MY FIRST TEN MILLION SPONSORS: - by Frank Edwards: Ballantine Books, Inc. 101- 5th Ave., New York 3, N.Y. Paper, No. 138. 135 pgs.-.35

This is the lively, anecdotal, highly readable biography of one of the best known of American news commentators. It is, moreover, a picture of the American scene from a point of view unfamiliar to most readers. Since practically all books reviewed in BSR publications have special bearing on the problem of the aeroforms, I shall not comment further on the general content of the 'First Ten Million', other than to recommend it to our Associates. Sections dealing with the UFO phenomena begin on page 111.

'Did you really see something, or did you and the co-pilot both have what the Air Force calls a "hallucination?' Your experience is just one of thousands of ... similar reports, filed away as classified material, which keeps them from the prying eyes of newsmen. . . What may be the greatest news story of all time began on the afternoon of June 23, 1947. . . The next day the storm broke'(the Kenneth Arnold story).

'Sightings poured in from all parts of the United States, from Canada and Alaska and from ships at sea ... the Air Force made its initial backflip... A statement was released to the press that the mystery had been solved: everyone was having hallucinations! ! . On the same day thousands of perfectly sane citizens in Portland watched dozens of strange discs flip around the skies at tremendous altitudes. Many other cities reported similar sightings before the day was done. . .

'Since those first hectic days the Air Force has changed its position several times, generally with an ineptitude that served merely to underscore the contradictions in the official statements. Since the 1947 sightings in this country, similar objects have been reported from every country on earth, including the Soviet Union and its satellites... No nation has been able to produce a comparable device... They have been tracked by radar, photographed by movie cameras, by still cameras and by telescopic devices, seen at close range and on the ground... If the Air Force explanation is correct the problem is indeed serious, for the disease has spread into official circles and to the governments of many nations. . .

(Re, the UFO over Washington, D.C. July 20, 1952): 'Official explanation: the things were natural phenomena. If so,it is the first time in history that armed planes have been sent up to shoot down natural phenomena ... 'The CAA study (pg 118) is forced into the realm of speculation when it is forced to deal with Dr. Menzel's theory of temperature inversion... It does not explain how temperature inversions fly in formation and elude jet pursuit planes. . . Col. O'Mara scuttled the Pentagon statement when he told Leonard Stringfield that sightings were actually pouring in at the rate of more than 700 per week (1954)...

'Two separate groups of American physicists have told me in writing that they are of the opinion the UFO do not originate on this earth, but are created and operated by intelligent beings of a very high order (pg. 121)... Why don't they ever land? 'There is good evidence that they do land, usually at night.'... Near-collisions between aircraft and the UFO are no longer publicised... On Nov. 24, 1954, a Brazilian National Airlines passenger plane radioed an emergency call for immediate aid. The pilot reported that his plane was being circled by at least 15 shiny disc-shaped objects, and that his panic-stricken passengers were being kept in their seats at gunpoint by the co-pilot and steward. The story made front pages throughout South and Central America. It met with stony silence from the news services of the United States.... '

This sorry tale of official ineptitude (and worse) has been commented on many times, during the last ten years, by the BSR publications. As for the intimidation of civilian investigators, our readers may profitably consult another late book, They Knew too Much About Flying Saucers, by Gray Barker. One recalls the three simians with paws over ears, mouth, and eyes respectively. There are those who would gladly make monkeys of us all - forbidden to hear, speak or see any abuse of authority among our (official) superiors.

Ten Million Sponsors includes two other incidents - referred to here because our publications have given space to them in the past. One is the affair of the Drtsnes-Lazenby clinic in Pittsburgh. It has been some six years since author Frank Edwards investigated and warmly defended this remarkable treatment for cancer - and encountered the to-be-expected opposition of the A.M.A. Yet he can now write that "Not one statement that I ever made on my broadcasts dealing with this clinic was ever refuted or challenged by the powerful interests which sought to discredit the clinic".

