LIST OF PUBLICATIONS	45

Preface

It gives us some pleasure to know that our efforts to compile a List of Occult Practitioners periodically is appreciated in many directions, which encourages us to spare no effort to compile it as accurately as possible.

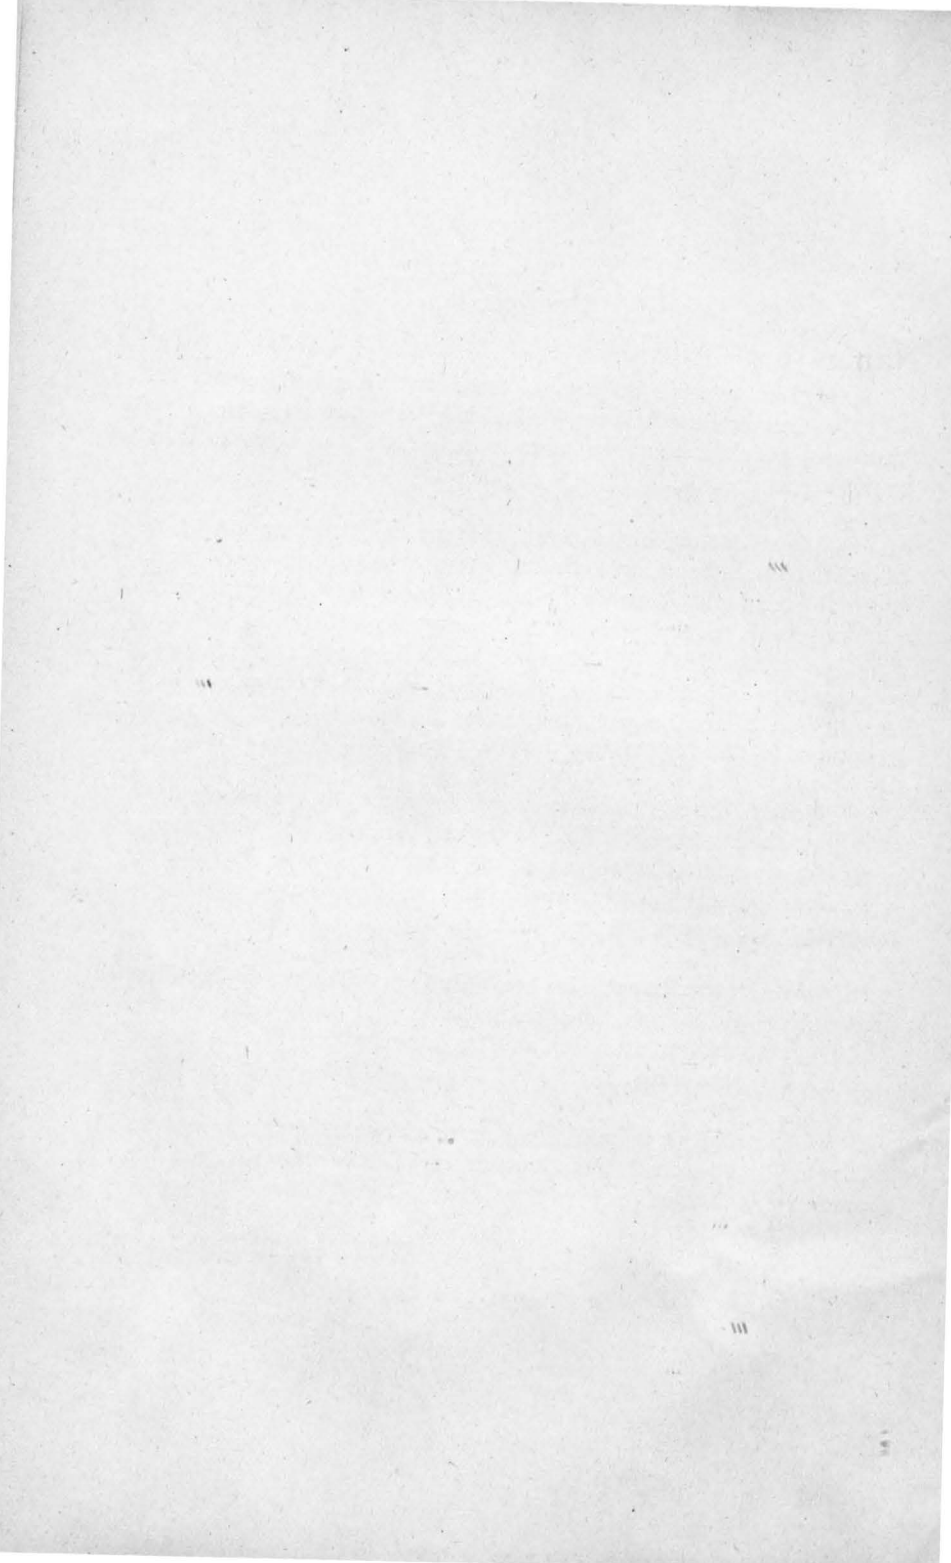

It has been our endeavour to compile the Directory as complete as possible, including Occult Practitioners of all grades—good, bad, and indifferent, and it would be impossible for us to guarantee the genuineness of every person herein named; but those who are Members of the British Institute of Mental Science, and honoured with an italic a to their names, and those who are members of the Occultist's Defence League, and having the italic b affixed, we know something of, and recommend them to the public.

Occult Practitioners as a whole seem to be continually changing their address. This accounts for the fact that many addresses are omitted, the persons in question failing to acquaint us with their present abodes, applications from us to them being returned "not known," "gone," etc.

If the reader happens to be a Character Reader, or Occultist amateur or professional, and finds his or her name and address omitted, we hope our attention will be drawn to the fact, to ensure correction in next issue.

Our readers can be of great service by sending the publishers a List of all the Occult Practitioners they know who reside in the same town as themselves.

Rules of the British Institute of Mental Science.

Revised 1st August, 1900.

1. The objects of the Institute are as follows:—The study of Phrenology, Physiognomy, Pathognomy, Graphology, Astrology, Palmistry, Hypnotism, and other branches of Occult Science. To aid and protect the interests of duly qualified practitioners. To expose all quackery that is perpetrated in the name of any of the above subjects.

2. Any person may become a member of the Institute if interested in any of the above-named subjects, whether they possess a knowledge of the sciences or not. A beautiful Lithographed Membership Card is presented free on receipt of the first yearly subscription.

3. The subscription to the Institute is five shillings per year, payable in advance, except in the case of pupils of the Institute, who are entitled to the first year's membership free of charge.

4. Each member is entitled to the following benefits:—Use of Library, Initials of the Institute, and Registration, Financial Assistance in cases of Prosecutions, etc.

