CO-AUDIT TO COMPLETE GRADE IV WHILE ON THE SHSBC

Emphasis on Application

Improves SHSBC Training

Students have co-audited since the course began in 1961. As full ability to APPLY the tech is the purpose of the course, as of now:

BOTH THEORY AND PRACTICAL ARE DONE EACH DAY.

Level V gives the full theory in date order of issue, while the Level VI checksheet gives the practical drills. To balance these, the student will now work on theory the first part of the day and practical the second part.

AUDITING

Students AUDIT what is drilled on a co-audit with fellow students. The student may audit the public (but not pcs already being audited at an HGC) free if no students are available who need the action.

ABILITY TO APPLY

Every SHSBC student proves his ability as a fully competent Class VI Auditor before graduation.

Tape-recording of TRs and process drills as well as closed circuit TV demonstration sessions are required.

The SHSBC checksheet will be revised in due course to better express this in checksheet form. Meanwhile, theory and practical are handled as above since there is no change in course content.

GRADES NOT PREREQUISITE!

You can start NOW!

You need not be Grade IV to start the SHSBC.

After completing Academy levels at your local Church of Scientology, you may enroll on the SHSBC and complete your co-auditing while on the course. You receive your Grade VA (Power) at any time before graduation.

MORE GAINS FOR CLEARS

Clears have traditionally started the Briefing Course without Academy training. The renewed emphasis on auditing by the student on the course makes it easier for a CLEAR to become a fully professional auditor with lots of practical experience.

THE PROFESSIONAL'S COURSE IN SCIENTOLOGY

The SHSBC is THE professional course in Scientology. It makes an auditor who really knows his tech and can apply it to help Clear the planet, being highly effective in whatever he does. This is now a certainty for every student.

YOUR ABILITY TO GET FANTASTIC RESULTS:

The Mission of the Saint Hill Special Briefing Course

by L. Ron Hubbard

If you don't get results, all the publicity and good opinion in the world will do nothing. Your standard is quality, not opinion. From quality opinion stems.

The more better people you turn out the better this world will be and that is the end of it. It goes no further than this.

You're dealing with living beings. When you make a living being that can really function effectively in the society you don't have to show people what you can do. Things will get DONE. You put him out there in the society, and he's happy as a clam about what you've done for him and he's happy as a clam about what he's doing. You're building a society—you're not trying to "show" a society that you are doing something.

The final analysis of an auditor is not what a good press agent he is but how well he can audit. The final analysis of an organization is not what a good press department it has but how well it can train and process people. There is no further test.

Finance, the amount of money a person makes, is some index of success. It always is in this society. I don't care how many rabble rousers are going around saying people who make money are no good, it is always an index of a certain amount of service, the amount of money a person makes. But look, if it is NOT an index of service then it must be dishonest money.

So the basic mission is the delivery of quality in service. And that is the only mission we've got. Now if we do this, and if we ourselves in the process get the bonus of getting Clear, this gets to be pretty darn terrific.

You've got the fundamental building blocks under a new civilization. You haven't got a bunch of rickety props holding up a rickety civilization. How many wars have we had within our own memories? It's quite numerous, isn't it. War is a symptom of insanity. Do you think you can bolster this thing up? I'm afraid not. But you CAN lay the fundamentals and foundations of a new civilization—not a new order, a brand new thing. Not by saying to people "you must do so-and-so and you mustn't do so-and-so or we are going to shoot you." That is the old pattern. But by actually having in their midst people who actually do know what they're doing and who are not guided by their aberrations. Now if that thing all by itself could happen you'd get a new civilization.

It isn't up to us to tell people what kind of a civilization they should have. It is more up to us to put it in their reach to have one. And that's what Man has never been able to do before.

The whole mission of the Special Briefing Course at Saint Hill is making people able to get RESULTS. And if we don't do that then we have failed utterly. That's the whole mission.

How do you get to be a superb auditor? It's just by knowing all the little parts and just knowing them perfectly.

That's what it takes to become a master of the craft. And don't think you're going to get results, real honest-to-god results, if you're anything less.

You have broadly, broadly workable technology. But at the same time we inherit along with it a precision of application which knows no second class. All of the various points which make precision in auditing must be actually precise.

