Trained Radio Technicians make good money, and you don't have to give up your present job or leave home to learn Radio. I train you at home nights in your spare time.

Why Many Radio Technicians Make $30, $40, $50 a Week

Radio broadcasting stations employ engineers, operators, technicians. Radio manufacturers employ testers, inspectors, foremen, servicemen in good-pay jobs. Radio jobbers, dealers, employ installation and servicemen. Many Radio Technicians open their own Radio sales and repair businesses and make $30, $40, $50 a week. Others hold their regular jobs and make $5 to $10 a week fixing Radios in spare time. Automobile, Police, Aviation, Commercial Radio, Loudspeaker Systems, Electronic Devices are other fields offering opportunities for which N.R.I. gives the required knowledge of Radio. Television promises to open many good jobs soon.

Many Make $5 to $10 a Week Extra in Spare Time While Learning

The day you enroll, I start sending you Extra Money Job Sheets which start showing you how to do Radio repair jobs. Throughout your Course I send plans and directions which have helped many make $5 to $10 a week in spare time while learning. ONE MORE STEP— AND ETERNITY!

A true experience of LYLE EMMONS, Kildare, New York

"THE WIND HOWLED and the darkness seemed to increase as I arrived at the quarry, where I was to do a welding job on a big steam shovel," writes Mr. Emmons. "The rain streamed down in slanting torrents."

"IN THAT DRIVING STORM I had to move slowly about, walking with my back to the wind and tugging at my heavy gear. Then suddenly I had a horrible, sickening sensation of danger."

"I GRABBED MY FLASHLIGHT and swung it behind me. I peered straight down a 90 foot drop to a pile of jagged rocks! You can tell the world that I was thankful for my flashlight and its dependable 'Eveready' fresh DATED batteries. I'll never be without them!"

EDITORIAL

THIS IS YOUR MAGAZINE

NEW ASTROLOGY is YOUR magazine. It serves YOUR needs and requirements. It is a democratic institution of which you are an integral part. You can make suggestions and help mold the editorial policies. We are all a dynamic family, cooperating to supplant dogma and fetishes with the truth that astrology reveals. In this way, we help you to better understand yourself and your environment. We help you to overcome your personal limitations, while developing your possibilities and potentialities. We help YOU to LIVE.

Working together, we can produce a race of super men and women. We can overcome any and all defeatist philosophies. Too long, has it been a habit to accept and follow certain antiquated, mental trains of thought—to accept what has been said or taught in the past, without checking to prove or disprove the correctness of these teachings. When the only motivating force behind thought is habit and the dead history of yesterday, men and nations disintegrate. We have seen the result in Europe. We have seen a mythological security blasted at its roots.

The New Astrology can provide an answer to the ills of the world and the problems of the individual—YOUR problems. The New Astrology reveals the invisible pattern behind life. It sounds warnings, and it points opportunities. We will teach the New Astrology to you. You can utilize it, and teach it to others. It will be new life. It will alter and improve your existence. It will furnish you with a new tool, more powerful than any form of material security. There is one great principle which the materialistic world never conquers. It's TIME. The New Astrology deals with TIME. Out of the wreckage of yesterday's educational and philosophical mistakes, the New Astrology rises, to point a new and better goal. The New Astrology is vital to you.

YOU are a part of this new movement. You must overpower whatever obstructions are placed in your path. You must secure the things you have a right to demand from existence. You must face life with a positive confidence. Today is but the past of tomorrow. You must deal with tomorrow. The New Astrology will provide the means. It is a new and dynamic movement in which YOU must play an important part. YOU can become one of its leaders in your community. You can bring your friends into the movement. You can become a new, driving force. NEW ASTROLOGY is YOUR magazine. It will point the way. It also welcomes and awaits your suggestions. Together, we will mold a better future for YOU and for others. The future is the result of what we do today.

The New Astrology is NOT fatalism. It supplies the pattern of life, of YOUR individual life. It unveils the basic principles of nature in their true light. It enables you to balance and utilize these forces. It denies you nothing. It reveals your hidden possibilities and potentialities, while obliterating your apparent limitations in life. It shows you WHEN to do things, thereby completely destroying apparent barriers to your full and complete existence. YOU and the New Astrology will provide your planned, instead of accidental, destiny. Your new spirit will have freedom to manifest.

Help others to join this new movement. This is YOUR magazine. Working together, we will make tomorrow better than yesterday and today. There is no force, no obstacle, we cannot surmount and conquer. The world needs YOU, and it needs NEW ASTROLOGY. We are at the crossroads of civilized existence. From here on, things will be different. The old educational and philosophical fetishes have proved themselves to be but useless ornaments. The New Astrology is no ornament. It is the truth and force with which YOU are going to conquer tomorrow.

GOOD SALARY

FINE CAR

To the man who wants to enjoy an ACCOUNTANT'S CAREER

A NICE HOME

BANK ACCOUNT

IF you're that man, here's something that will interest you.

Not a magic formula—not a get-rich-quick scheme—but something more substantial, more practical.

Of course, you need something more than just the desire to be an accountant. You've got to pay the price—be willing to study earnestly, thoroughly.

Still, wouldn't it be worth your while to sacrifice some of your leisure in favor of interesting home study—over a comparatively brief period in your life? Always provided that the rewards were good—a salary of $2,000 to $10,000?

An accountant's duties are interesting, varied and of real worth to his employers. He has standing!

Do you feel that such things aren't for you? Well, don't be too sure. Very possibly they can be!

Why not, like so many before you, investigate LaSalle's modern Problem Method of training for an accountancy position?

Just suppose you were permitted to work in a large accounting house under the personal supervision of an expert accountant. Suppose, with his aid, you studied accounting principles and solved problems day by day—easy ones at first—then the more difficult ones. If you could do this—and if you could turn to him for advice as the problems became complex—soon you'd master them all.

That's the training you follow in principle under the LaSalle Problem Method.

You cover accountancy from the basic Principles right up through Accountancy Systems and Income Tax Procedure. Then you add C. P. A. Training and prepare for the C. P. A. examinations.

As you go along, you absorb the principles of Auditing, Cost Accounting, Business Law, Statistical Control, Organization, Management and Finance.

Your progress is as speedy as you care to make it—depending on your own eagerness to learn and the time you spend in study.

Will recognition come? The only answer, as you know, is that success does come to the man who is really trained. It's possible your employers will notice your improvement in a very few weeks or months. Indeed, many LaSalle graduates have paid for their training—with increased earnings—before they have completed it! For accountants, who are trained in organization and management, are the executives of the future.

Write For This Free Book

For your own good, don't put off investigation of all the facts. Write for our free 48-page book, "Accountancy, The Profession That Pays." It'll prove that accountancy offers brilliant futures to those who aren't afraid of serious home study. Send us the coupon now.

Greatest War of All Time Planned By Astrology

IN TIMES of peace, people stop thinking. That is sad, but it is also very true. In times of war, we call for ability, ingenuity and common sense. When not brought forth, men die by the millions. They are slaughtered by opponents who are more materialistic—but also more practical. In times of peace, we place men in university positions to teach our youth, and we often select men who do not have the ability to think for themselves. Their own education came out of a text book. That's all they know. Tossed into a world where they are not supported by endowments, and where there are no longer silk cushions upon which to rest, these men are as useless to themselves and others as a ticket to Lillian Russell's opening night is to a 1940 jitterbug.

There are two astronomers up at Harvard University. The name of one is Harlow Shapley. He was born in Nashville, Mo. on November 2nd, 1885. The other lad is Bart J. Bok. Neither of these men are in any way qualified to discuss the subject of astrology. Yet, they have both gone off the deep end in no uncertain terms. They have attempted to use their "influence" to keep the people of the United States from investigating astrology.

Shapley threatened to resign as a director from the Hayden Planetarium if other astronomers did not stop writing for astrology magazines. Bok has been a propagandist in an attempt to take astrology away from the American people. Neither of these men are to be considered experts on astrology. I do not hesitate to refer to either one of them as ignorant of the subject. But they are representative of some of the men we have teaching in universities in peace times. We go soft in peace times.

On the other hand, news began to leak out far back in the 20's that Mussolini was a student of astrology. Later, Adolf Hitler became a student of astrology. This was first whispered to me some years ago, by a man who was in direct contact with one of Hitler's astrologers. I have begged him to let me publish some of the letters in his possession, but he feels this would be a violation of a confidence. One of Hitler's astrologers was invited to an astrological

Adolf* und* Astrology*

TWO people came to see me the other day. They both had something to say about the European situation, and what they said was interesting enough to hand on.

The first visitor was an astrologer, a little lady with a high voice; she had studied the stars for years and her prophecies turn out to be wrong only infrequently. She has had quite a success in her business, so much success that she has had enough leisure time to ask the stars about Adolph Hitler. The stars have answered in no uncertain terms. The astrologer lady has ascertained that the month of March is the most propitious season for Adolph to start anything. It seems that the stars coverage properly and the convoluting colors of the northern lights are all in Adolph's favor during the month of March. The astrologer lady, therefore, makes the statement—in terms incontrovertible—that Hitler will definitely annex Czechoslovakia in March, 1939.

The second visitor was a tall, spare gentleman who writes history books for a living. He is an academician, a scholar of the type that is known as dry-as-dust. He has a passion for facts and figures and the cold scientific analysis of world events. (If he were ever introduced to the astrologer lady he would probably consider her an imbecile.) He too, has cast his eye upon Hitler, to determine what the future holds in store for him. He has gone into the history of the Nazi movement with a scholar's frenzy, and he knows every facet of its development. He has come to these conclusions:—Every successful coup that Hitler has ever performed has been preceded by a certain dismal failure. Consider such preliminary failure as the Beer Putsch, the first abortive excursion into the Saar territory, and the first invasion of Austria. All these were followed by second attempts at gaining the same ends, and the second attempts were always successful. What is more, every second attempt occurred in the month of March! My scholar friend thus arrives at the logical assumption that

Hitler will annex Czechoslovakia in March, 1939. It is disturbing to find such a conjunction of opinion between astrology and historical science. The astrologer and the historian despise each other's line of thought, but in this instance they must admit that there has been some kind of conspiracy between the stars and the sciences.

There is good reason to believe both prophecies. The Niebelungen nitwit with the fullerbrush mustache must be quite aware of his good luck around the Ides of March. With good old Aryan emotional-superstition, he must believe in his lucky star. If he himself didn't discover that the March horoscope was in his favor you may be sure that those eminent alchemists, Schleicher and Rosenburg, pointed it out to him. They may all be waiting for the propitious conjunction of the heavens again before they march into the Sudeten area. On the other hand, Hitler may be just superstitious enough to kick over this particular superstition. He may march into Czecho tomorrow, because he doesn't want to impose on that lucky star. But whatever he does, it is nice to know that Astrology and History are getting on friendly terms. —GEORGE K. ARTHUR convention in New York several years ago. He agreed to come if Hitler would permit him to do so. Hitler never sanctioned the trip. Many people at first scoffed at the stories about Hitler utilizing astrology in his political moves, but the day finally came when the story made the front page of the New York Times.

The story appeared under a Washington D.C. dateline. It was published on the morning of November 2nd, 1938. The Times said, "In certain circles here (Washington), which are much impressed by this version of a strong factor in German foreign policy, a move has been begun for the employment of astrologers by all heads of States."

On May 22nd, 1940, the Chicago Daily Tribune stated, "He (Hitler) has conferred with astrologers and has learned the art of making a horoscope. He makes his own analyses, and works out his own interpretations."

Pauline Kohler worked as a maid at Hitler's Berchtesgaden retreat. She was one of very few persons who ever saw the inner workings of Hitler's mountain mansion. Some of the astrologers employed by Hitler included Karl Ossietz, 35 years of age, Erik Jan Hanussen, Joseph Schneider, Herman Antonius, Baroness Eisenstein, Erna Schumann, and Hans Sterneder. But, according to Pauline Kohler, who told her story in Liberty Magazine (June 15th, 1940), Karl Ossietz is the astrologer in whom Hitler maintains the greatest confidence. She stated in Liberty that he is the most powerful man in Germany outside of Hitler himself. She also told of Hitler's Chambers of the Stars, five rooms devoted entirely to astrology at Berchtesgaden. The ceiling of one room is a planetarium. Hitler has but to press a button, and the blue glass ceiling is illuminated by the planets, each of which is shown in its correct zodiacal position for that particular moment. Such a room would be the envy of every American astrologer.

According to Pauline Kohler's Liberty story, Hitler has been known to spend three days and nights in these rooms undisturbed—alone with Karl Ossietz. Here, they supposedly mapped out Germany's war plans. When Hitler goes into his astrological study, that is the one time when no one is allowed to disturb him.

Adolf Hitler has regarded his study of astrology as one of his most powerful weapons. Naturally, the less his opponents knew about the matter, the better for Hitler, and if he could successfully fool and trick astrologers in other countries, so much the better. Meanwhile, with the Shapleys and the Boks doing all they could to keep the American people from investigating astrology, again, so much the better for Hitler. The more Shapleys and the more Boks in foreign countries, the better for Hitler. He had tossed Albert Einstein out of Germany, and after Einstein reached this country, he was induced to prepare a statement condemning astrology as "another evidence of the anti-intellectual movement that is sweeping the world." This writer was able to obtain a copy of the Einstein statement before there had been time to make it public. He sent Einstein a telegram, asking him as a scientist to offer evidence of his wild assertion. Einstein was as bad off as Shapley. The supposedly great intellectual giant was in a corner. He knew no more about the matter than Shapley or Bok. But he stopped in time. His statement was withdrawn and never became public.

Now, if Hitler really wanted to fool astrologers in foreign countries, wouldn't it be the simplest thing to make public a birthdate that was not his own? Couldn't he have the astrologers going in circles? And if, as has been demonstrated, he regarded astrology as one of his most important advantages, wouldn't that be the natural thing to do?

Well, Hitler told the world that he was born on April 20th, 1889. Was he? There are several ways we can go about this matter. First, suppose we find someone else born near the same time. The slow moving planets would all be in the same positions. There would certainly be a similarity in their characters. If born at different times of the day, there would also be some differences, but I have made a vast number of experiments with such cases, many of which have been published. And you certainly do find astonishing similarities in such cases.

Joseph Sedlar was born in Czecho-Slovakia within ten hours of the birthtime furnished by Adolf Hitler as his own. Joseph Sedlar is a student of astrology, and naturally he is interested in knowing whether he and Hitler bear any significant resemblance. He has studied the matter for some years, and he states to us that there is no resemblance whatsoever, and that he is firmly convinced that the Hitler published birthdate is phoney.

There is another interested party—not an astrologer—who claims to know when Hitler was born. This man is Fritz Grunschereider, a boyhood chum of Adolf Hitler. Grunschereider states emphatically that he knew Hitler as a boy BEFORE April 20th, 1889. He claims to know, and he states that Hitler was not born on the above date but on April 20th 1882.

Frankly, the writer has been convinced for years that the Hitler birthdate is phoney. When he first began to investigate the matter, he called in two prominent astrologer friends. He handed each a chart of the heavens as they appeared on April 20th, 1882, his new possibility as the correct birthdate. Neither astrologer knew who was born on that day. Each was asked to describe the man. As they talked, their descriptions were written down. Each described a person with a fanatical or religious belief that it was his divine purpose to lead the world. They continued, and each gave a perfect description of Hitler, but neither knowing who they were talking about. When they finished, the writer told them whose chart this was supposed to be, and handed them notes of their own words. They were considerably surprised.

This new birthdate was first published by the writer in August of 1939. Later in 1939, James A. Douglas wrote an article comparing the two charts. He favored the 1882 chart. His article brought considerable mail. Opinion of astrologers was well divided, but the majority favored the 1882 chart. Keye Lloyd, an astrologer of Chicago, whose reputation is still tops with us, still favors the 1889 chart. Perhaps we can persuade him to discuss his viewpoints in some future issue. Many letters of astrologers expressed the view that the Douglas article closed the case as far as they were concerned.

There has been some bitter opposition to the use of the 1882 birthdate by some of the old timers among American astrologers. One astrology magazine editor wrote that the birthdate furnished by Hitler is good enough for him. In August of 1939, this same astrologer gave out a public statement to the New York Daily Mirror, wherein he predicted there would be no war in Europe. In 1939, a Florida astrologer predicted, "Hitler will die violently by female influence in June 1940."

A better prognosticator was Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University. In the same month of August of 1939, Butler returned from Europe. Met by news men at the boat, Butler stated that Germany is run by a board of five astrologers. He stated that these astrologers had selected September 1st as the beginning of the war. "This may seem like a lot of nonsense to some," he said, "but, it is the kind of nonsense that may give the world a terrific shock."

It did. The war began on September 2nd.

If we review the predictions made by astrologers from the 1889 birthdate, we will find most of them consistently wrong.

One year before Hitler became Chancellor of Germany, one astrologer published a prediction in which he said Hitler's chart showed nothing more than an upstart and that within a year, he would never be heard from again. One astrology magazine headlined Hitler's death for 1939. Another fixed it early in 1940. Another predicted that Denmark and Norway were Hitler's last pieces of aggression. Some of these people are astrologers I respect, but I think they have been misled, and most certainly, their predictions have been more than inaccurate. If the 1889 birthdate is a dud, then the American astrologer's incorrect predictions are immediately explained. The reactionary group of astrologers have stuck their teeth into the 1889 chart, and I think they are stuck with it.

According to old astrological traditions, the time when the Moon conjoints Jupiter is supposed to be an auspicious moment to start a new venture. On September 2nd, 1939, the Sun was conjunct Venus, and early that morning the Moon was conjunct Jupiter. When this conjunction was ex-

WERE YOU BORN UNDER VIRGO?

PEOPLE born between August 23rd and September 22nd have the Sun in the Zodiacal Sign Virgo. In some cases, such a person might have a sufficient number of planets in another Zodiacal Sign to cause him to take on the characteristics of this other sign. This will not be the rule, however.

The ruling planet of Virgo is Mercury, from which comes the word Mercurial, meaning mental. These persons live, for the most part, an objective life. They are interested in things. They are good observers. They see what is in front of them, and see it in detail. At least, they see the outside surface, and they see it exactly as it is. They do not always have that power of penetrating beneath the surface. In business life, they are expert in anything pertaining to reports, statistics, correspondence, details, files, records, etc. They are also critical of mistakes in such matters. As perfect as is possible in such matters themselves, they expect perfection on the part of others. A Virgo girl usually makes the most efficient stenographer. In that sort of work, these people understand and absorb quickly. They shine in the collection of facts, but they are not always so good in the interpretation of those facts.

To some people, Virgo can be annoying. Its all a matter of point of view. They go into great detail, and many people distinctly dislike detail. It bores them. Virgo will criticise you on short notice, about very little things, some times. They like things just so, and usually have them that way. You'll find them dignified and proper. You had better use the right knife when in their presence. If you don't, they'll tell you about it.

A masterful example of a Virgo piece of work is the book, Season of Birth by Ellsworth Huntington of Yale University. Dr. Huntington was born September 16th, 1876. This volume contains the greatest collection of birth statistics ever gathered from all parts of the world. Few people would ever have had the patience to collect this amount of data. But you will find most Virgo people very apt in the collection of data and statistics. Further, you can depend on their accuracy in such matters.

Generally speaking, Virgo is a mental, and not an emotional sign. They are often of too practical a nature to delve down into the joys, ecstasies, pitfalls, and sorrows of uncontrolled emotion. As a rule, they can be considered good executives, but not where promotional activities are required. They don't possess the salesmanship quality of reaching a person thru the emotions and the visionary instead of thru facts. Being more or less non-emotional themselves, they do not appreciate the extent to which emotion rules the world. They are seldom subtle—instead very much on the surface. They think in terms of things instead of in terms of the principles behind those things. The current transit of Neptune thru Virgo changes many of them in this respect, to a considerable extent, but this is a temporary condition.

The Virgo native would make a good purchasing agent. He or she will never pay more for an object than it is worth—if as much—and will probably find a place where it can be purchased for less. They are economical and watch the pennies. When you want money or an estate managed, a Virgo person will usually do a good and efficient job. They like and enjoy this work. They are neat in everything they do. And they are also proud of their neatness. Mercury rules speech, as well as the written word. Sometimes, Virgo talks too much. Often he tells a story in such great detail that all the high spots are missed. Its like trying to find a particular drop of water in an ocean. A salient fact is completely lost in a mass of detail. In observing another individual for the first time, one of these people may fail to penetrate to the individual's true character, but he'll be able to tell you how many buttons there were on his coat, and if his shoe-soles were worn, or if there was a hole in a stocking, it has been duly noticed.

Where the plot is ordinary, Virgo makes a good detective. The famed Ellis Parker, who solved over 300 important crimes thruout the United States, was Virgo. When Neptune, a chaotic, nebulous planet, crossed his Sun, he went haywire on the Lindbergh case. No one ever solved the mysteries of that case, but its the only one Ellis Parker couldn't solve—and he might have done that, had not the persons in

Lesson Three

WHAT IS the zodiac? It is nothing more nor less than a set of angles. The only elements, outside of the planets themselves, that we ever use in astrology are various types of angles. Some of them we call Houses. Others we call Signs of the Zodiac. Still others are called planetary aspects. But keep this in mind. When you hear a lot of fancy terms, there is nothing other than planets and angles to the study of astrology.