The other incident - with which Edwards closes his book - is described as 'the strangest in thirty years of broadcasting! It concerns Lady Wonder, the 'talking horse' of Richmond, Virginia, and the disappearance of the three-year-old boy Ronnie Weitcamp. At the risk of unlimited ridicule, the author persuaded two of his friends to make the trip to Richmond and question the horse. By flipping up her hinged alphabet blocks she replied to a series of questions, in summary, as follows:

'The child was dead - had not been kidnapped - his body was in a hole near an elm tree less than a mile from where he was last seen - it would be found in "Dec." '

That was in October. The body was found in December, about a mile from the boy's home, in a hole near an elm tree. He had not been kidnapped, and was dead at the time 'Lady Wonder' made her statement.

There are more things in heaven and earth .....

(NOTE: Lady Wonder predicted the year of her own death. If any of our readers have the details about this, please send them to us for publication. ML).

FLYING SAUCER REVIEW: March-April, 1956. Vol. 2 No.2. Pub. bi-monthly at No. 1 Doughty St., London, W.C. 1, Eng. About 32 pgs., slick paper, illustrated, excellent material and editing. Price $3.50. Recommended.

(NOTE: This issue of the REVIEW was received by us on May 24, and we find that it contains two articles by Desmond Leslie, both of which were received independently by BSR Hdqrs. and published by us in Round Robin. We are not, therefore, poaching on REVIEW material, but cannot explain how it happened that duplicate manuscripts were sent to both publications).

The Honorable Brinsley le Poer Trench makes comment on Major Donald Keyhoe's "Flying Saucer Conspiracy"- and in very favorable terms. I quote the three short concluding paragraphs of his review:

"There is so much vitally important information in the book that it is difficult to highlight any one chapter ... Keyhoe does consider the possibility that the saucers may be hostile, but does not really commit himself. As he so aptly remarks in his last chapter, referring to the authorities: 'Even so, they are wrong to hide what they have learned. No matter what the explanation is, the world should be prepared.' -- The book contains brilliant objective writing and must be top priority for all who wish to establish the truth about the biggest event since the birth of Christ."

Writer and investigator Waveney Girvan, in the same issue of Flying Saucer Review, continues with the discussion of Major Keyhoe's book. I quote his last paragraph only. 'This book' (he writes)"quite strongly suggests that the truth is being kept in check because the facts are, or could be terrifying. This may not be the author's intentions, but that is the effect his fee-fi-fo-fumming must inevitably produce. The author could be right, of course, but the secrecy may be due solely to the fact that the governments of the world are just as puzzled as are the readers of this review. . . I fear that this explanation, however, is much too humdrum for Donald Keyhoe, who, judging by the title of his latest book, prefers to live in a world of dark conspirators and other shadowy figures."

From my own point of view - which I believe to be that of most of our BSR Associates also - the most 'in-going' contemporary comment comes from the pen of encyclopedic Arthur Constance, who is deeply grounded in metaphysics, and (praises be!) is not afraid to make use of his equipment. Anyone who thinks the problem of the UFO Visitation can be neatly cleared up by some bold stroke of text-book science only, without the use of metaphysical concepts, certainly rides for a hard fall. His article in the F.S. Review, entitled This Amazing Universe should be on a required reading course - for almost everybody. But I can quote only a few lines:

(Concerning the speed of light): 'The most recent estimates vary from 186,271 miles per second, to 186, 284 miles. I am now hurled into the street as a gate - crasher, or (changing the metaphor) dropped into the scientific ash-can, as I express my opinion that light has no speed, and does not travel in any sense of the word - in a train of waves or as corpuscles ... I hold firmly to my statement that most scientific statements involving mathematical symbols are meaningless and useless as media for approaching an understanding of reality". (The real meaning of anything - a factory, a world, a cosmos is determined by its relationships, its over-values)* 'Scientists are lost in a maze of meaningless symbols which have no relation to reality. . .