When you sit down across from an auditor who does his E-Metering so well that he never worries about an E-Meter, he does his TRs so well that he never worries about his TRs, he knows what he is supposed to do with the processes he is given, and he does just these things—and honest, as a pc you just say "Gosh. It's so easy. I am so comfortable sitting here being audited." How come? Is it because the auditor was born the seventh son of the seventh son? Is it some fantastic presence of some kind?

It doesn't happen to be either of these things. It would be because the auditor knew the little points of auditing absolutely perfectly, did them as a whole with perfection so that he was under no tension by reason of auditing, because he knew all the parts, and could then apply fundamentals to what he was doing.

And you yourselves, if you learn your business here, will go home and you'll sit down and start to audit somebody—somebody that you used to audit—and they'll say "My god, what happened to you?" And there really wasn't anything that happened to you except you were doing less. And You were doing it much less arduously that you used to do.

And the results just fly. Nothing to it. You finish up two, three, four hour sessions, perfectly calm, you'd just as soon audit another two or three hours—you're under no tension, you're under no not-know.

First and foremost attaining any result requires a technology. Well, we have those technologies.

You also have to get a confidence that when you sit down and audit somebody by these technologies he is going to get a result. So that takes the last not-know out of it—is the pc going to gain or win? And what you're doing today, if you keep doing it right the pc keeps winning, the pc just wins, that's all, the pc goes on winning and you all of a sudden get confident of the fact that if you audit, the pc's going to win. Bang. That's all there is to it. You win, the pcs win, everybody wins. That's the final tension that goes out of it.

And after that, the results you could get in auditing are just fantastic.

And frankly, that's what I expect you to learn how to be able to do—to audit like a master before you get out of here.

An Interview with a Class XII Auditor

How Ron's Remarkable Briefing Course Increases a Thetan's Abilities

The following is an interview with a Class XII Auditor about the emphasis on application in Briefing Course training, and about the gains of training for the individual across his dynamics.

Q. How do you feel students doing more auditing is going to affect Briefing Course training?

A. It makes the course a totally professional course where the person applies material on a day-to-day basis. It takes him out of the realm of being a student and puts him into the actuality of being a professional auditor right there on the course.

The way you make auditors is by having them audit—you'll never make an auditor just by having him be a student. He has to apply the material.

Q. What is the major change that occurs in a person between the level of Class IV and Class VI?

A. Well, let's face it, the Academy levels are bare minimum, rocket fast courses to get a guy able to apply the processes of the level and to understand them enough so that he can apply them. But in terms of giving him a full understanding of the subject, no, they don't do that—they're not intended for it. A Class IV could become a professional by doing lots and lots of auditing, and lots and lots of cramming for an endless amount of time, you know, with a lot of study of Briefing Course materials—and essentially he'd be covertly doing the Briefing Course! You're not going to make a full professional out of a Class IV. Because a real pro has a command of the subject that is a total command, and an understanding of everything that's occurring on a minute-to-minute, second-to-second basis in the session.

On the Briefing Course, you gain a total understanding of what's happening on both sides of the meter.

Q. As a person who's seen a lot of pcs and students on the route to Clear, what would you say are the benefits of the training route?

A. On a first dynamic basis, you get a total personal case stability. Ron says 50% of your gain is from training and 50% from processing. It's not 100% gains just from processing. Training gives you a stability and an ability to understand and deal with your own mental matter, energy, space and time.

It's incredibly cheaper. If a person had a lifetime membership discount, it would cost him $500 for each 12½ hour intensive of auditing. So 1½ intensives—that's Flag-trained Class XII Auditor (provisional), Ron Shafran, talks about the importance of increasing one's abilities through the Saint Hill Special Briefing Course.

19 hours—would be the equivalent of the cost of the whole Briefing Course. There's just no comparison.

Plus a person cannot help but be OT, doing the training route.

Q. Why is that?

A. It's because you're given a full understanding of the physical universe and the mind and people and how it all works and fits together and how to handle it. What else do you need? You don't need anything else, other than doing it, and the course provides you with that too.

To be honest, I'd hate to go up the processing route and have no more tech when I'd arrived at the other end.