It is true that some astrologers theorize with fixed stars and constellations, but we have never taken these fixed stars too seriously. We do not feel there is evidence, at this time, to substantiate the claims of influences from the fixed stars. Even if an influence does appear to come from what seems to be a fixed point in space, it may only be another matter of angles. Thus, we find that astrology is a study of geometry and planets. How do the planets, Sun and Moon relate to each other, and how do they relate to the Earth? That is the fundamental basis of all present, practical astrology.

We do not say there may not be other influences, as influences coming from fixed stars, but we know of no such influences at the present time. Further, if we are content to study planets and angles for the present, we will have all we can possibly handle.

Imagine two rubber balls, a large one and a small one, floating on the surface of a tub of water. The large rubber ball represents the Sun. The small rubber ball represents the Earth. The little ball continually travels around the large ball in an ellipse.

The surface of the water is the plane in which the little ball (the Earth) travels. The little ball is spinning. Let us stick a pencil thru the little rubber ball (the Earth). This pencil represents the axis, around which the ball spins. It is not perpendicular, or straight up and down. It is slightly tilted. Now, the equator is a line drawn around the earth at right angles to this axis. Thus, the equator does not lie in the same plane as the surface of the water in which we imagine the little rubber ball. In figure 1, the horizontal line represents the water, or the plane in which the Earth travels around the Sun. The dotted line represents the plane of the equator.

Let us say the Earth as represented at the left of the diagram is summer. The Earth at the right is winter, for those living in the Northern Hemisphere. If you will note carefully, you will see that the Northern Hemisphere is tipped toward the Sun in summer, while the Southern Hemisphere tips toward the Sun in Winter. (Our winter; not theirs.)

Now, when the Earth reaches the position shown at the left of Figure 1, the Tropic of Cancer points directly at the Sun. It reaches this point about June 21st of any year. Let us draw a line from the Earth to the Sun when the Earth is in this position—and leave it there. The Earth moves on, carrying this line with it. That line represents the first degree, or the beginning, of the zodiacal sign Cancer.

IN

That's what the beginning of Cancer is. It's that straight line—nothing else.

Six months later, about December 22nd, the Earth has reached the position at the right of Figure 1. Now if we extend our line back thru the Earth and continue it in the opposite direction, it will again pass thru the Sun. This new end of the line is the first degree of Capricorn.

To make this clearer, suppose we imagine a part of the Earth, sort of a corona, which travels with the Earth, but does not rotate with the Earth. This line is affixed to this corona, not to the Earth. It does not rotate with the Earth. The Earth rotates within this corona and within this line.

Three months later, when the Earth is half way back to Cancer, we draw another line. This is the beginning of Aries. We continue and draw lines at every 30 degrees of motion, until we have twelve lines—twelve angles. This is the manner in which the zodiac is divided into the twelve equal parts we call the twelve Signs of the Zodiac.

If we look straight down from the top of Figure 2, from the point marked "X", and draw a circle around the Earth, we will see these twelve lines as in Figure 3. There we have the twelve Signs of the Zodiac. The spaces between the lines are called the Signs of the Zodiac. The lines themselves are called the cusps. Thus we see, these zodiacal signs are nothing more nor less than angles. We are studying the geometry of the space around the earth, as viewed from the Earth. We are studying angles, not something fixed in space.

Now, the Sun is in approximately the same point in this circle on any given day of any year. But this does not apply to the Moon and the planets. They are all moving at different speeds. You might

When we look at the above chart, we find four solar bodies rather bunched there in Virgo. Sun, Mercury and Mars are rather close, and then the Moon comes along and crosses the whole flock. It's a New Moon too. That's an omen. There is a fiery period ahead. That New Moon, conjunct Mars means the month is going to be one of action—and plenty of it. It will be overly impulsive—with plenty of personal injuries resulting for those who are too impulsive and plenty of mistakes for those who are careless. It is overly aggressive. The planets Jupiter and Saturn are still conjunct, showing the world to be filled with economic earthquakes. Be thinking about the reconstruction period that follows.

If we look at the Business Chart below, we see a conglomeration of planets around the cusp of the First House. The Moon crosses during the evening, and then a New Moon occurs at 11:15 P.M. Eastern Standard Time. Stay on the receiving end today. Best to withhold beginning new ventures until after the New Moon. Because the New Moon falls within one degree of the first cusp of the Business Chart, there is indicated a very active business month ahead. People will be doing things. Employment problems should be lessened because there will be plenty of work to do.

For those who are unfamiliar with the method employed in this column, these 10th House Charts, appearing every day are charts where we use Mars as the ascendent, in accord with the theory originally outlined in 1938 in the book A NEW EXPERIMENT IN ASTROLOGY. Counting clockwise from Leo, sign of the Sun, center of the solar system, Scorpio is the Tenth sign, making Mars, ruler thereof, the Tenth House planet. Mars being the planet of aggression, these charts are a constant guide to business matters. If you know the positions of your natal planets, place them in this chart also.

find them anywhere. One year from today, the Sun will be in about the same position, but this will apply to no other body. That is why astrological prognostication for your birthday and your year of birth will be entirely different from those persons born on the same day, one year, or any number of years, later. Thus, when you buy a horoscope or forecast based on nothing more than your birthday, it includes consideration of only one out of ten known solar bodies, and is, essentially, unreliable. When you buy a magazine which bases its interpretations on nothing more than your birthdate, the same applies. In order to really consider your horoscope, you must know all about all known factors.

This explanation should answer the question with which we began this lesson. We asked: What IS the Zodiac? The Zodiac is a set of angles, based on the relationship of the Earth to the Sun, and the plane along which the Earth travels around the Sun. Last month, we gave a preliminary outline of the cosmic principles represented by these twelve Signs of the Zodiac. In our first lesson, we gave you the astrological alphabet, and showed you the letters or symbols by which these zodiacal signs are represented.

The Sign of the Zodiac occupied by each planet at the moment of your birth symbolizes a certain characteristic in your nature. The Sign of the Zodiac occupied by any planet today symbolizes a certain characteristic that is temporarily common to all living beings to a certain extent.

Before leaving you, there is one more point about the Zodiac that we wish to make clear. Look at Figure 4. See the small zodiacs around the Earth. We have the Earth in this picture four times, once for each of the seasons. Note that Cancer is always in the same direction. Note that the Zodiac (group of angles) travels with the Earth. Now, turn to Figure 5. A, B, and C represent three points in space, relatively near the Earth and its orbit (path around the Sun). At one season of the year, our arrow pointing to Cancer is in the direction of A. At another season, it is in the direction of B. And at still another season, it is in the direction of C.

We give this illustration to fix in your mind the idea that the Zodiac is a quality, a group of angles dependent on the position of the Earth and NOTHING ELSE. The plane of the zodiac is that plane in which the Earth travels around the Sun. The angles do not twist with the Earth in its path around the Sun, and they do not twist with the Earth in its rotations around its own axis.

In astrology, we do have other sets of angles which DO twist with the Earth in its path around the Sun. They are called solar aspects. And we also have angles which DO twist with the Earth in its rotations around its own axis. They are called the Houses. But, for the moment, we are anxious to place in your mind a vivid picture of just what it is that we call the Signs of the Zodiac.

With Mercury conjunct Mars, people are very outspoken. Five planets in Virgo would accent this same principle again, and Mercury so close to Mars will just set it off. So, weigh your words. Be willing to excuse the other fellow if he is a little outspoken. It just seems to be natural to talk out of turn. While the favorable relationship between Venus and Neptune would be good socially, any social matters are apt to generate into political or economic arguments. There is a great feeling of limitation and people want to voice how they feel about things. It will be all right if all they do is talk about it, but the whole affair could be very quarrelsome if not under control.

This is a very energetic business day, due to the fact that Mercury crosses the first cusp of the Business Chart. People are very aggressive. Their minds are very active. They will be impatient and will want to travel fast, and keep moving around. They demand speed. If you have been waiting for a long time in an effort to get some business matter closed, this is the time to put on the pressure. You will get action one way or the other and you will get it quick. People seem to be particularly interested in records, correspondence, files, reports, communications, etc. Many messages will be flying back and forth. There will be news items that are a bit drastic. This is the kind of a day when much detail work can be cleaned up. There seems to be the ability to concentrate on that sort of thing more than usual. In financial matters, a person is likely to want the last pound of flesh. The tendency is not toward generosity. People are counting the pennies today. We have five solar bodies in Virgo—a total of eight solar bodies in Earth signs of the Zodiac. This means that people are concerned most with the physical things of life. They will buy, but they want to purchase everything at less than half price.

The New Astrology Works

URANUS, we are told, is the planet ruling Astrology, among other things. Saturn, on the other hand, represents old age, the clinging to the old, restrictions, etc. Research since the discovery of Uranus has confirmed our belief that this planet is the symbol of all "ahead of time" ideas and can be depended on to announce the new in every sense of the word.

How, then, do we reconcile its given rulership over a subject as old and as hitherto unprogressive as Astrology has been? The answer is very simply that as things have stood, we cannot. Only in the past few years has anything been done to make it possible for us to see any clear connection between Uranus and Astrology. One might object to these remarks on the grounds that Uranus represents the unusual and that Astrology is an unusual subject, thus indicating a link between the two. But surely, a little thought will convince us that there is nothing unusual in man's attempt to link himself with the universe. On the contrary it seems a most natural thing, when we note that we could scarce live a day without seeing innumerable correspondences between ourselves and nature.

Now, the point that I wish to bring out is that Uranus should be the true ruler of Astrology but his place has been usurped by that old pretender Saturn. You and I can restore Uranus to its proper place and when we do, you will find Astrology progressing with more rapidity than it has in the past centuries. Saturn has kept the astrological kingdom in a state of intellectual bankruptcy and a new regime is necessary.

Let's be frank with our critics and admit that the past history of Astrology is nothing to brag about. It would be just as sensible for Ford to cling tenaciously to his first model T and to continually broadcast the merits of his first endeavors. In all lines we see Uranus ousting Saturn and in every case progress is made. Such can also be true of Astrology, if we try.

Looking backward in the saturnine manner we find Ptolemy writing of Astrology, and while his records are not free from the erroneous and superstitious theories of his time, we do, however owe him a great deal for laying the foundation within our reach. Ptolemy did not originate (Uranus) but was concerned primarily with the recording of past (Saturn) observations. Have you ever noticed the foundation of a home that for some reason had been abandoned before further building could be done? I think you will agree that it looked very desolate and useless. All of which leads me to believe that Ptolemy would "turn over in his sarcophagus" if he could see how little we have improved the subject of Astrology since his day.

Thankfully we note that there are indeed a few who can think for themselves and have made valuable contributions to Astrology. There may be many more but in my own opinion there are comparatively few that are in a position to spread the new truth. These few, though far outnumbered by the antique Astrologers, who still pay homage to Saturn, can and will eventually win out because they are using the weapons of truth. Thus we see that even at the present time the fight is essentially between Uranus and Saturn.

We are hemmed in by critics on every side. Is it any wonder? The saturnine astrologer takes great pleasure in reminding skeptics of some prediction that had its verification at some remote period in the past. This is all right, if the skeptic does not investigate, but if he does, it works as an evil boomerang. Fact is, the past history of Astrology leaves much to be desired and is hardly one to instill any respect in the mind of a critic.

Perhaps the better known prediction is that of Lilly's prediction of the great fire of London. If you will check up you will find that this man missed a thousand times to one hit, surely not an enviable batting average in any league. Dee, Gadbury, Wharton, Sibley, Ashmole, Kepler, Von

Much the same as yesterday, but better, particularly in social matters. There is a tendency for unexpected—and pleasant—social niceties to come to pass. You see, the Moon is disposed by Venus, and Venus is sextile Uranus. Thus, this is a strong Venus day, and Venus rules social matters. She also rules the factor of attraction. There are less inhibitions. People who like you are willing to say so. They are willing to let you know about it. They are willing to tell you what they like about you. And you'll feel the same way about the people you like. Thus, it is a good time to promote things of a social nature. The results are unexpected and pleasant.

Today's chart has changed little from yesterday, except that the Moon will definitely be in the Second House of the Business Chart all day—a good time to get action in business matters, particularly where you deal with friends. People are more willing to be friendly and social about matters when the Moon is in Libra. It would also be a good day to strike the boss for a raise, if you think you are entitled thereto. Venus, ruler of the Second House, is sextile Uranus, ruler of the Sixth House of the Business Chart, and well placed in the Eleventh House in the sign, Cancer, where it makes people both friendly and sympathetic. Note that the conjunction of Saturn and Jupiter is, now, only four and five degrees, respectively, from the Ninth Cusp. Thruout the business world, this will bring critical conditions to the point where decisions must be made. The Sun and Mercury are forming the trine aspect to the Jupiter-Saturn conjunction also. This will continue to keep us heavily interested in foreign affairs, particularly from the ultimate economic point of view. The whole world is going to suffer greatly from this Jupiter-Saturn conjunction. We must give our attention to the reconstruction period that will follow.

Galgebrook and to come down a bit nearer our own time Commander Morrison "Zadkiel" etc., etc., made hits, but more often struck out. Galileo, while quoted as an Astrologer by some, actually would have no part of it.

Superstition and mythology, alchemy and downright fraud have for so long been thrown together in the company of Astrology that it is indeed a wonder that this sick and abused study has survived at all. It is safe to further say that were it not for the fundamental truth underlying the structure in its very essential points, this survival would not have been possible.

Astrology needs a major operation, for it has a bad stone (Saturn) in its side and needs some very modern (Uranus) surgery. Like Lot's wife it has looked backward too often and has become solidified. The proper care and a transfusion of new blood is the only salvation of this badly abused patient.

You don't hear the modern physician bragging about the time a patient in the year 1500 was cured by bleeding him and I am quite sure no one would care to exchange our present comfortable means of transportation for the old stagecoach. If you think these comparisons are a bit far-fetched let me tell you a bit about an old-timer. Jerome Carden was a writer on astrological matters and was also a physician. He was a graduate in medicine from the University of Padua, called the greatest medical school in the 16th and 17th centuries. We use this man as an example for undoubtedly he was a big man of the time and probably a good doctor as regards the medical standards of his day. Nevertheless we do not use Carden's type of medical practice today but we still find some exponents (the word should be opponents) of Astrology using methods of astrological practice dating back to his time.

Is it hard work to find the reason then, why a lot of people today in all walks of life retire to the seclusion of their study to read their Astrology Magazine and then, for fear of ridicule, dispose of the magazine before they can be criticized for their seeming folly?

There has been a movement on foot lately to standardize Astrology. From where we sit such a move is commendable. But until some of the so-called standards are changed it will amount to nothing. In this day and age we will not stand for the dictations of any inquisition unless we can see the truth in those standards. Yes, Astrology must be standardized but it must be done in the right way, and there is only one right way.

Perhaps the most interesting phase of Astrology, especially to the newcomer, is the art of predicting future events. It is safe to say that very few people in the world are not somewhat interested in piercing the veil of time. The assumption is, then, that the best possible means of converting a person to a belief in Astrology is to predict the nature of some event that will transpire in his future life. The delineation of a chart and reference to his character is interesting, but while the skeptic will admit the accuracy of the reading he may be inclined to give the credit to Psychology or to your intuition. Give your skeptic a picture of the future and he is won.

Experience shows that we can fill the bill in this respect if we do it the right way. Experience also shows that directions are not the right way.

Use any method of progression, a day for a year seems the most popular among saturnine astrologers, and if you are perfectly honest with yourself, you will speedily discard them. Understand I don't say that you won't find aspects, you will if you use any measure of direction and a good bit of imagination. So, if you have time on your hands, get a chart that shows a sensational event that you know actually did occur and use all the measures that are in vogue and invent a few yourself, for example, you could, if you want, use a day for a year, a week for a year, two degrees for a year or in fact any fancy combination that you would like. You will perhaps find an aspect from each one of these systems—that fits the event—after the event has happened.

EDITOR'S NOTE: We welcome expressions on both sides of the progression question.

I wouldn't advise trying to predict the future unless you don't mind disappointment, for as one of the truly modern

This is more of a day of impulsive action, due to the Moon's entry into the sign Scorpio. Scorpio being the natural Tenth House sign of the zodiac, many business matters are stimulated into action at the time of the month when the Moon reaches this sign. It is a time when you can get other people to act, if they can be induced to act at all. On the other hand, it is a naturally impulsive period, and therefore it is wise to make certain your own action is along a wise course. Don't permit others to force you into action in matters you have not had opportunity to carefully think over. Don't be rushed into things. The trine of Mercury and Saturn, which is complete today, is favorable for preparing factual reports, and for dealing with banks and trust companies, particularly if involving a business of your own. These two planets rule the First and Fifth Houses of the Business Chart. The evening hours will be favorable for general business discussions. People will be philosophical due to the forming trine between Mercury and Jupiter. These planets rule the First and Fourth Cusps of the Business Chart—the Fourth having to do with fixed wealth and property matters.

This is more of a day of action, and since everyone does not want to act in the same way when everyone wants to act, there is always the possibility of quarrels and disagreements. So keep your foot on the brake. Be a little patient and tolerant if others are too impulsive—and don't be too impulsive yourself. The Moon is in Scorpio, and at such a time most people want their own way. For many reasons, people are deeply interested in economic conditions. They are taking things mighty serious these days. Mercury being trine to the conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn indicates there will be a good deal of writing and communicating about matters of a very serious nature.

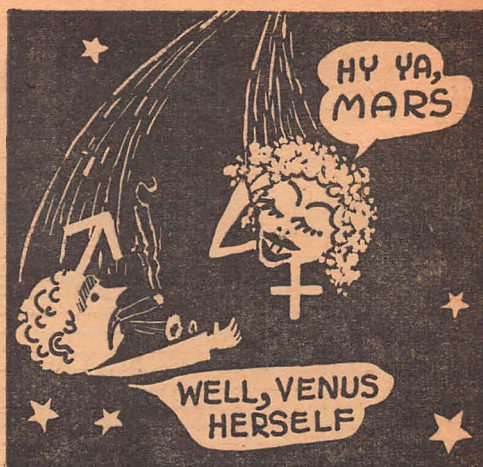

LOVE PLANETS

IS THERE such a thing as an ideal husband or wife? No, of course there isn't. There might be an ideal person for you, but that person wouldn't be ideal for someone else. Sort of fortunate things are that way. If there was one woman in the world who would be an ideal for any man, imagine the time we would have protecting her.

We all need something, and we seek that something in a mate. We do not all need the same thing. One person hates to be alone. Another person loves it. Marriage is more than just love. There is companionship, and there is the economic factor. No matter how much two people might love each other, it's still Hell to starve to death.

Astrology teaches us the twelve basic principles of life. Astrology taught those twelve principles 5,000 years ago. Yet, so many people ignore them today. Some people have too much of one element. Others have too much of another element. When we marry or change our associates, we change everything, because we add new elements.

I am convinced that a man's economic success is 90% dependent upon the girl he marries, and with whom he associates. Yet, for years the churches have taught us that if we are married to one person, no matter how much that person may wreck us, we must go on and be wrecked. I think this is one of the biggest pieces of humbug ever imposed on God's people. I don't believe God ever meant it to be that way. If people are not suited to each other, they certainly shouldn't live together. I believe the church itself is the greatest sinner against God. I'm a religious person—a very religious person. I believe in the existence of God more than I believe in anything else, but I don't believe for one tiny moment that God ever appointed our present day churches as his representatives. I believe in the idea of churches too, but only as places where all assemble in an effort to learn something about God—the ministers as well as everyone else, because I don't believe they know any more about God than you or I do.

It is my feeling that many churches are political institutions. You sin and you pay the church to forgive you. Check up and see how much of that money goes to God. God wouldn't accept any part of it anyway. I don't believe that God can be bribed—and neither do you.

Some churches oppose gambling as a sin. Yet, these same churches advise you to gamble where marriage is concerned. They advise you to accept a person for "better or for worse," and to make no changes if you find you have made a horrible mistake. Just out and out gambling—nothing else. They talk about purity. Yet, if a lovely young girl discovers that she has made a mistake, and has married a man she does not love, she is advised to live with that man, accept his economic hospitality, and satisfy his sexual demands, to say nothing of bearing children. Every bit as evil as prostitution.

