TO
MY DEAREST WIFE
PARTNER OF MY JOYS AND SORROWS
I DEDICATE THIS
MY FIRST LITERARY WORK.

PREFACE.

IN bringing before the public a work of this description I feel it necessary to say a few words by way of Preface. The name of "Rosicrucian" does not appear to have been known until the commencement of the Seventeenth Century, when Europe was beginning to emerge from the depths of the intellectual darkness of the middle ages. The Reformers, notably Calvin and Luther, had to a great extent broken up the ground preparatory to a new era. This welcome change did not, however, prevent religious fanatics of many sorts from trading on the credulity of the masses, as is witnessed, by the number of quacks who extorted money under the pretence of being able to tell fortunes, and to perform transmutation, even by means of a compact with the evil one. It seemed as though a horde of sharpers was let loose, and they gulled people in a wholesale manner. Things were in this state when in the year 1614 two anonymous pamphlets appeared, the one called The Universal and General Reformation of the whole wide World, and the other The Fama Fraternitatis, or Brotherhood of the Praiseworthy order of the Rosicrucians, a message to the Governments, Nobles, and Scientists of Europe. These works caused an immense excitement, and were translated into several languages; a large number of pamphlets were circulated in reply, and the whole of Christendom was stirred to its utmost depths. This state of things went on for some considerable time, and finally seemed to exhaust itself; but curiously enough fresh evidences of interest in Rosicrucianism crop out at intervals. In the Encyclopædia Metropolitana it is stated definitely that in 1630 there was a London College of Rosicrucians. Another remarkable instance occurs in the work No. 132, by a Count Eckhoffen, who wrote under the Pseudonyms of Pianco and Phæbron ; in this work a very important Folding Table appears ; this was translated into English and published by Kenneth Mackenzie in his now scarce work The Royal Masonic Cyclopædia (p. 617), it contains the full details of an order based upon Rosicrucian design. The Places of Assembly, Consulates, Countries, Symbols, etc., are given, and the contents of the work reveal to my mind sufficient evidence that about 1750 such an Order undoubtedly existed, and was worked on Kabalistic lines. In further confirmation of this actual existence of the Order I must refer my readers to an article that appeared in a German publication called The Sphinx, published at Brunswick, and a translation of which appeared in the Theosophist, for April, 1886 ; it is written by a certain Karl Kisevetter, who states that he found amongst his great grandfather's papers documents shewing that he was the then Imperator of a Rosicrucian Lodge (1769) ; he goes on to say that in 1792 it was decided to release the Brethren from their oath of secrecy, and to destroy the Library and the Archives. Whether this was done or not, there is no evidence forthcoming, but he dwells at length on the "innumerable secret arts with which the Rosicrucians were acquainted." In the present day we have an organisation of Masonic Students, who are joined together under the title of "Societas Rosicruciana in Anglia," and whose ramifications extend to Germany, and abroad to India and the United States of America, and in whose service I have the honour to be Secretary to the Supreme Council, and of which my worthy colleague, Dr. W. Wynn Westcott, is M.W. Supreme Magus. We have a number of earnest and thoughtful students and Literati in our ranks. Considering all of the collected evidence it is certainly a fact that the Rosicrucians did exist. They did work Lodges, and were in possession of knowledge that was not accessible to the man in the street ; neither did they adopt the modern scientific method of making every discovery public property, the propriety of which many even now question. They evidently adopted high ideals, as they worked unselfishly for the good of the world and accepted no remuneration for so doing ; they made no display from motives of vanity, and worked unknown and unostentatiously, leading quiet and secluded lives, secure in their own knowledge which was not to be obtained by any but worthy people. This knowledge was also not to be purchased for money, but descended from lovers of the Hermetic art to others who trod in the same footsteps. "We wrap ourselves in mystery," says one, "in order to avoid the censure and violent importunity of those who regard us as no philosophers but wanting in common prudence, except we employ our knowledge to some worthy use and profit." Whether as some writers suggest, this knowledge has descended from the Ancient Philosophers of Egypt, the Chaldæans, the Persian Magi, or the Gymnosophists of India, it hardly falls within my province to discuss, but I may mention en passant that the Rose and Cross are Symbols of Great Antiquity—the former was dedicated to Venus as the Symbol of Secrecy and Immortality and is sacred both in Life and Religion; the latter according to the Christians is well known to typify Salvation; but it is of much greater antiquity than Christianity, and amongst the ancient Egyptians it symbolised "Life." According to Masonic Tradition it was foreshadowed in King Solomon's Temple; again the Rose and Cross combined were the badge of a Knight Templar. Robert Fludd or his friends who wrote the "Summum Bonum" state its meaning to be "the Cross sprinkled by the rosy blood of The Christ," which is a purely religious illustration. Again there is the Rose of Sharon, and amongst the Indians, the Mystical Rose is continually met with in legends; so that we may have to look to the East for its origin. Lord Beaconsfield declared that the Secret Societies and the Papacy were the only two Institutions endowed with permanency; and this is possibly the reason why the latter has always been so persistent in its intense hatred of the former. In fact any Order that is possessed of real Occult knowledge is hated by the Church of Rome, which brooks no rivals; its history is one of unrelentless cruelty and spiritual despotism; its pathway is strewn with the human wrecks whom it has used as its tools in the service of its restless ambition; power was its one goal, and achievement was desired irrespective of cost; the end alone justifying the means.

As in the present day I have no desire to perpetuate the follies of the middle ages, nor to suggest to anyone the necessity of yielding up his freedom of thought and will to any Emperor, Magister, or to the Chief of any secret society, however high sounding and high faluting a title may be assumed, rightly or wrongly; so

I think it advisable at this point to caution any would-be aspirant in mysticism against dangers which I know to be current at the present day. Certain quasi-Secret Orders, which pretend to impart occult knowledge, and which possibly do possess some slight qualifications sufficient to justify their existence, are used simply as a means of obtaining money. I am informed on credible authority that the daughter of an English nobleman recently applied for admission to such a society as I have described, and after the ceremony had taken place the chief had the audacity to demand a sum of money approaching five and twenty pounds; fortunately both the mother and daughter were not such pigeons as they were supposed to be, and I do not suppose they troubled the gentleman again. I merely mention this case to impress upon my readers the fact that true Rosicrucians have always taught "That Divine wisdom is not to be bought, nor sold for private gain." With regard to the compilation of this catalogue, I may say that I have been collecting books on Rosicrucianism and other mystical subjects for upwards of twenty-five years, and consequently possess a library of some magnitude. The volumes here catalogued that I do not possess, and which I was unable to obtain at the British Museum, I have chiefly taken from that excellent though now exceedingly scarce work by Dr. George Kloss, "Bibliographie der Freimaurerei," published at Frankfurt am Maine, A.D. 1844; it is indeed a store-house of Masonic literature and it also contains a great number of Rosicrucian works. Owing to the rarity of the Kloss Catalogue, coupled with the fact that there were a large number of other Rosicrucian works scattered in various places, I thought it would be useful, and in fact a necessity for our descendants to be able to refer to a work such as this of mine, in which I have endeavoured to collect in one volume the titles of all the literature of this subject. I do not pretend to say that it is complete, and I shall be very grateful to any of my literary coadjutors for any hints and corrections they may think fit to make, for use in any future editions; but as hitherto no such work as this has been available, I thought I could not do better than set to work and present this Catalogue in its present form.

I should like to say a word as regards its arrangement. I have endeavoured to adopt the method employed by our National Library, and have arranged the books under authors' names, but where only initials have been used I have taken these in full and placed them under the first initial ; where any book fails to fall under either of these categories I have taken the first word of the actual title, discarding all small articles ; again where there have been a number of works written by some authors such as "Robert Fludd," "Michael Maier," "Thomas Vaughan," &c., I have arranged their particular works according to chronological order, because of the special interest attached to any particular controversy which these writers may have had with any opponent, such as was frequently the case. Kloss has adopted this latter plan entirely in his work ; but this renders reference to any particular author exceedingly difficult ; whereas by following my method you can turn up any author or work at once without trouble.

In conclusion I trust to merit the grateful memory of book lovers in the future, for having collected in a permanent form the hitherto scattered fragments of a literature that embodies the beliefs and ideals of the older Rosicrucians which are cherished by a small but select group of thinkers on this most interesting subject in the present day.

INTRODUCTION.

THE history of the Rosicrucian Fraternity, the date and manner of its origin, and the peculiar doctrines and pursuits of its members have always been subjects of the greatest interest to such literary men as find a charm in tracing the developments of genius along what are now considered somewhat erratic lines.

The proceedings of those societies which are credited with the pursuit of a knowledge of the Occult world, of magic and of alchemy, in secret assemblies and with solemn ceremonials, have always attracted certain students who fail to find full satisfaction in the pursuits of common life, and the subjects of general literature.

The Rosicrucian Fraternity was brought to public notice in Germany by means of two tractates, the "Fama Fraternitatis," and the "Confessio Fraternitatis," which were printed at Cassel in 1614 and 1615.

The former work, the "Fama," narrates the history (or as some critics say—the myth) of the founding of the Fraternity by one Christian Rosenkreuz, who appears to have been born circa 1378, and who was educated in a monastery. He is said to have started upon a tour in the Holy Land as companion to a learned monk, his master and teacher. This brother died in Cyprus, but Christian Rosenkreuz continued his travels, visiting many countries, of which the Holy Land and Damascus, Egypt and Fez are mentioned, and sought out in every place "such as were learned." In this manner he gained great wisdom, and studied the ancient Chaldean religion, the theology and magic of Egypt, the philosophies of Alexandria, and the Kabalah of the Hebrew rabbis.

From Africa he returned by way of Spain to his native land—Germany, and there settled down to form a society of learned men, to which he might impart the results of his long and laborious researches in foreign lands. The narrative goes on to say that he first chose three fratres, in the year 1408, and with their aid a dwelling and temple for the home of the new Society was erected and named "Domus Sancti Spiritus."

These fratres, under the tuition of C. R., wrote a Dictionary of his occult lore, and composed a ritual of instruction called the Book M.

In 1410 four more fratres were admitted to the private studies and practical researches of the Society. Peace and prosperity appear to have blessed the new venture, and after a time of probation some fratres went away on travels of benevolence, using healing arts and comforting the afflicted.

In view of his approaching death, and when of great age, C. R. designed a Vault for the reception of his remains. He collected in it all manner of symbols representing the hidden truths of nature, and the occult relations of the planets and stars to man; and many marvellous devices. Above all, it is noted that "into this Vault the sun shineth not, yet was it illuminated by another light placed in the flat heptagonal ceiling."

In the year 1459 was written by C. R. the extraordinary volume, entitled the Chymische Hochzeit, or "The Hermetic Romance of the Chymical Wedding."

In 1484, the Founder, Christian Rosenkreuz died, full of years and honour, and was buried by the survivors of the early adepts in a private manner in the Vault so long prepared for his body. C. R. appears to have wished that this Vault should remain closed for one hundred and twenty years, after the expiry of which time, if the Society survived; the Vault was to be opened, the existence of the Society declared; and a fuller admission of students to membership should be invited.

This long period passed away; the universality of Catholicism had been wrecked, and the Reformed religion had become notable; the Vault was opened, and the embalmed body with its curious surroundings was displayed to view.

The survivors, or their nominee, who is now generally thought to be Valentine Andrea, a German theologian and mystic, published the "Fama" to the world; and next year republished the "Fama" with the "Confessio." This latter tract explains the aims of the Society, many of its doctrines and its attitude to the outside world, and gives the primary rules.

The "Fama" views Christianity as contrasted with Paganism and Mohammedanism, while the "Confessio" adopts the views of the Reformed Lutheran religion.

