You are about to adventure to a deeper understanding of the technology that made Clear and OT possible...

Research and Discovery Series Volume III is here! Buy it!

Now, racing forward with the growing velocity of the Dianetics Book One Boom, comes Volume III of Ron's Research and Discovery Series.

Volume III bursts forth with Ron's lectures in Los Angeles shortly after Dianetics: The Modern Science of Mental Health exploded onto the bookstands.

Amplify your understanding of this miracle technology. It contains vital knowledge that every Book One auditor must know.

Volume III begins with Ron's first public lecture in Los Angeles at the Shrine Auditorium. If you've read Dianetics: The Modern Science of Men-Mental Health or have used it to audit with, this first part of Volume III can answer the questions you may have run into! Ron begins with clarification, examples and demonstrations that expand your grasp of Dianetics technology!

There's more.

Follow the progress of the Los Angeles Professional Course as Ron outlines the exact anatomy of an engram and the analytical mind. See how the basics of affinity, reality and communication apply to Book One auditing. There's plenty of material here on application and how you can get better results with the tech. There's a whole section on how to handle denyers, bouncers, holders and exactly what they are. What about engram phrases? How do these affect a person's life who hasn't yet had auditing?

Did you know that Ron designed a chart during that time for standard Book One procedure which hasn't been broadly issued before — it's in this volume! Every Book One auditor needs to know this chart!

Do you know how to tune a preclears perceptics and prepare him for auditing? How about demon circuits and valence commands and how to get rid of them?

Do you know what advertising companies and governments are doing to "push people's buttons" and control them? What do you do to handle or prevent psychosis? How do you handle children with Dianetics? What are the aberrative effects of language on a preclear? It's all in Volume III.

Some people could mistakenly think that the Bridge has always been here and so smooth the way it is today. But in all the long ages of existence there was never a road out before Dianetics and Scientology technology!

Man, before 1950, had never produced any results of any kind in the field of the mind.

He had materially worsened the mind. Even driven people insane or killed people, but he never bettered anyone.

What were the progressive actions, steps, thoughts, conclusions and discoveries that brought us to where we are today? What were the milestones along the trail Ron blazed?

Buy and read Research & Discovery Series Volume III by L. Ron Hubbard. Blaze the trail with Ron to a broader, deeper understanding of the miraculous technology of Dianetics!

Good and evil have long been thought of as two equal and opposed forces at work in the universe. Many religions along the track have believed that the good force created spirit — while the evil created matter, and trapped spirits in physical bodies. OT Maxims*

by L. Ron Hubbard

For some time now I've been engaged on a path of OT research, resulting in the new OT Levels and which will result in never before dreamed of states of being for Thetans.

These new OT Levels and others to follow will advance a Thetan to levels he hasn't even imagined for eons.

And hear this! In order to help you along the road to OT, I'm going to release the following OT data that you can use to pull up your theta bootstraps and get along up the road.

These are OT Maxims! Know them well!!

THE POWER (defined as light-year kilo-tons per micro-second) OF A THETAN IS MEASURED BY NOTHING ELSE THAN THE DISTANCE (defined as spherical spatial length) AROUND HIM IN HIS ENVIRONMENT THAT HE CAN CONTROL.

And that is the power of a thetan; the totality of it, believe it or not.

WHEN A THETAN EXERTS THIS POWER UNCLEVERLY, HE BRINGS ABOUT DESTRUCTION.

And thus you get a Fascist State that destroys itself. It's got the control but not good sense.

And so that is where good sense and judgement enter in.

WHEN GOOD SENSE AND GOOD JUDGEMENT ARE NOT ADDED INTO CONTROL, CONTROL GETS A BAD NAME.

And that is where you get the idea that people shouldn't control.

A WAY TO IMPROVE YOUR CONTROL OR ANOTHER'S IS TO DO IT ON A GRADIENT.

If a thetan is having trouble controlling things, get him to control things on a gradient and he'll snap right out of it.

DEFINITIONS

GOOD CONTROL: Harmonious alignment.
BAD CONTROL: Disharmonious alignment.
And by the way, you have art here, too!
WAR: Bad control having to be exerted because good control wasn't exerted. And this also defines destruction.

So there you are! Use these maxims well. Our future depends on it!

A vital message to CLEARS

There is something that every Dianetic Clear should know.

A Dianetic Clear who doesn't rapidly move up through to OT III and New OT V Audited NED for OTs is at risk.

Clear is an incredible state to achieve. And when you have it validated and polished up with the Dianetic Clear Special Intensive, it's Clear in all its brilliance, shining forth.

But you have to take the rest of the steps to OT. As Ron points out in his taped lecture, "The Road to Truth," "A person who would adventure on the road to truth is taking a terribly adventurous step. "It is the only track you have to go the whole way on. There is no short stop on the road to truth. Once you have put your feet upon that road, you have to walk to its end, otherwise all manner of difficulties and upsets will beset you."*

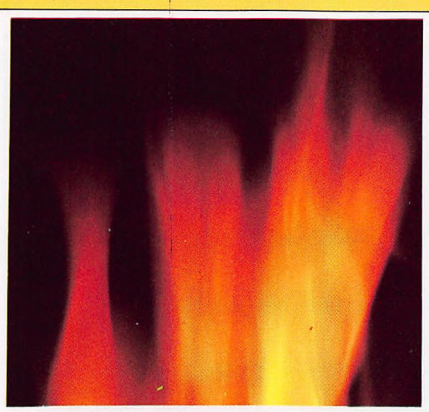

For the Dianetic Clear who has completed the Dianetic Clear Special Intensive, the next step is the Sunshine Rundown and then the New Hubbard Solo Auditor Course Part One in your nearest Class IV Church of Scientology.

By actual surveys of Dianetic Clears who haven't yet gone onto their Solo Training and the OT levels, certain things happened:

a. Some were put on incorrect auditing actions. They were put on Grades auditing and other lower Grade Chart actions which moved them DOWN the Grade Chart, not UP, which is where they should be. In HCOB 12 December 1981, Ron points out, "Also, there should be no particular reason to give lower grades after a person has gone Clear if his life problems have already been unburdened."*

b. Many Clears who didn't move up the Grade Chart were found to be running into problems and self-invalidation concerning the state of Clear.

Now, as a Clear, you have handled your Reactive Mind. There is still a vast section of charge left to take care of which the OT levels are designed to handle. But if you were to go off and not move up to these OT levels you could run into problems. You are so close to handling these vast areas of charge, that if you then didn't handle them, they could cause you some difficulty.

"The Wall of Fire", OT III. Every Dianetic Clear needs to rapidly get up to and through this powerful level.

It all comes back to the new Grade Chart. Ron has taped the way out very exactly and it's all on that Grade Chart! So you don't do anything but the next, correct step on this chart. And for Dianetic Clears these are the steps: Dianetic Clear Special Intensive, then Sunshine Rundown, the New Hubbard Solo Auditor Course Part One in the local Org, then you go to the Saint Hill Org for Solo Course Part Two and OT Preparation, which includes your Eligibility for OT Check. Right after you complete these steps you go straight to the Advanced Org for your OT levels!

"Once one has gone Clear and gets to Solo, one has to plan one's time to each day put his auditing time in and just keep at it.

"In this time and in this place — for possibly just a little while, we have this chance. To go free and to make it. Planets and cultures are frail things. They do not endure.

"I cannot promise you that you will make it. I can only provide the knowledge and give you your chance.

"The rest is up to you.

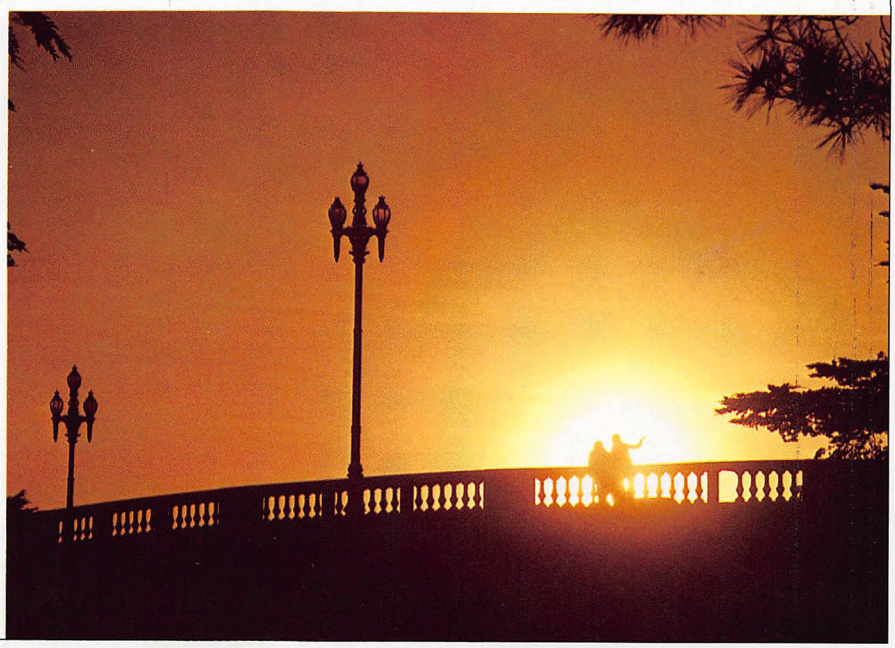

"I strongly advise you work hard at it — don't waste this brief breath in eternity.

"For that is your future — ETERNITY."*

Get up to the top of the Bridge where the dawn of true OT awareness and ability awaits you.

Beingness

"But above all these things is an individual's ability to grant beingness to the moment, to the past, to the future, to others and to grant beingness to his own objects. To grant beingness and then not be afraid of it. And having granted beingness why go right on granting more beingness rather than stop granting beingness simply because some of it bit him."

by L. Ron Hubbard

We have talked on the subject of cause and effect which is the first line in the Factors. Now there is the second line. One of the most important factors to anyone — BEINGNESS.

It is just a word, BE, and yet, in essence, all other things including cause and effect are symptoms of beingness. Life in itself in all of its randomities consists of whether or not one wants other things to be, or other things want him to be. That itself establishes the randomity. That itself establishes the game.

All the things of life have some bearing on beingness. Beingness is the stuff of life itself.

A thing that is alive is below the level of a thetan. A THETAN IS SOMETHING THAT GRANTS BEINGNESS.