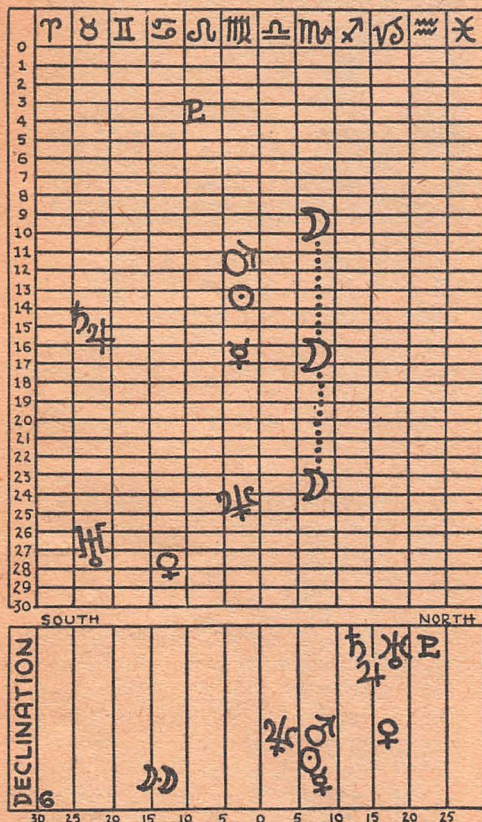

Do you realize what that means? Here are two people whose horoscopes are a terrific, cosmic clash. The discordance between the two charts will force them to act and do things only under the most discordant planetary influences to come.

The Sun is now going to a trine of the conjunction of Jupiter and Uranus. Trines are usually considered favorable, but nothing about this conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn is easy to take. It's all right for the person who has been living in strict accord with nature and her laws—but so few of us do. Jupiter-Saturn conjunctions are always a pay up time. To some the toll is great. Others are prepared in advance. There is usually considerable grief, but after every economic earthquake, there is always a reconstruction period, and it is on this reconstruction that we should all be placing our attention. Things have to be rebuilt. Let's rebuild them.

People will look at things with a sense of realism today, due to the trine of Sun-Saturn which will be complete at 6:22 A.M. Eastern Standard Time tomorrow. They will face the facts, the worst side of them, and they won't feel too badly about the matter. Their reaction will be more philosophical and optimistic than the facts might seem to warrant. We do not mean that they will color the facts, because they won't. But they will accept things as they are and make the best of them. They will accept failure and will be willing to go on from there, giving their attention to the future and forgetting the mistakes of the past—at least not grieving about them. Along the same lines, this is a good time for you to carefully review the past to determine just what changes you are going to make in your course from here on. Where things have not been satisfactory to you, view them relatively. That makes a big difference. This has been a hard year for millions of people. There have been many sorrows. There has been much grief. But remember, we always go on just the same. Time never stops. There is always a tomorrow. Living in the past does not help matters. Our attention should be on the future, because when we live constantly in the future, we are creating that future.

HOROSCOPE OF GREAT BRITAIN

MR. VIVIAN E. ROBSON, B. Sc., a well-known English Astrologer and author of several Astrological books, has published a horoscope of Great Britain, which can be found in the June, 1933, issue of the British Journal of Astrology.

In a short essay on the destiny of Great Britain, which accompanies the map, he makes the following remarks pertaining to this period: "We find that in 1940 and 1941, Progressed Uranus comes to the opposition of the Moon, and at the same time Neptune transits the Moon and Uranus passes over the Sun. These and other indications point to great and drastic changes in the government of the country, which are consolidated in three or four years by a directional New Moon which will start an entirely new cycle in the destiny of Great Britain."

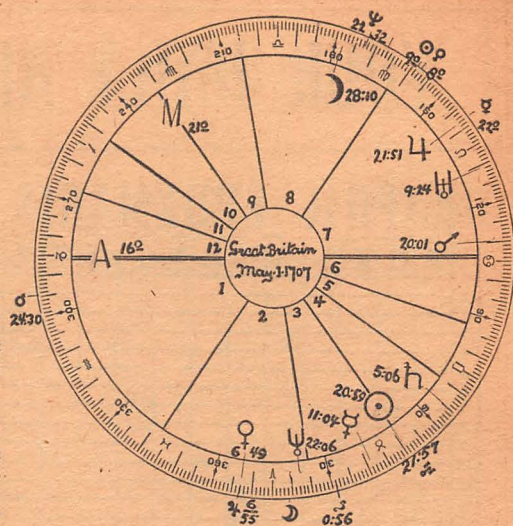

In the face of present events, we thought this prognostication might be of interest to many students.

We ourselves, however, are using the chart of Great Britain in connection with the start of the present War, to introduce to the readers of this magazine some of the principles of the Uranian System of Astrology.

Speaking of Astrology, there is and can be only one Astrology proper, and that is the fundamental doctrine of the intercolation between the zodiacal signs and the sub-lunar events.

But there can be and there are (as in any other science) different theories, trying to explain exactly in what way this co-ordination between the "Stars" and the events on Earth is accomplished, or, to be more precise, how the several stars of the Solar universe must combine in order to produce certain specified influences which are apt to produce or provoke corresponding events.

The theory of the Orthodox System of Astrology is based on the Aspects. If two planets are related to each other by certain angles, they are friends and productive of a beneficial influence and when they look upon each other from some other angles they are "enemies" and produce a harmful influence.

Every student of course knows this, but here we wish to emphasize the underlying idea of this theory, which is the changing of the nature of the planets according to their relative position to each other. In other words, the "Aspects" have a qualitative effect upon the planets.

The Uranian System of Astrology on the other hand does not subscribe to this idea at all, but holds that only the hard angle called by the orthodox Astrologers "evil aspects", make effective connections between the planets and that the good-bad, or mixed influence of such a combination is entirely the result of the natures of the planets which enter into such a relationship.

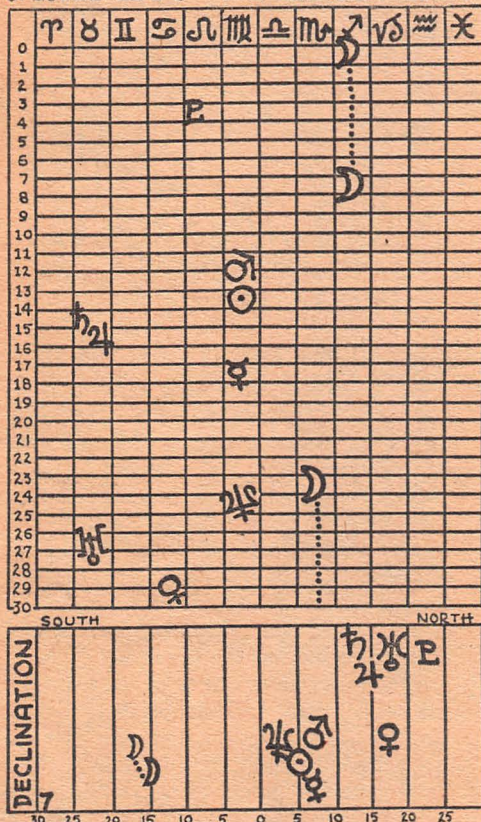

But besides this, the planets also make effective connections in other ways—according to the Uranian theory—and that is by entering into symmetrical formations called "Planetary Pictures". These may be formed by three or more horoscopolical factors and will be explained later.

Returning to the description of the event we wish to use for our illustration,

More of a philosophical day than yesterday. The Moon is in Sagittarius in the afternoon for the Eastern part of the country, and practically all day in the West. There is especial interest in affairs at a distance, greater interest in educational matters, philosophical outlooks, and study. For the most part, people's minds are a little bit more lofty. They look afar, and perhaps they wonder. After all, history during the last year has given us all something to wonder about. The Moon is leaving Cancer to enter Leo, after which there will be a new spirit to social matters, and people will be more anxious to mix with their friends.

We like this day a lot better than others we have seen here. There are strong Jupiter factors, and strong Jupiter factors make people optimistic, philosophical, and able to shoot straight to their mark. The Sun is trine Jupiter, and the Moon enters Jupiter's sign, Sagittarius. This accents matters pertaining to advertising, publishing, science, travel, foreign affairs, and educational programs. The Moon being in the Third House of the Business Chart also makes people generally more flexible and more able to adjust themselves to whatever conditions arise. They are able to change their plans quickly. Venus is leaving the sign Cancer and will enter Leo. This will do away with a certain sympathetic background we have had where dealing with friends in business matters. People will be more interested in selecting friends and association among people who are NOT in need. They will be looking for people who can help them, instead of getting a certain emotional satisfaction out of helping the other fellow. Keep your eye on that Jupiter-Saturn conjunction nearing the Ninth Cusp of the Business Chart. Saturn is only three degrees away today. We will be having considerable to say about this within the next few days.

i. e. the start of the present war between England and France on one side and Germany on the other, most readers are no doubt aware of the fact that most "prominent" Astrologers here and in England did not "see" the War coming. In fact, they frankly stated just before it occurred, that there was not much likelihood of an outbreak of hostilities at that particular period.

On the other hand, Uranian Astrologers calculated it down to the exact date, and in the following we shall try to explain just how it was done.

We now give you the map of Great Britain as it was published in the above-mentioned Journal, but we have added the transiting planets of September 2nd, 1939. These are outside of the circle and the radix positions are inside of the ecliptic circle.

Please keep in mind that the following is not a set-up according to the Uranian System, but according to the Orthodox System. Only one or two things will be borrowed from the Uranian System at the beginning, so as to acquaint you with the Uranian System step by step.

Of transits which affect the Horoscope of Great Britain there are:

Jupiter tr. conjoins Venus radical,

Mercury tr. conjoins Jupiter radical semisquare to Venus, Uranus tr. square Jupiter and semisquare to Venus.

Quite a number of accurate transits but none to indicate the actual events.

Mars, the god of war, appears to have been left out in the cold, as he does not make any connections by aspect.

But now we shall borrow two elements of the Uranian System of Astrology and see what happens: If we examine the chart closely we see that the Moon and the Meridian straddling a point which is square, and the Sun and Moon are strad-

Avoid haste and carelessness in the morning if you live near the east coast. Many people will be considering travel. The philosophical slant is still accented. Venus is now traveling toward a conjunction with Pluto, accentuating social affairs among younger people. The evening hours are doubtful for literary matters. If you look at the chart above, you will see that Mercury is moving toward a conjunction with Neptune. This is an indication of increasing inspiration, but it is also an indication that a great deal of deception lies ahead. People's minds are going to be tricky during the next several days. They will be subtle. They will also be smooth and somewhat poetical.

BUSINESS GUIDE

Our Sagittarius Moon is in the Fourth House of the Business Chart today, where it accents matters pertaining to property of any kind, fixed wealth or fixed assets. The Moon ruling the Eleventh House of the Business Chart (friends), problems pertaining to any of these things should be taken up with your friends. They will be willing to lend assistance where needed. Where loans, mortgages, etc., are required, assistance can be gained by working thru friends. You will note that Venus (friends), ruler of the Second House (money and needs) is forming a conjunction with Pluto (that urge to take a chance), ruler of the Eighth House (debts and borrowed money), and both of these planets are in the Eleventh House (friends again). The Saturn-Jupiter conjunction is now but two and three degrees from the Ninth Cusp, so this becomes the predominant influence of the Business Chart for a period of days, and we'll have to devote our chief attention to it. The period ahead is favorable for dealing with banks, trust companies, insurance companies, printers, old and established institutions. Work with the people whose power is established. It will be possible to maintain aid thru such people and institutions if your position warrants it.

They are almost certain to bring forth children under discordant planetary influences. And every time a child enters the world under such lack of cosmic harmony, the result is to bring greater misery to the world. Isn't it something to think about?

Of course, I do not accuse any church of conscious wrong-doing. It is merely the result of ignorance. Ministers read and preach from the Bible. They have no idea what the Bible really says or means. The Bible is largely a symbolic document, much of it being written in astrological symbolism. The ministers are ignorant of this astrological symbolism, so how can they understand the Bible. Much less, can they teach its lessons and truths to others?

I believe in divorce wherever it is necessary. If two people are in love, they don't need a church wedding to hold them together anyway. And if they are not in love, they shouldn't be living together. I think that is a real sin against God, and I think the churches have innocently taught people to sin against God. It has been a case of the blind leading the blind. Don't misunderstand me. I am not advising people to live together outside of wedlock. It isn't practical for a woman. So long as she is born into this world, it is just as well to do as the Romans do, so to speak. Otherwise, she ruins her reputation. We do not live in a perfect world. It is sometimes dangerous and foolish to walk too far from the beaten paths—but you can think what you wish. You can adjust your environment to pass local and current censorship, but you don't need to so adjust your mind—nor your heart. Maintain your mental freedom at all costs.

But, let us return to our discussion of ideal marriages. We meet a person. We think we like that person. But, will we continue to like him or her? What are the invisible forces of this person's nature and the invisible forces of our nature going to do to each other? What are they going to produce? In what way is this other person going to limit our mental and emotional freedom and expression? These are all things to consider.

I was recently told of a perfectly normal girl who married. Her new husband had a very strange effect upon her. She didn't understand it. He didn't understand it, and none of their friends or relatives could understand it. One day, the girl lost all control and attempted to murder her best friend. She had to be placed in an insane asylum. It took this girl but a short interval to discover she had made a mistake, but she followed convention. She did what her church would have advised. She continued to live with her husband until the strain unbalanced her. I might add that on the day when she attempted to murder her friend with a knife, transiting Mars in Pisces was on her Pisces Saturn and in exact opposition to transiting Neptune. The fact that transiting Neptune was in opposition to her Pisces Saturn was sufficient warning that she should not have married at the time she did. How often is insanity caused by the person with whom you must live? I have also seen a man a complete business failure while married to one woman, and a success after married to the right person.

As you learn astrology, you can compare the birthcharts of individuals, and you can see for yourself just where there is harmony and where discord. This does not only apply to marriage. It can apply in your social life generally, and in your business life. You can alter and adjust your whole life by changing your associates wherever necessary. Such changes bring about adjustments on the mental, emotional, spiritual and physical planes of your existence. Being successful in life is largely a matter of choosing the right associates. And astrology teaches you to choose the right associates. It does more. It furnishes you with the most interesting type of hobby. There is nothing that is more fun than learning to understand people from an astrological point of view.

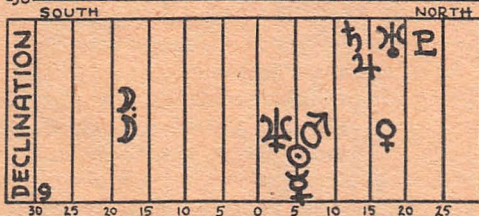

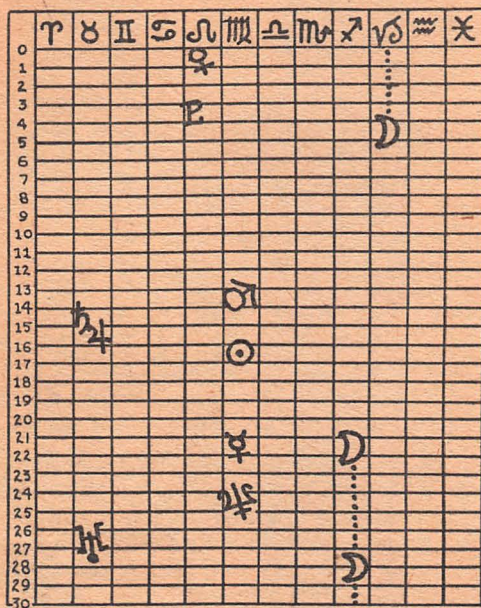

As we continue with this series of articles, we are going to discuss specific cases and illustrate just how these laws of nature that we find in astrology really work. What is your love problem? Write it to me, and perhaps I will have an opportunity of discussing it in this department at some time in the future.

You can find the ideal husband, wife or companion. What's more, you can be

We cannot help but think, as we look at the chart above, what an unusual child it will be that is born today. If you have a friend who has a child born today, its horoscope should be very carefully studied and interpreted. Such a child will have a most unusual life, with many problems and great ability. If you are thinking of starting a new venture or a new business, these same remarks would apply. Whatever begins today will have an unusual existence. Sun is still within orb of a conjunction with Mars, Jupiter conjunct Saturn, Mercury conjunct Neptune, and Venus conjunct Pluto. Four important planetary conjunctions. Very unusual.

Continuing what we were saying yesterday about the Jupiter-Saturn conjunction crossing the Ninth Cusp of the Business Chart below, old matters and problems will come to the front for solution, but they can be adjusted and solved at this time. If there are business financial problems where you owe money, you will find that by acting at this time, people will be willing to readjust such matters to a certain or reasonable extent. They will be willing to accept part payments if assured your intentions are good. Where additional money is needed in business matters, this is a good period for borrowing, providing of course that you do so on a strictly business basis. At 3:45 P.M. Eastern Standard Time, the Moon will enter Capricorn, the sign of Saturn. This will further accent the position of Saturn at the Ninth Cusp. It will bring old matters to the front. Things which have been forgotten will pop forth. It is as if the past was projected into the present moment. It further accents matters involving debts, borrowed money, printing, and the things ruled by Saturn. Saturn rules the Fifth House of the Business Chart at the present time, and therefore, these principles apply more to a person who is operating his own business, whether it be insurance or a delicatessen store.

astrologers put it, "progressions are non-existent and have no foundation in nature."

One is inclined to wonder, when he considers the obviousness of the moving planets in the sky, why anyone clings to an obsolete theory like the progressed system and belittles those very planets we can actually observe in the sky, some with the naked eye.

In making a prediction we must, of course, take into consideration the individual's environment and recognize the part the person's free-will will play in the condition ahead, and good judgment must be used to determine the particular manner in which the person has reacted to similar planetary stimulus in the past. Common sense tells us that if the planets affect us at the time of birth, they also will do so continuously from that time forward, as they do the seasons and all other phases of natural phenomena.

Transits are definitely the means and the only means of approaching the predictive art with any degree of scientific accuracy. The correct application of these transits leave nothing to be desired, unless it can be the absence of two planets not as yet discovered. Progress is being made by a few. It is drawing a finer line on the applications of transits and when we eventually have the twelve planets with which to work, we will have an Astrology that can be perfected.

I can recall, in my early student days, the excitement I experienced when, in the chart of a friend, I saw what most of the textbooks stated were aspects of marriage. In this particular case it was a progressed sun to the sextile of natal Venus in the seventh house and ruler of the seventh. The progressed moon was also trine to natal Mars in the fifth house at about the same period. With glee, born of inexperience, I predicted marriage for this girl. She did marry, but three years after those so-called propitious aspects, and when transiting Uranus came to the conjunction of her natal sun.

If I were asked the reason why an astrologer will still cling to the progressed system in the face of inability to get any accurate results from it, I would be at a loss to explain unless the saturnine astrologer had been weaned on a textbook advocating such methods and had never had sufficient Uranus in his make-up to break away from it.

I recall an interchange with an astrologer which occurred when I first began to doubt progressions. I submit the same chart to you. It will serve as good a purpose as any. The data:—Female born December 21, 1911 at 4:09 A. M. 43N-71W. I wrote to this astrologer and asked him where the progressions were that definitely indicated the time of a marital tragedy that this girl experienced. We note in the birth chart: Venus near the ascendant and ruler of the seventh house in exact opposition to Saturn in Taurus among other things. This was sufficient to foresee that the marriage of this girl was very apt to be disappointing. If we were to determine just what time in her life this aspect would be most likely to manifest itself we obviously would look to the so-called major malefics Saturn or Uranus to set off this adverse natal aspect. She married on August 19, 1933 at 2:46 P. M., T. L. T. 42-N-71W. We find transiting Saturn in 12 Aquarius, squaring the natal Venus-Saturn hookup. The actual culmination of her trouble did not take place until 1937 when transiting Uranus was transiting the natal place of Saturn, and he certainly entered her affairs with all the dynamite in his power. My astrologer correspondent, I remember, did not think this sufficient indication and asked me why, if it was so, she did not experience the same event when transiting Uranus had squared this combination from Aquarius in 1915.

This seemed a little silly to me, as they don't allow girls to marry at the age of four, in this country. It further showed that he was ignoring two very important points in any predictive work, namely the environment and the age of a person under consideration. If these two factors are ignored, we are likely to predict marriage for a nun, the presidency for the local street cleaner, or a dancing career for a paralysis victim.

But, to get back to our chart, we find that through the continued abuse of her husband she became afflicted with that most fatal malady, dementia praecox. She refused to eat and would sit and brood.

It's a great literary day. If you plan writing a novel, this would be the ideal time to begin. The conjunction of Mercury and Neptune lends inspiration plus. The conjunction of Venus and Pluto adds romance. Otherwise, the Moon in Capricorn brings old matters to the front. Things you thought were dead and buried may be heard from again. The person who has been trying to duck something may find that he runs smack into it today. With the Moon in Capricorn, people very often get exactly what they have earned. For some, that is all they ask, while for others it is anything but optimistic news. There is extra energy during the evening hours.

