Greater Than Christ

THE CHALLENGING question arises: Does Franklin D. Roosevelt set himself above the Christian Christ on the issue of racial discrimination and anti-Semitism? ✠

In his January 6 address, Mr. President emphatically warned that there must be no racial differentiations in America's war situation. Jewish publications go to great lengths to proclaim anti-Semitism as being un-American. Then Christians of every faith and hue must conclude that the Christ whom they follow could have been un-American, because this is the expression from His lips which we find in the eighth chapter of the Gospel according to St. John. It might be well for millions of alleged followers of the Nazarene to refresh their memories in regard to Christ's anti-Semitic sentiments—

“THEN said Jesus to those Jews which believed on Him: If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed: and ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free.

“They answered him, We be Abraham's seed, and were never in bondage to any man: how sayest thou. Ye shall be made free?

“Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin.

“And the servant abideth not in the house forever, but the Son abideth forever. If the Son

therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed ✠

“I know that ye are Abraham's seed; but ye seek to kill me, because my word hath no place in you.

“I speak that which I have seen with my Father: and ye do that which ye have seen with your father. They answered and said unto Him, Abraham is our father. Jesus saith unto them, If ye were Abraham's children, ye would do the works of Abraham. But now ye seek to kill me, a man that hath told you the truth, which I have heard of God: this did not Abraham. Ye do the deeds of your father ✠

“Then said they to Him, We be not born of fornication; we have one Father, even God.

“Jesus said unto them, If God were your Father ye would love me: for I proceeded forth and came from God; neither came I of myself, but He sent me. Why do ye not understand my speech? even because ye cannot hear my word ✠

“Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar and the father of it. And because I tell you the truth, ye believe me not.

“Which of you convinceth me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me? He that is of God, heareth God's words: ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God.

“THEN answered the Jews, and said unto him, Say we not well that thou art a Samaritan and hast a devil? Jesus answered, I have not a devil; but I honor my Father, and ye do dishonor me.

“And I seek not mine own glory: there is one that seeketh and judgeth. Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death.

“Then said the Jews unto him, Now we know that thou hast a devil. Abraham is dead, and the prophets; and thou sayest, If a man keep my saying he shall never taste of death. Art thou greater than our father Abraham, which is dead? and the prophets are dead: whom maketh thou thyself?

“Jesus answered, If I honor myself, my honor is nothing: it is my Father that honoreth me; of whom ye say that he is your God: yet ye have not known him; but I know him: and if I should say, I know him not, I shall be a liar like unto you, but I know him, —Turn to Page 15 of America's Armageddon"

VOLUME ONE NUMBER TEN

UNIVERSAL REALIGNMENT ..

HE IMMENSITY of what is happening in this battered old earth of ours has not yet crashed through to the daily working consciousness of Americans, and certainly not to their political leaders in Washington. ¶ Nine out of ten Americans, and ninety out of a hundred politicians, accept in a vague and academic way that we have become embroiled with Nippon in a purely naval war in the Pacific, that to date the Nipponese have taken the lead in such fighting and scored the most gains. However, our real interest—they conceive—lies in helping England thrash Hitler's Nazis on the continent. Jewish propaganda has made this a reflex.

When we get the Hitler job done, we will collect our victorious armament and ship it westward. We will visit the same dose of conquery on the Mikado's subjects, making them to relinquish everything they may have seized while the Hitler-thrashing was in progress. ♣ The average American, and nine out of ten politicians, do not see the Nipponese as becoming any major menace to the United States in the west. The Nipponese—so the assumption runs—will merely potterfuss around with their new territories in the Orient and graciously delay digging themselves into any impregnable position till Washington and London have made shambles of Berlin and Rome. Then the history of the present year will entirely reverse itself and the world go back to the same white-race ascendancy that has always maintained in both Occident and Orient.

ONE of these fine mornings, however, our complacent citizenry may awaken to the bomb-shell realization that the titanic bamboozlement of the generations has been put over on them, that the politicians of London and Washington have been asleep at an extremely dangerous switch, that history has been made during their pro-British coma that can by no means be unmade, and that the real megalomania to order the world stems not out of Berlin but out of Tokio.

They will awaken to the realization that helping battered Britain thrash their continental first cousins has been but a silly and Jewish-motivated adventure from the start. They will see that it was connived by a clique of hate-obsessed opportunists whose perspicacities are measurable with a six-inch rule.

They will suddenly perceive that Nippon has conquered, and ruthlessly supervises, practically all of Asia, and with Asia's stupendous resources at her back, is in a position to dictate conditions to the rest of the universe.

What will such a situation produce for our United States?

Awakening to Nippon's Expansions

IT MAY mean that as soon as Nippon has consolidated her gains in the Philippines, Malaya and Borneo, she will be under the military necessity of drawing the teeth of the British-American coalition so that her new status quo in the Orient be not upset by British and American man-power and resources concentrated against her—granted the Anglo-American alliance endures that long.

Nippon will be obliged to go into India on the southwest, and into Hawaii and Alaska on the east and north.

We have been propagandized with the notion that it was Hitler or Russia that might penetrate into India and wrest that rich province away from the British Empire. Suddenly we perceive the Mikado's troops pounding at the very doors of India—taking Borneo, pushing up the Malay peninsula to Burma, dominating Siamese Thailand and appropriating the Dutch East Indies. Britain bids fair to lose Singapore with any week that passes. That means the ejection of the white man from the Orient. Will the white man ever come back?

