Travel confidently to OT with the computer-accurate MARK VI

The only meter accurate enough for upper level OT and NED for OTs auditing

Why are NED for OTs auditors and NED for OTs Solo auditors required to have the Mark VI?

It's the only meter accurate enough, sensitive enough to read correctly on the upper OT Levels, especially on solo cans.

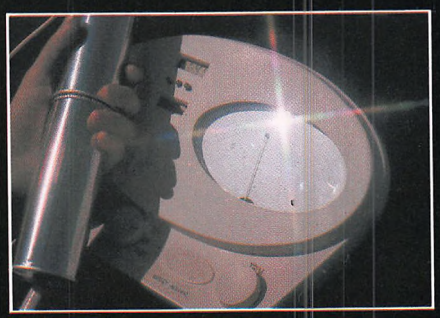

With a Mark V, especially on a one-hand electrode, you reach a point where the meter F/Ns and you can't get reads on it. Needed was a far more sensitive E-Meter for the upper OT Levels, and that's why Ron developed the Mark VI–the OT Meter!

Even on a one-hand electrode, the VI reads far more deeply on the bank than the V does with two cans.

Ron's intention for a computer-accurate guide for OTs is realized with the Mark VI breakthrough.

Here are just a few of the reasons why you should own and use a Mark VI:

- The Mark VI's highly sensitive E-Meter movement (the part of the meter to which the needle is attached and which is responsible for the correctness and accuracy of the reads) gives you a precise, accurate and instant responsiveness vital to upper level auditing.
- The Mark VI is made for ease of operation, with recessed, easy-to-operate Tone Arm and Sensitivity, digital Tone Arm Counter and digital clock, and a flip-out support leg at the back for fast, easy set-up.
- For ease of carrying, each Mark VI comes in its own lockable carrying case containing meter, cans, leads and charging cord–each item set into a molded foam well for maximum protection.
- The Mark VI even has a brilliant new engineering addition that will ensure you never have battery charging problems–you can charge the meter as you audit.

Don't be without the Mark VI, especially for your OT Levels. Apply for ownership now!

NOTE: The E-Meter is a religious artifact used in Church confessionals, and may only be purchased or owned by ministers or ministers-in-training. Apply for ownership to the AO Bookstore and you will be sent a purchase contract right away.

4. The State of OT
Man has been balked by superstitions and false tales in most new frontiers. In this article Ron takes us behind the myths to see what the Universe is actually like and the role of OTs in it. What is the basic problem of an OT? What is intention and how does it develop?

9. The Deluge
Man has many legends about floods and other catastrophes and has predicted that the world would again end in catastrophe. But rather than go from one catastrophe down to another on a dwindling spiral, man now has the chance to reverse the spiral. Another chapter in man's spiritual history.

13. "The Way to Happiness"
A grass-roots movement toward better morality! In the face of rapidly declining morals throughout the world, "The Way To Happiness" is sparking off an effective campaign to turn the tide for better morality! Important for anyone who wants to see improved conditions on the planet.

THE COVER

Man has many legends about great floods and other "End of the World" catastrophes, including the most widely known version related in Genesis — the story of Noah and his ark. Where did these legends originate? See the article on page 9.

From the Executive Director INT

You can always write to me on matters concerning management. As you know, Ron is busy researching and writing for us full time and he expects us to handle the organizations of Scientology. So we are going to do this for Ron, and we're going to boom this planet like never before.

To do this, we must stick together and manage things properly. Now if ANYTHING is hindering your expansion efforts (your personal as well as your group expansion), and if you've already tried in every possible way to handle through normal channels, write to me. I will answer. No holds barred on expansion, okay?

NOTE: This in no way changes Ron's Standing Order Number One line; this is simply an additional line from you to me.

A look at A.O. Services that help OTs achieve maximum gains

How OT can you be? Is it possible that a powerful surge of OT gains is just beyond your grasp, tasted but not fully realized? The OT levels are powerful, but certain areas, if unhandled, can deny you the maximum benefits from the OT levels.

These AO services are designed to free you up and advance your case further up the line. The AO is well experienced with handling OT cases standardly!

The Purification Rundown:

Life should be bright. It should sparkle. Each day should be fresh and alive, with you bright and alert.

But drugs and toxic substances can leave restimulative effects which remain for years after taking them.

Ron found that these are a big barrier to getting the full benefit from auditing. Cognitions and new abilities can be hindered if these go unhandled.

The Purification Rundown was designed to handle these barriers.

In close to 2 weeks you could complete this Rundown and experience wins like these:

"My affinity for people and all of life has really shot way up. I used to be very shy. Now I make friends easily. I don't even have to work at it. Life is very exciting to me now and I look forward to each day."

— B.R.

"I feel better than I can remember ever feeling. I feel purified, alive, healthy and comfortable. My perceptions are clearer. I'm more relaxed and in present time. In fact, there seems to be no extraneous mass around me."

— K.U.

If you haven't done the Purification Rundown yet, what gains and perception increases await you?

Enroll now on the Purification Rundown. Gain a fresh new outlook on life. And prepare your way for maximum gains on your OT Levels.

Survival Rundown:

Once you finish the Purification Rundown, a tremendous potential exists. Your ability to experience things and to control your environment can easily, yet vastly improve! The Survival Rundown gets you reaching out with increased ability to be cause over your environment. You have much more ability freed up for use. You demonstrate competence and control over the environment. You increase your ability to survive as an OT!

"This was one of the best actions I've ever done" exclaimed an OT III just completing the SRD. "There is an incredible change in the physical universe for me. My personal environment is in terrific order now. I feel really in control. I find that I can get more done and I presist in things I would have dropped or given up on previously."

— P.M.

The Happiness Rundown:

A new Rundown from Ron is producing immediate, life-changing gains in OTs and non-OTs alike!

Rave successes have been pouring in from the AO HGCs where highly trained OT auditors are now delivering this action.

Those on the Happiness Rundown are discovering big gains in many areas of their lives. Hidden confusions blow off. Purposes and goals shine bright. Personal relationships soar, in new-found harmony. Contribution and expansion on both the 3rd and 4th dynamics reaches new heights as people experience unsinkable happiness!

The pre-requisites are Purification RD and Survival Rundown or completion of Objectives. It can be done at any subsequent point on the Bridge, except in the Non-Interference Zone.

Complete the Purif RD and Survival RD (or Objective Processes) then receive the Happiness Rundown!

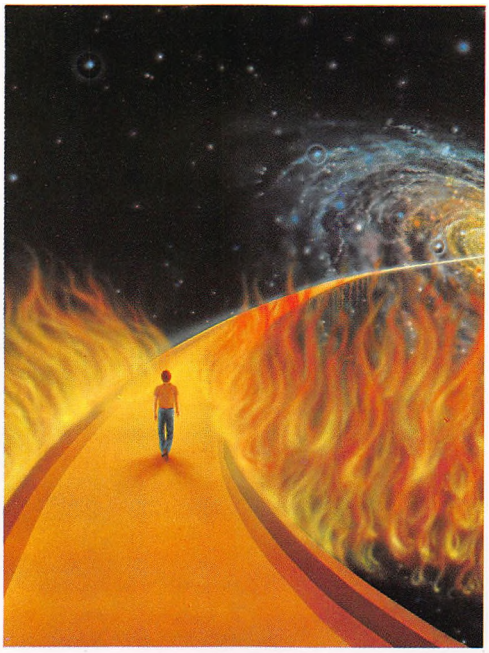

"The wins just don't stop! Each day I find out something new and wonderful about myself which had been buried under a lot of mass and pressure. This rundown gave me back myself. It addressed areas in my life that weren't even touched upon in previous auditing. I've never had so much case change in such a short space of time! I definitely feel OT now!"

Gateway to OT

The Solo Auditor's Course

It's easy to do. In approximately two weeks you can have the confidence and ability to audit yourself on the OT Levels.

Ron's new film on the E-Meter, How The E-Meter Works, is now a key part of your Solo Training. You'll see it on your solo course. It shows you the basics of how and why the E-Meter works, what the various needle reads are. It helps eliminate any back-off or uncertainties on the E-Meter, so you can achieve better results.

What's it like to Solo audit? What do you need to know to do it? How can you be sure you'll handle yourself well on the OT Levels?

Open the Gateway to OT and find out. Sign up for and begin the Hubbard Solo Auditor's Course.

Pre-requisites are the Basic Study Manual, Dianetic Clear, or Grade VA release or on Power or Power Plus Auditing, or on Solo Set-Up auditing.

SOLO SUCCESSES:

"This course has made me much more able. I don't just feel I completed a course, it gave me the tools I need for the rest of my way up. Now I see things I really want to handle that I'd never noticed before. I feel certain and excited." — J.K.

"This course was great. It's really the point where you start taking responsibility for your own case and that's fantastic." — A.P.

"Two weeks ago I didn't want to confront being a [solo course] student. Well, I decided to do it and since then I haven't had to rush through the checksheet. I realized that I was the product and it was far more important to me to be the best solo auditor I could be. I'm now confident, more able and on my way to being a 'pro' solo auditor! OT Levels, here I come!" — B.F.

"This course gave me a very interesting change of viewpoint. I can solo audit. It's easy. There's nothing to it and I feel as if I could always do it, except that 2 weeks ago I couldn't. It's amazing!" — J.R.

Your Gateway to OT III and above – The Advanced Solo Auditor's Course.

You are embarking on one of the most adventurous undertakings ever. Unravelling the mystery of what has made this sector of the universe what it is. OT III.

To expertly equip yourself, do the Advanced Solo Auditor's Course — the course which prepares you for the road ahead and let's you enter the gateway with OT III-like confidence and skill.

The Advanced Solo Auditor's Course is designed to give you a keen ability to focus your attention and pinpoint your intention where it counts. Ron developed special drills for this course to train a solo auditor to do just that, and these drills alone are known to produce tremendous case-gain!

Ron's new film HOW THE E-METER WORKS is also shown on this Course!

