THE SCALE OF AWARENESS

This article is a transcription of an important preliminary discussion by Ron of his investigations out of which have come very practical advances in the handling of communication and the discovery of the preclear's level of reality in processing. The talk was given at a Staff Auditor - A.C.C. Conference of April 4, 1955

"...I'll give you a quick run-down on some data which has just materialized here - it's an experimental scale and this experimental scale is quite interesting. It really is a Scale of Awareness. A scale of awareness would begin at the top with, of course, AWARE OF BEING AWARE. If a person were really aware of being aware it would be sufficient communication for him merely to be aware of the existing environment. If he were simply aware of the existing environment he would feel he was in communication and would feel very good - he wouldn't have to talk about it. You get that level?

"All right now, we drop down from there and it's easier to describe from the bottom up. On the bottom is COMMUNICATION WITH SELF WITH SIGNIFICANCE. Worry. He can communicate with himself and he can worry. Now that isn't the exact bottom of the scale, but the next lower level - and that's unconsciousness - becomes questionable as a communication level. But nevertheless, it really belongs with this scale.

"So - we look at this and we find out that the guy could be aware of thinking a thought containing much significance, but not expressing it. Immediately below this level, as I say, is unconsciousness, which, of course, goes off the awareness scale and is the reverse of awareness.

"But, as we work up from absolute unconsciousness we find UNCONSCIOUSNESS IS THE ONLY THING WHICH EACH HIGHER STEP HAS IN COMMON WITH THE LAST STEP UNTIL WE GET TO TOTAL AWARENESS OF AWARENESS. So each one of these steps is to some degree salted with unconsciousness, and up to the moment when you would get to ABSOLUTE, complete unconsciousness, every one of these steps would have some unconsciousness in it. But, absolute, complete unconsciousness happens to be an absolute. It happens to be unobtainable. Complete unconsciousness is not obtainable. Nobody has ever been or ever will be completely unconscious. And this is a fact, because processes do work out on unconsciousness, so the bottom of the scale would be absolute, complete unconsciousness, but it's not the bottom of the scale, because that can't exist.

"So we would go up there to lesser and lesser degrees of unconsciousness and greater and greater degrees of consciousness. Now one of the best descriptions around that I have written on this unconsciousness business is SELF ANALYSIS. The first few chapters on SELF ANALYSIS is a discussion of unconsciousness. And when we consider alertness, we are considering ability. Now, we've been talking about this for some time. We consider alertness, then we consider ability. Awareness. If a person is aware of something he normally can control it.

"All right, we look this over, and we find out that the place for a person to be on the tone scale would be at AWARENESS OF AWARENESS and we find out that he, there, would have sufficient communication just with his environment to stay cleared. Get that? He could stay cleared. But, now let's start out from this level of complete unconsciousness - let's go into the first point on the scale which is actually there on the scale. Some small, no matter how small, awareness that he is thinking a thought and communicating with the thought he is thinking. And that level includes the deepest anaesthetic possible, and it includes death. He always has some tiny little spark of awareness there, in spite of the ambition of the medico, the anaesthetist, etc.

"He is aware that he is thinking something, no matter whether he thinks that it's somebody else's thinking or not. He's just aware of some thinking.

"The next broad level here is COMMUNICATION WITH SIGNIFICANCE. (Of course, in between, thinking a thought and thinking it to himself we get gradients of that, so the individual knows when he is thinking a thought, and knows when he's not thinking a thought. Naturally that's part of that same scale.)

"The next broad level is this: COMMUNICATION WITH SIGNIFICANCE WITH SOMEBODY ELSE. You know what we mean, "with significance", it's got to have a reason, it's got to have meaning, there has to be an intent. The next big broad scale that's parked right up above this is SIMPLY COMMUNICATION, WITH INTENT TO COMMUNICATE. The next broad level up above this simply requires THAT ONE KNOWS OF THE EXISTENCE OF COMMUNICATION. And the next level above that is simply AWARENESS OF AN ENVIRONMENT AS SUFFICIENT COMMUNICATION.

"Now, as we go down from that to the bottom we find out we are more and more fixed and less and less capable of spanning attention. So let's look at communication between two people as a fixed double terminal affair. The individual is less aware of his immediate environment. At Communication with Self he's not aware of his environment out here at all. And so we get the contracting perimeter of the dynamics, which we've discussed before. As we go down this Awareness Scale, which is also Communication Scale, we get the individual closer and closer in until - one of the early symptoms of it - he doesn't think anybody could possibly hear him unless he's standing with his face right in their face. And the next spot below that is real worry. Now this individual may be across the room. It doesn't matter. Now let's add to this, and we get the actual name of this scale. And it is the Scale of Reality. That is the name of the scale. Now this seems strange, if it has to do with awareness and communication, that we call it the scale of Reality, because it is the scale, a practical scale which is useful in processing.

