the manger cradle, to the last cry on the cross, did not Jesus show forth the beauty of unselfishness, the blessedness of self denial, the happiness of living for other's good! You know, my brethren, the power of personal influence, you know what imitative creatures we are; how closely we are affected by the atmosphere in which we live; you know too how common it is for every thinking person to have some pet hero, to set some model before his eyes. How comes it, then, that so few choose the grandest of examples, the noblest of heroes? How comes it that so few set before their eyes the man Christ Jesus as the pattern that they will endeavour to follow. In our lodges, I suppose, there are always some one or two of the brethren, those who are best instructed, who appear to be amongst the brightest lights of Masonry, that the newly initiated brother admires, and in his heart of hearts, says, "Now I would like to emulate these brethren, and to gain a fair renown like theirs." But here, in the Grand Master of the Universe, in Him, in whose name all our lodges are opened and closed, for He alone is the Great Architect of the Universe, in Him whose blessing is ever evoked upon all our undertakings, we have the purest, the holiest, the most loving example of all. Shall we not then as Masons, as Christians, endeavour each one to tread more closely on His steps, to follow more nearly the pattern of excellence, which in this life He has graciously put before us. Whatever our various callings or positions in life may be, whatever may be the widely different opinions or doctrines or dogmas, here we are all as one. For is not the one main object of our Fraternity, to band together for the good of the whole body, to learn the practice of love in its widest and intensest meaning. There is no one term by which you can illustrate this word love. Benevolence, philanthropy, humanity, charity, only each express as it were one side of it. By action alone can you thoroughly understand it, by obedience to His command, can you alone grasp the full intention of it. Live in the same atmosphere with it, imitate all His conduct, so far as you can; weigh well His words, and oh! how much these few words at the end of my text, simply "As I have loved you," for they cost Him His life, and that through the agony of the shameful cross, "Oh could we learn that sacrifice, what lights would all around us rise." Love, as He loved, and how beautiful would our Order become, what significance given to all our rites and ceremonies! Love is the fulfilling of the law, nay, when that principle is present, as St. Paul teaches, the law is unneeded. And I would call your attention, especially, to the necessity of obedience to this command at the present moment of the world's existence. We live in days of great doubt, and open scepticism. What is the remedy for this? Evidences of religion, history, prophecy, miracles, nay, some of these are denied, others now impossible, all out of the reach of many. There is, then, only one remedy, and that, thank God efficacious, Obedience, recognition of the law of love, the living the life of Christ; this will teach us of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or not. Do the work which Jesus did, sympathise with the sorrowful, rejoice with them that rejoice, smooth the pillow of the dying, dry the tears of the broken hearted widow, take by the hand the forlorn orphan, alleviate the wants of the poor, and sit by the bedside of the sick, and more than this, be courteous, amicable, kind, and helpful to all; let the bright smile of a kindly spirit, the pleasant countenance, the cheery word, the felt interest in the occupations and amusements of others, ever attend you in your own home, and amongst your own kith and kin, and in the larger society beyond your own roof-trees; and, then I promise you, nay, God forgive me, not I, but the Great Master promises you, that you shall be guided into all truth, your sins and their habits shall be conquered, the denying Peter shall be made bold in the faith, the fleeing disciples shall die, if need be, for the truth, the doubting Thomas shall become a firm believer, and the sin-polluted Magdalen a holy saint. I offer no apology for illustrating my subject by a very beautiful parable, known doubtless to many of you, and of service, I am sure, to all. There was a man in the land of Canaan, of mighty stature and strength, proud of his power; he determined only to serve the greatest of kings. For sometime he was the servant of a powerful monarch who gloried in possessing him. One day when a minstrel sang before the king, the giant observed that his master crossed himself every time that the evil spirit's name was mentioned in the minstrel's song. On inquiry the king told him, "I make that sign, to preserve us from the power of Satan." Then said the giant "If thou fearest Satan, thou art not the most powerful Prince in the world; thou hast deceived me, I will go seek this Satan, and him will I serve, for he is mightier than thou art." So he entered into the service of the evil one. When one day they came to where four roads met, Satan was seized with fear at the sight of a cross erected there, and made a circuit to avoid it. "Why hast thou done so?" asked the Giant—and the Fiend replied, "On that cross died Jesus Christ, and when I behold it, I must tremble and fly, for I fear Him." Then said the man "This Jesus, whom thou fearest, must be more powerful than thou, I will go seek Him, and Him will I serve." So he travelled far and wide, until he came to the hut of a hermit, and desired him that he would show him Christ—the good man told him that Christ was Lord of heaven and earth, and that there were many hard duties to perform in this service. "Thou must fast often and pray." But the huge giant replied "I will not fast, for surely if I were to fast, my strength would leave me. I know nothing of prayer, and I will not be bound to such a service." Then the hermit pointed to a wide and deep river, and bade him go to it. "Since thou wilt neither fast nor pray, use thy strength to aid and to save those who struggle with the stream and are about to perish. It may be that this good work shall prove acceptable to Jesus Christ, whom thou desirest to serve, and that He may manifest Himself to thee." To which he replied joyfully, "This I can do, it is a service which pleaseth me well," and so with a palmtree for his staff; night and day he aided the passengers across the swollen stream, and carried the weak on his shoulders. So the thing that he did pleased our Lord, who looked down upon him out of heaven, and said within himself "Behold this strong man, who knoweth not yet the way to worship me, yet hath found the way to serve me." One dark and very stormy night a little child entreated him to carry him over, and the giant lifted the child on to his shoulders, and with his staff entered the stream, and the waters rose higher and higher, and the wind blew, and the waves roared, and the infant on his shoulders became heavier and still heavier, till it seemed to him that he must sink under the excessive weight, and he began to fear. At length the opposite side being reached, he laid the child on the bank, and asked "Who art thou, child, that hath placed me in such extreme peril? Had I carried the whole world on my shoulders, the burden could not have been heavier!" And the child replied, "Wonder not, Christopher, for thou hast not only borne the world, but Him who made the world on thy shoulders—Me wouldst thou serve in this thy work of Charity, and behold I have accepted thy service." Then Christopher fell on his face and confessed and worshipped Christ.

So brethren of the Craft, serve Christ—do all the good you can in the world for Him, deny yourselves for others' sake, live the life of obedience and love; in one word, live the life of Christ, and Jesus will certainly accept your service—will manifest Himself, sooner or later unto you, and guide you into all needful truth, and at last not for your merits, but for His own merits' sake, will make you members of the Great Universal Lodge above.

A collection, which amounted to £26, was afterwards made, and this will be divided equally between the Altrincham Infirmary and the Fund of Benevolence.

THE BANQUET

Was subsequently served in the British Schools, by Bro. Harvey, of the Unicorn Hotel, to between 300 and 400 brethren, Lord de Tabley, presiding during the evening. The musical performances were under the direction of Bro. Kirk, P.G.O., who presided at the piano. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and cordially responded to, that of the R.W.P.G.M. (Lord de Tabley) causing especial enthusiasm.

Masonic Tidings.

THE POPE AND THE FREEMASONS.—It may be interesting to our readers to learn that the Pope gave an audience to the American Masonic party, 21 in number, on the 24th of last month. He was exceedingly gracious, spoke to each one of the party, and walked about as actively as ever. After he had spoken to all individually, he drew back two or three paces, so as to take a view of the whole party, and said, "Now I shall bless you all, your families, and all who belong to you. May you return safely to your native country." Then followed the apostolic benediction in Latin.

By the accession of Viscount Royston, P.G.M., Cambridgeshire, to the Peerage, as Earl of Hardwick, a vacancy has occurred in the representation of Cambridgeshire.

Bro. Wm. Carpenter has received the thanks of the Princess of Wales for a copy of the song "Health to the Prince!"

An emergency meeting of the Great City Lodge (No. 1416) will take place at the City Terminus Hotel, on Friday next, at five o'clock. The first regular meeting will be held on the following day, at three o'clock.

The ceremony of installation will be worked by Bro. Crawley, in the New Concord Lodge of Instruction, held at Bro. Gabb's, Rosemary Branch Tavern, Hoxton, on Wednesday, Oct. 1st, commence at eight o'clock.

The ceremony of installation will be worked in the Strong Man Lodge of Instruction, held at St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, on Monday, 29th inst, by Bro. Beckett, on which occasion the brethren generally are invited to attend.

The editor of the "Bauhütte" has founded at Florence an establishment for the sale of German and English books. We have much pleasure in introducing the same to the notice of our many readers who may visit the fair city, feeling assured that they will meet with every attention from those in charge. The address is—Messrs. Flor and Findel, German and foreign booksellers, 24, Lung Arno Arriagoli, Florence, Italy.

Obituary.

The funeral of Bro. John Thomas took place at Norwood Cemetery, on Saturday, the 20th inst., at 2 p.m. The remains of our universally respected and highly esteemed brother were followed to their resting-place by above 100 brethren carrying sprigs of acacia. Among those who had come to pay the last tokens of fraternal affection we noticed Bros. Reid, Benjamin, Binckes, Laing, Wolpert, Mortlock, Kenning, Dr. Bedolfe, Bradley, Stevens, Worthington, Levander, Larham, Davison, and Thiellay.

Our deceased brother was 64 years of age. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Bro. Church.

"Thou art gone to the grave; but 'twere wrong to deplore thee,
When God was thy trust and thy guardian and guide;
He gave thee, He took thee, and soon will restore thee
In the lost Lodge above where the faithful abide."

"HELP UNDER AFFLICTION."—The aim and end of medicine, are to repress human diseases and redress bodily wrongs. This can only be effected by cleansing healthy fountain, whence flows pure blood in renovating streams. It cannot surely be necessary to remind any intelligent reader, that purity of the bowels, determines everybody's health and vigour. Holloway's medicine searches out the slightest taint in that vital fluid and neutralises or expels it, so that the circulation supports the system, in place of sowing the seeds of decay. When epidemics are advancing and diseases are steadily on the increase, it behoves everyone to have a restorative like these pills ready to set right any irregularity in stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys.—ADVT.

OLD LODGE MINUTES.

I have lately found in a Minute Book of the old Lodge of Providence, No. 171, now in my possession, two entries, copies of which I enclose:—Copy of entry in minutes of lodge held 27th December, 1823.

"Bro. Thomas Thornton, exhibited three Roman Coins with Masonic Emblems on each. The first was one of Nerva, the 13th Emperor, who began to reign A. C. 96; he reigned one year and four months. The reverse, hand in hand, encircled concordia exercitum. The second, Hadrian the 15th Emperor, who began to reign A.C. 117; he reigned about 21 years. The reverse moon and seven stars, encircled Cos. III. The third Antoninus Pius, the 16th Emperor, who began to reign A.C. 138; he reigned 22 years and 8 months. The reverse hand in hand, including two ears of corn and Mercury's rod, encircled Cos. IIII. The above were silver, three fourths of an inch diameter, and found in an urn containing near six hundred coins by the navigators when excavating the basin at the south end of South-street, Chichester, A.D. 1819. Exhibited at the Lodge of Union, 626, Portsea, 27th Dec. 1821, and then and there recorded in their books. The above coins was also exhibited at the Lodge of Providence, Feb. 7, 1822, but not recorded, which was the cause of their second exhibition."—Copy of entry minutes of lodge held 14th October, 1822.

"Bro. Robert Shout Atchison, W.M., of St. George's Lodge of Unanimity and Fidelity, No. 731, Petersfield, made a present to the Lodge of Providence No. 717, Havant, of a Book entitled a 'Visit to Goodwood,' wherein is contained a record of a Lodge of Masons, having been held on St. Rook's Hill, near Chichester, as early as Julius Cæsar, and in a publication* of 1736 we still find 'No. 65' Lodge of St. Rook's Hill, near Chichester, Sussex, once a year, viz., Tuesday in Easter week, constituted in the reign of Julius Cæsar, see page 91, 92, 93."

There are in connection with the College

THREE ANNUAL EXHIBITIONS,

open for general competition to all students, and tenable for three years.

Special Classes are formed for preparing students for the Legal, Medical, Home, Colonial, and Indian Civil Service Examinations; and for entrance to Woolwich, Coopers-hill, and the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, Dublin, Durham, and Edinburgh.

The Religious Teaching is based on strictly Protestant Principles, in accordance with the Doctrines and Liturgy of the Church of England.

Students requiring a commercial education only, are exempt from the classical course, if desired.

The year consists of two terms, during which there are no holidays, the only vacations being at Midsummer and Christmas.

The use of all class books, valuable library, stationery (except mathematical instruments) laundry, &c., is included in the terms. No Extras of any kind.

The High School—Students from 16 to 23 years of age.

The Middle School—Students from 12 to 16 years of age.

The Preparatory School—Students under 12 years of age.

The College is divided into three sections. In the

PREPARATORY SCHOOL

(entirely distinct, but contiguous)

Boys are well grounded in the elements of a sound English Education, with French and German (also in Latin and Greek if for the learned professions), and prepared for the High or Middle School. In the High School the course of study is a preparation for the Universities and the various competitive examinations; while the Middle School trains pupils in such subjects as will qualify them for scientific and commercial pursuits.

Alston College is pleasantly situated, about six miles from Preston, and half a mile from Longridge Railway Station; is in immediate proximity to beautiful mountain scenery, within half an hour's ride of the chief watering places on the western coast of Lancashire, and is considered by Medical Professors to be in one of the healthiest localities in England—a fact sufficiently proved by the remarkably good health enjoyed by the students and regularly confirmed by the half-yearly medical reports.

Extensive Cricket Grounds are attached to the College Farms, whilst a spacious covered Gymnasium and Student's Hall, available for recreation, drill, &c., adjoin.

Reports of all examinations, together with the names of those students who have distinguished themselves at the College and the Universities, as Exhibitioners, Medalists and Prizemen, also the reports of the late examinations, together with views of the College buildings, and all necessary information, forwarded on application to the Rector, or to

Mr. GEORGE CLIFFORD, Secretary.

References kindly permitted to Bro. Masons, and to the late Examiners: Rev. T. H. Lindsay Leary, M.A., D.C.L. (Oxon), Assistant Examiner to Her Majesty's Civil Service Commission, Crawford Cottage, Epsom; T. W. Eyre Evans, Esq., LL.D.T.C.D., Nightingale Villa, Lower Norwood; and other University Examiners; Professor Pagel, Liverpool; R. CROSBY'S BALSAMIC

ROUGH ELIXIR

LUNGS AND AIR-VESSELS. CROSBY'S

BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR. Opium, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief in Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling the digestive organs, and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy.

SELECT TESTIMONIAL. Dr. Rooke, Scarborough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdued cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease."

This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Night Sweats of Consumption, Quinsey, and all affections of the throat and chest. Sold in bottles at 1s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, by all respectable Chemists, and wholesale by Jas. M. Crosby, Chemist Scarborough.

 Invalids should read Crosby's Prize Treatise on "Diseases of the Lungs and Air-Vessels," a copy of which can be had Gratis of all Chemists.

THE MASONIC MAGAZINE.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

We have received several copies of this very interesting serial, which seems to have gained the favour of our Masonic brethren. It is well edited, and contains numerous instructive papers on the subject of Freemasonry, from which we learn that the number of lodges is steadily increasing, the present number in the country being 1417.—Hornet, Sept. 27th.

"The articles are all excellent, and we feel assured that those of our readers who may peruse the magazine, will join in supporting our high opinion of it."—Kelso Chronicle, Aug. 22nd.

"We can safely predict that its advent will be hailed with delight wherever Freemasonry is known, and the English language spoken; and we can congratulate the members of the Craft in having such an organ devoted exclusively to themselves. As the cost is but sixpence monthly, it may be said to be within the reach of all."—Fersey Observer, July 10th.

"It appears to be ably conducted, and the adherents of Freemasonry ought to give it their hearty support."—John O'Groat's Journal, July 17th.

"There are very few of this class of periodicals extant, and we have no doubt that the praiseworthy efforts of the publisher will be properly valued by the brotherhood."—Hawick Advertiser, July 12th.

"The numerous and respectable lodges of Freemasons in this country required a magazine of this kind to give them their proper literary position in the land. This is the first number (July) of a new monthly, and begins well."—Hastings and St. Leonard's News, July 25th.

"With the contributors they have on the staff, the Masonic Magazine will always be worth reading. Wishing it success we commend it to our brethren."—Kelso Mail, July 9th.

"This is a monthly publication that has been much needed by Craft Masons, and from the contents of the first number we feel sure it will be welcome to all brethren."—Kent and Sussex Courier, July 25th.

"Altogether the new magazine is a very interesting one, and we heartily commend it to the notice and support of Freemasons."—Leigh Times, July 12th.

"Much editorial judgment and taste are displayed in the selection and arrangements of the contents; and the individual articles are characterised by great ability and thorough knowledge of the matter in hand."—Leith Burghs Pilot, July, 19th.

"We have perused with much pleasure this, the first number of the Masonic Magazine, and recommend it to the Craft generally. On looking at the list of contributors, we cannot but think and heartily desire it to be a success."—Louth Advertiser, July 19th.

"We earnestly recommend it to the Craft. It contains valuable matter of the history, rise, and progress of Freemasonry. Among the list of contributors are names recognised as workers in and for the Craft and Arch."—Lowestoft Observer, July 12th.

"It is full of promise and full of interest. Such a magazine will supply a great want in the Masonic world. The list of contributors comprises the names of many, who are not only high in the Craft, but well known in literature."—Lymington and South Hants Chronicle, July 11th.

"We should judge that the periodical would prove a valuable addition to the literature of the Craft."—Newbury Weekly News, July 17th.

"Masonic brethren have no need to feel ashamed of the latest addition to their class literature. It certainly seems to merit patronage."—Southport News, July 12th.

"It is intended to give in it a monthly digest of Freemasonry in all its branches, and to judge by the current number, it admirably fulfils this design."—Bath Express, August 2.

"Judging from the first number, the periodical is likely to have a large circulation among Freemasons."—Bath and Cheltenham Gazette, July 16.

"It is well printed, and the contents are such as are calculated to interest the brethren. In Masonic circles we should say that this addition to the literature of the Craft will be warmly welcomed."—Banbury Guardian, July 31.

"The usefulness and importance of the Masonic Life are temporarily inculcated in a leading article. Some verses on the late Earl of Zetland are a proper and fitting tribute to an excellent man."—Bell's Life, August 16th.

"Its articles are well written, very instructive and interesting to all those who have the interest of Freemasonry at heart. We would recommend all Freemasons to obtain a copy and judge for themselves."—Berks Telegram, July 18.

"The list of contributors is a sufficient guarantee that the magazine will fulfill its purpose, No Freemason should be without it."—Bolton Guardian, July 12.

"The contents of the first number will be especially appreciated by Freemasons."—Bolton Weekly Journal, July 12.

"The magazine contains a variety of valuable articles concerning the Craft in all its branches, and we doubt not that it will become a publication highly prized amongst Masons."—Borough of Hackney Express, August 2.

"It will no doubt interest every member of the Order."—Brechin Advertiser, July 8th.

"We recommend our Masonic readers to subscribe to the magazine. It is well got up for six-pence."—Brecon County Times, July 26.

"It will be welcomed by the brethren of the Craft as an acceptable addition to Masonic periodical literature, and in some sort as an organ of the ancient Order. The 'Masonic Magazine' bids fair for an extended circulation within the limits of its sphere of usefulness."—Brighton Examiner, July 22.

"It is neatly printed, and contains matter interesting to members of the Craft all over the world. It contains, amongst the list of contributors, men eminent in Masonry, and we have no doubt it will be largely patronised by members of the 'Mystic Tie.'"—Cashed Gazette, July 12th.

"From the distinguished names given as its 'patrons,' it promises to be well supported."—Coventry Standard, July 16th.

"We wonder whether the ladies will be curious to catch from its pages some glimpses of the life, which is so great and often so irritating a mystery to them, and from which they often resent their exclusion. There is a careful sketch of the progress of the Craft, of its various developments, of its charitable institutions, &c."—Derby and Chesterfield Reporter, Aug. 1st.

"We trust that it will continue to prosper as well as it has begun. The list of contributors comprises several leading names of distinguished Masons, such as must promise well for the success of the undertaking. The number for August is not less interesting and attractive than its predecessor (July), and contains some valuable articles on various subjects connected with the Craft."—Doncaster, Nottingham, and Lincoln Gazette, August 8th.

"After reading with much interest the articles contained in it we recommend its perusal by those interested in the literature of Freemasonry."—Jewish Chronicle, Aug. 8th.

"It deserves to become exceedingly popular."—Clifton Chronicle, July 16th.

"It will be hailed with delight by all who feel interested in the wide-spread progress of the grand principles of the Order, or require information on its beneficent and mysterious unfoldings and developments. It affords interesting subjects for consideration to the general reader."—Draper, July 18th.

"We confidently recommend this periodical to the notice of our Masonic readers. It is truly marvellous how such a beautifully printed work can be produced at the price, and to ensure a profitable return to the proprietor, it will require, and we do not doubt it will achieve, an extensive circulation."—Dunfermline Journal, July 26th.

"It is very ably edited, and amongst its contributors are many of the most eminent English and foreign writers on Freemasonry."—Eversham Journal, July 19th.

"A careful inspection of its contents justifies the expectation that it will be well supported. It is cheap, neatly got up, and smartly written, while all subjects of interest to Masons, seem to receive full attention."—Galloway Gazette, July 12th.

"We are satisfied, that it is edited by a gentleman that displays great literary ability, combined with a most thorough and masterly treatment of his subject. We repeat, we have derived great pleasure and information from the perusal of this clever magazine, and have therefore every confidence in recommending it to our readers."—Gateshead Observer, July 26th.

"The first number is a most creditable specimen, and if succeeding issues are as good, the 'Magazine' will have a satisfactory circulation."—Grantham Journal, July 19th.

"The new monthly opens well with an interesting paper on the present position of English Freemasonry, &c."—Gravesend Journal, July 19.

"It is launched into the world with a long list of worthy contributors. The 'leading' article, so we may call it, 'The Present Position of English Freemasonry,' is extremely instructive."—Hackney and Kingsland Gazette, July 12th.

"Members of the Craft will doubtless find it full of interesting matter."—Hampshire Advertiser, July 12th.

"It will be sure to be widely circulated amongst the brethren."—Deal, Walmer, and Sandwich Mercury, Aug. 9th.

"The contents go to make up such a cheap and interesting sixpennyworth, as ought to secure a place for this magazine."—Hampshire Independent, August 13th.

"It is well got up and most ably written, giving statistics and general information, which will be valued by the society in particular, and found interesting by the public in general."—Tunbridge Wells Gazette, July 18th.

"This new monthly bids fair to become a successful candidate for public favour, not only amongst the brethren of the 'Mystic Tie' but the general public."—Walsal Free Press, July 26th.

"The rapid growth and increasing interest in Masonic matters seems amply to justify an increase in its literature, and this new magazine seems well calculated to supply the want."—Wills and Gloucestershire Standard, July 26th.

"The title of this useful monthly fully indicates the work to which it is devoted. It is in every sense a thorough and useful digest of matters pertaining to the good old Craft of Freemasons, in all its branches. We commend the new venture to every member of the Craft."—Worcestershire Advertiser, July 19th.

OCTOBER ELECTION, 1873.
ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

The generous support and influence of the Governors and Subscribers to the above Institution is earnestly and respectfully solicited at the ensuing election in October, on behalf of RICHARD EDWARD BARNES, Aged NINE YEARS AND NINE MONTHS.
Son of Bro. Richard Edward Barnes, of 48, Hoxton-square.
The said Bro. R. E. Barnes was initiated in the Kent Lodge, No. 15, on the 17th day of November, 1835, and has subscribed thereto 38 years; he has also acted as Honorary Secretary to the same for 35 years; served the office of W.M.; and is now the Father of the Lodge.
He joined the United Mariners' Lodge, No. 30, on the 4th day of November, 1845; subscribed thereto 28 years; and is also the Father of that Lodge.

He was for upwards of 30 years master and proprietor of Hoxton Educational Institution, Hoxton-square, a profession and position he was gradually compelled to relinquish, in consequence of the erection by public subscription, within a few hundred yards of his own establishment, of a large middle-class school, capable of accommodating 1000 boys, with which he was totally unable to compete.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

UNITED PILGRIMS' LODGE (No. 507).—A meeting of this lodge was held on Wednesday, 24th ult., at the Horns' Tavern, Kennington. Bro. George Reeves was passed, and Bros. J. S. Terry, W. I. Oliver, and J. J. Bradley were raised. To the accompaniment of solemn music, beautifully played by Bro. John Read Bro. James Stevens, P.M. 720, advanced these brethren to their respective degrees, and gave the lecture, traditional history, and tracing board in masterly style. These were made the more impressive by the mournful appearance of the lodge, which was placed in the deepest mourning, out of respect to the memory of Bro. John Thomas, Secretary, and a very old P.M. Bro. Gilchrist was employed to arrange the mourning. The ceremonies having occupied till far into the night were supplemented by two addresses on the sad event, by Bro. James Stevens and the W.M. The former brother delivered his address at the completion of the third degree, and the latter when Bro. Stevens rose for the second time. Bro. Stevens said that the death of Bro. Thomas was a loss to Masonry in general, and the lodge of United Pilgrims in particular. It was also an event of great importance to Masons in the south of London. To all of them Bro. Thomas was always accessible, and always extremely desirous to afford instruction, to make them good Masons, and by the force of his own example to illustrate the theoretical teachings of the Order. It was at all times his object to mould the members of the fraternity into practical Masons in all the active duties of life. Such a brother they had now to mourn over, but it was a satisfaction to know that he had in abundance. It was his great merit that he showed what Masonry meant by absolute practice; and consequently they would not only fail to get the advantage of his instruction and assistance any longer, but they would lose a light which had directed them to the doing what was right, and prepared the outward world to understand that in Masonry nothing but what was good should be found. These remarks would no doubt be felt by all the brethren acutely and sorrowfully, as they felt that in losing Bro. Thomas, they had sustained the loss of an immediate personal friend. It was but lately the portrait of the deceased brother had been presented and hung up in the lodge, and they might therefore be congratulated on having retained the resemblance of his form and features, to look upon in all time coming. When they received it they believe that for many, many years they would not only see his portrait, but would have the happiness of his personal presence, his valuable assistance, his genial manner, which pleased all and offended none. In this he might be considered almost unique, for in Masonry it was difficult to impart instruction, or offer advice, or give directions, without giving some slight offence. But there was a style in Bro. Thomas which gave a charm to all he did and a geniality about him which, when he pointed out defects, rather pleased than otherwise. When he had reason to praise any act there was no man more ready to do so than Bro. Thomas. This lodge, therefore, which had benefited so much by Bro. Thomas's tuition should express on its minutes its sorrow at the loss it had sustained, and he (Bro. Stevens) did not think such a resolution would come from any one with so much effect as from the W. M. (Hear, hear.) During the delivery of this address, which we have only sufficient space to give in a condensed form, all the brethren were standing, and at its conclusion they resumed their seats, and Bro. Stevens closed down in the third and second degrees. Before closing in the first degree, the W. M. rose to move a vote of sorrow, to be entered on the minutes, which the lodge felt on Bro. Thomas's death. In doing so he pointed to the Secretary's chair, which he said was empty, and that by that event the lodge had lost her best son, and the brethren a father in masonry. Henceforth they would have to assemble without Bro. Thomas. Could they realize the fact, or estimate their loss? Could they forget the whitened head, the manly brow, the genial smile, and the affectionate grasp of the hand? Could they forget the pillar which had supported them in all their difficulties, and the voice of instruction which was always ready to impart knowledge? He passed through this life leaving no wreck or sorrow behind. It was not for his great and unrivalled knowledge of Masonry alone that he was endeared to them; it was not for that he was one of the brightest jewels in Masonry that he was beloved by all; it was for his unalloyed heart, and for being the friend, the guide, and the benefactor of the widow and the orphan, in which character he was always to the front. Distress and poverty were lightened by the sunshine of his charity. The brethren had sustained a heavy blow, but they must bow their heads in submission, and think that their Maker had taken a great, good, and benevolent man to Himself. He had sent for His servant, and they had had to part with him. His picture, however, hung on the wall, and looked down on them as a messenger sent from the grave. It would teach them, when they reflected on what a man he was, to practise the genuine teachings of Freemasonry, and to make brotherly love their guiding star. Yes, he was gone from among them, and they must fervently pray that the pilgrim's glory might be his, and that they might in their humble way seek to emulate those great and good qualities which might at last conduct them to those mansions where such an illustrious Mason had gone before them. (Hear, hear.) The W. M. then moved the formal resolution, which was put and carried unanimously, and the lodge was thereafter immediately closed.

"That which should accompany old age,
 As honour, love, obedience, troops of friends,"

BURDETT COUTTS LODGE (No. 1278).—This lodge, under the distinguished patronage of the Baroness Burdett Coutts, held its installation meeting on the 18th ult., at Bro. S. Lloyd's, Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria Park, when the large attendance of the brethren showed the great respect in which the retiring and prospective Masters were held. The lodge was opened, according to established form, shortly after 4 o'clock, by Bro. H. Lloyd, who was supported by the subjoined officers of the Burdett Coutts Lodge.—Bro. Ashburner, S.W.; Bro. Harris, J.W.; Bro. Terry, P.M., Treasurer; Bro. Verry, P.M., Secretary; Bro. Crutch, S.D.; Bro. Toye, I.G.; Bro. Macklin, D.C.; and Crouch, W.S.; also Col. Burdett, G.M. Middlesex.; Bro. Buss, Grand Treasurer, Middlesex.; Bro. Barnes, P.M., Doric.; Bro. Mortlock, P.M., Industry; Bro. Stephens, P.M., Clapton; Bro. Seddons, who acted as Organist most efficiently; and a good muster of the brethren of the Lodge. After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and unanimously confirmed, Bro. H. Lloyd proceeded with the installation of Bro. Ashburner, as W.M. Generally the performance of this particular ceremony falls to the lot of some expert P.M., and is therefore usually done with tolerable efficiency, but it is rare indeed to witness such proficiency as was displayed by the I.P.M. upon that occasion. The addresses, delivered with marked earnestness, lucidity, and impressiveness, were especially listened to with undivided and breathless attention, and at the conclusion the Installing Master was on all sides congratulated upon his success in that capacity. The newly installed W.M. commenced his duties by appointing his officers in the following order:—Bros. Harris, S.W.; Crutch, J.W.; Perry, P.M., Treasurer; Verry P.M., Secretary; Toye, S.D.; Macklin, J.D.; Crouch, I.G.; Hill, D.C.; Lazarus, W.S.; Gilchrist, Tyler. The ballot was then taken for Bro. P.L. Sturtevant (Yarborough) as a joining member, and Messrs Hayes and Mills, as initiates, in all of which cases it proved unanimous in their favour. The initiations were performed by the newly-installed W.M. in the most impressive manner, showing that he must have worked exceedingly hard to have gained so high a state of proficiency. Before the termination of the business, hearty good wishes were conveyed to the W.M. by visiting brethren representing a vast number of lodges. The brethren afterwards sat down to an excellent banquet, presided over by the W.M., who was honoured by the presence of a strong muster of P.M.'s. The W.M. gave the time-honoured toast of the "Queen and the Craft," which was received and drank with full Masonic honours. The other customary loyal and Masonic toasts having been duly honoured, the W.M. gave "The Health of the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master of Middlesex, Col. Francis Burdett," whom the brethren were always proud to welcome in that lodge. He was also closely related to a lady who if not a Mason in name, was one in principle, for she had endeared herself to the heart of every Englishman by the constant exercise of the distinguishing characteristic of a Freemason's heart. (Cheers.) It seemed as though her charity and almsgiving knew no bounds, save that the objects should be worthy and deserving. (Renewed cheering.) He alluded to the Baroness Burdett Coutts, who on its consecration, presented the Lodge with that beautiful encased Volume of Holy Writ, of which the members were so justly proud. Their gallant brother, whose health they were asked to drink, had made a very pleasing and whispered communication, which was in effect that his cousin, the Baroness, had signified to him her intention of presenting chairs for each of the three columns of the lodge, and he (the speaker) had every reason for hoping that before his year of office expired the noble lady would visit the lodge and partake of its hospitality. (Loud Cheers.) The toast having been drank with Masonic honours, the Provincial Grand Master of Middlesex rose and said it always afforded him great pleasure to visit that lodge and witness its admirable working. Their Master, he had been informed, was one of the first initiates, and the Immediate Past Master who had so ably rendered the installation ceremony, was one of the founders of the lodge. (Hear, hear.) It was extremely gratifying to find that the outgoing Master should so ably instal his successor, and spoke volumes for the manner in which the brethren attended to the detail work of instruction, and to the Preceptor Bro. Verry. He was pleased to be able to make a good report of the Lodge to his cousin, whom the Master had alluded to, and nothing gave her greater pleasure than to be told that it was going on most prosperously. The I.P.M., Bro. Lloyd, proposed the health of the W.M., referring to his many excellent qualities as a Mason and a citizen. After acknowledging the compliment, Bro. Ashburner, W.M., proposed the health of the I.P.M., in a terse and excellent speech, and concluded by presenting him with a massive P.M. jewel. Bro. Lloyd acknowledged the handsome present in brief and suitable terms. After spending a pleasant evening, the brethren separated at an early hour.

HAMPTON.—Lebanon Lodge (No. 1326).—At the Red Lion, Hampton, on Thursday, 18th ult., the regular meeting of this lodge was held. Bro. William Hammond, W.M. presided. There were present during the afternoon and evening—Bros. H. Dubois, P.G. Steward, Middlesex, S.W.; J. W. Jackson, J.W.; F.

Walters, P.G. Steward, Middlesex, P.M., Sec.; E. Gilbert, S.D.; E. H. Thiellay, as J.D.; W. J. Laing, P.M., as I.G.; R. W. Williams, Organist; H. Potter, P.M., as W.S.; E. Hopwood, P.M.; J. Laurence, W. Prattent, J. V. Watkins, J. Morrison, W. J. Cox, W. Stanton, R. Limpus, P. G. Organist, Middlesex; H. Towzer, J. Hurst, J. Archer, J. Symes, R. Carne, J. Newton, J. McNaughton, G. H. Dye, J. J. Marsh, J. Baldwin, G. Harrison, H. Glaster, J. R. Croft, J. Wallis, and others. The visitors were Bros. F. B. Davage, W.M. 201; W. J. Kipling, W.M. 946; J. Hiscock, 865; and others. The lodge was opened in due form. The minutes of the previous meeting were read, and unanimously confirmed. Ballots, taken separately, were unanimous in favour of the admission of all the candidates for initiation, and brethren for joining. The W.M., in an admirable manner, initiated Messrs. J. Laurence, J. V. Watkins, and W. Prattent, (each being taken separately) and passed Bros. J. Morrison and J. Hurst, to the second degree. The veteran Bro. F. Walters, then took the chair, and raised Bros. J. McNaughton, J. R. Croft, and R. Carne, to the third degree. The ceremonies were rendered in a correct, impressive and painstaking style. The W.M. resumed the chair, the new bye-laws were read and unanimously agreed to. Ten guineas were unanimously voted out of the lodge funds to purchase a loving cup, for presentation to Bro. John Thomas Moss, P. Prov. G.D., Middlesex, P.M., in recognition of services rendered by him to the lodge as its founder and first W.M. Bro. J. C. Parkinson, D.G.M., Middlesex, P.M., presented to the lodge a handsome charity box, supplied by Bro. G. Kenning, of Little Britain) also giving a "nest egg." The box was universally admired by all who saw it, being beautiful in design, chaste in workmanship, and every detail has been carefully studied and correctly worked out. On it is an elaborate massive silver plate, neatly let into the side of the box, which has an inscription on it, shewing who its donor is. After all business was terminated, the lodge was closed, and the brethren partook of some refreshment, but did not separate without honouring the loyal and Masonic toasts.

STRATFORD.—Langthorne Lodge (No. 1421).—This young but prosperous and flourishing lodge held its opening meeting for the winter session at the Swan Hotel, Stratford, E., on Thursday, the 25th ult., the chair being occupied by the much-esteemed W. M., Bro. Charles Lacey, who was supported by the whole of his officers, viz., Bros. G. T. W. Mugliston, M.D., S.W.; G. E. Slee, J.W.; Geo. Levick, Treas.; C. W. Ashdown, P.M. and Sec.; R. G. Owen, S.D.; Benj. Cundick, J.D.; Jno. G. Stevens, P.M., D.C.; H. Carter, W.S.; George Hollington, I.G.; and W. Steedman, Tyler; a number of brethren and several visitors being likewise present. The lodge having been opened in due form, and the minutes of the last regular meeting, together with those of three Lodges of emergency, held during the recess, read and duly confirmed, the lodge was opened in the second degree, and Bro. Woods being a candidate for the degree of Master Mason, having given proof of his proficiency in the former degrees, and retired, the lodge was opened in the third degree, Bro. Woods re-admitted and duly raised to the sublime degree, the ceremony being most efficiently rendered by the W.M. The lodge was then resumed in the second degree, and Bros. Bullpitt and Gaffin admitted, and passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. There was also one candidate for initiation, who, however, from unforeseen circumstances, was unable to attend. All business being ended, and the lodge closed in due form, the brethren adjourned to an adjoining room, where a sumptuous banquet awaited them, which was served by the host, Bro. Morley, in a style that reflected the highest credit upon the catering powers of that worthy brother, who had evidently spared neither pains nor trouble in his endeavour to study the comfort and happiness of the brethren. The bill of fare embraced all the delicacies of the season, both viands and wines being of the most recherché description; and it is needless to add that ample justice was done to so excellent a repast. The cloth having been cleared, the W. M. proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, which were duly honoured, that of the "Visiting Brethren" being responded to by Bros. Mann, P.M., 186; and Austin, W.M., 933. The toast of the "Masonic Charities" was responded to by Bro. Jno. G. Stevens, P.M., who, in an earnest and eloquent speech, urged upon the brethren the duty of supporting the excellent charities connected with the Order. The toast of the "Officers of the Langthorne Lodge," proposed in most felicitous terms by the W. M., was responded to by Bros. Ashdown, P.M. and Secretary; Levick, Treas.; and Cundick, J.D.; in the absence of the S.W., who was unfortunately called away at an earlier period of the evening. The health of the worthy host, Bro. Morley, having been duly honoured, the Tyler's toast brought this most pleasant and agreeable meeting to a close shortly before 11, p.m. Several excellent songs, recitations, &c., were given during the evening. As usual a number of visitors honoured the lodge with their presence, amongst whom were the following, viz.:—Bros. W. Mann, P.M. 186; W. J. Noad, 237; Thos. Austin, W.M. 933; J. Boulton, 1056; J. Miller, 174; J. H. Guernsey, 749; S. M. Lazarus, P. Prov. S.G.W. Wilts; Thos. Cohe, S.D. 192; G. S. Hilliard, J.D. 174; G. W. Verry, P.M. 554; A. Wagstaff, 188; and A. Angliss, 1227.

INSTRUCTION.

ST. JAMES LODGE OF INSTRUCTION (No. 765).—The regular meeting of this prosperous lodge was held at the New Tanner's Arms, Grange-road, Bermondsey, on the 26th ult., when the ceremony of installation was worked by Bro. Montagu Scott, P.M. 765. The following brethren were present:—Bros. Jones, W.M. 765; W. Pointing, M.M. 765; R. Jolly, M.M. 765; J. J. West, P.M. 548; G. Free, P.M. 73; J. Tyler, W.M. 975; H. Bartlett, W.M. 147; G. J. Grace, P.M. 1178; J. Hawes, P.M. 765, Preceptor; and some thirty-five other members. The lodge being opened, the minutes of the previous lodge were read and confirmed. The event of the meeting was the ceremony of installation, which was ably rehearsed by Bro. Scott. After a vote of thanks had been recorded on the minutes for Bro. Scott the brethren separated, greatly pleased at 10 p.m.

GLASGOW.—As St. Andrew's Chapter and the Caledonian Unity Chapter both meet in the same hall, and the 23rd of Sept. is the day fixed for the election of officers by the Supreme Grand Chapter, unless a dispensation be obtained, it was decided that this should be made the occasion of a fraternal gathering of the members of both. Accordingly, the respective chapters having met in separate rooms, and elected their officers, they then met together in the hall, and Comp. James Balfour, P.Z., of 73, proceeded to instal Comps. J. D. Humphries, Ph. D., as Z.; D. Cantrelle as H.; and G. Hern as J. of 69; and Comps. George McDonald as Z.; G. W. Wheeler, H.; and J. Tweed, J. of No. 73. The rest of the company were introduced, and Comp. Balfour, at the request of the two Z.'s, installed the rest of the office bearers, and a special vote of thanks was accorded to him by both chapters for the highly efficient manner in which he had performed the duty. The business of the evening being over, the companions adjourned for refreshment, which was provided by the three Principals of Chapter 73. Comp. G. McDonald, Z. of 73, occupied the chair; while Comp. J. D. Humphries, Z. of 69, was Croupier. After the cloth was removed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed and heartily responded to. The chairman gave "The Provincial Grand Chapter." Comp. A. McTaggart, M.A., P.G. Scribe, E., replied, saying that he knew it was the determination of the P. G. Superintendent to raise the status of Arch Masonry in the province, a determination in which he was ably supported by the whole of the Provincial Grand Chapter, and this meeting, in such an harmonious spirit, of two of the principal chapters in the province, was a still further proof of the rapid progress of the true fraternal spirit. He would now give "Prosperity to Chapters 69 and 73, with the Health of the Principals." Comp. J. D. Humphries, in a long and elegant speech, replied on behalf of St. Andrews, in the course of which he complained that he had not been properly supported by his officers, though, thanks to the good-will of office-bearers from other chapters, he had always been able to get through the work. On behalf of the Caledonian Unity, Comp. Dundonald said, on the other hand, he could boast that his officers had generally worked well, while the Second Principal and Scribe E. were always at their post, and perfect in their duty. The chairman gave "Chapter 119 and its First Principal G. Thallon, P.G.C." Comp. Thallon acknowledged the honour done to his chapter, and Comp. Wheeler proposed "The Retiring Officers of both the Chapters," replied to by R. Bell, 39, and D. Thomas, of 69. The Croupier gave "Comp. E. Bell, the E.C. of the Templars," commenting on his exertions to procure a fit reception for the American visitors this season. Comp. R. Bell replied. J. D. Humphries then gave the "Masonic Press," dwelling on the advantages to be derived by the Craft by their supporting it by all means in their power. G. W. Wheeler replied, showing the good it could accomplish if properly supported. The Janitor's toast concluded this very successful reunion of the two chapters.

GLASGOW.—On Tuesday, Sept. 25, Chapter 50 met to elect their officers for the ensuing year, Comp. Butcher, Past Z., in the chair; Comp. J. Loutitt, Scribe E. None of the Principals or other officers of the chapter were present, and Comp. Love protested against the legality of the meeting, as a dispensation had been obtained from the Supreme Chapter to hold the meeting for election on the 9th of October. The Scribe E. said he had received no official intimation to that effect, and should therefore proceed with the election, in accordance with the Supreme Chapter laws. The Z. indorsing this view, the election proceeded, and the following were declared duly elected, viz., Comps. J. Miller, First Principal; T. Brownlie, Second Principal; W. Bell, Third Principal; J. Loutitt, E.; J. Cameron, N.; A. A. Smith, T. Owing to there being only one installed Principal present, the installation was not proceeded with.

An emergency meeting of Chapter 50 was held on Wednesday, Sept. 24th, when, owing to the absence from town of all three of the Principals, their chairs were filled by Comps. J. Duthie, Z. of 67, as Z.; G. W. Wheeler, H. of 73, as H.; and R. Chapman, as J. Amongst the visitors was Comp. W. Agnew, of Chapter 187, Belfast, who at the conclusion of the ceremonies said Comp. J. Kelly, who was over here last month, had reported so favourably of the Scotch Royal Arch working that he had long determined to come and see for himself, and, having done so, he must say that he was more than gratified, and only now wished to meet some of his Scotch friends in Belfast to return the obligation. Comp. Wheeler acknowledged the compliment, but said that night they had been working at a great disadvantage, most of the officers being new to their duties.

EDINBURGH.—Edinburgh Chapter (No. 1).—This flourishing chapter held its annual meeting for election and installation of office-bearers, in Comp. C. Dejay's Hotel, Princes-street, on Tuesday, the 23rd ult., when the following companions were duly elected and installed for the ensuing year, viz., W. Mann, S.S.C. 33°, Principal Z.; Alex. Mitchell, 31°, Principal H.; Geo. McLean, 30°, Principal J.; Alex. Hay, 31°, Past Principal Z.; P. R. Haddon, Scribe E.; W. Grant, Scribe N.; Alex. Hay, Treas.; D. Kinnear, I.P.M. No. 291, Chancellor; J. Taylor, P.M. 145 and 349, 1st Soj.; J. J. Muirhead, R.W.M. No. 1., 2nd Soj.; J. D. Wormald, R.W.M. 291, 3rd Soj.; R. S. Brown, R.W.M. 145, Excellent Master; R. Legget, Capt. 1st Veil; W. J. C. Abbot, I.P.M. No. 1, Capt. 2nd Veil; J. Henderson, Capt. 3rd Veil, and Dan McLean, Janitor. Thereafter the companions celebrated the festival of the autumnal equinox by a sumptuous banquet, provided in a most recherché style by Comp. Dejay, which was presided over by the M.E.P.P.Z. Comp. Hay, as Croupier. Among the companions present were S. Somerville, of Ampherlaw, 33°, Deputy Grand P.Z. of the S.G. R.A. Chapter of Scotland; L. Mackersey, W.S., 33°, Grand Scribe E. Do.; Major W. H. Ramsey, Grand Sword Bearer; Capt. Allen, S. Georgiales, W. Merricks, and others. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly given and responded to, interspersed with a number of excellent songs from several of the companions. After spending a very delightful evening, the companions separated, highly gratified with the whole of the evening's proceedings.

Mark Masonry.

PANMURE LODGE (No. 139).—The Installation meeting of this lodge was held on Monday, the 22nd ult., at the Balham Hotel, Balham, Bro. H. F. Huntley, P. Prov. G.S.B., W.M. presiding. The brethren in attendance were:—Bros. James Stevens, P.M., Prov. G.O. and Prov. G. Sec. Middlesex and Surrey; George Lilley, S.W.; H. Payne, S.O.; T. Poore, J.O.; R. W. Huntley, M.O.; C. Pulman, Reg. of Mks.; D. Trusler, J.D.; W. Poore, I.G.; William Platt, P.M. 5; H. Massey, P.M. 22; and others. Prior to the installation, Bro. Wm. Hefter, of the Southern Star Lodge, was introduced and advanced to the ancient and honourable degree of Mark Master by Bro. Huntley, who performed the ceremony in a masterly manner. Indeed the whole of the officers were efficient in their duties, and especially Bro. T. Poore, who took the Senior Deacon's share of the lodge work, and Bro. James Stevens, who was P.M. The admirable performances deserved to be witnessed by a fuller lodge than was gathered together on the occasion, and seldom is an opportunity afforded, in the many Mark Lodges which now exist, for witnessing such perfect working as was then given. At the conclusion of the ceremony of advancement Bro. James Stevens took the chair, and to him was presented by Bro. Huntley, Bro. George Lilley, the W.M. elect, and proprietor of the Balham Hotel, for installation in the Master's chair of the Panmure Lodge for the current year. This ceremony was also ably performed, and was a worthy companion exhibition of fluency and readiness to the advancement of the candidate, which was made by Bro. Huntley. The ceremonies were given entire and though from their great length they occupied a long time in being completed, were listened to with the strictest attention. The following were appointed by the W.M. as his officers:—Bros. T. Poore, S.W.; R. W. Huntley, J.W.; H. Payne, M.O.; C. Pulman, S.O., and Secretary; D. Trusler, J.O.; H. F. Huntley, I.P.M., Treasurer; Smith, Reg. of Marks; W. Poore, S.D.; Lindner, J.D.; W. Hefter, I.G.; and Grant, Tyler. The well-earned vote of a Past Master's jewel to Bro. Huntley, which was agreed to at the former meeting, was unanimously confirmed. The audit meeting was then fixed, and the lodge passed a vote of sorrow on the death of Bro. John Thomas, on the motion of Bro. Stevens seconded by Bro. T. Poore. The lodge was then closed, and Bro. Lilley, W.M., provided a banquet which met with the highest commendations of all the brethren who sat down to it, and special thanks were accorded at the conclusion of the evening to Mrs. Lilley, for her excellence in culinary supervision. The toasts were proposed and responded to seriatim. Bro. T. Poore responding for the Grand Officers of the province, and hoping to do justice to the appointment he held in the province. He added that he would do his duty both there and in the lodge, and would make every effort that was in his power to support the W.M. in the performance of the task which was laid out for him. Bro. James Stevens then proposed "The Health of the W.M.," and congratulated him on the attainment of his high position so rapidly; but though his promotion had been rapid, he said the lodge had made a good selection. Bro. Lilley had been known them all for a long time, and was one of the originators and founders of the lodge, which had to thank him for many services rendered to it. Though its members were not numerous he had always entertained them liberally and made them very comfortable, and he deserved to have, and no doubt would have, a prosperous and pleasant year of office. His selection of officers was acknowledged to be a wise one by the large majority of the brethren, and with regard to the others, a little reflection would show them that he had studied the interests of the lodge rather than those of individuals. He had performed his duty in rather an exceptional manner, for he had not allowed any feelings of relationship to interfere with what he considered to be conducive to the welfare of the lodge. That was rather more than might be generally expected of a W.M., but it was an example which W.M.'s would do well to follow. The W.M. in acknowledging the toast said he did not feel worthy to hold the high position he had been placed in, but he could not refuse to accept it when it was pressed upon him. He would endeavour to carry out the duties of his year of office to the satisfaction of the brethren and to the honour of the Order. He could only thank the brethren for their confidence, and for the assistance they had rendered him in their advice as to the official appointments he should make. He certainly took no credit to himself for having made judicious appointments, for with one of them he had encountered considerable difficulty; but other brethren in the lodge more experienced than himself had seen what was a beneficial arrangement, and he was but too happy to be able to give effect to a selection which would make the Panmure Lodge one of the best worked lodges in the Mark Degree. The W.M. then proposed "The Health of the Visitors," to which Bros. Platt and Massey responded, both acknowledging the great hospitality of the lodge the superiority of the banquet provided, the perfect working of the I.P.M., of Bro. Stevens and of the W.M., and the pleasant evening which they had spent. Bro. James Stevens at the request of the W.M. proposed "The Candidate, Bro. W. Hefter," and pointed out the difference between this degree and the Craft in respect to the accession of members by solicitation. He also congratulated Bro. Hefter on his joining the Panmure Lodge, and on having had the great advantage of receiving office on the night of his advancement. Bro. W. Hefter thanked the brethren for the toast, for electing him a member, and for advancing him; the W.M. also for putting him into office. He promised regular attendance, but requested the aid of the brethren in his desire to obtain instruction in the ritual. The W.M. proposed "The Past Masters, Bros. Stevens and Huntley." Bro. James Stevens replied. They had reason to be much obliged to the W.M. who had consistently stuck to the lodge, and he with several others had supported it from the time they first took it in hand. In Mark Masonry, the brethren did not expect to make the strides they made in the Craft; but by giving their individual attention to their Mark Lodge, and being always present when work was to be done they had achieved a result which gave them every reason to believe that the Panmure had become an established lodge. It was not numerous in its members, but those it had were good workers. In the absence of quantity they possessed quality; and as long as they had sufficient members to pay their working expenses they need not regret they were not stronger than they were now. They were very comfortable, which was a great desideratum. Better to be few in number and harmonious, than numerous with the elements of disturbance among them. No doubt it would be more numerous when it was better known, and ultimately it might be a lodge of considerable credit to the Order at large, and especially to the Province of Surrey. Speaking for himself he could assure the brethren that he would always be present when possible, and nothing but sickness or very pressing emergency would keep him away. The W.M. then gave "The Health of the Officers," to which Bro. T. Poore replied, and the brethren shortly afterwards separated. The lodge and banquet-rooms were draped in consequence of the death of Bro. John Thomas, and the brethren refrained from enjoying the usual pleasure of music for the same reason.

Red Cross of Constantine.

EDINBURGH.—It affords us much pleasure to be able to speak of the progress of the Red Cross Order here, so much so that it has been deemed advisable to organise a second conclave, which has been chartered, the St. Giles's, No. 103. The members have secured the services of a very distinguished Sir Knight as their first Sovereign, in the person of Sir Knt. H. E. Jones, and the E.V.E. is also a well known and zealous Mason. They have already installed several eminent brethren in the district and apparently a prosperous future is before them. The "Edinburgh" Conclave, No. 4, resumed its meetings on the 23rd. ult., under the presidency of its respected M. P. Sov., Ill. Sir Knt. C. G. C. Christie, when a goodly muster of Sir Knt. Companions assembled at roll call. After the routine business of the conclave was disposed of, the M.P.S. submitted a sketch of a banner, procured from Sir Knt. Kenning, which being highly approved of, a motion was carried unanimously that a banner be ordered without delay. The M.P.S. then presented a handsome donation towards defraying the expense thereof. It is very gratifying to be able to announce that in recognition of Sir Knt. Christie's services to the Order in Scotland, the Most Illustrious the Grand Sovereign, Earl Bective, has been pleased to appoint him Intendant General for Midlothian. The rank of Knight Grand Cross has also been conferred upon Sir Knt. R. S. Brown, an Hon. Sov. P.V., the indefatigable Recorder and one of the original members of No. 4.

SURREY MASONIC HALL COMPANY.—Messrs. Pain & Clark, of Buckingham-street, Strand, have been appointed Architects, in the place of the late Bro. John Thomas.

The Grand Council of the Illustrious Knights, K.H. 30°, will be held at the Masonic Hall, Golden-square, on Wednesday, 15th October. The agenda contains a list of fourteen candidates for advancement to the 30°.

The Victoria Club of Instruction, held at the Victoria Tavern, Lower-road, Rotherhithe, meets every Monday evening, at 8. p.m., Bro. Howes, P.M. Instructor.

An emergency meeting of the Great City Lodge, No. 1426, will be held at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, E.C., on Friday, October 10th, at five o'clock, p.m., precisely, and the first regular meeting of the lodge on Saturday, October 11th, at three o'clock, p.m.

The consecration of the Mount Edgecumbe Lodge, No. 1446, took place on the 13th inst., at the Swan Tavern, Battersea, Bro. Hervey being the Consecrating Officer.

The fifteen sections will be worked in the Wellington Lodge of Instruction, No. 548, at the White Swan Tavern, High-street, Deptford, on Monday, the 20th October next, at 7 o'clock, p.m., by Bro. F. H. Pulsford, P.M. 1158, assisted by fifteen members of the Belgrave Lodge of Instruction No. 749.

Bro. Colonel Burdett moved, at the Richmond Select Vestry, on Tuesday, to oppose the application, of which notice had been given by the Star and Garter Hotel, for a music and dancing license. An amendment to oppose only the dancing license was moved by Mr. Burt, and carried by 12 votes against 6.

"THE POORER MASSES AND THE RICHER CLASSES" suffer alike at certain seasons from fever, diarrhoea, dysentery and similar ailments, which everybody knows, prevails in autumn, and it should be as well known, that these complaints can be safely and successfully subdued by Holloway's purifying preparations. Holloway's Ointment well rubbed over the entire abdomen, his pills taken internally, and his dietary rules strictly observed, embrace the domestic medical management of these diseases, which, when neglected weaken, if they fail to prove fatal. These remedies remove the causes of complaint from the system, and no sufferer whether his disease be chronic or acute, should despair till a trial has been given to these medicines, which will secure a safe deliverance from disease.—ADVT.

THE LATE BRO. JOHN THOMAS.

A numerous gathering of Freemasons assembled on Saturday, the 27th ult., in the large Board-room of the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, to take into consideration the best means of perpetuating the memory of the above-named lately deceased brother, and to appoint a committee to carry out the resolutions which such meeting might determine upon.

The chair was taken at 3 p.m. by Bro. Edward Worthington, P.M. 507, P.Z. 720, and amongst those present were:—Bros. James Stevens, P.M. 25, 720, 1216, and W.M. of the Great City Lodge, 1426, &c.; Henry C. Levander, P.M. 507, P.Z. 720, &c.; the Rev. W. B. Church, W.M. 165; R. Wentworth Little, P.M., P.Z., &c., Secretary Royal Masonic Institution for Girls; C. A. Cottebrune, G.P., &c.; Edward Clark, P.M. 1194, 1329, &c.; Newington Bridges, P.M. 772, W.M. 1216; M. S. Larlham, S.D. 1216; G. Macdonald, 1158; N. B. Headon, S.W. 1426; D. Drysdale, P.M. 211; W. S. Cackett, 1216; D. R. Bryant, 1326; W. Mann, W.M. 1381, &c.; James Dann, W.M. 72; John Oliver, 1328; Dr. W. V. Bedolfe, 1328; Henry Martin, 1329; and many others. Letters of regret for non-attendance from Bros. John Hervey, Grand Secretary; Fred. Binckes, Secretary to Boys' School; J. Terry, Secretary of Benevolent Institution; George Kenning, Joseph Nunn, E. H. Hunt, S. C. Davison, Overall, Allman, and several other brethren were read.

The Chairman briefly addressed the meeting, stating the object for which the brethren were assembled, and expressed his conviction that all present were of one mind in regard to the propriety and necessity of recording for present and future generations of Freemasons, the good and noble works of the worthy and distinguished Mason whose loss they had so much reason to deplore. He had no doubt that a practical expression of such unanimity of feeling would result from the proceedings of the day, and would call upon Bro. James Stevens to move the first resolution.

Bro. Stevens said that the duty which now devolved upon him was one which for some reasons he would have preferred should have been undertaken by another, but which on other accounts he admitted was most appropriately his to perform, he having been the earliest of all present to enjoy the companionship and encouragement of our late lamented brother. For nearly 20 years, had the friendship, first formed by Masonic introduction, increased from year to year, and for all that period the same useful instruction, kindly advice, and generous actions which had so endeared him to all who now mourned his loss so much, it had been his (Bro. Stevens's) proud privilege to enjoy. And during that period what opportunities had been afforded to discover and appreciate the sterling good qualities, both social and Masonic, of our worthy departed! The true embodiment of "Brotherly love, relief, and truth," he never tired in the practical exemplification of those "three grand principles." The first was thoroughly portrayed in his earnest and sincere desire for the fullest instruction and progress of those who were glad to call him their preceptor, to whom he was at all times accessible, and with whom it was his delight to walk many miles, and to pass many hours in communicating to them a knowledge of our mystic art. His Stewardships to our several Charities, especially his devotion to the cause of the indigent aged and unfortunate, bore testimony to his regard for the second principle upon which our Order is founded; whilst his upright, courteous, and conscientious discharge of his social duties, no less than those which devolved upon him in his Masonic position, gave glorious evidence of his truthful nature. This was the character of the brother who has gone before us, at the comparatively early age of 65, and such the man whose memory it was now sought to appropriately honour. The brightness of such an example ought not to be allowed to dim whilst it was in the power of so many whom he had cheered and assisted to maintain its brilliancy by perpetuating the frequent recollection of his revered name. Truly, in many places, in many breasts, such recollections will remain even without the aid of monumental record. The lodges he has himself founded, those he has so greatly assisted by his connection with them, the Masonic works with which he has been associated, will all cherish his memory; whilst individual Masons will, as they gain Masonic culture and position, remember him as the original promoter and cause of their zeal and assiduity. But beyond these there are many who have not had the privilege of personal acquaintance, yet have known our lamented brother by repute and the record of his good works; and also others, distinguished as zealous advocates of our Order, and who never lose an opportunity to promote its interests by placing bright examples before its members and bidding them to follow. It is to these three classes, those who knew him, those who have heard of him, and those who would see his like again, that Masonry should now look to preserve his name amongst us, that whilst, as we humbly hope and believe, he is reaping the reward of his good works, in the Grand Lodge above, his words and actions in this life may prove a guiding star to lead others to the same desired haven of peace and salvation. Bro. Stevens concluded by proposing the following resolution, viz., "That this meeting desires to express its sense of the deep loss which Freemasons have sustained by the lamented decease of Bro. John Thomas, P.M. of several lodges, and particularly the brethren of the South of London, to whom he had ever proved a dear friend and genial instructor." This was seconded by Bro. Newington Bridges, W.M. 1216, and carried unanimously.

Bro. H. C. Levander said that he fully endorsed the remarks of Bro. Stevens, and could add his testimony to the merits of the late Bro. Thomas. As, however, a lengthened speech could be but a reiteration of what had been already said, and those merits were so well known by all present, he should dispense with further preface and at once move, "That in order to perpetuate the memory of so good a Mason, a committee be formed for the purpose of raising a fund, the manner of disposal of which shall be hereafter determined by such committee, and of which disposal the subscribers shall have notice."

Bro. the Rev. W. B. Church seconded the motion, which was unanimously agreed to.

It was then determined that the Committee should comprise all brethren then present, with the addition thereto of Bros. Joseph Nunn, P.M. 507; S. C. Davison, and E. H. Hunt, and with power to add further to their number, if considered necessary. The following were selected from the sub-committee for working the details of management, viz., Bros. E. Worthington, J. Stevens, H. C. Levander, Joseph Nunn, C. A. Cottebrune, N. B. Headon, W. V. Bedolfe, W. Mann, Edward Clarke, G. Macdonald, M. S. Larlham, and W. B. Church.

Bro. Stevens proposed, Bro. Clarke seconded, and it was resolved, that the fund shall be called "The Thomas Memorial Fund."

Bro. Levander was elected Treasurer to the fund, and Bro. Joseph Nunn, the Secretary; and it was also resolved that the sub-committee be empowered to incur such expenses and take such steps, as they may deem advisable to give publicity to the undertaking. The meetings of the committee will be held at the Board room of the Surrey Masonic Hall Company. Subscriptions may be sent to the Hon. Treasurer, H. C. Levander, 30, North Villas, Camden Square, N.W., and communications to the Hon. Secretary, Bro. Joseph Nunn, the Triangle, Kennington Road, S.E.

Bro. Worthington, the Chairman, having first proposed that the thanks of the meeting be offered to the Board of General Purposes and the Grand Secretary, for the use of the Board room (which proposition was carried unanimously) expressed his gratification that the purposes of the meeting had been so cordially supported, and his anticipations that the fund proposed to be raised would be in full proportion to the merits of the departed brother.

The subscription list was opened, the whole of the brethren present subscribing thereto, and thanks having been voted to the Chairman, the meeting separated.

THE EMULATION LODGE OF IMPROVEMENT.

This excellent lodge of instruction dates its existence from the 2nd of October, 1823, and so highly were the founders and their mode of working appreciated that in the course of a few months they were joined by a considerable number of eminent brethren, many of whom had frequently assisted in the ceremonies at the Lodge of Reconciliation.* Amongst these latter may be included Bro. Edwards Harper, Grand Secretary, W. Longstaff, P.M. 407, and Peter Gilkes, P.M. 25, the first named brother having been Secretary to the Lodge of Reconciliation, while the two latter may be reckoned amongst the most earnest promulgators of our rites and ceremonies, as practised at that lodge. Bro. Gilkes soon became the Preceptor of the new lodge of instruction, and continued to hold that important office down to the time of his decease.

We believe the oldest member now living is Bro. W. Farnfield, P.A.G.S., who joined the lodge on the 10th of February, 1826, and although of late years he has refrained from taking an active part in the work at the weekly meetings, until prevented by his recent illness he was invariably to be found occupying the venerable post of father of the lodge at its annual Festivals, and we are sure our readers cordially join us in the wish that he may long continue to hold that distinguished position.

We hope at no distant period to present our readers with a more comprehensive history of this old established lodge of instruction, and to furnish them with the names of many other able and zealous brethren, who are entitled to the warmest gratitude of the English Craft for having assisted in preserving and handing down to us our beautiful lectures and ceremonies, with scarcely any variation, since they were first promulgated by the Lodge of Reconciliation. Our present object is to direct the attention of brethren in search of genuine Masonic knowledge (more especially such of them as are desirous of attaining proficiency in the different ceremonies) to the importance of attending this well regulated lodge of instruction. No doubt it will amply suffice for this purpose to give a brief sketch of the system of conducting the business, and the progress of the Lodge during the last few years.

The lodge is under the supervision of the Committee of General Purposes, who are selected from amongst the oldest and most experienced members, one of whom acts as Preceptor at each meeting.

The present committee consists of the following distinguished brethren, whose names are doubtless a sufficient guarantee of good order and regularity:—Bros. John Hervey, P.G.D. and G. Sec.; Thos. Fenn, P.A.G.D.C.; C. A. Murton, P.G.D.; A. A. Richards, P.G.S.; and A. Green, W.M. No. 7, Secretary. Bro. Hervey has filled the office of Treasurer to the Lodge for the last 26 years, during which period he has had the satisfaction of paying to the different Masonic charities from the funds of the Lodge upwards of £600. The ceremony of installation is worked on the first Friday in the month, from October to March inclusive. The number of brethren who joined the lodge in 1870 was 105; in 1871, 112; and in 1872, 116; while the attendance for the same period was as follows—in 1870, 114; in 1871, 133; and in 1872, 157; (exclusive of the large gathering at the annual Festivals, when, as is well known, some two or three hundred brethren assembled), and we doubt not that the close of the current year will show a corresponding degree of prosperity.

* The "Lodge of Reconciliation" was constituted in 1813, in conformity with the Act of Union, and was composed of an equal number of brethren from the two Grand Lodges, for the purpose of effecting an uniformity of working, and arranging the future ceremonies of the Craft. These brethren brought their labours to a close in 1816, when the ceremonies, as proposed by them, received the sanction of the United Grand Lodge.

By command of the R. W. Chief Adept, C. Fitzgerald Matier, 9°, the fraters of the United College of Manchester, Liverpool, and the Northern Counties were summoned, on Saturday last, to the Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool, to assist in forming the M C. There were present R. W. Frater C. F. Matier, 9°, Chief Adept; Fraters G. Turner, 8°, Sub.-Adept; T. Entwistle, 6°, Celebrant; J. Kellett Smith, 7°, Treas. General; G. P. Brockbank, 5°, T. B., as First A.; J. R. Goepel, 4°; T. Clarke, J. Lloyd, &c. The M C was duly formed, after which the minutes were read and confirmed. Ballots were then taken for several aspirants to the grade of Zelator, and the following being in attendance were severally introduced, and, having passed the required tests, were received as fraters of the brotherhood:—T. Ashmore, J. Wood (of Liverpool), T. Wilson (Wigan), R. Harwood and J. W. Taylor (Bolton). The circle was afterwards dissolved, and the fraters adjourned to banquet.

CONSECRATION OF A ROYAL ARCH
CHAPTER AT ANERLEY.

One of those interesting ceremonies that only occur occasionally took place at the Thicket Hotel, Anerley, on Thursday last, when a new chapter—the Stanhope—was consecrated by that veteran amongst Freemasons, Comp. W. Watson, P.M.E.Z., ably assisted by Comp. A. P. Leonard, William Platt, Foxall, and several other companions, all of whom have held the distinguished office of M.E.Z. in other chapters.

The ceremony was performed with that solemnity which always distinguishes the consecrations presided over by Comp. Watson.

The consecration ceremony over, Comp. John Hart, P.M. of the Stanhope Lodge, No. 1269, was installed as M.E.Z., Comp. H. W. Lindens, P.M. Stanhope Lodge, as H., and Comp. Joseph W. Terry, P.M. West Kent Lodge, No. 1297, as J.; Comp. Underhill of the Stanhope Lodge was elected by the companions P.S.

The chapter having been closed in due form the companions adjourned to partake of an excellent banquet, which Comp. Laishman provided with his usual liberality; the pleasures of the evening were enhanced by some excellent singing by the companions, all of whom retired at an early hour, highly gratified with the prospect of success that appears to assist the new chapter.

THE LATE BRO. JOHN THOMAS,
To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir, and Brother,—

A meeting took place at the Board Room of the Grand Lodge on Saturday last to consider the subject of a testimonial to the memory of the late Bro. Thomas.

A committee and sub-committee were formed for the purpose of receiving subscriptions and performing the other duties which necessarily devolve on them.

It is indeed a fact not to be forgotten, especially by South London Freemasons, even amidst the hurry and bustle of life, that a man in many respects remarkable has passed away.

An architect by profession, he was to his professional friends a man of ability and sterling worth, to his neighbours in his general intercourse he was frank and generous, and each during his long residence among them could speak of him in the words of Pope:—

"An honest man close buttoned to the chin, Broad cloth without and a warm heart within."
To the Masonic brother he was however far more, and from his Masonic cradle, he was his friend, to teach him, to guide him, to allure him wisely in the way he should go.

Few who have not known Bro. Thomas with some degree of intimacy can understand the peculiar influence he exerted over all, even to the youngest brother, while his presence and personal influence rarely failed to banish discord, and restore harmony and peace, where, from any cause it had been disturbed. It is also most certain that amongst the hundreds and thousands to whom, in his long career he has been instructor and friend no one has ever been known to express other than feelings of love and devotion, those feelings they still retain, and still, as a dear possession,

"Treasure the looks they cannot find,
The words that are not heard again."

Yet it is not merely as a friend and teacher that Bro. Thomas will be remembered. To some of the more thoughtful he will be endeared as the traditional Masonic historian "par excellence" of his day.

Freemasons are often asked for some proofs of the antiquity to which they lay claim. Like all other municipal institutions, Freemasonry has a Roman origin, and although actual Roman institutions have been traditionally handed down almost to our day, or, as institutions, still exist, yet there is confessedly a difficulty in bridging over the gap which connects the Freemason of to-day with the quasi Masonic Institutions of former times. When, however, men, like our deceased friend, devote 30 years of life to its teachings, we can readily understand how a few such men in succession may bridge over a very long period of time, and hence how in times of ignorance and neglect it has come down through the highways and byeways of history.

How feelingly and lovingly does Sir Walter Scott describe his "Old Mortality" as consecrating his life to the memory and history of those he held dear, and who indeed was a greater "Old Mortality" than Sir Walter Scott himself? Guizot, in referring to this very creation of our unrivalled novelist, declares that it is by such means chiefly that the history of past times has descended to our day. "We have heard with our ears, and our fathers have told us" is even in the bible the seal of truth. How deeply interesting indeed would be a book written on such men, of whom we may consider Bro. Thomas as a type, and we rejoiced that he has raised up a school not likely readily to forget either his practice or his doctrines. Of this great truth the first testimonial meeting at the Grand Lodge gave evidence.

"SPIRITUALISM."

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Although the columns of The Freemason do not seem to be exactly the locality wherein to seek a discussion on what is known as "spiritualism," still as the subject has been partly ventilated there, may I trespass on your space with a few remarks.

I have been interested in the matter for some years, and have had various opportunities of investigating the alleged phenomena. In the course of my examination, I have met with quite enough to restrain me from endorsing the assertion that what is known as Spiritualism is either a delusion or an imposture.

So much for my personal experience, which, as I put it, must be taken as at least "negative evidence." Looking at the subject generally, and knowing what is stated of many of the phenomena, and by whom, I see no rational conclusion than that those phenomena are proved facts.

Much of the confusion that exists in judging of this, as of other matters, arises probably from ignoring the distinction between two kinds of evidence, the direct, and the secondary description.

When our Bro. Carpenter asserts that his belief in the phenomena is based upon what has spontaneously occurred in his own residence, no one being present but his wife and himself, the evidence he tenders is both direct and secondary, direct as regards himself, and in consequence he knows the facts to be true, secondary as received by others, and valued by them in proportion to their belief in his veracity and power of impartial judgment.

In every-day life we are compelled to accept and act on secondary evidence. For example. If two men walking in the street see a third man steal a purse, and he be given into custody, they know him to be the thief, but the magistrate who sentences him to the punishment provided for the offence, does so because he believes him to be guilty on the statement of those who were witnesses to the act. Bearing in mind the number, character and capabilities of those who have come forward to attest of their own knowledge the genuineness of what are called spiritual phenomena, if we deliberately reject their accumulated testimony and ascribe the facts they affirm to be true, to either delusion or deceit, I would like to learn on what principle we should accept any secondary evidence on any subject, and I would suggest to the rejectors that logically carried out, their scepticism would apply to subjects that possibly they might consider it profanity to doubt.

Bro. Buchan, in last week's number, deals very fairly with the subject, basing his argument on his own personal experience. I for one would prefer explaining admitted facts by known laws, but if all the facts stated by spiritualists be true, I see no theory but that of spiritualism to cover them all.

It is a very different thing for clever illusionists to imitate phenomena under circumstances provided by themselves, and for a medium to produce those phenomena, in a strange locality, under test conditions, and surrounded by watchful and suspicious sceptics. Professional media are almost always regarded with suspicion, and it is probably better that it should be so. If their powers are real, test conditions will help to prove their reality, if they assist the phenomena designedly, the sooner they are found out the better for the cause of truth, and the less likely others may follow the example.

I say nothing now of the teachings of Spiritualism, in their detail. One serious objection to "Circle Sitting," is the avidity with which some inquirers seem to take in as gospel truth, any statement purporting to come from spiritsources, apparently forgetting both the precept "Believe not every spirit, but try the spirits," and the assertion, "that in the last days some shall depart giving heed to seducing spirits." The spiritual theory of future existence, rightly understood, seems to be both philosophical and rational, which is more than can be said of some of the teachings of "Orthodoxy" as expounded by the Churches.

In conclusion, I may allude to the fact well known to those interested in the subject, that what is called "Spiritualism" in one shape or other, is making great progress in general society. Few "outsiders" have any notion of the extent to which it has become acclimatized within the last few years, and some of these fine days when the clergy wake up, and possibly find it their duty to preach down the heresy, they will be somewhat startled to find how much it has undermined their "cut and dry" theology.

With all the rubbish associated with its investigation, and encumbered though it be with tremendous proportion of "twaddle" and nonsense, there is something in it that seems to commend it to the spirit of the age, and it would be well if those who assume to be the teachers of the people, would do their duty by honestly investigating it, and endeavouring to separate the wheat from the chaff in the phenomena and their inferences.

Fraternally yours,

JOSEPH H. WOODWORTH.

THE PHILADELPHIA MASONIC TEMPLE.

We called attention in our last impression to the new Masonic Temple, erected in Philadelphia, by our Pennsylvanian brethren, and as the subject is still fresh in our memories, and it may interest our English brotherhood to realise what is going on in America in our common Craft, we have thought it well to recur to the subject to-day. We have been favoured, moreover, by a brother in England, with the detailed account of the building, which follows, and which we feel persuaded will be gladly perused by all those who, like ourselves, ever feel that Masonry is both one and universal, and that what affects and advances the Order in America, must also affect and advance it amongst us in this great home of pure and true Masonry.

We give, then, the following extract from the New York Weekly Herald, in extenso, as we think that any pruning of its flowing words would only serve to weaken instead of strengthening the general description, and we wish our brethren to receive their impressions of this great and genuine American enterprise from a purely American source.

All we can do is to wish sincerely all prosperity to the new Masonic Temple, and to those who shall from time to time perpetuate our mysteries or carry out our kindly teachings amid the graceful and gorgeous halls of this great Masonic Temple.

To use the words of an ancient formulary, "May the blessing of the Great Architect of the Universe rest upon all the assemblies of Freemasons, within those consecrated walls, and on all the regular meetings of Freemasons throughout the world."

"The Masonic brotherhood of the Quaker City are making extraordinary preparations for the dedication of their magnificent temple in Broad-street. Invitations have been extended to every lodge throughout the country, and many delegates are expected from France, Germany, and England.

The jubilee attending its completion will commence on the 25th of September, and will be kept up until the evening of the 27th.

"The dedicatory ceremonies will be conducted by the Grand Master of the State of Pennsylvania, assisted by the Masters and subordinates of other lodges, and it is estimated that 100,000 members of the mystic tie will participate in the festivities.

"The temple is now in an advanced state of completion, and from its immense size and imposing style of architecture is one of the most conspicuous public buildings in the city. Much has been said by New Yorkers and Bostonians in praise of their respective Masonic temples, but it is now generally conceded that the Philadelphia structure far surpasses, both as respects size, cost, and beauty. It will make two of that at Boston, and is a third larger than the temple in Sixth avenue and Twenty-third-street. It is of such an immense size, and is filled with so many lodge, chapter, and commandery rooms, that to those uninitiated it is almost a labyrinth. As it has never been fully described, a running sketch may not be amiss, as it gives evidence that the Masons throughout the country are on the high road to prosperity, and as a brotherhood are marching on in irrepressible phalanxes to success. It is composed entirely of finely-dressed granite of a whitish lead-coloured tint, is 250 feet in length, is 150 feet wide, and is three lofty stories in height. The ground upon which it is built, in Broad-street, near Market, together with the structure, cost upwards of twelve hundred thousand dollars.

"The architecture of the building is a combination of the old and new schools admirably blended, and is pleasing to the eye. Its three unique towers, reaching heavenward, can be seen from the four quarters of the compass, and are as conspicuous landmarks to the Philadelphians as the Herald building is to those of the Long Island and Jersey shores. The inner masonry alone involved the consumption of 10,000,000 bricks, and the number of cubic feet of granite in the outer walls, if known, would probably to the reader seem fabulous.

"The main entrance, in Broad-street, is of the Venetian style of architecture, and resembles perfectly the doorway to St. Mark's, at Venice. Once inside, the magnitude and beauty of the edifice becomes apparent. Broad and massive stairways, richly carved pillars, and heavy and peculiarly shaped doors and cornices of the Norman and Gothic pattern, with carved Masonic cabalistic signs in each, afford to the uninitiated unlimited sources of wonder and conjecture.

"The main hall upon entering is twenty feet wide from end to end, and 250 feet in length. The floors of this hall and of all the halls and passages on both this and the principal floor above are laid with black and white marble tiles, in patterns, with borders, and there is a continuous wainscoting, four feet in height, of the finest Lisbon marble, highly polished, to the various halls.

"Two magnificent stairways lead to the Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter-rooms, lodge halls, and the asylum of the Commandery. The Grand Secretary's and Grand Treasurer's, and the Grand Lodge library, and numerous other offices are situated on the right and southern side of the main hall. Walking to the north-east corner of the structure, the suite of rooms of the Grand Master of Masons of Pennsylvania is encountered. They are three in number, and consist of a reception, private Secretary's, and his own room, all of which are elaborately fitted up, and would charm Solomon himself, could he but once have an opportunity of reclining in one of the richly carved divans and surveying the architect's and masons' handiwork.

"Among the numerous apartments none attract more attention than the Egyptian Hall. It is a marvel of massive grandeur and solidity, with twelve elephantine columns extending around the hall, and are fac-similes of those in the principal temples on the Nile. Each of the walls of the hall is divided by columns, which stand clear of it, into five sections, all of which are enriched with panel decorations, consisting of variegated borders. The Master is well provided for in this hall, as his throne or chair is of the richest and most imposing description. His pedestal, contrary to the conventional Masonic rule, is placed at the right of the throne, thus giving him an unobstructed view of his brethren. It is flanked on either side by two mysterious looking Sphynxes, who gaze with a solemn air of authority upon the surroundings. This hall has a seating capacity for 250 persons.

"Wandering around among the labyrinthian passages of this huge pile of mortar a curiously carved door, with symbolic decorations, is met in the north-east corner of the principal floor. Once thrown open the interior of the Norman Hall is visible. This is a large apartment, richly wainscotted, and is furnished with quaint and substantial styles of furniture. It is well ventilated, and has accommodation for over one hundred persons.

"Not a great distance from this is the Ionic Hall. Its style is pure, graceful and elegant, but unelaborate. Its natural ventilation is perfect, by its exposure on two sides by numerous windows to the open air. Its furniture is composed exclusively of wood, and the beauty of the room is further enhanced by twenty odd marble columns, carved and plain, which extend around its walls. It is seventy-five feet long by fifty feet wide, and is thirty feet high.

"Next in dimensions and beauty of design is the banqueting hall, on the north side of the structure. This hall is 150 feet in length, by 50 feet in breadth, and will seat comfortably upwards of five hundred persons. It will be used during the dedicatory ceremonies, and is now being rapidly overhauled. The sixteen unique columns that stretch through it in pairs give it a grand aspect, and when its heavily carved tables groan beneath the bountiful repast that will be spread for the distinguished guests, and its immense chandeliers are illumined, it will show off to greater advantage. The cuisine department of this hall is located in the basement beneath, and for size and appointments will compare favourably with the largest hotels in the country.

"Next in point of interest to the body Masonic as well as the stranger, is the Grand Lodge Hall. Every feature of this large chamber is of interest, from its massive columns down to the heavily tiled floor of marble. Its architectural style throughout is purely Corinthian, the distinguishing feature of which is the deep and polished capital, together with a larger cornice than is observed in the other orders. Its dimensions are in keeping with the purposes for which it was designed, its length being 107 feet, height 50 feet, and width 51 feet. The ventilation and light are admirable. The furniture will be rich, and will consist of walnut and cedar chairs, divans, &c., covered with blue velvet. The facades of the east and west of the chamber are decorated with ornaments representing vessels of corn, wine and oil, and over the grand east, standing out in bold relief, is the inevitable square and compass. Over the grand south and grand west is the sun at high noon and shedding his parting rays at eventide.

"Another and beautiful feature of the Temple is the Asylum of Commanderies, which is located at the east end of the principal floor. It is of the Gothic style of architecture, and is, without a doubt, one of the handsomest apartments in the Temple. It is reached by two stairways, which lead to a vestibule, where are placed fountains, which will flow ice water in its season. The Gothic Hall, the Red Cross or Council Chamber, the central main hall, north-west hall, regalia room, oriental hall, and the Grand Lodge library, are splendidly arranged apartments, both as regards size, fitting up and their styles of architecture. They will soon be thrown open to the public, and then will remain closed until the grand event, (the dedication) rolls round.

"On the evening of September 25th there will be a grand Templar tourney in the Temple, and the Grand Lodge banquet will come off on the 26th."

LAYING THE FOUNDATION STONE OF ST. MARKS CHURCH, SOUTH SHIELDS.

On Monday, 18th September, the interesting ceremony of laying the corner stone of a new church in the recently constituted district of St Mark's, South Shields, took place in presence of a large concourse of people, and the fact that permission had been obtained from the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, Bro. John Fawcett, to lay the stone with complete Masonic ceremony, invested the event with more than ordinary interest and importance.

The district of St. Mark's was constituted by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners in February last, previous to which time the large and powerful neighbourhood embracing Green Street, St. Cuthbert Street, and the many thickly inhabited thoroughfares situated to the South of them, were included in the district of Holy Trinity.

The present incumbent, the Rev. D. W. Evans, took charge of the district in 1868, at which time the congregation worshipped in a small upper room above two cottages in Cambridge-street, where mission services had been commenced a short while previously. Mr. Evans soon made himself acquainted with the district, and finding an extensive field of some 3,000 people in which to labour, he resolved upon increasing his opportunities of ministering to the spiritual welfare of the district by providing a more accessible and comfortable place in which to hold service.

After considerable exertions, he was enabled to erect an elegant iron church on some vacant ground near Victoria Street; and subsequently he added to the church a comfortable little infant school.

The school accommodation in the neighbourhood was defective, and in order to utilise the available erections for educational purposes, the church was also used as a day school during the week.

The success which had thus far rewarded the Rev. Mr. Evan's untiring zeal induced him to promote the scheme of having erected a substantial church suitable in all respects to the requirements of that part of the borough. The movement met with a hearty response, the Rev. R. Green generously offered a suitable site, close to the iron church, valued at £500, and the Ecclesiastical Commissioners also contributed liberally.

The plans of the proposed church were prepared by Messrs. Robert Clark and Son, Nottingham, who designed the edifice to accommodate 500 people, the building being in the early decorated style of architecture. The total cost of the erection is estimated at £4,000, towards which £3,000 has been already raised. The contract for the building has been entrusted to Mr. Edmund Suddards, builder, South Shields.

The Rev. D. Evans, being a member of the mystic brotherhood, solicited to have the stone of his new church laid according to the rites and customs of the ancient Order, and to this request the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, Bro. John Fawcett, gave a willing consent, and called a special meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Durham, to be held in the Mechanics' Hall, South Shields, in order to enable the brethren of the province to lay the stone in due Masonic formula.

When it was known that the ceremony was likely to be of so imposing a nature, no small amount of interest was manifested by the people of the district, and great anxiety was felt respecting the chances of the day proving favourable or otherwise. Fortunately, however, the weather was, in spite of the strong wind that blew from the north-west, on the whole exceedingly favourable.

The Provincial Grand Lodge assembled in the Mechanic's Hall, Ocean Road, at one o'clock, the chair being occupied by R.W. Bro. Sir Hedworth Williamson, Bart., M.P., D.P.G.M., who was appointed Acting Provincial Grand Master, in the absence of Bro. John Fawcett, Esq., R.W.P.G.M., who was fulfilling a prior engagement with Lord De Tabley, R.W.P.G.M. of Cheshire.

The lodge having been opened in due form, the officers and brethren formed themselves into procession, and marched up King Street, across the Market Square, and round by the Station Bank, to the site of the new church.

The entire route of the procession was lined with spectators, and many of the tradespeople, in honour of the occasion, added to the effect by displaying flags, banners, and bunting from their premises, and at two or three more prominent points in the route streamers of bunting were stretched across the street.

At the neighbourhood of the stone, and within the spacious enclosure, there were immense numbers of people gathered. Within the enclosed space there would not be less than 2,000 ladies and gentlemen; but though the crowds were so great, perfect order was maintained, a posse of the borough force, under Mr. Superintendent Richardson, assisting in preventing the people from crowding too near the stone.

Among the clergy and the general public at the stone were:—Rev. D. Evans, R. Green, G. E. Sharland, W. Ede, H. Morton, E. L. Butcher, T. N. Roberts, P. H. Moor, Dr. Hoopdell, John Coulson, M. Graham, J. J. Taylor, A. A. Philpotts, A. Dyce, W. Bulmer, J. Cator, J. Battle, W. B. Houldey, W. Bennet, Edwin Jones, H. O. Sterland, John King, Charles Green, Henry Bishop, W. Wilson, H. S. Hicks, G. E. Greak, J. Bee, J. Hooper, J. J. Day, T. Featherstone, James Sunter, and the Mayor and Mayoress (Mr. Ald. and Mrs. T. Glover), Mr. J. M. Moor (Town Clerk), and Mrs. Moor, George Elliott, Esq., M.P., Mr. J. White. On arriving at the enclosure within which the imposing and interesting ceremony was to be performed, the brethren of the Mystic Craft opened to the right and left, making an avenue up which the acting Provincial Grand Master passed, preceded by the P.G. Sword Bearer and the other Provincial Grand Officers. The Provincial Grand Master having taken up his proper position beside the corner stone to be laid with such ceremonial, the proceedings proper were inaugurated by St. Mark's choir singing the "Old Hundred" in a very impressive manner. Bro. Rev. Robert Green then stepped forward and presented the trowel—which was of richly chased silver, and mounted in a fine ivory handle—to the Right Worshipful Bro. Sir Hedworth Williamson, Bart., M.P. In doing so, the Rev. Brother said he had to thank Sir Hedworth Williamson and the brethren of the ancient Craft for their presence. The trowel bore the following inscription:—"Presented to Sir Hedworth Williamson, Bart., M.P. on the occasion of his laying the foundation-stone of St. Mark's Church, South Shields, Sept. 18, 1873." The upper and lower stones having been previously prepared, the upper one was raised, and the Provincial Grand Chaplain (Bro. Rev. C. D. Trotter, P.M.), delivered up an appropriate prayer, on the conclusion of which Bro. W. H. Crookes, P. G. Secretary, read the following inscription on the brass plate which was deposited in the stone:—"St. Mark's Church, South Shields. To the eternal glory of God, the Great Architect of the Universe, and in the faith of Jesus Christ, the corner stone of the above Church was laid with the formalities of Craft Masonry, by Bro. Sir Hedworth Williamson, Bart., M.P., D.P.G. M., on the 18th day Sept., A.L. 5873, A.D. 1873, and 37th year of the reign of Queen Victoria. Charles Baring, D.D., Bishop of Durham; Rev. David Evans, first incumbent; Rev. Robert Green, donor of site; Robert Clark and Son, Nottingham, architects; Edmund Suddards, South Shields, builder." This was followed by the Provincial Grand Master commanding Bro. G. W. White, P.M. 240, acting P.G. Treasurer, to deposit the phial, containing various coins, and also copies of that morning's daily papers, &c., in the cavity of the lower stone, over which the plate above mentioned was placed. These formalities having been duly performed, the two stones were then duly adjusted and cemented together, the band the while performing with great solemnity "To Thee, O Lord." The acting Provincial Grand Master having, according to the formula of the Order, proved the stone properly adjusted by the plumb rule, level, and square, he declared the stone duly laid. The ancient ceremony of pouring corn, wine, and oil over the stone was then duly performed by Bro. Sir Hedworth Williamson, who said as he did so "I strew this stone with corn, I strew this stone with wine, I strew this stone with oil." The Provincial Grand Chaplain offered up another prayer, at the close of which the acting Provincial Grand Master inspected and approved of the plans of the new building, and formally handed them to the architect for his guidance. The elaborate and highly interesting ceremonial having been thus duly and most satisfactorily performed, Sir Hedworth Williamson, Bart., M. P., mounted the stone amid great cheering, and said: If even custom did not require him to offer a few remarks upon the successful conclusion of that very interesting ceremony, common courtesy would require him to thank the numerous assembly for their attendance there that day. He was sure that he echoed the sentiments of all the brethren who had assisted him during the ceremony, and also the wishes of the public generally, when he hoped that the beginning ceremony in connection with the erection of St Mark's Church was but an omen of its future career. The object of the church was to alleviate the spiritual want there was in that increasing district—a want that must be felt in all increasing labouring populations, such as were found in populous manufacturing towns like South Shields; and it must be gratifying to all present, as it had been to himself, to be present to assist Bro. Rev. D. Evans, the first incumbent of the district, in so noble and good a work; but when that work is allied to one through their Fraternity an additional feeling of gratification was felt. As all the brethren of the Craft were aware, in their Order they allowed of no difference or distinction as regards religious opinions. Within their lodges no such difference existed, but all thoughts and such causes of discord were banished, and it would be well if the different Christian sects in England would take a lesson from the humble brethren of the Masonic Craft. The erection of the church was to relieve a want now being felt in Shields, and in no way could the principle of Masonry be carried out in a better or nobler way than in inaugurating a building to be devoted to the worship of the Great Architect of the Universe, whom all, whether brother Masons or not, are bound to reverence and adore, and before whose presence they all must soon appear. The R.W. P.G. Master concluded by calling upon the brethren to exercise one great principle of the order—viz., charity—by their contributions to the building fund. A collection was then taken at the stone, amounting to £58, after which the brethren re-formed in procession, and marched back to the Mechanics' Hall, where the Provincial Grand Lodge was closed in due form.

In the afternoon a public banquet was held at the Golden Lion Hotel (Mr. Burtchby's), King street, South Shields, where upwards of 200 ladies and gentlemen sat down to a sumptuous repast. The chair was occupied by Sir Hedworth Williamson, Bart., M.P., who was supported on the right by Mr. George Elliot, M.P., Mrs. Evans, Mr. M. Palmer, Mr. Ald. Glover, the Mayor of South Shields, &c.; and on the left by the Rev. Robert Green, Mr. J. C. Stevenson, M.P., Mrs. Bennet, Miss Bennet, Mr. A. Clint, Liverpool, Mr. Wm. Anderson, J.P., Mr. John Green, Dr. Robson, &c. Among others present were the clergy and brethren who were present at the laying of the foundation-stone.

The Chairman gave "The Queen and the Prince and Princess of Wales and the rest of the Royal Family."

Mr. F. A. Clint next gave "The Bishop and Clergy of all Denominations," and in doing so paid a well-deserved compliment to the perseverance and zealous labours of the Rev. D. Evans, to whose energy it was due that they had laid the foundation-stone of St. Mark's that day.

The Rev. Robert Green, who was cordially received, responded.

The Chairman proposed "The Army, Navy, and the Volunteers," and in doing so said that it was customary to say that the army had done its duty in the past, and would do so in the future; but during the past few days a small war had sprung up which he was afraid would tax the energies and the patience of their gallant soldiers, and a war in which the gallant soldiers could get little or no glory. Yet the war, though small, would have to be carried out, because no insult to the British flag could be allowed to pass unnoticed. They would all hope that the war would be short and successful, and he was sure that the brave men had the sympathies of all Englishmen in the trials they would have to endure in the pestilential climate they had gone to.

Lieut. Col. Palmer, in rising to respond, was warmly received. He said that he had for some years made navy vessels a peculiar study, and whenever he had an opportunity he visited vessels of war to whichever navy they belonged, and he could certainly say that the British navy was not only second to none, but was superior to any. (Hear, hear, and applause.) With respect to the war in which they had embarked, he could say that in spite of the very unhealthy climate the soldiers had to encounter, the officers and men were volunteering to go and defend the honour of the British flag—(hear, hear, and applause)—and determined that the flag should come out triumphantly. After referring to the increasing efficiency of the volunteers, the gallant Colonel again thanked the company for the honour they had done him.

Mr. Wallis, briefly and in complimentary terms, proposed "The Health of the Rev. D. Evans, incumbent of St. Mark's," which was received with applause.

The Rev. D. Evans responded in suitable terms, and thanked the people for the support they had given him, and thanked his Masonic brethren for their presence and assistance.

Mr. W. Anderson proposed "The County and Borough Members."

Mr. G. Elliot, M.P., who was warmly cheered, after thanking the company for his enthusiastic reception, said that though he was too late to join in the Masonic procession, he had taken the opportunity to visit the vicinity where it was intended to erect the very handsome church, and he was so convinced of the great necessity for such a work being carried out that he felt greatly impelled to say to Mr. Evans, "You may add £100 to my subscription." (Applause.) He thought that Mr. Evans's great success was due in no small measure to the fact that he had combined the education of the young with his other work. (Applause.) He hoped that within twelve months the noble church would be completed. One thing he felt convinced, it would not be stopped for want of money. If more were wanted, their friends need not hesitate to appeal again to him. (Applause.) Having referred to the arduous duties of a member of the House of Commons, he said he always tried to do his duty to his constituents. (Applause.)

Major J. C. Stevenson, M.P., who was loudly applauded, briefly responded, and paid a high compliment to the zealousness and industry of the Rev. Mr. Evans, and mentioned the pleasure he had in assisting the rev. gentleman in his negotiations with the Ecclesiastical Commissioners.

Several other toasts followed, and in the evening a grand concert was held in the Mechanics' Hall, South Shields, where there was a numerous company, the chair being occupied by Mr. J. C. Stevenson, M.P. The choirs of St. Mark's and the principal members of the choir of Durham Cathedral took part in the concert.

HISTORICAL NOTES ON SCOTCH LODGES.—No. I.

In accordance with a custom inaugurated by Mother Kilwinning towards the end of the 17th century, and followed in after years by other lodges, Glasgow Kilwinning began at a very early stage of its existence to grant commissions to make Masons. The following is a copy of a letter of authority to work in Edinburgh:—

"Dearly beloved brother,—Your letter to us of the 30th of last April, praying for a power to receive and admit Masons and members of Glasgow Kilwinning, being read at our monthly meeting of May, it was unanimously resolved to comply with your request. In consequence of which resolution you are vested with power, privilege, and authority from us, as we do hereby give you full power, privilege, and authority to receive and admit all such of a worthy and honest character as shall apply to you to be received and admitted members of Glasgow Kilwinning; and this we authorise you to do, though at a distance from our lodge. Provided always and with this restriction that no brother or brethren shall be admitted or received under the name of Glasgow Kilwinning till he or they shall pay the sum of twenty seven shillings and six pence sterling, as the ordinary and usual charge stipulated and appointed by our rules and regulations as the expense to be paid by every brother who shall be admitted. At same time, you are required pointedly and exactly to make remittance of such sums of money as you shall receive for the admission of a member or members, and that per first post or other opportunity after such admission or admissions, and you are at the same time to send the name and designation of every new brother, with the date of his admission, so as he may be enrolled in our books. As we are well convinced of your abilities, we think it noways necessary to putt you in mind of charges and instructions to be given the young intrants. Wee therefore only add that we wish you, as a dear brother, all spiritual and temporal blessings in Chryst Jesus our Lord. Amen. These presents, retaining a power at our pleasure to revoke and repeal them, are given at our Lodge of Glasgow Kilwinning, and sign'd and seal'd with our seals, the 23rd of July, in the year of our Lord, 1741, and of Masonry 5741. Sic. Subr., George Murdoch, Glasgow Kilwinning, William Clark, S.W.; Jno. Hamilton, p. J.W. To our worthy and well beloved brother John Cumming."

In 1817 a member residing in Hamburg reported that with the assistance of some German Masons he had entered two Scotchmen to Glasgow Kilwinning. The lodge indorsed the act, and instructed the brother to be careful to remit the entry-money of any future intrant he should admit.

There are in connection with the College THREE ANNUAL EXHIBITIONS,

open for general competition to all students, and tenable for three years.

Special Classes are formed for preparing students for the Legal, Medical, Home, Colonial, and Indian Civil Service Examinations; and for entrance to Woolwich, Coopers-hill, and the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, Dublin, Durham, and Edinburgh.

The Religious Teaching is based on strictly Protestant Principles, in accordance with the Doctrines and Liturgy of the Church of England.

Students requiring a commercial education only, are exempt from the classical course, if desired.

The year consists of two terms, during which there are no holidays, the only vacations being at Midsummer and Christmas.

The use of all class books, valuable library, stationery (except mathematical instruments) laundry, &c., is included in the terms. No Extras of any kind.

The High School—Students from 16 to 23 years of age.

The Middle School—Students from 12 to 16 years of age.

The Preparatory School—Students under 12 years of age.

The College is divided into three sections. In the PREPARATORY SCHOOL

(entirely distinct, but contiguous)

Boys are well grounded in the elements of a sound English Education, with French and German (also in Latin and Greek if for the learned professions), and prepared for the High or Middle School. In the High School the course of study is a preparation for the Universities and the various competitive examinations; while the Middle School trains pupils in such subjects as will qualify them for scientific and commercial pursuits.

Alston College is pleasantly situated, about six miles from Preston, and half a mile from Longridge Railway Station; is in immediate proximity to beautiful mountain scenery, within half an hour's ride of the chief watering places on the western coast of Lancashire, and is considered by Medical Professors to be in one of the healthiest localities in England—a fact sufficiently proved by the remarkably good health enjoyed by the students and regularly confirmed by the half-yearly medical reports.

Extensive Cricket Grounds are attached to the College Farms, whilst a spacious covered Gymnasium and Student's Hall, available for recreation, drill, &c., adjoin.

MR. GEORGE CLIFFORD, Secretary.

References kindly permitted to Bro. Masons, and to the late Examiners: Rev. T. H. Lindsay Leary, M.A., D.C.L. (Oxon), Assistant Examiner to Her Majesty's Civil Service Commission, Crawford Cottage, Epsom; T. W. Eyre Evans, Esq., LL.D., T.C.D., Nightingale Villa, Lower Norwood; and other University Examiners; Professor Pagel, Liverpool; R. Routledge, Esq., B.S.F.C.S., Manchester; also the Protestant Clergy, Nobility, and Professional Gentlemen (parents of present pupils) in London, Manchester, Liverpool, Birmingham, Leeds, Bradford, Bognor, Preston, Buncley, Chester, Lancaster, Boston (Lincoln), Wigan, Harrogate, Accrington, Haslingden, Kendal, Southport, Todmorden, &c., and various other towns; the Continent of Europe, the colonies, New York, and the United States, Brazil, Cuba, &c., who can bear ample testimony to the merits and success of this College.

Next term commences the 7th August, 1873.

CROSBY'S BALSAMIC

COUGH ELIXIR.

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS AND AIR-VESSELS.

CROSBY'S BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR.

Opiates, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief in Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling the digestive organs, and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy.

Dr. Rooke, Scarborough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdues cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease."

This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Night Sweats of Consumption, Quinsey, and all affections of the throat and chest.

Invalids should read Crosby's Prize Treatise on "Diseases of the Lungs and Air-Vessels," a copy of which can be had Gratis of all Chemists.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

This is well described on the title page as "A Comprehensive Masonic Book of Reference." The details furnished are useful and abundant, and are well-arranged in a small compass.—City Press.

Among the "class" Pocket-book Almanacs, the "Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar" is very complete and convenient of its kind.—Echo.

This is a comprehensive work of reference, which is arranged as a pocket-book, and contains in addition to a diary, lists of lodges in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, America, &c, together with particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the world.—Lloyd's Weekly London News.

It contains lists of lodges in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, and Italy, together with particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the globe—certainly a remarkable array.—Bulder.

A handy pocket-book and diary, containing in addition to the ordinary information, all that the members of the Craft are likely to require in the way of particulars respecting all matters connected with the Masonic body.—City Press.

The book is a comprehensive Masonic book of reference. It contains full lists of Masonic Lodges in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, &c. It further gives full particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the globe. It is of convenient size, and forms a handy pocket-book. The Masonic information is given in a very complete manner. No doubt the book will be welcomed by every English-reading Mason.—Jewish Chronicle.

A pocket-book which is a mystery to the uninitiated, but which every Mason no doubt ought to have.—Christian Family.

It contains some 300 pages of closely-printed matter, giving lists of lodges in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, the United States, India, and the Colonies. It gives full particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the world, and is a marvellous book to those who have no distinct impression of the magnitude of the Fraternity of Masons. This pocket diary is a most comprehensive Masonic book of reference and is to be had in simple binding for two shillings.—Overland Mail.

We have received from Mr. George Kenning, 198, Fleet-street, a copy of this neat little volume, which we commend as a pocket-companion to the Brotherhood of the "mystic tie."—The Cosmopolitan.

Mr. George Kenning, 2, Monument-place, has just published his Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar and Pocket-book. It is a comprehensive book of reference on Masonic matters for the United Kingdom, and also for foreign countries. It will be invaluable to every Freemason both at home and abroad.—Liverpool Daily Post.

It appears to be well and carefully compiled, is crammed with Masonic information, and is a neat little pocket volume.—South Durham Herald.

We have received a copy of the "Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar and Pocket Book, for 1873," which is a very comprehensive book of reference, specially prepared for all connected with the various orders of Freemasonry. We may state that the book contains a list of lodges in the united Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, &c., with full particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the globe, in the compilation of which great care and labour must have been bestowed, and it cannot fail in being highly appreciated by every member of the ancient order. The publication contains 282 pages of neatly printed matter, with almanack and calendar, is gilt edged, neatly bound, and altogether a marvel of its kind. The publisher is Mr. George Kenning of Fleet-street, London, and No. 2, Monument-place, Liverpool, from whom the work will be forwarded to any address, post free 2s. 2d.—Southport News.

Bro. George Kenning has just issued the "Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar," and we are pleased to find it is in every sense well worthy of the name. The little book is full of interesting and valuable information relating to the progress of the Craft all over the globe, and contains an accurate list of all the lodges, chapters, encampments, &c., in Great Britain and Ireland, as also a mass of general Masonic intelligence from the various Foreign Grand Bodies. Although the Calendar contains 282 pages of closely printed matter, it is published at the nominal price of two shillings per copy.—Cornish Weekly News.

Into the compass of an ordinary pocket-book the compiler of this work has managed to compress a vast fund of information concerning the Masonic Orders. As a pocket book it is equal to any other, and has a good blank diary. In the details concerning the Craft we find lists of all the Lodges in the United Kingdom; the officers of the United Grand Lodge; and a variety of matters giving the official state of the Masonic Orders in all parts of the world. Every Mason who uses a pocket book should purchase this.—Ipswich Journal.

A convenient and handy pocket book of nearly 300 pages. Independent of its special interest to Masons, it gives an insight into the magnitude of the Masonic fraternity, which will astonish those who have never thought upon the question. The calendar is a most comprehensive Masonic book of reference, and invaluable to every English Mason.—Leigh Chronicle.

We are greatly indebted to Bro. Geo. Kenning, of No. 198 Fleet-street, London, for a copy of the Cosmopolitan Calendar for 1873, being a comprehensive book of reference for every Masonic body in the world. This work may be had on addressing the publisher, the price being 2s. 3d., sterling, post paid.—New York Dispatch.

We have a copy of this work, through the kindness of the publisher, Bro. George Kenning, of London, England. It is a most comprehensive book of reference, embracing all the lodges in Great Britain, Ireland, and the Continent, with particulars of every Grand Masonic body in the world. There is a mass of statistical information to be found within its 288 pages.—Mackay's National Freemason.

We are under fraternal obligations to Bro. George Kenning, of No. 198, Fleet-street, London, for a copy of his admirable Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar. It contains full particulars of every Grand Masonic Body throughout the globe, besides a diary for the whole year.—Keystone.

We are indebted to the publishers of the London Freemason for a copy of the "Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar," being a comprehensive Masonic book of reference. It is a work that has been compiled with a great amount of care, and is indeed a valuable work, and no Masonic library is complete without a copy. It contains a list of all the lodges in Great Britain, France, Germany, and Italy, together with full particulars of every Grand Masonic body throughout the globe. It is a valuable book of reference, and such a one as would be advantageous to any Mason, wherever he might be located.—Loomis's Masonic and Musical Service.

A comprehensive and compact almanack, pocket book, and directory of masonic information. In addition to the usual attributes of a pocket book, it contains lists of Lodges, of officers, and of chapters, encampments, and conclaves, not only in the United Kingdom, but throughout the world.—Northern Echo, Darlington.

We have much pleasure in calling attention to this useful little pocket-book, which contains valuable information and intelligence concerning matters Masonic, which must be greatly prized by "the brethren of the mystic tie." To the outside world, amongst whom we are content to number ourselves, the compendium before us indicates the universality of a benevolent Institution, which, with its numerous ramifications, orders, and degrees, is spread over the whole face of the globe, and which if it does not perform all the good which its supporters assert, merits some degree of consideration from the number of eminent men who we find ranged under its banners. We are told that no true Freemason can be a bigot, and we should say, though we are of course open to correction, that every Freemason must perforce be a liberal; and yet the non-political character of the body in this country, is amply exemplified by the names of the principal office bearers—for whilst we see that the Marquess of Ripon occupies the important position of Grand Master of England, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales is described as a Past Grand Master (though we believe, he never accepted the office of Grand Master); and the Earl of Carnarvon occupies the second place in the Craft, that of Deputy Grand Master; and Sir Albert Woods, Garter King at Arms, is appropriately placed as Grand Director of Ceremonies.—Essex Standard.

LAST APPLICATION.
OCTOBER ELECTION, 1873.
ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

The generous support and influence of the Governors and Subscribers to the above Institution is earnestly and respectfully solicited at the ensuing election in October, on behalf of
AGED NINE YEARS AND NINE MONTHS.

Son of Bro. Richard Edward Barnes, of 48, Hoxton-square. The said Bro. R. E. Barnes was initiated in the Kent Lodge, No. 15, on the 17th day of November, 1835, and has subscribed thereto 38 years; he has also acted as Honorary Secretary to the same for 35 years; served the office of W.M.; and is now the Father of the Lodge.

He joined the United Mariners' Lodge, No. 30, on the 4th day of November, 1845; subscribed thereto 28 years; and is also the Father of that Lodge.

He was also exalted in the Union Waterloo Chapter, No. 13, on the 26th day of July, 1842; served the office of M.E.Z.; has acted as Scribe E. for 30 years; and is now the Father of the Chapter.

He was for upwards of 30 years master and proprietor of Hoxton Educational Institution, Hoxton-square, a profession and position he was gradually compelled to relinquish, in consequence of the erection by public subscription, within a few hundred yards of his own establishment, of a large middle-class school, capable of accommodating 1000 boys, with which he was totally unable to compete.

He is now partially employed as clerk in a savings bank, at a salary totally inadequate to meet the necessities of his family, consisting of a wife and three children, entirely dependent upon him for support.

The subjoined List of Brethren beg most earnestly to solicit your favourable consideration and support:—

- Bro. Peter Matthews, P. Prov. S.G.W., Essex, P.M. 11 and 30.
- Capl. A. Ridgway, P. Prov. S.G.W., Devon, P.M. 33 and 255, Shipleigh-court, Blackhawton, South Devon.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

IPSWICH.—British Union Lodge (No. 114).—The first meeting of the above very prosperous and exclusive lodge, after the usual summer recess, was held at the Masonic Hall, Ipswich, on Thursday, the 2nd inst., when there were present Bros. C. Long, I.P.M., in the chair (in the absence of Dr. Beaumont, R.N., Staff Surgeon, H.M.S. Northumberland), the Rev. E. J. Lockwood, D.P.G.M.; Dr. Barton, L.L.D., P. Prov. G.M. Western India, S.C.; Boby, P.G.S.W., Acting Secretary, C. Schulen, P. Prov. G.D.C.; P. Cornell, P. Prov. G.J.D.; Emra Holmes, P. Prov. G.A.D.C., P.G. Reg., M.C.; P. De L. Long, P.M.; A. J. Barber, P.G.O.; S. Wright, S.W.; A. D. George, J.W.; J. Burton, S.D.; Rev. A. W. G. Moore, J.D.; H. Miller, I.G.; and others. Visiting brethren, V. Childe, of the Isaac Newton Lodge, A. Gamman, W.M. Perfect Friendship Lodge, S. B. King, P. Prov. G.D. The lodge having been opened, Mr. Alfred George Allen, of Shotley, Suffolk, who had been previously balloted for and accepted, was initiated into Freemasonry, the impressive ceremony being performed by Bro. Barber, P.M.; Bro. Long, the Acting W.M., giving the working tools and Bro. Schulen delivering the charge, with much impressiveness. Bro. Holmes proposed a candidate for initiation, Bros. George and Cornell, proposed joining members to be balloted for at next regular lodge. The other routine business having been gone through, the lodge was closed, and the brethren sat down to a substantial banquet, served in Bro. Spalding's usual excellent style, when the usual toast list was gone through. "The Health of the venerable D.P.G.M.," was very cordially proposed by the W.M., and as modestly responded to by the Rev. Bro., who took occasion to remark on the progress Masonry was making in the Province, and alluded to the fact that the petition for a new lodge at Lowestoft had been granted by their esteemed Prov. Grand Master. Lord Waveny, had consented to preside at the next festival for the Aged Freemasons. He also stated that a new company had been formed for the purchase of the Masonic Hall, that the P.G.M. had taken 50 shares, which he intended to present to the P.G. Lodge; another brother, a P.G. Chaplain of England, had taken 100 shares, and he hoped the lodges in Ipswich would follow the example, and become shareholders. Bro. Barton, felicitously proposed the past and present Prov. G. Officers, and Bro. Boby responded. The health of the "Visiting Brethren" was responded to, at some length, by Bro. Childe, and briefly by Bro. Gamman. The "Tylers' Toast" followed, after Bro. King had delivered his well known recitation from Hood "A Nocturnal Sketch," and the brethren separated after spending, as usual, a most agreeable evening.

ROYAL ALFRED LODGE (No. 780).—The installation meeting of this flourishing lodge took place at the Star and Garter, Kew Bridge, on Friday, 26th ult. Bro. Brown, W.M., assisted by his officers, opened the lodge at the appointed time. Three candidates being present for passing, and two for raising, the W.M. proceeded to perform the ceremonies, which he did in a very able manner, proving to the brethren that he had studied in the right school, and was well able to do the work of his office. Bro. Smith then took the chair, and Bro. Ammon Beasley was presented to him to receive the benefit of installation. This ceremony was most admirably performed, the addresses being delivered by Bro. Littlewood, P.M. No sooner was the installation completed than the new W.M. proceeded to initiate Mr. L. H. Cuzner. This he did in a simply perfect manner, which shewed that he had worked hard to qualify himself for his high station, and from the manner in which he performed his duty, there is every prospect of a very prosperous year for the lodge. Bro. Thomas Brown, I.P.M., announced his intention of serving the office of Steward for the Benevolent Institution, and the sum of £10 was voted towards his list. All business being ended the brethren adjourned to banquet, served by Bro. Banks in his best style. The cloth being cleared, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, the proceedings being enlivened by the admirable singing of Bros. Ransford, Wrighton, Montem Smith, Baxter, and Theodore Distin. Among the visitors we observed:—Bros. H. Lloyd Thomas, P. Prov. G.S.W. Herts; H. Craven, W.M. 342; J. Weightman, W.M. 364; J. T. Spencer, W.M. 25; and others. The following are the newly-appointed officers:—Bros. W. Hilton, S.W.; W. Gardner, J.W.; W. Travers, S.D.; J. Ryder, J.D.; Lionel Brough, I.G.; J. Chambers Roe, D. of C.; J. Gilbert, Tyler.

Royal Arch.

IPSWICH.—St. Luke's Chapter (No. 225).—On Wednesday, the 25th ult., the St. Luke's Chapter was holden at the Coach and Horses Hotel, Ipswich, present Comps. Richmond, M.E.Z.; C. Turner, H.; Emra Holmes, J.; S. B. King, P.Z., Scribe E., Acting Prin. Soj.; G. S. Findley, P.Z.; J. Tracy, P.Z., and others. The chapter having been opened by the Three Principals in ancient form, and the companions admitted, the minutes of the last chapter were read and confirmed, and the ballot was taken for Bro. Henry Ward, of the Perfect Friendship Lodge, who being elected and in attendance was introduced, obligated, and exalted to the degree of Royal Arch Mason, the ceremony being performed by the M.E.Z., who also gave the symbolical and mystical lectures, Comp. Emra Holmes, as J., delivering the Historical Lecture. The business of the chapter having been concluded, the companions retired to partake of slight refreshment, when the usual toasts were given and responded to, and the health of the "New Companion" drunk with the customary cordiality. The brethren separated at an early hour in obedience no doubt to the commands of the ghost of Lord Aberdare.

Knights Templar.

IPSWICH.—Prudence Preceptory.—An emergency meeting of the Prudence Preceptory was held at the Masonic Hall, Ipswich, on Wednesday, the 1st inst., to receive propositions, as in this Order, unlike every other degree connected with Masonry every candidate must be proposed in open chapter. The Preceptory having been opened by Sir Knight Emra Holmes, Past Grand Provost, Acting Preceptor, in the absence of Sir Knight Dr. Beaumont, R.N. (at present on duty with H.M.S. Northumberland), and the muster roll having been called by Sir Knight G. S. Findley, P.E.C., Registrar; Sir Knight Dr. Mills, P.E.C., proposed, and Sir Knight J. Pitcher, P.E.C., seconded a candidate for installation at the next regular meeting, whose name for obvious reasons we do not give. The Preceptor requested the Registrar to send the proposition forthwith to the V.E. Provincial Prior for his approval, in accordance with the statutes. There being no further business, the Preceptory was closed, and the Sir Knights adjourned to the refectory, where supper was served and an agreeable hour spent.

Ancient and Accepted Rite.

EDINBURGH.—Edinburgh Consistory (No. 1).—At a meeting held on Monday, the 6th inst, present—Ill. Comps. Alexander Hay, 31°, Dep. Gr. Commander; Dr. Cairns, 30°, Gr. Orator; Wm. Mann, 33°, Sen. Gr. Warden; Alex. Mitchell, 31°, Jun. Gr. Warden; L. Mackersy, 33°, Gr. Sec.; Wm. Hay 31°, Gr. M. C.; John Laurie, 30°, Gr. Chancellor; Edward Savage, 31°; S. Georgiades, 30°; C. F. Matier, 30°; B. C. Waller, 30°; W. J. V. Bindon, 30°; Wm. Gilles 18° (E.C.); and W. M. Bryce, 30°; Outer Guard. The Sovereign Chapter of Prince Rose Croix was opened by Ill. Comp. Alex. Hay, Dep. M.W.S., when John Maitland, Esq., Willow Bank House, Aberdeen, was admitted to the 18th degree. Thereafter the Consistory was opened by Ill. Comp. Alex. Hay, Dep. Gr. Com., and Ill. Comp. Maitland, was admitted to the K.H., or 30th degree. After the minutes had been read, and some formal business transacted, the Consistory was closed.

EDINBURGH.—Celtic Lodge of Edinburgh and Leith (No. 291).—The first monthly meeting of this lodge for the season was held in the Lodge Room, Ship Hotel, Edinburgh, on Friday, the 3rd inst. Bro. Wormald, R.W.M., occupied the chair. Bro. Brown R.W.M. Lodge St. Stephen, No. 145; Bro. Ford, R.W.M. Lodge Rifle, No. 405; and Bro. Moodie, P.M. of the Great City Lodge, London, were present. The minutes having been read by the Secretary, and approved of, the R.W.M. intimated that since the last monthly meeting Bro. Alexander Stuart, the first member initiated in the lodge, and a P.M., had died at the advanced age of 81. The Secretary was instructed, on the motion of the R.W.M., to record this in the minutes, and also an expression of the regret with which the members of the lodge learned of the death of one who had, in his younger days, and also in the younger days of the lodge, taken such a great interest in its welfare. Two circulars were read from the R.W.M. of the Lodge Roman Eagle, requesting the patronage of the Lodge Celtic at the benefit of Bro. McNeill, of the Royal Princess Theatre, on the 31st inst. It was unanimously agreed to grant the request, and a large number of the brethren signified their intention of being present on the occasion. Bro. Sheppard, a past Senior Warden of the lodge, then stated that a short time ago he had purchased the harmonium, which had for some time been used in the service of the Parish Church of Cramond, and he had now great pleasure in presenting the same to the lodge. His only motive, he said, in doing so, was to assist in the working of the lodge, the advancement of Freemasonry, and as an example to others to do likewise. Bro. Wormald, R.W.M., accepted the same on behalf of the lodge, and thanked Bro. Sheppard for his handsome gift. He rejoiced that the harmonium which had, since its existence, so to speak, known nothing but discord and dissension, would now rest in harmony and peace. It was agreed that a silver plate, bearing a suitable inscription, should be procured and affixed to the harmonium, and it was remitted to the office-bearers to make the necessary arrangements to have a festival concert to suitably inaugurate the instrument, and as a small mark of regard to Bro. Sheppard for his handsome gift. The lodge afterwards adjourned to refreshment, when the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed and responded to.

NEW COLLEGE FOR THE NORTHERN COUNTIES.

GREAT MASONIC AND RELIGIOUS CEREMONIALS.

The picturesque town of Knutsford, Cheshire, about ten miles from Manchester, was en fête on Wednesday, the 24th ult., when the foundation-stones of St. Paul's College and Chapel were laid with imposing ceremonial, the former by the Right Hon. the Lord De Tabley, R.W. Prov. G.M. of Cheshire, and the latter by the Lord Bishop of Chester (Dr. Jacobson).

The northern counties of England, with their six millions of inhabitants, have long felt the want of a great public school, and the new college at Knutsford is designed to supply for the residents in the north the higher educational advantages which have been latterly supplied to the south by the colleges at Marlborough, Cheltenham, &c., and will occupy a position analogous to that of the great national schools of Rugby, Harrow, Eton, and Winchester. The new college will cost about £80,000, of which about £40,000, has already been subscribed, and will afford accommodation for 500 scholars. The college and grounds will occupy about 60 acres of fine meadow land, in the finely wooded district enclosed by the parks of Tatton, De Tabley, Toft, Norbury, Booths, &c.; and within easy distance of large places like Manchester, Liverpool, Chester, &c., and the great railway centres like Crewe, Warrington, &c.

The building is arranged on a quadrangular plan, after the model of many of the colleges at Oxford, the main facade (inclusive of the chapel) having a total length of 600 feet, with two flanks or wings, projecting 75 feet; that on the south side containing the Senior Warden's residence, with spacious reception rooms and a reference library; that on the north the apartments of the Junior Warden and Resident Masters. In the centre of the principal front is a tower, of simple and dignified proportions, 24 feet square at the base, and rising to a height of upwards of 200 feet, which serves as a carriage entrance, and at the same time gives access to the quadrangle. A cloister, with traceried windows, divided by buttresses, runs around the internal walls of the quadrangle, and affords a convenient and easy access to the various classrooms, which, with the schoolrooms, are ranged round it, and also forms an ambulatory, available in inclement weather, of upwards of 1300 feet. The style adopted by the architects—Bros. Pennington and Brigden, of Manchester—is that known as late middle pointed Gothic.

The extent of the grounds, 40 acres, affords abundant space for cricket, football, and other outdoor exercises; while the elevation of the site and the dryness of the soil ensure the most favourable sanitary conditions.

The chapel—from the designs of Bros. Goldie and Child, of London—will rival in importance and beauty any structure of the kind built in modern times. Having to provide for so large a number of residents, besides a certain number of visitors, it will necessarily be of considerable dimensions, attaining a length of 176 feet, by a width across the transepts of 95 feet. The general form of the building is that of a Latin cross, of which the head forms the sacarium, terminating in a polygonal apse, whilst the choir or chapel proper forms the stem, with a western ante-chapel; and the transepts or arms accommodate the visitors and servants. The style of structure is that generally known as a geometrical Gothic, and the internal arrangements are of such a nature as to allow externally of a grouping of the most striking description; for the gable of the chancel will not only rise considerably over the ridge of the choir, but will be crowned by a lofty belfry of stone and brick, flanked at the junction of the chancel and transepts by two turrets, thus presenting a group of the most picturesque architectural features, rising into a pyramidal composition to the height of 120 feet.

The quaint old town was gaily studded with flags, and the principal streets were sanded over with unique devices, in which Masonic symbols were especially prominent. The church bells rang out a merry peal, and abundant floral devices, including a triumphal arch, marked the way to the scene of the day's ceremonies. The weather being splendid and the proceedings interesting, there were crowds of visitors from Liverpool, Manchester, &c., special and admirable railway arrangements having been made by the Cheshire lines, under the personal and active superintendence of Mr. English, the manager.

An especial Provincial Grand Lodge of Cheshire was held by Bro. Lord De Tabley, R.W. Prov. G.M., at the rooms of the De Tabley Lodge, No. 941, at the Royal George Hotel, Knutsford, where there were present:—Bros. C. Dutton, Prov. S.G.W.; G. W. Latham, Past G.D.; Capt. R. Cope, Prov. G.S.B.; Rev. C. W. Spencer Stanhope, Prov. G.C.; Rev. H. Hodgson, Prov. C.C.; Rev. J. Lomax, Prov. G.C.; E. H. Griffiths, Prov. G. Sec.; J. P. Platt, P. Prov. J.G.W.; Rev. J. W. Newell Turner, P. Prov. G.C.; J. Twiss, P. Prov. G.O.; J. Brown, Prov. G.S.B.; W. Fair, P. Prov. G.S.B.; J. S. Mort, Prov. G.A.D.C.; T. H. Kirk, Prov. G.O.; J. Davenport, junr., Prov. G.S.; J. A. Birch, P. Prov. S.G.D.; T. Bowers, P. Prov. G.A.D. of C.; J. Hampson, P. Prov. J.G.D. The following prominent officers of different lodges were also present:—Bros. W. Nicholls, W.M. 941; F. D. Firth, W.M. 267; T. Pattinson, P.M. 267; R. H. Moore, W.M. 537; G. H. Wilson, S.W. 537; R. N. Banks, W.M. 428; H. Kenyon, S.W. 1045; J. Salmon, P.M. 425; J. E. Williams, P.M. 425; Siddeley, P.M., Treas. and Sec. 941; R. W. Worrall, P.M. 721; E. Harbord, P.M. 477; T. Dixon, Sec. 477; J. Reynolds, S.W. 941; W. Dean, P.M. 887; R. Taylor, P.M., Sec. 287; J. Keogh, I.G. 267; D. Fraser, I.G. 477; W. B. Cutter, P.M. 941; W. Tootell, P.M. 428; J. Wood, Treas. 1094; and others.

After the Provincial Grand Lodge had been duly opened, Bro. Lord De Tabley shortly addressed the brethren, and referred to the work of that day, as of the most important character, and said he was happy to know it had been commenced under favourable auspices. He thought it was not an unworthy occasion for the Freemasons of Cheshire to take part in a work which would be fraught with so much benefit, not only to the district, but to the whole of the north of England. The assembled brethren were then marshalled in order, according to the numbers of the lodges represented, and the procession of the Provincial Grand Officers, and the procession marched to the site of the foundation-stone of the chapel, where they took up their position pro tem. Although strictly speaking the Freemasons had no part in ceremony of laying the chapel stone, which was purely religious, they were kind enough to attend, and did useful service as an inner guard in preventing the pressing throng outside from invading the sacred circle round the foundation stone, devoted to the accommodation of the clergy and choristers. A novel feature in the Masonic procession was the carriage of the volume of the Sacred Law by four boys, not yet initiated into the mysteries of the Masonic Craft, but all sons of Master Masons.

The choristers, all surpliced, numbering upwards of 300, assembled at the Town Hall, along with about 200 clergy. The choirs represented were St. Margaret's, Holy Trinity (Toxteth-park), and St. Philip's Liverpool; Holy Trinity, Birkenhead; and St. Alban's, Manchester. Amongst the invited clergymen, many of whom were present, were the following:—Revs. Dr. Black, D. Waller, J. Ray. H. Crompton, A. M. Deane, G. Egerton, Canon Anson, Archdeacon Johnson, Dr. Marshall, W. Marsden, C. Dean, W. M. Truss, E. Cargill, J. T. Baylee, W. Lowe, O. Penrhyn, T. J. Henderson, W. A. Tattersall, G. H. Aldridge, J. Coombes, G. Gibbons, &c. A procession was formed of the clergy and choristers, and while proceeding to the site the latter sang several suitable psalms. On arriving at the place where the chapel stone was to be laid, preceded by the Lord Bishop of Chester, the choir and people chanted the 138th Psalm, after which his lordship offered a short prayer. The hymn "O God of Life" having been sung; the Bishop proceeded to lay the foundation stone, with the usual ceremony, saying, "In the faith of Jesus Christ we lay this foundation stone of a chapel to be called by the name of His blessed apostle St. Paul, and to be for ever dedicated to the service of God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Ghost. Amen."

After several prayers and the benediction, the Freemasons, clergy, and choir then marched to the place where the foundation stone of the new college was to be laid by Bro. Lord De Tabley, P.G.M. of Cheshire. Here there was an immense gathering of people, who evidently took a deep interest in the ceremony. After the ode "Hail, universal Lord" had been sung,

Bro. Lord De Tabley said he might be permitted, according to the ancient custom of their Order, to say a few words before proceeding with that part of the programme which he was honoured by having committed to his care. They had all attended as interested and well-wishing spectators during the laying of the foundation stone of the chapel of that collegiate institution by their beloved and venerated diocesan. (Hear, hear.) Every one must have felt the propriety of the first stone of the chapel being laid by the Lord Bishop of the diocese, and all who wished the welfare of that institution must also have felt a deep debt of gratitude to his lordship for the impressive way in which he had performed that ceremony. (Hear, hear.) But they now came to the broader and more comprehensive portion of the scheme—he meant the laying of the foundation stone of the college, and he had thought it not unfitting for the Freemasons of that province to say "Yes" to the flattering proposal that they should lay the stone in Masonic form. The order of Freemasonry, as they were aware, was a very ancient one. Its origin was lost in antiquity. It was a system of the purest morality, based on allegory, and illustrated by symbols. It embraced within its widespread arms every phase of religious belief; it was the universal brotherhood of mankind. But while this was so, by the appointment of Provincial Grand Chaplains and by the attendance of Provincial Grand Lodges at church, when they held their meetings in cities and towns, they proved their special attachment and respect for that branch of the universal church which was established in England. (Hear, hear, and applause.) The duty of Freemasons, from time immemorial, had been the foundation and construction of magnificent edifices, whether for the glory of the Great Architect of the Universe, or for the benefit of mankind, as, for example, when the first stone of St. Paul's Cathedral was laid by their late Grand Master, Sir Christopher Wren, down to comparatively late years, when the foundation stone of the asylum at Lancaster was laid by their late Past Grand Master, the Earl of Zetland. (Applause.) He thought that enough had been said to justify the part he (Lord de Tabley), as P.G.M. of that province, had ventured to take in the proceedings on that occasion. (Hear, hear.) He was glad to find himself supported by so many Provincial Grand Officers and brethren of different lodges—glad to see so numerous and respectable an assembly. He was sure the collegiate institution would have the best wishes of all present; and when they saw it flourish, as he trusted it would, rearing up the youth of the northern district on the principles of the plumb rule, level, square, and compasses—and there was plenty of room for it—they must all feel glad to look back at the fact of their having assisted to lay the foundation stone. (Applause.) That institution was connected with the Established Church of England, but he hoped, and he had reason to believe, that its portals would not be closed against those who might not be members of that church, provided they conformed to the rules and regulations of the institution. (Loud applause.)

The upper stone was then raised, and an appropriate prayer was offered by Bro. J. Lomax, P.G.C. The acting Prov. G. Treasurer, by the P.G.M.'s commands, deposited a phial containing the current coins of the realm, documents, &c., in the cavity of the lower stone, after which the following inscription on the plate was read by Bro. E. H. Griffiths, P.G. Sec.:—"College of St. Paul, Knutsford, Cheshire. This foundation stone of the College of S. Paul was laid with Masonic honours by the Right Hon. Lord De Tabley, W.M. Hatch, M.A., Warden; Pennington and Bridgen, architects; W. Slade, F.M.R.S., Sec." After the plate had been placed over the cavity, the cement was placed on the upper face of the lower stone, which the Prov. G.M. adjusted with a handsome silver trowel handed to him by Bro. Pennington, bearing a suitable inscription.

During the lowering of the upper stone, a hymn was sung by the assembled choristers, after which the P.G.M., directed the P.G.J.W., the P.S.G.W., and the acting D.P.G.M., to prove the just position and form of the stone by the plumb rule, level, and square. This being done the cornucopia containing the corn, and the ewers with the wine and oil, were handed by Bro. Capt. Cope, to the P.G.M., who strewed the corn and poured the wine and oil over the stone with the accustomed ceremonies: A suitable prayer was then offered by Bro. the Rev. H. Hodgson, M.A., P.G.C., and the P.G.M. having inspected and approved of the plans submitted, the ceremony closed with the National Anthem, and three cheers for the success of the college. The band of the 95th Regiment, was present on the ground. The whole of the proceedings were watched with the liveliest interest by the immense crowd on the ground.

After the ceremonial, a luncheon, at which from 400 to 500 ladies and gentlemen sat down, was provided in an elegant and well-ventilated marquee, erected by Mr. Benjamin Edgington, London. The tables were richly decorated with rare plants and flowers from the nurseries of Messrs. W. G. Caldwell and Sons, Knutsford. The luncheon, which was exceedingly well served, was purveyed by the Messrs. Jennison of Manchester. The Provincial Grand Master, Lord De Tabley, presided, and was supported by the leading members of the Provincial Grand Lodge, who names have already been given, Sir Harry Mainwaring, Colonel Egerton Leigh, M.P., the Rev. W. M. Hatch, M.A., Warden of the College, Archdeacon Johnson, and others.

The Chairman commenced the proceedings by proposing "Church and Queen," after which Sir Harry Mainwaring, proposed "Lords and Commons," to which Colonel Leigh, M.P., replied. The Chairman next proposed the "Bishop of the Diocese," who, after thanking the company for the honour, proposed "Success to the College of St. Paul." He said the question of education, as they all knew, was beset with a great many difficulties and complications; but these might be dismissed that day while looking at the way in which education then came before them. Education was much more widely diffused now than it used to be; but he did not think that it had lost in quality by that diffusion. It seemed that education was as highly appreciated now as ever it was, and particularly the high order of education. They all knew that great schools had risen up within recent times alongside the time-honoured Eton and Winchester, and Harrow and Rugby, such as Marlborough, Cheltenham, Malvern, Clifton, and Haileybury, and had every reason to believe that St. Paul's, Knutsford, would be worthy to be added to the number. The existing great public schools were situated exclusively in the southern counties, and he welcomed with satisfaction the establishment of an analogous institution within his own diocese.

The Rev. W. M. Hatch, the future Warden of the college, in the course of a long reply, spoke of the many anxieties attending such a work, and referred to H.M.'s commission, which had been empowered ten years ago, to inquire into the question of the education of the upper and middle classes. It was then found that of the sons of the middle classes, eighty out of every hundred were pupils at private schools, and only twenty per cent of the upper and middle classes were scholars at endowed or public schools. Mr. Hatch went on to say a great and prosperous community like that of Cheshire and of Lancashire ought not to leave its highest intellectual interests to amateur effort and private adventure. It may be, however, that the actual facts are not realised nor generally known. In this respect the labours of her Majesty's commission are very valuable. By utilising the facts within the range of the Registrar-General, and by a comparison of the results of different methods of their own, the commissioners are arrived at the conclusion that there are two million boys in England between the age of 8 and 18; and that of these boys about 300,000 belong to the upper and middle classes. According to their proportion in the population, there are in Cheshire and Lancashire alone 45,000 boys of the upper and upper middle classes who ought to be at great public schools. He then urged the necessity there existed for such an institution as Knutsford College, and described the principles upon which it would be conducted.

The Venerable Archdeacon Johnson, proposed the "Health of Lord De Tabley."

The Chairman having responded, Bro. G. W. Latham proposed the "Health of the Architects," and Bro. Pennington acknowledged the compliment.

This concluded the proceedings at the luncheon.

The Provincial Grand Lodge then marched back to the Royal George Hotel, where it was closed in due form.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF CUMBERLAND AND WESTMORLAND

The annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Freemasons of the Province of Cumberland and Westmorland was held at Whitehaven, on Tuesday, September 30, under most favourable auspices. The province, of which the Earl of Bective, M.P., is the Provincial Grand Master, and Bro. J. Whitwell, M.P., Deputy Provincial Grand Master, comprises 17 lodges, viz., No. 119, Whitehaven; No. 129, Kendal; No. 310, Carlisle; No. 327, Wigton; No. 339, Penrith; No. 371, Maryport; No. 412, Longtown; No. 812, Appleby; No. 872, Whitehaven; No. 962, Workington; No. 1002, Cockermouth; No. 1073, Keswick; No. 1074, Kirkby Lonsdale; No. 1220, Silloth; No. 1267, Egremont; No. 1390, Millom; and No. 1400, Harrington;

Both James Porter, P. Prov. G.S.O., P.M. 327, 343, and 1256, alluding to the resignation by Bro. Busher of the office of Provincial Grand Secretary, proposed, in suitable terms, that the best thanks of the Provincial Grand Lodge be given to Brother Busher for the valuable services rendered by him in that capacity during the past seven years. Bro. Hayward, P. Prov. G.S.W., 310, seconded the proposition. The Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, in a highly complimentary manner, endorsed all the Bro. Porter had said. His Lordship acknowledged his indebtedness on very many occasions to Bro. Busher's zeal and assiduity as Provincial Grand Secretary, as well as his uniform courtesy and kindness. The vote having been unanimously passed in the most cordial manner, Bro. Busher briefly acknowledged the compliment in feeling and appropriate terms, after which the lodge was formally closed.

The brethren were then formed in procession in proper Masonic order by the G.D. of Ceremonies, Bro. Edward Fearon, P.M. 119, and marched up Church-street, along Duke street, down Scotch-street and Lewther-street to St. Nicholas Church, headed by the Volunteer Band.

The brethren attended divine service in St. Nicholas Church, occupying the body of the edifice, which was reserved for their accommodation, the general public occupying the galleries. The prayers were "intoned" by Bro. the Rev. R. B. Labarte, Chaplain of Lodge 872. The Psalms were those of the day, namely, 147, 148, 149, and 150. Bro. the Rev. Joshua Tyson read the First and Second Lessons. The Magnificat was chanted to Elvey in E; and Nunc Dimittis after Hackett's Service in D. The Anthem was from the 122nd Psalm, verses 1, 5, 6, and 7. The first Hymn was, "O Lord, how joyful 'tis to see the brethren join in love to Thee;" and the second, "Praise we our God with joy and gladness never ending."

The prayer before the sermon was as follows:—"Let us pray for all sorts and conditions of men. And herein, for Our Sovereign Lady the Queen, that she may be endued plenteously with heavenly gifts, and long reign over a loyal, united, and happy people; for Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, the Princess of Wales, and all the Royal Family. Let us pray especially for the Ancient Order, as members of which we have this day assembled: particularly for the Most Worshipful the Marquess of Ripon, our Grand Master; for the Officers of the Grand Lodges of England, especially for that Provincial one to which we belong; for the Most Worshipful the Provincial Grand Master and his Deputy. Let us further implore the Most High to bless all private Lodges, particularly those now gathered together in this His Holy Temple. May God prevent us in our doings with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help; that in all our works begun, continued, and ended in His holy name, we may promote the happiness of our fellow-creatures, and ever set forth His honour and glory, through Jesus Christ our Lord.—Amen."

The sermon was preached by Bro. the Rev. F. W. Wicks, who selected for his text the 13th chapter of the Epistle to the Hebrews, verse 16:—"But to do good and to communicate, forget not; for with such sacrifices God is well pleased."

After the sermon a collection was made, amounting to £14 6s 5d, which will be appropriated to the building fund of St. Nicholas Boys School.

Immediately after divine service the brethren repaired to the Town Hall, where a substantial dinner, provided in Mrs. Todhunter's well-known style, awaited them. There were three tables, the full length of the hall, and one cross table, at which were seated 200 brethren. About 30 were obliged to go elsewhere to dine, being unable to find accommodation.

The chair was occupied by Bro. the Earl of Bective, R.W.P.G.M. of Cumberland and Westmorland, who was supported by Bro. J. Whitwell, D. Prov.G.M. Cumberland and Westmorland; J. Lemon, P. Prov. G. Treasurer; E. Busher, P. Prov. G. Secretary; W. C. Steward, P. Prov. G. R.; Rev. R. B. Labarte, Chaplain, Lodge 872; Rev. J. Tyson, Prov. G. Chaplain; J. Robertson, P.M. 872, and P. Prov. G.S.D.; J. Spittal, P.M.

872, and P. Prov. G.S.W.; J. Moot, P. Prov. G.S.W.; J. Bowes, P. Prov. G.R. C. Morton, P.M. 872, and P. Prov. G.S.W.; Holme, P.M. 872, P. Prov. G. Chaplain; J. Holme, P.M. 186, and P. Prov. G.J.W.; and on the left by Bro. Lord Muncaster, W.M. 119, and P. Prov. G.S.W.; Major Spencer, P.M. 116, P. Prov. G.S.W.; G. C. Bentinck, P. Prov. G. Registrar; W. G. Bentinck; Rev. Canon Ware, Prov. G.J.W.; Rev. F. W. Wicks, Prov. A.G. Chaplain; Gibson, P.M. 119, and P. Prov. G.S.W.; Kenworthy, P.M. 119, and P. Prov. G.S.W. M'Kelvie, P.M. 119, and P. Prov. G.S.D.; Barr, P.M. 119, and P. Prov. G.S.B.; Henry, P. M. 119, P. Prov. G.J.W.; Shaanon, P. Prov. G.J.D.; and Porter P. Prov. G.S.D.

The centre table (facing the Chairman) was presided over by Brother Alsop, and the other two by brothers Fearon and Atter respectively.

The Chairman gave the first toast on the list of all loyal Meetings of that kind—the health of Her Majesty the Queen. Although her sex prevented her from being a Mason, as understood by their rules, still in every relation of life, either in public or private, she had proved that practically she was one. The toast was drunk with all the honours.

The Chairman next gave the health of one whose health they ought to drink with enthusiasm, whether from a Masonic or a patriotic point of view, and that was His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. The Prince was one of their most illustrious craftsmen, and a Past Grand Officer of England. With the toast he coupled the name of his charming consort the Princess of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family. Drunk with three times three.

Brother Bentinck, M.P., and P. Prov. G. Registrar, said that, having been requested to propose the next toast, he accepted the invitation with much pleasure. It was his lot to address a large assembly in this town in the course of last week, and he then dilated upon the great advantages there were in being Englishmen. Now, one of the advantages of a person being an Englishman and an English Mason was that he was protected and encouraged by the clergy of all denominations. There was an erroneous opinion on the Continent, amongst the clergy of the Christian Churches, that had predominance there, that Masonry was an institution which was contrary to the principles of God Almighty, and that no man could be a Freemason unless he had some mischievous intent in the background. That belief, however, proceeded from entire ignorance and superstition, for it was well known that where the principles of Masonry were promulgated such ideas did not long prevail. As Englishmen and English Masons they were proud to see not only their brethren who stood almost at the head of their profession, but also the clergy of all denominations. In this town they had one who was an ornament to the Church, and zealous, active Churchman—one who was always ready to promote every good work in connection with Masonry. Having made this preface, he desired to propose the toast that had fallen to his lot, "The Bishop and Clergy of the Diocese, and including the Clergy of all Denominations," coupled with the name of Brother the Rev. F. W. Wicks, P.A.G. Chaplain. He would take this opportunity of expressing, on behalf of the brethren, their thanks to Brother Wicks for having taken the part he did in the service that day. He also begged to couple with the toast the name of Brother the Rev. J. Tyson, P.G. Chaplain.

Brother Tyson briefly responded, expressing the pleasure the clergy felt in meeting the brethren upon all occasions.

Brother Wicks, who also replied, said it was with the greatest pleasure that he occupied the position which he had done that morning. It certainly was not his duty to have occupied the pulpit that day, but having been requested to do so by some of the brethren, he of course willingly undertook the office, not wishing to shirk anything. It always gave him pleasure to fulfil any duties that were imposed upon him as a brother Mason. He felt highly gratified at the compliment they had paid to the Bishop and clergy of the diocese. The Bishop and clergy, in their various paths of life, were all very anxious to aid the good cause of Freemasonry, as they considered it a just and a true one. The quotation which he made that morning was from a record of the Bishop of Manchester, who, like their own Bishop, was not a Mason. At the same time, their Bishop admired Freemasonry, and if the clergy of the Church admired the institution as one that was striving to help mankind, why did they not become Masons? There was a great deal in the name, and by combination with a certain class of men in the Order, they might fulfil the great duties of human life with profit and pleasure. They knew as well as he did that the Bishop, when requested to preach a sermon for the brethren of their ancient Order, willingly did so, entering into facts which proved that he had not only compared the practical part of Freemasonry with the Divine Word, but which showed that every one who strove to search the Scriptures would find that Freemasonry was based upon the revealed word of God. He had striven to do so sincerely, and the lower he dipped into the depths the brighter the pearls he drew therefrom. Upon every occasion he would do his utmost, with ready hand and open heart, to fulfil the duties that might be imposed upon him. He cordially thanked then for the gracious manner in which they had received the toast.

The Chairman then gave "The Health of the Most Worshipful Grand Master of England, the Marquis of Ripon, K.G." For the last few years the Grand Master had discharged the duties pertaining to his position in the most just and equitable manner. He had to devote a large portion of his time to the services of Her Majesty, but besides that he had courtesy, good nature, and ability, to induce him to reach as he did to the business of the Order. They must all feel deeply indebted to him for the manner in which he had, and he (Chairman) hoped, would continue to discharge his duties. Drunk with great enthusiasm.

At this stage of the proceedings, the Right Worshipful the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, the Earl of Bective retired, his Lordship having to leave to catch the last train. The toast was drunk amid vociferous cheering; and his Lordship, having briefly responded, vacated the chair. He was accompanied by Lord Muncaster, M. P.; Prov. G.S.W. Bro. G. C. Bentinck, P.M., and Bro. Bentinck, jun. On leaving the hall, the distinguished party were greeted with several rounds of cheers, on the subsidence of which the chair was taken by the D.P.G.M., Bro. Whitwell, M.P., who proposed "The Army, Navy, and Volunteers." He coupled the toast with the name of Bro. Major Spencer and Captain Mott, both of whom responded in gallant terms.

The Chairman proposed the "Deputy Grand Master of England," the Earl of Carnarvon, complimenting his Lordship upon the efficient discharge of the duties of that office; and "The Provincial Grand Officers, Present and Past," coupled with the health of Brother Busher, who responded.

Bro. Lemon proposed the health of Deputy Provincial Grand Master, Bro. Whitwell, who responded.

The Deputy Provincial Grand Master, Bro. Whitwell, here left, amid much cheering, to catch the tram; and Bro. M'Kelvie was called upon to fill his place.

