THE JOURNAL OF BORDERLAND RESEARCH

BSRA No. 1: Published by Borderland Sciences Research Foundation, Inc., PO Box 548, Vista, California 92083, U.S.A.
Edited by the Director, Riley Hansard Crabb, Doctor of Metaphysics in the Society of St. Luke the Physician.

The Journal is published six issues a year, with the assistance of the Associates, at the Director's home, 1103 Bobolink Drive, Vista. It is mimeographed, 36 pages an issue. The Foundation was incorporated under California law, May 21, 1951, #254263, and has been in continuous existence since then. Address all correspondence to the PO box. The Journal is included in the association membership of $6 a year. Single copies and back issues of the Journal are $1.25. If you dont care to join you may receive the Journal by donating $6 or more a year to the Foundation. The Director's wife, Mrs. Judith Crabb, is office manager.

PURPOSES OF BSRA: This is a non-profit organization of people who take an active interest in unusual happenings along the borderland between the visible and invisible worlds. In the words of the late Meade Layne, founder and director of BSRA from 1946 to 1959: "BSRA publications are scientific in approach but employ few technical expressions. They deal with significant phenomena which orthodox science cannot or will not investigate. For example: the Fortean falls of objects from the sky, Teleportation, Radiesthesia, PK Effects, Underground Races, Mysterious Disappearances, Occult and Psychic Phenomena, Photography of the Invisible, Nature of the Ethers and the problem of the Aeroforms (Flying Saucers). In the year 1946 BSRA obtained an interpretation of the phenomena which has since come to be known as the Etheric or 4-D interpretation, and which has not been radically altered since that time. This continues to be the only explanation which makes good science, sound metaphysics and common sense."

The chief present concern of the Foundation is to make this kind of unusual information available as a public service at reasonable cost. Headquarters acts as a receiving, coordinating and distributing center. An important part of the Director's work is to give recognition, understanding and encouragement to people who are having unusual experiences of the borderland type and/or are conducting research in one or more of the above fields. For consultation on borderland problems, or for Spiritual Healing through prayer, write or phone (714-724-2043) for help or for an appointment. Donations toward Foundation research programs and expenses are welcome.

The 20-page list of BSRA publications is available from Headquarters for 50¢ in coin or stamps. This includes mimeo brochures and tapes of the Inner Circle, talking through Mark Probert, and Mr. Crabb's tape-recorded lectures on borderland subjects. "I Salute You, Sir: -- All subordinate conditions, or such as may be regarded as of an inferior character, must give way where a great object is to be obtained. The spirit of opposition to what I am here to say is of the most intense character. Everything has been done that it was possible to do to prevent my coming here. (To the seance room in Philadelphia where Damis took over and talked through an entranced medium.)

"In the first place I know personally the truth of all that I shall here say; secondly, I know that the evidence exists that will support all I say; and thirdly, I know that Apollonius of Tyana, my master or teacher, was the Jesus Christ of the Christians. We must now proceed in a systematic way to prove the truth of what I have said.

"The place where I was born was Ephesus. I was an Ephesian and not a Cappadocian nor a Ninevite. I was born in the city which was the chief seat of worship of The Great Diana of the Ephesians. The bond of unity between myself and Apollonius was, that we were both mediums in whose presence materialized spirits appeared. When I was present with Apollonius the spirit manifestations that occurred were stronger, and so with the manifestations that occurred through me, when he was present.

"Apollonius made two journeys to India, and not one as is generally supposed. The last of these was about from A.D. 45 to 50. It was, when on that journey, that he reached Farther India, whence he brought back the Indian gospels in relation to the Hindoo god Christos. The first journey to India, by Apollonius, was about from 36 to 38 A.D. On that journey he only obtained a few extracts from those Hindoo gospels. The first attempt of Apollonius to introduce the religion of Christos in Western Asia was made shortly after his return from India, at Nazarita, a small village near Gaza. He there formed a community according to the Gymnosophic ideas and practices.

"The principle of initiation is expressed in that famous text of what is termed the Scriptures where it is said, 'Thou art a priest after the order of Melchisedec.' The original meaning of that was, 'A priest after the order of the Sun.' It was also the Parsee worship and was at a remote period derived from the Golden Rules of Hermes Trismegistus or from Hesiod. The last named was the author of 'The Seven Before Thebes' and 'Agamemnon'. The works of both those ancient writers contained the expression, 'Thou art a priest Meciel forever after the order of the Sun.'
"The first works that my master brought from India contained the teachings of the Christos, before their reformation by Deva Bodhisatou, in the reign of the king of Asoka. Bodhisatou was prime counsellor of that king. His real name was Azabelle. He was a Tamil King. Azabelle meant the rising Sun.

"The books which Apollonius afterward used, he obtained on his second journey, when he went to visit Iarchus, the chief of the Wise Men, in farther India, near Singapore. I went with him on his second journey and not on his first. I never saw Phraotes the king of Taxila. I was a disciple of Apollonius and remained at Ephesus and at Thessalonica while he was away on his first journey to India.

"The most important part of the life of Apollonius extended over the reigns of Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, Nero, Vespasian, Titus, Domitian, Nerva and into the reign of Trajan. I passed into spirit about 90 A.D. I wrote the memoirs of Apollonius from about 34 A.D. to 80 A.D. The Greek followers of Prometheus mutilated those memoirs. They were greatly opposed to the introduction of the Indian Christos among the Greeks, and were exceedingly opposed to Apollonius and his teachings.

THE REAL PAUL (PAULUS, APOLLONIUS)

"Apollonius and myself were youthful companions when I was at Tyana. Apollonius was the real Paul, this is rendered plain by the Epistles to Timothy. I was called Timotheus by the Thessalonians. What you have received in relation to Apollonius of Tyana is all true. Apollonius was the founder of the Nazarite sect. The word Nazarite meant to clear off the head bare."

"How came the Nazarites to afterwards take the name of Essenes?" asked a sitter at the seance.

"The name Essene is Phoenician," replied Damis, "and meant Sun baptism or fire baptism. The initiation into the sect of the Essenes required the candidate to pass through two flames, one a bright and the other a pale one. I was twice at Rome with Apollonius. I was there in 41 and in 62 and 63 A.D."

"Were you at Rome when Apollonius was tried before Domitian?"

"No, I was not. I was then at Alexandria in Egypt, where I died. I left my writings and other property to my sister, Samostra. After my death she came to Alexandria and carried my writings to Tyana in Cappadocia. Other spirits will follow me, Porcius, Festus, Agrippa and I think Josephus."

"How came it that Josephus made no mention of Apollonius of Tyana?" asked a sitter.

"Josephus, Apollonius and myself, were all initiated in the secret order called the 'Sons of Sun'. The Emperors Claudius, Vespasian, Titus, Domitian, Nerva and Trajan, were all initiated in that order, and it was therefore made a binding rule upon the members that they should manifest no outward relation to one another, so that if the brethren of the order had occasion to favor each other or afford mutual protection in times of trouble and danger to them, their secret relations to each other should not be known. Marcion (Mark) and Lucian (Luke) obtained mutilated copies of my Memoirs concerning Apollonius and used them in shaping their gospel tragedies. If further information is needed about those matters it will be given through Aronamar."

MARCION, THE FATHER OF CHRISTIANITY

At a later seance, a spirit identifying himself as Marcion: "I Salute You Sir: - For my own benefit and personal aggrandizement I brought to Rome the Pauline Epistles. I obtained them in Antioch. I changed or interpolated them to suit myself; because, being a scholar, and understanding those epistles to contain facts that were not known by the world at large, I thought that they presented a rare opportunity to make myself great. These epistles were written or copied from the originals by Apollonius, Apollos, or Paulus; and in order to disguise the identity of their author, Apollonius of Tyana, I interpolated that description of Paul that was afterward copied by Lucian. The principal foundation of those epistles was the sign of the zodiac known as Aries, the Ram or Lamb. The early Christians as will be proven by one who comes after me today (Lucian) all worshipped a lamb instead of a man on a cross. Those epistles were written in the Cappadocian or Samaritan tongue. It is my duty as a spirit here today, to state positively that I was the first person to introduce these epistles to public notice, in A.D. 130, and in the manner I have described. This communication is given for the benefit of all thinkers who wish to be enlightened upon the truth. I was a native of Cappadocia (a Greek), the country of Apollonius of Tyana; and my name was Marcion."

LUCIAN, A GREEK SATIRIST

"My salutation shall be, Death to Falsehood, whether in religion or in political affairs of spirits and mortals. The man who preceded me (Marcion) is the one from whom my descriptions of St. Paul were taken, although never known to me by such a name. He was known to me as Apollos in the Greek tongue; as Paulus in the Roman; and it was understood by all scholars at the time I wrote, as relating to the life, travels and miracles of one Apollonius, the oracle of Vespasian. In fact I merely followed the statements of Marcion, although I knew his statement was incorrect, never for an instant thinking that my description of this person would be seized upon by Christians in after ages to perpetuate their fraud.

"I was of a satirical disposition of mind and it made no difference to me if what I wrote was true or false. It was with me as with your dramatic writers of today; and it mattered not what events I sought to use, whether sacred or historical; so I could make them suit my purposes. All men are selfish so far as securing the necessities and comforts of life are concerned, and gaining prominence.

over their fellow men. This is not so bad a quality of human nature as might be imagined. To attain prosperity and avoid adversity is a necessary incentive to human effort.

"At the time of the writings to which I refer, there was a new element introduced into religious affairs at Alexandria and Rome, as was told you by a spirit last week of the Gymnosophists, who, by comparing notes, with Grecian, Roman and Samaritan authors, found that one and the same idea ran through the religions of all nations, as to their gods having been born of virgins. In fact, in some countries, in Sicily for instance, this idea had become so common that death was imposed upon women who claimed to have been overshadowed or impregnated by God or Gods. That is all the light I can at this time throw upon the subject; and as a truthful spirit I was to assert nothing but what I know to be true."