The publication of these two works caused a storm among the learned; intense interest was excited, and the land was flooded with pamphlets, some written against the possibility of the existence of the Fraternity and others loudly welcoming the foundation of such a home of learning and benevolence.

Do these works refer to a myth, or do they narrate a history? Each alternative has been supported by men of great eminence, but no final decision has been arrived at; no Domus Sancti Spiritus has even been seen by the uninitiated; that much is certain; but how many persons were received into the Society no one can say. All that can be stated is that from 1616 onward there have been always some persons who claimed to be Adepts of the Rosicrucian Fraternity. Some few of them have issued printed works relating to Rosicrucian subjects; others have signed themselves with the official motto, R. C., and others appear to have written in defence of the Society anonymously, or under the guise of a Latin Motto.

The Soc. Ros., in Anglia is composed of Freemasons alone, and derives its title from some descendants of the older Rosicrucians of Germany; it does not profess Magic, nor claim the possession of the Philosopher's Stone; but "The aim of the Society is to afford mutual aid and encouragement in working out the great problems of Life, and in searching out the Secrets of Nature; to facilitate the study of the system of Philosophy founded upon the Kabalah and the doctrines of Hermes Trismegistus, which was inculcated by the original Fratres Rosæ Crucis, of Germany, A.D. 1450; and to investigate the meaning and symbolism of all that now remains of the wisdom, art and literature of the ancient world."

It numbers about five hundred members, who carry out, so far as may be, the objects of the Society. On their behalf primarily, and for the assistance of literary men in general, my Frater Gardner has taken very great pains to make this Catalogue of Rosicrucian books, a most arduous task, but one after his own heart.

The Catalogue will be of the greatest use, not only to those interested in the recondite studies of the Rosicrucians, but also to the student of Freemasonry, for it is to the tenets and dicta of the Rosicrucians, that many Masonic authorities look for the source of much of Masonic ritual and symbolism.

At the end of the 3 preceding works and also the one entitled "Epitimia Fr. R.C.," appears to be a separate tract (although bound up and included in the pagination) by F. G. Menapius, it is suggested that this Pseudonym together with those of "Schweighardt" "Agnostus (I.)" "Valentia" and "Alberti" are those used indiscriminately by Andreas (J. V.) and his friends; it is certainly a curious fact that two of these pseudo authors should issue works bearing both of their signatures whereas no one else appears to have done so.

- 22 Allgemeine und General-Reformation der ganzen weiten Welt. Beneben der Fama Fraternitatis des löblichen Ordens des Rosenkreuzes an alle Gelehrte und Häupter Europä geschrieben. Auch einer kurtzen Responsion von dem Herrn Haselmeyer gestellt, jetzo öffentlich in Druck verfertigt, und allen trewen Herten communiciret worden. 8vo. Gedruckt zu Cassel durch Wilhelm Wessel, 1614
Collation 147 pp.

- 23 Allgemeine und General Reformation der ganzen weiten Welt. Beneben der Fama Fraternitatis des löblichen Ordens des Rosenkreuzes an alle Gelehrte und Häupter Europä geschrieben. Auch einer kurzen Responsion von dem Herrn Haselmeyer gestellet welcher deswegen von den Jesuitern ist gefänglich eingezogen und auff eine Galleen geschmiedet : Jetzo öffentlich in Druck verfertigt, und allen trewen Herten communiciret worden. 8vo. Erstlich Gedruckt zu Cassel Im Jahr, 1614
Collation 152 pp.

This was the first work put forward by Andreas, and which caused all the stir and excitement as witnessed by the number of pamphlets, etc., which deluged Europe in general and Germany in particular for a considerable time afterwards. According to Herder this must have circulated in MSS. sometime previously because Hasselmeier in the Tyrol had seen and read it in 1610 and replied to it in 1612.

The "Universal Reformation" is a literal translation of a work by an Italian "Boccalini" (vide Article) "De Ragguagli di Parnasso," 1612, this had no connection with the R.C. order, but was merely bound up with the Fama; as regards the Confessio this was not issued until A.D. 1615 (vide next two items). The above works were the two first printed editions, their titles vary slightly but the contents are similar.

- 24 Fama Fraternitatis. Beneben der Confession oder Bekanntnuss derselben Fraternitat, an alle Gelehrte und Häupter in Europa geschrieben, auch etlichen Responsionen und Antworungen von Herrn Haselmeyrn und andern gelerten Leuten auff die Fanam gestellet, Sampt einem Discurs von allg Reformation der gantzen Welt. Itzo von vielen Erraten entledigt, etc., Frankfurt am Mayn durch Joh. Bringern in verlegung Joh. Berners. 8vo. 1615
Collation 216 pp.

- 25 Fama Fraternitatis, R.C. Das ist Gerücht der Brüderschaft des hochlöblichen ordens des R.C. an alle Gelehrte und Häupter Europä. Benebst derselben Lateinischen Confession welche vorhin in Druck noch nie ausgegangen nuhnmehr aber auff vielfältiges anfragen zusamt deren beigefügten Teutschen Version, in druck gegeben, von einem Philomago. 8vo. Cassel Wilh. Wessell, 1615

Collation 111 pp.

In these two works we now have the addition of the Confessio which in the words of my worthy collaborateur Dr. Westcott contains "Lutheran views as contrasted with those of Roman Catholicism whereas the Fama treats of the form of Christianity as contrasted with Pagan Worship, there being no reference to the Reformed Church whatever." This is very significant and is a point that has hitherto been overlooked by all the Critics.

Another edition appeared in A.D. 1616, Frankfurt, on the title page of which one finds "first printed at Cassel in the year 1616" which we know to be wrong. The excitement was so great that the work now ran through several editions, some omitting the Reformation and inserting fresh matter of their own until the old editions having become scarce during the last century Frederic Nicolai of Berlin undertook the reprinting of it in 1781, inserting however the date 1681 instead, and to complicate matters still further, omitted Berlin and inserted Regensburg (vide Article No. 49, "Authentische Geschichte, etc.") where a number of similar books had been printed. Another edition of the Fama was issued in 1827, with the Confessio at Frankfurt on the Maine. Collation (XII) 95 pp. (See also Article "Gabella" and "Fama," etc.)

- 26 Chymische Hochzeit Christiani Rosenkreutz anno 1459—Four different 8vo Editions appeared in this year, viz.—Original Edition, Strasburg, published by Lazarus Zetzners, 1616, printer's note at end, "printed by Conrad Scher, 1616"—Second Edition, Same title, without printer's note at end "printed by"—Third Edition, Strasburg, published by L. Zetzners, Erben, 1616, at end by Conrad Scher, 1616. This Edition was again printed with a vignette title of an Alchemical Figure, and the words "Erstlich Gedruck zu Strasburg (first printed at Strasburg), 1616"

Collation, the first, second and fourth editions, consist of 146 pp., the third edition of 143 pp.

Another edition was issued by Nicolai of Berlin, dated Regensburg, 1781.

Collation 173 pp.

I have placed this work under Andreas as the generally accepted Author, or at all events the person responsible for its publication; to some it is a fable and a school boy's romance, to others it contains sublime Hermetic Truths of a very high order. I wonder how many of its readers are able to decipher the Ænigma contained therein.

- 27 The Hermetic Romance, or The Chymical Wedding, written in High Dutch by C. R., translated by E. Foxcroft, late Fellow of King's Colledge in Cambridge, licensed and entered according to order, printed by A. Sowle at the Crooked Billet in Holloway Lane, Shore-ditch, and sold at the Three Kyes in Nags Head Court, Grace Church Street, 1690

Collation 226 pp.

The first English translation that has appeared of this work, it has been reprinted in A. E. Waite's "Real History of the Rosicrucians."

- 28 Invitatio Fraternitatis Christi, ad sacri amoris Candidatos. 12mo. Argentorati, L. Zetzner, 1617 (another edition, Argent, 1626)

Collation 81 pp.

- 29 Invitationis ad Fraternitatem Christi (pars altera) Parænetica. 12mo. Argentorati, L. Zetzner, 1618

Collation 67 pp.

- 30 Menippus sive Dialogorum Satyricorum centuria inanitatem nostratium speculum. In Grammaticorum gratiam castigatum, etc. 12mo. Helicone, 1617 (Another Edition, Cosmopoli, 1618. Collation 250 pp.)

Collation 284 pp.

- 31 Mythologiae Christianae sive virtutum et vitiorum vitae humanae imaginum Lib. III. 12mo. Argentorati, L. Zetzner (1619)

Collation (xxiv) 352 (vii).

We see here in this and the preceding work, the attitude of Andreas's mind when he began to endeavour to stem the tide of public opinion that he had aroused, even to the extent of denying the existence of the order, as he states that it is purely imaginary.

- 32 Reipublicae Christianopolitanae Descriptio. 12mo. Argentorati, L. Zetzner, 1619

Collation (ii) 220 (i) pp.

- 33 Turris Babel sive Judiciorum de Fraternitate Rosaceæ Crucis Chaos. 8vo. Argentorati, L. Zetzner, 1619

Collation 72 pp.

This work was published by our same author. He signs the preface with his initials and dedicates the book to D. Henricus Heinius of Rostock, he states that the whole history was nonsense and says that he himself was responsible for starting the movement; of course he refers to the "Fama and Confessio" the immense amount of attention and the number of replies it called forth; but it appears to me that the hubbubs that was caused by the issuing of the Fama, etc., exceeded his expectations and he endeavoured to allay it by publishing this work, as he says in it "Listen ye mortals, In vain do you wait for the coming of the Brotherhood, the Comedy is at an end, etc.," but this did not have the effect he desired as many were dissatisfied with this explanation, and the excitement continued for long after, judging from the literature that followed.

- 34 Turbo sive moleste et frustra per Cuncta Divagans ingenium, in theatrum productum. 12mo. Helicone, juxta Parnassum, 1616 et 1621

“In the posthumous writings of M. C. Hirschen, pastor at Eissleben, it has been found that John Arnd informed him in confidence as a near friend and former colleague how he had been told by John Valentine Andrea—also subrosa—that he namely Andrea, with thirty others in Wurtemberg had first sent forth the Fama Fraternitatis, that under this screen they might learn the judgment of Europe therein, as also what lovers of true wisdom lay concealed here and there, and would then come forward”

Andrea being the person responsible for the sending forth of the “*Fama

Arcanum or Grand Secret of Hermetic Philosophy, both made English by James Hasolle, Esq., qui est Mercuriophilus Anglicus, fine mystical plate. 8vo. London, R. Myne at the sign of St. Paul in Little Britain, 1650

Collation (l) 268 pp.

Halkett and Laing (Anon Dicy.) state that their copy (Bodleian Library) has the word "Grant (sic) Secret": my copy has "Grand" this is interesting as evidently the first edition contained this misprint. The Arcanum has a separate title page, and the whole of this is a translation of Jean D'Espagnet's Hermetic Arcanum (vide Art) although Ashmole fails to acknowledge it. This was his first work on Hermeticism and probably was inspired by Wm. Lilly, the Mystic, whose acquaintance he first made in November, 1646, and whom he refers to in eulogistic terms of praise.

- 45 Ashmole (Elias) Theatrum Chemicum Britannicum, containing severall Poetical Pieces of our famous English Philosophers who have written the Hermetic Mysteries in their owne Ancient Language, faithfully collected into one volume, with annotations thereon. 4to. London, Nat. Brooke at the Angel in Cornhill, 1651

Collation (xvi) 486 (viii).

