Why I Picket the Pickets

Our Duty To Protect Our Bill of Rights

By C. LEON de ARYAN

Since the Brooks Clothing store at 416 Broadway, in down town San Diego, has been picketed by hired and professional pickets of AFL, I took my sign-placard and picketed them in return. I did this already three times for a little over an hour each time, at various times of the day and different days in the week, to find out the reaction upon the public at intervals.

The AFL racketeers have added another clothing store to their list of victims, attempting to force the HUB CLOTHING company, at 904 Fourth avenue, also to compel their employes to pay tribute to labor racketeers before being permitted to earn their living as honest workers for fair wages under agreable conditions of employment. There is no dispute over wages in any place, nor over working conditions, the dispute is that the employees refuse to voluntarily join the union as individuals, so now the labor racketeers figure that by picketting they can mislead the public into imagining that some awful wage and work conditions exist at Brooks and Hub, so that it becomes the duty of the public to boycott such horrid exploiters of the poor employees until better opportunities are given those who must work for a living.

The truth of the matter is though, that the union makes worse conditions for the employees by not permitting them to work except as slaves of the labor racket, making conditions which no self-respecting individual ever cares to accept and even collecting dues and imposing taxes, setting the labor boss and his henchmen up as judges who may fine or otherwise penalize their victims, even to the point where they are not allowed to earn a living as decent American citizens.

I am exposing these criminal, un-American methods of the labor racketeers; have always done so, because I have the true interests of the individual at heart. Where liberty of choice no longer exists, but the rule of the labor racketeer becomes the only choice of the union man and woman, one is no longer a free person; hence all alleged advantages are nil and useless, because it uses material lures to enslave the individual and deprive him of his primary functions as a self-governed being which alone is the foundation of free government by common consent.

For this reason I am accepting the challenge of the racketeers to take the case before the court of public opinion. It is foolish for the Brooks company to enter the state courts and whine for protection against loss thru the picketing, as long as the company, and its own employees, have not guts enough and faith enough in the good sense of the public to let the people know the true conditions at their store.

The racketeers count on the lack of guts and self-respect of the employees and employers to mislead the public to damage every open shop concern where they start picketing, in hopes of forcing a closed shop or a union shop upon unwilling employers and employees. If the racketeers allege that they will let the public decide the issue by telling the patrons of the store the facts, then, the employees and employers alike should tell the facts and picket the pickets for the sake of presenting the other side to the public who, then, having both sides, will make the decision.

Any employee who has not guts and honest American patriotism to confide in the good faith of his fellow townspeople and let them know what's going on, has no claim upon the benefits from the BILL of RIGHTS. He forfeits his citizenship as a free American. If every employee would take turns for an hour each day, as I have shown by example, to expose the picket's lies and treachery to the very employees they pretend to protect, by carrying their information as boldly as the racket pickets do, telling the people what's what, soon picketing would increase, not diminish, the patronage of the store.

I have watched what happens when I picket. As soon as people read that there is no strike, that the racketeers insist on denying the employees their right to earn a living UNLESS they pay tribute and get permission from the union bosses, the people agree with me, telling me, "You are right, keep it up" and such other encouraging language, and many stop, read, then walk into the store. 10 years ago I demonstrated, when picketing the pickets at the Golden Lion Cafe for 8 months, that finally the patronage increased and the union called off their pickets because with me there, they advertised the cafe rather than damaged it.

If the employees of Brooks and Hub have not manhood and womanhood enough to stand up for their rights, they deserve not to have any. If the management has not sense enough to publish the true facts and have a committee of employees tell the correct information by parading as pickets in rotation and also supply leaflets, signed by the employees, to give to anyone entering the store who wants to take one with him, the law which Jesus illustrated in the parable of the Talents applies: "He who has no (gumption) shall lose even that which he has" and it is taken from him and given to the labor racketeers who have gumption enough to work the public as well as the employees and employers for a bunch of suckers.

The whole picture in the USA is changing because the crooks dare go the limit while the honest people are too timid to come out openly and stand with the truth. The public wants to be fair, but it lacks the true knowledge of actual conditions, hence the crooks win out and we lose self-government in labor as well as in politics, because the racketeers of labor take over the political racket also and enforce it with their dupes in congress and state legislatures, till the whole country goes totalitarian under the heel of dictators and burocrats.

Do you want an "OPA" controlled by labor racketeers, to rule you always? Then be timid and they will.

Suit Attacks British Trial Of Tyler Kent

SEEKS TO ESTABLISH U. S. RIGHTS

WASHINGTON, D. C.,—Arguments have been set for Oct. 1 in the United States Court of Claims on an action indirectly challenging the surrender of Tyler Kent, a former clerk in the United States embassy in London, for trial by the British on charges of violating the British official secrets act.

Kent was sentenced to seven years in Brixton prison on Nov. 1, 1940, after being found guilty of making available information which might be useful to an enemy. It was not charged that he had given the information to the enemy.

F. D. R. Figures In Case

It was understood he made the contents of code communications between the late President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill, before the later became prime minister, available to members of parliament.

Setting of arguments in the Court of Claims was disclosed as Attorney Don Harlan of Detroit, Mich., filed an answer to the government's demurrer to the action. Kent is expected to be released early next month from prison on the Isle of Wight, allowances for good behavior having reduced his term.

Harlan petitioned for payment of back salary and travel expenses to Kent on the theory such payment would affirm Kent's right under civil service and challenge his surrender as an American citizen to British courts for trial under British law.

Plea Termed Too Late

In demurrer the government contended the action had been filed too late, that Kent was not able to perform his duties and therefore was not entitled to back pay, and that he was not a foreign service officer. The petition answered each of the government's points.

Harlan also cited law to bolster an argument that Britain had nothing more than concurrent jurisdiction over Kent even tho this country did waive juridiction over him. Such concurrent jurisdiction was limited to offenses that also were offenses in the United States, and because the United States has no act comparable to that under which Kent was sentenced, he was wrongfully imprisoned, Harlan's answer contended.

Behold, Samuel I. Rosenmann !

Hon. Harry S. Truman
President of the United States
White House

Dear Mr. President:

The purpose of this letter is to enlist your intelligent mind in the solving of a problem which, up to the present time, has belonged to that list of things, which are—as Lord Dundreary used to say—"What no fellow can find out", although this problem is on the face of things intimately connected with the question of what it is that impedes our progress toward peace based on justice.