AN OLD PAGAN IDEA REVIVED!

"I Salute You, Sir; I was known as Cardinal Caesar Baronius. I was the author of an Ecclesiastical Annals, and librarian of the Vatican Library. In my search for information amongst the books and papers of that library, I was sworn that I would disclose or publish nothing that did not agree with the Roman Catholic creed. In my investigations of the old manuscripts there deposited I found that Christianity did not have a beginning until the first half of the third century. These manuscripts all show that one Papius, a priest in Syria about that time, was the originator of that religion. Christian writers have made it appear that he lived much earlier than he really did.

"The Christian story, as borne out by the facts, was derived from a Grecian tragedy the hero of which was a dying god, and the first man who taught such a doctrine was Apollonius of Tyana; and he, according to his own manuscripts, got the idea in India from the narrative regarding the Hindoo god Chrishna, which is in reality the Christ of the Christians. In fact you have, through the spirits that are coming to you, the key to all that relates to the Christian religion, in the fact that Apollonius was the Apostle Paul. These documents to which I allude, although opposed to their religion, the Catholics have not destroyed. Whatever originals they possess are in the hands of the Order of Jesus, and no priest is allowed to read them unless he takes the oath of eternal secrecy. There is not a learned Catholic today that is in the priesthood, or that has ever been in Rome, but that knows that Christianity is nothing more than an old pagan idea revived, but as it gives them power their lips are sealed. I might speak for an hour, but I could not tell you more than I have done because I have condensed what I had to say. I was librarian of the Vatican prior to A.D. 1607, when I died." When asked about his oath of secrecy, he replied: "No oath, however solemn, is binding upon the human soul when it operates to the injury of the human race!"

We are grateful to the late Col A.E. Powell, BSRAssociate, for this material on the origins of Christianity.

AN INITIATE AT WORK
The Gentle Carpenter Of The Snows
National Geographic, October 1962

"One day a turbaned Nepalese mystic wandered into camp, bare-foot and clad only in light garments. He was a carpenter from a lowland village eight days' march away, who had been told in a vision to make a four months' pilgrimage to the abode of snow. Our cook gave him a bar of pressed beef, which he munched while sitting cross-legged in front of the cookhouse fire.

"'Eat nothing but milk, raw meat, and unsugared tea,' he told us, 'if you would purify your souls'

"That night he disappeared from camp and we did not see him for two days. During that time a fierce storm raged up the Mingbo Valley, with temperatures down to zero. Our Sherpa wood carriers reported that they had seen the mystic wandering in the snow at about 17,000 feet. After two unsheltered nights he reappeared, apparently uninjured by the severe cold, although his hands and feet were swollen and he shivered periodically. Any of the rest of us would surely have lost our hands and feet from frostbite.

"He became a willing subject for the physiologists, who wired him all over with thermocouples. They found that he had an amazing ability to control the circulation of blood to his extremities. His powers, akin to those of a yogi, also enabled him to munch on glass tubing from our lab with no apparent ill effect. He seemed to regard glass as a delicacy!"

Thus briefly is described the significant visit of a Nepalese initiate, Man Bahadur, to the National Geographic scientific expedition to the Himalayas in 1961. Harry C. Bishop, meteorologist, authored the article, "Wintering In The High Himalayas". The grim conclusion of the scientists after months in the high altitudes, especially in the silver aluminum hut at 18,750 feet, "slow death threatens man in the thin air". Thus said science but occult science said something else. It was no accident that Bahadur "wandered" into their camp. He was guided there by the Mahatmas of the Himalayas, to shock the scientists into awareness that there was another set of human parameters not in their textbooks. If these occult dimensions of man were taken into consideration the problems of deep space travel could be solved.

"Capt. Thomas O. Nevison, Jr., a flight surgeon from the U.S. Air Force School of Aviation Medicine in San Antonio, Texas, was working with us to perfect monitoring equipment for craft that will carry men into space.

"What possible connection can there be between a mountain expedition and space travel?" I asked him.

"Here at 19,000 feet we are subject to a number of adverse environmental factors, much as an astronaut will face in space," he explained. "We want to know how the space environment will affect the astronaut's heartbeat, respiration and brain activity. We must have lightweight, fool-proof electronic devices that will monitor his condition and radio the information back to earth, and this is the ideal testing ground."

The expedition was financed by World Book Encyclopedia and organized by Sir Edmund Hillary, the New Zealander who conquered Mt. Everest in 1953. In the person of Man Bahadur, Hillary and the other scientists were given a prime specimen of a man who had mastered or overcome many of the limitations of the flesh. In a caption accompanying a page of pictures, Bishop writes of the carpenter-initiate "from the Nepalese lowlands, (who) roamed the Himalayas in winter, commanded by a vision and protected by his faith. He chews glass-tubing with hard-to-believe impunity and walks shoeless in the snow. His soles show cuts and fissures but none of the frostbite that would have cost Westerners their feet. At the author's request he led the way to the spot where he spent two nights stretched out on the snow in zero temperatures. He slept in thin clothes with hands and feet bare."

THE DOCTRINE OF THE PSYCHIC HEAT

There is nothing particularly secret about the magick practiced by the carpenter of Nepal. Madame Blavatsky taught it in London in the 1880s. Alexandra David-Neel was teaching it in France until her passing early this year. One of the most complete texts we know of is "Tibetan Yoga and Secret Doctrines" by Dr. W.Y. Evans-Wentz, first published by Oxford University Press in 1935 and reprinted again in 1958 and 1960. He studied and practiced Tumo, the Yoga of Psychic Heat, at a monastery in Sikkin in the Himalayas, at the feet of Lama Kazi Dawa-Samdup -- until the Lama's passing in March 1922. 36 pages -- 172 through 208 -- of Evans-Wentz's 364 page text are devoted to this doctrine.

There are three parts to the doctrine: the preliminary visualization exercises, including the building of the protective circle, and training of the psychic nerve paths; then the actual producing of heat with posturings and calm and forced breathing; and its practical application in obtaining warmth and achieving supernormal experiences or samadhi.

Several government agencies, including Air Force Medicine, the U.S. Army's Psychological Warfare branch, and the CIA, have been interested in occult science for years. It would be surprising indeed if they hadn't bought and read copies of Dr. Evans-Wentz's books. How much of it would be understood and put into practice by material-minded Westerners -- including Russian Cosmonauts and American Astronauts -- is classified information at this time.

COMMUNICATION GAP IS THE WORD, GENERAL!

One Clip and One Quote
By the Editor

North County Independent, Sept. 9, 1970: "Major General George S. Bowman, new commanding officer of Camp Pendleton, California has brought pertinent problems to the attention of the Escondido Chamber of Commerce's Board of Directors. Gen. Bowman admitted concern over the 'communications problem' with young people and said he was trying to correct this estrangement between young and old at the Marine Corps' Camp Pendleton.

"Some young people cannot understand why we give them orders. Our work is to set up a chain of command so they will realize the part they must play for the good of the country.' Gen. Bowman said there are regularly about 400 men in the brig at Camp Pendleton 'and I dont like it... most of them are in trouble because of a lack of communications. I think we're all beginning to understand that we cant expect to get their support if they cant understand what we're trying to do. If they want a stake in trying to run this country, they must lend their cooperation.'

"Gen. Bowman returned only recently to this country to take command at Camp Pendleton after a long tour of duty in Viet Nam.

"Viet Nam has made tremendous progress,' he said. 'Their situation politically is almost unbelievable. The military situation is something they must cope with. They need air support, some artillery and helicopters; but they can do the fighting.' The speaker said he has been asked many times how long the war in Southeast Asia will last. 'The answer is -- as long as the Communists continue their aggression.'"

Could it be that a majority of the rebellious young Marines in Camp Pendleton's brig know only too well what their branch of the service is "trying to do" in Viet Nam? Only Gen. Bowman's illustrious predecessor put it so much more clearly after he left the Service so many years ago. We are referring to -- and quoting from -- the autobiographical writings of Major General Smedley D. Butler, USMC, Retired.

"There isn't a trick in the racketeering bag that the military gang is blind to. It has its 'finger men' (to point out enemies), its 'muscle men' (to destroy enemies), its 'brain guys' (to plan war preparations), and a 'Big Boss' (supernationalistic capitalism). It may seem odd for me, a military man, to adopt such a comparison. Truthfulness compels me to do so. I spent 33 years and 4 months in active military service as a member of our country's most agile military force -- the Marine Corps. I served in all commissioned ranks from a second lieutenant to Major-General. And during that period..."
I spent most of my time being a high-class muscle man for Big Business, for Wall Street and for the bankers. In short, I was a racketseer, a gangster for capitalism.

"I suspected I was just a part of a racket at the time. Now I am sure of it. Like all members of the military profession I never had an original thought until I left the service. My mental faculties remained in suspended animation while I obeyed the orders of the higher-ups. This is typical with everyone in the military service. Thus I helped make Mexico and especially Tampico safe for American oil interests in 1914. I helped make Haiti and Cuba a decent place for the National City Bank boys to collect revenues (for the Church). I helped in the raping of half a dozen Central American republics for the benefit of Wall Street. The record of racketeering is long. I helped purify Nicaragua for the international banking house of Brown Brothers in 1909-12. I brought light to the Dominican Republic for American sugar interests in 1916. In China, in 1927. I helped see to it that the Standard Oil went its way unmolested.

"During those years I had, as the boys in the back room would say, a swell racket. I was rewarded with honors, medals and promotions. Looking back on it, I feel that I might have given Al Capone a few hints. The best he could do was to operate his racket in three city districts (of Chicago). I operated on three continents!"