A most important collection of Alchemical tracts, including Thos. Norton's Ordinall of Alchemy, G. Ripley's Compound of Alchemie, Dr. John Dee's Testament, etc., etc., it is embellished with several very finely engraved plates and cuts of a mystical character, engraved by Vaughan, also a table at page 118 which is frequently missing, it states that this figure conteynes all the secrets of the treatise both great and small. In the preface he complains of the scant honour the Frates of the R.C. receive at the hands of their countrymen, instancing the cures done to the Earl of Norfolk of leprosie, and Queen Elizabeth twice of the small pox by two of the Frates. He then goes on to compare the warm reception they receive at the hands of Foreigners, instancing Maierus, Combachius, Faber, etc. This is one of the most important works we possess in the English language on this subject. Ashmole obtained his Hermetic knowledge of the Philosopher's Stone from Mr. William Backhouse of Swallowfield, Berks., as in his diary he says: May 13th, 1653: "My father Backhouse being ill unto death told me in syllables the true matter of the Philosopher's Stone which he bequeathed to me as a legacy."

- 46 Ashmole (Elias) The Way to Bliss, in three Books, made public by E. A., qui est Mercuriophilus Anglicus. 4to. London, Nat. Brook at the Angel in Cornhill, 1658

Collation (vi) 220.

A work on Long Life, the Hermetic Medicine and Philosopher's Stone. Richard Saunders who was contemporary with Ashmole dedicates his large work on "Chiromancy," 1671, to the "Universally-Learned Elias Ashmole."

Collation (xiv) 532 (xix).

The reason I have inserted this work in the present catalogue is on account of the charmingly engraved Hermetic plates on Alchemy (19 in all representing 78 emblems) in the third part; these are of such a high order of merit that I cannot pass this work over without mention.

- 52 Barrès (Maurice) Un renovateur de l'occultisme, Stanislas de Guaita (1861—1898), Souvenirs par M.B. 8vo. Paris, 1898

This author refers on page 20 to an order founded by De Guaita, L'Ordre Kabbalistique de la Rose Croix, with 3 grades, and of which he was the supreme head, evidently this is the order of modern innovation referred to.

Collation (iv) 384 (ii).

Compiled by the author of the well known book on magic called "The Magus," London, 1801. My copy which formerly belonged to the notorious mystic Frederick Hockley (as he has written his name on the title page with the date 1844), contains two title pages, the second one is called "Lives of the Adepts," and contains a list of 751 Alchemical works which include a number by Rosicrucian Authors, it is not satisfactory however, as it only gives one line titles. Frater A. E. Waite published a reprint of this work in 1888, but it is not verbatim which I think is a pity as I consider it would have become more valuable had he adhered strictly to the original text.

Collation (xx) 453 (xix).

Advertisement 77 of the first part of this work formed the subject matter of the "Universal Reformation" so I have thought fit to include several editions of it; it had no connection with the Rosicrucian Order, and was merely bound up with the Fama. Other Editions also appeared at Venice in 1618, 1624 and 1669, and again at Amsterdam in 1699.

It is true that this author has assiduously collected the bare titles of about 4000 books, but by far the greater number want the sizes and dates and places of publication, and what is of much greater importance we find on analyzing the list that a number of works are inserted which have no right to be included in an Hermetic Catalogue, such as Books on Medicine pure and simple, also some authors are inserted who beyond perhaps making a single philosophical utterance can absolutely lay no claim whatever to be Hermetists. After all said and done there are about 900 bona fide authors with 2500 Hermetic Works.
- 69 Borri (Giuseppe Francesco) La Chiave del Gabinetto. 12mo. In Colonia Appo Pietro del Martello, 1681
Collation xxii 383 pp.
This author is commonly accredited with being an adept, and the two first letters in the work treat of elementary spirits which the Abbe de Villars had already embodied in his Count de Gabalis, published at Paris 11 years previously. This work has been translated into English by a very learned member of the R.C. Fraternity known under the pseudonym of "Fortiter et Recte," this MSS. has never been published and is in the custody of the Head of the Order in England, in it the author gives a most systematic account of the R.C. doctrines.

- 75 Bridegroom (The) of the Fay, a Rosicrucian Tale, in rhyme, by a descendant of the Count de Gabalis. 8vo. London, 1827

Collation (viii) 163 pp.

In the preface the author states that his ancestor, the Abbé Villars, was assassinated by a Rosicrucian fanatic for betraying the secrets of the Society in his work the "Count de Gabalis."

- 76 Brotoffer (R.) Elucidarius Chymicus oder erleuchtung und deutliche erklärung was die Fama Frat. vom R.C. für Chymische Secreta de lapide Philos in ihrer Reformat . . . haben. 8vo. Gosslar, 1616 (Another Edition appeared in 1617)

 Collation (xvi) 382 (ii).
 Despite its title there is a great deal more Hermetic Rosicrucian teaching in this work than anything Masonic. The cuts are excellent in design, but badly printed.

 [12], 418, and 1 p. error.
 This author is known as the Historian of Philosophy and Professor of Logic at Gottingen, and embodies a large amount of research and learning on Free Masonry and Rosicrucianism, it is rather heavy reading as in parts the worthy man is prolix and diffuse, but he is accurate in his statements and well read.

Many other editions of all this author's works have appeared at endless variety of prices.
This well known author was a member of the Rosicrucian Society in England, and these two works embody some of his happiest inspirations derived therefrom. If anyone has any latent mysticism in them, the latter work would be certain to discover it.

Collation 228 pp.
This is another edition of one published by L. Jennis, Franco, 1619, see Article "Wasserstein," but it contains nothing about the F.R.C. There is a fine plate in this edition, and it also contains two replies purporting to come from the F.R.C., but I consider this spurious as from internal evidence it is more Catholic than Rosicrucian.

This is a work put forward by the Papists as they dreaded the intense amount of excitement and enthusiasm caused by the publication of The "Fama," etc., they were afraid that the Beliefs of the Populace might become disturbed and their confidence in the Pope's teachings lessened, hence they added their mite to the many other pamphlets appearing at this time. It is also well-known that they hate Secret Societies, and always exert their best efforts to suppress them whenever they become a really living factor in the World; the ominous words "Permissu Superiorum" appear on the last page. See also No 9. Agnostus, a reply to this.

- This is the best account of Fludd's Life that we have up to the present in English, there is another to be found in "Wood's" work "Athene Oxoniensis." In his Bibliography of Fludd's works I notice that a mistake has occurred in describing the large Table which follows on after the work "Pulsus." I am fortunate enough to possess the bulk of this Author's works in the Original Binding with all the edges uncut, and in my copy the Catchword at the end of The "Pulsus" work, viz. "Medi," refers to Part V. of the same series, consisting of a large Table measuring 39 by 17 inches; in the British Museum Copy this has been cut up into three pieces, so that it is not a blank sheet as this author suggests, although curiously enough he mentions it in the reprint issued at Moguntia, 1682

Amsterdam, 1781 (?)

Collation 223 pp.

Another Edition was published at Amsterdam (?) 1782, 223 pp. Both of these are dedicated to Bruder Phæbron, i.e. himself, but in the first one, there is a curious misprint, the last page being numbered 232, it should be 223; the second edition has this mistake corrected, the text being exactly similar. (See also in connection with this Author article "Theoretischen Bruder" and "Schleiss (H).")

This is a very important work inasmuch as at page 84 we find a large folding table in German of the order "Fratrum Rosa et Aurea Crucis." This was reproduced in Kenneth R. H. Mackenzie's "Royal Masonic Cyclopadia" without any acknowledgment of its true source, which it has been left to me to discover. I am informed by my worthy colleague Dr. Wynn Westcott who was personally acquainted with Frater Mackenzie, that he would never divulge the source from whence he obtained this information, which I am bound to assume was taken from this Book, inasmuch as it tallies almost word for word with the later work, it contains the "Degree Membership, Number, Sign, Colour, Symbol, Name of the Brotherhood, Places of Centre, Places of Assembly," etc., and as far as I am able to judge this must have been written by a renegade Frater, as the rest of the work is too consistent to be a total fabrication.

A translation of this was made by a Dr. Sigismund Bacstrom in 1797, and from this MSS. an attempt to publish it in the Journal "Lucifer" was made in 1891, but it was discontinued. It is a very important Book, and considered by many to hold the key to Alchemy.

This MSS. is unsigned by Fludd, and has no letter of his accompanying it, but it evidently is a genuine copy of a letter he sent to King James, proving undoubtedly that he was the Author of the Two preceding works, unfortunately MSS. 12 B. VIII. Brit. Mus. was burnt in a Fire they had at their Binders, this was presumably the original and more valuable document, whereas the above is only a copy.

- 181 Medicamentosum Apollinis Oraculum in quo ipse Catholicum Medicandi Mysterium seu Arcanum Medicinæ tam cælestis quam terrestris sacrarium . . . videtur

This 5th Part is one large sheet, measuring 39 by 17 inches, and is connected by the catch-word "Medi" to Part 4.

Each part (except Part V) of this important medical work has a distinct title page and separate pagination, and, throughout, the plates and cuts are well executed, some of which are of a mystical order.

- 182 Sophiæ cum Moria certamen in quo lapis lydius a falso structore, Fr. Marino Mersenno Monacho reprobatu celeberrima Voluminis sui Babylonici figmenta accurate examinat. 2 parts, Folio. (Frankfurt) 1629

Collation 118 (ii) pp.

This work contains Fludd's reply to Mersenne, who had attacked him in 1622 (see article, "Mersenne").

- 183 Summum Bonum quod est verum Magiæ Cabalæ Alchymicæ Fratrum Roseæ Crucis verorum. . . in dictarum Scientiarum laudem et insigniis calumniatoris Fratris Marini Mersenni dedecus publicatum, per Joachimum Frizium. Folio, Fine Vignette Title, with the inscription, "Dat Rosa Mel Apibus." (Frankfurt) 1629

Collation 54 pp.

The authorship of this work has been denied by Fludd, but it is very evident that he was largely responsible for its production and certainly approved of it. It is written in defence of the Rosicrucian Fraternity's claims, and contains therein the views of Fludd and those of his friends. It has recently become exceedingly scarce.

- 184 Doctor Fludd's Answer unto M. Foster, or the Squesing of Parson Foster's Sponge, ordained by him for the wiping away of the Weapon Salve . . . 4to. London, Nat Butler, 1631

Collation (viii) 68 pp.

A counterblast of Fludd to a pamphlet issued by the Rev. Wm. Foster, called "Hoplocrisma Spongus, or a Sponge to wipe away the Weapon Salve: a treatise wherein it is proved that the cure late taken up amongst us by applying the Salve to the Weapon is magical and unlawful." 4to. London, 1631. 56 pp.

- 185 Clavis Philosophiæ et Alchymicæ Fluddanæ sive R. Fluddi Armigeri et Medicinæ Doctoris ad Epistolicam P. Gassendi Theologi exercitationem Responsum, &c. Folio, fine vignette title (same as the "Summum Bonum"). Francofurti, G. Fitzerum, 1633

Collation 87 pp.

This contains Fludd's final answer to Gassendus, Mersenne, and another opponent called Lanovius, and is rather important, since, being twitted by Gassendus as to the absence of any place of residence being assigned to the R.C. Fraternity, he (Fludd) evades this point by relinquishing the name Rosicrucians, as he knew he was unable to meet it.

- 186 Responsum ad Hoplocrisma-Spongum M. Fosteri Presbiteri ab ipso ad unguenti armarii validitatem de- lendam ordinatum . . . Folio. Goudæ, P. Rammazenus, 1638

Collation 30 folios, and 1 p. errors.

