The symbol upon the cover of this book is astro-masonic or astrological, and symbolizes the mysteries of creation.

The snake in the center in the form of S symbolizes the vitalizing force of material creation, love, passion; the arrow pointing down shows this power is coming from the spiritual sun, God, the Father, to Mother Earth (symbolized by the Moon) to vitalize all life on the Earth, the Seven Principles of Nature (symbolized by the seven stars).

The double triangle, the six pointed star, Solomon's Seal, is symbolic of the union of soul and body, the trinity of life, involution and evolution, from the Creator into material form then back to its source, just like all material forms return to their source, Mother Earth.

The Lion, the Eagle, the Bull, the Man, symbolize the four planes of manifestation, the four triplicities or trinities. LEO, the Lion is fiery, the vitalizing force of life; SCORPIO, the Eagle (the ancient symbol, a scorpion is used now) is watery, all life being born in water (moisture); TAURUS, the Bull is earthy, the substance or matter for material forms or the manifestation of life; AQUARIUS, the Man is airy, the Lord of Earth, the highest form of life on Earth, intelligence.

The snake around the outside symbolizes eternity, the cycle of necessity, without beginning or end, the universe.

THE GATES OF HEAVEN OPEN INWARD

This original poem, The Gates of Heaven Open Inward, is based on a story in prose by Rudyard Kipling. The story was part of a talk before the College of Surgeons, London, England. He was born in 1865, a 100 years ago. The original verse by H. O. Wagner, Jan. 4, 1958.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

These poems, The Tablets of Aeth in Verse, were given to me from the astral realm by my father Henry Wagner M.D. and mother Belle M. Wagner and friends from above.

This acknowledgment is to publicly thank them for their help.

The Gates of Heaven Open Inward

Millions and millions of years ago
When the world was young and new
And infant man was crawling round
To see what he could do.

The Earth was full of tempting charms
To test his skill and brawn
So he could learn the laws of life
And win himself a crown.

His strength and skill improved with use
His pride and ego grew
He hardly tread the lowly Earth
All things he thought he knew.

He sailed the mighty oceans
From shore to distant shore
And climbed the highest mountains
In search of gold and ore.

He stopped to rest one summer day
In peaceful mountain glen
And far above the clouds he spied
The hidden throne of heaven.

Surprised indeed at such a sight
What distant place was this
It seemed to chain him to the spot
This scene of perfect bliss.

The more aloft he held his gaze
Desire, the stronger grew
To strive to gain this high domain
And bid the world adieu.

The Gates of Heaven Open Inward

He called aloud to those above
To show the trail their way
So he could come and see their home
And live with them some day.

Enraged to hear such brazen talk
A threat to be their peer
They sought the aid of God above
To stop this man with fear.

God went to see this lowly man
To hear his plea for heaven
And counsel him for such a trip
As father would his children.

God granted man his heart's desire
Approved man's right to come
If he the proper life would live
And find the key to home.

And God so told His heavenly aids
That man might come some day
If he the hidden key could find
And trod the narrow way.

The key, God said, was hid secure
Where none would think to look Inside man's soul the key was hid
Not in some secret nook.

The Gates of Heaven open inward
Each one must search within
To learn the truths that lead to peace
And thus his heaven win.

Title for pamphlet to be used with The Tablets of Aeth, Vol. II, Light of Egypt, by T. H. Burgoyne, pages 101 to 166. These poems, transcribed by H. O. Wagner, show very clearly what thought can be hidden in a symbol for those who have the background knowledge of what the symbol means.

The signs of the zodiac indicate the pattern of all life, from the infinite universe down to the smallest speck of God's vital life. Each form has a length or cycle of existence, from birth to death, then passes on to a higher phase of life, continually evolving higher and higher, for life is eternal, there is no end. The nearer we appear to approach the Great White Throne of The Infinite One, the further does that source recede from us.

The first sign, ARIES, indicates the start or birth of life, as in Genesis, 1:14, "And God said, Let there be lights in the firmaments," or like Springtime each year, when all Nature responds to the Creator's demand for New Life full of His vital creative energy.