Sometime in 1938, apparently with the intention of neutralizing the efforts of an American soldier's organization, known as the Protestant War Veterans of the United States that had been incorporated in the State of New York by American citizens, a number of alien born Englishmen (some of whom were not American citizens) became the official incorporators of an organization bearing a name identical with that of the older organization—which, it was apparently hoped would be smirched and thrown out of gear by this imitation movement which was thus put as a changeling into the place of the older legitimate body.

The interesting central feature of this matter, however, is that when the application made by these Englishmen for the incorporation of their subversive diplomatic project came before the court, the presiding judge gave his approval to their scheme with bland indifference as to whether or no the incorporators were American citizens, and as to whether or no another incorporated body of the same name was already in existence.

And a further interest is given to this tricky episode by the fact that the said presiding judge was none other than Samuel I. Rosenman, then a Supreme Court Judge of the State of New York, and subsequently a climber, in swift succession, into positions of greater power of influence in these United States— until presently he became, what was practically the voice of our President in matters of serious import to the stand taken by us in both foreign and domestic policies.

Thus we are confronted by the interesting query of just what secret motivations and putative racial control is responsible for this state of affairs in which we are dominated by men whose first and most binding loyalty is not given to the United States, to which some of them have sworn their prime and sole allegiance —while some of them have sworn no allegiance at all—but is yielded by preference to outside nations and influences which by our Constitution are barred from exercising any influence whatever!

"Upon what meat have these our Ceasars fed that they have grown so great"? And what flaw or gap in our domestic safeguards is responsible for the carrying of this meat to their greedy jaws?

We submit, Mr. President, that these queries are worthy of your most serious concentrated attention—the more so, since you are the first President since Lincoln's time, who has not risen to that high station from political beginings shadowed, and quite possibly adulterated, if not corrupted, by the dominating control in finance and business and politics which, in these Northeastern States, has gradually been acquired by a certain race whose eagerness, first, to make money scarce by hoarding, and second, to use that hoarded money to acquire "for a song" the business interests undermined by that money scarcity, has become a phenomenon as notorious as it is scandalous.

We greatly appreciate your giving this matter your kind attention.

Believe us, Dear Mr. President,
Very sincerely yours,
KURT MERTIG, Chairman
CITIZENS' PROTECTIVE LEAGUE.

Persecutors Despair Of Reviving "Moscow" Trials

"PM" Admits Cause Hopeless, While It Makes Desperate Plea To Atty. Gen.

WASHINGTON, (Special), Sept., 10,—Grapevine news from the Department of Justice one month ago had the A. D. L. persecutors selecting 15 defendants for another "Moscow" mass trial fiasco. Of the 30 American "Anti-Communists" orginally indicted by Rogge's jury for conspiring with Hitler & Company to undermine the morale of the U. S. armed forces prior to Pearl Harbor, the following 15 names were confidentially named for the "guinea pig" test:

Smythe, Dennis, Edmondson, McWilliams, Deatherage, Hudson, Winrod, Pelley, Jones, Noble, Klapprot, Kunze, Elmhurst, Stahrenberg and Mrs. Washburn.

New York's bolshevik rag "PM" which has been the chief outlet for publicity against the "Anti-Communists" and the unofficial mouthpiece of the Anti-Defamation League persecutors, yesterday devoted its principle feature story to a despairing wail that the" Sedition Cases Are Headed for the Shelf—Don't Let It Happen (Open Letter to Attorney General Clark)".

This Sunday "sedition" story shoved aside in importance the news from Tokyo. The headline quoted covered almost all of "PM's" front page. On the inside, "Government Ready To Drop Sedition Cases—Justice Department Losing Interest in Domestic War Criminal Trials."

Note the last four words quoted, as another instance of the known cussedness and unfairness of this red socialist sheet. The martyrs named as defendants could not be charged with war criminality, since the first indictment, which charged activity AFTER we entered the war, was dropped, and the final indictment on which they went to trial charged only PEACE-TIME ACTIVITY!

PM's jackal reporter, Tom O'Connor authors both the story and an "Open Letter to Atty. Gen. Clark."

"Every sign points to the probability," says O'Connor, "that America's domestic war criminal trials, begun during the war, but delayed by the death of the judge, will be quietly dropped soon unless public indignation forces the cases to trial."

Although the present and previous attorney generals have indicated their intentions of trying the cases (in groups of ten at a time), the department has become "defeatist" in their attitude, following the recent decision of the supreme court, releasing 24 former "Bundists," charged with counseling evasion of the draft. High men in the department believe it would be impossible to sustain a conviction in the high court, if the latter followed its previous reasoning.

So—Prosecutor Rogge has, one by one, lost all of his assistants, by resigination or assignment to other work, and now he is left with a staff of one—his secretary. Pressure on Mr. Clark for dismissal has increased, while requests for retrial have flagged, according to O'Connor.

TOM'S POOR LOGIC

Tom, in his weird letter to Mr. Clark, makes the absurd request that 43 German war criminals be brought here to testify against 40-odd defendants that they never saw, never corresponded with and never heard tell of. IT IS PRACTICALLY CERTAIN THAT THEIR TESTIMONY WOULD FREE THE DEFENDANTS!

So much for the childish reasoning of a bolshevik sympathizer.

The betting here is five to one that the cases will be dismissed, now that the war has been won, and that nearly all defendants had sons or other close relatives in the service.

Dear Mr. de Aryan:

It was swell meeting your fine boy. We had a pleasant visit and I've wanted to write you ever since. I was so glad Fred called, and I'd intended writing him to see when I could visit with him, but he beat me to it and came first, for which I was pleased. If all young men were as fine as he is, we wouldn't need several hundred more policemen in L. A. It sure is terrible up here. You may indeed be proud of your son, and even though I have never seen your other son I know that he is a credit to you too.

He hadn't been over to see Dr. White, so I told him to phone him, as it is best to visit with him by appointment and I knew that Dr. White would be real pleased to see him.

It looks like the Lord knew when to take FDR, what a mess we are in and to think how much worse it would have been. Whether we'll ever wiggle out of it I don't know, but it sure is a terrible state we are in. Pretty soon we won't have any pay envelope at all.

With best regards and the best of luck to you. I am Sincerely, — —M. F.

WHY THEY'RE TO BLAME

CHICAGO,—President Truman says the American people are to blame for the Pearl Harbor disaster.

He is right.

They elected Mr. Roosevelt. —Roy West.