"Now, how is it useful in processing? We're looking at a preclear that can't find anything real, very easily. We suspect he doesn't even know he can't find anything real. You know, it's just the way the case behaves - it's kind of spooky. Well, this guy, the realest thing he could do would be to think a thought and know that he thought the thought. That's the realest thing the guy could do. Now, if you were to graduate him upscale from this the next thing he could do that would be real to him would be to get the idea of saying something to somebody that has lots of significance to it, and having that person say something to him. Mythical personnel. And that's their reality. With significance. Now we go up above this, and we find out that the individual could have something real just by "hello" and "O.K." And one of the reasons we're using hello and O.K. is that it is an unreal communication. If a preclear can handle hello and O.K. without balking and consider it a real communication, this preclear is at that band. If he insists that that's a bad reply - you know- he "really wouldn't say hello" and then somebody else "wouldn't say O.K." - he would go at it possibly on hello's back and forth, but he would go on it much better with significances. WHAT COULD YOU SAY TO Pop? What could you say to your Mother? And he'd give you significances. Now, what could your Mother say to you?

"The funny thing about this is the way this scale was traced out. It's very interesting. It was traced out by watching the separation of universes, and when these universes come apart they first come apart as a WORRY, WORRY - then, "think a thought" - "think a thought the other fellow would think" - "think a thought that you would think" - "think a thought that the other fellow would think", and all of a sudden the individual differentiates between the kind of things the other universe thinks and the kind of things that his universe thinks. So we get this differentiation.

"Our next differentiation up the line would be SOMETHING YOU COULD SAY to that other universe and something it could say to you. And significance, significance, significance, and then I discovered that we had a point in the separation of each one of these universes when hello, hello, hello, with the answer hello was REAL. Perfectly real and acceptable. The preclear was not even vaguely uncomfortable about it. And then hello and O.K. - a perfectly real communication. And then, THE FACT THAT THE PERSON EXISTED was itself communication, and then THE FACT THAT THE UNIVERSE EXISTED AND THE REST OF THE ENVIRONMENT EXISTED, too, was a sufficient cognition without any further processing.

"When you start to pull universes apart on the individual, these universes have a tendency to go through that span, and the universes we don't see are the universes which are totally introverted. An individual is actually BEING his body, you see. He is in his body. He is actually, really being his body, and then his body is being his father's universe. We could start in by thinking that the most BASIC universe to separate would be father and mother from him, but this isn't the case at all. It would really be the thetan. So you could separate these other universes, but don't forget that we have an artificial enclosure of universe with the thetan in the body and here we're immediately talking about exteriorization, aren't we?

"So you could be almost any one of these universes. You'd find you'd go up on this gradient of reality. At first you could have the preclear think a thought and think a thought and think a thought, you of course making him express a thought, you're making him communicate with you, but he doesn't notice that. And think another thought, think another thought. Now, what kind of a thought could this other universe think? Another thought the other universe could think, another thought. When these become at last flat and squared away you've got these universes well on the way towards separation wnd then you can go into communication and separate them. Now, this is not a hard and fast rule because I have to do considerable more experimentation on it. I'm just letting you in on a particular echelon of the spirit. This might not hold true, we might be able to separate them all, all the way up the line, by simply thought, thought, "think a thought", "what kind of a thought would the other person think?" What kind of a thought would you think?"

"The way I've been doing it with great success has been just: ask the individual what he could then SAY to his father. Now, he has just discovered he can separate out his father's pattern of thinking from his own pattern of thinking. Now, it's time to communicate. Now we've got a distance, so we get "what could you say to your father?" Well, have him say "okay, that's fine, now, what else could you say to your father?" etc., and then you get this very flat.

"In its turn THINKING A THOUGHT itself became flat, THINKING HIS FATHER'S THOUGHTS became flat, and then we got COMMUNICATION WITH SIGNIFICANCE flat and then we got BOTH WAYS flat on that, and then we got to this point where it is ENOUGH FOR HIM TO SAY "HELLO" or have his father say hello. And he says hello and his father says hello; he says hello and his father says hello, and then you could - you don't have to - move him out of that bracket and have him say hello and his father say O.K. And this is still real, good communication and then he becomes AWARE OF WHERE HIS FATHER IS and at that moment you run into spotting spots. Got this? Up to this time all spots are misplaced with connection with this person. But, right about that time the spots start to go into their proper places.

"The same phenomenon occurs somewhere in that band of hello and O.K. with Pop if it's sneaked up on in this fashion as occurred in running 8-D in a limited number of cases, and all of a sudden his universe starts to un-spin and he's aware of this and aware of that and aware of where his father has been and aware of where he has been in regard to his father, and he starts to get directionally accurate. DIRECTIONALLY AND DISTANTLY ACCURATE. And up to that time it's just enough to be aware, as far as his father's concerned - just be AWARE OF EXISTENCE of father and NOT AWARE. That's enough, that's a cleared sphere. Now, do you see where we sneak up on something like this?

"Well, that's an interesting scale. It's a scale of reality. I've been working for some time trying to get some way to sneak up on reality.

"Now, how does this fit in with the real universe and objects. Well, there's a little kicker in here. Along about the time of what could you say to your father, and what could your father say to you, what could you say to your mother, what could your mother say to you -- in other words, separating part of these universes -- we know that sooner or later we would take up "What could you say to a body", "What could a body say to you". We know we will run into that one, but that's not so real sometimes. We've got to get him out of some other universes before we get him out of the body's universe.

