1966 WASHINGTON, D. C. CONVENTION DATES

The Board of Directors has selected June 27 - July 1, 1966 as the dates of the 1966 Convention to be held here in Washington, D. C. at the Statler Hilton Hotel. This is a 'Monday thru Friday' convention. With July 4th being on Monday there is an additional day for visiting and sightseeing. Mark these dates on your 1966 calendar now, and start making plans to visit the Nation's Capital and the AFA Headquarters in 1966 for another wonderful convention.

In a few days we will mail out the BALLOTS for the election of a new Board of Directors to serve the next two year term. Names and short biographies of the 16 Nominees were published in the January 1965 issue of the Bulletin so you have had plenty of time to consider and discuss their qualifications. We ask that you mark your ballot and return it to us promptly, and we urge all members to vote. Please do not send membership dues or letters in the ballot envelopes as they will not be opened until the Election Committee meets here in April to open the ballot envelopes.

1965 PLANETARY CALENDARS

We still have a supply of 1965 Planetary Calendars on hand. This is a handy wall calendar 9½ x 12½ which you can fold in half for desk work. Please see January Bulletin for full details. Mr. Louis A. Pigeon of Planetary Calendar Publications has contributed these calendars to AFA. Entire proceeds go to General Funds of AFA. Price is $2.00 postpaid. If you have not yet ordered your Calendar, please do so now. Order directly from
AFA HEADQUARTERS, 6 LIBRARY COURT, S.E., WASHINGTON, D. C. 20003

With the inauguration of Hubert H. Humphrey as vice president of the United States, there is increased interest in his horoscope. For this reason we are reprinting an article from the May 1959 AFA Bulletin, by Doris Chase Doane with his chart and other information on his life. This is the only authentic chart we have seen for the vice president and we feel it will be of much interest to members and friends.

In the DATA EXCHANGE this month we have the exact time of the inauguration of President Johnson, 12:03:25 p.m. EST, January 20, 1965, and the chart for the new Johnson administration.

Also, in response to continued requests for charts of various countries, States and Cities, we will publish what charts we have, from time to time. We have started by giving several of the most often used charts for the United States. If you have authentic charts of nations, states and cities, please send us copies, and show source of information.

In this issue of the Bulletin we include the final installment of "ZODIACAL SYMBOLOGY" by Isidore Kozminsky. The first installment was run in the May 1964 issue, and installments followed in each issue except in January 1965. If you wish to have the complete book, we can supply missing issues of the Bulletin to members for 35¢ each, postpaid. If you wish the complete book, the 9 issues are $3.05, postpaid. If you are going to order any Bulletins, please do so now as we have only a few extra copies on hand.

LIST OF SUCCESSFUL EXAMINEES

Following is a complete list of those who have passed the examinations in Natal Astrology given by AFA. They are listed in the order in which the examinations were given:

We sincerely hope that some who failed to pass the first time will try again, as a failure does not disqualify them from taking a second examination.

Examinations in these three grades will be held during the 1966 Convention in Washington, D C

We are very sorry to announce the recent death of W. Glover Burns. Mr. Burns lived in Boston, was a very active member of the New England Astrological Assn., our Boston affiliate, and was one of the local helpers during the 1964 Boston Convention. He had been a member of AFA for over four years. On behalf of the members and Board of Directors of AFA we extend sincere sympathy to the surviving members of his family.

In the January issue of MADEMOISELLE there are two rather interesting articles on astrology. The article describing the ideal vacation for each of the 12 Signs was something a little new and different. It is gratifying to see more and more large circulation magazines publishing sensible articles on astrology.

WISCONSIN STARLIGHTERS CONVENTION

The WISCONSIN STARLIGHTERS, our Milwaukee affiliate, will hold their next convention May 14-16, 1965, at the Plankinton House, in Milwaukee. The FRIENDS OF ASTROLOGY, our Chicago affiliate, are the main participants in this event. Some excellent speakers are featured.

Wisconsin Starlighters hold their conventions every seven years; this is their third convention. They hope that many AFA members will plan to spend a part of their vacation this year in beautiful Wisconsin. Registration starts Friday afternoon, May 14th; the reception follows the Friday evening Speakers' session; Saturday, May 15th there will be Speakers' sessions in the afternoon and evening; Sunday May 16th there will be an afternoon Speakers' session and the banquet in the evening.

For further information, write Convention Chairman, Mrs. Guilbert Barr, 9200 N. Lake Drive, Milwaukee, Wisc., or Program Co-ordinator Miss Louise S. Ivey, 7010 West North Ave., Milwaukee 13, Wisconsin.

WINSTON LEONARD SPENCER CHURCHILL

Sir Winston Churchill was one of the outstanding men of our times and probably many members will be interested in doing some research on his chart as his life is so well known.

He was born prematurely on the night of November 30, 1874 "at the height of a ball", in the ladies cloak room as his mother did not have time to get to her own bedroom.

There are various charts available for him, giving Sagittarius, Capricorn, Leo and Scorpio rising. It is not our purpose to confound the issue by publishing an additional chart for him. With Sun in Sagittarius and Moon in Virgo, both mutable signs, we would expect him to have a fixed sign on the ascendant to explain the 'buildog' determination for which he was so well known, and the indomitable courage during Britain's greatest peril in World War II. If he was born at night with Sun in Sagittarius, it seems likely that Leo would be the fixed sign to be on the ascendant.