The Advanced Solo Auditor's Course! A must for anyone going onto OT III or even for those already OT III who want to brush up on their Solo auditing skills. The results are very definitely reflected in the gains and ease of solo auditing and advances up the bridge to full OT.

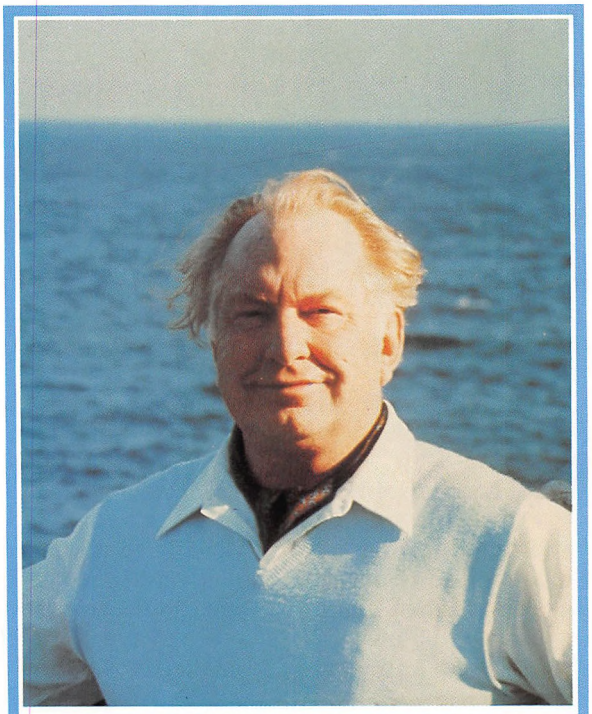

SUCCESSES:

"What an added surprise! I didn't expect case gain from a course! The drills done on this course expanded me as a being! It also seemed to stabilize me. Look out OT III!"

"I learned a lot of great things from this course, especially in operating my Mark VI Meter. The drills without a doubt gave me some very nice case gain!"

Length — one week full time. Donations: as listed on the insert in this magazine (or ask the Registrar). Pre-requisites: Complete on OT II and the Hubbard Solo Auditor's Course.

The State of OT
by L. Ron Hubbard

L. RON HUBBARD

The system of stars in its greatest aggregate[1] is visible as this thing called a galaxy. When we say galaxy, we mean one of those wheels that you see in the astronomy textbooks. And when we say an island of galaxies or an island galaxy we mean six or eight of these wheels clustered together.

This universe is composed of a collection of galaxies isolated from other collections of galaxies. They have recently started to call these things "island universes."

One of these great spinning wheels has in it literally billions of stars. And every one of these stars is capable of having planets. It is a greater oddity to find a star without planets than with them. The egocentric characteristic of man dictates ours as the only sun with planets. I consider it very interesting, but it just shows you how bad off you can get after you've been implanted![2]

One of these great wheels tends to be rather oblong, and the stars tend to be massed up towards the hub. It's not a sphere, it's a wheel, with a hub, a rim, and a pattern of stars scattered in.

When you look up toward the whitest portion of the Milky Way on a clear night, you're looking straight at the hub of this particular galaxy. And when you look in the opposite direction, you're looking at scattered patterns of stars. Even though some of them are quite large, you're looking out away from the hub. Doing that, you'll recognize that earth is an awful long way from being the center of this galaxy. In fact our sun is classifiable as a rim star.

SUNS

These galaxies, in composition, are a great condensed radioactive cloud. This condensation brings about a sun, and then bits of matter collect around the edge of it and are formed up as planets.

These planets sometimes shatter — they have political accidents or something — and you'll get a belt of asteroids. Planets vary in number.

Each type of star has its own classification, which depends not so much on its order of magnitude (although that is there, too) as on the brilliance per mass of a star.

You actually get coal black stars. They look coal black, but you get right up close to them and you find out they're red hot. That's been referred to as a dead sun, and they are pretty grisly if you don't navigate correctly because they get in your road most awfully! They don't radiate enough to be detected.

From there, you move up to your dull red sun. You can see these things — Aldebaran, in the constellation of Taurus is a bright red.

When you move up from that, you get to a yellow sun, which is more or less the characteristic of earth's sun.

You move up to a higher radiation factor and you get white and blue suns. So there are different brilliances, and there are different masses for these brilliances.