The Ant Kingdom

Let's take the ant kingdom. The ants have been granted beingness. They are not themselves a beingness. That is, they are not an independent beingness such as a thetan. And here we get an oddity. If you, as a thetan, go around and trifle with an ant, put a beam through his head, short-circuit out some of the working parts, make him walk in small circles, you immediately start getting the idea that there is something someplace that is getting awfully mad at you.

You can go down into the sea and find a similar thing.

An auditor can momentarily forget that he is exercising a thetan and that a thetan doesn't have to breathe. A thetan can go all sorts of places.

You can go out into the Philippine deep and there are some of the most interesting fish you could ever run into. You get into a world of phosphorescent life when you get down there. All the fish swim around carrying flashlights and they eat each other up just as thoroughly down there as any place else.

Granted Beingness

All of this leads up to the fact that this type of life has a granted beingness. Something has granted beingness to it. If you start to trifle with it, something starts to get mad. You can go right on trifling with it and nothing is going to happen. But you will get this kickback of emotion because you are actually operating up against a communication line of whatever it is that monitors things like fish, and coral snakes and so on. You hook into that beast or being and you start to disturb his beingness. You upset the general beingness of that class of merchandise.

L. Ron Hubbard, Founder of Dianetics and Scientology

More important than that, you, as a thetan, have walked in on genetic entities which are not as low in order as ants and not as low as fish, but they are definitely hooked up and dedicated in a certain direction.

Now, there isn't any statement here that the body is a degraded thetan. I have never said that and I don't say it now. It is one of these things as a possibility. Personally I don't think that this is true. I think it is a different class of beingness entirely. But it is higher class than ants and fish and so forth. It is nevertheless something that has been granted beingness. In other words it has a second stage somethingness about it. We don't know all there is to know about the anatomy of life forms in this universe. Mostly because we don't have to know that.

Fixed Ideas

Now, life can do anything until it becomes completely dedicated to a single communication line. Any being can do anything until he becomes dedicated to a single communication line which he then considers invariable. The only excuse for the communication lines of Scientology are that they undo communication lines and restore the ability to create communication lines and forms and randomity.

Automaticity takes place by granted beingness. One grants beingness to an area of space or something and thereafter says that this beingness will now act in such a fashion. That is a second order or third order of beingness to a thetan. So, in essence he has set up an ant, or something that doesn't have the same concrete form. He has fixed an idea. And when one fixes an idea he has granted a beingness to a space.

So what is this idea? Now we get around to what life does that is quite different than mest. We get to this point; mest doesn't get ideas and life does.

Well, getting an idea is something like granting beingness. By granting beingness to something one has to that degree given it life. And when one starts to tear down his automaticities, he is in effect destroying life. But he is destroying life that he put there.

The Deterioration of the Thetan

The deterioration of the thetan is on this cycle. He grants beingness and then is sorry he did so. And so having granted beingness he saws off his connections with that beingness and believes that he himself has cut down his own beingness. So he believes that every time he grants beingness, he cuts himself down. This isn't true. A person becomes more and more and more, and wider and wider and wider. He has an unlimited supply of grantable beingness. So he gets bigger and bigger and bigger you could say.

"One cannot become able in life by fearing to live. Never. And he can't be himself without being willing to grant beingness, because he is the only one that can grant beingness to himself."

A thetan can grant beingness and he can take it away, as long as he does not insist on resisting what he has already set up.

Creating Opponents

The way not to go about it is to grant some beingness to something and then decide to fight it. But this is one of the first things that a thetan does in order to produce some randomity. He makes the other chess player. Then, having made the other chess player, he plays a game with him. If he goes on with this as his pattern of operations he will eventually wind up with having created all of his own enemies.

These ideas he has created can be real living beings or they are simply sailing around in the air or fixed in the space or his space, as things which he has refused to take any further responsibility for.

So we have this problem of the man and his ideas. We could say, "the man and his subordinates." Or we could say "the thing that grants beingness and those to which beingness has been granted."

The Finest Thing a Thetan Can Do

A thetan has granted being to the body. And where that beingness is granted, the thetan will do it to such a degree that he believes the body after that has a beingness of its own which is quite like his own. And so you get the thetan matching the ridges of the body. Those are, of course, his ridges. They are his ideas; his automaticities and so he thinks he is the body.

A thing which grants beingness and can grant beingness endlessly; which can bring to life and animate anything, and who then comes to believe at length that something has granted him life and beingness gets into very bad shape.

Because that is the finest thing that a thetan can do — to grant life and beingness. And the worst thing he can do is to set it up as "otherness" and combat it. That is the story of man fighting himself.

Granting Beingness on a Via

Any preclear you have is simply a drama of a being that can grant beingness fighting the beingness he has granted. He is surrounded on every side by things to which he will not grant beingness; things that he is convinced won't do any good if he grants them beingness. He thinks he has to go through some communication system in order to grant beingness, and that is the kind of beingness which is secondary. Why? Because it had to go through a communication system to grant beingness.

Let's take a carpenter. He is going to grant beingness to wood by taking a saw and a hammer and a chisel and put together a chest. Now he has made a chest. He has created a chest. That is granting beingness via a communication system. What is the kind of beingness he would grant to something if he simply sat down and granted beingness to it. He probably could create in that fashion, a chest of wood. But he doesn't believe that he can. So he goes through the reliable, he thinks, communication system and creates it with a hammer and a chisel and a saw.

You can look around you immediately and see two or three items to which you would not readily grant beingness to.

Resist all Effects

You take a piece of paper or a clock and you say, "Well, it is silly for me to grant beingness to that clock because it runs. It runs if whoever owns it turns it on or off." Well, you see beingness has already been granted to the clock by a communication system. Now a thetan comes along late in the game to something which is already dedicated on another beingness line and he starts to grant beingness to it. And it doesn't respond. That is the one thing it mustn't do. That is right in the clock. It must resist all effects. The factory in Connecticut that makes such clocks makes them with that postulate in them. And the fellow who planned and designed them made them with that postulate in them: RESIST ALL EFFECTS.

A Stranger in Town

So the thetan thinks then that he can't get into adequate competition with the mest universe. He appears on the scene but the beingness of the scene is already granted. And thereto is where an individual has a very difficult time of it in a new community. All the beingness is granted (he thinks).

It isn't true, he just thinks it is. So he goes into this new community and all the residences are all strange. They have already had beingness granted to them. Everybody is telling him continually, "Now that is Judge Morton's house and that is Bill Sud's bar, and that is the county courthouse, and we built that back there shortly after the fire." He sees everyone around him has granted the beingness to this town but he hasn't.

He realizes this very, very sharply because everybody in town is very anxious to keep him informed that they granted beingness to the town, HE DIDN'T. He is a stranger.

Granting Beingness to Space

Now, you take a young child that was born in this town and has been raised there. The child has gone out exploring and he sort of left his mark on the old oak tree. He has broken windows in that house and he has been chased by the old lady in some other house. And some other house is the one he has always bedevilled on Halloween. He has more or less left his clawmarks all around the town. From his earliest youth he had his own ideas about this town and he had them, fortunately two or three years before anybody thought he had any ideas about it and began to educate him, or by this time he knows they are wrong. He knows that the house up on the hill is haunted, always has been and always will be haunted. Even if they take it down, he knows there is where the haunted house used to stand. He has granted beingness to it. In other words, he has identified it. He has classified it and he has haunted it.

In such a way an individual inhabits the entire community where he is raised. So that, people who are moved around too much early in life get to a point where they believe they cannot inhabit the community. Here is a question of being space, but there is more to being space than just being space. There is granting space beingness.

Granting Beingness to Your Future

It is a very funny thing. Some fellow comes over the top of a hill and he sees a town lying out in front of him. He says, "What a horrible, ramshackle, mean, ugly, vicious place that is." And the next fellow comes over the top of the hill and takes a look at this town and he invests it with beingness and then says, "There is a town there."

Well, now, the first fellow goes down into the town and nobody does anything for him. If they shoe his horse or fix his car, they will put it on backwards or patch the tire up in some outlandish fashion that won't last very far. Things just kind of go that way.

And the next fellow comes through and he has granted beingness to the town. There is probably nothing wrong with his equipment anyhow, but he goes down there and he finds everybody is real nice to him. He gets a good room in the hotel. The chow is good and everybody is happy and cheerful about the whole thing. That is what he runs into continually through life.

It isn't that one has manufactured his own future to this degree, simply by considering things are bad; it is because he doesn't manufacture it at that long range. He manufactures it in terms of split seconds. From moment to moment he manufactures his own future. And if he won't grant it any beingness his future isn't alive. It has no life in it at all. A split second after he utters the postulate no life occurs. That is because this individual is unwilling to grant beingness or is afraid to.

What "Life" Does Best

Riding above this is a senior part of the computation and that is beingness. If one is unwilling to grant beingness to those people to whom he talks, he is always trying to keep from granting beingness to them . . . Do you see what is going to happen? He is beginning to fight his granting of beingness. He talks to somebody and he grants them beingness. He does this at the same time. We are talking about something that is very, very necromantic[1]. We are not talking "practically" at all. We are talking about what life does best. It waves its magic wand and says, "BE or LIVE or EXIST," and things do. That is what life does.

"Won't Grant Beingness" Equals "Less Space"

Here you have an individual who has made several things exist and he is no longer willing to make anything exist. So everything he has ever made attacks him. And the things right around in his vicinity will attack him. They refuse to grant him beingness. When a person has too often been refused beingness by the environment around him, he himself will begin to refuse the environment beingness.

All mechanics[2] aside, by one means or another this beingness will manifest itself to the disqualification of the individual who will not grant beingness. It disqualifies him in terms of less and less space. He has to have less and less space, because he cannot extend himself over any further space because he can't grant beingness to those things there.

You will see this mirrored on the bodies of the people you process. You will see to what degree people have refused to grant them beingness and as they are processed, you will see to what degree they refuse to grant beingness.

Beingness and the Tone Scale

The tone scale is a scale of life. It is also the scale of the amount of beingness a person thinks he has and it reflects by the amount of motion which he thinks he can control. It reflects in a lot of things. So you find that anybody who is having difficulty getting out of his head or has difficulty with terminals regardless of mechanical lines, that somebody has refused to grant him beingness on a major scale. He has insisted on granting himself beingness and that has been contested. And he has refused to grant beingness to somebody else.

[1] necromantic — black magic, sorcery.

[2] mechanics — when we say mechanics we mean space, energy, objects and time. And when something has those things in it we're talking about something mechanical.

Prepare for your OT Levels!