It would appear that the operations of the Marines in Viet Nam have helped "purify" that nation for American banking operations in Southeast Asia and the benefits are now obvious. When President Johnson tricked the Senate into a declaration of war with the almost unanimous passing of the Tonkin Gulf Resolution in 1964, Bank of America here in California was capitalized at around $11 billion. In five years of wartime operations the capitalization of the world's largest private bank doubled! In their 1969 report, (LA "Times", Jan. 15, 1970) officials were proud to report that "Consolidated resources for Bank-America on Dec. 31 totaled $25,573,116,000, up 5.8% from $24,163,336,000 a year before." There is no doubt about it, from the point of view of this member of the American banking community, the work of the Marines and the other branches of the Service in Viet Nam have been an outstanding success, and Gen. Bowman and other Marine officers will receive appropriate honors.

But when the General tells of informing his trainees "of the part they must play for the good of the country", maybe their Aquarian Age intuition is telling these youngsters they are being asked to lay down their lives for the "good of the banking business". May be this is the real reason for the Communication Gap at Pendleton.

THE STAR EXERCISE

By Al Goeke

This very simple exercise is the most valuable gem of wisdom that has come my way during my life.

Credit for handing this priceless information down to us must go to Baron Eugene Pernon, a White Russian. I am sure that he would not want credit for originating it; as he knew there is nothing new under the sun; surely the ancient wise men knew about it.

This exercise is just a simple means of putting yourself in tune with the universe. Stand with feet apart, arms extended straight out at shoulder height. Thus a person would fit into a five-pointed star or pentagram, the oldest symbol known to man.
The left palm should be up and the right palm down. One should affirm aloud: I am one with the Life Force of the Universe. It is flowing through me now. I feel it.

In my case, I add: This Life Force is bringing me health, wealth, happiness and wisdom.

This is as far as Eugene Person's instructions go but I have made much more use of it. I find that it has healing power. Years ago I had a young friend who had been in a mental institution twice. He was afraid that he would soon have to be committed again as he could scarcely get through each day. I checked the polarity of his head area with my pendulum and found it negative where it should be positive.

Holding my left palm up I placed my right palm on his head. After a few minutes I again checked the polarity. It was now positive. I asked him if he could feel the difference.

"You took a tight band from my head," was his answer.

Years have gone by since then but he has not had to go back to the mental institution!

This success led years later to a request to go to Texas to a private mental institution to "lay healing hands" on the patient of a Doctor of Psychology and his nurse-wife. They were satisfied with the results.

The Star Exercise magnetizes the body as a whole but I have learned to use it to magnetize specific spots, both on myself and on others -- as in removing the "band" from the head of the young psycho-neurotic. I use it both standing up and lying down, the left palm up and either a finger or preferably the right palm on the affected spot. This is no cure-all, of course, but it has produced some amazing results.

What could be more important than to put one's self in tune with the universe? Some people ask if it makes any difference which direction one faces. Baron Person says it does not. I prefer the East but not because Mecca lies there (rather because of the natural flow of magnetic currents from east to west). Penson's book, "Science of Being", is now being published by DeVos & Co., 4900 Eagle Rock Blvd., Los Angeles, California 90041. Write for list.

Man is made or unmade by himself. In the armory of thought he forges the mental weapons by which he destroys himself, or by which he builds heavenly mansions of peace, joy and strength. In between the two extremes are all the grades of character and man is their maker and master. The Star Exercise is one which leads to mastery.

YOU MAY CALL ME AQUARIA
Through Joan Dixon

I am of the Water. I will show myself to you in a form you will recognize, although it is by no means my true nature.

Of all the beings you have contacted in the realm of Nature, I am the most difficult for you to talk to, because I am of a more feminine nature than the beings of the Earth and Fire, or even of the Air.

The concept of masculine and feminine is hard to understand; for we are not really male or female as you understand it. But you will speak to us in the human vernacular and learn of us in human terms. So think of me as a woman. And I will think so of myself, if that is possible.

Am I Aquarius, the Water-Bearer? Well, maybe so, but Aquaria, the feminine translation, would be more like it. It is rather a pretty name. You may call me Aquaria. (Aquarius the Water-Bearer is actually an Air sign of the Zodiac.)

You people give labels to everyone you meet. My people are called by many names. Each lake and river is given a name. Well, we name ourselves, as separate individuals. But not in the way you call us. And you seldom if ever give us a proper name.

Well, call me Aquaria. At least for once I have the opportunity of giving myself a name. There is no body of water nearby you call Aquaria. Perhaps some day I will tell you if I inhabit a river or a lake or even a mud puddle. For all you know I may be a spirit of the rain.

I am a female entity. At least as far as you know it. I am the Mother of life. Life as your kind knows it began in the sea and was nourished there. Is there any place on this planet, save in the coldest regions, where water doesn't team with life? To be filled with life is a blessing. To be stagnant and polluted is a curse.

Which brings us to Men, curse their natures! When there were few and their minds were ever turned to spiritual matters and toward Nature we got along beautifully. The water spirits are worshipped by primitive peoples everywhere as the spirits of fertility. Not only fertility of the body but also of the mind. And although the rites performed for us are sometimes ridiculous, it gives us pleasure to know that we are honored as a necessary part of their lives. As well they might think us, for where would they be without water?

But here today, in this society, oh my! A river is looked up-solely as a source of power, or a place to dump garbage. A lake is a recreation area, or a cheap place to get rid of huge amounts of waste materials.

We don't really mind pollution. We are a clean people. It is in our natures to cleanse ourselves or to turn dirt and pollution into a breeding ground for plant and animal life. But the poisons that come from many factories are a curse and an abomination. Still it is only temporary. And when the factory crumbles and becomes dust the stream will again be clean.

But the dams are a different matter. They change and control. It is a sacrilege to dam a river, although you say you couldn't live without power. Your kind lived quite well with us before dams were known. It is a sacrilege, I tell you, to dam a river and rivers fight it.

But we are a passive people. Like all females we endure what is thrust upon us, choosing either to ignore or run away. We endure a lot of provoking that would send a male into a fit of anger. But when we have had enough, watch out! Remember, a female strikes to kill.

Thus it is that upon occasion, especially when the stupid men are sleeping, we will strike out. Our attack will be quick and often deadly. Then we subside into sweet tranquility and all is as it was before. Floods, tidal waves, and blinding snow storms or icy rain, as well as sudden slides. These are our weapons.

Make friends with the water people. Talk to them of love. Pay homage to their life-giving powers. Show them that you truly mean it by tossing flowers upon the river, an ancient custom; or better yet, give something made by your own hands.

Do this and you will be under our protection. No natural disaster will overtake you, though all around you people suffer and are distraught. We are not a demanding people. We do not call for blood sacrifices, as did some of the Gods of old. But treat us gently for we are the gentle people.

My name is Aquaria.

In the letter to Andy Hardie accompanying the above message, Joan Dixon wrote: "The water nymph gave me a mental picture of herself. She stood like a woman wearing long pale blue robes, bound at the waist by a dark blue girdle. Her long hair flowed to her waist and was golden. That didn't seem quite right to me and I tried to visualize her with some other color hair. But she insists it should be golden-brown, although water isn't that color. Everything about her was flowing. I couldn't distinguish hands or feet and the face was ordinary but pretty. I knew she had deep blue eyes. But not penetrating. The rest speaks for itself."

A FIVE-YEAR OLD'S EXPLANATION OF LIFE

By Sally George

"When you die God gives you a new body, all new and shiny and sparkly. The 'sparkly body' is us when we are up in heaven before we get borned, and when we get borned we get a new body of bones and muscles and skin and you cant see the sparkly body except in your eyes. The sparkly shows through them and if you are sick or mean, the sparkly doesn't sparkle. It get dull and people cant see the sparkly in your eyes any more. It really sparkles when you are happy and love people.

"When we die, we do it because our skin and bones are all beat up and wrinkly and so we leave those old things down there and let other people dig a hole and bury them because they are too icky to keep around. Then the sparkly body is free and can float. It dont walk. It can go through doors and windows and cant even ride a bike because the sparkly foot goes right through the pedal! Then we dont need houses or chairs or beds or doors or anything when we're sparkly, so there aren't any of those things in heaven. Only bones and skin need chairs and roofs over them."

From the above explanation we built a summary of how to explain life and death to our child:

1. A child likes to know where he comes from, and he can understand and believe in coming here from heaven.

2. When he asks why he left heaven, he can easily be told he decided to learn some things here that he couldn't learn there.

3. a. He learns to understand that he made the choice to come.
   b. He can understand that he chose the lessons he is to learn.
   c. He can understand that he chose the family he came to, etc.

3. Because he can understand that he chose to come here, it is simple for him to follow it with the understanding that death is a choosing to leave and that it is not a fearful thing. Since he came from heaven, he will truly be going home again and not to a strange place. (The five-year old even assured us that he has friends left in heaven who probably miss him and will be glad to see him again.)

4. Because he accepts pre-earth existence, he just assumes that the family has all been together before even if you explain that he may not have been in the same type of body before but possibly has been a different sex and in a different relationship.

"SOMETHING HAD BEEN DONE TO MY BRAIN"

By Hans Lauritzen
From "Outermost"

"After my contact in the Danish woods, gradually I became aware that I had been lured by the UFOs. They blacked out my consciousness and turned it on again later in such a way that I did not feel it at all and had no sense of having lost some time. Only by looking at my watch did I realise that I was missing about 45 minutes or more.

"Soon after the contact I realized that something had been done to my brain. A strong confusion arose so I could not discern right from wrong. Later it changed to an insane urge to do mad and wicked things.

"After a few days I discovered that something had been done to my spine. Especially between the shoulder blades and in the neck. It felt hard and stiff. Then at my crotch I found two new scars, one on each side of my sexual organ. These soon disappeared and the skin peeled off there. There was a strange feeling at times in the upper solar plexus area. I felt a swelling like it would explode. What had the UFOs done to me? Why had they done it? What was their purpose in doing so?