Girl: "Well, I don't want to appear ignorant but I don't know. How do you kiple?"

Since the war we have paid the French and British more than $11 million toll (in cash, not reverse lend lease) for permitting our ships to pass through the Suez Canal, bearing soldiers and materials to help save the British Empire itself.

*Jap War on China.

A study of the figures shows the nearer we came to war with Japan the more our international do-gooders sent to Japan to be sure Japan could put up a good fight. Look at the figures for 1939 for instance when Japan was already butchering Chinese by the millions. At the same time we were sending China material to fight Japan. We all remember the stab in the back at Pearl Harbor. That stab in the back was not by Japan alone—our international do-gooders share that stab in the back equally if not more so.

While we are on Pearl Harbor here is something very significant. It took a lot of Japanese planes to do the job. Likewise it took a lot of high-octane gasoline to fly those Japanese planes. Every American boy who lost his life at Pearl Harbor ought to know that every ounce of that high-octane gasoline which flew the Japanese bombs over Pearl Harbor was given to Japan by the international do-gooders and profiteers of the U. S. A. Without that high-octane gasoline Japan could never have attacked us at Pearl Harbor. Such is the bloody trail of the international do-gooders in the U. S. A. These same people now tell us that unless we feed and finance every country like we did Japan we will have a third world war. Leave it to them—they should know— should they not? Such statements reach the lowest depths of stupidity. If only the boys who died with American scrap iron in their bellies could talk. If only one of them could come to life and appear here to tell us the ways of America's international do-gooders.

During the period from 1937 to 1940 the international do-gooders gave Japan more than 8,000,000 tons of steel and scrap iron. We gave them so much steel and scrap iron that when we started our own preparedness program our own stocks of steel and scrap iron were almost completely depleted. The first thing we had to do was to wage a scrap-iron drive in our own country because we gave almost all we had in stock to Japan. The international do-gooders had us down to bare cupboards like old Mother Hubbard. Even as late as 1940 the international do-gooders gave Japan 776,499 barrels of high-octane grade aviation gasoline. Without any regard for our own needs and our own safety the international do-gooders were ready to hand over all we had to Japan. That is what they call being friendly. That is how the international do-gooders win friends and influence people. It is most regretful that innocent boys were killed at Pearl Harbor. It would have been better for America if the international do-gooders —those who want to play Santa Claus were there instead on December 7, 1941. Maybe then they would have mended their ways and they would not be here today to urge us into another league with death.

But in considering Japan and her help from our would-be Santa Clauses, I want to bring out that nothing was overlooked. Not only did the international do-gooders give Japan the materials to fight us but they even saw to it that they were real Santa Clauses by giving Japan the money to pay for a war against us. This they felt would certainly win friends and influence people and make Japan love us. So the international do-gooders got the United States to buy Japan's gold for $711,000,000 in good American cash. But that was not enough because a little later the price of gold was raised from $20 to $35 per ounce so we gave Japan a bonus of $266,000,000. Thus we gave Japan almost a billion dollars of good American money. Using Japan's low wages, this amounts to almost $20,000,000,000 in wages in Japan compared to the United States of America. So we gave Japan not only the materials but we also gave them the money so that she could attack us, but good. This is how the international do-gooders prevented a war with Japan. These are the same people who now tell us we must continue such a program with every nation or they will not like us and it will lead to a third world war. How stupid!

The blunt truth is Japan alone is not responsible for attacking America and stabbing us in the back. The international do-gooders of America are equally responsible. If it were not for America's international do-gooders Japan never could have and never would have been able to attack us. When Japan stabbed us in the back at Pearl Harbor they had enough gas, oil, planes, trucks, and iron from our own international do-gooders to wage a war for one whole year. In spite of this, these same international do-gooders want us now to continue to feed every country with war materials just as we fed Japan. The international do-gooders want every nation supplied with enough war materials so that all of them can attack us. The international do-gooders want to finance every nation as well as we financed Japan so that when Japan is licked our boys will be forced to die elsewhere. These greedy do-gooders have no scruples but one—and that is that we feed and finance every country except our own. America is of little concern to them. Business is business and all they want is business—the more war the more business. The international do-gooders never think of saving America or American lives—they think only about how much business they can get from another country, even if it means war. They think only of helping others and never about helping ourselves. They never think about making us strong—they think only of making people of other countries richer and stronger. They would sacrifice America for the almighty dollar any time. Their game is trading American lives for foreign business. This is the true story of who helped Japan get ready to attack us.

WHO BUILT THE GERMAN WAR MACHINE? NOBODY BUT AMERICA'S INTERNATIONAL DO-GOODERS

Now let us see who helped Germany get ready to start another war. The United States of America suffered 800,000 casualties fighting Hitler. Hitler alone is not responsible for his crimes. Germany under Hitler is another example of the work of America's international do-gooders. If it had not been for America's international do-gooders, Hitler never could have made Germany strong enough to start a second world war. America's international do-gooders who wanted business above all else saw to it that Germany got enough money from us to make herself strong enough to start a second world war.

When the war ended in 1918 the world thought Germany was beaten. But Germany was beaten only for a few years because America's international do-gooders saw to it that Germany was not beaten. As early as 1923 the international do-gooders in America, who saw a lot of business and profit in Germany, started to rebuild Germany's war machine. Instead of murderer's in World War I the international do-gooders now started to tell us how wonderful the German people really were. The international do-gooders now were telling us that America could not prosper unless Germany prospered. The international do-gooders were now criticizing Belgium and France for being too hard on Germany. This was only because the international do-gooders saw more business and profit in Germany than in either France or Belgium.

So in 1923 the international do-gooders in America got through the Dawes plan and the United States of America gave Germany a $200,000,000 loan plus a breathing spell of 4 years in which reparation payments for Germany's damage in World War I were reduced 40 percent. The international do-gooders said America must help the poor people of Germany. But the poor people of Germany did not get any help from the $200,000,000 loan in 1923. Ten million dollars of this loan was at once put into the Krupp munition works and as early as 1923 America's international do-gooders started Germany's war machine producing with American money and not German money. Another $12,000,000 of this first loan was given, not to help the poor people of Germany. It as once was given to Herr Thyssen, the man who made so much money with this loan from America that he made billions and this same Herr Thyssen is the man who financed Hitler. So here again it was American money and not German money that started Germany's war machine—the machine that 20 years later killed hundreds of thousands of our own American boys. If our boys who were killed in this war in Europe only knew that it was American money that was responsible for their death—international do-gooders never think of death—they think only about business and profit.