We trust our British colleagues will publish additional information. On short notice, we present the following for your records;

He was trained for a military career and fought in combat in various parts of the British Empire. He was also a war correspondent, author, historian, a painter who received many honors, he learned to fly an airplane, and did much bricklaying in his own home. Above all, he was a Statesman and his greatest impact on the world was as Britain's leader in World War II.

1895. Entered the army.

1899. Unsuccessful Conservative candidate for Parliament.
He had a novel published.
Was a war correspondent and taken prisoner Nov. 15th. He escaped December 12th.

1900-1906. Conservative member of Parliament.

1906-1908. Liberal " " "

1922 - Conservative " " "
He kept his seat in Parliament until near his 90th birthday.

1908. Married.

1911-15. First Lord of Admiralty. Strengthened fleet and mobilized it before the German attack in 1914.
Again First Lord of Admiralty, 1939-40.

1916. Lieut. Colonel, Battalion Commander in France.

1917. Minister of Munitions. Ordered the first tanks used in war.

1931, December 13. Knocked down in New York by auto and severely brusised.

1940-45. Prime Minister.

1945-51. Leader of Opposition.

October 1951 - April 5, 1955. Prime Minister. After two strokes and other ailments, resigned as Prime Minister.

1953. Nobel Prize for literature.
Knight of the Garter, one of the highest honors of the Empire.
He was Knighted late in life, refused higher honors so he would be eligible for his seat in the House of Commons.

1965, January 15. Third stroke.
January 24. Died at 8:05 a.m. London time.
January 30. State funeral.

THE PULSE OF LIFE by Dane Rudhyar, MAFA

In this book, long out of print, Dane Rudhyar studies the zodiac as an existential fact, as the cycle of the seasons, whose twelve signs represent different combinations of the basic polarities of the life-energy of the relationship between the earth and the Sun. The approach is essentially psychological and in line with the most modern trends of thought. An old topic is presented in a stimulating way which goes at the root of the usual and more superficial interpretations of the zodiacal types of personality. This is a new edition, it is cloth-bound, price is $3.00. Order directly from: National Astrological Library, 631 East Capitol St., Washington, D.C. 20003

WHAT MAKES YOU TICK? by Margot A. McDonough, MAFA

"What Makes You Tick?" is a series of paperback books now appearing on newsstands; written by Margot A. McDonough, whose pen name is Margot Mason. These are comprehensive and modern books written on the Sun-Signs, and particularly helpful to students. Although written for the mass market, the twelve signs are thoroughly covered in six volumes stressing "Character Analysis"; they begin with Aries-Taurus and continue around the Zodiac. New volumes will appear periodically until the series is complete. Newsstand price is 50¢. If not available on your neighborhood newsstand these books can be purchased from the publisher for 55¢, postpaid. THE HOROSCOPE OF HUBERT H. HUMPHREY, JR.

By

DORIS CHASE DOANE, MAFA

A timely article, reprinted from the May 1959 issue of the AFA Bulletin

Ten years ago, before Hubert H. Humphrey Sr. died, he gave me the birth hour of his son. I don't think that this data has ever been published, so I would like to share it with AFA members. The case history covers the earlier years of his life. The later events, such as the highly publicized trip to Russia, etc., can be added to bring the history up to date.

His horoscope presented here was calculated from the Dalton's Table of Houses and Die Deutsche Ephemerides for Noon at Greenwich, and the Stellar Dynamics relating to the planets, houses and signs have been arranged in sequence of power, harmony and discord to facilitate the interpretation of the chart.

A glance tells his best planet is the Moon, the worst planet is Saturn, and the strongest point, the Midheaven. The best sign is Cancer, the worst sign Taurus, and the most powerful is Gemini. The strongest house is the twelfth, the best house the second, and the worst house the twelfth.

THE PART OF FORTUNE
as an index of the soli-lunar relationship

BY DANE RUDHYAR, MAFA

A lecture given at Boston 1964 AFA Convention

Nearly every student of astrology has heard of the Part of Fortune, but it would seem that few understand the real meaning of this point, and as well as the other less used Arabian Parts. This is due to the manner in which astrology is usually taught. In most text-books planets as well as Parts, signs or Houses are listed as separate individual factors each with a variety of meanings. The student is expected to memorize the meanings, but usually is not told what is at the root of all these meanings and by what process of deduction they originally were arrived at later on being confirmed by many experiences with individuals' charts. It is to me remarkable that the thought still persists that astrology developed as an empirical "science". This is due, I believe, to a complete misunderstanding of the archaic mentality of man. Ancient knowledge was based on direct psychic (or let us say, clairvoyant) perception through identification of the seer and the seen, or/and on a deductive process from the general to the particular. It is only recently, mainly since Bacon during the Renaissance that knowledge became "scientific" in the modern empirical sense of the term.

Astrology is not, I believe, an empirical science even though evidently an astrologer will extend his or her knowledge by dealing with the many cases met during a long practice. Astrology is essentially the art of interpreting the cyclic ebbs and flows of the basic energies and activities of life so that the existence of an individual person -- or of any individual entity -- is seen as an ordered process of change, a process which has inherent meaning and purpose. Especially today, as we live in a world which presents us with a feeling of extreme psychological, if not physical (cf. atom bombs, driving cars, etc.)insecurity, and as well with the sense of being overpowered with world-wide forces and social political issues which make most of us feel helpless, we need to realize that underneath all these man-made possibilities of catastrophies there is a basic universal order on which we may depend. This order is meaningful and purposeful, in spite of what most of our philosophical and materialistic scientists want us to believe. There may be chance in the details of everyday life but our individual existences, as well as the universe as a whole are "structured".