"When these things are done to such vital parts of a human being, a strange thing happens to the instinct of self preservation. A person will do anything to deny it. I must admire those UFOs for their profound knowledge of the nature of human beings -- and this strange game continues unhindered.

"If the UFOs come here with love and affection to help us, they would of course meet us openly. Now they do everything to hide away and make their activities secret. They have no respect for our integrity, and when I began to wonder why this had been done to me, strong pains came in the spine and neck and in the head. Something inside me tried to stop me each time I thought of telling the truth. That must be why contactees always tell something good about UFOs. They are forced or controlled to do so. If this invasion into the bodies and brains of Humans is not stopped somehow, we might soon all be controlled by the UFOs! What a terrible world of silence, falsity and lies is being made."

The melancholy Dane is sadder and wiser! At this late date Lauritzen finally realizes what Charles Fort learned three generations ago, and wrote in his "Book of the Damned": "We are property." The §64 question is, whose property? And this is where our illusion of freedom becomes a very real philosophical or theological problem; for we do have freedom of choice, to serve ourselves or to serve the Light which created us. The successful resolution of this internal conflict is dramatized, as always at this time of year, by the Celebration of Nov-Dec 1970 RR, Page 14 the Birth of the Christ in the human heart. If Hans was of a mystical turn of mind, and one of those millions who believe that only Good can come from Heaven, or outer space, he has had to revise his belief at the cost of considerable pain and effort.

"As my strongest wish is to serve humanity, I have decided to tell the truth although this should cost my life. After I finally realized I had been lured by the UFOs I began speculating on why it was done. Then the pains came so strong I could hardly stand them. During the past 1½ years they drove me to the brink of suicide several times.

"For long periods I gave up thinking about it too much without seeing the connection between emotions and thoughts. Sometimes, when doing ordinary work, thoughts of the UFOs came and there were no pains! This was a challenge to my analytic mind. Maintaining this indifferent attitude I could write about UFOs without emotional engagement and the pain control did not work! I also discovered that nearby electrical equipment could be used to induce pain; so I had to move away from it."

Here it looks as though Herr Lauritzen has stumbled on one of the principles in Tumo or the Doctrine of Psychic Heat, the necessary separation of the mind from the emotions, if one is to survive in extreme cold or walk on fire without harm. The last sentence reminds us of Albert Bender's experiences with the elemental Men In Black 16 years earlier. In describing his 2nd of 12 contacts with the MIB, in his autobiographical book "Flying Saucers and the Three Men", Bender writes this:

"... On that particular Friday evening (Oct. 1952) I left the movie about 11:15 and began to walk home. I was on a dark section of Broad street when I suddenly developed a throbbing headache and my ears seemed to block up. I felt as if something were pulled over my head to shut out everything about me. For some reason I looked up at the sky and, when I did, I saw a bluish flash. At the same time I had the sensation that my feet were being lifted off the ground. My head throbbed, and again, as when I had received the strange telephone call, I had the strong impression that somebody or something was telling me to forget IFSB (his International Flying Saucer Bureau) to give it up. As suddenly as the feeling came it left, and my head ceased to ache."

"He was glad to get safely home but as he approached the door of his upstairs bedroom "a bluish light suddenly emanated from under it". I unlocked the door and pushed it open. A large object of undefinable outline was aglow in the center of the room. It looked like a bright, shimmering mirage. As I switched on the room light the strange effect disappeared and everything seemed normal. I then noted another peculiar thing. A strange odor filled the room. It smelled like burning sulphur and was so strong it irritated my eyes. I opened a window to let in fresh air and began a quick examination of the room because I noted that several files of IFSB records were disturbed. I was startled to find my radio was on, but without any sound coming from it."
In subsequent visits of the Men In Black to his room, Bender usually found his radio set turned on. We would hazard the opinion that the high-frequency oscillations of charged coils in electronic equipment are a source of mana or prana which can be used to power thought-forms in magickal practices. This may be one of the reasons for the success of the Lakhovsky Multi-Wave Oscillator as a healing device. Now to conclude Lauritzen's article.

"Apparently some kinds of non-dynamic energy must be the same as electro-magnetic thought energy. The UFOs can pour this non-dynamic energy into humans in the prepared areas -- including pain and strange maladies against which our physicians can do nothing.

"Some UFOlogists say: 'An informed public will not panic.' However, how can we tell that the UFOs are doing something to people which even our most intelligent scientists cannot explain, and which we cannot stop them from doing?

"The UFOs are surrounded by strong force fields which cannot be penetrated by physical material and electro-magnetic weapons. Fortunately there is one thing which can penetrate these force fields and that is sound. So our chances of survival will be possible, as soon as ultrasonic, supersonic, hypersonic weapons are developed to defend ourselves against the UFOs before it is too late!"

Mr. Lauritzen's article is taken from "Outermost", 8½x11 soft-cover, 40 page Saucer book published at $1.50 by Gene Duplantier, editor and publisher of "Saucers, Space & Science", 17 Shetland St. Willowdale, Ontario, Canada. It is part of our new talk, "Flying Saucers and the Moon's Destiny". Also in that talk we quote another interesting item from "Outermost" about Roy Thinnes, star of that most fascinating television series, "The Invaders".

"The TV series was more real than many wish to believe," wrote Tony Kimery for "Outermost". "Several people involved with the show were also engaged in deep Saucer research, one of the reasons the show was given the go-ahead. Several of these people were threatened by real Men In Black. Roy Thinnes (David Vincent) said: 'I have no comment other than the fact that there is more truth behind the TV plots than most people realize.'

"Thinnes was threatened on many occasions when the show dealt with matters to hot to handle. After Thinnes had married and the series got deeper and deeper into every day truth, he mysteriously disappeared for two weeks. When he showed up finally his wife reported that he acted strangely, even to the point where she often felt that it wasn't really her husband.

"Later Thinnes resigned and the show was cancelled, with the excuse that viewer ratings were poor, which was untrue." Kimery reports that Thinnes had a UFO sighting of his own, years before, while driving across the Arizona desert.

"... In that grand UFO year of 1952, two men were driving through the mountains near Parana, Brazil, in the state of Sao Paulo, when they encountered five saucer-shaped objects hovering in the air. Later one of these men, Aladino Felix, revisited the spot, and this time a UFO landed and he was invited aboard. He had a pleasant chat with the saucer captain, a being who looked very human and very ordinary, and he went away convinced that the Venusians were paying us a friendly visit."

Better read the book again, John. The Saucer captain identified himself as a Jupiterian, who lived variously on Ganymede or Io, two of the larger moons of Jupiter -- and how utterly different this contact was from the threatening, evil and surreptitious contacts of Albert Bender and Hans Lautitzen -- not to mention John A. Keel himself -- with the Men In Black'.

"Then in March 1953 there was a knock at the door of Felix's home and his wife answered. She reported that there was 'a priest' asking for him. Since Felix was an atheist at the time, he was a bit surprised. He was even more surprised when he walked out to meet the man. It was his old friend, the flying saucer pilot, now turned out in a cashmere suit, a white shirt with stiff collar and a neat blue tie.

"This was the first of a long series of visits during which the two men discussed flying saucers and their mechanics and the state of the universe at large. Mr. Felix kept careful notes of these conversations and later put them into an interesting little book titled 'My Contact With Flying Saucers', under the pseudonym of Dino Krasedn. It was first published in 1959 and was largely dismissed as just another piece of crackpot literature. However, a careful reading reveals a thorough knowledge of both theology and science, and many of the ideas and phrases found only in most obscure occult and contactee literature appear here. Among other things, the book also discusses an impending cosmic disaster in lucid, almost convincing terms: the same kind of warning that is passed on to every contactee in one way or another."

Cosmic disaster to a metaphysical illiterate, perhaps, and to a government propagandist trying to cast the whole Flying Saucer picture into a gloomy, negative light; but a careful reading of Krasedon's book reveals that the Jupiterian saucer pilot was only describing the coming initiation of our Solar System as it passes into a new region of the Galaxy, not the cosmos. Naturally, the planets of this system — including our earth -- and our moon. The only beings who will really suffer from the change are those who resist it, instead of welcoming it as evidence of growth and progress.

"Dino Kraspedon's real identity remained a mystery for years.
The book ended up on shelves next to George Adamski's works. (Like Adamski, Kraspedon claimed that he sometimes met the Venusians in the heart of cities, one such meeting taking place at a railroad station in Sao Paulo.) Then, in 1965, Dino Kraspedon surfaced as a self-styled prophet named Aladino Felix. He warned of a disaster a-about to take place in Rio de Janeiro. Sure enough, floods and land-slides struck a month later, killing 600. In 1966 he warned that a Russian cosmonaut would soon die, and in the fall of 1967 he appeared on television in Brazil to soberly discuss the forthcoming assassinations in the United States, naming Martin Luther King and Senator Robert Kennedy.

"The startling accuracy of his major and minor predictions impressed many people, of course. When he started predicting an outbreak of violence, bombings and murder in Brazil, no one was too surprised when a wave of strange terrorist attacks actually began.

"Police stations and public buildings in Sao Paulo were dynami-ted. There was a wave of bank robberies and an armored payroll train was heisted. The Brazilian police worked overtime and soon rounded up eighteen members of the gang. A twenty-five-year-old policeman n named Jesse Morais proved to be the gang's bomb expert. They had blown up Second Army Headquarters, a major newspaper, and even the American consulate. When the gang members started to sing, it was learned that they planned to assassinate top government officials and eventually take over the entire country of Brazil. Jesse Morais had been promised the job of police chief in the new government.
The leader of the ring was . . . Aladino Felix!