5. Certificates are granted to members who can give two good references of persons who are able to state that the said member is an earnest student of one of the above-named sciences. A fee of two shillings-and-sixpence must be sent with application.

6. Diplomas are granted to members who can reply successfully to a series of questions put by the examiners, through the post or otherwise, to suit the circumstances of the applicants. The questions, of course, bear on one of the above-named subjects (see clause 1), which may be chosen by the applicant. Two references as to respectability, and a fee of five shillings must be sent with the application.

7. Gold and silver medals are granted to members who attend and pass an examination at the Institute. A fee of twenty shillings must be sent with application for a Silver Medal, and a fee of forty shillings with application for a Gold Medal.

8. The following Degrees are bestowed on members according to their qualifications:—1st. Members; 2nd. Associates; 3rd. Fellows. Members may use the initials M.B.I.M.S. Associates are members who have been granted the Certificate, and are entitled to use the initials, A.B.I.M.S. Fellows are members who have been granted the Diploma or Medal, and are entitled to the initials F.B.I.M.S. Members who have received lessons from the Institute may describe themselves as Graduates of the B.I.M.S.

9. Unsuccessful candidates who fail to pass the requisite examination, will have their application fees refunded in full.

10. Members who are twelve months in arrears, will be lapsed, unless subscriptions are paid within one month from notice.

11. Members who possess a Certificate or Diploma of another recognised Institution, will be granted the Certificate, Diploma, or Medal (honoris causa) without passing any examination.

12. The profits are spent entirely on Propaganda Work, and the legal defence of members holding the Diploma.

13. Members away from Blackpool who borrow from the library must send cost of book, which will be remitted when the book is returned.

LIST OF PUBLICATIONS

PUBLISHED BY THE ELLIS FAMILY, PROMENADE, BLACKPOOL.

Phrenological Wall Chart. By Frank Ellis. An illustrated sheet for the home. Carefully rolled and packed in cardboard case. Price 6d, post free 9d.

What Baby is likely to become. By Ida Ellis. Some useful information about children. Every mother should read the chapter on advice on Food. 40 pages. Price 1d, post free 2d.