"Right about the point where we would pass from that into communication by hello-hello, the individual on an 8-C level can spot unrealities. Isn't that good. He can spot unreality. Your pc today, Crystal, was just about ready to take a look at the environment. But, he could spot unrealities much faster than he could spot realities. Now, you know what I mean by unreality. Supposing you ran 8-C on unrealities. It's along about that point you could take up something like this if you wanted to. You'd run 8-C - "spot something unreal in this room", "spot something else unreal in this room." Then the individual would spot a lot of things, the wall behind him might be unreal, or something like that, you see, and he'll get out to a point where he'll recognize that his sight line to the horizon is real, but beyond that it's unreal, and he gets the idea of sort of living on a saucer. It's a little saucer which goes exactly out to the horizon and no further, and everything beyond that is unreal.

" Ask him to spot some unrealities in his environment until it's real to him. It sneaks up on the preclear after a while because he finds out things are getting LESS AND LESS UNREAL. It's as-ising unreality.

"When we're graduating a pc up the line it is very easy for the auditor to monitor the pc so that the pc can apparently run the most impossible, complex, the most advanced processes you ever heard of and just stall right there. The pc goes right on running them, "it's all unreal and it doesn't matter anyway", and he just goes on through it and the auditor kind of monitors the preclear in every step and sneeze if we just keep on going -- well, there is where we sometimes come a cropper in auditing. We audit somebody in a rather advanced process and it's unreal. Now, we've just had an experience of this happening. The guy apparently was just going bangity, bangity, bang, and yet it wasn't real.

"Well, it won't do them any good unless it's real. This is the way to sneak up, then, on a preclear and make sure it's real all the way.

SCIENTOLOGY:
ITS CONTRIBUTION TO KNOWLEDGE

don't miss the fifth anniversary congress

Along about the first of June there will be a stir throughout the nation. People will be packing bags, making their arrangements to have their cat or dog fed and cared for, and getting their cars, bicycles, and pogo sticks oiled and ready. Along the highways and cowpaths caravans will slowly begin to move. They will all be heading for Phoenix, Arizona. The few people remaining at home will, perhaps, wonder what is the strange urge that is calling an irresistible call. Yes, Friends, it is a sad fact, but true, that there ARE some people who have not heard of the Fifth Anniversary Congress of Dianeticists and Scientologists, (June 3, 4, 5, and 6). There might even be a few who have heard and would like to come, but, due to their being held in jails, iron lungs, or bear traps, find it impossible to make the trek.

What is it about these Congresses that makes them so hard to resist? First, there is the experience of listening to L. Ron Hubbard lecturing in a style that cannot be matched on the subject that is probably the most important in the world today. When Ron lectures those who know him are well aware that the course of his lecture will not be stale but will cover the very latest in Scientology and Dianetics. In fact these Congress lectures are a "must" even for the staff of the HASI and HDRF and the instructors in the courses of the HPC, since by missing even one the instructor may find himself in the odd position of being instructED by one of his students. This does not imply that the lectures are to be understood only by those trained in the science, for the new material is skillfully woven into a basic pattern which gives the newcomer an easy understanding of the pertinent data. Each Congress with its lectures and Group Processing by Ron is a short but complete course in the subject.

This brings us to point number two. Ah, the Group Processing by Ron! Those who have been present to hear one of these two famous statements: "Well, tonight I am going to run a very simple process, one so simple, in fact, that it probably won't do anything for anyone here," or, "Anyone who hasn't a strong constitution had better leave now, as the process I am about to run has never been run before and may very possibly prove disastrous for some of you," will probably never be the same again for having been in that particular place at that particular time. Some people will tell you group processing is of little benefit. These would be people who had never been group processed by Ron. The changes in case level of those attending past Congresses are witness to the efficacy of Ron's group processing.

Point number three is one that is seldom given much prominence but which, nevertheless, is one of the more important aspects of a Congress of Dianeticists and Scientologists. This is the interchange of news, data, and just plain two-way communication by people from all over the country. It is always fascinating to observe the rising curve of communication as a Congress progresses. There is always the happy greeting of old friends at the beginning but this is nothing in comparison to the amount of communication that develops as the Congress gets under weigh. People who at registration time sort of stay off by themselves or stick to their own little group rapidly find themselves making new friends and going around exchanging ideas with one and all. This increase in communication does not disappear with the return to the workaday world. After each Congress people who have attended write us to tell how they are operating at levels far above anything they have known before.

In addition to the increase in communication is, of course, the exchange of data on what is going on and where. If you have a problem in your area there is a probability that you can find someone who has had and solved the same problem somewhere else. And, perhaps above all this, is the experience of being a part of a group that is doing things.

Now that all this has been written I realize that it was completely unnecessary. The first paragraph told you that there was to be a Congress and obviously having read that far you are all off packing your bags without even bothering to finish the rest of the article. Anyway, I can tell you what was in it when I see you here in June.

Burke Belknap, Congress Manager.

MORLEY EXPLODES !!! TAKES COURSE

"Books now go out the day the order is received," says Dick Morley, "and I'm leaving the shipping business." "I can't stand it any more," says Dick. "There aren't any problems any more in Shipping." "It was swell while it lasted, but I'm going."