Bro. W. B. Clarke proposed the health of Bro. Lord Muncaster, M.P., W.M. 119, whose unavoidable absence he regretted. With the toast he had pleasure in coupling the name of Bro. M'Kelvie, whom his Lordship had elected his Deputy. Bro. M'Kelvie had devoted a number of years, not only to the study, but to the practice of the great principles of Freemasonry. It was as unnecessary for him (Bro. Clark) to dilate upon Bro. M'Kelvie's Masonic capabilities as it was for him to speak of the many other good qualities which he was known to possess. His zeal and untiring assiduity in Freemasonry were proverbial throughout the entire province.

The Chairman (Bro. M'Kelvie) briefly acknowledged the toast. He could assure the brethren that nothing would have given Bro. Lord Muncaster greater pleasure than to have remained to the last, had time permitted. He (Bro. M'Kelvie) felt proud of the position which Lodge 119 occupied. In electing Bro. Lord Muncaster W.M. for the present year, the members had not only done honour to his Lordship and to themselves, but they had conferred lustre upon the entire body of Freemasons throughout the province. 119 was the oldest lodge in the province. It had seen days of adversity; but for some time past it had flourished in an extraordinary degree, and he hoped that it would long continue to do so.

Bro. Gibson proposed "The Visiting Brethren," to which Bro. Labarte responded.

Bro. Wicks proposed "The Past Masters of 119," coupled with the names of those present and absent, to which Bros. Kenworthy and Henry responded.

The Charman proposed the health of Bro. Busher. No better Mason ever belonged to the Craft. Not only had Bro. Busher proved himself a good Mason in the Province, but the Grand Master of England had heard of his work, and had honoured him with office in the Grand Lodge, an honour to which many might aspire, but which very few ever attained. They were all sorry, in one sense, that he had resigned the office of Provincial Grand Secretary. But it was not right to expect too much from one man. He, (Bro. M'Kelvie) knew that Bro. Busher had frequently attended to the duties of the Provincial Grand Lodge at great personal inconvenience, and even on the present occasion he had come to Whitehaven the previous night, in order to perfect the arrangements necessary for that meeting, although he was not in the best of health.

Bro. Busher, who was warmly received, in acknowledging the compliment, said that as long as he could give either counsel, advice, votes, or do a bit of work, they might rely upon it that he should be only too happy to assist them.

The Chairman proposed the Worshipful Master and Past Masters of Lodge 872, to which Bro. Robertson briefly responded.

Bro. Gibson, in proposing "The Masonic Charities," urged that as Lodge 119 had already done so much for the Boys' School, it ought now to turn its attention more particularly to the Girls' School.

Bro. Busher proposed the Senior and Junior Wardens of Lodge 119, to which Bros. Atter and Alsop responded.

Bro. Captain Mott proposed "Lodge 119," coupled with the name of Brother Gibson, who, in responding, remarked that it was the first time in his experience that they had held a Provincial Lodge without Bro. Quinn (the oldest Freemason in the Province) being present.

Bro. Alsop proposed The Officers of Lodge 119 under the rank of J.W., coupled with the name of Bro. Edward Tyson.

Bro. Tyson, in reply, alluded to the fact that several brethren had been unable to find accommodation at dinner, a circumstance which they must all regret. It was, however, quite unavoidable. They had not expected more than 170 or 180, and they had laid covers for 200; but instead of 200 there had been 230, and 30 of them had been obliged to go away unable to get accommodated. He wished this explanation to be made public.

The Tyler's Toast having been proposed, the company separated.

Obituary.

BRO. CHARLES EWENS DEACON.

Death has of late been somewhat busy with those of our town who are the representatives of a past generation, and who have spent a life of useful activity among us. The list of departed ones has, we regret to announce, been this week added to by the decease of Mr. Charles Ewens Deacon, for thirty-two years Town Clerk of the borough, and a gentleman who for more than that lengthened period had practised here as a member of an honourable and a lucrative profession, gaining by as spotless a public life as man e'er led the highest respect and esteem of both friends and foes—if, indeed, he ever had any of the latter. Of Mr. Deacon's early life but little can be told. He was born in 1803, at Portsmouth, where his father was in a large way of business as a brewer. He was one of three or four children, and was educated with the view of his becoming a lawyer. He was articled in the office of Mr. Minchin, a Portsmouth solicitor, and soon after the completion of his term he came to Southampton, in, we believe, the year 1826, joining in partnership a Mr. Bryant, whose offices were at Lansdowne House, Castle-lane, where Mr. Deacon's business has ever since been carried on. The firm continued under the style of Bryant and Deacon until 1832 when the senior partner, who had been to London on professional business, died of cholera during his journey from London to Southampton. Mr. C. E. Deacon then carried on the practice for some time, until he was joined by Mr. Long, a solicitor of Amesbury, as a partner. At this time he held office as one of the two Coroners for the borough—Mr. Corfe being the other—but the Municipal Act, which became law in 1836, abolished one of the two offices, and Mr. Deacon was compelled to resign. Under the act, however, he became entitled to compensation from the Corporation funds, but he declined to accept anything, his letter announcing this determination stating that he sought his reward in the hope that he might have acquitted himself to the satisfaction of his fellow-townsmen in the performance of those duties which the Corporation had allotted him. The thanks of the existing Town Council were voted to him for this liberal conduct. On the 16th of August, 1836, Mr. Ridging, who had held the office of Town Clerk for 28 years, resigned, and Bro. C. E. Deacon was elected the same day to the post, with a salary of £200 a year, on the motion of Captain Ward, seconded by Mr. Clark, in opposition to Mr. Randall, who received twelve votes to Mr. Deacon's twenty. Mr. Deacon also held office as clerk to the Southampton Waterworks Commissioners,

On the passing of the Cemetery Act of 1844, Mr. Deacon became secretary of the Southampton Cemetery, a post which he held to the end of his public career. It was, however, as Town Clerk that he was best known to a large circle, and over the long period during which he was literally the presiding genius of many successive corporations, no one could charge him with having exercised any political or personal bias in the discharge of the important duties which devolved upon him. He strove hard to forward the best interests of the town, putting forth special exertions with corresponding benefit to those whom he was serving in the railway battles of 1844 and 1845. Never could a public servant have held his office with greater honour, to which universal testimony was borne when advancing age, coupled with bodily infirmity, compelled his resignation of that office which he had so long and creditably held. That resignation was sent in on the 6th of July, 1870, during the mayoralty of Alderman—now Sir Frederick—Perkins, and on the motion of Alderman Stebbing, seconded by Mr. Lomer, it was accepted. All the most prominent members of the Council present vied with each other in their testimony to Mr. Deacon's ability and worth, and a resolution was unanimously passed conveying the thanks of the Corporation to him "for the able and satisfactory manner in which he had discharged the duties of Town Clerk for a period of 32 years," and it was further ordered that this vote should be engrossed on vellum and presented to him. Among the suggestions for honoring him was one, in the first place, by the late Mr. Councillor Sharp, that Mr. Deacon should be elected an Alderman of the borough at the first vacancy, and in the second a general expression of a hope that his portrait would be painted and placed in the Council Chamber. The first suggestion, no doubt, in consultation with Mr. Deacon's wishes were never carried out; the second has been, and the faithful picture which now adorns our Council Chamber bears an additional value from the fact that it was painted by a son of Mr. Deacon's, who, inheriting his father's passion for pictures, has become a producer of them himself, and that in a manner which bears indication of high artistic genius. Mr. Deacon, junior, at the same time, painted a companion portrait of his beloved father, to whom it was publicly presented at a banquet marking the occasion of his regretted retirement. Mr. R. S. Pearce, who had rendered invaluable assistance to Mr. Deacon, was by universal choice fixed upon as his successor in the office of Town Clerk, and was unanimously elected, immediately on the resignation of the former, on the same terms and conditions.

Bro. C. E. Deacon was prominent among Freemasons. He was initiated in the Gloucester Lodge, and also became a member of the Southampton Lodge, taking almost the highest Masonic honours which can be conferred upon an individual, his offices including that of Deputy Provincial Grand Master of Hampshire, in which he was succeeded by Bro. Stebbing. He was an honorary member of various benefit societies, which he helped not only by his purse, but very often with his counsel, and no one received a heartier welcome than he did when he made his appearance at any of the lodges.

Bro. Deacon himself ascribed the infirmity from which he has suffered for some years to the cutting of a corn, which so far affected his health that he has been laid by from time to time since 1869. He had a somewhat lengthened illness, but by-and-bye reappeared among his old friends with apparently renewed vigour of constitution, and had lost somewhat of his lameness. Up to within the last two months he has been at his offices in Lansdowne House in as good health as ever, though the infirmities of age were evidently creeping upon him, and he at times complained of his foot being uneasy. About a month since he took to his bed, and has been attended by Professor Longmore. A fatal termination of this attack was not anticipated, but on Saturday a change for the worse suddenly and rapidly set in. His family were summoned around him; and at two o'clock on Monday morning he sank consciously and peaceably to his rest, in the presence of all on earth nearest and dearest to him, leaving behind him a name and a fame which nought can tarnish, and so ending the career of one whom it may well be said

"Remember him as being worthy of thy praise." He was the last surviving member of his father's family. A younger brother of his was drowned at sea, his other brother and a married sister died in recent years at Lordswood.—Hampshire Independent.

The editor of the "Bauhütte" has founded at Florence an establishment for the sale of German and English books. We have much pleasure in introducing the same to the notice of our many readers who may visit the fair city, feeling assured that they will meet with every attention from those in charge. The address is—Messrs. Flor and Findel, German and Foreign Booksellers, 24, Lung Arno Arriagoli, Florence, Italy.

Those who have most patiently studied human physiology have now concluded, that in the nerves lie the centre of action, the spring of movement and regulation of vital functions. Invariable and relaxing weather, Holloway's remedies are especially serviceable in maintaining nervous vigour and in defending the frame against all consequences from dampness or chills. If the first symptoms receive attention, not only will further danger be averted but old ailments will give way and better health will be attained than was enjoyed before illness. No treatment for safety and certainty of success may be so confidently relied upon as that discovered by Professor Holloway whose Pills and Ointment, always restore the sufferer.—ADVT.

Masonic Tidings.

Bro. Lord Waveney, Provincial Grand Master for Suffolk, has kindly consented to preside at the next Festival of the Institution of Aged Freemasons.

A new company has been formed for the purchase of the Masonic Hall, Ipswich. We understand the Prov. Grand Master has taken 50 shares, with the intention of presenting them to the Provincial Grand Lodge, whilst another brother, a P.G. Chaplain of England, has taken 100.

RED CROSS OF CONSTANTINE.—We are informed that the first Provincial Assembly of the Grand Council of the Red Cross Order (which was appointed to be held at Leicester, in connection with the Byzantine Conclave No. 44,) has been fixed to take place on Tuesday, the 21st inst., at 2 p.m., when a large attendance of the principal supporters of the Order, and of representatives from Metropolitan and Provincial Conclaves is expected. A Sanctuary of K.H.S. and Commandery of St. John, will be consecrated, when members of the Red Cross Order, though not attached to the local Conclave may avail themselves of the opportunity to become acquainted with those little known but very beautiful degrees. We are requested to state that any further information may be obtained from the Recorder of No. 44, Freemasons' Hall, Leicester.

We are glad to observe that Surgeon-Major T. M. Bleckley, M.A., M.D., LL.B., Army Medical Department, late Secretary to the Inspector General of Hospitals, H.M. British Forces in India, and now of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Netley, has been presented with a very handsome Past Master's jewel and apron, (manufactured by Bro. Kenning) by the brethren of Lodge "Himalayan Brotherhood," No. 459, E. C., Simla. This is, we understand, the second valuable presentation received by Wor. Bro. Dr. Blackley, from the Simla brotherhood, during the period of his connection with the above lodge.

THE ART GALLERY FOR LIVERPOOL.—The proposal to raise £20,000 by voluntary subscription for the erection of a Fine Art Gallery in Liverpool, was moulded into a practical form on the 29th ult., when a public meeting was held at the Town Hall, under the presidency of Bro. E. Samuelson, the Mayor, for the purpose of carrying out the scheme. Nearly £6000 have already been subscribed, and therefore there now seems little doubt the object will be accomplished in the course of a few weeks, when Liverpool, like the mediæval cities of Italy, will be placed, by voluntary effort, in possession of "an inexhaustible source of pleasure."

FUNERAL OF AN EX-POLICE OFFICER OF THE CITY.—The funeral, on Monday, of Superintendent White, of the Gravesend police force, was attended by thousands of spectators, the deceased having been much respected. The procession included the clergy, the Freemasons, the Coastguard, and others. The deceased was formerly in the City force, and Sergeants Webb, Brett, and Spittle attended from that body.

The Provincial Grand Lodge of the R.S.Y.C.S. for London and Metropolitan Counties will meet in Council at 53, Golden-square, on the 16th inst. Eight brethren are on the list for promotion.

ALBERT G. GOODALL, 33°.—This distinguished brother honoured our sanctum last week, and in his own person satisfied us that foreign travel does not militate against the physical condition nor interfere with those possessing rare intellectual gifts. His official report to the Supreme Council at Chicago, in November next, will be awaited with great interest.—New York Dispatch.

THE NEW MASONIC HALL AT PHILADELPHIA.—Bro. Woodford has received Bro. G. W. Chirnside's fraternal letter from Liverpool, of October 1st, for which he is much obliged. Bro. Bradford will be very glad to receive the Philadelphia Ledger, of August 29th, and also the later paper, kindly offered by Bro. G. W. Chirnside.

GIRLS' AND BOYS' SCHOOLS
ELECTIONS

At this period of the year, those who are interested in the welfare of our ancient Craft, watch with earnest scrutiny, the elections for our Girls' and Boys' Schools.

For say what the outside world will, assail us as our opponents may, there is no better fruit of our great Masonic tree, fairer in appearance, or sweeter to the taste, than that which now blooms so refreshingly, for us all alike, in these two great and admirable charities of our Order.

Great as is the organization of our English Freemasonry, numerous as are our lodges, improving and increasing as are all those accessories, which serve to throw all of order and grace and living reality around our fraternal assemblies, yet still, in our opinion our chief characteristic and our distinguishing point ought ever to be, the practical development of that abstract charity and good will we profess so much, and laud so constantly.

Hence, for some time, it has been a subject of no little satisfaction, nay rejoicing, to all earnest brethren of our English Order, to observe the increasing interest manifested by English Freemasons generally,—we will even add universally,—in the furtherance and support of all our Masonic Charities.

But the Girls' School and the Boys' School seem to have a special claim on all thoughtful and considerate members of our good old Craft. And for this reason.

Widely contrasted as are the social positions of the respective members of our lodges, not only have we often to provide for the children of those whose circumstances are such as to prevent them properly educating the children God has given them, but as we all know from personal observation and experience, that, very many are the unforeseen changes and chances of this mortal life for us all, and which often are very strikingly displayed in the history of Masonic membership.

We meet, for instance, for many a happy hour, the companions and brethren of our "Mystic Tie;" we associate with them, in the unrestrained moments of heartfelt friendship, of genial mirth, of kindly fellowship, and all seems to be flourishing with them and with us.

But, in an unexpected hour, some sudden reverse of fortune lays low the fabric of their credit, or wealth, or social respectability, and over their hitherto happy life, over the gayer highway of years, have fallen the dark and heavy clouds of gloom, of misfortune, nay of need. Or sometimes in a most unexpected, perhaps an unguarded hour, a sterner visitor than any, draws near, and those we greeted last in lodge, in all the heyday of youth and strength, in all the force of a ripened maturity, in all the genial glow of good spirits and warm hearts, we see no more, we miss from their wonted place, and naught remains but the lonely home, and the silent house, and the bereaved widow, and the orphan child.

It is in such an hour as this, that the best characteristics of our Order ever appear,—that the true genius, as some one has said, of Freemasonry ever shines most brightly, and certainly whatever attractions or interest Freemasonry has for any of us, in the social gathering, or the friendly conclave, it never does so great credit to itself or to us, as when it is intent on works of mercy, and on deeds of good, relieving the helpless, cheering the aged, training up the young, and "causing the widow's heart to sing for joy."

Of late years the interest of the Order in all our charities, and especially the Girls' and Boys' Schools, has largely increased, and long may it continue to augment, and to be manifested, year by year, more and more, in fraternal "largesse," and in ready and discriminating support.

But of course, with this increased interest, has also come a somewhat more active scrutiny into the practical working of these great Charities, and a somewhat greater appreciation of positive results than in quieter and less active days of old.

It has been for some time a matter of deep regret to all reflecting Masons, that, the "Dead Weight" if we may say so, was so very great in all our elections that the proportion of successful candidates was so small, and the proportion $\frac{1}{2}$ of disappointed petitioners so great.

It almost seemed a scandal to the administrative executive, as well as to our Masonic charity, that candidates should come up fourteen times, and be rejected at last.

Many solutions have been proposed of what appears to be a blot on our arrangements as regards the candidates for our Masonic Schools, but none, so far, are free from perhaps even greater difficulties and eventual objection, and we are prone to believe, that such anomalies must be left to the action of experience and of time, and are, by wiser provisions, at any-rate, let us hope, things of the past.

In future, as the age is properly restricted at which candidates can be admitted at all, all such unsuccessful claimants will disappear from the voting papers, after a given time, and we shall no longer be pained, with the prospect, election after election of many candidates whose expectations have in some cases been fruitlessly raised, for whom nothing is done by anybody, and whose candidature was doomed to disappointment and rejection, apparently even from the very first.

One remedy, and one remedy alone, can be really be found for such a state of things, and it is so to increase the funds of our Educational Charities, that, they may always receive three-fourths of the candidates for admission, and there may be a fair question whether the time be not come to institute a qualifying examination, for all children admitted within our Schools.

We congratulate the Craft and the House Committee of the Girls' School, that nineteen out of thirty one candidates will be admitted at the approaching election, but, we would just say this, that we think a little more openness of publication, a little more freedom in communication of the details of the school operations, would elicit a greater amount of sympathy and interest, in the Craft at large, and further still more materially the interests of an Institution of which, as Freemasons, we may be justly proud.

We expect a great deal from Bro. Little, its energetic Secretary, and we feel sure that we shall not be disappointed.

Out of forty-nine candidates for the Boys' School fifteen are to be elected on the present occasion, but we would fain hope that this is the last election, at which candidates will appear on the paper, who have applied in vain fourteen times, thirteen times, twelve times, eleven times, ten times, respectively. Out of the 49 candidates, five have applied four times, and eleven three times.

We can only conclude this article with the expression of our deepest interest in the welfare of these two excellent Schools, and with the hope and prayer that they may continue to progress and to expand, for the increasing wants of our Fraternity, that they may receive the still more liberal and systematic support of our entire Order, and may long demonstrate, both to others and ourselves, the genuine principles of that great and benevolent confraternity, to which it is alike our happiness and our privilege to belong.

BRITISH ASSOCIATION FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF SCIENCE.

RECEPTION OF BRETHREN BY THE LODGE OF HOPE (No 302), AND PENTALPHA LODGE (No. 974), BRADFORD.

The brethren of these two lodges held a Lodge of Emergency on Monday, the 22nd September, in the Masonic Hall, Godwin street, in order to receive and entertain such of the Members of the British Association, then meeting in Bradford, as were Freemasons, and might be disposed to meet their Yorkshire Brethren.

Bro. Manoh Rhodes, P.M. Hope, 302, occupied the position of W.M., and was supported by the following Brethren, namely:—Bros. Bentley Shaw, L.L.D., P.G.D. of E., and D.P.G.M. West Yorkshire; Hyde Clarke, P.G.M. of Columbia, and P.D.G.M. Turkey; James Glashier, S.G.D. of E.; William Smith, C.E., P.G.S. of E.; Richard James Spiers, P.G.S.B. of E., D.P.G.M. Oxford; C. J. Bannister, P.G.S.B. of E.; M. Moggridge, P. Prov. G.M.S. Wales; C. Graham, P.G.S.D. Surrey; J. J. Gasdar (Marquis Dalhousie Lodge) Bombay; Rev. E. A. Pitman, Cambridge; Broughton, P.G.J.W.S. Wales; Cyrus Brook, W.M., 600; Geo. Althorp, W.M., 1018; J. Proctor, W.M., 1034; Fred. W. Booth, P.M., 387; Geo. Richardson, W.M., 302; John Ambler, W.M., 975; D. Salmond, P.M., 302, P. Prov. G.S.B.; D'Angelis, P.M., 974; J. J. Schaeppi, P.M., 302; P. Prov. G.S.D.; J. White, P.M., 439; Thos. Hill, P.M., 302, P. Prov. G.S.D.; J. Barraclough, P.M., 302, P. Prov. G.S.D.; C. H. Taylor, P.M. 302, P. Prov. G.S.W.; A. Briggs, P.M., 974, P. Prov. G.S.D.; Hen. Smith, P.M., 387, Prov. G. Sec.; W. Ibbetson, P.M., 302, P. Prov. G.J.D.; S. B. Walmsley, P.M., 974; M. Rogerson, P.M., 302, P. Prov. G. Org; J. F. Leeson, P.M., 974; J. Rhodes, P.M., 974, P. Prov. G. Org; H. O. Mawson, P.M., 302; W. H. Evans, P.M., 974; Rob. Richardson, P.M., 974; J. D. Sugden, P.M., 302; James Green, P.M., 302; W. W. Barlow, P.M., 302; Bernard H. Woodard, Enoch 11, and numerous others.

The lodge was opened at 7.30, after which the D. Prov. G.M., Bro. Bentley Shaw, and the rest of the Provincial Grand Officers entered the lodge, and were received by the brethren with the usual Masonic honours due to their position in the Craft.

The D.P.G.M., on behalf of himself and the rest of the Provincial Grand Officers, in most courteous and flattering terms, thanked the numerous brethren present for their very kind reception.

After the ordinary business was transacted, Bro. M. Rhodes, P.M., who occupied the position of W.M. for the occasion, invited all the visitors and other brethren to join him in the refreshment room, where he again presided, surrounded by nearly all the brethren who had been in the Lodge Meeting.

The Chairman proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic Toasts, which, as is ever the case in such gatherings, were most cordially and heartily responded to.

On the toast of "The Marquess of Ripon, M.W.G.M., and all the Grand Officers," being proposed, Bro. James Glashier, S.G.D. of E. responded, saying that on his own part, and that of all the Grand Officers, he thanked the brethren for the way in which they had proposed and received the toast, but he hoped it would ever be as kindly given and received in West Yorkshire—for how well the M.W.G.M.

performed his duties, and how much he was entitled to our esteem and regard—and (he said) I am sure you will be glad to hear that the Earl of Carnarvon, our D.G.M., told me when last I saw him, that he was sufficiently recovered to attend to his duties for the future. The duties of Grand Officers make that no idle post, and I can assure you they are pretty onerous. It has afforded me much pleasure to visit this town. I am no stranger to many of you; there is one kind brother I have been hunting up ever since I came to Bradford—Brother C. Gott—and I am delighted to see him here to-night. He is a Mason at heart of the right kind. How strange the coincidence that I should be mourning to-day for the Earl of Zetland, and that 22 years ago, this very day, he should have been laying the Foundation Stone of the very St. George's Hall, where we, the British Association, are holding our meetings. I have been revolving how strange that on a Monday 22 years ago he should have been here, and been endeavouring to make out, but have not yet succeeded, how many 22 years will elapse before this date again falls on a Monday. The meeting of the Association in this town, I have no doubt, will be of the greatest advantage; the very meeting of the various classes of philanthropists and eminent men will have the greatest advantage. The change I see in Bradford is marvellous. If all Londoners knew as much of Yorkshire as I do of your Wharfedale and Airedale, there would not be so much running about for scenery. Now, to come to Masonry, is it not a great thing that I, as a stranger, come here and receive such a welcome? It is a noble institution, and I have often reaped its advantages. I have been in great difficulties, and Masonry has helped me out of them. Even in the balloon at Derby, when in extreme difficulty and danger, I remember receiving the greatest aid from Brother Freemasons who happened to be there, and who to a man came to my assistance on my showing myself a Mason. At that time, had it not been for them, I feel that my life might have been sacrificed, therefore, do I say, let Masonry flourish. In conclusion, I cannot tell you how pleased I am to be here, and on the part of Earl Carnarvon and the rest of the Grand Officers, I thank you, and trust that you will never have cause for less affection for them than you now show towards them.

Bro. Richard J. Spiers, P.G.S.D. of E., D.P.G.M. Oxford; was also called upon from the chair, and said I had hoped that you would have been satisfied with what Bro. Glashier has said, I can tell you I should have been disappointed if I had gone away without meeting you, and I can assure you I go back with great pleasure, after this evening's meeting. I feel much pride in coming amongst you and feel that Yorkshire, like Oxfordshire, has much to be proud of. Fourteen Grand Officers have been educated at Oxford. And Yorkshire is celebrated for its charity, no county is so much so, and I am glad you have done us the honour of inviting us to be with you, I am also proud to see here Bro. Bentley Shaw, who has done us the honour of being present. We had had an invitation to the Alliance meeting, but there was no "Hope" for the Alliance; the Lodge of Hope, had the preference. I thank you for your kind reception.

The Chairman, in a few well chosen words, and in the most complimentary manner, proposed the "Health of Bro. Hyde Clark," P.G.M. of Columbia, and D.P.G.M. Turkey, who in responding said, without impropriety I can return thanks on the part of the Foreign Lodges, for I am an officer in the four quarters of the Globe, and I may say that I am the only one who has held the office of W.M. in the Holy Land since King Solomon himself. You are aware that in Jerusalem a lodge has been opened, and we may hope to see Freemasonry flourish there. I can well perform the duty of responding for the Foreign Lodges, because I stand an accredited officer from the Lodge of Columbia. Bro. Glashier has impressed upon you the great advantages of Freemasonry, but some of us may give grander ones, for the advantages you enjoy are small compared with those of Foreign Countries. Yours are peaceful gatherings, compared with those abroad. It was my province to preside or a lodge where eight different languages were spoken. That will give to you an exemplification of the advantages of Freemasonry. This lodge was held under the warrant of the Grand Lodge of England. Many members of that lodge, owing to caste, could not meet in the outer world, but could do so in lodge meetings, and without some such common meeting ground could not be brought together, as they are in our great possessions in India, where the Grand Principles of Freemasonry are practised. In the battle field and elsewhere, Freemasonry is a positive safeguard and it is to that many a man has owed his life. We are inevitably brought to the conclusion that we owe much to the Grand Lodge of England, beyond that we owe much to lodges like these. It is certain you have not so much inducement as we have abroad, yet you attend well to your duties, and it is such great lodges as yours that contribute to the advantage of Freemasonry, far more than you can imagine. There is a brother here who was initiated in India, and who can bear testimony to the same effect, and you can rely upon it that these advantages, great to yourselves are greater to the world at large. I thank you heartily for the Foreign Lodges, and for the kindness manifested to me.

Bro. William Smith, C.E., Prov. G.S. of E., being called upon by the Chairman, said I should indeed be wanting in common courtesy if I did not thank you, along with my other brothers, for your hospitality to-night. Twenty years I have had the honour of seeing this kind of Masonic feeling displayed in connection with the British Association. In Brighton last year at the British Association we had not the same opportunity, I cannot pretend to extend my arm Masonically so far as Bro. Clarke has done, nor to ascend so high as Bro. Glashier, but we have had the pleasure of long working together. It has been usual for the officers of Provincial Grand Lodge to have a meeting during the sitting of the British Association, and I must take some blame to myself for there not having been one, but am delighted with the very agreeable meeting you have afforded us the opportunity of enjoying. I am glad Bro. Glashier is placed in such a high position by Grand Lodge, but not satisfied; he has soared above "the upper ten thousand." Going back to Bro. Hyde Clarke, than whom I know of no one who has done so much for Freemasonry, I cannot help thinking, that, kindly as he speaks of Grand Lodge, it has not done so much for him as it might have done. I am glad to see the progress of Freemasonry in foreign countries. I have travelled, often in countries where Freemasonry is under the ban of the Government or the priests, I have met in lodges where the police have stood at the door to report our names to their superiors in civil and military authority sitting inside with us. Brethren, I thank you on my own behalf and on behalf of the visitors, for your kind reception, and I wish to express to you how much it has delighted me once more to meet here our estimable Bro. Bentley Shaw, who so ably fills the post of D. Prov. G.M. of West Yorkshire.

The W.M. of the Lodge of Hope, on rising to propose "The Health of Bro. Bentley Shaw, D. Prov. G.M.," said, before giving the toast which I have the honour of proposing, allow me to say how much we of the Hope, conjoined with the Pentalpha, feel indebted to Bro. Bentley Shaw for honouring us with his presence this evening. We feel it to be a most auspicious occasion, and one we shall reflect upon with very great pleasure and pride. I call upon you to join with me in drinking "The Health of the Right Worshipful the D. Prov. G.M. of West Yorkshire."

The W.M. of the Pentalpha said, before the brethren drink this toast I wish on the part of the brethren of the Pentalpha to express their thanks to the brethren, members of the British Association, for their presence this evening, and in supporting the proposition, he could only say that the D. Prov. G.M. was so well known that his name need only be mentioned to ensure for it a hearty welcome and response; and as we have the honour of his presence amongst us I need only ask you to drink his very good health.

Bro. Bentley Shaw, L.L.D., D.P.G.M., on rising to respond, was received with repeated rounds of cheering. So soon as he could gain a hearing, he said, Officers of the Grand Lodge of England, Officers of the two Lodges, and Brethren, it affords me very great satisfaction to respond. I do assure you it is an evening of very great gratification. No small effort was needed to get here, but I am more than compensated by your reception. I can assure you it has been a great honour to meet with such brethren as our visiting friends; Members of the British Association. Although I cannot lay claim to the merits of Bro. Hyde Clarke, who has spoken so effectively and eloquently on the advantages of Freemasonry, and which he described as a sort of "Freemasonry Militant" in the distant countries where he held jurisdiction, yet I feel to possess the ardour of a soldier, and I yield to none in my desire to promote the best interests and prosperity of our time-honoured Craft. Bro. Glaisher referred to the thrill of pleasure it gave him to meet his brethren in Freemasonry. I confess to the same delightful feeling, and never mingle in an assembly of Freemasons, or ever meet with an individual brother, without realising the happy consciousness that a chord is struck on which vibrates the key-note of sympathy, charity and brotherly love. It has given me much pleasure to meet Bro. Glaisher, to whom I have no doubt Freemasonry has, in the lofty regions in which he has soared, given many a solace and hope of safe return. I am also glad to meet Bro. Spiers. He occupies the same official position in Oxfordshire that I do in West Yorkshire. I have heard of his great hospitality, when Mayor of Oxford, and how he entertained the literati of that renowned university. Brotherly love gives us the great privilege and pleasure of meeting our brethren, and from what has fallen from Bro. Smith, I fear there has been some remissness on the part of our Provincial Grand Lodge, with respect to the meeting of the British Association, but, if guilty of such remissness, that omission has been nobly supplied by the brethren of the Hope and Pentalpha. The Lodge of Hope is ever foremost in works of charity. I can truly say that no lodge that I know of stands out so nobly. I say this in no invidious manner, but as an incentive to other lodges to follow its beneficent example. Brethren, allow me to thank you most heartily for your invitation and reception this evening.

The D.P.G.M. resumed his seat amidst the long continued plaudits of the brethren.

On again rising, he said, I fear you will tire of hearing me, but in obedience to the commands of the W.M., I beg to give you "The Visiting Brethren," and I have much pleasure in proposing this toast to you in all kindness and brotherly feeling.

Bro. Moggridge, P. Prov. G.M. S. Wales, on being called upon to respond, said that he had been congratulating himself in the secret satisfaction that he should not have to speak. That it should be a bold man to come after those who had spoken, and he regretted being in that position. There is one who has had the advantage of being in the university, and has done so much for Freemasonry. There is another who has travelled the whole world. One who has shown us that intellect comes before all else. I need hardly name Bro. Hyde Clarke. And there is one here who, as Bro. W. Smith, C.E., has said, has not been content with this sublunary sphere, but who has been up amongst the stars. One who really represents the Upper Ten Thousand. You will therefore sympathise with me being called upon after those brethren, and will, I am sure, excuse me, and permit me to tender you my hearty thanks. I come from South Wales, a long way, but wherever I have been throughout my travels, I have always found that the most true-hearted amongst my friends have been Freemasons, and that in any emergency they were the ones I could rely upon. I can only wind up with thanking you for myself and in the name of my province.

Bro. T. Broughton, Prov. G.J.W. S. Wales also shortly responded, excusing himself from saying much in the presence of such a company besides this not being the first time he had had the pleasure of replying in these rooms on the part of the visitors.

Bro. J. J. Gasdar, Marquis of Dalhousie Lodge, Bombay, being called upon for the chair, said, I am afraid I am but a very young Mason, and not very learned in the Craft, besides that I have (not voluntarily) absented myself from the duties of the lodge, yet I can bear testimony to what Bro. Clarke said, for he has in a way been my godfather in Freemasonry, for he called me, and therefore I stand here as a living testimony of what he said. If any expect to hear anything of India they will be disappointed, for it was in this country I was initiated, yet I can assure you that Freemasonry is making rapid progress in that country. I have received very flattering accounts of it; and that I am addressing you in such an assembly as this is an evidence of the importance of it. I should not say anything beyond Freemasonry, yet I may say that I have met with nothing but the greatest kindness whilst in this country, and I can say that if the Indians could be brought here they would return with the feeling that they were fortunate in being governed by such a country, but England must not expect to rule by the sword. I conclude by thanking the united lodges for their courtesy.

Bro. Thompson of the Kilwinning Lodge, Scotland, in responding on behalf of both Scotland and Ireland, said that personally he was a stranger, and little did he think he should have such a reception, not only by the brethren of the Craft, but he could say that never had the members of the British Association been better received, and in the name of Mother Kilwinning, and of all Scotland, he thanked the brethren for the reception given the visitors.

Bro. Glaisher, again rose and said, I am proud to give you a toast, but permit me to take this opportunity to say I have looked with great interest on your ceremonies before and after banquet this evening, you know it is different to what we do in London. I may say I have been a student to-night, and I feel glad of it. I would also take this opportunity to say a few words respecting the balloon trip over the Atlantic, as first one brother and then another has been making enquiries of me all the evening. As to whether the start has been made I have no intelligence. Two months ago I was consulted about this enterprise, and I have paid particular attention to the subject of the winds at great heights. Some inferred that there was a wind similar to the Gulf Stream, but as we had no observations I recommended not to start and added if you do start, take great precautions, don't go high. I have not heard the balloon has started, and if not I hope it will not. Now to my toast. The visitors feel thankful to you, and wish to propose to you in the same frankness "The Health of the Worshipful Masters and also the Past Masters of both lodges."

Bro. M. Rhodes, in responding, said at this hour I am not going to say much, but it has been a great gratification to me to meet so many eminent brethren who are doing so much for the good of their fellow-men. I am thankful to you for the honour you have done me in placing me in the chair to-night. Brethren, I can tell you it is a source of the highest gratification to me in seeing here the D. Prov. G.M. and the other eminent brethren. Although I have spent some most happy evenings with my brethren, this has been, I think, the happiest of all. I can only say that wherever my lot is cast, and whenever any of you will visit us, you will ever find that kindness amongst the brethren, and I pray you accept my most heartfelt thanks for your kindness.

The W.M. of the Hope, said the time has passed so quickly and so pleasantly that I wish it had to begin again. The honour I take to my lodge; many times has my health been drunk in these rooms, but never more heartily than to-night. I trust that the visitors will take away an agreeable recollection of their visit. It is only right to the other lodges in the town to say that it was the wish of every one to join in giving the members of the British Association a hearty welcome, but there was not a room disengaged in the Town large enough for the purpose. I thank you heartily for the compliment paid me.

The W.M. of the Pentalpha, said, I won't detain you more than a moment, but on the part of myself and the lodge, I thank you most heartily for your presence here. It has given me the greatest possible pleasure to have men amongst us, not only of such eminence in the Craft, but in science and in the world. We look upon this as a red letter day in the history of Bradford, and I hope the members of the British Association will take away a favourable estimate of our Town. I regret the meagre arrangements here to night, but you will be aware that all the large rooms of the town are engaged. I can assure you you receive a hearty welcome and your visit will never be forgotten, I thank you all, brethren, for your kindness in proposing and receiving the toast.

The usual concluding Masonic Toast brought the proceedings of the evening to a close, and we must not omit to allude to the efforts of Bros. Atkinson, Rev. Richardson, P.M.; F. Broughton, P.M., and Cumberland, who added much to the pleasure of the evening by their excellent harmony.

Original Correspondence.

SPIRITUALISM.

(To the Editor of The Freemason.)

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Having observed letters upon this subject in your papers of the 20th and 27th ult., I would like to call your attention to the enclosed letter upon the same subject, cut from the American Herald, published by Bro. Leitnam. As it gives an entirely new view of the subject I would suggest to your correspondents the desirability of making some experiments with a view of testing the feasibility of two mediums holding communication with each other by the power of their wills, mutually pre-arranged. Let them first try to communicate from one room to another, then from one town to another.

Yours fraternally,

JAS. KEET, 1356.

"SPIRITUALISM OR?"

(To the Editor of The American Herald.)

Dear Sir and Brother,—

"With your kind permission, I would like to draw the attention of scientific men and others to a few points in this phenomenon which require elucidation, and which I think may possibly lead to important results. In the first place I believe that mesmerism, biology, and spiritualism arise from one and the same cause, viz., a certain condition of the mind and body of the human being. The question to be decided is whether the condition is natural or abnormal.

"Secondly, we have to account for certain facts, viz., the production of certain sounds in various parts of a room at the will of the "medium," the lifting of tables by the joint wills of several "mediums," &c. The question here is how are these phenomena produced? Is it magnetism, or electricity, or some, as yet, undiscovered element of force?

"Now, it is to the discovery of these points that the attention of scientific men should be drawn, and if some of those "mediums" who have these extraordinary powers would frankly come forward and place themselves at the disposal of scientific men, to be experimented upon, I am of the opinion that something far more practical than intelligence from the spirit would be the result, viz., the discovery of a new mode of telegraphy to all parts of the world, without cables! Simply by the intelligent exercise of the latent force now existing between the so-called spiritual "mediums," who, being en rapport, will be able to communicate their ideas to each other at whatever distance apart! It is on record that such communications have passed from one person to another, widely separated, in moments of agony and great danger, thus showing the possibility of what I have above advanced. The only question to solve is,—On what conditions of mind and body can this power be exercised? It remains for the so-called spiritualists and scientific men to do it.

"I am, sir, your obedient servant,

"X. O."

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

The Votes and Interests of Governors and Subscribers are earnestly solicited on behalf of

DAVID DOVE,
AGED NINE AND A HALF YEARS.

His Father, Bro. Edward Dove, formerly a Builder, at Scarborough, was initiated in the Old Globe Lodge, Scarborough, No. 200, in May, 1857, and continued a Subscribing Member for nearly ten years.

Through failure in business he left Scarborough, and subsequently was appointed Inspector of Buildings on the North Eastern Railway. After a short illness died (of inflammation of the lungs brought on by exposure to cold in the discharge of his duties) on the 16th November 1870, leaving a Widow and three Children; since which time the mother has deserted them, and they are by the kind assistance of friends now being supported. This case is deserving of the utmost sympathy and support of the Craft generally.

There are in connection with the College
THREE ANNUAL EXHIBITIONS,
open for general competition to all students, and tenable for three years.

Special Classes are formed for preparing students for the Legal, Medical, Home, Colonial, and Indian Civil Service Examinations; and for entrance to Woolwich, Coopers-hill, and the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, Dublin, Durham, and Edinburgh.

The Religious Teaching is based on strictly Protestant Principles, in accordance with the Doctrines and Liturgy of the Church of England.

Students requiring a commercial education only, are exempt from the classical course, if desired.

The year consists of two terms, during which there are no holidays, the only vacations being at Midsummer and Christmas.

The use of all class books, valuable library, stationery (except mathematical instruments) laundry, &c., is included in the terms. No Extras of any kind.

The High School—Students from 16 to 23 years of age.

The Middle School—Students from 12 to 16 years of age.

The Preparatory School—Students under 12 years of age.

The College is divided into three sections. In the
PREPARATORY SCHOOL
(entirely distinct, but contiguous)

Boys are well grounded in the elements of a sound English Education, with French and German (also in Latin and Greek if for the learned professions), and prepared for the High or Middle School. In the High School the course of study is a preparation for the Universities and the various competitive examinations; while the Middle School trains pupils in such subjects as will qualify them for scientific and commercial pursuits.

Alston College is pleasantly situated, about six miles from Preston, and half a mile from Longridge Railway Station; is in immediate proximity to beautiful mountain scenery, within half an hour's ride of the chief watering places on the western coast of Lancashire, and is considered by Medical Professors to be in one of the healthiest localities in England—a fact sufficiently proved by the remarkably good health enjoyed by the students and regularly confirmed by the half-yearly medical reports.

Extensive Cricket Grounds are attached to the College Farms, whilst a spacious covered Gymnasium and Student's Hall, available for recreation, drill, &c., adjoin.

Reports of all examinations, together with the names of those students who have distinguished themselves at the College and the Universities, as Exhibitors, Medalists and Prizemen, also the reports of the late examinations, together with views of the College buildings, and all necessary information, forwarded on application to the Rector, or to

MR. GEORGE CLIFFORD, Secretary.

References kindly permitted to Bro. Masons, and to the late Examiners: Rev. T. H. Lindsay Leary, M.A., D.C.L. (Oxon), Assistant Examiner to Her Majesty's Civil Service Commission, Crawford Cottage, Epsom; T. W. Eyre Evans, Esq., LL.D.T.C.D., Nightingale Villa, Lower Norwood; and other University Examiners; Professor Pagel, Liverpool; R. Routledge, Esq., B.S.F.C.S., Manchester; also the Protestant Clergy, Nobility, and Professional Gentlemen (parents of present pupils) in London, Manchester, Liverpool, Birmingham, Leeds, Bradford, Bognor, Preston, Burnley, Chester, Lancaster, Boston (Lincoln), Wigan, Harrowgate, Accrington, Haslingden, Kendal, Southport, Todmorden, &c., and various other towns; the Continent of Europe, the colonies, New York, and the United States, Brazil, Cuba, &c., who can bear ample testimony to the merits and success of this College.

Next term commences the 7th August, 1873.

BALSAMIC

YOUNG'S
ELIXIR

DISEASES OF THE LUNGS AND AIR-VESSELS.

CROSBY'S
BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR.
Opiates, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief. In Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling
the digestive organs, and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S
BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy.

SELECT TESTIMONIAL.
Dr. Rooke, Scarborough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdued cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease."
This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Night
Sweats of Consumption, Quinsey, and all affections of the throat and chest. Sold in bottles at 1s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, by all respectable Chemists, and wholesale by Jas. M. Crosby, Chemist
Scarborough.
* * * Invalids should read Crosby's Prize Treatise on "Diseases of the Lungs and Air-Vessels," a copy of which can be had Gratis of all Chemists.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

This is well described on the title page as "A Comprehensive Masonic Book of Reference." The details furnished are useful and abundant, and are well-arranged in a small compass.—City Press.

Among the "class" Pocket-book Almanacs, the "Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar" is very complete and convenient of its kind.—Echo.

This is a comprehensive work of reference, which is arranged as a pocket-book, and contains in addition to a diary, lists of lodges in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, America, &c., together with particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the world.—Lloyd's Weekly London News.

It contains lists of lodges in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, and Italy, together with particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the globe—certainly a remarkable array.—Builder.

The book is a comprehensive Masonic book of reference. It contains full lists of Masonic Lodges in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, &c. It further gives full particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the globe. It is of convenient size, and forms a handy pocket-book. The Masonic information is given in a very complete manner. No doubt the book will be welcomed by every English-reading Mason.—Jewish Chronicle.

A pocket-book which is a mystery to the uninitiated, but which every Mason no doubt ought to have.—Christian Family.

It contains some 300 pages of closely-printed matter, giving lists of lodges in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, the United States, India, and the Colonies. It gives full particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the world, and is a marvellous book to those who have no distinct impression of the magnitude of the Fraternity of Masons. This pocket diary is a most comprehensive Masonic book of reference and is to be had in simple binding for two shillings.—Overland Mail.

We have received from Mr. George Kenning, 198, Fleet-street, a copy of this neat little volume, which we commend as a pocket-companion to the Brotherhood of the "mystic tie."—The Cosmopolitan.

Mr. George Kenning, 2, Monument-place, has just published his Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar and Pocket-book. It is a comprehensive book of reference on Masonic matters for the United Kingdom, and also for foreign countries. It will be invaluable to every Freemason both at home and abroad.—Liverpool Daily Post.

It appears to be well and carefully compiled, is crammed with Masonic information, and is a neat little pocket volume.—South Durham Herald.

We have received a copy of the "Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar and Pocket Book, which is a very comprehensive book of reference, specially prepared for all connected with the various orders of Freemasonry. We may state that the book contains a list of lodges in the united Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, &c., with full particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the globe, in the compilation of which great care and labour must have been bestowed, and it cannot fail in being highly appreciated by every member of the ancient order. The publication contains 282 pages of neatly printed matter, with almanack and calendar, is gilt edged, neatly bound, and altogether a marvel of its kind. The publisher is Mr. George Kenning of Fleet-street, London, and No. 2, Monument-place, Liverpool, from whom the work will be forwarded to any address, post free 2s. 2d.—Southport News.

Bro. George Kenning has just issued the "Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar," and we are pleased to find it is in every sense well worthy of the name. The little book is full of interesting and valuable information relating to the progress of the Craft all over the globe, and contains an accurate list of all the lodges, chapters, encampments, &c., in Great Britain and Ireland, as also a mass of general Masonic intelligence from the various Foreign Grand Bodies. Although the Calendar contains 282 pages of closely printed matter, it is published at the nominal price of two shillings per copy.—Cornish Weekly News.

Into the compass of an ordinary pocket-book the compiler of this work has managed to compress a vast fund of information concerning the Masonic Orders. As a pocket book it is equal to any other, and has a good blank diary. In the details concerning the Craft we find lists of all the Lodges in the United Kingdom; the officers of the United Grand Lodge; and a variety of matters giving the official state of the Masonic Orders in all parts of the world. Every Mason who uses a pocket book should purchase this.—Ipswich Journal.

A convenient and handy pocket book of nearly 300 pages. Independent of its special interest to Masons, it gives an insight into the magnitude of the Masonic fraternity, which will astonish those who have never thought upon the question. The calendar is a most comprehensive Masonic book of reference, and invaluable to every English Mason.—Leigh Chronicle.

We are greatly indebted to Bro. Geo. Kenning, of No. 198, Fleet-street, London, for a copy of the Cosmopolitan Calendar, being a comprehensive book of reference for every Masonic body in the world. This work may be had on addressing the publisher, the price being 2s. 3d., sterling, post paid.—New York Dispatch.

We have a copy of this work, through the kindness of the publisher, Bro. George Kenning, of London, England. It is a most comprehensive book of reference, embracing all the lodge in Great Britain, Ireland, and the Continent, with particulars of every Grand Masonic body in the world. There is a mass of statistical information to be found within its 288 pages.—Mackay's National Freemason.

We are under fraternal obligations to Bro. George Kenning, of No. 198, Fleet-street, London, for a copy of his admirable Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar. It contains full particulars of every Grand Masonic Body throughout the globe, besides a diary for the whole year.—Keystone.

We are indebted to the publishers of the London Freemason for a copy of the "Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar," being a comprehensive Masonic book of reference. It is a work that has been compiled with a great amount of care, and is indeed a valuable work, and no Masonic library is complete without a copy. It contains a list of all the lodges in Great Britain, France, Germany, and Italy, together with full particulars of every Grand Masonic body throughout the globe. It is a valuable book of reference, and such a one as would be advantageous to any Mason, wherever he might be located.—Loomis's Masonic and Musical Service.

A comprehensive and compact almanack, pocket book, and directory of masonic information. In addition to the usual attributes of a pocket book, it contains lists of Lodges, of officers, and of chapters, encampments, and conclaves, not only in the United Kingdom, but throughout the world.—Northern Echo, Darlington.

We have much pleasure in calling attention to this useful little pocket-book, which contains valuable information and intelligence concerning matters Masonic, which must be greatly prized by "the brethren of the mystic tie." To the outside world, amongst whom we are content to number ourselves, the compendium before us indicates the universality of a benevolent Institution, which, with its numerous ramifications, orders, and degrees, is spread over the whole face of the globe, and which if it does not perform all the good which its supporters assert, merits some degree of consideration from the number of eminent men who we find ranged under its banners. We are told that no true Freemason can be a bigot, and we should say, though we are of course open to correction, that every Freemason must perforce be a liberal; and yet the non-political character of the body in this country, is amply exemplified by the names of the principal office bearers—for whilst we see that the Marquess of Ripon occupies the important position of Grand Master of England, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales is described as a Past Grand Master (though we believe, he never accepted the office of Grand Master); and the Earl of Carnarvon occupies the second place in the Craft, that of Deputy Grand Master; and Sir Albert Woods, Garter King at Arms, is appropriately placed as Grand Director of Ceremonies.—Essex Standard.

LION AND LAMB LODGE (No. 192).—The first regular meeting of this lodge was held at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, on Thursday, the 2nd inst. Bro. Trott, W.M., occupied the chair, the other officers present were:—Bros. George Abbott, S.W.; George Newman, J.W.; W. Goodyer, P.M., Treasurer; J. G. Marsh, P.M., Secretary; C. Arkell, S.D.; E. Jones, I.G.; and George Parker, Dir. of Cers. The remaining Past Masters present were:—Bros. George Mager, J. J. Harris, E. King, E. Roberts, and Geo. Kenning. The lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed. The lodge having been duly opened, the following brethren were raised to the third degree, Bros. Regan, Fauvet, Graindorge, Perkins, Alfatt, and Hunter. The following were passed to the second degree; Bros. Geo. Hall, and John G. Dunn. The lodge having been resumed, William T. Rickwood, Esq., (having been ballotted for at the last meeting) was regularly initiated into Freemasonry. Bro. Sidney Spencer, (City Terminus Hotel), was unanimously elected a joining member. The notice of motion by Bro. Alfatt, S.W., having been disposed (viz., increasing the initiation fee to ten guineas and the joining fee to five guineas, also another motion limiting the number of members,) the lodge was closed in due form and adjourned. The whole of the brethren present appeared in Masonic mourning in accordance with the command of the M.W. the Grand Master. The brethren, numbering about sixty, adjourned to dinner, served in the pillar-room at which the W.M. presided. After the cloth had been removed, the usual Masonic toasts were given including the visitors many being present), which were most heartily responded to. The meeting having been a comfortable and happy re-union, the Tyler's toast brought the evening to a close. Amongst the members the following were present:—Bros. W. Ramsey, G. Taylor, J. G. Chillingworth, jun., F. R. Jarvis, F. Fellowes, W. Figes, W. Waring, Jno. H. Fuller, H. Legg, T. Gardner, T. Fisher, S. Edwards, Jno. Curle, R. E. Bright, S. Haynes, T. Perrin, John Mayo, C. M. Selby, J. B. Clements, Chas. Cann, Henry Child, Henry Davis, F. Jackson, R. G. Putnam, J. Cook, and A. G. Marks. Visitors, Geo. Bartholomew, 871; H. Bethell, S.W. 1257; W. Jaques, P.M. and Sec. 28; B. Hill, 212; T. Massa, P.M. 59; J. T. Dimsdale, 715; Chas. F. Motheram, 901; Mark Hornsey, 73; and Charles Tighe, P.M. 28.

OLDHAM.—Friendship Lodge (No. 277).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held on Wednesday, Oct. 1, at the Freemasons' Hall, Union-street, Oldham. The officers present were Bros. J. Z. Hollingworth, P.M.; Joseph Braddock, W.M.; T. Midgeley, S.W.; H. Thomas, J.W.; C. Schofield, J.D.; J. C. Lees, I.G.; Lees, Org.; John Wood, Tyler. The lodge was opened in due form by the W.M. at 6.30. p.m. The minutes of the previous regular meeting having been read and confirmed, Bro. Robert Jackson, who had been previously initiated into this lodge, presented himself as a candidate for the degree of M.M., and being approved of, the ceremony was performed in the most impressive manner by the W.M., Bro. Joseph Braddock. The lodge was honoured on this occasion by the presence of several visiting brethren, some of whom had received their degrees on the other side of the Atlantic. To these the right hand of fellowship was most cordially extended, and after the remaining business had been transacted, the lodge was closed and adjourned till Wednesday, the 29th of October. The refreshments which followed labour were of the most substantial character, and reflected credit on the manager of the Freemasons' Hall, which building, we may remark, was erected and opened for Masonic purposes in 1871, and consists of a spacious lodge room, ante-room, banquetting room, billiard and reading rooms, and is altogether a credit to the Masonic body of the town.

LYMINGTON.—New Forest Lodge (No. 319).—The regular meeting of this prosperous lodge was held on Monday, the 13th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Lymington. The lodge was opened at 3.0. a.m., by Bro. Doman, P.M. and Treasurer, in the unavoidable absence of the W.M. Bro. S. S. Pearse, W.M., soon afterwards arrived and took the chair. He was supported by Bros. J. Houshome, S.W.; Le Roy, J.W.; W. C. Austin, acting S.D.; Wilkins, acting J.D.; Sims, I.G.; Bush, P.M. and Sec., and others. The work performed was conferring the third degree on Bros. J. W. Imber, and D. Duncan, the second degree on Bros. Westley and Turner, and the initiation of Bros. Warren Peness, McSpanow, and Hills. The whole of the ceremonies were carried out in a very efficient and able manner by the W.M., assisted by the Immediate P.M., Bro. Doman, and called forth marks of congratulation from several of the brethren. An explanation for the first degree was given by Bro. W. C. Austen, J.D., in a very able manner. The W.M. also reported to the lodge the business of the Charity Council, recently elected under a new scheme adopted in this province, and to which the W.M. was, at a previous meeting of the lodge elected to represent. It was then moved by the W.M. and seconded by Bro. Houshome, S.W.; and carried unanimously, that a vote of thanks be given to Bro. Austen, J.D. for the efficient manner in which he gave the explanation of the tracing board, much to the gratification of the brethren present, the business of the lodge usually being so great, that until the present occasion, it has not been given before. A copy of a musical ritual was presented to every brother present by the W.M. for their serious consideration with a view of its being adopted in this lodge. Several propositions and suggestions were offered, of minor importance relative to the well being of the lodge, by various brethren. One gentleman was proposed as a candidate for initiation. The lodge was closed in due form at 6.30. A most sumptuous banquet was then served in the lodge-room, under the superintendence of the Stewards. After the removal of the cloth the usual Masonic toasts were given and drank with cordiality and enthusiasm, although somewhat hurried on account of several of the brethren having to leave by train.

VALETTA (MALTA).—Zetland Lodge (No. 515).—A special meeting of this lodge was held on the 29th September, to present a testimonial to W. Bro. Robert Mowatt, I.P.M. The lodge having been opened, the Worshipful Master presented to him the regalia of a J.D.G. Warden of Malta, with an inscription, as a very small token of the affectionate regard of the lodge, and the great value attached to his constant zeal during the whole period of his residence, to which the lodge owed much of its prosperity. W. Bro. Mowatt, having replied in very feeling terms, the proceedings were concluded by the W.M. wishing him a very warm farewell from his brethren, who deeply regretted his departure from the field of his well won honours. The lodge was then closed.

LIVERPOOL.—St. John's Lodge (No. 673).—On Wednesday evening, the 1st inst., the usual monthly meeting of this lodge was held at 90, Duke-street, Liverpool, where there was an unusually large gathering of the brethren. The W.M., Bro. E. Kyle, opened the lodge in due form, supported by Bros. J. T. Callow, I.P.M.; J. Thornton, P.M.; J. Hocken, P.M.; H. Nelson, P.M.; M. Coriess, S.W.; J. K. Digges, J.W.; R. Pearson, P.M., Treas.; S. Johnson, P.M., Sec.; T. Roberts, S.D.; J. Mealor, J.D.; T. Garratt, I.G.; Alvarez, S.; D. Jackson, S.; and W. Crawford, Tyler. Amongst the members present were:—Bros. W. A. Hamilton, E. C. Cooper, J. Seddon, J. Farmer, E. Browne, R. Hulme, W. Roberts, J. H. Jones, R. Holt, C. H. Jones, J. Heggie, J. Buckley, W. Quayle, G. Nixon, W. Brackenbury, C. Haigh, R. Price, A. Milledge, H. Burrow, J. Dawson, J. Capell, J. Parry, S. T. Cockerill, J. Smith, W. Williams, and others. The visitors present were:—Bros. J. J. Rose, W.M. 249; R. Ing, P.M. 594; C. Leedham, P.M. 220; J. A. Edgington, S.W. 1182; J. Williams, J.D. 1112; E. C. Jones, 1356; T. A. Jackson, 1264; W. F. Dawson, 1264; W. H. Hignett, 1356; J. Bathgate, 1182; J. D. Sutherland, 220; and others. After the lodge had been duly opened, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed, and one candidate was initiated with the mysteries and privileges of the Order by the W.M. The after lodge proceedings were of a highly interesting character, inasmuch as occasion was taken to present Bro. J. T. Callow, I.P.M., with a very handsome time-piece and vases to match, as tokens of the esteem in which he is held by the members of St. John's Lodge. It may be stated that Bro. Callow's services as W.M. were recognised in July last, when he vacated the chair, by the presentation of a valuable Past Master's jewel, and this further testimonial to his many excellent qualities was given because he is about to enter the "United States" of matrimony. The time-piece bore the following inscription, "This time-piece and vases were presented to Bro. James T. Callow, I.P.M., by the brethren of St. John's Lodge, No. 673, of Free and Accepted Masons, as a token of respect, and in recognition of past services, July 2, 1873." In making the presentation, Bro. Kyle, W.M., said the brethren were aware that it was the original intention to present an illuminated address to the I.P.M., but the subscription took such a form as to warrant them presenting even something more valuable. As Bro. Callow was about to step out of the bachelor into the married state, a clock was thought a very appropriate gift. He hoped that their I.P.M. would long be spared, and that he would continue to render the same valuable assistance to their Order in the future as he had done in the past. Bro. Callow, in acknowledging the testimonial, said he not only admired the articles, but especially the spirit in which they had been given. Any past services he might have rendered were given with the greatest pleasure, and he could assure the brethren of St. John's Lodge that this presentation, and the remembrance of their kindness would only lead him to increase his activity and earnestness. During the evening, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and cordially responded to, that of "The Rulers of the Craft, Supreme and Subordinate," being acknowledged by Bro. J. Thornton, P.M. Bro. Callow proposed "The Health of the W.M.," in eulogistic terms, and in reply Bro. Kyle assured the brethren that he would use his best endeavours to uphold the dignity of the position in which he had been placed. The toast of "The Past Masters of the St. John's Lodge" was acknowledged by Bro. S. Johnson, P.M., Sec., in eloquent terms; "The Visitors," by Bro. J. J. Rose, W.M. 249; "The Officers," by Bros. Garratt, Hulme, Alvarez, Mealor, Price, Johnson, and Pearson, P.M., Treas. During the evening a subscription was raised on behalf of the Seamen's Orphanage, when a substantial sum was spontaneously raised.

TOTNES.—Pleiades Lodge (No. 710).—Thursday, the 2nd of October, being the day for installing the W. M. Elect into the chair, a large number of the members of this lodge assembled at the Masonic Hall, at 1 p.m. The lodge was opened in the first degree and the minutes of the previous lodge read and confirmed. The Installing Master, Bro. Dr. Henry Hopkins, P.M., P. Prov. S.G.W. for Warwickshire, &c., &c., having taken the chair, Bro. Henry Jardine Presswell, S.W., W.M. Elect, was presented in a suitable manner by Bro. William Cuming, P.M., for installation. The usual charges having been read by the Secretary, to all of which the W.M. Elect assented, the lodge was opened in the third degree. All brethren not having attained the rank of W.M. then retired. The Board of Installed Masters was opened in full form, and Bro. Henry Jardine Presswell, having been admitted, was duly installed W.M. of Pleiades Lodge, No. 710, for the ensuing year. The Past Masters present were Bros. Dr. Henry Hopkins, Rev. James Powning, John Heath, John Marks, Richard Harris Watson, William Cuming, Arthur Browse Niner, Rev. Robert Bowden, and Henry Couch Creagh; also Bro. William Henry Stafford, W.M. 710. The Board of Installed Masters was closed, the M.M.'s admitted, and the W.M. proclaimed and saluted. The F.C.'s were admitted and the W.M. again proclaimed and saluted. The E.A.'s were admitted and the W.M. again proclaimed and saluted for the third time. The W.M. appointed and invested the Officers for the ensuing year, viz. Bro. William Henry Stafford, I.P.M.; Bro. James Westhead, S.W.; Bro. William Bennett Maye, J.W.; Bro. Rev. James Powning, P.M., P. Prov. G.C. for Devon, Chaplain; Bro. Peter George David, Secretary; Bro. Henry De Schmid, S.D.; Bro. William Cuming, P.M., J.D.; Bro. Edward Seale I.G.; Bro. Henry Ash Hawke, Stwd.; Bro. Augustus Richard R. Preston, Stwd.; Bro. William Henry Taylor, Organist. The W.M. also invested Bro. Arthur Browse Niner, Treasurer. Bro. John Crocker was unanimously re-elected; Tyler, and on being invested by the W.M. received well merited praise for the manner in which he had discharged the duties of his Office for the past year. The charges were each and severally delivered in a most able and impressive manner to the I.P.M., W.M., Wardens, and the Craft generally, by Bro. Dr. Henry Hopkins, who conducted the whole of the Installation Ceremonies. The remaining business of the day having been transacted, the brethren retired to the Seven Stars Hotel to partake of the annual banquet, supplied by Bro. John Heath, when various toasts were proposed and responded to, some capital songs were sung, thus concluding the day's proceedings in harmony and brotherly love.

LIVERPOOL.—Croxteth United Service Lodge (No. 786).—The monthly meeting of this lodge was held on Thursday, the 9th inst., at the Masonic Temple, Hope-street, Liverpool, at which there were present. Bros. Capt. W. J. Newman, W.M.; G. Owen, P.M.; G. L. Blindell, P.M.; P. Coulter, P.M.; G. G. Stopford Taylor, J.W.; J. B. Wallace, Treas.; W. B. Caw, Sec.; E. C. Stevenson, S.D.; W. H. Holt, J.D.; W. H. Tyreman, I.G.; W. G. Veale, Organist; Serg. R. Neville, Tyler; J. Bernham, J. Anderson, H. Tomkinson, W. Tomkinson, Jun., J. Dale, W. R. Thomas, W. Marwood, J. S. Harris. The visitors present were Bros. S. P. Brabner, P. Prov. S.G.W., West Lancashire; A. C. Mott, P. Prov. S.G.W., Cumberland and Westmoreland; T. Haynes, P.M. 823; C. H. Hill, P.M. 724; T. Chick, W.M. 1013; T. Roberts, 1013; T. K. Hughes, P.M. 1003; C. Peet S.D. 241; R. H. Evans, J.W. 1393; J. C. Robinson, 249; G. Woodward, and others. Two brethren were raised to the sublime degree of M.M., by Bro. P. M. Blindell, and the W.M. (Bro. Newman) afterwards initiated Mr. E. W. Parnell, into the mysteries and privileges of the Order, in a highly creditable and impressive manner. After business the brethren sat down to an to a recherché and sumptuous banquet, and during the evening the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to with that enthusiasm which is so characteristic of the gallant members of the United Service Lodge.

ALDERSHOT CAMP LODGE (No. 1331).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Royal Hotel, Aldershot, on the 2nd inst., the chair of K.S. being occupied by the W.M., Bro. Captain Richardson, R.E., who was supported by the following officers, viz., Bros. Hole, P.M. and Prov. G.P. Kent, W.M. 1424, as P.M.; A. McKenzie, S.W.; R. White, J.W.; R. Bennett, S.D.; F. Anderson, J.D.; T. Walton Mayer, I.G.; E. Harper, Tyler. The lodge having been opened in form, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. James Irvin being present, was then initiated into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry. Bro. J. Pain, a candidate for the second degree, then gave proof of his proficiency in the former degree, was entrusted with a test of merit and retired. The lodge was opened in the second degree, and Bro. Pain duly passed as a F.C. The lodge of that degree was then closed, and the brethren, whose attendance was pretty numerous, proceeded to the annual election of the W.M., Treasurer and Tyler. Six brethren appeared upon the agenda paper as eligible for the chair of K.S., but upon the proposition of the W.M., the brethren unanimously chose Bro. A. McKenzie, S.W. as their W.M. elect, Bro. Capt. Richardson being re-elected as Treasurer, and the O.G. of the Panmure Lodge, No. 723, as Tyler. The installation ceremony will be performed by the retiring W.M. Among the visitors on this occasion were Bro. J. Balfour Cockburn, Surgeon Major, Royal Engineers, who has recently returned from Gibraltar, and Bro. Samuel Cole, P.M., &c., W.M. 1424, Quartermaster, Royal Engineers, both of whom the W.M. had the pleasure of proposing as joining members. After the transaction of some other lodge business, it was closed with solemn prayer, about a quarter to nine p.m.

ORMSKIRK.—The West Lancashire Lodge (No. 1403).—The first anniversary of the consecration of this lodge took place at the Commercial Hotel, Ormskirk, on Wednesday, the 8th inst, when the festival of St. John was celebrated, and the installation of the W.M. elect took place. There was a large and highly influential gathering of brethren on the occasion, several from Liverpool being present. The West Lancashire has made excellent progress during its first year's existence, and special credit is due to the lodge for the generous spirit which they displayed on the occasion of the visit of Duke Teck and Princess Mary of Cambridge to Lathom House (the seat of Bro. the Rt. Hon. Lord Skelmersdale), when they entertained all the visiting brethren at a substantial banquet. The working of the lodge on Wednesday last was of a creditable character, and the spirit of unanimity and concord which marked the brethren was of the most admirable nature. The lodge was opened, according to ancient form by Bro. S. Wylde, W.M., who was supported by the following officers:—Bros. T. Ashmore, P.M.; W. C. Edge, J.W.; J. B. Forshaw, Treas.; I. Simm, Sec.; P. B. Foreshaw, S.D.; J. Goodman, J.D.; J. B. Lambert, P.M., D.C.; and J. Taylor, acting Tyler. The brethren present were Bros. R. Chamberlain, W. G. Watts, J. Ormisher, W. Tyrer, T. Bridge, Jun.; J. Winnard, P. Draper, J. Hornby, T. Yeatman, H. Brown, A. Wilkinson, W. H. Crabtree, G. Gould, J. Chisnall, E. Rimmer, J. Sutcliffe, and J. Hilton. Amongst the visitors were Bros. J. Pemberton, P.M., 1264; W. Shortis, W.M. 724; W. Boulton, W.M., 823; J. Wells, S.W. 580; H. Ashmore, J.W., 823; H. W. Nicholas, I.G., 249; A. Collins, 1178; H. Hughes, S.D. 1086; J. Burrows, 249; W. Gamble, 249; J. Glover, 580, &c. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, Bro. T. Ashmore, P.M., took the chair of W.M., and passed Brother G. Watts to the degree of F.C. After this portion of the work had been completed Bro. T. Ashmore proceeded to instal Bro. W. C. Edge as W.M. of the lodge for the ensuing year, the ceremony being performed by him in a most complete, impressive, and thoroughly effective manner. The newly-installed W.M. next invested the following brethren as his officers:—Bros. S. Wylde, I.P.M.; P. B. Forshaw, S.W.; J. Goodman, J.W.; J. P. Forshaw, Treas.; P. Draper, Sec.; G. Gould, S.D.; T. Bridge, J.D.; W. Tyrer, I.G.; W. G. Watts, Org.; J. B. Lambert, P.M., M.C.; and A. Wilkinson and J. Ormisher, Stewards. Bro. Nunnerly was unanimously elected Tyler. The ancient charge to the W.M. was given with great unction and spirit by Bro. Lambert, and the other charges by Bro. Ashmore. On the motion of Bro. Chamberlain, Wigan, seconded by Bro. Winnard, it was unanimously agreed to elect Bro. I. Simm an honorary member, in recognition of his services as the first Secretary of the lodge, and as a tribute to his great exertions in its foundation and establishment. The brethren subsequently sat down to a sumptuous banquet, served in capital style by Bro. H. Brown, landlord of the Commercial Hotel, under the presidency of Bro. Edge, W.M. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given by the W.M. in eloquent terms, and cordially responded to by the brethren. Bro. Lambert next gave "The Health of the W.M.," and in doing so, said that as a Mason of 34 years standing, he would advise the brethren to give him that hearty support and cordial co-operation which he so well deserved. He concluded by paying a high compliment to their newly elected W.M., and by their regular attendance contribute to the good working and prosperity of the lodge. The W.M. thanked Bro. Lambert for the very flattering terms in which he had spoken, and the brethren for the very cordial manner in which they had received the toast. He assured them that it would be his constant endeavour to fulfil the duties of the chair with credit and satisfaction to the members of the lodge, and with a deep sense of the high honour they had conferred upon him. The W.M., then gave "The Past Master and the Past Officers of the Lodge," and in doing so presented a very chaste and handsome P.M.'s jewel (supplied by Bro. G. Kenning) to Bro. Wylde, to whom he paid a high tribute of praise for the urbanity, courtesy, and zeal which had marked his conduct during his year of office. Bro. Wylde made a suitable reply, after which the toast of "The Installing Master" was given, which was felicitously acknowledged by Bro. T. Ashmore. A number of capital songs were given during the evening by Bros. Nicholas, Glover, Gould, Taylor, &c.

Bro. Portal, P.G.M.M., proposed that the thanks of the P.G. Lodge be respectfully tendered to the M.W. Grand Master for his kindness in attending that day

Bro. Beach, M.P., in seconding the motion, assured the Grand Master that he would render him every assistance in his power, and he hoped Mark Masonry would soon reach the position it ought to occupy. The brethren in this Province were, he felt certain, glad to be honoured with the presence of the Grand Master.

Earl Percy, G.M., said it was at all times pleasant to receive a kindly welcome from those over whom he was called upon to preside. He thanked them for their kindness, and for the vote of thanks they had passed. He said he could hardly hope to emulate the conduct of some of the former possessors of the chair, but at the same time he would do his utmost to promote the best interests of the Order generally.

Bro. J. R. Stebbing proposed, and Bro. H. M. Emanuel seconded, that a vote of sympathy with the family of the late Bro. C. E. Deacon (formerly Town Clerk of Southampton, and Deputy Prov. Grand Master), be entered on the minutes.—Carried.

The brethren subsequently partook of a recherche banquet, which was provided in capital style by Bro. G. Bond, of the Castle Hotel, Southsea.

CONSECRATION OF A MARK LODGE IN THE ISLE OF WIGHT.

Nearly one hundred and fifty years ago Freemasonry was known in Cowes to take substantial footing by the formation of a lodge, and during that time the Medina Lodge has continued to work with more or less prosperity. Like all other societies or orders, it has had its difficulties to contend with, but proud are we to say never a blot against it has been recorded at Grand Lodge.

During the past few years more active steps have been taken for the welfare of the Medina Lodge, and exertions have been made to establish a Mark Lodge in connection with it. These exertions have met their reward, and a petition having been signed, praying the Grand Master to grant a Mark Lodge at Cowes, the petition was favourably received, and on Thursday last Bro. J. Binckes, Grand Secretary of the Mark Grand Lodge, was deputed to attend and consecrate the lodge.

The ceremony commenced at about 1 p.m., and certainly we have never been more delighted. The oration delivered by Bro. Binckes will have a lasting impression upon the minds of the brethren assembled.

As many as eight candidates were admitted and received the degree of Mark Master.

Bro T. W. Faulkner was then duly installed in the the chair as the Worshipful Master for the year, and at the conclusion of the ceremony proceeded to invest his officers.

This being concluded, and there being no other business to transact, the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to the Fountain Hotel, where Bro. Jones provided a cold collation that for choice viands and excellence of quality we have never seen surpassed in Cowes. About twenty of the brethren sat down, and a truly enjoyable afternoon was passed.

Amongst the company were several brethren who had come from various parts to assist in the ceremonies, and a cordial vote of thanks was given to him, as well as to Bro. Binckes for the masterly manner in which he discharged the by no means easy duties devolving upon him. At about seven o'clock the brethren separated, having passed a very happy day Bro. Binckes and others being engaged to attend the meeting of the Phoenix Mark Lodge at Portsmouth in the evening.

ANNUAL FESTIVAL OF THE EBURY LODGE OF INSTRUCTION, No. 1348.

The first annual festival of the Ebury Lodge of Instruction, was held on Thursday week, at the Morpeth Arms, Ponsonby-street, Millbank, and was attended by above 50 brethren. There was a good Masonic treat in store for them, as Bro. W. Watson, P.M., P.Z. &c., was to rehearse the ceremony of consecration, and Bro. Wm. Bourne, W.M. of the parent lodge, was to give the ceremony of installation. Both the brethren rehearsed the ceremonies with the skill of accomplished professors, and obtained great applause, when they had completed them.

Bro. Matthew Cooke, P.M. in No. 23, then delivered an "Oration on Masonry," which was listened to with great attention, and thanks having been voted to him for the address, the lodge was closed, and the brethren sat down to a splendid banquet, provided by Bro. Palmer, of the Morpeth Arms, who also acted as Secretary of the dinner committee. Bro. John Coutts, P.G.P., P.M., presided.

After dinner the usual Masonic toasts were proposed and drunk.

Bro. Coutts proposed "The Grand Master, the Past Grand Master, and the Deputy Grand Master," and passed the customary compliments on their Masonic abilities and worth.

Bro. W. Bourne proposed "The W.M., Bro. John Coutts," a worthy and esteemed brother, who had always rendered every assistance that lay in his power to do the lodge good.

The toast having been heartily received,

The W.M. returned thanks, and said he thought he had been awarded more praise than was his due. Still, if he was not altogether worthy of their praise he would endeavour to become so. It was a pleasure to him at all times to be among the brethren of the Ebury Lodge, to promote their welfare, and to impart what instruction he could. It was a peculiar pleasure to him because he was one of the promoters of the lodge, and it was also a great pride to him to see not only the parent lodge, but the lodge of instruction flourish as they did. His services would always be at their disposal.

Bro. Matthew Cooke, in responding to a toast which was proposed specially for himself and Bro. Wm. Watson, said it was a pleasant duty to respond for Bro. Watson, because as an instructor he deserved all the eulogiums they could bestow on him. Those who were his pupils knew his work. In his character of masonic instructor he had passed a quarter of a century of his life, and when any one went back to that time and reflected on what Masonry was at that time and what it was now, a philosophic thought suggested itself whether it was now what it should be. Taking it altogether he supposed it was as good as could be expected. Working both for regular lodges and lodges of instruction, Bro. Watson had taken an immense amount of interest in both, and had coached up a large number of young members to a par with their seniors. Speaking as a Mason who had seen a great deal of Masonry, he (Bro. Cooke) must say that there were more letter perfect Masons in the present day than when he was initiated. In that time a Mason had to find out Masonry as best he could, a bit here and a bit there; whereas now hardly a lodge was started without having its own particular lodge of instruction attached to it. Yet he believed that old things were not to be despised, and to walk worthily in the track of old Masons was a thing in Freemasonry much to be desired. The brethren of the Ebury Lodge had done so. They had trodden in the track of one of the greatest and oldest who yet remained among them, who knew anything of the working that came down from the Lodge of Reconciliation. Bro. Watson received his knowledge of Freemasonry from the late Peter Gilks, who was one of the original brethren who were on the Lodge of Reconciliation in 1817, when the working of the two antagonistic sections became one, and their differences, became merged in one ritual and into a United Grand Lodge of England. Under these circumstances he did not like to hear all manner of petty things said about how this brother and that brother improved upon the working. He had a hankering perhaps after grey locks, and a belief in the oldest being the best. The Ebury Lodge had gone to the fountain head for instruction, and it had done well in so doing. It had taken up with no novelty, but had gone a straightforward way to get instruction. The brethren had learned of Bro. Watson, what he was ready to impart and he (Bro. Cooke) was sorry Bro. Watson was obliged through indisposition to leave them that evening, before he had seen how highly they appreciated him. It would of course be a lamentable thing if Bro. Watson were ill; but he (Bro. Cooke) had often said "God send that Billy Watson was laid up for a year, and then the brethren would be compelled to do their own work." If however he was, the brethren of the Ebury Lodge would not suffer, because there were plenty of brethren in it who could do Masonic work well. He hoped they would continue to keep others in the right path. Bro. Watson was dear to them all. He had been a tutor, an adviser, a friend; and there were many brethren in his (Bro. Cooke's) own lodge who venerated Bro. Watson as their best friend to fly to in cases of difficulty and doubt. He was a popular man, but he had never taken a part that had stamped him a position in anything. Consequently he had always swam with the stream and was likely to do so to his last home. Himself and Bro. Watson had worked together for years, in lodges, chapters, lodges of instruction, and all places where Masons "most do congregate." Though they had received his name warmly and kindly, they had not done him fair justice. Bro. Watson was not present to thank them himself. He (Bro. Cooke,) would on his behalf return thanks for him as warmly as it was in his power to do it.

The W.M. next proposed "The Health of Bro. W. Bourne," who had worked the ceremony of installation that evening, and in doing so said that the excellence of that brother's work augured well for the way in which he would instal his successor in the chair of the Ebury Lodge, when the time came round.

Bro. W. Bourne, in reply, said that he was pleased his efforts had given satisfaction to the brethren, but he assured them that he undertook his duties with much gratification, and had done the best he could. If he had given satisfaction he could not wish to do more.

The W.M. in proposing the toast of "The Officers," announced that the Ebury Lodge, was well officered, whether by the Senior and Junior Wardens or by the Deacons or Secretary.

Bros. Elliot, Summer, and Roberts, having replied, the business of the evening was shortly afterwards brought to a termination by the Tyler's toast.

SPIRITUALISM AND SPECTRAL ILLUSIONS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

When the history of this nineteenth century comes to be written it will present some curious pages, as well as some most striking contrasts, and amongst these contrasts few will be more prominent than the great advances made in scientific knowledge on the one hand, coincident with the rise and progress of Spiritualism. Science seems to appeal in vain to Spiritualism for either a satisfactory or rational explanation of anything. When Science does take the matter in hand these phenomena, said to be the work of disembodied spirits, are found to be a curious compound of trickery, credulity, animal magnetism, nervous disorder and spectral illusion. The spiritualistic trickster comes to the seance fully prepared. To night at the mere wish of one of the company a "spirit" will there and then pluck a bunch of grapes from a Portuguese vineyard and lay them upon a British table in a minute, to morrow a dove will be brought in without either breaking a window or turning a feather, and the next day a tortoise will be carried in right through the keyhole and still appear on the table as large as life and all alive and a kicking. All of course the work of disembodied spirits. The credulity which believes these phenomena will believe anything. As to the phenomena experienced by Bro. Carpenter, these if not assisted by trickery, are the effect of the nervous action of the parties present. Bro. Carpenter may imagine that he has held a conversation for three or four hours with a disembodied spirit, but that does not really prove that he did so. In my opinion it only shows that there is something wrong with his nerves, and if sufficiently prior to the time at which he held this supposed conversation, he had got a dose of the proper medicine, the conversation referred to would never have been held.

In my opinion there is considerable relationship between dreaming and spiritualism in certain of its phases, as the poet says.—

"Dreams are but interludes which fancy makes,
When monarch reason sleeps, this mimic wakes,
Compounds a medley of disjointed things,
A court of cobblers, and a mob of kings;
Light fumes are merry, grosser fumes are sad,
Both are the reasonable soul run mad;
And many monstrous forms in sleep we see,
That neither were, nor are, nor e'er can be.
Sometimes forgotten things, long cast behind,
Rush forward in the brain, and come to mind,
The nurse's legends are for truth received,
And the man dreams but what the boy believed;
Sometimes we but rehearse a former play;
The night restores our actions done by day,
As hounds in sleep will open for their prey;
In short the farce of dreams is of a piece.
In chimeras all, and more absurd or less."

So with spiritualism, reason is sent to sleep and fancy allowed full play. Things are not what they are, but what they seem. The imaginary spirit may be nothing more than the scratching of a mouse, the shadow on the wall, or a mote in the eye, but with such a rational or materialistic explanation, spiritualism will of course have nothing to do.

I am yours fraternally,

W. P. BUCHAN.

MASONIC JEWELS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and brother,—

By the book of Constitutions, pages 18, 68, and 118, no Jewel shall be worn in any lodge &c., unless such as are connected with those degrees recognised by the Grand Lodge as part of ancient Freemasonry.

By the articles of 1813 it is declared that it only recognises the degrees of E.A., F.C., and M.M., together with the R.A., but this article is not intended to prevent any Lodge or Chapter from holding a meeting in any of the degrees of the Orders of Chivalry, according to the constitutions of those Orders.

Now at that period the Knights Templar and the Knights of the Red Cross and K.H.S. were the only organized chivalric orders existing in England, and consequently it would appear that the above permissive clause applies solely to their members.

I would therefore ask your numerous readers whether a member of the K.T. or Red Cross &c., can, as a matter of right, insist on wearing the jewel of these latter orders in a Craft Lodge.

Yours fraternally,

H.

THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE OF THE ORDER OF ST. JOHN.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir, and Brother,—

It is painfully obvious that Bro. Holmes has no knowledge whatever of the subject on which he assumes to write, and as he now thinks it well to supplement unsupported assertion, and bold misrepresentations, by the element of insult, I decline any further participation in a controversy involving weapons to which I am, happily, a stranger.

I must however crave space for a distinct and emphatic denial that this discussion was originated by me, as stated by Bro. Holmes. He full well knows that it was commenced by himself, on the 16th of November last, and continued by him at the meeting of Grand Conclave on the 13th of December; and that notwithstanding an explanation by me, in your columns, of the valid Constitution of the English Order, and a remonstrance against the course pursued by Bro. Holmes, he wilfully pursued the same action on the 4th of January last, and thus invoiced the humiliating consequences to which your readers saw him exposed; consequences unhappily extending far beyond the personal defeat he so well merited.

Bro. Holmes adds one last grievous blunder to the long catalogue of his mistakes. He thinks the Order of St. John is dedicated to the Almoner, a dedication which has been abandoned for the not very short period of about 750 years. The Order has been, during that time, as still is, dedicated to the Baptist.

In common with many others, I deeply lament the indiscretion which has provoked this controversy, and whilst I deplore its unfortunate results, I am glad that the responsibility rests not on my hands.

Fraternally yours,

LUPUS.

[We have inserted the above communication at the earnest request of our esteemed correspondent. But we now must positively state that no further correspondence upon this subject will be published in The Freemason.]

Masonic Tidings.

St. John's Gate, which, it was stated, had become the property of the Knights of St. John, whose meeting place it was to be, still remains as a tavern, with all its antiquarian and literary features unchanged. Mr. Gay has succeeded Mr. Wickens in the proprietorship.

A meeting of the members of the Royal Arch Chapter of Improvement, and the Metropolitan Chapter of Instruction, will be held at the Jamaica Coffee House, St. Michael's Alley, Cornhill, on Tuesday, the 21st inst., at seven p.m., precisely, to confirm resolutions for their amalgamation under the title of the Metropolitan Royal Arch Chapter of Improvement, and their removal to the Jamaica Coffee House; also to revise the scale of fees.

The annual banquet of the Constitutional Lodge of Instruction (No. 55) will be held at the Wheatsheaf Hotel, Hand Court, Holborn, on Tuesday the 28th inst., at 7 p.m. Bro. J. R. Stacey will preside.

We are informed that Bro. the Rt. Hon. Lord Tenterden, Past S.G.W., has been appointed to succeed the Rt. Hon. Edmund Hammond, as Permanent Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

The Finsbury Park Lodge of Instruction (No. 1288,) commenced its meetings for the winter season, on Wednesday last.

The last moveable assembly of the General Grand Conclave of the Masonic and Military Order of the Red Cross of Constantine and Appendant Orders, will be held at the Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, on Tuesday, 21st inst., at two o'clock.

Bide your time without anxiety. Changes of temperature prevalent in autumn frequently upset persons who are most cautious of their health and most particular in their diet. Holloway's corrective purifying and gently aperient pills are the best remedy for all defective action of the digestive organs. They augment the appetite, strengthen the stomach, correct biliousness and carry off all that is noxious from the system. Holloway's Pills are composed of rare "balsamic matter," and on that account are particularly well adapted for the young, delicate, and aged. The field of beneficial work done by Holloway's well known and widely appreciated pills, is too large for any attempt to catalogue all the diseases and distempers remediable by them.—ADVT.

Obituary.

BRO. ROBERT BIGSBY.

The obituary of The Times, of the 1st instant, records the death on the 27th ultimo, of Robert Bigsby, G.C.J.J., L.L.D. Dr. Bigsby died at at his residence at Peckham Rye, after a short and painful illness, retaining to the last the powers of a vigorous intellect. The Daily News states that he was the third oldest member of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem in England now living; the seniors being, we believe, Sir John Philippart, K.G.V., and Macpherson of Cluny.

Dr. Bigsby was a Knight of St. James of the Sword of Portugal; he was formerly a Fellow of the Royal Society, and of the Antiquaries; and at the period of his death was a Fellow, Associate and Member of a large number of distinguished literary and philanthropic associations at home and abroad. He was the author of numerous works, antiquarian and chivalric, and of many poems. His history of Repton is a valuable contribution to archaeological topography, and his dramatic composition "Ombo," has been characterised by Longfellow as one of the finest epic poems of the day. Shortly before his death, Dr. Bigsby had completed and published his latest work, "The Spirit of Chivalry," a fine disquisition upon past chivalric sentiment, as bearing on our modern philanthropy, and duties, dedicated by permission to the Earl of Shaftesbury. Dr. Bigsby had received a pension from the civil list in recognition of his literary merit, and had also received distinguished notice from the late Prince Consort.

Our late Bro. Bigsby had resided only a short time at Peckham Rye, but had previously attended Craft lodge meetings as frequently as his health permitted. Increasing weakness of constitution had however of late compelled him to refrain from joining the gatherings of his brethren. He had never attained any higher lodge rank than that of Master Mason, and was not a member of any of the other degrees.

BRO. CHARLES HENRY PALMER.

On Thursday, the 9th inst., Bro. Charles Henry Palmer, after a short illness, departed this life in the 71st year of his age. He was much respected, while holding a very humble station in life. His cheerful deportment, in the midst of the heavy trials he passed through, in connection with a correct Masonic spirit, gave him the esteem of all who knew him. He was initiated in the Lodge of Peace and Harmony, at Romsey, on the 7th day of July, 1830, and was raised in the same lodge, on the following 20th of Oct. Little is known by the writer as to his early career, owing to the nature of his occupation, which was latterly that of an agent for the sale of standard works, issued by some of the London and Edinburgh publishing houses.

A serious illness, some few years ago, rendered our brother unable to grapple with the claims of his domestic arrangements, and it was a task that his brethren gladly accepted to make him comfortable during the close of his life. He had resided for some 30 or 40 years in Torquay, and it was in the same place where he passed away to that lodge where his peace will be perfect. Little is known as to his official position in the Craft; but with the brethren in Torquay, he was regarded as a worthy recipient of their favours. His end was peace. He was interred at the General Cemetery, Torquay, on Tuesday, the 14th inst., the funeral was attended by his widow and only son, with other friends. A number of the brethren were at the grave, to pay a tribute of respect to his memory, among those present we noticed, W. Bros. J. Chapman, W.M. 1402; David Watson, I.P.M. 328; J. Giles, S.W. 328; J. C. Parker, S.D. 328; J. Piggott, J.D. 328; C. Watts, Steward, 328; J. Morgan, J.D. 1402; J. Dodge, I.G. 1402; Tripe, J. Rositer, J. Paish, and J. Chenneour, and others.

The service was beautifully rendered by the Rev. C. H. Kelly, after which W. Bro. D. Watson consigned the body of our brother, to the grave, and committed his spirit to God who gave it. Each of the brethren then threw a sprig of acacia into the grave, and Worshipful Bro. John Chapman, gave the following oration, which was listened to with deep emotion.

THE ORATION.

"We meet this day, to pay 'the last sad office of respect, to departed merit.' Amidst the chastening influences of life's trials, our brother learned the useful lesson of resignation.

"The recollection we have of his cheerful smile, as he rested by the wayside, to enjoy the warm genial rays of the summer sun:—the fraternal greeting:—the pleasure he manifested, as he recounted the happy influences of Freemasonry, on his drooping spirit. These, we shall never forget.

"Forty-three years ago our brother was raised in the Lodge of 'Peace and Harmony' at Romsey. He was then directed 'to that bright morning star, whose rising brings peace and salvation to the faithful and obedient of the human race.' He has by the guidance of its holy ray, been able 'to trample the King of Errors' beneath his feet; and he is now raised to the Grand Lodge above, where 'Peace and Harmony' are perfect. He rests from his labours. He has lived his threescore years and ten; his faltering foot has passed thro' the valley and shadow of death; he now shines, as the stars for ever and ever.

"This ceremony, has its solemn warning for us. Death, is the harbinger of life! the antechamber of immortality. The soul purified by the holy principles of our sublime Order, is led to those mansions of happiness, 'where the wicked cease from troubling, and where the weary are at rest.'

"The lease of life with some is short, while others run their allotted term. We gain by the delay, if we improve the moments as they pass. Our Masonic duties performed correctly, we retire, and our works do follow us. Life is not a dream, 'tis a serious trust, for which we must give account. Masonry, by the practice of its virtues, forms a holy life, and points to a happy future. The Volume of the Sacred Law is our chart, its teachings our standard, and its promises our only hope. By brotherly love; the head, heart, and hand is devoted to practice of that which S. John considered the acme of all the virtues, charity! We signally fail, if this virtue does not rule our thoughts, words and actions.

"Then let the sad office of respect we pay to the memory of our departed brother encourage us (ere we waive an adieu to this world) to practice all the Masonic virtues, so that on our departure from this frail life, we may be welcomed with the joyful salvation, of 'well done good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord.'

In consigning the mortal remains of our Bro. Palmer to the silent grave, may we not say:— 'And oh! when both broken our bowl and our token, In that Home, where dwell Honour, Virtue and Love; These stamp'd in each soul, be our pass to the goal, And we shall meet once more in the Grand Lodge above.' "

CRYSTAL PALACE DISTRICT GAS COMPANY.—the half yearly meeting of the above Company was held on Tuesday, 23rd ultimo, at the London Tavern, Bro. Professor Erasmus Wilson, F.R.S., in the chair. The balance sheet for the half-year shows a profit £7361 1s. 1d. A dividend of 6 per cent. on the preference capital, 7 per cent. on the ordinary 7 per cent. capital, and 10 per cent. on the original capital, was declared, free of Income Tax. It was proposed, seconded, and carried unanimously, that the salary of the Secretary (Bro. Magnus Ohren A.I.C.E.) be increased by the amount of £50. The shareholders expressed their great approval and satisfaction with the report. Votes of thanks to the Directors, Auditors, Officers of the Company, and the Chairman, closed the proceedings.

LINES IN COMMEMORATION OF THE NEW MASONIC TEMPLE AT PHILADELPHIA.

Erected by the Brethren working under the Pennsylvania Grand Lodge, September, 1873.

At length we see the Fabric clear
Which loving hearts have raised;
At length a Landmark far and near
In majesty, God be praised!
To the workmen without danger,
Amid the thronging street,
Rises to tell each stranger
Where true Freemasons meet.

There the Grand Architect's skilful hand
Has each classic Order traced;
Here the tried Craftsmen's sturdy hand
Have each solemn symbol chased;
What'ere we scan—wher'ere we cast
Our startled gaze around,
We see how in proportions vast
That Temple fills the ground.

Oh! mighty art of Mason's skill;
Oh! goodly work and true,
Which to adorn, enrapture still,
Arrests each spell-bound view;
Around thee group the ages old
Of legends quaint and rare,
Which oft to us have calmly told
Our Craft is everywhere.

And you who come to join to-day
In mystic words and rites,
You whom, and others far away,
One sacred bond unites,
My all of happy greeting,
And friendship's changeless vow,
Attend your joyous meeting,
Your goodly gathering now.

And may this great and stately Hall
Whose opening now endears
To loyal Masons, one and all,
The memories of past years,
Recall some smaller, humbler room
Where you saw Masonic light,
And found in dimness and in gloom
Both Love, and Truth, and Right.

Yet some, alas! are no more here
Who graced that ancient scene;
Some loyal hearts, some faces dear,
Are now mid what has been;
And you who throng so gladly
To obey your summons now
May mourn perhaps all sadly
Warm heart and loving brow.

But still to you this mighty show
Speaks in full-voiced tone,
And tells you, if in accents low,
Of truths you call your own;
The open hand and kindly face,
Friendships which never cease,
Soft sympathy's all gentle grace,
And unity and peace.

Oh happy Brotherhood to-day
Of Masons all sincere,
Of loyal hearts and loving way,
Of friendship ever dear;
We greet you now in all good will
With a Craftsman's heart and hand,
And mid each earthly good or ill
We hail thy gallant band!

Yes, across the Atlantic ocean,
Athwart the billowy sea,
In full and deep devotion
We send a greeting kind to thee;
From this great land of our's
From many a Craftsman true,
Who amid all pleasant hours
Has doted the good old "blue!"

May then our ancient Order here
March on its tolerant way,
Without a doubt, without a fear,
In its glorious array.
May its banner as it floats above
Still proclaim in grace and light,
That Freemasonry is Universal Love,
And Honour, Trust, and Right.

MASONIC LITERATURE.

It seems, as if almost everywhere there was at this moment in our good Order, not only a dearth but a difficulty of Masonic Literature. In the little kingdom of Portugal, indeed, with its 81 lodges, under the Lusitanian Orient, we hear of two Masonic papers, and it is just possible, that, our excellent Portuguese brethren give to those journals a warm and united support.

In the United States Masonic papers are many, but some no sooner appear than they disappear, like fire-flies in some woodland glade, and even there, the complaints are many that the readers are few.

In France, as the able editor of the Chaîne de l'Union says, Masonry does not pay; it entails expenses, and from Germany we hear the cry that more readers are wanted to encourage and support their able Masonic Press.

In our own free and favoured land our great and flourishing Craft patronize,—we can hardly say support—two Masonic publications, the hebdomadal Freemason, and the Monthly Serial the Masonic Magazine, but if we should seem to convey that either or both these publications received due and befitting encouragement from the Order at large, we should be greatly misleading our readers. On the contrary, there is a large and needful margin due, on every ground of fraternal goodwill and literary encouragement, to be obtained from the Craft of liberal and regular support! Not that we wish to speak complainingly or repiningly.

We seek to do our duty to the Craft and by the Craft, and cheered and supported by the fraternal goodwill of many zealous and enlightened brethren, in our always arduous, often unremunerative efforts, we shall persevere in these our endeavours, believing that we are, in our humble measure, advancing the cause of Freemasonry amongst us, and paving the way for the eventual reward and recognition of such endeavours, in the diffusive spread of a cultured and enlightened study of our history, and teachings, and archæology.

But it might be a curious enquiry why there should be this want of appreciation of our Masonic Literature, why, here as elsewhere, though the Press is ready, the readers and subscribers are wanting, why in short, do what we will and labour as we may, the history of our Masonic literature is but the repetition of the old story of praiseworthy efforts, but little return, continued sacrifices, but no success.

Since 1793, when the first Masonic Magazine appeared, there is nothing to record but a succession of appearances and disappearances of our Masonic serials; all flourishing for a while, and then vanishing down the stream of time.

Even as we write, the ghosts of departed editors seem to remind us that our labours, like theirs, are only temporary, and that, in a little time, we shall probably say, as they did.—

"Yet all these things are only transient,
And with this fleeting age expire
Alike forget the precept sage,
The historian's tale, the poets lyre."

Now it has been said that one of the reasons why our good brethren have little time, either for poetry or prose, for Weekly Journal or Monthly Magazine, is that they are too busy. No doubt a large proportion of our good Craft, are "bread-winners," in all of honest industry and legitimate toil, for their families and themselves. To some, no doubt, the opportunities of literary recreation are few, and to others far between.

But yet there is a large class of Freemasons, to whom the perusal of our Masonic literature could be a matter of no doubt or difficulty, and that is just the class which has not yet accorded a warm, a full, a sympathetic support to Masonic literature. For though the most expect to have some Masonic serial or journal provided for them, they often forget that, as Bro. Hubert says in La Chaîne de l'Union, and as Henri Quatre said before him, "il faut vivre," and that those who provide the literature deserve to be supported and encouraged.

We believe, as we said before, that the great hindrance to the encouragement and support of Masonic Literature amongst us lies in the fact that our lodges make little—rather, no provision for literary studies or Masonic libraries.

If every lodge had attached to it a good reading-room, the library would soon be forthcoming by donations of books or money, and the taste for literature once encouraged, it would soon increase, and we should, by reading the Masonic literature of other countries besides our own, emerge from that insular contentedness of knowing little or nothing of intellectual Freemasonry, and which we, good Freemasons as we are in England in other respects, seem rather to esteem a credit to ourselves than otherwise.

Now we, on the contrary, hold that if we are thoroughly to realize the truths and teachings of our benevolent Order, we must endeavour, by an intellectual study of our records and our antiquities, to remove from us that unjust aspersion which the outer world are often so good as to cast upon us, that we read nothing but our own historians, and that we don't believe them.

We trust, however, that a movement is beginning amongst us to introduce and encourage reading-rooms and libraries in our lodges, whenever it is possible so to do. We feel sure that nothing will so tend to advance a scientific Freemasonry amongst us, or to increase our own appreciation and support of Masonic Literature.

We almost feel tempted, like our eloquent Bro. Hubert, to say to our many friends to day:—"Loges, Chapitres, Macons, reveillez! Sortez de votre indifférence à l'égard de la Presse." Lodges Companions, Masons, at last awake. Come out of your indifference as regards the Press.

Or as the Irishman said, when he saw his wife in a bad humour, "Come out of that!" Come out, we would say, like genial Paddy, to our good brethren, of that indifference to the interests and progress of Masonic Literature which has marked us far too long in England, and aid those who seek perseveringly and patiently to offer to to the Brotherhood the valuable and improving influences of a sound and wholesome Literature.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

The Quarterly General Court of the Masonic Girls' School was held on Saturday last, at Freemasons' Hall, when there was a very large attendance of brethren. Bro. Major J. Creaton, V.P., took the chair.

The usual long list of minutes of previous committees was read by Bro. R. Wentworth Little, the Secretary, and unanimously confirmed by the brethren, who then proceeded to elect Trustees of the General and Sustentation Funds.

Dr. Ramsay proposed, and Bro. John Symonds seconded, Bro. Major Creaton as the Trustee of the General Fund, to which of course there was no opposition, and Major Creaton was duly elected. Major Creaton, in returning thanks, said he would not allow a moment to pass without offering his best acknowledgments for such a compliment. However light the duties might be which were imposed upon him by the brethren, he could not but feel highly flattered by such a mark of their confidence. It was almost unnecessary for him to tell them, as they knew him so well, that he should always be at his post, but he could add that whatever was required of him in his character as Trustee of the General Fund, he should do as well as it was in his power. He concluded by thanking them again for their confidence.

Bro. John Symonds proposed and Bro.

Joseph Smith seconded, the Marquess of Ripon, and the Earl of Carnarvon, as Trustees of the Sustentation Fund.

The brethren unanimously elected both these noblemen.

Dr. Wharton P. Hood, was elected Honorary Surgeon to the Institution, in place of Dr. Bridge, deceased.

The election of 19 girls out of a list of 31 approved candidates for admission to the School was then proceeded with, and at the declaration of the poll, the following were declared to be successful.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

The October Quarterly Court of the Governors and Subscribers of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys was held on Monday, the 13th inst., in the Board-room, Freemasons' Hall. There was a very scanty attendance of brethren. Bro. H. Browse, V.P., took the chair, and was supported by Bros. S. Rawson, John Symonds, Thomas W. White, A. H. Tattershall, Samuel May, H. Massey, J. L. Hime, S. Rosenthal, H. Muggeridge, and a few other brethren.

Bro. F. Binckes, Secretary, read the various minutes of the committees which had met since last Quarterly Court, the most important item in which was the rendering vacant by the House Committee of the office of Head Master, at Christmas next, and the advertising for a successor at a salary of £400 a year, with an unfurnished house free of rates and taxes. Such of the minutes as were put for confirmation were confirmed, and the brethren then proceeded with the election of 16 boys out of an approved list of 49 candidates. At the declaration of the poll the following were found to be duly elected:—

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF STAFFORDSHIRE.

The annual assembly of the Freemasons of the Province of Staffordshire took place at Stafford on Wednesday. The Provincial Grand Lodge was opened in the Grand Jury Room, at the Shire Hall, about one o'clock in the afternoon, by the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, the Earl of Shrewsbury, in the presence of about 100 brethren from the various lodges in the county.

Palmer, 546, P. Prov. A.D.C.; G. H. Hawley, 546; F. Allen Wilson, 482, and others.

The minutes of the last Provincial Grand Lodge were read by Bro. Cartwright, the Prov. G. Secretary. The R.W. Prov. G.M. spoke of the Prov. D.G.M., Bro. Tudor, as one of the best Masons in the province, acknowledged his indebtedness to him, and explained that it had been decided to appoint Bro. Frank James to be the Provincial Deputy Grand Master. He also expressed his high regard for Bro. Howells, who had for some years held the important position of P.G. Treasurer. He regretted that they were about to lose the valuable services of Bro. Howells by reason of his removal to a distant part of the country. His lordship highly complimented other officers.

The following Provincial Grand Officers were appointed:—

Immediately after these appointments were made a procession was marshalled, and the brethren walked to St. Mary's Church, where a sermon was preached by the P.G. Chaplain, the Rev. J. H. Iles, from the words "And now abideth faith, hope, and charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity" (1st Cor. xiii.). In an excellent discourse the preacher spoke of the religious character of Freemasonry, and showed how the aim of the Craft was to lead the members on to a knowledge of the unwritten Bible, the Bible of nature—the Bible written in every man's own conscience—without pretending to have power over the heart, but leaving that to God, whose name Freemasons invoked in all their proceedings, and whose words they took as the foundation of all their principles.

On the re-opening of the lodge after service it was stated that the collection in the church amounted to £14 7s., which was increased from the funds of the lodge to £15 15s., and was presented as follows:—£8 8s. to the North Staffordshire Infirmary; £5 5s. to St. Peter's Collegiate Schools, Wolverhampton; and £2 2s. to St. Mary's, Stafford. It was also decided to present £26 5s. out of the lodge funds towards the Masonic School for Girls (London) funds.

The banquet was served in the Assembly-room, on the west side of which the principal chair was placed. The R.W.P.G.M., when seated, had the South Staffordshire brethren on his right and the North Staffordshire brethren on his left, and he was supported by the R.W.P.D.G.M., Bro. F. James; the P. Prov. D.G.M., Bro. G. S. Tudor; the P. G. Ch., the Rev. J. H. Iles; Bro. H. Meredith, P. G.R.; Bro. J. Bodenham, P.G. T.; Bro. W. Cartwright, P.G.S.; Bro. R. W. Little, P.G.S., Middlesex; Bro. F. Derry, P.J.G. W.; Bro. C. Matthews, P. Pro. J.G.W.; &c. Choice fruits and flowers from the R.W.G.M.'s gardens at Ingestre were tastefully arranged on the tables; a fine collection of plants was arranged on a table in the centre of the room; the walls of the room were decorated with Masonic emblems and flags; and a number of ladies so far graced the banquet with their presence as to occupy the galleries on three sides of the room. The room thus had a very pleasing effect, and Mr. Wood, of the North-Western Hotel, provided a sumptuous repast, which gave general satisfaction. The speeches after dinner were brief, and they were interspersed with music supplied by Bro. Barlow, P. Prov. G.O., who was assisted by the Burslem Vocal Union; and the evening was very pleasantly spent.

After the health of her Majesty had been drunk, the R.W.P.G.M. proposed "The M.W.P.G.M., the Prince of Wales, and the other members of the Royal Family," remarking that his Royal Highness had Masonry thoroughly at heart. The toast was cordially honoured.

In proposing the next toast, "The M.W.G. M., the Marquess of Ripon, and the M.W.D.G. M., the Earl of Carnarvon," the R.W. Prov. G. M. mentioned that those exalted brethren had agreed that the P.G. Lodge of Staffordshire was worthy of a visit, and the Prince of Wales had promised to pay the lodge a visit—an announcement which was received with manifestations of satisfaction.

The R.W.D. Prov. G.M., Bro. James, proposed the health of the Right Worshipful Grand Master, observing that he had had many years' experience of the working of Freemasonry in that hall, and he must say the zeal and interest of the noble lord by his side in the cause of Freemasonry was as great as any of his predecessors in the office he held as ruler of the Provincial Grand Lodge. The quarterly meetings inaugurated by the noble lord during the past year were calculated to promote the interests of the Masonic institutions of the province. His lordship was a jovial and heartily good mason; he possessed the true attributes of an Englishman, and he was sure they wished the noble lord would remain, at the head of the lodge for many years. The toast was drunk with much heartiness.

The R.W. Prov. G.M. acknowledged the toast, and said that during the past year he had been suffering very much from ill-health, which had prevented him attending to his masonic duties as he had desired to attend to them, if he should have known more of the various lodges in the country. He had remained in the county longer than he should have done in order to attend that day's gathering; the proceedings of the day had given him satisfaction; and he was sure that it needed only due attention on the officers to ensure the Province of Staffordshire being equal to any in the country. He hoped the appointments of officers that day had been satisfactory. They had been made with great care and consideration, but if any improvement could be made next year he should be happy to make it.

Bro. Marsh, P. Prov. S.G.W., who officiated in the absence Bro. Taylor, the newly-appointed P.S.W., proposed "The Health of the R.W.D. Prov. G.M., Bro. Frank James," who had been a Mason 25 years, who had held a very distinguished position in the province, and who was eminently qualified to assist the Right Worshipful Grand Master of the Province. They might be sure that the interests of Freemasonry would not suffer in his hands. His heart was in the work, and he was actuated by a desire to advance the interests of Freemasonry in Staffordshire.

The R.W.D. Prov. G.M., in responding, said he had never undertaken any office in Masonry which he had not endeavoured to carry out to the best of his ability. The duties were arduous, but they had been lessened; and if, as in days of yore, it had been necessary to visit every lodge in the province, he must have remitted that duty to a younger brother. But during the past year there had been inaugurated a system of holding periodical meetings of the Provincial Grand Lodge in different parts of the province, where the assistance of the Provincial Grand Officers was given; and thus there would be an opportunity for the members of the several lodges becoming more acquainted with the several lodges in the district in which each quarterly meeting was held. He heartily thanked Lord Shrewsbury for the appointment of himself as Deputy, and he hoped he should not prove himself unworthy of the position.

Bro. Derry, Prov. J.G.W., proposed "The Health of the P. Prov. D.G.M., Bro. Tudor," who made a suitable acknowledgment.

Bro. C. Matthews, P. Prov. J.G.W., gave the toast of "The Provincial Grand Chaplains," which was followed by that of "The Provincial Grand Wardens and other Officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge," proposed by Bro. Seyde, P. Prov. A.D.C.

The R.W. Prov. G.M. spoke of the welcome always accorded to visiting brethren, and proposed the toast of "The Visitors and the Masonic charities."

Bro. Wentworth Little, Prov. G. Sec. Middlesex, and Secretary to the Girls' School, responded. He said that after the admirable discourse of the Provincial Grand Chaplain that day it was unnecessary for him to expatiate upon the principles of Freemasonry, but with reference to one of those great principles—charity—it was his duty to say a few words, more especially illustrative of the practical results achieved by the Fraternity. There were three Masonic Charities, the Girls' and Boys' School, and the Benevolent Institution for the Aged. Of these the Boys' School had for the last ten years received the largest measure of support from the brethren, inasmuch as the magnificent sum of nearly £100,000 had been contributed by the friends of that Institution, and it was only fair to add that the benefits afforded by the School had been proportionately extended by the admission of a largely increased number of pupils. During the past year alone donations amounting to upwards of £21,000 had been announced at the festivals of the three Masonic Charities, and he now claimed for the Girls' School and the Benevolent Institution the same liberality and concentrated support which the other Institutions had so long enjoyed, and that claim was founded upon a similar foundation of strength, namely that as the Craft increased in numbers and influence, so the Charities must increase in usefulness, and in extending their benefits to the deserving objects of their bounty. He was happy to say that this was being done, (cheers) the committees were fully alive to their responsibilities, and by January twenty additional children would be received into the Girls' Schools, the building now being enlarged for their accommodation (applause). It was the fashion in some parts of the provinces to call their great national Masonic Institutions the "London Masonic Charities," as if they were restricted to the metropolis, but he maintained that the Charities were for the benefit of no particular section, but for the whole of the English Craft. (Applause). In conclusion, Bro. Little expressed his thanks to the Earl of Shrewsbury for having kindly consented to preside at the anniversary festival of the Masonic Institution for Girls in May next, and finally expressed his acknowledgements as a visitor, and as Secretary of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Middlesex, for the hospitable greeting and reception given him by the Staffordshire brethren, particularising the noble Chairman, and Bro. Bodenham, Provincial Grand Treasurer.

The R.W.P.G.M., in complimentary terms, proposed the toast of "The Prov. G. Treasurer and the Prov. G. Secretary," which was drunk with applause, and which was duly acknowledged by Bro. Bodenham and Bro. Cartwright respectively. The other toasts were "The Ladies," whom Bro. Marson and Bro. Frank James asked the brethren to honour, and on whose behalf Bro. Yates and Bro. Seyde acknowledged the compliment; "The Provincial Grand Stewards," proposed by Bro. F. James, and responded to by Bro. Fairhead; and the Tyler's toast.

CONSECRATION OF TWO RED CROSS CONCLAVES.

It has been our privilege for some time past to chronicle the continued success of all sections of the Masonic Order in England, as evidenced by the repeated reports of the inauguration of new lodges, chapters, conclaves, and preceptories in the several degrees, and we have now great pleasure in recording the advent of two twin branches of the Red Cross Order, which were inaugurated on the same day, in Wales and on the border of the Principality. For a considerable period the Red Cross Order has held its own, not only in the mother country, but wherever it has been established, through good and through (mistaken) evil report, and the plainest proof of the vitality of its organisation is to be found in the fact that its jurisdiction now extends over Europe, Asia, Africa, America, and Australasia, where its principles and rites are cherished and promulgated by some of the best and brightest Masons in existence. Without unduly exalting this Order above other developments of the original plan of Freemasonry, a course which is neither necessary nor desirable, it may safely be said that few Masonic degrees have exercised such a powerful influence, or exhibited such a marvellous fecundity of membership within so brief a period as has elapsed since the revival of the Knightly Order of the Red Cross of Constantine in Great Britain.

No less than one hundred and twelve conclaves have been founded since 1865, in all quarters of the globe, and by a consistent perseverance in the path of honour, the Grand Council has won for itself the respect, if not the recognition of the other governing bodies in Freemasonry.

On Monday, the 22nd ult., the St. John's Conclave No. 105, was inaugurated at the Bute Masonic Hall, Cardiff, by Sir Knight R. Wentworth Little, G. Treas., as M.P.S., assisted by Sir Knights J. G. Marsh, P. G. Architect, as V.; Thomas William White G. A. Treas., as H.P.; S. Rosenthal, G.S.B.; W. Williams, Int. Gen. Com.; Sladen, M.P.S., No. 23; and G. Alexander. The chamber was most beautifully decorated and presented a brilliant appearance, the appointments being very complete. After the solemn rite of dedication the following Masons were installed Knights of the Order. Bros. L. A. Homfray, W. Williams, J. Hughes, Sidney Hurford, T. W. Jacobs, W. H. Davies, J. Matthews, O. Hurford, P. Thomas, C. Edmonds, and J. Waters. Also Bro. Davies (2nd), as Sentinel. The grade of Viceroy was conferred on Sir Knights Homfray, Williams, Hughes, and Jacobs, and that of Sovereign upon the first three, it being understood that other conclaves will soon be founded in the locality.

The Commission of Sir Knight Homfray as an Intendant General was then read and presented to him, after which the rank of honorary members was awarded by acclamation to Sir Knights Little, Marsh, and White, for their services, and the conclave was closed.

The Knights then returned to Newport, and proceeded to the Masonic Hall, where the St. Mark's Conclave, No. 96, was to be opened, and in addition to those already named, a considerable number of visiting Knight Companions assisted at the inaugural ceremony, including Ill. Sir Knights W. R. Woodman, M.D., Grand Recorder, who attended specially from Exeter; Major-General Gore B. Munbee, Intendant General for Somersetshire; G. F. Tuckey, M.P.S. Elect No. 17; J. Rogers, V.E. No. 23; O. D. Thomas, P.S. No. 23; H. T. Davies, Hon. V.E. 23; W. West, Hon. V.E. 23; T. E. Guest, 23; and D. Davies, 23.

In this instance the whole of the magnificent ceremony of dedication was rendered with the most impressive effect, the hall being well adapted for scenic display, and hung round with the banners of the Knights, and garnished with the roses and lilies emblematic of the Order, it formed a coup d'œil of surpassing beauty.

Our space will not permit us to record in detail all the proceedings of the day, and we must content ourselves with stating that Bros. W. Pickford, H. Hellyer, R. B. Evans, C. Denton, T. Duckworth, Blandford, Jacobs, Roper, and Flood, were installed Knights, with H. Fletcher, as Sentinel.

The rank of Viceroy was conferred on Sir Knights Pickford, Hellyer, Evans, and Tuckey, M.P. elect, No. 17. The officers appointed for No. 96, were G. Alexander, V.E.; W. West, S.G.; H. J. Davis, I.G.; Roper, H.P.; Guest, Prefect; Hood, Orator; Pickford, Treas.; Evans, Recorder, Denton, S.B.; Duckworth, H. and Jacobs, Steward. For 105, J. Rogers, V.E.; J. W. Jacobs, S.G.; S. Hurford, I.G.; W. H. Davies, H.P.; O. Hurford, Prefect; Williams, Treas.; Matthews, S.B.; Thomas, Orator; and Edmonds, Steward. Sir Knights Little, White, Woodman, Marsh, Williams, Homfray, and Rosenthal were elected Honorary members. The Conclave was then closed, and the Mount Moriah Sanctuary K.H.S., opened, and Sir Knights Homfray, Tuckey, Hellyer, Pickford, Evans, T. W. Jacobs, Rogers, D. Davies, West, H. S. Davies, Williams and Thomas were created K.H.S., and greeted in the Holy Order of St. John the Evangelist.

The Sanctuary and Commandery were then closed, and the fratres adjourned to the King's Head Hotel, where a capital banquet was served, Sir Knight W. Williams, Intendant General, presided, supported by General Munbee, Dr. Woodman, Homfray, Little, White, Marsh, Rosenthal, and a large number of Knights. Lord Bective's health was proposed by General Munbee, in highly appreciative terms, and due honour was paid to the other members of the Grand Council, for whom the G. R. responded.

In fact great enthusiasm prevailed with reference to the entire success of the day's proceedings, and the Chairman expressed to Sir Knight Little the thanks of both conclaves for having reserved a portion of his holiday on purpose to pay them a visit and perform the important ceremonies of opening the two Conclaves. The name of Sir Knight Little was coupled with the Masonic Charities, and in reply he made a powerful appeal to the Knights to vindicate the high claims that the Order had to support by identifying it more thoroughly with the cause of Masonic charity. (Applause). Sir Knight Williams subsequently stated that both the conclaves would at once become subscribers to the Girls' School, which their honorary member so well represented as Secretary. The Red Cross Song was sung with great fervour, and after a most pleasant evening the "Sentinel's Toast" was given, and the company separated.

There are in connection with the College
THREE ANNUAL EXHIBITIONS,
open for general competition to all students, and tenable for three years.

Special Classes are formed for preparing students for the Legal, Medical, Home, Colonial, and Indian Civil Service Examinations; and for entrance to Woolwich, Coopers-hill, and the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, Dublin, Durham, and Edinburgh.

The Religious Teaching is based on strictly Protestant Principles, in accordance with the Doctrines and Liturgy of the Church of England.

Students requiring a commercial education only, are exempt from the classical course, if desired.

The year consists of two terms, during which there are no holidays, the only vacations being at Midsummer and Christmas.

The use of all class books, valuable library, stationery (except mathematical instruments) laundry, &c., is included in the terms. No Extras of any kind.

The High School—Students from 16 to 23 years of age.
The Middle School—Students from 12 to 16 years of age.

The Preparatory School—Students under 12 years of age.

The College is divided into three sections. In the
PREPARATORY SCHOOL
(entirely distinct, but contiguous)

Boys are well grounded in the elements of a sound English Education, with French and German (also in Latin and Greek if for the learned professions), and prepared for the High or Middle School. In the High School the course of study is a preparation for the Universities and the various competitive examinations; while the Middle School trains pupils in such subjects as will qualify them for scientific and commercial pursuits.

Alston College is pleasantly situated, about six miles from Preston, and half a mile from Longridge Railway Station; is in immediate proximity to beautiful mountain scenery, within half an hour's ride of the chief watering places on the western coast of Lancashire, and is considered by Medical Professors to be in one of the healthiest localities in England—a fact sufficiently proved by the remarkably good health enjoyed by the students and regularly confirmed by the half-yearly medical reports.

Extensive Cricket Grounds are attached to the College Farms, whilst a spacious covered Gymnasium and Student's Hall, available for recreation, drill, &c., adjoin.

Reports of all examinations, together with the names of those students who have distinguished themselves at the College and the Universities, as Exhibitors, Medalists and Prizemen, also the reports of the late examinations, together with views of the College buildings, and all necessary information, forwarded on application to the Rector, or to

Mr. GEORGE CLIFFORD, Secretary.

References kindly permitted to Bro. Masons, and to the late Examiners: Rev. T. H. Lindsay Leary, M.A., D.C.L. (Oxon), Assistant Examiner to Her Majesty's Civil Service Commission, Crawford Cottage, Epsom; T. W. Eyre Evans, Esq., LL.D.T.C.D., Nightingale Villa, Lower Norwood; and other University Examiners; Professor Pagel, Liverpool; R. Routledge, Esq., B.S.F.C.S., Manchester; also the Protestant Clergy, Nobility, and Professional Gentlemen (parents of present pupils) in London, Manchester, Liverpool, Birmingham, Leeds, Bradford, Bognor, Preston, Burnley, Chester, Lancaster, Boston (Lincoln), Wigan, Harrowgate, Acerington, Haslingden, Kendal, Southport, Todmorden, &c., and various other towns; the Continent of Europe, the colonies, New York, and the United States, Brazil, Cuba, &c., who can bear ample testimony to the merits and success of this College.

Next term commences the 7th August, 1873.

CROSBY'S
BALSAMIC
COUGH

DISEASES OF THE
LUNGS AND AIR-VESSELS.
CROSBY'S
BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR.

Opiates, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief in Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling
the digestive organs, and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S
BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy.

SELECT TESTIMONIAL.
Dr. Rooke, Scarborough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdued cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease."

This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Night
Sweats of Consumption, Quinsey, and all affections of the throat and chest. Sold in bottles at 1s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, by all respectable Chemists, and wholesale by Jas. M. Crosby, Chemist, Scarborough.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

This is well described on the title page as "A Comprehensive Masonic Book of Reference." The details furnished are useful and abundant, and are well-arranged in a small compass.—City Press.

Among the "class" Pocket-book Almanacs, the "Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar" is very complete and convenient of its kind.—Echo.

This is a comprehensive work of reference, which is arranged as a pocket-book, and contains in addition to a diary, lists of lodges in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, America, &c., together with particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the world.—Lloyd's Weekly London News.

It contains lists of lodges in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, and Italy, together with particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the globe—certainly a remarkable array.—Builder.

The book is a comprehensive Masonic book of reference. It contains full lists of Masonic Lodges in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, &c. It further gives full particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the globe. It is of convenient size, and forms a handy pocket-book. The Masonic information is given in a very complete manner. No doubt the book will be welcomed by every English-reading Mason.—Jewish Chronicle.

A pocket-book which is a mystery to the uninitiated, but which every Mason no doubt ought to have.—Christian Family.

It contains some 300 pages of closely-printed matter, giving lists of lodges in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, the United States, India, and the Colonies. It gives full particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the world, and is a marvellous book to those who have no distinct impression of the magnitude of the Fraternity of Masons. This pocket diary is a most comprehensive Masonic book of reference and is to be had in simple binding for two shillings.—Overland Mail.

We have received from Mr. George Kenning, 198, Fleet-street, a copy of this neat little volume, which we commend as a pocket-companion to the Brotherhood of the "mystic tie."—The Cosmopolitan.

Mr. George Kenning, 2, Monument-place, has just published his Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar and Pocket-book. It is a comprehensive book of reference on Masonic matters for the United Kingdom, and also for foreign countries. It will be invaluable to every Freemason both at home and abroad.—Liverpool Daily Post.

It appears to be well and carefully compiled, is crammed with Masonic information, and is a neat little pocket volume.—South Durham Herald.

We have received a copy of the "Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar and Pocket Book," which is a very comprehensive book of reference, specially prepared for all connected with the various orders of Freemasonry. We may state that the book contains a list of lodges in the united Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, &c., with full particulars of every grand Masonic body throughout the globe, in the compilation of which great care and labour must have been bestowed, and it cannot fail in being highly appreciated by every member of the ancient order. The publication contains 282 pages of neatly printed matter, with almanack and calendar, is gilt edged, neatly bound, and altogether a marvel of its kind. The publisher is Mr. George Kenning of Fleet-street, London, and No. 2, Monument-place, Liverpool, from whom the work will be forwarded to any address, post free 2s. 2d.—Southport News.

Bro. George Kenning has just issued the "Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar," and we are pleased to find it is in every sense well worthy of the name. The little book is full of interesting and valuable information relating to the progress of the Craft all over the globe, and contains an accurate list of all the lodges, chapters, encampments, &c., in Great Britain and Ireland, as also a mass of general Masonic intelligence from the various Foreign Grand Bodies. Although the Calendar contains 282 pages of closely printed matter, it is published at the nominal price of two shillings per copy.—Cornish Weekly News.

Into the compass of an ordinary pocket-book the compiler of this work has managed to compress a vast fund of information concerning the Masonic Orders. As a pocket book it is equal to any other, and has a good blank diary. In the details concerning the Craft we find lists of all the Lodges in the United Kingdom; the officers of the United Grand Lodge; and a variety of matters giving the official state of the Masonic Orders in all parts of the world. Every Mason who uses a pocket book should purchase this.—Ipswich Journal.

A convenient and handy pocket book of nearly 300 pages. Independent of its special interest to Masons, it gives an insight into the magnitude of the Masonic fraternity, which will astonish those who have never thought upon the question. The calendar is a most comprehensive Masonic book of reference, and invaluable to every English Mason.—Leigh Chronicle.

We are greatly indebted to Bro. Geo. Kenning, of No. 198, Fleet-street, London, for a copy of the Cosmopolitan Calendar, being a comprehensive book of reference for every Masonic body in the world. This work may be had on addressing the publisher, the price being 2s. 3d., sterling, post paid.—New York Dispatch.

We have a copy of this work, through the kindness of the publisher, Bro. George Kenning, of London, England. It is a most comprehensive book of reference, embracing all the lodge in Great Britain, Ireland, and the Continent with particulars of every Grand Masonic body in the world. There is a mass of statistical information to be found within its 288 pages.—Mackay's National Freemason.

We are under fraternal obligations to Bro. George Kenning, of No. 198, Fleet-street, London, for a copy of his admirable Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar. It contains full particulars of every Grand Masonic Body throughout the globe, besides a diary for the whole year.—Keystone.

We are indebted to the publishers of the London Freemason for a copy of the "Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar," being a comprehensive Masonic book of reference. It is a work that has been compiled with a great amount of care, and is indeed a valuable work, and no Masonic library is complete without a copy. It contains a list of all the lodges in Great Britain, France, Germany, and Italy, together with full particulars of every Grand Masonic body throughout the globe. It is a valuable book of reference, and such a one as would be advantageous to any Mason, wherever he might be located.—Loomis's Masonic and Musical Service.

A comprehensive and compact almanack, pocket book, and directory of masonic information. In addition to the usual attributes of a pocket book, it contains lists of Lodges, of officers, and of chapters, encampments, and conclaves, not only in the United Kingdom, but throughout the world.—Northern Echo, Darlington.

We have much pleasure in calling attention to this useful little pocket-book, which contains valuable information and intelligence concerning matters Masonic, which must be greatly prized by "the brethren of the mystic tie." To the outside world, amongst whom we are content to number ourselves, the compendium before us indicates the universality of a benevolent Institution, which, with its numerous ramifications, orders, and degrees, is spread over the whole face of the globe, and which if it does not perform all the good which its supporters assert, merits some degree of consideration from the number of eminent men who we find ranged under its banners. We are told that no true Freemason can be a bigot, and we should say, though we are of course open to correction, that every Freemason must perforce be a liberal; and yet the non-political character of the body in this country, is amply exemplified by the names of the principal office bearers—for whilst we see that the Marquess of Ripon occupies the important position of Grand Master of England, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales is described as a Past Grand Master (though we believe, he never accepted the office of Grand Master); and the Earl of Carnarvon occupies the second place in the Craft, that of Deputy Grand Master; and Sir Albert Woods, Garter King at Arms, is appropriately placed as Grand Director of Ceremonies.—Essex Standard.

CROSBY'S
BALSAMIC
COUGH ELIXIR.

Opium, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief in Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling
the digestive organs, and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S
BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy.
SELECT TESTIMONIAL.
Dr. Rooke, Scarborough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdued cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease."
This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Night
Sweats of Consumption, Quinsy, and all affections of the throat and chest. Sold in bottles at 1s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, by all respectable Chemists, and wholesale by Jas. M. Crosby, Chemist,

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

MARGATE.—Union Lodge (No. 127).—On Friday evening, the 17th inst., this lodge met at the King's Head Hotel, High-street, Margate, the chair of K.S. being occupied by the W.M., Bro. Alfred Wootton, Prov. G.S., who was supported by his officers, Bros. E. H. Thompson, S.W.; G. Harnett, J.W.; T. M. Compton, I.P.M.; Bro. Brasier, P.M.; Smith, Wallace, Aubrey, Matthews, Spurrier, Trewe, Chancellor, Searle, and others. The lodge having been opened in due form, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. M. Alfred Style being present, was then initiated into the mysteries and privileges of antient Freemasonry. The ceremony of initiation was most beautifully and faultlessly rendered by the W.M., assisted by Bro. Aubrey on the harmonium, and it is seldom we ever witnessed the ceremony of initiation performed more impressively than by the W.M., and the members of the lodge ought to congratulate themselves on having so efficient a Master as Bro. Wootton. After the lodge was closed Bro. Smith, at the request of the W.M., gave the charge after the initiation to the newly initiated brother, which was listened to with the greatest attention, and at its conclusion Bro. Smith was greeted with a burst of applause from the entire lodge for his faultless delivery of the charge. The visitors present were.—Bros. J. T. Moss, P.M. 169, 1326, W.M. 1423, Z. 73, Prov. G.S.D. Middlesex, F. Adlard, P.M. 7; Saunders, W.M. 887; Wells, 86.

IPSWICH.—St. Luke's Lodge (No. 225).—The usual meeting of the St. Luke's Lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Ipswich, on Wednesday, the 15th inst., when a goodly number of the brethren were present, amongst whom were:—Bros. A. Gamman, W.M., Prov. G.S.B.; N. Tracy, P. Prov. G.S.W.; S. B. King, P. Prov. G.D.C., Secretary, G. S. Findley, P. Prov. G.D.C.; and several other members of the lodge. Bro. Emra Holmes, Prov. G. Reg., and S. Wright, S.W. of the British Union Lodge attended as visitors. There had been an initiation, passing, and raising on the lodge summons, but neither of the candidates had been able to attend. Bro. N. Tracy, therefore, in order that the brethren should be profitably employed gave the lecture on the tracing board appertaining to the first degree which was much appreciated by the brethren present, as that able brother is one of the most expert Craft Masons in the province, and holds the office of Preceptor jointly with our learned brother the Rev. R. N. Sanderson (without doubt the most distinguished Mason in Suffolk) of the Perfect Ashlar Lodge of Instruction recently formed in connection with the British Union Lodge. The routine business of the lodge having been completed the brethren retired for refreshment. Bro. Gamman presided at the banquet and proposed in due course "The Queen," "The Grand Master" and the other customary toasts. Bro. N. Tracy responded for the Past Provincial Grand Officers, and Bro. Emra Holmes for the present holders of office in the province. Bros. Churchyard, Holmes and others, contributed to the harmony of the evening, and the brethren separated before twelve, after enjoying a very pleasant social hour.

LEICESTER.—St. John's Lodge (No. 279).—The working of this lodge, after the summer recess, was resumed on Wednesday, the 1st inst. Bro. Clemon Stretton, P.G.W., W.M., ever zealous in the discharge of his important duties, had taken a special run from Brighton, in order to preside. There were also present Bros. E. J. Crow, I.P.M.; A. Palmer, S.W.; J. W. Smith, J.W.; W. Weare, Treas.; J. M. M'Allister, Sec.; G. W. Statham, S.D.; C. E. Stretton, J.D.; S. Tebbutt, Org.; Rev. J. H. Smith, Chaplain; S. S. Partridge, Prov. G.S.; F. A. Wykes, Sec. 523; and E. Mason, 1391. Owing to an unfortunate accident to one of the candidates, and the unavoidable absence of others, the ordinary business set forth in the agenda could not be transacted. The W.M. therefore embraced the opportunity to impart instruction to those present who had recently devoted themselves to our ancient, and honourable Order, by the further elucidation of those secrets which consist in the exercise of every social, and moral virtue, not only in their ostensible actions of our conduct, but also in private life, our latent springs being science and truth, our Craft reason and good sense, our plots and contrivances sincerity and benevolence, and our revenge against our enemies—as Pythagoras tells us—labouring to convert them into friends.

SPHINX LODGE (No. 1329).—The usual meeting of this lodge took place on Saturday, Oct. 11th, at the London Bridge House Hotel, when in the absence of the W.M., Bros. Forbes and Williams were raised by Bro. Hyde, P.M. The ceremony of consecration was then proceeded with, and Bro. Viner Bedolfe, M.D., the W.M. elect, was duly installed into the chair of the lodge, and the charter or warrant committed to his keeping for the ensuing year. The ceremony was very ably performed by Bro. P. A. Nairne, Hon. P.M. of the lodge. The new W.M. immediately proceeded to invest Bros. Vorkins, Sugden, Abbott-Dunbar, and the other officers, with their respective collars, after which three candidates being proposed, and the usual business transacted, the brethren adjourned to partake of the well-known hospitality of the Bridge House Hotel. Since the previous meeting the lodge has had to mourn the death of its chief ornament, Bro. Thomas, and the "Thomas Memorial Fund" was responded to by brethren of the lodge. The excellent Treasurer, Bro. Reynolds, also by the application of that old instrument of torture, the charity box, succeeded in extracting some pounds from the members' pockets on behalf of the "distinguishing" virtue. The Masonic Hall Company was well represented on the occasion by Bro. Stevens, W.M. Great City Lodge, and Bro. Larham, both directors of the company, whilst the acceptance of the office of Architect to that proposed institution by Bro. E. Clark, P.M., P.G. Sup. of Wks. Middlesex, was felt to be very satisfactory, both out of respect to him, and as a pledge that under his able and business like management, it would be carried to a successful issue, for it is to the persevering influence of Bro. Clarke, as founder and first W.M., that the Sphinx Lodge owes much of the success which attends it at the present day. Healths were duly given and harmony prevailed, when the brethren, in obedience to the retarded Tyler's Toast, and like Gray's Ploughman, plodded their homeward way leaving the world to its "darkness."

COLCHESTER.—St. Edmund's Lodge, (No. 1008).—The first monthly meeting of the Royal St. Edmund's Lodge, 1008, since the summer recess, was held at the Angel Hotel, on Wednesday 8th inst. The meeting possessed unusual interest, as on this occasion a very handsome testimonial, consisting of an elegantly chased silver salver, weighing forty-four ounces, and a purse of 30 guineas, were presented to the Secretary of the Lodge, Bro. W. H. Lucia. The testimonial was the result of a subscription set on foot among the members, and there were over 70 contributors. The presentation was made by the W.M., Bro. W. W. E. Bailey, who alluded to the great services which Bro. Lucia had rendered in the cause of Freemasonry since his initiation into the Craft in 1845. In conjunction with Bro. Diver he succeeded in resuscitating Lodge 100 at Yarmouth, and afterwards served as its Master. During the time he had the honour of filling the chair in that Lodge, he formed one of a deputation who waited upon Bro. B. B. Cabbell to request him to take the vacant Grand Mastership of Norfolk. They were successful in their object, and Bro. Cabbell is still the highly esteemed Grand Master of the neighbouring Province. On Bro. Lucia's removal to Bury, he, finding that there was then no Masonic Lodge in the town, exerted himself, with a few other brethren, to establish one, and the result was the consecration of the Royal St. Edmund's Lodge, 1008, which has since prospered exceedingly, and is now one of the largest and most influential in Suffolk. Bro. Lucia took pleasure in visiting neighbouring lodges, and his exertions in the cause of Freemasonry were rewarded by the offer of the chair of the Junior Warden of the Province, which he accepted, and filled for the exceptionally long period of three years. On the retirement of Bro. Marriott, Bro. Lucia was appointed P.G. Secretary, an office which he still holds with the greatest credit to himself and the satisfaction of the brethren. He has also acted as Secretary of the Royal St. Edmund's Lodge, ever since its foundation, and has twice passed the chair. It was as some acknowledgment of these long and varied services that this presentation was made by the brethren of his Lodge. The salver bore the following inscription:—

"Presented, with a purse of thirty guineas, to Bro. W. H. Lucia, Past Master 100 and 1008, Past Prov. G. J. W., and Prov. G. Sec. Suffolk, and Sec. 1008, by the Brethren of the Royal St. Edmund's Lodge, 1008, as a mark of their appreciation of his exertions for the establishment of the Lodge, and of his lengthened and valuable services in the cause of Freemasonry. Bury St. Edmund's, 8th October, 1873."

HAMPTON.—Era Lodge (No. 1423).—The brethren of this lodge met on Saturday, 11th inst., at the King's Arms Hotel, Hampton Court. In the unavoidable absence of the W.M., Bro. J. T. Moss, P. Prov. G.D. Middlesex, Bro. F. Walters, P.M., Sec., P.G. Steward Middlesex, opened the lodge, and presided over the meeting. The Rev. Bros. M. Holden, P.M. 907, and Bro. J. H. Milburn, 80, were elected joining members. All the candidates were unanimously elected, and as no one in this Province can be balloted for and initiated at the same meeting, the initiations were deferred until December, which will be the next regular meeting. The raising of Bros. J. H. Milburn, and E. G. B. Holder, of Lodge No. 673, to the third degree was most ably performed. The Rev. Bro. Holden, P.M., was unanimously recommended to the office of Provincial Grand Chaplain in 1874. Bro. S. Woolf was elected Steward to represent the lodge at the forthcoming festival of the Boys' School, in March, 1874. Notice of motion was given to vote ten guineas from the lodge funds for a testimonial to Bro. John Thomas Moss, for services rendered to the lodge. Several candidates were proposed for initiation, and the lodge was closed in due form. The brethren then adjourned to refreshment, after which Bros. J. H. Milburn, E. G. B. Holder, and others, greatly contributed to the evening's enjoyment by some capital songs and recitations. There were present Bros. H. A. Dubois, P.G. Steward Middlesex, S.W.; J. W. Baldwin, J.W.; Rev. J. M. Vaughan, P. G. Chaplain, Middlesex, P.M., Chaplain; E. H. Thiellay, S.D.; J. Baxter Langley, I.G.; A. F. Loos, S. Woolf, and others. Amongst the visitors were Bros. W. Smeed, P. Prov. G.W. Middlesex, P.M.; H. C. Abraham, and E. G. B. Holden.

DAWLISH.—Salem Lodge (No. 1443).—Such of our readers as follow the reports of proceedings in Devonshire will remember that in August a meeting of Prov. Grand Lodge was held at Dawlish, when the Salem Lodge was consecrated. There was not time however, after all the business of the Province had been transacted, to instal the first W.M., Bro J. S. Short, and consequently the ceremony was deferred till September the 9th, when it was performed by Bro. Cann, of Exeter. The officers were appointed and invested, and no reason remained why operations should not be commenced forthwith. The W.M. did not long defer the performance of his duties, for he summoned his brethren to meet at the rooms in the Town Hall, appropriated to the purpose, on Wednesday, September the 17th, when all who had been concerned in forming the lodge met to work the ceremonies for the first time. The lodge having been opened by the W.M., a ballot was taken for four candidates, which proved unanimous in their favour, and they were at once conducted through the ceremony of initiation, which was very creditably worked by the W.M. and his officers, most whom were quite new to their duties. Bro. Dr. Hopkins, P.M., P.Z., P. Prov. G.S.W., at the request of the W.M. delivered the charge to Bros. S. J. Whidborne, J. D. Smith, H. L. Friend, and R. Tripe, and also the lecture on the first tracing board. Some arrangements were made in reference to the compilation of bye-laws, a candidate was proposed, and no other business offering, the first labours of the lodge terminated in peace and harmony. The members of the Salem Lodge assembled for their second meeting on Wednesday, October, the 15th, all the officers being in their places, viz.:—Bros. J. S. Short, W.M.; S. Loram, S.W.; W. Ball, J.W.; Tomes, Sec.; G. B. Avant, S.D.; C. W. H. Spencer, J.D.; Hullett, W.M. 303, I.G.; P. Haggerty, Tyler. By request of the W.M. Bro. Dr. Hopkins occupied the chair of I.P.M. The lodge was opened by the W.M., and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. A ballot was taken for Mr. James Horsham, as a candidate for Masonry, which proved unanimously favourable. Bros. Widborne, Smith, and Friend were then examined as to their proficiency in knowledge of the 1st degree, entrusted, and dismissed for preparation. The lodge was opened in the 2nd degree, the candidates were re-admitted, and passed to the rank of Fellow-Craft, the ceremony being commenced by the W.M., but, owing to his sudden indisposition, completed by Bro. Dr. Hopkins, who also gave the charge and the lecture on the second tracing board. The lodge was then closed in the second degree by Bro. Short, who had resumed the chair of W.M. The candidate for initiation named above was admitted properly prepared, and received the benefit of the first step in Freemasonry at the hands of Bro. Dr. Hopkins, (owing to the continued indisposition of the W.M.) who also gave him the charge. Again the W.M. took his position and conducted the remainder of the business, which consisted mainly in the reading and adoption of the proposed bye-laws, and the consideration of some communications on Masonic business from various quarters. Several candidates were proposed, whose claims for the privileges of Masonry will of course be considered at the November meeting. The lodge was finally closed and the brethren dispersed at about ten o'clock.

King, M.E.Z.; Roberts, and Newman, the usual banquet and toasts followed.

Mark Masonry.

BOLTON.—Rose and Thistle Lodge, (No. 158).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in Freemasons' Hall, Bolton, on Thursday, 2nd October, when there were present Bros. G. P. Brockbank, Past G. Mark Warden, W.M.; John Tunnah, P. Prov. M.O., S.W.; Robert Harwood, P. Prov. G. Mark Deacon, as J.W.; Thomas Entwistle, P. Prov. Mark Master. (Lancashire,) Wilson, Rutter, Sharples, Newton, Brown, James Horrocks, Thomas Morris, Prov. G. Mark Sword Bearer, and others. The lodge being opened in due form and the minutes confirmed, the W.M. elect, Bro. John Tunnah, P. Prov. Grand Mark Overseer, was installed into the chair by Bro. Entwistle, P. Prov. G.M.M., and the following brethren appointed and invested as officers of the lodge viz.—Bros. T. H. Winder, S.W.; Thos. Wilson, J.W.; Martin Rutter, M.O.; Jas. Brown, S.O.; Jas. Pillington, J. O.; Rev. E. J. Bolling, Chaplain; John Sharples, Treas.; Robt. Harwood, Reg. of Marks; Jas. Newton, Sec.; R. Knill Freeman, S.D.; Samuel Crowther, J.D.; Thomas Entwistle, Dir. of Cers.; J. W. Taylor, Org.; Frank Ainsworth, I.G.; Wm. Dawson, Tyler. A cordial vote of thanks was passed to Bro. Entwistle for his services as Installing Officer. A Past Mark Master's Jewel was ordered to be presented at the cost of the lodge, to Bro. J. P. Brockbank, the retiring Master, as a mark of appreciation for his valuable services in the chair. A candidate was proposed for advancement and the lodge was then closed.

Knights Templar.

CAMBUSCAN.—The Knights Templar of the No. 3, Encampment here (by virtue of charter from the Grand Conclave of Scotland, dated 1812) held their annual meeting on Friday, the 10th inst., for the election of office-bearers for ensuing year. The Sentinels being posted, the encampment was opened in due and ancient form, when the election took place, and stands as follows:—Sir Knts. W. Jarvie, M.N.C.; J. Jarvie, P.C.; G. Brown, C.G.; Jas. King, First A.P.C.; J. Fulton, Second A.P.C.; Jas. Twaddell, Third A.P.C.; Wm. Burns, U.C.; E. Rennie, Treasurer; A. M. Young, Recorder; John Paterson, Prelate; Robt. Weir, Standard Bearer; Jas. Punn, Sword Bearer; Jas. Burns, P.C.; John Jarvi, Janitor. The Sir Knights were afterwards called from labour to refreshment, and spent the night harmoniously together until high twelve, when the encampment was closed in due form, and the Sentinels called in, the encampment broke up, each one being seemingly well pleased.

Ancient and Accepted Rite.

BOLTON.—St. Peter's Chapter, 18°.—A convocation of this chapter of Rose Croix was held on Saturday, the 4th inst., at the Freemasons' Hall, Bolton, where there was the largest gathering of the Order yet held in this part of the country. The chapter was opened, according to the old established ceremonial of the Order, by Bro. Thomas Entwistle, 18°, M.W.S., shortly after four o'clock, supported by the following officers and members of the Order:—Bros. G. P. Brockbank, 31°, P.M.W.S.; the Rev. P. Hains, acting P.; C. F. Jones, and R. K. Freeman (Bolton), J. Hall, (Salford), A. Midgley (Huddersfield), and J. K. Poulter (Leeds). Eleven candidates being in attendance, were duly installed, the principal portion of the work being done by Bro. C. F. Matier, assisted by Bro. Entwistle. There being no other business of importance the chapter was closed and the sovereign princes sat down to an excellent and substantial tea.

Red Cross of Constantine.

EDINBURGH.—St. Giles's Conclave (No. 103).—The second monthly meeting of this new conclave was held on Thursday evening, the 16th inst., when there were present Em. Sir. Knts. H. E. Jones, M.V.S.; R. Irlam, E.V.E.; Sir. Knts. A. M. Bruce, S.G.; J. M. Thuson, H.P.; A. W. Rennie, Treasurer; D. Shearer, Rec; J. Clark, Prefect; E. Sellentin, S.B.; W. Schintzter, S.S.; and a large attendance of Sir. Knights. There were also present as visitors V. Em. Sir. Knts. J. B. Mercer, K.G.C., P.S. No. 4; and Em. Sir Knts: J. Taylor, E.V.E. No. 4.; The Conclave having been opened by the M.P.S., the following brethren viz.—Thomas Davie, M.M. No. 39, S. W. Haywood, M.M. No. 145, and Brownlie M.M. No. 392, were after due examination admitted and duly installed as Knights Companions of this illustrious Order. After the minutes had been read and confirmed, the Recorder submitted a code of Bye Laws prepared by the committee appointed for that purpose, which after careful discussion and some slight alterations were finally adopted. The altar, a very chaste piece of workmanship, presented by the E.V.E., was greatly admired by all present, as was also a handsome Testament, presented by the High Prelate. Several proposals for admission were then made, and the conclave thereafter closed in ancient form.

LEICESTER.—Byzantine Conclave (No. 44).—The regular meeting took place on Wednesday, the 8th instant, at Freemason's Hall, Leicester, when there was a full attendance of officers and members. As however none of the candidates on the roll were in attendance, the time was principally occupied with arrangements for the forthcoming visit of the Grand Council on the 21st instant.