Pendergast Gangster in the White House

The DATE PALM, published by Norman H. Parks in Indio, Calif., has a very good editorial which shows that a small town politician, who cannot conceive of the duties of government except in loyality to the gang that put him in power, is always a menace to good government and to the Ideals of the American way of Life. Following we quote Norman H. Parks:

• • •

PARTY POLITICS BACK IN THE SADDLE

President Truman seems to have slipped from the pedestal of statesmanship into the mire of party politics. He seems more concerned now over winning the presidential election in November, 1947, than in discharging his tremendous responsibilties for the benefit of all Americans.

For a few months he rose to the occasion and did many things that pleased the man in the street who believes in supporting himself by his own efforts, and, in spite of the world upheaval that has turned the sod of radicalism and anti-Christ Communism, is still committed to the institutions of the Republic.

The President began his downward descent into the pool of ward politics when he blamed the country for Pearl Harbor, instead of the democratic party and the late President Roosevelt. He has thrown his influence to stiffle an independent and impartial investigation of the holocast that put the blackest spot on the military record of the United States.

The writer believes that the investigation of Pearl Harbor, if it is ever made, should be more concerned in finding out if it is true that certain influential elements lobbying in Washington wanted the Japanese sneak attack to be stunningly successful, than determining if this nation was ready for war in the Pacific. The Pearl Harbor debacle opened the door to America's participation in the war on Germany, which was of far more concern to powerful nations than what the Emperor of Japan and his subjects were doing in the Orient.

The democratic party, as a party, is not to blame for what happened on that December day in 1941. Certain leaders, masquerading as democrats, had seized control of the government, spitting on the constitution and the fundametal law of the land to gain their objective—war first, and then complete regimentation of the people upon the specious plea of necessity born of participation in a world conflict at arms.

Truman, however, is thinking only of the damage to the democratic party and the eventual weakening of his chances to succeed himself as chief executive. So politics enters, as patriotism flies out the window.

But that is not all.

The president of the party, partially rescued from the clutches of Joe Stalin, says the $41,000, 000, 000 owed the United States by England and Russia should and will be written off. He subscribes to the silly averment that England was our front-line trenches in 1939, an idea propagandized by the British Empire to set the stage for a second repudiation of her vast debts to this nation.

For every dollar written off, the American employee and business man must pay with continued burdensome taxes. Some were so trusting and idiotically optimistic that they expected, now that the war is over, withholding taxes and the dozen of other crushing devices invented by the Roosevelt regime to strip the American of his money, would be eased a bit or perhaps abolished altogether. But Secretary of the Treasury Fred. M. Vincent dispels that illusion with the realistic remark that the debts of the war must be paid. But he forgets to add also that the debts of other nations, one controlling one-seventh of the world's surface and the second upon whose Empire the sun never sets, must be settled with American money.

So Truman falls far and fast. He adds another error to a week of disappointment to his admirers of yesterday. He would continue the draft in peace time.

Proposing also an unemployment pension plan that, if carried out, would just about finish up the country financially—a crackpot idea worthy of a Wallace or a Hopkins—the President has steered the administration back to the days just preceeding the war. All the impractical dreamers that followed Roosevelt as a Messiah doubtless now hail Truman as a Moses coming out of the Wilderness of Missouri to steer us back into the Utopia of State Socialism.

Just Too Bad To Be White In N'Yawk

AGAIN, QUO VADIS

By Frank Jefferies in Farmers Exchange, New Paris, Ind.

According to the Congressional Record, argument as to the proposed "Fair Employment Practice" law is getting rather warm. Recently one senator, in a speech said as follows:

"A few days ago I called the attention of the Senate to a situation that occured in the State of New York. An industrial plant had a cut-back in its orders, and the proprietor had to dismiss from the plant between 75 and 100 women. He had Jewish women, Negro women, and white Christian women in his employ. So when the time came to dismiss 75, he dismissed the Christian white women and retained in his employ the Negro women and the Jewish women. When inquiry was made of him concerning this procedure, he said "I could not do anything else. Suppose I had dismissed just one Negro woman; she would have filed a complaint that I discharged her because of her color; if I discharged a Jewish lady, she would have said she had been discharged because of her religion. I did not propose to take any chances and just let the white Christian women go, and kept the Negroes and the Jewish women on the job."

So it appears that there is no one to look out for the white Christian women. I merely bring that to the attention of the Senate at this time.

HORROR HERE

Dear Sirs:

Today a tiny bit of the world War came to New York City when an Army bomber crashed into the Empire State building.

Those who were in the building and in the vicinity of the crash reported they had been through a horrendous experience. Imagine such death and destruction rained intentionally on millions of innocent human beings !

Note the gloating satisfaction of broadcasters and newspapers when announcing the burning of hunderds of thousands of innocent men, women and little children.

I wonder how many of those who escaped injury or death in today's accident had brought home to them the frightfulness of our acts. Perhaps if we had experienced a little more of the horrors our militarists are meting out to helpless human beings who have been made artificial enemies by the powers that be (the beneficiaries in one way or another of legalized murder) we would be less complacent about the atrocities committed by "Christian" (?) Americans.

We blame the German and Japanese people for blindly following the mandates of their war lords and profiteers through the war. Are we less blamable when we acquiesce in the barbarities of our war lords and our profiteers thru war? E. T. BECKER

Miryam, having passed her thirteen summers and served five years' training in the Temple service, to which she had been assigned by her devout mother, Hannah (who had taken a solemn vow herself to serve a good cause after her husband, Yeoushim, had been laid to rest), was now released from her obligations to be given an opportunity to decide for herself the path she would care to follow. She was still under the protectorship of her guardian, Yousef, and would continue so to be until she had reached her seventeenth year after which all responsibility placed upon her guardian would be lifted.

Altho present at the time of her release from the Temple, Yousef left Miryam with Elizabeth that she might visit with her numerous friends and relatives while he returned home to Nazareth to make preparations for the addition of one more member to the family, which already consisted of a number of sons and daughters. Yousef was then to return to Jerusalem where he had the supervision of repair work going on at the Temple, after the completion of which he expected to lead Miryam to her new abode.

