"CLIPS, QUOTES, AND COMMENTS" is issued on the first and fifteenth of each month, by the Borderland Sciences Research Associates -- - 3524 Adams Ave., San Diego 16, California, U.S.A. Twelves issues (6 months) for $5.00; six issues (3 months) for $2.50; - two issues for $1.00. Contains only short articles and miscellaneous material, supplementary to the BSR bi-monthly ROUND ROBIN. - - Meade Layne, BSR Director.

EXPLANATORY NOTE to CQC subscribers and all BSR Associates:
Concerning the page entitled "Time Marches On", in this issue.

This material is too elementary and too brief for BSR Associates, but is included in this CQC for your information, in case you wish free separate copies (of the one page) to send out to other people. We have run extra copies for this purpose, and so avoid cutting an extra stencil for the mimeo.

INTELLIGENCE DIGEST for February, 1954, contains several pages of summarized case histories uner the title "Christian Healing" (non-medical, prayer, 'laying on of hands etc.). We take note of this article here, for the reason that the DIGEST is supposed to be devoted to the sciences. . . The CQC editor has no doubt whatever about innumerable cases of non-medical healing, but objects to the inferences; i.e., it's not necessary to invoke any particular deity, or any deity at all; and the hypnotist and the witch-doctor and the sugar-pill medico and the faith healer ALL get results - provided right conditions are present, usually including the cooperation of the patient on some level of consciousness. . . . Intelligence Digest is published at 14,Old Queen St., Lon. S.W. 1, Eng. $6.00 per yr.

"IATROGENIC HEART DISEASE" means heart disease 'caused by a physician', explains Dr. Richard A. Mills. The symptoms are a result of the words or actions of the physician, and "may easily be more disabling than the average case of organic heart disease . . . In a recent study of 631 heart patients in New York" about one quarter had no organic heart disease at all. The symptoms themselves were were very real, but were caused by worry and made worse by the physician...

Science Digest, Oct. '53. Cr V.L.Cameron.

(I think it is Morton Prince who is quoted as estimating that "60 to 70 percent of all medical diagnoses are wrong". Since prognosis and treatment depend on the diagnosis, the inference is obvious. ml)

FOR THE BRAVE NEW WORLD - IF ANY: This 'invention milestone' (to quote the heading) turns out to be about the size of a pencil eraser, gives out a millionth of a watt, but ten of them will run a portable radio for 20 years. "Electrons from Strontium, a radioactive isotope, race through a wafer of silicon, and the dislodged electrons flow out as current." This means that nuclear energy is turned directly into electricity. Announced by the chairman of the board of the R.C.A., Jan. 26, 1954. This is really one item that deserves a splash headline, if war, murder and scandal could be sidetracked for an issue or two. .. Strontium, by the way, is at present a useless by-product and is not itself fissionable.

BULLETIN FROM DESMOND LESLIE - "ATTENTION, ALL SAUCER OBSERVERS": I have it personally on the highest authority, (1) that the British Government has no knowledge whatever of the inner meaning behind these phenomena. Their main reason for fumbling is the same as our own - lack of precise knowledge. (2) The only known earth-made saucers are the Avro saucer and Project Magnet, neither of which should have reached the public ear. This security leakage was the main fact behind the panicky shutdown of the IFSB - who obtained too much data somewhere. (3) There is no indication of a hostile race surveying this planet for its own ends (4) Very high persons are taking an active interest. The usual procedure is that they send memos after each sighting to the boffins who usually send them back a piece of Menzellian claptrap. I have a letter from a Cabinet Minister saying "orthodox scientists are probably the last people to accept that something may exist which is not explainable in terms of their understanding of natural laws." But in fact many high officials now feel and know that there are 'more things in heaven and earth' etc.

(5) The Adamski affair has aroused serious interest and is being carefully followed.

