THE JOURNAL OF BORDERLAND RESEARCH

BSRA No. 1: Published by Borderland Sciences Research Foundation, Inc., PO Box 548, Vista, California 92083. Edited by the Director, Riley Hansard Crabb, Doctor of Metaphysics in the Society of St. Luke the Physician.

The Journal is published seven issues a year, with the assistance of the Associates, at the Director's home, 1103 Bobolink Drive, Vista. It is mimeographed, 34 pages an issue. The Foundation was incorporated under California law, May 21, 1951, #254263, and has been in continuous existence since then. Address all correspondence to the PO box. The Journal is included in the association membership of $6 a year. Single copies of the Journal are $1.00. If you don't care to join you may receive the Journal by donating $6 or more a year to the Foundation. The Director's wife, Mrs. Judith Crabb, is office manager of BSRA.

PURPOSES OF BSRA: This is a non-profit organization of people who take an active interest in unusual happenings along the borderland between the visible and invisible worlds. In the words of the late Meade Layne, founder and director of BSRA from 1946 to 1959, "BSRA publications are scientific in approach but employ few technical expressions. They deal with significant phenomena which orthodox science cannot or will not investigate. For example: the Fortean falls of objects from the sky, Teleportation, Radies-thesia, PK Effects, Underground Races, Mysterious Disappearances, Occult and Psychic Phenomena, Photography of the Invisible, Nature of the Ethers and the problem of the Aeroforms (Flying Saucers). In the year 1946 BSRA obtained an interpretation of the phenomena which has since come to be known as the Etheric or 4-D Interpretation, and which has not been radically altered since that time. This continues to be the only explanation which makes good science, sound metaphysics and common sense."

The chief present concern of the Foundation is to make this kind of unusual information available as a public service at reasonable cost. Headquarters acts as a receiving, coordinating and distributing center. An important part of the director's work is to give recognition, understanding and encouragement to people who are having unusual experiences of the borderland type and/or conducting research in one or more of the above fields. For consultation on borderland problems, or for Spiritual Healing through prayer, write or phone (714-724-2043) for help or for an appointment. Donations toward Foundation research programs and expenses are welcome.

The 20-page list of BSRA publications was revised March 1968. It is available from headquarters for 50¢ in coin or stamps. Listings and prices of Mr. Crabb's tape-recorded lectures are included. Write to BSRA, PO Box 548, Vista, California, U.S.A., 92083.

A JOURNEY TO THE MOON
From "Natives Of Eternity"
By Flower A. Newhouse

One of the things that Borderland Science will teach you eventually, in this Flying Saucer era, is that one planet may be another planet's jail! And in Max Heindel's Rosicrucian "Cosmo-Conception" we learn that the satellites of a planet are the jails for the backward or evil members of that planet's humanity -- which indicates why our Moon is such a disagreeable and unhappy place to be. This is why Ashtar told Trevor James years ago that our Astronauts would be even more eager to leave the Moon than they would be to arrive! Nevertheless, every occultist and mystic must eventually face up to and master the Moon forces within himself, if he would achieve the stature of the fullness of the Christ.

Now that the successful Apollo missions are making a commonplace of the journey to the Moon many of us would like to go and see for ourselves -- but leaving the cumbersome and inadequate physical body temporarily behind. This challenging idea was broached in the Mars Stronghold on the Moon article in the last Journal. The idea is not new and we find an interesting description of such a trip in one of the early books of the well-known and well-beloved Southern California mystic, Flower A. Newhouse. This is from the Part IV section titled, "Life On Nearby Planets".

"... I had not been in meditation but a few moments when the sudden burst of Light announced His Presence. The Master used no idle words in needless greetings. Addressing me in a kindly but positive voice, He began: 'Prepare to leave your physical body in the way you have been taught. Tonight you are going to make a planetary excursion to the moon.'

"The Master John aided me in putting my physical body in a relaxed but consciously "awake" state. As I 'stepped out' of my material body, the lightness, harmony, and energy of the mental body I found myself using was exhilarating. The Master's right hand clasped my left hand, and in that manner we traveled through all these experiences. His power and guidance thus protected and enlightened me constantly.

"Hardly a minute elapsed between the Adept's clasping my hand and my next realization of actually being within the atmosphere of the moon.

"Our view of the satellite was similar to that which passengers have in airships when about five thousand feet above the earth. However, the panorama upon which we looked was devoid of any sign of life. We gazed upon a bas-relief composed of extinct craters, some of them in plains, others on hills or mountain tops. Mentally I compared the scene before us with a desert wasteland, dotted by great mountains rising unexpectedly out of nowhere. Yet it was not sand I saw below, for the Master explained that it was more like baked clay than any other substance with which I was familiar.

"The Master John encircled the globe and wherever He paused for me to note the scenery, it was always dry wastes that greeted our eyes.

"During all the time we spent in studying the surface of the moon, I was conscious of the most eerie sensation which indicated a force entirely foreign to me. I could not see what caused these peculiar radiations. The Master read my thoughts, for He said, 'You discern a strange magnetism pervading us. The source of this pressure you feel is the only thing of interest on this dismal cosmic island. Listen carefully.'

"In every solar system a place is always created that will receive the exiled Nature Spirits who misbehave while working in those planets that have physical life upon their surfaces. The Nature Kingdom is governed by a moral code wholly unlike that which governs human beings. Exile from the mother planet is not planned for the purpose of punishing mischievous beings who become destructive, but for balancing them and teaching them gratitude for their path of evolution.'

"Many questions were prompted by the wise Adept's statements. I felt the Master wished me to express them. Immediately I asked, 'Do the offending Nature Spirits ever return to the planet they once served? If they return are they better for their exile?'

"The Master answered, 'When the misdirected impulses are reconverted into constructive energies, then releasement from this 'island' is gained. The beings who are treated here for balance, progress steadily and happily throughout the remaining course of their evolutionary progress on their native planet.'

"'Why do the etheric beings who inhabit this body generate such a peculiar aura of power?' I enquired curiously. There was something unnatural in the emanations from this place.

"The exiled creatures existing here are deeply grieved, unhappy, or homesick when they first find themselves on this satellite. The selfless Guardians who teach the Nature Spirits gradually dispel the dark aura of depression about these beings. Yet the unquenchable longing of the spirits for their native planet creates a field of magnetic yearning whenever they center their thoughts upon their homeland.'

"The Master John took me so close to the exterior of the moon that we were but three feet or so above it. I wondered what would now be forthcoming. The Great One gave an inner command and suddenly the atmosphere was teeming with Nature Spirits. They were not accustomed to visitors, for their inquisitiveness and desire to see us almost alarmed me. With relief I perceived that the Master had erected an invisible barrier so that they were unable to come nearer than twenty feet to us on all sides. For many minutes I was occupied in observing these strange creatures.

THE NEED FOR LOVE AND SYMPATHY

"I saw earth, air, fire and water representatives. Close to me were a sylph, a tall tree deva, and a fire sprite. The wave of yearning I felt from these spirits was almost unnerving. Seldom have I been as profoundly moved as by these creatures' need for love and sympathy. While I watched a few hundred spirits before us, the Master John addressed them, giving them inspiration, courage and vision. Knowing the differences in language and expression between the nature and human kingdoms, I was impressed by the fact that their varied assembly understood with one accord. Telepathic transmission disclosed the Master's thought images, which could be comprehended by any order of life.

"After the close of the address the whole group and satellite vanished instantaneously, and I found myself on the high knoll which overlooked the campfire my friends enjoyed nightly. The Master had not given me a parting instruction, but that was unessential, for I had His guidance and His revelations to reverently cherish.

"The persons who had accompanied me to our holy retreat respected my silence pertaining to the nightly lessons. Everyone was aware of a great and high vibration that enhanced and ennobled our lowliest tasks. I longed to share the unusual teachings which were enriching my knowledge, and on several occasions I almost answered the questions I heard others asking concerning conditions on the moon. Little did I dream that it would be almost four years before I was permitted to speak about these inner disclosures."

Mrs. Newhouse's moon experience can be dated prior to 1950, the copyright date of the fourth edition copy of "Natives of Eternity" we have in our reference library. About her Teacher, she says earlier in Part IV: "This Adept took his mastership degree after his life in Palestine wherein he was the most devoted of the Christ's disciples."

"Each one of us, even those who are not given to this form of mediumship (Mark Probert), is guided and helped. You all have your invisible helpers. . . no one is ever without an unseen presence at any hour or minute of the day or night -- because none of you who are still on earth knows when you will come over. . . LAKE TSIOLKOVSKY
ON THE FAR SIDE OF THE MOON!