LIVERPOOL.—Skelmersdale Conclave (No. 77).—An assembly of the Masonic Knights of Rome and of the Red Cross of Constantine, connected with this flourishing conclave, was held at the Masonic Temple, Liverpool, on Monday, 6th inst. Em. Sir. Knt. Henry Nelson, M.P.S., occupied the throne, and in the conclave chamber were assembled the following members of the Knightly Order:—Sir. Knights J. T. Callow, V.E.; J. Banning, S.G.; W. Cottrell, J.G.; H. Jackson, H.P.; T. Ashmore P.S., Treas.; J. McCarthy, Rec.; J. Skeaf, P.S.; W. H. Corbin, S.B.; H. Morris, O.; C. Leighton, Org.; W. Quayle, H.; P. Ball, S.; J. C. Lunt, M.P. S. 97.; J. Dawson, W. Oldham, C. Clements, H. Jones, H. Burrows, J. Lolley, J. Atkinson, and J. Wood, Treas. Ill. Sir. Knts. Dr. J. Kellett Smith, Dep. Int. Gen. for West Lancashire, and Past Sov. 55; and Sir. Knts. R. Washington, H.P. 55; were present as visitors. After the records had been read and confirmed and the muster roll called, several candidates were balloted for and approved, and Bros. Large and Gordon, being in attendance, were installed as Knights of the Order. The whole of the ceremony was admirably performed by the M.P. S. and his officers, but special mention is due to Sir. Knt. H. Jackson, H.P., who gave the oration and historical lecture in a manner which could not possibly have been excelled. After the labours of the evening the Knights sat down to refreshments, and during the evening after the loyal toasts, Em. Sir. Knt. Nelson, M.P.S., proposed "The Rt. Hon. the Earl of Bective and the Supreme Grand Council." In responding to the toast, Ill. Sir. Knt. Smith, D.I.G. for W.L., referred with great satisfaction to the progress which the Order had made in West Lancashire, the manner in which the work of the conclave was done, the furnishing, and the clothing, all of which were most unquestionably the best out of London. He had also the greatest pleasure in notifying the fact that the Rt. Hon. Lord Skelmersdale had kindly consented to take the Intendant Generalship of the two provinces of West and East Lancashire. Ill. Sir. Knt. Smith then proposed "Em. Sir. Knt. Nelson, M.P.S.," to whom, he said, they were indebted for much of the prosperity and progress he had referred to. The M. P.S. replied in suitable terms, and then gave the "Em. Past Sov., Sir. Knt. T. Ashmore," who responded. "The Officers," "The Newly Installed Knights," "The Private Members," were amongst the other toasts of a most enjoyable and harmonious assemblage. Songs and recitations were contributed by Sir. Knts. Jackson, Banning, Mc'Carthy, Large and others.

CENTENARY BANQUET OF THE FORTITUDE LODGE, TRURO.

The monthly meeting of this ancient Lodge, on Tuesday last, was of a very interesting nature, from the fact that on that day was celebrated the rooth anniversary of its existence.

For some time past Bro. W. J. Hughan, P.M., has been hard at work in obtaining evidence of its uninterrupted existence for 100 years, and has succeeded in securing a recognition of the fact from the R.W. the Grand Master of England, the Marquess of Ripon, in the shape of a warrant from the Grand Lodge, authorizing the members to wear a Centenary Jewel, commemorating the event. A large number of brethren assembled at the lodge, among whom were the R.W. the Deputy Grand Master, Bro. Sir. F. M. Williams, M.P.; the Past D.P.G. Master, Bro. Reginald Rogers; Bro. W. Tweedy, P.M., P.G. T.; and many Past Masters and brethren from other lodges. During the evening a very interesting presentation was made to Bro. W. J. Hughan, consisting of a beautifully illuminated address, and a gold jewel. The address was as follows:—

"To the Worshipful Bro. W. J. Hughan, P. M. 131, P. Prov. G. Sec. for Cornwall, &c., &c.

"Dear Sir and Bro.—We, the undersigned, on behalf of the brethren of the Fortitude Lodge, No. 131, Truro, in pursuance of a resolution unanimously passed at a lodge meeting, held this day, desire to offer you our hearty thanks and warmest congratulation on the success that has attended your arduous efforts to obtain from the Grand Lodge of England a warrant conferring on us the distinguished privilege of wearing a centenary jewel.

"We are justly proud of this mark of distinction obtained no less by your persevering efforts in rescuing the obscure and scattered records of our lodge from oblivion than by the influence and weight which your position in the Craft as an author and historian has given to the evidence you have been able to adduce of our antiquity.

"We have always felt, as a lodge, greatly honoured in numbering so distinguished a Mason on our Roll of Past Masters; and the example you have shewn of self sacrificing zeal in advancing the cause of Charity, and the noble principles of our Order, will, we trust, be an incentive to us to aim at the highest point of Masonic honour and virtue.

"In conclusion, we would express our most fervent hope that T.G.A.O.T.U. may long spare you to pursue your researches 'into the hidden mysteries of nature and science.'

On completion of his Mastership in 1868, Bro. Hughan was presented with a gold lever watch and a gold Past Master's jewel, from the manufactory of Bro. Kenning.

The W.M., Bro. Middleton, who has also devoted a great deal of time, and worked energetically with Bro. Hughan in this matter, was also presented with a gold jewel by the officers of the lodge. After the lodge the brethren adjourned to the Royal Hotel, where a banquet was prepared, presided over by the W.M., Bro. Middleton, and supported by the D.P. Grand Master, and many distinguished brethren. During the evening Bro. Hughan gave a most interesting history of the lodge, from its formation at Chatham, in 1772, to the present year, and intimated his intention of publishing a small volume on the subject, which the growing taste for Masonic antiquarianism will cause to be eagerly welcomed.

The whole proceedings were most heartily entered into by all present, and it can safely be affirmed that no more pleasant gathering of the lodge, during its 100 years of existence, has ever taken place.—Cornish Weekly News.

PRESENTATION TO BRO. G. B. ADAMS, IN GLASGOW.

Bro. G. B. Adams, the worthy Treasurer of Lodge 360, Proxy Master of 187, and a very active member of the Royal Arch and K.T. degrees, who for many years had filled the onerous position of Manager of the Western Club, the most aristocratic establishment in the city, having resigned his position, a few friends determined to present him with some tangible mark of their esteem, but out of respect to his well known feeling, it was determined to keep it private.

The presentation took place on Friday, Oct. the 3rd, at Bro. McKenzies, the Athole Arms, who had provided a sumptuous banquet. In the absence of Bro. J. Davison, the Chairman of the Committee, Bro. G. W. Wheeler presided, while Bro. J. Balfour ably filled the office of Croupier.

As some present were not Masons, no purely Masonic toasts were given, but the usual loyal and patriotic toasts had full justice done to them. Capt. Farquarson, of the Reserve Force, Editor of The Greenock Advertiser, replied on behalf of the Army, Navy and Volunteers; Bro. Fox, on behalf of the Clergy; Mr. Bissett, for the Lord Provost and Town Council, proposed by the Croupier; Bro. McCrewe, replied for the Trade and Commerce of Glasgow.

The Chairman said they had now come to the toast of the evening, the "Health of their esteemed guest, Bro. G. B. Adams." His only regret was that their proper chairman was not there to fulfil this duty, for he had not had the privilege of knowing Bro. Adams so long, but he could say that the longer he had known him the more he had respected him. (Cheers). He was one of those men who improve upon acquaintance, one of those who did good by stealth and then blush to find it fame, but in the present company it would be a work of supererogation to rehearse his many good qualities, and the very fact of this testimonial being got up in less than three weeks, and without it ever being mentioned either in a lodge room or any other public place. Had it been otherwise the amount might have been larger, but he knew their friend would value it the more as the offering of a few of his private friends—that the feeling thus evinced would be prized more than the money value of the gift. He would now hand him a silver snuff box with a suitable inscription. As a business man he had shown that he was "up to snuff," and from the kindness of his heart he hoped he would never want a friend "at a pinch." He had also to present him a purse, containing 75 sovereigns; they were bright pure metal, and of intrinsic value, and therefore a very appropriate testimonial to one who had proved that his virtues were of a similar character. (Cheers). At this moment Bro. Davison entered. He appealed to the company, explaining that in consequence of the break down of a mineral train, himself and friends had been obliged to stop at a siding for three hours and a half, knowing all the time that his friends would be wondering at his absence from the post he had promised to fill, but he was deeply indebted to his friend Wheeler for stepping in to fill his place.

Bro. Adams then replied in a very feeling speech, saying he was quite overpowered by this unexpected proof of their regard and kindness; he could not think that his past conduct had earned it, so that he must endeavour in the future to show that their kindness had not been misplaced, but would redouble his efforts to be serviceable in his day and generation.

Bro. J. Davison having assumed the chair, Bro. R. Stewart rose to propose "The Health of Bro. Wheeler," who had very kindly got them out of their difficulty by so efficiently filling the chair. As one of Mr. Adam's most intimate friends, he thanked him, and when he informed the meeting that on Mr. Wheeler's list was the largest sum that had been given by any single individual, viz., that by Mr. G. Kenning, proprietor of The Freemason, and that this was given, not because Bro. Kenning was a friend of Bro. Adams, but simply because the late chairman had vouched that he was a good and true man. This spoke volumes for the heart and conduct of both, and would commend the sentiment he had to propose to them now. (Cheers.)

Bro. Wheeler replied in suitable terms, and proposed "The Health of Bros. Bell, Tweed, and Munro," who were absent through illness.

The Croupier gave "The Members of the Western Club," who proposed this testimonial. Messrs. Fox and Stewart responded.

The Chairman, in a very eloquent speech, gave "The Ladies."

Mr. Adams responded in felicitious terms, saying he yet hoped to be blessed with some good man's daughter.

Bro. Fox, in a highly humorous speech, in which he alluded in happy terms to the narrow escapes of their friend, then proposed "The Health of the Chairman," who replied, and proposed that of the "The Host," for the excellent way in which he had catered for their enjoyment that evening.

Mr. McKenzie acknowledged the compliment.

The last toast was "Happy to meet, sorry to part, and happy to meet again," after which Auld Lang Syne was sung by the company, thus closing in harmony this truly social gathering of the friends of Mr. G. B. Adams.

Bros. Davison, Balfour, Fox, Ure, Farquarson and Graham, by their excellent singing, added considerably to the pleasure of the evening.

Increased activity of mind and motion in these modern days, have gained ends undreamt of in olden times. For example Holloway's Ointment and Pills remove rheumatism, neuralgia and similar painful maladies, formerly scourges of both rich and poor. The number of testimonials of cures of these classes of diseases, effected by Holloway's remedies is unprecedented, and should be enforced on the attention of all sufferers from these complaints. The part in pain should be fomented for some minutes with warm brine, two or three times a day, dried and immediately rubbed with the Ointment. It will pass into the pores of the skin, as salt penetrates meat, ease the local pain and give the greater relief.—ADVT.

THE OPENING OF THE MASONIC HALL AT PHILADELPHIA.

The accounts of the opening and the consecration of the new and magnificent Temple at Philadelphia are not only very interesting in themselves, but seem to show pretty conclusively that the labours of that eventful day for the Pennsylvanian Masons were most truly crowned with all the success and completeness that all true Freemasons could wish.

The 26th September was to those who witnessed its advent and its departure, and will be for many a long year, to the loyal Masons of Philadelphia, a red-letter day indeed!

Indeed the word "Philadelphia" itself seems to suggest thoughts and feelings most congenial with fraternal unity and brotherly love.

To use the words of a somewhat gushing but excellent reporter "daylight dawned this morning" (the 26th) "bright and salubrious, and Philadelphia was made happy, for this was to be a day of days in the annals of the city's history."

We need not carry our readers through long details and longer columns of type, as some of us have seen Masonic processions before, and have read of a good many Masonic dedications, but we will shortly sum up the account of the large gathering and "impressive ceremonies," as our contemporary, The New York Herald, terms them, which duly marked the inauguration and dedication of the great Masonic Temple at Philadelphia.

It seems that 300 lodges in the State were represented at this assembly of the Pennsylvanian Grand Lodge, besides 50 lodges of other jurisdictions, and that 12,000 brethren marched in the procession, the route of which was carefully guarded by 900 police, under the command of Captain Thompson of the detective department, and amid numberless crowds of spectators.

"To form some idea of the grand pageant, almost countless," says the same active reporter quoted above, "from a description on paper would be a faint picture. It had to be seen to be fully realised. Fully 12,000 men were in line. Each person was attired in full black evening dress, white gloves and aprons; every ostentation was strictly eschewed, not a banner was to be seen in the entire line, except such as were displayed from the buildings. The entire route marched over is estimated to have covered nine miles."

The arrangements inside the temple seem to have been as excellent and as effective as those without.

Of course, as it was impossible to accommodate 12,000 brethren within the hall, the dedication ceremonies were proceeded with in the presence of the Pennsylvania Grand Lodge members, and the visiting brethren alone. These were such as are customary in like cases in the Craft, but we are struck with the presentation of the Architect, Bro. Windam, to the Grand Master, and the emphatic encomiums he passed on that skilful brother, and which, from the account of the building itself, and the print of it we have seen, appear to be most fully merited.

These needful ceremonies were concluded at last, and that great building now remains dedicated and consecrated, in the name of the Great Architect of the Universe to Freemasonry. And long may it happily so continue, and minister to the peace and happiness and comfort of the Philadelphian brethren, and the progress and prosperity of the Pennsylvanian Grand Lodge.

We therefore feel it our duty, as English Masons, to congratulate our brethren in Philadelphia and in America on the completion of this, their gigantic undertaking, and the happy success which has attended their labours, their devotion, and their sacrifices. They have the gratification of believing and knowing that they have so far the most elaborate, and the most extensive, and the most ornate Grand Lodge buildings in the world, and such as will undoubtedly serve to enhance the value and importance of Freemasonry in the eyes and feelings of their countrymen in America.

Now we look on the erection of all such "stately and superb edifices" to be most truly, not only for the good of Freemasonry, but the welfare of mankind.

Wherever "Freemasons most do congregate," there we find the liberal arts and sciences are sure to find friends and patrons, and we see goodwill, peace, charity, and toleration, the distinguishing ornaments of those who boldly avow their fealty to their Supreme Grand Lodge, and adherence to their own Masonic principles.

Freemasonry has had opponents in past times, and has its impugners now, but no one can deny that there is, that there must be, some bond of constraining power and efficacy which thus brings men together, greatly different and differing other respects, whether in political views, or denominational teaching, for one common purpose of fraternal concord, active benevolence, and sympathising good will.

And thus, beyond the mere gathering at Philadelphia, on September 26th, for the purpose of dedicating that new and goodly building to Masonic uses and purposes, that firm march of 12,000 united brethren tells a remarkable tale to the thoughtful mind of the unity of our great Masonic system, and the active power of its great principles of Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth.

But besides this, we feel that we in England are bound ever to hold out the warm hand of fellowship and the genuine welcome of true Freemasonry to our brethren and the lodges in America.

For not only may we claim American as the child of English Freemasonry, and therefore we all ought to feel the deepest interest in its progress and prosperity, but the American Masons, as it seems to us have deserved indeed well of the Masonic Fraternity at large, for they have surmounted great difficulties and dangers, they have lived down open persecution, they have adhered faithfully to the principles of Freemasonry, and now they have their reward in the peaceful yet rapid expansion of their Order, throughout their great country.

Few of us there are, we think, in respect of the United States, who do not often echo the words of that anonymous poet, who sang so well and so truly:—

Land of the Pilgrim Fathers, the refuge of the free.

With what forgiving tenderness our hearts have beat for thee

The ancient feuds were banished, and the battle-fields o'ergrown

And thy heroes to our history were as precious as our own.

Thy sons and ours have walked abreast as kins-folks and as friends.

As men who seek the same high goal and choose the same pure ends.

Thy sons and ours we thought should teach the world to hold in awe,

The cloudless face of liberty, the level gaze of law.

And hence with this record fresh before us of Pennsylvanian Masonic enterprise, and with an appreciation of the zeal and energy and earnestness of our American brethren, we are glad to be permitted to day to offer them, in all heartfelt sincerity, the assurance of our warm congratulations and of our fraternal goodwill.

COSMOPOLITAN MASONIC CALENDAR.

We wish to draw the attention of our numerous readers to the advertisement of the Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar, Diary, and Pocket-book for 1874.

Among the many valuable additions made in the issue for the coming year, we may mention that the London meetings of every degree appear in the memorandum space of each day, the country lodges in towns, alphabetically arranged.

The Charge and Entered Apprentice's Song as also been added.

We feel assured that this year's issue will prove of far greater value than any of its predecessors.

The editor of the "Bauhütte" has founded at Florence an establishment for the sale of German and English books. We have much pleasure in introducing the same to the notice of our many readers who may visit the fair city, feeling assured that they will meet with every attention from those in charge. The address is—Messrs. Flor and Findel, German and Foreign Booksellers, 24, Lung Arno Acciajoli,

THE FUTURE OF FREEMASONRY IN IRELAND.

SIXTH ARTICLE.

THE HIGH GRADES.

The change in the Constitution of the Templar Order, lately completed, will tend to modify considerably the relations existing between Craft Masonry and the High Grades in this country, and until time has tested the new arrangements, it is almost a matter of speculation to what extent the modification may reach.

The new Order, with its sounding title, and absurdly incongruous costume, patronised as it is by Royalty, and commanded by the Heir Apparent, may attain to a lustre, before which the scintillations of "Sovereign Princes," "Grand Inspectors," yea even of "Holy Emperors" shall wax dim, or it may continue to be here, what it has hitherto been, a kind of stepping stone to those "ineffable" degrees, which the rank and file of Masonry, however worthy as men and as Masons, may hope to reach, but not to pass, the good things beyond being reserved for the chosen few who come up to the required standard of fitness, appointed by the happy monopolists above.

Our business just now is simply to see in what way the influence of the "High Grades" has been brought to bear on our proposed new constitutions, the final settlement of which has been fixed for the ensuing month of November.

There are just two laws to which it is necessary to direct the attention of our brethren, so that they may be prepared to expunge or modify, if they think it fit so to do—statutes that if passed as they stand, are intended to protect, and perpetuate a state of things that has been, and if continued must always be, most injurious to the true interests of Freemasonry.

Proposed rule 30 reads thus:—

"The Grand Lodge strictly prohibits as unlawful, all assemblies of Freemasons in Ireland, under any title whatever, purporting to be Masonic, not held by virtue of a warrant or Constitution from the Grand Lodge, or from one of the other Masonic Grand bodies, recognised by, and acting in Masonic union with it. Any brother being a member of any lodge on the Registry of Ireland, or otherwise subject to the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge, who shall take part in such unlawful assembly, or shall join or become a member of any body or society purporting to be Masonic, and not in connection with or sanctioned by the Grand Lodge or other Masonic grand body recognised by it, shall be liable to suspension, or such other penalty as Grand Lodge may think fit."

There can be no reasonable objection to the first clause of this proposed law, which, with some slight verbal alterations, is identical with one of the existing rules, but the second clause is entirely new and has evidently been inspired by a desire to bring the power of Grand Lodge to bear for the protection of the monopoly of certain high degrees, which in its character as governing body of Craft Masonry, it has nothing to do with, and of which in fact, in such capacity, it officially knows nothing.

It is not necessary now to narrate the history of what is known here as "The Manchester Movement" Some of these days if I have time, and feel so disposed, I may have something to say on that subject, and if all the facts of the case were fairly stated, probably many brethren, who are very imperfectly informed in the matter, might see reason for changing their views. At present we have to consider the bearing of the proposed new law on the Order generally, although there can be little doubt that the movement to which I have alluded gave birth to the objectionable clause in the proposed new law. Let it be clearly understood that the omission of the words "in Ireland" after society, is not accidental. Their insertion has been suggested in the proper quarter, and has been deliberately rejected.

As the proposed addition to the existing law stands, it is a most unwarrantable attack on the individual liberty of the members of our Order. It is quite right, having regard to the position of Freemasonry in Ireland, and to the various surrounding circumstances, that Grand Lodge should take every precaution to guard against the introduction of societies purporting to be Masonic, but not under its jurisdiction, or that of any governing body with which it is allied, But by what right would it attempt to interfere with its members joining any society, in England or Scotland for example, sanctioned by the laws of the land, and friendly to Freemasonry. For instance:—

Probably the oldest and most respectable representative of the "high grades" will be found in "The Royal Order of Scotland." A call to membership of that Order would justly be considered a high honour to receive. But as "The Royal Order" is not, I believe either "in connection with or sanctioned by the Grand Lodge or other Masonic Grand body recognised by it," it follows that any member on the Irish Registry accepting such honour, would, if this law be passed, "be liable to suspension or such other penalty as Grand Lodge may think fit." The same remark of course applies to the English "Order of Rome and Constantine." It is not however applicable to "The Rosicrucian Society of England" as they preface their rules by the statement "The Society of Brethren of the Rosy Cross, is totally independent, being established on its own basis, and as a body is not otherwise connected with the Masonic Order, than by having its members selected from that Fraternity."

"En passant" I would commend this statement to the attention of the heads of the "New United Orders." Altering the title, it would admirably suit their position, and would honestly define it.

If Grand Lodge should think it right to pass the proposed new law in its entirety and unlimited as to locality, I believe the result will be most mischievous. Practically, I am inclined to think it will be inoperative, and therefore weakening to the general authority of Grand Lodge. It is one thing to submit to laws as to the mere expediency of which we may differ. It is another thing to obey those whose inherent injustice makes it almost a duty to disregard them.

The other rule to which I call attention is No. 133.

"Any brother expelled, suspended, or restored by the Grand Royal Arch Chapter, the Grand Priory of High Knights Templar, the Grand Chapter of Prince Masons of Ireland, or the Supreme Council of the 33rd Degree for Ireland, shall on the case being officially communicated to the Grand Lodge of Ireland, be expelled, suspended, or restored, as the case may be, without any further enquiry or investigation."

I still maintain the view I long since stated, that strictly speaking both of the last named above Orders are unrecognized, and consequently illegal, but waving that point we have to consider is it for the advantage of Craft Masonry, that the Grand Lodge should be compelled, without enquiry to suspend or expel a member, at the bidding of the so-called "High Degrees?"

I cannot, I think, do better than quote the statements of one who is justly regarded as a very high authority in Masonry, and who cannot be considered as otherwise than friendly to the "High Grades," holding as he does their highest honours.

Bro. Albert G. Mackey, in his "Text Book of Masonic Jurisprudence," in dealing with the subject of "Expulsion," rules thus, (page 538, et seq.)

"An important question remains to be discussed, which refers not only to the penalty of expulsion, but also to that of suspension. Does suspension or expulsion from a Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, a Council of Royal and Select Masters, or an Encampment of Knights Templar, carry with it, as a necessary consequence, suspension or expulsion from Symbolic Masonry? To this question, reason and the general usages of the Order lead me unhesitatingly to reply that it does not. The converse of the proposition is, however, true, and suspension or expulsion from a Symbolic lodge is necessarily suspension or expulsion from all the higher bodies.

"The principle upon which this doctrine is based is a very plain one. If the axe be applied to the trunk of the tree, the branches which spring out of it, and derive their substance through it must die. If the foundation be removed the edifice must fall. But a branch may be lopped off, and the trunk will still live; the capstone may be taken away, but the foundation will remain intact.

"So Symbolic Masonry, the Masonry of the lodge, is the trunk of the tree, the foundation of the whole Masonic edifice. The Masonry of the chapter or the council is but the branch which springs forth from the tree, and receives all its nourishment from it. It is the capstone which finishes and ornaments the building that rests upon Symbolic Masonry. Hence there is an evident dependence of the higher on the lower degrees, while the latter are wholly independent of, and may exist without the former.

"Again, from the very organisation of the two institutions, a chapter is not recognisable as a Masonic body by a Symbolic lodge. A Master Mason knows, technically, nothing of a Royal Arch Mason. In the language of the Order 'he may hear him so to be, but he does not know him so to be' by any of the modes of recognition used in Masonry. 'We cannot conceive,' says the Committee of Correspondence of the Grand Lodge of Texas, 'by what sort of legerdemain a lodge can take cognisance of the transactions of a chapter, an entirely independent body.' But chapters, on the other hand, are necessarily cognisant of the existence and the proceedings of lodges, for it is out of the lodges that the chapters are constructed. And if a Master Mason were expelled from the rights and privileges of Masonry, and if this expulsion were not to be followed by a similar expulsion from the chapter, then all Master Masons who should meet the expelled Mason in the latter body would be violating the law by holding Masonic communication with him.

"Lastly, under the present organisation of Masonry, Grand Lodges are the Supreme Masonic tribunals over all Master Masons, but exercise no jurisdiction over chapters, councils, or encampments. If, therefore, expulsion from either of these bodies involved expulsion from the lodge, then the right of the Grand Lodge to hear and determine causes, and to regulate the internal concerns of the institution, would be interfered with by an authority outside of its organisation, and beyond its control.

"The law may, therefore be explicitly stated in these terms:—suspension or expulsion from a chapter, council, or encampment, does not involve a similar sentence from a Symbolic lodge. But suspension or expulsion from a lodge carries with it, ex necessitate, suspension or expulsion from every higher degree."

I shall not occupy space by re-stating what has been so admirably put by our Bro. Mackey, but may mention that in the recently confirmed new laws of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Ireland, which came into operation on the 1st of July last, the above principle has been adopted, and the former compact with the Templars, Prince Masons, &c., no longer exists. It will be well if Grand Lodge follows the example.

It would I think 'be very desirable, if Grand Lodge would also adopt another rule recently enacted in the Royal Arch Order, and would prohibit its subjects from wearing, at any meetings of subordinate lodges, whether for labour or at refreshment, any apron, device, or decoration, other than those permitted to be worn in Grand Lodge.

By this means we would be assimilated on that subject with the English practice. Our members would not be so anxious to obtain "high degrees" for the purpose of gratifying the unmasonic vanity of flaunting their jewels in the presence of those whom they profess to meet "on the level." And other brethren would not be likely to be tempted to go to "a foreign jurisdiction" to obtain degrees, the insignia of which they would not be permitted to wear at any purely Masonic meeting.

In conclusion, let me express an earnest hope that when we meet next month, for our most important purpose, we shall have well considered and duly weighed the bearing of the various matters under discussion, that the good of Freemasonry, pure and simple, will be our leading desire, that neither time-serving nor expediency will be suffered to interfere with principle, and that those who have the power, will exercise it well and wisely, for the general welfare of our Institution.

"May Prudence direct us, temperance chasten us, fortitude support us, and justice be the guide of all our actions." So mote it be.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF NORFOLK.

The annual Grand Lodge of the Freemasons of the province of Norfolk was held at Yarmouth, on Friday, the 10th inst., and the day being beautifully fine, there was a numerous attendance of brethren in full Masonic Craft clothing, at the Hospital School, at half-past 11. At high twelve the lodge was opened in due form by Bro. the Hon. F. Walpole, D.P.G.M. The lodge was in mourning in consequence of the death of the late Grand Master of all England, the Earl of Zetland. Among the brethren of the province present, in addition to the Worshipful D. Prov. At half-past two o'clock the brethren attended divine service at St. Nicholas Church. There was a large congregation. The sermon was preached by the Prov. G. Chaplain, Bro. the Rev. T. White, M.A., in aid of the Yarmouth Hospital. The service was full cathedral. The rev. brother selected as his text Proverbs, iii. 6, "In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy paths." In commencing his sermon the rev. gentleman dilated upon the wisdom of Solomon, whom he characterised as being one of the greatest Masters of Masonry, and whose noble intellect had been tutored by the Almighty until it became the wonder of his own day and the admiration of succeeding ages. Of this divine wisdom and of all Solomon's morality, the foundation had been the maxim embodied in the text. Among Freemasons the Book of Proverbs was highly valued, and he would not be revealing their secrets if he said their Order was founded upon the acknowledgment of God in all things, and that this was the starting point of all the ceremonies and the keynote to all its ritual. He urged the brethren to practise what they professed, for without God human enterprise was futile and human philanthropy abortive. Experience and God's worth both proved that their efforts could only be crowned with success when they put their trust in Him. Without this acknowledged dependence on infinite wisdom and love, it mattered not what designs were set on foot, they would meet with failure, but if they adopted this principle they would be, like wise builders, laying down a strong corner stone. The merest tyro in Freemasonry knew that their ancient and honourable Order rested on the fullest acknowledgment of the sovereignty of God. He then referred to the universality of this belief, and dilated upon the connection which this belief in God had with the leading principles of Freemasonry, and urged the brethren to divulge their mysteries only by truth, comparison, and religious devotion. They were assembled in a Christian church; they had joined in solemn praise to Almighty God; there was no antagonism between Christianity and their art; the best Christians would make the best Masons. He compared Freemasonry to a rainbow encircling the earth, beautiful even to those who knew nothing of its formation, but far more to the scientific student. "He is not a Jew who is one outwardly, but he is a Jew who is one inwardly." Let truth be their guiding star on the voyage of life, for this principle alone would enable them to lay out their lives according to the Masonic rule. There was everything in their art to impress upon their minds the truths of religion and morality, and Masons would never forget it was God who had stretched forth the heavens as a canopy and planted the earth as His footstool. They were urged to copy love, because He had so loved them; and pity, because of His infinite mercy towards them. The sick and suffering would never appeal in vain to Masons, and in contributing towards the funds of the hospital they would not forget that "The liberal soul deviseth liberal things." It was not necessary to urge this upon Masons, for none better understood that "The quality of mercy is not strained;" their guiding motive was the doing of good. Let them imitate their gracious Lord, who went about doing good, by showing mercy to all in need; and let them carry into their lives those virtues they were taught assiduously to cultivate.

The collection on behalf of that excellent institution, the Yarmouth Hospital, amounted to £13 4s. 5d.

The brethren having returned to the school-room, some further business was transacted, and the Grand Lodge having been closed in due form, an adjournment was made to the Town Hall, where Bro. Franklin supplied a magnificent banquet, the hall and the tables being beautifully embellished. In addition to the brethren already named, there were present Bros. Sir. E. H. K. Lacon, Bart, M.P., Captain Dods, and Captain Coleman. Altogether 147 sat down. The chair was of course taken by the Worshipful Deputy Provincial Grand Master. In proposing the toast of "The Queen," the Chairman said he was sure it would be most heartily drunk by the brethren of the Craft, as it ought to be by all men who valued public worth or esteemed private virtue (cheers). "The Grand Master of England the Most Noble the Marquess of Ripon," was honoured in the usual way, and the Chairman next proposed "The Health of P.G.M. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, Lord Carnarvon, and other Past Grand Officers," the toast being acknowledged by P.G.C. the Rev. C. J. Martyn who eulogised the personal and Masonic good qualities of the Prince, and the great distinction of the D.G.M. (Lord Carnarvon) both as a statesman, and a Mason. The Chairman then gave "The Health of the venerable Provincial Grand Master, Bro. Benjamin Bond Cabbell," who has so eminently cultivated the first great principle of Freemasonry—charity. Bro. Sir

E. H. K. Lacon proposed. "The Health of the D.P.G.M., which was drunk with great enthusiasm. In responding, the Worshipful D.P.G.M. expressed his great pleasure in welcoming so many young Masons in the province, who would hand down the traditions inherited by the Craft and improve their knowledge of them by assiduous attendance at lodges of instruction. It would, he was afraid, be necessary for them in Norwich to look out for rooms in which finally to locate themselves, for Freemasonry must not be peripatetic, wandering about in search of public-houses wherein to hold their meetings, and he trusted the Committee would be able to make a recommendation on the subject which would be acceptable to all of them. If Masonry had not flourished so much in the province as might have been expected, it was the fault of the Masons themselves, for there never were more energetic and worthy Masons than at the present time. He thanked them most sincerely for a thousand kindnesses he had received from them, and he trusted that Freemasonry would long flourish among us, and that its high principles of morality and of charity would ever be cultivated by them. He then gave "The Health of the Prov. G. C., the Rev. T. White," whom he thanked for his able and eloquent discourse. The Prov. Grand Chaplain, in responding, said he was very thankful that he had obtained the right to participate in the secrecy of Freemasonry. He had a brother who was highly versed in all the arts and secrets of Freemasonry, and the very high opinion he formed of the Craft from the life of his brother had led him to become a member. For the stream of benevolence and goodness which flowed from Freemasonry the world had much to be thankful for, and he was glad to say that the Craft had lived out the unjust aspersions which had been cast upon it. So long as a man was a social being, so long as in his nature there remained a sense of brotherhood with those around him, so long would Freemasonry continue and flourish. Might the benign influence of the Great Architect of the Universe foster their efforts to create good fellowship among all conditions and ranks of men, and might this sinful and suffering world of ours be sweetened by the light of divine truth, and render the Craft, more than it had ever been a means by which men might look up to God as their loving Father, and look around upon their fellow men as brothers in heart and soul.

The Chairman then proposed "The Provincial Grand Officers, past and present," which was acknowledged by P.P.G.S.W. Bro. Major Penrice, who expressed his gratification at having seen the lodge so well attended.

A few other toasts, and most of the brethren (including the D.P.G.M.) departed to catch the mail train. A jovial party, however, stayed, under the chairmanship of the Rev. C. J. Martyn, till a late hour. The worthy host of the Crown and Anchor (Bro. Franklin), although unwell, made (as usual) such excellent arrangements that the brethren will remember with pleasure the visit of the Provincial Grand Lodge to Yarmouth.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF JERSEY.

The annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge was held on Tuesday, October 7th, at the Masonic Temple, when a considerable number of brethren attended to show respect to the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, Bro. Dr. John LeCronier, who, owing to the absence of Bro. Col. Malet de Carteret, P.G.M., opened the Provincial Grand Lodge in due form, supported by Bros. A. Schmitt, P. Prov. S.G.W., as D.P.G.M.; J. G. Scott, P.G.S.W.; W. L. Pugsby, J.W.; P. W. Benham, Treas.; J. Durell, P. Prov. G.S.W.; C. Kingworthy, P. Prov. S.G.W.; F. Cooke, Reg.; J. O. LeSueur, Sec.; Geo. J. Renouf, S.D.; R. The minutes of the previous Grand Lodge were read and unanimously confirmed. The Secretary then read the minutes of the Committee of the P. G. Fund of Benevolence, shewing that they were able to alleviate the distresses of several necessitous brethren in the Province.

The Treasurer presented his annual statement, duly examined by the Audit Committee, which was approved and passed. The report of the Board of General Purposes was likewise read, received, and ordered to be entered on the minutes.

The brethren were now called to elect a Treasurer for the ensuing year, when Bro. A. Schmitt at once nominated Bro. Benham; this motion being seconded by Bro. J.G. Scott, was carried unanimously.

The P.G.M. appointed and invested his officers as follows:—

- Ph. Binet,..... Prov. G.S.W.
- Geo. J. Renouf, Prov. G.J.W.

This being the regular period of elections of the Board for General Purposes, the Scrutineers collected the balloting papers and withdrew. On their return they handed to the P.G.M. a list of the result of the ballot, when the following brethren were declared members of the Board for the ensuing year:—

Bro. A. Schmitt, President; C. Kingworthy, P.M. 245; J. Oatley, P.M. 590; W. T. Pugsby, P.M. 245; Jos. O'Flaherty, W.M. 958; J. G. Scott, P.M. 491; R. Barrow, P.M. 491; F. P. Lemarquand, W.M. 491. It was moved by Bro. A. Schmitt, seconded by Bro. Benham, and carried unanimously:—

"That the sum of £10 10s. be voted to the Masonic School for Girls."

The Prov. Grand Lodge was closed in form.

At 6 o'clock the brethren sat down to a dinner presided over by the acting P.G.M. who was supported on his right by Bros: A. Schmitt, Benham, J. Durell, F. Cooke, and J. Oatley; on his left by Bros. Scott, Pugsby, and C. Kingworthy.

Bro. Ph. Binet, occupied the vice-chair, where the usual loyal Masonic toasts were given, and a very enjoyable evening was spent in a truly Masonic spirit.

CONVEYANCE OF GOODS BY MEANS OF AIR.—

The Pneumatic Company (Limited) have opened a receiving office in the Post Office Yard, St. Martin's-le-Grand, at the corner of Cheapside, from whence they now dispatch goods to and from the railways. The company have in working a service of cars of some 10 or 12ft in length, and these are forced through the tubes from the Central office in Holborn, at the rate of 30 to 40 miles an hour by a steam engine and powerful pneumatic apparatus. The little air subway can be seen in the vault beneath the office at the Post Office Yard. The office itself is conveniently fitted up for the reception of goods, and the cars will take packages of considerable size. The little building fills up what has hitherto been an ugly blank by Mr. Sweeting's.

It is stated that an Irish club for London is to be established in the City.

WIRE-QUILTED SOLED BOOTS, which save 50 per cent. in wear, may be had from Burgess, 29A, Oxford-street, W; Speak, 13, Broadway, Ludgate-hill; Blundell, 66, Fore-street, City; Lewis, 209, Liverpool-road, N.; and elsewhere. N.B.—Your regular bootmaker can procure soles ready-quilted in every size from the Wire Quilting Company, Limited; or have his own leather quilted by forwarding same to the Company's works, Leicester.—ADVT.

ST. MARK'S CHURCH, SOUTH SHIELDS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

One or two slight errors crept into your otherwise excellent report of the interesting ceremony connected with the laying of the foundation stone of the above church, on the 18th Sept., which I am anxious to correct, as they have led astray several of my clerical and lay brethren, who are about to engage in church building, and who have recently written to me for information upon the subject.

The minimum estimated cost of the church is not £4,000, as reported, but £4,513, exclusive of extras, which are already beginning to trouble the Committee. The total cost of the building cannot be much less than £5,000.

The population of the new Parish of St. Mark is nearly three times larger than the number given in your paper, viz., over 8,000, and not 3,000 only.

The people are all, either working men and women, or tradesmen in a small way of business, so that the difficulties experienced by the Committee in raising so large a sum as £5,000 may perhaps be imagined, but certainly cannot be put on paper.

The Committee will have to raise £1,000 during the next twelve months, otherwise the church cannot be consecrated.

I desire very cordially to thank the Masonic brethren who honoured us with their presence on the 18th Sept., also those who have kindly assisted us with their contributions.

I may add that the proceedings left a deep and most pleasant impression on the minds of the inhabitants of South Shields, many of whom have since told me that they never before witnessed such a magnificent procession. The arrangements were evidently the result of considerable forethought and tact, and reflected great credit on the brethren who conducted the ceremony.

Yours Fraternaly

D. EVANS.

Incumbent of St. Mark's, South Shields.

SPIRITUALISM.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I do not know whether "X.O.," who writes on "Spiritualism Or?" in the American Herald, or Bro. Keet, who sent the communication for publication in the Freemason, intended to perpetrate a joke, or seriously meant it as an invitation to "spiritualistic mediums" and men of science. I can hardly suppose the latter, but if so, they can know but little, if anything, on the subject on which they write.

Whatever may be the relation between mesmerism, biology, and the phenomena of spiritualism, all being the result of some imponderable agency, the investigations that have been made, and the facts that stand upon record, afford abundant proof that they are not identical. In mesmerism and biology one person can act upon another, mentally and physically. But it is not so in "spiritual phenomena," and X.O. is altogether wrong in supposing that certain sounds and the moving of material bodies are effected at the will of the medium.

The medium is as powerless in the effecting of any of these phenomena as are the substances operated upon, and "the joint wills of several mediums" are of as little effect as is the will of a single medium.

"The discovery of the points" referred to, are therefore, altogether out of the question. The will of a medium has nothing at all to do with the occurrences which take place, whether the moving of material substances, the utterance of audible voices, the writing of intelligent sentences, the production of drawings, or conversations carried on by the various means familiar to those who investigate the phenomena. If the investigations of scientific men, and the placing of mediums at their disposal, for such investigations, are what is desired by X.O. and Bro. Keet, they may be informed that if there be any lack of such investigations it is not the fault of spiritualists.

Spiritualistic mediums have, over and over again, offered to submit their claims to the strictest test, and have invoked the judgement of scientific men upon them. Mr. Home, for instance, proposed to submit the phenomena which are so often witnessed in his presence, to Professors Faraday and Tyndall, and it is to be regretted that they did not more frankly accept the invitation addressed to them. But there are scientific men who have not refused to investigate the subject, with the acquiescence of mediums; Professor Hare, of Philadelphia, for instance, a scientist of great repute, although believing that the so-called phenomena of spiritualism were the results of trickery, believed the subject to be of so much importance as to be worth the most elaborate investigation; and to guard against the possibility of fraud on the part of the mediums, he contrived an apparatus, which, if spirits were actually concerned in the phenomena, would enable them to exercise their power independently of control. And the results were so conclusive, that he became known as one of the most eminent spiritualists of America. At this moment, we have several fellows of the Royal Society, amongst whom are Messrs. Wallace, Crookes, and Varley, each, perhaps, the most eminent scientist in his own department of knowledge, who have conducted the most patient and searching investigation into the subject, and who have all avowed their conviction of the reality of the phenomena, and of their production by some invisible power; as may be seen in the Report of the Dialectical Society, and elsewhere. These gentlemen know as much of mesmerism, biology, and spiritualism as most men, and they know that although the phenomena of each are of a very marvellous description, they are by no means to be identified as the same. Whether mesmerism be capable of suggesting "a new mode of telegraphy to all parts of the world, without cables," by putting two mesmerised persons en rapport, I will not undertake to say; but to obtain this through two spiritualistic mediums being placed en rapport, is not, I believe, on the cards.

I concur with Bro. Buchan, in believing that when the history of this century shall come to be written, it will present some curious pages, and I believe that of those not the least noticeable will be the flippancy with which pretenders to knowledge treat things they know nothing of, and the credulity they display in believing things that are utterly incredible. I am quite willing to leave those who know me, and have known me for many years, to determine whether I am the poor fool which Bro. Buchan is pleased to depict me, and also, to determine whether Bro. Buchan is likely to obtain any respect, by misrepresenting what I wrote, in order to furnish the ground whence he might assail me. I spoke of six or seven conversations, of from two to three hours and a half in length. He reduces them to one, which, "if it was not aided by trickery, was the mere result of imagination." It is quite clear that Bro. Buchan is as ignorant of the literature of spiritualism, as he is of its facts, or he would not, at this time of day, write such trash as he does of "Spiritualistic tricksters coming to seances fully prepared," and of the phenomena being "a coarse compound of trickery, credulity, animal magnetism, nervous disorder and spectral illusion," and if he was not as arrogant as he is ignorant, he would not seek to hold me and others up to ridicule and contempt, as the victims of such nervous derangement as to render us only fit for a lunatic asylum.

We are lunatics in good company however, for although he is ignorant of the fact, it is well known that several fellows of the Royal Society, including its president, and each eminent in his own department of science, are all so fully convinced of the verity of what he calls "a coarse compound of trickery, credulity, animal magnetism, nervous disorder and spectral illusion" that they have been, for some months, investigating the phenomena, under conditions which preclude the possibility of any of the causes which Bro. Buchan, in his wisdom, assigns for them.

Yours fraternally,
WILLIAM CARPENTER.

RESUSCITATION OF A ROYAL ARCH CHAPTER AT PAISLEY.

Abbey Chapter, No. 76, which, owing to the death within the last few years of several of its most active members, and the removal from the town of others, has been practically dormant, though still retained in the roll of chapters, was formerly re-opened on Monday Oct. the 20th, principally owing to the exertions of Comp. H. Rowan, the indefatigable Scribe E., and Jas. Anderson, the R.W.M. of the Renfrew County Kilwinning Lodge, No. 370, in whose hall the chapter met, having in, conjunction with Comp. Guy, P.Z. of Chapter 109, invited a member of the Glasgow companions to assist in resuscitating the chapter, and on the appointed day sent out a carriage and pair of greys to convey them to and from their destination. Some others availed themselves of other modes of conveyance, and Johnstone also sent its deputation to assist in the good work.

On the arrival of the Glasgow brethren, they not only met with a fraternal greeting, but found a substantial repast awaiting them, thus having refreshment before labour.

At the request of the Paisley companion the chapter was officered by Glasgow brethren, assisted by Comp. Guy, of Johnstone. The offices were thus filled, Comps. L. Crabb, P.Z. of 50, P.G.S.N. as Z.; John Frazer P.H. 50 as H.; G. B. Adams, P.J. of 50, J.; W. Guy, P.Z. 109, Scribe E.; J. Tweed, J. of 73, Scribe N.; G. W. Wheeler, H. of 73, First S.; D. Robinson 50, Second S.; R. Moss, 50, Third S.; John Crabb, 50, Captain of the Vail; J. M. Oliver, Scribe E. 69, Captain Second Vail; W. Nicholson, 69, Captain of Third Vail; J. Johnson, 109, Treasurer; A. A. Smith, T. 50, I.G.; J. Miller, 50, Organist.

A Lodge of Mark Masters was then opened, and the following five brethren, who had previously taken that degree, were affiliated as members of this Mark Lodge, viz., Bros. J. Anderson, J. G. Drummond, Mark Cook, J. Marshall, W. E. Nevan, having been initiated into the mysteries of this degree and duly passed through the veils, a Holy Royal Arch Chapter was then opened, and the same five gentlemen were exalted to that degree. The whole of the ceremonies were worked with that precision that distinguishes Comp. Crabb's working.

The solemn music, so well rendered by Comp. Wheeler, Z. 60, and the gorgeous robes and head dress of the three Principals, which were supplied by Comp. G. Kenning, combined to produce a deep effect, not only on the minds of the candidates, but also on all the companions present, while the embellishments of the hall and the tracing boards of the Arch, as well as those of the Craft, that were displayed on the walls, while unusual in a Scotch Lodge, yet added much to the effect, and all present will long remember the favourable auspices under which the Abbey Chapter was re-opened. The whole of the visiting companions were then affiliated, and the chapter closed.

After the protracted labour was over the companions proceeded to refreshment, and in the unavoidable absence of the First Principal of the chapter, Comp. Jas. Anderson, R.W.M. 370, was called to the chair. He expressed the great pleasure it had given him to have been instrumental in getting up this meeting, and he was sure that all would be pleased at the successful result, the kindness of the visiting brethren, the correctness of the working, and the magnificence of the dresses, taken altogether, had produced such an effect upon his mind that he must acknowledge his total inability to do justice to it.

After the usual loyal and Masonic toasts had been given, "The Three Grand Chapters" was given by Comp. Jas. Crabb. Comp. G. W. Wheeler, responded on behalf of England, he being a member under that Constitution as well as the Scotch. Comp. Fraser replied on behalf of Ireland, stating it was a favourable augury for the Abbey Chapter that it had been re-opened by Representatives of the three Grand Chapters, Comp. Gray responded for Scotland. The Chairman then gave "The Visitors from Glasgow," Comp. Jas. Crabb replied and proposed "The Five Newly-exalted Companions." Comp. Anderson replied, stating the gratification they had all derived from having been exalted under such very favourable circumstances, and with such accessories. Comp. Wheeler proposed "The Sir William Wallace Chapter, No. 109, and the Companions from Johnstone," which was acknowledged by Comps. J. Johnson, and J. W. Gray, the Z. and P.Z. of 109. The Chairman then gave "69," responded to by W. Nicholson, who said that after traversing all quarters of the Globe, he still loved to visit his native place and mix with the brethren of the Mystic Tie. Comp. J. M. Olive, Scribe E. 69, also briefly acknowledged the compliment. Comp. Gray gave "Chapter 73" which was responded to by Comp. J. Tweed, J.; and Comp. G. Wheeler, H. of that Chapter. Comp. Adams said that the two last speakers, as well as himself, and Comp. Jas. Crabb had left a meeting of Knights Templar to be present to-night that, proving the fraternal feeling that exists in the various grades of Masonry in Glasgow and its vicinity. "Happy to meet, sorry to part, and happy to meet again" was then given, and with "Auld Lang Syne" wound up this truly successful and harmonious meeting. The pleasures of the evening were materially enhanced by the really excellent singing of Comps. James and John Crabb, J. Miller, D. Ross, Robinson, Gully, Fraser, and last and not least, A. A. Smith, who presided at the harmonium at refreshment, as Comp. Miller had officiated during the ceremonies, and the Glasgow Companions returned, well pleased that their visit to Paisley had been so pleasant to all.

FREEMASONRY IN THE WEST INDIES.

It is gratifying to us to observe that in the Tobago Gazette, the Government Journal, there is the following notice of the appointment of the Honorable Joseph King Wattley, Chief Justice of Tobago, to the Provincial Grand Mastership of the Province of the West Indian Islands, under the Scotch Constitution. The notice is headed by a device and is in the following terms:—

"GRAND LODGE OF SCOTLAND.—A quarterly meeting of the Grand Lodge of Scotland was held yesterday afternoon, in the Freemasons' Hall, George Street, Edinburgh. The M.W. Grand Master Mason of Scotland, the Right Honourable the Earl of Roslyn, occupied the throne, and was supported by the Right Honourable the Earl of Dalhousie, K.T., Past Grand Master. After several matters had been disposed of, on the recommendation of the lodges in the West India Islands, Bro. Chief Justice Joseph King Wattley, was unanimously appointed Provincial Grand Master of that Province."—From the Edinburgh Courant of 5th August.

The above appointment, it need scarcely be added, gives unbounded satisfaction to the members of the Craft, not only in this Island but generally throughout the West Indies, where Bro. Wattley's services have been for many years known and appreciated, and to the lodge No. 488, it is highly complimentary."

Glasgow is to be the resort next year of the Social Science people. It is a long step from the Wensum to the Clyde. In the magnificent city of steamships and ironfoundries the congress will be surrounded with mightier proofs of industrial enterprise and commercial well-being, but they will hardly receive a heartier welcome than was accorded in Norwich.

There are in connection with the College
THREE ANNUAL EXHIBITIONS,
open for general competition to all students, and tenable for three years.

Special Classes are formed for preparing students for the Legal, Medical, Home, Colonial, and Indian Civil Service Examinations; and for entrance to Woolwich, Coopers-hill, and the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, Dublin, Durham, and Edinburgh.

The Religious Teaching is based on strictly Protestant Principles, in accordance with the Doctrines and Liturgy of the Church of England.

Students requiring a commercial education only, are exempt from the classical course, if desired.

The year consists of two terms, during which there are no holidays, the only vacations being at Midsummer and Christmas.

The use of all class books, valuable library, stationery (except mathematical instruments) laundry, &c., is included in the terms. No Extras of any kind.

The High School—Students from 16 to 23 years of age.
The Middle School—Students from 12 to 16 years of age.

The Preparatory School—Students under 12 years of age.

The College is divided into three sections. In the
PREPARATORY SCHOOL
(entirely distinct, but contiguous)

Boys are well grounded in the elements of a sound English Education, with French and German (also in Latin and Greek if for the learned professions), and prepared for the High or Middle School. In the High School the course of study is a preparation for the Universities and the various competitive examinations; while the Middle School trains pupils in such subjects as will qualify them for scientific and commercial pursuits.

Alston College is pleasantly situated, about six miles from Preston, and half a mile from Longridge Railway Station; is in immediate proximity to beautiful mountain scenery, within half an hour's ride of the chief watering places on the western coast of Lancashire, and is considered by Medical Professors to be in one of the healthiest localities in England—a fact sufficiently proved by the remarkably good health enjoyed by the students and regularly confirmed by the half-yearly medical reports.

Extensive Cricket Grounds are attached to the College Farms, whilst a spacious covered Gymnasium and Student's Hall, available for recreation, drill, &c., adjoin.

Reports of all examinations, together with the names of those students who have distinguished themselves at the College and the Universities, as Exhibitioners, Medalists and Prizemen, also the reports of the late examinations, together with views of the College buildings, and all necessary information, forwarded on application to the Rector, or to

Mr. GEORGE CLIFFORD, Secretary.

References kindly permitted to Bro. Masons, and to the late Examiners: Rev. T. H. Lindsay Leary, M.A., D.C.L. (Oxon), Assistant Examiner to Her Majesty's Civil Service Commission, Crawford Cottage, Epsom; T. W. CROSBY'S
BALSAMIC

COUGH ELIXIR.

CROSBY'S

BALSAMIC

COUGH ELIXIR.

Opium, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief in Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling the digestive organs, and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S
BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy.

SELECT TESTIMONIAL.

Dr. Rooke, Scarborough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdued cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease."

This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Night
Sweats of Consumption, Quinsey, and all affections of the throat and chest. Sold in bottles at 1s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, by all respectable Chemists, and wholesale by Jas. M. Crosby, Chemist, Scarborough.

* Invalids should read Crosby's Prize Treatise on "Diseases of the Lungs and Air-Vessels," a copy of which can be had Gratis of MOUNT LEBANON LODGE (No. 73).—After the long recess of six months, this justly celebrated old lodge held its regular meeting at the Bridge House Hotel, Borough High-street, Southwark, on Tuesday, October the 21st. Bro. G. J. Grace P.M. 1178, W.M., presided. The minutes of the previous lodge meeting were read and unanimously confirmed. Ballots, taken separately, were unanimous in favour of the admission of all the candidates for initiation into Freemasonry. The agenda paper was relieved by raising Bros. J. J. Hole, and J. E. Stephens to the third degree, passing Bro. E. J. Frisby, to the second degree, initiating Messrs. Whetherly, S. W. Sutton, and E. Buckland into Freemasonry. The work was well and ably done by the W.M. Several candidates were proposed for initiation at the next lodge meeting. The subject of the proposed new bye-laws was deferred until the next lodge meeting. The lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to a sumptuous banquet, served under Bro. J. H. Spencer's personal supervision. It was all that could be desired and gave great satisfaction. The routine toasts were given, and a most agreeable evening spent. After dessert the coffee was served and the brethren separated. There were also present:—Bros. A. L. Dussek, S.W.; S. Harman, J.W.; E. Harris, P.M., Treas.; F. Walters, Prov. G. Steward Middlesex, P.M., Sec.; J. S. Gomme, S.D.; T. J. H. Wilkins, Prov. G.A.D.C. Middlesex, P.M., I.G.; C. Rayden, D. of C.; G. Free, P.M.; D. Rose, P.M.; F. H. Ebsworth, P.M.; H. Keeble, P.M., and forty other brethren. The visitors list included Bros. A. M. Thomas, 134; W. Myatt, W.M. 871; J. G. Willett, 1076; T. Vincent, 1076; D. A. Ross, 1216; A. Alworth, J.D. 2269; F. Bouts, 1036, 1326, and others.

SHEERNESS.—Adam's Lodge of Instruction (No. 158).—This old and flourishing Lodge of Instruction held its annual meeting on the 16th inst., at the Britannia Inn, Mile Town, Sheerness, when a goodly number of the brethren assembled together. This lodge of Instruction was established on the 22nd April, 1841, by the principal brethren of Adam's Lodge, at that time for the instruction of M.Ms. These have all past from this lower lodge to the Grand Lodge above, except one, our respected Bro. Issac Townsend, P.M. and Secretary, P.Z., P. Prov. G.R., and P. Prov. G.S. of W. of the Province of Kent. He is the oldest Mason in the Province except one, the Provincial Grand Treasurer, Bro. Thorpe. Bro. Isaac Townsend was initiated in Lodge No. 79, Greenwich, in the year 1815, and joined Adam's Lodge, 158, in 1834, and has been Secretary for 28 years, and is still able to give counsel and instruction to the younger brethren. This Lodge of Instruction fell into abeyance about the year 1855, and was resuscitated in April, 1865, by Bros.

Keddle, J. Townsend, S. L. Townsend, Green Spears, Bagshaw, and Fleming, and its progress has since been marked by many of the brethren being able to take the highest places in the lodge, with credit to themselves and the Past Masters who superintend the working of the Lodge of Instruction. On Thursday, the 16th inst., the lodge was opened at 6.30. p.m. by Bro. A. Spears, P.M. and Treasurer, P.Z., P. Prov. G.O., when the minutes of the former meeting were read and confirmed. The chair was then taken by Bro. Bagshaw, P.M. and W.M. of the Lodge of Instruction, when the financial business of the lodge was examined and found highly satisfactory. The lodge was then closed and the brethren adjourned to banquet, provided by Mrs. Green, of the Britannia Inn, (widow of the late lamented Bro. I. G. Green, P.M.) in her usual excellent style. The chair at the banquet was most ably filled by Bro. Bagshaw, P.M. After banquet the usual loyal and Craft toasts were given from the chair, accompanied by brief, but appropriate remarks. To the toast of the "Provincial Grand Lodge of Kent, and its Officers," Bro. Beckwith, W.M. of Adam's Lodge, and P.G.S. of Works, responded in a few but appropriate remarks. The chairman in proposing the "Officers of Adam's Lodge," forcibly urged on the brethren the desirability of attending the Lodge of Instruction. Bro. Byston, S.W. of Adam's Lodge in responding to the above toast, made some very appropriate remarks on the necessity of continued and punctual attendance of the officers to their several duties, Bro. Spears, P.M., &c., in responding to the toast of the Past Masters, gave a short but graphic address on the three grand offerings which make the ground work of Freemasonry holy, illustrating them by the Parallel passages in Holy Writ. Bro. S. L. Townsend, P.M., feelingly returned thanks for the Hostess, Mrs. Green.

CARNARVON.—Segontium Lodge (No. 606).—This lodge held its annual meeting at the Castle, Carnarvon, on Tuesday, 21st inst., when there was a large assembly of the brethren. The lodge was opened by the W.M., Bro. Pool, assisted by all his officers, and he then initiated a candidate who had previously been accepted by ballot. Bro. M. Emanuel, P.M. of the lodge, of Israel, 205, then assumed the chair, and Bro. Bradbury, the W.M. elect, having been presented to him, took the necessary obligations. The W.M. having been saluted in the three degrees, then appointed and invested the officers of the lodge with appropriate remarks. Bro. Emanuel, P.M., then delivered the three addresses in a manner which, at the conclusion, drew forth the long and loud applause of the brethren present. A vote of thanks to Bro. Emanuel, P.M., for his services as Installing Master was then proposed by Bro. Humphrey, who stated that Bro. Emanuel had travelled expressly from London at his own expense to perform the ceremony of installing the new Master, and he proved his zeal for Masonry not only on that occasion, but also the four times he had travelled to Carnarvon to attend to his duty as Z. of the chapter in connection with this lodge. The proposition, on being put to the lodge, was carried unanimously, and ordered to be entered on the minutes. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to the Sportsmen's Hotel, to a banquet prepared by Bro. Pugh, in his usual well-known style, and where a most pleasant evening was passed by the brethren.

BARROW.—Hindpool Lodge (No. 1225).—On Tuesday, the 16th inst., the ceremony of installing the Worshipful Master of this lodge took place at the Lodge Room, Hartington Hotel. The W.M. elect was P.M. Bro. George Cornfield, and the Installing Officer was Bro. Alpass, Prov. Grand Secretary assisted by Bro. Wade, Prov. Grand Master of Ceremonies, Bro. R. Pearson, P.M. 995; Bro. Dodgson, P.M. 995; and Bro. Bagot, P.M. 1021. The ceremony having been gone through with great solemnity, the W.M. appointed the following officers for the ensuing year, who were also duly installed into office, namely:—Bro. R. Hooker, S.W.; Bro. W. A. Kershaw, J.W.; Bro. W. M. Eckersley, M. of C.; Bro. R. B. D. Bradshaw, S.D.; Bro. E. J. Morgan, J.D.; Bro. J. Jeavons, Sec.;

Bro. B. Woodhouse, Treasurer; Bro. B. Caruthers, I.G.; Bro. Joseph Hill, O.; Bro. G. I. Hillier, Tyler. After the installation, which lasted upwards of three hours, the brethren passed in order from the lodge to the banquet room, singing,

"Hail Masonry divine."

Between 40 and 50 brethren sat down to a banquet which was of the most recherché description, reflecting great credit upon Bro. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor, the host and hostess. The after proceedings were presided over by Bro. Cornfield, W.M., supported by Bro. Graham, I.P.M.; Bro. Ormandy, P.M.; Bro. Bagot, P.M.; Bro. Worrall, P.M.; Bro. Whiteside, W.M. 1390, and other visitors. After the passing round of the loving cup, the toast list was proceeded with. The first toast, given by the W.M., was "The Queen, the daughter, niece, and mother of Masons." The W.M. next gave "His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, P.G.M., the Princess of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family." The W.M. then gave "The most Worshipful the Grand Master, the Earl of Ripon, the Right Worshipful the Deputy Grand Master, the Earl of Carnarvon, and the Officers of the Grand Lodge of England." He said they might be glad in being so fortunate in finding so worthy a successor to the late M.W. Grand Master, the Earl of Zetland, and they ought also to be equally glad that the present M.W.G.M. had appointed such a worthy nobleman for his deputy, both of whom discharged their Masonic duties to the satisfaction and admiration of everyone concerned, especially when their high and important offices connected with the state were considered, which called for their almost undivided attention. He (the speaker) had not had the pleasure of visiting the Grand Lodge, but from that valuable medium, the Freemason, he could gather that the other officers gave that support to the M.W.G.M. which he so well deserved, and which showed they were so fitted for the honours they enjoyed. The next toast honoured was "To the immortal memory of our beloved late Most Worshipful Past Grand Master, the Earl of Zetland," which was drunk in solemn silence. The W.M. proposed in most eulogistic terms "The Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, Lord Skelmersdale, and the Provincial Officers of West Lancashire." When he proposed the M.W.G.M., he said they should be glad that they had been so fortunate as to find such a worthy successor to the late M.W.G.M., but in coming nearer home, to their own province, he could say that he had been in the Provincial Grand Lodge at Wigan, Southport, and another place, where he had seen and heard the R.W.P.G.M. speak; and he was also at the Grand Masonic meeting at Manchester last October where he saw him holding a very distinguished office, and he came to the conclusion that the M.W.G.M. could not place the patent in better hands than in those of the present R.W.P.G.M. He also had appointed a worthy deputy, who took a great interest in everything appertaining to the welfare of the Craft. Of the rest of the present officers, especially those who they had met with in Barrow, Bros. Alpass and Wylie, he must say that the R.W.M. had made a very judicious selection, because they were so well acquainted with Provincial Grand Lodge affairs as to render their very valuable assistance, and he could say whenever they needed their assistance in Barrow they had invariably given it with willingness and courtesy. He coupled with the toast Bro. Alpass, P.G.S. Bro. Alpass, P.G.S. responded. Bro. Graham, then proposed "The Worshipful Master of Hindpool, Lodge, No. 1225." He said he need not tell them that he was well known by all, from the oldest to the youngest mason present, and also that the longer they knew him the better they liked him, not only for his Masonic capabilities, but for his private character. He looked upon the proceedings of the day as another honour to the lodge, inasmuch as the Worshipful Master had been elected a second time to fill the chair. He had known Bro. Cornfield for a long time, and he could bear testimony to the fact that his heart seemed bound up in Masonry, and as long as he lived he would give the lodge the help he was so well qualified to give. The toa was drunk with Masonic honours. Bro. Cornfield, W.M., in responding, said he thanked them from his heart for the manner in which they had received the toast. He did not wish to be W.M. of the lodge another year, as he wished to see younger brethren in Masonry aspire to the office. He would rather have had the pleasure of installing one of the younger members into the chair than be installed himself, and with that desire in view he had chosen his officers. He hoped therefore he would have the pleasure of installing one of his officers for the ensuing year in the chair he now occupied. To enable him to do this, however, the various officers must be diligent in their attention to the duties of their respective offices. They had given him a promise, which he had exacted from them before their appointment, that they would attend all the lodges and lodges of instruction, unless prevented by urgent business or by sickness. If they would stick to him, he would endeavour to make this lodge second to none in this province. He would not endeavour so much to add new members as to perfect the lodge in its working and performance of the ceremonies. He again thanked them for the toast, and concluded by proposing "The Installing Officers," coupled with the name of P.M. Bagot, of Lodge 1021. Bro. Bagot, P.M., expressed the sense of gratitude he felt at the honour conferred upon him, by coupling his name with such an important toast. He congratulated the brethren on the choice they had made in electing Bro. Cornfield as their W.M. for the next year. With regard to the part he had taken in the installing ceremony, it was very small, but he hoped that it would soon become the invariable custom in this province for the I.P.M. to install his successor, so that at the close of every year they need not go out of Barrow to seek an installing officer. Bro. Baynes then rose to propose the Wardens and Officers of Ke. 1225. He said he was but a young mason, and therefore he felt the honor that had been conferred upon him by entrusting the toast in his hands. In all institutions there must be a certain class of officers, and as we have drunk the health of the P.M., we now come to the other officers. They might remember the words of Pope—

Order is heaven's first law,

Some are, and must be greater than the rest.

He thought they must congratulate themselves on the selection of officers made that day. He had heard that the S.W. had been three years a Mason, and yet he never missed one night in his attendance at the lodge meetings. That was good warrant of what might be expected of him this year. Then there was the J.W. whom he knew well, and from his character he would perform the duties of his office with honor to himself. So far as he knew the other offices were filled by younger brethren, and this, he thought, was as it should be. The duties of each office required a great effort of memory, and young men were just the parties to take office. Their minds were plastic and able to retain the ritual and able to perform the ceremonies. It became to them a labor of love, and the time they spent they would not regret. Whatever society we might belong to there was no doubt that its success depended a great deal upon the respectability, the integrity, and the efficiency of its officers, and we should always remember

Our acts like angels are if good, if ill

Our everlasting shadows that walk by us still. He begged to couple with the toast the Senior and Junior Warden. Song by Bro. Haslam, S.W., 1021. S.W. Hooker was much obliged to the brethren for the toast, and for the very flattering remarks made by Bro. Baynes. It was his intention during the year to perform the duties of his office to the best of his ability, and, if he kept his health, to be in his post every lodge night. J.W. Kershaw also responded, and promised the W.M. all the support he could possibly give in the performance of his arduous duties. Song by Bro. Hooker. Bro. Cornfield, W.M., then proposed the health of the Immediate Past Master, Bro. Graham, and in doing so remarked that he had been most regular in attendance upon the lodge, and in the performance of his duties during his term of office and was entitled to the best thanks of the brethren. He (the speaker) was very sorry to say that the Past Master's jewel, which it was intended to present to Bro. Graham, had not yet arrived, but he hoped to be able to make the presentation at the next regular lodge meeting, when he hoped as many of the brethren as conveniently could would be present. Bro. Graham said he felt deeply grateful for the manner in which the toast had been received, and assured the brethren that it had been his heart's desire to fill the office to the best of his ability in the interest of Masonry. He had had some difficulties to contend with, as every W.M. had, but he was glad to say he had been well supported by the officers and by the Past Masters. Bro. Hunter proposed the "Past Officers of No. 1225," coupling with it the name of Bro. Leary, who was the most industrious and hard working Mason he had ever seen. Song by Bro. Baynes. Bro. Leary said his aim while in office had been to make the lodge one of the best in the whole district, and he had no doubt that this would be accomplished by the efforts of the newly installed W.M. and his efficient staff of officers. Bro. Bagot proposed "The Past Masters of No. 1225," paying a high tribute of praise to Bro. Worrall, the father of the lodge, and his successors, Bros. Cornfield, Silver, Ormandy, and Graham. He coupled with the toast the name of Bro. Ormandy, P.M. Bro. Ormandy responded. The W.M. then proposed "The Brethren of the neighbouring lodges, 995, 1390, 1398, and sister lodge 1021," coupling with it the names of Bro. Whiteside, W.M. of the Baldwin Lodge, Dalton, Bro. Postlethwaite, J.W. of the Furness Lodge, Millom, and Bro. Bagot, P.M. Hartington Lodge, Barrow, all of these brethren responding. Bro. Leary, then proposed "The Masonic Charities," remarking that in this province they had a fund amounting to £9,000. Bro. Bagot in responding remarked that the charities were the root and core of Freemasonry. The W.M. then proposed "The Immortal Memory of Deceased Brethren," which was observed in solemn silence. The W.M. proposed "The Visiting Brethren," coupled with the name of Bro. Wade, Prov. Grand Master of Ceremonies for the County of Durham. Bro. Wade, in responding, greeted the brethren with brotherly love, relief, and truth, and expressed his pleasure at being present at the installation, especially as an old and esteemed friend of his had been chosen to the chair of Senior Warden. They would all know what it was to cross the chequered floor of a Masonic lodge, and to offer up their sacrifices on Mount Moriah. There were difficulties in the way to be met with, but he hoped this lodge would surmount them, and at last they might all meet in that Grand Lodge above. The W.M. next proposed "To all Poor and Distressed Masons," scattered over the earth, wherever they may be, and may they have a speedy return to their own country whenever they may wish it. Bro. Jeavons proposed "The Ladies," which was responded to by Bro. Klyne. Bro. Baynes proposed "The Press," which was responded to by Bro. Carruthers. The W.M. proposed "The Host and Hostess," and this brought the proceedings to a close.—Barrow Pilot.

HAMPTON.—Lebanon Lodge (No. 1326).—On Thursday, the 16th inst., at the Red Lion Hotel, Thames-street, Hampton, this prosperous lodge held its meeting. There were present:—Bros. W. Hammond, P.M. 201, W.M.; H. A. Dubois, Prov. G. Steward Middlesex, S.W.; J. W. Jackson, J.W.; S. Wickens, P.M., Treas.; F. Walters, P.M., Prov. G. Steward Middlesex, Sec.; W. Y. Laing, P.M., S.D.; J. W. Baldwin, J.D.; R. Lawrence, M. Mildred, G. S. Haines, W. Stanton, and many others. Strange to say no visitors were present. The business performed was initiating Messrs. Josias Lawrence, and William Mitchell, passing W. Warhurst, J. Lawrence, W. Prattent, J. Johnson, and J. V. Watkins to the second degree, and raising J. Hurst to the third degree. The working of the W.M. was well and admirably done. Lengthened discussions ensued on one of the new bye-laws of the lodge, and on other matters of private interest, all of which were settled to the satisfaction of all present. Some propositions for joining members and candidates for initiation were given into the Secretary. The W.M. announced an emergency meeting, involving no expense to the lodge, beyond printing, postage, Tyler's fee, and rent of room, to be held on the third Thursday in the ensuing month. The brethren partook of tea, when the lodge was closed, and the town division of the lodge left early.

WALTHAM.—King Harold Lodge (No. 1327).—The installation meeting of the above lodge was held at the Britannia Hotel, Waltham New Town, Herts, on Tuesday, the 21st inst, at 2 p.m. Bro. Edward Parker, P.G.P. Herts, the W.M., in the chair, supported by P.Ms. West, Lacey, Sisley, Watkins, Gaskell, Brayshaw, Linzell, and English; Bro. Lacy, P.M., the S.W., W.M. 1421; Evans, J.W.; Barwick, Treas.; Reilly Sec.; Gilbert, J.D.; Copeland, I.G.; Auber, Organist; Steedman, Tyler. The lodge was opened in the three degrees. The ballot was declared unanimous in favour of Mr. Samuel Jacobs, and that gentleman was regularly initiated in the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry. Bro. James Kerr Young, the W.M. elect, was then duly installed as W.M. of the King Harold. The beautiful ceremony of installation was most efficiently rendered by Bro. Edmund West, P.M. 1076 and 1327, P. Prov. G.S.D. Herts, and first Master of the King Harold Lodge, for which a cordial vote of thanks was tendered to Bro. West, and the Secretary was instructed to record this on the minutes of the lodge. The newly installed W.M. was initiated in the Capper Lodge, No. 1076, in January, 1869, by Bro. Watkins, and raised in the same lodge by Bro. West, in March 1869. Although a young Mason, Bro. Young is known to be well up in the duties of the W.M., and from the manner in which he conducted the business of the meeting after his installation, there is every reason to hope that he will efficiently represent his Mother Lodge, and reflect credit on his worthy tutor, Bro. J. Parry, P.M. 891, who was instructed by Bro. Brett, P.G.P. of the Grand Lodge of England. The W.M. appointed his officers as follows:—Bros. Edward Parker, P.G.P. Herts, I.P.M.; J. W. H. Evans, S.W.; W. Gilbert, J.W.; J. Berwick, Treas.; J. Reilly, Sec. W.M. 1421; P. M. Lacey, D.C.; M. J. Auber, Org.; B. F. Copeland, S.D.; W. Monney, J.D.; Tydeman, I.G., Steedman, Tyler. Bro. Young, the W.M., had now the pleasing duty to perform of presenting the I.P.M., Bro. Edward Parker, with a very handsome P.M.'s jewel, also of presenting the Treasurer and Secretary, Bros. J. Barwick, and J. Reilly, with a jewel each. The recipients of these handsome presents returned thanks in suitable terms to the W.M. and brethren for this expression of the confidence and esteem in which they were held by the King Harold Lodge. This concluded the business of the meeting, and the lodge was closed in harmony, after which the brethren retired to a splendid banquet, which was prepared and served up in excellent style by the worthy Host, Bro. John Sheldon. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were heartily responded to. Bro. P. M. Lacey took the opportunity, in an able speech, of advocating the support of the Masonic Charities, to which the King Harold and its members, since its foundation in September, 1870, have liberally contributed. The brethren after spending a very pleasant and enjoyable evening, separated at an early hour. The brethren, present were Bros. J. K. Young, W.M.; E. Parker, I.P.M., P.G.P. Herts.; West, P.M. 1076 and 1327, P. Prov. G.S.D. Herts.; H. G. Sisley, P.M. 1079; C. Lacy, P.M. 1076, D.C., W.M. 1421; J. W. H. Evans, S.W.; W. Gilbert, J.W.; J. Barwick, Treasurer; T. Reilly, Secretary; M. J. Auber, Organist; F. Copeland, S.D.; W. Mooney, J.D.; J. Steedman, Tyler, and Bros. Sheldon, Portlock, Goodale, Silver, Purkis, Lumsden, Creed, Imrie, Holmes, Soul, Hodges, Wyatt, Miller, Barnett, Eversfield, Malcolm, Carter, Skinner, Fisher, Cole, A. Clements, G. Clements, Calvert, Tucker, Noyes, and Jacobs. The visitors were:—Bros. Linzell, P.M. 754; English, P.M. 1227; Brayshaw, P.M. 1076; Watkins, P.M. 1076; Gaskell, P.M. 1076; Knox, W.M. elect, 1076; Priestly, J.W. 1076, Park, Treasurer 1076; and Bros. Old, Newall, Ferris, Burrell, and Middlehurst.

MILLOM.—Whitwell Lodge (No. 1390).—The meeting of this lodge took place on Tuesday evening, Oct. 21, at the lodge room, Bro. Thomas Dodgson, W.M., P.G.D. C. and W., P.M. 995, occupied the chair, of K.S. There were also present Bros. Mill, S.W. and P.G.S.B., C. and W.; Meredith, J.W.; Postlethwaite, Leo, W. Crooks, S.D.; Holloway, Org.; Waiting, Acting I.G.; Bradley, Laing, Geo. Mills, Howes, W. Bell, and Scott, Tyler; and Visiting Bro. Geo. McKay, 129. The minutes of the last regular lodge were read and confirmed, after which the ballot was taken for Mr. Thomas Bell, which proved favourable, and he being in attendance, was regularly initiated into Freemasonry, by the W.M., Bro. Thomas Dodgson, in a most impressive manner, for which his ability is well known. The charge was given by the S.W., and the working tools explained by the J.W., Bros. Laing, Mills, and Howes were then passed to the second degree, which was conferred on each separately, by the W.M. in a very efficient manner, the J.W. giving the working tools in this degree. Hearty good wishes were given from Lodge Union, 129, after which the lodge was finally closed, in due form, at 10.15.

Mark Masonry.

LIVERPOOL.—Walton Lodge of Mark Masters (No. 161).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Kirkdale-Road, Liverpool, on the 7th Oct., 1873. Bro. J. C. Lunt, W.M., opened the lodge, and was well supported, amongst those present being Bros. Thos. Chesworth, S.W.; R. Cain, J.W.; J. Banning, S.O.; R. Brown, J. O.; Phillip Armstrong, Treas.; W. S. Barker, Secretary; G. E. Hammer, S.D.; W. Dwelly, J.D.; W. E. Quayle, I.G.; and H. Ball, Tyler. Ballots were taken for three candidates for advancement the whole of which proved unanimously favourable. Bro. W. E. Quayle, being present, was duly advanced to the honourable degree of Mark Master Mason, and described himself a subscribing member. The remaining approved candidates had communicated their intention to be present at the ensuing meeting, and will then receive the benefit of advancement. The lodge was then closed in sacred harmony, the brethren adjourned to a frugal supper, and a most agreeable evening was spent by all present.

PRESTON.—Prince of Peace Preceptory.—The regular meeting of this preceptory was held at the Bull Hotel, Preston, on Monday, the 20th inst. In the unavoidable absence of the Preceptor, Sir Knight Shuttleworth, Sir Knt. J. D. Moore, P.G.S.B. of England, presided, and was supported by the following officers, Sir Knights James Worsley, P.E.C., Prov. G. St. B.; Galloway, P.E.C., Prov. G. P.; Capt. Whithead, First Captain; Airey, as Second Captain; John Worsley, Registrar; Cottam, Captain of Lines; Frater Knowles, Equerry. The regular business of the Preceptory was transacted, the alms collected, and a candidate proposed for installation, after which it was closed in due form, and the companions adjourned for refreshment.

MOVEABLE GRAND CONCLAVE AT LEICESTER.

Our columns have many times lately borne testimony to the vigorous growth of this Chivalric Order. Probably one of the most successful meetings which have yet been held out of the Metropolis was that which took place at Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, on the occasion of the first Movable Grand Conclave. The idea of holding movable assemblies originated, we believe, from an observation of the success which had attended the provincial meetings of the Mark Grand Lodge. The members of the Leicester Conclave (the Byzantine No. 44) accordingly resolved on issuing an invitation to the Grand Council to hold their first meeting in Leicester, which having been accepted, Tuesday, 21st Oct., was the day fixed on for it to take place.

The Byzantine Conclave having been opened by the M.P.S., Sir Knt. S. S. Partridge, K.G.C., assisted by his officers, the Grand Council were announced and received in due form under the "arch of steel," a march being played on the organ by Sir Knt. E. J. Crow, Mus Bac.

The Grand Conclave was then opened by Col. Fras. Burdett, as G. Sov., the Int. Gen. of the Province, Sir Knt. W. Kelly, acting as G. Viceroy.

Amongst those present were the following:—G. Council:—V. I. Sir Knights Col. Burdett, G.S.G.; R. Wentworth Little, G. Treas.; Dr. Woodman, G. Rec.; R. W. Stewart, G.M.; and John Boyd, G. Hist.

Ints General.—V. I. Sir Knights W. Kelly, Leicestershire; Sir G. E. Campbell, Hants; Captain G. Turner, W. Lanc.; J. G. Marsh, Essex; Dr. Kellett Smith, Unatt.

G. Senate:—V. E. Sir Knights T. Cubitt, G. Pref.; G. Toller, Jun., G. V. Ch.; Geo. Kenning, G. Inst. of Reg.; T. B. Yeoman, G.U.

Knts. G. Cross:—V. E. Sir Knts. S. S. Partridge, and E. — Thiellay.

Sovns.—E. and P. Sir Knts. H. A. Dubois, Col. Peters, G. Phillips, 19; Rev. W. Langley, 44.

With representatives from the Premier and many other Conclaves. The attendance book was not signed by all present, so that their names are unavoidably omitted.

Dr. Woodman read the report of the Executive Committee, which shewed that the recent rapid spread of the Order has been fully maintained, conclaves now being established in all parts of the world.

Col. Burdett, after referring to the services of the Earl of Bective, and the prosperity of the order under his sway, nominated Sir F. M. Williams, as G. Sov., for the ensuing year. The nomination was supported by the acting Grand V.E., who spoke of Sir F. M. Williams's truly Masonic spirit, as evidenced by his liberal donations to the charities, and stated that the members of the Order in Leicestershire would view his election with great satisfaction, owing to his kindly support of a local candidate for the Boys' School.

A Sanctuary of K.H.S. and Commandery of St. John were then opened and the degrees were conferred on 24 candidates, Sir Knt. Little acting as M.E. Commander, the other offices being filled by members of the Patriarchal Council and visitors.

It is probably not too much to say that these degrees rank second to none in the solemnity and impressiveness of the rituals, and as they become more widely known, they will be better appreciated. As an appendage to the Red Cross Degree, they are most valuable, and we think the Patriarchal Council have exercised a wise discretion in allowing them to be worked out of London.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the Mount Hermon Sanctuary of K.H.S. and Commandery of St. John, No. 44, were constituted, in connection with the Byzantine Conclave.

On resuming the business of Grand Conclave, Sir Knight S. S. Partridge, M.P.S. 44, in the name of his conclave, welcomed the illustrious visitors, and expressed the pleasure experienced by the Leicester Knights at the success of the proceedings.

The G. Sov., in responding, alluded to the gratification of the Grand Council at their reception, and at the flourishing state of the Order in Leicestershire.

Letters of apology were received from the G. Sov., and all members of the Council not present, as also from many others holding high rank in the Order.

After the conclave was closed, about fifty sat down to a banquet, at which the acting G. Sov. presided. Space forbids us to say more than that the toasts in the following list were heartily received, an unanimous testimony was borne by the success of the meeting, and the hope was expressed that hereafter they may be of regular occurrence.

The following were the toasts, with the names of those who responded:—

"Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen, and the Christian Orders;" "Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family;" "The M.I. Grand Sovereign, the Earl of Bective;" "The Acting G. Sov., Col. Burdett," (Col. Burdett); "The M.E. Grand Viceroy, Sir Frederick M. Williams and the Past and Present Members of the Grand Council" (R. Wentworth Little); "The Intendants General of Divisions," (W. Kelly and J. G. Marsh); "The Earl Ferrers, Grand Preceptor, the other Officers of the Grand Senate; and the Knights Grand Cross" (G. Toller, jun); "The Sovereigns and Viceroys of the several Conclaves of the Order," (Col. Peters); "Prosperity to the Byzantine Conclave, No. 44," (S. S. Partridge); "The Sentinel's Toast."

We believe it is probable that an invitation will be given to hold the next meeting in Liverpool.

[Having had the pleasure of attending this meeting we need only add that the reception given to the Grand Council reflected the utmost credit upon the Leicestershire Knights, and we are sure it is highly appreciated.]—Ed. Freemason.

GLASGOW.—Glasgow Chapter (No. 50).—The brethren of this chapter held their usual monthly meeting on Thursday, the 9th ult. J. Crabb, P.G.S.N., the Z., presided; J. Fraser, H.; G. B. Adams, J. On the dais were Comps. F. A. Barrow, Prov. G. Supt. and P.Z. 50; J. Wallace, P.Z. 50; J. Soye, P.Z. 50; J. Duthie, P.Z. 67; G. W. Wheeler, H. 73; J. Dolman, J. 87; J. Balfar, P.G. 1st S., P.Z. 73; James Wallace, Z. 79; T. Halket, P.G.T., Z. 113; J. O. Park, Z. 119; and D. Bell, Z. 144. On the minutes of September 23 being read, exception was taken to them and the election that then took place, on the ground that a dispensation had been obtained for the election to be holden on this meeting. After some little discussion, Comp. Barrow, who said he did not appear there that night in any other capacity than a P.Z. of the chapter, yet, although he held that the application for the dispensation was informal, the election on the 23rd was valid, and he should have to so decide it if the case came before him as Provincial Superintendent. Comp. Crabb said, as the only wish of those acting with him was to see the prosperity of the chapter, he would at once resign, and proceed to install the officers elected on the 23rd. (Great cheering.) Comp. Halket then presented the newly-elected officers, and Comp. J. Crabb installed them as follows—Jas. Miller, Z.; Brownlie, H.; Wm. Bell, J.; James Loutitt, Scribe E.; J. Robinson, N.; J. Agnew, T.; W. Sibbal, 1st S.; W. Jamison, 2nd S.; M. Garden, 3rd S.; W. Gardner, I.G.; and James Pollock, Janitor. The last appointment was greeted with great approbation, the worthy companion having filled the office 37 years. He is an old Waterloo veteran, now in his 87th year, and yet can fulfil his duties towards either lodge, chapter, or encampment with as much care and nearly as much vigour as men who might be his grandchildren. The new Z., on assuming the chair, very briefly thanked the companions for the honour they had conferred upon him, and promised when he did not feel so excited, to thank them more at length. Comp. John Crabb, of Sir William Wallace Chap., 109, a brother of the P.Z., was then affiliated as an honorary member of No. 50. Comp. G. W. Wheeler proposed that the best thanks of the chapter be given to the retiring officers. They all knew that in Comp. James Crabb they had a most efficient worker, and though there were a number of First Principals present who would, he knew, agree with him that Comp. Crabb was second to none in the Province. J. Wallace, P.Z., on seconding the motion, gave the reason why Chap. 50 stood so high was because under their late Z. the ceremonies had been so efficiently rendered. (Carried by acclamation). Comp. Jas. Crabb briefly acknowledged the compliment, and the chapter was then closed.

CONSECRATION OF A NEW LODGE AT BARTON-ON-HUMBER.

A most interesting and successful meeting was held here on Monday, the 20th October, to constitute and consecrate a new lodge under the name of the St. Matthew Lodge, No. 1447.

Although an unavoidably short term of notice had been given of the ceremony, some seventy brethren of the Province, and visitors, many from the neighbouring Province of Yorkshire, assembled to do honour to the occasion, and to rally round their much esteemed D.P.G.M., W. Bro. Major Smyth, who in the absence of His Grace the Duke of St. Albans, P.G.M., officiated, assisted by W.; Bro. Jno. Sutcliffe, 1294, P. Prov. G.S.W., as S.W.; W. Bro. W. W. Copeland, 792, P. Prov. G.S.D. as J.W.; Bro. the Rev. Danl. Ace, D.D. P.G., Chaplain.; W. Bro. F. D. Marsden, P.G. Sec.; W. Bro. Geo. Nelson, 1282, as S.D.; W. Bro. T. H. Oldman, 1282, as J.D.

The lodge was opened in the Volunteer's Hall, at 2 p.m., and the dedication service most impressively rendered by W. Bro. Major Smyth, D.P.G.M., assisted by Bro. the Rev. Dr. Ace, P.G. Chaplain, who delivered a stirring oration to the brethren, which will long be remembered. The musical portion of the ceremony was ably rendered by Bro. J. C. Lambert, 588, P.G.O.

After the imposing ceremony of consecration had been concluded by the entire lodge joining in a beautiful anthem, the installation of the W.M. took place:—Bro. Major R. J. Taylor was presented by W. Bro. F. D. Marsden, P.G. Sec., and duly placed in the chair. He then installed Bro. Wm. Swallow, of Horkston, as S.W.; Bro. J. H. Ashton, of Thornton, as J.W.; Bro. W. Waddingham Sec.; and his other officers, Bro. Rev. R. Bullock, Chaplain.

From the earnest Masonic spirit displayed throughout, we doubt not that the Lodge of St. Matthew will play a prominent part in the future history of the province.

The Province of Lincolnshire contains now no less than eighteen lodges, seven of which have been constituted within the last ten years. It is also gratifying to be able to record that during the same term the number of subscribing members in the province has been nearly doubled, the returns of the present year showing a total of 660, against 325 in 1862.

Some of the earliest records of Freemasonry in this province are connected with the town of Barton-in-Humber. It is on record that in the year 1787, the Rev. Matthew Barnett, Vicar of Crannord, founded the Lodge of St. Matthew, No. 488, in this town, where he was also curate, and for twenty-eight years laboured most zealously in the cause of Freemasonry. For more than forty years this lodge continued to prosper, and no less than 107 initiations took place within its walls. The bye-laws of the lodge as amended in 1819 are still extant, and in connection with them are some valuable "observations on the vital principles and vanity of the Institution of Freemasonry." The title page states that at its formation it was the only lodge at that time in the County of Lincoln.

We heartily wish the brethren of the new Lodge of St. Matthew's success, and trust that they may enjoy many years of unexampled prosperity.

A banquet was afterwards served at the George Hotel, of which about forty members partook. W. Bro. R. J. Taylor, W.M., occupying the chair, ably supported by his Wardens. After the usual loyal and Masonic toasts had been concluded, the W.D.P.G.M. gave the toast of the evening "Prosperity to the St. Matthew Lodge," which was ably responded to by the newly installed W.M. W. Bro. John Sutcliffe, P. Prov. G.S.W., in responding on behalf of the Masonic Charities, alluded to the success of the Charity Committee of Lincolnshire at the late Election of the Boys' School, and reminded the brethren present that these successes could not be achieved except at a high cost. Several lodges and private members had already come nobly forward in answer to his appeal, and he had already in hand a sum of money amounting to £270, which had been subscribed since the last Prov. G. Lodge, for the benefit of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. Much more, however, remained to be done, and he trusted those lodges who had not yet subscribed would not be behindhand.

The brethren separated at an early hour feeling highly satisfied with the whole day's arrangements, which reflected the greatest credit on Bro. W. Waddingham, the untiring and energetic Secretary of the new lodge.

Among the brethren present we noticed.—

FRATRES ROSICRUCIANÆ SOCIETATIS IN SCOTIA.

COLLEGE OF THE EAST OF SCOTLAND.

Frater C. F. Matier, 19°, having been commissioned to open this College, in Edinburgh, an inaugural meeting was held in Freemasons' Hall, on the evening of the 24th instant, presided over by the newly appointed Chief Adept, Frater John Laurie, 8°.

The following brethren were received into the Order, and promoted to the grade of Theorists, viz., Captain Charles Hunter, Provincial Grand Master of Aberdeenshire East, James Reid, and Robert Bryce.

The following office bearers were then appointed, viz., Fra. H. Y. D. Copland, Suffragan; Fra. The Rev. V. G. Faithfull, M.A., Chaplain; Fratres W. M. Bryce, First Ancient; H. C. Peacock, Second Ancient; W. J. V. Bendon, Third Ancient; and T. Cairns, M.D., Fourth Ancient, for the "First Grade." Fratres R. S. Brown, First Ancient; J. Reid, jun., Second Ancient; and J. Webster, Third Ancient; for the Second Grade. Fra. G. Dickson, M.D., Conductor; W. M. Bryce, Treasurer; F. L. Law, Organist; J. H. Bostock, Herald; and R. Bryce, Torch Bearer. It was resolved to hold quarterly Meetings in the months of January, April, July, and October, for the consideration of such business as may be brought forward, and it was agreed that a paper on some scientific subject should be read at each meeting.

CIVIC BANQUET IN LIVERPOOL.—Bro. E. Samuelson, the Mayor of Liverpool, entertained the Right Hon. the Earl of Derby, at a banquet at the Town Hall, on Thursday, the 16th inst., for which 300 invitations had been issued. There were about 250 guests present, amongst the highly distinguished assembly, besides the noble guest of the evening, being Sir James Ramsden, High Sheriff of Lancashire, the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor of London, the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor of Dublin, the Right Worshipful the Mayors of Manchester, Birmingham, Leeds, Chester, Bolton, Warrington, Wrexham, Sir Hardman Earle, Bart., Mr. C. Turner, M.P., Mr. J. Torr, M.P., Mr. R. A. Macfie, M.P., Major West, Lord Lieutenant of Denbighshire, Mr. Gilbert Greenall, High Sheriff of Cheshire, together with representatives of the church, army, navy, civil service, and of the various public bodies in the town. During the evening Lord Derby delivered an interesting speech touching on the labour question and the Ashantee war. He also proposed the health of Bro. Samuelson, the Mayor, who responded in eloquent terms.

AN IMPRESSIVE MASONIC PRAYER.

At the dedication of the Gand Masonic Temple at Philadelphia, on the 26th Sept., Bro. the Rev. John Chambers, D.D., delivered the following prayer:—"Almighty, eternal and loving God, the Supreme Ruler of the Universe, the Divine Architect of all things, we come into Thy gracious presence in the way which Thou hast appointed. We call upon our souls and all that is within us to be stirred up to adore and magnify Thy great and holy name. We thank Thee that our lives and health have been continued unto us, and that we are allowed to meet each other on this solemn and important occasion, to dedicate this magnificent Masonic Temple to the glory and honour of the one living, true, and eternal Jehovah. Here may Thy name ever be honoured. Here may good and true men only be added to the sacred fraternity; each in his place following the landmarks so beautifully laid down in Thy blessed word; each with plummet-exactness standing erect before all men—ever square in all their actions by the word of truth, as revealed to man in the Holy Bible, and never failing to circumscribe their words and deeds towards God and man. Bless, we implore Thee, the Grand Officers of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, and the Grand Officers of all the Grand Lodges represented here on this grand occasion, and mercifully bestow Thy gracious benediction upon the Masonic Fraternity, from the rising to the setting sun, and from the rivers unto the ends of the earth. Suffer not, we beseech Thee, thou God of mercy, that the Masonic ear should ever become deaf to the cry of the distressed, nor that the Masonic hand should ever be closed when needy brethren ask for help. So influence the hearts of the universal brotherhood that the widow and the fatherless in their distress shall never plead in vain. O thou Father of all good, grant that all who may be chosen to rule over this Grand Lodge be good men and true, and ever under the special guidance of Thy divine wisdom. Within the walls of this temple, now being dedicated to Thy honour and glory, let there be but one heart and one mind in their love and obedience to Thee, thou Lord of heaven and earth; and when our work on earth is done, and well done, then, by Thy gracious favour, bid us "welcome" to the temple not made with hands, eternal in the heavens, to dwell with Thee for ever. Let not one be missing. We implore Thee, for Thy name's sake. Amen."

The assemblage, at the conclusion, solemnly responded, "Amen! So mote it be."

PRESENTATION TO THE MAYOR OF LIVERPOOL.—On Wednesday, the 22nd ult., several members of the Liverpool representative choirs presented to Bro. E. Samuelson (Mayor of Liverpool) a handsomely-illuminated address, expressive of their esteem for him, and in acknowledgment of the interest which his worship took in the representative choirs at the great national musical festival at Sydenham in July last. In the absence of Mr. Robertson Gladstone, the address was presented by Mr. Joseph Hawkins, honorary secretary and treasurer to the choir, and was duly acknowledged by the Mayor, who suggested that in future the national concerts should take place in some of the great towns in Lancashire and Yorkshire—an opinion which was endorsed by Mr. Hawkins, who, on his own behalf, presented to the Mayor the envelopes (framed and glazed) which had contained the prizes won at Sydenham.

REMARKABLE DISCOVERY.—Don Joaquim de Costa is reported to have found on one of his estates in New Granada a monumental stone, erected by a small colony of Phœnicians from Sidonia, in the year IX. or X. of the reign of Hiram, contemporary of Solomon, about ten centuries before the Christian era. The block has an inscription of eight lines written in fine characters, but without separation of words or punctuation. The translation is said to be that those men of the land of Canaan embarked from the port of Aziogaber (Boy-Akubal), and having sailed for twelve months from the country of Egypt (Africa), carried away by currents, had landed at Guayaquil, in Peru.

Bro. A. F. A. Woodford is greatly obliged to the Library Committee of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania for the large supply of papers and interesting documents they have so kindly forwarded to him. Bro. Woodford would be glad to be put into communication with a member of the committee.

HISTORICAL NOTES ON SCOTCH LODGES.

By D. MURRAY LYON.

I.

The second volume of minutes opens with the record of a joint communication of the Glasgow and Johnston Kilwinning Lodges, January 1753, "to receive and consider the report of a committee which had been appointed to conclude on articles for the happy union of both lodges." The following terms of agreement were adopted, and the union was consummated amid "great harmony and jollity."

"1. That all the members of both Lodges are to be members of one united lodge, under the name of the Glasgow Kilwinning Lodge, and are to be received members of this lodge in the ordinary forms.

"2. That the stocks, jewels, books, organs, charters, etc., belonging to either lodge, shall henceforth be in common.

"3. That the masters of each lodge shall preside alternately with their respective office-bearers, till next St. John's-day,—and that the meetings of the lodge shall be alternately in the New Inn and Old Coffee-house.

"4. That the two masters shall both agree who they shall nominate for their successor.

"5. That in commemoration of this happy union, as the ribbons of the Glasgow Kilwinning are straw colours, and the ribbons and aprons of the Johnston Kilwinning Lodge are red, after next St. John's-day the ribbons and mountings of the aprons shall be chequered straw and red.

"6. That the two masters shall appoint a committee to make up a body of laws agreeable to this, out of the by-laws of the two lodges.

"7. That the articles now agreed upon and signed are not to be altered by any future meeting of the lodge."

The bye-laws adopted in conformity with the terms of agreement were as follow:

"1. The master is to congregate the lodge when and where he pleases.

"2. That the lodge meet once every month: and after the lodge is duly opened no member is to leave it without liberty asked from and given by the master.

"3. That the lodge beside their monthly meetings meet quarterly, viz., on St. John the Evangelist's day, being the 27th of December; on Lady day, the 25th of March; on St. John the Baptist's day, the 24th of June; and upon St. Michaelmas day, the 29th of Sept.

"4. That at each of these quarterly meetings every member pay one shilling sterling for the use of the poor, and this the members are to pay tho' absent from the meeting. And no cause save a whole year's absence from the place can excuse any member from this quarterly payment.

"5. That the present master nominate his successor at the meeting immediately preceding St. John the Evangelist day. And on that day the member so nominate, if approved of by the lodge, is to be installed by the late master, and saluted and congratulated by the lodge. But if not approved of, the lodge shall proceed to a general ballott, and the member having the majority of votes shall be received for master with the usual solemnity.

"6. That the new master shall nominate his two wardens, secretary, and treasurer, who if approved of by the lodge are to be installed by the master; but if not approved of they are to be chosen by a general ballott in like manner as the master.

"7. That none can be made members of this lodge but in virtue of a written petition presented by a member at a meeting to which the whole members have been duly warned. And no petition to be received on any occasion but by balloting. And that if there is one single no, such petitioner cannot be received. And this article of balloting not to be subject to any alteration.

"8. That the members admitted pay five shillings sterling to the poor of the lodge, two shillings and six pence to the poor of the grand lodge, and twenty shillings sterling to the common expence of this lodge.

"9. That the stock of the lodge when arisen to any sum is to be lent out at interest in the prudentest manner. And notwithstanding a brother is to be preferred before a stranger, yet it must not be lent him without two sufficient securities.

"10. That every brother who emitteth an oath is to pay one shilling sterling for each failure.

"11. That at the meeting before St. John the Evangelist's day, which is our annual feast day, the master and lodge appoint stewards to provide a proper entertainment for that day, and to continue in that office for a year.

"12. That if the master so far misbehave as to render himself unworthy the subjection of the lodge, he is to be treated by a new regulation—no master having in this ancient society ever misbehaved so far as to occasion such regulation.

"13. That if the master be absent the senior warden is to congregate and form the lodge, after which the last master take the chair. But if neither he nor any other brother who has been master formerly be present, then the senior warden continues in the chair and acts as master.

"14. That every member who enters this lodge shall pay to the steward one shilling sterling every night, for which he shall have a bottle of punch or what other liquor he chooses to the value of that sum. And whatever any brother or member calls for above the value of that sum, he shall upon getting of the liquor pay the overplus to the steward.

"15. That the rules and regulations be read every night."

No explanation of the circumstances under which the Johnston Lodge came to sit in Glasgow is given in the records, neither do they indicate the length of time during which the union between the two lodges subsisted. That it was subsequently dissolved is certain. The minute of September 28, 1829, records the admission of a brother of the St. Patrick's Lodge as an honorary member, for having presented to Glasgow Kilwinning a "minute book that had been formerly used by it when in conjunction with the Johnston Lodge."

The following peculiarity occurs in the designation of one of the visiting lodges attending the first St. John's-day feast of the united lodge (1753): "St. Mungo's Lodge, founder of the Cathedrall, Glasgow." This pretentious claim could not have been made on the part of St. Mungo, had the story of Malcolm Canmore and the Lodge Glasgow St. John been then in existence.

A new code of bye-laws was adopted in 1830, in which "soundness of body and mind, good moral character, above the age of eighteen and under that of dotage," are made essential requisites to admission: Entering, passing, raising, and "chairing" were the steps then given in the lodge. Provision was made for excluding brethren "the worse of liquor, or known or reputed to be quarelsome or disorderly"; and "to curse and swear, or use any profane or obscene expression," subjected offenders to fine or expulsion.

A law for the excommunication of Freemasons was passed by the Associate Synod of Scotch Presbyterians in 1755. In March, 1764, Glasgow Kilwinning was visited by a brother "who represented that he had been persecuted by the ceeding part of the Church for being a mason, which obliged him to publish a pamphlet in defence of the Royal Art of Masonry, of which he produced some coppies, which were bought by all the brethren, and a dozen of them were laid by for the use of the members who were not present." In 1740 the lodge had subscribed for six copies of Oswald's "Collections of Scots Tunes."

Robert Mollison, noticed in a former paper as the first warden of the lodge, was an entered apprentice of Mother Kilwinning.

In April 1765 the Secretary was authorised to order a "publick seal" bearing "the ordinary device of masonry on the lower part of the shield, with this motto below, 'Amor, honor, et justitia,' and in the upper part of the shield the top of the tree of the Glasgow arms, coup'd with the bird and the bell, and round the whole, 'Glasgow Kilwinning.'" Twelve dozen glasses of "the bell kind," with the name of the lodge engraved thereon, were at the same time ordered to be procured from England. Purveyors of masonic feasts in those days supplied the "mugs" from which the brethren quaffed their ale, but glasses for punch fell to be provided by the lodge.

The foundation-stone of Jamaica Street Bridge was laid with masonic honours in September 1768 by a "Grand Lodge," elected by the Glasgow lodges, and composed of a Grand Master, Depute and Substitute Grand Masters, Grand Wardens, Grand Secretary and Treasurer, and nine Grand Stewards—George Murdoch, then Lord Provost of Glasgow, and a past master of Glasgow Kilwinning, being Grand Master, and Lord Glencairn one of the Grand Stewards. After the ceremony Grand Lodge and Glasgow Kilwinning held a joint communication in the Assembly Hall, and exchanged deputations with the city lodges, who met in their respective lodge-rooms. This Grand Lodge subsequently determined to retain the position that had been temporarily assigned to it, and to "preside over all the lodges of Glasgow whenever it thought proper." Although resisting this usurpation, Glasgow Kilwinning afterwards agreed to accord to this body the honours due to a grand visitation. The city lodges were afterwards called to account by the Grand Lodge of Scotland, and made to apologise for their irregularity in electing a Grand Lodge.

The fact of Sir Daniel K. Sandford and Dr. J. P. Nichol, professor of astronomy, being on its roll of past masters, is often referred to with pride at festivals of the Lodge Glasgow Kilwinning. Sir Daniel was affiliated from St. Luke's, Edinburgh, in December 1832, and was in the same month elected Master. The minutes of two meetings held within a fortnight of his election are all that have been recorded in the book during his three years' tenure of office. No minutes have been entered to the lodge's proceedings between January, 1833, and November, 1842, the year of Professor Nichol's retirement from a three years' occupancy of the chair. Another master of the lodge, Professor Ramsay, had his reign signalled by the initiation of the Historian of Europe, the late Sir Archibald Alison.

A most eccentric devotion to the craft was some years ago shewn by a member who bequeathed his skull to No. 4.

After passing through periods of vicissitude, the lodge has rallied, and is one of the few Scotch lodges possessing a hall of its own, used for purely masonic purposes. Its "harmonic meetings" have been revived, and, as they were a century and a half ago, are an attractive feature of the lodge. To Bro. James Steel, Substitute Provincial Grand Master of Glasgow, and one of its past masters, Glasgow Kilwinning is indebted for much of its prosperity in recent years. It is at present presided over by Bro. A. B. Thorburn.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1873.

THE REVISED CONSTITUTIONS OF THE IRISH GRAND LODGE.

We have been favoured with a view of the draft of the Constitutions of the Grand Lodge of Ireland, as "amended by the By-Laws Committee, the consideration of which has been postponed until the meeting of Grand Lodge in November."

At the outset we feel bound to say, that, in our opinion, these amended laws of the Craft in Ireland are a great improvement upon all their existing regulations. In the first place, they are somewhat more methodically arranged, though in this respect they are still susceptible of improvement, and might be conveniently broken up into more distinct and definite sections.

In the next place, they are in themselves clear and explicit, alike in the privileges they assert, the proceedings they forbid, the regulations they prescribe, and the penalties they enforce.

But there are one or two anomalies, as it appears to us, in these revised Constitutions, to which we think it well to allude to day, and some provisions, we venture to think, also of doubtful propriety, to which we wish to call the the calm attention of our excellent brethren across the Channel, trusting, as we do so, that they will accept our criticisms in the same fraternal spirit of good will and interest with which they are tendered by ourselves.

The Irish Grand Lodge is henceforth to be composed exactly as our own, and is based on the simple and pure Craft system, and thus the regulations of the Book of Constitutions are drawn up by the Committee of Grand Lodge for the government, as with us, of Craft Masonry.

But Law 133 introduces this strange anomaly:—It recognizes four alien bodies, accepts them as of coördinate jurisdiction and authority with Grand Lodge, and gives to their decisions the force of a decision of Grand Lodge!

By this most remarkable provision a sentence of the "Grand Royal Arch Chapter," of the "Great Priory of High Knights Templar," of the "Grand Chapter of Prince Masons of Ireland," and of the "Supreme Council of the Thirty-third Degree in Ireland," for expulsion, suspension, or restoration of "any brother" shall, "on the case being communicated to the Grand Lodge of Ireland, be accepted as final and conclusive, without any further enquiry or investigation."

Now there is something in this proposed enactment, which strikes us as very peculiar and unprecedented. Why are these four foreign governing bodies—foreign that is to Craft Masonry—introduced into these new Constitutions of the Grand Lodge of Ireland?

What has the Grand Lodge of Irish Craft Masons, quâ a Grand Lodge, to do with such high and eminent grades?

Under these provisions, a Craft Mason who may have committed no offence against the Craft, or infringed any of the regulations of Grand Lodge, may be expelled, for a non-compliance with some technical and special regulation of these four august assemblies, of which Craft Masonry knows nothing, from the privileges of his private lodge, and Provincial Grand Lodge, and Grand Lodge. For by law 133, the sentence of any such foreign authority, is irreversible, in fact incontestable.

The Grand Lodge of Ireland has nothing really to do with these authentics or they with it, but it thus gives them practically coequal and coördinate authority with itself, the ultimate court of appeal to all Craft Masons in Ireland, and what is still more strange and inexplicable, does not even propose to consider the grounds of the sentence, be that sentence fair or unfair serious or petty, legal or illegal, but simply to record it, and to act on it.

Now we venture to think that this proposition is a great blot in the Revised Constitutions.

It is, primâ facie, utterly unjust and clearly unprecedented, at least with us, and introduces an entirely new element into our Craft Regulations, fraught with a very dangerous precedent, and suggestive of very serious consequences to Masonic Jurisprudence in Ireland.

We are aware, that, in that country the High Grades are bound more closely to the Craft system than with us, but we feel it our duty to express our opinion in all deference to the Irish Grand Lodge, that the proposed law is both unwise in itself and indignus vindice nodus We hope, therefore, to hear that Law 133 is expunged from the Irish Book of Constitutions. We are also very doubtful, we feel bound to add, of the propriety or value of the very elaborate forms of prayer provided for all occasions, and above all, of the lengthened ritual prescribed in print for the installation of a W.M., and the investiture of the officers of a lodge.

We think that it is far better to leave such matters to the lex inscripta, to the traditionary customs and oral teaching in the different lodges.

We are not, and never have been amongst those, who believe in stereotyped forms, or uniformity of ritual, inasmuch as from long experience we believe, they reduce Masonic working to a dull and meaningless level, and conduce, more than anything else, to idleness and incapacity in a W.M.

In the present instance, we think these forms are an unnecessary addition to the Book of Constitutions, and that, if there must be a form provided, our English form, as given in our Grand Lodge Constitutions, is far simpler and more dignified, and far more in accordance with the unchanged usages of Freemasonry.

We observe that no provision is made in these new Irish Constitutions for "Public Ceremonies," which we venture to deem a serious omission.

Having said thus much in all of fraternal good will and honest criticism, we congratulate the Irish Grand Lodge on their endeavour to meet the wants and necessities of this improving age, and of an increasing Craft. It has often been observed how little we in England know of the proceedings of the Irish Grand Lodge or of Irish Masonry, and we trust, therefore, that these, their amended Constitutions, will be followed by a little more publicity of documents and proceedings.

With these few friendly, and, we trust, not unseasonable remarks, we shall await with some little interest the discussion and settlement of these new and revised Book of Constitutions in the Irish Grand Lodge.

THE SPURIOUS RITE OF MEMPHIS.

It is with exceeding regret that we find ourselves compelled to recur to a subject which, to every right-thinking Mason, is simply one which he would willingly bury in oblivion. Nor shall we even now steep our pen in bitterness, or pour the vials of a righteous wrath upon the heads of those erring and misguided brethren who support, however feebly and unwisely, the impious Rite of Memphis. To us they are still brethren, and, with especial reference to some leading spirits in that unholy confederation, we are disposed to say, in the language of Scripture, "Come out of her, my people, and be not partakers of her sins." No greater fraud upon the Masonic public of the two hemispheres was ever perpetrated than the inception and subsequent modus operandi of the Rite of Memphis; and no body of men, since the foundation of society, has ever been burdened with a greater weight of wickedness in the persons of its promoters and neophytes. One of these Heaven-abandoned men introduced the soi-disant Rite into England some time ago, and we commented in severe but justifiable terms upon his antecedents at the time. Unfortunately, however, the venom, imported by this miserable man, became a circulating medium, and shame be it to those who, as English Masons, countenance the living lie, there are now in our midst some,—a few, but still too many,—who have adopted not only the original frontispiece of fraud, but who are trying to imprint it upon the minds of the unwary by a course of misrepresentation and falsehood. The latest exploit of these individuals is the fact of their having published a kind of manifesto of the Rite of Memphis.

Whoever they may be, we tell them plainly they will not advance their cause by forging the signatures of distinguished Masons to their list of members, or exposition of principles. The letter which we print in another column, from Bro. Thévenot, Grand Secretary of the Grand Orient of France, clearly indicates that the name of that gentleman has been used in the most disgraceful manner to further ends entirely in conflict with his Masonic obligations, and we have also seen a letter from Bro. Loewenstark, in which he repudiates all connection with the spurious Rite. After this we shall simply ask the aiders and abettors of this nefarious transaction, if they will still continue to place the names of respectable men and Masons, upon their published documents?

We have a right to assume that if Bros. Thévenot and Loewenstark, disclaim both membership and sympathy with the "unclean thing" other names may have been used with a similar disregard for truth. The whole episode is evidently planned by some rabid anti-Mason, to bring discredit upon the Ancient Craft, and we can only hope that all those whose names have been thus scandalously played with will indignantly repel the foul assumption.

THE GRAND ORIENT OF FRANCE AND THE RITE OF MEMPHIS.

We are requested to publish, for the information of the Craft, the following letter from Bro. Thévenot, Grand Secretary of the Grand Orient of France, relative to the so-called Rite of Memphis. This letter was addressed to the Supreme Council, 33°, in answer to an enquiry, and it convincingly proves to all unprejudiced minds that a system founded upon such gross fraud and falsehood cannot for a moment withstand the expression of public or Masonic opinion.—[Ed. "Cher Monsieur et T.: Ill.: F.:

"Vous m'apprenez que dans une récente circulaire, émanée du soi-disant "ancien et primitif rite de la Maçonnerie," mon nom figure comme membre honoraire, 95e. degré de ce rite, et vous me priez de vous fournir quelques renseignements à ce sujet.

Je m'empresse de satisfaire à votre désir, tout en vous remerciant bien vivement de cette communication. Ma réponse sera aussi simple que catégorique. La voici. Je déclare que je ne fais et n'ai jamais fait partie, ni directement ni indirectement, du soi-disant "Ancien et primitif rite de la Maçonnerie," ni du pouvoir constituant ou directeur de ce rite, nouvellement implanté en Angleterre, ce que je déplore amèrement.

J'affirme que la mention de mon nom comme membre honoraire et comme possédant le 95e. degré de ce prétendu rite maçonnique est une imposture que je signale aux maçons de tous les pays, et contre laquelle je proteste et m'inscris en faux cette mention a été faite à mon insu et sans aucune participation de ma part.

Telle est ma réponse, cher Monsieur et T.: Ill.: F.:, et en vous confirmant ma lettre du 5e. 8bre 1872, par laquelle j'ai eu l'honneur de vous informer que je n'avais aucun rapport avec le prétendu "ancien et primitif rite de la maçonnerie," je vous autorise à faire de cette réponse tel usage que vous croirez utile pour le bien des saines doctrines de l'ordre Maçonnique, dont je suis le très dévoué serviteur.

TRANSLATION.

Grand Orient of France.

O.: de Paris, 22nd August, 1873.

"To the V.: Ill.: Bro. Dr. Hamilton 33°. Gd. Sect.: Gen.: Su.: Co.: of England, &c. &c.
Dear Sir and V.: Ill.: Bro.,

You inform me that in a recent circular emanating from the self-styled Ancient and Primitive Rite of Masonry, my name appears as an Hon. Member, 95°, of this Rite, and you request me to furnish you with some information on the subject.

My reply will be both plain and categorical.

I declare that I do not take, and never have taken part, either directly or indirectly, in the self-styled Ancient and Primitive Rite of Masonry, either as a founder or director of the Rite, lately imported into England, and which I bitterly deplore.

I affirm that the mention of my name as an Hon. Member, and as possessing the 95°. of this pretended Masonic Rite is an imposture which I publish to the Masons of all countries, against which I protest, and of which I declare the falsehood. This mention has been made unknown to me, and without any participation on my part.

Such is my answer, dear Sir and Ill. Bro.:, and in confirming my letter to you of 5th Oct., 1872, in which I had the honour to inform you that I have no connection with the pretended Ancient and Primitive Rite of Masonry, I authorize you to make any use of this letter which you may consider advantageous for the sound doctrines of the Masonic Order, of which I am the very devoted servant.

Accept, dear Sir and V.: Ill.: Bro.:, the assurance of my most distinguished consideration and most fraternal sentiments,

The Sect.: Gen.: of the Gd.: O.: of France.
(Signed) THEVENOT.

The consecration of the Royal Military Lodge, No. 1449, will take place on Tuesday next, November 4th, at the St. George's Hall, Canterbury. The ceremonies of consecration and installation will be performed by Bro. Major-Gen. G. S. Brownrigg, C.B., P.S.G.W., Provincial Grand Master for Surrey.

The consecration of the Bagshaw Lodge will take place at the Bald-faced Stag, Buckhurst-hill, on Thursday, November 6th. The ceremony of consecration will be performed by Bro. J. Hervey, G. Sec., and Bro. R. Wentworth Little, Prov. G. Sec., Middlesex.

All countries strive, so far as their knowledge extends, to show a full and fell opposition to disease, come whence and when it may. Early application of remedial measures is indispensable for success. In variable damp weather Holloway's Pills are especially serviceable in maintaining nervous vigour, and in defending the frame against ill consequences from dampness or chills. If the first symptoms receive attention and judicious treatment, not only will future danger be averted, but old ailments will give way, and better health will be attained than was enjoyed before illness. No treatment, for safety and certainty of success, may be so confidently relied upon as that discovered by Professor Holloway, whose Pills and Ointment always restore the sufferer.—ADVT.

COMPLIMENTARY DINNER AND PRESENTATION TO BRO. J. R. STEBBING.

On Monday, 13th ult, a number of gentlemen connected with the County of Southampton Provident Permanent Benefit Building Society, with a select party of friends, dined together at the Philharmonic Rooms, the object being to pay a compliment to Bro. J. R. Stebbing, J.P., who in the course of the proceedings was presented with a handsome silver epergne, as a token of respect, and in appreciation of the services he has rendered the above named society, as its President, during a period of twenty years. The following inscription was engraved on the testimonial, which stands on a black marble base:—

“Presented to J. R. Stebbing, Esq., J.P., as a mark of respect and esteem, from the trustees, directors, and officers of the County of Southampton Provident Permanent Benefit Building Society, and in high appreciation of his valuable services as President for upwards of 20 years. October 13th, 1873.”

The Mayor (Bro. W. Hickman) presided, and was supported by Mr. J. R. Stebbing, Mr. E. Coxwell (Coroner) Mr. Alderman Furber, J.P.; the Town Clerk (Mr. R. S. Pearce); Mr. Geo. Evans, Mr. J. J. Burnett, Mr. H. P. Aslatt, &c. Mr. F. Butler officiated as vice-chairman, and amongst those present were Mr. J. C. Munday, S. Stevens, E. Roberts, W. H. Mitchell, C. G. Smith, Bridger, Sandy, Maine, O'Farrel, Sparrow, W. G. Lankester, Gibbons, Paul, Capper, Dyson, Sutton, Hogarth (Wilts and Dorset Bank), Chandler, Bright, H. Hussey, G. Hussey, Stebbing, jun., Richmond, C. Munday, jun., &c.

After the removal of the cloth, the Mayor, who expressed his pleasure in being present on the occasion, gave the usual loyal toasts in appropriate terms, and the same having been duly responded to by the company, Mr. George Evans proposed “The Mayor and Corporation of Southampton and the Borough Magistrates.”

The Mayor said it afforded him very great satisfaction to be present. He did not intend to offer any laudatory remarks on their friend, Mr. Stebbing, who was so well known to them, so far as referred to the special proceedings of the evening. If he referred to Mr. Stebbing having filled the office of Mayor, besides being a magistrate for many years past, and holding other positions of equal trust, he did not mean to say that those were the most important positions he had held, because he was looked upon as the exponent of the commercial interests of Southampton, which he had for a long time striven to promote. He then proceeded to respond to the toast. He did not undertake the office of Mayor without seriously considering the responsibilities connected with it, and having nearly reached the conclusion of his term, he would acknowledge the kindness shown him both by the members of the Corporation and the Town Clerk. He had been rather peculiarly placed during the past year, but was glad to say that he had met with the sympathy of every person he had met with (hear, hear.) He concurred with Mr. Evans in regretting that the members of the Town Council were elected in a political manner, but did not see how it could be well avoided, and he thought that when in the Council they all united for the common good. With reference to the bench of magistrates, he must say that he had always been cordially received by them, and he believed that they discharged their duties very well, considering that they had not been brought up to a technical knowledge of the law (cheers.)

Alderman Furber, J.P., also responded on behalf of the magistrates.

The Town Clerk proposed “The Trade and Commerce of Southampton.”

Mr. Octavius Capper responded:

Mr. F. Butler, in proposing the next toast, said he wished it had fallen into abler hands, but being almost the senior director on the Board, his colleagues thought it was his duty to propose the health of their President. He could say with the greatest pleasure that he had been associated with him for the last twelve years, during which period he had been almost in constant communication with him, and therefore was well acquainted with his sentiments towards their society. He also knew the valuable services which Mr. Stebbing had rendered them; were it not for him they would not be assembled there that night, for the society would have been non est, or in process of winding up long ago. But so widely supported by the public, so ably led by their President, and under his fostering care, they could now hold up their heads with a degree of pride, and say that the society had prospered, and had been the means of doing a great deal of good. Such was the valuable assistance he had rendered them during the last twenty years that no tribute which the directors and officers of the society could offer would repay him, or shadow forth the gratitude they owed him, and which they wished to express. However, they had attempted to do this in their humble way. For the last two years it had been felt that they ought to pay their President some slight tribute of respect. Circumstances had not permitted them to do it before, but once started no power could stop it, and the society having now attained its majority, and having a capital of £30,000, they thought it a fitting time to commemorate that event by paying a compliment to the gentleman who had mainly contributed to it. Mr. Stebbing might be called the father of building societies in this town. He was the president of the first building society established in it, which, being on the terminable principle came to an end, but others sprung from it on the permanent constitution, and he hoped that many more would yet arise, and produce as much good as the society he represented. There were in the room that night several gentlemen who might be called, with Mr. Stebbing, the originators of such societies in Southampton and even in Hampshire. He alluded to Messrs. Sandy, Coxwell, and Furber, who, with their President, had shared in this good work, the happy results of which had extended far and wide. These societies had been of the greatest service, not only to such as it enabled to become the owners of property, and to sit under their own vine and fig tree, but also to those provident persons who invested their money in its shares, and thus obtained a larger dividend than they could in almost any other way: This society's shares were worth, in its present position, about double what they had cost the members; that is to say every £40 share was worth about £80. That, in a great measure, was owing to the fostering care and sound advice of their President. Some years ago, when the society was not in the flourishing position it was now, some were inclined to give way to despondency, but Mr. Stebbing cheered them by his kindly feeling and encouraged them to persevere instead of despairing. His motto ever was “Excelsior!” They did persevere, and, under his guidance, went on from day to day increasing in prosperity. He never lost an opportunity of advancing the interests of the society, but brought them customers by his influence, and in no instance had they lost a penny by the connection he brought them, but had made a good profit, and to him they owed it. He would not detain them much longer, as a gentleman would be associated in the presentation who had known Mr. Stebbing much longer than he had done. The gentleman to whom he referred, and Mr. Stebbing, had known one another for a long period, and had been closely associated together, not only in this society, but in others of a like description, every one of which was a success. In the names of his co-directors he would propose the President's good health, and call upon Mr. Coxwell to make the presentation on their behalf. It might appear to be a small tribute to one they so much respected, but only a few persons had taken part in it, the subscription having been limited to the trustees, directors, and officers of their society. At first they did not contemplate assembling at the festive board more than the subscribers, but it occurred to him that there were some gentlemen who would be very glad to see the presentation made to Mr. Stebbing, and they could not be so churlish as to keep all the good things to themselves. They thus resolved upon inviting a few friends, and he was glad to see them present. They had come to do honour to Mr. Stebbing, but it reflected honour upon them also. As he had intimated before, the Society owed much of its success to Mr. Stebbing, who always supported its good name, and was ever ready to heal any dispute that arose regarding it. On the night he (Mr. Butler) joined it, there was a jolly good row, but before leaving the room he was induced by the President to become a director, and had never since regretted doing so. He could not sit down without, in the name of the trustees, directors, and officers of the society, asked Mr. Stebbing's acceptance of this tribute to his worth; it might be but a small one, but such as it was, they offered it with their heartiest good wishes.

Mr. Coxwell having been called upon by the preceding speaker to present the testimonial, which was then uncovered, and excited great admiration on account of its excellence and beauty, proceeded to observe that he rose with mingled feelings of diffidence and gratification to perform the duty which their kindness had imposed upon him; with diffidence because he could not help feeling how inadequate he was to do justice to the subject entrusted to his charge, and with gratification because it was particularly pleasing to him to see his old and very much esteemed friend, Mr. Stebbing, receiving such a mark of their confidence, and appreciation of the valuable services he had rendered to their society. He could speak, perhaps, to a longer and more intimate acquaintance with Mr. Stebbing than anyone in the town, for his first visit, after coming to Southampton, and before he had settled there, was paid to him (Mr. Coxwell) at a period now verging on 40 years ago. [Mr. Stebbing; Rather more.] Since that time they had differed once or twice on matters of local interest, but never had there been any interruption to the very kind and friendly intercourse which had taken place between them. Not so much as a harsh word or an unkind thought had ever passed between them (cheers). This was a very gratifying occasion to him, because Mr. Stebbing had been for many years his warmest, kindest friend in the town (hear, hear.) He had watched him in all his public pursuits; he had seen his conduct and the services which he had rendered, not only to this society, but to those of a similar character which had preceded it. He believed he was one of the first with whom Mr. Stebbing was associated in the Building Societies which were the origin of the present one; and as their vice-chairman (Mr. Butler) had well remarked, not one of those societies had failed in the least degree, but had done a great deal of good. He felt at a loss to say all he desired to express respecting Mr. Stebbing on this occasion. It was his maxim, when he had occasion to say anything, not to use two words when one would suffice, and he thought he could now do no better than ask Mr. Stebbing to accept at their hands the very beautiful testimonial which they had been kind enough to present to him (cheers). He was sure he would appreciate it, not less from its intrinsic value than for the kindly feelings which had prompted the offering. Then, turning to Mr. Stebbing, Mr. Coxwell said:—On behalf of the trustees, directors, and officers of this society, I ask you to accept this present as a tribute of their respect and esteem. May you live long to see it on your table, and may it remind those who come after you of your virtues and great services (cheers) to this society, and many others of a kindred character.

Bro. Stebbing, on rising to reply, was received with hearty cheers. He said he would endeavour, as far as his grateful feelings would allow him, to acknowledge the distinguished compliment they had paid him that evening, a compliment such as fell to the lot of few, and one that had been paid by them in an almost unexampled manner. It was totally unexpected and entirely unsought on his part (hear, hear), and it had been brought about by a degree of generosity and kindness by them which he shall never forget. He thanked the Mayor for honouring the occasion with his presence; he thanked Mr. Butler, for the kind manner he had spoken of him, and he thanked him all the more because he had acknowledged that after what possibly might be termed some little differences that had arisen, he (Mr. Stebbing) had induced him to join the society, to which he (Mr. Butler) had given so much strength. To his old friend Mr. Coxwell, he also gave his best thanks, and they could have found no one more acceptable to him or better suited to make this presentation, for the warm heartedness with which he had given effect to their intentions regarding himself. The inscription on that most beautiful work of art spoke of the esteem and regard they felt for him after being associated with them for some twenty years. That, in itself, was no small compliment to bestow upon him in connection with an institution that was now so thoroughly established. Twenty years was a long period for men to be associated together. During that time many things would arise to cause differences of opinion, and to try the temper of men who were connected with the management of a large financial institution, and he esteemed it as one of the most gratifying circumstances that could occur to any one, that after twenty years of intimate association they could inscribe upon that plate the sentiments of esteem and regard they had done, showing that whilst he had worked harmoniously with them in carrying out the objects of this society, it had engendered between them a feeling of such kindness. He valued that expression more even than the testimonial itself, beautiful as it was, because it assured him that they had worked honestly and fairly together, and in mutual confidence for the good of the society. During those twenty years they had had to deal with the property and sometimes with the wants of their fellow-townsmen, and it afforded him great satisfaction to say that in all those transactions no secrets had been divulged, no man's affairs had been talked about, the value of no man's property had been brought before the public, but the full value had been given for what he wanted, and if they could not always give what was expected, the man's affairs were never talked about to his disadvantage. If, as their President, he had thus gained their esteem and confidence, it was gratifying to him to say that they had worked harmoniously together to do what was just, and had won the regard and respect which was the source of so much enjoyment in social life. There was another point connected with the inscription which was extremely gratifying to him, and that was the reference to what they were pleased to call his valuable services as President of their society. He had not been one of the business workers connected with this institution, who had, by constant attendance at the Board, done so much for the industry and provident habits of so many of his fellow townsmen; but he had worked with them earnestly to do good under that law which enables persons to purchase their own dwellings by paying the rent and a little in addition to it, thus becoming possessed of what is called a stake in the hedge. And if his services had been valuable, they had not been so valuable as theirs which had been untiring in the interests of the institution. He could mention to their praise that when it was proposed at the last annual meeting to give a substantial bonus to the directors for some extra trouble they had been put to, they said, "No—the line has been drawn, to which we will adhere, and we will not take another shilling from the society, being content to work under the old system" (cheers). By that system they had been able to advance £66,000 to people in that town and neighbourhood; at the present moment they had £33,000 distributed amongst the saving and industrious classes, who with that money are becoming the owners of their own residences or other property it is important for them to possess. Then there were the depositors, who got their 5 per cent, with the greatest regularity; then there were the investors, who in addition to receiving 5 per cent. interest for their money, got an annual bonus of over 4 per cent., making upwards of 9 per cent. altogether (cheers). They who received this not only benefited themselves, but also others who were borrowers, and who were going on in the same path of providence and thrift as themselves. The society, when Mr. Butler joined it, had a capital of only £4,000, but it had gone on increasing year after year until it reached its present flourishing position. There might have been times when they were not quite so successful as they desired, but there had not been a time when they were not safe (hear, hear). He had always in his mind the words inscribed on the Athenian Temple, "Look not mournfully on the past; it can never return. Enjoy the present; it is thine. Go forth manfully to meet the future; it can be conquered by a valiant heart" (cheers). He desired not only to testify to the invaluable services of the directors, and their great devotion to the interests of the society, but to the admirable manner in which the various officers connected therewith did their work, and he was bound to speak in warm terms of the untiring energy of the Secretary, Mr. Sandy, who seemed to live only in the welfare of the society. He had so identified himself with its interests that the public had come to designate it "Sandy's Society," and by which it was so popularly known; and by his attention and urbanity and hard work he had justly earned that distinction. The Actuary, Mr. O'Farrell, had been invaluable in his help; his accurate and—because accurate—his unassailable estimates and calculations were a strong foundation on which the society rested, whilst his cheerful and ready disposition to meet every detail with the excellent auditors, Messrs. G. Bridger and Sparrow, was the theme of constant praise. Then they had their valued and experienced surveyor, Mr. Alderman Furber—the very sheet anchor of such institutions, to keep them right as to the value of property on which advances were made. In this Mr. Furber was indeed a safe foundation on which to rely. No loss had ever occurred on any property he had passed, and he was sure there never would be, and many of the directors practiced in building matters lent their experience in assisting and supporting the judgment and prudence of his views, thus not only protecting the society, but frequently aiding the borrowers in not giving excessive prices for property they sought to obtain. Mr. Stebbing said he must now leave the somewhat business allusions again to thank them for the valuable gift he saw before him, for the far more valuable sentiments engraved upon the base, and the generous hospitality that had been exhibited towards him and many of his friends that evening. He could assure them the recollection thereof would be fresh in his memory as long as life should last, and cheer him to the closing hour of his existence. The unperishable testimonial would descend to his children, and he hoped his children's children, as an incentive to action in their lives, and to justify the good opinion of those with whom they lived, as, in this instance, it had been his great happiness to enjoy from some of his most valued friends and fellow-townsmen. Words failed him to do justice to the grateful emotions that were springing from his heart, which made that evening one of the most gratifying—of his life, and he should never forget their generous acknowledgments of his poor services, but as the time gained on him—and the time must come when he would no longer be a busy worker in the hive, but have less activity amongst his fellow-townsmen—he should find happiness in dwelling upon the past, and then the sight of that beautiful work of art, and all the surroundings of their friendship and regard, and the kindly manner in which they had done so kind an act, would charm the downhill of life, and in a grateful memory of all these things, give to his last days many sources of joy, and the choicest recollections of the love and friendship which had been so abundantly lavished on him that night.

The Mayor briefly proposed "Success to the Institution," which was responded to by Mr. Mitchell.

Original Correspondence.

THE MALTESE RITUAL.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Without infringing your positive declaration last week against further correspondence respecting the English Order of St. John, which I have, as your readers will say, with good reason declined, I may ask you to admit the following extract from an official, published, report of the Grand Prior of the Masonic Templars in Canada, Colonel Macleod Moore, dated the 14th August, 1873:

"It has been stated that our Maltese Ritual was brought from the Island of Malta; this I can positively say is not the case, for in May, 1849, I was the first to introduce the Temple Order there, and we did not work any degree of Malta."

Yours fraternally,

LUPUS.

SAINT JOHN'S GATE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Will you permit me to say, in reference to your paragraph of the 18th instant, that I believe one tower only of this interesting building will as yet be occupied as the business offices of the English Order of St. John. The remainder will not be disturbed as a tavern, with all its antiquarian and literary associations, at all events for some time to come. The statement that the gateway had become the property of one of the English Knights of the Protestant Language is correct.

Yours fraternally,

LUPUS.

MASONIC LITERATURE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir, and Brother,—

It is melancholy and as humiliating as melancholy, that the shadow of a shade of just cause should have called forth your leader in the last issue of The Freemason.

You write, that "it might be a curious enquiry why there should be a want of appreciation of our Masonic literature;" but it strikes me that as far as your journal, and other serials of equal intelligence and independence, are concerned, the solution of the problem is simple enough.

The Press disturbs ancient unreasoning and unreasonable beliefs, and by opening its columns to free and temperate discussion exposes shame and explodes wind-bags; and since it cannot be denied that not a few Freemasons prefer repose in a fool's paradise, to contact with the outer world of fact and enlightenment; and that they resent as much as they fail to understand and appreciate, intelligent and exhaustive enquiry; it can scarcely afford due cause of surprise that they hate the trouble of thinking, and detest still more, the labour of proving all things, and holding fast that which is true. Hence the lack of "a warm, a full, a sympathetic support of Masonic literature."

"Our lodges make little—rather no—provision for literary studies or Masonic libraries," and the consequence is that, in spite of the fraternal efforts of many hardworking brethren, the majority of our members, when not plunged into a gulf of myths and absurdities, are pleased to remain in what you aptly term the "insular contentedness of knowing little or nothing of intellectual Freemasonry."

To The Freemason at least must be adjudged the palm for affording a fair field and no favour to all comers. The discussion which was finally closed in your last issue, is a case in point, and the thanks of all those who have at heart the true interests of our noble institution are due to you for your impartiality and for your putting a stop to the freedom of debate, only when on one side it had degenerated into the inane repetition of untenable assertions, in the vain endeavour of covering the ignominious failure of an unprovoked and unjustifiable attack upon an association utterly unconnected with Freemasonry.

The lamentable mistakes of a few misguided enthusiasts who would fain sacrifice the first principles of Freemasonry in the pitiful longings for aristocratic exclusiveness, have brought upon them the well merited contempt of all those, who, whilst according due respect to the time-honoured body of Masonic Knights Templar, know hardly whether to be vexed or amused at the assumptions of the recently invented and would-be exclusive "Chivalric" United Orders of Pinchbeck Templars and Mushroom Hospitaliers, whose new-born claims to legitimate descent from anything beyond a comparatively recent source, have been completely smothered in their infancy by their well meaning advocate, whose zeal, albeit it outran his discretion, might peradventure have remained uncommenced upon, had he not attacked, utterly without provocation or excuse, a confraternity of gentlemen engaged in the unobtrusive exercise of charity and mercy towards the suffering poor. His castigation has followed in due course, and naked and wounded he must regret that he has injured the cause which even more able advocacy than his own would have failed to benefit. Still, whilst the few have suffered, the many have been the gainers; and although the ludicrous claims made by the United Orders to a chivalric origin have collapsed, the Masonic Templars and all "true blue" Masons must rejoice that truth is great and that it has prevailed.

All honour to The Freemason, for its manly independence, which, disregarding favour and affection, has done good service to the Craft, and to the general public, by publishing a correspondence which has proved that fanciful Masonic—or rather anti-Masonic—assumptions, can never hope to win the day against history and common sense; which has disposed of for ever the suddenly discovered antiquity of this, the latest fungoid growth upon Freemasonry; and which has ably maintained, against unprovoked attack and misrepresentation the legitimate claims of the English Langue of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem. If for no other reason, your journal deserves the cordial support of all those who wish to separate the light from the darkness, and to extend "to the Brotherhood the valuable and improving influences of a sound and wholesome literature."

I am, fraternally yours,
TRUE BLUE.

SPIRITUALISM.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir, and Brother,—

I do not intend to trespass any further upon your space with any remarks of mine upon this subject, but seeing that Bro. Carpenter, at page 696, introduces the names of Professors Faraday and Tyndall, both of whom were decidedly against the idea that the spirits of departed individuals took any active part in connection with the phenomena, perhaps you will allow me to give the opinion of the latter of these distinguished scientists, as contained in the closing paragraph of the account he gives of an examination made by him into the subject, Professor Tyndall says "This, then, is the result of an attempt made by a scientific man to look into these spiritual phenomena. It is not encouraging, and for this reason. The present promoters of spiritual phenomena divide themselves into two classes, one of which needs no demonstration, while the other is beyond the reach of proof. The victims like to believe, and they do not like to be undeceived. Science is perfectly powerless in the presence of this frame of mind. It is moreover a state perfectly compatible with extreme intellectual subtlety and a capacity for devising hypotheses which only require the hardihood engendered by strong conviction, or by callous mendacity, to render them impregnable. The logical feebleness of science is not sufficiently borne in mind. It keeps down the weed of superstition, not by logic, but by slowly rendering the mental soil unfit for its cultivation. When science appeals to uniform experience, the spiritualist will retort, 'How do you know that a uniform experience will continue uniform? You tell me that the sun has risen for 6000 years. That is no proof that it will rise to-morrow; within the next twelve hours it may be puffed out by the Almighty.' Taking this ground a man may maintain the story of 'Jack and the Bean-stalk' in the face of all the science in the world. You urge, in vain, that science has given us all the knowledge of the universe which we now possess, while spiritualism has added nothing to that knowledge. The drugged soul is beyond the reach of reason. It is in vain that impostors are exposed, and the special demon cast out. He has but slightly to change his shape, return to his house, and find it 'empty, swept, and garnished.'"

I am, yours paternally,
W. P. BUCHAN.

CONSECRATION OF A LODGE AND, A RED CROSS CONCLAVE AT REEFTON, NEW ZEALAND.

In accordance with the example followed from "time immemorial" by the members of the Masonic fraternity, wherever they were congregated together in sufficient numbers to constitute themselves into a regular and recognised association, the Freemasons of the Inangahua district have, after obtaining the necessary authority, succeeded in inaugurating a lodge which, judging from its commencement, will be a credit to the Order. The promoters, who are most of them Masons of rank and long standing, have for some months been engaged in making the requisite preparations, and when the Reefton Public Hall Company had their fine Assembly-room fit for occupation by the brethren, an agreement was entered into by which the building will be available for Masonic purposes at suitable times during the ensuing twelve months. The announcement was made in the usual manner that the inaugural ceremonies would take place on Monday, 7th July, and all the brethren residing in the district, as well as the members of the Craft living in other places, were invited to attend. At two o'clock in the afternoon the brethren, to the number of between thirty and forty, assembled at the Hall, and the ceremony of the consecration was shortly afterwards commenced. The Hall was prepared in a manner appropriate to the occasion, and it formed a subject of remark by the brethren of most experience in such matters, who were present, that the decorations and emblems exhibited were peculiarly well chosen, and artistically executed. These remarks especially refer to the mosaic pavement and the tracing boards of the several degrees, which it is understood are the work of Bro. Thornton, executed from designs supplied by the Committee. Bro. G. W. Harvey, Deputy District Grand Master of Westland, acting under special dispensation from the District Grand Lodge, assisted by Past Masters, M. R. Gissinge and W. G. Moss, took the principal part in the ceremonies of the consecration and the installation of officers of the new lodge.

The Deputy Grand Master performed his duties in a most impressive and efficient manner, strictly in accordance with ancient and prescribed usage, and he was ably assisted by the Past Masters before mentioned. The lodge was named the Pacific Lodge of Reefton, under the English Constitution, and by the affection and unanimous consent of the members, Bro. Charles Broad was elected the first Worshipful Master. The following officers were then chosen—Bros. W. Pitt, Senior Warden; Don De Les Carreras, Junior Warden; D. Isaacs, Treasurer; L. Davies, Secretary; W. Faler, Senior Deacon; W. McLean, Junior Deacon; James Stephenson, Inner Guard; and J. Washington, Outer Guard. Bro. Washington was afterwards unanimously elected Tyler of the lodge. The rites in connection with the consecration and installation finished, and the working of the lodge, as far as regards Craft Masonry being concluded, and the brethren of the Craft Lodges dismissed, an event took place which has but seldom occurred in Australia, or indeed in the Southern Hemisphere. This was a gathering of a Conclave, No. 109, regularly and authoritatively constituted, of the Masonic, and Military Knights of Red Cross of Constantine. Thomas Sanderson Bulmer, Esq., M. D., of Reefton, holds the appointment of Representative and Intendant-General of this degree for the Northern Island, with power to create, instal, and form Conclaves of Master Masons of good repute throughout New Zealand and Australia, from the Grand Master of the Order, the Earl Bective, and Frederick Martin Williams, Baronet, Grand Master of the Imperial Grand Council of New Zealand, acting under this authority Bro. Bulmer has previously conferred the degree of the Red Cross upon seven Master Masons, the Conclave met and elected Sir G. W. Harvey, M.P. Sovereign; Sir R. Charles Broad, M.P. Eusebius; and Sir E. W. Pitt, Recorder of the Degree in this District. It may be here stated the Bro. Bulmer also holds a dispensation under the same authority, to constitute Knights of the Order of the Holy Sepulchre and St. John.

In the evening the brethren assembled at the Oddfellows' Hall to a banquet provided by Bro. J. Gawson, in a style which could hardly be surpassed in this part of the world. The Worshipful Master of the Lodge, Bro. C. Broad, occupied the chair, supported on the right by Bro. G. W. Harvey and Bro. T. S. Bulmer, and on the left by Bros. Past Masters Moss and Gessinge. The other founders of the Lodge occupied places of honour at different parts of the table, and the vice-chair was filled by Bro. Senior Warden Pitt. Numerous toasts were given and received with the usual honours, the proposers and those brethren who were called upon to respond, making suitable remarks. The following were given from the chair—"The Queen and the Craft," "The Past Grand Master, the Prince of Wales," "The Grand Masters of the English, Irish, and Scotch Constitutions," "The District Grand Master of Westland, Bro. J. Lazar." The D.D.G.M., Bro. Harvey, responded on behalf of the G.M., and paid a high compliment, as did the proposer of the toast, to the character and Masonic accomplishments of Bro. Lazar. The Chairman proposed the health of "The Deputy District Grand Master," who responded in appropriate terms. The Senior Warden proposed the toast of "Success to the District Grand Lodge of Westland," and Bros. Past Masters Gissinge and Moss responded as members of the District Lodge. The health of "The Worshipful Master" was proposed by the D.D.G.M. The W.M. replied in an eloquent speech. The toast of "The Officers and Brethren of the Pacific Lodge, Reefton," was given by Bro. Hayden, and responded to by Bro. F. De Las Carreras. The health of "The Brethren who were visitors to the Lodge" was given from the chair, and replied to by Bro. Moss, who, as a Mason of great experience, in the course of his reply, gave the brethren of the new lodge some sound advice as to the necessity of careful supervision in the selection and the further extension of the Order. The toast of "The Press" was proposed by D.D.G.M. Harvey, and responded to by Bro. Hayden. Several other toasts were given, including "The Founders of the Lodge," "Absent Brethren," "The Ladies," and the Masonic portion of the proceedings terminated, according to the usual observances, with the toast of "All poor and distressed Masons."

It may be safely said that the whole of the proceedings in connection with the inauguration of this, the youngest offshoot of the ancient and honourable Craft passed off, from the commencement to the conclusion, satisfactorily, and in a manner creditable to all concerned.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF ESSEX.

The Right Worshipful Bro. Robert John Bagshaw, Prov. Grand Master of the Freemasons of the Province of Essex (High Sheriff of the County), held his Grand Lodge under the banner of the Angel Lodge, No. 51, at Colchester, when there was a large attendance of the Grand Officers and deputations from the various lodges in the province.

The Finance Committee having previously audited the Grand Treasurer's accounts, Grand Lodge was opened in the Assembly-room of the Town Hall, at two o'clock.

The Grand Secretary, Bro. The R.W. the Prov. G. Master drew attention to the sad loss the Province had sustained since the last Grand Lodge in the death of the Deputy Prov. Grand Master, Bro. Andrew Meggy, and proposed that a resolution setting forth the great grief which his death had caused in the Province should be entered on the minutes of the Prov. G. Lodge. Bro. Bagshaw added that he had not yet thought proper to appoint a successor.

Bro. Glass (453) seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Worshipful the Mayor (Major Bishop), for the use of the Town Hall, and the sum of £10 10s. was voted to be given to the Essex and Colchester Hospital, through the Mayor, as a souvenir of the visit.

A hearty vote of thanks was also accorded to the R.W. the Prov. G. Master for his attendance.

Grand Lodge was shortly afterwards closed, and upwards of 60 brethren adjourned to the Cups Hotel, where the host, Bro. Besford, had prepared a banquet a la Russe, which was served up in first-class style.

The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured.

Masonic Tidings.

The ceremony of Installation will be worked by Capt. Coles, P.M., No. 1297, at the Burdett Courts Lodge of Instruction, this evening, Friday, at the Approach Tavern, Approach Road, Victoria Park.

It may be of some interest to our readers to learn that the Pilgrim Lodge, No. 238, have opened a Lodge of Instruction, the working of which will be in German, to enable brethren of German nationality residing in this country, to acquire a knowledge of the Masonic work in their own language. The meetings will be held on the Second and Fourth Tuesdays in every Month, at the German Gymnasium, Old St. Pancras Road, King's Cross.