All we stated yesterday applies again today. The Moon is still in Capricorn, and Saturn is now but a degree away from the Ninth Cusp of the Business Chart below. People in the publishing business (9th House) will find themselves very much involved with printing (Saturn) arrangements along here. Printers will be looking for business and they will be willing to extend more credit than they would at some other time. Further, such contracts entered into at this time are likely to have ultimately successful conclusions. Not as optimistic, perhaps, as you might suppose, but nevertheless, the grade will be made. If you are considering the lending of money at this time, there may be delays in payments, but people who want to borrow here are reliable in that they will do their best to pay up. They may be a little slow, but there is that factor of reliability, and they will pay eventually. This is helped again by the fact that Venus, ruler of the Second House (money and personal needs) is conjunct Pluto (personal ambition and energy) ruler of the Eighth House (loans). Mercury, ruler of the First House in the Business Chart is conjunct Neptune, ruler of the Seventh. This makes people very inspirational. Favorable for literary matters, particularly fiction.

In the hope that she might find more scientific care in an institution, she was taken there by her family on August 5, 1938 and committed for observation for a period of 35 days. Visits of the family showed that she was losing weight with rapidity. When her mother was about to take her home, her husband showed his first interest in over a year, and used his legal right to have her committed permanently. She later caught dysentery at the institution and was released to the mother's care when she seemed to be in a hopeless condition. She lived but a day after getting home and died on Oct. 12, 1938 at 12:42 P. M. E. S. T.

Tobey's New Experiment demonstrates its worth in a startling manner in this case as it does in every case which has come under my observation.

Setting up the planet on ascendant chart for the time of her marriage which places Uranus in 27 Aries on this point we find transiting Sun on the cusp of the fifth house, her natal Uranus on the cusp of the tenth and her natal Sun on the ninth. Her husband's Sun is at the tenth cusp and his natal Saturn is near conjunction with the ascendant among other things. Using the planets of relatives both near and far yields important planets on cusps.

If you think this is merely coincidence, set up a P.O.A. chart for her commitment to the institution, using Mercury as ruler of the 12th house as per the New Experiment. Mercury in 9 Virgo as our Ascendant shows transiting Mars at the cusp of 12th (limitations, confinement etc.). Note her natal Mercury on cusp and her husband's natal Mars and Jupiter close to cusps. See also the mother's natal Neptune, the father's natal Moon, all in angles.

This system seems to show the link between everyone concerned in an important event and the principal.

An Eighth house chart with Saturn (logical ruler of death) on the ascendant for the day of her death shows her natal Venus at the cusp of the 8th, her Saturn at second cusp, her husband's Sun at the tenth cusp, her mother's Mars at the cusp of the Fifth, her brother's Mercury at the Ascendant, her sister's Sun on the ascendant with her Uranus at the tenth cusp. Out of eighteen people in some way related to this girl we find verification of this relationship by the planet on cusp system. Some of the data is herewith given for your studies.

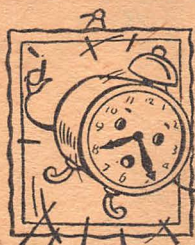

Mother's planetary positions Sun 23 Cancer, Moon 17 Aquarius, Mercury 6 Leo, Venus 18 Gemini, Mars 14 Leo, Jupiter 3 Aquarius, Saturn in 2 Aries, Neptune 9 Taurus, Uranus 27 Leo, Pluto 27 Taurus.

Father's planetary positions:—Sun 4 Virgo, Venus 23 Cancer, Mercury 0 Virgo, Moon 9 Libra, Mars 14 Gemini, Jupiter 25 Taurus, Saturn 12 Taurus, Neptune 16 Taurus, Uranus 13 Virgo, Pluto 29 Taurus.

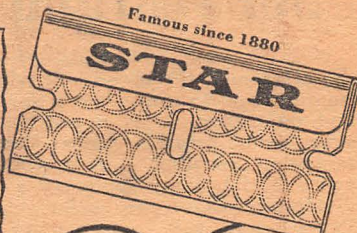

Data of the two sisters of the girl: (1) April 6, 1908 at 5:41 P.M., T.L.T. 43-N-71W. (2) April 21, 1907 at 11:20 A.M., T.L.T. 43-N-71W.

Best day we have had along here. During the afternoon, the Moon will trine Mercury, Neptune and Uranus. It is a day to go forth and do things. It is a practical day, and since Venus actually crosses Pluto by early tomorrow morning, it is a stimulating and active social day. There is a certain individuality about the social side, however. People seem more interested in social matters involving very small groups than large groups. The average person will prefer one person's company to that of several people. Still very inspirational for anything pertaining to literary matters. Minds seem to pick unusual ideas right out of the air. The news is exciting.

Jupiter and Saturn at the Ninth Cusp of the Business Chart still more important than anything else. Consider it this way. The rulers of the Fourth and Fifth Houses of the Business Chart are conjunct at the Ninth Cusp, in a Fourth House Sign (Taurus, the 4th, clockwise from Leo, sign of the Sun, center of the solar system). For years, we have used the term economic earthquake in association with the Jupiter-Saturn conjunctions. As far back as last March, the editor, in another publication, predicted that this conjunction would bring about an economic earthquake to the world, accompanied by the survival of the fittest philosophy. This copy is being written in the month of May, 1940, but we have already seen this prediction fulfilled. In times of peace and prosperity, people become soft and flabby. They stop thinking. These upheavals awaken them. We must see a great reconstruction period ahead. People will think different. Their philosophy will be altered. Right here, foreign affairs will have an important effect on local business conditions. See how you can fit into the new reconstruction period. Study the changes that are taking place. Now is a good time to take important action.

ASTROLOGY FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

PERHAPS you are one of the very busy people who feel that running a home, concocting delectable meals, and caring for a husband and children is a full time job, leaving no surplus time for such subjects as astrology.

And, right you are, friend housewife. It is a full time job twenty-four hours of the day with very little leisure time for extras. But, what you probably do not realize is, that a knowledge of astrology can be of inestimable value to you in running your home, and working out the problems that are constantly arising in connection with your family and daily duties. Furthermore, astrology can actually aid you in preparing the sort of balanced and nutritious meals, which are best adapted for the requirements of your particular husband and children.

Added to all of this, astrology will add a zest and joy to your job, which you have never before experienced. Instead of the daily monotonous routine of the day, your job will become a pleasant game, in which you are opening up new avenues of understanding and knowledge for yourself.

It can be lots of fun keeping house with astrology. You will also be quite surprised how it will change your outlook on life generally, broadening your perspective, and giving you an opportunity to understand WHY people act and react as they do to different situations.

With a simple knowledge of the planets, the signs and their fundamental principles, and then the major aspects and their meanings, you are already equipped to find the trend of influence or vibration for each individual day. And, you may easily learn all of this from NEW ASTROLOGY. Then with the use of Your Daily Almanac, you are prepared to guide yourself through the pleasures and vicissitudes of the day.

With this knowledge you won't make the mistake of shopping, or cutting out a new dress on a day which is unsuitable for such purposes. For instance, you will not decide to shop or cut out a dress on a SATURNINE day, which would be very apt to delay your shopping or sewing. And, in the final analysis, cause you to be disappointed and dissatisfied with your purchases, or the new dress which you had started under this Saturnine influence.

No indeed—you will choose a day, when VENUS and the MOON will smile upon your effort, and the dress you buy or make will be just what you desire in the best beauty of style and color.

Of course, this is just a very small beginning in the vast subject of astrology. There is much more to learn, but that can follow after you have made the beginning. The important thing is—to make a beginning. This can be done without any leisure time, for there are many tiresome duties, such as dish-washing, cleaning, dusting, ironing, etc., which do not require any considerable mental effort, and while your hands are busy with these duties, you may be learning some of the simple ABC's of astrology.

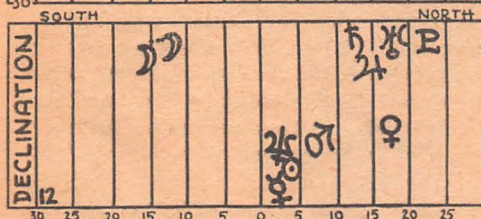

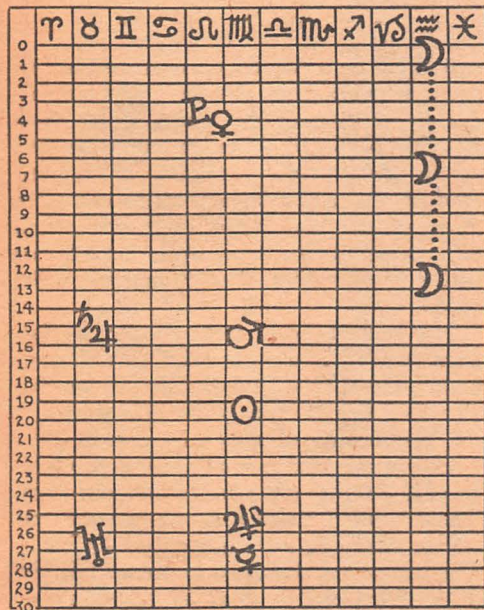

All of you have experienced one of those days, when everything seems to go wrong from the very moment when you jump out of bed in the morning.

To begin with, you are completely stirred with a dominant feeling of irritation and impatience with everything and everybody. Nothing seems to be right. You rush madly about the kitchen striving to prepare breakfast, carelessly dropping first one thing, and then another. Perhaps you even manage to cut a finger or two in the scramble. The children loiter, your husband has to be called many times, and Progressive. Changeable. Erratic. The Moon is in Aquarius, where it refuses to let matters remain as they are. People are more ingenious. The reactionary person is likely to be kicked aside. New ideas must be allowed to go forward. They are germinating. Nature is on their side, and they will grow. Some of them will be very good ones. Otherwise, this is an aggressive day, due to the fact that Mars has been crossing the trine of Jupiter and Saturn. People will go after and take what they want. Unusual and unexpected news still seems to be coming to the surface. Still strongly stimulated socially, due to the conjunction of Venus and Pluto which was exact this morning.

Although Saturn has actually crossed the Ninth Cusp of the Business Chart, with Jupiter right at the cusp, we still must consider this condition as the predominating influence of the chart. The events of the past five months are bound to result in many people turning back to religion in one form or another. The question as to what is right and what is wrong will be strong in the consciousness of a vast number of people. They want an answer. Former answers have not proved satisfactory. Because of the manner in which some churches have handled the situation, there are many who have come to look upon churches as commercial rackets. Thus, people will be ripe to follow new religious leaders. They want a better conception of what is moral. Because large numbers have been sceptics and agnostics does not mean that their hearts do not ache for some substantial religion to which they can link themselves. This new psychological wave is coming, and it is going to affect the business and economic world as well as all else. People will be more interested in doing business with those whose ideals are right, instead of catering to the person with the most money and political drag.

when finally he does appear, he is sleepily morose and cross, because of your constant nagging. One word leads to another, and before you know it, a full sized argument is in full operation.

Perhaps Billie or Mae upsets the milk, and without a second thought you seize and spank the child, when you know you do not believe in punishing children in such a manner.

Then, if you are the sensitive type, and most all women are sensitive by the time this period of the day is reached, you succumb to tears. But, on the other hand, if you are made of stronger calibre, you may manage to keep going until the children are off to school and your husband on his way to business, before you slump down, thoroughly exhausted and debilitated.

However, there is still three-quarters of the day ahead of you with all of its responsibilities and multitudinous tasks.

By the time the hectic day is ended, you are probably physically ill with a headache, stomach-ache, or some other exhausting ailment—all of which might have been prevented with a little knowledge of astrology.

Have you ever noticed how long it takes you to get over the effects of a day of this kind? It's easy to realize why, when you consider that these unruly emotional disturbances, which are allowed to run riot within you, change your own chemical composition, and poison your whole system. It takes days to liberate these poisons, but it took only a few minutes to bring the condition into effect.

Well, right here is where your new assistant, Astrology, can step in and help you.

The night before, Astrology knew that the Moon, which was shining so radiantly upon the earth, was going to form an opposition to another planet called Mars. And Astrology knew this opposition of the Moon and Mars would generate such a tremendous amount of dynamic energy and power, it would be difficult for the average person to handle it, without flying off the handle, so to speak. Again, Astrology knew that this influence would affect everyone on earth to a greater or lesser degree, depending upon their own individual charts. Armed with this fore-knowledge, you would definitely change your trend of thinking, instead of allowing this energy to cause irritation, strife and anger within. Change the negative thinking to positive thinking, and refuse to be rushed, excited or irritated. You will establish an equilibrium of peace and harmony, within yourself, which no outside influence could disrupt.

Was it such a terrible tragedy, when the child upset his glass of milk?

Suppose you were to lose this little child today. How would you feel, if you know that it would never be necessary to prepare a breakfast for him again?

Certainly he did not purposely upset his milk, and the punishment will not put the milk back in his glass, or dry the tablecloth.

But, and this is the important thing, the spanking will leave an indelible mark on a sensitive little person's heart, and a big void of wonderment, as to just WHY grown-ups lavish brutal strength on small children for so slight an offense.

Astrology can teach people how to control themselves, and WHEN they have learned how to control themselves, they are then fitted to control others, and not before.

Now, as never before, in these days of stress and strife, there is an urgent necessity, that we as individuals maintain a balanced equilibrium. As Kipling said, "IF—you can keep your head, when those about you are losing theirs and blaming it on you, etc.—then yours is the world and all that's in it."

Much that takes place outside the home as objective action was first brought into birth, unconsciously, through home influences and relationships.

This is why it is vital for the housewife to do her part toward creating a harmonious atmosphere in the home.

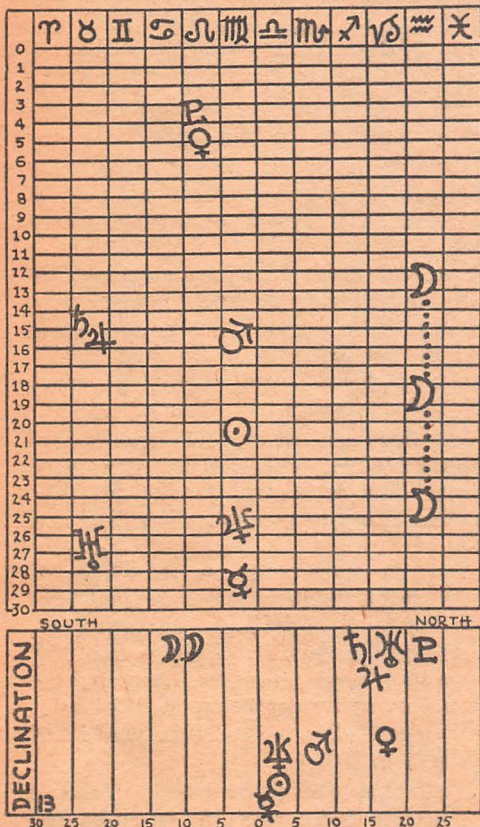

A knowledge of astrology is a great aid toward this achievement. And I venture to say that in this game of life, you will derive considerable satisfaction in being able to get thru a high-powered Martian day—GRACIOUSLY.

You may question just what negative and positive thinking amounts to. Negative thinking is usually caused through the unconscious influence of a strongly aspected Moon, Venus, Mars, Saturn, Uranus, Moon still in Aquarius. So, what we stated in that connection yesterday still continues to apply. Mercury is getting ready to leave Virgo, and when it does, there will be less tendency to worry about things. The effect of Mars, Sun and Neptune in Virgo will be lessened, because Mercury is their depositor, and he will take on the characteristics of Venus, Venus being the ruler of Libra where Mercury is about to abode for a while. This will also mark improved and more harmonious social conditions ahead. Too bad we still have to put up with that conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which is an indication that large numbers of people suffer from economic conditions and changes.

BUSINESS GUIDE

This is a favorable day for anything relating to the advertising business, publishing, travel, relations with persons at a distance, science, religion, educational matters, or any business activity having a lofty motive as its background. With the Moon in Aquarius, it is a day of the unexpected. New elements are injected. People do surprising things. It is a progressive day, a good day to seek employment—if you need employment.

For those who came in late, let us repeat that these Business Charts are drawn in accord with the theory originally outlined in the book A NEW EXPERIMENT IN ASTROLOGY, and since tested with satisfactory results by many astrologers. The transiting planet, Mars, is used as the First House focal point for a Tenth House chart, Mars being ruler of Scorpio, the Tenth Zodiacal Sign in a clockwise direction from Leo, sign of the Sun, center of the solar system. Mars is the planet of aggression, backbone of our commercial and economic structure. To see the manner in which you, personally, fit into the business picture, place your own birth planets in the accompanying Business Chart. You can apply the same rule for any other person.

h-m-m-m

By George A. Foster

I CAN'T understand why so many folks who write with solemn self assurance in astrology magazines seem unable to avoid the impulse to throw a fit of divine revelation and indulge in prophecy. H-m-m-m-m-m . . . I reckon some of them will take the consequences now.

People I know have been digging through old copies of astrology magazines and checking this publication against that one and all of them against actual events. To check up on astrology? H-m-m-m . . . no! I don't think so. More . . . I suspect . . . to check up on the SINCERITY of writers . . . editors . . . and self appointed prophets.

So far . . . it seems the general report favors Wynn and our mutual friend Tobey. Tobey seems to try and picture a pattern of stresses so his readers can study it and interpret its application to their individual lives for themselves. Wynn interprets those stresses for readers rather than attempting to depict the pattern of stress itself . . . but he has been real "cagey" and when none of my friends could find where he had predicted when the war would end . . . or who would win . . . or who would fight on which side . . . H-m-m-m-m . . . I went hunting myself. H-m-m-m . . . well . . . so far I can't find where Wynn has "stuck his neck out" either. BUT . . . very few writers have resisted the temptation to add reader interest to their writings . . . by playing prophet.

Amusing to check the writers who have held forth on international affairs and personages in this past couple of years. H-m-m-m . . . I ran across some writings by a chap named, "Keye Lloyd." Anyhow . . . one of them dealt with the Italian Dictator and while Lloyd went into detail about the Italian gentleman's make-up and characteristics as portrayed by astrology . . . he contended himself with pointing out that Mussolini would face critical periods at certain future dates . . . WITHOUT DECIDING IN ADVANCE what the Italian Dictator would actually do in those periods or how it would work out. H-m-m-m-m . . . obviously, Mr. Lloyd was doing his stuff as an astrologer and NOT trying his hand at prophetic fiction. (Fiction may be very interesting material for a magazine . . . h-m-m-m . . . PROPHETIC FICTION . . . is apt to . . . bounce!) I hope we hear from Keye Lloyd some more. We need more writers in the field of astrology who say what is actually indicated in a set of astrological charts . . . THEN STOP THERE . . . instead of filling in the gaps in astrological knowledge with wishful thinking.

Editors want to sell magazines. Writers write what editors will buy. So? . . . h-m-m-m-m

. . . maybe John Q. Public is partly to blame for favoring the magazines that TELL HIM WHAT HE WANTS TO HEAR! (Remember that popular song a few years ago: "Yes, we have no bananas"? . . . h-m-m-m . . . with a few changes in wording that might be the theme song of New Astrology Magazine: "Yes, we have no predictions!")

'Tain't even common sense! I mean . . . predictions are not. Astrology indicates things that are PROBABLE . . . and improbable . . . BUT NOT what WILL happen . . . h-m-m-m . . . yes . . . that is a flat statement. Use your own common sense. Consider . . . an astrologer writing for a magazine and predicting what is going to happen . . . IN RETURN FOR A FINANCIAL CONSIDERATION! IS IT REASONABLE . . . that any astrologer who COULD actually predict events of national and international importance would exercise so extraordinary a gift . . . FOR PAY? Would YOU?

All this prophetic marvel would need to do . . . would be to predict whether a given stock was going to increase or decrease in value on the stock market . . . and quietly amass such a fortune that writing for pay would be silly. (Such a person might write . . . but for some other consideration than for PAY.)

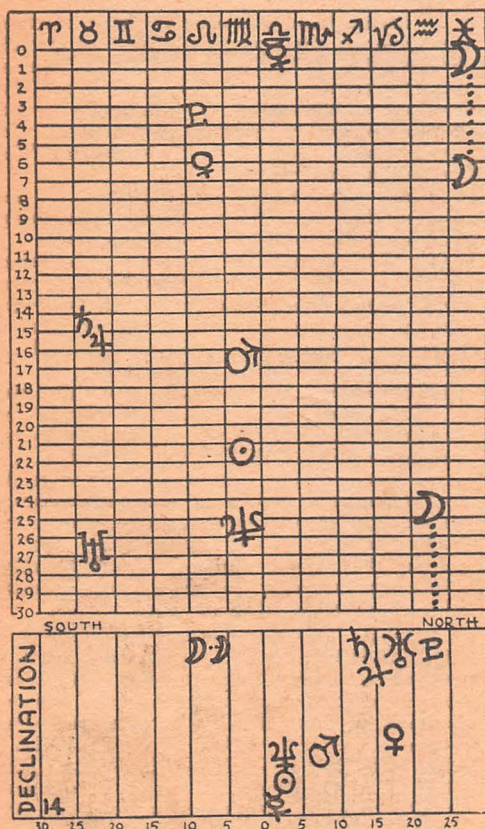

Astrology indicates THE PATTERN OF EMOTIONAL STRESS that an individual will live under at a given time. It indicates the duration of that particular pattern of stress and the directions in which it shifts into the succeeding pattern. IT DOES NOT INDICATE WHAT ANY GIVEN INDIVIDUAL WILL DECIDE TO DO. People who write . . . and people who read . . . astrological writings . . . are prone to see one implication and ignore everything else.

