▲ The goal of every Scientologist should be to get higher level training to increase his abilities. It is only at the New American Saint Hill Organization, the Center of Upper Level Training for the Western Hemisphere, that the final touches can be put to a Scientologist's already extensive skills.

Here a student across from you tells her supervisor (left) a new realization she has had. (The clay in the foreground is used by students to demonstrate ideas while studying.)

Here is the first of 11 packs you will be studying on Level V of the Saint Hill Special Briefing Course. The packs contain all of the Hubbard Communications Office Bulletins, and the data-packed Professional Auditors Bulletins in order of issue from No. 1, which is dated May 10, 1953.

Six more packs contain the Level VI section of the Briefing Course.

Assists In Scientology

By L. RON HUBBARD

DEFINITION: AN ASSIST: AN ACTION UNDERTAKEN BY A MINISTER TO ASSIST THE SPIRIT TO CONFRONT PHYSICAL DIFFICULTIES.

An assist is not normally done in a formal session. The way the term has been used is a very simple activity to relieve an immediate troublesome difficulty.

An assist is much more specifically and definitely anything which is done to alleviate a present-time discomfort.

The first moments of every formal session are an assist. Before you undertake a further auditing you usually perform an assist. If you are a very clever auditor you do it by scouting what has happened between sessions, or if the person has a present-time problem, for the handling of present-time problems as an auditing session is really wrong because it is addressed to a surface difficulty.

...dle the difficulty which is uppermost and foremost in the mind. A preclear may say: "Well, my wife and I had a fight. She threatened to commit suicide, and now she has a headache."

...wrong way to look at what he is saying is to think that it is the headache that is causing the trouble in the session and that you must cure her headache as she isn't present. The actual trouble in the session is his concern about her headache. So you run "problems of comparable magnitude" to relieve his mind to a point where he is quite comfortable and you can get on with the auditing. And that is actually what an assist is.

An assist could happen almost anywhere. At the beginning of a session, no matter how formally this session is constituted, you are running an assist.

You have an auditing room. You have a preclear, and you are the auditor. You know all these things, but the preclear doesn't.

Say you wanted to render an assist on somebody who had a very undefined difficulty. That is the hardest one to render an assist on. The person has a pain but he cannot say where. He doesn't know what has happened to him. He just feels bad. Use logistical processing on such. You will find out that this process will work when other processes fail.

An assist carries with it a certain responsibility. If you give an assist casually to somebody out in the public and do not shove a calling card in his pocket, you are making an error. The reason for this is that he will not know from whom and where help came. An auditor goes through life and he casts his shadow upon many people and they have really no cognizance of what has happened at all if he is rendering an assist. He, says, "Do this, do that"—maybe he wins, or maybe he loses because this is the type of session least calculated to produce orderly results. But in the main these people have been helped. They don't know really by what, except some word that the auditor kept saying. They don't even know that he is an auditor. They don't know anything about it at all. Show a person where he can obtain further assistance, and by whom the assistance was given.

Be yourself. Be positive. Be professional and definite. Have a calling card and make sure the card is easily enough understood. Don't ask them for permission. Just do it. No reason to wander around and give them fancy accents. If you are going to help some stranger out, help him out. Don't explain to him or any bystander, otherwise you are likely to stand there explaining, waiting for somebody's permission. Don't bother with that. You act as though you are the one in charge and you will be in charge. And this is part and parcel of the knowledge of how to do an assist. You have got to be the person in charge. This has to be so you-know-so far as you are concerned, that you overcome the informati... to a very marked degree. If you do it extremely w... amount to auditing.

Say, for example, there is a big accident and a cr... are pressing around. The police are trying to push the ... Well, push the people back and then push the policeman ... There are two routes to becoming eligible for the Saint Hill Special Briefing Course, the training route and the processing route.

If you have come the training route, you will have seen a very small part of the materials you are now studying when you did the Academy levels at your local Church. The Briefing Course is vital to a complete understanding of the tech to apply it to life and auditing. The answers to the many questions you have had are found on the Saint Hill Special Briefing Course.