'What is the truth? No scientist of today, or body of scientists, has digested the knowledge of past centuries. The overriding tendency today is to discredit it, to over-emphasize the value of modern research... The indredibly vast archives of the past are neglected. The "latest" books are studied... After thirty years of research I feel that need of research into the past is vitally urgent as we enter a new era -- in which what we call UFO will become increasingly, perhaps alarmingly important ... "Sightings" will not cease, but they will pass into new evidential phases... The knowledge the satellites record and bring down will not be ordinary meteorological data ... There may be something, call it a mother ship or what you will, waiting out there in space, watching our world and fully prepared for anything we mad humans do ... Charles Fort suspected the (alleged) emptiness of the upper atmosphere.' (Arthur Constance goes on to show that Burton's Anatomy of Melancholy (1621) is a "mine of curious information" even about the UFO).

A correspondent of Flying Saucer Review contributes a remark (pg. 31) similar to one printed in the BSR publications some months ago. "If it is confirmed (says Scrutator) that a velocity of 210,000 miles per second has been found for a beam of electrons, at the Naval Research laboratory of the USA ... we may expect this to have some repercussions on Einstein's findings."

Since the velocity of light is said to be some 186,000 mi. per sec., and to be the maximum for our universe, these "repercussions" would be more nearly equivalent to an undermining and pulling-down of the whole sacred temple of relativity.

PROCEEDINGS of the College of Universal Wisdom is published at Yucca Valley, Calif. George W. Van Tassel, Director. Monthly. "Free to those who request it, and support it". (Donations accepted). (P.O. Box 419). The recent convention of "space-crafters" was attended by about 10,000 people.

The following paragraphs appear on pg. 6, ff. of the May-June issue of PROCEEDINGS. The article was apparently written by Director Van Tassell. Extravagant as his statements may seem, they itemize factors or elements actually in the back - ground of the world-situation. They are phases of coming realities and we print them from that point of view - but certainly without asking credence or any attempt at "proof":

> Deros, Teros, and Angels --- Explosions on our sun --- magnetic polar changes --- Polar ice-cap changes --- Hydrogen bombs and guided missiles --
> Anti-gravity devices --- Projection of a living human being through a solid wall without injury --- Making men become invisible --- Materialization of "dead" people by mechanism ---
> Paralyzing of persons for a short time --- Stoppages and control of radio--- and of TV, ignition systems, all electrical apparatus --- the recording of human thoughts anywhere, on or off the earth --- Universal energy being hidden --- Religions and 'Churchianity' being unmasked --- Discovery that humans are thought-forms of charged matter ---
> Time stands still --- Thoughts are forces, both for good and bad --- Intelligent life on other planets in our own solar system --- Interplanetary, interstellar and intergalactic travel --- A people defenseless against an evil force --- A people unaware of their godlike potentials --
> A Power of and for good that is manifesting itself in all space --- Underground, on the surface, and overhead life levels. Above all a balancing or neutralizing Force at eternal rest.

"While most of the earth's people"(writes Van Tassel, "leisurely go about their daily doings, a mighty phenomenon is rapidly reaching a climax that will directly affect all life on this planet."

"If the import and truth of the 'saucer' phenomena is suddenly made public, I venture to say that literally thousands will die of heart attacks and nervous collapse."

"If the ones who know the truth do not begin to ease the public from the blow, then it will be revealed in another manner

PREDICTION: (Proc. pg 15):

Watch for another series of earthquakes in the Mediterranean area. Watch for another series of tornadoes and hurricanes. Watch for a major quake in the San Andreas fault in California. All will follow the megaton nuclear tests of May in the pacific ocean area."

Concerning the appearance, some 7 - 8 years ago, of a large number of "Saucers" over Farmington, New Mexico; reportedly witnessed by hundreds of people. We would like to have the Farmington newspaper account of this, plus memo. from any eye-witnesses. (BSR Hdqrs.)

