. Vitalising and invigorating, its effects are remarkable in their cure and prevention. Take it as directed. Sold by chemists and the maker, H. Lamplough, 113, Holborn-hill.—[Advt.]

ORDERS OF CHIVALRY.

RED CROSS OF CONSTANTINE.

METROPOLITAN.

Roman Eagle Conclave, No. 6.—This conclave assembled at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, on Saturday, the 28th ultimo. The M.P.S., Dr. C. H. Rogers-Harrison, G. Herald, presided, supported by Sir Kts. Rev. W. B. Church, M.A., Viceroy; W. F. N. Quilty, P.S., Treas.; H. C. Levander, P.S.; and about twenty members. Bro. Lieut. Wm. Paice, of the Egyptian Lodge, No. 27, was installed a Knight of the Order, after which the elections for the ensuing year were held, and resulted unanimously in favour of the Rev. W. B. Church as M.P.S.; J. Read, as V.: W. F. N. Quilty, P.S., Treas.; and J. Gilbert, Sentinel. The conclave was then closed.

PROVINCIAL.

LIVERPOOL.—Liverpool Conclave, No. 55.—At an emergency meeting of this chapter, held at the Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool, on Wednesday evening, the 1st inst., the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, Deputy Prov. G.M., was installed a Knight Companion of the Order, by E. Sir Kt. Smith, M.P.S., and was afterwards invested by Ill. Sir Kt. Captain Turner, Int.-Gen. for West Lancashire, with the rank of Past Sovereign. Another candidate (Bro. Humphrey) being present, was also installed.

THE Provincial Grand Lodge of Norfolk will be held at the Town Hall, King's Lynn, on Saturday, the 25th inst. The Prince of Wales has signified his intention of being present

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending Friday, November 24, 1871.

The Editor will be glad to have notice from Secretaries of lodges and chapters of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, NOV. 18.

Lodge 715, Panmure, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street.
 " 1297, West Kent, Forest Hill Hotel, Lewisham.
 " 1329, Sphinx, Stirling Castle Tavern, Church-st., Camberwell.
 Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. C. S. Dille, Preceptor.
 Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 7; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
 Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.

MONDAY, NOV. 20.

Lodge 8, British, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 21, Emulation, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street.
 " 58, Felicity, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
 " 135, Tranquillity,
 " 720, Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham.
 " 862, Whittington, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 " 901, City of London, Guildhall Coffee House.
 " 1201, Eclectic, Freemasons' Hall.
 Chap. 12, Prudence, Ship & Turtle Tav., Leadenhall-st.
 Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (15), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
 Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
 Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern, Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30; Bro. E. Gotheil, Preceptor.
 British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
 St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street (opposite Pantheon), Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. J. R. Stacey, Preceptor.
 Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. Dille, Preceptor.
 St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, NOV. 21.

Board of General Purposes, Freemasons' Hall, at 3.
 Lodge 73, Mount Lebanon, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark.
 " 95, Eastern Star, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
 " 162, Cadogan, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 165, Honour and Generosity, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
 " 194, St Paul's, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street.
 " 435, Salisbury, 71, Dean-street, Soho.
 " 704, Camden, York and Albany, Regent's-park.
 " 857, St. Mark's, Duke of Edinburgh Tav., Brixton.
 Chap. 19, Mount Sinai, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 " 186, Industry, Freemasons' Hall.
 Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
 Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
 Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, Preceptor.
 Varborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.

Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
 Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
 Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
 Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.
 Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, Gladstone Tavern, Bishopsgate-st. Within, at 7.30; Bro. Bolton (W.M. 1227), Preceptor.
 St. Marylebone Lodge of Instruction (1305), British Stores Tavern, New-street, St. John's Wood, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 22.

General Committee of Grand Lodge, and Lodge of Benevolence, at 6 precisely.
 Lodge 2, Antiquity, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 212, Euphrates, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, Basinghall-street.
 " 507, United Pilgrims, Horns Tavern, Kennington.
 " 754, High Cross, Seven Sisters Tav., Tottenham.
 " 871, Royal Oak, White Swan Tav., Deptford.
 " 1056, Victoria, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
 United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
 Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
 Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7½.
 Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
 Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
 Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Ludus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, NOV. 23.

House Committee Girls' School.
 Lodge 34, Mount Moriah, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 65, Prosperity, Guildhall Coffee House, Gresham-street.
 " 66, Grenadiers, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 763, William Preston, Clarendon Hotel, Anerley.
 " 858, South Middlesex, Beaufort House, Fulham.
 Chap. 5, St. George's, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 73, Mount Lebanon, Bridge-house Hotel, Southwark.
 " 177, Domestic, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 " 657, Canonbury, Masons' Arms, Masons'-avenue, Basinghall-street.
 " 834, Andrew, Royal Sussex Hotel, Hammersmith.
 The R.A. Chapter of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor. Ceremony, History of Moses' Rod, and part sections.
 Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 Panmure Lodge of Instruction (720), Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7; Bro. John Thomas, Preceptor.
 Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern, Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
 United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
 St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.
 Chigwell Lodge of Instruction, Back-faced Stag Hotel, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30.

FRIDAY, NOV. 24.

Lodge 197, Jerusalem, Freemasons' Hall.
 " 59, Fitzroy, Head Quarters Hon. Artillery Company, Finsbury.
 " 861, Finsbury, Jolly Anglers, Bath-st., St. Luke's.
 Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
 Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
 Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Htl., Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
 Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Muggeridge, Preceptor.
 Robert Burns Lodge of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, at 8; Bro. Wm. Watson, Preceptor.
 Burgoyne Lodge of Instruction, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, N.W., at 8.
 St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
 United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
 Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
 St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
 Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
 Burdett Coult's Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
 Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West-Smith, Preceptor.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGE
FREEMASONRY AND ISRAELITISM ... ..	719 & 720
THE PHILOSOPHY OF FREEMASONRY ... ..	720 & 721
MASONIC CURIOSITIES ... ..	721 & 722
EARLY ENGLISH MASONRY ... ..	722 & 723
LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE ... ..	723
CONSECRATION OF THE EARL OF ZETLAND LODGE, No. 1364 ... ..	723
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS ... ..	724
THE THIRD DEGREE ... ..	724
THE ROSICRUCIAN SOCIETY OF ENGLAND ... ..	724
MULTAM IN PARVO ... ..	725
ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE—
Masonic Privilege ... ..	725 & 726
The Purple in West Lancashire ... ..	726
The Completion of St. Paul's Cathedral ... ..	726 & 727
A DAY AT THE EARLSWOOD ASYLUM, RED HILL, SURREY ... ..	727 & 728
THE CRAFT—
Metropolitan ... ..	729
Provincial... ..	729
ROYAL ARCH—
Metropolitan ... ..	730
ORDERS OF CHIVALRY—
Knights Templar ... ..	730
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ... ..	730
ADVERTISEMENTS ... ..	717, 718, 730, 731, & 732

FREEMASONRY & ISRAELITISM.

BY BRO. WILLIAM CARPENTER, P.M. & P.Z. 177.

XXIII.

One of the most remarkable traits in the character of the Israelites was their propensity to start aside from the ordinances and worship prescribed by the Mosaic Law, and adopt, or mix with them, the vicious and debasing rites of idolatry. The repeated chastisements to which they were subjected, declaredly on account of these forbidden practices, and the repeated miracles by which the authority of the Mosaic system was attested, ceased, after short intervals, to impress their minds; and, again and again, they lapsed into this sin of idolatry. In the very midst of the solemn covenant into which they were entering with the one true and only God, at Mount Sinai, where they had been overwhelmed by the awful manifestations of the Divine presence, they insisted upon Aaron's making a god which might go before them in the wilderness. This golden calf, or ox, of Aaron, in imitation of the Egyptian god Apis, was followed by numerous aberrations from the true worship, as was exemplified in the adoption, for a time, of the abominations of Baal Peor, and others similar to them. But it is to the apostacy of Solomon that we must chiefly refer the almost universal prevalence of idolatrous rites united with the worship of the true God. As the Misses Rothschild write, "The decline of Solomon's reign was a melancholy foreshadowing of the subsequent decline of the Hebrew nation. . . . He took many wives, a thousand, we are told, idolatrous maidens of Moab, Ammon, and Edom, of Canaan and Phœnicia, and they infested Jerusalem with their own superstitions. The pure faith of the Hebrew king and his people was sullied. Instead of the one service in the Temple, offered to the one true God, Solomon bowed down before the most hideous idols. He tolerated the licentious worship of Astarte; he burnt incense to Chemosh, the god of the Moabites; and he sanctioned the detestable rites of Milcom and Moloch, the deities of the Ammonites, in whose honour children were burnt" (Hist. and Lit. of the Israelites). Israel exceeded Judah, after the division of the kingdom, in their propensity to thus mingle the true and the false—to sully and debase the pure worship of their covenant God by the foul, cruel, and polluting rites of idolatry. But almost throughout the two kingdoms the abominations prevailed, and Ezekiel was commanded thus to address himself to Israel, after they had been delivered into the hands of the Assyrians: "Thus they have done unto me: they have defiled my sanctuary in the same day, and have profaned my sabbaths, for when they had slain their children to their idols, then they came, the same day, into my sanctuary, to profane it; and, lo! this have they done in the midst of mine house" (chap. xxiii. 38, 39). Nor were they, as Judah were, cured of their propensity to this profane mixing of holy and unholy things. They continued in their idolatrous course, notwithstanding the terrible judgments to which it had already subjected them, for as the same prophet testifies, more than 130 years after their deportation into Assyria: "Thus saith the Lord . . . I will sanctify my great name, which was profaned among the heathen, which ye have profaned in the midst of them; and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in you before their eyes" (ch. xxxvi. 22, 23).

"Ephraim (Israel) had joined himself to idols." The people lost the knowledge of the true God, who had brought them out of the land of Egypt, and made them a peculiar people. And, as in all such cases, they departed further and further from the "old ways" of truth and righteousness, and became more deeply immersed in superstition and vice. The idolatry of the Saxons was of a very gross form, but there was in it much which, we can hardly doubt, was founded upon imperfect traditions of their old faith and worship; of which, indeed, they preserved some striking points. The Saxons are described as having been acquainted with the doctrine of one Supreme Deity, the author of everything that exists; the Eternal, the Living, the Awful Being; the Searcher into all hidden things; the Being that never changes; who lives and governs during the ages, directing everything that is high or that is low. Once they esteemed it impious to make any visible representation of this great Being, or to imagine that he could be confined within the walls of a temple. Their change in this respect is said to have arisen in consequence of having received a mighty conqueror from the East, as their god in human nature, correspondent to the expectation of Israel, with regard to their Messiah. The name of this supposed deliverer was Odin or Woden. He was esteemed the great dispenser of happiness to his followers, and of destruction to his enemies; and when he was removed from amongst them, they placed his image in their most holy place, on a raised dais—a kind of ark, as in imitation of that at Jerusalem, where, between the cherubim, the Divine Presence manifested itself. They placed, near Woden, the image of his wife, Frigga; and between the two, the image of Thor; outward of these three, by the side of Woden, was the image of Tuesco, and by the side of Frigga, Seater, or Saturn; and outward of Tuesco, a representation of the moon; and outward of Saturn, an image of the sun. These gods, it may be remarked, are those with which Israel had been threatened, the sun and moon, and gods which their fathers had not known. Before the ark, in the holy place, in which their idols were placed, stood an altar on which the holy-fire continually burned, and near it a vase for receiving the blood of the victims, and a brush for sprinkling it upon the people; thus reminding us of the Mosaic system of sacrifice and atonement. They had generally a temple for the whole nation, in which twelve priests served, having under their charge the religious concerns of the whole people, and being presided over by a high priest. In addition, they had their rural worship, which was generally in groves, as was the practice of Israel in its early history.

This commingling of truth and error, this union of the old Hebrew ceremonies with the worship of idols, in the ceremonies of which were bloody rites and horrible cruelties, was one of the remarkable traits in the Saxon race, as we have seen it to have been in ancient Israel. But like as it was during their location in Assyria, Babylonia, and Media, the light at length burst forth. At the very time when Christianity had become overlaid with formalism and superstition, and Mahomedanism had been making rapid strides in the world, the Anglo-Saxons were converted from their idolatry, embraced Christianity, and ultimately became, and have continued to be, its most constant and efficient teachers, and foremost champions. "The Christians of the seventh century," says Gibbon, "had insensibly relapsed into a semblance of Paganism; their public and private vows were addressed to the relics and images that disgraced the temples of the East; the throne of the Almighty was darkened by a cloud of martyrs, and saints, and angels, the objects of popular veneration; and the Colliridian heretics, who flourished in the fruitful soil of Arabia, invested the Virgin Mary with the name and honours of a goddess. Each of the Oriental sects was eager to confess that all, except themselves, deserved the reproach of idolatry and polytheism." The forms and objects of idolatry were diversified; but they spread themselves abroad, and had again cast their blighting influence over the greater part of the earth.

At this juncture, a man came forth from the peninsula of Arabia, and, with the sword in one hand and the Koran in the other, erected his throne on the ruins of Christianity. Increasing myriads acknowledged Mahomet as their king and prophet, so that, as Gibbon observes, "a hundred years after his flight from Mecca, the arms and the reign of his successors extended from India to the Atlantic ocean, over the various and distant provinces which may be comprised under the names of Persia, Syria, Egypt, Africa, and Spain." Commencing with the promulgation of a creed which asserted the glorious truth of the unity of God, enforced the worship and adoration of this infinite and eternal Being, without form or similitude, present to our most secret thoughts, existing by the necessity of His own nature, and deriving from Himself all moral and intellectual perfection, he inculcated a morality much purer than anything he found about him. But Mahomedanism at length became a mass of degrading superstition, composed of the most heterogenous materials, debasing alike to the souls and bodies of men. Mahomedanism and the Papacy dominated the world.

Near the end of the sixth century, Pope Gregory, having set his heart upon the conversion of the Anglo-Saxons, sent Augustine, a Roman monk, on a religious mission to England, and he, by adroitly adapting the doctrines and discipline of the Church to the superstitious notions and practices of the Anglo-Saxons, succeeded in converting Ethelbert; and the Christian faith was at length formally adopted in the Heptarchy. The fruit produced, however, answered to the corrupt source whence it was derived. "As," says Hume, "the Saxons received the doctrine through the corrupted channel of Rome, it carried along with it a great mixture of credulity and superstition, equally destructive to the understanding and to the morals: the reverence towards saints and relics seems to have almost supplanted the adoration of the Supreme Being; monastic observances were esteemed more meritorious than the active virtues; the knowledge of natural causes was neglected from the universal belief of miraculous interpositions and judgments; bounty to the Church atoned for every violence against society; and the remorse for cruelty, murder, treachery, assassination, and the more robust vices, were appeased, not by amendment of life, but by penances, servility to the monks, and an abject devotion." The Papacy gradually exalted itself above all human power, and its pretensions were generally submitted to by the southern kingdoms of Europe. But neither by the Anglo-Saxons nor by the Normans—another branch of this great Saxon family—was the supremacy of the Pope acknowledged, without sundry and important limitations, though Rome struggled hard and long to bring them to submission. Such was the superstitious attachment to the Papacy, however, that "pilgrimages to Rome," as the historian remarks, "were represented as the most meritorious acts of devotion. Not only noblemen and ladies of rank undertook this tedious journey, but kings themselves, abdicating their crowns, sought for a secure passport to heaven at the feet of the Roman Pontiff; new relics, perpetually sent from that endless mint of superstition, and magnified by lying miracles, invented in convents, operated on the astonished minds of the multitude." Pope Alexander, who had assisted the Norman William to achieve the conquest of England, imagined that he might prevail upon him to break the spiritual, as the civil, independence of the Anglo-Saxons; but all his adroit schemes to bring this about failed. The arbitrary sway of the king retained the church as well as the laity in great subjection. No one might be acknowledged as Pope, unless the king had himself previously received him; and all ecclesiastical canons, in whatever synod voted, were required to be laid before him, to be ratified by his authority. No Bull or Letter from Rome could be legally produced, until it had received the same sanction; and none of his ministers or barons, whatever their offences, could be subjected to spiritual censure, until he had himself given his sanction to their excommunication. The bold, ambitious, and unscrupulous Hildebrand (Pope Gregory VII.), after deposing emperors and kings, and asserting his right of the investiture of bishops, abbots, and other spiritual dignitaries, and extending his usurpations over almost the whole of Europe, resolved to try his strength with the king of England. But he found more than his match, for William not only refused to do homage to Rome, but, as if in defiance, forbade the Bishops to attend a General Council which the pontiff had summoned. The barons were not less resolute in their opposition to the papacy than was the king. They extended and confirmed the civil and political rights of the people, by restricting the powers of the clergy; and their arrogant champion, Thomas à Beckett, was himself humbled, after a fierce conflict, being compelled to accept and sign the famous Constitutions of Clarendon, which had been voted in a general council of barons and prelates. These Constitutions provided, that no one holding under the Crown should be excommunicated, or have his lands put under an interdict, without the king's consent; that, appeals in spiritual causes should not be carried to Rome; that, none should be accused in spiritual courts, except by legal and reputable promoters and witnesses; and that, ecclesiastics accused of any crime should be tried in civil courts. At length, however, the pusillanimous John, who had seized the crown on the death of Richard the Lion-hearted, succumbed to the papacy. He did homage to the Pope's legate, with all the humiliating rites which the feudal law required of vassals before their liege lord and superior; and agreed to pay a tribute, for England and Ireland, of 1000 marks of silver a year. England thus became a fief of the church of Rome, and its king a vassal of the Holy See. Out of this baseness of the usurper, however, came the great charter of English liberty. The barons, disgusted with John's submission to Rome, made common cause with the people, and the king was reduced to such extremities that he was compelled to hold a conference at Runnymede, where, after a debate of some days, Magna Charta, which secured important rights for every order of men in the kingdom was signed and sealed. Rome, of course, resisted; the charter was annulled by the Pope, and revoked by the king. The people, however, would not submit to the papal yoke, and, after many severe and sanguinary struggles, they triumphed. The Anglo-Saxons instinctively hated despotism, whether secular or ecclesiastical, and could not be long held in its fetters, by king or pontiff. But neither emperors, popes, nor kings, who have clothed themselves with despotic power, are easily deprived of it, or induced to circumscribe its exercise. To yield ever so little is felt to be incompatible with the foundation on which it rests, and they hold it with a tenacity like that with which they cling to life. The papacy was not wholly beaten, though greatly discomfited, for a time, by the sturdy resistance of the English barons and people. The great charter was often violated by kings and nobles, and the papacy was not behind-hand in its encroachments. Every now and then, however, kings, nobles, and popes were checked in their wilfulness. "Though often violated," says Hume, "this famous charter was still claimed by nobility and people, and rather acquired than lost authority from the frequent assaults on it, in several ages, by regal and arbitrary power." Sometimes it was king and pope against the people; sometimes it was the pope against king and people; and sometimes barons and people against pope and king. Occasionally the conflict was long and fierce; the victory sometimes inclining to this side, and sometimes to that.

THE Provincial Grand Lodge of Norfolk will be held at the Town Hall, King's Lynn, on Saturday, the 25th inst. The Prince of Wales has signified his intention of being present

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled—"JAMES EPPS & CO., Homoeopathic Chemists, London." Also, makers of Epps's Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk).—[Advt.]

THE PHILOSOPHY OF FREEMASONRY.

CHAPTER SECOND.

ASSOCIATION.

Freemasonry is an Association for the propagation of morals and learning, both of which purposes seem to be overlooked. It is not a class association, but embraces all ranks of society, from the king on the throne to the artisan in the workshop. It differs in one respect: it does not accept the known murderer, thief, or beggar on the dunghill. It assumes that all initiates are men of good character and of fair education, but it strangely overlooks the necessity of having its members retain their fair fame and improve their intellects. We, unfortunately, have had murderers in our midst; we are not unfamiliar in these days with thieves and swindlers, and a crying evil is the increase of Masonic beggars—that is, those who make a profession of it, and live upon the brethren, and who must be considered apart from other brethren, who, from accidents of fortune, are unwillingly compelled to seek assistance at the hands of the members of the Order. In this respect, all societies of standing have a charitable fund for the relief of indigent members; but it has been for Freemasonry to find its funds principally a prey to the unworthy. This is a disease for which easily a remedy could be found, and deserves attention at the hands of the Brotherhood.

Among the ancients, the mysteries of Eleusis and the Egyptian mysteries required no exalted rank to recommend the initiate for reception. The chiefs looked to internal qualifications, not to external. They had learned that monarchies had their ebb, as well as their flow, riches could take to themselves wings, and, as a philosopher aptly said, they called no man happy till he died. They said with Theognis:

"For riches neither do I wish nor pray; my lot
To live on little, and to know of evil naught."

The riches of the mind they alone looked after. A father might leave his son riches, who would squander them in riot and debauchery; but the father could not impart to the child those talents by which the riches had been acquired. The immortals bestowed the mind upon man; the man of wisdom was, therefore, not a child of the earth, but of heaven, and became, after death, a demigod. The Romish Church, which has borrowed so much from the ancient mythology, has also borrowed this freedom from class selection of priests, and have, in place of the demigods, produced a calendar of saints. It is not to be wondered at, the influence of the priesthood, either in the days of Egypt, Greece, or Rome, ancient and modern, when we know it comprised the acutest intellects of the age. Wars have little lasting influence upon man, and among the eternal lessons of history, we find that they leave little that is permanent upon the face of the earth itself, and their traces are speedily eradicated by the flowers of peace. You will in vain seek to find on the fields of Marathon, Cannæ, Waterloo, marks of the terrible slaughters.

The man of peace, the thoughtful student, on the other hand, leaves works behind him which benefit future ages. The printing press, the steam engine, the telegraph—things won by no bloodshed, no monarch's hungry grasping after conquest—live when the empires of Macedon, Carthage, and Rome survive but on the page of history. The best monument to a conqueror would be the bones and skulls of his battles' victims, built in the form of a catafalque, with a statue of a fiend, on the top, grinning at human credulity. Popular applause, such is the mind of man, follows the conqueror in a wider stream than the defender of liberty, although the light which shines around him is that of a consuming fire. How much of this is due to historians we cannot say, who are ever loud in praise of a victory, but seldom count its cost, and, as Hallam writes, they "have in general more indulgence for splendid crimes than for the weakness of virtue." But nature, which ever resents an outrage, leaves little but the name to a conqueror; a future age undoes the fruits of his conquests, and the world, by a law heaven-sent, restores the balance of power. No country acquired by bloodshed is incorporated in perpetuity with the conqueror. A day comes when the conquered remember the past—when the hour and the man arrive with freedom. Where are the fruits of the great Napoleon's victories? Not his conquests live in France, but the offspring of his peaceful hours, his code of laws. I say again nature resents an outrage, and repairs it; but for the works of the good and peaceful, she cherishes them for the benefit of future generations. War never brings wealth to a nation, but a debt of revenge.

Lucian, in one of his exquisite epigrams, writes :

"True wealth is of the soul, all other things Play more on pain's than on our pleasure's strings."

And so arbitrary is this law, that a virtuous man, although possessed of little genius, may, by his simple example, confer blessings upon mankind, where a vicious man, with all the splendour of genius, would bring destruction. Freemasonry, then, looks to the wealth of the soul, and not to the transitory gifts of rank or fortune. There cannot be a doubt that the Revival, Reconstruction, or Institution—I use all terms, so that none may cavil—of Freemasonry during the last century, was meant by its promoters, who, very likely, did foresee the stride the Society would take, as a medium whereby the thinking men of all nations, creeds, and opinions might fuse in a homogenous whole, interchange opinions, and, in quiet discussion, review their differences of thought. That Freemasonry is at present the best association for such a purpose, all must admit. But this intention was soon overlooked, perhaps misunderstood, by the members, who could not see that conviviality was solely a means towards the end, and not the end, by which men might become better acquainted, and so be enabled to form a friendship which would bridge over all differences existing between them in the outer world. I must confess that it would be more pleasing to see a little learning displayed in our lodges, and something more than the parrot-like repetition of the rituals, which requires but memory and a good pronunciation to make a fool a bright Freemason. If we must have our initiates educated men, we should insist upon them continuing their education. The great and good Sir Isaac Newton confessed that, after all, he knew but little, and had been like a child gathering pebbles on the seashore, unconscious of the marvels which lay beyond. Are we not, too, in our lodges gathering pebbles? and are we not still unconscious of the marvels which lie beyond?

One decided proof that the Association of Freemasonry is for good, may be seen in its present existence. The numbers of initiates steadily increases, new lodges are being formed, and a greater interest displayed by the members in affairs Masonic. This widely-extended sweep of Freemasonry over the globe, gives it a power and influence for good, which members, looking to their several Grand Lodges and nationalities fail to perceive to the full. A Parliament of Freemasons, consisting of members of all Grand Lodges should meet once a year to to consider matters of importance affecting the Order, and to interchange, personally, those fraternal greetings, which lose so much, and are really so meaningless upon paper. What is wanted is, a more lively connection between the governing bodies, and something more than the mere honorary custom of appointing representatives. By this means the usefulness of Freemasonry would be extended, and the brotherhood really be as one family.

As presently constituted, what are the purposes of a Masonic Association? To get some men prominent places, who could not otherwise aspire to honours? headless and brainless peers, and dumb members of Parliament? Or is it an association for the benefit of hotel-keepers, and the swelling of doctor's bills? Is it an association for the spread of falsehood and error, for the propagation of historical fables, and manifest lies? Is it a society for the destruction of truth, and the crowning of an edifice of forgery by a caricature of charity? All these statements have been made, with what truth or want of truth, or part of truth, I leave the reader to judge. But this, undoubtedly, is the object of the Association, judged by its laws, and its philosophy: to reward the deserving. The names which Freemasonry points to, such as Pythagoras and Locke, are not those of drivelling idiots, or uneducated men, nor are they those of nobles. The buildings which Freemasons claim by their predecessors to have erected, such as Cologne cathedral and Melrose Abbey, are not works of small minds, nor meagre intellects. But where are we to look for the Pythagoras and Locke among the Freemasons of the day, or where are we to find the Cologne cathedral and the Melrose Abbey, operatively or speculatively, among Masonic modern works? An association must, to be useful, be progressive; it is not by a blind adherence to the letter that it can survive. Manners and customs change, society changes with them, and any association which does not keep pace with them, speedily falls a victim to the onward march of time. I have said that we are flourishing, but we must have some fruits with the flourishing. We must openly show to the world that there is something more than dram-drinking in our midst; that our jewels are not for ornament, but for use; and that as those who went before us in times past, left their mark upon the age, so we do the same, in gathering together into one family the good and learned of all climes and of all creeds, showing an association where political and religious antagonists may find a truce ground, and a time for peace. Peace may be said to be the true secret of Freemasonry, and, in my eyes, is more her characteristic than even charity.

ERROL.

MASONIC CURIOSITIES.

We present the following Certificates, in conclusion of our series of "Masonic Curiosities," as it is our intention in the future to send, as time permits, contributions towards "A MASONIC SCRAP-BOOK," which will be more of a general character, and embrace many matters which, though of value, could not be classed under the title of curiosities. The first of the series will, in all probability, be devoted to "Petitions for Membership," which system is so admirably worked in the United States, and which lately a well-known contributor to THE FREEMASON (Bro. Mackenzie) alluded to in these pages.

The Certificates are in the possession of a dear Masonic friend of mine, of Philadelphia, U.S., and the brother to whom they originally belonged was his great-grandfather. The family has been in great repute, Masonically, for more than a century, and the present representative is on the eve of being installed as chief of the Royal Arch Masons in Pennsylvania. We wish him much joy on his appointment, and as successful a term of office as he deserves.

WILLIAM JAMES HUGHAN.

COPIES OF CERTIFICATES.

[CRAFT, A.D. 1783.]

"Lodge No. 210, A.Y.M.

"WE, the Master and Wardens of Lodge No. 210, Ancient York Masons, held in the City of New York in North America.

Do certify, that the bearer hereof, our well-beloved Brother, Issace Reed, is a regular Master Mason of Lodge No. 210, Ancient York Masons, and has during his continuance with us, always behaved himself as becometh an honest and faithful Brother, and as such we recommend him to all worthy Brethren, wheresoever Providence may order his lot. Given under our hands, and seal of our Lodge, No. 210, this Twentieth day of September, One Thousand Seven Hundred and Eighty-three, and of Masonry 5783.

FREDRICK GUION, Master.
GEORGE CUMMINGS, S.W.
ANDREW MORRIS, J.W.

NATHANIEL TAYLOR."

[The form of the above Certificate is printed and on thick parchment; the seal is attached to a ribbon of Blue (light) and Orange colours, and is fastened on the margin of the parchment. Seal of sealing-wax.]

The forms cannot be preserved, so we have not attempted fac-similes.

[ROYAL ARCH, A.D. 1783.]

"WE, the High Priest, &c., &c., &c., of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Super Excellent Masons held under the sanction of Lodge (No. 535).

Do hereby certify, declare and attest, that the bearer, our faithful, true, and well-beloved Brother, Isaac Reed, past Master of said Lodge, was by us initiated into that sublime Degree of a Royal Arch Super-Excellent Mason, he having, with due Honour and Justice to the Royal Community, supported the amazing Tryals of Skill and Valour attending his admission, and as such we recommend him to all true and faithful Brethren of the Royal Community. Given under our hands and seal of our Grand Chapter, on Long Island, 20th July, in the year of our Lord 1783, and of Royal Arch Super Excellent Masonry 3283.

JEREMIAH WRIGHT, H.P.
JARAD BETTS, R.A.C.
WM. SMITH, 1st G.M.
ALEX. FAIRCHILD, 2nd G.M.
ROGER COOPER, 3rd G.M.

WM. COLLIER, Scribe."

[This Certificate is written, and the seal is of sealing-wax, in a good state of preservation, fastened by a Crimson ribbon to the margin. Device on seal: Arch with keystone in centre, sun on right side, moon on left; over the whole the "all-seeing eye," surrounded by legend of name of lodge.]

[RED CROSS, A.D. 1783.]

"WE, the King, &c., &c., &c., of the Grand Assembly of Knights of the Red Cross, held under the sanction of Warrent (No. 535), on the Register of Ireland.

Do hereby certify, declare and attest, that our true and well-beloved Brother, Sir Isaac Reed, was by us duded a Knight of that most Honorable Degree of a Knight of the Red Cross, which having with due Honor and Justice supported the amazing Tryals attending his admission, and as such we recommend him to all Brothers Knights of the Red Cross on the face of the Globe.

Given under our hands and seal of our Grand Assembly, on Long Island, this 25th August, 1783.

MATT. SMITH, K.
DANL. BEAUSON, C.G.
WM. COLLIER, Gr.

[This Certificate is also written, and bears the same seal as the chapter certificate. The seal is very imperfect, and is attached to a light Green ribbon.]

EARLY ENGLISH MASONRY.

[We have received the following article from a Brother residing at Fremantle, Western Australia, and although it contains nothing new upon the subject, we insert it, with the view of encouraging our brethren in distant parts to express their views upon the origin and history of the Craft.]

CHAPTER THE FIRST.

The state of Masonry in England from the earliest Tradition to the Norman Conquest.

History is silent how long the posterity of Japhet in the north and west of Europe had lost the original fine skill that they brought from the plains of Shinar; or how the knowledge thereof first came to the British Isles, the most early histories of our country being so interlarded with fables, and perplexed with contrarities, that authors consent not where to begin, how to go on, or where to end, that the parts of it may, with any tolerable colour of truth, hang together. But certain it is, that the first inhabitants of this island must have brought with them no small knowledge of masonry, as there are the strongest reasons to believe they were not the meanest proficients in the art of navigation, and the one was without doubt as necessary for them as the other. There are yet in being some remains of very admirable skill in architecture, much earlier than the Romans, but now so defaced by villainous hands and the ruin of time, that from the rude remains thereof it is hard to determine what might have been their original use, or in what skilful manner they might have been designed, or how far we may presume to fix the name of barbarous and rude on what is infinitely beyond the contrivance of any modern invention, as the means of performing those great works were perhaps lost soon after the age of those very barbarians who performed them. The Druids in Britain had many of the usages of Masonry amongst them, probably gathered from the Magians. They believed in the immortality and transmigration of souls from the one body to another; held their assemblies in woods and groves, or under wide-spreading oaks, which was also the practice of the patriarchs; what they taught was committed to memory, and not on any account allowed to be written; they determined all causes, ecclesiastical and civil; taught philosophy, astrology, politics, rites and ceremonies, and poetry; and in song set forth the heroic deeds of great men for the imitation of posterity.

The Trojan race of Britains built many towns, especially E. Bank, commended for B.C. 1030. a very great builder, from whom we have the cities of York and Edinburgh; his successor built Canterbury, Winchester, and Shaftesbury, with many temples to Apollo, Diana, &c.

Bladud is asserted to have been educated at Athens, and from thence returning a great mathematician and architect, brought four philosophers with him, whom he placed at Stamford, having made that town a kind of University. He also built Bath, and produced the hot waters there, committing the the conservation thereof to Minerva. But presuming to fly with artificial wings, he fell from Apollo's Temple in Tranovant (now St. Paul's, London), and so ended his days.

Upon the introduction of the Romans, arts and sciences flourished apace. The famous wall from Solway to Berwick, with many towns and castles, were built in a regular manner, and courts of justice and temples began to rise in splendour. But, afterwards, bloody wars breaking out between the conquerors and conquered, threw all into confusion again; for from the beginning, it has been the fate of Masons and Masonry to suffer by wars, and ever transcendently to flourish in the glorious and happy days of peace.

The noble sciences of geometry and architecture suffered great decay, till the reign of Caransius, who having shaken off the Roman yoke, contrived by all means to render his person and government acceptable to the people, by encouraging all worthy arts, together with the Craft of Masonry, particularly at Verulam, where Albanus, a worthy knight, was steward of his household and overseer of his works. Geometry was then taught to most workmen concerned in building. This Albanus was afterwards converted to the Christian faith by the preaching of Amphibalus, of Gaerlean, who hearing of his worthy deeds and great fame, came to him, and accomplished his conversion. St. Alban was the first who suffered martyrdom for the Christian religion in Britain. The old Constitutions affirm, and the old English Masons as firmly believe it, that Caransius employed St. Alban to "environ the city of Verulam with a stone wall, and to build him a fine palace; for which the British king made St. Alban the Steward of his Household, and chief ruler of the realm. . . St. Alban also loved Masons well and cherished them much, and he made their pay right good, viz., two shillings per week, and three pence to their cheer; whereas before that time, through all the land, a Mason had but a penny a day and his meat. He also obtained of the king a charter for the Freemasons for to hold a general Council, and give it the name of Assembly, and was thereat himself as Grand Master, and helped to make Masons, and give them good charges and regulations."

Soon after, Constantine the Great, born in Britain, succeeded, and partitioned South Britain into provinces. During his reign the Christian religion flourished, Britons enjoyed peace and plenty, and old Roman Masonry once more appeared in many stately and curious buildings. In him expired the Roman vassalage, which had subsisted above 400 years. But too soon was this dawning of glorious days eclipsed by most cruel and bloody wars; for Gratian, who was a Briton by birth and education, so tyrannised over his countrymen, that in a short space he was slain. And now, being destitute of a leader, the Irish, Scots, and Picts broke in upon them, civic dissensions raged, and nothing but famine, blood, and desolation was before their eyes. The noble and goodly structures were everywhere demolished, and the liberal arts despised and forgotten. The Anglo-Saxons were all rough, ignorant heathens, and, despising everything but war, gave the finishing stroke to all the remains of ancient learning that their brother savages had accidentally left undemolished; affecting only their own barbarous manner of life, till some pious teachers from Wales and Scotland converted many to the Christian faith, but none of their kings, till the monk Augustine baptised Ethelbert, king of Kent, and in a few years after, all the kings of the Heptarchy were converted. Then churches, monasteries, palaces, and beautiful mansions, were built; and although they too late lamented the ignorant and destructive conduct of their forefathers, yet they knew not how to construct the old architecture; but being zealous to the utmost of what they knew, followed the Gothic style in building many palaces, castles, fortified cities, and cathedral churches. This required many masons, who formed themselves into lodges, by direction of foreigners who came over to help them.

These Saxon lodges continued to improve till Kenerd, king of Mercia and general monarch, sent to Charles Martel, the Right Worshipful Grand Master of France, the father of king Pepin, who had been educated by Bro. Nimus Crecus. Martel sent some expert Masons to teach the Saxons those laws and usages of the Craft that had been preserved from the havock of the Goths. But not the Augustan style, for that was buried in its own ruins in the west. The clergy now studied geometry and architecture, such as it was, because the noble and wealthy, the kings and queens, thought it meritorious to build churches and other pious foundations, where many of them led a recluse life and ended their days. These holy houses, or monasteries, were under the direction of the clergy, where the lodges were usually held.

Egbert, the first king of all England, fortified his seaports; and Alfred the Great increased the navy, fortified and rebuilt many towns, and founded the University of Oxford. He had about him the best architects, was the best king of England, employed the fellow-craft wholly in brick and stone, and died illustrious in the year 900.

Edward, his successor, left Masonry to the deputy king of Mercia, but afterwards placed his learned brother, Ethelward, at the head of the Fraternity, and founded the University of Cambridge, that had been long a nursery of the learned.

Athelstan ascended the throne, and, at first, left the Craft to the care of his active and valiant brother, Edwin, called in some works his son. But in all the old Constitutions it is thus set forth, viz.: That though the ancient records of the Brotherhood in England were many of them destroyed, or lost, in the wars of the Saxons and Danes, yet King Athelstan, the grandson of Alfred the Great, a mighty architect, the first anointed king of England, and who translated the Holy Bible into the Saxon tongue, when he had brought the land into rest and peace, built many great works, and encouraged many Masons from France, who were appointed overseers thereof, and brought with them the charges and regulations of the lodges, preserved since the Roman times, who also prevailed with the king to improve the Constitutions of the English lodges according to the foreign model, and to increase the wages of working masons. That the said king's brother, Prince Edwin, being taught Masonry, and taking upon him the charges of a Master Mason, for the love he had to the said Craft, and the honourable principles whereon it is founded, purchased a free charter of his father for the Masons to have a connection amongst themselves, as it was anciently expressed; or a freedom and power to regulate themselves, to amend what might happen amiss within the Craft, and to hold a yearly Communication and General Assembly. That, accordingly, Prince Edwin summoned all the Masons in the realm to meet him in a Congregation at York, in June, A.D. 926, who came and composed General, or Grand Lodge, of which he was Grand Master, and having brought with them all the writings and records of the Craft extant, some in Greek, some in Latin, some in French, and other languages, from the contents thereof that assembly did frame the Constitutions and Charges of an English lodge, made a law to preserve the same in all time coming, and ordained good pay for the working Masons.

But good Prince Edwin died before the king, to the great grief of the Fraternity, though his memory is honourably mentioned in all the old Constitutions, and will ever be revered in our lodges. Much more might here be said of this worthy prince, but

A.D. 920.

A.D. 924.

A.D. 930.

A.D. 938.

that shall be reserved for another part of this history.

The succeeding Saxon and Danish kings continued to employ the Craft, in rebuilding Glastonbury, and building and rebuilding many religious houses. In the reign of Canute, arts and sciences flourished; Leofrick the wealthy Earl of Coventry, at the head of the Freemasons, built the Abbey of Coventry, and the king built Westminster Abbey, though not as it now stands.

LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

The monthly meeting was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday, the 22nd inst. Bro. Clabon, the President, presided, supported by Bros. Nunn, S.V.P.; Brett, J.V.P.; R. W. Stewart, J.G.D.; J. Savage, P.G.D.; J. Smith, P.G.P.; J. Boyd, A.G.P.; F. Binckes, S. May, S. Gale, C. A. Cottebrune, Pierce Egan, H. Garrod, P. Kirke, F. Walters, Major Finney, W. H. Coulton, C. P. Ward, J. W. Halsey, and a considerable number of other brethren.

The Board of Masters was first opened, and the agenda for next Grand Lodge read, after which the lodge was formed, and all the grants awaiting confirmation were then passed.

The following fresh grants were made or recommended: Bros. A. J. R. R., Lodge 151, £5; J. H. C., 898, £15; R. W. S., 861, £20; H. P. (Irish), £10; H. C. S., 134, £100; G. P. (Scotch), £10; G. O. R., 729, £10; W. Y. A., 359, £20; A. H. (Scotch), £5; the widow of B. T., 673, £20; E. J., 284, £30; J. W. W., 1161, £20; the widow of L. S., 231, £30; A. R. B., 240, £10; the widow of T. E. N., 236, £20; the widow of W. R. S., 106, £30; the widow of S. S. U., 199, £15; W. H. M., 189, £20; the widow of A. G., 349, £20; and J. H., 80, £20.

The remaining three cases were deferred to the next meeting, and the lodge was closed.

CONSECRATION OF THE EARL OF ZETLAND LODGE, No. 1364.

This new lodge was ushered into existence on Saturday, the 18th inst., when a large number of brethren assembled to do honour to the occasion, and we have certainly never seen the arrangements for a consecration better carried out than they were by the spirited founders of the Earl of Zetland Lodge. The proceedings commenced about half-past three o'clock—the meeting being held at St. Thomas' Hall, St. Thomas' road, Hackney—when a procession was formed, under the direction of Bro. R. Wentworth Little, P.M., Prov. G. Sec. Middlesex, who officiated as Director of the Ceremonies. The procession then entered the lodge-room, music being played by the excellent choir, which consisted of Bro. Henry Thomas, as Director, and Bros. Hunt, McDavitt, Hubbard, and Limpus. The Consecrating Master, Bro. Jas. Brett, P.M., Past Grand Pursuivant, then took his seat, and nominated Bros. John Hervey, Grand Secretary, and H. G. Buss, P.M., Prov. G. Treas. Middlesex, to act as Wardens; Bro. R. A. Wright, P.M., P. Prov. G. D. Herts., undertaking the duties of Inner Guard.

The lodge was then duly opened in the three degrees, and the Presiding Officer commenced the proceedings with prayer. The D.C. addressed the Presiding Officer, who desired the Acting Secretary to read the petition and warrant, after which the Presiding Officer inquired if the brethren still approved of the officers named in the warrant. An affirmative response being given, Bro. Brett then delivered an oration, which was followed by the choir rendering the anthem "I have surely built thee a house" (Boyce) in splendid style. The D.C. presented the new Master to the Presiding Officer, and the brethren of the new lodge were arranged on each side of the lodge-board. Then came the first portion of the dedication prayer. Sanctus: "Glory be to Thee, O Lord," by the musical brethren. The brethren turned to the East, when the Presiding Officer gave the invocation. The lodge-board was uncovered, and the W.M. and Wardens carried corn, wine, and oil three times round the lodge during solemn music. The Consecrating Master took the censor three times round the lodge during solemn music, and then delivered the second portion of the dedication prayer. Bro. Brett dedicated and constituted the lodge, and a second anthem was sung, the patriarchal benediction concluding the ceremony of consecration, which was conducted throughout, not only in a faultless manner as regards the ritual itself, but with that impressiveness and dignity which ought, at all times, to characterise Masonic ceremonies.

The W.M.-designate, Bro. W. Bristo, P.M. 860, was then presented for installation, a duty which devolved upon Bro. W. B. Heath, P.M. 198, P.P.S.G.W. Herts., who performed it in a most efficient manner—about twenty-five P.M.'s witnessing the working of this solemn rite. Upon the re-admission of the brethren the usual salutes were given, after which the W.M. invested his officers as follows: Bros. R. Bateman, as P.M. (acting); Louis A. Leins, S.W.; Wm. Talbot King, J.W.; R. A. Wright, P.M., Treas.; J. L. Fysh, Sec.; G. A. Rean, S.D.; B. Peart, J.D.; and H. T. Lowe, I.G. The latter brother being unable to be present, was invested by proxy. Bro. Heath then delivered the usual addresses to the officers and brethren.

The W.M. proposed that, in estimation of the services rendered to the lodge during the ceremonies of consecration and installation by the following brethren, they be enrolled as honorary members of the Earl of Zetland Lodge: Bros. J. Brett, W. B. Heath, J. Hervey, H. G. Buss, and R. W. Little, and the motion was seconded and carried by acclamation. Bros. Brett and Heath, on behalf of the new members, gracefully acknowledged the compliment. A large number of propositions for joining members and initiates were then received, after which the lodge was closed.

It having been arranged to hold the inaugural banquet at the Cannon-street Hotel, about eighteen vehicles were provided to convey the brethren to the city, and, on arriving at the hotel, a magnificent dinner awaited them. Grace having been sung by the musical brethren, full justice was done to the repast, and upon the cloth being cleared, the W.M. proposed the Sovereign of the realm, coupled with the Craft, a toast which was warmly received and followed by the National Anthem.

Bro. Bristo then proposed "The Marquis of Ripon, G.M.," followed by "The Healths of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, P.G.M., the Earl of Zetland, P.G.M., the Earl of Carnarvon, D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers," with especial mention of the names of Bros. Hervey, G. Sec., and Brett, P.G. Purs., who were present, and had rendered such important services that day. The toast was welcomed with great cheering, and when the applause had subsided,

Bro. Hervey responded, and in the course of his speech alluded to the connection of the lodge with the name of Lord Zetland, who had for so many years presided over the destinies of the Craft. He also passed a high eulogium upon the ability with which the Deputy Grand Master had fulfilled the onerous duties of the Grand Master during Lord Ripon's absence from England in the service of the State. Bro. Hervey concluded by proposing "The Health of the W. Master," whose good qualities as a man and a Mason were so well known to all present, and with that toast he coupled "Prosperity to the Earl of Zetland Lodge."

Bro. Bristo returned thanks in a very appropriate speech, expressing his gratification at being placed in the chair of the lodge, and echoing the hope that it would be a great success. He then proposed "The Health of the Consecrating Master, Bro. Brett" (cheers), and alluded to the rich treat which had been afforded to the brethren by the truly-perfect working of that accomplished

Mason. The lodge owed Bro. Brett a deep debt of gratitude for his kind assistance, and would never forget the splendid style in which he had conducted the ceremonies.

Bro. Brett, P.G.P., on rising to reply, was again cordially applauded. He expressed himself as being highly sensible of the honour conferred upon him by the enthusiastic greeting of the brethren, and said he felt both pride and pleasure at having officiated as Consecrating Master upon so auspicious an occasion.

Bro. Little said he was commissioned by the W.M. to propose the next toast, "The Founders of the Earl of Zetland Lodge," and, in doing so, referred to the energy and perseverance displayed by those brethren in all the arrangements connected with the new lodge, and which had resulted in such a triumphant success. He congratulated them on the honourable name they bore, as it was that of a nobleman who, both as a man and a Mason, was sans peur et sans reproche. Although somewhat invidious to select one where all worked so well and worthily, he must couple with the toast the name of Bro. Bateman, P.M., who had been chosen to act as I.P.M. for the year, while special mention should also be made of the untiring exertions of Bros. Wright and Fysh to promote the success of the meeting and the comfort of the brethren. (Loud cheering.)

The toast was drunk with all the honours, and Bro. Bateman responded briefly but effectively.

"The Visitors" was next proposed, the toast being coupled with the name of Bro. Hill, W.M. of the Eastern Star Lodge, No. 95, by whom the petition for the new lodge was recommended.

Bro. Heath's health was then given as Installing Master, and was also warmly greeted, after which the officers returned thanks seriatim for a similar compliment accorded to them, and, with the Tyler's toast, the proceedings terminated, a most charming evening having been enjoyed by all.

We cannot omit to mention that the musical brethren sang several excellent songs, duets, and glees, interspersed between the toasts, and received well-merited applause. In fact, superlative praise is due to the founders and all concerned for the entire arrangements.

Besides those already named, the following brethren were present at the consecration and banquet: Bros. D. Forbes, W.M. 65; G. S. Ayres, P.M. 95; P. J. Ferdinando, 13; J. Bellerby, P.M. 65; C. B. Barnet, W.M. 19; C. F. Lilley, 12; G. Townsend, P.M. 821; S. L. Rastrick, P.M. 342, P.P.G.W. Hants.; T. J. Barnes, P.M. 933; C. Hastelow, P.M. 101; R. J. Chillingworth, W.M. 1228; E. Frost, 1306; J. Pinder, 15; E. Wright, 76; W. Bristo, sen., 860; John W. Tripe, M.D., P.M. 902; R. T. Hill, W.M. 95; F. Allen, 860; C. Glassborord, 504; W. Ovey, P.M. 198, P.P.G.S.W. Herts.; James Green, Sec. 107; W. H. Kingsford, P.M. 46, P.G. Steward; T. H. Dalton, 15; T. Keene, 141; A. Hubbard, W.M. 813; J. L. Mather, P.M. 65; J. Sandham, P.M. 65; C. Daniel, P.M. 65; E. Watkins, 1227; J. Appleby, 174; H. Dalwood, 860; D. Posener, 1227; W. Davitt, 813; W. H. Hunt, 813; R. Limpus, 8; C. B. Payne, 27; H. Thomas, 1196; W. C. Barnes, 869; and T. T. Taylor, 101.

We regret having to announce that our illustrious Brother H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, Past Grand Master, is seriously indisposed, the symptoms being those of typhoid fever.

A CONCLAVE of the Red Cross of Constantine has been formed at Brownsville, Nebraska, United States of America. The Order is expected to spread very rapidly in the territory of the American Republic, where it is much liked and appreciated.

DUNDEE.—We understand the Right Hon. the Earl of Dalhousie, Prov. G.M. for Forfarshire, is to open a Grand Lodge in Broughty Ferry, on Monday, the 27th inst., at two o'clock, for the purpose of consecrating the Lodge "Broughty Castle," No. 486. A full notice of the proceedings will appear in THE FREEMASON of that week.

NOTICE.

The Subscription to THE FREEMASON is now 10s. per annum, post-free, payable in advance.

Vol. I., bound in cloth ... .. 4s. 6d.
Vol. II., ditto ... .. 7s. 6d.
Vol. III., ditto ... .. 15s. od.
Reading Cases to hold 52 numbers... 2s. 6d.

United States of America.

THE FREEMASON is delivered free in any part of the United States for 12s. per annum, payable in advance.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferred to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

BIRTHS

MARTYN.—On the 13th inst., at Long Melford Rectory, Suffolk, the wife of the Rev. Charles J. Martyn, Past Grand Chaplain of England, of a daughter.

WALTERS.—On the 20th inst., at 372, New-cross-road, Deptford, Kent, the wife of Bro. Frederick Walters, P.M. 73, &c., of a daughter.

All communications for THE FREEMASON should be written legibly on one side of the paper only, and, if intended for insertion in the current number, must be received not later than 10 o'clock a.m. on Thursdays, unless in very special cases. The name and address of every writer must be sent to us in confidence.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the EDITOR 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him but cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

THE THIRD DEGREE.

IT has been well said, that "the natural work of Masonry is practical life," and every degree in the Order illustrates this profound, though not sufficiently-appreciated, truth. The ceremonies of the Craft are not merely ceremonies; they are types of higher and grander mysteries, and teach with eloquence, unsurpassed by any human code, the duties that man owes to his Creator, and to his fellow-creatures. Our great moralist, Johnson, has left us an allegory, conceived in the true Masonic spirit, in his recital of the journey of Obidah, the son of Abensina—a comparison of human life to the journey of a day. He tells us, that the traveller started "early in the morning, and pursued his journey through the plains of Hindostan, with fresh hope," "incited by desire," Obidah "walked swiftly forward." "Thus he went on till the sun approached its meridian, and the increasing heat preyed upon his strength," till, tempted by the coolness of a shady grove, he left the beaten track, and wasted in objectless wanderings the precious time at his disposal. But darkness soon approached, and the foolish traveller was fain to retrace his steps, while the "winds roared, and the torrents tumbled from the hills." Finally, however, he finds a place of shelter and refuge in the cottage of a hermit, by whom he is entertained, and to whom he relates the occurrences of his journey. The hermit bids him remember, that life itself is but the journey of a day. "We rise in the morning of youth, full of vigour and full of expectation; we set forward with spirit and hope, with gaiety and with diligence, and travel on awhile in the straight road of piety, towards the mansions of rest." The moralist then dwells upon the deviations of man from the paths of virtue, but extracts the pleasing consolation that "reformation is never hopeless, nor sincere endeavours ever unassisted; that the wanderer may at length return, after all his errors; and that he who implores strength and courage from above, shall find danger and difficulty give way before him."

In like manner, the three degrees of Craft Masonry are typical of human life; beginning as neophytes, we gradually unfold the greater mysteries, and the grade of a Master Mason, as we have previously remarked, brings us face to face with the very shadows and darkness of the grave. In all the ancient mysteries, the candidates were plunged in profound gloom before their admission to the light, and beyond doubt, the doctrine of the resurrection is plainly symbolised in all those primitive rites. Thus the aspirant was placed within the Pastos, or bed of darkness, where he remained for three days and nights. This, we are told, was the figurative death of the mysteries, or the descent into Hades. When delivered from this confinement, the candidates were considered "regenerate," or restored to life. Nor could any man fill the office of priest until he had endured the seclusion and silence of the darkened Pastos. After this probation, he was led into the chambers of divine light, and permitted to participate in the sacred labours of the initiated. In this way, the doctrine that death leads to a higher life was forcibly inculcated. We can but glance at the solemn bearings of this subject upon the third degree. No Master Mason can, however, fail to recognise the sublime and inspiring lessons of the ordeal through which he has passed; nor hesitate to pronounce the finished scheme of Masonry, as revealed in the third degree, perfect in all its parts, and honourable to its founders or originators. The legend of Hiram is but the framework of the picture, which embodies and preserves the central idea of man's resurrection from the tomb—although every incident of the tradition teaches important lessons, and is in keeping with the grandeur of the subject. In the words of the poet, it is "not to the grave" that we "descend to contemplate," "the spirit is not there," but, looking beyond the grave, we adore the Lord of Life, who can trample the King of Terrors beneath his feet, and raise us to an immortality of peace and glory. By the inculcation of these truths, Freemasonry does not become a religious—or, more correctly speaking, a sectarian—system, although, doubtless, its elevated doctrines coincide with many of the dogmas of revealed religion. But Freemasonry can reach hearts which might otherwise be closed to the reception of wisdom, and, by insensible degrees, lead them to respect virtue, love morality, and maintain the highest principles of beneficence and charity. Viewing Freemasonry in this aspect, nothing human can surpass it, and the badge of a Mason may truly be regarded as the type of a universal brotherhood. We are far from asserting that all who have entered our sanctum are worthy of the privilege—light is abhorrent to some minds, and concord an abomination to the sons of strife. But this is no argument against the worth and utility of the Masonic Institution; in every system, in every association of men, traitors have appeared, and we cannot hope to escape the inevitable. The shrine and the altar have alike been desecrated by the ministration of knaves, and the mosaic pavement is, unhappily, not free from their unhallowed footsteps. Let us all strive, however, to accomplish in our several stations the true aims of Masonry: the extension of knowledge, and the communication of happiness to every deserving object under heaven.

ROSICRUCIAN SOCIETY OF ENGLAND.

THE UNITED COLLEGE OF MANCHESTER LIVERPOOL, & NORTHERN COUNTIES.

A meeting of this united Provincial College was held at the Bush Hotel, Manchester, on Saturday, the 28th ult. The M—C— was formed at four o'clock by the Chief Adept, assisted by the R.W. Suffragan, first, second, and fourth Ancients, the Sec. General, C. of N., &c., &c. The grade of Zelator was conferred on Bros. Goepel and Clark, and Br. Goepel was then elevated to the degree of Practices, or 4°.

The following officers were appointed:—Fratres George Turner, Suffragan, 7°; Jos. Kellet Smith, Treas.-General, 6°; Yarker, Sec.-Genl., 6°; Rev. J. N. Parteo, Celebrant, 1°; Entwisle, 1st Ancient, 5°; J. D. Moore, 2nd Ancient, 1°; Lord Skelmersdale, 3rd Ancient, 1°; Goepel, 4th Ancient, 4°; Wayne, Precentor, 2°; Robinson, C. of N., 1°; Clark, Torch-bearer, 1°; and Mawson, Herald, 1°.

An exceedingly interesting paper, on the objects of research of the Society, and its sublime teachings, was read by the Chief Adept, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to him by the unanimous voice of the Fratres.

The following aspirants were then nominated:—The Right Hon. the Lord Skelmersdale, Harry Bateman, Esq., and Capt. Hunter, of Glencarse, Aberdeenshire.

The M—C— was then dissolved in due form, and the members adjourned to refreshment.

The object of the Society being of a purely literary character, and connected with the mysterious sect of the Rosicrucians of the middle ages, demand support from all who are interested in this branch of occult science.

Multum in Parvo, or Masonic Notes and Queries.

"THE FREEMASON."

Some of the Fraternity have lately been regretting the fact of THE FREEMASON occasionally being smaller in size. Well, I regret the circumstance with them, but what have they done to improve matters? I have made it a point to introduce it to the brethren in lodges, and found that many have gladly subscribed, through their booksellers, not having before known that there was such a publication.

If each subscriber obtained one subscriber more for the new year, instead of the paper being lessened in size, we should, no doubt, induce the proprietor to afford us four pages more for articles relating to the history of our beloved Order. The members of lodges might also induce the W.M. to subscribe for the paper, and introduce it to brethren at the meetings. This would be much better than closing directly the minutes are read, because of "no business." 333°.

APEX.

A very beautiful jewel, ascribed by the owner to "Apex," has just been shown to me, and, if for no other reason, its artistic peculiarities may interest some.

A globe of crystal, bisected by an accurately-curved line, one half being pure white and the other blue, is girded by a golden zone, about half an inch broad, enamelled blood-red, and divided into 49 degrees, in every seven of which is represented a grey bird. The zone is at right angles to the plane of the curved line.

Springing from the opposite sides of this zone are two golden rods, which unite a little above the crystal globe, in the manner of an astronomical parallax. At this point appears an eye, from which are nine radii. The continuation of the parallax is abruptly terminated by a cross bar, thus forming an equilateral triangle, which serves to attach the jewel to a crimson, gold, and white ribbon of a design really indescribable. Suffice it to say, that it is like no other ribbon, and is covered with Sanskrit characters.

Can you, or any of your readers, explain the symbolism of the design, and to whom the jewel originally belonged?

QUERCUS.

The writer has been much interested in the recent disputes regarding the S.G.C., and he has come to the deliberate conclusion, that the S.G.C. ought to be supported.

It is a fait accompli, and represents an existing government, therefore anything urged against it is treason. If this Masonic government is supported by the majority of members of the higher degrees, the minority must give way. The question is not one of argument. The power of S.G.C. is matter of fact, and, as a recognised power, it must be supported loyally. CONVERT.

"QUESTIONS FOR CONSIDERATION."

Leaving the desirability of again revising our ritual as a question more or less of opinion, I will, for a moment, confine myself to making a few remarks on the desirability of our having an authorised printed version of it.

As matters of fact, I maintain:—

Firstly, that we have had in circulation for more than a century—certainly, ever since 1724 (when was published "The Grand Mystery, &c.")—a plentiful supply of incomplete, incorrect, and faulty rituals, which have been used, more or less clandestinely, to a much larger extent than many appear to be aware of.

Secondly, that the only effectual means of preventing what all Masons admit to be their objectionable continuance, is to make it worth no one's while to print them. As long as there is a demand for them, somebody will print them, especially if he can make a larger proportionate profit than by printing any other book; but the moment a proper authorised ritual can be bought, no one will buy a faulty one at any price.

Thirdly, that the adoption of the course I propose by the Grand Lodges of Scandinavia and Germany—the most truly Masonic countries of the world—has not tended "to afford a premium to idleness, ignorance, and incapacity," and has not checked "the zeal," or deadened "the energies of numbers of young, active, and intelligent Masons;" nor has it proved "unwise, uncalled-for, very objectionable, and most prejudicial to the welfare of our Order."

I prefer appealing to a few facts than to a multitude of crude ideas, and am prepared to be met with objections from those who, no doubt, love the letter better than they comprehend the spirit, of Freemasonry.

Not liking anonymous "Notes and Queries," I again sign myself,

L. L. W. LONGSTAFF.

In replying to Bro. Longstaff's "inquiries," I answered a portion thereof as if it had been upon the question of proficiency, instead of uniformity of working, an error which arose in consequence of my letter having been written during the late hours of the evening, when I was unable to give that time and attention to my "copy" which the important nature of the subject required.

A YOUNG MASON.

BRO. C. E. AMOS.—Our agricultural friends will be glad to know that the services of our countryman, Bro. C. E. Amos, are as highly appreciated abroad as at home, he being a "fondateur" de la Société des Agriculteurs de France, and an Honorary Member of the Royal Academy of Agriculture of Sweden since 1862. In August last, when acting as a president of a jury (Class Agriculture) at the International Exhibition held at Gothenburg, his explanations and assistance enabled the jurors to work a dynamometer which had been in the country some years, unused, and the results were so satisfactory that at the request of the jury he was presented with the gold medal. The King of Sweden has also been pleased to confer upon Bro. Amos an order of knighthood. We have seen the very handsome "insignia" and we insert a copy of the brevet: "We, Charles, by the grace of God, King of Sweden and Norway, the Goths and the Vandals, make known: That, whereas the meritorious accomplishments by which the consulting engineer to the Royal Agricultural Society of England, Charles Amos, has at all times distinguished himself, have come to our knowledge, we have as a token of our royal grace and favour hereby appointed him, Charles Amos, to be a knight of our Order of Wasa, of which we ourselves are the Grand Master, of which all whom it concerns take notice. In further confirmation we have had this signed by our Chancellor of the Order, and impressed with the zeal of our Order of the Seraphim, at Gothenburg, in an Extraordinary Chapter of the Order, 9th August, 1871. Signed, G. A. SPARRE, Chancellor of the Order, K. Wachtmeister." Bro. Amos acted as consulting engineer to the Royal Agricultural Society of England for twenty-three years, and on his retirement in the beginning of this year, his late partners, Messrs. Eastons, Amos, and Anderson were elected his successors, he still remaining a member of the council, and holding the sinecure position of honorary consulting engineer to the society.—The Wisbech Advertiser.—[Bro. Amos is a P.M. of the 410, Ewell, and a Past Provincial Grand Officer for Surrey.]

THE BEST FIRST.—Turner's Tamarind Cough Emulsion for the Throat and Bronchia, 13½d. and 2/9 per bot.—All wholesale houses in London and Liverpool, and any respectable Chemist.—[Advt.]

Original Correspondence.

The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.

MASONIC PRIVILEGES.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR AND BROTHER,—I am not aware how far liberty of speech and custom are permitted south of the Tweed, but as these stand in jeopardy north of it, I take the opportunity of bringing the proceedings of last meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow before your readers.

I dare say, all of them have heard of the Malcolm Cannore Charter, which is now consigned by all, with the exception of the Lodge St. John, 3<sup>2</sup>, S.C., to the tomb of impudent forgeries. Foremost amongst the denouncers of this document Bro. Buchan holds a place, and for this reason does not stand in peculiar good odour with the brethren of his mother lodge, the 3<sup>2</sup> aforesaid. Lately, 3<sup>2</sup> attempted to extort certain privileges from Grand Lodge upon the misstatement of the genuineness of this charter, a charter which, by the way, does not belong to them, and which Grand Lodge has systematically ignored.

The matter came before a Quarterly Communication of G. Lodge, when Bro. Baird, the R.W.M., was snubbed, and Bro. Buchan, who took him in task for making statements not in accordance with truth, received the approbation of Grand Lodge. Here, one would have imagined, the matter would have ended; but Bro. Baird, finding the Supreme Tribunal indifferent, or rather averse to his voice, resolved to have it out with Bro. Buchan, on his own dunghill. Hurrying home to Glasgow, he summoned the Lodge St. John together, and, after sundry proceedings, suspended Bro. Buchan for five years! for unmasonic language towards him in Grand Lodge!! Now, one would reasonably suppose that the venue would have been Grand Lodge, wherein to try such a question, the alleged offence being committed within its walls, and in the presence of the Grand Master, and that Bro. Baird should then and there have called Bro. Buchan to order. Bro. Buchan appealed first to Grand Lodge, and, by its direction, to the Provincial Grand Lodge, against the sentence of suspension. Here is, first, the liberty of speech denied Bro. Buchan, for it must be remembered that he spoke not as a member of 3<sup>2</sup>, but as a proxy representing another lodge, and in the interests of his constituents.

The matter came before the Provincial Grand Committee, and Bro. Wallace, P.G.S.D., moved the reversal of the suspension, when Bro. Barrow, the Prov. Dep. G.M., discovered, for the first time, that Bro. Wallace had neither seat nor vote in this Committee, although Bro. Wallace, who was the instigator of the creation of that body, had sat and voted on it from its commencement; but, as a brother very naively remarked, it was the first time Bro. Wallace had differed from Bro. Barrow. The whole affair came up before the Provincial Grand Lodge, when the appearance of Bro. Barrow was characterized by an absence of Masonic dignity and courtesy, and which only the tact, urbanity, and forbearance of the Provincial Grand Master, prevented from calling from the indignant brethren something more than a protest. Now, Bro. Wallace's name is a household word in the West of Scotland. In Grand Lodge he is listened to with a respect which his rectitude of purpose, hatred of humbug and shuffling, and desire to keep pure the stream of Freemasonry demand. For Bro. Barrow, with all due deference, we never heard his name coupled with much that was for the benefit of Freemasonry, save as the holder of some honorary office, while Bro. Wallace's services are at all times at the disposal of the Craft.

By use and wont, from the creation of the Provincial Grand Committee, the Senior and Junior Deacons are members of it, and every Mason knows, or ought to know, that Freemasonry has written laws, and also unwritten; and so little ground had Bro. Barrow to cavil at, that, in the minutes of the Provincial Grand Lodge, not a member's name, not even his own was mentioned as belonging to the committee, use and want determining the matter.

Bro. Buchan was re-instated in his Masonic privileges, and the Provincial Grand Master, with whom we cannot sufficiently sympathise, and whose conduct in the chair, under the peculiar circumstances, showed him the right man in the right place, promised to consider the whole matter with regard to the Constitution of Provincial Grand Committee. The Provincial Grand Master hinted that a change might be expected in the office-bearers, and we confess that no widespread desolation would be cast over the province of Glasgow were Bro. Barrow's name to become a thing of the Past.

It becomes a serious matter, and should receive an immediate check, any attempt to infringe upon the liberty of Freemasons, and to call in the powers of a daughter lodge to punish a brother for language used in, and with the approbation of, Grand Lodge; and any attempt to destroy the unwritten laws of Freemasonry likewise demand immediate challenge.

Yours fraternally,
A GLASGOW F.M.

THE PURPLE IN WEST LANCASHIRE.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Amongst the many beautiful characteristics of Masonry, I believe "Unity"—unity in its extended sense, practically and theoretically—takes a very prominent position; and yet I find our brethren in West Lancashire actually wrangling and squabbling amongst themselves concerning the election of a P.G.T. Personalities have been freely indulged in, and in one or two instances the entire character of the communications has been anything but Masonic. Do let our brethren, by all means, terminate a correspondence which ought never to have been commenced. We, as Masons, pride ourselves upon the even tenour of our ways in all relating to our art, and the sooner oblivion buries in forgetfulness that which exposes our petty jealousies, and equally petty animosities, the better it will be for us as consistent Masons, and for the protection of our Order against the attacks of those whose cherished hope is to find us defenceless.

Yours fraternally,
A YOUNG MASON.

Hull.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR,—The epidemic of the purple fever in West Lancashire is of a much more serious character than was at first suspected, and is producing very extraordinary symptoms in those affected. Your correspondent "Argus," for example, shows how some suffer, for he actually inverts the order in which the facts that he draws attention to occurred; not to suit his own purpose, of course, but from severe obliquity of mental vision, the result of a serious attack of the fever, and he ought at once to change his nom de plume.

As to the letter from "One of the Mark'd," I would remark that your correspondent will greatly benefit his cause by slandering those who do not agree with his views, and it is eminently Masonic so to do. Then, with regard to himself, should his Masonic ability equal his poetical genius, he will certainly be appointed Grand Poet Laureate (with a garland of leeks for his emblem of office) in the Province of South Lancashire, unless he dies of the fever (which is not unlikely) before our very clever young Masons succeed in getting the "new province" created.

Would not our enthusiastic young brethren show them wisdom by emigrating to the Isle of Man? Masonry requires stirring up there, judging from the last "Grand Chapter" report.

I am, yours, &c.,
DI. CRAN. KIN.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR,—Freemasonry is too solemn a subject to trifle with. If brethren have complaints to make, why not act as the West Lancashire lodges are now doing, and write to the R.W.P.G.M., as I have read they have done, page 712. The spirit shown by many brethren is unworthy of our three great principles, B.L., R., and Tr., which should never be lost sight of. If "Di. Cran. Kin.," and others of a similar mind, fully appreciated their O.B., they would in their private chamber feel rather ashamed. On behalf of the Craft in general, I, for one, most strongly protest against persons attacking their brethren, unless they have the boldness to attach either their name to their letter, or the office and position, with number, they hold in a Craft lodge; and I think, Sir, you would be justified in refusing to insert such letters, except such as "Fidelis," page 711.

Believe me, dear Sir, yours faithfully,
AUGUSTUS A. BAGSHAW,
Chap. 1235, Prov. G.C. Derbyshire.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In your last issue "Di. Cran. Kin." has managed to hit the right nail on the head. He says: "I suppose the next thing to be suggested by 'Another P.M.' will be a little quiet bribery. If this be tried, why, then, success will be sure." Certainly, it will, Brother "Di.," who should know that better than yourself and your party. It has been tried; you've tried it well, and found it answer, and, no doubt, you will try it again. Don't you know one of your leaders is trying it on, even at this early period of the Masonic year? Have you not a brother—one high in authority—busily engaged going from lodge to lodge, attempting to reply to the circular of Bro. Barber, P.M. 995, by blandly informing the members that "an entire change will be made in the P.G.L. officers next year, and your lodge (this, remember, to every one of them) will be most favourably considered? What is this but a little quiet bribery? Good "Cran. Kin.," pray leave letter-writing to public journals alone; you are not equal to it. Your forte is "chanting;" stick to that—it's a good prop to lean on, and will always assure you a seat at the festive board of every lodge in the province. Do so, and, in the words of Le Sage, "I wish you all sorts of prosperity, with a little more taste."

"Fidelis," a P.G.L. officer, by the way, tells us the P.G.M. "might bestow all his appointments upon his relatives, and we could only grin and bear it." Well, I fancy there are a few Masons in Liverpool, and in other parts of the province, too, who, by their united action, will very shortly convince our "faithful" brother we can do a little more, and that without "blustering talk or threatening notices." So long as we have the Public Instructor to appeal to—that organ so often and so heartily anathemised by "the party," we have no fear of ultimately obtaining redress for our grievances; we hold, he "Who rules o'er freemen, should himself be free," and we desire that our P.G.M. should be freed from his present advisers—brethren who have heaped all this difficulty upon his shoulders—as speedily as possible.

For years, the abuses now complained of have been tamely borne. The remonstrances of friends of worthy men—many of them the very life and soul of Craft Masonry in this province—have been ignored, and these worthy men themselves even snubbed most grossly. This has been carried on until we have had perfectly legal notices of motion pooh-poohed, and refused insertion upon the pages of the minute book; the letters of the Grand Registrar of England read only to be sneered at; the Provincial Grand Registrar called to order by a brother for openly canvassing in lodge a Treasurer illegally and improperly elected by open voting and not by ballot, to serve party purposes, by putting the screw upon the wavering wearers of the purple; and a political speech of an outrageously personal character, permitted from one of the chairs. Until our P.G.M. might well exclaim, with Pitt: "A long train of these practices has, at length, unwillingly convinced me that there is something behind the throne greater than the throne itself."

The very argument of Brother "Fidelis" that the number of offices for annual distribution is so exceedingly small when compared with the number of brethren in the province, is one of the strongest in favour of a division of that province. Another argument may be used when the proper time arrives—if it be necessary. It is sincerely hoped it never will. If the means suggested by our brother for remedying the evil were followed, satisfaction would reign supreme; but no one better than "Fidelis" himself knows his idea will never receive the slightest consideration. But, pray, what is the "stuff" he speaks of, that their "fathers' sons" have shown they are made of? Echo answers, "puff."

Bro. Turner, too, is attacked by this guileless youth as not having "much gentlemanly spirit in him;" but if an open, manly, and straightforward bearing, a fearless advocacy of his brethren's rights and privileges, is considered ungentlemanly—and we have to judge from the exhibition of official temper at the last meeting of the P.G. Lodge—it is not in that august body he will be taught better manners.

As for the three brethren referred to as "doubtless feeling that they cannot subside into their usual obscurity," let me remark, as a member of the same lodge as themselves, they are not very likely to retire from the present agitation so long as they are assisted in their task by the multitude—and there is a multitude—seeking Masonic reform in this province. Upon reading such letters as those in your paper, emanating, as they are known to do, from P.G. Lodge officers, let each of them remember the lines—

"He that wrestles with us strengthens our nerves and sharpens our skill;
Our antagonist is our helper."

Yours fraternally,
ONE OF THE MARK'D.

Nov. 22, 1871.

[Having given ample play to opinions on both sides of this question, we must now close the subject.—Ed. F.]

THE COMPLETION OF ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—One has seen so many appeals in the public papers for money to complete the noble fabric dedicated to the apostle who first introduced Christianity into our country, that it seems a great disgrace upon the people of London—and, indeed, of the whole country—that such appeals should be needed. It may, indeed, be admitted that the present century has seen the restoration of nearly all our cathedrals, and that the public have raised immense sums during that period for the purpose of church building and restoration, and the present incomplete and desolate-looking state of our metropolitan cathedral may be attributed to a variety of causes—amongst others, to the want of life and earnest love of work too unhappily the rule amongst the cathedral staff for so many years, and also to the immense migration of citizens to the suburbs. However, it is to be hoped the work of completion may soon be begun in earnest, and that the funds will flow in fast in answer to the appeals.

In the meantime, is it not in the power of the Craft to do something to help forward the noble work? More especially, as the building is said to have been "begun and ended" by Freemasons, as recorded among the "Remarkable Occurrences in Masonry" in the Masonic Calendar. Thus: "St. Paul's begun by Freemasons, 1675;" "St. Paul's completed by Freemasons, 1710." I hardly see how Masons can have completed a work, which, I am certain, the architect, Bro. Sir Christopher Wren, would say was anything but complete, according to the design conceived by him.

I think if the Lodge of Antiquity, of which Bro. Sir Christopher Wren was the Master, and which formerly met at the Goose and Gridiron in St. Paul's Churchyard, were to set the ball rolling by subscribing to the fund, it would be rapidly followed by every lodge in the kingdom. I am sure our esteemed Grand Superintendent of Works would act as Treasurer to the fund, and it is not too much to hope that the Grand Lodge may contribute something when the debt has been paid off our own Hall. By-the-bye, I have been told that the Grand Lodge is in possession of the trowel used in laying the foundation stone of the cathedral.

Apologising for occupying so much of your valuable space,

I am, yours fraternally,
Nov. 18, 1871. P.M.

A DAY AT THE EARLSWOOD ASYLUM, RED HILL, SURREY.

BY BRO. J. C. PARKINSON, P.M. 181, P.Z. 259.

Idiocy cannot be defined. Weak organizations, mental and physical; faculties unbalanced even when abnormally developed; an incapacity for the every-day duties of life; and a childishness which instruction and tender guidance may modify but can never remove, are the characteristics of the idiots and imbeciles assembled at the Earlswood Asylum. But many of the weaknesses and defects of its inmates are shared in a greater or less degree by the outside world, and one of the most startling conclusions to be drawn from a quiet day spent with these unfortunates, is the narrowness of the border-line between idiocy and what vain man calls sense. If the most stupid of one's acquaintances and friends were selected on the one hand, and the most intelligent of the idiots picked out on the other, an astute jury would be puzzled to decide which were the most capable of taking care of themselves, which the least likely to be injurious to the community. For our own part, we should have little hesitation, in many cases, in giving the palm to the idiots, for reasons which will be apparent to any one who visits the Earlswood Asylum on an off day, when the turmoil of galas and festivals is not, and when the ordinary routine of its home life can be observed. This noble Institution is not sufficiently known. Travellers by the Brighton railway are attracted by the sight by a palatial building near Red Hill, and perhaps read its uses from an adjacent board. On certain red-letter days, the friends of and subscribers to the Asylum make merry in its grounds, and the inmates rejoice over Punch and Judy or the fancy fair; and from time to time it is visited by the representatives of the press, and accounts are published of what the idiots said and did, and how they looked at a representation of private theatricals, or during an amateur concert got up for their amusement. But these occasions are purely exceptional, and the ordinary inner life of this remarkable place is as little known as that of a man who conceals a secret pride, or ambition, or scorn, beneath a frivolous or jocular exterior, and the result is that scant justice is occasionally done to its remedial discipline, to its scrupulous internal economy, and to the broad spirit of charity in which its good is worked.

We have recently spent an entire day at Earlswood, making our visit without warning, and at a time when special preparation was out of the question, and a plain record of our experience may possibly help to remove some erroneous theories respecting idiots. There is nothing unpleasant to be seen. Painful it must always be to behold those afflicted mentally or bodily; but, after a close personal investigation, we have no hesitation in affirming that one-half the popular traditions and beliefs concerning idiots are unfounded and unjust. Earlswood is a wonderful corrective to these, for it is an eminently happy place. The helpless gibbering wretch, loathsome to others, and a torment to himself; the scarcely human object, to be passed by with a shudder, and forgotten as speedily as possible; the shrieks, and groans, and cries we associate with the idiot of the past, are none of them to be seen or heard. In their place is a happy, united family, proud of its occupations, attached to its instructors and friends, harmonious in its relations, and quiet and peaceful in its life. You have to constantly ask which are inmates and which attendants, as you progress through the house and grounds. On inspecting the substantial block of workshops which have been built and opened within the last few years, and in which various industrial occupations are in full progress, you are amazed at the intelligence and skill displayed. Mats and hearthrugs are being made in one department. Frames run down the centre of the room, in each of which an idiot is busy. One deftly weaves cocoa-nut fibre into substantial matting; another converts coloured wool into a gay appendage for the fire-place; while, all round the room, figures are seated sorting, combing, or picking the material out of which these articles are made. A watchful attendant and trade-teacher is instructing, and now and then gently admonishing; and the lack-lustre eyes brighten, and the heavy countenances grow less soulless, as kind words pass, and questions and answers are exchanged. A general air of mental weakness and stupidity is over them all. They laugh consumedly at trifles, have little self-control, are obtuse in catching your meaning, and sometimes seem perversely obstinate in refusing to understand. But who has not suffered from these very deficiencies in his acquaintances outside? The idiots, moreover, are in certain respects better citizens than some stupid people we have read of. They do their work bravely, find no pleasure in afflicting pain, or in annoying each other, and are not without a sense of humour. For example, when a stout man of five-and-twenty leaves his mat-frame, to steal behind you on tip-toe, and tickle with his fat forefinger the palm of the hand you hold behind your back, the other idiots laugh delightedly to see you rouse from your meditations with a jump; while the perpetrator of the joke nods his broad good-humoured face, like a grotesque Chinese monster, and grins at your surprise. Some of them babble incoherently, but all are harmless, and all full of enjoyment in their simple way. A very low average of intelligence, stimulated into usefulness and consequent happiness by circumstances judiciously arranged to meet this end, is your verdict as you leave the mat-room. The historical idiot is in one of the adjoining chambers, busy at work upon his handicraft. This man is a curiosity. Though utterly incapable of acting rationally, he has a prodigious memory, and can and does answer recondite questions in history with extreme exactitude. He is delighted to attract notice, and favoured us with abstracts of the lives of Julius Cæsar, Henry VII., Charles II., and Queen Elizabeth, all given without hesitation, and with a gabbling volubility which suggested a piece of rather clumsy mechanism just wound up and uttering sounds by steam. Learning that he had been busying himself with astronomy, we inquired after the planets Saturn and Jupiter, to be forthwith overwhelmed with a torrent of scientific terms, and an intimate description of the rings of the one and the moons of the other. The chief confusion perceptible in this idiot's answers was a tendency to describe Julius Cæsar as Jupiter, with facetious allusions to his moons, and to dwell upon the twenty-three wounds inflicted on the planet, which caused his death, "as every one who's read Roman history knows." This, we are assured, was fun. He knew that he was talking nonsense, and did it to see how far he could hoax his interlocutor; but he could, if encouraged, have answered questions in history by the hour, giving each name and date correctly, and without faltering once. Where is the line separating this idiot from the sane? He is unfit for the daily business of life—so are many learned men; he is incapable of taking care of himself, or of observing the simplest rules of prudence and common sense—so have been some of the most brilliant geniuses, so are thousands of the commonplace. It was curious to see the interest taken in his talk by the other inmates. They evidently looked up to and admired him as an ornament to society, but regretted, while they were diverted at, his want of ballast. We have seen "agreeable rattles" and dining-out wits, known to be impecunious, regarded in precisely the same spirit by the substantial but dull people they have amused. There is no malice nor cunning in idiots. There are exceptional examples in which this rule has seemed to fall through, one or two of which we shall mention presently; but a good temper which is incapable of resentment, dull perceptions, combined with childish amusements and beliefs, are the characteristics brought out by the admirable discipline of Earlswood. There is great merriment as we go through the boot-making room. The row of boat cleaners in red flannel jackets and black aprons, like Lord Shaftesbury's shoeblack brigade, are hard at it with brush and blacking pot. The menders, sewers, and welters, are all doing useful work, under the superintendence of the master tradesman; and many a pluck at the coat tails, and constant offers to shake hands, and efforts to provoke our smiles, testified to the supreme contentment of them all. The different trades carried on in this imposing block of buildings have each rooms set apart; and inmates are drafted off according to any mechanical taste they may have developed. Basket-making, mattress-making, unpicking and renewing; the tailor's shop, where the male dresses are made, being cut out by the master tailor and sewn by the idiots; the laundry, where idiots are interspersed with attendants, and rendering yeomen's service in the carrying of linen and other useful tasks; the carpenter's shop, where furniture is being made, and where one inmate proudly shows us a row of invalid chairs he has manufactured himself, and another displays the treasures of a tool-chest he has just completed; the school, where a spelling-lesson is being carried on, and where the letters forming the word "magnificent" are transposed mentally by idiots, and the other words to be made out of it written out at their bidding by the master standing at the black board with chalk in hand; the lower schools, where writing is being slowly acquired, and where the formation of letters is practised by aid of bits of wood constructed for the purpose, are all visited in turn. Everywhere there is good temper, and dimmed or partial intelligence. Bearded men talk like little children, while many of the children cannot talk at all. But it is impossible not to be struck with the exceptionally developed faculties of many of those we see. One youth has the gift of mental arithmetic, and adds sums together, and multiplies three figures by three figures, giving the product with lightning rapidity. Another and older man is a humorist, whose bent is peculiar. He cannot read, but, if given a newspaper, will pretend to read paragraphs from it which sound marvellously real. Out of the advertisement page of the Daily News he read three railway accidents, each with separate characteristics, and all with a specific number of lives lost, and a closely particularized variety of injury to life and limb; two fires, with some appreciative praise from "we" on the gallant conduct of the firemen (names and numbers given); some suicides, with the age, appearance, and disposition of the self-murderers minutely described; and a variety of general intelligence of a less exciting kind. Each imaginary paragraph was read off without a pause, and all sounded real enough, save when the burlesque element was introduced purposely, as when "the coroner's jury having considered the case very carefully found him guilty of an interrogation." This man had lost an eye, and there was something irresistibly comic in the way he fixed his solitary orb on those he read to. He was obviously poking fun, even when most obsequiously pretending to amuse. A patient with a genius for mechanics is, however, the most singularly gifted of the inmates. He has constructed a model of a man-of-war, and an allegorical vessel which was exhibited at the Paris Exhibition in 1862, both exquisitely finished; and he is now busy upon a carefully proportioned model of the Great Eastern. He worships mechanical and scientific knowledge, as a simple incident served to show. It chanced that a gentleman, who was visiting the asylum at the same time as ourselves, had been engaged in the manufacture of the existing Atlantic cables, and it was very touching to see the reverential admiration with which this visitor was watched by the idiot when the fact was told. Following him with his eyes whenever he moved, and addressing all his explanations to him exclusively, the poor fellow seemed like an intelligent savage, seeking to learn more of the mysteries of science and civilization. This man is an admirable carpenter, and works so many hours a day for the asylum, using the remainder of his time in the designing and manufacture of his models. Elementary treatises on geometry and naval architecture lie on the table of his private workshop, plans and drawings adorn its walls, and ingenious devices for symbolizing his ideas are to be seen in the carved frames and other articles with which his place abounds. His face is intelligent, his manner eager, but chastened by self-respect. Yet this man is as incapable of exercising the commonest faculties, out of his special calling, as any idiot of them all, and employed his mechanical genius in laying a trap for a former physician to the asylum, which might have injured him for life. The doctor had offended him, and a huge and heavy block of wood was so arranged over the doorway that the first person entering would bring it down upon his head. The arrangements were completed just before an anticipated visit was paid. The calculation of cause and effect was complete, the means taken to ensure a given result were carefully planned and executed, and it was only by the narrowest chance that the intended victim escaped. The only other instance of spite we became acquainted with during our round was in an idiot who has a weakness for funerals, and who keeps a close mental record of all the deaths occurring in the house. This poor fellow expressed great anxiety to follow a man to the grave against whom he has a real or fancied grievance, adding that he would kick his coffin with pleasure—a sentiment reminding one strongly of the vindictive hatred to be sometimes found among the disappointed sane.