Charts for Character Readers. Compiled by Albert Ellis. Charts for the use of palmists, phrenologists, physiognomists, graphologists, astrologers, and psychometrists. A parcel of one dozen (assorted) 2/-, post free 2/3

Palmistry Wall Chart. By Ida Ellis. The various types of hands with their numerous lines and markings illustrated by means of nineteen carefully designed plates. Carefully rolled and packed in cardboard case. Price 6d, post free 9d.

Directory of Occult Practitioners. By Ida Ellis and J. Dodson. A complete list of palmists, phrenologists, graphologists, physiognomists, psychometrists, clairvoyants, astrologers, and other occult practitioners in the United Kingdom. Published periodically. Fifth edition. Price 1/- post free 1/1.

Signs of Character. By Ida Ellis. A book for busy men showing each sign of character as revealed by temperament, hair, eyes, noses, mouths, hands, handwriting, walking, talking, laughing, backs, etc., with an appendix on astrology. Second edition. Price 6d, post free 7d.

How to improve Body, Brain and Mind. By Ida Ellis. Contains, chapters on choice of pursuit, courtship, marriage, health, food, smoking, temperament, music, temper, the cultivation of psychic gifts, resemblance to parents, etc., illustrated by eight engravings. Price 6d., post free 7d.

Temperament and Character. By Albert Ellis. A Book full of instruction on the reading of character from the form and shape of the human body. Profusely illustrated with portraits of remarkable persons, and engravings of the nervous, bony, muscular and vital systems. Sixth edition. Price 6d., post free 7d.

Phrenological Puzzle. By Albert Ellis. A symbolical head with the groups of organs printed separately on card, thereby making an interesting puzzle to put together. It is an object lesson, combining amusement with instruction, making the usual tedious task of learning the exact location from a chart, comparatively short and easy. Price per packet of one dozen, 6d., post free 7d.

Phrenological Self-Instructor. By Albert Ellis. This book contains over one hundred pages of well classified lessons on phrenology. The history, principles, and utility of the science is well written, and the chapters on the skull, brain, temperament, combination of organs, how to measure heads, and hints to students, help to form one of the best handbooks on the subject. Second edition. Price 6d, post free 7d.

Is Phrenology a Science? By W. P. Banks. A book specially written to convince the reader of the truth of Phrenology. The chapter headings include the popular mode of decision, scientific methods of investigation, faculties and organs of the mind, brain as the chief organ of mind, noteworthy principles, objections to Phrenology answered, and the utility of Phrenology. Price 3d., post free 4d.

Hand Physiognomy. By Ida Ellis. This contains chapters dealing with the defence of Palmistry; what Palmistry is, and what it is not; objections to Palmistry; how the lines on the hands are formed; foretelling the future; the making of casts of hands; photographing hands, and also the making of impressions of the hands by means of Transferine. It is a thoroughly reliable book, though of course not so comprehensive as the Catechism of Palmistry by the same author. Price 6d., post free 7d.

The Gospel of Common Sense. By James White. A smart lecture by a shrewd, witty lecturer, who starts off with "Society is saturated with shams. You cannot reason with shams, therefore you are right in ridiculing them." The remainder of the pamphlet is teeming with common sense expressions, which will one moment cause the reader to be serious, and the next moment burst into roars of laughter. The orthodox Christian may, however, be somewhat offended by the truths forced upon them. Third edition. Price 1d, post free 2d.

Map of Hand. By Ida Ellis. This is a new departure in Palmistry. It consists of a large hand on which are drawings illustrating the many characteristics shown by the hand, after the same principle as the symbolical phrenological head. A voyage is shown by a ship. Venus by cupid, and so on. For students of Palmistry it is very useful for reference. It is worth framing, or can be used as a poster or window bill for advertisement purposes. Carefully rolled and packed in cardboard case. Second edition. Price 6d., post free 9d. Key to Map of Hand, 6d. extra.

Catechism of Palmistry. By Ida Ellis. The sciences of Chirognomy and Chiromancy explained in the form of a catechism. Over 600 questions are asked and answered in the most simple manner possible, whilst the various types of hands with their numerous lines and markings are fully illustrated by means of nineteen carefully designed full paged plates. This is not a mere pamphlet, but an exhaustive work of over 150 closely printed pages, and we are confident that a more complete system of hand physiognomy cannot be procured. Second edition. Price 2/6, post free 2/9.

