

THE

ETERNAL HARMONIES

Spiritual

NUMEROLOGY

By

Pythagoras.

Number

4

Recd by
Helen Mello

THE

ETERNAL HARMONIES

Spiritual
NUMEROLOGY

By

Pythagoras.

Number

4

Recd by
Helen Wells

THE ETERNAL HARMONICS

Dictated by

P Y T H A G O R A S

Author of
"The Science of Numbers" and "Collection of Articles"

Received by
Helen Wells

C o n t e n t s

Booklet #4

The Governing Planets and Their Subsidiaries	91
Lesson XIV
The Unforgettable Teacher	96
Lesson XV
Theoretical Driftwood	102
Lesson XVI
The Vibrational Thread of Destiny	107
Lesson XVII
The Electrical Laws of Positive and Negative	114
Lesson XVIII
The Geneology of the Akashic Records	118
Lesson XIX
Questionnaire	124

THE WELLS' EXTENSION LIBRARY
593 Riverside Drive
New York City

THE GOVERNING PLANETS AND THEIR SUBSIDIARIES.

XIV

In answer to the question asked yesterday about two obscure planets, I would like to say that there are Governing Planets and Subsidiary planets. Jupiter, Saturn, Mars and Venus are the Governing planets of our Constellation, the others are Subsidiary, or to explain more fully, they contain those forces which blend with Earth, (for example,) and through their services and their varieties of vibrational powers they often carry out, or act as a dispersing center of those forces which lie in the Governing Powers.

Now, by the "Governing Powers," I mean those planets whose abilities each seem centralized on some one particular line of electrical labor, mental, spiritual. Suppose I liken it into a granary, with separate bins, and in one bin is poured the wheat, in another the oats, in another the corn, and in another the barley. Now the wheat is to be used for the benefit of many people in many places, those people cannot all of them come to this granary and help themselves, but they send out their order or desire for this particular grain, and then those forces are utilized whose vibratory powers, or carrying powers, are best suited for utilization for that particular customer.

For example, Earth being one customer, sends out a desire for inventive powers, creative powers, Jupiter has a large stock on hand of inventions already perfected, and ready to launch out into the World of Space and Planets. These Subsidiaries, or perhaps we may call them assisting planets, summon their remarkable array of vibrational powers, and act through this as the carriers or the connective links between Jupiter and Earth.

There are a number of these planets, some of them as yet undiscovered by Earth. They are not new planets, they are as old as Time itself, but in the involuntary swinging of Earth into a little wider circle of the spiral extending progressive line, Earth has swung into a position in the Spaces which enables a closer vision of some of these Subsidiary planets. Remember there is perfect unity of purpose in all this.

There is no "greater" or "less" in the value of the planets, but some are the centers of individual creative forces. And that planet is no more superior than those who have the ability to carry the production into the markets. I think I have mixed my metaphor a trifle, but I hope I have made plain the thought which was too extensive to give at the time the question was asked .

I would like to add, if I may use such a homely comparison, that the salesman who comes to your door with the article you desire, is of just as much value in the putting over of the product as the manufacturer of that article, one cannot succeed without the other. We have been anxious, and I think it has been Dr. Mathewson's plan to have you first become acquainted with the Manufacturers, appreciating the purity of their goods, and later I think he will introduce to you more perhaps of the nature of these subsidiary salesmen.

I told you last week how the repetition of a sound creates a tone vibration which we hear - and that tone vibration registers in the Spaces. Through the interblending of all of these natal vibrations we are able to assist mankind through the natural law of need and supply. Therefore it is quite a sacred trust to be able to give a name to a child.

Somehow I do not feel like giving you a strict lesson this morning. I feel more like chatting with you. Trying to break down that peculiar awe which you have because of my extended years. If you each look back to your childhood years they seem but as yesterday.

The long dragging hours of sleepless nights are forgotten in a few days, the unhappy misery leaves a scar on the memory, but it is not a scar that burns and stings; and sometimes as time lapses, you look at it and wonder how that scar happened to be there, for the mist with which Time covers the ugly things of life is much the same as the mists which covers the river, and the squalor which lies along banks, and you see only a faint tracery of that which you recall lies there.

And so my years seem to me like a tale that is told. And I have as keen interest in our work today ~~as~~ you have in your work of today. There is one thought I would like to impress upon my pupils and it is this: waste no time regretting the past, waste no time in framing the future, conserve all your activities for your skill, for your keenness of perception into making today as perfect a day as possible.

If you do this everyday you will have a garland of days that shine with the glory of industry, of sacrifices, of love, and of the fresh contacts with fresh minds in which you receive even more than you give.

One can never gain Heaven by the regrets for yesterdays. Yesterday has gone beyond recall, but ~~T~~oday is yours, give out all the love and hopefulness that you possibly can, and bring to yourself all the joy and happiness and pleasures that bring to you that inner glow of satisfaction. And as you accomplish each duty, well done, you are building for yourself a wonderful ~~T~~omorrow.