- 187 Philosophia Moysaica in qua Sapiientia et Scientia creationis et creaturarum Sacra vereque Christiana ad amussim et enucleatè explicatur . . . Folio, fine vignette title. Goudæ, P. Rammazenus, 1638

Collation (x) 152 folios.

This was the author's last work and, as such, fitly represents his matured opinions on Metaphysics, Philosophy, &c. It is not such a voluminous one as the "Microcosmi Historica," but it was the only one of any importance that he translated into English, and thus evidently intended it to be more popular than his others. The English translation which he himself accomplished was not published until A.D. 1659.

- 188 Mosaicall Philosophy, grounded upon the Essential Truth, or Eternal Sapience, written first in Latin and afterwards thus rendered into English by Robert Fludd, Esquire, and Doctor of Physick. Folio. London, H. Moseley, at the Prince's Arms, St. Paul's Churchyard, 1659

Collation (vi) 300 pp.

A work on Philosophy and Science, illustrated with many cuts throughout and the only one translated into English.

- 189 Discursus de Unguento Armario, pp. 507 to 513 in "Theatrum Sympatheticum Auctum," by Sylvestrus Rattray. 4to. Norimbergæ, 1662

- 190 Meteorum insalubrium mysterium: duabus sectionibus divisum . . . His accessit Oyromantia sive Divinatio per Urinam nec non nova et arcana Pulsuum scientia. Folio. Moguntia, L. Bourgeal, 1682

Collation—Part I (xvi), 503 pp.; Part II, 413 pp.; Part III, 93 pp. and large table at end.

This is a re-issue of three works, viz.: "Integrum Morborum," 1631; Καθολικον Medicorum, 1631; Pulsus Historia [1631]; wanting, however, the Dedications and Hieroglyphical Engraving, etc., of the first work.

This is the best bibliographical work on Hermetic books up to the present that we have ever seen. It must have taken the author an immense amount of time and trouble to compile, and his notes evince an amount of knowledge that is most admirable. He mentions the F.R.C. as fanatics, but I am afraid that most people are dubbed thus who run counter to the orthodox public opinion. Look back in history at the Inquisition, Tycho Brahe, Mesmer and Mesmerism. What is called fanaticism in one age becomes the creed of the next. Who could have foretold in Mesmer's time, and even later with Dr. Elliotson, here in England, that the much-ridiculed Mesmerism would be the adopted pet of the medical faculty, who in a former age could use no epithet hard enough to abuse it? Autre temps Autres moeurs.

This was really done to relieve the burden on Mersenne's shoulders, who was getting the worst of his conflict with Fludd. So Gassendus came to the rescue, although he did not entirely exonerate his friend from blame, as his language was not very choice in his description of his opponent. Fludd replied to all this in his work, "Clavis Philosophiæ," Frankfurt, 1633, including Mersenne in his diatribe. A good deal of this controversy is to be found in the "Foster" work by Fludd, vide Nos. 184, 186.

Collation—1st Part, 32 pp. (title and 4 pp. letterpress); 2nd part, 34 pp.; 3rd part, 32 pp.
This valuable work was published anonymously, and the contents of the MSS. are described in No. 372. It consists chiefly of very finely coloured plates symbolical of the Rosicrucian teachings and doctrines, besides which there are a couple of tracts. One is called, "Aureum Sæculum Redivivum, or the Golden Age Revived," by H. Madathanus, A.D. 1621; the other, "Ein Güldener Tractat vom Philosophischen Steine," A.D. 1625, or, "A Golden Treatise on the Philosopher's Stone." This is the work that F. Hartmann reproduced as a wonderful find in an old monastery, but which was already well known to be in existence. (vide No. 221).

part of the plates was omitted as well.—F.L.G.) We do not say this in order to disparage the book, for, indeed, Dr. H.'s publishers deserve all praise for their enterprise; but the time has gone by when bibliographical jokes of this kind were appreciated, and buyers of valuable works do not like to be trifled with in a matter so important as the history of a printed

WORKS by JOHN HEYDON.

- 234 A New Method of Rosie Crucian Physick, wherein is shewed the cause and therewith their experienced medicines for the cure of all diseases . . . 4to. London, 1658

Collation (vi) 62 pp.

In this early work the author states in his preface that he is not a Rosie Crucian, but throughout the work appears to have hitched himself on to the title of R.C. without appreciating the true signification thereof. He is very verbose, and loses himself in pages of windy eloquence, for the book is little better than a lot of scribbling without much point. He evidently obtained further and deeper knowledge later on, as his later works evince; but this early one makes one think of the first plunge in a new bath. He refers, however, on page 41, to Sir Christopher Heydon as the "Seraphically Illuminated Rosie Crucian and learned Astrologer," so it is just possible that this was the source where he derived his R.C. teachings from, and which blossomed out to greater advantage in his later writings.

- 235 The Rosie Crucian Infallible Axiomata, or Generall Rules to know all things, past, present, and to come, usefull, pleasant, and profitable to all, and fitted to the understanding of mean capacities. 12mo. London, 1660

Collation (xlii) 126 pp.

The author again states in the preface to this work that he is no Rosicrucian, but he first mentions that there are a Society of men known as Rosicrucians. He then goes on deliberately to copy out of the Fama and Confessio pretty well the whole history of C.R., his life and travels, without acknowledging what I presume he must have been aware of—their having already appeared 45 years previously in German. He further refers to the Book M, and states that he himself as having "put it into English wearing the title of The Wise Man's Crown," and then describes a vault where the sun never shone; nevertheless, it was enlightened with another sun and an altar in the centre covered over with a plate of brass, &c.; and further goes on to say (p. xviii) that "there is another vault or habitation of the Brethren in the West of England," and winds up by saying that, "Thus much at this time and no more am I allowed by my Mistress Euterpe to publish." I notice that one of the laudatory epistles is signed by Fredk. Talbot, a gentleman who wrote the author's life in the work, "The Rosie Crucian Crown." The book as a whole contains some real knowledge and is one of the most valuable he has written. The bulk of it deals with the subject of numbers and shows indubitably that he passed through the lower grades of the Society.

- 236 The Holy Guide, leading the Way to the Wonder of the World (a Compleat Phisitian), teaching the knowledge of all things, past, present, and to come, viz., of pleasure, long life, health, youth, blessedness, wisdom, and virtue . . . with Rosie Crucian medicines, which are verified by a practical examination of principles in the great world, &c. A fine portrait of the author. 8vo. London, sold by Thos. Whittlesey at the Globe in Cannon Street, near London Stone, 1662. A work published in VI. parts.

Collation—(cxxxviii) 37 pp., Liber I; (xvi) 169 pp., Liber II; (viii) 226 pp., Liber III; (vi) 83 pp., Liber IV; (vi) 145 pp., Liber V; (viii) 55 pp., Liber VI; Index at end, xxix pp.

This is an excellent work, and by many considered his best. It starts with a Chemical Dictionary; then Book I deals with philosophy; Book II Numbers a reprint of his work, the R.C. "Axiomata," with a fine plate (p. 161); Book III, Long Life; Book IV, Virtue of Minerals; Book V, Gold and Rosicrucian Medicines; Book VI, The Rosie Cross Uncovered, with a most charming piece at the end, called "The Rosie Crucian's Prayer to God." The whole of this book is virtually a reprint of the preface to his work, "The R.C. Axiomata," published in 1660, and which I have already noticed.

- 237 The Wise Man's Crown: or, the Glory of the Rosie Cross, showing the wonderful power of Nature, with the full discovery of the true Coelum Terræ or first matter of metals, etc.; with the Regio Lucis and Holy Household of Rosie-Crucian Philosophers. Communicated to the world by John Heydon, 1664

- 238 Theomagia, or the Temple of Wisdome in three parts—Spiritual, Celestial, and Elemental; containing the Occult Powers of the Angels of Astromancy in the Telesmatical Sculpture of the Persians and Ægyptians. The Mystical Virtues of the Characters of the Stars with the Genii, Ideas, and Figures of Geomancy, &c. The Knowledge of the Rosie Crucian Physick and the Miraculous Secrets in Nature, which have performed incredible, extraordinary things . . . 8vo. Fine portrait of Author. Pub. by H. Brome at the Gun in Ivie Lane and Tho. Rooks at the Lambe at the East End of St. Paul's Church, 1664

Collation—(cxvii) 272 pp., Book I, 1664; (xii) 228 pp., Book II, 1662; (viii) 249 pp., Book III, 1663; and Index VII.

This work is very ably written and is entirely devoted to Geomancy, with Astrology and the Angels, corresponding to the Geomantic figures, their Sigils and influences for good and evil. Most of the modern Geomantic works are taken from this and earlier books. Altogether, our author presents the subject in a very exhaustive and lucid manner, and judging by the number of works he quotes, it must have taken him a considerable time to compile. A proof of this is the various dates to the parts, one being published each year.

- 239 Psonthonphanhia: Being a Word in Season to the Enemies of Christians and an Appeal to the Natural Faculties of the Mind of Man whether there be not a God . . . in five books. 8vo. London, printed by Tho. Mabb for Wm. Gilbertson at the sign of the Bible in Giltspur Street, 1664

Collation (x) 166 pp.

Dedicated to Aubrey de Vere, Earl of Oxford, Kt. of the Garter, etc., offering him this work on "Rosie Crucian Philosophy." The second dedication is to F. Hollis, Esq., and in it he appears to have incurred the enmity of the Church by his doctrines, as this work is really a reply to charges brought against him by the Clergy, and, although he does not mention names, yet he quotes a sermon preached at St. Paul's Cathedral on 8th May, 1664, accusing him of Atheism. The work shows a more finished style and maturer judgment.

- 240 A Quintuple Rosie-Crucian Scourge for the Due Correction of that Pseudo-Chymist and Scurrilous Emperick, Geo. Thomson, being in part a vindication of the Learned Society of Physitians. 4to. London, 1665
A pamphlet of 6 pp., in which the author inveighs in strong language against his opponent's cribbing from his books and misrepresenting him.

- 241 El. Havareuna, or the English Physitian's Tutor in the Astrobolismes of Mettals Rosie Crucian, Miraculous Saphiric Medicines of the Sun and Moon, the Astro-lasmes of Saturn, Jupiter . . . all harmoniously united and operated by Astromancy and Geomancy, &c. Fine plates of author. 8vo. London, printed for Wm. Gilbertson at the Bible in Giltspur Street, 1665

Collation (lxx) 208 pp.

This work contains some very choice alchemical mystical plates, and shews to my mind that he evidently got hold of valuable knowledge, which he gives out in a covert manner. A Mr. Fredk. Talbot also gives an account of John Heydon's life, mentioning that he was related to Sir Christopher Heydon, whom I strongly suspect was the channel through whom he obtained his R.C. knowledge, as he speaks so eulogistically of him in another of his books, although it is very possible he may have picked it up in his travels, as Talbot states that he went to Spain, Italy, Arabia, Egypt and Persia. He was descended from Julius Heydon, the King of Hungary and Westphalia, and Cæsar Heydon in Rome, and was articled to a Mr. Mic Petley, an attorney of Clifford's Inne, afterwards fighting for the king; and, after travelling, wrote most of his books,—recounting a list of the wonderful predictions he made concerning his Majesty, etc. He also appears to have had a good deal of influence at Court, as when he got into trouble on one occasion we find that the Duke of Buckingham espoused his cause with great success. He was also not without vulgar copyists, and others who emulated his success. He appears to have been consulted by many high ladies about various divinations, but he did not marry, although of a handsome appearance. On the whole, from the infernal evidence of his writings, he appears to have gone through the lower grade of the R.C. Order and to have given out much of this to the world. Whether he was chosen as a fitting instrument to do this at that time I am unable to say, but judging that it came so shortly after the publication of the important Fama, etc., in Germany, I should not consider it unlikely that those who ruled such matters should deem it advisable to start a movement in England and selected this man as their fitting instrument. Contemporaneous with him was the famous Astrologer, John Gadbury.