Modern Views on the Population Question. By Ida Ellis. This work explains in a popular form the principles of neo-Malthusianism. The subjects of war, disease, prostitution, celibacy, emigration and abortion, are treated as checks to population, and practical instructions to those who desire to exercise prudence, and adopt the neo-Malthusian treatment is also given. The morality of this course of conduct is warmly defended, and social advantages to be derived from practising its teaching are clearly shown, and the medical and legal aspects of the subjects are carefully reasoned out. Fourth edition. Price 6d, post free 7d

Map of Head. By Frank Ellis. This is a carefully designed head brought thoroughly up-to-date, giving new and special drawings, illustrating the manifestation and location of each Phrenological organ, but without the arbitrary lines usually seen on symbolical heads, which have done much to injure the cause of Phrenology, by giving the impression to those ignorant of the science, that it is a system of "bump feeling" rather than a system of brain measurement. It is well worth framing, or would do equally as well as a poster or window bill. Carefully rolled and packed in cardboard case. Price 6d, post free 9d.

Phrenology and Musical Talent. By Albert Ellis. Contains important information on the brain as the organ of the mind, influence of each phrenological organ, influence of temperament or build of body, variety of musicians, small headed musicians, genius, hereditary tendencies, cultivation of musical talent, what constitutes success, musical instruments, instrumentalists, vocalists, composers, musical instrument makers, dealers in music, leaders, teachers, choir-masters, disagreement of choirs, value of music as a profession, value of music as an art, effect of music on the health, and interesting experiments with sound, etc. Second edition. Price 6d, post free 7d.

Thoughts on Psychometry. By Ida Ellis. This book deals with Psychic matters in general, and Psychometry in particular, and is the result of many years special study, and continued practice of this gift. The chapters deal with Psychometry, its history and utility; some theoretical explanations of the phenomena; Psychometry in relation to phrenology, physiognomy, palmistry, physiology, hypnotism, and natural science; the religious aspects of Psychometry; the Legal aspects of Psychometry, and other important matters, which go to make up an unique book. Illustrated. Price 2/6, post free 2/9.

Indian Card Reading. By an Adept. The art of card reading explained in the form of lessons. The Indian method is the most simple and at the same time said to be the most accurate system known. It can be learnt by any person of intelligence in two or three hours. The information in this book cannot be found in any other book, and the chapter entitled In Defence of Card Reading will be an eye-opener to most readers. Card reading professes to give information on business, love, courtship, marriage, what has happened, what is taking place in the present, and what will occur in the future, and whether or not a wish will be granted. All this and much more will be found in Indian Card Reading. Price 6d., post free 7d.

Mesmerism and Hypnotism. By an Adept. This is a most comprehensive work in the form of question and answer, containing chapters on the history of mesmerism and hypnotism, how to mesmerise and hypnotise, how to demesmerise and dehypnotise, the operator, his subject and third person, the phenomena of catalepsy, psychometry, clairvoyance, somnomancy, post-hypnotic suggestion telepathy, cross magnetism, explanations of the phenomena, mesmerism in relation to physiology and therapeutics, the dangers and fraudulent aspects, also the phrenological, astrological and religious aspects, the whole comprising an epitome of all the best works on the hypnotic phases of psychology. Price 1/-, post free 1/2.

"A most unfailling experience . . . of the excitement of sublunary natures by the conjunctions and aspects of the planets, has instructed and compelled my unwilling belief."—KEPLER.

"And if this be the science of the stars,
I too, with glad and zealous industry,
Will learn acquaintances with this cheerful faith.
It is a gentle and affectionate thought,
That in immeasurable heights above us,
At our first birth, the wreath of love was woven,
With sparkling stars for flowers."—SCHILLER'S Wallenstein.

A TREATISE OF NATAL ASTROLOGY :

BY
G. WILDE and J. DODSON.

This work is based almost entirely upon actual experience, and the rules which form the basis of Genethliacal Astrology have been thoroughly revised with the view to incorporate the result of modern investigations. The following interesting nativities, with concise delineations thereof, have been introduced to illustrate the principles of the science:—

Louis XIV., King of France, The Duke of Marlborough, Sir Joshua Reynolds, General Washington, The Emperor Paul of Russia, Marie Antoinette, Queen of France, The Emperor Napoleon I. of France, Sir T. Coleridge, Sir Humphrey Davy, B. R. Haydon, Lord Byron, Victor Hugo, Alexander Dumas the Elder, The Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone, M.P., Ferdinand Maximilian, Emperor of Mexico, The Ex-Empress Charlotte of Mexico, "George Eliot," The Archduke Rudolf of Austria, Michael Angelo, H. R. H. Queen Elizabeth of Roumania (Carmen Sylva), H. R. R. The Duke of York, &c.