The death is announced of Bro. Richard Tanner, late Inspector of Metropolitan Police, who will be remembered by his connection with many celebrated cases, and notably the capture of Müller, in New York, for the murder of Mr. Briggs. Bro. Tanner had kept the White Swan Hotel, Winchester, for some years.

A meeting of the members of the Mark Benevolent Association will be held at the "Essex Head," Essex-street, Strand, on Monday, the 3rd November, at half-past Seven o'clock in the evening, for the purpose of declaring a ballot, electing a Treasurer, settling the rules and electing new members. On this occasion, a jewel (voted some time since) will be presented by the Committee to Bro. Meggy.

The Whittington Lodge of Instruction will resume its meetings on Thursday, Nov. 6th, at the Crown Hotel, 41 High Holborn, under the preceptorship of Bro. Alexander, P.M., No. 177. On this occasion the chair will be occupied by the Secretary Bro. W. Long, P.M., 435.

A MASONIC ASPIRATION.

By Bro. WILLIAM CARPENTER, P.M. and P.Z. Though the pathway of life be with trials beset, From things that are evil, some good we may get,

For He who made all things still governs the whole, Good and evil, alike, are within His control.

Oh, Lord, most beneficent, grant the bright rays Of Thy wisdom, unerring, to me, all my days, That whatever of trials in life may be mine, I may have the assurance, my pathway is Thine!

And, then, when, at last, Thou shalt call me away, May I listen, delighted, Thy voice to obey; And pardon'd and strengthen'd by Thee, may I rise To a mansion of rest, beyond the blue skies

There are in connection with the College
THREE ANNUAL EXHIBITIONS,
open for general competition to all students, and tenable for three years.

Special Classes are formed for preparing students for the Legal, Medical, Home, Colonial, and Indian Civil Service Examinations; and for entrance to Woolwich, Coopers-hill, and the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, Dublin, Durham, and Edinburgh.

The Religious Teaching is based on strictly Protestant Principles, in accordance with the Doctrines and Liturgy of the Church of England.

Students requiring a commercial education only, are exempt from the classical course, if desired.

The year consists of two terms, during which there are no holidays the only vacations being at Midsummer and Christmas.

The use of all class books, valuable library, stationery (except mathematical instruments) laundry, &c., is included in the terms. No Extras of any kind.

The High School—Students from 16 to 23 years of age.
The Middle School—Students from 12 to 16 years of age.

The Preparatory School—Students under 12 years of age.

The College is divided into three sections. In the
PREPARATORY SCHOOL
(entirely distinct, but contiguous)

Boys are well grounded in the elements of a sound English Education, with French and German (also in Latin and Greek if for the learned professions), and prepared for the High or Middle School. In the High School the course of study is a preparation for the Universities and the various competitive examinations; while the Middle School trains pupils in such subjects as will qualify them for scientific and commercial pursuits.

Alston College is pleasantly situated, about six miles from Preston, and half a mile from Longridge Railway Station; is in immediate proximity to beautiful mountain scenery, within half an hour's ride of the chief watering places on the western coast of Lancashire, and is considered by Medical Professors to be in one of the healthiest localities in England—a fact sufficiently proved by the remarkably good health enjoyed by the students and regularly confirmed by the half-yearly medical reports.

Extensive Cricket Grounds are attached to the College Farms, whilst a spacious covered Gymnasium and Student's Hall, available for recreation, drill, &c., adjoin.

Reports of all examinations, together with the names of those students who have distinguished themselves at the College and the Universities, as Exhibitioners, Medalists and Prizemen, also the reports of the late examinations, together with views of the College buildings, and all necessary information, forwarded on application to the Rector, or to

Mr. GEORGE CLIFFORD, Secretary.

References kindly permitted to Bro. Masons, and to the late Examiners: Rev. T. H. Lindsay Leary, M.A., D.C.L. (Oxon), Assistant Examiner to Her Majesty's Civil Service Commission, Crawford Cottage, Epsom; T. W. Eyre Evans, Esq., LL.D.T.C.D., Nightingale Villa, Lower Norwood; and other University Examiners; Professor Pagel, Liverpool; R. Routledge, Esq., B.S.F.C.S., Manchester; also the Protestant Clergy, Nobility, and Professional Gentlemen (parents of present pupils) in London, Manchester, Liverpool, Birmingham, Leeds, Bradford, Bognor, Preston, Burnley, Chester, Lancaster, Boston (Lincoln), Wigan, Harrogate, Accrington, Haslingden, Kendal, Southport, Todmorden, &c., and various other towns; the Continent of Europe, the colonies, New York, and the United States, Brazil, Cuba, &c., who can bear ample testimony to the merits and success of this College.

Next term commences the 7th August, 1873.

COUGH ELIXIR.
CROSBY'S
BALSMIC
COUGH ELIXIR.

Opium, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief in Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling the digestive organs, and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S BALSMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy.
SELECT TESTIMONIAL.
Dr. Rooke, Scarborough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdued cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease."
This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Night Sweats of Consumption, Quinsy, and all affections of the throat and chest. Sold in bottles at 1s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, by all respectable Chemists, and wholesale by Jas. M. Crosby, Chemist, Scarborough.

PRESCOT.—Lodge of Loyalty (No. 86).—The annual meeting of this ancient lodge, which is now in the 120th year of its existence, was held at the Assembly Rooms, Prescott, near Liverpool, on Wednesday the 29th ult., the principal business being the installation of Bro. Henry Scott, the W.M. elect. Although the weather was exceedingly cold, there was a goodly gathering of the brethren of the lodge, which was opened shortly three o'clock by Bro. J. W. R. Fowler, W.M. The past and present officers of the lodge at the opening were Bros. G. Turner, P.M.; J. T. Hall, P.M.; H. Scott, S.W.; R. Young, J.W.; J. W. Fowler, P.M., Treas.; W. Tyrer, Sec.; R. Corke, S.D.; G. H. Turner, J.D.; R. D. Simpson, D.C.; W. Cron, I.G.; Sephton, Tyler. The members present were Bros. J. Vaughan, H. Vaughan, J. Van Denne, W. Holmes, W. A. Meadows, G. Welsby, H. Robertson, and others. The visitors Bros. Capt. W. J. Newman, W.M. 786; G. Morgan, P.M. 1035; J. Walker, 1086; W. Thomson, 1384; W. Harrison, 897; J. W. Carlile, 1334; and others. From the minutes (which were confirmed) it appeared that centenary jewels had been voted to Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, R.W.P.G.M., the Hon. Capt. Stanley, R.W.D.P.G.M.; and the Rev. J. F. Goggin, P.G. Chaplain; a letter was read from the last named brother acknowledging the compliment. Bro. J. W. J. Fowler then proceeded with the installation of Bro. H. Scott, as W.M., who was presented by Bros. G. Turner, and J. T. Hall. The ceremony was performed in an admirable manner, the charges to the following officers being given by Bro. J. Hamer, Bros. Reginald Young, S.W.; W. Tyrer, J.W.; J. W. J. Fowler, P.M., Sec. and Treas.; J. Vaughan, S.D.; and J. De Venne, J.D. The remainder of the appointments were left over until next meeting. On the motion of Bro. J. W. J. Fowler, seconded by Bro. R. Young, Bro. T. Sephton, was re-appointed Tyler of the lodge for the 24th time. After the business of the afternoon, the brethren adjourned to the King's Arms Hotel, where a sumptuous banquet was served under the presidency of the newly installed W.M. During the evening, a P.M.'s jewel was presented by Bro. Fowler, sen., to his son Bro. J. W. R. Fowler, I.P.M., which bore the following inscription:—"Lodge of Loyalty, No. 86, Prescott. Presented by members to Bro. J. W. R. Fowler, I.P.M., as a mark of fraternal regard and esteem. 1873." The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed during the festive meeting, and cordially responded to.

MARGATE.—Union Lodge (No. 127).—The brethren of the above lodge, and numerous visiting brethren, partook of a sumptuous banquet at the King's Head Hotel, on Tuesday the 28th October, the repast being served by Bro. J. Smith, D.C., in a manner which reflected on him the highest credit. The W.M. of the Lodge, Bro. A. Wooten, presided, the vice chair being occupied by the S.W., Bro. E. H. Thompson. Among the brethren present were Bros. Winch, J. Taylor, G. Taylor, 192., W. Style, A. Aubrey, S. S. Chancellor, J. Reeve, T. Price, S. Solomon, Tovey, T. M. Compton, I.P.M. &c., J. Smith, L. Wright, W. Saunders, W. K. Treves, W. Crawford, W. W. Winn, J. Phillpott, A. Baker, W. B. Wallace, Sec.; and several others. During the evening a M.M. jewel was presented to Bro. William Crawford, in acknowledgement of his successful efforts in connection with the recent Masonic Charity Ball, held at the Royal Assembly Rooms, Margate, in April last. The usual Masonic toasts were proposed and received with that loyalty becoming the Craft. Afterwards the interesting ceremony of a jewel presentation by the W.M., to Bro. W. Crawford, took place, and was received by the esteemed brother in a graceful and suitable manner, he expressing his thanks to the brethren of the lodge in a few well chosen words. The conviviality of the evening was enlivened by the very excellent singing of Bros. Walter B. Wallace, Phillpott, and Joseph Taylor. The brethren having spent a most enjoyable evening, were dismissed by the W.M., in accordance with "Bruce's Act."

BUXTON.—Phoenix Lodge of St. Ann (No. 1235).—Monday, the 20th of October, 1873, will long be remembered as a "red letter day" by the brethren of the "Phoenix of St. Ann" Lodge of Freemasons at Buxton, as it was a day set apart for a visit to the first W.M. and principal founder of their lodge—Bro. John Millward, of Longnor, now in his 83rd year, more than 60 years a Freemason, and one of the oldest Freemasons in the Province. The brethren, with their wives, sisters, and sweethearts, assembled at the Court House at 11 a.m., and were conveyed to Longnor in a coach and waggonette, drawn by four horses, provided by Bro. Bradbury, of the Shakespere Hotel. Though the morning was not one of the calm genial autumnal days which have been so much enjoyed during the present October, it had, nevertheless, all the charms which attend variety—the bright sunshine alternating with brisk showers of hail and rain, gave light and shadow to the extensive landscape, pleasant to look upon from under the shelter of warm cloaks, coats, and umbrellas. The scenery of this district is never seen to such great advantage as on a day of broken fleecy clouds, when a fresh breeze is blowing, and the beams of bright sunshine and dark shadow race over hill and valley. The full effect of such a day was seen to advantage as soon as the hills were surmounted which skirt the Dove Valley, and Croom and Parker's Hills, Longnor Edge and High Wheeldon with their varieties of outline, and the beautifully winding valley of the Dove, burst upon the delighted vision of the travellers, producing gratified expressions of surprise from all. Bro. Bradbury, as though he knew the precious freight he had charge of, ran no risks, and the pace was anything but fast, giving ample opportunity for fully appreciating the beautiful scenes which were traversed; and an hour and a half had elapsed before the carriages were pulled up in front of the Crewe and Harpur Arms, Longnor. Here the party were received by Bro. W. Millward, son of the respected founder of the lodge, and escorted to his residence, where they were warmly welcomed by his father and mother, and other relatives and friends, and where a luncheon had been most bountifully prepared, and brethren and sisters, numbering about fifty, partaking freely of what was so hospitably and lavishly dispensed. Nothing could exceed the kindness which this numerous party received, or the frankness and cordiality which prevailed, and it will be a day long remembered. Bro. the Rev. A. A. Bagshawe, W. M. and Provincial Grand Chaplain, proposed the health of the host, which was received with Masonic honours, Mr. Josiah Taylor singing "We are all John Millward's bairns, and to which Bro. Millward responded with the warmth, vivacity, and enthusiastic devotion which characterise him as a Mason. During the afternoon some strolled about and enjoyed the beautiful scenes of the neighbourhood, between the showers, visiting the quaint little church, and reading the quaint epitaphs in the churchyard; and the day was ended by Bro. Millward and his wife and family being invited by the brethren to the Crewe and Harpur Arms to tea, which, with every substantial and delicate accessory, was provided in the best manner by the hostess, Mrs. Grindy. After tea, there was dancing for the younger and more active of the party, which was enjoyed until the clock struck the hour of retiring, at nine p.m., "Auld Lang Syne" being sung previously in Masonic fashion. The return journey was safely accomplished, partly under a starlight sky, and, after cresting the Derbyshire hills, in a shower of rain and hail.

SEACOMBE.—Warren Lodge (No. 1276).—The installation meeting of the above lodge was held on Tuesday evening, the 21st ult., at the Stanley Arms Hotel. The lodge was opened by the W.M., Bro. R. W. Holt, at 5 o'clock, the following brethren being present, viz., Bros. T. H. Ward, S.W.; W. Evans, J.W.; J. S. Jones, I.P.M.; W. H. Francis, Treas.; James Redcholgh, S.D.; J. Taylor, J.D.; J. Pemberton, P.M., as Sec.; W. R. Bainbridge, P.M., M.C.; J. T. Lea, P.M., P.P.G.; S. W.; C. H. Hill, P.M.; W. J. Long; T. C. Lawrence; A. R. Paynter, J. Lancaster, N. Beamish, J. Moore, A. McKay, W. R. Buckley, J. Monroe, W. Jones A. Nash, J. Higgins, H. Skinner, J. Martin, J. Williams, J. Burgess, and others. The lodge was honoured with the presence of the following visitors, Bros. W. Balley, P.P.J.G.D.; J. P. Platt, P.P.J.G. Warden; T. Platt, P.P.J.G.D; J. Banning, P.M., P.G.O. Cumb. and Westmorland; R. C. Mellor, P.P.J.C.D., N. Wales and Salop; J. Chesworth, P.M.; R. Collinson, T. Ambler; W. Shortis, W.M. 724; J. Radcliffe, W.M. 605; A. Bemish, J. Jacobs, T. Birch, E. Harris, and several others. The S.W., Bro. Ward, was presented to the Installing Master, Bro. R. W. Holt, by Bro. W. Bulley and T. S. Jones, I.P.M., for the ceremony of installation, he having taken the obligation as Master Elect; all brethren below the chair were requested to retire, when a Board of Installed Masters was formed, and Bro. Ward was installed according to ancient custom, the ceremony being rendered in a most efficient manner by Bro. Holt. The Past Master's Lodge was closed, and other important business was gone through to the satisfaction of all present. The brethren were then admitted, and gave the salutation in the different degrees. The W.M. was pleased to appoint the following brethren as his officers, Bros. R. W. Holt, I.P.M.; W. Evans, J.W.; J. Ridcholgh, J.W.; W. H. Francis, Treas.; W. R. Bainbridge, Sec.; T. Taylor, S.D.; W. Jones, J.D.; J. Pemberton, P.M., Organist; A. McKay, I.G.; A. R. Paynter; J. C. Lawrence, Stewart; John McMurdie, Tyler; each officer receiving a charge from Bro. Holt, Inst. Master. Some important business having to be gone into, the visitors retired with some of the members. The W.M., Bro. Ward, then presented a handsome Past Master's Jewel to Bro. Holt, the I.P.M., with the following remarks: "In fixing this jewel on your breast, may I hope that the heart that beats beneath it will ever respond to the cries of distress, and be actuated in all it does by the same kind feelings as those which prompted the brethren in making you this gift. I feel sure it will be their sincere wish that you will be spared for many years, and be present at the meeting of this lodge and wear this token of their fraternal regard. I shall not add any further observation, feeling sure that nothing I can say will add lustre to your name." The visiting brethren and others re-entered the lodge, which was closed down in ancient form, and the brethren adjourned to the Seacombe Hotel a first-rate banquet having been provided for about 50 brethren, who did justice to the good things. Grace having been said, Bro. Ward, the W.M., in very fluent language, proposed the loyal and Grand Lodge toasts, which were duly honoured. The W.M. then proposed "The R.W.G.P.M. of Cheshire, the Lord de Tabley, his Deputy, and the Past and Present P.G.L. Officers;" this toast was received right heartily. Bro. P. M. Pemberton sang a good old song. Bro. Holt acted as Master of Ceremonies. Bro. Bulley returned thanks on behalf of the P.G. Lodge, then, in eloquent terms, proposed "The Health of the Worshipful Master, Bro. Ward," which was enthusiastically received with honours. Bro. Paynter sang a beautiful song. The W.M. said it was with feelings of unalloyed gratification and emotion of the deepest gratitude that he returned thanks for the cordiality with which the brethren had responded to this toast. He would do his utmost to uphold the dignity of the lodge, also to maintain the harmony which should exist, and he trusted the officers he had appointed would co-operate with him in the faithful discharge of the duties of the lodge. The W.M., on rising to propose "The Cheshire Masonic Educational Institution," said it gave him great pleasure in coupling with that the name of Bro. John P. Platt, P.M., &c., P.P.G. Warden of Cheshire, the promoter and Hon. Sec. of that excellent institution. This toast was well received, Bro. Platt returning thanks at some length, informing the brethren of the good the charity had been to the Province. The next toast was that of "The Past Master." Bro. Hill, P.M., thanked the brethren; Bro. P.M. Holt also returned thanks in a good Masonic speech. "The Officers" was replied to by Bros. Evans, S.W., W. R. Bainbridge, Sec.; Taylor, S.D. (for self). Bro. J. Warden thanked the W.M. and brethren in a speech which proved he had great ability, for he was most eloquent. The W.M. then gave "The Visiting Brethren," which was replied to by Bro. Banning, P.M., and P.G. Organist. The Tyler's Toast brought the proceedings to a close. This meeting was satisfactory in every way; the working was admirable, the music excellent, the reception of visitors most cordial, the banquet, supplied by Mrs. Stokes, unexceptionable; and the Past Masters were well satisfied with the excellent wine provided at the "Stanley Arms" Hotel, by Bro. Martin.

ACACIA LODGE (No. 1309).—This lodge, the regular meetings of which commence in May and close in September, held an emergency meeting on the 25th ult., at the Railway Tavern, Potter's Bar. There were present Bros. E. W. Richardson, W.M.; J. H. Butten, P. Prov. G.A. D.C., as S.W.; R. Limpus, P.G. Organist, J.W.; F. Walters, P.G.S., P.M., Sec.; C. A. Ferrier, S.D.; E. W. Collins, as J.D.; J. George, as I.G.; C. Horsley, P. Prov. G. Registrar, P.M., and many other brethren, but no visitors. The lodge was duly opened and the third and first ceremonies worked, there being three candidates for each degree, viz., Bros. H. Bryceson, J. Bryceson, and T. Boyce; Messrs. A. Budgett, H. E. Appleby, and R. P. Tebb. The W.M. finding that the amount of business justified the step, determined to hold another emergency meeting on the first Saturday in December. The lodge was closed, and the brethren partook of simple refreshments.

LODGE OF ASAPH (No. 1319).—The installation meeting of this lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall, W.C., on Monday last, the 3rd instant. There were present:—Bros. E. Stanton Jones, P.M.; C. Coote, P.M.; J. M. Chamberlain, I.P.M.; J. Weaver, P.M., P. Prov. G. Org. Middx., M.E.Z. 862., W.M.; George Buckland, I.G.; Robert W. Little, P.M.; Thomas A. Adams, P.G.P.; Charles Coote, jun., Treasurer; Edward Frewin, S.W.; Thomas Edgar; W. F. Cremer, Steward; William Maby; Thomas W. Gough; Charles S. Jekyll, J.W.; W. H. Stephens; Joseph Perry; George Horton; William A. Tinney, S.D.; John M. Ball; Henry Snyders; Henry J. Tinney, Org.; Julian Egerton; Frederick Burgess; Edward Terry, J. D.; John Strachan; William Graves; Joseph Horton; John Read, P.M.; Edward Swanborough, D.C.; John Hodges; Henry Lazarus; Gustavus R. Egerton; Ambrose Bustin; John Henry Maycock; Hendall; Greenhill; Barret; Podel; Poulter; The visitors present were:—Bros. Col. F. Burdett, P.G.S.W. and P.G. Midx.; J. Hervey, G. Sec.; Hyde Pullen, P.G.S.B.; F. Binckes, P.G.S.; W. F. Smith, P.M. 177; F. Hogard, W.M. 205; W. Buckland, St. John, and St. Paul; J. W. Jackson, P.M. 232, Dublin; Macintosh, Royal Somerset; Lawler. The business consisted in the installation of Bro. J. Weaver, P.M., P. Prov. G. Org. Middx. and M.E.Z., 863, as W.M., and he appointed his officers as follows.—Bros. E. Frewin, S.W.; C. S. Jekyll, J.W.; C. Coote, jun., Treasurer; E. S. Jones, Sec.; W. A. Tinney, S.D.; E.

Terry, S.D.; Geo. Buckland, I.G.; E. Swanborough, D.C.; and J. Gilbert, Tyler; Bro. Chamberlain installed his successor in a masterly and impressive manner. The report of the audit committee was received, and the state of the funds gave great satisfaction to the brethren, the benevolent fund was shown to be in an equally satisfactory state, the sum of £50 being ordered to be invested in government security. After these proceedings, the lodge closed and the brethren adjourned to the banquet table. After the cloth was removed and the usual toasts received with the customary honours, Bro. Chamberlain, I.P.M., took the gavel and proposed "The health of the W.M." in highly eulogistic terms, which the brethren drank with great enthusiasm; the W.M., in a short speech returned thanks concluding by stating the principles upon which the lodge of Asaph had been founded, which were to have fewer banquets and more real Masonry. This idea had been thoroughly carried out, and the result is that the lodge is in possession of governorships of all the charities, has money invested, and money in hand. The W.M. on behalf of the lodge, then presented to Bro. Chamberlain a P.M.'s jewel, accompanied by an engrossed testimonial on vellum, for his skill and ability during his year of office, which Bro. Chamberlain acknowledged in a few well chosen sentences. Col. F. Burdett, P.G.S.W. and P.G.M. Middx., returned thanks on behalf of the visitors. Bro. Hyde Pullen, P.G.S.B., responded to the toast of the P.G. Officers. The proceedings of the evening were greatly enlivened by the charming part singing of some of the brethren, under the direction of Bro. Geo. Buckland I.G. and by the solos of Bros. Lawler, Buckland, and Coote. This happy meeting will be remembered by those present for many years to come.

EBURY LODGE (No. 1348).—The first meeting this season of this lodge was held on Tuesday, at the Morpeth Arms Hotel, Ponsonby Street, Pimlico. The lodge was presided over by Bro. W. Bourne, W.M., who was supported by all his officers—viz., Bros. John Coutts, P.G.P., Immediate Past Master and Treasurer; Summers, S.W.; Verity, J.W.; J. Elliott, Sec.; Dr. C. H. Roberts, S.D.; J. Verity, J.D.; A. J. Ireton, I.G.; Harrison and Proskaner, Stewards. There was a very numerous attendance of the members of the lodge, and amongst the visitors were Bros. J. Boyd, P.G.P.; F. W. Pamphilon, J.W. 91; T. Bull, S.W. 145; W. Kew, 144; A. Leselier, 1155 H. Bethell, J.; W. 1257; and P. Godart, 1288. The lodge having been opened, and the minutes of the former proceedings read and confirmed, ballots were unanimously taken in favour of admission into the Order of Messrs. E. D. Estall, J. Nichols, and H. Clayton, gentlemen of high social position, who were accordingly initiated into Freemasonry in a manner which it will be impossible they can ever forget. The admirable working of the W.M., and the perfect manner in which the various officers discharged their respective duties, were worthy of all praise, while the accompaniment of Bro. Stacey on the organ added greatly to the solemn effect of the ceremony. The Second Degree was also worked for the benefit of Bros. Creed, Brown, Chitson, Hayns, and Stauffer, being also finely rendered. Being the annual period of election the lodge having this evening completed the second year of its existence, the election of W.M., Treasurer, and Tyler, then took place, and were most happily concluded, the S.W., Bro. J. Summers, being elected W.M. for the ensuing year by the unanimous vote of the lodge; Bro. Coutts was re-elected Treasurer with the same feeling of unanimity, and both announcements were received with hearty cheers; the Tyler was also re-elected. Three auditors were then appointed to make a report of the finances of the lodge against the installation meeting in the ensuing month. A proposition was then made to present the retiring W.M. with a handsome P.M.'s jewel in gold, in recognition of his services to the lodge during the past year. To this proposition an amendment was offered, which would have limited the value of the jewel proposed to be presented one-half, if carried. This amendment, prompted by the best intentions, and quite disinterested, as the brother proposing it will in all probability shortly ascend to the chair himself, however, found no favour, the general feeling of the lodge being that Bro. Bourne's claims on their gratitude for his great exertions in behalf of the lodge since its foundation could not be less substantially acknowledged. The services of Bro. Stacey, the assiduous Organist, received some recognition in a motion by Bro. Verity, J.D., that in consideration of the duties of Organist, that officer should be free from all subscriptions save Grand Lodge dues, whilst still retaining all lodge privileges, which was carried. When the lodge was closed a banquet was served by Bro. Palmer. After the cloth had been cleared, and the leading loyal and Masonic toasts had been given, what may be termed the lodge toasts were proposed and received with more than ordinary enthusiasm, more especially the healths of the retiring W.M. (the worthy brother who combines in his own person the triple offices of Past Grand Pursuivant, Immediate P.M., and Treasurer) and that of W.M. elect. The W.M. and Bro. Coutts responded feelingly and eloquently; and the W.M. elect, in returning thanks, stated that he was already privileged to wear the purple as a past grand officer of the Province of Cumberland and Westmoreland, but that now that he had been elected to the chair of the Ebury Lodge his ambition would not rest satisfied until he had achieved more than provincial honours, and he hoped before very long to be able to appear before them as an officer of the Grand Lodge of England. "The Health of Bro. Secretary Elliott" was warmly received, a compliment the worthy brother amply deserved, the arduous duties of his office being ever faithfully performed. The Tyler's Toast brought the evening to an end. The Stewards were most assiduous in their duties, especially the younger, Bro. Proskaner.

PRINCE LEOPOLD LODGE (No. 1445).—The W.M. of this lodge having given his sanction for a lodge of instruction, to be held under the warrant granted to the above-named lodge, the inauguration meeting was accordingly held at the Lord Stanley Tavern, Sandringham Road, Kingsland, on Monday week. The meeting was ably presided over by Bro. Yetton, P.M. No. 933; Bro. Austin, W.M. 33, filling the S.W.'s chair, and Bro. Howe, W.M. 1445, the J.W.'s. The fifteen sections were worked by the undermentioned brethren:—Bros. Wilkins, S.D. 1445; Field, P.M. 212; Musto, P.M. 1349; Austin, W.M. 933; Barnes, P.M. 554 and 933; Pinder, Sec. 1445; Fieldwick, 1364; Myers, J.W. 1445; Rugg, S.W. 781; Howe, W.M. 1445; Candieu, J.D. 1421; Frank Green, S.W., 1449. A numerous gathering of the brethren from various London lodges assembled to listen to these beautiful lectures on Freemasonry, which were rendered in a singularly able manner, and reflected the greatest credit upon those who took part in them. A cordial vote of thanks was presented to Bro. Yetton for the very great ability and courtesy with which he discharged the duties of the chair. The Prince Leopold Lodge of Instruction will meet at the same place every Monday evening, at seven o'clock, under the preceptorship of Bro. Austin, W.M. 933.

LEICESTER.—Chapter of Fortitude (No. 279).—The regular meeting took place at Freemasons' Hall, on Thursday, the 23rd October, and was largely attended by the members, the whole of the officers also being in attendance. There were likewise present the Dep. Prov. G.M., Comp. Sir H. Halford, and also visitors from Rugby. The ballot having proved unanimous in favour of the candidates on the summons, Bro. J. A. Wykes, Sec. 523; J. B. Shout, 523; and G. Crofts, 1391; who were in attendance, were duly exalted to this supreme degree. In the unavoidable absence of Comp. Stretton, Z., the ceremony was performed by Comp. G. Toller, jun., P.Z., who also delivered the Mystical Lecture the Historical being given by Comp. E. J. Crow, H. Several candidates were proposed for exaltation, after which the chapter was closed. After supper, in response to the toast of "The newly Installed Companions, they severally expressed themselves as having been much gratified and impressed by the degree.

ULVERSTON.—Chapter of Furness (No. 995).—The regular convocation of this chapter was held on Monday evening, the 20th inst., in the Masonic Temple, Theatre-street, at 6 o'clock, when there were present Comps. Thomas Dodgson, Z.; Reuben Pearson, H.; Roger Dodgson, J.; Cornfield, S.E.; Postlethwaite, S.W.; Whiteside, P.S.; J. Case, P.Z. and P.G.J.; visiting Comp. F. C. Warne, and a number of companions of the chapter. After the usual routine business had been transacted, Bro. Woodhouse, of the Hindpool Lodge No. 1225, was exalted according to ancient custom by the M.E.Z., who occupied the First Principal's chair for the first time since his installation in July last, and who has proved his fitness for the position by performing the ceremony of exaltation in a highly efficient manner, the important duties of Prin. Soj. being very pleasingly discharged by Comp. Whiteside. On the completion of the ceremony of exaltation the M.E.Z. gave the Historic and Mystic Lectures, and the H. the Symbolical Lecture. The usual business being disposed of, the chapter was then closed in ancient form.

Mark Masonry.

ST. MARK'S LODGE (No. 1).—The usual November meeting of the above Lodge was held on Tuesday, the 4th inst., at Masons' Hall, present Bros. G. Kenning, W.M.; Davison, S.W.; Yeoman, J.W.; Edmands, M.O.; Brette S.O.; Charles Horsley, S.D.; Thiellay, J.D.; Levander, Treas.; Little, Sec.; Cubitt, Marsh, Newton, Jones, and Parker. Rev. J. M. Vaughan, being in attendance was advanced to the degree of Mark Master Mason, after which the brethren adjourned to a well spread banquet prepared by Bro. Gosden, which gave satisfaction to all present, the pleasure of the evening being much enhanced by the vocal abilities of Bros. Charles Horsley, Edmands, Newton, Thiellay, and Marsh.

HULL.—Minerva Lodge of Mark Masters (No. 12).—The regular quarterly meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Hall, Prince-street, on Monday evening last, when the lodge was opened by Bro. J. N. Scherting, the W.M., assisted by his Wardens, Bros. Todd and Jackson. Amongst about forty brethren present were Bros. Walter Reynolds, P.M., John Walker, P.M., J. F. Holden, P.M., George Hardy, P.M., and W. Tesseyman, P.M. The lodge having been opened in due form, the minutes of the meetings held May 5 and September 29 were read and confirmed. Three brethren were ballotted for and accepted for advancement, one of whom, being in attendance, was admitted and regularly advanced to this honourable degree by the W.M., in his usual faultless style. This being the annual meeting for election of W.M., &c., such elections were proceeded with, when, on examining the voting papers, it was found that the Senior Warden, Bro. C. J. Todd, was unanimously elected Worshipful Master, Bro. H. Haigh was re-elected Treas., and Bros. Tedd, Faulkner, Norton, and Crier were elected Tyler. Bro. J. F. Holden, P.M., then rose to propose the following resolution, of which due notice had been given:—"That this lodge objects to the proposed increase of the fee (from 8s. 6d. to 10s. 6d.) payable to Grand Lodge for certificate and registration of brethren advanced in private lodges." He said, in support of the motion, that he considered the brethren were too heavily taxed, and that greater economy should be practised at head-quarters. The motion was seconded by Bro. Walter Reynolds, P.M., and carried unanimously. It was then moved by Bro. Haigh, seconded by Bro. F. Jackson, J.W., and carried, "That a copy of this resolution be sent to every lodge under the English Constitution, affected by the proposed advance. One brother was proposed for advancement, and the lodge was closed in form and with solemn prayer.

HASLINGDEN.—Blair Lodge (No. 113).—On Wednesday, the 15th ult. the annual meeting of this lodge took place. The lodge was opened at 4 p.m., by Bro. Thomas Hargreaves, P.M. The only business being the installation of the W.M., Bro. Le Gendre R. Starkie, the Senior Grand Mark Warden of England, and Provincial Grand Master of East Lancashire (Craft), who was duly elected at the last regular meeting, being in attendance, he was accordingly presented by Bro. W. O. Walker, P.M., P.P.G.M.O.L. (Senior Grand Deacon of England), and installed into the chair of A. by Bro. Hargreaves. We have not seen so large a board of Installed Masters for some time, there being some twelve present. Business being finished, the brethren adjourned to banquet, and here again the numbers were imposing, some sixty-five sitting down to dinner. The appearance, indeed, was more like a Provincial meeting than an ordinary lodge meeting. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were afterwards given and received with a great amount of satisfaction. "The Queen," "The Prince and Princess of Wales and the rest of the Royal Family," and "The M.W.G.M., the Earl Percy," being given from the chair. Bro. Major Hardman, the S.W., proposed the toast of the "Earl of Limerick and rest of the Grand Officers, Present and Past," and in doing so paid a great amount of eulogy upon those Grand Officers with whom he was acquainted, there being four present. Bro. W. H. Prince, Senior Grand Overseer of England, responded in a very neat and appropriate speech. Bro. W. O. Walker, Senior Grand Deacon of England, responded on behalf of the Prov. Grand Officers. The W.M., in proposing "The Health of Bro. W. Romaine Callender, Prov. Grand Mark Master Mason of Lancashire," spoke in very high terms of the services which Bro. Callender had rendered to all branches of Masonry, not alone in this country, but elsewhere. Bro. Hargreaves, the Installing Master, proposed the toast of the evening, "The Health of Bro. Le Gendre Starkie, the W.M.," who responded in a very long, able, and artistic speech. Several other toasts were given, and the brethren afterwards separated, well pleased with the success of the meeting.

COWES.—Medina Lodge (No. 140).—On Thursday last the first monthly meeting of this lodge was held, Bro. T. W. Faulkner, W.M., in the chair. The W.M. having opened his lodge, a ballot was taken for Bro. J. G. Wheeler, the W.M. of Lodge 35, Craft Masonry, Bros. T. F. Bishop, H. S. Weeding, C. Airs, and T. Huxtable, and being unanimous in their favour, they were admitted, and the beautiful ceremony of the Mark Degree was most creditably performed by the W.M. and his officers. Considering that only a month has elapsed since the consecration of this lodge by Bro. Binckes, the brethren on Thursday evening last performed their duties in a manner that was exceedingly praiseworthy. After the ceremony a committee was appointed to draw up bye-laws for the lodge, and this being concluded, about twenty of the brethren sat down to a capital supper, provided by Bro. F. Cooper, of the Crown Hotel, and the remainder of the evening was passed in a most pleasant manner.

GLASGOW.—St. John's Lodge.—(No. 3 bis). held a special harmonic meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 29th, for which special invitations were issued. Bro. Smille, the R.W.M., was supported by Bros. Alison, D.M.; J. Dick, S.W.; J. Colquhoun, J.W.; W. Millen, I.P.M.; D. Campbell, Sec.; there was a large assemblage of members, and about one hundred visitors from the various lodges in the City. Bro. Banks presided at the piano, and the entire programme was under the direction of Bro. Robert Fraser, who was in excellent voice, and who is always willing to give his services to any lodge when the cause of Masonic Charity is to be promoted thereby. Bro. Jas. Houston also gave his valuable assistance, and in addition to these three professional gentlemen, there was a large amount of amateur talent. It may seem almost invidious to make a selection where all were so good, but the singing of Bros. Good, John Fraser, Carson, Crab, Mitchell, Coil, and Walker, was positively good. Bro. Middleton, by his excellent catering for the brethren, also gave satisfaction, in fact all "went as merry as a marriage bell."

GLASGOW.—Union Lodge (No. 332) held the regular meeting the 22nd ult. There were present Bros. J. B. McNair, R.W.M.; R. Mitchell, P.M.; J. McMurray, S.W.; A. M. McConnachy, J.W.; and visitors from several lodges. The work comprised the raising of Bro. Chesholme, to the sublime degree of M.M., which ceremony was performed by Bros. McNair, and Mitchel, in their best style.

GLASGOW.—Caledonian Unity Chapter (No. 73).—The companions of this chapter met on Monday, 28th ult., Bro. G. McDonald in the chair, Bros. G.W. Wheeler, H.; J. Tweed, J.; and J. Balfour, S.E.; amongst the visitors was Bro. Capt. Shanks, P.Z. 158, E.C. A lodge of Mark Masters, was opened and a brother was advanced to that degree, Bro. W. B. Pattison, giving the lecture.

THE MAYOR, CORPORATION, AND FREEMASONS OF LIVERPOOL AT CHURCH.

Almost the last public act of Bro. E. Samuelson, P. Prov. S.G.D. of Cheshire, the Worshipful Chief Magistrate for Liverpool, whose term of office expires at the close of this week, was one of singular grace and consideration. As considerable debt still remains upon the Church of St. Stephen's, Byrom-street, Liverpool, of which Bro. Henry George Vernon, A.M., P. Prov. G. Chaplain of West Lancashire and Cheshire, is the incumbent, his worship invited the Freemasons of Liverpool, Birkenhead, and neighbourhood to accompany him and the Corporation to the church in question, with the view of assisting to clear off the monetary weight which still rests upon it. The brethren were invited to meet his Worship at the Town Hall, a half-past ten o'clock on Sunday morning, and about 150 availed themselves of the invitation, proceeding with him, by way of Dale-street and Byrom-street, to St. Stephen's Church.

The Mayor was accompanied by Bro. Councillor Pearson (ex-Mayor), and Mr. Alderman Hubbuck, Mr. Alderman Carey, Councillors Whitley, Vining, Melladew, Bro. Forrest, O. H. Williams, the Town Clerk, &c.

Letters of apology for non-attendance were received from Lieut.-Colonel Steble, Mr. S. G. Rathbone, &c.

The Provincial Grand Lodge of West Lancashire was represented by Bros. H. S. Alpass, P.G. Sec.; Captain A. C. Mott, Treas. to the West Lancashire Masonic Educational Institution, and P. Prov. S.G.W. of Westmoreland and Cumberland; T. Armstrong, P.G. Treas.; S. E. Ibbs, P. Prov. G.S.B.; W. Doyle, P.G.S., &c.

Amongst the representatives from local lodges were Bros. P. M. Larsen, G. G. Walmsley, R. Washington, J. Jackson, W. Shortis, R. Martin, Jun., Dr. J. V. Worthington, M. Mawson, H. W. Nicholas, &c.,

The sermon was preached by Bro. the P. G. Warden, D.D., of Westfield College, who selected his text from Luke x., 35, "He took out twopence."

The collection at the close of the service realised £23 1s., and cheques amounting to £25 were received by the incumbent from absentees.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1873.

ANOTHER ROMAN CATHOLIC AT-TACK ON FREEMASONRY.

We had occasion, some time back, to call attention to a professedly humorous and sarcastic attack, by an accredited Roman Catholic periodical on our Fraternity, and we succeeded, as we hoped, in showing how utterly meaningless and inane such an attack really was, and how little we were affected by so childish and so flip-pant an article.

To-day, however, we have to call attention to a somewhat more serious aggression, namely to the after-luncheon speech of Dr. Brown, a Roman Catholic bishop, in whose ecclesiastical jurisdiction Chester, we believe, is.

Dr. Brown is, we also understand, the titular Bishop of Shrewsbury, and having laid the foundation stone of a new Roman Catholic Church in the good City of Chester, and having attended a luncheon and a numerous assembly of the faithful, he amused himself, and we presume his hearers, by an onslaught on us poor Freemasons.

Why he should, on such a day, and after such a ceremony, have thought it needful to introduce the subject of Freemasonry at all, we cannot pretend to explain, or even to surmise.

Roman Catholic bishops after all, are but men, and something had evidently gone wrong with his digestion, or the "menu."

Perhaps the "Mayonnaise à l'Homard" was not properly mixed, or the fine sirloin the "pièce de resistance," was too tough.

The Doctor evidently wanted some of Bob Sawyer's "patent digester," for he incontinently proceeded to attack Freemasonry "more Romanorum" in a peculiarly offensive way.

As he is reported in the Chester Courant of October 22nd, Dr. Brown ventured to couple "Freemasons" and "Fenians" together, and to pronounce them equally under the ban of the Pope, and to be avoided by all good Roman Catholics.

His actual words are these:—"The allegiance they owed to their Sovereign was a religious duty. No one could be admitted to the benefits of the holy tribunal of penance who was guilty of a violation of the laws, which were the commandments of God. The obedience they owed to the civil government of the country was a duty impressed upon them by the Church of God. So strongly did the church feel that, and so strongly did she set the seal of her approbation upon it, that no one could, as he had said, be admitted to the Sacraments who conspired, or was supposed to be conspiring, against the civil government of the country in which he lived. It was forbidden a priest to bestow any of the benefits of the confessional on such offenders. All, for instance, belonging to secret societies were interdicted from those benefits, because they were supposed to hold tenets and principles which, in some way or other, were contrary to the laws of God and their country. No matter whether the society was that of Freemasons or Fenians, its members were, so long as they belonged to it, excluded from the benefits of the tribunal of penance. That every catholic might continue to hold allegiance to his Sovereign was the earnest wish of the pastors of the Church."

We cannot see why the Freemasons are introduced at all, and we can only suppose that it was for the pleasant alliteration of "Fenians and Freemasons."

There is really otherwise no meaning in the connection or in the passage itself,

Is Dr. Brown so ignorant of history as not to be aware that Freemasons are specially exempt from the operation of the Secret Societies' Act?

He must know, if he knows anything of Freemasonry, that in England, and in Ireland, and in Scotland, its members have always constituted a pre-eminently loyal body, and that they have always been distinguished by devoted adherence to the Throne, and zealous obedience to the laws of this great country. He must have known that, at its head in Cheshire, is Lord De Tabley and was good old Lord Combermere; that its Grand Master is the Marquis of Ripon; its Deputy Grand Master the Earl of Carnarvon, that the Prince of Wales himself is a member of the Fraternity, and that to brand Freemasonry as a secret political society, or to put it on a level with the Fenians, must be either an absurdity or an impertinence.

As it is not the first time that Roman Catholic Dignitaries have thought fit to couple together two such dissimilar societies, we think it right, once for all, to protest against such an unwarrantable, such an uncharitable, such an offensive juxtaposition.

Freemasonry is a peculiarly loyal, peaceful, philanthropic brotherhood, one of whose first and unchanged axioms is, "Loyalty to the Sovereign of our native land," and we indignantly repudiate any alleged similarity in our organization with that of the Fenians, just as we denounce such an unjust allusion to our benevolent and tolerant order.

Why, in the city of Chester, where there are two excellent lodges, the Cestrian, No. 425, and the Lodge of Independence, No. 721, or why in Cheshire, where there are no less than thirty-five lodges, all distinguished by Masonic zeal, and we feel sure, by English loyalty, Dr. Brown should have thought well to use such very offensive words to all Freemasons, we cannot, for the life of us, understand. In Shrewsbury, itself, there are two lodges, all "good men and true," and why, on such a day, Dr. Brown should have gone out of his way to say the most disagreeable thing he could possibly say of us loyal Freemasons, is one of those mysteries of Roman Catholic proceedings in this country, which we cannot profess to be able to understand or to expound. It is not so many decades, or years ago, since we could tell of a Roman Catholic archbishop, and of a Roman Catholic bishop as being Freemasons, and having a high value for the institution.

Dr. Brown may say, I am only speaking ex cathedra, as a Roman Catholic bishop, to my flock, and I am bound to warn them against Freemasonry, for by the terms of a Papal Bull, no Roman Catholic could be absolved from the sin of being a Freemason, unless by special license from his Holiness."

We have nothing to do with what Dr. Brown as a Roman Catholic bishop may think it right to say to his "condiscipulos," to enlighten their faith and improve their morals, but we protest, once for all, and let us hope for the last time, against any Roman Catholic prelate placing us on the same level with the Fenians, and as we believe that Dr. Brown spoke partly in ignorance, and partly without a due appreciation of the real object of our peaceful and loyal, and tolerant, and benevolent Association, we would recommend him to study Oliver's latest edition of William Preston's Illustrations of Masonry, and we feel quite persuaded, that, after its perusal, he will both change his views, and amend his vocabulary.

SURREPTITIOUS CRAFT RITUALS.

We think it well to call the attention of the Brotherhood to a subject of considerable importance to us all alike who value the exoteric organization and the exoteric teaching of Freemasonry.

For some time past, more than one bookseller has announced the publication of a ritual of Freemasonry. One of these advertisements, now often repeated, we take from the advertisement columns of "Household Words" for November, and we give it "verbatim et literatim," for the benefit of our readers.

"RARE WORK ON FREEMASONRY.—Only Copyright Perfected Manual acknowledged by the Craft.—The Accepted Ceremonies of Craft Freemasonry, as taught in all the Master Masons' Lodges of the Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons of England, embracing the whole of the Craft Masonic Ceremonies, the Opening and Closing in the Three Degrees, Questions to Candidates before being Passed and Raised, the Initiation, Passing and Raising, the Tracing Boards, &c. Sent post free, on receipt of 8s. 6d. (or before remittance is made if desired), payable to A. F. MASON (P.M., 30°). * * * * *

Who Bro. Mason, P.M., 30°, may be, we know not, whether a real or mythical personage, but to use Mr. Samuel Weller's words, we think he is "coming it rather strong," when he thus claims for this, his surreptitious manual, and in order to enhance the value of his book, that it is "the only copyright perfected manual acknowledged by the Craft."

We feel sure of this, that Bro. Mason has no authority whatever for his statements, and it is but an idle puff of his wares, in order to gain the eyes and ears of an ignorant public. Indeed he has no right to use such words at all.

Whether Bro. Mason, if he is a bona fide member of Grand Lodge, has brought himself under the notice of the "Board of General Purposes" by the unwarrantable liberty he has taken in advertising such a publication at all, and above all by the terms of his advertisement, we do not presume or profess to say.

Probably, in this age of wise toleration, it is better to leave all such matters alone; they generally find their level, in their own utter uselessness and unreality, and, if successful for the moment, as an unmasonic speculation, they are soon forgotten in the onward progress of years, and are treated as they deserve by the contemptuous unconcern of our good old Craft, whose members always prize honour and truth beyond any of those ephemeral advantages which may arise from a forgetfulness of our duties on one hand; or from a disobedience of our regulations as Masons on the other.

We have thought it right, as representing the interests of the craft in one sense, to call the attention of our brethren to the subject generally and particularly, and there we leave the matter, having done our duty to-day.

GRAND LODGE OF SCOTLAND.

The quarterly communication of Grand Lodge was held on Monday, the 3rd inst., in Freemasons' Hall, George-street. In the unavoidable absence of the Most Worshipful Grand Master (the Earl of Roslyn), the throne was occupied by Sir Michael Shaw Stewart, Bart., Right Worshipful Depute Grand Master, who was supported by Colonel Campbell, of Blythwood, M.P., Right Worshipful Senior Grand Warden; Major Ramsay of Garion, Acting Right Worshipful Junior Grand Warden; the Right Hon. Jas. C. P. Murray, representative at the Grand Lodge of Scotland; Capt. J. T. Oswald of Dunnikier; William Mann, Past Senior Grand Warden; Captain Charles Hunter of Glencarse, Provincial Grand Master of Aberdeenshire East; William Hay, representative of the Grand Lodge of Nova Scotia; John Laurie, Grand Secretary; John Coghill, Grand Director of Ceremonies; Bro. C. W. M. Miller, Grand Director of Music; Wm. Officer, Past Grand Deacon; F. A. Barrow, Junior Grand Deacon; Murdoch Mackenzie, Chief Grand Marshal; A. T. Apthorpe, Grand Marshal; and W. M. Bryce, Grand Tyler. Apologies for inability to attend were received from the Rev. Dr. Gray and from the Rev. V. G. Faithfull, Joint Chaplains.

The Grand Lodge having been opened in due form, and the usual preliminary business disposed of, the meeting proceeded to the nomination of Grand Office-bearers and Grand Stewards for the ensuing year. The Grand Office-bearers nominated are as follows:—

M.W. Grand Master Mason, Sir Michael Robert Shaw Stewart, Bart.; R.W. Past Grand Master, the Right Hon. the Earl of Roslyn; R.W. Substitute Grand Master, Captain J. T. Oswald of Dunnikier; R.W. Senior Grand Warden, The Right Hon. the Earl of Kellie; R.W. Junior Grand Warden, Major Hamilton Ramsey of Garion; R.W. Grand Treasurer, Samuel Hay, Union Bank; R.W. Grand Secretary, John Laurie; V.W. Joint Grand Chaplains, The Rev. V. G. Faithfull, M.A., and the Rev. W. H. Gray, D.D.; V.W.G. Senior Grand Deacon, F. A. Barrow; V.W. Junior Grand Deacon, W. Hay; V.W. Architect, D. Bryce. W. Grand Jeweller, A. Hay; W. Grand Bible Bearer, D. Robertson; W. Grand Director of Ceremonies, J. Coghill; W. Grand Bard, J. Ballantine; W. Grand Sword-Bearer, Captain G. F. R. Colt, of Gartsherrie; W. Grand Director of Music, C. W. M. Muller; W. Grand Organist, R. Davidson; W. Chief Grand Marshal, M. Mackenzie; W. Grand Marshal, A. T. Apthorpe; Grand Tyler, W. M. Bryce; Grand Outer Guard, J. Baikie. N.B.—The M.W. Grand Master Nominated has intimated his intention, if elected, to appoint the Right Hon. Lord James C. Plantaganet Murray as R. W. Depute Grand Master.

At the request of the Most Worshipful Grand Master, as conveyed in a letter from his Lordship, a special record of regret was ordered to be engrossed in the minutes on the retirement from office of Right Worshipful Brother Henry Inglis of Torsonce, Substitute Grand Master. In his letter the Grand Master said—"It was my intention, had I been present, to ask Grand Lodge to record an expression of its sincere regret at the resignation of Brother Inglis of Torsonce, who has now for so many years occupied the chair of Substitute Grand Master. During my connection with Grand Lodge, I can truly say that few, if any, of its office-bearers have shown more assiduity in the discharge of their duties, or greater attention to its interests, and the interests of the Craft in general. His genial manner endeared him to the brethren, and I beg that in my name a record of regret at his retirement will be placed on the minutes of the Grand Lodge." This was unanimously agreed to.

A petition for a charter to a new lodge, "St Andrew," Coatbridge, was remitted to the Grand Committee for further consideration—several objections having been lodged to the prayer for the petition.

There were also lodged petitions for charters to new lodges—"Union," St. Andrews, and "St. John," Dalmeir, Renton, Dumbartonshire—and power was given to the committee to issue charters for these two lodges, if they were satisfied with the applications.

A reply by the Grand Lodge of England to the address of condolence by the Grand Lodge of Scotland, on the decease of the late Earl of Zetland, was read. It was ordered to be engrossed in the minutes.

A communication from the Grand Master of Greece, regarding the nomination of a representative of that Grand Lodge in Scotland, was ordered to lie on the table.

A motion to have the business meetings of Grand Lodge held in different suitable places in Scotland was withdrawn, without discussion.

It was unanimously resolved that hereafter the financial year of Grand Lodge should close on 30th November, instead of 30th April.

A motion, tabled at last meeting, for the addition of Past Masters, as constituent member of Grand Lodge, was withdrawn in favour of one substantially the same, which is to be discussed at next meeting, but in the meantime to be sent down to the various lodges in the country for consideration before the date of that meeting.

Grand Lodge was thereafter closed in due form.

CONSECRATION OF THE ST. ALPHEGE LODGE (No. 1431), AT SOLIHULL.

It is well known that, for some considerable time that, excellent Mason, Bro. Lord Leigh, the Provincial Grand Master, has discountenanced the making of new Lodges in this Province, unless the prayer of the petitioners and the place designated were of such a character as would fully justify him in seconding the petition in its full Masonic sense. Such being the case new lodges are now rare. However, one has just been consecrated, the beautiful village of Solihull the locale, and the number 1431 on the roll of the Grand Lodge. The title selected is very appropriate—"St. Alphege," the patron saint of the parish church.

The Right Worshipful Bro. Lord Leigh had signified his intention of being present and acting as Presiding Officer, but he was unexpectedly called to the Metropolis to attend an important meeting of the Commissioners of the Rugby School. In his absence the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, Bro. Colonel Machen, presided, and he was accompanied by the following Provincial Grand Officers:—Bros. M. W. Wilson, P.G.S.W.; Thomas Naden, P.G.J.W.; R. H. Tarleton, A.P.G.C.; John Bragg, P.G.R.; George Beech, P.G.S.; Captain T. P. Salt, P.G.D.C.; Vincent Taylor, P.G.S.D.; Stephen Wood, P.G.J.D.; S.W. Mulloney, P.G.S.B.; Smith, P.G. Standard B.; J. R. Chirm, P.G.O.; J. L. Kennedy, P.G.P.; Thomas Sanderson, P.G.A.P.; Matthew Smart, P. Prov. G.P.; and others.

A lodge having been opened, by command of the Right Worshipful the Provincial Grand Master, by Bro. Frederick Cohen, P. Prov. G.S.B., W.M. No. 1180, and P.M. No. 1333, the very Worshipful the D.P.G.M. and his officers were received and saluted in due form. Bro. Colonel Machen, having taken his seat as the representative of K.S., and the P.G.L. opened, called upon the P.G.S. to read the petition and the warrant of the Grand Lodge, which set forth that the new lodge would assemble on the first Wednesday in each month, and that the officers chosen would be Frederick Cohen, W.M.; Dr. Bell Fletcher (honorary), P.M.; Henry Sanderson, S.W.; William Hillman, J.W.; H. H. Chattock, T.; George Greene, Sec.; James Barlow Hall, D.C.; J. Webster, S.D.; A. Waldruger, J.D.; James Whittindale, I.G.; Joseph Hillman, Steward; W. O. Horton, Junior Steward; Chapman, Tyler. The brethren of the new lodge having expressed their approval, of these appointments in due form, Bro. Baynes, the Provincial Grand Chaplain, then delivered the Oration. The presiding officer then dedicated and constituted the lodge, after which the National Anthem was sung.

Bro. Thomas Howkins was then called upon by the D.P.G.M. to act as Installing Master, in the absence of Bro. Pursall, who was absent through domestic affliction.

Bro. Howkins performed the duties in an admirable manner, and having inducted the W. M. designate into the chair of K.S., according to ancient form, Bro. Frederick Cohen invested his officers.

Votes of thanks were passed to Bro. Baynes, for his excellent oration, to Bro. Howkins as Installing Master, and one of condolence to Bro. Pursall.

The W.M. of St. Alphege having received the hearty good wishes of all present, the lodge was closed in due form and in perfect harmony.

In the evening the brethren sat down to a splendid banquet, served up in Bro Hillman's well-known style—who, as a caterer cannot be excelled—with the best dishes and the choicest wines.

Original Correspondence.

SPIRITUALISM.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In sending you the communication of X.O., and my suggestions thereon, I had no other purpose in view than to lift Bro. Carpenter out of the grave of superstition into which he seems to have fallen, but it has proved a slip.

I would ask Bro. Carpenter if he thinks it more possible for disembodied spirits to make themselves heard or understood from that "bourne whence no travellers return" than it is for spirits in the flesh to communicate from one part of the earth to another?

I hold if the one is possible, the other is more so.

Bro. Carpenter speaks of scientific investigations having been held resulting in the conversion of the scientist.

We have also heard of investigations where no satisfactory result could be obtained, simply, according to the spiritualists, because the persons present were sceptical? What I contend for is this, let any person of sound judgment and strict morals who finds himself under the influence of these so-called spiritual manifestations subject himself to scientific examinations with a mind open to conviction, and willing to find that the effect is from natural causes, and not stubbornly insist upon the supernatural, then we may perhaps find out the truth.

Yours fraternally,

J. KEET.

FREEMASONRY IN INDIA.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In the October issue of the "Masonic Record of Western India," just to hand, it is stated that at a Quarterly Communication of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Western India, under Scotland, held at Bombay, on the 27th of September last, eighteen Scottish Past Masters and Masters Elect were installed in the Eastern Chair, by a Board of English Installed Masters, in the manner sanctioned by the Constitutions, practice, and procedure of the Grand Lodge of England.

As no orders on this subject from those august bodies the Grand Lodges of England and Scotland, have been publicly made known, very grave doubts are entertained as to the propriety and validity of these extraordinary proceedings, and you will do the Craft in India and other distant dependencies good service by giving the matter prominent notice in your columns.

There can be no doubt that an assimilation of practice between the English and Scotch Lodges is eminently desirable; but it is clear that a change so important ought not to have been made, excepting under the joint and public instructions of both the Grand Lodges concerned, and even then it should, so far as possible, have been simultaneously made in all the lodges under the Scottish jurisdiction. I am of course assuming that authority has, in some perfunctory way, been given for the change. If no sufficient authority has been given, the officers who made the arrangements and assisted at the installation have most egregiously committed themselves.

In Sec. 12. Cap. 21 of the Constitutions of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, I find that "The Installation of the whole office-bearers of a lodge including the Master, shall be held in a just and perfect lodge, opened in the Apprentice Degree, whereat, &c." and in a note to the "Ceremonial at Installation," published in the same book, I find these words:—"In England and Ireland the Master Elect receives certain secret instructions, in presence of those only who have passed the chair, or been installed Masters of lodges, in order to distinguish him from the non-official Masters, but in Scotland the Grand Lodge has uniformly held that giving these instructions separately is an innovation on the ancient landmarks of St. John's Masonry &c." I am consequently unable to understand how the Grand Lodge of Scotland can now have stultified itself by consenting to an alteration it has previously, and in such positive terms, condemned. I am also perplexed to know how the English Installed Masters who presided can, in the absence of direct and positive authority from their own Grand Lodge, reconcile their proceedings, in installing brethren who have not served as Wardens, with the Constitutions and Ancient Charges which they at their own installation solemnly pledged themselves to abide by.

In writing on this subject I have no wish to create dissension, but participating as I do in the doubts expressed as to the propriety of this innovation, and believing also, that the cause of Freemasonry is best subserved by combined adherence to ancient rule and strict obedience to constituted authority, I call attention to the matter in the hope that it may be publicly justified, and that all doubts as to the validity of the installation may, if possible, be dispelled.

I am Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

P.M.

READING THE SCRIPTURES.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I was much gratified on reading the article "Reading of the Scriptures," which appeared in your issue of 23rd August, but in explaining the usage now in England, with respect to the choice of passages, you say that Ruth iv. 7 is selected for the First Degree, and 1. Kings vii. 13, 14, is selected for the Second Degree. May I ask you to inform me what passage is selected for the Third Degree, as you have omitted to give it.

Fraternally yours,

J. D. F.

Reviews.

History of Doyle's Lodge of Fellowship, Guernsey (No. 84). By Bro. W. T. KINNERSLY, W. M. Guernsey, Bro. H. Clarke.

The historical records of lodges established many years ago must always prove interesting to the Craft, especially when the annalist is so capable of illustrating the subject as our Bro. Kinnersly. The first authentic record of Freemasonry in Guernsey fixes the year 1763 as the date of its introduction to the island. On the 24th of June in that year, the Grand Lodge of Ancient York Masons granted a warrant for a lodge to be held at the Three Crowns, St. Peter's Port. (now the Crown Hotel,) by the title and number of the Orange Lodge (No. 116). But the names of the brethren to whom the summons was granted are not known; nor are any minutes of the lodge in existence, consequently the writer is left in ignorance as to whom is due the honour of having founded the first Freemasons Lodge in Guernsey. After 1808, no returns were made to Grand Lodge, and in 1828, it was erased from the roll of lodges. On the 9th of March, 1784, a warrant, also from the Ancient York Grand Lodge was granted to Robert Mitchell, W.M.; John Nelson, S.W.; Peter Arrivé, J.W.; for the founding of Mariners' Lodge (No. 222). This Lodge has ever since existed in the Island, under the same name, though now bearing the number 168.

After a few remarks the writer states "On the 22nd of September, 1806, Brother Jones, at that time W.M. of Lodge 222, was empowered by the Grand Lodge to hold a Provincial Grand Lodge, in Guernsey, at which he was to preside as Deputy Grand Master, this dignity was to be enjoyed by him for the space of three hours "and no longer," and but for one especial purpose, viz., the consecration of a new lodge under the name and number of Doyle's Lodge of Fellowship, No. 336. From the fact of the high rank of Deputy Grand Master, having been conferred on the Master of a private lodge (though such rank was only temporary, as being for a specific reason) the writer concludes that at that time Guernsey was not a Masonic province, and that then, as at present, they had no governing power between themselves and Grand Lodge itself. The Provincial Grand Lodge was held at the Duke of York Tavern, Rohais Road; and the ceremony of consecration performed. The first officers are then given, viz; Nicholas Effard Robinson, W.M.; Anthony Priaulx, P.M.; Rev. C. D. Isdell, S.W.; D. Watson, J.W.; N. Maingay, Treas.; J. Mansell, Sec.; T. Le Lievre, S.D.; P. Le Patourel, J.D.; Peter Desperques, Tyler. The writer says—At the period of the contest between the rival Grand Lodges, or the Ancient and Modern Masons, as they respectively styled themselves, was raging fiercely, and the first work recorded on the minutes of Doyle's Lodge, was "re-forming" Bro. Champion, a Modern Mason. Since the union of 1817, this ceremony has of course become obsolete. The bye-laws, when first drawn up, fixed the age for admission of candidates at 21 years, as it is at present. On the 13th of April, 1807, this law was altered, and candidates were admitted at the age of 20.

The writer then very ably traces the history of the lodge from 1807 to 1873. Within that period Sir John Doyle was initiated, passed raised and had the Past Master's degree conferred upon him, or as it was then called, passed the chair, all of which took place on one and the same night; (This was allowed under the old Constitutions, and is even now done in America.) Two days later the W.M., Bro. C.D. Isdell, resigned, and Sir John Doyle, a Mason two days old, was installed in his chair.

Perhaps it will interest many of our brethren if we quote a few of the many events which took place, with the dates. We will give them as brief as possible.

On the 22nd of September, 1807, a fresh warrant was received from Grand Lodge, granted to Bros. Sir John Doyle, D. Watson, and Thos. LeLievre; and giving Doyle's Lodge the number 98 in place of 336. The writer says, "This proceeding is, to say the least, mysterious; no possible reason can be found for having a fresh warrant, unless it may have been to constitute Sir John Doyle our founder, to which character I cannot admit his claim, as he was not even a member of our Order until nine months after the lodge was first founded. This change was regarded with extreme displeasure by the other Guernsey lodges, and eventually the lodge was re-consecrated under the number 98.

In December, 1808, a brother, who was imprisoned for debt, applied to Doyle's Lodge for relief. This brother was a member of Mariners' Lodge, No. 222, and in the month of July preceding, that lodge granted him two shillings a week towards the support of his family. The brethren of Doyle's Lodge resolved only to assist the brother in question, if his petition came before them endorsed by the W.M. of Mariners, addressed to the W.M. of Doyle's Lodge, No. 98.

In April, 1809, the scale of fees was as follows:—Ordinary initiation, £3 10s.; emergency, £5 5s.; re-forming a Modern Mason, £1 15s.; joining fee, £1 1s.

On St. John's Day, 1809, a Provincial Grand Master's jewel, value £50, was presented to the much respected Master, His Excellency Lieut.-Gen. Sir John Doyle.

On the 27th December, 1811, complimentary deputations were received from the three other lodges, which, up to this time, had refused to acknowledge its new number.

In December, 1814, the initiation fee was raised to £4 10s., and that for joining, £1 5s.

In April, 1816, a motion was brought forward that all the Guernsey lodges should draw lots for the numbers by which they should in future be designated. Doyle's Lodge evidently adhered most tenaciously to its old number.

On April 28th, 1816, Sir John Doyle laid the foundation stone of Torteval Church with Masonic ceremony.

In June, 1817, the lodge was removed from the Crown and Anchor Tavern, to Grover's Hotel, and in June, the following year, another change occurred, and the meetings were held at Payne's Hotel.

In August, 1820, another removal took place, this time to Coles's Hotel.

In August, 1821, a resolution was passed affirming a principle, this was "that an hotel is not a very desirable place of meeting for a lodge." In accordance with this decision, a private room was rented.

In December, 1828, the first mention occurs of any subscription to the Masonic Charities, the sum of one guinea annually being devoted as a subscription to the Boys' School, and a similar sum to the Girls'.

In February, 1849, a petition was sent up to Grand Lodge, signed by the members of Doyle's Lodge, praying for the appointment of a Provincial Grand Master for Guernsey, and suggesting as a fit and proper person Bro. Hammond, then P.G.M. for Jersey. Grand Lodge acceded to this request, and Bro. Hammond was appointed Grand Master of Guernsey and its dependencies.

In January, 1851, a silver cup was presented to the lodge by the widow of Bro. Joseph Cohn.

On September 24th, 1853, the brethren of all the lodges attended the ceremony of laying the foundation stone of the new harbour, which was performed with due Masonic honours.

A list of W.M.'s of Doyle's Lodge from its foundation to the present time is given.

In tracing the history of Doyle's Lodge, we have no doubt Bro. Kinnersly entered upon a labour of love, and the information which has been industriously collected is extremely curious and valuable. If in every old lodge a competent brother could be found to fulfil a similar task, how many items of interest might be rescued from oblivion.

For a copy of this valuable book, we are indebted to the courtesy of the author, to whom we tender our thanks. The book is well bound, good type, and ornamental border. We wish it a wide circulation.

The Peoples' History of Cleveland, by Bro. G. M. TWEDDELL. Stokesley, Tweddel and Sons.

For many years, Bro. Tweddell has been engaged in making himself acquainted with all books in which Cleveland is alluded to, he has minutely explored every place of interest throughout the district, and we have to-day the result of such researches. Parts 1, 2, and 3, contain the historical, topographical, and statistical account of the past and present state of each Parish, Township, and Hamlet, within the Wapentake of Langbargh, and the Boroughs of Whitby, and of Stockton-on-Tees, the soil, produce, manufactories, antiquities, natural curiosities, and benefit societies, it also gives copious pedigrees of the principal families, memoirs of memorable men, careful chronicles of the most remarkable events, manners and customs, sports and pastimes, legends and superstitions, and a glossary of the North York Dialect. It is profusely illustrated and printed on fine tone paper, and will be completed in 32 parts at 6d. Bro. Tweddell is an experienced writer, and his labour in this work is really one of genuine ability. It is a work involving great research, and will, we are sure, be successfully accomplished, the result being a work of which all people should be proud to have, more especially the Cleveland folks. We may add that it is dedicated to R. H. Allen, Esq., of Blackwell Grange, whose family are pre-eminent for their untiring efforts to encourage the researches of local historians. We have much pleasure in congratulating Bro. Tweddell on the great ability which he has displayed throughout his work, and we feel proud to recommend it to our numerous readers.

Gout and Rheumatic Gout, a New Method of Cure, by JOHN W. FOAKES, M.D., of the University of Giessen, Licentiate of the Society of Apothecaries, London, Simpkin Marshall & Co.

After a careful perusal of all the editions of Bro. J. W. Foakes' M.D. (now numbering five) work on Gout and Rheumatic Gout, we can conscientiously recommend its contents to the study of all those who have ever suffered from the painful effects of that most painful disease. The work, although so small, contains valuable information about Gout, and in plain language (without any use of technical terms) shows how it can be cured. The work is so well written that it is worthy of study by all who take an interest in the cure and knowledge of this prevalent disease. The fact of his curing over 800 severe cases of Gout and Rheumatic Gout shows the knowledge he possesses of combating successfully with this disease.

Obituary.

BRO. HENRY COATES

The accompanying oration was delivered by Bro. Wm. Guy, P.M. 242, and P.Z. of 109, over the grave of Bro. Henry Coates, who, for a period of about half a century was a member of lodge 262, and only missed attendance at the lodge twice in that lengthened period.

"To me brethren it is unspeakably sad to stand in this place and to deliver this address, for it is scarcely three years since we attended here and delivered a funeral address over the grave of the son of our deceased brother, and now alas! we are gathered once more in this solemn graveyard to speak a lamentation over his own grave,

Leaves have their time to fall,
And flowers to wither at the north wind's breath,
And stars to set—but all,

Thou hast all seasons for thine own—O Death.
Friend after friend departs. Who has not lost a friend? we lose much when we lose a friend, and we cannot but be sensible of the loss we have sustained by the removal from amongst us of our deceased Bro. Henry Coates. He was not only a most zealous and enthusiastic brother, but he was a Craftsman as experienced and efficient as he was zealous. He was no ordinary Mason.

His mind was stored with a rich fund of Masonic knowledge, which he learned by attending and taking part in our ceremonies through a lengthened period of fifty years. His zeal was incontestible for regular attendance through such a length of years, for he never absented himself from a single meeting, unless he was prevented by sickness or family affliction. As a Mason all are so fully aware of the many excellences possessed by our late brother, that to think of them alone is enough to make us bewail the more the great loss we have sustained. As a member of society, he was as virtuous and upright as he was frank and kind, and I believe that I express the sentiment of all those who knew him best that to know our late brother was to love him. He was endowed with many amiable qualities, and let us hope that before he crossed the sable river of death, by faith in the Atoning High Priest, and King of his Salvation, and by obedience to the commands of the Triune God, his sins and shortcomings were forgiven, and that angels of mercy were waiting to waft his spirit to those mansions above, not made with hands, but eternal in the heavens. From time immemorial it has been a custom among the fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons, at the request of a brother, to accompany his corpse to the place of interment, and there to deposit his remains with the usual formalities. In conformity to this usage, and at the special request of our deceased brother, we have come and paid, with all due solemnity, a tribute such as Masons owe to those whom Masons revere and love. We have done all we can to prove to the outer world how dearly we loved, and how deeply we respected our departed brother. Let us now resign his body to the earth from whence it came, and may peace rest on his ashes and honour on his name. (Coffin is lowered into the grave). This lambskin, or white leather apron, is an emblem of innocence and the badge of a Mason, its whiteness denoting innocence and purity, and is emblematic of the inward purity and blameless life that should characterise us as Freemasons. It is more ancient than the golden fleece or Roman eagle, and more honourable than the Star and Garter, when worthily worn. This emblem I now deposit in the grave of our deceased brother. This evergreen is an emblem of our faith in the immortality of the soul, which never, never, no never, dies. This emblem reminds us that, although our bodies may be consigned to the grave, that when the cold winter of death shall have passed, and the bright summer morn of the resurrection appears, the sun of righteousness shall descend and send forth his angels to collect our ransomed dust, then, if we are found worthy, we shall gain a ready admission into that celestial lodge above, where the Supreme Architect of the Universe presides, where we shall see the King in the beauty of holiness, and with him enter into an endless eternity. Our present meeting and pro ceedings will be vain and useless if they fail to excite our serious reflections, and strengthen our resolutions of amendment. Let us perform our allotted task while it is day, for the night of death cometh when no man can work. It is passing strange that, notwithstanding the daily mementoes of mortality which cross our path, notwithstanding the funeral bell tolls so often on our ears, and the mournful processions go about our streets, that we do not consider our latter end, and lay it more forcibly to heart, that we must ourselves go down into the silent chamber of the tomb. Let us then improve the remaining space of life, by living in obedience to God's laws and ordinances, by living lives of usefulness and virtue, so that, after the termination of our pilgrimage on earth, we may enjoy a happy, blissful future in the realms of cloudless eternity. To live well, so as to be acceptable to our Heavenly Father, is our duty here, and, as sons of light, it is our duty to progress upwards, and to live in accordance with the teachings of our Order, to do all we can to promote our spiritual advancement, to be living examples of the philosophy of Freemasonry, so that we may enjoy the happy reflections consequent on a well spent life, and to be enabled, through faith in the all-sufficient sacrifice of our Lord and Saviour, to die in the hope of a glorious immortality, and be welcomed into the land of unfading flowers by blessed happy saints who have gone before.

Poetry.

THE MASONIC VISIT TO LONGNOR, Oct. 20, 1873.

Say not this world has naught but toil and trouble,
Thorny paths and prickly cares;
Delusive joys, like transient gilded bubble
Collapsing unawares:
Look not with bleared and hazy obscured vision,
But hear my tale, 'ere making this decision.
October's chilling winds with angry motion
Disperse the tinted dying leaves;
As the rude billows of the restless ocean
Its countless waifs receives:
When Buxton's brotherhood with ardent zeal
Their love to Father Milward publicly reveal.
A pilgrimage is formed and all unite,
A courteous, joyous, happy band—
Brothers and sisters fair in high delight
To greet the patriarchal hand.
To give the honour due—"which nobody can deny"
The sapient Founder of the Phoenix family.
Around the festive board the children gather
With overflowing hearts and minds;
Receive the blessing of their hoary father,
Treasure his precepts and designs.
Anon the merry dance and joyous song
The social and convivial hours prolong.
Behold how good and pleasant is the seeing
Of concord, amity, and peace!
All envy, malice and sly distrust fleeing,
Deception and ill humour cease.
'Tis like the gracious, sweet refreshing showers
Diffusing life and joy to fainting plants and flowers.
How rational is such enjoyment.
Recollections calm and sweet;
'Tis like the warmth of spring when birds are singing
And flowers rise up beneath our feet.
Kindness—good will, and sympathy with others,
Would make mankind a band of loyal, generous brothers.

Long Trial and Fast Experience Test and Prove Remedies.—Holloway's well-known and meritorious medicaments make those who possess them, and attend to their directions for use, masters of their health in all seasons alike. For variable and relaxing weather they are especially serviceable in maintaining nervous vigour, and in defending the frame against ill consequences from dampness or chills. If the first symptoms receive attention and judicious treatment, not only will future danger be averted, but old ailments will give way, and better health will be attained than was enjoyed before the illness. No treatment, for safety and certainty of success, can be so confidently relied upon as that discovered by Professor Holloway, whose Pills and Ointment always restore the sufferer.

RELATIONS OF STS. JOHN TO FREEMASONRY.

(BY BRO. JACOB NORTON)

Many columns were filled in 1870-71, in the London Freemason, discussing the above question, but with no result. On one side it was mere assertion that the legends cannot be disproved, and that St. John said, "Love ye one another." This was simply ridiculed by the opponents, and there was actually nothing proved or disproved. I mean, therefore, in this paper to give briefly all the known legends of the Sts. John Masonry, and then to show their worthlessness.

I have before me Bro. A. T. C. Pierson's book of "Traditions of Freemasonry." Its title-page sets forth the author's claim as a great Mason, such as being a P.G.M., P.G.H.P., G. Capt. Gen. of the G. Encampment of the T.S., and Inspector General 33°. Our author was thus enabled to collect all the traditions from the whole Masonic arcana, beside many works enumerated in the preface, on theology, astrology, mythology, cabalology, and other ologies, all which he carefully studied in connection with Oliver's and Mackay's works; from which works he acquired the use of many learned words and phrases—such as Pelasgi, Hierophant, Somothrace, Jupiter, Osiris, Thoth, Typhon, and what not, all which he conglomerated into Masonry, for "all was fish that came into his net." Beside which, he bespattered the book with clusters of Hebrew letters, to all which he appended meanings, though some have no meaning at all. But what of that? It served to impress Tom, Dick, and Harry with the author's profound scholarship. With such miscellaneous stock of stuff, Bro. Pierson deemed himself worthy of shining amid the Masonic constellation of luminaries; and this aspiration resulted in the publication of this book, which is neither more nor less than a rehash of Oliver's absurdities. And as I am certain that the whole Masonic horizon of luminaries cannot furnish a more zealous Johannite than Bro. Pierson, I have, therefore, selected this book to cull from the accumulated traditions of the Sts. John Masonry, and here they are:

Legend 1st. "Our ancient brethren dedicated their lodges to King Solomon, because he was our M.E.G.M.; but modern Masons dedicate lodges to Saints John the Baptist and the Evangelist, who were two eminent patrons of Masonry—so say our modern lecturers." "These traditions can be traced for several hundred years, and we, as Masons, have sufficient evidence for our purpose that they (the saints) were Essenes or Freemasons". Of course, Bro. Pierson says: "We, as Masons, have sufficient evidence," and we, as Masons, must take it for granted that Bro. P. knows all about it.

Legend 2nd. Lodges were successively dedicated to Noah, Solomon, Zerubbabel, St. John the Baptist, and last, owing to the massacres attending the destruction of the second temple, Freemasonry sank into decay, when seven brethren were deputed, in the city of Benjamin, to wait on St. John the Evangelist, and request him to become Grand Master of the Fraternity. The saint replied to the request: "Though well stricken in years, being upward of ninety, yet having in his early years been made a Mason, and still retaining an affection for the Craft, so he consented to their request." Ever since which time Freemason lodges in all Christian countries have been dedicated both to St. John the Baptist and St. John the Evangelist.

Legend 3rd. St. John the Evangelist first became connected with a lodge of Freemasons (Essenes), according to Masonic chronology, 4037, A.D. 35, and he continued attached to it during his lifetime.

Legend 4th. Enumerates the names that Masons were known by in successive ages, thus: Noahidee, Sages, or wise men, Dionysiacs, Geometricians, or Masters in Israel, Hiram Brothers, Essenes, Brothers of St. John, and last, Free and Accepted Masons, which cognomen they received in 1440, at Valenciennes, in Paris.

Legend 5th. St. John the Evangelist, who was an Essenic Freemason (vide Calmut), instituted a secret theological society, with mystic rites and Masonic emblems; and some authors go further, and assert that Clement of Rome, who was a disciple of Peter and Paul, at John's death, got possession of the books, &c., of the society, incorporated it into the Christian religion, and that Polycarp was a presiding officer.

Legend 6th. During the Crusades, the Masonic Knights, having, with those of St. John of Jerusalem, to fight against the infidels, they placed themselves under the protection of that saint, and proving themselves victorious, * * * they agreed that lodges should thenceforth be dedicated to God and St. John." And Bro. Pierson here assures us "that the brethren in the fifteenth century placed implicit confidence in these legends."

Legend 7th. was doubtless invented by a Scotch Rite man. It goes on to say that twenty-seven thousand Scotch Brother Hiram when fighting in the Holy Land, displayed both valour and peculiar qualities of brotherly love, which peculiarity attracted the attention of some of the Knights Templar, who were induced to be initiated into the mysteries of the said Hiram Brothers, and these were so pleased with the ceremonies of the Hiramites, that other Templars were induced to be initiated in the mysteries of the said Hiram Brothers, and these were so pleased with the ceremonies of the Hiramites, that other Templars followed their example, and in gratitude for the favors received, they passed a law that none but Hiram Brothers should thenceforth become Templars, and the Hiram brethren, in compliment to the Knights, adopted the Baptist as their own patron, since which time Masonic lodges were dedicated to St. John the Baptist.

Legend 8th. John the Baptist became an orphan when very young, and he was adopted by the Essenes, where he learned to feed on dates, "as we find him in the Gospel," and this Bro. Pierson calls, "collateral evidence" to sustain the legend.

Our author also informs us that the test question used in the seventeenth century was: "From whence came you?" Answer, "From the holy Lodge of St. John." This, however, is contradicted by Dr. Oliver, who attributes the first Masonic catechism, including the above question and answer, to Anderson and Desaguliers, made in 1720, which was in the eighteenth century, not the seventeenth.

CAMBERWELL HALL.

On the evening of Thursday week, Bro. Seymour Smith gave at the above hall, his Humorous, Vocal, Colloquial, and Piano-forte Recital "The Composer at Home."

A very interesting part of the programme was the "Railway Station," in which Bro. Smith rendered the various characters that are to be met with at such a place with remarkable ability. "Never lose a Friend" was given with much spirit and earnestness. He gave unqualified satisfaction in "A Visit to the Opera," "The Unfortunate Man," was received with much applause. The programme contained many different selections, but they were rendered with exquisite taste and brilliancy, which distinguishes our accomplished brother, and the enthusiastic applause which was given by the crowded audience was a guarantee that his efforts were fully appreciated. The tones of the piano-forte were well brought out, and Bro. Smith is to be congratulated on the success of his entertainment.

There are in connection with the College
THREE ANNUAL EXHIBITIONS,
open for general competition to all students, and tenable for three years.

Special Classes are formed for preparing students for the Legal, Medical, Home, Colonial, and Indian Civil Service Examinations; and for entrance to Woolwich, Coopers-hill, and the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, Dublin, Durham, and Edinburgh.

The Religious Teaching is based on strictly Protestant Principles, in accordance with the Doctrines and Liturgy of the Church of England.

Students requiring a commercial education only, are exempt from the classical course, if desired.

The year consists of two terms, during which there are no holidays, the only vacations being at Midsummer and Christmas.

The use of all class books, valuable library, stationery (except mathematical instruments) laundry, &c., is included in the terms. No Extras of any kind.

The High School—Students from 16 to 23 years of age.
The Middle School—Students from 12 to 16 years of age.

The Preparatory School—Students under 12 years of age.

The College is divided into three sections. In the

PREPARATORY SCHOOL (entirely distinct, but contiguous)

Boys are well grounded in the elements of a sound English Education, with French and German (also in Latin and Greek if for the learned professions), and prepared for the High or Middle School. In the High School the course of study is a preparation for the Universities and the various competitive examinations; while the Middle School trains pupils in such subjects as will qualify them for scientific and commercial pursuits.

Alston College is pleasantly situated, about six miles from Preston, and half a mile from Longridge Railway Station; is in immediate proximity to beautiful mountain scenery, within half an hour's ride of the chief watering places on the western coast of Lancashire, and is considered by Medical Professors to be in one of the healthiest localities in England—a fact sufficiently proved by the remarkably good health enjoyed by the students and regularly confirmed by the half-yearly medical reports.

Extensive Cricket Grounds are attached to the College Farms, whilst a spacious covered Gymnasium and Student's Hall, available for recreation, drill, &c., adjoin.

Reports of all examinations, together with the names of those students who have distinguished themselves at the College and the Universities, as Exhibitors, Medalists and Prizemen, also the reports of the late examinations, together with views of the College buildings, and all necessary information, forwarded on application to the Rector, or to

Mr. GEORGE CLIFFORD, Secretary.

References kindly permitted to Bro. Masons, and to the late Examiners: Rev. T. H. Lindsay Leary, M.A., D.C.L. (Oxon), Assistant Examiner to Her Majesty's Civil Service Commission, Crawford Cottage, Epsom; T. W. Eyre Evans, Esq., LL.D., F.C.D., Nightingale Villa, Lower Norwood; and other University Examiners; Professor Pagel, Liverpool; R. Routledge, Esq., B.S.F.C.S., Manchester; also the Protestant Clergy, Nobility, and Professional Gentlemen (parents of present pupils) in London, Manchester, Liverpool, Birmingham, Leeds, Bradford, Bognor, Preston, Burnley, Chester, Lancaster, Boston (Lincoln), Wigan, Harrogate, Accrington, Haslingden, Kendal, Southport, Todmorden, &c., and various other towns; the Continent of Europe, the colonies, New York, and the United States, Brazil, Cuba, &c., who can bear ample testimony to the merits and success of this College.

Next term commences the 1st August, 1873.

CROSBY'S
BALSAMIC
COUGH ELIXIR.

Opium, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief in Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling
the digestive organs, and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S
BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy.
SELECT TESTIMONIAL.
Dr. Rooke, Scarborough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdued cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease."
This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Night
Sweats of Consumption, Quinsey, and all affections of the throat and chest. Sold in bottles at 1s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, by all respectable Chemists, and wholesale by Jas. M. Crosby, Chemist, Scarborough.

EGYPTIAN LODGE (No. 27).—This ancient and highly respectable lodge held a meeting on Thursday, at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street. Bro. Harrison, W.M. presided, supported by Palmer, I.P.M.; Atkins, S.W.; Lambell, J.W.; H. G. Buss, P.M., and Secretary; and a host of Past-Masters, members of the lodge, and visiting brethren, the latter being very numerous. The working on this occasion was confined to the first ceremony, Messrs. Garland and Dickenson being initiated into the Order. The degree was rendered in a very impressive manner by the W.M. and his officers, and the candidates subsequently expressed their feelings in a manner which shewed that they were worthy of the favour shown them that evening in admitting them into the Order. Several propositions of joining and initiation were read by the Secretary, previous to the lodge being closed, and a petition to the Lodge of Benevolence was adopted and, numerously signed on behalf of a brother, now borne down by affliction and misfortune, but who nineteen years ago, was the respected W.M. of the Egyptian Lodge. The lodge being closed, the banquet followed. The usual toasts were proposed and responded to, that of "The Visitors," bringing to the front Bros. Seex, and Owens, W.M.'s of 186 and 1366, who very ably answered, not only for themselves, but also for their more bashful brethren, and thanked the "Mummies," the popular name of lodge No. 27, for their kindly welcome and generous hospitality.

MOUNT LEBANON LODGE (No. 73).—An emergency meeting of this old established Lodge was held at the Bridge House Hotel, Southwark, on Tuesday, the 4th inst., and there were present Bros. S. J. Grace, W.M.; A. L. Dussek, S.W.; I. J. H. Wickens, J.D., as J.W.; J. H. Butten, I.G.; C. Rayden, M.C.; Edward Harris, P.M., Treas.; G. Free, P.M.; D. Rose, P.M.; F. Ebsworth, P.M., Acting Secretary; and many other brethren. The primary object of the meeting was to receive the report of the Committee appointed to revise the Bye-laws, but before entering on this subject a ballot was taken for Bro. Dyman, and that being in his favour he was introduced and initiated into the mysteries of Ancient Freemasonry. The name of another gentleman was on the agenda paper, but as neither proposer, or seconder was present no ballot was taken. The new Bye-laws, as proposed by the Committee, then came on for consideration, and by command of the W.M., Bro. Wickens, brought up the report. On the motion of Bro. Wickens, the said Bye-laws were then read and put to the lodge seriatim, and no objection being taken, they were again on the motion of Bro. Wickens, seconded by Bro. Dussek, put as a whole and carried unanimously. A cordial vote of thanks to the Committee in acknowledgment of their labours, was then proposed, seconded, and carried by acclamation. The W.M. read a letter he had received from the Secretary, Bro. F. Walker, in which the latter tendered his resignation in consequence of ill-health and his many other engagements, which resignation was duly accepted. The W.M. then appointed Bro. George Free, the I.P.M., as Secretary, pro tem, until the next regular meeting, when it was understood Bro. Free would be permanently appointed. There being no further business before the lodge, it was closed in due form, and the meeting adjourned until the third Tuesday in the month.

IPSWICH.—British Union Lodge (No. 114).—The usual monthly meeting of this old lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Ipswich, on Thursday, the 6th inst., when there was an unusually large number of brethren present. In the absence of Bro. Beaumont, R.N. the, W.M., the chair was filled by Bro. C. F. Long, and amongst these present were Bro. Boby, P.S.G.W.; Schulen, P. Prov. G.D.C.; the Rev. R. N. Sanderson, P. Prov. G. Chap.; Peter de Lande Long, P.M., member of the Board of General Purposes; A. T. Barber, P.G.O.; P. Cornell, P. Prov. G.D.; Emra Holmes, P.G. Reg.; Geo. Turner, P.M.; W. Spalding, P.M., Sec.; S. Wright, S.W.; A. D. George, J.W.; J. Burton, S.D.; Rev. A. W. G. Moore, J.D.; H. Miller, I.G. &c.; Visitors; Dr. Elliston, P.M. and Robt. Elliston, P. & O. Service, of the Perfect Friendship Lodge, and others. The lodge having been opened with solemn prayer, and the minutes of last meeting confirmed the ballot was taken for the following brethren as joining members. Bro. John Ellor Taylor, F.L.S., F.G.S. Curator of the Ipswich Museum, late of Lodge Sincerity, No. 943, Norwich, and Bro. Ridley King, Architect, Ipswich, late of Lodge Philanthropic No. 304, Leeds, who were unanimously elected. The ballot was then taken for Mr. Percy William Mavor, of Weston-super-Mare, Mechanical Engineer, who was unanimously accepted as a candidate for initiation, and being present he was received, obligated, and duly initiated into the mysteries of Masonry, the gavel having been assumed by Bro. Sanderson, who conducted the ceremony in his usual admirable manner. The lodge having been opened in the second degree, Bro. A. G. Allen was passed to the degree of F. C., the ceremony being performed by Bro. Peter Long. The lodge was then raised to the third degree when Bro. Athill, surveyor of St. Osyth, was raised to the sublime degree of a Master Mason, the beautiful ceremony being most impressively performed by Bro. Sanderson, who is well known in Suffolk for his admirable working. Bro Barber, P.G.O., presided at the organ and added much to the ceremonies by his performance. The lodge having been closed down to the 1st degree and the F.C.'s, and E.A. P's, admitted, the brethren proceeded to ballot for W.M., Bro. Peter de Lande Long being unanimously elected to fill the chair of K.S. Bro. Long briefly returned thanks for the honour conferred upon him, and hoped that he should leave the chair at the end of his period of office with a Masonic career as Worshipful Master as unsullied as that of the long list of Masters who had filled the chair of K.S. in the British Union Lodge for the past hundred years. Bro. Schulen was re-elected by a unanimous ballot as Treas., and the Tyler, Bro. G. Spalding, was also re-elected. Auditors of Accounts having been elected and the other routine business disposed, Bros. Schulen and Emra Holmes called attention to the ballot box in use in the lodge, which was absolutely useless so far as secret voting was concerned, and on their motion it was resolved to get one of Bro. George Kenning's well-known ballot-boxes forthwith. The lodge was then duly closed, and the brethren retired to the adjoining chamber, where a substantial repast was spread, after doing justice to the viands, and the cloth having been removed, the Acting W.M., Bro. C. F. Long, proposed the usual Masonic and loyal toasts. Bro. Schulen briefly responded to that of the past and present Prov. Grand Officers, and Bro. Mavor to that of the newly initiated candidate. Bro. Carnell proposed in flattering terms the Acting W.M. who modestly replied. Bro. Emra Holmes, asked leave from the chair to propose a double toast, that of the W.M., Bro. Beaumont, now on his honeymoon, who unfortunately had not been able to be so much amongst them as the brethren might have wished, through attending to his professional duties as Staff Surgeon on board H.M.S. "Northumberland," but to whom he wished all sorts of happiness in his married life; and at the same time he begged to couple the name of Bro. the Rev. R. N. Sanderson, who had proved a most efficient substitute that night, in performing the arduous and impressive ceremonies of the first and third degree. Many of the brethren present who were members of high degrees, knew well that Bro. Sanderson was equally expert in them as in the Craft, and Bro. Holmes had no hesitation in saying that Bro. Sanderson was the great Mason in Suffolk. He did not know whether it was a secret, but he was informed that Bro. Sanderson was a candidate for the Head Mastership of the Masonic Institution for Boys, and he could only say that if any of the brethren had any influence in supporting his candidature, he hoped they would exercise it on Bro. Sanderson's behalf. The Masons of Ipswich would be extremely sorry to lose so distinguished a Mason as Bro. Sanderson, but they would rejoice if he were placed in a position which he was so eminently qualified to fill. Bro. Sanderson responded to the toast, and after dwelling with heartiness upon the many good qualities of the W.M., who it appears has married a perfect woman (the lady's maiden name it appears is Perfect), and who would have their hearty good wishes in his new life. He modestly deprecated the flattering terms in which his name had been introduced, admitted that it was his hope to succeed to the Mastership of the Boys' School, but thought that in the multitude of candidates there might well be better men than himself, (no, no) at any rate, if he succeeded, his one regret would be leaving Ipswich, and if he should not be successful, his consolation would be that he remained amongst his brethren. (Loud applause.) Bro. Turner sang one of Moore's charming melodies in admirable style, and after the Apprentice's song by Bro. Spalding, the Secretary's toast was passed round, and the Tyler's toasts followed, when the brethren separated at a late hour, having enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

WINDSOR.—Etonian Lodge (No. 209).—This old established and flourishing lodge held its regular meeting on Tuesday last, the 4th inst., at the Royal Adelaide Hotel, Windsor. Bro. J. H. S. Reid, the W.M., presided. The lodge having been duly opened in the first and second degrees, Bros. W. S. Nicholls and C. Barkshire were passed to the degree of Fellow Craft by Bro. J. Wilson, P.M., who at the request of the W.M. worked the degrees. The lodge was then closed to the first degree, when it was proposed by Bro. G. W. Dixon, J.W., and seconded by Bro. W. S. Nicholls, that Mr. A. Pears be admitted as a candidate for initiation; this was carried nem. con. The lodge was then closed in due form. The brethren then adjourned to supper as usual. There were present Bros. J. H. L. Reid, W.M.; W. Bladon, S.W.; G. W. Dixon, Prov. G. Steward Berks and Bucks, J.W.; J. O. Carter, Prov. G. Steward Berks and Bucks, S.D.; W. Denne, J.D.; C. D. Hume, I. G. pro tem.; J. Wilson, P.M.; J. R. McIlwham, P.G.S.B., Middlesex; L. Bryett, W.M.; J. Grisbrook, W.M. 717; H. Cantrell, Prov. G. Steward Berks and Bucks; and several other brethren.

FARNWORTH.—Earl Ellesmere Lodge (678).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held at the Church Inn, Farnworth, on the 5th inst.; Bro. Micah Ernil, W.M., opened the lodge, and was well supported, amongst those present being Bros. W. H. Kirkman, P.M., as S.W.; Walter Pennington, J.W.; Robert Warburton, Treas.; Robert Whittaker, Sec.; Thomas Laycock, J.D.; Jas. Mullineaux, I.G.; and Ralph Brooks, Tyler. The minutes of the last regular lodge were read and confirmed, after which ballots, taken separately, were unanimous in favour of the admission of Mr. Joseph Hampson and Mr. Thomas A. Martin as candidates for initiation into Freemasonry. The working of the W.M. was well and admirably done, the J.W. giving the working tools to each candidate. The visiting brethren present were Bros. Pilkington, W.M. 37; and T. Roger, S.W. Strangeways Lodge. On the completion of business the lodge was closed. The brethren afterwards adjourned to refreshment and spent a very pleasant evening.

DUKE OF EDINBURGH LODGE (No. 1259).—The installation meeting of this lodge was held (for the first time) at the Cape of Good Hope Tavern, Commercial Road, E., on Tuesday, the 4th inst., the lodge having lately been removed from the New Globe, Mile End. The business of the evening commenced by balloting for six candidates, four of whom, Messrs. Armstrong, McKenzie, Hancock, and Rowland, sen., being in attendance, were duly initiated in the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry. Bro. Weatherill, the W.M. elect, was duly installed in the chair of K.S. The beautiful ceremony of installation was most effectively rendered by Bro. Barford, assisted by Bro. T. J. Barns, P.M. 933, 554. The W.M. then appointed and invested his officers as follows: Bros. W. Darling, S.W.; W. Hogg, W.M. 1349, J.W.; E. Jex, P.M. Treas.; G. Clayton, Sec.; W. Lusty, S.D.; G. Rowe, J.D.; R. Bradbrook, I.G.; Verry, Tyler. Bro. Weatherill, P.M., then had the pleasing duty to perform of presenting to the I.P.M., Bro. J. Salter, a very handsome P.M. jewel. The Installing Master then, on behalf of the W.M. and brethren of the lodge, presented Bro. E. Jex, P.M. and Treas., with a massive silver cup, subscribed for by the brethren as a token of their regard and esteem for the valuable services he had rendered to the lodge. The recipients of these presents returned thanks in suitable terms. This concluded the business of the meeting, after which the brethren adjourned to a substantial banquet, which was well served by the worthy host, Bro. Davies. After ample justice had been done and the cloth removed, the usual toasts were ably proposed and responded to, the pleasures of the evening being very much enhanced by songs by the Brethren, and musical recitals by Bro. Seddon. The brethren, after spending a most pleasant evening, separated.

GOLDEN RULE LODGE (No. 1261).—This lodge met on the 4th inst., at its new quarters, the Regent Masonic Hall, Air Street, Regent Street. For the past eighteen months the Golden Rule Lodge has been labouring under the difficulty of obtaining a suitable place of meeting, which the G.L. of England would approve. Fortunately that difficulty has at length been surmounted, and on Tuesday last both the members and visitors appeared to be quite elated at their good fortune in securing such a splendid Temple and Banqueting Hall as Bro. Neville has placed at their disposal in Air Street. The Temple is of itself one of the most perfect and tasteful of our Masonic structures, admirably ventilated and lighted, with furniture of the costliest character; the Regent Masonic Hall, with its spacious banqueting chamber, rivals any similar establishment in the Metropolis. The W.M., Bro. Frederick Bigg, had the peculiar good fortune of initiating three candidates, viz., J. P. Godfrey, Esq.; R. F. Horsefield, Esq., and G. C. James, Esq., and he performed the ceremony with great impressiveness. Three other brethren joined the lodge, viz., Bro. Fabian, P.P.G.S.W. Hants; Bro. Longley, 1297, and Bro. Curtis, 975. Among the visitors were Bros. Browne, Strawbridge, Courtenay, and Devereux. At the banquet, Bro. J. R. Stebbing, P.G.D., and Bro. Wellington Vallance, P.G.S., both members of the Golden Rule Lodge, had occasion to respond to certain toasts given from the chair, and both these gentlemen acquitted themselves with even more than their usual eloquence. The W.M., whose right arm was hung up in a sling, from the effects of a recent accident, in alluding to the improved position of the affairs of the Golden Rule, created much merriment by the following quotation of Shakespeare:—

“ Now is the winter of our discontent
Made glorious summer by the Sun of Ripon,
And all the clouds that lowered on our lodge
In the deep bosom of the ocean buried.
Now are our brows bound with victorious wreaths—

Our bruised arms hung up as monuments,
Although the brethren met punctually at four,
it was not until midnight that they separated, after passing a most enjoyable evening. The W.M. was supported by Bros. Sunley, I.P.M.; Eglese P.M., Sec.; Dr. Cross, Treas.; Harris,
S.W.; Fensham, J.W.; Wellen Smith, S.D.; Allworth, J.D.; and Torkington, I.G. During the initiations, Bro. Eglese presided at the organ, and by his performances at the installation lent much impressiveness to the ceremonies. The banquet was supplied to the 24 participants by Bro. Nicholls with the most lavish effusion, and the wines were pronounced to be excellent. The Golden Rule commenced its new reign under the most favourable auspices.

BOCKING.—St. Mary's Lodge—(No. 1312).—The annual festival of the Lodge of St. Mary, Bocking, was held on the 4th inst. The brethren and visitors assembled in the Lodge-room at two o'clock, for the purpose of witnessing the installation of the W.M. for the ensuing year, Bro. Vero W. Taylor, which ceremony was performed by Bro. Peter Matthews, P.M. Nos. 11 & 276, Prov. G.D.C., with his accustomed ability. The new W.M. then appointed his officers, as follows:—Bro. A. Portway (Secretary), S.W.; F. Hasler, J.W.; Rev. W. S. Hemming, Chaplain; S. Piggin, S.D.; W. Bright, J.D.; W. W. Knocker, I.G. C. W. Moore, Tyler. Some other business having been disposed of, the brethren adjourned, and afterwards sat down to a banquet, most excellently served up by the hostess of the White Hart. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured and the whole passed off very successfully. Among the brethren present at lodge or banquet, besides those already mentioned were: Bros. J. Burton, P.M. 276, Prov. G. Treas.; John Wright Carr, P.M. 160, 276, Prov. G. Sec.; A. C. Valey, W.M.; Thos. Smee, S.W.; W. Pattison, J. F. Bishop and G. Spalding, 276; H. C. Bocking, 34; E. Booker, 794; S. H. Childe, 175; R. G. Green, 1024; W. Blatch, and the following members of St. Mary's Lodge: W. Neville Tufnell, I.P.M.; Rev. F. B. Shepherd, P. Prov. G. Chaplain; A. Brown, H. J. Burt, W. Bailey, J. Claydon, O. D. Clapham, H. S. Howell, C. Jones, F. Lake, F. J. Snell, John West, J. T. Weldon, and W. Wicks.

EBURY LODGE (No. 1348).—The first meeting of the season of this flourishing and successful lodge was held on Tuesday, October 28th, at the Morpeth Arms Hotel, Ponsonby-street, Pimlico. Bro. W. Bourne, W.M., opened the lodge. There were present: Bros. J. Coutts, I.P.M., Treasurer, P.G.P.; Summers, S.W.; Verity, J.W.; J. Elliott, Sec.; Dr. G. B. Roberts, S.D.; J. Verity, J.D.; A. J. Ireton, I.G.; Harrison and Proskanor, Stewards; Stacey, P.M., Organist; and a large number of brethren. Amongst the visitors were Bros. J. Boyd, P.G.P.; F.W. Pamphilon, J.W. 91; T. Bull, S.W. 145; W. Kew, 144; A. Lesclier, 1155; H. Bethell, J.W. 1257; P. Godart, 1288; The work done was the initiation of Messrs. E. D. Estall, J. Nichols, and H. Clayton; passing to the second degree, Bros. Stauffer, Chitson, Creed and Hayes. The elections were unanimous in favour of J. Summers, S.W., being W.M.; J. Coutts, P.G.P., re-elected Treasurer; and the Tyler was re-elected. The auditors were elected and appointed. A handsome gold P.M.'s jewel was unanimously voted to Bro. W. Bourne, for his great and useful services rendered to the lodge during his year of office. We may here remark with justice and sincerity, that, it is seldom our happy lot to witness the ceremonies accompanied with music (as they always ought to be) done in a better manner. It was a Masonic treat to be present. The W.M. being an experienced P.M., did the work in a superior manner. We congratulate the founder and first W.M., Bro. J. Coutts, P.G.P., in particular, and those who helped him, in having so successfully established this lodge, where any one may see the ceremonies of Freemasonry carried out as they should be, work so well performed, and the musical part, under Bro. Stacey's care, so carefully and beautifully rendered. The lodge was closed. Then came another important business, the banquet, so well served under Bro. J. Palmer P.M.'s own supervision, and whose fame as a good caterer, is so well known. The usual toasts were given and responded to. The brethren separated, well pleased with their happy meeting.

LEIGH.—Marquis of Lorne Lodge (No. 1354).—The members of this lodge celebrated the annual festival of St. John the Evangelist on the 5th inst. The “Marquis of Lorne” was only established in 1871, the first W.M. being Bro. T. J. Lancashire, but it has met with such genuine success that it is not only firmly established, but is one of the best working lodges in Lancashire, a result of which the founders of the lodge may well be proud. On Wednesday, the brethren assembled in the afternoon to instal the W.M. elect, when among the visitors from other lodges were Bros. W. Mossop, P.M. 1250; W. Richardson, P.M. 148; and W. Crompton, 1250 and 148. The lodge was opened according to ancient custom by Bro. J. Jackson, W.M., who, after the minutes had been read and confirmed, vacated his chair for Bro. W. Mossop, who officiated as Installing Master. The choice of the brethren having for the second time fallen upon Bro. J. Jackson, who has served as W.M. of the lodge during the past year, and is also a P.M. of Lodge of Lights, 148 (Warrington), that gentleman was installed as W.M. for the coming twelve months. The ceremony was gone through in a most impressive and effective manner. The newly-installed W.M. having been saluted by the brethren, next invested the following as his officers:—Bros. Thomas Smith, S.W.; Charles E. Wright, J.W.; Dr. John Hall, Sec.; William Bryce, Treasurer; N. Molyneux, S.D.; Dr. Evans, J.D.; Thomas T. Hayes, I.J. Bro. Ratcliffe was appointed Organist, and Bro. J. Ashton was unanimously elected Tyler. The lodge having been closed, the brethren adjourned to the Boar's Head Inn, Market-place, where a banquet was provided by Mr. Rothwell in most excellent style. In the course of the evening the usual loyal, Masonic, and complimentary toasts were given and honoured, and a very pleasant evening, enlivened by speech and song was passed by the brethren.

THE GREAT CITY LODGE (No. 1426).—The second regular meeting of this newly formed lodge was held at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, on Saturday, the 8th inst. The W.M., Bro. James Stevens, presided, supported by Bros. N. B. Headon, S.W.; J. H. Townend, J.W.; J. Freeman, Treas.; Edw. Moody, Sec.; J. Seex, S.D.; R. Portway, as J.D.; G. Blackie, as I.G.; J. H. Wisby, D.C.; and Steadman, Tyler. There were also present Bros. Preston, Boulton, Lewis, Tee, Stuart-Barker, jun., Portway, Jenkins, Baber, Cox, Tullidge, Kibble, Hancock, Middleton, Colmer, Hamer, Bowen, Archer, Lunniss, Fendick, Hooper, Hannaford, and visitors, Bros. Fisher, 1238; Atkins, S.W. 27; Bryant, 1329; Larlham, S.D. 1216; Bedolfe, W.M. 1329; Hefter, 1158; H. Franklin, S.W. 61; Haigh, W.M. 29; Vockins, S.W. 1329; and others. The lodge was opened in due form. The minutes of the three emergency meetings, and of the first regular meeting, were read and confirmed. Bros. Boulton, Tee, and Preston, having passed their examination in a highly satisfactory manner, were raised to the sublime degree. Of the nine candidates for passing there were present Bros. Colmer, Hamer, Cox, Hannaford, Archer, Lunniss, and Lewis, all of whom proved their proficiency in the former degree, and were then passed to the degree of F.C. Mr. Saml. Browne, of Lawrence-lane, was then initiated in the mysteries and privileges of Ancient Freemasonry. The whole of the ceremonies were performed by the W.M. in his usual careful and correct style, and did not fail to make a great impression upon the various candidates. We have omitted to state that previous to the passings the lodge was called off for refreshment, and “the cups that cheer but not inebriate” were partaken of by the brethren assembled. Two candidates for initiation, one a well-known city gentleman, were proposed. An application from a number of brethren for permission to hold a lodge of instruction under the warrant of The Great City Lodge was then read, and a committee, consisting of Bros. Colmer, Freeman, Headon, Stuart-Barker, jun., Tee, and Boulton, with the W.M. and Secretary, was appointed to carry out the arrangements. The W.M. having announced that it was his intention to represent the lodge as Steward at the festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, early in the ensuing year, a brother proposed that one of the usual banquets should be given up, and the amount thus saved, say £50, placed upon the W.M.'s list. The proposition was received with acclamation, and will probably be carried at the next meeting. About £50 were then subscribed by the individual members, and more was promised. The lodge having been closed, the brethren adjourned to the banquet-room, where, instead of the usual dinner, there was spread a frugal meal of bread, cheese, and ale. The W.M. presided, and all the brethren and visitors partook of the repast. When the cloth had been removed, the W.M. gave the usual toasts. The numerous visitors expressed themselves delighted with the novel banquet, and with the fraternal spirit evinced throughout the whole of the proceedings, while several spoke in high terms of the manner in which the proposition in the lodge had been received, and promised that imitators should not be wanting. The brethren then separated, happy to meet, sorry to part, hoping to meet again.

BUCKHURST HILL.—Bagshot Lodge (No. 1457)—A very interesting Masonic ceremony took place on the 11th inst. at Buckhurst Hill, in this county, viz., the consecration of a new lodge, to be called the "Bagshaw Lodge," in compliment to the R.W. the Prov. Grand Master of the Province, Bro. R. J. Bagshaw, who is also High Sheriff of the County for the current year, and the installation of the W.M. designate. The brethren having assembled in the lodge-room, the ceremony of consecration was ably and impressively performed by the V.W. Bro. John Hervey, Grand Sec. of England, assisted by Bro. R. Wentworth Little, P.M. 975, and Sec. Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, an oration on the nature and principles of Freemasonry being delivered by Bro. the Rev. F. B. Shepherd, P. Prov. Grand Chaplain, Essex. The W.M. Designate, Bro. Joseph Tanner, was then installed as W.M. of the new lodge, and he appointed and invested his officers as follows:—Bros. J. Clarkson, S.W.; Samuel Lilley, Sec.; J. R. Cover, J.W.; T. W. Nicholson, S.D.; D. Reed, J.D.; W. Holloway, I.G.; G. Smith, Tyler. Lodge having been closed, the brethren adjourned to a sumptuous banquet, served up in first-class style by Bro. Locke, of the Bald-faced Stag Hotel. The usual toasts were proposed and heartily responded to, and a capital selection of vocal music was given under the direction of Bro. Henry Parker, P.P.G. Organist, Middlesex. Amongst the brethren present, at either lodge or banquet, were Bros. John Hervey, Grand Sec. Eng., R. Wentworth Little, Prov. G. Sec. Middlesex, and Sec. R.M.I.G.; John Wright Carr, P.M. 160,276, Prov. Grand Sec., Essex; A. C. Veley, W.M. 276, J.G.W.; Rev. F. B. Shepherd, P.M. 276, P. Prov. G. Chap.; H. Rowley, P.M. 1000, Prov. G.S.D.; William A. Heath, S.W. 3; W. Babington; W. N. Trent, J.D.; John Egan, D.C., and R. Martin, 453; John A. Wardell, W.M.; W. M. Chaplain, J.D. and Sec., and W. P. Belliss, Steward, 1000; Henry Allen, J. R. Tisar, and W. Wrenn, 1056; J. H. Harmsworth, W.M. 1178; H. Parker, 1192; George Musgrave, and H. O. Martin, 1309; R. H. Thompson 1329; Charles Lacey, W.M. 1421, and P.M. 174; and John Boyd. Under the Presidency of so deservedly popular a Mason as Bro. Joseph Tanner, the Bagshot Lodge cannot fail to be prosperous. The furniture, jewels, etc., were manufactured by Bro. George Kenning.

LANGTHORNE LODGE OF INSTRUCTION (No. 1421).—The members of this recently established Lodge of Instruction, working under the warrant of the Mother Lodge, and of which Bro. T. J. Barnes P.M. 933, is the Preceptor, assembled in the lodge room at the Swan Hotel, Straiford, E., on Wednesday, the 29th ultimo., for the purpose of witnessing the working of the Fifteen Sections, by members of the lodge, assisted by several brethren of well known Masonic repute from the Yarborough, Doric, and other lodges. The chair was occupied by Bro. Latrielle, P.M. 1056; Bro. J. I. Barnes (Preceptor of the lodge) acting as S.W.; and Bro. W. Land, S.W. Crystal Palace Lodge, as J.W. The lodge having been opened in the first degree, and the minutes read and duly confirmed, was opened in the second and third degrees, and resumed in the first degree. At the close of the working, a cordial vote of thanks was given to those brethren who had worked the various sections, and also to Bro. Latrielle for the very able manner in which he had fulfilled the duties of the chair. The brethren were also pleased to mark their sense of the services he had rendered that evening by unanimously electing him an honorary member of the Lodge of Instruction. Bro. Latrielle having acknowledged the compliment paid him in suitable terms, the lodge was closed in due form. The following were amongst the brethren present, viz. Bros. Royal Arch.

CAVEAC CHAPTER (No. 176).—The regular meeting of this chapter was held at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, on the 6th inst. The chapter was opened by Comps. Montague Scott, M.E.Z.; P. A. Nairne, P.Z. as H.; F. Walters, P.Z., as J.; C. T. Darcy, P.Z.; W. Smeed, P.Z. The companions were then admitted. The minutes of the previous meeting were read, and unanimously confirmed. The report of the Audit Committee showed a good balance in hand, without any liability. Bros. Percy, Moreton Scott, R.N. (St. James's Lodge, 765, son of the M.E.Z.), and Phillip Charles Nixon, (J.W. 176, Caveac Lodge,) being in attendance, were duly initiated into Royal Arch Freemasonry, the ceremony being correctly and impressively given. A five guinea P.Z.'s jewel, which had been unanimously voted from the chapter's funds, was presented to Comp. M. Scott, M.E.Z., for his exertions in behalf of the chapter, and as a mark of esteem, respect, and gratitude for the admirable manner he presided over the chapter meetings during his year of office. All the business being completed, the chapter was closed. The usual good banquet followed. The regular toasts were given and responded to. The visitors were Comps. W. Smeed, P.Z. 946; H. Reed, 463; and T. Yeo, 3.

Mark Masonry.

SOUTHWARK LODGE (No. 22).—The progress made by Mark Masonry was well illustrated on Tuesday last, when, at the installation meeting of this Lodge, a larger number of brethren attended than is usual in Mark lodges. The Southwark Lodge had been in a state of decadence for some years, until at last installation day, Bro. John Read, Grand Organist in the Mark Degree, was installed as W.M. He, with the aid of a large circle of Masonic friends, immediately set to work to restore the fortunes of the lodge which was under his charge, and by perseverance in the cause, and heartiness in his work, he, in the course of a few months, made the lodge as prosperous as any in the degree. On Tuesday he was succeeded in the chair by Bro. Isaac J. H. Wilkins, a brother equally influential, earnest and energetic, who had, while he was S. W., ably seconded Bro. Read's efforts to raise the position of the lodge. It was plain that the revivifying process which it had gone through had succeeded, as the number of brethren who attended reminded them of the days when Bro. Cotteburne used to perform the W.M.'s duties, and when Bros. Leonard, Lilley, and Avery presided. Lodge was full, and at the banquet table some thirty members and visitors sat down. The meeting was held at the headquarters of the lodge, the Bridge House Hotel; and the business of the evening was commenced by Bro. Read advancing Bros. Alfred Brett, D. Greenaway, H. A. Milford, J. Hutt and S. Lilley. It had been expected that the Grand Master of the province would have been present, but a letter was read from him explaining his absence, and regretting that he should not have the pleasure of meeting the brethren. But there were some other distinguished visitors present, and among them the Grand Secretary (Bro. F. Binckes), Bro. Lazarus, Bro. Meggy, Bro. W. Worrell, and Bro. Allen. Bro. Meggy, at the conclusion of the ceremony of advancement, took the chair, and Bro. Read presented to him Bro. Wilkins for installation. The ceremony was, of course, perfectly performed by such a master of the art, and when Bro. Wilkins had been duly installed he appointed as his officers for the year Bros. Stidolph, S.W.; C. T. Sparkes, J.W.; John Read, P.M., Secretary; Harry Brett, Treasurer; Poore, M.O.; Josh. Spencer, S.O.; Gilbert, J.O.; Horton, S.D.; Bonto, J.D.; Montgomery, I.G.; Hutt, Registrar; Greenaway, Steward and Milford, D.C. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to a choice banquet, provided in the most refined style Bro. J. Spencer, the proprietor of the Bridge House Hotel. It was very late when this was disposed of, and the speeches were entered upon, but there was no time lost when the W.M. got at his work. After giving the toasts of "The Queen," and the "M.W. the Grand Mark Master, Earl Percy, the Past Grand Masters, the Deputy Grand Master, and the Grand Officers, past and present," and expressing his pleasure that that distinguished Mason had recovered from his recent illness, he called on Bro. Binckes to respond.

Bro. Binckes said that the toast was a most comprehensive one, and for the information of the younger members of this degree, he would say that it was framed with a view to the early departure of Masons for their homes, because toasting these high functionaries separately would involve a good expenditure of time. He was glad to hear the W.M. speak in such high terms as he had of Earl Percy, because he was a young nobleman whom any society might be proud to have at its head, and he took a very large interest in Freemasonry, and even a greater in this degree. For the Past Grand Masters this degree had the privilege of having the Earl of Carnarvon, Viscount Holmesdale, Mr. Beach, Lord Leigh, and the Rev. George Raymond Portal, a goodly list of brethren, who had been of immense influence and service in the Order. For the Deputy G.M. they had another nobleman, the Earl of Limerick, whose zeal in Freemasonry could not be too widely known or gratefully acknowledged, and who, he knew, from his own knowledge took a great interest in the spread of Mark Masonry. Therefore the Order could only look back to the past with pride and forward to the future with satisfaction. The Grand Officers, speaking for them only, and not for himself, both past and present, had shown great zeal and ability in the discharge of their duties, and he was never weary of repeating himself in saying that in connection with Grand Mark Lodge there was no backstairs influence brought to bear in the promotion to grand office. There was but one road to promotion—a sure one—the evincing an interest in the Order. Such service met with its reward, and the honours of Grand Lodge were consequently looked upon as honours to be coveted. For himself he would only say that having been nursed, so to speak in this Grand Lodge, first as Grand Assistant Secretary, and then as Grand Secretary, he was intensely gratified at the enormous progress the Order had made. It had now nearly 170 lodges, and had enrolled in its ranks 6000 good Masons. It was making rapid strides day by day, week by week, month by month, and year by year. It never was in such a prosperous condition before. It had a good benevolent fund, and he hoped that from time to time the ranks would be recruited by the introduction of zealous and able members, who would remember with fondness the traditions of the degree, act up to its tenets, carry out its principles, and, at no distant day, share in its honours. In conclusion, Bro. Binckes thanked the brethren for the toast. The W.M. next proposed "The Provincial Grand Master, Colonel Burdett, and his Officers," and greatly regretted Col. Burdett's absence. Bro. C. J. Sparks, in reply, said he was quite taken by surprise at being called upon to respond to this toast, as he had expected Col. Burdett to be present. From the tenour of his letter, no doubt his absence was a great disappointment to him; and it was also, it must be confessed, to the lodge. He would reiterate the hope expressed in the Provincial Grand Master's letter, that the time would not be far distant when he would be at their board to return thanks for himself. Bro. Meggy proposed "The Health of the W.M." and in doing so expressed the great pleasure he felt at having to instal him in the chair. If the brethren would only pay attention to Bro. Wilkins' commands during the next year it would be a very prosperous time for the lodge. From what he knew of him he was just the sort of man to bring it into a flourishing condition. He (Bro. Meggy) had known the lodge for a long time, when it was not so prosperous as now, when the candidates for advancement were few and far between; but it had now turned the corner, and great credit was due to the W.M. for his great exertions. Let them support him, and he would have a happy year. The W.M., in acknowledging the toast, observed that he did not think he deserved one-half of the kind expressions which had been used, but he would take for granted that he did deserve them, because he should be sorry to contradict Bro. Meggy. Unquestionably the lodge had for some time been in a failing condition, but it found friends who were desirous of elevating it, and for the last few months it had been improving, thanks to his brother on his left (Bro. Read). Thanks, also, to all those who took an interest in the lodge and had pushed forward its individuality, and brought it out of the depths into which it had fallen. He cordially acknowledged the kindness of his numerous friends who had assisted him, and begged that they would continue to bring to the lodge members who, like those they had hitherto introduced, from their position would be complimentary to the lodge. There was a glorious future before it if the brethren would bear this in mind; and he promised that he would do everything in his power to render the lodge a service. The W.M. afterwards proposed "The Health of the Immediate P.M., Bro. John Read," and again called attention to the vast obligations he had placed the brethren under to him. But for him he did not know that the lodge would now have been in existence; but as the brethren knew as well as himself what Bro. Read had done, it would be only a waste of time if he dilated much upon it. But he must tell them that many communications had from time to time passed between them which he believed had been for the benefit of the lodge. They had consulted together as to what they should do, and the result was in the main that they had such a very delightful company that evening. He did not see why the Southwark Lodge should not be one of the best Mark lodges in the kingdom. In recognition of Bro. Read's services to the lodge he had the pleasure of presenting him with a P.M. jewel (cheers). Bro. John Read thanked the brethren for the presentation, and said the lodge's success was not so much due to him as to the W.M.; but all had put their shoulders to the wheel, and their united efforts had brought about the fortunate result. He then described the various stages of decay which the lodge had experienced, and then its gradual rise to its present condition of prosperity. He was assured that it would not now go back into the slough of despond; it had all the elements of success in it, and it would be the brethren's own fault if they did not keep them. All who were around the board that evening were a credit and honour to the lodge. He asked them to bring more such. The jewel that had been presented to him far exceeded in value anything he had been able to do for the lodge and he would wear it with as much pleasure as he wore other jewels. It would always remind him of the kindness with which the brethren had looked upon his exertions. The W.M. proposed "The newly advanced brethren," a toast which was always received with a great deal of sympathy and respect. That evening they had had five, and every member of the lodge would agree with him that all of them would shed a lustre on the lodge. Bro. Alfred Brett, P.M. 134 (Craft) responded, and said it was a happiness to him to come among the brethren of the lodge, and a still greater happiness to see it in such a prosperous state. The W.M. then proposed "The Visitors," and coupled with the toast the name of Bro. Lazarus, who, he said, was a Mark Mason of fifty years' standing. Bro. Lazarus acknowledged that he was. He was now 75 years of age, but was still a jolly good fellow. From the very moment he received the light of Freemasonry he had had the utmost veneration for it, a veneration that it deserved, as there were in it all the principles which could make a good man. It was a great pleasure to him to visit this lodge, and it was extremely gratifying to him to find it flourishing. The W.M. proposed "The Health of the Installing Master, Bro. Meggy," and descanted on his great merits, not only as a performer of the ceremonies in Mark Masonry, but as an instigator to the work of Masonic charity. Whether at teaching the ceremonies, installing a Master, or establishing a benevolent fund, Bro. Meggy was always working in Masonry, and rejoiced at doing it. Bro. Meggy, in reply, assured the brethren of his great desire to fulfil the obligations he took on him when he became a Mason. With regard to the Southwark lodge, he formerly used to be invited to perform the installations, and the brethren were kind enough to elect him a member. He had felt it his duty to come forward and prove the good of Masonry. He was not ashamed to acknowledge it, he was now and then of a little use in Masonry, and he was not sorry to have the opportunity of doing what he could. Since he had been elected a member he had felt it his duty to promote the interest of the lodge, and if he had done it, the knowledge of his having done so was his highest reward. He appreciated the kindness of the brethren in acknowledging what he had done, and at any time he could be of any use to the lodge he would be pleased. The S.W. returned thanks for "The Officers," and the brethren, as it was past twelve o'clock, separated, after spending a most delightful evening.

Sir Knights Templar.

The Prudence Preceptory was opened at the Masonic Hall, Ipswich, on the 22nd ult., when Sir Knight the Rev. R. N. Sanderson, Sub. Prior Suffolk and Cambridge (in the unavoidable absence of the Preceptor, Sir Knight Beaumont, R.N. and the Acting Preceptor Sir Knt. Holmes, P.G. Provost of England) presided, and there were present Sir Knights Dr. Mills, P.E.C.; J. Pitcher, P.E.C. Reg.; and others. Comp. G. R. Scopes of Yarmouth, whose name had been previously approved by the Provincial Prior, was balloted for, accepted, and being president, he was duly installed a Knight of the Order of the Temple, Sir Knight Sanderson performing the ceremony in an impressive manner for which he is famous throughout the Eastern Counties.

Sir Knight W. P. Mills, M.D. P.E.C. was unanimously re-elected Preceptor for the ensuing year.

The Sir Knights afterwards adjourned to refreshment.

Scotland.

CAMBUSLANG.—Friday; 30th ult., being the festival of Hallowe'en commemorated by our national poet Burns, I may say as use and wont would be celebrated in every hamlet, village, and town in Scotland. By the young, even those who can scarcely toddle, it was observed in the display of lanterns improvised out of hollowed-out turnips, and by lads and lasses meeting together to dance and forecast their future by burning nuts. In Cambuslang, whose inhabitants are intensely Scotch, there were few families who did not honour the occasion. The consequence was that the fruit dealers have done a good trade this last week, and this (Friday) night there was much boisterous but innocent enjoyment; and some couples amongst the working classes as usual embraced the opportunity of getting united for better or worse; and to add a little variation to the scene, the Knight Templars of No. 3 Encampment, here, had their torch light procession on that night, and on leaving the hall a torch light procession was formed,

And headed by the band,
They formed a gay and lengthened line,
And was a sight quite grand.

Their costly silken banner waved,
The music sweetly played
In gay and rich regalia,
The Knights were all arrayed.

First to the village of Silverbanks,
They respectfully repair,
And the Grand Commander
Bids them turn there.

The gay Sir Knights next turn
Their way back through the town,
Where hundreds of spectators view
Them marching up and down.

Within the hall the Templars supped,
When their walk was past,
And thanks to Sir Knight Rennie,
It was a good repast.

Then speech and song and sentiment,
Was all the go that night,
And when the time for parting came
It seemed to all too (soon) bright.

There was some excellent Masonic and local songs, sung, interspersed with speeches, and recitations, and our worthy Scribe gave a recitation, the "Original of Fruit Stealing," which was rapturously encored. And on rising the Scribe said,—Worthy Sir Knights, our Charter bears date as far back as 1812, and I was one of 16 of the brethren who banded themselves together, and were exalted to the Royal Arch Degree of Masonic Orders, and were also raised to the highly honourable and magnanimous degree of Red Cross Knight of Malta and High Knight Templar of St. John of Jerusalem, and of these 16 there are only three alive in this country, one went to Australia, all the rest of the 16 have gone to their long home, and we who remain as mourners, go about the street and must soon follow. And I would say to all Freemasons, live a life that the outside world will not need to say so much against the Order of Freemasonry as they do, for be assured by living according to the strict principles of Masonry, the outside world will see that there is something real, something solid in Freemasonry, and you will also have the approval of your own conscience that you are doing right, and you will not be affected, in the smallest, by all the anathemas pronounced by the Pope, (and Cardinals Cullen or Wiseman and all the Catholic Clergy to boot) against Masonry. Sir Knights, Masonry is like the deep rooted rock on the sea shore, it has for ages defied the unavailing fury of the waves, and so Masonry has stood the test, aye and will stand the test for a long time to come, in spite of all that has been said against it.

These fools by their spleen plainly show,

They fain would deride what they gladly would know,

But let every true brother these vermin despise,
And the ancient grand secret keep back from their eyes.

and if you live according to the rule of Masonry, you will be a good subject to the Queen, a good member of society, and a good Mason, for a bad man cannot be a good Mason, in any sense of the word. Shortly after Sir Knight Young's speech, the encampment was closed in due and ancient form, each one seeming well pleased.

The following are unavoidably held over, on account of the pressure upon our columns:—Reports of Lodges 130, 1337; Chapter 70; Mark Lodge 65; Societatis Rosieruciana in Scotia. Communications from T.J.T., H.T.E. G.W.

THE NEW MASONIC HALL AT DERBY.

This handsome building is being rapidly erected in Gower-street. On Saturday last the Trustees met at three o'clock to place a memorial tablet in the banquetting-room. This simple and unostentatious ceremony was performed by Bro. J. Smith, P. Prov. G. J. W., the Mayor of Derby, Chairman of the Trustees. The stone was beautifully engraved, and the initials painted in, and is a permanent record of the originators and trustees of the enterprise. The following is the inscription:—

"This Masonic Hall was erected in 1873, by the following Trustees; the Marquis of Hartington, P.G.M.; Haughton Charles Okeover, D. P.G.M.; Charles Robert Colvile, P.D.P.G.M.; Thomas Cox, P.S.G.W.; James Crossley, P.S.G.W.; Thomas Horsley, P.S.G.W.; Henry Hillam, P.S.G.W.; Frank Campion, P.S.G.W.; William Naylor, S.G.W.; George Wright, P.S.G.W.; Charles Brentnall, P.J.G.D.; James Worsnop, P.J.G.W.; Frank Iliffe, P.D.C.; Thomas Roe, Jun.; Henry Goodall, John Smith, G.J.W, Mayor of Derby, Chairman of Trustees, Geo. Woodiwiss, Builder; G. H. Sheffield P.G.S. of W., Architect."

The following were present at the ceremony.—Bros. J. Smith (Mayor), H. Hillam, T. Horsley, F. Iliffe, H. Goodall, Jas. Worsnop, G. T. Wright, T. Roe, jun., F. Campion, W. Naylor, G. R. Sheffield (architect), and G. Woodiwiss (builder).

The Mayor said—Gentlemen and brethren, having assembled at this building as the Committee of Trustees for the Provincial Grand Lodge for the Freemasons of Derbyshire, I, as Chairman of the Committee, have very great pleasure in laying this memorial stone and tablet, and I hope it will remain for generations to come. I also hope that Freemasonry may prosper within its walls, and that the brethren of all lodges in the province will do their best to promote the interest of so noble a work, and assemble under their respective banners to further the interests of the Order.

This concluded the interesting ceremony, and subsequently his Worship the Mayor hospitably entertained the trustees, architect, and builder at a sumptuous dinner at the St. James's Hotel. The Mayor has been a large donor to this new institution in Derby, and contributed £100 towards the building fund.

CONSECRATION OF A MILITARY LODGE AT CANTERBURY.

On Tuesday, 4th inst., an interesting ceremony in connection with Freemasonry took place in St. George's Hall. The large number of non-commissioned officers in our Cavalry Depot includes a goodly proportion of Freemasons, and lately several of their comrades have indicated their wishes to join the Craft. Accordingly in the true spirit of Freemasonry three or four brethren determined upon promoting a scheme for the founding a Military Lodge for Canterbury, and they were generously joined in the movement by Colonel Cureton, the respected Commandant of the Depot, and the necessary preliminaries having been gone through, a warrant was granted by the Grand Lodge of England. General Brownrigg, C.B., who is now the Provincial Grand Master of Surrey, and who performed the ceremony of consecration for the Military Lodge at Chatham some three years since, and which is called by his name, was invited to do the same office for this new Military Lodge at Canterbury and at once kindly consented.

There was a gathering of about 150 brethren, consisting of deputations from several of the lodges in Kent, the brethren of the newly-formed lodge, and several officers of the army and volunteers, being Masons. The hall had been very appropriately prepared for the ceremony, which commenced with a procession into the room, headed by the Master of the Ceremonies (Capt. Watson), who kindly officiated in the absence of Bro. Cooley, who was prevented by illness from attending).

The Consecrating Master then appointed Bro. Winch, S.W., and Bro. J. R. Hall, J.W., pro tem., and the lodge was opened in the three degrees.

General Brownrigg then delivered a short address, conveying some truly kind and valuable advice to the founders of the lodge; and this was followed by prayer by the Provincial Grand Chaplain, Bro. the Rev. — Hill.

The founders of the lodge, with Colonel Cureton at their head, were then arranged in order, and Bro. Mate (of Sandwich) acting for the Provincial Grand Secretary in his unavoidable absence through illness, read the Petition and Warrant, add this was followed by an admirable oration "On the Nature and Principles of the Institution," by the Provincial Grand Chaplain; followed by the Dedication Prayer and the ceremonies incidental. The whole of these ceremonies were increased in their impressiveness by the singing of appropriate psalms by the brethren, and selections of music on the grand harmonium, at which Brother. A. Cannon ably presided.

General Brownrigg having dedicated and constituted the lodge, deputed Brother Adamson (of Dover) to perform the ceremony of Installation of the Worshipful Master elect, Brother Alford Wade, which was done in impressive and complete style; and the other officers of the lodge were then inducted into their several offices as follows:— Bros. W. Greenwood, S.W.; Moorhouse, J.W.; Plume, Treas.; Ormond, Sec.; Tomkins, S.D.; Archer, J.D.; Cutting, I.G.; Frisby, Org.; Christian, Tyler. The lodge was then "closed down" with the usual solemnities.

The banquet was held at the Guildhall Concert Room, (which will in future be the lodge room for the Royal Military Lodge, as the Ancient United No. 31, and the 972 St. Augustine Lodges.) And excellent dinner was well served by the Shaxby. General Brownrigg presided until he was compelled to leave, when the chair was occupied for the remainder of the evening by the W.M. During the banquet, the Band of the Cavalry Depot, under Bandmaster Hardy, occupied the stage of the theatre, adjoining the Concert Room, and played selections of favourite and appropriate music.

The loyal and Masonic toasts were followed by others of a complimentary character, and the evening was enlivened by some excellent singing and speeches of mutual congratulation at the great success of the entire business and ceremonies of the day.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF LEICESTERSHIRE AND RUTLAND.

The Annual General Meeting of the above Provincial Lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall, Leicestershire, on Wednesday, the 5th day of November, inst., under the auspices of St. John Lodge, No. 279, the chair being taken by the R.W.P.G.M., the Right Hon. the Earl Ferrers, who was supported by Bro. W. Kelly, P. Prov. G.M.; the Prov. G. Wardens, Bros. J. J. East, and Clement Stretton, and most of the Provincial Grand Officers. There was also a fair attendance of members of private lodges, though not so numerous as on recent previous occasions.

The business of the lodge, beyond that of installing the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, was of an ordinary routine character.

The Committee of General Purposes reported favourably upon the Treasurer's accounts, and as to the progress of Masonry and the condition of the several lodges in the Province.

The ceremony of installing Bro. Sir Henry St. John Holford Bart, P.M. 1330, P. Prov. S.G.W. as Deputy Provincial Grand Master was very ably performed by the R. W. Provincial Grand Master.

Bro. W. Beaumont Smith, who has, for several years, held the important post of Treasurer, was re-elected to that office, and a vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to him for his past services.

Bro. Robert Waite, P.M., was nominated to represent the P.G. Lodge, as Steward at the next festival of the Girls' School.

The Provincial Grand Lodge was then closed, and the brethren sat down to an excellent banquet, which had been provided by the Stewards of the local lodge. The chair was taken by the Deputy Prov. G.M., Sir Henry Holford, in the absence of the R.W.P.G.M. who was unable to remain for this portion of the proceedings. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, those of the "Masonic Charities" and "The Visitors" being very ably responded to by Bro. Robert Wentworth Little, Prov. G. Sec., Middx. and Sec. to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.

The enjoyment of the evening was very materially enhanced by the efforts of the musical brethren, and in particular, by the instrumental selections performed by Bros. Henry Nicholson, G. L. Vaughan, J. A. Wykes and W. T. Rowlett, on flutes, oboe and bassoon, which were very highly applauded.

Masonic Tidings.

Bro. Manoah Rhodes has been selected as Mayor of Bradford for the ensuing year.

Bro. Edward Wates, Deputy Grand Master for Kent, Mayor of Gravesend, died on Wednesday night, at the age of 42, after an illness extending over several months.

We regret also to record the deaths of Bro. Henry Arthur Hoare, P.G.W., Vice-patron of all the charities, and Bro. Jabez Samuel Gower, 31^o, a Grand Officer, K.T., also of the Red Cross Order, and a liberal donor to the charities.

The post of Secretary at the Crystal Palace is vacant, and will be filled up at Christmas.

Bro. the Rev. R. N. Sanderson, 30^o, Sub Prior of Suffolk and Cambridge, Prior of the Temple, P. G. Chaplain, Mark Grand Lodge, P. Prov. Grand Chaplain, Suffolk, Preceptor of the Perfect Ashlar Lodge of Instruction, is a candidate for the head Mastership of the Masonic Institution for Boys. Bro. Sanderson is well known in Ipswich and its neighbourhood, as a very distinguished Mason. He is the second Master at Queen Elizabeth's Grammar School at Ipswich, and it is no secret that in the event of the Head Mastership of that school becoming vacant through the advancement of the Rev. Dr. Holden (one of the greatest scholars in England) there are large numbers who would wish to see Bro. Sanderson, who is deservedly popular and admirably qualified as an experienced teacher of considerable attainments, take the place of the Rev. Doctor. Should Bro. Sanderson succeed as Head Master of the Boys' School, Ipswich will have lost one of its greatest luminaries in Masonic lore, and erudite scholarship, and the Masonic Institution will have gained a Head who will bring to it all that tends most to make so admirable an institution even more successful in the future, than it has been in the past.

CHARITY ELECTIONS.

The conference which took place, under the auspices of the Lord Mayor, at the Mansion House, on October 30th, came, as was somewhat to be anticipated, to the practical conclusion "it's better to bear the ills we have, than fly to others that we know not of."

No one denies, that, as with all human institutions and arrangements, weaknesses may be discovered and abuses may be found in our charitable institutions, but as it has been very truly said, it is "far easier to describe the evil than to point out the cure, and even if the cure were obvious," it is as often "still more difficult to apply it."

Our great charitable institutions have grown with the growth of this great country, are peculiar to itself, and are so remarkably alike in their origin and their development, the personal and increasing benefits they convey to thousands of our humbler sisters and brethren in the world, that they have attracted the wonder of foreigners, and are justly a subject of satisfaction to ourselves.

We confess, that, we do not think the preliminary treatment of this important subject has either been judicious or fair.

In the first place, many of the most conspicuous assailants of our charitable organisation, (we specially exempt from this criticism the worthy, and active, and philanthropic late Lord Mayor,) know the Charities more in theory than in practice, and their experience, or fitness for judging of the present working of these Association is "ex necessitate rei" not to be compared with that of those, whose kindly efforts have been directed unswervingly for many continuous years to the efficient control and energetic usefulness of many of these much needed and most valuable institutions.

And in the next place a most unwise attack on the governors of these institutions has been made, attributing personal motives and sordid grounds to their resistance to the proposed changes.

Now this is manifestly improper and unjust. Too much praise cannot indeed be ascribed to those many unknown and unnoticed persons, who labour on, year after year, calmly, unobtrusively, and with nothing of worldly recognition, simply as an act of duty, and with an heartfelt wish to benefit their fellow creatures.

It is far too much the custom, at the present hour, in order to carry some supposed good or to compass some desired change, to asperse the actions of those who, on good grounds, deprecate the change and resist the alteration.

There seems a sort of idea amongst us all, that, "all is fair" as we say "in love and war," and that if we only "cast a certain amount of dirt on others" some of it will at any rate "stick."

Let us now see what are the changes proposed, and we will take them, as very clearly set forth in the Daily News, of October 30th.

"The proposal of the Lord Mayor is not to take the election from the subscribers, but to stop the traffic in votes, to discourage canvassing, and to abolish the public poll. The cases would, in fact, be submitted to the subscribers, as at present; but it would be done by the managers, who would send the description of the cases and their comments on them, and receive back the votes of the subscribers; the result of the poll being declared by circular and advertisement. It is evident that this scheme would remove many of the abuses of charity elections without abolishing the system."

And these changes are advocated on the following grounds, which are also equally clearly set before us in the same article of October 30th.

"On the very face of it, the system is vicious. The object of charitable institutions is to help those who have fewest friends; but by this method the very ground of choice is made to be that of having most friends. The most deserving recipients of aid are those who are in the straitest circumstances and the extremest need; but those who get the help these institutions give are just those who can raise most money or exert most interest. The candidate who has rich friends can make sure of election; the one whose friends are all among the poor is almost equally sure of failure. There is no pretence of selection. No question can rise of the most deserving. Five or ten thousand subscribers cannot investigate a case; and there are perhaps a hundred candidates from whom to choose. There is therefore not only an entire absence of any guarantee that the charity is given to those who really deserve it, but the chances are, in every case, that the most needy and probably the most deserving are rejected.

It is true that in many of these institutions votes given one year may be counted in succeeding years; but the advantage is, to some extent, illusory, since a person with but small resources may go on slowly piling up a few votes year after year, and each year a host of new candidates with larger resources may elbow their way past him. Large numbers of philanthropic people have, in fact, come to the conclusion that it is better to make what effort they can to benefit a poor person privately than to attempt to put into the lottery of a charity election."

Now if this picture were correctly limned in itself, if it were not rather a "wee bit" sensational piling up of the agony," we should at once say, make a sweeping change, even what the Daily News terms a "revolution," but the truth is, that many of these drawbacks are inseparable for many charitable institution, and are such as at present seem to us purely unavoidable.

For we must remember that all candidates for the charities have already passed the ordeal of the House Committee. If they have not properly investigated the cases, if they have done their duty in a perfunctory way, if any unworthy applicants are placed on the list, the fault lies with them, not with the subscribers; not with the charity itself.

All candidates are supposed, prima facie, to be equally necessitous, and equally deserving, and the subscribers in voting, exercise their undoubted right of selection.

That eminent judge, Sir Colin Blackburn, in a recent case before the Court of Queen's Bench arising out of an agreement to exchange or sell votes, seemed to intimate that in his opinion, the voting power of the subscribers was accompanied with an implied condition to ascertain the worthiness of the individual case.

But he forgot, as it seems to us—we say it deferentially—that with the subscriber "cæteris paribus," on the ground of worthiness, by the acceptance of the case by the House Committee, it is to the individual subscriber only a question of degree, and of personal opinion.

There is no à priori reason why A should not say to B, "If you vote for my candidate, No. 10, this time, I will vote for yours, No. 12, the next time; or if you can get me 30 votes for No. 10 this half-yearly election, I will get you 30 votes for No. 12 next half-yearly election; and what A can say to, and do with B, C, D, and E can say to and do with F, G, and H.

Hence it must be very difficult to interfere with the liberty of the individual voter, or to say to the subscribers of any institution, "We, the committee recommend you to vote for certain candidates," because the inevitable result of such a system would be to make a close election of what is now an open election, to diminish individual interest and personal energy in particular cases; to reduce the general income of the society; and to introduce a "remedy" worse than the "disease."

With some modifications and amendments in existing arrangements, which must be left to the governing bodies to initiate and carry out, we do not think that at present much material change can be made in the rules and regulations of our many and valuable charities.

We do think, indeed, and have always thought, that, something might be done to lessen the large number of disappointed candidates, year by year, as in our Masonic Boys' and Girls' Schools.

It has occurred to us, that, the managing committee might have power to select from those candidates, year by year, [who have failed twice, and whose candidature is feebly supported, a certain proportion of "cases of urgency," and place them on the roll of the school or the charity.

Beyond this we do not well see, what can be really done without seriously affecting the very existence of the charities themselves.

We have said all this, having considered the question very carefully for many years, and we feel certain that, with all due deference to others, we are right in deprecating hasty changes and unpractical interference with the working of our great and valuable charitable institutions.

But whatever we do, now and hereafter, let us keep clear of "sensationalism" in charitable questions and work. Let us seek to look at all these questions in a calm and kindly frame of mind, remembering that our endeavours should not be directed to carry out particular views, but to advance the cause of true charity, and to benefit our fellow man.

SUPREME GRAND CHAPTER.

The Quarterly Convocation of Supreme Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of England was held on Wednesday, 4th inst., at Freemasons' Hall. Comp. the Rev. John Huyshe occupied the Z. chair, Comp. R. Hamilton the H. chair, and Comp. Murray the J. chair. Comps. John Hervey, S.E.; W. Pulteney Scott, N.; John B. Monckton, P.S.; Col. Whitwell, First A.; W. Glaisher, Second A.; were in their places, and the following companions were also present:— John Whichcord, D.C.; Rev. C. J. Martyn, P.G. Prin. S.; H. J. P. Dumas, P.G.S.B.; N. Bradford, P.G.D.C.; Benjamin Head, P.G.S.B.; H. Browse, P.G.S.N.; C. A. Murton, P.G.A.S.; E. S. Snell, P.G.S.B.; Major J. Creaton, P.G.S.B.; G. Campion, Z. 19; John Boyd, P.Z. 145; Joshua Nunn, P.G.D.C.; J. Bellerby, P.Z. 164; H. G. Buss; Joseph Dixon, P.Z. 271; H. Radcliffe, P.Z. 11; H. Massey, Z. 619; Thomas Cubitt, Z 177; A. A. Richards, Z. 8; J. A. Rucker, H. 12; S. G. Foxall, P.Z. 382; A. A. Pendlebury, P.Z. 1056; F. B. Davage, P.Z. 185; F. Adlard, P.Z. 214; and S. L. Tomkins, P.G.P.S.

Comp. Hervey read the minutes of the Quarterly Convocation of August, which were put and confirmed, and Comp. W. Pulteney Scott then moved, and Comp. Joshua Nunn seconded, "That the report of the Committee of General Purposes be taken as read" and "received, and entered on the minutes."

The motions were carried. The following is the report:— To the Supreme Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of England.

The Committee of General Purposes beg to report that they have examined the accounts from the 16th July, to the 14th October, 1873, both inclusive, which they find to be as follows:—

To Balance 16th July.....	£462	14	8
„ Subsequent Receipts	245	7	6
	£708	2	2
By Disbursements during the Quarter	£158	6	10
„ Balance.....	549	15	4

which balance is in the hands of Messrs. Willis, Percival and Co., Bankers of the Grand Treasurer:

The Committee have likewise to report that they have received the following petitions:—

1st. From Comps. Henry Radcliffe, as Z; Charles Fish, as H.; Henry John Reynolds, as J.; and seven others, for a chapter to be attached to the Lodge of Regularity, No. 91, London, to be called "The Chapter of Regularity," and to meet at Freemasons' Hall, London.

2nd. From Comps. Nicholas James West, as Z.; John Coombe, as H.; John Pearce Smith, as J.; and eleven others, for a chapter to be attached to the Cornubian Lodge, No. 450, Hayle, to be called "The Hayle Chapter," and to meet at Freemasons' Hall, Hayle, Cornwall.