Astrology is the study of the periodical motions of celestial bodies; these cyclic motions measure what we know as days, months, years, precessional cycles; they structure our sense of time. There are basically, in astrological practice, two kinds of cycles: (1) Cycles of positions: These are measured with reference to a fixed point -- for instance the solar year which refers to the cyclic apparent motion of the Sun from one vernal equinox to the next. Only one moving factor is considered, the Sun, and the Aries 0° point is supposed to be (at least in the usual kind of astrology) a fixed point of reference. (2) Cycles of relationship: These take in consideration two celestial bodies moving with unequal speeds. The cycle is defined by the time elapsed between two of their successive conjunctions. All through the duration of the cycle the angular relationship (i.e. the "aspects") between these two moving bodies constantly changes. Indeed what we call aspects should always be understood as phases of a cyclic process defined by the related motions of the two bodies -- for instance the Sun and the Moon or Jupiter and Saturn. And every aspect should be referred to the cycle as a whole and to its beginning, the conjunction.

The lunation cycle is the period elapsing between two successive New Moons. At New Moon the Sun and Moon are conjunct; they form a "waxing square" at the First Quarter, an opposition aspect at the Full Moon, a "waning square" at the Last Quarter. The lunation cycle lasts a little less than 30 days; on the other hand the Jupiter-Saturn cycle of relationship lasts 20 years. The lengths of the cycles differ, but the way the phases of the cycles are measured is the same in any case. We ordinarily measure and name these phases by speaking of "aspects" between the two moving bodies; but there is another way which refers to the calculation of the Parts resulting from the related motions of the planets. The most useful of the Parts is that which refers to the soli-lunar month, the lunation cycle. It is called the Part of Fortune. It is calculated by adding the longitude of the Moon to that of the Ascendant and subtracting from the sum the longitude of the Sun. What this means is that the distance between the Moon and the Sun is added to the Ascendant. The Part of Fortune is the soli-lunar relationship considered from the point of view of the Ascendant, symbol of a man's basic individuality, of what makes him different from other individuals.

Any Part is a means to evaluate at every moment the status of the cycle of relationship between two moving celestial bodies. It constitutes a moving index recording the progress of the relationship by plotting this process with reference to two coordinates: the earth horizon and meridian -- and more particularly the horizon of a person's birth-chart. Horizon and meridian constitute, together with the 12 Houses, the framework of man's field of individual experiences. Each House constitutes a definite, though general, category of basic human experiences. Any human being passes through these 12 categories of experiences in order to assert and to test his capacity to function as an individual person. He is most uniquely himself at his natal Ascendant; for this is the symbol of his emergence as an individual from any and all "matrices".

What we may call the life-force in man refers in astrology to the Sun and the Moon. This life-force is bi-polar, just as electricity -- and indeed all existence -- is. The moment the individual ceases to be totally and unconsciously identified with the life-energies powering and driving his organism and its instincts, he finds himself more or less able to use this soli-lunar force. What we call culture and morality constitute the sum-total of the ways in which a particular society teaches its members to use their life-energies -- and not to be the slaves of their instincts or ego-centric appetites. If the individuals act according to the dictates of their society, culture and religion, they are well regarded by their peers; they tend to be successful and happy in one field of activity or another.

The Part of Fortune represents a person's ability to deal with and to use his life-energies -- i.e., the related power of his Sun and Moon. This ability varies greatly with human beings and with the circumstances of their existence and the phases of their personal development. At any time, however, it is a most important fact -- both biologically and psychologically -- in the life and behavior of the individual, and in the responses society makes to his actions or even his mere presence. Indeed the factor which we call "personality", or(some years ago) "It", especially in people who appear in public, is largely an unusual manifestation of the capacity an individual has to moblize his vital energies and to meet other people with a certain kind of magnetic radiance or "aura" of impressiveness. At a still higher level this becomes the "charismatic" quality of the great leaders of mankind and of the great virtuosi who somehow evoke in their public an attitude of near worship.

When this mysterious factor is present in an individual, the Part of Fortune is an indication of the quality in the person's temperament which is at its source. The Part of Fortune traditionally has been thought to be an indicator of wealth; other authors have named it "the Point of Happiness". Wealth and happiness are normal expressions of a man's ability to mobilize his vitality in meeting the challenge of his life in society. It is the focal point for the expression of the power generated by the soli-lunar relationship -- and this power has many forms of expression, such as sex, love, personal magnetism, health and the ability to draw to oneself whatever expands and glorifies one's own personality. Heppiness is a state of being or consciousness which depends upon the ease with which life operates within the total organism, body and psyche. Ease brings happiness; "dis-ease" results in pain, sorrow and unhappiness. Illness is based primarily on some sort of blockage of the life-flow. Thus on congestion and stagnation of what circulates as energy through body and psyche. Yet a dammed river may produce a relatively transcendant kind of power, electricity; and the life-force when blocked in its natural flow may be transmuted into mind or psychic energy. This is, of course, the reason for ascetic practices and all forms of repressions; but constructive results are possible only if a real trans-substantion of the life-force is accomplished. This is certainly not too frequent, and it results at first in tension, pain and cartharsis.