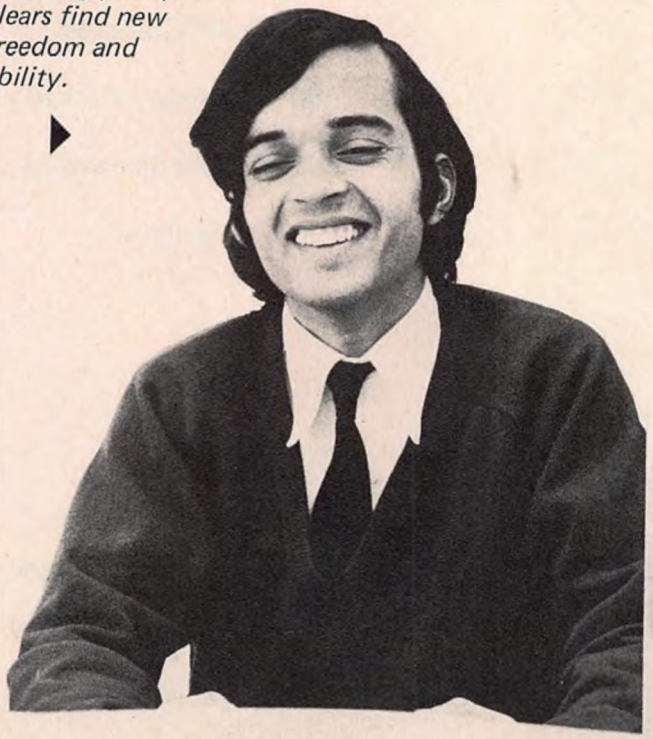

You also get your Power Processing at ASHO at the professional's 50% discount before you graduate, and are awarded the Grade VI materials free after graduation as a Class VI—so you will be all ready to go Clear!

If you have come the processing route, you'll find that as a Clear the full materials of Scientology are exactly what you need to expand the abilities gained from your processing. On this route you may start the Briefing Course as soon as you are Clear (without the Academy levels). (If you have not yet done the Primary Rundown to increase your ease and effectiveness of study, you may do this after OT level III).

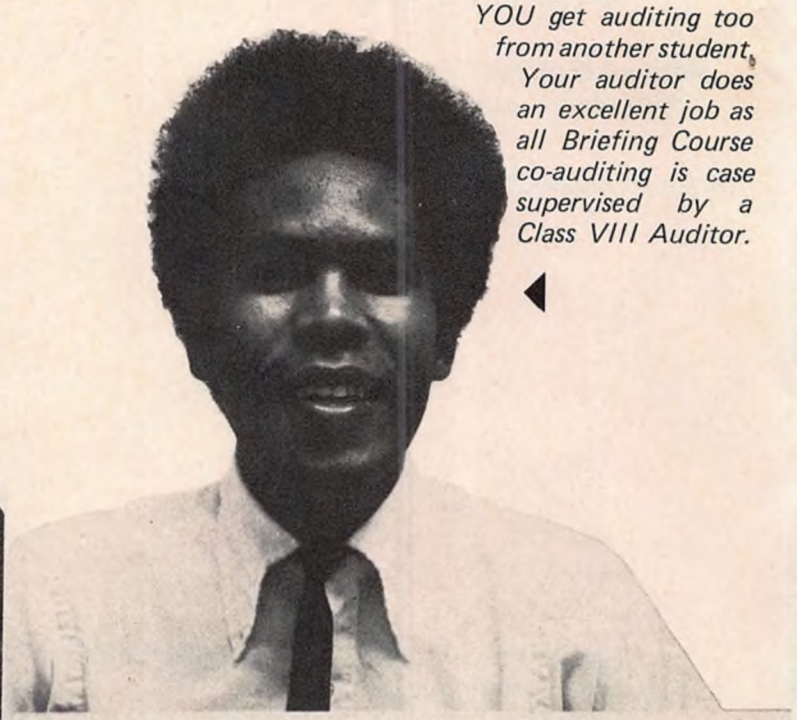

Your friendly supervisor gives you a target of how much to get done on your course each day and sees that you make good progress. You will be studying each of Ron's books along with your other materials as they come up in date order.