- 242 Hammeguleh Hampaaneah, or the Rosie Crucian Crown, set with Seven Angels, 7 Planets, 7 Genii, 12 Signes, 12 Ideas, 16 Figures, and their Occult Powers upon the 7 Mettalls and Miraculous Virtues in Medicines; with the perfect full discovery of the Pantarva and Elixirs of Mettalls prepared to cure the Diseased; whereunto is added Elhavareuna Presoria, Regio Lucis, and Psonthon books . . . 8vo. London, printed for Samuel Speed at the Rain-bow in Fleet Street, 1665

Collation—(xlviii) 54 pp., Books I and II; (iv) 44 pp. Book III. I am unable to be certain of this Collation as the copy to which I had access was very imperfect.

This work deals chiefly with alchemy. The author has not forgotten to insert his life by F. Talbot, which has already appeared in some of his former works.

- 243 Higgins (Godfrey) Anacalypsis: An Attempt to draw aside the Veil of the Saitic Isis, or an Inquiry into the Origin of Languages, Nations, and Religions. 2 vols, 4to. London, 1836

This monument of learning and research could hardly be complete without a reference to the Rosicrucians. He makes mention of the Society in several places, and states his opinion that this and other Secret Orders existed long before Christianity. He further states that "The Papist Convocations and Councils had always endeavoured to suppress these Orders because they were Christians before the rise of Romish Christianity. Verb. Sap.

- 249 Houpreht (J. F.) Aurifontina Chymica, or a collection of 14 small treatises concerning the First Matter of Philosophers for the discovery of their (hitherto so much concealed) Mercury, which many have studiously endeavoured to hide, but these to make manifest for the benefit of mankind in general. 12mo. London, W. Cooper, at the Pelican in Little Britain, 1680

Collation (xxii) 272 pp.

A most charming collection of valuable alchemical treatises. The reason, however, I inserted it in my Catalogue was on account of one piece in particular, called "A letter communicated by Prince Frederick, Duke of Hol-satia and Sleswick, concerning an adept, and relates things strange and unheard of." This contains a relation of such marvellous things that I have hardly heard their equal elsewhere. Only a Rosicrucian Adept could have performed them.

This work contains a short account of the Order on pp. 699 to 701.

Collation—Title and 11 folding plates of tablet; no letterpress.

The first edition was published A.D. 1559 at Venice. I have been unable to inspect a copy.

- 253 Pignorius (Laurentius) Vetustissimæ Tabulæ Æneæ Sacris Ægyptiorum Simulachris cœlatæ accurata Explicatio, in qua antiquissimarum superstitionum Ritus . . . enarrantur. 4to. Venice, Jacobi Franco, 1605.

Fine vignette title, folding plates of the tablet, and woodcuts, &c.

Collation (xii) 43 (x) pp.

This is the first edition by Pignorius of this rare and curious work.

- 254 Pignorius (Laurentius) Characteres Ægyptii hoc est Sacrorum, quibus Ægyptii utuntur simulachrorum accurata delineatio et explicatio . . . omnia in æs pulcherrime incisa per Jo. Th. et Jo. Isr. de Bry. 4to. Francofurti, Mat Beckerus, 1608

Collation (vi) 43 (xviii) and 5 plates of the tablet (3 of which are folding).

This is the second edition. Brunet says that the engraving of the tablet is wanting in both the 1st and 2nd editions. My copy of this second edition contains the plate, and it does not appear to have been inserted, especially after what the title page says (see above).

Collation (x) 97 (xi); Magna Deum (viii), 96 pp.

The third and best edition. The frontispiece is a beautiful specimen of work, and indeed all the plates and cuts are executed in the best style by Enea Vico. As regards the Isiac Tablet itself, I stayed at Turin when travelling abroad on purpose to see this most interesting piece of antiquity. It is made of hammered bronze inlaid with silver, and although portions have been removed by some vandal, yet considering its antiquity it is in a good state of preservation. The following authors have written about it and several have reproduced copies of it:—J. G. de Hohenburg, B. de Montfaucon, Dr. S. Shuckford Wm. Warburton, P. E. Jablonski, A. Kircher, Count Caylus, Abbe Banier, &c. For a critical dissertation and a modern account of it on Hermetic lines, I cannot refer my readers to a better authority than my worthy colleague, Dr. Wynn Westcott. Particulars of his work are to be found in my present catalogue under his own name.

This is a curious collection of alchemical processes, and I believe the author to have been a Frater of the R.C. Fraternity, both from internal evidence and also the fact that he ends up with the words "Soli Deo Gloria." This was a very common way amongst the fraternity of finishing their writings, and as a general rule is a pretty sure index to identify them by, whenever you meet with it.

- 265 „ Third Edition, newly revised and corrected, and greatly enlarged. Royal 8vo, 2 vols. London, 1887

We have here a work of a most discursive character. It contains a mass of ill-digested information upon Rosicrucians, Antiquities, Legends, etc. His remarks hardly crystallize; they are more suggestive than positive, and deal too much with the physical aspect of our subject. In the second and third editions he has deliberately cribbed the occult plates from Welling's Opus, published at Franckfurt, 1760, without any acknowledgment whatever. The same remark applies to the Gnostic gems in the 3rd edition, which are taken from an old work issued by the famous Plantin Press at Antwerp, 1657. It was written by J. Macarus, viz., "Abraxas seu Apistopistus . . . de Gemmis Basilidianis, etc.," and published in quarto, the plates being exceptionally fine ones of "The Gnostics," etc.

- 266 Jennings (Hargrave) One of the Thirty: A Strange History, now for the first time told. Illustrated, 8vo. London, N.D. (circa 1871)

It is not generally known that the plates in this work are drawn by Geo. Cruickshank. The work is a collection of fine mystical tales founded on mystical Rosicrucian truths, and are well worth reading; some are of a terrifying character.

A collection of Rosicrucian Works bound up in one Volume.
- 269 Kalbe (Otto) Katalog der gemeinschaftlichen Maurerischen Büchersammlung der Freimaurer Logen, &c. 8vo. Hannover, 1880
This is a fine catalogue of books, containing a number on the R.C. Order, but frequently only one line is given to each. The sizes are omitted altogether, and in many cases dates as well. The numbering is not consecutive and sometimes wanting altogether, so that there is a good deal to be desired in the work. It appears to me to have been cut down to economise space.

Lincii, Austriæ, J. Plancus, 1619
Collation (viii) 255 pp.
This work was written attacking Fludd's work, "Utriusque Cosmi," on Natural Philosophy, which was replied to by the latter in his work, "Veritatis Proscenium, etc." 1621, which Kepler replied to in his turn by his "Prodromus Dissert, etc., 1622" (see next work), to which Fludd again responded by issuing his "Monochordum Mundi, etc.," in the same year, 4to, and which was reprinted in the following year as a folio at the end of his "Anatomizæ Amphitheatrum."

The second and best edition, published Berlin, 1782, purports to be by Ada Mah Booz (i.e., Adam Virkholz).

- 274 King (C. W.) The Gnostics and their Remains, Ancient and Mediæval. 2nd edition, royal 8vo. London, 1887

The 1st edition appeared in 1864, but this one has been considerably enlarged. The author devotes a number of pages to our subject, and has raised a storm of abuse from the Masonic Fraternity by venturing to assert that that Order had its rise from the R.C., who, after the fuss in Germany in the 17th century, came to England and started Freemasonry, Phoenix-like, out of its ashes.

- 275 [King (Dr. W.)] The Dreamer, dealing with the Rosicrucians, or Knights of the Rosy Cross, Temple of Hercules, &c. 8vo. London, 1754

Pages 64 to 72 are devoted to a reference to the Rosicrucian Order, which is valuable evidence of the continuity of its existence at that time. Although some of the allusions to its members are not of a very complimentary character, yet it undoubtedly constitutes a link in the chain of evidence of its existence in that day.

- 276 Kisewetter (Karl) Vide Periodical Publications, "The Theosophist," Vol VII

- 277 Kloss (Dr. Georg) Bibliographie der Freimaurerei und der mit ihr in Verbindung gesetzten geheimen Gesellschaften, systematisch zusammengestellt. 8vo. Frankfurt am Main, J. D. Sauerländer, 1844

A monument of labour and research. It contains entries of upwards of 5,393 works, and I am indebted to this authority for many German works on the Rosicrucians, which I should have been obliged to omit otherwise. It is a marvellous compilation, and of late years has become quite unobtainable, as it has long been out of print.

First published in 1822 and now greatly enlarged. It contains a long impartial account of the whole Rosicrucian work, and quotes largely from Kloss's bibliography for its authorities.

- 292 Levi (Eliphaz) (i.e., L'Abbe Alphonse Louis Constant) Dogme et Rituel de la Haute Magie, deuxième Edition très augmentée, avec 24 figures. 2 tomes, 8vo. Paris, 1861

- 300 „ Unpublished Writings of. The Paradoxes of the Highest Science, translated from the French MSS. by a Student of Occultism. 8vo. Calcutta, 1883
 A charming pamphlet of 115 pp., embodying some of the most advanced truths of occultism. It went out of print very shortly after publication, and is well worthy of another edition.
- 301 „ The Magical Ritual of the Sanctum Regnum, interpreted by the Tarot Trumps, translated from the MSS. of E.L., and edited by W. Wynn Westcott, M.B., with 8 finely coloured plates. 8vo. London, 1896
 Dr. Westcott obtained this valuable MSS. from the late Edward Maitland, who in his turn obtained it from the author, also deceased. I have been unable to exclude these famous modern mystical works on account of their excellent teachings and hermetic illustrations, as although the title Rosicrucian can hardly be applied to them, yet their mysticism runs so closely on similar lines of thought that I feel justified in finding a place for them here. Some further entries are also to be found under Article "Manuscripts."

- 302 Libavius (Andrea) D.O.M.A. Examen Philosophiæ novæ quæ veteri abrogandæ opponitur . . . De Philosophia harmonica magica Fraternitatis de Rosea Cruce. Folio. Francofurti ad Mœnum apud P. Kopff, 1615

This work is contained in a larger one, with the title "Arcanorum," or "Syntagmatis Selectorum," as two editions were published in 1613 and 1660. Its pagination is separate, and pp. 262 to 306 are headed "D.O.M.A. Exercitatio Paracelsica nova de notandis ex scripto fraternitatis De Rosea Cruce," which contains an exhaustive criticism of the harmonic and magical philosophy of the Rosicrucian Fraternity. The rest of the work deals chiefly with alchemical processes.

- 303 Libavius (Andrea) Analysis Confessionis Fraternitatis De Rosea Cruce pro Admonitione et instructione eorum, qui, quid judicandum sit de ista nova factione, scire capiunt. Folio. Franco, 1615

Franckfurt bei E. Emmel, Peter Kopff, 1616. (Another edition appeared at Erfurt, 1617)

Collation 294 (vii) pp.

Our author in this work has evidently been placed in possession of further information since his former ones, as he shifts his ground entirely. He now admits that the Order does exist, and points out the advantages to be gained by joining it, as there is much wisdom and learning to be obtained by so doing; and this is all done under the cloak of a critic—rather different to that of the position of Doubting Didymus taken up in his earlier works.

- 305 Libellus Theosophiæ de Veris Reliquiis seu semine Dei in nobis post lapsum relicto, quo Sancti Patres et Prophetæ in tantos viros excreverunt. Das ist Ein Buchlein der Göttlichen Weisheit . . . 4to. Lucas Jennis, Neustadt, 1618

Collation ii and 38 pp.

