A MERRY CHRISTMAS.

AS is our custom at this festive season—a custom we feel the greatest pleasure in observing—we take the opportunity of wishing our readers, one and all, a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Indeed, we can hardly picture to ourselves what manner of man he must be who is slow to express these seasonable wishes. If there are times in the year, when it is considered a kind of necessity for men to differ among themselves more or less warmly, it is certainly desirable there should be also a time when men may sink their differences, and meet each other with the full determination of being as genial and pleasant as their means and opportunities will permit. The mere knowledge that at Christmas the different members of well nigh every family in England will devote themselves to pleasure of a rational character; that they will be gathering round the festive board, enjoying the innocent dance, or giving themselves up to the fun and frolic of Pantomime, or other seasonable entertainment, must be gratifying to all who know anything of the annoyances, the petty jealousies, the miserable spite, and other feelings of even a stronger character which influence different people, and even different members of the same family towards one another under ordinary circumstances. It would, of course, be much better if we could be jovial at all times; but as that seems difficult, if not—having regard to human failings—entirely out of the question, we must content ourselves with hoping and trusting that at Christmas, and during the early days of the New Year, all ill-feeling will be for the moment set aside. If we cannot, amid the cares of life and in the hurry of business, find a little leisure for the practice of that greatest of all virtues—Charity—let us obey its teachings now. In the course of the week which ends this day, the sun, the centre of our system, is supposed to have been for a short time stationary. The longest period of darkness has been reached, and we are beginning to look forward to a greater proportion of Light. Moreover, at the close of the Old Year we may fittingly balance our accounts with those with whom we may have had dealings, quite as well in respect of the feelings we may entertain towards them, as in that of mere ordinary business transactions, And the balance having been struck, we have it clear before us to enter on the New Year with lighter hearts and more kindly-disposed to our neighbours, as well as with new hopes and aspirations, so that if our course has run prosperously, it may continue to do so, even perhaps in an increasing degree; or, if it should have been accompanied by disappointments and losses, we may be able to neutralise the former, and retrieve the latter. Therefore, and quite apart from the ordinary eagerness for enjoyment, there are many and substantial reasons why we should miss no opportunity of meeting all our fellow beings, as we would like to see them meet us, as influenced solely by the dictates of Charity. If we are fortunately possessed of means, we can enable others to forget the sorrows and deprivations which are their unhappy lot. The pleasure we experience in our own particular circle will be proportionately enhanced. If we are not so situated, there is no reason why we should allow any but the kindliest feelings to influence us. There may be remedies for a purse with only very moderate contents, but bitterness of spirit towards our neighbours is assuredly not one of them. Hence, be we affluent or the reverse, we may enjoy ourselves at the present time in sympathy with each other and with the knowledge that, in the eyes of the Supreme Architect, there is no distinction between us. We repeat, therefore, our good wishes and trust that none of our readers will find the realisation of their pleasure fall short of their anticipations.

Having discharged ourselves of this principal duty, let us next endeavour to fulfil one which is only a degree less in importance. This is the opening number of our THIRTEENTH VOLUME, and it devolves upon us, therefore, to express to our friends and supporters our heartfelt thanks for their kind encouragement. We have, as we have remarked before on similar occasions, had an uphill task before us. It is no easy matter for a new journal to establish itself in public favour, or in the favour of that particular class to which it may appeal. Friends are apt to grow a little lukewarm when the first few months are gone and they find the future is not altogether as bright as it should have been. Others there are who hold aloof at the outset, the while they acknowledge there is room to spare for the new journal. They prefer not to commit themselves too soon, though, of course, their support at so critical a time might happen to make all the difference between success and failure. There is further the direct opposition, which but very few new ventures escape. We have, however, surmounted the difficulties thus engendered. Our friends have most loyally backed us up from the beginning. Those who held aloof have gradually extended towards us their sympathy, while the opposition we may have encountered in the beginning is no longer of a character to affect our position to any appreciable extent. For ourselves, we have striven earnestly to support the interests of the Craft. We may not, perhaps, on all occasions have adopted the policy which seemed best to our readers, and we are willing to admit that, in some instances, we may have been mistaken in the course we felt it our duty to advocate or uphold. Still, whatever may have been our shortcomings, we judge, from the regularly-increasing support we have received, either that those shortcomings have not been of a very striking character, or that our friends have graciously overlooked them, on the ground that if we have shown ourselves wrong-headed in this or that instance, we were not wrong-hearted. Still, whatever explanations there may be to account for the friendly reception we have experienced, it is with excusable pride we draw attention to the fact of our now having completed an existence extending over six years. We cannot, of course, as regards the future, say whether or not the number of our constituents will go on increasing. All we can promise is—that no effort will be spared to secure such a result. We shall continue steadily in the path we have pursued hitherto, our one object of ambition being to uphold, as far as we possibly can, the interests of Freemasonry. We shall use our utmost endeavours to observe, as heretofore, the strictest impartiality in the treatment of all questions of a controversial nature. We shall never lose sight of the important fact that a journal which sacrifices its independence of opinion in order to pander to the whims and caprices of a clique is worthless. Even those who differ from us most widely will appreciate us the more, the more they find us free from partiality in this or that direction. And with this determination, and a repetition of our hearty good wishes to all our readers, that they may enjoy themselves thoroughly during the period of festivity now begun, we pass to the consideration of other matters.

PHILADELPHIA, THE PREMIER MASONIC CITY OF AMERICA.—No. II.

By Bro. William James Hughan.

I HAVE no desire to "enjoy the last word" on the question of "The Mother City of American Freemasonry," and will endeavour to say nothing that will open up any "fresh bones of contention," in making my adieus to "Philadelphos" and Bro. R. F. Gould S.G.D.*

Bro. Gould has ably grasped the whole subject, and, as the presiding judge, has skilfully presented the various reasons pro and con affecting the position of the City of Philadelphia Masonically for 1730-1, and illustrated the argument with most valuable notes and Lists of Lodges.

I should be quite content to let the matter rest, as lucidly arranged and considered in his three most interesting articles, were it not for the fact that in No. 308 my remarks had regard only to the first of the trio.

1. The reference by Bro. Gould to an early edition of "Masonry Dissected" is a good one, and I hope will lead to some being discovered with Lists of Lodges 1731-2-3. The first edition 1730 had none. Others issued in 1730 to 1734 may have had, but they have not come across my path.

2. The "Dublin" Companion 1735 is mainly a copy of the Engraved List of 1734, (reproduced by me, as also the "Dublin" one) and so is Picard's 1735. The first has 79 credited to Philadelphia, the second has the No. vacant, and in the third it is duly credited to a London Lodge. Evidently it is well to note the fact of more than one edition of the Engraved Lists being occasionally issued in the same year.

3. It is also curious to note that No. 79 is vacant in Dr. Rawlinson's List of 1733, probably a copy of the authorised List; just as it is unfilled in the Engraved List of 1734.

4. Bro. Gould thinks it very likely that a Lodge did exist as No. 78 before the London one he has traced, but does not accept the Philadelphia claimant as the one. He, however, has furnished some capital suggestions in favour of our No. 79, and one especially, which not only is new to me, but to every one else. I refer to the Engraved signs of the Inns or Taverns. The Dublin List speaks of the "Hoop," in Water Street, Philadelphia (U.S.A.) Bro. Gould hits the "nail on the head" in remarking that "the Tun may have been so pictured in an official list as to have been taken for a Hoop." Apparently, the Irish Editor did so. At all events, no "Hoop" in Water Street appears to have been known in Philadelphia,† in 1730-2, but the "Tun" was, and in that tavern the Prov. G. Lodge of Pennsylvania assembled 26th June 1732! (Pennsylvania Gazette, No. 187, A.D. 1732.) Such unexpected confirmatory evidence, though but of a negative character, is surely sufficient to induce us all to believe as likely that the Dublin Editor copied from an Engraved List of the G.L. of England, in which No. 79 appeared, and credited it to the "Tun," Philadelphia.

5. As Bro. Gould states that some of my conclusions are of a discrepant character, I fear my meaning has not been put quite clearly. Last century it mattered not generally whether the G.M. issued (or granted) the Warrant, or the Prov. G.M. did (as in the case of Boston in 1733, and many others, even at "home"), so long as it was granted by one or other of those authorities. Either was a legal Warrant, and so 79, whether granted by the G.M. or the Prov. G.M., would be of similar force or authority.

That Bro. Caldwallader's letter establishes the fact that no English Warrant was sent or received, is not proved though I confess it is not clear on the subject. I do not wish to lay an undue stress on this point, but only desire to exhibit the view, that whether it was received or not or Coxe granted a Warrant as Prov. G.M., it matters not as the legality of the beginning of the Craft in Philadelphia under either hypothesis is assured, and the probability is that No. 79 represented the first Lodge in America.

6. I attach much importance to Bro. Caldwallader's admission of the bona fide character (to say the least) of the Dublin Register, and particularly am I impressed with the ingenious suggestion of his as to the "Hoop" being mistaken for a "Tun," which says volumes in favour of the view that the compiler had an early list of Lodges before him, engraved, with the "Signs" of the Taverns, by order of the Grand Lodge of England.

7. I am most willing to admit that, considering the extraordinary attention, time, and patience which Bro. Gould has devoted to the intricate details (numerically and generally) of our "Old Lodges," he has the best right of any to speak positively and authoritatively on the subject, and that in the department he has selected in which to exhibit his accuracy of research and fidelity to truth, he has no equal.

For him, then, to admit, that "the balance of argument is perhaps, in favour of the view espoused by Bro. Hughan," though he introduces several weighty points against my theory, disposes me to believe that it is, so far, the most likely explanation of the puzzle, and that whatever may be the faults of my advocacy, the facts, so far known, tend in favour of my client!

I have to thank the Editor of the "Freemason's Chronicle" for the careful reproduction of my MSS., and hope that the subject has proved as interesting to its readers as it has to myself.

* Vide "Freemason's Chronicle," Nos. 305-6-7-12.

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENTS.

WE have latterly had—it would be almost impossible to say we have been latterly enjoying—such variable weather, that whether or not this present Christmastide will be an old fashioned one with plenty of snow on the ground—and in London at all events, the attendant comforts—or whether or not it will be wet and muggy, as has too often been the case for many years past, it is, at the moment of writing, quite impossible to say. For this reason, it would be obviously premature to formulate an opinion as to how those who cater for the outdoor amusement of the public will fare, and whether the excellent provision they have been announcing, for some time past, for the chief among the Christmas holidays will have a fair opportunity of being appreciated. Even those who provide indoor amusement will find the Treasury fuller or less full according as the weather is more or less fine. Still, as there is no knowing the changes which a single period of twenty-four hours may bring forth, it will not be out of place to give a rough sketch of the various entertainments which are promised us.

Pantomimes, of course, as peculiar to Christmas, claim our first attention, and we think it matter for general satisfaction, that it will find a home at so many of our theatres. "Old Drury" promises to present to us "Mother Goose," by the veteran Blanchard, the music being especially composed by F. Wallerstein. The cast in the opening part will include Miss Kate Santley, Miss Emma D'Auban, Miss Marian D'Auban, and Messrs. John D'Auban, James Fawn, Charles Ross, Julian Girard, &c. The principal dancers are Mdlle. Palladino and the Misses Percival and Clara Fisher, and the Clowns Fred Evans, the Little Rowella, and Little Bertie Coote; scenery by William Telbin, Henry Cuthbert, and Henry Emden. "Valentine and Orson," by Mr. F. C. Burnand, is the title of the pantomime at Covent Garden; it will have the benefit of Bro. F. B. Chatterton's large experience as stage manager, while the ballet and general pantomimic effects will be arranged by Mr. Cormack. Mr. William Beverley will prepare the scenery; Mr. Karl Meyder provides the music; and among the artists engaged are the Vokes Family, Mr. F. Barsby, H. Payne and C. Laurie as clowns, &c. Costumes by Mrs. S. May and Miss Fisher. The above will be presented for the first time on Boxing-night, but at the Surrey and Grecian a sort of grand public rehearsal has been arranged for Christmas Eve. At the former the pantomime, by Mr. F. W. Green, is entitled "Hop-o-my Thumb," and was to be produced under the joint auspices of Messrs. George Conquest and Holland. Turning to the East of London, we find the Bros. Douglass who, at the Standard, by all accounts are likely to have well sustained their reputation, and the same may be said of the fair proprietress of the Britannia. The first representation of the Crystal Palace Pantomime "Aladdin," by the Brothers Grimm, took place on Thursday, the leading characters being enacted by Mr. Venne Cook, Mr. W. Randall, Miss Hudspeth (Mrs. E. Phelps), Miss Edith Bruce, and music by Mr. Oscar Barrett, Harlequinade by Mr. W. Hawkins. On Boxing Day at the Alexandra Palace will be performed "Puss in Boots," written by Mr. Frank Stainforth, with music by W. Corri and ballets by John Lauri; principal characters by Miss Julia St. Ledger, Miss Clyffordo, Miss Caroline Parkes; Messrs. Rayner, Lauri, the Great Deeona, &c. At the Gaiety was given yesterday the new Christmas burlesque of the "Forty Thieves" by Mr. Reece; principal artists, Misses Farren, Vaughan, Gilchrist, Messrs. Terry, Royce, Dallas, &c. At several of the theatres, such as the Haymarket, the Lyceum, &c., the present programme will be continued; while at the Royal Princess's will be produced on Boxing Night "The Fool's Revenge." At Her Majesty's, Haverley's American Colored Mastodon Minstrels will re-appear on Monday. Yesterday was fixed for the re-opening of the Mohawks at the Agricultural Hall, with a grand special programme suitable to the occasion, afternoon performances being given at three p.m. on Boxing Day and the day following. The Christy's, at St. James's Hall, open also with a special programme, and at the Royal Aquarium will take place a "Stapendous Spectacular Splendour," entitled "A Night in Pekin." Hengler's Circus, the Royal Polytechnic, and other places of entertainment will also offer many new and attractive items to this ordinary round of amusements. Thus, if the weather is not over propitious for out-door sports and pastimes, there is very little likelihood of there being a lack of choice, to judge from the brief outline we have given above of the spectacular and dramatic representations which are either promised us or have already been began.

CONSECRATION OF THE WILLIAM OF WYKEHAM LODGE, No. 1883.

THE Rev. A. A. Headley Prov. G. Chaplain, W.M. elect of the Lodge of Harmony, No. 309, Fareham, delivered the following oration on the occasion of the Consecration of this Lodge on Monday, 13th inst.:—Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Masters, Officers and Brethren,—The duty of saying a few words by way of customary oration has now fallen upon me, and let me assure you that I esteem it a high privilege to be invited to address a meeting at which so many brethren of Masonic eminence and ability are gathered together. I feel, in the presence of some who may be well called "Fathers in Israel," that it may appear almost presumptuous on my part to tell them what is the foundation on which Masonry rests, and what is the nature and design of the institution. The words of the great Hooker must plead for me. I must ask you, in his words, "Regard not who it is that speaketh, but weigh only what is spoken." If in anything I am going to say to-day I travel over ground well trodden before, if my oration seem in some respects a thrice-told tale, I must ask your Masonic indulgence for two reasons. First, although the ground may be well trodden, it is for that very reason that I would ask you to pass over it once more. There is but one royal road in Masonry as in everything else, and along that royal road so many men of eminence have passed that we shall do well if we follow in their footsteps. We have a very high authority which bids us "ask for the old paths." Secondly, if the tale be a thrice-told one, what of that? If we really love Masonry the recital of its good qualities will ever be refreshing to our minds. We shall be like children who, having heard us tell a charming story, beg us to tell it over again the very moment we have finished it. The wise man will ever bring out of his treasury things old as well as new. We have met together to-day to consecrate a new Lodge, and, at the opening of a new Lodge the question naturally occurs to many minds, "Why should this Lodge be opened?" We within its walls are at no loss to supply an answer. But what reason can we give to the uninstructed world who are not Masons? When the Masonic clothing has been laid aside, when we have locked our secrets in a safe and sacred repository, when we mingle with the outer world, are we not sure to have the question asked us, "What is the use of another Lodge?" This question is intimately connected with another—"What is the use of Freemasonry?" We must be ready to give an answer. We must remember that we live in an age of inquiry; an age, to a certain extent, of rooting up and pulling down; an age in which the dearest traditions which the human heart can cherish will not be respected, merely because they are traditions in which old institutions will not be preserved merely because they are old. There is a want of reverence in the present generation of which our forefathers knew nothing. There are many who have a genuine contempt for the past. It is dead and gone. It has nothing to teach them, nothing to impart to them in the way of vigour and of life. It has no claims on living, working, thinking men. Do not let us imagine then for one moment that the antiquity of Masonry is in itself a sufficient reason for preserving it in the present day. But there are two ways in which a thing may be old. Look at two trees! The one old, decayed, losing by every winter's storm some of those branches which were its glory, till it becomes a mere wreck of a tree, old and unsightly, an eyesore on the fair landscape. Look at another tree, in whose very age consists its massive beauty. I have such a one in my mind's eye at present—a giant oak, which has been spared while its neighbours have been felled, which has a space cleared round it, so that nothing may interfere with a full view of its magnificent proportions. We need not ask, brethren, which of these trees Freemasonry resembles. Decay and decrepitude and distortion have found no place in the fabric of our noble science. Vigorous and healthful it rears its head above all its brethren of the forest—above any institution in any way claiming kindred with it. It is only while it keeps in this state of vigorous old age that we have an answer to give to the outside world to their questions—Why does Freemasonry exist? Each one who loves Masonry must surely desire that it should be kept in this prosperous condition. How is this to be done? There is one way, and one only, by which it can continue its healthful career, namely, by adhering closely to the ancient landmarks of the Order, by resting firmly on that foundation of which we, as Masons, boast. Dr. Anderson, who was Grand Warden in 1723, declared that "the end and moral purpose of Masonry is to subdue our passions, not to do our own will; to make a daily progress in a laudable art; to promote morality, charity, good fellowship, good nature, and humanity." Whence is it that this end is derived? There can be but one source, the first of those great though emblematic lights which greets each newly-obligated candidate in our Lodges—the Volume of the Sacred Law. That is the real foundation. Do not let me be mistaken. It has been well said that Freemasonry is not a religious society, professing to teach and define the dogical truth, but a peculiar system of morality, veiled in allegory and illustrated by symbols. It is no more part of her domain to lay down theological truth than it is the part of the musician to prescribe regarding artistic beauty, though music and painting are twin sisters, even as religion and morality must go hand in hand. Freemasonry is a religious society, so far as this—She is founded on the Volume of the Sacred Law. She declares that unless a man believes in a personal God and a future state that man is not to be entrusted with the sacredness of an obligation, that man is not to be permitted even to cross the threshold of the first degree. Think how important this is! I may have seemed to dwell on this point, but at the consecration of a new Lodge I cannot well do otherwise, because the prosperity of the new Lodge will depend upon the characters of the individual brethren who form it being moulded upon the principal laid down in that sacred volume. The foundation is laid to-day, but the superstructure is left to the brethren who form the Lodge. It is in their hands whether they rise, even as our Grand Master King Solomon did, a beautiful home abounding in glory and excellency, or whether it be marred and disfigured. If each member of this new Lodge be careful in the building up of his own individual temple, the temple of his body according to the principles of Freemasonry, then the united temple, this Lodge, will be fair and harmonious. Let each remember the foundation on which Masonry rests—the Volume of the Sacred Law, let each remember the duties it inculcates—the practice of every moral and social virtue, let each remember the important duties he owes to God, his neighbour, and himself, let prudence direct him, temperance chasten him, and justice be the guide of all his actions—then, and then only, will he be able to give an answer to the outer world, "Why Masonry exists?" "Why this new Lodge has been consecrated?" The best answer of all is the epitaph on our alleged Grand Master Sir Christopher Wren, "Si quæris monumentum circumspice." Do you want to know what Masonry is? Look around. Regard its unselfish labours of love. It educates the orphan, and cheers the widow's heart. It relieves the distress, and comforts the sorrowing. It helps us all to become better men, wiser men, holier men. Let us at the opening of this new Lodge determine that within its walls the theory and practice of Freemasonry may never be divided, and that its true principles may accompany us when we leave this room and engage in our daily avocations. If this be so, may we not be sure that the William of Wykeham Lodge, at Winchester, will be as great in its day and generation as he after whom it is named was in his.

MEETING OF THE LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

THE Lodge of Benevolence held its monthly meeting at the Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday evening. The chairs of the President, Senior and Junior Vice Presidents, were occupied by Bros. Joshua Nunn P.G.S B., Senior Vice President, James Brett P.G.P. Junior Vice President, and S. Rawson Past District Grand Master of China. There was a large attendance of brethren. Recommendations to the amount of £500 made at last meeting were first confirmed. There were forty-five new cases on the list, the largest number the Lodge has ever had before it at one meeting. The President called the brethren's attention to this fact, and stated that the Lodge had this year already exceeded its income by £1200. The brethren then considered these cases. After sitting nearly four hours and a half, the list was disposed of. Three cases were deferred, being incomplete. The remaining forty-two were relieved, with a total sum of £958. The amount granted by the Lodge during the year is £9,223, and 308 cases have been relieved.

PRESENTATION TO BRO. E. S. MAIN.

THE services of a zealous member of the Craft were on Thursday evening, the 16th inst., recognised in a manner that must have been highly gratifying to the recipient of a substantial expression of appreciation of his efforts in the cause of Masonry, more especially in connection with the foundation of the Landport Lodge, No. 1776, which is held in the Freemasons' Hall, Commercial-road, Landport, and had already attained a large measure of success. Bro. E. S. Main P.M. and P.Z. P.P.G.D.C. having intimated his desire to retire from the Secretaryship of the Lodge, of which he was one of the Founders, and the duties of which he has performed with conspicuous energy and ability, it was thought that the time had arrived for the presentation of a testimonial. The readiness with which the brethren contributed must enhance the value of the testimonial, which was presented on Thursday evening at the supper which followed the regular meeting, when, in the unavoidable absence of the W.M. (Bro. C. G. Adames), Bro. G. A. Green P.M. P.P.G.D.C. occupied the chair, and about fifty brethren were present. The presentation to Bro. Main consisted of a handsome black marble fourteen day clock (supplied by Bro. G. Dimmer, of High-street, Portsmouth). A silver slab bore the following inscription:—

Presented to
Bro. E. S. Main, P.M., P.Z., and P.P.G.D. of the County of Hants,
By his Masonic Friends,
In recognition of his great services, on his retirement from the Secretaryship of the Landport Lodge, No. 1776.
16th December 1880.

A fine tricord piano, by Warne, of the value of £15, was presented to Mrs. Main. The presentation was made in suitable terms by the Chairman, and Bro. Main tendered his thanks in a lengthy speech, relating principally to Masonic matters. A large portion of the evening was devoted to harmony, Bro. Miles, the Lodge Organist, rendering welcome assistance.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Much watchfulness must be exercised at the present time, and the earliest symptoms of disorder must be promptly checked—even a slight chill may result in a serious malady. Relaxed and sore throat, influenza, coughs, colds, shortness of breath, bronchitis, and all other pulmonary affections will be relieved by rubbing the Ointment well on the chest as far as practicable to the seat of mischief. Without delay, as much and as often as is necessary, the Ointment should be rubbed into the throat, chest, and back, as directed for the use of the Pills. These directions during infancy and youth. Old sufferers should well observe. Millions relief from the use of Holloway's remedies, which have brought to many such sufferers, and re-established health, after every other means had signally failed.

THE MOTHER CITY OF AMERICAN FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In quoting from Henry Price's letter of Aug. 6, 1755, I have omitted one passage, which with your permission I will now introduce, by re-stating the terms of the said letter, so far, as in my judgment, these bear upon the topic under discussion in your columns.

[Copy of Letter from Henry Price, dated August 6, 1755.*]

"I would inform you that . . . I Recd my Deputation from the Right Honble Lord Montague in April 1733 . . . We are the oldest (or first Constituted) Regular Lodge in America . . . Masonry has had as great Success in America Since my settling here as in any part of the World (except England). Here is not less than Forty Lodges Sprung from my first Lodge in Boston . . . I have some remote thoughts of once more seeing London with all Brethren in the Grand Lodge after Twenty Two years absence."

"Boston, New England, August 6, 1755."

I am desirous of drawing attention to the passage distinguished by italics. According to my view, it is not a little singular, that Bro. H. Bell in 1754, and Henry Price in 1755, should each have employed the term "Regular Lodge," in evident contra-distinction to some other Masonic organisation, with which they were familiar.

Yours fraternally,

R. F. GOULD.

WITHDRAWAL OF VISITORS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—For the information of "THE IRREPRESSIBLE TOMKINS," I beg to refer him to the report of the proceedings of the Goodwill Lodge, Port Elizabeth, contained in your issue of the 21st September 1878, and to your leader of same date, headed, "Visitors: their Rights and Privileges."

How you, Sir, can reconcile your reasoning of 1878 with that contained in the CHRONICLE of last week is a matter which does not further concern,

Yours fraternally,

JOHN CONSTABLE.

328 Mansion House Chambers,
20th December 1880.

[With all due respect to Bro. Constable, we must point out to him that our article of 1878 and our editorial note of last week are reconcilable. The former was based on certain "ifs," the latter on more precise information contained in our reporter's footnote to his notice of Tranquillity, No. 185, and as yet uncontradicted by Bro. Constable himself. The difference between our position in 1878 and 1880 is, that in the latter year we are in possession of the reason why the W.M. of the Goodwill Lodge requested Bro. Constable to retire, namely, because the business did not concern a stranger. We did not know this in 1878. We will further take the liberty of pointing out that in the report which appeared in our columns of this particular meeting of the Goodwill Lodge, it was mentioned that the W.M. expressed willingness to retract his wish for Bro. Constable's withdrawal if the latter insisted on his rights and privileges, which, be it remarked, only extend to presence during ordinary business; but the offer was declined. Thus Bro. Constable, i the first place objected to the W.M.'s invitation to withdraw, and, in the next place, declined his invitation to remain. Probably, when our brother considers the facts of the case more seriously he will admit either that he should not have objected to withdraw, or that he should have accepted the W.M.'s invitation to remain.—ED. F.C.]

AN APPEAL.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

SIR,—As I was requested, by a resolution passed at a public meeting, to act as honorary secretary to a Bazaar in aid of St. John's Hospital for Diseases of the Skin, I may be pardoned for asking you to accord me space in your columns to appeal to the public for help.

Charles Reade, the eminent author, says with reference to it, "The fatal scurvy, the foul leprosy, the maddening eczema, are all skin-diseases, and all far more common than supposed, causing the sufferers to be despised or shunned, whereas internal maladies invite the boon of sympathy. Take the fate of domestic servants so afflicted. Their employers dismiss them, however meritorious, and their friends shun them; mental despair too often follows, and they say with the Patriarch Job, whose bodily affliction, selected by knowledge and malignity in person, was a disease of the skin, 'my misery is greater than I can bear.'

"Against such a weight of suffering, shame and sorrow, what is the special provision in our enormous city? I am acquainted only with one small hospital—that ought to be a great one, and will be in a year if the public pleases.

"This is St. John's Hospital for Diseases of the Skin in Leicester-square, where the medical officers prescribe on an average for nearly four hundred patients every week. It has already admitted 25,175 new patients.

"It is open without payment to all creeds and all races, the sole credentials for admission being disease and poverty. A leper from India, a Jew from New York, a labourer from New Zealand, mariners from Germany, a clerk from France, have been some of its inmates."

The Bazaar will take place in June next. In the meantime St. John's Hospital labours under a heavy load of debt. I beg you, therefore, to let me urge your readers to subscribe now to the Bazaar Fund, and these amounts shall be at once handed over to the Hospital. A more deserving charity does not exist. I shall also be very glad to receive the names of ladies who will work for the Bazaar. Contributions may be sent to the Chairman of the Hospital, the Right Hon. W. N. Massey, M.P., 71 Chester-square, S.W.; to its Treasurer, Major Mercier, 13 High-road, Knightsbridge, S.W.; to the following members of the Board of Management: the Marquis Townshend, Balls Park, Herts; Sir Charles Palmer, Bart., Dorney Court, near Windsor; or Col. Gourley, M.P., Sunderland; also to the London and County Bank, Albert Gate, London, S.W., and the London Joint Stock Bank, Pall Mall, S.W., and to

Your obedient servant,

20th Dec. 1880. Hon. Secretary.

The Lodge having been opened in due form, it was announced that the Very Rev. A. P. Purey-Cust, D.D., Dean of York, Grand Chaplain of England, requested admittance. A deputation of Past Masters was appointed by the Worshipful Master to conduct the Very Worshipful Brother into the Lodge, and upon his entrance he was saluted with grand honours. The W.M., on behalf of the Lodge, expressed his sense of the honour conferred upon it by the presence of the Grand Chaplain, and the gratification experienced by its members when the dignity of Dean of the ancient Cathedral City, in which they were assembled, was conferred upon a brother so eminent and distinguished in the Craft. The Dean, who was most enthusiastically received, after thanking the brethren for the cordial reception given him, said that it afforded him much pleasure to be present on that occasion, to make the acquaintance of his Masonic brethren in York; expressed his regret that circumstances had hitherto prevented his attendance at the Lodge of which he had been admitted a member, and assured the brethren of his deep interest in the well-being and prosperity of the Craft. The minutes of the two previous Lodges were read and confirmed, after which, at the request of the W.M., Bro. Todd P.M. took the chair as Installing Master, and opened the Lodge in the second degree. The W.M. elect Bro. Mark Rooke S.W. was then presented by Bros. Hollon and Lawton, Past Masters; the ceremony of installation was proceeded with, and Bro. Rooke was duly installed in the chair of K.S. according to ancient custom. The ceremony was performed by Bro. Todd in his accustomed efficient and impressive manner. The W.M. afterwards appointed and invested the following brethren as his Officers for the ensuing year, namely, Bros. W. H. Gainforth I.P.M., J. S. Rymer S.W., G. Kirby J.W., the very Rev. A. P. The Dean, in reply to the toast of H.R.H. The Grand Master and the Officers of the Grand Lodge, paid a high compliment to the manner in which H.R.H. performed the ceremony of laying the foundation stones of Truro Cathedral, and pointed out to the brethren the great value of Masonry as tending to foster andd iffuse what was so much needed in these times—a brotherly and charitable spirit.