(6) A series of biometric tests made on the Adamski pictures reveal an ENTIRELY NEW kind of radiation, mainly originating around the saucer's rim, where it took the form of opposing spirals. The operators concluded that whatever the saucer may have been, it had been outside the earth's atmosphere to acquire such a radiation. This is the first serious attempt to verify scientifically the authenticity of the pictures. I am hoping to get you a full report on these tests.

Desmond Leslie (Lon.)

We are also in receipt of a short ms from Assoc. Desmond Leslie, describing the entry of various aeroforms into the sea. In this connection, the M.P. Controls said in effect: 'Certainly the Discs can enter the sea. The sea to them is not a huge mass of substance, it is simply another vibration rate, like your air or your earth. They merely convert the energy rates and can then function where they please.'

This matter of entering the sea also connotes the etheric cosmology sketched-in by Dr. Gerald Light, according to which the great sea trenches are also the summits of the Etheric mountains. A Disc penetrating the Japan Trench is really ascending the mountain heights of the Etheric world, and approaching the regions of the un - differentiated planetary Logos. . . Also, it would be easy for the aeroforms to establish direct contact with the underground races - since the low density of the earth's crust is no obstacle to them.

What think ye, good friends and Associates? Will Earthians ever be able to think in terms such as these? It would be easier for YD (Yr Director) to twiddle his thumbs - but his daemon drives him on . . .

AND FROM LA BELLE FRANCE * Assoc. E. Biddle of London sends us translations from two French periodicals. Paris-Montparnasse No. 20, Winter 1953-4, prints sensational headlines about a possible "War with the Flying Saucers", but makes a good point by saying: "If USA or USSR possessed the secret of the F.S., would they spend millions in perfecting aircraft technically more rudimentary?" The editor also describes a Marignane Airfield incident, where a 'cigar' made a brief landing one night, and was observed and described by the customs officer. He thinks the American government probably fears panic, since Americans are used to a "comfortable security and are fixed in the idea of their technical superiority...".

JOURNAL MARITIME (Marseille) - article by Andre Saux, who says that "African military have confirmed, that discs present on several radar screens at once remained invisible to the human eye and could with impunity be flown through by squadrons of fighters... Indeed, these being seem to have the power of dematerialising themselves. . . but the reality no doubt is terrestial. Why should not our world interpenetrate with another which would be invisible and immaterial for us ... The idea which seems to be current in American military circles is that we are observing a peaceable migration of Martians... ' The article ends on a somewhat mystical and religionistic note, but it is plain that some of the ideas are almost identical with those long propounded by the BSR publications (and derived from the MP Controls).

We are aware that the "4-D" or etheric explanation arouses much resentment and dislike among some people, who feel that their commonsense (or non-sense) is being insulted by some kind of metaphysical hocus-pocus; yet as competent thinkers break away from textbooks and traditions there is an increasing trend toward the account offered by us during the last eight years. We have no need to retract or modify any of our basic concepts. (ml).

Curious Phenomena in England: from Assoc. Harold T. Wilkins:

January 5, 1954 - but also happening as far back as September, and both before and after Christmas, 1953:

In the wooded regions of the Chiltern Hills and other contiguous parts of Buckinghamshire, mysterious noises, ranging in timbre and volume from a vibration and a persistent throbbing sound like a truck ascending a hill on low gear or a plane 'revving up', have maddened residents and kept them awake at night. It is peculiar that of three bungalows on a hilltop at Chalfont St. Giles, in this region, the central bungalow appears to have heard the noises only once, while the two others are constantly hearing them, by night and day. The cause does not seem to be connected with local factories or engineering work, and the local Council, as well as the Post Office, have given up the investigation as a mystery. Also, the British Air Ministry knows of no establishment, locally, likely to cause the noises (apart from any secret suprasonic experiments). One of the noises resembled that of a mammoth machine vibrating in a hollow. It is difficult to tell the direction of the sounds. But IF, as may be, they come from underground, I think there are quarters in the Middle West of the U.S. which would not be backward in advancing their theory of the possible causation. Is humanity again going underground? Who can say?