The conjunction (and to a lesser degree the opposition) of the Part of Fortune with a planet can tell a great deal about the character of the emanation from an individual, and first of all about the way he uses his soli-lunar energies. A conjunction of the Part with Jupiter tends to produce an optimistic buoyant socially successful person. This was the case of the French poet Victor Hugo and of Bernard Shaw. A conjunction with Saturn is usually connected with either pessimism or a physically or psychologically depressed state, or with the urge to go into the depths of experience and to accept nothing that is superficial, popular, easy of reach. Benjamin Franklin and George Washington had such a configuration. The conjunction of the Part with the Sun often endows a person with a strange fascination. The Persian prophet, the Bab, whom crowds worshipped had such a conjunction; so had F. D. Roosevelt, Mary B. Eddy, founder of Christian Science, Liszt, the prototype of the modern virtuoso -- and Henry VIII, king of England. The Spanish dictator Franco has his Part of Fortune conjunct Mars. Nostradamus had Venus conjunct the Part.

Uranus and the Part of Fortune in conjunction are found in the charts of the authoritarian French king, Louis XIV, and also that of King Ludwig II, patron and friend of Wagner. Neptune conjunct the Part in Oliver Cromwell's chart and opposed to it in Theodore Roosevelt's. The composer-theosophist Skryabin had also a conjunction of Neptune and his Part; Neptune refers often to music and may bring one in touch with vast movements and religious Causes. Pluto does this too, but in a very different way. William Jennings Bryan, the fervent prophet of an utopian sort of democracy, has his Part of Fortune coming close to Pluto and Venus in Taurus. He was a great orator.

The more usual way of dealing with the Part of Fortune is however, to consider its position in one of the 12 Houses. At New Moon the Part is conjunct the Ascendant of a chart; at Full Moon it is found at the Descendant. Even if one is not too sure of what the exact Ascendant of a chart is, one may often guess what House the Part of Fortune is found -- though variations are induced by the factor of earth latitude. It is because of such a factor that the Part of Fortune is usually not exactly at the cusp of the 4th House at the First Quarter phase of the soli-lunar relationship, or at the Mid-Heaven at the Last Quarter. Nevertheless it is in its House location that the Part of Fortune is most characteristically meaningful, for it is basically related to the Ascendant, the Point of Individualization. The House in which the Part of Fortune is located indicates the field of experience in which the native has the greatest ease of self-expression and therefore can be expected to make a success within his normal environment.

The Part of Fortune's location in a zodiacal sign indicates the general type of vital energy through the use of which the native will be most successful and especially most able to release the innate power of his individual selfhood. If the exact rising degree of the chart is known, the symbol of that degree (I use only the Sabian Symbols) is usually quite revealing. The essential (but not literal) meaning of what the symbol depicts suggests what the fundamental character of the person's capacity for self-expression is, even if it be underneath the superficial appearances of a behavior dictated by social or economic convenience.

THE FACTORS OF BUSINESS SUCCESS

By

BEATRICE EPSTEIN, MAFA

The chart which will here be analyzed is one which contains, in the writer's opinion, all the astrological emphasis which is requisite for success in the World of Commerce. The personal side of the life is not so well aspected. However, since my aim is to illustrate in this discussion the qualities which contribute toward an outstanding business career, I shall concentrate on the matters in connection with that phase.

The time of birth has been rectified at 5:26 A.M., which makes the chart almost an actual "sunrise" chart. The placement of the Sun in the first house in Aries bestows vitality, ambition, and aggressiveness. Aries is a cardinal sign, active, fiery, and dynamic. Life is never dull where Arians are. They are full of ideas, talkative, sociable, scintillating, quick-witted. Movement, change, action are the breath of life to them.

Aries is in "exalted" relationship with the Sun and therefore this lends the first house (personality) a sunny quality.

The Sun is the giver of life and when it is posited in the first house of a chart, there is abundant vitality, on the physical plane, and spiritual illumination on the esoteric plane. To evolved types, Aries grants intuition and reason, since it rules the head and is connected with the mental processes. Aries is a channel for magnetic power flowing in from the Sun, which in turn the native can radiate in his periphery.

The Sun in the first house in any sign points toward a leader but when it is in the first house in the sign of Aries, where it is exalted, it radiates the magnetism of the Sun throughout all the houses of the chart. The Aries Ascendant sets the "tone" for the whole chart.

The combination of the Sun in Aries with an Aries Ascendant bestows executive ability with good judgment and foresight. Those born with the Sun in Aries are enterprising and full of schemes, for which their vast store of energy is constantly prompting them to find an outlet. They are the Trailblazers of the Zodiac.

The Mars rulership of Aries confers a militant accent to the personality. It also grants honesty and a frank and fearless approach to life. It imparts a courageous nature and indicates one who will never hesitate to fight for what he considers right, be it a principle or something more concrete. It is in this realm that one learns the lessons of dominion over self and the establishment of order.

The conjunction of Mars with the Sun creates energy, enthusiasm and an extreme dislike of restraint of any kind. With this type of configuration the native refuses to accept anything as an obstacle and proceeds with confidence and audacity. He thrives on adventure and will welcome any opportunity which is challenging. To meet these he is well equipped with abundant resourcefulness and originality. This placement creates people of action who accomplish things for the world through their activity and enterprise. It also gives a love of work, which was so aptly expressed by Robert Louis Stevenson when he said: "If a man love the labor of any trade, apart from any question of success or fame, the Gods have called him."

The Sun conjunct Mars also contributes to good health through the flow of energy which it directs. It grants a basically strong constitution and the resistance to ward off disease. In addition, it gives that quality known as "pep".

Venus, while posited in the first house in Taurus, is only one degree and one minute from the second house cusp, on which we find Taurus, the sign ruled by Venus, the Lesser Benefic. Therefore the Venusian vibration would be most strongly evidenced through the second house, which is connected with material possessions and finance. Furthermore, the powerful rays of Sun conjunct Mars in the first house would tend to overpower the soft and gentle influence of Venus, making the two planets superior to it in influence over the first house.