The Festival of St. John the Evangelist will be celebrated by a Banquet at the Masonic Hall on Tuesday, the 28th instant.

LODGE ELIOT, No. 1164, ST. GERMANS.

Betty S.D., W. M. Foreman J.D., P. O'Doherty I.G., P.M. George Barnes Treasurer, P.M. W. F. Creber Secretary; John Hawke Tyler, who was re-appointed. The accounts of the Lodge having been examined and found correct by the auditors, there still remained a balance of £5 5s against the Lodge. Bro. P.M. Henry Pole said that being the only balance of an unpaid debt, he had very great pleasure in handing in a cheque for the amount. The furniture of Lodge Eliot is very good, and there is this consolation that both the Craft Lodge and the Chapter are free from debt. P.M. Pole has been extremely liberal ever since he has been a member. The annual banquet was afterwards held at the Eliot Arms, and reflected great credit on Mrs. Jenkins, the hostess. In addition to the above-named, there were present from Lodge Zetland, 1071, Saltash—Bro. E. C. Vosper J.W., T. D. Deeble S.D., J. C. Kinsman Tyler, Captain J. G. Tomlin and J. The W.M. then initiated into the mysteries of the Craft Messrs. W. Wheelhouse sen., W. Wheelhouse jun., Taverner and Grimley (who had been previously balloted for), in a manner which showed to the brethren their Lodge had lost none of its former prestige by electing Bro. J. A. Taverner as their Master for current year. Other business of a minor character having been disposed of, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet, well and substantially provided by Bro. Mathison, the host. On the removal of the cloth, the W.M. gave the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. Bros. Driscoll and Stephens responded to the toast of the Visitors; Bros. Cecil and Thompson to that of the Past Masters. On behalf of the Initiates, Bro. Wheelhouse sen. made a most eloquent and effective speech, expressing the great pleasure and pride he felt at being admitted that evening a member of the honourable and ancient Order of Freemasons. During the evening the W.M. invested, on behalf of the members, Bro. Oxley, the retiring W.M., with a handsome jewel, as a token of their esteem and regard, and of their appreciation of the efficient and admirable manner in which he had performed the duties of the chair during the past year. Middlesex, and Bros. J. T. Rucker P.G.D., S. Leith Tomkins P.G.D., Æneas McIntyre, Q.C., G.R., Philbrick, Q.C., D.P.G.M. Essex, and many other distinguished brethren. Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. Bro. J. P. Seagrave Zetland Lodge No. 511 was unanimously elected a joining member. The Lodge was advanced to the third degree, and the W.M. ably and impressively raised Bros. B. Brett, T. Hine, and T. Richards, Bro. Kift playing appropriate music during the ceremony. Walters, Colville, and Captain Helder were elected Auditors. Bro. Cantle P.M. said that during the past year the W.M. had given such satisfaction to the Lodge, that the gift of a Past Master's jewel had been unanimously sanctioned by the members, the same as had been presented to Brother Colonel Creaton I.P.M. on his leaving the chair. He had now the pleasure of presenting it to the Worshipful Master. The Lodge was then closed until the second Thursday in February. A very sumptuous and recherché banquet was provided by Bro. A. Best, and served under the superintendence of Bro. Dawkins. Grace having been sung, the W.M. gave the toast of the Queen and the Craft, and the National Anthem was sung, Miss Grace Godolphin sustaining the solo parts. Bro. Col. Sir Francis Burdett responded to the toast of the Grand Officers. Col. Creaton, in eulogistic terms, proposed the health of the W.M., who, in his capacity of Warden, had well done what was required of him; and as a Master was fulfilling all their anticipations. He was convinced the brethren would give the toast the reception it merited. After a song by Bro. Cantle, the W.M. thanked the Grand Treasurer for his kind expressions, and the brethren for their hearty reception of the toast. When he was installed into the chair he promised to do his duty, and he trusted he had done so to their satisfaction. He had to tender his thanks to every brother in the Lodge for the support he had received. The next toast was that of the Visitors. The W.M. called upon Bro. R. F. Gould, Grand Deacon, to respond. Bro. Gould briefly acknowledged the compliment, referring, in eulogistic terms, to the way in which the work had been conducted, and to the bounteous hospitality the members displayed. The next toast on the list was the health of the Secretary, who was likewise a Founder of the Lodge. The W.M. said that the members on this occasion entrusted him with a most agreeable duty—that was to present Bro. Cantle with a testimonial, consisting of a clock and two vases; he could have wished that some one of more elevated rank had been entrusted with the duty, but he was fully assured no one could do it with heartier good wishes. In addition, the Officers of the Lodge had requested him, on their behalf, to tender for Bro. Cantle's acceptance, a ring in token of his being wedded to the Lodge and its services. After a descriptive recital by Bro. W. G. Reynolds, Bro. Cantle expressed his acknowledgments. Afterwards the remaining toasts were fully honoured, and able responses made. In due course the Tyler was summoned, and the brethren separated.

General Lawrence has been this month elected to the Grand Mastership of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, U.S.A. The brethren of this jurisdiction work extremely well together, and, we doubt not, will so continue to do under the auspices of their new chief.

The Freemason's Manual; or, Illustrations of Masonry. Containing, in addition to the Rites sanctioned by the United Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter of England and Wales, the Mark Man and Mark Master, a full account of all the Degrees included in the Ancient and Accepted Rite; together with the Knights Templar Degrees, the Red Cross of Rome and Constantine, the Royal Order of Scotland, and brief notices of the Rites professing to be connected with Freemasonry, &c., &c. By JEREMIAH HOW, K.T. 30°, Past Master of Lodges Nos. 69 and 661, P.Z. of Chapters Nos. 410 and 452; P. Prov. G. Director of Ceremonies of Herts and Surrey. Third Edition. Revised and Illustrated. London: John Hogg, Paternoster Row. 1881.

IT is fifteen years since the second edition of this work was published, and, having regard to the extent of the information it contains, we are not surprised that a re-issue should have been called for. It will be a source of satisfaction to our readers to know that it appears under the direct personal supervision of Bro. How himself, who has been aided in his task by several brethren of distinction, and possessing a special degree of knowledge of the section entrusted to them for revision. Under their joint editorship the work has been made as complete as possible as to its information in respect of all the different branches of Freemasonry. Thus, whole chapters or articles have been added on the Royal Order of Scotland, the Order of the Temple as now constituted, the Swedenborgian Rite, the Antient and Primitive Rite, &c., respectively; and these additions, coupled with the emendations made on the previous editions, bear undoubted testimony to the assiduous labours, as well as the ability and research, of Bro. How and his coadjutors. Viewing this Manual as an historical sketch of the various Masonic Rites, we must, of course, enjoin on our readers the necessity there is for not accepting unreservedly the data furnished. Indeed, we feel justified in assuming that these particulars, which have been collated from various sources, mostly to some extent trustworthy, are intended to represent not so much a veritable history of various Rites, as an agglomeration of the various records which have from time to time appeared in other works. We do not for one moment imagine, for instance, that Bro. How and his co-editors and reviewers seriously accept the theory that Frederick the Great of Prussia had anything whatever to do with the establishment of the Ancient and Accepted Rite. We have seen it so stated in various works, and with a degree of sincerity which is most creditable to the imagination of their respective authors; but as, in these days, there cannot possibly be more than a few devoted and, we think we may venture to add, misguided enthusiasts who regard this theory with any degree of favour, we conclude that Bro. How's inclusion of it in his article on the A. and A. Rite is not intended as an acceptance of the myth, but merely as indicating that such a myth has been accepted by divers people during the last hundred years or so. In fact, the qualificatives "it is said," which figure in the penultimate paragraph on page 227, and "It appears"—with which the ultimate paragraph begins—would seem to favour this idea of ours, that Bro. How has collected whatever has been written about this Rite in preference to what is actually supportable by evidence. From this it will be seen that our suggestion as to intending readers being cautious in their study of this manual is by no means unnecessary.

Another point to which we think objection will be taken by many of our readers. There is, especially in the chapters devoted to Craft and Arch Masonry, a great deal more said than they will think necessary for the purpose of illustrating the nature and beauty of those degrees. Indeed, the same remark is applicable, to a greater or less extent, to the most generally known branches of Masonry. The utmost care should be taken in making even short quotations—as in the case of a few words or a sentence—and still further care is necessary in describing a ceremony or a lecture.

Having noted what we regard as being most likely to encounter objection, it remains for us to say that Bro. How's Manual as a compilation is very meritorious. There is, no doubt, a large amount of interesting matter bearing upon the history of the different degrees that has been brought together within its pages. We do not say it is all to be accepted—we have, in fact, drawn attention to one theory which, by the majority of sensible brethren, is held to be of no moment whatever. But after all, a Manual must contain a good deal of this class of matter, the one thing needful being not to give too great prominence to what is unworthy of it. The work seems excellently well arranged. In the first chapter is given a rapid sketch of the Ancient Mysteries or Associations analogous to Freemasonry. Then are considered the Masonic Institutions of the Present Era, Freemasonry in its General Application, the Reasons why Masonic secrets should not be revealed and the Importance of those secrets, and the Principles and Government of the Craft. Then are sketched the formation and consecration of a Lodge, with its opening and closing ceremonies, and next the several degrees of the Craft, Arch and Mark Masonry. There are likewise, as we noticed in the beginning of our remarks, articles on the various branches of Masonry, such as the Temple, the Red Cross of Constantine, the A. and A. Rite, &c., &c. No mention, by the way, is made of the Council of the Allied Degree and the Degree of St. Lawrence; at least, if there is, it must be so casual as to have escaped our notice. Other chapters on the Rites of Freemasonry, Solomon's Temple, the Name, Armorial Bearings, Colours, of Freemasonry; and Wisdom, Strength, and Beauty complete the work. An index will enable the reader to find without trouble what he may be in search of. The publisher has done his work well, and we trust will find a reward for his enterprise in the free sale of the edition. It will make a capital addition to the library of the Masonic student.

IS MASONRY DETERIORATING.

FROM THE "FREEMASON'S REPOSITORY."

DEFINITIONS are always called for as preparatory to the comprehensive discussion of any important subject. It is essential, therefore, in order to give an intelligent response to the question placed at the head of this article, that first of all we decide what this word Masonry shall be taken to mean and include; for it is subject to a variety of uses, and may be limited or extended according to what is thought of individual minds. If by Masonry nothing more is intended than reference to the system which bears that name, we shall find it an easy task to make a satisfactory response to the question proposed. Masonic principles and tenets have not deteriorated—are not deteriorating. The distinguishing truths of the Masonic system retain their primitive quality; and, probably, these truths were never better understood or more clearly marked out than at the present time. Brotherly love, relief and truth stand now for just what they did one hundred years ago, and have the same clearly understood bearing upon human character and conduct. And so of all the graces and virtues—the precepts and teachings—which attach to the system, they have not been changed in their import, nor have they faded away into indistinctness. Nothing of great principle or abstract truth has been eliminated from the system which the fathers framed so wisely and well.

But suppose we make the term Masonry apply chiefly to the ceremonial and the technical work by which its instructions are communicated and its bonds of obligation fostered—has there been deterioration in this respect? According to our thought it appears far otherwise. The representation of Masonry in all its varied forms of ceremonial unfolding is much more carefully attended to now than at any former period. Lodges for the most part are better situated, have more abundant resources, and are able to illustrate more accurately and impressively the lessons sought to be communicated. The administration of affairs is generally in able hands, stupidity does not often wield the gavel, and greater care is taken than formerly was the case to have everything done decently and in order. Music and other helps have been called in to render the conferring of the degrees more impressive, and to illustrate and enforce the sublime lessons of the Royal Art. Masonry is not deteriorating in the manner of its presentation to the candidate, nor in anything that has to do with its ceremonial unfolding or technical work.

Masonry may be taken, however, to mean an Institution, no less than a system, and the question may be asked whether, as an organisation, it is not deteriorating? It is not losing ground outwardly—this much is certain. The vitality of the Institution does not seem to be impaired. Nevertheless it is more than hinted in some quarters that a serious deterioration is all the time going on in the organized life of Masonry. The charge is, that while the Masonry of to-day avows the same principles and purposes, formulates the same code, administers the same ceremonial that it did a generation or a century ago, the heart has gone out of the Institution, or at least beats feebly, and so it is said Masonry does not now fulfil its mission to mould and bless the higher nature of its members, and to accomplish a great work of beneficence in the world. Every day we are pointed to the want of friendliness and charity among brethren—to the selfish and base uses to which some seek to pervert the Institution—to the neglect of moral and benevolent work on the part of both Lodges and individual members of the Craft, and we are told that these are evidences which show a lowering of the standard which the fathers set up, a falling away from that exalted position which Masonry once maintained. We cannot close our eyes to these blemishes and shortcomings—and to the dangers to which the Masonic organisation is always liable because of the base material that is mixed with the pure gold in its composition. It by no means follows, however, that these limitations and imperfections of the Order have suddenly grown into such magnitude as to become the signs of a great present deterioration and a quick coming death. There have always been selfish men and Masons, and there always will be while human nature is moulded of common clay. The Apostle reminded his fellow Christians that there were "spots on their feasts of charity;" and in the church, as in every other organisation, there have always been manifest the manifold tokens of an imperfect condition. It is a matter of regret that there are so many Masons in name who are not Masons in fact—that there are so many stupid and careless members of the Fraternity—so many mean and sordid souls whose only regard for the Institution depends upon their being able to use its power for selfish ends. It is likewise a cause of regret that the beneficent ministry of Masonry is not more largely exercised, that more and better work for love's sake and for humanity's sake is not done in its name and under its auspices. We may remember, however, that there has always been occasion for regrets such as these, for the work of Masonry has never realized the grand ideal of the best minds within its lines.

Looking the whole field over, we come then to this conclusion: the best Masonry the world has ever known is that of these latter days. The Masonic heritage received out of the past has been greatly added to as years have gone by, and its blessings and helps have come to be much better understood than was the case a hundred years ago. Masonry is not deteriorating, its influence was never so great as now, its purposes were never more noble and glorious, its work was never more helpful to the mental, moral and social nature of its faithful members, nor did the streams of its practical benefactions ever run broader or more freely than in these closing years of the nineteenth century. Masonry is not deteriorating either in form or substance—in outward manifestation or inner life. Its hold of the imperishable truths of God and heaven was never firmer than now, and it was never better prepared to illustrate and enforce these truths for the edification of its own membership and for the good of the world.

MASONIC LECTURE.—Mr. S. Russell Forbes (son of the late Mr. Sam. D. Forbes, of Portsea), has returned to this country from a successful lecturing tour in the United States. We take the following from the Newport Journal, of 13th November:—"At the invitation of the St. Paul's Lodge, Mr. S. Russell Forbes, of Rome, delivered his highly interesting and instructive lecture on the "Traces of Masonry amongst the Roman Antiquities," on Tuesday evening, 13th Nov. A good number of the Masons of Newport and its vicinity responded to the invitation of St. Paul's Lodge, and the hall was crowded. The Worshipful Master, W. H. Cotton, opened the Lodge to the third degree, in his usual impressive manner, and then introduced Mr. Forbes to the assembled members of the Craft. The lecturer referred to his long residence in Rome, and to the excavations of the ancient buildings; to his own discoveries there, and called attention to the shape of the city of Rome and its builders, the material employed, and how it was used. He then dwelt upon the marks found on the old walls, drawings of which were handed round for the inspection of the brethren. He showed the traces of Masonry from the earliest times down to the building of Rome B.C. 753, and then traced it through the Republican, Imperial, and Mediæval periods to the present day. He showed, in a clear and concise way, the connection between speculative and operative Masonry, and the object of the Masons' marks. Photographs and drawings of ancient subjects were passed round, which had peculiar interest and told distinctly their story. The lecture was listened to with extreme attention, and at its close Mr. Forbes invited discussion upon his lecture, and answered many questions put to him by the Lodge. A unanimous vote of thanks was given him, and many brethren expressed to him personally the pleasure and profit they had gained by his lecture.—Portsmouth Times.

LODGE HISTORIES.

ST. MICHAEL'S LODGE, No. 211.

MISCELLANEA.

Since we completed our sketch of this Lodge from 1823 to the present time, or, in other words, for so long a period as the minutes extend, we have been furnished with a miscellaneous selection of books and papers which have from time to time been in the possession of different Treasurers and Secretaries. The books hardly need to be described, but the papers, though of the most heterogeneous character imaginable, give, here and there, a little insight into the life of the Lodge. Hence we have deemed it worth our while to devote a brief space in order that we may note such scraps as we have been able to collect together. These scraps are, unfortunately, too few in number to perfect the history we have compiled; but many of them relate to the period anterior to 1823, for which, so far as we know at present, no minutes are forthcoming.

The earliest of the papers we have thus been enabled to collate is a bill for £12 0s 6d marked "paid" and dated 28th November 1807, "For a Masonic Throne to the Ionic Order with Castors and Cupboard with lock to do., and 2 Platforms for Wardens." Next is a Stamped Receipt, dated 9th November 1808, for the payment by Mr. S. G. Lewis of £34 6s 3d in respect of "the debt of Lodge 290." This is signed "Hy Quick," (?), so far as it is legible. Following these are several documents relating to the year 1809. These are mostly accounts and are useful to the extent of furnishing us with the names of brethren who held office in the Lodge or, in the absence of all description, must be set down as members. The earliest of these is an account for the period from 9th March—10th July 1809, showing Receipts amounting to £47, and expenditure, including balance from preceding statement of £25 10, £71 16 9½; so that at the end of said period the Lodge was indebted to its Treasurer—a Bro. Scarlett—in the sum of £24 6 9½. The expenditure is of the ordinary character, if we except one item £1 10 "for 2 Flanel Gowns." From memoranda on the back we find that among the members of the Lodge were Bros. Lewis, Falchard (?), Cornford, Webb, Raine, and Self, which last may stand for either Bro. Treasurer himself or a member rejoicing in the name of Self. The next document is an account to 14 Nov. 1809, and shows indebtedness to the Treasurer for the increased amount of £27 9 1½. However, on the outside are written the names of the principal Officers, namely, Bros. S. G. Lewis W.M., J. Beare S.W., G. Wainwright J.W. Under date 15 November 1809 is a Receipt by Bro. S. G. Lewis W.M. of Three Guineas from Bro Scarlett "Upon Lodge No. 290's Account for Bro. Gorton's use." We imagine that this may have been a grant by the Lodge to a member in need of help. Yet another account from 13 Nov. 1809 to 9 April 1810 shows the balance due to Treasurer reduced from £27 9 1½ to £23 12 6. In addition are two accounts wafered together, one showing the amounts due by members in respect of dinners, dues, fines, &c. and in the case of Bro. Cornford One Guinea for "Arching" him, to 13th November 1809, and the other a similar document to September 1810, the amount of the former being £15 2, and of the latter £25 9. The following names were entered on their lists, those with a * figuring in both, namely, Bros. Cornford*, Barton*, Raine*, Lewis*, Folkard (probably the same with Falchard already given), Gibson jnn., Rich, Clark*, Winkworth, Priest*, Read*, Ballaset*, Withers*, Hughes*, Jones*, Bastable*, Mutlow*, Rutherford, Fisher, Fowler*, B. Webb, Searle, Withington, Scarlett, R. Sanders, Baldwin, Marter, Mason, Dunn, G. Sanders, Roberts, Hadley, Harding, Wonnysit (? Wainwright), and Otley. The last twelve belong to the year 1810. We may also mention that the Quarterly dues appear to have been five shillings.

From a minute-book extending over the period from 4th November 1810 to 20th October 1811, and recording the meetings of the Lodge of Instruction held under the Lodge Warrant, we gather that the brethren met on Sundays, either fortnightly or weekly, at the Angel Inn, High-street, St. Giles's, and that each member contributed nightly towards the expenses of the meeting the sum of ninepence. On the front half of the cover is entered a memorandum as follows: "2 Porter 10d, 2 Ale 1s 8d, 2 Pints Gin 3s 4d, Ingredients 1s. Tobacco 1s," together with 2s 6d and 4d, but for what is not stated. Thus, the study of our lectures then, as it does now, entailed a certain consumption of fluids.

Under date of "Sunday, Febry. 24th 1811," is a letter couched in the most indignant terms, from Bro. G. Ballisat to the "W. Master and Brothers of Lodge 290." Bro. Ballisat complains of having received from Bro. Roberts a letter requiring him to attend the Lodge under the penalty of being reported to the Stewards of Grand Lodge. He states that he has been dangerously ill, that he is prepared to pay his Lodge dues, but that he does not much care if he is reported, as he claims to be quite as independent in spirit as any of his fellow members. With a view to prevent any misunderstanding, he adds that if his health permits, he intends spending a fortnight at the seaside. Poor Bro. Ballisat! We wonder if your indignant letter had the effect of calming "the W. Master and the Brothers of Lodge 290," and inducing them to appreciate your worth. We imagine it did.

A single sheet has written on one side of it certain minutes of the Holy Royal Arch Chapter, dated 10th March (no year is given, but it is evidently 1811). The following are the names entered, namely: The Right Worshipful Bro. R. Humphreys G.C., Bro. Wainwright and Bro. Gorton H. and J.; Bro. Lewington and Bro. Jacobs Scribes; Bros. Winter, Dormer (?), Dart, Gregson, Warner (exalted), and Mason (exalted). The fees paid by the exaltees were one guinea each, the amount otherwise collected was six shillings, and the Bill reached 15s 9d, leaving a balance of £1 12s 3d, to which, however, had to be added the Balance of seven shillings and sixpence for 31st March. It is added "This Chapter adjourned during Pleasure at 6 o'clock in Perfect Harmony." On the other side the minutes relate to the meeting on 31st March 1811. The names entered are Bro. R. Humphreys Grand Chief, Bro. Wainwright H., Bro. Withington Scribe, Bro. Gorton Scribe, and Bros. Cathres (?) 314, Warner, Dart, Kelley, and Suthard (exalted). The cash collected, including Bro. Suthard's exaltation fee of one guinea, was £1 7s. The expenditure, consisting of House Bill 8s, Tyler 1s, and Registering Fee 10s 6d, reached 19s 6d.

There are two documents relating to 1814 and 1815. One is a receipt, dated 13th May 1814, by J. Allen for the sum of £10 14s, being the balance due to his brother by "Lodge 367 late No. 290." The other, dated 10th July 1815, is from Bro. Bagshaw to Mr. Roberts (No. 367), care of Mr. Hopper, Coach and Horses, Compton-street, Soho, stating his inability to attend that evening, and as he has been unable to find a missing bill, that he (Bro. Roberts) had better state it as amounting to £4 15s, namely, "13 dining at 5s," £3 5s, and Liquor £1 10s, but subject to future correction if found erroneous either in favour of or against the Lodge. Bro. Bagshaw adds that from this must be deducted the "present apparent balance" against him of £1 5s, and also certain fees or dues which he says are due by him to the Lodge.

We next have a letter dated "Brydges Street Covent Garden, 14 Jan. 1818, from Bro. G. Bagshaw Secretary, No. 367, to Bro. David Hughes, Apothecary, Northwich, Cheshire, in which he explains the delay in answering the latter's letter of 12th November 1817, as it had only reached the W.M. the previous evening, and promising to remit certificate, receiving amount of fees at withdrawal (12s), cost of G. Secretary's Certificate (12s), and the postage 11d. Bro. Bagshaw requests the remittance may be made free of expense or otherwise it will fall upon him to pay the charges.

Passing on to the middle of the year 1819, we have a series of memoranda, made up in book form, and extending from 13th July 1819 to 13th March 1821. These relate chiefly to sums due and payable or paid by the members, the amount charged per night being mostly eighteenpence, and occasionally half-a-crown. They are valuable chiefly on account of the names they contain, being, with one or two exceptions, where those of Visitors are entered, the names of the members of the Lodge. On page 1 are the names of the following Visitors, namely, Bros. Wilson, Johnson, Willis, and Summers, of the Percy, No. 355; Bros. Coulman, Mann, and Shepheard, of Royal Athelstane, No. 19, and Bros. L. E. Thornton, G. Stewards' Lodge; Grayson, Burlington, 152; G. Fraser, Caledonian; Stallard, Temple; Wittington, Unions, 481, and Sanderson, Saddlers' Arms, 399. After these are the minutes: "Lodge opened in due form and with solemn prayer. The minutes of the last Lodge were read and confirmed. Opened in the 2nd and 3rd degree, and a Rasing was gone through pro forma in ample form. All Masonic business being over, the Lo. was closed in due form and with solemn prayer." Page 2 contains only the following: "Board and Working Tools of Arch M," and "Speight, 99, Drury Lane." We shall content ourselves with adding the names of the members—presumably they are such—the majority of whom are entered at each meeting. They are Bros. Warner, Bagshaw, W. Smith, Southard, Charles Smith, Brudenell, Humphreys (latterly written as Humphries), Russell, Boothby, Lomax, Dignam, Durley, Fletcher (J.W. 13 Mar. 1821), Gilkes, and Rapden (?) with Murphy and Young, in pencil, in July 1820, and Shepheard, Hodges, and Morris in January of the same year.

The following is an "Inventory of Property belonging to the St. Michael's Lodge, No. 367," apparently in the year 1820. "The Warrant of Constitution in a Tin Box"—written against which in another hand are the words "delivered to Bro. Russell, Aug. 8th 1820"—"a Throne; two Chair Boxes for Warden's Chairs; Royal Arch Board and Making Cloth; Banner, Pole and Ball; four Wands; Furniture Chest and two Keys containing—Pedestal, Desk, Cushion, 2 Branches Lock and Key (containing 1 Square, 1 Level, 1 Plumb-rule, 3 Past Master's Jewels, 1 Treasurer's, 1 Secretary, 2 Deacons 10 Collars—1 silk), Portable Writing Desk, Lock and Key, two Columns, three Gavels, three Candlesticks, a Bible, Square and Compasses, Square, Level, Rule, and two Foot Rule, two Constitution Books, Book of Rules and Orders, two Swords, three Flannels, Green Baize and Table cover and (Royal Arch), two Crow Bars, two Pick-axes, one Shovel, thirteen Shields, six Paintings; an eight-foot carpeted Form, one Large Rummer Glass, fifteen Masonic Glasses. On this inventory are given these names—"Wm. Boothby W.M., W. C. Smith S.W. and J. Brudenell J.W."

Belonging to the period we have sketched in our former articles is a summons to the Master and Wardens to attend an especial Grand Lodge on the 14th December 1825, at Twelve o'clock at noon, to confirm the vote passed at the Quarterly Communication on the 7th instant, for a Grant of £50 out of the Fund of Benevolence for the Relief of the widow of the late Bro. Geo. Belzoni.

Undoubtedly, one of the most interesting among these loose pages is a letter without date of year, month, or day, written by Bro. Gilkes to "the W.M. of 367, Mr. Knight." The mention of the latter Brother's name, however, helps to fix the year as 1828, when Bro. Knight filled the chair of the Lodge. The letter is as follows:—

Carnaby-street, Monday, Noon.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—My leaving town for Lynn to-morrow morning will prevent me from taking a personal leave of the St. Michael's Lodge, which I much regret after the favours and honours I have received in it, which I shall ever gratefully remember: as you are in full possession of my reasons for the step, I have taken have the kindness to explain them to the brethren.

Yours fraternally,

(Signed) P. GILKES.

As showing the respect in which Bro. Gilkes was held by the members of the Lodge, a passage in Bro. Hindmarsh's letter of resignation of the 16th December 1834 is worth quoting. It reads thus: "May the shade of our departed Brother Peter preside over the destinies of the Lodge, and incite the Brethren to an emulation of the great Mason who died its Master." There is also another document which bears the distinguished brother's signature affixed only a few months before his death. This is a copy of a return of the members to June 1833, as furnished to Grand Lodge in respect of dues, &c., when the Lodge met at the King's Head, Old Compton-street. It is not a strong one in point of numbers, and contains only the following names:—Peter Gilkes, Joseph Knight, George Simons, Benjamin Edgar, Charles Marks, Edward Pitt—whose signature as Secretary is also attached—W. C. Smith, Samuel Norris, Edward Wynn, Richard Tozer, Thomas Sheldon, — Mott, Richard T. Jacobs, Henry Davis, Edward Owen, Samuel Harding.