Of refined tastes and culture, Yousef was not a man to be underestimated in proficiency, for, altho of limited wealth when compared with other families, especially those of the house of Jesse, his abilities, his art, his social standing ranked among his countrymen. Altho not professing to be one of either of the leading parties, yet he kept aloof from the current thot of the day, sympathizing to some extent with the smaller factions which kept their minds concentrated on the dawn of a better day.

Yousef was uncle to Miryam on her mother's side, and became guardian over her by choice. His business brought him frequently to Jerusalem, while there would seek the congregation of the Selected to consider events of vital importance to its members .

In the meanwhile Elizabeth and Miryam wandered to the quiet gardens in the mountains to learn of new observations, to listen to the words of their illustrious instructor and distant relative, known as Eliye-Eli of Kharmel, also as Eli of Ghebre, or Gheber-Eliye, and to be advised and guided by him who was to play such an important part in the ushering in of a new dispensation by becoming instrumental in the conception of the lives of two men, Yeouan and Yessu.

CHAPTER II

Elizabeth, the devoted wife of Zacharias, had an intense desire to become a mother, still her maternal tendency did not seem to suffice to carry her wish into realization. Zacharias himself, altho by no means small in faith and patience, had long abandoned the much cherished idea of an offspring and prepared himself without a murmur to submit to the inevitable.

Elizabeth, however, clung to her faith with perfect assurance that no matter how long the promises made to her might be deferred they would at last come true and her heart's desire finally become a reality. Ordinarily she was considered past age, which added to her own as well as her husband's humiliation. This fact placed Zacharias in a rather critical position because of his office of church dignitary, expounder of the Scriptures, and officiating priest of the Temple, which calling he followed very faithfully whenever it came his time to serve, by allotment, according to the regulations of the Temple law .

The people naturally expected that if faithfulness had any virtue in the answering of prayers, Zacharias would be the one in preference to demonstrate God's own promises, from the very fact that it was he who had been given power to commune with Yaho in his sanctuary and had pleaded with Him for the absolution and remission of the people's sins while they were assembled in the outer court.

Zacharias and his wife were made the objects of much comment and criticism, not only among the gossip-loving masses but among the trouble-creating priesthood as well, for they were ever jealous of one another's position and were constantly engaged in concocting plans which would bring about the downfall of one of their colleagues and raise another to a higher position of power or respect. The reserved and dignified bearing of Zacharias was an irritation and vexation to the priests, while his many charities and donations to the church and to the poor only helped to curb the tongues of the plebs for a time.

The position of Zacharias was indeed a trying one, and it was no wonder to see Elizabeth fervently praying that she might find favor in the sight of the Almighty One to whom all things are possible. She was confident that if there was any man filled with wisdom and understanding it was Father Eliye. It was to him that she confessed her heart's innermost secrets, and of him not only expected advice but a means of freedom from the ban placed upon her that the humiliation of her husband might be forever banished. For years she had observed faithfully all the instructions given to her by Father Eliye, while Zacharias himself had no wise neglected to follow any advice that promised the desired end. Still all seemed in vain and Zacharias began to grow skeptical, and his faith in the Omnipotence of Him who is the origin of all things was somewhat shaken.

It is not surprising to find Zacharias filled with doubt when the message was brought to him in the Sanctuary that he was to become a father. He also became troubled and uneasy to behold within the sanctuary walls the face of one who was known, feared and hated by the priests. The surprise was all the greater because it was understood that no stranger could receive admittance to the sanctuary during service, and Zacharias had been exceptionally strict in the observance of rules.

Father Gheber-Eliye, however, soon pacified the troubled mind of Zacharias by stating that his message was one of exceeding great joy. No longer was there need of controversy, for it was Eliye, of the Congregation of the Mighty One who had spoken.

After Zacharias had promised to keep silent until the day of deliverance, with the understanding that the child's name should be Yeouan, Father Eliye disappeared as unobserved as he had come. Eliye had not served his time in the Temple without profiting by the knowledge which disclosed to him even the most obscure corners and passage-ways of the colossal structure.

Altho the appearance of the untimely visitor perplexed Zacharias, the message itself was utterly dumbfounding and left him pondering over the event prophesied to transpire within six months of this visitation. He had promised not to speak a word of it until the day of deliverance, but this promise did not prevent him from endeavoring to solve the mystifying problem. Try as he would he could arrive at no satisfactory conclusion, so at last submitted to the inevitable.

Zacharias soon learned that his friends and neighbors began to circulate many reports and conjectures, which increased in number when they observed his utter silence. Those who appeared concerned about the coming event approached Zacharias quite frequently for an explanation, but without avail, for he remained mute in accordance with the solemn vow made at the altar of the Most High.

Elizabeth was exceedingly happy in her own prospective motherhood and overjoyed because she had been privileged to know that Miryam had consented to become a mother to the Promised One. That Miryam would be a proper mother for a hero there was not the shadow of a doubt in Elizabeth's mind, for Miryam, altho only a girl in her teens, was not only exceedingly tall, well proportioned, perfect in symmetry and expression, but of good intellect, gentle and maternally inclined, as well as fearless, firm and daring.

Miryam seemed somewhat surprised at first when Father Eliye promised her the motherhood of One who would be great among His people, for up to that time she "knew no man". But in obedience to her teacher she submitted to his words, perfectly willing to undergo any regime that might be required of her, as it pleased her to be considered the Lord's handmaiden. True to her task as a pupil, she took all the sayings of her master to heart and jealously guarded and guided her thots, words and actions, feeling a great responsibility towards her condition and its influence upon the One to be born of her. She was as much conscious of her responsibility as was Elizabeth of hers, and their constant association during such an important time aided each other in the formation of a closer friendship and assisted in the exchange of such ideas as would be considered most harmonious with the instructions in eugenics received from their counselor.

Elizabeth and Miryam continued their walks to the hills there to receive further instructions as to their conduct, and Father Eliye watched with anxiety the process of development that no evil might befall them, for the only hope for Israel at that time lay with these two women.

Kosti Dear:

Don't speak of yourself as an old skinny man. The first thing you know you will believe it yourself and then how will you be able to carry on. Where, I ask you, will you find even one healthy young man who can do the things you do, get along on just 3 or 4 hours sleep. You know there is not anyone who would bear under such a burden. A man in his 59th year is still in the prime of his manhood, especially when he hasn't abused his body by smoking, drinking and the rest that goes with it. More power to you, Love — — M. L.