The Briefing Course isn't all theory though—you audit fellow students to apply the data as you're studying. You get the satisfaction of seeing your preclears find new freedom and ability.

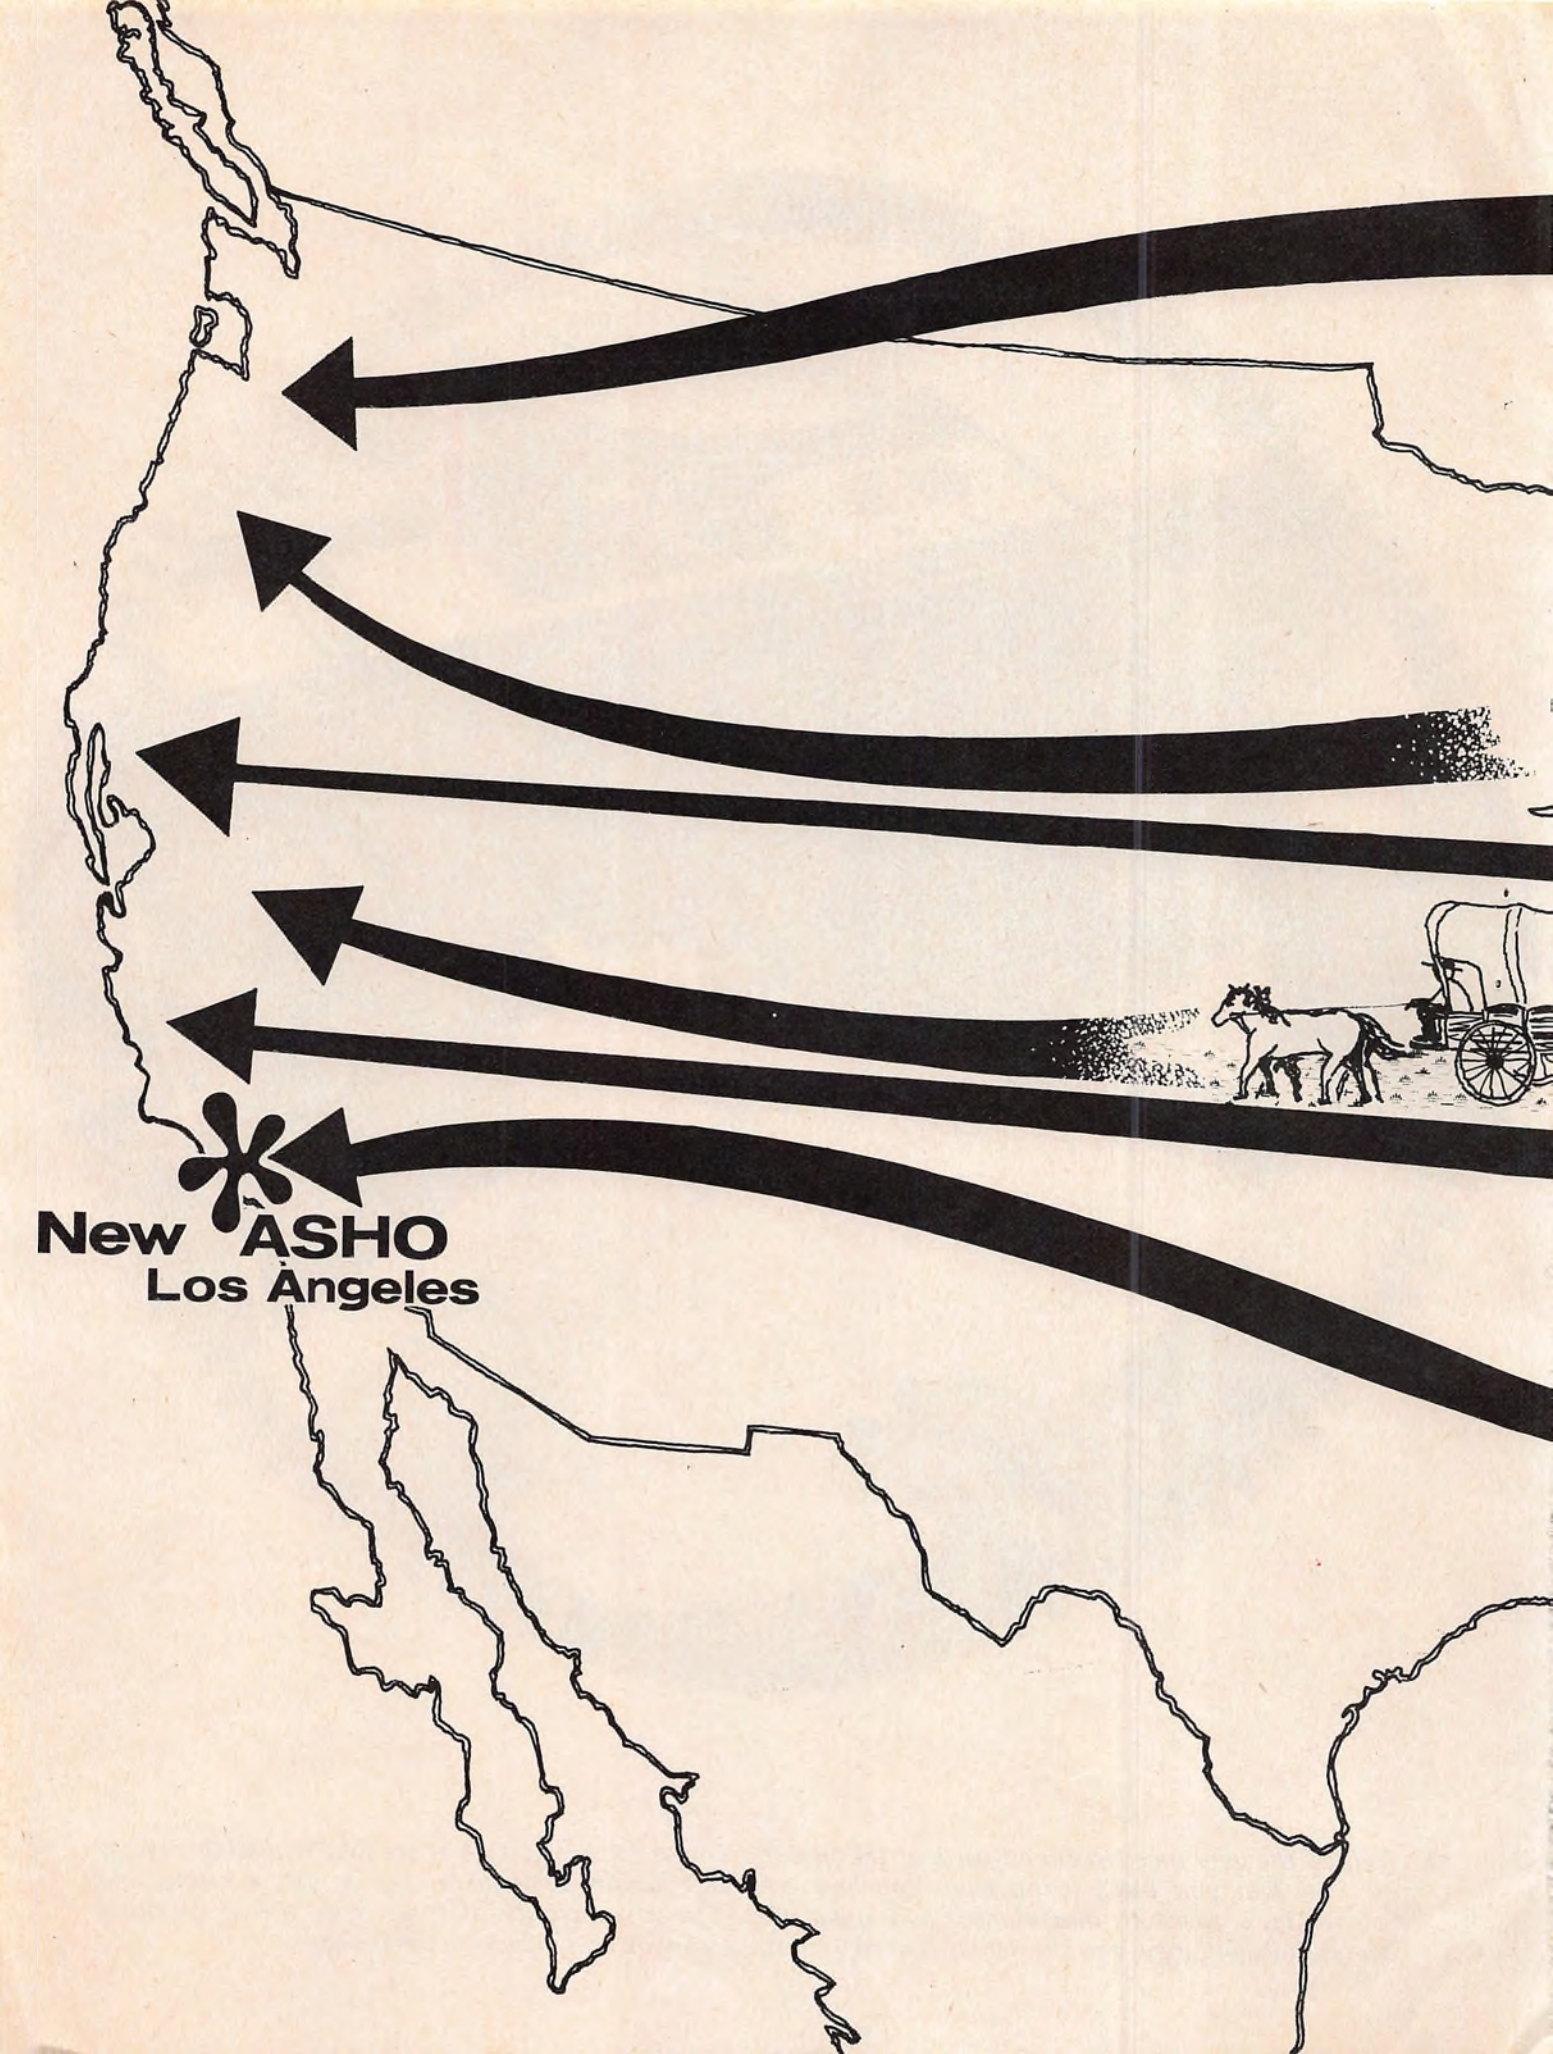

YOU get auditing too from another student. Your auditor does an excellent job as all Briefing Course co-auditing is case supervised by a Class VIII Auditor.

▲ Perhaps the very most treasured parts of the Briefing Course for every student are the fascinating lectures by Ron that you listen to on tape. You hear over 360 lectures containing data on life, auditing, and Scientology's research, development and application. The vast majority of these tapes are on no other course in Scientology, and the data is vital to your success in life and in helping other people.

New ASHO
Los Angeles

It's very natural to find yourself on the West Coast acquiring this wealth of data—the flow in the Western Hemisphere of those seeking truth, freedom and a better life has traditionally been from East to West. But whether pioneers, gold miners, flower children or other settlers, the troubles of life have always followed right along with them.

At last, on the Saint Hill Special Briefing Course, you are excited to find the truth you have long been seeking, and are not disappointed. . . . The only true wealth there is to be found is one's own knowledge and ability.