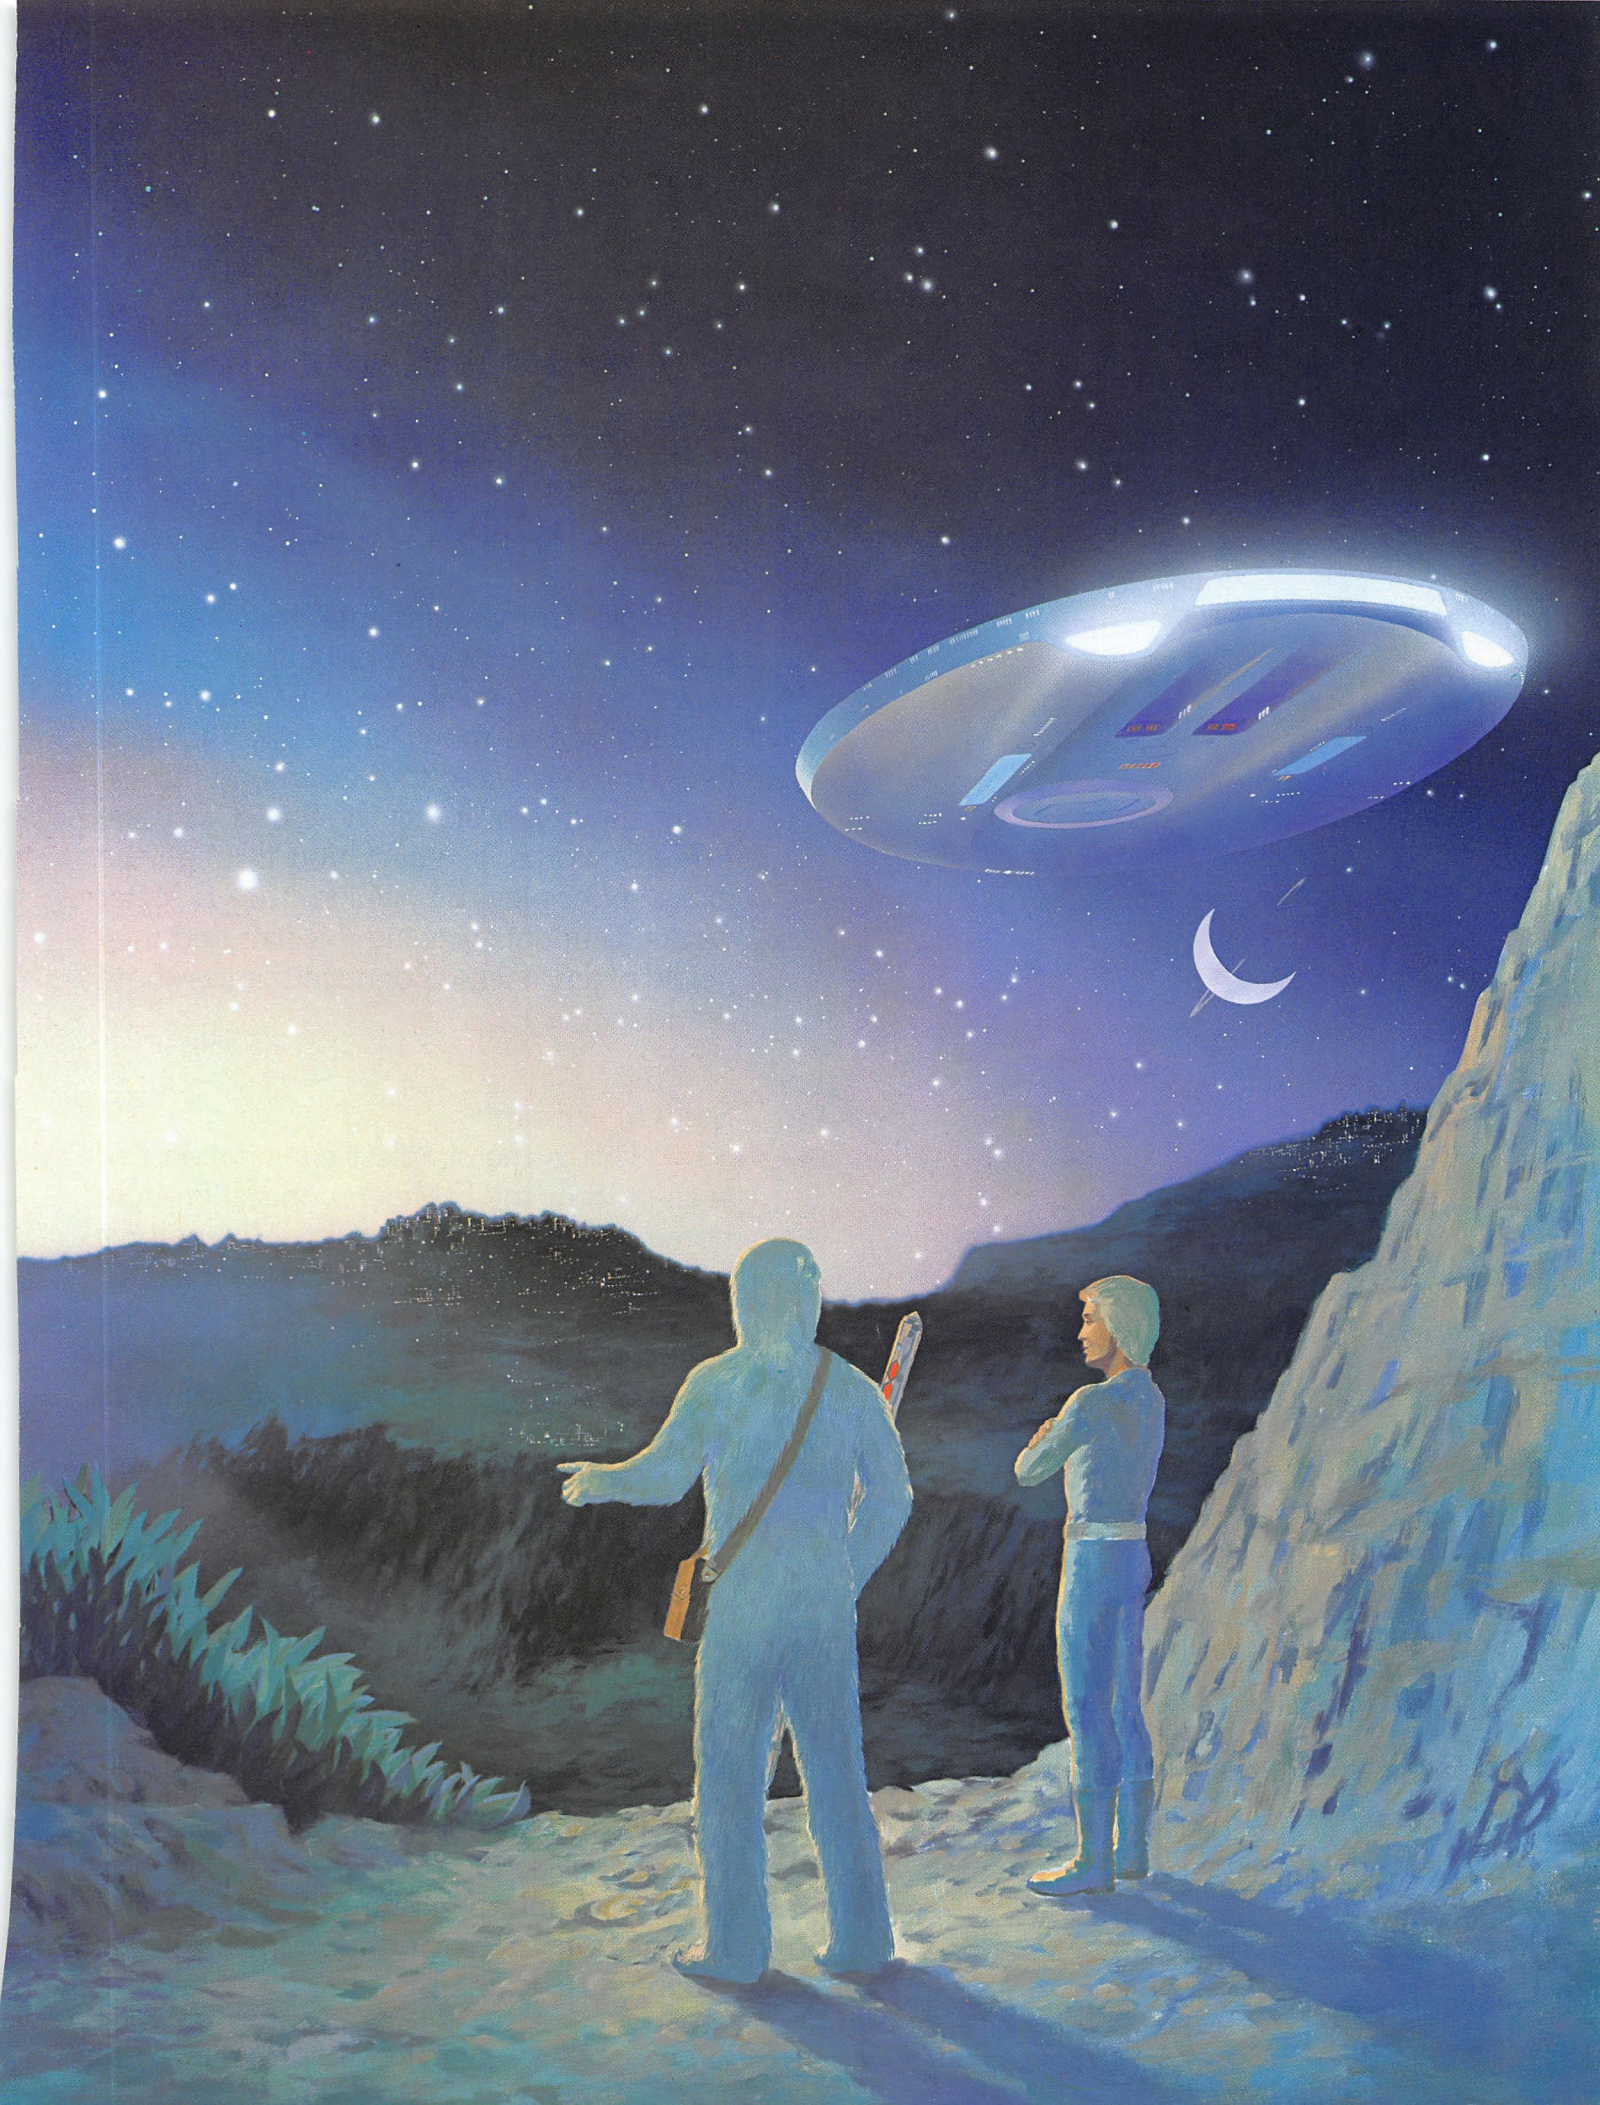

BODIES

If you go down to the tropics, you're liable to get ultra violet poisoning because the sun's rays are so directly overhead. Well, around a brilliantly blue sun, this type of ray is just pounding away all of the time, and you'd fry in the type of body you're in.

Ron's new film: "How the E-Meter Works"

Now a vital part of your Solo training

Solo Course students now have an added benefit in their Solo training. Ron's new film, How the E-Meter Works!

It's one of many upcoming technical films Ron has written, directed and filmed. Let it show you exactly how and why the E-Meter works. It guides you through the exact principles on which the E-Meter works. Students viewing this film find they get rid of any back-off or uncertainties about the meter.

Student acclaim:

"This is the simplest explanation I've seen on how the E-Meter works! It brought home very simply, how the E-Meter works without going into a lot of technical details!"

"It made it a lot more clear how the bank and the meter interact. I feel I have a simpler, more basic and accurate picture of the E-Meter now."

"Great movie! It explains in very simple terms what makes the meter work, so even I could understand it."

"It made the mechanical aspect of the meter very simple and confrontable. The part explaining the relationship of the meter to the PC, i.e., mental mass, was very clear."

If you are about to do a Solo Course, you'll soon see this excellent film by Ron. If you've already done the Solo Course you can see this film at the donation of a "Retread." See the Registrar for details.

"... A thetan, in dealing with himself, is dealing with somebody who is stronger than the fragility with which he is surrounded and he compensates for this by reducing his power..."

Nevertheless, just because a meat body is at a highly critical temperature and mass level (that is to say, it can only live on a planet of so much mass, so much heat or cold) is no reason why life forms or bodies which have two legs and two arms and a head don't exist that can stand these extremes.

BOOGEYMEN

The science fiction writer is always trying to tell you about boogeymen. His memory is faulty and he gets himself all restimulated and he doesn't remember straight. Some of them remember it quite well, but then they reverse their time and put it all into the future!

I imagine in the days of Columbus if you went along the docks, you'd hear some old salt explaining to some young aspirant why Columbus cannot reach the other side of the ocean. You'd hear tales of horrible monsters of the sea, with huge tentacles, that gobble you up and swallow whole ships. You would have found this very current in Cádiz, the point of embarkation there, just before Columbus' sailing.

These tales were probably spread by the Phoenicians, who made regular voyages from the Mediterranean to England to pick up tin, and didn't want anybody else cutting in on their racket!

Mothers have this same trouble. They tell their little children that if they aren't good, the "boogeyman," will get them.

And the science fiction writer, being furthest from reality on the situation, is liable to perpetuate the boogey faster than he perpetuates fact.

ADAPTATION

The truth of the matter is that most planets are inhabited by and lived on by and run by animal forms quite similar to earth.

Actually, they classify by rings — so many planets out from a yellow or twelfth rate sun has a certain type of flora and fauna for each one of its continents. It is all classifiable. It is modified when you go out into the next planetary ring, but it's pretty standard. It is what can adapt to that particular type of environment.

I don't think you'd have very much pleasure out of kissing a girl from Jupiter. That's a heavy gravity planet, and if you stepped on that planet in one of these meat bodies, you would become a pancake promptly. So you do get variations, but they are not all that horrifying. You'll find somebody running around on a planet like Jupiter built to withstand that climactic condition and that gravitic condition. His legs and arms might be a bit modified, but he would probably look like an Eskimo.

The truth of the matter is that the universe is not a strange place filled full of terrifying beings, but in actual fact is a rather pleasant place — except where people have been very busy making it an unpleasant place.

ONE WAY FLOW

If you face up to what has happened to make bodies and what has been done with this universe, you could become very disheartened and you could say, "Well, this universe is then fully and completely a trap." Until you realize that this factor has occurred:

The thetan is helped all the time by mest. It gives him consecutive scenery; it gives him location. All of these are things that he has not been overwhelmed by, but are actually things that he likes.

It gives him a permanent, persistent structure of matter. He can put up a little shadow of a house today and it's there tomorrow. If he forgets about it, it doesn't disappear.

All kinds of problems a thetan had have been solved by this universe, and he's on a one-way help flow when he gets too far down. The universe helps him, but he doesn't help the universe.

In other words, if the universe is anything it's too good for you. And people can't stand this, so they decide the mest universe is evil. Every once in a while you'll get some bloke who decides to make it a very evil place. And he'll get some weird idea of what is wrong with it.

Inevitably, what he thinks is wrong with it is that it has free beings in it. He always comes to that conclusion if he's that degraded, and therefore starts to get very busy to make beings unfree. The net result of this is chaos.

AN OTS BASIC PROBLEM

In studying the power of an Operating Thetan, I have had many pauses in my thinking. I knew intellectually the power of an Operating Thetan, and I have discussed it. You'll find it in various books and writings and lectures about Operating Thetan.

But instead of this intellectual appreciation of the data, I have myself been, in recent weeks, exploring the actual potentialities of an Operating Thetan.