TELONIC RESEARCH BULLETIN: Published quarterly by the Telonic Research Center, (copyright). P.O. Box 1654; Prescott, Arizona. One year, $2.00; singles, .50

Project Magnet (the Canadian UFO study) was organized in December 1950 and officially discontinued in October 1954. Conclusions reached were expressed in an official report based on statistical analysis of sighting reports - as follows:

"There is a 91% probability that at least some of the sightings are of real objects of unknown origin. There is about a %60 probability that these objects are alien vehicles (i.e., not of earthly fabrication)". Other conclusions were (1) that many of our fundamental concepts are inherently ambiguous, and quite a different philosophy can be built up on these alternatives. (2) Some of our ideas with respect to fields and their behaviour are wrong . . . A definite pattern is emerging and groundwork is being laid for a new technology . . .'

Dr. George Hunt Williamson and the co-workers believe themselves to be in contact with the UFO entities. When asked 'what would you do to prevent an atomic war on earth?' these beings replied: "We will do absolutely nothing to prevent or stop such a war". They have added, that if we decide on peace they will eventually land, and will help us in many ways; but if we allow an atomic war to develop they will permit it to go on until all organization on both sides is destroyed. They are not permitted to interfere with the destiny of any planet or individual. (v. pg 17, Telonic Bul. Apr.-June '56).

(NOTE: The Probert Controls have stated, several years ago, that the Etherians are concerned chiefly with our planet, rather than its inhabitants, and that they will not permit its devastation or destruction. This is not necessarily in conflict with what is quoted in the paragraph above. At the same time, the feeling grows that only active intervention by these entities or other force majeure can avert a world conflict).

The Editor of the Telonic Bulletin evidently believes (as do we of the BSR) that there are important factors behind this 'Visitation', of a most portentous character - and that these will have to be broken to the public very slowly and with utmost caution (v. pg. 18, Bul.). This does not imply, however, that a whole decade of official denials and subterfuge can be justified.

". . . . . I have said time and again, in lectures and writings, that without some background in esoteric, occult or spiritual science there can be no depth penetration of the U.F.O. mystery. Piscean mentalities will never comprehend phenomena that are aquarian in scope, or pertaining to the New Age. Indeed, the Saucer controversy is one touchstone or method of separating the sheep from the goats in matters Aquarian and of the New Age sensibilities. Those who cannot bring themselves to think of invisible planes, entities and conditions will stand without the pale of advanced thinking in years to come. LET US IN is still the plea of those who speak from higher vistas of life!" (Cr. Gilbert N. Holloway, D.D., Ph.D., in "Travel Notes" - May, 1956.)

COMMENTS of Dr. Harlow Shapley:

On stars in billions, mice and men. In a Portland (Ore.) interview the famous astronomer is quoted as saying: (1) 'Astronomers believe that intelligent beings live on thousands of planets. There isn't a chance in a million that any of them look like earthly human beings, but some of them may be more intelligent than we are.

(2) 'There are billions of billions of stars. The number is at least 1 followed by 20 zeros (100,000,000,000,000,000,000, or 100 quintillion), and each is a potential source of light and warmth for accompanying planets. (3) Life probably does not exist around more than one star in 1,000. (4) Conditions like those on earth should be found at least 100 million times in the known universe.

(5) Man is ne of more than a milliom kinds of creatures on the earth. There was abundant life for a billion years before man appeared on earth. (6) There is no reason to believe that it is impossible for life elsewhere to be as intelligent as man - or more so. (7) There are more than 800,000 kinds of insects. There are so many kinds of animal life that there is hardly a chance statistically that any of the creatures on other planets look like us, or even like any of the mammals.

(8) 'There is little likelihood of high forms of life elsewhere in our solar system. There is a bare chance that some form of life may exist on Venus; the other planets are too hot or too cold. Life will be found only on planets the right distance from their suns (to have liquids such as water)'

For those who are interested in 'paranormal' sources of information: the Probert Controls once asserted that there are some 60 bodies in our solar system capable of supporting life resembling human earth beings. They also asserted that the human form, or human-like form was to some extent a standardized type, repeated on many planets - and that humanoid beings have been on earth for more than a billion years. As to the "astronomers believe" quoted in the first paragraph above - Dr. Shapley is of course speaking loosely for purpose of the interview; he certainly would say some astronomers (or maybe many) and add "it is my opinion that ..." ... Only a questionaire to all astronomers, plus the (unobtainable) replies to it, would give any dependable data on what "astronomers believe".