January 3, 1954: About 200 sheep on the marshes of the Thames estuary, in Kent, were found dead and drowned in dykes. They appeared to have stampeded in terror, and - which is singular - in a westward direction, as if what approached them came in from over the North Sea from western or northern Europe. To attribute this stampede to fog is a mere brush-off expedient, since these animals, whether pastured on the downs of Berkshire or on the marshlands of the lower Thames, are well used to fogs and mists. But be it noted (1) this phenomenon has occurred six times, between 1869 and 1901, and in wooded inland regions and over a wide area of the Thames valley, and in Norfolk. In some of these cases the mysterious panic happened simultaneously on farms and in folds widely separated, certainly not contiguous, in areas of the south of England covering from 70 to 220 square miles - and in one case, in daytime. Even hours afterward, sheep have been found cowering and panting in terror under hedges. -- (2): Sheep, like birds such as pigeons, are peculiarly susceptible to, and highly excited by unknown objects in the skies. They have highly strung nervous organisms.

H.T.W., Kent, Eng.

(With reference to the frightening of the sheep: It is well to remember that the Aeroforms ("saucers"et cet.) are emergents. That is, they come out of a different space-time 'frame of reference', and emerge onto our level of perception by converting their energy rates into lower terms. They may be either visible and tangible, or invisible and intangible but still very real and material. There almost certainly are intermediary stages where some people or animals can see them while others cannot. Also, they have been coming and going in our skies for centuries. These facts would cover the points mentioned ("1" & "2") by Assoc. Wilkins.

Perhaps we should add, that our invisible visitors may, and probably do, include an endless number of fantastic shapes and strange beings, and so far as we know these may emerge into perceptible forms at any time, for us or for animals. If man is to be "educated through fear" the learning process may not be altogether pleasant.

(As to the underground (?) noises: I can only remark that our planetary "isle is full of noises, Sounds and strange sights"... Personally, I accept the existence of underground people of different kinds - also, that our race has indeed gone underground in great numbers, in ages past - and of course the 'grapevine' brings its unverifiable quota about this-'n-that burrowing by powerful groups and organizations.

RADIESTHESIA -
Aurameter -
Pendule - etc.

"Yes, it is possible to "dowse" for oil or water by holding the instrument over a map of the territory in question, asking for the information and pinpointing it with a pencil. Fantastic? Of course it is. So is radar, television, atomic power and many other things . . . It has been repeatedly proven, in tests conducted on well-known locators, that there is a great increase in electrical tension on the skin when the dowser approaches an underground stream. But this skin condition is not the energy which 'charges' the stick or instrument. It is charged by an extension of the body aura (whence the name aurameter). This instrument has now a great variety of use besides dowsing. It outlines the aura, also mental images or thought-forms, and telepathic and emotion 'beams'. Also, in my own case, it has enabled me to establish easy communication with my daughter who was recently killed in an accident, and through her with an oil engineer named Vorrow. . . With their help I located a number of oil prospects in Australia (from the map, and by request), and it now turns out that some of these at least are also considered highly promising by Australian geologists, and that drilling operations have begun in one area.. . "

(Corresp. of V.L.Cameron, inventor of Aurameter. ...Rt. 1, box 1120 Elsinore, Calif.

(Mr. Charles L Pitts, (Box 562, Sunnydale, Calif., writes in part):

'I am happy with the performance of the Aurameter, We have been able to trace the lines of force and find the body above the physical, and have done a little experimenting along the lines of the Bundliner Bioliter.

'By placing a carbon tip in the aurameter, then placing the name on a table and walking toward it, the aurameter will be repelled when you reach the point of force thrown out by the name... We used carbon welding rod, but a battery carbon from a dry cell will be better I am sure. . . I also tried the razor blade under the pyramid and have gotten 16 shaves out of it; normally I get three or four at the most..'