Not if Nippon can prevent it! And Nippon is in a decidedly strategic position to prevent it. In the face of such denouement, this squabble which the western-world Jews have with the Germans, becomes childish and silly.

But that is by no means the beginning and end of the matter for Americans . . .

HAWAII has already been knocked out, and can present no real menace to the Nipponese for months to come. The American Pacific fleet has suddenly and mysteriously shown itself to have no real effectiveness—perhaps because it is no longer in existence, although our wool-gathering pro-British politicians do not dare to tell us that—and the next rich prize for the Nipponese to grab and capitalize upon, is the American Territory of Alaska . . .

Alaska can be reached through the Aleutian Island chain. Kiska, the westernmost of these islands, is almost a thousand miles nearer the Mikado's capital than Pearl Harbor.

In other words, a continental invasion of the United States is very near at hand, and with it imminent just around the corner of the weeks, we see our Washington Administration brushing it all aside as though it were of no consequence merely because they had decided it so, and criminally depleting our naval resources to furnish Britain with ships, men, and guns, to shadow-box with Germans in the North Atlantic.

We do this, apparently, because our prevalent Administrative racial strain is Jewish, and the communistic Israelites care little or nothing for the Orient. They have never been able to make a living there, anyhow.

"Throw the whole Orient overboard," say they, "and concentrate on whipping Hitler because he has challenged us, and to date has been successful."

But meanwhile the Japanese in the Orient are bringing about conditions that change the face of empires.

Our politicians are recommending to ignore all that. Nothing counts but winning the Battle of the Atlantic!

Hypothetical War Until Disillusion . .

THE AMERICAN war effort, then, is not truly a war effort. The American war effort—so-called—is merely an Administrative gesture to commit the Republic to kosher designs and objectives in such irretrievable fashion that there can be no turning back. All over the Union today, common folk are taking note of these things. The louder that the appeals for unity are sent out of Washington, the more disgruntled are the rank and file of native folk that there can be such seeming lack of integrity behind the gesture of war.

True, millions of Americans are going to camp, and thousands of "industrialists" are accepting a dollar-a-year from the Government and putting executive knees under desks in Washington, D. C.

None of it is registering overmuch with the plain masses of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, and points west.

There is something "phony" and unnatural about everything that the Administration is doing in the National Capital.

The plain Americans of the Middlewest never wanted the war in the first place, but having been served up the war, they are waiting to see what course it takes before giving it their unremitting endorsement.

To the moment, it still remains "Mr. Roosevelt's War."

He has by no means "sold" the American people on the idea that it is the vital conflict of the American Republic . . .

The vital conflict of the American Republic comes when the Mikado's troops land in Alaska, put it under their military rule, and start down through British Columbia to Washington, Oregon and California.

We shall probably rush troops into those areas to give them challenge. Our boys—your son and ours—shall stand against them with a paper marked "rifle" and another paper that is marked "tank."

Mr. White House Spokesman will, in that day, light up another cigarette in his eighteen-inch holder and make statements to the press that our main job is to defeat the Hitler Menace. The Japanese will show him.

How we are to extricate ourselves from such political nincompoopery? That's the headache!

How Shall We Meet Them?

THESE are not remote possibilities based on racial or political propaganda. They epitomize a most realistic situation that maintains in our western ocean and on our Far Eastern fighting front at present. We have gone to war with Nippon. Nippon has ruined Pearl Harbor and sunk the major portion of our Pacific fleet. Nippon has invaded our insular possessions, the Philippines. Nippon has thrashed our ally—Britain—in Hong Kong and Malaya. Nippon stands at this moment at the gates of the Dutch East Indies. Nippon has the Burma Road in control and pauses at the gates of India. Nippon has cut off our vital supplies of rubber and tin. Nippon is the "boss" in the Orient, and to say that we are going out there—after we have whipped one funny little man with a funny little moustache for the pleasure of the Israelites in central Europe, and drive her out of these gains and acquisitions, is to treat in absurdities.

It is Nippon we must reckon with. Hitler is an absurdity in the face of this vaster Oriental menace. ✱

Yet instead of meeting Nippon in fair fight, we persist in following smug and provincial Britain in trying to thrash her continental enemies, and in declaring there is "nothing to" this Nipponese menace. All our concern is to eject the Fuehrer from his continental eminence. ✱ Well, we shall see!

With the Nipponese controlling our western coast, mayhap Hitler will be welcomed not as enemy but as friend! . . .

We have nothing to repel those Nipponese hordes, at any rate, but such "On Order" armaments as the Rooseveltians may have prescribed to the current moment.

Facts to Remember About Alaska . .

HILE Singapore is the key to the military and naval situation in the Far East, how many people know that the key to an attack on the United States is Alaska?

Experts admit that if Singapore falls, the position of the Allies in the Far East is "weak," and that following a capitulation of British and native forces, Nippon will become master of the entire Orient in a matter of days. Should such a major disaster occur in the Far East, in what direction will Japan turn?

Naturally, since war is on, they will turn toward the United States, striking again at Hawaii, but what is even more important, they will launch a large scale attack on Alaska, comparable in size and in effect to the one which has proved successful in the Philippines.

With the Hawaiian Islands and Alaska in Japanese hands, then they would attempt an invasion of the States on the West Coast, and what appalls high officers in the U. S. Army is, that so much material has been shipped to the so-called democracies that the Army would find itself in a tough spot to repel such invasion ✱

There is an old adage that reads: "Prophets are not without honor, save in their own country." Such a prophet was Gen. "Billy" Mitchell, belatedly honored by the Congress on January 12th. In 1934 he made a prediction as follows—

"An air offensive against Japan from Alaska could be decisive. They know this full well and they know that we are preparing for it in no way whatsoever. They are misleading us with naval preparation which really will be quite secondary to air power that ultimately will decide the contest between East and West, while with the greatest secrecy they are developing long-range bombers for an attack on the United States."