There are several circulars addressed to different Masters of the Lodge, requesting support at the Anniversary Festivals of our different Institutions. One of these, on behalf of the Boys' School, mentions that the Festival of that Institution was fixed for 11th of March 1835. In another, relating to the Girls' School, then in Westminster Road, and announcing the Festival for 12th May 1836, the Board of Stewards "beg to observe that several Lodges whose usual meetings fall on or near the day of the Festival, have resolved to forego their private banquets and repair to the Hall on that day, an example which the Board suggest for the consideration of the Lodge." This Board was constituted as follows:—Bro. Rowland Mitchell, No. 6, President; Colonel W. Douglass Clicland, Prince of Wales, 324, Vice President; Bro. James Savage, S.W. Grand Master's, No. 1, Treasurer; Bro. J. R. Bulmer, P.M. Royal Naval, No. 70, Hon. Secretary; Bro. Boughey Burgess P.S.G.D., and Bros. Charles Hancock, Antiquity, No. 2, then meeting at St. James's Palace; John Grey P.M. 4; John Lee Stevens, 8; D. Watts and Joshua Gray, 11; S. Wallwyn Darke P.M. Tuscan, 14; Samuel Unwin P.M. Emulation, 21; Samuel Odell P.M. Old King's Arms, 30; J. Anthony Tielans, St. Albans, 32; H. Brayne W.M. Corner Stone, 37; W. Thodey

Chandler P.M. St. Paul's 229, Lewis Crombie D. Prov. G.M. Aberdeenshire Jerusalem 233, and Charles Schotell St. Andrew's L. East 269. A third, announcing Boys' School Festival for 8th March 1837, has also a list of Stewards, including Bros. W. Staveley G. Master's Lodge 1 President, Stephen Price P.M. St. Albans 32 Vice President, G. Braithwaite No. 4 Treasurer, James Walton Hon. Secretary, J. G. Children 2, J. Mitchell 6, D. Robinson Watts P.M. 11, S. W. Darke P.M. Sambrooke Jerusalem 323, J. Mortimer Prince of Wales 324, and W. R. Kemp Prince of Wales Chapter 324. The price of the tickets is given as fifteen shillings. A fourth circular appeals for support in behalf of "The Asylum for the Aged and Decayed Freemason," and is signed Robert Field Secretary. It quotes the testimony of Grand Lodge of 6th December 1837, to the effect "That this Grand Lodge recommend the contemplated Asylum for the Aged and Decayed Freemason to the favourable consideration of the Craft." It fixes the date of the Festival for the 15th June 1842, and adds, "For your information I beg to state that the Festivals of this Charity have been always conducted upon such well-considered principles as to tax the purse of those who kindly undertake the office of Stewards as lightly as possible. The Steward's expenses, including his own and two ladies' tickets, have never exceeded Four Guineas." Opinions may and probably will differ as to the alleged lightness of those expenses; at all events, it is double the cost incurred by a Steward now-a-days, who is not called upon to pay for two ladies' tickets as well as his own. But this in passing merely. It is well, however, to note that this Asylum, though it was subsequently amalgamated with the Benevolent Institution, was separate from the latter, which was only established by Grand Lodge in the year 1842. One other circular —on behalf of the Girls' School—remains, dated 15th May 1835, and has been reserved to the last, as it deserves to be reproduced in full. It bears at top the signature "Augustus F., G.M.," and was sent to the W. Masters of Lodges by the then joint G. Secretaries—Bros. W. H. White and Edward Harper—under, as will be seen, very special circumstances. It reads as follows:—

"The Quarterly General Court of the Royal Freemasons' Female School having reported to me, as Grand Master and President of the Institution, the unfortunate and insecure state of the Schoolhouse, occasioned by the decay of the foundation, and the necessity which was thereby created for an immediate general repair of the structure, and formation of new foundation, I felt it proper to bring the subject before the Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter, the former of which bodies was pleased to grant a sum of £100, and the latter a sum of £52 10s towards defraying the expenses.

"The works are now nearly completed, and altho' every attention has been paid to a strict economy which could subsist with a due regard to stability, the outlay has been much greater than was anticipated, and may now be set down at £2000.

"To meet this unexpected and heavy charge the Funds of the Institution are inadequate without reducing the number of children upon the establishment—a measure which it must be the anxious wish of every Brother to avert; under these circumstances, I am induced to call the attention of the various Chapters and Lodges, and also of the individual members, to the subject, relying with confidence that they will not suffer their excellent Charity to decline from the effects of a misfortune and serious outlay, which was as unavoidable as it was unexpected."

A most admirable procedure on the part of His Royal Highness the Grand Master and President, and one which must commend itself to the regard of brethren of the present day! It should be added that the Annual Festival was held two days after the above appeal, namely, the 17th May.

Among odds and ends is a circular from the lessees, proprietors, or managers of the Star and Garter, Richmond, soliciting the patronage of the Lodge, and announcing in a postscript—"We continue to supply our superior Omnibuses for the return of Parties to Town at night." This is dated May 1841, when a visit to Richmond was a more serious undertaking than it is in these days of railways. We may mention also a printed notice to the effect that the foundation-stone of the Episcopal Chapel of the Reading Cemetery Company was to be laid, with Masonic ceremony, by permission of the R.W. Prov. Grand Master for Berks, on Wednesday, the 26th October 1842. Further particulars to be had of the Wor. Master of the Union Lodge, Reading. This pretty well exhausts the list of documents.

The other remains include Books of Laws, &c., &c. One of these is a copy of the Bye-laws of the Lodge, and is signed by Robert Leslie G.S. The first leaf, with Law I., is missing unfortunately. From these we learn that a candidate was "to be initiated for a sum (not less than Three Guineas)"—the word "Three" is in writing, and in substitution of "Two," struck out—"and 5 shillings" (in writing), "and cloath the Lodge," if required—which means, in brief, gloves all round to the members. This copy is undated. There is also a Copy of the Rules, Orders, and Bye-laws of the Fraternity, according to the old Constitutions, on the Title-page of which occurs the following:—"To which are added the Laws and Regulations of the Holy Royal Arch, Published by Order of the Grand Lodge, London: Printed by Brother Thomas Harper jun., Great New-street, Gough Square. 1813." One rule, as touching on a point which is often the subject of inquiry in our columns, is worth referring to—namely, Rule XIV., which lays it down that "in the Master's absence, a Past Master may take the chair, although it is by right the duty of the Senior Warden, and in his absence, the Junior Warden." The following footnote is added: "It is the right of the Wardens to fill the chair, even though a Past Master be present; but the Wardens generally waive this privilege, presuming that the Past Masters are better skilled in the business of the Lodge." From an Appendix we learn that, on registry of a new made Mason, London Lodges were called upon to pay the sum of sixteen shillings and sixpence each—to Grand Lodge Fund half a guinea, to Masonic School 5s, and to Grand Secretary 1s, and "one shilling a quarter for each contributing member of the Lodge." In the case of Country, Foreign, and Military Lodges the payment was only eight shillings and sixpence—namely, Grand Lodge Fund 5s, Masonic School 2s 6d, and Grand Secretary 1s, and "one guinea annually to the G. Lodge Fund of Charity." A Grand Lodge certificate cost three shillings; the transfer of a brother's name from one Lodge to another half-a-crown, including Grand Secretary's fee of one shilling; and for registering a brother from any other Grand Lodge, in connection with the Grand Lodge of Ancient Masons, three shillings and sixpence, the Grand Secretary's fee of one shilling being included. It is also laid down that only Grand Officers might wear gold lace, gold fringe, gold embroidery, or anything resembling gold, on their Masonic clothing or ornaments, the dress of Ancient Craft Master Masons being a plain leather apron, trimmed with pale blue silk or ribbon. It is curious to note that a resolution of Grand Lodge of 6th December 1809, cautioning brethren against various publications lately circulated, and attempted to be imposed on the Fraternity, is included. There is also a list of members as follows, the last entry bearing date 23rd May 1814:—"A. Withers, R. Saunders, J. Warner, R. Bold, G. Saunders, M. Bevan, J. Roberts, John Hughes, S. Dart, G. Bagshaw, J. Berry, D. Simmons, C. Kidd, T. Richards, S. Thergood, G. Macallar, J. Charles, J. Vaughan, T. Brookes, D. Tombs; Dec. 13th, John Allen (name in pencil), Thomas Hytch (do) rejoin'd, and Peach (do), Grand and Private Lodge dues paid to December 13th; February 14th 1814, William Smith and James Bowling (in pencil); and May 23rd, William Hopper." The Laws and Regulations for the Instruction and Government of the Holy Royal Arch Chapters, as "Revised, Amended, and Approved in General Grand Chapter at the Crown and Anchor Tavern, Strand, London, April 1, 1807," are, as we have said, appended. In these Royal Arch is described as the fourth Degree in Freemasonry; and for the benefit of admirers of uniformity we extract the following Rule XIII.:—"That a general uniformity of the practice and ceremonies of ancient Freemasonry may be preserved and handed down, unchanged to posterity. The Grand Chapter shall elect annually in October, nine skilled Royal Arch Masons, who must be Past Masters, and approved by the Grand Lodge. They shall assist the Grand Officers in visiting the Lodges." But they were not to be considered as members, or as having a voice in the internal affairs of the Lodge, except for reference on any point of the general laws of the Order, in which the members might not be able to determine, and, if necessary, to report to Grand Chapter or the R.W. Dep. G. Master.

One other little book remains to be noticed, namely, an "Abstract of Laws and Regulations for the Order of Royal Arch Masons, London: Printed for the United Grand Chapter, by W. P. Norris, Little Moorgate, A.L.—IↃↃDCCCXVII." The heading is as follows:—"The Supreme Grand and Royal Chapter. To all the Companions of that exalted and Supreme Degree of Masonry, stiled the Royal Arch, Health, Peace and Goodwill." The Preamble begins, "Whereas our Grand and Royal Chapter, being the Grand Lodge of this Supreme Degree, and having full powers," &c. Unfortunately pages 5, 6, 7, 8 are partly burned, so that the laws cannot be followed throughout.

This completes our task, and our only regret is, that we have not had before us materials that would have enabled us to furnish a complete history of the Lodge.

FAITH LODGE OF INSTRUCTION, No. 141.

THE annual dinner of Faith Lodge of Instruction was held on 14th inst., at the Restaurant, 2 Victoria Chambers. There was a large attendance of members and visitors. After an excellent dinner Bro. Cottebrune, who presided as Worshipful Master, gave the usual Masonic toasts, the Queen and the Craft, the Prince of Wales Most Worshipful Grand Master, the Pro Grand Master, and other Officers of Grand Lodge. Bro. Percival P.M. then proposed the toast of the evening, the Faith Lodge of Instruction, coupling with it the name of their most respected and worthy Preceptor, Bro. Cottebrune. He did not know any Lodge of Instruction which turned out better Officers, more qualified to fill high positions in the various Lodges than the Faith. Their success was entirely due to the energy and kind feeling of Bro. Cottebrune, who was a most able Preceptor and accomplished Mason. Bro. Cottebrune P.M. P.G.P. in response said, it was close now upon twenty-three years since he joined this Lodge of Instruction, and soon afterwards he was asked to become Preceptor. He had worked to the best of his ability, and he must say that he had always received the greatest kindness and attention from the members of the Lodge. Bro. Percival had been kind enough to say that many distinguished Masons had left the Lodge of Instruction qualified to fill the chair in the regular Lodges, but this was as much or more due to their own perseverance as to the efforts of those who were the tutors. The Faith Lodge of Instruction had for some years been very well attended. They had voted thirty guineas to the Charities in three years. He was very pleased to know that they were well supported by members of the mother Lodges, and he hoped that for many years to come his name would be associated with the Lodge of Instruction. The Worshipful Master then proposed the health of Bro. W. Carter, who had for twenty-two years been the Treasurer of his Lodge; he was a genial and good-hearted man, and was an ornament to Masonry. Bro. W. Carter, in responding, referred to the fact that he had been a member of the Faith Lodge for twenty-nine years, and that he had known the Worshipful Master, Bro. Cottebrune, upwards of twenty years. The Worshipful Master then proposed the health of the Visitors, which was responded to by Bros. Mallett P.M. and George E. Saunders. Bros. Taylor W.M. St. Luke's, and Holt W.M. Granite, responded to the toast of Craft Lodges, and after other toasts and some excellent songs, a very pleasant reunion was brought to a successful termination. The Faith Lodge of Instruction meets every Tuesday evening, at the Restaurant, Westminster Chambers, at eight o'clock.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

UNITED STRENGTH LODGE, No. 228.

THE last regular meeting of the season in connection with this old and respected Lodge was held on Tuesday evening last, at the Guildhall Tavern, for the purpose of electing the Worshipful Master, Treasurer, and Tyler for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of other business. Lodge was opened about five o'clock, in accordance with ancient rites, under the presidency of the W.M., Bro. Robert Snare, and there were also present Bros. G. H. Patmore S.W., A. H. Hickman J.W., J. A. Winsland P.M. Treasurer, Edward Davies P.M. Acting Secretary, H. W. Ilford S.D., F. J. Hunt J.D., G. Bellott D.C., G. Tuinard I.G., William Steedman Tyler. Bros. R. Pearcy I.P.M., Bromley P.M., James Hillhouse P.M., Robert H. Halford P.M., Alfred Colston P.M., G. Hunter, Vilett Rolleston, P. Cox, H. Heinrich, J. Moran, E. H. Johnson, J. F. Quartly, John H. Miller, F. E. Thurland, W. J. Randall, James Evetts, Harley, Paine, H. Langley, J. Woodman, A. Woodman, H. T. Sandy, C. Halford, W. Camden, G. C. Fidge, A. C. Woolsey, &c. Visitors—Bros. J. Glad. well J.D. 1470, C. S. Phillips 1586, and A. Timothy P.M. 87. The minutes of the last Lodge having been read and confirmed, the ballot was proposed for Bro. Thomas How Bromley, late a P.M. of this Lodge, as a joining member, on the nomination of Bro. James Terry P.M., seconded by Bro. John A. Winsland P.M., the voting was unanimous, and Bro. Bromley was accepted. The ballot was re-opened for Mr. Alfred Cornelius Woolsey, proposed by Bro. H. Langley, seconded by Bro. James Terry P.M., and for Mr. George Christopher Fidge, whose sponsors were the Worshipful Master and Bro. Edward Davies P.M. Both were accepted and initiated by the W.M., who discharged the duties most satisfactorily. Bro. Francis Edward Thurland, having answered the several questions to the satisfaction of the Lodge, was entrusted; and Lodge having been advanced, he was afterwards passed to the degree of Fellow Craft by the W.M., assisted by his Officers. Lodge was then opened up, and Bros. Vilett Rolleston and John Henry Miller were raised to the sublime degree, the impressive ceremony being admirably performed and the charges recited with faultless precision by the W.M. The new Bye-laws having been read and adopted, the brethren proceeded to elect the W.M. for the ensuing year, their choice well and worthily falling on Bro. G. H. Patmore, who had so ably discharged the duties of the Senior Warden's chair during the past year. The election was unanimous, and Bro. Patmore, who was much moved by the enthusiastic applause which greeted the declaration of the W.M., said his heart was too full to allow him adequately to express his deep sense of the honour which the brethren had conferred upon him. He could assure them, however, if he had health and strength, he should endeavour to justify the selection they had made, and should exert his utmost in promoting the best interests of the Lodge. Brother John A. Winsland P.M was re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. Steedman P.M. Tyler. After the transaction of some other business Lodge was closed in form, and the brethren adjourned to the banqueting hall, where a substantial repast was provided, and the customary Loyal and Craft toasts were duly honoured. In proposing the health of the Wor. Master, Bro. R. Pearcy I.P.M. said this was the last time he should have the honour of proposing this toast in his present capacity in this Lodge. He need not tell them how Bro. Snare had discharged his duties during the past year, for that was well known to all the brethren. Suffice it to say, he retired from the chair with all the respect and esteem they could pay him, and they all wished him a brilliant and honourable retirement from office. His year had been most excellent, not only as regarded the working, but also as to the initiates who had been brought into the Lodge. The Wor. Master, in responding, said he had received so many kindly and flattering expressions from the brethren that he really felt at a loss for words to convey to them his gratitude. It had, indeed, been his endeavour, as far as lay in his power, to do his best for the interests of the Lodge; and if he had maintained its prestige he was more than repaid for any slight efforts he had made in that direction. He could not but be sensible of many shortcomings, and but for the kindness the brethren had ever extended to him, he felt he could not have gone through the work even with the small degree of satisfaction and the comparative little amount of credit to himself—(no)—which they had been good enough to acknowledge. But their leniency, kindness, and courtesy rather intensified the debt of obligation which he felt he was under to the brethren of the Lodge. In turn he proposed the healths of the Initiates, the toast being heartily received. Bro. Woolsey was pleased, indeed, to have had the pleasure of meeting the brethren of the United Strength Lodge. It had long been his wish to become a Mason, and he was proud to have been accepted by this Lodge. He was a stranger to most of them, and if he committed himself he hoped they would forgive him: but he was deeply obliged to them for the kind manner in which they had received his brother initiate and himself. Bro. Fidge also replied, and in the course of his observations said he had not entered this grand and mystic fraternity without a due sense of its grandeur and of his unworthiness. He esteemed it an honour to have been admitted a member of this ancient institution, and he should endeavour to follow in the footsteps of those who had become ornaments to the Craft. The Worshipful Master then proposed the health of the Visitors, whom the brethren of this Lodge were always pleased to see, and to whom they always endeavoured to extend the heartiest welcome and the right hand of fellowship. The toast having been received with an enthusiastic fire, Bro. A. Timothy P.M. 87 said he had been a Visitor at this Lodge so many times that he almost fancied he was one of themselves. He was very pleased with the excellent manner in which the ceremonies had been worked, and he congratulated the Lodge upon the efficient way in which the present W.M. had carried out the duties during his term of office. Bro. Snare had felt himself a little remiss, but the brethren would agree that all must be highly gratified with the excellent manner in which he had discharged the duties appertaining to his exalted position. Bro. Gladwell was very pleased to have had the felicity of being present on the occasion when Bro. Patmore was elected to the chair. That brother was highly respected and esteemed in the provinces, and it had given him unspeakable pleasure to meet Bro. Patmore under such gratifying auspices. Brethren in the country had their little Lodges, and when they had the pleasure of visiting the Metropolis and seeing a Lodge of this kind, they returned laden with information which they conveyed to the brethren, who retailed it out for a considerable time. The fraternal feeling which appeared in this Lodge, and the way in which the working had been carried out, could not be excelled. It was the first time he had had the privilege of meeting the brethren of this Lodge, and he had learned much that would not be easily eradicated from his mind. Bro. Phillips also briefly returned thanks. The health of the Past Masters was the next toast, and suitably acknowledged by the I.P.M. Bro. Pearcy. In giving the health of the W.M. elect, Bro. Snare said it was a toast which fell to the lot of a Master only once during his year of office, and the unanimity with which Bro. Patmore had been elected presaged, at any rate, the cordiality with which that toast would be received. He thought he need not add one word to the toast, but simply ask them to receive it as they had received Bro. Patmore in the Lodge earlier in the evening. Bro. G. H. Patmore, who was received with loud cheering, could not say but that he was surprised at the unanimity with which he had been elected by the Lodge as their Master for the coming year. It was with some amount of diffidence a month or two back, when he knew the time was coming on when he must choose either between accepting or declining the Mastership; but the kindness he had received from the P.M.'s, and their courteous efforts—knowing perhaps that he was a country member, and had not those facilities of obtaining that information respecting the ritual that were to be obtained in town—to afford him that information had decided him to go on, and he could only say he felt deeply grateful to many P.M.'s for their most welcome counsel and assistance. He took this opportunity of thanking them personally for having given him their kind assurance that they would do all they possibly could to fit him for the office to which he had been elected. He was not so fluent in language as many who had gone before him, but he had been in the Lodge nine years, and had only missed attending on one occasion, and that was caused by domestic affliction in his own family. Nothing on his part should be spared to carry out the working of this grand old Lodge in befitting manner. He loved the old United Strength, and always should do, and he would endeavour to do his best to support its dignity and not disgrace it. Several other toasts were honoured, and some excellent singing tended to brighten the very harmonious and enjoyable proceedings.

SINCERITY LODGE, No. 174.

THE final meeting for the year of the members of this Lodge was held on Wednesday evening, the 15th instant, at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, under the presidency of the W.M. Bro. C. H. Webb. There were also present Bros. G. Jones S.W., F. Brown J.W., J. S. Fraser S.D., A. H. Brown J.D., T. F. Harvey I.G., W. Fraser D.C., J. Miller W.S., S. Rawley P.M. Treas., J. Newton P.M. Sec., P.M.'s C. Lacey, J. Bulmer, J. G. Hilliard, E. Moore; G. T. H. Seddon I.P.M. Visitors—Bros. Geo. Bashford, J. How, G. Brooks P.M., T. S. Watts P.M., R. Hopkins, W. J. Mason, J. T. Robey, J. C. Frank. Lodge having been opened, the ballot was clear for three gentlemen, viz., Mr. W. Henderson, Mr. T. Huntley, and Mr. J. G. Goll, who, being present, were initiated into the mysteries of the Order by the W.M. Bro. Jay was raised to the third degree. The election of W.M. resulted in a unanimous vote for Bro. G. Jones S.W., that of Treasurer unanimously in favour of Bro. Rawley P.M., and of Tyler in favour of Bro. Very. Two brethren of the Lodge were voted the sum of ten guineas each. The usual Christmas gifts were voted, including one guinea towards the entertainment to the "Old Folks" at Croydon, and one guinea to the Tyler. The Auditors were appointed. A P.M.'s jewel was unanimously voted to the outgoing W.M., Bro. C. H. Webb. Business over, the members sat down at the social board, the dinner being well served in every respect. Afterwards the usual Loyal and complimentary toasts were given, and a very happy evening was passed. In the course of the evening, the W.M. alluded to the fact that this was the last time he should have the honour to preside over them as W.M.; he thanked the brethren, particularly the Officers, for their kindness to him throughout his very happy year of office, concluding by wishing all the members, absent and present, a "Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year." The Visitors bore truthful testimony as to the working in Lodge, and hoped they might have the pleasure of visiting the Sincerity at some future day.

FIDELITY LODGE, No. 230.

Richard Ellis, was installed by the retiring Master, Bro. J. R. H. Harris, assisted by Bro. R. Cawsey, in a Board of Installed Masters consisting of Bros. John Lynn P.M. P.P.G.S.B., J. B. Lynn Tr., R. Cawsey Sec., T. Border S.D., W. M. Ridland J.D., R. George Chaplain, E. Littleton I.G., W. Rattenbury D.C., R. Pike Org., T. Boyling and Towan Stewards, and T. Stephens Tyler. The Treasurer's accounts were satisfactory, and it was resolved that the annual banquet take place on 12th of January, at the Royal Hotel, Devonport. Ladies will be invited to attend, as on previous occasions.

NORTH YORK LODGE, No. 602, MIDDLESBROUGH.

THURSDAY, 16th inst., the brethren met in the Lodge-room for the purpose of installing Bro. S. A. Sadler W.M. for the ensuing year. There was a very large attendance, and amongst the visitors present were Bro. George Marwood Right Worshipful P.D.P.G.M. of the North and East Ridings of Yorkshire, who had kindly undertaken to perform the ceremony, and the following brethren:—T. C. Davison P.M. Marwood Lodge, R. W. Holland P.M. York, R. W. Bolsover P.M. Tees, J. Hunton P.M. Philanthropy, W. Bulmer P.M. Zetland, A. C. Knowles P.M. Tees, John Settle P.M. Tees, W. Nelson W.M. Marwood, J. H. Hart Sec. Stockton, A. Dyson P.M. Marwood, J. M. Meek P.M. Marquis of Ripon, F. E. Streeton Ferrum, J. N. Malcolmson Ferrum, J. T. Belk Ferrum, A. Tanner P.M. Perseverance, H. Tompson P.M., W. Petchell P.M., J. A. Manners P.M., W. H. Cowper P.M., R. Davison P.M., C. Willman P.M., M. G. Collingwood P.M.—all of North York Lodge. The Installing Officer having performed the ceremony in a most efficient manner, the newly-elected W.M., Bro. Sadler appointed the following Officers for the year:—I. Fidler I.P.M., W. Gill S.W., W. R. Gibbs J.W., M. G. Collingwood Treasurer, S. Walker Secretary, A. Hallam S.D., A. C. Wilson J.D., H. Sherwood I.G., W. J. Watson D.C., J. F. Stewart Organist, J. Rushford and R. Wilkinson Stewards, James Ingram O.G. In the evening the brethren sat down to a splendid banquet at the Queen Hotel.

ST. OSWALD'S LODGE, No. 910, PONTEFRACT.

ON Wednesday evening, the 15th inst., the brethren of the above Lodge celebrated the Festival of St. John. There was a large master of members and Visitors, the latter including Provincial Officers of high rank, as well as the W. D.P.G.M. of West Yorkshire, who is a member of the Lodge. For the first time in the history of the Lodge the ceremony of installation was attended by over two dozen P.M.'s, and the number generally present was so great that the Officers experienced considerable difficulty at times in carrying through the details of the installation. In the unavoidable absence of the W.M., Bro. I.P.M. Mathers took the chair, and opened the Lodge. He retired to make way for Bro. P.M. Slack, P.G.D.C. of the Province, the Installing Master. This is not the first time by several that Bro. P.M. Slack has installed the Master of St. Oswald's, and on taking the chair he was warmly greeted. The W. Bro. Tew, J.P, D.P.G.M. was introduced, and greeted with the customary honours. At this time there were present in the Lodge—Bros. H. Smith P.G. Secretary, Mason P.G. Treasurer, Simpson P.P.G.S. Works (Charity Steward), MacKay (Castleford) P.P.G. Sword Bearer, Mathers I.P.M., Slack P.G.D.C., Smithers P.G. Steward, Ward (Goole) P.P.G.P., Hall P.P.G. Steward, W. S. Wood P.P.G. Registrar, J. Gill P.P.G.D.C., W. B. Alderson P.P.G.D., Rowlands a P.P. Officer of S. Wales; P.M.'s Clark, Lord, Phillips, Holmes, Kassel (Castleford), Harling (Castleford), Cliff (Castleford), Hartley (Wakefield), W.M.'s Hardley (Castleford), Gardiner (Goole). Wor. Bro. Tew, in acknowledgment of the salutation accorded him, spoke at some length. The condition of the 66 Lodges of West Yorkshire, in which there were now some 3300 Masons, showed the progress the Order was making. It had been his privilege, in discharging the duties of his high office—an office he should consent to fill only so long as he had their cordial and fraternal support—to visit many Lodges of late in that Province, and he could but inadequately express his sense of the manner in which they were being worked, and of the cordial spirit that existed amongst the brethren. He had the authority of their Prov. Grand Master Bro. Sir Hy. Edwards, to say that he trusted the Secretaries and Treasurers of every Lodge in the Province would so carry out their duties as to diminish very much, if not extinguish, the list of defaulters. That list of late had seriously increased; an increase due he believed in no small measure to the wave of bad trade which was passing over the Province. He congratulated St. Oswald's on the very distinguished company that had assembled. The Festival on behalf of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution in London in February next was to be presided over by Bro. Sir Hy. Edwards. He knew the Province would support their Prov. Grand Master well and heartily; but still he mentioned the matter so that Past Masters and members of Lodges that had not lately sent a Steward might take this opportunity of doing so. He held in his hand the balance sheet of the Bentley Shaw Fund, from which he learnt that they had, after raising £1,080, still rather more than £20 in hand. It was Sir Hy. Edwards's and his own intention to place on the agenda paper of the Prov. Grand Lodge, to be held on the 12th January, a motion for placing this sum at the command of Bro. Henry Smith Prov. Grand Secretary, with the view of (when some of his friends had suitably augmented it) his becoming, what he knew he had long wished to become—a Vice-Patron of all their Charities. Thus, while they acknowledged in so slight a manner the valuable services of a brother so widely esteemed and revered, they enabled him to gratify his Masonic wishes by using the gift for the benefit of the Province. In conclusion, W. Bro. Tew congratulated Bro. Quartermain on his approaching installation to the chair. The ceremony proceeded, and was conducted by the Installing Master in the very able and thoroughly Masonic manner which is a mark of all the work done in St. Oswald's Lodge. The following were the Officers invested:—Bros. Rev. J. Needham S.W., Scriven J.W., G. H. Locking Treasurer, I. Kaberay Secretary, W. H. Wilks S.D., R. Moxon jun. J.D., C. Longstaff I.G., Hall P.M. D.C., J. Simpson Org., Blake Tyler, Pearson and Fisher Stewards. Subsequently, on the motion of Bro. Lord, seconded by Bro. Harling, and supported amongst others by Worshipful Bro. Tew, Bro. Simpson was again chosen Charity Steward. The other business was of an ordinary character, and the Lodge was duly closed in peace and harmony by the new W.M. At a later hour the brethren sat down to a banquet at the Red Lion Hotel, the W.M. Bro. Quarterman in the chair, he being supported by Worshipful Bros. Tew, J.P., D.P.G.M., S. Woolf, M.P., Slack P.M. Installing Master, &c. The health of the Queen and of the Grand Master of England, with the Grand Officers, were very warmly received, the latter being greeted with the honours of the Order. To the next toast, that of the Right Worshipful P.G.M. of West Yorkshire Bro. Sir H. Edwards, the Wor. D.P.G.M. Bro. T. W. Tew, and the Prov. Grand Officers, Worshipful Bro. Tew responded, congratulating the new W.M. on having attained to the honour of the chair after fourteen years careful attention to Masonic duties. Passing on to refer to the fact that many benevolent works outside Masonry in many cases owed their origin to, and were managed by brethren of the Order, he alluded to the recent opening of the Dispensary at Pontefract, a work which was designed by Masons, and built throughout by Masons. This showed that they were not merely Speculative, but were actually Operative Masons. The speech of the Deputy, which proceeded to refer to the principles of Masonry, and the results it had already shown, was listened to with evident appreciation by the brethren present. To the toast of the Archbishop and Clergy, Bro. the Rev. J. Needham replied, and to that of the Borough Members, Bro. S. Woolf, M.P., responded, on behalf of himself and Bro. the Right Hon. H. C. E. Childers, M.P. The W.M. then gave the Installing Master, and Bro. Slack P.M. replied in an able speech. To the toast of the Past Masters of St. Oswald's Lodge and the retiring Officers, which was given from the chair, Past Master Bro. Clark responded in felicitous terms, claiming for the Officers of the past year an intention to discharge their Masonic duties to the best of their ability. The Visiting Brethren was suitably acknowledged by Bro. Rowlands P.P.G. Registrar South Wales, the W.M. remarking, in proposing it, that he was proud to see such an array of Provincial Officers and other brethren at their installation. The Dep. P.G.M. Bro. Tew gave the W.M. and the newly appointed Officers, paying a high tribute to the Masonic character of Bro. Quarterman, who had assisted him very much in the discharge of his duties as Deputy, and who would be still better able to help him now the Lodge had conferred on him the degree of P.M. The toasts of the Masonic Charities, replied to by Bro. Simpson, and the Ladies, given by Bro. Moxon and responded to by Bro. M. Pearrow, ended the toast list. The proceedings were rendered additionally pleasant through the good offices of a Masonic glee party from Batley, as well as by songs from Bros. Cliffe, Wilson, and others.