"When he was arrested on August 22, 1968, the flying saucer prophet declared, 'I was sent here as an ambassador to the Earth from Venus. My friends from space will come here and free me and avenge my arrest. You can look for tragic consequences to humanity when the flying saucers invade this planet'.

Was this really the same Aladino Felix contacted in 1952-53 by — not Venusians — but Jupiterians? Or was this gangster of the 1960s an impostor, guided by Satanic forces to claim authorship of the Kraspedon book and then go on with his 'insane urges to do mad and wicked things'?

"Once again the classic, proven pattern had occurred. Another human being had been engulfed by the ultraterrestrials and led down the road to ruin. There is no clinical psychiatric explanation for these cases. These men (it has happened to women, too) experienced a succession of convincing events with flying saucers and the UT's.
Then they were smothered with promises or ideas which destroyed them."

Just a moment, John! We can think of dozens of contactees who had enough strength of character not to be "engulfed by the (evil) ultraterrestrials and led down the road to ruin". George Adamski was certainly not "engulfed". Neither are Dan Fry, nor George Van Tassel. Mark Probert was not ruined by space contacts, nor Meade Layne, nor White Star. BSRA has not been engulfed by the Men In Black -- though we know of a CIA agent in Los Angeles who has been predicting this every year for the past ten years! Capt. Bruce Cathie of New Zealand has not been "engulfed" -- though certain Under-Terrestrials and their physical plane agents are trying to frighten him out of continuing his UFO research. And you, by your selective slanting of UFO contact material are apparently working the same side of the street, the Establishment side. The quick glossing over of the positive aspects of Kraspedon's book, and the detailed explanation of the crimes of Aladino Felix -- whoever he is -- is a case in point. Regardless of who Dino Kraspedon was, or is, the 1953 Jupiterian warnings of the danger of an all-out atomic war, and of the glorious future of the solar system and the earth, still stand as information and inspiration for those who care to read.

THE MOON AS A PLANET

In Chapter 2, "God, Matter and Energy", of his book "My Contact With Flying Saucers", Kraspedon relays the Jupiterian pilot's information on the solar initiation we spoke of, a Zodiacal marriage between suns: "... Another Sun will soon enter our solar system and we shall be lucky enough to have a system of binary Suns. ... It is a body of monstrous proportions which will shortly become visible in the direction of Cancer. ... Two Suns in the solar system will create difficult problems. The orbits of all the planets will be changed. Mercury will move into the area between the present orbits of Venus and the Earth. Venus will move out to a position between the present orbit of Earth and Mars. The Earth will feel the effect before the new Sun settles down in its definitive orbit. As the luminosity of this body increases, the pressure of this light will cause the Moon to move out of its orbit, and it will settle in a position that will turn it into a planet. With this displacement it will take with it a part of the ethereal mass of the Earth, which will impart to the Moon a stabilised movement. The Earth, in turn, under the pressure of the twin Suns, will move out into the area now occupied by the planetoids (the remains of the planet Maldek, now orbiting crazily between Mars and Jupiter). In short, there will be a general displacement of all the bodies belonging to our system. Pluto will be ejected from the system, and will wander through space until it finds some new heaven. ... we shall have a new sky in which to travel and you will have a new Earth."

"When will this take place?" asked Kraspedon.

"It will begin very soon, towards the end of this century. ... Many people will vanish forever from the face of the Earth but a small community, obedient to the laws of God, will remain and present suffering will cease. ... " (Apparently the Moon will take with it all the backward souls who have failed Judgement Day on this planet.)

THE TEMPORARY SUCCESS OF ORGANIZED EVIL

By Gurdjieff

The recent donation of Ouspensky's book, "In Search Of The Miraculous", by an Associate to the BSRA reference library, gives some interesting insights to the current crisis in human affairs. From Ouspensky's guru, Gurdjieff, we learn, page 308:

"... The evolutionary process must proceed without interruption. Any stop causes a separation from the fundamental process. Such separate fragments of consciousness which have been stopped in their development (black magicians of the Left Hand Path) can also unite and -- for a certain time -- can live by struggling against the evolutionary process. After all, it merely makes the evolutionary more interesting. ... this struggle against the intentional opposition of fairly powerful forces. They (the evil ones) are not comparable with those which direct the evolutionary process. These opposing forces may sometimes even conquer (as they did on the planet Maldeek and finally wrecked it completely!).

"The reason is that the forces guiding evolution have a more limited choice of means. ... The opposing forces (of evil) are not limited in their choice of means and they are able to make use of every means, even those which give rise to only temporary success, and in the final result they (the Satanic forces) destroy both involution and evolution at the point in question. ..."

"This question has no practical significance for us... " (Gurdjieff could say this in casual discussions with Ouspensky in Moscow in 1916, but could he say it in 1970? With tens of thousands of atomic weapons lined up, ready to shoot, on both sides of the Iron Curtain?)

"Are we able to say that life is governed by a group of conscious people? Where are they? Who are they? We see exactly the opposite: that life is governed by those who are least conscious, by those who are most asleep.

"Are we able to say that we observe in life a preponderance of the best, the strongest and the most courageous elements? Nothing of the sort. On the contrary we see a preponderance of vulgarity and stupidity of all kinds. Do we see aspirations toward unity? Nothing of the kind. We see only new divisions, new hostility, new misunderstandings. So that in the actual situation of humanity there is nothing that points to evolution proceeding. On the contrary when we compare humanity with a man we quite clearly see a growth of personality at the cost of essence (the higher self), that is, the growth of the artificial, the unreal and foreign, at the cost of the natural, the real, and what is one's own... One thing alone is certain, that man's slavery grows and increases. Man is becoming a willing slave. He no longer needs chains. He begins to grow fond of his slavery. He is proud of it. And this is the most terrible thing that can happen to man. . ."

THE RAY OF CREATION

Earlier in the book, page 82, in his instruction on the Ray of Creation, Gurdjieff outlines the principle of evolution which clarifies the Jupiterian saucer pilot's observation to Kraspedon, that our Moon is about to become a planet:

"According to the Idea of the Ray of Creation the Moon is still an unborn planet, one that is, so to speak, being born. It is becoming warm, gradually, and in time -- given a favorable development of the ray of creation -- it will become like the earth and have a satellite of its own, a new moon. A new link will have been added to the ray of creation. The earth, too, is not getting colder, it is getting warmer, and may in time become like the sun. We observe such a process in the system of Jupiter, which is a sun for its satellites. . ."

1. Absolute
2. All Worlds (Galaxies)
3. All Suns (Zodiac)
4. Our Sun
5. All Planets
6. Our planet Earth
7. Moon

The material on the foregoing six pages is taken from our current talk, "Flying Saucers and the Moon's Destiny", not transcribed yet but available on tape at $4.50 per 5 in. reel. At first glance it seems hard, terribly hard, that the failures from Earth's Judgment Day will have to fall back to first grade -- on the Moon -- and take the work all over again in conditions suitable to their unenlightened condition. But let's look at it the other way. What about those enlightened millions who are ready, willing and able to consciously live and practice the Golden Rule of brotherhood and goodwill. Should they be foreordained to live in the beastial conditions which are prevailing here as evil continues to rule in the hearts of our leaders? I think not. God in His wisdom provides school rooms suitable to the involutionary and evolutionary needs of all of his children. To your editor it seems reasonable that for all of those on earth who want to continue to live by the Law of the Beast, let them be segregated off into a place where they can practice their beastiality on each other until they've had enough of it!
A SIMPLE CHRISTMAS RITUAL

Which can be done every morning of the year -- and which leads to the development of psychic powers -- is meditation on some profound or inspiring idea before getting up. In his "Rosicrucian Cosmo-Conception" Max Heindel puts it this way:

"The most favorable time for the exercise is on first awakening in the morning, before any of the worries and cares of daily life have entered the mind. At that time one is fresh from the Inner worlds and therefore more easily brought back into touch with them than at any other time of the day. Do not wait to dress up, or sit up in bed, but relax the body perfectly and let the exercises by the first waking thought."

If you find yourself just going back to sleep when trying this it might be better to sit up and cover your shoulders with a jacket or robe. Then set the intellect-subconscious going with some great ideal of metaphysical or abstract character. Is this auto-hypnosis? You bet it is! And what you are doing is expanding your mental capacity by forcing the intellect to run in positive channels for once instead of dwelling on repetitive thoughts of worry, fear, criticism, bigotry, illness, etc.

Here is a favorite from Revelations 3:20: "Behold, I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear my voice and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me."

In his book, "The Science of Seership", Geoffrey Hodson reminds us of a parallel idea in the Bhagavad Gita, where the Logos proclaims: "He who seeth Me in everything and everything in Me, of him will I never lose hold, and he shall never lose hold of Me."

Other great ideas out of Christian literature are the Lord's Prayer and the 23rd Psalm. Still another, which dwelt upon over and over in the mind, helps to produce an expansion of consciousness, is this: "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty, Heaven and earth are full of Thy Glory. Glory be to Thee, O Lord Most High." Hodson writes: "This is one of the most pregnant phrases ever written. As its truth is realized, and the whole soul is poured out in worship, a great expansion of consciousness takes place."

Repeat the phrases mentally, or aloud, breathing in deeply on part of it and out steadily on part of it, until you are in a semi-trance condition. Consciousness shifts gears into high and for a moment you touch the Hem of His Garment. Contacts like these, frequently repeated, cannot help but bring the expansion of consciousness we all seek. When it does happen, the radiance brought back to the flesh blesses the whole day.

"Is there a good exorcism ritual which I would be capable of performing? I tested all our various carvings and other artifacts, as I had a hunch there was some adverse influence in the room where they were. We have quite a collection, a hobby. Everything tested positive except one. It is a warrior's head, from Tanganyika, a beautifully ugly carving. It tested negative in no uncertain terms, and my solar plexus went into a cramp!! What can I do about this? If some evil little African spirit is in this carving, I'd like to get rid of it. But I'm afraid of messing around with it until I get more knowledge. Could you remove it, from long distance?