What Dimond Tells Dunderheads . .

IN THE same connection, General Mitchell termed Alaska the most central place in the world for aircraft, said Anthony J. Dimond, the delegate from Alaska, in the House of Representatives, January 12th. Mr. Dimond further stated—

"It is no exaggeration that if on the fateful seventh of December last, we had in the Aleutians a power comparable to that which the late General William Mitchell so strongly urged for the region, the Japanese might never have dared to commence the conflict. And if they had dared the attack upon Pearl Harbor in any case, we could have blasted the enemy to bits" ✱

Just how serious-minded is the present Government in regard to the war with Japan, was revealed January 12 in a statement made by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox who said the major efforts of the U. S. Navy are directed toward keeping sea lanes open and fighting Axis naval units in the Atlantic. He said—as have Messrs. Churchill and Roosevelt—that Germany is the main enemy, the strategy being evidently to let Japan take over everything in the Pacific, and after the Allies have succeeded in whipping Germany, then turn around and try to wrest it back.

Japanese statesmen and military men are not fooling around with "social gains." They are out to win a war. They are playing marbles for keeps, and if the gentlemen in Washington think Pearl Harbor, the Philippines, Singapore, Burma and the Dutch East Indies constitute something of a headache, in the words of one of their kind from Tin Pan Alley, "They ain't seen nuthin' yet!"

The Alaskan delegate, Mr. Dimond, stated that while the Congress has appropriated 140 million dollars in the last three years for air and submarine bases, and other military facilities in the Territory, none know how near they are to completion, for that is a military secret. It is, however, no military secret that warplanes—fighter planes and bombers needed for attack and defense—are being diverted to the other theaters of war, which might be used if and when Japan attacks Alaska.

BASES without warplanes are a warm invitation to any enemy to move in and take over—then use them against us. That is the Alaskan situation today, and according to Messrs. Roosevelt, Churchill and Knox, the Pacific phase of this world conflict is to be played in a minor key so that Messrs. Churchill, Roosevelt and Knox can concentrate upon blocking Hitler in Europe, Africa and the Near East. Britain seems interested only in smashing Germany on the Continent. Then the United States can shift for herself with Japan. Alaska, then, is apparently wide open to attack by Japan, and a recent prophecy has it that Japan will seize Alaska. If General William Mitchell was right in his other predictions, then the one he made about Alaska's being the most central place in the world for basing aircraft is doubtless correct. Japan has taken cognizance of the fact, because she has astute, determined and realistic leadership ✱

DELEGATE Dimond of Alaska pointed out that the Aleutian Islands form bases that can be used as stepping-stones in attack upon Japan, and that knowing that, the Nipponese are not going to await a Nazi defeat in Europe—which Churchill said could not come till 1943 or 1944—but will step in and seize those island stepping-stone threats, because they are fighting this war in 1942, and are very businesslike about it.

Consider those islands. Cape Prince of Wales, on the Alaskan mainland, is only 54 miles from the mainland of Siberia. The Aleutian Islands stretch out toward Japan. Attu Island, in the Aleutian group, is only 200 miles from the heavily fortified Beering Island, owned by Soviet Russia, and is only 635 miles from the most northerly island of Japan, and is approximately 1,130 miles from Tokio and its great seaport, Yokohama. From Attu Island, the other islands of the group are strung along for 720 miles to Dutch Harbor, where air and submarine bases are being constructed at the present time.

Remember, the debacle in the Far East, the appearance of Churchill before the Congress, the suggesting of Lord Beaverbrook's name for a high Government position, and the emphasis upon the protection of the British Isles, Libya, the Near East and the Mediterranean, have the most significant implications, all indicating that under the guise of international defense the program of the internationalists goes forward with gusto and enthusiasm. That program is Union Now, which is being implemented with concrete action, thereby subordinating our formerly independent Nation to the humiliating position of a colony in the British Empire ✱

Soon the time will come when the people will awaken to the fact that it is OUR Nation which must be defended, not only against warring aggressors but from those who bore from within ✱

Are These Britishers Honest With Us?

ARE THESE British-Israelites honest with us, in getting us to go into international conflict to save their disintegrating empire? Are they even people of our own caste and breed? Back in 1931 a distinguished American—George Henry Payne—brought out a book, "England, Her Treatment of America," which laid bare the traditional British attitude toward Americans. This book, which The Galilean earnestly implores every genuine patriot of this country to read, reveals the stark truth of the "regard" which British-Israelites have for this western-world republic.

England, if the truth must be known, is no longer the England of Shakespeare, Addison, Johnson and Pitt. England is an empire that has been taken over by Mongolian Luciferians, who have married into her aristocratic families and brought about the emasculation of her once-proud blood.