By the time we have gone carefully through the workshops and schools, noting everywhere the same kindly discipline and the same happy expression on the faces of the inmates, the dinner hour is at hand, and we hurry to the kitchen. Here are several of the idiot friends we have already made. They have put on brown holland suits over their other attire, and are doing brave work in weighing, carving, and apportioning out the meat, vegetables, and pudding for the approaching meal. Each man and youth seems to know his duty, and no coercion, or even instruction, is required. By an admirable system of book-keeping, to which we have done full justice during our inspection of the stores—vast shops, where all the articles of dress and food and household necessaries are kept and given out for the use of the establishment—every ounce of meat is rigidly accounted for. It says something for the self-control to be acquired even by witless creatures, that among those engaged in the kitchen nothing is ever missed; and that, though naturally hungry in the half-hour before dinner, in which they are occupied with cooked meat, they never pick or pilfer, but are content to wait the regular hour. There are three degrees of diet, each ample for its purpose. The patients on what is termed ordinary diet have four ounces of cooked meat, eight ounces of potatoes, two ounces green vegetables, and six ounces of pudding; those on full diet have an extra ounce of cooked meat and two ounces more pudding; while those on middle diet have each quantity slightly reduced. Boiled and roast beef and mutton, Yorkshire puddings, treacle pudding, rice pudding, and bread puddings, form the staple of food. Everything is of the best quality, and when, after an interval, we return to the dining hall, the inmates of both sexes are busily at work. The girls sit on one side the room and the men and youths at the other, while an attendant stands at the head of each table to give advice and see that due order is observed. All the idiots have knives and forks, which they never misuse, and though some eat voraciously, and seem to bolt their food, there is nothing repulsive even here. For the class named, minced meat and mashed potatoes are provided, so that the injury from defective mastication may be as slight as possible. The historical idiot has his food mashed for him at his own request, and is humorously indignant at the quantity of fat his portion includes, calling up the steward who is with us, and inveighing against his management with a vigorous indignation which reminded one strongly of a cantankerous gourmand at a club. On the day before, this same idiot asked the doctor, "Is thy servant a dog that he should eat this thing?" and even now he seems half amused at his own energy of denunciation. The dinner portions we have seen cut up and weighed are wheeled in from the kitchen—which is only divided from the dining hall by a door—on large hand-waggon constructed for the purpose. They have all been placed in a heated air cupboard since they were divided and put on their several plates, and, at the invitation of the inmate who had tickled our hand, we taste his portion, and find it not only tender and succulent, but admirably hot. We should mention that grace is sung before the food arrives, the idiots joining their voices together most melodiously, and that, though the common drink is water, beer is served in certain cases for which it has been prescribed.

All this time other dinners are being eaten by other patients in other portions of the house. The food is identical in quality and cooking; but the manner of its serving is slightly different. The Earlswood inmates may be divided into three classes—those who are elected on the charity, and who pay nothing; those whose friends can partly pay their cost, and who are admitted at a commuted rate fixed by the board of management; and those who are the children of prosperous parents, who are able and willing to pay the full sum charged. Some of the latter are what are called "associated cases," others have private sitting-rooms of their own, and an attendant to themselves. Accordingly a dinner table is laid for ten or twelve, or for one, as the case may be, and serviettes, water-bottles, castors, salt-cellars, and all the little paraphernalia of the meal, are supplied. It is part of the education of the patients to learn to use these properly, and to behave in a seemly fashion while helping themselves. The young children, too, boys and girls, dine in nurseries set apart for them; and it was one of the most affecting experiences of the day to see the long row of infant faces, many of them pretty, and even beautiful, and all well-behaved, and to know that they formed a class apart, and that their maturity would never be lightened by the ordinary enjoyments of human life.

After dinner, the inmates walked and played in the spacious grounds on which the Asylum stands, and which are, thanks to the prescience of its founders, its own property. From seven to eight miles of artificial walks—all made by the inmates—can be traversed without once going out of the estate. It was amusing to watch the lads and men on the swings and at football. Idiots as they are, they swing and kick boldly without ever happening an accident, and never was either sport more thoroughly enjoyed or more heartily played. To send one of the footballs plump into the little knot formed by the doctor, the steward, and the two strangers looking on, was considered the height of humour, and the laughter was long and loud when one of the inmates, stronger and more daring than the rest, sent the great leathern globe whizzing past ears and heads which were busily guarding against playful assaults from another quarter.

The dormitories, where each of the little girl's beds have a doll reclining on its pillow, and waiting its owner's bedtime; the infirmary, where one poor damsel is dying from the effects of an epileptic seizure to which she had succumbed, while apparently well and happy that morning; the kitchen and flower gardens, where inmates are busy, and in the former of which some parsnips have been stocked by idiot hands in such a way as to be a marvel of artistic design; and the farmyard, where the cows are being milked by the patients, and the routine of country life gone through, are all seen in turn. We could multiply indefinitely examples of the interesting and puzzling cases we met with, from the idiot carrier who drives his donkey-cart down to the railway station daily, and brings all parcels safely back, to the idiot postman who conveys all letters to and from the post without a single error. In the course of the day at Earlswood you become acquainted with many things not previously included in your philosophy; and your observations form one long testimony to the admirable system in vogue there, and to the deep benefits conferred upon the most afflicted section of society by the founder of the Asylum, the well-known philanthropist, Dr. Andrew Reed. When this good man first founded that home for idiots at Highgate-hill, which was the forerunner of the present establishment at Earlswood, the scene at the first gathering of inmates was sufficient to discourage the stoutest heart. "It was," we read, "a period of distraction, disorder, and noise of the most unnatural character. Some had defective sight; most had no power of articulation; many were lame in limb or muscle; and all were of weak or perverted mind. Some had been spoiled, some neglected, some ill-used. Some were clamorous without speech, and rebellious without mind; some were sullen and perverse, and some unconscious and inert. Some were constantly making involuntary noises from nervous irritation, and others hid themselves in corners from the face of man as from the face of an enemy. Windows were smashed, wainscoting broken, boundaries defied, and the spirit of lawlessness was triumphant. It seemed to me as though nothing less than the accommodation of a prison would meet the wants of such a family. Some who witnessed the scene retired from it in disgust and others in despair." Contrast this horribly repulsive scene with the beautiful calm and loving discipline of the life at the Earlswood home; and the weight of national gratitude felt to be due to the memory of Dr. Reed cannot be easily overstated. The Asylum, as managed now under the board, of which Mr. Abbiss is the presiding genius, and under the professional care of Dr. Grabham, its resident physician, may be visited by the most sensitive without either fear or pain; the strongest feeling being that of wonder and shame that the unfailing laws of love and kindness should have been left untried upon the poor idiot until Dr. Reed took the matter up.

In conclusion, it is but right to name the extreme economy with which this beautiful place is managed. The clothing of the inmates is, like the food, of the best quality, but, by special contracts for last year's fashions, the material forming it is purchased on the most advantageous terms from a well-known London tradesman; and, according to the last report of the Commissioners of Lunacy, the weekly cost per patient per head is infinitely less than would be supposed possible by those who have seen the comforts and luxuries of the place. Thirteen shillings and fivepence is the sum per head given in the Blue-book, against £1 6s. 2d. per head at Bethlehem Hospital, and £1 19s. 4¼d. at the Manchester Royal Lunatic Asylum.

The Commissioners add a note, too, to their mention of Earlswood, stating that a considerable part of its expenditure, is due to the large proportion of attendants required for helpless children, and for educational purposes and trade teaching. But Earlswood must be seen to be appreciated. Its charity is of the broadest, for it lends a helping hand to those who can partly pay for the accommodation of an afflicted child, without affixing to them the brand of pauperism. This is perhaps the wisest and the kindest of the many wise and kind rules adopted by the management, and results in procuring a home for many an afflicted creature whose struggling parents would otherwise be cut off from help, and who are utterly unable to provide adequately for their poor son or daughter at home. But, we repeat, Earlswood should be visited freely, and without the faintest anticipation of aught shocking or repulsive. Indeed, the impressions it leaves behind are respect and liking for the kindly idiots, and a shrewd suspicion that lower moral natures may be found among the weak and selfish of the sane.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Any dyspeptic sufferer, aware of the purifying, regulating, and gently aperient powers of these Pills, should permit no one to cloud his judgment or to warp his course. With a box of Holloway's Pills, and attention to its accompanying "Directions," he may feel thoroughly satisfied that he can safely and effectually release himself from his miseries without impairing his appetite or distressing his digestion. By aiding natural nutrition this excellent medicine raises the bodily strength to its extreme limits, and banishes a thousand annoying forms of nervous complaints. An occasional resort to Holloway's remedy will prove highly salutary to all persons, whether well or ill, whose digestion is slow or imperfect, usually evidenced by weariness, listlessness and dispondency.—[Advt.]

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

THE CRAFT.

METROPOLITAN.

Mount Lebanon Lodge, No. 73.—The meeting of this old lodge was held on Tuesday, 21st inst., at Bridge House Hotel, Southwark, Bro. M. E. Loewenstark, W.M., presided. There were present: Bros. G. Free, S.W.; G. J. Grace, J.W.; E. Harris, P.M., Treas. and Sec.; A. L. Dussek, S.D.; S. Harman, J.D.; Gomme, I.G.; T. Wilkins, D.C.; F. Walters, P.M.; H. Moore, P.M.; F. H. Ebsworth, P.M.; T. J. Sabine, P.M.; H. Keeble, Rayden, and a large number of brethren. The only work that presented itself, was passing Bro. Hill to the second degree. A six-guinea P.M. jewel was voted to Bro. M. A. Loewenstark, W.M., for his efficient services rendered to the lodge. Several candidates for initiation were proposed, and the lodge was closed.

Rose of Denmark Lodge, No. 975.—This installation meeting of this lodge was held at the White Hart, Barnes, Surrey, on Friday, the 17th inst., Bro. C. A. Smith, W.M., after passing Bros. Mullins, Jackson, and Edmonds, and raising Bro. Hinton, installed his successor, Bro. W. H. Barnard, in capital style, and afterwards delivered the three addresses with remarkable fluency and effect. The officers invested were Bros. S. H. Stephens, S.W.; J. H. Tyler, J.W.; Rev. J. S. Darvell, Chap.; G. T. Noyce, P.M., Treas.; R. W. Little, P.M., Sec.; H. N. Hewett, S.D.; W. Bell, J.D.; J. Ayles, I.G.; S. Farrell, W.S. The new Master then initiated two gentlemen into the Order in a very correct and impressive manner, after which the lodge was closed, and the brethren sat down to a banquet comprising all the good things of the season. All the loyal and Masonic toasts were duly proposed and honoured, and the new Master proved himself a worthy successor of Bro. Smith, whose services to the lodge were rewarded during the evening with a splendid P.M.'s jewel, for which the sum of ten guineas had been voted from the funds. There were about forty-five brethren present, including several visitors, Bros. L. Stean, P.M., and F. G. Baker, P.M., being amongst the latter. After a pleasant evening the Tyler's toast gave the signal for retiring from the festive scene.

Copper Lodge, No. 1076.—This lodge held its annual meeting at the Marine Hotel, Victoria Docks, on Thursday, 9th inst. Bro. Joseph Gaskell, W.M., presided, supported by his officers and P.M.'s. After the minutes of the former meeting were read and confirmed, four candidates were duly initiated. Bro. Charles Ashdown, W.M.-elect, was presented to Bro. P. M. Sisley to receive the benefit of installation, which ceremony was proceeded with. A Board of Installed Masters was formed, and Bro. Charles Ashdown, W.M.-elect, was then installed, according to ancient custom, by Bro. P. M. Sisley, who also delivered the usual addresses. The W.M. then appointed the following brethren as his officers for the ensuing year: Bros. W. Brown, S.W.; B. Brayshaw, J.W.; John Henderson, P.M., as Sec.; A. Knox, S.D.; Priestley, J.D.; W. W. Moot, I.G.; John Martin, W.S.; Rhill, D.C.; B. G. Park, Treas. (re-elected); and Allison, Tyler. They were invested by the Installing Master, Bro. Sisley, to whom a vote of thanks was recorded. The lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to partake of an excellent banquet, provided by Bro. Oad, to which upwards of 100 sat down. After the cloth was withdrawn, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to, and a very happy evening was spent. Amongst the visitors present we noticed the following: The W.M. of Lodge No. 13; the W.M. and S.W. of No. 700; the W.M. of No. 212; the S.W. and J.W. of No. 1327; with several other brethren.

Perfect Ashlar Lodge, No. 1178.—An emergency meeting of this lodge was held on Monday, the 20th inst., at the Gregorian Arms' Tavern, Bermondsey. Bro. G. J. Grace, W.M., opened the lodge. There were present: Bros. J. W. Dudley, S.W.; J. H. Harmsworth, J.W.; F. H. Ebsworth, P.M., Treas.; F. Walters, P.M., Sec.; J. A. Axtell, as S.D.; T. W. Cox, J.D.; C. Deakin, I.G.; J. Green, I.P.M.; W. May, A. Lewis, J. Hyde, G. Drapper, G. Mabbs, J. Wootton, G. Free, &c. The visitors were Bros. C. J. Bass (79), E. Mallet (141), B. J. Cole (871), C. Sargeant (700), A. Overton (1309), &c. Ballots, taken separately, were declared to be unanimously in favour of the admission of Messrs. W. J. Barber, W. Hayes, T. Pindar, J. Walter, and J. G. Tanyer. W. J. Barber, J. G. Tanyer, and W. Hayes being in attendance, were introduced separately, and duly initiated. The W.M. performed the work in an able manner. The lodge was then closed.

PROVINCIAL.

STOCKPORT.—St. John's Lodge No. 104.—This lodge held its ordinary monthly meeting on Monday last week, at the Old Admiral, Middle Hilgate.

The fact of Lord de Tabley, R.W. Prov. G.M. Cheshire, having signified his intention to visit the Lodge on this occasion, rendered the meeting more than usually interesting, and there was a large attendance of brethren from Stockport and the neighbourhood. His lordship was accompanied by the following provincial officers; Bros. J. A. Birch, P.P.G.S.D.; Henry Howard, P.P.G.D.; Major Wilkinson, P.G.S.D., and D. Smith, P.G.J.D. The lodge was opened at five o'clock, the W.M.'s chair being occupied by Bro. Sykes, this being the concluding meeting of his term of office. He was supported by the following P.M.'s of the lodge; Bros. Jackson, Berresford, Backhouse, and Bidder; and by the following officers: Bros. Goodacre, S.W.; Pepper, J.W.; Wakefield, Secretary; Moore, Treasurer; Collier, Organist; Greenwood, S.D.; Finch, J.D.; Whittaker, I.G.; Cooke and Kelsall, Stewards. Shortly after the opening of the Lodge, the attendance of the R.W.P.G.M., Lord de Tabley, was announced, and permission having been granted for his admission, his lordship entered the lodge in company with his provincial officers, and was saluted by the brethren in the distinctive manner peculiar to his high Masonic rank. The business of the meeting was resumed, and Messrs. Isaac Housley, of Stalybridge, and W. S. Foster, of Manchester, were initiated in due form. Bro. the Rev. J. Crennell, P.M., was by the unanimous vote of the lodge elected an honorary member, several of the brethren speaking in terms of high praise of the services he had rendered the Craft generally and more especially in the Stockport lodges. The election of the W.M. for the ensuing year was then proceeded with, and the choice fell by almost unanimous consent upon Bro. Goodacre, S.W. Bro. Moore was re-elected Treasurer; and the W.M.-elect, having expressed his acknowledgments for the honour conferred upon him, and greetings having been received from various sister lodges, the R.W.P.G.M. retired after the customary salutation, and the lodge was closed in due form. The brethren then adjourned to refreshment, and, after discussing a sumptuous repast, provided by Bro. Raynor, "mine host" at the Old Admiral, the W.M. gave the usual loyal toasts, which were drunk with enthusiasm. The W.M. next gave the health of the M.W.G.M., the Marquis of Ripon, and that of the M.W.D.G.M., the Earl of Carnarvon. (The toasts were heartily received and duly honoured.)—The W.M. said the next toast he had to propose was what he might justly term the toast of the evening. It was a toast that he was proud indeed to have the honour of proposing on the present occasion, when they were honoured by the presence of their Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master. (Applause.) He took his lordship's visit not only as a personal compliment to himself, for which he could not but feel extremely gratified, but also as a still greater compliment to the Lodge of St. John, and he was sure the members would show by the hearty manner in which they received the toast, how much they appreciated his lordship's kindness in visiting them that evening. (Hear, hear.) He had much pleasure in giving them the health of Lord de Tabley, the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master of Cheshire. (The toast was drunk with the greatest enthusiasm, the brethren saluting his lordship with "twenty and one" and three ringing cheers.)—The R.W.P.G.M., in responding, said he thanked the brethren from the bottom of his heart for the very fraternal and affectionate way in which they had been good enough to drink his health. His first duty was to express to the Worshipful Master of the Lodge his apologies for his remissness—being an honorary member of St. John's—for not having attended the lodge for such a length of time. He could plead as an excuse the many calls upon his time, and the many duties he had to perform both as Provincial Grand Master of Cheshire and otherwise. The last occasion on which he visited St. John's Lodge they elected him an honorary member of it, and presented him with a jewel which he greatly prized. The recollection of that day was quite as fresh and green as ever in his memory. Times had changed, and circumstances were altered since the day, exactly six years ago, that he last visited St. John's Lodge, and he need not tell them how happy he was to receive the same warm welcome as he received on the occasion of his last visit. He still saw around him many of the old faces which he then saw. It was a source of much pleasure to him to see their faces again, and to see their numbers recruited and added to by so many other congenial spirits. It was an illustration of the immutability of the principles of Freemasonry, to find that the same feelings which animated the lodge at that time animated it still. He found the same hearty welcome, the same fraternal greeting, the same harmonious working, and the same zeal in promoting the great cause of charity on which their order was founded. (Hear, hear.) He was very glad to find the working of the lodge in such admirable order. The P.W.M. had discharged his duties in a manner that must have commended itself to the admiration of his provincial officers, and there was every likelihood of his finding a worthy successor in the W.M.-elect. (Hear, hear.) He could only say to the lodge "Go on and prosper." The lodge of St. John had prospered to a remarkable degree. He found it one of the most numerous lodges in his province. He would only repeat a caution which he hoped they would not take amiss,—it was a caution he had repeated to many lodges, and one it was essential to give. It was that they would be careful not to be led away by mere numbers, but in the selection of their initiates to have regard to their correct moral bearing outside the lodge. (Hear, hear.) These injunctions were set forth in a letter that had been addressed to the various lodges in the country, by the late Grand Master of England, Lord Zetland. (Hear, hear.) And he commended that letter to the earnest consideration of the many Past Masters and other officers he saw before him. Let them enquire particularly into the character of the candidates for the order, and they would support the credit and status of Masonry more by so doing, and by exercising a sound discretion in the admission of candidates, than by the mere fact of having large numbers initiated in their lodges. (Hear, hear.) He felt it his duty to make these remarks, inasmuch as he knew how strong a temptation it was to a W.M. to initiate as many candidates as he could during his term of office. He thanked the brethren for the kind way in which they had drunk his health, and the Stockport brethren generally, for the way in which they had gathered round him in that ancient town. (Hear, hear.) He trusted that when he next visited the Lodge of St. John, he might still find it prospering. He was especially glad to note that the lodge had continued to support the charities of the order. Charity was the greatest ornament in the Masonic crown. (Hear, hear.) He exhorted them to stand fast to the principles of their order, to abide by the ancient landmarks of brotherly love, relief, and truth, and by so doing they would sustain and keep their order in the high state it now is. (Hear, hear.) He begged to drink their good healths, and to return thanks for the manner in which they had drunk his own.—The W.M. proposed, as the next toast the healths of the D.P.G.M., the Right Hon. G. Cornwall Legh, and the rest of the Provincial Officers. (The toast was drunk with "three times seven.")—Bro. Henry Howard responded, and expressed a hope that at some future time Lord de Tabley would favour some of the other Stockport Lodges with a visit, in order that they might have some wholesome incentive to exertion, and that they might show they were not behindhand in the workings of Masonry.—Lord de Tabley proposed the health of the W.M. in eulogistic terms. The toast was heartily received, and suitably responded to.—Bro. Goodacre, S.W., gave the toast of the visiting brethren, which was responded to by Bro. Major Wilkinson, P.G.S.D., and Bro. D. Smith, P.G.J.D.—Other toasts followed, including "The Masonic Charities," "The Past Masters of the Lodge," &c. The evening's enjoyment was considerably enhanced by some capital songs, and the able performances of Bro. Collier on the pianoforte. Amongst the visiting brethren were Bro. Matthews (W.M. 993), Bro. Abbey (P.M. 993), Bro. Guttridge (P.M. 1005), and Bro. Provis (P.M. 104). We should not omit to state that Bro. Berresford, P.M., discharged the all-important duties of D.C. throughout the evening with his accustomed felicity and success.

BROMLEY, KENT.—Acacia Lodge, No. 1314.—This flourishing lodge, met at the Bell Hotel, on Tuesday, the 14th inst., Bro. Thomas Knott, W.M., presided, supported by Bros. R. H. Williams, S.W.; S. Wells, J.W.; E. Coste, P.M., Secretary; A. Avery, I.P.M.; W. T. Manger, S.D.; W. Seaman, J.D.; F. Deering, I.G.; J. Avery, W.S.; W. Wyer, D.C. The lodge was opened in the three degrees and Bros. Boden and Kingstone were raised to the sublime degree of M.M. by the W.M. in a very impressive manner, the lodge was then closed. The brethren sat down to a very excellent banquet, served in Bro. Sutton's usual good style. The W.M. proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, which were heartily received and ably responded to. The evening was enlivened by the very excellent singing of Bros. Deering, Manly, Searle, Smith, and others. The visitors present were Bros. G. A. Smith, W.M. Beadon Lodge, 619, W. Green, S.W. Harrow Lodge, 1310, Turner, Rl. Albert Lodge, Child, Jubilee Lodge, 72, Balfour, Justice, 147, who expressed their approbation in very flattering terms on the working of the lodge, and the hearty welcome they had received from the brethren present. The Tylers toast brought this pleasant meeting to a close.

The following reports stand over till next week:—Craft Lodges 523, 650, 1182, 1326, 1327, 1331, 1365; Chapters 278 and 1051; Mark Lodge 43; the Ipswich Royal Plantagenet Encampment of Knights Templar; and the Domestic Lodge of Instruction, No. 177 (anniversary supper).

ROYAL ARCH.

METROPOLITAN.

Andrew Chapter, No. 834.—The installation meeting of this chapter was held at the Royal Sussex Hotel, Hammersmith, on Tuesday, the 16th inst. In consequence of the lamented illness of Comp. Andrew, P.Z., and at the special request of the members, Comp. R. Wentworth Little, P.Z., attended for the purpose of installing the Principals. The chapter was opened at seven o'clock, and a ballot was taken for Comp. Barfield, P.Z. 19, as a joining member, after which a conclave of Installed Principals was formed, and Comp. S. Millis regularly installed as J., Comps. J. Slack and J. Thompson being successively installed as H. and Z. respectively. The companions were then readmitted, when Comp. Bean was invested as S.N., Read, P.S.; Worthington and Bryett, Assts.; Cole, D.C. A vote of thanks was unanimously passed to Comp. Little for his kind attendance on the occasion, and the chapter was closed. At the excellent banquet which followed, Comp. R. S. Lines the I.P.Z., was presided with a P.Z.'s jewel in recognition of his able services in the chair. The usual toasts were given, and received with great cordiality, the only damper upon the evening's enjoyment being the absence of Comp. Andrew, the respected Preceptor and S.E., whose indisposition was regretted by the M.E.Z., and several of the speakers during the proceedings. Among other companions present were Comps. W. Hardy, P.Z.; Barfield, P.Z.; W. Game, and J. Roach.

ORDERS OF CHIVALRY.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

WOOLWICH.—Kemp's Tyule Encampment.—This encampment met at the Masonic Hall, William Street, Woolwich, on the 17th inst., under the presidency of Sir Kt. T. Harrison, E.C. There being no business for the encampment, the Provincial Grand Conclave of Kent was then opened by V.E. Sir Kt. Colonel H. Clerk, 33°, P.G. Commander, who appointed his officers as follows: Captain W. F. P. Dadson, D.P.G.C.; J. Forrester, Prior; J. J. Forrester, Prelate; T. Harrison, 1st Capt.; T. W. Board, 2nd Capt.; G. Kenning, Chancellor; G. W. Taylor, Treasurer; T. H. Edmonds, Expert; J. W. Figg, D.C.; and J. Henderson, Equerry. The P.G. Conclave was then closed, and the encampment resumed and adjourned, when the Knights sat down to a banquet. There were several visitors present, including V. E. Sir Kt. Capt. N. G. Phillips, 33°, P.G.C. Suffolk and Cambridge, and Sir Kt. Hyde Pullen, 33°.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending Friday, December 1, 1871.

The Editor will be glad to have notice from Secretaries of lodges and chapters of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, NOV. 25.

Red Cross Conclave, Rose and Lily, Gosden's, Masons'-avenue, Basinghall-street.
Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. C. S. Dilley, Preceptor.
Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 7; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
South-Eastern Masonic Charitable Association, New Cross Branch.

MONDAY, NOV. 27.

Lodge 4, Royal Somerset House and Inverness, Freemasons' Hall.
,, 26, Castle of Harmony, Willis's, St. James's.
,, 28, Old King's Arms, Freemasons' Hall.
,, 79, Pythagorean, Ship Hotel, Greenwich.
,, 183, Unity, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
,, 831, British Oak, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Baneroff-place, Mile End.
,, 902, Burgoyne, Anderson's Hotel, Fleet-street.
Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern, Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30; Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street (opposite Pantheon), Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. J. R. Stacey, Preceptor.
Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. Dilley, Preceptor.
St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Morlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, NOV. 28.

Lodge 14, Tuscan, Freemasons' Hall.

Lodge 92, Moira, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
,, 141, Faith, Anderson's Hotel, Fleet-street.
,, 145, Prudent Brethren, Freemasons' Hall.
,, 186, Industry, Freemasons' Hall.
,, 205, Israel,
,, 259, Prince of Wales, Willis's Rooms, St. James's.
,, 1158, Southern Star, Montpelier Tav., Walworth.
,, 1196, Urban, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell.
Chap. 21, Cyrus, Ship and Turtle Tav., Leadenhall-st.
,, 180, St. James's, Union, Freemasons' Hall.
Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cotterburne, Preceptor.
Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.
Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, Gladstone Tavern, Bishopsgate-st. Within, at 7.30; Bro. Bolton (W.M. 1227), Preceptor.
St. Marylebone Lodge of Instruction (1305), British Stores Tavern, New-street, St. John's Wood, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 29.

Lodge 898, Temperance in the East, 6, Newby-place, Poplar.
Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7½.
Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Ludus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, NOV. 30.

General Committee Girls' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4.
Lodge 22, Neptune, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street.
The R.A. Chapter of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor. Ceremony, and part sections.
Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Pannure Lodge of Instruction (720), Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7; Bro. John Thomas, Preceptor.
Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern, Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.
Chigwell Lodge of Instruction, Bald-faced Stag Hotel, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30.

FRIDAY, DEC. 1.

Lodge 706, Florence Nightingale, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich.
,, 890, Hornsey, Anderson's Hotel, Fleet-street.
,, 1275, Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road.
,, 1305, St. Marylebone, Eyre Arms Tavern, St. John's Wood.
Chap. 8, British, Freemasons' Hall.
,, 259, Prince of Wales, Willis's Rooms, St. James's.
Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Htl. Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Muggerridge, Preceptor.
Robert Burns Lodge of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, at 8; Bro. Wm. Watson, Preceptor.
Burgoyne Lodge of Instruction, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, N.W., at 8.
St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
Burdett Courts Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.

Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West Smith, Preceptor.

THE CITY DIRECTORY.—Messrs. W. H. and L. Collingridge, of the City Press, announce for publication, in December, The City of London Directory. It is stated that this work will be compiled from original sources of information, and will comprise many new features of considerable importance. According to the prospectus, the information respecting the Corporation of London, all parochial and official matters, the banking and trading interest, &c., will be singularly complete and accurate.

SMALL-POX, FEVERS, AND SKIN DISEASES.—The predisposition to is prevented by Lamplough's Pyretic Saline. Vitalising and invigorating, its effects are remarkable in their cure and prevention. Take it as directed. Sold by chemists and the maker, H. Lamplough, 113, Holborn-hill.—[Advt.]

Advertisements.

Royal Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons or their Widows.

ELECTION, MAY, 1872.

THE favour of your Votes and Interest is earnestly solicited on behalf of

WILLIAM ALLISON,
AGED 62 YEARS.

He has been a Mason 27 years, having been initiated into the Barton Lodge, No. 733, in Hamilton, Canada West, in 1844; Exalted in the Royal Arch Chapter, No. 733, in 1845; Joined the Union Waterloo Lodge, No. 13, in 1848. Became a Knight Templar in 1856. He suffered a considerable time from disease of the throat, rendering it necessary for him, thirteen years ago, to undergo an operation; the result of which and old age unfits him to contribute anything towards his own support. He is entirely dependent on the small sum he receives from three Lodges and one Chapter as their Tyler. He was formerly in good circumstances, having been a Foreman in a Boot and Shoemakers' Warehouse, in Canada.

The case is strongly recommended by

Bro. the Right Worshipful FREDERICK PARTISON, P.G. Warden; 57½ Old Broad-street, E.C.
+ G. BOLTON, P.M., 169, 147, 1155, P.Z. 169; Russell-street, Rotherhithe.
+ C. COUPLAND, P.M. 913, A.S. No. 13 Chapter; Burrage-road, Plumstead, S.E.
+ SAMUEL MAY, P.M., P.G.S., 23, 101, 780, 87, 1185, 'Grand Stewards' Lodge, V.P.
+ EDWARD ARNOULIN, P.S.W., No. 12, 172; St. John's-street, Clerkenwell.
+ C. W. ASHDOWN, S.W. 1076; Lime Villa, Gurney-road, Stratford, E.
+ F. T. P. BIRTS, 13, P.M. 829; Powis-street, Woolwich.
+ G. B. DAVIS, W.M. 13; Wellington-street, Woolwich.
+ J. DELLAGANE, P.J.W., No. 12, 172; St. John's-street.
+ C. A. ELLIS, P.M. and W.M., No. 913; 19, Vicarage Park, Plumstead.
+ JOHN GRAYDON, P.M. 13 and 913, P.Z. and M.E.Z. 13 Chapter, P.P.S.G.D. Kent; Royal Arsenal, Woolwich.
+ W. J. GRAHAM, W.M. 700; Albion-terrace, Charlton.
+ J. HENDERSON, P.M. 13, 829, 913, 1107, P.Z. 13; 33, Eleanor-road, Woolwich.
+ MCKERNAN, 192, 1288; 62, St. John's-square, Clerkenwell.
+ KNIGHT, W.M. 1107, J.W. 913, P.G.S. Kent.
+ GEORGE KENNING (V.P.), W.M. 192, J.W. 1293; P.G.D. Middlesex; Upper Sydenham, S.E.
+ S. H. PAIN, S.W. 913, 1107; Artillery-place, Woolwich.
+ PICKING, P.M. 13, and 1227, 1076; 28, Victoria-grove, South Homsey.
+ J. ROWLAND, P.M. 700.
+ C. J. SUTTON, P.M. 55 and 1107, P.P.G.A.D.C. Kent; 268, City-road.
+ EDWARD WEST, W.M. 1327, P.M. 1076, S.G.D., Herts.; North Woolwich.

Gentlemen against whose name † appears will be thankful to receive proxies on behalf of William Allison, 44, William Street, Woolwich

Boys and Girls' Proxies will be gladly received for the purpose of exchange at Bro. W. Francis', No. 8, Red Lion-square, London; Bro. Ed. West, North Woolwich; and Bro. Kenning, Little Britain, London.

Bro. George Kenning,
GOLDSMITH,
JEWELLER & WATCHMAKER.
London: 2, 3 & 4, Little Britain,
AND
198, Fleet Street.
Liverpool: 2, Monument Place.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGE
THE FUTURE OF FREEMASONRY IN IRELAND	735 & 736
PROV. GRAND LODGE OF LEICESTERSHIRE AND RUTLAND ... ..	736 & 737
PROV. GRAND LODGE OF NORFOLK	737, 738, & 739
PROV. GRAND MARK LODGE OF NORTHUMBERLAND AND DURHAM ... ..	739
THE INDEPENDENT ORDER OF GOOD TEMPLARS	739
ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS ... ..	740
"A BODY WITHOUT A HEAD" ... ..	740 & 741
MULTAM IN PARVO ... ..	741
ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE ... ..	741 & 742
CONSECRATION OF A LODGE IN NEW ZEALAND ...	742
CONSECRATION OF A LODGE AT CHIPPING SODBURY... ..	742
CONSECRATION OF A ROSE CROIX CHAPTER AT NEWPORT ... ..	742
CONSECRATION OF A K.T. ENCAMPMENT AT NEWPORT ... ..	742 & 743
INSTRUCTION—
Anniversary Supper of the Domestic Lodge ...	743
GRAND MARK LODGE ... ..	743
THE CRAFT—
Metropolitan ... ..	744
Provincial... ..	744 & 745
India ... ..	745
ROYAL ARCH—
Metropolitan ... ..	745
Provincial ... ..	745
MARK MASONRY ... ..	745
ORDERS OF CHIVALRY—
Knights Templar ... ..	745
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ...	745 & 746
SCOTLAND ... ..	749
ADVERTISEMENTS ... ..	733, 734, 746, 747, & 748

THE FUTURE OF FREEMASONRY IN IRELAND.

SECOND ARTICLE.

Much has been said and much has been written concerning the origin of the Masonic Order, as we find it in our day. It is not my present purpose to enter at all into that branch of the subject. We may, I think, fairly assume that Freemasonry, or something very similar to it, has existed from "time immemorial," and whether it was originally exclusively operative in its character, or not, is beside the present question. The Freemasonry of our day is, at all events, purely speculative, and it is only on such comparatively rare occasions as the laying of foundation-stones and such-like ceremonies, that any official connection between it and the operative associations from which it probably sprung is publicly asserted. Looking at it as it exists, we recognise a system probably as perfect as any merely human organisation can be, binding in its "mystic tie" all classes, all countries, and all creeds; teaching mankind the same practical lesson that Paul proclaimed to the Athenians of his day, that God "hath made of one blood all nations of men," and inculcating its lessons of "peace, love, and harmony" in every locality where the foot of man finds a resting-place. Like other great organisations, it has met with much persecution, at various times and in many lands, and the usual effect of persecution has been found in the increased energy, zeal, and devotedness of its disciples. Those days are, happily, past. Our lines have fallen in pleasant places, and our grand old Order now holds a high position in the esteem of those whose good report is valuable, and wields an influence second to no other human organisation in the world. True, it has its enemies. It has been said, and said wisely, that a man who has no enemies is good for very little; and, probably, the same truism applies with increased force to a system. There are those who ignorantly misunderstand, and there are those who willfully misrepresent, our organisation; but as long as we keep intact the principles that have made our Order what it is, we can afford to pity the one class, and to despise the other class of our assailants. It is universally admitted that the Masonic Order has now attained to a position unprecedented in its annals; and when we come to ask, what may this fact be attributed to? I think the answer will be found in the prominence with which two special "doctrines" are presented, and in the faithfulness with which Masonic theory on those doctrines is worked out in Masonic practice.

Those two points are, unlimited tolerance as to religious opinions, and perfect equality as regards the standing of our members. The importance of those two "platforms," at the present day, can hardly be over-stated. Thinking men differ widely in their estimates of truth, and the honestest thinkers will come to very different conclusions when religion is the subject of their investigations. The "isms" that cling around, and frequently disfigure and obscure, the truth of God's revelation, divide men more effectually and widely than the physical barriers that map out the globe; and a Society which, while almost a religious one in its precepts and teaching, requires no religious test of its initiates but the recognition of a Supreme Being, affords a suitable arena where honest men of all phases of faith and forms of belief, can meet without compromise of principle, and with the certainty that no word will be spoken and no act done which need hurt the most sensitive as to religious matters. Again, a Society which, within its borders, ignores class distinctions and social differences, and takes men for what they are intrinsically worth, is in striking contrast to the usual practices of the world, and presents a haven where men meet their social superiors as men and as brethren, and sink for a time the false advantages which the "accidents" of birth or fortune endow them with elsewhere. In those two principles will be found, I think, the key to our success as an Institution, and just as we keep to, or diverge from, the standard which they establish, may we expect to find our Order prosperous and influential, or languishing and weakening in its influence on our common humanity.

Looking at the Masonic system as it is established in Ireland, we find within it, coupled with much that is good and wholesome, the elements of future disunion and disruption. Not content with the universal "three degrees" of Ancient Craft Masonry, and the crowning revelations of the Royal Arch Degree, an attempt has been made to initiate another rite, by compounding a system nominally of thirty-three degrees, while the redeeming quality of the rite so initiated has been deliberately put aside by the introduction of the Templar Order as a portion of the degrees, thereby requiring all aspirants to make a profession of the Christian faith as a necessary prelude to their advancement. In the "Ancient and Accepted Rite" no such profession is necessary, and in its culminating degree of the thirty-three degrees it is provided that, of the nine members composing it in each country, five, at least, must hold the Christian faith, thus rendering it possible for those not Christians to attain to its highest honours. I do not now speak of the incongruity of conferring degrees which, in their constitution, are essentially Christian on those who may be enemies of that creed, nor of the absurd and illogical subterfuge by which the exponents of the A. and A. Rite attempt to reconcile the teachings of such degrees as that of the Rose Croix with the tenets of unchristian faith; but they have, at all events, endeavoured to preserve one of the attributes of true Masonry, by keeping open the "high degrees" free from a religious "test," as applied to those who seek them. Here, the error lies in a different direction. Recognising the fact that those "higher degrees" are Christian in their character, membership of the Templar Order is required as a preliminary to their reception, while the additional fact is concealed or lost sight of, that those degrees are actually a part of the Templar system, and should, in common honesty, be placed under the control of that Christian organisation. As, however, something was necessary to give the appearance of completeness to the composite rite established here, the "ne plus ultra" of the A. and A. Rite was imported and placed at the head of an arrangement with which it has no connection, the result being, as a whole, ludicrously inconsistent and utterly dissimilar to anything Masonic existing elsewhere.

Nor is the departure from true Masonic principle, by the imposition of a religious barrier to the advancement of members, the only direction in which Irish Freemasonry, as usually recognised, has deviated from the proper standard. The aristocratic element, so antagonistic to true Masonry, and so repugnant to its teachings, has so permeated what are called the high degrees in this country as to render them nearly, if not quite, worthless as rewards of Masonic worth. A line has been drawn beyond which it has become almost impossible for those not occupying a certain social position, or not connected in some way with certain parties, to pass, no matter what may be their worth as "working" Masons. There can, of course, be no objection to brethren forming themselves into associations as exclusive as the members please, provided they do not hold out the banner of Masonry as a cover to proceedings opposed to its principles and irreconcilable with its practice; but when degrees which are not Masonic are blended into a system of Masonry, and held forth to young Masons, and to the outside world, as a connected series of Masonic steps constituting a complete rite of thirty-three degrees, it is time for those who know better to bestir themselves and to do what they can to preserve, intact, genuine Freemasonry.

True, Masonry is, perhaps, the purest form of "Republicanism," and the very title of a "Prince Mason" is utterly inconsistent with its simplicity and the equality which is one of its vital principles. But in Masonry, as outside it, high pretensions and loud assertions go a long way to compensate for the want of argument and the absence of reasonable proofs, and, as a consequence, the possessors of those so-called "higher degrees" have not only almost persuaded others, but have, I think, to a great extent, almost persuaded themselves, that they are the natural leaders of the Order, and, as such, are entitled to assume a position and influence in Grand Lodge to which they have not the shadow of a claim. If we look back on various Masonic proceedings within the last few years, and estimate to what extent our occasional strifes and differences are referable, directly or indirectly, to the connection with Masonry of the "high degrees," we may be able to see the danger that awaits us in the future from the same exciting cause, and may also see the necessity of averting the danger by cutting off, at once and for ever, its cause.

It is not necessary just now to go very fully into the origin of the "high grades" and their connection with Freemasonry. The readers of THE FREEMASON have been instructed on that subject, perhaps, almost "ad nauseam," and we in Ireland are not, by any means, as ignorant of the matter as we were some short time since. Briefly stated, it would appear that some time towards the middle of last century various brethren, not satisfied with the simplicity of Ancient Craft Masonry, invented and arranged certain orders of a Christian character, and attached them to lodges and other bodies then in existence. The Order of Knights Templar appears to have been, or to have become, the governing body of certain of those degrees, notably of the Rose Croix and Kadosh, and under the Templar warrants those rites were worked and those degrees conferred. There would appear to have been some connection between the Rose Croix and Kadosh and the Templar degree, analogous to that which practically exists between the Mark (as worked here), the Past Master's, and the third degree of Blue Masonry; for, as the Mark Degree is conferred as a matter of course on all Master Masons of good standing and reputation, and the Past Master's Degree accompanies election to the chair of a lodge, so all High Knights Templar of good report seem to have been entitled to the Rose Croix on application and recommendation, and the Kadosh seems to have constituted what may be considered a Past Eminent Commander's Degree. Formerly, any three Templars in possession of the Rose Croix Degree had power to confer it, and the oldest Prince Masons' chapter in Dublin, of which we have proper information, namely, the "Kilwinning," acted on this principle, not holding or requiring any warrant. About the year 1800, the various rites and degrees appear to have been systematized by certain brethren in Charleston, America, and a Rite of thirty-three degrees was concocted, and called the "Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite," the thirty-three degrees being boldly put forward as having been instituted by Frederick the Great, for the purpose of continuing the ruling power previously invested in him as an individual.

The work referred to by Bro. Hughan, in the article on Fredk. Dalcho (No. 141 of THE FREEMASON) is a very curious one, and throws a good deal of light on the probable origin of the thirty-three degrees of the A. and A. Rite, of which he may be considered the "apostle." According to Dalcho's theory, as embodied in his "orations," the three degrees of symbolic Masonry are preparatory only, and instituted "as the test of the character and capacity of the initiated, before they should be admitted to the knowledge of the more important mysteries." His theory supposes that the "sublime degrees" contain the real secrets and mysteries of Ancient Freemasonry, a proposition so plainly opposed to historical facts that it is quite unnecessary to waste time by stopping to refute it. The request to Bro. Dalcho "for fifty copies of his most excellent orations," or for "his permission to reprint the same," is in the form of a communication, bearing date Sept. 6, 1806, "from the original chapter of Prince Masons" to "the members of the Illustrious College of Heredon, Knights of K.H. of Ireland, assembled in ample form," when said request was unanimously approved of. The orations were accordingly reprinted, bearing as a motto, "Magna est veritas, et provalebit," a selection somewhat "cool" when their tendency and object is taken into consideration.

To go no further than this "authorised" document, it is indisputable, on the face of it, that a Prince Masons' chapter and a college of Knights K.H. were in full working order in Dublin before the present century, and as the warrant of constitution for establishing a Supreme Council of the 33° for Ireland was obtained from Charleston only in 1824, that chapter and college must have held from some source antecedent to the invention of the thirty-three degrees.

Even supposing, "for argument sake," that the statement of the original institution of the thirty-three degrees was historically correct, it is plain that the existence of a power in Masonry which claims authority over all the degrees, the members of which "call up" their friends when vacancies occur, and are irresponsible to those whom they profess to govern, and from whom they receive large fees and contributions, is opposed to the spirit of the Order and inimical to its welfare and prosperity. The theory of Dalcho naturally assumes the right of government of all the degrees to the governing body of the "sublime" degrees, which idea is, in addition, fully set out in a note at page 55, where he states: "Although the sublime Masons have not, in this country, initiated any into the blue degrees, yet their counsels possess the indefeasible right of granting warrants for that purpose. It is common on the continent of Europe, and may be the case here, should circumstances render the exercise of this power necessary." Taking this claim in connection with the allusion at page 59, to certain "secret constitutions," it may be questioned whether the existence of such a degree is consistent with the dignity and independence of Grand Lodge. There seems to have been a considerable capability of "yielding to the pressure of circumstances" in the constitution of the high grades, and that, even at the early date in their history at which the Dalcho reprint was issued, they were antagonistic to the Irish system, is shown at page 84, where, after a number of asterisks, we learn that, "the passages of the original which follow, have been omitted in this edition, not being conformable to the Masonic Constitution, as established in Ireland."

The glaring inconsistency in the adoption in the Irish system of the thirty-three degrees of the A. and A. Rite, in connection with the older working which required Templar qualifications in candidates for the "high" degrees, is still further illustrated by the fact that not one of the degrees of the A. and A. Rite, inferior to the Rose Croix, which forms the 18° of that Rite, is practised in this country, the degree of "Knight of the East and West," or 17°, being hardly an exception, although a degree so named is conferred under Templar warrants; and of the degrees superior to the Rose Croix, the 28° (Knight of the Sun), 30° (Knights K.H.), 31° (Grand Inspector Inquisitor Commander), 32° (Princes of the Royal Secret), and 33° (Sovereign Grand Inspector General), are alone worked.

JOSEPH H. WOODWORTH,
P.M. Commercial Lodge 245.

Dublin, 22nd Nov., 1871.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Palpitation of the Heart is frequently, not only felt, but heard, prevents sleep, and begets the utmost dread of impending suffocation. These Pills are particularly recommended for removing this affection, because they strengthen the nervous and debilitated, who are much more liable to this malady than other persons. Holloway's Pills so improve the digestion, increase the action of the liver, and give activity to the bowels, that giddiness, headache, and nau-ea depart as the palpitation diminishes, and the sufferer at once experiences the most indescribable relief from anxiety. Holloway's Pills form the best alternative and aperient in all cases of convalescence from fevers, inflammations, neuralgia, and all chronic diseases which have impoverished the blood and brain.—[Advt.]

PROV. GRAND LODGE OF LEICESTERSHIRE AND RUTLAND.

The Annual General Communication was held at Loughborough, on Friday, 24th November, under the auspices of the Howe and Charnwood Lodge, No. 1007, and was attended by about eighty brethren of the several lodges in the province.

The Craft lodge was opened at the Town Hall at 12.45 p.m., and after the confirmation of the minutes of the previous meeting, the R.W.P.G.M., Bro. W. Kelly, and the Prov. Grand Lodge was received in the customary manner. The P.G.M. having been saluted with grand honours, proceeded to open the Grand Lodge in due form.

Amongst those present were: Bros. the Rev. W. Langley, P.P.S.G.W., as D.P.G.M.; W. G. Palmer, S.G.W.; J. H. Johnston, P.P.G.W. Cumb., as J.G.W.; Revds. Dr. Haycroft and John Halford, G. Chaps.; W. B. Smith, G. Treas.; S. S. Partridge, G. Reg.; G. Toller, jun., G. Sec.; R. W. Widdowson, F. J. Baines, and W. G. Palmer (jun.), G. Stewards; H. Deane and C. Stretton, P.P.G. Reg.'s; S. Love, W. Wear, A. M. Duff, and T. H. Buzzard, P.P.G.D.'s; J. J. Fast, P.P.G. Supt. of Wks.; T. Thorpe, P.P.G. Dir. of Cers.; E. Gosling, P.P.G. Purs.; T. Cox, P.G. Treas. Derbyshire; J. M. Moore, P.P.G. Steward Derbyshire; F. Binckes, P.G. Steward of England, Sec. R.M.I. Boys; S. W. Cloves, M.P., 484; Captains P. P. Goodchild and R. H. Burnaby, 279; J. C. Duncomb, P.G.A. Dir. of Cers. Norths. and Hunts.; Revds. P. H. Phelp, 50, and J. Freeman, 1007; Albert Pell, M.P.; J. H. Douglas, Sec. 1330; and many others. Representatives from every lodge in the province answered to the roll-call.

Several letters of apology for absence having been noticed, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The Rev. W. Langley, Acting D.P.G.M., in referring to the loss sustained by the death of Bro. W. Pettifor, P.P.S.G.W.—whose name had occurred on the minutes—then moved a resolution expressive of the sympathy of the lodge with the widow in her bereavement, which was seconded by Bro. A. M. Duff, P.P.G.D. The P.G.M., in putting the resolution, spoke in very high terms of the deceased, and of the estimation in which he was held by the brethren of the province. (Carried unanimously.)

A letter was read from the Dowager Countess Howe, in reply to a resolution of the P.G. Lodge on the death of her husband, the late esteemed P.G.M., thanking the lodge for the sympathy expressed in the resolution, and expressing approval of the proposal to place a stained-glass window in the memorial church about to be erected to the memory of the late Earl. On the motion of the Rev. W. Langley, Acting D.P.G.M., seconded by the Rev. John Halford, P.G. Chap., the letter was ordered to be entered on the minutes.

The patent of appointment of the Right Hon. the Earl Ferrers, as D.P.G.M., was read, but his lordship was prevented from attending for installation by sudden and severe indisposition.

The report of the Committee of General Purposes was read, congratulating the lodge on the favourable state of the G. Treasurer's account, and also on the steady and gratifying progress of Masonry throughout the province, and especially of the junior lodge, No. 1330, Market Harboro', consecrated at the last meeting of the P.G. Lodge, and which now numbers thirty-three subscribing members. Referring to the Leicester lodges, the report says that the question of a new lodge would probably soon have to be entertained, owing to the great increase in numbers of both lodges, there being only two lodges now to a population of 95,000, the same number that existed fifteen years ago, when the population was less than half that number. The success of the candidate of the province, Alfred Nutt, at the recent election for the Boys' School, was noticed, and a summary of the sources from whence the votes were received was given. The report concludes with a well-merited acknowledgment of the untiring exertions of the Prov. G. Master to secure the success of the candidate.

Bro. the Rev. Dr. Haycroft, P.G. Chap., approved of the proposal to establish a new lodge in Leicester, and referred, in terms of high commendation, to those brethren to whose assistance the success of the candidate for the Boys' School was due. He moved: "That the report read be adopted, and that the best thanks of the P.G. Lodge are due, and are hereby tendered, to Bros. Augustus Smith (R.W.P.G.M. Cornwall), Sir F. M. Williams (J.G.W. England and D.P.G.M. Cornwall), Col. Machen (D.P.G.M. Warwickshire), John Symonds, William J. Hughan, and all those brethren who, by their votes, contributed to the success of the candidate of this province at the recent election of the R.M.I. for Boys."

The resolution was seconded by Bro. C. Stretton, P.P.G. Reg., and carried unanimously.

The P.G. Master drew attention to a discrepancy in the returns of lodges, and explained that the difference arose that some lodges had not returned members whose subscriptions were more than two years in arrears, but that the actual number of initiations and joinings exceeded that of last year.

Bros. L. A. Clarke, P.P.S.G.W.; and C. Stretton, P.P.G. Reg., were elected members of the Hall Committee, on the motion of Bro. the Rev. W. Langley, P.P.S.G.W., seconded by Bro. Widdowson, P.G. Steward.

Bro. H. Deane, P.P.G.R., was then installed by the P.G.M. as W.M. of No. 1007, in the presence of a large number of P.M.'s, and having been saluted in the several degrees, he invested his officers for the year, after which the P.G. Lodge was resumed.

The Treasurer's accounts having been passed, Bro. Stretton moved that Bro. W. B. Smith be re-elected Treasurer, which was seconded by Bro. J. J. Fast, P.P.G. Supt. of Works, and carried unanimously, with thanks for his past services.

The P.G.M. moved a vote of thanks to the P.G. Sec. for his services, which was seconded by Bro. Smith, P.G. Treas., and carried unanimously.

Bro. Toller having briefly replied, the following were invested as P.G. officers for the ensuing year: Bros. Sir H. St. John Halford, Bart., S.G.W.; H. Deane, J.G.W.; Revds. J. Halford, M.A., and P. H. Phelp, M.A., G. Chaps.; W. B. Smith, G. Treas.; A. Pell, M.P., G. Reg.; G. Toller, jun., G. Sec.; W. Sculthorpe, S.G.D.; J. C. Duncombe, J.G.D.; J. M. McAllister, G. Supt. of Wks.; C. H. Capp, G. Dir. of Cers.; L. L. Atwood, Asst. G. Dir. of Cers.; C. P. Newcombe, G. Sword-bearer; C. L. Ferneley, G. Org.; F. J. Baines, G. Purs.; R. W. Widdowson, Asst. G. Purs.; Capt. Goodchild (279), E. Mace (523), J. J. F. Scott (1007), F. Barnard (Sec. 1130), W. Berridge (1265), and J. H. Douglas (Sec. 1330), G. Stewards; and C. Bembridge (279), Tyler.

It should be mentioned that Bro. M. McAllister, P.G. Supt. of Works, was presented by the Leicester Masonic Hall Committee with a complete suit of Prov. clothing and jewel, in recognition of his gratuitous services at the recent improvements of that building.

A new state sword for the lodge was ordered to be purchased.

Bro. Binckes, at the request of the P.G.M., gave an interesting account of the method of education pursued at the Boys' School, after which the P.G. Lodge was closed in due form.

The banquet took place at the Bull's Head Hotel, and was attended by about seventy brethren. Several interesting speeches were delivered, especially one by the Rev. J. Halford, in response to the toast of "Bishop, Clergy, and Ministers of all Denominations," proposed by Bro. A. Pell, M.P. The rev. brother, in a most forcible and eloquent speech, said that, if the clergy generally knew Masonry better, they would the more highly esteem its principles; he believed that there was in a Masonic lodge a more thorough appreciation of a great Christian principle than anywhere else—viz., the universal brotherhood of mankind—and the result was, that Masons, as a rule, better carried that principle, not only in, but out of the lodge.

The length to which this report has extended must preclude any further notice of the various addresses; but it will be sufficient to say that the anniversary was, throughout, a great success, and thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF NORFOLK.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

The Grand Lodge of the province of Norfolk, convened to be holden in Lynn on Saturday last, the 25th November, was necessarily deprived of much of its anticipated interest by the absence, through the deeply-regretted illness, of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, P.G.M. of England. His announced purpose of attending the lodge had not only been hailed with rejoicing by the brethren of Norfolk, and the adjacent counties, but many resident in somewhat distant provinces were eager to avail themselves of the opportunity of paying respect to his Royal Highness in his Masonic character. The publication throughout the kingdom of the contents of the bulletins issued from Sandringham on Thursday and Friday informed those brethren how very unlikely it was that the Prince could leave home on the occasion; and it is probable that some hundreds of members of the Craft were thereby induced to change their intention of journeying to Lynn. It was a great disappointment; and the inconvenience of the day on which the lodge was holden (it being market day at Lynn, Wisbech, Norwich, and Spalding) further tended to the prejudice of the gathering. The probability of having to remain away from home over Sunday, no doubt induced many from the south and west to absent themselves, who would gladly have been present had there been any train available between five o'clock on Saturday afternoon and 7.40 on Monday morning. But notwithstanding these adverse circumstances, the convocation was a very successful one; and not less than 200 brethren were present in Grand Lodge, including some from London, Cambridge, Peterborough, Hull, and, we believe, more distant places.

The use of the ancient Guildhall of Lynn with its adjoining suite of apartments, had been placed by the Mayor at the disposal of the Prov. Grand Lodge; and on Friday the Director of Ceremonies of the province (the well-known and esteemed Bro. Mason, of Norwich), arrived in Lynn with his assistants and the magnificent furniture and regalia of the lodge, and the necessary preparations were made for the ceremonies of the following day. The Guildhall formed an excellent and appropriate lodge-room; the justice-room adjoining was appropriated as the vestibule; and a two noble assembly rooms together formed the banqueting chamber.

The lodge was summoned for two o'clock in the afternoon, and shortly after that time the Very Worshipful the Deputy Prov. Grand Master, the Hon. F. Walpole, M.P., (in the absence, from age and infirmity, of the venerable Prov. Grand Master, Bro. Benjamin Bond Cabbell), with his Prov. Grand Wardens, Bros. A. Evans Lombe and A. Palmer, took their seats; the other officers arranged themselves in their respective situations, and the brethren, under the banners of the several lodges of the province, thirteen in number. The opening ceremonies were then performed, the Deputy Prov. G. M. was duly saluted, the roll called over, and a hymn was solemnly sung by the whole body of Masons present, the Prov. Grand Organist (Bro. G. Brittan) performing the accompaniment.

The minutes of the preceding lodge and the report of the Board of Finance were then read and confirmed, grants of money were voted to poor and distressed brethren, and other business was transacted. The V. W. Deputy Prov. G. M. appointed the following Prov. Grand Officers for the ensuing year, and invested with their insignia those of them who were present, or, in the case of the few absentees, the brethren who undertook the duties for them pro hac vice: Bros. Lord Suffield, S.W.; T. Baker, J.W.; C. E. Bignold, Reg.; Rev. W. Lake Onslow, Chap.; Howes, Supt. of Works; A. M. F. Morgan, Sec.; J. Barwell, Treas.; G. L. Coleman, S.D.; G. S. Woodwork, J.D.; H. J. Mason, D.C.; J. B. Quinton, Asst. D.C.; G. Brittan, Org.; Beeston, Purs.; Asker, Ayris, Abram and Gambling, Stewards; Major Duff and the Rev. J. P. Deacon, Extra Deacons; Capron Smith, Major Penrice, G. W. F. Loftus, W. A. T. Amhurst, Hastings Parker and Sir F. Boileau, Extra Stewards; Stevens, Sword-bearer; Scott, Banner-bearer; R. Gunn, Tyler.

At half-past three o'clock, the lodge was adjourned, and a procession was formed from the Guildhall to St. Margaret's Church, to attend divine service. A dense crowd of spectators lined each side of the narrow space through which the brethren walked from the hall to the west door of the church, and a very numerous congregation already occupied those parts of the sacred edifice which had not been reserved for the Fraternity.

The service was choral and was exceedingly well and heartily performed, the several choirs of the town combining to lead the musical portions. The opening voluntary was performed by the Prov. G. Organist, and the remainder of the service was accompanied by Mr. Reddie. The psalms and Cantate Domine were sung to single chants from the Cheadle tune book, and the Deus

Miserere to a double chant from Ouseley's psalter. The hymns were from Ancient and Modern, the first being the Old Hundreth Psalm (old version) and the second (during the offertory) the hymn on Almsgiving, No. 372. The anthem has from Psalm cxxxiii: "Behold how good and joyful a thing it is, brethren, to dwell together in unity," &c. The first portion of the prayers was read by Bro. the Rev. T. Peacey, curate in charge of St. Margaret's parish, and the second portion by Bro. the Rev. Arthur Holmes, Senior Fellow of Clare College, Past Prov. Grand Chaplain of Cambridge-shire. The first lesson was read by Bro. the Rev. C. J. Martyn, Rector of Melford, Past Grand Chaplain of England; and the second by Bro. the Rev. Dr. White, headmaster of Lynn Grammar School, and J.D. Lodge 107. It had been announced that the Prov. Grand Chaplain of Norfolk, Bro. the Rev. W. Lake Onslow (rector of Sandringham and private Chaplain to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales) would preach the sermon, but he was unhappily confined to his home by a rather severe attack of illness of some days' duration. In his absence the duty was undertaken by Bro. the Rev. H. H. Bridgwater, vicar of Snettisham and Past Chaplain of Lodge 107; who preached an eloquent and impressive sermon from Nehemiah, iv. 17, 18: "Every one with one of his hands wrought in the work, and with the other hand held a weapon. For the builders, every one had his sword girded by his side, and so builded. And he that sounded the trumpet was by me." The offertory after the sermon was collected by several members of the Order, and amounted to £16 10s. 7d., in aid of the funds of the West Norfolk and Lynn Hospital. The benediction having been pronounced, the brethren returned in procession to the lodge-room.

The V.W.D.P. Grand Master, other business having been concluded, tendered the thanks of the Prov. Grand Lodge and the brethren for the use of the Town Hall, to the Mayor, at the same time expressing much gratification at seeing him present as a member of the Craft. He also offered their thanks to the incumbent of St. Margaret's for placing the church at their service. He added that he could not sit down without moving a vote of condolence to the Prince and Princess of Wales upon the illness of his Royal Highness, and expressing the prayer of the brethren that he might speedily recover and that he would long live to shed the lustre of his high station upon the Craft. (The resolution was telegraphed to Sandringham and a suitable reply received in the course of the evening.)

The Rev. J. C. Rust, Past Prov. Grand Chaplain, moved a vote of thanks to Bro. Bridgwater for his admirable sermon, remarking that if there was one portion in it more practical than another, it was that wherein the rev. brother sent forth the great principles on which the Institution of Freemasonry is based, and which, if thoroughly acted upon, would render it an ornament not to this country alone, but to the whole world.

The D.P. Grand Master said he was quite sure that he might add to the remarks of Bro. Rust a request on behalf of the P.G. Lodge that the eloquent sermon they had just heard should be printed as it could not fail to advance the interests of the Order.

The resolutions were adopted by acclamation; and the P.G. Lodge was closed in due form.

At five o'clock the brethren, to the number of 160, reassembled at which was served in the Assembly-room by Bro. S. N. Marshal, of the Globe and Duke's Head Hotels, with his accustomed efficiency.

THE BANQUET,

Bro. the Hon. F. Walpole, Deputy Prov. G.M., presided, and was supported by the following brethren: Major Penrice, P.G.S.; Inns, D.P.G.M. of Norths. and Hunts.; Rev. H. H. Bridgwater, P.G. Chap.; J. D. Thew, Mayor of Lynn; Capt. Bignold, P.G. Reg.; Rev. T. White, J.D.; Binckes, Sec. of R.M. Boys' School; A. M. F. Morgan, P.G. Sec.; Lockwood, D.P.G.M. Suffolk; Rev. A. Holmes, P.P.G.C. Cambs.; Thorley, Ex-Mayor of Lynn; H. L'Estrange, P.P.G.R.; Golding, P.G.S.D. Suffolk; Loftus, P.P.G.J.W.; Strathern, P.P.G.J.W. Suffolk; S. D. Palmer, P.P.G.R.; M. B. Bircham, P.P.G.R.; W. H. Lucia, P.G.S. Suffolk; H. Barwell, P.P.G.S.D.; G. F. Deacon, P.P.G.J.D.; R. Whitwell, P.P.G.J.D.; H. Youngman, P.P.G.J.W.; J. D. Dunsford, P.P.G.R.; C. E. Bignold, P.G.R.; G. L. Colman, P.G.S.D.; Watkinson, Judd, Woodward, Vise and others (Spalding), &c., &c.

The Vice-chairs were filled by Bro. H. Evans Lombe, P.P.G.S.W.; and Sir F. Boileau, P.G.S.

The band of the King's Lynn Rifle Corps performed in the adjoining hall during the dinner; and at intervals between the subsequent speeches, appropriate music was delightfully sung by Bros. Smith, Minns, Thouless and Offord, of Norwich, Bro. Brittan accompanying at the pianoforte. The ceremonial attending the reception of the toasts was ably conducted by Bro. H. J. Mason, Prov. D.G.C.

The President, in due course, rose to propose the first toast, of the health of the Queen, which was instantly received with an outburst of loyal cheering. He said: It is a toast that ever has been, and ever will be in the future, by every man who deserves the name of Briton, received as you have just received it. It would be attaching too great importance to them were I to notice the small and vulgar scandals that have recently been uttered against our beloved Sovereign. (Renewed cheering.) Those utterances come from men who, failing to be eminent, endeavour to make themselves notorious. (Hear, hear.) I will give you "The health of Her Most Gracious Majesty," and couple with it in our time-honoured toast "The Queen and the Craft." (The toast was drunk with the greatest possible enthusiasm, the brethren rising en masse and cheering again and again with intense energy for several minutes.)

The Masonic version of the National Anthem was then sung by Bros. Minns, Smith and Thouless, all present joining in the chorus, and afterwards in renewed volleys of cheering.

The President then said: The next toast I have the honour to give you is one which hardly requires any words from me after the enthusiastic way in which you received the former toast. It is that of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, the eldest son of that mother whose health you have so loyally received. (Loud cheers.) And what a noble answer was the way in which you have drunk that toast to the attack that is being made against our Queen and our glorious Constitution. (Cheers.) Do not we all appreciate the happiness of the country we have lived in when we look around us? Look at France, are we going in for the same experiment here? ("No, no!" and tremendous cheering.) I think we may well say of our Constitution in the words of that song that has been so beautifully sung, referring to our brotherhood—

"Wisdom in thee we find,
Beauty and strength combined."

(Cheers.) When first I was asked to call the Grand Lodge together at Lynn, it was a great pleasure to do so, for Lynn has very many pleasant reminiscences for me (Cheers, and a laugh.) I forgive my enemies in Lynn most heartily (hear, hear); and I was very pleased and proud to come to Lynn. And really, the fact is, it is such a nice town, it is almost impossible to get away from it. (Laughter and cheers.) We therefore thought that, being near the residence of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, we would invite him to the lodge. H.R.H. at once accepted the invitation, and gave us one of the earliest days he possibly could. At Sandringham the other day he spoke warmly of his anxiety to be here to-night; and I am sure amongst the causes of regret in his illness, not one of the least will be in his being unable to be present with us. (Hear, hear.) I am sure we all wish him to be speedily restored to his full strength and full health (hear, hear); because nobody has a harder task set before him in the course of life than His Royal Highness. The time has gone by when the world would be content with "Rois fainéants." We look for labour and honest labour from every man, whatever his rank in life (applause); and we have a right to demand it from the Prince of Wales in return for the loyalty and devotion we offer him. (Cheers.) We regret deeply his absence from our gathering, and it was taken away half the joy from us; in fact it has turned what would have been a fair summer's day into a cold winter's drizzle. However, we will drink his health in his absence as if he were present; and we will acknowledge how proud we are that the son of the Queen should become a Mason, like so many of his loyal relatives. (Loud and prolonged cheers.)

Bro. Minns sung "God Bless the Prince of Wales," the brethren all joining in chorus.

The Mayor of Lynn was received with loud cheering on rising to propose the next toast. Referring to the adage that a good apprentice makes a good Master, he rose readily to the call of the V.W.D. Prov. G. Master to propose the next toast, viz., "The Health of the M.W. the Grand Master, the Marquis of Ripon, and the Officers of the Grand Lodge of England." With that toast he would couple the name of a gentleman present that evening, who took very great interest in one of the most important institutions connected with the Order, viz., the Royal Masonic School for Boys. (Cheers.) Knowing that education was one of the great questions of the day, they would all agree with him that a gentleman who devoted his time and attention to the education of the sons of Masons deserved the thanks of the Order in a most especial manner. He was, therefore, very happy to couple the health of Bro. Binckes with the toast he had proposed. (Loud cheers.)

Bro. Binckes responded in an eloquent speech.

Bro. Inns, D. Prov. G.M., proposed the next toast—the health of one who, if he had been able, would have occupied the position of the present worthy chairman. However pleased he was to see their highly-esteemed Bro. Walpole in that position, he was sure it would have been a greater pleasure to have met their Prov. G.M., inasmuch as for many years he had been recognised as one of the greatest patrons of charity, not only in the province, but in the United Kingdom. (Loud cheers.) Wherever charities were to be supported, there Bro. Bond Cabbell was to be found. (Renewed cheers.) It was nearly twenty-seven years since he (Bro. Inns) was in the town of Lynn, but he had a lively remembrance of the friendship he then enjoyed. Having come from the west and travelled due east, he had obtained the satisfactory knowledge that their D. Prov. G.M. had discharged his duties in a very able manner—(cheers)—and he now had the pleasing duty of proposing "The Health of the R.W. Prov. G.M.," sincerely hoping that his heart might continue to grow warm, and these springs of charity might continue to flow bountifully so long as he was permitted to remain on the surface of this globe. (The toast was drunk with Masonic honours.)

Bro. Major Penrice then proposed the health of their excellent brother in the chair, the V.W. Deputy Provincial Grand Master. (Loud and prolonged cheers.) No Mason in this province was better known and esteemed, and no man ever performed his duties in a more courteous and successful manner. (Immense cheering.)

The V.W.D. Prov. G.M., who was received with renewed cheers, said that many years as he had worked in Masonry, and that he had had the pleasure of holding his present office, it had been to him annually a recurring season of great satisfaction at the way in which his labours were received. Annual meetings, at his time of life, were not altogether pleasant. There was something in them that showed that what was only one "tick" of the pendulum of time, was the passing of a great space in a man's life. But they were there to celebrate the beginning of a new year—not the falling of an old one, and to congratulate Masonry on being still vigorous and flourishing in the province. He thanked the Masons of Norfolk again and again for assembling there in such numbers, in spite of the disappointment they had received. But they felt that he who only worked at his Craft in fine weather, and when a Prince was coming, was a very poor Mason, indeed. (Loud cheers.) They wanted those to be Masons who not only would retain the ancient landmarks of the Order, but who knew where those ancient landmarks were; men who would not only be ornamental, but who would be useful; who would work at the Craft, and understand the Craft, in the admirable way which had been set forth by their worthy and rev. Chaplain that day. (Applause.)

Bro. A. M. F. Morgan, Prov. G. Sec., proposed, "Prosperity to the ancient borough of Lynn, and coupled with that the health of their newly-initiated brother in Masonry, the much respected Mayor of this town."

The Mayor returned thanks.

The other toasts were: "The Provincial Grand Chaplain," responded to by Bro. the Rev. H. H. Bridgwater; "The Provincial Grand Officers," coupled with the name of Bro. Evans Lombe; "The Visitors;" "The Grand Officers and Brethren of the Neighbouring Provinces," to which Bro. Inns, D.P.G.M. of Northamptonshire, Bro. Rev. A. Holmes, Prov. G. C. Cambridge, and Bro. Watkinson, of Spalding, responded; and a few other toasts concluded the happy and harmonious gathering.

PROV. GRAND MARK LODGE OF NORTHUMBERLAND & DURHAM.

The first annual meeting of the Prov. Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons for Northumberland and Durham was held, under the banner of the Eclectic Lodge, No. 39, in Freemasons' Hall, West Hartlepool, on Tuesday, the 21st ultimo.

Present: The Right Hon. the Earl Percy, M.P., D.G.M.M.M., Prov. Gd. Master; Bros. Anthony Clapham, D. Prov. G.M.; S. Gourlay, M.D., Prov. G.S.W.; W. W. Brunton, G.J.W.; W. Foulsham, G.J.O.; the Rev. Canon Tristram, LL.D., G. Chaplain; Jno. Stokoe, G. Treasurer; Thomas Whitwell, G. Reg.; T. Y. Strachan, G. Sec.; Wm. Brignall, jun., G.S.D.; J. Ridsdale, G.J.D.; E. Hudson, G.D.C.; W. Coxon, G.I.G.; the W. Masters of all the lodges in the province, and a number of Past Masters, Wardens, and Overseers, and, by permission, the brethren of various lodges.

A Lodge of Instruction was held at half-past two o'clock, by the W.M. of the Eclectic Lodge, assisted by his officers, and the ceremony of advancement was gone through by them in a highly creditable manner.

The R.W. Prov. G. Master then opened the Provincial Grand Lodge, assisted by his officers as above.

After the minutes of previous meetings had been read, the Committee of General Purposes' report was read, which showed that three new lodges had been formed and constituted during the year, viz., the Percy (122), at Stockton-on-Tees; the Union (124), at Sunderland; and the Hotspur (135), at Alnwick. Satisfactory reports were given of the progress of Mark Masonry in the new province, by the W.M.'s of the several lodges, the number of members being 194. The financial statement was also very satisfactory.

The R.W. Prov. G.M. invested the following Provincial Grand officers for the ensuing year: Bros. A. Clapham D.P.G.M.; B. Levy, G.S.W.; H. G. Faber, G.J.W.; J. W. Cameron, G.M.O.; R. B. Harpley, G.S.O.; R. B. Reid, G.J.O.; Rev. J. Milner, G.C.; John Stokoe, G. Treas.; R. F. Cork, M.D., G. Reg.; T. Y. Strahan, G. Sec.; C. P'Anson, G.S.D.; J. B. Watt, G.J.D.; Hubert Law, G.I.W.; G. T. Pearson, G.D.C.; R. Giesecke, G.O.; E. T. Turnbull, G.I.G.

After some other routine business, the Prov. Grand Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to the Royal Hotel, where dinner was served.

The R.W. Prov. G.M. presided, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were drunk, and the brethren spent a very enjoyable evening.

THE INDEPENDENT ORDER OF GOOD TEMPLARS.

The Order is a Teetotal Freemasonry, binding its members in a bond of brotherhood, with the one common object of carrying on a crusade against intemperance, like the Knights Templar of old against the Saracens who desecrated the Holy Sepulchre. These latter in their day went forth to battle for the Cross against its greatest enemy; the Good Templars of the present day are animated with the same fire, and seek by moral and spiritual, instead of carnal weapons, to annihilate strong drink, the modern foe to all Christian progress. The Order is not a sick club or benefit society, like the Rechabites or Sons of Temperance, nor does it in any way seek to supplant these, but rather to strengthen and aid them, its main objects being to afford a protection to all those who sign the temperance pledge, to enlist them in the noble army of teetotalers, and find them work to do for the benefit of their fellow-men.

The Order had its origin in New York in 1851, where it spread with much rapidity, its usefulness becoming more and more apparent with its increase in strength. It was one of the first, if not the first, institution in America, to break down the wall of partition between bond and free, admitting to its ranks white and negro on terms of perfect equality. The Order now forms a temperance army in the United States and Canada of over 300,000 strong.

Birmingham has the honour of being the first town in Great Britain to open a Lodge of Good Templars, and in July, 1870, the Grand Lodge of England was formed there, now numbering over 300 lodges, with more than 20,000 members.

In Scotland, the Order has prospered to a most remarkable extent. The first lodge was formed in Glasgow, August 12th, 1869, and in two years Scotland can boast of 600 lodges, and over 60,000 members.

In many districts of Scotland, notably Glasgow, the Lothians, and Tweedside, the Order has worked with almost miraculous success, and its efforts have told greatly in the reduction of crime, misery, and social degradation in thousands of Scotch households.

The lodges meet weekly for business and social intercourse. Men and women are admitted to the Order on equal terms, and both are eligible for its lowest and highest offices. The benefit of these weekly social meetings cannot be over-rated. If a poor drunkard is reclaimed, and signs the temperance pledge, he is brought to the lodge meeting, initiated, and introduced to a number of men and women bound solemnly to help, cheer, and encourage him in the good and holy resolution he has formed.

A moment's reflection will tell every friend of the temperance movement that the Good Templars' Lodge thus supplies a want which has been felt sorely ever since teetotalism had a beginning.

It is a source of constant disappointment and grief to all who are actively engaged in the temperance movement, that such a large proportion of those who sign the pledge at our various meetings, after a while fall away into their old habits; and there can be but little doubt that the reason of this is, that nothing has been done hitherto to educate such people in temperance principles, or hold out to them in loving sympathy a helping hand in the struggle they have to go through with their old enemy, the appetite for drink. This missing link is well filled by the Order of Good Templars. Every member is known personally to all his fellow-members; a watchful eye is kept on all recruits; absentees from the lodge meetings are duly visited, and if any give way to old propensities, means are used to bring the wanderer back to the fold. The history of the Order can point triumphantly to its success in this most important and difficult department of temperance work, for the violation of pledges has not amounted to more than 5 per cent. of its members.

The conditions of membership are simple: persons of either sex over sixteen years of age are admitted, if they believe in the existence of God as the Ruler and Governor of all things, and are willing to take the temperance pledge for life, and labour in the temperance cause.

The Order is what is called a "Secret Society," and yet it has no secrets. Its platform, principles, constitution, and laws are open to the inspection of all the world; all that is kept secret are the grips, signs, and passwords, by which alone members may recognise each other, and gain admission to the lodges; these are an obvious necessity, and will at once appear so to any thoughtful person. We rejoice to see that Good Templarism is finding favour with Bristol teetotalers; there are already in the city twelve lodges, numbering over 800 members. We heartily commend the movement, and shall be glad to aid its development and progress in our pages, as occasion may serve.—Western Temperance Herald, Nov., 1871.

THE Right Hon. Lord Leigh, Prov. Grand Master of Warwickshire will lay the foundation-stone of the new out-patient department of the Queen's Hospital, Birmingham, on Monday next, December 4th, with Masonic rites.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled—"JAMES EPPS & CO., Homoeopathic Chemists, London." Also, makers of Epps's Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk).—[Adv.]

NOTICE.

The Subscription to THE FREEMASON is now 10s. per annum, post-free, payable in advance.

Vol. I., bound in cloth ... ..	4s. 6d.
Vol. II., ditto ... ..	7s. 6d.
Vol. III., ditto ... ..	15s. 0d.
Reading Cases to hold 52 numbers...	2s. 6d.

United States of America.

THE FREEMASON is delivered free in any part of the United States for 12s. per annum, payable in advance.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferréd to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

Answers to Correspondents.

All communications for THE FREEMASON should be written legibly on one side of the paper only, and, if intended for insertion in the current number, must be received not later than 10 o'clock a.m. on Thursdays, unless in very special cases. The name and address of every writer must be sent to us in confidence.

J.D.—If there be no other lodge in the neighbourhood, the Tyler may subscribe to the lodge in which he was initiated, but he cannot hold any other office than that of Tyler.

J.W.—1. Certainly not. 2. As an officer of the lodge, he should wear the collar and jewel with which he was invested by the W.M.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the EDITOR 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him & cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

"A BODY WITHOUT A HEAD."