HCA Dick Morley, Shipping, Ret., is now in the B. Scn. course of Hubbard Professional College. He says he's happy again. Plenty of problems.

phoenix letter

HASI Staff Intensives go on, with the daily Staff Auditors Conferences with Ron getting better and better.

ACC graduate, David Murray, has taken over the HCA Course for a while, with D. Scn. Burke Belknap switching over to Staff auditing, in line with the HASI practice of keeping HASI auditors and instructors active both in processing and in training - it makes them better at both. Burke is doing extremely fine auditing, and very pleased with the chore, and Dave is somewhat surprised (we're not) to find himself a very hot instructor.

Mary Stimpert is now doing Staff auditing, and Steve Huffstetter is running the one-week H.P.C. Indoctrination Program, which is turning out to be a big success in getting students started well in the HCA-HDA and B. Scn. courses.

There isn't an auditor on the Staff who doesn't have other departments to run and jobs to do. This keeps us versatile and improves the alertness of all departments. The motto is: don't ever try to do one thing at a time!

The new building is coming along very nicely. We, the press, took a look at the upstairs rooms - the classrooms and auditing rooms - and found the whole upper level was finished, and all of it pleasant, light and cheerfully decorated. Ron's lecture to H.P.C. and Staff was given Saturday in the new Auditorium, and it seems to be the best sound stage we've ever had for Ron's lectures. The recording room is adjoining, so Don can watch what's going on, and he says he's getting very high fidelity tapes there.

Excitement and competence are running high in the new advanced B. Scn. course... We (press) were watching the students walking back to 1017 from Snappy's Grill after a break the other day, and noticed there's an awful lot of them! It sure is good that we've got the new space, because there are many more students due here in the next couple of weeks, and it keeps growing.

We're all looking forward to the Congress and seeing everyone from everywhere. Its going to be a very wonderful Congress, because for one thing "the field" is in real good shape, and this promises to be a Congress of very active, able people. And for another thing, Ron is going to talk about some things that have been sitting there in front of us for a very, very long time, ready to be talked about, but that haven't been talked about, and Ron's not only going to talk about these things, he's going to give us the processes, the anatomy, the mechanics, and above all the somewhat strange but familiar Truth about these things.

The lectures that Ron has lined up for this Congress, paired with the Group Processing he plans for us, make a combination more potent than force. Your knowingness and ability are the keynote here.

Around Phoenix there is a continuing growing alertness to the existence of Scientology and the HASI, and civic groups here and there are locally enlisting our assistance in getting things done in the community. "Operation Phoenix" was one of the more successful experiments, and much was learned about communicating with a community. It was discovered always that the community was glad to get the communication, and glad to be able to communicate back. We didn't ever have to tell anyone how bad anything was somewhere to get into communication with them.

As you saw in ABILITY MAJOR 2, in Julia's reports on tests of Staff preclears, the results have been very substantial, and the overall gains large, even though figuring in the one or two extremely slow cases. Since those reports, recent testing has shown something that will interest you - the search for processes and levels of process which meet the preclear at exactly the preclear's level of reality has paid off extremely well. There has not been a big over-change of techniques, but very great precision is being put into auditing recently which cuts the time of handling any kind of material way, way down. And it is showing in the tests. The keynote of swiftness in resolving cases is precision and communication. Judging by what is being accomplished now with cases, it looks as if we have at hand the very extreme precision we were always so interested in finding. Ron has been working very hard on this for quite some time now, and this success is not an accidental occurrance...

It's a very good idea for you to come to this June Congress. For one thing you will benefit personally a great deal. It's your Congress and you're wanted there in the Little Theatre. You may not think of yourself this way, or you may, but you are the aware and alert people of this planet, because better than most, you are aware of being aware. We can talk to each other very profitably for this reason.

Another good reason for your attending is that your group - whoever you talk with about Scientology or whoever you co-audit with - will be greatly contributed to by your attendance at these proceedings. You will have the information your Group needs. It gives you, your family, your associates, the advantage of more reality, more communication, and more affinity.

The way we of the HASI, Phoenix, feel about it is - we want to see you! You guys are a lot of fun to communicate with and it's even more fun when we can meet you personally. As Ron said in the last issue - DON'T HAVE US MISS YOU AT THE CONGRESS!

Ron and all the gang send their best -

John Sanborn

Members, HDRF ! ! !

We have word from HASI Recorder Marilynn Wallace that many have HDRF Memberships which come up for renewal July 1st, 1955. We hope you'll renew right away so that there won't be an in-between period where you miss or get delayed on your issues of ABILITY. Many Gift Memberships, which were extended to anyone who requested, and these have not received ABILITY MINOR, so they won't be receiving this issue, so we hope you'll tell 'em about it. Remind them that with a new General Membership or Special Membership they will get ALL issues of ABILITY, both Major and Minor.

With the Congress coming up you might remind them also that if they become General or Special members they get discounts which are very worth while, both on the Congress itself, and on such things as books, some of which will be available for the first time at the coming Congress.

New Publication

The new CECS publication is now out. Published for Professional Members, it is a technical sort of a journal, written by the staff, the CECS, the current students of the B. Scn. course of HPC, and by professional auditors who have something in the field to say to Phoenix and the field.