On the fly-leaf of George Henry Payne's book we read the following—

"AS TO Americans: To arouse the American's eager interest, his distinguished consideration and undying devotion, all that seems to be necessary is to hold him up to the ridicule of the rest of the universe. Dickens won them to him forever by his merciless projections of Americans as windbags, swindlers, and assassins. I, myself, have been particularly careful never to say a civil word to the United States. I have scoffed at their inhabitants as a nation of villagers. I have defined the one-hundred percent American as 99 percent idiot. And they adore me, and will go on adoring me until in a moment of senile sentimentality I say something nice about them, when they will at once begin to suspect me of being only a cheap skate and drop me like a hot potato!" George Henry Payne didn't write the above. None other than George Bernard Shaw wrote this bit of insult to Americans, as quoted by Mr. Payne from the New York Times of December 19, 1930. This disgusting old nincompoop, cavorting in international literature like a senile rouse, is not even an Englishman but a renegade communistic Irishman, who establishes his prestige on his insufferable impertinence.

IN HIS preface, the author, discussing the possibility of a union with Britain, says: "... in her relations with America in the past, her official governors have been openly contemptuous of both the American government and the American people, and ... in the present time England is still as contemptuous of America and Americans as she was before the World War when we fought by her side in France ... It is idle to preach an association with Great Britain that the American people will never accept as long as any considerable number feel that her attitude today is just what it was when Palmerston threatened us with a war of revenge, and when British interests demanded that the South —Turn to Page 10

Little Lessons in Aquarian S

GREAT army general said to me recently: "When you get around the treaty table with other nations, only three items count. First, how big is your army? Second, how big is your navy? Third, how big is your bank account?" He added: "The power of these is doubled as you are called to deal with Orientals." He was not trying to be cynical. He was considering international negotiations from the angle of realism and an experience that dated back to our Philippine War of '99.

The reason why that army general was talking sense lay in the fact that States are not individuals.

Any State is a hypothetical entity, precisely like a commercial corporation. It is not in existence to develop the moral or ethical attributes but to accomplish two entirely material designs: Defend the public domain from assault by rival nations, and operate a civic machinery that gets the public business done at home.

The State has no reason for existence otherwise.

THERE are groups of sentimentalists who envision the State as organized paternalism for mass humanity, doing everything from legislating against earthquakes to removing the ashes out of its cellars. When the State goes into international negotiations, they contend, it should conduct its parlepours with the transcendent moralities of the Twelve Apostles.

That would be excellent if the State were humanity's Sunday School teacher. But the State is by no means the teacher of a Sunday School.

The State is humanity's engineer and accountant. The State knows only force and expediency in treating with fellow States because they are tackling engineering and accounting problems in common. If a group of engineers came together to consider construction of the St. Lawrence Waterway, it might be a moral enhancement to the young to learn that they had opened their consultations with prayer or the reading of Lincoln's Second Inaugural. But after all, what would it have to do with the digging of a momentous ditch? Those engineers would be treating with the forces of water, the stresses of strata, the headaches of finance.

"CHRISTIANITY W

As engineers, we concede that such men should be sufficiently developed spiritually not to shoot one another if they found they could not agree on a brand of steam shovels, but their big job would be to get the canal opened and ships sailing through it.

NOW there can be such a thing as a "Christian" Commonwealth, certainly, and it can treat with other nations on a basis of probity—just as those engineers must be honest with one another if they hope to work in concert over any length of time. But let us never lose sight of the fact that even the installation of any such system as the Christian Commonwealth is still a proposition in stern engineering. A Christian Commonwealth would not say, "I will do all the work that needs to be done on a basis of the fifth chapter of Matthew." It would say, "I will see to it that the evolved spiritual leaders of the nation have the chance to lead. I will not suppress and distract the individual. I will not loot his bank account nor confiscate his assets. I will not permit one caste or clique in the body politic to gain an ascendancy over the majority and call the result Democracy. I will not encourage usury but will work to abolish it utterly, that no man may procure gains for which he has not labored. I will protect and secure the citizens of the Republic, insofar as I am able, from all predatory practices instigated in the name of Federal paternalism. But I will do this as fundamental in good engineering, because I recognize that that country is governed best that is governed least. In other words, I consider it my function to defend the public domain from assaults by rival nations and operate a civic machinery that gets the public business done at home. But the morality of a country is determined by the evolution and advancement of a cross-section of the whole citizenry, and that is a matter of individual attainment. My function is to protect the individual in achieving his spiritual goals by permitting him to enjoy the liberties that make such achievement possible. In my engineering capacity, I must accredit the maxim that 'the world runs itself' insofar as it is permitted to do so. All I need to do is to see that interference with the accomplishments of the individual is held to a minimum. When I have done that, I have fulfilled my mission. The individual will do the rest."

NO STATE has ever yet succeeded in legislating men and women into being "good." What we must recognize in the present predicament of America is, that the mass mind is not being allowed to express itself, the mass conscience is not being permitted to decree the Republic's destiny, the mass opinion is not being followed by those who have been made delegates to our Federal legislative bodies.

In other words, the spiritual status of America is not only being ignored; it is being torpedoed, in the interest of Luciferian cliques and blocs that want to work their crackpot caprices on the whole body politic.

To put it in still another fashion, the mass-mind of evolved America is not being allowed to express itself and declare what it desires for itself in the way of international enhancement. Designing blocs and cliques intrude, and by propaganda or censorship prevail upon the electorate to endorse their own vagaries. A truly Christian Commonwealth, still the stern engineer, would repudiate the whole of it as being diabolically subversive. It would still be a problem of stern engineering.

ANY COMMONWEALTH calling itself "Christian" would simply reverse the practices and abuses of the present. It would recognize in the individual, the epitome of a great spiritual evolution that has come to flower in the mass in America, and at the present moment only begs for expression. People today only petition to be themselves, to have their legislative bodies reflect their mass-opinion.