Take the New Hubbard Solo Auditor Course Part One and Two

Once you are Clear you need to do the New Hubbard Solo Auditor Course Part One. It's the next step after doing the Dianetic Clear Special Intensive and the Sunshine Rundown.

Solo Auditor Course Part One is conveniently available right in your nearest Class IV Scientology Church. It's a totally new course that thoroughly trains you not only to be a Solo Auditor but actually turns students into full-fledged Scientologists who really know what the Tech of Scientology is all about.

Ron's Technical Training Films give you a clear understanding of exactly how to read the E-Meter and all the steps involved with setting up a Solo Session and how to Solo Audit.

Because Solo Course Part One is a thorough and longer course than Solo Course Part Two, it's especially great to do it close to home in your nearest Scientology Org.

The New Hubbard Solo Auditor Course Part Two and OT Preparation Auditing

Ron designed Solo Course Part Two so that the moment you complete Solo Part One your next step takes you right out to the Saint Hill Org. There are no other steps but to do OT Preparation Auditing and Solo Course Part Two at the Saint Hill Org. It's part of the streamlined new Grade Chart and it gets you to OT sooner!

Do your Solo Training and prepare to go OT!

Donations for the New Hubbard Solo Auditor Course Parts One and Two, plus OT Preparation and Eligibility for OT Levels check, are listed with the Services List included with this issue of Advance!

Prerequisites for the New Hubbard Solo Auditor Course Part One:
1. The Basic Study Manual Course or Student Hat, 2. any TRs course, 3. ARC Straightwire, 4. Expanded Grades 0 - IV, 5. Clear with DCSI complete and Sunshine Rundown.

For those who did not go Clear on NED Auditing, prerequisites are 1 through 4 above plus complete on NED auditing.

Prerequisites for The New Hubbard Solo Auditor Course Part Two:
1. Has completed Part One of the Solo Auditor Course. 2. Has completed or is enrolled for OT Preparation auditing.

Expand your OT perceptics on OT I

Take your first step to OT ability.

OT One is the first step a new Clear takes toward full OT ability and it can give him a fresh, causative viewpoint on the MEST universe and other beings.

On this short, pleasurable level, you experience the joy of operating as a thetan and familiarizing yourself with the universe of matter, energy, space and time, and the universe of others around you.

You perceive what's there. You're aware of yourself as a thetan in relation to others and the physical universe.

OT One consists of confidential OT drills developed by Ron to extrovert the being and give him an OT orientation in the environment.

What is this granting of beingness? It is just a set of words. They wear out in a hurry. They are symbols. But the operation does not.

Rehabilitating the Ability to Create

The granting of beingness and the refusal to grant beingness. All the words of man, and all of the things which an individual runs into in life are summable under that.

The first decision is to be. Where life is concerned in this universe one has decided to be. But above that level is the granting of beingness and that is an exercisable function.

Where a person has lost his ability to grant beingness he has lost his ability as well to create. So in the rehabilitation of creation this is the first place we look in the preclear — his willingness to grant beingness.

Mind Reading

Any artistic work must live. There is no effort here to hedge over into the field of mysticism or necromancy with this. But you will have this experience from time to time, and don't consider that it is a peculiar experience.

You tell a preclear, "Alright, now put that postulate (whatever it is) in the front wall of the room." Then you put the same postulate into the front wall of the room. Do you know that you will get the wording of his postulate? You will put your postulate in but you are in communication with him and that is a senior communication system. This business of reading minds can be a very indefinite thing and a very upsetting thing. But where you have a meeting of beingness directly in this way, you will get that. The less the case is able to exteriorize the less positive this gets. But you are immediately into a thetan to thetan communication system and such a system exists independent of words.

Art That Has Life

The artist who can paint without granting to his artwork its life is a pretty bad artist. He's just throwing paint around on a design.

When Michelangelo painted something or sculpted something it was quite perfect in its form. The form and line of the painting and of the statue is good enough so that when you see a photograph of it you think it is fine. We are right up there on the border of not being quite able to talk about this. Mest language sort of goes by the boards.

Because it isn't until you confront an original Michelangelo face-to-face that you realize that the fellow who painted this thing really meant it. The amount of life in the statue itself which is being controlled and held down in some fashion or another is about to become a super nova or something. It is the amount of vitality. In other words, that thing is alive and its life is quite apparent even to a street urchin.

I saw one time a very beautiful white statue by a sculptor whose name I haven't any inkling of at all. It was in a perfectly strange and peculiar part of the world that you wouldn't expect an artist to have lived in. This statue was so simple as to form that it was hardly guilty of being a statue at all. Yet it had impressed into it so much vitality of a sort of calm and pervading nature that it was actually filling up a whole patio full of calmness. The thing was alive there was no doubt about that at all. And this was not something which a gifted few would perceive. Those people who are completely dedicated to the plough might not have seen it very easily but every beggar and peddler and maid and person and gentleman and clerk on that street would come over by that patio and sit down and look at the statue for a short time almost every evening. There were many better places to sit but they would come in and look at the statue. It was alive. And of course, one could even say that they themselves by looking at it granting it further being, kept up the tradition of its existence. And so you had a living something.

Bringing New Life

Have you ever seen a house that nobody lived in go to pieces and lose its beingness? Have you ever seen a town lose its beingness? Or have you ever felt directly the beingness of a town? People keep up this beingness.

An artist, writer or poet can come in and grant a new beingness to a town. He can do this out of whole cloth. He just looks around and says, "Why you have a beautiful town here."

And he tells the people all about it. They have never granted any beingness at all. They are so busy trying to keep each other from eating each other up they never noticed this. But this is something they can agree upon. The town comes to life just to that degree. It is alive then. It is rather remarkable to do this in a town. It is a capability which any human being has.

Man has come to discourage this. He believes this is a swindle or some-

DUALISM

ZOROASTER – the prophet of Zoroastrianism. After an ancient rock-carving, which is the only known picture of Zoroaster.

It's Sunday morning. You turn on your TV set, sit back and watch as a program comes on about the Roman Cathar Church.

The priest, in his dark green robes, launches into a sermon about life, the world and the universe. He tells the story of how God or the "good" force at work in the universe created the spirit of Man. Then how the evil force, or Satan, created the physical universe. He recounts again the now familiar lessons about how Satan trapped spirits in bodies. And he points out that Mankind's only hope for salvation lies in leading an austere life, avoiding wine, meat, and bodily pleasures. He stresses how only by working for good and denying all that is material and evil, can we hope to overpower the bad force and thus attain true freedom as spiritual beings.

Sound farfetched? Well, it almost wasn't farfetched. These are beliefs or principles which were basic to the Catholic Church's main rival during the 12th to 14th centuries. The name of this group? The Cathars.

The Cathars were a "dualist" religion. That means that their system of belief was based on the idea that there were two, basically equal, forces at work in the universe. The good, which would be God, and the evil, called Satan.

This differs from other religions such as Catholicism in that the good force or God is not all-powerful, and didn't himself create the evil force.

So, to the Cathars, the teachings of the Catholic Church were not true. The Cathars held that Jesus was not the physical son of God. That he was a spirit only. And that the crucifixion didn't actually happen the way it is told so commonly. From their view it was actually Satan himself who got tricked into being crucified, and so it was a triumph of justice in that respect.

With views like these, it's easy to see why they weren't too popular with the Catholic Church of the day.

Descended from Gnosticism

The general beliefs of the Cathars stem from the earlier Gnostics and from Manicheism (Advance! 66 and 68), which were also "Dualist" beliefs.

The Manicheans believed that the world itself was a dark and evil place. It was made of an inherently negative substance, which was created by the Demiurge, a supernatural power opposed to God. This Demiurge created Man's body and the lower level of his soul. The divine spark or spirit of Man was trapped within the body and could only be freed by the gnosis, or the liberating knowledge of God.

This same pattern of belief can be traced down through time in many different locations, under the name of a number of different religious.

It's an interesting concept. Imagine, if you will, that you are living in the year 1100 A.D. You happen to exist in an area of the planet that hasn't succumbed to the notion that you live only once. Nevertheless, life is no safe walk in the park. Between encroaching crusades which could get very violent, and just staying alive during these Dark Ages, it was a real contest for survival.

How would you view the world? What sort of stable data could you hang the confusions of life on?

Well, belief in a continuing series of lives implies that one has a spiritual nature. Then the spirit is different from the body, which perishes while the spirit lives on. And matter is considered evil because just look at how you keep colliding with it. And it's the same matter, basically, that makes up a body and which acts as a trap to the spirit. So one could very easily get the idea that the mest universe was created by some evil demon.

Ron points out in his book, Scientology 8-8008, "The preclear has long contested with the MEST universe and has continually sought to create his own universe only to find the MEST universe declaring itself stronger each time and compressing the illusion to nothing.

"The war cry of the MEST universe is: 'Must have gotten it somewhere,' and 'It must have gone somewhere.' It will not tolerate the vaguest possibility that one created himself or could destroy anything himself. The whole sub-zero scale is a manifestation of one's efforts to combat this demandingness on the part of the MEST universe. Hiding, protecting, owning, are all mechanisms to answer the question, 'Where did you get it? What did you do with it?' The MEST universe, in this light, is essentially a police universe, for it operates upon force and intolerance and demands with pain that its laws be accepted. In that its laws are based solely upon agreement, it is only necessary to discover how one can disagree with them to abolish what has been called 'natural law' for oneself. Upon the abolishment of this agreement depends the health, progress and advancement of the thetan." — L. Ron Hubbard *

Many Dualist religions were hoping to be able to do just that. Abolish the agreements that keep man trapped by MEST.

The Cathars were also known as the Albigenses from the town of Albi, northeast of Toulouse, France. The name itself, Cathar, is from Greek, meaning "pure."

The Cathars grew fast and became so popular in some parts of France that they had their own Cathar Bishop in Northern France. Catholic Churches in the area were all but empty. By the end of the 11th century, there were at least 11 Cathar Bishoprics in Europe.

The Cathars' Hopes for Freedom

God, who had created all things spiritual, also had to suffer the effects of an evil power or demi-god who had created the material world. The evil force or "Monster of Chaos" had created the material world and the bodies which man became trapped in. Man's task, then, was to liberate his spirit from this material trap. God's creation of celestial and eternal things was contrasted by Satan's creation of material things which were transitory. This evil force was eternal, just as the good was. But it was believed that by following the Cathar life of piety, poverty and chastity, that eventually the good would become so dominant it would out-weigh the evil and make it fall away forever. At that point Man would be truly free!