Life is a glorious thing, my children, and here in this Land of Understanding, in this Land of Limitless Space, limitless opportunities, limitless friendship (and friendship is the highest form of love of which the human soul is capable, in regard to his fellow man) is this sublimated friendship, which you often call love.

Oh I could sing for ever of the value of life, and when these Anxients come back, before whom I am a little child, they bring with them the very essence of happiness. Therefore, when I say to you, repeating the words of the Bible, "Choose ye, whom you will serve, God, (or the spiritual elevation of your own soul), or Mammon (which means Earth and money, and the enjoyment of the five senses). Everyone of these you may indulge and enjoy during that brief little span of life upon Earth. But you cannot bring it with you it is left at the little gate through which every human soul must pass.

Do not come here starved, come rich in the things you have gained because you, having your ^{spi}ritual eyes open, have discerned spiritual things.

Lovingly,

Pythagoras.

THE UNFORGETTABLE TEACHER

XV

Monday, Apr. 22nd, 1935

In the formative period of life there exists many devious designs through which the mind of man and the mind of child obtain a knowledge that is unforgettable. So often you wonder why you have had certain experiences that were either very joyful or very disastrous. You may have had experiences wherein your feet seemed to stray from the path of virtue and slipped into that rosy path of emotional sensation. And afterward you wondered if it was really you that said and did those things.

And yet through it all there was a plan whereby you could feel the humiliation of weakness, and the retaliation of sorrow, that you had so far loosened the reins of your emotional nature. A perfectly smooth road does not add to a driver's skill in managing his horses, but it is when the driver has learned to see danger ahead, to sense the instability of some of the sandy roads, that his eye becomes alert and his senses quickened. If perchance it is necessary that he meets with an accident due to his lack of perceptive powers, then that driver becomes keenly aware of the necessity of utmost vigilance.

So you see there are devious roads through which Experience becomes an unforgettable teacher. Probably no human being exists that in honestly looking back over his life, would not see errors, mistakes, foolish indulgences in foolish things, and those while they do not haunt, they do not enhance his memory's pages.

Do not feel anyman accursed because he has erred. There are many chances that that one error has modeled his life into a better sense of the value of purity, the value of a positive character, and added to his power of discernment. To discern good from evil necessitates more than sentiment. You must realize that the vibrations coming through atmosphere are not always wise for you to accept. Good thoughts and bad thoughts float with equal rapidity, although on different lines of vibration, but to the poor human being who knows nothing of vibration, and whose auras are touched by these waves, can you wonder if sometimes the base and seen as perfect, through ignorant eyes?

One of the wise teachers has said, "With all thy getting, get Wisdom". Now to "get", means to obtain. To obtain wisdom is quite different from "to receive" wisdom. A willing nature may receive, but it must be an ardent nature that obtains. The very word means effort on the part of the one who would obtain it. In all these lessons which so many Astronomers and Astrol-ogers are trying to understand today, there is so much that is clouded, and there is much that is directly true and beautiful.

To the uninitiated we can offer one way of testing the value, and that is to watch your own reaction to any thought or vibration that you may receive. Numerically speaking, each person comes under certain lines of distinctive powers which you call "inheritance". For example, an ancestor who is deeply religious transmits through his atomic forces, and through his atomic forces, and through his spiritual forces a vibration which enters into the formation of that unborn child. This may be dispelled by some ancestral vibration which is quite the opposite, but it can never be eradicated, and in such a child, born from such utterly different lines of ancestral forces, you will probably find one who is "mercurial in temperament" . We say he has spells of exalted religious emotions, and he has periods of wild abandon to excesses that are frivolous and silly. Thus it is that in understanding a little more of the unseen vibrational powers, man is able to protect himself, through his own will power from those things which he has found are not conducive to intelligent, mental development.

As we have said before the repetition of a name or of a word forces a vibration which floats out into the atmosphere, and is reinforced through the law of attraction by the atomic forces which lie in atmosphere.

The reiteration of the word "peace" is not a foolish idea, it is exceedingly subtle, and we believe that if that word was introduced more into religious services you would find a better cohesion between the members. Jesus said, "My peace I give unto you". The peace which Jesus could give and did give, was that peace which no man could understand. One may receive it and not understand it. We all receive much and enjoy much that we n ever attempt to understand.

The vibrations of music, for example, how can you understand it? One vibration sets your feet in active motion and you feel as though you would like to trip dancingly over the floor and whirl and bow and smile. Another vibration, and to you it seems as though the pent up agony of years which you have so carefully buried, have stirred into active force and you with difficulty restrain the tears from filling your eyes. Another vibration, and all the dreamy happy anticipations of youth sweep over you with their mystic spell, dispelling all fear of the future and all anxieties. Because the elements of faith in the Unseen Something tinges your dreams with a rosy tint of joy and prosperity and success. Someone says, In youth's bright lexicon there is no such word as 'failure'.