Then in order:—one sign for each month of the year as the SUN travels forward through each given sign:—Aries, Taurus, Gemini, Cancer, Leo, Virgo, Libra (the balance between maturity and decline toward death and birth of a new life) then Scorpio, Sagittarius, Capricorn, Aquarius, and Pisces, the end of one year, death, and the beginning of a new year, birth, forever and forever, just like the days and nights, where one ends the other begins. And life continues on through the Astral and Spiritual Spheres above, in like pattern, ever higher and higher, as the soul of man strives to return to his spiritual source of God, the Infinite Creator of All Life, just as all material mortal forms return to their source, Mother Earth.

The One Eternal God, the Father-Mother, the Spiritual Sun, Love and Wisdom, use their law of Sex (Real Love and Perfect Harmony) to create and vitalize all life so it may grow and learn continually, and each Man and Woman should use their earthly life to live and learn, so they will be WISE like FATHER, God.

The Planets indicate the three spheres of manifested life.

First, the Physical Universe:—the Spiritual Sun being GOD, the source of ALL, the Infinite Universe. The Physical Sun being the source of the Physical Universe, All Created Life; then Mercury indicates Intelligence, the vital power of life; then Venus, the Goddess of Love, the tie that binds all life together.

Second, the Human Sphere:—the Moon (symbol of the Earth) indicates birth into material earthly conditions (mortal life) and consciousness of spiritual life; then Mars symbolizes physical strength, animal intelligence (might is right) the human childhood; then Jupiter, symbol of Human Authority, the tie that binds human life and institutions together, Church, State, and All Society.

Third, the Spiritual Sphere:—Saturn symbolizes Mortal Death and Spiritual Birth, Christmas, birth of Christ, a New Year on Earth; then Uranus symbolizes Soul and Spirit penetration, perception, understanding, Wisdom gained from experience, spiritual strength, power, spiritual intelligence; then Neptune symbolizes Ideal Love, aspiration for the highest good for the Soul-Ego, and a corresponding desire toward all life, The Spiritual Tie that binds all life.

Tablet 10, the Cypher, the Unknown, the origin or future.

Each person is his own God. We become, grow by experience to what we WILL to be. The life we live from day to day, plants the seed for the life to come, ever higher and higher. END, there is None. "I and the Father are One." John 6:51, 53-58.

The highest knowledge attainable is gained by perfection of character and understanding, through silent meditation.

The smallest Faith has more sustaining power than the strongest reason, to comfort and strengthen the Soul.

DO NOT permit your body to become a slave to the cruel and relentless monarch:—HABIT.

SEX is the Most Sacred Law of Life. It is used by the Creator to manifest His infinite universes and endow them with Eternal Life.

To violate this Holy Law is to injure your soul, the temple of God.

"Within thyself thou hast a sublime friend thou knowest not."

"God dwells within all men, though few know how to find Him. The man who sacrifices his desires and works for the Being whence proceed the principles of all things, and by whom the universe has been formed, attains to perfection by such sacrifice. For he, who in himself, finds his happiness, his joy and light, is one with God. Know then, that the Soul which has found God is freed from re-birth and from death, from old age and from pain:—Such a soul drinks the waters of immortality." Bhagavad-Gita.

PREFACE to the verses transcribed by H. O. Wagner, in an effort to express the thought in the Tablets of Aeth, Vol. II, The Light of Egypt by T. H. Burgoyne, pages 101 to 166.

Let all of us remember that ESOTERIC THOUGHTS have meanings not found in Worldly words. Hidden meanings, thoughts of implied action and Holy Divine Desires not possible to obtain on Earth. Spiritual Thoughts of the Highest Moral Purity it is possible for us to conceive of, thoughts that we think the Angels live by and use.

SO:— in reading and trying to grasp the thought intended by the written words in these verses, let your mind soar to HEAVEN, far above the clouds that surround this world. Rise above all WORLDLY thoughts of selfishness, envy, hate, greed, malice, lust, vengeance, crime and brutal killing wars; rise to where TRUTH and honest sincere CHARITY work to teach and lift mankind above their sordid ways of living the daily earthly life. Go your limit, dream of PARADISE, the GARDEN of EDEN, and all such ideal conditions of perfect harmony, where the highest angels live.