Try this as an experiment sometime: Take the cellophane off a packet of cigarettes, set it down all by itself and ask somebody to pick it up without denting it. Don't let it dent even slightly. He actually won't be able to do it. You'll always see a flutter of a dent. You can't handle it delicately enough to pick it up without denting it. It isn't the structure or fabric of it, it's the fact that you could only pick it up without a dent occurring if you could measure the exact pressure to put on that cellophane packet.

That's probably the basic problem of an Operating Thetan, and that problem itself may give him his time track.

How do you make that connection of logic?

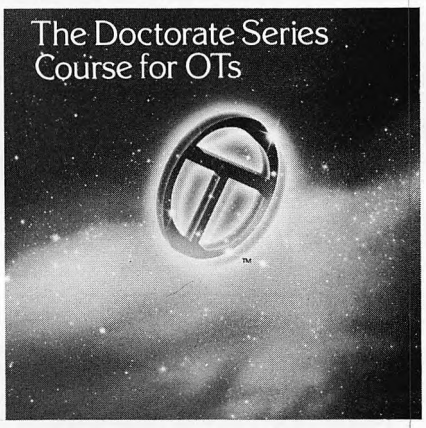

It's this way: The power of an Operating Thetan is such that if he were to pick up a steel cylinder capable of resisting several hundred pounds to the square inch, he would have the same problem that you have with the cellophane.

His problem is how does he touch things without crushing them. He picks up this steel cylinder and he looks at it and its got a dent in both sides. You should actually practice this with some cellophane to get the exact sensation of being careful that an Operating Thetan has in handling mest.

INTENTION[3]

In handling mest, then, he seeks another method of handling. After you've politely picked up a little boy's toys for him or some friend's mockup, and it is now lying there in a remarkable state of crumple, you get the idea that you're quite destructive.

[3] Intention — intention is the command factor as much as anything else. If you intend something to happen it happens if you intend it to happen. Verbalization is not the intention. The intention is the carrier wave which takes the verbalization along with it.

Learn to handle the MEST universe with your OT Abilities!

The apprenticeship for Operating Thetans. Here is practical training that can develop your potential abilities so you know how to do the things you're capable of as an OT.

Based on Ron's brilliant 1952 Philadelphia Doctorate Course lectures, this course is designed to train a pre-OT on being OT.

The taped lectures are set out in a gradient series. As you finish each tape you drill the concepts, principles and data so they are yours; and you can use them.

Full word clearing tech combined with the AO's standard professional application of LRH Supervisor Tech ensures you can duplicate and apply with certainty this very personal knowledge.

As you move through the course you'll put what you learn into action right away. Your natural abilities develop into the tools that allow you optimum operation in the mest universe. And that's satisfaction.

Here's a sample of the topics you'll cover.

What's wrong with this universe; Reverse vector of physical universe; specific parts of self-determinism and spacation; Memory (not human memory); Anatomy of the genetic entity; Rate of change, relative size, anchor points; 8-8008/ Understanding the phenomena, Energy particles and time. In the span of the course, all 76 lectures are taken up.

If you've completed OT III and the Student Hat, start on this course now! Bring your OT abilities to a full shine.

Contact the AO Registrar right away and sign up!

(For minimum requested donation, see the insert to this magazine.)

People who haven't that level of action are then coaxed into believing that an Operating Thetan, or a "free thetan" is destructive. "Free thetan" is a better designation because we knew of ourselves as free thetans. There were various kinds of thetans, and a free thetan was somebody who was relatively free of a body. He wasn't free of organizational commitments or ethics, but he was free of a body.

They would coax people into believing that a free thetan was destructive. They would even trap the thetan, by building something that looked strong but was fragile, to convince him even further that he was destructive. It caused the free thetan to pick up a new trick. Instead of picking things up and squashing them, he would do it by intention.

We've always thought of intention as primary, but it is secondary. The postulate, and action through a postulate, is secondary to action through energy. You have to be able to do both. It is more natural for a thetan to pick something up by picking it up — not necessarily mocking up beams to pick it up but by picking it up.

But if his idea of his own destructivity is so great, he will then develop a secondary means of picking it up: operation by intention. He will pick it up by postulate or intention. He will intend it up. He can do that too, but it imposes great restraint on him and is in actual fact a great downgrade from simply picking it up.

If you sit over something and strain at it to make it move, this will tend to prove to you that you can't make things move any more. As a matter of fact, intending to make it move is quite unnatural. Your natural bent is just to move it. The reason one stops moving it is because he's afraid he'll destroy it. So he develops this trick which we call an intention.

INVOLUNTARY INTENTION

Now, this intention he trains to become involuntary.

Involuntary intention is very far from imaginary. You have involuntary muscles which make your heart beat, involuntary breathing arrangements. We're used to this sort of thing. There is a type of muscle which you don't have to pay any attention to to have it work or continue to work. This is the same thing as an involuntary intention.

A thetan, in dealing with himself, is dealing with somebody who is stronger than the fragility with which he is surrounded, and he compensates for this by reducing his power.

How do you answer a telephone as an OT? Well, the right way to answer a telephone is simply to pick it up off its cradle and put it somewhere in your vicinity and talk into it. That's simple, isn't it?

But supposing you get mad at somebody on the other end of the phone. You go crunch, the thing goes into a fog of dust in the middle of the air and the telephone line fuses.

There are two solutions to this. And the solution that the operating thetan ordinarily took — which was wrong — was to develop an involuntary intention. The telephone rings, it springs into the air in his vicinity, and he talks. He's got a postulate which does things without his having to actively intend them. That makes it very easy to answer telephones and keep from crushing them.

That's all very well, but it is the same thing that gives you a timetrack. He'll mock things up according to certain vibrations, and it gets to be an automatic intention. Then somebody comes along and gives him things for the automatic intention to mock up — things that would be bad for him. They make him fight his own automatic intention.

The next thing you know, he's got a messed up timetrack. And the next thing you know he picks up a meat body. The withhold begins with the piece of cellophane.

The other solution is to surround yourself with things that don't go boom! What's the idea of having a telephone that goes to powder and fused wires every time you pick it up? Recognize what's happening and put something there that you can handle.

If you find yourself on a big withhold all the time, that sets you up for all sorts of things. But the main thing it sets you up for is this mechanism of automatic intention, which sets you up for an automatic timetrack.

Who's putting the engrams there? Well, you are. How do you stop putting the engrams there? Well, there isn't any way to stop putting the engrams there unless you track it back to your automatic intentions and get your early track material which undoes this.

THE CHARACTER OF OT

What does this have to do with this galaxy? Well, it has a lot to do with this galaxy.

I don't think you could go into an ant hill with human fingers and rebuild these various places where they lay their eggs and store them. I don't

There is a legend which is repeated throughout many cultures and races on earth. According to the legend, the world was destroyed by a flood, with only a few saved by divine intervention to start the race anew . . .

Another Chapter in Man's Spiritual History:

The Deluge

THE FRENCHMAN crouched at the bottom of the icy crevasse, brushing away the snow at the bottom with his numbed fingers. Dirt. Nothing by dirt. After eighteen years search and three expeditions to this bleak, forbidding mountain, was this all he would find?

The voice of his eleven year old son echoed down from the top of the crevasse: "Papa, have you cut off a piece of the wood yet?"

"No, it isn't wood," he yelled back bitterly. "It's just some dirt . . ."

"Have you dug down?"

The Frenchman recalled the words of an old Armenian storyteller: "To find it, you must be pure as a child." He began digging.

The year was 1955. The mountain was Ararat in eastern Turkey, one of the most desolate and hazardous peaks in the world; nearly 17,000 feet of black rock, capped with permanent glacial ice. French amateur explorer Fernand Navarra was on his third expedition to the mountain, trying to find what so many had failed to find — proof of an ancient legend.

He was looking for Noah's Ark.

According to local superstition, climbing the dark mountain was forbidden by God. If the ark should be disturbed, national catastrophe would result. There were a lot of stories about people who had tried to scale the mountain and had failed. One 14th Century explorer reported that even the animals turned back at the snow line!

But some had scaled the mountain. And there were a lot of strange tales in circulation about people who had sighted the ark, and even gone inside of it! According to one popular story, a Russian airman flying over Ararat in 1916 spotted the ark. This was reported back to Moscow, and the Czar organized an expedition which, so the story goes, visited the ark and even took pictures of it! Unfortunately all of their records were lost in the Revolution. Turkish officials, inspecting for earthquake damage in the area, supposedly spotted the ark, imbedded in a glacier. An elderly Turk claimed to have visited it and touched it. All of these tales were enough to inspire explorers like Fernand Navarra to brave the treacherous rocks and ice in search of a legend.

On his second trip up the mountain, Navarra had spotted a dark, boat-shaped mass in the ice. Now he had returned to investigate further.

After half an hour's digging at the bottom of the crevasse, Navarra had managed to dig a shallow hole. He penetrated a layer of ice, and water appeared. And in the water, the end of a black wooden beam . . .

No, he was not dreaming. Here was a piece of hand tooled wood, ancient and blackened. Emotions surged through him. "I've found wood!" he yelled up to his son. "I've found wood!"

ANCIENT MYSTERIES

It is interesting that even today, the stories and legends about a great flood are still very much alive, still able to generate strong emotions, inspire expeditions to forbidding mountain peaks, and generate controversy.

Fernand Navarra's discovery certainly created a lot of controversy. To some, it proved the truth of the legend of Noah. Spanish scientists dated the wood as about 5000 years old, and a popular film was made about the "discovery of the ark". Others were not so optimistic — a number of Carbon 14[1] tests dated the wood at about 700 A.D. But no one could explain what a 1200 year old carved beam was doing in a glacier!

The mysteries of the flood story still remain unexplained. Was the world really destroyed by a gigantic catastrophe? Would it be destroyed again?

END OF THE WORLD

"End of the World" myths are common to many cultures all over the world. There is a widespread belief that the destruction of the world has happened before; that the gods had become angered at man's lack of morality or his failure to perform certain rituals, and had sent a flood or fire or other calamity to destroy mankind.