D. Scn. Richard F. Steves is piloting the project, and looking slyly at ABILITY people these days. He is probably plotting to steal copy from us, so we will probably let him steal some from time to time. The new publication will be of a highly technical nature and will be read by the professionally trained and practicing auditors.

We believe that auditors will find this an extremely valuable commline.

First Edition of Dianetics, 1955!

Dianetics, 1955! by L. Ron Hubbard is ready for the Congress in its First Edition. It's a very attractive, compact format, with a page size about the same as the page size of ABILITY. Has a nice looking cover. Sells for $3.75, less discounts.

all about tapes

Now that the Tape Rental Plan is in action you will be interested in some of the recent material. Among the newest tapes are the public lectures given by Ron at the Monroe School Auditorium and the group processing sessions given there by Ron also.

The thing that is most remarkable about these public lectures is that they do communicate to the unaccustomed public and to trained Scientologists at the same time, with great interest for both.

It has been a lot of fun to go to one of Ron's Wednesday night lectures and watch the newcomers change. They often come in with an unlabelled complaint against "this stuff, whatever it is." You see them shift nervously in their seats for a few opening minutes, sometimes looking very uncomfortable and grim. But pretty soon they discover that nobody is trying to get them to quit this, or give up that, or get rid of something else, or stop everything.

They get so interested in the subject that by the time Ron really gets into what he's talking about that evening he's got a whole audience.

We enjoy seeing these people from week to week, who come in as strangers to Dianetics and Scientology. It's amazing how much actual technical information they are getting. In Scientology it always has in it the element of life. You don't get, anywhere in this subject, an involved series of mechanical, detached descriptions of the automaticities of the universe. It's surprising to a Scientologist to remember suddenly what actually happened in the old physics and math and even history and philosophy classes, back at Ole Harvard U., or the Yale Lock Co. The dissertations were long, and their irrelevance to Life was routine. Whole courses of study spanning several years could very commonly be one long departure from life into the realm solely of mechanics. Perhaps you remember some of this. It produced often a state of continual dope-off in the young. It was a rather desperate stand for education to take, that life is a result and that this result called life is produced by events and by the natural "laws", which are senior to life. No wonder teachers seemed usually even more confused than the students. The class room has been an unhappy place for Man for a long time now.

Every Wednesday night there is a one-hour lecture, and then a group processing session. All the group sessions are designed by Ron to be used many times over. They are processes which come from the most advanced theory and practice in Scientology. As these sessions handle very basic considerations in any case they occasionally turn up comm-lags which do not flatten in a couple of runs. If these tapes are used on a group they should be used with the agreement that in a fairly short period the group will run the session many times, enough for the whole group to blow through on the material handled, and flatten the lags.

With a lecture on one side of the reel and a processing session on the other, you have a combination that is very potent.

Here are the titles of some that are available:

Eubank Launches New Career

EXCERPT FROM THE "TRINITY MEN'S CLUB NEWS", INDEPENDENCE, MISSOURI:
"DR. D.M.EUBANK, JR., GUEST SPEAKER TODAY"

"Dr. D.M.Eubank, Jr., Scientologist, Raytown, Missouri, will be the Guest Speaker this morning. Dr. Eubank's topic will be "Scientology" or "The Physicist's Approach to the Mind." .....will be introduced by Bill Sermon."

Bud's report:

Dear Ron:

Here's the program for my FIRST public lecture. I started on my speaking career as a result of ABILITY MAJOR I and "how to reach the public and with what." They ate it up! Really doing something about getting Scientology to the public left me with a big vacuum of things to fight!

This Bill Sermon is a leading citizen here, and an old friend of the family. He's lining up civic clubs for me to lecture to next. I have another church group and a book review club in the offing, too.

ABILITY is really a fine publication. Keep them coming.

BRIGHTON:

".....The case in question is the Parkinson's Disease case, and the lift in tone (using communication processes) was quite remarkable.

"This case can now walk, talk, hold intelligent conversation, do some house work, go to the cinema, play cards, etc. When I started nine months ago she could not do any of these things. She has two hours processing a week, which works out at approximately 80/90 hours processing in all. I originally worked this case at too high a level but soon discovered my mistake. (Bad auditor.)

"She first contracted this condition of P.D. a short while after the death of her mother nearly 8 years ago and had been progressively deteriorating.

"This P.C. is 59 years old and is now angry about her hair turning grey, and she says she is going to try and make the color return. Her interest in life now is considerable and is delighted to find her sense of humor is returning. Here is an example of it. When I asked her what she thought she had a body for, she rapidly flashed back, 'to keep me blooming head on of course', and promptly went into fits of laughter. (Line charge on responsibility?)....."

Scientology has recently and happily passed into another stage of its southern-hemispheric development, and in so doing granted and received additional beingness both for the participants and the special subjects of the occasion.

On Sunday, 13th March, 1955, the infant Church of Scientology in New Zealand held its first official ceremony, which, quite appropriately was a double christening.

Australasia's first Minister of the Church of Scientology, Dr. Charles Simpson, D.D., D.Scn., had composed a simple, sincere, and altogether charming little ceremony, in which he received into the Church, and named, two of our youngest Scientologists, Bruce Gavin Turnbull, and Victoria Jane Hastings.