"Canadian UFO Report" for May-June 1969 carries reproductions of two photos of a lake on the hidden side of the moon, taken by the Astronauts in Apollo 8 last December. Why these pics were not featured in American publications is your guess. We made our stencil drawings from the photos.

The upper photo may have been made from the basic orbiting altitude of 70 miles. The lower one, a closeup of the mountainous island in the lake, may have been taken from the LEM altitude of nine miles.

Editor John Magor, of "Reports" writes that the Russians picked up pictures of the lake in 1959, when their unmanned satellites first orbited the moon, no doubt, and called it Tsiolkovsky crater. Obviously, Russian authorities are no more ready to admit the presence of air and water on the moon -- and the possibility of supporting native moon beings -- than are American authorities!
MAGNETS, THEIR THERAPEUTICAL USES

By Dr. N.A. Turopath

There is no other known electrical force or energy so close to the human energy as the magnetic force. It matters not how strong a "current" animates a magnet, its presence is never felt. Yet all of us know that the basic principle of all electricity is magnetism. Like in all other manifestations of life, there are a host of mysteries cast upon the nature of magnetism and all kinds of speculations and speculators try to make it as hard to understand as it is humbly possible to do.

In my understanding, magnetism is simply the manifestation of electrons running "in circles" on the smooth surface of highly tempered steel, nickel, chrome or other metals which can be highly tempered. Originally, magnetism begins with a turbulation, either caused by a sudden jolt of a direct current coil, or by other natural or artificial processes. For instance the regular way of producing a magnet is to wind a wire around a very highly tempered hard steel piece in a continuous coil manner, attach the wire to the positive and negative poles of, let us say, an automobile battery. Lift the wire connection away from one battery pole, touch it again quickly in two or three rapid moves. That is all that is necessary to magnetize an average piece of steel. Once given a start by the direct current from the battery, the electrons in the atmosphere will continue to run over the direction originally started by the battery, so long as nothing negative or disturbing is done to stop their direction.

Even the strongest magnet in the world, if kept in a very thick coating of glass, will soon lose its magnetism; because the thick glass will stop the electrons from reaching the surface of the steel. If you keep the magnet hermetically sealed long enough in glass, it soon becomes plain steel again. On the other hand, place two magnets a little apart, attracting poles facing each other, make a coil with soft metallic wires and pass it quickly between the two magnets, the electrons between the two magnets will run through the soft metal wire; and if the ends of the soft metallic wire are in contact with the ground or returning to the source, you are producing electricity such as we know it in everyday mechanical uses.

Magnetic current or flux is originally a high frequency current because it penetrates quite deep and goes a long way before it stops its influence. For instance, if you place two wires of an electrical current on each side of an ordinary door, the current between the two wires is stopped dead. But if you place two strong magnets on each side of the door, they will influence each other through the thickness of the wood and hold each other attached to the door. Even a piece of steel, placed on one side of a door and a magnet on the other side, the steel will be held attached to the door and will faithfully follow the movements of the magnet. The body of the wood door is no hindrance to the magnetic current.

MAGNETIC PénéTRATION OF AURA AND BODY

If you hold a compass as far as about ten feet away from a good magnet, its influence is felt and registered by the needle of the compass, thus showing how far does the magnetic current penetrate or radiate. This penetration or radiation forms the basis of our therapeutic uses of magnets as curative agents and as one of the best at our disposal. It is also the least destructive or harmful known to medical science. Magnetic current can be compared to a strong hose of water directed against a dirty floor. It washes the dirt away but does not harm or change the woodwork (healthy tissue). Strong X-rays act similarly but they are like an acetylene torch. Yes, they burn the dirt away but if held there long enough they will also burn the woodwork (the tissues).

Truly, it takes much longer to dissolve a cancerous mass with magnets than it would take to do it with X-rays, but magnetic radiation is safer, easier, nicer and more natural than X-rays. In fact, you may leave magnets on a patient for over ten or 12 hours at a time, without any ill effects. No other form of electricity can be used with similar safety. Personally, I have used them across my kidneys for many hours at a time and never felt any reaction from them. However, there are times when dissolving a growth, quite a reaction is felt for some time -- if the magnets are held in their normal function and a rational diet is observed.

The uses of magnets as curative agents is practically limitless, ranging from cancer down to ulcers, blood clots, embolism, thrombosis, anaemia, nervous perturbations and especially organic malfunctions of almost any kind. Do not hesitate to use them for anything. Of course discretion will indicate different uses or applications for different conditions.

For instance, if you are dealing with arthritis direct current magnets are decidedly disturbing and pain follows treatment of even short duration. So alternating current electro-magnets will give more soothing affects, with more lasting results. On the other hand, if you expose a nephritic kidney to alternating current magnets there will be very strong reactions and pains. While a direct current will soothe and make them feel better.

Direct current magnets are for congestions of all kinds, if used with attracting poles facing each other, on such conditions as pubic infections, venereal diseases, weakness of the bladder, prostatic congestions, internal growths, ulcers, etc. Reverse the poles (repelling poles facing each other) and you will have the same results by using permanent magnets as you would have by the use of electro-magnets animated by alternating electricity. You can "melt" a growth much faster by using magnets with repelling... poles facing each other. Severe reactions are unavoidable but never fatal or even dangerous results.

ELECTRO-MAGNETS AND PERMANENT (ALNICO) MAGNETS

Among the permanent magnets, the ones made with Alnico metal -- varying combinations of Aluminum, Nickel and Cobalt, of which Alnico Five is the latest -- are the strongest. The best electromagnets are the ones having the largest coils and energized by straight rectifying tubes, 25s or 115s, without using transformers, coils or chokes. The Air Force used to make use of these coils and permanent magnets as sockets for radar tubes. If you can procure some of them, they will make very nice therapeutic equipment for reseach with little alteration. I have found them most effective when framed in a soft steel frame, such as you see in the accompanying illustration. The new magnets are quite expensive but, war surplus magnets are within the reach of everybody, if you can find them. (Write to Edmund Scientific Co., Barrington, New Jersey 08007, for a catalog.)

The Air Force magnetic coils weigh approximately 25 lbs. each and you know what a price you would have to pay if you purchased 25 lbs. of good quality copper wire. Then you need two of them, that means 50 lbs. per pair. But these have to be mounted on a massive strong platform, because loosely used, they may fall on your toes or legs and it is a definite good-bye to them! They are so heavy and hard they will smash any flesh and break to pieces any bone of the body.

The permanent magnets are not that heavy and it is easier to handle them. I use four or five varieties in my practice, ranging from two pounds each up to five pounds each. When I want quick and strong action I use very large magnets, mounted double on each frame (four in a pair of frames). For medium action, I use large magnets, only two in the two frames (one in each) and for very mild action, I use small magnets, singly.

You may use the magnets without frames, but it is much harder to handle them as they attract each other and change polarity befor you realize what is going on. It costs me three or four dollars to have them framed but it is well worthwhile. A good blacksmith will do it for you, if you know one, for perhaps six or seven dol-ars a pair, by the time they are fixed and painted.

The frames I use are soft steel about 1/2 inch wide, and 3/16 in. thick bars, shaped nicely as you see in the illustration. Then I dismount the magnets from their original mountings. There are 3/8 in. holes in the center for the narrow sides, and use the same bolts that are used for the radar magnets to hold them in place.

The finished surface of the magnet is turned towards the body, when treating with them, and connected with each other by strong twine to hold the frames in the position you want. Be sure to place some cloth between the magnets and the body. They do not need contacting the bare skin, even if you are treating your neck, eyes or ears with them. Here is a marvellous soothing and relaxing experience.

Place a pair of magnets on each side of a person as he lies on his back, let us say across the pulmonary or gastric region. Then place a zinc plate under the neck, attach it with a wire to the positive pole of a dry cell battery, two or three volts, then place another zinc plate under the bare feet. Connect it with wire to the negative pole of the battery. This position will relax almost any person, within 15 or 20 minutes, regardless of how nervous they may have been.

HORN TYPE MAGNETS

Each pole is a separate piece of steel or Alnico, mounted in frames so they can be held apart for work, or, with attracting or opposite poles attached when not in use, as shown here. Below, the frame-held magnets have been separated and placed on each side of the body, and held in place with twine.

ELECTRONIC CIRCUIT FOR MAKING ELECTRO-MAGNETS

The 2526 tubes are connected in series to produce a 110 volt direct current. The coils should be large enough to prevent overheating. If no other large coils are available, (Cont. in CRC, Page 26)

HARMONIC 33
Reviewed by L.G. White

Sensational is the only description of the ideas conceived in the mind of Captain Bruce Cathie, an airman who in daily life is a New Zealand National Airways pilot. Bruce had experiences to arouse his interest in UFOs before the sightings during his work as a pilot that clinched his interest.