Higher beings had created the world out of chaos, therefore they could destroy it. But this pattern of create-survive-destroy was followed by a new create. A few people would survive, with supernatural help, and would repopulate the earth.

In Hindu and Buddhist thought, for instance, the history of the world is seen as cyclical. There is a series of four ages, or Yugas, each of enormous length, marked by successive declines in morals, righteousness and piety. By the end of the final age, fire, drought and famine ravage the earth. There is a century of death, after which the god Vishnu assumes the form of Rudra, the destroyer, and destroys the world by fire. Nothing remains but the eternal and uncreated Brahman, and the cycle begins again.

This cyclical view of history found its way into Greek thought. An elaborate theory of cyclical world history was put forward by Heraclitus, Greek philosopher from about 500 B.C., and later developed by Plato. In Heraclitus' view, the world was periodically destroyed by fire, and out of the fire it was born anew.

FLOODS

Many of man's "End of the World" myths have to do with a vast deluge that destroyed all living things, except for one man who escapes with his family and sometimes a collection of animals.

We usually think of this idea as being uniquely a Biblical story, however, similar stories are related all over the world — in China, India, North and South America, Burma, Southern Asia, Australia and the scattered islands of the Pacific.

One of the earliest Indian legends, preserved in an ancient treatise, the Satapatha Brahmana, tells of a hero, Manu, who is warned of the coming flood by a fish. With the help of the fish, he survives the flood and begins a new race of human beings.

In another Hindu version, the god Indra grew jealous of the worship given to Krishna and poured down rain to destroy mankind. But Krishna kept off the flood by holding up a hill like a canopy for seven days — with his little finger!

A Greek version of the flood legend is told by Pindar in the 5th Century B.C. Every living creature was destroyed, with the exception of Deucalion and his wife Pyrrha, who weathered the storm for nine days and nights in an ark, finally coming to rest on Mount Parnassus. At the bidding of Zeus, they begin mankind anew.

Most North American Indian tribes have some myth or folktale about a deluge. Mankind is often saved by a warning from a culture hero. In Creek mythology, for instance, Dog warns man to build a raft.

A SUMERIAN LEGEND

The oldest known version of the flood story is inscribed upon a tablet unearthed at Nippur, an ancient city of southern Sumer. It was written about 2100 B.C., in the language of the Sumerians.

The hero of the Sumerian legend is Zuisudra, a king and a priest of the water-god Enki. The high god Enlil, "Lord of the World" met with the other gods in council and they decided to send a flood to destroy all of mankind. Enki warned his faithful servant Zuisudra, who built a ship and thus escaped the flood. After seven days, the water abated, and Zuisudra offered sacrifice and prostrated himself before the gods. Enlil's wrath was appeased, and he bestowed upon Zuisudra immortality and the title of Preserver of the Seed of Mankind.

The flood is also mentioned in the Sumerian king's lists, where it states, "Then came the Flood. And after the Flood, kingship again descended from heaven." Interestingly enough, archeologists have shown that there was a catastrophic flood in that region in about 3000 B.C., vast enough to submerge the whole of Lower Mesepotamia and drown most of its inhabitants. For those who survived, it must have seemed like the end of the world indeed!

GILGAMESH

A later version of the story forms part of the Epic of Gilgamesh (see Advance! 69). Gilgamesh himself was not involved in the deluge, but he heard about it from his immortal ancestor, Utnapishtim.

In this version Ea, god of the waters, warned Utnapishtim of the coming flood. Forbidden to reveal the secrets of the gods to a lesser being, Ea contrived to warn Utnapishtim by addressing a wall while the mortal listened in!

Utnapishtim built a huge barge at the direction of the god, and set on it a house of six stories. Into the barge he brought his family, all his livestock and all of the seed he had.

The tempest raged for six days and six nights, and it was so terrible that even the gods were afraid! On the seventh day, the torrent ended. As the flood slowly receded, hilltops reappeared, and the barge grounded on Mount Nisor.

Utnapishtim sent out a dove and a swallow to try to find dry land, but both returned. Then a raven was released and did not return, and Utnapishtim knew it was safe to come out of the barge. He offered sacrifice to the gods, and the gods all gathered around. At first the high god Enlil was angry that some humans had escaped, but Ea interceded and finally Enlil was appeased. He blessed Utnapishtim and his wife, and granted them immortality.

This legend was retold again in the 3rd Century B.C. by the Babylonian historian Berosus. In the later version, the hero is Xisuthros, tenth king

[1]Carbon 14 tests — to establish the approximate age of (fossil remains, archeological specimens, etc.) by measuring the amount of radioactive carbon 14 remaining in them. (Webster's New World Dictionary of the American Language) of Babylon, who is warned of the coming flood by the high god, in a dream.

Xisuthros builds an ark and fills it with all kinds of living creatures — birds, beasts and men. His vessel ends up atop a mountain in Armenia (present day eastern Turkey — the location of Mount Ararat). Like earlier legends, he releases birds to find land, then offers sacrifice to the gods.

GENESIS

The most widely known version of the flood story is related in Genesis — the story of Noah and his ark. The story is clearly derived from earlier Mesepotamian legends, which Abraham's people must have known when they lived in their Chaldean homeland.

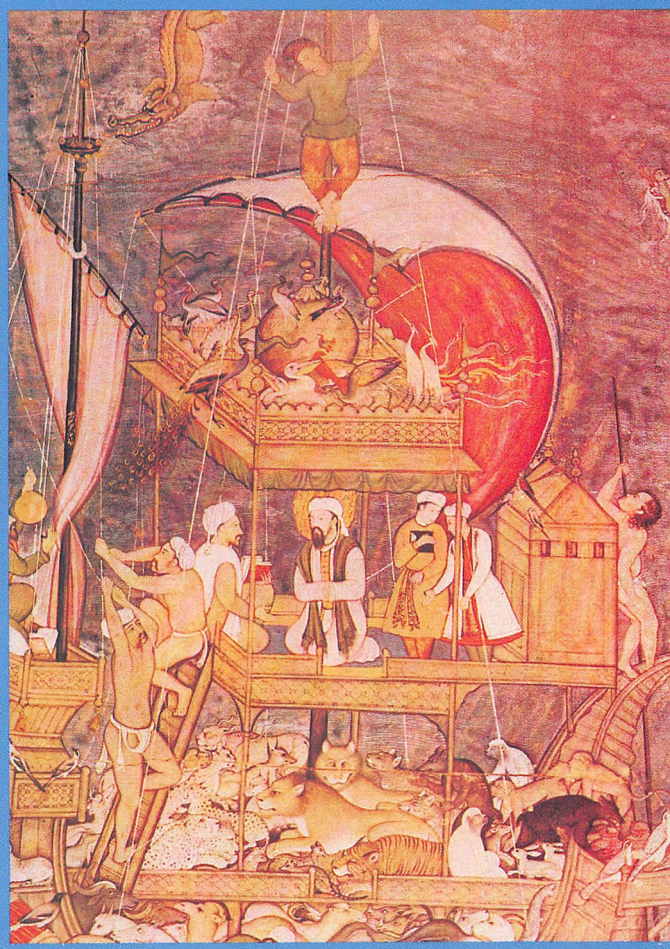

In Genesis, it is related how ten generations had passed since the time of Adam, and Yahweh saw that the world had become corrupt. He resolved to drown all of mankind in a great deluge, except for Noah, who would become ancestor of a new human race.

He commanded Noah to build an ark, and gave him exact directions as to its size and design. Then he commanded him to go into it and take with him his family, and male and female creatures of every species known on earth.

Noah did as he was told, and the rain fell for 40 days and 40 nights. Water covered the mountaintops, and every living thing on earth perished, except for those on the ark.

After a long time, the flood subsided, and the ark came to rest on Mount Ararat in Armenia. Noah set loose a raven and a dove. The raven flew off over the water, the dove returned. He sent the dove off a second time, and it returned with an olive branch in its beak. He sent it out a third time, and it did not return. Noah knew that the land was dry.

He came out of the ark, built an altar and offered sacrifice. Then Yahweh made a covenant with him, promising him that his descendants would multiply and fill the earth, and never again would the whole earth be destroyed by water. He set a rainbow in the sky as a sign to all men of his promise.

The story of Noah receives a Moslem interpretation in this 16th century Mogul miniature: the best known of the many flood legends of the world, it has had a great appeal to popular imagination.

CATASTROPHES

There is no doubt that great catastrophes have occurred on the backtrack. As one progresses up the OT Levels, this becomes more and more real. With each catastrophe, man has become less and less free; more the effect of the world around him.

Throughout history, there have been floods, fires, earthquakes, wars.

Today, man is still threatened by catastrophes which could result in the end of the world as we know it.

Some predict that the end of the world will be the result of man's wars and insanity — a nuclear holocaust would certainly be the end of the world as we know it.

Others see the end of the world coming about through pollution of the environment, resulting in a planet that can no longer sustain life.

Others see it in a traditional religious sense — as a final Day of Judgement as a result of the declining moral state of man.

Wars, earthquakes, erupting volcanoes, all underline man's precarious position on the planet.

FROM EFFECT TO CAUSE

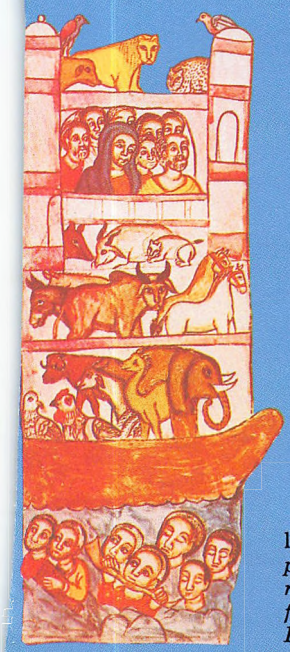

Through Scientology, and especially through the technology of the OT Levels and NED for OTs, a being can at last reverse the downward spiral and become causative as a being, rather than the effect of his environment.