THAT but little resemblance exists between the Freemasonry practised in England and other countries, and the nondescript medley which usurps that name in France, is a fact but too well known to Masonic observers in both hemispheres; and, unhappily, our French brethren seem determined to widen the gulf which thus practically separates them from all true and faithful supporters of the ancient landmarks of the Craft. It is, at all times, a melancholy thing to note the gradual perversion of a noble intent to base and unhallowed ends—even as it is sad to see the shadows of darkness gradually envelope and destroy the brilliant hues of a summer sky. But indignation somewhat mingles with our sorrow when we reflect that French Masons have done, and are still doing, all they can to stain the glories of the Royal Art, to banish its proud traditions from their midst, and to erect upon the ruins of the Masonic edifice a structure built up of vanity and buttressed by falsehood and shame. In a word, the introduction of political questions into the lodges in France, and the constant discussions resulting therefrom, have slowly but surely sapped the foundations of the Masonic Institution in that land of grandiloquent ideas. The principles of 1789, and the relative merits of dynastic or anarchical sway, are common topics of debate in French lodges; in fact, the business of the "Orator"—an officer, by-the-bye, unknown in our English matter-of-fact assemblies—seems to be mainly to keep the brethren well posted in the politics of the day, and to pour forth a stream of pompous verbiage upon certain grand occasions, his stock phrases being "Liberty, Equality, and Fraternity."

No stronger evidence of this divergence from the neutral path prescribed to all members of the Craft can be found than in the recent proceedings of the Grand Orient of France in General Assembly convened. The delegates present had scarcely verified their respective representative powers, when a certain Brother Laterrade appealed to the Assembly to hail the anniversary of the overthrow of the empire with a "triple battery" of acclamation, and in the course of his speech, pronounced a Republican form of government to be the only "true, desirable, and logical" system of rule. Bro. Maricot replied, and objected to any demonstration of joy being made while so large a portion of France was occupied by the foreigner, but Brother Rousselle combated this argument by asserting that the Grand Orient ought to rejoice in the date of the 4th September, because it was the anniversary of a day when liberty was restored to the nation. Several voices, however, protested at this juncture, and Bro. Simon, of Paris, very sensibly demurred to the political tone of the discussion, and insisted that every brother should maintain his essentially Masonic character in the meetings of the Order, and we are glad to say that this wise counsel was supported by Bro. Ratier, who said, with emphasis: "Here, we are Freemasons, and nothing but Freemasons." Eventually, the Assembly passed to the order of the day; or, as we should say, "shelved" Bro. Laterrade's motion, which, however, ought never to have been broached, much less entertained in any body calling itself Masonic. As a further example of the manner in which political ideas pervade the French Masonic mind, a curious incident, which occurred at the second séance of the Grand Orient, may be quoted. The President having made the usual inquiry as to the exclusion of the profane from the meeting, and the Wardens having responded affirmatively, Bro. Rousselle, of Bordeaux, challenged the accuracy of the response, and affirmed that mouchards, or spies, were present, and that these men reported everything that transpired to the police. Bro. Ducarre hoped that such was not the case, especially as the right of all present to attend had been verified—therefore, it would not be wise to act with undue haste, or upon a simple supposition. Bro. André Rousselle, who represented a lodge in Algeria, said that the fact was undoubted, and that for twelve years or more an unworthy brother present had acted as a spy, and furnished reports of his visits to various lodges, day by day, to the police authorities. Upon this, the name of the mouchard was loudly demanded, and Bro. Rousselle finished his denunciation by naming the misérable, when there were loud cries for his immediate ejection. The President implored the Assembly to be calm, and when quiet was restored, the unfortunate police agent was ordered to explain, or to quit immediately the hall of the Grand Orient. In the sequel, he was obliged to do both; for, notwithstanding his protestations of innocence, the bare admission of his connection with the police sufficed to ensure his being requested to retire, which he had the good sense to do, without provoking any further hostile manifestations.

The Assembly then proceeded to business, and we may note, en passant, that the nomination as Wardens of Bros. Stieffel, delegate from the Lodge "Les Frères réunis," of Strasburg, and Thiault, Venerable of the Lodge "Tolérance et Fraternité," of Belfort, elicited tremendous applause, and deservedly so, because both those towns made a most heroic defence, and covered themselves with glory during the late war. Patriotism we do not object to, but our bête noir is politics in a Masonic lodge. The report of a committee was then read, and will it be credited that the members gravely recommended that the office of Grand Master should be abolished! and, still stranger to say, after a lively and exhaustive debate, this monstrous recommendation was approved and decreed! Bro. Ferdeuil made a capital, and, to our mind, a conclusive oration, in favour of retaining the Grand Mastership—reminding the brethren that the post was elective and temporary, and that the Assembly could always displace an inefficient chief by one more worthy of the station. But the very idea of having a "Master" was evidently repugnant to the free and enlightened Republicans present, who doubtless viewed the government of the Craft as they would a political machine, and resolved to mould it to their own purposes. In this, we believe, they have forgotten that the world contains many Masonic Grand Lodges, and many hundreds and thousands of Masons, besides those who affect the lambskin in France; and they need to be reminded that the landmarks of the Institution are not to be removed at the caprice or studied resolve of any body or section of the Order. In thus setting at defiance public Masonic opinion throughout the Universe, they are simply drifting into Anti-masonry, and the sooner they avow themselves open foes to the ancient principles of Freemasonry the better it will be for the weal of the Craft in general.

"The suppression of the Grand Mastership marks the close of the monarchical era in Freemasonry." Such, in effect, were the words used by the Orator of the Grand Orient in commendation of the recent ill-judged proceedings of that body, and accepting those words in their literal sense, we can only assure our French brethren that their example is not likely to be followed by other Grand Lodges, and that the result of their violation of our most cherished landmarks will be excommunication from the Craft Universal. French Masons are already tabooed by half a million brethren in America, in consequence of the foolish invasion of state jurisdiction in Louisiana, which was countenanced by the Grand Orient in spite of the indignant protests of the Masonic governing bodies in the United States.

We would therefore address a solemn warning to the authorities of the Craft in France, not to persevere in the mistaken and suicidal policy which of late has seemed to dictate their acts. We implore them to retrace their steps, and to seek again the legitimate paths of Freemasonry, from which they have so sadly strayed. The objects of the Masonic Institution are not to be achieved by descending into the arena of political strife, and as the reputation of our Order is at stake, every true Mason will watch with anxiety the future course of the Brotherhood in France.

WE have much pleasure in culling from the Proceedings of the Grand Chapter of New Hampshire, U.S., the following appreciative notice of one of our valued contributors. We find that the article in question was written to Comp. Dr. Mason, for the Grand Chapter of the District of Columbia, Comp. Hughan being the only one who responded to the fraternal communication and queries of Dr. Mason, out of the many in Great Britain who were invited to inform American brethren of British Freemasonry.

"We cannot pass through this review without calling attention to the very valuable paper prepared, at Comp. Mason's request, by Comp. William James Hughan, of Truro, England, upon capitular Freemasonry in England, Scotland and Ireland. Comp. Hughan is one of the most accomplished Masonic writers in the world, and has contributed much to the education and enlightenment of the Fraternity, and he has conferred a great favour upon the Order by the preparation of this article."

Multum in Parvo, or Masonic Notes and Queries.

One of the Constitutions directs that no business save that stated on the circular can be transacted at a lodge of emergency. Is it not therefore inconsistent for the W.M. to make the usual enquiries before closing? [No well-informed Master would do so.—ED. F.]

Is there not a similar inconsistency when a regular meeting ceases refreshment and returns to labour? [We do not see the inconsistency in this instance.—ED. F.]

CHESHIRE.

WHAT FREEMASONRY IS.

Freemasonry is the foundation of a speculative science upon an operative art, and the symbolical use and explanation of the terms of that art for purposes of religious or moral teaching.

CHALMERS I. PATON.

Original Correspondence.

The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.

(To the Editor of the Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—As a member of a flourishing colonial chapter, I have had many opportunities of witnessing the difficulty of obtaining companions properly qualified for a Principal chair, and the more or less objectionable practice of a re-election or a shuffle of existing Principals has not unfrequently been necessitated. The warmest thanks of all colonial chapters are consequently due to E. Comp. the Rev. John Huyshe for the motion he brought forward at the last Quarterly Convocation of Grand Chapter, and which, from your report of the proceedings, appears to have been carried. So important is this change, that I would beg to suggest that an official notice of the alteration made in the 8th article of the R.A. Regulations be communicated with as little delay as possible to all colonial chapters.

I am, dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

J. BALFOUR COCKBURN,
Z. Calpean R.A. Chapter.

Gibraltar, 17 November, 1871.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Six months have now elapsed since the representatives of various jurisdictions interested in the Mark Degree assembled in conference, for the purpose of endeavouring to arrange terms and conditions by which the Degree should be placed on a thoroughly sound and satisfactory footing in this country. From the published proceedings of that "conference," it will have been seen how exhaustive was the discussion, so far as regards the Degree itself, and what grounds we had for confidence in a speedy solution of the differences and difficulties in the way of a union between conflicting authorities.

To our surprise, no official communication of the result of the deliberations of the Grand Lodge, or Grand Chapter, of Scotland has been received, and all the information we have is from the report of a meeting of the Prov. Grand Mark Lodge of Lancashire (S.C.) The Prov. Grand Master is there represented as saying: "It has been agreed on by the Supreme Chapter of Scotland to again ask the Grand Chapter of England to assume the management of those degrees which, in every other country, are worked under a Royal Arch chapter, or, failing this, to recognise some Grand Body in England, to whom the superintendence of those degrees shall be committed. This message to the Grand Chapter of England will be delivered at the meeting in November, and should that body decline to adopt either of the courses I have mentioned, the Supreme Chapters of Scotland and Ireland will then consider the propriety of according recognition to a body in England to govern those degrees. I do not think, however, that this body will be the present body styling itself the 'Grand Lodge of Mark Masters,' but a new body, established on a footing more firmly based, and formed by a union of all the contending jurisdictions, and which will be in authority over all those degrees called side degrees, such as the Royal Ark Mariner, Knight of the Sword, Knight of the East and West, &c. Some of these, according to the system obtaining in all other countries, are only conferred on R.A. Masons, but the present G.M.M.M. wishes to work them under the Grand Mark Lodge, and to confer them on Mark Masters—thus, in effect, putting the greater in subjection to the less. This is one objection to recognition of the G.L. of M.M., and the Supreme Chapter deprecates acknowledging any new Grand Body in England, if it can be possibly avoided, for two reasons:—1st. Because such body exists in no other country. 2nd. Because, were such a body to be recognised, it would doubtless become so numerically strong as to even affect prejudicially the Grand Lodge and Chapter of England."

To this statement of the present views and feelings of the Grand Chapter of Scotland—coming from such a source, and in the absence of direct official information—I presume that a certain amount of authority must be attached.

In the first place, however, as a matter of fact, no mention of any communication having been received either from the Grand Chapter of Scotland, or that of Ireland, was made at the Quarterly Convocation of the Grand Chapter of England, on the 1st inst.

2nd. Should a communication of the nature alluded to in the statement as given above be received by the Grand Chapter of England, there cannot be a doubt that the reply would be a direct negative.

3rd. The alternative is then confessed to be "to recognise some Grand Body in England, to whom the superintendence of (certain) degrees shall be committed," accompanied with the expression of opinion that such body will "not be the present body styling itself the Grand Lodge of Mark Masters, but a new body, established on a footing more firmly based, and formed by a union of all the contending jurisdictions, &c."

Granting that the Grand Chapter of Scotland is prepared to recognise a Supreme Body in England as head of the Mark and other degrees, how will it attempt to reconcile its "deprecation to acknowledge ANY new Grand Masonic Body in England if it can possibly be avoided," with its readiness to acknowledge a new body fashioned after its own wishes. Such creation, by recognition, of a new body, can not only "possibly," but most easily, be avoided by negotiating with an already existing body; and to ignore a de facto, for the purpose of setting up a new organisation, is not strong evidence in favour of the consistency of the Grand Chapter of Scotland, in its expressed desire not to encourage the multiplication of Masonic jurisdictions.

The same argument will reply to the oft-repeated objection of the Grand Chapter of Scotland to this Grand Lodge—that it is an "anomaly"—no similar supreme governing body being to be found elsewhere, while it does not hesitate to establish what is certainly not to be found elsewhere than in England—a Provincial Grand Mark Lodge, as we have under the Grand Chapter of Scotland, professing to rule the Mark Degree in Lancashire and adjoining districts.

Again, how a "more firmly-established" body than this Grand Lodge, with its 141 lodges, can be found or formed, I am at a loss to imagine. But this question has long since been settled to the satisfaction of every dispassionate and unprejudiced inquirer, as well as to that of the other "non-recognised" supreme jurisdictions in this country, and I must decline to occupy your space by any further attempt to confirm confirmation.

The "statement" continues, that the contemplated new body is "to be formed by a union of all the contending jurisdictions." Although this Grand Lodge has made great sacrifices, and used large efforts, to avoid contention, I may presume that it would be included in this category. On this head, I would simply ask if it be seriously imagined for a moment that this Grand Lodge could consent to absorption, with 141 lodges on its roll, and with 5,560 members on its register?

As regards the other degrees to which reference is made, and the objection urged against the G.M.M.M., as "wishing to work them under this Grand Lodge, and to confer them on Mark Master Masons—thus, in effect, putting the greater in subjection to the less," all that need be said is, that the subject was made a conversational one after the formal proceedings of the conference had closed, and that the desire expressed by the M.W.G.M.M.M. was, that in the event of union being happily effected, some plan might be devised, in concert with the authorities of the Grand Chapter of Scotland, by which certain degrees conferred in R.A. chapters not under English jurisdiction, might be conferred on Mark Master Masons, by a body to be hereafter organised, so as to render them fully qualified for the R.A. degrees in foreign or colonial chapters, which at present they were not. Details were left for further consideration.

This plan has now been carried out under the authority of the G.C. of New York, and a supreme body organised, superior to, but allied with, the G.L. of Mark Masters.

The fear expressed in the second reason against recognition of this G. Lodge—viz., "that it might affect prejudicially the G. Lodge and G. Chapter of England"—I forbear from characterising, merely remarking that, in the first place, it reflects more than unfavourably on the value attached to solemn obligations by the members of this Grand Lodge, all of whom are loyal members, and a large proportion of them Grand, or Provincial Grand, dignitaries, or office-bearers in some way or other, in the Grand Lodge of England; and, in the next place, that any such fear must be equally well founded in connection with the new Mark body proposed to be organized, as with this G. Lodge.

While anxious now, as ever, for the peaceful and happy reconciliation of differences existing only to be deplored, I have thought it but due to the members of this Grand Lodge that the remarks of the Prov. Grand Master of Scottish Mark Masonry in Lancashire should not pass unnoticed.

I am, dear Sir and Brother,
Yours faithfully and fraternally,
FREDERICK BINCKES,
Grand Secretary.

London, 28th Nov., 1871.

CONSECRATION OF A LODGE IN NEW ZEALAND.

The interesting ceremony of consecrating the Prince of Wales Lodge, No. 1338, took place on the 28th of September, at the Masonic Hotel, Auckland, under the authority of a warrant from the G.M. of the Grand Lodge of England. Bro. Fitzgibbon, P.M. of the Waitemata Lodge, and W.M. of the Lodge of Light, at the Thames, was the presiding W.M. He was assisted by Bro. Leers, P.M. of the lodge at Port Chalmers and of the Waitemata Lodge; Bro. Jenkins, P.M. of 252, and P.P.G.D.C. Berks and Bucks; and Bro. the Rev. Haywood, Chaplain 689 (E.C.), and under the sanction of Bro. Hayward, W.M. of the Waitemata Lodge, 689 (E.C.) The opening ceremonies were attended to by Bros. G. P. Pierce, P.G.M. (I.C.); Beveridge, D.P.G.M. (S.C.); the Rev. Dr. Kidd, W.M. Lodge Ara; Rees, W.M. United Service Lodge, J. Hay, W.M. St. Andrew's Lodge; Goldsboro', Stephenson, Doull, Brock, and several other P.M.'s, and brethren of other lodges. The lodge being duly opened, constituted, and consecrated, Bro. Diethelm was duly installed W.M., and appointed his officers as follows: Bros. Leers, acting P.M.; W. H. Kissling, S.W.; F. H. Ibbetson, J.W.; R. J. Morressey, Sec.; John Cowan, J.D.; J. A. Lyell, I.G. Bro. Heaphy was unanimously elected Treasurer, and Bro. C. Porter, Tyler. The brethren then retired, and shortly after nine o'clock sat down to a banquet provided by Bro. Host Avey in his well-known style. The following toasts were then given:—Bro. W. M. Diethelm proposed "The Queen and the Craft, Bro. the Prince of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family," followed by "The Most Worshipful the Grand Master of Masons of England, the Right Honorable the Marquis of Ripon." The toast was received with the usual honours, and responded to by Bro. Jenkins in suitable terms.—Bro. S. W. Kissling then gave "The Most Worshipful the Grand Masters of Ireland and Scotland, the Duke of Leinster and the Earl of Rosslyn, including the names of Bro. Pierce, Prov. G.M. of the Irish Lodges, and Bro. Beveridge, D.P.G.M. of the Scotch Lodges."—The toast was drunk with Macduff honours.—Bros. Pierce and Beveridge returned thanks, and in doing so wished the new lodge every success.—Bro. Leers gave the next toast, "The Installing Master," which was received with Masonic honours.—Bro. Fitzgibbon returned thanks, and said he felt much flattered at the praise which had been lavished upon him.—The toast of the evening, "The W.M.," was then proposed by Bro. Fitzgibbon. He said he felt proud that this toast had been placed in his hands. He had known Bro. Diethelm ever since he was initiated, and he was pleased to say he had never met a more enthusiastic, sincere, and thoroughly upright Mason. (Hear, hear.) He would say many things to his credit if he were not present.—Bro. Diethelm returned his sincere thanks, and in doing so said he was fully aware of the honourable position in which he had that evening been placed. It would be his constant endeavour, so long as he filled the chair, to discharge the various duties of his office in a manner creditable to himself and for the benefit of the Craft. It would also be his aim, as W.M. of the Prince of Wales Lodge, to carry out the true principle of Masonry, being that of brotherly love. He then addressed a few words to the officers of the lodge, and returned his sincere thanks to the Installing Master.—Bro. Heaphy proposed "The Acting P.M.," after which Bro. Morressey, in a very able speech, gave "The Sister Lodges," which was responded to by Bros. Hayward, Kidd, Rees, Hay, Fitzgibbon, and Beveridge.—The "Visiting Brethren" was next given by Bro. Ibbetson, who coupled the name of Bro. Jenkins, thanking him for the very able assistance rendered during the evening as Director of Ceremonies.—Bro. Hayward proposed "The Newly-installed Officers," which was neatly responded to by Bro. Kissling.—In the absence of the S.D., Bro. Doull proposed "The Masonic Charities," after which Bro. Dargaville gave "The Ladies." The toast was humorously responded to by Bro. J. Cruickshank.—Bro. Porter proposed "Poor and Distressed Brethren," which was duly responded to.

During the evening the proceedings were enlivened by Bro. Rees playing several Masonic selections on the harmonium. Thus ended one of the most imposing Masonic ceremonies that has taken place in this city for a lengthened period.

CONSECRATION OF A LODGE AT CHIPPING SODBURY.

The Tyndall Lodge, No. 1363, was consecrated at the Town-hall, Chipping Sodbury, and proved in that neighbourhood much of a gala occasion. Many of the houses were gaily decorated with flags, and lines of the same were stretched across the top of the principal thoroughfare; whilst during the day the church bells rang out merry peals. During the early part of the day numbers of the brethren from adjoining towns visited the ancient church of Sodbury, and were evidently much delighted with the numerous signs of antiquity and evidences of ancient Masonry which they found around them.

At one o'clock the ceremony of consecration commenced, the handsome lodge-room being well filled. The Very Worshipful D.P.G.M., Bro. George Frederick Newmarch, performed the ceremony, and there were present the following Masonic brethren: Bros. Robert Fendick, P.G.S.W. Bristol; Frederick G. Powell, P.P.G.P. Bristol; E. S. Joseph, W.M. 493; Wm. Waites, P.G.S.D.; Samuel Short, P.P.S.G.D. Bristol; C. R. Davey, P.P.G.C.; H. H. Hartley, John Trenfield, W. E. Hadow, P.G.C.; E. W. Trinder, P.G.S.; Osborne Dauncey, P.P.G.S.D.; J. J. Dutton, W.M. 855; Llew. White, P.P.G.S.D.; Octavius Long, P.M. 270; Joseph Bennett, W.M. 270; W. C. Jarrett, P.P.G.S.D. Bristol; &c.

The installation of Bro. G. Rennie Powell as W.M. having been fulfilled, he proceeded to appoint the following officers: Bros. S. Davis, S.W.; F. G. Vizard, J.W.; J. D. B. Trenfield, Sec.; J. Handy, S.D.; Daniel Besley, J.D.; E. O. Limbrick, I.G.

The brethren, to the number of between fifty and sixty, then walked in procession to the George Hotel, where a capital banquet, served up by the proprietor, Bro. W. Higgs, was done the fullest justice to. The post-prandial proceedings at Masonic banquets are always "tiled," but we may state that brotherly love prevailed, and that a truly happy evening was spent.

THE BEST FIRST.—Turner's Tamarind Cough Emulsion for the Throat and Bronchia, 13½d. and 2/9 per bot.—All wholesale houses in London and Liverpool, and any respectable Chemist.—[Advt.]

CONSECRATION OF A ROSE CROIX CHAPTER AT NEWPORT.

The ceremony of consecrating the Ivor Hael Chapter, Rose Croix, 18°, took place on Tuesday, last week, at the Masonic-hall, Newport, when a large number of the brethren attended. The suite of rooms, which constitute, perhaps, the most magnificent temple of Masonry on this side of the Severn, has been newly decorated at an expense commensurate with the importance of the occasion and the dignity of the Order; indeed, it was universally admitted that the brother who undertook the delicate task had acquitted himself well. The colours were all in harmony, and the embellishments did infinite credit to the mind that conceived and the hand that executed them. Not the least effective part of the display was the banners of the Knights, ranged round the room, whilst the profusion of roses, to say nothing of the splendour under the grand canopy in the East, made it look like Fairy-land. Thanks to the great interest taken in the Chapter by Capt. Shadwell H. Clerke, the appointments on Tuesday left nothing to be desired. Bro. Clerke worked most assiduously and secured a splendid success.

A Rose Croix Chapter having been duly opened under the auspices of the Supreme Grand Council, by S.G.I.G. Hyde Pullen, and officers pro tem. having been appointed, the M.P.S.G.C., Charles John Vigne, proceeded with the ceremony of consecration. This having been performed with great solemnity, the S.G.I.G. Pullen was requested to instal the illustrious Bro. Captain Shadwell H. Clerke as First Sovereign of the Ivor Hael Chapter. The next duty was to install the candidates whose names had previously been submitted to the Chapter. They were not fewer than twenty in number. It was a ceremony where gorgeousness and glitter of gold, alternated with solid and substantial teaching of moral truth, and the pointing out of the great landmarks of the Christian Religion. Finally, the "Third Point" was given, and the Chapter closed.

The following were the appointments: The Rev. A. L. Willett, B.A., Prelate; S. G. Homfray, First General; E. J. Morris, Second General; L. A. Homfray, Grand Marshal; D. Williams, Raphael; R. S. Roper, Captain of the Guard; W. H. W. Homfray, Recorder and Treasurer; R. J. Chambers, Herald; D. Borsessa, Outer Guard.

The brethren (about fifty) afterwards dined at the King's Head Hotel, where Host Gretton distinguished himself by the excellent repast he put on the table. In accordance with the traditions of the Order no toasts were proposed, save and except the health of Her Most Gracious Majesty, and that of the M.W.S., Capt. Clerke, the first by the M.W.S., and the second by the M.P.S.G.C., Vigne.

The company at the dinner included—M.W.T. Capt. S. Clerke, in the chair; Bros. Vigne, Capt. Philips, L. A. Homfray, Gen. Doherty, Colonel Lyne, Montagu, Thomas Jovitt, Colonel Hill, Charles Bath, Capt. Pearson, H. M. Kennard, Chas. Simpson, S. G. Homfray, Thos. Williams, Lord, J. M. Shum (Treas.), H. W. Williams, F. H. Bladon, George Hoskins, R. C. Chambers, G. W. Jones, Edward F. Daniel, J. W. Jones, Hyde Pullen, R. S. Roper, Capt. Phayre, Col. Ford, E. T. Payne, Chas. Homfray, J. S. Starkey, Rev. A. L. Willett, Wickey Homfray, W. E. Reeves, A. Stones, James Goodal, E. Daniel, F. Tulloch, &c.

CONSECRATION OF A K.T. ENCAMP- MENT AT NEWPORT.

The Gwent Encampment of Knights Templar was consecrated on Wednesday se'night at Newport. The warrant from the Grand Master was accompanied by a "Letter Demissary" from the V.E. the Grand Chancellor of the Order (Sir Patrick Colquhoun), authorising the V.E. Past Prov. Grand Commander, Captain S. H. Clerke, to form and consecrate a Conclave, under the above title, in the Province of Monmouthshire. There was a brilliant assemblage of Knights, amongst those present being: V.E. Sir Kt. C. J. Vigne,

P.G.C. Dorset; V.E. Sir Kt. Capt. N. G. Philips, P.G.C. Suffolk and Cambridge; V.E. Sir Kt. Capt. Shadwell-Clerke, P.P.G.C. West Indies; E. Sir Kt. J. M. P. Montagu, P.G. Capt. Eng.; E. Sir Kt. Capt. A. T. Perkins, P.G. Capt. Eng.; E. Sir Kt. Major-Gen. H. Doherty, C.B., P.G. Capt. Eng.; E. Sir Kt. J. F. Starkey, P.G., D.C. Eng.; E. Sir Kt. Capt. G. A. Phayre, R.N., P.G. A.D.C., Eng.; E. Sir Kt. E. T. Payne, P.G.S.B. Eng.; E. Sir Kt. J. South, P.E.C., Palestine; E. Sir Kt. T. Jowitt, P.E.C., Yorkshire; E. Sir Kt. H. Robinson, E.C., Palestine; and the following Sir Knights: Col. C. Lyne, H. M. Kennard, H. Hellyer, S. G. Homfray, L. A. Homfray, W. H. W. Homfray, W. Pickford, Geo. Fothergill, Capt. J. R. Pearson, Wm. Watkins, Col. E. S. Hill, Wm. Williams, H. E. Horner, &c., &c.

The Sir Knights having assembled in the hall, an intimation was received that the V.E. Consecrating Sir Knight, accompanied by the other P.G. Commanders were without. The celebrated arch of steel was formed, and they were received with due honours. The V.E. Capt. Clerke here ascended the throne, and appointed his officers ad interim. He then most ably performed the rites of consecration, formally enrolling the Gwent Encampment under the banners of the Order in England and Wales. The Grand Master's warrant designating Sir Knight Col. Chas. Lyne as first E.C. was read. The brethren below the chair were requested to withdraw whilst the E.C. was placed on the throne. Upon their re-admission, they saluted the E.C., and the Herald proclaimed him in due form. Then he appointed and invested the officers for the ensuing year as follow: Sir Kts. the Rev. S. Fox, M.A., Prelate; H. M. Kennard, First Captain; H. Hellyer, Second Captain; W. Pickford, Registrar and Treasurer; Capt. S. G. Hornfray, Expert; W. Watkins, Almoner; Capt. J. R. Pearson, Capt. of Lines; L. A. Homfray and W. H. W. Homfray, Standard-bearers; Geo. Fothergill, Organist; D. Williams and J. R. Randall, Heralds; W. Williams and W. Nettal, A.D.C.'s; Frater Henry Fletcher, Equerry.

At the request of the Eminent Commander, the V.E.P. Capt. Clerke, undertook the duty of installing those companions whose names had been already recorded. There were seven in attendance. This duty was performed in a most able and impressive manner. Col. Lyne now resumed the throne, and proposed a vote of thanks to the Very Eminent Sir Knights and Officers who had attended the encampment that day. It was received with acclamation. The V.E.P.G.C. Capt. Clerke, again taking the chair, the encampment was closed according to ancient custom.

The Sir Knights adjourned to the King's Head Hotel, where about thirty sat down to a capital dinner—toast, song, and sentiment being freely indulged in.

INSTRUCTION.

ANNIVERSARY SUPPER OF THE DOMATIC LODGE, No. 177.

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 14th, the anniversary celebration supper of the above-named flourishing Lodge of Instruction took place at the Palmerston Arms' Tavern, Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, and was attended by some of the best working Masons and instructors in the Craft, amongst whom were Bro. John Thomas, P.M. of numerous lodges and Preceptor of this lodge; Bro. James Stevens, P.M. and Sec. of the United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction; and several others. There were also present: Bros. Wingham, S.W. of the Robert Burns' Lodge; H. Thompson, P.M. Domatic and Southern Star Lodges; Brinton, Sphinx; Headon, Sec. Great Northern Lodge; Bonts, Domatic; J. Wright, Southern Star; Hines, Royal Jubilee Lodge; Larlham, Macdonald Lodge; Poore, Panmure; Ellis, Southern Star; Macdonald, Aldershot Lodge; Vernon, New Concord; Lay, Great Northern; Ross, Macdonald Lodge; and many others. Bro. J. Speed, P.M. of the Faith Lodge, presided.

The supper was provided by Bro. Marshall, the worthy host, which was bountiful and of excellent quality, and gave the highest satisfaction—there not being a dissentient voice to the splendid fare set before them.

The repast having been done ample justice to, and the cloth removed,

The Chairman said, as that was a meeting for the purpose of enjoyment, rather than of a formal nature, he should dispense with the customary toasts, and should at once give them the toast of the evening, which was, "Success to the Domatic Lodge of Instruction." He said that, since its resuscitation, it had been eminently successful, and now numbered amongst its members some of the best working Masons of the Craft. (The toast was drunk most enthusiastically.)

Several songs having been sung,

Bro. John Thomas, P.M. and Preceptor of the lodge, said he had a pleasing duty to perform, and one that, he was sure, the brethren would be very sorry if it were omitted, and that was, to propose "The Health of Bro. Speed," their worthy President, who had always shown an interest in the Domatic Lodge of Instruction, and most obligingly took the chair on the present occasion. (The toast was very cordially received, and with all due honours.)

Bro. Speed, in reply, thanked the brethren for that mark of their favour, and expressed his readiness, at all times, to do anything in his power to promote the prosperity of the lodge.

Other songs having been sung, and some choice pieces of music been performed by Bro. Wingham, jun., on the harmonium,

Bro. H. Thompson, P.M. and Secretary, said he must, for a few minutes, interrupt the musical performances by proposing a toast which, he was sure, the brethren would receive with pleasure and great cordiality, as it was "The Health of Bro. John Thomas, the esteemed Preceptor of the Lodge." Without his aid, the brethren would not have the benefit of a most able instructor, and without him, he (Bro. Thompson) hardly knew how they would get on in working their different ceremonies and lectures. He felt assured that the brethren appreciated his services, and would award him the praise which was so justly due to him. He was at all times willing to give them instruction, and many had profited by it, and, he was sure, they would all have pleasure in joining with him in drinking "The Health of Bro. Thomas, the esteemed Preceptor of the Lodge." (The toast was enthusiastically received, followed by Masonic honours.)

Bro. J. Thomas very briefly replied, thanking Bro. Thompson for the kind manner in which he had spoken of him, and the brethren for the very cordial way they had received the toast which he had proposed. He could assure them that it was a pleasure to him to attend that lodge as its Preceptor, and although there were many others among its members able to give instruction, they always gave way to him, which he looked upon as a great honour. He attended several lodges of instruction, but he looked upon the Domatic Lodge as the most important of the number, and he was gratified to witness its great prosperity; and, in conclusion, thanked the brethren for the kind manner in which they had drunk his health.

Bro. James Stevens then gave, with great judgment, a recitation on the duties and obligations of Freemasonry, which elicited loud applause.

Bro. Vernon sung, in exquisite style, Moore's beautiful ballad of "The Meeting of the Waters," which was loudly applauded.

Bro. James Stevens then asked the brethren to charge their glasses with bumpers for the toast which, by the W. Master's permission, he had the honour to propose. He said the lodge had been resuscitated, and was going on most prosperously, and for that pleasing result they were mainly indebted to their worthy Bro. Thompson, who laboured hard to bring it about. He was almost constant in his attendance to perform his duties as Secretary, and the urbanity which he invariably displayed to all, entitled him to their respect and regard. He hoped and trusted that Bro. Thompson might be spared for many years to come amongst them, and to receive those renewed marks of the feelings of the brethren and the regard they entertained for him. He called upon them, with all cordiality, to drink to "The Health of Bro. Thompson, P.M. and the worthy Secretary of the Lodge. (The toast was cordially received.)

Song by Bro. Speed—"Here's to the Oak."

Bro. H. Thompson, P.M. and Secretary, said he thanked Bro. Stevens for the many kind things he had said of him in regard to the resuscitation of the lodge; but, at the same time, in doing so, he had been greatly assisted by Bro. Stevens, although he, with great modesty, had kept all that to himself. However, he (Bro. Thompson) now put the brethren in possession of that fact in perfect confidence, and in doing so, he was quite sure it would go no further. It was true he had taken some part in the resuscitation of the lodge, which appeared as if it had been permanently consigned to the tomb, and, to all appearance, could be expected to be revived only with the Greek Kalends; but, by his own exertions and with a little assistance, it had been reanimated and reinvigorated, and he trusted, in the words of the song they had recently heard, that, like the old oak tree, it would live and flourish when 300 years were gone, but he was afraid that not many of those then present would live to see that event. (A laugh.) As it was, he could not deny Bro. Stevens the meed of praise which was so justly due to him, although he had said nothing about it himself. He (Bro. Thompson) was happy to see that glorious meeting, and trusted that at their next annual celebration every one he then addressed might be present at it, and with them as many friends as they could bring, and then it would be a pleasing retrospect to look back at their present happy meeting. He thanked them most sincerely for the honour they had done him, and assured them of his earnest desire to do everything in his power to promote the prosperity of the lodge.

Some other toasts and songs followed, and a truly happy meeting was brought to a close. We cannot conclude this notice without making special mention of the splendid performances of Bro. Wingham, jun., on the harmonium, and a number of songs by Bro. Vernon.

GRAND MARK LODGE.

The following business will be brought before the Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons of England and Wales, &c., at the half-yearly meeting announced to be held at Freemasons' Tavern on Tuesday next.

AGENDA.

- 1.—Read and confirm minutes of Grand Lodge of 6th of June.
- 2.—The M.W.G.M.M.M. will communicate to Grand Lodge the recognition of this Grand Lodge by the Grand Chapter of Iowa, U.S.A., and the arrangements for the exchange of Representatives.
- 3.—Nomination of M.W.G.M.M.M.
- 4.—Reception of Report of General Board, in which are the following recommendations, each requiring special motion for adoption by Grand Lodge:—
  - (1). Abolition of qualification of W.M. of a Craft lodge as necessary for a candidate for the office of W.M. of a lodge of Mark Masters.
  - (2). Recognition of Dep. Prov. Grand Masters as Grand officers, with seats on the dais, during their absolute tenure of office as such.
  - (3). That ten guineas be contributed from the funds of Grand Lodge to the "Binckes Testimonial."
- 5.—Presentation of jewels to Chairman and Stewards of Mark Benevolent Fund Festival in July last.

SMALL-POX, FEVERS, AND SKIN DISEASES.—The predisposition to is prevented by Lamplough's Pyretic Saline. Vitalising and invigorating, its effects are remarkable in their cure and prevention. Take it as directed. Sold by chemists and the maker, H. Lamplough, 113, Holborn-hill.—[Advt.]

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

THE CRAFT.

METROPOLITAN.

Lodge of Industry, No. 186.—The regular meeting of this lodge was held on Tuesday, the 28th ult., at the Freemasons' Hall. Bro. Tallent, W.M., initiated four gentlemen. Bro. Noehmer, S.W., was elected W.M. for the ensuing year; Bro. Lake, P.M., was re-elected Treasurer; and Bro. Woodstock, P.M., re-elected Tyler. A five-guinea P.M.'s jewel was then voted to the retiring W.M., and ten guineas to the Carpenter Testimonial Fund. There was a full attendance of members and several visitors were present. Banquet followed. The future meetings of this lodge will be held at Bro. Gosden's, Masons' Hall Tavern, Masons'-avenue, City.

Lion and Lamb Lodge, No. 192.—An emergency meeting of this lodge was held at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, on Thursday, the 23rd ult., Bro. George Kenning, P.G.D. Middlesex, W.M., in the chair, supported by Bros. J. J. Harris, S.W.; F. Trott, J.W.; W. Goodyer, P.M., Treas.; J. G. Marsh, P.G.P. Middlesex, P.M., Sec.; Geo. Abbott, S.D.; Geo. Newman, I.G.; T. Cohe, D.C.; and E. King and E. Roberts, P.M.'s. The lodge having been duly opened in the first, second, and third degrees, Bros. W. Cotter and W. Ramsey were raised by the W.M. to the sublime degree of M.M. The lodge then proceeded to read and revise the by-laws, for which purpose this meeting was more especially convened. The business having been disposed of, the lodge was closed and the brethren adjourned to a slight refreshment. Amongst the other brethren present were Bros. J. Kent, Charles Arkell, R. E. Bright, S. Haynes, T. Fisher, and E. Jones. The meeting separated at an early hour.

Fitzroy Lodge, No. 569.—This lodge met on Friday, the 24th ult., at the headquarters of the Honourable Artillery Company. Bro. P. Y. Gowland, W.M., presided, and in his usual correct, impressive, and earnest manner, initiated two gentlemen, and passed a brother, the candidates being introduced separately. The S.W., Bro. Long, was then elected W.M.; Bro. P. Mathews, P.M., was re-elected Treasurer; and Bro. Hoare, P.G.S., P.M., re-elected Tyler. A ten-guinea P.M.'s jewel was unanimously voted to Bro. P. Y. Gowland, W.M., for his two years' service in the chair. It was resolved that the honorary membership of the lodge be offered to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, P.G.M., the Colonel of the Honourable Artillery Company, and a committee was formed to carry it out. This idea originated with the W.M., and received the unanimous approval of the lodge. Four candidates were proposed for initiation, and the lodge was then closed. An emergency meeting is likely to be held to finish up work before the installation. Supper was served. Visitors: Bros. J. Terry, P.M. 228; F. Walters, P.M. 73; &c.

Whittington Lodge, No. 862.—The installation meeting of this lodge was held on Monday, the 20th ultimo, at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street. Bro. S. S. Davis, W.M., opened the lodge, after which he initiated Messrs. W. S. Rose, T. M. Rodet, J. S. Lavington, J. Walmsley, and Dr. B. Ben Zion into the mysteries of the Craft. Bro. Weaver, P.M., then installed the new Master, Bro. J. Salisbury, the officers invested being: Bros. W. J. H. Jones, S.W.; A. Frickenhaus, J.W.; W. F. N. Quilty, P.M., Treas.; R. W. Little, Sec.; W. F. Smith, S.D.; B. Seeley, J.D.; A. R. Haley, I.G.; T. Kingston, D.C.; C. Bergmann, C.S.; J. Brett, W.S.; J. Weaver, Treas. After other business, the lodge was closed, and the brethren, in number between fifty and sixty, sat down to a splendid banquet. All the usual toasts were duly honoured, and in the course of the evening, a Past Master's jewel was presented to Bro. Davis, I.P.M., for his excellent services in the chair. A large number of visitors attended, including V.W. Bro. John Hervey, G. Sec.; Bros. J. Boyd, A.G. Purs.; F. Binckes, P.G. Steward, Sec. Boys' School; H. C. Levander, P.M., P. Prov. G.D. Wilts.; G. Cattel, P.M., P. Prov. G.D. Hunts.; G. Kenning, W.M. 192, Prov. G.D. Middlesex; W. Dodd, P.M. 1194; E. Stanton Jones, P.M.; and C. Coote, P.M.

Royal Oak Lodge, No. 871.—This well-established lodge held its usual meeting on Thursday, the 23rd ult., at the White Swan Tavern, High-street, Deptford. Bro. Frederick Walters, P.M. and Sec., opened the lodge. There were present: Bros. T. Killner, S.W.; J. W. Reed, J.W.; W. Myatt, S.D.; G. Andrews, J.D.; S. O. Lewin, I.G.; J. Hawker, P.M.; J. Truelove, P.M.; J. H. Wilson, F. G. Skinner, M. J. Simmons, H. G. Rattle, T. Spencer, G. Harvey, B. J. Cole, G. T. Linn, J. J. Pakes, W. Shaw, R. Harman, T. J. Blackmore, R. Killick, and J. G. Vohmann. The visitors were: Bros. J. Absell (813), A. Overton, and G. Jones (1326). The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, ballots were taken separately for Messrs. R. Killick and T. J. Blackmore, which were unanimously in favour of their admission. Bros. B. J. Cole, T. Spencer, and G. Jones (1326) were separately introduced and passed to the second degree. Bro. W. Andrews, W.M., having arrived, took the chair, and initiated Messrs. R. Killick and T. J. Blackmore, separately, into Freemasonry. The whole of the work was well done. Five guineas were voted to a deceased member's widow from the Charity Fund. Some propositions for initiation at next meeting closed the business, when banquet followed.

Clapton Lodge, No. 1365.—A meeting of this young and most prosperous lodge was held at the White Hart Hotel, Clapton, on Wednesday, the 15th ult. Present: Bros. J. D. Taylor, W.M., in the chair; Wm. Stephens, S.W.; J. Saunders, J.W.; Wm. Lutwyche, S.D.; C. Miles, J.D.; H. W. Cattlin, I.G.; R. Wyatt, D.C.; W. Batchelor R. Webber, W.S.; and several other brethren. The lodge having been duly opened, and minutes of last meeting confirmed, Messrs. Wm. Walker, Joseph Sydney, Badkin, and Elias Somers were severally initiated into the Craft, the work being performed in a most impressive and correct manner. Bros. Jas. Paul and John Preston were passed. The next business was the election of a Treasurer. Bro. R. Buller, the Secretary and P.M. 9, proposed, and Bro. R. Webber seconded, Bro. Wm. Batchelor (also of 1178) for the office, and that brother was unanimously elected. Bro. Buller said that Bro. Batchelor was so well known amongst the brethren that it needed no remark from him as to his responsibility, and from the profession he followed he thought there could be no one more suitable for the office. The W.M. then invested Bro. Batchelor in due form. Bro. Batchelor assured the brethren that he would do his utmost to further the interests of the Clapton Lodge. The W.M. announced that a Lodge of Instruction would be held in connection with this lodge every Friday evening at half-past seven o'clock.—At the banquet, the tables for the guests were admirably arranged, upwards of twenty sitting down. The dinner was served by Bro. Bryan, the worthy host, and it is sufficient to say that every one was pleased and satisfied with the excellent manner it was placed upon the table. Everything, including the wines, were all that could be desired. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts followed, that of the Queen being supplemented with the National Anthem. Bro. J. McDavitt, Organist, and several other brethren, sang some capital songs during the evening.—On Friday, the 17th ult., Bro. Terry worked the consecration ceremony with his usual ability. Bro. J. Saunders was unanimously elected Preceptor, and the usual officers were appointed, viz., Bro. G. E. Bryan, Treasurer, and Bro. Buller Secretary. The brethren afterwards partook of a first-class supper.

PROVINCIAL.

LEICESTER.—John of Gaunt Lodge, No. 523.—The regular monthly meeting of this flourishing lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, on Thursday, the 16th ult., under the presidency of Bro. Wm. Sculthorpe, W.M., who was supported by the following officers, viz., Bros. Rev. N. Haycroft, D.D., S.W.; F. J. Baines, J.W.; Rev. W. T. Fry, Chaplain; W. B. Smith, P.M., Treas.; S. S. Partridge, Sec.; C. A. Spencer, J.D.; C. Johnson, P.M., Organist; J. F. Smith, Steward; W. T. Rowlett, I.G.; and G. Toller, jun., P.M.; Dr. Clifton, and several other members of the lodge. Visitor: Bro. Clement E. Stretton, 279. The lodge having been opened in due form, the minutes of the last regular meeting were read and confirmed. The business on the summons consisted of an initiation and a raising, but the candidate for the latter degree was unable to attend on this occasion. The explanation of the first tracing-board was rendered in a very able manner by Bro. Haycroft, S.W. The W.M. read a letter from the Prov. G.M., the R.W. Bro. Wm. Kelly, announcing that he had appointed Bro. the Right Hon. the Earl Ferrers, P.M. 779, to be Deputy Provincial Grand Master. The appointment is one which has the hearty approval of the members of this and the other lodges of the province. The lodge was then closed, and the usual refreshment followed.

HARWICH.—Star in the East Lodge, No. 650.—This lodge commemorated its anniversary on the 20th ult., at the Pier Hotel. A goodly number of the brethren assembled, and amongst the visitors present were Bro. Rudge, P.M., London, Bro. Chapman, Town Clerk of Harwich, Bro. Dorling, P.P. G. Sec. Suffolk, Bro. Barber, P.G.O. Suffolk, Bro. C. T. Townsend, P.P.S.G.W. Suffolk, and others. The minutes of the last lodge, containing the election of Bro. Jno. Heseltine, P.M. Prudence Lodge, were read and confirmed. A candidate was balloted for, and the usual preliminary business disposed of. Bro. Heseltine was then installed into the chair of K.S., according to ancient custom. The Installing Master, Bro. C. T. Townsend, in handing the warrant from Grand Lodge to the newly-installed Master, remarked that it had passed through the hands of many worthy brethren, and in handing it to Bro. Heseltine, as the fourth Master he had installed in this lodge, he did so with the greatest confidence that he duly appreciated the charge. Bro. Heseltine then appointed and invested the following officers: Bros. Tovell, I.P.M.; Col. Jervis, M.P., S.W.; H. N. Brooks, J.W.; Dutton, Treas.; Wymark, Sec.; Baker and King, Deacons. The brethren afterwards partook of a banquet, prepared in Bro. Brice's usual excellent style. The customary loyal and Masonic toasts were given by the W.M. and heartily responded to. Altogether, the business in lodge and the proceedings at the festive board, were conducted to the great gratification of those who had the privilege of being present.

LIVERPOOL.—Duke of Edinburgh Lodge, No. 1182.—The regular meeting of this lodge took place at the Coffee House Hotel, Wavertree, Liverpool, on the 15th ultimo. The lodge was opened by the W.M., Bro. Philip Richards Thorn, and after the business was over, and the brethren called from labour to refreshment, the W.M. requested the brethren to fill a bumper to the toast he was about to propose, which having been done, he turned to Bro. Samuel Cookson, I.P.M., and said: Brother Cookson, it is my pleasing duty to present you this evening with a Past Master's jewel, as a slight acknowledgment of your past services and also as a memento of the esteem in which you are held by the brethren of this lodge. It might have devolved upon abler hands to perform this task, but I at least have the advantage of being able to speak of you, not only from the foundation of this lodge, but of a close intimacy and friendship of many years. This occasion is to me one of infinite gratification and pleasure, in which sentiments I feel assured the brethren heartily concur. The W.M. then handed the jewel (which bears a suitable inscription) to Bro. Cookson, and that brother acknowledged the gift in appropriate terms.—The W.M. again rose, and said: It also devolves upon me this evening to present Brother Wm. Brown, who has been Treasurer to this lodge four years, with a testimonial and suitable jewel, for the zeal and attention he has at all times paid to the duties of his office. It was well earned, and might be proudly worn. He might add, as with Bro. Cookson so with Bro. Brown, they had been associated together for many years, which made the duties that evening the more pleasing.—Bro. Brown returned thanks.—The W.M. said he had another pleasing duty to perform, which was to present Bro. Bales with a suitable gift in recognition of his valuable services as Secretary to the lodge since its formation, which was gratefully acknowledged in happy terms by Bro. Bales.—The last toast of the evening having been given, the lodge was closed in due form.

HAMPTON.—Lebanon Lodge, No. 1326.—This young and flourishing lodge met at the Red Lion Hotel, Hampton, on the 16th ult. Present: Bros. S. Wickens, W.M.; Bowman, S.W.; J. Hayward, as J.W.; J. T. Moss, P.G.S., I.P.M. and Treas.; F. Walters, P.M., Sec.; H. A. Dubois, as S.D.; W. Hammond, P.M., J.D.; J. Thomas, I.G.; H. Potter, P.M., W.S.; J. Catchpole, J. W. Jackson, W. H. Scott, J. McRitchie, W. H. Livett, J. G. Donald, J. Duckworth, W. Taplin, G. W. Solley, W. P. Saunders, J. M. Jennings, J. W. Baldwin, &c.; visitors, Bros. E. Mallett (141), J. T. H. Moss (169), T. Mortlock (P.M. 186), Henley (186), C. Tuckett (P.M. 201), Jeffery (P.M. 201), S. Sneesby (1178), W. Bell (1275), E. S. Lane (1275), and several other brethren. After the confirmation of minutes, Bros. W. P. Saunders (127) and J. Hills (W.M. 157) were elected as joining members, and Messrs J. W. Baldwin, J. M. Jennings, C. F. Payne, W. Taplin, J. G. Donald, and J. Duckworth as candidates for initiation. Messrs Baldwin, Jennings, Taplin, Donald and Duckworth, being present, were duly initiated; Bros. W. H. Livett and G. W. Solley were passed to the second degree, and Bros. J. McRitchie, E. S. Lane, and W. Bell were raised to the third; several joining members were proposed, and a large number of candidates for initiation. Apologies were received from six candidates for initiation, who were unable to attend. Business ended, the lodge was closed, and the usual first-class banquet followed.

WALTHAM.—King Harold Lodge, No. 1327.—This lodge held its regular meeting at the Britannia Hotel, Waltham New Town, Herts, on the 21st ult. Present: Bros. Charles Wm. Barnes, W.M. (in the chair); E. West, P.G.S.D. Herts, I.P.M.; C. Lacey, P.M. 174; Edward Parker, S.W.; Young, J.W.; Barwick, Treas.; Reiley, Sec.; Evans, S.D.; Gilbert, J.D.; Etherington, I.G.; Auber, Org.; Allison, Tyler; Austin, Calvert, G. Clements, Creed, Copeland, Crockett, Eversfield, Fisher, Kent, Mooney, Noyes, Portlock, Sheldon, Tucker, Tydeman; and visitors, Bros. Davis (W.M. 13), Wiles (173), and Crotaz (401). The lodge having been opened in due form, Mr. D. Purkis, sen., and Mr. D. Barnett were initiated, Brs. Crockett and Creed passed, and Bro. Eversfield raised. Bro. Barnes, the newly-installed W.M., and the officers generally, acquitted themselves most creditably, and, considering that the lodge is still in its infancy and the greater number of both officers and members are young and inexperienced Masons, it does them honour to see the zeal evinced by every brother to acquire a perfect knowledge of their respective duties, and we are informed that the working of the King Harold is not far behind many older and experienced lodges. The business of the evening being ended, the lodge was closed in perfect harmony, and the brethren retired for refreshment. The usual toasts were honoured, and some good songs further enlivened the proceedings.

ALDERSHOT.—Camp Lodge, No. 1331.—An emergency meeting of this lodge was held in the Royal Hotel on the 9th ultimo. Bro. C. Carnegie, I.P.M., G. Purst. Hants, presided, supported by Bros. Capt. Richardson, R.E., S.W.; Anderson, as J.W.; Laverty, S.D.; Bennett, J.D.; Swan, as I.G.; Clisham, as Sec.; and Lucas, Tyler. The business consisted of raising Bros. Marversly, Orton, and Horsford to the third, and passing Bro. Bishop to the second degree, after which the lodge was closed.

INDIA.

SIMLA, EAST INDIES.—Lodge Himlaya Brotherhood, No. 459 (E.C.)—A regular meeting of this lodge was held on the 18th September, in the lodgerooms, "Benmore," at 8 p.m., on which occasion the R.W. the D.G.M. of the Punjab, Major C. McW. Mercer, R.A., was pleased to attend. The following are the officers of the lodge for the current year: Bro. H. R. Cooke, W.M.; A. Litster, S.W.; W. J. Haverty, J.W.; Isaac Phelps, S.D.; G. Caldecourt, J.D.; G. Hawksworth, Sec.; Captain Levinge, Treas.; G. De Monte, I.G.; P. J. Coyne, Tyler; Past Masters, Dr. Bleckley, LL.B., and L. B. Freeman. The work for the evening was (1st) the initiation of Mr. Richard John Arnold, and (2nd) to pass the following brethren: Bro. A. Jones, A. J. B. Fox, and R. Burnham. The work in both degrees was conducted, in presence of a very full meeting, by the W.M. in a most effective and impressive manner, and the lodge was closed at 11 p.m. A banquet was subsequently held at Bro. Felix Von Goldstein's room, in honour of the R.W. the D.G.M. of the Punjab, and of the occasion of his farewell visit to Lodge 459. A large number of the brethren were present, besides several visitors. Amongst others, we noticed the guest of the evening, the R.W. the D.G.M. of the Punjab; the W.M., Bro. H. R. Cooke; W. Bro. Staff Surgeon Bleckley, M.D., LL.B., P.M. of Nos. 459 and 552, District Grand Dir. of Cers. for the Punjab; W. Bro. L. B. Freeman, P.M. of Lodge Charity, Umballa; Bro. Captain W. Galbraith, 85th Light Infantry, Past District Grand Steward for the Punjab; Bros. R. J. Arnold, W. H. Bishop, G. Caldecourt, P. J. Coyne, Felix Von Goldstein, W. J. Haverty, D. S. Henry, Alex. Jones, C. H. M. Leod, G. De Monte, W. Mack, J. E. O'Conner, A. Litster, W. H. Newman, I. J. Phelps, S. Radclyffe, E. W. Symes, R. Ten-Broeck, and G. Wood. The banquet was of a most recherché description, and the brethren separated at 2 a.m., highly pleased with the proceedings of the evening. A perusal of the banquet carte justifies us in the statement that our brethren in "the Hills" know how to refresh after labour, as, indeed, they are in duty bound to do. "May good digestion wait on appetite, and health on both," is our heartiest wish, to which a Hibernian at our elbow begs to add, "More power!" The air is keen so many thousand feet above the sea level. It will afford us much pleasure, from time to time, to record the doings of our friends in those exalted regions. To Bro. T. M. Bleckley, M.D., LL.B., our special thanks are due for the zeal, energy, and ability which he is ever ready to bestow on the interests of the Craft. Would that we all were like him! Fama super othra notus. We are happy to observe that, under the Hiram of W. Bro. Cooke, this old lodge is beginning to revive and exhibit signs of its pristine glory.

ROYAL ARCH.

METROPOLITAN.

Domestic Chapter, No. 177.—This old chapter met at Anderton's Hotel, on Thursday, the 23rd ultimo, and was well attended, every officer being in his place, and the array of Past Principals being, as usual, quite imposing. Bros. G. Clarke, W. Palmer, R. W. Crane, and D. Sullivan were exalted to the Royal Arch, great credit being due to Comps. Gilbert, Z., Wilson, H., Cubitt, J., and Foulger, N., as P.S., for the manner in which they worked the ceremony. After labour, the companions sat down to a capital repast, and enjoyed themselves exceedingly. Comps. Webb, Scott, Treadwell, Brett, and others, sang or gave recitations, which were highly appreciated. Amongst those present, we noticed Comps. Carpenter, Buss, Sisson, Cottebrune, Payne, Little, Hayward, and several visitors, E. H. Finney, W. Dodd, &c.

PROVINCIAL.

GIBRALTAR.—Calpean Chapter, No. 278.—A meeting of this chapter took place on the 13th ult., for the purpose of exalting Bro. William D. Longfield, Asst. Surgeon H.M.S. Minotaur. There was a goodly muster of companions, the presence of the Channel Fleet in the bay causing the attendance of several visitors from the various ironclads. All the officers of the chapter were at their posts: Comps. J. Balfour Cockburn, 1st Principal; Dantez, 2nd; Cavanna, 3rd; Richardson, S.N.; Hepper, S.E.; and Andrews, P.S. The ceremony was conducted in a most careful and impressive manner, and at its close the 1st Principal gave a most elaborate and interesting lecture on the Pedestal.—The following evening the chapter re-assembled for the purpose of exalting Bro. Le Chevalier Marinucci, the Italian Consul. On this occasion the degree was conferred in the Spanish language, the M.E.Z. receiving the able support and assistance of Comps. Dantez and Cavanna, and Comp. Morgan acting in a most efficient manner as P.S.—The next regular meeting of this chapter is anticipated with much interest, as in addition to two candidates for exaltation, it is hoped that a handsome piece of plate which has been voted to the Treasurer, Comp. Marin, will have arrived from England, and the presentation of which will form a portion of the business of the evening. Under the present vigorous management, the condition of the chapter promises to be eminently satisfactory.

LANCASTER.—Rowley Chapter, No. 1051.—The regular convocation of this chapter was held on the 20th ult., at the Chapter Rooms, Athenæum. There were present E. Comps. Mason, Z.; Hall, H.; Dr. Moore, P.Z., as J.; Comps. Whimpray, E.; James M. Moore, N.; Wilson Barker, Treas.; E. Simpson, P.S.; R. Taylor, Asst. S.; J. Watson, Janitor. After other business had been transacted, the ballot was taken, and proved unanimous in favour of Rev. Dr. Sall, LL.D., Vicar of Dolphinstholme, P. Prov. G. Chaplain of Somerset, as a candidate for exaltation in the chapter. Rev. Bro. T. B. Hinde, M.A., who had been elected at a previous meeting, was duly exalted to the degree of Royal Arch by Comp. Moore, P.Z., the lectures being delivered by the acting M.E.Z. and Comp. Hall, H. A candidate was proposed for exaltation, and the chapter was closed in due form.

MARK MASONRY.

GIBRALTAR.—Gibraltar Lodge, No. 43.—A meeting of this lodge was held on the 7th ultimo. There was a goodly muster of the brethren, and it was worthy of notice, as evincing the zealous and enthusiastic spirit in which this degree is worked at this place, that, with only one unavoidable exception, every officer of the lodge was present. Punctually at the hour named in the summons, the W.M., Bro. J. Balfour Cockburn, took the chair, supported by Bros. Graham, S.W.; Donald, J.W.; Richardson, M.O.; Hills, S.O.; Wall (for Bro. Beck), J.O.; Seath, S.D.; Hepper, J.D.; Brown, D.G.; Mockeridge, I.G.; and Vevers, Org. The lodge being opened, the indefatigable Secretary, Bro. William Brown, read the minutes of the last meeting, which, having been confirmed, the W.M. announced that the business of the evening was to advance Bros. Keppel (Adjutant 74th Highlanders), Leys (Royal Engineers), Arrowsmith (Army Service Corps), and Hayden. These brethren being in attendance, were admitted and duly advanced, the ceremony being conducted with the strictest attention to all details. The W.M. is to be congratulated on having officers so thoroughly acquainted with their various duties, and so effective in the discharge of the same, as Bros. Seath and Hepper, the Deacons, and Bro. Richardson, the Master Overseer. Bro. Vevers presided at the organ, and added greatly to the impressiveness of the whole proceedings. Before closing the lodge, the W.M. took the opportunity of exhibiting to the members the very handsome jewel which had been voted to Past Master Bro. Webster, and which had been but just received from England. Bro. Webster having left the station, the W.M. regretted that he would not have the gratifying duty of presenting him personally with this pleasing memento; but he would undertake to see that no delay occurred in its being forwarded to Bro. Webster. The lodge being closed, the brethren retired to refreshment, and spent the remainder of the evening in harmony and good fellowship, great amusement being afforded by the excellent comic singing of Bros. Richardson and Dickson.

ORDERS OF CHIVALRY.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

Ipswich Royal Plantagenet Encampment of Knights Templar.—The members of this encampment met at the Masonic Hall, on Monday, 20th Nov., under command of their E.C., Sir Kt. J. H. Townsend, I.P.G. 1st Herald of Suffolk and Cambridge. The preliminaries of the encampment having been got over, Comp. the Rev. R. N. Sanderson,

P.G. Dep. Commander of the province, took command, and installed Comp. the Rev. G. Beaumont a Knight of the Holy Temple. No other business offering, the encampment was closed in ancient form.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending Friday, December 8, 1871.

The Editor will be glad to have notice from Secretaries of lodges and chapters of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, DEC. 2.

General Committee Boys' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4. Lodge 142, St. Thomas's, Chap. 975, Rose of Denmark, Star and Garter, Kew. Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. C. S. Dilley, Preceptor. Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 7; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor. Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.

MONDAY, DEC. 4.

Lodge 12, Fortitude and Old Cumberland, Ship & Turtle Tavern, Leadenhall-street.
 ,, 25, Robert Burns, Freemasons' Hall.
 ,, 69, Unity, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
 ,, 72, Royal Jubilee, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 ,, 90, St. John's,
 ,, 144, St. Luke's, Pier Hotel, Chelsea.
 ,, 188, Joppa, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-street.
 ,, 256, Unions, Freemasons' Hall.
 ,, 1319, Asaph, Freemasons' Hall.
 Mark Lodge, Panmure (139), Balham Hotel, Balham.
 Red Cross, Original or Premier Conclave of England, Freemasons' Tavern, at 6.
 Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
 Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
 Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern, Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30, Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
 British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
 St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street (opposite Pantheon), Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. J. R. Stacey, Preceptor.
 Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. Dilley, Preceptor.
 St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, DEC. 5.

Colonial Board, Freemasons' Hall, at 3.
 Lodge 7, Royal York, Freemasons' Hall.
 ,, 9, Albion, Freemasons' Hall.
 ,, 18, Old Dundee, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
 ,, 101, Temple, Ship & Turtle Tav., Leadenhall-st.
 ,, 172, Old Concord, Freemasons' Hall.
 ,, 217, Stability, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 ,, 705, St. James's, Market Tavern, New Westons-street, Bermondsey.
 ,, 1257, Grosvenor, Victoria Railway Station.
 ,, 1259, Duke of Edinburgh, New Globe Tavern, Bow-road.
 ,, 1261, Golden Rule, Great Western Htl., Paddington.
 ,, 1298, Royal Standard, Marquess Tav., Canbury.
 Chap. 145, Prudent Brethren, Freemasons' Hall.
 ,, 169, Temperance, White Swan, Deptford.
 Grand Mark Lodge, Freemasons' Tavern, at 3.
 Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
 Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
 Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, Preceptor.
 Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
 Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
 Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
 Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
 Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
 Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.
 Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, Gladstone Tavern, Bishopsgate-st. Within, at 7.30; Bro. Bolton (W.M. 1227), Preceptor.
 St. Marybone Lodge of Instruction (1305), British Stores Tavern, New-street, St. John's Wood, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 6.

Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge, Freemasons' Hall, at 6 for 7.
 Lodge 511, Zeland, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
 Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
 United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.

Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7½.
Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Lmdus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, DEC. 7.

Lodge 10, Westminster & Keystone, Freemasons' Hall.
" 27, Egyptian, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
" 45, Strong Man, Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell.
" 192, Lion and Lamb, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-st.
" 227, Ionic, Ship & Turtle Tav., Leadenhall-st.
" 231, St. Andrew's, Freemasons' Hall.
" 538, La Tolerance, Freemasons' Hall.
" 554, Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
" 822, Victoria Rifles, Freemasons' Hall.
" 1155, Excelsior, Sydney Arms, Lewisham-road.
" 1178, Perfect Ashlar, Gregorian Arms, Bermondsey.
Chap. 2, St. James's, Freemasons' Hall.
" 9, Moriah, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street.
" 174, Sincerity, Cheshire Cheese, Crutched Friars.
The R.A. Chapter of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor. Installations of three Principals and Ceremony.
Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Panmure Lodge of Instruction (720), Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7; Bro. John Thomas, Preceptor.
Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern, Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.
Chigwell Lodge of Instruction, Bald-faced Stag Hotel, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30.

FRIDAY, DEC. 8.

Lodge 134, Caledonian, Ship & Turtle Tav., Leadenhall-street.
" 157, Bedford, Freemasons' Hall.
" 177, Domatic, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
Grand Conclave Knights Templar, Freemasons' Hall, at 3.
K.T. Encampment, Mount Calvary, Freemasons' Tavern.
Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Hill, Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Hill, Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Muggeridge, Preceptor.
Robert Burns Lodge of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, at 8; Bro. Wm. Watson, Preceptor.
Burgoyne Lodge of Instruction, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, N.W., at 8.
St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
Burdett Coult's Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
Clapton Lodge of Instruction, White Hart, Clapton, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West Smith, Preceptor.

SCOTLAND.

GLASGOW.

A meeting of the St. Andrew's Royal Arch Chapter was held in the Sanhadrim, Buchanan-street, on the 22nd ult. Among those present were Comps. Thomas Darwin Humphreys, P.Z.; M. Campbell, P.Z.; D. McGeachy, P.H.; T. P. Mullins, P.J.; D. Campbell, S.E.; P. Grey, S.N.; E. Crosher, Treas.; McEwen; A. Russell and G. Denny, Sojs.; J. C. Fraser, Janitor; and others. Visitors: Comps. O'Neal Haye, P.M. and P.Z.; W. Bell; Gilchrist, P.Z. Caledonian and Unity Chapters; and others. Bros. John Williamson, Jack, and Thomas were instructed in the Mark, and afterwards were called upon and installed in the chair degrees. After the usual business of the chapter had been concluded, the companions proceeded to consider the subject of a series of lectures to be delivered upon the principles, ritual, &c., of Royal Arch Masonry, and the P.Z. announced that he had arranged with Comp. T. M. Campbell for a lecture, illustrated with diagrams, upon the jewels, and with Comp. O'Neal Haye upon the teachings of the Order. He also expressed a hope of being able to deliver one himself, as well as of obtaining the assistance of other brethren in carrying out the series. In numbers and correctness of working the St. Andrew's Chapter is second to none; its financial position is undeniable, and, doubtless, under the presidency of so able and energetic a Principal, it will continue in the same stream of prosperity, upon which it so successfully floated when directed by Comp. T. M. Campbell. The lectures are likely to direct attention to the meetings of the chapter, and will, in addition to the excellent style of working, prove of great attraction to companions hailing from other chapters.

THE CAULD HOUSE O' CLAY.

BY ROBERT BURNS.

The last composition of the great Poet; as sung by Bro. John Doherty (an old Mason of 83 years of age) at the meeting of Lodge No. 350, Omagh, Ireland.

Farewell to the village, the best on the plain,
The low glens and green fields, which I'll ne'er see again;

Farewell to my sorrows, and farewell to my cares,
The old frail folks, and the lassies so dear;
At kirk, where I promised from folly to part,
The one that ensnared me I lie without smart;
But O, how the sons o' the lodge can I lay,
And gang to my lang hame, the cauld house o' clay?

I have been a Mason, but a sad life I had

* * * *
* * * *
* * * *

Let Cowan and Craftsman be faithfully just,
Ne'er trifling with secrets, or babbling with trust;
Our place may be higher than those who more pray,
When eased from our lang hame, the cauld house o' clay.

You'll move round, Sons o' Fellowship, yearly move round,

On the long summer-day, say a part to St. John;
As true temples of worth let your tried bosoms stand,

And say faith and troth by the wave of your hand;
Be faithful and friendly to those who want skill,
And the plan you perverted be sure to fulfil.
Live up to your principles—O that you may!—
When I'm in my lang hame, the cauld house o' clay.

You will bury with honour the poor Widow's son,
While the folk from the old walls look curiously on—
When I am a stranger, and lying my lane,
You'll give me a round, aye, concerning the strain;
It is lost amongst nettles—you'll find if you search,
My tomb of remembrance is marked with an arch.
I am very low, Brethren; you'll wake the whole day,
And then take me hame, to my cauld house o' clay.

THE HOLY ROYAL ARCH.

The following lines are respectfully dedicated to Comp. JAMES BRETT, P.M., P.Z., and G.D.C. England, by his obliged Pupil, GEORGE WILLIAM WHEELER.

A song to praise the antient band,
In whose footprints we boldly march;
That is, the noble, true, and grand
Companions of the Royal Arch.
At Sinai's foot our first lodge stood,
Presided o'er, with fervent zeal,
By Moses—holy, wise, and good—
Aholiab, and Bezzaleel.

'Twas there the Lord revealed His will,
Gave wise and comprehensive laws,
Precepts which guide our actions still,
And gain mankind's applause.

On famed Moriah's holy mound,
Where David offered up his son,
Till other sacrifice was found
And God's just will was done;
There, on Araunah's threshing-floor,
Where pious David stood and prayed
That God his mercy would down pour,
And so the plague be stayed;
There, Solomon, the wisest king,
Hiram, of Tyre's imperial line,
And he, "the widow's son," did bring
The consecrating oil and wine.

On the same spot, in after years,
The lodge began which still we view;
Then Prince Zerubbabel appears,
With Haggai, and Joshua, too.
Their hearts were filled with holy fire,
From them we inspiration draw;
With Ezra and with Nehemiah,
Scribes and expounders of the Law;
The seventy Elders, noble band,
All join in the triumphant march,
With those Sojourners in the land,
Discoverers of the Royal Arch.

Glasgow, September 2, 1871.

M. A. VERKRÜZEN (Grower's Agent),

Invites attention to his Fine and Extensive Stock of

PURE AND SELECTED GERMAN WINES,

INCLUDING THE

LIGHT, REFRESHING DINNER SORTS, and all grades up to the Greatest Growths.

Certain of these Wines have acquired celebrity for their curative effects in cases of stone and gravel, they act beneficially on the liver and kidneys, counteract constipation, promote skin action, are invaluable in cases of dropsy, rheumatism, and gout, tone and purify the blood, greatly assist digestion, and diffuse throughout the system, even in the coldest weather, an agreeable sense of gentle warmth.

Nothing is so refreshing, nothing gives such zest to a meal.

DELICIOUS DINNER SORTS.	DESSERT CLASS.	SPARKLING.
From 17s. 6d. to 36s. per doz.	VERY FINE. 40s. to 72s.   GRANDDEST. 78s. to 156s. doz.	HOCK. 30s. to 78s.   MOSELLE. 30s. to 60s. doz.

Packing and delivery within three miles' radius free.

Wholesale Depot: 3, Fell-street, Wood-street, London, E.C.

Can also be ordered through the Trade.

Each bottle bears the name of M. A. VERKRÜZEN, as a guarantee.

"VERY FINE CHAMPAGNES" (by special contract), 34s., 40s., 46s., 58s., 70s. per dozen.

CHOICE SHERRIES.	FINE PORTS.	FINE CLARETS.
26s. to 56s.	30s. to 72s.	12s. to 36s.

Other Wines of Superior Quality, at lowest prices (the Wines may be tasted at the Depot).

Detailed Price Current forwarded on application.

Terms Cash, Cheques crossed "Bank of England."

WINES FOR INVALIDS SPECIALLY SELECTED ACCORDING TO THE CASE.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGE
GRAND LODGE OF SCOTLAND ... ..	751
GRAND LODGE OF QUEBEC ... ..	751, 752, 753 & 754
PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF NORTHUMBERLAND ... ..	754 & 755
PRESENTATION TO BRO. WILSON ... ..	755
UNITED GRAND LODGE ... ..	756, 757 & 758
GRAND MARK LODGE ... ..	759 & 760
THE CRAFT—
Metropolitan ... ..	761
Provincial... ..	761
INSTRUCTION... ..	761 & 762
SCOTLAND ... ..	762
CONSECRATION OF A LODGE IN NEW ZEALAND ... ..	762
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ... ..	762
ADVERTISEMENTS ... ..	749, 750, 763 & 764

GRAND LODGE of SCOTLAND.

The annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Scotland was held in Freemasons' Hall, George-street, Edinburgh, on the evening of 30th of November, 1871, for the purpose of electing and installing the office-bearers for the ensuing year, and also to celebrate the festival of St. Andrew, the Patron Saint of Scotland. The lodge was opened by Bro. John Whyte-Melville of Bennoch, the Past Grand Master, and the election of the Grand Officers for the ensuing year was proceeded with, when the Right Hon. the Earl of Rosslyn was, amidst the acclamation of the brethren assembled, again elected Grand Master Mason of Scotland. His Lordship having been ushered into Grand Lodge, was duly installed into office according to ancient custom. In returning thanks,

The Grand Master begged to thank them for the renewed expression of confidence they had shown in him, for no higher mark of favour could be conferred upon any brother than that which they had just conferred upon him. He could assure them he would leave no means untried that would benefit Scottish Masonry. His reign would be a useless and an empty one unless he received the same support from the brethren in the future as he had done in the past.

The other office-bearers elected were:—The Earl of Dalhousie, Past Grand Master; Sir Michael Shaw Stewart, Depute Grand Master; Henry Inglis of Torsconce, Substitute Grand Master; Colonel A. C. Campbell of Blythswood, R.W.S.G.W.; Lord Erskine, R.W.J.G.W.; Samuel Hay, R.W.G.T.; Alex. J. Stewart, R.W.G.S.; John Laurie, R.W.G.C.; Rev. David Arnot, D.D., and the Rev. V.G. Faithfull, V.W.G.C.; W. Officer, V.W.S.G.D.; Major Ramsay, V.W.J.G.D.; David Bryce, V.W.G.A.; A. Hay, G.J.; Convener D. Robertson, G.B.B.; James Ballantine, G.B.; Lord Rosehill, G.S.B.; C. W. Maxwell Müller, G.D.M.; R. Davidson, G.O.; M. Mackenzie, C.G.M.; A. T. Abthorpe, G.M.; W. M. Bryce, G.T.; J. Baikie, O.G.

The Grand Lodge was then closed, and thereafter the festival of St. Andrew was celebrated—the Right Hon. the Earl of Rosslyn in the chair; and amongst those on the dais were Lord James Murray, John Whyte-Melville, Major-General Darby-Griffiths, C.B.; John Laurie, Major Ramsay, Capt. Colt, Gartsherrie; A. Stewart, W. Abbot, J. T. Oswald, Dunnikier, and others. There were also deputations from No. 1, Edinburgh Mary's Chapel; No. 2, Canongate Kilwinning; No. 5, Canongate and Leith; No. 8, Journeymen, Edinburgh; No. 31, St. Mary, Coltness; No. 36, St. David, Edinburgh; No. 44, St. Luke, Edinburgh; No. 48, St. Andrew, Edinburgh; No. 112, St. John, Fisherrow; No. 126, St. Andrew, Kilmarnock; No. 151, Edinburgh Defensive Band; No. 226, Portobello; No. 250, Union, Dunfermline; No. 291, Celtic, Edinburgh; No. 349, St. Clair, Edinburgh; No. 392, Caledonian, Edinburgh; No. 405, Rifle, Edinburgh; No. 468, Oswald of Dunnikier, Kirkcaldy.

Among the loyal and fraternal toasts was that of "The Grand Steward of Scotland, Patron of the Grand Lodge, the Princess of Wales, the Duke of Edinburgh, and the rest of the Royal Family."

In proposing "The Health of the Prince of Wales," the Grand Master said it was impossible to drink that toast without alluding to the severe illness of His Royal Highness, but he was sure the brethren would be glad to learn that he (the Grand Master) had received private information which assured him that the Prince was in a fair way of recovery. (The toast was drunk amid loud applause.)

The Grand Master gave "The Navy, Army, Militia, and Volunteers," which was responded to by Major-General Darby-Griffith, C.B., Major Ramsay, and Colonel Campbell.

The toasts of "The Grand Lodge of England and the Marquis of Ripon" and "The Grand Lodge of Ireland and the Duke of Leinster," having been given and responded to,

Bro. J. Whyte-Melville proposed "The Grand Master." He said the brethren could not have got a more energetic Grand Master than the Earl of Rosslyn. They all knew that a scheme of benevolence would be brought before the Grand Lodge by the Grand Master, which, when carried out, would carry his name down to future generations. (Applause.)

A song, composed for the occasion by Bro. James Ballantine, the Grand Bard, having been sung,

The Grand Master rose, amid loud cheers, and said he felt very grateful for the enthusiastic reception they had given him, and he begged to thank them for the high honour which they had again conferred upon him. It was now nineteen or twenty years since he became a member of Grand Lodge, and he had tried to serve them in one position or another, and the training thus received had fitted him to fill his present position. The Grand Lodge, like other bodies, was not free from weak places, and the brother was its best friend who pointed them out, and had it in his power to set about reforming them in a proper manner. What would be brought before their notice, as they had been already told, would be an endeavour to remedy the weak point, but without their assistance he could do nothing. If they would give him their support in his scheme, it would raise the Grand Lodge to a proper place in benevolence, and that could be done by a small subscription from each member, which they would never feel, he they ever so poor. (Loud applause.) He concluded by thanking them for the honour they had done him.

Among the other toasts were—"Past Grand Masters," replied to by Bro. J. Whyte-Melville; "Sir Michael Shaw Stewart," "Henry Inglis of Torsconce," "Deputations from Daughter Lodges," "The Provincial Grand Lodges of Scotland," "The Countess of Rosslyn," "Lady Catherine Whyte-Melville," "The Memory of Deceased Members during the Year," and "The Memory of St. Clair of Rosslyn."

GRAND LODGE OF QUEBEC.

[From the Montreal Daily News, Sept. 28, 1871.]

The Grand Lodge of Quebec assembled yesterday in the Masonic Chambers, Notre Dame-street. The following visitors were present, besides the members of Grand Lodge: Bros. T. D. Harington, P.G.M. Ontario; Josiah H. Drummond, P.G.M. Maine; Isa Berry, G. Sec. Maine; F. G. Tisdale, G.L. of New York; D. Burnham Tracy, Detroit, Michigan; N. T. Merritt, P.M. Mt. Hermon; Leverett B. Englesby, P.G.M. Vermont; Park Davis, G.M. Vermont; Wm. Brinsmaid, sen., G.L. Washington No. 3; N. P. Bowman, D.G.M. Vermont; John Bacon, G.S.B. Vermont; H. Paison, G.T. Vermont; F. S. McFarland, H. Ainsworth, W. Henderson, and C. P. Currier, Washington; William L. Wood, Hartford; L. G. Spencer, S. Mostin, D. Willey, W. Stevenson, A. H. Hall, and J. L. Mack, Vermont; G. H. Clark, St. Albans; Dr. Johnson and Dr. Billings, Hartford; &c., &c.

After routine business,

Grand Master Graham delivered the following address:—

Officers and Brethren of the M.W. the Grand Lodge of Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons of the Province of Quebec,—Another year, fraught with its many vicissitudes, has come and gone, and, under the most auspicious circumstances, we have assembled on this, our second Annual Communication, to interchange fraternal greetings; to review the past; carefully to consider the present; and resolutely gird ourselves anew for the labours of the future.

It is with devout thankfulness that I have the pleasure to report that this Grand Lodge has been duly recognised, and most heartily welcomed into the great family of Grand Lodges, by the twenty-two following important and influential Grand Bodies—namely, District of Columbia, Maine, New Hampshire, Iowa, Wisconsin, Texas, Nebraska, Nova Scotia, Nevada, Kansas, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Georgia, Mississippi, Arkansas, North Carolina, Connecticut, Indiana, New York, Vermont, and Rhode Island. The first nine of these sister Grand Lodges extended fraternal recognition to Quebec during the first year of its existence, and the last thirteen have done the same not less heartily since our last Annual Communication eleven months ago. These Grand Bodies represent nearly half a million Freemasons, amongst whom are a host of illustrious brethren whose well-deserved fame extends over both hemispheres. These and other no less eminent brethren (whose Grand Lodges also will soon recognise us) have, in their heroic advocacy of the cause of Quebec, from their rich and varied stores of learning, poured a flood of light on the history, traditions, customs, laws, and constitutions of our Fraternity antecedent the regular formation and rights of Grand Lodges. The great care bestowed by these brethren upon the consideration of the questions at issue, the patient painstaking to ascertain all the facts of the case, the prompt recognition by some Grand Lodges, the delaying of final action for a time and for various reasons, on the part of others, and the manifest determination on the part of all to arrive at, and abide by, a just decision, have been most honourable to them, as well as gratifying to us, and have given to their decisions in our favour a Masonic and moral weight and force which can neither be gainsayed nor resisted. I, therefore, propose that Grand Lodge now express to these Grand Lodges and brethren our most hearty fraternal thanks, accompanying them with the grand honours in most ample form.

The following eminent brethren have been appointed and commissioned by me as our Grand Representatives near their respective Grand Lodges, and I beg your due confirmation of the same: R.W. Bro. H. J. Martin, District of Columbia; M.W. Bro. J. H. Drummond, of Maine; R.W. Bro. Wm. Barrett, New Hampshire; M.W. E. A. Guilbert, Iowa; R.W. Bro. S. Cadwallader, Wisconsin; M.W. Bro. P. W. Gray, Texas; R.W. Bro. J. N. Wise, Nebraska; R.W. Bro. George T. Smithers, Nova Scotia; R.W. Bro. R. H. Taylor, Nevada; M.W. Bro. J. H. Brown, Kansas; M.W. Bro. D. C. Cregier, Illinois; R.W. Bro. C. A. Woodward, Ohio; R.W. Bro. D. B. Tracy, Michigan; R.W. Bro. T. L. Power, Mississippi; R.W. Bro. J. K. Wheeler, Connecticut; R.W. Bro. D. W. Tallcott, New York; and M.W. Bro. Englesby, Vermont. Representatives to other Grand Lodges will be appointed soon. The following brethren have also been appointed, or named, as Grand Representatives of these several Grand Lodges, near the Grand Lodge of Quebec—namely, R.W. Bro. W. B. Colby, from District of Columbia; R.W. Bro. J. H. Isaacson, from Maine; R.W. Bro. I. H. Stearns, New Hampshire; R.W. Bro. M. R. Meigs, M.D., from Wisconsin; R.W. Bro. E. Kemp, from Texas; R.W. Bro. H. P. Leggatt, from Nebraska; R.W. Bro. Hon. Thos. Wood, from Nova Scotia; R.W. Bro. Thomas Milton, from Nevada; W. Bro. C. Judge, from Kansas; R.W. Bro. G. H. Borlase, from Illinois; R.W. Bro. James Dunbar, from Ohio; R.W. Bro. Alex. Murray, from Michigan; R.W. Bro. S. J. Foss, from Mississippi; V.W. Bro. Coquette, from Connecticut; R.W. Bro. Frank Edgar, from New York; and R.W. Bro. Isaacson, from Vermont. Should any of these Grand Representatives be present at this Annual Communication and present their credentials, they will, I am sure, receive from you a hearty fraternal welcome.