The Man In The Moon Looks On

If the man in the moon were only to speak to you and tell you what he knows. You wonder perhaps what his tale would be

Do you see all those craters in the moon? These are bomb craters made by "atomic bombs". Once there was life on the surface of the moon as we have it here on earth. There also was an envelope of air to protect the life as our atmosphere protects us. But what happened? Same thing that happened at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, only worse.

The same creatures who today shout for revenge and murder, who set up lynch courts in Japan and Germany, "peoples courts" in all Russia-controlled territory, to revenge themselves on their "enemies" who have a different slant on political, economic and racial subjects, these creatures once inhabited the moon. But they were not satisfied to obey the LAW of LIFE. They gloried in having the power to "destroy their enemies". So destruction they wreaked. Jesus is warning us against hating our enemies and revenging ourselves on them, but the fools are hellbent on having their gory glory, VICTORY they call their orgies.

Well, when the fools lived on the moon they had the same experience. Now look at the moon, a warning to humanity, still hanging around this earth as an example of the destructiveness of HATE. It still influences the MIND of man, hence even its name, lunatic.

The description of the events at Hiroshima and Nagasaki tell the story of the moon. The atomic bomb penetrated even to the stratosphere like heads of a giant totempole. Multiply these bombs by thousands. What happens? The power of explosion disperses the whole coating of air around the planet, impregnates it with deadly radio activity so that in place of protection for LIFE it destroys all organic life.

Suppose the bombs had not exploded above the earth's surface at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. See the craters in the moon? That's what would have happened to the earth. Throw an even greater explosive power, several bombs at the same location. A tidal wave of the Pacific would have resulted that might have not only destroyed the coast cities along the China coast, the Philippines, Australia and the islands in the Pacific, but might have reached the coast of the American continent and played havoc as well.

Multiply these events by millions and the fools will produce on earth what they produced on the moon. Hence the saviors of mankind have always advocated forgiveness, always admonished to love one's enemies and FEAR only God, who alone is able to take care of justice and retribution.

Dear Mr. de Aryan:

I liked those sample copies of The Broom. It tells what is going on in the world.

Enclosed is a money order for $1.50 for which please send me the $1.00 subscription on the magazine.

The Quakers have done some fine work at the C. O. Camps; however, I doubt if they stand for your principles, especially in the matter of race relationship. Did you not notice how your boy acted and felt at the Y. M. C. A.? Who do you suppose influenced him? Think it over!

I understand there are two kinds of Quakers; one of whom, the Hixites, do not believe in the divinity of Christ. I know a Hixite Quaker woman who is definitely hostile to Christ.

I enclose a stamped envelope. Would you please send me the address of Mr. Kurt Mertig of "Citizens' Protective League". I am in sympathy with his efforts to keep the Germans from starving to death. With best wishes for your success. Sincerely, — — M. H.

Rev. W. J. Allan Price, prominent British clergyman, says: "England has passed its zenith as a nation. We have lost our soul, have no perception of spiritual values, and are rolling down the precipitous incline of self-indulgence, oblivion; as a nation we are finished. Any young man or woman under 30 who has any finer feelings of the spirit of enterprise, love for freedom and liberty, a sense of ambition, thrift, prudence, or responsibility, any hatred for equating everyone with the wastrel, would do well to emigrate to America or South America.

Dear Mr. de Aryan:

Inclosing a money order for $3.00, please send me a years subscription of The Broom and 2 copies from Aug. 6-13-20. I like your paper and will give some friends those copies, thank you, sincerely, — — Mrs. M. W.

P. S. I got your good Broom from "We the Mothers" in Chicago.

Dr. H. D. Smith, head of the Princeton University Department of Science, insists that it is necessary to devise a means of exploding the atom bomb above, rather than on the target, to assure the dispersal of deadly radio-active by-products. Some scientists fear that this radio activity would make any spot where the bomb fell deadly to man for generations afterward.

Dear Mr. de Aryan:

Here's the price of a few smokes to help you smoke out the Red Fascist.

Well, it seems that Sen. Tenney is "spotted".

Cordially, — — H. D.

Another atom bomb dream: Scientists reveal that with the proper development and use of atomic energy, the weather can be controlled. No baseball game will be called on account of rain in the Era of Atomic Energy. No airplane will by-pass an airport because of fog. No city will experience a winter traffic jam because of heavy snow. Summer resorts will be able to guarantee the weather and artificial suns will make it as easy to grow corn and potatoes indoors as on the farm.

Truman's Big Message Shows Left-Wing Oligarchy In Full Swing

By WASHINGTON ADAMS

WASHINGTON (Special), Sept. 9.— Hopes that President Truman might proceed along the old-line Constitution lines of "chief executive" and chief servant of Congress and the people were dashed by his submission to Congress of a 16,000-word "message," which is socialistic and totalitarian in its spirit.

This strange message is hailed by Communists and avowed Socialists as a distinct step to the "left of center." One air commentator over NBC referred to it as a "directive"! (God save the mark!)

The Constitution, Article II, Sec. III, states that "He (the President) shall, from time to time, give to the Congress information on the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient."

This is the first time in our history that a President has considered himself so all-wise and omniscient that he should propose to them the absorption of their legislative powers, and that all measures should originate in the White House.

That was the old Roosevelt custom, but his camarilla simply drew up the laws and sent them down to his "rubber stamps" with the words "must—pass it or else."

The Truman oligarchy (with the same FDR chief writer—Rosenman, in charge) has submitted an amazing course of thinly disguised socialism, but with no threats.

Its objective and its pressure on Congress and the people is DEMAGOGUERY. Win over the ears of the groundlings—the votes of the very ignorant, who do not know beans about either government or economics.

Go over the heads of the people's representatives. Go direct to the morons and those of limited intelligence. Turn the Congress back into its old "rubber stamp" function, in violation of both the letter and spirit of our Constitution.

No President in war or peace—not even Washington who took office before a single Federal bill had become law—ever delivered such a "message."

This "sermon-directive" to our Federal lawmakers is longer than all the messages of President Washington added together, (but not including his "Farewell Address").

Again I wish to call the attention of my readers to that great little book by Garet Garrett, formerly editor of the "Saturday Evening Post", entitled "The Revolution Was." (The Caxton Printers, Caldwell, Idaho—50c).

Mr. Garrett shows by what steps the Roosevelt oligarchy "took over" the country and brought on a "revolution within the state," whereby despotism succeeded liberty within the forms of a constitutional republic.

This message of President Truman is the most alarming thing that has taken place since Roosevelt died, in that it seems to show that Mr. Truman believes that the "revolution" has taken place and he means to "rule" the country.