There is a 'worm or something' working at the roots even of the positive sciences. I do not mean so much the change in basic concepts in physics and chemistry - change is the prerequisite of growth - but a generation reared in science worship is beginning to suspect that its Gods have feet of clay. The objective achievements are astonishing, but there are too many things going on for which text books have no interpretation, and scientism no acceptances at all. Chief menace of all is the increasing rapprochement of speculative science with meta - physics - the latter term involving in this instance much of what is called occult or esoteric teachings from Oriental sources.

Maladie de Pendule: We do not wish to arouse hysteria, alert the FBI or cause a Congressional investigation - but we do hear (mouth to ear) that something has gone wrong with the Foucault Pendulum - and right in the Assembly Hall of the United Nations at that. This pendulum is a gold-colored sphere attached to the end of a 75-foot wire, and swings back and forth over a raised metal ring. The bob carries a marker so that change in direction of the swing is easily observable. The track of the marker will shift clockwise, and so gives visible proof of the earth's rotation. This instrument has now developed a faint clicking sound and is believed to have slowed down. 'Some new and unhealthy deviation in the earth's motion - maybe', suggests our Assoc. E.S.S. At any rate the patient (Bob) is under close observation. Diagnosis uncertain; prognosis, none.

VANCOUVER COUNCIL OF SOCIAL ENGINEERING-GENERAL WELFARE MOVEMENT (Vancouver, Canada)-

NUCLEAR TESTS: "Man's Peril from the Hydrogen Bomb": "Fortunately, many scientists have been outspoken about the risks involved in even 'mere' testing of nuclear weapons. Thus the French scientist, C.N. Martin, writing on the effects of the H-Bomb tests in the official organ of the French Academy of Sciences, states: 'Certain of the effects are of a terrestrial order of magnitude and may possibly bring about, if they continue to accumulate, consequences which are particularly serious... These consequences are of four principal types:

1. Chemical consequences... a twenty-megaton bomb can form a million tons of nitric acid...It is known that beginning at a certain level of acidity the metabolism of plants may undergo a complete disorganization.

2. Climatic effects... partial interception of solar radiation; local floods caused by heavy rains on the passage of fragments of the mushroom cloud...

3. Radioactive effects... presence of an important quantity of radioactive carbon... the mechanism by which carbon products are thoroughly distributed and consequently absorbed by all living beings is well known. (Radioactive carbon 14 has a half-life of 5,000 years.)

4. Genetic effects... it seems that a variation, even though small, in the natural level of radiation would cause important and irreversible effects."

To which final point Professor Sturtevant of Cal. Tech. adds ominously: 'The human race will reap a harvest of defective individuals, because of the increase in background radiation caused by only a few atomic bombs which have been exploded to date.' (from "Contemporary Issues", New York.) (quoted by G.W.M., P.O. Box 650, Vancouver, B.C., Canada.)

THE BORDERLINE SCIENCES REVIEW: A new publication, issued in London, obtainable in the U.S. from John L. Albers, 308 -14th Ave., Sterling, Ill. Quarterly. Annual subscr. 10/ - (about $2.00); single copies 2/6/ (.50). (Do not confuse B.S.R. with our B.S.R.A.).

This issue is No. 1 Vol. 1, and contains the usual introductory statement by the editor (Bruce Copen) - who defines Borderline Science as including radiesthesia, hypnosis, psychical-physics and spiritualism, and seems inclined to draw a sharp distinction between 'light' and 'dark' forces. He believes, as do most of our BSR Associates, that the science of the future will be thoroughly ecclectic, and will collate and integrate 'metaphsyical' and 'occult' findings with 'orthodox' science as now understood. This first issue of BSR includes also an article by BSR Associate Gaston Burridge (Deland's Magnetic Canopy); a section on Hidden Treasures Discovered by Dowsers, Negative Green, some rather familiar material on awareness in plants and telekinesis. The proposed program of the BS Review is ambitious but commendable. Recommended.