Since our last annual meeting, I have granted dispensations to form the three following lodges: The Graham Lodge, at Bolton Centre; the Canadian Lodge, at Granby; and the Excelsior Lodge, at Actonvale. These were favourably recommended by the D.D.G.M.'s of the respective districts wherein they are situated, and also by the lodges nearest to them, and I trust they will be found to have made such progress as shall entitle them to receive warrants of Constitutions at this communication of Grand Lodge.

After the formal dissolution of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Quebec and Three Rivers, the brethren of that Provincial Grand Body presented their magnificent banner and a large portion of their regalia to this Grand Lodge. Our grateful thanks are due, and will, I know, be heartily and unanimously tendered to these brethren and lodges for their generous and timely donation.

The committee appointed by the Board of General Purposes to supervise the printing of the amended Constitution, promptly and faithfully discharged their important duties, and deserve, as I have no doubt they will receive, your especial commendation.

The committee on the very important subject of work have held one session, and will probably be able to make report through the Grand Master at some early day.

Under the direction of the Board an excellent plate for printing Grand Lodge certificates has been prepared. The design is beautiful, and is full of Masonic significance. The work has been skillfully and elaborately executed by Messrs. Barland, Laficain and Co., of this city, at a cost of 500 dols., and I trust the certificates may meet the general approval of the brethren.

In compliance with the unanimous request of the municipal councils of the township of Shipton and of the village of Danville, in the county of Richmond, to lay the corner-stone of the magnificent town hall proposed to be erected in their prosperous and beautiful village, I summoned an Emergent Communication of Grand Lodge on Thursday, the 27th day of July, for the purpose of performing that interesting ceremony in accordance with the ancient customs of our Fraternity. The officers and brethren responded in large numbers. The day was favourable, and the concourse of spectators from the surrounding country and from different parts of the province was large. The officials and people of the vicinity were unbounded in their hospitality, and the exercises appear to have given general satisfaction. This event will not be without historic interest, as being the first of its kind under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Quebec.

Shortly after the last annual communication, a happy combination of circumstances enabled me to visit the city of Quebec, for the purpose of installing and investing the officers of Grand Lodge resident there. I need hardly say to you that the brethren of the Ancient Capital were, as usual, most kind and courteous. It was an occasion long to be remembered for many reasons, but especially as affording a much-desired opportunity of uniting with the brethren of that city in doing deserved honour to the highly esteemed and efficient Grand Lodge officers in that district. But I need not assure you how much our P.D.G.M., R.W. Bro. J. S. Bowen (who during the past year had removed from the city of Quebec to the city of Brooklyn, N.Y.) was missed on that occasion, as he has been in all the deliberations of Grand Lodge. Early in the summer, I had the pleasure of formally constituting La Loge des Cœurs Unis in this city, to which Grand Lodge granted a warrant of Constitution at last communication. Being obliged to leave, however, before the close of the ceremony, the work was well completed by the co-operation of several Grand Lodge officers present. I have reason to believe that this lodge is doing a good work, and will, I trust, prove a lasting honour to this Grand Lodge and to the Fraternity in general. It also afforded me much satisfaction to be able to accept the repeated hearty invitation of the officers and brethren of Corner Stone Lodge at Cowansville, about mid-summer, and witness the presentation of several valuable donations to the lodge, by its efficient Master, and other zealous brethren, and it was also a great pleasure to meet there so many of the Grand Lodge Officers of the Montreal and Bedford Districts, and the officers and other members of various lodges in the vicinity. The hospitality of the lodge was most generous, and all present seemed to enjoy themselves in a becoming manner. My informal visits to Montreal have been frequent and of the most pleasant character, and you need not be told that our brethren here, Masonically and otherwise, ever prove themselves worthy of the metropolitan city of the Dominion. It has been to me a source of deep regret, that I have been unable to make more numerous official visits, in all parts of our jurisdiction; but the numerous duties devolving upon me in the guidance and direction of G.L. affairs, required my almost constant presence at home, that no opportunity of promoting its welfare might be neglected, and that no important correspondence from home or abroad might remain long unanswered. The brethren will, therefore, kindly exercise due forbearance and overlook these and other shortcomings.

A communication has been received from the Grand Orient of Belgium requesting the establishment of fraternal intercourse between that Grand Body and the Grand Lodge of Quebec. Having reason to believe that the Royal Grand Master of that Grand Orient has caused to be enforced in all lodges within his jurisdiction a strict adherence to the ancient landmarks of the Fraternity in eschewing all interference in religious sectarianism and party politics, and is otherwise making that Grand Body worthy of universal recognition and fraternal fellowship, I have no hesitation in saying to Grand Lodge, that it is my hope and expectation that full inquiry into all the circumstances will lead to the establishment, at an early day, of fraternal intercourse and the interchange of representatives with the Grand Orient of Belgium, and thus help to strengthen the ties which should bind America and Europe more closely together, and so aid in the establishment of peace on earth and good will among men.

Shortly after the arrival at Washington, of the M.W. the Grand Master of the United Grand Lodge of England, as President of the Joint High Commission, I directed the Grand Secretary to forward an official communication to our noble and Most Worshipful brother, expressed our highest fraternal regards, congratulating him on his important appointment, praying that the best results to the nations involved, and to the entire world, might flow from the labours of the Commission, and begging his acceptance of a banquet in his honour, in the city of Montreal, under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Quebec. A most courteous reply was received thereto, intimating that circumstances might hasten his departure from Washington to England, immediately after the close of the labours of the Commission, so that he might be unable to visit the Dominion or accept our kind invitation.

Although compassion dictates the exercise of the virtue of silence anent the doings for the past year of the Grand Lodge of Canada, yet candor compels me to say that most of the evils which have afflicted the Craft in these two Provinces during the past twenty-two months have been almost wholly due to her unfraternal course. However, in view of all the circumstances, the Grand Lodge of Quebec could well afford magnanimously to practise charity which suffereth long; and to trust in the Great Architect of the Universe so to order His good providences that the day might not soon, if ever, dawn, on which, forbearance on our part would cease to be a virtue. Fidelity to the principles of Freemasonry, on which our action was based in forming this Grand Body, duty to the numerous Grand Lodges which have already recognized us, and the maintenance of the doctrine of exclusive Grand Lodge jurisdiction would soon, unless averted, demand of us the vindication at all hazards, of our right and title to undivided supremacy within the Province of Quebec. And few of you will be surprised to learn that the principal officers of some of the most influential Grand Lodges which have recognized the Grand Lodge of Quebec, have been seriously considering whether the Grand Lodge of Canada was longer entitled to fraternal recognition and support, in view of her repeated unconstitutional invasions of the jurisdiction of this Grand Lodge, by the establishment of private lodges therein. Many Grand Lodges of the United States have withdrawn fraternal fellowship from the Grand Orient of France, for a like invasion, only to a much lesser extent, of the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of Louisiana. I need hardly assure you, my brethren, that I have used my best endeavours to have any such action anent the Grand Lodge of Canada deferred a little longer at least (for with all her faults we love her still), in the hope and belief that she would ere long retrace her footsteps from the verge of the precipice to which she seemed to be inevitably drawing near. Nor have our expectations been wholly vain. The dawns of the spirit of conciliation seem to be appearing in that Grand East. Our repeated overtures to secure peace, harmony, and the constitutional adjustment of all existing difficulties, although repeatedly spurned, have, nevertheless, borne some fruit, and there now seems reason to hope that at a very early day, all discordant circumstances will have passed away, and that the G.L. of Canada will be constitutionally re-constructed into the Grand Lodge of Ontario, and divine peace bear sway Masonically over these two provinces, between which should alone exist that generous rivalry, which can best work and best agree.

The members of Grand Lodge will be pleased to learn that it has been arranged to continue the goodly custom inaugurated at our first annual communication, of having public Divine service during our present meeting, and that our Rev. Bro. the Grand Chaplain will deliver an appropriate discourse on the occasion. It will become the G.L. of Quebec publicly to offer devout thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many and great favours vouchsafed to us during the past year.

A Freemason is under peculiar obligations to practice the cardinal virtue of temperance in its most comprehensive significance. The novitiate is carefully taught to exercise due restraint over all his appetites and passions, and to pursue such a prudent and well-regulated course of discipline as may best conduce to the preservation of his corporeal and mental faculties in their fullest energies, thereby enabling him to exercise those talents wherewith God hath blessed him, as well for His glory as for the welfare of his fellow creatures. The more advanced Mason is under still greater obligation to maintain, in its fullest splendor, this crown of the four cardinal virtues, temperance; and there are amongst us multitudes who faithfully discharge this most important duty to themselves, to others, and to the great Ruler and Governor of all; but it is very sad to be compelled to acknowledge that there are those of our number, who, while commendably resisting many other temptations, suffer themselves to indulge in the excessive use of intoxicating drinks. From this cause much injury is brought upon themselves and sorrow upon their families; others are led thereby into temptation, and great scandal is brought upon our beloved Fraternity. It may not be practicable to say what, in this matter, is the exact rule of duty binding upon all men under all circumstances; but it may be safely asserted that he who indulges this and any other like appetite, in the greatest moderation, is a prudent man, and a good Freemason; and it is probably true that, for many men at least, the safest rule is totally to refrain from the use of all that intoxicates. Lodges, too, should carefully avoid all arrangements which tend in any way to intemperance and excess.

It is the duty of every Craftsman to devote his leisure hours more especially to the study of such of the arts and sciences as may lie within the compass of his attainment; and, without neglecting the ordinary duties of his station, he is to consider himself called upon to make a daily advancement in Masonic knowledge. No previous age afforded such ample facilities to enable the zealous Mason successfully to cultivate his intellectual and moral faculties, and thus enable him to show forth the glory of God, and render himself useful in promoting the happiness of mankind. The inestimable blessings of the printing press are nowhere more apparent than in affording more light in Masonry. The rich and varied literature of the Craft everywhere abounds. Proportionate to one's means, a well-selected private library is a necessity to the seeker after Masonic truth, and particularly to him who would fit himself acceptably to perform whatever official duties may be devolved upon him by the affection and favour of his brethren. Nor can I forbear expressing my high appreciation of the value to the Craft, of the many excellent periodicals now published in almost every portion of the globe, and I beg to suggest to all, and especially to newly-made brethren, that next after having become possessors of copies of the Constitution of the Grand Lodge, and the by-laws of their own private lodge, they should become permanent subscribers to one or more Masonic periodicals, as their means shall allow.

Although Freemasonry requires no defence from its votaries, yet in deference to the objections of many friendly non-Masons, who occasionally express their misgivings anent our Fraternity because (as they allege) of its non-recognition of Christianity, I am constrained to depart so far from our ordinary rule of strict silence as to say, for the general information of such, that Freemasonry, at present, consists of at least three grand divisions—namely, Ancient Craft, or Symbolic Masonry; Royal Arch, or Capitular Masonry; and Knights Templars-Chivalric, or Christian Masonry. Other more inclusive divisions need not here be alluded to. The first of these, the Ancient or Symbolic, is based upon these universal principles of true religion, the Fatherhood of God, the Great Architect and Ruler of Heaven and Earth, and the Brotherhood of Man; and its special historic traditions extend from the earliest period to the completion and dedication of King Solomon's Temple. The Royal Arch or Capitular is based upon the same great principles, more extensively elaborated and applied, and its historic traditions extend to the restoration of the chosen people from Babylonian captivity, and the rebuilding of the Temple under Zerubbabel. The third, or Templar Masonry, is of more modern origin, and is chiefly based upon the great principles and historic facts of the Christian faith. The objections, therefore, sometimes conscientiously raised by non-Masons, that Masonry is non or anti-Christian, is a generalisation too sweeping in character, and springs from a want of knowledge of the great facts pertaining to our Fraternity.

For the information of younger brethren and for other obvious reasons, I am induced briefly to enunciate the few following fundamental principles of Freemasonry anent the organisation of Grand Lodges, and having especial reference to the M.W. the Grand Lodge of Quebec. In every distinct territory having a legislature of its own there exists the Masonic right to form an independent sovereign Grand Lodge. A convention of representatives of three private lodges, duly authorised, and regularly assembled, may, without let or hindrance, form a Grand Lodge in and for said territory; but it has become a very generally accepted rule that a majority of the private lodges situated therein should take part in said convention, or acquiesce in its action. The consent of any mother Grand Lodge, however desirable, is not essential or necessary; nor can any Grand Lodge constitutionally interfere with, or in any way rightfully hinder, said private lodges in the exercise of their inherent right to form a Grand Lodge of their own in such legislatively distinct territory, no matter what prior authority she may have exercised over them. A Grand Lodge thus regularly formed in unoccupied or dissevered territory possesses the inalienable right of exclusive jurisdiction over all symbolic lodges of Freemasons within said territory; and no other Grand Lodge can lawfully form new private lodges, or reconstruct old ones, from and after the formation of the new Grand Lodge. And it is incumbent on any private lodge, which through inadvertence or otherwise was not represented at the convention which formed the new Grand Lodge, to secure enrollment on its registry at the earliest period practicable, and not only all private lodges, but all unaffiliated or other individual Freemasons, official or other, resident or sojourning within her territorial jurisdiction, are constitutionally amenable to her authority for any Masonic acts which are in contravention of her sovereignty. Any arrangements which may have been entered into prior to the formation of the new Grand Lodge, by any other Grand Bodies, anent the continuance of any lodge according to its own will, under the authority of some other Grand Lodge, yet within the territory of the newly-formed Grand Body, are contrary to the Constitutions of the Fraternity, injurious to the unity, harmony, and prosperity of the Craft, subversive of Grand Lodge sovereignty, and, consequently, of no binding force on the new Grand Body. The enunciation of many other fundamental facts and principles of like importance will be found in extenso in our address of date Nov. 20, 1869, to the Grand Lodges of the world, in the statement concerning the G.L. of Quebec, of date April 20, 1870, in proceedings and other documents issued by this Grand Lodge, and especially in the able reports of the Committees of Foreign Correspondence and Jurisprudence, of the many Grand Lodges which have recognised us, and in others which favour our cause; also in the elaborate editorials and correspondence in nearly all the Masonic periodicals throughout the world, and in almost any reliable work on Masonic jurisprudence. The few articles, or addresses, which have appeared in opposition to the rightful claims of Quebec, have been refuted over and over again, and there is good reason to believe that at least some of their authors will recant their erroneous opinions at an early day, as some of the ablest Masons who had been misled by incorrect or insufficient information have heretofore done, to their own honour and to the good of the Craft.

During the past year we have been called upon again and again, by most solemn admonitions, to regard the uncertainty of human life, the immutable certainty of death, and the vanity of all earthly pursuits. M.W. Bro. James Dean, Past Prov. Grand Master of Quebec and Three Rivers, and honorary P.G.M. of this Grand Lodge, is no more. He lived generally beloved, he died deeply and universally regretted. It is fitting that a memorial page of our printed proceedings be dedicated to the memory of this good man and eminent Mason. Our venerable Bro. Magoon, of Doric Lodge, Danville, and our worthy Bro. Andrew McKay Smith, of Victoria Lodge, Sherbrooke, have also passed to their rest since we last assembled in Annual Communication. The removal by death of other brethren will be suitably noticed by the District Deputy Grand Masters.

On the morning of the 15th instant I received from the Grand Secretary a document of date the 14th, and signed by M.W. Bro. A. A. Stevenson, Chairman, and R.W. Bro. Thos. White, jun., Secretary of a Committee of seven, appointed by a meeting of representatives of lodges in this province, as yet on the Registry of the Grand Lodge of "Canada," asking for a conference anent the existing state of Masonic affairs in this province, and the restoration of harmony to the Craft therein. On the evening of the same day I came to this city, and held a council of officers of Grand Lodge, and officers and brethren of most of the Q. R. lodges in Montreal, when the whole subject was carefully considered at length, and in the best possible spirit. On the 16th I appointed the following distinguished brethren—namely, R.W. Bro. Pratten, D.G.M., Quebec; R.W. Bro. Meigs, G.S.W., Bedford; R.W. Bro. Milton, G.J.W., Montreal; Rev. Bro. Reid, G.C., Sherbrooke; R.W. Bro. Edgar, P.D.D.G.M., Montreal; R.W. Bro. Isaacson, G. Sec.; and W. Bro. M. M. Tait—a committee to confer with the committee of brethren aforesaid, on Wednesday, the 20th instant, if practicable, and expressing the hope that all their mutual deliberations would be conducted in a truly Masonic spirit, and that the results of their conference might be a means of restoring peace and harmony to the Craft; and to make report thereof to me immediately after their conference. On the 21st instant, the following report was received from the Grand Secretary as the result of the deliberations of the joint committees:—

"Whereas, unhappily, differences and disputes have arisen, and are now existing in Masonry in the province of Quebec, between the Grand Lodge of Quebec, A. F. and A. M., and her subordinates, on the one part, and the several lodges in the said province still holding under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of Canada on the other part.

"And, whereas, with the view to terminate and for ever end said differences, and to restore harmony throughout the Craft in the said province, the said lodges—to wit, the said party of the second part—are willing to amalgamate and join with the said party of the first part—to wit, the said the Grand Lodge of Quebec; and the said party of the first part are willing to accept said lodges into their organisation, or Grand Body, the same as if they, the said lodges, had originally taken part in said organisation.

"And it is agreed by both said parties that all questions—viz., names of lodges, distribution of property in the case of duplicate lodges, and priority of number in the case of all lodges—shall be left entirely to a committee of six, three of whom shall be named from the party of the first part, and three from the party of the second part, with power to said committee to name an arbitrator, and the decision of said committee and umpire to be final.

"And the committee representing the G.L. of Q. hereby agree to submit the above terms for the acceptance of their Grand Lodge. And the committee representing the lodges under the jurisdiction of the G.L. of C. hereby agree to recommend the above terms to the representatives of the lodges at a meeting to be held by such representatives for that purpose."

In accordance with the provisions of the Constitution for the consideration of matters of special importance, I have directed the President of the Board of General Purposes to submit the above to a full board for the most careful consideration, and make report thereon to the Grand Lodge for its sanction. The whole subject is of vast importance, and I earnestly entreat you all to deliberate upon it in that truly fraternal and conciliatory spirit which has characterised all our doings hitherto; to make all possible allowances and concessions consistent with honour, with the Constitutions of the Fraternity, and with the dignity and integrity of this Grand Lodge. So that whatever action may be taken by us shall be promotive of the unity, harmony, and prosperity of the Craft, both in this province and in the sister province of Ontario, and also throughout the world. Blessed, indeed, are the peace-makers.

And now, brethren, as your servant and representative, it becomes me to return you all my gratitude for your distinguished favours, and for your unceasing kindness and forbearance amidst all my official labours, which, like most human efforts, have been very imperfect; and I beg all my fellow-officers to accept my hearty thanks for their wise and prudent counsels, their untiring co-operation, and the faithful discharge of their respective duties. Nor can I, in closing, forbear congratulating you on the unparalleled success of this Grand Lodge. The Great Ruler of the Universe has most signally blessed us with unanimity and prosperity at home, and with hosts of friends abroad. It now, therefore, only remains for us, in the exercise of the genuine spirit of our noble Order, to heal all past differences, with whomsoever they may unfortunately have existed, and unitedly strive for the early and perfect completion of the great work so well begun, each one remembering to perform well his allotted task while it is yet day, so that, when this transitory life shall have passed away, we may each be received into the Grand Lodge above, with the welcome plaudit, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." Amen and Amen

JOHN H. GRAHAM, Grand Master.

Richmond, P. Q., Sept. 26, 1871.

Divine service was celebrated in the evening at the Church of St. James the Apostle, and was attended by the members of the Grand Lodge of Quebec. The prayers were intoned by the Rev. Edmund Wood, of the Church of St. John the Evangelist. The lessons were read by the Rev. Canon Ellegood, Incumbent of St. James' Church. The hymns sung were 385, 188, and 325. The anthem was taken from the 34th Psalm. The sermon was preached by the Rev. C. P. Reid, of Sherbrooke, Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Quebec. The text was from Nehemiah, chap. 2, verse 18: "And they said, Let us raise up and build. So they strengthened their hands for this good work." The rev. gentleman dwelt in impressive terms upon the duty of charity and brotherly love, and referred to the life of St. John, whose life and example are especially looked up to by Masons. A collection was taken up in aid of the funds of the Montreal General Hospital.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF NORTHUMBERLAND.

The annual meeting of the above Prov. Grand Lodge was held on Friday, the 24th ultimo, in the lodge-room of St. David's (393), Berwick-on-Tweed, under the presidency of the Provincial Grand Master, the Right Hon. the Earl Percy, M.P. Twelve years ago, in 1859, the Prov. G. Lodge officially visited Berwick, with the Rev. Chaloner Ogle as Prov. G.M., and on that occasion the local brethren welcomed and entertained their representative heads with a heartiness peculiarly characteristic of the Craft. When notification of the present visit was received the brethren of St. David's Lodge resolved that, so far as they were concerned, the Provincial Grand Master and his supporters should receive a very cordial welcome, and the fact that this was the first annual provincial meeting since the present G.M. of the province had been installed, had the effect of bestirring the local brethren to have everything in first-class order. The lodge-room was tastefully re-decorated, and presented quite a beautiful appearance.

The Craft brethren, who numbered about ninety, assembled at three o'clock to meet the Prov. G.L. The lodges of the province represented were: Nos. 24, 393, 406, 431, 481, 541, 636, 659, 685, 991, 1167, and 1342.

There were also present deputations from the Eyemouth and Kelso lodges (Scottish Constitution).

At half-past three o'clock, the Provincial Grand officers entered the lodge-room, and were received by the brethren in due form.

The names of the Grand officers are as follow: The Earl Percy, Prov. G.M.; L. M. Cockcroft, Deputy Prov. G.M.; E. Shotton, G.S.W.; J. B. Winter, G.J.W.; Rev. E. S. Marrett, G.C.; Thos. Anderson, G. Treas.; R. Smail, G. Reg.; B. J. Thompson, G. Sec.; Wm. Daggett, G.S.D.; J. Ridsdale, G.J.D.; Hubert Laws, G.S.W.; E. D. Davis, G.D.C.; W. Foulsham, A.G.D.C.; J. H. Hair, G.P.; R. Fair, G.S.B.; J. S. Trotter, G. Tyler; and R. H. Holmes, R. T. Burns, Heatley, Hughes, R. Emery, and H. Renfrew, Grand Stewards. The Grand Lodge of Scotland was represented by Lord James Murray, P. Principal Z.

After the lodge had been opened in due and ample form, the Prov. G. Secretary read the minutes of last annual meeting, which were confirmed. The Prov. G. Treasurer submitted an encouraging balance-sheet, and the report of the Prov. G.L. of Benevolence showed that a large sum had been voted to the support of various Masonic charities and also to public institutions within the province. Among the items was the sum of £10 to the Berwick Dispensary and the Berwick and Tweedmouth Soup Kitchen, the division to each charity to be left to the discretion of the brethren of St. David's Lodge. The Masters of the respective lodges in the province gave viva voce reports of the present position of their lodges. Without exception, the reports showed that the several lodges were working prosperously and in harmony. The Prov. G.M. suggested that instead of these reports being given orally, they should be given in writing, showing the state of the finances, the number of brethren on the roll, number of initiations during the year, &c.

The appointment of Prov. Grand officers for the ensuing year was then made, with the following result: Bros. L. M. Cockcroft, D.P.G.M.; Wm. Daggett (685), S.W.; J. A. Hair (481), J.W.; Rev. W. Greenwell (659), Chaplain; Thos. Anderson (541), Treasurer; W. Foulsham (406), Registrar; B. J. Thompson (1342), Secretary; Hubert Laws (541), S.D.; George Moor (393), J.D.; Addison Potter (991), Supt. of Works; E. D. Davis (685), D. of C.; Jaques De Hart (24), Asst. D. of C.; T. T. Clark (431), Sword-bearer; John S. McGregor (393), Organist; B. G. Roberts (636), Pursuivant; J. S. Trotter (406), Tyler. The G. Stewards were then elected, and the Committee of the Provincial Fund were also chosen.

This concluded the business, and the Prov. G.M. announced that the next annual meeting of the Prov. G.L. would be held at Newcastle, under the banner of Northumberland Lodge (685).

Bro. Davis, G.D.C., in the name of the brethren assembled, welcomed Lord James Murray, as the representative of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, and the brethren, in Masonic fashion, gave his lordship a kindly welcome.

The lodge was then closed in due form.

THE BANQUET.

The brethren dined in the King's Arms Assembly-room at five o'clock. Nearly a hundred sat down to a banquet reflecting much credit on Bro. Carr's cuisine. The chair was occupied by the Right Hon. the Earl Percy, Prov. G.M., and the vice-chairs by Bros. Moor (W.M. of St. David's) Prov. J.D., and B. D. Sinclair. The Prov. G.M. was supported on the right by his Deputy and the Grand Senior Warden, and on the left by Bros. Lord James Murray, the Rev. E. S. Marrett, and C. I. Paton. After grace had been said,

The Noble Chairman gave "The health of her Majesty the Queen," which was received with enthusiastic cheering.

This was followed by "The health of the Grand Master of England, the Marquis of Ripon," in giving which the noble chairman said: If anything can make us not feel the loss of so experienced a Grand Master as Lord Zetland, it is the way that the Marquis of Ripon has conducted himself in the chair of Grand Lodge. (Cheers.)

The Noble Chairman: The next toast that I have the privilege of asking you to join with me in drinking cordially is "The respective Grand Lodges of Scotland, England and Ireland," coupled with the health of our guest this evening, and who honored us with attending at the meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge to-day, Lord James Murray. (Cheers.) There is nothing more useful for bodies of Freemasons than to have the presence and the criticisms of distinguished Masons from other parts of the country to look at their work and their ways, so that they may reciprocally give and take; for it is in this way that Masonry prospers. I am happy to state that I was the medium inducing Lord James Murray to give us his company to-day, and I have no doubt we shall learn a great deal from his observations. With respect to the other part of the toast, allow me to say that, although there is some difference in the working of the three Grand Lodges in the United Kingdom, as far as harmony is concerned they work as one. (Cheers.) This is a brilliant instance of carrying out the principles of Masonry, and I sincerely hope they may long continue to be manifested. (Loud cheers.)

Lord James Murray, in reply to the toast, said: Brethren, I beg to thank you most sincerely, in the name of the Grand Lodges of England, Ireland, and Scotland, for the honour you have done us in drinking our health. Your Provincial Grand Master has told you how useful these Grand Lodges are, and I heartily endorse all that he has said regarding them. It is a good thing when brethren have the opportunity, as I have had to-day, of seeing a little of each other, and of knowing what is going on in Masonry in different parts of the country. I was very much pleased with what was done in your provincial lodge to-day, and I am very happy to learn that Masonry is flourishing in this part of the country. (Cheers.) His lordship, before resuming his seat, proposed the toast of "The Past Masters of the Grand Lodge of England, the Earl of Zetland and his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales." I may allude to the fact that his Royal Highness is seriously indisposed at this present moment, but I heartily trust that he will soon be restored to vigor and health. (Cheers.) Lord Zetland is not in so robust health as he was in former days when he was Grand Master. I therefore ask you to drink with me, not only the health of the Prince of Wales and Lord Zetland, but also their better health. (Loud cheering.)

Bro. Cockcroft, D. Prov. G.M.: Brethren, by permission of the noble chairman, I rise to propose the next toast. I only need to name the toast to ensure its being received by you with perfect enthusiasm, and I have no doubt you anticipate it. It is "The health of the Right Worshipful the Provincial Grand Master." (Loud applause, the brethren rising en masse and lustily cheering.) Brethren, you have shown that I have not misinterpreted your feelings, and I can only wish that the Earl Percy may be long spared to preside over us. (Renewed cheering.) You will coincide, I am sure, with me in the hope that so long as he presides over us Masonry will flourish, and that he will never regret having taken the leadership of Masonry in this province. (Loud cheers.)

The Noble Chairman: Brethren, I thank you very much for the way in which you have received the toast which has just been proposed to you. However unworthy I may feel of the honour you have done to me in appointing me your Grand Master, I know that if, as the Deputy Grand Master has said, so long as I preside over this province Masonry will prosper, it prospers more from the good-will shown by the brethren towards me than from any merits of my own. In reviewing the past year, I am inclined to congratulate myself upon my tenure of office. When I came into office, I entered under rather difficult circumstances. Your lamented Provincial Grand Master died, and his deputy also died, and therefore the province was without any head, so to speak; but there were, as you all know, very valuable services rendered by many brethren, and these services were freely tendered, and had it not been for the support and help which I received from all sides--for although I knew a good deal of Northumberland, I knew very little, comparatively, of the Masonic province of Northumberland--I would not have been able to have carried on the business of the province successfully. As it is, I take the opportunity of congratulating you and myself on the state in which the province finds itself to-day. (Hear, hear, and cheers.) And now, brethren, before sitting down I will propose to you the next toast, which is one hinging on the one for which I have just returned thanks. It is the toast of "The present and past Provincial Grand Officers of Northumberland." I must express to you how deeply I feel my shortcomings in governing this province, but I will say that it is my desire and it shall be my endeavour, as far as I can, to give all possible assistance to my brother Grand officers of the province. It is my wish that all these higher offices should flow through the province and the brethren. (Hear, hear.) It is not an easy thing to select a certain number to fill the offices from such a large proportion of deserving brethren. I am desirous that the present mode of appointing these officers should be carried out, and although I know that those whom I appoint are well deserving of the office, and will justify the trust reposed in them, there are many brethren well worthy of being called to fill the respective offices, but I can only ask these brethren to believe that I have done my best. (Cheers.) I take this opportunity of thanking the officers, past and present, for the help they have given me, and to express the hope that they will continue to afford me their assistance and pass over my shortcomings, and that all will unite in the endeavour to make the Province of Northumberland as perfect a province as is to be found in England. (Loud cheers.)

Bro. Daggett, G.S.W., with whose name the toast was coupled, briefly replied.

Bro. Strachan, G.J.W., proposed the toast of "The Masonic Charities." Their worthy Grand Master had consented to preside at the annual festival connected with the Royal Masonic Institution for aged Freemasons and their widows, to be held in London on the 31st of January next, and the province was bound in honour to support Earl Percy at that festival. His lordship was likely to be supported by a large number of stewards on the occasion, and several of the lodges had promised to send representatives.

The Noble Chairman returned thanks for the flattering manner in which Br. Strachan had alluded to him. There was a prevalent idea afloat in the outside world, that Freemasonry consisted in great measure in eating and drinking; but this was a mistake, for the bulk of their funds went to support charities and schools, and while he rejoiced that they with all heart and soul supported the Masonic charities, he was equally glad that Masonry extended her generous hand to other institutions beyond her pale. His lordship then proposed the toast of "The various lodges in the Province." The present state of the several lodges was very satisfactory. One lodge had been added to the lodges of the province since their last meeting. It was not a large province; but he, for one, would far sooner have a small number of lodges with good men for members, than boast of a large roll with doubtful members. (Hear, hear.) He might say of the Province of Northumberland, as had been said of our country: It is a nice little tight right place. (Cheers.) He coupled with the toast the Worshipful Master and brethren of St. David's Lodge. He congratulated the St. David's brethren on their place of meeting; the lodge-room in which they assembled that day was a cheerful, pretty place. In the next place, he had, on his own part and on the part of his brother officers, to thank the brethren of St. David's for the reception they had met with at their hands. (Cheers.) They had met with the greatest kindness, and had been received with great cordiality, and they should rejoice when the time came round to revisit Berwick. It was his wish that the Provincial Grand Lodge should meet at the various lodges in proper rotation. Of course they would meet at Newcastle oftener than anywhere else; but every lodge should have the opportunity of entertaining the Prov. Grand Lodge in their proper turn. (Hear, hear.) The last point he had to touch upon was, to thank the brethren of St. David's for the dinner. He had seldom seen a better entertainment; it had been very comfortable, very harmonious, and very eatable and drinkable. (Laughter and cheers.)

Bro. Moor, W.M. of St. David's Lodge, replied. The local brethren had done their best, he said, to make the Grand Officers of the province comfortable, and in the approval of their endeavours, as it had been now expressed by the Prov. Grand Master, they felt well repaid. He hoped that he and all the brethren of St. David's would continue to do their duty on all occasions, irrespective of all consideration of such a reward; but still, when it did come it was exceedingly agreeable. (Cheers.) Brother Moor concluded by proposing "The health of Bro. Cockcroft, D.P.G.M." (Cheers.)

Bro. Cockcroft acknowledged the toast, and said his services were always at the disposal of the brethren in matters Masonic. (Cheers.)

The Prov. Grand Tyler having given his toast the toast-list was exhausted.

The meeting was rendered more enjoyable by the singing of a number of songs by several of the brethren, accompanied on the pianoforte by Bro. John S. McGregor, Prov. Grand Organist.

The Provincial Grand Officers and the brethren of Newcastle, Alnwick, and other places southwards, left about nine o'clock to proceed homewards by train. The brethren of St. David's Lodge remained some time after the general body of the party had retired, and, under the presidency of their Worshipful Master, spent a very harmonious evening.

PRESENTATION OF A TESTIMONIAL TO BRO. WILSON, NO. 962.

On Tuesday evening se'nright the brethren of the Sun and Sector Lodge, No. 965, assembled for the purpose of presenting Bro. John Wilson, P.M. and P.P.G.J.D., of Cumberland and Westmorland, with a beautiful P.M. jewel. The lodge being duly opened, Bro. Rothery made the presentation in the following terms: I have this evening the honour of presenting Bro. John Wilson, P.M. and P.P.G.J.D., with this very valuable jewel. I am sorry that I am unable to express the kind feelings and respect of the brethren who have so liberally come forward to show their gratitude for his past services, and the many benefits the lodge has received under his rule. You are all aware of the great interest Bro. Wilson has taken in Freemasonry, and that he was at all times ever ready to lend a helping hand, even when business pressed him most, to promote the welfare of this lodge. This, brethren, is not the first testimonial that we have presented to him. Some time ago we presented him with a suit of provincial clothing, the best that could be purchased in England; but this, brethren, we did not think a sufficient tribute for all the past kindness which we have experienced in his Masonic duties. I may now say that Bro. Wilson has been nearly thirty years a Mason, and I venture to say that a better Mason never received his certificate from the Grand Lodge. Further, brethren, allow me to say that the worthy brother to whom we have this evening presented this beautiful jewel was the principal promoter of Masonry in Workington, and I believe is now the only one left on the books who first formed this lodge, No. 962. I now present you with this P.M. jewel as a particular mark of the esteem with which you are held by the brethren of this lodge, also as a recognition of your past services.

Bro. Wilson, in acknowledging, said: It would be the merest and most contemptible affectation in me, if I should say that I did not rise with real heartfelt pleasure on the present occasion, to acknowledge the compliment, while what has this day taken place has taken me by surprise. In thus presenting me with this very valuable P.M. jewel, at the very time (as most of you are aware) I am so engaged in provincial matters, I can assure you that I shall wear the jewel you have this day presented to me with a feeling of sincere pleasure. If I should point at that jewel at any time it will cause in my heart a thrill of inexpressible pleasure. Brethren, accept of these my brief but heartfelt thanks, for the present as well as all other past marks of your esteem, and whatever I may have done for Freemasonry, and this lodge in particular, I feel that I have done no more than my duty.

The jewel bears the following description: "Presented to Bro. John Wilson, P.M., as a mark of esteem by the brethren of the Sun and Sector Lodge, No. 962, Workington, November 14th, 1871." The jewel is a splendid piece of workmanship, of an oval form, the centre of which is enamelled blue; at the top it is adorned with the all-seeing eye, in the centre of which is set a valuable diamond. Underneath is a square, in which is placed the 47th proposition of Euclid. The framework of the jewel is of 18-carat gold, richly engraved; it is suspended with a ribbon, ornamented with golden buckle and stripes.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Throat Affection.—At no season have throat maladies been more numerous or more dangerous than at the present time. Simple sore throat, hoarseness, relaxed uvula, quinsy, and diphtheria may be treated most successfully by fomenting the neck and chest with warm water, and afterwards diligently rubbing in Holloway's Ointment. Moderately aperient doses of his Pills should form a part of this easy treatment. Both Ointment and Pills are adapted for people of all ages and every condition; the operations of both are very gentle, soothing and purifying. In colds, coughs, bronchitis, and asthmatic affections, the afflicted may place unlimited reliance on Holloway's treatment; perseverance with it alone is wanted to rescue the patient from a perilous position.—[Advt.]

THE BEST FIRST.—Turner's Tamarind Cough Emulsion for the Throat and Bronchia, 13½d. and 2/9 per bot.—All wholesale houses in London and Liverpool, and any respectable Chemist.—[Advt.]

NOTICE.

The Subscription to THE FREEMASON is now 10s. per annum, post-free, payable in advance.

Vol. I., bound in cloth ... ..	4s. 6d.
Vol. II., ditto ... ..	7s. 6d.
Vol. III., ditto ... ..	15s. od.
Reading Cases to hold 52 numbers...	2s. 6d.

United States of America.

THE FREEMASON is delivered free in any part of the United States for 12s. per annum, payable in advance.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferred to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

All communications for THE FREEMASON should be written legibly on one side of the paper only, and, if intended for insertion in the current number, must be received not later than 10 o'clock a.m. on Thursdays, unless in very special cases. The name and address of every writer must be sent to us in confidence.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the EDITOR 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him but cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

UNITED GRAND LODGE.

The quarterly communication of Grand Lodge of Freemasons of England was held on Wednesday evening at Freemasons' Hall. The Grand Master, the Marquis of Ripon, K.G., presided. The meeting was very largely attended, so great a number of brethren not having met together in Grand Lodge for some time. The cause of the concourse was the probability of a lively discussion arising upon the report of the Board of General Purposes, which dwelt principally with the result of the enquiry into Bro. Matthew Cooke's motion of last September. The brethren were not disappointed, for a long debate which was characterised by more than ordinary ability on all sides, ensued. The Report was, of course, carried; no one out of all the crowd present dreamed of any other result. The proceedings of the evening were very pleasing, for the Grand Master's allusion to the illness of the Prince of Wales, Past G.M., evoked that strong feeling of love for our Royal Family which Masons have ever shewn.

Grand Lodge having been opened, the Grand Secretary (Bro. John Hervey) read the minutes of the Quarterly Communication on the 6th September, which were then put by the Grand Master and confirmed.

The Grand Master then rose and said: And now, brethren, before we proceed to the business which stands upon the paper, I feel it my duty, and I am confident that in discharging it I shall be supported by the unanimous approval of every brother in this lodge, to ask your indulgence while I offer to you a resolution which arises out of circumstances of special emergency, which require, as it seems to me, that we should lay aside for a moment the strictest of regulations in order that we may testify at once at this meeting of our Grand Lodge the deep and heartfelt sympathy which I am sure every one of us feels for that illustrious brother whose dangerous illness has caused, and is still, though happily in a less degree, causing, the greatest anxiety (hear, hear). I am sure, to every Mason throughout the country, as to every right-thinking Englishman in the land. (Hear, hear.) You know well the illness under which his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has now for some time been suffering. We should, indeed, have been wanting as Englishmen and as Masons if, assembled here in a solemn Grand Lodge as such a moment, we were not to express the feeling which arises, I am confident, in the heart of every one of us, a feeling of deep sympathy for his R.H. (hear, hear), and an humble and most earnest prayer to the Great Architect of the Universe that it may please Him in His great mercy speedily to restore our illustrious brother to his usual health and strength. (Hear.) It has been most remarkable—and a happy circumstance it is to observe—with what a unanimous feeling the sad news of his Royal Highness' illness has been received throughout the country, and how deeply the heart of the country in every part of it has been stirred. To us this sad misfortune has a special interest, because we have all seen with such deep satisfaction the manner in which his Royal Highness has devoted himself to the interests of Masonry. But I will not dwell upon that topic, because it might seem to have in it some what of a selfish aspect, and it is rather as Englishmen than as Masons that we feel deeply upon this occasion (hear, hear), and if there were any circumstance wanting to add to the depth of our sympathy to-day it would be this, that the illness of the Prince of Wales has come at a time when his illustrious and beloved mother has herself but just recovered from serious illness, and when she is little able to bear the strain of such great and ponderous anxiety. Therefore I am confident that I rightly interpret the feelings of this Grand Lodge when I invite you, from this throne, by a unanimous resolution to convey to his Royal Highness the deep sympathy which you feel with him upon this unfortunate occasion. (Hear, hear.) I would propose, therefore, to you, brethren, that you should resolve, "That this Grand Lodge has heard with the deepest feeling of anxiety and distress of the alarming illness of his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, and earnestly prays that the Great Architect of the Universe will, in His infinite mercy, be pleased to spare our Royal brother, and to restore him to his family, to the nation, and to his affectionate brethren in Masonry." (Hear, hear.)

Bro. Bagshaw (acting Deputy Grand Master) said: Worshipful Grand Master, I feel that nothing I can add to what has fallen from you will impress upon the brethren more forcibly the importance of this motion. I most cordially and heartily enter into what you have expressed, and the prayer also that His Royal Highness may shortly be restored. I simply confine myself to seconding the motion.

The Grand Master put the motion, and declared it to be carried nemine contradicente.

Bro. the Rev. J. Edmund Cox, P.G.C., came forward at the conclusion of this portion of the business and addressing the Grand Master said: Most Worshipful Grand Master, by your most gracious permission, and with the consent of this Grand Lodge, I beg now to present to the Grand Lodge of England a reprint of the ancient Constitutions of the Order from the year 1723 to 1730. They are a fac-simile reprint of those constitutions which were for the first time submitted to the Craft by our forefathers. I ask, with the Grand Master's permission, the acceptance by Grand Lodge of this book from the publisher, Bro. Richard Spencer, Past Grand Steward, no less than from myself, the humble editor of that work (presenting the work to the Grand Master). (Cheers).

The Grand Master on receiving the book replied: Bro. Cox, I am quite sure I shall rightly interpret the feelings of the Grand Lodge in expressing to you our best thanks for the present you have made to us. (Hear, hear.)

Bro. Philbrick, W.M., No. 18, then rose for the purpose of nominating a Grand Master for the ensuing year, and said: May it please you, Most Worshipful Grand Master: Brethren, I beg to nominate for the office of Grand Master Mason of England the Most Noble the Marquis of Ripon, which I am sure will secure the consent and approval, not only of every brother who bears it in this Grand Lodge, but of every Mason in the Craft. (Hear.) Our Most Worshipful Grand Master has discharged his duties with the confidence of the Craft, which he has most honorably earned, and which we have most worthily bestowed. (Cheers).

The next business appointment was the of a President of the Lodge of Benevolence, on which the Grand Master remarked: I have now to announce that I appoint Bro. Clabon to be President of the Lodge of Benevolence. The next duty is the electing of a Senior and Junior Vice President of the Lodge of Benevolence. As no one else is proposed than those brethren who already hold those offices, I declare Bro. Joshua Nunn duly elected Senior Vice President, and Bro. James Brett, Junior Vice President of the Board.—The election of 12 Past Masters to serve on the Lodge of Benevolence for the year, was the next order of the evening, but as only 12, those already serving, were nominated, no election was necessary, and they were re-appointed.

The Report of the Lodge of Benevolence, which was moved by Bro. Clabon, and seconded by Bro. S. Rawson, recommended the grant of £100 to a brother of the Caledonian Lodge No. 134, which was put and carried unanimously.

The following Report of the Board of General Purposes, was taken as read, and afterwards received and ordered to be entered on the minutes:—

To the United Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of England.

The Board of General Purposes beg to report as follows:—

1. That it having come to the knowledge of the Board, that certain persons alleged to have been initiated into Masonry by parties connected with a spurious lodge, formerly working at Stratford in Essex, have sought and obtained admission to lodges working under the Grand Lodge of England as joining members, the Board have thought it desirable as a warning to the Craft, to order the reissue of the circular of the 24th October, 1859, with a fac simile to the certificate issued by the spurious lodge in question.

2. The Board have taken into their serious consideration the allegations made by Bro. Matthew Cooke in his speech at the last Quarterly Communication against the officers in the Grand Secretary's office, that they "on their own account formulate, tabulate, and send abroad other degrees, and they make the office the place from whence they emanate;" that "they give and sell information, they withhold information from certain channels and pour it into others," and that "they receive per centages on the information they obtain and bestow."

The Board have devoted the whole of the two special sittings to the reception of evidence and the consideration of the allegations so made; and they especially invited information at all bearing on such matters. No evidence was laid before them in proof of the allegation that information has been sold, or improperly withheld, or unduly given by any clerk or official in the Grand Secretary's office, and the Board consequently find that such allegation is without basis or foundation.

With reference to the unrecognized degrees the Board consider it proved, that, on one occasion a clerk in the Grand Secretary's office assisted, for twenty minutes or less, at a meeting held on the premises of the Craft for purposes connected with a society not recognized by Grand Lodge, but whether or no such meeting took place in office hours is not certain. It also appears that on several occasions payments have been made to and received by the clerk in question at the Grand Secretary's office for purposes not connected with the Craft.

No evidence has come before the Board to connect any of the other officers in the Grand Secretary's office with the allegations made by Bro. Matthew Cooke in his speech at the last Quarterly Communication.

The Grand Secretary has expressed himself entirely satisfied with the manner in which the duties of his office are carried on by all the clerks employed there.

3. The Board beg to subjoin a statement of the Grand Lodge accounts at the last meeting of the Finance Committee held on the 17th November, 2871, showing a balance in the hands of the Grand Treasurer of £2,841 11s. 4d.; and on the hands of the Grand Secretary, for petty ash, £75.

(Signed)

J. LLEWELLYN EVANS,
President.

Bro. Ll. Evans then said: In moving, that the Report of the Board of General Purposes to the members of Grand Lodge be adopted, I inform Grand Lodge that this Report is but a sequence, or a following, of the reference which the Grand Lodge at its last Quarterly Communication, had made to the Board of General Purposes with regard to a motion then brought forward by Bro. Matthew Cooke. It is my opinion, as President of the Board, that this Report is made upon the discussion of the motion, and possibly might at this Quarterly Communication be rejected by a motion that the minutes be not confirmed; but the Board felt that certain allegations having been made in this Grand Lodge at last Quarterly Communication with reference to the conduct of officials in the Grand Secretary's office, it was the duty of the Grand Lodge to inquire into those allegations. I may state to Grand Lodge that prior to the board acting upon these enquiries a complaint was made to the Board by the Grand Secretary in reference to the allegations made against the officials in his office by Bro. Cooke. On that complaint Bro. Cooke was summoned to attend the Board. He did attend, and he protested against the jurisdiction of the Board. Without going into the question of whether his protest was a protest that could be defended in Masonic law or not, it appeared to the Board that it was absolutely necessary, whether such a protest was a right protest or not, that the allegations should be strictly and completely enquired into, and the accuracy or otherwise of them be determined. On this it was proposed and agreed to, "that the charge be withdrawn, and Bro. Cooke be informed that the Board considered, in the interest of the Craft and, in fact, in justice to the officials in the Grand Secretary's office, that the enquiry should be strictly proceeded with and determined." Bro. Cooke was invited to bring any evidence before the Board. The Board also devoted two special meetings to enquire into the truth, or otherwise, of the allegations brought forward by Bro. Cooke; evidence was tendered and enquired into; and the result you have before you. The Board found that the charge was very serious and a very damaging allegation of Bro. Cooke against officials of Grand Secretary's office, of giving, or selling information to certain persons, of withholding information from other persons, and of receiving, as it was stated, per centage for information so given or so withheld. There was no evidence whatever brought before the Board. (Hear, hear.) The Board therefore found that the allegations were without foundation (Hear, hear), and I put it to the Board, having heard the evidence, which is in Grand Lodge—it was all taken down in writing—and I may state to Grand Lodge that I perfectly and absolutely concur in the decision of the Board. I consider the decision of the Board was unanimous. With regard to the charges made by Bro. Cooke about the unrecognized degrees and the part which officials in Grand Secretary's office had taken in promulgating those degrees, the Board then considered them. It was proved to the satisfaction of the Board that one of the officials of Grand Secretary's office, who was specially appointed, on one occasion, as you will find it in the report, conferred a degree in some way or other—we could not find out—it was very difficult to ascertain how long it took—one said it occupied 5 minutes, another a quarter of an hour, another 20 minutes—while it was alleged that to confer the degree it would occupy 2 hours—we found that on the premises of the Craft—one witness stating positively it was after 5 o'clock, after office hours—we found it proved to a certain extent that a degree not recognised by Grand Lodge was given. It was also proved that money had been at times received by the same official in reference to degrees not recognised by the Craft. It was not proved—on the contrary, there was no evidence brought forward whatever to connect anybody else in the Grand Secretary's office with any charge or allegation mentioned at the last Quarterly Communication by Bro. Cooke—not one. We strictly enquired into that. There was not the slightest evidence to connect any one else with the allegation. Under these circumstances the board felt that it was their duty to report, in answer to the reference made at the last Quarterly Communication in respect of charges made in this Grand Lodge against officials in the Grand Secretary's office for doing what, if proved, would render them unworthy to continue longer in the service of the Craft, that the matter had been enquired into, and you find in the report the result. They do not pass judgment; they report the circumstance to Grand Lodge, and leave Grand Lodge to deal with it. I move that the report be adopted.

Bro. Col. Burdett seconded the motion.

Bro. Matthew Cooke thereupon came forward and said: Most Worshipful Grand Master and brethren, it is rather an invidious thing to address you on a personal subject like this, but it is a matter for every one of us. The right of forming an opinion, and the right of expressing that opinion, depend on the proceedings of last Grand Lodge. The President of the Board has told you that I was summoned, first, to attend the Board of General Purposes to give an account of words I spoke here in a legislative capacity. That Board is chosen from you, brethren; its members are your substitutes (hear, hear); and every one of us that says a thing unpleasant to the Grand Secretary, or against Grand Secretary's office, is under the penalty, if we allow this to go forth now, of being dragged before that Board as an offender. (Cries of "No, no.") Who makes them? (Continued cries of "No, no.") It is the fact. ("No," "No.") I beg your pardon. ("No.") Oh! go on. I will wait as long as you please. The very first thing that I get, is a summons from the Board. I think the duty of every Mason is to obey a constituted authority. I went up to the Board, and I tendered a protest—on your behalf, on my behalf, on the behalf of every man. Why? That we should not, if we dared to say anything that did not exactly tally with the official mind—that we should not be dragged up as offenders. That protest, whether it was received or whether it was not, I have no means of telling—these things are conducted in secret. (Cries of "No.") I think that it is time we had an open Board. (Hear, hear.) These are the times when the law is administered in this country freely and openly; when there is no quiet burking of the thing. Now, after I had attended, I was asked whether if I withdrew the charge—for I beg to say that the President of the Board has kindly shifted it on my shoulders that I have two charges against the office. In making my motion here I gave my reasons; they are no charges; I had no reason to be cited for a charge. But the Grand Secretary did cite me before the Board, and made charges against me. Now, what was the proceeding of the Board? I was asked, if the Grand Secretary withdrew his charge, would I withdraw my protest? I said, "Yes," and did so—loyally; went to him the day after; asked him how it should be done—what was to be done? Wouldn't tell; couldn't; didn't know; didn't care. I then did another thing: I had given notice of a certain motion to come on at this meeting; I thought it would not do to allow that to stand. I withdrew that. The day after, what do I get? A repetition of the summons. The President bids—the Board asks—you to come and help them to do this—and I get this summons in these words:—"You are hereby summoned to attend a special meeting of the Board of General Purposes, to be holden at this place on Tuesday, the 31st current, in order to afford any information of which you may be in possession respecting certain allegations made by you at the last Grand Lodge, charging the officials"—and this on the Grand Secretary's counter-charge against me—"charging the officials in the Grand Secretary's office with selling information to certain Masonic manufacturers, and receiving per centages for the same." Well, brethren, I took some little trouble about it: I feel very strongly upon the point; and took some trouble about it. I collected as much information as I possibly could, and of course, having no power, I could not compel the persons who had told me, to come forward and give their evidence. The first portion they selected of my speech—for it resolved itself into that, that I was to answer two particular sets of expressions I had made use of in this Grand Lodge—the first portion broke down, and I'll tell you for why. It broke down for this—simply that the persons who had given me information were afraid to meet the Board and would not come up (Cries of "No," "No," and uproar). Yes, yes: it doesn't matter. The second proves what? It proves that in these premises unrecognised degrees were given. Then what comes of this? The Board make two resolutions, and neither of those resolutions is embodied in the report. I take the report that the President has brought forward—not the report of the Board, it is the report of the President watered down by the Grand Secretary (Great laughter.) I ask—and I leave you to be the judge—I ask the President, will he produce or read to you the two resolutions come to by the Board? and then I ask you to look at your Grand Lodge papers. (Hear, hear.) Will he do so?

Bro. D. Evans: Certainly.

(The Grand Secretary here left the Grand Lodge for the purpose of fetching the originals from his office, and on his way was most enthusiastically cheered).

Bro. Matthew Cooke continued: We will take the resolutions presently. I then say this, that it was an affair that was burked—that the questions which should have been put to the official were literally burked. There were 126 of them prepared, and thirteen were asked. But, brethren, I go further than that, and I say that on this occasion I shall have to make a charge against the Grand Secretary, and I will wait till he comes back. (Laughter.)

The Grand Master, on Br. Cooke pausing, remarked that rather than waste time he had better proceed with another branch of his subject.

Bro. Matthew Cooke said: Very well. I will reserve quietly that for some few minutes, and state what I think this necessarily proves. I think that the manner in which any brother may be had before that Board single-handed to fight the officials of the Order is a thing which calls for an open Board, where every brother is allowed to be present. There is nothing so healthy as public opinion, and if we create a masonic opinion I think these things would not be done covertly, and away from the sight of the whole Craft. It may be said, it is not the custom; but if Freemasonry is a progressive science let it walk with the custom of the country. The custom of the country is not to hold courts in sly holes and corners; but when a subject of complaint is made and a court tries its truth or falsehood, the court is thrown open. Why? To shew the fairness of the enquiry. So it should be with the Craft; we should have a certain day fixed for holding enquiries, and any brother who liked should be present.

At this point of his speech Bro. Cooke made use of such a strong expression that the Grand Master called him to order, and said: Bro. Cooke, you cannot be allowed to use that word.

Bro. Matthew Cooke replied: I withdraw that word, my lord; perhaps I was carried away by my feelings and the heat of discussion when I used it. I withdraw the word, if you please. I am not a practical speaker, and therefore it is rather awkward to be called upon to answer at a moment's notice things of this kind and before a lodge; but I do say this—I stand alone, and I am trying to fight your battle every one of you. (Laughter.) It may be your case; you may be placed in the same position as I am; and then you would say directly, if I had given way and gone before the Board without a protest, there was a precedent created, and your rights were burked. (Grand Secretary here returned into Grand Lodge). Now the Grand Secretary has returned I will proceed with what I was saying.

The Grand Secretary read the minutes, which were in substance the same as given in the report printed above, only that in addition it stated that "Bro. Little" was the clerk in Grand Secretary's office, who was proved on one occasion for a period of twenty minutes or less to have held a meeting of an unrecognised degree on the premises, and as is generally understood, in the Coffee room or Library.

Bro. Matthew Cooke continued: And now, I ask Grand Lodge, that being one half those allegations, this was culled from what I have said, one half of those allegations being the fact. Grand Lodge will judge how difficult it was to prove the other half. Now I will bring something before Grand Lodge. I say that Bro. Hervey is not a proper custodian of anything belonging to the Grand Lodge. (Laughter and great disturbance). Stay a minute: you shall hear. I am not in a position at this moment of not being able to prove the allegation. I have the whole Board of General Purposes; every man is a proof. Bro. Hervey, to shield his subordinate, what does he do? He says, "I looked out the charter or warrant, or some such document, empowering, or forming or being the nucleus on which the Order of Constantine was founded, I looked that out; I brought it to the notice of the Grand Master, and by his leave forwarded that to Lord Kenlis." I say distinctly, that is your property and not the Grand Master's or the Grand Secretary's to deal with. (Cries of "No.") I say distinctly: Bro. Hervey has no more right to give away your documents, which are part of the property of the Grand Lodge, than I have to go and take away a lease or any other document I may find in a nobleman's muniment room.

Bro. Raynham W. Stewart, G.J.D., asked whether these observations bore on anything which occurred in the report.

The Grand Master said that Bro. Cooke's remarks had latterly been of a somewhat desultory character; but it must be remembered that Bro. Cooke's character had been seriously impugned by the Board of General Purposes, and he thought the Grand Lodge would agree with him in thinking that Bro. Cooke ought to have all due latitude. If he thought him out of order he would at the proper time close the discussion. (Cheers.)

Bro. Matthew Cooke proceeded: I am exceedingly obliged to your Lordship and for the hearing Grand Lodge has given me. I go for an open Board, for every man to speak his opinion without being pulled up before the Board; and I say that actuated by that feeling I said what I did in last Grand Lodge, and I had no right to be called to account.

Col. Lowry Cole, P.G.D., said he had no idea of speaking on this occasion, but he could not help thinking that the President of the Board had convicted himself of having offended against the liberty of Freemasons in this Grand Lodge. He had understood him to say that before the resolution of the Board was laid before the Board of General Purposes they thought it their duty to enquire into allegations made, before the resolution of Grand Lodge was laid before the Board.

Bro. Ll. Evans assured Bro. Cole it was quite a misunderstanding. A reference was made to the Board; but considering that grave charges and allegations were made against the Grand Secretary's office, the board thought it their duty to enquire into the matter.

Col. Lowry Cole maintained that that was exactly his position. Every brother near him understood Bro. Evans to say so.

Bro. Ll. Evans said it was subsequent to the charge being made.

Col. Lowry Cole replied: Yes; it was on that very point, Bro. M. Cooke was right—the broad principle that what takes place—although he (Col. Cole), differed from Bro. Cooke in a great deal—what was said and done by a brother in Grand Lodge he was not responsible for to the Board of General Purposes directly. (Hear, hear, and applause.) It was on that principle he called on Grand Lodge not to adopt this report until it was clearly placed on that report, that it was made in accordance with the reference to it from Grand Lodge.

Bro. Philbrick, W.M. of 18, in a long and eloquent speech defended the course pursued by the Board of General Purposes.

Bro. F. Bennoch, thought the last eloquent harangue had only missed the subject, which was before Grand Lodge, which was the report, not the way in which the report was arrived at.

The Grand Master said: Before I put the resolution which has been moved, to Grand Lodge I think it my duty to make one observation upon a portion of the statement contained in this report. It appears from a paragraph which has often been read, and to which consequently I will not more particularly refer, that in the opinion of the Board of General Purposes, a competent authority for the examination of such a question, a case has occurred in which an official employed in the office of the Grand Secretary did upon these premises of ours here, perform some ceremony, whatever it may have been, connected with a degree of Masonry not recognized by this Grand Lodge. I think that that having been the case in this building, and on the part (I feel every confidence, through inadvertence), of an officer employed in the department of the Grand Secretary, it is my duty to express openly the opinion which undoubtedly I entertain, that any such use of any portion of this building ought not to be permitted. (Hear, hear, and cheering.) I have no doubt that this building is intended solely for purposes connected with the degrees of Masonry recognized by this Grand Lodge, and that to purposes of that description it ought to be closely and strictly confined (Hear, hear), and I shall consequently feel it right to give directions to that effect (cheers). I have now to put to you the motion which has been made.

The report was then adopted.

Bro. Clabon's motions were carried.

Bro. F. Bennoch moved and Bro. J. Savage seconded a donation of £500 for the relief of the sufferers by the fires at Chicago and the Western prairies.

The Grand Master said: I cannot help taking part in this question. Bro. Bennoch has alluded to the truly fraternal feeling of the Masons of the United States towards me as your representative when I was in that country. I have carried away from there so strong a feeling of the reception I had there that I feel it would indeed be most ungrateful in me if I were not very heartily to concur in the resolution which has been proposed on this occasion.

The motion was carried unanimously, and Bro. Samuel Tomkins, Grand Treasurer, said he would pay the amount at once without waiting for confirmation by next Grand Lodge.

Grand Lodge was then closed.

GRAND MARK LODGE.

The half-yearly meeting of the Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons of England and Wales, &c., was held at Freemasons' Tavern, on Tuesday, and was very numerously attended.

The Grand Master, the Rev. G. R. Portal, M.A., presided, and among the other brethren present were: Bros. J. C. Parkinson, G.J.W.; Magnus Ohren, G.M.O.; J. R. Stebbing, G. Treas.; Frederick Binckes, G. Sec.; Eugene Cronin, G.S.D.; Morton Edwards, G.J.D.; William Hudson, G. Asst. Dir. of Cers.; H. R. Trigg, G. Sword-bearer; I. J. Wilkinson, G. Standard-bearer; Rev. C. R. Davy, William S. Webster, P. W. Koch, and R. J. Spiers, G. Stewards; W. E. Gumbleton, P.G.S.W.; Wm. Mann, P.G. Reg.; Thomas Meggy, P.G.M.O.; James Stevens, P.G.J.O.; Revds. T. F. Ravenshaw, D. Shaboe, and W. B. Church, P.G. Chaps.; J. Nunn, P.G.S.D.; S. Rosenthal, P.G.D.C.; H. C. Levander, P.G. Dir. of Cers.; T. J. Sabine, P.G. Asst. Dir. of Cers.; R. Spencer, P.G. Sword-bearer; A. D. Loewenstark and J. H. Wynne, P.G.I.G.'s; S. M. Lazarus and John Read, P.G. Org.'s; C. Hammerton, H. Massey, and M. A. Loewenstark, P.G. Stewards; Geo. Barlow, Prov. G.J.W. Middlesex and Surrey; G. John Smallpiece, P.G. Treas. Middlesex and Surrey; W. O. Walker, P.G.M.O. Lancashire; Thomas Birchall, P.G.J.W. Lancashire; Thomas Hargreaves, P.P.G.J.D. Lancashire; John Chadwick, P.G. Sec. Lancashire; J. C. Duncombe, P.G.J.D. Leicestershire and Rutland; R. C. Elsc, P.G. Asst. Dir. of Cers. Somerset; and a large number of Masters, Past Masters, and Overseers of private lodges.

Grand Lodge having been formally opened, the Grand Secretary (Bro. Fredk. Binckes) read the minutes of last Grand Lodge of 6th June.

Bro. Joshua Nunn desired to know a little more about the treaty, proposed by these minutes to be confirmed, between this Grand Lodge and the supreme bodies, the Red Cross of Rome and Constantine, the Knights Templar, and the 33rd Degree; because, he thought, the Jewish brethren might object to it. This jurisdiction should keep itself aloof from all other jurisdictions, and as there were many Jewish brethren in Masonry who might feel themselves debarred from joining the Mark Degree if it was at all connected with Christian bodies, they should learn all the particulars of these treaties before they were adopted by this Grand Lodge. In deference to the objections of the Jewish brethren, he would like to see this matter a little more ventilated before it was passed, and he would therefore move that these minutes, excepting the portion which referred to the treaties, be confirmed.

Bro. A. D. Loewenstark seconded the motion. Although, on a former occasion, he had advocated the treaties on the ground of freedom, he now thought that Jewish brethren could not join any degree in Masonry that was not honestly and truly Masonry universal. Although there were not many Jewish brethren present, there were, he was sure, many conscientious Masons, who would take the matter into consideration, and not vote for the adoption of these treaties until they thoroughly understood what was meant by it. If the adoption were carried, it would be a great drawback to Mark Masonry, which had worked well for a great number of years. Let them go on in that way, without any innovation; if not, there would come a time when they would regret the step they proposed to take.

Bro. H. C. Levander was astonished that a misunderstanding on such a point could take place. The treaty between the contracting parties was not in opposition to either, and did not interfere with the ritual of Mark Masonry. If the treaties in any way interfered with the universality of Mark Masonry, he, for one, would be the last to vote for them. He moved, as an amendment, that the minutes be confirmed.

Bro. Gumbleton having heard the treaties fully read over at the time they were entered into, agreed with Bro. Levander, that they did not interfere with the Mark Degree, and seconded the amendment.

The Grand Secretary thought it would be hardly respectful to Bro. Nunn if he did not explain that, whether a brother be a Jewish or a Christian brother, if he was a member of the Mark Degree, and was not a member of the A. and A. Rite, Knights Templar, or Red Cross of Rome and Constantine, he was no more affected by these treaties than if they did not exist. Such brother was only a member of the Mark Degree. Therefore, there could be no possible objection that the universality of the degree could be jeopardised, or its interests prejudiced, to the smallest possible extent.

The Grand Master had imagined that this subject had been, on former occasions, worked thoroughly threadbare. Bro. Lazarus (whom he was glad to see present) then explained that the treaty could make no difference to the Hebrew brethren. It did not affect the ritual or universality of Mark Masonry in any way. All it did was to bind the parties to be on friendly terms with each other, and Earl Percy told the brethren that it no more affected the Judaism of the Jews than a treaty between England and Turkey would affect the Christianity of England. The treaties had been of the greatest service to this Degree, and had been the means of obtaining support from distinguished brethren on critical occasions in the provinces, which, but for those treaties, it would not have had.

Bro. Joshua Nunn having replied, the amendment of Bro. Levander was put and carried, and the minutes were confirmed.

The Grand Master said he had great pleasure in announcing that he had received official communication to the effect that this Grand Mark Lodge had been recognised by the Grand Chapters of Iowa and Pennsylvania, and that these Grand Bodies were willing to receive, and grant grand rank to, representatives of Grand Mark Lodge, on that body agreeing to receive, and grant grand rank to, representatives from them. The time had now come, therefore, to settle the footing on which this lodge would receive such representatives. He need not point out the enormous strength the recognition gave the Mark Degree in this country, and he thought it would be advisable that the Grand Master confer on the representatives of the Grand Chapters of Iowa and Pennsylvania the rank of Senior Grand Warden, and also to give them a distinguishing jewel; and he proposed that if these foreign bodies appointed brethren as their representatives who had filled the highest posts in Canada and the United States—for instance, if they appointed a Past Grand Principal—he would rank in Grand Mark Lodge next to the Past Grand Masters; but if the foreign chapters should appoint a member of this Grand Lodge as our representative at its assemblies, he should have the rank of Past Grand Senior Warden, or immediately after the S.W. of the year. The representatives here of foreign Grand Chapters should rank after our S.G. Wardens. There was one other point. He wished to ask for power—as numerous brethren who belonged to our lodges in the colonies could not be rewarded by the G. Master giving them office in Grand Lodge, although they might have distinguished themselves by hard work in the colonies—to reward such brethren by granting them rank as Past Grand officers. At present, the Grand Master had no power to do so. He believed it would strengthen the position of this body in the colonies, and he therefore proposed to ask Grand Lodge to grant him that power. The M.W.G.M. concluded by moving a resolution in terms of his address.

Bro. Walker, Prov. G.M.O. Lancashire, seconded the motion.

Bro. J. R. Stebbing asked whether it would not be better if the rank proposed to be conferred were not exceeding Past Senior Grand Warden? It would be very inconvenient to be obliged always to give the highest rank, and he would rather trust to the Grand Master's discretion in conferring the rank. They might always give Past Senior Grand Warden's rank; but it would be as well not to be compelled to do so.

The Grand Master thought the suggestion a good one, and the motion, as amended, was put and carried nem. con.

Bro. T. J. Sabine (Brighton), on rising to nominate the new Grand Master, said: The period having arrived when, under the Constitutions that govern this Order, it is necessary to nominate some distinguished and skilful brother who has done good suit and service on behalf of the Order to occupy the place which, during the past two years and a half, you, Most Worshipful Grand Master have so worthily filled, I rise for the purpose of naming an experienced and skilful brother as the future Grand Master of this Mark Degree. I am sure I have need to make mention only of the name of the brother proposed, for him to receive at your hands hearty and unanimous approval. I refer, then, to our present Deputy Grand Master, our noble brother, the Earl Percy. I am quite sure, Most Worshipful Grand Master, that if there is any brother connected with this flourishing and prosperous Degree who deserves such a distinguished recognition at our hands, that brother is Earl Percy. In every phase of Masonic life, in every moment of necessity, at every period of the history of this G.M. Lodge since he has been connected with it, he has always been prepared and ready in every possible way to promote, to support, and to increase its authority, its members and the area of ground over which it extends. During the past eighteen months, our noble brother has held the distinguished position of Deputy Grand Master of the Order; and I believe that by preferring him to the higher office we shall be giving a tone and satisfaction to the whole Order wherever it may be spread, throughout this or throughout distant countries: and I am quite sure that when his term of office shall have expired, when it will be found necessary in order to comply with the constitutions of the degree to supersede him for some other brother, this Grand Lodge will not regret in having nominated and their having elected Bro. Earl Percy to the position to which I now nominate him. (Cheers.)

The Report of the General Board and the accounts were then read by the Grand Secretary, from which it was clearly shewn that this Degree was in a most flourishing state, that brethren were everywhere joining the Order, and that the funds in the hands of the Grand Treasurer were most gratifying. The Report of the General Board also contained the following recommendations, each of which required special motion for adoption by Grand Lodge:—

1.—Abolition of qualification of W.M. of a Craft lodge as necessary for a candidate for the office of W.M. of a lodge of Mark Masters.

2.—Recognition of Dep. Prov. Grand Masters as Grand officers, with seats on the dais, during their absolute tenure of office as such.

3.—That ten guineas be contributed from the funds of Grand Lodge to the "Binckes Testimonial."

4.—Presentation of jewels to Chairman and Stewards of Mark Benevolent Fund Festival in July last.

Bro. James Stevens, G.S.O., moved the abolition of the qualification of W.M. of a Craft Lodge as necessary for a candidate for the office of W.M. of a Lodge of Mark Masters. He did not think there was any necessity to take up time by referring to the circumstances which gave rise to the motion. There had been a great hindrance to this Degree in consequence of the difficulty hitherto existing of the necessity of having a brother for Master of a Mark Lodge who had filled the chair of Master of a Craft Lodge previously. It had been objected to the alteration that there was a portion of the ceremony of installation similar in both degrees, but he based his motion on the understanding that the Board of General Purposes take care to make such a change in the ceremony of installation that the similarity should not exist. At present, if a brother who had not been a P.M. of a Craft Lodge was by dispensation installed as Master of a Mark Lodge visited another Mark Lodge on Installation day, he was not allowed to remain in the lodge during the ceremony of Installation. His natural condition was completely set aside, although he had perhaps been very serviceable to the Order. The old rule was got rid of now by a side-wind, which he (Bro. Stevens) thought unworthy of this Grand Lodge, and he would therefore move that the qualification be abolished on the understanding that the Board of General Purposes altered the ceremony of Installation.

Bro. H. C. Levander, G.J.O., seconded the motion.

Bro. Stebbing, Grand Treasurer, was afraid there were too grave objections to the motion to justify its being passed. Some modification might take place to meet the occasional difficulty and relieve brethren of the inconvenience of passing a resolution actually to abolish the qualification for the chair of Mark Lodges. If the qualification be abolished altogether, brethren would very readily obtain the chair without sufficient exertion being made to obtain a duly qualified brother. He was aware that in other degrees the qualification was not insisted on; but they must recollect that Grand Lodge of England, the parent Grand Lodge of all Masonry, was their sovereign, and they must be especially jealous that nothing be done to cause reflection that they were at all interfering with the ancient rites and usages of Craft Masonry, or had actually abolished that which had been held so essential. It was a grave thing for Grand Mark Lodge to do. A brother should not be placed lightly or hastily in the chair without due exertion being made to find a properly qualified Master. There might be reasons where on occasions they might have to depart from this rule, but those reasons should be thoroughly examined and tested, and if urgent cases did occur, then the Grand Master being satisfied that every exertion had been made should have the power of granting dispensation. In the country there was great difficulty to get officers to take the chair at Masonic Lodges and Chapters, but he thought that with a little exertion they might get help without breaking the laws of Masonry.

Bro. Morton Edwards, who was a W.M. of a Mark Lodge by dispensation, said he had been obliged to quit a lodge-room lately during the installation of the W.M. One or the other must be wrong,—either the Mark was interfering with the Craft, or the dispensation of the Grand Master was not sufficient to provide for the irregularity of a W.M. not properly qualified.

The Grand Secretary said there could be no doubt it was inconvenient for a Master installed under dispensation, to be refused to assist at the installation of a properly-qualified brother. It appeared to be an anomaly. In the case of Most Wise Sovereigns of the Rose Croix Order, or a Commander of an Encampment, they could be installed without having been Master of a Craft Lodge; but in the Royal Arch a companion could not be even a third principal without having first been a W.M. For himself, he hardly knew which way to vote upon this motion. There was no question that there was a dispensing power in the Grand Mark Master, according to the Book of Constitutions; but if dispensations were too often granted, they lost their force, and he therefore thought this question required a large amount of consideration. He was one of those who had become converts to the opposite side of the question he had originally advocated. No one would regret more than he, if anything was done needlessly or idly—he would not say to aggravate, but—to excite the feelings of Craft Grand Lodge against this Grand Lodge. If he thought such could be the case, he did not know that he should take a contrary course. He could not lose sight of the fact, that the resolution was adopted when this Grand Lodge was in a very different position to that which it now occupied. As a matter of fact, there did once exist a very strong feeling of antagonism in Craft Grand Lodge to this Grand body. Our ancestors, he thought, were wise in their generation in adopting the rule. The body was then a very small one, and there was a difficulty experienced in selecting a brother for W.M., but now the body had increased to an enormous extent—they had 140 lodges, and that number was rapidly increasing—and there were plenty of qualified Masters to be found. He thought that a little more consideration should be given to the question, before a decision was arrived at. There was power given to the Grand Master, by the Book of Constitutions, to meet a case of urgency, and, he would ask, was it worth while to offend the prejudices of brethren by making the road to the chair too easy?

Bro. J. C. Parkinson cordially agreed with Bro. Binckes; they ought not to make the chair too cheap. He thought good fruit would be borne from this discussion, and he should move that the matter be referred back to the General Board.

Bro. C. Hammerton seconded it.

Bro. Stebbing would remark that there was a state of things elsewhere similar to this. A brother took the chair of a lodge to qualify him for the Royal Arch; but he never was allowed to attend the installation of Master of a Craft lodge. If they could refer the matter to the General Board, let them do so; but do not instal Masters into the chair without giving them first an insight into the Craft.

The Grand Master asked, whether it was for the interest of Grand Mark Lodge that a brother who had worked hard in Mark Masonry should be debarred from entering the chair because he had not filled the chair in another degree? He would suggest the following alteration in Brother Parkinson's motion: "That it be referred back to the General Board, to effect such an alteration in the obligation of an Installed Master," in the first place, "and in the chair secrets," in the second place, "as that a dispensation of the Grand Master would enable a brother to take the chair."

Bro. Parkinson agreed.

Bro. Stebbing would propose that no brother should have access to a Board of Installed Masters, unless he had been admitted to the full ceremony of installation."

Bro. Duncombe, Prov. G.S.D. Leicester and Rutland, seconded it.

Bro. Parkinson's motion was carried.

On the motion of Bro. R. J. Spiers, Oxford, the recognition of Deputy Provincial Grand Masters as Grand officers, with seats on the Dais, during their absolute tenure of office as such, was carried.

On the motion of Br. Parkinson, seconded by Bro. Magnus Ohren, ten guineas were contributed from the funds of Grand Lodge to the Binckes' Testimonial.

Jewels were then presented to the following Chairman and Stewards of the Benevolent Fund Festival in July last:—Bros. Parkinson (chairman), the Rev. A. B. Fraser, the Rev. L. O. Bigg, T. Strahan, Magnus Ohren, J. H. Wynne, R. J. Spiers, F. Davidson, the Rev. D. Shaboe, and the Rev. Vyvan H. Moyle.

Bro. James Stevens, G.S.O., rose and said: This evening, our Deputy Grand Master, Earl Percy, has been nominated as your Grand Master for the ensuing year, and of course this sounds the token of a very speedy parting from our present M.W.G.M. I believe it is customary that on the G.M. leaving the chair of office, to present him with the Past Grand Master's jewel, an honour which has been conferred on his predecessors; but I have been giving some slight consideration to the services our M.W.G.M. has rendered to you during the past three years. I hope you will take me as meaning fully what I state, when I say I think his services during the past three years have been somewhat in excess of any similar period of time since the working of the Mark degree, seventeen years ago. I have looked through the various reports connected with Mark Masonry from that time, and I am quite certain that, however you may follow up my idea in making some remark upon it, it will interest you to know to what a considerable extent our present M.W.G.M. has carried out the duties of his exalted position, and the progress the Mark Degree has made under his most admirable superintendence. At the time when our E.W.G.M. took charge of us, we numbered 103 lodges, and those 103 lodges represented all that had been formed both antecedent to and during the years of our former Grand Masters, four in number, representing a period of about 17 years. During the two years and a half—that is, from the time of his election to the present time—no less than 38 new lodges have been connected with the Order—twice the average of the number of lodges previously connected with it. The number of certificates appear to me to have gone on in an increasing ratio, from the date of our M.W.G.M.'s accession to office, to 150, in one half-year to 489, and now nearly 530 during the past six months. Our receipts have also increased very greatly indeed. In addition to which I have noticed by our reports many works that have been carried out through our

M.W.G.M.'s introduction, and by his action, which have placed the Degree in a very good and forward position. The provinces that have been created in that time, the recognition of this Grand Lodge by the Grand Chapter of Canada, the presenting of the charity jewel, are only some few of the good deeds he has done for us. It has struck me, brethren, that there ought to be some distinguishing mark of your confidence in the Grand Master (hear, hear), over and above that which has been shown to his predecessors, and what form that is to take is the great difficulty I have to set before you; but there certainly never has been a Master who has gone out of the chair, who has done so much during the time he has been our Sovereign. I therefore leave it to you, brethren, that inasmuch as it is difficult to decide what would be most acceptable to the Grand Master, it struck me that in addition to the Past Grand Master's jewel, which he will receive almost as a matter of right, you would, among yourselves, consider whether there should not be altogether some distinguishing badge which would associate in your minds our Master's good undertakings for us when he comes amongst us again; it struck me that something like a pendant jewel to a collar—it is not the expense—but you ought to give some distinctive mark for such good work, such admirable labour, for I can assure you that during the time I have been attending the Boards of General Purposes, the work has been such as must have received from you the greatest approbation of his ever-readiness to attend to our interests. I therefore lay it out to you, trusting that some other brethren here, more of position than myself, will give it their attention and say what shall be done, but I make these remarks to you to show my feeling on the subject.

Bro. Parkinson suggested a committee, and Bro. Stebbing, Parkinson, Stevens, Meggy, Binckes, Rosenthal, and Spicers agreed to serve.

The Grand Master said: Brethren, I do not know how sufficiently to express my thanks for the very kind words which have fallen from Bro. Stevens, and the exceedingly kind way in which this Grand Lodge has received them. I shall have another opportunity, when I instal my successor in this chair, of entering into a detailed statement of the way in which I have carried out the duties you imposed upon me three years ago, and therefore I will not detain you with any statistics as to the progress of our Order. I shall content myself with thanking you for the very kind motion, and the kind way in which it has been received.

Grand Lodge was then closed, and the brethren afterwards dined together. The toasts of the evening were proposed and honoured, and some delightful singing was given by Bro. De Lacy, Mr. Barnby, and Mr. Hodges, under the direction of Bro. John Read, Past Grand Organist.

BRO. W. J. HUGHAN, of Truro, Cornwall, will be very glad to hear from any brethren who possess, or know of, minutes of lodges, or copies of M.S. Constitutions, of an older date than A.D. 1720. Our well-known and highly-esteemed Brother is now engaged in preparing another work for the press, which we believe will pay especial attention to the M.S. Constitutions of the Freemasons, and has in his possession several copies of these ancient and valuable documents, which he will publish for the first time. He is particularly anxious to have every information obtainable with respect to these manuscripts in the possession of lodges and brethren, as soon as possible.

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

THE CRAFT.

METROPOLITAN.

Lodge of Faith, No. 141.—The second regular meeting of the season of this ancient lodge took place at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C., on Tuesday, the 28th Nov. Bro. C. C. Taylor, W.M., presided, assisted by Bros. Green, S.W.; Themans, J.W.; J. Kennett, S.D.; Waygood, J.D.; M. Davis, I.G.; W. Carter, Treas.; Anslow, Sec.; and Longstaff, Tyler. There were also present: Bros. Pevers, W. Stewart, William Pope, Hopwood, N. Gluckstein, A. E. Harris, E. Gottheil, and James Hill, P.M.'s, and a large lodge of brethren. The preliminaries being disposed of, the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, from which it appeared that £10 had been voted to be placed on the list of the W.M., who had announced his intention to represent the lodge as Steward at the next festival in support of the Annuity Fund for Aged Freemasons and their Widows. The W.M. then conferred the third degree on Bros. Gluck, Nathan, Challis, and Levy, after which Bros. Tolady, Stokes, Ellis, Covington, Kendall, and Mead were passed to the second degree. These onerous duties were performed with a degree of perfection reflecting the highest credit on the W.M., and also on his officers, who went through their work with intelligence and ability. At the banquet table, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were briefly given and responded to, and profound sympathy was expressed at the mention of the serious indisposition of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. The name of Her Majesty was also received with the greatest warmth and enthusiasm. The visitors were Bros. Hayward (186), Woodman (157), and Hume (51). The proceedings were enlivened with songs by Bros. M. Davis, P. Davis, Painter, Woodman, Hume, and the following Masonic song, written and sung by Bro. Hutton, to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne":—

From earliest ages have we known
The Great Creator's power,
Broadcast are all His blessings thrown
To man, each day and hour.
One of our race has taught us how United we should be;
For, singly, we must surely bow
To adverse Destiny.