Then there is the accusing vibration which rasps your mind as you recall the blunders and errors you have made, and the feeling of what you might have been and what you are, becomes a discordant jangle of bells of memory that are out of tune. So every man, woman and child are sensitive to vibrations that - like the wind, we know not whither it cometh, nor whence it goeth, and so is every one who is born of the Spirit".

When you can begin to understand through your knowledge of Numerology, and through your knowledge obtained from the study of the vibrational power of other planets, you can definitely decide upon the probability which may assail you. You can say, "From one ancestor, Jupiter, I receive and will receive vibrations thus and so. From another ancestor, Mars perhaps, I will receive vibrations quite different, and so I myself, the little human me, must understand what all this means, and adapt my will-power to being able to eradicate the undesirable and welcome the desirable".

The knowledge of Astrology will never make a man invulnerable to the conditions which surround him, but it does give him a better understanding of the cards which he holds in his own hands, and which have been dealt to him, through conditions over which he has no control. As he looks over his cards and places their valuation with his mind, he begins to appreciate the necessity of handling very carefully these cards, or these ~~ancestral~~ traits, or these star vibrations, which have come into his physical life. This knowledge will not alter the conditions, but it will teach man how to utilize those conditions in order to obtain the best results.

For example, I will take you back in your memory to a knowledge which was given through an Astrologer to one who had for years been receiving communications which were valuable, wonderful, but there was no way of putting out this writing automatically received, The collection grew greater and greater in number, and the receiver looking at it hopelessly said, "How will it be possible to give this to the world?" When the Astrologer read this party's chart, she said, "For seven years more you must pile up your writings, as your Spirit Friends have told you, and preserve them, and when this cycle in which you are now living has passed, the way will open through the law of your being".

Just the knowledge given by that Astrologer helped this receiver of the writings, to contain her soul in patience, satisfied that when the time was ripe, and the world was ready to receive, in some way and somehow the doors would open.

Can you not see how valuable the information given by that Astrologer has been? And upon the closing of the seventh year - just as this Astrologer had prophesied, the doors began to open just a little crack, but that was all the space that the abilities and the surroundings of the writer could possibly fill. But the door is swinging open wider and wider, and all of the things told by that Astrologer have become facts.

And we can add that in the wisdom of the Infinite Mind there is no error committed. These laws are just as immutable as the laws which you better understand. It will not be such a long period before there will be many who understand at least the outline of Astrology. Approach it with reverence.

The old Chaldeans (those Chemists of the early ages), were ardent students of the vibrations. Today there are collecting in different spots all over the Earth, people who are beginning to understand what the word "vibration" means, and its value and what its imperative importance to the world means.

THEORETICAL DRIFTWOOD

XVI

The advancing tide of civilization is washing many bits of refuse that have danced upon the sea of progress, sometimes on the top of the wave, sometimes submerged under stronger currents, and now they are being cast upon the beach for inspection. Much of these theories and beliefs are like the driftwood which the waves of the ocean are always bringing from broken vessels, and which betoken the fact of ship-wrecked sould.

When the cold eyes of Reason are turned upon these driftwood - theories, they are often found to contain much that is worthless, and much that is of value. And so the observer who is cautiously looking for additions to his store (either mental or material) never scorns these bits, but carefully places them under the microscope of truth, and with the hand of discrimination he dissects this theory or that creed carefully, preserving that part which wisdom accepts as logical.

Today fluttering through the air - like birds driven by a storm, are the manifold ideas and theoretical acceptance of these ideas. Many are strongly flavored with imagination, many have a selfish purpose, back of them, and many have the vibration of earnest endeavor. To understand and correlate these different theories into a semblance of truth and then reduce it to its simplicity, is one of the valuable points on Numerology.

Time is like the benediction of the ages, reinforcing by proving, clarifying by elimination, those simple laws which, "Made in the beginning of all known Time", have existed and will exist throughout all Time. It seems almost impossible to you of Earth today (who are living in that hurry and bustle of conflicting ideas and convergent duties, which beginning in your brain extends in many direction, each with its necessary allowance of time and thought,) to comprehend easily and readily the simplicity - for example, of sound. Sound travels just as vibrations of other kind travel.

I think your son* explained very accurately how the atoms with which the atmosphere is filled, are pressed against your face as well as your body, and when you open your lips and send out a sound (which is vocalized thought,) that vibration of sound breaks through and dislocates the original position of these atoms. You might say, "It bores a hole through Space", and as it goes on and on like the waves made by throwing a stone into a quiet pool, those vibrations always widen and - we might say, weaken in their rapidity of movement, but they go on just the same.

And like the note struck upon a piano whose vibration - if it comes in touch with some other strong instrument that is attuned to it, causes that other string instrument to emit a sound in perfect attune with that which was started by the key on the piano. In like manner the sound of a name when you are in touch with the Spirit World, will often bring many other people of the same name to you. Not that they know you, to them you are simply an instrument, you are the piano upon which somebody touched a keynote and it has vibrated to each of these who hear that name.