In his book, "Harmonic 33", published in 1968 the flyleaf sentence in italics says, "Even while you read this interplanetary space ships are rebuilding a world grid system from which it appears they can draw motive power and they are possibly using the grid for navigational purposes!"

Captain Cathie, a modest, native born New Zealander with only a high school education, maintains that as a result of his observations he has provided a key that may unlock the secret of the UFOs. In this book he traces his investigations to build up the case for the very accurate geometrical pattern of UFO sightings along the National Airways routes which he travels regularly in his occupation as a passenger-carrying plane pilot.

Using New Zealand as a starting point the investigations moved over the whole globe to reveal a geometrically accurate pattern of intersecting points that in each instance are over "an active" or extinct volcano -- a place of known UFO activity -- one of the controversial "craters" of which there are a number of well known ones scattered up and down the globe -- one of the world famous places such as, the Sphinx and the Pyramids in Egypt or the Potala in Tibet -- and several in England, the most famous being the Stonehenge.

Captain Cathie is sure in his affirmation that UFO activity is currently rebuilding some of the Grid Points or maybe constructing new ones. The big question mark centres around the query: When the Grid is complete, what?

Auckland is New Zealand's largest and most northern city. It is situated over several long since extinct volcanoes. On Sept. 23, 1966 at 4 a.m., in Avondale just out of Auckland city, a terrific explosion heard nearly 30 miles away tore apart a foundry building and caused a fire which destroyed the premises. The comment of the foreman was, a wartime Block-buster bomb couldn't have made a bigger mess.

Because of the mystery centreing around the incident, Bruce Cathie had to obtain permission from the foundry manager to examine the area. Neighbours living within 100 yards had windows blown... in and their homes shifted on the piles, as well as a grand stand view of the mysterious shaft of light -- something like a long welding torch flame, seen from the factory roof level -- down to the ground level where later a 12-inch round hole was found in the concrete floor. This shaft of bright light slowly disappeared from roof level down into the ground where a small dome of light formed.
From this point the fire spread to the rest of the factory.

DEPOSITING A GRID MARKER

The conclusion arrived at after all the evidence had been sifted by Captain Cathie was: 1. A UFO had been seen about this time in the area and it was there to put down a new Grid Point. Unfortunately in this case it had to be under the site of a factory!
2. The column of light was pure energy similar to a laser beam.
This penetrated the building and floor and in doing so destroyed the building. 3. Once the energy had penetrated to the correct depth it was converted into a material state to form the Aerial Grid Point.

It must be here remembered that it was Einstein who said energy and matter are one and the same thing and to UFO personnel this change would be readily understood and controllable. It was indeed fortunate that the author of "Harmonic 33" was on the spot to investigate this first hard evidence to substantiate the theories he had been building up in previous months. There have been other mysterious explosions up and down New Zealand but none in such a closely populated area where the details could be so closely observed.
While the author of the book is not a mathematician he challenges anyone else, preferably with the use of a computer, to "prove his theories correct".

The geometrically precise placement of the points over the whole globe rules out the possibility of chance in the locations; so they must be there for a specific reason. This conclusion plus the almost continuous UFO activity over many of the areas such as Warminster in England presents a challenge to further investigation.

On page 169 of the book the name of Nikola Tesla is mentioned, along with a number of his discoveries. Readers are reminded that this great electrical genius discovered that "power could be obtained from the earth" and he devised a generating system to obtain and control it. Tesla did not live to develop this generator; so the idea still awaits someone to unlock this source of energy. "Harmonic 33" is an endeavour to probe deeper into this mysterious power source.

The already mentioned ideas are surely revolutionary but author Cathie steps out further and presents documented evidence of the relationship between atom bomb testing and earthquakes. The same geometrical precision is used to plot the site of the bomb test in relation to the earthquake center over the whole globe.

This well-bound book of 200 pages presents completely new and exciting views for those keen to probe deeper into the UFO mystery.

Since the book was first published in 1968 the author has been busy with further investigations and latest information is that another book is on the way. We in New Zealand are literally holding our breaths and waiting. We will keep you posted. The book is obtainable from A.B.C. Bookshop, Trafalgar Street, Nelson, New Zealand for $3.60 plus 20c postage, surface, or $1.70 by airmail.

Here is part of the Southern Portion of the WORLD GRID developed by Capt. Cathie, and copied from his book, "Harmonic 33".

Grid Aerials A and B are the first hints we've ever seen as to the possible location of Rainbow City in the Antarctic, or of some Flying Saucer base there. And the location of the "Eltanin" photo, a deep sea directional antenna, right on Cathie's grid, is significant!

WHAT HAPPENED ON URANUS

When the Women Trained for War

By Rosabell Hall Ashton

Toward the outer bounds of the solar system is a sister planet vastly larger than the earth. It is called an arctic planet and astronomers say learnedly that it cannot be inhabited because it is too far from the sun and its seasons are two long. But inside information has come to us that it is inhabited, and we are giving that information to the world.

A life-giving warmth and moisture emanate from the soil, and the difficulty of long seasons is overcome since the people live mostly in the equatorial belt. Ice caps extend far down from the poles; the frozen north and south occur in what would perhaps be our warm temperate zones. But owing to its greater size Uranus numbers as many people as our earth. Four great moons and three satellites light the long nights; eighty-four years are required to make the revolution around the sun.

There are differences between that world and ours too numerous to mention; but in one respect it is like the earth: men have always settled their disputes by fighting over them. A further parallel is that this condition continued for six thousand years. Two hundred years ago Uranus was in the condition that our world will be in about a century from now if dictatorships and the wars now brewing run their complete course. That world was divided into two armed camps; every family had lost members; orphans grew up as ragamuffins and ran in lawless droves; women killed their unborn children rather than raise targets for the big guns.

Then a woman had an idea. It was a wise idea since the Lord was its Author. She said, "Men have fought long enough, now it is the woman's turn. We should prefer fighting to sacrificing our sons, husbands and fathers, and doing double duty as mother and bread winner. (It was in the nature of one of those desperate remedies of the kill-or-cure type. But in this instance it cured.) This is going to be up-to-date fighting, she said. We are going to have training camps that are training camps, and be women of whom a frustrated Creator can be proud. We must perfect ourselves or the men won't want to keep us out of war." There was no carousing in those training camps. Courses were required in charm, dramatics, music and speech. But the strange part of it was that the women handled the machine guns, airplanes and big guns more expertly than the men!

When it was found that the women were in grim earnest, the the men became alarmed. The job of killing had been theirs simerially. They rose -- to a man. Never since the world began had ele all the men been united on a single issue as these men were. If eall the marriageable women went to war, the world would soon be depopulated. Arguments over boundaries, resources, and who was the greatest king slipped into the background.

All the women were arming; they were war-hungry. Everywhere one looked were billboards, headlines, parades, and women engaged in warlike preparations. The homes were deserted, the meals not cooked, the beds unmade. First the age limit was thirty-five, then forty-five, finally sixty. It was found that women freshened marvellously under the scientific regime. Preparing for war was a vacation from household drudgery.

The movement was like a plague that spread to the far countries of the globe; it infected heathen nations and tribesmen where the supremacy of men had never been questioned. Many were the caucuses rallies, conferences and round-table discussions that were held in cities, towns and countries. Dictators, big kings, and little kings met in council, and the momentous question was, how to keep the women out of war.

THE ROOT OF EVIL WAS DONE AWAY

It was an object lesson on a big scale and it accomplished its purpose. The women dictated their own terms. Uranus was remapped, harbors given to land-locked countries, mineral resources apportioned, boundaries of over-populated countries enlarged, and money
-- the root of all evil -- was done away.

Today Uranus is enjoying its golden age; hills, valleys and mountains are beautified; every family owns auto mobiles and airplanes and lives in a million dollar home.

Where do we get this advanced information? That is the story we wish to tell. Eighty-odd years ago a baby was born to the world and given the name of Leronia Abigail Martin. When she was a small girl it was noticed that she possessed an unusual faculty. She could find lost articles, she dreamed of things before they happened, she knew when people were going to die. Her Heavenly Father was as real as her earthly father.

Marriage to Joseph Ellis Wilson came early -- at the age of fifteen. Children were born under conditions one step removed from pioneering. The record of that family life reads like a book of marvels; faith restored children to life after breathing had been suspended; they recovered from the effects of seemingly accidents.