War on the Heretics

In addition to denying that Christ was the son of the Virgin Mary, they also believed that his true mission to this earth had been to warn mankind that the god of the old testament was in actuality, the demon who had created the material world. He came to the world as a bodiless spirit, or phantom, as they called it, to preach his message of salvation.

Christ's true mission was accomplished, but on other and "superior" worlds. So, when he was crucified in this world, it was actually fictitious. Some Cathars claimed that the crucifixion was just an image of the torture being done to the demon who had created the world, which was projected from another world.

All of this then ran right into the face of what the Catholic Church was busy teaching. And it developed into that situation Ron describes in the article, "BEINGNESS," on page 5, where one person or group refuses to grant beingness to another. And the other in turn refuses to grant beingness. Which then turns into a ridge or a clash and a fight. And that is exactly what happened. It was bloody and gruesome. The battles against the Cathars stretched out over a century and wiped out thousands of Cathars. Crusades were launched against them. Huge armies of mercenary crusaders hopped on the bandwagon in France. These were nothing more than huge raiding parties hoping to make off with a profit at the gory expense of the Cathars and those who could be accused of being Cathars, including a number of wealthy citizens of the day.

Faced with this much suppression and violence the Cathars were eventually wiped out. Only a few traces of their religion remain today.

They had been ruthlessly vilified and condemned, harrassed and tortured and finally exterminated. Yet, at the bottom of it all was the firm belief that man was a spiritual being, not a body. That mest was not the natural habitat for the spirit. And that somehow, the spirit could win its way through the trap of the mest universe and find freedom. For that, they were wiped out.

Orphism

Going back much earlier, to approximately the 6th century B.C. in Greece, we find Orphism. This was another dualistic religion.

In Orphism, the soul of man had been created by Zeus, the body came from an evil origin. During its earthly life, the soul was a prisoner of the body. The soul itself was powerful and near-perfect. But while trapped in a body it had shortcomings which were caused by its association with the body.

Only after death did the soul get free and begin to truly live. The after-life was not vague or mysterious. Each soul had two fates awaiting him. The uninitiated had to go and live in a place of affliction while the initiated had to go and live many lives until after a certain time he would be free from this cycle and could go on to live a life where true enjoyment was possible.

They followed a pattern of conduct which would "purify" and allow them to attain their purpose — which was to enable the divine part of life (spiritual) to triumph over the evil and vile element in Man. In this way they could attain eternal happiness for the soul.

So they had a code of behaviour and worked to do what was correct and best. They were against shedding blood, eating meat, and they were forbidden to take any woolen items into holy places; nor were they permitted to bury wool with the dead. They had to learn magical incantations which were reportedly effective in producing cures and other results.

Orpheus in the Underworld. Ancient legend has it that Orpheus descended into Hades to rescue his wife Eurydice, which has since come to symbolize the deliverance of the soul from the terrors of death.

All of their efforts were intended to result in keeping the soul pure or restoring purity to the soul. For after the death of the body, the soul had to undergo judgement. It was not judged by how moral he was, however. It was based totally on how pure he was. So by basing what was a moral law on this religion, and by applying their religious sanctions to any instances of breaches in that law, Orphism helped to advance civilization to that degree. They helped bring better order to life.

Son of Appollo

Orpheus was the legendary son of Apollo. He was known for his poetry, magic, musicianship, and also as a promoter of civilization and the arts of peace.

Legend has it that Orpheus at one point descended into Hades to find his wife, Eurydice. This legend was a symbolization of the deliverance of the soul from the terrors of death.

The Orphists believed that by following their system, they would certainly be able to bring about a triumph of the soul.

This religion was a big advance over earlier Greek beliefs such as the idea that Man was at the constant effect point of the gods. In Orphism, a man had the power to decide his own fate. By his own actions he would either go free or remain in the constant cycle of birth, death and rebirth.

These are very similar beliefs to those of Buddhism which came earlier, and from the East.

Zoroastrianism

At about the same time as Orphism, we come across Zarathustra, otherwise known as Zoroaster. He preached in Persia while Orphism was forming in Greece.

Zoroaster was an Iranian prophet who had a message he felt he had to spread. He fled his homeland when he ran into too much opposition to the new religion he was preaching. He finally found asylum with an Iranian King, Vishtaspa, who helped him launch this new faith.

In this new religion, Ahura Mazda was the wise lord or spiritual being who existed long before the material world was ever made. It was from him that the world emanated and its course was directed by his foreseeing eye. His guiding spirit is the holy spirit, which wills the good. But this spirit is not free. It is restricted in this material plane by its enemy twin brother, Ahriman. In the Gathas ("song," especially an historical song preserving a tale of the past), the good spirit of Mazda and the evil spirit are the two great opposing forces in the world, and Ormazd (another name for Ahura Mazda) himself is to a certain extent placed above them both.

It was later that the good spirit was equated with Ormazd himself more and more, rather than two seperate entities. Ahriman, the evil spirit, had a host of minor spirits called Daevas which were also evil and from them came all that was evil in this world.

Truth and Law

The essence of Zoroaster's teachings was truth and law. He preached that the essence of the evil spirit was falsehood. Zoroaster worked to purify religion from the grossly sensual elements of Daeva worship and uplifted religion to a higher plateau.

The dualism of Zoroastrianism was not an eternal one. The balance would not last and ultimately the good would win over the evil, and the evil would fall away forever. It would be won by Ormazd who summons his followers for the final battle. The evil daeva worshippers will be defeated and then Ormazd will hold judgement and the evil ones will be fried in molten metal. The good will get their deserved reward and the evil will be punished. A sort of heaven would be the reward for the good.

Freedom of the Will

The two forces, good and evil, did not directly battle each other. They used their creations to play out the game for them. The field of battle was this world. At the center of the battle was Man. His soul was the object of the war. Man was the creation of Ormazd, who therefore had the right to call him to account for his actions. But Ormazd created him free to make his own choices. It was up to each man to choose the right actions and to avoid evil.

This was a new viewpoint.

The idea that by one's own actions, thoughts and deeds one could effect his own destiny. By doing what is right and just, by accomplishing good things he would be weakening the evil force, helping the good.

While wicked actions cannot be undone, one can atone for them by good actions which then outweigh the former evil action.

Here we find a similarity to Orphism in that Zoroastrianism demanded that its believers exercise judgement in their lives. It demanded as well that they look to the future. And so we see one of the major functions of religion at work; a civilizing force to make the world a liveable place.

Zoroastrianism flourished and eventually became the national religion of Iran. It continued to survive as the state religion up until the Mohammedan invasion of the seventh century A.D. which saw the persecution of Zoroastrianism to the point of near extinction. However an offshoot of Zoroastrianism survives to this day in India. A group called the Parsees. Located in and around Bombay, they hold to Zoroaster as their prophet.

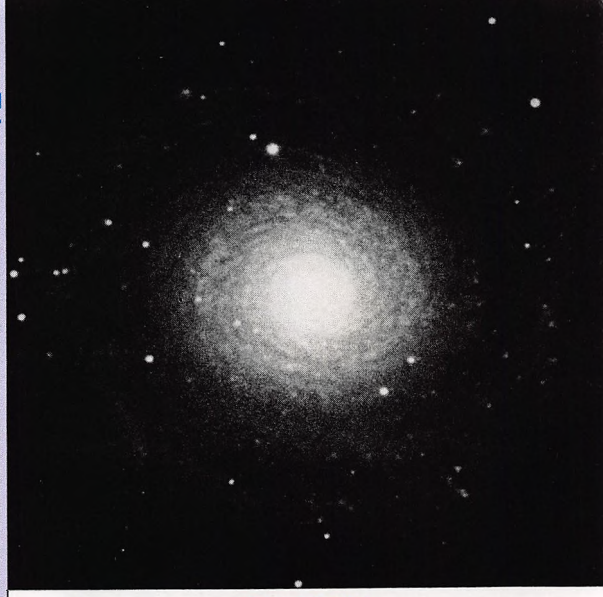

The Coyote versus the Creator

Even the Indian mythologies of the North American Indians contain a thread of dualism.

One such legend talks of how the Coyote originally was a sneaky demi-urge who was always out to make trouble for the Creator. Other myths have him as a pale fox not a coyote.

It's fascinating to note how throughout many different cultures there is this similar

OT II
Ability to face the Whole Track

The Whole Track is the moment to moment record of a person's existence in this universe in picture and impression form.

Certain sections of the Whole Track have been occluded for a long time.

On OT II, you confront and handle these vast hidden areas of charge. OT II is a powerful level on which the solo auditor goes into the exact makeup and character of the materials related to Basic-Basic of his ability to be at cause.

OT II increases awareness by leaps and bounds, by handling tremendous areas of non-confront on the whole track. When this charge is swept away, along with its restimulation in life and resulting destructive effects, one is left free, clean and aware. One becomes able to really be causative and operate as a thetan.

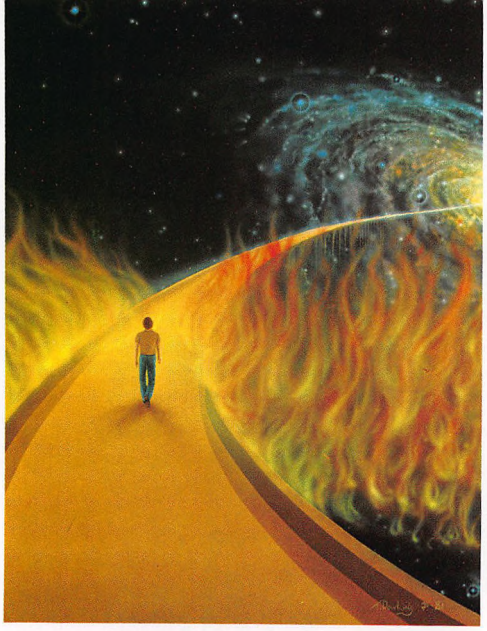

Confront has new meaning and power after OT II. Now you are ready and tough enough to confront and handle OT III, "The Wall of Fire."

First you study Ron's instructions for the level; then you audit yourself under the daily supervision of the Solo Case Supervisor. A large amount of material is covered at this level, however the time spent on OT II varies from days to weeks of intensive solo auditing.

Discover the tremendous increase in OT ability and awareness that comes from confronting and handling vast areas of destructive charge on the Whole Track. Go OT II.

Get through OT III "The Wall of Fire"!