James Douglas (the gentleman who gets eyestrain and wrinkles arranging the tables in the Personal Forecast section of New Astrology Magazine) frequently drops into a restaurant of a certain chain in New York for a late snack. It seems that along in those wee small hours a truck arrives with supplies for the restaurant and all the restaurant help pitch in and help unload the truck. There is a traditional signal in that restaurant for announcing the arrival of the truck. Some one sees or hears it and shouts, "WAGONWHEELS!" whereupon everyone from the bus boy to the chef drop everything and rush out to unload the truck. H-m-m-m-m . . . as I was saying . . . astrologers . . . and student astrologers . . . are too prone to see one implication of a set of charts and shout: "WAGONWHEELS!"

By 10:25 A.M. Eastern Standard Time, the Moon will be in Pisces. Thus, conditions and people become more subtle. Some astrologers claim this time of the month is when the fish bite the best. Not being fishermen, we wouldn't know so much about that. The best catch we ever made was at such a time however. But that information is for you folks who are out where the fish bite. For you city folk, don't you be the fish. People's motives are not all on the surface. They have things up their sleeves. Look out for the fellow who is pulling rabbits out of hats. Like the fish, you might get caught on the hook. This is the time when dishonest people seek suckers.

The Sun, ruler of the Twelfth House in the Business Chart, is forming a conjunction with Neptune, ruler of the Seventh House. We will be feeling the effects of this for the next four days. It is very deceptive. It brings chaos, intrigue, promotional plans, get-rich-quick ideas, and many illusions. Walk slowly and with care. There will be much mental concern about many things. People will be given to worry, and because they are worried, they will try wild schemes. It is the kind of a time when people perform those foolish acts for which they must suffer severely at some time in the future. Be certain that all of your acts are of a legal nature. What is legal is not necessarily that which is right, but at a time like this, if you defy man's laws, you may seriously suffer as a result at some future time. During the afternoon, the Moon will be in Pisces, the sign of Neptune. This will again stimulate the deceptive side of things. On the other hand, there are certain lines of business where activity is increased under these Neptunian influences. These include oil, shipping, aviation, moving pictures, fishing, and photography. But summing up, this is a day to keep your hand on the controls.

Neptune or Pluto, which the person is unable to handle constructively.

For an example, under Saturn you are apt to be depressed, full of fears, forebodings and pessimism from the negative side, while Mars makes you reckless and careless, plunging into dissensions and distressful situations. Neptune from the negative angle will incline to fantastic thought and action, and Pluto to a bossy, dominant attitude toward other people. Moon and Venus bring about an inharmony thru our love-natures or affections, which will result in domestic inharmony and trouble if not counteracted.

In order to change this negative thinking during a day that carries any of these high-powered influences, it is necessary to turn to positive thinking.

During the hectic Martian day, spoken about previously, one could have counteracted the influence of the opposition of Mars by using Venus vibrations. Everyone has, at some time or other, experienced the influences of a well aspected Venus.

Venus vibrations are very potent, for they are love-vibrations—vibrations which lift the person, figuratively, so high above the petty disturbances of this world, that he or she is scarcely conscious of the fact they exist at all. By using some real objective effort, and with patient and persistent practice, it is possible to bring these influences into operation at any time, and they will instantly counteract the trend of the disruptive vibrations. This is what we mean by positive thinking.

There are several methods of working up this technique. Through the aid of astrology and the person's individual chart, it may be seen just how each particular person may go about working out a method.

However, this you can remember, it costs very little in effort to give a kind thought or word to your loved ones, or to anyone else for that matter, and the returns in equity to yourself will be enormous.

All we stated yesterday applies today to a greater extent. This is really a deceptive day. On the other hand, however, behind this whole picture is something of vital importance, and it is that trine of Uranus to Neptune, which is being set off by the transit of the Sun thru one end of the trine. It is impossible to describe exactly what this means, because no man at this stage of development really knows. It is an indication of the working of some great cosmic plan. And when God or Nature, or whoever runs this universe, is carrying out part of the cosmic plan, such things are beyond Man's power to understand. When Man develops to the point where he is sufficiently horrible, the Ruler of the cosmos usually does something about it. We read, in the Bible, about the great flood which supposedly destroyed all living things not in the great Ark. When the world becomes sufficiently contaminated by men who believe themselves powerful, there always seem to be invisible forces at work in the background. Those forces are at work today, and at the proper time will give materialism an unexpected jolt. If you see some very unfair conditions about you, do not despair.

The Moon is still in Pisces, sign of Neptune, and the Sun is going to a conjunction with Neptune, bringing about a very fishy period. Watch your step. There is much going on behind the scenes. Plans—secret plans are being made. The gullible will be caught napping. Be cautious. Look beneath apparent motives and see what lies beneath. Don't trust people too far. On the other hand, an influence such as this is often favorable for the investigation of psychic phenomena. In people who possess some degree of extra sensory perception, that mysterious sense seems to be jumped up under these very strong Neptunian influences. Evening can be dangerous due to opposition of Moon and Mars.

Tobey, Douglas and I were discussing the whichness of the whyfor recently and one of us mentioned a certain astrological system, whereupon "Jim" Douglas told that story about "Wagonwheels".

"So?" I asked . . . pressing for further expression of opinion. "Well" . . . Jim paused and smiled that whimsical smile of his that makes you want to chuckle even before you hear what the joke is . . . "I think the proponents of this system of Astrology have shouted WAGONWHEELS and just dropped everything. We'll have to wait until they get done unloading and come back to pick up where they left off . . . before we really learn what there is in it!"

I couldn't resist using his story here. Seems like astrologers in general have mixed entirely too many "WAGONWHEELS!" with their wheels of houses and zodiac signs! H-m-m-m-m . . . I wonder which will choose to explain their mistakes and therein admit their shortcomings as astrologers . . . and which will just remain silent and leave their sincerity in question? Awkward spot for folks with the gift of prophecy to get themselves into isn't it? Tsk! Tsk! Tsk!

I was deeply amused at the article in our July issue by W. J. Tucker (Pres. British Association of Scientific Astrologers), "Are We The Prisoners of Fate?". H-m-m-m . . . apparently Mr. Tucker does not favor predictions either . . . for by way of illustrating the fallacy of the idea he pictures an army division in which each man has been picked because his horoscope indicated he would live to a ripe old age. A sort of legion of invulnerables. Mr. Tucker questioned if a division so selected would stand any better chance of survival in modern warfare.

However . . . he left me with the impression they would certainly be shot down just like any other soldiers . . . and THAT in turn seemed to me something of a prediction. Even the conclusion they would die in somewhere normal ratio as the soldiers in any other division is no certainty. (After all . . . Mr. Tucker . . . they might fool you . . . and the whole division surrender to the enemy en masse . . . then live individually to a ripe old age. COULD be . . . no?) I think, if I were going to pick soldiers by astrological charts . . . I'd pick those who SEEMED most likely to DIE IN BATTLE . . . h-m-m-m-m . . . the mathematical chances would favor a smaller proportion of them would desert or flee the conflict. H-m-m-m-m . . . but it needn't follow they would be any prize either. If I picked such a division . . . they MIGHT be trapped and slaughtered . . . with little military effectiveness against an enemy.

Either way we look at it . . . Mr. Tucker gave us a vivid illustration of the fallacy of prediction of any actual event. Astrology has its USES . . . very real and practical uses . . . h-m-m-m-m . . . it also has its "MISS"-Uses!"

I am tempted to suspect astrologers often pick predictions the way other human beings pick race horses . . . then having picked them bet straight across the board . . . "to win" . . . on the assumption that such a bet offers greater gain . . . h-m-m-m-m . . . greater gain in cash to the race horse gambler . . . and greater gain in PUBLIC REPUTATION to the astrologer . . . IF . . . the guess wins.

Well . . . if the guess and the system for "doping" out the result before it happens FAILS . . . the gambler loses his money. H-m-m-m-m . . . and many writers on astrology are going to lose considerable reputation if John Q. Public starts checking back numbers of some astrological magazines.

The "forecast" of astrological stresses is founded upon the assumption that the sun will rise every morning and that the planets continue moving in their orbits at the same rate of speed they have in past centuries . . . PLUS . . . careful research upon the results that the shifting angles of stress ACCOMPANY in human affairs. (It must be definitely understood by readers that if the earth starts revolving in the other direction . . . or the planets Mars and Venus suddenly decide to get together and do a rhumba . . . rain checks must be issued and the whole set of STRESS forecasts is off! No game!) A prediction of astrological stresses . . . is quite a different matter than a prediction of events. What actually happens depends too much on what people decide to do. AND . . . if you really KNOW . . . what you are going to do . . . say . . . a week from this next Wednesday . . . h-m-m-m-m . . . you are, as they say in Mexico: "Muy Hombre" . . . (quite a fellow!) You may THINK you know what you are going to do! H-m-m-m-m . . . so have I . . . lots of times!

To try and predict just exactly what PHYSICAL RESULT a given shift in the pattern of astrological stresses will bring . . . is a very "long shot" indeed, to gamble on. Moreover, I can't see WHY a reader of astrological magazines should want that sort of thing. MIS- INFORMATION is definitely dangerous! To take what is actually indicated . . . and go on from there . . . is a line of action that offers REAL benefits.

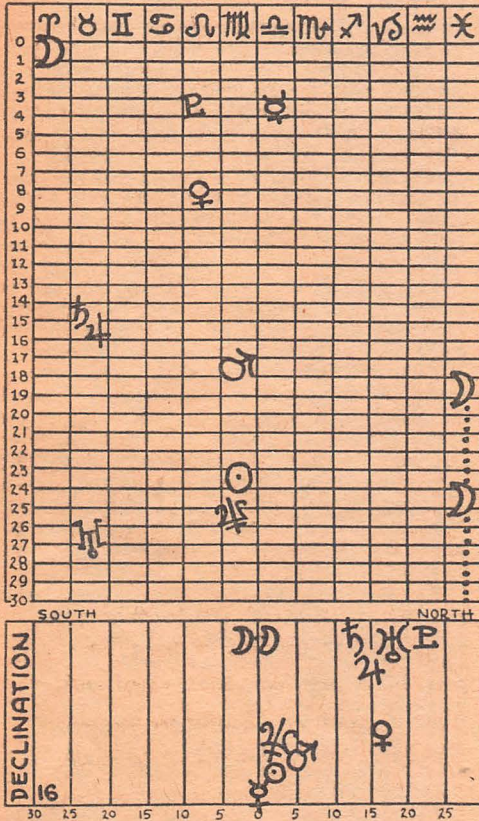

An incident that happened to our mutual friend, The Editor, a while back is an excellent illustration. He was out in the wide open spaces that summer and as the planets moved in their courses there came along a set of astrological stresses that didn't exactly look good. (Transiting Mars conjunct transiting Uranus square natal Saturn.) SOMETHING . . . h-m-m-m-m . . . abrupt . . . a change . . . a violent rearrangement . . . an abrupt disruption somewhere . . . and other angles of the stresses indicated this might be physical. That . . . looked like an accident.

So? H-m-m-m-m . . . ya know what? Carl Tobey wouldn't even drive his car that week! Our Pugnacious Bull was a very quiet and sensible person for about a week and took no unnecessary chances . . . in anything.

However, one day some matter came up and there was no one else to make a trip to town. He was just elected by events . . . whether he wanted to drive his car or not. So . . . the

A very unusual and progressive day. Events of great magnitude are taking place. Most of this is behind the scenes. The real "big shots" of the world are taking action in a big way. Huge production programs are being planned, plans far beyond anything attempted in history. They are gigantic—colossal. Perhaps they have something to do with aviation. They certainly have much to do with government. There is also vast plotting behind the scenes in governmental affairs. There may be important plans to overthrow a very important and powerful man in the governmental affairs of a foreign government. We may be a little premature in discussing the above matters, but they are in the air. They are going on behind the scenes, and they will all come out sometime in the near future. New companies, corporations, and new lines of business begun at this time will have startling consequences. If you have some great purpose you wish to accomplish in life, this would be a good place to get into action. The results will probably be far different from anything you might suppose, but there will certainly be plenty of results.

All we stated about yesterday applies again today, for the full moon in Pisces, sign of Neptune, is in opposition to Neptune.

As a point of information regarding the above chart, and all other square charts in the Daily Almanac, when planets are at the top of the declination chart, they are moving north. When at the bottom, they are moving south.

Where you are meeting strangers and new people, take great care. Remember that the possibility of deception is great. This is a very active day for people connected with the cinema. It is a very doubtful day for travel by water. Also, alcohol and drugs can have serious and injurious effects at such a time. The system's response is not good.

condemned man set forth . . . alert to any danger . . . driving at very modest speed and watching every approaching car and each intersection.

What happened? H-m-m-m-m . . . suddenly a connecting rod in one of the engine pistons snapped right in half. THAT didn't do the engine any good as any mechanic can tell you . . . BUT . . . what would have happened if he had been ripping along at the usual speed on highways today? AND WHO . . . would have foreseen the fracture of a piston rod? Carl Tobey's REAL protection lay in his refusal to decide just what physical form that result would take. . . .

We had quite a discussion about that. The question of whether there could POSSIBLY be any relationship between the astrological stresses in that period . . . and the sudden breaking of a steel rod in the automobile engine. If astrological stresses indicate emotional stresses in human beings . . . what has THAT to do with a steel rod snapping in half? Seems far fetched . . . but . . . IS IT?

Consider. Physicists and other physical scientists reduce our material world to atoms . . . and those atoms to nuclei and electrons that are in themselves simply FORCE FIELDS. The atoms in a steel rod are held together by something like the "gravity" between planets. Or the "magnetic" force that picks up a tack or nail on the end of a horse-shoe magnet.

H-m-m-m-m . . . we really do not know what "gravity" or "magnetic force" is. We merely know a lot of things they do . . . without knowing why. Neither do we know WHY a steel wire has more tensile strength than a lead wire of the same size.

Moreover, steel undergoes changes in crystalline structure that reduce its tensile strength and make it fracture more easily. Magnetism causes changes in structure of iron and steel. IS IT . . . possible that under certain astrological stresses . . . the tensile strength of various substances change . . . along with changes in crystalline structure? I would like to suggest that here is a field for the investigation of astrology by the physical scientist with a grand opportunity to make a few superficial tests . . . and solemnly announce that "it has been scientifically proven false" ! ! ! Scientists make as many extreme statements as astrologers . . . possibly because the extreme statements sound more interesting! (H-m-m-m-m . . . probably BOTH astrologers . . . and scientists . . . are just human beings . . . huh?)

"A New Experiment In Astrology"

Here is the book that is revolutionizing astrology. For many years, astrology suffered because one simple key had been lost. It was first revealed in this volume by Carl Payne Tobey, Editor of NEW ASTROLOGY. It gave the world a new and more satisfactory method of interpreting transits. It has been damned by the old timers among astrological books, because they feel the revelations contained therein will make many old volumes on their shelves valueless. But it reveals the most important astrological truth unfolded in a century. This truth is probably not new. The author believes it was known to the ancient astrologers, and then became lost during the dark ages. It reveals a physical basis for planetary rulership. It links the proper house values to each planet and to each zodiacal sign. You will need this book in your astrological library. Obtain your copy while the present edition lasts.

SEPTEMBER 17

Although the Moon left Pisces last night and is in Aries today, the Sun is still conjunct Neptune, and the deceptive angle will hang on for a few days. Otherwise, the period is very inspirational. With the Moon in Aries, people are more dependent and anxious to follow a course of their own making. Attention should be given to the problems of children, and an effort made to understand their points of view. This Sun conjunct Neptune and trine Uranus will probably keep international affairs pretty well stirred up. It's safe to bet there is plenty going on behind the scenes at this very time, and it will probably come out later. Some cosmic plan is taking form.

The desire to speculate is very strong. Best to skip it. Keep your activities confined to some more constructive endeavor. You'll get further in the end. There may be much in the way of differences of opinion during the morning, due to the opposition of Moon and Mercury. The conjunction of Sun and Neptune will be complete at 3:09 A.M. Eastern Standard Time, tomorrow. Thus, we are right in the center of this deceptive period we have been discussing for several days. Thereafter, the Sun will trine Uranus, and this will bring about many changes and adjustments affecting matters pertaining to employment. It would be a good time to quietly look for a new job, if you are not satisfied with your current work. This advice applies chiefly today and tomorrow. Much would also depend, however, on how your own personal birth planets fit into the Business Chart at the present time. From a general business point of view, this is a period when international affairs will be much to the foreground. Strange developments will be taking place. Perhaps they will still be kept behind the scenes for a while, but they might also pop into the open at any time.

the ideal husband, wife or companion for someone. Astrology will not only teach you to understand other people better, it will teach you to understand yourself better. And when you understand yourself, you control yourself, and you make possible many things which would otherwise be impossible. In a still higher realm, the most important thing to you, to me and to everyone else is religion, our unity with the Creator of the universe. In our hearts, each and everyone of us needs and wants to know what is morally right. I believe all criminals and all insane people are unbalanced only because they have never found understanding. Most criminals have a certain moral sense of their own. They think society is wrong. They think society is an enemy. And society has been an enemy. Many conventional doctrines are definitely evil—black magic, so to speak. Society declares it is evil to kill, but society reserves the right to kill for itself. Society thinks nothing of sending a man to the electric chair—or of hanging a man—even a woman. Society tries to be a God unto itself. Society promotes war when society decides it wants to create war. The world needs balance. The world can have balance, when the world turns to astrology. God gave us astrology. You and I can use that gift of the heavens. If the other fellow does not want to use it, that is his problem. But let you and I see whether we can't do a little good in this world. Astrology will help us so to do.

FROM THE MAIL BOX

Dear Editor:

Having read the first issue of NEW ASTROLOGY, I want to congratulate you on its form and content. Your article on Selznick was the most interesting. Your past article on Whitney was also very interesting. Again you have scored in the originality of your monthly forecasts. Your new theory, in my humble opinion, is the answer to many of the problems confronting astrology. Your RESEARCH Department of a few years back in another publication was of great value to the student, because it was so rich in data. Good luck to your new venture.

H. L. Pillsbury,
Haverhill, Mass.

My dear Mr. Tobey:

I purchased NEW ASTROLOGY, as well as several copies for my friends here in Richmond.

I am very much pleased with the contents and the reasonable price. It is really a help to Astrology, and I know of no magazine selling at this price which offers so much and is so individually and well written. Its assembling is perfect. Astrology means nothing of a commercial matter to me, but merely an interest in helping humanity find its way in this world of maze. For this reason, I am writing you this personal letter and hope that your magazine will be a big success.

W. F. L.,
Richmond, Va.

Dear Sirs:

Just bought NEW ASTROLOGY. You state that astrology is not hard to learn. I have several friends who attended astrology classes and they said it was too deep for them. I have had mail courses, but I could not understand them. How much will your course cost? Why do some astrologers say Taurus rules money, while others say Cancer?

Mrs. W. E. Ellis,
Descanso, Cal.

ANSWER: Stay with us and we will teach you astrology and it won't cost you but the ten cents a month you pay for the magazine. The reason astrology seems difficult to learn is probably because the people who tried to teach it to you didn't know any more about it than you do. The answer to your last question is contained in NEW EXPERIMENT IN ASTROLOGY, but perhaps you better let that go for the present until you get a little further along, although it might give you a better conception of the real meanings of the signs of the zodiac and the planets.

EDITOR.

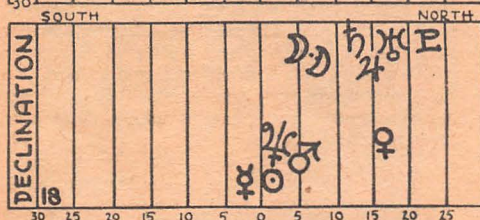

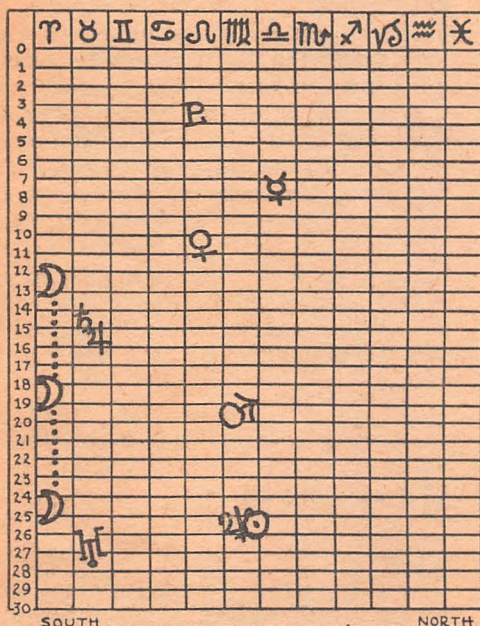

Dears Sirs:

Have read July issue of NEW ASTROLOGY and like it very much. Please register me as a student.