After the veteran achievement of bearing twelve children, Mrs.
Wilson opened a dressmaking establishment which engrossed her time for the ensuing twenty years. Possessed of a visionary mind, spiritual or psychic experiences often came to her in the midst of the crowding duties of her days. Always notable, her gift was perfected at the age of fifty-five when she lay at the point of death in a hospital. Her spirit was released from her body and journeyed into the great beyond. There she saw a vast concourse of her departed ancestors who motioned her back. She found no welcome on the other side while her work in this world was unfinished. But in the days that followed she visited them more than once while her life continued to hang in the balance. When she returned to the earth, the door was not closed. Since that time she has journeyed many times into the realm of the spirit.

Works on psychical research are replete with well-attested examples of similar experiences. All things operate on natural law, and communication with the invisible is no exception. Ears and eyes of a certain construction and focus are receiving instruments for space broadcasts whether by sound or by picture. Surely the Creator can use radio and television to communicate with His children.

As to the reliability of her gift, that can be testified to by a host of relatives and friends. It has been proved over a long period of time. History, we believe, will accord Mrs. Wilson a place on the roll of the prophets.

To crown a full life her experiences are being prepared for publication. While engaged in this work the horizon of the universe has widened marvelously for herself and her co-worker as glimpses have come of life after death, of people and conditions on other inhabited planets. Every step has been traced from the days when Uranus was a warning planet drenched in blood, to the present time of peace, power and enlightenment. Messages come at an hour near dawn when the body is asleep but the spirit is awake.

POWER TO ESTABLISH A UNIVERSAL PEACE

On the morning of March 4, 1936, the writing was sharply interrupted when the following message was delivered in a bell-like voice of great power and sweetness.

"Send a call to the daughters of the globe, especially to the women of America, since the call is to go forth from this land which is choice above all other lands. This call is to YOU, YOU, and YOU. It is to every woman on the planet from the oldest to the youngest, and particularly to those who are in possession of large fortunes who can finance this movement for world peace.

"When the mothers and daughters catch the spirit of this call that comes from God to all the daughters of this planet, He will give them a testimony that it comes from Him. HE WILL GIVE THE WOMEN POWER TO ESTABLISH A UNIVERSAL PEACE THAT WILL LAST A THOUSAND YEARS.

"But they must obey this commandment, must for it is a command. If they do not they will pay dearly with the blood of those they love better than life. Their beloved sons and husbands will be brutally murdered and left alone to die on the battlefields. Again

I say the power is given the wives, mothers, sweethearts and daughters. It is delivered into their hands if they will act and make use of it. THE LORD GOD HAS MARKED THE WAY FOR PERMANENT PEACE. Will they obey this call to arms?"

THE WORLD IS FULL OF GOOD WOMEN

As usual the theme was enlarged upon the succeeding mornings by lesser voices. The first step, she was told, was to call for volunteers. The world is full of good and capable women who can be trained for officers. There are more wealthy widows in America than all the other countries of the world. They should be appealed to. Money will be needed to equip training camps. As far as possible all the equipment should be furnished by women: tents, uniforms, trucks, guns, horses. Committees should be appointed to visit the mothers and convert them. Nurseries and kindergartens established for children under school age, and women who are too old or physically incapacitated for active training should be put in charge of those nurseries. Only physically disabled women -- that includes those with child -- are to be exempt. The men will be left to care for the homes. It will be hard for them to cook, make beds, and mend after office hours, but not harder than it has been for the women to carry the double load during the centuries the men have been settling their disputes by killing one another.

The promise is made to every woman who obeys this call that she will be born anew. She would have the knowledge that her life had not been lived in vain, that she had done her bit to further the great cause of universal peace.

Women of America, we put this up to you. Does this call come from God or man? The world is at the crossroads, this is the breakdown of civilization, or the dawn of the millennium. Which shall it be? The men have had six thousand years to make the world a safe and pleasant place to live, and it is further from peace than it ever has been. Now is the time for women to act. If they rise en masse it will accomplish what centuries of patience and meekness have not accomplished, it will put an end to war.

The living God is behind this movement. Can you doubt that? It is coming from the quarter it should come from -- the women who have been the losers in all past wars. Isn't it time they revolted? Wont the Prince of Peace ride at the head of their battalions? Wont the spirit of every martyr mother since the world began rally to the support of the women in this great fight for peace?

HISTORY AND DEVELOPMENT OF RADIONICS

Part VII, by The Radionist

Around 1926, Dr. Wigglesworth and his company, the Pathometric Corporation, produced the Pathoclast, of which a number of models were manufactured during ensuing years. It differed from previous equipment in two significant respects - the use of variable condensers for tuning, and the inclusion of vacuum tubes for amplification.

Tuning was accomplished by means of a large dial for each variable condenser, the dials were calibrated 0 to 100 in 1 or 2 degree divisions. There were two dials per tuning row, and two or three rows, depending upon the model. On a 2-row instrument, the upper row could be used for condition tuning rates and the lower row for visceral (organ) tuning rates. A tuning rate encompassed settings of both left and right-hand dials; with each dial capable of being set at any of 100 positions, the total possible number of tuning rates per row therefore was 100 x 100 or a total of 10,000. While this may seem to be quite a large number, yet it falls far short of the million-plus combinations possible with a tuning row on the Calbro-Magnowave, which incorporated 6 dials each of which could be set anywhere from zero to 10 in 1-unit steps. Many tuning rates used on the Calbro-Magnowave and successor instruments had no representation on the Pathoclast so could not be used on it or on any condenser-tuned equipment.

Since the tuning equipment was fundamentally different for condenser-tuned apparatus, the tuning rates were not transferrable from one type of instrument to the other. Nevertheless, within the scope of tuning usable on condenser-tuned equipment, much valuable diagnostic and therapeutic work could be done by an operator experienced in the use of that type of equipment.

Some years later, Mr. T.G. Heironymous, an electrical engineer, developed the Electro-Biometer, which incorporated a number of improvements over the Pathoclast, and was the most advanced condenser-tuned radionic instrument ever made. It included facilities for changing vials of water with a radionic treatment rate selected for the patient. The rate-charged water could then be given to the patient to drink or administered by hypodermic injection. Treatment rates could also be given from the instrument in the customary manner, with the treatment output being led by wires to electrodes placed on the body surface.

Both the Pathoclast and the Electro-Biometer used vacuum tubes for amplification. It was hoped by many and believed by some, that the vacuum tubes amplified the radiations from the patient which were utilised in the radionic diagnosis, but this was never proven. In fact, quite a few operators found they could use the equipment for diagnostic analysis just as effectively when the power supply current was shut off. Since the application of the house current was necessary to activate the vacuum tubes, this indicated that the use of tubes did not actually improve the sensitivity of the equipment in receiving and making manifest the radiations from the patients. Electricity plays no part in the operation of the true radionic detection equipment.

AMPLIFICATION FOR TREATMENT

There was a greater element of success in the use of vacuum tubes to intensify the treatment current. It was found that when this amplification was used, treatment time was considerably shortened, both as to the duration of each treatment, and the number of treatments required to treat out a diseased condition. With condenser-tuned equipment, treatment was accomplished with the tuning dials set at the positions required to detect or receive the condition of disease it was desired to eliminate. By using an odd number of vacuum tubes in the amplifier (usually three), the treatment current was administered in reverse phase, thus neutralizing or cancelling out the disease radiation from the patient.

Transistors should never be used in any radionic treatment circuit, as the transistors contain small amounts of arsenic, selenium, or other elements poisonous to the human organism. If incorporated into a treatment circuit, the radiation of the poisonous metal is conducted into the patient and can produce adverse effect.

In the same fertile period of radionic development, the latter half of the 1920s, the Radioclast came into being. It used 10-step dials like the Calbro-Magnowave equipment, but lacked the tuning scope of the latter equipment, as most of the Radioclast models had only a very few tuning dials. Vacuum tubes were included, as in the Pathoëlast. The Radioclasts were made in Ohio, and obtained a group of followers, mainly in the Eastern U.S. and up into South-East Canada. Within the handicaps imposed by the limited tuning scope and consequently limited range of treatment technique, a considerable amount of worthwhile work was accomplished.

Radioclast instruments, besides their radionic circuits, included two auxiliary treating circuits using conventional electrical treatment modalities -- one was a faradic current.