Four pages are devoted to a sermon by Paracelsus on Purgatory. The work is printed in German and Latin. Author unknown.

- 306 Liber Mutus in quo tamen tota Philosophia Hermetica figuris hieroglyphicis depingitur, ter optimo maximo Deo misericordie consecratus, folisque filius artis dedicatus auctore cujus nomen est Altus (i.e., Saulat, Jacob). Folio. [Rupellæ, 1677.] 15 Large emblematical plates, with 2 pages of dedication to King Louis XIV of France

It is said that the whole of the physical Rosicrucian art of alchemy is shewn in these 15 plates. They are certainly an exceedingly curious production, and those who have hitherto been ignorant of the existence of such a work should make a point of inspecting them whenever an available opportunity offers. My copy is bound up with Manget's large work on Hermetic Chemistry (vide Article, Manget, J. J.)

- 307 Lindner (J. G.) Ganz besonderer und merkwürdiger Brief an die H.H., Hohen unbekanntem obern Gold und R.K. Alten Systems in Deutschland und andern Ländern. 8vo. 1816

- 308 [Luchet (Marquis J. P. L.)] Essai sur la Secte des Illuminés. 8vo. Paris, 1789. (Three editions in all appeared in the same year. This, however, is the original)

Collation (xv) 127 pp.

In this work, published anonymously, Luchet attacked Illuminism. The third and fourth editions, slightly altered, and attributed to Mirabeau, were published under the title of "Histoire Secret de la Cour de Berlin," a work of extreme rarity, which was ordered to be burnt at the hands of the Common Executioner.

MANUSCRIPTS.

- 309 Abrahami Eleazaris. Uraltes Chymisches welches ehedessen von dem Authore theils in Lateinisch und Arabischer theils auch in Chaldaisch und Syrischer Sprache geschrieben . . . der edlen Hermetischen Philosophie. Jacob, Bern, Fran, Eckheirt, 1774

A fine work, full of most carefully executed hand-coloured drawings, which appear to be reproductions of Nicholas Flamel's "Book of Abraham the Jew." They are not exactly the same in design, although intended, without doubt, to convey the same ideas. See, in connection with this, Article "Westcott," re "Nicholas Flamel."

- 310 Abraham Juif (Les Figures d') et les figures des fables avec celles du Christianisme.

A curious MSS., marked on the cover, "Ex libris Camille Pichon hermetice scientiæ amatoris," and also sealed with his seal, C.P. It is a small folio of 43 pages, and appears to be a commentary on Flamel's famous work. I should assign its date as being about A.D. 1800. It is without any illustrations.

- 310a Admission of Dr. Sigismund Bacstrom into the Society of Rosa Crucis by Le Comte de Chazal, 12th September, 1794

This is a most interesting work, as it gives in full the terms of admission which were in use at that date and refers to the existence of the Order in 1490. The copy that I saw was one executed by the late well-known Mystic, Frederick Hockley, and his finely coloured frontispiece is a reproduction of the seal of the Society, which is also the seal of the Red Medicine.

- 311 Adrianyi (Emil) Extracts from the Oesterr Freimaurer, Zeitung, 1879, on Rosicrucian Rituals, Grades, Ciphers, and Secrets, translated by E.A. Folio. 1894

There is some very valuable matter in this MSS., but it is hardly of so much importance as some of our others.

- 312 Brahe (Tyc-onis) et F. B. Grosschedel ab Aicha.
 Calendarium Naturale Magicum perpetuum profundissimam Rerum secretissimarum contemplationem totiusque Philosophiæ cognitionem complectens, Io. Theo. de Bry, excudeb. A large engraving (39 by 22 inches). 1582
 A very great curiosity; excessively rare and nearly unique, not more than three copies being known. This is preserved in a volume called "Musæum Hermeticum et artis Cabalistica." There are several other magical pieces with it, which hardly bear mention in this place as they have reference to knowledge contained in the higher grades.

 rismes. 4to. 1870
- 315 „ Les Portes de l'Avenir, ou Dernieres

 These three valuable MSS. are in the custody of the M.W. Supreme Magus and have never been published.
- 316 Malczovich (Ladislas de) A Translation of Von Christ Brud. Wahl w und Gewalt bestätigten Eingang

 Goldenen Rosen Kreuz nach der letzten Haupt Reformat
 Convention errichtet. Folio. 1777
 This MSS. is in the handwriting of Frater L. de M. It is carefully written and, as the name implies, of the utmost importance. It is preserved in the archives of the English Order by the Worthy Chief, Dr. Wynn Westcott.
- 317 Pike (Albert) The Symbolism of the Blue Degrees of Freemasonry, a thick folio MSS. in the private library of the "Societas Rosicruciana in Anglia." Its date is about 1875
 This MSS. has never been published. It contains, in addition to its Masonic work, a great deal of Rosicrucian matter not to be found elsewhere.
- 318 Rituals of the Four Grades of the First Order of the Societas Rosicruciana Republicæ, Confederatione
 Americana. Folio. 1881
 This MSS. is written in coloured inks and contains the American rituals, which are somewhat different to those employed in other Continents. This was done at their special request. The difference is more apparent than real, as the knowledge and beliefs are identical.
- 319 Salomon. La Clavicule Magique et Cabalistique du Roy Salomon avec les Pentacules Talismaniques Invocations Conjurations des Esprits Celestes
 A carefully written 8vo MSS. of 310 pages, copied, A.D. 1732, from the original in the Florence Library. The numerous diagrams are beautifully executed and are the work of an artist. The contemporary binding is whole morocco.
- 320 Splendor Solis.
 This magnificent MSS., which is to be found in the British Museum (Harl., 5,469), contains 22 highly illuminated plates representing emblematically the processes in the search for the Philosopher's Stone. This is one of the most important MSS. possessed by that Institution. The work is written in High Dutch and was executed in A.D. 1582. The Library of the Order in England possesses a translation of this MSS. that has never yet been published.

- 321 Tabula pro concordantia Frat. Roseæ et Aureæ Crucis

There exists in Paris, in the archives of the "Philosophical Lodge," a very curious diagram or table under the above title. It is written in German, and S.A.S. Prince Bernard of Saxe Weimar examined this MSS. with great interest during his visit in 1812, and was obliging enough to take the trouble to translate it himself into French. This piece of work is also most carefully preserved with the other as a monument of the Masonic zeal of S.A.S., and also for its valuable knowledge (vide Thory Acta, Vol. I., p. 85).

- 324 Mackenzie (Kenneth R. H.) Leaves from the Diary of a Rosicrucian. Published in the Journal, "The Rosicrucian." Commenced in April and unfinished in October, 1879

This rather important narrative contains some very interesting Rosicrucian truths, and I have thought fit to enter it here as it might be overlooked. It has never been published separately, although well worthy of so doing.

- 325 Mackenzie (Kenneth R. H.) The Royal Masonic Cyclopædia of History, Rites, Symbolism, and Biography, edited by K.R.H.M. (Cryptonymus). 8vo. London, 1877

A most important work; much fuller than Mackay's and containing much deeper research and knowledge. It has lately become very scarce and copies are difficult to obtain. Vide Art. "Rosicrucian," etc.

- 326 Mackey (Albert G.) An Encyclopædia of Freemasonry and its kindred sciences . . . Royal 8vo. Philadelphia, 1874

This Encyclopædia would scarcely be complete without making mention of the subject-matter of this work. Out of 947 pages, only three are devoted to Rosicrucianism!!! Even the most case-hardened critic would smile if one called this a representative review. This is better, however, than the subsequent edition; vide Lexicon of Freemasonry, 8th Ed., London, N.D., which only contains one and a half pp. of matter on the subject and indignantly repudiates any association with the Masonic Fraternity. This is rather hard on the Rosicrucian Society of England, whose ranks are recruited entirely from Master Masons of good repute. Verb. sap.

3 vols, 8vo. London, 1841. (Second Edition, 2 vols 1852)

A sketchy article was published in the above work on the Order. It is flimsy and superficial, and only worthy of a passing notice.

On pp. 732 et seq., also p. 808, contains a notice of the Order, but, as one would expect in a book of this description, it is biased by the views of of Orthodoxy. He depends largely upon Arnold's work for his matter. (Vide Art. Arnold.)

- 378 Murr (Christoph Gottlieb von) Über den wahren Ursprung der Rosenkreuzer und des F.M. Ordens: nebst eniem Anhang zur Geschichte der Tempelherren. 8vo. Sulzbach, J. E. Seidel, 1803

Collation (xvi) 483 pp.

This work contains one of De Bry's Engraved Title Pages, executed in his usual excellent style. It contains Nine Alchemical Treatises—less than the succeeding editions. It is a much rarer volume, however.

- 380 Musæum Hermeticum reformatum et Amplificatum . . . continens tractatus Chemicos XXI. 4to. Francofurti, Hermannum à Sande, 1678

Collation (xii.) 864 pp.

- 381 Hermetic Museum (The) Restored and enlarged most faithfully; instructing all the Disciples of the Sopho-Spagyric Art how that Greatest and Truest Medicine of the Philosopher's Stone may be found and and held . . . containing XXII most celebrated Chemical Tracts. 2 vols, 4to. London, 1893

We have here the only English translation of this important Hermetic work. It is edited by the well-known Author, A. E. Waite, who, however, states in the Preface that the translator prefers to preserve his anonymity. The work has been well done and is a highly creditable production, whoever is responsible for it. I notice that there is one more Treatise in this Edition than in the former. This is because there is a Key to the four Emblematical Plates alluded to in my last notice of the 1678 Edition. This Treatise now appears under the title of "The All-Wise Doorkeeper," and is a most desirable addition.

- 382 Mylius (J. D.) Anatomia Auri sive Tyrocinium Medico-Chymicum continens in se partes quinque. 4to. Francofurti, L. Jennis, 1628. Finely engraved Title Part V contains such excellent plates (5) of the process that I thought fit to include this with the others.

- 383 Mysteries of the Rosie Cross, or the History of that curious sect of the Middle Ages known as the Rosicrucians, with examples of their pretensions and claims as set forth in the writings of their Leaders and Disciples. 8vo. London, 1891

A modern work of little importance, it is a digest chiefly of John Heydon's works, who was only advanced to the lower degrees of the R.C.

- 384 Mysterium Arithmeticum sive Cabalastica (sic) et philosophica Inventio, nova admiranda et ardua cum illuminatiss laudatiss Frat. R.C. Famæ viris humiliter et syncere dicata (per J. F. Ulmens, Sept., 1615). 4to. 1615

Collation (xxiv) 117 pp.

This work was reprinted in German in a book called "Ueber Geheime Wissenschaften Initiationen und neuere Verbindungen." 2 vols. Altenburg, 1786. (Collation 247 and 349 pp.).

Nandé in this work upbraids his countrymen for their readiness to take up with new and ridiculous ideas, and the whole of it is written disparaging the idea of any such Brotherhood; but then one must remember that he was Librarian to Cardinal Mazarin, and the teachings of the Romish Church have always sternly repressed any rivals or freedom of thought, and Nandé had his reputation to sustain and his living to earn, and who could better reply to the two Affiches, which appeared in Paris in 1623, than the Cardinal's Librarian? Yet in spite of this he might have translated "post centum viginti annos patebo" in a better fashion than "Après six vingts ans je feray decouverte." (Vide p. 38.)

There is also usually another part bound up with this work, called "Avertissement au sujet des freres de la Rose Croix."

Collation (iv) 224 pp.