The trine of Sun-Neptune to Uranus is reaching a climax. In your own affairs, it is time to do things, providing you are on your toes, cautious, and able to keep things under control. You must realize, however, that we are going thru a very unusual period. The whole world is changing, readjusting itself. When all this is over, things will be better. We will be prepared to grow with a new freedom, a new mental freedom. Nevertheless, before we reach this point, the world at large must go thru some very severe earthquakes affecting its economic structure. This is one of the most unusual years the world has ever known and it will long be something for us to remember.

This is not a day when you should be at rest. It is opportune. Get into action. Make progress. Make changes where you think you can bring about improvement. There may be a good deal of excitement, but don't let this take your attention from making personal progress. This afternoon, the Moon in Aries crosses the Eighth Cusp of the Business Chart. Aries is a speculative sign, and the Eighth House concerns money of other people. Thus, persons handling money of other people should guard against any action which might place such funds in jeopardy. The trine aspect between Sun and Uranus will be exact at 9:55 P.M., Eastern Standard Time. That would be 6:55 P.M. Pacific Standard Time. This is an aspect that will permit you to gather together unknown elements and ideas with creative and inventive results. These planets rule the Sixth and Twelfth Houses in the Business Chart below. Action begun here will have unexpected and favorable results of a nature impossible to foresee, because new elements will be injected naturally, elements you know nothing about at the present time. Such an aspect is exact only two times out of an entire year.

authority been bent on seeing that he didn't. This writer stood to one side one day while a friend was talking to Ellis Parker. Two years later, I met Ellis Parker. He looked at me sharply for a moment, and then said he had seen me before and told me the exact street corner in another city where he had seen me. I had reason to remember him because of his prominence. He had no reason to remember me, but he did.

Virgo seldom gets into trouble from being overly aggressive or overly ambitious. Huey Long was an exception, but Huey had Sun conjunct Mars, the planet of aggression, and Mars was at that point again on the day when he was assassinated. We can't call Virgo stubborn as a rule; although under stress the sign can show a stubbornness of reasoning to the point they want to demonstrate. Sometimes a bit of sophistry will creep in. They lack Libra's ability of being able to see both sides of a question at one and the same time. They are not always sympathetic in realizing the emotional needs of another person. In most matters, however, they are fair, and can seldom be accused of walking over the rights of other people. When you sities, ignorant of astrology, have voiced the opinion that astrologers in general study the planets in their relation to fixed stars, and that therefore, since the Signs of the Zodiac move, very slowly, within the fixed stars, the astrological ephemerides (planetary timetables) are wrong. It is the astronomers making this statement who are confused—not the astrologers. This is because these astronomers have never discovered or acquainted themselves with the fact that astrology is chiefly a study of angles and geometry. However, perhaps we should give them more time. After all, they have only had a few thousand years.

Data of the girl's two sons:—(1) Oct. 24, 1934 at 10:16 A.M., T.L.T. 42-N-71W. (2) Oct. 16, 1936 at 9:39 P.M., T.L.T. 42-N-71W.

Use transiting Pluto as the ascendant for the particular times of these children's births and apply the natal planets of these people to the chart.

If we should wish to bore you further we could give you the data of the physician, aunts and uncles, etc., and again and again we are shown the link, cosmically speaking, between them and the principal in this case. If the erection of so many charts seems like a lot of work, I assure you it will be worthwhile and a very good exposition of how those transits work.

In closing let me say that we have, in the New Astrology, one of the most valuable instruments for good and the most marvelous demonstrations of the close link between the intangible and the tangible that it is possible for us to possess. Let's work on the interpretation of these transits. Let's investigate the prenatal epoch a bit further. In fact, let us search for truth always, remembering that unless we do, they will find Astrology either forgotten or in a worse condition in 5540 A.D. than we found it in recent times.

There are a few who are trying to give Astrology a new birth of freedom.

Thus the war between Saturn and Uranus is with us and we need fear nothing with truth on our side.

We know that Astrology has suffered beyond expression, under the Saturn regime, but a new day is at hand and it will not be many more years before we can truthfully say that Uranus does rule astrology.

With Uranus on the throne ruling with the scepter of truth, replacing Saturn and his rusty scythe, we will see Astrology respected as it should be. God speed the coronation!!!

This is a day when stupendous events are taking place, probably events of international importance. There seem to be vast mass production schemes in the wind. This Neptune-Uranus trine, set off by transiting Sun should bring that sort of thing about. Neptune has to do with aviation, and Uranus with machinery. So perhaps there is going to be some big time production in the aviation business. The Moon leaves Aries and enters Taurus today. This accents matters pertaining to home, real estate, relations with the landlord, fixed wealth and the ownership of things. Keep your attention on such matters. They will need careful attention and handling.

Effects brought about by the trine of Sun-Uranus, discussed yesterday, will continue to come to the surface for a day or two. The Moon enters Taurus today, and is in the Eighth House of the Business Chart. This would account affairs pertaining to property (Taurus-4th) belonging to others (8th). There are now seven solar bodies in Earth signs of the zodiac. Earth relates to the physical. Thus, we are living pretty much on a physical plane right here. From a business point of view, this can be considered as favorable because it is cosmically possible to alter and adjust things on the physical plane. We might have strong aspects at some other time, where the effect would all be on the mental and emotional plane. But here, the effect reaches down into matter itself. Thus, you should be utilizing your time and energy to materialize your ambitions. Go forward to do and accomplish the things you have dreamed about at some other time in the past, but which things seemed impossible of accomplishment. It's like the ice breaking up in the spring. It's much easier to push or propel your ship thru the waters. Symbolically, the ice of our materialistic world is breaking up. Move things before another freeze comes along.

Keeping these thoughts in mind, you will find it much easier to weather the Martian day successfully. However, if you find things speeding up too rapidly for you, why just drop your work for five minutes, and find your equilibrium again. You can do this by listening to some good music on the radio, singing or playing yourself, or reading a chapter of some good story. Or again, just sitting quietly, meditating about someone you love very dearly will change your whole attitude of thought.

And last, but by no means the least, we come to the matter of food and dietetics. Astrology can be applied in this department of life to just as great an advantage, as in any other department of your home life.

If some member of your family has some afflictions in his chart, or for an example we will use old SATURN again. Then there is bound to be a marked deficiency somewhere in his system. It will require constant replenishing. If nothing is done to replace this deficiency, then the lack of chemical balance within the body inclines the person to a wrong type of thinking, which would not occur normally. This particular trend of thought will in turn affect the glands in an unfavorable manner, so that the condition gradually becomes worse, or more pronounced. Astrology will show you what vitamins are required to replace this lack, and in just what particular foods these vitamins may be found.

Astrology can assist you to run your home more efficiently and harmoniously. Study astrology for big dividends in HOME ECONOMICS.

Two important lunar conjunctions occur today, in the Eighth House of the Business Chart. The Moon conjoins Saturn (ruler of the 5th) at 4:37 P.M., and Jupiter (ruler of the 4th) at 6:35 P.M., Eastern Standard Time. Thus, we would consider the day as most risky relative to speculation, but favorable for property matters during the conjunction of Moon-Jupiter. The Moon has a monetary significance. In Taurus, we deal with a sign which pertains to property, fixed wealth, etc. And Jupiter rules the Fourth House which again applies to property and fixed wealth. A very important factor is getting ready to occur in the future. Uranus is getting ready to cross the Ninth Cusp of the Business Chart. It will not actually reach the cusp until the 28th of the month, but when it does, Neptune will simultaneously be on the First Cusp of the Business Chart. This is what we might term a stupendous configuration, and from here on, we will be discussing the matter at considerable length. This condition is so strong that it will overshadow all else. We will begin to feel the effects about here, and they will become stronger each day. They will bring developments of world-wide importance.

This is a very doubtful day. If you will note the chart above, you will see that the Moon crosses the conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn during the latter part of the day. The conjunction will dominate the day. It's a serious looking affair. Don't start off on any big new venture today. The outcome might be terrifically bad. Such a configuration indicates the possibility of death and destruction to the venture begun today. It looks like an earthquake of one kind or another. These words might even apply literally. With the gravitational pull of these planets all coming from an area of one degree of the zodiac, it could easily crack the crust of the earth in a thin place—and that's an earthquake.

6 The planet Neptune is now forming a square aspect to your natal Pluto. This is like tossing an extra charge into your power house. The influence is in force for several years. It will make you more active. You will have greater energies, and you will want to be doing things, pioneering, but you must guard against activities which might lead to some form of scandal.

10 The planet Uranus is conjoining your natal Pluto, while the planet Neptune is forming a trine to the same point. If you have children, this will mark a great and progressive change in their affairs. Otherwise, it is an indication of greater force and energy within yourself. It is also an urge toward speculation. Watch this. It would be just as well to stick to the constructive type of activity.

49 The planet Pluto is in square aspect to the planet Neptune in your birthchart. If you have children, this influence might well manifest thru them. It is a glamorous sort of aspect, but unless discretion is used, it could result in some form of scandal. It is important to avoid too impulsive action. Your energies will be jumped up, and you will be more likely to act without thoroughly thinking things over.

53 The planet Neptune is in square aspect to its own place in your birth horoscope. This is a funny period you are entering. You must be very careful to keep your cards face up on the table. You will be suspect in many quarters. When you are secretive about things, someone will think you are trying to pull a fast one. So keep yourself in the clear, and avoid all acts which could possibly lead to any form of scandal.

Continuing our discussion of Uranus crossing the Ninth Cusp and Neptune crossing the First Cusp of the Business Chart, we enter a period where terrific force and inventiveness is brought into the picture by some people to alter and adjust personal and world conditions to their liking. It is a period of action—stupendous action. There will be vast developments pertaining to aviation. New inventions are going to revolutionize the aviation industry. It is about to come into its own as never before. Navies of the world will also go thru terrific readjustments. Old ideas will be cast aside. New developments will startle the world. Science will penetrate new fields of endeavor. The old timers and the reactionaries will receive a colossal blow if they think they can keep the world from changing. The whole face of the map is likely to change before we are done. The Moon actually crosses both the Ninth Cusp and Uranus today, so this day in itself is apt to bring foreign developments of an unexpected nature. It is also a spectacular day for anything pertaining to advertising, publishing, education, philosophy, religion, science or foreign travel. What you do not expect will be most likely to happen.

This is a day of changes and perhaps of relief. The Moon forms a conjunction with Uranus. It also trines Neptune and the Sun. This is a signal for action. People will act inspirationally. There is one thing we would like to say to the younger people who are planning marriage. We do not consider this a good year for marriage. Everyone getting married during the rest of this year will do so with the conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn in their marriage chart. As we have said many times, this is a bad economic condition. To those planning marriage, let us say this: Why not wait another year. In years to come, you will be much happier because of doing so.

56 The planet Uranus is passing over the planet Neptune in your birth chart while Neptune, at the present time is trining this point. This marks a very important mile-post in your life. There may be great expansion, but there seems to be much of a secret nature involved. There may be something very valuable at stake. If you are on your toes, the next year or two can be ultra progressive.

66 The conjunction of Saturn and Jupiter is taking place on Neptune in your birth-chart. This is vital. Guard your assets. This year marks a tremendous economic upset for many people, and this general condition is bound to affect your affairs directly or indirectly. Be on your guard against fraud and deception. It will be in evidence around you. Amid all this, however, some things will react decidedly to your advantage.

95 The planet Pluto is crossing the position of Uranus in your birthchart. This is a spectacular sort of aspect—ultra progressive. If you have children, it might operate thru their activities. The influence lasts several years. There will be many changes, a strong drive toward speculation (which you should avoid) and a desire to act individually, alone, and independently. It might cause you to want to start some new business.

96 The planet Pluto is in square aspect to your natal Uranus. This indicates you have problems for a year or two, which involve your relations with those in power and authority. You will seek greater power and authority yourself. You will become irritated when someone else attempts to have the final word. You will be quick on severing relations with people who seem to rub you the wrong way. Your independent streak is greater.

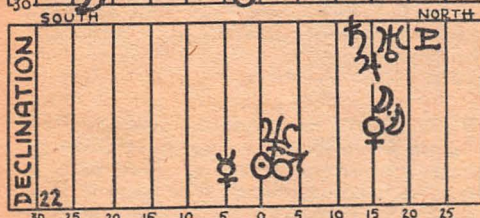

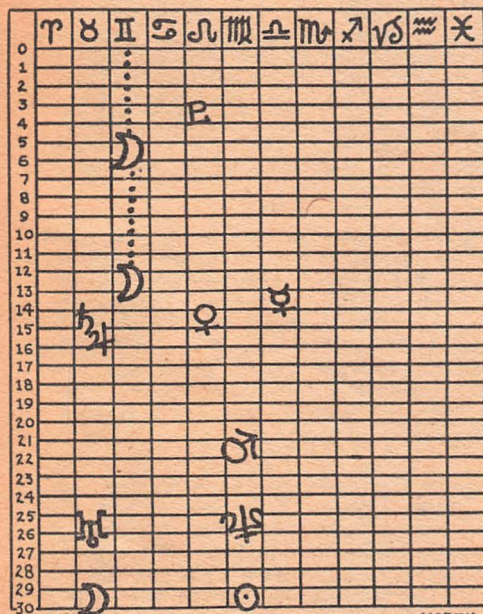

97 The planet Pluto is trining Uranus in your birthchart. This is a progressive indication lasting over several years. It would be most helpful to a business man. It is creative. You become more independent, and more anxious to follow a path of your own choosing. It is one of those periods where life begins anew. Women with this influence will find many new interests.

98 The planet Pluto is opposing Uranus in your birthchart. This will last several years and can cause vast achievements or great annoyance, dependent upon your manner of reacting to it. To most people, it will just be annoyance, because they will have difficulty getting along with others. You must study the views of those you want to oppose.

100 The planet Neptune is squaring Uranus in your birthchart. Watch your nervous system. This is an aspect, lasting over several years, which will disrupt your nervous system if you just sit by and let it. The important thing is to maintain balance and calm as much as you can. The ultimate result will bring changes rela-

Not so good for social matters. Venus is square to the conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn. If you are planning anything important in the social line, it would be just as well to wait a while. Let conditions improve. There is no need to make mistakes. Coast along right here. Attend to routine matters—the kind you never seem to get time for. Let the social side of life rest for a while. The Moon is in Gemini today. This makes people generally more flexible. They can adjust their positions more freely than usual. They are less stubborn about following some previously conceived course. Also, they feel like moving around more. They are restless and can't stay put.

Continuing from yesterday and the day before, the Ninth House of any chart represents religion, philosophy, and science. Uranus at the Ninth Cusp of the Business Chart indicates change. Because Uranus is in the sign Taurus, this change must be of a Taurean nature. It must have to do with property, fixed wealth, land, territory, etc. Thus, thruout all circles of business and government thruout the world, the pattern is set, and vast changes must take place. New people must gain control of wealth and property. And to gain such control, there may be drastic action in many cases. There is impatience. In many cases, people in power and control will meet natural deaths, and in this way, their power and property will fall into the hands of others. Where, you might ask, does religion, philosophy, and science come into the picture? The answer is that religion is having a new birth. Religion and science are daily edging closer to one another. They must meet. Since astrology is the natural meeting place for the two, there are bound to be great developments involving astrology. Astrology is bound to come to the fore as never before. Remember, science can revolutionize religion, and religion can revolutionize science.

tive to home conditions and fixed wealth. You may make several changes of residence before the aspect is over.

103 The planet Neptune is passing over Uranus in your birthchart, which is trining its own position as of your time of birth. This is an influence of superexpansion. It will be in effect for several years. You will dream of great things. You will attempt to accomplish great purposes—and perhaps you will succeed. That depends on many other factors in your chart, covered by other paragraphs in this forecast. It only happens to people once in a century, and then to but a very few people. It is the most inspirational influence a person could ever come under. You will attempt the impossible, and yet, who knows? Perhaps, it isn't impossible.

105 The planet Neptune is sextiling your natal Uranus, while Uranus is opposing the same point. This will bring some peculiar developments. You will have some keen competition, but perhaps it will only take away from you that from which you have been anxious to be separated. There will be many unexpected changes in your life during the next year. Keep yourself in a flexible position, so you can adjust yourself to whatever may happen.

106 The planets Uranus and Neptune are both trining your natal Uranus in Capricorn. This will bring about spectacular changes in your environment during the next couple of years. You will live at a new nervous rate of speed. Things will happen fast. Vast changes and adjustments will follow. There will be a drive toward achievements of the super-super variety. All of this comes with a certain rhythm that is almost poetical.

108 The planet Uranus is squaring its position in your birthchart. This marks a period of wide change in your life. There will be changes relative to the factor of authority. You will contact people of importance. There is a great new urge for freedom of action. You will want to live your life unhampered. You will not want others telling you how you should live your life. It is sort of a declaration of independence.

115 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn is squaring Uranus in your birthchart. This will bring about radical changes in your life. After this year, everything is going to be different. There will be an upset for the old order of things, and when this is all over, you will be in more power relative to your own affairs. Watch your step because your tendency will be to react with irritability. The period is somewhat doubtful for lending or borrowing money, or for dealing with banks or trust companies.

116 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn is trining your natal Uranus. This is an indication that economic upsets around you will react to your advantage. Some people will topple from their thrones, and you will Neptune and Uranus are now but three degrees from the First and Ninth respective Cusps of the Business Chart. Continuing our discussion of this condition, let us consider Neptune at the first. The planet rules the Seventh House, and the Seventh brings the unexpected and unknown factor again. But, Neptune is that mysterious fellow. Neptune's influence is super-physical. And since we know little or nothing about the super-physical world, much more than we understand is herein involved. We do know, however, that Neptune is deceptive. He is subtle. What happens to a person at a time like this is much dependent on that person's philosophy. Dishonest people often set traps and fall into them at such a time. Honest people might have something stolen, only to discover that Providence gives them something much better in return. At a time like this, there seems to be some definite cosmic plan evolving, a plan involving humanity as a whole. It is impossible to play individual parts unless those parts fit into the great cosmic plan of things. Remember this. Look beyond that which is apparent in business and economic developments. See what is going on in the background. This may require considerable visualizing.

Moon still in Gemini, keeping things flexible. Otherwise, a tendency toward too much display. Mars is now moving toward its conjunction with Neptune. This is a funny conjunction. For many years it was accompanied by epidemics of aeroplane accidents. After planes became better perfected, however, and after better weather reports were placed in the hands of pilots, we seemed to be able to go thru this conjunction with less in the way of air disasters. It often brings disasters at sea also. It usually brings a nebulous period when many unsound ventures are started. It is inflationary and impractical. It is super-visionary. It causes people to dream great dreams.

benefit thereby. This influence will be in effect throughout this year and into next. The indication is favorable for dealing with banks and trust companies. You will grow into a more independent position in life.

117 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn is opposing Uranus in your birthchart. We might call this a drastic year. There will be so many changes around you and in your affairs that you will be kept busy keeping up with them. Competition will be keen in many respects. Co-operate with those who appear to oppose you. Make friends of your opponents. Success for the year ahead is dependent upon your ability to be a good diplomat.

122 This month, the planet Mars will cross the planet Uranus in your birthchart. You are going to get fed up with a few things this month, and you will want to toss some things in your life—and maybe some people—out the window. Take it easy. Don't get too excited. If you are working, don't throw up your job. It could be a bit disruptive in marital relations. Keep your irritability under control. Changes are in the air.

134 This month's New Moon will Fall on the planet Uranus in your birth horoscope. This brings about the unexpected. It separates you from that which has been congestive. It is progressive. It indicates freedom and independence. You receive a new burst of spirit. You recognize that you are more than that material shell we call the body. You are separated from people who have become a burden or a hindrance to you.

146 The planet Pluto is crossing the planet Saturn in your horoscope. To a younger person, this would cause associations with much older people. To an older person, it would help to bring stability. Otherwise, it indicates that progress has to be made thru the established order of things, thru established organizations. A young girl might become attached to a man much older than herself.

As we have already intimated, the ordinary factors that would affect a particular day at a time like this are swallowed up by the greater aspects which give us a group of days of a similar nature. Assuming that you have been following what we have been saying for a number of days, let us add that this is a time to put on the pressure in business affairs generally. It is a good time to start new ventures. The results will be extra ordinary. The outcome will be different than anything you might suppose. Thru such ventures you will meet unusual people, important people. If you have a business "child" born here, that "child" will grow. He will have his own individuality. You may be his father, but you will never control him. He will have his own destiny to fulfill. The child may grow bigger than his father. Not all such ventures will succeed, but those which do not will serve as bridges, and over these bridges you cross to better things in the mental, emotional and physical worlds. Even ventures which appear to fail and die, do not do so at all in reality. They serve as these bridges which, after you cross, may be lifted behind you that others may not cross. It is an important period. Get busy and do things.