In the latter part of the 1920s, Ruth Drown, D.C., who had been taking treatments from a practitioner in Southern California using Abrams equipment, decided to produce a better instrument. She came up with a small one with a total of nine tuning dials arranged in three rows, three dials per row. The dials had 10 steps each, as before, In contrast to other equipment, hers used no power behind the treatment rates. Her theory was that all vibratory rates were ever-present in the atmosphere and being received.
ed by the human organism. Tuning the equipment to a particular rate set up a resonant circuit between the equipment and the patient with regard to that rate, intensifying its effect.

Although she and her assistants did some office treating, most of her treatments were given "broadcast" style -- that is, the patient's blood specimen was placed on a metal plate incorporated in her instrument, to which the treatment circuit was connected. In practice, while some individuals with particularly sensitive constitutions could benefit from being connected to a treatment circuit with no power behind it, others did not derive significant benefit. They required power treatments to obtain adequate therapeutic effect. The broadcasting of treatments further attenuated the effect. Again, some individuals were susceptible to being treated broadcast fashion, while others were not. Apparently no attempt was made to ascertain into which category each patient fell. The result was that some of those who paid a substantial monthly sum for daily broadcast treatment and who did not benefit, naturally complained. This was undoubtedly a factor in the legal persecutions brought against Dr. Drown, though her practice of selling treatment instruments to laymen at high prices was also responsible for drawing legal difficulties.

Dr. Drown undoubtedly had a great deal of ability and a very wide range of knowledge; she therefore attracted a group of enthusiastic followers. She called her work "Radio Therapy" and tried to get it apart from radionics. It would seem that her ability and knowledge transcended the limited scope of her equipment.

RADIONIC PHOTOGRAPHY

A very intriguing development of hers was the use of the equipment to produce photographs of internal organs or tissues. The equipment would be tuned to the organ or tissues in the body it was desired to photograph, and a wire from the equipment tuning circuit led to a clip attached to the unexposed film. She accumulated a remarkable series of photos produced in this way. There has never been any satisfactory explanation of how this was done. Dr. Drown was not able to merchandise or commercially exploit this method, as it would not always work for her and it rarely worked for anyone else. Apparently it was akin to some form of psychic photography -- a unique personal talent. If the person of whom an internal organ photo was to be taken was connected directly to the instrument at time of the "exposure", the resulting picture was a view of the outside of the organ tuned in on the equipment. In contrast, if a blood specimen was used, the resulting photo was an inside view of the patient's organ, assuming in each case that the process was successful.

(The next instalment of this series will consider the De la Warr equipment, and the equipment produced by successors to the Calbro-Magnowave.)

what doesn't seem to "go" anywhere, is the mark we share...laughing, yakking, joking and smoking, recalling the time that..."i'm hungry, let's eat!"... grumbles and bumbles and mumbles, delight in every single bite of being!

a small package overweight with the adjectives of living -- so tough, but toodtender, just the right size for our heart-pockets.

however, on a sun-drenched san diego day this june, there emerged from a dusty drawer a crumpled and yellowing scrap of paper. it had been tucked away at 931 26th street, along with many other 'thoughts to be shared some day' written just this way:

"To my dear friends and sincere helpers in the perhaps strange, but none-the-less wonderful work of teaching and helping our fellow men to find a little more peace in this earth life; and to all others who have played such a valuable part in furthering this service to humanity in a time when it is so desperately needed; and to all who so kindly invited us into their homes or halls; -- to all of my fellow men everywhere, I leave my love and devotion in the name of the Light.

"If you would honor me, I ask that you do so in loving one another. I think we can do this best if we will keep in mind that no one of us is perfect, but all are constantly striving, consciously or unconsciously, for that which we call perfection -- which in some of its more complete states is called the Light.

"I go now to whatever it may be my need to face -- but I beg you not to weep or hold any fear in your hearts for my safety; for I can assure you, all will be well with me as it also will be for you when it comes your time to join me.

"I am 47 years of age at this writing and of course I may live another 47 years. I do not know nor do I feel there would be any advantage in so knowing; for if I've read life aright, I am not 47 years of age, but am Time Itself. Never-the-less, I am also aware that part of this I of me is a physical-chemical body and is therefore subject to change. Any one of such changes may mean my having to depart from it for a time (at least so it is with this thought in mind that I write all of this).

"It is but folly and cowardly to wait till the time of my departing, It may be that I would get no chance to say how much I appreciated the hours I lived on this beautiful earth, in spite of the hell it seemed in my earlier years. Is it not wisely said, 'He who has not seen hell cannot see heaven'. For how then could he recognize it as such? I have nothing of any importance to say; for I've long considered that which is thought of as 'important', lies simply in Being.

"I have no regrets in anything I've done nor in what I may have left undone; for it was the doing as well as the not doing that made up my physical life's experience. So how could I have done otherwise and still remained 'me'?

"This is all for now. 30 for tonight. Don't plant me. Cremate me."

THE MOST EXCITING AND CHALLENGING SUBJECT IN THE WORLD

"I would hardly know where to begin to give you information on the Martian, and several other men and women from other planets with whom we have been in contact, because of the many facets of the subject, and also because of the fact that I am not a writer.

"My late husband and I have spent years in research into metaphysics, from all angles, and were particularly fortunate in the fact that we had our own research laboratory and engineering building, with fine equipment, which made it possible to carry on experiments not possible for the average person. Added to that was the fact that my husband was a brilliant physicist and inventor, with a tremendous urge to go forward into unexplored reaches of science -- especially into anti-matter, fields of electro-magnetism, and planes of nature above the three-dimensional physical -- and since he had his own business there was no one to stop him from working on these projects. Add to this the enthusiasm of such men as John Otto and George Van Tassel and others, the whole universe of nature seemed to lie before him and he loved the challenge.

"I'm not trying to give you the history of our lives, but rather to place the Martian and some of our other space friends in their proper setting. We are not interested in proving that there are visitors from other planets, but only to know them better and to learn what they have to teach the human race. And what wise and wonderful friends they have become!!!

"When we first contacted the man from the Red Planet my husband was unimpressed. He was courteous but firm in the statement that he would appreciate Red's proving his mental and scientific superiority to us. Red patiently did this, by calling attention to several little-known things about our planet which we checked and found to be correct, and then by telling us of magnetic fields around our earth which science had not as yet discovered, but did a few years later. He described an unusual type telescope used on Mars, which is quite understandable now that we know about Laser beams!!

"We even took the trouble to go back to the University of Chicago to study nuclear physics, and found that science knew little of the magnetic fields Red spoke about. Their existence was verified two years later by the discovery of the Van Allen belts. Since then we have had frequent contact with Red and he has become a very, very good friend -- one who advises us, teases us, teaches us whenever we ask for scientific data, and deplores sadly the condition of our world today. Red's knowledge is far, far ahead of ours, especially in the field of mental power and the transformation of matter from the third to the fourth dimension, and back again, by will or by instrumentation! This last is the basis of their approach to us; for they come either in space ships or by projection, and Red often says to us, 'I can't stay any longer; I'm a human being you know and I've got work to do. I'm not like your other friends here.'"

The Martian was referring to the earth friends of our Chicago Associate who had passed on and were no longer involved in physical plane living, but they were also exchanging ideas through the channel. Here again is one of the greatest problems in understanding for the Flying Saucer researcher, to distinguish between an earth human who has "died" and is living a subjective existence on the Astral plane, and a human being from a life-stream on another planet who has not "died" but is still living an objective existence on the physical-etheric plane of his home planet. Because of the limitations of our five senses, both types of beings are normally invisible and inaudible to us. They must either materialize a temporary form or use a human medium if they would communicate with us.

"Red says he can come any time we really need him and call for him, but it is a little difficult at times because it involves his going into his room in his Martian home, lying down and projecting himself to us -- which sometimes causes trouble at home, just as it would at your house. So you see, all this would be a little difficult to explain in an article in your Journal.

"You ask, 'What means of communication?' Let me say that in our first search for contact we tried every means of approach. Using a light beam was rather successful but the messages were too fast and irrelevant. The success we did achieve came when we attempted to meet them on their own level, and found that to a great extent the people from other planets operate on the fourth dimension. By will or by instrumentation they change their ship and themselves to the fourth dimension on their own planet, then move without regard to space or time to their destination. By changing back to the third dimension they become visible to us. Red says that man, as a human, three-dimensional being, cannot survive in true, deep space -- beyond the Moon.

As some of you Associates know, all of the above agrees with what we have been told through Mark Probert by the Inner Circle, and is discussed in great detail in BSRA No. 3, "The Coming Of The Guardians", by Meade Layne, 90-page mimeo book, illustrated, $3.00.