Before reading any of the Tablet poems in this supplement, the student should study Mr. Burgoyne's interpretative reflections of the Tablet of Aeth sign, in Vol. II of The Light of Egypt. This will give a better understanding of the thought intended to be conveyed for the sign in question.

THE RAIN STORM

A brilliant Rainbow graced the sky
 The Sun was shining bright
 The air was clean and fresh as new
 All clouds had gone from sight.

Each raindrop sparkled like a jewel
 Like a crystal in the light
 All Nature seemed relieved of care
 Was happy with delight.

The Sun dispersed the violent storm
 And brought a merry cheer
 But the storm was necessary
 To clear the atmosphere.

Verses transcribed by H. O. Wagner in an effort to express the thought in the Tablets of Aeth, Vol. II, Light of Egypt by T. H. Burgoyne, pages 101 to 166.

"I sent my soul through the invisible,
Some lesson of that after life to spell;
And by and by my soul returned to me
And answered, I, myself, am Heaven and Hell."

"The moving finger writes; and, having writ,
Moves on; nor all your piety nor wit
Shall lure it back to cancel half a line,
Nor all your tears wash out a word of it."

The Dawn of Life

The Dawn of Life

When God was lost in restful sleep
Before the Universe was thought
He had no dream, His mind was calm,
A Holy Peace, without a thought.

When He awoke and came to life
His very thought produced the Light
As rising Sun in eastern sky
Absorbs the darkness of the Night.

As consciousness became more strong
He willed to have a loving mate
To share His Throne and grace His Sphere
As Queen of All, they might create.

The King and Queen are really One
Their Love is Perfect Harmony
The Universe is their vast home
Each Atom born in harmony.

Each speck of life is bound to share
Their home and immortality
To keep the universe aglow
With sparkling bright vitality.

Each brother, sister soul must live
Experience All Life to learn and grow
Evolve through All the lower planes
So each will understand and know.

The Dawn of Life
What you expect will be your destiny.

ARIES
The Dawn of Life

Whatsoever your heart desires
Of good and Holy things
Strive earnestly to get the prize
And please your heart, your King.

Desire for good, sincere and true,
Is prayer beyond reproach
For every deed or act so done
On others rights does not encroach.

Each step you take along the way
May test your strength of character
For jealousy and envy are Real foes of Holy Character.

Since prayer comes first in all you do
Be careful what you wish
For false and selfish prayers
May bring your very wish.

Then sad indeed, you'll sorry be
To learn the bad mistake
And find you robbed some other
Of their rightful share at stake.

To right this painful error
The lawful owner you must please
For everything you claim your own
Requires you pay the proper fees.

The Dawn of Life
What you expect will be
your destiny.

So choose with care your distant goal
Some prize The King would love
And fill your heart with Holy Joy
To urge you onward far above

To spheres of heavenly splendor
Which have no equal here below
That shine with greater grandeur
The higher you climb and grow.

When you evolve to perfect love
With wisdom of Eternity
A King and Queen you may become In part of God's Immensity.

Remain in ignorance of the Day
Not conscious that the Light above
May shortly drive the Night away.

The higher air is clean and pure
With vital strength in every breath
But valleys fill with clouds of doubt
That hold the mind in fear of death.

So strive to live above the Fogs
Be blest with Faith and Inward Light
For those who live far down below
The truths of life are hid from sight.

When springtime comes All Nature thrills
To feel the vital flow of might
The minds of men must soon awake
See and feel this glorious sight.

The men who see the truths of life
Should work to lift the clouds of error

 Will try to find their own soul mate
 For they are lost in Earthly thrills
 And traveling at a faster rate.

When Man has solved the depths of space
 So he can go and come at will Then he may try to find his mate
 In searching for a greater thrill.

Long years of trials in evil ways
 In search of Love and worldly gold
 Cause men to sicken of the Earth
 And seek a way to earn God's Gold.

 Living in peace and harmony
 And teach the men who live below

Avoid the underhanded ways
 Of excess flattery and praise
 Thinking that you win approval
 And raise your own inflated daze.