*Referring to, "Why and Wherefore of Atoms", by Bertrand L. Wells. 103

I am making this illustration to try ^{to} impress upon you the fact that you are really functioning in the fourth dimension, and the fourth dimension blends so unobtrusively into the fifth dimension, that you are never conscious ^{of} just what the waves of atmosphere which surround you are composed. Just in this manner the vibration of a name travels much farther than your Earth mind can comprehend.

Now you are asking, "If the name of a good man should also be the name of a very evil man who had died, and whose spirit was active and alive, would that name attract also the vibration and the force from that evil minded man whose name corresponded?" and I would answer, "No, because the two minds function on entirely different strata of thought, and thought is the power which decides the stratum of soul-life of each individual. Therefore there could be no correlation between the two thought-strata or planes. Just as you see the clouds all floating in the sky and yet passing and repassing each other without touching.

So can the thought forces of Earth send out into the ether that/^{with}which it is laden, and meet only the response from those of a like kind, which is a long and laborious way of referring you to the much quoted "Laws of Attraction".

Man protects himself by his own will-power of thought-force. If he wills to do that which he knows is God-like, he will draw to himself those of like vibration. And thus he "Grows in grace and in knowledge of good". There is probably not a name in existence that has not been used by both good and evil people. Therefore you see while we say much is in the name, we speak the truth, but it is the force behind that name which calls together those attracted vibrations from other names.

You cannot believe that the letters of a name have a potency not only in forming your character, but in showing you the keys upon which you may play. And these keys lie in your own individual personality. Understanding this, if you are wise, you will strike those keys which stand for power, for purity, for progression, and out of those keys given you with your name, you can evoke some of the most wonderful music. Because, through the law of attraction you bring into your keyboard those black keys, which are the half-tones and the quarter-notes of other people who are in harmony with you, and who help to add to your scope of musical composition.

Life is a very wonderful thing and a very beautiful opportunity is given every man to make much more of himself as an individual, a personality, a power, while he is upon the Earth plane, if he has an understanding of some of these simple fundamental laws.

To combine sounds with figures, to combine the alphabet of each language with the months and years and the days of the month is not such a difficult proposition as you think. ^{In the} English language there are 26 letters. In the division of Time there are 9 divisions. In a chart shown, you gathered a glimpse of the possibilities and the rational explanation of, and the correlation of, time and sound. Because the letters of the alphabet each represent a sound in vocalized thought. And the combination of these sound represent an idea. I have told you that one which you may call the Supreme "One", - God, or you may call it the personal one or - you, is divided into spiritual, mental and physical, - Or material. So you see you have the same classification that you saw described by the chart.
(Personal)

I am not going to tax you too much for I know that it is a difficult thing for one who is utterly unacquainted with the subject, to be led along by a rope of words like a lamb going to slaughter. To repeat sentences, and not be allowed time to digest the meaning of those sentences, becomes a difficult task dependant upon concentration and willingness, rather than upon interest and understanding. But I thank you both for your loving devotion to a topic which you will prize very highly in the future, but which, I ween, must seem to you now a rather dry and didactic method of entertaining you. But you know when you place a seed in the ground the seed is often an ugly little thing to look at, but the powers that are wrapped in that seed are beautiful beyond comprehension.

THE VIBRATIONAL THREAD OF DESTINY

XVII

Through all the entanglements of life which often appears so mysterious and so dismal, there runs a thread of destiny which had it been understood by its owner, could have been woven into quite another pattern and could have appeared in much more beautiful colors.

The great value of a knowledge of vibration is to enable each man to see for himself, to reason for himself, and to arrange for himself, the results of that seeing and reasoning. You have been told that vibrations are always pouring through the air and striking against your aura, vibrations emanating from pure minds, vibrations emanating from evil minds, and as these thought-waves touch your aura you receive or reject them, with just the wisdom which your understanding of the law of vibration has enabled you to utilize.

The average man says, "I can see this is true because it is illustrated in my radio". If there was no censorship of the radio speakers, there might a great deal of evil be recorded through its instrumentality. But as it is I have my choice of receiving or rejecting any music, the thoughts, the words, all I have to do is to change the rate of vibration by moving the little lever on my dial plate".

This is accepted as a fact and is proven as a fact. Now when your teachers tell you that your aura is your mental dial plate, and that you can change the rate of vibration by your own thought, and you will and can be the recipient of thought-forces from the higher Spaces, from the medium stratum of thought or from the lowest and vilest stratum, and that it all depends upon your abilities to discern, and your will power to readjust your dial, your mental dial.

When this is told to one who has not studied these subjects they exclaim, "Impossible, your mind is shattered, it is all fanciful!" And yet this same person will admit your ability to change the dial on the radio. The value of the lessons which I am trying to impart to you in regard to the vibrations coming from the planets, and your dial plate of mind, depends entirely upon your ability to receive and register these facts which I am giving to you.