"The mystery of this universe and this particular area of the universe has been as far as its track is concerned, completely occluded. No one has ever been able to make any breakthrough and come off with it and know what happened."* — L. Ron Hubbard

Get up to and through OT III, "The Wall of Fire." Discover the secret of why this planet has remained a hell of war, hate and insanity. Learn the way out of this ages-old trap, so deadly it crippled every being. It is the reason why people fight themselves and become their own opponent. It is the source of eons of amnesia for you as an immortal being. It's what hides and denies you your true and natural abilities. It chains each person to the endless cycle of birth, death and rebirth.

On 14 March 1967 Ron made the breakthrough. He was the first to blaze a trail through this "Wall of Fire." He then researched a way to safely bring others through providing they followed his closely taped path. That path is OT III.

Once through the "Wall of Fire" one has self-determinism and gains freedom of choice, to act or not act, as you wish. You have freedom to make things go right on all dynamics.

And, after OT III you will know why it is so vitally important that the mission of freeing beings be done now!

Prerequisite for OT III: OT II complete. Donation: see the Services List with this issue of Advance!

belief that there is a good side of life connected with the spiritual nature of Man and a physical, or MEST side of life which is the cause of the spirit's difficulties.

Truly there are these two different divisions of existence. MEST and Theta. Instinctively Man must know this. And reflected in various beliefs down the track has been this effort to return to a state or condition where the Theta is the dominant element.

Throughout all history there have been certain men who broke out from the balance of the status quo. It has been these men and those who supported them who have bit by bit pushed upwards the technology and the means with which the "way out" could finally be designed.

What we are experiencing now is the culmination of thousands of years of thinking men and women. Today, because of the ceaseless research and discoveries of L. Ron Hubbard, the puzzle has been solved!

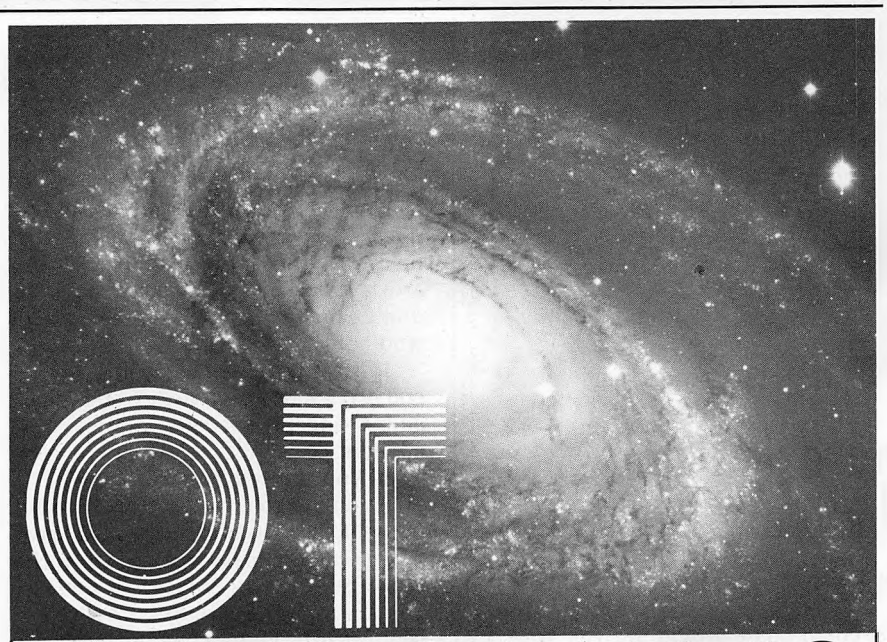

From reading books by L. Ron Hubbard such as Scientology 8-8008, an individaul can gain tremendous realizations; confusions can sort out, various viewpoints and data align and suddenly make sense in a blinding flash of cognition. And by progressing up the Bridge to the OT levels, while studying Ron's books it becomes possible to at last achieve the ages-old goals of true spiritual freedom.

"The original definition of Scientology 8-8008 was the attainment of infinity by the reduction of the apparent infinity and power of the MEST universe to a zero for himself, and the increase of the apparent zero of one's own universe to an infinity for oneself. It can be seen that infinity stood upright makes the number eight: thus, Scientology 8-8008 is not just another number, but serves to fix into the mind of the individual a route by which he can rehabilitate himself, his abilities, his ethics and his goals."* — L. Ron Hubbard, from Scientology 8-8008, page 31.

Today we have the pathway out. By realizing this and not allowing oneself to get stuck into the game of the MEST universe but continually improving through Dianetics and Scientology training and processing, we can reach the state of Operating Thetan.

The bright hopes of Zoroaster, the Cathars and Orphism have today, been realized.

Your tools for the way out are readily available. LRH books and the new Grade Chart from Ron.

OT PHENOMENA

Theta Thunder

Being OT makes life an adventure. And what I have found is that these abilities do exist. I can use them and they are very real. Only by invalidating them or agreeing with invalidation do we lose sight of them. I just pushed through one such situation. I'd received some heavy invalidation about my work from a business associate, and being tired at the time I took these comments to heart. The following three weeks were misery itself. I couldn't seem to "find the plug" to plug in my usual awareness and perceptics. Today I spotted fully the source of this suppression and blew it off my lines. All of the stacked up charge blew and I let out a theta roar that filled the sky. It felt great, and was a big relief to snap out of it and be OT again. The funny thing is that the sky almost instantly responded with huge bolts of lightning and thunder which echoed my own "theta thunder." — P.C., OT III

Stably Exterior

LRH is really doing something great with this course (Doctorate Series Course for OTs). I'm on tape 53 and I've gone through some very nice changes here. I'm exterior more than I can remember being in at least millions of years. I'm really getting oriented — I can be outside — exterior, stably, much more than I've been able to be for a very long time. My space is high and wide and life is really a lot of fun. — R.R.

New OT VII

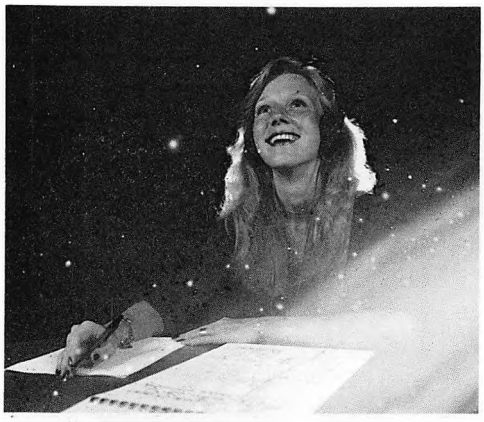

New OT VII — Solo NOTs Auditing is the dream of every thetan in this universe. The multiplication of my perception is constantly rising. This is a level where one can experience travelling through galaxies and efficiency in daily life. This is a level where beingness, doingness and havingness are sensed and lived at the highest level. Awareness of the dynamics ends in infinity and eternity. This is the level where a one-minute session can change completely the texture of reality. It's deep and simple. It's the real fight of universes, thetan versus force, intelligence versus so much mass and stupidity that every step is a great victory with you being more yourself, more humble and powerful.

This is the level of as-isness and self-determinism. This is New OT VII where every few sessions is a new world. A world for freedom and responsibilities where the human beingness is the reflection of your full awareness, where what you do here and now is, for you, the thing you want and should do. This is the complete escape of the laws of everything back to your own laws or axiom number two.* — A.F.R.

thing. It is not. An artist has very, very, very little to do with facts. The more he has to do with facts, the more of a hack he is. What he has to do with is direct beingness. If he can breathe the breath of truth into anything he is an artist. If he can't he is not an artist. I don't care how many degrees he has or who he studied under.

It is easy to release this. It is not a god given untapped talent or one that an individual is unable to assume. You are here. You are alive. When you were small you granted beingness to your dog, your wagon, in other words you brought these to life. And to this day you grant beingness to a car, a favorite book, possessions. Sometimes you have perhaps even run into this; you have been wearing certain clothes when an unpleasant experience occurred and the next day, and maybe for three or four days afterwards you didn't care to wear that suit or that dress. You put it aside. That is because you imbued it with a certain beingness.

This beingness is more than simply time, space and energy. It is a livingness and it rather exceeds inspection until the person inspects it.

One is alive to the degree that individuals have granted him beingness and that he has granted others beingness. He is alive as a group to that degree. But he is really as alive as he himself is perfectly willing to grant beingness, can grant beingness and is willing to have others grant beingness. He is no more alive than that. I don't care what moods come over him or how drunk he can get, or how much heroin he might take down, he will never get any more life. No artificial stimulant or love affair or anything else can present to an individual this level and characteristic of existence because that is life itself.

A preclear very often when he is processed, is completely unintelligible about what he wants. He will say, "I want to be happy." Well, that is the biggest swindle in this universe. He can't live in this universe and be happy 24 hours a day, 12 months of the year or 100 units of galactic time. It is impossible because he would be miserable if he were.

He himself is seeking drama and strain. I have never seen anyone enjoying life so well as some girl playing the beautiful sadness of having been jilted. It is only when she can't play the beautiful sadness of having been jilted that the beautiful sadness overcomes her. You have to start processing it.

This case has had the most remarkable love affairs and it has done this and that. She is perfectly willing to tell you about them rather proudly, but always watch for that glint of pride under this. This is not aberrative material. It is the time when she couldn't put out any kind of beingness and so stopped and dammed it in its flow that she got into trouble. People then were working to refuse her the ability to be some specific thing. Refusing beingness.

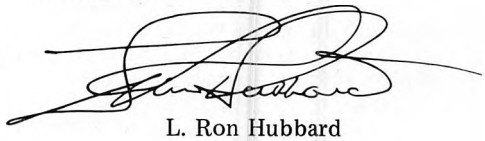

They would say to this person, "That is all phoney. You are just story acting and don't really mean it. And those tears don't mean anything and you are just trying to get away with it; you are just trying to get something."

Existence is actually that entire range on the Chart of Human Evaluation. Where one can do this freely, where one has volume, where one can live and express his emotions, and can express the drama and engage in it, all of these things are the woof and warp and the breath of life.

But above all these things is an individual's ability to grant beingness to the moment, to the past, to the future, to others and to grant beingness to his own objects. To grant beingness and then not be afraid of it. And having granted beingness why go right on granting more beingness rather than stop granting beingness simply because some of it bit him.

One cannot become able in life by fearing to live it. Never. And he can't be himself without being willing to grant beingness, because he is the only one that can grant beingness to himself. So we get to a level of processing which in itself tells us a great deal, and which in its own theory is its own process.

"To be or not to be?" That is what man is fixed on. That isn't the question. To grant beingness or not grant beingness is the question he is hung up on all the days of his years.