Dr. Simpson adjured the God-parents and parents to bring up the two infants in ways reflecting their knowledge and practice of Scientology, and called those congregated to take part in this responsibility, and to welcome and grant beingness to the children.

The ceremony was held at the home of Frank Turnbull, H.G.A., and his wife, Betty; it was attended by Scientologists, group members and some well-wishers, all of whom conjoined in esteeming the admirable contribution and achievement of Dr. Simpson in his initial and successful triple event.

lrh lectures to hpc

Ron's lectures to Hubbard Professional College are given every Saturday to all the students and to the Staff of HASI.

In these lectures Ron has been talking directly to the trained auditor about auditing. They are not introductory lectures. They are the most advanced material on auditing available, and this does not mean that every Saturday Ron has been chucking out everything that has gone before, and announcing new theory.

He has been talking about things which he has been testing for a long time, and reporting the most valuable of what in his experience is found to be practical and sound practice for the auditor. The Six Basic Processes are still the Six Basic Processes and what Ron has been doing is to make the auditor more knowing and more familiar in the handling of all processing with these as his base.

Some of those available now are:

No. 553C14HPC-554C9HPC
THE ONLY ONE.
CONSEQUENCES, AND A NEW UNDERSTANDING OF THE SIX BASIC PROCESSES.

No. 554C16HPC-554C23HPC
THE SERVICE FACSIMILE.
THINKINGNESS.

No. 553C26HPC-554C2HPC
AXIOM 51.
AXIOM 51 IN ACTION.

Each of these is a one hour lecture with the two listed in each pair as a two hour combination on one reel.

These tapes can all be rented under the Tape Rental Plan, and tapes can still be bought, although the Rental Plan is gaining wide preferance as it makes more information and more group processing by Ron available at less expense.

We want you to have this material in the earliest most inexpensive way possible because we want you to have ALL the material.

The Only Reason Anyone Ever Comes To A Congress

If you've never attended a Congress of Dianeticists and Scientologists you'd hardly believe so many things could happen as do happen here in the four days of a congress.

It's a social occasion, and the only purpose of the Congress is for people to get together and see each other again, or to see people they've never met before and get acquainted.

And then it's a strictly professional meeting of professional Dianeticists and Scientologists, and the ONLY purpose of the Congress is for professional auditors to get together with each other and Ron and improve and advance their competence and knowledge of their profession. That's all the Congress is for.

And the single, only reason for the Congress is - that EVERYONE gets the best processing there is anywhere - they get many hours of personal processing from Ron, and Ron is one terrific auditor! That's the only point in coming for the Congress.

The only reason whatsoever that anyone ever comes to a Congress is to go birdwatching with Jan, and that's all there is to it.

And the only purpose of a Congress is the technical information gained in many hours of lectures by LRH. They come to get this technical information, either to use it, or just to know what's going on. That's all there is to a Congress.

And the only point at all in coming to the Congress is to get the coffee-breaks and get some sandwiches and cokes from the refreshments counter at the Little Theater. That's all they come for.

And all anyone ever comes to a Congress for is to go to the party the last night and dance and have a nice time with everybody up by the pool at Camelback Inn. That's all the Congress is for.

And the only reason anyone ever comes to a Congress is that they just want to say hello to Ron.

The reason people come to the Congress is the fun, the lectures, the people, the talk, the processing by Ron, the increase in fun, the technical advances and data, the swimming, the birdwatching with Jan, the old friends, the new friends, saying hello to Ron, the party at Camelback Inn, and the curiosity to see how so much could all happen in four days.

SCIENCE OF SURVIVAL

There are several things which distinguish the really professional auditor, and one of these is his knowledge of human evaluation and of the Chart of Human Evaluations. SCIENCE OF SURVIVAL, because it is a very early book in Scientology, is sometimes very mistakenly thought to be a non-essential, compared to later material. How far this is from the truth is demonstrated by the fact that auditors who know this book well, and who know the chart and what it is a chart of are routinely having little difficulty with cases, and those who have slighted this area of expertness have routinely come into difficulties. As an expert in human affairs an auditor must be an expert observer of Man. It is one thing to be able to see what a preclear has done, it is another thing to see what he is doing, and it is still another thing to know what he is going to do next.

Taking a good look at auditing you will observe that what an auditor must be able to do is to know what the preclear is doing and will do. The use of a technique without the result of that technique showing, means one thing if the technique was really used, and that is that it was a technique which did not meet the preclear at a level which is within his reality and his range of capability.

The Six Basic Processes are what an auditor must know if he is to handle cases with any success, and until he knows and uses these, all other processes, no matter how "right for the case" they may seem, are just so much comm-lag, because if the student of auditing can't run the basic processes he is sure not to be able to handle variations upon these processes. SCIENCE OF SURVIVAL describes the scale upon which the Six Basic Processes are plotted. The fact that these processes line up according to a scale is not simply an observation. It is a fact the practicality of which should not be under-estimated.

When you see an auditor succeeding with a series of preclears you can be sure of one thing - he knows his Chart of Human Evaluation so well that he can predict his preclear, and he knows where his preclear is so well that he is not taking up good session time trying to find the guy he is auditing.