Such means as this arouse a doubt
 That you are honest and sincere
 And thus you kill the praise you sought
 And lose a friend you thought most dear.

Control the fury of your heart
 Refuse to slander friend or foe
 Such thoughts as these will make you ill
 They quickly multiply and grow.

Don't think you hide a guilty truth
 By falsely stating what you know
 For truth will out before your eyes
 And place your standing far below.

Aspire yourself to be the Queen
 Have ALL obey the Golden Rule
 Demand all men True Lovers be Command each one to stop misrule.

The Truths of life are hard to find
Each one is hid from mortal sight
And every man must toil to see
The treasures hidden in the Light.

The fiery force that Nature rules
Is like the Sun that makes the day
It fills all forms with vital force
And strives to change all earthly clay.

It never ceases as it works
All day and night with constant glow
In perfect silence hid from view
It makes all life to grow and grow.

It makes the lightning and the storm
The fruits and flowers, Winter too
And all the changes here on Earth
To make man wonder, what is true.

NATURE guards Her Royal Secrets
Each man must fight to win Her Trust
All selfish greed and worldly strife
Obscure the view and win mistrust.

The Truths of life are never given

 Chaste as Eve before temptation

All the fruits and flowers we enjoy
 Have roots embedded in the soil
 From which to draw their vital strength
 But blooms on high are free from soil.

The path of life is like for all
 Each spark of God's eternal life
 Descends far down into the Earth
 Then climbs above to bloom in Light.

So man must grow the same like way
 And have his roots far down in rot
 But like the flower on the stalk
 Evolve his thoughts above all rot.

All kinds of rot are food for thought
 If man can keep them pure and clean
 The lessons learned by this experience
 Can make all evil pure and clean.

Death Foretells New Birth

God's Infinite Eternal Life
 Throughout all space forever flows
 But on our mother earth it seems Like night and day, it comes and goes.

For all the plants on earth are born
 They grow awhile, produce a bloom,
 Then slowly fade away in Fall
 To death or sleep or face their doom.

All animals and men are born
 And live their given length of life
 Then die or pass away from view
 Relieved of earthly woes and strife.

And all the other things in life
 Have given cycles to perform
 Then leave this plane so other minds
 Can take control and seek reform.

This constant change like death and birth
 Is promise of some higher spheres
 Like Springtime ushers in new life
 And hope and kills all former fears.

And thus the Savior of All Men
 Returns at given lengths of time
 To urge reform and plant new seed
 For higher truths and lesser crime.

When man has reached the mineral plane
The lowest rung of Earthly goal
The tiny spark of vital force
Is almost nil within his soul.

And here he lives for years and years
Embedded in the densest rock
Gaining slowly a wealth of power
To rise and break the mineral lock.

The roots of plants in soil above
Sink deep to reach his vital store
To feed themselves and help him rise
Evolve above the lowly ore.

As time goes on he slowly grows
He fits right into God's own plan
For him to enter conscious life
Where he may yearn to be a Man.

When he has earned the proper score
To be a child upon the Earth
Dear Mother Nature finds a home
Where he may have a human birth.

A human birth gives conscious life
The soul may rise or sink below
Each trial of Faith and Trust and Woe
Does test his strength and help him grow.

Requires great strength of Faith and Love
A righteous consciousness of Truth
In harmony with God above.

So man should fight to learn and grow
Above all storms of worldly strife
And seek a path to spirit spheres
To lift his soul above this life.

Each grain of truth that you may find
Will aid to clear your mind of fear
And help you earn a noble goal
To fill your heart with merry cheer.

A mind that's filled with golden truths
Is treasure far beyond Earth life
Will free the soul to seek a way
To holy peace, eternal life.

Intuition, the Silent Voice

The truths of life are hid from view
 From all of those who cannot hear
 They come in silence to the soul
 As intuition, then they hear.

To reach the highest plane on Earth
 Each man should seek a noble choice
 Through constant prayer and holy thought
 His soul may hear the silent voice.

Then he can learn what lies ahead
 What Earthly chores are his to do
 And choose the path where he should work
 And nobly do what he should do.

On this Royal Road to knowledge
 Away from worldly greed and strife
 He's bound to hear of many truths
 To help him learn of spirit life.