NED for OTs

The Second Wall of Fire

Senior C/S International David Mayo

When NED for OTs was originally released it was called the Second Wall of Fire. There is a reason for that. A person goes Clear and he moves up through the OT levels. He goes through the first Wall of Fire and is what we call a "pre-OT" (somebody who is on the OT Levels and who has handled the first Wall of Fire and is now able to make further advances).

You might think that such a person could do something like run various OT drills, and simply improve himself as an OT and become more OT each day. He would be able to if it weren't for certain factors which originated very very long ago which booby-trap the possibility of advancing upwards. Any effort made by an individual to become OT or increase his OT powers results in a restimulation or re-enactment of certain factors set up long long ago and which we all carry around with us to a greater or lesser degree; some more prominently than others and depending on how things are going. However, these things are carried along and any effort by the individual to expand as an OT results in his colliding with these little booby-traps and self-limiting factors which prevent him from moving on and further upward.

One could actually do OT drills at any point along the OT levels. He could do certain OT drills and he could turn on these things full blast. They can actually make a person very ill. They can kick on the body quite heavily and they can turn on all sorts of things. That is why NOTs is called The Second Wall of Fire.

Ron found a way to by-pass the factors that prevent a person from discovering and handling these things and to be able to turn around and face these factors and handle them. That was a tremendous discovery in itself. Now it became possible for people to move on up and to handle the major barriers towards the full attainment of OT.

NED for OTs primarily deals with the very composite and compound factors which are the booby-trap in between the being and his moving up to OT. That is what Ron resolved with NOTs.

Until now, NOTs has been only an audited rundown. There are several reasons for this. One is that when it was originally developed we only had the Mark V E-Meter. A Mark V is a very good meter but when you move up into the upper bands of OT using a Mark V and a one-hand electrode, you reach a point where the meter F/Ns, F/Ns, F/Ns and you can't get reads on it. It doesn't read through the F/N. Of course that's a very desirable state to be in but in order to move ahead you have to be able to get past this factor of the meter only F/Ning when you want to get something to start reading so you can start tackling it and running it. It was found that when using a Mark V with two cans and when audited by an auditor, NOTs did produce reads on a Mark V meter and could be run. The Mark VI which Ron was researching in '78 and developing, supercedes the Mark V in that a Mark VI meter and solo electrode is far more sensitive and reads far more deeply on the bank than a Mark V will. It is possible to solo audit at this point on the OT levels with a Mark VI meter where it isn't with a Mark V. One reason why we didn't have Solo NOTs before was because we didn't have a meter capable of handling this kind of solo auditing.

There are other factors too. One of these is that we're not in the state we're in for no reason. It's taken a long, long time for beings to come down the dwindling spiral to the state of humanoid and during that time they have built up tremendous amounts of charge on various things. Long, long ago, not necessarily in this universe but in universes long gone, various factors were set up to booby-trap us, so nobody would ever be able to get out. It wouldn't be true to say that individuals, particularly those people here, thought up the idea, but there is an element of causation that each of us carries along with us, and an element of responsibility in the matter.

These factors set up long ago are such that if an individual, even though a Clear and a pre-OT were to seek to try and handle these factors, the booby-trap would come into operation and he wouldn't be able to do it. Hence, the necessity to have an auditor to audit the pre-OT on NED for OTs.

It is still necessary to have an auditor to do the beginning steps of NOTs. This way you can bypass and have more theta available to handle and overcome these barriers or booby-traps in the mind. There's a rule in Dianetics: The Original Thesis which says that "auditor plus pc is greater than the bank." That is primarily the rule that operates in NOTs. The combined theta of the auditor and the theta of the pre-OT together are able to overcome these barriers or booby-traps in the mind and handle them.

Now, as you go along in auditing NOTs there is this large thing that we could call the NOTs case. As you get more and more NOTs auditing this NOTs case is becoming less and less. At the same time the pre-OT is becoming more and more. At a certain point the pre-OT becomes more powerful than the remaining bank or charge or whatever you want to call it that's left. At this point it now becomes possible for the pre-OT to turn around and on his own, unaided by an auditor, face this charge and handle it. And at this point it is actually more optimum for a pre-OT to solo audit the level. This is partly because his own power has increased to a point where he can do it. When a person's power and responsibility come up to a point where he is capable of handling more, it is always advisable to allow the person to do so. By so doing he tends to increase his power even more. It would be a good thing simply from the experience alone. It is also a very good thing from the point of view of the person gaining more and more confidence in his ability to be able to handle factors which have had him licked for several universes. In fact

Why you need a Mark VI E-Meter

I won't allow any person onto the OT Levels unless they have a Mark VI E-Meter. There are certain standards we must follow if we are going to get results with the powerful technology of the OT levels. One of these is the Mark VI E-Meter. It factually is the only meter that is sensitive enough and that reads deep enough that it can be used at the level of OT. The Mark V is a perfectly good meter, until you get close to going OT. What happened was that as NED for OTs — New OT V — was being developed, a point would be reached, beyond which you could not audit due to F/Ns. But the Mark VI solved this and made it possible for NED for OTs and Solo NED for OTs to be safely run. The Mark VI could read through F/Ns which the Mark V could not. It can happen on the OT levels that people would "go off the top" of the Mark V. This won't happen with the Mark VI.

Ron redesigned the Solo Course itself around the Mark VI as the only permissible meter for Solo Training. So when you do your Solo Training you need to have your own Mark VI and you'll appreciate just how vital that is as you become practised in its use.

So it is not with any prejudice that I refuse to allow any person onto the OT Levels without a Mark VI, but it is out of concern for you as a pre-OT and because, frankly, if Ron says you need the Mark VI for these levels, that's the standard. One only need ask anyone who is on the OT levels or NED for OTs and you'll hear of the incredible wins. Those wins are made possible because of the Mark VI. Get yours. And I look forward to working with you as you go OT here at the AO soon!

Love,
The Solo Case Supervisor

it gives one quite a resurgence of confidence in self.

New OT VI — Solo NOTs Auditing Course

I want to tell you a bit about this course. First of all it teaches the elements of auditing such as the basics of auditing and the basics of the communication cycles. It also teaches the Auditor's Code which must be known and applied during Solo NOTs. A person is trained on the Hubbard E-Meter Course using a Mark VI meter before he approaches the Solo NOTs Course, because with a very sensitive meter like the Mark VI it is very necessary that the auditor be extremely accurate in being able to read the meter. While some people might feel that they've learned to use an E-Meter in the past to some degree, I can assure you it is very necessary to get very thoroughly and properly trained on a Mark VI before starting the Solo NOTs Auditing Course. So now we have somebody who knows how to read and use a meter and whose basic auditing and Auditor's Code are "in." There are various other essential parts of auditing that are taught on the Solo Auditor's Course.

There is one more factor and that is that there are certain OT abilities pertaining to a person's attention and his intention which needed to be developed in a person for him to be able to selectively take up and handle the charge on NOTs. Some months ago Ron developed some new OT drills. Some of these drills have been made available on other training but there are several actual drills which haven't been heard of before and won't be until you get onto the Solo NOTs Auditing Course. Ron developed these OT drills and with the addition of these drills it became possible to solo audit NOTs.

It's been very thoroughly tested and researched and it's a very workable technique and a very dynamite technique. The way a person gets onto Solo NOTs is to first receive about fifty hours or so of Audited NOTs. This would vary from one individual to another but that would be a general figure. Somewhere along the rundown, the person will reach a point where several conditions have been satisfied. He reaches a certain stature or ability and power as a being himself and the remaining NOTs case has diminished to a very large degree. The person is given case OK to go onto the Solo NOTs Auditing Course — New OT VI.

The Solo NOTs Auditing Course not only contains the training necessary to enable the person to be able to audit the technique, but it also contains OT drills which make him capable of handling it and as a side benefit, these OT drills give one quite a substantial gain in life too. In fact one of the students recently described one of the drills as the equivalent of a 12½ hour intensive. Another student who did these OT drills said that she felt that doing these drills was the same as doing an OT level. There is considerable and major case gain made on these drills alone.

Another thing that is contained in this course is a considerable amount of data and theory and the basic principles of life and the subject of NED for OTs. I mentioned earlier how long, long ago various mistakes were made and obviously it would be a very great advantage to know what these mistakes were, how to anticipate them and how not to make them again in the future. Actually there is one very, very fundamental mistake that a thetan can make. The data on this is covered in the Solo NOTs Auditing Course — New OT VI. The data on this is not just for this lifetime, but for the next lifetime and the next, and so on, because one is now in a position where he is capable of facing the future and being able to handle these factors when he runs into them from here on out. It's quite different from doing various other OT levels where one studies various materials and learns to use those and handle that subject matter and then that's the end of that. On this one, one actually gains data and knowledge and skills which he can use from here on out should he run into these factors again, and of course that is a very desirable way to be — it's a very desirable thing to have.

New OT VII — Solo NOTs Auditing

On completion of the Solo NOTs Auditing Course there is what we call "groove-in" auditing, which is done by a specially trained auditor. This gets the pre-OT rolling on this specialized technique and as soon as things are running smoothly, the "groove-in" auditing is ended and the Solo NOTs auditor gets his Solo NOTs pre-OT folder and away he goes. And I mean away he goes!

The first public person who graduated this course started off on a nice little gradient. He did a short session, turned in the folder and did another session and another one. Away he went, and within a few days he was doing six sessions a day and four and a half hours, which is quite a lot of auditing at this level as you tend to end on rather major wins. Very soon thereafter he had a very major case change and a persistent F/N that was actually unkillable, and still hasn't been killed. And it actually has become impossible for him to audit further at this time.

On this level the sessions are very dynamite and of course we now have somebody in a position where he is powerful enough, capable enough to handle this himself. He is directly and immediately in what could be described as "instant and telepathic communication" with all of the factors involved in this (whether they exist in present time or long, long ago) and he is able, on his own, to handle them very very efficiently and rapidly. So auditing on Solo NOTs can actually become more efficient in terms of amount of gains per unit of time than audited NOTs can.

You know how you walk into a room where there is a low-toned person who is in a very heavy state of restimulation and it's very noticeable, instantaneously on entering the person's space, how massy, heavy, and low toned they are. Persons in an uncleared state tend to generate unknowing to them, a considerable amount of entheta around them, yet the presence of a Clear has a destimulating or uplifting effect. The presence of an OT has an even more destimulating effect. A person auditing on NED for OTs (whether he is being audited by an auditor or whether he is Solo auditing on NED for OTs) is actually releasing or converting vast amounts of entheta into pure and free theta and this in itself will have quite an impact on others around and on society and civilization as a whole.