There is nothing wrong with the great majority-opinion of America; the wrong as we see it demonstrating, is the manner in which the Luciferians have found ways to put forth false claims, to make spurious representations, to employ propaganda to defeat the exercise of the great public morality.

THE STATE, therefore, is executive and not philanthropic, and the fact should never be lost sight of, for a moment. If those diplomats who have the biggest navies, armies or bank accounts behind them, would seem to be most influential at the council table, it is the same thing as saying that the firm that has the greatest aggregation of steam-shovels will doubtless be the dominant firm in digging the mammoth St. Lawrence ditch.

The State is merely a machine—like a motorcar. A given automobile may transport a group of thugs, fleeing from a bank robbery, with the same precision that it carries a doctor to the bedside of a suffering baby. What has the machine to do with one or the other—as a machine? Its function is to furnish transportation to whosoever sits behind the steering-wheel. So it is the function to which we of an Aquarian Order would put this machinery of State, that counts. Too much of our present civic turmoil comes from the fact that ignorant citizens want this automobile which is the State to buy them candy, lend them a handkerchief, get them a long-distance telephone number, or go hunting their lost poodles.

What any system of economy calling itself the Christian Commonwealth would do, would be to cleanse the public household of subversionists and "let Americans be themselves."

They ask for nothing more.

They have the spiritual ingredients within their own constitutions to declare for a renovated republic in a matter of weeks.

But the Luciferians obstruct them.

CHRISTIANITY WOULD CLEAN HOUSE!

be encouraged in the Civil War, in order that the American Republic should be disrupted." England has held us up to ridicule and contempt. She has sought to smash the sovereignty of America on three occasions. Now when she bids fair to have the immortal shirt licked off her by Hitler's Germans, she comes truckling to the United States, in the person of Winston Churchill, a venal, hypocritical old man, and wants a "union" with us—in which Britain, of course, shall remain the dominant factor. And to our everlasting shame, instead of sending her about her business and advising her to go ahead and win her own war—which she so vaingloriously started, our public sycophants coddle her and donate thirteen billion dollars to her defense.

Should they be eventually tried for High Larceny and treason, or should they not?

The wars are not over yet.

The trials for the American war-guilt may yet be one of the most illustrious pages in the book of western-world history!

Did Roosevelt Actually Know?

INTO the consciousness of the American people is seeping astounding information that the heads of the Government of the United States had advance knowledge that the Japanese intended to make an attack on Pearl Harbor such as occurred on December 7th, and that it was no particular surprise to them that epochal Sabbath morning that six or more of our prime warships had been sent beneath the waves.

Aside from newspaper reports, the following statement from a radio broadcast by Senator Tydings of Maryland, following the Pearl Harbor debacle, is very much to the point—

"This much to my certain knowledge I can say now, that precise plans of the Japanese—even to dates for this intended attack—were given to the American government a few weeks ago" ✱

This was no irresponsible columnist writing sensations, a la Winchell, but an eminent member of the United States Senate, sending statements over the nation that if true, are damning.

It indicates that Mr. President, Secretary Stimson, and Secretary Knox, should have known the method of attack and its imminence, and if they did nothing in consequence, they can only be guilty of the gravest dereliction.

THE WHOLE Pacific Ocean fracas then, becomes spurious and lecherous. It leaves the nation with the appalling realization that perhaps the whole thing was encouraged—at least not efficiently counteracted—because it meant certain declaration of war and the joining of the United States with the anti-Axis governments ✱

The joker in the situation is the fact that the Japanese admit of no divine right of Israelites to order the Christian—or any other—nations of the earth, and their plans and schemes transcend any Jewish complexes to make this a lick-Hitler war and then call it off.

The Japanese, at their present rate of progress, are not going to call anything off. They see opportunity not only to crush Communism for all time but to establish an Oriental dynasty that shall dictate, for the first time in Piscean history, to the whole western world.

Mr. President, in the face of this, throws away our Philippines and announces that American forces will concentrate in the Mediterranean to liquidate Adolf Hitler, who was among the first to challenge and overturn Israelite prestige on the continent of Europe.

THE REPUBLIC of the United States of America cares little or nothing about the restoration of Israelite prestige on the continent of Europe.

The Republic of the United States of America has suffered a major catastrophe in the Pacific, not only in ships of the line but in territory. Mr. President cares little or nothing about it seemingly, and delivers eloquent addresses in the Congress to the effect that various AEF's of American boys shall be dispatched to Europe and Africa at an early date to lay the "Nazi Menace."

But the truth of the matter seems to be that the "Nazi Menace" does not stack up one-two-three with the "Nipponese Menace."

If the Japanese get the psychological fixation that they are messiahs to the universe, and proceed to prove it by taking not only the Philippines, but Hawaii and Alaska, and even moving onto our terrain of California, we may forget the Nazi Menace in a grand national scramble to defend United States territory ✱

If the Administration wanted war, it got war from all that we may conclude, because it was the decree of the kosher kitchen kabinet that all American resources be turned upon the vanquishing of the kosher-challenger, Hitler. The Orient "goes to hell," obviously, while this racial design is accomplished. . . . If this be American Christianity in statecraft, then are we delivered into the hands of international Luciferians indeed.

The Rubber Bottleneck . .

STUDY of strategic materials of war was made by the House Military Affairs Committee and findings embodied in House Report 982 on July 21, 1941.

There were 15 strategic materials "essential to national defense" and heading the list was Rubber . .