And once a being has reversed the downward spiral for himself, he can move out and take responsibility for the survival of this planet and those who live on it.

The backtrack of this planet and this universe has certainly been filled with catastrophes. The world has "ended" many times for beings. And without Scientology, the future would hold more catastrophes.

But now the road lies open for all mankind to move from effect to greater and greater cause as thetans, and working together, we can create a new beginning for man.

The road to a new civilization awaits man — on the Advanced Courses!

The Way to Happiness

A grass-roots movement towards better morality

From all over the world, the wins from "The Way to Happiness" are pouring in!

There is a lot of agreement in the world today on the fact that moral standards need improvement. And there is a lot of demand for a common-sense moral code that anyone can use.

"The Way to Happiness" has been enthusiastically received wherever it has been distributed, and it is being passed from hand to hand in a chain reaction. Those who are handed a copy usually want to order some themselves to pass out to their friends!

Here are some of the most recent wins:

★ "The Way to Happiness" has now been translated into seven languages — Spanish, French, German, Dutch, Italian, Afrikaans, Swedish and Hindi!

★ Translations are in progress in Danish, Zulu, Hebrew, Sotho, Esperanto and Urdu!

★ Over 1.3 million copies were in the hands of distributors in just nine weeks. Arrangements have been made for independent publication in the United Kingdom, South Africa, French Canada, Latin America and Europe.

★ Copies are being distributed to community leaders and groups who are interested in improving moral standards in the society. Copies have been given, with excellent response, to a U.S. Senator, a Bishop of the Mormon Church, a professor at a Florida law university, police magistrates in London, airline stewardesses, bank presidents and many more. The reaction has been enthusiastic!

★ A businessman in Austin, Texas, is producing 140,000 copies of the booklet by arrangement with the publisher, Regent House, and will be sending these out from his business and from several others.

★ A Delphian School student, receiving honors in Albuquerque, New Mexico, at a community event, passed out copies of the booklet to the other students, the Chamber of Commerce representatives, the School Board Chairman and the media!

★ A Scientologist, Dixie Carlisle, was on a flight coming to Flag when an elderly man on the plane had an apparent heart attack. Dixie took over, gave him touch assists and locational assists until he recovered. She then passed out "The Way to Happiness" to all of the stewardesses and offered to teach them touch assists — they were very interested!

★ A Scientologist has donated 12,000 copies of "The Way to Happiness" to the State Correctional Institution in New York.

★ In St. Louis, 65,000 copies were gotten out by the International Folklore Federation.

★ A disc jockey in Hawaii discovered Scientology and began taking services. He has done two radio shows on Scientology and mentions "The Way to Happiness" every hour!

★ In Sweden, the booklet is being used by Narconon to help exdruggies take that difficult step back into society, with excellent results.

★ In Boston, copies were distributed to probation officers and social workers. Now orders are coming in from them for more booklets to distribute on their lines!

★ The American Cultural Association in Miami Florida has distributed thousands of copies to government officials, temples and churches, prison wardens and rehabilitative service directors, to 8000 teachers and to the PR Directors of every bank in Dade and Broward Counties.

★ Chuck Corel distributed the booklet at a convention of the International Society of Air Safety Investigators.

These are just a few of the many activities and wins now occurring with "The Way to Happiness." It's something that every Scientologist and every OT should be involved in — on a personal level to friends and relatives and also in reach-out actions to the broad community. It takes little time to get copies distributed, yet each booklet you distribute causes a chain reaction as people get more copies to distribute to their friends and associates!

Get involved in the movement toward better morality!

THE CLASS VIII COURSE

The answer is contained in one word. Simplicity!

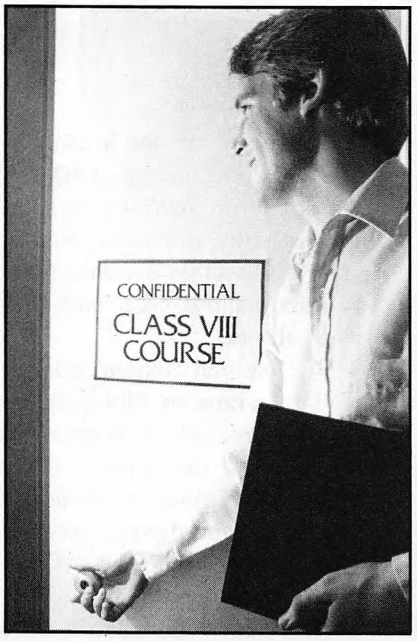

The more simple something is the more powerful it is. Think about that for a moment, the most simple "thing" there is in this universe is a thetan and there is nothing more powerful.

So imagine being able to audit with total simplicity and a very firm and unshakeable grasp of the basics of auditing and the knowledge that no matter what you may be confronted with in session you will be able to handle it and get your PC through it. Well, that is what we are talking about at Cl VIII.

The backbone of the course is the incomparable Cl VIII Tapes. On these tapes Ron is talking to you in a way you have never heard him talk before. He is telling you things in a manner which keeps you reaching for more and more with total attention to what he is saying. He is talking to you with no holds barred and laying it on the line and as you listen, all those questions, uncertainties, failures and complexities which every auditor experiences somewhere along the line start dropping away. Experience the increasing certainty in yourself and your knowledge of Standard Tech and the ability to deliver it 100% standardly.

The Cl VIII Course is Ron's course, put together by him personally and originally watched by him all the way through. You study case folders personally C/Sed by Ron. You begin to see exactly why he wrote the C/S that he did. And eventually, as you go through the checksheet, you begin to anticipate what the next C/S will be, you are becoming a Cl VIII and gaining the ability to apply 100% Standard Tech as Ron does.

As the Cl VIII Course student progresses through the checksheet you can see, if you have been watching, the student's bearing and the way he acts toward others and even the way that others react toward him goes through a change which is quite remarkable. The confidence and certainty the student emanates can almost be felt.

There is no other course which you may have done which can possibly compare with the Cl VIII Course. It is the course which brought us the high standards of Tech delivery which we have today and there is no other course which could ever replace it.

"Training of Auditors as Class VIIIs to forward Standard Tech is absolutely vital today. It is not 'old' or 'background.' Its materials cannot be found on any other course. They are only available on the Class VIII Course.

"A real Class VIII Auditor cannot be compared with a Class IV or VI. A Class VIII is a flawless, flubless, smooth-as-silk specialist in Standard Tech. He can handle any case with ease. He is a dedicated advocate for Standard Tech. He pushes in Standard Tech in his area and sets an example by his own flawless performance."

SUCCESSES:

"Today I graduate as a Class VIII. I became a Class VIII 3 days ago. Yes, it happened to me just as I have heard other VIIIs say. Suddenly you KNOW you're a Class VIII and it's the most powerful feeling I have ever known.

"Suddenly the uncertainty and self-invalidation falls away and it is all so very simple.

"You sit the preclear down across from you and you almost say, 'Take a look, it's there and I'm here to make it safe for you to look.' He does look and find and has the most fun doing so. You expand as he expands and another step toward total freedom has been taken."

OT Successes

OT I

I'm more aware of myself as regards others and the physical universe. A friend commented that I was getting brighter day-by-day. I didn't necessarily exteriorize on this action, but it's only because I've been exterior daily since I arrived at the AO. It's got to be the most theta space on the planet. Thanks to Ron, once again! — B.F.

OT II

My certainty as a being and as myself has stabilized. The amount of charge blown was phenomenal and I pulled in valuable attention units which have given me the confidence I needed to confront the whole track.

Just looking at what had to be run on OT II was a win. Especially when I successfully completed it. — R.S.

OT III

This level was incredible and all that I dreamed it would be. I feel fantastic. I am able to act pandeterminedly across my dynamics without restraint. I've never felt this free before! — M.F.

OT VII processes

I'm handling my life with an OT Viewpoint now and with CERTAINTY! Mest barriers and theta barriers are moving out of my way. I am much more able to handle things directly without vias. — E.H.

OT III - EXPANDED

I blew some of the very basic things connected to suppression. It is a mocked up lie with one's prior out-ethics of invalidating one's knowingness. And you can only fight it by spreading theta and validating theta. It's so simple. It works!

OT IV

OT IV was the most incredible level I've done. My abilities gained were almost beyond belief. I looked total freedom in the eye and saw that I was but a step away.

I am exterior to the MEST Universe and just feel the body moving in it and I play now from a distance, not stuck in it. — L.B.

OT V

It's great to be aware of matter, energy, space and time as well as becoming more aware of myself and other beings. I thought I was aware before, but now it's been boosted almost beyond belief. It's just too much for a body to handle! This is great! — L.S.

OT VI

I am unstuck from any sort of past, present or future trap. I can really operate without a body, no sweat. It's been a bit of a hill to climb but in comparison to the downward spiral I was in, the climb out was short and simple and positive. The state is very stable. I know I'll never again stop expanding or stop creating. From here on it's an upward spiral. A million thanks to Ron for all the above. — R.G.

FULL OT VII

My wins across the dynamics are too numerable to list. My life is OT. I am OT. It is totally me and difficult to remember a time when I was not this free. Ron has made it so simple for us to attain Clear and OT and the AO Staff give us a totally safe space with 100% standard delivery. Come join me at the top. — L.D.

What is Bridge Control?

It's late evening. As the city begins to settle down for the night, one area is buzzing with activity. Inside this bright, upstat building people are rushing back and forth ushering pre-OTs from sessions to examiner. Students are intently studying and checking out on how to Solo Audit. Down the hall a crowd gathers to hear the latest Clears and OTs get announced and share their wins.

This is the Advanced Org.

In one office, in particular, an exciting plan is in progress. A report has just arrived. An org 2,000 miles from the AO is having trouble getting people up the Bridge.

Lack of enough auditors is jamming the line. Action is needed fast. The plan is drawn up, one of the top AO Auditors is selected, briefed on the job he needs to do and is fired off into the night. His mission — to run a special Auditor Recovery Program for that org.

