BROTHERHOOD NEWSLETTER

Dear Students and Friends:

The cool and damp weather here at the beginning of last week changed by the middle of the week and the week-end was very nice. The weather bureau is predicting two cold fronts to move through this area this week and the car owners are beginning to think about anti-freeze and snow tires to be prepared for the winter months. There is an old saying about the color of the woolly worms in the fall indicating the severity of the winter. If they are brown it means a mild winter, brown and black not so mild and if they are all black it means a severe winter. This fall those woolly worms we have noticed have been all black. If this coming winter is that severe it will give the students here a chance to use Tummo or Psychic Heat for material comfort as well as for its other uses.

There is an extra treat in store for the ones that work on the Retreat projects this Saturday. A pancake breakfast will be served free beginning at 8:00 A.M. in the Administration Bldg. It is expected that there will be a good turn out and several of the unfinished projects can be completed. As soon as these projects are finished we will be able to concentrate on building the New Temple.

The Shamballa Fire Flies are busy completing their preparations for the Spaghetti Dinner to be held on Saturday, Sept. 25th, serving from 6:00 P.M. to 8:00 P.M. They are also selling tickets for the Dinner at $1.00 for adults and .50¢ for children from 6 to 12 years old. All of the proceeds of this dinner will be given to the New Temple Fund. We are looking forward to a large crowd at this dinner.

There is a nice 4 room house listed for sale here in the Retreat. The well is considered one of the best as it has never been pumped dry even in the driest seasons. There is a fireplace and a good supply of fuel. The price of this house is only $5,000.00. For further information contact Mrs. Clara Baldwin, Rt. 1, Sedalia, Colorado.

Because there have been so many requests for Dr. Doreal's interpretation of Rev., we have begun the task of putting this in book form. We hope to have this book available in a few weeks. We are told that the Book of Revelation is a prophecy of the period we are passing through now and if we know what to expect it is easier to prepare ourselves to meet and overcome the obstacles in our path and maintain a balance through the dark days ahead.

In Cosmic Harmony,

Robert Morrow

AS LIGHT, DAWNS

Those, who come by the deepest scars,
And have watered deserts with their tears
Learn their lessons in no other way:-
Still, not too weak to break their prison bars

Will, no longer marking-time in years,
Find more exaltation for each day,
And more consolation while they pray.

THE POWER THAT WINS

BY

DR. M. DOREAL

(Part One)

When the average person hears such a subject announced they naturally think that there is going to be a discussion of some mental or psychological power which will enable the individual to gain dominion, mental or otherwise over their fellowman, because it is an absolute fact that the majority of persons, regardless of the degree of society that they are living in, have at the back of their mind the desire to gain power so that they are able to control the action of others. My lesson is not going to be about such powers, because I do not believe that anyone has the right to impress their will upon other persons. I do not believe that one has the right to exercise mental domination over any person, any more than I believe a person has the right to read the mind of another person.

There are a great many schools of thought in this country and others, that attempt to instruct students in the art of gaining mental power over others, so they are able to impress their will and gain certain powers. Take for example, the popularity of the book, "How to win friends and influence people." To my mind a better book would be one on "How to Win Friends without influencing people", because mental domination of any kind is nothing more or less than hypnotism, or carried to its ultimate degree, Black Magic.

But there is a power that wins, a power that does not depend upon mental domination, a power that can bring to any individual the things which are necessary for their well-being, and that power is the power, to put it very simply and plainly, of right living. We know that there is a universal law in the Cosmos by which things of a like vibrational octave attract others of the same octave or degree of vibration. We know that like attracts like. We know that we can take two tuning forks, hang one on one side of the room and another at the other side and when one is struck it will begin to vibrate and the one on the other side will respond in sympathy with it, because it is attuned to a like vibration. The same thing is true of the individual power that we have within ourselves, the power to attract all good things into our life without the necessity of exercising any mental domination, or without the necessity of the individual setting up negative causes.

I believe that everything that exists in the universe is ruled by the law of cause and effect. I do not believe that we are bound, or fated, to meet the effect of that cause in any certain way, but we are under that law and if we set up the right causes we get the right effects and if we set up the wrong causes we have to suffer the effects.

When a lecturer speaks of the power that wins, the average person immediately begins to think of the attraction of material things. That is, they begin to think that it is the power which can make them a lot of money. Perhaps it can, because it is a part of universal law that everyone that is in harmony with that universal law has the absolute right to have all the material things that are necessary for their material well being and comfort. There is nothing wrong with that, but too often when man thinks of winning he thinks that is all that there is to it.

People come to me and say, "I am thinking of betting on a horse race, can you tell me which horse will win". How can anyone offhanded say what horse will win? Many and varied conditions might take place and you would have to prepare a chart with the causes set up of all those associated with that and other horses in the race.

Our fortune or what we call luck moves in certain cycles. There is no such thing as luck but there are cycles of good manifestation and cycles of bad manifestation and it is the exercising of the power which we have within ourselves which regulates how long the cycle of good fortune or bad fortune will exist. We live in a world which is regulated by absolute and definite laws and among those laws we find the law of cycles. You have all heard the old superstition that things happen in threes. It does not mean that it has to happen in threes but when we are conscious of happenings in threes, we draw from the unlimited ocean in which all the causes are set up, like effects, and we bring them into our life, we bring power to them because every person in the universe creates from day to day their entire life and fortune.

People say, "why do all of these things come to me, because I certainly have not done anything to deserve them", but perhaps we have not done anything to deserve anything else. There is a negative doing as well as a positive doing. Sometimes it is our failure to do things which puts us into a cycle of bad fortune. Too many people think that the power to win lies solely on the material plane. There is a spiritual prosperity, a mental prosperity, a creative prosperity and we might add a fourth and say there is a physical prosperity, because to a person who has suffered some painful condition, the gaining of good health would be the gaining of prosperity. On the other hand, different people have different evaluations of what prosperity consists of.

THE AUTHENTIC ST. GERMAIN

From undeniable documentary evidence Dr. Doreal has compiled the facts concerning St. Germain. St. Germain has recently been reputed as an Ascended Master. A great amount of interest in the authenticity of St. Germain's Occult Powers has recently developed. So much has been said and written about him during the last decade that thousands have accepted him as their Spiritual Master and Teacher without taking the time or trouble to verify his authenticity. Because the records of his life were not readily accessible to check, little has been actually known of his true life.

The records concerning St. Germain (taken from "Mitchel Papers" in the British Museum, and other documents in the French Foreign Office and elsewhere) are quoted by Dr. Doreal. These records written by men who personally knew him, with letters, which he himself wrote, etc., establish facts concerning his life, habits, and Spiritual qualities which are undeniable.

The Truth about St. Germain is authentically given in this book. Those who have been led to believe that he is a Master or Adept, and who wish to learn the facts about his Spiritual and Occult Powers, cannot afford to miss reading this exposition of the "true life" of St. Germain.