"So we found that Red could talk to us through a Sensitive or medium, as do many other people we know who have died and are on a higher plane. I believe he operates on one of the four higher physical ethers (There are seven counting up from solids, liquids, gas and four ethers.) or from the Astral plane. He always says he comes on a higher dimension. Red is not unique in this approach. A fine scientist from Venus, named Electra, is instructing us on some electronic projects, and there are others -- all people of wonderful mental and moral advancement -- far above our own. Now, how can we put all this in print? I can just hear the laughter."
"You spoke about the development of a psychic microphone and related extra-sensitive electronic equipment which Electra might help develop. That's the work I wish we could do. My husband and I worked for two years on a device to bring through information from higher realms. We were very successful, and in our enthusiasm shared some of our information with a friend. He immediately set himself up in business to teach 'a complete course in Black Magic and in training the mind to dominate others, for profit!' So you see it simply isn't possible!!! Electra is helping us in the development of some very specialized electronic equipment creating energy fields for healing. But we don't dare let the Bad Guys misuse it.

THE APOLLO PROJECT

"About the astronauts landing on the moon, Red has made these comments: When we set foot on the moon we are completely under Universal Law and the laws of the Lunar Lords, who will deal with us with authority! If our astronauts explore the moon in peace, they will meet the scientists in the laboratories there; for there are space bases and laboratories beneath ground on the moon.

"We had a long discussion on ways of reaching Mars -- hopefully without the astronauts having to resort to a change in dimension. But Red said they had explored many techniques but found this change to the Fourth Dimension the best for deep space travel. He tried to explain how this is done but it is quite involved. It takes into consideration the Identity Potential. I have a lot of material on this from others, too.

"First, I think we're going to have to learn more about levitation as the Atlanteans used it. They were specialists in the 'Sun Cycle of Supreme Energy', the return cycle of which involved levitation, set against and opposing gravitation. This is, as you probably know, explained in 'A Dweller On Two Planets', on page 66. I think it's tremendously important. (Capt. Bruce Cathie also has some interesting observations on Time, Space and Gravity in 'Harmonic 33'. RHC.)

"I would be glad to share any other material with you, that would be interesting and helpful to man', which is Red's plea. But I definitely don't want my name mentioned or inferred in any way. This is positive! Our small group is esoteric and would die a thousand deaths if they knew I was giving you this information, unless you gave your promise that the information would be used with compassion and understanding. Wish you and your wife lived close so we could talk together.

"Please let me compliment you on your Journal, which has been of great interest to all of us. I glory in your daring to think on every subject and in such a universal manner."

Portions of the foregoing letter were so fascinating and encouraging that I decided to share it with you Associates. Though it may come as a shock for her to see some of her writings in print, like jumping into a cold shower, once she and her small group get used to it they will find it exhilarating -- to be part of that White Company on the Inner Planes, but unorganized on the physical plane -- those who know in their hearts that this is not the only inhabited planet in the universe and are willing to stand up and be counted. Remember the important qualification demanded of those who joined Peggy LeGrand's Circle of Three, described in the July-August Journal? "Are you willing to speak openly of the reality of this contact of Earth men with men from outer space, in speech and in writing?"

Your editor was confident that the Inner Circle, the powerhouse behind BSRA, would see to it that Fourth Dimensional material would continue to be available to us for our instruction, even though Mark Probert is gone, and I believe Mrs. R.B.J.'s letter is evidence of it. We have one or two other evidences of genuine channeling on hand and will get them in print when and as we can.

CELL POLARITY AND DISEASE -- AND VITIC!

"Your literature on Vitic doesn't begin to prepare one for the results and action of carbon and magnet. I know the difficulties of mentioning anything therapeutic in this day and age, also the resistance to anything 'Borderland'. It transpired in my journey through life to contact at two very different times, two very different men interested in science. One was a government employed chemist (with what was said to be the finest private laboratory, at that time; since then science has moved out). The other could have been an unusual psychic. (I can't prove.) Since they both were interested in evolving new horizons in healing, they both did countless experiments. What fascinated me was that their findings had similar deductions, namely; that living cells have a positive North Pole and a negative South Pole.

"In the presence of disease the North Pole starts slipping, a little off axis, and one experiences chronic fatigue; more off, colds, indigestion, constipation, etc. When the poles of the cells were completely reversed the degenerative diseases were present. Accompanying this shift in the axis a contracting of the cells, indicating that old age is a contracting. They discovered that the wonderful feature of a healthy cell -- and children -- was expansion! Now since our planet is polarized to the North Star, there is from that star a magnetic ray which balances and purifies the atmosphere of earth. (In Capt. Cathie's 'Harmonic 33' the wandering magnetic poles of the earth come under discussion and the New Zealand pilot conjectures that this indicates an unhealthy planetary condition which may be corrected when the Flying Saucer grid is complete. RHC.)

"When the cells of the body are in a healthy condition the the positive poles all point out -- porcupine fashion -- and the resistance to both physical and psychic emanations from other bodies is tops; but as the positive pole slips, so does one's resistance. Again, when the positive pole is in position, the body absorbs this Ray from the North Star and an expansion of the cells takes place.

"You know I think that in using the Vitic device an amazing balancing of the cells takes place. The first two days I used the one you sent me, all I wanted to do was cry. You see, the fire element was pushing the 'wet out'. (Oriental Yang-Yin). The third day the reaction centered around the heart area, with good reason, I have had two heart attacks.

"Now I can hardly hold the iron rod between the two magnets; the stinging, burning is intense. I have to cover it with cloth. I do fall asleep with it and wake up to find I've been holding on to the rods for hours! I don't suppose I can have too much but I would be interested in knowing the reactions of others. If this device does what I think it is doing, it is worth its weight in gold."

Thanks a jillion for sharing with us the fascinating cell polarity theories of your borderland researcher friends, Louise; and for encouraging us with the story of your exceptional reaction to Vitic. If other Associates respond with the results of their experiments, we'll be glad to share them in the Journal. Sounds as though this lady needed a lot of balancing of physical-etheric conditions and through the flow of Sun-and-Moon currents between magnet and carbon her Spiritual Forces were given daily quanta of pure, uncontaminated energies to direct into the affected areas. In the experience of your editor, if a person is really determined to get well, and makes continued and constructive use of what's available, his own Ministering Spirits will do the rest.

"THE UNIVERSAL ETHER AND SPIRIT"

"This is written by W.G. Hooper, F.R.A.S., F.S.S., published in 1913 by the Theosophical Publishing Society, London. Quote 'The Ethereal medium is generally assumed to be that fundamental medium, by means of which all the properties of matter, and all the phenomena of motion of the universe are to be explained... Ether is simply the primary form of matter; that is it actually is the first state of matter, or matter in its primary or fundamental condition... This interplanetary and interstellar space is not empty, but is filled with this ever present, all pervading ether; and not only so, but every particle of matter in the universe is surrounded and interpenetrated by this universal ether, which forms the exciting and stimulating medium of all the activities, energies and motions of all matter.'

"Just think, Riley, this book was written in 1913 and sounds like a page out of the transcripts of the Probert Seances. Makes one want to shout from the housetops, and scientists have the gall to say the ether is a myth. I may be wrong but I have a hunch that scientists are now waging their last ditch battle of else why did they band together and form the S.P.S.D. which stands for SOCIETY FOR THE PRESERVATION OF SCIENTIFIC DOGMA. My conclusion, Science as a 'science' is dead!"

A REPORTER'S FAREWELL TO SOUTH VIETNAM

"The aircraft lifts easily off the familiar runway. But this time, instead of sweating out another takeoff in a C-130 cargo transport -- the hydraulic lines hissing ominously, the Vietnamese soldiers already looking airsick, the U.S. troops stoically falling asleep -- a comely, willowy stewardess brings you a drink.

"It is good medicine on one's farewell flight from Saigon after nearly four years of racketing around Vietnam in noisy helicopters and the uncomfortable bucket seats in gloomy, tomb-like C-130s. Below, the once-lovely green and brown rice fields bear the ugly pockmarks of war. The long trails of B-52 bomb craters reach almost to Saigon's suburbs. Four years ago, the fields around Saigon were like velvet. The war has done its dirty work."

Thus wrote LA "Times" reporter William Tuohy in December 1968. The "dirty work" Tuohy deliberately left undescribed in his articles was a reminder to us taxpayers who support the war that B-52 bombs fall on the just and the unjust alike. First we send over the high-explosives. This is followed up with a low-level napalm attack to burn the wreckage and anyone still alive in it. Finally, when the shell-shocked and burned Vietnamese come out to dazedly survey their devastated fields, farms and villages, the third wave of bombers comes to drop fragmentation bombs. These are filled with hundreds of wicked little pellets which drill holes in the men, women and children who may or may not be sympathetic to Communism. If these Orientals don’t welcome the white Americans who pilot the planes, what should we call them, enemies of freedom? In any event, the people who once farmed one of the richest and most productive areas in Asia, the truck gardens around Saigon, must have been against American Democracy; for they’ve been hunted down and destroyed, their lands devastated; and those who survived the continuing bomb attacks were removed to concentration camps.