The Father-Motherhood of God
 The infinite eternal good
 Desire that men on Earth should build
 A universal brotherhood.

And learn to live in friendly peace
 So men can use their mortal life
 To build a paradise on Earth
 Entirely free of deadly strife.

This Airy Age, Aquarius
 Should lift the veil from spirit sight
 Then men can hear the silent voice
 And heed and use this holy light.

All sin and evil ways will fail
 As air cannot be used to hide
 And men will turn to honest ways
 In sheer defense of shame and pride.

When this comes true, then men will live
 As brother-sister, as they should
 In Holy Love and Harmony
 Like God above desires they would.

“The human heart is the true temple of God, enter ye into your temples and illumine them with good thoughts. The sacred vessels, they are your hands and your eyes. Do I say that which is agreeable to God: doing good to your neighbors? But, first embellish wherein dwells He, who gave you life.”

“However so small your lamp may be, never give away the oil that feeds it, but only the light and flame, which crown it.”

Incomprehensible, Divine,
Deific Strength and Endless Light,
The Source of Life is hid in space
Beyond the reach of keenest sight.

Continually, without a pause,
Its mighty rays of force disperse
To vitalize each tiny speck
Within the boundless universe.

The dazzling Sun is God's right hand
It sends His glowing rays of life
To planets of its solar sphere
And our green Earth with mortal life.

It brings the seasons just on time
The Spring so full of life and cheer
And Summer heat to ripen crops
That furnish food another year.

When Autumn comes all crops are ripe
All Nature dressed in brilliant hue
To celebrate the harvest yield
Of grain and fruit that grew anew.

Then Winter comes with freezing cold
To stop all growth of plant like life

The Human Ego comes from God
Its mortal form from Mother Earth
And Man should live a noble life
To keep his soul above the earth.

For mortal form returns to soil
To feed some type of future life
But soul should rise to spirit spheres
Become a part of spirit life.

A man who thrives on worldly vice
Is bound to mortal forms of Earth
And shares the fate of all such growth
For he becomes the soil of Earth.

Obey the call of your own soul
Awake to spirit consciousness
And rise above all worldly strife
To win God's righteous blessedness.

Then seek to find your long lost mate
So you may share real peace and love
As brother, sister really should
In blessed happiness above.

The Ego leaves its spirit home
 To learn the ways of mortal life
 Not dreaming what the cost may be
 In aches and pains and worldly strife.

Its home with mortal parents may be
 A moral curse of sad dismay
 Where Love was killed and sent away
 Before the fatal marriage day.

Or be a home of love and cheer
 Infused with moral righteousness
 Where father, mother do their best
 To rear their child to nobleness.

When he does leave the family home
 What stage in life will be his start
 What moral code will he obey
 What path of life will be his chart?

These many questions must be solved
 As each is met along the way
 For some do lead to shame and ruin
 And others lead a noble way.

If man does start in moral rot
 Then fairly fights to get his right
 And wins his way to manly heights
 He truly is a Godly Knight.

This shameful trial should bring remorse
With vow to tread a noble way.

The trials of sinful suffering

And lift a man from agony

Mortal Life

Man's vexing trials upon this Earth
     Harass his soul and cause great grief
 From moment of his human birth
     Till death from strife does give relief.

The social life of human kind
     Is like a mystic maze of sighs
 Where good and bad walk side by side
     In search of some expected prize.

Where war and crime and rape and death
     Are each a part of daily life
 And men and women look with doubt
     On every phase of human strife.

Each crooked path is lined with snares
     And lures and traps of every kind
 Where trickery and thievery
     Are noble ways to help mankind.

And Cupid joins right in the sport
     His fatal darts cause aching hearts
 That bleed with agonizing pain
     And wreck a holy family hearth.

Some paths are choked with sorry folk
     Who cry and moan all day and night
 And other paths are full of evil folk
     Who ever try to pick a fight.

The Moon (symbol of the Earth)

THE MOON
Mortal Life

On every path are rich and poor
The strong and weak and clean and foul,
The sick and lame the right and wrong
And some who never cease to growl.