The Moon enters Cancer today, and makes people generally more sympathetic. It makes them grasping too, but they only grab from those they think have too much. There seems to be an accent on personal needs. People are concerned about the necessities of life—or what they consider the necessities of life. Where you need assistance in one way or another, this is a good time to ask for it. People will be more deeply touched and more sympathetic to your appeals, and they will be more willing to help you insofar as they are able to do so. People are more willing to help their fellow man without asking what they are going to get in return.

147 The planet Pluto is squaring Saturn in your birthchart. This influence will be in effect for several years, during which time, you may have a bit of congestion where older people are concerned. If you are working for another, avoid any possibility of quarrels. It would not be too favorable a period for a person to go in business for himself.

148 The planet Pluto is trining Saturn in your birthchart. This is an influence lasting several years. It will enable you to progress and achieve the things you wish from life if you work thru older persons or thru the established order of things. Build upon the foundations already started by others. This might also bring a certain amount of responsibility where children are concerned, but it would be a pleasant responsibility.

149 The planet Pluto is opposing Saturn in your birthchart. This will give you an opportunity of progressing thru contact with organizations well established. Yet, they will not want things done in just your way. You will have to do a little dickering, giving in here and there in order to obtain what you want in other respects.

151 The planet Neptune is squaring Saturn in your birthchart. The influence will be in effect for several years. It often brings peculiar conduct on the part of older people. Skeletons may be hidden in the closet. There may be scandal involving older people, or people you knew in the past, but of whom you are seeing little today. Where dealing with inferiors, you may meet with deception. Keep your own skirts clean.

154 The planet Uranus is crossing your natal Saturn while the planet Neptune is trining the same point. This is an indication that you will be building the new on the old foundations. You progress, but you progress thru those who are already familiar to you, or at places which have been familiar to you in the past. The aspect lasts several years. There is also new inspiration which is rare because it is of a very practical variety.

156 The planet Neptune is crossing your natal Saturn while the planet Uranus is trining the same point. The aspect lasts several years and may bring about some peculiar circumstances. It is somewhat illusionary, and yet people often create unreal pictures, make them into reality and we call this vision. You may have great visions. You set an important and far reaching goal for yourself, and this is one of those times in life when you may reach a goal which would seem impossible to others. It is important that you keep your dealings of a legal nature. There is some, but not serious, danger of scandal creeping in. Your course ahead seems to be very unusual.

Moon still in Cancer. What we said about the matter yesterday continues to apply. Don't forget what we said about the conjunction of Mars and Neptune on the 23rd. These planets are three degrees apart, and continuously drawing closer together. Watch them in the above chart. You will see them grow closer each day. They represent emotional unbalance. Many people want to follow some great and humane vision, but their vision is impractical—not in accord with nature's laws, and the result is likely to be unpleasant. The criminal type of mind is also stimulated. It is common, under this influence, for the criminal to commit his crime and then plant the evidence on an innocent person to clear himself.

This is an excellent business day. With the Moon in Cancer, in addition to the other factors we have been describing, there is greater sympathy among men. The configuration we have talked so much about of late is not sympathetic. It is drastic. It is aggressive. This is one of the most aggressive periods of history. But, it is slightly tempered today, with Moon in Cancer. So, if it is necessary to ask a favor of someone, particularly a financial favor, today would be the right time to do it. With the Moon in Cancer, people are more sympathetic. They are more sensitive to the needs of other people. In the background of all this, we must not forget the conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn. It lies somewhat dormant up there in the Eighth House of the Business Chart, but it is a signal of death to many things and people. It represents the survival of the fittest. It downs those who defy Nature's laws. Viewing the heavens in their entirety, we see a vast war between new forces of life on the one hand, and forces of death on the other. Nothing is entirely certain these days. The best faith to have is faith in God, but remember, he will not forgive you if you defy natural law, for natural law is his law too, you know.

157 The planet Uranus is opposing your Saturn, while the planet Neptune is sextiling the same point. This is an indication of competition, but you can make friends of those with whom you compete, thereby gaining as a result. The old order of your existence hinders you. It isn't progressive enough. In your work, you are likely to have many new ideas, and possibly some form of publicity. There must be many changes and readjustments over the next year or two.

158 The planets Neptune and Uranus are both favorably aspecting your natal Saturn. This is an indication that you will gain favor and prestige among those who make up the established order of things in your life. You can also progress thru dealing with institutions which are well established—banks, trust companies, large corporations, etc. There is new inspiration. Things begin to swing your way. You will feel much better about things in general.

159 The planet Neptune is opposing your Saturn, while the planet Uranus is sextiling the same point. This influence, which will be in effect over several years, may bring you some peculiar mental experiences. It may also bring you in contact with persons in asylums, hospitals, laboratories, or people who are in some way deficient. You are likely to make friends of some very peculiar people.

161 The planet Uranus is squaring Saturn in your birthchart. This is an indication that you are struggling on a new course, but you are retarded by old things and familiar people in your life. The old will have to give up, but it will do it begrudgingly. The influence is not favorable for marital affairs or partnerships. It lasts a couple of years, and you'll have to fight your way thru, but the battle will be worth the fight in the end, for you will have reconstructed a new and better environment for yourself.

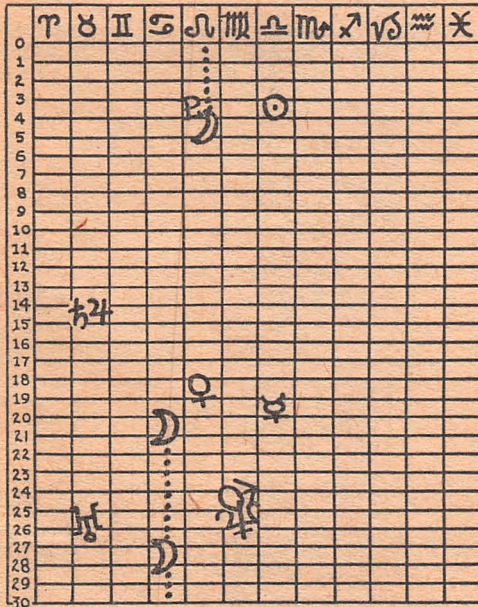

168 The forming conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn will fall on the planet Saturn in your birthchart. This will create a certain amount of congestion. You will be concerned about old things and older people in your life. There may be property affairs that worry you a bit. Guard against colds and other congestive disorders. Take good care of the teeth.

169 The forming conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn will square Saturn in your birthchart. Guard against the possibility of some kind of an economic earthquake around you. Don't worry about it—just guard against it and be cautious. This is a bad time for lending or borrowing money. Be as economical as you can for a while.

170 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn is forming trine to your natal Saturn. This influence is favorable for certain things; for dealing with older people or with old and established institutions such as banks, trust companies, large corporations, etc. It is particularly

With influences as powerful as those now in effect, those of unbalanced mind can be terrifically destructive, while those of sound mind and philosophy can be unusually constructive. We might describe this as a terrific battle between the destructive and the constructive forces in mankind. The occultists would call it a battle between the black and the white. As we look at that map above, and we are looking at it way back in the month of May, with a summer between our view and yours, we see one of the most unusual configurations of planets we ever have or ever will see. Mars conjunct Neptune and trine Uranus, at the same time Jupiter is conjunct Saturn. That's really something.

Pretty much like yesterday. There are some very unusual aspects early in the morning, but probably too early for the most of you to get any good from them. The Moon enters the Eleventh House of the Business Chart at 5:50 A.M., Eastern Standard Time. It sextiles Neptune at 8:22 A.M. and sextiles Uranus at 8:56 A.M., E. S. Time. If you are going some place today, get an early start. Between now and tomorrow morning, the Sun will sextile Pluto, and the Moon will conjoin Pluto. These are two more energetic factors to add to a planetary picture that is already aggressive plus. The distance of Neptune and Uranus from the First and Ninth respective cusps is now narrowed down to a single degree. On the whole, this is perhaps about the most progressive day we have ever seen. Just stop and think of that. You see a period such as this only once in many years. It is no time to loaf. Be on the move. Go forth and accomplish things. Whatever your business may be, this is an expansive period. Study carefully to see in just what manner you can expand. But there will probably be plenty of ideas. They seem to come out of the air. The important thing is to choose associates you know to be honest. Sow the right kinds of seeds and you will get the right kind of results.

favorable for matters pertaining to printing, publishing, advertising, educational matters, science interests or anything to do with philosophy or religion. You are able to do things in a practical way.

171 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn is forming in opposition to your natal Saturn. This can be a point of congestion. What shape are your teeth in? Look after them. You can turn this to your advantage in many ways, but it will seem hard. It's a time when you can get things done, when you can get others to co-operate with you, but they will be very insistent on doing things their way, and they might be right.

176 Mars will cross Saturn in your birthchart this month. This will bring old matters into your consciousness. It's a favorable time to clean up old matters and get them out of the way. You can receive aid where needed from older persons. How much a person gets out of this aspect is dependent on the individual's record. If your record is good, it's a good aspect. If your record isn't good, you won't like it.

179 Mars will oppose Saturn in your birthchart this month. This brings relations with persons you have known in the past, older persons, or persons connected with established institutions. It might cause some criticism from such quarters, but that is largely dependent upon whether you have been doing what they wanted you to do. It brings a slight tendency toward accidents and quarrels, so don't be too impulsive in your actions.

188 This month's New Moon will fall near Saturn in your birthchart. This is a slow up and get serious period. Don't expect money to flow too freely. You'll have to get on a sound basis. Things seem to dry up. Money doesn't flow as you'd like to have it. The important thing for you to do is get on a practical basis. Then realize that this is only temporary.

191 This month's New Moon will oppose Saturn in your birthchart. And this influence will give you something to push against. It might give you problems, but you can solve those problems and you can progress doing it. There may be problems of a financial nature, but there are also people who will cooperate and give you assistance if you will be a little bit aggressive and go after that assistance.

200 The planet Pluto is crossing Jupiter in your birthchart. If you have a good idea, this is a favorable time to enter a business of your own. The influence will prove helpful in all romantic affairs. The energies are increased.

201 The planet Pluto is squaring Jupiter in your birthchart. This is an indication that you will seek greater authority over your own affairs over the next several years while this aspect will be in force. You will be more creative, but you won't want someone else telling you

On the whole, conditions change little from yesterday. The major configurations we have been discussing are still in effect. The Moon is in Leo, where it tends toward display. During the afternoon, it is going toward the square of the conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, and that isn't good. Don't let your impulses lead you off on any wild tangents. Remain calm. During the late evening, the Moon will be traveling toward a conjunction of Venus. People on the west coast will feel this the most. Too many of the folks in the east will be in bed. It is favorable socially, and makes a good time to entertain your friends.

In that we are reaching a climax of the powerful configuration we have been discussing for days, it might be well to go back and review all we have said about this condition. People born about September 18th or March 16th of any year will find planetary influences striking them with terrific force. These people should not worry about the matter. Just let them see how they can turn conditions to their advantage. We will promise them that their lives will not be dull. Many people will find great visions pushing themselves into their minds these days, visions of super developments in the business and economic world. And many of these visions will come true. In normal times, there is always a reactionary element to retard honest progressive views. But here, this visionary force is so great that its force is irresistible. Then, we have the added inventiveness of Uranus to fulfill the visions and idealism of Neptune. Both Uranus and Neptune produce idealistic actions, but this trine between the two planets, the first such trine since 1882, brings forth such a gigantic force, nothing can stop its progress. The dormant conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn may bring death and destruction to impractical ideas, but this other ultra progressiveness and inventiveness will have the force of divine inspiration.

what you should do or how you are going to do it. If you have children, the aspect might bring them honors.

202 The planet Pluto is trining Jupiter in your birthchart. This is a very creative influence. It will drive you to do things. You will be under the aspect for several years and it is a time when you should be able to make substantial progress. It favors all matters pertaining to children. You will be more the boss of your own affairs.

203 The planet Pluto is opposing Jupiter in your birthchart. Many things which appear to be working against you along here will actually be favoring you, in that you will obtain the benefits farther along in the future. Particularly will this be true if you adopt a philosophical attitude toward life and other people, and if you render a few kindnesses without stopping to ask what you are going to gain in return.

205 The planet Neptune is squaring Jupiter in your birthchart. This is a funny aspect, lasting for several years. If you are of the right philosophical makeup, it is favorable. If you are not, it's the opposite. In other words, if you protrude the right attitude toward your fellow man, the result will be a glamorous popularity.

208 The planet Uranus is crossing your Jupiter, while Neptune is trining the same point. If you miss this opportunity, fold up. The influence will be in effect for several years. It is expansive. It is colorful. It will enable you to contact important people. But, develop your philosophy of life. Develop your education. Look for the better things in life.

210 The planet Neptune is crossing your natal Jupiter, while Uranus is trining the same point. This is an extraordinary aspect which will be in effect over a year or so. It will bring you much luck, favoring employment matters, expanding your life, and improving your philosophy. It would be very favorable were you to decide to operate some business of your own. It will make you more independent mentally and otherwise.

211 The planet Uranus is opposing your natal Jupiter, while Neptune is sextiling same. The influence will be effective all this year and into next. You can gain thru partnerships, whether in business or marriage, but you must gain by adjusting yourself to the points of view of others. Life will be more colorful. Inspiration will run high, and you will probably enter some associations which will be very glamorous.

212 The planets Neptune in Virgo and Uranus in Taurus are forming a beneficial aspect to your birth Jupiter. This is a long term influence. In the background of your life, stupendous growth is taking place. The whole pattern of your life is changing. Your philosophical outlook is going to be more lofty, your motives

At 2:38 P.M. today, Neptune will actually cross the First Cusp of the accompanying Business Chart. At 9:38 P.M., Uranus will cross the Ninth Cusp. Time given is Eastern Standard Time. Thus we are nearing the end of the period we have been forced to discuss in such great detail for many days. We say nearing the end, because the effects will continue for a few days as the planets pull away from these cusps. As a matter of fact, the greatest effects from a configuration of this kind usually come to the surface immediately after the actual aspects are over. Thus, we may begin to see vast effects in governmental affairs—and in business affairs. Gigantic plans will begin to come to the surface. The fulfillment of great visions will be in action. Much good—ultimate good will result, although it will seem to some that humanity has paid a terrific toll during the last year. Our best philosophy will be to forget the past and emerge into the future. This is a funny old world we live in. We never know, from a philosophical point of view, just why some of the things which happen have to happen. But the road ahead must be a progressive road. Within the next few days, we will slip into a lull.

We are still under these very powerful configurations we were speaking about two days ago. History is being made. Strange things are happening. Just stop and realize that these strange configurations are striking off planets in the horoscope of millions of people. They are feeling urges they never felt before. Their conduct will be different. Some will achieve—they are the ones who master the influences by controlling their emotions. Others will fall by the wayside. They are the ones who blindly follow the dictates of their emotions. People's emotions will push them on peculiar and eccentric courses these days. Make certain that you keep yours well under control.

higher. You may take a deeper interest in science, philosophy and religion.

213 The planet Neptune is opposing your Jupiter while Uranus is sextiling the same point. This aspect might bring some peculiar psychic experiences. It lasts for a long time. The mind is somewhat tied to another world for a while. You meet unusual people. You may gain thru some sort of association with people connected with a hospital or asylum. You make new friends among those of much color and glamor.

215 The planet Uranus is squaring your natal Jupiter. Under this influence which will be in effect for several years, you seek greater authority in life. You want to follow a more independent course. You don't want to cater to people you consider your intellectual inferiors, even though they may be your superiors from a materialistic viewpoint. Your independence may cause a few hardships, but you'll win out.

222 The forming conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn falls near your natal Jupiter. This is an indication of an economic upset affecting many people, but thru which you will personally gain. It may help you to accumulate wealth. Property or authority over property may fall in your hands as the result of the upset or death of persons who have been in authority during the past.

223 The forming conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn will square your natal Jupiter. You will have difficulty in seeing how this situation is going to work out. It is a matter which runs throughout this year and into next. There will be economic earthquakes striking many people you know. You may feel these indirectly for a while; but the final result will be advantageous because the ultimate outcome will be to place you in a position of greater authority.

224 The forming conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn will trine your natal Jupiter. This influence will be in effect into next year. It is favorable for anything pertaining to advertising, publishing, printing, or travel. It also favors any type of scientific pursuit. Your philosophy becomes very practical.

225 The forming conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn will oppose your natal Jupiter. This influence will be operating into next year. It is an indication that some of the people with whom you associate will undergo some economic upsets. This may upset you, but in the long run, you will stand to gain. You will meet new people as a result of the above, and these people will be advantageous to you.

230 This month, the planet Mars will cross Jupiter in your birthchart. The influence usually makes a person more optimistic and more willing to take a chance. A person usually plunges a little too far, with the result that they suffer in some way as a result. Nevertheless,

The Moon is in Virgo today, and there is too much tendency to look at things and see only the external shell, without delving beneath—without delving to the core, to the real cause of things. People are very likely to look at the effect and consider it the cause. The old saying applies again. We can't seem to see the woods for the trees. The more planets involved in a configuration, the more difficult its interpretation becomes. The astrologer who attempts to predict details at such a time ruins his reputation, usually. The one who admits difficulties, and wisely says, "These are unusual days," is more likely to come out whole. So let us say, these are unusual days.

The Moon in the Twelfth House of the Business Chart, in the sign Virgo, may cause people to be concerned and worry about things a good deal today. They will be concerned about the smaller details of things. Many are just beginning to realize that elaborate plans they have been making are going to require a lot of filling in, in the form of hard and detailed work. It is still a favorable, progressive and aggressive day, however. From here on, however, we advise against beginning new ventures. An eclipse of the Sun will occur within a few days. It is never wise to begin a new venture just prior to an eclipse of the Sun. If planning such a venture, wait. Let the eclipse pass. It's too risky. Such eclipses usually mark events of world wide importance. They mark the beginning of a new cycle—the end of an old one. Yet, the important events brought about by an eclipse are not always visible at the time of the eclipse. They are taking place, but they do not always come to the surface immediately. This eclipse will have a particular effect on all people born near October 1st of any year. It will mark the end of a cycle and the beginning of a new one for them in particular. Mars will cross the point of eclipse by the 17th of October at which time the effect will become visible.

they gain in experience, and what you do under the aspect ultimately reacts in your favor.

233 This month, the planet Mars will cross opposite your natal Jupiter. This usually brings some sort of a proposal. It may not be of any particular importance at the moment, but watch who makes the proposal because that person will be able to help you a great deal in the future.

242 This month's New Moon falls near Jupiter in your birthchart. This influence usually gives you a temporary lift, although this lift might only be of a philosophical nature. Sometimes a person is in a rut, merely because his view of things is wrong and he is looking in the wrong direction. This influence would correct such a condition.

245 This month's New Moon falls opposite Jupiter in your birthchart. This might cause someone to be very kind to you or vice versa. It could bring friendly relations with a person or persons who are in a sense competitors. It is progressive, the more so if you make a good diplomat of yourself. Sometimes you may feel that giving something away is impractical, but you will benefit indirectly therefrom over a long period of time.

254 The planet Pluto is crossing Mars in your birthchart. This is a strong stimulus, one you will be under for several years. It would be helpful to the business man because it jumps up his energy, keeps him on the go, and makes him more aggressive. It would benefit a woman in the same way in that it would furnish additional energies enabling her to do the things she might want to do.

255 The planet Pluto is squaring Mars in your birthchart. This makes a person more aggressive, more willing to take a crack at someone. The energies are strongly jumped up. A person becomes more impulsive. It could bring quarrels with those in authority. It could bring accidents. But, if a person keeps the impulses well under control, it is a useful energy which can be profitably utilized to do things and to accomplish things. It lasts several years.

256 The planet Pluto is trining Mars in your birthchart. This influence is in effect for several years. You become more creative, more energetic, and more anxious to be on the go and do things. Often, it turns one to speculation. Best to keep on the constructive side. It often gives a man the urge to go into business for himself.

257 The planet Pluto is opposing Mars in your birthchart. This is one of those long term influences. It is also one you must keep under control. It could be quarrelsome. It could cause accidents. But if you keep your increased energies under control, and if you prove a diplomat, this can be a very progressive influence.

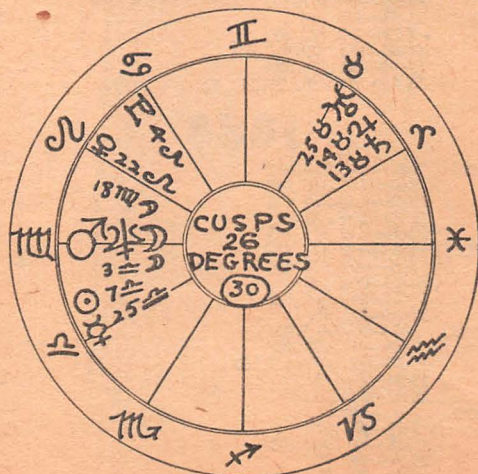

YOUR DAILY ALMANAC-SEPT. 30

GRAPHIC EPHEMERIS BUSINESS GUIDE

Just mark time today. Have a good rest if you can. Everything is getting ready to change. The eclipse will take place at 7:41 A.M. tomorrow morning (Eastern Standard Time). We have been passing thru a strenuous period. We can all stand a little rest right here. We think it best to do nothing of importance. This is a day of strange and confusing events. Be a good observer. Things which have been hidden will be popping into the open. Don't react to any of these things too quickly. Take plenty of time to reflect. Make this a period for reflection and summing up. Let the other fellow make the mistakes if he wishes to. We are passing thru unusual times. It is important that we know we are doing what is right and just. We should not let our emotions dictate to too great a degree. We are going thru a reconstruction period. Let's make certain we have a firm foundation beneath us. Let's make certain the future we are going to build is to be a sound future. Let's make certain our ideas are practicable and workable. Thus, we end another month, to enter a new month when influences of an entirely different nature fall upon us. Be with us again during October, and let us see what we are about to meet next.