3rd. From Comps. Lieut. Col. Francis Burdett, as Z.; Robert Wentworth Little, as H.; Frederick Davison, as J.; and nine others, for a Chapter to be attached to the Burdett Lodge, No. 1293, Hampton Court, to be called "The Burdett Chapter," and to meet at the Mitre Hotel, Hampton Court, Middlesex.

4th. From Comps. Samuel Gover Foxall, as Z.; Antonio John Codner, as H.; James John Pope, as J.; and eight others, for a chapter to be attached to the St. Marylebone Lodge, No. 1305, St. John's Wood, to be called "The St. Marylebone Chapter," and to meet at the British Stores, New Street, St. John's Wood, St. Marylebone, Middlesex.

The foregoing petitions being in all respects regular, the Committee recommend that the prayers thereof be respectively granted.

The Committee regret to have again to report the violation of the regulations by two Chapters, the St. John's Chapter, No. 80, Sunderland, and the Stamford Chapter, No. 1045, Altrincham, having each exalted a companion within the period prescribed by the Royal Arch Regulations Article 23, page 20, edition 1869. In their last report the Committee had to direct the attention of Grand Chapter to the fact of their having considered it necessary to endeavour to check a growing evil by the infliction of a fine of three guineas on the offending chapter, as reprimands alone appeared to be of no avail. In the present instance the cases are not so flagrant, but the Committee have deemed it their duty to inflict a fine in each case of two pounds, they have also ordered the two companions to be respectively re-obligated, the issue of the certificates to be suspended until that has taken place, and been duly certified, and that the Principals of each chapter be reprimanded, and ordered to be more careful in future.

The following notice of motion has been given by Comp. Edward S. Snell, P.G. Sword Bearer:—

"That the meetings of Grand Chapter in future be held at eight o'clock, instead of seven o'clock, as at present."

(Signed) W. PULTENEY SCOTT, President
Freemasons' Hall, London, W.C., 15th October, 1873.

The recommendations of the Committee that the petitions for the new chapters be granted having been agreed to,

Comp. Scott said, he had nothing further to trouble the Grand Chapter with but the subject of the violation of Grand Chapter Regulations by chapters at Sunderland and Altrincham, Exalting brethren within the time appointed by Grand Chapter was a breach of the regulations, he was sorry to say, of very frequent occurrence, and the Committee had again found it necessary to impose fines on the offending chapters. He stated this merely for the information of Grand Chapter, and he hoped that Grand Chapter would disseminate the resolution it had come to, so as to prevent a repetition of the offence.

Comp. the Rev. C. J. Martyn enquired whether the Principals of the offending chapters were summoned before the Committee.

Comp. Scott said that the fullest enquiries were always made by correspondence.

Comp. H. Browse also informed Comp. Martyn that the Principals were not summoned, but they were communicated with, and had every opportunity given them of justifying their acts.

Comp. Scott: And of appealing if they thought proper.

Comp. Browse added that the offence committed was much on the increase, and the Committee had inflicted a fine to stop it.

Comp. John Hervey, with reference to the remark of Comp. Browse, that there was an opportunity given for justification, said that there was no justification. A chapter in the return it made to Grand Chapter of the brethren exalted, named the day on which the exaltation took place. In the return to Grand Lodge, of brethren raised to the third degree, the day of raising was also named; so that the times of raising and exaltation were put beyond the possibility of question. There was no opportunity for explanation why a discrepancy appeared, and no chapter could justify its breach of the regulations. Grand Chapter laid it down distinctly what time should elapse between a raising and an exaltation, and chapters were called upon to conform to these regulations.

The following letter was read by Comp. Hervey from Lord de Tabley in explanation of his non-attendance.

"I very much regret that absence from London will prevent my attendance in Grand Chapter on the 5th November. Pray make my excuses to the companions, and believe me,

"Yours truly and fraternally,
WARREN DE TABLEY."

Comp. E. S. Snell, on bringing forward his motion "That the meetings of Grand Chapter in future be held at 8 o'clock, instead of 7 o'clock, as at present" said that when the alteration of the hour of meeting in Grand Lodge from 8 to 7 was made, the reasons were strong and powerful; but with regard to Grand Chapter the same reasons did not hold. Grand Chapter was never detained so long in transacting its business as Grand Lodge, and had it not been for his motion this evening, the business of Grand Chapter would have been concluded in half an hour. He hoped the companions would agree with him that meeting at 7 o'clock was most unfortunate and awkward. Many companions like himself, could not leave business in time to dine and dress and come down to Grand Chapter by seven. He thought that eight o'clock would be more suitable, and that more companions, would be got together at that hour than at seven.

Comp. S. L. Tomkins seconded the motion. He represented a class which would be considerably benefited by the proposed alteration. Where men's business hours were from nine or ten till five, it took an hour later to finish up for the day; and if Grand Chapter met at seven, there was not sufficient time left for companions to dine and dress before they reached it. He himself had to apologise for not being dressed then; if Grand Chapter met at eight this would be remedied. When Grand Lodge met at eight the discussions were frequently kept up till eleven o'clock, and brethren could not get away in time for their late trains. But Grand Chapter had much less business to transact, and companions would be able to get off in plenty of time for such trains.

Comp. John B. Monckton felt that there was nothing to be added to the able arguments which had been adduced in favor of the change proposed, and he begged to support the proposition.

Comp. S. Rawson proposed as an amendment "That Grand Chapter meet at half-past five," which would enable Companions to attend Grand Chapter before they dined.

Comp. Major J. Creaton seconded the amendment. He thought half-past five would be much more convenient, on this principle, that they would be following as much as possible the example of private lodges and chapters, which did their work first and dined afterwards.

Comp. H. Radcliffe would be happy to vote for the amendment. He did not agree with Comp. Monckton that the arguments in favour of an eight o'clock assembling were strong; he thought them very weak. It would be far better to go to business first and dine after.

On a division being taken, 16 companions voted for the amendment, and 12 against it.

Before the amendment was put as an original motion,

Comp. H. Radcliffe suggested that the hour of half-past five should be tried for a twelvemonth, to see whether the attendance of companions was more numerous than at present.

Comp. Joshua Nunn thought the change was a move in the right direction. In Masonry, generally, business was transacted first; and in Grand Lodge of England it would be far better for those who spoke, and for those who unfortunately had to listen, if they dined after business. Half-past five would suit provincial companions just as well, because if they came up to town they could not go back the same night, and they would have an opportunity of visiting places of amusement after Grand Chapter was over.

Comp. the Rev. C. J. Martyn said he agreed with Comp. Nunn. He was obliged to stay in town a night when he came up to Grand Chapter, because his train left London at half-past four; and Comp. Huyshe was even worse off than that. If Grand Chapter met at half-past five, the companions from the country would have an opportunity of visiting their friends after Grand Chapter was over.

A division was then taken, when there appeared

For the amendment, as an original motion	19
Against.....	11
Majority for meeting at half-past five.....	8

Comp. Browse asked whether next Quarterly Convocation would be called for half-past five.

Comp. John Hervey said no, the minutes of this evening must be confirmed before that could take place.

Grand Chapter was then closed and adjourned till the first Wednesday in February, 1874.

MARK BENEVOLENT FUND.

A meeting of the second series of the Mark Benevolent Association in London, was held at the Essex Head, Essex Street, Strand, on Monday last, when Bro. Meggy presided, and before proceeding with the business of the association, worked the ceremony of advancement in his usual admirable style. The following brethren also attended, S. Rosenthal, H. F. Binckes, E. Harris, C. Hammerton, C. J. Sparks, G. Barlow, A. D. Loewenstark, Charles Horsley, Charles Allen, B. H. Mallam, James Mander, I. J. H. Wilkins, F. Binckes, Hyde Pullen, R. Wentworth Little, and H. Massey.

The object of the association is very well known. By payment of a shilling per week, the contributor is entitled to take part in a ballot for a Life Governorship of one of the three Masonic Charities, and if the ballot is in his favour, has the liberty of choosing of which of the Institutions he will be a Life Governor. The association endures for 210 weeks, and the first series having completed its term, is now exhausted. This, the second series, is therefore established on the same principle.

The business of the first meeting of the second series having been completed, the brethren sat down to supper; but it was announced by Bro. Meggy, that the other meetings would be held in different quarters of the town, to give brethren living in all parts, the opportunity of attending without inconvenience. Bro. Meggy's exertions on behalf of the Charitable Institutions having been very great, it was deemed to be only a proper acknowledgment of his services, to present him with a testimonial, and this took the form of a handsome jewel. At the supper Bro. F. Binckes presided, and in presenting the jewel to Bro. Meggy.

Bro. Binckes said that the exertions of Bro. Meggy were very well known wherever Masonry was known, because his good deeds and activity were not confined to any particular sphere. He had known him advocate the great cause of Masonic Charity by sending his missives all over the world. Wherever there was the work to be performed, Bro. Meggy was always prepared to do it. Duty was his great guiding star, and Bro. Meggy had always been ready to discharge his duty. He had been the originator of one very successful association like the present in connection with the Mark Degree. Several brethren had through it been recipients of its benefits, benefits which they would not have received but for Bro. Meggy, and great credit was due to him for his untiring perseverance and his devotion to the great cause of Masonic Charity. Life governorships were by this means easily obtainable by brethren. By a small weekly contribution they were able to do in time what the more affluent did at once. The brethren who believed they could do nothing for the Charities were shown that it was in their power to forward the great object which Masons had at heart. No matter how little a man contributed; if he contributed his mite only, it was a positive proof that he regarded the obligation he came under at his initiation. These associations had done an immense amount of good, and one of them having been worked out, testified that they were successful. On the present occasion certain brethren were anxious to show Bro. Meggy that they appreciated his efforts in aiding Masonic Charity, and they presented him with a jewel, which would remind him that they were not forgetful of his services. He was sure that in placing that mark of his brethren's affection on his (Bro. Meggy's) breast Bro. Meggy would not regard merely the pecuniary value of the jewel, but only as it exhibited the sentiments by which his brethren were actuated. With the jewel he hoped Bro. Meggy would receive the hearty and sincere thanks of the brethren for what he had hitherto done, and their best wishes for his future happiness and prosperity.

Bro. Meggy in reply said he fully appreciated the great kindness of the brethren and the good feeling shown by Bro. Binckes in the address he had just delivered. He felt that Bro. Binckes had said more of him than he deserved, but he was deeply impressed with his observations. Of what he had done for Masonry he could only say he had endeavoured to make himself a true Mason and to promote the cause of Charity. It was the great standpoint of Masonry to help their fellow creatures, and there were of course various ways of doing it. He was pleased to find what he had done in that way had met with the approbation of his brethren. When he undertook to form these associations, he did not expect that he would meet with such high approbation; but he nevertheless could not refuse to accept their acknowledgment of his poor services when it was so kindly offered. He required no such acknowledgment to spur him in his work, and he would always be ready to continue it. He had not expected the great success which had attended these associations, but he was now convinced that though they had been a marvel to himself they might be continued with equal prosperity. He agreed with Bro. Binckes, that every one might contribute something, and he should endeavour to impress that fact on the minds of the brethren.

Bro. R. Wentworth Little, responded for "The Masonic Charities," and in an able speech showed what an immense amount of good they had been the means of doing. All the Masonic Institutions worked together in great harmony, and if there was any rivalry between them, it was only that honest rivalry which was shown in trying which could do the most good. He spoke in the highest terms of the efforts of Bro. Binckes to promote the cause of charity even before he became Secretary of the Boys' School, and he thanked him for the interest he had exhibited in the Girls' School, of which he (Bro. Little) was Secretary. The usefulness of all the institutions was being very much extended, and though the Masonic Order was making such marvellous strides, the institutions were keeping pace with the extension of Masonry, and would always show themselves worthy of any support which might be given to them.

After some other speeches had been delivered, the brethren separated.

RELATIONS OF STS. JOHN TO FREE-MASONRY.

Now, there are two conflicting statements pervading those legends. Some claim that lodges were dedicated to both saints, since their own time, while others attribute the origin of dedication to the Baptist only, since the Crusades. Both ideas cannot be true, but both may be false. The question, then, is: How far back can the existence of these legends be traced with certainty?

For ascertaining this I have waded through more books than those enumerated in Bro. Pierson's preface, and, without consulting Calmet, I venture to assert that Father Calmet never said that the Baptist was a "Freemason." This is doubtless, an interpolation of Bro. Pierson, or of some former luminary. Briefly, then, I have searched through ecclesiastical histories, encyclopedias, lives of saints, and books devoted to evidences of Christianity, including Dr. N. Lardner's work of "Jewish and Heathen Testimonies," but could find nowhere any testimony of either Christian, Jew, or heathen, in relation to the Saints or Saint John being a Freemason, and as it seems impossible that such an event as the Evangelist's Masonry could have escaped the notice of all early writers, I must come to the conclusion that St. John knew as much of Masonry as the man in the moon.

But Bro. Pierson is certain that the traditions were believed by the Craft in the fifteenth century. Fortunately, we have the Halliwell poem, and the Strasburg Constitution of 1456. The former contains legends about Euclid, Atheistae, Nabogodonozor, Noah, etc., but no allusion to the Saints John. Each of these documents contain an invocation to the Godhead, the Virgin, and the "four holy crowned martyrs." These martyrs, then, were the patron saints of both English and German Masons in the fifteenth century, and not the Sts. John.

Having examined all the existing authorities before the Reformation, it is now necessary to say something about Patron Saints. Catholics entertain a notion that every society should enrol itself under the protection of some saint. Usually saints were selected who were, in this world, of the trade or of the society or sodality whom they were to be patrons of. The "four martyrs," the poem says, were "architects, and gravers of images, too." This, however, was not always adhered to; for instance, the Baptist was the patron saint of the London tailors and drapers, without pretending that he ever handled a tailor's goose or shears, or had ever presided over an assembly as a Grand Master Tailor.

The idea of a patron saint, among Catholics, is that of a celestial ambassador, who, for the honor of the appointment, is expected to keep an eye, or both eyes, open to watch over the welfare of the sodality who chose him for that office, and also to facilitate the entrance into Paradise of its departed members, and give them a comfortable place. Now this idea was rejected by the first Protestants. Hence, the first Masonic document written by a Protestant, viz. Matthew Cooke's MS. is minus the invocation, both of the "Virgin Mary" and of "the four martyrs." This author extended the history of the Craft to Enoch, and introduced a great many personages in it not found in older MSS., including St. Alban, but makes no mention of Saints or Saint John, or any kind of a patron Saint. The same may be said of those MSS. lately published by Bro. Hughan, which were, no doubt, the rituals of the pre-1717 Masons; the oldest, probably, was written in the latter half of the sixteenth century and the latest in 1714, and though each gives the history of the Craft from Enoch, they are all silent about St. John, or patron saints of any kind.

Three pre-1717 lodge records, however, do make mention of patron saints: 1st Aberdeen Lodge in 1670, revered the Evangelist as its patron; 2nd. Kilwinning Lodge, in the seventeenth century, held its meeting on the 20th December, and in 1679, it resolved hereafter to hold its festival on the 21st of December, this being St. Thomas's day; and in 1701, Alnwick Lodge, Northumberland, it is stated, revered St. Michael, the Archangel, as its patron. We do not, however, know in what year these respective appointments were made. But the mere acknowledgement by a solitary lodge of one St. John as its patron, does not necessarily imply its belief of its patron having been a veritable Grand Master, or even a Mason. This has already been shown in the case of the London Tailors versus Baptist, and may further be illustrated by Alnwick Lodge, who, though it revered St. Michael as its patron, yet it could never have supposed that the Archangel had ever handled chisel or mallet, that he had ever decorated himself with white apron and gloves, or that he had ever wielded the gavel as Grand Master of Masons.

Thus far, then, no evidence exists to sustain the Sts. John legend, or that Masons have dedicated lodges to both Sts. John, or indeed, of having dedicated lodges at all. The inference, therefore is, that the said legends were invented by very modern Masonic humbugs. They manufactured them not because of the old Catholic belief, to induce the saints to take an interest in the welfare of the Craft, and to furnish its members with comfortable quarters in the next world, but to afford the pious ones a pretext to rant and cant in Masonic meetings about what they call "Christianity;" to mar the harmony of the lodge, and to destroy the universality of the institution.

I next examined Anderson's and Desagulier's Constitutions of 1721, 1723, and 1738. Anderson began the practice of dedicating lodges to the Baptist.* He also enjoined the observance of the St. John's days by Masons. He also manufactured the story of Masons having met in 1502 on the Baptist's day; and in 1561, Elizabeth ordered the breaking up of a lodge in York on the Evangelist's day, and in 1663, the

*Webb, in 1805, dedicated his lodges to the Baptist only, and still another Monitor, of 1812, mentions also the Baptist only at the dedication.

Grand Lodge, under G. M. St. Alban's, also met on the Evangelist's day; all which is purely apocryphal. Anderson had no authority whatever for those statements. The same Anderson also enumerates all the Grand Masters, Wardens, and Deputies from Adam up to his own time, which is also fictitious; and yet, though he made every prominent man from the creation, into a Masonic Grand of some kind, he never alluded to the St. John's, as either having been G. Masters or even simple Masons.

I next perused the several works written in the last century by the most distinguished English Masonic authors, viz: "The Freemason's Pocket Companion" (both English and Scotch editions), Dermott's "Ahiman Rezon," Preston, Smith, Calcott, Hutchinson, and every publication I could find in the Massachusetts Grand Lodge Library, or that I could obtain elsewhere. The first six authors named all give the early history of the Craft, or make profound comments (Masonic fashion) on the early history of Masonry; but I could never find a solitary author of the last century who knew of the St. John's ever having been either Grand Masters or Masons.

Hutchinson says: "In modern Masonry it is given as a principle why our dedication of lodges is made to St. John, that the Masons who engaged to conquer the Holy Land chose that saint for their patron;" and he continues: "We should be sorry to appropriate the Balsarian sect of Christians to St. John as an explanation of this principle;" and then goes on; "St. John obtains our dedication [not because he learned to eat dates among the Essenes, but] as being the proclaimer of that salvation which was at hand by the coming of Christ * * * and in the name of St. John the Evangelist we acknowledge [not that he was G. M. when upwards of 90, but] the testimonies which he gives to the divine logos, etc." Here then, we see that Hutchinson, in 1775, knew nothing at all about the Masonry of the Saints. One remark more about Hutchinson; he objects to the theory of the Masons in the Holy Land having introduced the Baptist as the patron saint, on account of his reluctance "to appropriate the Balsarian sect of Christians to St. John." What he meant by it is more than I can tell, as I do not believe that "the Balsarian sect of Christians" ever existed at all; it is a bull, and yet that paragraph was quoted by Oliver, and probably by others, without stopping to inquire who the Balsarians were.

I next obtained Thomas Smith Webb's Monitor of 1805, (the first of Webb's Monitors dates 1797). Here I found for the first time in print, the Saints John Masonized; he says they (the saints) were parallels in Masonry as well as Christianity, or vice versa; but even Webb was ignorant of the cock-and-bull story so pathetically related in our lodges, of the Evangelist becoming Grand Master when upwards of ninety years of age.

I next consulted another Monitor, published in Salem, Mass., in 1822, in which I learned no more about the Saints John than Webb gave. Next, I inquired of a brother who was initiated in Massachusetts in 1821, and who very soon after his initiation took office in the lodge, and made himself well acquainted with the ritual; that brother assured me that the delectable story of the Evangelist's Grand Mastership was unknown to him for some years after his initiation.

And last, when I acquainted Bro. W. S. Gardner, Past Grand Master of Massachusetts, with the result of my inquiry, Bro. Gardner (who was certainly the best informed Grand Master that Massachusetts had had during the last 30 years, remarked "I have not the slightest doubt that the story of the Evangelist's Grand Mastership was manufactured, either at the very close of the last century, or the beginning of this."

The truth is, Anderson first began the practice of dedicating lodges to St. John the Baptist, and the Baptist only. Ramsay, in 1735, jumped therefore to the conclusion that the Masons must have been formerly connected with the Templars, from whom they borrowed the Baptist as a Patron Saint, and this led Ramsay to manufacture Templar degrees, etc. Hutchinson, in 1775, discarded the theory of Masons having derived their Patron Saint from the Templars, and candidly admitted that lodges are dedicated to the Sts. John on account of their having propagated Christianity. Dunckerley afterward manufactured the symbol of the "parallel lines," when he for the first time Masonized the saints, which Webb afterward copied into his Monitor.

This continued effort to Christianize Masonry doubtless created discontent among the then Jewish Masons. To be sure Christian Masonic luminaries then, as well as now, did not care, or trouble themselves about Masonic consistency, but I am also satisfied that, though some of the fraternity at that time were bigots, there were also others who were disposed to preserve Masonry, not for the benefit of sects, but for mankind. For instance, Preston excluded Christian prayers from his system, and in 1813, the Grand Lodge of England itself abolished the keeping of saints' days, and of dedicating lodges to saints. It was about the period when these conflicting ideas agitated the minds of the active members of the Craft, or as Bro. Gardner thinks, either the latter part of the last, or the beginning of this century. About that time, a Masonic quack invented the fable of the St. John's Grand Mastership. This fable is as greedily seized by the Godly St. John day lecturers of the Pierson kind; it was voraciously swallowed by the pious noodles, and it was welcomed by the conservatives; a class who think more of expediency than principle, and who will not scruple to resort to the meanest dodges and quibbles in order to stop all kinds of reform. They welcomed the fable, imagining that it would serve as a soothing balm to allay the irritated conscience of the Jewish Masons. So that their future grumbling about the violation of the promises received at their initiation might be answered, as Bro. Mackay really did afterwards answer, "We do not dedicate lodges to the Saints John because they were Christian saints, but because they were eminent Masons." This, however, did not satisfy the Jews, and the result was, in 1813, Dr. Flemming, an English clergyman, when ordered to revise the ritual, abolished the practice of dedicating lodges to the Saints John, and the Grand Lodge discontinued observing the saints' days as Masonic festivals.

Having proved that our Masonic legend mongers are either a pack of credulous and ignorant scribblers, or totally void of the principles of truth, honour, and justice, I shall here only add that the obstinate retention of those pious frauds in our ritual by our Grand Lodge luminaries, in spite of all demonstrations and remonstrances, must certainly tend ere long, to arouse an indignant contempt for the Masonic institution, both among Jewish Masons and the better minded portion of the Christian community.

PRESENTATION TO A BROTHER.—Last Friday evening, at the conclusion of a successful benefit entertainment for Bro. Sam. Hague, proprietor of the "Hague Minstrels" who then completed the third year of uninterrupted and genuine success at St. James's Hall, Liverpool, the whole of his company were entertained by him to a magnificent supper at his residence. During the evening, Bro. T. D. Fenner, Stage Manager, and interlocutor on behalf of the whole company, presented Bro. Hague with a splendid sterling silver tea and coffee service, and claret jug, cup, &c., as a token of the esteem in which he is held as an enterprising manager and a thorough gentleman. Bro. Fenner also presented Mrs. Hague with a very handsome silver cup. Bro. Hague feelingly acknowledged the gifts, and assured every member of his troupe that he would strive to retain their esteem, and provide entertainments which would be worthy the support of the public.

"FREEMASONRY :—ITS SYMBOLISM, RELIGIOUS NATURE, AND LAW OF PERFECTION."

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Will you permit me to say a few words in your paper with reference to a review which appeared in the November number of the Masonic Magazine, of my recently published work, "Freemasonry: its Symbolism, Religious Nature, and Law of Perfection." I do not complain of the review, I am far from having any reason to do so. If it had been a severe cutting up of my book, I would not have complained, unless in case of manifest unfairness. But this is far from being the case. The review is evidently written in a fair and brotherly spirit, and I have to thank the writer of it for a meed of praise even beyond my expectation. But although, perhaps, the reviewer may be right in thinking that I have undertaken too wide a field, I cannot agree with him in deeming the Religious Nature of Freemasonry and its Law of perfection subjects not cognate to that of Masonic Symbolism, which occupies the greater portion of the work, nor in thinking that Jewish Symbolism is a subject not much to the point in a Masonic treatise on Masonic Symbolism. According to the tradition of our Order, we derive our Freemasonry from the ancient Jews; and many of the most familiar Masonic symbols have reference to things Jewish, so that it seemed and still seems to me, that some account of Jewish Symbolism is a proper introduction to the study of Masonic Symbolism. But this is of little consequence. If I have erred in making the book a little larger than it needed to have been, by a few chapters on a subject which it was not necessary for me to treat of, the reader who does not care for it may pass them over. As to the religious nature of Freemasonry, I hold that subject to be most intimately connected with its symbolism, for the doctrines of religion are inwrought into the whole system of Masonic Symbolism. And as to the Masonic Law of Perfection, that physical perfection which is required in candidates for admission into the Masonic Order, is itself symbolical of the moral perfection which it is the great aim of Freemasonry to promote. Thus in writing of Masonic Symbolism, I felt it impossible to avoid these subjects.

I must beg leave also to say that I cannot admit the soundness of my reviewer's criticism of my explanation of the Pentalpha, when he says "He confounds the Pentalpha or Pentacle as it is sometimes called," (Pentacle, I suspect being a misprint for Pentaugh,) "with Solomon's Seal, though afterwards adopted by the Christians, and Solomon's Seal, was the double triangle, the well known symbol of our Royal Arch." I have not confounded the Pentalpha with Solomon's Seal, but have merely mentioned the old legend of its having been the device engraved on Solomon's Seal, and also on the foundation stone of his Temple, without expressing any opinion as to its truth. When the reviewer goes on to say, "it is somewhat strange that Bro. Paton apparently altogether ignores the double triangle, though it is really one of the earliest of our Masonic Symbols, and was even used as a Mark," I must say that I differ from him as to its having ever been used as a mark. Every Freemason knows that a Masonic mark must have an odd number of points, as the Pentalpha has, whereas the double triangle has an even number, six. And however early may have been the use of the double triangle as a Masonic Symbol, it has never, that I am aware, been received as a symbol of Craft Masonry, which alone is acknowledged by the Grand Lodge of Scotland, and universally throughout the world. It is a symbol of Royal Arch Masonry, but as the reader will find stated in my book, I have strictly limited myself, in my explanation of Masonic Symbols, to those of Craft Masonry.

I cannot conclude without again expressing my sense of the kind treatment which I have received from the reviewer of my book, for the acknowledgment of the book as the fullest work on Masonic Symbolism which has yet appeared, as well as of the encouragement the reviewer gives me to proceed in a design, which I have long entertained, of pursuing the subject through that department of which he points out the omission, the History or Archæology of Masonic Symbolism. But I know that the subject is a difficult one, and that much laborious research would be necessary. If I can find time for the work, I hope to enter upon it.

I am Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

CHALMERS I. PATON.

SPIRITUALISM.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Bro. Keet, has an easy way of disposing of facts of which he happens to be uncognisant, and which he therefore deems incredible. He assumes the thing in dispute, and concludes that he has disposed of it. Shakspeare has made Hamlet speak of the "undiscovered country" as "that bourne whence no traveller returns." Is Bro. Keet willing to take Shakspeare as arbitrator? Will he, on this and on all other questions, take the authority of Shakspearian against all other authorities, and against the individual experience, and recorded testimony of millions of persons, who, if not, Shaksperes, include some of the greatest scientists of Europe and America; and does he believe that any one who dissents from that authority has "fallen into the grave of superstition?" But if Shaksperian authority is enough, we claim it on our behalf. That Shakspeare believed in Spiritual manifestations is testified to by many passages in his writings; nay, Hamlet himself is not made to believe that the undiscovered country is "that bourne whence no traveller returns," for he had previously been satisfied that he had seen and conversed with the disembodied spirit of his father. He was satisfied that it was no illusion, for he exclaims, on the ghost's parting injunction to remember him—"remember thee? yes, from the table of my memory I'll wipe away all trivial fond records, all saws of books, all forms, all pressures past that youth and observation copied there, and thy commandment all alone shall live within the book and volume of my brain, unmixed with baser matter: yes, by Heaven!" The truth seems to be, that Hamlet is made to appear so far the victim of prejudice, that he occasionally resists the evidence of his senses, and utters thoughts which his reason repudiates. There are Hamlets in these our days, as sceptical and as inconsistent as was the Prince of Denmark.

As I do not pretend, like Bro. Keet, to possess "knowledge of all things possible," I shall not presume to discuss with him, whether "spirits in the flesh, can communicate from one part of the earth to another," without an electric cable. I am ready to accept any new discovery, on adequate evidence, but not to pronounce a thing, of which I know nothing, to be "more possible" than something which I do know.

Will Bro. Keet kindly inform me where I can find it recorded, that investigations into spiritualism which have taken place have produced no satisfactory result, simply, according to the spiritualists, because the persons present were sceptical?

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF FIFE.
CONSECRATION OF A LODGE AT CROSSGATES.

A meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Fife and Kinross was held at Crossgates, by Dunfermline, on the 5th inst., for the purpose of consecrating the Lodge of St. John, Crossgates, No. 540. It is only of recent date that the spirit of Freemasonry began to show itself in the locality; but the increase of membership has been so rapid that already even the local Order is regarded as an "institution," and with a view of giving clat to this occasion, business seemed, as it were, for the nonce suspended. The brethren belonging to Crossgates assembled about ten o'clock, and walked in procession to the station to await the arrival of the trains bearing deputations, invited from such lodges in Edinburgh, Perth, and Dundee, &c., as might make it convenient to attend. The various trains having arrived, it was evident that the Fraternity from other quarters was to be well represented, and that, with the crowd which had assembled, the display altogether would be worth witnessing. The procession having been formed under the direction of Wm. Bryce, Tyler of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, took its way to M'Lean's Hall, in the village, where the business of the day was to be transacted. All along the route large groups were assembled here and there, who lustily cheered as the procession passed along. Having reached the place of meeting, which was neatly decorated with Masonic emblems and mottoes, enhancing the effect of the glittering costumes of the brethren themselves, no time was lost in putting the local lodge and deputations in working order. A raised platform at one end of the room was occupied by the following members of the Grand and Provincial Grand Lodges:—John Whyte-Melville, P.G.M.; J. T. Oswald, S.P.G.M.; Captain Lindsay, Acting S.P.G.W.; Rev. David Rose, Ferryport-on-Craig, Acting Grand Chaplain; P. H. Pagan, P.G. Secretary; and W. M. Bryce, Acting P.G. Tyler. The other lodges represented, giving the names of the Right Worshipful Masters, or their deputies, were:—No. 5, Leith and Canongate (vice versa), Wm. Kelly and R. Wooley. No. 19, St. John's Cupar, John Hood, R.W.M. No. 26, St. John's Dunfermline; R. Lindsay, R.W.M. No. 250, Union, Dunfermline; John Stewart, R.W.M. 400, Duncarn, Burntisland; T. Hutchison, R.W.M.; No. 468, Oswald of Dunnicker, A. Galloway, R.W.M. No. 532, Rothes, Leslie; and other visiting brethren from Innerkeithing, and even No. 382, Kirkwall Kilwinning, which, with the members of the local lodge, increased the number of Freemasons present to close on 300.

The Provincial Grand Lodge having been opened in due form, and Bro. Whyte-Melville, the P.G.M., on whom the duty of consecrating the lodge devolved, having stated why he had called the present lodge, the charter granted by the Grand Lodge was read by the P.G. Secretary, which, having been considered, was sustained; and after all the usual and necessary forms, ceremonies, and solemnities, the Lodge St. John, Crossgates, was declared regularly consecrated. The various office-bearers were then installed as follows:—Henry Cook, R.W.M.; John Paterson, S.W.; Thomas Muir Long, D.M.; Thomas Campbell, S.W.; Alex. M'Lean, J.W.; Walter Beveridge, Treasurer; Andrew W. Cowen, Sec.; William Reid, S.D.; Wm. Sharp, J.D.; Andrew Campbell, Inner Guard; David Robertson, Tyler; W. Spence, S.S.D.; James Brand, Chaplain, &c. Each office-bearer having been invested with the jewel of his office, and the P.G.M. having complimented them on the progress they had made, Bro. Cook, R.W.M., in appropriate terms, warmly acknowledged the obligation his lodge and himself were under to the R.W.P.M., and the various officers of Grand Lodge, for their attendance, and the admirable and impressive manner in which the consecration had been conducted, and the several office-bearers installed. He also thanked the deputations for their attendance.

The lodge was then duly closed, and the principal business of the day having thus been accomplished, the brethren were again marshalled by Bro. Bryce, who handed some of the jewels and "valuables" belonging to Grand Lodge to the most deserving office-bearers, in token of the progress they had made in the "ancient, high, and honourable art," and the whole body again walked in procession through the village and neighbourhood.

After perambulating the place to the lively strains of the band for fully an hour, the company returned to the hall, where a Masonic banquet was held in honour of the occasion—the P.G.M. presiding. After doing ample justice to the repast, numerous appropriate and complimentary toasts were given and responded to. Loyalty was duly expressed, as was also patriotism; and the other toasts were much of the usual post-prandial character. Having spent a harmonious and happy afternoon, the company separated after the manner of Freemasons—

"Happy to meet, sorry to part, and happy to meet again."

It is hardly necessary to say that the brethren were highly gratified with the excellent arrangements and work performed under the direction of P.G.M. Whyte-Melville, whose devotion to the Order is well known and highly appreciated by all Freemasons.

In the evening a ball was given in the hall, when good fellowship was observed—the old maxim of the Order "We meet on the level, and part on the square," was evidently not forgotten by the brethren present. Everything went on successfully, and the "Guy Fawkes' day" of 1873, will we are sure, be long remembered in and about Crossgates.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF DERBYSHIRE.

The Provincial Grand Lodge of Derbyshire Freemasons held their annual meeting on Wednesday the 5th inst., at the Assembly Rooms, Market-place, Derby. The attendance was not so large as usual.

The lodge was opened at 2.30 by Bro. H. C. Okeover, D.P.G.M., in form, prayer being offered up by Bro. the Rev. A. A. Bagshawe, M.A., Vicar of Wormhill, Buxton, R.D., and Provincial Grand Chaplain.

The minutes of the two previous Grand Lodges were read and confirmed. The Worshipful Masters of the numerous lodges read their annual reports, from which it appeared that Masonry had very much increased during the past year.

The Masonic Hall Committee presented their report, which was adopted.

Bro. T. Cox was unanimously re-elected Treasurer.

A proposition was made that a sum of £250 be transferred from the funds of the Provincial Grand Lodge to the Derbyshire Masonic Hall fund.

On the motion of Bro. J. CROSSLEY, P.P.G. S.W., seconded by Bro. the Rev. A. A. BAGSHAWE, P.G. Chaplain, the sum of £250 was unanimously adopted.

The banquet was held at the St. James's Hotel, at five o'clock in the evening, under the presidency of H. C. Okeover; Bro. the Rev. A. A. Bagshawe being in the vice chair. The usual Masonic toasts were given and duly responded to.

CONSECRATION OF A NEW LODGE AT CROSSHILL, GLASGOW:

Crosshill and Queen's Park, though fashionable suburbs of Glasgow, are not in the County of Lanark, but in the Masonic Province of East Renfrewshire. It having been thought desirable to open a lodge there, for the benefit of those who reside on the south side of the city, Bro. J. D. Parkins, P.M. of 360, with the assistance of Bro. Giles, and Findlater, set about raising a lodge, and in order that it might be completed, they also determined to get up a hall of their own. The labours of the officers for the last few weeks have been unremitting, to get the hall, fitted, painted and decorated, but the coup d'œil presented, when it was opened fully repaid them for their trouble. The roof wants a little more attention to make it complete, but with that exception the arrangements were nearly complete. The chairs are massive, and covered with purple. Instead of the usual pedestals in front, they have followed the description of the Masonic Temple in Philadelphia by having at the right side a pillar with a wide top representing respectively the Doric Ionic, and Corinthian columns, the centre of the room was covered with crimson cloth, the walls were tastefully draped and ornamented with rosettes and evergreens. The hall is lighted from the roof, and perfectly ventilated. At half-past 4 o'clock Col. Campbell, M.P., P.G.M. of Renfrewshire East, entered the Hall, accompanied by H. Lee Hervey, P.G.D.M.; W. Robertson, P.G.S.M.; O. G. McGregor, P.G.S.W.; J. Caldwell, P.G.J.W.; Jas. B. Lamb, P.G.A.; Rev. Stephen, P.G. Chap.; Alex McLeod, P.G.S.D.; Jas. Buchanan, P.G.S.B.; John Creswick, P.G.M.; and Thos. Bustad, P.G.T. Amongst the visitors we recognised:—J. C. Spiers, Mother Kilwinning No. 10; T. J. Smilie R.W.M. No. 3; J. Miller, R.W.M. 87; A. Burton, R.W.M. 109; J. Thickwood, R.W.M. 157; J. Wilson, R.W.M. 219; G. McNaught, R.W.M. 273; J. Carringham, R.W.M. 357; J. Mere, R.W.M. 390; J. Anderson, R.W.M. 370; J. Miller, R.W.M. 413; J. Walker, R.W.M. 524; and C. Jum, P.M. 2 (I.C.). While the Royal Arch was represented by the following Principals. J. Miller, Z. 50; J. Duthie, P.Z. 67; G. W. Wheeler, H. 73; J. Singleton, P.Z. 87; Thos. Holthet, 113; G. Thollon, Z. 119; and above 200 brethren. The lodge having been opened in due form by the P.G.M. and his Wardens, the P.G. Chap. gave the invocation, the choir sang the Anthem "Ye gates lift up your heads." The P.G.M. then gave an Oration on Masonry, in the course of which he narrated the history of Freemasonry from the early days of Egyptian Masonry, stating that during his recent travelling in Egypt and the East, he was fully convinced that the necessity of organization at the building of the Pyramids and Temples of antiquity had led to the establishment of Masonic Lodges. Let any one stand as he had at the Temple of Avena and gaze at the statues of the gods, cut from the solid rock, with that gracious smile on their faces, as, like our J.W., they sit with their backs to the rays of the sun, and then say that there is nothing in the alleged antiquity of our Order. This old fraternity of Masons had travelled all over Europe, and in our own land they had left their marks in such places as the old Abbey of Thelwinny and the grand Cathedral of St. Mungo, in Glasgow; the old Masons had done much for the exterior of it and the munificence of Masons and others had now so added to its interior magnificence, that it stands a glorious memorial of the old Masonic art. No one can gaze on the old Masonic piles, and see the Mason marks left on them by the builders of former ages, and then go away and say there is nothing in Masonry, or that it is merely a thing of the present day. But the days of the old operative Masonry are past, and now it is only mural temples that we have to build. These temples are built in our various lodges on the solid foundation of the open volume of the Sacred Law, and on this point he would ask them to bear in mind the grand address given them by their own G.W.M. elect at the first meeting of the lodge. With such a Master, and such principles to guide them, he had no fear for the future prosperity of the Marie Stuart Lodge, but was sure that it would prove a blessing, not only to the brethren belonging to it, but to the whole of the inhabitants of Crosshill, and even extend its influence to the City of Glasgow. After the lodge had been properly consecrated, the P.G.M. proceeded to install the following brethren as officers of the lodge: J. D. Porteus, R.W.M.; Wm. Gillies, Depute Master; John Johnston, Substitute Master; J. Brodie, S.W.; W. M. Mason, J.W.; Thos. Renton, Treas.; S. Findlater, Sec.; James Stanning, S.D.; and J. Fraser, J.D. The charge to the Masters was given by the P.G.M. in a masterly style, and with the address to the Wardens and Officers elicited repeated cheers. The newly installed R.W.M. briefly thanked the P.G.M. for his kindness in coming to conduct these ceremonies in person, and requested him to kindly continue to fill the chair during the remainder of the proceedings. Col. Campbell having resumed the chair, the lodge was called from labour to refreshment, in the course of which the R.W.M. proposed "The Prov. Grand Lodge of Renfrewshire East," expressing the thanks of the lodge to the brethren, most of whom had come from a considerable distance to assist in these ceremonies, Col. Campbell, M.P., P.G.M. in reply expressed his pleasure and that of the Provincial Grand Lodge at the admirable arrangements that had been made for their comfort, also for that of the numerous brethren, not only from their own Province, but from the Sister Province of Glasgow who had to come to give eclat to the preceding Masonry, he said, was growing rapidly in his province, this was the seventh lodge he had consecrated in six years, and professed to be one of the best. He would now give, "Success to the Marie Stuart Lodge, with the Health of its First Master. Bro. Porteus in replying invited the Sister Lodges in the Provinces of Glasgow, to visit them when they should be settled down to their usual work. They had till the present been working under a dispensation, and then sickness had been great, but the large attendance to-day he took as a augury of even better things in the future, and it would be the constant care of himself and officer to see that Masonry did not suffer in any way to the establishment of the Maire Stuart. The lodge having been recalled to labour was shortly after closed by the P.G.M. in accordance with ancient custom. The ceremonies were much enhanced by the excellent singing of the brethren who had volunteered to form the choir, amongst who we recognised Bros. Robert Faazer, J. Miller, 250; J. McPhie, R. Robertson, Bolman, R. Seak, and others. Bro. Thompson presided at the Harmonium.

AID TO HAPPINESS AND HEALTH.—Bilious affections, with all their concomitant annoyances, induced by atmospheric changes, or too liberal diet, should be checked at once, or serious consequences may ensue. When any one finds his ideas less clear than usual, his eyesight dimmed, and his head dizzy, with indisposition for all exertion, physical or mental, he may be quite sure that he is in immediate need of some cooling and purifying medicine. Let him send at once for a box of Holloway's Pills, which will free him from his sufferings, and speedily recover his usual healthful feelings. If the bowels be irritable, Holloway's Ointment should be diligently rubbed over the stomach and liver every night and morning.—ADVT.

We have much pleasure in introducing the same to the notice of our many readers who may visit the fair city, feeling assured that they will meet with every attention from those in charge. The address is—Messrs. Flor and Findel, German and Foreign Booksellers, 24, Lung Arno Acciajoli, Florence, Italy. Prints, photographs, pictures, and English stationery, are also kept in stock.—ADVT.

There are in connection with the College THREE ANNUAL EXHIBITIONS, open for general competition to all students, and tenable for three years.

Special Classes are formed for preparing students for the Legal, Medical, Home, Colonial, and Indian Civil Service Examinations; and for entrance to Woolwich, Coopers-hill, and the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, Dublin, Durham, and Edinburgh.

The Religious Teaching is based on strictly Protestant Principles, in accordance with the Doctrines and Liturgy of the Church of England.

Students requiring a commercial education only, are exempt from the classical course, if desired.

The year consists of two terms, during which there are no holidays, the only vacations being at Midsummer and Christmas.

The use of all class books, valuable library, stationery (except mathematical instruments) laundry, &c., is included in the terms. No Extras of any kind.

The High School—Students from 16 to 23 years of age.
The Middle School—Students from 12 to 16 years of age.

The Preparatory School—Students under 12 years of age.

The College is divided into three sections. In the

PREPARATORY SCHOOL

(entirely distinct, but contiguous)

Boys are well grounded in the elements of a sound English Education, with French and German (also in Latin and Greek if for the learned professions), and prepared for the High or Middle School. In the High School the course of study is a preparation for the Universities and the various competitive examinations; while the Middle School trains pupils in such subjects as will qualify them for scientific and commercial pursuits.

Alston College is pleasantly situated, about six miles from Preston, and half a mile from Longridge Railway Station; is in immediate proximity to beautiful mountain scenery, within half an hour's ride of the chief watering places on the western coast of Lancashire, and is considered by Medical Professors to be in one of the healthiest localities in England—a fact sufficiently proved by the remarkably good health enjoyed by the students and regularly confirmed by the half-yearly medical reports.

Extensive Cricket Grounds are attached to the College Farms, whilst a spacious covered Gymnasium and Student's Hall, available for recreation, drill, &c., adjoin.

Reports of all examinations, together with the names of those students who have distinguished themselves at the College and the Universities, as Exhibitors, Medalists and Prizemen, also the reports of the late examinations, together with views of the College buildings, and all necessary information, forwarded on application to the Rector, or to

Mr. GEORGE CLIFFORD, Secretary.

References kindly permitted to Bro. Masons, and to the late Examiners: Rev. T. H. Lindsay Leary, M.A., D.C.L. (Oxon), Assistant Examiner to Her Majesty's Civil Service Commission, Crawford Cottage, Epsom; T. W. CROSBY'S

BALSAMIC

COUGH ELIXIR.

Opiates, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief in Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling the digestive organs, and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy.

Dr. Rooke, Scarborough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdued cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease."

This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Night Sweats of Consumption, Quinsy, and all affections of the throat and chest. Sold in bottles at 1s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, by all respectable Chemists, and wholesale by Jas. M. Crosby, Chemist, Scarborough.

SUNDERLAND.—Palatine Lodge (No. 91).—The brethren of the Palatine Lodge assembled in the Masonic Hall, Toward Road, on Thursday 13th inst., under the presidency of the W.M., Brother R. Humphrey, P.G.S.D. This being the annual meeting for the election of W.M. for the ensuing year, the choice of the brethren fell on Brother S. P. Austin, S.W. He was declared by the Master as W.M. elect. The brethren, about 50 in number, afterwards adjourned to the banquetting hall, when after a very choice repast, Brother S. P. Austin, S.W., rose, and in a suitable address, in the course of which he was warmly applauded, begged of the W.M. to accept from the members of the lodge a very handsome full-dress suit of Provincial Grand Lodge clothing, together with a jewel, as P.G.S.D., in recognition of the very eminent services rendered by Bro. R. Humphrey to the Craft in general, and more particularly with reference to the arduous duties undertaken by him, when recently, as a Steward to the Grand Lodge, he collected and carried to London the substantial sum of upwards of £300 for the benefit of the Boys' School at Wood Green, London, this being perhaps the largest sum ever collected by one brother. The jewel bore the following inscription:—"Presented by the brethren of the Palatine Lodge, No. 97, to Bro. R. Humphrey, W.M., together with Provincial Grand Lodge Clothing—Senior Deacon, in recognition of the valuable services rendered by him to the Craft in general. Nov. 13th 1873."—The following lodges were represented:—No. 80, Bro. Elwen, P.M. and W.M. Elect; No. 94, Bro. R. Lutert, S.W. and W.M. Elect; No. 424, Bro. Jonathan Cooke, P.M.; No. 949, Bro. Shadforth, J.W.; No. 1389, Bro. Riley, J.W.; as well as many respective members. Amongst the P.M.'s present were Bros. H. Crooks, Provincial Grand Secretary; Bros. J. J. Clay, I.P.M., Wm. Skelton, J. Stainsby, G. Lord, M. Allison, P. Vistendahl. These, as well as all others present, rose and cheered heartily when Bro. Humphrey had been invested with the clothing and jewel. Afterwards the recipient addressed the brethren, and said in the course of his remarks that the handsome present made to him that night would remind him of the duties he owed, not only to the Palatine, but to all lodges in the province, and he would make it his study to deserve the fraternal esteem of the members in general, and he trusted that his children might be spared to join the Craft, and look on the beautiful gift as a token of the appreciation in which their father had been held; and he might say one of his boys was already a life governor of the school, having obtained that honour when only 20 minutes old. Bro. Humphrey resumed his seat amid long-continued cheering, Masonic toasts and harmony passed away a very enjoyable night—one such as has never been known in the new hall. The goods were from the noted firm of G. Kenning, Little Britain, London.—Newcastle Journal.

ROYAL GLOUCESTER LODGE OF INSTRUCTION (No. 130).—A most interesting meeting of this Lodge of Instruction, was held at Freemasons' Hall, Bugle-street, Southampton, on Monday week, on which occasion the members gave practical proof of their ability for Masonic Work, tangible proof of their gratitude to one who was mainly instrumental in establishing the lodge and during the three years of its existence acting as Preceptor. After opening the lodge, in due form the seven sections of the first lecture were worked as follows:—

Bro. J. B. Thomas W.M., Preceptor.
First Lecture, 1st Section	Bro. Hickman.
" " 2nd "	" Philips.
" " 3rd "	" Manby.
" " 4th "	" Feuvre.
" " 5th "	" Wilson.
" " 6th "	" Miles.
" " 7th "	" Sharpe.

At the conclusion of which the W.M. (Bro. Thomas), in a few words, reviewed the history of the lodge, since its establishment, and congratulated the members on its success, showing how it had begun, by two or three of them meeting to learn the first three sections, and that afterwards through the instrumentality of Wor. Bro. Le Feuvre, it had been founded as a regular Lodge of Instruction, had done much good in instructing the Masters nominate and other officers of the different lodges of the Town in their coming duties, and in providing a number of brethren, ready qualified, and capable of filling any temporarily vacant office in lodge if called upon to do so. He proceeded to show that all this good result was mainly due to Wor. Bro. Le Feuvre's exertions, who had at great sacrifice of time and of his own convenience, done so much to help the lodge forward, and keep it going. He (the W.M.) then on behalf of the lodge presented Wor. Bro. Le Feuvre with a P. Prov G. Sec. jewel, and begged he would accept and wear it as a token of the obligation the lodge felt under to him for his past and present services in founding and maintaining it in its present efficiency. Wor. Bro. Le Feuvre was quite taken by surprise at this sudden termination of the W.M.'s remarks, he expressed his great gratification at the compliment paid him, but regretted he had not had some previous intimation of the intention of the brethren, as he should have been then better able to give expression to his feelings on the subject. He assured the brethren he felt their kindness very much, and that he should ever esteem and wear the jewel in remembrance of his connection with the lodge, and of their willingness to assist him, for without their aid he could have done little, and although his occupation as Preceptor seemed to be nearly gone, his pupils having taken the lead of him, (no, no,) he should always be ready and ever willing to aid and assist them in all their undertakings. He begged to thank them from the bottom of his heart.

TRANQUILITY LODGE (No. 185).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, on Monday, the 17th inst., which was attended by a vast number of brethren. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. Bros. Cohen and Phillips were passed to the second degree, and Bros. Foss, Rees, Child, and Croaker, raised to the sublime degree of M.M. The W.M., Bro. Nathan Moss, conferred these degrees in his usually impressive manner, and his working throughout was perfect. The lodge was resumed in the first degree, and the sum of £10 was unanimously voted from the funds of the lodge to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and Widows of Freemasons, the same to be placed on the list of the W.M., who has undertaken a Stewardship of the said institution. A further sum of ten guineas was voted towards a testimonial for the retiring W.M. The lodge was then closed and the brethren repaired to the banquet chamber. A very substantial repast was provided, under the able presidency of the newly-appointed sub-manager of the hotel, Bro. Smith, and we congratulate him upon his success in catering for the brethren, who expressed themselves on this occasion, thoroughly well pleased with his efforts. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and ably responded to. Several of the members contributed to the harmony of the evening, the most noteworthy being Bro. T. P. Child, who sang "Come into the Garden, Maud," with taste and ability. The S.W., Bro. John Constable, solicited the members to encourage the project for obtaining a Life Governorship of the Benevolent Institution;—to this we referred some months since, and we heartily wish him success in his undertaking. The example presented by the principal officers of this lodge is well worthy of emulation, the W.M., S.W. & J.W., having each undertaken the Stewardship of the Benevolent Institution at the next festival, and we hear that the S.W. has collected a very considerable sum. The brethren separated early, after a very agreeable evening.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—St. Hilda Lodge (No. 240).—A meeting of this lodge was held at South Shields on Monday week, when Bro. E. Thomson, J.W., was unanimously elected to the office of Worshipful Master for next year. The brethren at the same time resolved to subscribe five guineas annually to the funds of the Ingham Infirmary, South Shields.

PECKHAM LODGE (No. 879).—Whatever differences may have been observed among the brethren of the Peckham Lodge during the past year, it is impossible to imagine a more harmonious gathering than that which assembled on Thursday last, the 13th inst., at Bro. Freeland's Southwark Park Tavern, Bermondsey. The lodge was opened at half-past six, military time, by the W.M., Bro. C. W. Kent, assisted by Bros. Pennefather, S.W. and pro tem Secretary; T. A. Hudson, J.W.; J. Howe, P.M., Treasurer; E. Brewster, J.D.; A. Emler, D.C.; Villenger, W.S.; and O. Lingwood, I.G. Bro. Knowles was crafted; and Messrs. T. Kent, J.J. and G. Latt, initiated into the Order. Another candidate would have been initiated had time permitted. Bro. Johnson, of No. 1178, was admitted as a joining member. Many propositions of candidates were made for the next meeting of the lodge. An excellent banquet was afterwards partaken of by the brethren, and the proceedings throughout were enthusiastic and harmonious in the highest degree. Among the numerous visitors we observed Bros. W. H. Green, W.M., 619; H. Bartlett, W.M., 147; G. J. Wintle, W.M., 548; T. Neville, P.M., 765; J. J. Hole and J. Phillips, 73; E. J. R. Lugg, 193; J. Davison, 299; and many others.

DUKE OF EDINBURGH LODGE (No. 1259).—The installation meeting of this lodge was held for the first time at the Cape of Good Hope Tavern, Commercial Road, E., on Tuesday, the 4th instant, the lodge having lately been removed from the New Globe, Mile End Road. The business commenced by balloting for six candidates, four of whom, Messrs. Armstrong, McKenzie, Hancock and Rowlandsen, being in attendance, were duly initiated in the mysteries and privileges of Freemasonry. Bro. Weatherill the W.M. elect, was duly installed in the chair of K.S. The beautiful ceremony of installation was most effectively rendered by Bro. Barford, P.M., assisted by Bro. T. J. Barnes, P.M. 933 and 554. The W.M. then appointed and invested his officers as follows:—Bros. W. Darling, S.W.; W. Hogg, W.M. 1349, J.W.; E. Jex, P.M., Treas.; G. Clayton, Sec.; W. Lusty, S.D.; G. Rowe, J.D.; R. Bradbrook, I.G.; Verry, Tyler. Bro. Weatherill, W.M., then had the pleasing duty to perform of presenting the I.P.M., Bro. Salter, with a very handsome P.M. Jewel. The Installing Master then, on behalf of the W.M., and brethren of the lodge, presented Bro. E. Jex, P.M. and Treasurer, with a massive silver cup, subscribed for by the brethren, as a token of their regard and esteem for the valuable services he had rendered to the lodge. The recipients of these presents returned thanks, after which the brethren adjourned to a banquet. The usual toasts were proposed and responded to.

ALDERSHOT.—Aldershot Camp Lodge (No. 1331).—An emergency meeting of this lodge was held at the Royal Hotel, Aldershot, on Thursday, the 30th October, 1873, when the chair was occupied by the W.M., Bro. Capt. Richardson, he being supported by the presence of all his officers, and a numerous attendance of the brethren. The lodge having been opened in form, Bro. P.M. J. Balfour Cockburn, M.D., 30°, and Bro. P.M. Samuel Cole, W.M. No. 1424, P. Prov. G. P. Kent, were balloted for as joining members, the ballot in each case being unanimous. Four candidates were also balloted for, and a fifth, previously elected, appeared on the agenda paper for initiation, but only two of them being present, Messrs. Fisher, and Peterkin, they were duly initiated into the mysteries and privileges of the Order. Bro. Irwin, was passed as F.C., and Bro. Pain raised to the sublime degree. The Report of the Committee of reference, respecting the audit of the Treasurer's Accounts for the past year, &c., was then read and unanimously approved, after which it was proposed by the W.M. elect, seconded, and resolved by the brethren that a vote of thanks be given to Bro. Capt. Richardson, the W.M., for his services to the lodge generally, and for his year of office in particular, during which he has acted in the joint capacity of W.M. and Treasurer, also for the highly satisfactory manner in which the balance sheet for 1872-73, had been prepared by him. The lodge was then closed with prayer, about 7.30 p.m.

The annual Installation meeting of this lodge was held in the same place, on Thursday, the 6th inst., at 3 o'clock p.m., when the chair was again taken by the W.M. Bro. Capt. Richardson, Installing officer, the whole of his officers being again present. The lodge having been opened in form, and the minutes of the last regular meeting and lodge of emergency separately read and confirmed, the lodge was opened in the second degree, and Bro. A. McKenzie, the W.M. elect, presented for the benefit of Installation, by Bro. J. Balfour Cockburn, 30°. The usual preliminaries, having been gone through, a board consisting of eight Installed Masters, was convened, and Bro. McKenzie placed in the chair of K.S., according to ancient custom. He then invested his I.P.M. The Master Masons having been admitted, the new W.M. was saluted, proclaimed, and greeted in that degree; the working tools presented and the charge to the W.M. being delivered by the Installing Officer. The lodge was resumed to the second degree, and the F.C.'s admitted, when the W.M. was saluted, proclaimed, and greeted in that degree, the W.T. of which were likewise presented. The lodge was resumed to first degree, and the E.A.'s admitted, when the ceremonies of saluting, &c., appertaining to that degree, were carried out; after which the Book of Constitutions, Bye-Laws and Warrant of the lodge, were duly delivered into the custody of Bro. McKenzie. The charges to the Wardens and brethren were then given in a correct, and most impressive manner by the Installing Officer, the I.P.M., who received the hearty congratulations of the brethren, especially of the visitors from lodges in the locality, and other provinces, for the faultless manner in which the whole ceremony had been conducted. A valuable gold P.M.'s jewel subscribed for by a number of the brethren, was then presented to the I.P.M. Bro. Richardson, who in returning thanks, expressed his delight that the humble endeavours he had made to faithfully, zealously, and impartially administer the duties of his office, had met with the approbation of the brethren, assured them that he prized very highly the decoration they had conferred upon him, and really appreciated it in a much higher degree, than if it had been simply presented from the lodge funds. Bro. Williams, Surveyor, R. E. department, having been proposed and seconded as a joining member, the lodge was closed with solemn prayer, about quarter to 5 o'clock p.m. The Installation banquet, at which forty or more brethren sat down, took place at half-past 5 o'clock. The new W.M. presiding, when from the beautiful and artistic manner in which the tables had been laid, combined with the brilliant uniforms of the military, and the evening costume of the visiting civilian brethren, the spacious well lighted room in which the banquet was served, presented an aspect rarely to be witnessed on such occasions. The catering of Bro. Kneec, the host, could not be surpassed, and all present expressed their high satisfaction at the unexceptionable quality of everything supplied. The usual Masonic toasts were given and responded to with the greatest cordiality, and after spending a most enjoyable evening, the brethren began to separate at half-past 10 o'clock, the visiting brethren expressing themselves highly delighted with the very cordial reception they had received.

CHIPPING SODBURY.—Tyndall Lodge (No. 1363).—The installation of Bro. F. Vizard, as W.M. of this lodge, took place at the Town Hall, Chipping Sodbury, on the 5th inst., when there were present Bros. Henry Gratte, P.M., P. G.S.D., Mon., 471; Robert Fendick, P.P.G.S. W., Bristol, 103; Richard Fox Gee, P. Prov. D. C. Bristol, 103; W. Benham, P. Prov. J.D.C., P.Z., 103; M. Worlock, W.M. 1388; G. Holiday, Tyler; After the ceremony the brethren walked in their Masonic clothing to the Grapes Hotel, where they sat down to a most sumptuous repast, provided by Bro. W. Codrington.

HIGHGATE LODGE (No. 1366).—A meeting of this flourishing young lodge took place at the Gate House Hotel, Highgate, on Monday the 8th inst., under the presidency of the new W.M. Bro. Jesse Owens, assisted by his officers. Bro. Watkins and Knight were passed, and four candidates were initiated. Bro. Charles Grey Hill announced his intention of serving the office of Steward for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, this being the third time he has officiated in that capacity, shews that he has the good of the charities at heart. Since the Installation meeting, the ex-Secretary, Bro. Barton, has departed this life. His loss is deeply lamented by the lodge, and the W.M. undertook to write a letter of condolence to his relatives. The visitors were Bros. Gompertz Odell, Dagley, McRober and others. All Masonic business being ended, the brethren adjourned to supper.

Fellowes, Lion and Lamb Lodge; and J. W. Vickers, Royal Albert Edward Lodge. The usual banquet was provided, when toasts, songs, and recitations beguiled the evening until a late hour.

Mark Masonry.

SOUTHWARK LODGE OF MARK MASTERS (No. 22).—One of the most interesting and brilliant meetings of the Masonic Season took place on Tuesday, the 11th inst., at the Bridge House Hotel, Southwark. The Southwark Mark Lodge, after having had a successful career for many years, had fallen of late into the sere and yellow state of existence, and for some time had seemingly ceased to exist. At length some City brethren, feeling that it was discreditable to the Mark Degree that a lodge so conveniently situated and of such former excellence should fall into disrepute, rallied to the rescue, and with such success that it has at once been placed in the first rank in point of respectability and working order. Thursday week was the annual period of installation, and it was originally intended that the proceedings should terminate with the appointment of officers, but an intimation having been given that Colonel Francis Burdett, P.G.M.M. of Middlesex and Surrey, proposed to honour the lodge by visiting it for the first time, it was determined that the occasion should be distinguished in a manner which should unmistakably evince the appreciation of the Southwark Mark Lodge of the proposed visit. Accordingly orders were given to Brother Spencer, the proprietor of the hotel, to prepare a suitable banquet in his honour. The brethren met at six o'clock, the retiring Master, Bro. John Read, P.G.O., in the chair, with a numerous attendance of officers and brethren. The brethren received with regret an intimation that, owing to important business, the P.G. Master would be unable to pay his proposed visit until another opportunity should occur. The W.M., after the usual preliminary business had been disposed of, advanced to the Mark Degree Bros. A. Brett and H. A. Milford, of the Caledonian Lodge, No. 134; D. Greenaway, of the Royal Albert Lodge, No. 907; J. Hutt, Union Waterloo Lodge, No. 13; and S. Lilley, Mount Lebanon Lodge, No. 73; Bro. W. Klingenstein, of the Samson and Lion Mark Lodge, No. 86, was elected a joining member. There were several other candidates belonging to eminent City Craft Lodges, whose other engagements did not admit of their presence this evening, but who will be present at the next meeting, which promises to be equally successful with that which we are at present recording. The advancements having been finished, Bro. Read vacated the chair, which was then assumed by Bro. T. Meggy, P.G.M.O., who is an honorary member of this lodge. The W.M. elect, Bro. I. J. H. Wilkins, P.G.S.B., was duly presented to and installed by Bro. Meggy in a most impressive manner, Bro. Meggy being one of the very few brethren in possession of this important ceremony. The newly-installed W.M. then appointed his officers as follows:—Bros. John Read, I.P.M.; Stidolph, S.W.; Sparks, J.W.; Harry Brett, Treas.; Harry Read, Sec.; Poore, M.O.; Spluch, S.O.; Gilbert, J.O.; Bouts, S.D.; Montgomery, I.G.; and Hutt, Registrar. Several propositions of candidates were made, a discussion entered upon with regard to the raising of the subscription fees of the lodge to a very considerable amount, which will doubtless before long be carried into effect; and the resignation of Past Master A. D. Loewenstark, for many years Treasurer of the lodge, was tendered and accepted. The lodge was then closed. The banquet took place in the large ladies' coffee-room on the first floor of the hotel, and was really worthy of the very highest commendation that words can bestow upon it. Bro. Spencer had evicently disdained cost, and placed every delicacy which money could procure before his patrons, and the tables, decorated with consummate taste and artistic skill, were worthy the eye of a painter. A nobler banquet was never yet served, "Ab ove usque ad maia," and was duly done justice to by the numerous company, which included as visitors Bros. Binckes, G. Sec. (who, as usual, spoke most eloquently, and congratulated the lodge on its improved position and elevated tone); Emberlin, Gotthiel, Lazarus, and others. Bro. T. J. Sabine, P.M., came express from Brighton on purpose to attend this meeting, the most important, beyond all comparison, since its consecration.

LIVERPOOL.—West Lancashire Lodge of Mark Masters (No. 65).—The brethren of this lodge were summoned to attend their Masonic duties at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool, on the 3rd inst., when a most interesting meeting took place. Bro. T. Ashmore, W.M., presided at the opening of the proceedings, supported by Bros. T. Clark, P.M.; J. Taylor, S.W.; H. Nelson, J.W.; J. R. Goepel, P.M., Treas., P.G.S.O.; Joseph Wood, Sec.; W. Shortis, M.O.; C. Leighton, S. D.; A. Bucknell, J.D.; and P. Bell, Tyler. The members present were Bros. C. H. Hill, J. Hamer, W. Fish, E. Clements, H. Jackson, W. Doyle, J. Capell, H. Burrows, J. W. Newman, C. Tryer, J. K. Smith, and J. E. Jackson. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed, after which the ballot was taken from Bros. R. T. Owens, of the Alliance Lodge, No. 667, and Bro. T. Large, of the Hamer Lodge, No. 1393. As this proved unanimously in their favour, they were duly inducted into the privileges of the Order. In pursuance of notice, Bro. J. E. Jackson proposed, and Bro. J. Taylor, W.M., elect, seconded the nomination of Bros. J. Hamer, P.M., and P.G.M.O. as an honorary member of the lodge so long as he should live. The proposition was carried by acclamation. Bro. J. Taylor was presented to the W.M., to receive the benefit of installation, when all below the rank of Installed Masters were requested to retire. Bro. Hamer took the chair, and performed the ceremony of installation, and I.P.M. Ashmore afterwards delivered the charges to the following officers:—Bros. H. Nelson, S.W.; Joseph Wood, J.W.; W. Doyle, M.O.; J. E. Jackson, S.O.; A. Bucknell, J.O.; H. Jackson, Chaplain; J. R. Goepel, P.M., P.G.S.O., re-elected Treasurer for the ninth time, amidst the most general expression of approval; W. Shortis, Sec.; Reginald Young, Registrar of Marks; J. Hayes, S.D.; J. Capell, J.D.; J. K. Smith, D.C.; W. Fish, S.S.; H. Morris, J. S.; C. Tyrer, I.G.; and P. Ball, Tyler. The lodge was subsequently closed in harmony, and the brethren adjourned to banquet.

BRIDPORT.—St. Mary's Lodge Royal Ark Mariners.—In accordance with summons duly issued, the following Royal Ark Mariners met at the Masonic Rooms, Bridport, on the 12th November, for the purpose of constituting a Royal Ark Mariners' Lodge:—Bros. P. H. Newnham, J. C. Vigne, J.M.P. Montague, and T. Coombs. Bro. Philpot, of Poole, was prevented from attending by the loss of a train, and sent a telegram to that effect. Bro. Newnham having assumed the chair; a R.A.M. Lodge was opened in ancient form, and the following brethren were admitted and regularly elevated to the degree of R. A. Mariner, Bro. Vigne acting as I, and Bro. Montague as S. Bros. J. Gundry, B. P. Gundry, W. Chick, J. S. Webb, W. H. W. Toby, J. Hinc, C. Tucker, W. H. Hay, P. Montague, H. G. B. Frampton, T. Long. The newly-elevated brethren having taken their seats, Bro. Newnham announced that he was empowered by the Grand Secretary formally to consecrate and constitute the St. Mary's Lodge of Royal Ark Mariners, and called on Bro. Tucker to read the Warrant of Constitution. Bro. Newnham then delivered a short address upon the origin and antiquity of the Royal Ark Mariners' Degree, in which he showed the great probability that this degree was derived from the mystic worship of the "Ark" in the earliest times, even as other portions of Freemasonry shewed traces of the primitive worship of the "Pillar." A similar allusion to the "Ark," was kept up by the Druids in their ceremonies of initiation, and it was probable that, in later times, their ideas and practices had become merged into the Bible record of Noah's Deluge, in which form they had been laid hold of by the early Freemasons, and so handed down to us in their present shape. The ceremonies of consecration were then duly performed, Bro. Vigne carrying round the corn, Bro. Montague the wine, and Bro. Coombs the oil. Bro. Newnham then declared the St. Mary's Royal Ark Mariners' Lodge duly constituted. The Brethren were then called upon to elect their Commander, when Bro. Newnham proposed, and Bro. Vigne seconded Bro. Montague, and he was unanimously elected. He was then presented, and replied to the preliminary questions. All Brethren below the rank of W. Commander having withdrawn, and a Board of Installed Commanders opened, Bro. Montague was obligated and installed in the chair of N. The brethren were re-admitted, procession formed, and Bro. Montague duly proclaimed and saluted. He then proceeded to appoint his officers:—Bro. Vigne, J., Br. J. Gundry, S., Bro. B. P. Gundry, Treas., Bro. C. Tucker, Sec. After a code of bye-laws had been discussed and the Lodge formally closed, the brethren separated, all highly pleased with their introduction to this interesting old degree.

At a regular meeting held on the 10th inst., it was resolved that the Metropolitan Mark Lodge of Instruction should in future be held at the Coach and Horses Hotel, 323, Strand, every Monday evening, at eight o'clock, for the purpose of Instruction in Mark Masonry.

VOTING AT CHARITY ELECTIONS.—Mr. Charles Reed, M.P., has written to the Lord Mayor, saying that the managers of the principal charities have consulted, and are prepared to adopt the "suggestions" of those who advocate reforms. Meanwhile a committee is being formed under the Charity Organization Society for promoting the reform of the elections to charities, and many gentlemen of great influence have agreed to join it. The object will be to give information, and divert subscriptions from the voting to the non-voting institutions.—Athenaeum.

The will of Bro. William Robert Clemow, of Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, was proved on the 5th inst., by Mr. Robert Clemow, the uncle, and Mr. Francis Harding Clemow, the brother, the executors, the personalty being sworn under 7,000*l*. The testator leaves to his partner and brother, Mr. Francis Harding Clemow, all his half-part or share in the business premises, furniture, stock, &c., of Anderton's Hotel. The rest of his property he gives to his brothers and sisters and a cousin.

ROMAN-BRITISH REMAINS.—Many persons who are interested in the recent discoveries of Roman-British remains at the site of the National Safe Deposit Company's premises, Mansion House, will be glad to learn that an opportunity is afforded for inspecting the collection between the hours of one and three, from Monday, the 24th, to Saturday, the 29th inst., inclusive, at the offices of Bro. John Whichcord, F.S.A., Architect, 12, Queen Victoria-street. Admission will be by tickets, which will be forwarded by Mr. E. W. Bradbrook, F.S.A., 1, Elm-court, Temple, and Mr. J. E. Price, F.S.A., 53, Beresford-road, Highbury New Park, Honorary Secretaries London and Middlesex Archaeological Society.

THE BAIRD TRUST.—The Glasgow News publishes a resumé of the trust deed settling the munificent gift by Mr. James Baird to the Church of Scotland of £500,000. The deed says that the donor has been moved to give the £500,000, because he "feels deeply impressed with the extent to which spiritual destitution prevails among the poor and working population of Scotland, and is satisfied that this proceeds in a great measure from the want of properly organized and endowed territorial work. He is also convinced that there is a "tendency to a departure from the truth, and to an exclusion of religion from the teaching of the young;" and that "the means available by law are insufficient to provide for the faithful preaching of the word of God, for the refutation of error, and for the support of the Church, and for educational and other purposes of a religious character." He therefore, to aid in carrying out these objects, vests the £500,000 in seven trustees, viz., himself, Alexander Whitelaw, ironmaster, of Glasgow; David Wallace, ditto; William Weir, ditto; William Baird, of Elie; James A. Campbell, jun., of Stracathro; and the Rev. Archibald Scott, minister of Greenside Church, Edinburgh. The trustees may increase their number to nine, and they have the most ample powers to apply the interest of the £500,000 to any of the purposes set forth above. Provision is also made for an annual lectureship of six discourses on religious subjects. A curious provision in the trust is that the donor provides that the trustees may, at the expiry of fifty years bring it to a close if they think fit, by expending the capital, as well as the interest, for the object specified. The trustees are to have £500 yearly divided among them, according to the number of meetings they attend. They are all to be members of the Church of Scotland, and not more than one is to be a clergyman.

The editor of the "Bauhütte" has founded at Florence an establishment for the sale of German and English books. We have much pleasure in introducing the same to the notice of our many readers who may visit the fair city, feeling assured that they will meet with every attention from those in charge. The address is—Messrs. Flor and Findel, German and Foreign Booksellers, 24, Lung Arno Acciajoli, Florence, Italy. Prints, photographs, pictures and English stationery, are also kept in stock.—ADVT.

MASONIC FUNERAL IN GLASGOW.—Bro. Jacob Bright, a P.M. of Lodge Prudence, 170, New York, having been taken ill while in this city, was taken to the Infirmary, where the Lodge Union has a bed at their disposal. Here his wants were attended to, and he gratefully admitted that, though in a foreign land, he was still at home. But it pleased the Great Architect to call him to the Lodge above, and on Thursday his remains were accompanied to the South Side Cemetery by a number of the brethren, foremost among whom were Bro. R. Mitchell, P.M. 382; J. Cunningham, R.W.M. 475; W. Bassett, 27; G. W. Wheeler, 73; R. Ramsay, 408; and J. Humber, 408, and about 30 other brethren. Had the day been more propitious, there would have been a larger assemblage. Bro. the Rev. J. Reid, of Christ Church, Mile-end, had kindly offered his services, and accompanied the melancholy cortège from the Infirmary, nearly three miles to the grave, and when there impressively rendered the last services of the dead. By the kindness of the Clyde Lodge No. 408, who own a double lair there, our Brother's body was deposited in front of the splendid granite monolith they have erected to the memory of departed brethren of the Lodge. But it was felt that in a port like Glasgow, where so many American and Continental Masons are continually arriving, and some of them frequently dying in our midst, that we should have a grave belonging to the Craft at large, and not have to apply to one lodge to grant a portion of her ground for that purpose; and Bros. Mitchell, Wheeler, Bassett, Cunningham, and Ramsay were appointed a Committee to lay the subject before the various lodges.

GIFT BY THE EX-MAYOR OF LIVERPOOL TO THE POLICE BANDMASTER.—Bro. G. Samuelson ex-Mayor of Liverpool, as is generally known, is not only a literary man, but a skilled musician. One of the last complimentary acts he performed, before relinquishing office, was to pay a pleasing tribute to the police band through their master. His worship summoned Mr Beardhall to his "private parlour" in the Town Hall, and there presented him, without public display, with a magnificent ivory bâton, mounted with gold, and bearing the following inscription:—"Presented by Edward Samuelson, Esq., Mayor, to Bandmaster Francis Beardhall, to mark the time of 1873." A more public presentation of the testimonial was made to Mr. Beardhall by Major Greig, C.B., the Head Constable, at the "setting of the afternoon parade," Main Bridewell yard.

IRISH FISHERIES.—The Baroness Burdett-Coutts having offered (in addition to other contributions which she has given, viz., £250 for the benefit of the Boffin and Shark Islands, and £300 for the Claddagh fishermen) a prize of £10 for the best essay "On preventing Nets from Rotting"; and, as President of the Ladies' Educational Committee for the prevention of cruelty to Animals, a prize of £10 for the best essay on "On killing Fish (particularly those of the larger species, such as the basking shark, sun fish, &c.) with the least cruelty," these subjects are now open to public competition throughout Ireland, and essays on either or both will be received up to the 31st March, 1874.

According to the latest arrangements, the German Imperial Crown Prince and Crown Princess will leave for St. Petersburg on the 17th of January, where the marriage of His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh with the Grand Duchess Marie of Russia will be celebrated on the 21st of that month.

The merchants of Liverpool have prepared a petition to the Postmaster-General, urging the immediate necessity of the Liverpool Exchange and the Central Telegraph Station, London, being placed in direct communication by special wire.

Those who have most patiently and perseveringly studied human physiology, have now concluded, that in the nerves lie the centre of action, the spring of movement and regulation of vital functions. In variable and relaxing weather Holloway's Medicines are especially servicable in maintaining nervous vigour and in defending the frame against ill consequences from dampness or chill. If the first symptoms receive attention and judicious treatment, not only will future danger be averted, but old ailments will give way, and better health will be attained than was enjoyed before the illness. No treatment for safety and certainty of success may be so confidently relied upon, as that discovered by Professor Holloway, whose Pills and Ointment always restore the sufferer.—ADVT.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION OF THE IRISH GRAND LODGE.

We understand that, at a recent meeting of the Irish Grand Lodge, amid other questions which naturally arose, clause 133—to which we so strongly objected in a previous number of the Freemason—gave rise to a prolonged and animated debate. It was objected to, mainly, we believe, on the grounds we had ourselves previously laid down as most opposed to the dignity and honour of the Grand Lodge itself, but was upheld on the other hand by those who apparently wish to maintain this most anomalous state of affairs. We believe that nothing was actually decided, and that the matter stands over, on a point of order, whether an amendment to strike out the names of the other alien authorities can be legally received.

We can hardly believe the statement, that, any presiding officer holds such a view, or will persist in such an opinion. All we can say is, if he does so, the position he takes up is unexampled, and, ipso facto, illegal; and that such a decision must place the Grand Lodge of Ireland in a most difficult and delicate position.

Other Grand Lodges may fairly ask the question, can that be said to be the Grand Lodge of Irish Craft Masonry, which admits the decisions of other, and exterior jurisdictions as binding irrevocably on Grand Lodge.

We still hope for the present and future welfare of Freemasonry in Ireland, that other and wiser counsels will prevail, and that those excellent and zealous brethren, who wish to see Freemasonry in Ireland relieved from many needless restrictions and regulations, and allowed to partake of the rational and well ordered progress of the times in which our lot is cast, will eventually be successful.

There can be no reason why the Grand Lodge in Ireland, should not be equally active and energetic with our own Grand Lodge in its calm, yet well directed course, and we are glad to repeat that there is, and always has been, the kindest and most brotherly feeling between English and Irish Masons.

We trust that the Irish Grand Lodge will surmount all difficulties of detail and all questions of order, and come to the happy conclusion, that, if it is to be the Grand Lodge of Irish Craft Masons, its regulations must be founded on the unchanged traditions of the Craft, on sound legality, and intelligent common sense.

So we shall be glad to hear, that, Clause 133, which ought never to have got in, will eventually come out.

May our aspirations be realized!

WEEKLY SUMMARY OF NEWS.

The news of the last week has not been very exciting for us at home.

We have indeed, to record, the death of Lord Liveden, more familiarly known as the Mr. Vernon Smith, of earlier parliamentary life, and of Lord George Lennox, a brother of the late, and uncle of the present Duke of Richmond, formerly an officer in the army, who had seen much service, both in the 9th Lancers and the 15th Hussars, and as A.D.C. to the Duke of Wellington.

The Elections for the School Boards have begun, and so far the large number polled shows, happily, an increasing interest in that most important subject, education.

It has been arranged, that the Dean of Westminster will perform the marriage service, "More Anglicano" for His H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh, and Her Imperial Highness the Grand Duchess Marie of Russia, and Viscount Sydney, the Lord Chamberlain, and Lady Augusta Stanley, wife of the Dean, will attend on behalf of Her Most Gracious Majesty.

We presume that the English Marriage will take place under a special license from the Archbishop of Canterbury. The English Church at St. Petersburg being too small for the number expected, a hall in the Winter Palace, will in all probability, it is said, be fitted up for the marriage, according to the Rites of the Anglican Church.

Sir John Duke Coleridge has been appointed Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, in the place of the lamented Sir W. Bovill, and one interesting feature connected with Sir J. D. Coleridge's promotion is, that, his venerable father, the Right Hon. Sir John Taylor Coleridge, formerly one of the Judges of the Court of Queen's Bench, still survives, at a green old age, to witness, happily the elevation of his son to one of the highest situations on the judicial Bench.

The vacant posts of Postmaster General and Solicitor General have been filled up by the introduction into official life of Dr. Lyon Playfair, in the room of Mr. Monsell, and of Mr. Wm. Vernon Harcourt, vice Mr. Henry James, now Attorney General.

The Rev. Henry White, Chaplain of the House of Commons and the Savoy, has been appointed one of the Chaplains-in-Ordinary to the Queen, and the Rev. Francis James Holland of Quebec Chapel, is gazetted as Honorary Chaplain to Her Majesty.

The news from India of the probable famine in portions of Bengal, has naturally created no little anxiety at home, as the records of the last famine have for us all so painful a memory, but it is hoped, that, the authorities by timely precaution and preparations will alleviate, if they cannot hinder the alarming visitation.

News has arrived from the Gold Coast, by which it seems that, owing to local difficulties, it is impossible to make the proposed railway there. For railway operations the railway plant will, therefore, not be sent! The other preparations are actively being pushed on, and we doubt not soon to hear of successful operations, and a happy peace.

Some controversy has recently arisen about the discovery of the North-West passage, the credit of which is claimed for that good officer Sir R. McClure, recently deceased. It seems, however an undoubted fact, that, the primary discovery is due to Sir John Franklin and the gallant crews of the "Erebus" and "Terror," who, as Sir John Richardson very truly said, "forged the last link with their lives." And in admitting this "double discovery" there is no detraction from the merit of Sir R. McClure, and his officers and men. We were glad to read a characteristic letter from that eminent seaman, Sir Leopold McClintock, on the subject, and to be also reminded of the gallant services of our energetic brother, Captain Bedford Pim.

The Foreign Intelligence is in some respects, and to some extent, a little more stirring, and certainly a good deal more sensational.

In France much doubt and debate still continue as to the present and future form of Government. In all probability the result of the present political dead-lock will be, the re-appointment of that gallant soldier Marshal McMahon, Duke de Magenta, to the supreme authority for a specified term of years. Any day may bring the solution of a question which is of vital necessity for France, as that fair land is like a person recovering from a long fever, and requires quiet and repose. The Bazaine trial continues, and is likely to last for some time longer.

In Germany, Prince Bismarck is re-appointed Premier of the Prussian Cabinet, and Count Von Roon, the good old soldier, and long War Minister, and lately Premier, retires apparently into private life. It is said General Von Kameke, a very distinguished officer, succeeds him as Minister of War.

In Austria the Exhibition has closed, with it is said, and which we are very sorry to hear, a considerable deficit. The undertaking deserved success, as it was admirably planned, and still more efficiently carried out in all its many and difficult details.

In Spain the civil war continues, with successes and defeats claimed and asserted by both sides, but nothing, so far, appears actually decisive, or as significant of a probable termination of the present untoward state of things. The execution of 59 of the crew and passengers of the Virginus, including the captain, by the authorities of Havana, is, in our humble opinion, an act of unexampled barbarity, and, as the American Government truly says, "an outrage on civilisation and humanity." We should not be at all surprised to hear that this most high-handed proceeding has led to summary action on the part of the United States Administration. The American navy and army seem to be rapidly gathering up, and any hour may bring us intelligence of a decisive step.

If it be true that sixteen of those executed are British subjects, it is not off the cards, that, the "Union Jack" and the "Stars and Stripes" may yet float side by side, for, as Flag-officer Tatnall, of the American navy, once very truly observed, when his men would somehow or other help our blue jackets in the famous action under Admiral Sir James Hope in the "Peiho," "Blood is thicker than water."

THE POET BURNS AND FREEMASONRY.

In a little work, intended for private circulation, an author, concealing himself under the title of "A Son of the Rock," has given some interesting facts regarding the Masonic career of the poet Robert Burns, which deserve a place in the pages of The Freemason. The author starts by stating that Masonry was the "Great propelling power of the poet, influencing his thoughts, inspiring his muse, and nurturing that stern love of independence and brotherhood which are universally acknowledged to have been predominant characteristics of his manhood." With few exceptions, the poet's patrons, associates, correspondents, &c.—in fact all whose names are made memorable by his genius—were linked together in the Masonic chain. On the 4th July, 1781, when Burns was in his 23rd year, he was initiated at St. David's Lodge, Tarbolton—a memorable event for him, who was so full of human nature and brotherly earnestness. In the following year a disruption took place, when the separating portion reconstituted the old lodge of St. James, Tarbolton, which had formerly existed, and to which Burns adhered with all the fervour of new love and light. Major-General Montgomery, a scion of the noble house of Eglintoun, was the first W.M.; and though the poet removed to Mossgiel, about three miles distant, he never missed attendance at any of the meetings. In the St. James's Lodge began his acquaintance with Gavin Hamilton, whom the poet thus describes:—

"The poor man's friend in need;
The gentleman in word and deed."

Amongst others, he then became intimate with Dr. Mackenzie, who married one of the celebrated "Mauchline Bells." John Ballantine, to whom "The Brigs of Ayr" were inscribed, and by whose exertions was erected the new "brig," opened on the 22nd November, 1786, when a grand Masonic demonstration took place; William Wallace, Sheriff of Ayrshire, respecting whom the poet wrote.

"Heaven bless your honoured, noble name,
To Masonry and Scotia dear."
and John Rankine, of Adamhill, who was also a member of the lodge, was a great humorist and great companion of the poet. After settling at Mossgiel, the poet held lodges at Mauchline, and in July, 1714, he was elected Depute Master of St. James's Lodge, signing the minutes "Robert Burness" till the 1st March, 1786, when his name appears as it was afterwards known to the world. Professor Dugald Stewart, who visited the Masonic lodge at Mauchline, where Burns presided, thus speaks of him, "He had occasion to make some short unpremeditated compliments to different individuals, from whom he had no reason to expect a visit, and everything he said was happily conceived, and forcibly as well as fluently expressed. In the early part of 1786, Burns went to Kilmarnock, to arrange for the publication of the first edition of his poems, when he visited St. John's Lodge, where he was surrounded by the brethren of the mystic tie, who were friends and patrons of the forthcoming volume. One of the most eminent of these was Bro. Thomas Samson, seedsman, hero of the well-known "Elegy," at whose house the poet was welcomed with genuine cordiality, and whose sterling worth was thus immortalised after his death.

"The brethren of the mystic level,
May hing their heads in wofu bevel,
While by their nose the tears will revel,
Like ony bead;

Death's given the lodge an unco devel,
Tam Samson's dead."

Before leaving Kilmarnock, Burns was admitted an honorary member of St. John's Lodge, on the 26th October, 1786, and he left them his parting benediction, full of brotherly affection. One stanza is certainly worth being quoted and remembered by every brother:—

"Ye powers who preside o'er the wind and the tide,

Who marked each element's border,
Who formed this frame with beneficent aim,
Whose sovereign statute is order;
Within this dear mansion may wayward contention,

Or withered envy ne'er enter,
May secrecy round be the mystical bound,
And brotherly love be the centre.

The 28th of November, 1786, is the supposed date of the poet's memorable arrival in Edinburgh, where Masonry was in the highest repute at the time, eleven or twelve lodges held monthly meetings, and the officials of the Grand Lodge were in the habit of visiting each lodge once a year. Amongst the officers at that time were the Duke of Atholl, the Earl of Balcarras, Lord Haddo, Sir Wm. Forbes, Col James Murray, Sir James Hunter Blair, Earl of Buchan, Lord Napier, Lord Banning, Earl of Morton, &c. On the 7th of December, Burns attended a meeting of the Cannongate Kilwinning Lodge, where he was introduced to the Hon. Henry Erskine, Dean of Faculty. On the same evening the "Kilwinning" was visited by the Grand Lodge and eight Craft Lodges, and the poet was in a blaze of excitement as he returned to his lodgings in the Lawn Market, after he had been lionised during the evening. Two days afterwards, Henry Mackenzie ("The man of Feeling") a brother Mason published in The Lounger a review of Burns' Kilmarnock poems, in which it was first declared that "a poet of no ordinary rank had been born among the peasantry of Scotland, possessing the spirit as well as the fancy of a poet." On the 13th the Courant printed a complimentary epistle in which Burns was spoken of as "The prince o' poets and o' ploughmen.

On the same day the poet wrote to a brother Mason—"I have been introduced to a good many of the noblesse but my avowed patrons and patronesses are the Duchess of Gordon, the Countess of Glencairn, with my Lord and Lady Betty (Cunningham), the Dean of Faculty, Sir John Whitefoord, &c. I have likewise warm friends among the literati, Professor Stewart Blair, and Mr. Mackenzie, the "Man of Feeling." The publication of the poems was pushed forward and warmly supported by the eminent brothers whom he met. On the 11th of January, 1787, the Grand Master visited the ancient Lodge Mary's Chapel, and Burns, who was present, wrote to Ballantine at Ayr:—"I went to a Mason lodge yesternight, where the Most Worshipful Grand Master Charteris and all the Grand Lodge of Scotland visited. The meeting was numerous and elegant; all the different lodges about town were present in all their pomp. The Grand Master, who presided with great solemnity and honour to himself as a gentleman and Mason, among other general toasts, gave 'Caledonia and Caledonia's Bard, Brother Burns,' which rang through the whole assembly with multiplied honours and repeated acclamations. As I had no idea such a thing would happen, I was downright thunderstruck, and, trembling in every nerve, made the best return in my power." On the 1st February, sixteen new members were initiated in the Canongate Kilwinning Lodge, some from Forfarshire, all of whom became Masons to meet Burns, who was then made an honorary member. On the 6th of February the Prince of Wales was initiated, and on the same evening Burns was created Poet Laureate of the Canongate Kilwinning Lodge, an honour which he highly prized—

"To please you and praise you,
Ye ken your Laureate scorns;
The prayer still you share still
Of grateful minstrel Burns."

He added the title of "Bard" to his signature, and appended his Masonic mark in the Bible he presented to Highland Mary, now treasured in the monument at Alloway kirk. On the 21st April his poems appeared, containing a list of 1,500 subscribers' names, making up a list of 2,800 copies. Publisher, printer, portrait painter, and engraver of the portrait, were a rare class of men—all characters in their way, and all Masons. During a tour through Scotland the poet was made a Royal Arch Mason at the general encampment of St. Abb's Lodge, Eyemouth, on the 19th May, and on the 25th June he was present at a meeting of the Canongate Kilwinning Lodge when Lord Torphichen was elected Master, and Wm. Dunbar, Writer to the Signet, Depute Master—"rattling, roaring Willie." Amongst the members of the Lodge to whom Burns specially attached himself were William Woods, tragedian, for thirty years the reigning dramatic favourite; Louis Cauvin, teacher of French in Edinburgh, who afterwards left money to found an hospital for the education and relief of the sons of poor teachers; James Johnson, engraver, music-seller, &c., to whom the world is indebted in a large measure for the publication of many valuable songs; Lord Monboddo, the first pioneer of the Darwinian theory; the Earl of Buchan, a literary celebrity of the day, &c.

Speaking of the poet's Edinburgh visits and associations, Robert Chalmers writes—"All—the admiring, the disliking, and the indifferent—must, we think, admit that Burns, externally a peasant and of peasant breed, but internally a great man, had come through the crisis without the slightest derogation from his true character. Intellectually a giant, he maintained his proportions in convivial scenes which too often caused a sacrifice of the inherent to the accidental, of the true to the false, of the great to the mean. The dignity of the whole picture, as it looms through the saloons of the polite and learned world of Edinburgh, must indeed form a gratifying picture in the minds of all true men whatever." "Masonry," the author of the brochure adds, "was the keystone of the arch, and Burns was doubtless indebted to the brotherhood for his brilliant reception in the capital, and the generous homage it called forth. If he had not possessed the mystic key to unlock the door of the inner sanctuary he might have had to wait longer for the recognition of his genius. All honour, then to the brotherhood who rallied round him, introduced him to their homes and families, and interested themselves in his fame." After continuing faithful to his Masonic allegiance, Burns died on the 21st July, 1796, and the author to whose excellent little work we are indebted for the sketch which we have given, concludes as follows; "Masonry was the undercurrent of many a poetical inspiration, and his heart's devout prayer in one of his very latest and noblest songs, sent to Thomson the year before his death:—

"For a' that, an' a' that,
It's coming yet for a' that;
That men to men, the world o'er,
Shall brothers be for a' that."

And so with a hearty "Amen" ends our slight framework of biography, in the hope that a more extended and exhaustive work may follow. The Masonic life of Burns has yet to be written by some brother of the Craft competent to do it justice; this stone to the cairn is offered with all the affection of brotherhood without its mysticism."

SURREPTITIOUS RITUALS.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I was pleased that attention was called in The Freemason of last week to the Ritual Advertising Dodge, as it is undoubtedly carried on to so great an extent. I may mention that there is one purporting to be "as used in the Emulation Lodge of Improvement for M.M.'s." The prospectus of which I received from a very unexpected quarter. This was followed by a notice of an illustrated volume by the same publisher (Mr. A. Lewis) promising a full exposition of the various secrets. My object in writing, however, was to direct attention to another matter, viz., the fact that a number of non-masons are in possession of a drinking sign which they use continually, and thus young Masons may inadvertently be led to give them hints of knowledge. By giving publicity to this in your valuable paper, some at least may be put upon guard against these intruders, and I venture to submit that if one or two of the ordinary test questions be put, the ignorance of the pretender will generally be at once discovered.

I am, yours faithfully,

T. J. T., P.M., &c.,

READING THE SCRIPTURES.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,

In reply to your Correspondent, J. D. F., I beg to say that the passage of Scripture for the third degree is stated in your article of 23rd August, it being there stated to be Ecclesiastes 12, verses 1 to 7. The three passages there mentioned are taken from the instructions contained in Cross's chart, but Dr. Oliver says, that in the first degree "the Volume of the Sacred Law" is usually unfolded at Ruth 4, v. 7; in the second degree at Judges 12, v. 6; and in the third degree at 1 Kings, 7, v. 13 and 14. These usages, however, are arbitrary, for we find, at different periods during the last century, that Genesis 22 and 28 were indifferently used for the first degree; 1 Kings 6, v. 7, and 2 Chronicles, 6, for the third. It is, however, a matter of little importance, provided the passage corresponds with the structure of any part of the degree.

Yours fraternally,

HENRY T. BOBART.

MASONIC INTOLERANCE IN WESTERN INDIA.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I was much surprised and pained to find, on looking over the Masonic Record of Western India, that the Editor, Bro. George Bease, has been subjected to most unwarrantable and unmasonic treatment from the Provincial Prior through the Prov. V.C. of Bombay.

Bro. Bease inserted in his paper an article which appeared in The Freemason (i.e., this paper) respecting the so-called letter of the Grand Chancellor's, which many have doubted; but up to this time, as it has not been contradicted, I presumed was the production of that high official, Sir Patrick Colquhoun. Now, I have not a word to say at this time about the Grand Chancellor's letter. Those who have offered opinions on the subject condemn it most unmercifully, and have commented upon it quite as severely as the writer of the article which appeared in The Freemason. I will grant, for the sake of argument, that the article commenting on the letter was a mistake, or was too severe, or was ill-timed (neither of which, however, I really admit), and that consequently an injustice was done; even then, so long as Bro. Bease, as Editor of the Record, considered it a fair and legitimate review of its statements, he was thoroughly justified in giving it a place in his Magazine. Bearing in mind this fact, and remembering that Bro. Bease simply published what had appeared in The Freemason, what will our readers think of the Provincial Grand Prior for Bombay instructing his G.V.C. to write Bro. Bease, reminding him "whom he had lately appointed to high office in the Provincial Priory" that, "whilst he admits that the acts of public men are open to criticism by the press," he, the Prov. Prior, "repudiates the claim which he (Bro. Bease), in his capacity as editor, made to a right to republish without comment such an article as that under notice," &c., &c. "Under these circumstances, it appears to the Provincial Prior that your opinions differ so widely from his own that you cannot with any consistency continue to act as one of his officers. He, therefore suggests to you the propriety of your resigning the office of Second Captain C.C. of the Provincial Priory, which he conferred upon you a few months ago."

To this intolerant document Bro. Bease has made a reply, in which he states that "he would be very sorry indeed to continue to be a member of any Preceptory under the rule of one who has betrayed such a vindictive and unchristian-like spirit," as he presently proceeds to show. Other matters are introduced into the discussion, with which we have nothing to do; but we think it worth while to present an exhibit of the treatment meted to Masonic Editors in India in contrast to the kind spirit always evinced towards The Freemason and its staff in this country. It will also serve to illustrate what may follow in the so-called "lower degrees" if such intolerance is allowed to go unchecked in India, and for the time probably the Editor of The Freemason may as well be content to keep away from that country. One writer in the Record (evidently officially inspired) speaks thus—"Whether the writer of that article is a Freemason or not, I earnestly trust he is not a Knight Templar. But my regret at this rebellious production has been greatly intensified at its re-publication in the columns of a Journal edited by a Templar." The same gentleman also styles the article a "malicious attack," although he says not a word as to the character of the letter by the Grand Chancellor, which called forth the indignant reply in The Freemason. Bro. Bease is also threatened with the possibility of "all good Templars in India deciding whether your journal (the Masonic Record) is deserving of their continued support." What a sad exhibition of intolerance and decided attempt at persecution! This Brother, I see, is called Tudor Trevor, and is an officer in the Provincial Priory of Bombay! He is allowed to call the article in The Freemason a "seditious attack;" but Bro. Bease, for inserting the communication, which was, after all, but a fair criticism of a letter which ought not to have appeared, is called upon to resign office, and threatened to lose a number of subscribers, if he is not coward sufficient to lead him to eat his own words. We are glad to know that Bro. Bease had spirit equal to the occasion, and that his conduct under such tyranny and vexations circumstances was equal to the emergency, and consequently the meanness of his persecutors will go forth to the Masonic world in the true colours it deserves.

Yours fraternally,

W. J. HUGHAN.

THE DOUBLE TRIANGLE.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I have read Bro. Paton's letter in your last issue; but though there is not much to reply to, I feel bound to say a few words.

I admit that properly the Double Triangle is an emblem of R.A. Masonry, but I cannot admit, therefore, that it does not belong to Craft Masonry.

In our present arrangement, the R.A. is separated from Craft Masonry, but in treating of Masonic symbolism it would not have been out of place to allude to that remarkable figure, which, symbolical as it is, has been made use of by the operative Masons from the very first.

When Bro. Paton says, "Every Freemason knows that a Masonic mark must have an odd number of points," I cannot profess to understand what he really means.

I never heard of such a rule, and I am not aware where it is so laid down, or how it is proved.

I have studied the subject of "marks" for some time, and I have no hesitation in saying, that there is hardly a collection of Mason's marks in which the Double Triangle is not found. As I said before, the Pentalpha, or Pentangle, or Pentacle, as it is sometimes called in Cabalistic books, (the "Great Pentacle" being the "Double Triangle,") is a form of Jewish cabala, though it was probably known as well as the Double Triangle to the Egyptians and Tyrians.

Both these figures were made use of by the Christians at a very early period mystically, and are also to be found in Rosicrucian works, and so-called magical formulæ.

I am, dear Sir and Brother,
Yours fraternally,
THE WRITER OF THE REVIEW.

SPIRITUALISM.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I have a very great regard for the learning of Bro. W. Carpenter, and cannot refrain from expressing my fear that "much learning, &c., &c." I can assure my learned Brother that, as a medical man whose attention has been particularly directed to incipient insanity, I am bound to say his letters give me great cause for uneasiness.

The subject of spiritualism has been, I fancy, more than sufficiently ventilated in the columns of your excellent paper, and I for one shall be exceedingly pleased if I miss the correspondence in the future numbers of the Freemason. I venture to suggest that it is not a very interesting subject to the great majority of your readers, and, I doubt not, many of them have, with me, while reading Bro. Carpenter's letters, been led to exclaim—

"QUANTUM MUTATUS AB ILLO."

MASONIC LITERATURE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,

I thank you for inserting my communication regarding Masonic Literature in the last issue of The Freemason.

Error and folly should be alike exposed, and you have done good service in No. 243, by holding up to infamy the "Spurious Rite of Memphis," and to ridicule the "United Orders," which, having the only resting place for the soles of their feet on Freemasonry, would now wish to ignore Freemasonry, and to become exclusive and aristocratic, and chivalric and—anything, in fact, but what they really are!

The Prince of Wales is not likely to have much more to say to them, and the exhibition in Willis's Rooms, and the letter from Sir P. Colquhoun, and the injury done to them by the anti-historic series of communications in your journal from Bro. Holmes, have combined to disgust many of the true Masonic Templars, who, on one pretence or another, were induced to join in the movement got up by a few silly and ambitious men for their own ends.

Thanks to The Freemason, this new "fungoid growth upon Freemasonry" has caved in, and in future the leaders will, I trust, be content to be "honest men and Masons."

I am, yours faithfully,
G. H. W.

"THE GREAT CITY" LODGE," AND BANQUETS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,

I have been much pleased on reading a report of the second regular meeting of this newly-formed Lodge, to find that the proposition to omit one of the usual banquets, and donate the amount so saved (about £50) to the "Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution," was "received with acclamation." I can conceive no higher Masonic compliment to the W.M. of 1426, than to so act, and have the amount thus saved placed on his list as Steward for that excellent Institution, and I hope the example thus set will be speedily followed by other Lodges. Whatever may be the gustative propensities of the brethren who assemble in our lodges, we have a right, as well-wishers of the Craft, to ask them to gratify their tastes out of their own pockets. Unfortunately, in many lodges the reverse is the case, and the funds are mainly devoted to meeting the liabilities incurred by banquets. In the country generally, the annual subscriptions do not average over 24s., and I have known the usual attendants at the lodges' assemblies to obtain fully that sum—and sometimes more—in a year in "suppers," "refreshments," and "banquets." Such a state of things is a disgrace to any society, and particularly to the "Free and Accepted Masons," and I hope ere long that the Grand Lodge will prevent the ordinary subscriptions being used for any but strictly Masonic purposes.

Yours fraternally,
15th Nov., 1873. W. J. HUGHAN

OUR MASONIC CHARITIES.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Sir and Brother,

My object in troubling you is for the purpose of calling the attention of lodges, and the individual supporters of the Boys' and Girls' Schools, to the necessity of publishing the particulars of the Masonic career of the deceased brother on the voting paper, against the name of his child who is seeking election to one of the above institutions. I believe it is so on the voting papers of the Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons, and surely if it is necessary in the one case, it is in the other, for the child whose parent has supported these institutions, and laboured hard in other respects for the good of the Craft, has a primary call on the votes of the members to one whose parent has perhaps been a member of the Craft some few months. I do not, by any means, claim the originality of this necessary alteration, for I heard it mentioned by an influential brother of this province—Hampshire—who is about to bring it forward; and I hope the brethren of the different provinces will rally round and support him.

Yours fraternally,
THOS. FRANCIS, JUN., W.M., 804.

THE SAINTS JOHN AND FREE-MASONRY.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I observe, in the second of Brother Jacob Norton's interesting articles at present appearing in The Freemason, an error in regard to date at which Mother Kilwinning resolved to hold its annual festival on St. Thomas's Day. It was on the 20th of December, 1779—not 1679. The new arrangement came into force on St. Thomas's Day, 1780.

Yours fraternally,
D. MURRAY LYON.

MASONS' MARKS.

Bro. Paton, in his notice of the fraternal review of his last work, speaks of every Freemason knowing that the marks in question consisted of an odd number of points. I certainly profess to be a Freemason, and yet am quite in ignorance of what Bro. Paton assumes to be known to all the Fraternity; and, as I am in good company in such a belief, surely he must have committed a great error in making such a statement.

The copies of marks which adorn the magnificent "History of the Lodge of Edinburgh," by my friend, Bro. D. Murray Lyon, dating from the sixteenth century, furnish many instances of marks which consist of an even number of points, so also do the illustrations in "Sessional Papers" 1868-69 (No. 9), Royal Institute of British Architects, London. The latter form a valuable index to a learned lecture by Mr. Goodwin Fellow, F.S.A., &c., on "Something about Masons' Marks in various Countries." Bro. W. A. Laurie's "History of Freemasonry and the Grand Lodge of Scotland" might also be consulted on the same subject. These and other similar works prove many of the marks consisted of even points.

Poetry.

THE GRAND MASTER OF MASONS. BY BRO. WILLIAM CARPENTER, P.M. and P.Z.

Of Ripon's fame we well may sing,
A Statesman, Peer, and Brother,
Whose fertile brain and suasive speech
Each answers to the other.

When clouds o'erspread the western sky,
And threaten'd friends to sever,
His sovereign chose him as the one
To bring the friends together.

He went with thoughts and words of peace,
And Heaven his mission bless'd;
The cause of rupture was remov'd,
The quarrel set at rest.

Both spheres rejoiced, both peoples pray'd
That friendship thus renew'd, Might never interrupted be,
By unintended feud.

Our Master's peaceful work was crown'd
By the Master whom he serves;
And now in peace he rules the Craft.
All honour he deserves.

His Sovereign's honour well he wears,
With dignity and grace;
Long may he wear both her's and ours,
And long adorn the dais!

AN ACROSTIC.

Brother! What unity, love, and strength the word conveys;
Reciprocation, Fraternity, an associate of our days.

Oh! that this lovely term "A fellow-creature," united one and all, T'would make life heavenly, and prevent man's fall.

Here on this earth the beauteous flowers that grow,
Each rivulet, each field of wheat, God's love doth shew.

Regard well the word, and Brotherly Love bestow.

Henry! How regal is this name, and what a race of kings

Echos in the sound, and to the recollection brings

Noble deeds, ambition, rebellion, intrigue for power;

Richard, who murdered his two nephews in the tower.

York and Lancaster wars, roses red and white, sad, sad the flower.

Muggeridge, now comes the task, some goddess guide my pen.

Utopia, "The abode of a happy Society," composed of just such men,

Giving wise organisation, legislation, and freedom from all care,

Granting "more," gave us an imaginary, we need not despair.

Each one who seeks our Brother's aid, finds he freely gives to all.

Right well our Preceptor rules his lodge, respected by great and small.

Illustrious in Masonry, he is known to not a few.

Deservedly popular, a Mason generous, good and true.

Give him the laurel he has gained! also to any other

Excellent Mason (such as he) who is indeed a Brother.

The National steamship Egypt, which arrived from New York on Wednesday week, brought for Bro. Rt. Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, from Utica, in the United States, some valuable cattle, purchased at a cost of $30,000 at the recent sale of the New York Mills herd. The same steamer also brought a consignment of stock, purchased for Mr. Cheemey, of Guddersley Hall, Leicestershire. This is quite a reverse of the ordinary practice of sending breeding stock from England to America.

CONSECRATION OF TWO RED CROSS CONCLAVES.

On Thursday, October 23rd, two new Conclaves of the Red Cross of Rome and Constantine, viz., the De Irwin and Munbee, was inaugurated at Bristol. The inaugural ceremony was very ably and impressively performed by Ill. Sir Knight, Major General Gore B. Munbee, Intendant General of Somerset, Bristol and Gloucester, assisted by Captain Knight, Captain Irwin, and several eminent Sir Knights of the provinces of Somerset and Wales. The following Masons were installed Knights of the Order.—Bros. Scott, Hodges, Hallam, Hunt, Munro, Amor, Williams, Tricks, Tonkin, Plant, and Cole. Sir Knight G. F. Tuckey was installed M.P. Sovereign of the De Irwin, and Sir Knight W. A. Scott of the Munbee Conclaves, Sir Knight Hodges and Ward V.E. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the Sir Knights adjourned to the White Lion Hotel, and partook of a most sumptuous banquet, presided over by Sir Knight General Major Gore B. Munbee, supported by the Visiting Sir Knights. The toasts of the "Officiating Sir Knights," was proposed, and responded to. These are the first Conclaves of the Order of the Red Cross in Bristol, but we believe it will become very popular among the Masons of this Province.

WEST INDIA ISLANDS.

The first meeting of this recently-revived Provincial Grand Lodge was held at Tobago on the 24th September last, under the presidency of its much valued Provincial Grand Master, the Hon. Joseph King Wattley, Chief Justice of Tobago. The lodge was opened in the first degree with solemn prayer, and raised to the sublime degree. The commission to the P.G.M., and letter therewith from the Grand Secretary, were read by the Provincial Grand Secretary-designate. Bro. Wattley thereafter administered the oath de fidele officio to himself, and afterwards invested the following brethren in their respective offices:—Depute P.G. Master, Henry Francis; Substitute P.G. Master, William Iffill Buhôt; Senior P.G. Warden, William M'Call; Junior P.G. Warden, Samuel Hartley Hill; P.G. Secretary, George Kennedy Forbes. In the above office-bearers each Island in the Province has a native.

Among other business transacted the following resolution was passed—"Resolved, It is the opinion of the P.G. Lodge for 'West India Islands,' holding under the Grand Lodge of Scotland, that a brotherly connection and correspondence with Provincial Grand Lodge of Trinidad, holding under the Grand Lodge of England, will be found productive of honour and advantage to the Fraternity in general, and the Province in the West Indies in particular."

It was also resolved that the future quarterly communications should be held on the first Wednesdays of December, March, June, and September.

The meeting was thereafter adjourned until the 22nd October current, for the appointment of Proxy Provincial Grand Master, and Trustees on Grand Lodge Debt Liquidation Fund.

The M.C. having been formed, the following Fratres were received:—Captain R. Rintoul, Dragoon Guards; P. Gardner, Esq., F.R.S.A., Rector of Leith Academy; and W. Milne, Esq., banker. A select choir intoned the ceremonies of the occasion. A ballot was taken in favour of several distinguished gentlemen, who were duly elected.

The Chief Adept has agreed to read a paper on "The Mysteries" at the quarterly meeting in January. This College, though so lately founded, is in a very vigorous condition, and promises to carry on the labours of the Society with great enthusiasm.

Masonic Tidings.

The Fifteen Sections will be worked on Wednesday, the 26th inst., at the Confidence Lodge of Instruction, Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street, E.C., at 6 30 p.m. Bro. C. F. Hogard will preside on this occasion. Brethren desirous of disseminating their knowledge are respectfully solicited to give their names to the Secretary of the above lodge, which meets every Wednesday throughout the year, at 7. 30 p.m., under the able presidency of Bro. E. Gottheil.

STRONG MAN LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.—The Fifteen Sections will be worked in the "Large Hall" at St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, on Monday evening, Nov. 24th, at seven p.m., precisely by the following brethren: Verry, P.M., 554; Wallington, S.D. 860; Berry, S.D. 554; Constable, S.D. Griffith Maunders, 1201; Watts, 1201; Golmie, 861; Morrison, 141; Gardiner, 749; under the Preceptorship of Bro. Beckett.

STRONG MAN LODGE AND CHARTERHOUSE CLUB OF INSTRUCTION.—At a joint meeting of the brethren of the Strong Man Lodge and Charterhouse Club of Instruction, held at the Old Jerusalem Tavern, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, on the 3rd of Nov., 1873, it was proposed to present a testimonial to Bro. Beckett, as a mark of esteem and appreciation of his services as Honorary Preceptor to the above Lodge and Club. A committee was formed for the purpose of carrying out the object. The presentation is intended to be made on 15th December, and it is requested that those brethren who desire to participate in the pleasure, will give in their subscriptions not later than 8th December.

Bro. Charles S. Burgess has resigned, or is about to resign the office of Grand Registrar of Marks.

The "Palestine" Rose Croix Chapter, will meet at the Masonic Hall, Golden square, on Tuesday next, the 25th inst., at half-past four. Bro. George Kenning 30° is the M.W.S. Elect.

We are requested to state that the window to be placed in Durham Cathedral, as a mark of esteem to John Fawcett, Esq., is not the gift of the "Freemasons of the City of Durham," as stated by us, Nov. 5, but "has been subscribed for by the whole of the Masons of the province, and not of the City alone." We duly apologise to the "provinces."—Figaro.

We have been favoured with a view of a life-size likeness in oil, by Mr. W. R. Dickinson, of Tunbridge Wells, of R.W. Bro. Hugh D. Sandeman, District Grand Master of Bengal. The picture, which is pronounced to be an excellent likeness, and is certainly a good work of art, is taken partly from sittings and partly from a number of photographs by Messrs. Robinson and Cherill, the well-known photographers of Tunbridge Wells. Bro. Sandeman is represented in his regalia as D.G.M., and wearing the collar and jewel of the 33°. The picture, after remaining a short time on view, will be forwarded to its destination, the Freemasons' Hall in Calcutta.

Our attention has again been called to that excellent little work "The Oxford and Cambridge Masonic Almanack," a review of which has already appeared in our columns on June the 21st. The next issue will not appear before the 1st of October; it will comprise an Almanack and Diary for the years 1874 and 1875. We have every reason to believe that it will be another charming little work, and one that will vie with its predecessors. The price will be 1s.

GIFT OF AN ART GALLERY TO LIVERPOOL.

MUNIFICENT DONATION BY THE NEW MAYOR.

Mr. Alderman Walker, who has been elected to fill the Mayor's Chair in Liverpool has signalled his appointment to that high office by a munificent offer to expend £20,000 in presenting the town with an Art Gallery. The offer was as unexpected as it was generous. Mr. Walker, as he stated to the Town Council on Monday, formed so long ago as 18 months an intention of erecting some public institution in Liverpool; and the recent movement to provide an art gallery by voluntary contributions seems to have led him to embody this intention in the shape now announced. Coming as it does subsequent to, and not before, his election to the highest municipal honours, Mr. Walker's offer is as disinterested as it is acceptable. Henceforth his name will be associated with those of the late Sir William Brown, M.P., who built for us the noble Free Public Library, in William Brown-street; and Mr. Joseph Mayer, whose costly museum of treasures, valued at not less than £25,000, was a few years ago presented to the town. Mr. Walker's gift is doubly opportune, for it not only furnishes what was much needed, but saves the town from the humiliation with which it was threatened by the failure of the recent appeal to the wealthy inhabitants of the town for funds to erect an art gallery. The munificence of Mr. Alderman Walker is without a parallel in the annals of mayoralty of Liverpool, and he has, not more by his timely munificence, than by the cultivated taste displayed in his selection of a public gift, earned the lasting gratitude of every one of his townsmen.

There are in connection with the College THREE ANNUAL EXHIBITIONS, open for general competition to all students, and tenable for three years.

Special Classes are formed for preparing students for the Legal, Medical, Home, Colonial, and Indian Civil Service Examinations; and for entrance to Woolwich, Coopers-hill, and the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, Dublin, Durham, and Edinburgh.

The Religious Teaching is based on strictly Protestant Principles, in accordance with the Doctrines and Liturgy of the Church of England.

Students requiring a commercial education only, are exempt from the classical course, if desired.

The year consists of two terms, during which there are no holidays, the only vacations being at Midsummer and Christmas.

The use of all class books, valuable library, stationery (except mathematical instruments) laundry, &c., is included in the terms. No Extras of any kind.

The High School—Students from 10 to 23 years of age.
The Middle School—Students from 12 to 16 years of age.

The Preparatory School—Students under 12 years of age.

The College is divided into three sections. In the

PREPARATORY SCHOOL
(entirely distinct, but contiguous)

Boys are well grounded in the elements of a sound English Education, with French and German (also in Latin and Greek if for the learned professions), and prepared for the High or Middle School. In the High School the course of study is a preparation for the Universities and the various competitive examinations; while the Middle School trains pupils in such subjects as will qualify them for scientific and commercial pursuits.

Alston College is pleasantly situated, about six miles from Preston, and half a mile from Longridge Railway Station; is in immediate proximity to beautiful mountain scenery, within half an hour's ride of the chief watering places on the western coast of Lancashire, and is considered by Medical Professors to be in one of the healthiest localities in England—a fact sufficiently proved by the remarkably good health enjoyed by the students and regularly confirmed by the half-yearly medical reports.

Extensive Cricket Grounds are attached to the College Farms, whilst a spacious covered Gymnasium and Student's Hall, available for recreation, drill, &c., adjoin.

Reports of all examinations, together with the names of those students who have distinguished themselves at the College and the Universities, as Exhibitioners, Medalists and Prizemen, also the reports of the late examinations, together with views of the College buildings, and all necessary information, forwarded on application to the Rector, or to

Mr. GEORGE CLIFFORD, Secretary.

References kindly permitted to Bro. Masons, and to the late Examiners: Rev. T. H. Lindsay Leary, M.A., D.C.L. (Oxon), Assistant Examiner to Her Majesty's Civil Service Commission, Crawford Cottage, Epsom; T. W. Eyre Evans, Esq., LL.D., T.C.D., Nightingale Villa, Lower Newwood; and other University Examiners; Professor Pagel, Liverpool; R. Routledge, Esq., B.S.F.C.S., Manchester; also the Protestant Clergy, Nobility, and Professional Gentlemen (parents of present pupils) in London, Manchester, Liverpool, Birmingham, Leeds, Bradford, Bognor, Preston, Burnley, Chester, Lancaster, Boston (Lincoln), Wigan, Harrogate, Acvington, Haslingden, Kendal, Southport, Todmorden, &c., and various other towns; the Consuls of France, the colonies, New York, and the United States, Brazil, Cuba, &c., who can bear ample testimony to the merits and success of the College.

Next term commences the 7th August, 1873.

CROSBY'S BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR.

 OPIATES, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief in Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling the digestive organs, and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy.
 SELECT TESTIMONIAL.
 Dr. Rooke, Scarborough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdued cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease."
 This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Night Sweats of Consumption, Quinsey, and all affections of the throat and chest. Sold in bottles at 1s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, by all respectable Chemists, and wholesale by Jas. M. Crosby, Chemist, Scarborough.
 * * * Invalids should read Crosby's Prize Treatise on "Diseases of the Lungs and Air-Vessels," a copy of which can be had Gratis of all Chemists.

DOMATIC LODGE (No. 177).—The usual meeting of this lodge was held on Friday 14th inst., Bro. George Tims, W.M., presiding. There was a large muster of the brethren. Among the visitors present were Bros. Arnold, P.M. 55; Bartlett, 71; Limetry, 45; Kent, 192; Roberts, P.M. 192; Dawsey, 901; and Watts, 1201. The raising, passing, and initiations (two) having been gone through in capital style, the brethren adjourned for refreshment, and spent a very pleasant evening.

BARNES.—Rose of Denmark Lodge (No. 975).—This lodge held its eleventh installation meeting at the White Hart Tavern, Barnes Terrace, Surrey, on Friday, the 21st inst., and was attended by sixty members and visitors. Bro. J. H. Tyler, W.M., opened the lodge, passed two brethren, and raised a third. He then, in splendid style, installed his successor, Bro. H. O. Hinton, into the Master's chair, for the ensuing year, and received the congratulations of a large Board of I.M.'s for his excellent working. The officers appointed or invested were as follows:—Bros. Edmonds, S.W.; Brook, J.W.; Noyce, P.M., Treas. Little, P.M., Sec.; Clarke, S.D.; Leo, J.D.; Phillips, I.G.; Curtis, D.C.; Wrigglesworth, W.S. Bro. Tyler, P.M., then gave the usual addresses. The new W.M. at once proceeded to prove his workmanlike qualifications by raising a brother to the rank of M.M., a ceremony which he rendered in a manner as nearly perfection as it is possible to imagine. Before the lodge was closed it was resolved to present a testimonial on vellum to the retiring W.M., as an acknowledgement of his efficiency, and of the prosperity which had attended his year of office, in addition to a ten guinea P.M.'s jewel, with which he was invested during the evening. A banquet followed the proceedings in lodge. Bro. Hinton, P.M. 360, P. Prov. G.W., Norths and Huntingdonshire (father of the W.M.) responded for the numerous visitors.

ABERYSTWITH.—Aberystwith Lodge (No. 1072).—The second meeting of the season of this flourishing lodge was held on Thursday the 13th instant at the Belle Vue Royal Hotel, under the presidency of Bro. J. W. Szlumper, I.P.M., P. Prov. G.J.W., supported by Bros. Geo. T. Smith, P.M., P. Prov. G. Sec. P.G.S.W., acting as S.W.; Stanley J. Balcombe, Prov. G. Sec., J.W.; Edward Hamer, P.G.S.W., S.D.; J. Pell, P. Prov. G.D.C., J.D.; George Careswell, I.G.; C. Rice Williams, M.D., P.M., Sec.; John Davies, John Paull, W. H. Boundy, B. E. Morgan, A. J. Hughes, and many other brethren who did not sign the attendance book. The lodge was opened in form, and the minutes of the lodge held in October having been confirmed, the ballot was taken for three gentleman anxious for "light" which proved in their favour. This being the night for ballot for W.M., Bro. Geo. Tempany Smith, P.G.S.W., was unanimously elected—here we may remark that this is the fourth occasion upon which Brother Smith has received the suffrages of his brethren to preside over the fortunes of this lodge—we wish him a very successful year of office, and believe that under his guidance 1872 will go on and prosper, ever more than in the past. The lodge was opened in the second degree, and Bro. W. H. Williams was passed to the F.C. Owing to the late hour, the lecture had to be omitted until some "future occasion." The lodge having been lowered to the first degree, Mr. Evan R. Pughe of Towyn, the only candidate present, was initiated into Freemasonry by the W.M., in his usual correct manner. Bro. John Vaughan was proposed for re-election as Treasurer, and, no other brother being "run" for the office, that may be considered as "un fait accompli." Brother John V. Rees was proposed as Tyler for the ensuing year. Nothing remaining, the lodge was closed in due form, and the brethren adjourned to a supper, served in thorough "Belle Vue" form. The Installation of the W.M. will take place in December, and the ceremony is expected to be performed by a brother of the adjoining Province high in the Craft.

EARL OF ZETLAND LODGE (No. 1364).—This Lodge held its installation meeting at the Old Town Hall, Hackney, on Saturday, the 15th inst. The lodge was opened in due form, the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. A. G. Challis being in attendance, was duly initiated into ancient Freemasonry. The W.M. then proceeded to instal the S.W., Bro. King, his successor in the chair of K.S., who appointed his officers as follows:—Bros. Rhein, S.W.; Fysh, J.W.; Bush, P.M., Secretary; E. Wright, S.D.; Maples, J.D.; Keen, I.G.; Lowe, D.C.; Tunstall, Gompertz, W.S.; Gilchrist, T. Much surprise was evinced by the brethren present when the late S.D. was entirely passed over. Visitors to this lodge have always expressed great satisfaction with the kind, courteous and able manner in which his duties have been performed, and considering that as one of the founders of the lodge, also the perfect and masterly way in which he performs the work of Freemasonry, as evinced at the Lodge of Instruction, renders the step quite inexplicable. After the lodge had been closed the brethren adjourned to the Cannon-street Hotel, and partook of a sumptuous banquet.

SEVENOAKS.—Knole Lodge (No. 1414).—This lodge celebrated its first anniversary on Tuesday, the 11th instant, at the Masonic Rooms, Literary Institute, Sevenoaks, when the excellent and esteemed Bro. Edward Palmer, who had been unanimously re-elected to the chair, was re-installed in the presence of a numerous and brilliant gathering of the Craft. Bro. R. Wentworth Little, P.M., Prov. Grand Sec for Middlesex, who had consecrated the lodge, was specially invited to perform the ceremony of installation, a duty which he discharged with evident pleasure, and to the satisfaction of every brother present. It is, however, but simple justice to add that the manner in which Bro. Palmer, prior to his re-installation, raised a candidate, Bro. Cockburn, to the third degree, could not have been surpassed by any Mason in or out of the metropolis. To a letter perfect knowledge of the "Emulation" working, Bro. Palmer unites the advantages of a clear voice, an excellent delivery, and elocutionary acquirements of no mean order, and the result was beyond question a treat for the lovers of good and true Masonic work. The officers of the lodge are also exceedingly efficient, and deserved the high encomiums passed upon them by the W.M. when appointing them to office. Another qualifying circumstance in connection with this very pleasant Masonic gathering was the presentation of an extremely handsome P.M.'s jewel to Bro. Palmer. In the design of this jewel, seven acorns—emblematic of Sevenoaks—and an accurate engraving of Knole House—from which the lodge takes its name—were very much admired by the brethren. This presentation was made, in the name of the lodge, by Bro. Chas. Duke, P.M. 40, Prev. J.G.D. Sussex, and honorary member, who has taken great interest in the welfare of the lodge, and never missed a meeting, although he resides at Hastings.

No better delegate could have been selected, inasmuch as he gracefully alluded to the services of the worthy recipient, and to the kindly feelings which dictated the gift, without admixture of fulsome compliment in the first case, or of sentimentalism in the other. Bro. Duke's remarks were greatly applauded by the crowded assemblage, as were likewise the choice and appreciative sentences in which Bro. Palmer couched his acknowledgments and thanks to the brethren. Bro. Wentworth Little then gave the address to the W.M., Bro. Herbert Dicketts, Grand Steward of England, that to the Wardens, and Bro. John Boyd, P.M., P.G. Pursuivant of England, the exhortation to the brethren, each being greeted with hearty Masonic applause. The lodge was then closed, all the usual rites having been previously observed, and the brethren adjourned to the celebrated Crown Hotel, the host of which Bro. W. Pawley, S.D. of the lodge, surpassed himself in the preparations he had made for the comfort of his guests. Shenstone's famous lines about "the warmest welcome at an Inn" came to recollection as we surveyed the really magnificent appearance of the tables, garnished with rarest plants and flowers, with clustering grapes fit to tempt an anchorite to forswear roots for ever. Nor was the substantial entertainment of the inner man in any way inferior to the pictorial spectacle which met the eye. A menu of a perfectly orthodox calibre, and wines of a more than ordinary excellence, completed the triumphs of the day, which will not readily be forgotten by any who had the privilege of being present. After the usual loyal and formal toasts, the health of the W.M. was proposed in handsome terms by Bro. Duke, and responded to, if not with Kentish fire, at least with a warmth of sincere good will, which evinced the respect which the "men of Kent," and especially those of the Knole Lodge, entertain for their chosen ruler. The W.M., in an eloquent speech, returned thanks, and reviewed the history of the lodge during its first year of existence. Young as they were, he said, they had sent two Stewards to the charities during that period: one to the Girls' School, and one to the Benevolent Institution—(cheers)—and he was happy to add that the J.W., Bro. Petley, had consented to represent the lodge at the Girls' Festival in 1874. (Renewed applause.) For himself he would promise to do his utmost to maintain and support true Masonic principles, and he hoped to have, during his second year of office, the help of his officers and the assistance of all the brethren. Our space will not permit us to enlarge upon the many excellent speeches delivered during the evening. Bros. Boyd and Dicketts replied for the Grand Officers, Bro. T. E. Chubb, P.M. 33, P.G. Steward, for the visitors, and Bro. R. Wentworth Little for the Masonic charities. The vocal abilities of Bro. Montem Smith added much to the pleasing character of the meeting, and not a hitch occurred to mar its harmony. We sincerely wish Bro. Palmer and the members of the Knole Lodge every success in the Masonic career which have so generally and so praiseworthy commenced.

DAWLISH.—Salem Lodge (No. 1443).—The usual monthly meeting was held at the Town Hall, Dawlish, on Wednesday evening, the 19th inst. The W.M., Bro. J. Stroud Short, in the chair of K.S.; Bro. S. Lorman, S.W.; Bro. W. Ball, J.W.; the other officers in their usual places. Visiting Bro. Dr. H. Hopkins, P.M. 39; S. Templar, 303; Bunt, Gloyd. The lodge being opened in the first degree, the ballot was taken for Mr. C. B. Ferris, who was unanimously elected. The lodge was then opened in the second and third degrees, being resumed in the first. Mr. Ferris was regularly initiated into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry. Bro. Tripe was passed to the F.C. degree, and Bros. Whedborne, Friend, and Smith, were then raised to the sublime degree of M.M., the work being done by the W.M., who now called on Dr. Hopkins to deliver the charge and lecture in the third degree, which he did in his usual impressive manner. After the lodge having been again resumed to the first degree, the W.M. notified to the brethren that Bro. Dr. Hopkins, had executed a very handsome chart of Masonic emblems to commemorate the consecration of Salem Lodge; and which he now presented to the lodge. A vote of thanks was carried by acclamation. The W.M., in a eulogistic speech, thanking the donor for the great interest he had taken in No. 1443, since its formation, proposed him as an honorary member, which being duly seconded, was carried nem. con. The brethren having closely inspected the chart, unanimously pronounced it to be a perfect specimen of penmanship, and immediately recommended it to be framed and glazed. The lodge was then closed with solemn prayer, and the brethren retired in harmony. It should here be stated that Bro. Hopkins is most indefatigable in executing various works of penmanship, such as book marks, &c., not only with Masonic, but ecclesiastical emblems, and as they are so neatly finished, are readily purchased by all who have the opportunity of seeing them, the whole of the proceeds of the sale being devoted to the various Masonic charities.

BRISLINGTON.—Carnarvon Lodge of Mark Masters (No. 119).—The regular quarterly meeting of this lodge, was held at the White Hart Hotel, Brislington, on Thursday, November 20th, when the lodge was opened by the W.M., Bro. W. A. Scott, at 4.30 p.m. The business of the evening was the election of the Worshipful Master, Treasurer and Tyler, the advancement of the brethren elected at the last meeting, and to ballot for and if elected advance Bros. Wotley, Worlock, and Plant. The ballot being clear in each case, and three of the brethren being in attendance and having signed the required declaration they were admitted in due form, and advanced to this honourable degree, the ceremony being worked in a most interesting and impressive manner by the Deputy Provincial Grand Mark Master, Bro. Captain F. G. Irwin. Bro. Scott, having resumed the gavel, reminded the brethren that the time had now arrived for electing a brother to fill the chair of A. for the ensuing year, and on the motion of the D.P.G.M.M., seconded by Bro. Dr. S. Bryant, Bro. G. F. Tuckey, the present S.W., was unanimously elected W.M. The W.M., Bro. Scott, then proposed the re-election of Bro. Dr. S. Bryant, as Treasurer, the D.P.G.M.M. seconded the proposition, alluding in highly eulogistic terms to the lengthened services rendered by the Treasurer to every branch of the Masonic brotherhood. Bro. J. Coles, was re-elected Tyler. There being no further business before the meeting, the lodge was closed in ancient form and with solemn prayer, at 6.30. Bro. W. A. Scott, P.M., G.S., W.M.; F. G. Irwin, P.G.O., D.P.G.M.M., I.P.M.; Dr. Bryant, P.M., G.M.O., Treasurer; G. F. Tuckey, Assistant Prov. G. Sec., S.W.; Dr. Hodges, P.G.S.B. J.W.; Munro, Assistant P.G.D.C., M.O.; Eastabrook, S.O.; F. Trull, J.O.; J. A. Clark, P.G.J.W., Sec.; G. Tonkin, S.D.; D. P. Belfield, P.G.S., J.D.; S. Edwards, I.G.; J. Coles, T., and others were present.

Irwin Lodge of Royal Ark Mariners—At the close of the Carnarvon Mark Lodge a meeting of Royal Ark Mariners was held, Bro. George Tucker, occupied the chair of N. and satisfactorily explained to the brethren the reason they had not been called together before. Bro. William Munro, elevated in the Rainbow Lodge, at Yeovil, was received as a joining member, and it was resolved that the N., J., and S., do form a committee to draw up bye-laws and make all necessary arrangements for ensuring the proper working of this ancient and interesting degree.

BURY.—Alfred Lodge (No. 136).—On Thursday, Nov. 14th, the annual festival of the above lodge took place at the Bridge Inn, Bury. There was a very good attendance of members. The lodge was opened in due form at 4.30 by Bro. H. Maiden, W.M. After the minutes of last lodge had been read and confirmed, several of the brethren signed and received their certificates in open lodge. Bro. Thomas Hargreave, P.G.J.D. and P.M. 113, then took the chair, and Bro. Samuel Wood was duly installed as W.M. for the ensuing year, according to ancient custom. Under the able and experienced Mastership of Bro. S. Wood we are certain that the prosperity and stability of the lodge will be fully maintained and increased. After the appointment and investiture of the officers, the lodge was closed in peace and harmony at 6 p.m. The brethren afterwards adjourned to the banquet, provided in Bro. E. Whittam's usual style, and to which proper justice was done by the brethren assembled. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts followed, being given and received with that fervour and enthusiasm which is such a truly distinguishing characteristic of the Lancashire Mark Masons. To the toast of the Grand Master, Deputy G.M., and grand officers, present and past, Bro. Hargreaves responded at considerable length. The P.G.M., Deputy G.M., and rest of P.G. Officers, and many other toasts were afterwards given, including the W.M. and I.P.M., to which both suitably responded.

PLANTAGENET CONCLAVE (No. 2).—This conclave met at its comfortable quarters, at Bro. States's, the Caledonian Hotel, Adelphi, on Saturday, the 15th inst. The M.P.S., Dr. Parker Ward, being prevented by professional engagements from attending, Sir Knight R. Wentworth Little, G. Treasurer, was invited to take the chair, and was supported by Sir Knight J. Lewis Thomas, G.A., P. Sov., as V.; F. G. Baily, S.G.; H. T. Dicketts, Treas.; T. W. White, G.A.T. Recorder; G. S. States, P.V.; C. Hammerton, J.G.; C. Hogard, E. H. Thiellay, and E. H. Finney. Sir Knight H. C. Levander, G.H.A. P. Sov., No. 6. was the only visitor. The Conclave having been opened, and the minutes confirmed, a ballot was taken for Bro. Edward S. Norris, of Lodge No. 471, and proving favourable, Bro. Norris was regularly dubbed a Knight of Rome, and was then introduced and installed a Knight of the Red Cross of Constantine. After the performance of some formal business, the Conclave was closed, and the Knights sat down to a banquet, worthy of the high reputation which the "Caledonian" has secured under Bro. States' efficient management. The usual loyal and chivalric toasts were heartily honoured, and a special feature of the evening's proceedings consisted in the presentation of a handsome P. Sovereign's jewel, to Sir Knight Thomas, in recognition of his many services to the conclave. The jewel bears the "Plantagenista" or broom of the "Plantagenets" and was greatly admired. Sir Knight Thomas duly acknowledged the compliment, and after a most pleasant evening, the Knights separated.

LODGE TWEED KELSO (No. 261).—This lodge held its regular monthly meeting in the Large Hall of the Cross Keys Hotel, Kelso, on Thursday evening, 12th November. Bro. J. S. Macgregor, R.W.M., occupied the chair, the Wardens were in their places, and a large number of the brethren turned out for the business of the evening, which had been anticipated for some months previous, the affiliation of Bro. Chalmers, I. Paton, P.M., No. 393 England, as a full member of the lodge, reading of the minutes, nomination of office bearers for the ensuing year, and reading a communication from the Grand Lodge of Scotland, in regard to the qualification of Past Masters as life members of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. The Deacons conducted Bro. C. I. Paton to the Altar, when the affiliation ceremonial was gone through by the R.W.M., and the brother was invested with the clothing in the colours of the lodge, and declared a member of Lodge Tweed. A member then brought forward a motion for discussion at next regular meeting "that non-resident members of the lodge might become life members by paying a sum down instead of the usual annual subscription." The brethren thereafter resolved to hold a torchlight procession on St. John's night, and a dinner and ball on the second Wednesday in January. There being no further business the lodge was then closed. Immediately thereafter the brethren retired to the banqueting hall and sat down to a sumptuous repast prepared for the occasion by Bro. Keddie, of the Cross Keys Hotel. The cloth being removed, the usual routine toasts were gone through, when Bro. Allen was called upon to sing one of the old and favourite Scottish Ballads, which he did in the true Jacobitish style. "Great prosperity to the Lodge Tweed" was proposed from the chair, and responded to by Bro. Steel, P.M., who said he had seen the lodge in its adversity and its prosperity, but was now pleased to see it occupy its present position and thought nothing was wanting but to continue in the doing of what all Masons ought to practice, charity and love. Bro. Hall gave a Scottish recitation, which caused much mirth and laughter. Several brethren added to the harmony, and after a most pleasant evening being spent, good night was declared for the third time, when all parted to meet again on another night.

CONSECRATION OF THE CLAUSENTUM LODGE AT WOOLSTON.

The consecration of the Clausentum Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, No. 1471, took place at Woolston, Southampton, on Wednesday, the 18th instant, when the R. W. Prov. Grand Master for Hampshire and the Isle of Wight, Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., his Deputy, Bro. J. R. Stebbing, P.G. Deacon of England; and the other Prov. Grand Officers attended. The Prov. Grand Officers having taking their places, the R. W. Prov. Grand Master proceeded with the ceremonies of consecration and installation, in the presence of a numerous attendance of the brethren, including Bros. Stopher, Hare, Alix, Booth, H. P. Aslatt, Howell, W. J. Hickman, S. S. Pearce, C. Cox, Cleveland, Harle, C. J. Phillips, Best, and many of the members of the newly-formed lodge.

In introducing the special business of the meeting, the Prov. Grand Master, in a most impressive address, referred to the powerful benefits Freemasonry was calculated to confer upon them. Instituted in the most remote ages, it had stood an Order by itself, uninfluenced by the flow of time, and defying those assaults which had been fatal to other Orders. Why had this been the case? Because it had been founded on those principles which alone are eternal, and which had proved that, rightly applied, they could not fail to be beneficial to the brethren who made themselves acquainted with them, and who acted up to them. They knew that the principles which conduced to make a man an excellent Freemason must produce a good man—that at the very root of the Order the most excellent virtues were inculcated which in the volume of the sacred law were recorded for the guidance of men. In the very first lessons of Freemasonry adherence to that volume was enjoined, and as the neophyte advanced in instruction in the Order, he was still bade look to that holy volume as his guide. He was told that the very first lessons a Freemason ought to take to heart were faith, hope, and charity—faith in the Divine Author of our being, hope in salvation, and to be in charity with all men, particularly our brethren in Masonry. These being the virtues and principles recorded for their guidance, he must believe that no Freemason could be uninfluenced by such recommendations. They knew that Freemasonry was not a system of religion, but, nevertheless, it was in harmony with many of the precepts which religion enjoined, and no brother who was animated by the principles of the Craft could fail to be influenced for good in his future life. Believing this, they certainly felt Freemasonry to be one of those excellent things which ought to be inculcated on our fellow men. It was not consonant with their principles to attempt to induce any to belong to the Craft—they did not wish to enlist unwilling additions to their numbers, but if their advice was asked upon the point, they could not refuse the benefit of that advice, founded upon that experience of the Order. They could not say that they believed Freemasonry to be of no effect. On the contrary, if they were true Masons, they must say that they believed it to be of great effect. They must, however, show by their own conduct and their own lives that they had taken its precepts to heart, and as true and faithful members of the Order they should endeavour to show by their actions that they were animated by the principles which it was their boast the Order inculcated. Such, he trusted, was the object and would be the endeavour of the brethren whom he was then specially addressing as those about to form a new lodge. He trusted that this lodge might prove a powerful influence in the locality, and that, aided by the counsel, advice, and assistance of their neighbouring brethren, the members of the Clausentum lodge would prove themselves workmen who needed not to be ashamed, and who would set an example to other lodges in the district.

The formal documents were then read, approved, and confirmed, after which Brother Basil Wilberforce, the Prov. Grand Chaplain, delivered an address on the nature and principles of the institution. He could have wished for the sake of the brethren, he said, that this duty had fallen into abler hands, profoundly conscious as he was of his own own unfitness in the presence of so many brethren far more intimately acquainted with the history of their Order than he himself. It was not his intention to enter at any length into the controversies as to the exact date of the origin of Freemasonry. In the opinion of many their Order sprang into being at the time of the building of Solomon's Temple, and without doubt, if it did not originate at that time, the Order of Masonry would have received a powerful stimulant from the confraternities and guilds of artificers employed in that work of devotion to the great Architect of the Universe, all deeply impressed with the sacredness of the work in which they were engaged. But he could not but believe himself that their ancient Order was represented at a far earlier date by one who was especially inspired by Almighty God to erect the first architectural edifice used for the worship of God, namely, the tabernacle in the wilderness. We read in the xxxi. chapter of the book of Exodus, that "The Lord spake unto Moses saying, I have called by name Bezaleel, the son of Uri, and I have filled him with wisdom in all manner of workmanship to devise cunning works, to work in gold and in silver, and in brass, and in the cutting of stone." The antiquity of the Order being, however, beyond dispute, their time would be more profitably occupied in considering its position and value in the civilised world. Modern Freemasonry was, as they were aware, not a school of architecture, but a system of morality, veiled in allegory and illustrated by symbols, and its special connection with practical architecture had been gradually but surely severed. During the middle ages the inventions and improvements in architecture were due entirely to the skill and labour of the Freemasons, and the origin and spread of the well-known Gothic architecture throughout Western Europe was the work of the various lodges of the Craft, who communicated their inventions from lodge to lodge, and from country to country. In our own land it was remarkable that in the third year of King Henry VI., the Freemasons had assumed such power that, at the instigation of the then Bishop of Winchester, an Act of Parliament was passed in condemnation of the Craft, but not only was this tyrannical Act never enforced, but history leads us to the conclusion that King Henry himself became a Mason, or at any rate was present at the meeting of lodges, which would imply that he was initiated into the mysteries of the Craft. King James the First of Scotland was also a Mason and a constant patron of the ancient Order. After this date, Freemasonry being no longer indispensable to the Church, gradually declined. At the time of the civil war (1642) it again made its appearance in full force, but entirely severed from architectural practice, and whilst retaining the ancient ritual the architectural symbols, devoted itself exclusively to the inculcation of brotherly love and every social virtue. From England Freemasonry was first introduced into France in the year 1725, into Spain in 1728, and into Italy in 1733, in which year the first Italian Masonic lodge was established at Florence. Now he conceived that were it necessary to place their ancient Order upon the defensive against the indiscriminating attacks which prejudice loved to make upon every institution recognizing the principles of mystery and secrecy, the most effective reply was not to be found by any mere appeal to antiquity, but by pointing to the well-known practical results of Masonry thoroughly acted up to. In an ever changing world the unchanging principles of their Order stood firm as a perpetual protest over body and mind, and as a school in which to learn the paramount duties of love to God and love to the brethren—as a rock over which the wild storms of political conflicts and the battle of creeds, which alter the destinies of whole nations, may sweep without ruffling its surface. It is of the essence of pure Masonry that it knows no creeds, recognises no politics; and thus pure Masonry can place itself into antagonism with no states, no religions. Purity, charity, fraternity, are the principles which it strives to infuse into the minds and hearts of its children, and it bids them go forth boldly from every lodge, and in the name of the Great Architect of the Universe, practice these virtues faithfully. The religions of the world have varied, have developed, have exhibited intervals of terrible disruption—of almost universal disintegration. Masonry, in the midst of the storm, has still faithfully uttered her cry, purity, charity, fraternity. Men have made their creeds their battlefields, and to this or that religion the love of many has waxed cold, and when the love of a man to his religion waxes cold his morality suffers. Yet if one such has been a faithful Mason he has still heard the voice of the Ancient Order ringing in his ears—purity, charity, fraternity. And who can say that this constant exhibition of a high standard of social virtue has not filled a gap in the moral history of many a waverer in such times as those. He could not but recognise in this characteristic of their Order one reason why Freemasonry had so frequently come under the displeasure and excited the jealousy of prevailing religion. It was because it had effected so much for morality that it had been accused of rivalry to religion; but the assertion so frequently made that the secrets of Masonry were opposed to the doctrines of religion were both mischievous and false—intensely mischievous, inasmuch as to force Freemasonry into opposition to religion results disastrously for both systems—utterly false, inasmuch as Masonry is neither a religion nor a substitute for religion, but a system of morals eminently constituted to form a valuable handmaiden to every pure religion. What if Freemasonry had at times administered comfort and taught morality to some bewildered member of a religious community in process of disruption? This surely had been the fault of the professors of religion, and to the honour and credit of the Craft. We must not fail to observe, however, that the fault of a collision between Masonry and religion is sometimes the fault of the Mason himself. And circumstances will occasionally occur when the wisest discretion must be exercised. A peculiar and deeply interesting illustration of a dilemma of this nature, in which there could be no doubt that the principles of their Order were unduly stretched, was afforded us in scripture narrative. The history itself was full of interest to Masons as bearing marvellous testimony—first, to the antiquity of the Order, and, secondly, to the power of the principles of Masonry over one of the strongest passions of man's nature—the desire for revenge. In the 20th chapter of the 1st Book of Kings the incident is related—Benhadad, the King of Syria, had sent to Ahab, the King of Israel, a galling and insolent challenge—"Thy silver and thy gold are mine; thy wives also and thy children, even the goodliest, are mine." Ahab, after an interval of timidity and hesitation, being encouraged by a prophet of the Lord, joined in battle with the Syrian King and defeated him with terrific slaughter, Benhadad himself escaping from the field of battle, and concealing himself in the city. And now came the point of the history. From his concealment he sent messengers to supplicate the King of Israel for his life. What passed between the messengers and the victorious sovereign had better be rendered in the words of Holy Scripture, but if they did not refer to the passing between the conquered and the conquerors of a certain secret sign, it was not easy to see the meaning of the passage. Ahab, upon receiving the message, as if suddenly remembering some obligations of fraternity, cried out, "Is he yet alive; he is my brother;" and we read "The men did diligently observe whether anything would come from him, and did hastily catch it, and they said thy brother Benhadad." Doubtless they watched with eagerness to see if the sign of the brotherhood would come from him, and responded to it with the joyful cry, "Thy brother Benhadad." Remarkable, too, is the sequel of the history. Ahab being thus apparently constrained by the principles of the ancient Order to spare the life of his enemy, who had heaped insult on his country and his God, came, as he (the speaker) conceived, justly under the sore displeasure of his church, and was visited by the prophet, who foretold his own destruction for sparing the life of the enemy of his nation. Time would not suffer him to enter into the important question of the deterioration of Continental Freemasonry. The consistently hostile attitude adopted by the prevailing religion of the Continent towards Freemasonry had much to answer for in forcing into unwilling collision a body, which, if treated with confidence and consideration, would have proved itself a valuable assistant to the cause of pure religion. The part which the Freemasons of Paris were reported to have taken with the Commune during the insurrection of 1871, and their share in the excesses which then disgraced the page of history, could not but be a sorrow to every Mason, and to every man, but he contended that no form of association, however pure its intentions, could protect itself wholly from abuse. Human ignorance and misconception will at all times sully the noblest fraternity of which the component parts are simply human. And the Freemasons of Paris were sinning against Freemasonry and against order and religion when they lent themselves to that bloody work. Whilst sincerely deploring so flagrant a departure from the principles of the ancient Order, it was some satisfaction to be assured, as he had been by the Grand Master of England, that the English Freemasons have no sort of official communication whatsoever with the Grand Orient of France. Were it otherwise he conceived that it would be the bounden duty of the Grand Lodge of England to express in the most public way the abhorrence of deeds which had sullied the reputation of our noble Craft. Brethren (the P.G. Chaplain concluded by saying), let the errors and the excesses of some who have belonged to our noble Order not discourage or deter us in our pursuit of virtue. Rather let them serve as a warning to us that the true secret of preserving a community in a state of purity and usefulness is for each member to begin by making one man pure and useful and that man himself. To those about to join the Clausentum Lodge, now to be consecrated, I would say, make your Freemasonry a reality, and not a pastime. Attend, whenever possible, lodges of instruction, that you may become conversant with the real beauty and virtue of the system. Do not consider it as religion; or as a substitute for religion, but as co-existent with religion, and as an encouragement to search after higher and more soul saving truths. Cultivate the sublime principles which are so solemnly inculcated when you are admitted to the Order. Prove yourselves before the outside world to be true and genuine brothers, that all may see and approve the benign influence of Masonry; and above all things remember that the system of morality to which we, as Masons, are pledged is essentially for the well being of an earthly community, and as mortal beings you cannot rest satisfied with that. This life with its interests and necessities is after all but a starting point along a road without an ending, and before us all there is a time when systems of morality shall have faded away into the past, and eternity shall have set its terrible seal upon every action of this life. In praying that the Grand Architect of this life would vouchsafe His choicest blessing upon this newly constituted lodge, I would add the prayer that every member of the Fraternity, present and future, may so shape his course here below, that he may be admitted, through the mercy of one who loved the world and gave Himself for it, into the eternal portals of the Grand Lodge above. So mote it be.