THE LIVERPOOL DAILY POST.—"A very curious and interesting work it is. Every reader of "Guy Mannering" must have some slight acquaintance with the jargon of astrology; but here we have set forth in all sober faith and seriousness the elements and modus operandi of the science in a very complete and comprehensive form. Armed with this work and with an Ephemeris to enable him to ascertain the places of the constellations and planets an any given hour of any given date, the merest tyro may erect his figure of the heavens and deduce therefrom the horoscope of the "native" or person referred to, with as much assurance as Dr. Dee or old Lilly himself."

THE BAZAAR.—"We are very often asked for the title of some good elementary work on astrology, and have usually recommended Raphael's "Manual," which, however, is hardly full enough. The student will find everything in "Natal Astrology" that he can possibly require, except the ephemeris for the current year, which he can get from the Occult Book Co., or any other specialist firm. A capital essay on "The Soul and the Stars," by A. G. Trent, which appeared in the University Magazine for March, 1880, is reproduced by way of appendix. This is from the pen of one of the best known literary men in London, who in this instance preferred to write over a pseudonym. Of course Astrology is not the science it was in the days of the Chaldees. Its ancient aphorisms are lost, even as most of its calculations, carried on as they were through the centuries, have vanished into space. Yet to the antiquary, and those who would test for themselves the remnant of something that once ruled the civilized world, and who do not believe that all this can have been empty sound, there is nothing like a simple treatise written by experts, and they have it in this book by Messrs. Wilde and Dodson.

A FEW OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

Reviewed by the LIVERPOOL COURIER of 9th April, 1894, in a full heading article from which we extract the following:—"All that is needed, according to the authors, to establish the bona fides of Astrology is sufficient inquiry, and certainly this work is calculated to revive respect for Astrology if anything can now do so. The principles of the science are elaborately explained. Greater interest attaches to the abundant illustrations showing the verification of the horoscope in the cases of distinguished personages. . . . Thus Astrology may be made a beneficent factor in the direction of human affairs, and all who desire to test their capacity for believing in it and their ability to practise it could not do better than peruse Messrs. Wilde and Dodson's very thorough exposition of the science."

Extract from Leaderette in THE DAILY CHRONICLE, April 5th, 1894.—"Astrology, as every student knows, is unsurpassed for usefulness, even without its most difficult branch, that of prediction. We always had our doubts about Astrology, but the proof of its usefulness given by Mr. G. Wilde and Mr. J. Dodson in a work they have just published "A Treatise on Natal Astrology," should convince the most sceptical. These two gentlemen add to a great deal of abstract information some concrete details concerning Mr. Gladstone's character as derived from his horoscope, which we are sure will strike everybody as being singularly precise. We will give a few of them, only regretting that our founts of type do not permit us to reproduce the occult symbols with which they are accompanied."

HALIFAX MERCURY, April 7th, 1894.—Natal Astrology.—This is the title of a work by Mr. G. Wilde and Mr. J. Dodson, of Halifax. The subject dealt with may not commend itself to all classes of readers and thinkers, yet most people would be ready to give the authors credit for a vast amount of labour that could only be entered upon under the deepest conviction of the great importance of the object aimed at.

HALIFAX EVENING COURIER, April 13th, 1894.—The treatise before us is a monument of patient research and compilation.

THE CHRISTIAN GLOBE.—It is a work which will probably find many readers among the large section of the community who are anxious to find a means of peeping into the future, and of ascertaining what future years have in store for them. A good many instances are given which would seem to support the argument in favour of natal astrology, and sceptics will find in the book much that is worthy of critical examination.

THE SHEFFIELD DAILY TELEGRAPH.—They have evidently spent a great deal of time in the minute investigation of the subject and have brought together many remarkable coincidences, which appear to them strong proofs of the influence of the Stars upon the fate of human beings.

LUCIFER.—This is a large octavo book of 200 pages, and certainly does to Western Astrology all the justice that can be done to it in a book of the size. The explanations are lucid and ample, and many interesting examples, with figures, of notable horoscopes are appended. It takes away the last remaining atom of excuse for denying the truth of the main principles of Astrology, which those who have carefully avoided studying the science can possibly have to justify their conduct. We can therefore conscientiously recommend those who intend attacking the science not to read the book. A glance at the horoscopes of Frederick the Great, Marie Antoinette, Prince Rudolf, and the others cannot fail to convince the most sceptical, provided they are not prejudiced and have not availed themselves of a critic's privileged ignorance of his subject. The writers evince an encouraging breadth of view and seem anxious to keep their minds quite open to any alterations which extended experience may render necessary.