Since the talk of the Nation centers around rubber, perhaps this is a good time to concentrate upon what Report No. 982 has to say about rubber, as follows:

"Rubber is a strategic material presenting one of our most serious problems. More than 95 percent of the crude rubber used in this country comes from British Malaya, the Netherlands East Indies, and nearby islands. Military uses, mainly for tires and tubes, are requiring vastly increased amounts of this material. Since rubber most necessarily comes from the Far East, the problem of shipping is extremely important. The testimony before the committee reveals that our present shortage is primarily a result of lack of ships and in some instances refusal to carry this commodity. This cannot be too strongly stressed. It has been claimed that shipping interests prefer carrying other commodities, and do not consider rubber the most desirable cargo; but this is not the whole story. There is evidence in the record that there has been rubber available in foreign warehouses and on docks at times that independent shipping was available, but these ships could not be used because their owners did not belong to the shipping conference. There is no evidence in the record that the Maritime Commission had ever taken any steps to correct such a situation. There is further evidence that the tight situation in regard to shipping was in some way linked with the increase of shipping rates which was to take effect in April of this year. It is entirely plausible to assume that certain shipping interests were waiting until these higher rates should go into effect.

"The price of rubber is regulated by the international rubber cartel, composed nearly 100 percent of British and Dutch interests. There have been times during the late spring that the Rubber Reserves Company had withdrawn from the market because of the price situation and in at least one of the months consumption of rubber was considerably above importation. This may have been due to speculation, or to heavy buying by private industry. The Rubber Reserves Company has had under advisement for some time, the purchase of all rubber coming into this country under its auspices, and recently put such a plan into effect. The Rubber Reserves Company, under this order, is now the purchasing agent for all crude rubber entering this country, and under the regulations as promulgated by the Office of Production Management will soon be rationing this commodity to private industry."

Another A. E. F., "Toot Sweet" . .

ON December 26th, Mr.

Churchill pointed out that the strategy of the English-American coalition is to conquer Germany first, and on Jan. 6th, in his message to the Congress, Mr. President followed through, pledging that all available American soldiers would be sent anywhere on earth that they might be needed—to keep England in existence. The fact that he had solemnly pledged American fathers and mothers who voted for him last Nov. that their boys would NOT be sent outside the Western Hemisphere, bothered Mr. Spokesman not in the slightest. In fact, it seems to be a fairly good joke on the silly Gentiles, that they had accepted his campaign pledges in such childlike faith . .

Churchill emphasized that the most important theaters of war were the waters adjacent to the British Isles, northern Africa, the Near East, and the Atlantic. America's Japanese battlefront in the Pacific counted not a whit. What had England to do with America's Pacific battlefront? At any rate, the supposition was,

"Why I Believe the Dead Are Alive!"

THESE are the days that presage a great revival of interest in Spiritism, Psychical Research, and the survival of the human soul after the change called "death." Thousands of sons, brothers, husbands—and perhaps even fathers—may be killed in the great war-convulsion which has engulfed our Republic. The paramount question assailing their survivors will be, "Are they still alive? What is the nature of the octave into which they have gone?"

Pelley's Book About Survival

In it you will discover most of the answers to the marvels of Life and Death that may have perplexed you. Read what Pelley has to relate of his intensive researches into these spiritual octaves. Every one of the 300 or more pages will fascinate you. You will be unable to put down the volume until completed.

"THE FOG"

WHEN Main Street appeared twenty or more years ago, the publishers of a New York magazine called Pelley in and offered him a thousand dollars for an article reviewing it. Pelley tried to read Sinclair Lewis's "success" but threw it aside in indignation as a libel on the American small town. "I'm going to write the answer to Main Street," he told his editors, "even if it means doing a whole novel of my own." By the end of 1921 he had completed THE FOG. From 1921 to 1925 it went into seventeen printings, sold over a hundred thousand copies, and made its author $46,000. It takes a boy and a girl through the "fog" of adolescence until they have found themselves culturally—an outstanding love story. Recently Fellowship Press acquired the original plates and have run off 1,000 copies more for those who may not have read this novel twenty years bygone.

that such British-defense theaters would be reinforced, no matter how the conflict goes in the Far East. London dispatches hint broadly that the Far East will be relinquished, thus confirming what Messrs. Churchill and Roosevelt have said.

However, one thing neither Mr. Roosevelt nor Mr. Churchill told us and that is that an A. E. F. is to be sent to Russia, the idea being to have the men there to fight the Germans in the spring. That news seeped through on the grapevine. However, the logic of the position of both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill would indicate that this is not mythical nor fantastic, but that it is a part of the sweeping plan of strategy which seems to be engineered by Mr. Churchill. Mr. Roosevelt said January 6, with heartfelt emphasis, that he and Winston Churchill "understand each other." America's war with Japan is secondary. The thing is to protect England and the British Empire.

"Gentlemen, We Have Taken You Over!"

WHEN Winston Churchill entered the Congressional chamber December 26, he grinned broadly and held up his right hand, forming a "V" with his fingers, as was shown by a picture in the Detroit Free Press of December 27. To the great majority of people this "V" means "Victory," but in reality it is a dual code symbol, meaning one thing to the Gentiles and something else to the Jews. Colonel E. N. Sanctuary discusses the occult background of this apparent innovation by stating that "the V so much used these days was an ancient symbol of Jewish temples, used after Jewry had rubbed against the 'mysteries' of Babylon," and then he quotes from an authority who says:

"For centuries the Kohanim, descendants of the priestly tribe of the temple which Titus destroyed two thousand years ago, have formed a V with the fingers of the hands in bestowing a blessing in a special religious ceremony." Not long ago the Communist organizations in New York State—where they are numerically strongest—changed their emblem from the now well-known hammer and sickle to a sledge hammer and a pitchfork, arranged in the form of a "V."