"In the meantime, again on a hunch, I wrapped the head in many layers of aluminum foil and put it away in a box. I can't just throw it away as it is one of my husband's favorites. Also valuable! If my husband knew that I suspect one of our carvings of harboring an evil spirit, he would either a psychiatrist or a minister; so you see I am in a quandary. He is a doll but a very material-minded engineer. Many thanks for putting up with my questions. I do feel that I'm making progress; so don't despair of me!"

Mrs. L.J.W., Northern Pines, South Carolina

A couple of powerful horseshoe magnets, placed on each side of the African head would probably dislodge the elemental that came along with it, if there is one there. The hi-frequency discharge from an electro-static generator would do even better, and best of all would be a hot fire in which to burn it up. If, on the other hand, you wish to preserve this object of primitive art, try the Lesser Banishing Ritual of the Pentagram, described on pages 13-18 of our old Western Mystery Tradition Study Series.

The Banishing Ritual is now part of our latest study brochure, "You Live In Four Worlds", 68 pages, illustrated, printed, $2 50.

This probably won't destroy the elemental but only separate it from the physical focal point, the African head. Then ask that appropriate angel guards from the Astral World police force escort the thing to Gehenna -- some Astral hell -- where it belongs -- and will stay -- until claimed by its creator for reabsorption. Check the thing again for evil or negative vibrations. If they are still three go through the ritual again and keep doing it until you are satisfied with the results.

(A month later) "I am packing and getting ready for our move north, which should come by Dec. 1st. In the meantime I have done something of which you may not approve. I decided to get rid of the African head, but had to discard, one by one, all the methods which occurred to me. Impossible to dig holes or light large fires without attracting quite a bit of attention. Didn't want to just throw it in a swamp, for fear someone else would find it. So-- I sent it to you!"

"SHE LOOKED MORE DEAD THAN ALIVE"

"According to this lady's husband, he was told in a spiritual seance to consult me and have me try magnets; so he came to me and asked me to visit his wife in the hospital. At 62 she had had a whiplash accident followed by severe headaches. Too bad chiropractic was not tried first. According to the famous neuro-surgeon who operated on her, one and one-half cups of blood were removed from her brain. The patient never came out of the anesthesia. She was in a coma for five years. I took with me two large horseshoe magnets, a bar magnet four inches long by 7/8ths diameter, and a magnetometer.

"When I faced the lady I wanted to leave, as she looked more dead than alive. She was rigid, eyes closed shut, fingers clenched like they were ankylosed, knees and legs completely rigid and heavy. I closed my eyes and asked for divine guidance. To my surprise, I felt that something could be done. I placed one of the horseshoe magnets above her head on the bed pillow, with the horns pointed toward her feet, south pole to the left and north pole to the right. I placed the other horseshoe magnet below her feet, horns pointing toward her head, south pole to the right and north pole to the left.

"The magnetometer showed a good magnetic field all over her body. This gave me a strong feeling of satisfaction. When I put the bar or cylinder magnet around her neck, believe it or not, she jumped or jerked in what I thought was only a reflex action, but her husband and daughter jumped for joy, her first movement in years!

"The next day her husband called to tell me his wife had her eyes open. I returned to the hospital. I moved the magnets farther away from her head and feet and placed a carbon rod in her left hand and the bar magnet in her right, leaving instructions that she should hold them for half an hour, twice a day; for now her fingers are loose. They can now sit her up and she stays up by herself, though she is still fed by tube through the nose. Her family is amazed by the results. She has not been seen by her MD in a long time. Her neurologist asked to be relieved of the case three years ago as there was nothing more he could do. You can comment on this case if you care to."

Dr. Jose Rizal, Manila, PI

This is a wonderful example of cooperation through the Veil, of spirit doctors, through a medium, giving the name of the physical plane doctor to be consulted, and suggested therapy, magnets. The definitive book on magnet therapy has not been written yet but we BSRAssociates are certainly accumulating some good material. For those of you considering setting up your own research program, and are wondering how to determine which pole of a horseshoe magnet is the North and which the South, use a compass! And if you don't have a compass, buy one! Set or lay the magnet on a table. Bring your compass up slowly to one side, one horn, of the horseshoe. If the North tip of compass needle is attracted to that side of the magnet, that is the South Pole. Mark it with an S. Double check your finding by bringing your compass up slowly to the other side of the mag-
The South tip of the compass needle should be attracted to, or point toward this horn, indicating this is the North Pole. Mark it with an N. Remember the principle of polarity: Unlikes attract, likes repel.

ACTIVATING THE HEAD AREA

"The Journal gets better and better with every issue -- bless you for keeping us abreast of the really important things that are happening in our world. We love you for it and appreciate your efforts more than mere words can ever say!

"I've been absolutely fascinated with all the articles on magnetism and its many uses and properties. Of course, I've been using the BSRA VITIC device ever since I bought your experimental model on one of your trips to Boston, around 1960! Don't know what I'd do without it in fact, since I seem to be just normally kind of low in vitality. After reading your articles on healing with magnets I decided to give it a try on some incipient skin cancers on my nose. I took one of the magnets off my Vitic device, located the North Pole with a compass (the magnets I ordered from Edmund Scientific hadn't arrived yet, and I was too impatient to wait), wrapped up the South Pole well, and applied the North Pole to the spot on my nose. I have left it there for anywhere from 10 minutes to ½ an hour (I fell asleep) for about three days. Can feel an enormous amount of current flowing into my nose, and in fact it seems to activate the entire head area. After only these few days the spot on my nose has diminished to the point where I can hardly see it! I am enormously grateful, not only for a healing instead of the nasty scars an electric needle would leave, but also for the wonderful applications this will have in all areas of healing! Any further suggestions you might have as to publications or more extensive applications of magnetic healing would really be welcome. Enclosed is a check for $8.50. Would you be kind enough to send me the following: Magnetic Vitality Kit, $5.00 (I want another one to keep at work); "You Live In Four Worlds" $2.50; 2nd Pentacle of Jupiter Ritual 50¢ and Tiphareth Ritual 50¢. Thanks for all your work on Ritual Magic -- so much appreciated -- so hard to find anywhere else.

Mrs. P.C.H., Miami, Florida

Thank you for sharing with us the positive results of your research experiment, hope it encourages other Associates to set up their own programs in this old yet new area of the affects of magnetic fields on living tissue. If we do hear of any printed texts on Magnetic Vitality we will plug them in the Journal. Meanwhile, copies of BSRA No. 11, the illustrated brochure on VITIC, are still available for $1.50 a copy here at BSRA headquarters... Also the little Kit of 50-lb.-lift magnet assembly and 1x4 in. carbon rod for $5, postpaid. Add 5% sales tax if you live in California.

It is easy to see why drug-oriented doctors, and those who hold profitable shares in pharmaceutical companies, or own their own pharmacies, show little enthusiasm in magnet therapy.

"THE MOON IS JESUIT TERRITORY"

This claim was made in all seriousness by the Very Rev. James F. Maguire on Sunday, June 6, 1965 when he dedicated a $6 million, 10-story, science-classroom building at Loyola University, Chicago. Father Maguire is president of the great school named after the founder of the Society of Jesus. After turning the first shovelful of earth at the building site he said:

"You will appreciate that it required no little influence and global planning to arrange this ceremony today to coincide with the final hours of the marathon flight of Gemini 4. This is all part of a great design to highlight the contributions made by Jesuit scientists and their pupils, for Project Gemini is a stage to the Moon voyage. And the Moon is Jesuit territory. 32 formations of the Moon are named after Jesuits of the 16th and 17th Centuries."

In the "Society of Separationists Newsletter" for October 1970 we learn that the "required influence and global planning" of the Jesuits revealed by Father Maguire in 1965 was manipulating our space program for its own ends in 1968! We quote in part:

"In 1968, on Christmas Eve, the astronauts completing a loop around the moon and coming to see the earth before them were overcome by a 'spontaneous manifestation of religious awe' and began to read the King James version of the Holy Bible and to pray. Many people were stunned by that -- and the American Atheist community was much concerned. . . The big shocker was that the prayer was not spontaneous and was not read from Borman's family bible. The Bible readings and prayers were printed in the flight plan! The astronauts had been directed by that flight plan to have this spontaneous manifestation of religious awe at 7:31 p.m. plus 10 seconds. This meant that it was carefully preplanned for many weeks. The international television networks were carefully hooked into the NASA complex to make certain that the 'Christian' message would be received over the entire world. . .

"A special delegate of the Vatican (Jesuit?) had called on the NASA headquarters to present to them a specially made medallion with the raised profile of Pope John on it, to be carried around the moon. When this was accomplished Frank Borman personally flew the medal back to Rome to present to the Pope in a private audience to assure him that it had been around the moon and back. . .

"The time of the flight was altered almost to the impairment of the function of the flight in order to bring the moon swing time for prime television broadcast on Christmas Eve, the eve of the birth of Christ. The scientific factors of launch windows and angle of illumination of pre-survey of landing sites yielded to the timing, for propaganda purposes, for Christian missionary goals. . ."

If Pope Paul and his spiritual advisor, the Rt. Rev. Pedro Arrupe, want to claim the earth's hell, the Moon, as the new planet for themselves and their millions of devoted followers, let them have it! And goodbye and God Bless, in their new home in space.

A SPONTANEOUS MANIFESTATION OF MAGNETIC FIRE!

"At 11:15 a.m., July 15, 1957, the steel dome of the government Astronomical Observatory at Rome, Italy burst into flame and disappeared in a few seconds. Professor Nomellini, of the Observatory staff, was under the dome at the time. The burning and disappearance of the dome was such a shock to him that he suffered a heart attack and died."

