A se-belonging to this same category of wonders has just occurred in my own family, and which, for the illustration it alfords of an my own hamity, may vancen, sor the innerration in atoms of this branch of psychological mystery. I will here briefly relate. On Wednesday evening, Sept. 8, as my wife lay upon her led, perfectly awake, she had a distinct vision of a functul assemblage at a hease which she had accerd before seen. The see was apparently situated at the course of a street, with left gable end facing the street, which formed the course nouse was apparently situated at the center of a street, with its left gable end facing the street, which formed the center with the cose on which it fronted, and in the yard before the door there were serveral large trees. At a first view, the assemblage seemed to be standing, without eaber, before the door. The control he hier method the strength her strength here. spectacle being unpleasant, she diverted her atten-t for a few moments; but soon the vision opened again, and she saw the procession marching round the corner al along the other ste t, the ground of which was ascending nong the other street, the ground of which was averaging, now no hearse, but about half way along the line of the ission she saw a "dark, square thing," which was borne procession use saw a " unit, square tang," when was come along by several persons, but which, owing to its position, she could not see with sufficient distinctness to tell what it was. On the next day offer this vision occurred, I very surpret-elly received a letter from Clinnes, Hunterdon Ca., N. J., inment on the orening previous. The house (of the ' which I had had no knowledge before) I found upon the corner of a street, with its left gable end exposed, and trees in front, just as had been seen in the vision; and on the day of the funeral, as I followed the body of my de-reased relative from his house, I was struck with the exact realization, even to its minutest particulars, of the scene derealization, even to its immutes particular, is the scene de-striking.