FALCON LODGE, No. 1416.

THE installation meeting took place in the Masonic Hall, Thirsk, on Thursday, 9th December, when Bro. W. Coltman W.M. occupied the chair, and many distinguished visiting brethren were present, including Bros. G. Marwood, J.P., of Busby Hall P.D.P.G.M. P.M. 543, R. W. Hollon P.G.S.B. England Prov. G. Treasurer, J. S. Cumberland Prov. G.J.W., C. Palliser Prov. G.S. of Works W.M. 1337, W. Paley P.S.G.W. West Yorks, M. Knowles P.P.G.J.D. Durham, J. Hunton P.P.G.J.D. Durham, J. Richardson P.P.G. Pursuivant West Yorks P.M. 1001, F. Smith W.M. 837, P. Donaldson P.M. 837, T. R. Mountain P.M. 837, H. C. Pickersgill J.W. 837, C. Waistell P.M. 1337, R. Pallister S.W. 1337, R. Southeran J.W. 1337, F. Long 1496, Whitmore York 1611, &c., supported by Bros. Rev. C. E. Camidge P.M. P.P.G.C. West and N. and E. Yorks, Rev. W. C. Lukis P.M. P.P.G.C. West Yorks, G. Ayre P.M. P.P.G.J.D., T. J. Wilkinson P.M., W. Hall, C. G. Kipling, H. Masterman, G. B. Hall, J. Walton, H. Smith, J. Johnson, R. Atkinson, Z. Wright, H. Longford, L. J. Thompson, &c. Telegrams regretting inability to be present were received from Bros. T. B. Whytehead 1611 236 1338 P.M. P.P.G.D.C., and W. H. Gainforth W.M. 236. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, Bro. W. Hall S.W. and W.M. elect was presented for installation. A Board of Installed Masters having been formed, the ceremony was most impressively performed by W. Bro. George Marwood. On the readmission of the brethren, the Worshipful Master was congratulated, and saluted in ancient form. He then proceeded to invest the following brethren as his Officers for the ensuing year, addressing to each a few appropriate words:—Bros. W. Coltman I.P.M., C. Greensides S.W., H. Smith J.W., T. J. Wilkinson P.M. Treasurer, J. Walton Secretary, Rev. C. E. Camidge, M.A., Chaplain, Rev. W. C. Lukis, M.A., F.S.A. Preceptor, J. Johnson S.D., Z. Wright J.D., C. G. L. Kipling Supt. of Works, H. Longford D.C., E. Richardson Organist, R. Long I.G., J. Johnson and L. J. Thompson Stewards, G. Ayre P.M. Almoner, J. S. Farmery Tyler. The Lodge having been closed in due form, the brethren adjourned to W. Bro. Hall's, where a recherché banquet was spread, the elegance and completeness of the arrangements, as well as cuisine of the viands and excellence of the wines even more than sustaining the ancient reputation of the Fleece Hotel. At the conclusion of the repast the W.M. gave the loyal toasts, which were received with musical honours. W. Bro. R. W. Hollon responded on behalf of Grand Lodge, and W. Bro. C. E. Camidge, M.A., for Provincial Grand Lodge, our reverend brother having served the Office of Chaplain for both the Yorkshire Provinces. W. Bro. Marwood then proposed the health of the Worshipful Master, expressing the great personal pleasure it had afforded him to place in the chair of K.S. one whom he had known for many years, and respected; who was a founder of the Lodge, and with whose family he had been acquainted for three generations. He anticipated for him a happy and prosperous year of office. Bro. Hall W.M. suitably responded, and in proposing the health of W. Bro. Marwood, referred to the many kind services he had rendered to the Lodge from its formation, and expressed the high and affectionate esteem in which he was held by the brethren—a remark which drew forth a most enthusiastic response, and which he in very feeling terms acknowledged. Bro. G. B. Hall, of Oswaldkirk, then in his most effective style opportunely sang "The Fine Old English Gentleman," the company testifying to the appropriateness of the words by the hearty spontaneity with which they weighted and swelled the chorus. Bro. Knowles, J.P., of Stockton-on-Tees, in proposing the toast of the I.P.M., remarked that there is no body of men so loyal to their chiefs as are the members of the Craft, nor whose mutual intercourse tends more to the maintenance of the principles of law and order. Such gatherings as these are not only enjoyable, but beneficial, especially when they bring brethren for a season away from the fierce democratic spirit of our large manufacturing towns to the quiet and soothing influences of a more retired and contemplative existence, from which they return better fitted for the battle of life and its many conflicting cares. Bro. Coltman, in response, congratulated the W.M. on his excellent selection of Officers, and promised him his best support during his term of office. Bro. Donaldson, of Ripon, in proposing the Officers of the Falcon Lodge, said it had been a peculiar pleasure to him to-day to meet Bro. Marwood, whose name had been a "household word" with him from his boyhood, and whose character commanded an individual admiration and reverence. He had also a strong personal attachment to the Falcon Lodge; it was one of the first Lodges he visited, and his fraternisation with the brethren always proved a source of enjoyment. The Rev. W. C. Lukis, M.A., F.S.A., in replying, spoke of the esprit de corps which animated the brethren who had been selected for official duties, and humorously referred to some of the distinguishing qualities of "Falcons" as encouraging the assurance that the interests of the Craft were safe with them. The Rev. C. E. Camidge, M.A., the Vicar, in well-chosen terms proposed "The Visitors," and after referring to the many advantages of Masonry, noticed specially its hospitality and its tendency to promote friendly feeling, smoothing away differences, and affording opportunity for better acquaintance with each other over the social board. Dr. Paley, of Ripon, responding, expressed the interest he felt in the welfare of the Falcon Lodge, congratulated Bro. Hall on his election to the chair, and recognised him as "the right man in the right place." Bro. C. Waistell, of Northampton, added a few words to the same effect, and then the toast-list was brought to a close. The case of "Poor and Distressed Masons" was remembered by a liberal contribution to the Almoner's fund, and one of the pleasantest and most successful meetings of the Lodge happily terminated.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—At Bro. Smyth's, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, on Saturday, the 18th inst. Present—Bros. G. Ferrar W.M., Gilham S.W., Storr J.W., Pearcy Preceptor, Fenner Sec., A. Ferrar S.D., Tuck J.D., Cattlin I.G.; also Bros. S. E. Moss, D. Moss, C. Lorkin, F. W. Jones, W. Williams, Birch, Brasted, Weeden, Fysh, &c. After preliminaries, Bro. W. Williams proved himself an efficient F.C., was entrusted, and the ceremony of raising was rehearsed by the W.M. Bro. D. Moss worked the second and third sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Lodge was closed to the first degree. Lodge was called off and on. Bro. Gilham was elected to preside at the next meeting, which was unanimously fixed for 8th January 1881. A vote of thanks was accorded the W.M. The sum of £1 1s was voted for the inmates of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution at Croydon for Christmas cheer, after which Lodge was closed.

Mount Sinai Lodge, No. 121, Penzance.—At the last meeting of this Lodge Mr. Peter Davies was duly initiated as a member, and Bros. Wellington Dale and Sennett were advanced to the second degree. Bro. James Lovell S.W. was elected W.M., and Bro. C. Read Treasurer, for the ensuing year. The celebration of the Festival of St. John was fixed for Wednesday, 29th December.

HUNDREDS of Medical Practitioners testify to its marvellous efficacy in immediately relieving and rapidly curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Spasms, Colic, Whooping Cough, and all Nerve Pains. It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. It rapidly relieves pain, from whatever cause, soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases, and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.
Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice Jessel, Lord Justice Mellish decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davenport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. See Times of July 28th, 1873. Bottles 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, 11s, and 22s. Sold by all Chemists.
TESTIMONIALS.—Head Quarter Staff, Cabul, May 31st, 1880. Mr. R. Freeman, Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of special service to me in alleviating the wearisome spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form. Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne. Yours faithfully, CHARLES W. OWEN, L.R.C.P. Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng., the Divisional Head Quarter Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul.
The Times, August 13th, 1877. From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army. Okoum, July 23rd, 1877. The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bullets of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor, owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected miraculous cures.

THE WARWICKSHIRE MASONIC BENEVOLENT AND PUPILS' AID FUND.

A fortnight since, we published certain resolutions passed at the meeting held at the Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, on the 1st November last, of the Association of Charity Stewards for the Province of Warwickshire. These resolutions, as was pointed out in the circular we then reproduced, have in view to consolidate the already existing Benevolent and Annuity Fund, and a new Fund, which was being raised at the time, into one common Fund, to be called the "Warwickshire Masonic Benevolent and Pupils' Aid Fund," and also to amalgamate the two Committees, respectively known as the "Association of Charity Stewards," and the "Benevolent and Annuities Fund Committee," so as to form one general representative Committee, charged with the important duty of superintending and promoting Masonic Benevolence, not only in connection with our central Charitable Institutions, but also in order to investigate all such claims and applications for relief as may be referred to it from time to time by the several Lodges in the Provinces. The Association, in unanimously accepting these resolutions, have also been at the pains of pointing out that the proposed Fund is not intended to in any way interfere with the three Central Charities—our two Schools, and the Benevolent; nor will the establishment of the new Fund have the effect of bringing about any relaxation in the efforts of the brethren of the Province to promote the welfare of these Charities. It will be purely supplementary to them, and will take charge only of those matters and administer only that quantum of help to those who are above or beyond their scope. Thus the old Warwickshire Benevolent and Annuity Fund has helped the Royal Masonic Benevolent Fund Institution by granting, weekly, small sums of money to aged and distressed Warwickshire brethren or their widows, or by affording them temporary relief; while, in other cases, they have extended help to a brother because he had not reached the minimum age prescribed by the law of the R.M.B.I. for admission to its benefits, or until he should be successful in receiving for himself a portion of those benefits. The new Benevolent and Pupils' Assistance Fund will continue the same admirable work as regards aged and decayed brethren and their widows, and it will also assist the children of deceased or distressed brethren by, wholly or partially, providing for their clothing, education, and maintenance until such time as they may be elected into one or other of the Schools, or in the event of their ultimately proving unsuccessful. It is also intended to contribute towards the advancement of those Warwickshire children who, on leaving School, are in need of a helping hand. Thus the purpose of the new fund is of a threefold character—(1) to provide, wholly or partially, for the education, &c., of the children of Warwickshire; (2) to advance the interests of Warwickshire children on leaving our Schools; (3) to grant annuities to aged brethren or their widows. The establishment of such a fund, or rather the consolidation into one of the old Warwickshire Benevolent Fund and the new one in course of constitution at the time these resolutions were passed cannot but be eminently beneficial, not only as regards Warwickshire itself, but in connection with the whole English Craft. The Province is a large one, and Birmingham, one of our most important industrial centres, is almost level in respect of the number of its Lodges with Manchester. It has an energetic chief in the person of Lord Leigh, who has held the position of Prov. Grand Master for over eight and twenty years, and is deservedly one of our most respected, as he unquestionably is, one of our most distinguished Masons. Our brethren of the Province, too, know full well how to support him when the occasion offers itself. We anticipate, therefore, that the Warwickshire Masonic Benevolent and Pupils' Assistance Fund will prove a great success. There is no doubt it will be well administered—inexpensively, that is to say, judiciously as regards those it assists, generously so far as it may be done with a due consideration for justice, and promptly in the case of all applicants, old and young; and we congratulate the Province on the course they have adopted.

It will be generally allowed that the consolidation into one of the two local Benevolent Associations, one in existence and the other only in embryo, is a most prudent arrangement. The fewer the applications to be made to brethren to support this or that Institution, the greater the chance they stand of being entertained. Thus, in the case of our Central Charities, there are many Lodges and brethren who support the Boys' School one year, the Girls' School the next, and the Benevolent the year following. We are sure they would very much like to assist all three in the course of the same year, and year after year. They might distribute their donations among all three Institutions, in which case the amount received by each would be small, but by taking up each in turn they render it an appreciable service. So two Associations in Warwickshire could only have looked to receiving each one-half of the support yearly that will now be given to the Consolidated One. The chances are, indeed, that the help it will succeed in obtaining will be far greater than what would have been rendered the two had they remained separate. A brother who is asked only once in the year to support the local Charity, is far more likely to give a handsome sum than if he is invited to support two such Charities. The plan will appear to be still more worthy of approbation if we take into account that the three Central Charities will be pressing their claims for support, the while the local Institution is seeking assistance. Thus, there will be four instead of five appeals yearly throughout the Province, and judging from past experience, the four will be more productive in the long run than the five would have been.

We see that the meeting, at which these arrangements were adopted, endorsed the resolution passed at the meeting of the Grand Lodge of the Province, held on the 17th January 1880. This resolution was to the effect that while the brethren of the Province fully approved of the principles of the scheme advocated by Lord Rosslyn for the establishment of a central Pupils' Assistance Fund, they were far from desirous of seeing a fourth Charity established in England for such a purpose, as they considered the machinery for carrying on such a Charity was unnecessary, and would be exceedingly expensive. They also feared that Lord Rosslyn's scheme, if carried out, would have the effect of reducing the amount now subscribed to the existing Institutions. They therefore pledged themselves to continue their support to those Institutions on condition that the Managing Committees of the Masonic Schools undertook to assist, by providing scholarships or otherwise, those pupils who, on leaving our Schools, were found to require and also to deserve such assistance. We have already over and over again expressed a contrary belief, and we are still of the opinion that the Royal

Digitized by Google

Masonic Pupils' Assistance, when in working trim, will fulfil the objects for which it was started, without in the slightest degree interfering with the other Charities. Indeed, its object has been stated to be, that it should always remain in a subsidiary position as regards the Schools. However, though our Warwickshire brethren will have nothing to say to a general Pupils' Assistance Fund, they have started a similar fund of their own in conjunction with their Benevolent Fund, and all we need say by way of concluding these remarks is, as we have once already said, that we hope and believe this scheme will be a successful one.

THE MOTHER CITY OF AMERICAN FREEMASONRY.—IV.

By Bro. R. F. Gould.

BY way of Appendix to the friendly disputation which, under the above heading, has been conducted in the Freemason's Chronicle, the "Title-Pages" of the two "Pocket Companions" (so frequently referred to), may be usefully presented.

It will be seen that the motto—"Deus Nobis Sol et Scutum"—and the names of printer [E. Rider] and compiler [W. Smith] are the same in both publications.

From the London list of Lodges being published in 1734, and the Dublin list in 1735, it is evident that the latter—except as to the No. 79—was copied from the former.

The dedication of the London "Pocket Companion" follows the Title-page, and concludes as under:—

What may be termed the first part of the book, terminates at p 45, and though the pagination continues, a new Title-page heads what may be described as the second part.

"It is dedicated" (says Bro. Hughan) "to the Brethren and Fellows . . . . of Free and Accepted Masons, by your loving Brother and most obedient servant." W. (illiam) S. (mith).

In the list of Lodges shown in this work, the 79th place on the English roll is no longer vacant, but is filled by an American Lodge, which is thus described: "The Hoop in Water Street, in Philadelphia, 1st Monday."

I may add, in conclusion, that whilst my hypothesis, as to the Boston Lodge, afterwards No. 126, being mis-described as the Lodge at the "Hoop," &c., is strengthened by the fact of the earlier "Pocket Companion" having the No. 79 vacant, it is weakened by the dissimilarity of the days of meeting assigned to the Lodges at No. 79 and 126 respectively.

No. 126 met on the second and fourth Wednesday, and not on the first Monday.

HOW LONG WILL MASONS CONTINUE TO BELIEVE IN IMAGINARY HISTORY?

By Bro. Jacob Norton.

A HALF-cracked dreamer, who was initiated into Masonry, wrote in 1724 a book called "Long Livers," in which he claimed that Masonry was understood by him better than any one else. Thereupon, the editor of the Freemason took it for granted that High Grades were in existence in 1724. A humbug imposed upon the High Graders in Golden-square a so-called Henry IV. of France Rose Croix apron, and the same authority tells us that the History of Freemasonry will have to be re-written. A splurge was recently made by a set of dreamers about Egyptian Masonry, and the same writer again insists that the History of Masonry will have to be re-written.

In a like manner the Philadelphia "Mother of American Masonry" was embalmed by the same writer in Bro. Kenning's Cyclopœdia. I supposed that my demonstration about Lodge No. 79 having been an English Lodge would have settled the Philadelphia pretension; but a correspondent of mine insists that I must account for the reason as to why the Dublin editor of the "Pocket Companion" in 1735 made No. 79 a Philadelphia Lodge. Now, with all deference to that Brother, does he really think that we are bound to account for all the whys and wherefores of Masonic writers who have propagated some thousands of falsehoods in their writings?

Thus, several old English Lodge Lists state that a certain Lodge was constituted in the days of Julius Cæsar. In 1875 the late Bro. Tisdal asserted that he saw the Warrant of Albion Lodge at Quebec, and that it was dated 1721. In C. W. Moore's Magazine, Boston, U.S. of 1844 (pp 163-4) I found the following assertion:—

"The first [authority] for this country was received about the year 1720. It was a Dispensation authorising the opening of a Lodge in this City.

"We have the fact from a clergyman (the late Rev. Mr. Montague, of Dedham), who found it stated in an old account in the archives of King's Chapel. The Lodge was regularly organized, but was soon after discontinued."

But although Moore gave it upon the authority of a Rev. Mr. Montague, yet there is not a word of truth in the above statement. Anderson's History of Freemasonry, "Multa Paucis," Hutchinson's, Preston's, and Oliver's Works, as well as our Masonic Magazines in general, abound in similar mis-statements. All that is necessary to do in such cases, is simply to expose their absurdities, and no one is required to account as to why or wherefore the said falsehoods were manufactured, and I really can see no reason why I should be called upon to account for a blunder of the Dublin editor of 1735.

Bro. Philadelphos, in the issue of this paper of 30th Oct., says:

"But I have always looked upon the Coxe Deputation, and the extracts from the Philadelphia Journal . . . . as having a very direct bearing upon the subject, and till the reality of their existence has been very seriously disturbed, I shall always be of opinion that Freemasonry undoubtedly established itself in Philadelphia before it did in any other city of the present United States; I will go further and say, that even if the Coxe Deputation was never granted—and I know no Craftsman who is more competent to throw light on this than Bro. Gould—I should still hold to the belief that the evidence of a contemporary journal as to there having been meetings of the Craft in the City of Brotherly Love, cannot be overset."

Now, I have never doubted that Coxe received a deputation in 1730, constituting him P.G.M. of New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. I believe, also, that in 1730 Franklin, in his paper, stated that several Lodges existed in Pennsylvania; and in 1732 he gave an account of the meeting of a Grand Lodge in Philadelphia. But I maintain that no evidence is in existence showing a connection between Daniel Coxe and Pennsylvania Freemasonry. Coxe joined a London Lodge in 1731, and no one could find his return to America before 1734, that is, two years after he ceased to be G.M. Now, had Coxe founded Masonry in Pennsylvania, and, residing as he did within twenty miles of Philadelphia, he would surely have visited the Philadelphia Grand Lodge, at least once, on a 24th of June, to participate with his Masonic children in the Festival of St. John's Day; and had he so visited them, his name would have appeared among the distinguished dignitaries in the Pennsylvania Gazette. Coxe died in 1739; had his Grand Mastership been known to Benjamin Franklin, Franklin would have noticed him in the Pennsylvania Gazette. Yet there is not only no evidence in the Pennsylvania Gazette that Franklin knew of Coxe's Deputation, but there is no evidence in all Franklin's writings of his knowledge of the very existence of Daniel Coxe; and, furthermore, there is no evidence that Coxe troubled himself with Masonry at all, even in New Jersey, where he resided; thus, a New Jersey Committee, in 1870, reported as follows:—

"Diligent research in the archives of the G. L. of England, and thorough inquiry for letters and papers bearing upon the subject among the descendants of Bro. Coxe, have failed to disclose any testimony whatever of the exercise by him, or any one acting under his authority, of the prerogatives contained in the Deputation. Upon this subject Bro. Clarke, G.S. of England, in a letter to our Historical Committee, says:—

"'I cannot find any application from Bro. Coxe and others for appointment for P.G.M. Bro. Coxe did not make any report of the appointment of a Deputy Grand Master or Wardens; neither did he report the congregating of Masons into Lodges. He did not transmit any account of having constituted Lodges, and does not indeed appear to have established any.'"

Bro. Clarke indeed admits that in those days P.G.M.'s. did not hurry themselves to report their doings to the G. L. of England, &c. Now, all that is doubtless true; but yet the Boston Lodge appeared in 1734 Lodge List, and a Georgia Lodge was mentioned in the 1735 List, or at least as having been constituted in 1735. A South Carolina Lodge appeared on the English Lodge List a year or two later; so did a Virginia Lodge; and as Bro. "PHILADELPHOS" agrees with me in discarding the authority of the Dublin editor of 1735 about No. 79 being a Philadelphia Lodge, I ask him, if a chartered Lodge existed in Philadelphia in 1730 or later, why it did not find its way into an English Lodge List the same as the other American Lodges above referred to?

"Behaviour to a Strange Brother" is thus enjoined in Anderson's Constitution:—

"You are cautiously to examine him in such method as prudence shall direct you, that you may not be imposed upon by an ignorant false pretender, whom you are to reject with contempt and derision, and beware of giving him any hints of knowledge." Again:—

"If any set or number of Masons shall take upon themselves to form a Lodge without the Grand Master's Warrant, the regular Lodges are not to countenance them. . . . but must treat them as rebels."

It has always been my firm belief that somebody must have stolen something, before stealing was prohibited by law, and the same is the case with all other laws. When therefore I find Anderson cautioning the brethren in 1723 against false pretenders and illegal Lodges, I can reasonably assume that Masonic pretenders, and unchartered Lodges existed as early as 1723, or even before. We find that P.G.M. Sayers got into disgrace for visiting an illegal Lodge in London. In 1734, Benjamin Franklin wrote to Henry Price that a Lodge at Philadelphia made Masons for a bowl of punch. And as Franklin was conscious that his own Lodge had no more right to make Masons than the Lodge above alluded to, he therefore wrote to Price:—

"We think it our duty to lay before your Lodge what we apprehend needful to be done for us, in order to promote and strengthen the interest of Masonry in this Province (which seems to want the sanction of some authority, derived from home, to give the proceedings and determinations of our Lodge their due weight), to wit, a Deputation or Charter by the Right W. Mr. Price by virtue of his commission from Britain," &c.

A similar self-constituted Lodge, that is, making Masons without having a Warrant, existed in Boston between 1752 and 1756, and in Nova Scotia between 1751 and 1757; so there is no doubt of the fact that Masons could act against the laws in the Constitution, and who knows whether the Lodges in Pennsylvania were not organised by "false pretenders?" I firmly believe that the Boston Lodge of 1752 was organized by sham Masons. Such was indeed the opinion of the then Boston Masons, and the G.L. of Scotland, who granted that Lodge a Warrant in 1756, never denied the illegitimacy of the founders of the said Boston Lodge; but, on the contrary, it admitted it, but claimed the right to legitimatize them—all which I do not deny. But yet, we see that sham Masons did organise a Lodge, and why may not the G.L. and Lodges in 1732 in Philadelphia have also been organised by sham Masons?

Besides which, I beg to remind my opponents that Coxe's deputation differed from all other deputations in some respects. First, it limited his term of office to two years, from 24th June 1730; and, second, after the expiration of the two years ,the said deputation authorised the brethren, "Who do now reside, or who may hereafter reside, in all or any of the said Provinces shall, and they are hereby empowered, every other year, on the Feast of St. John the Baptist, to elect a Provincial Grand Master, who shall have the power of nominating his D.G. and Grand Wardens. And we do hereby empower our said Provincial Grand Master, and the Grand Master, Deputy Grand Master, and Grand Wardens for the time being, for us and in our place and stead, to constitute the brethren (Free and Accepted Masons) now residing, or who shall hereafter reside, in those parts, into one or more regular Lodge or Lodges as he shall think fit, and as often as occasion shall require."

Thus, Coxe's Grand Lodge or Grand Lodges, had he established any, would (by virtue of his peculiar deputation) have become independent of the Grand Lodge of England and of all future English Grand Masters. Even the stipulation (inserted in every Deputation I have seen) requiring the Provincial G.M. to send annually an account to the G.M. or D.G.M. of England, of the number of the Lodge he constituted, &c., was omitted from Coxe's deputation. Now, had a Lodge or Lodges been planted in Pennsylvania by Coxe he would doubtless have furnished it or them with a charter or charters. And had the Grand Lodge, established by Allen, Franklin and Co., in 1732, been a continuation of Coxe's G.L. or if it had derived its authority from Coxe's Deputation, Franklin would have possessed at least a copy of the said deputation. And if his Lodge had been chartered by Coxe, and the Pennsylvania G.L. of 1732 had originated from Coxe's deputation, Franklin would never have written to Price (28th Nov. 1734), "We think it our duty to lay before your Lodge what we apprehend seems needful to be done for us . . . . which seems to want the sanction of some authority derived from home . . . . to wit, a Deputation or Charter," &c. The phrase, "seems to want the sanction of some authority," proves conclusively that he had no authority whatever from Daniel Coxe or from any other source.

Bros. Gould and Hughan made some remarks upon the question at issue, which I shall comment upon in a future No. But as Bro. Hughan has raised a conundrum about "No. 79, 1730" (which, according to the Old Style, may have really been any time before the 25th of March, 1731), Bro. Gould will favour me greatly by printing from the MS. record in the G.L. archives, the page containing the names of members of No. 79, including the year when the Lodge was constituted. This will demonstrate to the reader that the information derived from Bro. Gould's series of Lodge Lists, about No. 79 having been from its origin an English Lodge, is confirmed by an original record in the archives of the Grand Lodge of England.

LODGE OF GOOD FELLOWSHIP, No. 276.

ON Thursday, the 16th ult., this Lodge celebrated the Festival of St. John the Evangelist, according to established custom, additional eclat being given to the proceedings by the newly-appointed D.P.G.M. Wor. Bro. Fred. A. Philbrick, Q.C., P.G.D., choosing it as an opportunity for his investment and first official visit to the Province. Lodge was opened at three o'clock, in the Board Room of the Corn Exchange, Chelmsford, and Bro. Philbrick having been received with the honours due to his exalted rank in the Craft, the V.W. Bro. Sir R. Wigram, the retiring D.P.G.M., who presided, called upon Wor. Bro. T. J. Ralling P.G. Sec., to read the patent of appointment. This having been done, Bro. Wigram, in a few well-chosen words, proceeded to invest Bro. Philbrick with the insignia of his office, congratulating him upon his appointment, and expressing a hope that he might long be spared to give his valuable services to the Province. Bro. Philbrick, in reply, thanked the brethren for the hearty greeting they had given him. He said, as an Essex man he was very proud of the post he had been so unexpectedly called on to fill, and, while feeling the difficulty of succeeding so affable, genial, and worthy a predecessor, promised to his utmost to serve the Craft in Essex. Subsequently the installation of the W.M. elect Bro. W. P. Lewin, was proceeded with, the ceremony being most ably performed by V.W. Bro. S. R. Wigram P.D.P.G.M., and the new W.M. afterwards invested his Officers for the ensuing year as follows:—Wor. Bros. Jas. S. Brown P.S.G.D. I.P.M., E. Shedd W.M. 1543 S.W., Bro. W. J. Upton J.W., Wor. Bros. the Rev. F. B. Shepherd P.M. P.P.G.C. Chaplain, F. Whitmore P.M. Treasurer, J. Nicholls, M.D., P.M. P.P.S.G.W. Secretary, Bros. Arthur Mead S.D., F. P. Sutthery J.D., A. Durrant P.M. 276 P.G. Treas. D.C., H. Bowles Org., A. C. Durrant I.G., A. G. Maskell Steward, Thos. Sarel Tyler. At the close of the ceremony, a cordial vote of thanks to the Installing Master was passed by acclamation, and ordered to be recorded on the minutes. A vote of thanks to the D.P.G.M., for having chosen that occasion for his first visit to the Province after receiving his appointment, was also unanimously carried; and, in reply, W. Bro. Philbrick took occasion to refer not only to the pleasure it afforded him to be amongst them, but also to find the working of the Lodge so thoroughly good. It was announced that a cheque for £150 had been received from the Board of Benevolence for a late member of the Lodge, whose necessities had been brought before the notice of the Board by the Lodge of Good Fellowship. At the conclusion of the business, the brethren adjourned to the White Hart Hotel, where between fifty and sixty sat down to a sumptuous repast, served in first-class style by the host, Bro. Sheldrake. In the course of the post prandial proceedings, the "Health of the P.D.P.G.M. and Installing Master" was heartily drunk. The W.M., who proposed the toast, taking occasion to express the satisfaction they had all felt at the courteous and kindly manner in which Bro. Wigram had carried out his official duties, and how much they regretted his severance from the Province. Bro. Wigram, in responding, said the Masons of Essex had always received him so kindly that his office had been one of great pleasure to him, and he felt a considerable amount of regret that circumstances compelled him to lay it down. Being himself an Essex man, he should always watch with interest the progress of Masonry in the Province; and he hoped he should be permitted from time to time to come amongst them. Bro. Philbrick's health was also drunk, the Worshipful Master remarking that he was sure the welcome the Deputy Provincial Grand Master had received that day was only an earnest of what he would receive all through the Province, where his distinguished Masonic career was known and appreciated. The D.P.G.M. replied at some length, dilating upon the excellency of the Institution of Freemasonry, and expressing an earnest hope that his acceptance of the post he had taken would never be regretted by any one of the Masons of Essex. The other Masonic toasts were given and duly responded to, and a well selected programme of vocal music interspersed the proceedings which were of a most interesting and harmonious character. Among those present, either at Lodge or banquet, were:—Bros. the Worshipful Frederick A. Philbrick, Q.C., D.P.G.M., V.W. Bro. S. R. Wigram P.D.P.G.M. P.G.C., W. Bro. Andrew Durrant P.M. 276 P.G. POMFRET LODGE, No. 360.