Training gives you the ability to handle others and the physical universe. It takes you that much closer to full OT.

Q. How about from the viewpoint of Scientology across the planet—what is the importance of people getting trained?

A. The economics of it are really simple.

An auditor makes pcs who go Clear. The pc just gets auditing. You can't clear the planet with pcs—you have to clear a planet with auditors. One auditor could be responsible for—we'll take a very modest figure—5 people going Clear in a year. If you start multiplying it you'll get the idea of how many auditors would be needed. If you just made pcs you'd have nobody to clear anyone except a handful.

And you certainly wouldn't be able to clear a planet if you didn't have professionals, Briefing Course graduates. Simply because you wouldn't have someone who had a full understanding of the tech to a point of really owning it personally and being able to evolve it himself.

Besides, what if somebody ended up on another planet? If a person were a pc, what could he do? Well, he could tell about his wins.

But if he were an auditor—and he really understood the tech—he could clear the planet.

Q. As far as this planet is concerned, if there were more Class VIs what difference would it make to the progress of Scientology?

A. A Class VI is a person who understands the value of training, so he will be responsible either directly or indirectly for the creation of more lower level auditors and for getting more auditors up to the level of Class VI.

The more Saint Hill graduates you have the more auditors you will have in your area. An OT can't operate alone—it's not possible in a world as insane as this one—he would end up having more around him. And a Saint Hill graduate always draws auditors. His presence in an area will result in more auditors springing up in that area, getting trained, wanting to get trained, because he brings to the area power, responsibility, efficiency and a real ability to deliver results.

Q. What would you say is the potential for a person to make a successful career as a professional auditor?

A. First of all the demand for auditors far exceeds the supply. I could take 10 auditors right now and introduce them to just the local area and they would be hired within a day. We need far more auditors, especially professional auditors.

A person is not going to leave the Briefing Course until he IS a professional, until he knows his material and can apply it, until he is worthy of the title of Hubbard Senior Scientologist, Briefing Course graduate. So he has a total assurance of being trained.

Because of the demand for auditors, he would have no difficulty at all earning a good living. An auditor is a very valuable person, a professional able to take his place in the community. There's an unlimited future and expansion in it—we still have a way to go to Clear the planet!

Q. How would you say that the satisfaction involved in being an auditor compares with other things you could be doing?

A. I've been a professional auditor, or been supervising other auditors, for 7 years.

I don't see how a person who genuinely wants to change conditions and help others could be satisfied doing anything else than being an auditor or a staff member who makes it possible for auditing to occur. Because he's constantly reaping the "benefits" of the civilization and these are none too pleasing. If a person doesn't have the technology at his fingertips to change it then he will be frustrated in his attempts and will not be winning in life.

There is a winning way, and it's by becoming a professional auditor. You know the mechanics of the human mind and the physical universe, and you have a total command fo the subject of Scientology so that you can change these conditions for the better.

It's also a matter of personal survival—I can't see anyone really fully surviving without the tech.

New level of CERTAINTY the Incredible Class VI C/S Course

The new Class VI C/S Course is causing a lot of excitement among auditors of all classes at ASHO.

Every line on this intensely practical course is geared to what a C/S needs to know with CERTAINTY to be successful as a C/S.

The 30 page checksheet includes study of the administrative lines a C/S needs as well as a thorough study of Ron's books and HCOBs.

Each part of the checksheet is a precise balance of mass, significance and doingness that consults the student's understanding. The course also includes apprenticeship under the Flag-trained C/Ses at ASHO.

Here are a few random examples of demonstrations done by the student on the course:

"How aberration begins." "How do you select what the pc is to be run on." "Why a person would want sympathy." "What happens if the pc completes a grade and is then too long in beginning the next one."

The result of this course is a C/S with a level of certainty on the tech far above any ever attained before, a C/S who can keep Ron's tech working on all cases with maximum gains.

To do the course one must only be a Briefing Course graduate and have completed internship as a Class VI. This puts professional certainty on C/Sing within the reach of any student.

The Class VI C/S Course is given only at ASHO for the Western Hemisphere. (Class IV C/S Course is not prerequisite.)