The student of auditing who slights the scale upon which processing is built will do a very peculiar thing. As he watches his preclear in a sort of spectator amazement he will get the idea that the preclear is flopping around all over the scale and being thoroughly unpredictable. He will get uncomfortable or over-imaginative about this, and finally he will attempt to locate the preclear at some level on the scale where he can predict him.

If he knew the Chart he would know that the preclear is actually behaving in good standard homo-sapiens fashion, and that what looks like inconsistency in the preclear is not inconsistent at all. A closer look would find that the preclear is behaving right straight across the chart at one level. His apparent changes of tone are predictable manifestations and they tell the auditor exactly what he needs to know to run the case up the line.

The peculiar thing the auditor will do when he is getting himself fooled by the preclear is, that he will try to place the guy, try to sit him down on some kind of a known level where he can watch him comfortably for a while.

Auditing requires knowing life so well that one can free life. You don't audit manifestations of the tone scale. You audit the preclear who is manifesting the manifestations. In order to do this you must recognize that the preclear is attempting to let go of a communication. His dramatizations are communications he is attempting to fix elsewhere, to let go of, or to as-is. To audit a preclear on the most wonderful technique, and there are many wonderful techniques, but not to audit him at the level upon which he is attempting to communicate, is to do the preclear no great service, which is all right, but it is not processing. The auditor who prefers something fancy or novel in the way of techniques is having trouble. The Six Basic Processes are the way out of that trouble, and the first of these is two-way communication.

It is only up in the loftier realms of Cleared Theta Clear that one can even conceivably process by any formula of communication other than this. The reason for this is that the preclear as we know preclears in this universe has agreed to this formula, and has then, in order to have a game, twisted, inverted, altered in all sorts of interesting ways the use of this formula. The way out of this ensnarement is not via more alteration. It is not via novel or bizarre communication. The way out is through. You will find the interest picking up remarkably when you get into two-way communication with a preclear. As you do this you will find him becoming alert to your commands and questions. You will find the Six Basic Processes to be the Six Basic Adventures.

You don't get anywhere near the adventure contained therein without plotting the course, and that's why Human Evaluation is essential to auditing.

The Six Basic Processes are: 1. get into two-way communication with the preclear. Get real sure he knows there is a session in progress, that he is being audited and that you are the auditor. Discuss any present time problems the preclear has and be sure if you leave that that you can do so and still have a preclear in communication with you. Problems and Solutions; 2. Elementary Straight Wire; 3. Opening Procedure of 8-C, parts A,B, and C; 4. Opening Procedure by Duplication; 5. Remedy of Havingness. This isn't "feed the preclear". This is to raise the preclear to the cognition that he doesn't have to be fed. He's a thetan; 6. Spotting Spots. This step actually goes into and includes as one step ROUTE ONE, as defined in the CREATION OF HUMAN ABILITY.

There is no single book which contains the information necessary for handling this set of processes. However, there ARE two books which handle them, and which will give you these processes. They are: SCIENCE OF SURVIVAL and DIANETICS, 1955!, by L. Ron Hubbard.

If you do any auditing, and you don't have both of these books, please get them and start knowing them extremely well. We want your good reports. We want to hear from you that all your cases are now sailing up the line and that auditing is now what you wanted auditing to be.

WELLINGTON:
".....The above strict training routine has paid dividends beyond what was even hoped. ALL ARE EXTERIORIZED. All are having no difficulty at all with havingness techniques and there isn't a case of occlusion left. All have mockups and the several chronic complaints seem to have vanished.

"The main point of interest is this. I assumed right from the start that all were in terrible shape and that no one knew a damned thing so started at the very bottom and came up INSISTING, (no kidding!) that all techniques be used exactly as given and supervised them closely all the while and pulled them up without hesitation whenever they strayed.

"It has been great to see the changes in these people. Some very good auditors will be left in Wellington...

"You will be interested to know that a National Weekly with wide distribution throughout N.Z. has written us up again. Called in to see the editor, pretending to be most offended at the article, and he has agreed to publish one by me. Hope he prints it in full.

"We have had a bit of trouble with the Medical Council of N.Z. who charged one of our members, or rather one of their members, with associating with an unregistered medical practitioner or unrecognized medical auxiliary in the person of Laurie Bingham, a Scientologist. THE COUNCIL HAVE NOW RECOGNIZED THAT SCIENTOLOGY IS NOT WITHIN THEIR PROVINCE and it seems that they have dropped the charge..."

Marcus Tooley

ANN ARBOR:
".....Interested to hear how the New York Congress went. One of our former group members in N.Y. State attended for one day and wrote most enthusiastically of his experience. Incidentally, the difference in himself and his wife since they have been using the Group Auditor's Handbooks and Intensive Procedure to audit one another is very noticeable in their letters....."

Martha Courtis

CROYDON:
".....Communication processes: finding walls, floor and ceiling; spotting spots on same; group responding 'hello' or 'O.K.' to my 'hello' or 'O.K.'; same with group paired off responding to each other and mixing up the pairs from time to time; pairs saying 'how are you' - reply 'O.K., how are you' - initiator replies 'O.K.' and repeats the cycle; group finding someone in the room they can smile at; group finding someone in the room who is alive.