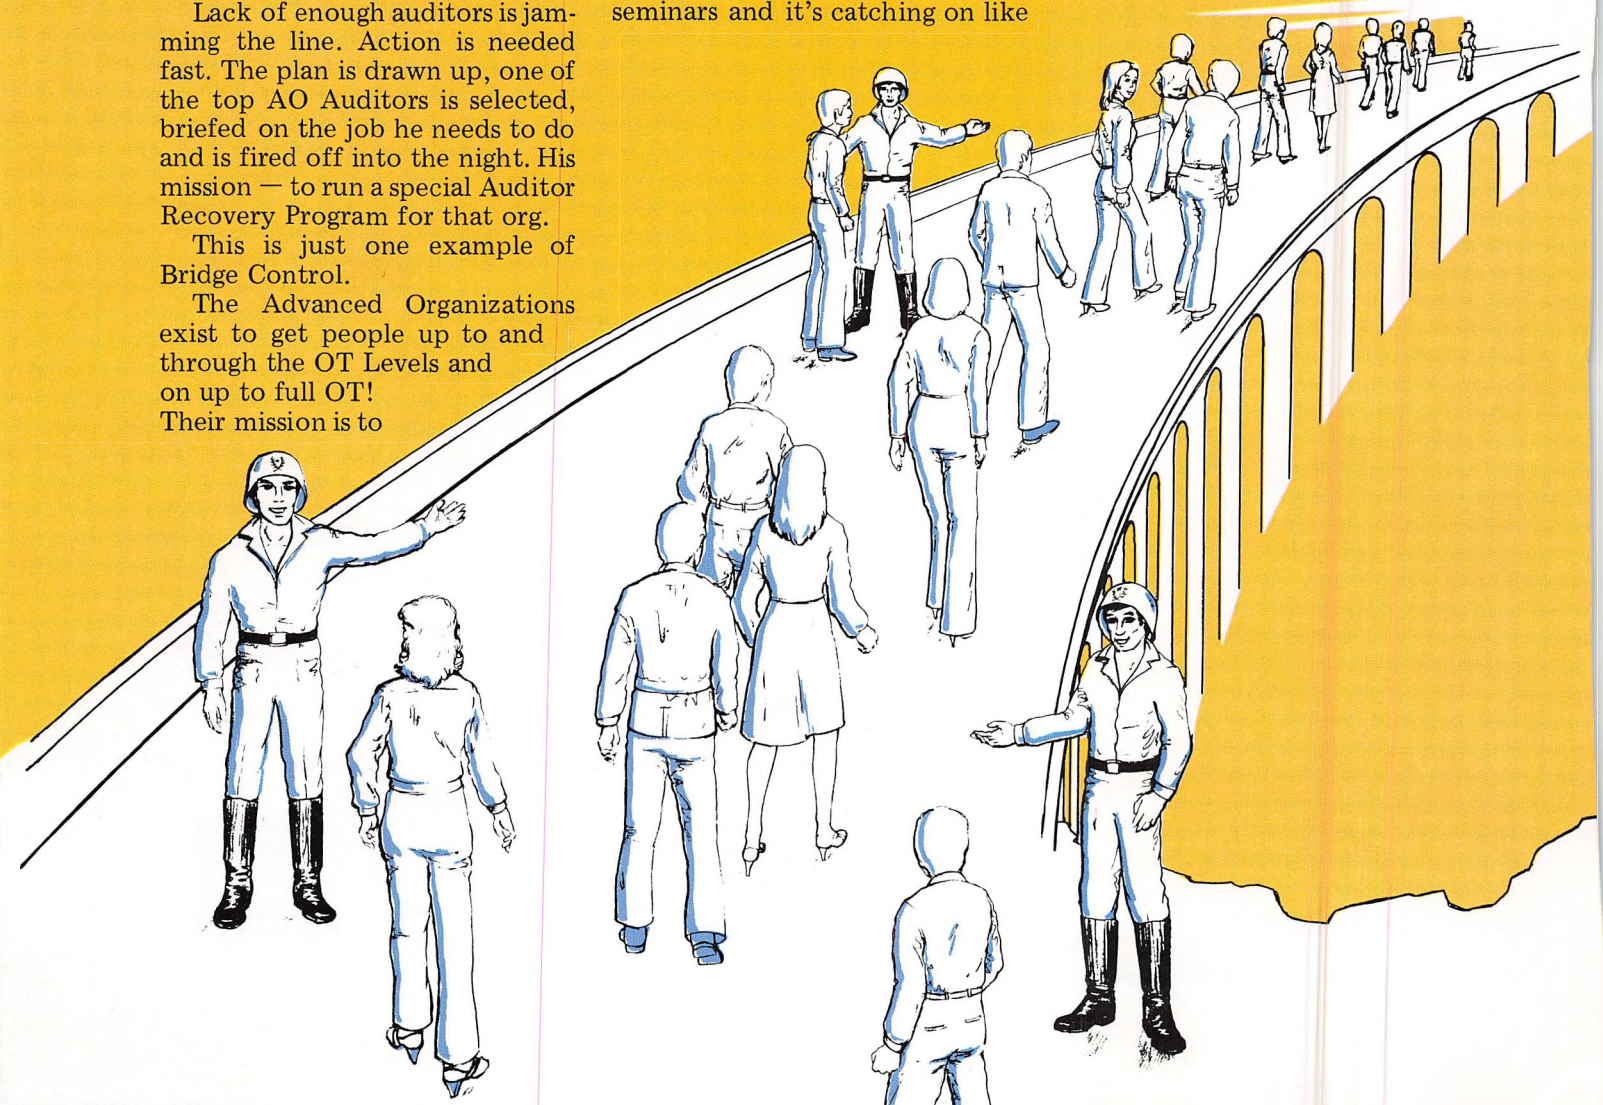

This is just one example of Bridge Control.

The Advanced Organizations exist to get people up to and through the OT Levels and on up to full OT! Their mission is to Clear the Planet by actually delivering the Tech of Clearing and the OT Levels and Advanced Services.

In fact, the AOs are responsible for the flow of people moving up the Bridge to Clear and OT. They are currently increasing their actions on Bridge Control to flood the society with Clears and OTs.

The key to a good flow of people up the Bridge is for orgs and missions below the AO to have floods of new public at all times. The handling in one area is producing phenomenal results. An AO Public Exec Sec has gotten the orgs and missions to run Book One seminars and it's catching on like wildfire. Public are coming in in droves. Book One auditing is right on the public reality level and they experience immediate results and gains. Now more and more workshops on Dianetic Book One auditing are being set up.

One org was having difficulty getting all their pc folder files organized well enough so they could be found and filed easily. They had expanded faster than they could keep up with all the filing. Yet this grew into a barrier to people moving up the Bridge. The AO jumped in and helped the Org get it all in shape. The result — more people on service moving up to their next step to Clear and OT!

In another area, the AO in conjunction with Flag, put on a huge Book One Seminar and had so many people attending that they had to continue it another day to accommodate all the interested public.

Actions like these are beginning to further increase the number of people going free.

But it doesn't stop there.

The AO is interested in you and your progress up the Bridge.

The AO Bridge Consultant is there to assist you with any barriers or anything which is impeding your progress. Any questions you have, the Bridge Consultant can help you get the answers. If you are having any difficulty at all in getting your next step done so you can go Clear and OT, the Bridge Consultant is there to lend a hand.

He can see that you have a proper technical estimate for the auditing you need. And he'll actually work with your local org or mission to keep you moving up the Bridge and getting good service.

The AO is here to see that you get the service you need to reach Clear and OT.

As Ron said once, "We will win if we are Scientology not a lot of isolated groups.

"The watchword is SERVICE.

"Where there's a group to be helped or a preclear to be processed or a student to be trained, see that it's done and if it gets done don't count the costs in broken rules."

In the past, Man had many predictions of disaster for the future but no actual method of helping people to become more able and to be able to improve the conditions of their lives.

Now, with Bridge Control actions and with continued delivery of more and more service, the Advanced Org is leading the way to an OT civilization on earth.

If you need any assistance in getting up the Bridge write to the AO Bridge Consultant today!

The State of OT

even think you could pick up very many ants with human fingers without crushing some.

Well, what are you doing fooling around with an ant hill?

Every second that we look at the actual, true character of an Operating Thetan, we can see very clearly that this could be very upsetting in certain directions. Early on, people conceived that free thetans were very dangerous and should be shot down in their tracks. So they started laying in implants, weakening people down and all this nonsense.

They worked on it very hard. What industry! Just think what would have happened if that industry had been devoted to a worthy cause!

If anybody wants to say that free thetans are the cause of revolt, upset and unrest on a planet, he had better examine the facts off the track. He'll find out that it was only when they were threatened and made unfree that the government of planets became a chaotic mess. And you get such loathsome things as billions of dollars appropriated for the psychiatrists to electric shock everybody.

That is the atmosphere of an ungovernable area. That is the atmosphere of hysteria. You're going to find a world going crazier and crazier in that particular direction. We're not looking at a calm future on this planet.

If we weren't sitting here today doing our jobs, lord knows what would happen on this planet. It would be a billiard ball in just a few years and anything left would be a madhouse.

The planet is doomed if we don't operate. So therefore we should do all we can to operate smoothly and orderly.

If we're just totally irresponsible for what we're doing and just let it happen and don't make any plans or organizational structures; if we don't hook anything up but just let it happen on a big broad chaos, I think we would have greatly slowed down our forward progress. I think we have some responsibility for straightening that out.