This Author's opinion is to the effect that, after having made a study of the greater part of Andreas's works and others that have written on the subject, he is of opinion that Andreas, being only 28 years old when the Fama first appeared, and a young man full of ardour and enthusiasm, hoped to spread, by means of poetical fiction, his moral and political views (page 176 et seq.) and also purge the defects which existed in Theology, Science, etc., of his day; but finding that his fiction was taken literally by the majority of people, and also the persecutions he suffered at their hands besides to his disgust, the misrepresentations and abuses his teachings received at their hands, induced him to abandon and relinquish his project; and to suggest that the Order was non-existent and only imaginary. Vide Andreas's Articles "Menippus" and "Mythologia Christiana."

Both of these are excellent works on Hermetic Philosophy, the latter ends up with Soli Deo Gloria.
- 396 Ordre Kabbalistique de la Rose Croix. An 8vo. Pamphlet of 16 pp., dated (Aout, 1891), and signed by S. de Guaita, J. Papus and others: it was privately issued and had to do with internal disagreements with one of their Members. Collation 69 pp.
One of the most valuable works in my Library. It contains some early wood blocks on the treatment of metals. The Title Page is a fine example of coloured wood block printing of that age. It is dedicated to Pope Leo X, and Pantheus is reputed to have disclosed the art of making gold to the Republic of Venice.
- 401 Parny (Evariste) Les Rosecroix, Poème en douze Chants. 8vo. Paris, 1808
Brunet does not appear to know of any separate edition of these poems. He only mentions sets of this Author's works.

Some other works have been published by this French Author, but I have quoted sufficiently from his list to shew in what manner he treats the Rosicrucian subject. It appears to me to partake more of voluptuous estheticism than philosophical study.

This work is issued privately to Members of the Lodge—the first volume appearing in 1887—and consists of Papers on Freemasonry. Amongst these, however, have been numerous References, Articles, and Papers, on Rosicrucianism, of which I give a list up to date, viz. :—
- Vol. I. Page 28. Freemasonry and Hermeticism, by Rev. A. F. Woodford. Page 54. Rosicrucian Society of England, by Dr. W. Wynn Westcott.
- Vol. V. Page 67. Rosicrucians in Denmark in 1484, by R. F. Gould.
- Vol. VI. Page 202. Address by Dr. W. Wynn Westcott.
- Vol. VII. Page 36. "Rosicrucians: Their History and Aims," by Dr. W. Wynn Westcott. Page 83. "Rosicrucians," by J. P. Vaillant. Page 145. "Medical Profession and Freemasonry," by R. F. Gould.
- Vol. VIII. Page 46. "The Rosiecross," a Review by W. J. Hughan.
- Vol. XI. Page 5. Elias Ashmole and his Diary, by W. J. Chetwode Crawley.
- 408 Anubis.—The Occult News and Review. 8vo. London, 1902—1903. Vol I. all published.
Articles appeared in Nos. III. and VII. of Rosicrucian interest. This is now being continued under a new Title "Out of the Silence."
- 409 Bizarre Notes and Queries (The). 8vo. Published by S. C. and L. M. Gould. Manchester, New Haven, U.S.A.
Vol. VIII., page 214, contains an account of "The Laws of the Brotherhood of Rosicrucians." This is a very entertaining article and is worthy of serious consideration. There is also some other Rosicrucian matter scattered through the volume, but of not so much importance.

- 410 Book Lore.—A Magazine devoted to Old Time Literature. Folio. London, 1884 to 1887
Vol. III., page 14. contains a very brief notice of little over 2 pages of the Order, and is virtually a review of Jennings's work.
- 411 Freemasons' Magazine and Masonic Mirror. (New Series.) 4to. London, 1859-1868. XIX. Vols.
Vol. IV., p. 187 (1861); VI., p. 65 (1862); VIII., p. 245 (1863); IX., p. 40 (1863); XII., p. 180 (1865); XVI., pp 228, 446; XVII., pp. 210, 327; XVIII., p. 66; XIX. contains reference to the Order on pp. 89, 291, 309, 331, 471, 489
Some of the correspondence is of a very flippant character, whilst others treat it in a studious manner.
- 412 Kneph (The) Official Journal of the A and P Rite of Masonry, edited by K. R. H. Mackenzie and others. 4to. London. No. 1, January 1st, 1881. The last Number issued that I know of was Vol. VIII., Years XIV., XV., August, 1885
Besides the Masonic matter there are a quantity of other articles dealing with Mysticism which are not to be found elsewhere. There is an excellent translation of that work on Initiation in Egypt called "Crata Repoa," from the German; also a translation of the "Chymical Wedding"—the Cubic Stone of the Philosophic Rose Croix; and a number of Hermetic works.
- 413 London Magazine (The) Vol. IX. 1824. Pages 5, 140, 256, 652
Contains accounts and references to the Order in the usual Magazine style
- 414 Masonic Examiner (The) Only 6 Numbers of this publication were issued. 4to. London, July to December, 1871

- 447 Rosicrucian (The) A Quarterly Record of the Society's Transactions, with occasional Notes on Freemasonry . . . Edited by R. W. Little and Dr. W. R. Woodman. First Series, Vols I and II, all published, July, 1868, to November, 1874 (26 Parts)
This, the First Series of this publication, is much better than the later ones. There are many articles of very great interest by the following Authors:— W. J. Hughan, R. W. Little, Kenneth Mackenzie, Dr. Woodman, Wm. Carpenter, &c.
- 448 Rosicrucian (The) and Masonic Record. Edited by R. W. Little, assisted by Dr. W. R. Woodman. New Series (Second), Vol I, all published, 15th January to October, 1875 (4 Parts)
The best article in this Volume is one by K. Mackenzie, called "A Letter from the Brotherhood of the Rosie Cross." It is a translation, I presume, from the German.
- 449 Rosicrucian (The) and Masonic Record. Edited by R. W. Little and Dr. W. R. Woodman. New Series (Third), Vols I and II, all published, 1st January, 1876, to October, 1879 (16 Parts) all published
This is the last publication of this Magazine. It contains important articles by K. R. H. Mackenzie, Dr. Wm. Bell, Fk. Hockley, W. J. Hughan, T. B. Whytehead, R. Wentworth Little, D. Fearon Ranking and others.
- 450 Spectator (The) Nos. 379, 574. 6 Vols. 8vo. Edinburgh, 1839
- 451 Theosophist (The) A Magazine of Oriental Philosophy, Literature, and Occultism. Madras
Vol VII (1886), p. 451, contains a long article, translated from the "Sphinx" by Karl Kisewetter, on "The Rosicrucians." He contributes some important facts, as his great-grandfather, who belonged to the Order, bequeathed to him his R.C. Papers.
Vols VIII and IX contain a series of articles on "Rosicrucian Letters," purporting to be translated from the German and signed F. H(artmann). If this is the Author of the "Secret Symbols of the R.C." one must be guarded in accepting evidence of this description.
Vol XV contains a long article by Dr. Westcott taken from "Theosophical Siftings," called "Christian Rosenkreuz and the Rosicrucians."
- 452 Unknown World (The) A Magazine devoted to the Occult Sciences, Magic, Mystical Philosophy, Alchemy, Hermetic Archæology and the Hidden Problems of Science, Literature, Speculation, and History, edited by A. E. Waite. No. 1 appeared

- August 15, 1894, and it finished with No. 5, Vol II, June 15, 1895. 4to. London
 The Editor has contributed some fine articles upon the Order, and it is also illustrated with some excellent Mystical Pictures by the well-known artist, Mme. de Steiger. A good deal of space, however, is occupied by articles on the notorious "Lake Harris," of "Laurence Oliphant" fame, etc., a fact which may have had something to do with its downfall.

I have thought fit to include this work owing to its title. The Author, however, was a Pseudo Rosicrucian, and his works are unimportant and of but feeble interest to the student.
- 466 Randolph (P. B.) The Wonderful Story of Ravalette . . . being the Rosicrucian's Story. 8vo. Toledo, Ohio, 1887
This Pseudo Rosicrucian Author has skilfully woven into a magical tale some of the R.C. mysticism. It is worth reading.

- 478 Salmon (Dr. Wm.) La Bibliotheque des Philosophes Chimiques, ou Recueil des auteurs les plus approuvez, qui ont écrit de la Pierre Philosophale. 2 vols. 8vo. Paris, 1672—1678
Another Edition was issued by J. M. D. R. (Jean Mangin de Richebourg) in 4 volumes, much enlarged, 8vo, Paris, 1741—54. The last volume is very scarce as it was not issued for 14 years after vol III. A portion of it was also published at London, 1692, under the title of "Medicina Practica," or "Practical Physick": and again in 1707. It contains a very passable collection of Alchemical Works, although Du Fresnoy says that this translation of Geber is very bad, as he failed to choose the best edition of this author for his work, which is that of Danzic, 1682.

Menapius, and the name of Schweighardt is affixed to the third part in fun.
 According to Kloss he also assumed the following pseudonyms, viz.:

 An Impartial Collection from the History of the Rosicrucians, with some fine

The Plates to this Work are charmingly executed, and exhibit some very fine Rosicrucian Symbolism on its Alchemical side, they remind one of the Mutus Liber of which I have made mention elsewhere. It has also been translated into Latin (vide No. 371 "Michelspacherus").

In Vol II., p. 35, a chapter is devoted to Rosicrucianism and Freemasonry and the positions very fully reviewed. the author coming to the conclusion, however, that the "Fama" was not intended to describe a Society really existing, although he adduces some excellent evidence to shew that it was put forward by Andreas, there being nothing to show on the face of it by whom it was written. This author has got the date of the 1st Edition of the "Universal Reformatiion" correct as being A.D. 1614, but he is hopelessly out in his subsequent dates: he evidently had a meagre library at his disposal.

The First Edition was issued in 1613-22 by the same publisher, but it only consists of five vols. and is inferior to this present one: this is an important collection of 209 Treatises on Alchemy, by the principal authors, and a detailed account will be found in "Du Fresnoy's" Catalogue.

Collation (ii.) 278 pp.

On the half Title there is a note that "The First, or Junior Grade has already appeared in the work, 'Der Rosenkreuzer in seiner Blösse.'" Vide No. 132; it would thus appear that this is the second work published by a Renegade Frater. It certainly appears to be genuine, and according to Kloss the Editor is Count von Löhrbach, at Munich.

 Another Edition appeared in 1618, 46 pp. See also Articles "Sendschreiben," and "Th. Schweighard." Arnold suggests that J. V. Henry More (The Platonist) wrote under the name of Alazonomastix Philalethes; Vaughan could hardly expect his publications to pass unnoticed, and he aroused the ire of this Cambridge Scholar. Later on however he retaliated in the work called, "The Man Mouse, etc.," which in its turn called forth More's reply, "The Second Lash, etc.;" but our worthy Adept was not to be outwitted, and wishing to have the last word, issued another counterblast in his work, "The Second Wash, or the Moore scoured once more, etc." which ended the matter.

Collation (iv) 327 pp.
The First Edition of this work, which treats of the Rosicrucian ideas of Elemental Spirits, "Gnomes," "Undines," &c. The chief figure in it is said to be taken from G. F. Borri, who is the imaginary Count de Gabalis ; although written in a satirical vein yet it contains profound truths ; possibly the author found it necessary in those days to disseminate knowledge in this fashion. It is also stated that Pope in his work, "The Rape of the Lock," obtained his ideas of the Elementaries and the general outline from this work.

