Examination Questions.

1. What is the relation between inner-plane weather at the time a person, creature or important event is born and the inner-plane makeup of that which is then born?
2. What does the inner-plane weather mapped by a progressed aspect do to the desires of the thought-cells?
3. What inner-plane power is used by thought-cells receiving additional energy through progressed aspects to attract events of the kind they desire into the life?
4. What maps the most important inner-plane weather affecting an individual at any given time?
5. Commonly how many terminals has a major progressed aspect?
6. At the time an event occurs or a disease develops each of its major progressed constants is always reenforced by what?
7. At the time an event occurs or a disease develops each of its major progressed constants is always released by what?
8. What is the outside limit of orb for any progressed aspect?
9. From the EGMT Interval on the day of birth for which the planets's positions were calculated how is the Limiting Date found?
10. Is the Limiting Date always in the same year as the birth?
11. In finding the Major Progression Date for any calendar year, from what date in the ephemeris is the counting started?
12. In finding the Major Progression Date should the count be for the number of years that have elapsed since birth?
13. How is the Midheaven Constant found?
14. In working major progressions why is it usually easier to use logarithms instead of direct proportion?
15. How is calendar interval converted into equivalent EGMT Interval?
16. On a given ephemeris day what logarithms are added to find how far a planet has moved by major progression?
17. How is the major, minor or transit progressed M.C. on a given date found?
18. How is the major, minor or transit progressed Asc. on a given date found?
19. The logarithm of what is subtracted from the logarithm of the distance the aspect is from perfect to find the logarithm of the EGMT Interval required for the planet to close the aspect?
20. When the EGMT Interval required for the planet to close the aspect is found how is the calendar date on which the aspect is perfect ascertained?
21. Approximately how far does the Sun move in 6 days by major progression, and how far in a month?
22. What is the first step in finding the calendar date on which a major progressed aspect of the Asc. to a birth-chart planet is perfect?
23. How is the progressed zodiacal motion of progressed M.C. or Asc. found?
24. When the daily motion of the M.C. or Asc. and the planet has been found, how is the calendar date on which the aspect is perfect between them ascertained?
25. In using logarithms to correct the Ascendant for latitude of birth how is the logarithm of the correction found?
