SEEN AND UNSEEN.

By E. KATHARINE BATES.

6/- cloth gilt.

This is an extract from a letter written by Mr. W. T. STEAD:—

"No psychic can read it without recognizing its intrinsic value and essential truth. . . . A keenly observant eye in a very sceptical head, which possesses a memory of phenomenal retentiveness, has enabled you to produce a book which I venture to think is destined to become a classic in the library of every serious student of Borderland."

Crystal Gazing and Clairvoyance. Embracing Practical Instructions in the Art, History, and Philosophy of this Ancient Science. By JOHN MELVILLE. New and Revised Edition. With illustrations. Crown 8vo, cloth, 5s.

"This work contains an interesting chapter treating of the ancient practice of Crystal-Gazing historically. The directions for gazers are precise and clear, as are the interpretations of the appearances of various clouds on the crystal. The subject of hygienic clairvoyance is also dealt with. The accounts of the prescriptions recommended in trance are curious, and might be worth testing."

THE TWO WORLDS says:—"The author writes clearly and presents the ancient science in a manner that is interesting. The technical portions of the book are sufficiently simplified. It is better worth the price asked for it than more pretentious, but less useful works issued at a higher price."

Mr. Wilde's public Test Horoscope proved the truth of Astrology fourteen years ago.
Mr. Stead wrote:—

"Geo. Wilde, Esq.

"Aug. 23rd, 1893.

"Dear Sir,—I yesterday read over your Horoscope to the subject of it—the test-case, I mean. You will be pleased to know that both he and I were immensely staggered by your success. You hit off with extraordinary accuracy so many events of his past life that it was quite wonderful,—I am, yours very truly, and the Masculine in Woman.*

Crown 8vo. 3s. 6d. net.

CONTENTS :—I. ABSOLUTE DIFFERENCE OF SEX—II. THE ORIGIN OF LIFE, OR HOW IT IS THAT "THINGS" GROW—III. THE ORIGIN OF SEX—IV. THE FEMALE MIND IN MAN; ITS INFLUENCE ON THE INNER SELF—OCCULTISM AND SPIRITUALISM—V. THE MALE INTELLECT IN WOMAN—VI. DREAMS—VII. MEMORY—VIII. HYPNOTISM—IX. SENSIVITY AND LOVE—X. ON ENTERING INTO HARMONY AND SYMPATHY WITH THE INNER MIND—XI. OF MUTUAL INFLUENCE—XII. THE IMMORTALITY OF THE SOUL—XIII THE EXISTENCE OF GOD.

"A curious theory of the psychology of sex. . . . The chief point of the theory is that every man has so much woman in his nature, every woman so much man in hers."—Scotsman.

"The book is the fruit of wide eclectic reading, and is in line with the best thought of the time."—Daily News.

FLAXIUS:

Leaves from the Life of an Immortal.

Crown 8vo. 3s. 6d. net.

"Mr. Godfrey Leland, apart from the keen sense of humour which inspires the 'Hans Breitmann Ballads,' has a great deal of old-world knowledge at command. Both the humour and the knowledge jostle one another in 'Flaxius', a book which is rather a rhapsody than a romance. Flaxius is an Immortal, and into his lips Mr. Leland puts his own philosophy of Life."—Standard.

"These 'Leaves from the Life of an Immortal' are characteristic of Leland's genius. Flaxius is a 'Wandering Jew,' but with a difference, for there is nothing sinister about his immortality. But it is quite impossible to conceive any idea of this book. It is enough, surely, to say that it is Mr. Leland to send people of sense to it."—Spectator.

"The book is in the author's best vein, and when we have said that it is accorded to it the very highest praise."—Yorkshire Post. E.C.

By Dr. CAROLUS REX, Initiate.

Published by Mme. BIANCA UNORNA, 31B, Clanricarde Gardens, Bayswater, W.

This brochure constitutes a compact guide to the choice and use of the true and genuine Eastern Black Mirror, which is at once the quickest and easiest means for the unfoldment of the faculty of Transcendental Clairvoyance, and the best instrument for the use of the developed Crystal-gazer. This little work is alike interesting and useful to the developed Clairvoyant, and to all desirous of opening up their Psychic Faculties.

Crystal Gazing and Clairvoyance. Embracing Practical Instructions in the Art, History, and Philosophy of this Ancient Science. By JOHN MELVILLE. New and Revised Edition. With illustrations. Crown 8vo, cloth, 5s.

"This work contains an interesting chapter treating of the ancient practice of Crystal-Gazing historically. The directions for gazers are precise and clear, as are the interpretations of the appearances of various clouds on the crystal. The subject of hygienic clairvoyance is also dealt with. The accounts of the prescriptions recommended in trance are curious, and might be worth testing."

OCCULT REVIEW PSYCHOMETRIST.

ANY reader desiring to have questions answered by the OCCULT REVIEW Psychometrist, must cut out, and send up, not less than four coupons such as that given below, and dispatch the copies from which they are cut to friends who may possibly be interested in the subject-matter of the magazine. Each querent will be entitled to ask not more than two questions. Any reader desirous of having his, or her, character and general conditions psychically diagnosed, will be required to send up not less than eight coupons, and double space will be allotted to these diagnoses. Readers who desire to avail themselves of this offer should send either a glove or tie, or piece of ribbon that they have worn constantly, or failing this an ordinary letter. Whatever is sent must be done up in a separate parcel, marked with the name or assumed name of the inquirer, and sealed. This separate parcel should be sent under the same cover as the letter containing the inquiry and the necessary coupons. Care must be taken that the article or letter is kept away from contact with other influences previous to its dispatch, as these tend to confuse the Psychometrist. The articles thus sent will not be returned.

THE NEW SHILLING SERIES.

Size  $5\frac{1}{2} \times 3$  inches.

THE ART OF THINKING: AN ADDRESS WITH EXAMPLES. By Mrs. EGERTON EASTWICK.

*.* This little treatise is not designed to set forth a list of inexorable rules, without the practice of which the Art of Thinking is not to be acquired; it is merely intended to suggest, to offer, those rules as aids when they are found practicable and sympathetic. The main object is to think well and effectively; the manner of arriving at that end must be left greatly to individual temperament, although the grammar of mental language written by masters of the art is not to be despised.

OUT OF THE SILENCE. By JAMES RHOADES.

*.* This poem is an attempt to embody in verse the doctrine of what is misnamed the "New Thought," i.e. that by conscious realisation of the indwelling Principle of Life, man may attain to completeness here and now. While outwardly conforming to the metrical form of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, "Out of the Silence" is in obvious opposition to its teaching.

THE SACRED TREASURY.

Edited by FREDERIC CHAPMAN.

Pott 8vo ( $6 \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in.). Price bound in cloth, 2s. net; leather, 2s. 6d.

THE HUNDRED BEST POEMS OF JOHN AND CHARLES WESLEY. With Portraits.

*.* If John and Charles Wesley had not been the sons of a poet and poets themselves, it is hardly too much to say that the spread of Wesleyan Methodism could never have been as world-wide as it has. Their hymns were even more influential than their sermons, and in them the dead evangelists yet speak wherever the English language prevails. Such universal favourites as "Jesu, lover of my soul," and "Hark how all the welkin rings" (generally perverted into "Hark the herald angels sing"), however, though they may have introduced poetry into households where perhaps no other poetry is known, do not prepare one to learn that the complete poetical works of the brothers extend to thirteen volumes of about five hundred pages each. From an immense mass of verse it has been the Editor's endeavour to select one hundred poems, which, judged purely by poetical standards, may legitimately be described as "The Hundred Best Poems of John and Charles Wesley."