The OCCULT BOOK Co.,

6, CENTRAL STREET, HALIFAX, YORKS.

LIVERPOOL DAILY POST, May 25th, 1894.—“It is a curious fact that the close of this very matter-of-fact century, when reason and science are held up so prominently as the only true guides for the mind of man, should witness a widespread recrudescence of belief in the so-called “occult sciences.” That such is the case, however, is a reasonable deduction from the fact that there is in existence a publishing concern known as the Occult Book Company, carrying on business at 6, Central Street, Halifax, and issuing books on every branch of what are usually spoken of as the pseudo-sciences, and that its publications on the subject of astrology alone number nearly a hundred. One of these, “Natal Astrology,” by G. Wilde and J. Dodson, is before us, and a very curious and interesting work it is.”

Extracts from “The Bazaar, Exchange & Mart.”

The following Reviews are from the pen of an eminent authority viz.:—
Mr. J. H. SLATER, Barrister-at-law, Editor of “Book Prices Current, and formerly Editor of “Book Lore.” Author of “The Library Manual,” “Book Collecting,” “The Law Relating to Copyright,” “Early Editions,” “Engravings and their Value,” “A Guide to the Legal Profession, &c.

JULY 12th, 1893.

“We have received from Mr. J. Dodson, of Stainland, near Halifax, [now the Occult Book Company,] a Catalogue of Works on the Occult Sciences, which is worth referring to for several reasons. In the first place, the selection is a very good and extensive one, and secondly, the prices charged are extremely moderate. For a long time past, books on Astrology, Magic, Witchcraft, and kindred subjects have been offered, and may have changed hands at most outrageous prices, doubtless on account of the revival of interest that has taken place in subjects of the kind; and as these books have always been more or less scarce, considerable curiosity has always been excited concerning them. Isaac D'Israeli, in his “Curiosities of Literature,” says that in his time a single volume of the works of Robert Fludd, the English Rosicrucian, had sold for as much as £40, and he seems to think it was worth that figure. No such price could be got now except from a lunatic; but for all that, these and other books of a similar kind invariably sell for extortionate amounts. We are glad to observe that Mr. Dodson possesses the very unusual merit of moderation.”

AUGUST 18th, 1893.

“We note that Mr. J. Dodson has transferred his large collection of books on the Occult Sciences to ‘The Occult Book Company,’ of 6, Central Street, Halifax, who will for the future carry on business at that address as dealers in and publishers of works on Astrology, Dreams, Future Life, Magic, Mesmerism, Theosophy, and so on through all the gradations of mystery. We have already referred to the books in Mr. Dodson’s catalogues as being exceedingly moderately priced, and the same remark applies to those now for sale by “The Occult Book Co.” The address of this firm is something to be known by purchasers of recondite books, who might very easily stray farther than Halifax and fare a great deal worse.”

TOOLE'S PATIENTS BEFORE TREATMENT.

Analyst's Report of "Ino."

Stonyhurst College, Blackburn, October 28, 1899.

I have analysed a sample of C. J. Toole's "Ino" taken publicly from his carriage at Blackpool, and can certify that it contains nothing that can possibly injure the scalp. It contains no metallic ingredients and no poisonous matter whatever. Moreover, during a stay of several months in Blackpool, many cases have come under my notice of Hair produced by following Mr. Toole's Instructions, and using the Lotion. From my own experience of "Ino," and from my chemical analysis of it, I can fully recommend it as a most efficient wash for both the hair and face.

GEORGE WILDE, Occult Book Co., 6, Central Street, HALIFAX.

Extract from the Christmas Number, 1895, of "Pearson's Weekly":—

Mr. Pearson says—"I do not think there is the least doubt about the fact that Mr. Wilde had not the smallest knowledge of the personality of the individual whose horoscope he was casting. So many points in this horoscope are so curiously accurate, that I thought almost anybody would probably be interested in glancing through it."

"Mr. Wilde was extraordinarily successful with Mr. Pearsnn, for whom he did a very elaborate horoscope, which was right as to the past, and has since been verified in relation to matters which were then in the future."—Borderland, October, 1897.