Just consider for a moment this disturbing, shocking event: the manifestation of an invisible force, directed in a highly selective fashion at a specific target. Its significance appears to have been lost on Pope Paul and his College of Cardinals in Rome. The fiery disappearance of the observatory dome tends to reinforce the views of Charles Fort, John A. Keel, Dino Kraspedon and other borderland researchers that we are property, and that the clandestine operations of certain "powers, thrones and principalities" here on the physical plane are allowed to continue only as long as they serve the purposes of the God of our system, the Solar Logos. His purposes are quite different from those of the soulless monsters who guide these profitable "corporations" from the Lower Astral.

A FEW ANECDOTES FROM THE ROAD

After one of our lectures, on a recent road trip, several of us were discussing astral projection. We mentioned Oliver Fox's book, "Astral Projection" as being one of the best on the subject, and an example of double projection as being one of the most instructive.

Fox dreamed he was in a dining room with his wife, lying on a sofa near a window. The room was dark so he reached up to turn on the light. When it refused to go on he realized he was dreaming, but it was so real he determined to project from that body, whatever it was -- vital or astral. The mental effort projected him into space at great speed and he suddenly found himself in a lovely garden. People around him in colored robes were moving into a lecture hall or temple; so he joined them. They looked on him as a stranger but didn't object to his presence. He sat down in the front row of seats, before a raised platform. The black-robed speaker appeared, saw Fox and walked over to him.

"You do not belong here."

"No," Fox replied, "and as my body may call me back at any moment, you may as well let me stay here as long as I can."

"Do you know where you are?"

"I believe that the people around me here are what the world calls 'dead', and I suppose I'll pass into this sphere when my time comes."

Before the speaker could reply, Fox's real physical body, in bed at his home at Wimbledon, called him back and he never did hear what the man said. Later, his Teachers impressed a strong image of the Egyptian or Ankh cross on his aura. Whenever he tried that kind of projection this cross appeared to bar his way. "They told me they had sealed my Door because I was becoming attuned to forces that might sweep me away before my work on earth was done."

After hearing this one of our listeners exclaimed: "That explains something that has puzzled me for a long time. My mother passed on years ago. One night I dreamed I was with her in the heaven world. We were attending a lecture together. I sat beside her in the lecture hall but I could not hear a word the speaker said. I always wondered why. Now I know."

It seemed that she was allowed the joy of conscious companionship with her mother but she was not allowed to hear the kind of information given there.

A DIFFERENT HEAVEN, OR HELL

Another lady told us of her experience with her husband who had passed on. He had never approved of nor expressed an interest in her metaphysical studies but was a complete materialist, interested only in making money and in using people for his own selfish purposes.

After his passing she prayed regularly for him, she said, and asked that he find the Light. She was curious as to what purgatory or what heaven he might be in, in the Astral world. During sleep one night she was conscious of trying to find him and found herself descending through level after level into darker and darker regions. Finally, she sensed that she was in his presence but there was no light there except what shone forth from her. By her own light she could dimly see his head and shoulders.

"Why don't you look for the light?" she asked him.

"Not now," he replied. "I have to stay here until I am ready to search for it myself."

A UFO AND THE MOON

Following our "Who Flys the Saucers?" lecture to the Wichita UFO Club a member told us of having observed an oval-shaped light near the moon. He was alerted to this phenomenon by receiving a phone call from Marion Rodefur in Washington D.C. It was at Marion's home that George Adamski was staying during his last lecture trip, when he was fatally stricken with pneumonia. Marion said she had been watching the moon through a small telescope and noticed this glowing object apparently close to it in space, above the lighted surface and easily seen against the black void of space. She was calling several Saucer researchers around the country to alert them to the phenomenon.

The Wichita man had only a good pair of binoculars at home but with these he and his wife could see what looked like a stationary point of light off the lighted edge of the moon, which was about 3/4s full at the time.

Then he recalled that a local amateur astronomer and friend of his was having a free show for the neighbors that night; so they hurried over for a better look through a good 6 in. reflector, motor driven. The show was just about over when they arrived because clouds were beginning to obscure the sky, all but the southwest portion where the moon was still visible. Only six people were awaiting their turn when they joined the line and the man and his wife deliberately refrained from mentioning what they had come to see. Confirmation came before they got to the telescope. It was from the woman two places ahead of them in line. After finishing her allotted time she turned to the 'scope owner and thanked him.

"What was that bright object just above the moon?" she asked.

He replied that it must be a star, but when the UFO club member had his turn he was pleased to note that the "star" was too flat and oval shaped to be anything but a space ship.

KOLA MIGRAINE

A naturopath told us of a unique case that came to him while he was practicing in Cairo, Egypt many years ago. This man had suffered severe migraine headaches for years and had spent $14,000 with allopathic physicians seeking a cure, but all in vain. The naturopath, as was his habit in cases like this, self-suggested himself into a light trance for a moment. Suddenly, before his inner sight, there was a vision of a row of coca-cola bottles!

He turned to his patient and asked, "How many cokes do you drink during the day?"

"What does that have to do with my migraine headaches?" objected the patient.

But it developed that the patient was an innkeeper who was often invited to have a drink with his guests. To avoid drunkenness he would have a coke instead and sometimes drank as many as 12 to 15 cokes a day! When the doctor suggested he shift to another beverage for the sake of business, the patient reluctantly agreed; and the change did result in a cure of the migraine headaches. They were an occupational "disease", in this case.

OBITS

"It is with a very sad heart we are sending this letter. Our dear one, Hilary M. Dorey, suffered a massive coronary on Sept. 22nd and passed away two hours later. He was buried on the 24th. It was so very sudden. He arose at 6:30 a.m., bathed and had a good breakfast, sat in his favorite chair in his 'office' as he called it, and was reading his Bible as was his daily custom, when..."
God called him home... It was a great shock to us and to his many friends but we are so grateful he did not suffer. We know he is happy with his loved ones. Please do keep in touch with us.

Marjorie D. Edward (sister) Florence P Dorey (wife)
12 Arnold Ave., Newport, Rhode Island 02840

Hilary Dorey earned the thanks of thousands of people for picking up where John Brown left off, in the production of B-Cell and D-Cell catalysts. We hope that his surviving wife and sister have enough know-how to continue producing the Cell Catalysts for those who want and need them; otherwise we have only Joe Dun Sloan here in California to carry on with this important borderland activity.

FOUNDER OF THE PARAPSYCHOLOGY FOUNDATION

"Eileen Garrett, President and Founder of the Parapsychology Foundation, died Sept. 15, 1970 at St. Roch Hospital, Nice, France. She had been in declining health in recent years, but she had continued to be active in her writing and in her Foundation activities until a few days before her death. Her last book, 'Many Voices', was published in 1968 and only recently she had participated actively in the 19th Annual International Conference of the Foundation at Le Piol, St. Paul de Venice, in the south of France."

From Miss Garrett's editorial on Research in "Tomorrow", Winter issue of 1955: "Today's attitude of science toward the all important subject of psychic research is conservative, and perhaps rightly so. But sooner or later it must come to recognize that here is a significant field of investigation, strictly within the limits of its aims, and even of its methods. The same confusion regarding the nature of extrasensory perception exists today, as existed a century ago concerning facts in the physical world.

"Underneath the silt of the various phenomena, by which psychic research is too often covered, lies a country of pure understanding, limitless in its knowledge. Without fully examining the aspects produced from the subconscious mind, one loses sight of the connecting link with which one must chart one's course from out of limitations to finally find within the self a country secure and real.

"We are on a rewarding journey, and it would be indeed especially important in this confused day of our living, if we would seek to understand this - and, understanding, seek to pull psychic research out of the doldrums in which hypnotism and psychology rested for so long a period.""

"AQUAVIDEO" WATER-SEEING

At long last Verne L. Cameron has committed his life-long experiences in Dowsing and related borderland sciences to print - with the able help and editorship of Bill Cox. The 116-page book on underground water-locating is profusely illustrated and indexed! Hardcovers, $6.95; paperback, $4.95. Here's how Cox describes it:

"In AQUAVIDEO Cameron reveals his inmost secrets. Follow his logical, step-by-step method as he shows you, the reader (even a child), how to select and cut a simple forked-switch, position the instrument in your hands, and find your way to stake the preferred drilling site.

"Here you learn, with a gentle 'bob' or 'swing' of your dowsing device, to reckon a stream's depth, calculate its width, and measure volume; then prove your determinations through use of the age-old Bishop's Rule.

"Here, in AQUAVIDEO, Cameron lifts the veil of superstition while exploding dowsing fallacies. Learn how to use wand or rod -- as distinguished from the forked switch -- the Pendulum, Water Compass, the Cameron Aurameter, the Witness and a wide variety of locating doodlebugs. Learn to locate hidden sources of oil, treasure, precious metals, stones and objects such as lost persons and animals.

"Here you learn to detect the ever-present body aura so you may understand its close relationship to dowsing. Explore with Cameron the subjects of motor-automatism, thought-pictures, reading, projection and mental suggestion. Here you'll learn to read signs leading to underground ojos, interconnecting circles, ovals, and rectangular fissures (those mysterious clusters) geysers, cold springs, ascending waters and water-bearing earthquake faults. Cameron explains the nature of the strange 'devil ring' and noxious earth rays, and the revolutionary Primary Water Theory."

"TELETHERAPY" HEALING WITH COSMIC LIGHT

We have on hand a few copies of a paperback book on "Teletherapy", a Collection of Articles by the late Dr. Benoytosh Bhattacharya. He explains it this way: "Teletherapy, as the word indicates, is 'distant healing'. With the help of Teletherapy, any case anywhere in the world can be treated from a distance. Teletherapy dispenses with personal examination, attendance, crude medicines, poisonous drugs, injections, operations and the rest. Teletherapy is thus the most harmless system of healing by the gentlest of methods without inflicting any kind of pain to any one of its numerous patients. It heals gently, slowly and in a natural way by revitalising cells and tissues of the human body. Here unnatural, crude and painful methods have no place. This is not a small advantage in these days of high medical expenses and higher bodily torture.