In April 1967 that noble American, General Westmoreland, gave out these figures on the number of South Vietnamese killed by the Viet Cong, the Communists, in the preceding nine years of fighting. It was 53,000, slightly more than 6,000 a year; but he gave no figures or estimates on the number of South Vietnamese killed by the saturation bombing techniques described above. The previous fall the Associated Press did, however, Reporters on the scene for several years estimated that American aircraft and artillery were killing almost 30,000 non-combatant Vietnamese a month! To say nothing about those being killed in North Vietnam.

GOOK HUNTING FROM A HELICOPTER

A surprise witness at the War Crimes Tribunal in Denmark in late 1967 was Dr. Erich Wulff, just arrived from the city of Hue in Vietnam, where he had been part of a German medical aid team for six years. He and his colleagues were so sickened by the actions of American forces that they felt some of the truth should come out.

"Wulff related how GIs would invite West German nurses from the mercy ship Helgoland to go on 'Viet Cong hunting expeditions' in helicopters. When a suspect was cornered in a rice paddy, the door gunners would shoot all around the running man 'playing with him like a cat plays with a mouse' before gunning him down. The nurses told their story upon returning to the ship. The West German nurses were henceforth prohibited from participating in U.S. operations, or attending cocktail parties, or social gatherings with U.S. troops.

"Wulff also told of one U.S. general who hunted VC with a machine gun in his spare time from a helicopter, like a country squire hunting rabbits on his estate for sport. 'The soldiers of the NLF know well how to protect themselves from this kind of thing,' Wulff said. 'Whether the tiny ant-like figure running for its life in the field below is a Viet Cong, or some terrified peasant, God alone knows. It really does not matter in the end, because every dead Vietnamese is a Viet Cong.'" (National Guardian, Dec. 9, 1967).

"VENGEANCE IS MINE," SAITH THE LORD

The noble Americans of Noel, Missouri had a taste of what high-explosive bombing is like on the morning of Aug. 3, 1969. According the Associated Press: "The drama began about 5:45 a.m. when the crew of a 115-car Kansas City Southern freight train discovered a fire aboard one car. They futilely tried to get it out of town but it exploded in the midst of the community. Several townspeople came running to the scene and a second and more devastating explosion occurred at 4:05 a.m. That second blast destroyed five railroad cars and hurled huge, jagged pieces of metal several blocks through the center of Noel. (Just like a bomb from a B-52!) Some homes were smashed as if hit by cannon fire and others were riddled by debris. One 800-pound railroad car wheel soared three blocks and crashed into a home, injuring a woman. Mrs. Roxa Miller, a 47-year-old beauty shop operator was killed in her home when she hit by flying metal.

"Nearly every building in town was damaged. Streets were littered with glass and leaves were stripped off trees. The state highway patrol reported 58 businesses destroyed or heavily damaged, 31 homes ruined, 58 more residences heavily damaged and one church demolished. Force of the explosion left a hole in the roadbed 15 feet deep and 50 feet wide. (Do you suppose the crater filled with rainwater and became a breeding ground for hordes of mosquitoes? Just like our thousands of bomb craters in Vietnam?)

A railroad official said the "cause of the explosion was unknown. Suspicion centered... on a flatcar carrying metal vats of ammonium perchlorate, a powdered chemical used in ammunition propellants. It was being shipped from Henderson, Nevada to the Longhorn Army ammunition plant at Marshall, Texas."

We live in a reactive universe. Christ taught us to "cast our bread upon the waters" and it would eventually return to us. This principle holds good for the explosions we cast upon the waters of life. Eventually they return to us, too! The philosophical significance of this is lost on the average person. The lesson is too strong for him to accept. Then two weeks later came Camille, and Americans along the Gulf coast of Mississippi and Louisiana saw the worst devastation of their lives -- unless perhaps they had served for a couple of years in Vietnam.

"POLIO EPIDEMIC FEARED AMONG POOR CHILDREN"

Is the scare headline in the LA "Times" for Sept 1st as public health authorities nationally lay the groundwork for the demand for millions of shots of Polio Vaccine. This means millions of dollars worth of business for the drug companies in which they hold stock. The mouthpiece of the AMA and the drug trust, the Journal of the American Medical Association started the money raising campaign with an article "documenting the growing gap in immunity to polio which is developing among poor children in Houston, Texas". Baylor University's virus expert, Dr. Joseph Melnick, authored the article. Immediately another Establishment puppet in Los Angeles shook his head with professional concern, Dr. Benjamin Kogan, director of the bureau of medical services of the Los Angeles County Health Department. Shedding crocodile tears over the plight of the little children, Dr. Kogan warned: "We share with Dr. Melnick his concern about the immunity gap and would like to remind the public that all infants should be immunized (with expensive Monkey Puss) at six weeks of age. We would not be surprised if there were many thousands of children in Los Angeles County in the preschool age group who have not been vaccinated against polio."

Now these doctors know that the poor people cannot afford monkey pus shots for their numerous children and they have no intention of asking the parents to do it. No, these public examples of medical professionalism at its highest will go to the public treasury for the millions needed to poison every pre-school child in the nation. As your editor recalls, $20 millions of public tax money paid for the so-called "free" shots of Salk vaccine a few years ago. Parents brought their children to the free-shot clinics with patriotic fervor.

After the hysterical campaign was over we were told that polio had been wiped out forever! It hadn't really, but to sustain the public brainwash doctors were ordered not to use the word polio in diagnosing further attacks of the disease. So now when it breaks out among enlistees and draftees at Camp Pendleton and the Navy training base in San Diego, in this area, the doctors call it Meningoitis! Now the wraps are off again. It's time to take the uncomplaining public for another bundle of cash. The sad part of it is that California schools are already short of money for classrooms, teachers' salaries and other needed services. Our universities are cutting back their building programs in the face of increasing enrollments and our state college system is expecting to turn away 35,000 qualified students next year for lack of room. But the medical lobby at Sacramento, the state capitol, is most powerful and effective at getting its programs through because these men have more self-conscious awareness of what is going on behind the scenes in public health -- than does the brainwashed, drugged and poisoned public. Take it as an axiom of auto-suggestion that the more conscious always exercise control over the less conscious.

As Dr. Rolf Alexander so clearly puts it in his "The Power of the Mind": "The lesser conscious must always be receptive to the more conscious. Thus, the 'hypnotic state', as it is called, is the condition in which all except the most highly conscious human beings naturally exist. It is a psychological state of anticipation in which the brain rhythms are sweeping the fabric in a shimmering procession in search for significance; it is a state of constantly speculative expectancy, in which a clear-cut suggestion is eagerly seized upon and put into execution, regardless of its source."

And the medical trust through a subservient public press has now planted the clear-cut suggestion that we are threatened with a new polio epidemic and something must be done about it. Thus we read between the lines on this news item. Going a step deeper and reading between the words: The leaders of the medical trust are themselves hypnotized by their own greed, and controlled by Satanic forces of the earth-moon system who keep the great mass of mankind in bondage to their own passions.

Sept-Oct 1969 RR, Page 29
Reading between the letters in the words we learn, from the Master D.K. in Alice Bailey's "Treatise On Cosmic Fire" that "Cosmic evil from the standpoint of our planet consists in the relation between that spiritual intelligent Unit... who is the informing Life of one of the seven stars of the Great Bear constellation" and our Planetary Logos "and one of the forces of the Pleiades... the dual forces resultant from this relationship converge and play upon" our earth-moon system, consciously or unconsciously guiding the Satanic forces who are the true source of organized evil on earth. "In this relation, at present lacking perfect adjustment, lies hid the mystery of cosmic evil as it makes itself felt in any particular planetary scheme."

SPEAKING OF HEALTH

"I was very glad to read the Rites of Rejuvenation in Peter Kelder's 'Eye of Revelation'. It's hard to have. I'd read most of the ideas before here and there but this has the best ones in one small volume easy to refer to. Have been whirling like a Dervish since I was reminded of this rite. I'd read that one in a volume of Ouspensky's 'Search For the Miraculous' I think it was. Some of the others are in Jess Stearn's book, 'Yoga, Youth and Reincarnation'. I'd been doing shoulder stands since I read that. Cant just now since I took a tumble at the side of the house.