Although Venus is square (thus making an inharmonious contact) Saturn (limitation, restriction) nevertheless, its placement in Taurus, its own sign where it is essentially dignified, is very favorable for financial affairs and it rewards the native generously through benefits gained by his own efforts. Not to be overlooked is the value in the business world - as indeed in any department of life - of a cordial attitude, which generally brings forth an amicable reaction from people whom one contacts. It happens very often that a person who is less endowed with ability than another in the field of commerce, but who has a pleasant and friendly manner, will forge ahead faster than the person possessing greater efficiency. How much more certain then is progress when there is, as here, a combination of charm and competence. A favorable Venus has the power to eliminate many of the snags and obstacles which one might encounter in the arena of Big Business where agreeableness, as anywhere else, "pays off".

It will be seen in this chart that a square between Venus and Saturn does not specifically preclude the acquisition of material gains. Rather, it could indicate a fear of spending money freely and point to the idea of holding on to it because of worry about future security. The South Node, which is of the nature of Saturn, is in the second house and in sextile (harmonious) aspect to Neptune. This indicates gain through any business in which the watery element (Neptune) is involved. It will be noted that Sagittarius is on the cusp of the ninth house (law and foreign affairs) and its ruler Jupiter is in the third house connected with transportation. Also Mercury, the ruler of the third, is trine Neptune (connected with the ocean). These aspects "fit" perfectly, as the native is a lawyer and a partner in an admiralty law firm, which represents commercial shipping companies. Again, we see that the inharmonious aspect of Venus, the ruler of the seventh house of partnership, has not been effective in this area.

The harmonious trine between the Sun in the first house (personality) and Saturn in the fifth house (entertainment and social activities) could be employed to good avail, in connection with his other work, as "social contact man" - an excellent channel through which to counteract the stress aspect of Venus square Saturn. The aforementioned square to Saturn through its placement in the fifth house, which is connected with children and the personal emotions, could bring its force to bear in either or both of these areas.

The trine of the Sun to Saturn is one of the most important focal points in this discussion, since from it the native derives organizing and executive ability, perseverance, order, and diplomacy - all prime requisites for reaching the top and staying there. Furthermore, Saturn in Leo bestows favor from influential people and much that would otherwise have to be striven for, comes easily. This harmonious aspect of the Sun and Saturn is especially helpful in maintaining equilibrium in this chart by subduing the potential rashness and impulsiveness of the Aries Sun and Ascendant and the conjunction of Mars and the Sun. The Sun/Saturn trine also imparts trustworthiness, moral stamina and fair-mindedness - traits which an employer would welcome as valuable assets in his employees. The benefic rays of the warm life-giving Sun upon the conservative cold Saturn produces a slow but steady process of inner growth and expansion, and the resultant insight and depth of character become instruments for the acquisition of a highly rewarding career. It will be noted that Saturn is retrograde, or moving in an apparent backward motion. It has been said that retrograde planets work inwardly and hamper the material advancement, while bringing about spiritual development. Hence, the free flowing movement of an aspect in which a planet is retrograde may be lessened to a certain extent.

The Aries Ascendant, with the Sun, Mars and Venus in the first house, has created a person who is tall (about six feet), with reddish hair (Mars influence), and who is quite handsome and youthful in appearance (Venus and Sun influence).

Mercury, the Sun and Mars are in a stellium formation (three or more planets in a sign). A stellium is a configuration of power and gives the result of a force working as a combined or consolidated energy. Mercury is the planet of the mind, the Sun represents Spirit, and Mars denotes the physical expression or desire. Thus we have these three parts of man's nature functioning in this chart together and at close range. The position of the Sun in the center is significant. This aspect may be said to form a symbolic pyramid, with the Sun at the apex and Mercury and Mars forming the base. The stellium is further strengthened by the inclusion of the Ascendant (18 degrees 58 minutes of Aries) which is connected with the physical body and the personality. Consequently, the strength and power of the three-way stellium is offered an unobstructed avenue of manifestation and it becomes one of the most vital spots in the chart.

This stellium is linked still further with Saturn, as the Sun and Saturn are within a one degree trine. This would bestow added stability and significance through the cohesive quality of Saturn, activating the Sun. This activation would in turn radiate forth to Mercury and Mars, which flank the Sun on either side.

The trine of Saturn to Mars is an excellent aspect for business success, as it gives sustained drive, ambition and energy. In addition, Saturn is the natural as well as actual ruler of Capricorn, which is placed on the Midheaven (the career and those in authority).

Mercury (the planet of the mind) rules the third house (which is also connected with the mental processes) and is conjunct the Ascendant, which creates a keenly intelligent mind and gives fluency of speech and writing ability. However, because Mercury is in Aries, which is a cardinal or movable sign, its placement in the twelfth house of restriction, and its retrograde motion, may result at times in inability to express oneself lucidly. This will be mitigated by the fact that Mercury is ahead of the Sun, and will add to its potential strength. The square between Mercury and Jupiter is also indicative of a mentality which vacillates and wavers and this will presumably take place on occasion. However, the trine aspect of Mercury and Saturn would aid in reducing the possible ill effects of this square.

The Virgo Moon is discriminating, analytical and adept at work involving detail. As Virgo is under the rulership of the mental planet Mercury, although it is an earth sign, it takes on a mental coloring from Mercury. Virgo is the sign of utility and when well aspected, expresses itself in unselfishness and devotion in the realm of service. A favorable Virgo also imparts tact and patience and makes the mind receptive and penetrating. Practicality and method are the trademarks of Virgo. These traits are accentuated by the placement of the Moon in Virgo in the sixth house of service.