LRH predicted this almost two years ago and he pointed out that we would start seeing various things occurring along this line.

One of the things about NED for OTs that I pointed out earlier is that there is this factor of one taking responsibility not only for himself but also for others. It is not a burdensome thing and in fact, it is quite a source of pride and pleasure for one to know that in doing so, one is not only raising oneself up but is also raising others up too. This has quite an effect generally. NED for OTs and auditing on NED for OTs is to some degree a first dynamic activity, but to a very large degree is a third dynamic activity.

Approach "Cause over Life" do New OT V– Audited NED for OTs

Why is NED for OTs called the "Second Wall of Fire?"

Why is an OT III or above at risk until he gets through Audited NED for OTs and onto Solo NED for OTs?

When a person moves up to OT III and through the "Wall of Fire," he faces the "Second Wall of Fire." The factors which comprise this second wall of fire are of such a nature that they are likely to impinge directly on a pre-OT (and his body) to a greater or lesser degree.

Any effort by the individual to expand as an OT results in his colliding with these booby-traps and self-limiting factors which prevent him from moving on and upward.

They can kick in on the body quite heavily and they can turn on all sorts of things.

NED for OTs deals primarily with the very composite factors which are the booby-traps between the being and moving up to OT.

Every OT III knows the awe he felt when he discovered just what Ron had taped a path through and the genius it involved. The discovery and development of New OT V Audited NED for OTs is no less astounding!

The longer a person waits before doing New OT V Audited NOTs the more likely he is to run into restimulation in life of these factors that comprise the "Second Wall of Fire." The very nature of the "Second Wall of Fire" can make life and living difficult until handled, any such difficulties are all the more reason to get onto New OT V as soon as possible!

At a certain point on New OT V Audited NOTs, after about fifty hours, and as adjudicated by the NOTs Case Supervisor, you complete and are ready to go on to Flag and learn how to Solo audit NOTs on New OT VI Solo NOTs Auditing Course. From there you do New OT VII Solo NOTs Auditing, receive initial groove-in auditing and after you then carry on and successfully audit Solo NOTs and at the C/S's decision, you return home to continue your Solo NOTs auditing!

SUCCESS

"I honestly have never felt better! I have reached a new plateau of OT. I've tried hard to get into situations that could get me 'down' from my win but with no result. I still feel incredible. My body is so light. A strange feeling, but very nice. It's easy to push it around. I find I can also do some very OT things but unfortunately I can't go into them here as it's confidential. You'll have to try New OT V NED for OTs for yourself. NOTs is it!" – P.G.

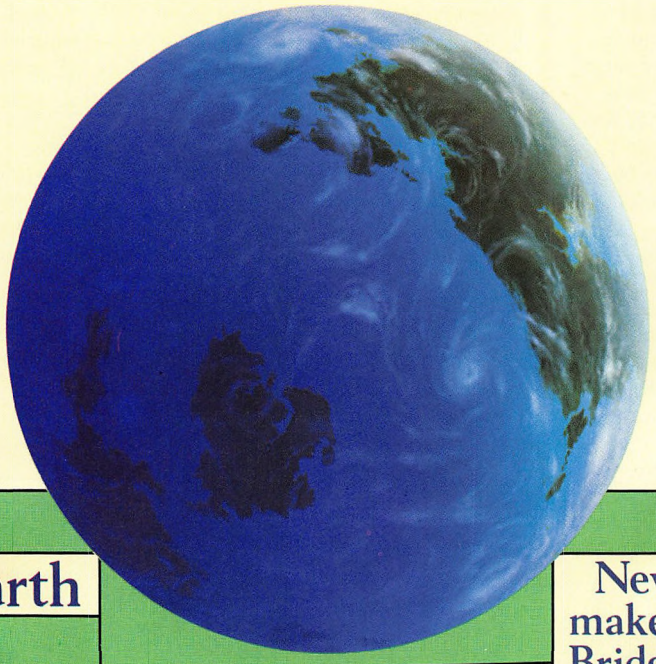

"This is the auditing level where anyone can handle anything which is less than perfect about himself. It's a progression of wins and of survival on all dynamics." – G.G.

Battlefield Earth

Ron celebrates his Golden Anniversary as a writer with an epic Science Fiction masterpiece

In a recent issue of a well-known publishing magazine Battlefield Earth was heralded as follows:

"L. Ron Hubbard is back with a classic, gripping science fiction epic – a sprawling story of honor, intrigue, and the enduring battle of good and evil. Guaranteed to keep you reading through to the very last page, Battlefield Earth is undoubtedly the best science fiction novel of Hubbard's long and illustrious career. His fiction has sold an incredible total of more than twenty-two million copies – and Battlefield Earth is his golden anniversary present to his fans.

"It is the story of mankind in the year 3000 – mankind that, for a thousand years, has been dominated and imprisoned by the alien race of the Psychlos. When one lone individualist decides to break out of the small band of human survivors, and challenges the power of the Psychlos, the scene is set for a thrilling tale of interplanetary war, intergalactic financial intrigue, monster races and dangerous underground heroics, and much much more. This supersaga ranks on a level with the very best – Dune, One Tree, Stranger in a Strange Land, and Robert Heinlein's latest best seller, Friday."

The book's publisher is St. Martin's Press, and its release date is 5 October 1982!

(Note: This is in no way a Church of Scientology product. It is exactly and fully a gift from L. Ron Hubbard to his many fans from his hat as a professional writer.)

Your role in Clearing the planet

In addition to whatever other actions you are doing as a Scientologist to disseminate, whether you are an active auditor, getting trained, selling books, doing introductory and demonstration processes, or giving assists, there is something else which you can and should do fast.

Get up to New OT VII – Solo NOTs auditing.

It may sound very first dynamic oriented to say this but it actually is working out to be a third and fourth dynamic action. There is this very basic principle which Ron talks about in his book Science of Survival. "It seems to be one of the characteristics of theta that when the theta present exceeds to a very high degree the entheta present, the entheta will tend to dis-enturbulate and become theta."*

Thus the further you get up the Bridge the more theta you yourself possess. And when you reach New OT VII Solo NOTs auditing this process is effective to a much, much greater extent!

We have a limited amount of time left to handle this planet. We need thousands and thousands of people auditing on Solo NOTs New OT VII and we need them fast.

It's not only your own survival but the future of this planet and all the beings on it that is at stake.

New OT Techniques make a better Bridge to OT

Any pre-OT who hasn't been to the AO in the past few years has not experienced the tremendous power of Ron's more recent OT breakthroughs. These are key to attaining full OT gains and they form the resolution of any difficulties a pre-OT may encounter.

* The Second Wall of Fire – Ron's astounding discovery in 1978 of NED for OTs found the key to clearing up forever those mysterious things for a pre-OT that have never seemed to resolve – with an ease that one must experience to believe! New OT V Audited NOTs, New OT VI Solo Nots Auditing Course and New OT VII Solo NOTs auditing offer the best route to OT. A pre-OT must get through New OT VII Solo NOTs auditing completely and utterly or the upper OT levels to be released are completely unapproachable.

* Special OT techniques – in 1979 Ron found that correction lists, rudiments and other auditing on pre-OTs required a special technique. It was a major breakthrough that vastly smoothed and speeded OT auditing, by getting right to the heart of the charge or problem! Anyone who hasn't had an AO review or OT auditing since mid-1979 has missed out on the tremendous gains available.

* New OT IV OT Drug Rundown – more than just another Drug Rundown this level involves upper-level OT techniques which blast through the soul-destroying effects of whole track drug incidents. This rundown addresses you, directly as an OT. It finds and pinpoints the exact charge to blow the effects of past drugs and poisons.

It can greatly boost your perception as an OT. Long term problems and somatics can be zeroed in on and traced to their true source. Cases which were having a rough time have smoothed out and really started to win from this level! From there he is able to increase tremendously the velocity with which he makes case gain and he's all set for New OT V Audited NED for OTs!

OT Eligibility

Ron recently found that there was a missing set-up action that was causing problems with cases on upper levels. Only by ensuring that the pre-OT is all clean of anything which would stick his attention or hold himself back from the powerful gains on the OT levels, can we ensure that people actually do get the maximum benefits of their levels.

It's a relatively short action, taking most Scientologists about three to five hours of auditing to complete. It can vary and that depends on the individual.

But by actual statistics the amount of OT review auditing has declined drastically coincident with Eligibility for OT Levels being put in. Also the depth of the gains pre-OTs are achieving has increased and expanded greatly because of this vital action. It is only available at Saint Hill Orgs or Advanced Organizations. Other orgs do not have the materials concerning this action.

rundown: a series of steps which are auditing actions and processes designed to handle a specific aspect of a case and which have a known end phenomena.
Scientology: an applied philosophy dealing with the study of knowledge, which, through the application of its technology can bring about desirable changes in the conditions of life. (Taken from the Latin word scio, knowing in the fullest sense of the word, and the Greek word logos, to study.) It is further defined as the study and handling of the spirit in relationship to itself, universes and other life.
solo auditing: the auditing of Advanced Courses materials on oneself (when one is both auditor and preclear) with the aid of an E-Meter.
spiral: the thetan lives his life in segments: the largest segment is composed of spirals. As he goes through the mest universe, he is involved in a series of spirals each one less in terms of years, ordinarily, than the last. The length of this spiral might serve to indicate how much longer the thetan can continue. By a spiral would be meant a more or less continuous cycle of action.
thetan: the person himself — not his body or his name, the physical universe, his mind, or anything else; that which is aware of being aware; the identity which is the individual.
tone arm: a meter control lever.
tractor beam: an energy flow which the thetan shortens. If one placed a flashlight beam upon a wall and then, by manipulating the beam, brought the wall closer to him by it, he would have the action of a tractor beam. Tractor beams are used to extract perceptions from a body by a thetan.
TRs: training drills on Scientology courses which train students to communicate and audit.
whole track: the moment-to-moment record of a person's existence in this universe, in picture and impression form.

The OT Library

Each book is a vital step in your quest for OT knowledge

"All battles are won by a combination of two elements: force and intelligence. By analyzing these elements in an OT's decline one can immediately see what is required to rehabilitate him fully: restore to him his full power with equal intelligence to handle it. The long term win is only achieved by a balance of force and intelligence."* — L. Ron Hubbard.