When Æsop lived, he knew our race
Were selfish to degree;
His knowledge easy 'tis to trace
Of poor humanity.
Of sticks a bundle, tied with string,
Each tried to break in vain;
When single, then, indeed, the thing
Was quickly rent in twain.

Let craftsmen, then, example shew,
By helping one another;
How sympathising is, in woe,
Each Mason for his brother.
United let each heart and hand
On earth for ever be,
That we may form a joyful band
In heaven's eternity.

Refrain—Let Masons all well bear in mind
United they must be,
And the emblems of their noble Craft,
Faith, Hope, and Charity.

Star Lodge, No. 1275.—The regular meeting of this rapidly-increasing and prosperous lodge was held on Friday, the 1st inst., at the Marquis of Granby Tavern, Deptford. Present: Bros. C. J. Hogg, P.G.S., P.M., W.M.; G. F. Guest, D.C., as S.W.; H. Crabtree, J.W.; J. Smith, P.G.P., P.M., Treas.; F. Walters, P.M., Sec.; T. Darke, S.D.; G. Pymm, P.M., J.D.; E. Townsend, as I.G.; W. Kipps, Org.; J. Gilbert, Tyler; W. Ough, P.G.P., I.P.M.; R. F. Duff, S. Homewood, C. Saunders, J. Fox, J. Davis, C. Drake, J. Drake, A. Flaxman, E. Lane, W. Bell, J. J. Limebeer, W. H. Tramplesure, G. S. Elliott, and W. M. Bull. Visitors: Bros. J. Coates (144) and E. H. Thiellay (D.C. 145). The lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. Messrs. C. Drake, J. Drake, A. Flaxman, and E. Lane were initiated into Freemasonry, and Bros. Dr. A. Farr and W. Avill were passed to the second degree, in an admirable manner by the W.M. It was resolved that the future meetings of the lodge be held elsewhere, the selection of the house being left for discussion at next regular meeting. There being five candidates for initiation, it was arranged to hold an emergency meeting on Friday, the 29th inst. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, to banquet.

PROVINCIAL.

HERTFORD.—Hertford Lodge No. 403.—The installing meeting of this lodge was held at the Town Hall on 28th ult., the brethren present were: Bros. H. B. Hodges, W.M. (presiding); J. D. Medcalf, S.W.; O. N. Wagner, J.W.; J. R. Cocks, Treas.; T. S. Carter, Hon. Sec.; J. Boatwright, S.D.; W. H. Nicholls, J.D.; the Rev. L. Deedes, Chap.; C. P. Wyman, I.G. and Org.; S. Neale, M.C.; C. Drummond, I.P.M.; S. Austin, P.M.; E. A. Simson, L. B. Harvey, H. Campkin, E. Salisbury, P.M.; F. Taylor, W. P. Willson, W. Warrener, J. Harrington, A. J. Small, P. Page, Abel Smith, R. Dimsdale, E. R. P. Francis, F. Roberts, H. C. Heard, P.M.; S. S. Frankenberg. Visitors: Bros. R. B. Croft, 396; W. B. Heath, P.M. 504; R. R. Shillitoe, P.M.; Shillcock, P.M.; J. R. Dagg, 449; R. C. Barnes, 468; R. H. Groombridge, J.W. 183; W. Cutbush, 141; Adcan, Grindle. Bros. Abel Smith, Francis and Roberts were passed to the third degree; Bro. Croft was elected a joining member; Bro. J. D. Medcalf, S.W., was installed W.M. by Bro. Hodges, I.P.M., in a masterly style, and he appointed as his officers: Bros. E. A. Simson, S.W.; S. Neale, J.W.; the Rev. L. Deedes, Chap. (reappointed); J. W. Cokes, Treas. (reappointed); T. S. Carter, Hon. Sec. (reappointed); J. Boatwright, S.D. (reappointed); W. H. Nicholls, J.D. (reappointed); C. P. Wyman, Org. (reappointed); H. Campkin, I.G.; C. Drummond, M.C.; E. Salisbury, W. P. Willson, Stewards; and T. Wright, Tyler (fourteenth time). The W.M. presented Bro. Hodges with a solid gold P.M.'s jewel which had been voted by the lodge, and a Prov. Grand Senior Warden's jewel which has been subscribed for by some of the brethren. Bro. Hodges presented Bro. Carter with a Past Secretary's jewel in token of his esteem and regard. It was resolved that application be made for permission to form a Royal Arch Chapter to be attached to the lodge. The lodge was closed, and the brethren retired to a sumptuous banquet in the assembly room at the Shire Hall, where they spent a very pleasant evening, and retired at an early hour.

MARKET HARBOUROUGH.—St. Peter's Lodge, No. 1330.—The regular monthly meeting was held on Friday, 1st inst. The W.M. Sir Henry Halford was unavoidably prevented from attending, and the I.P.M. Bro. W. Kelly, P.G.M., was absent owing to indisposition, the chair was therefore occupied by Bro. G. Toller, jun., P.G. Sec.; amongst those present were: Bros. the Rev. J. Halford, P.G. Chap. S.W.; F. Kemp, J.W.; Rev. J. Beaumont, Chap.; W. H. Morris, P.M. as Sec.; T. Macaulay, S.D.; Dr. Grant J.D.; J. Dixon, Org.; Robinson, I.G.; Fuller, Steward; Albert Pell, M.P., P.G. Reg.; and many other members of the lodge. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, Bros. Wiggins and Ellis passed a satisfactory examination as E.A.'s, and were passed to the degree of F.C.; the lecture on the tracing-board was given by the W.M., after which portions of the ceremony of initiation were worked in a lodge of instruction. The lodge having now purchased a set of jewels for its own use, on the motion of the Rev. J. Halford a vote of thanks was unanimously passed to St. John's Lodge, Leicester for the loan of their jewels, which had hitherto been used. Some discussion took place as to the establishment of a Lodge of Instruction.—The Rev. J. Halford, S.W., on behalf of the lodge expressed his thanks to the acting W.M. for coming over from Leicester to undertake the duties of the chair.—Bro. Toller having responded, after a candidate had been proposed for initiation, the lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to refreshment, and spent an hour very pleasantly in social intercourse. This young lodge as was alluded to at the late meeting of P. Grand Lodge, is progressing very favourably, and possesses an exceedingly handsome set of furniture and jewels.

INSTRUCTION.

Mount Sinai Chapter, No. 19.—The usual weekly meeting of this justly-celebrated chapter was held at the Union Tavern, Air-street, Piccadilly, on Saturday, the 25th ult., when, instead of labour, the companions set the evening apart for refreshment. Bro. Smith, the host, provided an excellent banquet, which gave universal satisfaction, the wines being pronounced of the finest quality. On this auspicious occasion the presiding officers were Comps. J. Brett, G.D.C., P.Z., as M.E.Z.; J. Thomas, H.; J. Boyd, P.Z., J.; C. A. Cottebrune, P.Z., P.S.; and Woodstock, P.Z., S.E. The Stewards under whose auspices the arrangements were so well made and carried out were Comps. Sharp, Cameron, Hamilton, Beck, Reed, Swallow, Finney (sen.), Finney (jun.), Gordon, Merrick, and Woodstock, S.E. After the cloth was removed, the customary toasts were given. Comp. J. Smith, P.G.S.B., responded for the Grand Officers, and Comps. W. Carpenter, Buss, and Masterman replied for the visitors. Comp. C. A. Cottebrune, P.Z., in an eloquent speech, gave the toast of "The Presiding M.E.Z., Comp. J. Brett," which was most enthusiastically received. Comp. Brett responded, and in glowing terms proposed the toast of "The P.S., Comp. C. A. Cottebrune, P.Z.," in connection with the Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, which was equally well received, these companions being justly so popular. Comp. C. A. Cottebrune did ample justice, in his response, to this all-important toast. The toast of "H. and J." was well received, and both responded. "The Principals of the Mount Sinai Chapter" was replied to by Comp. Rice. Comp. R. W. Little responded for the lay members. The pleasures of this truly-festive gathering were enhanced by the songs of Comps. J. Stevens, Masterman, &c. Thirty-four companions were present. This social reunion will not interfere with the regular anniversary banquet, which will be held at the usual time, and of which due notice will be given.

SCOTLAND.

GLASGOW.

Bridgeton and Glasgow Shamrock and Thistle Lodge, No. 275.—Bro. Wm. Phillips, R.W.M., occupied the chair at the annual election of office-bearers on Friday, 1st December. The following brethren were duly chosen: Bros. Wm. Phillips, R.W.M.; John Hay, D.M.; W. M'Gilchrist, S.M.; D. Rowan, S.W.; H. Mathieson, J.W.; James Smith, Treas.; C. Redpath, Sec.; Wm. Guthrie, Chap.; John Miller, S.D.; T. Phillips, J.D.; A. Higgins, S.S.; R. White, J.S.; R. Smith, I.G.; John M'Naught, Dir. of Music; J. M'Keen, Tyler. After the election, the installation of office-bearers was done in a very efficient manner by Bro. J. Wallace, S.D. of P.G.L., who, along with Bro. Miller, of the Busby Lodge, were made honorary members. The lodge was thereafter called from labour to refreshment, when song and sentiment went round till high twelve, and all left pleased with the proceedings of the evening. We may add that this lodge is in a very flourishing condition, the report of the auditors (Bros. Guthrie and M'Gilchrist) showing that, besides having a complete set of paraphernalia, they had also a goodly balance in bank, which has been greatly brought about by the manner in which the lodge has been presided over by the highly-respected R.W.M., William Phillips.

EARL OF ZETLAND LODGE, No. 1364.

(To the Editor of the Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—You, on November 25th, gave a very good report of the consecration and banquet of the above lodge, but in the paragraph containing the names of the newly-installed officers some slight error occurs.

After "G. A. Rean, S.D.," the other names should read:—H. W. Wallington, J.D.; B. Peart, I.G.; H. Bateman, Organist; and H. T. Love, D.C.

By inserting the above you will greatly oblige,
Yours fraternally,
J. L. FYSH,
Secretary.

CONSECRATION OF A LODGE IN NEW ZEALAND.

The inauguration of the Sir Walter Scott Lodge (S.C.) took place on Sept. 15, at the Thames, in the temporary lodge-room provided at the Wharf Hotel. The ceremony was successful, imposing, and very numerously attended by Masons from far and near, and moreover attracted a great deal of attention on the part of the outer world. Bro. D.P.G.M. Beveridge presided, and was assisted by the following P.M.'s: Bros. Fitzgibbon, Goldsboro', Tyler, Jenkins, Collins, Brodie, and Stevenson. After the ceremony of inaugurating had been concluded, sixteen candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the first degree, their names being: Messrs. Hornsby, Wood, W. Rowe, J. Brown, Briton, Hicks, Elmsworthy, Sully, Higgins, Davidson, Steadman, Goodall, Bignell, Rattray, and Bruce. Some time was occupied by the ceremony of initiation, which took place thus early in the day's proceedings in order that the new members might have the opportunity of witnessing the installation of officers of the new lodge. The names of the officers were as follows: Bros. Beveridge, W.M.; Robertson, D.M.; Brodie, R.W.S.; Goldsmith, S.W.; Dewar, J.W.; Basley, S.D.; Hannaford, J.D.; Chapman, Sec.; Philp, Treas.; J. Hill, Chap.; Clarkon, I.G.; and Stephenson, Tyler. The members of the lodge and the visiting brethren then went in procession, headed by the Volunteer Band, to the Presbyterian Church, where Divine service, suitable to the occasion, was conducted by the Rev. Bros. Hill and V. Lush, and an impressive discourse on "Brotherly Love" delivered by Bro. Hill.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending Friday, December 15, 1871.

The Editor will be glad to have notice from Secretaries of lodges and chapters of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, DEC. 9.

Lodge 108, London, Ship and Turtle Tav., Leadenhall-street.
" 173, Phoenix, Freemasons' Hall.
" 1328, Granite, Freemasons' Hall.
Mark Lodge (104), Macdonald, Head Quarters 1st Surrey Rifles, Brunswick-road, Camberwell.
Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. C. S. Dille, Preceptor.
Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 7; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.

MONDAY, DEC. 11.

Lodge 5, St. George & Corner-stone, Freemasons' Hall.
" 29, St. Alban's, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-street.
" 59, Royal Naval, Freemasons' Hall.
" 193, Confidence, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
" 222, St. Andrew's, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
" 579, Peckham, Maismore Arms, Peckham.
" 957, Leigh, Freemasons' Hall.
Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern, Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30; Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street (opposite Pantheon), Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. J. R. Stacey, Preceptor.
Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. Dille, Preceptor.
St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, DEC. 12.

Lodge 96, Burlington, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-street.
" 166, Union, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
" 180, St. James's Union, Freemasons' Hall.
" 198, Percy, Ship and Turtle Tav., Leadenhall-st.
" 211, St. Michael's, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-st.
" 228, United Strength, Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell.
" 235, Nine Muses, Clarendon Hotel, New Bond-st.
" 548, Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
" 831, Ranelagh, Sussex Hotel, Hammersmith.
" 933, Doric, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
Clap. 185, Jerusalem, Freemasons' Hall.
Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, Preceptor.
Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.
Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, Gladstone Tavern, Bishopsgate-st. Within, at 7.30; Bro. Bolton (W.M. 1227), Preceptor.
St. Marybone Lodge of Instruction (1305), British Stores Tavern, New-street, St. John's Wood, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 13.

Committee R. M. Benevolent Institution, at 3.
Lodge 3, Fidelity, Freemasons' Hall.
" 11, Enoch, Freemasons' Hall.
" 13, Union Waterloo, Masonic Hall, Woolwich.
" 15, Kent, Guildhall Coffee House, Gresham-st.
" 87, Vitruvian, White Hart Hotel, College-street, Lambeth.
" 147, Justice, White Swan Tavern, Deptford.
" 238, Pilgrim, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street.
" 781, Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, Limehouse.
" 1017, Montefiore, Freemasons' Hall.
" 1216, Macdonald, Head Quarters 1st Surrey Rifles, Brunswick-road, Camberwell.
" 1228, Beacontree, private rooms, Leytonstone.

" 1260, Hervey, Iron School Room, Moore Park, Walham Green.
" 1306, St. John of Wapping, Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping.
Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7½.
Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Lindus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, DEC. 14.

Lodge 19, Royal Athelstan, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-st.
" 263, Bank of England.
" 534, Polish National, Freemasons' Hall.
" 657, Canonbury.
" 860, Dalhousie, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
" 1076, Capper, Marine Hotel, Victoria Docks, West Ham.
" 1288, Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tavern, Seven Sisters'-road, Holloway.
Chap. 72, Royal Jubilee, Horns Tavern, Kennington.
" 619, Beadon, Greyhound Hotel, Dulwich.
The R.A. Chapter of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor. Ceremony, explanation of R. A. Jewel and Solids, part sections.
Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses, Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Panmure Lodge of Instruction (720), Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7; Bro. John Thomas, Preceptor.
Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern, Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.
Chigwell Lodge of Instruction, Bald-faced Stag Hotel, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30.

FRIDAY, DEC. 15.

Lodge 6, Friendship, Willis's Rooms, King-street, St. James's.
" 201, Jordan, Freemasons' Hall.
" 813, New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton.
Chap. 176, Caveac, Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Htl. Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Muggerridge, Preceptor.
Robert Burns Lodge of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, at 8; Bro. Wm. Watson, Preceptor.
Burgoyne Lodge of Instruction, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, N.W., at 8.
St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
Burdett Courts Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
Clapton Lodge of Instruction, White Hart, Clapton, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West Smith, Preceptor.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, London." Also, makers of Epps's Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk).—[Advt.]

"MORE than a year ago one of my children was attacked with bronchitis, and, after a long illness, was given up by all physician as 'past cure.' I was then induced to try your Vegetable Pain Killer, and from the time I began the use of it the child rapidly got better, and it is now strong and healthy."—JOHN WINSTANTLEY, 10, Whittle-st., L'pool, 1869.—To P. D. & Son."

The following items appear in Pomeroy's New York Democrat :—

A NEW LODGE IN PROVINCE OF QUEBEC.

It is with pleasure we announce that the M.W. Bro. John H. Graham, LL.D., Grand Master of Masons in the province of Quebec, has been pleased to issue his letter of dispensation for the formation of a new lodge in the beautiful village of Georgeville, Stanstead, to be called Mount Orford Lodge. W.M. Keyes, M.D., M., N. A. Beach, S.W., and R. L. Ayer, J.W.

We are also officially informed that the Grand Lodge of Quebec will unite with its American sisters in their action towards Hamburg, for violation of Grand Lodge Territorial sovereignty in New York and New Jersey.

CHICAGO TO QUEBEC.

The Fraternity under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of Quebec, have sent their first instalment for the relief of Chicago. For so young a Grand Lodge, were they to do no more, the offering is magnificent. The following telegraph tells the story :—

"Chicago, Oct. 22.

"To G. H. Graham, Esq., Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Quebec, Richmond, P.Q.

"Your dispatch advising that four hundred dollars in gold, first instalment raised by Quebec lodges for sufferers by late fire received. A thousand thanks. God bless the Craft in Canada.

D. C. GREGIER,
Grand Master of Illinois.

THE ceremony of Installation will be rehearsed in the Camden Lodge of Instruction, Adelaide Tavern, Haverstock-hill, on Monday next, the 11th instant, at 8 o'clock. This lodge is in a very flourishing state, and has given no less than 67 guineas to charities, besides many small sums to distressed brethren.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

APRIL ELECTION, 1872.

YOUR votes and interest are earnestly solicited on behalf of

FREDERICK CHARLES GATES,
AGED 7½ YEARS,

Son of the late Bro. JAMES HAYDEN GATES, of Clapham, Surrey, Builder, who died in June, 1871, after a long and painful illness, leaving a Widow and seven children totally unprovided for, his severe sufferings from hereditary disease having, during the previous two years, incapacitated him from attending to his business pursuits. Bro. Gates was initiated in the Panmure Lodge, 720, served the offices and passed the chair of that lodge, and was also Past H. of the Chapter attached thereto. Whilst in a position to do so, he faithfully discharged his Masonic duties, and supported the Charitable Institutions by every means in his power.

The case is strongly recommended by the following brethren:

The Rev. WENTWORTH A. BOVYER, Rector of Clapham, P.G.C.; The Rectory, Clapham Common, S.W.
Sir CHARLES FORBES, Bart., Broom Wood, Clapham.
J. C. PARKINSON (V.P.), P.M. 181, P.Z. 259, J.G.W. Mk., &c.; The Manor House, Collier's Wood, Merton, Surrey.
GEORGE MYERS (V.P.), P.M. 108, &c., &c.; Belvedere-road, Lambeth, S.E.
J. NEAL YORK, P.M. 88, 1088, P.Z., &c., P.P.G.W. Cambridgeshire; Newmarket.
GEORGE KENNING (V.P.), W.M. 192, J.W. 1293, P.G.D. Middlesex; Upper Sydenham, S.E.
R. S. WARRINGTON (G.), P.G.S, P.M. 197, P.Z. 8, J. 145; 23, Garrick-street, London, W.C.
SIGISMUND ROSENTHAL (G.), P.M. 435, &c.; Red Lion Square, W.C.
EDWARD WORTHINGTON, P.M. 507, P.Z. 720; Loughborough Park, S.W.
W. S. HALE, 534; Alexandra Hotel, Clapham Common.
EUGENE CRONIN (L.), M.D., Treas. 1216; Old Manor House, Clapham, S.W.
*JOHN THOMAS (G.), P.M. & P.Z. 507 & 720, P.G.D.C., G.C., &c., 20, Denmark-street, Camberwell, S.E.
*JAS. STEVENS (G.), P.M. 25, 720, 1216, P.M. Mark 104, W.M. Mark 139, P.G.O., &c.; Clapham Common.
Proxies will be thankfully received by the brethren marked thus *, and by the Widow, 4, Phoenix-terrace, Wirtemberg-street, Clapham, S.W.
(V.P.) Vice Presidents of the Institution. (G.) Life Governor
(L.) Life Subscriber.

MASONIC MUSIC IN STOCK

AT

BRO. KENNING'S MASONIC DEPOTS.

THE RED CROSS SONG; composed by Bro. H. PARKER, words by Bro. R. W. LITTLE ... 3/0
WHAT BETTER THEME THAN MASONRY? words by Bro. JAMES STEVENS; music by Bro. WILHELM GANZ ... 4/0
BROTHERLY LOVE, RELIEF AND TRUTH; written by Bro. SEWELL; composed by Bro. J. RHODES ... 4/0
THE FINAL TOAST; written by D. L. RICHARDSON; music by Bro. EDWIN J. CROW ... 3/0
THE E.A. SONG; arranged by the late Bro. PARRY, of the "Lodge of Antiquity," No. 2 ... 6d.
MASONIC HARMONIA ... 7/0
MASONIC MUSIC, compiled for the use of the "Merchants Lodge," No. 241, by Bro. J. H. YOUNGHUSBAND, P.M., P.Z., P.E.C., and P. Prov. J.G.W. West Lancashire ... 6d
THE FREEMASON (Tell me the sign, John); written by GEORGE PALMER ... 3/0
THREE TIMES THREE; Composed by Bro. HARROWAY, "Royal York Lodge," Brighton ... 3/0
THE SHAKE OF THE HAND (in G & B flat); composed by JOHN BLOCKLEY ... 3/0
THE FREEMASONS' FESTIVAL MARCH & MASONIC HYMN, by Bro. W. B. TOLPUTT (Past Master of the "Temple Lodge," No. 816, Folkestone) ... 3/0
THE FREEMASON QUADRILLES; inscribed (by permission) to the Right Hon. the Earl de Grey and Ripon, K.G.; by Bro. JOSHUA MARSHALL (P.G.O., West Yorkshire), Solo or Duett ... 4/0
MUSIC FOR THE CEREMONY OF ADVANCEMENT TO THE MARK DEGREE; composed by Bro. EDWIN J. CROW, dedicated to the Grand Master, Bro. Rev. G. R. Portal ... 3/0
All the above Half-Price.
THE MASONIC SERVICE; by J. C. BAKER, No. 241 ... 1/0

NOW READY,

(SECOND EDITION.)

PRICE TWO SHILLINGS.

ROAN TUCK, GILT EDGES.

THE
COSMOPOLITAN MASONIC CALENDAR

AND

POCKET-BOOK FOR 1872,

CONTAINING—

Lists of Lodges, Chapters, Conclaves & Encampments, with the names of Officers, in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, the Colonial Dependencies, Europe, the United States, South American Empires, etc., etc.

To be had of all Booksellers, Tylers, Janitors, Sentinels, Equerries, &c., &c.

LONDON: GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-street, and 2 3 and 4, Little Britain, E.C.

LIVERPOOL: " 2, Monument-place.

DUBLIN: CHARLES HEDGELONG, 26, Grafton-street.

EDINBURGH: JOHN MENEIES & Co., 12, Hanover-street.

GLASGOW: " 1, Royal Bank-place.

Masonic Presentation Jewels.
A LARGE STOCK NOW ON SHOW

AT

BRO. GEO. KENNING'S
Manufactory, 2, 3 and 4, Little Britain, E.C.

LONDON AND SUBURBAN
MUTUAL BUILDING-SOCIETY,

Enrolled in 1855, pursuant to Act of Parliament.

SHARES, £25 each, may be paid in one sum, or by Monthly Subscriptions of 5s. per share.
INVESTING MEMBERS receive 5 per cent. Interest, and have of Surplus Profits.
MONEY ADVANCED ON MORTGAGE, without Premium, any term of years.

Bro. JONATHAN TAYLOR (Doric 933), Secretary.

Offices:—107a, FENCHURCH STREET, E.C.

THE BIRKBECK

Is the only BUILDING SOCIETY whose Annual Receipts exceed ONE MILLION!

How to Purchase a House for Two Guineas per Month, With IMMEDIATE POSSESSION and NO RENT TO PAY. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY, 29 & 30, Southampton-buildings, Chancery-lane.

How to purchase a Plot of Land for Five Shillings per month With Immediate Possession, either for Building or Gardening Purposes, apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY, 29 & 30, Southampton-buildings, Chancery-lane.

How to Invest Money with safety at 4 per cent. Interest, Apply to the Office of the BIRKBECK BANK.

All sums under £50 repayable upon demand. Current accounts opened similar to Ordinary Bankers. Cheque Books supplied. Office hours from 10 till 4 daily, on Mondays from 10 till 9, and on Saturdays from 10 till 2. A small pamphlet, containing full particulars, may be obtained gratis, or sent Post-free on application to FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

TO CONCESSIONAIRES, PROMOTERS, and FINANCIAL AGENTS.—Shares in new undertakings successfully influenced and placed.—Address, in perfect confidence, "Operator," care of Brother John Baptist Wolpert, Advertising Agent, 24, Austin Friars, London, E.C.

MR. RICHARD RING, Solicitor, of 29, Frederick Street, Gray's Inn, begs to inform his Clients that he has opened an Office at 23, WORSHP STREET, FINSBURY, and the Divorce Cases are conducted. Arrangements with Creditors promptly made under the present Bankruptcy Act.

WILLIAM WINSOR, of 8, Miles's-lane, London-bridge, Imports CIGARS of the very Finest Brands only, and Manufactures Cigars from the Choicest Tobaccos. Wholesale and Retail.

Beer in Bottle.

WHITBREAD and CO.'s

London Cooper, Stout and Ales.

Sole Agent, ROBT. BAKER.

Prices and full particulars can be obtained at the Stores, 277, GRAY'S INN ROAD, W.C.

THE SOUTH-WESTERN INDEX LIST of Furnished and Unfurnished HOUSES TO BE LET, and of ESTATES FOR SALE in the SOUTH-WEST of LONDON, is published Monthly by useful work of reference for those seeking Residences, and saving much trouble in obtaining information of properties for disposal in the S.W. district.

MR. JAS. STEVENS, AUCTIONEER & ESTATE AGENT, CLAPHAM COMMON, S.W.

Send postcard with your address, and a copy will be forwarded by return post.

GENTLEMEN'S and BOYS' CLOTHING in all Textures, Fashions, and Prices: OUTFITS, HOSIERY WATERPROOF-CLOTHING and SHIRTS in Long Cloth Linen, and Shrunken Flannel; supplied wholesale or retail by

GANN, JONES AND CO.,

OUTFITTING MANUFACTURERS, 171, FENCHURCH-ST.

Special Discounts for Quantities.

On Parcels amounting to £5, 5 per cent.; £10, 7½ per cent.; £20, 10 per cent.; larger parcels, by arrangement.

THE LONDON MIRROR.

Published every Saturday; price 3d.

The object of this journal is to set forth the claims of the many Religious, Educational, Benevolent, and Prudential Institutions of the United Kingdom, and week by week to report their proceedings, whether as Meetings, Sermons, Anniversaries, or Elections, so as to present these National Institutions to the favour of the Public.

Office, 59, Southampton-row, Russell-square, London, W.C.

"THE FREEMASON" OF ST. LOUIS.

—The Largest Masonic Monthly in the World. Published at St. Louis, Mo., by Geo. FRANK GURLEY, Grand Secretary and Recorder of the four Grand Bodies of Missouri.

The Freemason contains tidings from every quarter of the world and will be found of great advantage to all Masons, especially those interested in American affairs. Terms $2 per annum, and to those who subscribe for the London FREEMASON the price will be $1 50 currency. Postage free.

Subscriptions received by the London FREEMASON.

THE MASONIC TROWEL.—A Masonic

Journal, published on the 15th of every month, by H. G. REYNOLDS, Junr., Springfield, Illinois, United States of America. Sixteen pages large quarto. Circulation 20,000 monthly.

Terms to be obtained, and Subscriptions received, at THE FREEMASON Office, 2, 3, and 4, Little Britain, and forwarded free of charge.

THE JEWISH CHRONICLE,

Price Twopenny.

Office:—43, FINSBURY SQUARE, E.C.

Price One Penny.—The best local Family Paper, published every Saturday morning.

THE HULME and STRETFORD EXPRESS; the only Newspaper specially representing a population of upwards of 200,000 inhabitants, and the ONLY Newspaper published in or for Hulme or Stretdford, and being a NEUTRAL well-conducted Family Paper, reporting all the general news of the week, the Salford and Manchester County Courts, bankruptcy proceedings, the County Police Court, Salford and City Courts, Coroner's Court, Salford, and Moss Side Local Boards, the Guardians, Manchester Town Council, meetings, and all other news, special remarks, &c., and is the recognised journal for the suburbs of Manchester. Circulates amongst the influential and working-class population of Hulme, Stretdford, Chorlton, Salford, Moss Side, Greenheys, Rusholme, Ardwick, and neighbourhood.

Printed and published by the Proprietor, at the "Express" General Printing Office, opposite the Town Hall, Trafford-street, Hulme. May be had of the chief Newsagents, and at the Office.

BALL FAVORS,
NEWEST DESIGNS,
MASONIC DEPOT, 2, 3 & 4, LITTLE BRITAIN.

TESSELATED CARPETING,
FOR
Lodges, Chapters, Encampments, &c.,
Four Feet wide, 3/9 per Yard.
MASONIC DEPOT, LITTLE BRITAIN.

MUSIC

FOR THE

CEREMONY OF ADVANCEMENT

To the Degree of a

MARK MASTER MASON,

Composed by

Brother EDWIN J. CROW, F.C.O., P.G.O. Leicestershire.

Published with the approval of

THE M.W.G.M. Bro. REV. G. R. PORTAL, M.A., whom it is, by his permission, dedicated.

POST FREE, 1/7.

London: GEORGE KENNING, 2, 3 and 4, Little Britain.

"What better theme than Masonry?"

MASONIC SONG.

Words by Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M. 720 and 1216, P.Z. 720,
G.J.O. Mark, W.M. 104 Mark, M.P.S. 14, &c.

Music by Bro. WILHELM GANZ, Grand Organist, P.M. 435
Org. No. 4, and of British Chapter No. 8.

GEORGE KENNING, 2, 3 & 4, Little Britain, and 198, Fleet-street,
London, and 2, Monument-place, Liverpool.
Post-free 25 Stamps.

NOW READY.

PRICE THREE SHILLINGS.

New Masonic Lyric.

"THE FINAL TOAST,"

Written by Bro. D. L. RICHARDSON.

Arranged, with Pianoforte Accompaniment, by Bro. EDWIN J. CROW, Fellow of the College of Organists, S.W. 279,
P.G.O. Leic. and Rutland.

GEORGE KENNING, London and Liverpool; Post-free 19 stamps.

The Great American Masonic Poem.

Now ready, Price Twopenny, or sent post-free to any part of Great Britain or Ireland on receipt of three Penny Postage Stamps.

"KING SOLOMON'S TEMPLE,"

A MASONIC POEM.

By Bro. AUGUSTINE J. H. DUGANNE, of New York City.

Bros. TWEDELL and SONS, Cleveland Printing and Publishing Offices and Masonic Depot, 87, Linthorpe-road, Middlesbrough.
London: GEORGE KENNING.

NOW READY,

Price One Shilling, Second Edition, Revised and Enlarged.

Freemasonry in Relation to Civil Authority and the Family Circle,

By Bro. CHALMERS I. PATON.

THIS work is a perfect handbook of the principles of Freemasonry, founded on the Ancient Charges and Symbols, and will be found to be eminently practical and useful in the vindication and support of the Order.

Members of the Craft wishing copies should order them from

London: GEORGE KENNING, 2, 3 and 4, Little Britain,

Liverpool: 2, Monument-place.

Edinburgh: JOHN MENZIES, 2, Hanover-street.

Dublin: CHARLES HEDGECOCK, 26, Grafton-street.

And may be had of any Bookseller throughout the Kingdom.

NOW READY,

REFLECTED RAYS OF LIGHT
UPON FREEMASONRY:

OR,

The Freemason's Pocket Compendium,

With an Emblematical Frontispiece.

A Hand-Book of the Principles of Freemasonry, and Pocket Vade Mecum and Guide to the various Ceremonies connected with Craft Masonry, so far as the same are allowed to be communicable, in accordance with the principles of the Order.

Price One Shilling, Post-free for Fourteen Stamp

Sold by Bro. Geo. KENNING, 2, 3 & 4, Little Britain, London, E.C.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER

Registered. Masonic Clothier, &c., 225, High Holborn, W.C.

"TRUTH MUST PREVAIL"—Common Sense.

Lamps, Baths, Cutlery, Brushes, Fenders and Fire Irons, Electroplate and Nickel-Silver Goods.

R. D. PARR,

General House-Furnishing Ironmonger,

42, BLACKMAN STREET, BOROUGH,

OFFERS nothing extraordinary, but REALLY GOOD Articles at fair and reasonable prices. He does not keep an "Immense Stock," BUT SPECIALLY LARGE for any person to select from. He does not sell "cheaper than every other house in the Trade," but quite as cheap as ANY.

A visit will, at all times, be very much appreciated.

Mr. JAMES STEVENS,
AUCTIONEER & SURVEYOR,
House and Estate Agent, &c.,
CLAPHAM COMMON, S.

Valuations for Probate or Legacy Duties. Agent to the Imperial Fire and Life Insurance Offices.

J. E. PETERS,
ORNAMENTAL ENGRAVER AND FANCY
ENAMELLER,
41, Clerkenwell Close.

Writing, Engraving of every description, Masonic Emblems Engraved or Enamelled; old Enamelled work repaired; country orders attended to with dispatch.

S. WELCH,
WRITER AND GRAINER,
6, MAIDENHEAD COURT,
ALDERSGATE STREET, E.C.

Bro. JAMES B. SLY,
Silver and Gold Engraver of Arms, Crests, Monograms, and Inscriptions,
9, RATHBONE PLACE, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON, W.

Volunteer Prizes and Presentation Badges engraved with great dispatch. Water Cases Enamelled with Arms and Monograms, Saw-pierced Monograms made in Metal-Gilt, Silver, or Gold, and mounted to Book Covers or Cigar Cases. Masonic emblems made.

DIE-SINKING DEPARTMENT.

Notepaper and Envelope Dies Sunk for Relief, Plain, or Illuminating. Company's Seals and Ornamental Dies cut for Jewellers. Relief and Illuminated Stamping executed. Stationery supplied. Circular and Sample Sheets Free.

REEVES, SON and CO., Printers, Wholesale Stationers, and Account Book Manufacturers, PLAYHOUSE YARD, BLACKFRIARS, LONDON, E.C. Next the "Times" Office.

REEVES, SON and CO., Publishers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Newspaper Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Magazine Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Law Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Commercial Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Show Card Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Label Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Ornamental and Colour Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Bankers' Cheque Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Copper Plate Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Lithographic Printers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Lithographic Artists.

REEVES, SON and CO., Map Printers and Colourers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Designers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Stereotypers.

REEVES, SON and CO., Engravers and Die-Sinkers.

REEVES, SON and CO. offer many advantages to Manufacturers and all persons requiring large quantities of Paper and Printing, as they possess the most approved machinery, as well as every other facility for executing orders entrusted to them in the cheapest and best manner.

As PUBLISHERS, their Offices are very central, and they render accounts monthly.

GLENFIELD STARCH

is the only kind used in Her Majesty's Laundry.

THOSE LADIES who have not yet used the GLENFIELD STARCH, are respectfully solicited to give it a trial, and carefully follow out the directions printed on every package. It is rather more difficult to make than other Starches, but when this is overcome, they will say, like the Queen's Laundress, that it is the finest Starch they ever used. When you ask for the Glenfield, see that you get it.

Printed by Brother JAMES ADLEY REEVES and SON, Playhouse Yard, Blackfriars, in the City of London; and published by the Proprietor, Brother GEORGE KENNING, at his Offices, 2, 3 and 4, Little Britain, and 198, Fleet-street, in the City of London, and 2, Monument-place, Liverpool, in the county of Lancaster.—SATURDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1871.

TABLE OF CONTENIS.

	PAGE
THE FUTURE OF FREEMASONRY IN IRELAND ...	767
"A BODY WITHOUT A HEAD" ...	767
JUBILEE OF THE CELTIC LODGE, EDINBURGH, No. 291 ...	768, 769, & 770
GRAND MASONIC BANQUET AT ALEXANDRIA, DUMBARTONSHIRE ...	770 & 771
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS ...	772
ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS ...	772
H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES ...	772
LIBERTY & LICENCE ...	773 & 774
OBITUARY—
Bro. William Young, P.G.S.B. ...	774
Bro. Jabez Tepper ...	774
Bro. John Ostens Stamp ...	774
ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE—
The Purple in the Provinces ...	774 & 775
Testimonial to the Right Hon. the Earl of Zetland ...	775
Peace! Peace! ...	775
PRESENTATION TO BRO. DR. LORY MARSH ...	775 & 776
PRESENTATION TO BRO. JOHN FRENCH ...	776
THE CRAFT—
Metropolitan ...	776
Provincial ...	776 & 777
ROYAL ARCH—
Metropolitan ...	777
Provincial ...	777
ORDERS OF CHIVALRY—
Red Cross of Constantine ...	777
Knights Templar ...	777
CONSECRATION OF A MARK LODGE (S.C.) AT MARYPORT ...	477
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ...	778 & 779
ADVERTISEMENTS ...	765, 766, 779, & 780

THE FUTURE OF FREEMASONRY
IN IRELAND.

We hope that the attention of the Masonic authorities in Ireland will be directed to the series of articles now being written in THE FREEMASON by the zealous Mason, Brother Joseph H. Woodworth, P.M. No. 245. The fact is, the writer (although he may not know it) is correctly interpreting the thoughts and desires of a large proportion of the intelligent and respectable members of the Fraternity in the "Emerald Isle," and therefore his views should be all the more carefully considered.

We have repeatedly received communications from Irish brethren of known ability and much local influence, containing substantially many of the suggestions and reflections propounded by Bro. Woodworth, and without fear of contradiction we say, emphatically, that the time has come for the Grand Lodge to welcome the advice of its friends who represent the country, as much as those who belong more especially to the city of Dublin and neighbourhood. We feel quite certain that a hearty and generous policy would bear plenty of good fruit, and secure a more thorough and affectionate support from the members scattered over the country than is now manifested. Bro. Woodworth remarks that "the apathy of the Past Masters of the various lodges is the principal difficulty with which those who would gladly help to inaugurate a better state of affairs than now exists have to contend." Unfortunately, there is a rule which debar all P.M.'s from membership of the Grand Lodge who do not obtain a Past Master's certificate, for which a fee of five shillings is exigible. We do not believe in such a qualification for membership at all, and consider every P.M., Masonically a member of the Grand Lodge under which he served his term of office, so long as he subscribes to a lodge under that constitution. This law we consider a stumbling-block to many; not because of the mere fee, which is small, but from the unmasonic principle displayed in requiring what cannot be levied on Masonic grounds.

We also believe the law which enables brethren to be members of the Grand Lodge, with power to vote on all questions in Grand Lodge, without subscribing to any lodge, is most unmasonic, and prejudicial to every right principle or method of representation. It seems absurd, Masonically, to think that a brother who so forgets his obligations as a Craftsman, to refuse payment of a small annual subscription to a Craft lodge, can actually, by payment of a certain sum per annum to Grand Lodge, secure all the privileges of membership that subscribing members to lodges enjoy, so far as respects their connection with Grand Lodge! This is the custom, however, under the Grand Lodge of Ireland, and we believe the members will best conserve the prosperity of that body in the future by repealing such a law.

We wish every success to the Grand Lodge of Ireland, and have for years worked privately to assist several of its members in promoting "pure and ancient Freemasonry" in that beautiful and naturally highly-favoured land; and all we write for now is in response to our esteemed Brother Woodworth's invitation, and to state (what, after all, is generally known), that English brethren rejoice when their brethren in Ireland rejoice, and are ready always to advise, sustain, and aid them, whenever in need of such.

W. J. HUGHAN.

"A BODY WITHOUT A HEAD."

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

I am thoroughly in agreement with you in deploring and condemning the introduction of political questions into French lodges; and although I also regret that the Freemasons of France have abolished the venerated office and title of Grand Master, yet it appears to me the strictures in your editorial of Dec. 2, respecting the latter event, are too severe. The "Grand Orient de France," on 6th Sept., 1871, it is true, "abolit la Grand Maîtrise," but, surely, under the peculiar position of Freemasonry in France, you are scarcely warranted in characterising this event as "monstrous," and that the "result of their violation of our most cherished landmarks will be excommunication from the Craft universal."

I do not come forward as the apologist of the Grand Orient of France, but simply to suggest that, after all is said and done, a more reasonable explanation may be found than the one propounded in your article, and I do so, moreover, because THE FREEMASON has so large a circulation abroad, as well as in this country; and its leading articles, especially, are so generally reliable and conclusive, that, in the main, many Masons will accept the editor's views without inquiry, and having found that able brother so correct in the past, they will receive his opinions at the present time without further question or examination.

I have had the pleasure of corresponding for several years with the "Chef du Secrétariat," Bro. Thevenôt, and have received from him the "Bulletins regularly for some time. From this source, and otherwise, it has always struck me that there are many Masons in France of great promise and ability; but the political struggles of that country are the main cause of their having such little influence on the mass of brethren. When I mention political struggles, it should be remembered that Marshal Magnan was appointed Grand Master, without the consent of the Grand Orient, by Décret of the Emperor—a brother!—on the 11th January, 1862, and was subsequently elected by the Grand Orient 20th May, 1864!!! Of course, Bro. Marshal Magnan's devotion to the Order subsequently, does not in any way justify this Décret, which forced a Grand Master on the Order. General Mellinet was elected Grand Master 9th June, 1865, but would not have been had the Emperor been unfavourable. Bro. Babaud-Larivière, advocate, was chosen Grand Master 10th June, 1870, after a sharp struggle, and although the office was abolished on the 6th September of this year, that same distinguished brother was elected President of the "Grand Orient de France," clearly showing that it was not the wish of the brethren to disturb the previous happy relationship existing between the Grand Master and the Craft in France.

May we not then suppose it is the wish of our French brethren to avoid in the future any Grand Master being thrust on them as heretofore, and to secure such immunity from imperial interference they have abolished the office of Grand Master altogether? The abolition, however, is more nominal than real, as the "President" is, to all intents and purposes, a Grand Master, just as much as the "President" was of the "old lodge at York," England, before A.D. 1725. If the change secures the end desired, may we not, after all, partially commend the brethren, and whilst regretting the change (and even condemning it, as I do most positively), should we not rather turn our exposé to the treatment which has produced the evil in question?

The law, now, is as follows: The "General Assembly" is composed of—1. The presidents, or delegates, of all lodges under the French Constitution. 2. The Council of the Order. The Assembly has the power of nominating the President of the Grand Orient of France, and the other officers are nominated by the Council of the Order. The latter body is composed of thirty-three members, elected by the Assembly for the term of three years. It is declared that "Le Conseil administre les affaires de l'Ordre et rend compte annuellement de ses actes à l'Assemblée Générale. . . . Il propose le projet de budget et le soumet à l'Assemblée," &c., &c. In short, the "Conseil" corresponds with the "Board of General Purposes" under the Grand Lodge of England, and is thoroughly representative of the Fraternity in France. I may state that the French Masons have had but few Grand Masters, only eleven from A.D. 1725 to A.D. 1870!

Let us hope that, under the new régime, the principles of the Craft will be remembered and observed; and allow me to conclude my remarks with the words which so appropriately terminate the leading article under consideration: "The objects of the Masonic Institution are not to be achieved by descending into the arena of political strife, and as the reputation of our Order is at stake, every true Mason will watch with anxiety the future course of the Brotherhood in France."

WILLIAM JAMES HUGHAN,

Truro, Cornwall, 4th Dec., 1871.

JUBILEE of the "CELTIC" LODGE, EDINBURGH, No. 291.

On Tuesday, the 28th November, a Masonic banquet took place in the Ship Hotel, Edinburgh, in celebration of the jubilee of the Lodge "Celtic," Edinburgh and Leith, No. 291. The Right Worshipful Master of the lodge, Bro. D. Kinnear presided, and the Wardens were: Bros. J. H. Inches and George Glen.

Shortly after the lodge had been opened, a deputation from the Grand Lodge of Scotland was announced, headed by the Most Worshipful Grand Master, the Earl of Rosslyn. The deputation entered the lodge in the usual order, and on the appearance of the Grand Master, the brethren rose to their feet and vociferously cheered him. Amongst those who accompanied the Grand Master were: Lord James Murray; Major-General Darby-Griffith, C.B.; Jn. Whyte-Melville, Past Grand Master; Major Hope of Luffness, P.G. Master for Haddingtonshire; Bros. Councillors Wormald and Muirhead; Wm. Mann, S.G. Warden; W. Officer, J.G. Warden; A. Hay, Grand Jeweller; John Laurie, Grand Clerk; M. Mackenzie, Chief Grand Marshal; W. M. Bryce, Grand Tyler; and others.

The Right Worshipful Masters present were: Bros. Abbott, Mary's Chapel, No. 1; Barrie, Canongate Kilwinning, No. 2; Hudson, Canongate and Leith, No. 5; Field, Journeymen, No. 8; Dr. Fraser, St. David's, No. 36; Dr. Loth, St. Andrew's, No. 48; Thomson, St. Stephen's, No. 145; Henry, St. Clair, No. 349; Douglas, Rifle, No. 405; and Captain Allen, St. Kentigern, Penicuik, No. 429.

The Grand Master having taken the chair, rose and said: Right Worshipful Sir, knowing, as I do, that you manage your office in a thoroughly proper manner, allow me to hand you back the mallet, your symbol of office, which you wield with so much credit. (Applause.)

Bro. Kinnear, R.W.M., then took the chair.

The brethren having partaken of cake, fruit, and wine,

The R.W.M. rose and proposed "The Holy Lodge of St. John," which was drunk in silence.

The R.W.M. then gave "The Queen, God bless her," which was received with much applause. The brethren having sung the "Queen's Anthem,"

The Past Grand Master, Bro. C. Whyte-Melville gave "The Great Steward of Scotland, Patron of Scottish Masonry, the Princess of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family." (Loud applause.) He said: Most Worshipful Grand Sir, Right Worshipful Grand Master, Wardens, and Brethren, I was quite sure, as loyal Masons, you would receive this toast in the manner you have done. You all remember the Prince when he was amongst you in this city, and the public act which he performed on that occasion. I know, therefore, that you all regret and sympathise with His Royal Highness in the illness which has overtaken him; but I hope that, by God's providence, he will come through it. I hope he will have a speedy recovery, and for many years to come be an honour to the Craft. (Loud cheers.)

The toast was drunk with all the honours, the orchestra playing "The Prince of Wales' Anthem."

Bro. Lord James Murray proposed "The Navy, Army, Militia, and Volunteers." He said: I have been called upon to propose this toast rather unexpectedly, but I need say nothing, as it carries its own recommendation with it. But he was sure all would agree with him, that our forces, when called upon, would do in the future as they had done in the past. (Applause.)

The toast having been drunk with the usual honours, and the "British Grenadiers" played by the orchestra,

Bro. Major-General Darby-Griffith, C.B., rose to reply, and was received with loud applause. He said: Most Worshipful G. Sir, Rt. Worshipful Master, Wardens, and Brethren, I do not know whether you expect me to return thanks for the navy, militia, and volunteers. (Laughter.) It would alter my speech if I have. (Laughter.) Is there any militia present? None. (Laughter.) Volunteers? Plenty. (Laughter.) For the navy I have great pleasure in returning thanks. In former days our ships were made of wood, and floated; but now they were made of iron, and sank. With regard to the present army, it is in a state of transition, not having had time to recover from disestablishment. (Laughter.) It must have required long heads to frame the present warrants, and I only hope it may not require still longer ones to make the new arrangements answer. (Laughter.) We have one certain good guarantee for the future of the army: His Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge still presiding and looking after the interests of the army, and giving his valuable assistance to the War Minister. (Applause.) In speaking of the army under the old purchase system, which carried the glory of our country into many distant lands, I trust I may be allowed to pay a warm tribute of admiration to the gallant Scotch Horse now in Edinburgh, with whom I was for so many years associated. In all the wars they were engaged they brilliantly distinguished themselves, while in time of peace at home, ready for duty at a moment's warning, yet good and quiet citizens in quarters, as a letter from Lord Provost Lawson and the magistrates bore strong testimony of when the Greys left your splendid city in 1863, after a sojourn of two years. (Applause.) In conclusion, I thank the W.M. for the kind way in which he proposed my health, and the manner in which you received it. (Applause.)

The song "O'er Nelson's Tomb," having been sung,

The R.W.M. proposed "The Grand Lodges of England and Ireland," which toast was enthusiastically received.

Bro. Dr. Burton replied on behalf of the Grand Lodge of England in a few appropriate remarks.

Bro. McCormick responded for the Grand Lodge of Ireland. He said that he had come direct from Dublin to pay homage to that jubilee, as he felt it to be his duty to be present, and on behalf of the Grand Lodge of Ireland he begged to thank them. They all knew they had dissension in that unhappy country, and no one knew the difficulties the Craft had to encounter there, but they had God on their side and would succeed. (Applause.) Two years ago they had no schools, now they had two, male and female, of which he was governor. When the Boys' School was opened they had an empty treasury, but now they had £7,000. (Applause.) One brother, who died some time ago, had left them a legacy of £500. (Applause.)

A trio having been performed by Bros. Bridgman, Hope, and Poyser.

The Right Worshipful Master proposed "The Grand Lodge of Scotland and the Earl of Rosslyn, M.W. Grand Master Mason," amid prolonged applause. On quietness being restored, he said: I was perfectly sure you would receive the toast in an enthusiastic manner, his lordship being so thoroughly known to every lodge in Scotland, he might say to the three Crafts. (Applause.) I am sure every one present must regret the severe cold under which his lordship was at present suffering, but he trusted he would soon be better. (Applause.) No one can feel more grateful than I do for the honour conferred on this lodge by the large assemblage of brethren who have honoured us with their presence to-night. It is therefore fitting that at this early period of the evening the toast should be given of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. (Applause.) There the most celebrated members of the Craft have from an early period of the history of the country been assembled together to consider the interests and promote the objects of Freemasonry, and they have, I venture to say, accumulated a larger amount of independent spirit and intelligence than in any similar convocation in our land. (Applause.) I am sure that I carry along with me the conviction of every one present when I say that, at this moment, some of the ablest men in Scotland are members of the Grand Lodge, while those who are at present its office-bearers are as much honoured beyond its pale as by those who are privileged to step within and enjoy that happy communion and fellowship by which the meetings of its associated brothers are characterised. (Applause.) It would be quite useless for me to traverse the series of those distinguished names—connected as they are, not only with the Institution we all hold so dear, but with so many important associations which bring them into connection with the general public. In such a gathering as ours nothing could be more superfluous. I shall therefore pass from those general considerations suggested by the first portion of my toast to that specific one by which it is closed. But before doing so perhaps you and the brethren present will allow me to congratulate the Grand Lodge of Scotland in having got your consent to continue in the chair, which you so ably fill, and to the entire satisfaction of all Freemasons. (Applause.) As I expect to have the pleasure of being at your banquet on Thursday first, with a large deputation from this lodge, I shall not say more thereanent at present. The Grand Lodge of Scotland is pre-eminently fortunate in having for its Master, a nobleman who is the representative descendant of a great and illustrious family famous for the part its members have played in the political and social development of their country throughout the annals of Scottish story from a very early time. (Applause.) The Earls of Rosslyn have attracted the historians by the exhibition of a prowess equal to that of their bravest aristocratic compeers. The days of Chivalry, in the proper sense of the term, have now gone by, but there is still ample scope for that manliness and ability which should always accompany high birth both in the promotion of those schemes of popular improvement and practical amelioration which the march of general enlightenment has now made much more imperative than ever. (Applause.) Regarding, as I do, the Fraternity of Freemasons as having been through all times the leaders of free thought and the determined foes of oppression, I have no hesitation in saying that the way in which they direct their councils are worthy of the highest honour as brethren and men. When, therefore, I ask you to connect with the toast the name of the distinguished nobleman who occupies the highest position in the Grand Lodge of Scotland, and has so highly honoured us with his presence and kindness to-night, I know that your response will be no less hearty than unanimous, and that with the enthusiasm which all true Masons feel for the Grand Lodge and our much-esteemed Grand Master, the Earl of Rosslyn, you will now drink to the prosperity of the one and the happiness and long life of the other. (Loud applause.) [The toast was drunk with full Masonic honours.]

Bro. McCormick having sung "The Grand Lodge above,"

The Most Worshipful the Grand Master rose amid enthusiastic applause, and said: Right Worshipful Sir, Wardens, and Brethren, after listening to the very beautiful song which has just been sung, which has afforded me so much profit and pleasure, I hardly know how I can speak to a matter-of-fact toast, like the present. It is, however, a great satisfaction to me to be present on this occasion. (Applause.) Meetings of that kind were precious occasions, as it gave evidence of increased prosperity. It showed that the lodge was a pillar of support upon which a Grand Master could reckon. Many of the neutral world had termed the Freemasons a socialistic body, but he could safely say it was one of the most loyal bodies in the world. (Applause.) On all occasions I have experienced the most unflinching loyalty from the Celtic Lodge, and also from all other lodges. (Applause.) As you all know the present satisfactory state of the Grand Lodge, it will be interesting for you also to know how stood the Grand Lodge fifty years ago. We all had our shortcomings, but the comparison which I am going to make also show that we also had our congratulations. In 1821 the number of Masons reported to Grand Lodge as having seen the light was 823, and in the year 1870, 3,000. (Applause.) That was a gratifying fact, and showed a steady increase. Since 1821, 226 charters had been granted, and during the past ten years 100 new lodges had been opened. In 1821 there were 297 lodges at home and 14 abroad. In 1871, 399 at home and 108 abroad,

In 1821 they had 21 Provincial Grand Masters at home and abroad, and in 1871, 31 at home and 14 abroad. (Applause.) I am quite sure such a statement must be gratifying to you. Masonry has had its ups and downs during the past fifty years, and I hope Bro. M'Cormick's observations regarding the Masonic schools in Ireland will induce us to do likewise. If such things can be done in Ireland, I can see no reason why they should not be done in Scotland. So lamentably behind have we been with these institutions that we ought to hang our heads with shame. Brethren, assist me to put an end to this state of things. (Applause.) I am sure there is no want of charity and benevolence among all the brethren, and I do sincerely hope, before long this state of things will be effectually remedied. The Grand Master concluded, amid loud applause, by thanking the brethren for the honour they had done him.

Bro. J. Dundas Grant proposed "The Past Grand Masters and Office-bearers of the Grand Lodge." He said: It is a pleasing task for me to propose this toast, as the annals of the Grand Lodge showed that the office-bearers included those noblemen who were illustrious in the annals of the country, and also illustrious in the annals of Masonry. (Applause.) Amongst them was Past G. Master the Earl of Dalhousie—(applause)—a brother and nobleman of whom every one was proud. For a great many years he had done his utmost in the cause of education and for the progress of the realm, and had played no unimportant part in the destinies of the country. I beg to couple the toast with the name of Bro. Whyte-Melville, Past Grand Master, who was one of the most industrious of those who had occupied the position of Grand Master. I am sure you will drink it with the utmost cordiality. (Applause.) [The toast was drunk with all the honours.]

The orchestra having performed "Auld Robin Grey,"

Bro. Whyte-Melville rose, amid applause, to reply. He said: Grand Master, Right Worshipful Master, Wardens, and Brethren, I beg to return you, in name of the Past Grand Masters and office-bearers, our sincere thanks for the manner in which you have received the toast, and I can assure you I feel very grateful in being allowed to be present at this jubilee ceremony. There are now very few Past Grand Masters alive in Scotland, which may be attributed to their very long tenure of office. The Duke of Athole was twenty-one years in office. There are, at present, five Past Grand Masters, and I beg, in their name, to thank you again most cordially for the very kind manner in which you have received the toast. I think three years' tenure of office long enough, as it brought into office many able and distinguished men, as witness our present Grand Master. (Loud applause.) I will cordially support the scheme he is about to bring before the Grand Lodge. In conclusion, I beg to congratulate the R.W.M. for being so fortunate as to possess the chair on so auspicious an occasion.

The Grand Master again rose, and proposed "Prosperity to the Celtic Lodge, and the Health of the Right Worshipful Master," amid loud applause. He said: Right Worshipful Master and Brethren, I am sure you will consider this the toast of the evening. I am also quite sure that, although you are about to drink your own good health, which is to celebrate this auspicious occasion, it is not everybody to whom the good fortune falls to possess the chair of a lodge on the occasion of a jubilee, and if anything could tend more than another to promote the success of this happy meeting, it is to see you occupying the chair yourself, Right Worshipful Sir. (Applause.) When a lodge has completed fifty years of its existence, there is something brought to mind—it is, How has the time passed? We find ourselves, on reflection, in the position of a man who is taking a journey, and thinks it time to turn round and survey the beauty of the scenery through which he has passed. (Cheers.) You may gladly look back, and view the scenery passed by you, for there is no disgraceful mark upon it; you have passed the time most profitably and successfully. Let me give you a few notes of what this lodge has gone through during that time. There is one peculiar episode connected with the past, and that is, that the first individual who was made in this lodge is still alive. (Applause.) And to show that the lodge was a lodge of good fellows, special mention is made of him in your minutes; not only was he a respectable man, but he retailed Highland whisky. (Laughter and applause.) There could be no better certificate as to the quality of his whisky. (Laughter.) I also find that the lodge was noted for good living and good dressing, for I find £50 entered for each dress, sash, and apron. In the Masonic business of the lodge, I find my worthy grandfather, the Earl of Rosslyn, took a prominent part, for he and the Duke of Argyle were the Past Grand Masters present on several occasions. It was most agreeable to look back on the past, for all the transactions of the lodge redounded to its credit and good name. The worthy brother your Right Worshipful Master has been since the year 1848 a member of Grand Lodge, and for a quarter of a century a Celt. As to the advantage of such gatherings as these, I think they are priceless. These meetings are the social spirit of Masonry, and a credit to the Craft. I hope many other celebrations such as this will take place, and may other lodges point to so brilliant a role of fame as the Celtic. (Loud applause.)

The toast having been received with all the honours, the following song, composed for the occasion by Bro. Alexander MacLagan, was sung by Bro. Councillor Wormald:—

SUCCESS TO OUR BRAVE CELTIC MEN.

Time—"Will ye no come back again?"

Hail! brother Craftsmen, great and free
Come crown our glorious "Jubilee!"
Come let us toast with, three times three,
"Success to our brave Celtic men!"
Success to our brave Celtic men!
Success to our brave Celtic men!
Come let us toast, with three times three,
"Success to our brave Celtic men!"

They still are faithful, heart and hand,
Still true to fame, and native land,
To guard her honours, great and grand,
So dear to our brave Celtic men!
So dear to our brave Celtic men!
So dear to our brave Celtic men!
To guard her honours, great and grand,
So dear to our brave Celtic men!

When standing on Masonic ground
Let no unworthy spot be found
Let friendship, truth, and love abound,
To crown our gallant Celtic men!
To crown our gallant Celtic men!
To crown our gallant Celtic men!
Let friendship, truth, and love abound,
To crown our gallant Celtic men!

We hail this night a chieftain here,
Brave Rosslyn! to his country dear!
We'll toast his health, with cheer on cheer,
Like Masons and true Celtic men!
Like Masons and true Celtic men!
Like Masons and true Celtic men!
We'll toast his health, with cheer on cheer,
Like Masons and true Celtic men!

Lo! fifty years by seal and sign,
We prove our Origin Divine!
May our Great Light for ever shine!
Success to our brave Celtic men!
Success to our brave Celtic men!
Success to our brave Celtic men!
May our Great Light for ever shine!
Success to our brave Celtic men!

The Right Worshipful Master Bro. Kinnear returned thanks for the toast which the Grand Master had given. He said: This is a proud night for the Celtic, especially when they find so many eminent brethren present assisting to celebrate so important an event in our history. During the past fifty years the number of members initiated in this lodge has been 1,408 and the number affiliated 700, which made a total of 2,108 (applause), or an average of forty-two per year. The number of Masters have been twenty-five including myself. As the Grand Master is labouring under a severe cold, and will soon have to leave us, I will not take up the time of this meeting. I beg, Most Worshipful Grand Master, to return you my most sincere thanks, and also to the members of Grand Lodge for their presence on this occasion.

Bro. Mann, S.G.W., proposed "The Provincial Grand Masters." He said: In the first place, will you allow me to observe that I am delighted with this meeting, and I consider great credit is due to the Celts who made the arrangements. (Applause.) I am also delighted to know its prosperity, and to learn the gratifying fact that through this lodge 1,400 men had seen the light and 700 affiliated from other lodges. It was interesting to look back into the roll of Prov. Grand Masters, as it shows that the sons take up the Craft of their fathers. We have two present, one of them the oldest and the other the youngest Prov. G.M. Without taking up more time, I propose the toast, and I leave it to Bros. White-Melville and Hope which of them will reply.

The toast having received all the honours, Bro. Hope, in a few appropriate remarks, returned thanks for the honour done to him.

Bro. J. Whyte-Melville proposed "The Past Masters and Office-bearers of the Celtic Lodge," which was received with applause. He said: I believe I am selected for this toast in consequence of being one of the oldest living members of the lodge, and consequently able to speak of the Past Masters. I hold a list of them, and I find that out of the twenty-four who have passed the chair, eleven have gone to the Grand Lodge above. I need not dwell on the efficient and able manner in which the affairs of this lodge have been hitherto conducted, but will simply couple the toast with the name of Bro. Hay. (Applause.)

The toast having been drunk with all the honours,

Bro. A. Hay, Grand Jeweller, in reply, said: It is with no ordinary feelings of pleasure that on this, the jubilee night of our mother lodge, on the part of the other Past Masters and myself, I have to return our heartfelt thanks for the honour which has just been conferred upon us, an honour all the more enhanced by having our healths proposed by such a valued friend as Past Grand Master Bro. Whyte-Melville, and by the kind terms in which he has spoken of that body of office-bearers to which we are proud to belong. Although comparatively a young lodge, the Celtic can lay claim to having done some little service to the state since its institution, fifty years ago, both as regards the number of brethren it has enrolled under its banner, and the high position it has all along maintained among the lodges in the metropolitan district. There are now, alas! few of the brethren alive who took an active part in the consecrating of the lodge; but we still hear old members of other lodges speak with enthusiasm of the gorgeous appearance the Celts made, in their Highland costume, when George IV. visited Scotland in 1822, and with what pride they marched up the rugged steps of the Calton-hill, headed by their bagpipes, to assist in laying the foundation-stone of the national monument there. (Applause.) Fifty years have passed since our first Master, Brother Ferney, opened his lodge, and during that period the Cabinets of the world have deliberated, and with what results? Kingdoms, and dynasties, and institutions have been rent asunder, or have tottered to their fall, and many of them are but rising to fall again. Fifty years have rolled past in Masonry too, and the Grand Lodges of the world have deliberated, and in glorious unity, they are proving by ever-recurring centenaries and jubilees such as this, that our foundations are stronger than those of adamant, and that the zenith of our power shall only have been touched when there are no more votaries to kneel at her shrine—when, in a word, "Man to man, the wide world o'er, shall brothers be." (Applause.) As a lodge, the Celtic can also claim to having proved itself an energetic and faithful adherent to the Grand Lodge of Scotland, and on all occasions when summoned to rally round our chiefs—though not, as in days of yore, in answer to the fiery cross, amid the mountains and glens of our native land, to win perishable glory at the dagger's point, and leave desolation where we found peace—but, in more civilised days, to lay the foundation-stones of edifices and temples destined for the improvement, embellishment, and philanthropy of our native country, and to consecrate institutions, not intended for the extension of narrow-minded creeds, but for the promotion of those glorious principles, Brotherly Love, Relief and Truth, throughout the world. On such occasions the Celts have ne'er been wanting, when the muster-roll was called we have ever been ready to girt ourselves for the fray, and our greatest ambition has always been to support our Grand Masters in such a manner as would bring no discredit on the Craft. (Cheers.) And now, Most Worshipful Sir, on this the night of our jubilee, we who have held its helm in days gone by rejoice that we have been privileged to be present at the re-launching of the good ship Celtic on what we trust will prove another prosperous and happy voyage, and of wafting it onwards and upwards to still higher honours than it has ever yet attained. We rejoice that the rallying-cry of the Celts should have been answered by the large attendance by which you are this night supported; we rejoice to see brethren like Lord James Murray, General Darby-Griffith, and others, though not members of the lodge, coming from far distances to do us honor; we rejoice to see the Grand Lodge itself, led, so to speak, by that veteran of the Craft and our faithful friend, Brother John Whyte-Melville; but, above all, we rejoice that we have this evening among us one of the most eloquent, one of the most hospitable and deservedly popular Grand Masters that ever filled the Masonic throne of Scotland. (Loud and prolonged applause.)

After a solo upon the flute by Bro. Poyser,

The Master asked permission to depart from the programme, as the Grand Master wished to retire. He therefore called upon Major-General Darby-Griffith, who rose and proposed "The Countess of Rosslyn and the ladies," for whom the Grand Master replied in a felicitous manner.

Bro. Councillor Wormald proposed "Freemasonry all over the World." He said: Most Worshipful Grand Master, Right Worshipful Masters, and Brethren, after the eloquent addresses to which you have already listened at this auspicious and joyous jubilee of our Celtic Lodge, I cannot expect that any poor words of mine will interest you. But whatever may be lacking in the speech, is fully compensated for in the toast, and for it I claim a bumper from all true loyal Masons. The toast embodies within itself a fact and a compliment. It contains a fact; viz., that Freemasonry exists all over the world. Now "facts are chieftains that winna ding, and canna be disputed," and my toast is the simple announcement of a fact known to all our Craft, and which defies contradiction. Wherever the light of civilisation has dawned, there Freemasonry has taken root, and brought forth its fruit; and wherever the culture of civilisation has been deepest and most thorough, there the fruit of Freemasonry has been most abundant and beneficent. (Applause.) But my toast contains a compliment, as well as a fact. "Freemasonry all over the world," is the highest tribute of respect that could possibly be paid to the principles of Freemasonry. A falsehood, a sham, or a delusion may, and do, sometimes succeed within certain restricted limits of space and time, but sooner or later the bubble bursts, and the lie, the sham, and the delusion, with their respective prophets—

Go down to the dull earth from which they sprung, Unwept, unhonoured, and unsung.

(Applause.) But this is in no sense true of our beloved Freemasonry. Coming down to us through the misty ages of the past—a past which reaches well nigh back to the limit of the chronicled history of the world, it still lives in the midst of us, and is as fresh and young and vigorous on this evening of our Celtic jubilee, as when Solomon laid the foundation of the Temple at Jerusalem. (Cheers.) We are thus constrained to ask: What is it that gives Freemasonry the power of perpetuating and diffusing itself in perennial bloom and freshness—not only renewing its youth, but multiplying its offspring like the eagle? Is it the happy social feeling and harmony, the bonhomie and good-fellowship, the jollity and fun, which are the invariable characteristics of our festive gatherings? I answer, No; though these things, in this iron age, this work-a-day world of incessant toil and feverish excitement, are not only not to be despised, but rather welcomed. A larger infusion of the social element of our Craft amongst all classes of society would make lives longer as well as happier. But the real secret of the perpetuity and diffusion of Freemasonry is to be found in the divine origin of our principles, and whatever is divine is suited to all ages, all peoples, all climes, all circumstances. These principles are Truth, Justice, and Brotherhood. (Applause.) First, Truth. Freemasonry requires of all her members an unswerving allegiance to truth—eternal, unchangeable truth. Not a truth that is external to us, but truth within us, manifesting itself in deed as well as word. It is required of all us that our plans and schemes, and ambitions, and acquirements should all be adjusted by the square of truth. Justice is the next fundamental principle of our Craft; it is required of us that we be just to ourselves, just to our families, just to our friends, just to our neighbours, just to our country, just to humanity. All our deeds and words, thoughts and feelings, must be brought to the test of the plumb-line of justice, or we are bastards and aliens from the commonwealth of Masonry. Brotherhood is the third and last, but not least, of the trinity of our fundamental principles. This I regard as the crowning principle of our Craft—the chief cornerstone of our noble superstructure. The brotherhood of Freemasonry is not a mere sentimental notion, but a living active principle, which brings together and binds together the sovereign and the subject, the peer and the peasant, the ruler and those who are ruled, the master and workman, the teacher and the taught. Nor is our Freemasonry a mere recognition of the rights of brotherhood; it also acknowledges the claims of brotherhood. Thus ever diffusing charity to the destitute, comfort to the disconsolate, sympathy to the bereaved, hope to the desponding, and joy to the broken-hearted:—

The quality of mercy is not strained,
It droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place beneath; it is twice bless'd—
It blesseth him that gives and him that takes;
'Tis mightiest in the mightiest; it becomes
The throned monarch better than his crown.

(Applause.) Or as St. Paul has described it:—"Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up, doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil; rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth; beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things: charity never faileth." (Applause.) These, brethren, are the principles, and these the fruits of Freemasonry all over the world. Need we wonder, then, that our late brother, Robert Burns, should have concluded the grandest song he ever wrote, with a prayer for the universal diffusion of our principles, in the ever-memorable and stirring words:—

Then let us pray that come what may,
As come it will for a' that,
When man to man, the whole world o'er,
Shall brothers be for a' that.

The toast was drunk with all the honours.

A duet having been performed by Bros. Bridgman and Hope,

The R.W.M. rose and proposed "The Right Worshipful Masters of the metropolitan lodges," and briefly alluded to the gratification he felt in seeing so many present to assist him in celebrating their jubilee.

Bro. Abbott R.W.M. of Mary's Chapel, No. 1, in elegant terms replied on behalf of himself and the other R.W. Masters present, and took occasion to congratulate the Celtic Lodge on the great success which had attended their jubilee festival.

The R.W.M. then proposed "Visiting brethren from a distance," which was responded to by Lord James Murray.

A number of complimentary toasts having been given, the R.W.M. proposed "Happy to meet, sorry to part, and happy to meet again," and the proceedings of a very happy evening terminated.

GRAND MASONIC BANQUET AT ALEXANDRIA, DUMBARTONSHIRE.

The seventh anniversary of the Alexandria and Bonhill St. Andrew's Royal Arch Lodge, No. 321, was celebrated on Friday week, by a grand banquet and ball, in the Public Hall, Alexandria, Dumbartonshire, which was most tastefully decorated with evergreens, flowers, &c., while conspicuously displayed were various of the mottoes and signs emblematical of, and peculiar to, the Masonic Fraternity. Shortly after eight o'clock the guests took their seats at the tables groaning under a load of all that was good and dainty, and once praise had been engaged in and a blessing asked, forks and knives were smartly handled, and the company "fell to" as only "merry Masons" and their friends can. The supper was indeed first-rate, and timely and admirably served, which fact called forth the unqualified praise of the large assemblage, not to speak of the credit which redounded to the enterprising purveyor Mr. James Bardsley.

The chair was worthily occupied by Bro. James Mushet, R.W.M. of the lodge; the duties of croupier being able discharged by Bro. William Graham, P.M. After supper,

The Chairman said: I have now, according to the programme, to make a few remarks preliminary to the business of the evening, and first I would say we would be very ungrateful if we did not acknowledge that the banquet to-night was really a dainty dish fit to be set before a king. It is said to the typical of the Englishman that, after having eaten and drunk, his soul begins to lift itself up and he bursts forth in a speech. We are more homely in Scotland; we simply say, "when the bags are fu' the pipes get up." (Laughter.) As a general rule, however, few succeed in this kind of dinner or supper speech-making, and I am afraid I will not be an exception to the general rule. No doubt the sight of such a numerous company is very cheering, and should make one almost feel happy in itself, as it is a sure evidence of the continued prosperity of our lodge, and I have to congratulate you on the very gay and happy appearance of this meeting. This, I believe, is the seventh anniversary of our lodge, and each year seems to surpass its predecessor in a more flourishing turn-out. (Applause.) Your chairman was afraid last year that our Masonic tree may have attained its greatest growth as regards our success in a locality so limited as this, but I am stronger of opinion, and the more I study Freemasonry I am the more convinced that Masons have only to act up to their glorious lights to cause it 'o take deeper root and grow still larger and larger so that not to be a Freemason will be a term of reproach as marking out the man unworthy of the fraternal regards of a brother. (Loud cheers.) The statistics which I have received from your Secretary are very encouraging. Throughout the past year we have had twenty-five meetings and have added twenty-nine members; twenty-four to the Fraternity and five affiliated, thus increasing our roll to 270. Last year it stood 241; and after an expenditure of £27 4s. 1d. we have still at our credit a balance of £79 18s. 5d., being an increase to our reserve fund of £9 after defraying all expenses. (Loud cheers.) There has been nothing very striking in the history of Masonry, especially of a local interest, during the last year, excepting its continued and growing prosperity and the increased hold it has obtained on the minds of the people, among the best or greatest of the land as well as the highest in rank, from royalty downwards. The earnest desire exhibited to cement by Masonic charity the different ranks of the people on a more equal footing is a far better sign of the progress of the times than the mere addition of numbers. Bro. A. O. Ewing last anniversary said: "But after all what availed the ordinary branches of education unless the people could be imbued with those high and holy principles which were the distinguishing feature of the Masonic Fraternity." At the present time, when our Legislature and the public generally are full of the subject of education, it may be well to remember that Freemasonry plays a not unimportant part among the many teachers of mankind; and that it advances claims as a mortal Institution, which ought to be more widely acknowledged and understood. "Light for the mind" is the burden of the cry of our time; illuminate the dismal abodes of ignorance, and send the torch of wisdom into the darkest recesses of men's heart. It is the mission of every true Mason to assist in dispelling the clouds of ignorance and error; it is his duty to aid the development of reason and truth, and to foster the growth of learning. (Applause.) An uneducated man can have but little sympathy with ceremonies and allegories, which must be carefully studied before they can be understood and properly valued. It is like leading a blind man into a well-cultivated garden—every nook and corner of which is filled with different varieties of variegated leaf, and gorgeously tinted flower, and exquisitely beautiful form—and expecting that he can admire the various colours or appreciate the lovely shades which are everywhere around him. Freemasonry draws men so firmly together that the very word itself has become a household one for strong loving attachment, and is founded on the purest principles of truth, honour, and virtue. (Cheers.) That it stands the test of actual practice between man and man has often been experienced, and often referred to. In war men have owed their lives in it; in sickness they have received attendance and care; in desolate countries they have been rescued and assisted. It has been recorded in the late war between the Germans and French that the unlifted arm has been arrested when prepared to take a foeman's life—that wounded soldiers lying on the ground, and still in the deadly struggle, have had their passions lulled and brotherly emotion kindled by a single sign or word—and also that some of the wounded soldiers found the tenderest nursing from those who had been their bitterest enemies. Well may it be said—and said truly—behold these Masons! how they love one another! (Cheers.) Masonry, too, is above sectarian divisions and political factions, and may it long continue to know among its members no distinction of creed, person, or party, but that it preserve its place as a noble, lofty, and pure ground, where we may all try to make ourselves wiser and better, as well as do the same to others. To help us in our course we have a light to guide us, in sight of which no Mason can lose his way. I think it was a certain Baron Alderson who, when asked how long a sermon should be, replied, "Twenty minutes, with a leaning to the side of mercy." I think the Chairman's remarks should not extend to a fourth of that time, and perhaps I should best carry out the idea by sitting down at once; but I should like before doing so to say a word or two to the ladies, who have so numerously honoured us with their most gracious presence. (Cheers.) I am afraid many of you ladies have had some little fear of your husbands, brothers, or lovers perhaps, becoming Freemasons, as if some mysterious power would henceforth wrap their hearts and affections from your gaze, for which it would be utterly hopeless to seek a means to unveil. You may cease having the slightest fear or doubt upon the matter. There are more mysterious tales told about Masons than they themselves know of. I tell you truly, and on the word of a Mason, that the guiding principle of our Order is the very air ye yourselves breathe—love. In a Freemason your friend or relation has found a brother, who will not scruple to put forth a brother's love to warn him by any impending danger, to assist him in warding it off, and generally to stand shoulder to shoulder as brethren should to resist the attacks sometimes made by an unfeeling and heartless world. Wherever the principles of our beloved Order are carried out, and men act up to their profession, their actions are like the rays of the glorious Ruler of day, diffusing light and warmth to all around, and dissipating and dispelling the selfish coldness of human beings, and the hateful bigotry of sect and party. (Cheers.) Freemasons are one in heart as well as in sign and word—reverencing the Word of their common Father, who has said, "Love thy neighbour as thyself." But it is often asked, why so much mystery and guardedness and exclusiveness about it? Let me tell you, then, the secret—and I would advise every Mason present also to give good heed to it—the secret is this, "Seek and ye shall find." There is no more mystery in it than in your Bible, beyond such tokens as are necessary to prevent us being imposed upon by strangers, there is nothing in masonry opposed to the Bible, nor is there anything prejudicial to the religion of any man. If a man acts up to the spirit of Masonry, he must of necessity become a better citizen, a better husband and father, a better man altogether; and, ladies, will you allow me to say what I am certain you will not object to, he will become a more devoted, ardent, constant and true lover. (Cheers.)

The Chairman then gave the first toast on the programme, "The Queen and Craft."

The next part of the proceedings was of a very pleasant nature, being the presentation of various handsome articles to the retiring W.M. In making the presentation,

The Chairman said: I have now to propose for your acceptance the health of the retiring Worshipful Master, Bro. Wm. Graham. I cannot speak in too high terms of his Masonic enthusiasm and industry in the discharge of the Mastership for the last two years, as well as his eminent services in discharging the onerous duties of Secretaryship for a considerable time previous. The results of his labours have tended much to the honour and prosperity of the lodge, which, of course, is a high gratification to all its sons. I would not be doing justice to Bro. Graham were I to characterise him as one who had merely done his duty, however arduous that might be; but he has done much more, as many of you can testify to the handsome way in which he has given his time and services wherever or whenever good could be done. (Loud cheers.) No. 321 felt this and recognised it, and their desire was to testify in some appropriate manner their sense of his worth and services; and I am happy to say they easily found the means to do so, each brother being more anxious than his neighbour to give. It was not a case of grumbling subscription, or of giving because it could not well be helped, but each felt it to be a pleasure to have the opportunity. We have three testimonials, which I hope Bro. Graham will consider worthy of his acceptance, and of which I will now ask his acceptance. The first is the handsome timepiece standing on the platform, the second, this beautiful Master's jewel, and the third, a gold Albert and locket. May you long be spared worthily to use them. (Cheers.) Let me say in conclusion that I am proud that it has fallen to my lot to be the presenter of these testimonials, for no one more highly appreciates the services of Bro. Graham. I again give you success and health to Bro. Graham, and may he always meet his friends on the level and part on the square. (Cheers.)

Bro. Graham acknowledged the gifts as follows: Mr. Chairman, ladies, and brethren, my feelings at the present moment, arising from your kindness, can be more easily imagined than described. Every circumstance connected with these beautiful and valuable articles, presented by Bro. Mushet in such flattering terms, tends to raise them far above the level of my conception. The thought of such reward was as foreign on my part as the movement has been successful on yours. The position I had the honour of filling for the last two years and the other offices I have occupied, the performance of the duties connected with them was to me but a labour of love. (Applause.) The Institution whose aim is the advancement morally and intellectually of its members, and which is further calculated to enforce the duties of brotherly love and charity, and to imprint on the memory the noblest principles that can adorn the human mind, such an Institution may well command the undivided attention of its office-bearers. (Cheers.) For this I have laboured; but your appreciation of my services is immeasurably too high; however, I cannot but feel more profoundly the honour it has pleased you to confer. To every subscriber to these beautiful articles I pour out my heart of thanks; but when this is done and the cup replaced, a few drops, like the tears of speechless love, will trickle back to rest at the bottom, and there sparkle till the hour that terminates my earthly career shall have arrived. (Loud applause.) In retiring from the position of R.W.M. of this lodge, may the laurels with which you have been pleased to crown me so stimulate me not only to continue to act faithfully for every good cause, but to go on to much more and much better. (Cheers.) Brethren, I again tender you my warmest thanks for these tokens of your appreciation and esteem, which I highly value, and to the committee for their labour in the matter. (Cheers.)

The Croupier now said: Mr. Chairman, ladies, and brethren, the toast which the Committee has given me to propose is one that requires no eulogium by way of recommending it to you for an enthusiastic response. It is "The three Grand Lodges—England, Ireland, and Scotland." (Cheers.) Every brother will agree with me in saying that each in their several countries have important duties to perform. In the past, by their due observance of the interests of the Craft, and promulgating and practising every principle that would tend to elevate our noble Fraternity, they have raised the status of our Craft far above anything in the annals of Freemasonry. I therefore ask you, Mr. Chairman and brethren, to join me in the toast, and wishing that we may long have such men at the head of our glorious Order; and long may they protect the ancient landmarks, and further the interests of Masonry, and may they always have good and honest brethren to honour and support them. He begged to couple the name of Bro. James Wallace, a member of the Grand Lodge Committee, with the toast. (Loud cheering.)