About a dozen years ago the atheistic magazine, The Godless, used a large V with the hammer and sickle emblem on its front cover, signifying victory over all religions, and more particularly victory over the Christian religion. Winston Churchill was either trying to be clever, or else he is privy to the scheme of the racial occultists who are gloating over their victory over all Christians. If Churchill is aware of the occult significance of the "V" symbol—and he must be fully cognizant of its occult significance—what he said in effect as he approached the Senate rostrum was: "Well, gentlemen, we have taken you over!"

14 Million Horses But No Buggies . .

DREDGED from the depths of dear old Memory, comes the phrase coined by a gentleman high in the councils of State. He said that the Constitution must be interpreted in the light of modern transportation and not in the psychology of the horse and buggy days.

Curtains descended on that scene of some seven years ago, and now Americans are invited by government decree to return to the horse-and-buggy days!

There are 14,000,000 horses in the country, but who has seen a buggy lately outside of the museums? If we had the buggies, the horses now munching hay in America were bred for farm work, and are, therefore, draft horses 🐾

Facing the stark implications of a nation stripped of its habitual mode of transportation, it is impossible inside of a decade to return to the horse-and-buggy days, for on the one hand there are few buggies, and if we had buggies, there are no light driving horses to draw them. As the matter stands now, if "Britain delivers the goods," the only answer to our quandary is to have British manufacturers start making buggies immediately—buggies, in case you did not know, or have forgotten, can be run with steel tires. Steel is an essential and strategic material, but that will not bother the enterprising British buggy manufacturer. The only catch in that is that even if Britain can deliver the goods, they cannot work the miracle of breeding quickly driving horses to draw them 🐾

So America slows down from 60 miles an hour to something like four miles an hour—a fast walker can cover four miles in an hour. Then

"A Terrific Volume"

Earth Comes!

FOUR times each year the Fellowship Press issues a deluxe volume on the most profound phases of Cosmic Fundamentals for readers who may be particularly interested in metaphysics. Previous books of note in such series have been Behold Life and Thinking Alive. This past month deliveries started on Earth Comes—an examination of Material Creation that delves back into the very origins of Matter and Planetary Beginnings. If you have ever had doubts about the truth of creation as described in the Jewish "Holy" Scriptures, a reading of Earth Comes will open a new world of entrancing research to you. Science is proving Jewish explanations of the beginnings of things to be absolutely spurious. Now comes a presentation of sounder truth that will amaze you. Only 800 copies have been printed. They are $4 each—and worth it!

CHRIST . . As Pilate Saw Him!

As Reported by Pilate to Caesar

DO YOU recall the stupendous story published in the REALITY Magazine for May, 1939, from an old manuscript alleged to be reposing at present in the Vatican Library, wherein Pilate, Roman Governor of the Province of Judea, affects to give his own private and confidential version of the betrayal and trial of Jesus called Christ? Nothing that has been put out by this printing-house in recent years made a greater sensation. Copies of REALITY for that month and issue were quickly exhausted.

Now in a Pocket Brochure

The story has been lately republished in a 32-page booklet for wide public circulation, for the consolation it affords true Galileans of the Christ's actuality.

Documented Evidence

DURING the time that Dr. Jacob Thorkelson was Member of Congress from Montana, he inserted in the Record some of the most amazing and irrefutable data on the responsibilities of the British-Jewish internationalists for our country's plight that had ever been officially compiled outside of the secret archives of Aryan governments. This tremendous lot of material was largely ignored by a stooge Congress of subservient New Dealers. But its permanent patriotic worth did not pass unnoticed in other quarters. The predecessor of this printing-house collected it and brought it out in a book of 461 pages, suitable for instant reference when New-Deal depredations are challenged. comes the plaguing question: Can the walker get rubber heels on which to walk?

Only a brilliant man like Stalin could possibly answer such perplexing questions. Perhaps that is why he is coming over to tell us how they do business in Russia. At four miles an hour, however, immobilized Americans can do a lot of thinking.

Worst Yet to Come

WHAT IS the Nation's largest industry?

According to statistics, the manufacturing of motor cars is the greatest industry in this country. Early in January the real meaning of the stoppage of the manufacture of new cars had not yet sunk into the mind of the average citizen. He was still figuring how he could get his tires re-treaded. Listening on the streets and in restaurants, one found that the first subject of conversation was—how to get more mileage from tires, re-capping and re-treading the old ones?

500,000 men have been working in the motor car factories in the direct production of automobiles, but indirectly several million workers in feeder factories depended for their livelihood on the demand for steel, plate glass, rubber, nickel, lead, and many other products. Then there are the auto accessory factories and distributing agencies down to the man on the corner in your town who runs the accessory store, filling station, or the garage.

51,238 automobile dealers employed 389,298 employees, and what is to become of those 400,000 people?

Up in Michigan many automobile workers were making wages ranging from forty dollars a week up to as high as 200 dollars for the skilled workman. Consider the plight of those workers when the first payment of their 1941 income tax comes due on March 15, 1942. Most of them have lived right up to their income, which is an old American custom. Some motor car factories have been turning over partially to national defense work, but those factories which were making automobiles cannot be re-tooled for national defense work for many months, for the very reason that all the Nation's tool makers are now being pushed to their utmost to deliver tools needed in national defense industries. Reports from workers in tool rooms tell a story that raises the hair on one's head. They report they are being driven to the breaking point.