MONDAY being St. John's Day, the annual Festival of this Lodge took place at the Masonic Hall, Abington-street, Northampton. In the afternoon the brethren met at the Lodge Room, when Bro. George Ellard, the W.M. elect, was installed by Bro. Hamilton W. Parker. Bro. J. T. Green P.M. D.C. occupied the S.W. chair, and Bro. Butler Wilkins D.P.G.M. the J.W. chair. Amongst the brethren present of the Pomfret Lodge were T. R. Wood I.P.M., George Ellard S.W. and W.M. elect, John Bingley J.W., Rev. S. J. W. Sanders Chaplain, Butler Wilkins Treasurer, George Robinson P.M. Secretary, Frederick James Airs S.D., John J. Hart J.D., Frederick J. Dufty I.G., Edward Haynes Steward; and P.M.'s Bros. M. A. Robinson, Alfred Cockerill, Henry Brown S.W. 1764, Henry Timpson. The Eleanor Cross Lodge was represented by J. W. Linnett, J. Manning, C. H. Frank Sec., T. Emery J.S., Rev. S. Wathen Wigg P.G.C. N. and H. and L. and R., Richard Croft Assist. Org., Eli Morris J.D., R. J. Johnston, Sam S. Campion. Also present—Arthur E. Greville W.M., William Whitton P.M., and Thos. Oldham J.D. Fidelity Lodge, Towcester, Arthur Littlewood Northern Counties 586, G. Carrick P.M. 327 809 P.P.G.S.W. Cambridgeshire, and others. The ceremony of installation was performed with great impressiveness by Bro. Parker. The W.M. having been duly installed, proceeded to invest his officers for the ensuing year as follows: Bros. Jno. Bingley S.W., F. J. Airs J.W., S. J. W. Sanders P.M. 1764 Chaplain, Butler Wilkins P.M. D.P.G.M. Treas., Geo. Robinson P.M. Sec., J. J. Hart S.D., F. J. Dufty J.D., John Townley Green P.M. D.C., Jos. Sadler I.G., J. U. Stanton P.M. P.P.G.S.D., and Edward Haynes Stewards, Charles Dean and William Kirby Tylers. The installation banquet was held subsequently in the Masonic Hall, being provided by Mr. and Mrs. Forth, of the Peacock and Midland Hotel. The room had been very tastefully decorated by Bro. Jos. Jeffery, of Gold-street. The chair was occupied by the newly-installed W.M. Bro. Geo. Ellard. The cloth having been withdrawn, and the usual toasts duly honoured, Past Master Geo. Robinson gave The Right Worshipful his Grace the Duke of Manchester Prov. G.M. of Norths and Hunts, the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, and the Past Officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge. Bro. Butler Wilkins, in responding, congratulated the W.M. on his installation, and then referred in sympathetic terms to the death during the past year of Bro. Cox, who had done so much to promote the interests of the Masonic Charities, and the extension of Masonic principles. He congratulated the Pomfret Lodge on the unanimity and harmony of its working, and regretted they were not favoured with the presence of the Prov. G.M., as it would act as a stimulus to Freemasonry. Bro. the Rev. S. Wathen Wigg gave the health of the Installing Master, whose performance of the ceremony he had rarely seen approached. It had been done faultlessly and with an amount of energy and feeling which made it exceedingly impressive. Bro. Hamilton W. Parker spoke of the benefits derivable from the study of Masonic law and ceremony. It had a tendency to expand their ideas, and to lead to higher things. Bro. Airs next proposed the Masonic Charities. Bro. J. U. Stanton, in responding, said they had such information given them lately concerning the Charities, which might be regarded as the ornaments of the Craft, that it was unnecessary for him to speak about them at any length. He explained how he came to be proposed as Steward for the Institution for aged and Decayed Freemasons, on behalf of whom he made a special appeal, and stated that so far the response had been most gratifying and that he hoped to take at least £120 and probably more to the Festival which takes place in February. Bro. J. T. Green proposed "The Worshipful Master of the Pomfret Lodge." He remarked that it was a hackneyed observation for the proposer of a toast to make, that his was the toast of the evening. But he (Bro. Green) thought they would all agree with him in this, that the toast of their king—the representative of King Solomon—was a most important one. They had been reminded before by Bro. Sanders of the old maxim, "The King never dies," and he (Bro. Green) hoped that would always be true in regard to the ruler of the Pomfret Lodge. They had just lost one but they had got another, Bro. Wood having been succeeded by Bro. Ellard, who had shown himself a sharp and acute Craftsman. He had watched his progress with much pleasure, and felt sure that the working of the Lodge would be safe in his hands. They were not all gifted alike, and few of them in the same degree as Bro. Ellard, who had a most retentive memory, which would be of great help to him in the exalted position he now occupied. Being for the time the mouthpiece of the Lodge, he (Bro. Green) was sure that he was expressing the feeling of every one present when he said, "We wish him every happiness in the ensuing twelve months that he could wish for himself, and we feel certain that the Pomfret Lodge in his hands will continue to make progress." The Worshipful Master, in responding said he felt more than he had ever felt before in his life the need of the ability to make a speech. After the very kind and considerate remarks which had been made he could only say that he would do the best he could in the discharge of the duties of the Office he had undertaken. With the example of so many excellent workers before him, he could hardly expect to attain to so high a standard as that which had been reached, but he could assure them that if he did not carry out the ceremonies to the superlative degree of perfection it would not be because his heart was not in Masonry, but rather because the ability and not the inclination was wanting. He at least hoped to be able so to perform his duties that his conduct should meet with their approval. The Worshipful Master afterwards gave the "Immediate Past Master, Bro. T. H. Wood," who made a suitable response. The other toasts were "The Past Masters," "The Visiting Brethren," "The W.M. and Brethren of the Eleanor Cross," "The Officers of the Lodge," "The Tyler's Toast." A very pleasant evening was spent.

In the evening the brethren of the Lodge, with several visitors, dined together at Webb's Hotel, where an enjoyable evening was spent.

LOYAL VICTORIA LODGE, No. 557, CALLINGTON.

THE Annual Festival of this Lodge was held on Monday, at the Masonic Hall. The W.M. elect, Worshipful Bro. George B. Woolcock, was installed by Worshipful Bro. C. T. Pearce P.P.G.D., assisted by Worshipful Bros. John Peter P.P.G.W., T. B. Richards P.M., and Richard Parkin P.M. At the close of the installation, the following brethren were invested as the Officers for the ensuing year:—Wor. Bros. Richard Parkin I.P.M., W. Tamblyn S.W., George Morgan J.W., Chas. T. Pearce Treasurer, J. T. Williams Secretary, W. Stephens S.D., John H. Cousins J.D., J. Rabbage I.G., Stephen G. Bennett D.C., William Bond Org., D. Steer S.S., George Body J.S., James Henwood Tyler. Bro. T. B. Richards was unanimously re-elected Steward of the C.M.A. and B.F. The brethren of the Lodge and Visitors dined together at Golding's Hotel, the usual Masonic toasts being given and responded to. In the evening an entertainment was held under the auspices of the Lodge at Golding's Assembly Room, the chief attractions being Mr. Dowling's admirable songs, and the excellent performance of Mr. Bodinner's Quadrille Band. There was also an auction sale of surplus bazaar goods. The entertainment concluded with a dance. The attendance was very good, the room being crowded, and all seemed to have thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

ELMS LODGE No. 1212.

THE annual meeting of this Lodge was held on Tuesday, 28th ult., at the Masonic Hall, Home Park, Stoke. Bro. J. H. Trounce, the late Secretary, who had been previously unanimously elected, was installed the Worshipful Master for 1881. The very interesting ceremony was performed by the retiring Master Wor. Bro. Joseph Bassett, assisted by Wor. Bros. J. Ripper P.M. and T. G. Bickle P.M., in the presence of a board of Installed Masters, amongst whom were Wor. Bros. S. S. Tremayne P.M. P.P.G.S. Works, F. Hooper P.M., E. Murch P.M. P.P.G.O., W. Fowler P.M., T. S. Jackson P.M., all of 1212; P. B. Clements P.M. 954 P.P.G.O., R. Cawsey P.M., and S. R. Ellis W.M., J. H. R. Harris I.P.M. of 230, R. Grills W.M. 202, E. Poor P.M. 1136 P.P.G.P. Cornwall, E. A. Davies P.M. 1099 P.P.G.S. Works, J. B. Gover P.M. 70 P.P.G.A.D.C., Geo. Cassell P.M. 1136, J. Baxter P.M. 954. The accounts were audited, and there was a very satisfactory balance in favour of the Lodge. The Officers appointed and invested for the year were—Bros. Joseph Bassett I.P.M., George Derry S.W., W. Jenkins J.W., W. Fowler Treasurer, J. G. Bickle Sec., A. H. Widden S.D., F. Wright J.D., J. Hocken Org., Wm. Bickle D.C., R. D. Atkin I.G., Leonard S.S., T. Cundy J.S., James Rashbrook Tyler. The W.M. is the representative of the Committee of Petitions. The brethren, about fifty, adjourned to the Royal Hotel, Devonport, for the banquet. This was in all respects what a banquet should be, gave universal satisfaction, and Bro. Parker was thanked for his catering. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to, the W.M. ably presiding.

We have received from Messrs. Beckmann Bros., Printsellers to the Queen, a copy of a picture they have just issued of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales in his insignia of office as Grand Master of English Freemasons. The portrait is 19 by 14 inches, and is printed in colours, forming a very handsome picture, and one which we think will meet a favourable reception at the hands of English brethren. The plate will, no doubt, be recognised by many as an old favourite, it being none other than that issued some time back by Bro. E. J. Harty, who, we are given to understand, has disposed of his copyright to Messrs. Beckmann. As we have already said, the picture is now produced in colours, and at a much more reasonable price than was hitherto the case, it being obtainable at 7s 6d per copy. Each plate has a facsimile of the signature of the Grand Master, and is altogether a work of which Masons may be proud.

At the monthly meeting of the Boscawen Lodge' No. 699, Chacewater, Bro. the Hon. and Rev. J. T. Boscawen was elected W.M. for the ensuing year, and Bro. P.M. Ninnis was re-elected Treasurer.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

At the meeting of the House Committee of this Institution, held on Christmas-eve, Bro. William Roebuck in the chair, Bro. John Constable, Chairman of the Bazaar Committee of the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund, and Bro. Dick Radclyffe, Hon. Sec., attended at the Institution on behalf of the Committee, for the purpose of making a presentation to the School. The gift consisted of a very handsome silver Cornet, manufactured by Messrs. F. Besson and Co., which was purchased through the exertions of Madame Fontaine-Besson, Bro. W. W. Morgan, of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, and other brethren, by subscriptions of visitors to the Bazaar held last June, in aid of the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund. The reason of the presentation is fully set forth in the following inscription on the Cornet:—"Presented to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, by the Committee of the Royal Masonic Pupils' Assistance Fund, as a mark of appreciation of the services rendered by the boys composing the band and choir of the Institution at a Bazaar held in aid of the Fund in June 1880."

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE GIRLS' SCHOOL.

The General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls met on Thursday afternoon at Freemasons' Hall, Bro. Lieut-Colonel Creaton, Grand Treasurer, in the chair. There were also present, Bros. Frank Richardson, H. Massey, Arthur E. Gladwell, John A. Rucker, J. H. Matthews, Thomas Mason, Frederick Adlard, Charles Hammerton, R. B. Webster, Frederick Drummond, and F. R. W. Hedges Secretary. On the motion of Bro. Frank Richardson, a Sub-Matron and Needlework Mistress were appointed, and Bro. Richardson gave notice of motion for next Quarterly Court to make a small increase to some of the teachers' salaries, and also to appoint some additional teachers, the duties of the establishment falling much heavier since the twenty-five additional girls were elected. Seven candidates were then placed on the list for election in April. Vacancies were declared for fifteen girls at that election, at which there will be twenty-eight candidates. Bro. Rucker P.G.D. called the attention of the Committee to the fact that the fathers of the seven children who had that day been placed on the list had only been in Masonry nine, eight, six, five, and three years respectively before death. He was afraid there was too great a readiness to introduce into Masonry gentlemen who were likely to become a burden to it, and he thought that before long the attention of Lodges would have to be called to the subject. The Chairman then moved that £1400 be invested in Reduced, and placed in the Sustentation Fund. He said he had been over the financial state of the Institution with the Secretary, and had found that after everything had been paid that would have to be paid, this amount might be invested. Bro. Richardson seconded the motion, which was carried, as was also another motion for increasing the sum allowed to be in the Secretary's hands for petty cash from £50 to £70. The proceedings closed with a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

WITHDRAWAL OF VISITORS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—No one who may have read the letter waggishly signed "THE IRREPRESSIBLE TOMKINS" which appeared in your issue of the 18th inst. can fail to perceive that, in penning his remarks, the writer was clearly animated by an unfriendly, and by no means fraternal spirit. A half-forgotten matter, of no very great importance to the high interests of the Craft, incidentally mentioned in a report of the proceedings of Tranquillity Lodge, No. 185, afforded the opportunity of venting a probably long suppressed anger upon the devoted head of a, most likely, very innocent offender. It would perhaps be better to leave the letter to the judgment of your readers, who know, and who in more than one way have in a tangible manner shown, a thorough appreciation of the many and varied services to the Craft rendered by Bro. Constable, were it not that an editorial footnote not only backs up the offensive expressions it contains, but also flatly contradicts the views upon the same subject embodied in a leading article published in the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE of 21st September 1878.

In the present year of grace, Bro. Constable's conduct in expressing his disgust at the treatment received as a visitor to a Lodge at Port Elizabeth is held to be, by the writer, "a silly exhibition of spleen," &c., but in 1878 he was not only considered blameless, but very badly used by the W.M. of the Goodwill Lodge. In September '78 Dr. Oliver is quoted in favour of Bro. Constable; showing how it was the right of every well-vouched Freemason to visit a Lodge, and remain in it under all circumstances, provided he conducted himself with propriety; and how a resolution emanating from the Board of General Purposes was promulgated to that effect; and how a late Grand Master declared that a Mason's Lodge is a Mason's church, and that no legally qualified member could be refused admission under any circumstances. Dr. Oliver also stated that in spite of all this some Masters of Lodges do refuse admission to visitors, but declares such exclusion illegal. In December '80, however, the same authority is quoted against Bro. Constable, in what is described an amiable and courteous type of Freemason, whose delicacy would prompt him to retire under certain circumstances. But in September '78, we have a further quotation from Dr. Oliver, which in '80 it was thought convenient to omit, to the effect that, "When any business of a private nature, such as a discussion of the state of the funds, or any other topic which cannot be interesting to a stranger, &c., due notice having been given to every member, it would be indelicate to invite Brethren," &c. Now, Bro. Constable was well vouched for and invited, and having proved himself qualified to the Master's satisfaction was asked to withdraw until the Lodge should have been opened and the minutes read. To my mind, such an indignity would be justly resented by any one possessing a grain of self respect.

I will not encroach further upon your valuable space, but refer those of your readers who may be interested in this matter to the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE of 21st September '78, in which the subject is most ably and exhaustively treated. One more remark and I am done. To write under an assumed name upon general matters is permissible, but cowardly when the shelter is used to offensively characterise the conduct of an individual. To fling insulting expressions from under cover of a nom de plume is an atrocity not many degrees removed from the act of firing at a man from behind a hedge.

Yours fraternally,

E. GOTTHEIL.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—It is necessary only for me to correct your statements. Your reporter was not fully acquainted with the proceedings of 1878 until I sent him a copy of the report and article last week. Allow me to say—

1st. That you were in possession of all the facts in 1878 (vide article 21st Sept. idem).

2nd. That no reason was assigned to me by the W.M. beyond "that it was not customary to allow Visitors to be present until after the confirmation of the minutes."

3rd. That I did not object to withdraw upon the W.M.'s request.

You are unaware that I am in weekly business communication with the then W.M. of the Goodwill Lodge, and that our relations always have been, and still are, of the most friendly character. Further, that whatever amount of knowledge the year 1880 may have given you, it is clear you do not know that your article of 1878 was the means of inducing the members of the Goodwill Lodge to transact their private business IN PRIVATE, and since that period no Visitor has been asked to retire until after the confirmation of the minutes, either in the Goodwill or any other Lodge in Port Elizabeth.

Permit me to say that I, of all your friends, should have been free from your editorial attack, and I am astounded that the "IRREPRESSIBLE TOMKINS" should have been a party to so unwarrantable a proceeding.

"Save me from my friends."

This letter will close my remarks upon the subject.

I am, yours fraternally,

JOHN CONSTABLE.

328 Mansion House Chambers,
28th December 1880.

[We gathered from Bro. Constable's letter of the 20th ult. that the alleged irreconcilability of the opinions we expressed in reference to his little "incident" in 1878, and recently, did not further concern him. However, he seems to have changed his mind, and we have great pleasure in inserting the above letter. We are very much obliged to him for his "corrections." We hope we have received them in a becoming spirit of meekness and humility, but even editors may be pardoned if they are at the pains of pointing out, that "corrections" are not always correct. Therefore, and in the most conciliatory spirit imaginable, we take the liberty of acknowledging his several propositions thus: (1) Two versions of the incident which occurred during Bro. Constable's visit to the Goodwill Lodge have reached us. Version No. 1 alleged that he was requested to withdraw till the minutes had been read; version No. 2, that it was because some business was about to be transacted which did not concern a stranger. If the minutes contained the business "which did not concern a stranger," then the two versions are reconcilable. If they did not, then Bro. Constable was justified in insisting on his right to remain, at all events, until the private business of the Lodge came on for consideration, when courtesy, of course, would have led him to retire without any invitation whatever. On the other hand, if he waxed indignant when requested to retire during the transaction of business which did not concern him, then Bro. Constable was in the wrong. (2) The brother who furnished the report of the last meeting of Tranquillity assigned, in his footnote, the W.M.'s reason for asking Bro. Constable to retire, what we have already stated, namely, that the business did not concern a stranger. We cannot explain how the mistake occurred, especially as

Bro. Constable was himself present at the meeting, and could have been appealed to for his version of what actually did take place. We refer him to our Reporter for an explanation. (3) As a matter of fact, Bro. Constable did withdraw, but we are at a loss to understand why, as stated in Version No. 1, the Worshipful Master should have expressed his willingness to allow Bro. Constable to remain, or why the latter, according to version No. 2, should have expressed indignation at the request, if he (Bro. Constable) did not object. The W.M. could hardly be so silly as to make a request one minute for the purpose of withdrawing it the next, nor is it consistent with Bro. Constable's usual sense to be indignant about what he did not object to do. We are very pleased to hear our brother is "in weekly business communication with the then W.M. of the Goodwill Lodge, and that our relations always have been, and still are, of the most friendly character." How delightful it is to know there are two brethren who dwell together in unity—even though one of them resides in Port Elizabeth and the other in London. We are also gratified to learn "that our article of 1878 has had the effect of inducing the members of the Goodwill Lodge to transact their private business IN PRIVATE"—if by that is meant, that what does not concern a stranger is transacted in the absence of strangers—and that they have the good sense to receive visitors during the transaction of the ordinary business of the Lodge. In conclusion, we know of no particular reason why, if Bro. Constable is, in our judgment, in the wrong, we should not tell him so, as we have done in this instance, courteously. We cannot agree with him that such conduct on our part is either an attack on him, towards whom we have not the slightest particle of ill-feeling, or "an unwarrantable proceeding." Nor is there any reason why the "IRREPRESSIBLE TOMKINS" should not have written the letter he did. There was nothing in it offensive towards Bro. Constable, or we should not have inserted it. However, our correspondent must speak for himself, if he cares to do so; we have enough on our own hands to do without taking upon ourselves the responsibility of answering on behalf of all who address to us communications.—ED. LODGE HISTORIES.

ST. GEORGE'S LODGE, No. 242, DONCASTER.

NOT many months ago we were enabled to give a succinct history of the St. Hilda's Lodge, No. 240, South Shields, on the occasion of its centenary anniversary. We are now in a position to add one more to our series of Lodge Histories, that of the St. George's Lodge, No. 242, of Doncaster, for the particulars of which we are in great measure indebted to the columns of the Doncaster Chronicle. It is, of course, in the nature of things that Freemasonry should flourish like a green bay-tree throughout the whole of the large county of York. Its chief city is inseparably connected with the history of our Craft, and although the old Grand Lodge of York passed away towards the close of last century, it has left behind it a name which will endure as long as Freemasonry exists. The two Provinces into which the county is divided must have between them some ninety Lodges, and no less than twenty-six of these were in existence before the Union of 1813. West Yorkshire, on the roll of which the St. George's Lodge holds so respected a place, is most regular and most liberal in its contributions to our Grand Institutions, and N. and E. Yorkshire highly distinguished itself last February, when its G. Master, the Earl of Zetland, occupied the chair at the Anniversary Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, an example which we feel confident will be followed by its western neighbours this year when Sir Henry Edwards, all being well, has consented to preside at the Festival of the same Charity. It is not surprising, therefore, that when such an opportunity presents itself as the centenary festival of a Yorkshire Lodge, the brethren of the County should turn it to account. Some three years ago the York Lodge, No. 236, had a grand gathering in honour of its centenary. Other Lodges which enjoy the same distinction have done the same, and now, or rather in October last, the St. George's commemorated the hundredth year of its existence in a manner which redounds to its credit, and of which all who took part in the celebration cannot fail to be proud.

There is one feature in connection with the history of this Lodge which speaks volumes in favour of the zeal and earnest care which must have animated its members from the very first day of its existence. It is still in possession of the original Warrant which was granted by Grand Master the Duke of Manchester, and its original furniture and working tools; and it is one of the very few Lodges which have enjoyed so long an existence that can boast of having a complete record of its proceedings. These records, we believe, contain memoranda, which would not only interest the Craft generally, but contain references to historical events of the greatest national importance. Thus, in the stirring times during the great war in which this country was engaged, almost without intermission, from 1792 to 1813, the Doncaster Freemasons gave more than public evidence of their loyalty to the Crown and Constitution. They bid God-speed to the gallant men who voluntarily placed their services at the disposal of their country, and when the gallant veterans of the Peninsular war and the heroes of Waterloo returned home after their gallant achievements, those who passed through Doncaster met with no heartier welcome from any body of its inhabitants than from the members of the St. George's Lodge. Nor has it been behind its sister Lodges in the part it has played in connection with local and general charities. It has done its share towards assisting our Institutions, and the claims of Doncaster itself to its support have never been lost sight of. Indeed, the Lodge would seem to have comported itself admirably during the whole period of its existence, and its history doubtless forms one of the brightest among the many bright pages in which are written the annals of English Freemasonry.

St. George's Lodge was constituted in 1780, the original Warrant which, as we have already said, is still religiously preserved, bearing date the 14th July of that year. It was granted by the Duke of Manchester, who was at the time Grand Master, and was addressed to Bro. William Stephenson, the first W.M. and other brethren. Two years later we find it attending Divine service in the old parish church, when a sermon was preached by Bro. the Rev. W. Johnson, of York, Provincial Grand Chaplain. Similar services were regularly given every year until 1837. In 1784 the then W.M. of the Lodge strenuously advocated the establishment of Sunday Schools in Doncaster, and in 1786 the Lodge unanimously voted the sum of five guineas towards their support. In 1809 a liberal subscription was given towards the enlargement of the Parish Churchyard, and on the very same evening on which this was done, a handsome sum was collected, and handed over for the relief of the Doncastrian poor. In 1827 some twenty members of the Lodge, with the W.M., Sir W. B. Cooke, assisted the Mayor of Doncaster to lay the foundation stone of Christ Church. In 1847, the brethren adjourned from the Lodge room to the Mansion House, for the purpose of meeting the Mayor and Corporation of Doncaster, after which they went in procession to lay the foundation stone of the new Market Hall, the ceremony being performed with due Masonic honours by the W.M., who was the very same Sir W. B. Cooke, who took part, as we have just mentioned, in the ceremonial of 1827. As regards the members, it appears that no less than twelve of them have served the office of Mayor of Doncaster, while prominent among the local clergy who have belonged to the Lodge must be mentioned the Rev. J. G. Fardell, formerly rector of Sprotbro', who was Master for three successive years; a present made by him to the St. George's being still one of its most valued possessions. Sir W. Bryan Cooke, father of the present baronet, was five times W.M., and held that position at the time he was appointed the first Mayor of Doncaster under the Municipal Act. Other of the more distinguished members were Lord Galway, Dr. Chorley, the Hon. W. G. Monckton, and Bro. L. Walbank Childers of Cantley.

The centenary celebration was held in the Mansion House, the Mayor having very kindly placed the building, with its furniture and appointments, at the services of the Lodge for the occasion. The Committee in charge of the arrangements consisted of the W.M. Bro. Delanoy, the P.M.'s, Wardens, and other Officers of the Lodge; but the Executive who really did what was necessary, included the W.M. Bro. Rand I.P.M., and Bros. F. D. Walker P.M., Bolsover, Verity, Axe, and Henry Fox Hon. Secretary. The Ball Room was fitted up as the Lodge room, and all the other rooms were turned to account for various purposes. About 200 brethren were present from different parts of the Province and Lodge having been opened with the usual formalities, in due course, Prov. G. Lodge was announced and received with honours, Bro. Delanoy vacating the chair in favour of Sir Henry Edwards P.G.M., who was supported by Bro. Tew Dep. P.G.M., Bro. C. L. Mason P.G. Treasurer, and other P.G. Officers past and present. Prov. G.L. was then opened, and after the reading and confirmation of the minutes, votes of thanks were passed with acclamation, to the Mayor, the Vicar of Doncaster, and the Organist and choir.

The Prov. G. Master then rose and addressed those present at some length. "Brethren," he said, "of the Saint George's Lodge, I thank you, and also the Mayor and Corporation of Doncaster, for this day's invitation, and the admirable arrangements which you have made for the reception of the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire in this town. Accept, brethren, the assurance of the gratification it affords me and the Provincial Grand Officers past and present, to see assembled in this Mansion House so numerous a gathering of the Craft, and our satisfaction that the roll-call has been so well responded to by the sixty-six Lodges in this Province. Most cordially do I reciprocate the kind manner in which you have received your Provincial Grand Master, and the warmth of your salutation. It affords me the greatest pleasure at this, our October meeting, in offering to every one of you my felicitations on the continued unanimity of the Craft as a body in my Province, the prosperity of the different Lodges, and on the support given to our Charities, and the progress of those benevolent works to which the Craft has this year given an impetus and lent its influence." After referring with much satisfaction to the contributions of West Yorkshire towards the Central Masonic Institutions and the services it had rendered to the different local Charities, Sir Henry Edwards expressed a hope that on the occasion of his taking the chair at the Anniversary Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, he should find his exertions seconded by a numerous array of West Yorkshire Stewards; and he trusted their efforts might result as favourably as did those of the contiguous Province of N. and E. Yorkshire, when its chief, the Earl of Zetland occupied the chair in behalf of the same Institution last year. Our R.W. Brother concluded as follows:—"I feel it an honour and a pleasure, as does also my Deputy, whose native town is Doncaster, that it has happened to be our good fortune and of this Provincial Grand Lodge, to be invited to congratulate St. George's Lodge on the completion of its Centenary, on the deeds of generosity which have continually marked its progress, and the list of eminent and distinguished personages its roll-call records. May St. George's Lodge, in hundreds of years to come, show that its future members are as brilliant and distinguished as have been those in the past, and animated by the same Masonic zeal as its early founders for its prosperity, and in the promotion of every useful, benevolent, and charitable work."

On the motion of Bro. Prov. Grand Treasurer, seconded by Bro. Hill, formerly chairman of the Charity Committee, the sum of one hundred guineas was voted to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, Male Fund, and an equal amount to the Widows' Fund of the same Institution. After the despatch of other business, Bro. Tew D.P.G.M. presented, at his own cost, to the Lodge, the Centenary Warrant, which had been granted by the Prince of Wales, G. Master, and to each of the officers a centenary jewel, to be worn with the collar in perpetuity. P. G. Lodge was then adjourned for the purpose of attending divine service in the parish church. The procession, as it wended its way through the streets, made a very effective display, and along the line of route every available spot was crowded with spectators. The Vicar, who was assisted by the Rev. T. R. Wallen Pearson and Rev. C. B. Chalmer, officiated, while the sermon, which was a most eloquent one, was preached by the Rev. Canon Blakeney, P.G. Chaplain, Vicar of Sheffield. A collection in aid of the Doncaster Infirmary was then made, and realised the handsome sum of £40, the plates being handed round by the W.M. and other members of St. George's. The procession then returned in reverse order to the Mansion House, where P.G.L. and St. George's were successively closed, after which the brethren adjourned to the banquetting room, where a sumptuous dinner, provided by Miss Hoskison, the housekeeper, was served. Sir Henry Edwards presided, and was supported by Bros. Tew Deputy Prov. Grand Master, Dr. J. Pearson Bell Dep. Prov. Grand Master North and East Yorkshire, and James Terry, Secretary of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. After dinner, the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were drunk with great enthusiasm. Bro. Tew proposed the health of the Prov. G. Master and Bro. Sir Henry Edwards having acknowledged the compliment, and proposed the toast of his respected Deputy, vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Tew, he (Sir Henry) being under the necessity of leaving early.