And where the merry-makers are Enjoying dance and song and feast
The pleasure brings no lasting joy
To cheer the soul or mortal beast.

The laws of life in church and state
Are in the same confusing mess
Each Crown is bound to hold control
To gratify his selfishness.

The truths of life are cut in bits
And mixed to please some human fool
Thus God's whole truth is ever lost
As guide within an earthly school.

The men who see this sorry scheme
And know that Night has passed away
Should spread the news to all the world
That God has sent His Light of Day.

The clouds of ignorance and doubt
Are slowly rising out of sight
And Faith and Love are flowing in
As mankind learns to see God's Light.

The human family here on Earth
Are living in their childhood state
Compared to Wisdom they may learn
When intellect is wide awake.

As intellect expands and grows
In life above this mortal sphere
The soul can grasp the higher truths
To aid its climb to spirit spheres.

Physical Strength,
Animal Intelligence,
Might is Right,

MARS
Brute Intelligence

Brute Intelligence

Since ancient times of long ago
The godly Mars has loved to fight
He knows no other kingly creed
But mighty strength is moral right.

Like beasts that roam the face of Earth
Who lack the sense of reasoning
What He desires He takes by might
There is no form of dickering.

The story of the whole wide world
Of Greece and Rome and other land
Recite of kings and noble men
Who warred to rule their neighbor's land,

And make them pay a royal fee
To have a home and breathe the air
Or think of any God or creed
The King declared was evil fare.

The godly right of Church to rule
Has been in doubt for many year
But they like Mars assert their might
And rule mankind with frightful fear.

The business world was much the same
As man to man a deal was made
The one who had the wealth to show
Would set the price to make the trade.

Physical Strength,
Animal Intelligence,
Might is Right,
The human childhood.

Brute Intelligence

Our life today is not so crude
We use our mind and worldly wealth
To trick and down the weaker man
Before he learns our evil stealth.

The field of sports was similar
Each man displayed his mighty strength
To down his rival in the sport
Or fell some foe of lesser strength.

The godly Mars is still at work
To prove His way is just and right.
The weaker man must always fall
Before His kingly strength and might.

This law of life will ever be
The stronger always rule the weak
So men must learn to be humane
And use their strength to aid the weak.

And this is what our God desires
We use our strength with charity
Correct all evil with goodwill
And kill the beast, Brutality.

 JUPITER
Human Authority

Human Authority

The Chief of Gods is Jupiter
 He reigns supreme and has no peer
 And fights for truth and righteousness
 On every plane where Gods appear.

In Greece long prior to Roman Rule
 His name was Zeus Hellenius
 Where he was worshiped as a God
 With benevolence, most gracious.

Zeus worked to make the human race
 A good and holy family
 Despised all vice and wicked ways
 And warred for moral purity.

The code of laws that Zeus enforced
 Were justly right and honorable
 For Gods and men and animals
 In all their ways, deplorable.

In Church and State he fought misrule
 Each Crown must rule with charity
 And justly punish acts of guilt
 To stop all crime and trickery.

In games of war He did the same
 And helped the side that warred for right
 Against brute strength and selfishness,
 Hypocrisy and vicious might.

Jupiter:—
 Symbol of Human Authority, the tie that binds human life and institutions together,
 Church and State.

24
 JUPITER
Human Authority

The field of sports was His delight
 If rivals fought with righteousness
 To win applause and laurels bright
 Without the use of wickedness.

The man who knowingly does wrong
 Has lost the grace of kingly Zeus
 Till he repents and rights the sin
 His sense of guilt will not reduce.

For Zeus is with us to this day
 To teach all truth and honesty
 And help men learn and climb above
 Their Childhood days of savagery.

So they may join His noble host
 In heavenly spheres of purity
 And live a worthy useful life
 In teaching men nobility.

These trusty souls who live with Zeus
 That fought their way through worldly strife
 Appraise all trials the soul endures
 To win the prize, Eternal Life.

"Thou hast entered the immeasurable regions. I am the Dweller of the Threshold. What wouldst thou with me?"

* * * * * Dost thou fear me? Am I not thy beloved? Is it not for me that thou hast rendered up the delights of thy race? Wouldst thou be wise? Mine is the wisdom of the countless ages. Kiss me, my mortal lover."