What an OT says about the OT Library:

"The basic OT Library provides the data necessary to an understanding of full OT and an optimum use of OT abilities. The difference between a 'dumb' OT and an intelligent OT is a real grasp and application of these books. Here is the basic data about those things an OT has to be cause over, by definition, to actually be an OPERATING thetan: matter, energy, space and time, form and life!

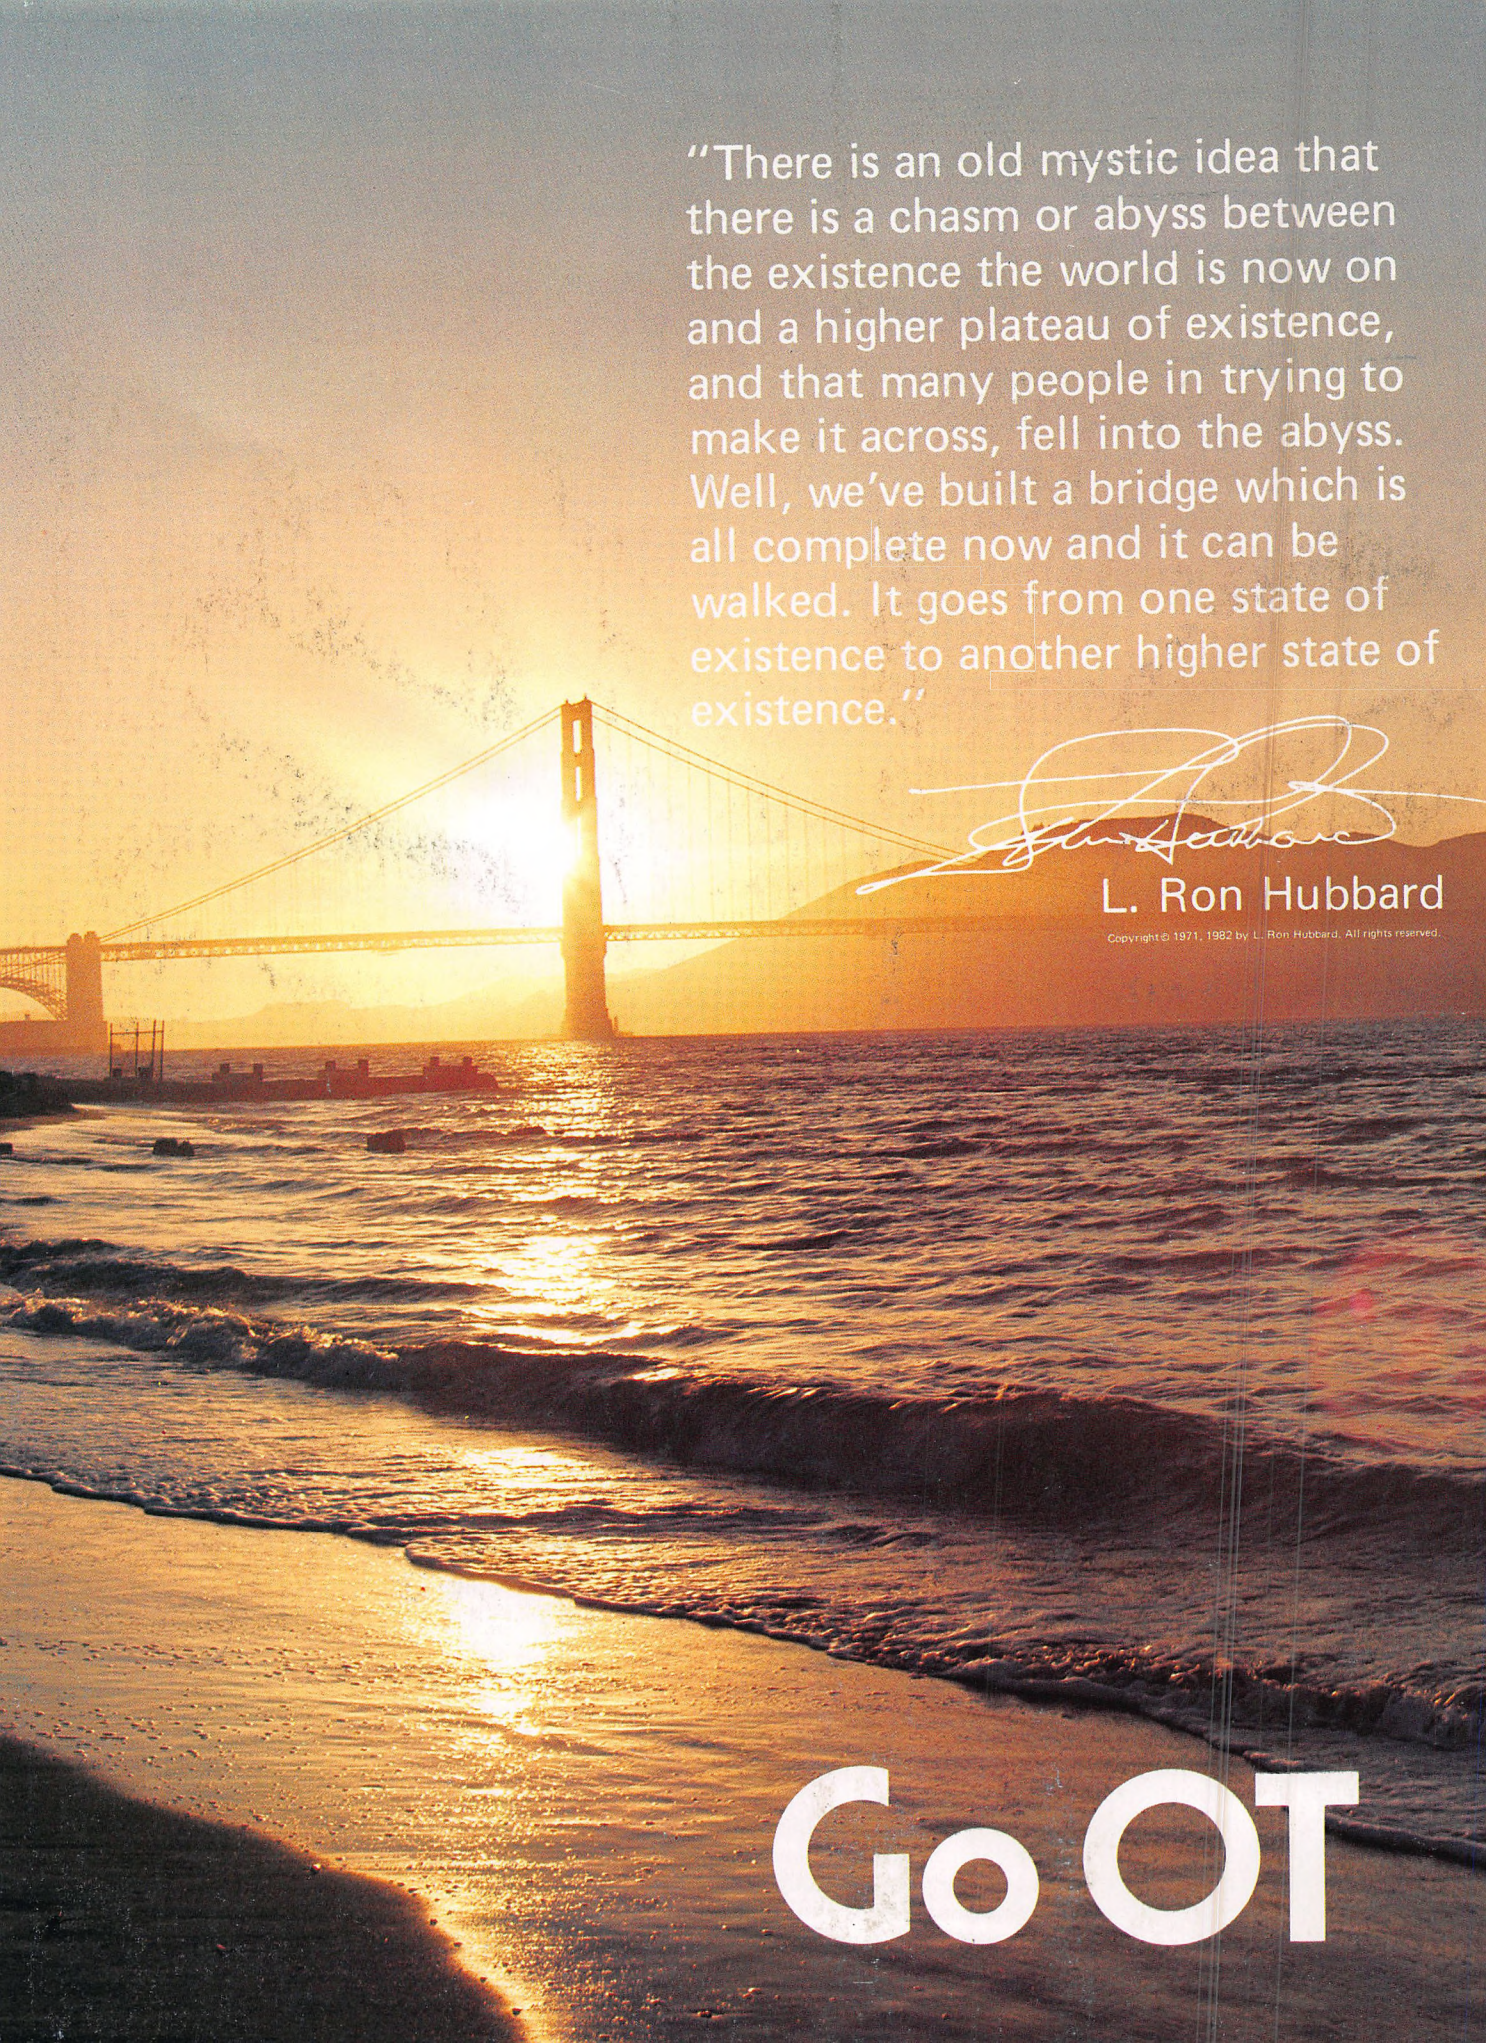

"Here also is the basic data concerning OT abilities and how to use them. It could be said that the lack of this information is what caused the dwindling spiral in the first place. So these books by L. Ron Hubbard are of the most importance." — John W.

"There is an old mystic idea that there is a chasm or abyss between the existence the world is now on and a higher plateau of existence, and that many people in trying to make it across, fell into the abyss. Well, we've built a bridge which is all complete now and it can be walked. It goes from one state of existence to another higher state of existence."