Bro. Tew, in reply, said—It is somewhat difficult to speak fitly for the office I have the honour to occupy in West Yorkshire, and perhaps still more so for those others appertaining to the rest of the present acting as well as past Officers of the Grand Lodge of Freemasons. All of us, however, desire to express our sense of gratitude for the compliment Sir Henry Edwards has been pleased to pay my colleagues and myself, and to you, brethren, for the fraternal and hearty manner in which you have responded to this toast of the Prov. Grand Master. We consider it a privilege to serve under the banner of this Lodge, and to have you, Sir Henry Edwards, for our Provincial Grand Master. We can assure that, though year after year we are permitted to take part in the deliberations of these Masonic assemblies, and be present at these banquets, the interest we feel in these parliaments of the Craft, and in working to promote the advancement of Freemasonry in this Province, does not in any way diminish by frequency of being called together. On the contrary, we are conscious of the obligations we are ever under to the numerous Lodges in the cordial support which their Worshipful Masters give to the several Officers from year to year. We are thus enabled to promote the cause of many benevolent and charitable objects brought to our notice, and to cultivate amongst the brethren social unity, harmony, and good fellowship. I will go further, and say, as a body, we look upon wrong and injury by mankind as an untoward misfortune to the world, and generosity and mutual forbearance as the one abiding, inextinguishable characteristic of Freemasonry; and though many persons and writers outside our circle often disparage our peculiar system, and sometimes praise us, yet those who do enter the portals of our Lodges, and therein master the principles of Masonic science, cannot but admire its intellectual freedom, its beauty as a symbolic art, its infinite ramifications and complexity, perfect in its adjustment, by the utility of its different parts or degrees, by which all minds and all people can benefit by its influences. Freemasonry is the most fascinating science of the day. It is most popular, most charitable, and it is useful and universal over the globe. The Order enjoys a love for scientific enterprise, a love for order, for the ambition and acquisition of knowledge, and to use that knowledge so that we may be more extensively serviceable to our fellow-creatures. Freemasonry is worthy of cultivation, of encouragement, and of our approbation. The records of St. George's Lodge, under whose banner we have been handsomely received to-day, furnish several illustrations that benevolence is our foundation-stone and charity our cope-stone. The centenary of this Lodge's institution recalls to our minds many names associated with the history of Doncaster; their virtues, their geniuses, their deeds of charity, all claim the remembrance of our recognition. It was Will Radclyffe, of the 30th degree, who helped Edward Miller, Mayor of Doncaster, and Organist of our parish Church, to write his history of this town. It was in October 1782, two then promising members connected with this Lodge, Dr. Chorley, my grandfather, and Mr. Branson who started your charity, the Doncaster Dispensary. To Tetlow, of Knottingley, you owe the translation of your charters from Richard I. to James II., and to William Sheardown, whose history is a remarkable one of industry and energy and literary ability, you are indebted for the publication of Miller's history. The Prov. Grand Master has, however, awakened a few other memories. From this place or its vicinity sprang Richard Plantagenet, whose intrigues gave rise to those bitter contests between the Houses of York and Lancaster. It was Role, a hermit from Hampole, who attempted first to translate the Bible into English. Thomas Scott became an Archbishop of York. You also claim Francis Frobisher, your Mayor in 1535, as the father of Queen Elizabeth's famous Admiral. One of your vicars, assisted by this Lodge, established the first Sunday School in this town. There was enacted in Doncaster the tragedy of Rainsford's death and murder in 1647, still shrouded in mystery. Sir Philip Monckton was a prisoner at Belvoir Castle in 1648. Viscount Galway, Sir Ralph Knight, and R. Molesworth were townsmen of Doncaster, and remarkable for their devotion to the two Charleses. My grandfather was cornet and my father a captain in the Wath troop of Yeomanry Cavalry, whilst in your old churchyard lie the bones of several of my ancestors. Here I was born and passed my early youth. Before the passing of the Municipal Act, I was made a Freeman of Doncaster, and to-day it is my good fortune, as the Deputy Prov. Grand Master of West Yorkshire, to thank the St. George's Lodge for the reception they and the Craft have given to your Grand Lodge, and for the compliment paid to the office I have the honour to occupy. I shall ever remember this visit to Doncaster.

Among the other toasts were those of the Mayor and Corporation of Doncaster, acknowledged by Bro. Shirley, the Town Clerk, "St. George's Lodge, No. 242, on attaining its centenary," responded to by Bro. James Rigby, and the W. Master, to which Bro. Delanoy replied in suitable terms. The proceedings were shortly afterwards concluded.

THE LATE FRANK BUCKLAND.

THE funeral of Mr. Frank Buckland, one of Her Majesty's Inspectors of Fisheries, took place on Friday last, 24th ult., at Brompton Cemetery, when there was a numerous gathering of friends to pay their last tribute of respect to his memory. Mr. Buckland died at his residence, 37 Albany-street, Regent's Park, on Sunday, the 19th ult., having only a few days previous completed his fifty-fourth year. He was the eldest son of the late Very Rev. Dr. Buckland, Dean of Westminster, and one of the most distinguished geologists of his own or any day, was educated at Winchester College, and Christchurch, Oxon., and took his degree of B.A. in 1848. He then entered on the study of medicine, and having served the office of House Surgeon at St. George's Hospital, was gazetted as Assistant Surgeon in the 2nd Life Guards. He resigned his commission in 1863, and thenceforward to the close of his career devoted himself heart and soul to Natural History. To him, the world is largely indebted for the increased knowledge and culture of Fish. His museum at South Kensington is alone a sufficient testimony to this, even if no account were taken of his numerous contributions on the subject to the periodical literature of the day. He did not, however, confine his labours to fish only; his interest was pretty impartially distributed among all branches of the animal world, and whether he was writing of a baby hippopotamus, the cobra, the elephant, or generally, he always wrote pleasantly and in a manner to enlist the sympathies of the public. Still more to his praise is it to say that the opinions he offered were thoroughly practical, and to his energy and ability we are indebted for more than one careful legislative enactment on the subject of the culture and preservation of fish. But they who knew him best are the best qualified to speak of his merits, and we cannot do better than quote the following excerpt from the colums of Land and Water, with which excellent journal Mr Buckland, as projector, proprietor, and contributor, had been connected during the whole period of its existence:—"With his enthusiastic, genial, and ever-ready pen, his practical bent of mind and his keen observing powers, ever on the look-out to seize new points for the elucidation of natural history puzzles and ichthyological problems, it was his delight to communicate all he observed or learned to our pages. Here he met the public as a friend."

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

J. W. D.—Such a brother is not a full member and not entitled, therefore, to the rights and privileges of full membership. But even if he were, it would be ill-advised on the part of the W.M. to appoint him to, and ill-becoming in him, to accept an office the duties of which it was known beforehand he would be prevented from discharging regularly.

R. L. S.—The Festival of the R.M.B.I. is fixed for Wednesday, 23rd of February, and will be held, as usual, at Freemasons' Tavern. Sir Henry Edwards, Bart., Prov. G. Master of West Yorkshire, has consented to take the chair. For further information we refer you to Bro. James Terry, Secretary to the Institution, at the Offices, 4 Freemasons' Hall.

THE MOHAWK MINSTRELS.

THE Mohawks made their re-appearance at their quarters at the Agricultural Hall, after their three weeks' visit to the Garrick Theatre, on Christmas Eve. The programme was a special one, and gave the greatest satisfaction to all who had the good fortune to be present. Mr. Ted Snow created quite a furore in his new song, "I can't get married at all." Mr. G. Clare sang with great taste a pretty new ballad, "A Sunbeam fell across my Way." Mr. Kavanagh was in good voice, and sang "The Tournament" splendidly. Mr. C. Garland's rendering of "Children's Happy Voices," to use an expressive phrase, brought down the house. In the second part a quintette, entitled "Lady Mine, at early Day," by Mr. Warwick Williams, the Musical Director of the troupe, was another great success, thanks to the taste exhibited by Messrs. Garland, Temple, Layton, Oliver, and Clare in their interpretation of Mr. Williams's composition. A new Comicality, "The Bamptious Bumpkins," and a new Farcical Absurdity, "The Music Monomaniac," with a new Banjo Song, by Little Thomas, were very favourably received. This special programme was given twice, both on Monday and Tuesday, crowded houses, and is being repeated every evening with the greatest success. Mr. Hunter was the able Interlocutor he always is, and Mr. Mowbray, as Manager, spared no pains to meet the comfort of the audience.

BERNER'S HALL.

WE have great pleasure in noting that the Berner's Hall, Agricultural Hall, has been opened for the season by Bro. R. G. Thomas, who has provided an admirable Variety Entertainment, which includes magic and juggling, startling illusions, an exhibition of Living Statuary, together with a Grand Christmas Shadow Pantomime. In Part I. appeared Messrs. Ottaway and Woodin, the Champion Bone Soloists and Comedians. Both did extremely well, Mr. Ottaway being a wonderful good "bones," such as we have seldom seen. The Champion Skaters likewise acquitted themselves in a manner which was highly appreciated by the whole audience. Part II. included the Shadow Pantomime, with Johnny De Vere as Clown, M. Ricarde as Harlequin, Sidney Neal as Columbine, and Tom Robbins Pantaloon. This, too, was deservedly applauded. The orchestra gave more than one evidence of its quality; indeed, the whole entertainment is such as might have been expected from so experienced an entrepreneur as Bro. Thomas, to whom we heartily wish all success.

The ballot was taken for Mr. Henry Edward Langley Grant, merchant, of Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa, who was delared to be elected, and who was waiting in the convenient room adjoining the Lodge to be prepared for initiation; the candidate is a gentleman of colour, and much curiosity was manifested by the brethren to witness what had never before been seen in the Masonic Hall, Reading; it appears the candidate had been educated at Mr. White's School, Richmond House, Reading, and from the manner of his responding to the various promptings it is evident his education has been of a superior character. He passed through the ordeal of initiation with great fortitude, evidently impressed with the beautiful ceremony, which the Worshipful Master admirably performed. The Charge was given by the I.P.M. Bro. Oades, in his usual correct manner. The Prov. Grand Secretary called the attention of the Lodge to a petition from the promoters of a new Lodge, to be called the Wellesley, at Wellington College, for a Warrant of Constitution from Grand Lodge; it was unanimously decided to recommend the same, and it was signed by the Master and Wardens. The election of W.M. for the ensuing year took place, and resulted in Bro. C. Stephens S.W. Prov. Grand Treasurer Berks and Bucks being elected. Bro. Pocock P.M. was re-elected Treasurer and Almoner, and Bro. Hemmings re-elected Tyler. After the usual ceremonies the Lodge was closed according to ancient form.

The ceremony of raising was carefully rehearsed, Bro. Hawes candidate. Lodge was lowered, and the ceremony of initiation was worked, Bro. Hawes again being the candidate. In working these two ceremonies consecutively, Bro. Walter gave an earnest of the style of working he is prepared to adopt in the mother Lodge of which he is the elected Master. The W.M. was again appointed to occupy the chair on the 28th inst. Arrangements were made for working the Fifteen Sections here, on the 18th January. Bro. J. Andrews 1227 will preside on that occasion. Lodge was closed and adjourned.

Morling was raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason, the W.M. giving the traditional history. Bro. C. Lorkin worked the first and third sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Lodge was regularly closed to the first degree, Bro. Brasted was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. In accordance with usual custom, the brethren voted one guinea towards the Old People's Christmas Festival, which sum Bro. P.M. Wallington, with the assistance of the brethren, made up to £3 3s. All Masonic business being ended, Lodge was closed in due form and adjourned.

St. John of Wapping Lodge, No. 1306.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held at the Moorgate Tavern, Finsbury-pavement, E.C., on the 1st inst. The Lodge is now comfortably established at the above address, where the requirements and convenience of the members are thoroughly attended to by Bros. Kingston and Fromm, whose experience in such matters is evidently great. That the members appreciate the change may be gathered from the hearty vote of thanks accorded, at the meeting in October, to the W.M. and brethren who formed the Removal Committee, for their unremitting exertions in effecting the transfer of the Lodge from Wapping to its present convenient and accessible quarters. Lodge was opened with great promptitude by the W.M., who was supported by the following Officers and brethren:—Bro. T. Wooding kindly acted as S.W., in the unavoidable absence of Bro. Magrath S.W.; Bro. Horsley in like manner officiated as J.W. The Deaconry secured capital working at the hands of Bro. T. J. Tyers J.D., who was assisted by Bros. Clements and Couture. Bro. Twinn again acted as I.G. The P.M.'s present were Bros. W. H. Hayward I.P.M., Beck Treas., Dawson, and Coleman, the genial Organist of the Lodge. The Visitors were Bros. How 141, J. Shepherd P.M. 1349, T. Loane 1421, and G. H. Stephens J.D. 1623. Bro. Whatling, who was to have been raised to the sublime degree, was unable to be present whilst Lodge was working. After confirmation of the minutes and other routine work, the remaining business, consisting of the passing of Bros. T. Phillips, T. Morris and C. East to the Fellow Craft degree, was performed, the working being capitally done, proving that the brethren, most of whom were performing duties higher than they were appointed to in the Lodge, are already proficient for preferment. The brethren were now called off, for a somewhat protracted period, and upon being called on again, the usual hearty greetings were given, and Lodge was closed. The brethren then sat down to a sumptuous repast which, whilst it contrasted with the good cheer provided on former occasions, served to demonstrate the capabilities of the establishment to provide anything, from a récherché banquet to a Welsh rarebit, at short notice, with equal satisfaction. The first toast given after the cloth was cleared was Loyalty to the Throne and Prosperity to the Craft, which was enthusiastically received. Bro. Dawson Past Master gave the toast of the W.M., which was heartily received and duly responded to. In toasting the P.M.'s, the W.M. briefly commented upon the various services which those brethren had rendered to the Lodge. Bro. Dawson had always been pleased to support the chair on all occasions. Bro. Beck, the Treasurer, was too well known to make any comment necessary, whilst Bro. Hayward, the I.P.M., not only took a deep interest in the Lodge, but came a distance of two hundred miles to discharge his duties, while Bro. Coleman was always present to render his services to the Lodge as Organist. The toast of the "Host" was also well received, after the replies of the P.M.'s, and suitably acknowledged. In giving the toast of the Visitors, the W.M. assured those brethren the St. John of Wapping Lodge was always pleased to extend a hearty welcome to them. The Visitors present had honoured the Lodge before. In fact, one of the body actually thought Bro. How to be a member. However, they were all heartily welcome, and the brethren, on the invitation of the W.M., gave them a hearty "fire." The Visitors having each responded in suitable terms, the Officers were complimented, their proficiency in Masonic working in the Lodge being dwelt upon as a consequence of the known assiduous attendance at Lodges of Instruction which they all display. Bro. Wooding having responded for the S.W., Bro. Horsley spoke in praise of the working of his brother Officers, and presaged a capital future. Bros. Tyer, Couture, Holdom, Clements, Twinn, &c., also expressed their thanks, and after some singing, the brethren separated in peace and harmony. Bro. Coleman again contributed to this latter feature in his happiest manner, and the songs as a rule were new to the brethren, so that the charm of novelty will perhaps account for the free and jovial nature of the after-dinner proceedings. Besides the brethren mentioned, there were present Bros. Phillips, East, Morris, Hodgson, Blaney, and Parsons.

Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, No. 554.—At the regular meeting, on Tuesday, 28th ult., at Bro. A. Walter's, Green Dragon, Stepney, E., Bro. Dr. Thomas Loane officiated as W.M., and was supported by Bros. W. Cross (Sec.) as S.W., Lax J.W., J. Andrews P.M. Acting Preceptor, J. Taylor Deacon, J. R. Shingfield I.G.; also Bros. Anderson, Stephens, Clark, &c. Lodge having been duly opened, after preliminaries the ceremony of initiation was most ably worked, Bro. Shingfield candidate. The W.M. next proceeded to work the first section of the lecture, afterwards calling upon Bro. Andrews to work the second, third, and fourth sections, the brethren assisting. Bro. H. Clark, United Mariners' Lodge, No. 30, was unanimously elected a member of the Lodge, and returned thanks. Bro. Walter was re-elected to the chair for the ensuing meeting. The next business transacted was of a very pleasing nature, viz., the conferring upon the W.M. Bro. T. Loane a cordial vote of thanks for the skilful and able manner in which he had discharged the duties of W.M. for the first time in this Lodge. This having been done in a hearty manner, Bro. Loane expressed his appreciation of this mark of esteem, and trusted he should, by continuing to work as hard as he had done during the last fourteen months, be enabled to give them satisfaction on many similar occasions. Lodge was then closed, and adjourned till the first Tuesday in January.

We are glad to note the steady improvement in the attendance which has taken place during the last few months. Brethren seeking instruction will find the Yarborough Lodge a capital means of obtaining it, combined with all the comforts of a well-appointed Lodge-room. The Fifteen Sections will be worked at this Lodge in January by Bro. J. Andrews P.M. 1227. Particulars will be duly announced, and, from the names already promised, a capital rendering may be relied upon.

King's Cross Lodge of Instruction, No. 1732.—On the 26th inst., at Bro. Devine's, Blue Posts, Charlotte-street, Fitzroy-square. Bro. F. Silvester W.M., L. Jacobs S.W., B. Kauffman J.W., Devine Treas., L. Solomon Sec., Solomon S.D., Davis J.D., N. Vallentine I.G., Hemming Preceptor, and Bros. C. Josephs, J. Edwards, H. M. Levy, H. L. Phillips, &c. After preliminaries the first section of the first lecture was worked, and the ceremony of initiation rehearsed, Bro. H. L. Phillips candidate. The second section of the second lecture was worked by the brethren, who were ably assisted by Bro. Hemming. The ceremony of passing was then rehearsed, Bro. Edwards acting as candidate. Bro. L. Jacobs was elected W.M. for the next meeting.

The Royal Arthur Lodge of Instruction, No. 1360, will remove from the Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea, to the Duke of Cambridge, 216 Bridge-road, Battersea Park, five minutes' walk from Battersea Station, three minutes' walk from the Prince's Head. The latter establishment has been purchased by Bro. J. Wright, owing to the Prince's Head being pulled down for improvements. The ceremony of installation will be worked on the 4th of January 1881, being the first night of meeting in the new establishment, on which occasion Bro. Radcliffe, W.M. of St. Michael's, 211, has consented to rehearse the ceremony. It is intended, after the business of the Lodge, to present a purse of money, as a testimonial, to the late Preceptor Bro. King, as a token of the regard and esteem in which he is held by the brethren of this Lodge of Instruction.

JAMAICA.

United Service Lodge, No. 1873.—Was consecrated at the Masonic Hall, 57 Hanover-street, Kingston, on the 6th December, by R.W. Bro. Altamont de Cordova Deputy District G. Master in charge of the district, assisted by the Grand Wardens, Bros. J. L. Asbenheim and C. W. Tait, and the District Grand Secretary Bro. G. C. H. Lewis. The W.M. designate Commander A. W. Warry, R.N., was then installed in the chair of K.S., and appointed his Officers as follow:—Deputy Commissary Pearson as P.M., Captain W. Marvin as S.W., Dr. M. P. Cormac McCormac as J.W., F. S. Sanguinetti as S.D., J. A. Harvey as J.D., Lieut. A. R. Hampton 2nd W. I. Regiment, as I.G., George Magnus as Tyler, Captain T. Bell as Treasurer, J. Lucie-Smith as Secretary, the Rev. Dr. H. Croskery as Chaplain, A. H. Jones as Organist, Lieut. Hastings, R.N., as Steward, and Captain Coward as Director of Ceremonies. Bros. A. de Cordova, the Hon. J. C. Mackglashan, C. W. Tait, W. Lee Mudon, John Harris, Moses Delgado, Captain Karl H. A. Mainwaring R.N., and J. H. de Pass were elected as Honorary Members. Bro. de Pass presented to set of jewels for the use of the Lodge, which formerly belonged to the Lodge of Harmony. The following brethren were elected as joining members:—A. H. Alexander J.P., Inspector Lindesay Crosbie J.C., Thomas G. Dundas Broughton J.P., Captain Richard Bingham 2nd W. I. Regiment, E. Sangninetti, and Lieut. Percy O'Brien 1st W. I. Regiment. Hearty good wishes were offered for the prosperity of the new Lodge by the District Grand Lodge, and the Royal, Friendly, and Sussex Lodges. Lieut. J. W. H. Harwood 2nd W. I. Regiment, and Deputy Assistant Commissary General Whitehead were proposed as candidates for initiation. The formation of the Lodge originated with the late Bro. T. Nicholson P.M., 1st W. I. Regiment, and since his lamented death the work of organisation has been carried on by Bro. Captain W. Portlock Dadson P.M., P. District Grand Deacon, and the Lodge opens with nearly thirty members on its roll. It will meet on the first Tuesday in the months of February, April, June, August, October and December.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Health's Defences.—None save the strongest can with impunity pass through the sudden transitions from wet to dry, from cold to muggy weather, so prevalent during the late autumn and early winter months. Influenza, bronchitis, cough, sore throat or quinsey, will attack those most watchful of their health; but they can readily arrest any of these complaints by rubbing Holloway's Ointment twice a day upon the skin adjacent to the affected part, and by assisting its corrective action with appropriate doses of his Pills. This well-known, safe, and easy mode of treatment efficiently protects the invalid both from present and future danger without weakening or even depressing the system in the slightest degree.

SOUTH AFRICA.

Peace and Harmony Lodge.—An emergency meeting of this Lodge was held on Wednesday, 24th November, at Du Toits Pan, Diamond Fields, South Africa. Present:—Charles Roberts W.M., D. Van Ulsen D.M., B. Klisser S.W., J. B. King J.W., E. Isaacs Hon. Sec., A. Yockmonitz Treas., Jno. Sonbeek Orator, E. Garisch M.C., D. Avis Amb., A. J. Wolhuter Alm., W. Kuipers Arch. and Steward, H. N. Campbell acting I.G., S. W. Green Tyler; also Bros. R. C. Partridge, W. H. Vilgeon, J. Creewel, C. J. Barnes, J. Sonnenburg, C. Aburron. Visitors—Bros. David Harris, P. Tallerman, C. Allen, M. Ettling, C. La Rine, and about ten others. Lodge opened in 1st degree, when the W.M. stated that as there was so much work before the Lodge, he had convened this emergency meeting for the purpose of raising Bros. Creewel and Barnes. Lodge was then passed to second degree, when the candidates, after answering the necessary questions in a manner which proved to the brethren that they had made considerable progress in the science, retired. Lodge was raised to the third degree, when the candidates re-entered the Temple and were duly raised to the sublime degree of M.M. by the W.M., in a most solemn manner. The labours being ended in that degree, the Lodge was reduced to the first. The W.M. thanked the Visitors for their attendance, and, commenting in praiseworthy terms on the fraternal feeling that existed between the brethren at the Diamond Fields, once more he thanked them on behalf of the Peace and Harmony Lodge for their attendance, at the same time assuring them of a hearty welcome on next Lodge night (1st Dec.), when there would be a candidate for initiation. Bro. David Harris (Charles Warren Lodge) thanked the Lodge for the welcome the Visitors had received, complimented the W.M. on his working, and wished the Lodge prosperity and success. Lodge was then closed.

On Wednesday, 1st December. Officers present—Bros. C. Roberts W.M., D. Van Ulsen D.M., B. Klisser S.W., J. B. King J.W., E. Isaacs Hon. Sec., A. Yockmonitz Treasurer, D. Avis Amb., W. Kuipers Arch. and Steward, H. W. Campbell acting I.G., S. W. Green Tyler. Visitors—Bros. P. Tallerman (Richard Giddy Lodge), E. Wells, W. F. Richardson, Jas. W. Marshall (Athole), A. McDonald (Caledonian 354), G. A. Ettling (Unie Bloemfontein), G. A. Dowling, John Foote (724 Derby); and several others. After preliminaries, a letter was read from D.D.G.M. Griqualand, soliciting assistance on behalf of Rev. Bro. E. W. Stenson, who is at present serving as Chaplain to the field force now in Basutoland. While ministering to the wants and comforts of the sick, wounded, and dying, the enemy carried off all the property he had in the world. After the letter had been read, it was resolved to contribute £10 out of the Poor Fund of the Lodge, and the collection made for the evening to be added. An application was read from Mr. Arthur Bainbridge to become a Freemason, and Bro. Alfred Farr (Lodge Meltham, No. 1205, Devon) was proposed as a joining member. After some accounts were passed for payment, Mr. William Herbert Lomas, the candidate for initiation, was introduced and duly initiated into the mysteries of our Order by the W.M. Bro. D.M. gave the Charge. The W.M. reminded the brethren that the collection for the evening was voted to our distressed Bro. Rev. E. W. Stenson. Bro. Almoner went on his journey, and returned with a very handsome amount. The Visitors were thanked for their attendance. Hearty good wishes were expressed, the Lodge was then closed, and the brethren departed in peace and harmony.

DEVON MASONIC EDUCATIONAL FUND.

THERE was a meeting of the Committee appointed to carry out the details of the Concert in aid of the above Institution at the Huyshe Masonic Temple on Thursday, 23rd ult. There was a large attendance, and it was arranged that the official programme should be advertised early in January. The date will be the 26th January. The list of patrons is large, and the brethren may hope to welcome their esteemed P.G. Master Viscount Ebrington on the occasion.

It is probable that on the 27th January there will be held a special Provincial Grand Lodge of the Province of Devon. It will be held at Torrington for the purpose of consecrating the new Lodge Torridge, a Warrant for which has been granted by the Most Worshipful Grand Master H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. The Committee of Petitions for the Province will be held at the same time and place, to consider petitions and elect the chairman and officers.—Western Daily Mercury.

EPPS'S COCOA.
GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood, and a properly nourished frame."

OUR INSTITUTIONS.

WE published last week the usual brief particulars of the amounts contributed to our three Masonic Charities during the past year. The total represented the magnificent sum of £49,762 11s 5d, which, as compared with the £44,731 9s 3d raised in 1879, showed an increase of £5,031 2s 2d. We purpose now examining these particulars with some minuteness, so that our readers may be in a better position to judge for themselves what was done, and the better understand to what, if any, cause the differences in the incomes of the several Institutions are attributable.

The Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, as first in the order of priority, as a matter of course, has the first claim on our attention. Under the head of "Donations and Subscriptions" is entered the sum of £14,726 8s 11d, but large as this sum is, there are other amounts received by the School during the year, which, if they are to be placed in any category at all, must be looked upon as "Donations." There is, firstly, the Bentley Shaw memorial of one thousand guineas (£1,050), raised by West Yorkshire for the purpose of commemorating in perpetuity the virtues and Masonic services of the late Bro. Bentley Shaw, who for so many years was Deputy Grand Master of the Province, and who, from 1875 till his death, was likewise its Provincial Grand Superintendent of Royal Arch Masonry. Then the Special Vote of £300 by the Supreme Grand Chapter, and the Legacy of £100, cannot be deemed otherwise than gifts. Therefore, superadding these three amounts to the £14,726 8s 11d, we have a total of £16,176 8s 11d to represent the "Donations and Subscriptions" to the Girls' School in 1880. The Permanent Income in the shape of Dividends was £1,245, to which must be added the Annual Grants by Grand Lodge (£150) and Grand Chapter (£10 10s), making the permanent revenue £1,405 10s. These two sources of supply stand to each other in the ratio of about eleven and a half to one. The miscellaneous items amount to £205 12s, and swell the grand total for the year to £17,787 10s 11d.

Next in order is the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution with £16,301 4s. Here, again, the Donations and Subscriptions amounting to £13,200 8s 6d must be swelled to £13,600 8s 6d by the addition of the Special Grant (£300) by Supreme Grand Chapter, and the Legacy of £100. Taking the several sources of Permanent Income, we find they together reach £2,682 16s 4d, made up of Dividends and interest £1,732 16s 4d, and Annual Grants by Grand Lodge (£800) and Grand Chapter (£150). Miscellaneous items are insignificant, being only £18. Comparing the Donations with the fixed income, we find the former is to the latter in the ratio of about five to one.

The Royal Masonic Institution for Boys brings up the rear with £15,673 15s 8d. Of this amount £14,318 8s 5d are set down as Donations and Subscriptions. To this add the Legacy of £100 and the Special Grant of Grand Chapter (£300), together with £357 for purchased admissions, and we arrive at a total under this head of £15,075 8s 5d. The Permanent Income is very limited, consisting of the Grand Lodge Annual Grant of £150, the Grand Chapter Grant of £10 10s, and Dividends £381 10s 9d, making a total together of £542 0s 9d. The miscellaneous items reach £56 6s 6d.