"The whirling is no strain and gives me a sense of enjoyment. Takes me back to childhood when we would wind up a rope swing, get in, and hang on for dear life while it unwound. We used to play Statue also. Whirled each other around like a ball on a string, let go and posed. Did you do those things? But heaven forbid that we become virile again in old age! I like old age except for the discomforts that sometimes come when the old plumbing system fails. Maybe Kelder's rites will help there.

"His idea of not using cream in coffee or tea agrees with Edgar Cayce. The things about not eating starches and proteins at the same meal is all in Dr. Colol Munroe's book, 'You Can Live Longer Than You Think'. Not always easy to do but there are good reasons for it. The Mono diet is sometimes good." M.S., Hawaii

"Enjoyed reading 'Rejuvenation' yesterday and again this morning and started briefly some of the Rites. Oh, I feel a tingling in the head! On the outside, mebbe from the efforts. One question regarding the dervishing of which I'd read before. I that they spun on one heel, or the ball of one foot, but apparently not? (No, there's no requirement for pivoting on one foot and pushing around with the other. RHC.) I like your cheerful Leo-colored cover! And the pictures, which ensures that one well understands the explanations. Also, nice that you two have finally found a way to PRINT your brochures. I'm sending $10 for five more copies, addresses given separately. Each one teach one. It's the first time I've read of vortexes in the knees! (Max Heindel shows them in his chart of body force centers in 'Cosmo Conception'. RHC.) Many elderlies say they hope they can keep their mental qualities up to the end but few will make the effort with exercises like these.

I'm hoping the rites will help stabilise my nervous heart condition.
I've long known of the mono-meal idea and I think Dr. Tilden of Denver strongly advocated no starches with meat at same meal. It's nice to know one doesn't have to give up tea and coffee, especially in these nervous times."

"Thank you for your prompt response to my letter and for the Five Rites which came today. I immediately tried them and found none of them difficult, probably because I have kept myself in good physical condition. Now I'll work to make myself perfect in them that I may receive the maximum benefit.

"I appreciate the brochure you enclosed with your letter. For many years it has been my custom to stop, at 9:00 A.M., whatever I may be doing and have my meditation and prayer time. I note that this is the hour suggested by the World-Wide Divine Love Radiation Service when the scheduled time cannot be used. I have sent to Dr.
C.H. Yeang, Malaysia, for a lot of them and will mail them to those whom I feel are willing to join us in this service.

"I talked with our Brothers in Space and am enclosing the answers I received to the questions I thought you might like to have answered. I am not sure that I would receive instructions for a psychic microphone since such an instrument seems unnecessary to me.
My method is direct mind-to-mind communication; therefore I am not obsessed nor possessed by anyone or anything. All is done in wide-awake consciousness. Anyone can do what I am doing if their desire is great enough."

Mrs. E.W., Forestville, Calif.

HER ANSWERS

"The 'long-predicted cataclysms' are already taking place, as you know, for everywhere on earth are upheavals in nature and their intensity will increase with each passing day until the earth has spewed out all the debris for so long a time accumulated, debris engendered by man's thoughts and acts of evil; and in its spewing out out will much of mankind be destroyed; since the new heaven and the new earth will refuse to harbor such entities and the evil they produce. Be not dismayed over the loss of life. It is the sifting of quality. When our Commander-In-Chief, the Christ, gives us the signal, then will we appear in great numbers to help in the rescue work, of which there will be so great a need that it cannot be imagined.

"The Mars Stronghold on the Moon is actively engaged in perfecting an instrument that will be of great benefit to humanity in its time of travail. This instrument is a form of Gaeloscope, such as was described to you in an earlier communication; and it is for the purpose of resuscitation; for many of earth's peoples will be in a state of unconsciousness when the final hour of change is upon them, so great will be their terror. It will truly be a time of the survival of the fittest, and by the 'fittest' we mean those who carry the Light and Love of the Christ within them. In them will there be no fear, rather a rejoicing that the end of suffering and sorrow has come. There is in the southern part of your state a building which was designed and built for this same purpose, that is, to charge cell life with energy. It would be well for you to acquaint yourself with its beneficial effects. (George Van Tassel's Integatron, at Giant Rock? Which is supposed to do in a large way what the Lakhovsky Multi-Wave Oscillator does in a small way. RHC.)

"We do not mean to paint a picture of gloom. Too much of that has already been done. What we wish is to imprint upon your consciousness the need for greater adherence to the law of life, which is LOVE! We cannot stress too emphatically the need for you to give love and love and more love and to give it impersonally. Only so can you be of greatest service to your suffering world; for it is love and love alone that will heal all its ills. Be of good courage; for we are with you in all that you do."

THE FIVE RITES OF REJUVENATION

Many members have written to report good results already. A few have reported difficulty, nausea or vertigo, from the turning in Rite No. 1, but this will clear up if one persists in the practice. Remember, the printed little book is $2 a copy plus tax in California. Some have complained of waiting as long as three weeks for delivery, by third class mail. The booklet weighs three ounces, with its envelope. If you want faster delivery, add 16¢ for first class postage. It makes a good Christmas present!

SPACECRAFT CONVENTIONS

George Van Tassel's Annual Spacecraft Convention at Giant Rock, California is the weekend of Oct. 11th and 12th this year. At present we are not planning on attending this year.

Angela Kilsby and Cynthia McKercher are planning a ten-lecture tour of Understanding -- New Horizons which will start in Vancouver, Canada, Oct. 16th and come down the Coast; Victoria, Oct. 17th; Seattle, Oct. 18-19; Portland, Oct. 21st, Grants Pass, Oct. 22nd; and concludes with the 13th Annual Northern California Space Craft Convention at the Claremont Hotel, Berkeley, California. We have been invited to give a new Flying Saucer talk there and will probably title it: "Meeting On the Moon!" The dates? Oct. 25-26.

Sunday, Nov. 9th is the date for another Understandorama planned by Esther Ellsworth, again at Yucca Valley, California and in the American Legion Hall. We have been invited to give an illustrated Flying Saucer talk and also to conclude the evening with a Colorahema concert, designed to lead to that expansion of consciousness which is inevitable, with the landings on the moon and the eventual meeting the men from other planets. Remember, the invasion of outer space is also an invasion of inner space!

VITIC! or Repolarizing Cells With Magnet and Carbon, BSRA No. 11

Illustrated brochure on the physiological effect of Carbon Rod in one hand and a magnetic vortex around the other, created by Alnico magnets pulling toward each other.

With notes from Brian Brown, Reichenbach, Meade Layne and the Yada di Shi'ite on inducing increased vitality, a secret known only to the priesthoods of Egypt and Tibet. Diagram at left is Dr. Anton Mesmer's arrangement.

The horseshoe magnets create a vortex set to oscillating by a one-loop copper coil around the steel handle. According to Count Walewski, the carbon represents the Sun, the magnets the Moon. The magnetic energy is drawn into the body along the hands and arms, to be stored and used for several hours after putting oneself in circuit.

For most people it doesn't seem to matter which hand holds the steel handle and which holds the carbon rod.

The VITIC brochure, 8½x11 mimeo, illustrated. . . . . . . $1.25

We can make up a VITIC kit for you, easily assembled with only six nails and two small bolts, all necessary parts and instructions for your own borderland test program, sent Parcel Post for only $27.50. Please include an extra dollar for postage. Californians include also the state sales tax of 5%.

In 1925 Georges Lakhovsky wrote about "Cancer Cures with Ultra-Radio Frequencies" in "Radio News": "Science will discover, some day, not only the nature of microbes by the radiation they produce, but also a method of killing disease bacilli within the body by proper radiations. The researches I have made by special apparatus have shown such results." Electronics engineer Bob Beck re-designed Lakhovsky's "special apparatus" so BSRA associates could build their own and set up their own research programs on the beneficial effects of soft HF radio waves on living tissue. Well illustrated with Beck's schematic diagram of the electronic circuitry, other necessary drawings, two pages of photographs of an MWO actually built and in use, and an exact-size illustration of Lakhovsky's circular antenna on the cover.

BSRA No. 29, a printed brochure, now 41 pages......$2.00

Are you curious about the karmic and/or cosmic laws behind the martyrdom of such public figures as the Kennedys and Martin Luther King and his brother? Your BSRA director discussed these in detail in a public lecture a few days after Bobby Kennedy's assassination in June 1968. An hour and a half tape recording, professional quality, Monaural, 3 3/4 speed, 5 in. reel........$4.50 plus tax.