Another angle which has not yet been considered is the loss of revenue to the States and to the Federal Government. As quickly as owners are compelled to lay up their cars, they quit paying gasoline taxes. Others will lay up their cars and buy no State license tags. The National Highway Users Conference reported recently that taxes collected in connection with motor vehicle ownership and operation amounted to $2,474,000,000—almost two and a half billion dollars annually, and as these revenues drop off the politicians will be forced to gouge the taxpayers in other ways to pay for the current Sanhedrin's war.

"Your father Abraham rejoiced to see my day: and he saw it, and was glad.

"Then said the Jews unto him, Thou art not yet fifty years old, and hast thou seen Abraham? Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Before Abraham was, I am. ✠

"Then took they up stones to cast at him: but Jesus hid himself, and went out of the temple, going through the midst of them, and so passed by."

FRANKLIN D. Roosevelt, professedly Christian President of the United States, obviously places no credence in this eighth chapter of St. John. In it Christ said of the Jews—"Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do."

Mr. President links himself and his country up with a British contingent that sends a spokesman into the House of Commons to declare, "If the devil himself would help us fight Hitler, we would accept him as our ally!"

True Christian people throughout America, however, are more moral-minded.

They would not accept the devil as an ally to fight anybody.

If the devil should fight Hitler, it would be fairly substantial proof to them that Hitler was of the Christ, and that the enemies of Hitler were of the Antichrist.

JESUS the Nazarene seems to have been the most open and unabashed anti-Semite that the world has ever known. In their own temple He termed them Children of the Evil One. That means they are progeny of Lucifer ✠

Modern Christians who lack the stamina to take the stand against this racial bloc that Christ took, are unworthy to be designated as His disciples.

Christ had no use for the Jews, and said so in language that left nothing to the imagination. But Franklin D. Roosevelt is a greater one than Christ.

Whosoever shall spear a Jewish Luciferian shall be penalized as un-American.

Very well then—the American scene is not lacking in those who prefer to take their stand on the side of the Nazarene and see Franklin D. Roosevelt, champion of Jewish Luciferians, plunge forward to his fate! . . .

SIGNIFICANT GOLDEN SCRIPTS

Chapter 104: "The Storm Must Mature" . .

ARULY circumstance speaketh as words

2 The princely days of endurance are upon you, the smelting fire of intelligence visiteth you, the days of trial, of testing of your faith which all must go through to know me, are now your portion.

3 The voice of one crying in a great wilderness cometh unto you: Prepare ye the way of the Lord, for behold He cometh in!

4 Lo ye do hear it and are ennobled, but not as men hear it; ye do make interpretation according to your natures . . .

5 I speak unto you in parable: A certain man had a tree of figs; the fruit thereof was beautiful and gave substance to his belly;

6 He conserved the tree of figs in that it gave him substance;

7 But one day a blight fell upon that land and his fig tree was cast down; the man said, Where is my fig tree that I tended so carefully? Lo, it is smitten and I have no substance!

8 Behold he looked up and saw a rain descending; he cried unto himself, Now the blight will be ended!

9 But the blight was not ended; it was only made worse.

10 Lo, he went about in sackcloth, knowing not whither he should turn lest the blight strike other trees and his fortunes meet with ruin.

11 Then the ruin came and he was cast down utterly, yet he said unto himself: That which was given can be received again, that which God offered can be tendered by God; I will ask of my Father that he send me fresh increase, knowing that new orchards will be mine inheritance.

12 Even so be it with yourselves, my beloved: I say the parable applieth to yourselves.

13 Ye have heard me say unto you that ye come into goodly things: I say it knowing ye have an inheritance that is not of this world.

14 Ye know not the difference, ye do have a humor to be of an affluence.

15 So shall it be! . . . whereof are ye saddened?

16 Is it not true that the storm must mature in order that the land may be freshened for new fruit trees?

17 Ye do sit in the storm and see ruin about you, but doth ruin last forever? . . . doth the sun not follow storm?

18 I tell you there hath been nothing known to you that was not known since the Beginning; heaven and earth shall pass away but life and the things thereof shall never pass away.

19 I teach you by many parables: Have ye not heard me say, The time of endurance is upon you? . . . I say heaven and earth shall pass away, but those who do goodly deeds shall never pass away.

20 Hear my voice say it: Except that ye be pure in heart, ye can have no concept of that which cometh to humanity.

21 I have called, ye have chosen;

22 When a man hath a goodly deed to do, he doeth it, beloved, without regard to circumstance: do men expect a locomotive to go upon a downhill rail to pull its load?

23 Know that ye have been told of many things of import: ye have been advised of identities that have surprised you: ye have heard ministers speak unto you, even as ye discern.

24 Think ye that I would have you ignorant of matters that it is your birthright to know?

25 That I do not shock you too potently with my disclosures, take that which is given you as truth and cleave unto it; accept that which is spoken and rivet it fast in your sweet understanding;

26 Ye are doing a goodly work that hath my blessing; I do bless you in circumstance, in that ye do it.

27 Consider the lilies, as I have oft told you: behold they have no substance of men, yet are they watered, cleanly do they thrive in the soil God hath wrought for them;

28 They have no beauty of men, yet are they admired; they have no psaltery of their own, yet do they sing anthems.

29 Be ye therefore of good cheer and stout heart for the fray which cometh.

30 I am your lord and servant, awaiting your return from an excursion into flesh, in that it pleaseth you to abide in my love.