Roger Bernot (right) receives award for community service from the then-Mayor Yorty.

O.T. Boosts Southern California Business

Roger Bernot, OT II, was recently awarded a plaque by the mayor of Los Angeles for being a Southern California Booster.

Roger created a service called EXPERIENCE which researches information about area restaurants and entertainments. Anyone can call the service for answers to questions concerning where to go to find particular food or entertainment specialties.

Establishing a link between the consumer and the businesses offering service has made possible better communication between them, thus boosting business.

Roger is currently on the Primary Rundown at ASHO.

Lynn Roberts discovered an ability to play the electric organ after OT III.

Musician Frees Ability as O.T.

Lynn Roberts, OT VII, Class III found Scientology freed his abilities as an entertainer and musician.

Today he also has a radio show in Phoenix, Arizona which is about Scientology.

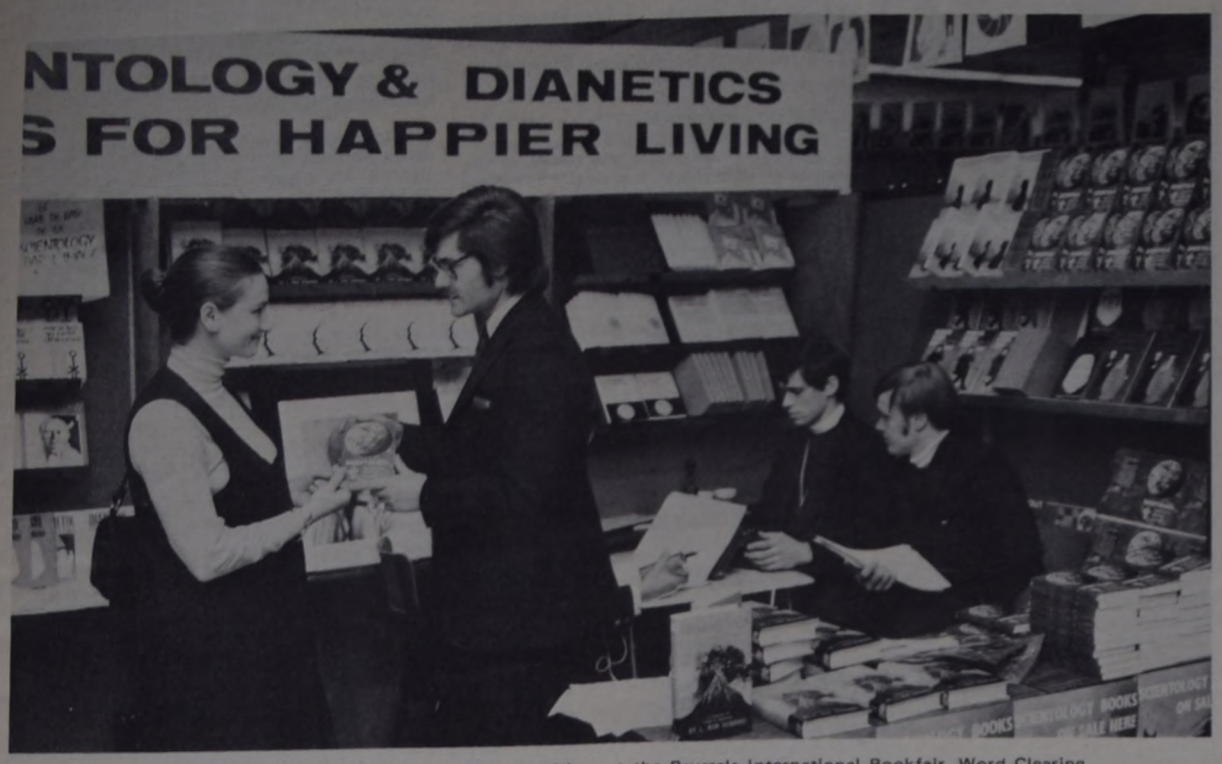

Having played with dance bands before 1965 when he got into Scientology, he observes: "Getting into Scientology made it possible for me to develop an act and to get out on my own and have the ability to succeed with it. Also, after OT III I realized I had the ability to play the electric organ, so I bought one and 3 months later was playing it professionally," Lynn says.