De Priest Denounces Post Story Of Nationalist Meeting

Was Only A Spectator, He Is A Republican—Is Not A Hate-writer And There Was No "Hate" Speeches Or Literature

To the Editor of The N. Y. Post:

Your reporter's prejudiced, unfair, unjust, incorrect, false and intolerant account of the "Nationalists" meeting does poor credit to a paper that was founded by Alexander Hamilton.

I have been a reader of the "Post" for many years—even before and including Stern's ownership. I attended with him a monetary lecture by J. H. R. Cromwell in 1934. It is shabby treatment of an old "subscriber" for your paper to slander me in the manner you did.

I do not belong to and do not intend to join the "Nationalists" party. However, I am a Nationalist, according to the dictionary definition, and I believe 90 percent of the Republicans are Nationalists, as was every President prior to Roosevelt.

I am a registered, life-long Republican (except for favoring Smith in 1928 and FDR in 1932).

I favor the Nationalists element taking control of the Republican party, changing its name, and giving the New Deal Socialist oligarchy a real fight. I adovacated this in an article in The Herald Tribune in 1937.

I attended the Nationalist meeting as a spectator, and would have spoken against the third-party movement if the opportunity had been given me.

Your reporter did me a gross injustice in referring to me as a "hate-writer." No greater lie was ever published. I am just the opposite. I am a bitter opponent of hates and hate-writing. All my life I've believed in and written of love for one's fellow-man. I am writing a book with love as its central theme. Haters and hate-spreaders cause wars.

At the age of 15 I declined Wendell Phillips' tribute to Toussaint L'Ouverture, the Negro liberator; and in college I won honors with an oration on "The White Man's Burden," asking the white man to lift up and not to oppress the dark races of men. I have never been "anti-Semitic."

Your second injustice to me was in mentioning my name at all. I was only a spectator; you made it appear I spoke, and for some reason you chose to smear me and the others.

Among other errors in your article were the following: Mr. Elmhurst is not "Elmer" but Ernest, and he swears he was never a "Bundist." The only speaker to mention the "Bund" was Mr. Scott, who severely condemned it. You called the chairman "Hellegen"—real name "Nellegen."

The Nationalist platform contains no such slogans as "deport the Jews and Negroes", "dissolve the present economic system." etc. No such terms were used by any speaker... The name of Joe McWilliams was never mentioned, except after adjournment when the only lady speaker remarked that "if Joe McWilliams had appeared as a speaker, I would have left the meeting."

There was not a single "hate" speech of any sort, and I saw no racial or "hate" literature being sold at the meeting. None such was on the table of literature. No speech was "anti-Semitic."

Mr. Scott is not anti-Semitic. His best friend was a Jew, who gave him $1,000 to help found his paper, "Money". The "Monetary Platform" condemns racial and religious discrimination (Article 15).

HUDSON DE PRIEST

New York, 1, Sept., 9, 1945.

Persecuting Germans to Please Jews

Mr. Robert Daru, Counsel for New York County Criminal Courts Bar Association
New York, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Daru:

It is all to the good when men of your ability and reputation arise to awaken the public to the fact that courts of law, even in this great Republic, are not fool-proof; and that injustices are bound to happen—human nature being what it is—so long as fallible human beings depend on human institutions to do the work intended by the professed object and structural forms of such institutions, regardless of the character of the men who may be called on to man the institutions and carry out their intended functions.

When men like the alien born Bertram M. Campbell can be railroaded to half a dozen of years of enforced uselessness to themselves and to their families and to society at large— all because some prosecuting attorney is either too indolent to acquaint himself with the law and the facts, or is so ambitious to rise to some higher and better paid positions that he is willing to gain such personal success at the price of twisting the law to the doing of injustice to defendants and to their dependant families— it is certainly time for all good men to come to the aid of the party responsible for putting of such prosecutors into office and to so cleanse that party from rule by political cliques and machines that all administrators of the law will be put on notice that they are being watched by a deeply interested public.

Obviously, one way to accomplish this is to publicize typical case histories, just as you are doing in the case of this unfortunate foreign born Campbell, but such publicizing should be done without fear or favor bred from political partisanship or social prejudices— and we are now rising to inquire why not carry on the good work to the clearing up of a similar crookedness that was practiced in the case of another alien born citizen, Fritz Kuhn, a case in which there can be found more irregularities and tragdy than has been revealed in the Campbell case, a case where the State Prosecutor assumed the role of law breaker, accuser and persectutor, a case reeking with racial discrimination and resulfing in imprisonment, revocation of citizenship and deportation, or in short the denial of all fundamental rights of free men. A basic example that the citizens of this country are now in bondage of the World Jewry and their cultural offshoots!

Such crookedness in the Fritz Kuhn case was apparently perpetrated for no other reason than to enable ambitious public officials to boost their own advancement by taking advantage of the fact that a race much given to the advancing of its own interests and prejudices had become hostile to the race from which Fritz Kuhn had derived his ancestry; and could therefore be relied upon to heap political reward on any officials who might succeed in railroading Fritz Kuhn to a substantial jail sentence.

This notwithstanding the fact that it must be admitted that Fritz Kuhn had got the "big head" that often comes to persons who suddenly find themselves possessed of funds, not earned by their own labor, that can be used to gratify their vanity or love of pleasure without apparent chance of adverse publicity; but this does not alter the fact that an investigation of his case would reveal even more and worse irregularities than those revealed so far in the Campbell case—such irregularities constituting essential denials of our fundamental liberties as set forth in the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights.

We thus mention the case of Fritz Kuhn, not because he was an exceptionally innocent man, but because the publicity attached to him because of his championship of a race which had incurred the hostility of another race, which has managed to achieve a perhaps unduly powerful influence in politics and finance, has provided a singular opportunity for ambitious officials to win personal advantage by using their official position to gratify racial vengefulness felt by elements powerful in finance and business and politics.

And hundreds of other and even more flagrant persecutions in the form of attempts to deport are being carried on at this very moment without the public being aware that the liberties of every citizen are being menaced through this perpetuating by ambitious public officials, of injustices which would probably never have been concieved, had it not been thought that they would receive support from a revengeful element that has managed to acquire wealth and political power by means open to serious question in many cases, and has thus succeeded in gaining control of key positions that have the appearance of being important to the serving of political ambitions.