If we now compare our several Institutions one with another as regards these three different heads of revenue, we arrive at the following results. In respect of Donations and Subscriptions, the Girls' School stands first, with 16,176 8s 11d. Next in order is the Boys' School, with £15,075 8s 5d, and last, the Benevolent, with £13,600 8s 6d. In respect of Permanent Income, the Benevolent Institution is a long way in front, with the sum of £2,682 16s 4d, the Girls' School following with £1,405 10s, and then the Boys' School, with £542 0s 9d. In Miscellaneous, the Girls' School is first, with £205 12s; the Boys' School second, with £56 6s 6d, and the Benevolent third, with £18. It results from this that, while the Girls' School met with the largest amount of support last year, its Permanent Income is little more than one-half of that of the Benevolent, while it is rather more than double that of the Boys' School. The Boys' School, with the next largest share of donations, is most wofully behind in respect of Permanent Income. As, indeed, our readers are well aware, it is only in consequence of the brilliant success of last year, that it has been enabled to raise the amount of its investments somewhat beyond the figure they stood at when it was resolved on erecting the present School, and the whole of its funded property was sold out in order that it might form the nucleus of the fund to be raised for building. It has now invested exactly £15,000 stock which, at the average rate of four per cent., gives £600 a year, the difference between which sum and that actually received in 1880 being accounted for by the fact that, from the latest investment having been made within the last six months, the Institution cannot as yet have derived any benefit from the providence of its rulers. The Subscriptions, &c., stand to its Permanent Income—as indicated by the receipts for 1880—in the ratio of about twenty-seven to one; or, if we take the full amount at £600, at about twenty to one, as compared with the eleven and a half to one of the Girls' School, and five to one of the Benevolent. In other words, the Benevolent is about four times, and the Girls' School not far short of twice, as well off, in the important source of income, as the Boys' School. No doubt, in the course of years, these differences will be lessened; but for some time to come it will behove the Craft generally to bear this fact in consideration. There is one other point to which we feel justified in drawing attention. The Benevolent receives annually from Grand Lodge £800, and Grand Chapter £150; or, together £950; while each of the Schools receives only £150 from the former and £10 10s from the latter. The Benevolent, therefore, receives nearly three times as much from these bodies as the Boys' and Girls' Schools taken together. We are speaking from memory, but we believe we are correct in saying that the grant of £150 per annum to each School was fixed as a kind of annual composition in lieu of half-a-crown per head for each gentleman initiated into Freemasonry in the year. This plan was adopted in 1839, when the average annual number of initiates must have been at the very outside 1,200. Now, at the Masonic banquet given by ex-Lord Mayor, Sir F. W. Truscott G.J.W., His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales G.M., in speaking of the amazing progress of Freemasonry during these latter years, mentioned in illustration of his point that about 10,000 gentlemen were annually received into the Fraternity. Thus, if the old half-crown payment per initiate were now in force, each of the Schools would receive about £1,250 a year, or eight and one-third times as much as it actually receives. Now, we do not wish to see any one of our Institutions too liberally patronised by Grand Lodge at the expense of the others, but it strikes us as being only reasonable it should treat all three of them with equal liberality. We can well understand Grand Lodge should have given more largely to the Benevolent till within the last few years, for was it not mainly established by Grand Lodge itself? But there is no sufficient or satisfactory reason now why all three should not receive an equal measure of support from both Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter. All three would then fare about equally well in respect of Permanent Income.

We will only carry our examination one step further. The Boys' School Festival last year was the most productive, and yielded over £14,000. The Girls' School stood next with about £13,800, and then came the Benevolent Institution with over £12,000. Thus of the total Subscriptions, &c., of, in round figures, £44,500, quite £40,000 were contributed at the Festivals. Other £1,200 comprise the Special Grants of £300 each by Grand Chapter and the three Legacies of £100 each. The Bentley Shaw Memorial accounts for £1,050, and Purchased Admissions for £357. Adding these together we get a total of £2,607, which leaves about £1,900 as representing the subscriptions sent in apart from the Festivals, and the greater portion of this would appear to have gone into the coffers of the Benevolent and Girls' School. What, if any, amount of promised subscriptions remains still outstanding at the end of the year we have no means of determining. We should imagine that, as the Boys' School Festival was the last of the three that was held, the bulk of what may yet have have to be received will have be credited to that Institution. We will conclude by expressing a hope that as the aggregate of 1880 exceeded by £5,000 and upwards that of 1879, so the results of the year we have just entered upon may be even more satisfactory still.

BRO. BINCKES AND THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

WE note with a great deal of pleasure that at the Quarterly General Court of the Boys' School, to be held on Monday, Bro. Raynham W. Stewart will submit a motion, of which he has given due notice, and which reads as follows: "That to commemorate the twenty years' services of the Secretary, Bro. Binckes, and in recognition of the ability shown by him during that period, and also with regard to the success achieved by his exertions, he be granted a gratuity of £200 out of the Funds of the Institution." Such a motion as this cannot be too highly commended. Bro. Binckes has never missed an opportunity of doing what lay in his power to advance the interests of the Institution with whose fortunes his name has been so long and so intimately associated. We are far from being desirous of over-praising any brother's services to Freemasonry. Such a course would be likely to do him a dis-service. We do, however, take upon ourselves to say, emphatically and without reservation of any kind, that it is well-nigh impossible to form anything like a correct estimate of the benefits which Bro. Binckes has, during the last twenty years, been enabled to render to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, through his indomitable energy, his thorough knowledge of official business, his tact, ability, and persuasive oratory, his ready mastery of the smallest detail, and his power of grasping at once and, as it were, by intuition, the general bearings of every subject that was submitted to him. He has been described in these columns, not without reason, as "Our Hercules," and, in very truth, his labours have been herculean in their nature. He has never spared himself, never given a thought to his own personal comfort and convenience when it was a question of promoting the interests of the School. Possessing abilities of a high order, as well as powers of speech such as few among us can lay any pretensions to, he has worked, in season and out of season, in the Metropolis and in the Provinces, indeed, whenever and wherever he thought a word or a deed of his would bring some benefit to "Our Boys." To him the Craft is indebted for the gradual investment of a sum exceeding in amount what was converted into solid sterling money at the time it was resolved to erect the present premises at Wood Green. To him we owe it chiefly that the School is now capable of housing, feeding, clothing, and educating considerably over 200 pupils. During the earlier years of his Secretaryship an annual Festival which yielded subscriptions amounting to £2,000 was deemed a great success. During the last five or six years the subscription lists on these occasions have ranged from £10,000 to £14,000, and there is no doubt his influence has been felt outside the immediate circle in which he has laboured so incessantly. He has devoted the best years of his life, and during those years all the time and care and labour he was capable of bestowing, to his official duties. And no more appropriate time could have been selected by the Governors and Subscribers of the Boys' School for exhibiting their grateful sense of the obligations they are under to him for his valuable services than the present. As we have already said, the modest store of money which years ago was expended in the erection of the School has just been more than replaced. Many perhaps may suggest that, having regard to the magnitude of the task he has fulfilled, the proposed amount of the gratuity is insignificant. We do not think so, for the reason that we have no faith in an exact adjustment, if such were possible, between the recognition of a service and the service that is recognised. From our knowledge of the man, we believe that what Bro. Binckes will most deeply appreciate is the act of recognition, its completeness, and the heartiness with which, as we anticipate, it will be granted. Herein lies all that is valuable about a vote of approval, when it relates to a man's conduct in any capacity. The amount of an honorarium is purely of secondary consideration. Yet the amount of the proposed gift will make a worthy donation, worthy alike of Bro. Binckes and of the School in whose name and on whose behalf it is presented. May Bro. Binckes have many more years of equally successful labour before him; and if ever declining years and health necessitate his retirement, may he, in his time of rest, enjoy, as he now enjoys, the esteem and respect of all his fellow Masons!

MR. FRANK BUCKLAND'S LAST WORDS TO THE PUBLIC.

WE need make no apology for quoting from the pages of Land and Water for last week the concluding paragraphs of the late Frank Buckland's Preface to the new edition, now being issued by the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, of his well known work, "The Natural History of British Fishes." As to the circumstances under which the said Preface was written, the Editor of our esteemed contemporary writes:—

"We can ourselves vouch for the fact that this preface was composed during the sleepless and suffering nights of the last few weeks, when Mr. Buckland, unable to lie down in bed, had to sit upright, his head resting on a table in front of him. This was the only position in which he could breathe, and even then each breath was a struggle. When morning came, he sent for Mr. Searle, his Secretary, and gasping out each word separately in a whisper, dictated the last pages with great effort. As will be seen by the date, he concluded the correction of the proofs two days before he died, when each hour it was supposed would be his last. Truly, as those standing round him remarked, this was a triumph of mind over body. We think the public, for whom he laboured so faithfully, will value these last few words, when they reflect under what conditions they were composed and dictated."

The following are the paragraphs:—

"I have another object in writing this book; it is to endeavour to show the truth of the good old doctrines of the Bridgwater Treatises, which have so ably demonstrated the 'power, wisdom, and goodness of God, as manifested in the Creation.'

Of late years, the doctrines of so-called 'Evolution' and 'Development' have seemingly gained ground amongst those interested in natural history; but I have too much faith in the good sense and natural acumen of my fellow countrymen to think that these tenets will be very long lived.

To put matters very straight, I stedfastly believe that the Great Creator, as indeed we are directly told, made all things perfect and 'Very Good' from the beginning; perfect and very good every created thing is now found to be, and will so continue to the end of time.

I am very willing to prove my case by holding a court at any time or place, before any number of people of any class. I would empanel a jury of the most eminent and skilful railway and mechanical engineers, while the only witnesses I should call would be the fish fresh from the deep sea trawler, the City fish market, or the fishmonger's slab. I would adduce from them evidence of 'design, beauty, and order,' as evinced in such as the electric organs of the torpedo—the gun-lock spine of the file-fish—the water reservoirs and spectacles of the eel—the teeth of the gilthead, bream, and throat-teeth of the carp, bream, &c.—the anchor of the lumpsucker and remora—the colouring of the perch and bleak—the icthyophagous teeth of the pike, shark, and silvery hairtail—the tail of the fox shark—the prehensile lips of the dory and sprat—the nose of the barbel and dog-fish—the resplendence of the Arctic gymnetrus and scabbard fish—the dagger is the tail of the sting ray—the nest of the sticklebaek—the armour plates of the sturgeon—the nostril, breathing powers, and store of fat in the salmon—migrations of the salmon, herring, pilchard, sprat, and mackerel, &c.—and, above all, the enormous fertility of fishes useful as food to the human race.

I am satisfied that I should obtain a verdict in favour of my view of the case, namely, that in all these wonderful contrivances, there exists evidence of design and forethought, and a wondrous adaptation of means to an end. A full acknowledgment must necessarily follow that these were due to the immediate creation of 'the Lord and Giver of Life.'

This is a school open to all; there is never any lack of subjects, no fees to pay; all that is required is a sharp knife, sharp scissors, and painstaking observation; while the mind will reap its reward in the pleasures of original investigation.

I trust that these observations may lead many of my fellow countrymen to see how far inferior the so-called works of human art are to the works of Creation; and, finally, let me assure them that they will find in the structure of animals—whether living in the waters or on the land—most perfect contrivances and artistic designs, not made by the hands of man, but by the Great Artificer who made man himself."

The Preface bears date the 17th, as Frank Buckland died on the 19th December 1880.

PRESENTATION TO BRO. MAGNUS OHREN.

ON Friday, 24th December, an interesting ceremonial took place in connection with the Crystal Palace District Gas Company, Lower Sydenham—namely, the presentation to the Secretary, Bro. Magnus Ohren, by the officers and workmen, of a testimonial in commemoration of what was happily termed his silver wedding (his twenty-fifth year of office) with the Company. The presentation was made in the van-shed, the only available place under cover extensive enough for the purpose, and where the men assembled in large numbers in front of three vans, which formed an extemporized platform for the speakers and the officers of the Company.

Mr. C. Gandon, the Resident Engineer, addressing Bro. Ohren, said:—"A very agreeable duty has devolved upon me this evening, having been requested, on behalf of those present, and of all the employés of the Company, to offer you our sincere and hearty congratulations upon the completion of what must be an interesting period of your connection with the Company, this being the twenty-fifth anniversary of your holding the office of Secretary. During the whole of this long period you have earned the esteem and respect of all with whom you have been associated. I do not know whether I should be right in referring to this period as your silver wedding, for it is not always agreeable to be reminded that one is getting older every day; but it must be a matter of congratulation not only to yourself, but to all concerned, to know that your long association with the Company has been a successful one, as is evidenced by the fact that the Company has risen from very small beginnings to its present state of great prosperity. It is the belief of all of us that you have studied, in every possible way, to promote the welfare and comfort of the employés. To you they are indebted for the many little acts of kindness which have been shown to them by you on behalf of the Directors of the Company—I refer especially to their pleasant summer outings, and also to another little interesting ceremony that is about to take place. I have been asked by them to express their cordial thanks to you for all your kindness, and to request you to accept these testimonials of their esteem. The gifts have been subscribed for by the officers and men, and consist of a handsome massive silver loving cup,* which I now present to you, and a diamond ring, that will remind you of this, your silver wedding. I think I need scarcely add more; the inscription shortly expresses the feelings of all, and I have merely to ask you to accept this testimonial, wishing you "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year," and trusting that you may long be spared to remain with us in your present position. We all most cordially wish health and happiness to yourself, Mrs. Ohren, and your family."

Bro. Ohren said:—"Brother Officers and Brother Workmen, for we are all workers in this great hive—and that we work together in goodwill and harmony is fully shown by the object which now brings us together—I feel that I should commence any remarks I may have to make by stating that this is the happiest moment of my life, and that I thank you from the bottom of my heart. I cannot, however, say this without reservation, for I feel that I ought to scold you for the too great zeal you have evinced in my favour. The first intimation I had that a presentation would be made to me, was from the Chairman of the Testimonial Committee. The Committee thought that it would be best that, of the several things which they considered would form an acceptable present, I should be asked to make a selection. I need not say that when the amount of money collected was mentioned, I felt that I could not possibly accept so valuable a testimonial, and I desired that it might be reduced one-half. This, however, I was told could not be, since the money was not only subscribed, but paid, and in the hands of the Treasurer. But I felt that I really ought to take the opportunity of scolding you for the extravagant manner in which you had responded to the call made upon you, and I can only forgive you on one condition. As Mr. Gandon has said, I look upon this as my silver wedding to the Company, and the condition I impose is this—that in twenty-five years time at my golden wedding, you shall be less lavish with your money in presenting your testimonial. Now, as that is off my mind, I may turn to the more legitimate way of recognizing such an event, and express my debt of gratitude to you for this lasting proof of your esteem and regard. Twenty-five years ago this day I took charge of these works. I say these works, although they were very different from the present works. At that time we had in use four beds of retorts, and were carbonizing 10 tons of coal per day. We have now 50 double or through beds of retorts, more than equal in size to 100 of the old beds, and we are carbonising 237 tons of coal per day. At that time we had five stokers and a total of eight constant men; we have now 84 stokers and a total on our pay-sheet to-day of 343 men and boys. We then had one gasholder to contain 110,000 cubic feet of gas; we have now five, having a capacity of 2,430,000 feet. We then had 500 customers; now we have 8,500. You may imagine what Sydenham was at that time. It was first lighted by the Sydenham Gas Company in September 1852. The works were very small, and, in fact, Lower Sydenham was rather out of the world. Let me give you an idea of its remoteness from London. The London, Brighton, and South Coast Railway had then only been a few years in existence. One of our service layers required a pick, and was anxious that it should be of a certain weight and size. I told him he might go to the Borough and choose one or two for himself. "The Borough?" said he. "Where is that?" I told him it was a short way from London Bridge, and that if, when he got out of the train, he turned round to the left, he would soon come to the place. "Why," said the man, "That is in London. Oh! I should not like to go there, Sir, because I might lose myself." I told him that if he had never been to London he should have the opportunity then; but he nearly cried to think of going—in fact, he would not go, and I had to send some one else. In the Spring of 1854 the Crystal Palace District Gas Company took a lease of the Sydenham Gas Works. The Crystal Palace was commenced at Sydenham in 1852, and was opened in 1854, and from that time our works began to grow. The Metropolitan Board of Works were constituted about this time—in August 1855—and the Board and Vestries were commencing their duties with vigour: but it was not till long afterwards that we had lamps in this district. For a considerable time I had to walk home from the office to the Railway Station with a lantern. I used to leave it at the station at night, and bring it down with me on my return in the morning. There were ditches on each side of the road, and travellers were rare. All our roads are now lighted, and there are at present about 2,000 lamps in the Company's district. Thus we have grown, and to-day we are one of the most successful gas companies in England. I must conclude by again thanking you for these beautiful articles you have given to me. The cup, when in use in winter or summer, will bring to mind the many days we have passed so pleasantly together, and I shall never look upon the ring without thinking of the great pleasure I have experienced this night, and I again thank you, not from the bottom of my heart, but with my whole heart.—Journal of Gas Lighting.

* The cup, of beautiful workmanship, seventeenth century style, and weighing 72 oz. bears the following inscription:—

was presented, on 24th December 1880,
to
MAGNUS OHREN, Esq., Assoc. M. Inst. C.E.; F. Chem. S., by the Officers and Workmen of the Crystal Palace District Gas Company, in commemoration of the completion, this day, of his 25th year of office as Secretary of the Company, and in testimony of their appreciation of his uniform kindness and interest in their welfare during the whole of that long period.

MASONIC CHARITY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—It is unnecessary to say that your statement of the year's work for our Charities is exceedingly gratifying. Would it not have been as well to include the large sum voted to various cases by the Board of Benevolence, amounting, I suppose, to between £11,000 and £12,000. If to this we add the sums bestowed on casual relief by the Lodges, as well as Lodge subscriptions to local charities, the sum total would amount to something like £65,000 or £70,000.

Yours fraternally,

T. B. WHYTEHEAD.

[Our worthy correspondent is quite right in pointing out that the work done by our institutions is very far from being a complete account of what is done by Freemasonry in aiding indigent brethren, the widow, and the fatherless. The total incomes, from all sources, of our three Charities for the year 1880, as stated last week, amounted in the aggregate to £49,762 11s 5d. If to this we add the grants for the year made by the Lodge of Benevolence, which, as stated in the previous week, reached the sum of £9,223, we have a total of £58,985 11s 5d. We must further take into account the Benevolent organizations which exist in so many of our Provinces, such as those of the two Lancashires, Cheshire, Warwickshire, Cornwall, Devon, &c., &c. These have large accumulated funds, the interest on which is distributed annually in the relief of distress, or the education, maintenance, or advancement of the children of poor or deceased brethren. Very many Lodges have their own Benevolent Funds. There is hardly a Lodge at which, on the occasion of their different meetings, the charity box is not circulated, and most, if not all of them, in the course of the year freely give pecuniary help to worthy but distressed Masons. Lastly, there is the immense amount of casual relief bestowed by individual brethren, of which we hear nothing, for the kindly deeds are done in secret. If, then, we add the amounts thus distributed, which for obvious reasons are indeterminable, to the £58,985 stated above, we are inclined to the belief that even Bro. Whytehead's estimate of between £65,000 and £70,000 is considerably within the mark. Indeed, we do not think we should be exaggerating if we estimated the total at little short of £100,000. But even his idea of close on £70,000 speaks well for the good deeds of Freemasonry, and offers the grandest possible justification for its existence, as well as the most complete answer to those who go out of the way to abuse it.—ED. F.C.]

WITHDRAWAL OF VISITORS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—It is highly amusing to note the hubbub my letter on this subject has caused. Bro. John Constable is in a fit of indignation bordering on frenzy, just as he might have been had he been for the second time invited to retire while certain business which did not concern a stranger was being transacted. Bro. Gottheil, like an old-fashioned line-of-battle ship, is pounding away at the different Craft—Craft Principles, Craft Professions of Faith, Obligations, Craft Courtesy, and the like—by which for years past he has been surrounded, and knocking them, figuratively, into "cocked hats," all because I, the unfortunate, but "IRREPRESSIBLE TOMKINS," have had the hardihood to criticise certain conduct imputed, rightly or wrongly, to Bro. Constable during his sojourn some two years since in South Africa. Am I to blame, because in the year of grace 1878—which is only a couple of years less graceful than 1880—Bro. Constable, having been invited for certain reasons to retire for a short time from a Port Elizabeth Lodge—as other visitors, I presume, before him had been—quitted the said Lodge in high dudgeon, after having first refused the olive-branch of peace, held out to him by the Worshipful Master of the Lodge? Or, if the second is the correct account of the incident, is it my fault that Bro. Constable worked himself into a fever heat of indignation, because he was asked to leave the Lodge during the transaction of business "which did not concern a stranger?" Am I responsible for the revival of "a half-forgotten matter, of no very great importance to the high interests of the Craft?" And yet, writes Bro. Gottheil, when firing his first broadside at poor unhappy me, no one who has read "my waggishly signed" letter, "can fail to perceive that, in penning his remarks, the writer was clearly animated by an unfriendly, and by no means fraternal spirit." As if this were not terrible enough, he keeps on blazing away, and suggests that this "half-forgotten matter," which was mentioned "incidentally" in your reporter's account of the Tranquillity Lodge, "afforded" me "the opportunity of venting a probably long-suppressed anger upon the devoted head of a, most likely, innocent offender." I feel, after all this, that it is a most "unwarrantable proceeding" on my part to be still alive. Yet I am happy to say I still survive, and, with your permission, will take this opportunity of inquiring if Bro. Gottheil has ever heard of Logic and the ill-treatment it receives from those who argue from false premisses, who jump hastily to conclusions which nothing in the circumstances will warrant, who delight in the enunciation of fallacies, &c., &c.? Well, on the strength of a certain statement which appeared in your columns, the accuracy of which I was fully justified in assuming, I have had the audacity to criticise the conduct of a brother—it happened to be Bro. Constable, but I should have done the same had it been Bro. Anybody Else—as described in that instance. Forthwith appears on the scene Bro. Gottheil, who writes that it must be evident to all who have read my letter that it was written in "an unfriendly, and by no means fraternal spirit," and that it gave me the "opportunity of venting a probably long suppressed anger upon the devoted head of a, most likely innocent offender"—"innocent, be it remarked, is in italics, for the purpose, I presume, of giving increased force to the argument (?). This, no doubt, is very friendly and very fraternal towards the "innocent offender," but may I take the liberty of asking Bro. Gottheil, what has become of his logic? I must point out to him that my criticism was based on a statement of your reporter's, and I remarked that, if Bro. Constable did what he was said to have done, he acted very foolishly—"it was a silly exhibition of spleen on his part" were, I believe, the exact words I used. I went on to point out that at Lodge meetings, as at family gatherings, it was only natural that business of a private nature should occasionally come under consideration, and that it would be indelicate on the part of any mere visitor to insist on remaining during the discussion of such private business. I further hinted that, had I been Bro. Constable, I should have wished your reporter at Jericho rather than that he should have referred to what Bro. Gottheil himself has since described as "a half-forgotten matter, of no very great importance to the high interests of the Craft." Now, I ask you, Dear Sir and Brother, and your readers likewise, to bear with me while I describe these matters in brief, but in the regular order of their occurrence. A. B. C. (Bro. Reporter) describes an "incident" which occurred during the visit of D. E. F. (Bro. Constable) to a Port Elizabeth Lodge, the said D. E. F. being a member of a Lodge in England. G. H. K. (that is I, the much-abused "IRREPRESSIBLE TOMKINS"), with your kind permission, points out that if D. E. F. acted as he was described by A. B. C. to have acted, he was wrong. Thereupon, up jumps L.M.N. (Bro. Gottheil), who at once goes bounding about all over the field of illogical assertion, and deliberately affirms that G. H. K. wrote in a very unfriendly spirit, and had taken the opportunity of emptying the vials of a long bottled-up anger on the devoted head of the innocent D. E. F. May I ask Bro. Gottheil to point out where in this case is the sequitur? D. E. F. does something; A. B. C. reports his version of it, and G. H. K. criticises that version. Ergo, G. H. K.'s criticism is unfriendly, unfraternal, and neither more nor less than a furious outburst of long suppressed anger against D. E. F. Really, Bro. Gottheil, this is too absurd. I am sorry to say I have been obliged to laugh—and that, you know, was very rude on my part, was it not?—at what you, no doubt, honestly and honourably intended, in all sober seriousness, to be a most chivalrous defence of a "very innocent offender." Let me advise you, my Dear Sir and Brother, before you again venture into the arena of argument for the purpose of engaging in a conflict with an unknown brother, who is innocent of all offence towards you, as he is assuredly innocent of all offence towards him whose imputed conduct has caused all this row-di-dow; I say, let me advise you before you again so venture forth, to go home, or to the British Museum, or the nearest available library, and there renew your acquaintance with the works of the late Stuart Mill, Whateley, Aristotle, or some other logician of repute. Your native sense, thus refreshed and invigorated, will make you a most formidable champion, and your opponent will have some trouble and no little good fortune if he succeeds only in holding his own.

Passing over the second paragraph of Bro. Gottheil's letter—as it concerns the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, not me—I come to the third and last, in which I find myself described as an "atrocity," because, in criticising the conduct of a certain brother, as described by a certain reporter, I have adopted a pseudonym. Had I, under an assumed name, made a personal attack on Bro. Constable's character, had I maligned him, imputed to him evil motives, or wilfully distorted the facts of some incident in which he figured, I should merit the severe censure passed upon me by Bro. Gottheil. But I have merely criticised certain conduct of his as described by a reporter. I have said, and I repeat, that what he is alleged to have done was wrong, that his indignation was uncalled for, and looked more like "a silly exhibition of spleen" than anything else I could think of; and further, that the mention of it by your reporter was calculated to make him ridiculous in the sight of others. I said, and I repeat this, in the general, if not the "high," interests of the Craft; for if Lodges find there are brethren who insist on remaining in Lodge, even during the transaction or discussion of business which does not "concern a stranger," they will have no alternative but to give up receiving those brethren. When Dr. Oliver complained that there were Lodges which refused to admit visitors, I take it the only reasonable, indeed, the only possible explanation of his meaning is, that there were certain Lodges which resolutely set themselves against the admission of strange brethren—that is, members of other Lodges—and not against their refusal to receive them during the consideration of private business. But whatever may have been Dr. Oliver's meaning, it is manifestly of no moment who it is, whether A. or Z., who offers his criticism on a matter of general interest, just as in this instance it cannot possibly have affected the merits of the conduct that was criticised, whether it was that of Bro. John Constable or any other brother. Under these circumstances, and seeing that while my remarks were based on the conduct of a particular brother—who happened to be Bro. Constable, but who might, I say, have been any one else—they were necessarily general in their character and scope, I feel I was perfectly justified in writing under an assumed name.

A word as to Bro. Constable's letter of the 28th ult. He—shall I waggishly describe him as the Lord High Constable of English Masonry?—is "astounded" that I—the "IRREPRESSIBLE TOMKINS"—"should have been a party to so unwarrantable a proceeding." This, to adopt the phraseology of some peculiar people, is quite too awfully dreadful!! I have taken part in the "unwarrantable proceeding" of criticising certain conduct of his, which I believe to be wrong; as it was prominently referred to by an anonymous reporter in a public journal, I criticised it publicly in the columns of the same journal, and, having no personal feeling in the matter, I did so anonymously. Moreover, I have the honour to be one of the "friends" from whose malicious designs he so ardently prays to be delivered or preserved. This, I repeat, is quite too awfully dreadful; but is it not the funniest of funny things that Bro. Constable should assume and publicly parade a knowledge he cannot possibly possess? Far be it from me to say he is not above and beyond the reach of criticism, and that he, alone of Craftsmen, may do what none dare call in question; but were he, in truth, what I have described him in joke, the Lord High Constable of English Masons, he does not possess the power or the knowledge to penetrate the veil which conceals from the public the personal identity of,

Your faithful servant and brother,

THE IRREPRESSIBLE TOMKINS.

P.S.—Happy Thought!—to wish both Bro. Gottheil and Bro. Constable "A Happy New Year, and many of them." This I do with all the pleasure in the world.

THE CASE OF THE LAD COLLINGWOOD.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—It will doubtless be in the remembrance of many of your readers that, at the last Quarterly Court of the Boys' School, a discussion arose concerning the eligibility of one of the candidates for election—viz., A. H. Collingwood. It had been previously stated publicly that the father of the candidate had left such an estate as to place his family beyond the need of any charitable aid, but although subsequent inquiry proved that the value of the estate had been erroneously stated, we have now to consider the statement laid before the brethren who attended the last meeting of the General Committee, viz., that in addition to other funds, a sum of £1063 10s is left invested with the proviso that the interest derived therefrom shall be applied to the education and maintenance of the said A. H. Collingwood, who on attaining the age of twenty-one years will be entitled to the capital sum. Under these circumstances I maintain that A. H. Collingwood, having a sufficient income to pay for his own maintenance and education ought not to be allowed to occupy a place in our Boys' School to the exclusion of another candidate who may formerly have been accustomed to domestic comfort, and may now be in a state of penury.

As a final decision in this case will have to be given at the Quarterly Court, which will be held at the Freemasons' Hall, at 4 p.m. on Monday, the 10th inst., I trust that those of your readers who may feel interested in this question will, if time permits, attend the Court, and exercise their right of voting.

I am, Dear Sir, yours faithfully,

A. E. G.

Obituary.

BRO. C. J. W. DAVIS.

IT is with very great regret we announce to our readers the death of Bro. C. J. W. Davis, at his residence, Oxford Villa, Cavershamroad, on Monday, after only a short illness. Bro. Davis leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss, as well as a host of friends who esteemed him for his many sterling qualities. He was initiated into the mysteries of Freemasonry in the Royal Union Lodge, No. 382, by Bro. Glaisher, who, at the time, occupied the chair of the Lodge. After filling various offices, he was in due course elected W. Master, and at the time of his decease was Treasurer and a Past Master of the Lodge. He was one of the founders of the Unity Lodge, No. 1637, and only retired from the chair in the course of last year. His merit had been still further recognised by the bestowal of Provincial honours, he being Prov. G.D.C. of Middlesex. He was a Royal Arch Mason, having been exalted in the Prudent Brethren Chapter, No. 145. He was likewise Treasurer, and took a deep interest in the well-being of the La Tolerance Lodge of Instruction. He had filled the office of Steward for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution and the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, while his name was down, and, had his life been prolonged, he would have served as Steward at the Festival next ensuing of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls. He made no distinction between Masons and non-Masons in the diffusion of such aid as it was in his power to render. His funeral took place yesterday (Friday) at St. Marylebone Cemetery, East Finchley, there being a numerous gathering present of his relatives and friends, who were all anxious to pay their last tribute of respect to one so worthy. We offer our warmest sympathy to his family in their sore and sudden bereavement.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

LODGE OF LIGHTS, No. 148, WARRINGTON.