THE PENDULUM is a monthly review of Radiesthesia, edited by Egerton Sykes, and published by Markham House Press Ltd., 31 Kings Road, London S.W. 3, Eng. (Singles .40 ea.). The January issue (No. 4 Vol.4) contains a drawing of the aurameter and a short description of its construction; the editor regards it as offering "considerable possibilities", and intends to reproduce some of the auric patterns revealed by it in a later issue of the Pendulum.

An extraordinary piece of (alleged) information then follows, (pg.330 of PENDULUM). It is contributed by Percy Main (Northumberland), and seems to be a summarized translation from the current issue of LE LIEN. The gist of it is, that someone has made a pyramid out of a square base and a center pole; and stretched nylon threads from the top of the center pole to each of the four corners of the base. Height of center pole, 15 cm., base 23.5 cm. & line from apex to corner, 22.4 cm. (decimals approximated). There are various small refinements: there's a sliding cardboard square on the pole, 5 cm above the base, as a platform for specimens of food stuffs etc. The thread is anchored at the corners of the base by brass drawing pins. At the apex is a pin headed by a small disc symbolizing the sun (5 cm. in diameter). "This should be adequate for all purposes, according to the author", writes Mr. Main.

If this pyramid without sides functions as a 'regular' pyramid does, or indeed in any detectable way at all, we can start guessing all over again. Maybe the etheric pyramid, the thought-form, is stabilized by the skeleton outline and becomes an effective existent on its own plane. Such an assumption is ridiculous to technical science - but clicks very well with a book-full of data from so-called occult sources. We would have objective and material effects produced by a mental construct of a particular geometric form. . . The aurameter of course shows the presence of etheric objects and outlines them - that is, of thought-forms - and such constructs are not likely to be wholly inert . . . Let's hear from Associates about this.

MISCELLANEOUS:

BACK COPIES OF CLIPS & QUOTES: We can supply copies of all issues exceptNos. 3-4-5 of Series A. Supplemental to Round Robin. (2 copies, $1.00) -(Series "A" is 1953).

NOTICE TO ALL BSR ASSOCIATES & RR READERS: Under new postal regulations we shall be unable to enclose loose-leaf bulletins, addenda etc. along with copies of Round Robin. Such material will have to be sent separately - which, incidentally, will add considerably to our mailing expenses.

Special releases, bulletins and similar material formerly enclosed with Round Robin will henceforth be sent under separate enclosure, usually about the 20th of each month. It may, however, be sent at any time without reference to any schedule, depending on its interest and importance - but please do not expect it as a Round Robin enclosure.

THE COMING OF THE GUARDIANS: This booklet (50-60 pgs) will probably be mimeographed some time this month (February). It is a compendium of statements by the Mark Probert Controls concerning the Aeroforms, and hence quite different in character from anything published on this subject. Compiled by/ comments by the BSR Director. Price $2.00

THE ETHERSHIP MYSTERY & ITS SOLUTION, by Meade Layne. About 50 pgs. This has been OP for some time but we hope to have the next printing completed during this month (February). With Addendum, $2.00.

The publications of Dr. Gerald Light may be had either from BSR Hdqrs. or from the author at 954 South Vermont Ave., Los Angeles 6, Calif. $1.00 each. If ordering direct from Dr. G.L. please send currency only - no checks or postal orders. This material is recommended by the BSR Director, and the basic information in it has been approved by the Mark Probert Controls.

About 15 pages of Dr. Light's article in RR IX-5 has been mimeographed as a separate folder and contains basic concepts concerning the etheric regions and races. $1.00

MAGIC BAG, PART I: Dictated by the Mark Probert Controls (and out of print for some time) should be available at the end of this month. Part II is already on hand. Please note: If you wish to order both volumes, the total price is $5.00. If you already have Part II, then Part I is $2.00. If you do not have Part II, then Part I is $3.00. This work has awakened much interest, particularly in England, and will probably be published there before long.