From the trine of the Moon to the Midheaven we could anticipate harmonious relationships with the employer and recognition from those who are in a position to offer help. On the other hand, the Moon opposes Uranus and we may therefore expect some disappointment and failures, which might come about as a result of the native's erratic or intolerant behaviour.

Rising above all the other aspects of the chart in connection with success in a business career is the powerful planetary picture of the two "Lights", the Sun and the Moon, i.e., the trine of the Sun (prominence, executive capacity) to Saturn (authority, responsibility), the ruler of the Midheaven (career and superiors); and the trine of the Moon (growth and expansion) to the Midheaven. With this as a firm foundation, all other aspects in the chart are secondary and contributory.

There is a T-cross in the chart involving the Midheaven, Mercury and Jupiter. This, while being a formidable aspect, lends strength and produces a challenge, which is not all feared by Aries.

To counterbalance this, we have the conjunction of Pluto with Jupiter, an extremely weighty influence in dispensing the qualities of leadership, prominence and affluence. As this conjunction is posited in the third house, it would contribute depth (Pluto) and expensiveness (Jupiter) to the mentality. Pluto is trine Uranus, which is in the eleventh house of friends the natural house of Uranus and could provide an endowment of help from friends, sometimes unexpected and sudden (Uranus), and they could be very beneficial in helping him to attain his hopes and wishes (Uranus in eleventh house). The conjunction of Pluto with Jupiter (the Greater Benefic) would be accentuated by this trine, as Jupiter is also trine Uranus. In addition to material benefits, this highly spiritual configuration would favor an interest in philosophy and the occult. Pluto is sextile the Moon, which is an indication of service (Moon in the sixth house) to the masses, in the field of food and utilities (sixth house), and also involving transportation (Pluto situated in the third house, and Jupiter ruler of the ninth house, foreign lands, placed in the third house). All of these items are connected with the native's work. Pluto sextile the Moon grants a psychic faculty and can be very useful in the commercial world, as well as anywhere else.

It is interesting to note the interplay of the harmonious and stress zones in the chart - a sort of "see-saw" effect, which serves to keep the chart on an even keel. One of the important "see-saw" areas is the trine of the Moon to the Midheaven (the cusp of the tenth house, connected with the employer or superior), while at the same time Jupiter and Pluto are opposing the Midheaven. Much of the pressure is taken off the opposition by the sextile (benefic) aspect of Jupiter to the Moon, which trines the Midheaven.

To sum up: - The attributes in the chart which mark the endowment of good fortune in a business career are executive and organizational ability, leadership, personal magnetism and the ability to get along with people, superior mental capacity, love of one's work, good judgment and foresight, perseverance, self dominion, resourcefulness, good appearance, and good health.

INTERESTING MIDPOINTS - II

By

GLORIA BARRET, LMAFA

A talk prepared for the 1964 AFA Boston Convention

The attempted Assassination Midpoint, Mars-midpoint-Neptune-midpoint-Uranus, and its associated Sensitive Point Mars-plus-Neptune-minus-Uranus, should be of special interest to Astrologers in the United States. The most recent assassination of a Nation's Ruler, President, or Prime Minister, previous to that of our own President Kennedy, is that of the Prime Minister of Ceylon, which occurred on September 25th, 1959. This Top Official of Ceylon, Mr. R. D. Bandaranaike, was born in Colombo, Ceylon, on January 8th, 1899, birthtime given as 9:00 A.M. India Standard Time. Banda, as he was familiarly called, attended Oxford University in England and, in 1925, after receiving a Degree in Law, returned to Ceylon. The Law Sign Sagittarius is emphasized in his Horoscope, by its occupation of his House of Profession, the 10th, and by its containment of his Midheaven and 4 Planets. Sagittarius also is related to Religion and to Foreign Travel, both of which were important in his life.