Nov-Dec 1970 RR, Page 31
"Teletherapy employs the cosmic rays provided by Nature, which are freely floating around. These rays are Omniscient, Omnipotent and Omnipresent, and have unerring power over human disease, both physical and mental. These cosmic rays are seen as the seven colours of the Rainbow; these are present in the seven planets; and they are concentrated in gems, especially the seven Planetary gems. A small prism, when held before the eyes, will reveal these seven cosmic colours enveloping all tangible things in creation, including planets, stars, men, animals, trees, hills, rivers, buildings and the rest.

"The Solar System which gives life to all created things, mobile and immobile, by continual supply of rays, energises every small particle, cell and tissue. Every cell and tissue is a condensation of cosmic colours and is composed of the seven rays including those of the Sun and Moon. The Planets by their movements distribute these cosmic colours and impart energy to all created and tangible things. These colours create, maintain and destroy everything coming under our Solar System. They are divine in character and as such, are possessed of the three divine qualities. By Omniscience the rays recognise the person; by Omnipotence they heal; and by Omnipresence they envelop him with life-giving rays.

"It is not humanly possible to employ the Planets and their divine forces for the benefit of mankind. But we have their representatives in the gems... It is possible to employ these forces for the benefit of mankind through methods employed in Teletherapy."

His son, Dr. A K Bhattacharya, writes that his father was an expert in Homeopathy but switched to the new science of Teletherapy when he found that it "was even a subtler science and it could wield more power than Homeopathy".

The diagnostic instrument is a flat case containing three electro-magnets in line, a row of colored lights representing the planets, and a two-volt transformer to power them from the AC line. A photograph of the subject is used as a "witness". Diagnosing is done with a small magnet as a pendulum. Swings or turns toward one or more of the colored lights indicates the "color hunger" of the subject or patient.

Treatment is based on the science of vibrations and the Aka or etheric thread connection between the photograph and the subject, wherever he or she may be. Along this invisible "wire" the healing rays travel. At first Dr. Bhattacharya vibrated the appropriate colored gems by rotating them in front of the patient's picture on the blades of an electric fan, for a certain length of time.

Later he found the charged coil of a radio speaker, vibrating or humming with the 50-cycle Indian house current even more effective. The treatment gem was hung in the center of the speaker cone. Treatment can be continued for months this way, or until positive results are achieved.

QUOTABLE QUOTES

"The young are the only people I can reach or talk to any more. unless I happen to strike tuned-in types like yourself or others who have studied through their younger years to understand the hidden forces of Nature. The reaching out for the new knowledge is very evident in the 18-25 group today, a hunger for spiritual bread. The universities give them the sterile stones of the Old Knowledge and wonder why they buck." A California Associate.

"My husband and I are still practicing the Five Rites of Rejuvenation and I do believe they have helped a great deal. At least I have regained my sense of balance and am not so afraid of falling." A Canadian Associate

"I have had excellent results using a big horseshoe magnet on a gall-bladder flare-up. The possibilities seem limitless!" A Florida Associate

"Mr. Nixon almost by default has opted for a long war and a continued American involvement under his Vietnamization policy. A diplomat whom I know in Saigon is now offering to bet a case of champagne that there will be 50,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam by 1980. I would not bet against him." Maynard Parker in "Newsweek".

"There is not the slightest doubt in my mind that They (the Men In Black) are at the back of practically all the dirty work that is so rampant throughout the world today. A couple of days ago I was directed to give a prayer-treatment 'that the liberation front may now realize nothing can be gained by lawless acts'. Later, while resting, a face appeared and asked me, 'What is your name?' I said who wanted to know? and that if he wasn't a friend, to get out! The face disappeared, doubtless being one of Them." A Canadian Associate.

"I also am a patient of Dr. W.D. Kelley. He is doing a great work. His book, 'One Answer To Cancer', can now be bought from the Nutri-Books Corp., 2006 Lawrence St., Denver, Colorado 80205." A New Orleans Associate.

"A friend of mine has an occult book store here in Honolulu and I am amazed at the amount of young people in their 20s who come there regularly and read the higher teachings and buy the better known books such as the writings of Manley Hall and Krishnamurti, and all the great teachers I have read. Despite the Hippies that are destructive I am greatly pleased that so many of the youth are trying to find a way to a better and more productive spiritual life." A Hawaiian Associate.

"I had a wonderful three weeks in New Zealand last Christmas. It was really a radionestic pilgrimage, especially to see what was going on in Radionics and colour healing. I met many members of the Herbert George Radionics Society. My wife and I are both in the third year of a course of Osteopathy. When we finish, my wife will" commence her own practice and I commence a medical course at Sydney University. Hard slogging for seven years but I hope I can last the distance. That will legally entitle me to practice with emphasis on Osteopathy, Herbalism, etc. I'm keen on MMO work, also Vitic, but with little time for research. As an Osteopath in this country I'd be liable for taking money under false pretenses, but as a doctor I'll be able to do things like this as long as I don't infringe too many of the AMA ethics. In this country an Osteopath is not legally registered, either to work in hospitals or to have any health benefits for his patients! Also, if anything goes wrong one stands the risk of being sued for everything. Not so of course with a doctor. The powers that be here are trying to have Osteopathy banned. There is bound to be a confrontation."

THE FAILURE

We knew he had no essence of success
Because he did not gather wealth or fame.
He laughed at reputation, and a name
Was just a designation, more or less.
He never made a favorable address,
Nor tried to prove he had a super claim
To what was wise or good; his only aim
Was just to meet each day with manliness.

We shook our heads and thought it was too bad
That he should be indifferent to his good.
We even thought at times he might be mad
Because his motives were misunderstood.
But now, when years have gone, we know he had
The principles of human brotherhood.

SO WHAT'S NEW?

"Scientists at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Syracuse New York -- during the past few months -- experimentally have induced changes in human cells that lead them to believe they are on the threshold of a major medical breakthrough: The controlled growth of human tissue and bone, including limb regeneration. The technique involves the use of tiny amounts of electricity and a hormone, prolactin. Dr. Robert O. Becker, research chief at the VA. Believes the new technique shows enough promise -- in theory -- to predict that a physician could someday use it to regrow a man's severed leg."

National Enquirer, Oct. 25, 1970

Spirit physicians, through entranced mediums, have been rebuilding missing parts in human bodies for untold ages. The electricity is mental -- forming an image of the whole organ or tissue -- and the "hormone" is ectoplasm -- drawn from the vitality of the medium! This process is described on page 12 of our lecture: "Three Great Aquarian Age Healers", in the sub-section titled: "Rebuilding Missing Parts With Creative Thinking";

OTHER GIFT IDEAS

A gift membership/subscription to the Journal of Borderland Research, $6 a year, is one sure way of opening the mind of a close friend or relative to Aquarian Age developments, with six reminders during the year 1971 of your thoughtfulness and generosity!

You Live In Four Worlds Lesson VII in our Series of Studies in the "Invisible Reality Behind Appearances" discusses in detail the higher levels or planes of consciousness from which the UFOs, and in fact all life, materializes. It contains a 20-page discussion of how these different worlds and planes register in your own consciousness. This knowledge is invaluable to the student of metaphysics who is opening up his awareness to the Inner Planes for the first time. If this is happening to you, you need some standard by which to judge or evaluate the information or visions you are receiving. Your ability to discriminate between the false and the true is one of the most valuable abilities you have! Never have the opportunities for inter-plane communication been more propitious than now, and never has the danger of deception been greater!

Charts of the Four Worlds, Spiritual, Mental, Astral and Physical are given. Other charts illustrate the Second Pentacle of Jupiter Ritual of Abundance. Also explained and illustrated in this Ceremony are the Kabalistic Cross and the Lesser Banishing Ritual of the Pentagram. 68-page paperback. . . . . . . . . . . . . $2.50 postpaid.

An hour-and-a-half tape recording of the above material, as actually given in class in San Francisco, Sept. 1970 is available. This includes the Cross and Banishing Ritual. 1 Mil Mylar tape, 5 in. reel, two sides, 3 3/4 speed, Monaural. . . . . . . . . $4.50 postpaid.

White and Black Magick In Hawaii An hour-and-a-half tape recording of the lecture given in San Francisco, Sept. 1970. This features a review of the Director's talks on Kahuna practices with the late David "Daddy" Bray, many dramatic examples of pagan magick -- white and black -- at work, the Hawaiian view of Flying Saucers (Akua-lele), the principles of Hawaiian magick as worked out by Max Freedom Long, and a dialogue between Meade Layne and a Hawaiian Kahuna, talking through medium Mark Probert. 5 in. reel, 3 3/4 speed, Mylar. . . . $4.50 pp.

For the serious student of the Mysteries of the Western Tradition, an explanation of symbols and symbology in the Gospel Story.

Sub-head: The Christmas Initiation, the Physiological Awakening, the Higher Trinity, the Three Signs of the First Great Initiation, the Winter Solstice, the Two Christmas Arche-types (Mary and Jesus), the Womb of the Earth, the Queen of the Angels, the Sun Behind the Sun, The Tree of Life, Tarot Trump No. 19 and a Christmas Ritual for Christ Consciousness. Every one who is trying to regenerate himself under Aquarian Age influences is living the Gospel Story whether he realizes it or not! As we move through incarnation here on the surface of the earth, we all have natiivities, conversions, baptisms of sorrow, transfiguration or upliftment, betrayals and crucifixions. This five-fold cosmic cycle continually repeats itself all of the time, not just at Christmas. This is preparation for the Five Great Initiations which wind up our human evolution. . . . . . . $1.50