His entertainment act includes comedy, vocals, the organ, guitar, and woodwind instruments. Lynn has developed the unique ability to play two saxophones on two different tunes at the same time. He uses this as an example of the fact that a being can do more than one thing at a time.

He uses his entertainment act to make Scientology very safe for people to find out about.

Lynn is on the Primary Rundown in Phoenix in preparation for the Saint Hill Special Briefin g Course.

Donat Perbohner gives information to a visitor at the Brussels International Bookfair. Word Clearing demonstration is in progress behind them.

Brussels

Scientology Makes Big Impact at International Bookfair

This year the Scientology bookstand was one of the most crowded stands at the Brussels International Bookfair.

The Fair, one of the largest in the world, was held in March and attracted a record number of 132,000 visitors. Publishers, distributors, librarians, educators, students, authors and many other professionals and laymen gathered to look at, discuss, buy and sell the best that the world of books has to offer.

The Scientology bookstand displayed all of Ron's books on Scientology and Dianetics. Due to the location of the stand in the center of the hall, almost everyone who visited the Fair saw it.

Announcements in Flemish, French and English throughout the days of the fair informed visitors of word clearing demonstrations given by Scientology ministers using the E-Meter as an educational aid in study.

RTB (Brussels) television covered the bookfair and featured the Scientology bookstand. The word clearing demonstration that was filmed drew hundreds of interested onlookers.

A university professor remarked after a word clearing demonstration, "At last, this must be the answer to the problems in communication of ideas to students. I have always known you cannot teach anyone anything, the scholar must learn the materials himself."

Donat Perbohner of the Church of Scientology Worldwide Organization from England represented the Church with a presentation of Scientology and Dianetics books to Monsieur Coudell, the Minister for Brussels Affairs.

"The event was an unqualified success," Donat says of the Church's participation in the Fair. "I was there introducing one of the latest books on Scientology, 'Scientology 20th Century Religion' which was a sellout."

(Scientology 20th Century Religion summarizes the social involvement of Scientology in the world today. It explains the reasons for the startling growth and impact of Scientology, the fastest growing religious philosophy on the planet.)

College Professor Does the SHSBC

Jim Lark, Assistant Professor of Music at North Texas State University, Denton, Texas, is spending his summer vacation on the Saint Hill Special Briefing Course.

An OT III Expanded, Jim is studying full time to get through the course. "This is the most concentrated study I have ever done," he comments. "I'm putting in 7 days a week, 12-14 hours a day of effortless study. It would have been unthinkable 4 years ago—I would sit down in a library for 2 hours and I'd be falling asleep! All my inhibitions are out of the way since going Clear. All I have is the straight purpose and intention to get through the course."

He has been in education for 30 years. "I look at the way I taught 30 years ago and those spots where I was tearing my hair wondering what was wrong and why I wasn't getting anywhere and why these guys were so stupid—if I had the data then I'd have gotten a lot better results. I didn't have a clue about human behavior even though I'd had courses in educational philosophy and psychology," he comments.

In his work at the University, he applies Scientology data on study and simple basics of reach and withdraw on the instrument he teaches, the trumpet. He's looking forward to going back this fall to apply the new tech he has learned.

"The data that's on the Briefing Course can be applied anywhere. Actually, a guy who really hasn't any plans to be a professional auditor should take the Briefing Course. It's a master course for living."

He's finding that lots of the basics of auditing apply to giving trumpet lessons—or "trumpet sessions" as he has begun to think of them.

LRH Awards Auditor for Success in Israel

DR. SHAFEE GIVE'ON, senior lecturer in Mathematics at the University of the Negev, Israel, has just been awarded the Hubbard Integrity Course by L. Ron Hubbard for his application of Scientology to the field of education in Israel.

Yehoshafat Shafee Give'on, born in Tel Aviv, is now an OT IV and Class III Auditor, in addition to holding a Ph.D. from the University of Michigan.

While teaching at the University of the Negev, he has introduced Ron's tech into the instruction and administration of his department.

Since the appearance of the Data Series, issued by Ron in 1970, Shafee has been teaching its principles of logic, data, and reality in a very successful special University course.