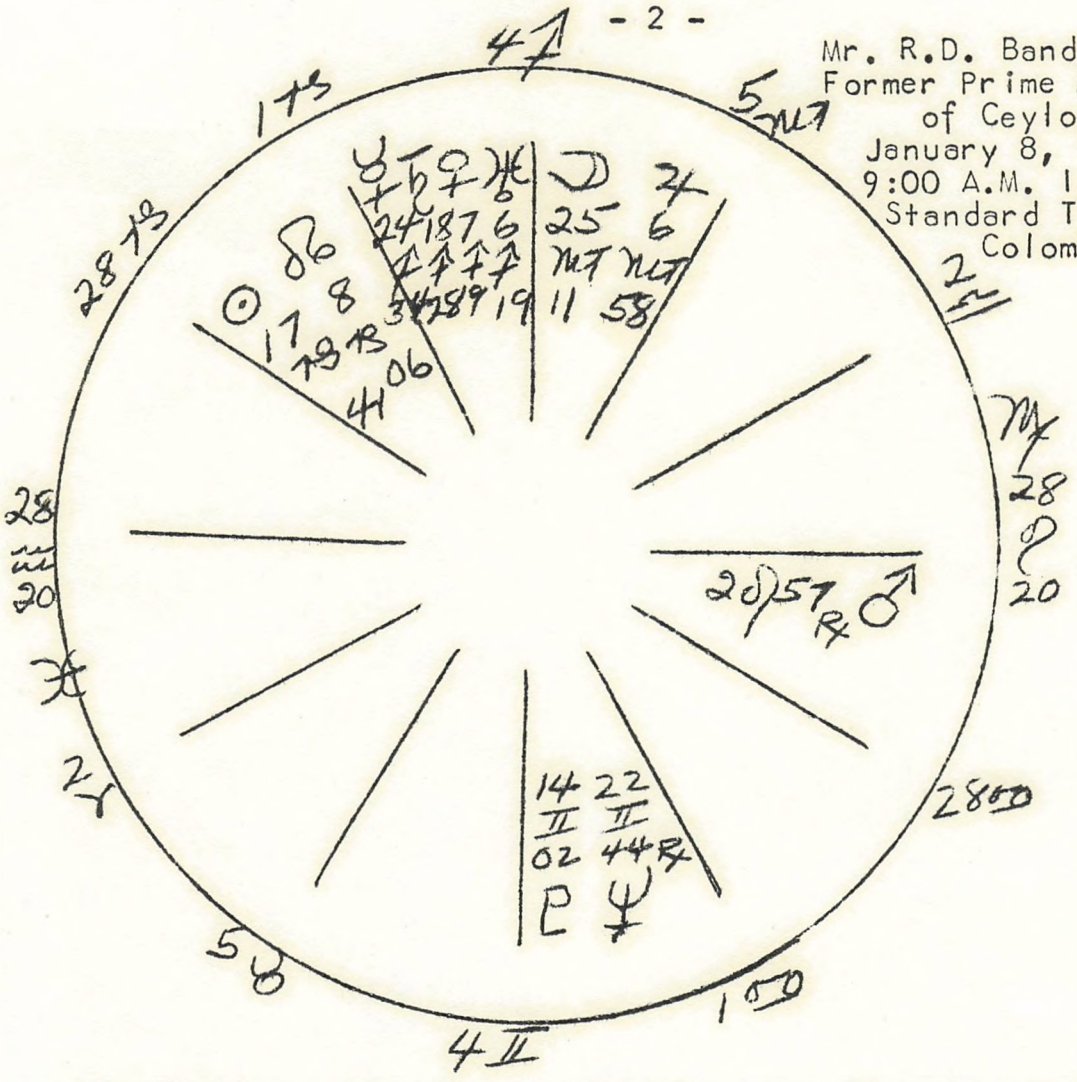

The Future Prime Minister, after his return from England, became interested in Ceylon's struggle for self-government, and joined Ceylon's National Congress Political Party.

Six of Native's ten Planets are in the Mutable, Wavering Signs Gemini and Sagittarius. His life was full of change. His Religion he changed from Christianity to Buddhism; his style of dress from the western type to that prevalent in India and neighboring countries. He made many changes from one political party to another. His political opponents are said to have recited the slogan:"We do not love you, Banda dear, because you change from Year to Year". Still another change, - after becoming Prime Minister in 1956, he obtained the change of the official language of Ceylon from English to Singhalese. Half of his Planets being in the fiery, sport-loving signs Sagittarius and Leo, the Native, while in England, won several tennis championships.

Bandaranaike's Political Planet Pluto and Mystery Planet Neptune both are situated in the Sign of Speech and Writing, Gemini, Neptune in that Sign being opposition Writing Planet Mercury, in his Occupation House, in the Sign of Publishing, Sagittarius. Native was the Author of several mystery stories and of a book on politics.

The Points and Midpoints of Jupiter-Midheaven, Jupiter-Uranus, Sun-Jupiter, and Jupiter-Pluto, when in Hard-Angle aspect with one of a Native's Personal Points are liable to bring to him, Good Fortune. When Native became Prime Minister Minister of Ceylon, on April 12th, 1956, Transiting Sun, in 22 to 23 Aries, squared his Directed Personal Point the Moon in 23:07 Capricorn, both of them aspecting his Directed Sun-plus-Jupiter Point, indicative of Success and Good Fortune, in 22 Libra 35; Sun, Moon and that Fortunate Point all being in aspect with Native's Natal Venus in his House of High Public Position, the 10th.

The assassination of this Prime Minister occurred on September 25th, 1959, when his Natal Attempted Assassination Point, in 20 Aquarius 22, was being aspected by both his Directed planet of Death, Saturn, in 19 Aquarius 51, and by Transiting Uranus in 19½ Leo. Signification: Sudden Assassination Attempt resulting in Death. His wife, born on April 17th, 1916, was nearly 43½ years old at the time of her Husband's tragic death. Mrs. Bandaranaike's Natal Chart has her Husband-Significator, the Sun, in her 8th House, her House of Death, (in 27 Aries 08), sesqui-squared by Attempted Assassination Point (in 14 Sagittarius 05) so his Death by Assassination is indidated even in her Horoscope. Mrs. Bandaranaike herself became Ceylon's Prime Minister in 1960, the year following his assassination. Her birthchart, given in the Astrological Magazine published in India by B. V. Raman, was erected by Astrologer P. Kandiak, according to the so-called Fixed Zodiac, employing he states, an ayanamsa of 27 degrees, 10 minutes. The Chart we are using is a conversion of that chart into a western type horoscope by adding to the positions he gives, 27 degrees and 10 minutes.