"Thus man pursues his weary calling,
And wrings the hard life from the sky,
While happiness unseen is falling Down from God's bosom silently."

TABLET THE TENTH

The unknown in very truth. It is everything and it is also nothing. Inconceivable visions arise within the mental universe, but nothing assumes definite form. It is all that is past and everything the future has in store, Amen.

Saturn; symbol of Mortal Death
and Spiritual Birth, Christmas,
birth of Christ, a New Year on Earth, a Cycle of Necessity.

SATURN
Death and Birth

Death and Birth

God Cronus rules the universe
While Saturn rules allotted time
So death and birth will always meet
Exactly on the proper line.

This law is absolute and true
Each spark of life must make its round
From birth to death, then start anew
In other form on higher round.

Like day and night upon our Earth
The end of day is start of night
And freezing cold of wintertime
Foretells that Spring will bring delight.

And this is true on mental plane
As void of mind is never true
For some new thought will use the space
When the old thought has gone from you.

When energy destroys a form
And sends it shattered into space
The air goes in to fill the gap
The death of form is birth of space.

The hoary Saturn with His scythe
Is symbol of the earthly death
But changes to an Angel bright
The instant birth demands new breath.

Saturn; symbol of Mortal Death
and Spiritual Birth, Christmas,
birth of Christ, a New Year on
Earth, a Cycle of Necessity.

Death and Birth

So Saturn is a wealthy God
In spirit spheres beyond our Earth
For He has learned from ages past
Which things contain the greatest worth.

The golden wealth of spirit land
Is not the metal gold of Earth
Their assets never fluctuate
To please the greedy men of Earth.

As man evolves to higher spheres
And leaves the toys of childhood years
He faintly sees the light within
As Faith destroys all doubt and fears.

So let your faith in God above
Release your mind to see the light
That truth is hid within the soul
And lost to sight in worldly light.

The highest prize that man can earn
Is Wisdom of eternal life
Then live in truth and harmony
Above all worldly mortal strife.

Uranus; symbol of Soul and Spirit
penetration, perception, and understanding. Wisdom gained from experience. Spiritual strength, power and intelligence.

Perception

Spiritual Perception

This world is full of many truths
Of different grades and quality
As some are strong and full of life
And some are frail like poverty.

Uranus has the faculty
To rate each truth with nicety
And place it on the plane of facts
In order of its accuracy.

This mystic art to penetrate
And see the hidden truth within
Is a spirit-soul perception
Of sacred holy origin.

A few there are who have the right
To claim and use this lofty sense
But they must live and truly act
Like godly men without offense.

If used for sport or worldly gain
This fickle sense will fly away
And leave the soul of mortal man
A slave to ways of earthly clay.

No action of the human mind
Or intellectual reasoning
Can teach the truths of spirit spheres
To a worldly understanding.

Uranus; symbol of Soul and Spirit
penetration, perception, and understanding. Wisdom gained
from experience. Spiritual
strength, power and intelligence.

Perception

Their hopes and joys are physical Entirely on the planet Earth
Where they may see and feel all things
In common with all human birth.

For those who strive for noble grace
To raise their soul and live aright
Perception is a Royal gift
Of Godly worth in seeking light.

It aids a man to live in peace
Above this greedy world of strife
Where he can see the lofty plan
And help men climb to spirit life.

Thus earn the love of spirit friends
Who work to teach all mortal life
That spirit life is far more grand
Than any phase of earthly life.

Neptune; symbol of Ideal Love, aspiration for the highest good for the Soul-Ego, and a corresponding desire toward all life.

Ψ
NEPTUNE
Ideal Love

Ideal Love

Ideal Love. Perfect Harmony
Is for each Ego-Soul to make
As they pursue their way along
God's Infinite immensity

For each must love his chosen mate
With mutual love in harmony
Or else the balance of love will fail
And cause an ill inharmony.

This ideal love is far beyond
The human sphere of worldly life
The best that man can hope to do
Is nobly work to kill all strife.

The planets of the universe
Immersed in natural harmony
Are traveling on their endless course
As they fulfill their destiny.