Bro. Wallace acknowledged the toast in a few general observations.

The Chairman now called for a bumper in honour of their Provincial Grand Master, Bro. Smollett. He said: Bro. Alex. Smollett is so well known I may say to every inhabitant of the Vale for his characteristic Masonic deportment, that I am certain it is not in the least necessary to preface the toast with any remarks of mine. As love begets love, so Bro. Smollett's warm and kindly charity makes him beloved by all. Were it necessary I could easily bear testimonial to his fervour and constancy of heart, his spotless truth and honesty of purpose, but such testimony is altogether unneeded. I know I shall best console the feelings of all by simply expressing the hope, which I believe is the hearty wish of every one present, that Bro. Smollett may long be permitted, before his removal to the Grand Lodge above, to perform his duties as a Christian, a gentleman, and a Mason. (Cheers.)

Bro. J. M'Kinnon gave "The Ladies" in an eloquent and humorous speech.

Bro. Wm. Graham suitably replied.

Bro. J. Wilkie gave "The Visiting Brethren," which was duly honoured, and acknowledged by Bro. Ross of No. 18.

A right hearty vote of thanks was passed to Bro. Mushet for his admirable conduct in the chair, and the company retired for a short time to allow of the hall being cleared for the dance.

EDINBURGH.—Funeral Lodge.—The "Roman Eagle" Lodge, No. 160, met on Thursday evening, 7th inst., in the lodge-room, Iona Hotel, Nicolson-street, Edinburgh, for the purpose of holding a funeral lodge as a tribute to the memory of their late Right Worshipful Master, Bro. James Paterson, who died on the 26th ult. From the high esteem in which the deceased Master was deservedly held by the brethren, and the fact that he was the builder of some of the very best buildings in Scotland in stone work, such as the Edinburgh Savings Bank, General Post Office, the Tower, Portobello, &c., &c., and was a very large employer of labour, the attendance was unusually large. The service was ably conducted by the Past Master Bro. Thos. Cairns, M.D., to whom a cordial vote of thanks was given at the close.

ALLOA.—The annual meeting of the Alloa St. John's Lodge, No. 69, was held in the lodge-room, Royal Oak Hotel, on Monday evening last, when the following office-bearers were elected: Bro. William Brown, R.W.M.; Alexander Kirk, S.W.; John M'Ansh, J.W.; Andrew Allice, Treas.; John Johnston, Sec.; James Whitehead, B.B.; John M'Gregor, P.M.; Thomas Stirling, D.M.; Rev. Alex. Bryson, Chap.; Peter Brotherston, Surgeon; Andrew Black, Custodian of Jewels; David Sneddon, Medal-bearer; James Fairlie, Edinburgh, Proxy Master; David Wotherspoon, Tyler.

NOTICE.

The Subscription to THE FREEMASON is now 10s. per annum, post-free, payable in advance.

Vol. I., bound in cloth ... .. 4s. 6d.
Vol. II., ditto ... .. 7s. 6d.
Vol. III., ditto ... .. 15s. od.
Reading Cases to hold 52 numbers... 2s. 6d.

United States of America.

THE FREEMASON is delivered free in any part of the United States for 12s. per annum, payable in advance.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferred to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

DEATHS.

STAMP—On the 9th inst., at Alnwick, aged 51, Br. John Ostens Stamp, of Alnwick Lodge, No. 1167.

TEPPER—On the 10th inst., at his residence, 24, Notting Hill-square, aged 54 years, Bro. Jabez Tepper, W.M. of the Grand Stewards' Lodge.

YOUNG—On the 12th inst., aged 54 years, Bro. William Young, P.G.S.B.

Answers to Correspondents.

All communications for THE FREEMASON should be written legibly on one side of the paper only, and, if intended for insertion in the current number, must be received not later than 10 o'clock a.m. on Thursdays, unless in very special cases. The name and address of every writer must be sent to us in confidence.

J.W.—An officer of a lodge, no matter what his Masonic rank in another capacity may be, should be invested with the blue collar and silver jewel of his office. If he chooses to wear also the collar of a Provincial Grand Officer, just as some brethren do in Grand Lodge, under the blue collar, it is a matter of taste, but to our fancy seems somewhat ridiculous.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the EDITOR 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him but cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

H.R.H. the PRINCE of WALES.

AT the moment we write, the spirit of our illustrious brother the Prince of Wales is hovering upon the brink of that awful river which every heir of mortality must cross before he can attain the Promised Land. Hoping almost against hope, the English nation—nay, the civilised world—has watched the Titanic struggle between the forces of nature and the spectral might of death, with a prayerful confidence that Heaven would be pleased to spare a life so precious to many and so dear at all. Even now, in the very crisis of the Royal sufferer's fate, the wishes of thousands seem to vanquish their fears, although nought but the miraculous interposition of Providence can to all human ken avert the dreaded doom.

Sadness, indeed, fills our heart as we pen these words, and most heartily do we join in the universal prayer that our noble and genial Past Grand Master may be yet restored to "the affectionate regard of his brethren in Freemasonry," to use the touching language of Lord Ripon's motion of condolence at the last Grand Lodge. It seems but yesterday that the Prince took his high place in the Parliament of the Craft; it seems but yesterday we hailed his Masonic advent with cordial cheers, and welcomed him as a brother of the mystic tie. Initiated by a King who bears the repute of being one of the best Masons in the world, our Royal brother had an early and a convincing proof that the Masonic Institution is not hostile to monarchical principles, or to established forms of government, and we all know how deeply this lesson was imprinted on the heart of the Prince of Wales. We all remember how frankly and unmistakeably he bore testimony to the excellent precepts of Freemasonry, and to the loyalty of its members, in a speech at a recent meeting of the Grand Lodge of Ireland. And, now, when the shadows gather around his brow, when the gloom of approaching death seems to envelope his faculties, no Mason can fail to recall how zealously the Prince bestirred himself in our service, how eloquently he pleaded for the orphans in our midst, and how his kindly, generous bearing had captivated every faithful Masonic heart. At this solemn moment, let us, however, also recall the lessons of the Craft; let us take to heart the sublime doctrines unfolded in the Master Masons' degree, concerning which we wrote in these columns but a few weeks ago. Beyond this transitory life extends the boundless vista of an everlasting existence. As we then said, "the true Mason does not descend to the grave to contemplate;" his gaze is fixed upon the Arbitrator of Life, who can raise us to an immortality of peace and glory. Let this belief console us, if the last great summons has really reached our beloved brother and Prince. He will but have gone to a region of "more light," for which the dying poet sighed; to a region where mystery ceases, and where the vain speculations of science fade before the revelations of supreme wisdom. Let us be ready to say, in the affecting language of the divine:—"Low lies the head that was once crowned with honour. Silent is the tongue to whose accents we surrendered up the soul, and to whose language of friendship and affection we wished to listen for ever. Beamless is the eye, and closed in night, which looked serenity, and sweetness, and love. The face that was to us as the face of an angel, is mangled and deformed. The heart that glowed with the purest fire, and beat with the best affections, is now become a clod of the valley. But shall it always be so? If a man die, shall he live again? Have the wise and the worthy, the pious and the pure, the generous and the just, the great and the good—the excellent ones of the earth who, from age to age, have shone brighter than the stars of heaven—withdrawn into the shade of annihilation, and set in darkness to rise no more? No; while the dust returns to the earth as it was, the spirit shall return unto God, who gave it."

SO MOTE IT BE.

We rejoice to be enabled to state, on indisputable authority, that his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales is now decidedly better, and that his condition gives much less anxiety to his physicians.

The following official bulletins were issued on Thursday:—

Sandringham, Dec. 14, 1.0 a.m.
His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales continues to be less restless.

(Signed) WILLIAM JENNER, M.D.
WILLIAM GULL, M.D.
JOHN LOWE, M.D.

Sandringham, Dec. 14, 8 a.m.
His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has slept quietly at intervals during the night. There is some abatement of the gravity of the symptoms.

(Signed) WILLIAM JENNER, M.D.
WILLIAM GULL, M.D.
JOHN LOWE, M.D.

Sandringham, Dec. 14, Noon.
His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has passed a tranquil morning.

The gain during the night is maintained.

(Signed) WILLIAM JENNER, M.D.
WILLIAM GULL, M.D.
JOHN LOWE, M.D.

(FROM THE COURT NEWSMAN.)

Sandringham, Dec. 13.
The Queen continues in health, notwithstanding her Majesty's great anxiety.

The Princess of Wales, although worn by constant watching, anxiety, and distress, keeps well.

At the meeting of the Lodge of Joppa, held at the Albion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, last Monday, great interest was shown in the favorable telegram received of the health of the Prince of Wales. The Chaplain called on the brethren to stand up, to join him in a prayer for the recovery of the Past Grand Master, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, and the brethren solemnly joined in a most fervent prayer. The whole ceremony was worthy of the Lodge of Joppa. May other lodges imitate their prayer for the same object.

In consequence of the dangerous illness of His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales (who had condescended to become a Member), the consecration of the Royal Albert Edward Lodge, No. 1362, has been postponed for the present.

THE Most Hon. the Marquis of Ripon, K.G., &c., M.W.G.M., has consented to preside at the anniversary festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls on Wednesday, 8th May next.

At the last Grand Lodge, the M.W. Grand Master nominated Bros. Brackstone Baker, P.G.D., J. Nunn, P.G.S.B., and F. Bennoch, as a committee to recommend the division and distribution of the £500 voted for the relief of the sufferers by the Chicago and prairie conflagrations.

THE brethren of Cornwall have resolved to present to the R.W. the G.M. of that province, Bro. Augustus Smith, of Tresco Abbey, Scilly, a handsome, framed, life-size Portrait of himself in full Masonic clothing, and that the presentation shall take place at the next meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge.

LIBERTY versus LICENCE.

UNDER ordinary circumstances, we should pass over, with deserved contempt, the utterances of Bro. Matthew Cooke upon any question affecting Freemasonry; but, in the interests of truth and justice, we are compelled—although with loathing and disgust—to analyse the mass of verbiage, yclept his “speech” at the last Quarterly Communication.

In the first place, we confess to a feeling of astonishment at the extraordinary and preposterous doctrine propounded by Bro. Cooke: that a Mason ought to be allowed to talk libel in Grand Lodge with perfect impunity, so far as Masonic jurisdiction is concerned. And we are still more amazed to find that this atrocious opinion was not only not at once repelled with horror and indignation, but heard with complacency, and even endorsed with approval, by two or three brethren who certainly ought to know better. It is unnecessary to do otherwise than recall to the memories of our readers that Bro. Cooke made charges in Grand Lodge which affected the honour and reputation of every official employed in the Grand Secretary's department; and it is equally unnecessary to dwell upon the fact, that not one charge of venality or corruption was substantiated against those officials. The only allegation respecting which there was any basis of truth, referred to an occurrence which, from even a straight-laced point of view, represents nothing more than an error of judgment, or want of caution, on the part of the brother implicated. This will be apparent from the following statement of the facts. The “meeting” of the “unrecognised degree,” upon which so much stress has been laid, consisted of three persons, who, without any preconcerted arrangement, and simply acting under the exigency of the moment, entered the Coffee Room, or Library, connected with the premises at Freemasons' Hall. This meeting was held between five and six o'clock in the evening; there was no formality used, nor were any of the parties present attired in “unrecognised” paraphernalia. There was nothing, in fact, to shock the sensibilities of the tutelary deity popularly supposed to guard the purity of the building. The offence consisted in handing over a ritual of one of the chivalric grades to a distinguished Mason, Bro. Samuel B. Harman, the Mayor of Toronto, after requiring him to pledge the usual vow of secrecy—the chivalric grade in question being considered a honorarium for Masonic services, and its meetings being expressly permitted by the Articles of Union adopted by the United Grand Lodge of England in 1813, which are still in force.

But there is another phase of this question, to which we desire to direct special attention. Bro. Cooke distinctly asserted that the officers of Grand Lodge, “on their own account,” formulate, tabulate, and send abroad other degrees.” How does this agree with the facts elicited? No employé in the Grand Secretary's office has ever received one shilling “on his own account,” nor, in the particular instance cited, was any charge whatever made to Bro. Harman for the grade conferred upon him. If it could have been proved, in the slightest degree, that any one of our officers made a market of the unrecognised degrees for his own special profit, we should join in the just outcry of indignation which such conduct would provoke; but when it is found that the very reverse is the case, we say that Bro. Cooke's charges have failed as signally and disgracefully upon this point as in the grosser allegations he so unscrupulously made.

What, then, is to be said of such a man, when he raises a bulwark of “privilege” to escape the just punishment of his unmasonic deeds? Nay, more, when he sets himself up as a champion of “freedom of speech,” and a defender of the right to abuse and defame? We say deliberately, that, but for the tacit encouragement this man has received from brethren whose intolerance of “unrecognised degrees” reconciles them to strange alliances, the Craft would not have been burdened much longer with the membership of Matthew Cooke. Allowing, even, that a trumpety charge had been proved against one official, how is it that no member of Grand Lodge commented upon the utter groundlessness of the charges against other officers? How is it that, except in the manly and eloquent speech of Bro. Philbrick, no voice of censure was uplifted against the slanderer? “Freedom of speech” imperilled, indeed! We say that men's characters and reputations are imperilled, while such a man is permitted to pursue his noisome path unchecked and unpunished. The “liberty of Masons” compromised, forsooth, because men whose honour is impeached endeavour to obtain justice! Never were more preposterous doctrines broached to an intelligent Masonic assembly; never were sophisms more shamelessly veiled in the disguise of candour and truth. There is not, we believe, one member of the Craft in London who imagines that Cooke's charges were made in the interests of Freemasonry; nay more, we feel convinced there are few who are not persuaded that their origin may be traced to some personal animus. Even if it were otherwise, every true man in the Craft would strenuously decline the proffered services of an obscure pamphleteer as the champion of genuine Freemasonry. The language recently used by this individual, in a sheet which he had the temerity to circulate even at the last Grand Lodge, is sufficient to reveal his intellectual and moral calibre to every decent mind, for, verily, out of his own mouth he stands condemned.

We trust, however, that we shall not again have occasion to refer in these columns either to him or to the person who, contrary to every canon of good taste—leaving honour out of the question—furnished him with the scanty information upon which he erected a gigantic superstructure of fallacy and misrepresentation. Although we feel it our duty as a journalist to uphold what we conceive to be right and just, it is with sincere satisfaction we relinquish the contemplation of a subject with which we are heartily disgusted, and of which, we assert, every honest man may well feel ashamed.

We regret having been unable to insert the following able speech of Bro. Philbrick, at Grand Lodge, in our last impression:—

Bro. Philbrick, W.M. of No. 18, rose and said: As one of the Board of General Purposes who attended the investigation, I wish to say one word, with the permission of Grand Lodge, and am quite satisfied of this, that no member of that Board would desire for one moment to curtail the fullest liberty of speech in this Grand Lodge—(hear, hear)—but I hold, for one, that that liberty of speech has certain responsibilities, and that, if any brother makes charges of a grave and serious nature in this Grand Lodge, where he has a right to make them, he ought to weigh well before he impugns the character or the conduct of any individual. Charges ought not to be lightly made, or upon insufficient grounds, and every brother who makes them has a right to bear, if these charges fail him, the obloquy which a brother ought to bear who makes an utterly false and ungrounded statement. It is all very well for Bro. Matthew Cooke to represent that he stands as the champion of liberty of speech. Allow me to say that so far as any proceedings in Grand Lodge are concerned, no allegation that he made, or sentence that dropped from his lips, was the subject of any charge against him, or investigation against him, by the Board of General Purposes. The Board, I venture to say, and say without fear of contradiction, never thought of arraigning Bro. Cooke before them on a charge of any word he uttered in Grand Lodge, and it is utterly misleading Grand Lodge to suggest anything of the kind. What we investigated was this—that which we understood you, in your wisdom, had referred to us as a more convenient tribunal to investigate charges against individuals than a numerous assemblage like this—we understood that certain individuals had been pointed at, that certain practices had been denounced; and, in the presence of Bro. Cooke, who was present all the time, and in the presence of every individual whose conduct was impugned and questioned, every person who was a witness before us, in the fullest and most open way that could have been done in any court of justice in the country, those charges were deliberately investigated, one by one, and no witness left that room without being asked by a brother, “Can you inform us of any such malpractices pointed at by Bro. Cooke, or any shadow of foundation for them?” And, except in the matter in which we find that a charge was proved against one of the officers, there was not a shadow of foundation for any charge (Great cheering). We believe the board deserves your confidence, but we had the assistance of the Grand Registrar, whose great experience in judicial procedure renders him a most desirable assistant in such enquiries; we had Bro. Horace Lloyd, one of Her Majesty's counsel, whose experience is well known by those who know him, and I venture to say that a more plain statement or a fuller enquiry never took place; and it is with feelings, I confess, of something like indignation I heard it said that “the Report is the Report of the President of the Board watered down by the Grand Secretary.” Can you endure such words? I tell you, from motives of delicacy when the room was cleared, the Grand Secretary, of his own will, left the room, in order that the board might be utterly unfettered in their deliberations about which we were concerned. And I tell you further, brethren, that in the whole conduct of that enquiry there was not a question—although Bro. Cooke said there were over a hundred, while only thirteen were put—the questions were put to the clerks, and the questions travelled into things utterly unconnected with the charge, wide of the charge; the main charge of corruption was founded on this: Did not you, after a festival was over, in the concert room—did not you hear one brother say to another brother this?—What had happened in the evening. The person whose name was mentioned, positively, and in the most solemn and clear manner denied the specific question, although they were tested in the strongest possible way. I venture to say, on that board we were unanimous; there was not the shadow of a difference of opinion among us. I venture to say that the conclusion we arrived at was the conclusion any one would have arrived at, and which if before any jury of the country would have been endorsed. I apologise for having detained you so long. ("No, no.") I feel it my duty as taking part in that investigation, to explain to you honestly and straightforwardly what had happened; and when I hear matters represented as they have been, I do not think it right to let that pass unchallenged and unquestioned; and although we all understand that in a body of Masons, each individual brother may claim liberty of speech, still that liberty ought not to be allowed to degenerate into licence. If the things are investigated and they turn out to be without foundation, without basis, the brother charging must bear the blame which attaches to those who impugn other's conduct lightly; and I for one do not envy the man who having brought charges he cannot substantiate, would make himself to be a martyr in the cause of liberty, and strive to elicit your sympathy on his behalf. (Great applause.)

Obituary.

BRO. WILLIAM YOUNG, P.G.S.B.

The grim shade, under the influence of which a whole people has so long been sitting in agonising suspense, relieved or intensified as its gloom became more or less obscure, has extended its withering effect into private circles none the less than usual, and with accustomed impartiality, while more prominently hovering over the object of national sympathy, has not spared those nearly and dearly regarded in humbler spheres. In our own limited Body, death has recently been busy, and many have been called away, whose continuance amongst us we had every right—humanly speaking—to calculate upon for a long time to come. In no instance has the utter fallacy of earthly confidence been more painfully illustrated than in the lamented death of the respected brother whose name heads this notice. Bro. Young attended the meeting of the Committee of the Boys' School on Saturday, 2nd inst., in the full enjoyment of his accustomed health and spirits, and by members of his family it was remarked that he never appeared better, in every respect, than on the following day. On Monday, 4th, towards the afternoon, he felt chilled and depressed, retired to rest at night, and was not seen again in public. Ague and influenza had attacked him, and while no serious effects were apprehended, erysipelas supervened in the head, and on Thursday his condition was such as to attract serious attention. All that medical skill could do was ineffectual, and, though aided by fine constitutional power, the patient succumbed at half-past nine on the morning of Tuesday, the 12th.

The loss sustained will be widely and severely felt by a large circle of friends—within and without the Order—to whom Bro. Young had endeared himself by an unostentatious exercise of the best qualities that can adorn humanity. Perfection is not claimed for our deceased brother—as, of course, it could not be for any one; but if kindness of disposition, a desire to be useful, practical generosity—combined with large-hearted liberality, zeal, and determination, and an utter lack of selfishness—go any way towards the composition of what would be esteemed in a man and a friend, these, and many other good qualities, were found in an eminent degree in him whose loss is now mourned, and to whom this hasty and imperfect tribute is paid.

Bro. William Young was initiated at the age of 29, in the Enoch Lodge, No. 11, on 10th March, 1847. Joined the Peace and Harmony Lodge, No. 60, in 1855, from which he was nominated as Grand Steward in 1856-7, and was appointed Grand Sword-bearer in Grand Lodge in 1864. He was W.M. of the Enoch Lodge in 1853, and of the Peace and Harmony Lodge in 1858. Was exalted in the Old King's Arms R.A. Chapter, No. 30, in October, 1849. Was a founder of the Enoch Chapter, No. 11, May, 1852, of which he was Z. in 1856. Was a Vice-President of the Boys' School, a Life Governor of the Girls' School, and of both branches of the Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and their Widows. Was an active member of the various committees of all the Institutions, and a punctual attendant at the Finance and other committees of Grand Lodge, and at the Board of General Purposes. Of him it may be truly said, that his work was before him, and diligently he wrought therein. "Whatsoever his hand found to do, he did it with his might," but everything was done unaffectedly, from an honest motive to discharge efficiently every duty he undertook. Few amongst us, in the course of an active career, can be said to have made so few enemies, or to have formed so many friendships. The former must forgive and forget at once; those numbered in the latter can never cease to remember. At the age of 54, Bro. Young has been summoned from his large sphere of usefulness. His remains will be interred at Highgate Cemetery, on Monday next, at 12.30 o'clock p.m., and it is expected a considerable number of his friends will be then and there assembled to pay their last sad tribute of respect to one whom in life they loved so well.

BRO. JABEZ TEPPER.

We regret having to announce the death of this well-known brother, who expired at his residence, 24, Notting Hill Square, on the 10th instant, aged 54 years. Bro. Tepper was initiated into the Craft in the Tuscan Lodge, No. 14, on the 26th November, 1850, and in due course passed the chair of that ancient lodge. He also served as a Grand Steward in 1867-8, and became a member of the Grand Stewards' Lodge, of which he was the W.M. at the time of his decease. Bro. Tepper was likewise a member of the Board of General Purposes for a brief period. In the Order of Knights Templar our deceased brother held the honourable post of Grand Treasurer, a position which he filled with great credit to himself, and to the entire satisfaction of the Order. Bro. Tepper was, we understand, a nephew of the celebrated artist Turner, and inherited some of that great man's magnificent pictures, now destined, beyond doubt, to the hammer, as the deceased has left no near relatives.

BRO. JOHN OSTENS STAMP.

This esteemed brother—one of the earliest members of, and a regular attendant at, Lodge Alnwick, No. 1167—departed this life on the 9th inst., at Alnwick, aged 51. Although he held no office, the respect in which he was held was shown by the attendance, without any formal summons, of the principal officers and many of the brethren at the cemetery, where the last offices were paid to a good neighbour and a beloved brother.

Original Correspondence.

The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.

THE PURPLE IN THE PROVINCES.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Although you have very properly closed your columns against any further correspondence on the local subject of "the Purple in West Lancashire," as writers, on both sides, have unfortunately indulged in gross personalities, entirely subversive of "that love and harmony which should ever characterise Freemasons," still a few remarks on the subject of Provincial Grand Lodge appointments generally may, perhaps, not be deemed out of place.

From a somewhat extended experience on the subject, I am led to the conclusion, that whilst, on the one hand, in very small provinces, an annual or very frequent change of officers (I do not necessarily mean of offices) is to be deprecated, as tending to lower the value of the purple, in the eyes of the brethren, by rendering it of too easy attainment; on the other hand, both in the Provincial Grand Lodges and Grand Lodge itself, every duly-qualified brother ought to possess in practice, as he does in principle, an equal right to obtain the honours of the purple, although, as we well know, selection must necessarily be resorted to, and only a very few of those entitled to office can obtain it. It therefore becomes all the more necessary that as few duly-qualified brethren should be debarred from the privilege they are entitled to as possible.

In a neighbouring province, with which I was formerly well acquainted, it long was (I know not if it still is) the custom to change the Prov. G. Wardens only once in about seven years, and the other Prov. G. officers were also annually re-appointed, some for even longer, and others for the same or shorter periods, so that it was a rare event for any infusion of fresh blood to take place. The natural consequence was, that instead of the Prov. Grand Lodge being, as it ought constitutionally to be, a representative body, it became (at least as far as the officers were concerned), as it were, a close corporation, where those who were in, felt that they had vested rights in their offices, and their object became to keep every one else out—a state of things, if we are to believe some of your correspondents, apparently analagous to that unfortunately existing in West Lancashire at the present time. The province to which I refer had then five lodges, two of which have since become extinct, is it too much to suppose, in part, owing to the above cause? Let us see what was the effect of the system on these lodges as regarded the Grand Wardenships alone, and of course it applies at least equally to the other offices. I am not sure that the Junior Warden did not succeed his colleague in the higher office, but taking it that both Wardenships became vacant at the end of seven years, during that period there would be, each year, five W.M.'s of lodges who would become legally, and, it is also to be assumed, by personal merit, qualified to be appointed to one of those Wardenships. Under the most favourable circumstances of an annual change of those officers, only two out of the five could possibly attain that rank, but by the system pursued no less than thirty-five P.M.'s would be actually excluded from the honour to which they had by service in the chair a right to aspire, merely that it might be monopolised by two brethren, possibly not a whit better qualified than themselves. It is not surprising that jealousies and quarrels among the brethren were of no unfrequent occurrence in the province. I sincerely trust that that is now all changed, and that a better state of things exists.

Whilst every province must doubtless be conducted more or less according to local circumstances, the arrangements now in force in the province of which I am an old officer (that of Leicestershire and Rutland), as gradually modified and improved by the experience of the past, might, I think, be advantageously adopted in such provinces as West Lancashire, both to the pleasure of the ruler and the profit of the brethren under his sway. Formerly, when this province consisted of three lodges only, one of which (No. 50, Hinckley) was in abeyance, the appointments in the Prov. Grand Lodge remained unchanged, occasionally, for three years, and it was customary for those appointed to go from the lowest to the higher offices in rotation. When, however, the lodges became more numerous and prosperous (there are now eight flourishing lodges), it became the practice to make fresh appointments to all the offices (except, of course, those of Treasurer, Secretary, and occasionally Director of Ceremonies) every year, in some instances (where P.M.'s) the brethren being promoted to higher offices, in others retiring for a year or two to make way for other brethren equally qualified with themselves. At the same time, as a rule, the office of Registrar was restricted to brethren of one of the legal professions, being P.M.'s, that of Supt. of Works to architects or builders, and that of Sword-bearer to naval or military brethren.

When the present P.G.M. was appointed, after having previously had the management of the province, for some fourteen or fifteen years, as Deputy G. Master, he expressed his desire, without relinquishing any part of the prerogatives of his office, to make the Prov. Grand Lodge a more thoroughly representative body than it had previously been; and for this purpose he adopted the custom of allowing, each year, six of the lodges, in rotation, the privilege of nominating for his approval one of their members to represent their Lodge as a Grand Steward, and from them, as a rule, are subsequently taken all those appointed to the purple. So that, indirectly, all the officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge are originally selected by the brethren of the various private lodges. In addition, each year a certain number of appointments, ranging from one to four, according to the number of its members, are appropriated to each lodge in the province, so that no lodge is ever unrepresented among the officers.

As the system in force in this province has been found to work very satisfactorily and harmoniously, I have been led (at greater length than I had intended) to trespass upon your space with this communication, in the hope that the adoption of it, or a modification of it, might be useful in some other provinces, and especially that it might, if adopted, be the means of allaying those heartburnings and personal animosities now unhappily existing in West Lancashire, and which, if not removed, must be destructive of the best interests of Masonry in the province.

I am, dear Sir and Brother,
Yours fraternally,
A PAST PROV. G. SECRETARY.

TESTIMONIAL TO THE RIGHT HON. THE EARL OF ZETLAND.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR AND BROTHER,—I have waited most patiently for a long time to hear the result of the application to lodges and individual brethren, to subscribe towards a Fund for decayed Masons, as a fitting and deserved testimonial of our esteemed Past Grand Master. Surely the subscribers should be informed of the amount contributed, and are entitled to receive a printed statement of accounts, and the list of subscribers? It would be pleasant for all connected with so excellent a movement to have a memorial of the event, just as when a similar testimony of the appreciation of the Craft was presented to H.R.H. the Duke of Sussex.

I hope, Bro. Editor, that ere long we shall have such a list of subscribers sent to all the subscribing lodges and brethren, and beg to subscribe myself.

Your occasional Correspondent,
333°

PEACE! PEACE!

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR,—In the interests of true Freemasonry, allow me to claim your influence, in bringing about an "Act of Oblivion," and a General Amnesty.

No matter how great the provocation—how irritating the insult—it is not too late to suppress personal feelings, and to consider only the benefit of the Craft in general.

Napoleon—with all his faults, a keen observer of human nature, said, "Build a golden bridge for a beaten foe."

Let us not press each other too hard, on this or that point, or claim, too rigidly, redress of wrongs, or apology for insult. These are the result of personal feeling, and I wish that nothing but the good of the Craft, and its harmony, may be uppermost in our thoughts. All other considerations are petty, when we consider discord and scandal increasing amongst us.

I say, earnestly, make peace before it is too late, otherwise the fabric of Masonry may be undermined, by extraneous influences, taking advantage of our disunion.

OLIVE BRANCH.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—There was a "great cry and little wool" in last Grand Lodge respecting the alleged desecration of the Coffee Room at Freemasons' Hall, because two or three brethren, members of an old chivalric Order, met therein as private gentlemen, for a few minutes, on one occasion, a long time ago; while, on the Friday following, the Grand Conclave of Knights Templar actually met in the "Zetland" Room at the Hall—one of the very rooms set apart especially for the Craft—with all their banners, trumpets, red crosses, and arches of steel, notwithstanding the oft-preached "sanctity" of the premises! Knowing, as I do, that the Templars are as good, if not better, Craft Masons than many who denounce their Masonic status, I merely mention this to show that, in certain quarters, there is a manifest lack of that much-to-be-prized virtue, CONSISTENCY.

[We are pleased to be enabled to state that not one of the officials in the Grand Secretary's department has ever been connected with the spurious Rite of Memphis, or with any other rite or degree which has been at any time authoritatively denounced by the Grand Lodge of England. This contradiction is rendered necessary, in order to remove the erroneous impressions which were conveyed in the remarks of a certain speaker at the last Quarterly Communication.—ED. F.]

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR AND BROTHER,—Bro. Matthew Cooke, in a paper he endeavoured to distribute within the precincts of Grand Lodge on Wednesday week, refers to one of his patrons, whom he styles "an ignoramus," because, in a letter of sixty-seven words, he made thirteen "child-like" errors of autography. Pray, let me ask Bro. Cooke by what term he qualifies his own blunders? He writes about "veniality" and corruption, does he (the teacher) not know that venial means excusable, pardonable, but that venal means mercenary? This is not a typographical error, for, in the same article, he again writes "venial transgressions."

Let Bro. Cooke learn English himself!

Yours fraternally,

WOOLWICH.

PRESENTATION TO BRO. DR. LORY MARSH.

The annual dinner of the Lodge of Instruction, of the Masonic Fraternity of Nottingham, took place on the 30th ult., at the Black Boy Hotel, the proceedings deriving their highest interest from the presentation of an address to Bro. Dr. Lory Marsh, the founder of the lodge, on his resignation of the office of President. S. R. P. Shilton, Esq., who is distinguished by his zeal in all movements affecting the Order, occupied the chair, and there were also present: Bros. J. Comyn (vice-chairman), T. Danks, J. C. Nixon, H. A. Attenborough, J. Hack, R. Fitzhugh, M. Vowles, J. Hall, J. Maxwell, B. H. Cockayne, C. B. Truman, C. C. Wragg, J. Wills, J. Widdowson, Dr. Varley, Gilbert, Maltby, J. T. Mayfield, A. Fletcher, R. Morris, Watson, S. Collinson, J. Simpson, Dr. J. Thompson, jun., J. Elmore, and others. The dinner was followed by the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, proposed in felicitous language from the chair. These were followed by the presentation, and in the course of a singularly able speech the chairman reviewed the history of the lodge, and dwelt with much force upon the indebtedness of the brotherhood to Bro. Dr. Lory Marsh for his fidelity and attachment to their interests. In the midst of busy and responsible professional duties, said the chairman, he had always done his utmost to advance the well-being of the Craft, and his example in that respect could not be too widely imitated or too gratefully remembered. In conclusion, he presented the address, which was superbly illustrated by Bro. S. Collinson, and which was couched in the following terms:—

To Bro. J. C. Lory Marsh, P.M., P.Z., P.P.S.G.W.

Dear Sir and Brother,—We cannot allow you to relinquish your active connection with the Masonic body of Nottingham without expressing in some permanent, if unostentatious form, our deep appreciation of your claims upon our esteem. To your zealous attachment to the noble principles of the brotherhood, and to your increasing anxiety to carry those principles into practical effect, we owe the establishment of the Lodge of Instruction, which has more than realized even your hopes in its usefulness and success. We are happy in knowing that the fidelity and love for the brotherhood which you have ever shown are not exceptional, but we think it right to testify in this manner to an unaffected recognition on our part of your worth and devotion as a Mason, your attainments as a scholar, your public spirit as a citizen, and your accomplishments as a gentleman, whilst living and working amongst us.

We are, Sir and Brother,

Yours sincerely and fraternally,

EDWARD PEAT, W.M. 47.

E. H. H. VERNON, W.M. 402.

B. H. COCKAYNE, W.M. 411.

JOHN MAXWELL, P.M. 506.

JOSEPH THOMPSON, jun., Hon. Sec.

November 30, 1871.

Bro. Dr. Lory Marsh, on rising, was received with cordial cheers, which were sustained for some time. He said that he was so far overcome with conflicting emotions that he feared he should but imperfectly express the sentiments with which he received that beautiful address. He could assure them that an undertone of genuine sorrow entered into the feeling of pleasure that so largely occupied his mind—sorrow that possibly many faces which at that moment gladdened his heart might in the course of things greet him no more; pleasure, that it had been given to him to attract so much of kindness and regard, of warm approval during his connection with them. For nearly twenty years he had been the recipient of countless proofs of attachment, of welcome acts of thoughtfulness and consideration, from the Fraternity, among whom he counted many of the most cherished and the most honoured of all the friends of his life. In severing that connection he felt that he was creating a deep blank in his own life; that he was separating himself from that which had long been a solace and a guide to him—the harmony, affection, and mutual confidence and esteem of the lodge it had been his privilege to establish. Were that moment one in which he could use conventional phrases, he might be tempted to say that it was the proudest of his life; but such language would but ill interpret his feelings. He could not help saying that it was a bitter moment, because it showed him how much he would lose in parting from a body of gentlemen from whom he had experienced nothing but sympathy and true friendship. He could not tell them how much he appreciated the address with which they had too generously rewarded what little he had been able to accomplish, for it would be the highest recommendation which he could take the brethren elsewhere. Bro. Dr. Marsh then went on to allude to various matters of interest, and concluded a speech—which, for grace of expression and depth of feeling, was greatly admired—by giving “The health of the Chairman.”

Bro. Shilton responded in a very earnest and impressive manner. Several other toasts were proposed, Bro. J. Thompson, jun., responded for “The Committee,” proposed by Bro. Attenborough, and Bro. T. Danks for “The Visitors,” proposed by the Vice-Chairman. The proceedings altogether were of the most gratifying interest.

PRESENTATION TO BRO. JOHN FRENCH.

On Monday, November 11th, the buyers and travellers of Messrs. Allan and French, 157 Cheapside, City, presented Bro. John French with a very handsome black marble timepiece and two bronzes, the one an exquisite Corregio and the other a fine Salvator Rosa, as a substantial proof of the esteem in which he is held by his employees. The wording of the memorial card which bore the following inscription, speaks for itself:—

“We, the undersigned heads of departments and representatives of the house of Allan and French, most respectfully offer to John French, Esq., the accompanying, trusting it will be accepted in the same spirit in which it is presented, not for its intrinsic value, but as a simple token of esteem and respect, as an appreciation of his earnest endeavours to promote to the utmost of his power the comfort and interest of those in his employ, and in recognition of his having by his business qualities, steadfastness of purpose, genial manner, and kindly disposition, rendered the attainment of his present position a matter of sincere congratulation on the part of all who have had the pleasure of working with him.”

(Here follow the various signatures.)

Bro. John French entered the house of James Allan in the year 1845, subsequently Mr. Badger, so well known in the city as one of the leading men for many years, at Salomon's Old Change, joined Mr. Allan, and the firm was then carried on under the title of Allan and Badger, until 1867. In 1867, on Mr. Badger's retirement, Bro. John French was made junior partner, and the firm is now Allen and French, proving that there are chances of obtaining good positions in the city still left to men who like Bro. French possess the necessary energy.

SMALL-POX, FEVERS, AND SKIN DISEASES.—The predisposition to is prevented by Lamplough's Pyretic Saline. Vitalising and invigorating, its effects are remarkable in their cure and prevention. Take it as directed. Sold by chemists and the maker, H. Lamplough, 113, Holborn-hill. —[Adv.]

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

THE CRAFT.

METROPOLITAN.

Perfect Ashlar Lodge, No. 1178.—At the Gregorian Arms' Tavern, Bermondsey, on Thursday, the 7th instant, this lodge held its regular meeting. Bros. G. J. Grace, W.M.; J. W. Dudley, S.W.; J. H. Harmsworth, J.W.; F. H. Ebsworth, P.M., Treas.; F. Walters, P.M., Sec.; T. W. Cox, J.D.; C. Deakin, I.G.; J. W. Avery, P.M., W.S.; J. Rouse, D.C.; J. Green, P.M.; W. May, J. A. Axtell, G. Free, J. Walter, J. R. Johnson, J. G. Tanyer, G. Mabbs, P. Fry, T. Jones, A. Lewis, and others, were present. The visitors were Bros. C. Rayden (73) and T. Neville (S.W. 765). The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. J. R. Johnson was, ballot being taken, declared to be unanimously elected. Messrs. Jonas Walter and John Richard Johnson were duly initiated into Freemasonry, the work being well rendered. Some propositions for initiations were then given for next lodge meeting, and the lodge was closed. Banquet followed, when the usual toasts were given. A five-guinea Past Master's jewel was presented, from the lodge funds, to Bro. J. Green, P.M., for his services as W.M. during his past year of office.

Lodge of Asaph, No. 1319.—The regular monthly meeting of this immensely-popular and successful lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall, W.C., on the 4th inst. Present: Bros. E. Stanton Jones, I.P.M.; C. Coote, P.M., W.M.; J. M. Chamberlin, P.M., S.W.; J. Weaver, P.M., P.G.O. Middlesex, J.W.; Edward Frewin, S.D.; W. H. Stephens, D.C.; William A. Tinney, I.G.; Henry J. Tinney, Org.; John Gilbert, Tyler; John Boutwright, Thomas Edgar, Charles Harper (jun.), George Horton, Wm. A. Easton, Henry J. Snelling, Julian Egerton, Joseph Baker, William J. Castell, Joseph Horton, George A. Compton, and Edmund H. Reynolds. Visitor: Bro. G. Pritchard, Whittington Lodge, No. 862. The business consisted in initiating Mr. F. J. Amor, raising Bro. E. H. Reynolds, and electing two members to the Benevolent Fund Committee. The choice fell upon Bros. E. Terry and G. Compton. The W.M., Bro. C. Coote, performed the ceremonies in his well-known impressive manner, and addressed the brethren upon the satisfactory state of the lodge in so short a period, which, although being only a twelvemonth old, has paid for every necessary for the lodge; the expenses for the year amounted to £211 18s. 8d. The receipts were £240 1s., thereby leaving a balance in the hands of the Treasurer of £28 2s. 4d. During the year twenty gentlemen have been initiated, and twenty-six brethren joined. Three brethren were made honorary members for their services at the consecration, and the seven founders make a total of fifty-six members. Truly, this is a success, and we wish the Lodge of Asaph every happiness and prosperity.

Highgate Lodge, No. 1366.—An emergency meeting of this young, but flourishing, lodge was held at the Gate House Hotel, Highgate, on the 11th inst. Bro. Terry, W.M., presided, supported by his officers and several of the members. Messrs. W. Hierons, J. H. Hierons, and Robert Danby, jun., were initiated, and Bros. Shaw, Field, and Clout were passed, the work being admirably performed. Bro. Hill, D.C., was appointed Steward for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution festival, and in the course of the evening announced a good round sum as having been contributed. Banquet followed and a most happy evening was spent. Among the visitors were Bros. Sisson, P.M.; Bilby, P.M.; Barnes, Angel, &c.

PROVINCIAL.

CANTERBURY.—United Industrious Lodge, No. 31.—The usual monthly meeting of this lodge was held on Thursday, the 7th inst. Present: Bros. P. Higham, W.M. (in the chair); John R. Hall, I.P.M., P.G. Asst. Sec.; Mulford, P.M.; Holltum, P.M.; Coppin, P.M.; W. Davey, S.W.; J. G. Hall, J.W.; R. F. Strand, S.D.; H. M. Biggleston, J.D.; Captain P. Knight, I.G.; John Pout, P.M., Sec.; Sir Lewis Campbell, Bart., of Lodge 365, Nova Scotia, and several other brethren, also attended. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, Bro. Reuben Bradley passed a satisfactory examination, and was passed to the degree of F.C. The lodge was then closed down to the first degree, and Mr. George Johnson, having been properly prepared, was initiated by the W.M. into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry. Some other business having been transacted, the lodge was closed in due form, with solemn prayer, and the brethren adjourned for refreshment, passing an hour pleasantly in real social enjoyment.

LEICESTER.—St. John's Lodge, No. 279.—The regular meeting of this lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday, the 6th inst. Bro. C. Stretton, W.M., presided, assisted by the following officers and brethren: Bros. E. J. Crow, S.W.; Widdowson, Sec.; J. W. Smith, J.D.; Halford, I.G.; Weare, P.M., Treas.; MacAllister, P.G. Supt. of Works; Statham, Wilkinson, Edwards, H. T. Kirby, C. E. Stretton, Gosling, and Blankley. The visitors were Bros. Sculthorpe, W.M. 523; G. Toller, P.M.; W. B. Smith, P.M.; Baines, J.W.; Partridge, Sec.; and Thorpe, 523; and J. Dawson, 84. The lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the last regular lodge and also of a lodge of emergency, were read and confirmed. Bros. H. T. Kirby and C. E. Stretton were severally raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason, the ceremony being performed in an impressive and exemplary manner by Bro. Toller, P.M. 523 and Prov. Grand Secretary. A ballot having been taken, Bro. E. J. Crow, S.W. and P.P.G.O., was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing year. Bro. Crow, in an appropriate speech, returned thanks for the honour conferred upon him, assuring the brethren he should endeavour to prove himself worthy of the confidence reposed in him. Letters of apology for unavoidable absence were received from the R.W. Prov. Grand Master, Bro. Kelly, L. A. Clarke, P.M., and Dr. George Pearce, J.W. Letters of resignation were also received from Bros. B. L. Atwood and J. St. T. Clarke, M.D. A candidate having been proposed, and a resolution adopted, deferring the annual festival from St. John's day until the usual meeting on the 3rd of January, the lodge was closed, and the brethren proceeded to refreshment.

BERWICK-ON-TWEED.—St. David's Lodge, No. 393.—The usual monthly meeting was held in the lodge-room, Church-street, Berwick-on-Tweed, on Tuesday, the 5th inst. Bro. George Moor, W.M., occupied the chair, and was supported by his Wardens and other office-bearers. There was a large muster of the brethren, and after the usual business had been disposed of, they proceeded to the election of a Master for the ensuing year, when Bro. Chalmers I. Paton, of The Tower, Portobello, was unanimously elected to that office. Bro. C. I. Paton is well known in the Masonic world. He is author of “Freemasonry and its Jurisprudence,” “Freemasonry in Relation to Civil Authority and the Family Circle,” “Origin of Freemasonry,” and many other valuable Masonic works. Bro. J. Richardson was elected Treasurer, and Bro. Farmer Turnbull, Tyler. The installation of the Master will take place on St. John's Day, the 27th instant, when a large and successful meeting is anticipated.

WIRKSWORTH.—Derwent Lodge, No. 884.—The installation meeting of this lodge was held on Monday, the 27th ult. There were present: Bros. W. Webb, W.M.; J. Hindle, as S.W.; C. Parkin, J.W.; B. Street, Treas.; W. L. Hall, Sec.; W. Milligan, S.D.; George Harvey, J.D.; E. Birch, Org.; W. S. Lugg, I.G.; F. Barton, P.M.; J. Stone, P.M.; C. Marshall, J. Bettle, John P. Bradley, William Lennox, William Shaw, A. Roome, H. Tomlinson. Visitors: Bros. W. Clark, P.M. 47; Aug. Bagshaw, P.G. Chap., 1235; W. Adsetts, P.M. 787; William Perkins, 787; C. Oding, 253; J. Bladon, S. Henson, J. C. Holden, and C. Walmsley, 317; G. T. Wright and R. Bennett, 731; J. Burkinshaw and H. Cupitt, 1028; Wm. Greatorex, 281. After the usual lodge business, Bro. Charles Parkin was presented to the Installing Master, Bro. W. Webb, who rendered the ceremony of installation in a most impressive manner, the effect being greatly increased by the musical arrangements which were introduced. The following officers were invested: Bros. William Milligan, S.W.; C. B. Marshall, J.W.; J. W. Porter, Chap.; Benjamin Street, Treas.; J. Bettle, Sec.; W. S. Lugg, S.D.; W. Lennox, J.D.; J. Hindle, D.C.; E. Birch, Org.; and A. Roome, I.G. After the business of the lodge was concluded, the brethren adjourned to the dining-room, where an excellent dinner was provided and thoroughly enjoyed. After the usual loyal toasts, Bro. Parkin proposed “The Health of the Retiring Master, Bro. Webb,” alluding to the various services rendered by him to the lodge during the two years he had occupied the chair, and concluded by presenting to him a handsome Past Master's jewel which had been subscribed for by the members of the lodge. During the evening the Masonic Charities were discussed, and the W.M. expressed his intention of accepting the office of Steward at the next festival of the Boys' School. The evening passed very pleasantly, and the visitors expressed themselves as delighted with the day's proceedings.

LIVERPOOL.—Neptune Lodge, No. 1264.—The regular and half-yearly meeting of this flourishing lodge was held on Friday, the 1st instant, at the Masonic Temple, Hope-street. The lodge was opened by the W.M., Bro. James Taylor, and the minutes of the last regular lodge, also of an emergency meeting, were read and confirmed. Bro. Thomas Atherton, of this lodge, and Bros. Brewer and Evans' of the Warren Lodge, were passed to the degree of Fellow-Craft. Messrs Kilcoyne and Payne were initiated, the ceremony being worked in a very able and impressive manner by the W.M. We may also say the same of the Senior and Junior Wardens, Bros. P. B. Gee and A. Davies; in fact, the whole of the officers discharged their duty in a manner highly creditable to the lodge, and which speaks well for the Lodge of Instruction in connexion with the Neptune Lodge.—Bro. Healing, P.M. and Treas., being temporarily absent from the room, The W.M. arose and said: Brethren, I have now a very painful and mournful duty to perform. It is but a few months ago that our respected P.M. and Treas., Bro. Healing, had the misfortune to lose an affectionate and devoted wife; that loss was a heavy affliction to him, and also to his children. In that hour of trial he had the most sincere consolation and sympathy of his brethren, and most especially the members of this lodge. Even while the cup of sorrow was yet full, and he still mourned the past, another severe affliction has befallen him since our last meeting—that is, the death of a most amiable, loving, and beloved mother; that parent who watched over him in childhood's days, and in joyous pride saw him rise to manhood, respected, and mourned with him in his recent loss. That parent now also sleeps in the dust; thus adding another pang to his sufferings. Brethren, I know that you have the greatest sympathy with our respected but unfortunate brother.—The brethren present appeared deeply affected, and requested their W.M. to express their profound sorrow and sincere sympathy to Bro. Healing, who at this moment re-entered the room, when the W.M., in most eloquent and sympathetic flow of sorrowing language, expressed to Bro. Healing the deep feelings of sorrow and sympathy of the brethren towards him in this the time of affliction. seemed visibly affected, and sat down unable, through emotion, to reply. A list of the names of the brethren of this lodge was then read who had contributed towards the support of the West Lancashire Institution for the education, &c., of the children of deceased or distressed Freemasons, which showed an amount very creditable to this lodge (£15), to be handed over to that noble institution, proving that Lodge 1264 is determined to maintain its reputation in acts of charity, as well as brotherly love. Other business was now disposed of, and the lodge was closed in due and solemn form, when the brethren, sixty in number, retired to a banquet prepared for them by Bro. Ball in his usual excellent style. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to. The toast of "The Visiting Brethren" was responded to by Bros. Pearson (W.M. 249), Larsen (P.M. 594), and Hill (W.M. 724), each of them expressing their pleasure and gratification at the excellent working and conduct of 1264, and concluded with their hearty good wishes for its prosperity. In the toast of "The Newly-Initiated Brethren," the W.M. feelingly addressed both of them on their duty as Freemasons and as citizens of the world. The remaining toasts having been given and responded to, the Tyler's toast brought this harmonious and happy meeting to a close, when the brethren separated in peace and goodwill.

OAKHAM, RUTLAND.—Valde of Catmoss Lodge, No. 1265.—A meeting was held at the Agricultural Hall, on the 30th ultimo. There was a large attendance of brethren, and the following visitors: Bros. Orford, P.M. 466, P.P.G.S.W. Norths. and Hunts.; Douglas, P.M. 1130, P.P.G.S.D.; Fast, W.M. 1130, P.P.G. Supt. of Works; Law, Ward, Norton, 466. The lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The lodge was then opened in the second degree, and Bro. the Rev. William Langley, P.M. 50 and 1130, P.P.G.S.W., having been deputed to officiate as Installing Master for the P.G. Master, Bro. Kelly, whose absence was owing to sudden illness, the S.W., Bro. J. C. Duncombe, P.G.A.D.C. Norths. and Hunts., P.G.J.D. Leicester and Rutland, was presented to him as the W.M.-elect. It is needless to say that Bro. Langley performed this important ceremony in his usual skilful and impressive manner. After the new W.M. had been regularly installed, saluted, and greeted according to ancient custom, he proceeded to invest the officers for the ensuing year as follows: Bros. J. G. Bennett, S.W.; J. Hardy, J.W.; J. M. Kew, S.D.; C. P. Newcome, J.D.; W. Berridge, I.G.; W. C. Crowson and J. Reed, Stewards. A vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to Bro. Langley, the Installing Master, and ordered to be recorded on the minutes. A candidate for initiation at the next meeting was proposed by the W.M., and seconded by Bro. Bailey. Apologies for absence were received from the P.G. Master, Bro. Kelly (through illness); also from the D.P.G. Master Norths. and Hunts., Bro. Inns, and many other brethren, expressing their best and fraternal wishes to the W.M.-elect. The lodge was then closed down in due form by the W.M., and the brethren retired to a sumptuous banquet at the Crown Hotel, provided in a most liberal manner by Bro. Crowson, the newly-installed W.M. presiding. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, the healths of the P.G.M. and W.M. being most cordially received. "The Visitors" was proposed by the W.M. and responded to by Bros. Orford Douglas, Fast, and Law, and after a number of other toasts, the proceedings, which passed off with great clat, terminated about ten o'clock, owing to the exigencies of trains.

MARKET RASEN.—Bayon's Lodge, No. 1286.—The annual meeting took place on Monday, the 4th inst., when Bro. E. E. Jevons, the W.M.-elect, was duly installed as W.M. for the ensuing year by W. Bro. Watkins, P.M. 297, P.G. Supt. of Works, and he appointed his officers as follows: W. Bro. Atkins, I.P.M.; Bros. Makins, S.W.; the Rev. J. Saunders, J.W.; the Rev. T. P. Holdich, Chap.: W. Bro. Turnour, P.M., P.P.G.S., Treas.; Bros. Strong, S.D.; Cocking, J.D. and Sec.; Henson, I.G.; and Marshall, Tyler. The lodge having been closed, the brethren adjourned to the White Hart Hotel, where a sumptuous banquet was prepared, W. Bro. E. E. Jevons, W.M., in the chair. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly proposed, and a most enjoyable evening spent. The various speeches showed a true Masonic spirit amongst the brethren present, and augurs well for a happy year under direction of the W.M.

ROYAL ARCH.

METROPOLITAN.

Victoria Chapter, No. 1056.—This excellent and most prosperous chapter held its convocation at Bro. Gosden's, Masons' Hall, Masons'-avenue, E.C., on Monday, the 4th inst. In the absence of Comp. William Long, M.E.Z., Comp. James Brett, P.Z., A.G.P., presided, supported by Comps. E. Gottheil, H.; Forsyth, J.; Pendlebury, S.E.; Ehnhuus, S.N.; Newman, P.S.; Ferguson, 1st A.S.; J. D. Taylor, 2nd A.S.; and Grant, Janitor. Bros. Charles Challis Taylor, W.M. 141, and John Kennett, S.D. 141, presenting themselves as aspirants to this supreme degree, were exalted accordingly, and in a manner worthy the reputation of the very excellent companion who presided. About forty companions partook of the banquet, which the worthy host knows sowell how to provide. Songs by Comps. Brett, Forsyth, Worrell, Thompson, and others, enlivened the entertainment. The usual toasts were given, and the responses were characterised by commendable brevity. The entire harmony which exists among the companions of this chapter, coupled with the agreeable surroundings of the banqueting-room, resulted in a most delightful evening being spent by all present. The chapter was honoured on this occasion by the following visitors: Comps. H. T. Thompson, H. 507; William Warrell, 720; Thos. Price, J. 975; M'Namara, 3; H. F. Stacey, 865.

PROVINCIAL.

NORTHAMPTON.—Northampton Chapter, No. 360.—There was a good attendance at this chapter on Thursday, Nov. 30, when the officers for the ensuing year were elected, viz.: Comps. Boémé, M.E.Z.; Dr. Sedgwick, P.G.C. &c., 2nd Principal; Kellett, 3rd Principal; J. V. Stanton, N.; Robinson, E.; Howes, P.S.; Green, 1st A.S.; Jones, 2nd A.S. No other business coming before the chapter, the companions adjourned to refreshment, and an hour or two was spent in a very enjoyable manner.

HANLEY.—Staffordshire Knot Chapter, No. 418.—A regular convocation was held at the Mechanics' Institution on Tuesday week, when Bro. Warwick Savage was exalted in due form by Comp. W. H. Hales, M.E.Z., assisted by Comps. Rodgers, as H.; G. Outrim, P.Z., as J.; W. Hall, P.Z., as P.S.; and Comp. J. B. Piercy, S.N. The business also included the installation of Comp. James Rodgers as 1st Principal; Comp. J. C. Daniel, as H.; and Comp. J. S. Crapper, as J.; which ceremony was ably performed by Comp. W. Hall, P.Z.—On Wednesday week a chapter of emergency was held, when the Right Hon. the Earl of Shrewsbury, Prov. Grand Master of Staffordshire, was exalted into Royal Arch Masonry, the ceremony being very ably performed by Comp. G. S. Tudor, P.Z., Grand Superintendent, assisted by Comp. W. H. Hales, P.Z., who delivered the mystic lecture, Comp. J. Rodgers, as H., who delivered the symbolic lecture, and Comp. G. Outrim, P.Z., as J., who delivered the historical lecture—Comp. W. Hall, P.Z., acting as Principal Sojourner, and Comp. J. B. Piercy, S.N. The chapter was then closed in due form, and the companions adjourned to a sumptuous banquet at the Queen's Hotel.

ORDERS OF CHIVALRY.

RED CROSS OF CONSTANTINE.

Original or Premier Conclave of England.—A quarterly assembly of this conclave was held at Freemasons' Tavern, on the 4th inst., under the presidency of V.E. Sir Kt. Angelo J. Lewis, M.A., M.P.S., who was supported by E. Sir Kt. George Kenning, V., eighteen members, and the following visitors: V.E. Sir Kts. J. Lewis Thomas, G.A.R., M.P.S. 2; Dr. C. Parker Ward, S.G. 2; and Capt. C. J. Burgess, No. 15. The conclave having been duly opened, ballots were taken for three candidates—one of whom, Bro. H. A. Dubois, S.W. 1326, being in attendance, was then regularly installed a knight of this ancient Order. The resignation of Sir Kt. Boord, S.G., was announced, and received with regret, and the following promotions were made in the offices: Sir Kts. Andrew, S.G.; Moss, J.G.; Sillifant, H.P.; Taylor, P.; Barrett, S.B.; and Yeoman, H. Apologies from absent officers and candidates having been read, the conclave was closed, and the knights companions adjourned to the refectory, where a banquet was served, and another of the harmonious and happy meetings, so characteristic of the Premier Conclave, was enjoyed by all present. The knights showed their loyalty by cordially singing the National Anthem, all upstanding, and the healths of the Queen and the Royal family were greeted with enthusiasm. Sir Kt. H. Parker, G.O., presided at the pianoforte, and ably accompanied several songs, which were very pleasingly rendered by Sir Kts. Dyer, Moss, Marsh, and others.

St. Andrew's Conclave, No. 15.—This conclave met on St. Andrew's Day, at Masons' Hall Tavern, Masons'-avenue, City, under the sceptre of E. Sir Kt. R. Kenyon, M.P.S., who was supported by V.E. Sir Kt. Raynham Stewart, G.P., Past M.P.S., and other knights. Bro. Captain C. J. Burgess, Secretary of the National (Red Cross) Society for Aid to the Sick and Wounded in War, was installed a knight, and Sir Kt. Marsh, G.A., was elected an honorary member. A banquet followed the proceedings in conclave.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

PLYMOUTH.—The Royal Veterans' Encampment, No. 10.—This encampment assembled at the Huyshe Masonic Temple, on the evening of Wednesday, the 6th inst. Much interest was evinced, not only because it was the appointed time for the selection of the officers of the encampment, but because of the fact that three gentlemen, well known for their high position and zeal in the Craft, locally, presented themselves for installation as Knights Templar, and that the ceremony would be performed by a much-esteemed Sir Knight, whose impressive and correct mode of working is well remembered by the Masonic Knights Templar in this neighbourhood. Accordingly, after the opening of the encampment, under the presidency of Sir Knight Henry Dubosc, the ballot taken, and other preliminaries adjusted, Bros. Harris (the Collector of Inland Revenue in this district), Gover (the indefatigable Secretary of the Devon Committee of Petitions), and Westcott (the publisher of "The Devon and Cornwall Masonic Guide") were introduced, and at the hands of Sir Kt. Rodda, were duly installed Knights Templar in a most solemn and effective manner. The whole of the officers were most perfect in their knowledge of the duties assigned to each. Solemn music added its graceful charm to the occasion, and as perfect ceremonial is the only useful ceremonial to teach the glorious truth so dramatically symbolised in the degree, it was no matter of surprise to hear the candidates declare, at the conclusion of the working, how deeply rivetted on their recollections were the various incidents of a weary pilgrimage. On the finish of the ceremony, Sir Kt. J. Watts, in some well-chosen remarks, expressed the satisfaction of the members of the "Veteran" at seeing Sir Kt. Rodda once more among them, and trusted he would for many years be with them to aid them by his assistance and his counsel. The attention of those present was then forcibly directed by Sir Kt. Watts to the very beautiful paraphernalia, which was used for the first time, adorning the beautiful room in the Huyshe Temple in which they were assembled. In those beautiful and sacred objects were also exhibited the kindly affection and great esteem of the E.C. of the encampment, Sir Kt. Henry Dubosc, who was esteemed wherever known, and whose zeal in the Order was recognised by the clothing and jewels which he wore as an officer in the Grand Conclave of England and Wales, and also of the Grand Conclave of the province of Devon. A hearty and grateful acknowledgment of Sir Kt. Dubosc's kindness was carried by acclamation, to which the E.C. replied in characteristic terms of modest gratification that his presence gave his companions pleasure. The election of the E.C. then followed, and also of other officers; and after devotional exercises, the evening was brought to a happy conclusion. Among those present to witness the ceremony, in addition to those already mentioned, were: Sir Kts. Bird and Rodd, P.E.C.'s; J. J. Clase, Prelate pro tem.; Austin, 1st Captain;

Harvey, 2nd Captain; J. Watts, P.E.C., P.P.G.T., Acting Expert; Curteis, Hipley, F. P. Holmes, J. O. Oxland (of "Tancred," Cambridge), Herbert Hearle, Registrar, &c., who all testified to the occasion being one of unalloyed comfort and pleasure.

CONSECRATION OF A MARK LODGE (S.C.) AT MARYPORT.

The Lodge of True Friendship, No. 26 (S.C.), Maryport, having been chartered by the Supreme Chapter of Scotland, Saturday, the 2nd instant, was fixed for the consecration thereof. The lodge was punctually opened at 12.15, by Bro. W. Foster, P.M., P.Z., Prov. G.J.O., and R.W.M.-designate, assisted by the officers. Bros. C. F. Matier, 30°, Dep. Prov. G.M.M., and L. Mackersy, 30°, G.S.E. of Scotland, were then announced, and were saluted by the brethren according to their rank. After the usual preliminaries, in which the brethren signified their assent to the officers named, a beautiful oration on the moral teachings and objects of the Degree was given in a most impressive manner by the Grand Scribe E., and was listened to with deep attention by all. The D. Prov. G.M.M. then proceeded to the consecration, and after the corn, wine, and oil had been carried round, descended from the dais, with the thurible, and after circumambulating the lodge three times, solemnly dedicated and constituted it under the name of the True Friendship Lodge of M.M., No. 26 (S.C.) After the concluding portion of the dedicatory prayer, most impressively given by the Grand Scribe E., Bro. Foster was presented for the benefit of installation to the Dep. P.G.M.M., and the brethren having retired, a Board of Installed Mark Masters was formed, and Bro. Foster placed, with all due formality, in the chair of Adoniram. The brethren having been readmitted, saluted the newly-installed Master, who immediately proceeded to appoint his officers, who were invested and severally addressed by Bro. Matier, who also gave the charges from the West, North, and East to the R.W.M., officers, and brethren. A letter of apology for absence was read from Bro. Thos. Entwisle, R.W. Prov. G.M.M., who was prevented from being present by illness. Bros. Mackersy and Matier were then unanimously elected honorary members of the lodge, and a hearty vote of thanks accorded to them for coming so long a distance to perform the ceremony.

The lodge was then closed in ancient form, with solemn prayer, and the brethren adjourned to banquet at the Freemasons' Arms. After a plain but substantial repast, the usual loyal and formal Masonic toasts followed. "The Supreme Chapter of Scotland" was responded to by the Grand Scribe E., who disclaimed any idea of invading English territory on the part of the S.G.R.A.C. of Scotland, and spoke at some length on the efforts being made to promote a union among the brethren of the Mark Degree, and the various jurisdictions at present ruling it.

Bro. Matier, D. Prov. G.M.M., returned thanks for the Prov. G. Lodge of Lancashire and the Northern Counties, and assured the brethren of the earnest desire which actuated every member of that body to place the Degree on its proper footing. He then proposed "The Health of Bro. Foster, R.W.M.," who responded at some length, and thanked the brethren for placing him in the position he occupied.

The proceedings were somewhat curtailed by the fact that the last train left at seven o'clock, shortly before which the visitors retired, after expressing their pleasure at the way in which they had been received.

The new Mark Lodge promises to be a great success, and from the great amount of pains taken with the working, certainly deserves to prosper. We regret we are unable to give either a complete list of officers or brethren present.

BRO. W. J. HUGHAN, of Truro, Cornwall, will be very glad to hear from any brethren who possess, or know of, minutes of lodges, or copies of MS. Constitutions, of an older date than A.D. 1720. Our well-known and highly-esteemed Brother is now engaged in preparing another work for the press, which we believe will pay especial attention to the MS. Constitutions of the Freemasons, and has in his possession several copies of these ancient and valuable documents, which he will publish for the first time. He is particularly anxious to have every information obtainable with respect to these manuscripts in the possession of lodges and brethren, as soon as possible.

ANCIENT AND ACCEPTED RITE.—The Supreme Grand Council 33° for the Northern Jurisdiction, United States, met at Boston, Massachusetts, on the 14th November. M.P. and Ill. Bro. J. H. Drummond presided, and delivered his annual address which was a most able and comprehensive document. He reviewed the proceedings of foreign Grand Councils, and warned all true members of the Rite against countenancing the Rite of Memphis as an unclean thing. A number of S.P.R.S. 32° were elected and proclaimed members of the 33°, and the following amendment in the Constitutions was made "The degrees conferred in a Lodge of Perfection, shall not be conferred upon any person unless he is a Master Mason in good standing in the State of his residence." The session closed on the 16th ult.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled—"JAMES EPPS & CO., Homoeopathic Chemists, London." Also, makers of Epps's Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk).—[Advt.]

THE BEST FIRST.—Turner's Tamarind Cough Emulsion for the Throat and Bronchia, 13½d. and 29 per bot.—All wholesale houses in London and Liverpool, and any respectable Chemist.—[Advt.]

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Diseases of Advanced Years.—When man has passed to the borders of old age, the digestion becomes more or less impaired, the nervous system grows feeble, and the physical power shows increasing weakness. Hence arise the congestions of liver, lungs, head, followed by dropsy, asthma, or apoplexy, which too frequently afflict the aged. The liver usually first gets torpid, but its activity may speedily be revived by rubbing Holloway's Ointment thoroughly over the pit of the stomach and right side at least twice a day, and taking the Pills at the same time. The same treatment cures all other congested organs, by varying the parts rubbed according to the situation of the congestion.—[Advt.]

"MORE than a year ago one of my children was attacked with bronchitis, and, after a long illness, was given up by all physician as 'past cure.' I was then induced to try your Vegetable Pain Killer, and from the time I began the use of it the child rapidly got better, and it is now strong and healthy."—JOHN WINSTANTLEY, 10, Whittle-st., Lpool, 1869.—To P. D. & Son."

A full report of the Manchester Shakspeare Lodge will appear in our next.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending Friday, December 22, 1871.

SATURDAY, DEC. 16.

Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. C. S. Dilley, Preceptor.
Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 7; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.

MONDAY, DEC. 18.

Lodge 1, Grand Masters, Freemasons' Hall.
" 8, British, Freemasons' Hall.
" 21, Emulation, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street.
" 58, Felicity, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
" 185, Tranquillity,
" 720, Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham.
" 862, Whittington, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
" 907, Royal Albert, Freemasons' Hall.
" 1201, Eclectic, Freemasons' Hall.
Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern, Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30; Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (150), Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street (opposite Pantheon), Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. J. R. Stacey, Preceptor.
Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. Dilley, Preceptor.
St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, DEC. 19.

Board of General Purposes, Freemasons' Hall, at 3.
Lodge 73, Mount Lebanon, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark.
" 95, Eastern Star, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 162, Cadogan, Freemasons' Hall.
Chap. 11, Enoch, Freemasons' Hall.
" 19, Mount Sinai, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
" 167, St. John's,
" 186, Industry, Freemasons' Hall.
Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, Preceptor.
Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.
Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, Gladstone Tavern, Bishopsgate-st. Within, at 7.30; Bro. Bolton (W.M. 1227), Preceptor.
St. Marylebone Lodge of Instruction (1305), British Stores Tavern, New-street, St. John's Wood, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 20.

Lodge of Benevolence, Freemasons' Hall, at 6.
Lodge 30, United Mariners, George Htl., Aldermanbury.
" 140, St. George's, Trafalgar Hotel, Greenwich.
" 174, Sincerity, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street.
" 700, Nelson, Masonic Hall, Woolwich.
" 969, Maybury, Freemasons' Hall.
" 1044, New Wandsworth, Spread Eagle Tav., New Wandsworth.
Chap. 217, Stability, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7½.
Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Ludus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, DEC. 21.

House Committee Girls' School.
Lodge 23, Globe, Freemasons' Hall.
" 49, Gihon, Guildhall Coffee House, Gresham-st.
" 169, Temperance, White Swan Tavern, Deptford.
" 179, Manchester, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
" 1139, South Norwood, South Norwood Hall.
" 1287, Great Northern, Great Northern Htl., King's Cross.
Chap. 79, Pythagorean, Ship Hotel, Greenwich.
K.T. Encampment, Observance, 21, Bedford-row.

The R.A. Chapter of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor. Ceremony, Illustrations of Banners and Ensigns, and part sections.
Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses, Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Panmure Lodge of Instruction (720), Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7; Bro. John Thomas, Preceptor.
Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern, Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.
Chigwell Lodge of Instruction, Bald-faced Stag Hotel, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30.

FRIDAY, DEC. 22.

House Committee Boys' School.
Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington on Htl. Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Muggeridge, Preceptor.
Robert Burns Lodge of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-st., at 8; Bro. W. Watson, Preceptor.
Burgoyne Lodge of Instruction, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, N.W., at 8.
St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
Burdett Coutts Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
Clapton Lodge of Instruction, White Hart, Clapton, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West Smith, Preceptor.

M. A. VERKRÜZEN (Grower's Agent),
Invites attention to his Fine and Extensive Stock of
PURE AND SELECTED GERMAN WINES,
INCLUDING THE
LIGHT, REFRESHING DINNER SORTS, and all grades up to the Greatest Growths.

Certain of these Wines have acquired celebrity for their curative effects in cases of stone and gravel, they act beneficially on the liver and kidneys, counteract constipation, promote skin action, are invaluable in cases of dropsy, rheumatism, and gout, tone and purify the blood, greatly assist digestion, and diffuse throughout the system, even in the coldest weather, an agreeable sense of gentle warmth.

Nothing is so refreshing, nothing gives such zest to a meal.

DELICIOUS DINNER SORTS. From 17s. 6d. to 36s. per doz.	DESSERT CLASS. VERY FINE. 40s. to 72s. GRANDEST. 78s. to 150s. doz.	SPARKLING. HOCK. 30s. to 78s. MOSELLE. 30s. to 60s. doz.
--	--	---

Packing and delivery within three miles' radius free.

Wholesale Depot: 3, Fell-street, Wood-street, London, E.C.

Can also be ordered through the Trade.

Each bottle bears the name of M. A. VERKRÜZEN, as a guarantee.

"VERY FINE CHAMPAGNES" (by special contract), 34s., 40s., 46s., 58s., 70s. per dozen.

CHOICE SHERRIES. 26s. to 96s.	FINE PORTS. 30s. to 72s.	FINE CLARETS. 12s. to 36s.
---	------------------------------------	--------------------------------------

Other Wines of Superior Quality, at lowest prices (the Wines may be tasted at the Depot).

Detailed Price Current forwarded on application.

Terms Cash, Cheques crossed "Bank of England."

WINES FOR INVALIDS SPECIALLY SELECTED ACCORDING TO THE CASE.

NOW READY,

(SECOND EDITION.)

PRICE TWO SHILLINGS.

ROAN TUCK, GILT EDGES.

THE COSMOPOLITAN MASONIC CALENDAR

AND

POCKET-BOOK FOR 1872,

CONTAINING—

Lists of Lodges, Chapters, Conclaves & Encampments, with the names of Officers, in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, the Colonial Dependencies, Europe, the United States, South American Empires, etc., etc.

To be had of all Booksellers, Tylers, Janitors, Scutlins, Equerries, &c., &c.

LONDON: GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-street, and 2 3 and 4, Little Britain, E.C.
LIVERPOOL: " 2, Monument-place.
DUBLIN: CHARLES HEDGELONG, 26, Grafton-street.
EDINBURGH: JOHN MENZIES & Co., 12, Hanover-street.
GLASGOW: " 1, Royal Bank-place.

Masonic Presentation Jewels.
A LARGE STOCK NOW ON SHOW
AT
BRO. GEO. KENNING'S
Manufactory, 2, 3 and 4, Little Britain, E.C.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGE
REVIEWS—
What the People say about Children, and what the Children say about Canada ...	783
Life and Shadows in a Canine Life ...	783
Church Sermons by Eminent Clergymen ...	783
The Speaker's Commentary Reviewed ...	783
POETRY—
His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales ...	783
FREEMASONRY AND ISRAELITISM ...	783, 784, & 785
ISRAELITISH ORIGIN OF THE ANGLO-SAXON RACE ...	785 & 786
PHILOSOPHY OF FREEMASONRY ...	786
ROYAL BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION ...	787
CITY OF LONDON MASONIC CLUB ...	787
BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, AND DEATHS ...	788
ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS ...	788
TOLERANCE ...	788
H. R. H. THE PRINCE OF WALES ...	788
MULTAM IN PARVO ...	789
ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE—
Scotch Mark Masters ...	789
Masonic Charities ...	789
The Philosophy of Freemasonry ...	789 & 790
The Prince of Wales ...	790
"The Cauld House o' Clay" ...	790
REUNION OF THE SHAKESPERE LODGE,
NO. 1009, MANCHESTER ...	790, 791, & 792
THE CRAFT—
Metropolitan ...	792
Provincial... ..	792 & 793
ROYAL ARCH—
Provincial ... ..	793
SCOTLAND ... ..	793
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ...	794
ADVERTISEMENTS ...	781, 782, 794, 795, & 796

Reviews.

What the People say about the Children, and what the Children say about Canada. MARIA S. RYE. Printed by James Wade, 18, Tavistock-street, Covent-garden.

A very interesting little book, and one which is calculated to convey to the mind a clearer conception of the great and good work in which Miss Rye is engaged than a more pretentious volume of mere description could possibly effect. Letters from the children, relating their experiences in the homes procured for them in Canada through Miss Rye's agency, are given verbatim et literatim, and also communications from the farmers and others with whom the children have been placed. We cordially commend Miss Rye's pamphlet to all interested in solving the problem of emigration.

Church Sermons, by Eminent Clergymen. Published weekly, price 1d., and in monthly parts 5d., by REEVES, SON & CO., Playhouse-yard, Blackfriars.

The object of these publications is to extend the usefulness of good sermons beyond the limits of the congregation to whom they are addressed. Each number contains two sermons, and those already printed comprise some of the eloquent utterances of such men as Bishop Wilberforce, Dean Stanley, and Canon Liddon. It will be acknowledged that Messrs. Reeves, Son and Co., are supplying a desideratum which has long been felt, and the success of their venture cannot, therefore, be doubtful.

Life and Shadows in a Canine Life. Simpkin, Marshall, and Co., Stationers Hall-court.

In this volume, a lady—who is evidently a warm friend to animals—relates the life and adventures of her dog "Ugly." It is pleasingly written—although some of the incidents mentioned might, perhaps, have been omitted without lessening the value of the work; but every one possessed of a humane mind must commend the object of the publication, which is, to enlist the sympathies of those who may have hitherto misunderstood the duties they owe to God's dumb creatures, and to lead to the exercise of gentleness and kindness towards them. The profits of the book will be given to the "Ladies' Educational Branch of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals."

The Speaker's Commentary Reviewed. By THOMAS LUMSDEN STRANGE, late a Judge of the High Court of Madras. Trübner and Co., 60, Paternoster-row.

We need do nothing more than indicate that this work ignores the authenticity of the Scriptures as a revelation from the Divine Being to man, and combats especially the positions maintained by the Archbishop of York, and other clerical dignitaries, in their recent "Explanatory and Critical Commentary" on the Holy Bible. Mr. Strange's remarks, however, although trenchant at times, are not tinged with the bitterness which too frequently characterizes similar assaults upon biblical theology.

P o e t r y .

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES.

BY MRS. L. A. CZARNECKI.

A nation's heart was throbbing,
A nation's tears were shed,
Men trembled for the morrow
To bring them news of dread.
On a bed of painful anguish,
And grappling with a foe
That neither king nor peasant spares,
But ruthless lays them low,

Lay the Prince, proud England's son,
Unconscious of the love
That rose in universal prayer
For mercy from above.
Ah! there he lay, so helpless,
In that grim tyrant's grasp,
Only the Mighty Master's hand
Could that deadly grip unclasp.

Even hope grew sick and faint,
And fainter every hour,
As still the Royal victim lay
In the fell destroyer's power.
Then, then, the great and gracious One
Stretched out His arm to save,
Gently led him safely back
From the brink of the yawning grave.

HE raised him up in strength again,
And made us learn to know
How in His sure and wondrous love
He spared us bitter woe.
O, Prince, my highest wish for thee,
Through all thy earthly span,
That thou be great and aye retain
The love of God and Man.

FREEMASONRY & ISRAELITISM.

BY BRO. WILLIAM CARPENTER, P.M. & P.Z. 177.

XXIV.

The noon of papal dominion, as Hallam calls it, was the thirteenth century. Rome inspired, during this age, all the terror of her ancient name. She was once more the mistress of the world, and kings were her vassals. The promulgation of the canon law, which was almost entirely founded on the legislative authority of the Pope, tended greatly to secure this dominion. The superiority of ecclesiastical to temporal power, or at least the absolute independence of the former, was a sort of keynote regulating every part of it. It was expressly declared, among other things, that subjects owe no allegiance to an excommunicated lord, if, after admonition, he is not reconciled to the church. This was followed by the institution of the mendicant orders, eminently of the Dominicans and the Franciscans, a kind of regular troops or garrison of the Papacy, who repaid their benefactors by a more than usual obsequiousness and alacrity in their services, and vied with each other in magnifying the papal supremacy. In the reign of Edward III., the hierarchy had again so intrenched itself in privileges and immunities, and so far exempted itself from all secular jurisdiction, that no civil penalty could be inflicted on them for any malversation in office; and, as even treason itself was declared to be no canonical offence, nor sufficient reason for deprivation or other spiritual censures, they had insured almost total impunity, and were not bound by any political law or statute. Archbishop Stratford, in a letter to the king, told him that there were two powers by which the world was governed—the Holy Pontifical Apostolic dignity, and the Royal subordinate authority; that, of these two powers, the clerical was evidently the supreme, since the priests were to answer at the tribunal of the Divine judgment for the conduct of kings themselves; that, prelates had heretofore cited emperors before their tribunal, had sat in judgment on their life and behaviour, and had anathematized them for their offences. Again, these pretensions, and the acts accompanying them, raised the nation against the church. "The Parliament asserted that the usurpations of the Pope were the cause of all the plagues, injuries, famine, and poverty of the realm; were more destructive to it than all the wars, and were the reason why it contained not a third of the inhabitants and commodities which it formerly possessed; that the taxes levied by him exceeded by five times those paid to the king; that everything was venal in the sinful city of Rome; and that even the patrons in England had thence learned to practice simony without shame or remorse. They petitioned the king to employ no churchman in any office of state; and they even spoke in plain terms of expelling by force the papal authority, and thereby providing a remedy against oppressions which they neither could nor would any longer endure."

Similar, but more sanguinary, contests were being carried on in Germany, between the civil and the ecclesiastical powers; the latter claiming, and, as far as they could, exercising their power over crowns and peoples. In the fourteenth century, Pope John deposed and excommunicated the Emperor Louis, and, afterwards, threw him into prison; and John's successor confirmed all the bulls that had been issued against the Emperor. These and similar acts, however, produced their natural results, and the princes of the empire, ecclesiastical as well as secular, in a diet held at Frankfort, established the famous constitution by which it was irrevocably decreed that the plurality of the suffrages of the electoral college was sufficient, without the sanction of the Pope, for the settlement of the imperial dignity; that the Pope had no superiority over the Emperor, nor any right to approve or reject his election; and that to maintain the contrary was high treason. The claim of the Popes to the government of the empire, during a vacancy, was disallowed, and the right declared to belong, by ancient custom, to the Count Palatine of the Rhine. The contest was renewed by succeeding Popes, but they were always, eventually, baffled. Their pretensions, however, were not circumscribed by the things of this life. They not only claimed the power of disposing of crowns, and of releasing nations from their oaths of allegiance, but of absolving individuals from the obligation of moral duties. They assumed and exercised the power of pardoning all offences and crimes; and, by the sale of indulgences, and of plenary pardons, assumed, not only to remit the sins of the living, but to release the dead from the pains of purgatory. The revolting profanity of openly selling these indulgences, in the alehouse and the marketplace, to even the vilest of the rabble, avowedly to raise a revenue for the papacy, produced a deep impression and a burning indignation in men's minds, and Luther's indignant and fervent denunciations awakened the slumbering spirit of not only the Germans but of the nations throughout Europe. In England, the labours of Wycliffe and his followers had long been preparing the public mind for a revolt against the usurpations of the papacy. The Bible had been read in the vernacular tongue, and this branch of the great Saxon family hailed the progress of the Reformation amongst their kinsmen in Germany, Switzerland, Sweden, Denmark, Norway, &c. While the people and their rulers were pressing towards the light, the Reformers were striving to produce a general revival, and to penetrate the whole mass with the principles of Christianity. The struggle with the papacy was no slight one. The strife was hard, but the glory was great. The Reformation had on its side many prayers, the sympathy of the people, and the rising influence of mind, which no power could arrest. The Papacy had in its favour the ancient order of things, the power of old customs, the zeal and hatred of formidable princes, and the power of that great emperor whose dominion extended over two worlds. At a critical juncture, the Pope (Clement VII.), seized with a strong infatuation, turned against the Emperor, and threatened him with excommunication. The result was, that Charles abruptly turned towards the Protestant princes, Mahomet himself having come to their aid by the invasion of Hungary; and, as Daubigny observes, "the puissant Charles, instead of marching with the Pope against the Reformation, as he had threatened at Seville, marched with the Reformation against the Pope." He addressed a manifesto to the people, in which he reproached the Pope for not behaving like the Father of the Faithful, but like an insolent and haughty man; and declared his astonishment that he, Christ's vicar, should dare to shed blood, to acquire earthly possessions, which was quite contrary to the evangelical doctrine. During these transactions in Germany, the dawn of truth rose upon other Saxon nations. I have already referred to England, which had been prepared to receive it. Henry VIII. was the instrument by which the first great blow was struck against Rome. He had previously so resolutely opposed the doctrines of the great Reformer, that he received from the Pope the honorary title of "Defender of the Faith." A quarrel of the king with the Pope, however, touching his desired divorce from Queen Katherine, and his marriage with Anne Boleyn, induced him to renounce the jurisdiction and supremacy of the Pontiff, and the Parliament, who, with the people generally, had become impatient of the foreign yoke, declared the king supreme head on earth of the Church of England. The monasteries were suppressed and their revenues seized, and the power and authority of the Pope were abrogated and overturned. This deposition of the papal power, however, was of but little benefit to the nation, or to the progress of the Reformation. Henry, self-willed and capricious, regarded himself as the religious centre of his subjects, and prescribed modes of faith according to his fancy. During his life and reign the face of religion was constantly changing, according to his caprice and unsteady character. During the short reign of his son and successor, Edward VI., some efforts were put forth, and some progress was made towards relieving the nation from many of the absurd fictions and debasing ceremonies which Henry had retained; but after his death, his sister, Mary, who was a fierce bigot, despotic and cruel, imposed anew upon the country the arbitrary laws and tyrannical yoke of Rome. Barbarous tortures, and death, in the most shocking forms, awaited those who opposed the sovereign will, and it was not until Elizabeth ascended the throne that the despotic yoke of papal authority was broken down, and the nation delivered from the bondage of Rome.