THE COMING OF THE SPACE PEOPLE, by Dr. Gilbert N. Holloway: a 7000-word Essay by this noted lecturer and occultist - who is in close agreement with the M.P. Controls with Dr. Gerald Light, and with the BSR approach to the problem of the aeroforms. Dr. Holloway is a Ph.D. from Columbia and nationally known in his field. Order this brochure from The Holloway School, Box 27866, Los Feliz Station, Los Angeles 27, Calif. $1.00.

THE SAUCERIAN: Pub. by Gray Barker, Box 981, Clarksburg, W. Va. Present issue runs to 60 pgs ($8\frac{1}{2}$ x 11"). Includes a synopsis of the Etheric ("4-D") explanation as offered through the BSR. Probably the most elaborate of all "saucer" publications. Four issues per year hereafter, no fixed dates. Singles, .35 . Recommended.

The Desmond Leslie book, "Flying Saucers Have Landed", may be purchased from "The British Book Center", 420 W. 45th St., New York 36, NY., at $3.50. Best book-length treatment so far. (Author D.L. is a BSR Associate and favorably disposed toward our "4-D" interpretation as received from the M.P. Controls).

"TIME MARCHES ON"

On the evening of February 9, k954, the radio commentator Frank Edwards made the following statement in the course of his news broadcast: That he was in possession of a document signed by a number of scientists, which stated that in their considered opinion the "unidentified flying objects" (discs, saucers, aeroforms in general) are operated by intelligent beings, come from other planets, and represent scientific achievements superior to our own. Mr. Edwards went on to say that elaborate preparations are being made in many parts of the world, for close observation of these objects during the coming summer, when the planet Mars will be at its point of nearest approach.

This announcement (so far ignored by press and radio) is one more forward step in the awakening of earth's inhabitants to the most momentous event in recorded history. Ignorance, stupidity, crafty evasions and deliberate lying about this decade-long incursion of the Space Beings, have had their day and come to their deserved end - the contempt of future generations, if such there be.

For eight years the BSR publications have insisted on the objective genuineness of these aeroforms and have explained their essential nature. The progress of events has justified every basic statement made by us - and continues to do so.

It is highly probable, almost certain, that some kind of statement will have to be issued within the next few months, by or with sanction of the highest governmental authorities. Any such statement is certain to be framed with the utmost care, on grounds of policy and public welfare. It should also be read with utmost care and with its purpose kept clearly in mind. The purpose of these present paragraphs is not to repeat scientific and metaphysical considerations, but to issue an advance warning against certain too-hasty inferences.

(1) Although the relative positions of Mars, Venus, and the earth have some (uncertain) bearing on the visitation, it must not be inferred that these visitors are themselves Martians or Venusians. These planets and other celestial bodies are places visited, or way-stations for the people of space.

(2) Do not infer (as is already done in some quarters) that these visitors are excarnate humans ("dead" people) - though there seem to be a number of these among them. Excarnate humans do not normally inhabit the etheric planes or worlds.

(3) Do not trust any quick and easy simplification of all these happenings. Do not think of space as being unoccupied nothingness - it is identical with substance (the ethers) of enormous density, and in it are innumerable worlds, and living beings of every imaginable kind. Objects and beings which we cannot see or touch are not therefore non-existent; they are simply in a different vibration rate or wave length. They become visible and tangible by converting the energy rate (somewhat like tuning-in on the radio, which converts into audibility).

(5) Do not infer that these visiting beings have moral and ethical ideas like our own - or that they have no differences among themselves.

Remember that (so far as is yet known) these people come to our planet in friendliness and good will. Most of them belong to the race known as the Guardians, who visit all planets for study of the cosmic processes, and for service to their inhabitants. They have visited the earth many times in past centuries.

(6) Remember that the danger in this situation arises from our own reactions - from fear and panic, and possible hostile acts - and that these are rooted in ignorance - and that ignorance can be remedied with time and patience.