A knowledge of what your natal vibration would bring to you, and a knowledge of how you may thwart or aid those natal vibrations is the real crux of the value of both Astrology and Numerology. This knowledge placed in your hands the instrument with which you may hew out a finer, better, pathway towards your highest ideals. If a man were to give to his son a chart which covered the road over which that son was to travel, and several places are marked, "Dangerous", "avoid this spot", and another was marked, "Beneath the flowers there is a morass into which your feet would sink, leave those flowers alone, do not attempt to pluck them", and another marking said, "This road is safe, easy to travel but leads along the lowlands at the foot of the mountains, before you are through with your journey you must climb the mountains, therefore here we have marked a shorter road but a little harder to travel, which will take you, if you follow it exactly, to the top of the mountains where your vision will be enlarged, where the air is purer and the flowers have sweeter fragrance."

And the man giving this to his son, "Now this is your chart of life, you have the choice of following this chart carefully and avoiding much disaster." Would you not think it well for the son to carefully study that chart? And to follow it as perfectly as he could the advice of the father who gave it to him?

The Great Creator of All, Whose wisdom is beyond all human minds, created the planets and to each planet He gave a special mission, and each planet fulfills that mission either consciously or unconsciously. It is not for man to question the Creator's wisdom. Our work as sons of the Great Father of All, is to try to try to understand the laws which are made and which have always existed and always will exist. Astrology tells you that the same laws which you call "Nature's laws", exists upon every planet and exist through all the spaces surrounding every planet:

Astronomy tells you that there are Constellations after Constellations, that the great unmeasured spaces stretch on and than

on beyond, the minds humans ever even imagined.

Numerology, which was born of Astronomy and Astrology, tells you how you - as a planet in embryo, can receive and modify and adapt this knowledge given to you by Numerology's parents, and how you can make it your own personal friend. For knowledge comes not alone to the Mighty but it comes to also the weak ones of Earth.

The man of ancient lore when sling-throwing was a modern warfare weapon, might be able to hurl a shot that would kill a giant because of his strength of muscle and keenness of eyesight, and yet that same man might not be able to register an unseen thing like an idea, and in that we would classify him as one of the weak (speaking from a numerological standpoint).

It is not the brawn of muscle which renders a man most strong,
It is that inner messenger which tell him right from wrong.
It is that subtle something which he can never see
That brightens all his pathway through all eternity.

I enjoy varying the monotone of solemn heavy thought by now and then a little picture suggested by rhythm.

We have told you that 3 is a very important number because it signifies the Trinity. And that 6 also signifies the union of two threes, the material and the mental, and that 9 is a union of the three trinities which brings the spiritual vibrations into that universal number 9. So you will find that the mystics of the past - those old Chaldean students of the skies, were able to formulate a certain combination, and this was given to them through the work of Melchizedek (who was probably the first marvelous medium spoken of or recorded rather in history). And the, "Order of Melchizedek", which was a utilization of spiritual knowledge and an adaptation of that knowledge to daily lives of humans, the points that Melchizedek discovered or received (perhaps is a better word), have been the basis of every secret society for good, that has been organized since then.

The trinity, the triune, the triangle, all mean the same, and all refer to man and his divisions numerically of physical, mental and spiritual potentialities.

In order to receive the benefits of any line of thought you must use your dial plate and tune in with that which you wish to learn. Even the strength given by names, or the weakness given by names, which acts as a magnet of sound to attract vibrations that are in harmony with those atoms of sound, even these may be changed by your own understanding of your own spiritual will power. When you look at your chart you can say, astrologically, "I am inclined to this, I do not consider this as a valuable asset, therefore I shall refuse to take this particular vibration seriously, it may come to me but I will not obey it."

Now is that not much better than to have, (through ignorance of your own powers,) registered this particular weak vibration, or rather inclinations towards weakness, and by this lack of knowledge found yourself involved in that which is neither good nor helpful, and which would only strengthen the weakest part of your character?

I am speaking along this line this morning because I want each to realize that an astrological chart and a knowledge of the laws of Numerology are as weapons that can be placed in your hands to aid you in the subjugation of selfishness, and other evil tendencies which come to you through the law of inheritance, and of which you are not guilty of desiring. As each man is simply the product of the atomic forces of his ancestors, it seems only fair that this law of inheritance should be able to be met, and subdue or turn aside those vicious propensities which have been bequathed to him through this same law of inheritance.

As you look at the little table of numbers and letters you will readily see how each man may become acquainted with himself and with his implements which have been given to him with which he must work out his own salvation.

You know there is always the two opposites, heat and cold, vice and purity, love and hate. It is as though the same octave which sounded in the center of the piano keyboard from

C to C and is reproduced in the octave above (because of an increased rate of vibration, made by the tautness of the strings which respond to vibrations), so does the same law run through the octave below the middle register, and the farther it will go upon the piano board you find that each tone represents a string that has a certain length, and each string vibrates only its length.