The Reformation, thus triumphant in Germany and England, spread itself far and wide, and almost all the European states welcomed its salutary beams and exulted in the prospect of an approaching deliverance from the yoke of despotism.

Thus, we have seen that, while the world, east and west, was being brought into bondage, its intellect blighted or dwarfed, and its religious aspirations perverted into a corrupting and debasing channel, by the ambitious and despotic machinations of a power which, assuming to be Christian and apostolic, was intent upon the acquisition of worldly power and wealth; and by the equally-ambitious and despotic, but more coarse, gross, sensual, and hebetating system of Mahomet—at a time when it might be truly said, "Darkness covered the earth, and gross darkness the minds of the people"—the Saxon nations were being prepared to combat these mighty and mischievous powers, and again to become instruments of deliverance and a means of light to the nations. It had been said, ages previously, "Thou art my servant . . . O Israel, in whom I will be glorified" (Isa. xlix. 3). "Shall the spoil be taken from the mighty, or the prey seized from the terrible be rescued? Yea, thus saith the Lord, even the prey of the mighty shall be retaken, and the spoil seized by the terrible shall be rescued; for with those who contend with thee I will contend, and thy children I will deliver . . . and all flesh shall know that I, the Lord, am thy Saviour, and that thy Redeemer is the Mighty One of Jacob" (ver. 25, 26). The deliverance was not to come from the Celtic, but from the Saxon race—the descendants of Israel, to whom were the promises. These were to deliver the spoil and the prey from the mighty and the terrible; and from the midst of them was to break forth "a strong light;" and "her salvation like a blazing torch: and the nations shall see thy righteousness, and all the kings thy glory; and thou shalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall put upon thee." [Protestants?]

A power like that of the Papacy, which aims to exercise a direct spiritual, and an indirect—when a direct is impracticable—temporal supremacy throughout the world, though it may often be checked, and sometimes prostrated, will never yield, while there are even faint hopes of recovery. The Reformation having deprived it of a large number of its subjects, and greatly abridged its powers, a new instrumentality was employed to bring back its lost subjects, and revive and extend its dominion. The Society of Jesus, originated by Ignatius Loyola, in 1534, was adopted by Pope Paul III.; and the Jesuits soon became the active and unscrupulous emissaries of the Papal power, throughout Europe. The intrigues and the plots against kings and governments which they originated in different countries, exposed them, every now and then, to the resentment of the civil powers. They were banished from several kingdoms, but they pursued their work with an energy and amidst multifarious difficulties which must always excite admiration, if not wonder. But the complaints against them became, at length, so loud and general, that Clement XIV. appointed a Commission of Inquiry; and, in 1773, he abolished the Order. They were too useful a body, however, to be thus set aside, and, in 1814, they were re-established by Pius VII. The present Pope, Pius IX., threw himself into their arms, and became fascinated with their ambitious design of realizing the fond dream of the most aspiring of the Popes, which was nothing less than the spiritual domination of the successors of St. Peter, and to bring the civil powers of all Europe into subjection to them. This was to be accomplished by the Œcumenical Council of 1870, which claimed for the Papacy the highest ecclesiastical and political supremacy that was ever claimed, even in the palmiest days of pontifical dominion. But as the Saxons resisted the usurpations and pernicious doctrines and practices of the Papacy in the sixteenth century, so do they seem likely to successfully resist and humble it in the nineteenth century. The novel and monstrous doctrine of the Pope's infallibility, declared and promulgated by the Council, produced a shock in the Roman Catholic Church, which already threatens more mischief to Rome than any occurrence since the days of Luther. The inordinate pretensions, spiritual and temporal, which menaced everything like liberty, not only of action, but of speech and thought, beyond the sacred limits of the Vatican, has created great consternation amongst the more enlightened and independent members of the hierarchy, as well as of the laity; and now, as in the sixteenth century, a flame has been kindled in Germany which bids fair to consume many of the gross abuses which have again been introduced into the church, and were fast extinguishing the light of Divine truth therein. The excommunication of Dr. Dollinger aroused the churches, and 500 professors, priests, and laymen assembled at Munich in solemn congress, to uphold their independence against the aggressions of the Papacy. Already, ecclesiastical censures have been set at nought; and in spite of them, priests have ministered, congregations accepting their services. The rubicon once passed, the necessity grows in area and intensity.

The "Old Catholics," with Dr. Dollinger's reluctant acquiescence, have resolved to supply their congregations, everywhere, with priests and services, and to demand for them legal recognition, and their proportion of Church property and of ecclesiastical edifices. They will transfer priests from place to place, if necessary, and will invest in the congregation, lay as well as clerical, the general government. This is, to all intents and purposes, a new Establishment. The "Old Catholics" have ceased to be a portion of the Roman Catholic Church; they have become a new religious denomination. In Munich and other Bavarian cities large congregations of the new Church have been constituted, and it appears likely that within a few months every important town of the German empire will have its own congregation. And the government of Bavaria is supporting the Council and the new churches, which have also the sympathy of a large portion of the Roman Catholics in Germany. This new Reformation, as it promises to be, which, as in Luther's time, comes forth out of the Church itself, was anticipated by many bishops of the Church, as the result of such pretensions being put forth by the Papacy as those which obtained the vote of the so-called Ecumenical Council. The Archbishop of Olmutz declared that "he trembled because he foresaw that the faithful would not only have to endure an intolerable scandal in the imposition of the novel dogma, but also because the Church would be exposed to the most imminent shipwreck." Another prelate told the Council that "the dogma would be rejected by most people as an unheard-of novelty; that henceforth the doctrines of the Church would be assailed as changed and falsified; and that the authority of the Pope and the Council would perish together." Another declared, before heaven and the assembled fathers, that "with fear he felt that the mystical Body of Christ would be rent asunder by the promulgation of such a dogma; that, if it were passed, peace and charity in the Church of the faithful would henceforth be continually disturbed; that the ingenuous love which the whole Catholic world then bore to the Holy See of Rome would be everywhere weakened, or, rather, smothered, and that even the Council itself would be subject to the pain and suspension of having been assembled merely for the securing of temporal ends." Lastly, the Bishop of Mayence, Dr. Kettler, who was a moderate Ultramontane, prophesied that if the doctrine passed the Council, the certain outcome would be, that "it would cause schism within the Church, and, outside of it, the bitter and irreconcilable hatred of all non-Catholics."

Thus has "vaulting ambition o'er-leapt itself, and fallen on t'other side." The Papacy had already lost the temporal States, of which it had from time to time taken possession, and called its "Patrimony," and indispensable to the exercise of its spiritual rule; and, now, from the depths of what Pio Nono calls his "Vatican prison," in which, as it has been said, he has his choice of as many gilded and sunny dungeons as there are days in the year, he hurls anathemas against the members of his Church, who, foreseeing the calamities which must necessarily follow from the maintenance of the monstrous pretensions put forth under the sanction of a Council, falsely called Ecumenical, refuse to accept them, and protest against their sacrilegious character. The Germans, our Saxon kinsmen, have again the distinction of awakening the church and the nations to a sense of the dangers by which they were menaced, and of bringing to the light of day the ambitious designs and crooked devices of the Papacy, which still cherishes the notion it has for so many centuries clung to, of finally establishing a universal spiritual and temporal despotism.

I am not apprehensive that any of my Roman Catholic brothers will take offence at the freedom with which I have treated the ambitious policy and corrupt practices of the Papacy, and of the approving tone in which I have spoken of the hostility exhibited towards it by the Saxons of Germany and England. I offer no judgment here on the purely religious doctrines of the Church of Rome. I speak only of the abuses grafted upon it; of the secular power arrogated by the Papacy, and of the way in which it wielded its authority to enslave the minds and the bodies of men, making them passive instruments of its ambitious designs, which embraced nothing less than universal dominion. There are comparatively few Roman Catholics in the present day who approve of those gigantic abuses which were begotten by the exercise of an ecclesiastical power which has for centuries struggled to hold the human intellect in a state of bondage, and to reduce all virtue and religion to a superstitious reliance on, and passive obedience to, clerical power. The great majority of Roman Catholics, in these times, no more approve of the political machinations, nor submit their understandings to the condemnatory fulminations of the Papacy of the middle ages, than they do to the anathemas it now pronounces against Freemasons and Freemasonry. They regard them, alike, as an unauthorised and reprehensible exercise of spiritual tyranny. Whatever they may think of the Reformation in Germany, England, and other countries inhabited by the Saxon race; whether they be satisfied or dissatisfied with the circumstances attending its advent, the means employed for its establishment, or the religious changes effected by it; they will not deny that it operated a change in the intellectual and moral character of Europe, transforming it from a condition of darkness, mental slavery, and debasing superstition into one of intellectual activity and moral healthfulness, the benefits of which are spreading themselves throughout the world.

ISRAELITISH ORIGIN OF THE ANGLO-SAXON RACE.

A prolonged absence from home, and other causes, have prevented me from sooner reverting to the above subject, and also from noticing the observations of Bro. Carpenter on my former article. In the latter I find a very stupid blunder occurring in the paragraph commencing at line 25 from the bottom of column 3 page 664, as follows "Nothing is more natural than that both Israelites and Assyrians should be involved in one common ruin" &c. It should have been Israelites and Phenicians. The conclusion of the paragraph, which says that "numbers of the former should escape in the ships of the latter," is by the correction rendered intelligible, which it was not before. I am glad to see that Bro. Carpenter has not been misled by the blunder, and it is gratifying to me to find that he and I differ only in degree on the subject under discussion, and that the points of difference are only such as would incite a thoughtful reader to examine more deeply into the subject; this no doubt being the object that Bro. Carpenter mainly has in view. I must still, however, be permitted to say (the texts quoted by Bro. Carpenter notwithstanding) that I adhere to the opinion that the entire nation of Israel was not carried away by Shalmanezzer; and I must take exception to Bro. Carpenter's attempt to explain away the number of men engaged and prisoners taken in the war between Ahaz and Pekah king of Israel. It may reasonably be admitted that we are not always to take the numbers mentioned in Scripture as literally correct; sometimes they are manifestly erroneous and absurd; but I see no reason to doubt the substantial correctness of the numbers given in the Scripture narrative in reference to the war between Ahaz and Pekah. As a proof that the numbers mentioned in reference to this event are not greatly exaggerated it may be stated, that about fifty years previous to this time Amaziah, king of Judah, hired 100,000 men of Israel to assist him against the Edomites, and therefore there was no lack of inhabitants in the land of Israel.

Bro. Carpenter appears to me to rely too much on the literal correctness of some texts, while he throws some doubt on others and utterly ignores many which do not exactly bear out his conclusions. In reference to the great Passover celebrated by Josiah more than 100 years after the destruction of the kingdom of Israel (an account of which is given in 2 Chron. chap. 35.), it is distinctly stated that Judah and Israel were present. By this I do not mean to assume that more than a "remnant" of Israel attended the feast. It is sufficient for me to show that such a number of Israelites were present as to warrant the sacred historian in noticing the fact. It may be urged perhaps that these Israelites were residing in the cities of Judah, but in 2 Kings chap. 23 we have an account of Josiah's visit to Bethel and other cities of Samaria, where he broke down and burned the high places and zealously endeavoured to root out idolatry from Israel as well as from Judah. Now if all the children of Israel had been carried away, so that none were left (as has been erroneously supposed) and if in Josiah's time the inhabitants of Samaria were all Chaldeans, Babylonians, Assyrians, Medes and other strangers, it will be obvious that Josiah would have had neither reason or inclination to interfere with them any more than he would with the Phenicians, Edomites, Moabites or Philistines. I must therefore (with all respect for Bro. Carpenter) adhere to the opinion, that what the Assyrians did was to destroy Israel as a nation and kingdom, and that they carried away "the flower of the people," and sent in their place a miscellaneous lot of strangers, who probably intermarried with those Israelites who remained, and thus formed a mixed people whom the Jews would not recognise as true Israelites. Before this happened there is no doubt that many Israelites escaped into Judah, others to Egypt; a large number also doubtless escaped with the Phenicians to the island of Cyprus (from which we learn they were subsequently driven by the Assyrians) and to the Phenician colonies of North Africa and Spain. Some centuries later we know that the Phenicians were driven by the Romans from Africa and Spain and probably they ultimately settled in the British Islands and Ireland, as mentioned in my last article. It may be asked why should these people go to so remote a place as Great Britain? I have already shown that they were driven out of their own country westward by the Assyrians, and subsequently still further west by the Romans, who, after the fall of Carthage, overran Spain and Gaul, no resting-place was therefore left for them but the distant islands of Great Britain and Ireland, which were then scarcely known to and certainly unvisited by the Romans. We must also remember that the Phenicians were not only acquainted with the British Isles, but that for hundreds of years they had traded there regularly for tin, and must therefore have founded colonies at least on the coasts of Cornwall and Devonshire. What is therefore more probable than that this maritime nation (including many from the neighbouring tribes of Asher, Ephraim, Dan and other coast tribes of Israel) should endeavour to escape the ravages and oppressions of the Assyrians by emigrating to these distant foreign lands where many of their countrymen were already settled? While on this point I may mention that many of the prophets, when speaking of the restoration of Israel, speak of gathering them from the "Isles of the Sea." Now it is an undoubted historical fact that the Asiatic Phenicians were well acquainted with the "Tin islands" (as the British isles were called) and that tin was much used in Syria, Babylonia, Assyria and the adjoining countries, so that these "Isles of the Sea" would have a definite meaning in the mouths of the prophets who would of course know that many of the Israelites had fled thither. Viewed in this light many of the prophecies of Jeremiah and Ezekiel become more intelligible to us, and the expression "Isles of the Sea" appears to have a definite meaning, and is not merely a general and vague expression. It has been said that many of the Israelites escaped to Egypt, from whence the migration was easy down the Red Sea to the lower parts of Arabia. Dr. Woolf, in his "Narrative of a Mission to Bokhara," says he found some of the descendants of the tribe of Dan in the southern part of Arabia, that they called themselves "Beni Israel" (children of Israel) and had a tradition that they are descended from the tribe of Dan. Dr. A. Grant (who in 1844 was attached to an American Mission to the Nestorian inhabitants of the mountainous district near Lake Van, S.E. of the Black Sea) states that he is satisfied the Nestorians (many of whom are now Christians) are descended from the Israelites, who were placed there by the Assyrian kings. There is very little doubt of the correctness of this statement, but as these people do not number more than 200,000 it is quite clear that they can at best only form a small portion of the descendants of the ten tribes, who, it must be borne in mind, were to become a "multitude of nations." In the book of Tobit and other books of the Apocrypha we learn that many of the Israelites dwelt in much more easterly parts of Media than the region now accepted by the Nestorians, as for instance at Rhages, south of the Caspian Sea. We also know that this part of the country was frequently the scene of bloody and destructive wars, the effect of which would be to drive the Israelites still further east or north more probably the latter causing them to pass through the moderately level country to the east of the Caspian. Those who dwelt in the more mountainous parts of Media and Armenia would naturally retreat further north, between the Black and Caspian Seas. These two migrating streams, when they had reached a point sufficiently far north to be clear of the two great inland seas, would probably settle down for a time, but ultimately they would, as population increased, turn westerly and pass over the fertile plains of Southern Russia. Here Bro. Carpenter and I are on common ground, and as I have already occupied so much space I must not venture further west for the present. I must also with regret leave a further notice of Mr. Glover's interesting work on this subject to another occasion, although I fully intended to fulfil the promise made in my former letter.

As a resumé of the previous observations, it may be briefly stated that a considerable emigration of Israelites in conjunction with their neighbours, the Phenicians, had been established for many years before the destruction of the kingdom of Israel, and that this event increased the emigration, which ultimately reached our shores. That, although a large number of the ten tribes were placed in the cities of the Medes by the Assyrian kings (where many of them still remain), there was a regular dispersion of the nation in other directions, some remaining in Palestine to be absorbed by the new comers while others migrated to Egypt, Arabia and elsewhere. That many of the Median Israelites, especially those who dwelt in the flat country were forced to retreat before advancing enemies and ultimately reached Southern Russia, from whence, we learn from Bro. Carpenter and other writers, they spread over Eastern and Northern Europe. I hope to have another opportunity of following them in their further travels.

W. E. N., No. 766.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF FREEMASONRY.

CHAPTER THIRD.

OBEEDIENCE.

He is unfitted to command, who has not first learned to obey. Obedience is the true test of a Mason, as necessary to be cultivated as truth or charity. Without it no lodge can exist, no Master conduct its business. No brother can presume to assert an independence of action, contrary to the voice of the Master and the lodge. He has his remedy, if aggrieved, by an appeal to the Supreme Body; but the Master's word in lodge assembled, must be held as law, otherwise the lodge would degenerate into a bear-garden, and the harmony of the Order be marred. A brother who may find himself, or a body of brethren who may find themselves, outvoted on any point, should gracefully bow to the majority of the brethren, for any ebullition of wounded feeling, or attempt to revenge the defeat, is alike unmanly and inconsistent with Masonic oaths; and a brother, who, however unjustly he may have been dealt with, shows more conspicuously his qualities both as a man and a Mason when he accepts, without murmuring, the dictum of his brethren; but he who endeavours rudely, or by means at variance with the spirit of the Order, to regain a position which he has lost, or to reverse a decision come to after mature consideration, proves himself to be, however right he might have been originally, unworthy of attention, and unfit to be received into the fellowship of Masons. A brother who takes his case, decided in the Masonic courts, out of them, and parades them to the neutral world, displays an ignorance of the principles of Freemasonry, a pettiness of spirit, and a mental bias to the wrong. By obeying the sentence of his peers, he disarms the verdict of its sting, and lays the first stone towards re-erecting his Masonic character.

We have too often seen lodges, where harmony and peace used to reign, broken up, or if the evil did not go that length, the comfort marred, by factious brethren. There are men with a twist in their character which will lead them to cavil at every remark, men who cannot agree with their very selves. It is a pity that no law exists by which such brethren could be ostracised, for it is very hard that other brethren should suffer for their vagaries. Every right-minded brother, and such I honour and esteem, finding that he cannot agree with one or more brethren in lodge assembled, who tenders his resignation and seeks a more congenial society, acts up to the apron charge, and by his prudent conduct prevents scandal; but a brother who remains in a lodge only to prove a nuisance, who attends meetings to raise, night after night, disturbance and dispeace, should have the effectual remedy applied to him—expulsion. Among a certain class of young Masons, it is often painful to see the anxiety they display to bring themselves into notoriety, and when legitimate means fail, they do not scruple to adopt illegitimate. By them we would have the framework of Freemasonry taken down and altered to the style of modern stucco palaces; and they do not scruple to contradict the Master in the chair, and set up their juvenile ignorance against the experience of age. Many men mistake novelty for wisdom, as they confound insolence with wit.

In the good old days, when the Hospitallers of St. John held Cyprus, a fearful serpent ravaged the land. Many adventurous knights went out to attack the monster, but all fell victims to its fury. At last, the Grand Master forbade any knight thenceforward to attempt its destruction, and the island was given up as a prey to the reptile. Its ravages in consequence became greater, the country people flocked into Limisso and other towns, to escape it, and every day the tale was told of fields destroyed and peasants slain by this pest. A young knight, stung by these reports, and setting aside the command of the Master, constructed a model of the serpent, and, by certain contrivances, made it spit forth smoke and fire. With this model he trained his warhorse, until, having overcome his fear of the resemblance, he went forth in search of the reality, found the serpent, and slew it. He returned in great pride of heart to Limisso, dragging the serpent after him, and the people, in wonder and joy, received him with all honour, at the same time hastening forward to the preceptory of the Order, where the Grand Master of the Order resided, that they might witness the victor's reward for freeing the island of the pest. The Grand Master, attended by his officers and the brethren, received the young knight in the great hall. There he listened to the narrative of the battle with the serpent, the Grand Master asked him if he was aware of the command given, that no knight should venture to combat the reptile? Receiving an answer in the affirmative, he continued: "Obedience is the first duty of a knight; by disobedience our first parents fell from their estate of bliss; and by your disobedience, you have forfeited your place in our society. True, you have shown discretion in the means you took to fight the serpent, valour in the combat, but without implicit obedience paid to the orders of your superiors, your experience is in vain, and your valour worthless. Go; you cease to belong to us." The people would have supplicated the Grand Master to forgive him on account of the good deed done, and his brethren of the Order begged him to reconsider the sentence, but the knight, craving liberty of speech, prayed his auditors to respect the decree, however harsh of the Master, which he had truly merited, and stepping up to the throne, he laid down his cloak, the red cloak with the white cross, and, bowing to his chief, was slowly retiring. But everything was noticed by the experienced old soldier, who, as the youth crossed the hall to depart, bade him to return, and, clasping him in his arms, said: "By disobedience you have merited expulsion, but by your obedience you have worked out your redemption. A better fight than with the serpent have you fought this day, and a greater victory achieved, a victory over yourself."

ERROL.

Apropos of our Bro. Hughan's remarks upon our article, "A Body without a Head," we find the following in the Philadelphia Keystone:—

The official Bulletin of the Grand Orient of France informs us that at its last session, that body, numerously attended, with only eighteen dissentient votes, abolished the office of Grand Master. This is neither more nor less than the worst kind of Communism or Vandalism, and places the Grand Orient entirely beyond the pale of all regularly constituted Lodges and Grand Lodges in the world.

ROYAL BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

The committee meeting of the above-named Institution was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday, the 13th inst. There were present: Bros. Major Creaton (chairman), C. Dumas, E. H. Patten, W. Farnfield, J. Brett, B. Head, H. Browne, F. Walters, N. Wingfield, H. M. Levy, G. Bolton, H. Hemsworth, R. Spencer, F. Adlard, J. R. Sheen, C. A. Cottebrunc, T. Cubitt, and others.

The usual routine business having been gone through, the death of Bro. W. Young, P.G.S.B., was announced, and unanimous regret and condolence with his family at his loss was expressed.

The deaths of two male annuitants, Bros. Bugden and Chaffer, were reported. Four male and one female applicants were added to the list of those who are seeking to be elected on the Annuity Funds. One case was deferred to next meeting, which will be the last one for receiving candidates' names who may wish to be elected next May.

The usual vote of thanks to the chairman closed the meeting.

CITY OF LONDON MASONIC CLUB.

This prosperous club celebrated its second annual dinner, at the Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, on Monday, the 11th inst., Brother William Carpenter, P.M. and P.Z., the President, in the chair, and Bro. Leman in the vice chair. About forty-five brethren sat down to an ample banquet, provided by Bro. Darcy, six or seven visitors being of the company.

The cloth having been removed, the President gave the usual Masonic toasts, and the expressions of sympathy with the Queen and her family, and of affection for our suffering brother, P.G.M. the Prince of Wales, were unmistakably sincere and fervent.

On rising to propose the toast of the evening, the President said he was sure it would be received with so much cordiality, for its own sake, that he might give it without a word by way of introduction, but knowing it was always expected that the proposer of such a toast should say something by way of showing the interest felt in it, if not by way of commending it to the reception of the company, he supposed he must comply with the usual custom. When he had the honour to occupy that chair at the previous banquet, which was the inaugural one, he so far trespassed upon their time and patience as to expatiate somewhat on the objects, and, as he conceived, the importance of such a club. He need not do that now. The club had been in existence for more than twelve months, and its usefulness and importance had been established, not less in the advancement of several of its members in Masonic knowledge, than in the gradual increase in their numbers. (Hear.) Man had sometimes been described as a gregarious animal, and that not improperly. He instinctively sought society; and he thought they would agree with him if he said that man's associations made him better or worse, for, under ordinary circumstances, like produced like. (Hear.) There was, he believed, a sort of spiritual atmosphere pertaining to every living man, and others who came within it, and yielded themselves to its influence, were more or less affected by it. There was more or less of sympathy created by it, and those affected drank into its spirit, for good or for evil, and were gradually and perhaps imperceptibly drawn into the like pursuits with those by whom they were affected. "Show me a man's company, and I'll tell you what manner of man he is." But what, he might be asked, had this to do with the toast? He would tell them. Whenever a number of persons of good morals, square conduct, and upright intentions; desirous, moreover, to render themselves useful to their fellow-creatures; associated themselves together for purposes consonant with these principles and feelings, the result could not fail to be a good one. (Hear.) Good must be imparted and acquired. The aggregate influence of which he had spoken became so powerful, that all were affected by it. No moral influence was lost, whether it were a good one or a bad one. It always made its impression, and would ultimately produce its fruits. (Hear.) But their's was not a mere social club. They did not come together for the mere purpose of spending a pleasant evening, by the interchange of thought and cheerful conversation. They had a special object in view, in coming together—something beyond a pleasant evening. Their's was a Masonic club. Their object was to impart and acquire knowledge. (Hear.) They had brethren who came amongst them to learn, and brethren who came to teach; and the result of such an union could not be other than beneficial. The members of the Craft were multiplying exceedingly, but he feared that its influence was not increasing in proportion to its numbers. He spoke as the result of his own observation only, when he said that they had in the Craft many who entered it lightly, and who, having so entered it, remained upon the threshold, only. (Hear.) They were, some of them, satisfied with bearing the name of Mason, only: while others were satisfied if, in addition to bearing the same, they could exhibit some of its symbols. (A laugh.) They knew nothing of Masonry, and never would. They knew nothing of its symbolic teaching. How should they? This could only be known through a course of study, like all other sciences; and the necessity of study never entered into their minds. In their lodges, they listened to the ceremonies, but they were strangers to their deep meaning and interest. They knew nothing of the secret arts and hidden mysteries of Freemasonry. What were its allegories and symbols to them? A dead letter—perhaps an exhibition of mere trifling, if not of absurdity. They were altogether oblivious of such a thing as a system of morality veiled in allegory and illustrated by symbols. Yes, he who was satisfied with getting just as much of Masonry as he could acquire by a mere attendance in his lodge, was destitute of almost all that rendered Masonry of any worth. (Cheers.) But when the symbols and allegories of Masonry were clearly perceived and thoroughly understood, then their ceremonies were found to be pregnant with a high and a deep meaning—full of Divine instruction, and their Masonry was imbued with a living principle, governing the life of the man, making him useful to his fellow-creatures, and, above all, leading him to show forth the praises of the G.A.O.T.U. (Hear, hear.) This club aimed to take part in promoting and extending this knowledge, and diffusing these principles; and he thought he was not wrong in assuming that the mere fact of a brother joining the club was, in itself, a proof that he valued Masonry and took an interest in it, and was also a pledge that he would do what he could to enforce its principles and enlarge the sphere of its beneficent operations. (Hear.) He could not but feel that, as a body, Freemasons had an important mission to discharge, and he believed that they who had done most for it, both in past and in present times, felt that. (Hear.) There was much ignorance, much vice, and much misery in the world, and even in their own neighbourhoods, even in this favoured city, they were surrounded by ignorance, want, and destitution. He believed, in his heart, that they, as Masons, were under a special obligation to labour to mitigate that—to promote education, suppress vice, and help the distressed. And they might each do much, if they only made an effort. Let them, then, looking abroad, on the dark side of things, grasp their glorious banner, which bore the inscription, "Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth," and go forth to war upon all that was evil; and if they wanted a noble and heart-stirring chant to cheer them on, let them take the words of the great American poet:—

Lives of great men all remind us
We may make our lives sublime,
And departing leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time;

Footprints which another seeing,
Sailing o'er life's troubled main,
Some forlorn and shipwrecked brother,
Seeing may take heart again.

Let us, then, be up and doing,
With hearts prepared for any fate,
Still achieving, still pursuing,
Learn to labour and to wait.

(Cheers.) He proposed "Prosperity to the City of London Masonic Club." (The toast was received and drank with cheering.)

Bro. Major Finney responded to the toast, and forcibly pointed out the great benefits resulting from such Masonic associations and such means of instruction as the club afforded.

The President said he had spoken of the last toast, according to custom, as the toast of the evening; but he thought he might well give that designation to the one he had now to propose, which was, "Our Preceptor, Bro. James Brett." (Cheers.) He then proceeded to speak of Bro. Brett's great Masonic knowledge, and particularly dwelt upon his readiness at all times to impart it to those who asked for it, and of the delicate as well as efficient way in which he rendered service in lodges of instruction and in their club. For himself, he felt under great obligations to Bro. Brett, and he was sure he might say the same for all present. (Hear, hear.)

Bro. Brett returned thanks in a strain that elicited warm applause.

The President said there was another Richmond in the field, and he might fairly say there was another toast of the evening. If they could not get on without an able Preceptor, they could not live without a vigilant Secretary (cheers), and such an one they had in Bro. Stephen Carey. (Cheers.) He had been the originator of the club, and he had kept it together by the diligent and efficient way in which he had discharged the duties of Secretary. He permitted nothing to keep him away, for on his lodge or chapter nights he often lost his banquet by giving a portion of the evening to the club. (Hear.) He (the President) proposed his health in a bumper, and hoped he might live long, to see the prospering career of the club. (The toast was most heartily drunk and cheered.)

The Hon. Secretary, Brother Carey, returned thanks, and gave an interesting account of the origin and progress of the club. They had largely increased in numbers, he said, and they could easily double those they had. They were satisfied with what they had, however, and were careful not to get on too fast. To have from eighteen to five-and-twenty present at a meeting was, he thought, better than to have many more, and the progress many of the brethren had made showed how useful the club was. (Hear.) He might state, for the information of their visitors, that half the subscriptions was devoted to the charities, and half towards the banquet. During the twelve months of their existence, they had given £15 to the three charities, and they should vote another £5 at their next meeting. (Cheers.) Besides, they had originated, through the suggestion of Bro. Henry Chapman, a City of London Life-Boat Fund, and had already collected about £200. He considered that as Masonic a work as the contributions to their charities, and he hoped they would be able to float the life-boat within a couple of years. (Hear.)

Bro. Haycock proposed "The health of the President," and pronounced a glowing eulogium on his acquirements, literary ability, and urbanity, and on the services he had rendered to the club. (The toast was drunk with due honours.)

The President returned thanks.

Several other toasts followed, to one of which Bro. Henry Chapman, as Honorary Secretary to the Life-Boat Fund, responded, and urged upon the brethren the obligation of working diligently in the cause. He hoped many more brethren would take collecting cards, and do as a brother had done that day, who sent in a card with nearly £9 on it. (Cheers.) They should all go and do likewise. (Hear, hear.)

The evening, which was diversified with some excellent songs and an amusing comic recital by Bro. Haycock, was, in all respects, a very pleasant one, and Bro. Darcy was not forgotten for the excellent banquet and wines he had supplied.

NOTICE.

The Subscription to THE FREEMASON is now 10s. per annum, post-free, payable in advance.

Vol. I., bound in cloth ... ..	4s. 6d.
Vol. II., ditto ... ..	7s. 6d.
Vol. III., ditto ... ..	15s. od.
Reading Cases to hold 52 numbers...	2s. 6d.

United States of America.

THE FREEMASON is delivered free in any part of the United States for 12s. per annum, payable in advance.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferred to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

DEATH.

TINNEY.—On the 15th instant, the Mother of Bro. W. A. Tinney, I.G. Lodge of Asaph, No. 1319, aged 52 years.

Answers to Correspondents.

All communications for THE FREEMASON should be written legibly on one side of the paper only, and, if intended for insertion in the current number, must be received not later than 10 o'clock a.m. on Thursdays, unless in very special cases. The name and address of every writer must be sent to us in confidence.

18.—Although we agree with your strictures upon the conduct of the individual referred to, we think it advisable not to publish your letter. As to the satellite, we do not break butterflies upon the wheel, and therefore prefer letting him remain in the obscurity which he is best fitted to adorn.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the Editor 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him & cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

TOLERANCE.

IN again welcoming the approach of Christmas, we cannot help contrasting, with a feeling of thankfulness, the concluding days of the year 1871 with the gloomy close of its predecessor, 1870. Then, unhappy France was locked in a deadly struggle with her mightier adversary, and the thoughts of all were concentrated upon the wretched condition of the beleaguered French capital. Now, we rejoice to say, the war clouds have passed away, and Europe once more enjoys the blessings of profound repose. Our outlook for the future is therefore bright and cheerful; nor are we slow to remember that Freemasonry flourishes under the sheltering wings of peace, because it unquestionably extends its influence through the medium of those progressive tendencies which are obscured, if not obliterated, by warfare. It would be too much to expect that the voice of strife is for ever hushed, but every day of peace is a day gained; and let us hope that, as the work of civilisation advances, men's minds will become enlightened to their true interests, and we shall then hear no more of fighting for a frontier, or of devastating for an idea.

In our remarks last year we claimed for Freemasonry a high place in the world's regard, not only as the representative of peace, but because within the circle of genuine fraternity war cannot exist. The spread of Freemasonry must, in time, abolish bloodshed, and, hence, every lover of humanity should note its progress with pleasure. Yet, strange to say, the leaders of the Roman communion denounce our Order, under the delusion that it is anti-Christian and revolutionary in its designs. There never was a greater mistake, so far as genuine Freemasonry is concerned. It is true that the Masonic Institution is tolerant, and does not attempt to define the creed of any of its members. With "universality" inscribed on its banners, the Order is ready to receive the good and worthy of every religious system; but Atheists, or scoffers, are rigidly excluded. A bond of union has thus been created which would never otherwise have existed between men of different opinions; but the union is for honest purposes, and the influence wielded is exerted for the common good. To students of Masonic history, the present hostility of the leaders of the Roman Church to Freemasonry is somewhat astonishing, when it is remembered how closely the builders of the middle ages were associated with the ecclesiastics in the erection of those magnificent structures which remain to this day as monuments of wisdom, strength, and beauty. Considerable prominence has been given to this subject, in consequence of the recent publication of certain old manuscripts, which prove that our mediæval brethren swore allegiance to "God and to holy Church;" and the whole question has been exhaustively treated in the report of a Committee appointed by the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts to investigate the origin of certain allusions in the ritual of Freemasonry which were deemed sectarian by a number of Hebrew brethren. The Committee found that the "allusions" referred to evidently were of a Christian character, and their investigations established the fact that Christian symbols had been used in Masonic lodges from time immemorial. Upon this the Committee very justly remark:—

"It will be conceded, that at no modern time has Freemasonry been practised in this country, or in England, without a ritual of a religious character, reverential to the Grand Architect of the Universe. To adhere to it as we received it is to keep our faith with the fathers, and maintain the landmarks. The petitioners formally ask only this, but a considerably body of French and other writers insist that all references to Christianity should be excluded, whether they are ancient or not. The field of argument includes both positions. The evidence that Freemasonry, after 1717, did continue many Christian symbols and usages, is very strong; and nothing offered to your committee has weakened the faith due to our traditions. We shall return to this again. Conceding, then, that some Christian usages are found among our Craft in our traditions, ought we to stamp them as un-masonic, and expel them? It has been distinctly put to us by an acute and learned Israelite brother, that as they are offensive to him as an Israelite, we ought to exclude them. If that is a sufficient reason, what will become of our society? A Christian may ask that allusion to King Solomon shall be expunged, because he was a Jew. Another may ask all allusions to Hiram to be effaced, because he was a Pagan. The Trinitarian may ask that the Grand Architect of the Universe shall only be addressed in His triune of the character. The resurrection from the dead stands no better. Every particle of our religious ritual and symbols must fall under the same axe, and the Masonry we have received be extinguished."

We need scarcely add that we quite agree with our American brethren in their conclusions, for, really, the principle of elimination can be pushed to an absurd point. So long as religious or political discussions are excluded from the lodge, no man need take offence at an allusion or symbol which may possibly bear an interpretation not quite in accordance with his own theological convictions; and we cannot see that the real "universality" of the Craft is endangered by the retention of phrases bearing upon either the Jewish or the Christian faith.

It is, at least, singular to find that, while the advocates of free thought in our Body desire to abolish those references to Christianity, the dignitaries of the Roman Catholic Church denounce the Society as anti-Christian—the fact being, that the words used in our ceremonies have been handed down from an age when the priests themselves bore sway in the lodges, and used the very language of which they now profess to complain. Both sides have something to learn, and the lessons we would especially enjoin are peculiarly applicable at this happy season of the year—whether to Christians or to non-Christians—let us all endeavour to enforce the practice of tolerance, and the exercise of a more comprehensive spirit of charity towards our fellow-men.

H.R.H. the PRINCE of WALES.

WE are happy to state that the progress of our Royal Past Grand Master towards convalescence continues uninterrupted, and we trust his Royal Highness will speedily be restored to vigorous health.

BRO. W. J. HUGHAN, of Truro, Cornwall, will be very glad to hear from any brethren who possess, or know of, minutes of lodges, or copies of MS. Constitutions, of an older date than A.D. 1720. Our well-known and highly-esteemed Brother is now engaged in preparing another work for the press, which we believe will pay especial attention to the MS. Constitutions of the Freemasons, and has in his possession several copies of these ancient and valuable documents, which he will publish for the first time. He is particularly anxious to have every information obtainable with respect to these manuscripts in the possession of lodges and brethren, as soon as possible.

Multum in Parbo, or Masonic Notes and Queries.

"QUESTIONS FOR CONSIDERATION."

In considering Bro. Longstaff's questions, which appeared in your issue of the 25th November, many will, no doubt, admit the force of his arguments; but none can admit that it is in the power of any man, or body of Masons, to absolve them from their O.B., which, in my opinion, forbids the plan Bro. Longstaff advocates.

The authorised books which we have already, such as Dr. Oliver's "Book of the Lodge," &c., afford quite as much information as any brother could expect, or wish to obtain, outside the lodge.

I understand Bro. Longstaff would leave out certain important matters in the ritual he proposes. Still, if he will seriously consider his O.B., he will admit that the secret mysteries of Freemasonry can neither be printed nor written, in whole or in part, in any way that would be intelligible to any one, even to the writer only.

Let it be understood that I only apply this to the actual secrets of each degree and the manner of conferring the degree, and not to all the charges, lectures, &c.—a number of which have been published many years, and some of them are printed in the Book of Constitutions of Ireland.

If Bro. Longstaff will carefully examine his O.B., he will cease to advocate a printed ritual.

W. C. HOWARD, P.M. 215 (Ireland).

I consider it a duty incumbent on every Mason to oppose, to the utmost of his ability, so serious an inroad on the ancient landmarks as would inevitably result from a realisation of the suggestion of Bro. Longstaff respecting the ritual. In these days of educational progress and enlightenment, to acknowledge that we are unable to conduct our rites and ceremonies without the assistance of an aide-mémoire, such as our predecessors never required and would most certainly have spurned, would argue but indifferently for the intellectual condition of the members of our Order. The approach to a Master's chair should be no Royal road—diligence and patience, integrity and understanding, are the true characteristics of an able Mason, and to such the oral acquirement of the ritual can present no insurmountable difficulty; and the time employed in committing to memory the high morality, lofty aspirations, and comprehensive Scriptural knowledge so beautifully and impressively symbolised in our ritual, can never be considered wasted or misapplied by any man who looks forward with a firm but humble confidence to the inevitable moment when the last dread summons shall arrive. During a Masonic career of upwards of twenty years, I have had frequent opportunities of visiting many colonial lodges, and the manner in which the different degrees are therein conferred is worthy of the highest commendation. I believe this is mainly due to the excellent custom of allowing the Wardens, or any volunteer, an opportunity of proving practically to the members of the lodge their ability to conduct the ceremony in the first, second, or third degree. This is done either at a lodge summoned ad hoc, or at the regular meetings, when time will permit. This is a practice which should form an essential prelude to the annual election. After all, the remedy for incapacity in the chair lies even in the hands of the lodge. Let it be thoroughly understood that the chair of any lodge can be reached by merit and ability alone, and candidates Masonically fit and able to fill that important position will always be forthcoming.

J. BALFOUR COCKBURN, 18°, &c.
Gibraltar, 25th Nov., 1871.

There have been one or two letters in THE FREEMASON lately respecting an authorised ritual. Will you allow a country Mason to say a word or two on the subject? I think those who oppose an authorised ritual show an unpractical spirit, even if not a narrow one. How, let me ask, are country Masons to learn the ceremonies, lectures, &c.? By oral tradition? That is impossible! Who is to teach them, and where are they to find a teacher thoroughly to be depended upon?

Even those who have learnt their work orally differ from one another, and there are plenty of Masons who by no means allow that the work of the Lodge of Improvement is the best or most correct. What practical harm, then, can be in having an authorised ritual issued by Grand Lodge, the secrets being suppressed, I cannot see. It is sure to come, sooner or later, and the obstructives are like those old fogies who still persisted in posting, when they could travel more comfortably and quicker by railway.

P.M.

PROV. GRAND LODGES IN SCOTLAND.

The actual members of a Prov. Grand Lodge consist of the Master and Wardens in the district or county. The most of the office-bearers are commissioned by Prov. Grand Master, who has the right to choose and appoint by commission, from time to time, a Depute, Substitute, two Wardens, a Secretary, and Chaplain. All of them must be a Master or Warden, de facto, of some lodge in the district, none other are qualified to hold the offices. Such other office-bearers as may be deemed necessary, as Treasurer, Senior and Junior Deacons, Inner Guard, and Tyler, are elected annually by the Prov. Grand Lodge, and in every case, except that of Tyler, they must also be, de facto, a Master or Warden of some lodge in the province.

CHALMERS I. PATON.

The new Grand Lodge of Spain has elected Bro. Manuel Ruiz de Zorilla, Grand Master. We do not know whether this is the eminent statesman or not; but, probably, some of our Spanish friends can inform us.

LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

The monthly meeting was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday, the 20th inst. Bro. Clabon, the President, was in the chair, supported by the Vice-Presidents, Bros. Nunn and Brett, and a fair number of other brethren.

Grants having been confirmed to petitioners from the previous meeting, the following sums were awarded by the Lodge:—Bros. T. C., Lodge 193, £10; H. T. P., 611, £5; F. W., 878, £10; S. W., 15, £20; J. B. N., 55, £20; G. H. G., 228, £10; T. J. T., 45, £5; E. H., 274, £3; J. P., 441, £10; and to the widows of Bros. J. B., Lodge 1098, £10; H. S., 306, £20; J. B., 152, £30; J. H. Y., 186, £15; and W. F. S., 186, £25.

The remainder of the petitions were either dismissed or deferred.

Original Correspondence.

The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.

SCOTCH MARK MASTERS.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

SIR,—In the account in your last issue of the consecration of another aggressive Scotch Mark Masters' lodge in England, by brethren who have no business whatever on the south of the Tweed, I noticed that one of the Scotchmen present assured the meeting that the Grand Chapter in Edinburgh was very anxious to place the Mark Degree in England on its proper footing!

Of course, we all know that, since the days of Cannie Jamie, the proper footing for Englishmen is to be under the beneficent rule of Scotchmen. But what I do not think that English Mark Masters who are foolish enough to allow the representatives of the G.C. of Scotland inside their lodges can be aware of, is, that these same Scotch brethren are at this moment plotting to destroy English Mark lodges altogether, and to get the Mark Degree reduced to the position of a mere pass into the Royal Arch (its inferior in antiquity, as well as in merit), like the Excellent and Super-Excellent Masters' Degrees. And, yet, it is by such as these that our English brethren are being at once gulled and sold.

Yours fraternally,

AN ENGLISH MARK MASTER.

MASONIC CHARITIES.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR,—In the very able and talented weekly letters by "Errol," appearing in your journal under the heading of "The Philosophy of Freemasonry," I was much struck by a remark in last week's number (page 706) as to the Masonic Body not having amongst them many boards of relief one of "Employment." This admirable suggestion, according so much with my own views, has induced me to intrude on your valuable space with a few remarks, hoping that others who are of the same opinion, but better able to express their ideas than myself, may take the matter up, and be the means of bringing the subject before the Board of Benevolence and the rulers of the Craft. I trust I may be pardoned for saying that, in my opinion, this is the one thing wanting to carry out our grand and sublime principles of Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth in their entirety; for, whilst there are amongst us many thousands who are reduced to the lowest depths of poverty and distress, to whom pecuniary relief is absolutely necessary to save them from starvation, it is an undeniable fact that there are also many thousands of deserving brethren, of all grades in society, possessed of every qualification for occupying positions of trust and responsibility, who are unable to procure employment, and on whose behalf I beg to endorse your talented correspondent's views, who has so eloquently brought the subject before your readers; and I sincerely trust the Board of Benevolence may be induced to add to their existing noble Charities a "Board of Employment," to whom distressed Masons of the above class could apply, and if, after due investigation and inquiry, found deserving, should (supposing immediate employment could not be procured for them) be supplied with a testimonial of merit and a recommendation according to their capabilities, which would be a passport, as it were, and be of invaluable assistance to them in procuring employment, more particularly amongst Masons.

I am, dear Sir,

Yours faithfully and fraternally,
A P.M.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF FREEMASONRY.

(To the Editor of the Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Allow me to express my high appreciation of the remarks of your contributor "Errol," as expressed at pages 720 and 721. In my opinion, they are worthy of careful consideration, and ought to bring out the query: What can we do to improve matters? As he well observes, intellectual improvement—as things are in our lodges—instead of being a living something, is nothing but a dead name; a mere mummy, capable somehow of producing a mechanical, out-of-the-way, “parrot-like repetitions of the rituals.” Surely this ought not to be. Why we do not go on “continuing our education” in our lodges I cannot understand. It cannot be because we have in office “headless and brainless peers and dumb members of Parliament,” for all our brethren are not of that class. I am afraid that our mistake has been in supposing that Freemasonry is not progressive. Now, that is wrong; nothing human ever made, invented, or manufactured ever became perfect all at once—it had to follow the law of development, and grow up to manhood. To talk, as many do, of the “ancient landmarks” is simply humbug, and a cloak to ignorance, imbecility, and do-nothingness. The fact is, Freemasonry ought to go on progressing; and if we, who profess to be Freemasons, do not put our shoulders to the wheel and help it on, we simply fail to do our duty. The brethren who “instituted” Speculative Freemasonry in 1717 did a noble work, and did their part in setting it a-going; it ought to be our pleasure, as it is our duty to aid its progress by every lawful means in our power.

I trust that your esteemed correspondent will continue his contributions, and I sincerely wish him good speed.

I am, yours fraternally,
LEO.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR BROTHER EDITOR,—At a time when all hearts are alive to the momentous deliverance vouchsafed by the G.A.O.T.U. to our nation, and especially to our beloved brother the Prince of Wales, let me invite my brethren to consider whether any, and what, mode of demonstration could be devised for the purpose of evincing our loyal attachment to the throne, and our appreciation of so near alliance of our Order to that throne in the person of our brother the Prince.

I perceive that other bodies have commenced action by passing resolutions expressive of thankfulness and sympathy. Why should not the members of the Craft do the like?

I would throw out for consideration a mode by which a demonstration might usefully be made—viz., by the convention of a Special Grand Lodge, who should proceed to St. Paul's Church, upon which occasion our brother the Bishop of Peterboro' should be invited to preach. Or, if each Prov. Grand Lodge could meet in the cathedral town, and proceed in a body to the cathedral (all meeting on one day), then each province would be benefited by listening to the eloquence of our Prov. Grand Chaplains, or others who may be selected for the occasion; and I am quite sure that a very large amount might be secured for either the hospitals or other medical charities of the place, by way of a Masonic thanks-offering to Almighty God for His past mercy vouchsafed.

I hope to find these suggestions meet with some favour, and if our own Charities do not benefit by their being carried out, I trust that others may.

Believe me, very truly and fraternally,
THE W.M. OF A COUNTRY LODGE.

“THE CAULD HOUSE O' CLAY.”

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—The late Isaac D'Israeli says that when literary forgeries are published, by those whose character hardly admits of a suspicion that they are themselves the impostors, the difficulty of assigning a  motive  only increases that of forming a  decision ; to adopt or to reject them may be equally dangerous! The assertion, in part, is peculiarly applicable to the above-named poem (?), which appeared in your issue of the 2nd inst. as “the last composition” of our immortal brother, Robert Burns. I certainly cannot assign a definite motive for this literary forgery; but there are many reasons in favour of a decision which refuses to acknowledge it as a genuine emanation from the pen of “one who could feel so strongly and describe so well.” “He who,” in the eloquent language of his scholarly commentator, Professor Wilson, “woo'd each maiden in song that will, as long as our Doric dialect is breathed by love in beauty's ears, be murmured close to the cheek of innocence trembling in the arms of passion.” He who gave his native land a new title amongst nations—whose inspiration revelled in the beautiful, and faithfully reflected the sublime; he whose versatile genius, allied to the capacity for the profoundest thought, enabled him to “raise the lily or to smite the rock,” could never write anything so worthless as “The Cauld House o' Clay.” What authority exists for supposing Burns to be the author? Have we the critical and accomplished Wilson, the enthusiastic Cunningham, the classical Lockhart, or any other recognised historian? Is there any  poetry  in the entire production? any sign of the “Guinea stamp” about it? Would any one, however slightly acquainted with the poems of Burns, do him the injustice to think him capable of writing as follows:—

“Farewell to my sorrows, and farewell to my cares,
The old  skail  folks, and the lassies so  dear
At kirk where I promised from folly to part
The one that ensnared me I lie without smart.”

This, I may inform your readers, I have copied  verbatim . Why, sir, this is neither rhyme, rhythm, nor common sense.

I also find the following lines, which, to me, are perfectly unintelligible:—

“Our place may be higher than those  who more pray ,
When cased from our lang hame, the cauld house
o' clay.”

After which I notice:—

“You'll move round Sons o' Fellowship, yearly move  round
On the long Summer-day say a part to  St. John .”

The above are only a few specimens, but quite sufficient, I trust, to warrant the assertion, that the production, of which they form a part, owes very little of its existence to Robert Burns.

While admitting that there are several poems extant, and published in some of the best editions of the works of the poet, upon which some of the ablest commentators disagree as to the authorship—for instance, “The Tree of Liberty,” which Allan Cunningham rejects, but which Professor Wilson accepts, and says it was in the poet's handwriting, in the possession of Mr. James Duncan, Mosesfield, near Glasgow, and was first printed in Mr. Robert Chambers's edition in 1838. (The mere fact, however, of the poem being in the  handwriting  of Burns does not prove him to be the author.) And “The Ruined Maid's Lament,” which Wilson strongly suspects to be the production of Motherwell. These somewhat doubtful effusions have, however, considerable merit, and will always be considered worthy of regard; but “The Cauld House of Clay” has none at all, and will never succeed in being recognised as anything but an insipid, ungrammatical piece of rubbish, foolishly attached to the name of a great genius.

Let me now take a genuine extract from Burns, from his “Farewell to the Brethren of St. James' Lodge, at Tarbolton;”—

“Oft have I met your social band,
And spent the cheerful, festive night;
Oft, honoured with supreme command,
Presided o'er the Sons of Light.
And by that hieroglyphic bright,
Which none but craftsmen ever saw,
Strong memory on my heart shall write
Those happy scenes when far awa'.”

All I can now say is: “Look upon this picture, and upon that.”

Fraternally yours,
WILLIAM BERNARD.

Hull.

REUNION OF THE SHAKESPERE LODGE, No. 1009, MANCHESTER.

On Monday, the 4th inst., there was a most brilliant Masonic reunion, at the Freemasons' Hall, Manchester, under the auspices of the above lodge, on the occasion of the visit of the R.W. Provincial Grand Master of East Lancashire and other Provincial Grand Officers. The members of the lodge mustered in great force, the W.M., Bro. C. E. Austin, being supported by the following officers and Past Masters in addition to a goodly number of other members: Bros. W. H. Pratt, S.W.; Thos. Biddolph, J.W.; Rev. S. Y. B. Bradshaw,  M.A. , I.P.M.; Alfred Nicholls, Treas.; Frederic Hepton, Sec.; Thos. Brown, J.D.; E. H. Downs, Org.; Caston Edmonds, I.G.; R. L. Mestayer, A. Marshall and George Macbeth, Stewards; J. W. Pelly, P.M., P.G.J.D.; Vincent Kilborn, P.M., Capt. E. J. Heaps, P.M.; Thos. Alderson, P.M.; C. A. Coates, P.M.; Richard Hartley, P.M. The visiting brethren also assembled in great numbers, and included Bros. Col. Le Gendre, N. Starkie, 126, R.W.P.G.M.; W. Romaine Callender, jun., 64, W.D.P.G.M.; Thomas. G. Gibbons, P.M. 64, P.G.J.W.; R. H. Hutchinson, 345, P.P.G.S.W.; J. L. Hine, P.P.G.S.W.; Col. Thos. Birchall (of Preston), 113, P.P.G.J.W. West Lancashire; James A. Birch, P.P.G.S.D. Cheshire; J. H. P. Leresche, W.M. 64, P.P.G.R. East Lancashire; T. H. Jenkins, 1147, P.G.S.B.; John S. Veivers, P.G.S.D.; T. H. Baldwin, P.P.G.S.B. Cheshire; Councillor Wm. Batty, 44; Councillor J. R. Hampson; Thos. Charlton, W.M. 152; John Raines,  M.D. , W.M. 204; Edward Clay, W.M.E. 204; E. Nathan, P.M. 204; John Mountain, P.M. 204; John Brocklehurst, P.M. 204; Edwin Simpson, P.M. 645; C. J. Petty, P.M. 992; E. G. Simpson, W.M. 1357; J. A. Eastwood, P.M. 317; W. Mathews,  M.D. , W.M. 993; John Wood,  M.D. , 78; T. Guttridge, P.M. 1055; T. R. Gospel, P.M. 155; J. Bentley and T. Coulton.

The lodge was opened in due form by Bro. Austin, W.M., at forty-five minutes past five p.m., and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. A deputation of several Past Masters of the lodge having been sent to receive the R.W. Prov. Grand Master and his officers, they were reported by Bro. Edmonds, I.G., to be outside the door of the lodge seeking admittance, whereupon the W.M. instructed the Inner Guard to admit them, and called upon the brethren, who rose to order and received the Provincial Grand Lodge according to ancient custom. In the unavoidable absence of Bro. Past Master Austin Shellard, D.C., P.G.D.C., Past Master C. A. Coates officiated as Director of Ceremonies, and gave the honours to the R.W.P.G.M., W.D.P.G.M. and the other P.G. officers.

The lodge was opened in the second degree and Bro. Paul Schulze was passed by the W.M., assisted by the Senior and Junior Wardens, and by Bro. Coates, P.M., who also acted for Bro. S. L. Pettit, S.D., who was prevented by illness from being present.

The lodge having been closed in the second degree the W.M. read two letters he had received from Lord de Tabley, R.W.P.G.M. of Cheshire, couched in truly fraternal language, and expressive of regret, that an important prior engagement would deprive him of the pleasure of being present at the Shakespere Lodge on so interesting an occasion as the visit of the R.W.P.G.M. and W.D.P.G.M. of East Lancashire.

Bro. J. W. Petty, P.M., P.G.J.D. proposed, and Bro. Captain Heaps, P.M., seconded the following resolution, which was carried unanimously: “That the Shakespere Lodge pledges itself to contribute five pounds sterling to the Binckes' Testimonial Fund.” The W.M. called the attention of the brethren to their last donation of thirty guineas to the "Girls' School," and intimated his intention of asking them to assist him in raising it to fifty guineas, which would confer upon the lodge a Vice-Presidency in perpetuity, in addition to the one it already possessed for the "Boys' School," so that it would then stand tolerably well with all the benevolent Masonic Institutions.

Bro. J. W. Petty, P.M., proposed Bro. Henry McNeil as a joining member.

Hearty good wishes having been expressed by R.W. Prov. Grand Master and the other visiting brethren, the lodge was closed in peace and harmony at fifteen past seven p.m. The brethren then adjourned to the banqueting-room where between sixty and seventy sat down to dinner. The Immediate Past Master, Bro. the Rev. S. Y. B. Bradshaw, M.A., asked a blessing and returned thanks, and the cloth having been drawn the Worshipful Master proposed the first toast. In doing so he said that as royalty had for ages past patronized the mysteries and joined in the assemblies of the Order, so the Craft had ever inculcated the duty of loyalty, and cultivated the virtue of patriotism. It always occurred to him that the first toast at the social boards of Masonic gatherings, given as was most frequently the case in the dual form of "The Queen and the Craft," was the tersest little toast that could possibly be submitted to an audience. Consisting of but five little monosyllables, it embraced a world of meaning, and possessed a magic power; expressing as it did so much that was dear to them as Britishers—so much that they cherished as Masons. It was a most fitting combination, for the Queen was the personification, as the Craft was the embodiment, of virtue. No matter what a few demagogues might say, the heart of the nation is right, and beats with but one sentiment of respect for the virtues, and loyal devotion to the person and dynasty of our gracious lady the Queen. The people of these bright little islands, cling as closely—as lovingly, as did their fathers of yore to their monarchical traditions and institutions, in the firm belief that they are the only safe-guard of their privileges and the surest guarantee of their liberties. He (Bro. Austin) called upon them to stand to their glasses, and drink with him, with the enthusiastic loyalty characteristic of Masons, this charming little toast—"The Queen and the Craft."

The summons was right heartily responded to by the whole of the brethren, who drank the toast with loud acclaim, and then, while standing, burst lustily forth in the inspiring strains of the National Anthem.

The Worshipful Master in proposing the next toast remarked that it would commend itself to a peculiarly warm appreciation at the hands of the brethren, from the melancholy fact that the principal subject of the toast had been stricken down in the flower of his "manhood," and was stretched on a bed of sickness. He felt sure they would all join him in an earnest prayer that his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, P.G.M., might ere long be restored to health, and be long spared to the nation and to Freemasonry. Since their Royal Brother had been received into the bosom of Masonry, he had evinced an interest in, and displayed an appreciation of, the workings of the Craft which were very commendable. His practical and sensible speech at Dublin, on the occasion of his being made Grand Patron of the Order by their brethren of the sister isle, showed that he entertained sound and logical views of their noble Brotherhood—that his sympathies were enlisted on its behalf, and that he was zealously intent upon promoting its best interests. He (Bro. Austin) had pleasure in asking the brethren to join him in drinking "A speedy recovery to his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, P.G.M.," and in coupling it, as was usual, with the health of "His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and the rest of the Royal Family."

The toast was drunk with the greatest loyalty and full Masonic honours. Bro. Coulton sang "God bless the Prince of Wales," and was assisted in the chorus by the whole of the brethren.

The Worshipful Master, on rising again, observed that it was fortunate for a W.M. that the toasts he had to submit to his brethren really required no introduction or comment to secure for them a warm and genuine welcome; nevertheless the subjects were so attractive, one was tempted occasionally to expatiate upon them. The distinguished nobleman who ruled the destinies of the Craft in England, in addition to the many claims he had upon the respect of his brethren, had still further endeared himself to them by the prominent part he had played in bringing about that grand international hand-shaking, which had taken place across the broad Atlantic. Very properly was the Grand Master of Masons selected as the chief bearer of the olive branch of peace to their kinsmen of the far West, and the fact was indisputable, that Freemasonry, in sending forth her kindly, mystic, fraternal influence, permeating the hearts—not only of the negociators, but of the two peoples—and guiding their thoughts into channels of mutual esteem and good-will, had contributed in no small degree to the success of the deliberations. In this she had been true to her mission, which was to bring about a confraternity of nations as of individuals. The days of a Millennium were no doubt very distant, but however long and dim the vista might appear through which loving and large-hearted men strove to catch a glimpse of the signs of the good time coming, Masonry from her watch-tower, would none the less anxiously and hopefully look out for them. She would strive to educate the peoples of the world, and prepare them for the time when they would be willing to beat their swords into plough-shares, their spears into pruning hooks, and the dream of the poet should be realized—

When the battle-flags are furled,
In the parliament of man—
The federation of the world.

The W.M. had great pleasure in presenting the toast of "The Most Noble the Marquis of Ripon, M.W.G.M.," which was greeted with full Masonic honours.

The Senior Warden proposed "The Right Hon. the Earl of Carnarvon, V.W.D.G.M., and the other Grand Officers," which was received in an equally warm manner and with the customary honours.

The Worshipful Master rose to propose the toast of the evening, and said if he were in the habit of requesting that special toasts might be drunk in bumpers, he should certainly solicit the favour for the one he had now the honour of submitting; but inasmuch as temperance was one of the cardinal virtues of the Craft, and as the cordiality of the reception which was given to a toast was not so much to be measured by the spirit taken in, as by that given out, he should not be anxious for them to bottom their glasses, as he was certain they would honour the toast with a cordial—a hearty—an enthusiastic welcome. It was a characteristic of England that all undertakings were ushered into existence by some kind of inaugural ceremony, and generally the success of such demonstrations was a tolerably fair index of the necessity which existed for them, and the support they were likely to receive; whether it were the laying of the foundation stone of a church, or the opening of a hospital. This to a certain extent was also applicable to the induction of a Rector or the installing of a Bishop, the installation of a Worshipful Master or of a Provincial Grand Master. Most young couples who were about to get married prayed for fine weather, and if the genius of sunshine smiled upon and graced their bridal morn, it was to them almost equivalent to a benediction from the gods, and was sometimes regarded as a token that their union, celebrated under such joyous auspices, would be fraught with happiness and bliss. Bro. Austin went on to say that if Col. Le Gendre Starkie, after his appointment by the Most Noble the Marquis of Ripon to rule over the province of East Lancashire, desired to receive some augury of future success, it was supplied to him, in that brilliantly red-letter and never-to-be-forgotten day in Manchester, when he was installed in the chair of the province by the Deputy Grand Master of England. He felt sure that that glorious Grand Lodge in the morning, and that magnificent enthusiastic banquet in the evening, were accepted by their R.W.P.G.M., as a hearty God-speed from the brethren of his province. On behalf of the Shakespere Lodge, he (Bro. Austin) could speak with authority, and he felt sure he might also venture to interpret the sentiments of the visiting brethren, in saying that one and all of them sincerely congratulated their R.W.P.G.M. on the high position he had attained, and they congratulated the province upon having such a P.G.M. to govern it. After referring to the eminent and dignified manner in which Colonel Starkie had conducted the meetings of Prov. Grand Lodge, and performed the multifarious duties of his high station, the W.M. called upon the brethren to drink, which they did in right earnest, to the health of Colonel Le Gendre N. Starkie, R.W.P.G.M. of East Lancashire.

Bro. Bentley sang "Here's to his health in a song," and the whole of the brethren stood to their glasses at the last verse and joined in the chorus.

Bro. Col. Starkie, in reply, desired, before referring more particularly to the toast which had been so warmly received, to express his regret that he was unable, twelve months ago, to keep his engagement with the members of the Shakespere Lodge. It had, however, afforded him considerable gratification in being present on this occasion, for he did not often have the pleasure of witnessing a Masonic ceremony so carefully, so fully, and so well performed. It was a good sign in a lodge where, not only the Master, but the various officers were all so well acquainted with their duties, and it was a gratifying sight to him to have witnessed the ceremonial of a passing so largely distributed amongst the various officers, and performed with such efficiency. To the candidate such experience was invaluable, as he entered upon his degree with an indication of its true solemnity and grandeur, and the impression thus made remained with him through his career. He desired to repeat the expression of his gratification at finding the Shakespere Lodge following such a course as fairly entitled it to its already large reputation, and, if persevered in, would enable it to become what he should be heartily glad to see it, viz., the model lodge of the province. The R.W.P.G.M. concluded his speech by a brief but elaborate review of the universality of the genius of Shakespere, and exhorted the brethren ever to emulate the name and fame of the great poet whose name they had adopted.

Bro. C. H. Coates, P.M., proposed "The health of the Deputy Prov. Grand Master of East Lancashire, Bro. William Romaine Callender, jun." He briefly adverted to the many excellent and genial characteristics which, for many years past, have distinguished Bro. Callender as a man and a Mason. He referred to his known willingness and ability to assist in every good cause at all seasons to his energy and judgment in dealing with most of the social questions of the day, but above all to his untiring zeal in the cause of Freemasonry, by which he had not only won the respect, but secured in a great measure the deep and lasting attachment of the members of the Craft in the large province in which he had so long held sway as Deputy Prov. Grand Master. Bro. Callender was no ordinary man—his name was resonant of praise, even as of welcome. He appeared almost ubiquitous, so varied were his talents, so ceaseless his engagements—in fact he might fairly be described as the modern Hercules, engaged always in some active scheme for the good of mankind, the well being of society, or the furtherance of the Craft, and above and beyond all this, "doing all things well." The members of the Shakespere Lodge, while hailing with delight the presence of their Prov. Grand Master on this occasion, could not refrain from bidding the glad words of welcome to the familiar face of him who held so deservedly the second rank in the province. Long might he be spared to enjoy his well-won laurels in Masonry—long might he live to gladden the hearts of his fellows—for of him it might be fairly and truthfully be said that he was "A man so genial that he seemed to be,

Not one, but all mankind's epitome."

Bro. Coates concluded by proposing "The health of Bro. Wm. Romaine Callender, jun., the Prov. Grand Master of Masons in East Lancashire."

The toast was most enthusiastically received, and the usual honours were duly accorded.

Bro. W. R. Callender, jun., in responding, said that to him it was always a pleasure to visit the Shakespere Lodge personally, because he was always sure of a warm reception, and, generally, because the members of the lodge strove unceasingly to promulgate and advance the grand tenets and principles of their noble Order. The mystic tie which bound together in unity and concord, all the brethren now assembled could not fairly be understood by the outer world, for one of the chief advantages of Freemasonry consisted in the fact that it enabled brethren to meet together in the closest bonds of union, who on other matters, social, political, and religious, entertained feelings and opinions varying very widely one from the other. He hoped the Shakespere Lodge would long continue to exist and flourish—that its members would ever strive to preserve the landmarks, respect the ceremonial, and uphold the dignity of Freemasonry. He complimented the W.M. on his position as the head of such a lodge; he congratulated him on the skill of his officers and the willing support accorded to him by all the brethren of the lodge, upon whom, he jocosely remarked, "the mantle of their great Master appeared to have fallen."

The W.M. briefly proposed, "The Provincial Grand Officers, past and present, of this and other provinces," which was responded to by Bro. Gibbon, P.G.J.W., and Bro. Leresche, P.P.G.R. The latter expressed his gratification at finding that although he was a Past P.G. Officer, he was not forgotten by the Master and brethren of the Shakespere Lodge, or by other brethren in the province. It was a pleasure to find that any services he had rendered during his tenure of office as P.G. Registrar had been so warmly appreciated, and he begged to assure the R.W. Prov. Grand Master, that not only he but all the other Past Prov. Grand Officers would at all times be heartily glad to render any services he might desire, with the view of assisting in the efficient ruling of so large and important a province.

The R.W. Prov. Grand Master proposed "The health of the Worshipful Master of the Shakespere Lodge" in complimentary terms, expressing his satisfaction at seeing so important a lodge ruled by so efficient a Master.

Bro. Austin thanked the Prov. Grand Master for the kind manner he had proposed the toast, and the brethren for the hearty way they had received it.

Bro. the Rev. S. G. B. Bradshaw, I.P.M., proposed "The Visiting Brethren, which was responded to in a few humorous remarks by Bro. Edwin Simpson, P.M., and Bro. G. A. Birch, P.P.G.S.D., in a pleasing and effective speech.

Bro. Alderson, P.M., proposed "The Masonic Charities," and the Senior Warden gave the last toast at about eleven o'clock.

The harmony of the evening was largely contributed to by Bros. Hepton (Sec.), Bentley, Coulton, and C. H. Coates, P.M. The latter in addition to performing efficiently at the Social Board, as in the lodge, the duties of Director of Ceremonies, gave his original Shakespere song, and introduced a new verse referring to the visit of the R.W.P.G.M., which was much appreciated.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills."—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, London." Also, makers of Epps's Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk).—[Advt.]

THE New Zealand Meat-Preserving Co.'s beef and mutton is being supplied to the trade by Messrs. Robert Wotherspoon and Co., manufacturers of "The Glenfield Starch," Glasgow and London.

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

[With a view to increase the circulation, and consequently the usefulness, of THE FREEMASON, it is suggested that Lodges, &c., desiring reports to appear in the paper, should take a certain number of copies in proportion to the space required for the report.]

THE CRAFT.

METROPOLITAN.

United Mariners' Lodge, No. 30.—The regular meeting of this old and flourishing lodge was held on Tuesday evening, the 19th inst., at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street. Present: Bros. R. Shackell, W.M. (in the chair); G. J. C. Smith, S.W.; Osborn, J.W.; Jesse Turner, P.M., Treas.; R. E. Barnes, P.M., Hon. Sec.; Ansell, S.D.; H. Bethell, J.D.; A. Le Feaux, Organist; B. Deeley, I.G.; J. Driscoll, P.M., and C. Smith, Stewards; Caseley, D.C.; J. Harling, I.P.M.; W. McDonald, P.M.; J. Johns, P.M.; Campbell, Inglis, C. Bethell, &c. The lodge was opened in antique form, and the minutes of the proceedings of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Messrs. Clark and Norwood were initiated, and Bro. Cosedge was raised. The Book of Constitutions, handsomely bound in calf, with gilt edges, was presented to the lodge by the W.M.; and a very handsome large-size set of tracing-boards was presented by the S.W.; to whom the thanks of the lodge were given for their presents. The ballot was then taken for the election of W.M. for the ensuing year, and Bro. G. J. C. Smith was unanimously elected to fill the chair of K.S., Bro. Jesse Turner, P.M., being unanimously re-elected Treasurer. It was resolved, "That a P.M. jewel be presented to Bro. R. Shackell, W.M., on the next lodge-night, for the very able and courteous manner in which he has presided over the lodge for the past year." The sum of two guineas was voted towards the Testimonial Fund for Bro. Binckes. Bro. Grant was re-elected Tyler, and the lodge, to mark its appreciation of his services for the past year, presented him with a half-sovereign as a Christmas-box. After relieving the widow of a deceased brother, the lodge was closed and the brethren adjourned to a good plain supper.

Mount Lebanon Lodge, No. 75.—On Tuesday, the 19th instant, this lodge held a meeting at the Bridge House Hotel, Southwark. Bro. M. Loewenstark, W.M., presided, supported by Bros. G. Free, S.W.; G. Grace, J.W.; E. Harris, P.M., Treas.; A. Dussel, S.D.; S. Harman, J.D.; Gomme, I.G.; I. Wilkins, D.C.; Dr. Dixon, F. Walters, D. Rose, F. H. Ebsworth, and T. J. Sabine, P.M.'s; &c. Bro. Hill was raised to the third degree, and Messrs. Hunter and Spencer (the proprietor) were initiated into Freemasonry. The ballots were unanimously in favour of Bro. G. Free as W.M., Bro. E. Harris as Treasurer, and Bro. W. Y. Laing, P.M., as Tyler (re-elected). The lodge was then closed, no banquet or any refreshment following, in consequence of the illness of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales.

Belford Lodge, No. 157.—The election meeting of this ancient lodge was held on Friday, 8th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, Bro. John Hills, W.M., presiding. One brother was raised to the third degree. Bro. W. Holland, S.W., was unanimously elected W.M.; Bro. Lavender, P.M., Treas., was re-elected unanimously; and the Tyler was re-elected.

Polish National Lodge, No. 534.—On the 14th inst., the second regular meeting of this lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall. Bro. Diosy, W.M., in the chair. Bros. Charpentier, Barany, and Kocsis were passed, and Mr. J. L. Denman initiated. Bro. Sulczewski, P.M., moved "That this lodge record a vote of condolence with the sufferings of the M.W.G.P.M. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales," which was carried nem. con., and ordered to be embodied in the minutes. The feeling of deep regret thus recorded seems to have pervaded the ensuing banquet—music and song were suppressed, and the usual toasts and acclamations were given in a subdued tone.

Whittington Lodge, No. 862.—A meeting of this lodge was held, on the 18th instant, at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street. Present: Bros. J. Salisbury, W.M.; Jones, S.W.; Quilty, P.M., Treas.; R. W. Little, Prov. G. Sec. Middlesex, Sec.; Smith, P.M., S.D.; Seelig, J.D.; Haley, I.G.; Kingston, D.C.; Jas. Weaver, P.M., P.G. Org. Middlesex, Treasurer Benevolent Fund; Hurlston, P.M.; Davis, I.P.M.; G. C. Pritchard, Org.; and many other brethren. The W.M., having opened the lodge, took the ballot for, and initiated, Messrs. A. Moore, J. Smith, F. L. Prior, and R. C. Miller. Bro. James Weaver then occupied the chair and passed Bros. Rose, Rodet, Lavington, Walmsley, and Ben Zion. The lodge having been resumed to the first degree, Bro. James Weaver proposed, and it was carried by acclamation, that a vote of condolence be entered on the minutes, expressing the deep sympathy the members have with their Illustrious Brother, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, in his severe illness, with a sincere hope that it may please the G.A.O.T.U. to spare him to come amongst his brethren again. A guinea was voted to the Tyler as a Christmas-box, two gentlemen were proposed for initiation, and the lodge was closed. The brethren then adjourned to the banqueting-room, and there brought a very happy evening to a close.

Macdonald Lodge, No. 1216.—This lodge met at the head-quarters of the First Surrey Rifles at Camberwell, on Wednesday, the 13th inst., and was exceedingly well attended. The W.M., Bro. S. H. Wagstaff, was supported by all his officers, viz., Bros. G. Waterall, S.W.; G. H. N. Bridges, J.W.; James Stevens, I.P.M.; Thomas Meggy, P.M.; Dr. Eugene Cronin, Treas.; J. J. Curtis, Sec.; W. J. Messenger, S.D.; J. H. Hastie, J.D.; M. S. Larham, I.G.; W. Dickers and T. W. Carnell, Stewards. Amongst other members present were Bros. A. Williams, A. Fletcher, W. Elliott, J. Allen, A. Wolton, A. Kethro, W. W. Peall, C. Fountain, H. Hammond, W. Willis, &c., &c., and the visitors were Bros. H. Puckle, C. Swan (869), J. Martin (139), and Herbert Barry (108). The lodge having been duly opened, ballots were taken for Messrs. W. Gray and W. S. Cackett, which proving favourable they were severally introduced and initiated. A ballot having been similarly taken for Mr. Allan Wilson, the W.M., in ready compliance with the expressed desire of the candidate, surrendered the chair of K.S. to Bro. Stevens, I.P.M., who duly initiated Mr. Wilson into the Order. Mr. J. B. Schott was subsequently balloted for, approved, and initiated by the W.M. The whole of the work was performed in the admirably correct and impressive manner which has made the Macdonald Lodge so justly famous as an exemplar of perfect Masonry. Propositions for initiation at ensuing meeting having been made and some routine business disposed of, the I.P.M., Bro. Stevens, addressed the lodge in appropriate terms in reference to the dangerous condition of our Royal Brother the Prince of Wales, submitting to the brethren that both in their Masonic capacity and in that of loyal Volunteers, they should express their sense of the lamentable circumstances then causing so much anxiety throughout the nation; and although not presuming to the importance of a public body, to add their tear of sympathy for the afflictions of the royal household to that flood of regret and condolence with which the country overflowed. He moved, "That this lodge do record on its minutes the heartfelt sympathy and affection its members entertain for their Royal Brother the Prince of Wales, in his severe and dangerous illness; their loyal devotion to his family; and their sincere prayers that the G.A.O.T.U. may yet restore him to health, to the nation, and to re-union with his Masonic brethren."—Bro. Thomas Meggy, P.M., in equally expressive terms, seconded the motion, which, it is almost needless to add, was unanimously resolved. The brethren adjourned for refreshment, but the general gloom occasioned by the uncertainty of the moment induced a speedy separation.

PROVINCIAL.

HULL.—Humber Lodge, No. 57.—On Tuesday last an unusually large meeting of brethren took place for the purpose of electing the principal officers of this well-known and important lodge. The election of the W.M. for the coming year was the cause of many attending whose visits lately have, in one respect, been like the angels', few and far between. For some time previously it had been considered a forgone conclusion that the Mastership would be conferred on Bro. R. T. Vivian, and the supporters of that gentleman had the satisfaction of having their representative almost unanimously elected. The W.M.-elect in returning thanks stated it was impossible, upon an event of such importance to him, to adequately express his gratitude. He had no occasion to allude to his services in the past, nor any desire to say what he intended doing in the future, beyond the fact that he should endeavour at all times to walk in the footsteps of one who, by his kindness and courtesy, his high Masonic attainments, his goodness of heart, and never-ceasing anxiety to promote the happiness and comfort of his brethren, could never amongst them be regarded with anything but the most affectionate esteem, and that one was their present W.M. Bro. Vivian, we may state, possesses every qualification for ably filling the chair. He is a man of education and cultivation, and has devoted considerable time to the study of our ancient art. We wish him and the lodge every success in the election. The following officers were also elected: Bros. J. L. Seaton, P.M., Treasurer to the Benevolent and Pension Fund; Alderman Fountain, Treasurer to the lodge; W. D. Keyworth, P.M., Treasurer to the Poor Fund, an office which Bro. Keyworth has fulfilled in a manner almost beyond praise for the last seven years. Bro. Johnson, another old officer of eleven years' standing, was re-elected Tyler. After the formal closing of the lodge the brethren adjourned to refreshment, where they availed themselves of expressing their sentiments of respect and esteem towards a good Master, a ready friend, and a "brother" in the best signification of the word, viz., the W.M., Bro. W. Tesseyman.

LANCASTER.—Lodge of Fortitude, No. 281.—The regular meeting of this flourishing lodge was held on Wednesday evening, the 13th instant, at the Masonic Rooms, Athenæum, Lancaster. The W.M., Bro. Dr. Moore, G.S.B. England, presided, and was supported by his officers as follows: Bros. John Hatch, I.P.M.; William Hall, S.W.; Wm. Fleming, J.W.; James Hatch, P.M., Treas.; Edmund Simpson, P.M., Sec.; E. Airey, S.D.; William J. Sly, J.D.; R. Taylor, I.G.; H. Sumner, Steward; J. Watson, Tyler; and about twenty brethren.—As soon as the lodge was opened, the W.M. stated that, taking precedence of all other business, he had to announce to the lodge assembled what each brother had already much deplored as an individual, namely, the distressing intelligence that had been received of the serious illness of our Royal Brother the Prince of Wales. The W.M. then, in a feeling speech, proposed that a record should be placed on the minutes of the meeting of the sorrow of the brethren at hearing of the dangerous illness of his Royal Highness, together with an expression of the deepest sympathy with her Majesty the Queen and her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales in their affliction.—This was seconded by Bro. J. Hatch, I.P.M., and carried unanimously. The by-laws were then read, and other business transacted. The ballot was taken for a Worshipful Master for the ensuing year, which resulted in the election of Bro. Wm. Hall, the present S.W., and the installation ceremony was decided to be held on Wednesday afternoon, the 27th instant, the subsequent banquet to take place at the King's Arms Hotel. Bro. Jas. Hatch, P.M., was re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. John Watson, Tyler. The W.M. retired from the lodge-room, the chair of K.S. being occupied by Bro. John Hatch, I.P.M., when, on the proposition of Bro. G. Kelland, seconded by Bro. Hatch, it was unanimously resolved that the sum of five guineas should be voted towards presenting the W.M. with a Past Grand Sword-bearer's jewel, on his retiring from office in the Grand Lodge of England. The W.M. gave notice of motion, that he should propose at the next meeting that the sum of £5 5s. be given to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls; and there being no other business before the lodge, it was closed in due form.

DARTMOUTH.—Hawley Lodge, No. 797.—This lodge held its monthly meeting at the Masonic Rooms on Monday, the 11th instant, for the purpose of installing Bro. Thos. Lidstone, P.M., P.Z., P.P. G.S. of W., Devon, and one of the founders of this lodge. The ceremony was performed by Bro. G. S. Ellis, P.M. The W.M. afterwards invested his officers, viz., Bros. Ellis, I.P.M.; Pescott, S.W.; Goodridge, J.W.; J. Hurrell, Treasurer; J. Bovey, Secretary; E. Seale, S.D.; J. White, J.D.; T. P. Lidstone, I.G.; J. Evans, D.C.; H. Winsor, Tyler.