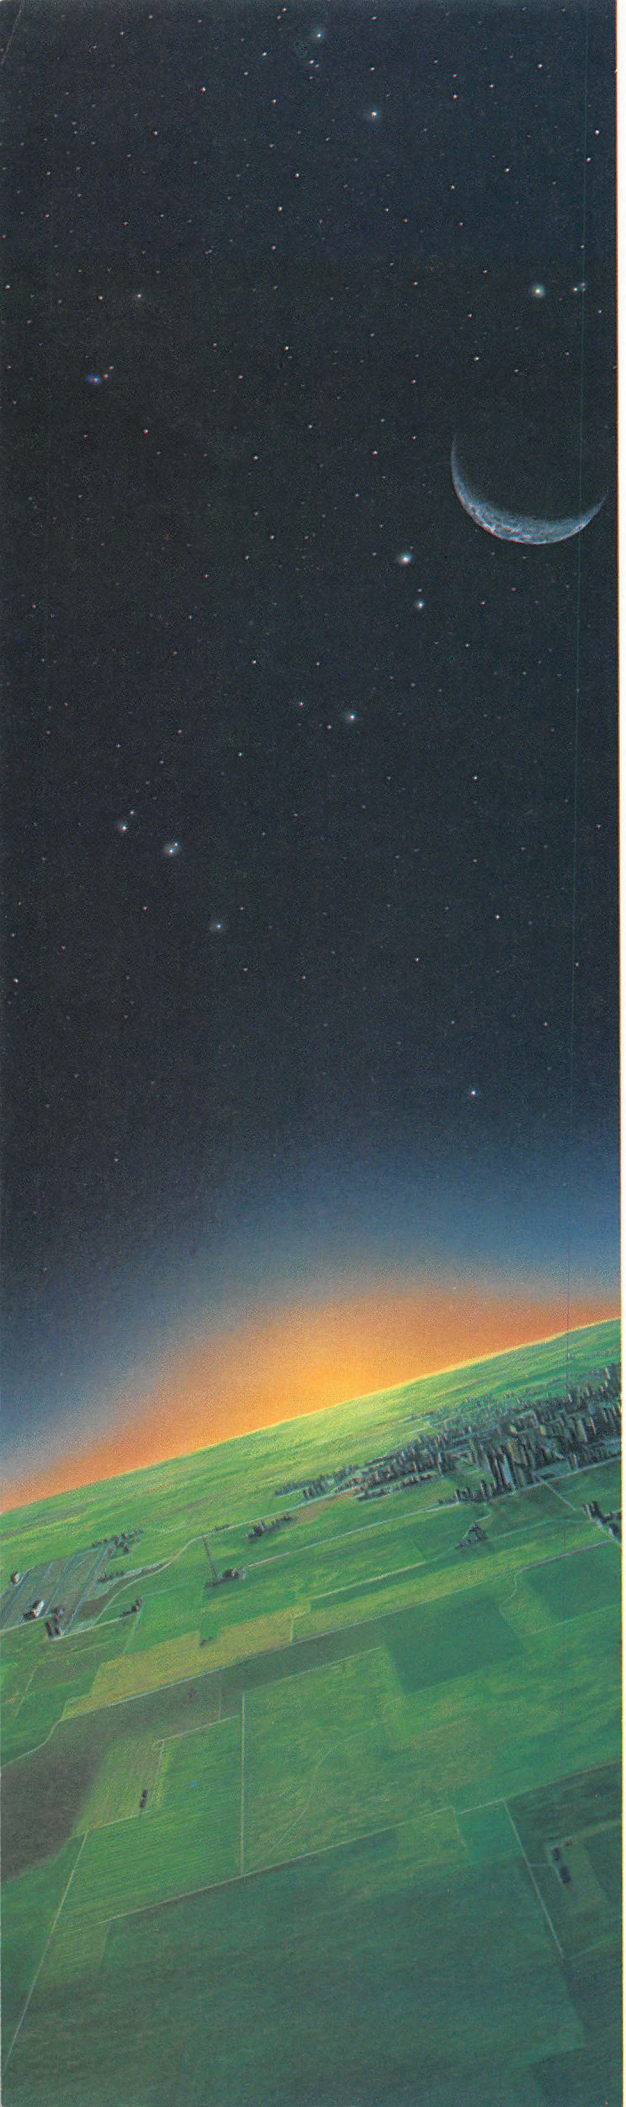

Your job is to make people Clear, and to make people OT.

Remove the last barriers to being totally cause

Get up to and through NED for OTs.

As an OT moves up to OT III, he becomes much more causitive. His ability to do things and create effects becomes more powerful.

But Ron's research into the upper levels of OT revealed answers to such questions as:

Why couldn't an OT simply run various OT drills and become more and more OT each day? What are the barriers that stand in the way of him doing that or increasing his OT power and capabilities? What is this block; this self-limiting factor which prevents an OT from moving further up the line?

And those answers lie in NED for OTs!

Ron found a way to bypass the factors which prevent a person from discovering and handling these things. It makes it possible to turn around and face them. Now you can move up and handle the major barriers toward the full attainment of OT!

The end phenomena of NOTs is described as "cause over life". It's the very "living lightning" of life itself; it deals with Theta and the endowment of Theta and life units.

"Like most beings, I really want to be cause over matter, energy, space and time, life and thought. Well, cross out thought. I've got that one now. For me this means a peace so incredible that it is a completely new state of existence.

Also, the doubts, quirks of mind, Q and A of intention or perception are gone.

And best of all, I realized I can communicate without words. I can get and give concepts without symbols. This for me is an absolutely verified, rehabilitated OT ability that I've misplaced for a long time." – A.B.

Who can do NED for OTs?

NED for OTs can be done by anyone who is OT III or above.

If you are complete on OT III you can come to the AO now for your NED for OTs.

NED for OTs is only delivered at the Advanced Organization and Flag.

If you're not yet OT III do your next step now and keep in good communication with the Advanced Org to help you arrive as soon as possible for your OT Levels and NED for OTs!

Operate on full self-Determinism

Come to the AO for the Clearing Course.

"An uncleared person is making himself the unknowing and unwilling effect of his own Reactive Mind," Ron says.

A Clear, on the other hand, operates on self-determinism, not at the dictates of the Reactive Mind. He is free to soar toward his full, native potential as a being.

The Reactive Mind

The Reactive Mind forces contra-survival solutions on a person. It makes him less himself, less causitive, less able to be what he wants to be and do what he wants to do. It acts to prevent him from reaching his goals in life.

The Clearing Course

On the Clearing Course you'll learn the anatomy of the Reactive Mind; see films of Ron's lectures and demonstrations to the first Clearing Course and read Ron's confidential instructions for auditing the Clearing Course materials.

Then you'll solo audit yourself to Clear under the expert guidance of the AO Solo Case Supervisor.

Become free of the Reactive Mind and its hold on your life.

Scientology 8-8008 by L. Ron Hubbard

The ancient Vedas talked about the universe as being "an illusion". What's this all about? What are matter, energy, space and time, and how do they relate to the thetan? How causative can a person be over these things? The well beingness and, indeed, the continued survival of mankind, depend upon an exact knowledge of his own capabilities. Read Scientology 8-8008 and learn what a thetan's capabilities are!

Scientology 8-80 by L. Ron Hubbard

An in-depth look at how a thetan deals with energy and energy flows. How does a thetan get trapped into a body? What happens to theta perceptions and how do you rehabilitate them? A full rundown on the electronics of human thought and beingness.

The Phoenix Lectures
by L. Ron Hubbard

How long has man been searching for himself? Ron reviews Eastern and Western religious history and shows how Scientology has continued and completed man's centuries-long search for the truth about the spirit. The book fully covers theta postulates and intentions, time and how to be cause over it and a lot more.

The Creation of Human Ability
by L. Ron Hubbard

"The freedom of an individual," says Ron in this book," depends upon that individual's freedom to alter his considerations of space, energy, time and forms of life and his roles in it." How do you increase a thetan's ability and freedom? Read this book!

A History of Man by L. Ron Hubbard

The Vedas contain myths and tales of powerful gods and spirits who once existed. What is the truth about man's past? Where did we come from? How did we get where we are today? A cold-blooded and factual account of your last sixty trillion years.

Hymn of Asia by L. Ron Hubbard

2500 years ago, Gautama Buddha gave man the hope that higher states of spiritual ability might be attainable. In this inspiring poetic message, Ron shows how this hope has come to be realized in the 20th century.

Mission Into Time by L. Ron Hubbard

Can we remember our past lives? A Sea Org Mission is launched to verify whole track recall by visiting ancient sites. Read about one of the most unusual research voyages ever undertaken — a voyage into the realm of OT ability! Beautifully illustrated with charts and photographs.

What are OT abilities and how can you use them to operate more at cause?

Get and use the data (not found in books) on the 76 cassette tape lectures of the Philadelphia Doctorate Course by L. Ron Hubbard.

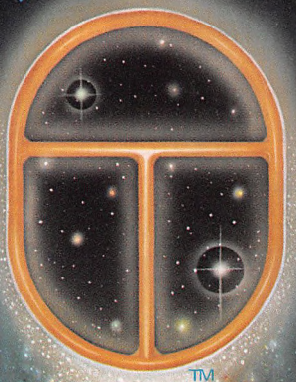

Here, on convenient cassettes, the most comprehensive body of data available anywhere on the exact nature and extent of OT ABILITIES.

This data has never been published anywhere, except for the few tantalizing excerpts which have appeared as Advance! Magazine articles.

Formerly these lectures were available only on reel-to-reel tapes and had been heard in their entirety by few Scientologists.

Even so, word-of-mouth has made this the most famous set of lectures ever given by Ron.

In late 1952, L. Ron Hubbard gave seventy-six lectures that glowed with revelations about the nature and capabilities of OTs. The data is so important, that a special course for OT IIIs and above has been released based on these lectures.

Included in the lectures are such things as universes, postulates, operating bodies, handling and using space, energy, flows, the history of thetans including the "races" of thetans, and a whole lot more.

Get your own set. Find out what OT abilities are all about, in depth and detail. Discover how an OT deals with the universe around him, and how he operates as an OT and uses his abilities to be more causative across all of the dynamics.

Discover what OT abilities are and how you can use them in your daily life. Find out how you can be more at cause by knowing and using this brilliant hard-won data.

Amazingly enough, the lectures are not confidential and can be enjoyed by anyone — OT or not.

Order the whole set now from the AO Bookstore and take immediate delivery! See the insert to this magazine for price, or contact the AO Bookstore.