Mrs. Bandaranaike's Natal Assassination Attempt Point (14 Sagittarius 05) at the time of her Husband's assassination, was being sesqui-squared by both her Directed Ascendant (21 Libra 39) and by the Directed Cusp of her Husband's House (in 29 Aries 39). Her Directed Mercury (in 12 Gemini 06) aspecting both her Natal Mars-Saturn Midpoint of Death, and, in her House of Death (the 8th) her Husband-Significator the Sun, is representative of the fact that his death was planned and intentional, Mercury to that Death-Significator pointing toward a Death either by Suicide or Murder. That indication was intensified by the fact that her Directed Husband-Significator, the Sun, in 9 Gemini 08, then was sesqui-squaring her Natal point of Death-by-Intention (in 24 Libra 52) with that same Death-by-Intention Point then by direction in 6 Sagittarius 52 squaring her Natal Part of Fortune (7 Pisces 19), this latter aspect being indicative of the powerful effect which her Husband's Death had upon Her Own Fortunes. Transiting Pluto also, at that time, being sesqui-square her Directed Part of Fortune, too, is significant of the Power and Influence acquired because of her Husband's Death by Murderous Assault.

Native, at the age of 44 years, 3 months, and 5 days, on July 22nd, 1960, became the first Woman Prime Minister of Ceylon, perhaps the first Woman Prime Minister in the Whole World - at least the selection of a Female Prime Minister is a very rare occurrence.

Fortunate Points and Midpoints of her Horoscope aspected on that date are: Natal Jupiter-plus-Midheaven, fortunate for Realization of a Goal or for Attainment of a High Position, (in 4 Cancer 32), was being semi-squared by Transiting Uranus (in 20 Leo 02). Her Natal Jupiter-midpoint-Uranus, generally significant of important or Lucky Change, Event, or Circumstance, (in 17 Virgo 15), was being semi-squared by her Directed Personal Point and High Position Significator the Midheaven (in 1 Leo 58) and by Directed Node (in 16 Pisces 58) signifying an Important New Relationship or Connection. Her Natal Jupiter-midpoint-Pluto, fortunate for attainment of Power, Authority, or Wealth (in 23 Taurus 28), squared by Directed Saturn (23 Leo 35) brought Added Responsibilities. Natal Jupiter-plus-Uranus, Unexpected or Outstanding Good Fortune, semi-squared by her Directed Part of Fortune (20 Aries 07 to 4 Pisces 31), and her Directed Jupiter-midpoint-Uranus (0:03 Scorpio) and her Directed Ascendant (0 Scorpio 27) both aspected by Transiting Success Planet the Sun, in 0 Leo.

Also, the Transiting Planet of Power and Authority, Pluto, in 4 Virgo 40, was aspecting, by sesqui-square, the Native's Directed Part of Fortune, Directed Moon-plus-Ascendant-minus-Sun (in 20 Aries 07) which, by then, had reached a position in her House of Inheritance, the 8th. The new Female-Prime-Minister actually inherited, from her Husband, her highly authoritative position, since she became Prime Minister of Ceylon without any election contest.

Returning to one of our main interests, the Assassination Attempt Point and Midpoint, all of our U.S. assassinated Presidents and all of our Presidents against whom assassination has been attempted, have in their Natal Charts, the Point or Midpoint of Attempted Assassination in Hard-Angle aspect with one of their Personal Points (Midheaven, Ascendant, Sun or Moon position).

President Kennedy's Assassination Attempt Midpoint, in 24 Libra 38, squares his Natal 23 Cancer 45 Midheaven. His Assassination Attempt Sensitive Point, in 27 Libra 25, squaring natal Saturn, a Death Significator, indicates a probability of Death as the result of an assassination attempt. Mars, a Fire-Arms Planet, situated in his 8th House close to its cusp, in Taurus, the Sign associated with the Cerebellum, upholds the statement of Doctors that the immediate cause of Kennedy's death was the shot which penetrated his brain in the region of the Cerebellum.

Abraham Lincoln's Natal Attempted Assassination Point, in 22 Scorpio 26, squares his natal Sun, 23 Aquarius 16.

President Garfield's Attempted Assassination Midpoint, (13 Capricorn 04), squares his 14 Libra 51 Ascendant, while corresponding Sensitive Point, in 19 Libra 36, is square his 17 Cancer 25 Midheaven.

President McKinley's Attempted Assassination Point, in 10 Libra 54, semi-squares his 25 Scorpio 27 Midheaven.

Franklin Roosevelt's Midpoint of Attempted Assassination, in 26 Cancer 40, semi-squares his 11 Gemini 41 Midheaven; that same Midpoint in President Truman's Natal Chart in 20 Leo 35, is square his 18 Taurus 39 Sun.

Regarding the Ceylon Prime Ministers' Charts and Castro's certain Midpoints and aspects including the Uranian System's Trans-Neptunians also are interesting, but for this a longer article would be required.

This DATA EXCHANGE is made possible through the cooperative effort of members of AFA. It was begun in the October 1953 issue of the AFA Bulletin. For explanation, see that issue (Vol. 15, No. 10). The material is submitted for the archives of members of the AFA. Many of these horoscopes have been submitted by members and we do not have the staff available to check the accuracy of all calculations. Errors, therefore sometimes have crept in as evidenced by our horoscope file numbers. Hence, from time to time, we include an Errata for corrections brought to our attention. Forms will be gladly furnished on request, upon which data and case histories can be filed with AFA. The case numbers show the positions of Sun, Moon and Ascendant in that order, and the individual number of that threefold classification. For instance, 110709-14 has the Sun in Aquarius (11), the Moon in Libra (07), and the Ascendant in Sagittarius (09), and -14 shows it is the 14th chart with this Sun - Moon - Ascendant combination.

He will understand that what is gained by force may become a curse instead of a blessing, and why the so-called glories of ancient Rome became so many daggers at her throat when the results of her deeds brought her to earth. Let the native prove his power in a greater way than by contention. Let him clear his mind and control himself if he can. It is a symbol of Militancy.