ROCK FERRY, CHESHIRE.—Rock Lodge, No. 1289.—The regular meeting of this lodge took place on Friday, the 8th inst., at the Rock Ferry Hotel, and was well attended by members and visitors, amongst whom were Bros. J. P. Platt, P.P.J.G.W.; W. Bulley, Thomas Platt, and J. B. Hignett, P.P.J.G.D.'s; F. K. Stevenson, Prov. G.S.B.; T. E. Hignett, W.M. 537; T. S. Jones, W.M. 1276; A. Green, P.M. 249; Sprutly, M.D., P.M. 537; Ryan, M.D., 537; &c. The W.M., Bro. Friend, having initiated Messrs. G. Scott and R. H. Prince, the lodge was further opened, and Bro. R. H. Moore, S.W., was presented to the W.M. for the benefit of installation, and Bro. Friend accordingly installed him in the chair of K.S. The new W.M. then appointed and invested his officers as follows: Bros. Lewis, S.W.; Bolton, J.W. (by proxy, being unavoidably absent); P. J. Pearson, Sec.; Sayer, S.D.; Pattison, J.D.; and Wigdahl, I.G. Bro. Stevenson, P.G.S.B., who had been unanimously re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. Holtaway, Tyler, were respectively invested by the W.M. Five joining members and one candidate for initiation having been proposed, and various other matters connected with the lodge discussed, the brethren adjourned from labour to refreshment, and a very pleasant evening was passed. This lodge is now in a prosperous condition, and likely to become everything that its most ardent supporters could wish.

BARNET.—Acacia Lodge, No. 1309.—An emergency meeting of this lodge was held on Wednesday, 13th inst., at the Railway Hotel, Potters' Bar. Bro. Frederick Walters, I.P.M., presided, and passed Bro. J. M. Jennings (1326) to the second degree, and raised Bro. Schollard to the third degree. Bro. Charles Horsley, P.M., then took the chair, and separately initiated Messrs. Hughes, Butterfield, and Ferrier into Freemasonry, the work being well performed. Banquet followed labour.

ALDERSHOT.—Aldershot Camp Lodge, No. 1331.—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Royal Hotel, High-street, on Thursday, the 7th inst. The chair of K.S. was occupied by Bro. John Fenn, W.M., who was supported by the following officers: Bros. C. Carnegie, Grand Purs. Hants, I.P.M.; Captain Richardson, R.E., S.W.; A. McKenzie, J.W.; Laverty, S.D.; Bennett, J.D.; R. White, Sec.; Anderson, I.G.; Lucas, Tyler; and a goodly muster of the brethren. The lodge was opened in form in the first degree, and the minutes of the regular meeting on 2nd Nov., and the emergency meeting on the 9th, were read and separately confirmed. A ballot was then taken for Bros. Hanley and Denison, 7th Hussars, and Sergeant-major Wyatt, Cavalry Brigade, as joining members, and Sergeant-major Silk, garrison staff, a candidate for initiation, which proved unanimous in each case. The lodge was then opened in the second degree, and Bro. Bishop, a candidate for the M.M.'s degree, was examined respecting his proficiency as a F.C., which proving satisfactory, he was entrusted with a test of merit and retired. The lodge was then opened in the third degree, and Bro. Bishop was raised to that degree. The lodge was then closed down to the second and first degrees. The W.M. announced that a lodge of instruction would be held on the 21st inst. The W.M. then, on behalf of the lodge, presented Bro. C. Carnegie, I.P.M., with a tea and coffee service. The following is the inscription on the salver: "Presented to Bro. C. Carnegie, P.M. 311 (I.C.), 697 (E.C.), P.P. Gr. Supt. of Works Essex, Gr. Pursuivant Hampshire, first W.M. of the Aldershot Camp Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of England, by the brethren of that lodge, as a token of their esteem and regard for his zealous services in the establishment of their lodge, and his faithful exposition of the principles of Freemasonry. Aldershot, November, 1871."—The W.M., addressing Bro. Carnegie, said: It gives me much pleasure to be the medium of presenting you with this tea service. The brethren feel that the great prosperity of the lodge while under your Mastership, and the devotion which you paid to its interests, call for this recognition of your services; and I but echo the sentiment of every brother when I express the earnest wish that you may live long to enjoy this gift; and when it pleases the G.A.O.T.U. to promote you to the Grand Lodge above, it will be a source of joy to your posterity.—Bro. Carnegie said he was deeply touched, not only in receiving such a valuable gift, but also by the Masonic spirit which prompted its presentation. He was gratified that his humble endeavours to carry out the great principles of Freemasonry had met with the approbation of his brethren, and thanked not only the lodge as a body for its support during his year of office, but more particularly those brethren who had assisted him in working its ceremonies. The testimonial would be carefully preserved, pointed to with pride, and handed down to his children as an agreeable memento of his connection with the Camp Lodge.—Some further business having been transacted, the lodge was closed with prayer.

HAMPTON.—Lebanon Lodge, No. 1326.—At the Lion Hotel, Hampton, on Wednesday, the 20th inst., this lodge met. Bro. S. Wickens, W.M., presided. There were also present: Bros. T. I. Moss, P.G.S., I.P.M. and Treas.; F. Walters, P.M., Sec.; R. Bowman, S.W.; D. Beck, J.W.; H. Dubois, S.D.; W. Hammond, P.M., J.D.; J. Jackson, I.G.; &c. Bros. Solly and Livett were raised; Bros. Donald, Duckworth, and Baldwin were passed; and Messrs. Payne, Greavson, and Hulet were initiated—all the work being well done. After the lodge had been closed, banquet and dessert followed.

WIMBLEDON.—United Service Lodge, No. 1361.—This new lodge met at the Swan Hotel, Wimbeldon, on Saturday the 11th inst., under the presidency of the W.M.; Bro. Major E. Hamilton Finney, who was supported by Bros. G. Cowell, M.D., S.W.; E. H. Finney, jun., J.W.; R. W. Little, P.M.; W. Dodd, P.M.; T. W. White, J.W. 21; T. R. Darke, &c. The lodge having been duly opened, and the minutes confirmed, ballots were taken for Bro. C. Butcher as a joining member, and for Dr. Frederick W. Parsons for initiation. Both proving favorable, Dr. Parsons was then regularly initiated into the Order. The Grand Secretary's letter, announcing that the Grand Master had been pleased to nominate Bro. Finney, junr., as J.W., in place of the brother named in the warrant, was read and ordered to be entered on the minutes. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren sat down to dinner, and spent a pleasant evening together.

ROYAL ARCH II.

LANCASTER.—Rowley Chapter, No. 1051.—An emergency meeting of this chapter was held on the 11th instant, at the Masonic Rooms, Athenæum. There were present: Comps. Mason, M.E.Z.; Hall,

H.; Dr. Moore, P.Z., as J.; Whimpray, E.; W. J. Sly, N.; E. Simpson, P.S.; W. Barker, Treas.; W. Heald and R. Taylor, Assts. S.; W. Bradshaw, E. A. Sall, J. Coulon, and J. Watson. After the chapter had been opened, Comp. Dr. Moore, who occupied the chair of M.E.Z., announced the dangerous illness of our Royal Companion and Brother the Prince of Wales, and, in a feeling speech, directed that an expression of sorrow on the part of the companions of the chapter, at his prolonged and very serious illness, should be placed upon the minutes of the chapter, together with an expression of the deepest sympathy with her Majesty the Queen and her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales in their trial and affliction. The ballot was taken for Bro. J. Coulon, of the Duke of Lancaster Lodge, No. 1353, and he was declared to be unanimously elected. Bros. Coulon and E. A. Sall, LL.D., vicar of Dolphinholme, were then duly exalted to the degree of Royal Arch by Comp. Moore, P.Z., who afterwards gave the mystical lecture, the historical and symbolical lectures being delivered by Comp. Hall, H. The M.E.Z. announced that the Prov. Grand Superintendent, Comp. Sir Thomas G. Fermor-Hesketh, Bart., M.P., had signified that it was his intention to hold a Prov. Grand Chapter in Lancaster, on the 29th instant. There being no other business before the chapter, it was closed in due form.

SCOTLAND.

GLASGOW.

Lodge St. Mark, No. 102.—The installation of the office-bearers of St. Mark's Lodge, No. 102, took place on Monday week. There was a large attendance of the brethren. Bro. Barrow, D.P.G.M., who was the installing master, discharged his duties most efficiently. The office-bearers installed were Bros. John Cunninghame, R.W.M.; Thomas Halket, P.M.; J. F. Mitchell, D.M.; W. Haddow, S.M.; R. Jamieson, S.W.; D. Douglas, J.W.; H. Campbell, Secretary; Thomas Halket, jun., Treasurer; R. H. Clydesdale, S.D.; W. Robertson, J.D.; R. McCall, S.S.; J. Whyte, Jeweller; J. O. Smith, V.S.P.G.L.; A. Gladstone, Director of Music; J. B. Hardie, I.G.; James Pollock, Tyler. The R.W.M., after taking the chair, returned thanks to the brethren for the honour they had done him, and moved that a hearty vote of thanks be accorded to Bro. Barrow for the able manner in which he had discharged his duties. Bro. Barrow, in acknowledging the compliment, said that the lodge had bestowed a great honour on Bro. Cunninghame; but he had no doubt whatever that their new Right Worshipful Master would uphold the prestige of the lodge as in days gone by. The lodge was then called from labour to refreshment, and the brethren having enjoyed themselves in a truly Masonic manner, the lodge was in due time closed.

St. Andrew's Royal Arch Chapter, No. 69.—At a meeting of the St. Andrew's Royal Arch Chapter, held at 170, Buchanan Street, on Tuesday week, the following Companions were installed into office:—Thomas D. Humphreys, P.Z.; Duncan McGeachy, P.H.; Thomas P. Mullins, P.J.; D. Campbell, S.E.; Peter Gray, S.N.; Edward Crosher, Treas.; John McEwen, 1st Soj.; Andrew Russell, 2nd do.; George Denny, 3rd do.; John L. Hunter, Standard-bearer; George Heron, Organist; John C. Fraser, Janitor. The ceremonial was ably rendered by Comp. T. M. Campbell, P.P.Z., and the earnest manner of the celebrant duly impressed the newly-installed office-bearers with the importance of their duties. Upon the motion of Comp. Humphreys, P.Z., seconded by Comp. T. M. Campbell, Comp. O'Neal Haeye was affiliated.

ROTHESAY.

The annual meeting of the brethren of the Rothesay St. John's Lodge No. 392, was held in their own hall on Monday evening, when the abstract of accounts and report for the year were approved, and the following office-bearers elected for the ensuing year:—Lachlan Milloy, R.W.M.; Alex. Stirling, D.M.; Alex. Duncan, S.W.; Alex. McDonald, J.W.; Archd. Morrison, Treasurer; Andrew Higgie, Secretary; George Grant, Chaplain; Neil Anderson, Tyler.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Chest and Stomach Complaints.—The source and centre of almost every ailment is impurity of the blood; dislodge thence poison, and disease departs. Holloway's Pills exercise the inestimable power of thoroughly cleansing such component part of the blood, and rendering this fluid fit to perform its important functions. They cope most successfully with chest diseases, stomach complaints, liver disorders, and many other maladies, which were once the besetting dangers of mankind at certain seasons in town and country. The directions for use enable every one to regulate the operation of these Pills with the greatest nicety. Chronic invalids, nervous sufferers, and all whom other treatment has failed to relieve, are respectfully invited to try Holloway's celebrated medicine, which will strengthen and cure them.—[Advt.]

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending Friday, December 29, 1871.

The Editor will be glad to have notice from Secretaries of lodges and chapters of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, DEC. 23.

Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. C. S. Dilley, Preceptor.
Sphinx Lodge of Instruction, Stirling Castle, Camberwell, at 7; Bro. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.

MONDAY, DEC. 25.

Lodge 79, Pythagorean, Ship Hotel, Greenwich.
" 831, British Oak, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Bancroft-place, Mile End.
Chap. 188, Joppa, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street.
Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern, Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30; Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street (opposite Pantheon), Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. J. R. Stacey, Preceptor.
Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. C. G. Willey, P.M. 1155, Preceptor.
St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, DEC. 26.

Audit Committee Girls' School, at 2.30.
Lodge 92, Moira, London Tavern, Bishopsgate-street.
" 186, Industry, Freemasons' Hall.
" 205, Israel.
Chap. 29, St. Albans, Albion Hotel, Aldersgate-street.
Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, Preceptor.
Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.
Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, Gladstone Tavern, Bishopsgate-st. Within, at 7.30; Bro. Bolton (W.M. 1227), Preceptor.
St. Marylebone Lodge of Instruction (1305), British Stores Tavern, New-street, St. John's Wood, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 27.

Lodge 212, Euphrates, Masons' Hall, Masons'-avenue, Basinghall-street.
" 507, United Pilgrims, Horns Tavern, Kennington.
" 754, High Cross, Seven Sisters' Tav., Tottenham.
" 898, Temperance in the East, 6, Newby-place, Poplar.
Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7 1/2.
Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Lindus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, DEC. 28.

General Committee Girls' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4.
Lodge 34, Mount Moriah, Freemasons' Hall.
" 65, Prosperity, Guildhall Coffee House, Gresham-street.
The R.A. Chapter of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor. Ceremony, History of Moses' Rod, and part sections.
Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses, Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Pannure Lodge of Instruction (720), Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7; Bro. John Thomas, Preceptor.
Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern, Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.

United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.
Chigwell Lodge of Instruction, Bald-faced Stag Hotel, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30.

FRIDAY, DEC. 29.

House Committee Boys' School.
Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Htl. Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Muggeridge, Preceptor.
Robert Burns Lodge of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air street, Regent-st., at 8; Bro. W. Watson, Preceptor.
Burgoyne Lodge of Instruction, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, N.W., at 8.
St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
Burdett Coutts Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 8; Bro. Geo. W. Verry, Preceptor.
Clapton Lodge of Instruction, White Hart, Clapton, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West Smith, Preceptor.

MESSRS. ROBERT WOTHERSPOON and Co., Manufacturers of the Glenfield Starch, have, unsolicited, reduced the working hours of their employees from 60 to 57 hours per week. The same firm having, many years ago, reduced the working hours in their extensive confectionery establishment to 57 1/2 hours, at which they continue

THE BEST FIRST.—Turner's Tamarind Cough Emulsion for the Throat and Bronchia, 13 1/2d. and 2/9 per bot.—All wholesale houses in London and Liverpool, and any respectable Chemist.—[Advt.]

" MORE than a year ago one of my children was attacked with bronchitis, and, after a long illness, was given up by all physician as 'past cure.' I was then induced to try your Vegetable Pain Killer, and from the time I began the use of it the child rapidly got better, and it is now strong and healthy.—JOHN WINSTANTLEY, 10, Whittle-st., L'pool, 1869.—To P. D. & Son."

Advertisements.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

APRIL ELECTION, 1872.

YOUR votes and interest are earnestly solicited on behalf of

FREDERICK CHARLES GATES,

AGED 7 1/2 YEARS,

Son of the late Bro. JAMES HAYDEN GATES, of Clapham, Surrey, Builder, who died in June, 1871, after a long and painful illness, leaving a Widow and seven children totally unprovided for, his severe sufferings from hereditary disease having, during the previous two years, incapacitated him from attending to his business pursuits. Bro. Gates was initiated in the Pannure Lodge, 720, served the offices and passed the chair of that lodge, and was also Past H. of the Chapter attached thereto. Whilst in a position to do so, he faithfully discharged his Masonic duties, and supported the Charitable Institutions by every means in his power.

The case is strongly recommended by the following brethren:

The Rev. WESTWORTH A. BOWYER, Rector of Clapham, P.G.C.; The Rectory, Clapham Common, S.W.
CONRAD C. DUMAS (G.), P.A.G.C., Prov. G.S.W. Surrey, P.M. 46 and 410, P.Z. 167 and 410; Clapham Common, S.W.

Sir CHARLES FORBES, Bart., Broom Wood, Clapham.
J. C. PARKINSON (V.P.), P.M. 181, P.Z. 259, J.G.W. Mk., &c.; The Manor House, Collier's Wood, Merton, Surrey.
GEORGE MYERS (V.P.), P.M. 108, &c., &c.; Belvedere-road, Lambeth, S.E.

J. NEAL YORK, P.M. 88, 1088, P.Z., &c., P.P.G.W. Cambridgeshire; Newmarket.

GEORGE KENNING (V.P.), W.M. 192, J.W. 1293, P.G.D. Middlesex; Upper Sydenham, S.E.

R. S. WARRINGTON (G.), P.G.S., P.M. 197, P.Z. 8, J. 145; 23, Garrick-street, London, W.C.

JOHN WALKER (G.), P.M., P.Z. 57, P.P.G. Supt. of Wks. N. and E. Yorkshire, P.M. (Mark) 12, P.G.O., &c.; 56, Lister-street, Hull.

SIGISMUND ROSENTHAL (G.), P.M. 435, &c.; Red Lion Square, W.C.

C. E. AMOS (G.), P.M. 410, P.P.G.W. Surrey; Cedar's-road, Clapham, S.W.

W. B. HEATH (L.), P.M. 198, 504, P.P.G.S.W. Herts.; 54, Threadneedle-street, E.C.

*H. C. LEVANDER (G.), P.M. 507, 632, and 928, P.Z. 720, M.E.Z. 76, P.P.G.S.D. Wilts.; 376, Wandsworth-road, S.W. (Steward at the ensuing Festival of the Institution.)

*JOHN READ (G.), 1316, P.M. 720, P.Z. 720; India Office, Westminster.

*EDWARD MOODY, W.M. 1287; 22, Somerleyton-road, Brixton, S.W. (Steward at the ensuing Festival of the Institution.)

EDWARD WORTHINGTON, P.M. 507, P.Z. 720; Loughborough Park, S.W.

W. S. HALE, 534; Alexandra Hotel, Clapham Common. EUGENE CRONIN (L.), M.D., Treas. 1216; Old Manor House, Clapham, S.W.

*JOHN THOMAS (G.), P.M. & P.Z. 507 & 720, P.G.D.C., G.C., &c., 20, Denmark-street, Camberwell, S.E.

*JAS. STEVENS (G.), P.M. 25, 720, 1216, P.M. Mark 104, W.M. Mark 139, P.G.O., &c.; Clapham Common.

Proxies will be thankfully received by the brethren marked thus *, and by the Widow, 4, Phoenix-terrace, Wirttemberg-street, Clapham, S.W.

(V.P.) Vice Presidents of the Institution. (G.) Life Governor (L.) Life Subscriber.

Royal Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons or their Widows.

ELECTION, MAY, 1872.

THE favour of your Votes and Interest is earnestly solicited on behalf of

WILLIAM ALLISON,

AGED 62 YEARS.

He has been a Mason 27 years, having been initiated into the Barton Lodge, No. 733, in Hamilton, Canada West, in 1844; Exalted in the Royal Arch Chapter, No. 733, in 1845; Joined the Union Waterloo Lodge, No. 13, in 1848. Became a Knight Templar in 1856. He suffered a considerable time from disease of the throat, rendering it necessary for him, thirteen years ago, to undergo an operation; the result of which and old age unfits him to contribute anything towards his own support. He is entirely dependent on the small sum he receives from three Lodges and one Chapter as their Tyler. He was formerly in good circumstances, having been a Foreman in a Boot and Shoemakers' Warehouse, in Canada.

The case is strongly recommended by

Bro. the Right Worshipful FREDERICK PATTISON, P.G. Warden; 57 1/2 Old Broad-street, E.C.

+ G. BOLTON, P.M., 169, 147, 1155, P.Z. 169; Russell-street, Rotherhithe.

+ C. COUPLAND, P.M. 913, A.S. No. 13 Chapter; Burrage-road, Plumstead, S.E.

+ SAMUEL MAY, P.M., P.G.S., 23, 101, 780, 87, 1185, 'Grand Stewards' Lodge, V.P.

+ EDWARD ARNOULIN, P.S.W., No. 12, 172; St. John's-street, Clerkenwell.

+ C. W. ASHDOWN, S.W. 1076; Lime Villa, Gurney-road, Stratford, E.

+ F. T. P. BIRTS, 13, P.M. 829; Powis-street, Woolwich.

+ G. B. DAVIS, W.M. 13; Wellington-street, Woolwich.

+ J. DELLAGANE, P.J.W., No. 12, 172; St. John's-street.

+ C. A. ELLIS, P.M. and W.M., No. 913; 19, Vicarage Park, Plumstead.

+ JOHN GRAYDON, P.M. 13 and 913, P.Z. and M.E.Z. 13 Chapter, P.P.S.G.D. Kent; Royal Arsenal, Woolwich.

+ W. J. GRAHAM, W.M. 700; Albion-terrace, Charlton.

+ J. HENDERSON, P.M. 13, 829, 913, 1107, P.Z. 13; 33, Eleanor-road, Woolwich.

+ MCKIERNAN, 192, 1288; 62, St. John's-square, Clerkenwell.

+ KNIGHT, W.M. 1107, J.W. 913, P.G.S. Kent.

+ GEORGE KENNING (V.P.), W.M. 192, J.W. 1293, P.G.D. Middlesex; Upper Sydenham, S.E.

+ S. H. PAIN, S.W. 913, 1107; Artillery-place, Woolwich.

+ PICKING, P.M. 13, and 1227, 1076; 28, Victoria-grove, South Hornsey.

+ J. ROWLAND, P.M. 700.

+ C. J. SUTTON, P.M. 55 and 1107, P.P.G.A.D.C. Kent; 268, City-road.

+ EDWARD WEST, W.M. 1327, P.M. 1076, S.G.D., Herts.; North Woolwich.

Gentlemen against whose name † appears will be thankful to receive proxies on behalf of William Allison, 44, William Street, Woolwich

Boys and Girls' Proxies will be gladly received for the purpose of exchange at Bro. W. Francis', No. 8, Red Lion-square, London; Bro. Ed. West, North Woolwich; and Bro. Kenning, Upper Sydenham, London.

For Cheap Watches, Clocks, Gold Chains and Jewellery, go to KIBBLES',

22, GRACECHURCH STREET

(one door from Lombard-street), and

51, LUDGATE HILL,

(opposite the Old Bailey).

Gold Watches ... .. £2 15s.

Silver Watches ... .. £1 5s.

Timepieces ... .. from 9s. 6d.

Every article warranted. Plate, Watches, and Jewellery bought or exchanged. List of Prices post free.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGE
PHILOSOPHY OF FREEMASONRY ... ..	799
ENTERTAINMENTS AT CHESTER ... ..	799
1871 ... ..	800
MULTUM IN PARVO ... ..	807
THE PRINCE OF WALES ... ..	807
IMPORTANT WORK ON MASONIC MS. CONSTITUTIONS ... ..	807
ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE—
A Body without a Head ... ..	808
Printed Rituals ... ..	808
STAFFORDSHIRE MASONIC CHARITABLE ASSOCIATION ... ..	808
MASONIC FUNERAL AT PLYMOUTH ... ..	808 & 809
MASONIC FESTIVAL AT HANLEY .. ..	809
BANQUET OF THE DEVONSHIRE LODGE, No. 625	809
THE CRAFT ... ..	809 & 810
ROYAL ARCH... ..	810
MARK MASONRY ... ..	810
ORDERS OF CHIVALRY—
Red Cross of Constantine ... ..	810
Knights Templar ... ..	810
MASONIC MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK ... ..	810
ADVERTISEMENTS ... ..	797, 798, 811, & 812

THE PHILOSOPHY OF FREEMASONRY.

CHAPTER FOURTH.

THE LODGE.

The lodge is a type of the world. Above hangs the sky, our feet tread the earth; beside us, in the pillars, rise the trees. We hear the warbling of birds; the sighing of the winds; the rustling of leaves; the chirm of water-courses. We see before us the glories of creation; the many coloured flowers; the honey-laden bees; the wonders of the sky. The lodge is a peaceful world, where the sound of war is unheard; the bray of the trumpet and the roar of the cannon is unknown; and even the mallet stroke falls upon the ashlar unpercussioned. The Masonic world is one of love. There all are knit by the mystic chain of fraternity. The world without may hustle in wild fury; kingdoms fall; but the silent brotherhood in peace and tranquility pursue their studies, asking but leave to live, to perform acts of charity, and to improve their understandings so as to comprehend the Great Light. Anywhere can a lodge be held; on the lofty mountain's top; in the lowly valley; upon the sea-swept shore; or out where the billows roll in majestic sullen grandeur; anywhere, where the Omniscient Eye can look down and view men of different creeds and nations, of different ranks and talents, joining together in harmony to celebrate those mysteries, which raise mankind from out the mortal slough, and teach them in spirit and in truth by the bond of brotherhood, to acknowledge God as our Father.

And herein lies the true theology of a Mason. Rising above the petty, because earthly barriers, of the flesh and of the world, mind rules supreme, and he acknowledges all mankind as so many rays shot from the sun, the I Am; proceeding from the I Am, to beautify and adorn the checkered scheme of the creation, and when that purpose is served to return to its source of existence. Not alone were lodges held on the tops of eminences and in valleys, to keep off the prying worldling's eye; but that the brethren might see around and above them the infallible proof of the existence of a Divine Creator, that they might ever hold Him before their thoughts; knowing that to Him they were bound sooner or later to give an account of their life upon earth; and that in the harmony of creation, they might learn to live in harmony with their brethren, and with the world. Man's study is to understand his Creator; and this is the chief end of the studies of a Freemason. There is not a symbol in the lodge, but which points this out. From the Tyler's Sword to the Blazing Star, all point direct to God, the first cause, and as we view in the delicate whirl of the shell; the magnificent tinting of a leaf; or in the ravishing music of a bird; the power, the might and the majesty of the Creator; so in benevolent actions, noble sentiments and truthful lives, we mark afar off, the attributes of One, who put us here, for the purpose of enlarging our sympathies, and educating our minds, so as to approach in some degree to His own perfection. The lodge is not only a world, but a church, the church of the One, true and perfect.

The two pillars between which we pass are types of life and death, the two certain things in our existence, and forces us to remember the pregnant saying of the French philosopher, that the moment we are born, is a step towards the grave. The space between the pillars emblemizes the world's dearth, beyond which we can only arrive at fruition, by taking the book of the Law as our Guide, and keeping our eyes fixed upon the light. And as that light casts its rays upon every object in the lodge, revealing each brother as he stands in his proper place, to the view of all, so we should ever remember that what would cause us to blush with shame, if done before the eyes of the lodge, should cause us to entertain a deeper sense of fear to do it in the presence of that Sleepless Eye.

"My murder'd corpse from man, beneath this sod
You hide, and yet you hide it not from God."

So sings Callimachus, yet how little do we in our every-day actions remember that our hid-away vices from the sight of man, our breaches of Masonic principle are still distinct to the view of the Searcher of Hearts; that our secret springs of action are all known to Him, and however much, and however successfully we may glaze over our failings to man, these cannot be glazed over, nor hid from the sight of God. If we believe at all in our Masonic obligations, we must believe this, and however much we may indulge in speculation as to the rise of the Order, we cannot doubt that the purpose of its foundation, was to draw together into one body, men of diversent creeds for the glory and honour of God.

Light must exist in the lodge. Total darkness is impossible. True that light may become obscure, the fitting type of the doubts and difficulties which beset the mind of man at nearly every stage. Yet the light is still shining. 'Post tenebras spero lucern.' 'I hope for light after darkness,' is the cry of every candidate, for "Lux umbra Dei," light is the shadow of God. As the Israelites were led at day by the cloud, and at night by the pillar of fire, so the Mason is led by the lights of Freemasonry, out of the land of Egyptian or ignorant bondage, across the Red Sea of doubt, to the Promised Land of a knowledge of God. But the Mason must know how to understand and use that light, otherwise its radiance will become a conflagration, burning up and obliterating the very primary knowledge of a god. It is possible to find the light too powerful, for as the material light will blind the eyes of man, so will the spiritual, unless approached under the safeguard of Faith, destroy the mental eyes, producing darkness, which to the victim will seem light, and thus intensifying the original disaster; for, to be ignorant of one's errors, and to suppose falsehood to be truth, presents a phase of disease, almost hopelessly incurable. Too many noble minds have been perverted by an injudicious use of the light, and like the power of the Rosicrucian sage, while for a time the servant and slave of the rash neophyte, when he imagined himself perfect in the love of the master, then the spirit turned and tore him into pieces. A power unjustly acquired, or improperly understood, is a fire in flax, which will end in destruction.

The lodge is a world in itself, a church, and it is also a home, a home composed of many sons, and one Father. In Masonry having but one object, the honour and praise of God, it necessary follows that as Freemasons we must respect and love each other as brethren. The meetings of the Craft are well guarded against discord, although the fallibility of our nature, oftentimes overlooks these barriers. A brother should be listened to with respect, however much we may differ from his opinions. Rancour should never enter our lips, and even rebuke should be tempered with brotherly love: No word should pass a Freemason's lips, but what should bear the impress of this virtue, and he errs in every respect, either as a Freemason or a man, who allows bitterness to wring the withers of a brother. Peace, the calm peace of home, with all the domestic virtues brought into operation, should characterize our meetings; otherwise our lodges cease to be what they profess, and are an insult to the fraternity, and also to God.

ERROL.

ENTERTAINMENTS AT CHESTER.

The eighth of the series of these popular entertainments was held in the Music Hall on Saturday evening last, when the Hall was crowded. The Chairman (Alderman W. Johnson, J.P.), in introducing the Brothers Wardropers, said it was feared at one time that they should not have that evening's entertainment, in consequence of the serious illness of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, but he was sure they would all rejoice with him to learn that the Prince was favourably progressing in health. (Loud and prolonged applause.) The entertainment was divided into two parts; and in the interval, Alderman W. M. Williams, J.P., came on the platform and read the latest bulletin from Sandringham, announcing that His Royal Highness was progressing satisfactorily. He then intimated that Mr. J. Owen (Owain Alaw) had volunteered to sing "God bless the Prince of Wales," to words specially written for that occasion by Mr. E. Cletwr Jones, who was connected with the Irish mail service, and was very well known in Welsh circles.

An original song, or rather prayer, was then sung by Mr. Owen with great feeling and pathos, and the vast audience joined most heartily in the chorus. The effect was most striking, as each one seemed to enter into the sentiments of the chorus and sing with heart and voice.

WHISKEY.—Of all spirits consumed in England none have increased in consumption to the same extent as whiskey, and this is in a measure accounted for by the great improvements that have taken place in distillation, and the large amount of capital invested in its production, both in Scotland and Ireland. But, after all, the distillation of the article is not the only important point; for, as is also the case with brandy, the value of whiskey depends to a great extent on its age. We know of one London firm—W. and A. Gilbey—who have about 3000 puncheons (300,000 gallons) always maturing in bond, and for this purpose they have lately adapted a building well known to most travellers by the London and North Western Railway as the "Round House" at Camden—a building originally erected by the railway company at considerable expense as an engine house. Here are stored large stocks of all the most famous whiskeys of Ireland and Scotland. Were the system pursued by this firm more generally followed, it is not difficult to imagine a time when whiskey would be a strong competitor with brandy, more especially should the French government be induced to charge an export duty on Cognac brandy.—Standard, 20th December.

NOTICE.

The Subscription to THE FREEMASON is now 10s. per annum, post-free, payable in advance.

Vol. I., bound in cloth ... ..	4s. 6d.
Vol. II., ditto ... ..	7s. 6d.
Vol. III., ditto ... ..	15s. od.
Reading Cases to hold 52 numbers...	2s. 6d.

United States of America.

THE FREEMASON is delivered free in any part of the United States for 12s. per annum, payable in advance.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The Office of THE FREEMASON is now transferred to 198, FLEET STREET, E.C. All communications for the Editor or Publisher should therefore be forwarded to that address.

All communications for THE FREEMASON should be written legibly on one side of the paper only, and, if intended for insertion in the current number, must be received not later than 10 o'clock a.m. on Thursdays, unless in very special cases. The name and address of every writer must be sent to us in confidence.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1871.

THE FREEMASON is published on Saturday Mornings in time for the early trains.

The price THE FREEMASON is Twopence per week; annual subscription, 10s. (payable in advance).

All communications, letters, &c., to be addressed to the Editor 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

The Editor will pay careful attention to all MSS. entrusted to him but cannot undertake to return them unless accompanied by postage stamps.

1871.

THE close of a year marks a point in human existence, as well as in the annals of time. It is an epoch when reflections on the past, and resolves for the future, are rife within the breasts of men; and if such self-review be not seldom profitable to individuals, the rule will doubtless hold equally good when we extend its application to large societies, and even to nationalities. Let us pause, therefore, beside the couch of the dying year, and recount what it has done for us as members of the Masonic Fraternity; let us commune with ourselves upon the results which have been achieved by the Order—rejoicing in its triumphs, and lamenting its failures, if, unhappily, failures there have been. Taking England as our first example, beyond question the Craft has greatly flourished in our midst during the past year. Our Charities have not been neglected; in fact, the stream of benevolence seems to flow faster every year. At the Festival of the Institution for Girls, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales presided, and eloquently pleaded the cause of the School, which, as every one knows, is most admirably conducted, an advantage which indeed is enjoyed by all our Institutions. The illness and recent danger of the Heir Apparent have brought home to our hearts many pleasing features in his character as a Mason, and we all unite in the hope that His Royal Highness may long be spared to grace our assemblies with his presence, and to stimulate others to the faithful performance of those Masonic duties which are incumbent on every brother, be he prince or peasant. It may, however, be doubted whether the extraordinary progressive increase in numbers of the English Craft, which commenced some few years ago, and which still continues, is to be accepted, without reserve, as a real benefit to the Order. Of course, every one likes to see his own lodge flourishing, and by the introduction of new members pecuniary prosperity is assured. But it must not be forgotten that numbers do not always indicate strength, and that substantial influence may be sacrificed at the shrine of Pluto. Even if a large proportion of the augmented incomes of our lodges found its way into the coffers of our benevolent institutions, we should still be disposed to recommend greater stringency in the selection of candidates. How much more so, however, when we have reason to fear that the larger the income the greater the luxury which prevails. Expensive habits become the handmaids of a plethoric purse, and a splendid surplus is too frequently swallowed up in copious libations of the rarest wines. We know that efforts have been made to stem the tide of extravagance, but hitherto without visible effect, and, mainly, because those efforts, although well-meaning, are misdirected, aiming at the total abolition of pleasures which, when moderately enjoyed, are both natural and innocent. Hence, lodges which are founded on the principles of entire abstinence from meat and drink, after a painfully ascetic career of brief duration, usually end by hungering after the fleshpots of Egypt, and, like most converts, astonish the "moderates" by their new-born zeal in the matter of viands and vintages. Nothing can be gained by the adoption of an extreme policy; but it is certainly the duty of every right-minded Mason to discourage the excessive appropriation of lodge funds for merely convivial purposes. It is for these reasons that we would earnestly urge the necessity of caution in the admission of candidates. We do not want men who are allured into the Order by the prospect of a good dinner, and who, after their initiation, take more interest in a bill of fare than in the advancement of Freemasonry. Rational enjoyment of the good things of this life, proportionate refreshment after labour, none but a fanatic would withhold; but the festive meetings of Freemasons ought to be sanctified by the reflection that we have not left higher claims unsatisfied, or paramount duties unfulfilled. Turning to Scotland, we are glad to note that the dry bones are shaking with no uncertain sound, and that our Caledonian brethren will soon possess a fund of benevolence worthy of themselves and of the ancient renown of the Scottish Craft. The progress of the Order in Ireland is, on the whole satisfactory, although, if we may believe whispers, grievances are not quite unknown amongst the brethren. Let us hope, however, that by the infusion of a more liberal spirit into the administration of Irish Masonic affairs, discontent may be nipped in the bud, and all rivalries cease, save a generous emulation in the work of doing good. We regret very much to find that the true principles of Freemasonry are so little understood in France, and that our French brethren should allow themselves to become the dupes of political theorists. The sentiments openly expressed by French lodges towards German Masons, the attitude of the Grand Orient on the subject of Masonic jurisdiction in America, and the recent removal of several important Masonic landmarks, make us greatly fear for the future of French Freemasonry. In other parts of Europe the Fraternity is spreading apace—a Grand Lodge has been formed in Spain, and its members may now be counted by thousands. Crossing the Atlantic, we are delighted to record the well-being of the Order in the United States. There the Craft is firmly established, and increases in popularity every day; but, like ourselves, let us hope that our American brethren are not adding too rapidly to their numbers. By the mission of the Marquis of Ripon to Washington, and the Masonic demonstration of friendship with which he was received, much has been accomplished towards consolidating the good feeling and harmony which ought ever to prevail in the relations between two kindred nations. Our fellow-subjects, the Canadians, are vying with the Canadians in their support of the Craft—the Grand Lodge of Canada boasting nearly eleven thousand members, and the new Grand Lodge of Quebec about fifteen hundred. It will thus be seen that, although our Masonic review of 1871 is not all couleur de rose, our cause for joyfulness far exceeds our reason for regret. In a vast organization like that of Freemasonry, we cannot expect that none will be stragglers from the ranks; but let us win them back by patience, let us strengthen them with words of wisdom, and encourage them to march shoulder to shoulder with us again in the army of progress. We will now conclude by expressing our personal thanks to the brethren of every country or clime who have so nobly supported THE FREEMASON during the year 1871; and, without putting forward any plausible plea, we again solicit a continuance of their goodwill. It shall be our aim to maintain this journal in its acknowledged position as the true organ of the Craft, and by strict impartiality in judgment, and fidelity to the principles of Freemasonry, we hope to merit the esteem with which our labours have hitherto been honoured. May each and all of us enjoy a HAPPY NEW YEAR.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills.—Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with Boiling Water or Milk. Each packet is labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, London." Also, makers of Epps's Milky Cocoa (Cocoa and Condensed Milk).

Multum in Parvo, or Masonic Notes and Queries.

PROV. GRAND LODGES IN SCOTLAND.

Bro. Chalmers I. Paton should inform himself better before taking it upon him to declare the law in reference to the constitution of Provincial Grand Lodges in Scotland. It is nearly ten years since the Grand Lodge of Scotland found, "That, on a sound interpretation of the Laws of Grand Lodge, a Provincial Grand Master has power to appoint, by Commission, from time to time, a Provincial Grand Depute and a Substitute Master, two Wardens, a Secretary and Chaplain, all of whom must be Master Masons, having a residence in the province, but NOT necessarily Masters or Wardens of lodges within the province." During nine of the ten years in which I have held a Wardenship in the Provincial Grand Lodge of Ayrshire, I have not been a Master or Warden, de facto, of any lodge—no such qualification being necessary.

D. MURRAY LYON.

I do wish that Bro. Chalmers I. Paton would be more careful, and not make so many mistakes. He is telling us that the officers of a Prov. G.L. in Scotland must be all of them, "de facto, a Master or Warden of some lodge in the province." Now, that is wrong, for at present in Glasgow, e.g., several of the Prov. G.L. office-bearers are neither the Master nor the Warden of any lodge. Further, in Grand Lodge Laws, the rule is simply: "All of them (the office-bearers) must be Master Masons on the roll of the Grand Lodge, members of lodges within the province, and resident in the district for the greater part of the year."

I lately saw it stated also in an American paper that the age when candidates were first admitted in Scotland was twenty-one; but that, also, is a mistake, as the rule says: "Every candidate shall be at least eighteen years of age before being entered an Apprentice." Then, further on, we are told that, two weeks after, he may be made a Fellow-Craft, and in other two weeks a Master Mason.

GLASGUENSIS.

Bro. Chalmers Izett Paton, the new Lycurgus of Freemasonry, at page 789, tells us that the Provincial Grand Officers in Scotland "must be a Master or Warden, de facto, of some lodge in the district, none other are qualified to hold the offices." Cap. xiii., Provincial Grand Lodges, sec. iii. of the Laws of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, enacts that these officers "must be Master Masons on the roll of the Grand Lodge, members of lodges within the province, and resident in the district for the greater part of the year." Bro. Paton advertises a work upon "Freemasonry and its Jurisprudence," price 10s. 6d.; had he not better become a student of its jurisprudence, and cease to play the roll of a teacher?

MAX.

PROV. GRAND SUPERINTENDENT FOR GLASGOW.

At length, we are to have somebody to look after us in Glasgow; but the nominee of the Grand Chapter will not suit. We require a companion of marked ability—one who understands our laws, and who has displayed tact and talent in presiding over our deliberations. We want a working Mason, not an ornamental; and it is to be hoped that the Grand Chapter will permit the province a say in the election of its future chief.

R.A.M. (Glasgow).

"SCOTCH MARK MASTERS."

Under the above heading, and at page 789, I find "An English Mark Master" stating that the Royal Arch is "inferior in antiquity, as well as in merit," to the Mark Degree. Now, that, according to all the real evidence yet produced, is simply a mistake, as we can admit the existence of the Royal Arch in the fourth decade of the last century, whereas we have no evidence of the existence of any Mark Degree until some time after that.

W. P. BUCHAN.

"QUESTIONS FOR CONSIDERATION."

I would, with "Errol" and Leo," see our Craft progress with the age. As for the so-called "Antient Landmarks," nobody knows what they were, much less what they are. All thinking men must admit that the time now devoted to committing the ritual to memory would be better devoted to the preparation of lectures, &c., on social, moral, and philosophic topics, and that intellectual improvement should be our aim. Lodges of Freemasons in this country are of three kinds. Firstly, we have the select London lodge (an agreeable one to belong to), which is little more than an exclusive dinner club, to be a member of which it is necessary to be a Mason. Then, we have the rich provincial lodge, which is nothing more than a benefit society with a Masonic apron on. The great mass of our lodges are mere manufactories of Masons, where men are initiated, passed, and raised, and the best of them disappointed, or even disgusted.

With all due deference to P.M. Bro. Howard, I do not consider that our obligation forbids the plan I advocate.

In taking up this question, I have but one object—to make our venerable Order something better than it is. We have lost the spirit, and cling obstinately to the empty form.

LL. W. LONGSTAFF,
P.G.W. N. and E. Yorkshire.

Bro. Longstaff remains untouched in his fortress. "A Masonic Student," and the other opponents, have not advanced a single argument against his propositions, nor does Bro. Howard, by referring to the OB., improve their position. I have the following questions to put, which will bring the subject to a bearing: 1. Who is custodian of the ritual, by whom its purity is guarded, and additions or subtractions prevented? 2. What are the secrets we are sworn to preserve inviolate? If we are to keep secret the ritual, then, I am much afraid, every Grand Lodge, and every brother who has written upon Freemasonry, have broken the OB. Every student knows what value to put upon oral narration, and I have little faith in the ability and faithfulness of many of our self-constituted Masonic instructors. I stand upon this ground furthermore. The heads of the Order in New York have published the rituals. If they have not broken their OB., and are still recognised as brethren, why should the British brethren be under the penalties?

RANDOLF HAY.

ANTIQUITY OF THE ORDER.

The following is a letter from a Right Worshipful Master of a Scottish lodge to a Senior Warden of an English lodge:—

"During the summer of this year I resided at Melrose, and from time to time visited the Abbey, a superstructure of great beauty, and most interesting to every one, more especially to Freemasons who are instructed in the symbolical teachings of our speculative science. They render a most beautiful system of religious thought. I made a special point to inquire if any documents could be shown whereby our Order could be traced further back than 1717, whereby the modern idea, or 1717 theory, could be upset; and I find that a lodge of Freemasons is still in existence, carrying on the same system that they did nearly 200 years ago. I called on the Secretary, and was shown a minute book of date 1678, and also informed that the Freemasons have had since 1683 the privilege of sittings in the Abbey; but about sixty years ago they were transferred to the new church, and which they still continue to hold as a right for services rendered in past times. The reason I say the same system that they did nearly 200 years ago is this: I entered into conversation with an old Mason, whose father belonged to the lodge, and he told me that his father told him his grandfather was a member of the Melrose Lodge, and that their style of working was the same as at present. I made a calculation from this, and it took me back nearly 200 years. Another most important fact is, that they still have the original letter from the Grand Lodge of Scotland, inviting them to join under it at its formation; but to this they have never agreed, and they still remain an independent and self-supporting lodge, declaring they are the descendants of those Freemasons who built the Abbey in 1136, being thus four years older than the Mother Kilwinning Lodge, which has always been talked of as the oldest lodge; but, certainly, not so old as the Melrose Lodge, which I visited during my stay to witness their working, which, in every essential point, is similar to our own.

"Excuse brevity.

"I remain, yours fraternally,
"RIGHT WORSHIPFUL MASTER (S.C.)"

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

The following bulletin was issued on the 28th instant:—

"Sandringham, Thursday (Noon).
"His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has passed a good night. Strength is slowly returning.
(Signed) "W. JENNER, M.D.
"W. GULL, M.D."

IMPORTANT WORK ON MASONIC MS. CONSTITUTIONS.

Bro. Hughan, of Truro, Cornwall, is now preparing for the press a work, to be entitled "The Old Charges of British Freemasons." The celebrated MS. belonging to the Lodge of Antiquity has been carefully transcribed for its pages, of the year 1686, and a fac simile page will be introduced as a frontispiece. About a dozen other Masonic MSS. will be printed in the volume, and a careful sketch will be given of all the existing MS. Constitutions of the Freemasons. The aim of the work will be to place in the hands of all students the whole of the valuable MSS. on Masonry in one volume, for convenience of reference, and for the information of the Craft universal. The cost of the work is not to exceed five shillings per copy, and Bro. Hughan will be glad to receive the names of subscribers as soon as possible, as the more brethren that subscribe the less will be the charge per copy. Lodges ordering a dozen copies will receive thirteen, and so on in proportion. We shall also be pleased to receive the names of intending subscribers at our office.

Original Correspondence.

The Editor is not responsible for the opinions expressed by Correspondents.

"A BODY WITHOUT A HEAD."

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Your quotation from the Keystone, Philadelphia, U.S., respecting the action of the "Grand Orient de France" in relation to a Grand Master, is certainly an evidence that other editors speak as warmly (or even more warmly) than you on the subject. The Keystone is a most respectable and well-conducted Masonic paper, and its articles are always carefully written; and I feel sure that its verdict will be the general opinion of American Freemasons. For myself, I do not believe in the abolition of the office of Grand Master, which the Grand Orient has done; but, at the same time, I cannot see that such conduct warrants us in withdrawing entirely from that Body. If a Grand Lodge errs, cannot we practise leniency and forgiveness? As Masons, we should "Bear and forbear." I would rather accept the remarks of "Errol," page 705, on the "Philosophy of Freemasonry," than the severe strictures of the Keystone, in this case.

Yours fraternally,

W. J. HUGHAN.

PRINTED RITUALS.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—At page 710, "Randolf Hay" states that "the American brethren have published authorised rituals of all Masonic degrees." I would be pleased to have Bro. Randolf Hay—if that is your correspondent's real name—state in THE FREEMASON what proof he has of this his assertion. There have been numerous "Exposés," as they are termed, published by irresponsible, anonymous, and perjured men in this country, principally in the city of New York, from the republication in that city of Pritchard's "Jachin and Boaz," first published in England about the middle of the past century, to the present time—all purporting to be the true ritual of Freemasonry as practised in the lodges in America; but, certainly, I have no knowledge—and I think I am quite conversant with all printed books concerning Masonry in America, having been for twenty years more or less engaged in Masonic literature—I say I have no knowledge of ever having seen, or heard of, an authorised version of the esoteric work of Freemasonry.

The peculiarity of what is known in this country, generally, as the York Rite, or English Freemasonry, is, that, under the E.A. obligation of that Rite, no such version can be made; and as it is this Rite that is alone recognised and worked by ninety-nine-hundredths of the lodges in North America, of course such a thing as an "authorised ritual" for the lodge degrees cannot be made without infraction of obligation by that body of Masons, great or small, which "authorised" its publication; while, to have such version authoritative, it should be the authorised work of the representatives from forty-seven Grand Lodges, representing more than 8,000 lodges, and 500,000 Masons, in general convention assembled.

In 1843, a convention of delegates from about a dozen of our Grand Lodges then extant assembled at Baltimore, Maryland, by which some changes were made in the ritual to overcome the facility with which impostors gained access to lodges, from their study of the exposés published during the anti-Masonic excitement which prevailed in the eastern and middle States, chiefly, between 1826 and 1836; but there was no ritual, authorised or otherwise, published by that convention, as the result of its labours. The changes made, having reference and use mainly in the examination of visitors, were orally communicated by the delegates to their respective Grand Lodges, in connection with their official reports, and thence, and in like manner, disseminated among the lodges represented in those Grand Lodges.

"Uniformity of the unwritten work" is a matter that has been treated with considerable attention at various times in this country, and its importance magnified with some success by those brethren known as Masonic lecturers; but as such uniformity, to be complete and perfect, is impossible without the agency above indicated, and the consequential agency of an authorised printed and uniform ritual, carefully, generally, and authoritatively disseminated, and its constant use enforced, in every lodge in North America—numbering, as I have stated, more than 8,000 at the present time—such uniformity in the letter of the ritual has never been attained; and from the fact that the assembly of such a convention for such a purpose—judging by past experience—may be regarded as an impossible event, it is not probable such uniformity ever will obtain. Were there for all North America but one Grand Lodge, instead of forty-seven co-equal, independent bodies, and the subject of ritualistic literal uniformity considered by that single Grand Lodge of paramount importance, it is probable that, by the assembled wisdom of such a body, it would be deemed expedient to surmount the objection which denies to the adherents of the York or English Rite the printing of the secrets of Freemasonry; but, as it is, there is no reason not to believe that adherence to the spirit will continue to be regarded as sufficient, and satisfactory, and preferable to the infraction of their E.A. obligation by those who would do so by a determined persistence in the attainment of what many look upon as unimportant, and that is, complete uniformity in the letter of the ritual everywhere to obtain.

I remain, fraternally yours,

AN AMERICAN FREEMASON.

Cincinnati, O., Dec., 1871.

STAFFORDSHIRE MASONIC CHARITABLE ASSOCIATION.

The members of this association held their second half-yearly meeting at Burton-on-Trent on Wednesday, the 13th inst. The brethren, on their arrival at Burton-on-Trent at 1 p.m., were met by Bro. Starey, W.M., and other brethren of the Abbey Lodge, under whose guidance they visited the breweries of Messrs. Allsopp and Sons, and then proceeded to those of Bass and Co., where they were met by Bro. Robinson, P.M. The lodge-room of the Abbey Lodge was reached by four o'clock. In the absence of the President, R.W. Bro. Tudor, D.P.G.M., who was prevented attending by the state of his health, Bro. Starey was voted to the chair. Letters were read from the R.W.P.G.M. the Earl of Shrewsbury, from the D.P.G.M., and other members, who were unable to attend.

The Secretary (Bro. J. Bodenham, P.M., 726) reported that the brethren who were successful at the last meeting had each selected the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys as the charity in which they wish to become life subscribers.

The Treasurer (Bro. J. Pilling, W.M., 726) reported that the number of members was increased to forty-one, and the sum available for ballot at that meeting was thirty guineas.

A ballot was accordingly taken for six life subscriberships, which were drawn by the following brethren: John Upton, P.M. 624, Burton-on-Trent; J. C. Marson, J.D. 726, Stafford; Earl of Shrewsbury, Prov. G.M. Staffordshire; T. Salt, P.M. 726, Staffordshire; G. S. Tudor, D.P.G.M. Wolverhampton; J. H. Slaney, P.M. 601, Wellington.

On the proposition of the Secretary, seconded by Bro. Robinson, it was unanimously resolved that the R.W.P.G.M. the Earl of Shrewsbury be, with his consent, nominated patron of the Association.

Bro. Robinson, P.M. 624, and Bro. Marsh, P.M. 460, were appointed auditors.

It was decided that the next meeting should be held at Trentham on Wednesday, the 5th June next. Votes of thanks to the Burton brethren for the use of the lodge-room, and the general courtesy they had shown in securing to the strangers present an agreeable and interesting visit to the town, and to the Chairman, closed the proceedings.

After an excellent dinner at the Saracen's Head, the non-resident members left Burton at seven o'clock. The meeting was most successful, and augurs well for the prospects and stability of the Association.—Staffordshire Advertiser, December 16, 1871.

MASONIC FUNERAL AT PLYMOUTH.

Mr. William Ball died on Thursday se'nnight at his residence in Gloucester-street, Morice Town, aged 85 years. Mr. Ball was formerly an employé in the Devonport dockyard, but he had for several years retired from the active labours of life. He was one of the oldest Freemasons in the province of Devon, both in Masonic as well as natural age, having been initiated into the mysteries of the Craft as early as 1814 through Lodge Friendship, No. 202. This lodge is now the oldest in Devonport, and the largest in the province. Bro. Ball passed through its W.M.'s chair half a century since, and has subsequently given much service to the lodge. The brethren believe that the lodge's resuscitation from a very low ebb at one time was in a great measure due to Mr. Ball's exertions, and under those circumstances the W. Brother has been held in high respect by the brethren of the lodge, and in accordance with his request he was buried by them with full Masonic honours. The usual requisite permission was obtained from the Grand Officers, and invitations were extended by Lodge Friendship to the brethren of the neighbouring private lodges to join in the ceremonial. In the breakfast-room at Moorshead's Royal Hotel, Devonport, which was tastefully fitted up as a lodge-room for the occasion, over 300 brethren assembled after noon. Lodge Friendship was opened in due form by W. Bro. J. Purse, the W.M., supported by his officers, Bros. E. D. Parnel, S.W.; G. W. Phillips, J.W.; W. Kelk, Treas.; H. Minell, Sec.; J. Amor, S.D.; W. T. Pengelly, J.D.; W. Carne, I.G.; and P.M.'s W. Bros. E. Murch, J. B. Price, H. Welch, S. Keys, J. Fox. Capt. Shadwell Clerke, P.M. 349, and 1205, S.P.G.W. of Devon, and Capt. Shanks, I.P.M. 189, J.P.G.W. of Devon, were also present. The opening service of the Order for the burial of the dead, in which W. Bro. E. Murch, P.P.G.O., was the leading officiate, was solemnized in the customary form. The lodge was then adjourned, and the brethren, having provided themselves with sprigs of cassia and herbs emblematic of the Order, left the hotel in procession for the residence of the deceased brother. The following lodges were represented in the procession: Nos. 1255, 1247, 1212, 1205, 1136, 1099, 1091, 954, 230, 223, 189, 159, 156, 105, 70. The junior lodges led the way, each lodge walking in the following order:—

The Tyler, with his sword;
The Stewards, with white rods;
The brethren, out of office, two and two;
The Secretary, with a roll;
The Treasurer, with his badge of office;
The Senior and Junior Wardens, hand in hand;
The Past Masters;
The Master.

The lodge to which the deceased brother belonged walked in the following order, all the members having flowers or herbs in their hands:—

The Tyler;
The Stewards;
Martial Music [Drums muffled, and Trumpets covered];

The members of the lodge;
The Secretary and Treasurer;
The Senior and Junior Wardens;
The Past Masters;

The Holy Writings, on a cushion, covered with black cloth, carried by the oldest member of the lodge present, Bro. Langmead;

The Master;
Choristers, singing an anthem.

The Devonport Rifle Volunteers' band attended. From the deceased's residence to the place of interment, the Plymouth cemetery, the Masonic procession preceded the hearse and mourning coaches, the band playing appropriate music and the choristers occasionally singing. Bros. J. Fox, W. Carne, T. Pengelly, W. Moore, W. Amor, Worth, H. Rockett, and J. Ash, officiated as bearers. In the cemetery the brethren formed round the grave, where, after the usual service in the Cemetery chapel, and the lowering of the coffin into the grave, R.W. Bro. L. P. Metham, the D.P.G.M. of the province, delivered over the remains of the deceased brother the very forcible and impressive burial charge of the Order. To this the R.W. Brother added a few remarks appropriate to the occasion. The ceremony of taking an earthly farewell to the brother was then gone through by the brethren present. The sprigs of cassia and herbs, and a broken Steward's rod, were cast into the grave, and the procession was re-formed and returned to the hotel, where the lodge was closed. The following officers were among the brethren present in addition to those named: W. Bros. R. R. Rodd, P.P.G.W.; V. Bird, P.M. 954; H. F. Smith, P.M. 954; J. Ellis, W.M. 1212; J. F. Hifley, P.M. 223; J. G. Richards, P.P.G.J.D.; J. W. N. Hawton, P.P.G.D.C.; W. Foxwell, P.M. 1071; M. Paul, W.M. 954; E. Aitken Davies, P.M. 1099; J. B. Witheridge, P.M. 223; J. May, P.M. 223; J. Montgomery, P.M. 223; J. N. Blake, P.M. 230; J. B. Ryder, P.M. 1136; E. Poor, P.M. 1136; grandson of the deceased. — Western Morning News.

MASONIC FESTIVAL AT HANLEY.

On Tuesday last the celebration of the festival of St. John was held by the brethren of the Menturia Lodge, No. 418, Hanley. The lodge was opened at three o'clock in the lodge-room at the Mechanics' Institution, and the ceremony of installing Bro. E. E. Scrivener as W.M. for the ensuing year was at once proceeded with, the immediate Past Master, Bro. Thomas Taylor, efficiently discharging the duty of Installing Master, assisted by Bros. W. H. Hales, P.M., P.P.G.A.D.C., J. S. Crapper, P.M., P.P.G.A.D.C., and J. B. Piercy, P.M., P.P.G. Superintendent of Works. The W.M., Bro. Scrivener, having been duly installed, appointed the following brethren as his officers: Bros. Thomas Bickley, S.W.; Dr. J. Craig, J.W.; the Rev. J. Westbury, P.G., Chap. and also S.D.; J. S. Crapper, Treas.; J. Montford, Sec.; J. B. Piercy, M.C.; H. Bailey, J.D.; G. Pitchford, I.G.; J. Wain, Org.; and T. Palmer, Tyler. Before the lodge was closed, the Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Dunedin, P.M., P.P.G.C., expressed his gratification at once more being able to attend his mother lodge, and meet the brethren of No. 418; at the same time, he was afraid that it would probably be the last opportunity he should have of doing so for a considerable period, in consequence of his recent appointment removing him so far away. His lordship gave a very interesting account of the prosperity of Freemasonry in the Australian colonies, and stated that on his recent visit there he had been very heartily received by the brethren, who had displayed to him the greatest kindness and hospitality, and he was well assured that Freemasonry in reality existed throughout the civilised world.

The brethren then adjourned to a sumptuous banquet, provided by Bro. Halsey, at the Saracen's Head Hotel, and which was attended by about forty brethren. The W.M. presided, and was supported by the following past and present officers of the Prov. Grand Lodge: Bros. G. Sargeant, P.M., P.P.G.J.W.; Thomas Twyford, P.M., P.P.G.S.B.; J. C. Daniel, P.M., P.P.G.P.; George Hulme, P.M., P.P.G.S.B.; H. Parker, P.M., P.P.G.J.W.; J. Warner, P.M., P.P.G.P.; G. Outrim, P.M., P.P.G., Sup. of Works; C. Turner, P.M., P.P.G.S.D.; also C. Marsh, W.M. 460; F. Ryles, W.M. 98; J. W. Thomas, P.M. 637; A. E. Wedgwood, 451; A. G. Prince, S.W. 546; E. Ball, 287; &c. The usual loyal toasts were duly proposed by the W.M., who in very feeling terms alluded to the recent illness of her Majesty the Queen, and also to the very dangerous illness of the Prince of Wales, "Past Grand Master of England," from which he sincerely hoped he was recovering, and which had called forth in such a spontaneous manner the loyalty and sympathy of all classes of society. The usual Masonic toasts were then proposed, and duly responded to by various brethren. The meeting was much enlivened by the musical efforts of Bros. Thomas, J. R. White (375), R. I. Baker, Wedgwood, Crapper, Montford, &c., and a very pleasant evening was passed by the brethren assembled.

BANQUET OF THE DEVONSHIRE LODGE No. 625.

On Wednesday, 29th ult., a grand banquet took place at the Norfolk Arms, Glossop, Derbyshire, when several distinguished local gentlemen were present: amongst whom we noticed Bros. Vertegans, P.M., P.P.G.A.D.C.; Grundy, P.M., P.G.J.D.; Hall P.M., P.G.S.B.; Bramhall, W.M.; Dr. Rhodes, P.M.; Calder, S.W.; Dawson, J.W.; Cox, S.D.; Hardman, J.D.; Ford, I.G.; Irlam, S.; and Stafford (Mayor of Glossop); Sir Knight J. W. Mason, (30°); and Curtis; Davis, Senr.; Paterson, Hodgson, Collier, Garlick, Ardern, Nield, Higginbottom, Mather, Darnelly, Barlow, Whittaker, Fielding and several others.

After dinner in the large hall, the company adjourned to the lodge room, where the W.M. (Bramhall) proposed the following toasts:—"The Queen," "The Prince of Wales, Past Grand Master of England," "The Princess of Wales and the rest of the Royal Family," "The Right Honourable the Marquis of Ripon, Most Worshipful Grand Master of England," "The Right Honourable the Earl of Carnarvon, Most Worshipful Deputy Grand Master of England." After which he remarked that he felt proud of the position they had thought proper to place him in, and there was one thing he wished to express, that he should support the Masonic Charities to a greater extent than had been done in that lodge previously. The past year had proved one of the most satisfactory they had ever seen, and he trusted that the officers and members would assist him to sustain the high position that the Devonshire Lodge now held.

Bro. Calder proposed "The Most Honorable the Marquis of Hartington, Provincial Grand Master of Derby, H. C. Okeover, Esq., Deputy Provincial Grand Master of Derby," after which a song was sung by Bro. Ford, in excellent style.

Bro. Vertegans proposed the "Worshipful Master," after which another song was rendered by Bro. Dawson.

Bro. Hall proposed "The Immediate Past Master," and in a short but pointed manner supported the opinions expressed by the W.M.

Bro. Cox proposed "The Past Masters of the Lodge," after which a song was excellently rendered by Bro. Higginbottom.

Bro. Grundy proposed "The Visiting Brethren," and said it was exceedingly pleasant for him to have seen the progress of the lodge for the past two years, and he hoped that the officers and members would assist the W.M. for the ensuing year. He wished to say that the Devonshire Lodge could afford £10 10s. towards the Boys' Orphan School, which would entitle them to two votes.

Bro. Vertegans remarked that he supported what Bro. Grundy had said, and he felt certain that the proposed grand object would be carried, and though he could go into statistics, time would not permit, yet he ventured to say that he had no doubt but that the brethren would support the pure philanthropic motive.

The Mayor of Glossop (Bro. Stafford) endorsed the opinions of Bros. Vertegans and Grundy; and proposed "The Masonic Charities." He rejoiced to hear the noble opinion brought to bear upon the Boys' Orphan School. In his time he had seen great changes take place in the position in families—some, through the sudden bereavement of a brother, had been brought low, and the children left almost destitute; and as men, even elevated in social position, they are, nevertheless, equal as men, which is the glorious object of our institution.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Much watchfulness must be exercised as winter advances, and the earliest evidences of ill-health must be immediately met and removed, or a slight illness may result in a serious malady. Relaxed and sore throat, diphtheria, quinsy, throat cough, chronic cough, bronchitis, and most other pulmonary affections, will be relieved by rubbing this cooling Ointment into the skin as near as practicable to the seat of mischief. This treatment, both simple and effective, is admirably adapted for the removal of these diseases during infancy and youth. In checking the chronic catarrh and cough of old age, Holloway's remedies will be found especially serviceable, as they prevent congestion in the delicate lining of the throat and chest. —[Advt.]

Reports of Masonic Meetings.

[With a view to increase the circulation, and consequently the usefulness, of THE FREEMASON, it is suggested that Lodges, &c., desiring reports to appear in the paper, should take a certain number of copies in proportion to the space required for the report.]

THE CRAFT.

PROVINCIAL.

PLYMOUTH.—Lodge Fortitude, No. 105.—On Friday evening, the 22nd inst., was witnessed one of the most interesting assemblages of Masons for the purpose of the installation of the Worshipful Master that has occurred in the province for some time past. The large hall of the Huyshe Masonic Temple was literally crowded; among a large number we counted fifteen Past Masters, and a most respectable sprinkling of past and present Prov. Grand Officers. The chair was taken by the W.M. Bro. Bignell, who opened the lodge in the first degree, and, having passed it to the second degree, Bro. R. Rodda, P.M., P.P.G.R., took the chair, and most efficiently installed, as one of King Solomon's successors, Bro. Martin Williams, a most industrious Mason, and one who has most worthily won his position by his great attention to the duties of all the minor offices through which he has most creditably passed from the Inner Guard to the chair. It is fully anticipated that Bro. Williams will acquit himself honourably in the arduous duties attached to the important position for which he has so assiduously laboured, and to which he has been unanimously elected. The W.M. then appointed as his officers: Bros. Bignell, I.P.M.; W. H. Anthony, S.W.; T. Carey, J.W.; S. Jew, P.M., P.P.G.T., Treas.; J. Rowe, P.M., P.P.G.T., Sec.; R. Twose, S.D.; Rogers, J.D.; Bunce, I.G.; Jamer S. The musical arrangements of the evening were under the direction of Bro. Cox, P.M. The brethren were highly pleased with the ceremony, and more especially with the Installing Master's unique charge to the Wardens, which was most novel, and given in Bro. Rodda's best style. The annual banquet is to take place at the Globe Hotel in the last week in January next, and of which the brethren will be duly advised by circular.

LEICESTER.—John of Gaunt Lodge, No. 523.—This lodge held its regular meeting at Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, on the 21st inst., under the presidency of Bro. W. Sculthorpe, W.M., nearly all the officers being present. A goodly number of the brethren assembled, and amongst the visitors were: Bros. Clement Stretton, W.M., E. J. Crow, W.M.-elect, and several brethren of St. John's Lodge, No. 279; D. Davis, Faith Lodge, No. 141; James Dawson, 84; R. Chamberlain, 755; J. B. Hall, 1031; and T. White, 1034. After the confirmation of the minutes, Bro. Tibbetts was raised to the third degree, and Mr. George Staynes, who had been elected at a previous meeting, was initiated into the mysteries of the Order. A candidate for initiation having been proposed, and the other business disposed of, the lodge was closed in harmony, and the brethren retired for refreshment.

HARTLEPOOL.—St. Helen's Lodge, No. 531.—The brethren of the above lodge held their annual meeting at the Masonic Hall, Regent-square, on Thursday, the 21st inst. The installation of W.M. for the ensuing year was performed by Bro. Ald. George Moore, J.D., P.M., and P.P.G.J.W., in a most impressive manner, the W.M.-elect being Bro. John Hunter, jun., S.W. The officers were appointed as follows: Bros. R. Ropner, I.P.M.; J. H. Attley, S.W.; S. M. Glendinning, J.W.; T. M. Procter, Treas.; W. Pearson, Sec.; T. Turnbull, S.D.; T. J. Johnson, J.D.; W. Fleetham, I.G.; J. J. Armstrong, P.M., D.C.; W. Shaw, D. Collins, and B. Wolstenholme, Stewards; and J. Mowbray, Tyler. After the installation ceremony, Bro. J. J. Armstrong, P.M., on behalf of the members of the lodge, presented Bro. R. Ropner with a beautiful jewel, and, after the presentation had been acknowledged, the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to the Cleveland Hotel (Bro. C. Humble's), where a sumptuous banquet awaited them, the W.M. presiding.

OAKHAM, RUTLAND.—Vale of Catmose Lodge, No. 1265.—The usual monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Agricultural Hall, on Wednesday, the 20th instant. Present: Bros. J. C. Duncombe, P.G.A.D.C. for Norths, and Hunts., P.G.J.G.D. Leicester and Rutland, W.M. (presiding); T. G. Bennett, S.W.; T. Markham, P.M., as J.W.; H. Newcome, J.D.; J. Bailey, I.G.; J. Read and William Crowson, Stewards; and other brethren. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, when the ballot was taken for Mr. William Keep, Chief Constable for Rutland, which proved unanimous in his favour, and he being in attendance, was most ably and impressively initiated by the W.M. Bro. Joseph Bennett was then invested as the Secretary by the W.M., after which the lodge was closed in due form, and the brethren proceeded to refreshment.

WALTHAM NEWTOWN, HERTS.—King Harold Lodge, No. 1327.—This lodge met at the Britannic, on the 19th inst. The lodge was opened in due form, presided over by Bro. W. C. Barnes, the W.M., and supported by Bros. Parker, S.W.; Young, J.W.; and West and Lacy, P.M.'s. There were also present: Bros. F. Hodges, S.D. pro tem.; W. Mooney, J.D. pro tem.; J. Noyce, I.G. pro tem.; Barwick, Treas.; Rielly, Sec.; Cox, Tydeman, Barnett, Purkis, Creed, Sheldon, and others. Visitors: Bros. Gaskell and Henderson, P.M.'s 1076. Bro. Creed was raised, and Bros. Barnett and Purkis were passed, the whole of the Ceremonies being ably performed by Bro. Barnes, the W.M. The lodge was then closed down, and the brethren retired for refreshment. During the evening the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given. In proposing "The Healths of the Past G.M.'s of England," Bro. Barnes alluded in pleasing terms to the gratifying intelligence of the great improvement in the condition of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, P.G.M. The toast was most heartily responded to. The brethren separated at an early hour.

ROYAL ARCH.

PROVINCIAL.

LANCASTER.—Rowley Chapter, No. 1051.—An emergency meeting of this chapter was held on Friday, the 22nd instant, at the Masonic Rooms, Athenaeum. The chairs of the Principals were occupied as follows: Comps. Moore, P.Z., as M.E.Z.; Hall, H.; and Bagnall, P.Z., as J. There were also present: Comps. Whimpray, E.; Sly, as N.; W. Barker, Treas.; E. Simpson, P.S.; E. Airey and W. Heald, as Asssts. S.; Watson, Janitor; and a goodly number of companions. The ballot was taken for Bro. William F. Robinson, of the Union Lodge, No. 129, Kendal, and was declared to be unanimous in his favour. He being in attendance, was duly exalted to the degree of Royal Arch by Comp. Dr. Moore, the Acting M.E.Z., who afterwards delivered the mystical lecture of the degree, the symbolical and historical lectures being given by Comp. Hall, H., and the important duties of P.S. being undertaken by Comp. Simpson.

MARK MASONRY.

BOLTON.—St. John's Lodge, No. 2 (S.C.)—The regular meeting of the above lodge was held on Wednesday, the 6th inst., when there were present: Bros. Thomas Entwistle, R.W. Prov. Grand Mark Master of Lancashire; G. P. Brockbank, P.S.G.W.; Robert Harwood, P.J.G.D.; Thomas Morris, John Brandwood, and Robert Whittaker, P.M.'s; also Bros. William Hamer, James Newton, Makin, Luthy, Alcock, Rutter, Horrocks, John Harwood, Grime, Brown, Young, W. H. J. Jones, Richardson, Greenhalgh, and others. The lodge having been opened, and the minutes of the last regular meeting read and confirmed, the ballot was taken for Bro. Swarbrick, of Lodge 178, Wigan, who was unanimously elected. The Master-elect, Bro. Robert Harwood, Prov. J.G. Deacon of Lancashire, was then duly installed into the chair by the R.W. Prov. G. Master, Bro. Entwistle, after which Bro. Wm. Hamer, the S.W.-elect, and Bro. James Newton, the J.W.-elect, were inducted into their respective offices, and the remainder of the office-bearers were appointed and invested—viz., Bros. George Makin, M.O.; Robert Luthy, S.O.; John Alcock, J.O.; J. W. Taylor, Reg.; W. H. J. Jones, Sec.; G. P. Brockbank, Treas.; Jas. Horrocks, Conductor; J. M. Rutter, S.D.; John Harwood, J.D.; James Brown, Timekeeper; Robert Grime and James Richardson, Stewards. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren proceeded to refreshment.

ORDERS OF CHIVALRY.

RED CROSS OF CONSTANTINE.

LEICESTER.—Byzantine Conclave, No. 44.—The members of this conclave met at Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, on the 13th instant, the chair of C. being filled by E. Sir Kt. G. Toller, jun., Hon. P.S., in the unavoidable absence of the M.P.S. E. Sir Kt. the Rev. Dr. Haycroft, K.G.C., Hon. P.S., and H.P., assisted as Viceroy. The conclave having been opened in due form, and the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed, Bro. John E. Hodges, of John of Gaunt Lodge, No. 523, who had been elected at a previous conclave, was installed as a knight of the Order. The ceremony of installation was conducted by Sir Kt. Toller with the ability which always marks his work in other Masonic degrees. The charge of the Order, composed by the H.P., was delivered by that Sir Knight in a most solemn and impressive manner. A letter from the M.P.S., the Ill. Sir Kt. W. Kelly, Int.-Gen. Leicestershire and Rutland, expressing his regret at being prevented by illness from attending the conclave, was read. The conclave was subsequently closed in peace and harmony.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

PRESCOT.—The William de la More Encampment.—The first annual meeting of this encampment (since its removal from Manchester) was held on Friday afternoon, the 8th instant, at the New Court Room, Prescott, for the purpose of installing in succession to Sir Knt. James Turner Hall, Sir Kt. James W. J. Fowler, P.G. Supt. of Works, Eminent Commander for the ensuing year. The imposing ceremony of installation was performed in a most feeling and impressive manner by Sir Kt. W. H. Wright, the Eminent Deputy Provincial Grand Commander, assisted by Sir Kt. Crankshaw, P.E.C., and others. After the installation, the Eminent Commander appointed and invested his officers as follows: Sir Kts. Reginald Young, Pre-late; Samuel Morris, 1st Captain; George Turner, 2nd Captain; Philip Whittaker, Registrar; James T. Hall, P.E.C., Treasurer; Joseph K. Smith, Almoner; Daniel W. Winstanley, 1st Standard-bearer; Thomas Clarke, 2nd Standard-bearer; William Doyle, Expert; John E. Jackson, Captain of Lines; Henry Scott, 1st Herald; John Lloyd, 2nd Herald; Thomas Sephton, Equerry. At the conclusion of the business, the encampment was closed in due form, after which the Sir Knights, to the number of about twenty, adjourned to the Royal Hotel, Prescott, and dined together, the E.C. presiding. At the banquet table the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to, and great sympathy was expressed at the allusion, by the E.C., to the serious indisposition of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending Friday, January 5, 1872.

The Editor will be glad to have notice from Secretaries of lodges and chapters of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, DEC. 30.

Star Lodge of Instruction (1275), Marquis of Granby, New Cross-road, at 7; Bro. C. S. Dilley, Preceptor.
Mount Sinai Chapter of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, at 8; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
South-Eastern Masonic Charitable Association, New Cross Branch.

MONDAY, JAN. 1.

Lodge 12, Fortitude and Old Cumberland, Ship & Turtle Tavern, Leadenhall-street.
" 25, Robert Burns, Freemasons' Hall.
" 72, Royal Jubilee, Arderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
" 83, United Lodge of Prudence, Albion Hotel, Aldersgate-street.
" 144, St. Luke's, Masons' Hall, Basinghall-street.
" 171, Amity, Ship Hotel, Greenwich.
" 188, Joppa, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-street.
" 1319, Asaph, Freemasons' Hall.
Chap. 28, Old King's Arms, Freemasons' Hall.
Strong Man Lodge of Instruction (45), Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8; Bro. James Terry, Preceptor.
Sincerity Lodge of Instruction (174), Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street Station, at 7.
Camden Lodge of Instruction (704), Adelaide Tavern, Haverstock-hill, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Eastern Star Lodge of Instruction (95), Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road, at 7.30; Bro. E. Gottheil, Preceptor.
British Oak Lodge of Instruction, Bank of Friendship Tavern, Mile End, at 7 for 8.
St. James' Union Lodge of Instruction (180), Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street (opposite Pantheon), Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. J. R. Stacey, Preceptor.
Wellington Lodge of Instruction, White Swan Tavern, Deptford, at 8; Bro. C. G. Willey, P.M. 1155, Preceptor.
St. John of Wapping Lodge of Instruction (1306), Gun Tavern, High-street, Wapping, at 7; Bro. T. Mortlock, Preceptor.

TUESDAY, JAN. 2.

Colonial Board, Freemasons' Hall, at 3.
Lodge 7, Royal York, Freemasons' Hall.
" 9, Albion, Freemasons' Hall.
" 172, Old Concord, Freemasons' Hall.
" 765, St. James's, Market Tavern, New Weston-street, Bermondsey.
" 1257, Grosvenor, Caledonian Hotel, Apelfhi.
" 1259, Duke of Edinburgh, New Globe Tavern, Bow-road.
" 1261, Golden Rule, Masons' Hall, Basinghall-street.
" 1298, Royal Standard, Marquess Tav., Canonbury.
Chap. 169, Temperance, White Swan, Deptford.
Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor.
Domestic Lodge of Instruction, Palmerston Tav., Grosvenor-park, Camberwell, at 7.30.
Faith Lodge of Instruction, Artillery Arms, Rochester-row, at 8; Bro. C. A. Cottebrunc, Preceptor.
Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, Green Dragon, Stepney, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.

Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, Horse and Groom Tavern, Winsley-street, Oxford-street, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Prince Fredk. William Lodge of Instruction (753) Knights of St. John's Tavern, St. John's-wood; Bro. F. G. Baker, Preceptor.
Sydney Lodge of Instruction (829), Cambridge Hotel, Upper Norwood, at 7.30.
Ben Jonson Lodge of Instruction, Ben Jonson, Goodman's-yard, at 8.
Florence Nightingale Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich, at 7.30.
Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, Gladstone Tavern, Bishopsgate-st. Within, at 7.30; Bro. Bolton (W.M. 1227), Preceptor.
St. Marylebone Lodge of Instruction (1305), British Stores Tavern, New-street, St. John's Wood, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 3.

Pythagorean Lodge of Instruction (79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich, at 8; J. Robt. Nash, Preceptor.
United Strength Lodge of Instruction (228), the Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, Kentish Town, at 8; Bro. J. N. Frost, Preceptor.
Israel Lodge of Instruction, Rising Sun Tavern, Globe-road, at 7.30; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
New Concord Lodge of Instruction, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, at 8.
Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tav., London-street, City, at 7½.
Peckham Lodge of Instruction, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham; Bro. David Rose, Preceptor.
Temperance in the East Lodge of Instruction, George the Fourth, Catherine-street, Poplar.
Stanhope Lodge of Instruction, Thicket Hotel, Anerley, at 7.30 p.m.; Bro. H. W. Ludus, Preceptor.

THURSDAY, JAN. 4.

Lodge 45, Strong Man, Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell.
" 136, Good Report, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street.
" 192, Lion and Lamb, Terminus Hotel, Cannon-st.
" 231, St. Andrew's, Freemasons' Hall.
" 538, La Tolerance, Freemasons' Hall.
" 554, Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
" 1155, Excelsior, Sydney Arms, Lewisham-road.
" 1351, St. Clement Dances, King's Head Htl., Strand.
The R.A. Chapter of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7; Comp. Brett, Preceptor. Work twelve clauses of four sections.
Fidelity Lodge of Instruction (3), Goat and Compasses, Euston-road, at 8; Bro. T. A. Adams, Preceptor.
Panmure Lodge of Instruction (720), Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7; Bro. John Thomas, Preceptor.
Finsbury Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Anglers' Tavern, Bath-street, City-road; Bro. Stean, Preceptor.
United Mariners' Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes, Mile-end-road, at 8; Bro. T. J. Barnes, Preceptor.
St. George's Lodge of Instruction (140), Globe Tavern, Royal Hill Greenwich, at 8.
Chigwell Lodge of Instruction, Bald-faced Stag Hotel, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30.
FRIDAY, JAN. 5.
Lodge 800, Hornsey, Arderton's Hotel, Fleet-street.
Chap. 3, Fidelity, London Tavern, Bishopsgate.
Unions Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, Portugal Htl., Fleet-street, at 7; Bro. Brett, Preceptor.
Belgrave Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Wellington Htl. Spring-gardens, Charing-cross; Br. Pulsford, Preceptor.
Doric Lodge of Instruction, Three Cranes Tavern, Mile end-road, at 8; Bro. Isaac Saqui, Preceptor.
Stability Lodge of Instruction, Guildhall Tavern, 33, Gresham-street, at 6; Bro. H. Muggidge, Preceptor.
Robert Burns Lodge of Instruction, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-st., at 8; Bro. W. Watson, Preceptor.
Burgoyne Lodge of Instruction, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales' Road, N.W., at 8.
St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction (144), Gladstone Tavern, Brompton-road, S.W.
United Pilgrims' Lodge of Instruction, Duke of Edinburgh, Shepherd's-lane, Brixton, at 7; Bro. J. Thomas, P.M., Preceptor.
Duke of Edinburgh Lodge of Instruction, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar, at 7; Br. D. S. Potts, Preceptor.
St. James' Lodge of Instruction, Gregorian Arms Tavern, Jamaica-road, Bermondsey, at 8.
Temperance Lodge of Instruction, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford, at 8.
Burdett Coutts Lodge of Instruction (1278), Approach-road, Victoria-park, at 8; Bro. Geo. W. Verry, Preceptor.
Clapton Lodge of Instruction, White Hart, Clapton, at 7.30; Bro. John Saunders, Preceptor.
Pythagorean Chapter of Instruction (No. 79), Prince of Orange, Greenwich-road, at 8; Comp. W. West Smith, Preceptor.

THE BEST FIRST.—Turner's Tamarind Cough Emulsion for the Throat and Bronchia, 13½d. and 2/9 per bot.—All wholesale houses in London and Liverpool, and any respectable Chemist.—[Advt.]

"MORE than a year ago one of my children was attacked with bronchitis, and, after a long illness, was given up by all physician as 'past cure.' I was then induced to try your Vegetable Pain Killer, and from the time I began the use of it the child rapidly got better, and it is now strong and healthy.—JOHN WINSTANTLEY, 10, Whittle-st., L'pool, 1869.—To P. D. & Son."