So in the lower region below the astral, the same law is carried out. There is no especial need for you to know about those lower astral regions, I only mention it to prove there is only one law given in the beginning of all Time and running through all planets in all Constellations.

THE ELECTRICAL LAW OF POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE

XVIII

In approaching the subject of the vibrational value of numbers and of letters, we would draw your attention to this fact. As every number has a value, so every letter has a number, and in our division of the numerical digits and the alphabetical signs you can see the close connections between the two.

As soon as you have an opportunity to fix definitely in your mind the numerical value of each letter in the alphabet, you will find a key that unlocks the doors to very interesting field of labor. It is difficult for the finite mind to comprehend the exactitude with which all Space, all Planets, all created life is divided numerically. And then to understand the reason why this division exists and see its value, opens the mind's eyes to broad visions.

These things are facts, just as the multiplication table is a fact with numbers, and you can understand so much more intelligently what I am trying to tell you when you have once begun to estimate and figure, and by so doing commit to memory some of these facts. Please at first accept them as facts, and later on you will understand the proof which will be given you.

You see it is much more difficult to impress upon a mind which is absolutely unconscious of these facts, the ultimate things which result from the knowledge. The same law of Nature which provides a positive and negative, which makes two sides to your body, two halves to your heart, your lungs, and your liver, two hands and two feet, two eyes and two ears all come under the electrical law of Positive and Negative. The perfect harmony shown in these halves is not lost when you divide it into thirds or fourths, subdivisions increase the number of the particles, but do not increase their value as a whole. A fraction of a thing is alive with all the potentialities of the whole, but in a smaller proportion. Just as your little finger is a part of your hand, but is not as efficient as your whole hand, so it is with the subdivisions of electrical power of physical strength or spirit, of air, of space and of everything.

These subdivisions occur in a natural law of things. The very opposites of heat and cold when blended make an equable and pleasant temperature. The very action of the eyes neither exactly alike bringing into focus objects produces a much clearer vision. It seems almost paradoxical to say "In division there is unison" or that, "Division does not produce disunion". When once this fundamental basis of all is firmly assimilated in your minds, then we can proceed more intelligently with the other basic principles .

Law governs all things, the law of love, of health, of justice, of selfishness and unselfishness. All the emotions of the mind, all the principles of the thought, are covered by the law of numbers. You cannot get away from it, so you might as well learn to understand it. Commencing with the uniting of two electrons which were parts of two different planets they together form one, and that one being strong in magnetic power begins to draw to itself and build up for itself through the ages and ages of time, that which you now call a planet.

The same law of attraction drew from out the atmosphere those tiny atomic forces which had been cast off into the spaces from other planets and were from the realm of vegetable, mineral, and animal life. Drawn to the planet Earth through the law of attraction, uniting with others of its kind, each in this uniting forming a stronger magnetic one, you can understand why all life is harmonious just as long as the law of love is unbroken. And the law of love would never be broken did man only understand himself and the Universe of which he is a part, and in which he is functioning while upon any planet. As all planets were formed through the same law, you can see why there is a unity between the planets, And you can see the value of those scientific investigators who are called Astrologers and Astronomers, for through their investigations the facts that all planets are governed by the same law, all life originates in the same way, and all character is built through this same law of attraction and unification is deduced.

Can you not see how all this simplifies the mystery of life? We always are pleased when man tries to understand the laws of God and we stand dismayed when man attempts to change those laws. There are many today who are accepting theories which would utterly destroy all law and order were these theories true. They appear to you very whimsical, and fantastic, and that is just exactly as they appear to us.

If everyone who believes in the theory of reincarnation would take up an earnest study of Astrology and Numerology they would see the impossibility of such a theory.

THE GENEALOGY OF THE AKASHIC RECORDS

XIX

Into the midst of your busy world
I come with my old time line and plummet,
Trying to sound the depths of the human mind
I come not in soft spoken sonnet.
I speak of the Invisible Divisions which last through all time.
I speak not in poetry, simply in rhyme

But the life line^s that come from Creative Force
Lead back to the Creator no matter what course
Or devious paths through which that line may wrangle
Time in its surety will all knots untangle.

It is impossible for one living on Earth to trace back through the generations the line of thought, of desire, which finally expressed itself in each individual name. Now you may ask, "What about the nameless waifs of whose parentage no one knows?" Here the analytical mind of the Spirit World does trace, because the genealogy of every life is written in the Akashic Records. When the conception of that unnamed babe took place both records, that of the father and the mother, went down on the Akashic Records, and so oft-times - not through the volition of the parents, but through the will of the ancestors of both parents, the impression of a name for that babe is given to the one who names it, and it is by this name the ancestral line is strengthened.

If you could look up the history of these babes named by people not their kin, you would find nearly everyone is a throw back or a repetition of a name already in the ancestral line of that child. It is in many ways that the World of Spirit aid the children of Earth. You may say "How can this be possible?" I cannot explain it so you would understand it, I can only say that the ancestral line has as perfectly defined marks as do the ancestral lines of a flower or a bird, or any other life.