We are perhaps opening to your observation and study, by the above remarks, a wide field in which your evident dislike of injustice, can be effectively employed.

Very sincerely yours,
KURT MERTIG, Chairman

U. S. General Staff Plotted Nazism

Now that the American and Allied lynch courts are Pharisaically beating their holy breasts in unrighteous indignation at Nazi "war criminals" it is timely to remember that the whole Nazi system was plotted by the U. S. General Staff of the Army and as soon as peace had been declared after the First World War, German military attaches copied the American blue print for Totalitarian War, took it to Germany and Hitler put it into action: Nazism, or totalitarian State.

You saw how it was used to regiment the people in this country for war. The Nazis as war criminals can point to Gen. Marshall's staff and the New Deal as the original which they copied from the archives of our War Department. The following editorial from the Chicago Tribune throws light on the lynch system which is being used against Germans and will be used against Americans.

* * * *

SPEAKING OF WAR CRIMINALS

It might be well if Mr. Justice Jackson, busily engaged with his united nation associates in writing a streamlined lynch law with which to condemn German leaders as war criminals, would look over his shoulder and see what is happening at home.

The allied war crimes commission was not content to arraign the nazi leaders and make them answer for the murder and the bestiality which violated the laws of every land of Europe, including Germany. They are to be tried under an ex post facto law which makes it a crime to plunge the world into war.

Very well, as the truth about Pearl Harbor begins to materialize it is shown that President Roosevelt and at least three members of his cabinet, Secretaries Stimson, Knox and Hull, knew a day in advance that the Japanese were going to declare war on the United States. They even had at their disposal a brilliant analysis of the timetable involved, indicating that the first act of war would be a surprise attack on Pearl Harbor. They did nothing to warn American military and naval leaders or to prevent that attack from succeeding.

Other facts in the record would vitiate any plea that the leaders of the Roosevelt adminstration were merely stupid but innocent of warlike itent. There is the whole record of Roosevelt's attempt to maneuver this country into a European war. It need not be rehearsed again. There was his agreement with Churchill to help defend French, British, and Dutch imperial possessions in the Pacific. There is the statement of two of the White House's journalistic pets, Alsop and Kintner, that Mr. Roosevelt felt that he dared not violate his 1940 campaign pledges that American sons would not be sent into foreign wars, but likewise felt that he could get around those pledges "the smart way."

In the light of the new evidence Pearl Harbor looks very much like the smart way that Mr. Roosevelt was seeking. It would certainly look that way to a trial commission proceeding on the Draconian principles that Mr. Jackson and his colleagues have established for their dealings with the Germans.

Under the Jackson theory not only the civil heads of the government but also military leaders, who at their direction took steps leading to war, would land in the prisoner's dock. Our American military leaders could point out that they urged Mr. Roosevelt and his secretary of state not to send the ultimatum of Dec. 6, 1941, to the Japanese because we were not ready to fight. Some of the nazi army chiefs can no doubt prove that they warned Hitler against attacking Russia, but they are still on trial.

Mr. Churchill told parliament in the aftermath of Pearl Harbor that America's entry into the war was what he had worked for and hoped for for many months. Leaving aside the genuine crime of which Von Ribbentrop and Von Papen may be guilty, what difference would there be, under Mr. Jackson's theory that any one who starts a war is guilty of a crime, between the two nazi diplomats and Mr. Churchill and Ambassador Halifax?

And while Mr. Jackson is looking for war criminals what, if anything, does his commission intend to do about Stalin, who gave Hitler the go-ahead signal in 1939 and shared with him the loot of Poland?

The procedure in the war crime trials ingnores the fact that most and perhaps all of the German defendants have been guilty of the most horrible crimes in history. It largely ignores those crimes and seeks an arraingment of the defendants on a brand new charge, established for the occasion, unknown to history as well as justice, that starting a war is a crime.

Mr. Jackson should be more careful how he points that gun.

Pearl Harbor War Criminals

A Palpable Fraud

With MacArthur's army in disarmed Japan and Eisenhower's army in conquered Germany, Secretary Forrestal's pretense in his letter to Sen. Walsh that any evidence in the martyrdom of Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short needs to be concealed in the national interest is a palpable fraud. We will suspect that anyone who upholds this pretense is party to the terrible conspiracy which has already been completely exposed.

This conspiracy, to which President Roosevelt and Secretaries Hull, Knox, and Stimson were the principal parties, is fully set up in the reports of the navy and army investigations.

The conspiracy was to tempt and force Japan into an attack upon American possessions. To this end the navy in the Pacific ocean was reduced from its dominating power to one of inferiority. This fleet in turn was split in two, with the Japanese navy between the factions where it could mass against either one. Then, without consulting the senate, an ultimatum, known to be unacceptable, was delivered to Japan.

The conspirators knew by Nov. 25 that the ultimatum would not be accepted. At that time they expected that the helpless troops in the Philippines and Guam would be the victims, but did nothing to save them.

At 10 p. m. Washington time on Dec. 7, more than 15 hours before the attack was delivered, the conspirators knew that the attack would come the following day at the moment when it would be 7 o'clock in the morning, Hawaiian time, and still night in the Philippines. It was pointed out to them that the attack would, therefore, be delivered upon Pearl Harbor. This information was explicitly withheld from Chief of Naval Operations Stark and Chief of Staff Marshall until the next morning.

When Adm. Stark was finally apprised of all this, two and a half hours before the known hour of the attack, he said: "My God, this means war. I must get word to Kimmel at once." But he did not do so.

Gen. Marshall also was informed two hours and a half before the attack. He had on his desk a secret telephone with which he could have reached Gen. Short instantly. He had at his disposal the navy short wave radio with which he could have reached Kimmel and Short in a few minutes. In these vital moments he omitted to use these normal and speedy means of communication, and had recourse to a code message sent by commercial cable not marked "rush". In consequence, the warning came too late.

Here we have ample testimony to exonerate Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short and to convict President Roosevelt and Secretaries Hull, Knox, and Stimson of conspiracy to have our forces attacked in the Philipinnes, Guam, Wake Island, and Hawaii, and of withholding from them that fact and the hour that the attack was to come.

Secretary Forrestal's secret information is not needed. He and, more particularly, those he is vainly trying to protect are convicted without it. Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short are acquitted without it. —Chicago Tribune.

"QUEST"

Perhaps in winning you are loser
If in your winning you have feigned
'Tis better to have found some good in losing
Than only bitterness, in all you've gained.