SEPTEMBER 30

Just look at that chart above. As if planetary conditions were not sufficiently involved, along comes the Moon to join the conjunction of Mars-Neptune trine Uranus, with the conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn in the background. It is terrific. At mid-day, there are eleven planetary aspects in effect at one time. This is the day when things happen, and the child born today will be one of the most unusual human beings you ever saw. It is very important to maintain a calm attitude toward life. Don't let your hunches and impulses carry you off into unwise actions. People are going to think of the most eccentric things to do. It's one of the wildest days we have ever seen.

259 Transiting Neptune is squaring Mars in your birthchart. The influence lasts several years, giving you a period when you must guard against fraud and deception. It is inspirational, but it's an aspect under which it is difficult to maintain balance. Peculiar things happen. There may even be psychic experiences. You seem to stand between two worlds so to speak. It is important to select associates with discretion to avoid fraud and deception. Be cautious about people. Alcoholic beverages, drugs, and stimulants can prove injurious to the system. Guard the health carefully, particularly the nervous system

262 The planet Uranus is crossing your natal Mars, while Neptune is trining that point. This is one of the most important years of your life. Drastic business or marital changes are indicated. If a person were to marry under this influence, that marriage would certainly never be dull. Whether it would work, well, that's something else again. It would certainly prove interesting. A person in business might skyrocket under the influence. Most anyone will get fed up with their environment and will want to change the whole thing. Not only want to—WILL. It is aggressive, inspirational and erratic. If you can control it, then you are going places. If you can't, you'll go some place too. but it might be a hospital

264 The planet Neptune is crossing your natal Mars, while Uranus is trining that point. This will be one of the most colorful years of your life. Some weird things will happen. You will have association with odd people, possibly with people in asylums, hospitals or prisons. There will be some liability to fraud and deception. If you keep the impulses under control, you can make this the most favorable and eventful year you have ever experienced. There will be no lack of color. Many changes will occur. You will be covering more territory. Your inspirations will be running high. There may be stupendous romance—if you don't mind our putting it that way. The influence is a high frequency business stimulant

265 The planet Uranus is opposing your natal Mars, while Neptune sextiles same. This will be an eventful year, but it is one of those years when marital ties could be broken wide open if a person is not careful. It would be a doubtful time for a person to select a marital partner. You will be likely to become irritable, to want to break thru your shell and get out where you can move around and have greater freedom. There will be a good deal of inspiration. There will also be competition in more ways than one. You will need to be a good diplomat. But you can win if you will make friends of those who appear to be opposing you and getting in your way.

266 The planets Uranus and Neptune are favorably aspecting your natal Mars. This is favorable for anything relating to a person's business or love life. It isn't consistent, but it is progressive. It brings many changes, much inspiration, and makes a person more aggressive—more able to go after and obtain the things one wants from life. The influence also brings a certain amount of good luck in commercial operations.

267 The planet Neptune is opposing your natal Mars, while Uranus is sextiling same. This influence lasts thruout the year. It can bring trouble or good fortune, depending upon your own reactions to circumstances which are bound to develop. There will be a bit of secrecy flavoring your business and romantic life. This can grow into deception. A frank and open policy is advisable, and where you run into people who are not willing to be the same way, skip them.

269 The planet Uranus is squaring Mars in your birthchart. This can prove an upsetting influence if you are not careful. It lasts all year. It makes a person irritable and jumpy, with the result that quarrels and even accidents often occur. You must keep control of your impulses and avoid being too aggressive. In the case of unenlightened people, it will nearly always smash up a marriage. It would be a very bad time to enter marital relations.

276 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn will conjunct Mars in your birthchart. This is an indication of responsibilities, and don't say you don't like them. That's the way to make a failure of this aspect. If you can shoulder responsibility, this is an opportune condition. It will affect you for a considerable period. It is a business stimulus to the person who wants action. You become more aggressive, and the important thing is to utilize this aggressiveness in a productive way.

277 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn will square Mars in your birthchart. This condition will last for some months, and may give you some difficulties with persons in authority unless you exercise diplomacy. You will want greater authority yourself. You will want to take the bull by the horns and force things into the channels you want to see them traveling.

278 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn will trine Mars in your birthchart. This aspect will last for a considerable period. It is very constructive. It gives you a practical slant on things. You see things as they are, and not thru colored glasses. Thus, it is an excellent time to make progressive moves. The strong Saturnian influence will keep you from going off the deep end

279 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn will oppose Mars in your birthchart. The influence will last for several months. It will bring you in contact with people where important decisions are to be made. These decisions will be a problem to you. You'll have to study others' points of view. There might be strong changes relative to the factor of authority. This could mean occupational changes, possibly accompanied by residential change. The financial side of the picture should be much better, but be a little discreet about the manner in which you make your money. Avoid the possibility of contact with anything of an illegal nature.

477 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which is forming this month and which will be in effect into next year, falls on the Sun in your birthchart. This is a very important year ahead. Things are going to be cracked wide open. Responsibilities are going to be increased. Are you ready to handle them? You are a person with a great amount of determination, but sometimes slow on the trigger. You can make this condition a definite asset. Of course, much depends upon how well you may be prepared to assume new responsibilities.

478 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which is forming this month and which will be in effect into next year, falls on your Second Solar Cusp. Money matters will play a larger part in your life during the forthcoming year than ever before. To have two major planets strike the second cusp of your chart simultaneously is most unusual. It might only happen once in a lifetime. It means financial responsibilities, but don't mind that. Your mind will be more occupied with money matters, and you will be out to collect.

479 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which is forming this month and which will be in effect into next year, falls on your Third Solar Cusp. The whole world is going to be undergoing a readjustment during the next year, and your mind will be very deeply concerned with the whole affair. You will want to see what you can do about it. Many other people will also be concerned, and this mutual interest and concern will cause you to form new friendships, among both sexes, which will ultimately prove of value.

480 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which is forming this month and which will be in effect into next year, falls on your Fourth Solar Cusp. This is a vitally important year. You face readjustments. These readjustments may apply to home affairs, property matters or occupational endeavors. There will be heavier responsibilities pertaining to these things. The Jupiter-Saturn conjunction always eliminates things which have served their purpose in your life from Nature's point of view. It will be wise to be very discreet in handling money or property matters.

481 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which is forming this month and which will be in effect into next year, falls on your Fifth Solar Cusp. This drives a person into more individual action. You want to do things more on your own. It might cause a man to go into business for himself. It will make a woman want to be more the master of her own affairs. If a person has children, it will bring problems thru these children. Their affairs will necessitate more attention. It will be necessary to take greater interest in their problems.

482 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which is forming this month and which will be in effect into next year, falls on your Sixth Solar Cusp. This will bring about a lot of odd developments with a subtle background. It will bring you in contact with people who are your inferiors. If you employ others, you have a good many problems thru such people, but not serious ones. The way to avoid difficulties is to go forth and find out what those beneath you need, and how you can help them.

483 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which is forming this month and which will be in effect into next year, falls on your Seventh Solar Cusp. You are headed into an eventful year. You will be brought in contact with big undertakings. There will be a few economic earthquakes affecting the affairs of other people, people with whom you come in contact. These, of course, will be a little upsetting, but if on your toes, you can constantly turn upsetting circumstances to your advantage. Be very careful about loaning or borrowing money, however.

484 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which is forming this month and which will be in effect into next year, falls on your Eighth Solar Cusp. This configuration is apt to bring pretty heavy responsibilities, particularly where handling money or property of other people or of deceased persons. It might also bring important relations with banks, trust or insurance companies. If you have partners, the money affairs of partners are apt to face rather serious ups and downs. Be very careful about lending or borrowing money.

485 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which is forming this month and which will be in effect into next year, falls on your Ninth Solar Cusp. This is a strong indication, and it will have an important effect on your mind. It causes one to seek after new truths. If other factors in a person's horoscope agree, it might lead one into some form of publishing or advertising—even printing. It could also bring about travel.

486 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which is forming this month and which will be in effect into next year, falls on your Tenth Solar Cusp. This will bring climaxes and changes where the factor of authority is concerned. You are going to want to be your own boss, or you are going to want a different boss. Of course, much depends on your present status in life. A great many people will face this same aspect. Not all will respond in just the same way. Among other things, problems can arise thru the factor of sex. You become more impulsive.

487 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which is forming this month and which will be in effect into next year, falls on your Eleventh Solar Cusp. Friends will play a vitally important part in your life during the forth coming year, and this applies to friends among both sexes. Your own popularity will be on the increase. Your social life will be more fully developed. And yet, some of your friends are likely to have severe upsets from an economic point of view.

488 The conjunction of Jupiter and Saturn, which is forming this month and which will be in effect into next year, falls on your Twelfth Solar Cusp. Thus, this is certainly a year of introspection. It's going to be a year when you are struggling to overcome limitations within yourself in order to make a more important place in life for yourself. We all have limitations. We all have elements of character which hold us back. One of us might lack artistic ability on the surface. It exists within, but we can't bring it out. When planets transit thru the twelfth house of our charts, there rises the desire to improve ourselves and to improve our position in life.

501 This month, the planet Mars will cross the Sun in your birthchart. This can act in two ways. A lot depends on you. If you let your impulses run wild, it can cause accidents or quarrels. On the other hand, it is a very strong business stimulus, and if you keep things under control, you can accomplish much.

507 This month, the planet Mars crosses a point opposite the Sun in your birthchart. You will meet up with aggressive people. The other fellow makes the move. This can react

"Unfit to live!" That was the final verdict of the Elders on Mark Evanthes, the man from the past. But Evanthes had to live, had to protect his new world against the devouring plague that menaced it from below—and did, in Helen Weinbaum's action-packed novelette, The Radium-Bugs!

In the same issue are Invisible One, a long novelette by Neil R. Jones about life under the crim-governments of tomorrow's world; The Girl in the Bottle, Jack Williamson's epic of the weird allies of a Nazi dictator; and six other tales of the best in super-science fiction!

in two ways. Where a person has done anything to antagonize others, this is where they would display their hostility. On the other hand, this is the type of period where other people make proposals.

577 The period from the 10th to 16th of this month is a time when you can make progress, although the type of work you must do to accomplish that progress may not be as tasteful as you might desire. It is still a trying time for a very large number of people in the world. See what you can do to help others as you go along. People on the whole will be very materialistic, but they will appreciate real help.

578 The last five days of the month will prove a wild period. Things will be happening. There will be much inspiration, and the impulse to do radical things. Those mysterious urges which come up from the subconscious will be in evidence. In addition, funny things will be happening around you. They may be difficult to understand. Keep on your toes, and keep the emotions well under control. Otherwise progressive.

IS YOUR Rupture GETTING Worse?

It is terrible to feel that your rupture is constantly getting worse, taking the joy out of life, even making you feel despondent—without your seeming to be able to DO anything about it! And yet, it's so needless! We have information for you that has brought deliverance and joy to thousands of men, women and children, as PROVED by their letters of gratitude—now on file in our office.

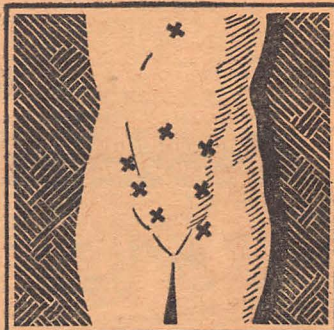

STOP IT, STOP IT! Be Yourself Again!

As sure as you live and breathe, if you have a reducible rupture, you can stop your rupture worries—find yourself alive and energetic and rid of all the old fears that made your existence a bad dream!

THE FAMOUS BROOKS AUTOMATIC AIR-CUSHION APPLIANCE WILL SET YOU FREE

There is nothing experimental about the famous BROOKS Air-Cushion Rupture Appliance. It has been used for years and repeatedly made better and better! What is the Patented Automatic Air-Cushion? It is the part that holds back your rupture—the most important part of any truss. It is a yielding, air-filled rubber chamber that holds with complete security without gouging in. Ill-fitting trusses do gouge in! The BROOKS permits the edges of the rupture opening to remain close together. Thus nature is sometimes able to close the opening, making a truss unnecessary. While we make no promise, the fact is, thousands of former Brooks wearers have reported no further need for a truss.

The very day you put on a BROOKS Patented Air-Cushion, you will feel reborn! That's because the Air-Cushion clings as nothing else can! No more fear of slipping, to let the rupture down. No more dread of strangulation!—and—at last!—complete freedom to indulge in every normal activity! And what a relief to realize that your BROOKS will have no springs, no metal girdle, no agonizing pressure devices, but—instead—will give such bodily comfort that you'll hardly know the truss is there at all. The BROOKS has proved a Godsend to thousands! Why not to YOU?

X Where Is YOUR Rupture?

WRONG

Hard pad gouging in keeps Rupture open and prevents natural healing.

RIGHT

BROOKS Air-Cushion does not spread rupture opening. Gives nature a real opportunity!

DIGESTIVE JUICES FAILING?

Then Food CAN'T Digest Right, Your Strength Goes—You Feel Rotten, You Look Older . . . Start those Digestive Juices Flowing Normally Again

If there is nothing organically wrong with you, a common cause of poor digestion is a WEAK flow of DIGESTIVE JUICES. Then food can't digest right. You feel SOUR, often have HEARTBURN, gas, a DIZZY head.

You must do something to start digestive juices flowing NORMALLY again. Set the millions of tiny cells in Fleischmann's Yeast to work on those digestive glands. This yeast is a STIMULATOR. It starts the juices forming faster. Then digestion should pick up—in test cases it was greatly increased. When digestion improves, strength should begin to come back so that you feel like a NEW person. Get Fleischmann's Yeast today. Eat one cake first thing in the morning, another $\frac{1}{2}$ hour before supper.

FREE—Write for "You Can't Feel Well If Digestive Juices Are Failing," to F. V. Co., Dept. S-S, 691 Washington St., New York. Absolutely FREE!

ding a point square opposite the transiting Mars.

Here is how:

Rad. Sun in 20.29 Taurus, or from Aries 50.29
plus rad. Moon in
28.10 Virgo or from Aries 178.10

228.39

Divided by 2 equals 114.20

or 24.20 Cancer, which equals Mars transiting in 24.30 Capricorn.

And:

Rad. Moon
28.10 Virgo, or from Aries 178.10
plus rad. Meridian.
21.00 Scorpio, or from Aries 231.00

409.10

Divided by 2 equals 204.35

or 24.35 Libra, and this is square to Mars tr. 24.30 Capricorn.

In the foregoing we have shown the way we calculate Midpoints in the Horoscope. The above two:

Sun-Moon and Moon-Meridian (M. C.) are two of the most important Midpoints of the Horoscope and the transiting Mars connected this way with three of the Cardinal Significators of the Horoscope of Great Britain.

We have used what is called in Uranian Astrology the simplest kind of Planetary Pictures, those composed of three planets, one of the three being on the Midpoint of the other two.

In the case of Sun-Moon (this is the way we indicate a Midpoint), the planet Mars is opposite the Midpoint (or half-distance point), or in other words he is on the same AXIS.

WILLKIE?

SEE OCTOBER ISSUE

NEW ASTROLOGY

This makes the first class of Planetary Pictures

The second one: Moon-Meridian, is square to Mars, or rather Mars is square to it, and the two lines or AXES are crossing each other at an angle of 90 degrees, and this makes the third class or an indirect planetary picture, which happens every time the whole planetary picture is composed of more axes than one, BUT please note: These axes must relate to each other by 45-90 or 135 degrees.

The second class of Pictures has not been described as we have had no occasion so far to illustrate it. But to state it briefly, it is a Planetary Picture composed of at least four planets and where the Mid-point of the two pairs of them are on one and the same axis.

But the War Lord (Mars) connects with the chart of Great Britain also in another way:

The rad. Saturn is in 5.06 Gemini, the ANTISCION of this planet is in 24.54 Cancer right opposite the transiting Mars in 24.30 Capricorn.

(Please keep in mind that the transiting Mars was moving and eventually perfected this connection, which by the way, indicates many deaths.)

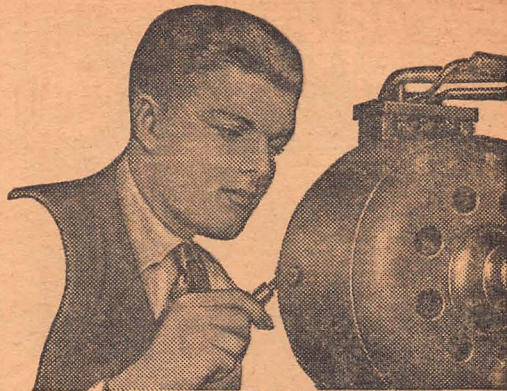

We have just mentioned an Antiscion. What is this?

It is really a shame that it should be necessary to define an Antiscion. The Astrologers of old used Antiscions, but the moderns have discarded them with other Astrological elements which they failed to understand, much to the loss of the science.

The Antiscion is a point in the ecliptic, exactly as far on the other side from the Axis of the Earth (0 degrees Cancer—0 degrees Capricorn) as the planet is on the one side.

In our case the rad. Saturn is lacking to the point Cancer 24 degrees 54 minutes; this added to the point Cancer makes it 24.54 Cancer.

We advise you to keep this magazine for future reference, as we shall use the same horoscope and event to further explain the Uranian System.

VIRGO

find an arrogant Virgo, it is the exception, not the rule. They usually dress neatly, but not gaudily. You'll most often find them conservative about their clothes. Also, they think carefully before they act. In philosophical matters, they will be interested, but it is doubtful whether they will delve deeply. In educational matters, their interest will lie chiefly where they can use something to practical advantage. They are practical in the usual sense of the word.

If Virgo owes you $21.16½, he will remember it exactly as $21.16½, and not as any other or round figure. Often, there is a tendency to worry too much about what are considered by others as unimportant things. When Virgo is inventive, it is usually in connection with some small and useful article, rather than in connection with some plan that will revolutionize the world. In love and emotional matters, they think too much and feel too little. That is Virgo. Virgo is a useful sign. Virgo takes care of and looks after a lot of things that would be neglected if we didn't have Virgo with us.

act, Hitler marched his forces into Poland. In four weeks, he had mopped up.

It is inauspicious to start a venture just prior to an eclipse. There was an eclipse of the Sun on April 7th, 1940. Hitler held back his invasion of Norway and Denmark until April 9th. He waited until Jupiter reached his Sun; and Mars the sextile thereto, supposedly a very favorable omen, and he marched into Holland and Belgium. He conquered all of these countries quickly.

When transiting Mars opposes natal Uranus in a birthchart, there is usually a temporary setback in the individual's life. This was one other method we used to test the two charts of Hitler. When the crossing in the 1889 chart occurred, nothing happened. When the crossing in the 1882 chart occurred, the Graf Spee was defeated and blown up. Astrological textbooks long associated this aspect with explosions.

On November 8th, 1939, an attempt to bomb Hitler in the Buergerbreau Cellar occurred. Hitler wasn't there. He was traveling. If we use the 1882 chart, Mercury, which is associated with travel, was opposing his natal Moon in Gemini, which is associated with travel. Mercury is also associated with publicity, and on that day, Hitler was the main news story.

HITLER'S ASTROLOGICAL TRICKS

I never have thought Moon in Capricorn (1889 chart) fitted Hitler. Moon in Gemini gives a flexible person. Hitler is flexible. Mussolini has the Moon in the same position. I know the disadvantages of Moon in Capricorn. I have it there myself. Hitler does not have those particular disadvantages or characteristics.

There are also astrologers in Germany who have used the 1889 chart. Last Spring, Hitler forbid the publication of these astrologers' predictions in Germany.

Adolf Hitler became an enigma to the whole world. Year after year, his abilities, possibilities and strength were underestimated. If the 1882 chart is correct, then Hitler has performed a master astrological stroke of trickery. It has not been his only astrological trick. It would have been an excellent plot for the fiction writer, except that no one would have considered it as approaching reality. But they say truth is stranger than fiction, and if the 1882 chart is correct, Hitler has not only fooled the astrologers of the world, he has beaten the fiction writers to a good story. If the 1882 chart is correct, too much is going to happen between the time I am writing this article (June 8th) and the time you read it to make predictions. Any predictions I might make from here would probably seem stale at the time you read about them. Suffice it to say that it is time America learned to utilize the assets to be found in astrology.