For example, you classify your canaries, your finches, as of different branches of the same family, and you notice that each one of the finch family have a peculiar shaped bill. You never saw a parrot with a bill like a canary, you never saw a thrush with a bill like any other bird's. All the domestic thrushes have a peculiar shaped bills which designates the family tree.

Now that is true, and is only used as an illustration of the value of the Akashic Records. If it were only the few to whom the Spirit World were attracted it would be impossible to trace the ancestry of the nameless waifs. The few hours old babe found in the ash barrel, you would say, has no means possible of claiming its ancestral values. But you see every person living upon the Earth plane has his Spirit Friends, and the work of those Spirit Friends is to help in every way the work planned by the Creative Force.

So from the time of the conception of that babe, the ancestral line was being sought and attached and strengthened through the law of Progressive Force. If all the Spaces had no equational force in active operation, chaos would ensue, and it would be impossible to achieve a correct line of ancestral power.

And here is where the value of knowledge of the invisible something which we call numbers, comes into active use. It takes a mathematical mind to divide and subdivide and then again subdivide anything from an apple to the Universe.

What constitutes a Whole? Simply an aggregation of parts. A man stands before you, an automobile greets your eye, a bird pours forth his song, a flower delights your vision. Now the blossom, the song, the automobile, the man, is only an aggregation of parts. Numerically speaking the Cosmic Whole is perfected only by the blending into harmony of the separate parts of the whole.

Anything that subverts any one of the parts of a machine, be it a flower or automobile, bird or man, renders imperfect the work of the whole. Therefore to understand the value of numbers, and then to go a little farther and differentiate the quality of numbers when placed in conjunction with other numbers, and realize that the ancestral line of atoms back of that individual life, is working out its unfinished work through the present expression of the ancestral line, then you begin to appreciate the value of what is now called the Numerology. You have Theology and Psychology, Theology is the study of theory. Psychology the study of mind, and Numerology the study of the value of numbers, as applied to the subdivisions of space, mentality, of the physical body, and of the soul.

All this seems an overwhelming prelude, and yet like the compositions of some of the Master minds of music, with devious running cadences of notes, its theme of thought and its magnificent combinations of sound into those great fugues of Bach and Wagner, all these are simply combinations of tones harmonizing in one key. When the key is changed, then the combination is changed, but in the thought of the Composer the beauty of the whole is felt as all in attune with one key.

So it is with your lives. You each are written in some particular key, and that key is often determined, not only through the law of inheritance but through the law of numbers. Your natal vibration sets the key. Your ancestral vibrations form the notes of music underlying those additional notes which come to you through life and experience. When you consider that with all these diagrams - as you might call them, laid out before you with your natal vibrations pointing in one way, your ancestral atomic forces pointing another, and the blending forces coming from father and mother causing often an entirely different trend of force, still with all these three lines laid out before you you still have your own free will choice.

The pathways are suggestive but your choice is your individualized right. Any normal person desires to choose the most practical, helpful and pleasant and useful pathway of life. And Numerology is like a sign post on which you may read, "So many miles to such a place, so many miles to another place", and as you understand your own law of numbers, you are enabled to choose wisely those lines which belong to you through your ancestral, your natal and your inherited powers.

If every man today understood this, that he cannot go against this law, which relegates each man into that numerical line which he himself chooses. For example, you say, a man is undecided, he has an ancestral line which attracts him to a physician's studies, and he has another which strongly draws him towards music. Now if he understood the law of numbers as connected with him and with his name, he would carefully study that future which the Invisible Laws could bring to him through his own choice, or as the effect of his own choice.

To make this more practical, if he chooses to be a physician he is placed in a Medical College surrounded by boys whose tastes are similar to his own. His eyes will open to a thousand lines of thought, his whole thought-world in fact is along scientific discoveries that are valuable to the human body. Do you not see by that choice he has put himself into a line of surroundings that would mould his character.

If instead he chooses music and instead of the scalpel, he uses the musical piano keys or the bow of the violin, or the strings of a harp, he has set out on a musical surroundings in which all others are along that line of thought. It is impossible for him to help developing musically, he has chosen his numerical division of space. If he understood the reading of his name divisions, he could see whether success or failure in either line would be probable. Many a discontented physician, who really prefer^s music, and many musician who longs for scientific studies, would have avoided all this dissatisfaction which always results in mediocrity in any line which they pursue.

Numerology in its study upon Earth is in its infancy, and as you attract the attention of a baby by shaking a rattle which enables it to focus his eyes and develop his auditory nerves, so we come with the primary grade of interesting the individual in his own name. It is another Kindergarten method, just as learning to count by using colored blocks, learning to read by fanciful alphabets are the foundations of literature or mathematics.

So we may claim that the study of Numerology which often attracts one by its personal application to one's life, becomes the bugle call which sounds its clarion note and calls together those individual who are interested along the same line of thought.

