FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES

There is a principle in Nature which impels every entity to seek vibratory correspondence with another like entity of opposite polarity.

There is a great fundamental Principle of Nature back of the process which integrates inorganic matter, organizes vegetable and animal matter, into living, organic bodies, renews and sustains Individual Life, and constitutes the essential foundation of all development and growth—it is Nature's Constructive Principle in Individual Life.

There is a great fundamental Principle in Nature which, in all its operations and manifestations, is dissolving, disintegrating, disorganizing, decomposing, and devolutionary in its nature and tendencies. It is known to science as Nature's Destructive Principle.

Morality is the established harmonic relation which You, as an Individual Intelligence, sustain to the Constructive Principle of Nature.

Morality is your established harmonic relation to the constructive principle of your own being.

The Moral Accountability and Personal Responsibility of an Individual at any given time, depend upon the amount of knowledge he possesses, other things being equal.

Natural Science-You

Natural Science is the facts and truths manifested throughout all Nature—physical, spiritual, mental, moral, and psychical.

The Philosophy of Individual Life is the deductions and conclusions which men have drawn from the facts and truths of Nature in its many manifestations.

The Great Intelligences, of all ages, through study and research, have discovered and disclosed the fact and truth that Nature's purpose is to Individualize Intelligence.

Individual human Intelligence is Nature's highest manifestation, so far as is known.

Therefore, The Great School of Natural Science, which teaches Natural Science and The Philosophy of Individual Life, is interested in the Individual Intelligence, the "You"—your sorrows and joys, your ambitions and aspirations, your selfishness and unselfishness, your courage and self-pity, your strength and your weakness.

The purpose of The Great School of Natural Science is to assist You in your pursuit of Individual Life and Liberty and your Struggle for Individual Happiness.