The dedication prayer was then offered, and the invocation pronounced, the P.G. Chaplain reading II. Chronicles, 2nd chap., 1 to 16 ver., and after the remainder of the solemn ceremony had been performed, the following brethren were installed to the offices:—W.M., Bro. Capt. T. H. M. Martin; I.P.M., Bro. Wilkinson; S.W., Bro. G.S. Liddell; J.W., Bro. Walter Bowyer; Treas., Bro. W. A. Lomer; Sec., Bro. Davis; Direc. Cer., Bro. Waters; S.D., Bro. Stroud; J.D., Bro. Danells; I.G., Bro. Tilling; T., Bro. Vare.

Before the lodge separated cordial votes of thanks were tendered to the Prov. G.M., his officers, and to Bro. Rev. Basil Wilberforce. The number of propositions for candidates and joining was very large. At the conclusion of the proceedings Bro. W. A. Lomer fraternally invited the brethren to his residence, where they were hospitably entertained. There was a banquet in the evening at the lodge room, provided by Bro. Dartnall, of Southampton, Mr. Churcher, of the Woolston Inn, supplying the wines.

DISTRICT GRAND LODGE OF VICTORIA (AUSTRALIA.)

The regular quarterly communication of the District Grand Lodge of Freemasons, under the English Constitution, was held in the Masonic Hall, Camp-street, Ballarat, last Monday evening, at which the Right W. District Grand Master, Captain Standish, and many of his officers attended.

The handsome and elegantly furnished hall was crowded by brothers attracted by the novelty of the occasion, which created great interest in the district, owing to the meeting being, it is stated, the first of the kind ever held out of Melbourne.

At the conclusion of the business of the District Lodge, the annual meeting of the Yarrowee Lodge of Freemasons, No. 713, E.C. was held, the Right Worshipful District Grand Master and officers of the District Grand Lodge remaining, in addition to the W.M. and Wardens of the St. John's Lodge, Orion Lodge, Havilah Lodge (Creswick) Buninyong Lodge, All Nations Lodge (Clunes), Sebastopol Lodge, and Prince of Wales Lodge (Smythesdale), and Past Masters Henry Cuthbert, R. Valentine, Henry Davies, Richard Gibbings, J. Josephs, H. H. Radcliffe, J. T. Sleep, D. Thomas, Thos. Aldred, J. M'Cartney, J. T. Weickhart, C. Megson, Rd. Kent, Thomas Purves, Revs. Bros Innis and Goldreich, and many distinguished members of the Craft. Unusual Masonic interest was shown in this meeting consequent on the compliment paid to the district by the R.W.D.G. Master Captain Standish, and his officers coming from distant places at some inconvenience and expense, and this was rightly appreciated and acknowledged by the Fraternity, who mustered in great force, and made the spectacle grand and imposing—one long to be remembered.

The installation ceremony was most ably given by the V.W. District Grand Senior Warden, Bro. Wm. Strachan, when the following brethren were installed in their respective offices:—Br. Wm. Little, W.M., W.D.G.J.W.; F. M. Claxton, S.W.; Chas. B. Finlayson, J.W.; Chas. Salter, Treasurer; Henry H. Peake, P.M., Secretary; Robert Wreford, S.D.; Fred. J. Gomm, J.D.; H. A. Nevett, I.G.; John Rae, Tyler; John Allender and S. J. Morgan, Stewards. On the conclusion of the ceremony, the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to Hawthorn's Royal Hotel, where about 100 members sat down to a very sumptuous repast prepared by host Hawthorn. The W.M. occupied the chair, supported on the right by the R.W.D. Grand Master Bro. H. Cuthbert, P.M., and the D. Grand Secretary; on the left by the V.W.D.G. Senior Warden.

During the evening the following toasts were given:—"The Queen," by the W.M., followed by "God save the Queen," by the musicians and company, and cheers; "H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, P.G.M. of England;" song and chorus, "God bless the Prince of Wales;" "The Fraternal Memory of the Earl of Zetland," which was drunk in solemn silence; "The Three Grand Masters under the English, Irish, and Scotch Constitutions—Marquess of Ripon, Duke of Leinster, and Earl of Rosslyn."

Bro. Henry Cuthbert, P.M., proposed "The District and Provincial Grand Lodges of Victoria," coupled with the name of the R.W.D.G. Master, who, with his officers, had that day for the first time held a regular District Grand Lodge out of Melbourne. He considered that it should be recorded as a red letter day in Ballarat, that the D.G.M., who was the sovereign or the supreme ruler of the Craft in this colony, had condescended with his officers, at great personal inconvenience, less of time, and some cost to themselves, to come so far to honour them with their presence.

The R.W.D.G. Master, in reply, thanked the brethren and the members of the Yarrowee Lodge for the handsome manner in which they had been received in Ballarat, and said now railway communication had been established throughout the colony, he should feel it not only a duty, but a pleasure, to periodically visit the great centres of population in the country districts, and regretted much the absence of the representatives of the Irish Constitution, Bro. Wm. Scott, P.M., who, he was sorry to hear, was prevented being present through sickness. The R.W.D.G. Master proposed the health of the W.M., Bro. William Little, and "Prosperity to the Yarrowee Lodge," and in doing so congratulated Bro. Little on the confidence displayed towards him by the members of the lodge in having re-elected him a second time, that being the highest honour the lodge could confer. He also alluded to his having recognised the enthusiasm with which Bro. Little had worked in the cause of Freemasonry, by having appointed him to the highest office in the District Grand Lodge ever conferred on any member out of Melbourne, viz., the D.G. Junior Warden, and congratulated the lodge, which he considered the leading lodge in the district, on having again selected such a worthy representative.

Bro. Little responded.

Bro. F. M. Claxton proposed "The Sister Lodges," coupled with the names of W.M. and Past Masters present, with three times three.

The W.M.'s of the St. John's, Buninyong, Havilah, All Nations, Orion, Sebastopol, and Prince of Wales Lodges replied.

Bro. Valentine, P.M., proposed—"The Health of the Installing Master, the V.W.G.D. Senior Warden, Bro. Strachan," and said that the very pleasing and impressive manner in which the installation ceremony had been given, would leave a lasting impression on the minds of the brethren present.

The D.G.S.W., in reply, thanked Bro. Valentine for the compliment paid him, and said that he was only too happy at any time to render any Masonic service which he was capable of, and and felt gratified at being present at such a large and influential gathering of the Masons of this District.

Bro. Lempriere, D.G.S., proposed—"The newly-installed Officers of the Yarrowee Lodge," coupled with the names of the S.W., J.W., and Treas., who severally replied.

The V.W.D.G.S.W. proposed "The Past Masters and Past Officers of the Yarrowee Lodge," coupled with the name of Bro. Davies, P.M., and stated that the present position the lodge held must naturally be, in a great measure, due to the good government of the lodge by its Past Masters.

Bro. Davies replied.

Bro. Henry Davies, P.M., had much pleasure in proposing the health of the visiting brethren present, coupled with the names of the W.M.'s of the Clunes, Creswick, Smythesdale, Buninyong, and Sebastopol Lodges. Bro. Davies said this meeting recalled to his mind early associations of unmingled happiness and pleasure. He was a thorough believer in the good old system of English Freemasonry, and the beneficial effects from the frequent rubbing of shoulders together of intelligent men, and felt sure the social and moral progress of the world was largely indebted to such causes; he therefore hoped the system might long continue.

Bros. Lempriere, Caselli, and Megson severally returned thanks.

Bro. Finlayson, in a facetious speech, proposed "The Ladies," to which Bros. Josephs and Trenerry replied.

The health of the "Musicians" was proposed by the W.M., who stated that a great portion of his Masonic success was due to the kindness of his musical friends, who at all times had rendered their efficient services.

Bros. King, Lambie, and Austin T. Turner replied.

"The Tyler's" toast brought a very successful and pleasant meeting to a close at an early hour in the morning.

CONSECRATION OF THE BARD OF AVON CHAPTER, No. 778.

This new Chapter was consecrated at the Greyhound Hotel, Hampton Court, on Monday, the 10th inst., by Comp. R. Wentworth Little, P.Z., Prov. G.S.E., assisted by Comp. Colonel Burdett, Prov. G.Supt., as H., and Aeneas J. McIntyre, Q.C., G.R., as J., in the presence of about twenty companions, including many eminent R.A. Masons. After the consecration, the M.E.Z. designate, Comp. George Elliott, M.P., was installed as J., H., and Z., respectively, by the Presiding Officer, assisted by Comp. T. Fenn, as S.E. Comp. Parkinson was inducted into the chair of H. Lord Limerick, the J., was unable to attend. The rank of Honorary Member was unanimously conferred on Comps. Colonel Burdett; McIntyre, Q.C.; and R. Wentworth Little, for their attendance and services. The officers were then elected, and the chapter was closed.

The companions afterwards sat down to a bountiful banquet, and all joined in congratulating the M.E.Z. upon the auspicious commencement of his career as a Chief in Royal Arch Masonry. It is almost superfluous to add that capital speeches were made during the course of the evening by the M.E.Z., Comp. Elliott, and by Comps. Mc Intyre, Parkinson, Burdett, and others, and that in every respect the chapter bids fair to be a worthy adjunct to the lodge from which it derives its parentage and name. The furniture, jewels, &c., were manufactured by Comp. George Kenning.

MASONIC BIBLIOGRAPHY.

A curious little pamphlet came into my hands the other day, entitled, "Thoughts on Masonry, and the Admission of Persons into that Fraternity." By M. Concanen, Jun. London: Printed by the Author, and may be had of Bro. Parsley, bookseller, Surrey Lodge, Blackfriars Bridge.

"OLD CHARGES OF BRITISH FREEMASONS."

Since issuing the above work we have come across some more MS. Masonic Constitutions, and especially a notice of one which we now desire to inform Masonic students about.

Bro. Jacob Norton, of Boston (Mass.), drew our attention to a "Masonic Charge" alluded to in an address by Bro. the Rev. J. Wilton Kerr, of Clinton (Canada, West) and which appeared in the Philadelphia Mirror and Keystone (now extinct) for August 15th, 1860. The MS. it appears, was duly copied by Bro. Kerr, and is given in extenso in the magazine for the following week.

These have been kindly sent us by the Editor, Bro. Leon Hyneman (an earnest and learned Mason, through Bro. Norton, and since their receipt we have been most anxious to obtain some information about the original. Both these brethren have been indefatigable in their exertions to trace the document, and have written to Bro. Kerr, besides making able enquiries.

So far, we regret to state, the object of their researches has not been discovered, and from the contents of the letter forwarded by Bro. Kerr to Bro. Thomas B. Harris, Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Canada, we fear that this valuable MS. is lost.

The "Charge" is said to have been delivered at "Scarborough, in the County of York, England, the tenth day of July, 1505, before William Thompson, Esq., President of said lodge," &c.

This version of the "Old Charges" agrees in the main with the others which we have published, and also with those Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, M.A., and ourselves are thinking of issuing in 1874; but we fancy the year 1505 must be a clerical error, and meant for 1705, at which time the old Lodge of York was active, and likely enough engaged through its members in admitting Masons in other towns in the country.

Bro. W. Cowling, P.M., P. Prov. G.W. (of York) has kindly searched through the names, but he cannot trace a William Thompson in the "rolls" preserved of the ancient York Lodge members, but the same surname is recorded, but not for the 16th century.

Bro. Kerr lent the MS., to the late Robert Cooper, Esq., County Judge of Haron, who gave a brother's pledge to return it, but alas it has never more been seen by its owner, and though he has made every inquiry of the executor and the friends of the deceased, he failed to find its whereabouts.

He now gives up all personal ownership, and intends publicly to advertise for it, as the property of the Grand Lodge of Canada.

Bro. Kerr kindly promises, if he succeeds in tracing it to place it at our disposal. If it is found we shall owe its discovery mainly to our good Bro. Jacob Norton.

Brethren interested in our description of the "Grand Lodge MS.," will find some interesting information relative to its purchase, &c., in the Freemasons' Quarterly Review, vol. ix. 1842, pp. 149-50, which had escaped our attention until lately. W. J. HUGHAN.

SOCIETAS ROSICRUCIANÆ IN SCOTIA.

COLLEGE OF THE EAST OF SCOTLAND.—A special meeting of this college was held in Freemasons' Hall, George-street, Edinburgh, on the 15th inst.—present: Fraters John Laurie, 8°, Chief Adept; H. Y. D. Copland, Suffragan; Geo. Dickson, M.D., Conductor; W. M. Bryce, 1 A.; H. C. Peacock, 2 A.; R. S. Brown, 5 A.; James Reid, 6 A.; James Webster, 7 A.; W. J. V. Bindon, Secretary; F. L. Law, C.M.; R. Davidson, O.; R. Bryce, T.B.; Captain Charles Hunter, W. Milne, Peter Gardner, F.E.I.S., and others. The M.C. having been formed, the following brethren were admitted and received into the grade of Zelator:—Charles Mackenzie and E. G. M. Sellentin, Frater Sellentin, being afterwards promoted to the grade of Theoricus. The accessories and furniture of the college were of the most tasteful and gorgeous style, reflecting great credit upon Frater W. M. Bryce, 1 A., who had the management of that department. A few names of brethren were proposed for admission, and after being balloted for, were declared duly elected, and it was intimated that the number being now complete, no more names could be proposed. The college was thereafter closed.

MARK BENEVOLENT FUND.

The following Rules of the Mark Benevolent Association will be found useful in the formation of similar associations:—

"This Association is formed for the purpose of enabling members of the Craft and Mark Masonry and their friends to obtain Life Governorships in one or other of the Masonic Institutions by small payments:

"The Association will last for 210 weeks, and may consist of an unlimited number of members, the dues being 1s. weekly, but in order to avoid trouble in the collection it is desirable that 10s. or £1 should be paid at a time.

"When sufficient funds are in hand to pay for a Life Governorship a ballot will be held, and the successful member will have the option of naming the Institution of which the money shall be paid, and also the individual in whose name it shall be entered.

"The successful member must sign an undertaking to continue his weekly payments until the close of the Association.

"Any member whose payments have been in arrear for ten weeks can be removed from the list of members by a vote passed by a majority of the members present at the meeting and confirmed at another meeting, held after an interval of a fortnight.

Any Member whose name has been so removed will forfeit all payments he may have made to the Association, and all benefits derivable therefrom.

"In the event of such Member having drawn a ballot, the Life Governorship of his or her nominee shall be transferred to some other member of the Association, to be decided by ballot.

"The Treasurer shall have the power of entering the names of new members, subject to the approval of the majority of the members present at the next meeting.

"All meetings to be summoned by the Treasurer giving three days' notice to each of the members, addressed to their last known place of residence.

"The Treasurer to be elected at the first meeting."

Obituary.

BRO. E. WATES, D.P.G.M. KENT.

An earnest and honoured member of the brotherhood has just passed away. Bro. Edward Wates died at his residence, Gravesend, on the 5th inst., at the early age of forty-two. He had been ill for two or three months past, the malady being of a serious nature, but he lingered on, his friends hoping almost against hope, until, on the evening of Wednesday, the 5th of November, after having taken a somewhat hearty tea, he suddenly grew worse, and died an hour or two afterwards. Bro. Wates held several legal appointments in and near Gravesend. He was Clerk to the Commissioners of Taxes for the District; Registrar of the County Court at Sheerness; Clerk to the Stipendiary Magistrate at Chatham, and Clerk of the Gravesend and Milton Union. He had been for a considerable time a member of the Gravesend Town Council, and in November, 1872, he was elected Mayor, the choice being received with great favour by the inhabitants generally, with whom "Teddy Wates"—as he was familiarly called—was a great favourite; and it is hardly necessary to add that the news of his death, only a few days before the close of his year of office, although in a measure expected, was received with a deep feeling of sorrow throughout the neighbourhood. In the ranks of Masonry Bro. Wates was, as he merited, greatly liked and respected. He was a most painstaking and attentive member of the brotherhood, and had attained great honours in the Province. He was P.M. of the Lodge of Freedom, 77, held at Gravesend, and he performed the duties of Provincial Grand Secretary for Kent for many years, and so satisfactorily that a very handsome testimonial was presented to him by his brother Masons; and at the Grand Annual Festival, held at Chatham a few months ago, the office of Deputy Grand Master of the Province, vacant by the death of Bro. Dobson (also a former Mayor of Gravesend), was conferred upon Bro. Wates by Viscount Holmesdale, P.G.M., the appointment being one in which the Masons of the Province heartily concurred. The remains of the lamented brother were interred at the Gravesend cemetery on Tuesday last, about 100 of the brethren, including Past Provincial Grand Officers and the representatives of lodges in and out of the Province, being present.

Masonic Tidings.

The Provincial Grand Chapter of Middlesex will meet at the Mitre Hotel, Hampton Court, this day, Saturday, at 5 o'clock. The Burdett Chapter will be consecrated at the same place, at half-past three.

Bro. W. H. Lucia, Prov. G. Sec. Suffolk, has undertaken the office of Steward for his Province, at the Annual Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, which will take place on the 28th January next, under the presidency of Right Hon. Lord Waverley, Prov. G. Master of Suffolk.

The fifteen sections will be worked on Friday 5th December, at the Burgoyne Lodge of Instruction, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales-road, Kentish-town, when Bro. T. F. Wuest, P.M. 753, the newly-appointed Preceptor, will preside. A full attendance is expected.

The next meetings of the Oxford and Cambridge K.T. Preceptory and Rose Croix Chapter will be held at the new Masonic Hall, 33, Golden-square. The former will meet on Saturday, December 13th, and the latter on the Monday following.

In consequence of the number of applications for tickets to view the exhibition of Roman and British remains at Bro. Whichcord's offices in Queen Victoria-street, City, between Monday, the 24th, and Saturday, the 29th November, the hours of admission have been made from eleven a.m. to three p.m. each day, instead of one to three p.m., as formerly announced.

THE GRAND LODGE OF SCOTLAND.

Some questions having recently arisen, and still pending, as regards changes in that distinguished body, we think it well to call attention to-day to what, in our humble opinion, is the one great defect in the Scotch system, namely, the absence of annual lodge subscriptions. We admit, indeed, freely at the outset, that, each national Grand Lodge has a right to legislate for itself, and that, a priori, it is more likely to know what advances its own interests, and conduces to its own welfare, better than its friendly critics.

But in the case of Scotland some very serious drawbacks attend the present system, which affect others besides Scotch Masons, and therefore those outsiders have a right to express their opinion on a subject, which is, as we said at first, apparently and entirely alone within Scottish jurisdiction.

We have no doubt whatever ourselves, that, the whole difficulty about the Grand Lodge system itself has arisen from the fact, that, there are not, as with us, annual returns of the Lodges, as well as annual subscriptions to each Lodge, as a necessary condition for Grand Lodge Membership.

As a general rule in Scotland, we believe universally, at any rate with very few exceptions, no annual subscriptions are paid to lodges.

There is a payment, more or less, made at initiations, and though there may be small payments from time to time, we believe we are not incorrect in stating, that, once on the roll of the lodge all claims for payment cease.

There may be, as we have been told, a small payment for special purposes, or on some special occasion, but there is no regular system of annual payment, much less of annual subscription.

If there be the slightest error in this description of the present Masonic system in Scotland, we shall be most glad to be corrected, and will most joyfully admit our error.

Such a system works most prejudicially, in every way, to the interests of Scotch Masonry.

At this moment Scotland has no charitable Institution worthy of the Order, which numbers in its ranks many most excellent Masons, and liberal hearted men, and with the exception of some special lodges, there seems but little effected, beyond routine lodge working, and the customary "symposia."

But there is another great evil in the present system.

In some Lodges in Scotland—the acceptance fee is so small, that, many persons are admitted often with little previous inquiry, who ought in fact, never to have been admitted. The lodges in our Northern Counties are not unfamiliar with the advent of wandering Masons, who mostly hail from N. B., and who seem to think, that, because they paid some time ago, a very small sum comparatively, for their admittance into Freemasonry in some lodge in Scotland, which they only visited once, and will never visit again, they have an equitable claim upon the "Pedestal" of all our English Lodges, wherever they are, and wherever they go.

We do not think it needful to dilate upon the subject further to-day, nor do we wish to complain unnecessarily of differences of detail, and organization, but, what we would wish to suggest to the authorities of the Scotch Grand Lodge is, that, now some questions of reform have arisen, they should at once make use of this most favourable opportunity, to fix a minimum fee for admission in all their lodges, which at present is sadly too low in most cases, and also to insist, that, all Scotch Masons shall pay an annual subscription to their several lodges, be that subscription large or small, and that subscription shall be the condition of membership in Grand Lodge.

Until they do this, we feel persuaded, that, the condition of Scotch Freemasons will remain, as at present, unsettled and unsatisfactory still.

We are sorry to perceive that our excellent contemporary the Masonic News, published in Glasgow, terms the surreptitious ritual,—put forth by a soi disant Bro. Mason, P.M. 30,—“a handy and useful work;” and that the enterprising publisher of the Masonic News, Bro. Bassett, advertizes himself an agent of the work for Scotland.

Can any of our readers tell us who Bro. Mason is, and if there is such a brother really in existence? We need hardly add, that, any claim of any authority for the work, or acceptance by the Craft—is all moonshine.

We would draw the attention of our many readers to the fact that the Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar for 1874, is now ready, price 2s. od. post-free 2s. 2d., and may be had at Bro. Kenning's Masonic Depots, or through any respectable bookseller or newsagent.

WEEKLY SUMMARY.

Since our last impression we have had to regret the loss of two eminent merchants of London—Mr. Russell Ellice, and Mr. Thomas Baring, both of them high in the opinions of their fellow citizens. The death of Lord Richard Cavendish, brother to the Duke of Devonshire, is also announced.

The elections for the School Boards continue actively all over the country. In Sheffield no election has taken place, a course, we venture to think, of very doubtful legality, and still more doubtful propriety.

From the Gold Coast comes the first news of Sir Garnet Wolseley's proceedings, which took the form of a successful "reconnaissance," with no material loss. There has also been a skirmish at Escaboo, under Col. Festing, in which five English officers are "slightly wounded." Two good regiments, the 23rd Royal Welsh Fusiliers, and the 2nd Battalion of the Rifle Brigade, have been despatched to the seat of war, and the 42nd Highlanders, are to follow. This fine brigade is to be commanded, it seems, by Sir A. Alison, and there can be little doubt all that can be done by British soldiers will be effected by these excellent representatives of our English army.

The Times states that some progress has been made in drawing up the new rules for the new arrangements of our law courts, which are to come into effect in the summer of 1874. Mr. Disraeli has made a most effective speech, and given very good advice to the students and others at Glasgow, and following the many very distinguished men who have preceded him in the office of Lord Rector, there can be little doubt that he has well sustained his character for eloquence and oratory.

In the foreign news, as we anticipated, Marshal MacMahon has received a prolongation of his high powers for seven years, and we sincerely trust that under his firm and temperate sway, our good neighbours of "Outre Manche," may happily regain the flow of national prosperity, and he signal blessings of order, liberty, and peace.

In Spain, no material change is announced, though great uneasiness and confusion seem to prevail in the beleaguered fortress of Carthage.

The Italian Parliament has been opened in a Royal speech, all "couleur de rose," but, Italy's old enemy, a financial difficulty, seems looming in the distance.

Another very startling robbery of jewellery has taken place at Lady Waldgraves, at Strawberry Hill, somewhat similar to one not long ago at Earl Russell's in Richmond Park. The thieves are described as gentlemanly and well-dressed, one light, the other dark, and we would commend the care and consideration of these interesting professors of "legerdemain" to the speedy handling of our useful and meritorious fellow citizens in Scotland-yard.

If the demands of the American Government are correctly given by Baron Von Reuter, they are very simple, but excessively comprehensive. They amount to a restoration of the vessel, the setting at liberty all who are still in confinement, indemnification to the living, and to the friends of those so unjustly executed, an open repudiation of, and expression of regret for such uncalled for cruelties, and the signal punishment of all those who had any hand in inflicting, or permitting the unjust sentence of an incompetent court to be carried out, so hastily and so unmercifully.

Though we are Freemasons, and as such have nothing to do with politics, per se, we are still citizens, and let us hope patriots, endowed with the principles of common humanity and consideration for our fellow creatures. Probably another week will bring us decided news one way or the other. Having said this, we are glad to be able to express our hope that peace may not be disturbed, and that we all may learn more and more, that, the best way of maintaining tranquility in the world, and avoiding the horrors of war, is always to respect the rights, and laws, and liberties of others.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF WEST LANCASHIRE.

By command of Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, R.W.P.G.M., the annual Provincial Grand Lodge of West Lancashire was held on Wednesday, the 19th instant, at the Brook-street Sunday Schools, St. Helen's. As this was the first meeting his lordship has held since his appointment and installation as Provincial Grand Master of one of the most influential provinces throughout the kingdom, the W.M.'s, P.M.'s, Wardens, and brethren of the lodges in the province assembled in strong force to show their interest in the meeting and their admiration for their Masonic head. Probably there were present nearly 400 brethren, and the fact that the whole of the 63 lodges in the extensive province, with one exception, were represented at the meeting, showed how deep and strong is the interest taken in Masonry, and how much his lordship is esteemed and respected. The first act of his lordship with respect to the allotment of "purple" in the Provincial Grand Lodge is sure to increase his popularity, and on Wednesday there was almost universal satisfaction among the brethren that all the officers, with one or two exceptions, were changed for the first time in the memory of many. It is understood that this will now be the yearly course taken by his lordship, and as a consequence brethren who have, so to speak, grown grey in the service of Masonry, will now have a prospect of honourable recognition, while those who are manfully struggling to the front will have increased incitement to perseverance and zeal.

With the best weather, St. Helens, with its myriad of smoky chimneys and chemical breezes, is not the most inviting place, but on this occasion it was fortunately seen at its best, as if it were determined to do honour to the occasion. The Liverpool contingent of the brethren started from Lime-street Station at 10.50, special arrangements having been made with the railway company, and as the other trains came from the other places in the provinces the "natives" stared with undisguised astonishment at the crowds of black-coated and white-chokered strangers who had apparently taken full possession of the town. The accommodation at the Brook-street Sunday Schools was of the most satisfactory character, and the arrangements generally were very complete. To save a good deal of confusion and delay, however, we would suggest that at future meetings of Provincial Grand Lodges, more than one Tyler's book should be furnished. A dozen smaller paper covered books might be provided, thereby enabling a number of brethren to sign simultaneously, and, if necessary these might afterwards be collected and bound together. The effect of having only one book on this occasion, was that many had to struggle to get to it, others only signed after the business was over, while others left altogether without signing. In every other respect, however, there was nothing to which exception could be taken, and the St. Helens' meeting may, in every sense, be reckoned the most successful and pleasant ever held, with the exception of that held at the Liverpool Town Hall.

THE P.G. LODGE MEETING.

After the brethren had assembled in the large and handsome school room upstairs, the Craft lodge was opened in the three degrees by Bro. Hall, P.M., of Lodge 32 (the oldest in the Province), as W.M., supported by Bros. J. W. R. Fowler, I.P.M. 86, acting as S.W.; J. Beesley, W.M. 216, as J.W.; and R. Brown, J.W. 241, as I.G.

Amongst the principals and leaders of the different Craft lodges represented, we observed the following:—Bros. Dr. J. K. Smith, P.M. 249; H. Pearson, P.M. 248; C. Humphries, S.W. 1013; Dr. J. Worthington, W.M. 220; G. F. Robinson, W.M. 1375; S. Studd, S.W. 1375; W. Boulton, W.M. 823; J. Devaynes, P.M. 667; T. Ashmore, P.M. 823; J. Healing, 1263; J. Platt, P.M. 613; H. Nelson, P.M. 673; E. Kyle, W.M. 673; J. T. Callow, I.P.M. 673; R. Hooker, S.W. 1225; R. Pearson, P.M. 673; T. Fair, W.M. 1256; William Williams, W.M. 1182; W. Pugh, P.M. 1182; P. R. Thorn, P.M. 1182; W. Shortly afterwards the Provincial Grand Lodge was announced, and Bro. the Rt. Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, R.W.P.G.M., entered the room, preceded and accompanied by the following P.G. Officers, past and present:—Bros. J. F. Goggin, P.G. Chaplain; T. Armstrong, P.G. Treas.; T. Wylie, P.G. Reg.; H. S. Alpass, P.G. Sec.; R. Wylie, P.P.G.S.D.; B. W. Rowson, P.G.S. of W.; G. Broadbridge, P.G.D.C.; J. W. J. Fowler, P.G.A.D.C.; J. Skeaf, P.G.O.; R. Robinson, P.G.S.; P. Ball, P.G. Tyler; W. H. Ball, P.G.A. Tyler; T. Birchall, P.P.J.G.W.; P. Maddox, P.P.G.S. of W.; W. Laidlaw, P.P.G.S. of W.; S. E. Ibbs, P.P.G.S.B.; J. Hamer, P.P.G. Treas.; A. C. Mott, P.P.S.G.D. and P.P.G.S.W. of Westmoreland and Cumberland; H. G. Vernon, P.P.G.C.; C. Sherlock, P.P.G. Reg.; J. Bowes, P.P.G. Reg.; J. Baxendale, P.G. Pur.; C. J. Banister, P.G.S.B. of England. The R.W.P.G.M. having ascended the throne, he was greeted with the royal honours, led by Bro. G. Broadbridge, P.G.D.C. The P.G.M. then proceeded to open the Provincial Grand Lodge according to ancient form, the following prayer being offered by Bro. Goggin, P.G.C.: "Let us pray for all sorts and conditions of men; and herein for our Sovereign Lady the Queen, that she may be endued plenteously with heavenly gifts, and long reign over a loyal, united, and happy people; for Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, the Princess of Wales, and all the Royal Family. Let us pray especially for the ancient Order, as members of which we have this day assembled, particularly for the Most Worshipful the Marquess of Ripon, our Grand Master; for the Officers of the Grand Lodge of England, especially for that Provincial Lodge to which we belong; for the Most Worshipful the Provincial Grand Master, and his Deputy. Let us implore further the Most High to bless all private lodges, particularly those now gathered together in this holy temple. May God prevent us in all our doings with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continued help; that in all our works begun, continued, and ended in His Holy Name, we may promote the happiness of our fellow creatures, and ever set forth His honour and glory." So mote it be.

Bro. J. Skeaf's anthem, "Behold, how good," was then sung very impressively by Bros. C. Haswell, 203; D. Jones, 155; B. Rowson, 203; T. Armstrong, P.G.T.; and T. Yeatman, 667; Bro. Skeaf, P.G.O., himself presiding at the harmonium.

Bro. H. S. Alpass, P.G. Sec., then called the roll, when it was found that of the 63 lodges in the Province, only one was not represented, viz., Victoria Lodge, 1345, Eccles, and the usual penalty of £1 was inflicted. The P.G. Sec. subsequently read the minutes of the Provincial Grand Lodge meeting, held at the Town Hall, Liverpool, on the occasion of the Installation of the R.W.P.G.M. The P.G. Chaplain said he had been deputed by Mr. Hesketh, son of the late P.G.M., to convey to Lord Skelmersdale, the Provincial Grand Officers, and the brethren generally, his thanks for the vote of condolence with the family which they had passed at the last meeting. The P.G. Sec. said he would record this on the minutes.

From the financial statement submitted by Bro. Armstrong, P.G. Treas., it appeared that the total balance from last year was £1278 8s. 8d. The receipts for the educational fund during the year amounted to £176 1s.; for the Provincial Grand Lodge, with balance, £534 7s. 10d.; for the fund of benevolence, £1096 16s. 7d.; making a total of £1807 5s. 5d. The disbursements for the same period amounted to £423 13s. 3d., leaving a balance of £1383 12s. 2d. There had been paid in 1872 to the West Lancashire Masonic Educational Institution the sum of £127; and during the present year £176 1s. Bro. G. Turner, P.M. 86, moved that the accounts (a copy of which was furnished to most of the brethren) be taken as read, and in doing so he suggested that in future the number of members belonging to each lodge should be given in connection with the financial statement. Bro. T. Wylie, P.G. Reg., seconded the motion as to the accounts, but was understood not to agree with the suggestion made by Bro. Turner. The motion was agreed to, and the annual financial statement, on being put by the P.G.M., was carried unanimously.

On the motion of the Rev. J. F. Goggin, P.G.C., seconded by the Rev. H. G. Vernon, P.P.G.C., Bro. Thos. Armstrong, was unanimously and by acclamation re-elected P.G. Treas., and Bro. Armstrong briefly but feelingly acknowledged the renewal of the confidence of his brethren.

Bro. G. Turner said that there was a feeling amongst the brethren in that province that it was not fair this office should be confined to one brother year after year, but that if there were offices of honour, such as that of the P.G. Treas., they should be shared by other brethren. (Hear, hear.) It did seem somewhat inconsistent that this office should be held without change by one person, and it was natural that brethren who had done good service in the cause of Masonry should feel aggrieved at this system. In making these remarks he desired it to be distinctly understood that he did not do so from any personal feeling against Bro. Armstrong, for whom he had the highest respect, but from a desire to give expression to the feelings of many of the brethren. It was generally felt that the appointment of P.G. Treasurer should be left freely to the P.G. Lodge, and not be influenced by the nomination of the P.G. Officers as a body. (Applause.)

The R.W.P.G.M. said he had only one remark to make, and that was that the appointment lay absolutely with the P.G. Lodge, and not with himself.

Bro. Sherlock said he must protest against the remark that the appointment was unfair, and he felt bound to resent it in the strongest manner. The subject then dropped.

The R.W.P.G.M. then proceeded to invest the following brethren as his officers for the ensuing year:—

On the motion of Bro. Captain Mott, seconded by Bro. Broadbridge, Bro. P. Ball was re-appointed P.G. Tyler, and Bro. W. H. Ball P.A.G. Tyler.

Bro. T. Wylie, P.P.G. Registrar, presented his jewel of office to P.G. Lodge, to be worn by his successor, and the gift was received with cordial thanks.

The P.G. Lodge then proceeded to hear applications for relief, which were dealt with as follows:—Widow D. and three orphans of a brother of No 220, 15/; widow T. and three orphans of a brother of No. 673, 15/; widow R., whose husband was a member of No. 986 (second application), 5/; widow D., Lodges 241 and 1035 (second application), 5/; widow Mc., 15/; widow L., Lodge 1182, 15/; widow S., Lodge 580, 10/; widow W., Lodge 249, 5/; widow A., Lodge 216, 15/; widow B., 5/; Bros. J. P., Lodge 995, 15/; H.T., Lodge 292, 5/.

Bro. T. Wylie, P.P.G.R., moved that £50, in addition to £15, being 10 per cent. of P.G. Lodge fees, be paid to the Institution for the Relief of Aged Freemasons and their Widows, so as to constitute the R.W.P.G.M. a Vice President of the Institution. The Province was deriving great benefit from the charity, and he thought they could not devote the funds to a better purpose than by thus aiding the charities of their Order. At the same time, P.G. Lodges would be afforded an opportunity of paying a deserved tribute of respect to the P.G.M., who had taken a very warm interest in all the Masonic charities.

Bro. Capt. Mott seconded the motion, and dwelt upon the necessity of supporting these grand charities.

The R.W.P.G.M. said he took the vote as a compliment to himself, and having been deeply interested in the Masonic charities, he could say from experience, and on authority, that he did not know a nobler object to which they could devote their funds.

The motion was carried unanimously.

Bro. Sir James Ramsden, Bart, P.G.S.W., moved that the sum of £100 be voted towards decorating Rufford church, as a memorial of the late R.W.P.G.M. Sir T. G. Fermor-Hesketh, Bart.

Bro. Prescott, P.G.J.W., seconded the motion and said, that if this tribute to his memory was somewhat tardy, he hoped the brethren would now go forward in it with all the greater heartiness.

Bro. Alpass P.G., Sec., reminded P.G. Lodge that if this proposed grant were made, only £189 would be left to meet the expenses of P.G. Lodge during the ensuing year.

After some lively discussion the motion was carried, and the following brethren were appointed a committee to control the expenditure and carry out the arrangements, viz.:—The R.W.P.G.M., Bro. the Rev. J. F. Goggin, Bro. C. Sherlock, Bro. T. Wylie, and Bro. Danson.

Bro. R. Wylie read the following report of the proposed Hamer Benevolent Fund:—

"Right Worshipful Grand Master and Brethren—The Provincial Grand Lodge having in 1871 voted twenty guineas to form the nucleus of a fund for providing a testimonial to Bro. James Hamer, Past Provincial Grand Treasurer, a committee was formed for carrying out this object, and an appeal was made to the lodges and brethren in the province, which has so far produced the sum of £227 19s. 6d., and this may be augmented, as there are several donations yet to be received. The committee, after mature consideration, decided to present to Brother Hamer an illuminated address and a Past Provincial Grand Treasurer's jewel, at a cost of twenty guineas, and with the balance to form a fund for benevolent purposes to perpetuate the name of our brother among Freemasons, a sub-committee being deputed to carry out the idea, the details of which will be laid before you. The committee, desirous of producing a scheme which would permanently secure from every Freemason in this province an interest in the sacred cause of charity, believe that the 'Hamer Benevolent Fund' is calculated to effect this most successfully. From the rapid increase of the Order in this province, it may reasonably be expected that there will be a very large number of claims upon our charity, and the committee think that the 'Hamer Benevolent Fund' may be made the means of alleviating a great amount of distress, without pressing heavily upon individuals or lodges, there being practically no limit to the relief that may be granted, provided the brethren will support this institution with small annual donations and subscriptions.

(Signed.)

"Charles H. Hill, P.M., 724, Chairman.

"Robert Wylie, P.M., 115, Hon. Sec.

"Liverpool, 14th Nov. 1873."

The bye-laws in connection with the scheme were also read; and on the motion of Bro. R. Wylie, seconded by Bro. Mott, the whole plan and report were cordially approved by the P. G. Lodge. Bros. J. Pearson, A. Stoddart, and H. S. Alpass, were appointed Trustees; Bro. W. Laidlaw, Treasurer; R. Wylie, Secretary; Bros. Hill, Armstrong, J. K. Smith, Wilsen, Ashmore, Baxendale, J. W. J. Fowler, R. Pearson, W. Vines, and G. Morgan, Members of Committee.

Bro. Alpass, P.G. Sec., then read the following:—

"Since the last meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge in February, a period of nine months, fifteen dispensations have been granted to ten lodges in Liverpool, to initiate more than five candidates on the same day; one lodge has had four, another three, eight others one each. I think it my duty to call the attention of the R.W.P.G.M. and the W.M.'s of the lodges to the fact that members of lodges frequently propose brethren for joining and candidates for initiation by note to the W.M., when there is not any emergency justifying that mode of proposal. I must also call the attention of W.M.'s of lodges to page 83, sec. 1 and 2 of the Book of Constitutions, whereby it is clearly laid down that a joining member must be proposed in open lodge, his name, occupation, and place of abode, as well as the name and number of the lodge in which he is or was last a member, should be sent to all the members in the summons of the next regular lodge meeting, when he must be balloted for. Candidates for initiation must be proposed in like manner, except in such cases as are mentioned in page 84, which says—'Any two members of a lodge may transmit in writing the name, &c., of any candidate they may wish to propose, and the circumstances which cause the emergency; and the Master, if it be proposed, shall notify the same to every member of his lodge, &c.' It is, therefore, evident that the responsibility of preventing the abuse of proposals by note rests with the W.M., and that he should not permit it unless he is satisfied that the circumstances justify it; and no emergency should be allowed in the case of a person residing in the neighbourhood except, perhaps, in the case of a person proceeding to sea. All persons offending against these regulations subject the offending lodge to erasure." Bro. Alpass added that in other respects the lodges were working very satisfactorily.

The R.W.P.G.M.: I hope the W.M.'s of lodges will take away with them a recollection of what has just been said by the P.G. Sec. I hope this wrong doing—for so I must designate it, will be abated before I meet you again; and in order that the brethren may not be taken by surprise, I now give notice that, ten days before the next annual meeting of the P.G. Lodge, I will expect every W.M. of a lodge to cause the minute book of his lodge to be sent to the P.G. Sec. for examination with a view to check and prevent irregularities.

Bro. Pierpoint moved, in the absence of Bro. Birley, and Bro. Laidlaw seconded, that £25 should be voted towards paying for the chair ordered by Bro. Pearson, on behalf of the Masons, for presentation to the late Mayor of Liverpool; but the proposal found no favour, and was almost unanimously negatived.

At the conclusion of the Provincial Grand Lodge business, the annual court of governors of the West Lancashire Masonic Educational Institution was held, to receive and determine the several recommendations of the General Committee, and for the transaction of the annual business of the institution.

Bro. A. C. Mott, the Hon. Sec., submitted the annual report of the Institution to the R.W. P.G.M., of which the following are the chief points:—

"Your committee, in presenting their report for the year 1872, have again the pleasure of congratulating you on the continued success which attends the operations of the Institution; for, notwithstanding the increased demands which have been made, its funds are happily in such a state as to warrant your committee in entertaining every application for its benefits, consistent with the rules of the foundation, which has hitherto been received.

Before referring to the details of the year's proceedings, your committee desire to express their deep regret and sorrow at the loss which this Institution has sustained by the death of its President, Sir Thomas George Fermor-Hesketh, Bart., late Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master of the Western Division of Lancashire. By his death the institution has lost one of its most sincere friends and supporters—one who was ever anxious for its welfare, and ready to do all that lay in his power for its interests and prosperity.

"Referring to the report for the year 1871, it will be seen that 42 children were receiving the benefits of the Institution during that year, for whose education and advancement in life the sum of £274 3s. 8d. was paid. The number of children on the foundation during 1872 was 42, and the amount paid for their education, &c., was £341 1s. 3d.; which will be sufficient to show how greatly the demands upon the funds of the institution are increasing year by year.

"Turning to the financial statement, however, your committee have much satisfaction in drawing your attention to the evidence therein given of the ability of the Institution to meet these increased demands. The total funds of the charity at the close of 1871 amounted to £9220 6s. 3d., whilst the present statement shows a total of £9779 4s. 5d.; a result which cannot but afford the highest satisfaction to every supporter of the charity. It will be noticed that the item "fees from lodges" is small in comparison with previous years; but this is sufficiently explained by the death of the Provincial Grand Master, referred to above, which for the time being deprived the Province of the ordinary channels through which these fees reached the Treasurer of the Institution; these fees will, however, be received and placed to the credit of the 1873 account.

"Your committee, supported as they have been in the past by the brethren generally, commence the labours of another year full of confidence and hope, looking forward to increased opportunities of doing good, and increased assistance from the brethren in carrying on the work of the Institution; whilst, above all, they trust and pray that He from whom all good doth emanate will add His blessing to their humble efforts in the sacred cause of charity."

The report was received, the recommendation of the committee confirmed, and the officers for the ensuing year appointed.

After the transaction of some important business, the P.G. Lodge rose, having sat nearly four hours.

THE BANQUET.

The brethren subsequently adjourned to the Fleece Inn, where about 200 sat down to a sumptuous and capitably served banquet. Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, R.W.P.G.M., presided until the close, and gave the toasts in a peculiarly happy manner, and as all the speeches were brief and to the point, the after-dinner proceedings were divested of the weariness which too often attaches to them. After the dessert had been placed on the table,

The P.G.M. gave "The Queen," and said that was a toast which was received with the greatest enthusiasm in every assembly of Englishmen, but nowhere more so than amongst Masons. He begged to give the health of "Our Patroness, the Queen."—The toast was honoured with extreme loyalty. National Anthem, solo by Bro. Jones.

The P.G.M.: the next toast, brethren, which I have to give you is the health of one of ourselves, "Bro. H.R.H the Prince of Wales, M.W.P.G.M." I need hardly dilate upon his many merits as a Mason, because he is well known to us, and year by year he shows how his interest in the Craft increases. He is a good brother, and therefore I give you his health, along with that of his beautiful wife, the Princess of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family, more especially the Duke of Edinburgh, and his future bride.—The toast was honoured with special enthusiasm. "God bless the Prince of Wales," (Masonic version), solo by Bro. T. J. Hughes.

The P.G.M.: Brethren, I have next to give you "The Marquess of Ripon, M.W.G.M." (cheers). He has now reigned over us for two years, having recently entered upon his third year, and during that time we have had good reason to be proud of him. I owe my present appointment to him, and therefore I have all the greater reason for proposing this toast, with which I beg to couple "The Earl of Carnarvon, M.W.D.G.M., and the other Officers of the Grand Lodge."

Bro. Birchall, P.P.J.G.W. (as the senior officer of P.G. Lodge present), said it was now his duty, and a source of gratification to propose "The Health of their noble R.W.P.G.M." (Great cheering.) For several years successively, during the time his lamented predecessor held that office, a similar duty fell to his lot, but now he had departed from their midst. He (Bro. Birchall) had the greatest pleasure, however, in now giving the health of his successor in that high office. At that board they did not enter into social matters; if they did, he would say that in every walk of life his Lordship (their present P.G.M.) had shown himself kind, affable, and considerate, while in Masonry generally, he had displayed on all occasions great assiduity and zeal, while in that province he had shown a desire to perform his duties thoroughly and to the entire satisfaction of all the brethren. (Cheers.) They all felt especial pleasure in meeting him that day, after braving the dangers of the great deep, and welcomed him back to his native country. He trusted that he would long be spared by the G.A.O.T.U. to preside over that province. The toast was received with immense and Masonic honours.

The P.G.M., who was received with an outburst of enthusiasm which has rarely been equalled, said,—Brethren, I thank you most heartily for the way in which you have received the toast of my health, and I thank you Bro. Birchall, for the kind eulogium which you have passed upon me. I do hope I may so act as to deserve it in the future. I begin now by asking your pardon for having delayed the meeting of the P.G. Lodge so long, and I should have asked my Deputy to have convened it in my absence, if I had not been specially anxious to meet you all for the first time after my appointment. (Loud cheers.) I thank the brethren for their large attendance this day, which I assure you has made my heart warm towards Masonry more than ever. I remember that some years ago I consecrated a lodge in this town, which was the first official act of the kind I performed as D.P.G.M. I have not forgotten that act, and I assure you I don't intend to forget it. (Hear, hear.) Brethren, since we last met, I have been a long way from home, but I have not mixed with the brethren of lodges in America, because I felt that if I once made myself known I would have been smothered in Masonry. (Laughter and applause.) Still, everywhere I went in America, the fact that I was a Mason brought me a hearty welcome, which clearly shows, brethren, that our Order is not a mere name, but a great benefit. I have been north and west, and I have felt the benefit of being a Mason. I am proud of having had conferred upon me the highest honours which it is possible to receive, and I do trust I may be long spared to rule over this province. When at last I am taken away, I do sincerely hope the brethren will be able to say, "We have lost a man who did us good." (Immense cheering, the brethren rising to their feet en masse.)

The P.G.M. said he was sorry that the Hon. Frederick Stanley, W.D.P.G.M., was unable to be present at the meeting that day, owing to a sudden call to attend a railway board in London, and he desired him (Lord Skelmersdale) to express to the brethren his great regret at his unavoidable absence. He would now give them the toast of D.P.G.M., coupling with it the P.G. Wardens.

Bro. Prescott, P.J.G.W., responded in appropriate terms, regretting the early departure of Bro. Sir James Ramsden, P.S.G.W., who had to catch a train for Barrow.

The P.G.M. then gave the toast, "The P.G. Officers, Past and Present," and in doing so expressed his thanks to them for their assistance since his appointment. He also expressed his gratitude to the brethren who had accepted office that day, and trusted that the working of the province would be as efficient and harmonious in the future as it had been in the past.

Bro. Armstrong, P.G. Treas., acknowledged the toast, and said that although war might be looming in the distance with regard to his office, judging from what was said that day, still he thought the offices of Secretary and Treasurer could only be properly held year after year by one person.

Bro. Baxendale, P.P.G.P., gave "The West Lancashire Institution for the Education and Advancement in Life of Children of Distressed Freemasons," and in doing so spoke from personal observation of the great benefits of the Institution. It was worthy of all the support which could be possibly given to it, and he trusted that the coming year would see a material addition to the funds of the Institution. Since its commencement it had never done more than was at first intended; but now with an accumulated capital of something like £10,000, he hoped to see it do more than it was even now doing.

Bro. A. C. Mott, the Hon. Sec., returned thanks, and said it was the first Institution of the kind started in the provinces, but now Cornwall, Cheshire, and East Lancashire had corresponding charities, although of a somewhat different kind. They had never yet turned away a single child from the benefits of the West Lancashire Institution who was eligible for its foundation, and he trusted that as long as brethren existed in the Province, money would always be forthcoming, so that none may be turned back in future. He was proud to announce that Sir James Ramsden, their P.S.G.W., had promised to send a cheque, so as to constitute him a vice-president, and he believed Bro. Prescott, their P.J.G.W., intended to do the same.

Bro. Mott gave "The W.M.'s of the Lodges in the Provinces," which was acknowledged by Bro. Cook, W.M., of Lodge 178.

Bro. G. de la Perelle, P.G.D.C., gave "The Ladies," in felicitous terms, and Bro. J. R. Goepel, P.G.S., responded in an exceedingly happy manner.

The Tyler's toast brought the pleasant after-dinner proceedings to a close about eight o'clock. Several capital glees and songs were sung during the evening by Bros. C. Haswell, D Jones, and

T. J. Hughes, the accompaniments being played by Bro. J. Skeaf, P.G.O.

Previous to the P.G. Lodge meeting, centenary jewels were presented to Bro. Lord Skelmersdale, Rev. Bro. J. F. Goggin, P.G.C., by the brethren present from the Lodge of Loyalty, 86, Prescot.

As the whole of the brethren could not be accommodated at the Fleece Inn, about 80 of the members connected with the Downshire, Earl de Grey and Ripon, Harmony, St. John's, and Hamer Lodges, sat down to an excellent banquet at the "Raven," and a very pleasant evening was spent.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF DURHAM.

A meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Durham was held in the Central Hall, Darlington, on Tuesday, 21st October, 1873.

There were present:—R.W. Bro. John Fawcett, Prov. Grand Master; R.W. Bro. Sir H. Williamson, Bart, M.P., D.P.G.M.; Bros. Joseph Doods, M.P., as P.G.S.W.; J. E. Denham, P.G.J.W.; Rev. C. Dale Trotter, P.G. Chaplain; John Trotter, P.G.R.; W. H. Crookes, P.G.S.; John Morrel, P.G.S.D.; William Liddle, P.G.J.D.; Robert Hudson, P.G.D. of C.; James Young, P.G. Sword Bearer; W. J. Marshall, P.G.O.; J. Riseborough, P.G.P.; John Thompson, P.G.T.; together with a numerous gathering of Past Provincial Officers, Past Masters, and brethren of the Province.

The lodge was opened in due form.

The Minutes of a Provincial Grand Lodge, held in the Masonic Hall, Durham, on Tuesday, 22nd October, 1872, were read and confirmed.

The Minutes of an Especial Provincial Grand Lodge, held in the Public Free Library in South Shields, on Thursday, 18th September, 1873, called for the purpose of assisting the R.W. Bro. Sir H. Williamson, Bart, M.P., D.P.G.M. in laying the foundation stone of the New Chapel of St. Mark's, were then read and confirmed.

The Treasurer's accounts were read, approved, and signed by the R.W.P.G.M.

The Fund Committee's Report was read, which stated they had granted the following sums for the relief of the petitioners; viz.: The widow of a Brother of Palatine Lodge £5; widow of a brother of Williamson Lodge, £5; widow of a brother of St. Hilda's Lodge, £5; widow of a brother of St. Hilda's Lodge, £5; and they recommend that a further grant of £5 each should be made to them, as all the cases were such as would warrant the R.W.P.G.M. in rendering them additional assistance. The P.G.M. cordially consented to this, and agreed to the recommendation.

They further stated that they had granted the sum of £5 each to the widow of a brother of the Williamson Lodge, and to a brother of the Borough Lodge.

They also recommended that the following donations be given to the Masonic Charities, viz.:—To the Girls' School, £52 10s.; to the Boys' School, £52 10s.; to the Royal Institution for Aged Freemasons; £25; and to the Widows' Fund, £25, which, on the proposition of Bro. Sir H. Williamson, seconded by Bro. Crookes, was agreed to by Prov. G. Lodge.

The Committee further recommended that the sum of £100 in the hands of the P.G. Treasurer be funded as heretofore. This on being proposed by Bro. James Groves, and seconded by Bro. W. A. Malcolm, was agreed to unanimously.

The roll of lodges was next called, when all appeared by their representatives except the Wear Valley Lodge, No. 1121.

The R.W.P.G.M. then addressed the brethren, and expressed his great pleasure in again meeting them in Prov. G. Lodge. In taking a retrospect of the affairs of the Craft since they last met, he said the principle circumstance was the loss Freemasonry had sustained by the death of the M.W.P.G.M. the late Earl of Zetland, a nobleman whose name would ever be associated with occurrences of deep interest and advantage to Freemasonry, and whose memory would be cherished with feelings of respect and esteem. To him Freemasonry was deeply indebted,—for the sedulous attention he had paid to its interest, and for the firmness, wisdom, and conciliatory disposition with which he had for so long been its ruler. He was lost to us, but he had in his exalted position left an example to all who wish successfully to discharge the duties of a ruler of the Craft in private lodges.

The Prov. G. M. then observed that he had little to communicate about the affairs of Freemasonry during the last year, but it might be well to inform them that a question on which there had been some doubt was now wisely settled by Grand Lodge, and that it was now a Masonic offence for any brother to appear at any place of public resort in Masonic costume. This would make no change in this Province, for he was happy in acknowledging the kindness and consideration with which the brethren had always attended to his wishes on the subject.

The Prov. G. M. also alluded to the changes made, and he thought most reasonably made, in the rules of the two Masonic Institutions for children, whereby lodges and chapters would be required to contribute more than individuals for the attainment of the same privileges. He was much gratified at the prominence given to the subject of the Masonic Charities in the reports he had heard of the state of the several lodges. He thanked the officers for the valuable assistance received from them on several important occasions.

The Rev. John Cundill, was re-elected P.G. Treasurer.

The Provincial Grand Master then appointed the Officers for the ensuing year, and invested them with the insignia of their office, viz:—

Sir. H. Williamson,.....	D. Prov. G.M.
A. H. Hunt,	Prov. G. S.W.
John Bailey,	Prov. G. J.W.
Rev. F. W. Bewsher,	Prov. G. Chaplain.
W. Brignall, jun.....	Prov. G. R.
Rev. John Cundill,.....	Prov. G. Treas.
W. H. Crookes,	Prov. G. Sec.
Robert Humphrey,.....	Prov. G. S.D.
John Hunton,	Prov. G. J.D.
Robert Hudson,	Prov. G. D. of C.
George Ellis,	Prov. G. S. of W.
James Davison,	Prov. G. S.B.
James Hoggett,	Prov. G. Organist.
J. Wortley,	Prov. G. P.
J. Thompson,	Prov. G. Tyler.

The following were appointed Stewards:—J. E. Robson, 48; Robert Lutert, 94; Thomas Johnson, 531; George Pickering 1274; John Tindall, 1334; F. Maddison, 1389.

The lodge was then closed in due form.

The brethren afterwards dined together at the Fleece Inn.

PRESENTATION TO BRO. JAMES WALLACE AND Z CHAP. 79.

The many services of Bro. Wallace to the whole Masonic Craft in Glasgow, having induced his friends to propose to present him with some testimonial of their respect, the proposition was at once cordially taken up and responded to by every lodge in the province, and on the evening of the 5th inst., the presentation was made at Bro. P. Macdonald's, the Imperial Hotel. Councillor James Steel, P.M., of No. 4, and P.G.S.M., was called on to preside, and at once proceeded to the business of the evening, stating that though himself no novice in Masonry, he could remember at his entrance into the craft, that Bro. Wallace was even then looked up to as the Newton of Masonry. He need not remind them of his exertions for the benefit, not only of Glasgow, but of the whole West of Scotland, in the Grand Lodge at Edinburgh, or in his efforts to raise the Provincial Lodge of Glasgow. These efforts had produced beneficial effects, and to mark in a slight degree their approbation of these labours, he had now the pleasure of presenting him with an address embodying their views, this he could keep as a memento of their feelings. He had also to give, for Mrs. Wallace, a handsome set of gold earrings and brooch, and for his own use, a purse of sovereigns. These tokens were to be taken, not as the value of his services, but as merely indicating, in a slight manner, the feelings of his friends.

Bro. Wallace said, if anything could enhance the value of the gifts, it would be receiving them from the hands of so old a friend as Bro. Steel, a man who was so well known for his blunt outspokenness, as one who was in the habit of saying what he thought to be true, even if by so doing he might offend even an old friend. He valued this quality, for it was one on which he prided himself, and if he had gained any good for the West of Scotland from the governing body in the East it was because they had come to know that Bro. Wallace would tell them truths, even though they might be unpalatable to them. He accepted the gifts in the spirit in which they were given, and he should deeply prize that to his wife. She was indeed, his better half; and, though Masonry had taken him from his home many and many hours, she was never the woman to find fault with him, or say, give it up. On her behalf, as well as his own, he thanked them.

The Chairman then gave the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, which were duly honoured.

Bro. J. Crabb proposed the P.G.L. of Glasgow.

The Chairman, as Substitute Master, responded; as did Bro. M'Taggart, P.G.S., who proposed the "Health and Fireside of Bro. Wallace." In doing so, he dwelt at some length on Bro. Wallace's services, not only to the Province, but to the whole Craft of Scotland, by his efforts to heal the breach between the Grand Lodge and Mother Kilwinning—efforts which had settled the whole question by deciding the claims for the past, giving them their status for the present, and legislating for the future. This alone was enough to claim their admiration; but when they added to this the fact that it was mainly owing to him that they had a Benevolent Fund for Glasgow nearly equal to that of the Grand Lodge itself, he need add no more to induce them to join in this toast. (Cheers.) Bro. Wallace replied, and gave "Bro. G. Sinclair," Treasurer of the Glasgow Benevolent Fund, who suitably acknowledged the toast, saying the state of the funds had not only enabled them to quadruple the amount of their gifts to deserving objects, but also to invest the sum of £400.

Bro. G. Wheeler proposed "The Committee who had got up the testimonial and present meeting." Bro. Crabb replied.

Bro. Smith proposed the "Lord Provost and Magistrates of the City" in a highly humorous speech. Councillor Steel replied.

Bro. G. McDonald gave "The Musical Brethren who have delighted us." Bro. Robert Fraser replied by an impromptu song, in which he brought in the whole of the company, (which elicited repeated rounds of applause.)

The Chairman gave "The Host," whom he thanked for the very excellent way in which he had catered for the party. Bro. Peter Macdonald replied.

Bro. Crabb proposed "The Masonic Press," which was responded to by Bros. Bassett and Wheeler on behalf of The Freemason. The whole company then, out of respect to the guest of the evening, Bro. Wallace, sang the national song, "Scots wha hae wi' Wallace Bled." The Chairman then gave the final toast.

We cannot close the account of this meeting without saying that great credit is due to Bro. Balfour, the acting Secretary, for the unremitting attention he has paid to his duties, without which it would not have proved so very successful; and also according a meed of praise to Bro. Grant for the artistic way in which he had written the address on vellum, and the splendid border with which he had enriched it.

Besides, those named, there were present Bro. J. Steel, P.G.S.M.; A. M'Taggart, P.G.S.; G. Thollum, P.G.S.R.; J. Gillis, P.G.I.G.; J. Balfour, P.C.D.C.; and A. A. Smith, Convener of P.G. Committee; T. Tweed, S.M. Mother Kilwinning; J. Smille, R.W.M., No. 3; J. Baird, No. 4; J. Crabb, P.G.; Crab, N.; G. Macdonald, Z. Chap. 73; G. W. Wheeler, H. 73; G. Adams, H. 50; W. Bell, J. 50; W. Bassett, 69; and about twenty other brethren.

SPIRITUALISM.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I must assume that my friend and brother, who writes of me in The Freemason of Nov. 22nd, has known me for many years, since he deploras the change from what I was, referring, I presume, to my present belief in spiritualism. More than twenty years ago I became convinced of the reality the phenomema which are now called spiritualistic, and I have been giving attention to them ever since, occasionally writing and publishing my thoughts upon them. I am not aware of much change in my mental condition; but it may be otherwise. I may be the victim of that incipient insanity which my brother greatly fears I am, though I thank the G.A.O.T.U. that I have been enabled, throughout that time, to attend to my daily literary pursuits, as I now am, without having heard that any evidences of insanity exhibited themselves in my writings. I am grateful to my brother, the "mad doctor," for his expressed sympathy in what he supposes to be my deplorable condition; but I should have been more grateful, if, with his familiarity with cases of incipient insanity, he had exhibited his brotherly love in a more practical way, by offering to afford such relief to a mind diseased as would be likely to restore it to the perception of truth. Permit me just to add that I did not introduce the subject of spiritualism into The Freemason. I simply objected to the statement made by a writer in its columns, adding, that I did not think The Freemason was the publication in which to introduce a controversy upon the subject. Since then, I have been only vindicating myself, and those who are with me on the subject, from the absurdities that have, by two or three of my brethren, been imputed to us.

Yours fraternally,
WILLIAM CARPENTER.

FRUGALITY AND PHILANTHROPY—
THE GREAT CITY LODGE AND BANQUETS.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,

Bro. Hughan has drawn attention to the account in your last issue of the recent regular meeting of the Great City Lodge, and again recorded its frugality and consequent philanthropy.

I was myself struck when reading the account of its happy meeting, as it brought vividly to my recollection several very happy meetings at which I was present in the lovely and truly Masonic Island of Jersey, where at the Farborough 244, under our excellent Bro. Tracy, the Mechanics, 245, when Bro. Daw was W.M., the Royal Sussex, 491, when our worthy Bro. Barrow was W.M., the St. Aubins, 958, Bro. Gee, W.M., the Prince of Wales, 1003, under the Mastership of our excellent and musical Bro. Waldron, as well as the Royal Alfred, 877, and last, not least, the Lodge Le Césarée, when my esteemed Bro. Schmitt was Secretary, at all of which, after witnessing the best Masonic working I had ever seen, I was cordially entertained as a visitor, and to my great satisfaction in the same frugal manner as at the late supper of the Great City Lodge, and I understood it to be the regular custom of those lodges to spend as little as possible in eating and drinking, and to retain the greater portion of their lodge subscriptions for the purposes of charity.

I entirely agree with Bro. Hughan (whose name is a password to everything that is great and good in Freemasonry) that brethren should gratify their tastes in eating and drinking, out of their own pockets, and that the lodge subscriptions should be devoted to Masonic objects.

With between 1400 and 1500 lodges, what a glorious balance sheet our institutions might have next year, if every lodge would give up one banquet during the year, and devote the proceeds to the legitimate object—charity.

We might not only give our own institutions all the help they need, but become what, as a body we ought to be, viz.: the patrons of the institutions for the deaf and dumb, the Idiot Asylum at Earlswood, besides many others of equal merit.

I shall make the proposition at the proper time in my own lodge. Who will do the same in theirs?

Fraternally yours,
H. B. HODGES,
P.M., P.Z., P.P.S.G.W. Herts.

THE MASONIC CHARITIES.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,

I must be one of many brethren who cordially agree with Bro. Francis with regard to his communication in to-day's Freemason.

It would be an immense advantage to many subscribers and donors to our great institutions if an extra column in the list of applications for their benefit should be devoted to stating whether the individual applicant, or his, or her father, had been a supporter of such institution, and, if possible, to what extent.

I have frequently, when hesitating for whom I should vote, searched for the names of applicants in the lists of subscribers and donors to our institutions, and often, too often, found no record of their names.

I need hardly say I make it a rule to give my votes, and all other votes I may be able to obtain, to any candidate who I find has, during his prosperity, supported the institution from which he claims his right, and I am confident that if every voter did the same we should have fewer applicants and a greater number of subscribers.

The Royal Agricultural Benevolent Institution to which, though not an agriculturist, I have the honour of subscribing, has a rule which provides—"That should any subscriber hereafter become a candidate for the benefit of the institution, such number of votes shall be placed to his credit at the date of the first succeeding election as shall be represented by the whole amount of subscription he may have paid." Would it not be a step in the right direction, and would it not be conceding a right to the supporters of our great institutions, if we adopted that rule in all our Masonic charities.

Fraternally yours,
HERBERT B. HODGES,
P.M., P.Z., P.P.S.G.W. Herts.

READING THE SCRIPTURES.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,

Seeing no answer in this day's Freemason to Bro. J. D. F.'s enquiry, respecting the portion of Scripture proper to be read in the ceremony of the third degree, I venture to contribute the following:—

Immediately after the candidate has been made to represent one of the brightest characters in the annals of Freemasonry, and before calling upon the Wardens, the W.M. calls upon the Chaplain, who comes forward and by the side of the G., standing to the N.E., repeats from memory, Ecclesiastes, chap. xii. verses 1 to 7., the Chaplain then retires to his chair, and the W.M. proceeds with the ceremony as usual. In the absence of the Chaplain it should be the privilege of the senior P.M. to read this portion of Scripture which, I need not say if properly done, adds greatly to the beauty and impressiveness of the ceremony. It is always read in the Hertford Lodge, No. 403, of which

I am, your's fraternally,
A. P.M.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—VIGOROUS HEALTH.—With winter come sore trials to the soundest constitutions, while the naturally delicate and feeble find it too frequently a prolonged struggle against or under suffering. All diseases affecting the nervous system arise from impurities in the blood, irregularities of organic action, or vitiated secretions. Holloway's Pills are invaluable for removing all poisonous elements from the body, and are famed for curing indigestion, flatulency, and costiveness, as well as palpitation, pain in the side, and other morbid feelings. The neuralgic pains attendant on the nervous class of diseases soon yield to these purifying pills; the sensations of anxiety daily diminish under their use; sound sleep supersedes nights of watching, and calm repose displaces hideous dreams.—ADVT.

The Editor of the "Bauhütte" has founded at Florence an establishment for the sale of German and English books. We have much pleasure in introducing the same to the notice of our many readers who may visit the fair city, feeling assured that they will meet with every attention from those in charge. The address is—Messrs. Flor and Findel, German and Foreign Booksellers, 24, Lung Arno Acciajoli, Florence, Italy. Prints, photographs, pictures, and English stationery, are also kept in stock.—ADVT.

There are in connection with the College THREE ANNUAL EXHIBITIONS, open for general competition to all students, and tenable for three years.

Special Classes are formed for preparing students for the Legal, Medical, Home, Colonial, and Indian Civil Service Examinations; and for entrance to Woolwich, Coopers-hill, and the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, Dublin, Durham, and Edinburgh.

The Religious Teaching is based on strictly Protestant Principles, in accordance with the Doctrines and Liturgy of the Church of England.

Students requiring a commercial education only, are exempt from the classical course, if desired.

The year consists of two terms, during which there are no holidays, the only vacations being at Midsummer and Christmas.

The use of all class books, valuable library, stationery (except mathematical instruments) laundry, &c., is included in the terms. No Extras of any kind.

The High School—Students from 16 to 23 years of age.

The Middle School—Students from 12 to 16 years of age.

The Preparatory School—Students under 12 years of age.

The College is divided into three sections. In the

PREPARATORY SCHOOL

(entirely distinct, but contiguous)

Boys are well grounded in the elements of a sound English Education, with French and German (also in Latin and Greek if for the learned professions), and prepared for the High or Middle School. In the High School the course of study is a preparation for the Universities and the various competitive examinations; while the Middle School trains pupils in such subjects as will qualify them for scientific and commercial pursuits.

Alston College is pleasantly situated, about six miles from Preston, and half a mile from Longridge Railway Station; is in immediate proximity to beautiful mountain scenery, within half an hour's ride of the chief watering places on the western coast of Lancashire, and is considered by Medical Professors to be in one of the healthiest localities in England—a fact sufficiently proved by the remarkably good health enjoyed by the students and regularly confirmed by the half-yearly medical reports.

Extensive Cricket Grounds are attached to the College Farms, whilst a spacious covered Gymnasium and Student's Hall, available for recreation, drill, &c., adjoin.

Reports of all examinations, together with the names of those students who have distinguished themselves at the College and the Universities, as Exhibitioners, Medalists and Prizemen, also the reports of the late examinations, together with views of the College buildings, and all necessary information, forwarded on application to the Rector, or to

Mr. GEORGE CLIFFORD, Secretary.

References kindly permitted to Bro. Masons, and to the late Examiners: Rev. T. H. Lindsay Leary, M.A., D.C.L. (Oxon), Assistant Examiner to Her Majesty's Civil Service Commission, Crawford Cottage, Epsom; T. W. Eyre Evans, Esq., LL.D.T.C.D., Nightingale Villa, Lower Norwood; and other University Examiners; Professor Pagel, Liverpool; R. Routledge, Esq., B.S.F.C.S., Manchester; also the Protestant Clergy, Nobility, and Professional Gentlemen (parents of present pupils) in London, Manchester, Liverpool, Birmingham, Leeds, Bradford, Bognor, Preston, Burnley, Chester, Lancaster, Boston (Lincoln), Wigan, Harrogate, Accrington, Haslingden, Kendal, Southport, Todmorden, &c., and various other towns; the Continent of Europe, the colonies, New York, and the United States, Brazil, Cuba, &c., who can bear ample testimony to the merits and success of this College.

Next term commences the 7th August, 1873.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.
 CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.
 CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.
 CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.
 CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.
 CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

Extract from "INDIAN ECONOMIST."

"We direct the attention of medical men to a fact observed some years since by ourselves, and corroborated by our subsequent experience, that Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is in many cases of Low Fever immensely superior to Quinine in curative power. We cannot persuade ourselves that the true value of Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is yet properly appraised in India. . . . It may be given with absolute safety even to a child three days old. Were medical men but to make a fair and exhaustive trial of it we are persuaded that it would work a revolution in the treatment of two-thirds of the diseases to which children are subject. Its curative power is simply amazing."

"Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he had received a despatch from her Majesty's Consul at Manilla, to the effect that Cholera had been raging fearfully, and that the ONLY remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE."—See Lancet, Dec. 1. 1864.

From W. VESALIUS PETTIGREW, M.D., Hon. F.R.C.S., England,

Formerly Lecturer on Anatomy and Physiology at St. George's School of Medicine.

"I have no hesitation in stating, after a fair trial of Chlorodyne, that I have never met with any medicine so efficacious as an Anti-Spasmodic and Sedative. I have tried it in Consumption, Asthma, Diarrhœa, and other diseases, and am most perfectly satisfied with the results."

From Dr. THOMAS SANDIFORD, Passage West, Cork.

"I will thank you to send me a further supply of Chlorodyne. It was the most efficacious remedy I ever used, affording relief in violent attacks of Spasms within a minute after being taken. One patient in particular, who has suffered for years with periodical attacks of Spasms of a most painful nature, and unable to obtain relief from other remedies, such as opium, &c., finds nothing so prompt and efficacious as Chlorodyne."

From JNO. E. GOULSTONE, M.D., late Principal Surgeon to the Steamship Great Eastern.

"I can confidently state Chlorodyne is an admirable Sedative and Anti-Spasmodic, having used it in Neuralgia, Hysteria, Asthma, and Consumption, with remarkably favourable results. It relieved a fit of Asthma in four minutes, where the patient had suffered eleven years in a most distressing manner, no previous remedy having had so immediate and beneficial an effect."

From Dr. B. J. BOULTON and Co., Horncastle.

"We have made pretty extensive use of Chlorodyne in our practice lately, and look upon it as an excellent direct Sedative and Ant-Spasmodic. It seems to allay pain and irritation in whatever organ, and from whatever cause. It induces a feeling of comfort and quietude not obtainable by any other remedy, and it seems to possess this great advantage over all other sedatives, that it leaves no unpleasant after effects."

J. C. BAKER, Esq., M.D., Bideford.

"It is, without doubt, the most valuable and certain Anodyne we have."

CAUTION.—BEWARE OF PIRACY AND IMITATIONS.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. PAGE WOOD stated that Dr. J. COLLIS BROWN was undoubtedly the Inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the story of the Defendant, Freeman, was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See "Times," 13th July, 1864.

Sold in Bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming Medical Testimony accompanies each Bottle.

CROSBY'S
BALSAMIC

COUGH ELIXIR.

CROSBY'S

BALSAMIC

COUGH ELIXIR.

Opiates, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief in Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling the digestive organs, and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy.

SELECT TESTIMONIAL.

Dr. Rooke, Scarborough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdued cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease."

This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Night Sweats of Consumption, Quinsey, and all affections of the throat and chest. Sold in bottles at 1s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, by all respectable Chemists, and wholesale by Jas. M. Crosby, Chemist, Scarborough.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

WARRINGTON.—Lodge of Lights (No. 148).—The regular monthly meeting of the lodge was held at the Masonic Rooms, Sankey, on Monday, 24th ult. The W.M., Bro. W. Sharp, was supported by his Wardens, and an unusually large number of brethren. After the minutes were read the ballot was taken for Mr. Charles William Savage, and it being favourable he was duly initiated, Bro. Armstrong was afterwards passed. The lodge was closed in the second degree and after the by-laws had been read according to annual custom, the brethren proceed to the election of W.M. for the ensuing year. The ballot having been taken, the W.M. declared Bro. John Harding, Past Senior Warden duly elected. After some other routine business Bro. Thomas Tunstall drew attention to the fact that they were about to lose the services of Bro. Bowes, who had so long acted as Hon. Sec. of the Lodge and expressed a hope that at the proper time his services would receive due recognition. The following is a copy of Bro. Bowes' letter of resignation, which we insert, as it gives an epitome of the local history of the Craft for the past twelve years.—“Dear Brethren,—Having decided to retire from the office of Honorary Secretary of the Lodge at the end of the current year, it is due to the Members that I should acquaint them with my intention; and I may perhaps be excused, on the present occasion, if I briefly note the local history of the Craft during my connection with it. At my initiation in 1841, the lodge numbered twenty-four members, who met at a house of public entertainment. Its “working condition” at this time may be inferred from the fact that the monthly attendance of a skilled Past Master from a distance was a necessity. In 1861, Bro. H. B. White joined the lodge, and from that time dates improvement. Warrington enjoyed a high reputation in the Masonic Art more than two centuries before, and Bro. White entered heartily upon the work of restoration, It was my privilege to join him in this work, and the result is known. We have now two lodges and a Royal Arch Chapter with one hundred and fifty members. We have also a large interest in the Educational Institutions of our Order, and an efficient band of Past Masters and other Officers. Of the twenty-four Members I found in the Lodge in 1841, eight are dead, ten have ceased their connection with No. 148, and the remaining six are my seniors. I became Secretary in June, 1862, in succession to Bro. Harrison Veevers, which office I have held to the present time. During this period, I have filled the offices of J.W., W.M., First Acting Master of the Gilbert Greenhall Lodge, M.E.Z. of the Chapter, and Preceptor of the Lodge of Instruction. In all these positions, I have endeavoured to discharge my obligations as a Ruler in the Craft, and I think, therefore, I may now reasonably claim official relief. I will only add that, although I retire from office, I hope still to give a regular and punctual attendance at the Lodge, and to render any assistance within the compass of my ability on all acceptable occasions. I am, Dear Sir and Brother, yours fraternally,—John Bowes, 129, 148, 1051, P.M.; P. Prov. G. Dir. Cir.; P. Prov. G. Reg; P. Z.; P. Prov. G.S.B. There being no further business the Lodge was closed.

WILLIAM PRESTON LODGE (No. 766).—On Thursday, the 27th ultimo, the installation meeting of this lodge was held at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, Bro. George Newman, W.M., in the chair, whose perfect working was a source of pleasure to all who were so fortunate as to be present on the occasion. Indeed it will be seen from the subjoined report of the proceedings that the business of the day was a complete example of the ceremonies of Craft Masonry, comprising as it did the ballot for and initiation of a candidate, the passing of others to the second degree, and the raising of others to the third, supplemented by the impressive ceremony of installing the W.M. elect. All those ceremonies were most skillfully wrought by Bro. Newman, who proved himself to be a Master Mason in deed as well as in name, and deservedly won the admiration and applause of his audience. When the lodge had been duly opened, and the minutes of the previous meeting confirmed, the ballot was taken for Mr. George John Paull, proposed by Bro. Pringle, seconded by Bro. Miller, P.M., and was declared in his favour. Bro. Partridge passed the usual examination as a candidate for the F.C. degree, and the lodge having been opened in the second degree, they were passed into it. Bros. Cheltnam and Smithers were then examined and entrusted as candidates for raising, and the lodge having been opened in the third degree, they were raised to the dignity of M.M. The ceremony of installing the W.M. elect, Bro. Worrell, late S.W., into the chair of K.S. was then very ably performed by Bro. Newman, who thus closed his year of office in a manner we never lose the opportunity of praising. It is too much the practice with outgoing Masters to delegate to a Past Master more devoted or more industrious than themselves, the duty of installing their successors, and we are therefore always pleased to see a Master do this work himself, as it is both a compliment to the W.M. elect, and a good example to the whole fraternity. Bro. Worrell, having been installed and duly proclaimed, proceeded to appoint his officers, presenting each with his badge of office, accompanied by a few kind words of encouragement. The various offices were filled as follows: Bros. Braun, S.W.; Pringle, J.W.; Newton, S.D.; Cragg, J.D.; Kain, Sec. and Treas., Archer, I.G.; John Newton, D.C.; Newman, Steward, I.P.M.; Grant, Tyler. In appointing the D.C. and Steward, Bro. Worrell made an observation worthy of the consideration of other lodges, namely, that it had been thought advisable to confer those offices on experienced rather than more recently made Masons, to them rather as dignities to be distributed to P.M.'s than as stepping stones to other offices. We understood him to say that in future, in the William Preston Lodge, the first office a member would be appointed to would be that of Inner Guard. The appointment of the officers having been completed, Bro. Worrell rose and in a speech in which he passed the highest eulogiums on the merits of his predecessor in the chair, presented Bro. Newman with a very handsome gold jewel, made in the form of a five-pointed star (from the atelier of Bro. Kenning), as a mark which the members of the lodge desired to confer on their retiring W.M., and as a slight memento of their esteem for him as a brother, and of their admiration of his conduct in the chair during his year of office. Bro. Newman, in a graceful speech, acknowledged the compliment and the kindness which prompted it assuring the brethren that he should always wear it both with pride and pleasure. The lodge was then formally closed down to the first degree, when the worthy Secretary, Bro. Kain, read several communications. It appears that it was the desire of the lodge that all P.M.'s who had retired from it should be present on this occasion, and all such had been invited to attend, and the letters read by the Secretary from those who, from illness and other specified good reasons, showed that it was from no lack of interest on their part, but only from urgent necessity that they failed to put in an appearance. Among the visitors present we noticed Bros. Hervey, G.S.; Binckes, Sec. of the Boys' School; C.C. Dumas, P.A.G.D.C.; Randall, 194; Garrod, 749; Skinner, 40;

George Kenning, Prov. G. Deacon Middlesex; Wigmore, Daintree, Jennings, 1136; W. F. Smith, 177; Webster, 807; Roberts, 742; Goodyear, 192; Benham, 1339; Waring, 192; Dr. Wilkinson, 181, 766; Steigenwold, 742; Thompson, 742; Davis, 192; Abbot, 192; Wingham, 25; Headon, 1426; Arkell, 192; Reel, 192; F. W. Blake, 21. When the lodge had been duly closed the brethren adjourned to the banquet hall, a room of noble proportions, where they were served with a sumptuous repast, which reflected the highest credit on the hotel and its excellent manager. The fact that this is a Banner Lodge adds greatly to its attractiveness, both in the lodge room and at the banquet. For the few of our readers who do not know what a Banner Lodge is, we may explain that in such Lodges it is the custom for every Master when he is installed to have his arms emblazoned on a banner, which becomes the property of the Lodge, and both in the Lodge rooms and at the banquet the Master and Past Masters sit under their respective banners. When in due course the cloth had been removed, the customary loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed by the W.M. In proposing that of “The Past and Present Grand Officers,” Bro. Worrell observed that he was on the present occasion honoured with the company of two, namely, Bro. Hervey, the esteemed Grand Secretary, who was an honorary member of the William Preston Lodge, and Bro. Conrad Dumas, Past Assistant Grand Director of Ceremonies, both of whom he begged to couple with the toast; as regarded the former every Mason knew him and by all he was esteemed; as regarded the latter he had long been associated in his professional career with Bro. Dumas. In that capacity he had much for which to thank Bro. Dumas; he was one to whom he had always been able to look up with confidence and respect. In returning thanks Bro. Hervey said that he had first very great pleasure in congratulating Bro. Worrell on being installed in the chair of the William Preston Lodge; and, secondly, in congratulating the Lodge on having secured the services of one who was so capable and so willing to discharge the duties of that important position. He observed that he took a considerable interest in the William Preston Lodge for he had had something to do with bringing it into existence. It was now some years since he had had the pleasure of consecrating this Lodge, and he had great satisfaction in witnessing its present prosperity. It had been certainly like some people, who must needs go round the world before they could settle down in life. The William Preston Lodge was originally established at Putney under very auspicious circumstances; from thence they migrated to Anerly, where for a time they were perfectly happy. However a change had since come over the spirit of their dream, and nothing would do, but they must find a wider sphere, for which purpose they came to London, and a great opposition was made to their settling here. It was said you are very comfortable where you are, and here you had better stay, but nothing could daunt the William Preston Lodge, or their worthy Treasurer, who overcame innumerable difficulties, and at length achieved his object, and here they were. He trusted that they were at last happily located. He was sure that the Earl of Carnarvon would be as grateful as he was himself for the toast that had been proposed, and responded to so cordially; and for himself he trusted that his absences in the future would be less frequent than they had been in the past. Bro. Dumas said that on ordinary occasions he should have been rather sorry for his name to be coupled with that of Bro. Hervey in the toast of the Present and Past Grand Officers; it was a theme with which Bro. Hervey was so thoroughly at home that he left little to be said by any one who came after him. On the present occasion, however, he felt particularly grateful to the W.M. for mentioning his name, as from his connection with Bro. Worrell in the ordinary business of life, besides knowing him so well as a brother Mason, he could testify to his excellence in all respects, knowing as he did his many good qualities, he could confidently predict him a most successful year of office, and that if the honour the brethren had done Bro. Worrell had elevated him, he was sure that by his occupation the position of W.M. of that lodge would not only lose none of its lustre, but would pass from him with an additional glory upon it. In reply to the toast of the W.M., which was proposed in a pleasant little speech by the immediate P.M., Bro. Worrell said that he conceived it to be the highest honour a Mason could attain to be the Master of his Mother Lodge: He had at length attained that proud position, and he trusted that he should be able to discharge its duties with credit to himself, and that at least his best endeavours would be to do all in his power for the well-being of the lodge. Supported by the officers whom he had appointed, he believed that the William Preston Lodge would rank as one of the best lodges in London. The healths of "The Past Masters," "The Visitors," "The Officers," &c., were proposed in due course, and many able speeches were made, but want of space must be our excuse for not noticing them individually. There was one other, however, which was of an importance that demands a short notice, viz., "The Prosperity of the Masonic Charities," which Bro. Worrell, in an excellent speech, eulogised, saying that these charities were a practical good worked out by Freemasonry, which all the world could understand. If there was any feeling of doubt as to the excellence of the Order among the uninitiated public, to whom brethren could not impart their secrets; if the uninitiated world said, "What good do you effect?" Freemasons had only to point to these great institutions as a practical unanswerable demonstration of the excellence of the Order, and in the course of his speech he said that he should be proud to be invited to become a Steward for any one of these charities on the occasion of a festival. Bro. Binckes, whose name was coupled with this toast, made an excellent speech in reply. He said that after making three hundred speeches a year for the last ten years, he had exhausted his stock of originality. It is quite true that charity is a practical illustration of Masonry, and he thanked the W.M. for his remarks on the subject, especially for that offer, if invited, to become a Steward for one of the charities. "And before I go further, sir," said Bro. Binckes, "I do ask you. I am nothing if I am not practical; I do ask you to be Steward for the Boys' School. Why do I ask for the Boys' School? On account of my individual official connection with that Institution? Because it is the only one uncrowned. Both the Institution for Aged Freemasons and also the Girls' School have large funded property, but the Boys' School has not a single shilling of funded property." He proceeded to detail the good the Institution had already effected, and the large encumbrances they had paid off. Remarks had been made by some suggesting that their point of education was too high, but he reminded the brethren that education was now the question of the day, and that the School Board elections now taking place showed the interest that was taken in the question of raising the standard of education throughout the whole country, and he maintained that their standard was not too high a one. He concluded by saying that however much had been done by these charities, it was little to what might be effected. There were some thirty-five thousand Freemasons, but yet it was a fact that the charities were principally supported by some five thousand of that number. He wanted to reach the other thirty thousand. The entertainment of the evening was greatly enhanced by some excellent songs by several of the brethren present. The whole of the arrangements were admirably conducted, and the meeting was altogether a very great success.

WHITTINGTON LODGE (No. 862).—One of the most successful meetings of this flourishing lodge was held at Anderson's Hotel, Fleet-street, on Monday, the 17th ult., when a large number of brethren assembled to do honour to the W.M. elect, Bro. Frederick Smith, P.M. 177. The lodge was opened by Bro. W. J. Hargrave Jones, W.M., assisted by his officers; and in the course of the evening Bro. Tate was passed to the second degree, and Mr. Frederick Roberts initiated. Bro. Brett, P.M., P.G. Pursuivant, then took the chair, and in his usual excellent style, installed Bro. Smith in the presence of twenty-six Installed Masters. The officers invested were as follows:—Bros. Alfred R. Haley (the well-known Secretary of the L.P.D. Company), S.W.; B. Seeley, J.W.; W. F. Newall Quilty, P.M., Treas.; J. Weaver, P.M., P. Prov. G.O. Middlesex, Treas. Benevolent Fund; R. Wentworth Little, Prov. G. Sec. Middlesex, Sec.; T. Kingston, S.D.; W. W. Anderson, J.D.; F. M. Whitehead, I.G.; C. Walker, D.C.; J. Brett, P.G. Pursuivant, Wine Steward; Alfred Moore, Collecting Steward; and J. Gilbert, Tyler. Two gentlemen were proposed for initiation, and the lodge was closed. A banquet was then served by the Messrs. Clemow, and gave entire satisfaction. The health of the Grand Officers was received with enthusiasm, and responded to by Col. Burdett, P.G.W., Prov. G.M. Middlesex. All the usual toasts were duly honoured, including the "Masonic Charities," for which Bros. Binckes and Terry replied. A Past Master's jewel was presented to the retiring W.M., Bro. Jones, and gracefully acknowledged by the worthy recipient. Among the numerous visitors present were Bros. J. Hervey, G. Sec.; Hyde Pullen, P.G.S.B.; E. A. Cottelane, G.P.; J. Boyd, P.G.P.; T. Cubitt, A.G.P.; H. Dicketts, G. Steward 23; C. Duke, P.M. 40, Prov. J.D. Sussex; M. Haydon, P.M. 177; H. Mugeridge, P.M. 192; C. Horsley, P.M. 511, P. Prov. G. Reg. Middlesex; H. Phythian, W.M. elect 1293; J. E. Walford, P.M. 177; H. G. Buss, P.M. 27; A. A. Pendlebury, P.M. 1056; H. M. Levy, P.M. 188; K. R. H. Mackenzie; J. Skinner, P.M. 40; Vernon, and others. The members of the lodge, which is not a large one, also mustered well to do honour to the installation of Bro. Smith, and the evening passed off with great velut. Bro. Brett, as Wine Steward, attended indefatigably to the comfort of all, and his catering left nothing to be desired.

CAPPER LODGE (1076).—The annual meeting of this prosperous and flourishing lodge took place on Thursday the 13th inst., at the Marine Hotel, Victoria Docks, West Ham, E. At 12.30, p.m., the Lodge was opened by the W.M., Bro. B. B. Brayshaw; who was supported by Bros. C. W. Ashdown, I.P.M.; S. Watkins, P.M.; J. Henderson, P.M., and Sec.; G. Park, Treas.; A. Knox S.W. (W.M., elect); Priestley, J.W.; Holliday, S.D., and a number of brethren. The minutes of the last regular meeting, and also those of a lodge of emergency, having been read and duly confirmed, the lodge was opened, respectively in the second and third degrees; two Brethren were raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason, two passed to the degree of Fellow Craft, and one gentleman initiated into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry, the whole of the ceremonies being most admirably worked by the W.M. The lodge having been resumed in the second degree, Bro. A. Knox, S.W., was presented to the W.M., by Bro. Ashdown, P.M., to receive the benefit of installation, which ceremony was accordingly proceeded with, a board of Installed Masters formed, and Bro. Knox duly installed in the chair of K.S., according to ancient custom. The board of Installed Masters having been closed, the brethren of the lodge were readmitted, and the newly Installed W.M. was duly proclaimed and saluted in the three degrees. He then proceeded to appoint the following brethren as his officers for the ensuing year, viz.: Bros. B. B. Brayshaw, I.P.M.; W. Priestley, S.W.; H. B. Holliday, J.W.; G. Park, Treasurer, J. Henderson, P.M., Secretary; Day, S.D.; Hesselwood, J.D.; Semple, I.G.; Sherwin, Organist; Geary, W.S.; and Allison (re-elected), Tyler, each of the officers being invested with the collar and jewel of his office by the Installing Officer, and conducted to his respective situation in the lodge by the D.C. the charges to the W.M., Wardens, and brethren were delivered by Bro. Brayshaw in a most impressive manner, and reflected the highest credit upon that brother, who at the close of the ceremony, received the hearty congratulations of the P.M.'s and brethren present. It was unanimously resolved, on the proposition of Bro. Ashdown, P.M., seconded by the W.M., that the thanks of the lodge be given to Bro. Brayshaw for the very able manner in which he had discharged the duties of W.M. during the past year, that the same be engrossed on vellum, and together with a Past Master's jewel, be presented to him, in recognition of the very valuable services he had rendered to the lodge during his year of office. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet, which was served by Bro. Old, the host, in a manner which reflected the highest credit upon his establishment. The usual toasts were given from the chair of the newly installed W.M., and duly responded to, the Tyler's toast bringing a most enjoyable evening to a close, about 11 p.m. The business of the evening was greatly relieved by several songs, recitations, &c., which were given by the various brethren, assisted by Bro. Sherwin, Organist, who throughout the evening, as well as during the performance of the ceremonies in the lodge, presided at the harmonium with his usual skill and ability. As usual, a number of visitors were present, amongst whom we noticed the following, viz.:—Bros. Young, W.M. 1327; Evans, S.W. 1327; Gilbert, J.W. 1327; Graham, P.M. 700; Leuchart, 1107; Capt. Brooks, 77; and Simmonds, 94.

GOLDEN RULE LODGE (No. 1261).—The brethren of this lodge met at their new temple, the "Regent," in Air-street, on the 2nd inst., and for two hours were occupied in the legitimate Masonic work of making and passing members. Bro. Frederick Bigg, the present W.M., occupied the chair for the last time, the Senior Warden, Bro. J. J. Harris, having been unanimously elected to succeed him at the meeting in February. Bro. Harris made some pertinent observations respecting his unwillingness to appoint as officers, brethren who were manifestly incapable of performing their duties creditably, then he disapproved of the principle of rotation, and said that it should always be borne in mind that Masonic honours are not communicated indiscriminately, but are conferred upon candidates according to merit and ability. At the banquet (which was served in Bro. Nicoll's best style) the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given, and the brethren expressed themselves, as on the former occasion, quite charmed with their new abode. In proposing "The Health of the Visitors," the W.M. remarked: When called to the chair of the Golden Rule Lodge, I prescribed for myself two duties that I have during the year endeavoured sedulously to discharge; the first was to see that the order and regularity of the lodge remained untarnished, and the second, to endeavour, as your Master, to reflect, and be the exponent of your sentiments. I believe I never reflect those sentiments more truthfully, than when I offer in your name a cordial greeting to those visiting brethren who have honoured us by their company. I trust brethren that what occurred to myself last Friday week at the Middlesex Lodge, will never occur in the Golden Rule, otherwise the sooner it changes its name the better. At the invitation of Bro. Strawbridge, a Mason of 17 years standing, who, you will remember, was my guest here at last meeting, I accepted his return invite to the Middlesex Lodge, and we engaged to meet at the Albion Tavern at half-past 5. I attended to time, and found the brethren robing in the ante-room. I signed the attendance book as W.M. of your lodge and P.M. of 66, and when the Master summoned us to assist him to open the lodge at six o'clock, I entered with the rest. You may judge of my surprise and confusion when I, an old P.M. and Mason of 25 years standing, was told to retire, as I could not be admitted to the Middlesex Lodge, unless the brother who introduced me was present to vouch for me. This occurred, brethren, not in the middle of day, when the gentle amenities of life are blunted by the cares of business, but at night, when, as our genial Tom Moore says:

"Fly not yet, the fount that played
In times of old by Ammon's shade,
Tho' icy cold by day it ran
Yet still like souls of mirth began
To burn when night was near.

Pretty souls of mirth, brethren, are the members of the Middlesex Lodge, if their W.M. reflects their sentiments! Of course, I withdrew, but as the Rules of the Middlesex Lodge are so diametrically at variance with the principles of Masonry, where we "meet on the level and part on the square," I could under no circumstances have consented to stop to the banquet. (Applause.) I did what I thought would be the graceful thing, at once retired from the lodge, and on the next morning sent to Bro. Salmon, the W.M. of the lodge, an invitation to attend here to-night as my visitor. (Applause.) He writes me regretting that he has a previous engagement—an answer that I might have anticipated. I can only say, in the language of Moses of old "I have seen this people, and behold it is a stiff-necked people." (Laughter.) While the Book of Constitutions enjoins on Masters and Wardens to visit other lodges as often as they conveniently can, in order that the same usages and customs may be observed throughout the Craft, and a good understanding cultivated amongst Freemasons—it strikes me that the refusal to permit a W.M. of a lodge access to the Middlesex Lodge because his introducer is not in attendance to vouch for him, is a breach of Masonic law, and as such should be brought under the notice of the brethren. (Hear, hear.) I did myself the pleasure of inviting Bro. Kenning here to-night that I might prevail on him to print my observations, but as he is W.M., of No. 1 Mark Lodge, he wished to be present at the Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons, which meets to-night, he is unavoidably absent from our festive meeting. His journal, by far the best that ever appeared in connection with the Craft, has a great circulation; a distinguished brother present, who writes shorthand, is taking down my remarks, and I hope they may have the effect of preventing the repetition of a proceeding so inimical to the interests of our noble Order. (Applause.) After some excellent speeches and songs, the brethren adjourned till the first Tuesday in February, after spending a most enjoyable evening.

SUNDERLAND.—Fenwick Lodge (No. 1389).—The annual meeting of this lodge was held on Friday, 21st ult., for the purpose of installing Bro. John Bell as W.M. for the ensuing twelve months. Bro. W. H. Crookes, Provincial Grand Secretary and W.M., having placed Bro. Bell in the chair of K.S. and tendered the congratulations of the brethren, the W.M. proceeded to invest the officers for the year, viz:—Bros. W. H. Crookes, as I.P.M.; T. Riley, S.W.; Bro. F. Maddison, J.W.; R. Hudson, Treasurer; W. Beattie, Secretary; George Clark, S.D.; A. S. Fox, J.D.; A. Lee, I.G.; M. Douglas, P.M. So, P. Prov. G.J.D., as Hon. Tyler; J. S. Nicholson, Steward. The brethren afterwards dined together at the Palatine Hotel, where a banquet of the most recherche description was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Thompson. Under the presidency of the W.M., the fullest justice was done to the various delicacies. Amongst those present were P.M.'s W. H. Crookes, R. Humphrey, R. W. Halfknight, John Tillman, T. Elwen, P. G. Hoistendahl, R. Hudson, R. Liddell, J. Stainsby; and many members from St. John, No. 80; Phoenix, No. 94; Palatine, No. 97; Williamson, No. 949; St. John No. 175, Greenock was also represented. During the evening the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given. A novel feature was the introduction of a truly Masonic song, composed and set to music in honour of Bro. Walter Beattie, the words by Bro. W. Allen, and the music by Angelo Forrest.

IVY LODGE (No. 1441).—The second regular meeting of this lately consecrated lodge was held on Tuesday, the 18th ult., at Bro. Laxton's, the Windsor Castle Tavern, Southwark Bridge-road. The W.M., Bro. Charles Smith, assumed the chair at six o'clock punctually, at which hour there were present.—Bros. G. Mattock, S.W.; J. J. Cattle, J.W.; John Noke, Acting I.P.M.; E. Thurkle, Treas.; C. S. Jolly, Sec.; C. F. Poupard, S.D.; L. Cornelissen, J.D.; W. Ashworth, I.G.; and a goodly sprinkling of members yet unattached to office. The lodge was duly opened in the first degree, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed, after which the lodge was opened in the second degree, when the three brethren who had received the benefit of Masonic light at the meeting in September—Bros. Cox, J. Knight Smith, and Nott—appeared as candidates for the F.C. degree, having previously proved themselves entitled to the privilege. The ceremony concluded, the ballot was then taken with a successful result for four candidates (a fifth being absent,) who were anxious to enrol themselves in the Masonic ranks, and accordingly Messrs. C. Pantlin, G. Skegg, W. C. Ware, and J. Elmer, were duly initiated into Ancient Freemasonry, each candidate, in accordance with an inflexible rule very properly observed in this lodge was introduced separately, and the beautiful and impressive ceremony was most effectively delivered by the W.M. in a manner which could not fail in making a lasting impresson on the minds of those thus introduced into a new world (to them) under his auspices. Bro. Smith is an enthusiast in Freemasonry, in the highest and holiest sense of the word, and the language of the sublime ritual flows from his lips with a fervency and sincerity which can never be forgotten by those who are obligated into the Order at his hands. The ancient charge was afterwards given, and the Bye-laws of the lodge, and also those of the Benevolent Fund were read. The latter are worthy of especial commendation. At a time when a feeling is spreading widely abroad throughout the Craft, that too much of the lodge funds is diverted from the legitimate, and for which purpose alone Masonry does and ought to exist, it is gratifying to find that this young lodge is willing, without any pressure from above or without, to institute a proper order of things in its government. The first bye-laws of the Ivy Lodge Benevolent Fund states "that this fund shall be supported by a payment of ten per cent. from every initiation fee, joining fee, and annual subscription of the lodge." Another bye-law allows the Committee to grant an immediate relief to an applicant who might claim the benevolence of the lodge, to the extent of ten pounds. "He who gives quickly, gives twice" is a very old and true saying, and the generosity of this bye-law cannot be too highly commended. Another bye-law provides that when the invested funds amount to one hundred pounds, the surplus money, beyond the floating sum of ten pounds for casualties, in the hands of the Treasurer, shall be applied to make the Ivy Lodge Benevolent Fund Life Governor of all the Masonic Charities, a determination which, we hope may be speedily realized. The practice of this lodge is equal to the precept. When the lodge was duly closed some simple and inexpensive refreshments were served, which however proved sufficiently genial to detain the brethren in agreeable converse together until the clock striking eleven warned them to depart. The next meeting of the lodge (emergencies excepted) will be in January next, which is the annual period appointed for election, but this we imagine will be but a mere form, on this occasion, as the brethren of the Ivy Lodge, will never part with their first W.M. on such a short innings.

INSTRUCTION.

CONFIDENCE LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.—A meeting of the members of the above lodge took place on Wednesday, the 26th ult., at the Railway Tavern, Fenchurch-street, for the purpose of working the fifteen sections. The W.M., C. F. Hogard, W.M. of Israel Lodge (No. 205), opened the lodge in usual form at 6.30 p.m. The work proceeded as follows, viz:—

1st section	Bro. Cowan
2nd "	" Larlham

4th "	" Bingeman
5th "	" Constable
6th "	" Larlham

12th "	" Bingeman

15th "	" Larlham

The lodge was resumed, and the cordial vote of thanks of the brethren was accorded to the W.M. for his efficiency in presiding, as well as the honorary membership of the lodge for his past services thereto, and which he acknowledged in suitable and grateful terms. The thanks of the lodge were also accorded to those brethren who had contributed so largely to the instruction and pleasure of those assembled. Bros. J. P. Child, 185; Bingeman, 55; J. Able, 55; W. H. Lee, 975; J. Cowan, 180, Scotch Constitution, were elected joining members. The lodge was closed at 10 o'clock, after a very pleasant and instructive evening

Scotland.

GLASGOW.—St. Mungo Lodge (No. 27).—This old and highly respected lodge held its installation meeting in St. Mark's Hall, on Thursday, the 20th ult., the R.W.M., Bro. G. Sinclair, Treasurer of the Provincial Benevolence Fund, presiding. Business was commenced by the initiation of three gentlemen. The J.W., Bro. D. Butler, having been unanimously elected to fill the chair, he was presented by Bro. G. McDonald, R.W.M. 73, to Bro. Halkett, P.M., who acted as Installing Master. On the re-admission of the brethren to the lodge the new R.W.M. was saluted by about 150 Master Masons, who had come to grace his installation. At the request of the R.W.M., his Deputy Master, Bro. A. McTaggart, M.A., P.G. Sec., then invested and installed the following office bearers.—Bros. Dugald Butler, R.W.M.; G. Sinclair, P.M.; A. McTaggart, D.M.; John Penny, S.M.; W. McCall, S.W.; Dr. McInnes, J.W.; W. B. Paterson, Sec.; T. Lockhead, Treas.; G. McComb S. D.; John Armour, J.D.; Rev. McLeck, Chap.; A. R. Wilson, V.C.; T. Muir, B.B.; Grange, Kirkland, Reid, Miller, and Bith, Stewards; W. Albion, Dr. of Music; Brodie, I.G.; T. Cameron, O.G.; Dr. S. Buchanan, Surgeon. On the entrance of the Tyler, Bro. J. Rankin, who is now 82 years of age, Bro. McTaggart in graceful terms alluded to the long and faithful service he had rendered to the Lodge, and expressed his conviction that every member of the Lodge would be only too happy to lend their aid to make his last days as peaceful and plenteous as he should desire. (Cheers.) The lodge was then placed in the hands of the J.W. for refreshments. On the dais, supporting the R.W.M., we observed Bros. G. Lincoln, P.M.; J. Bain, P.M. 3; Rev. G. Wilson, Chaplain 27; Rev. B. Porteous, 27; J. B. Paterson, Sec. 27; J. Main, Treas.; G. McDonald, R.W.M. 73; A. McTaggart, P.G.S.; T. Halkett, P.M. 102 P.G.T.; C. Wilson, R.W.M., 219; and W. Bassett, 27. The Chairman, having given the usual loyal and Masonic toasts proposed "The health of the I.P.M., and the retiring officers of the Lodge," Bro. R. Fraser sang a song he had composed in honour of the retiring Master, which elicited unbounded applause. Bro. Sinclair in the course of his reply stated the three years during which he had filled that chair had been the most happy of his life, and the evenings he had spent in St. Mungo's were the most pleasant of that time. This he attributed to the kindness with which all his efforts for the good of the lodge had been met and the support he had received from all the officers of the Lodge. He had also to return thanks to Bros. Bain, McTaggart and Halkett for their kindness, on many occasions during that period, when they filled the duties of his office for him. (Cheers.) Before sitting down he would propose "The Health of Bro. Porteous," who after an absence from the city of eleven years, had come amongst them to-night. The Rev. J. Porteous said it afforded him a great deal of pleasure as a clergyman of the Church of England to attend there that night, for though a true son of that Church, he was yet quite as true a son of St. Mungo, and he held that a clergyman was never out of his place or out of his duty while attending a Masonic Lodge, for the tenets though few, were fit to be given in any church, and no man need desire higher praise to have recorded that he was a perfect, true, and honest Mason. (Cheers.) The R.W.M. gave the "Three Initiates." Bro. Marr responded, stating that as a native of the city, a "Glasgow chapie," he was proud to be admitted amongst the Sons of St. Mungo. The S.W. gave the "Visiting Brethren," responded by Bros. Bannerman and Wheeler, of 73. Bro. McDonald, gave "The Health of the New R.W.M." Bro. D. Butler, in replying, alluded to the list of illustrious men who had filled the chair of St. Mungo, expressing his determination if he could not add to the lustre of the chair, he would at any rate leave it and St. Mungo's sceptre untarnished, to be wielded by his successor. Bro. the Rev. J. Porteous, being himself connected with the Press, would present them the claims of the Masonic Press, Bro. Bassett for the Masonic News, and Bro. Wheeler for The Freemason, replied, and the final toast concluded this very agreeable meeting.

GLASGOW.—Clyde Lodge (No. 408) celebrated their 13th anniversary, on the 21st ultimo, by holding a soirée, concert, and ball, in the Assembly Rooms, Bath-street. Full justice having been done to the ample repast, provided by Bro. Jas. Dunn, the chair was taken by the R.W.M., Bro. Duncan Downie, who was supported by Bros. John Buchanan, P.M. 408; R. Mitchell, P.M. 232; T. Wilson, J.W. 102; J. Stewart, J.W. 572; and the principal office-bearers of his own lodge. There was in the hall large deputations from several lodges, notably from the Union, and the Thorn-tree, 512. Bro. Downie commenced the business part of the proceedings by intimating that, as they had a very lengthy programme, he intended his remarks to be very brief. He felt it a great honour to have to preside over such a large and influential gathering of Freemasons—and, he was happy to be able to add—Freemasons' wives, sisters, daughters, and, he hoped he could say—sweethearts. The Lodge Clyde, though comparatively young, was not a sickly young child, but had attained a vigorous growth; her sons had not been idle, as they would know when he told them that during the thirteen years the lodge had been in existence, they had initiated 585 candidates. (Cheers.) "I was true that they seldom got a title of them together, but they must remember that a great majority of their members were seafaring men; but by that very means they had been diffusing the precepts of Freemasonry in all quarters of the globe. (Cheers.) They had also established a Benevolent Fund of their own, that was second to none in the Province. He was, therefore, for these reasons, proud of his position as the ruler of the Clyde. (Cheers.) Bro. R. Mitchell, P.M. 332, addressed the meeting at great length, and, in the course of his remarks, he said he had been connected with the Clyde Lodge from the first year of its existence, and he was never more proud of that connexion than to-night, when he saw such a noble gathering of Masons and their friends. He was glad to see so many of the fair sex present, he was going to say sisters as well as brothers; but he hoped that day would soon come, for as many knew, he had been advocating the establishment of a lodge of the Eastern Star for the benefit of the wives and daughters of Masons, and as soon as he had got the necessary authorization from the Grand Governing Body in America, he would seek the assistance of a few liberal-minded brothers, and then they would open a lodge, not strictly a Masonic lodge, but a lodge in connection with Masonry, for the benefit of the female relatives of Masons. (Cheers from the ladies.) Kilwinning in 1141 laid the foundation of Masonry in this country, and he hoped to be able to lay the foundation of female Masonry, which would spread like its progenitor, till it covered the face of the earth. At a later period of the evening, in proposing the thanks of the meeting to the Chairman, Bro. R. Mitchell alluded to the funeral of an American Mason, recorded in the pages of The Freemason that week, and said when he was known to be sick, the Lodge Union at once gave him their bed in the infirmary, and when he was called to the Grand Lodge above, the Lodge Clyde very kindly granted permission for him to be buried in their grave, where he lay with 408 above his head. For this act alone the Lodge Clyde and its R.W.M. deserved their thanks, but they must not let the matter stand here, they had now nearly £14 in hand subscribed for that purpose, and above the expense of that funeral, and now they must determine to buy ground for the use of the Masons of this city, so that when any foreign brethren died amongst us, we might have a suitable place to put them in, instead of having to be beholden to any single lodge; still they were indebted to the Clyde and its Master. (Cheers.) Bro. Downie acknowledged the compliment, saying his lodge, as well as himself, were at all times only too happy to do anything to forward the great interests of Universal Freemasonry. The concert was sustained by the talent of Miss Bessie Maclean, Bros. J. Stewart, J. C. Allan, and S. W. Frame, while Bro. R. Buchanan presided at the pianoforte; but in addition to those artists who had been announced, through the kindness of Bro. A. Domson, No. 73, proprietor of the Victoria Music Hall, Bro. Duclen, who is not only an excellent singer, but an admirable player on the guitar, contributed very considerably to enhance the pleasures of a very enjoyable evening. Dancing commenced at 11.30, and was continued to the strain of an excellent band, till the grey dawn began to peep.

GLASGOW.—St. Rollox Chapter (No. 144) held its monthly meeting on the 13th inst., Comp. David Bell, Z., presiding, assisted by J. McLeish, H.; G. W. Wheeler, H. 73, acting as J.; D. Read, Scribe E.; J. Callan, S.N.; J. Annard, First S.; Robert Bell, Second S. There being no business in the Arch Degree, a Mark Lodge was opened, and Bro. Jas. Mills was advanced to that degree. The First Principal then informed the lodge that business was compelling him in a short time to go to India; he deeply regretted this, and he had fondly hoped to have helped to make this, though the youngest, the best chapter in the city, but he should try to meet them once more, and finish off the work now on hand. Comp. G. W. Wheeler proposed that the best thanks of the chapter be given to Comp. Bell, for his past services, and regret that he is about to leave this country. Seconded by Comps. J. McLeish, and Robert Bell, and carried unanimously. Comp. Bell briefly acknowledged the compliment.

GRAND LODGE OF SCOTLAND. THE FESTIVAL OF ST. ANDREW.

ON Monday, 1st inst., the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Scotland for the election of office-bearers and for the celebration of the festival of St. Andrew, took place in the Freemasons' Hall. The Grand Lodge was opened by the Earl of Rosslyn, the Most Worshipful Grand Master, who was supported by Brother John Whyte-Melville, R.W.P.G.M.; the Earl of Kellie, R.W.J.G.W.; Colonel Campbell of Blythswood, M.P., P.G.W.; Lord James C. P. Murray, representative at the Grand Lodge of England; Sir James Alexander, P.G.M. of Stirlingshire; Bro. Walter M. Neilson, P.G.M. of Glasgow; Captain G. R. Harriet of Killimore, P.G.M. of Wigtownshire; Captain J. F. Oswald of Dunnikier, P.G.W.; Bro. W. Mann, P.G.W.; Rev. Dr. Gray, G.C.; Br. J. Laurie, G.S.; Major Hamilton Ramsay of Garion, S.G.D.; Bros. F. A. Barrow, J.G.D.; A. Hay, G.J.; J. Coghill, Grand Dir. Cer.; J. Ballantine, G.B.; C. W. M. Muller, Grand Dir. Mus. There were also present—the Right Hon. Lord Balfour of Burleigh, R.W.S.G.W. of the Grand Lodge of England; and Mr. W. Smith, one of the Grand Stewards of the Grand Lodge of England; and Mr. William Officer, P.G.D.; the representatives of Sweden, Canada, Saxony, Tennessee; Captain Colt of Gartsherrie, Captain Gordon of Craigmyle, &c.

Apologies for absence were read from the Earl of Dalhousie, K.T., P.G.M.; Bro. A. Smollett of Bonhill, P.G.M. of Dumbartonshire; the Lord Provost of Edinburgh; Br. David Bryce, R.S.A., Grand Architect.

The new edition of the Grand Lodge laws was, on the report of the Grand Committee, formally sanctioned.

The M.W. Grand Master then formally declared all the offices of Grand Lodge vacant, and called on the members of the Craft to exercise their right of election. His Lordship thereafter proceeded to propose Sir Michael Shaw Stewart as M.W. Grand Master for the ensuing year, and the appointment was agreed to by acclamation.

Sir Michael Shaw Stewart was then introduced with the usual honours, and having been installed and seated on the throne of Grand Lodge, he proceeded to exercise the privilege recently conferred on the Grand Master by Grand Lodge—namely, that of appointing his Depute Grand Master. That appointment he conferred on the Right Hon. Lord James C. P. Murray, who was then duly installed into office. This appointment called forth a warm expression of satisfaction from the assembled brethren. The names of the other office-bearers nominated by Grand Lodge at the last quarterly communication were then read by the Grand Secretary, and having been unanimously elected, were installed into office with the usual formalities. The full list of office-bearers is now as follows: Sir Michael Robert Shaw Stewart, Bart., M.W. Grand Master Mason; the Right Hon. the Earl of Rosslyn; R.W. Past Grand Master; Captain J. T. Oswald, of Dunnikier, R.W. Past Substitute Grand Master; the Right Hon. the Earl of Kellie, R.W. Senior Grand Warden; Major Hamilton Ramsay of Garion, R.W. Junior Grand Warden; Samuel Hay (Union Bank), R.W. Grand Treasurer; John Laurie, R.W. Grand Secretary; the Rev. V. C. Faithfull, M.A., and the Rev. W. H. Gray, D.D., V.W. Joint Grand Chaplains; F. A. Barrow, Senior Grand Deacon; W. Hay, V.W. Junior Grand Deacon; D. Bryce, V.W. Architect; A. Hay, W. Grand Jeweller; Dr. Robertson, W. Grand Bible-Bearer; J. Coghill, W. Grand Director of Ceremonies; J. Ballantine, W. Grand Bard; Captain G. F. R. Colt, of Gartsherrie, W. Grand Sword-Bearer; C. W. M. Muller, W. Grand Director of Music; R. Davidson, W. Grand Organist; M. MacKenzie, W. Chief Grand Marshal; A. T. Apthorpe, W. Grand Marshal; W. M. Bryce, Grand Tyler; J. Baikie, Outer Guard.

The office-bearers then proceeded to the banqueting hall, and were enthusiastically received by the brethren, upwards of 300 of whom were present. The newly-elected M.W.G. Master (Sir Michael Shaw Stewart), supported on the right and left by the Past Master (the Earl of Rosslyn), by the Depute Master (Lord J. C. Murray), and the other brethren mentioned as being present at the installation.

After the banquet had been served, the music during it being supplied by Dr. Hoffmann's band,

The Most Worshipful Grand Master proceeded to open the lodge in the usual manner.

The Most Worshipful Grand Master, according to the usual custom, first gave, "The Holy Lodge of St. John," which was drunk in silence.

The Most Worshipful Grand Master next gave "The Queen," which was enthusiastically received, the audience upstanding and singing the national anthem, led by Bro. Henry, Master of Lodge St. Clair, with full accompaniment.

The Most Worshipful Grand Master next gave "The Prince of Wales, as the Great Steward of Scotland, Patron of the Grand Lodge," which was also received with enthusiasm. Many of them, he said, would remember the occasion of being present at the installation of the Prince of Wales as Patron of the Craft in Scotland. (Cheers.) Those who were must have been gratified alike with his dignified demeanour and the excellent and manly address his Royal Highness made to the Grand Lodge on that occasion. (Cheers.) Therefore they, as Masons, could join with those outside in wishing the best they could to the Prince of Wales—namely, that when the time came (might it be far distant!) he might prove himself a worthy successor to our beloved and gracious Sovereign. (Loud cheers.)

The M. W. Grand Master, in proposing "The Princess of Wales, the Duke of Edinburgh, and the rest of the Royal Family," said that while remembering that that Princess was one who lived in the hearts of the people of this country (Cheers)—they might look forward with pleasure and with hope to the arrival of another youthful Princess in this country. They had heard already that the Princess who was shortly to be married to the Duke of Edinburgh, was beloved in her country—(Cheers)—and let them hope that she would do much for the happiness of the sailor Prince. (Cheers.) He was quite sure that in this ancient and loyal city every individual would be happy to give her, when she came here, a thorough Scotch welcome. (Loud cheers.)

The M.W.G.M., in appropriate terms, then gave the "Navy, Army, and Reserve Forces," which was cordially received, Dr. Coghill replying for the Navy, General Sir James Alexander for the Army, and Colonel Campbell of Blytheswood, M.P. (who was received with loud and prolonged cheering), acknowledged the toast on behalf of the Reserve Forces.

The M.W.G.M. next gave "The Craft and Freemasonry all over the World," which was received with enthusiasm.

The M.W.G.M. next proposed the "Grand Lodge of England and the Marquess of Ripon." In doing so, he read a letter from the Earl of Dalhousie, K.T., whose name was to have been coupled with the toast, regretting his being unable to be present. In the noble earl's absence, the toast was responded to by Lord Balfour of Burleigh.

The W.M.G.M. next gave "The Grand Lodge of Ireland and Duke of Leinster," which was responded to by Dr. S. Somerville.

The Earl of Rosslyn, on rising to propose the toast of "The Grand Master," Sir Robert Shaw Stewart, was received with prolonged cheering. He said he had to congratulate them on the election of that brother to the throne; for whether they took the associations connected with his family, or the position which he himself had so long occupied among the Masons of the west, they would find that he was eminently fitted to occupy that position. (Loud cheers.) From his experience of him, he was certain that he would be found eminently qualified, and extremely anxious to carry out everything tending to the advancement and advantage of the Craft. (Cheers.)

At this appropriate stage of the proceedings an excellent song, composed for the occasion by Brother James Ballantine (the Grand Bard), was sung by Brother Davidson, Leith. "The Auld Stewart's back again" was received with much applause.

The M.W.G. Master, who on rising was again loudly cheered, sincerely thanked the brethren for the high distinction conferred upon him, and assured them of his earnest desire to follow in the footsteps of his distinguished predecessors in that high and honourable position. (Loud cheers.)

The M.W. Grand Master next gave "The Past Grand Master," in a happy and eulogistic speech, referring to the Earl of Rosslyn's long connection with Masonry, the esteem in which he was universally held, both by those connected with Masonry and outside the brotherhood, and the great efforts he had made during his long connection with the Craft to promote its best interests.

The toast was received with vociferous cheering.

The Earl of Rosslyn, after some preliminary remarks, stated that during his three years of office there had been forty-four new charters granted, and 7583 entrants for registration. The debt liquidation fund had been going on satisfactorily, and £200 a year had been saved to the lodge by the re-arrangement of the offices. His Lordship also took advantage of the opportunity of impressing on the Masonic brethren the propriety of still more striving to combine with Masonry some schemes of benevolence or charity, or for the furtherance of educational objects, so that they might be the more able to benefit their fellow men.

Among the other toasts were—"The Foreign Grand Lodges," given by the Chairman, and acknowledged by Bro. Robinow, representative of the Grand Lodge of Hamburg; "The Deputy Grand Master, the Right Hon. Lord James C. P. Murray," who replied; "The Grand Wardens," which the Earl of Kellie acknowledged; "Lady Octavia Shaw Stewart," by the Past Grand Master, replied to by Sir Michael Shaw Stewart; and "The Memory of St. Clair of Rosslyn."

The company separated shortly before eleven o'clock.

We would draw the attention of our many readers to the fact that the Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar for 1874, is now ready, price 2s. od. post-free 2s. 2d., and may be had at Bro. Kenning's Masonic Depots, or through any respectable book-seller or newsagent.

DISTRICT GRAND LODGE OF BENGAL.

A Quarterly Communication of the District Grand Lodge of Bengal, was held at the Freemasons' Hall, Calcutta, on Saturday, the 19th day of September, 1873. There were present:—Bros. John Pitt Kennedy, Acting District Grand Master; H. H. Locke, Past Deputy D.P.G.M., as Deputy D.G.M., I. L. Taylor, D.G. S. Warden; W. B. Mactavish, as D.G. J. Warden; C. J. Zemin, D.G. Secretary; A. J. Hughes, as D.G. Treasurer; W. G. Amos, D.G.S. Deacon; J. C. Parker, D.G. Dir. of Ceremonies; W. H. Jones, D.G.A. Dir. of Ceremonies; W. Nicholls, as D.G. Sword Bearer; C. H. Compton, D.G. Organist; J. Beer, as D.G. Pursuivant; W. H. Ayres, J. F. Barns, J. M. Evans, D.G. Stewards; G. Alexander, D. G. Tyler.

The following lodges were represented, Star in the East, No. 57; True Friendship, No. 218; Humility and Fortitude, No. 229; Lodge Marine; No. 232; Lodge Anchor and Hope, No. 234; Lodge St. John, No. 486; Lodge Excelsior, No. 826; Lodge Star of Orissa, No. 1106; Lodge of Temperance and Benevolence, No. 1100; and Lodge Sandeman, No. 1374.

The following visitors were present.—W. Bros. A. B. Mitchell, W.M. No. 401, S.C.; R. Graham Birch, No. 40; B. St. Leger Halsted, No. 229; J. B. Norton, No. 232; S. Emanuel, No. 232; J. Craighhead, No. 232; B. W. Hayes, No. 486; Abromovitch, No. 1100; Armstrong, No. 371, S.C.; Grevelink, No. 401, S.C.; W. Burroughs, Ed. Masonic Herald.

The District Grand Lodge was opened in due form at 7 p.m. Apologies were read from several brethren for unavoidable non-attendance.

The Worshipful Acting District Grand Master informed the brethren, that the first work before the meeting was to consider and confirm the Minutes of the Communication of the 21st June last; but that as printed copies of those Minutes had been circulated, he proposed to consider them as read, and moved that they be confirmed.

W. Bro. Mactavish said, he had been asked to point out that the report in para. 13 of the Minutes in question, about Lodge Industry and Perseverance being in arrears with its dues and its return for one quarter, was not correct, as those arrears were cleared off prior to the last meeting of District Grand Lodge.

The District Grand Secretary explained that the reference to the arrears of Lodge Industry, and Perseverance, objected to by W. Bro. Mactavish, appeared only in the Report of the Committee of General Purposes, at the date of meeting of which, it was not, he believed, questioned that the lodge was actually in arrears as reported.

W. Bro. J. L. Taylor then proposed, and Bro. C. H. Compton seconded:—That the Minutes of the Communication of the 21st June last, as printed and circulated, be confirmed. On being put to the vote, they were confirmed.

The W. the Acting District Grand Master then addressed the Grand Lodge as follows:—

"Worshipful Brethren:—I come before you on this occasion under circumstances which compel me to express much regret. I understand that at the meeting of the Committee of General Purposes there were certain reports made of a most unpleasant character. In the course of these the Committee have expressed their opinion on the conduct of some of the brethren in very strong terms. These matters will need to be carefully considered by you after you have had the report of the Committee read to you. It is indeed much to be regretted that subjects of this character should have to be brought before you, tending as they must do to disturb the peace and harmony of Grand Lodge, on occasions like the present. I am bound to tell you, however, that one of the brethren, whose conduct it was proposed to censure, has addressed a letter to me through the District Grand Secretary, wherein he expresses his regret at his silence and explains the cause of it. I must confess that it was to me a matter of astonishment that a brother, in the position of Bro. Lloyd, should have shown such disregard, as for some time he did, to the repeated requisitions addressed to him by the District Grand Secretary. I must say, however, that that brother has now explained himself fully in the matter, and in a manner which induces me to believe that his silence was not intended in any way as a slight to the Craft. It will therefore be pleasing to me to pass over in silence that portion of the report of the Committee of General Purposes which refers to this particular case, as the offending brother having acknowledged his fault and apologised for it, I do not consider that it will be needful for you to proceed further against him.

"Of the other matters which will come before you, that which will need your attention in a special degree is the circumstance that some of the lodges are reported to be in arrears with their returns and dues. I cannot help expressing my regret that this should have occurred in so many instances, as the Masters of lodges, must be aware that it is impossible to carry on District Grand Lodge unless their dues are fully and regularly paid. In some cases payments have been made, but unfortunately they have not been accompanied with the necessary returns, and unless these are sent in, it cannot be determined whether the proper amount has been paid, or if any balance still exists. The Bye-laws of the District Grand Lodge are strict on the point, and require that both the returns and the dues should be rendered at the same time; the submission therefore of the one without the other does not absolve a lodge from the charge of being in arrears or unmindful of one of its important duties to the District Grand Lodge.

"Regarding the other matters which will be brought before you, I need make no remark. I must express my regret at having been unable to attend the last meeting of the Committee of General Purposes; had I been present at it, I would have suggested to the members of the Committee to recommend milder measures in the cases to which I have referred, as I do not consider that it is essential to the interests of the Craft that any violent steps should be taken against an erring brother while there is yet any hope of his reformation or his return to a sense of his duty.

"It will be seen that the Committee of General Purposes have referred in their report to the appointment of an Acting District Grand Treasurer. I am happy to say that I have been able to obtain the services of a brother well suited for the appointment, and if the selection made by me be such as to recommend itself to you, I feel sure you will readily confirm it, otherwise it will be open to you to elect some other brother for the office, a motion to which effect will be brought forward hereafter, as set down in the agenda of business for this evening.

"These are the principal matters on which I have thought it needful to comment. I have again to express my regret that so much business of an unpleasant nature should have to be transacted on this occasion in Grand Lodge."

The reports of the Audit Committee of General Purposes were read and considered.

The reports of the Grand Committee of the Fund of Benevolence was read and adopted.

The business being concluded, the lodge was closed at 9 p.m.

THE CATTLE SHOW held this week at the Agricultural Hall, Islington, will, doubtless, bring up our country friends to see the sights and scenes of London. Quadrant House, Regent-street, will meet with a large share of their patronage. The proprietor, Mr. Ahlborn, whose name has become a household word, has a display of winter furs unequalled in the world. The inspection of this stock, so varied, so rich, and so suggestive of warmth and luxury, will reward the most refined and most fastidious taste. Mr. Ahlborn has the highest name as a just dealer, as well as being remarkable for his extensive knowledge and good taste as a designer.

LILY LODGE OF INSTRUCTION (No. 820).—On Thursday, December 11th, at 5 p.m., the Fifteen Sections will be worked at the "Greyhound Hotel," George-street, Richmond, by brethren of the United Mariners' and Doric Lodges of Instruction. Bro. Wm. Yetton, P.M. 933, will preside; Bro. T. J. Barnes, P. 1, 554 and 933, Senior Warden.

CHARITY VOTING.

The Court of Queen's Bench has decided, that, the interchange of votes is perfectly legal, and that a contract to barter or purchase votes is maintainable!

Something was said, as to an implied condition to accept the worthiest candidate, laid upon all subscribers, but that, as we before observed, constitutes a great difficulty in itself, and rests, we still venture to think, on a misapprehension of the actual facts of the case.

It is understood that the cases of all candidates are submitted to the "House Committee," or "Board of Management," and no cases are presumed to get upon the List, which do not conform to the rules of the Institution, and are not in themselves cases properly claiming relief and support.

It then becomes a very difficult matter for any one, or any body, to lay down absolutely, which out of forty or fifty applicants is the most deserving case.

As Mrs. Malaprop said, not only are "comparisons odorous," but it seems to us, that, once admitted on the list, and being, in one sense, on a common ground of urgency, and having an equal claim to support, it then becomes a question, necessarily, of individual opinion and private judgment.

Because A supports case 15, and B supports case 20, and D supports case 27, no one can fairly say that either A, B, or D has not a right to select that particular case, or ought to have selected case 21, which seems to another mind the most deserving case.

The tests of urgency and merit vary considerably, and we can quite fancy a case to arise where A and B think certain tests are not decisive of the merits of a particular case, and D and E think other tests equally decisive of the merits of a totally different case.

We feel persuaded, that, on the whole, with some unavoidable defects, we cannot materially amend the present system, without committing other injustices than those the recent agitations profess to have discovered, and propose to remedy.

On the whole, the actual system works well admittedly for the financial welfare of the Institutions, and in these days of hard and fast lines, and of very doubtful political economy, we think it far better, in the interests of the recipients themselves, "quieta non movere."

THE SCOTTISH GRAND LODGE.

As we are always anxious not to err in any statements we make, and always to do full justice to others, it seems but fair that we should supplement our leader of last Saturday with a few explanatory remarks.

It appears, from a copy of Scotch Regulations for Lodges, which we have seen, that there is at present a minimum initiation fee incumbent on Scotch Lodges, namely, £1 1s., exclusive of a registration fee of 5s. 6d. But this is obviously far too low, and ought at least to be £3 3s. or £4 4s. There is also a power given to Lodges, by which they can charge the member by a two-thirds' vote, with the payment annually of a sum not exceeding £1, of which 10s. is to be set aside as a charity fund, to be administered by the Master, Wardens, and Secretary, or by the Committee of the Lodge, and for contributing to the Fund of Masonic Benevolence, and the other 10s. to form part of the Lodge Fund, towards the ordinary expenses.

We, however, shall not be wrong in stating that this permissive law is "more honoured in the neglect, than in the observance."

There is, Bro. Paton states, an inherent right in Lodges to levy annual payments, as "dues" and "quarterages"—but it is a right seldom exercised in Scotland—and the first payment, be what it may, (almost all the Lodges vary) covers generally the registration dues, and even mostly the certificate charge.

The Fund of Benevolence is maintained by fees payable from the office bearers of Grand Lodge annually, from donations, and from a charge of 1s. per quarter on all "entrants" deducted from the registration fee. We feel persuaded, that, there is great need for amendment in these regulations, and that until such amendments are effected, Freemasonry in Scotland will not occupy the position it could assume, and ought to assume.

WEEKLY SUMMARY.

Nothing of any very great importance has occurred during the past week to disturb the even tenour of home events.

The Queen has returned to Windsor Castle from Balmoral, where she had been detained by the indisposition of H.R.H. Prince Leopold, who, we are happy to know, is now able to bear his journey.

The Prince and Princess of Wales are at Sandringham.

Parliament is again prorogued to February 5th, 1874, then to "meet for the despatch of divers urgent and important affairs."

The School Board elections have gone on, and are now, if not entirely, nearly over, and have called forth a large amount of interest, and a larger amount of votes.

Several of the learned societies, such as the Geographical, and Archæological, and Anthropological, and the Societies of Antiquaries, and Actuaries, and Civil Engineers, have held meetings during the last week.

Lord Kensington, a new lord in waiting, has been returned, by about 50 majority, over his gallant opponent Colonel Peel, and it is understood, that, no opposition will be offered to the re-election of Dr. Lyon Playfair and Mr. William Vernon Harcourt.

The Tichborne case has recommenced with rebutting evidence on the part of the prosecution, and will now, we would hope, continue de die in diem, until it is really finished. When that will be, who can say? We think that both judges and jurymen deserve the greatest "kudos" for their exemplary patience during this remarkably protracted trial!

From the Gold Coast we have despatches from Sir Garnet Wolseley, who is at present a general without an army—something like the play of Hamlet without the ghost. The good soldiers who are gone and are going to him, will, we trust, enable him soon to make a morning call at Coomassie. An Ashantee attack, in force about 10,000, was made on November 5th on Abrakrampa, held by a small garrison. Sir Garnet Wolseley marched to its relief, and reached the place on the 6th. On the 7th he attacked the camp, which he succeeded in capturing and surprising. He took, among other things, an Amonquartis bed and chair. We have to regret the loss of Lieut. Eardley Wilmot, R.A., in a skirmish at Dumquah, on the 4th.

The Oxford University Boat Club have sent their annual challenge to the Cambridge ditto—a piece of intelligence highly interesting to the habitués of the University boat race, male and female.

Dr. Tristram, the well-known writer on the Holy Land, and not undistinguished as a traveller and naturalist, has been selected by the Bishop of Durham to succeed the venerable and excellent Temple Chevallier, well known as Professor of Mathematics to all Durham men, as well as for the many excellent qualities of a very kindly heart.

In Foreign news there is not a great deal to report.

Marshal Mac Mahon has changed his Ministry, though it seems rather what the French call "un changement des decorations." France is otherwise tranquil.

In Spain the end of the Carthagenan revolt seems approaching, as that fortress and town are now undergoing the agreeable process of bombardment.

The Russian Government have issued a new Loan through Messrs, Rothschild and Co., and it is said that the Prussian "Sec-Handlung," have effected a financial arrangement with the Austrian Government.

The Turkish Administration seem to be very wisely recognising the autonomy of the Danubian Principalities, and thus removing another cause of possible disagreement.

Everything seems to augur for the continuance of peace.

The Virginius affair, bad as it is, and indefensible on every principle of municipal or national or international Law, as regards the execution of "non-combatants," seems to be taking a pacific turn. The Virginius is ordered, it is said, to be given up to the American Government, and Senor Castelar is understood to repudiate the action of the Cuban authorities, and the last telegraphic despatches state that a friendly protocol has been signed.

The following circular has been issued from the Grand Lodge of Scotland:—"Freemasons'-Hall, 98, George-street. Edinburgh, 4th November, 1873.—R. W. Sir and Brother,—At the Quarterly Communication of the Grand Lodge, held on the 3rd current, I was instructed to inform you that the following notice of motion has been tabled for discussion at next Quarterly Communication. THE NEW LIVERPOOL MASONIC HALL.—This building, which was considerably delayed in consequence of the recent joiners' strike, is now approaching completion. It has been covered in for some weeks, and the internal work, such as plastering, &c., is being pushed on vigorously, and there is every prospect that the building will be completed during the early part of next year. The total amount received for the building fund up to the middle of September last was £2,407 4s. 2d., out of which the sum of £2,000 was handed over to the trustees on signing the contract, and a subsequent sum of £200 was paid to them during the previous month. To meet further calls by the contractor the hall committee are making a fresh appeal to the liberality of the members of the Brotherhood in Liverpool; and from the generous support and hearty sympathy which have been shown by the lodges generally, there is no doubt that this appeal will meet with a cordial response. In order that the brethren who have not subscribed may have the matter brought directly under their notice, and in the hope that many who have already given to the building fund may be induced to increase their donations, it has been decided to issue subscription lists, which will be revised and reprinted from time to time, as new or increased donations are received. A considerable sum yet requires to be raised, and to accomplish this the committee rely upon the assistance of the brethren generally, for whose comfort and convenience, and for the advancement of the interests of Masonry in Liverpool the arduous and responsible task of providing a new Masonic Hall was undertaken.

Bro. J. Tweed, the enterprising publisher, of Glasgow, whose "Guide to Glasgow and the Clyde," we reviewed a short time since, has now issued an "Illustrated Map of Scotland," in which all the present railways as well as those in course of construction or projected are distinctly marked. Our readers will doubtless look with interest on the view of the old Abbey of Kilwinning, founded in 1140, which we are informed was the cradle of Freemasons, and that parties from all quarters of the globe visit it on that account. Those who wish a comprehensive view of Scotland at a glance would do well to adorn their walls with Bro. Tweed's map.

GRAND MARK LODGE.

The Half-yearly Communication to the Grand Lodge of Mark Masters of England and Wales was made on Tuesday evening at Freemasons' Tavern, when a very large number of Mark Masons both from the provinces and the metropolis attended. Previous to the Grand Lodge entering upon its business a Lodge of Improvement was held at which Bro. James Stevens P.G.J.O., presided, and worked the beautiful ceremony of advancement to perfection. Bro. C. T. Speight, G. Tyler, acted in that capacity both at the Lodge of Improvement and at Grand Lodge, and discharged his duties with the efficiency he is well known to possess. When Grand Lodge was opened, the Rt. Hon. the Earl of Limerick, Deputy Grand Master, presided, in the unavoidable absence of the Grand Master the Earl Percy. The Rev. G. Raymond Portal, Past Grand Master, occupied his usual post, and among the other brethren who attended were Col. F. Burdett, Prov. G.M. Middlesex and Surrey, as D.G.M., Bros. Le. Gendre N. Starkie, G.S.W.; J. C. Parkinson, P.G.J.W., as G.J.W.; F. Binckes, G.S.; Saml. Bryant, G.M.O.; James Stevens, P.G.J.O., as G.S.O.; Frederic Davison, Dep. P.G.M. Middlesex and Surrey, as G.J.O.; Rev. D. J. Drakeford, G.C.; Rev. J. Hordern Jukes, G.C.; George Lambert, G.S.D.; E. T. Inskip, G.J.D.; Geo. Neall, P.G. Insp. of Works, as G. Insp. of Works; Thomas Cubitt, G.D.C.; T. J. Sabine, P.G.A.D.C., as G.A.D.C.; T. W. Coffin, Grand Swd. B.; I. J. H. Wilkins, P.G. Std. B., as G.D. Std. B.; William Worrell, G. Org.; S. Funkens-stein, G.I.G.; Geo. Page, W.A. Scott, Clement Stretton, A. Greatrex, and T. R. Parker, G. Stewards; Major J. Tanner Davy, Prov. G.M.M.M., Devon; Percy Leith, P. Prov. G.M.M.M., Bombay; Hugh T. Sandeman, Prov. G.M.M.M., Bengal; Rev. John Huyshe, P. Prov. G.M.M.M., Devon; Thomas Meggy, P.G.M.O.; J. C. Dibdin, P.G.J.O.; Rev. C. J. Martyn, P.G. Chap; J. Balfour Cockburn, P.G.S.D.; Morton Edwards, P.G.D.; Charles Hammerton, P.G.D.C.; Sigismund Rosenthal, P.G.D.C.; Rev. H. C. Levander, P.G.D.C.; Richard Spencer, P.G. Swd. B.; S. M. Lazarus, P.G.Org; J. H. Wynne, P.G.I.G.; D. M. Dewar, James W. Smith and Henry Massey, P. G. Stewards; Geo. Barlow, P. Prov. G.J.W., Middlesex and Surrey; William Wigginton, Prov. G.J.D. Middlesex and Surrey; R. H. Thrupp, P. Prov. G.S.W. Middlesex and Surrey; F. H. Cozens, P. Prov. G. Org., Middlesex and Surrey; C. T. Sparkes, P. Prov. G. Swd. B., Middlesex and Surrey; C. W. Iaidman, P. Prov. G.S.W., Devon; T. S. Partridge, P. G. Sec., Leicestershire; Harry Brett; C. Horsley, No. 1; Davison, No. 1; George Kenning, W.M. No. 1; and many others.

The Acting Grand Master entered Grand Lodge with his Grand Officers and Past Grand Officers in procession, and with all the prescribed regularity, and on taking his seat was saluted with the usual marks of respect.

Bro. F. Binckes, G.S. read the minutes of the Half-yearly Communication of 3rd June, which were put to the meeting and confirmed.

The next business was the nomination of Grand Master for the ensuing year, a duty which was entrusted to

Bro. George Lambert, who in performing it said: I rise as requested to propose that our Brother Lord Percy, be re-elected to the high position which he has now filled for a year past. That nobleman is well known to all of you, brethren, for the very successful way in which he has discharged his duties, and for the kindness and urbanity which have always distinguished him in his progress through life, and which have been the means of obtaining for him the respect and affection of all with whom he comes in contact. He has very much graced the office he holds, and I have much pleasure in moving his re-election. (cheers.)

Bro. I. J. Hooper Wilkins: I assure you it gives me much pleasure to second the nomination of Bro. Earl Percy to the post of Grand Mark Master Mason of England and Wales for the ensuing year. It must be a matter of great regret to every Mark Master, that Earl Percy was unable to attend to his duties when he was first elected; but it was a source of infinite congratulation that he shortly so far recovered from the illness under which he laboured as to be enabled to discharge the duties incumbent on him. I believe we could not have a better Grand Master than Earl Percy, and it is with that faith in his abilities that I take upon myself to second his nomination.

Carried unanimously.

Bro. James Stevens rose to nominate Bro. J. R. Stebbing for re-election as Grand Treasurer. In doing so he said after nominating him: He has discharged his duties with the greatest satisfaction to Grand Lodge, and I have no doubt it will give a great deal of pleasure to all those who are present as well as to those who are absent to hear that he has been re-nominated.

Bro. S. Rosenthal: I beg to second it. Our present Treasurer has done his duty nobly. The funds of Grand Lodge have increased to the amount of about a couple of hundred pounds during the last year, and that has entailed on him a considerable increase of labour. Of course he takes very great care of our funds, and because I have seen he does so I second the nomination of my Bro. Stevens.

Carried nem con.

Bro. F. Binckes, G. Sec., then read the following report of the General Board.

"In the six months ending Sept. 30, 1873, 327 certificates have been issued. The total number of brethren on the Register of this Grand Lodge to that date being 7232.

"During the same period the following warrants of constitution have been granted.

- 167, Washington, Beechworth, Victoria.
- 168, Keystone, Brighton, Sussex.
- 169, Elliott, Stonehouse, Devon.

"Since the commencement of the active working of the degree of Royal Ark Mariner, under the jurisdiction of this Grand Lodge the following warrants have been granted, viz.:

- Mount Ararat Lodge attached to Rose and Thistle Lodge, No. 158.
- Rainbow Lodge attached to Wm. de Irwin Lodge, No. 162.

"And 108 certificates have been issued to members of this degree."

With reference to the government and working of the degree of Royal Ark Mariner the Board recommend:—

1.—That a payment of sixpence on each Ark Certificate be made to the Grand Secretary's Assistant.

2.—That all members of the General Board of this Grand Lodge, being Royal Ark Mariners, shall be ex officio members of the Grand Master's Royal Ark Council of Advice; the brethren nominated as members of such Council being: Bros. E. H. Finney, Sen.; H. H. Riach; Hugh Heugh; Aretas Akers; Benj. Cox; Alfred Harris; E. J. Walford; E. T. Inskip; H. R. Trigg; R. H. Miller; F. E. Remfry; Morton Edwards; and Col. Burdett.

Having regard to the increased rent for improved office accommodation rendered compulsory by the annually extending business of Grand Lodge, and to the advance in the price of parchment and of material of every description, the Board recommends that the fee payable by private Lodges for registration and certificate of a brother on advancement be raised from 8s. 6d. to 10s. 6d. on and from the 1st of January, 1874.

Notice of this recommendation has been sent to every lodge, lodges in the Colonies excepted, in which it is not proposed to make any change.

The Board has had before it a request for a decision by Grand Lodge on a disputed point with reference to the non-payment of dues by the Key Stone Lodge, No. 81, Madras, to the Provincial Grand Lodge of British Burmah, subsequent to 30th June, 1868.

Madras and British Burmah were originally united as one province, and continued so until the early part of the year 1870, when the first Provincial Grand Master of Madras was appointed.