The REVIEW advertises a booklet on VIS VITAE ("the wonder south African healing mineral": Price 1 shilling, .20 Order thru J.L. Albers (above).

"FARMER BROWN'S HEALTH GERM" (or, Let's Look into This!).

In its issue for March 1956, FATE magazine published an article with title as underscored above, relating the story of John C. Brown, naturalist and bio - chemist, of Middleboro, Mass., and of his remarkable discovery of a catalyst, cell or matrix or biological unit of some sort which produced extraordinary effects on plant growth. "I did see with my own eyes " (writes J.E. Malloy, author of the article):

> "clover beds with stems 69 inches in height - timothy hay six feet in length - corn stalks bearing from 15 to 21 ears each - bean clusters 250 to the plant (compared with about 90 on neighboring farms - a single tomato plant with over 300 tomatoes ..."

All these wonders and more were produced by the use of the Brown cell or "B-cell" mentioned. The active principle is incorporated in a matrix of what appears to be cement, and circular pieces of this are placed in the water used for irrigation. No fertilizers or sprays are used. The FATE article quotes Mr. Brown's semi-technical explanations at considerable length and the general biological approach seems to be new, or at least unacceptable to his critics (which may come to the same thing). "They don't know what to look for" (says Mr. Brown) "and don't know what they've found when they've found it".

I cannot do justice here even to the summary quoted. The Food & Drug Commissioner derided the whole discovery and claimed that the extraordinary cellular activities observed under the microscope were simply a familiar one-celled organism, parame - cium. There is no evidence that any competent investigator or any Federal official ever condescended to visit Mr. Brown and study the evidence at first hand. This blankand dumb refusal to even listen to evidence and inspect tangible results is an old story. And the internal use of water treated by the B-cell, by humans, also gave surprising and very beneficial results. The reaction of the A.M.A. and the Food & Drug administration to such claims will be understood without comment here.

Now of course the BSR Director cannot argue the case for Mr. Brown, or 'prove' anything to anybody - but this whole business looks like an epochal discovery - and one which has no chance at all since it cuts at the roots of enormous finan - cial interests. My guess would be, there is just one 'out' for Mr. Brown, and that is the fortunate fact, that the evidence can be acquired at first hand by anybody. The thing to do is to send a postal to "The B-Cell Laboratory; 92 Miller St., Middleboro, Mass., asking for the small sample of the B-Cell Matrix - amounting to about a teaspoonful of the 'concentrated culture'. (No charge). Follow the simple directions on the envelope containing it.

Probably a good plan would be to get a half dozen or so small flower pots of equal size, plant (say) a bean in each one, have all the conditions as nearly identical as possible (light, temperature, soil), but give 3 of the pots the water treated by the B-cell, and non-treated water to the other three (the 'control' plants). Follow the simple directions on the envelope you received. . . If you want to observe the germination from the start, put seeds between glass plates on a layer of wet blotting paper. Of course all this can be transferred to your garden or any convenient spot, only be sure that the test conditions are maintained, Corn, wheat, fast growing vines should all respond - in very positive and observable fashion. -- Finally, it will pay you to write to FATE magazine, 806 Dempster St., Evanston, Ill., for one copy of the March 1956 issue (pg 69 for the article).

Since Mr. Brown has offered aoundant evidence, and it has NOT been refuted or even examined, it seems possible that this B-Germ discovery is of major importance - and also probable that it will share the fate of many others. But in proportion as such knowledge is diffused and made accessible, it becomes very hard to check and destroy it. -- And don't ask the 'experts' in advance, whether the B-Cell works or not - and whether yes or no, if you experiment let the BSR have a memo. about it.