All this is useful, all this is necessary for making your life upon Earth more clearly diagnosed, that you may avoid stumbling, that you may avoid disasters, that you may avoid wasted time. So do not consider it fanciful and foolish. The reports of the Bacteriologists fifty years ago were treated scornfully but what has been the result of their studies? The people laughed at the idea of germs, today precautionary efforts are used by even the most stupid of humans, all the result of some "foolish" Scientist "wasting their time looking through a microscope."

As Earth is still in its infancy all this ignoring the invisible is regarded simply as the result of ignorance, and so we, who have been hundreds of years looking through a microscope, feel that we are serving mankind by bringing to you this little understood and much jeered at study, called Numerology.

Q U E S T I O N A I R E

The Governing Planets and Their Subsidiaries. (14)

- 1) In what two classes are the planets divided?
- 2) Which are the Governing Planets in our Constellation?
- 3) Describe the abilities of each one.
- 4) What about the intrinsic value of each division?
- 5) What creative power does a repetition of a sound cause?
- 6) What lesson about waste of Time is given?

The Unforgettable Teacher (15)

- 1) How are some of the lessons given, through Experience?
- 2) What is one method offered to the uninitiated of proving the real value of a vibration?
- 3) What illustration is given of the power of musical vibrations?
- 4) Of what value is the study of Numerology to each individual?
- 5) How does the study of Astrology become beneficial?

Theoretical Driftwood (16)

- 1) Under what microscope should we view these varying and contradictory theories?
- 2) How can a knowledge of Numerology aid in correlating and discriminating truth from falsehood in all theories?
- 3) What is said about the fundamental laws, "Made in the beginning?"
- 4) What is said about the minute atoms which fill atmosphere, and what effect does a sound make upon them?
- 5) How does all this prove that we are already functioning in the 4th Dimension?
- 6) Why does a name, attract others of the same name living in the same stratum?
- 7) Why would an evil spirit be unable to respond even if he carries the same name?
- 8) By what power does man protect himself?
- 9) How can the letters of a name aid you?
- 10) To what does Pythagoras liken the consonants - in musical terms?
- 11) How many letters in the English language?
- 12) How many divisions of numbers?
- 13) What do the letters of alphabet represent?
- 14) What trinity represents a human being?

The
The Vibrational Thread of Destiny (17)

- 1) What is the real value of the knowledge of vibrations?
- 2) Why is your censorship of vibrations touching your aura
- 3) What definition is given of your aura? /necessary?

Questionnaire

- 4) How can you change your rate of vibration?
- 5) How can you change your mental dial?
- 6) Why is 3 an important number?
- 7) What does 6 contain as a union?
- 8) Why does 9 become a Universal number?
- 9) What does Trinity - triangle, triune all refer?
- 10) Of what value to each individual is the knowledge of an Astrological chart and of the laws of Numerology and how can this knowledge be utilized?
- 11) Mention some of the two opposites - or polarities which all men possess.

The Electrical Law of Positive and Negative (18)

- 1) What fact is mentioned in regard to numbers and letters?
- 2) How does division and subdivision of the Positive and Negative affect their value?
- 3) How can Law govern all things?
- 4) How are planets conceived?
- 5) What power has the Law of Attraction?
- 6) Why does the Law of Love produce harmony through the planets?
- 7) How then can the mystery of Life become understood?
- 8) Under what law are all planets formed?

The Geneology of the Akashic Records (19)

- 1) From whence come the life-lines, and where do they end?
- 2) How can the lineage of the deserted, nameless waifs, be traced?
- 3) What is written in the Akashic Records?
- 4) How is the impression of a name often given?
- 5) What is said about tracing the ancestral lines?
- 6) What comparison is made to animals and plants through which the animal kingdom is catalogued?
- 7) What is said about the Equational Force through Spaces and its value?
- 8) Through what law is your Key of Life written?
- 9) What vibration sets the key?
- 10) Through what vibrations are the notes of music formed?
- 11) How does man decide which choice of a life work is wise?

THE WELLS' EXTENSION LIBRARY
593 Riverside Drive, New York City

EXTENSION STUDY COURSES

"THE ETERNAL HARMONICS" (Spiritual Numerology)
By Pythagoras
(Author of, "The Science of Numbers")

Course A
"SEEING THE INVISIBLE", for Skeptics
Course B
"ON THE THRESHOLD OF FAITH", for Beginners
Course C
"PENETRATING THE MYSTERIES", for Advanced Students
Course D
"TAPPING THE UNIVERSE", for Scientific Minds.

BOOKS CLASSIFIED UNDER

EARTH'S ASTRONOMY
in five volumes
By Dr. Alonzo P. Mathewson, M.A.

SCIENTIFIC PSYCHIC DEVELOPMENT

SCIENTIFIC SUBJECTS

INTERPRETATION OF LIFE IN THE
UNSEEN WORLD

List of Publication Mailed on Request.

Mail Orders Promptly Filled.

THE WELLS' EXTENSION LIBRARY, 593 Riverside Drive
New York City