No meeting of the Grand Lodge of the United Province was held after 27th March, 1868, and it was not until 30th September, 1871 that a meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of British Burmah was held.

The Key Stone Lodge, No. 81, contend that no provincial dues ought to be required from them for the period between March, 1868 and September, 1871, during which the Provincial Grand Master and his Deputy were absentees. No Provincial Grand Lodge was held, that body therefore and thereby being in abeyance.

In this view the Board cannot concur, adopting the general rules of Masonic practice, as by them the failure of a Provincial Grand Master in the discharge of his duty is not held to absolve private lodges in his province from the fulfilment of theirs. The Board, therefore, has no hesitation in adjudging that the Key Stone Lodge, No. 81, is liable for dues to the Provincial Grand Lodge of Madras and British Burmah down to the date on which the province was severed, and the province of Madras formally created by the installation of the Provincial Grand Master and the constitution of the Provincial Grand Lodge.

To test the opinion of members of the Mark Degree, however, on a question which is confessedly one of some hardship, the President of the Board will submit a proposition to Grand Lodge.

The Board has further been asked to adjudicate on a point of difference between two Mark Master Masons, arising out of remarks published by one and held by the other as reflecting upon him and his friends. The question at issue has reference to both solely and entirely in their capacity as members of an order with which this Grand Lodge is in treaty alliance, on which ground the Board has declined to adjudicate, or to interfere in any way. The subject, under these circumstances, would not have formed portion of this report, and is introduced only for the purpose of affording an opportunity for an explanation in Grand Lodge, of the force and bearing of the provisions of the Tripartite Treaty.

The annual festival in aid of the Mark Benevolent Fund, was held in July last, at the Alexandra Palace, and again was attended with very great success, the addition to the Fund being £160.

To Col. Whitwell, M.P., G.S.W., who presided most efficiently, and to the Stewards who so kindly gave their assistance, the best thanks of the order are due.

The Board has purchased a fourth five per cent. bond of £100 in the Canadian Government Securities at a sum of £106 10s. by which amount the sum to the credit of this Fund on current account on 30th September last, viz: £155 11s. 1d. has been reduced.

The Board recommends that the next festival shall be held in July, 1874, and brethren are earnestly requested to act as stewards on the occasion.

The Board recommends that Grand Lodge do authorise the appointment of an Assistant Grand Secretary, and that the necessary alterations be made in the Book of Constitutions.

That the clothing be the same as that worn by the Grand Secretary, with the addition of the word "Assistant" on the emblem on the apron and on the jewel.

Bro. the Rev. G. R. Portal, P.G.M., moved the reception of this report, and desired to say a word in explanation of the refusal of the Board to entertain the complaint made by one Mark Master against another. The cause of complaint did not arise in a lodge-room of any other Masonic body, but from a correspondence in one of the public papers. At the same time the correspondence had reference solely to matters connected with the degree of Knights Templar, and it was thought that the Board could not entertain the complaint till it had been made to the Templar body themselves. But he would take this opportunity of saying that they must all most deeply regret that any Mason of whatever order, especially a Mark Master, had been so unfortunate as to give offence to any other Mason. But when he had done so, he should have expressed contrition and the matter might have been buried in oblivion. He believed that with all the Masonic professions of love for one another, the outer world must see that there was as much disputing among them as among other bodies.

Bro. H. C. Levander having seconded the motion, it was carried unanimously.

Bro. James Stevens moved the first recommendation of the Board given above. The recommendation had been made after careful consideration and recognition of the great increase that had taken place in the number of Mark Masons, and the ability of the lodges to pay the proposed increase. The income of Grand Mark Lodge had certainly been greater, but at the same time Grand Lodge's expenses were increasing. The manner in which the work of Grand Lodge was performed had given the greatest satisfaction; but there was a necessity for increased office accommodation to carry it out with efficiency. It was necessary that there should be greater accommodation to retain the Order in the high position which they had been long seeking and had at length attained, and which he trusted they would never recede from. He had had some little experience in regard to private lodges, and he could state from his own knowledge that the increase would not be objectionable to members of the craft desirous of joining the mark degree, and it was not likely to stand in the way of brethren becoming Mark Masters.

Bro. F. Davison seconded the motion.

Bro. Col. Burdett while objecting to the proposed increase, complained that notice by circular had not been given to provincial grand and private lodges. The difference in the present and the proposed fees appeared to be very slight but still it might be sufficient to deter brethren from joining the Mark degree. He did not speak for himself, because it would not make any difference to him; but he thought if the country lodges were considered there would be found to be great objection. The fee would do very well as it stood, and he thought they might defer raising the fee.

Col. Starkie said, that in his province, Lancashire, there would be no objection to the increase. Certainly they were influential and wealthy Masons there and were very well organized, and speaking for them he agreed to the proposed increase.

Bro. J. Tanner Davy, Prov. G.M., Devon, was sorry to say that although the Masons of his province were very powerful and very zealous they were not overburdened with riches, and he quite agreed with Col. Burdett that it would be better if a little delay took place before they raised the fee. The opinions of the whole of the provinces might then be obtained, and they would have better grounds to work upon than they had now.

Bro. Sandeman, Bengal, was about to speak on the point, but was informed that the subject did not affect the colonies at all, as their fee was only 5s.

Bro. Meggy asked whether any communications had been received from provincial lodges on the matter. It was now 6 months since the recommendation of the Board was agreed to, and there had been plenty of time given for answers to the circulars which had been addressed to them.

Bro. Wilkins, W.M. 22, said his lodge had not received a circular, but afterwards corrected himself and said he had been informed that such a circular had been received.

Bro. F. Binckes said he had sent circulars to all the lodges on the roll of Grand Lodge, and he read answers which he had received from some of them. The Minerva, Hull, disapproved of the increase; the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire objected to it; and the Remigius, Lincoln, considered it very undesirable. A lodge at Dorchester hoped it would be necessary.

Bro. T. S. Sabine moved and Bro. Scott seconded as an amendment, that it be referred back to the Board.

Bro. T. W. Coffin said he endorsed what had been said by the Prov. G.M. for Devonshire. The fees of the lodges in that province, or the greater part of them were consumed in paying Grand Lodge dues, and if they were raised the lodge could not bear the extra strain made upon them.

Bro. the Rev. John Huyshe thought it would be better that the subject should be referred back to the Board.

Bro. the Rev. G. R. Portal said perhaps this would be better, but he thought, as there was so large a Grand Lodge present, it would be a good opportunity for making the brethren acquainted with the relative charges made by this Grand Lodge and the other Masonic bodies. At present the fee charged by this Grand Lodge was 8s. 6d., in the Craft it was £1 7s. 6d., Royal Arch 15s., Knights' Templar £1 1s., and 18° £1 1s. It was a great object with Grand Mark Lodge to get an increase in its income by £100 a year, which it would get if the proposed increase in the fees was submitted to. If it was referred back to the Board for discussion, and for the further opinion of all the lodges under Grand Lodge banner, he was afraid that those private lodges would be inclined to take their own individual view of the case, and consulting their own private interests, rather than the interest of the general body of Mark Masons. If the increase tended to make the body of Mark Masons a trifle more select than it was, the general body would be no losers at all. But entertaining that view, he would propose that a slight modification should be made in the proposition and that instead of raising the fee to 10s. 6d., let it be 10s.; which, when a circular announcing it had been sent to all the lodges, he did not think it would be objected to.

Bro. James Stevens agreed that this proposition was entitled to great weight. When he made the motion he spoke from his own personal knowledge and belief of the feelings of Mark Masons in London, without reference to the provinces at all; but he had been given to understand that there would be a number of Mark Lodges which would be prepared to endorse the decision proposed to be come to in Grand Lodge. The contents of the letters read by Grand Secretary were quite new to him, and probably that might to some extent have induced him to give a little further consideration to the matter as one of the Board of General Purposes; but the remarks of the Past Grand Master were very reasonable and if the subject were referred to each individual lodge throughout the kingdom for its opinion, the great probability was that the increase would be objected to. He did not think he ought to take into consideration only the feelings of the private lodges, but rather the circumstance whether the increase would inflict an injury on the degree itself. If it could be proved that the proposition before Grand Lodge would be of advantage to the Order generally it ought to be adopted. Taking into consideration also the amount that had to be paid for certificate fees in all the other degrees of Freemasonry they knew of, Grand Mark Lodge might expect from its private lodges that a certificate fee of the smallest golden coin of the realm would not be objected to. The expenses of Grand Lodge it had been admitted had greatly increased, and it was merely with a view of meeting the increased expenditure that the proposal was made to increase the fees.

The motion was carried, there being but nine hands held up for Bro. Sabine's amendment.

Bro. H. C. Levander proposed the second recommendation of the Report, to increase the fees of Honour.

Bro. Charles Horsley having seconded the motion, it was carried.

Bro. D. M. Dewar moved and Bro. Wilkins seconded the adoption of the third recommendation, which was also carried.

Bro. Charles Horsley, in moving the fourth recommendation, hoped that the next annual festival in aid of the Mark Benevolent Fund would be such a one and under such high patronage as to be supported by every Mark Mason.

The motion was carried, after having been seconded by Bro. S. Rosenthal.

Bro. the Rev. A. B. Fraser moved the fifth recommendation.

Bro. R. H. Thrupp seconded it, and it was adopted without discussion.

Bro. Thomas Meggy moved the sixth recommendation, with regard to the appointment of Assistant Grand Secretary. The time had now arrived when this Grand Lodge, having reference to the important and numerous duties which devolved on the Grand Secretary and the dignity of his work, thought the Assistant Grand Secretary should be empowered to sign for him. This was so when Grand Mark Lodge was first established. The appointment was however for some reason or other dropped during the last few years; but as the work of Grand Secretary's office had increased so much it was incumbent on Grand Lodge to invest the Assistant Grand Secretary with some distinction like the officers of Grand Lodge.

Bro. James Stevens seconded the proposition.

The Acting Grand Master: I need not say that if Grand Lodge approves of this, the appointment having been sanctioned by Grand Lodge will be under the same incidents as the other appointments of Grand Lodge, excepting the Grand Treasurer's, viz., that it will be at the disposal of the Grand Master.

Carried unanimously.

Bro. Portal said that before bringing before Grand Lodge, the motion that stood in his name, "That the Fee of Honour payable by the Grand Stewards be £1 1s." That no Provincial Fees be in future recoverable from private Lodges during the year when there has been no meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge. He wished to say he thought it a very great pity when the General Board made its recommendation that the Benevolent Fund Festival should be held in July, they were not able to fix the day on which it should be held, because it was impossible for brethren at the beginning of the year to make a note of it in their diaries and secure the attendance of the friends they wished to bring with them. The subject had been talked over at the Board, but, as everyone knew, the Masonic Festivals came so thickly that when an appointment for a given day was mentioned, some brother was sure to start up and say "Oh! but such and such a festival falls on that day." He hoped however that at some future meeting they would be able to fix a day that might not be changed from year to year, by which means brethren would be able to prepare themselves. As regarded the first motion, that the Stewards' fee be a guinea, he had forgotten that already the Grand Stewards were put to considerable expense in bearing their share of the cost of the festival, and he would withdraw that motion. With regard to the second, the brethren had heard of the discussion that had arisen at the Board on the dispute between the Provincial Grand Lodge of Madras and British Burmah, and the private lodge there. The Board had really no option in arriving at the decision it had come to, for after consulting with Bro.

Hervey, Grand Secretary of Grand Craft Lodge, they found the same course would have been taken if a similar dispute had arisen in Craft Masonry. He thought it was a very great grievance to private lodges to be asked to pay fees for work done when that work was never done; and he was glad to see so many Provincial Grand Masters present to hear what he was saying. The Prov. Grand Masters from the colonies were not concerned in the question of raising the fees; but unfortunately Provincial Grand Lodges in the colonies did not meet so regularly as they might. This was not the case with the home Provincial Grand Lodges, for the Provincial Grand Masters were very diligent in holding their lodges regularly, but it would be a great boon if they were held at stated times, and a great stimulus to Provincial Grand Masters. He brought forward his motion because he thought the matter contained in it was a fair subject for discussion, and he would be very glad to see it passed. They would simply assert the principle that they would not ask persons to pay for a thing which had not happened, which ought to have been done but had not been done.

Bro. Thomas Meggy seconded the motion.

Bro. the Rev. John Huyshe, said: he had been 25 years a Provincial Grand Master and had never on one occasion omitted to hold a Grand Lodge.

Carried unanimously, without discussion.

The festival jewels were then presented by Earl of Limerick to the Stewards. The names of the brethren were Major J. Tanner Davy, Prov. Grand Master for Devonshire; Ed. Thos. Inskip, J.G.D.; T. W. Coffin, G. Sword-bearer; H. W. Binckes, Assist. G. Sec.; R. H. Thrupp, P.P.S.W., Middlesex and Surrey, and Brothers Entwisle, Macher, Sugg and Trigg.

Bro. F. Binckes announced that he had received letters of apology for non-attendance from numerous brethren.

There was one omission he had made which he would immediately supply.

He had just received a letter from Grand Treasurer stating that he was suffering from severe indisposition and would be unable to attend. In his stead, therefore, he (Bro. Binckes) would read the statement of accounts.

The report was received on the motion of Bro. F. Davison, seconded by Bro. Coffin.

Col. Burdett said: that as it had been unanimously agreed that the Benevolent Fund Festival should be held on a fixed day in every year, he would give notice that that day should be the 15th July, the third Wednesday. Of course it would be competent to the Board to alter the day.

Bro. C. Horsley thought that at the same time that they were considering the day they might name the place.

Bro. F. Binckes said: Bro. Horsley should remember that the festival was managed by Stewards, and it would be curtailing their privileges if they were so interfered with.

Bro. Inskip would suggest that it should be held at one or other of the Masonic Institutions, where the inmates would be very glad to see the brethren. It might also be profitable to such Institution.

Bro. Binckes replied that as Secretary of one of those Institutions, although they had a very fine building at Wood Green, they could not accommodate the Mark Benevolent Fund.

Grand Lodge was then closed.

A grand banquet was afterwards partaken of, at which the Rev. G. R. Portal, P.G.M., presided. After the cloth had been cleared grace was sung and the toasts were proposed.

The toast of "The Queen and Mark Masonry" having been disposed of the acting Grand Master in proposing "The Health of the Grand Master" said he was sorry his lordship was not sufficiently well to have presided in Grand Lodge. He was far away in the north of England, but Grand Secretary could inform them that nevertheless Grand Lodge business was never at a standstill on that account.

The Rev. John Huyshe proposed "The Health of the acting Grand Master." He did not mean to say one word against the other Past Grand Masters who were all well deserving of the highest regard and esteem; but he had no hesitation in saying that among them all there was no one who deserved so especially the brethren's esteem as his most excellent friend who now sat in the chair. Out of all the Grand Mark Masters there was not one who had done so much for Mark Masonry as he, and he (Bro. Huyshe) could only hope that others would follow his example.

The Rev. G. R. Portal said he should be the most ungrateful of men if he failed even to be present in Grand Lodge when his presence might be useful to the brethren who had supported him so cordially during his term of office and whose support he looked for during many years to come. He believed they had done right that night by increasing the fees for certificates, for this reason, that they would be enabled to have the appearance of more importance by larger and better offices. As in private life a man's respectability derived no little aid from the respectability of the house he lived in, so would Mark Grand Lodge be aided in its respectability by the premises it occupied. They were about to have a handsome suite of rooms where lodges might be held at a merely nominal price, where every facility would be afforded except the facility of getting refreshment. Ultimately he hoped they would have a name and habitation of their own, which could only be done by investing capital, and they might put by £100 a year for that purpose, private lodges would not then be the losers by the increase in the fees.

The Rev. G. R. Portal then proposed "The Past Grand Masters," and apologised for the absence of Earl Limerick from the table, which was caused by considerable ill-health. He congratulated Grand Lodge on having obtained the adhesion of the last of the Mark lodges working under the Scotch Constitution. This lodge was held at Bristol in Lord Limerick's own province, and that very morning the Grand Master's warrant had been sent there. The adhesion of this Lodge was greatly due to Lord Limerick. He would connect with this toast the name of the Grand Secretary who had the rank of Past Junior Grand Warden. The Mark degree was most fortunate in having so hard-working a body of officers as it had; but he attributed that to the way in which the Grand Lodge appointments were made. Brethren instead of being chosen for ornamental or honorary reasons they were selected according as they had shewn their zeal for the Order by their hard work.

Bro. F. Binckes, in responding, said; I speak with the almost sincerity regarded from either point of view when I say, Most Worshipful Grand Master, that I rise to respond to the toast you have just now so kindly given, with mingled feelings of regret and of pride—with regret that by unquestionably the accident of circumstances over which, no doubt, not one of those distinguished brethren had any control, no one more qualified to respond to this toast is present than myself;—with pride that I have been singled out by the position I hold to have my name coupled with the toast which has just been recommended for the brethren's reception by the Grand Master. And that pride is not diminished when I know and feel that by the exercise of the prerogative vested in our Grand Master, he chose to single me out for a distinguished honour, which I shall value as long as life is spared to me; by which prerogative I am the senior Past Grand Officer present. I look around this room, and I look at the meeting we had upstairs, and I say that the position I occupy is one which any man might be proud of, that many men may envy perhaps, and that all may indulge in the hope they may arrive at. The gist of our Most Worshipful Grand Master's observations was this, that hard and persevering work will ensure to every man, no matter what his station, a great and honourable reward. I am satisfied that we have had at the head of this Order no Grand Master who would ever distribute his honours wantonly or without due consideration, but who has always made it his earnest study to give to all matters his best consideration, to see where merit could be found. When that merit has been found it has always been rewarded.

Now, my observations as far as this goes do not apply to myself, for I know I owe a great deal to the kindness of the brother who has presided over us as Grand Master to-night; but there was one special occasion when his firmness and gentleness were of immeasurable value. His kindness I shall never forget, and he thought me worthy of the high honour which I now hold. I cannot surely be deemed guilty of egotism in acknowledging this kindness of our Grand Master, or of pride in saying how gratefully I bear the honour that distinguished brother has bestowed on me, and surely if my position to-night is an accidental one, no brother, however distinguished, will envy me. In Grand Mark Lodge we have no undue influences brought to bear on these appointments. In our Grand Mark Lodge merit, work, labour, zeal, exertion, are the simple passports to our highest honours. Let us always bear this in mind. We see it and know it. It is practically brought to bear upon us year by year, as our Grand Masters succeed each other. If this continue to be the case, and this is understood, we never can fail to have a large number of brethren duly qualified; and those brethren when appointed, duly sensible of the honours conferred upon them. I look round this table to-night—I speak on behalf of a large number of distinguished brethren—and I see brethren who, if I speak dispassionately, by the work they have done for the degree have no honour which they have not deserved. But I feel sure their services have been cheerfully rendered, and they have earned for themselves the honours they bear upon their breasts, and the orders they wear on the clothing that adorns them. They have been rewarded to a certain extent for the duties they have performed, and if they know within themselves they have earned by their own work those distinctions, so much the more qualified must they be to take part in the working of Grand Lodge than those who have been elevated by the exercise of caprice or favour. On behalf of Deputy Grand Master, whose absence we so much regret, but whose services we must acknowledge for the way in which he discharged his duties upstairs—for I know I shall be confirmed by you when I say I never saw a meeting presided over with more firmness on the one hand, and consideration on the other, when one little slight step might have created a great difficulty. I beg to thank you. I think we ought to be very proud of our Grand Mark Masters. I will take our acting Grand Master to-night, Lord Limerick, as a fair sample of what our Grand Master's have been, what our Grand Master is and what our Grand Masters will be, and what the Grand Officers present and past are. It is a unanimous opinion that the Mark Grand Lodge is the model body as regards Masonic legislation and Masonic working. We made at one time a protest, and we said to another body we would endeavour to make one of our own. With what success have we done it? With 7,000 enrolled Mark Masons on our register can any man regret that? Having put his hand to the Mark Masonic plough will he look back and desert it? I am sure he would not do so. Worshipful Master and brethren, you have paid me a very high honour by calling on me to respond to the toast of "The Deputy Grand Master and past and present Grand Officers." I look upon it as a very high compliment and I never was more proud than when I heard you say so. I only wish they had had a more eloquent, but they certainly could not have had a more honest or more truthful mouth-piece than myself. I say for them all we value our offices and we will shew you good proof that we do value them by the work we intend to render in the future. (cheers.)

The toast of "The Provincial Grand Masters," was responded to by Major J. Tanner Davy, and "The Mark Benevolent Fund," by Bro. Meggy, after which the brethren separated.

There was a choice selection of music performed under the direction of Bro. John Read, P.G.Org., by Bros. Lord, Evison, Gilby, and Hubbard, and Miss Ward, and the evening was a very pleasant one from beginning to end.

UNITED GRAND LODGE.

United Grand Lodge of Freemasons of England met on Wednesday evening at Freemasons' Hall, the M.W. the Grand Master, the Marquess of Ripon, presiding. The Rev. John Huyshe, Prov. Grand Master of Devon, occupied the S.W. chair; Col. Whitwell, M.P., the J.W.; while Dr. Hamilton, District Grand Master of Jamaica, acted as Deputy Grand Master, and the Earl of Limerick, Provincial Grand Master of Bristol, as Past Grand Master. Past Grand Officers were not very numerous; but the Lodge below the dais was well attended by Grand Stewards, and the Masters, Past Masters, and Wardens, of private lodges. Among the brethren present were Sir Albert Woods, G.D.C.; Æ. J. McIntyre, Q.C., G.R.; the Revs. A. B. Fraser, C. J. Martyn, and R. J. Simpson; Bros. R. J. Spiers, J. M. Clabon, Joshua Nunn, F. A. Philbrick, W. Glaisher, W. Pratt, H. Browse, Hyde Pullen, Wilhelm Ganz, T. Fenn, E. J. Saunders, Benj. Head, Brackstone Baker, N. Bradford, James Mason, Raynham W. Stewart, and Dr. Jabez Hogg.

Grand Secretary having read the minutes of last Quarterly Communication held in September, they were put to Grand Lodge and confirmed.

The nomination of Grand Master for the ensuing year, was the next business on the paper.

Bro. Standish Grove Grady rose and said: Brethren, I rise with feelings of very great gratification to nominate the most worshipful the Grand Master, as Grand Master for the ensuing year; and I feel quite certain that that nomination will give the greatest satisfaction to the Craft in general. (Applause.)

The M.W.G.M. I now appoint Bro. Clabon as President of the Lodge of Benevolence for the ensuing year (applause). The next business is the election of a Senior and Junior Vice-President of the Lodge of Benevolence.

The Grand Secretary: As there are no other nominations for the office of Senior and Junior Vice-President than those already in office, they will be as follows:—

Senior Vice-President, Bro. Joshua Nunn, P.G.S.B., Junior Vice-President, Bro. James Brett, P.G.P.

The M.W.G.M.: There being no other brethren nominated for those offices, those two brethren are elected.

The election of 12 Past Masters, to serve on the Lodge of Benevolence, for the ensuing year, was the next business on the paper, but as no other names were proposed than those of the brethren composing the present Board that body was re-elected for another year.

The Report of the Lodge of Benevolence for the last quarter, contained recommendations for the following grants, viz:—The widow of a Brother of the Lodge of Freedom, No. 77, Gravesend, £100; a Brother of the St. James' Union Lodge, No. 180, London, £50; and a Brother of the Holy Temple Lodge, No. 412, Longtown, £50. Brother Hervey having read the Report.

Bro. Joshua Nunn moved, and Bro. J. M. Clabon seconded the first two recommendations, and Bro. Nunn moved and Bro. John Savage seconded the third.

The first two having been carried, Bro. John Savage wished to make a few remarks about the third. He perfectly agreed with Bro. Nunn in what he had said regarding the services the brother to whom the amount of £50 was to be granted had rendered, but he should be glad if the money which it was intended to give the petitioner, could be entrusted to two brethren whom he (Bro. Savage) named. He agreed in the recommendation, but wished Bro. Nunn to add this point to the vote.

After a few words from Bro. Raynham W. Stewart, P.G.D.,

Bro. J. M. Clabon said that it was quite competent to the Board to direct into whose hands the money should go without such an addition to the vote. The Board frequently found that it would be imprudent to hand the money to the petitioners themselves, and as they always wished to do what was best for those petitioners they placed the money in hands where it would be used to the greatest advantage.

The motion was carried nem. con.

Bro. Æ. J. McIntyre, G.R., in the absence of Bro. Horace Lloyd, president of the Board of General Purposes, through illness, moved the taking as read and the adoption of the following Report of the Board:—

To the United Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of England.

The Board of General Purposes have the honour to report that they have received from the Board of Directors of the Freemasons' Tavern Company, Limited, a Resolution under the common seal of that Company, accepting, with their thanks, the reduction of rent which the Board of General Purposes were authorized to offer to the Company, and upon the terms attached to such offer. The Board of General Purposes have instructed the Solicitor of the Trustees of Grand Lodge, to prepare the necessary document for giving effect to the arrangement for this reduction of rent, the expense of which the Company have bound themselves to pay.

(Signed) HORACE LLOYD,
President.

PRESENTATION TO BRO. FRANCIS BENNOCH, F.S.A.

An interesting gathering took place on Friday evening, at the Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen-street, the occasion being the presentation of a testimonial to Bro. Francis Bennoch, the originator of, and honorary secretary to the Refugees' Benevolent Fund. Alderman Sir Thomas Dakin, Bart., presided.

The testimonial consisted of a handsome photographic Album, containing the portraits and signatures of the members of the committee of the fund.

The toast of "The Queen and Prince of Wales" having been duly honoured, the Chairman gave the toast of the evening, "The health of Mr. Bennoch." He said that they no doubt all recollected the stirring events of the French and Prussian war, and the unexpected results which followed from it. It was a very great satisfaction to him to think that at that time the English mind was deeply touched by the troubles and disasters of our near neighbour, our ancient ally, and he hoped he might say our sincere friend for all future time. The original conception of the idea was due to Mr. Bennoch, who put a stirring statement into the public prints in October, 1870, the result of which was that upwards of £10,000 was raised, and more than 7,000 cases were enquired into and relieved. Each case was thoroughly investigated, and although, of course, no one could do such a work without the assistance of a committee, still Mr. Bennoch had the faculty of fixing on those who had administrative power like him. Nothing could have been more happy than the working of the machinery employed by him, particularly the ladies' committee, under the direction of Lady Lothian. The presentation then took place, and the toast was drunk with three times three.

Bro. Bennoch in acknowledgment of the compliment which had been paid him, said that nothing could be more in accordance with his feelings than that memorial of the dear friends who had been associated with him in this work. Alderman Besley placed the Mansion House at his service, and Sir Thomas Dakin moved the first resolution at the meeting which was held there. His (Bro. Bennoch's) only merit was the conception of the idea of the fund, which was forced upon him by the sight of the great national calamity which had happened across the Channel. The chief merit of the good accomplished was due to the committee, who for seven months daily attended at his office and examined into the more than 7,000 cases which were relieved. He bore testimony to the help given by Lady Lothian and the other ladies, and said nothing could have exceeded their charity and philanthropy during the seven months that their labours lasted. It was an exceedingly pleasant gift which they had presented to him, and he thanked them most heartily for it.

A number of toasts were afterwards given.

ANNUAL FESTIVAL OF THE EMULATION LODGE OF IMPROVEMENT.

This prosperous and harmonious lodge celebrated its annual festival at the Freemasons' Hall, on Friday, the 28th inst., under the presidency of Bro. Lieut. Col. Francis Burdett, Prov. Grand Master for Middlesex, Past Senior Grand Warden, who was supported upon] the auspicious occasion by the following distinguished brethren:—Capt. William Platt, G.J.W.; John Hervey, G. Sec.; F. A. Philbrick, G.D.; B. Head, P.G.D.; Bent, G. Chaplain; Wendt, G. Sec. German Correspondence, H. Dumas, P.G.D.; C. A. Murton, P.G.J.D.; T. Fenn, P.A.G.D.C.; W. Ganz, G. Organist; J. C. Parkinson, D. Prov. G.M. Middlesex; Rosenthal, P. Prov. G.S.W. Middlesex; A. A. Richards, Prov. J.G.W. Middlesex; S. G. Grady, G. Steward, W.M.; J. Gibson, P.G. Steward; J. A. Rucker, V. P. Board of G.P.; Erasmus Wilson, S.D.; Henry Muggeridge, E. March, P.G.S., P.M. 99; A. Green, Sec.; and F. Binckes, Sec. Boys' School.

The lodge having been opened in the first and second degrees, was worked in sections by the following brethren:—

- 1st Section Bro. W. Smallpeice, W.M. 1395.
2nd " " J. Muzio, J.D. 1150.
3rd " " Dr. Erasmus Wilson, S.D. 2.
4th " " G. E. Wainwright, W.M. 1370.
5th " " T. Fenn, P.A.G.D.C.

The above Sections were worked in an admirable style, and were so successfully accomplished, that the proceedings will not soon be forgotten by those whose privilege it was to be present. After this the lodge was closed in due form, and a vote of thanks was passed to the worthy brethren.

The brethren then adjourned to the spacious banqueting hall, where upwards of 200 sat down to an excellent banquet, at which Col. Burdett presided.

After the removal of the cloth, the Chairman in proposing "The Queen, and the Craft" said the first toast that I have to propose this evening is one that is always received among Masons with the greatest pleasure. I know you are all loyal subjects, and our Sovereign Lady the Queen is most excellent, and we all appreciate her virtues, therefore I give you "The Health of Her Majesty the Queen," and I couple with that "The Craft."

The Chairman said, the next toast is "The health of one of the most leading persons in the Kingdom, and leading member of our Order, "The Marquess of Ripon, M.W.G.M." It is unnecessary for me to say anything in his praise, he is appreciated by all of us, and is a nobleman of whom we all feel proud.

The toast was duly honoured.

The Chairman: I have now to call your attention to a toast which I am sure you will all receive with pleasure. We have for a long time been governed by the Marquess of Ripon, and he has been supported by his Deputy the Earl of Carnarvon, not only by him, but has been supported by his Grand Officers, both past and present, and it is with extreme pleasure, I propose the "Deputy, the Grand Masters, past and present, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, and I couple with that toast the Duke of Edinburgh, who is about to be allied to one of the greatest Princesses [in Europe, I therefore have great pleasure in drinking the healths of the Prince of Wales, Present and Past Grand Officers, and I also beg to couple with that toast our G.J.W., Bro. Platt.

The toast having been drunk,

Bro. Platt, in rising to return thanks, said I return you thanks on behalf of the officers, both past and present, and also for the kind manner in which you have been pleased to receive my name. The able way in which the second lecture was worked must have improved the memories of juniors, and refreshed the seniors amongst us. As one of the seniors I have been greatly instructed, and I am sure we all have been benefitted by the proficiency that has been displayed this night. I beg to tender to you all my most cordial thanks, and I hope union will exist amongst you all till time shall be no more. (Cheers.)

The Chairman: Brethren, the next toast I shall propose gives me a deal of pleasure, and requires the eloquence of some brother more able to do it than myself, and I feel confident it may be done in more glowing terms, yet no one can do it with more earnestness than I shall; not only what has been done this night, we feel sure it is not an unexceptional case but one of frequent practice. Come when you will you will always find it worked well. (Cheers.) Therefore, I have great pleasure in asking you to drink "Success to the Emulation Lodge of Improvement."

The toast having been honoured, Bro. Platt replied. He said: Worshipful Sir and brethren, I have a very pleasing duty to perform, that is to propose the health of a brother whose endeavours to promote the welfare of Masonry have been appreciated by all. The brother whom I refer to sits on my left hand (cheers), and who has kindly consented to preside over this Lodge of Improvement to-night. He is a lover of the cause, and has always shown great zeal in furthering Masonry. He has distinguished himself as a Mason, and has proved faithful to his brethren: I shall therefore ask you to drink his health with all the fervency which his works do claim (cheers).

The toast having been honoured, Bro. Lieut. Col. Francis Burdett, who was loudly cheered, said: Brethren, I assure you it is very gratifying to endeavour, as far as I can, to promote the interests of Masonry. I feel I do not deserve such an high compliment. You have received me very kindly indeed, and I find that you are all brethren, not only by Masonry, but in heart. Whether in London and provinces, or elsewhere, I have always met with such kindly feeling. I have been gratified and feel much flattered, but have been pleased to be allowed to preside over this lodge. I have around me some of the best working Masons in England. (Hear, hear.) We are here to undertake the duties of instructing others to what Masons should be. I am sure the admirable working of to-night will induce young Masons to acquire the knowledge that has been exhibited; and will also induce them to follow in the footsteps of those who have gone before. I beg to return you my sincere thanks for the honour you have conferred upon me by drinking so heartily my health. (Cheers.)

Rev. B. Bent, G. Chap., in rising said: Worshipful Sir and Brethren, I have to propose a toast which will require but very few words on my part. You cannot be insensible to the duty we owe to the lodge under whose auspices this Lodge of improvement works. I ask you to drink "Success to the Lodge of Unions," and couple with it the W.M.

The toast was drunk with the greatest cordiality.

Bro. Green: Brethren, I must say that the principal part of my knowledge has been imparted to me from the Emulation Lodge of Improvement.

Bro. J. Hervey on rising said: Brethren, allow me to propose a toast; under the present circumstances there is no better person in the room to propose it than myself. It is not from any assumption on my part; being one of the oldest members of the Emulation Lodge. I beg to propose success to the sister Lodges of Instruction. We pride ourselves on our work, we do our best to bring up those who are sucking Masons in the way they ought. (Laughter.) We cannot be insensible to the fact that other lodges of instruction in this great city are as much entitled to our praise as our own. I am glad to see Bro. Muggeridge present. (Cheers.) Brethren we may be good, I think we are, at least I hope so. The brethren present do their best to promulgate the interests of Masonry in their districts; and I am sure we do our duty in the West Central District. I wish all our sister Lodges success, and that they may do in their districts the same as we are doing in ours. I, therefore, propose "Success to all other Sister Lodges," and couple with that toast the name of my good friend, Bro. Muggeridge. (Loud cheers.)

Bro. Muggeridge, on rising, said: It is with very much pleasure I rise to thank you for the kind manner in which the toast has been proposed and responded to, but at the same time I cannot state anything fresh, I can repeat the old story, should like to say something new, I feel highly gratified for the kind manner you have drunk my health. I have attended my lodge for 35 years. I again thank you and the committee for the very kind compliment that has been paid me. I am always pleased to hear of the prosperity of the Emulation Lodge of Improvement, It has been very gratifying to me to see the excellent working that has been exhibited by the brethren that have worked; it reflects great credit to them. I again thank you most sincerely for your kind manner in responding to the toast.

Bro. Philbrick: Worshipful Sir, and Brethren, I cannot make a witty speech, yet I can make a short one. We have witnessed to night what an intelligent appreciation of the ritual of our craft can produce. We feel proud of the distinguishing features of our Order, and the grand principles on which Masonry is founded, viz., Charity. It will flourish through all storms, it is to this great principle we attribute the great permanency of Masonry. Although this Lodge of Emulation teaches us the ritual of the Order, we must not forget the charity on which it rests I beg to mention the name of Bro. Binckes, a name only to be used among Masons; also that of our Bro. Terry;—I therefore propose "The Masonic Charities."

Bro. Binckes, in responding said, I shall make a very short speech indeed. I am well contented with this toast. After a few remarks on the claims of the Great Masonic Institutions, our much respected brother sat down amidst loud applause.

Bro. Terry, who was loudly cheered, said: I am not in the habit of addressing such a large assembly as our Bro. Binckes. After some remarks on the coming festival in the ensuing year, he trusted that those brethren who have not made up their minds to support it, will do so. We have plenty to do in the Benevolent Institution. Great success has been made in the past year, and I trust that yet further exertions will be made, and we shall be able to show that such exertions were not in vain. I beg to return you my sincere and hearty thanks. (Applause.)

The Chairman: Brethren, we know that no office can go on without its officers, I therefore need make no explanation, for you all are aware of the able manner in which this lodge is worked. I shall therefore propose the health of "The Officers of the Lodge of Emulation, and also Bro. Smallpeice."

Bro. Smallpeice: I thank you for the kind manner in which you have drunk my health, and it gives me pleasure to take this opportunity of publicly expressing my sincerest thanks to the brethren of the Lodge of Emulation.

The Chairman: The stewards have done a great deal to make us comfortable, and I believe you are all willing to appreciate their exertions. We cannot do less than to express our best thanks to them. It gives me pleasure to propose the health of "The Stewards of the Emulation Lodge of Improvement." (Cheers.)

Bro. Fenn: I thank you for the kind compliment you have paid to my work. We are all anxious to promote the interests of this lodge in Masonry. I may say that we thoroughly appreciate the kind manner in which you have expressed this evening. (Cheers.)

The Tyler's toast was given, which brought the proceedings to a close. We may add, the whole of the proceedings was a great success, and the brethren expressed themselves highly delighted.

The officers were most courteous, and won the favour of all by the warmth of their reception. They exerted themselves praiseworthy to make all comfortable, and Bro. Fenn afforded whatever information was required.

There are in connection with the College

THREE ANNUAL EXHIBITIONS,

open for general competition to all students, and tenable for three years.

Special Classes are formed for preparing students for the Legal, Medical, Home, Colonial, and Indian Civil Service Examinations; and for entrance to Woolwich, Coopers-hill, and the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, Dublin, Durham, and Edinburgh.

The Religious Teaching is based on strictly Protestant Principles, in accordance with the Doctrines and Liturgy of the Church of England.

Students requiring a commercial education only, are exempt from the classical course, if desired.

The year consists of two terms, during which there are no holidays, the only vacations being at Midsummer and Christmas.

The use of all class books, valuable library, stationery (except mathematical instruments) laundry, &c., is included in the terms. No Extras of any kind.

The High School—Students from 16 to 23 years of age.

The Middle School—Students from 12 to 16 years of age.

The Preparatory School—Students under 12 years of age.

The College is divided into three sections. In the

PREPARATORY SCHOOL

(entirely distinct, but contiguous)

Boys are well grounded in the elements of a sound English Education, with French and German (also in Latin and Greek if for the learned professions), and prepared for the High or Middle School. In the High School the course of study is a preparation for the Universities and the various competitive examinations; while the Middle School trains pupils in such subjects as will qualify them for scientific and commercial pursuits.

Alston College is pleasantly situated, about six miles from Preston, and half a mile from Longridge Railway Station; is in immediate proximity to beautiful mountain scenery, within half an hour's ride of the chief watering places on the western coast of Lancashire, and is considered by Medical Professors to be in one of the healthiest localities in England—a fact sufficiently proved by the remarkably good health enjoyed by the students and regularly confirmed by the half-yearly medical reports.

Extensive Cricket Grounds are attached to the College Farms, whilst a spacious covered Gymnasium and Student's Hall, available for recreation, drill, &c., adjoin.

Reports of all examinations, together with the names of those students who have distinguished themselves at the College and the Universities, as Exhibitors, Medalists and prizemen, also the reports of the late examinations, together with views of the College buildings, and all necessary information, forwarded on application to the Rector, or to

Mr. GEORGE CLIFFORD, Secretary.

References kindly permitted to Bro. Masons, and to the late Examiners: Rev. T. H. Lindsay Leary, M.A., D.C.L. (Oxon), Assistant Examiner to Her Majesty's Civil Service Commission, Crawford Cottage, Epsom; T. W. Eyre Evans, Esq., LL.D.T.C.D., Nightingale Villa, Lower Norwood; and other University Examiners; Professor Pagel, Liverpool; R. Routledge, Esq., B.S.F.C.S., Manchester; also the Protestant Clergy, Nobility, and Professional Gentlemen (parents of present pupils) in London, Manchester, Liverpool, Birmingham, Leeds, Bradford, Bognor, Preston, Burnley, Chester, Lancaster, Boston (Lincoln), Wigan, Harrogate, Accrington, Haslingden, Kendal, Southport, Todmorden, &c., and various other towns; the Continent of Europe, the colonies, New York, and the United States, Brazil, Cuba, &c., who can bear ample testimony to the merits and success of this College.

Next term commences the 7th August, 1873.

GROSBY'S BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR. CROSBY'S BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR.

Opium, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief in Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling the digestive organs, and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy. SELECT TESTIMONIAL. Dr. Rooke, Scarborough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdued cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease." This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Night Sweats of Consumption, Quinsey, and all affections of the throat and chest. Sold in bottles at 1s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, by all respectable Chemists, and wholesale by Jas. M. Crosby, Chemist, Scarborough. *Invaluable should read Crosby's Prize Treatise on "Diseases of the Lungs and Air-Vessels," a copy of which can be had Gratis of all Chemists.

The annual festival of the lodge was fixed to be held on the first Monday in January, when it was understood the ceremony of installing the W.M., would be performed by Bro. W. Romaine Callendar, Dep. man, proposed by Bro. Emra Holmes, seconded by Bro. George, which was unanimous, and the candidate being in attendance, he was duly initiated into the mysteries of Masonry. On the lodge being raised to the third degree, Bro. Allen, having first proved his proficiency in the former degrees, was raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason; both ceremonies being most impressively performed by Bro. Sanderson, who is the life and soul of Masonry in Suffolk. Bro. Peter de Lande Long was afterwards installed with all ceremonial into the chair of K.S. by Bro. Lockwood, D.P.G.M., and proceeded to appoint the following as officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. A. D. George, S.W.; J. Burton, J.W.; Rev. A. W. G. Moore, S.D.; H. Miller, J.D.; Rev. J. Tweed, I.G.; Rev. R. N. Sanderson, Chap.; Emra Holmes, M.C. In consequence of a death in the family of the W.M., St. John's Festival, which was to have been celebrated on this occasion, was postponed sine die, but the usual supper was numerously attended.

WINDSOR.—Etonian Lodge (No. 209).—The regular meeting of this old and improving Lodge was held on Tuesday, the 2nd inst., at the Royal Adelaide Hotel. At the request of the W.M., Brother J. Wilson, P.M., presided. The lodge having been opened in the first degree, the minutes of the two previous meetings having been read and confirmed, the ballot was taken for Bro. A. Pears as a candidate for initiation, which having been unanimous, he was duly admitted into the light of Freemasonry. The ballot was then taken for Bros. Webster and Baker as joining members, which was declared by the W.M. to be unanimous. The lodge was then opened in the second degree when Bros. W. S. Nicholls and C. Barkshire were examined in the usual questions and intrusted with the passing grip and word leading from the second to the third degree. They then retired to be prepared. The lodge was then opened in the third degree, and they were re-admitted and most impressively raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason. The lodge was then resumed to the first degree when the ballot was taken for the W.M. for the ensuing year. As Bro. W. Bladon the S.W., expressed a wish not to go into the chair on the present occasion, the ballot ended in favour of Bro. G. W. Dixon, Prov. G. Steward, Berks and Bucks, and J.W. of the lodge. Bro. Dixon then thanked the W.M. and brethren for the honour they had shewn him, and at the same time expressed his regret that Bro. Bladon had not accepted the honour he had so fairly earned. The ballot was then taken for the Treasurer, when Bro. J. S. Pullin, P.M., was unanimously re-elected. It was then proposed by Bro. Dixon and seconded by the W.M., Bro. J. Rein, that Bros. J. O. Carter and C. D. Hume be elected auditors of the current year's accounts. This was carried nem. con. The lodge was then closed in due form by the W.M., and the brethren adjourned for refreshments. The lodge was opened in due form at 6 p.m., and after the minutes of the last meeting had been read and confirmed, the lodge was opened in the second degree, and then raised to the third degree. The W.M., Capt. Kearsley, then proceeded to install his successor, the S.W., Bro. T. H. Bradwell, in the E. chair. The ceremony was admirably done, and the addresses to the W.M. and Wardens given in his usual impressive manner. Brother Mountain was appointed S.W.; Harrison, J.W.; Smith, S.D.; Calvert, J.D.; Dunnington, Secretary, McConochie, Steward; Harland, Organist; and James, I.G. Bro. Stock, who was at the last meeting re-elected Tyler, was invested. Through the unavoidable absence of Bro. P.M. Kendall, who had been re-elected Treasurer, the W.M. was obliged to postpone the investing of him with the badge of his office. The lodge having been closed down to the first degree, the ballot was then taken for Lieutenant E. Fletcher, R.N., of Lodge Union of Malta, 407, and he was unanimously elected a joining member. The new W.M. at once proceeded to show his fitness for office by initiating in excellent style Captain J. S. Brougham. It could not have been better done, and the newly appointed officers also proved that they were up in their work. Captain Kearsley presented the lodge with a copy of the photographic group of the brethren, taken by Bro. Skeolan during last summer; it is in an appropriate frame of oak, carved with Masonic emblems. The lodge was closed about 8.30 in due form, and the brethren adjourned to the Unicorn Hotel, where an excellent supper was provided, and the evening passed off in the usual happy manner.

ST. HELEN'S.—Lodge of Loyalty (No. 897).—The annual Installation meeting of this lodge was held on Tuesday, 2nd ult., at the Fleece Hotel, St. Helen's, when a good attendance of members and visitors evinced the high esteem and respect in which is held the re-elected W.M., Bro. William Lester. The lodge having been duly opened and some routine business disposed of, Bro. J. Hamer, P.P.G.T., proceeded to re-install the W.M. elect, and at its close received a warm vote of thanks for his efficient rendering of the ceremony. The W.M. then named and invested the following brethren as his officers for the ensuing year. Bros. P. P. Dunn, S.W.; H. S. L. Gurney, J.W.; C. C. Wilson, S.D.; J. S. White, J.D.; W. J. Marion, Sec.; H. Rawlinson, S.S.; J. Molyneux, J.S. The banquet, which gave every satisfaction in its arrangements, was then held, and closed at about nine o'clock p.m. The W.M. in responding to the toast of the evening alluded to the great honour done to the lodge by the recent visit of Prov. G. Lodge, and spoke very hopefully of a successful future for Lodge 892. "The Visitors" was acknowledged by Bro. L. W. P. Fowler, P.P.A.D.C.; Bro. R. Young, W.M., 1384; and Bro. Cadman.

DENBIGH (NORTH WALES).—Royal Denbigh Lodge (No. 1143).—The brethren of this lodge held their installation meeting at the Town Hall, Denbigh, on the 28th ult., a large number of brethren greeting this important occasion by their presence. During the Mastership of Bro. Martin Underwood, the lodge has had the pleasure of obtaining for the widow and children of a gallant British officer named Rainer a grant of £20 from the Grand Lodge Fund of Benevolence, although the deceased brother had no connection with Denbigh, but had become a Freemason in England before going to Jamaica, and the family had recently come to reside in the town with a view to educational conveniences. Again, the oldest son of a deceased brother of the Lodge of St. Tudno, and a well-esteemed Welchman in Denbigh, as elsewhere (the late Mr. J. Willmott Rees), on the application of his devoted mother, Mrs. Wilmot Rees, obtained the unanimous vote of the lodge for admission to that noble Masonic Institution for orphan children at Woodgreen, with best wishes for success. The lodge also for the first time became a subscriber to the funds of that institution during the past year. Bro. M. Underwood can, therefore, upon leaving Denbigh for London, look with satisfaction to his period of office as having been a truly Masonic year, and as having brought into play all those qualities for which the Craft is so justly noted. The W.M. elect, Bro. Robert James Sisson, of Talardy, Flintshire, is really a Mason born of the Royal Denbigh Lodge, and a most worthy successor of those excellent Masters who have from the first installation filled the chair, once occupied by the illustrious Grand Master of England, the late Duke of Sussex, grand uncle to H.R.H. the Past Grand Master. That which speaks a language for Masonry which may be understood by all brethren throughout the world in the fact that the eldest son of the new worthy Master, Mr. John Pope Sisson, connected by his mother's side with Cambridgeshire, has been proposed by the W.M. as a candidate for the mysteries of Masonry. We think, therefore, those who have a doubt of that status, that position and advantage which Masonry holds in the world, will, when this is brought before them, say that there is nothing in Masonry which a father need keep from his much beloved, but show him all in Masonry which widely should be known by everyone deserving of the privilege. The Board of Installed Masters on the present occasion included every Past Master of the lodge, viz., Bro. John Preece, P.P.G.S.W. North Wales and Shropshire, of the National Provincial Bank of England, Lichfield; Bro. Robert Vaughan Williams, M.A., P.P.G.S.W., North Wales and Shropshire, County Court Judge; Bro. John Copner Wynne Edwards, P.P.G.J.W., North Wales and Shropshire, Bro. John Ormiston, Wigfair, Flintshire; Bro. the Rev. John Henry Roberts, M.A., Head Master, Denbigh Grammar School; Bro. Richard Lloyd Williams, County Surveyor, and Bro. Martin Underwood, artist architect. Bro. Preece in due form proceeded with the installation, which was well performed, and elicited encomiums from all present. The lodge business being ended, the brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet, Mrs. Lloyd, hostess of the Bull Hotel, being highly praised for her catering. The W.M. was supported on the right and left by the Past Masters of the lodge, Bro. the Rev. J. H. Roberts, being Chaplain, and amongst the rest of the company were:—Bros. Dr. J. R. Hughes, S.W.; Thomas Sleight, J.W.; Dr. Llewelyn Lodge, S.D.; Bro. Dr. Evan Pierce Williams, J.D.; John Davies, Vale-street, I.G.; J. Parry Jones, the Worshipful the Mayor of Denbigh, Treasurer; Robert Harrison, Steward; Stephen Rosse, Samuel Perks, Rhyl; Robert Davies, Leanfairtalhaiarn; Francis Wynne, Town Clerk of Denbigh; Peter Thompson, Coed Coch, Abercele; William Lloyd, Junior, Well-street, Ruthen; Edwin Shelton Jones, Denbighshire Infirmary; and others. The usual complimentary toasts and speeches followed the repast, including a bumper toast to the new W.M., and probably the happiest evening the lodge has ever known resulted, in the course of which Bro. P. M. Vaughan Williams paid a most deserving tribute to "the father of the lodge." He said, Worshipful Sir, I rise with a mixture of pleasure, and at the same time with fear, that I shall not do right justice to the toast which I have the honour to propose. It is the health of one I would sooner propose than of any other in this room. I propose to you "Health and success to the father of this lodge, Bro. Preece." (Great applause.) If any one deserves the name, Preece is the name that will always be thought of as that of the father of this lodge, for had it not been for worthy John Preece I do not think that the Royal Denbigh Lodge would have been reborn. (Great applause.) And certainly his devoted spirit is attached to it; so useful and so successful has the lodge become. (Renewed applause.) With full knowledge of the facts, I beg to say we are the most successful lodge in North Wales. (Great applause.) And that is owing to the time, to the earnestness, the devotion with which he tried to bring it up, and the anxiety with which he taught Masonry, and the principles of Masonry to the lodge. (Applause.) We all derived benefit from him. I had been a Mason, and others here had been Masons, but I say whatever we may have known, we knew but little of the practical principles of Masonry until this lodge was reborn of Bro. Preece. (Applause.) Under his tuition as first Master I learned a great deal, not, let me say, of the cant of Masonry—because there is cant in everything in this world—but of the true duty and principles which belong to Freemasonry, and I endeavoured to discharge that duty and observe those principles during my year of office, as my successors have done to the best of my ability. (Great applause.) We all gladly acknowledge that it is owing mainly to Bro. Preece that the true spirit of Masonry pervades this lodge; and that is why we always ought, as we always do, show him the greatest welcome that we can show as Christians and Masons whenever he shows his bright masonic-looking face amongst us. (Great applause.) May he succeed in whatever part of the world he lives, and have time to come now and then to help to bring us up, and keep us in the way we should go in Masonry. (Great applause.) Brethren, I speak thus, not for the sake of simply saying complimentary words; but I speak the feelings of my inmost heart when I pray, long may he live, and strengthened for the day may he be, to raise up and help Masonry forward; and may he come here often, and have as good and cordial a welcome ever as I am sure every brother of the lodge present and absent most heartily gives him. The toast was drunk with Masonic honours, and eloquently responded to by Bro. Preece. It may be mentioned that in connexion with the fund of benevolence raised in this lodge, the feeling of many of the members was to propose at the next meeting that a subscription of £10 be given to the fund which is now being most kindly collected by Mr. R. C. B. Clough, Borough Surveyor of Denbigh, on behalf of the respected widow and family of the late Bro. Minshall, of the Crown Hotel, who was a member of the Llandudno Lodge before coming to reside at Denbigh.

HAMPTON.—Lebanon Lodge (No. 1326).—On Thursday, November 20th, the regular meeting of this prosperous lodge was held. Brother William Hammond, P.M. 201, W.M., presided. There were present during the afternoon and evening Bros. H. T. Dubois, P.G. Steward, Middlesex, S.W.; J. W. Jackson, J.W.; S. Wickens, P.M., Treasurer; F. Walters, P.G. Steward, P.M., Secretary; E. Gilbert, S.D.; and some forty others. The only visitor was Bro. Davage, W.M. 201. The agenda paper was reduced by Bro. F. Walters, P.G. Steward Middlesex, P.M., Secretary, raising Bros. J. Johnson, J. V. Watkins, and J. Laurence, and initiating Messrs. Ellis and Stone. The W.M., Brother William Hammond, P.M. 201, resumed the throne of K.S., and initiated Messrs. Tagg and Larking and passed Brothers W. Mitchell and Josias Laurence. The privileges and rank of honorary Past Master were abolished, on account of the great expense they entailed on the lodge. The following Stewards were appointed Bros. J. Hurst and J. Newton, for Benevolent Institution; H. A. Dubois, P.G. Steward Middlesex, S.W., for Boys' School; William Hammond, P.M. 201, W.M., for Girls' School. It was arranged that no more meetings would be held until next May. The work was, as usual at this lodge, well done. Refreshment followed labour.

EBURY LODGE (No. 1348).—An emergency meeting of this flourishing lodge was held on Friday, November 21st, for the purpose of relieving the agenda paper of Tuesday, November 25th, when the installation ceremony had to be done. There were present Brothers Bourne, P.M., W.M.; J. Summers, S.W., and W.M. elect; E. Jacobs, as J.W.; John Coutts, P.G.P., P.M., Treasurer; J. Elliott, Secretary; G. Stacey, Organist; T. J. Ireton, I.G.; F. Harrison, Steward; and a large number of other members. These following gentlemen were initiated, viz., Messrs. W. F. P. Maturin, W. W. Thomson, W. J. Gosden, W. H. Robinson, and W. Clifford. The ceremony was well rendered, the music adding much to its beauty. The lodge was adjourned to the following Tuesday. Nothing deterred by a notice on summons that those attending cold collation would have to pay for same, all present remained. The usual toasts were given. The W.M. elect and the Treasurer especially distinguishing themselves by the eloquent manner in which they proposed and responded to the toasts of the evening, some of them being special ones, which were received with enthusiasm. In consequence of the numerous applications for initiation at this lodge it is expected the fees will be increased to not less than ten, but probably fifteen guineas and eventually a higher sum. The lodge has been founded in such an excellent manner by its father, Brother John Coutts, and his friends, that a genuine success has been the result of the labour bestowed. A very good and efficient lodge, well worthy of the Order, has been added to its roll.

MILLOM.—Whitwell Lodge (No. 1390).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held at the Masonic-room, Millom, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 18th. Bro. Thomas Dodgson, W.M., P.M. 945, and P.G.S.S. C. and W., in the chair, who was supported by Bros. Roger Dodgson, P.M. 1390, P. Prov. G.S.B. C. and W. and P.S.W. 995; John Mills, S.W., P.G.S.B. C. and W.; J. Meridith, J.W.; James Rostelthwaite, Sec.; H. M. Meakin, S.D.; W. Crook, J.D.; Holloway, Org.; Waiting, S.S.; Bell, J.S.; Whiteside, I.G., and P.M. 1398; with many more brethren, members of the lodge, and Bro. McKay, visitor, of Union Lodge, Kendal No. 120. The minutes of last regular lodge were read and duly confirmed; the lodge was opened in the second degree, and Bros. Lang, and George Smith, having satisfactorily answered the questions entitling them to be raised to the sublime degree, were fully entrusted and retired, the lodge was then raised, and Bro. Lance was admitted, and raised to the sublime degree of a Master Mason by Bro. T. Dodgson, the W.M., in a most impressive manner, Bro. Dodgson; then occupied the chair of K.S., and raised Bro. George Mills in a manner at which the brethren felt much surprised. Bro. T. Dodgson then took the chair for Union Lodge, No. 120, and finally closed the lodge with solemn prayer at 10.15.

SHEERNESS-ON-SEA.—Adam's Chapter (No. 158).—The annual meeting of this old and flourishing chapter, was held on Tuesday, the 25th of November, in the Masonic Hall, Sheerness-on-Sea, where a full attendance of officers, and a goodly number of companions attended, Comps. T. Hughes, M.E.Z.; J. Bagshaw, H.; S. L. Townsend, P.Z.; A. Spears, I.P.Z.; S. Townsend, P.Z.; T. Captain Sheppard, R.A., P.Z.; A. Oyston, Scribe E.; G. Beckwith, N.; Wm. Tailford, P.S.; and others. The chapter was opened in ancient form at 5 p.m. when the minutes of the convocation held in August, were read and confirmed. All companions below the rank of Installed First Principals, then retired from the chapter, when the ceremony of installing the Three Principals, was proceeded with; Comps. J. Bagshaw, M.E.Z.; S. L. Townsend, P.Z.; Wm. Pennell, J. The companions were then admitted and the following officers duly invested:—Comps. J. Townsend, P.Z.; J. A. Oysten, Scribe E.; Wm. Tailford, Scribe N.; J. Woodly, P.S.; S. Nunn, First Assistant; D. Ashforth, Second Assistant. The installation ceremony was performed by Comps. A. Spears, P.Z., in an efficient and impressive manner. Bro. Wigans, being a candidate for exaltation to this Supreme Degree, having been elected in the convocation in August, was duly brought forward, and exalted to the degree of a R.A. Mason. The exaltation ceremony was most ably performed by Comp. J. Bagshaw, the New M.E.Z., and the other two Principals, assisted by Comp. T. Hughes, I.P.Z. Great praise is due to Comp. Bagshaw, M.E.Z., for his energy and zeal, and in performing the duties of the First Principal's chair for the first time. The dues for the ensuing year were then taken, and the labours of the evening being thus ended, the chapter was closed in ancient form, Comp. A. Spears, P.Z., giving the parting address. The companions then adjourned to the Britannia Inn to banquet, provided by Mrs. Green (widow of our late lamented Comp. J. G. Green, P.Z.), in her usual excellent style, the viands and wines being of first-class quality, and gave great satisfaction to all. Eighteen companions sat down to table, presided over by the M.E.Z., Comp. Bagshaw. After the companions had done due justice to the excellent banquet, and the cloth removed, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given in true R.A. style. After which several of the companions amused and entertained the company with several songs, recitations and speeches. Comp. A. Spears, P.Z., in proposing the toast of the Father of the Chapter, Comp. J. Townsend, P.Z., and Treasurer, said that in proposing the health of our aged companion, it naturally leads the mind back to the early history of man, when our mysteries were blended in the secret rites and ceremonies of that worship rendered to the Deity in all the various forms then practised by the priests and magii of the different sects of philosophers, in the early ages; these handing them down through the long vista of time, were taken hold of by those craftsmen of the middle ages to bind themselves together for one grand object. Those men who erected those glorious cathedrals throughout Europe, and that stand to this day as monuments of their talents and zeal, and in later times these mysteries were made the foundation of this grand superstructure of morality and virtue now held by us. This toast was received with great applause, and feeling, responded to by Comp. S. L. Townsend, P.Z., and who is the next oldest member of the Chapter, in his usual excellent style. After spending a pleasant evening together, the companions separated, well pleased with their entertainment.

IPSWICH.—Royal Sussex Chapter (No. 376).—The usual quarterly convocation of the chapter was holden at the Masonic Hall, Ipswich, Dec. 3rd, when there was an unusually large number of companions present. Godbold, of the Perfect Friendship Lodge, were elected, received, obligated, and exalted as companions of the Holy Royal Arch, the deeply impressive ceremony being performed with his usual skill by Comp. Wright, P.Z.; Marriott, P.Z.; Dr. Mills, P.Z.; J. Pitcher, P.Z.; G. S. Finchley, P.Z.; D. Fraser, P.Z.; A. Smith, Richmond, &c. Tinney, 1319; and Pritchard, 1319, were duly exalted into the Royal Arch Chapter. Comps. Tinney and Pritchard were appointed Assistant Sojourners, and Comp. Little was elected honorary member. LEICESTER.—Fowke Lodge (No. 19).—The bi-monthly meeting of this lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, on Thursday, the 27th ult., for the transaction of the regular lodge business, and also for the reception of the Provincial Grand Mark Lodge. The Chair of A. was occupied by the W.M., Bro. William Weare, who was supported by his I.P.M., Bro. S. S. Partridge, Prov. G. Sec.; the S. and J. Wardens, Bros. Toller, and McAlister; the Treasurer, Bro. C. Stretton, Grand Steward; the Hon. Sec. Bro. Baines, and a fair attendance of the other officers and members. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the Provincial Grand Mark Lodge was received, and the business of that lodge was proceeded with, the present Provincial Grand Master, Bro. W. Kelly, whose time of office expires on the 5th inst., being unanimously chosen for re-appointment by the M.W.G.M.M.M. After the Grand Lodge had been closed, the Fowke Lodge was resumed and the remaining business of the meeting disposed of. Two brethren were proposed for advancement, and a vote of two guineas as a donation to the Girls' School, was voted to be placed on Bro. Waite's list, he having undertaken to represent the Craft Provincial Grand Lodge as Steward at the next festival of the above Institution. The lodge was then closed in due form and in perfect harmony, Knights of Malta.

IPSWICH.—Priory of Prudence.—On Wednesday the 29th ult., the annual meeting of this old priory was held at the Masonic Hall, Ipswich, present Sir Knights Emra Holmes, Past Grand Provost of England; Prov. Rev. R. N. Sanderson, Sub Prior, Norfolk and Cambridge; J. Pitcher, Captain General; Dr. Mills, Lieutenant General; G. S. Findley, Chancellor, S. B. King, 2nd Lieutenant, &c. The minutes of the last meeting having been accepted as correctly recorded, the priory having first been duly opened and the muster roll called, the Sir Knights proceeded to ballot for Sir Knight George Richard Scopes, of the Prudence Preceptory, who being accepted, was duly admitted to the Mediterranean Pass, and afterwards conducted by the Marshal, was received and installed a Knight of Malta, the interesting ceremony being performed in his usual impressive manner by Sir Knight Sanderson. The Sir Knights having resumed their stalls the usual business was proceeded with, and Sir Knight Holmes suggested to the Fratres that after the next meeting of the Prudence Preceptory in January next, when Sir Knight Mills would be installed as Preceptor, a Priory should be holden for the purpose of installing him as Prior at the same time, as by the new statutes of the Convent General the Preceptor for the time being is ipso facto Prior of the Priory, if a Knight of Malta. The Sir Knights afterwards assembled round the festive board when the Prior proposed in due course "The Queen, Patron of the United Orders of the Temple and Hospital;" "The Prince of Wales, Grand Master," "The Earl of Limerick, Great Prior of England;" and "Captain Philips," the popular Prior of Norfolk and Cambridge, all of which toasts were duly honoured. He afterwards gave "The Health of the Sub-Prior, Sir Knight Sanderson," and spoke in the most eulogistic terms of that worthy and distinguished member of the Order, who replied as modestly as is his wont, and deprecated the flattering terms in which his health was given. Sir Knight Holmes then proposed the newly installed Companion-in-arms of the Order of Malta, Sir Knight Scopes, and impressed upon him the dignity of the Order he had now been privileged to join. Sir Knight Scopes responded briefly, and expressed the great pleasure he felt in being admitted as a Knight Templar and Knight of Malta. A very pleasant hour or two was spent discussing matters of interest to the assembled Fratres as to the regulations of Convent General and Great Priory, &c., and the Sir Knights separated at a reasonable hour.

Ancient and Accepted Rite.

bers of the council for their attendance and assistance, the chapter was closed in due form, and the brethren proceeded to the new Royal Masonic Hall (Café Royale), where a splendid banquet was served, the menu surpassing anything of the kind usually provided at Masonic banquets. Several toasts were given during the evening, including the "Supreme Council," for whom Capt. Philips responded; the "Past M.W. Sovereigns," acknowledged by Col. Burdett; the "Visitors," by Major Clarke; and the "Officers," by Bros. Levander, Fox, and Little. Philip M. Holden, 907; Thomas Massa, P.M. 59; and Jean V. P. Cereche, 142. The honorary grade of Viceroy was subsequently conferred upon Sir Knts. Horsley, Hammerton, Norris, and Cereche, and that of Sovereign upon Sir Knts. C. Stretton, Horsley, Hammerton, Norris, and Cereche. It was intended to confer the K.H.S. and St. John degrees, but owing to the lateness of the hour, those ceremonies had to be omitted. The conclave was then closed, and the Knights adjourned to the banquet, after which the following toasts were duly honoured:—The Queen and the Christian Orders; The Earl of Bective, M. Ill. G. Sov.; The Grand Viceroy, Sir F. Williams, Bart.; The Grand Council, responded to by Colonel Burdett; The Intendant-General and Grand Senators (Sir G. E. Campbell); The M.P.S. (Sir Kt. Sovereigns (Sir Knt. Col. Peters), The Organist (Sir Knt. Parker); and the Sentinel's toast by Comp. J. Gilbert. During the evening Sir Knt. Parker performed most brilliantly on the pianoforte and sang several songs. Sir Knts. Dyer and Marsh also favoured the company with some choice vocal harmony, and all three were very heartily applauded for their kind exertions to please. The next meeting of this conclave will be held on the 2nd March, 1874, on the same day that the Annual Assembly of the General Grand Conclave is convened, previous to which date a Red Cross Ball will take place for the benefit of the Masonic Charities and the Almoner's Fund of the Order.

LIVERPOOL.—Skelmersdale Conclave (No. 77).—An assembly of the Skelmersdale Conclave, was held on Monday, the 1st inst., at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool, and was one of the most successful which has yet been held in this section of the country. Eminent Sir Knt. H. Nelson, M.P.S., occupied the throne; and amongst those present were Sir Knts. J. T. Callow, V.E.; W. Cottrell, J.G.; H. Jackson, H.P.; T. Ashmore, P.S., Treas.; J. McCarthy, Rec.; J. J. Rosa, S. Prefect; J. Skeaf, J. Prefect; C. Leighton, Org.; W. Quayle, Herald; J. Capell, S. Aide; Peter Ball, Sentinel; Dr. J. K. Smith, P.S., D. Int. Gen. for West Lancashire; J. Dawson, T. Large, J. Purvis, William Oldham, J. Wood (Treas. 55, Liverpool Conclave), T. Garrett, H. Burrows, E. Dutch, H. Jones, and J. Gordon. The visitors were Ill. Sir Knt. G. Turner, Int. Gen. for West Lancashire; Sir Knts. T. Clark, V.E., 55 (Liverpool Conclave); W. Cron, 55; and G. H. Turner, 55. After the usual preliminary business, Bros. Ysidore Alvarez, of Lodge 673; L. Johnson, of Lodge 673; and John Burgess, of Lodge 1356, were duly balloted for, and on being declared elected unanimously, were installed according to the impressive ritual of the Order. Very rarely has the working in any conclave been so complete and satisfactory in every respect, and therefore the greatest praise is due to every officer connected with the "Skelmersdale," especial notice being due to the delivery of the historical lecture by Sir Knt. H. Jackson, H.P. A veteran Mason said he was confident that the lodge-room of the Liverpool Temple never looked more striking than on this occasion, and this opinion was doubtless justified by the superb fitting and furnishing of the conclave chamber by Sir Knt. George Kenning, of London and Liverpool. There were several other installations due, and it was resolved that an emergency should be held before the Masonic ball on the 15th prox. The conclave was closed in the greatest harmony, and an excellent repast was subsequently served to about 30 knights of the Order.

FREEMASONRY IN THE MAURITIUS.

Monday, the fourteenth day of July, 1873, was a red letter day in the Masonic annals of Lodge Friendship, and the gathering of the brethren on this interesting occasion was both numerous and influential.

This happy day was due to the presentation of a Past Master's jewel to Right Worshipful Bro. George Dewison R.W.M. of Lodge Friendship for these last three years; to him its members are indebted that this lodge is still extant, for a few years ago when it was on the brink of decay the present Master, then W.S.M., with a Masonic generosity and with much ability, conducted its affairs, and has now raised it to that pitch of respectability which it at present possesses amongst the other lodges of the Island.

On that occasion the lodge was duly opened by Brother Joseph Isaac Cohen de Lissa, the R.W.I.P.M. assisted by Bros. White, S.W.; J. Furlong, J.W.; Nagle, Treasurer; Sharpe, Secretary; Rev. Geo. M'Irvine, Chaplain; V. Crew, S.D.; R. Jones, J.D.; Hawtree, D. of C.; Gelster, I.G.; Giloh, Tyler. There were also present on that auspicious day, Worshipful Bro. Jules Fery, together with many other members and visitors from other lodges.

The business of the evening then commenced with the reception of the Masters, Past Masters, and brethren of different lodges in the Colony and beyond the seas, in the following order.

1. The Worshipful Master, the Past Masters, Officers, and brethren of the British Lodge, No. 736, E.C.
2. The Presiding Brother, Officers, and brethren of Lodge La Paix, G.O. of France.
3. The Immediate Past Master and several brethren of the Lodge La Triple Esperance, G.O. of France.
4. Visiting Brethren of lodges beyond the seas.

After the reading and confirmation of the minutes of the last regular meeting, and as well as that of the emergency meeting of the 16th June last, were read letters from the Very Worshipful Bro. Williamson, P.G. J.W., of the Grand Lodge of England, Past Masters Bewsher, Kyshe, and Rickwood of lodges under the Irish Constitution, regretting their not being able to attend the meeting, and expressing their approval of the presentation of a Past Master's jewel to the R.W. Bro. Levison, and congratulating him on the honour conferred upon him on that auspicious day. Letters of the same tenour and effect were also read from Bro. Sir Charles Farquhar Shand, Knt., Chief Justice, and Bro. Robertson, District Magistrate of Port Louis, as well as from several other distinguished brethren.

The R.W. Bro. in the chair next thanked the Masters, Past Masters, and visiting brethren for the honour of their attendance.

At this stage of the proceedings W.W.B.B. Aitchison, Butler, and Cannonville withdrew from the temple, and subsequently W. Bro. Levison, accompanied by the former, was duly announced, admitted, and received with ample honours, and conducted to his seat by the Masters and Past Masters present in lodge.

The R.W. Bro. De Lissa then addressed the R.W.M. in about the following terms: "R.W. Sir,—It is a most pleasing duty to me on this occasion to have been commissioned by the brethren of this lodge to present to you a testimony of their sympathy and esteem and believe me, Worshipful Sir, it is not through favour that this medal has been subscribed by the members of this lodge, but it is through merit and through the unrelenting zeal and exertion which you have at all times displayed in fulfilling the arduous duties that have devolved upon you for these past three years. It is to my personal knowledge that you joined the Craft in the "British Lodge" at the Cape; since then thirty-five years have elapsed. On your arrival at Mauritius, propelled by the Masonic principles which have since been one of the most distinguished features of your life; you have been one of the founders of the British Lodge, the name of your mother lodge, and have thereby introduced English Masonry in this Island. In that lodge you have already received testimony of the heartfelt sympathy of its members, for whilst Treasurer of that lodge you were presented with a jewel set in diamonds, for your able services during three years, subsequently you have been elected Master of that same lodge for three years, and through your impartiality and your amenity of character, and the display of your Masonic talents, the same voted to you a P.M.'s jewel made of massive gold, which I see at this moment adorns your breast. Another reward awaits your perseverance this evening, Worshipful Sir, for by your ability in conducting the proceedings of this lodge you have raised it to the height it now possesses, you have cast a lustre upon it and moreover have made it respected and revered by all the lodges of this island, for whilst Master of this lodge, from November 1869, to November 1872, you have attended sixty nine meetings, with the exception of one, and it grieves me to say it was owing to the sad calamity that had befallen you at that time, I mean the death of your beloved wife. Twenty-three committees you have presided over during that time, you have made sixty-seven initiations, fifty-three passings, fifty-four raisings, and fifteen affiliations. Judging from the amount of work accomplished by you, Worshipful Sir, we have been led to believe that with your usual modesty you will be pleased to accept this, the P.M.'s jewel subscribed by the members of this lodge for it affords to each and all of us great pleasure to honour him who has with such zeal and impartiality conducted the business of this lodge, for upwards of three years. May the Almighty ever keep you amongst our midst, and bestow every happiness on you.

Bro. de Lissa then advanced to the east, and invested him with P.M.'s jewel presented to him by Lodge Friendship. The jewel is a massive piece of work in gold, of beautiful design. It has three clasps for the three years' services, as R.W.M., of Bro. Levison, and on the back is engraved the following inscription:—"Presented to George Levison, R.W.M. No. 439, S.C., P.M. No. 736, by Lodge Friendship, in testimony of his able services as Right Worshipful Master during three years, and as a token of respect, esteem, and affection. Mauritius, 1873."

The R.W.M. then with emotion returned thanks to the worshipful and other brethren present for the honour of their attendance, in the following terms, addressing himself to Bro. De Lissa:—"R.W. Sir, it is difficult for me to thank you sufficiently for having presided over the lodge on this occasion, and it is difficult for me to express my gratification at seeing so large a number of distinguished visitors at a meeting held in my honour; still more is it difficult for me to find becoming words to impart my sense of gratitude to the brethren of Lodge Friendship for the high distinction they have conferred upon me this evening. It would be affectation on my part were I to declare that I consider myself altogether unworthy of the testimony of respect and esteem which I have received in their name and at your hands, but I can sincerely assure you that I feel that so costly a recognition of the services I have, happily, been able to render the lodge is far beyond my real deserts. Certainly I have worked hard, and I do not think in vain, to maintain the dignity and honour of Lodge Friendship, to encourage fraternal affection among its members, and to promote, as far as laid in my power, the honour and progress of our beloved Craft. But I am fully aware that I have been sometimes wanting in that tact and judgment so necessary to the quiet and successful onward movement of a lodge in a country such as is Mauritius, and impressed with my occasional shortcomings in this respect, I can only appreciate the more the kind feeling and indulgence which, except in rare instances, have been evinced towards me, and the unanimity and hearty good will which have characterised the proceedings of the brethren when deciding to bestow on me the highest honour the Master of a lodge can hope to attain. I am the more happy and grateful at receiving from them so marked a proof of their satisfaction at the manner I have conducted the affairs and directed the working of the lodge, for now nearly four years, since, as is well known to you, my labours of late have, unfortunately been rendered more than usually onerous and anxious, owing to an individual case in our midst of insubordination and an imperfect knowledge of what the principles of Freemasonry demand of all and every one of its members. If I did not resign my position as your Master some time ago it was because I believed I had reason to be proud of what it had been acknowledged I had accomplished for Lodge Friendship, and because I was fully convinced although my decisions were at the moment looked upon as severe, that sooner or later it would be owned they were actually arrived at after an impartial examination of every circumstance connected with the matters brought under my notice, and that I persisted in them in a spirit of perfect honesty, and with a view to the continued honour and dignity of the lodge.—

I thank you most sincerely, Right Worshipful Sir, for your kind and flattering notice of my endeavours to be of use to this and other lodges, and to aid in the spread of the grand principles of our Order. I thank you most sincerely, Worshipful Masters and Past Masters, brethren of the sister lodges, and brethren of lodges beyond the seas, for your attendance at this meeting, and I thank you most sincerely, dear colleagues, officers, and brethren of Lodge Friendship, for the ever-to-be-valued jewel which you yourselves have characterised as a "memento" of esteem, respect, and affection.

In reply to the above address, W. Bro. James Cannonville S.P.R. and Immediate Past Master of the Lodge. La Triple Esperance, G.O. of France, spoke to the following effect:—

"Dear Brethren of Lodge Friendship, when I recollect the kind and fraternal reception I have always met at your hands, I find that I cannot remain silent on this occasion. It would be indeed very difficult for me, nay more, I may say impossible to add anything to the kind, fraternal, and friendly expressions which have just fallen from the lips of Bro. De Lissa, on presenting Bro. Levison, in your name, a jewel as a test of the ability with which he has governed your lodge for the last three or four years, and also as a proof of the high sense of your esteem and respect. Dear Bro. Levison, I beg you will accept these few words as an echo of the feeling I also entertain for you personally, and I hope that your successors in office will follow your good example and thereby obtain the same favour conferred on you on this occasion, and allow me to add that this testimonial cannot fail but to reflect great honour on you, especially as being one of the founders of the Lodge Friendship in Mauritius. I salute you, Worshipful Master, with all honours."

Bro. Seerey, 32°, Consistory of La Triple Esperance, and honorary member of Lodge Friendship, stood up and spoke thus:—

"Brethren, I have made it my duty, and a most pleasing one it is, to come on this occasion to join with you in order to present to our worthy Bro. Levison, a testimony of our esteem and consideration for the services which he has rendered, not only to this lodge in particular, but to Masonry in general. Let me tell you brethren that I have known Bro. Levison for upwards of twenty-five years, and that I have had always with him the most fraternal intercourse, during which interval I have always witnessed the efforts he has made for the benefit of our noble Institution. You know as well as myself that he has been the promoter and one of the founders of the English, Irish, and Scotch lodges which have been established since fifteen years ago. In all those lodges he has already received testimonials of sympathy and esteem, of which we are about to gratify him again to-day. Let the Almighty grant him long life, and may he be at our head for many years to come."

Next to Bro. Seery, the worthy Chaplain of Lodge Friendship spoke to the following effect:—

"He felt it a privilege, and a very gratifying duty, to take part in the proceedings of that evening. He had of late years been less frequently present at lodge meetings than it was his duty to be, the duties of his profession having kept him very much occupied, often by night as well as by day, during seasons and scenes of sickness such as the colony had gone through. But as often as he found that his duty specially claimed his presence at lodge, he was anxious to hasten to the front. That was an occasion when he felt it his bounden duty to come forward and identify himself with those who sought to do honour to their R.W. Master. They had all heard already the varied and substantial grounds on which the brethren had chosen to assemble, and in a tangible way signify their respect for their R.W.M. His merits, his qualifications, his high attainments in Masonry, had been too clearly set forth for him (the speaker) to add many words on that subject. He might just be permitted to say, that he was indebted to R.W. Bro. Levison for his elementary education in Masonry; that he had no other tutor in the various steps of progress he had made in acquiring the mysteries of the Craft, and for the high and honoured position he held in the E. that evening as Chaplain to the lodge; he had the pleasure to acknowledge his indebtedness to the tutor, the professor, the skilful and Right Worshipful (Masonic) Master of Arts, whom they all are now delighted to honour. But he had more to say than that, he must speak of the private worth and social standing of their R.W. brother. Not alone within the circle of the initiated was the name of Levison appreciated and honoured. Not only did it carry its own weight with it in the council rooms of Masonic committees, and the inner temples of Masonic lodges. But among high and low, rich and poor, throughout the city of Port Louis, and the whole colony of Mauritius, no man was better known, and no man's deeds of kindness, friendship, generosity, charity, were more generally acknowledged and appreciated than their R.W.M.'s. For nearly twenty years he (the speaker) had known Brother L. to be regarded by a large circle of friends as little else than a book of reference—a sort of centre-post to whom strangers newly arrived were recommended, friends long tried were attracted, and from whose door the poor and needy were never sent away empty or feeling ungrateful. In fact, if the name of George Levison were to disappear for a single month from No. 16, Church-street;—if G. Levison himself were to plead "leave of absence" for the half of that period—if he were but to take himself off to Bourbon for a brief trip, why the poor of Port Louis would pout, to say the least, some of the rich would be put out a little, and all would say "strange how we do miss him, when is he to be back?" But he was not away to Bourbon on sickleave, or any other leave; he has had no need, thank God, to leave the spot where his best energies had been spent in the advancement of many a good cause, and where his time and means had never been refused to those who needed and sought his counsel and advice; they had him there that evening to bear witness to the truth of the fact virtuti est suum præmium." He felt sure it was the prayer of all present that their R.W.M. might be long spared in our midst to do honour to the name of Masonry, and to adorn the name citizen, friend, benefactor, as he had done in time past.

Bros. Britter, P.M., of the British Lodge, and Wheldon, I.P.M., of the same lodge spoke highly of Bro. Levison, and in eulogistic terms expressed their approval at the presentation of a P.M. jewel to him, and lastly Bro. Aitchison, W.M. of the British Lodge, No. 736, E.C., animated by his Masonic feelings, and furthermore being a colleague of Bro Levison, spoke to the following effect:—

Right Worthy Sir, as the youngest W. Master present, I have purposely deferred addressing my congratulations to you until now, and find that the W.B.B. who have already addressed you have left nothing for me to add, I shall therefore not take up the time of the meeting by reiterating what has been already so well expressed, but I shall content myself and you also, I doubt not, R.W. Sir, by simply endorsing their hearty good wishes and facilitations on this auspicious occasion. Permit me to express, on the part of the British Lodge generally, and of myself personally, the hope that although we cannot expect you to continue much longer that energy and perseverance in the working of the lodges with which you have been so long connected, still we trust that the G.A. of the Universe will long spare you the health to attend our meetings, and thus aid by your presence and advice when required.

A vote of thanks was then proposed by W. Britter P.M., to W. Bro. De Lissa, P.M., 736, and I.P.M. No. 439, S.C., for the able manner he has conducted the business of the evening, which on being put to the vote was carried unanimously.

The lodge was then closed in proper form, and an adjournment was made to the banquetting room, where the brethren mustered in great numbers to felicitate the W.M. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, the W.M., receiving the fraternal congratulations of the assembly.

The last toast brought the pleasant evening's proceedings to a close, and the brethren, happy to meet, sorry to part, happy to meet again, dispersed before high twelve.

A special meeting of this Provincial Grand Lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, on Thursday, the 27th ult., under the auspices of the Fowke Lodge, No. 19, Bro. the Rev. W. Langley, P.G. Chaplain, P.D.P.G.M. in the chair. The business for which the meeting was convened was for the purpose of electing a brother to be nominated to the M.W.G.M.M.M. for appointment as Provincial Grand Master for the ensuing three years, the term of office of the present R.W.P.G.M., Bro. William Kelly, F. R. Hist. S., expiring on the 5th inst. Bro. Alexander, M. Duff, Prov. G.J.W., in a very eulogistic speech, proposed that the R. W. Bro. W. Kelly be nominated for re-appointment, which was seconded by Bro. Clement Stretton, Grand Steward, Prov. G. Treasurer, supported by the acting P.G.M., and carried by acclamation, Apologies for absence were received from the Prov.G.M., and from other officers, after which the lodge was closed.

BROTHERLY LOVE;

BY BRO. WILLIAM CARPENTER, P.M. and P.Z.,

Let brotherly love and its blessings abound,
For our fellowship's more than a name;
The bond that unites us is far from a myth,
Then our unity let us maintain.

But the circle we move in is wide as the world,
Our regards no exclusiveness know,
Our dealings are ever within compass kept,
And the spirit of brotherhood show.

Though some in the byeways of vice may be found,
They are false to the pledges they gave,
They dishonour themselves, vice and virtue confound,

We disclaim them; but still would them save.

If all were but true to the truths they profess,
Neither sham'd nor reproach'd should we be;

The Craft would be honour'd, the world would us bless,
Being won by the virtues they see.

Then let us work on, each one as he can,
Though some may unfaithful be found;
Our duty's the same, though all should prove false.

Let our labours of love, then, abound!

MASONIC BIBLIOGRAPHY.

I am glad to follow up my notice of last week with respect to the rare pamphlet, "Thoughts on Masonry," with the account of a very curious little work, which fell into my hands only a day or two ago. It is entitled

La Muse Philanthropique ou
Collection d'Arettes et des Chansons Composées pour
en Hollande

It has a curious vignette on the title page, with this motto "Tandem fit surculus arbor." The songs are partly in French, and partly in Dutch, one song is dedicated to the Lodge of Hope, at Amsterdam, by N.N., and another by W.S., A.D. 1793. The date of the book is probably 1794 or 1795.

METROPOLITAN LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.—The ceremony of installation will be worked at the above Lodge of Instruction on Friday the 19th inst., at 7 o'clock by Bro. C. F. Hogard, W.M., 205, S.W. 453, and from what we know of the working generally in this lodge we can recommend those brethren seeking knowledge to visit it. The meetings are held throughout the year at the Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, under the Preceptorship of Bro. Stacey, P.M. 80.

The "Bagshaw" Lodge No. 1457 will hold its next meeting this (Saturday) afternoon at 4 o'clock. The banquet will be held at 6.

ROYAL AND SELECT MASTERS.—A warrant for a council at East Stonehouse, Devon, has been granted by the M.P.G.M.

GOOD HEALTH is often the only comfort of the working classes, and without it the wealthy find life, with all its luxuries, scarcely worth their possession. Holloway's ointment, well rubbed upon the chest and back, penetrating the skin, is carried directly to the lungs, and there all noxious particles, tending to produce disease, can be quickly, thoroughly, and permanently neutralized, rendered harmless, or ejected from the system. Holloway's ointment and pills perfectly accomplish this purification; and through the blood thus cleansed, the influence of these wonderful medicaments reaches the remotest part of the human body, and thus cures all disordered action, whether internal or external.—ADVT.

CHARITY VOTING.

We should not have returned to this subject, as we believed, that, enough had been said about it, had it not been for the report of a meeting which took place at the Westminster Palace Hotel, on the 2nd inst., Sir R. A. Alcock, in the chair.

At that meeting, it appears from the fuller report in The Times, resolutions were eventually agreed to, or rather perhaps a resolution, embodying the following point:—

1. That in electing candidates to charitable institutions, it is desirable, in order to prevent trafficking in votes, that voting papers should be forwarded to each subscriber a short time before the elections, and that all such voting papers be returned direct to the managers of the charities; 2, that, as far as possible, canvassing for votes should be discouraged, but that the full description of each case and the names of the subscribers nominating the case be inserted in the voting paper; it is moreover expedient that the names of the candidates so nominated should be classified, after investigation, according to the best judgement of the Committee on their relative claims; 3, that the public polling day, involving the attendance of the candidates and their relatives and friends, should be discontinued, and that the result of each election, having been duly arrived at by proper scrutiny, be declared by publication in one or more of the principal journals, and by special circular addressed to each candidate, or to the nearest relative of each candidate."

During the discussion, a speech was made by Dr. Jabez Hogg, which is as follows, and which we consider deserves notice for his allusion to a Masonic Charity.

Bro. Jabez Hogg, in seconding the resolution, dwelt upon the demoralizing effect of the existing method of conducting the elections of charities. He pointed out that in the case of an institution with which he was connected, for the relief of the widows and orphans of medical men, the most deserving cases were selected for relief without any reference to the subscribers, adding that the charity was distributed in the most satisfactory manner. He mentioned also the case of a charity connected with the Masonic body, in which the system of open voting and that of selection of applicants by a committee prevailed, observing that the work done by the Committee was far more efficient where the sole object was to afford relief in the most deserving cases.

We should be extremely glad to know to which Masonic Charity Dr. Jabez Hogg alludes, as the fact, if it be a fact, is entirely new to us. We do not see that much of what is new or important was brought forward by the promoters of the meeting.

Our worthy Bro. R. J. Simpson, P.G.C., made, we note, a very energetic speech, "more suo," but, which appears to us rather an undeserved attack on the managers of our charities, and the present voting system.

He said that in dealing with so grave a question, involving as it did, the happiness of their fellow-creatures, it was most desirable to avoid anything like petty personalities. It was by abstaining from all irritating language that they could best secure the co-operation of managers of the charities. A great many persons felt—and among the number was the Earl of Derby, whom he had seen only a few hours before—that it was not desirable, at all events for the present, to do anything more than to endeavour to remove the great abuses which attached to the system of working and which prevented anything like a healthy action. As to the system itself, he did not think any manager would contend that it was a pure and simple charity. It was, perhaps, at the same time necessary to make allowance for a system which had grown up for many years, and not at once to produce a revolution, which would not only unsettle the charities themselves, but which might diminish to some extent the sympathy with which they were regarded. Besides, the legal difficulties in the way of abolishing the existing system were very great, if not insuperable. Under those circumstances, the obvious course for those who were in favour of a change was simply to seek to reform that which they could not destroy. He must at the same time point out that those were no mere theorists who maintained that charities could stand without the voting system, and in support of that view he might instance the national refuges and the Queen-street workshops and other institutions which had flourished 20 years without it, and which were increasing in prosperity. But what the promoters of the present movement proposed to do was, as he said, not to destroy, but reform, by allowing no trafficking in votes, no canvassing, and no public polling days. Canvassing was a gross abuse, for if one person sent out printed papers, the whole of the candidates must do the same, at a cost of at least £10 each. English independence had, he would add, been sadly sapped by the present pauperising system, and the whole proceedings were nothing but a travesty of charity. (Hear, hear.)

We all of us know what is said about the "zeal of converts," and we think that our good brother, in his excellent intention," overlooks somewhat the practical difficulties of the case. If his own resolution be carried out, the only effect will be, to give practically to the House Committee the selection of the candidates.

The "classification by the Committee," of the cases, after investigation, "according to their best judgment on their respective claims," is after all nothing more and nothing less than a recommendation of the Committee to the subscribers of certain special cases.

We have as much experience as our good brother R. J. Simpson in charitable associations, and we are quite certain of this, that, the proposed changes in the charities can only tend to the diminution of individual regard for, and individual interest in, the respective cases.

We also are equally certain that, many of the abuses are more sensational than real, and we have no hesitation in adding, that, the managers of the various charities are fully competent to manage their own affairs, and are also ready to reform any proved mistake, either in detail or practice,

The charities, as we have said before, have grown with the growth of our country, and are subjects of just pride to all patriotic Englishmen, and are certainly in no way deserving of being termed, as we see they are by our able Bro. R. J. Simpson, "a pauperizing system," and "a travesty of charity."

We hope that the charities will be left alone, despite all the great names of approving absentees at the recent meeting, to pursue the "even tenour of their way" in works of usefulness, beneficence, and of good.

THE IRISH GRAND LODGE CONSTITUTIONS.

It appears, that, in our last article on the subject we did not give quite the correct account of what took place at a recent discussion on the proposed revised laws, and especially as regards Law 133. What really took place appears to be as follows:

It was proposed and seconded when Law 133 was reached, that it should be expunged. Whereupon an amendment was proposed, but on a division was negatived by a decisive majority, and after a long and animated debate, the original question of expurgation was then put and carried by about the same majority. At the meeting of the Grand Lodge next night, (adjourned we presume,) a brother who had been absent at the discussion raised the point, that, as it had been distinctly stated in the notices, no new matter should be raised after 10.30 p.m., the whole discussion was irregular and illegal.

The D.G.M., reserved the point, and finally ruled that the discussion was irregular, contrary to understanding, and the decision invalid. Upon this a protest was tendered, we are given to understand, and referred, we also believe, to the G.M. This no doubt is an entirely new phase of the affair, and if the G.M., as he probably may, holds, that, the proceedings after 10.30 that evening, were informal, and "ultra vires," the discussion on Clause 133 will have to be commenced "de novo."

We have great confidence in the good sense and sound Masonic feelings of our Irish Brethren, and we feel little doubt, but that the result will be the distinct rejection of this most unmasonic Clause. We cannot pretend to conceive or understand, how such a provision ever got into Craft Regulations, or what good purpose it is supposed to serve. It is contrary to every principle of Masonic or civil jurisprudence, and is as retrograde a principle as it ever has been our lot to peruse or to criticise. Let us hope that we have heard the last of it, and that we may witness the assertion of the simple and equitable laws of Craft Masonry, instead of this most untenable proposal, and the unprecedented introduction of alien jurisdictions, among the constitutions and within the portals of a Craft Grand Lodge.

WEEKLY SUMMARY.

Her Majesty the Queen has continued at Windsor, surrounded by a small family circle, including Prince and Princess Louis of Hesse, H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh, and H.R.H. Prince Arthur.

The Prince and Princess of Wales are at Sandringham, where the birthday of the Princess was duly observed, both in a family gathering, and by a large assembly of distinguished visitors, H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh, and H.R.H. the Duke of Cambridge being amongst the number. The festivities were very happily closed by an entertainment to the tenants of Sandringham, and to the tenants of the estates adjacent to that property. The best wishes of the country and of the Masonic body go with that august lady.

Sir Thomas Freemantle, after a long and meritorious public service of nearly fifty years, has resigned the Chairmanship of the Board of Customs, and the name of his successor will be awaited with interest by all who are connected with trade, and by the community at large.

The School Board elections have all, we believe, now closed, except Sheffield which has had no election, and some of the new boards have already commenced their important duties, others will commence them this week.

Sir Garnet Wolseley has been ill of fever, but is better, great preparations are being made for an advance." May good luck attend them, and those two other gallant corps which have left for the Ashantee War!

The 42nd Highlanders, the old "Black Watch" have sailed in the Sarmatian, a large hired transport for the Gold Coast. This fine regiment left Portsmouth and embarked amidst great enthusiasm, H.R.H. Prince Arthur running out in a steam launch, with some officers to bid them farewell off Spithead. Sir A. Alison, and several officers for special service accompanied the 42nd.

The Sacred Harmonic Society has had a most successful representation of Israel in Egypt, under the skilful "Baton" of Sir Michael Costa, and purposes to give the Messiah at Christmas. They are also talking of producing ere long Palestine, by Dr. Crotch, and John the Baptist by Mr. Macfarren.

The Tichborne trial continues, and much admiration is expressed for the exemplary patience of those three distinguished members of the judicial bench who preside over the proceedings, which seem interminable.

Great efforts are made to lighten the effects of the apprehended famine in Bengal, which it is hoped will be successful. Sir George Campbell's resignation is, however, a matter of deep regret.

Lord Colville, who had met with an accident out shooting—it is hoped is doing well, though the surgeons have had to remove an eye which had been struck with the shot.

In foreign news there is not a great deal to record.

France is tranquil, though the debates are many, and that good old soldier, Marshal MacMahon, evidently intends to keep before him General Changarnier's famous declaration, "L'ordre surtout." Some further proceedings have taken place as regards the submarine tunnel between France and England, which, if completed, will certainly constitute a remarkable guarantee for the preservation of peace. The case for the prosecution in the trial of Marshal Bazaine is over, and Maître Lachaud has commenced an eloquent defence for the accused.

The Duke de la Rochefoucauld-Bissaccia has been appointed French Ambassador to London.

The Emperor of Austria has commemorated the 25th anniversary of his accession the throne, amid the enthusiastic plaudits of his people. He came to the supreme power in very troubled times, and has ever maintained the promise of his youth—spent under old Radetzky's care—in the graver and darker scenes of trial and storm. The Empress has left for Godollo, in Hungary, where the Emperor will join her for Christmas. An era of peaceful prosperity seems, happily, to be opening out for the Austrian Empire.

The Virginius case is settled, as between the Spanish Government and the American Administration, but not, it seems, with the authorities at Havannah. If this be so, further complications will inevitably arise. One great and sad fact is, that 16 English subjects, non-combatants, have been illegally sentenced and put to death. Seven remained in prison on October 8th, of whom one was a boy of 10, one of 13 years, one of 15, one of 16, two 19, and one 22 years old.

We have to record the death of Sir George Rose, former a Master in Chancery, and a judge of the Court of Review, and the only survivor of the "Old Westminsters" of the last century. Lord Athlumney's death is also mentioned, better known as Sir William Somerville.

THE ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

The first meeting of the Board of Stewards, appointed to carry out the arrangements for the forthcoming Festival of the above Institution, was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Friday, 5th inst. The Rev. Bro. Cochrane presided. The Rev. C. Martyn was appointed Chairman of the Board of Stewards; Bro. Richards, Treasurer; Bro. Terry, Secretary. A musical committee was also appointed, the amount voted for music being £30; the Stewards' fee, £3 3s.; and the price of the dinner tickets, 21s. Ninety-five brethren have given their names as Stewards, twenty of whom have volunteered as Ladies' Stewards. After a vote of thanks to the chairman, the meeting was adjourned to January 7th, at 4 o'clock.

The Editor of the "Bauhütte" has founded at Florence an establishment for the sale of German and English books. We have much pleasure in introducing the same to the notice of our many readers who may visit the fair city, feeling assured that they will meet with every attention from those in charge. The address is—Messrs. Flor and Findel, German and Foreign Booksellers, 24, Lung Arno Acciajoli, Florence, Italy. Prints, photographs, pictures, and English stationery, are also kept in stock.—ADVT.

A vote of thanks to Comps. G. Elliott, M.P., Z.; J. C. The dinner was well served, and gave every satisfaction to the members and visitors.

A FORESTER'S FUNERAL.—On Saturday last, the 29th ult., the mortal remains of Bro. Arthur Wellesley Weldon, A.O.F., Court Vulcan, 3,245; A.O.S., Sanctuary Knaresborough Castle, and late editor of "The Foresters' Journal," were interred at Norwood Cemetery. Notwithstanding the drenching rain, the procession was most impressive. Headed by the Chief Ranger and Secretaries of Court and Sanctuary, together with the splendid brass band of the City Police, and followed by the other officers of the District and Order in general, in mourning regalia, the cortege was made up with mourning coaches, private carriages, and cabs, containing the relatives of the deceased, and several opulent tradesmen with whom he had been connected in business. About 2,000 residents of the neighbourhood and suburbs, despite the rain, followed as far as Denmark-hill.—The Foresters' Journal.

We would draw the attention of our many readers to the fact that the Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar for 1874, is now ready, price 2s. od. post free 2s. 2d., and may be had at Bro. Kenning's Masonic Depots, or through any respectable bookseller or newsagent.

MASONIC ORPHAN BOYS' SCHOOL, DUBLIN.

The half-yearly general meeting of the Board of Governors of the Masonic Orphan Boys' School, was held at Freemasons' Hall, Molesworth-street, on Thursday, 13th November, 1873, the R.W. the Deputy Grand Master, as Senior Vice-President, in the chair.

The minutes of the previous half-yearly meeting having been read, Bro. George H. Major, Hon. Sec., read the following half-yearly report of the Committee.

"The Committee of the Masonic Orphan Boys' School are happy to be in a position to state that since their last report was laid before the Governors the Institution has made satisfactory progress.

"The abstract of accounts cannot of course be laid before the Governors at the present meeting, as the accounts for the year have not yet been closed; but the Committee are able to say that the life donations and annual subscriptions have, during the present year, been much increased, many brethren who were not previously Governors having become so.

"The Committee have also much pleasure in stating, that during the present year, they have invested the sum of £1,180.

"The Committee have every reason to be satisfied with the care and attention which the boys receive from Bro. the Rev. S. S. Skeen, at whose establishment 16 of the pupils are at present placed, and they are also enabled to report most favourably as to the progress in education the boys have made during the present year. A special examination for prizes, conducted by Bro. Rev. J. A. Galbraith, F.T.C.D., and Bro. Rev. Benjamin Gibson, was held in the month of June last, and the answering of the boys on that occasion was most creditable.

"The Committee regret to state that there are two vacancies among the Trustees of the institution, caused by the deaths of Bros. W. S. Tracy, and E. R. Dignes La Touche, and they would beg to recommend that Bros. Phillip C. Smyle, and Richard O. Armstrong be appointed to fill those vacancies.

"Bro. W. E. Gumbleton, V.P., at a meeting of the Governors of the Masonic Female Orphan School, held in the month of June last, moved that certain additions to, or alterations in the rules of that Institution, should be made, and such having been approved of, the Committee strongly recommend that similar alterations should be made in the rules of this Institution. The following are the new rules, as carried at the meeting of the Governors of the Masonic Female Orphan School:—

"Vice Patrons—Every individual donor of £60 in one sum, or in two sums of £30 each, or of £100 in payments of £10 each, shall be a Vice-Patron.

"Vice-Presidents—Every individual donor of £30 in one sum, or of £50 in sums of not less than £10 each, shall be a Vice-President.

"Extra Votes—All payments made by any brother after he has become a Vice-President shall entitle him to double the number of votes, which such payments would usually give.

"Signed on behalf of the Committee,
James A. Tyrrell, V.P., Chairman.
10th November, 1873."

Proposed by Bro. G. S. Eves, seconded by Bro. F. W. Scott, and resolved—"that the Report now read be received,"

Proposed by Bro. G. H. Major, seconded by Bro. Dr. Dunne, G.O.—"that Bros. Phillip C. Smyly, and Richard Owen Armstrong, be elected Trustees of the institution, in room of William S. Tracy, and E. R. D. La Touche, deceased."

The proposed alterations in the rules were taken as a notice of motion.

Proposed by Bro. C. Foot, seconded by Bro. R. W. Gamble, Q.C., and resolved:—"that the following be the Honorary Officers and Committee of the Institution, for 1874.—

The following report from the Scrutineers of the ballot for the election of three pupils was then read:—

"We, the undersigned Scrutineers of the Ballot, for the election of three pupils, into the Masonic Orphan Boys' School, have to report that with the aid of the Assistant Secretary, we have examined the several voting papers sent in. The total number of papers received was 751, viz:—141 from Life Governors, 450 from Annual Governors, and 161 from Official Governors, of these 25 were from Governors whose subscriptions were unpaid, 5 not being properly signed, 7 received in duplicate, and 3 received late. PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF ARMAGH. PROPOSED NEW MASONIC HALL.

The 27th of November, 1873, will long be remembered as a Masonic red letter day in the history of the brotherhood in and around Armagh. On that day the Provincial Grand Lodge of Monaghan, Louth, and Armagh met in the Tontine Rooms, Armagh, and if interesting business, true fraternity of spirit and feeling, and enthusiasm of the most decided character can make a meeting pleasant, then the gathering on this occasion deserves to be ranked as the best and most memorable of the Masonic Order which has ever been held in this section of the emerald isle. The Irish Mason at his best is a pattern of all that is good, loyal, true, energetic, and harmonious, and every brother present on this occasion—representatives from every portion of the province—displayed all their qualities in a high degree. As a consequence, while there was a noble work to be inaugurated, there was also a harmony and fraternal feeling characterising the whole assembly which made the meeting something like the realisation of a "happy family." The meeting was called for a noble purpose, and that seems likely to be inaugurated and carried out with an enthusiasm and cordiality worthy of the noble name of Freemasonry.

The Provincial Grand Lodge was opened by Bro. Maxwell C. Close, Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, who was supported by an imposing array of P.G. officers, and many of the W.M.'s., P.M.'s., Wardens, and brethren of his province. The chief business of the meeting was the proposal to erect a new Masonic Hall in Armagh, and the universal feeling of the brethren was unanimously in favour of the scheme being carried out without delay. Plans for the new building were submitted, and a committee was appointed to report on the subject to the Grand Lodge at its meeting in Clones, in February next.

At five o'clock about seventy of the brethren again assembled in the Tontine, and sat down to a splendid banquet, prepared by Bro. Bright. The room was tastefully decorated with evergreens, interspersed with various Masonic emblems; and as the brethren marched in from the ante-room two-and-two, wearing their regalia, while Bro. Marks discoursed music on the harmonium, the sight was grand indeed, so much so, that one of the oldest Masons present—indeed, we should say, the oldest—informed us that he did not remember such a splendid gathering of Craft for forty years previous.

The R.W. Prov. G.M., Bro. Maxwell C. Close, presided.

The dinner, which was of a recherché character, and served up in Bro. Bright's usual elegant style, was done ample justice to, after which the R.W.P.G.M. rose and proposed the usual loyal toasts. "The Queen," air—"National Anthem," was warmly received.

In proposing the toast of Bro. "H.R.H. Prince of Wales, Past G.M.," the R.W.P.G.M. observed that the Prince had always shown his attachment to Masonry by the cordial and generous support he had invariably given to the interests of the Craft. Air—"God bless the Prince of Wales."

The toast was received with Masonic salute and cheers.

The next toast was "The Most Worshipful the Grand Master of Ireland," was received very heartily with Masonic salute and cheers.

A part song, specially written for the occasion by Bro. G. H. Smith, Lodge 39, and set to music with quartette arrangement by Bro. T. O. Marks, Mus. Bac., P.G.O., Armagh, entitled "The Grand Old Lights of Masonry," was beautifully rendered by Bros. Clements, Nelson, and Marks, and enthusiastically applauded. An encore was demanded and complied with. The R.W.P.G.M. requested that, as the harmony and music were so good, Bros. Smith and Marks should have the song published at the expense of the Grand Lodge, which they agreed to do. By special permission, obtained by Bro. C. F. Tranter, S.W. 623, we subjoin a copy of the words of the song, which is dedicated to the Duke of Leinster, M.W.G.M. of Ireland.

THE GRAND OLD LIGHTS OF MASONRY.
I.

The grand old lights of Masonry
Still guide us on our way,—
Though rugged be the path we tread
And gloomy be our day;
So still we hail with welcome shout
That good old charter cry,
And drink to Leinster's honoured name
With glass uplifted high.
For we are all true Masons,
Good Masons every one,
Gathered here for pleasure
When our work is done.

Here's to our good Grand Master—long may he live.

II.

For many a year he still has been
Our sure and trusty friend—
For many a year we wish him spared
Our ancient Craft to tend;
With him we'll work in 'peace' and 'love,'
In 'harmony' be blended;
And sorrow deep shall fill our breasts
Whene'er his days are ended.
For we are, &c.

III.

As Masons then we proudly claim
The Duke as "one of ours"—
Long may he lead a happy life
'Mid Carton's lovely flowers:
And when Acacia branch is reared,
Where cold his ashes lie,
May he have joined that Lodge above
Where brethren never die.
For we are, &c.

"The Most Worshipful the Grand Masters of England and Scotland" was next given. Glee—"Lady of Beauty."

Bro. Nicholson proposed "The Right Worshipful the Provincial Grand Lodge." Trio—"Life's a Bumper." The toast was enthusiastically received.

The R.W. Prov. G.M., in acknowledging the toast, observed that he had to return thanks for the hearty co-operation he had always received from the brethren and officers who had charge of the administration of the affairs of the Craft. It was a great pleasure to him to be present there that evening, and to see such a muster of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Armagh. He hoped that it would be an annual meeting, as he believed social re-union helped to foster good fellowship and kindly sympathies between one another. (Applause.)

"The Officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge," and "Our Visiting Brethren," having been given and responded to, the company separated at an early hour, all seeming to have thoroughly enjoyed the proceedings of the evening.

We may mention that the musical portion of the proceedings, which consisted of glees and songs, was admirably rendered by Bros. Clements, Nelson, and Marks. Bro. Wood's name had also appeared in the programme; but the death of a near relative obliged him to be absent. The appreciation of the audience was conveyed to those who had so kindly given their services, by the toast of their health being warmly received.

SURREPTITIOUS CRAFT RITUALS.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

The authors of the surreptitious ritual are not Masons, except in name. The real truth about the matter being that their father was a Mason, who had thrown together certain notes for his own guidance, as I have ascertained. His manuscript became the property of his widow, and was offered to but not purchased by the Wakefield Lodge. The brothers afterwards published it, I wrote to you as soon as your leader on it appeared, but you did not think it desirable to publish my letter.

Of course the Craft would disavow such a publication, and Masonry need not fear such presumed exposures. Masonry does not depend upon ritual, or other publications would long since have been hunted down, and done away with.

The object of these men is only to trade upon the credulity of the masses; but I trust my warning may be felt useful when I say that secret societies, however harmless, should take greater care as to whom they admit into their ranks.

I am, dear Sir and Brother,
KENNETH R. H. MACKENZIE,
Known as "Cryptonimus."

FRUGALITY AND PHILANTHROPY.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

The letter of Bro. H. B. Hodges under the above heading, which appeared in your last issue, contains an imputation upon the members of our honourable fraternity, ascribed as emanating from our universally esteemed Bro. W. Hughan, which in my humble estimation ought not to be permitted to be passed unchallenged. The brethren are charged with using the lodge funds for the purposes of conviviality and are advised to "gratify their tastes in eating and drinking out of their own pockets."

Now, with all due respect to Bros. Hughan and Hodges, I cannot admit, and strongly protest against, such a charge, and deem that advice gratuitous, and even (however unintentionally) offensive.

The bye-laws of every lodge regulate the annual subscriptions in proportion to the number and quality of banquets or suppers the members shall be annually entitled to, and such lodges who deprecate conviviality fix their charges so as to procure only a sufficiency to defray current expenses. This being the case, how can the charge of employing the lodge funds in "eating and drinking" be sustained. Fully recognising the benevolent feelings which prompted Bro. Hodges to pen his remarks, I cannot help accusing him of having permitted his sympathies to override his better judgment, and cause him to make or endorse a statement which cannot in any sense be said to be within the boundaries of truth.

We may safely assume that every brother in the Craft, with scarcely an exception, would cordially assist in any scheme having for its object the augmentation of the Grand Lodge Benevolent Fund, to enable its administrators to extend their operations, but the vast majority would certainly object, and justly too, to any attempt to deprive them of such enjoyments they think proper to subscribe to.

The prevalent mania for curtailing the amusements of people, and the principles which are sought to be enforced to make man solemn whether they like it or not, should not be allowed to creep in amongst us. God knows, most of us are worked hard enough, and enjoy but scant opportunities for holiday making, therefore I should be sorry to see the end of those rare occasions which tended to enliven the drooping spirit, and under whose influence many friendships have been formed and cemented—aye, and through the medium of which, many charitable contributions are procured. It would be out of place, in this communication, to discuss the question as to whether, in any case, money so spent in conviviality, could not be better employed in charitable gifts; that is a matter which each individual must determine. I only wished to protest against an unfounded accusation, and point out that those brethren who delight in the pleasant social gathering which takes place after the business of the lodge is over, and whose health and appetite permit them to enjoy the viands and delicacies which are then provided for them, do not squander the subscriptions appertaining to their lodge, but actually and truly pay for their own pleasures "out of their own pocket."

Yours fraternally,
E. GOTTHEIL, P.M., P.Z.

HONORARY MEMBERS.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir, and Brother,—

Will you or any of your numerous correspondents please to inform me in your next or future issue, in what relation do honorary members of lodges stand with regard to balloting for candidates for admission, they not being subscribing members of the lodge, or in other words "have they the power of voting on such occasions" if not subscribers,

AN ENQUIRER,
Duke of Lancaster Lodge, 1353,
West Lancashire.

BRO. BIGG AND THE MIDDLESEX LODGE.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,

I am a perfect stranger (so far as brethren in the Craft can be strangers to each other) to both the Golden Rule and the Middlesex Lodge, and have never had the advantage of enjoying the hospitality of either, therefore my endeavour on my part to procure an explanation which may have the effect of restoring harmony between Bros. Bigg and Salmon, must be perfectly, (which is as much as to say) fraternally impartial.

May I then ask two questions, replies to which I cannot gather from Bro. Bigg's eloquent address as reported in your columns, but upon the answers thus desiderated I take it Masonic judgment must be based.

1. Assuming that Bro. Bigg was personally unknown to every brother present did he volunteer to undergo examination at the hands of the W.M. or any delegate he might find, and so prove his knowledge of the noble science?

2. Did the W.M. of the Middlesex evince any intention of his wish that the formula usual in such cases should not be departed from, viz., that the Junior Warden should retire with the visiting brother to the ante-room, and there prove his proficiency.

3. Did Bro. Bigg, relying on his rank and experience in the Craft, resent the doubts implied by a proposal that he should undergo the usual examination.

The duties of the W.M. and J.W. are so explicitly enforced, and expressly explained, and specified upon these points that until the Masonic public obtains further information respecting the exact facts of the course pursued on the occasion when Bro. Bigg took offence, it is impossible to say whether Bro. Salmon's conduct deserves censure as boorish and inhospitable, or praise for caution and fidelity.

P.M.

READING THE SCRIPTURES.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I think the repeating "from memory Ecclesiastes xii., verses 1 to 7 inclusive," by the Chaplain, is very appropriate, as noticed by "A P.M.," and worked in the Hertford Lodge, No. 403. But according to the working of all the lodges I have seen, the senior P.M., or any one else, could not possibly "read" that passage, or any other; so that there must be quite a different working in the 403.

I enclose my card, and shall be obliged by your forwarding it to "A P.M.," and I shall be obliged by your correspondent explaining how anyone may "read" the appropriate passage referred to.

I am, yours fraternally,
W.M. 402.

NOT GENERALLY KNOWN.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

The notice in the November number of the "Masonic Magazine" of Bro. Paton's book on Symbolism reminds me that I have something to communicate in that line which is not generally known.

Credulous Masons are not quite so numerous as they used to be, but, nevertheless, we have still quite a number who believe that our ceremonies, symbols, &c., have descended to us, unaltered, from the days of King Solomon. These brethren argue thus: Did not the R.W. Bro. Smith exhort me at my initiation, "as you received it, so you must impart it." Well, and was not Bro. Smith exhorted in the same manner by the R.W. Bro. Jones; and was not Bro. Jones exhorted in like manner by Bro. Robinson. And so on, and so on, each W.M. was exhorted by his predecessor to impart only what was communicated to him. Such being the case, how then was it possible for any Worshipful Master ever to have dared to add, or to subtract a solitary word from the Ritual or Tracing Board marked out by King Solomon himself?

Dr. Winslow Lewis, P.G.M. of Massachusetts, once humourously remarked, when alluding to that class of credulous brethren, "These men," said he, "not only believe that our Ritual was composed by King Solomon, but they are even persuaded that King Solomon composed the Ritual in the English language." Tell one of these men that the Massachusetts Ritual differs, not only from the English Ritual, but also from those in vogue in New York, Philadelphia, &c., and he will answer with a "Bah!" and with a "suppose they do differ a little?" And if you point to a number of symbols on the American tracing board, not found on any other tracing board, and ask who manufactured those symbols, they are either apt to manifest vexation, or they may civilly acknowledge their inability to answer.

Now, if any of my London readers would call at Bro. Kenning's office, and examine an American Masonic Monitor, Manual, or trestle board, decorated with woodcuts, they will see among the woodcuts a group, consisting of a winged angel, a female, and a broken column. I have repeatedly enquired for the origin of that group, and how it came into the American ritual, &c., but with no satisfactory result. Recently, however, I obtained the desired information from P.G.M., John W. Simons, who is also editor of the Masonic department of the New York Dispatch.

But before communicating the information, I may premise that American Masonry is mainly indebted to the genius of Thomas Smith Webb for the rituals of most of our Masonic degrees, and in some instances we are even indebted to the said Bro. Webb for the degrees also, Bro. Webb manufactured the American Royal Arch degrees, which differ from every other R.A. under the sun, he also manufactured the American Knight Templar degrees, and was the author of the first Masonic Monitor ever printed in America. In short, he was looked up to as the most luminous shining light in the United States, and many still believe, that Webb's Monitor approaches nearer to the original manual composed by King Solomon himself, than any other Monitor that has since then been printed.

Bro. Webb was the great instructor of a school of "bright and well-informed Masons," (so-called by one of his scholars). About thirty years ago I remember spending an hour with Bro. Gleeson, at Bro. Charles W. Moore's house, who was introduced to me as one of Webb's disciples, and whose exclusive business was, to travel all over the land and lecture on Masonry. He told me that he had visited England, where he illumed some lodge with an American lecture, and that he was well remunerated by his delighted audience. Bro. Gleeson was really the only one of Webb's pupils who received a college education, but he was either incapable, or too indolent to write an article for a magazine. Bro. Gleeson probably never added, and never omitted a word, from the lectures, &c., he received from Webb; his vocation was that of a lecturer and instructor in all the works appertaining to all the degrees he received from his master, and probably reading Monitors at the same time.

But Bro. Jeremy L. Cross, though he received but an ordinary school education, was the most successful of the whole Masonic arena, including the S. and A. Rite, but was also the originator of that part of the (so-called) "York Rite," known as the "Council degrees." This Bro. Cross, first conceived the fortunate idea of improving his Monitor with pictorial illustrations. I do not know how many editions of his Monitor Bro. Cross disposed of, but I see in one of Bro. W. S. Gardner's orations a quotation from the 16th edition of Cross's Monitor. Well, it was while Bro. Cross was pondering in his mind as to what kind of engravings would be most suitable to adorn his forthcoming work; he happened to stray into the Trinity Churchyard, located in Broadway, New York, and there he noticed placed over one of the graves, a broken column, and I know not what else besides; and it struck him, that some such a picture would make a useful addition to help the sale of his book, and so he had a drawing taken from it, and after making some alterations, had it placed in his book as a Masonic symbol, and Masters in all American Lodges now address the neophytes when conferring the third degree, thus,—"And Masonic tradition informs us that there was erected to his memory a marble monument on which was delineated a broken column, a virgin weeping; before her lay a book open; in her right hand she held a sprig of acacia, her left encircled an urn, and Time behind her, with his hands enfolded in the ringlets of her hair." And I have no doubt, that we may now find, between Maine and Florida, and between the Atlantic and Pacific seaboard, thousands and tens of thousands of credulous brethren, ready to swear that the group as described above, and as delineated on the American tracing boards, was designed by King Solomon, and made by his order.

The fact of Bro. Cross having been the originator of that symbol, as above stated, was obtained by Bro. J. W. Simons from Dr. Robert B. Folger, well known as the author of the history of the Ancient and Accepted Rite, and Bro. Folger has received the information direct from Bro. Jeremy L. Cross himself. On referring to Bro. Folger's history, page 248, and so forth, we find that in 1850 Bros. Folger and Cross conjointly took an active part in one of the Scotch Rite factions which was then battling with other Scotch Rite factions for the mastery of what they called "the Northern jurisdiction of the U.S.," so that there can be no doubt that a clear intimacy subsisted between Bros. Folger and Cross. Besides which, Bro. Folger stands deservedly high as a candid writer and a man of integrity, and I strongly suspect that he is even now combating weekly in Bro. Simon's paper, a ridiculous law passed by the G.L. of New York at its last session. And furthermore, I believe, that Bro. Folger is the author of the interesting article headed "Ancient Accepted Rite," reprinted from the "New York Dispatch," in the November number of your "Masonic Magazine"; there can therefore remain no doubt of the correctness of the information.

We have many other strange symbols on the American tracing board, such as for instance, as the hourglass, scythe, anchor and ark, a beehive, a smoking pot, etc.; whether Cross was also the author of all these pictures, I have not as yet taken the trouble to find out, sufficient, however, has been made known to undermine the belief in the Solomonic authorship of our symbology, and also to show the worthlessness of the so-called Masonic traditions.

Fraternally and respectfully yours,

JACOB NORTON.

CONSECRATION OF A NEW MASONIC HALL IN GLASGOW.

The new Masonic Hall in Trongate, belonging to Lodge Star, (No. 219), was consecrated on the 8th inst., by the Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow. There was a very large attendance of brethren. Bro. F. A. Barrow, Deputy Prov. G.M., occupied the chair, in the unavoidable absence of Bro. W. W. Neilson, Prov. G.M., and was assisted by the following members of the Provincial Grand Lodge, viz:—Bros. William Phillips, acting P.G.S.W.; John Fraser, acting P.G.J.W.; George Thallon, P.G.J.D.; A. McTaggart, M.A., P.G., Sec.; James Walker, P.G. Treas.; Bain, P.G. Bible-bearer; George Sinclair, Treas. to the Benevolent Fund of the P.G. Lodge; Balfour, P.G. Master of Ceremonies; Miller, P.G. Director of Music, &c. Bro. McDonald acted as V.W.P.G. Chaplain. The Provincial Grand Lodge having been opened in due form, the solemn and impressive ceremony of consecration was proceeded with, during which Bro. Barrow delivered an eloquent oration on Masonry. The anthems, psalms, hymns, &c., appropriate to the occasion were ably led by a very efficient choir, under the leadership of Bro. Miller, P.G. Dir. of Music; Bro. A. W. Banks, presiding at the harmonium. The consecration over, the R.W.M., Bro. Wilson, took occasion to thank the D.P.G.M. and members of the P.G. Lodge for their attendance and kindness in officiating in such a masterly style; after which the P.G. Lodge was closed. Immediately thereafter the Lodge "Star" was opened in due form, when the following office-bearers were elected and installed for the ensuing year, viz:—Joseph Wilson, R.W.M.; C. S. Alston, D.M.; William Anderson, S.M.; James A. Logan, S.W.; John Garth, J.W.; P. McDonald, Treasurer; George Miller, Secretary; John White, Chaplain; John Lawrence, B.B.; Ross Rennie, S.D.; Sydney Smith, J.D.; John Gardner, S.S.; James Park, J.S.; John Morgan, P.G.S.; Colin Campbell, Dir. of Mus.; David Mearns, Arch.; A. McNicol, Jeweller; J. Harper, Standard-bearer; J. Wight, Dir. of Cer.; William Elliot, I.G.; James Pearson, J. and T. The Sec. read an elaborate report, from which it appeared that notwithstanding the expense of fitting up this new hall the lodge was out of debt.

Since the opening of the hall they had received no less than fifty-one candidates which proved that the change of locality had been beneficial. Bro. A. T. Barnard, D.P.G.M., then in a very impressive manner installed the R.W.M.; as well at the Depute and Substitute Masters. Bro. A. M. Taggart, M.A., P.G.S., then installed and delivered the charge to the remaining office-bearers. The thanks of the lodge were given to both these distinguished brethren, as well as to the remainder of the P.G.L., for their services in double event.

Bro. Banks replied on behalf of the musical talent and Bro. J. Stuart, of 405, Rifle Lodge of Edinburgh, one of the singers, on behalf of the visiting brethren. The toast of the Press having been given from the chair it was suitably acknowledged by Bros. Wheeler for The Freemason, Furge, for the "Glasgow News," and Mr. Thackery for the "Daily Mail."

The choir, which had rendered such service in the early part of the preceding evening, then took part in some excellent solo singing, particularly Bros. J. Miller, Stubbs, Good, Alexander, Robertson, M. Taggart, and Custance. The Star Lodge will doubtless shine with renewed brilliancy after that truly successful meeting.

At the close of the installation ceremonies the lodge was called to refreshment. Bro. W. Phillips, acting P.G.S.W., replied to the toast of the "Provincial Grand Lodge," Bro. Alon, P.M., gave "The Health of Bro. Robertson," of St. George's, 333, who had on many occasions rendered valuable services to the Star Lodge.

Bro. Robinson, in reply, trusted that while the Star would have a prosperous year, her officers would look more to the quality of her new members than the quantity that might offer themselves for candidates, as that was the way to retain the high position in which they now stood. He concluded by proposing "Prosperity to the Star Lodge, and its R.W.M."

Bro. Wilson briefly replied, and then said it was not often he was supported right and left by two Bros. John Miller's, both R.W.M.'s, in this province, the Masters of 87 and 413. Bro. Miller, 87, said the Thistle and the Star were old friends, the Star had often shed its light on his lodge, while the Thistle, he believed, had helped to defend the Star. (Cheers.) Bro. J. Miller, of the Athol, could not boast of old acquaintance, as this was his first visit, but from the cordial reception he had received they might expect a visit from the Athol men. (Cheers.)

AN INTERESTING PRESENTATION TO THE FREEMASONS OF LIVERPOOL.—The following circular, which has either been or will be sent to and read at all the meetings of lodges in Liverpool, speaks for itself:—"Dear Sir and Brother, at the Town Hall, Nov. 5th, Bro. Samuelson, P.P.G.S.D. of Cheshire, the Mayor of Liverpool, presented to the Masons of Liverpool, through me, and the W.M. of Lodge 32, the chair which was given to him on the occasion of the installation of the R.W. Provincial Grand Master of West Lancashire, the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale. The inscription on the chair, which is as follows, sufficiently indicates the wishes of Bro. Samuelson with regard to it. Presented by Brother Edward Samuelson, Mayor of Liverpool, through Brother Joseph Hornby Birley, J.P. Lancashire, W.M. of the Sefton Lodge, 680, to the Freemasons of Liverpool, to be kept at the Masonic Temple, and to be in the joint custody, and under the joint control of the Worshipful Masters for the time being of St. George's Lodge of Harmony, No. 32, and the Sefton Lodge, 680, of which last-mentioned Lodge the Mayor is a member. Town Hall, Liverpool, Nov. 5th 1873. I shall be much obliged if you will read this communication at your next lodge meeting. I am, sir, yours fraternally, Joseph H Birley, W.M., 683."

The will of Bro. Jabez Samuel Gower, of Leicester Lodge, West Brighton, was proved on the 27th ult., by Mrs. Mary Holford Gower, the relict, Mr. Thomas Watney, and Mr. Edward Henry Sanderson, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £70,000. The testator leaves a pecuniary legacy and his furniture to his wife, legacies of £100 to each of his executors, and portions to his three daughters; the residue he gives to his wife for life, and at her death, as she shall appoint among the children.

Students requiring a commercial education only, are exempt from the classical course, if desired.

The year consists of two terms, during which there are no holidays, the only vacations being at Midsummer and Christmas.

The use of all class books, valuable library, stationery (except mathematical instruments) laundry, &c., is included in the terms. No Extras of any kind.

The High School—Students from 16 to 23 years of age.
The Middle School—Students from 12 to 16 years of age.

The Preparatory School—Students under 12 years of age.

The College is divided into three sections. In the

PREPARATORY SCHOOL

(entirely distinct, but contiguous)

Boys are well grounded in the elements of a sound English Education, with French and German (also in Latin and Greek if for the learned professions), and prepared for the High or Middle School. In the High School the course of study is a preparation for the Universities and the various competitive examinations; while the Middle School trains pupils in such subjects as will qualify them for scientific and commercial pursuits.

Alston College is pleasantly situated, about six miles from Preston, and half a mile from Longridge Railway Station; is in immediate proximity to beautiful mountain scenery, within half an hour's ride of the chief watering places on the western coast of Lancashire, and is considered by Medical Professors to be in one of the healthiest localities in England—a fact sufficiently proved by the remarkably good health enjoyed by the students and regularly confirmed by the half-yearly medical reports.

Extensive Cricket Grounds are attached to the College Farms, whilst a spacious covered Gymnasium and Student's Hall, available for recreation, drill, &c., adjoin.

Reports of all examinations, together with the names of those students who have distinguished themselves at the College and the Universities, as Exhibitioners, Medalists and Prizemen, also the reports of the late examinations, together with views of the College buildings, and all necessary information, forwarded on application to the Rector, or to

Mr. GEORGE CLIFFORD, Secretary.

References kindly permitted to Bro. Masons, and to the late Examiners: Rev. T. H. Lindsay Leary, M.A., D.C.L. (Oxon), Assistant Examiner to Her Majesty's Civil Service Commission, Crawford Cottage, Epsom; T. W. Eyre Evans, Esq., LL.D.T.C.D., Nightingale Villa, Lower Norwood; and other University Examiners; Professor Pagel, Liverpool; R. Next term commences the 31st August, 1873.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

Extract from "INDIAN ECONOMIST."

"We direct the attention of medical men to a fact observed some years since by ourselves, and corroborated by our subsequent experience, that Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is in many cases of Low Fever immensely superior to Quinine in curative power. We cannot persuade ourselves that the true value of Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is yet properly appraised in India. . . . It may be given with absolute safety even to a child three days old. Were medical men but to make a fair and exhaustive trial of it we are persuaded that it would work a revolution in the treatment of two-thirds of the diseases to which children are subject. Its curative power is simply amazing."

"Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he had received a despatch from her Majesty's Consul at Manilla, to the effect that Cholera had been raging fearfully, and that the ONLY remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE."—See Lancet, Dec. 1. 1864.

From W. VESALIUS PETTIGREW, M.D., Hon. F.R.C.S., England,

Formerly Lecturer on Anatomy and Physiology at St. George's School of Medicine.

"I have no hesitation in stating, after a fair trial of Chlorodyne, that I have never met with any medicine so efficacious as an Anti-Spasmodic and Sedative. I have tried it in Consumption, Asthma, Diarrhœa, and other diseases, and am most perfectly satisfied with the results."

From Dr. THOMAS SANDIFORD, Passage West, Cork.

"I will thank you to send me a further supply of Chlorodyne. It was the most efficacious remedy I ever used, affording relief in violent attacks of Spasms within a minute after being taken. One patient in particular, who has suffered for years with periodical attacks of Spasms of a most painful nature, and unable to obtain relief from other remedies, such as opium, &c., finds nothing so prompt and efficacious as Chlorodyne."

From JNO. E. GOULSTONE, M.D., late Principal Surgeon to the Steamship Great Eastern.

"I can confidently state Chlorodyne is an admirable Sedative and Anti-Spasmodic, having used it in Neuralgia, Hysteria, Asthma, and Consumption, with remarkably favourable results. It relieved a fit of Asthma in four minutes, where the patient had suffered eleven years in a most distressing manner, no previous remedy having had so immediate and beneficial an effect."

From Dr. B. J. BOULTON and Co., Horncastle.

"We have made pretty extensive use of Chlorodyne in our practice lately, and look upon it as an excellent direct Sedative and Ant-Spasmodic. It seems to allay pain and irritation in whatever organ, and from whatever cause. It induces a feeling of comfort and quietude not obtainable by any other remedy, and it seems to possess this great advantage over all other sedatives, that it leaves no unpleasant after effects."

J. C. BAKER, Esq., M.D., Bideford.

"It is, without doubt, the most valuable and certain Anodyne we have."

CAUTION.—BEWARE OF PIRACY AND IMITATIONS.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. PAGE WOOD stated that Dr. J. COLLIS BROWN was undoubtedly the Inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the story of the Defendant, Freeman, was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See "Times," 13th July, 1864.

Sold in Bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming Medical Testimony accompanies each Bottle.

COUGH

CROSBY'S
BALSMIC

COUGH ELIXIR.

Opium, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief in Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling the digestive organs, and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S BALSMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy.
SELECT TESTIMONIAL.

Dr. Rooke, Scarborough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdued cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease."

This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Night Sweats of Consumption, Quinsy, and all affections of the throat and chest. Sold in bottles at 1s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, by all respectable Chemists, and wholesale by Jas. M. Crosby, Chemist, Scarborough.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE—Phoenix Lodge (No. 24).—The annual meeting of this lodge was held in the Freemasons' Hall, Queen-street, on Wednesday evening, when R. B. Lutert, was installed W.M. for the ensuing twelve months. Bro. Lutert having been duly placed in the chair, invested the following officers, viz.:—Bro. J. S. Pearson, I.P.M.; Thomas Cairns, S.W.; J. D. Todd, J.W.; J. Riseborough, P.M., Treasurer; J. J. Stiles, P.M., Secretary; W. Hunter, S.D.; B. Caick, J.D.; J. Harrison, I.G.; W. W. Collie, M. Frampton, and C. J. Hall, Stewards. It is worthy of note that the genial Treasurer (Bro. Riseborough) and the energetic Secretary (Bro. Stiles) have each entered upon the tenth year in their respective offices, and they each received the warm congratulations of the brethren on their re-appointment. There was an unusually large attendance of members and visitors, including several Present and Past Provincial Officers, the W. Masters of the St. John's Palatine, and Williamson Lodges, and several Past Masters of the Phoenix and other lodges, who warmly applauded the new W.M. (Bro. Lutert) on his having attained the chair of his lodge, and earnest wishes were expressed by one and all for continued prosperity to this old established and flourishing lodge.

SUNDERLAND.—St. John's Lodge (No. 80).—On Tuesday, 9th inst., the brethren of this lodge met at the Masonic Hall, Park-terrace, when Bro. Thomas Elwen, was installed as W.M. for the ensuing year, and the following officers were appointed, viz.:—James Davison, I.P.M.; H. J. Turnbull, S.W.; James Dobson, J.W.; Thomas Godfordson, Treasurer; T. G. Curray, Sec.; George Young, S.D.; D. P. Huntly, J.D.; J. Lowes, I.G.; J. Thompson, Tyler; G. L. Fox, and J. Herring, Stewards. Thursday se'nnight the regular meeting of the Palatine Lodge, No. 97, was held in the same building, when Bro. S. P. Austin, was installed W.M., and the following brethren were invested with the insignia of the various officers viz.:—R. Humphrey, I.P.M.; T. Younger, S.W.; H. Fryer, J.W.; W. Skelton, P.M., Treas; N. Allen, Secretary; A. Currie, S.D.; T. Sharpe, J.D.; T. Twizell, I.G.; C. W. Robin, O.; J. Thompson, Tyler; Horsfield and Daglish, Stewards; Scarth, and T. E. Hall, Auditors. The annual festival was celebrated the same evening at Bro. Skelton's, when a large number of Past Masters and brethren partook of a very excellent and well-served dinner, provided by the worthy brother, the genial host of the Crown and Sceptre. The newly installed W.M. (Bro. Austin) was in the chair. During the evening, Bro. R. Humphrey, I.P.M. was presented with a handsome Past Master's Jewel, in recognition of the very efficient manner in which he had discharged the duties of W.M. during the past year.

STOCKPORT.—Lodge of St. John (No. 104).—The annual festival of this lodge was held on Monday, the 8th inst., at the Old Admiral Inn, Higher Hillgate, when Bro. William Hiram Wakefield, of Stretford, was duly installed Worshipful Master of the lodge for the ensuing year. There was a good attendance of members, as well as of visiting brethren, on the occasion. The Installing Master was Bro. W. Goodacre,

P.M. 104, and Prov. G.P. of Cheshire. He was ably assisted in the duty by Bro. J. Beresford, P.M. 104, and P. Prov. S.G.D. of Cheshire, and Bro. W. Sykes, P.M. 104, and it is scarcely necessary to add that the ceremony of installation was gone through in a most impressive manner, and afforded great gratification to the brethren assembled. The officers of the lodge were invested with the insignia of their respective offices by Bro. Beresford as follows:—Bro. H. Finch, S.W.; Bro. C. Cooke, J.W.; Bro. W. Goodacre, P.M., Treasurer; Bro. G. Shaw, Secretary; Bro. T. Potts, S.D.; Bro. R. K. Payne, J.D.; Bro. G. Barber, I.G.; Bros. F. G. Platti, G. Armitage, and J. H. Duffield, Stewards; Bro. W. Gee, Tyler. At the conclusion of the business the lodge was closed in due form, and according to ancient usage. A banquet was held subsequently, which reflected great credit on Mrs. Raynor's cuisine. The Worshipful Master presided, and was supported by Bro. C. Pepper, I.P.M., the Past Masters of the Lodge of St. John, and a considerable number of brethren of eminence in the Craft, including Bro. T. H. Kirk, P.M., 1045, Prov. G. Organist (Cheshire); Bro. F. Jackson, Prov. G.D.C. (Cheshire); Bro. W. H. Hopkins, P.M. 633; Bro. J. Hardy, P.M. 1045; Bro. R. Jackson, P.M. 148; Bro. J. P. Bardsley, W.M. 322; Bro. J. Siddeley, W.M. 1045; Bro. J. Potts, W.M. 1219; Bro. H. Kenyon, S.W. 1045; Bro. J. Bury, W.M. 325; Bro. S. Studd, W.M. elect 1375; Bro. H. Briggs, S.W. 320; Bro. B. Brown, W.M. 1387; Bro. S. Cheetham, S.W. 78, &c. Altogether there were about sixty brethren present. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly proposed and honoured in the manner peculiar to the Craft, and an exceedingly agreeable evening was passed by the brethren. Following up the usual custom of the lodge, the W.M. took occasion, in proposing the health of Bro. C. Pepper, I.P.M., to invest him with a handsome Past Master's jewel, which had been subscribed for by the members as a mark of their appreciation of the manner in which he had presided over the lodge during the past year. The concluding toast, "All poor and distressed Masons," was given shortly after ten o'clock, when the brethren dispersed.

SHEFFIELD.—Britannia Lodge (No. 139).—The anniversary of the Britannia Lodge was celebrated on Thursday, 11th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Surrey-street, when Bro. G. W. Hawksley was installed W. Master for the ensuing year, and appointed Bro. the Rev. A. W. Hamilton, M.A., Chaplain and Organist. The beautiful ceremony of installation was most ably performed by Bro. Brittain, P.M. After this followed the presentation, by Bro. Longder, P.M., on behalf of the brethren, of a handsome jewel and a beautiful outfit of Provincial Chaplain's clothing to Bro. the Rev. E. B. Chalmer, jun., M.A., Vicar of Sharrow, in testimony of their fraternal regard, and acknowledgment of the zeal and ability with which he had, during his year of office, discharged the important duties of Worshipful Master. Bro. Chalmer, after thanking the brethren for their handsome gift, said it was a source of pride to him that he had been associated with the Craft for some time, and that his attachment to it was strengthened by each succeeding year. The banquet, which was well attended, terminated the day's proceedings.

BRADFORD.—Lodge of Hope (No. 302).—On Monday, the 1st inst., the ceremony of installing Bro. Benjamin Broughton, as W.M. of this lodge, took place at the Masonic Hall, Godwin-street. There were present the following and other brethren, Bros. Manoah Rhodes, P.M., P. Prov. G.S.W., (Mayor of Bradford); Hen. Smith, P.M. Prov. G. Sec.; Thomas Hill, P.M., P. Prov. G.J.W.; William Ibbetson, P.M., P.G.S.D.; J. J. Schaeppi, P.M., P.G.J.D.; A. M. Matthews, P.M.; John R. Armitage, P.M.; William Beanland, P.M.; C. Pratt, P.M. P. Prov. G.J.D.; J. D. Sugden, P.M.; A. Hunter P.M., P. Prov. G.J.D.; W. W. Barlow, P.M.; Evans, P.M. 974; Jere Rhodes, P.M. 974; P. Prov. G.D.C.; S. B. Walmsley, P.M. 974; Leeson, P.M. 974; F. Broughton, P.M., 651, P.S.W. South Wales; Robert Richardson, P.M. 974; S. Brook, W.M. 600; John Ambler, W.M. 974; George Althop, W.M. 1018; John Procter, W.M. 1034; Rev. John Vaile, Chaplain; Rev. R. W. Loosemore; Thos. Britton, M.D., 1040. The installation and investiture of the officers, and other business in the lodge completed, the W.M. invited all the visitors and members to the refreshment room, where about 50 sat down to dinner to celebrate the Festival of St. John the Evangelist. The W.M. gave the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, which were received heartily by the brethren, and with accustomed honours. After which he proposed "The Mayor of Bradford," and in so doing he said: The next toast which I have the honour to propose for your acceptance is one which, although not usually included in our list, is one which I am sure you will receive with that heartiness and enthusiasm to which it is entitled, namely, "The Mayor of Bradford." We have present with us this evening a brother, a member of our lodge, whom we all greatly respect, and who, by his uniform, honourable and upright conduct as a citizen, has gained the respect and esteem of his fellow townsmen; who in appreciation of his character and worth, have conferred upon him the office of Chief Magistrate of the Borough, the highest honour it is in their power to bestow. As a Mason, the name of Manoah Rhodes has become a household word amongst the brethren of the Province of West Yorkshire, and if he discharges his civic duties as zealously and faithfully as he has always done those of his various Masonic offices, he will, at the expiration of his year of office, be able to retire with the consciousness of having done his duty to the satisfaction of his fellow citizens. Brethren, I feel that it is only proper that, as Masons, we should offer Bro. Rhodes our congratulations on the high and honourable position he has attained; and I have much pleasure in asking you to drink to "His Worship the Mayor," Bro. Manoah Rhodes, P.M., P. Prov. G.S.W., (Mayor of Bradford) was received with the most rapturous applause, and in responding to the toast congratulated the W.M. on being elected to the highest position the brethren had it in their power to give, and trusted that he might enjoy good health during his year of office, so as to be able to perform its duties efficiently and to the satisfaction of the brethren. For the compliment paid him he most heartily thanked them, and was proud to know that the way in which he had performed the duties of the various offices he had held during the many years he had been amongst them had been appreciated and met with their approbation. This was the first time his health had been drunk, in a Masonic lodge, in his official capacity as Mayor of Bradford. He was very sensitive of their kind wishes towards him, and could assure them that it would be his endeavour to fulfil the onerous duties devolving on that office in the manner he had done those in the various offices he had filled amongst them as a Mason, and he hoped that at the termination of his Mayoralty if spared in health, he should equally deserve their congratulations. Bro. M. Rhodes before resuming his seat, in feeling and earnest terms proposed "The Clergy," which was responded to in a few well chosen words by the Rev. T. H. Flynn, P. Prov. G. Chaplain. The W.M. then called upon Bro. Rev. John Vaile, Chaplain of the lodge, to propose "The immortal memory of St. John the Evangelist," which he did saying: it is with mingled feelings of pleasure and diffidence I rise to propose this toast, but feeling confident that I shall be emboldened by your favourable attention, I will venture to utter a few plain sentiments on this sublime and noble subject. It may be a matter of surprise to the outside world to know how St. John is in any way associated with Freemasonry, but to us it is a matter of joy and pride that, in consequence of that great principle which actuates the whole Craft alike, and which was his all-absorbing topic, we claim him as our patron, and celebrate his memory every year. St. John the Evangelist, throughout the whole of his sacred ministry, from the time when he was first associated with his great Master, who then walked this earth, and for his loveable nature was loved by Him in return, from those early days of manhood, to the last of his aged life, he breathed forth the pure and divinely inspired doctrine of Love to God, and brotherly union and concord. And this being the centre tenet of the whole Masonic code, and the source and motive from which all Masonic actions spring, recognised as much in the merest trifles of daily life between man and man, as in that world-wide magnanimity which extends the hand of friendship and brotherly help to the greatest stranger, and to the wildest foreigner, it surely shows the wisdom of our Christian forefathers who chose for their earthly star of guidance and for their earthly standard of action, that most holy and immortal saint who is rightly denominated the "Apostle of Love." And to us Masons, when we rightly regard him as our patron, it will become a salutary exercise to study his life and teaching, that we may follow the one and imitate the other, so that whether we regard him as a man thoroughly devoted to that truth which came down from Heaven, we can seek to be embodied with the same spirit of earnest devotion, or whether we look at him labouring (as tradition tells us) in the dark mines of Patmos, suffering persecutions, we can copy his example of patience in tribulation, and, through the darkness of this world's mystery, see, as he did, glimpses of the Grand Lodge above, a vision of the highest life in the very presence of the Great Architect Himself, or whether again, we look at that other scene which is handed down, when in his feeble old age, all capacity for labour and teaching was gone when no strength was left to guide his tottering steps, when he was carried on the shoulders of men through the ranks of his converts and disciples, and, like a general on the battle field, who feels his life blood flowing fast, spends his remaining strength in encouraging his men, he continually repeated without change, and reiterated without weariness, that new commandment which summoned up one great part of his Master's will, "Little Children, love one another," I say, we can surely remember, in all our conflicts that this is the first and the last, the Alpha and the Omega, of all our great duty to God and man! Well, then, brethren, if as we are gathered here, we feel proud to be under his patronage, let us also feel proud to be under his all-ruling precept, and if we take delight in immortalizing him at the festive board, let us take equal delight in honouring him by repeating his actions in our daily lives, then shall we be celebrating with due honour and decorum the immortal memory of so sublime a saint, and then may we boldly let our aspirations ascend in silence to the ears of our Supreme Ruler, whilst we invoke His aid in all our deeds of love, his acceptance of all our acts of charity. Bro. T. G. Andrews, Secretary, was called upon by the W.M. to propose "The Masonic Charities," and in doing so said I feel it a great honour to propose this toast, embodying as it does the very essence of the principles of Freemasonry, and this being the first time that a junior has had the opportunity of proposing such a toast. At the sametime I feel my inability to put the proposition before you in such terms as I could wish to do. Prior to my initiation I had heard something in the outer world, that you collected money to aid and assist your brethren in one way or other. Now that I am in the secret I know how much good is done amongst Masons in innumerable ways, but we can point the public enquirer to those noble Royal Masonic Institutions for the education and maintenance of the bereaved offspring of our brethren, where I am proud to say they are most amply provided for and the best possible education given them until 16 years of age, and so fitted to play their part in the world to advantage, still having always a helping hand near should necessity require it. These establishments can, I am sure, be worked better on a large scale, as we have them, than, as some recommend, smaller and more numerous ones. There is one thing connected with them which I confess I should wish to see altered and that is that instead of calling them "Masonic Charities," we should designate them Masonic Institutions. I do not like the idea of our orphans being educated as charity children, I can however heartily urge upon you to subscribe to these and other valuable Institutions and those of the brethren, who have not already done so, I would recommend to pay a visit to them, and also to accept the office of Steward at the Anniversaries as a means of becoming better acquainted with them, and also contributing to the funds. Wishing every prosperity to the Masonic Charities, I call upon you to drink to their success. Bro. Thomas Hill, P.M., P.Prov. G.J.W., on rising to reply, congratulated the W.M. on his elevation, and said it gives me great pleasure to respond to the toast, so very ably proposed by our Bro. Secretary, and I am much gratified by the excellent manner in which he has submitted the subject for our consideration, I am proud of my connection with the Benevolent Institutions, and may say for the information of the brethren that I always looked upon the word charity as meaning love, which is its true signification, and therefore I cannot see much objection to the use of the word. I have to thank the brethren, on behalf of the Institutions, for their aid in the past. The Lodge of Hope feels proud of what it has done, and will do more, and in pressing the claims of the Institutions upon the notice of the brethren, I trust that those who have not already subscribed to them will do so, "The Retiring Master," was put down in the printed programme to be proposed by Bro. Michael Rogerson, P.M., but as he was absent both from the lodge and refreshment-room, it had to be done by deputy Bro. George Richardson, I.P.M., in replying to the toast, said, I find myself this evening invested with a new title that of Retiring Master, but though late commander of your forces, I cannot as a retiring general might do, speak to you of successful campaigns and bravely fought well-won battles, for I have had no enemies to contend with and no battles to fight, neither have I to regret harvest trodden underfoot, towns sacked and plundered, and men cut down in the prime of life; on the contrary my year of office has been one of uninterrupted peace and tranquillity, and as such I look back upon it with pleasure. I thank you all for the kindness and consideration you have always shown to me, and the memory of the past year will ever be cherished by me because of the place I have gained in your esteem, I am glad that my place is taken by such a man as Bro. Broughton and have a special pleasure in asking you to drink with me to his health as our W.M. Bro. Broughton was amongst the first of those who tendered me hospitality when some 22 years ago, I came to this town. I congratulate him on the position he has achieved as W.M., and am sure that the brethren will find him to be the right man in the right place. Bro. Broughton, W.M., on rising to respond, was received with great applause, and said I must acknowledge that your enthusiastic expression of feeling towards me affords me high gratification, though at the same time it causes me some little embarrassment, and I am at a loss for words in which to express my thanks for your hearty reception of this toast, and for the honour you have conferred upon me in placing me in this chair. It is sometimes said that silence is more eloquent than words, and I cannot say more than that I am deeply sensible of your kindness, and that I offer you the thanks of a grateful heart. I thank my worthy Bro. George Richardson, for the complimentary terms in which he has been pleased to speak of me in proposing this toast, and I thank you all, brethren, for the flattering and cordial reception it has met with at your hands. I trust you all know me too well to render it necessary that I should enter into any promises as to the future, and I feel a reluctance to make professions which I may not be able to carry out. I have, as you know, arrived at a time of life when I do not possess the vigour and other advantages of some of my younger brethren, but I trust that as Master of the Lodge of Hope my conduct will always be such as becomes a true Mason, and that by precept and by example I may do my duty in endeavouring to maintain and support the genuine principles of Freemasonry. At all events, I may assure you that it will be my constant and earnest endeavour, by a faithful discharge of the duties that may devolve upon me during my year of office, to show myself worthy of the distinguished honour you have conferred upon me, and to prove that your confidence has not been misplaced. I remember that when six years ago, I had the honour of addressing you in this room for the first time, I stated that it had been my aim through life to gain the good opinion and respect of my fellow men, and I expressed the hope that so long as I might be associated, actively or otherwise, with this ancient and honourable fraternity, my conduct might always be such as to entitle me to the confidence and respect of all with whom I might be brought in contact. Brethren, I feel that to-day that hope has been realized, and I will only say further, that as in the past, so in the future, it will be my constant desire and endeavour to put in practice the principles I have professed; and I trust that the coming year may be, to all of us, one of profit and of pleasure, of peace and of harmony, of happiness and of prosperity. The W.M. then proposed "The Visiting Brethren," and in doing so said, the next toast is one which in the Lodge of Hope is always heartily received, and it affords me peculiar pleasure in proposing "The Visiting Brethren," I believe I may say without contradiction that the Lodge of Hope has always enjoyed a reputation for hospitality, and for the cordiality with which it has always received brethren of other lodges, and it gives me much pleasure and gratification in offering a hearty welcome to those visiting brethren who have honoured us with their presence on this occasion. We trust that every one will feel that we are all members of one great family, encompassed by one encircling cord of brotherly love, and that to good and worthy Masons the Lodge of Hope is always amongst the foremost to hold out the right hand of brotherhood. The following brethren respectively replied to this toast, namely, Bro. Cyrus Brook, W.M. Harmony 600; F. Broughton, W.M. Brecknock, 651, P.S.W. South Wales; (and brother by consanguinity to the W.M.) who said: Worshipful Sir, I have great pleasure in congratulating you on your elevation to the high office you now hold. I have known you for about 50 years, on and off, and I must say that the estimation in which you appear to be held by the brethren present, leads me to think that you are even better than I took you to be. If I might say a word to the brethren, it would be that if they let you have a great deal of your own way, as I used to do, they will find you a very good fellow. Bro. Foster, W.M. elect of the Pentalfa, 974, was also called upon, and replied in a few terse sentences. Bro. George Althorpe, W.M. Shakespeare, 1018, also responded, and after offering his congratulations to the W.M., suggested that it would be well if during his year he could arrange matters so that the G.M. might be called upon to come to Bradford to lay the foundation stone of a Masonic Temple—a fit place in which the brethren might assemble, and be alike worthy of them and the town. Bro. Proctor, W.M. Eccleshill, 1034, also responded, as did also Bros. Rev. R. W. Loosemore and Thos. Britton, M.D., 1040. Other toasts were proposed, namely—"The Past Masters;" "The Retiring Officers;" "The Officers;" and the Tyler's toast, but we have already given as much space to reporting this meeting as our columns will admit of. We must not, however, overlook the great pleasure afforded by the admirable execution, on the grand piano, by Bro. Jeremiah Rhodes, P.M., who had volunteered his services in the unavoidable absence of Bro. F. C. Atkinson, Mus. Bac. Cantab., Organist to the Lodge; and also the vocal efforts of many of the brethren, which contributed much to the pleasure of all.