"Immediately after OT IV," he explains, "I realized how simple admin is. Before, I used to shun away from it. Now, I take upon myself many administrative duties. I am in charge of the administration of the Department of Mathematics at our University and our department is the most productive department in the university. I had to introduce only basic admin, and the communication formula and I have got miracles on my hands. I have been appointed so many additional administrative posts and I am highly regarded by the top officials of the University. Admin is fun when you understand it and the only way to understand it is to get processed, to get trained and to get Ron's data."

He also runs a Scientology center in Beer-Sheva where he audits and supervises courses in Scientology.

"I found that my best dissemination is the success of my pcs and my Scientology students," He has had one difficulty—"My dissemination is 'too' successful. My friends demand more service than I can deliver, being the only trained Scientologist in my area."

But he will be handling this soon—he will be taking the Saint Hill Special Briefing Course up through Class VIII then setting up a full Church of Scientology for clearing Israel!

OT III Expanded JIM LARK, professor at North Texas State University and a teacher for 30 years, enjoys one of Ron's tapes on the Saint Hill Special Briefing Course at ASHO.

Here are 3 more reasons why you should buy Dianetics:®

The Modern Science of Mental Health by L. RON HUBBARD

1. "Before I read DIANETICS, I knew something was wrong but I didn't know what.

I got this book from the library at the suggestion of a friend. I got my wife to read it too.

It contained something to do, not just something to read about. We spent a lot of time testing the book, and we found it worked. It completely changed our lives and the direction we were going.

Before I read DIANETICS, I always 'believed.' I hoped. But I didn't KNOW. After DIANETICS, I really knew there was something there to be handled and that something could be done about it."

HERB SUTPHIN, now CLEAR and a professional auditor.

2. "One reads a book and applies it. And suddenly he finds he can change something or improve his environment and one is on his or her way."
L. RON HUBBARD

3. MONEY. You can pay your way to Clear from the FSM commissions you earn in helping your friends up the Bridge to OT. It all starts with DIANETICS.

Buy copies of DIANETICS in half dozen copy lots. Costs only $7 per book, that's $42 for six. With 10% HASI discount, $6.10 per copy, $37.80 for six.

FOCUS ON SUCCESS
THE SAINT HILL SPECIAL BRIEFING COURSE

Briefing Course student Nancy Walcott from San Francisco reads early Professional Auditors Bulletins by Ron.

I'd read the books before but it was all out of order. On the Briefing Course you get to read them in chronological order. You also have experience, data, practical knowledge behind it. When I read something now, I can say 'From experience I know so–and-so happens' and now I know why Ron said that–before it was much more confusing.

I'm reading the PABs (Professional Auditor's Bulletins) about processes I learned on the Academy Levels where I read a little bit of one PAB, or one PAB, on a process. Now I've read 4 or 5 on that same process. I get the whole rationale behind it.

I did the Power-Briefing Course package. Even though I got a tremendous discount–for a bargain you just can't beat it–I was treated just like a regular HGC pc! They give you really fast and good service here on Power.

Having Power motivates me even more strongly to keep going higher up. It's definitely a jumping off point to the higher processes. That coupled with the actual data of the Briefng Course puts me in more control of the environment.

It's a balance–they really go well together. I guess that's why there is the package deal. The data is very powerful, and then you also get the Power Processes!

I had always been a part time student. Coming to do the Briefing Course and taking the time to do a large course full time, day and night, is a big treat for me.
NANCY WALCOTT, from San Francisco

I am on my way to becoming a full OT–an OT with knowledge, certainty. Part I of the SHSBC is totally amazing–Ron knew everything (just about) in the '50s and what we have today is just a polished form. I've had incredible case gain, cognitions, abilities restored and EVEN MORE certainty on what Scientology is doing and why. This has been the most incredible study cycle I have EVER done and I've just begun.
SUE BASSETT, from Salt Lake City

OT Sue Bassett listens closely to an LRH tape lecture.

The SHSBC contains so much data it is just incredible–this has been the most exciting checksheet I have ever done and contains everything an auditor, and any Thetan, needs to make it!

It's a must for anyone who has any question about Scientology or Ron's intention.
ABBY KROWITZ, from Los Angeles