"Mostly I run these very intensively, minimum ten minutes, carrying on up to any length of time necessary to run through obvious effects I observe or can find out about. The cycle 'how are you - O.K. - how are you - O.K.' I run for at least thirty minutes.

"Results have been most marked. So far I have run them a total of 12 hours in the three weeks - we meet Fridays 8-10 P.M. and Sundays 7-10. Our most resistive cases have been cracking like pop-corn, particularly one who always moaned about getting nothing from the processing, although she always attended regularly since last August! Even she admits that she is feeling much better. All the group are reaching out as never before and they all look sparkling and alive. The fun and laughter during the session have to be heard to be believed.

"Auditing is real fun now and a mighty enjoyable game. I have tried it on some kids too and they joined in with might and main.

"These techniques have made me really aggressive in starting groups. I am starting them up all over London, wherever I have a friend I can interest. I just can't wait for the next opportunity to use these processes. Apart from this group, I am involved with one near my home, helping Jack Roberts start it up - Liz Williams group - I brought three new people there last week and hope to bring them and five others this week, and am starting another at Ealing in the house of some friends there. I ran them as a family last Saturday and they are most enthusiastic - wanted to know how soon I was coming again. Also starting another in a house at East Croydon shortly..."

COVER GIRL

MARY H. ADAMS, H.C.A., B.SCN., D.SCN., FREUDIAN PSYCHOANALYST, FREUDIAN FOUNDATION OF AMERICA. MEMBER OF WOMEN'S CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, MEMBER OF CITY, STATE AND NATIONAL BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S CLUBS.

When as a young ballet student Mary Adams injured her ankle the ballet stage lost a very promising and beautiful dancer. As she says, "it was just a matter of not having Scientology at that time."

The world seems better to people who know Mary and everything, when Mary's around, seems possible. Recently a national professional magazine has called her "One of the best and most capable woman executives in the United States."

Everything Mary does seems to just naturally acquire a high level of excellence, whether it's the arts, the sciences, or business.

She is an accomplished artist in oils, her paintings being in many homes in different parts of the world. This was a hobby lasting four years. She was chosen as one of three private students by de Martelli of the Art Institute, being able to take advantage of this training just three months. Another hobby was Contract Bridge, winning many trophies in Duplicate Bridge Tournaments. She and her husband, Nile, were not only an unbroken team, but an unbeatable team.

In 1943 she went into partnership with her husband in insurance and investments. Her previous good business training made it possible for Mrs. Adams to conduct the management and business side of their affairs in Kansas City, Missouri, and to keep pace with the enormous growth which was to come, under the leadership of her husband. During a twelve-year period, Mrs. Adams served as Secretary-Treasurer and Office Manager of a group of insurance companies headed by an Investment Corporation. The real progress of their business enterprises came about, she says, when she became cognizant of the powerful advantages of Dianetics.

It was through the book, DIANETICS, THE MODERN SCIENCE OF MENTAL HEALTH, in 1950, that Dr. Adams became interested in Dianetics. Her interest in the Humanities was really topmost in her thoughts since childhood, and there was much study, investigation and research in all its aspects. At present she has an actual five thousand seven hundred hours experience in Dianetics and Scientology. Dr. Adams incorporated a not-for-profit corporation, "The American College of Scientific Education", of which she is president. The "Kansas City Dianetics and Scientology Association" is one of several local groups that Dr. Adams has organized, who are helping her with the goals in Dianetics and Scientology she is so earnestly pursuing.

She has processed business groups with tremendous success, piling up high percentages in increased sales for their companies, and improved abilities of personnel. Her groups are of very high tone and many near miracles have happened to their members and their families in health and business problems. Many case histories are on file. In addition, the able are becoming more able, and the relationship of group members to family, social and business livingness has soared remarkably. There are two new Scientology babies in the group, one a "two-hour girl" and the other a "30-minute boy" -- three months old and three days old.

Dr. Adams' loyalty to the "Twin Sciences" and L. Ron Hubbard is unwavering, and her value to the interest of them is inestimable. She has given much of time and money to the furtherance of the Old-New Sciences. The dire need of people for happiness and livingness has prompted Dr. Adams, not only to maintain offices as part of the College, but to set aside three rooms in her home for both group and private processing.

Dr. Adams summarizes her interest in Dianetics and Scientology by saying, "I know of no other road that all peoples can travel together and be kind to each other. If Dianetics had been available earlier, life would have been more understandable and more livable for all. However, we have them now. They are here to use. Personally, I would have been able to complete many cycles. Since 1950, I have been able to do many diverse things concurrently - in business, avocations, socially - and carry huge responsibilities with more ease!"

At Ron's request Mary has agreed to give for the Congress a short recital daily of her very delightful organ music.

DI.A.NET'.ICS: noun. A system for the analysis, control and development of human thought evolved from a set of coordinated axioms which also provide techniques for the treatment of a wide range of mental disorders and organic diseases: term and doctrines introduced by L. Ron Hubbard, American engineer, Gr. Dianoetikos-dia, through, plus noos, mind) di.a.net'.ic, adj.

SCIENTOLOGY is a system of organized axioms resolving problems of life and thought, developed through the application of the methodology of the exact sciences to the humanities by L. Ron Hubbard, American engineer and philosopher.