HAWORTH.—Lodge of Three Graces (No. 408).—The members of this Lodge celebrated the festival of St. John the Evangelist on Monday, Dec. 1st, 1873 at their lodge rooms, Haworth, on which occasion the Worshipful Master elect, Bro. Robert Riley, was duly installed W.M. for the ensuing year. The installing officer was Bro. James Charnock, P.M. of the St. James Lodge, No. 448, Halifax. Subsequently the W.M. invested the following brethren with the badge of office: Bros. Thos. Ogden, S.W.; J. E. Lambert, J.W.; W. Brown, P.M., Sec.; W. Wood, P.M., Treasurer; W. J. Terrell, S.D.; Edwin Robertson, J.D.; W.F. Sheekleton, I.G.; Smith and Holmes, Stewards; J. Whitham, P.M., Tyler. At the close of the business the brethren adjourned to the Black Bull Hotel, and sat down to dinner, the W.M. presiding, the vice chair being filled by Bro. Thos. Ogden, S.W. There were also present visiting brethren from the undernamed lodges, Probita, 61; Prudence, 219; Royal Yorkshire, 265; Prince George, 308; Pomfret, 360; Scientific, 439; St. James's 448; Saville, 1231; Ryburn, 1283; Stas, Philadelphia, United States. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given from the chair and heartily responded to. Bro. E. Taylor, P.M., proposed in eulogistic terms the health of the W.M., to which Bro. Riley responded, Bro. Thomas Ogden then proposed the health of Bro. Frank Hebden the immediate P.M. to which Bro. Hebden responded. Bro. Hebden, P.M., proposed the Wardens and Officers of the Lodge of Three Graces, to which Bros. Ogden and Lambert responded. The "Visiting Brethren" was proposed by the W.M., and responded to by brethren of the different lodges. Subsequently, the "Masonic Charities," the "Marchioness of Ripon," and "The Ladies," and "Poor and distressed Masons," were proposed and responded to. The W.M. presented, Bro. James Charnock, P.M., the installing officer, with a very handsome Masonic ring for the very able and efficient manner in which he performed the ceremony of installation. The brethren then departed to their several homes after having spent a very pleasant and happy evening.

YARBOROUGH LODGE (No. 554).—The usual monthly meeting of this old established and prosperous East End lodge was held on Thursday last, at Bro. Walter's, "The Green Dragon," Stepney, under the presidency of Bro. Harry Morrison, W.M., who was ably supported in the working by Bros. H. Coard, S.W.; T. Hood, J.W.; J. Berry, S.D.; J. Lincke, Acting, J.D.; and J. Allen, I.G. There were also present upwards of fifty members of the lodge, including the following Past Masters:—Bros. Wynne, Moseley, Kindred, Roberts, Stevens, Barnes, Chadwick, and Verry; and amongst the visitors we noticed:—Bros. S. H. Head, G.S.L.; T. Poore, W.M. 720; Curtis, 276; W. Russell and H. J. W. Buxton, 77; J. Barrett, 902; H. N. Taylor, 1421; J. J. Walter, 615; E. L. Crouch, 1278; P. A. Coard, 90; E. L. Cross, 754; and P. Goddard, 1288. The lodge having been regularly opened, Bro. H. Moseley, Sec., proceeded to read the minutes of the last meeting, and made the brethren acquainted with the gratifying fact that an amount exceeding £200 stood to the credit of the lodge in its funds. After the minutes had been regularly confirmed, the W.M. proceeded to raise Bro. Chapman to the third degree, and his delivery of the words of the ritual manifested a thorough conception of the ceremony, and a perfect knowledge of the declamation necessary to give due effect to the beautiful language of the degree. The labour of the third degree being ended, Bros. Thomas and Tinsley were passed by the W.M. to the degree of Fellow Craft, in a manner which evinced a like masterly interpretation of the observance as had characterised his rendering in the superior degree. The election of W.M. was, according to notice, next proceeded with, and Bro. Coard, S.W., was unanimously chosen to fill that honourable position during the ensuing year. Before balloting for the position of Treasurer, the Secretary directed the attention of the brethren to a clause in the Book of Constitutions, specifying that no absent brother can be elected to this office in a lodge, and this applying to the then Treasurer—who, we hear, although a Past Master of the lodge, has not been of late, from some unforeseen circumstances, a frequent attendant—the election was proceeded with, and resulted in the unanimous return of Bro. John Stevens. Bro. Speight was next re-elected Tyler, and thanked the brethren in appropriate terms for the continuance of their confidence. On the motion of Bro. P.M. Wynne, the sum of five guineas was voted by the lodge for the purchase of a jewel as a token of esteem to the retiring W.M., and Bro. Wynne referred in suitable terms to the energy, aptitude, and general courtesy of the W.M. in the position he was shortly to vacate. The remaining routine business having been completed, the brethren adjourned to a capacious new banqueting hall, built by the host, Bro. Walters, expressly to afford increased accommodation to the continually augmenting number of the brethren, and we would observe that the room and offices are of as handsome a character as any to be found in the eastern district of the metropolis, providing a dining apartment for one hundred and twenty people with every adjunct that the most critical mind could desire. Ample justice having been done to the excellent fare provided, the cloth was removed, and the usual loyal and other toasts duly honoured, with the health of the respected host, in proposing which the W.M. alluded in appropriate language to the marked attention Bro. Walters had invariably paid to the numerous requirements of the brethren. Bro. Walters returned thanks and expressed the pleasure it afforded him to hear his efforts to please had given such satisfaction. Bro. J. Stevens, in responding to the toast of the Masonic Charities, drew the attention of the brethren to the fact that he had been deputed to represent the lodge at the next ensuing festival in aid of aged and distressed Freemasons, and in an apt appeal facetiously intimated that as it would be his first appearance in the character, the brethren were not to be surprised at his extraordinary temerity and unbounded impudence when he assured them that, in addition to such aid as might be offered him from the lodge funds, in his endeavour he was prompted from a knowledge of the merits of the cause he was advocating to appeal to the individual generosity of every brother, either absent or present. He also touchingly referred to the lamentable condition of helplessness to which a long subscribing member of the lodge had become reduced in early life through a continuous illness resulting in paralysis. This appeal was listened to with marked attention by the brethren, and we are pleased to report that the collection that evening resulted in the sum of £59, which was duly added to Bro. Stevens' list. Some excellent singing in which Bro. H. Graves and J. Thorn distinguished themselves, the former in particular by his expressive and distinct utterance as well as by the admirable taste shown in the selection of the pleasing ballads he rendered, brought a most agreeable evening to a conclusion, and the Tyler's toast was drunk about ten o'clock.

ST. JAMES'S LODGE (No. 765).—The ordinary meeting of the members of the St. James's Lodge was held on Tuesday evening, at the usual place of meeting, under the presidency of Bro. William Jones, W.M. The lodge having been opened in due form, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The other business having been disposed of, Bros. Mercer and Ford were examined and instructed. The lodge having been opened in the second degree, they were then passed. The lodge having been closed down, Bro. Whittaker, of Forest-road, Dalston, and Bro. Munree were severally initiated. The W.M., having risen for the third time Bro. Montague Scott, (Sec.), proposed that the sum of twenty guineas be given to the benevolent fund. The motion having been seconded, Bro. Hugh, P.M., moved an amendment to the effect that ten guineas be given from the lodge funds to the Steward's list of Grand Lodge. This was seconded by Bro. Brown, S.D., and unanimously agreed to. The labours of the evening over, the brethren adjourned to refreshment, which consisted simply of bread, cheese, and ale, good old English fare, as was said by more than one brother present. During the evening it was explained to the brethren that the lodge was a very numerous one, and that the saving effected by the brethren having bread, cheese and ale, instead of the usual banquet would amount to over £30, which sum would be carried to the benevolent fund of the lodge, and thereby the better enable the brethren when assembled, to "exercise that virtue which is the distinguishing characteristic" of Freemasonry. The brethren enjoyed themselves mightily. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were drunk in old English Ale. There were many songs and recitations, the hilarity of the evening being greatly enhanced by the efforts of the Organist, Bro. Henry Shelford, whose individual exertions, as well as his excellent accompaniment to the songs of the other musical brethren, were the theme of general remark.

WHITTINGTON LODGE.—No. 862).—The monthly meeting of this flourishing lodge was held at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, on Monday evening, the 16th inst., the W.M., Bro. William Frederick Smith, presided with his usual courtesy and ability. Messrs. Edward Sedgworth and Charles Brothers were duly balloted for and admitted to the first degree in Masonry, the ceremony of initiation being impressively performed by the W.M. Bro. Frederick H. Roberts, having been duly interrogated was entrusted, and on his re-admission was solemnly passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. Other business of a formal character having been transacted, the lodge was closed with solemn prayer. A banquet of a most elegant character was then provided by Messrs. Clemow, to which the brethren paid due attention. The various Masonic toasts were given by the W.M. in an admirable manner, and responded to by the brethren with great enthusiasm. The two initiates severally returned thanks in a very appropriate manner, stating their determination to work hard at Freemasonry. Twenty-eight brethren of the lodge were in attendance, and among the visitors were Bros. W. Jones, (Fidelity Lodge, 445); Aitchison, (Hervey Lodge, 1260); H. Sadler, P.M. 147; K. R. H. Mackenzie, 190. The W.M., Bro. Smith, in returning thanks for his health, announced that it was his intention to qualify himself as a life subscriber on behalf of the lodge to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, by a subscription of ten guineas. This announcement was received with great applause. Colonel Francis Burdett, Prov. G.M. for Middlesex, had intended to be present, but was prevented by having to preside at the annual dinner of the Leander Rowing Club Richmond. The Tyler's toast brought that agreeable evening, enlivened by some capital singing by Bros. Moore and Brett, to a close, and the brethren separated in the most harmonious spirit.

BIRKENHEAD.—Rock Lodge (No. 1280).—This lodge held its fifth annual festival, on Friday, 12th inst., at the Zetland Lodge Rooms, in Birkenhead, as the usual place of meeting at Rock Ferry is at present closed. Bro. Lewis, W.M. presided, and after the usual lodge business was transacted, raised Bro. Brown to the third degree. Bro. Friend then proceeded to instal Bro. F. K. Stevenson, P.M. 537, P.P.G. S.B. Cheshire, in the chair according to ancient form, and subsequently delivered the usual address. The following officers were appointed for the year. Bros. Wigdahl, S.W.; L. Ellis, J.W.; P. J. Pearson, Sec.; Stevenson, Treas.; Dr. Paton, S.D.; W. S. Stanton, J.D.; A. Wallace, I.G.; Sanderson and Lakey, Stewards. Bro. Holloway was unanimously re-elected Tyler. The following visitors and members were present. Bros. H. Bulley, G.S.B. Eng., P.P.J.G.W. Cheshire; J. P. Platt, P.P.J.G.W.; T. Platt, P.P.J.G.D.; W. Bulley, P.P.J.G.D.; R. H. Moore, W.M. 537; Ward, W.M. 1276, &c. After the lodge was closed, the brethren dined together at the Woodside Hotel, and amongst other toasts proposed by the W.M., was that of long life and happiness to Bro. Dr. Paton, S.D., whose absence was explained by the fact of his having been married the previous day. The brethren separated at an early hour, after a pleasant evening.

SHEFFIELD.—Wentworth Lodge (No. 1239).—This flourishing lodge held its fifth anniversary on Monday, the 1st inst., at the Freemasons' Hall. The lodge was opened at 5 p.m. by the W.M., Bro. Wostenholm, assisted by the whole of his officers. Upwards of 50 members of the lodge, and visitors, amongst whom we noticed, Bros. Drury, P.M. 296, P. Prov. G. J. W. of West Yorkshire; Ramplen, P.M. 362, P. Prov. G. Officer of Lincolnshire; Thynne, P.M. 151; Hay, P.M. 139, P. Prov. G.S.B. of West Yorkshire; Garnett, P.M. 139, 1239, P.G.S.B. West Yorkshire, and others. After the usual routine business of the lodge Bro. Wostenholm, W.M., requested Bro. Matthews, P.M. to instal the W.M. elect, Bro. Alfred Scargill, S.W. A board of thirteen installed Masters being opened, Bro. Scargill, was duly installed into the chair of K.S. The board of I.M.'s was then closed, the brethren admitted, and the newly installed W.M. duly proclaimed and saluted in the different degrees. The W.M. then appointed and invested the following officers for the ensuing year viz., Bros. Findall, S.W.; W. White, J.W.; H. J. Garnett, P.M., Treas.; S. B. Ellis, Sec.; J. Bennett, S.D. W. R. Thomas, J.D.; A. Pfeilschmidt, Org. C. Harvey, I.G.; and G. Wilkinson, Tyler Bro. Matthews, as installing officer, gave the addresses to the W.M., Wardens, and brethren in his usual impressive and forcible manner. It was unanimously resolved that a letter of condolence be sent from the lodge to the highly esteemed D.P.G.M. of the province. Bro. Bently Shaw, J.P., P.G.D., of England, on the death of his son. Bro. Matthews, P.M., was elected Steward to represent the lodge on the charity committee of the province of West Yorkshire. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to the dining hall, where upwards of fifty sat down to a sumptuous banquet under the presidency of the W.M. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given from the chair. Bro. Garnett, P.M., and P.G.S.B., after replying to the toast of the Most Noble the Marquis of Ripon, G.M., and Prov. G.M., of West Yorkshire, and the Officers and Past Officers of Provincial G. Lodge, said before resuming his seat he had the pleasure and privilege in asking the brethren to join him in drinking the next toast, and he felt assured that no eloquence was required on his part to induce them to do so most cordially, for it was the toast of the evening, the health of the newly installed W.M., Bro. Scargill. He had had the pleasure of intimately knowing Bro. Scargill for a number of years prior to his becoming a Mason, and it had fallen to his (Bro. Garnett's) lot, during the year he filled the chair of the Wentworth Lodge, to initiate him into the mysteries of the Craft, and from the moment he was proposed to the present time, he had entertained but one opinion of him, and that opinion was fully endorsed by the brethren conferring on him the highest honour they had it in their power to do, and he congratulated them upon the choice they had made this evening. Bro. Scargill, the Worshipful Master, replied, and said:—Worshipful Masters, Past Masters, and Brethren, I return you my most heartfelt thanks for the very flattering manner in which you have responded to the toast so kindly proposed by Bro. P.M. Garnett. We all know his goodness of heart, and his readiness at all times to render a brother any assistance he may require: I have to thank him for many kindnesses received at his hands. I certainly feel proud to occupy the position the brethren elected me to fill, and have to accord them my best and hearty thanks for the great confidence they have thus placed in me. I have ever striven to do my duty by supporting the chair, not only in carefully getting up the work, but in a regular attendance at the lodge, and what I have done in the past I shall continue to do in the future, by performing those duties that may devolve upon me to the best of my ability. I shall strenuously uphold the character and dignity of this ancient institution, by faithfully adhering to the landmarks of our Order, and by the exercise of an ever judicious care in the reception of only worthy men as candidates for initiation. I look upon worth and not numbers as constituting the real progress of the Craft, and I trust, brethren, that I shall by such a course of conduct, merit a continuance of that support and of those good wishes which you have so kindly bestowed upon me this evening. In conclusion I have to thank the Past Masters of this lodge for the constant and unvarying kindness and assistance they have at all times rendered to me. The other toasts were the "I.P.M.," "The Installing Master," "The Visitors," then followed "The Masonic Charities," proposed by Bro. Garnett, P.M. Bro. Matthews, the newly elected charity Steward replied, and said the toast was one that appealed direct to the benevolent feelings of every brother whose heart beats true to Masonry, that it reminded us that some of our brethren, (yea, and worthy brethren too,) were reduced to poverty and distress, that some had been removed and left behind unprovided for those who in life were nearest and dearest to them, and it also reminded us that it was our duty as Masons to succour and help those so left in the hour of their distress. Those noble institutions of the Craft had done much good, but much more remained to be done, which could only be accomplished by every brother, individually and collectively, subscribing liberally to their funds, and he ventured to hope that the brethren would not only accord to him the same support they had given his predecessor, but would increase it two-fold, and thus enable him at the end of the year to render a good account of his stewardship. The remaining toasts on the list having been disposed of, the brethren separated, after passing in a fraternal manner a very enjoyable evening.

GLASGOW.—Thistle and Rose Lodge (No. 73).—The Installation meeting of this lodge was held on the 2nd inst., at 170, Buchanan-Street. The chair was taken by G. Macdonald, R.W.M., G. W. Wheeler, acting as S.W.; J. McLeod, as J.W.; when R. Ranking, and J. Buchanan were initiated into Freemasonry, the lodge was then opened in the second degree, and Bro. James Smith was passed as a Fellow Craft. The election of officers was then proceeded with, and there being no opposition to any of the members the installation took place. Bro. Halket, P.M. of 102, P.G.S.D., was the Installing Master, and Bro. J. B. McNair, R.W.M. of 332, presented the new Master-elect, Bro. George Weston. On the re-admission of the members, Bro. Halket, at the request of the new Master, installed the following brethren, and delivered the charge to each, according to ancient custom, Bro. G. McDonald, I.P.M.; J. Bannerman, S.W.; J. McGregor, J.W.; W. Walter, T.; R. Richards, Sec.; G. W. Wheeler, Chaplain; J. Dow, S.D.; J. Munroe, J.D.; John Kay, S.S.; R. Reid, J.S.; A. Ross, I.G.; J. Buchanan, S.B.; and A. Kay, Tyler. The R.W.M., in assuming the chair, said he must trust to the forbearance of the lodge at the commencement of his work, but he had determined to devote himself to them, and he felt sure that, with the assistance of the new office-bearers, the Thistle and Rose would not lose any of its ancient prestige. (Cheers.) Bro. Wheeler wished the first duty of their new Secretary to consist in recording the cordial thanks of the lodge to Bros. Halket and McNair for their valuable services in conducting the installation ceremonies, and also that they be affiliated as honorary members. Bro. G. McDonald, P.M., heartily seconded the proposition which was carried unanimously. The lodge was then closed in due form, and the brethren adjourned for refreshment to the adjoining hotel. The chair was taken by the new Master, who proved himself fully equal to the occasion. The usual patriotic and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, Bro. J. Gilles responding on behalf of the officers of the Prov. G. Lodge. Bro. G. McDonald replied to that of the past office-bearers of the lodge, who would still at all times be willing to aid their successors to conduct its affairs successfully. Bro. Stuart, P.M., proposed "The Present Officers, and the S.W.," J. Bannerman, in a humorous speech, describing the qualifications of each. The Master then called on the new Chaplain, and S.D., to also reply. Bro. Wheeler said that though he had filled most of the offices in a lodge he must confess that he was new to that of Chaplain, but as the lodge had at present no reverend brother amongst them, he would do his best. He then entered on what he considered the duty of Masons to each other as to the outer world. Bro. Dow said he hardly desired the honour that had been conferred upon him, and now he had to speak after two practised speakers he must be content to pick up the crumbs they had left as that was all he could contribute to the mental feast, but in any way that he could aid his mother lodge he should be proud to do it. "The Tyler's toast" brought the proceedings to a pleasant termination.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Kilwinning (No. 4) met in their own Hall, Buchanan-street, on Wednesday, December 3rd, Bro. A. Thirburn, R.W.M., in the chair, supported by Bro. George 3½; J. Gilles, and J. Baird, P.M. 3½, P.G.S.W. The lodge having been opened in the first degree, the R.W.M., in most excellent style, initiated a candidate into the order. He then intimated to the lodge that Bro. Grange had that evening brought to them the lost records of the lodge. They knew before that they were recovered, but they had been lent to Bro. D. Murray Lyon, who had sent extracts from them to The Freemason where doubtless, some of the brethren had read them. The election was then proceeded with, the R.W.M., being unanimously re-elected, Bro. J.

Gillon then installed the officers, of whom the following is a list:—George W. Clark, P.M.; A. B. Thorburn, R.W.M.; Thomas G. Jamieson, D.M.; R. B. Prout, S.W.; W. S. Henderson, S.W.; John Johnston, J.W.; J. D. Dixon, Treasurer; W. Grossett, Secretary; Thomas P. Mullen, S.D.; J. Carmichael, J.D.; J. M. Mills, S.S.; W. McCulloch, Secretary; S. Sage, P.G.S.; St. Vincent Day, Asst.; Dr. Penny, Chaplain; Charles Smith, B.B.; Holmes, M. of C.; Drummond, Jeweller; Bowering, Inner Guard; D. Ramsey, Tyler. This concluded the business, and the lodge then went to refreshment. Bro. Thorburn, presiding, Bro. Johnston, as croupier. After the loyal toasts had been honoured, the Master gave the "Three Grand Lodges of England, Ireland, and Scotland, with their respective Grand Masters. The P.G.L. was represented by Bro. Gilles, I.G. "The last laid Stone of the Lodge" was replied to by the new-made brother in a neat speech. Bro. Wilson, as one of the oldest members of the lodge, proposed "The Officers." Bro. Henderson, S.W., replied, stating, that as the representation of "Strength" he would try to uphold the lodge with all his strength, both of body and mind. Bro. Johnston J.W., said if he represented beauty, all that he could do was to try and admire it morally, but he must look principally to the aid of the brethren, as he was quite new to the duties of office, but he would try to do his best. The S.W. then gave "The Visiting Brethren," Bro. G. W. Wheeler replied, stating that instead of them honouring the lodge it was the visitors who were honoured by being allowed to attend their installation and sit at their festive board, when they considered that No. 4 had to night the honour of boasting that they could shew their minute books with a continuous record for nearly 150 years. Bro. Carsons also replied in a neat speech. The R.W.M. proposed "Bro. J. Grange," through whom they had received their lost records. Bro. Grange said he was glad that he had been able to do so, but it was not him that should be proud, he had only done his duty, when in the course of his official duties he had the opportunity of discovering the long lost treasures; as a Mason he could do no less than try to bring them back to their rightful owners. Bro. Wheeler proposed "Prosperity to Lodge Kilwinning, No. 4, and the Health of the Master." The lodge was one of the oldest in the kingdom, and one of the most celebrated, and it had shewn its good sense by re-electing their R.W.M., who had so worthily filled the chair during the past year, and who, now that he was thoroughly up in his work, might be expected to do even better in the future. Bro. Thorburn replied, stating that the best way in which he could acknowledge the toast would be by beginning to deserve the character Bro. Wheeler had given him. What he had said about the lodge he highly appreciated, as there he could fully coincide with him. He was glad that Bro. Bard had returned, he would now give them "St. John's 3½, with P.M. Bro. Bard." St. John's had always been very friendly with them, and had rendered them good service, and when they needed it. Bro. J. Bard replied, saying that No. 3½ and 4 had always worked very amicably together, he had been absent part of the time to-night, but it was by the consent of their R.W.M., to make further extracts from their old minute book for Bro. D. Murray Lyon and a brother in America, for as it had been stated in the pages of The Freemason these old minutes of theirs were likely to fix with certainty the date of the first lodge in Boston, U.S. Several other toasts were given, and Bros. Johnston, Prout, Wilson, Gilles, and the R.W.M., contributed by their excellent singing to the harmony of the evening.

GLASGOW.—St. Rollox Chapter (No. 144).—This young chapter held its monthly meeting on Friday, the 12th inst. The chair of Z. was filled by Comp. J. Duthie, P.Z. of 67; George McDonald, Z. of 73, acting H.; J. Balfour, S.E. 73, of J.; G. McCullum, J., as Scribe E.; G. B. Adams, J. 50; and G. W. Wheeler, H. 73, as 1st Soj.; J. Annard, 2nd S.; R. Appleyard, 3rd S. The presiding officer said that in consequence of their first Principal having left for India, they would have to elect a successor in his place. Comp. Wheeler proposed Comp.

Robert Bell; they all knew his abilities and his enthusiasm for Masonry, while his kind manners and mildness of disposition, as evinced in his rule of the St. Mungo Encampment of H., proved his fitness to rule in any degree. Comp. Jas. McLush, H., seconded the nomination. Comp. Duthrie, assisted by the other Principals present, then installed Comp. R. Bell, who afterwards extolled the high nature of the exalted office they had conferred upon him, expressing his determination to faithfully discharge its onerous duties.

Oliver, Scribe E.; Jas. Balfour, P.Z., 73, acting 1st S. A lodge of Mark Masters was opened, and Bros. J. Mitchel and Thompson were introduced. Comp. G. W. Wheeler, H. 73, at the request of R.W.M.M., conferred on them that degree; then after a lodge of most excellent Masters, as well as a Royal Arch Chapter, were opened, when the same two brothers, along with Bros. Wm. Graham, were duly exalted into those degrees, Comps. Wheeler acting as Z., and J. Balfour P. Z., as Principal Sojourner. The companions of this degree in Glasgow being always willing to lend a helping hand to each other, in order to render the ceremonies effectively.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1873.

THE LATE PAPAL RESCRIPT.

In a recent Papal Encyclical Letter by which Bishop Reinckens is excommunicated, his Holiness alludes also to secret societies, and mentions the Freemasons in terms of rebuke and condemnation.

It was to be expected, that, such an outpouring of "severe indignation," would be improved upon by the Westminster Gazette.

The Encyclical letter is dated from France, November 21st, and the Westminster Gazette at once offers us, most kindly and sympathetically, this commentary upon it.

"In the late encyclical letter the Sovereign Pontiff has not only pronounced the judgments of the Church on apostate priests, and on persecuting princes, but has exposed with a luminous brevity the history of the vast conspiracy against the Church of Christ, existing in most countries of Europe, and extending even to some States of America. This evil is tracked to its source, and the Sovereign Pontiff once more condemns those secret societies which, whether they be called Masonic, or pass under any other name, have no lesser object in view than the extinction of the Church. It is notorious that the worst of the secret societies now no longer work in the dark, but, as if assured of victory, openly proclaim the end they have in view. The International is an open conspiracy against the rights and liberties of the Church, as well as against established order in Europe. The leaders of the secret societies, Masonic or international, are in many countries at the head of affairs, and the strange spectacle is afforded to Europe of witnessing established Governments doing the destructive work of the secret societies. It is in these societies, the "Synagogue of Satan," as the Sovereign Pontiff describes them, that the conspiracy against the Church was hatched; and now, armed with all the power that civil authority confers upon them, they avow their intention to reduce the Church to the worst of slaveries, to remove the foundations on which it rests, and to alter its divine character. Princes and their servants, States and their Parliaments, are now compelled to minister to the secret societies, and to register the decrees. How just was the counsel of the Pope to the German Emperor in warning him that putting his trust in the secret societies and adopting their destructive policy, he was undermining his own throne. How long will thrones stand when altars are overthrown? To day the war is directed against religion; to morrow it will be waged against monarchy, against established order, and against property.

The principal object of attack in this article, is the "Internationale" with which we have nothing to do.

But then the writer, changing at once, so to say, his "venue," proceeds to associate our society with that of the "Internationale" with which it has nothing whatever in common. "The leaders of the secret societies, Masonic or International," he boldly says, are in many countries at the head of affairs, &c." And again, a little before, as he had declared, "the Sovereign Pontiff once more condemns those secret societies, which whether they be called Masonic, or pass under any other name, have no other object in view than the extinction of the Church, so a little lower down, he informs us that by the choice expression, the "synagogue of Satan," it is these secret societies Masonic or otherwise, which are so denominated.

As we object on principle to "Billingsgate" at all times, we do not think it needful or becoming to continue the discussion on such terms. All we can do is, to assure the highly agitated man who pens this fluent article, that the Freemasons in England have nothing to do with the Roman Catholic body, and are in no way mixed up in any proceedings of a political character, or of a religious persecution.

In some countries abroad, mutual antagonism exists between the Ecclesiastical and Masonic bodies, and while we do not profess to defend either the words or acts of all Continental Masonic Grand Lodges, we feel bound to say, that, if the Church of Rome were wise in her generation, which she apparently is not, she would go on her own way, and leave interdicts and anathemas alone.

The sword of St. Dominic has been proved to be a very fatal weapon for a spiritual body to wield, and we surely have outlived the days and times of the Inquisition.

With the Church of Rome we have nothing to do, and if she will only leave Freemasons alone, and not perpetually insult them by allowing her representatives at one time to couple them with "Fenians," and at another time with the "Internationale," she may be as perfectly certain that we shall never in any way allude to the Church of Rome.

But the truth is, as we hear from all sides, the Church of Rome is now raising an organised attack on Freemasonry in several portions of the civilised world, and in many towns, without success. In Brazil, Bishop after Bishop has "charged" his clergy against these dreadful Freemasons, but all in vain, and such we feel certain will be the fate, everywhere, of unwarranted attacks and unfounded charges against our peaceful and philanthropic Order.

We are only speaking, to-day, of and for English Freemasonry, and we protest once for all against the old "ruse" of seeking to do injury to our Masonic body in public opinion by asserting of Freemasons that they have a secret political association. We emphatically deny the assertion and repudiate the charge, on behalf of English, and we believe we may say, American Freemasonry. If anywhere Freemasons are using the secrecy of our ancient Craft for the purpose of political movement against Church or State, we deeply deplore it, but such are not the genuine principles of Freemasonry. Once more we wish we could hope that the Church of Rome, taught by experience would give up her old habit of denunciation and anathema.

In seeking thus to "put down" Masonry or silence those who are opposed to her, she is in fact, like the famous old lady Mrs. Partington, immortalised by Sydney Smith, who sought to mop up the waves of the Atlantic beating on the sandy shore.

Since writing the above we have read Archbishop Manning's letter to the Times, of date December 10th. We deeply regret to find, that that undoubtedly able person endorses the mistaken view of the Roman Church, that Freemasonry, as a system, had anything to do with the serious controversy between the Roman Church and the Prussian Government. Archbishop Manning quotes the Rheinische Herold, which he says "openly confesses itself to be the organ of the Masonic Lodges," a fact we venture to doubt, as speaking in terms of approval of the Emperor William's answer to the Pope. With that controversy we have nothing to do, for that is a question purely Germanic, and for the German people to settle for themselves, but all we contend for to-day, is, that we as Freemasons, in this country, openly disavow any political or religious discussions.

If in Germany, or elsewhere, the Masonic body and the Church of Rome are in collision, while we regret the fact, and should gladly hear that foreign Masonry pursued our far wiser course of action in all such matters, we cannot but repeat, that, the Church of Rome, in thus branding Freemasons as unbelievers, conspirators, and revolutionists, furnishes a handle to those who oppose her, and betrays alike the weakness of her own position, and the injustice of her own anathemas.

OTHER ATTACKS ON FREEMASONRY.

It seems that the Roman Catholic is not the only body of ecclesiastics which thinks it well to attack Freemasonry.

Some years ago, so far back indeed, as the last century, a Scotch Presbyterian Synod made a wonderful "deliverance" against our Order.

However, in that long-headed country, nobody took any notice of it, the matter soon dropped, and Freemasonry went on its way, none the worse for this "magni Fovis incrementum."

It still can be perused, though worth very little, even as an historical fact, in those dusty little volumes which delight the eyes of some Brother Hughan or other Masonic bibliopist.

In England, as a general rule, Freemasons are wisely let alone, but even from time to time, mutterings have been heard of doubt or disapproval based on religious grounds, as it has been said, on mostly on no grounds at all. That able and eloquent writer who afterwards was termed "Father Faber," alludes to Freemasons and Freemasonry in a very uncomplimentary way in some otherwise charming tracts of his we have perused, and Bishop Armstrong, a well known African missionary bishop, thought well to publish a severe condemnation of the principles and proceedings of Freemasonry.

There is also in America a very large, though in England a very small, supply of anti-Masonic literature, all based on so-called religious objections.

Latterly we saw in a juvenile periodical a controversy as to whether or no our Bro. Lord Eliot had accepted as a condition of his joining a well-known ecclesiastical society—the understanding that he should withdraw from an active participation in Freemasonry.

That such a state of things should exist in 1873, we could hardly credit, or that such a condition of intolerance and bigotry could be suggested, much less discussed, we must be permitted to doubt. For in truth such an aspect of matters would reflect discredit on both parties to the discussion. But, still as there are, it appears, a certain number of people who still object to Freemasonry, let us look at it to-day from a very simple point of view.

We do not say that the objectors are very important, or the objections worth much, but still here they both are continually before us, and let us give them an answer once, for all:

We may observe, before we do so, that these childish aspersions on Freemasonry generally come from those who are very imperfectly acquainted even with their own dogmata, and who understand nothing of the history of the society they so foolishly anathematise. Now Freemasonry is not a religious or a political society, and in no way interferes with or antagonises any question of church or state. It is a purely philanthropic order, standing, no doubt, on a very wide basis—the recognition of one great and holy and eternal Supreme Being, and therefore being built up on so broad a foundation, it certainly disclaims all subjects either of debate or controversy which relate to especial creeds or form of belief, however good or excellent per se. Freemasonry, as a body, is ever willing to associate herself with a religious denomination in seeking to promote works of common piety and admitted usefulness, but as her banner is an universal banner, whether for good or evil, she goes on her way to-day, unruffled by the breezes of contemporary controversy unaffected by the religious discussions of mankind.

Some persons have objected to such a position and have asked, and have wished, that Freemasonry should be either more religious denominationally on the one hand, or take a more distinct view of mere philosophic or humanitarian progress on the other.

But Freemasonry has kept, and still keeps, as it were, the via media between these two extremes, and, without either discussing politics or religion, offers a broad ground of philanthropic sympathy and goodwill for her members to assemble on and act together. Her maxims are unchanging, of gentleness, toleration, forbearance, and moderation, and alike in her exoteric arrangements or in her esoteric teaching, she ever asserts the lessons of pure benevolence, and commends the humble practice of every moral and social virtue.

Why such a society should be objected to, or placed under a ban, and subject to an anathema or an interdict, is difficult for us to say, but, as has been often said, "such is life," and we can only deal with facts as they are, and as we chance to find them in our hourly existence.

Let us hope, that, gradually such foolish prejudices and idle cavils may all happily disappear, and that, Freemasonry may be recognized by many who for some cause, or for no reason, are still her opponents, as ever a handmaid to religion, to order, and to law, the faithful expositrix of her undying principles, "Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth."

We would draw the attention of our many readers to the fact that the Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar for 1874, is now ready, price 2s. od. post free 2s. 2d., and may be had at Bro. Kenning's Masonic Depots, or through any respectable bookseller or newsagent.

WEEKLY SUMMARY.

Sunday, being the anniversary of the death of the lamented Prince Consort, Her Majesty the Queen, their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, Prince and Princess Louise of Hesse, Princess Christian of Schleswig Holstein, Princess Beatrice, the Duke of Edinburgh, Prince Arthur, and Prince Leopold, went to the Mausoleum this morning at 11 o'clock.

A special service was performed by the Hon. and Very Rev. the Dean of Windsor, assisted by the Very Rev. the Dean of Westminster.

Sir George Elvey, Mus. D., and a portion of the choir of St. George's Chapel, were in attendance, and sang the following hymns and anthem:—

HYMN I.

Happy are the faithful dead,
In the Lord who sweetly die;
They from all their toils are freed,
In God's keeping safely lie:
These the Spirit hath declared
Blest, unutterably blest;
Jesus is their great reward,
Jesus is their endless rest.

Followed by their works they go
Where their Head is gone before,
Reconciled by grace below;
Grace has opened mercy's door;
Fuller joys ordained to know,
Waiting for the last Great Day,
When the Archangel's trump shall blow,
"Rise to judgment, come away."

Absent from our loving Lord
We shall not continue long:
Join we then with one accord
In the new, the joyful song;
Blessing, honour, thanks, and praise,
Triune God, we pay to Thee,
Who in thine abundant grace,
Givest us the victory. Amen.

HYMN II.

Wake, awake, for night is flying,
The watchmen on the heights are crying,
Awake, Jerusalem, at last!
Midnight hears the welcome voices,
And at the thrilling cry rejoices,
Come forth, ye virgins, night is past,
The Bridegroom comes, awake!
Your lamps with gladness take.
Hallelujah!

And for His marriage feast prepare,
For ye must go to meet Him there.
Zion hears the watchmen singing
And all her heart with joy is springing.
She wakes, she rises from her gloom;
For her Lord comes down all-glorious,
The strong in grace, in truth victorious.
Her star has risen, her Light has come!
Ah come, Thou blessed Lord,
O Jesus, Son of God.

Hallelujah!

We follow till the halls we see
Where Thou hast bid us sup with Thee.

FRUGALITY AND PHILANTHROPY

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Bro. Gottheil, in his able letter of Saturday last, though he has put forward his view of the subject with great power and perspicuity, has not quite represented the whole truth of the matter.

I quite agree with Bro. Gottheil that it would be most undesirable if even it were possible, to curtail the "amusements of the people," or to interfere unnecessarily with the social arrangements of our lodges, which I quite admit are not only most needful but most beneficial for our Craft. But the real question is, whether our system may not admit of some little amendment, and whether, in our present regulations on the subject, we quite do justice either to our lodges or our own feelings, or best promote the interests of charity, and the general welfare and progress of Freemasonry.

I quite endorse Bro. Gottheil's view that where the bye-laws of a lodge require a certain amount of annual subscription, and that for that sum certain banquets are specified among the privileges of the members, they receive in fact, only their "quid pro quo," and cannot fairly be said to employ the lodge funds for eating and drinking. At the same time I say this, I do not think those good bye-laws, which provide for any banquets out of the lodge subscriptions. For let us see how this system works. There are three systems in fact at present in vogue amongst us. One is the system which fixes the subscription at a given sum, and provides in the bye-laws for so many banquets gratis to the brethren yearly. The second is the system which calls upon the members of the lodge for a certain annual subscription, but says nothing about banquets, and when in consequence the expenses for refreshment are paid by the brethren personally each lodge night, and collected by the Stewards.

We must always bear in mind that while in London, and a few of our larger towns the lodges may be termed, without offence, dinner lodges, that is, where work is followed by a regular dinner, the great majority of our Provincial Lodges only have as a general rule supper after their labours, a much lighter and less expensive kind of refreshment. There is a third system where the subscription is at the minimum, and where the lodge provides the "catables," but where the Stewards provide the "drinkables," and each brother, to use a homely term, "pays his own shot." I do not purpose in this letter to pass any judgment, and least of all to cast any imputation upon either of these systems, or the Brethren who uphold advisedly, one or the other of them.

But the effect certainly of the present system is, that a large proportion of our lodges do not subscribe as lodges to any of the Masonic Charities, and though the names of the brethren appear on the list, the lodges themselves are not to be found there—with some happy and honourable exceptions. Bros. Hughan and Hodges, in their remarks, have been actuated by a desire to increase our charitable returns, and certainly the fact stated, if true, ought to suggest serious thought, namely that more than one lodge is in debt for the dinner fund, and is unable to do anything for charity.

This discussion will have this one good result. Let us hope that it will make some of us think, and if it only elicits one or two more as able letters as Bro. Gottheil's is, it will shew what I have always said, how great is the latent and dormant talent of the Craft.

AN OLD P.M. AND P.Z.

NOT GENERALLY KNOWN.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I do not, I confess, at all appreciate or admire Bro. Jacob Norton's constant allusion to his "credulous brethren" in America, of whom, according to his own view, many "thousands" exist.

If our good brother possesses so much more light than his brethren generally, he should seek to enlighten them in a kind, courteous, and Masonic way.

It is not Masonic always to be dwelling on the supposed ignorance or credulity of others; when some might think, that, Bro. Jacob Norton, earnest as he is, pushes his cavils to the verge of absolute scepticism, and might say, fairly enough, "It is better to believe too much than too little."

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In reply to "An Enquirer," honorary members cannot vote in lodge, and certainly cannot ballot for candidates for admission.

None but bonâ fide subscribing members to the lodge can vote or ballot.

BRO. BIGG AND THE MIDDLESEX LODGE.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

The letter of "P.M.," which appears in your columns of the 13th inst., courts a reply from me to two questions, which I have no hesitation in giving, though I confess I have a dislike to anonymous correspondents. Possibly our worthy brother withholds his name, lest Bro. Salmon or myself should offer him the opportunity of enjoying our hospitality and thus disturb the balance of his fraternal impartiality.

1st. When the W.M. of the Middlesex came over to where I stood, and asked me to retire from the lodge until my introducer arrived, I said "All Masons were eligible to attend lodges and that it was not the rule of my lodge to expel brethren under such circumstances." Bro. Salmon told me in courteous terms, "It is our rule, and I advise you to withdraw."

2nd. The W.M. never hinted at the idea of "trying and proving" me, nor did I in the face of such a peremptory rule as the above, venture to obtrude myself on the brethren of the Middlesex Lodge.

I respectfully submit that the question at issue is not one involving "boorishness and inhospitality either, or caution and fidelity." It goes at the very root of "Masonry and its principles." It proclaims that the "Equality among Masons" is an axiom enforced in theory, but eschewed in practice, and that the maxims of "meeting on the level and parting on the square" is a practical Masonic joke. It admits of class lodges encouraging exclusiveness, and divests Masonry of its most attractive characteristic.

I never did, and I trust never shall attempt to thrust myself into any society where my presence would be objectionable, hence I withdrew on this occasion to the "convenient room adjoining the lodge," awaiting the arrival of my introducers.

In conclusion I may remark that had the W.M. and his Wardens performed the duties expected of them by Grand Lodge, they would have attended the last quarterly communication, and would have recognised me as the mover of the first resolution on the Agenda, but possibly I may be too much like the editor of the Edinburgh Gazette, who, when he had written a slashing leader denouncing everything and everybody, finding he had created no sensation, and was unrecognised, remarked "Good God! and this is popularity!"

Yours fraternally,

FREDERICK BIGG,

W.M., 1261, P.M. 66.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I waited till your publication succeeding that which gave an account of Bro. P.M. Bigg's reception and dismissal at the Middlesex Lodge appeared, and which I do not hesitate to say was an outrage on the principles of Freemasonry, and may now be fitly so called; no explanation or apology having appeared in your columns from any member of that lodge.

I do not feel that one need wait for the replies invited by your correspondent last week, although doubtless they will be satisfactorily given, because it does not appear that any question was raised as to Bro. P.M. Bigg being a Mason; indeed he bears an historic name his father was one of the leading and prominent Masons of a past generation, and no doubt his son wore the splendid jewel, presented to his worthy sire in olden time. No! the rejection and outrage were from a principle of exclusiveness unworthy of the Lodge and of Masonry, which it is hoped exists to a very small extent elsewhere. This should be broken down by less tenacious Masons than Bro. Bigg. Brethren steady and firm of purpose must visit the Middlesex Lodge, now and again, as enjoined by the Book of Constitution, till the Middlesex brethren are taught better, or the Lodge is erased from an Order which, in one instance at least, it has disgraced. Bro. P.M. Bigg had an invitation to visit that Lodge but any Past Master has a right to visit that lodge, and remain throughout the working without any invitation.

Let me say to the Middlesex exclusives that we have an organ of Freemasonry circulating in every part of England and vastly beyond it, and its violations of Masonic law and the principles of Freemasonry are disgusting every true hearted Mason within its wide and extended circulation.

Yours truly, and fraternally,
AN OLD PAST GRAND OFFICER.

READING THE SCRIPTURES.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In answer to "P.M. 402," I may say the passage of Scripture used in the 3rd degree, is always repeated—never "read." I am sorry I used the word "read," it was a great mistake on my part.

I would also assure your correspondent that the working of the ceremonies in the Hertford Lodge differs in no wise from that of any other lodge using the Emulation working. We only flatter ourselves that it is better done than in most lodges. With hearty good wishes,

I am, fraternally yours,
A P.M., 403.

A CAUTION.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

It having come to the knowledge of the members of the Lindsey Lodge that a person giving the name of Geo. W. Ward, has, on more than one occasion succeeded in obtaining money from the Almoners of other lodges by representing himself to be a member of the Lindsey Lodge, and shewing a copy of the by-laws of that lodge in his possession, permit me to state for the benefit of your readers that although Mr. George Went Ward was initiated and passed in this lodge some two years ago, he never received the 3rd degree, circumstances having occurred which led to the lodge declining that honour. He has no certificate from Grand Lodge, and is returned as a defaulter by the Lindsey Lodge.

I am, yours faithfully and fraternally,

BRO. LUPUS AND BRO. MACLEOD-MOORE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In your issue of the 1st Nov., page 705, acknowledging from Bro. Emra Holmes the receipt of a copy of my address delivered before the Grand Lodge of Canada, on the 14th August last, you state with reference to the Order of St. John, that "I adopt" the views of Bro. Lupus. I beg to say that long before I ever knew that our talented brother was a member of the Order, or had written on the subject, I entertained those views, but must confess I feel much gratified by finding they are shared by so competent an authority as Bro. Lupus.

I am, yours fraternally,
F. W. J. B. McLEOD-MOORE,
Grand Prior of Canada.

MASSACRE OF FREEMASONS IN CUBA.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir, and Brother,—

I beg to call your attention to the following lines, taken from the New York Times of Wednesday, November 19, 1873,

"Letters have been received in this city under date of 'Santiago de Cuba, via Jamaica, Nov. 10,' showing that the Spaniards in Cuba, in addition to the bloody cruelty exhibited in the case of those on board the Virginius, have also recently been guilty of other atrocities. The facts are thus related in one of the letters:

'It is known that on the night of the 7th inst. after the Virginius had been brought here, the volunteers, together with the crew of the Tornado, wound up their infernal orgies by making an excursion outside the city where the widows of the unfortunate Master Masons, executed in 1868, lived in poverty. Shortly after the outbreak of the Cuban revolution, the Masonic fraternity in Cuba were forbidden to meet in council. The then Captain General issued an order prohibiting the contemplated session of the Grand Lodge at Santiago de Cuba. The officers ignored the pronouncement, and a company of Spanish volunteers were sent to the lodge-room. They broke open the doors, seized the officers and placed them in irons. The next day they were taken a short distance from the town and shot. The widows and orphans of the murdered men were sent into the woods and denied subsistence and clothing. They were also forbidden to leave the territory under the penalty of death. Since the year 1869, these outcasts have lived on what was surreptitiously sent to them by the humane Cubans. On the night of the 7th inst., when the news of the Virginius reached Santiago the Spanish volunteers, in fiendish exultation over their triumph, visited these poor creatures. The ruffians brutally outraged the helpless women, and in the struggle four of them were killed. Seven others have since died, and several are in such a dangerous condition that they cannot possibly recover.'

In view of the above terrible statement of facts, a petition is now being circulated in this city, which is being signed generally by the Masters of Masonic lodges in New York, and Past Masters of lodges residing here, calling for an emergent session of the Grand Lodge of the State, to take such action as may be necessary in the matter. Similar action on the part of the Masonic fraternity is being taken also in New Jersey and Massachusetts.

In the American State papers for 1869, "information in regard to the progress of the revolution in Cuba"—pages 58, 59 and 60—full particulars are given of the massacre of the Freemasons alluded to. They were all heads of families and well known in Santiago; Gonzalo Villar, lawyer; José Antonio Perez, physician; Manuel Espin, physician; Salvador Benitez, merchant; the brothers Bruno and José Antonio Collazo, merchants; Miguel Ascencio; Antonia Villasana, notary public; and Manuel Fremeda, notary public. They were shot by order of Colonel Palacios of the regiment of Onteguera, without any form of trial, or authority of any source whatsoever. Their only crime was to be Freemasons.

I entreat you to make these facts known to your readers. Freemasons as Freemasons have nothing to do with politics, but the Masonic fraternity of England can, for humanity's sake, ask the British Government not to be indifferent to such atrocities.

Yours Fraternally
December 3rd, 1873. MANHATTAN.

HONORARY MEMBERS.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

(IN REPLY TO A BROTHER OF NO. 1353.)

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Honorary members should be composed of brethren upon whom the lodge may confer the distinction as a mark of respect, and in consideration of their zeal and exertion in the cause of Masonry and also for services rendered. Lodge 1353 should have a by-law such as this—"No member shall have a right to vote on any occasion, or to sit down to banquet, nor shall he be eligible to any office unless he shall have previously paid his subscription."

Now as honorary members pay no subscription it is clear they cannot vote, take office, attend the banquet without invitation, nor can they legally address the chair without the consent of the W.M. unless called upon by the W.M. to give their opinion upon any subject. An honorary member is simply enrolled on the register of a lodge and receives the usual summonses, and has the privilege of attending the meetings, unchallenged as an ordinary visitor would be.

Grand Lodge will not recognize honorary members, and honorary members, P.M.'s who do not subscribe to some lodge cannot obtain admission to Grand Lodge by virtue of their being honorary members, even if P.M.'s of a lodge.

MAGNUS OHREN,

P.M. 33 and 452, G.J.W. for Surrey.

CHARITIES.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Permit me to make one or two remarks on the unfavourable, but good-natured comments on the "Charity Voting Reform" movement contained in the leading article of last week.

I shall leave Bro. Hogg to speak for himself. For myself I am happy to say I am not a "new convert" but an old manager who has seen with deep regret the gross abuses of the voting system during the last ten years, at least.

I did not, and do not say that our "Charities" are "a pauperizing system," but that the mode in which the elections to them are conducted is certainly so. For instance, I should feel much humiliated to see the child and widow of my deceased friend running up and down the stairs, and corridors of Cannon Street Hotel, with supplicating looks and gestures; and thrusting cards of particulars into the hand of every supposed voter; or to find the latter sending out 6000 printed cards or circulars giving particulars of her domestic misfortunes, &c., &c. I think, too, you will agree with me that it is rather a "travestic of charity" to gravely offer by advertisement "six votes" for a certain "Asylum" in return for a "lop-eared rabbit" or a "seal-skin jacket." I look, sir, on every vote as a trust, to be exercised with a sense of responsibility, not a mere chattel for indulging patronage, making money or open to exchange.

The charities of England, as of Masonry, are amongst the brightest jewels in its crown of glory—and the managers are, in general, men of the highest integrity, the greatest ability and the most disinterested zeal; but it is not the charities or the managers we attack, it is something outside of both—a fungus growth of years, eating out the life of charity, and impeding the healthy action of the voting system.

I may mention that our present movement was intended to take within its scope only the general charities, and not those of particular bodies such as the Freemasons, Clergy and the like. Yet I cannot but feel in regard to all our charitable institutions, that the more British sympathy and Christian charity have free course the less shall we seek an equivalent for our gifts, or if we must have an equivalent in the shape of a vote, the more scrupulous shall we be to use it as a solemn trust, to be put out in the interest of the most poor, most friendless and most deserving.

I am, dear Sir and Brother,
Fraternally yours,
Dec., 17, 1873. R. J. SIMPSON.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—During every break of wintry weather, excursions should be made by the afflicted to recover health before unremitting cold and trying storms set in. Throat ailments, coughs, wheezings, asthmatical affections, shortness of breath, morning nausea, and accumulation of phlegm, can easily be removed by rubbing this fine derivative ointment twice a day upon the chest and neck. Holloway's ointment is strongly recommended with the view of giving immediate ease, preventing prospective danger, and effecting permanent relief. These all-important ends his ointment and pills can accomplish, and will surely prevent insidious diseases from fastening on the constitution, to display themselves afterwards in those disastrous forms that will probably embitter life till death itself is almost prayed for.—ADVTR.

PROVINCIAL GRAND MARK LODGE.

The regular meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons, was held under the auspices of the United Service Lodge, No. 69, at the Sun Hotel, Chatham, on Monday, the 15th December, when a large number of Mark Masons were present.

The R.W.P.G.M.M. (Bro. the Rev. G. W. Sicklemore, M.A.) took his seat on the throne at 2.45. Prov. G.M. Lodge was opened in due form and with solemn prayer.

After the usual salutations to the R.W.P.G.M.M. and the V.W.Dep.P.G.M.M. (Bro. T.H. Grove Snowden, W.M., 129), the minutes of the special P.G.M. Lodge held at Ramsgate, on the 14th of March last, were read and confirmed.

The P.G.M. Sec. (Bro. James W. Smith) reported that the By-Laws made at the last special Prov. G.M. Lodge had been approved by the General Board of G.M. Lodge, except as to the last clause of By-Law No. 7, which provided that Pro. G.M. Stewards should, on promotion to a higher office, pay the full fee of honour. This had been struck out by the General Board, so that Stewards, with respect to promotion, might stand on the same footing as other officers.

The P.G.M. Sec. likewise reported that the R.W.P.G.M.M., after the By-Laws had been made and approved, had appointed Bro. J. L. Ellerm, S.W. 152, to act as Auditor on his behalf and that the P.G.M. Treasurer's accounts had been audited by him as well as by the other Auditors appointed by P.G.M. Lodge.

The report of the Committee of General Purposes was read and confirmed, the Committee congratulating the P.G.M. Lodge on the fact of there having been during the current year no petition for relief from the Fund of Benevolence.

The P.G.M. Treasurer (Bro. L. Finch, P.M. 129) presented his accounts, which were unanimously approved of.

Bros. Finch and Meager were then severally unanimously elected Treasurer and Tyler for the ensuing year.

The P.G.M. Master then appointed and invested the following officers for the year ensuing:—Bros. G. Ashdown, P.S.G.M.W.; J. G. Redman, P.J.G.M.W.; H. C. Fuhr, P.G.M.O.; G. Page, P.G.S.O.; John Canham, P.G.J.O.; W. H. Edwards, P.G. Reg. of Marks; James W. Smith, P.G. Secretary; William Crawford, P. Assist. G. Sec.; James Hewett, P.S.G.M. Deacon; Charles Burley, P.J.G.M. Deacon; W. B. Wallace, P.G.M. Inspector of Works; T. Newton, P.G.M. Director of Ceremonies; T. W. Fripp, P. Assistant G.M. Director of Ceremonies; T. Nicholls, P.G.M. Sword Bearer; H. Baker, P.G.M. Standard Bearer; W. Larkin, P.G.M. Organist; T. Watson, P.G.M. Purst; W. Tucker, P.G.M. Steward.

Bros. Emmerson, P.P.G.G.M.W., and Page, P.G.S.O., together with Bro. Ellerm, S.W. 129 (appointed by the R.W.P.G.M.M.), were then elected Auditors for the ensuing year.

Bros. Hiscocks, Crawford, Emmerson, and Redman, were then elected as a Committee of General Purposes.

The Lodge was then closed.

A grand banquet afterwards followed, at which the Rev. G. W. Sicklemore, M.A., P.G.M.M.M., presided. After the cloth had been cleared and grace said, the following toasts were duly proposed and honoured:—

"The Queen and Mark Masonry." "The M.W.G.M.M. Earl Percy and the other Grand Officers." "The R.W. Deputy G.M.M. Earl of Limerick and the rest of the Grand Officers Past and Present." "The R.W.P.G.M. Master of Kent." "The United Service Brompton Lodge," complimenting them on their splendid reception. "The Deputy P.G.M. Master, Past and Present Officers of the Province of Kent," with Kentish fire. "Viscount Holmesdale, P.G.M.M."

The company separating after a handsome collection for the Fund of Benevolence.

CONSECRATION OF A NEW LODGE AT PORT WILLIAM, WIGTOWNSHIRE.

Port William was on Tuesday last, Dec. 19, the scene of proceedings of a rather unusual character, and if they failed to excite widespread interest, it was because they were not patent to the outer world. We refer to the consecration and erection of the Mason Lodge, "Myrton," Port William, No. 539, and the installation of the office-bearers of the lodge by the P.G.M. of Wigtown and Kirkcubright, Capt. Harriott of Killiemore. Among the brethren in the province the "work" to be done excited a lively interest, and at an early hour in the forenoon of the day named, deputations from sister lodges found their way to Port William. The Monreith Arms, in which Bro. McCall does the duties of host with natural courtesy and geniality, was the general rendezvous, while the office-bearers elect of Myrton Lodge were getting the tools ready. At one o'clock the brethren met in the Myrton Lodge-room, where the Provincial Grand Lodge was opened in ample form, the office-bearers present being:—Bros. Capt. Harriott, of Killiemore, R.W.P.G.M.; T. W. Campbell, of Walton Park, D.P.G.M.; Dr. Millman, New Galloway, P.G.S.W.; William McIlwraith, Stranraer, P.G.J.W.; Rev. D. Stewart, Dalbeattie, P.G. Chaplain; James McMuldrow, Kirkcubright, P.G. Secretary; William Kerr, Dalbeattie, P.G.S.D.; John Hislop, New Galloway, P.G.J.D.; James Clarke, Kirkcubright, P.G.I.G.; James Livingstone, Kirkcubright, P.G. Tyler. The solemn and impressive ceremony of consecration was proceeded with in due form, and according to the well-established usages and customs of the Craft. The new lodge having been duly consecrated, the office-bearers elect presented themselves, and were cordially approved of. The P.G.M. then, in Masonic style, installed the following as office-bearers of the Lodge Myrton, Port William, No. 539:—Bros. Alex. Thomson, Barmael, R.W.M.; Henry Montgomerie, D.M.; James McCall, S.M.; James McMurray, Drumrae, S.W.; Hugh McMaster, J.W.; John Macfarlane, Secretary; John McCulloch, Treasurer; J. D. Picken, S.D.; John Nish, J.D.; James Chalmers, I.G.; Gavin Melville, Tyler. At the conclusion of the ceremony, R.W.M. Bro. Thomson briefly thanked the P.G.M. and assembled brethren for the honour and favour the members of Port William had received at their hands. The P.G. Lodge was then reduced from the high degree in which the labour had been conducted, and closed in the usual form. The brethren afterwards met in the Monreith Arms, under the presidency of the P.G.M., and dined together in fraternal style. After dinner the lodge was opened, and soon after the column in the south was observed to be in the ascendant, which induced the craftsmen to spend a couple of hours in harmony. The P.G.M. gave the usual loyal and Masonic toasts in capital style, and under the guidance of the D.P.G.M. the brethren executed several rounds of "volley-firing" with spirit and precision. In proposing the toast of the evening—"Success to the youngest daughter of the province, 'Myrton,' Port William"—the P.G.M. adverted to the work which the brethren had undertaken in the locality, and enlarged in an eloquent strain on the prominent principles of the Order, which in their lives and actions, they would be called upon to illustrate and promote. He coupled with the toast the name of Bro. Thomson, R.W.M., who made a brief and appropriate response. Other toasts followed from the east, and were honoured in truly Masonic style. Among those were the deputations from sister lodges, which were acknowledged by the following brethren, whose names were coupled with the toast:—Bro. McMuldrow, R.W.M., St. Cuthbert's, Kirkcubright, No. 41; Bro. T. W. Campbell, R.W.M., St. John's, Castle Douglas, No. 189; Bro. Rev. D. Stewart, Chaplain, Granite Union, Dalbeattie, No. 480; Bro. Dr. Millman, R.W.M. St. John's, New Galloway, No. 494; Bro. Hunter, St. Ninian's, Newtonstewart, No. 499; Bro. W. Shaw, D.M., Kilwinning, Stranraer, No. 519. At last a call from the south brought the brethren from refreshment to labour, and it having been ascertained that all were satisfied, the lodge was closed in the usual manner. The brethren from the east drove to Newtonstewart, some to catch the late train, and others to continue their journey through 18 miles of a wild and exposed, although romantic district, while those from Stranraer drove home through Glenluce. Much satisfaction was expressed at the tokens of life manifested by the P.G. Lodge, and a hope was entertained that another meeting might be held before long under its fostering care.

RESTORATION OF ST. ALBAN'S ABBEY.

A brilliant and most successful concert was given on Tuesday evening, 25th, at Woodhole Park, Herts, the magnificent seat of Bro. Abel Smith, M.P., under the patronage of the Lady Susan Smith, assisted by a party of well-known musicians in aid of the fund for the restoration of St. Alban's Abbey.

The concert was held, as on previous occasions in the spacious library, at the end of which there was a temporary raised platform, and in front of which a number of choice and elegant foliage plants were very tastefully grouped. Whether from the interest felt in the object for which it was given, or from the certainty that a musical treat was in store, or, perhaps, from a combination of both feelings, an audience assembled which filled the room to overflowing. The visitors staying in the house who were present at the concert, were—The Earl of Verulam and the Ladies Grimston; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marten; Mr. and Mrs. Toulmin; Mr. Balfour, cousin of the Marquis of Salisbury—the future member for Hertford; Mr. and Mrs. R. Hoare, &c., &c. Amongst the general company we noticed Bro. Abel Smith, M.P., and Lady Susan Smith and Miss Evelyn Smith; Bro. the Rev. Lewis Deedes, P.G. Chaplain for Herts, and Mrs. Deedes; Major General Bouchier; Mrs. Hudson, and Bro. W. H. Hudson and Lady Audley; Mr. and Mrs. Finch; Bro. the Baron Dimsdale, the Baroness and the Miss Dimsdales; Col. and Mrs. Robertson; Bro. W. C. Baker and Mrs. Baker; the Hon. Canon Barrington and Lady Catherine Barrington; Bro. R. B. Croft and Mrs. Croft; Capt. and Mrs. Mark Pechell; Mr. and Mrs. Fowel Buxton; Mrs. Busk; the Hon. Mr. and Mrs. Mostyn, and the Misses Monk; Rev. Sir J. C. and Lady Hawkins; Major Logan; Sir H. Vavasour; the Mayor of Hertford, (the only gentleman who attended the concert in morning dress, he is not a Mason); Bro. McKenzie and the Misses McKenzie; Bro. Dr. Warrener and Miss Warrener; Bros. Morris; Stephen Austin and Mrs. Austin; Bros. Wright; Herbert Busy Hodges and Mrs. Herbert Hodges and about 260 other ladies and gentlemen.

The appreciative enjoyment of the entertainment was most unmistakably evinced by the unanimous and loud applause elicited by each separate performance.

The following was the programme of the concert, which was under the able direction of Bro. WILHELM GANZ, who has so often displayed his talent, as well as his liberality on similar occasions at Woodhole Park.

"Bid me discourse," was beautifully rendered by Miss Sophie Ferrari, as was also the duett by the two sisters. The voices of the Ladies Grimston, Miss Evelyn Smith, Miss Mary Blake, and Mr. Sykes, rendered efficient aid to swell the choruses.

Of the masterly playing of Bro. Herr Ganz, both in his solo and in the accompaniment of the songs, it is enough to say that it was "perfection."

The company numbered over two hundred and sixty ladies and gentlemen, who all partook of the generous hospitality of Bro. Abel and the Lady Susan Smith, and who were all delighted with their treat, and charmed with the courtesy of their host and hostess. The total receipts of the concert was £59, which will be paid to the Restoration Fund of St. Alban's Abbey, the whole of the expenses of the concert being defrayed by Bro. Abel Smith, (403).

Those brethren who are believers in our old Masonic traditions will say that this was well done.

The annual general meeting of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland was held, on Monday, in their library, Royal Institution, Scotland. The first business being the election of office-bearers in room of those retiring, the Duke of Sutherland was elected president, and Sir Joseph Noel Paton one of the vice-presidents: while W. F. Skene, LL.D., Mr. Robert Horn (advocate), and Captain Thomas, R.N., were added to the council, in room of the retiring members. Baroness Burdett-Coutts was elected a lady associate of the society. The treasurer gave a satisfactory statement of the condition of the funds. During the year 250 articles of antiquarian interest have been presented to the museum, and 250 volumes of books and pamphlets have been presented to the library. Reviews.

"Ever the Same." Written by Bro. ALFRED B. EMANUEL; composed by C. RICHARDSON. London: John Shepherd, 20, Warwick Lane, Paternoster Row, and of the author, 27, Somerford Grove, Stoke Newington.

This beautiful ballad has now reached a fifth edition. It is really charming in melody, and the poetry is very pretty. It is in the key of E flat; compass E flat to E flat.

It has been sung with much enthusiasm by many popular singers, including Mr. Sims Reeves. It cannot fail to please wherever sung, either in drawing or concert room. We beg to recommend it to our musical brethren, and feel confident whilst so doing they will be highly delighted.

"Often." New Song. Words and music by CARL WAGNER. London: Bro. Alfred B. Emanuel, "Bijou" Lodge, Burnt Ash Lane, Lee, S.E.

This excellent composition may be classed with Carl Wagner's great production, which have all proved great successes. Both words and music are good, and should be placed in every drawing-room. We congratulate the composer of this pathetic song, and may say great power has been displayed in its arrangement; and we trust that it will obtain a large and well-deserved circulation.

The Secreta Monita of the Jesuits; being the private rules of the Lion's Provider. Edited by H. M. W. Revised and collated with former editions; with an appendix by writers of eminence. Dedicated to the Rt. Hon. The Earl of Enniskillen. Glasgow: William Love, 40, St. Enoch Square.

The sole end of this edition of the "Secreta Monita" of the Jesuits, is the enlightenment of our fellow-countrymen as to the aims and ends of that confederation. And the editor has tried in this little work to rouse a Protestant spirit against the system he has opposed. It contains some seventy pages, well printed on fine tone paper.

We have also received "The House of Argyll and the collateral branches of the Clan Campbell, from the year 420 to the present time." Glasgow: John Tweed, 11, St. Enoch Square. London: Houlston and Son, Paternoster Row.

The House of Argyll, as the head of the Clan Campbell, holds a prominent position in our national history, its records are so closely blended with every struggle for religious and political freedom, the actions of its chiefs have shed such lustre on our annals, that any fresh fact connected with their history cannot fail to be welcome to the public. The contents gives—"The House of Argyll, The House of Craignish, The House of Breadalbane, The House of Cawdor, The House of London, The Campbells of Lochnell, The Campbells of Asknish, The Campbells of Auchinbreck, The Campbells of Abernehill."

The writer has very ably shown that the Campbells were equal to any of their compeers in the various arts, manufactures, and commerce. And were also eminent in the pulpit and the press, the synod and the senate, distinguished alike at the bar and on the bench, in the camp and at the court. He says—"No race has more freely offered up their lives in their country's service, both by sea and land. They have shone alike as poets, philosophers and philanthropists, doctors, and divines."

In the appendix are given some prominent facts in the history of the Clan, omitted by McEwin and Colvin, by the first setting forth an epitome of the history of the younger branches, and afterward giving a sketch of a few of the most distinguished men of the name, amongst whom are Baron Campbell, Lord Clyde, and many other noted celebrities. We have much pleasure in recommending this valuable and well-written history. The binding is so attractive, that, lying on the drawing-room table, would be quite an ornament. Then, those who take it up and open it, cannot fail to be delighted with its illustrations—so admirable in design, and so exquisite in execution, and those who go on to read its pages will be carried along gently and pleasantly by its choice reading. Altogether it contains the fullest account yet published of the history of the Clan Campbell. We cordially recommend it to our numerous readers, feeling assured that it will win their appreciation.

Masonic Tidings.

At a meeting held in furtherance of the objects of the Sydenham Industrial Exhibition, Bro. Magnus Ohren, M.I.C.E., presided.

H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, who is to be the guest, during the present week, of Lord Rendlesham, agreed to receive an address from the Mayor and Corporation of Ipswich, at the Railway-station, where the train waits on Tuesday. It was hoped that H.R.H. would be able to visit the town during the cattle show, but his many engagements prevent his doing so. The Ipswich Masons were particularly desirous to show him some mark of respect and entertain the Prince, and communicated with the Provincial Grand Master of Suffolk, Lord Waveney, on the subject. His lordship telegraphed to Bro. Bobby, S.G.W. of Suffolk, on the 11th, that the Prince of Wales thanked the Masonic body, but as he would not arrive at Ipswich till late and proceed at once to Lord Rendlesham's, he regretted he could not accept their invitation.

THE MASONIC BALL AT LIVERPOOL.—The arrangements for the forthcoming annual Masonic Ball in the "good old town," on the 13th of January next, are in a forward state, and there is no doubt that this will probably be as brilliant as any of the twenty-four which have preceded it. The patronage is a most distinguished one, and the Committee is composed as follows: Bro. Lord Skelmersdale, R.W.P.G.M., President; Bro. the Hon. F. Stanley, D.P.G.M., Vice-President; Bro. Dr. J. K. Smith, P.M. 249 & 1094, Chairman; Bro. C. H. Hill, P.G. Reg., Vice-Chairman; Bro. D. W. Winstanley, Hon. Sec.; and Bro. R. Brown, Treasurer. At a meeting on Friday last, thirty-five Stewards were appointed and it was then resolved to have a set of splendid Stewards' badges manufactured by Bro. G. Kenning, of London and Liverpool, with distinguishing badges for the members of the Committee. The Mayor and Mayoress, Lord and Lady Skelmersdale, and ex-Mayor (Bro. Samuelson) and Mrs. Samuelson are expected to be present.

We regret to learn that the worthy and talented organist, Bro. William Sparks, of Springfield Villa, Leeds, is suffering from a most severe attack of bronchitis, which precludes him from attending to his professional and other duties.

A very pretty five point, blue enamelled star, set in gold, with crossed quills filleted by a band, also of gold, and attached to a blue ribbon, with three bars of the precious metal, shaped somewhat after the style of Mercury's wand, was presented to Mr. John Alexander, by some of his brethren at the Joppa Lodge, on Tuesday evening, as an additional recognition of his services of a Past Secretary, and his merits as an individual. On the back is the inscription, neatly engraved, "Presented to Bro. Alexander, by a few members of the Joppa Lodge, Oct., 1873."

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.—Thursday next being Christmas Day, the usual monthly meeting of the House Committee will be held on the day previous.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.—The Most Hon. the Marquess of Ripon, K.G., M.W. Grand Master, has signified his consent to preside at the anniversary festival to be held on Wednesday, 11th of March next, "absence from England not preventing."

The Rev. O. G. D. Perrott, M.A., Oxon, Head-Master of Stepney Grammar School (in union with King's College School), has been elected Head-Master of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, and will enter on his duties at the termination of the Christmas holidays.

THE FIRST GRAND LODGE IN AMERICA.

Under the above heading, Bro. Clifford P. MacCalla, of Philadelphia, in a recent number of the "Keystone," of which admirably-conducted publication he is editor, gives an extract from my "Historical Notes on Scotch Lodges," now appearing in the "Freemason." It has reference to a letter of introduction presented by a Brother from Boston to the Lodge Glasgow Kilwinning in the year 1736. Having learned from Bro. Jacob Norton, of Boston, that in American Masonic circles some interest is attached to the letter in question, I beg to submit a verbatim copy of the minute as it appears in the oldest records of Glasgow Kilwinning:—"At the Old Coffeehouse. 2d Novemr. 1736. Members present: The Rt. Worshipful Jas. Montgomery pro Mastr.; John Murdoch pro Senr. Wrd.; Thos. Hamilton pro J. Varden; John Thomson, George Murdoch, James Craig, Robert Scot, Robert Draghorn, Arthur Martine, Andrew Scot, Alexr. Wardrop, John Telfier, William Robb; Robert Hamilton, Roger Rodburn (visiting brethren). At this meeting the following letter being presented by our trusty & well-beloved Brother Pathrick Robertson of New England, merchant, from our Sister Lodge in Boston, this lodge unanimously agreed and ordered the said letter to be engross'd in the books, and also judge it proper that an answer thereto may be transmitted by the hands of the above brother. James Montgomerie, pro. Mr. 'Most Worthy & Dear Brethren: Our true affection for the whole Fraternity will not permit, us to slip this favourable opportunity to give you sincere assurance of our due respect and regard for all our worthy brethren. Our hearty good wishes we forward to you under the care of our worthy Brother, Mr. Pathrick Robertson, who is a well esteem'd member of our Lodge. It will perhaps be acceptable to you that we inform you our Lodge was constituted here by our Right Worshipfull Master, Henry Price, Provincial Grand Master, on the 31st day of August, A.M. 5733, and is held at the Royall Exchange Tavern in King's Street, the second & fourth Wendsday of every month, and is adorn'd with the most eminent gentlemen of this great town, and keep up to its primitive beuty & purity. We shall always be ready & desirous to convince our Brethren, & particularly those of our R. Worshipfull Lodge, that we are with due respect Most Worthy & Dear Brethren, your sincere Bros. & humble Servts., Henry Price, G.M.; James Gordon, D.P.G.M.; Robt. Tomlinson, M.; Hugh M'Daniell, Sr. W.; John Osburn, Jr. W.; F. Breterth, Secretary. At Boston in New England, September the 1st, A.D. 1736."

D. MURRAY LYON.

Ayr, December 6, 1873.

The Scottish Corporation of London held its annual festival, on Monday, in the Freemasons' Tavern, under the presidency of the Lord Mayor (Mr. Alderman Lusk, M.P.) About 500 ladies and gentleman were present, many of the latter being in Highland costume. In proposing the toast of the evening, the Lord Mayor warmly commended the objects of the society to the consideration of the charitable; and the secretary (Mr. Macrae Moir) then announced subscriptions amounting to nearly £3000. Among them were 100 gs. from her Majesty, and similar sums were given by the Lord Mayor Sir A. Sassoon, Mr. Peter Reid, and Mr. P. Denny. Lord Chief Justice Coleridge responded for the Bench, and remarked that, though only a Devonshire lawyer, he still had some claim to Scotland, as he had Scottish blood in his veins. When he considered how successful Scotchmen generally were, he felt inclined, like Mr. Lowe, to wish that he had more of the Scottish element in his composition. Mr. Clemens (Mark Twain), who was one of the guests, responded for "The Ladies."

THE CRYSTAL PALACE.—The directors have elected Captain Flood Page to succeed Mr. Grove, as Secretary, at the end of the year.

CANE SUGAR v. BEET ROOT SUGAR.—One of the commonest economical mistakes, and one that presses with peculiar heaviness on the poorer classes, is that which promotes the use of unrefined raw or moist sugars, or of lump sugar prepared from beet root, because they are low priced. It would be easy to prove by quantitative analysis, beyond all possibility of question or dispute, that a pound of the sugar crystals manufactured by Messrs Finzel and Sons, the Bristol refiners, and sold for fourpence half-penny, is at the least equal to two pounds of any moist sugar, or to a pound and a half of the best beet root loaf sugar. But more than this, while raw sugars are always full of impurities, beet root sugar can never be freed entirely, even when mixed with cane, from the unpleasant flavour of the beet oil, a close relation of the fusil oil, to the presence of which in our alcohol such terrible effects are attributed. Its sweetening powers are far inferior to those of cane sugar, and while its use for most domestic purposes is extravagant in the extreme, in preserving it becomes ruinous from its constant tendency to ferment, from which Finzel's Crystals are secured by their remarkable freedom from moisture and impurity.

GLENFIELD STARCH is the only kind used in Her Majesty's Laundry. Those Ladies who have not yet used the Glenfield Starch, are respectfully solicited to give it a trial, and carefully follow out the directions printed on every package. It is rather more difficult to make than other Starches, but when this is overcome, they will say, like the Queen's Laundress, that it is the finest Starch they ever used. "When you ask for the Glenfield, see that you get it."

There are in connection with the College THREE ANNUAL EXHIBITIONS, open for general competition to all students, and tenable for three years.

Special Classes are formed for preparing students for the Legal, Medical, Home, Colonial, and Indian Civil Service Examinations; and for entrance to Woolwich, Coopers-hill, and the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, Dublin, Durham, and Edinburgh.

The Religious Teaching is based on strictly Protestant Principles, in accordance with the Doctrines and Liturgy of the Church of England.

Students requiring a commercial education only, are exempt from the classical course, if desired.

The year consists of two terms, during which there are no holidays, the only vacations being at Midsummer and Christmas.

The use of all class books, valuable library, stationery (except mathematical instruments) laundry, &c., is included in the terms. No Extras of any kind.

The High School—Students from 16 to 23 years of age.
The Middle School—Students from 12 to 16 years of age.

The Preparatory School—Students under 12 years of age.

The College is divided into three sections. In the

PREPARATORY SCHOOL

(entirely distinct, but contiguous)

Boys are well grounded in the elements of a sound English Education, with French and German (also in Latin and Greek if for the learned professions), and prepared for the High or Middle School. In the High School the course of study is a preparation for the Universities and the various competitive examinations; while the Middle School trains pupils in such subjects as will qualify them for scientific and commercial pursuits.

Alston College is pleasantly situated, about six miles from Preston, and half a mile from Longridge Railway Station; is in immediate proximity to beautiful mountain scenery, within half an hour's ride of the chief watering places on the western coast of Lancashire, and is considered by Medical Professors to be in one of the healthiest localities in England—a fact sufficiently proved by the remarkably good health enjoyed by the students and regularly confirmed by the half-yearly medical reports.

Extensive Cricket Grounds are attached to the College Farms, whilst a spacious covered Gymnasium and Student's Hall, available for recreation, drill, &c., adjoin.

Reports of all examinations, together with the names of those students who have distinguished themselves at the College and the Universities, as Exhibitors, Medalists and Prizemen, also the reports of the late examinations, together with views of the College buildings, and all necessary information, forwarded on application to the Rector, or to

Mr. GEORGE CLIFFORD, Secretary.

References kindly permitted to Bro. Masons, and to the late Examiners: Rev. T. H. Lindsay Leary, M.A., D.C.L. (Oxon), Assistant Examiner to Her Majesty's Civil Service Commission, Crawford Cottage, Epsom; T. W. Eyre Evans, Esq., LL.D.T.C.D., Nightingale Villa, Lower Norwood; and other University Examiners; Professor Pagel, Liverpool; R. Routledge, Esq., B.S.F.C.S., Manchester; also the Protestant Clergy, Nobility, and Professional Gentlemen (parents of present pupils) in London, Manchester, Liverpool, Birmingham, Leeds, Bradford, Bognor, Preston, Burnley, Chester, Lancaster, Boston (Lincoln), Wigan, Harrowgate, Accrington, Haslingden, Kendal, Southport, Todmorden, &c., and various other towns; the Continent of Europe, the colonies, New York, and the United States, Brazil, Cuba, &c., who can bear ample testimony to the merits and success of this College.

Next term commences the 3rd August, 1873.

CROSBY'S
BALSAMIC

COUGH ELIXIR.

Opiates, Narcotics, and Squills are too often invoked to give relief in Coughs, Colds, and all Pulmonary diseases. Instead of such fallacious remedies, which yield momentary relief at the expense of enfeebling the digestive organs, and thus increasing that debility which lies at the root of the malady, modern science points to CROSBY'S BALSAMIC COUGH ELIXIR as the true remedy.

SELECT TESTIMONIAL.
Dr. Rooke, Scarborough, author of the "Anti-Lancet," says: "I have repeatedly observed how very rapidly and invariably it subdued cough, pain, and irritation of the chest in cases of Pulmonary Consumption, and I can, with the greatest confidence, recommend it as a most valuable adjunct to an otherwise strengthening treatment for this disease."

This medicine, which is free from opium and squills, not only allays the local irritation, but improves digestion and strengthens the constitution. Hence it is used with the most signal success in Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Influenza, Night Sweats of Consumption, Quinsy, and all affections of the throat and chest. Sold in bottles at 1s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each, by all respectable Chemists, and wholesale by Jas. M. Crosby, Chemist, Scarborough.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—St. Hilda's Lodge (No. 240).—On Monday, night the annual ceremony of installing the Worshipful Master of St. Hilda's Lodge, took place in the Freemasons' Hall, Fowler-street. The lodge, which was crowded to excess by brethren of the lodge and visiting brethren from the neighbouring lodges, was opened in the usual manner by Bro. T. Potter, W.M. Some routine business was transacted, after which the chair of K.S. was occupied by Bro. J. Roddam, P.M., who officiated as Installing Master. Bro. R. E. Thomson, S.W., the W.M. elect, was then presented to the Installing Master, and the impressive ceremony was ably performed. The W.M. then appointed his officers, as follows, T. Potter, P.M.; J. G. Wilson, S.W.; H. Claughton, J.W.; H. Hewison, P.M., Treasurer; G. S. Shotton, Sec.; Rev. D. Evans, Chap.; T. G. Mabane, S.D.; T. Coulson, J.D.; J. Roddam, P.M., D.C.; J. Ashby, I.G.; G. D. Hewison, P.M., to make the presentation of a fancy P.M.'s jewel, apron (silver mounted), and collar with jewel attached, to Bro. Potter, P.M. The jewel was engraved as follows, "Presented to Bro. The lodge having been duly opened, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. John Vaughan, was unanimously re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. J. V. Rees, Tyler. Notice was here given that Bro. Major J. Allen Lloyd Phillips, Deputy Provincial Grand Master, was waiting, and he was received with the honours due to his position, and took his seat. Upon the first enquiry being made, two or three brethren complained of the non-delivery of Grand Lodge certificates, the Secretary was directed to attend to the matter. A suggestion was also made that longer notice of the date of meeting should be given. Bro. E. R. Pugh, having been duly examined, was instructed and retired. The lodge was then opened in the second degree, when Bro. Pugh was re-admitted and raised to the F.C. degree. The chair having been taken by Bro. E. J. Morris, D. Prov. Grand Master, Eastern Division, he opened the lodge in the third degree, when Bro. George Tempny Smith, P.M., P. Prov. G. Sec., Prov. G.S.W., Western Division South Wales, was presented for installation by the W. the D. Prov. G.M., Western Division, Bro. Major J. Allen Lloyd Phillips, P.M. 224, in a few well-chosen words referring to Bro. Smith's past exertions for the benefit of the Craft. Bro. Smith having in due form signified his assent to the ancient charges, and having been obligated, all below the chair retired, when a Board of Installed Masters was formed, and Bro. Smith was regularly installed as W.M. (for the fourth time). The Board of Installed Masters having been closed, the brethren were re-admitted, and the W.M. was duly saluted and proclaimed in the three degrees the Installing Master explaining the working tools, and handing over the Charter, Book of Constitutions, and Bye-laws in proper rotation, and the W.M. duly closed his lodge in the third and second degrees, and invested his officers as follows:—Bros. J. W. Szlumper, I.P.M.; Stanley J. Balcombe, S.W.; Edward Hamer, J.W.; John Vaughan, (re-elected) Treasurer; Jonathan Pell, S.D.; Arthur J. Hughes, J.D.; Griffith Jones, I.G.; E. V. Rees, (re-elected) Tyler. The offices of Secretary, Chaplain, and Organist, were left open until a future occasion, owing to the unavoidable absence of the brethren nominated. The Deputy Provincial Grand Master proposed, the W.M. seconded, and it was carried by acclamation—That a vote of thanks is hereby tendered to the W. the D. Prov. Grand Master of the East Division, Bro. E. T. Morris, for the able manner in which he has performed the ceremony of Installation, and for his kindness in travelling so great a distance for that purpose. Bro. Morris returned thanks in most impressive language, congratulating 1072 on its steady and successful progress, urging the brethren to go on steadily in the right direction, and promising his advice and assistance at all times. The lodge was then closed, according to ancient custom, and the brethren adjourned to a banquet prepared in excellent taste, and comprising every delicacy in season, reflecting the greatest credit upon Bro. Pell. Upon the removal of the cloth, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to, the pleasures of the evening being enhanced by the excellent vocalization of the W.M., and Bro. Captain Homfray-Jones, Llyngroes-Hamer, and others, and the brethren separated at an early hour.

ALDERSHOT.—Aldershot Camp Lodge (No. 1331).—The regular monthly meeting of this flourishing lodge took place on the 4th inst., at the Royal Hotel, Aldershot, at six p.m., on which occasion the chair was occupied by Bro. A. McKenzie, the new W.M., who was ably supported by his officers, viz., Bro. Captain Richardson, I.P.M. and Treasurer; Bros. R. White, S.W.; R. Bennett, J.W.; U. Lucas, Secretary; F. Anderson, S.D.; J. Smith, I.G., as J.D.; W. Mirror, as I.G.; and Burns, O.G. the lodge having been opened in form in the first degree, ballots were separately taken for Bro. J. E. Williams, Surveyor R.E. Department, as a joining member, and Mr. Henry Robinson, as a candidate for initiation, which proved in each instance unanimous. Mr. George Hickens, a candidate who had previously been balloted for and elected, being present, both he and Mr. Robinson were skilfully initiated into the mysteries and privileges of the ancient Order, the charge being very impressively delivered by the S.W., Bro. White. The lodge was opened in the second degree, and Bros. Fisher and Peterkin, who had been previously entrusted with a test of merit were passed as F.C's. Lodge was then opened in the third degree, when Bro. James Irving, who had proved his proficiency in the former degree, was raised to the sublime degree of M.M., and the lodge was resumed to the first degree. The correct working of the three degrees by Bro. McKenzie, W.M., at this, the first meeting after his installation, augurs well for the success of the lodge during his year of office, especially as his officers are well acquainted with the duties of their respective offices, and attend regularly the Lodges of Instruction. The members of the "Charitable Association" in connection with the lodge, then balloted for, as life subscribers in one of the Masonic Charities, and in this instance it proved favourable to Bro. P.M. John Coleman, 19th Hussars. After several sums had been voted for charitable purposes, and a brother proposed as a joining member, the lodge was closed in peace, love, and harmony, with solemn prayer, at or about ten o'clock.

STOCKWELL LODGE (No. 1339).—The regular meeting of this prosperous lodge was held at the Half Moon, Herne-hill, on Thursday 18th inst., when there were present Bros. W. G. Brighton, W.M.; Wm. Worrell and Hamilton, P.M.'s.; Francis, Sec., C. H. Benham, acting S.W.; Klench, J.W.; Bassnett, G.D.; Coc, W.S.; also Bros. Pillinger, Grist, Inskman, and others. The lodge was opened in the first degree, and the minutes of the preceding meeting were read and confirmed, after which Mr. Piper, of Upper Norwood, who had been previously balloted for and accepted was duly initiated in the mysteries of Masonry. Bro. Grist, after having answered the usual questions, was initiated and passed to the degree of F.C. The lodge being raised to the third degree, Bro. Harris having first proved his proficiency in the former degree, was raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason, the three ceremonies being most impressively performed by the W.M., Bro. Brighton. The lodge was resumed to the first degree, when the ballot was taken for the W.M. for the ensuing year, the same being declared unanimous in favour of the S.W., Bro. Klench. After a few remarks from the W.M., Bro. Klench thanked the W.M. and brethren for the honour they had showed him in electing him as their W.M. The ballot was then taken for the Treasurer, when P.M. Bro. Hamilton was unanimously re-elected. An audit committee was also appointed. The ballot taken for Mr. Rodgman of Upper Norwood, for initiation, which proved in favour of the same, the lodge was then closed in due form by the W.M., and the brethren then sat down to a most sumptuous banquet. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly responded to and the Tyler's toast brought the pleasant evening's proceedings to a close. The brethren, so happy to meet, sorry to part and happy to meet again, dispersed before high twelve.

INSTRUCTION.

ST. MARYLEBONE LODGE OF INSTRUCTION (No. 1305).—On Tuesday evening, Dec. 16th, the usual weekly meeting of the brethren was held at Bro. Fowler's, the British Stores, New-street, St. John's Wood. After the lodge business, the brethren were entertained at a sumptuous banquet to celebrate the presentation of three portraits, of Bro. Adams, P.M., P.G.P., P.Z.; Bro. Stringer, W.M., of the Mother Lodge; and Bro. Foxall, P.M., and founder of the Mother Lodge; the two former given by Bro. Briggs, the celebrated photographer, of High street, St. John's Wood, and the latter subscribed for by the brethren of the lodge. Bro. J. Smith presided as W.M., and Bro. E. White as S.W. After the usual toasts the chairman introduced the business of the evening, and called on Bro. Briggs, who after a few introductory remarks said:—Brethren, when the idea first entered my mind of presenting the portraits of Bro. Adams and Bro. Stringer to this lodge I never contemplated that the presentation would be celebrated by such a banquet as we have partaken of this evening. Having had the honour of knowing Bro. Stringer for many years, I did not know till I met him in this lodge of instruction that he was a Mason, and I felt I should like to show the great respect and high esteem in which I, in connection with the whole of the brethren, hold our Bro. Stringer by presenting his portrait to hang in this lodge, he being the W.M. of the Mother Lodge. With regard to the portrait of Bro. Adams, the idea of presenting his portrait occurred to me when, after the long and very serious illness from which it pleased the Great Architect of the Universe to restore him, we again had the pleasure of seeing him amongst us I felt that I should like to see his portrait hanging in this lodge to show the high estimation in which we all hold our respected Bro. Adams. We owe a great deal to him, he has regularly attended this lodge of instruction to instruct us in our duties, he has made it the business of his life to afford instruction to all who are willing to receive it and without him it would have been impossible for this lodge to hold the position it does, and to rank among its members so many brethren who are now well up in Masonry. Brethren as there is another presentation to take place I will not delay the business by making any further remarks. Bro. Adams in presenting you with this portrait, to hang in this lodge, my great desire is to evince to you the great admiration that I and the whole of the brethren of this lodge feel towards you, and as an humble recognition of the services you have so freely rendered to this lodge, and I sincerely hope that the Great Architect of the Universe will spare you for many years amongst us. Bro. Stringer, it affords me great pleasure to present you with this portrait to hang in the lodge. As W.M. of the Marylebone Lodge you have won for yourself the respect and esteem of the brethren, and have set us a noble example to follow, there is no brother amongst us who has been more assiduous in his duties than yourself, you have filled that honourable position with credit to yourself and satisfaction to the lodge, and I trust that when your year of office has expired, you may be spared for many years to be an ornament to the lodge. Bro. Adams in reply said that he felt very proud of the honour that had been shown him, in presenting his portrait to the lodge, he had been photographed to death, having set so many times for portraits, but these were the finest he had seen in his life. He thanked Bro. Briggs for his kindness in presenting him with this mark of respect, and hoped he might be spared by the Great Architect of the Universe, so as to be enabled to gaze on it for many evenings, he likewise thanked the brethren in his usual jovial manner for entertaining him at such a splendid banquet he should remember this as one of the happiest hours of his life. Bro. Stringer in reply said you must excuse me from making a speech this evening, as you are all aware of my usual bashfulness, but I must say I feel highly honoured by this presentation, it is impossible for me to express my thanks, it is very gratifying to me, if it is agreeable to you, and I esteem it highly, and when I have passed away, the brethren will remember the time when it was presented, and it will remain as a memento of the happy times we have spent in this room. The Chairman then presented the portrait of Bro. Foxall, and said that it afforded him great pleasure to do so on behalf of the brethren, who had subscribed towards it, as it was to him the lodge owed its existence, he being the founder of the lodge, and as Bro. Briggs, had so generously offered to present the pictures, to Bros. Adams and Stringer, the brethren felt they should like to present Bro. Foxall's picture as well. Bro. Foxall in reply said W.M. and brethren, I thank you sincerely from my heart for presenting my portrait. I feel it a great honour to be the founder of the St. Marylebone Lodge, and of this Lodge of Instruction, and I hope to be founder of the Royal Arch Chapter now forming, and for which we already have the charter, and I am also very proud of the distinction you have conferred on me, and I hope we shall live to enjoy each other's society for many years. Bro. Adams then said as he had a long distance to go, and as it was getting late, he should like before leaving to propose the health of the Committee, who had been appointed to carry out the business of the evening. Bro. B. Phillips then responded on behalf of the committee, and said he was sorry that it had fallen to his lot to respond, he being a junior member of the lodge, he wished some brother who had more experience in such matters would have performed the duties. However, he was glad to see so many assembled that evening, but still he wished that more of the members had met to do honour to the founder of this lodge. It gave him great pleasure to be one of the committee, and he thanked them for the very cordial manner in which they received the toast. The health of the Chairman having been proposed by Bro. Stringer, was responded to by Bro. Smith. Bro. Foxall then proposed the health of Bro. E. White, S.W., who said: Brethren, I thank you kindly for drinking my health. I hope, whenever I am called upon to act as Preceptor of this lodge, I shall do my best endeavours to carry out the duties to the best of my abilities, which I hope will give every satisfaction. Brethren, I thank you. The health of the host, Bro. G. Fowler, having been drunk, to which he responded in his usual jocular manner, the meeting broke up a little before one o'clock, a.m., the authorities having granted an extension to that hour. The meeting was enlivened by some harmony, in which Bros. Smith, Foxall, C. A. Smith, Andrews, Hutchinson, Phillips, Draper, and White took part. Bro. Briggs assisted at the piano. The portraits, which hung in lodge, and were very much admired by the whole of the brethren assembled, were enlarged photographs, beautifully coloured, 33 inches by 27 inches, in handsome gold frames.

Phythian was elected P.S., and some formal business having been transacted, the chapter was closed, and the companions sat down to an excellent repast, after which the usual toasts were given and duly honoured. Comp. Green, 975, being the only visitor present, expressed his gratification at having witnessed so successful a meeting, and thanked the companions for their hospitality. It is intended to limit the number of members of this chapter to 45, the same as in the parent lodge.

GLASGOW.—Thistle and Rose Lodge (No. 73).—Tuesday Dec. 16th, the first meeting under the presidency of the new Master, Bro. G. Weston, was distinguished by an amount of work that does not often occur at one meeting, the whole of which was performed in a manner highly creditable to the R.W.M., and his officers, all of whom were in new positions. The lodge having been opened in the 1st degree, Mr. Louis Bloom was initiated into the mysteries of Freemasonry by Bro. G. McDonald, I.P.M. Bro. Solomon Joel was also initiated. The latter was to have attended on Saturday at an emergency meeting, along with six other gentlemen of the ancient race of Israel, who were there enrolled into our equally ancient Order. The Lodge was then raised to the second degree, and at the request of the R.W.M., Bro. W. B. Pattison, conferred that degree on two brethren. The lodge was then opened in the third degree, and the new R.W.M. proceeded to raise seven brethren to that sublime degree in a manner that augurs well for the future working of the lodge, five of these gentlemen were Israelites, and Bro. S. Joel said he had no doubt that from the care taken by all the officers in the rendering of their several duties that more of God's ancient people would soon join this ancient lodge. After some private business relating to the affairs of the lodge, it was closed, and all being highly pleased with the ability shown by the new R.W.M.

GLASGOW.—St. Mungo Encampment, K.T.—The usual monthly meeting was held on the 15th inst., in St. Mark's Hall. The E.C., Sir Kt. R. Kay, Sentinel; when the same four candidates received that degree, and afterwards that of Knights of the East and West. A slight refreshment followed, and in reply to the health of the "Newly-dubbed Knights," proposed by Sir Knt. Balfour, Sir Knt. Colin McKenzie said he had for some time been a Knight Templar, and though he loved that order much, yet, from what he had seen of the Knights of the Red Cross degree, he was only sorry that it was not better known in Glasgow, in order that its excellence might be more highly appreciated.

FICTITIOUS CHEQUES.

[The following appeared in the Echo of Monday. We know nothing whatever of the man Windsor.—Ed. Freemason.]

At the Hammersmith Police-court, this day, John Henry Windsor was finally examined on a charge of feloniously endorsing a certain order for the payment of money. There were several cases against the prisoner.

Mr. Albert David Potter, a newsagent of Piccadilly, said about a week previous to the 26th ult., the prisoner came to his shop and asked him to undertake the publication of a newspaper called The Freemason. He called three times. On the 26th he asked if he had a banking account. Witness said "Yes." The prisoner then showed him a cheque and asked him to cash it. The cheque was drawn by G. Wheatley and Co., on the Birkbeck Bank for £5 11s., in favour of Mr. Hudson. Witness said he had not sufficient. The prisoner then asked him to give him what he could spare, and he would have the balance in a few days. Witness advanced him £3. He asked him whose cheque it was. He said, "Wheatley, Regent-street." He did not see the prisoner again. Witness sent the cheque to his bankers, and it came back marked N.A. He had requested the prisoner to endorse it. He wrote "H. Hudson, Highwood, Hendon, N.W." He also gave witness a card bearing the name of Hudson, advertising collector. Witness wrote to the address, but his letter was returned through the Dead Letter Office.

Mr. Vincent Smith Fleet, clerk to George W. Wheatley and Co., Overland Agents, of Regent-street, said the prisoner had nothing to do with their firm. The signature on the cheque was not that of the firm.

Inspector Shore said he found five cheques, in a bag the prisoner carried, on the Birkbeck Bank, signed "G. Wheatley and Co."

The prisoner, who reserved his defence, was committed for trial.

The Editor of the "Bauhütte" has founded at Florence an establishment for the sale of German and English books. The address is—Messrs. Flor and Findel, German and Foreign Booksellers, 24, Lung Arno Acciajoli Florence, Italy. Prints, photographs, pictures, and English stationery, are also kept in stock.—ADVT.

THE VITAL SPRING CONTAMINATED sows misery, destruction and death. To ensure health it is absolutely necessary that fluids and solids of the human body should be kept free from those impurities, which are continually getting into the system through erroneous living, unwholesome atmospheres, or disordered stomach. The only safe and certain mode to expel impurities, is to take Holloway's pills, which have the power of cleansing the blood from all noxious matters and at the same time removing any irregularity which their presence has produced in any organ. Holloway's pills expel all humours which taint and impoverish the blood which they purify and invigorate and give general tone. They are applicable alike to both young and old, robust or delicate.—ADVT.

TESTIMONIAL TO BRO. W. M. BRYCE GRAND TYLER, GRAND LODGE OF SCOTLAND.

It is very pleasant to have to record a very graceful act on the part of the Right Honourable the Earl of Rosslyn, Past Grand Master Mason of Scotland, on his retiring from the throne of the Grand Lodge, which his Lordship has so much adorned for the last three years, in presenting W.M. Bryce, Grand Tyler, with a valuable and handsome testimonial, consisting of a silver salver and cake basket, both of very elegant design and beautifully chased, as a mark of his Lordship's estimation of the services rendered to Grand Lodge by Bro. Bryce.

We feel assured that this graceful act on the part of the Earl of Rosslyn will give universal satisfaction to the brethren of the Craft in Scotland, more particularly to the members of Grand Lodge, by all of whom Bro. Bryce is regarded and esteemed as a friend, and who have all, on many occasions, experienced his ready and valuable assistance; in fact, Bro. Bryce's willingness to oblige is only equalled by the close and assiduous attentions to the various and arduous duties he has to discharge in connection with Grand Lodge.

The testimonial bears the following inscription:—"Presented to Brother William M. Bryce, Grand Tyler, by Brother the Earl of Rosslyn, Grand Master Mason of Scotland, in recognition of many years of faithful services to Grand Lodge. St. Andrew's Day, 1873."

The following is a copy of the Earl of Rosslyn's letter which accompanied the gift, and Bro. Bryce's reply thereto:—

Skeffington Vale, Leicester,
15th Dec. 1873.

To Mr. W. Bryce, Grand Tyler.—

Dear Mr. Bryce,—Now that my reign is ended, I wish before retiring into a comparatively humble position in the Craft, to mark my sense of the assiduous manner in which you have performed your duties, and the eminent services you have rendered to Grand Lodge and the Craft in general during the period I have occupied the throne. I advisedly use the word "eminent" because whether by Grand Master or Grand Tyler, duty conscientiously and faithfully and regularly performed is an "eminent" service done to the individuals or the body on the body on whose behalf such diligence is exercised. During upwards of twenty years in which I have known you, you have been a conspicuous example of such performance of duty. I beg your acceptance of the accompanying mark of my goodwill and am,

Yours truly and fraternally,
ROSSLYN, Past Grand Master.
Freemasons' Hall, Edinburgh,
18th Dec. 1873.

My Lord,—I have the honour to acknowledge by the hands of Bro. Alexander Hay, Grand Jeweller, the very handsome piece of plate your lordship has so generously condescended to honour me with. It is quite impossible for me to convey to your lordship any adequate sense of the gratitude I feel in receiving this flattering mark of your lordship's approbation of my humble services. The acknowledgment that I have had the happiness to render satisfaction to your lordship in the discharge of my duties, is in itself ample reward for my efforts to that end; but I am perfectly overpowered by your lordship's generosity. I feel that this testimonial from so distinguished a nobleman will ever be judged by my family as a most precious heirloom, and I shall ever look with pride and gratitude upon it. With the repeated expression of my humblest thanks and duty to your lordship.

I have the honour to be, my Lord, your Lordship's most obedient, humble servant,
WM. M. BRYCE, Grand Tyler.

MASKELYNE AND COOKE'S ENTERTAINMENT.

Amongst the various entertainments and amusements, whose name is simply "legion" at this festive season, we know none which will so thoroughly repay a visit as the extraordinary performance of Messrs. Maskelyne and Cooke. These gentlemen not only evince a masterly dexterity in the ordinary feats of legerdemain, but have achieved a higher distinction from the marvellous manner in which they have demonstrated that all so-called "spirit manifestations," can be produced by natural agencies. It would be impossible to convey an adequate idea of the curious performances of these "Royal Illusionists" by mere description, and we cannot do better than recommend our readers, old and young, to pay them a visit at the Egyptian Hall, where they now appear daily, at three and at eight in the evening. We may, however, add, as a whet to curiosity, that the entertainment comprises "table-rapping," "floating in the air," "Chinese plate dancing," "decapitation extraordinary," and though last not least, a "Transformation Sketch," entitled "Will, the Witch and the Watch," in which the great box trick evokes mingled applause and amazement, interspersed with many fun-compelling passages, peculiarly appreciable by the young folk. The principal performers are well aided in their mysterious proceedings by Mrs. Maskelyne, Miss Ada Beaufort, and Mr. J. B. Hasarde.

"THE OLD YEAR."

Hush! what sound is that which breaks upon my ear;
Like to the chime of some far distant bell:
Hark! it comes again, but now more clear,
And with strange notes of warning it would tell

That with its echo, there hath passed away
The last of many,—yea, the year's last day.
Methinks I hear thee whisper, now I go, but not alone
For on my eager wings, Earth's dearest ones are flown

I've culled the richest flowers that did her gardens fair adorn,
Some in full bloom, and others yet in youth's first budding morn,
But in a nobler garden now, and in a nobler sphere
These flowers are blooming beautiful that only withered here.

And not in anger nor in wrath have all these deeds been done
For it is better far that they should be transplanted there;
Then let not tears of anguish, friends, from your fond hearts be wrung,
But seek for strength when Heaven requires to trust them to its care,
Remember still that all the joys and blessings that ye crave
Are His to give, and when He takes 'tis only what he gave.

Look o'er the past and on its changes all,
Yea, ponder deeply, bring it all to mind,
And on each page thy memory shall recall
The stamp of Love and Mercy thou wilt find;

Then in the future years that come, still put thy trust in Him,
His arm it will not shorten, nor will His eye grow dim.

But now I must away, for yonder comes
My Heir in all his pomp and grand array,
With all his hopes and joys he comes,
Like to a bridegroom dress'd so blythe and gay;

Then as we part, Old Year, one word of thanks I'll say,
Thou still hast left us some dear friends to wish a happy New Year's Day.

THE RIGHTS OF VISITING BRETHREN.

Some little controversy having arisen lately on this subject, we think it will be well to point out what are the undoubted rights, as regards visiting other lodges, of all members of the Craft.

We apprehend it to be beyond a doubt, that, all subscribing members of lodges have a right to enter any lodge during the hours of "work," if they can satisfy the brethren of such lodge that they are bonâ fide registered members of some Grand Lodge, and are equally undoubted Masons. We are aware, that, in many London lodges a "voucher" from a member of the lodge is also required, but this, though a very convenient arrangement, is not tenable as an actual test of admission by the Book of Constitutions.

For instance, if a brother hears that a lodge—say, 1500, the Lodge of Friendship—is holding a meeting, and he presents himself with his Grand Lodge certificate, and offers to submit himself to due examination, we feel convinced that any W.M., either declining to admit him, or suggesting another mode of proof or voucher, would, on complaint to the Board of General Purposes, find himself, to use a familiar expression, "in queer street." As a general rule, so ready are our lodges to admit strangers, and so hospitable are our brethren, that such a question, happily, seldom arises.

But a recent controversy in our pages shows that such a question may arise, and, therefore, it is most necessary, that the law should be distinctly understood, in order that the rights of all may be equally guarded and carefully upheld. If the statement of our Bro. F. Bigg, W.M. 1261, P.M. 66, be correct, and of its correctness we have not the slightest doubt, it is quite clear that, out worthy Bro., the W.M. of the Middlesex Lodge, acted ultra vires.

If he was not satisfied that Bro. F. Bigg was a Mason, if he was of opinion, that, there were some doubts about his right to be present, he should have called upon him to withdraw, until the lodge had satisfied themselves in the usual way, that he had, as a Master Mason, a right to be present, and that he was, what he professed to be.

But if on the other hand, the W.M. of the Middlesex Lodge knew Bro. Bigg to be actually a W.M. of a regularly warranted lodge under the English Constitution and despite this, insisted on his retiring until his "Voucher" or "Introducer" came, he clearly, in our opinion, infringed in so doing the inherent right of all actual W.M.'s, and above all, of all M.M.'s under the English Constitution, to attend any Lodge under the English Grand Lodge, in its hours of work. But it may be alleged by the W.M., that he did not know Bro. F. Bigg, and that as it happened none of the brethren present knew him, and that as he said, he therefore acted in accordance with "our rule," and he bade him retire until his "Introducer" arrived.

Even in this case, according to our view, the W.M. is clearly "out of court."

He ought to have asked "are you vouched for? Unless you are vouched for, I must call upon you to submit to the regular examination."

But, instead of a public voucher, so to say, the W.M. asks for a private voucher.

We say all this without prejudice to the answer of the W.M. of the Middlesex Lodge, because as Masons we are bound always, "audire alteram partem," and though our Bro. F. Bigg's merits and position as a Mason are too well known for us to suppose, that, his statement is at all inaccurate in any of its details, yet there may be some qualifying circumstances which may be alleged by W. Bro. Salmon. For instance, he may allege the lodge bye-law. If any such bye-law exists in the Middlesex Lodge collection, the sooner it is modified—rather, removed—the better, as we are quite certain that, on the case as stated, and on the grounds as alleged, the W.M. of the Middlesex Lodge had no right to ask our Bro. Bigg to retire from the lodge, and therefore, in his case, an injustice was committed, deeply to be regretted on every ground.

But there is a still more important question involved: the common right of subscribing members of other lodges, duly registered in the Grand Lodge, who, humbler persons than Bro. Bigg, and less known to the Craft, may not have the will or the opportunity of making their complaints known to their brethren in Freemasonry.

It might so happen, that, a visiting brother was known to no one in the lodge. What is he to do? If he is not "introduced," he cannot be admitted, according to the obiter dictum of our worthy brother, the W.M. of the Middlesex Lodge! Hence, the sooner the question is settled, the better.

In our humble opinion such a custom is a great innovation, and a most hurtful "gloss" on the standing regulations of Freemasonry; and we feel also equally certain, that, such a regulation is opposed to the true principles of Freemasonry, and would be at once quashed on appeal to the Board of General Purposes.

CHARITY VOTING.

Our excellent Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson, P.G.C., has written to us with reference to this matter, and we have carefully perused his letter.

We do not see, that our good Bro. advances very much in favour of the great changes he advocates, except a somewhat sensational little story, about an exchange which is apparently taken from that interesting publication called "Barter" we believe, or some such euphonious name.

But our Rev. Bro. says, that, it is not to the system that he objects, but to the details of arrangement, and coincides with us both as to the excellency of the charities themselves, and the high character of the managers. But he adheres to his main point that reforms are needed, and then lays down "a canon of administration," that "every vote" is a "trust" to be "exercised with a sense of responsibility," "not a mere chattel for indulging patronage," "making money, or open to exchange." We have never so far heard, of much patronage being indulged in by charity voting, much less of "making money," but we are all no doubt aware of such votes being "open to exchange." And to the last remark of our good brother we feel specially bound to take exception, as, with all deference to him, involving both a fallacy and an absurdity.

Let us put the case in this way. A certain number of applicants are to be elected. A has a case in which he takes a particular interest, B has no case in which he takes a personal interest, except than as a well-wisher to the charity, and desirous of helping the indigent or orphan. A says to B I want to get in case 35; you have only a general interest, but may on distinct grounds prefer perhaps case 32 yourself, but you do not deny that case 35 is a good case; therefore help me this time, and if you have a case next time I will help you. Is there anything wrong in this?

B no doubt might have voted for 32 on general grounds of philanthropy, but at the request of A he supports a very good case per se, 35, and how can he be blamed?

Or, D says, E vote for me this time and I will vote for your case next time! In that way we shall certainly get them both in. Again, is there anything wrong in such an exchange?

On the contrary is it not by such arrangements, habitually, and constantly made, that numbers of benevolent people exert themselves to secure, and they do secure the election of cases, which but for them would perhaps have no chance at all.

There is a tendency amongst us all, just now, we don't know why, to lay down certain hard and fast lines on all subjects, charity not even excepted.

Now we profess to be somewhat old fashioned on this, as on all subjects, and modes of thought and action, and of this one fact we feel persuaded, that the less we interfere with those, who know what they are about, the better, as a general rule for us all, and the better for all classes in society,

That some abuses in the charities may exist we do not deny. And where do not abuses exist? Yet if any one is so foolish as our Bro. Simpson alleges, to offer to exchange six votes, for a certain asylum for a "lop eared rabbit, or a seal skin jacket," (we fear that the offender is a She,) surely, that is not a sufficient justification of the little reforms proposed, which would entirely alter the character of some of our charitable institutions, and take away undoubtedly a large amount of personal support, and of individual interest.

We still say, as we said before, that with some few changes, if needed, it is far wiser to leave well alone.

WEEKLY SUMMARY.

The Queen and Court have left Windsor Castle for Osborne, where they arrived on Saturday. Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales returned to Marlborough House on Saturday from their visit to Lord and Lady Rendlesham.

The Duke of Edinburgh, who presided at the Conversazione given to him by the Society of Arts on Thursday last, will it is said leave England on the 30th en route for Russia, and is expected to arrive at St. Petersburg on the 4th of January.

Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess Louis of Hesse have returned to Darmstadt.

Her Majesty has raised to the high honour of the Peerage, Mr. Monsell, late Postmaster-General, by the title of Baron Emly; Mr. Moncrief, Lord Justice Clerk of Scotland, by the title of Baron Moncrief; Admiral the Hon. Edward George Granville Howard, by the title of Baron Lamerton; and Sir John Duke Coleridge, Knt., Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, by the title of Baron Coleridge.

The governing body of the well-known school at Rugby have removed Dr. Hayman from the head-mastership, a proceeding which, among other consequences, will certainly give rise to a long correspondence in the Times.

The news from the Gold Coast continues good, though a good deal of sickness is prevalent. Colonel Wood, V.C., and Major Home had pursued and attacked apparently Anamquartias retreating, and disorganised masses, and the Ashantees seem "on the trail" homewards.

The Castro trial is adjourned to the 30th, when Dr. Kenealy will be expected to finish in a week, though a good many people think, that, in his case certainly, the licence of counsel has been carried far enough and long enough in all conscience.

There is not much home news to record, the more so as most people are thinking of the Christmas celebration, and we wish a happy Christmas to all our readers.

In foreign news there is not much to notice. Marshal Bazaine is to go to the Isle of St. Marguerite, famous in older days for being the place of detention for some time of the Man in the Iron Mask.

The Dutch have had another successful encounter at Acheen, but have lost General Dixon by cholera.

The bombardment of Carthage continues, but an assault is talked of. In the meantime, "Jack," every ready to do a good turn to somebody, is happily and cheerfully employed in taking off the women and children: The Carlists are quiet, but General Moriones contemplates some active movements. The Virginians has been delivered up to the Americans, and compensation is promised. The American accounts of the butchery of the captain and the poor crew, all non-combatants, are simply sickening, and a disgrace to the humanity and civilization of the age.

Original Correspondence.

BRO. BIGG AND BRO. SALMON.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I hope I am not exceptionally thinned, but I do confess to a little soreness at the tone of Bro. Bigg's letter, especially at his allusions.

1st. His avowed dislike to anonymous correspondents. Now Sir, I do not consider myself to deserve that character, and if you will allow me to be guilty of the ingratitude of grumbling just a little bit of one who is so good as to insert his lucubrations, I think an asterisk referring to a foot note which you, Sir, might have supplied to Bro. Bigg's letter, should in justice to me have informed him that my letter, after the signature P.M., contained the number of my lodge, which, Sir, you thought fit to omit, and also the place whence I dated my epistle, both which, taken together, would sufficiently have conveyed my identity to the majority of the metropolitan esoteric world, but this locality you also thought fit to omit, and if I may venture to say so, Sir, I think rightly, although I assert that I sent them for purposes of publication, because I did not wish to lay myself open to the charge, I think rather ungraciously, brought against me by Bro. Bigg, of being an anonymous correspondent.

But, Sir, I think that upon principle your omission was commendable, for I hold that where facts are, or probably will be, admitted, and mere suggestions as to the applications of law and principles to those facts are all that are offered where accurately speaking no personal matter at all is involved, it is wholly immaterial whether the thoughts so propounded, assuming that they carry intrinsic evidence of being offered bona fide are vouched by any signature at all, so long as your rule is complied with, (and the appearance in type is a guarantee of that condition precedent having been fulfilled) and you have access to the writer, if communication with him subsequently should become necessary.

2nd. The implied sneer about disturbing my fraternal impartiality is uncalled for, applied to a writer who only wished to assert the value of the golden rule, audi alteram partem; it is beside irrelevant, and, considering the tone of my letter unbecoming.

I still venture to think that the question at issue between Bros. Salmon and Bigg does involve a charge of boorishness and inhospitality on the one hand, and might (if we had had a reply from the Middlesex Lodge, which I had a right to assume, when I wrote, would be forthcoming) have involved a justification on the ground of caution and fidelity on the other. Nor can I see in such an issue anything inconsistent with the proposition made by Bro. Bigg of the controversy being one which goes to the very root of Masonry and its principles.

However, while protesting against the tone of Bro. Bigg's letter, and admitting that the other epistle from "An Old Past Grand Officer," glances wildly aside from the issue, I frankly admit that the existence of the rule or bye-law, (if the latter, what has our esteemed Grand Secretary to say to it) cited by Bro. Salmon to Bro. Bigg, and the line of conduct adopted towards the latter brother, have raised a prima facie case against the Middlesex Lodge, which, to my mind, most imperatively calls for an answer, and the reticence displayed, in my judgment, goes far to justify the imputations of exclusiveness and repudiation of the principle of Masonic equality, not obscurely conveyed by the two letters upon which I have commented.

May I add in conclusion that I fully subscribe to the exposition of the doctrines of Masonic theory and practice contained in those letters, however much I may take exception to the tone in which such exposition is promulgated, and I will not yield to either of the writers in strenuous advocacy of the maintenance of the landmark in its fullest spirit and completest integrity, which not merely confers as a privilege, but enjoins as a duty, the constant practice of Masons to visit and study the working of all lodges under our English constitution, whenever they find leisure and opportunity, and possess the desire in this manner to pursue the object, dear to every true Mason, of obtaining further proficiency in the knowledge of the noble science.

On the principles I have stated in a former part of my letter, I now deliberately refrain from indicating my personalty, the knowledge is, however, heartily at Bro. Bigg's or Bro. Salmon's service, should both or either of them refer to you for it. For the information of the Craft at large I content myself by simply subscribing my non de plume as,

Dear Sir, yours fraternally,

P.M.

LODGE BANQUETS v. MASONIC CHARITIES:

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I must apologize for not answering our good Bro. Gotthel's communication before, but all my spare time has lately been required for purposes not of so pleasant a character as a friendly discussion in the pages of The Freemason.

My friend, Bro. Dr. Hodges, knowing well the true state of the funds of many country lodges, in his customary kind and effective manner, supported a few lines from me respecting our lodge banquets, and their payment out of the "Funds."

Bro. Gotthel, a zealous Mason in London, has in a most fraternal letter written to express his objection to the views advocated by us, and were the reasons offered for our brother's disapproval, as "just and true," as he believes them to be, evidently we are wrong, and Bro. Gotthel is right.

I venture, however, to differ entirely from the description offered by Bro. Gotthel of the general character of our lodge subscriptions in the country, and while I cheerfully admit that all the members of those Lodges wherein additional, or inclusive payments are made for banquets, have a right to enjoy the festivals and suppers, without extra charges, I emphatically protest against their customs being made a shield for those brethren who belong to lodges whose subscriptions are only levied to meet the necessary expenses of management, and who yet nevertheless gratify their tastes in eating and drinking out of the funds of the lodge." My opinion is that Bro. Gottheil was not aware of the latter fact, or he would have supported me in exposing such un-Masonic conduct, and having the pleasure of knowing how energetic he is in helping in a good cause, I quite believe he will be one of the foremost in seeking the removal of customs so derogatory to the principles of Freemasonry.

A great number of lodges in the country, probably nearly all, receive annual subscriptions from their members, varying generally from twelve to twenty shillings, which would usually be sufficient to meet the "incidental expenses," and allow of a sufficient margin to devise a portion to our masonic charities, without which I fail to see any just reason for their existence. It is not the custom to include banquets or suppers, for manifestly, if so, the foregoing subscriptions would be insufficient, as the most of the Lodges meet either fortnightly or monthly all the year round.

I know of several lodges where the brethren pay about a sovereign annually for their subscription, and yet the members have a supper, or refreshment of some kind or other provided for them nearly every time the lodge meets (lately such a "feast" was provided every month), for which no extra charge is made, and the members partake of the same for their "annual subscriptions." From a computation I have made the cost could not be less on an average than 2s. per member for each night, making a total of twenty-four shillings per annum or in other words, if a member attended every meeting and partook of a supper, and in such lodges there are always as many present at the latter as the former, the lodge would lose at least eight shillings annually, because of the dues to the Provincial and Grand Lodges having to be paid, as well as the balance to be met of four shillings, which the brethren had consumed "over and above" their subscription. Hence the lodge adopting or allowing such a use of its funds, can only manage to "pay its way" by drawing from the "initiation fees," and without new admissions frequently taking place the lodge is bound to get into debt, we can hardly wonder if unsuitable persons are initiated, rather than the members should lose the benefit of the "fees."

Now I am quite certain Bro. Gottheil does not support this shameful system, and though I am glad to say such a course of "feasting out of the funds of the lodge" is gradually dying out, am I not warranted in appealing to the Craft to give it a "death blow," and am I not justified in holding up the grand example of the "Great City Lodge" for others to go and do likewise.

The Great City Lodge, however, gave what was their own to one of our Masonic charities, whereas my letter was especially written to ask certain brethren to keep from taking what strictly speaking was not their own, but money, which should be applied exclusively for the hallowed purposes of Freemasonry.

Bro. "Nemo" has done well in so kindly supporting Bro. Gottheil from a London standpoint, and I should have much pleasure in doing the same had our friend confined his remarks to the metropolis of the Craft, but when he has stated in The Freemason that my advice was not only "gratuitous," but even (however unintentionally) "offensive," it is time to say why we object to brethren feasting at the lodge's expense. Wherever and whatever brethren have paid for their dinners or refreshments, either by additional subscriptions, or by charges made at the time, certainly no one in their senses would object to their enjoyment, but when I know that sometimes more money has been spent in lodge banquets in a year than the united subscriptions of the members would discharge, and when I know that right thinking members have refrained to attend these "free banquets" because the funds of the lodge were used to pay for them, and others disgusted with such gormandising and unmasonic exhibitions have retired from the Craft, I must again reiterate my former statement, and advise all such to "gratify their tastes in eating and drinking out of their own pockets."

CHARITY VOTING.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

My attention having been called to your remarks of the 13th ult., on "Charity Voting," and to a wish that I should state, to which Masonic charity I alluded as doing its work by a select body or committee, I will do so in as few words as possible. I feel some regret to find I was not reported more fully, as you would have seen that I stated the Masonic charities were in some respects quite exceptional, and for one or two very good reasons, did not come within the scope of any general remarks, inasmuch as they partake of the nature of private charities, are exclusively supported by the members of a fraternity who alone are responsible for their good management, and have a right to say how affairs should be conducted or candidates elected. They are also well managed and free from most of the defects of those Institutions with which the "Charity Voting Reform Society," proposes to deal. I therefore had little to say about them, and with the exception of expressing a wish to see a "Committee of Selection" tried, simply because I know the great clarity of the Masonic body is already administered by a "Committee," or Lodge of Benevolence, which meets monthly to distribute a large amount of very substantial relief to a number of most deserving candidates, in the true spirit of charity, that of "not letting the right hand know what the left doeth," and to the perfect satisfaction of the whole of the Craft. You will notice I purposely avoided any allusion to the Lodge of Benevolence in a mixed assembly, and who would not perhaps have understood it. I believe, however, you will admit that it does its work in a most unexceptionable and satisfactory manner, and I see no reason why we should object to leave the work of selecting the most deserving candidates for our schools to a committee chosen, as is the Board of Benevolence—annually—from the whole body of subscribers. Such a committee would, doubtless, do its duty faithfully, and with a full knowledge of the responsibility imposed upon it; while by such method the widow and friends of the candidates would be relieved from an outlay and amount of trouble which presses upon those who are ill able to bear it.

It will not be denied that the present system of canvassing for votes is an objectionable one, and one which we should like to get rid of; while few will be disposed to say that individual interest and regard for our schools will be diminished if some other and better method of election were adopted.

I am, yours fraternally,

JABEZ HOGG.

BRO. BIGG AND THE MIDDLESEX LODGE (alias THE EXCLUSIVES).

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I think there remains very little to be said upon the question after the excellent letter from "An Old Past Grand Steward," wherein he reminds Masons of the duty they owe to the Craft in general, as explained in the beautiful ceremony at their initiation, which some of them seem to have forgotten.

Masters of lodges cannot be too particular in who they admit into the lodge, indeed, some are not particular enough. If it had been that Bro. Bigg could not prove himself to be a Mason to the satisfaction of the W.M., then the W.M. would have been justified in excluding him; but as that does not appear to be the reason, and the W.M. has not answered the accusation, either from shame or contempt, I think the Board of General Purposes ought to summon the W.M. before them to answer for his extraordinary conduct.

Yours fraternally,

AN OLD P.M. & P.Z.

THE JOPPA LODGE.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Seeing an announcement of a presentation of a Past Secretary's jewel to a Bro. John Alexander, at the Lodge of Joppa, I beg to inform you that I have had the honour of being Secretary above ten years. There never has been a Secretary, or even a member of that name, belonging to the lodge.

Yours fraternally,

G. P. ALBERT, P.M.,

NEW MASONIC TEMPLE, PHILADELPHIA, U.S.A.

Those brethren who have been interested in reading the capital descriptions of the grand Masonic Temple of Pennsylvania, which have appeared from time to time in The Freemason, will be glad to learn that Bro. F. Gutekunst, of 712, Arch-street, Philadelphia, Penn. (U.S.A.), has succeeded in taking a series of twenty-two stereoscopic views of this truly magnificent structure. Bro. Gutekunst is one of the leading photographic artists of the United States, and in this instance has done good service, especially to the Craft, by producing such excellent and faithful pictures of the exterior and interior of the Temple. There are three magnificent photographs of the Grand Lodge Room, E., S., and W.; also two fine views of the Grand Chapter Room (East and West), the Oriental Room, the Norman Room, the Ionic Room, the Egyptian Room, &c. The Library interests me most; and certainly, judging from the photograph of this splendidly furnished room, and its well-filled cases of Masonic books, I shall not be satisfied until I have explored its contents personally before many years have passed. I know nothing of the cost of these stereoscopic slides, as they have been sent me by a very dear friend and brother from across the "big pond;" but I strongly advise our artistic friends to procure copies, being photos of the finest Masonic Temple in the world.—W. J. HUGHAN.

Reviews.

The Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendar. (By an old Editor of Masonic Calendars.)

The fourth year of publication of this most useful and handy volume has arrived, and we are glad to notice various changes have been made in the arrangement of the information which will considerably add to its value. As each successive edition has appeared, the Craft will have seen how numerous improvements have been introduced, and certainly the present copy has far excelled all previous issues. It is virtually the successor of the extinct British and Irish Masonic Calendar, published, we think, from 1859, first of all under the editorship of Bro. Donald Campbell—a well-known Mason—and latterly by the accomplished craftsman, Bro. J. Dixon Porteous, of Glasgow. We are glad to see that an accurate list of all the London and Provincial Lodges and Chapters, have been arranged and classified alphabetically according to their names, and towns they are held in; and a capital calendar is given, in which will be found all the London Lodges, Chapters, &c., as also the various Board and Benevolent Committee meetings. These, we know, have only been compiled after an expenditure of considerable time, labour, and patience. The information respecting the Mark Grand Lodge, the Grand Council of Royal, Select, and Super Excellent Masters, the Orders of the Temple, and of the Red Cross of Constantine, and the Supreme Council of the Ancient and Accepted Rite, is especially full and valuable; and their various Lodges, Councils, Preceptories, Conclaves, and Chapters, are carefully recorded, and nothing of importance seems to have been omitted with respect to these rites—information, by the way, which cannot be obtained in any other publication, and which alone is sufficient to make the Calendar a great success.

The "Cosmopolitan" is also thoroughly worthy of its name, for intelligence is afforded of the chief officers, and of the names, numbers, and localities, of nearly all the Grand Lodges in the world. Within the compass of 250 pages there is matter enough compressed, clearly and closely printed, to fill several ordinary sized volumes. We are pleased to observe many advertisements inserted at the end of the Calendar, without which aid, we are convinced, the volume will never pay at 2s.; and as its circulation is "world-wide," we cannot imagine a better medium for the advertisers. We conclude by expressing our earnest hope that the support afforded it by the brethren of the "mystic tie" will be commensurate with its usefulness, accuracy, and compactness.

Obituary.

R.W. BRO. THE LORD ATHLUMNEY.

The Right Hon. Sir William Meredyth Somerville, Baron Athlumney, of Somerville, in the Peerage of Ireland, and Baron Meredyth, of Dollardstown, in the Peerage of the United Kingdom, P.C., died at Dover on the 7th inst. His lordship was born in 1802, the elder son of Sir Marcus Somerville, Bart., M.P. for the county of Meath, by his first wife, Mary Anne, only daughter and heiress of Sir Richard Georges Meredyth, Bart.; and succeeded his father, as fourth Baronet, July 11, 1831.

He first entered the diplomatic service, and was paid Attaché at Berlin, November, 1821, to December, 1832. From July, 1846, to July, 1847, he was Under-Secretary of the Home Department; and from the latter date till February, 1852, his lordship (then Sir William Somerville) held the post of Chief Secretary for Ireland.

He sat in Parliament for Drogheda from 1837 to 1852; and for Canterbury, from 1854 to 1865.

Lord Athlumney was raised to the Peerage of Ireland, Dec. 14, 1863; and to that of the United Kingdom, May 3, 1866.

He married first, December 22, 1832, Lady Maria Harriet Conyngham, youngest daughter of the late Marquis Conyngham, K.P., by whom he had a son, who died an infant, and a daughter, Elizabeth Jane, wife of the present Earl of Charlemont, K.P. His lordship married secondly at Paris, Oct. 16, 1860, Maria Georgina Elizabeth, only daughter of the late Herbert George Jones, sergeant-at-law, by Maria Alicia, his wife, daughter of Sir George W. Leeds, Bart., and leaves by her five daughters, and an only son, James Herbert, Gustavus Meredyth, present Lord Athlumney, born March 23, 1865.

Orator and statesman, the nobleman whose decease we record held a high position among the leaders of the Whig party; and as a resident landlord he was esteemed and honoured beyond most men in Ireland.

Lord Athlumney was a steady and consistent supporter of the Masonic Order, and had successively filled several offices in the Grand Lodge of Ireland. He was elected, we believe, to succeed the Earl of Donoughmore, as Senior Grand Warden, and held that distinguished post at the time of his decease. There can be no doubt that his loss will be greatly felt by our Irish brethren, as his suave and dignified manners had endeared him to all.

BRO. JOHN TURNER.

The funeral of the late Bro. John Turner, an active member of the Harmonic Lodge, No. 216, and an old and respected member of the Liverpool Licensed Victuallers' Association, of which he was several years since the chairman, took place on Saturday last, the 29th ult., at Anfield Cemetery, near Liverpool. Our deceased brother formerly carried on business as a licensed victualler for several years; and as a recognition of his valuable services he was elected chairman of the above-named association in 1872. He afterwards removed to Barrow-in-Furness, where he began business as a wine and spirit merchant. A short time ago he was seized with an illness which terminated fatally, on Wednesday, the 26th ult. A large number of brethren and others, who were led by representatives of the trade, were present at the grave to pay their last tribute of well-earned respect to the deceased. Amongst those present were Mr. Ellis, chairman; Bro. R. Ing, vice-chairman; Bro. Captain Berry, Sec.; Bros. Tozzard, Meakins, Morrison, and Taylerson, members of committee, as representatives of the Licensed Victuallers' Association; Bros. T. Blizard, Singleton, &c.

BRO. WILLIAM DAWSON,

On Saturday the 13th December, the mortal remains of Bro. William Dawson, aged 75 years, of Lark-street, Bolton, were interred in the Church of England ground at the cemetery, Bolton. Deceased was initiated in the St. John's Lodge, No. 221, of Freemasons, on the 17th February, 1821, or upwards of 52 years ago, and was believed to be the oldest Freemason in the province of East Lancashire. He served the various subordinate offices in his lodge, and was installed as W.M. in 1826. In the year 1828 he served the office of Provincial Grand Director of Ceremonies, and at the meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge, held at Bolton on the 2nd July, 1846, on the occasion of the installation of the Earl of Ellesmere as Prov. G.M., he was appointed Prov. G. Tyler. This office he continued to hold until his death, on the 9th instant, a period of over twenty-seven years, during which time he attended with one exception the whole of the meetings of the Prov. Grand Lodge. The last meeting was held at Clitheroe, on the 6th ultimo, but Bro. Dawson was unable to attend it in consequence of suffering from a severe attack of bronchitis, from which he died on the 6th inst. Bro. Dawson was exalted to the degree of Royal Arch Mason in 1826, in Chapter 221, and served the various offices in his chapter, being installed as First Principal in 1828. He was also a Knight Templar and Mark Master Mason, and for many years acted as Tyler to the various Craft and Mark Lodges in Bolton; also as Janitor to the Royal Arch Chapter; Equerry to the Knight Templar Encampment, St. James of Jerusalem; Prov. G. Janitor; Prov. G. Mark Tyler; Prov. G. Equerry to the Prov. G. Conclave of Lancashire, and as serving brother to the higher grades of Masonry, as practised in Bolton. Bro. Dawson was well known not only in Bolton, but throughout the whole of East Lancashire, his services being always cheerfully rendered for the benefit of Freemasonry, to which he was deeply attached. To testify their respect to his memory, the brethren of deceased's lodge, as well as of other lodges, assembled at the Baths' Assembly Rooms on Saturday afternoon, and met the funeral cortege on its way to the cemetery. They all walked in procession in front of the hearse. On arriving at the church, the brethren opened out to the right and the left, and allowed the hearse and mourners to pass. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Walter Chamberlain, M.A., vicar of St. John's, Little Bolton. The following members of deceased's lodge present were:—Bros. Wm. Hewitt, W.M.; W. H. J. Jones, S.W.; Robert Grime, J.W.; C. P. Brockbank, P.M.; P. Prov. G. Deacon; John Tunnah, P.M.; Prov. G. Sec.; Joseph Howarth, P.M.; James Fitznewton, P.M.; Thomas Entwisle, P. Prov. G. Sup. of Works; T. Morris, P.M.; T. Mitchell, P.M.; J. W. Taylor, P.M.; George Ferguson, P.M.; and Cartner, E. Fellows, Waite, Wm. Webster, Isherwood, and R. Blackburn. The brethren present from other lodges in Bolton were:—Bros. James Pilkington, W.M., 37; Jas. Walker, J.W., 37; R. W. Knowles, P.M., 37; James Newton, P.M., 37; W. H. Horrocks, S.D., 37; Charles Whowell, 37; Robert Glaister, W.M., 146; A. W. Crabtree, S.W., 146; John Wild, J.W., 146; Thomas Glaister, P.M., 146; Henry Ainsworth, P.M., 146; Robert Luthy, P.M., 146; Fred Wood, Thomas Draper, John Duxbury, George Mason, Job Rostron, and Hulton, all of No. 146; Robert Harwood, P.M., 348; S. Barrett, E. Mannell, and H. Stephenson, of No. 348. The brethren present from district lodges were:—Bros. Henry Maiden, Past Prov. Grand Sword Bearer; J. W. Kenyon, P.M., No. 42, Bury; James Heap, Nos. 1045 and 1170, Altrincham and Manchester respectively; Robert Pickup, P.M., No. 1032, Whittle Springs; John Heaton and S. Marsden, No. 344, Radcliffe; and John Hamer, No. 128, Bury. The brethren were marshalled in procession by Brother Robert Whittaker, P.M., 678, Farnworth, Assistant Prov. G. Director of Ceremonies. At the request of the deceased no Masonic clothing was worn, the brethren appearing in simple mourning attire. Tea was provided for friends from a distance by Mr. J. Bostron, of the Trinity-street Station Refreshment-rooms.

There are in connection with the College

THREE ANNUAL EXHIBITIONS,

open for general competition to all students, and tenable for three years.

Special Classes are formed for preparing students for the Legal, Medical, Home, Colonial, and Indian Civil Service Examinations; and for entrance to Woolwich, Coopers-hill, and the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, Dublin, Durham, and Edinburgh.

The Religious Teaching is based on strictly Protestant Principles, in accordance with the Doctrines and Liturgy of the Church of England.

Students requiring a commercial education only, are exempt from the classical course, if desired.

The year consists of two terms, during which there are no holidays, the only vacations being at Midsummer and Christmas.

The use of all class books, valuable library, stationery (except mathematical instruments) laundry, &c., is included in the terms. No Extras of any kind.

The High School—Students from 16 to 23 years of age.
 The Middle School—Students from 12 to 16 years of age.

The Preparatory School—Students under 12 years of age.

The College is divided into three sections. In the

PREPARATORY SCHOOL

(entirely distinct, but contiguous)

Boys are well grounded in the elements of a sound English Education, with French and German (also in Latin and Greek if for the learned professions), and prepared for the High or Middle School. In the High School the course of study is a preparation for the Universities and the various competitive examinations; while the Middle School trains pupils in such subjects as will qualify them for scientific and commercial pursuits.

Alston College is pleasantly situated, about six miles from Preston, and half a mile from Longridge Railway Station; is in immediate proximity to beautiful mountain scenery, within half an hour's ride of the chief watering places on the western coast of Lancashire, and is considered by Medical Professors to be in one of the healthiest localities in England—a fact sufficiently proved by the remarkably good health enjoyed by the students and regularly confirmed by the half-yearly medical reports.

Extensive Cricket Grounds are attached to the College Farms, whilst a spacious covered Gymnasium and Student's Hall, available for recreation, drill, &c., adjoin.

Reports of all examinations, together with the names of those students who have distinguished themselves at the College and the Universities, as Exhibitors, Medalists and Prizemen, also the reports of the late examinations, together with views of the College buildings, and all necessary information, forwarded on application to the Rector, or to

Mr. GEORGE CLIFFORD, Secretary.

References kindly permitted to Bro. Masons, and to the late Examiners: Rev. T. H. Lindsay Leary, M.A., D.C.L. (Oxon), Assistant Examiner to Her Majesty's Civil Service Commission, Crawford Cottage, Epsom; T. W. Eyre Evans, Esq., LL.D.T.C.D., Nightingale Villa, Lower Norwood; and other University Examiners; Professor Pagel, Liverpool; R. Routledge, Esq., B.S.F.C.S., Manchester; also the Protestant Clergy, Nobility, and Professional Gentlemen (parents of present pupils) in London, Manchester, Liverpool, Birmingham, Leeds, Bradford, Bognor, Preston, Burnley, Chester, Lancaster, Boston (Lincoln), Wigan, Harrogate, Accrington, Haslingden, Kendal, Southport, Todmorden, &c., and various other towns; the Continent of Europe, the colonies, New York, and the United States, Brazil, Cuba, &c., who can bear ample testimony to the merits and success of this College.

Next term commences the 7th August, 1873.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

Extract from "INDIAN ECONOMIST."

"We direct the attention of medical men to a fact observed some years since by ourselves, and corroborated by our subsequent experience, that Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is in many cases of Low Fever immensely superior to Quinine in curative power. We cannot persuade ourselves that the true value of Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is yet properly appraised in India: . . . It may be given with absolute safety even to a child three days old. Were medical men but to make a fair and exhaustive trial of it we are persuaded that it would work a revolution in the treatment of two-thirds of the diseases to which children are subject. Its curative power is simply amazing."

"Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he had received a despatch from her Majesty's Consul at Manilla, to the effect that Cholera had been raging fearfully, and that the ONLY remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE."—See Lancet, Dec. 1. 1864.

From W. VESALIUS PETTIGREW, M.D., Hon. F.R.C.S., England,

Formerly Lecturer on Anatomy and Physiology at St. George's School of Medicine.

"I have no hesitation in stating, after a fair trial of Chlorodyne, that I have never met with any medicine so efficacious as an Anti-Spasmodic and Sedative. I have tried it in Consumption, Asthma, Diarrhœa, and other diseases, and am most perfectly satisfied with the results."

From Dr. THOMAS SANDIFORD, Passage West, Cork.

"I will thank you to send me a further supply of Chlorodyne. It was the most efficacious remedy I ever used, affording relief in violent attacks of Spasms within a minute after being taken. One patient in particular, who has suffered for years with periodical attacks of Spasms of a most painful nature, and unable to obtain relief from other remedies, such as opium, &c., finds nothing so prompt and efficacious as Chlorodyne."

From JNO. E. GOULSTONE, M.D., late Principal Surgeon to the Steamship Great Eastern.

"I can confidently state Chlorodyne is an admirable Sedative and Anti-Spasmodic, having used it in Neuralgia, Hysteria, Asthma, and Consumption, with remarkably favourable results. It relieved a fit of Asthma in four minutes, where the patient had suffered eleven years in a most distressing manner, no previous remedy having had so immediate and beneficial an effect."

From Dr. B. J. BOULTON and Co., Horncastle.

"We have made pretty extensive use of Chlorodyne in our practice lately, and look upon it as an excellent direct Sedative and Ant-Spasmodic. It seems to allay pain and irritation in whatever organ, and from whatever cause. It induces a feeling of comfort and quietude not obtainable by any other remedy, and it seems to possess this great advantage over all other sedatives, that it leaves no unpleasant after effects."

J. C. BAKER, Esq., M.D., Bideford.

"It is, without doubt, the most valuable and certain Anodyne we have."

CAUTION.—BEWARE OF PIRACY AND IMITATIONS.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. PAGE WOOD stated that Dr. J. COLLIS BROWN was undoubtedly the Inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the story of the Defendant, Freeman, was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See "Times," 13th July, 1864.

Sold in Bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming Medical Testimony accompanies each Bottle.