▲ Briefing Course students co-audit to complete their cases with the auditing they need. Many audit in the room itself. It is excellent training and a tradition since Ron began the Briefing Course at Saint Hill in England in 1961. The student auditor is observed, his right actions commended and his errors noted for correction after the session.

◀ Students tape record their auditing drills to improve their handling of auditing sessions. While listening to the tape, your fellow student validates a part you both agree was well done. Afterwards, you compare your tape to tapes of sessions made by L. Ron Hubbard.

▲ Closed circuit TV demonstrations build auditor confidence and polish. You are watching a live session and noting what the auditor does correctly and what should have been done better. Training by TV demonstration is unique to the Saint Hill Special Briefing Course.

◀ Everyone applauds at graduation on Friday for a Class VI Graduate! It is a great validation of your accomplishment and a great encouragement for the rewarding career that faces a Class VI Auditor.

After you complete your internship at ASHO as a Class VI Auditor, you may stay on for more advanced training, join staff, start your own Scientology mission, or apply Scientology to any other area to improve conditions.

Right at this moment, the Director of Training at New ASHO (specially trained on the Flagship, home of L. Ron Hubbard) is ready to have YOU start the Saint Hill Special Briefing Course, and give you the rules of the course and what you need to know as a student. . . .

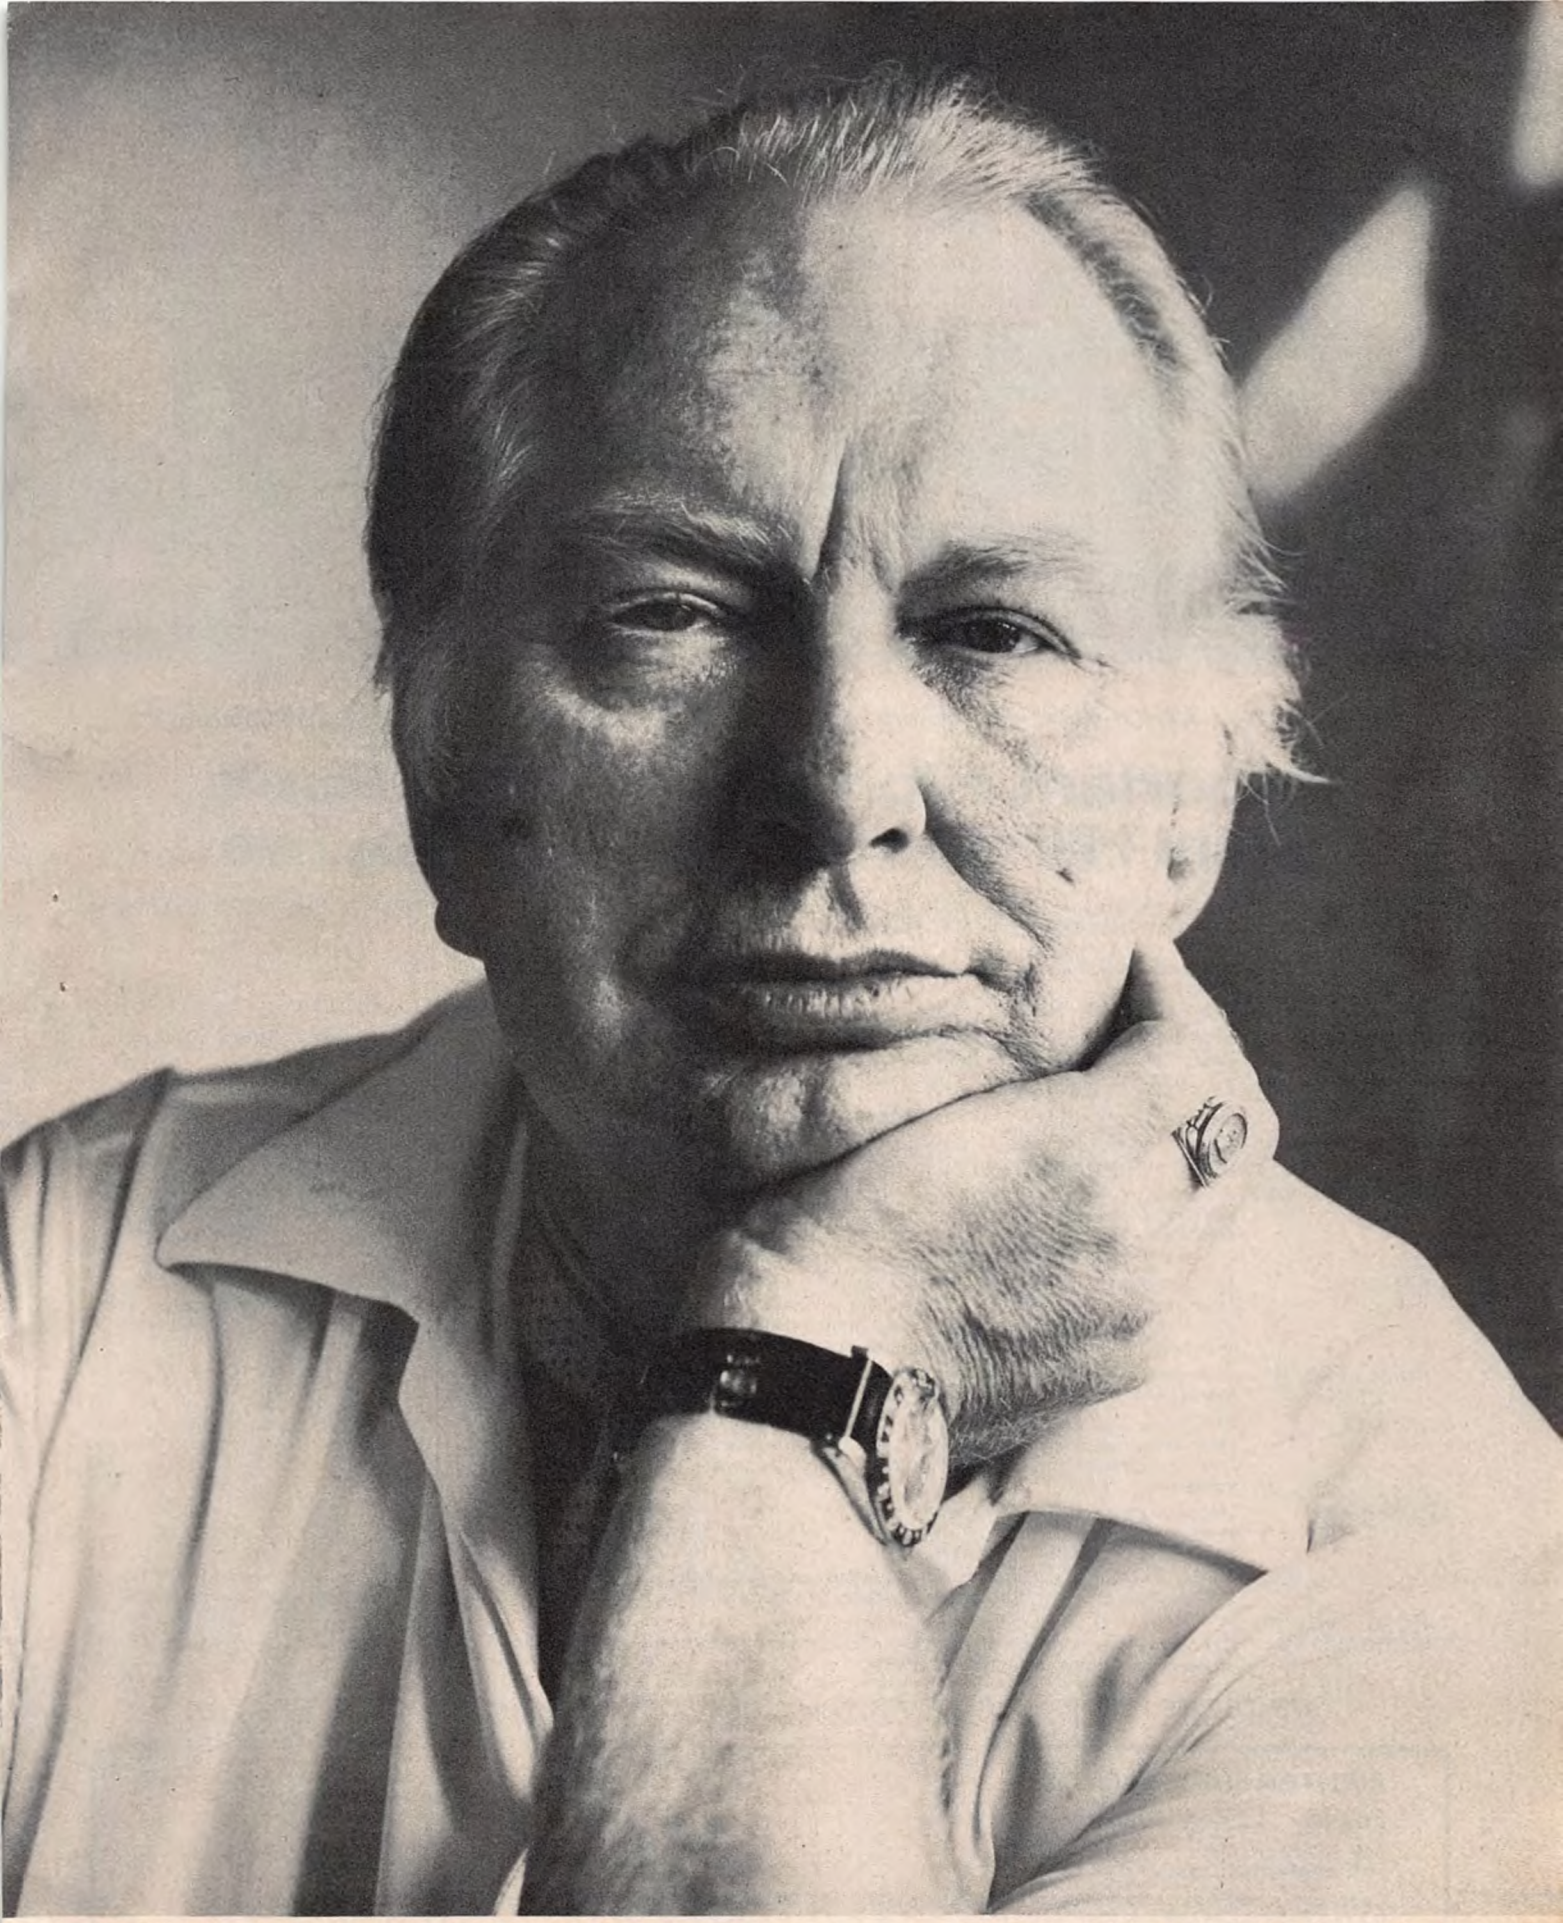

. . . and your Flag-trained supervisor is ready to welcome you on course and give you every assistance you may need.

▲ The way to make the Briefing Course and all its gains a reality for YOU is to write the Letter Registrar at ASHO today and say "I'd like to take the Saint Hill Special Briefing Course!" She'll see that you are enrolled and get here as soon as possible (which may be sooner than you think!).

Class VI Graduates apply Scientology in all areas of life. Only a Class VI Graduate can really know just how valuable the Briefing Course was for him. But you might say that "things go right" for Briefing Course graduates—so why not join them in creating a happier life and a happier world? You find out how to do this on Ron's Saint Hill Special Briefing Course.

▲ All of this is made possible by the brilliant, dedicated work of our Founder, L. Ron Hubbard. The Briefing Course is, after all, RON's Special Briefing Course, designed to give you the tech you need to be happier and more successful—and to help other people be happier too.

The sunny New ASHO—where dreams come true and abilities rise to greater heights. See you here soon!