- 568 Waite (A. E.) The Real History of the Rosicrucians, founded on their own manifestoes, and on facts and documents collected from the writings of Initiated Brethren. Illustrated. 8vo. London, 1887
This work contains a translation of the "Universal Reformation"; also the "Chymical Wedding," and a general survey of the whole movement. I cannot, however, do better than quote an extract concerning it from the privately printed Transactions of the Metropolitan College of Soc. Ros. in Anglia for 1891-92, page 10, viz. :—"He compiled this work and wrote his comments on Rosicrucianism when entirely an outsider to the Hermetic Orders, but since that date he has made the amende honorable to this Society and has entered into the studies by a recognised portal, and has expressed himself well satisfied to have done so."

I will now further quote, in Mr. A. E. Waite's own words, from a magazine he edited, "The Unknown World," Vol. I, No. I, 1894, page 29, viz. :—
"Much has come to light in these matters since the year 1887, and the work as it stands is in need of a thorough revision."

It would be superfluous for me to add anything further.

This work was written against No. 9, Agnostus, being especially directed against J. Faulhaber. I expect Wehe was associated with the Jesuits, as Agnostus cut up the work issued by them (vide No. 103, Christophorus, and Agnostus's reply); hence their furious onslaught in the present work.

- 577 Aesch Mezareph, or Purifying Fire, a chymico-kabalistic Treatise from the Kabala Denudata of Knorr von Rosenroth, translated by a Lover of Philalethes, 1714: Notes, &c., by "Sapere Ande," Edited by W.W.W. 8vo. London, 1894

- 578 Arcanum Hermeticæ Philos Opus. . . . Opus Authoris Anonymi, Penes Nos Unda Tagi, 1623. 8vo. London, 1893

This is an excellent English Translation of this old Rosicrucian work by Jean d'Espagnet, who also wrote the "Enchiridion Physicæ." The notes are by "Sapere Ande" and the work is edited by W.W.W. This is Vol. 1 of his "Collectanea Hermetica."

- 579 Chaldæan Oracles of Zoroaster. Edited and revised by Sapere Ande, with an Introduction by L(evavi) O(culos), edited by W.W.W. 8vo. London, 1895

"It has been believed by many, and not without good reason, that these terse and enigmatic utterances enshrine a profound system of mystical philosophy, but that this system demands for its full discernment a refinement of faculty, involving as it does a discrete perception of immaterial essences" (Introduction by L.O.).

This is a charming work. The notes are by an advanced student and exhibit a rare view of spiritually refined ideas. Would that we had a few more such to leaven our present materiality.

- 580 Egyptian Magic, by S.S.D.D. Edited by W.W.W. 8vo. London, 1896

This work is one of the Coll. Hermet. Series, edited by W.W.W., and could have been better dispensed with. It consists of little more than selections from the Sixty-fourth chapter of the Book of the Dead, the Harris Magical Papyrus, Petrie's Egyptian Tales, and the Gnostic Bruce Papyrus. According to G. R. S. Mead's able review of this work in Lucifer, Jan., 1897, "The faulty transcript of Woide has been followed, instead of the critical text of Schmidt, in Amelineau's text of the Bruce Papyrus"; and a doubt is cast as to the originals being in Greek, which point G.R.S.M. says has been definitely settled; also that there is an absence of Notes or Explanations in the book, which is of a suggestive rather than critical nature.

- 581 Euphrates, or the Waters of the East, by Eugenius Philalethes, 1655. A Reprint of this old work, edited by W.W.W. 8vo. London, 1896

- 583 Hermes, The Divine Pymander of. With a Preface by the Editor, w.w.w. 8vo. London, 1894

This contains the English translation of Dr. Everard, published A.D. 1650, of Seventeen Tracts attributed to this Philosopher.

- 584 History of the Societas Rosicruciana in Anglia, by the M.W. Supreme Magus, DR. W.W.W., P.M., P.Z. 30°. 8vo. London. Privately Printed, Dec. 30th, 1900

This important work contains the History of the English Temple, which was founded in 1866 by Frater R. W. Little, an Eminent Freemason, essentially well qualified to undertake such a task. He was assisted in his efforts by Fratres Hughan, Woodman, O'Neal Haye, Irwin and others, who in their turn have been succeeded by literary men of high standing, notably Fratres Hockley, Woodforde, Benjamin Cox, Kenneth Mackenzie, Jas. Lewis Thomas, Theo. B. Whytehead (York), and Dr. Wynn Westcott.

- 587 Rosicrucians (The): Their History and Aims, with reference to the alleged connection between Rosicrucianism and Freemasonry

This is a most important paper read by the Author before the Masonic Lodge, No. 2076, London, 2nd March, 1894, and contained in their Transactions, Vol VII. (vide Art. Ars Quatuor Coronati).

- 588 Rosicrucian Thoughts on the Ever-Burning Lamps of the Ancients (reprinted from The Freemason). 8vo. London, 1885

Contains some very acute suggestions on this interesting subject.

- 589 Sepher Yetzirah.—The Book of Formation and the Thirty-two Paths of Wisdom, translated from the Hebrew by w.w.w. 4to. Bath 1887. (Edition limited to 100 copies.) A second and enlarged edition, 8vo, London, 1893

- 590 Short Enquiry (A) concerning the Hermetic Art, by a lover of Philalethes. 8vo. London, 1714. Reprinted 1895, and edited by w.w.w., with a Preface by Non Omnis Moriar

The Ancient Mysteries have ever rivetted the attention of the world's most earnest thinkers, and this Book is a valuable contribution along that line of thought. As the author justly points out, "The Hermetic Doctrine explains the identification of the Spiritual and Immortal Being with the Impermanent and Fleeting Nature, which is overcome by purification, undergone in the ceremonies of the Initiation." This is one of the best works of Dr. Westcott's series.

- 591 Somnium Scipionis.—Translated into English, with an Essay, "The Vision of Scipio considered as a fragment of the Mysteries," by L(évavi) O(culos), &c. 8vo. London, 1894. Edited by w.w.w.

No 15 of this Series contains an Article on "Christian Rosenkreuz and the Rosencrucians."

- 594 [Wezel] Kakerlak oder Geschichte eines Rosenkreuzers aus dem vorigen Jahrhundert. 8vo. Leipzig, 1784. (Another Edition in Latin, 1784)
Collation 170 pp.

- 595 Wigston (W. F. C.) Bacon, Shakespeare, and the Rosicrucians. With two plates. 8vo, cloth. London, 1888

Amongst other things this author endeavours to shew that Bacon was the founder or head of some secret society as prefigured by his "New Atalantis;" that the Rosicrucian manifestoes, fame, and rise correspond with Bacon's life and death; that John Heydon identifies Bacon's "New Atalantis" with the land of the Rosicrucians, and many other details of a similar character, some of which are unworthy of attention.

- 599 Woodford (The Rev. A. F. A.) Kenning's Masonic Cyclopædia and Handbook of Masonic Archæology, History, and Biography. 8vo. London, 1878

This contains several references and an article on the Order. It was originally intended to issue this work in 1874, but when Mackey brought out his larger and fuller work in that year, it was decided to discard its publication. However, in 1878, the Editor plucked up heart enough to issue it at one-fourth the price of the larger work, and I believe the result has justified his enterprise.

IN presenting my second volume of Occult Bibliographies to the public, I have to thank my numerous readers for the kind reception they have accorded my first effort on “Rosicrucian Books”; the work is now quite out of print, and copies are only obtainable at a premium. I hope that this second volume will prove even more popular than the first one, as I believe it will appeal to a larger circle of readers.

I do not pretend that this Catalogue is complete, but it refers to over 1,400 works, and to give some idea of the labour involved, I may say that, with the exception of a very few entries, all of the books herein enumerated have passed through my own hands, so that I can vouch for the accuracy of my description of them; it has entailed the labour of many years, but it has been a labour of love, the result of my devotion to Occult Studies, and I do not hope for any profit from its sale. Should my health and means permit, I intend to issue a third volume on “Alchemical Books,” and some of my friends are sanguine enough to predict a greater success for this than any of its predecessors have attained; at any rate I have endeavoured in the present volume to render as complete as possible a work intended to embody a catalogue of the literature of the whole world in this enticing branch of occult study, so as to place within reach of the student a volume of reference to a science that has laboured for many years under numerous shortcomings; not the least of which are the Charlatanry and Quackery indulged in even at the present day by irresponsible quidnuncs who are all willing to supply the gaping crowd with prophecies to suit their taste, and cheap love oracles to all and sundry lads and lasses who are bold enough to seek to know what fate has in store for them.

I believe Astrology to be a true science when properly understood; it dates back to a great antiquity; the Arabians, Chaldæans,

THE HISTORY OF ASTROLOGY

THE nations of the ancient world were all more or less of opinion that the movements of the heavenly bodies, the occurrence of eclipses, and the appearance of comets exercised an influence over the fate of the human race, and the destinies of men. They feared the extraordinary manifestations of the sky, and saw portents destined for their instruction in the eclipses of the sun and moon, and in notable conjunctions of the planets. Eclipses of the sun especially, which caused a temporary darkness, seemed to them to be warnings of the anger of their gods, and signs of coming punishment.

The Greeks and the earlier Romans do not appear, so far as Greeks and Roman literature can show, to have practised, studied, or taught any original system, of which the astronomic observations were used for purposes of astrologic divination; this line of thought seems rather to have had its origin among the Chaldeans of Babylonia, from whom it came to the notice of the more Western nations after the travels and wars of Alexander the Great.

The Greek philosophers did not readily adopt astrologic ideals, but professors of the Chaldean magical art of Astrology spread among them, and we find astrological notions become notable in the later years of the Roman Republic, and were well marked in the curious jumble of Eastern and Western science which existed in the third and fourth centuries of our era.

The Greeks made a considerable study of Astronomy, and so were in a position to understand the claims made by the Chaldeans for their views of the influence of the stars upon human destinies. Having learned the elements of the strange astrologic doctrines, the later Greeks sought for references to them in their own earlier writers; and especially in the venerable works of Homer and Hesiod, possibly because they disliked to tion received by Pompey and Crassus. Lucian also states that Julius Cæsar noted the revolutions of the stars.

Nigidius Figulus was famous as an astrologer in the later years of the Roman Republic, and foretold the supremacy of Augustus Cæsar.

These Roman astrologers became generally known as Chaldeans, whether they were Greeks or Italians; they rose to the zenith of fame in the early century of the Empire, but later were restrained by legal decisions, from the overt practice of their Art.

Theogenes, a citizen of Apollonia, was consulted by Augustus Cæsar.

Thrasyllus was the astrologer of Tiberius Cæsar; his son was consulted by Nero.

Ptolomæus advised Otho, and Seleneus gave warnings to Vespasian. These facts are narrated by the historian Tacitus. The astrologer Heliodorus was the adviser of the Emperor Valens.

Juvenal mentions the astrologers on several occasions.

The early Christian fathers all condemned judicial astrology, among these Tertullian, Augustine and Isidorus were most famous.

Apart from mythological fancies, the first man of whom it can be proved that he had astronomical knowledge is Thales, a citizen of Miletus, and the founder of the Ionic system of philosophy; he died about 546 B.C. He predicted an eclipse, the horrid darkness of which stopped a battle between the Medes under Cyaxares, and the Lydians led by Alyattes.

He was believed to have gained his knowledge of the heavenly bodies from Egyptian sources; Josephus and Plutarch both say he went to Egypt to study astronomy.

The Greeks seem to have recognised a meteorologic astrology, but not a divinatory form. The chief outflow of Chaldean lore over Greece was during the first three centuries before Christ. The Greek philosophers had good reasons for adopting its notions: first, because their Oracles had ceased to speak and they needed an alternative mode of divine guidance. Secondly, they approved of the idea of a personal genius for each man, and so took kindly to the astrological ideal of a planetary guardianship and