ON the 16th of October 1646, the first "gentleman" Mason was made at Warrington, in the person of Elias Ashmole, the author of the well-known "History of the Order of the Garter," and founder of the Ashmolean Museum at Oxford. It is a matter for great regret that the antient records of the Lodge are lost, and that the history of Freemasonry in Warrington cannot now be consecutively traced further back than 18th November 1765. However, it is our pleasure to place on record the fact that at no previous period of its history has the Lodge been in a better condition, both as to its work and Constitution, and St. John's Day 1880 will long be remembered as one of its brightest red-letter days. The principal business of the day was the installation of the W.M. elect, Bro. A. H. Young, M.B., F.R.C.S.E. &c., and the old Lodge exceeded itself in the éclat which characterised the whole proceedings. Punctually at three o'clock the Lodge was opened, the minutes read and confirmed, and Bro. Warner passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. The W.M Bro. Charles E. Hindley then invited the senior member present, Bro. John Bowes P.M. P.P.G.J.W. Cumberland and Westmoreland, to take the chair as Installing Master, and during the long and interesting ceremony he was assisted and supported by a large number of brethren, 20 of whom were P.M.'s. Among those who signed the Tyler's book, besides those named, were Bros. W. Sharp P.M. P.P.G.J.W., D. W. Finney P.M. P.P.G.D.C., W. Harrison P.M. P.G.D.C., J. Rymer Young P.M., Thomas Tunstall P.M., W. H. Robinson P.M., Thomas Sutton P.M., Jos. Pickthall P.M., John Harding P.M., John Armstrong P.M., J. B. Tomlinson P.M. 368, J. Schonstadt P.M. 1502, George Bailey P.M. 613, Thomas A. Collinson P.M. P.P.G.D.C., W. Richardson P.M. 1250, J. H. Galloway W.M. 1250, A. H. Young S.W. W.M. elect, James Paterson J.W., Thomas Grime S.D., Charles Skinner I.G., George F. Curzon, Thomas M. Pattison Organist, Christoph Ekkert, Thomas B. Carter, John Pierpoint P.W., R. W. Francomb, Captain Deacon, John Laithwaite P.W., W. Warner, S. E. Johnson, J. Paul Ryland, F.S.A., Thomas Robinson, John J. Thompson, Thomas Morris, A. Crawford, W. Burn, James Bayley, John Brown 1280, James W. Carlisle S.W. 1384, Edward Greenall jun. 1354, W. Robinson, Dr. Gornall, Dr. Mackie, Edward Howarth, W. Barton, and Thomas Domville Tyler. The W.M. elect was presented to the Installing Master by the W.M., Bro. Charles E. Hindley, and, the first part of the ceremony completed, the Lodge was opened in the third degree, when the brethren of the lower degrees retired. The W.M. elect was then entrusted and retired for a brief space. A Board of Installed Masters was then constituted in ample form, the west and south being presided over by Bros. P.M.'s Rymer Young and W. H. Robinson. The W.M. elect now applied for re-admission, and was received in due form, and installed in the chair of K.S., according to ancient custom, and was greeted, saluted and proclaimed as an Installed Master. He then invested the I.P.M., who was addressed by the Installing Master as to the nature, duties, and responsibilities of his office, and afterwards entrusted. The Board was next "called off," and the newly-installed W.M. congratulated and "cemented" in his high position. Labour resumed, the Board was dissolved, and the brethren admitted by regular gradations, and the W.M. honoured and proclaimed in the three degrees. The W.M. invested as his Officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. James Paterson S.W., J. Paul Rylands J.W., Thomas Tunstall P.M. Treasurer, John Bowes P.M. &c., Sec., Thomas Grime S.D., Charles Skinner J.D., Councillor Francomb I.G. Each Officer was addressed by the Installing Master before and after being placed in his appointed chair. The Installing Master then delivered the ancient addresses to the W.M., Wardens, and brethren, which being completed, he took his seat in the south-east. The W.M. then presented, in the name of the Lodge, and on its behalf, a gold P.M.'s jewel to the I.P.M. Bro. Charles E. Hindley, which that brother suitably acknowledged. The auditors presented their report, and some routine business having been transacted, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to the Lion Hotel, where a splendid repast awaited them. Grace before and after meat was said by the Secretary. On the cloth being removed, the toast list was proceeded with, and we must say that we never listened to better post-prandial speeches. The W.M. set the example, and the speakers that followed in most cases imitated the good pattern set them. The W. Master's health was proposed and accepted with the utmost enthusiasm. Bro. J. Rymer Young P.M., in proposing the health of the Installing Master, remarked that he should require the attention of the brethren for a few moments only, inasmuch as he felt it was difficult to say anything concerning their esteemed Bro. Bowes that had not already been well said. He would remark, however, that, notwithstanding the loyal manner in which they had responded to the toasts of the Queen and the Prince of Wales, and not forgetting, too, the hearty manner in which they had received the name of the W.M., he felt certain that, of the entire list of toasts, none would be more heartily responded to than that of their worthy Secretary, the Installing Master. To tell them that Bro. Bowes had performed that beautiful ceremony, perhaps a dozen times in their own Lodge, would be to repeat a simple matter of history; to inform them that he invariably discharged his duties in a manner that made the ceremony always interesting and instructive, would be to sing once again a very old song indeed; they all knew that; and to remind them that Bro. Bowes had the goodwill and regard of every member of their ancient Lodge of Lights would be to afford another gratuitous piece of information that was totally unnecessary. In short, it would not be advisable to detain them while he recited the entire catalogue of Bro. Bowes's virtues. He should therefore content himself by asking them to drink, in as hearty a manner as possible, the health of the Installing Master, and so renew, as it were, an annual vote of confidence in their worthy brother. The toast was received with the utmost enthusiasm; indeed, it met with nothing short of an ovation.

Bro. Bowes suitably responded. The Visitors, one and all, bore testimony to the pleasure of their visit, both in and out of the Lodge. The proceedings were considerably enhanced by some excellent music, artistically rendered by Bros. Barton Curzon and Francomb, under the able leadership of Bro. Thos. Mee Pattison, the Organist of the Lodge.

LODGE OF JOPPA, No. 188.

THE Installation meeting of this numerous and excellent working Lodge was held on Monday, the 3rd inst., at the Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street. There was a numerous attendance of the brethren and several distinguished Visitors. Bros. W. Hymans W.M., R. Baker S.W., L. M. Myers J.W., J. S. Lyon Treas., E. P. Albert P.G.P. Sec., J. Abrahams S.D., Blanks J.D., Baum I.G., A. Dodson P.M. Dir. C., Davis A.D.C., P. E. Van Noorden Org. Past Masters, Bros. L. Alexander, H. M. Levy, S. Hickman, I. Abrahams, O. Roberts, and Lazarus. Lodge having been opened, and the minutes read and confirmed, Bros. H. L. Phillips and P. Feeney 1017 (the latter by courtesy of the W.M.) were raised to the third degree. A ballot was taken for the admission of Mr. Elias Simmons, and as this proved successful, he was duly initiated into the Order. Both the ceremonies were perfectly rendered. After the usual preliminary ceremonial, a Board of Installed Masters, consisting of no less than twenty-six W.M.'s and P.M.'s, was opened, and Bro. R. Baker S.W. and W.M. elect was duly installed into the chair by the retiring W.M. Bro. Hymans, whose work was done in a masterly and impressive manner that was highly appreciated, and warranted the encomiums passed on him by the brethren and Visitors. At the conclusion of the ceremony brethren below the rank of Installed Master returned to the Lodge, and the W.M. was saluted in accordance with ancient custom. He then, in appropriate terms, appointed and invested as his Officers Bros. H. Hymans I.P.M., L. M. Myers S.W., J. Benjamin J.W., E. P. Albert P.G.P. Secretary, J. S. Lyon Treasurer, Blanks S.D., Baum J.D., Davis I.G., A. G. Dodson P.M. D.C., P. E. Van Noorden Organist, Bean A.D.C., Botibol and Wall Stewards, Woodstock Tyler. The applause that followed the investiture of each Officer showed the W.M. had made a good selection. Bro. S. Hickman P.M. proposed, and Bro. H. M. Levy P.M. seconded, that a cordial vote of thanks be recorded on the minutes to Bro. Hymans for the able manner in which he had performed the ceremony of installation, which was carried unanimously. The resignation of a brother was accepted, with regret. Two distressed brethren were relieved from the funds of the Lodge. Nine propositions for initiation were handed in to the Secretary. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren, 109 in number, sat down to a sumptuous and recherché banquet, provided by Bro. Jennings, and superintended by Bro. Silver. After dinner the W.M. proposed the toast of the Queen and the Craft. The National Anthem having been sung, he next gave the toast of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales Grand Master, who, all know, took a deep interest in Freemasonry. Bro. Heine Hugo sang "Non Piu Andrai," after which followed the toast of the Pro Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers present and past, Bro. Baker remarking that they were pleased as well as honoured by the presence of several distinguished Grand Officers, among them being R.W. Bro. Giddy District G.M. Griqualand, Bro. Wendt Grand Secretary for German Correspondence, and Bro. T. Cubitt P.G.P. After a duet, by Madame F. Brooke and Bro. P. E. Van Noorden, Bro. Giddy expressed his sense of the honour that had been paid him and his brother Grand Officers. He pointed out that in Bro. Albert the Lodge had a member who was a host in himself, and one with whom but few could compete in his good and kindly feeling. He also thanked them on behalf of Bros. Wendt and Cubitt, and concluded by commending the Lodge for its capital working and the cordial reception it extended towards visitors. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Joppa Benevolent Fund, connecting with it the name of the President, Bro. L. Alexander P.M. Bro. Benjamin having played a solo on the flute, accompanied by Bro. Van Noorden,—which was so highly appreciated that it had to be given a second time,—Bro. L. Alexander P.M. rose, and requested the Secretary of the Fund to read the minutes of the last meeting, which showed that a sum of £1,004 16s 5d was then placed to their credit. He gave an account of the rise of the Fund and its application, stating that a short time since they had thought they should have had to sell out stock, but he had to thank Bro. Lazarus P.M. for his energy during the evening, that brother having collected the sum of £31 7s. The names of the contributors having been read out seriatim, Bro. Hymans rose and expressed the great pleasure he felt in calling upon the brethren to drink the health of the W.M. They had seen how ably he had acquitted himself since his installation, and they would, he was sure, be proud of him when, on the next occasion, he had to fulfil his duties. After Miss Florence Williams had sung, "Why are you wandering?" the W.M., in reply, remarked there were certain events in every man's life of which he felt proud. He trusted he should not belie the hopes they had formed of him; they had seen his past position, and he hoped that in future he should discharge his duties with precision, deviating neither to the right nor the left, so that when he left the chair the Lodge would not have lost any of its prestige. The W.M. then proposed the health of one they were proud of—the new initiate, who had come among them with a good introduction, and had already shown his good qualities and appreciation of Freemasonry, by giving a substantial amount to the Charity Fund. Bro. Benjamin having sung a very admirable song, Bro. Elias Simmons, in brief but appropriate terms, responded to the toast. The W.M. then gave the health of the I.P.M. Bro. H. Hymans, which was enthusiastically received, and said it was always a pleasant duty to be the exponent of the praise due to one who had performed his duties so ably during his year of his office. All had seen and experienced his genial presidency at banquet, and all admired the ability with which he had fulfilled his duties. It gave him the greatest pleasure to present to Bro. Hymans the testimonial which had been voted him by the Lodge. The jewel, which was of very elegant design and bore a suitable inscription, was then pinned on Bro. Hymans' breast, and the latter, after a brief interval, in which Madame Frances Brooke sang, rose and returned his warmest thanks, both for the kind words of the Worshipful Master in proposing the toast, and for the hearty reception it had met with from all the brethren. He thanked them for their handsome present, in recognition of his services during the past year. The W.M. then proposed the health of the Visitors, and, having mentioned their names, said how pleased they were to receive them. He called on Bro. T. Cubitt P.G.P. to respond. The call having been answered, the toast of the Past Masters was given, and responded to by Bros. A. G. Dodson and H. M. Levy. In giving the toast of the Wardens, Bro. Baker spoke in complimentary terms of their zeal and ability, as already evinced that very day. To the toast of the Secretary and Treasurer those Officers severally responded, and the "Junior Officers" was acknowledged by Bros. Blanks, Baum, and Davis. After the Tyler's toast had been given, the brethren separated. Great credit is due to Bro. P. E. Van Noorden for his excellent programme of music, both vocal and instrumental, and also to Bro. Dodson P.M. for his attention to the comfort of the brethren and Visitors. The following is a list of the Visitors:—Bros. W. H. Giddy D.G.M. Griqualand, Wendt Grand Sec. German Correspondence, T. Cubitt P.G.P., Davis 1017, Feeny 1017, Phillips 205, M. J. Hayes 1348, T. B. Launcelot 55, C. P. Bellerby 1612, E. Swanborough P.M. 1319, Greenbaum 214, M. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The chiefest wonder of modern times.—This incomparable Medicine increases the appetite, strengthens the stomach, cleanses the liver, corrects biliousness, and prevents flatulency, purifies the system, invigorates the nerves, and reinstates sound health. The enormous demand for these Pills throughout the globe astonishes everybody, and a single trial convinces the most sceptical that no medicine equals Holloway's Pills in its ability to remove all complaints incidental to the human race. They are a blessing to the afflicted, and a boon to all who labour under internal or external disease. The purification of the blood, removal of all restraints from the secretive organs, and gentle aperient action, are the prolific sources of the extensive curative range of Holloway's Pills.

Afterwards the brethren dined together; and in the course of the evening the festival was further observed in the usual manner by sending out deputations from the respective Lodges, who interchanged fraternal greetings. CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT, BOYS' SCHOOL.

THE annual entertainment which is given at this festive season to the pupils of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys who remain at school during the holidays took place on Wednesday evening. There was a numerous gathering of visitors, especially if we take into account that the customary entertainment to the Old Folks at Croydon was fixed for the same evening. Among those present were Bro. Binckes, Secretary of the Institution, and the Misses Binckes; Bro. Dr. Morris, Head Master, Bro. C. F. Matier and Mrs. Matier, Bro. E. C. Woodward and Mrs. Woodward, Bro. Major Hawkins, Bro. W. W. Morgan, &c., &c. The programme was a most entertaining one, and was furnished entirely by Bro. Seymour Smith, whose efforts were duly appreciated, not only by the youngsters for whose especial behoof they were exerted, but likewise by the rest of the audience. The programme was of a most humorous description throughout. It was entitled, "Sea Side Jottings," was in two Parts, and included some of Bro. Seymour Smith's best songs. The opening of Part I. was descriptive of a Bachelor's Paradise, after which the hero, Theophilus, heroically determines upon undertaking a journey, and is fortunate in catching his train, to the accompaniment of a merry song, "Just in Time." Once seated in a carriage he gives himself up to moralising on people and things in general and his fellow passengers in particular, whom we are to suppose he entertains by the way with a pretty ballad, "I love my love so dearly." The example thus set by Theophilus is contagious, and a venerable spinster expresses her ideas on the "Girl of the Period." After an amusing sketch of "The Happy Family," the Melancholy Man causes no little amusement by misquoting a proverb, and follows this exploit up by proving the falsity of the old adage, "out of sight, out of mind." A humorous song, "Bill Craven," having been given with great effect, the train reaches "Muddleme Junction," where it seems birds of a feather do not always flock together. The Guard then gives his ideas, and after another sketch, in which is described "The Railway Station," we are supposed to be at Shingleses, and make acquaintance with its most prominent characteristics and inhabitants. A patriotic song, "The Tight Little Island," concludes Part I.

In Part II. are sketched the adventures of Theophilus, showing how, having been hooked by a fisherman, he escapes the sailor, and is then caught by the Tar. A fit of bad panning supervenes, but in due course, he meets the Volunteers, whose gallant captain indulges in so mild a flirtation that Bro. Smith feels under the necessity of contrasting it in song with that of "The Irish Captain." A variety of other adventures, in the course of which Theophilus, having shown an utter disregard for morals, astonishes his landlady, and is in turn astonished by the Jolly Man, our hero emerges from a conglomeration of misfortunes just in time to encounter Mrs. Brown. A description of her famous Dinner Party forms the climax to the woes of Theophilus. He resolves on an immediate flight, and having returned to the Metropolis, seeks consolation for all his troubles and difficulties at the Opera, of his visit to which he gives a description. This brings the entertainment to a close. Those who have had the privilege of hearing Bro. Smith will have no difficulty in picturing to themselves the varied fun and frolic his entertainment contained.

He gave it from beginning to end in his happiest vein, and was loudly and deservedly applauded at intervals and at the close. A hearty vote of thanks, proposed by Bro. Binckes, was carried with acclamation.

The ladies and brethren then adjourned for light refreshment, and the party returned to town, highly delighted with what they had heard and seen, while "Our Boys" retired to rest in a state which is more easily imagined than described.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

THE New Year's Entertainment to the inmates of the Asylum at Croydon, was given on Wednesday, 5th inst., when, among others, the following brethren and ladies attended:—H. J. Strong, M.D., Honorary Surgeon to the Institution, Thomas J. Steel, E. Dagousset, Edgar Bowyer, Raynham W. Stewart, T. A. Winsland, Charles John Perceval, Charles G. Hill, A. H. Tattershall, Mrs. Tattershall, John Constable, Edward Davies, Mrs. Davies, Robert H. Halford, Mrs. Halford, R. Pearcy, Mrs. Pearcy, T. Goode, Mrs. Goode, L. B. Newton, John Newton, Mrs. Newton, Miss Newton, Mrs. Terry, Miss Terry, Alfred Trewinnard, P. Forge, H. Massey, Mrs. Massey, Miss A. R. Massey, Thomas Cubitt, John G. Stephens, J. J. Terry, William Stephens, W. H. Wallington, H. E. Frances, Mrs. Frances, E. Spooner, H. Amphlett, Mrs. Amphlett, and James Terry (Secretary). Dinner was provided at two o'clock, when an excellent repast was partaken of, which the old folks enjoyed. Dr. Strong took the chair, and Bro. John Constable the vice-chair. Dr. Strong proposed three toasts, the Queen, the Founders of the Feast, and Bro. Norris and Miss Norris, the Warden and Matron of the Institution. Bro. Edgar Bowyer, who was coupled with the toast of the Founders of the Feast, said in his reply that the success of the Institution was the most earnest wish of himself and the other brethren who took part in these entertainments. Bro. Norris, whom Dr. Strong claimed as the oldest Mason in the world, replied for himself and daughter, who, he said, was both right and left hand to him, without her he would not be able to perform his duties; and he concluded by wishing the whole party a very Happy New Year. Bro. Tattershall, at a dinner of which those brethren afterwards partook, who had waited on the old people at their dinner, mentioned that there was a balance of £15 still owing for a beautiful piano which had been just purchased of Messrs. Broadwood, for the Institution, and he suggested that the brethren might raise that money by appeals to their various Lodges and Chapters. Some brethren thought they might raise it at once and this suggestion was adopted. In the course of a few minutes the requisite amount was subscribed. The company, after dinner, visited the old people in their residences and took tea with them, and in the evening a dramatic and musical entertainment was given, of which the following is the programme:—Solo Concertina, "Recollections of Scotland," Miss Edridge; Song, "The Village Blacksmith," Mr. S. Edridge; Reading, Ingoldsby's "Little Vulgar Boy," Mr. Moore; Song, "Barney O'Hea," Miss Edridge; Solo Violin, "Adagio," Mozart, Miss Strong; Reading, "Boots at the Holly Tree," Mr. Edridge; Song, "Cup of Tea," Miss Edridge; Reading, (Twain) Mr. Moore, Police Court Sketches, "Tragedy of the Flat Iron." Miss Terry also sang, and then Uncle's Will was performed by Mr. Moore, Miss Edridge, and Mr. S. Edridge. The company were regaled with wine and other refreshments during the evening, and the visitors returned to town soon after ten o'clock.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL

THE General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys met last Saturday afternoon at Freemasons' Hall, when there were present Bros. W. Roebuck (in the chair), Frederick Adlard, George Bolton P.D.G.M. China, Raynham W. Stewart P.G.D., S. Rosenthal, C. F. Matier, Arthur E. Gladwell, J. G. Chancellor, H. Massey, George J. Palmer, A. J. Duff-Filer P.G.S.B., W. H. Perryman, John Palmer, W. F. C. Montrie, and Frederick Binckes P.G. Steward (Secretary). A vote of thanks was passed unanimously to the Bazaar Committee of the Pupils' Assistance Fund for the present to the band of the Institution of a silver cornet-a-piston, manufactured by F. Besson and Co., as a mark of appreciation of the services of the band on the occasion of the holding of the Bazaar in June last. The report of the Special Committee on Collingwood's case was read. The Committee reported that the General Committee should recommend the Quarterly Court to declare Collingwood duly elected. This finding was based on an inquiry into all the circumstances of the case, and on a report of an accountant, who had had the will, books, and accounts of the late Bro. Collingwood before him, that the widow was now entitled to £130 a year, and would by the year 1883, when the last of certain bills should have matured, be in receipt of another £50 a year. The candidate was also now entitled to £40 a year for his maintenance and education, the interest of £1170, to which he would be absolutely entitled on attaining twenty-one years of age. On these reports being read, Bro. C. F. Matier moved, "That the Report of the Special Committee be not adopted." The accountant's report showed that the mother of the candidate was not destitute. She had two children to bring up, each of whom was entitled to £40 a year till twenty-one years, and then they would come into possession of the capital. The School ought not to be saddled with a case of that sort. From his own personal knowledge there was many a liberal contributor to the Institution who could not afford to leave his widow and family so well off as the late Bro. Collingwood had. There was many a more deserving case than this, which would be shut out if Collingwood were admitted. Bro. Gladwell seconded Bro. Matier's motion. Bro. J. G. Chancellor supported the adoption of the Special Committee's Report. While Bro. Collingwood was alive, his wife and family were living in affluent circumstances, at the rate of £800 or £900 a year. His widow had now only £130 a year to live upon. Under such circumstances she was suffering a great reverse of fortune, and the case was really a case of distress. If the Committee were to reject all cases of this description, and only admitted those that were absolutely destitute, the Masonic Schools would be reduced from their present position to that of pauper schools. Bro. Raynham W. Stewart adopted the view of Bro. Chancellor, and Bro. Roebuck remarked that he thought the report of the Special Committee was right. The Committee then divided, and the Report was rejected. Thirteen petitions to place candidates on the list for the April election were read and examined, out of which nine were accepted absolutely, and three conditionally. Outfits of £5 each were given to two former pupils of the School, and £20 was granted to an exceptional case, in which the late pupil is studying for the medical profession. The brethren then settled the list of candidates for next election, which, including the three cases accepted conditionally, will have on it seventy-seven candidates. There will be vacancies in the School for only twenty boys. Bro. Raynham W. Stewart gave notice that he would move at the Quarterly Court, to be held on Monday next, at four o'clock, p.m.—"That to commemorate the twenty years' services of the Secretary, Bro. Binckes, and in recognition of the ability shown by him during that period, and also having regard to the success achieved by his exertions, he be granted a gratuity of £200 out of the Funds of the Institution." A vote of thanks to the Chairman concluded the proceedings.

A vote of thanks was subsequently accorded to W. Bro. Dewar for the admirable manner in which he had discharged the onerous duties deputed to him, and he was duly proposed as an honorary member of St. David's Lodge 38. The Worshipful Brother having returned thanks in suitable terms, the P.G.M.M.M. invested his Officers. The Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to banquet, which took place at the Imperial Hotel. The W. Bro. Captain C. Hunter Deputy P.G.M.M.M. was unavoidably absent, owing to the severe illness of a near relative. On the removal of the cloth, the usual Loyal toasts were honoured, after which the following Mark toasts were given:—The Most Worshipful the Earl of Lathom G.M.M.M. of England, the Right Worshipful Lord Henniker D.G.M.M.M. of England, and the rest of the Grand Officers, the latter toast being responded to by Bro. The musical arrangements were conducted by Bro. Roland Rogers, Mus. Doc., and G. F. Felton P.G. Organist.

[The above report is somewhat ancient, but we have been requested to publish it.]

THE installation of the W.M. of this Lodge took place on Tuesday, 28th December, at the Masonic Hall, when Bro. B. W. Tilley S.W. was duly installed as W.M. for the coming year. THE installation meeting of this Lodge took place at the Huyshe Masonic Temple, Princes-place, Plymouth. After the accounts had been audited, it was announced that the Lodge had never been in a more satisfactory condition. The unanimously-elected W.M. P. G. L. Pearce was most impressively installed by Wor. Bro. John Russell Lord P.M. P.G.S.B., assisted by Wor. Bros. Byron Elliott W.M. and J. Rendle P.M. Secretary. After the installation, the Officers appointed and invested were—Wor. Bros. P. G. L. Pearce W.M., Byron Elliott I.P.M., Bros. J. Kinton Bond, B.A., B.Sc., S.W., R. A. Penrose J.W., J. R. Lord P.M. P.P.G.O.; Wor. Bros. J. Rendle P.M. Sec., G. Firks P.M., J. C. Fly Barter S.D. and Alonzo Rider rendered valuable assistance. A vote of thanks was given to Bro. The banquet was fixed for Friday, 7th January, to be held at Bro. C. Walters, Farley Hotel.

PRESENTATION IN DURHAM.

ON Thursday, 30th ult., an interesting ceremony took place at the residence of Bro. J. Fawcett, J.P., the occasion being the presentation of a beautifully illuminated address to that gentlemam on his relinquishing the office of Provincial Grand Master of the Province of Durham, a position which he had held for upwards of thirty-two years. The brethren deputed to make the presentation on behalf of the Province, and who were present, consisted of Bro. J. Wood P.P.G.W. Chairman of Committee (Newcastle), Rev. J. Cundill P.G.T. (Durham), M. Corbett P.S.G.D (Gateshead), W. H. Crookes P.G.S. (Sunderland), Robert Hudson P.G.D.C. (Sunderland), George Greenwell P.G.A.D.C. (Durham), W. Donkin P.G.P. (Durham), W. A. Malcolm P.P.G.P. (Durham), F. Maddison P.P.S.G.D. (Sunderland), W. Liddell P.M. (Sunderland), C. J. F. Fawcett P.P.S.G.W. (Durham), the Rev. W. Fawcett Past Grand Chaplain (Brancepeth), C. S. Lane P.J.G.D. (West Hartlepool), W. Bell Past Master 124 (Durham), and Bro. C. E. Barnes P.M. 1334 (Durham). Bro. Rev. J. Cundill P.G. Treasurer, was called upon by Bro. J. Wood to make the presentation, and in doing so referred to the excellent services rendered to Freemasonry by Bro. Fawcett, and to the proud position held by the Province of Durham in Masonic circles. Bro. Fawcett, in accepting the address, said it was with feelings of great regret that he had to relinquish the office of Provincial Grand Master of the Province of Durham, and was gratified to find that his efforts in connection with Freemasonry had met with approval, which was shown in the presentation of their very handsome address. The address, which is a magnificent specimen of art, was executed by Messrs. Marcus Ward and Co. of London. It was enclosed in a beautifully-carved massive oak frame, and is as follows:—

"To the Right Worshipful Bro. John Fawcett, J.P., Past Provincial Grand Master and Past Provincial Grand Superintendent of the Province of Durham.

"We, the Freemasons of the Province of Durham, on the occasion of your resigning the office of Provincial Grand Master, held by you for upwards of thirty-two years, respectfully beg you to accept this expression of our unfeigned regret and gratitude—of our regret for the loss of your valuable services; of our gratitude for the marked manner in which your lengthened and able administration has advanced and adorned our Order. The calm and wise judgment, gentlemanly courtesy, untiring and able energy, and unvarying impartiality and firmness exhibited by you in the discharge of your high and responsible office, deserve our warm thanks, and claim and have obtained our high admiration. We feel that the proud and influential position this Province now deservedly holds in the esteem of the Freemasons of England, a position far higher than any hitherto obtained by it, is in a great measure owing to you. That the Great Architect of the Universe may during your remaining years see fit to grant you all peace and happiness is our earnest prayer."

Besides the above inscription, the address was surmounted by Bro. Fawcett's coat of arms, and contains his portrait, a full list of the Lodges in the Province, with the date of creation, their Masters and Officers for the year, the names of each Chapter, and their Principals. After the toast of the Past Provincial Grand Master the brethren retired.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—On Tuesday, 4th January, at Bro. Smyth's, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston. Bros. Clark W.M., Dignam S.W., Smyth J.W., Edwards S.D., Carr J.D., Christian I.G., J. Lorkin Sec., P.M. Wallington Preceptor; also Bros. Dallas, Wardell, Brasted, and Forss. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes of last meeting were confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Brasted acting as candidate. The W.M. worked the first, second, third, and fourth sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Dignam was elected W.M. for next meeting.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.
The Original and only true.

HUNDREDS of Medical Practitioners testify to its marvellous efficacy in immediately relieving and rapidly curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Spasms, Colic, Whooping Cough, and all Nerve Pains. It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. It rapidly relieves pain, from whatever cause, soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases, and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.
Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, Lord Justice Mellish decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davenport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. See Times of July 24th, 1873. Bottles 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, 11s, and 20s. Sold by all Chemists.
TESTIMONIALS.—Head Quarter Staff, Cabul, May 31st, 1880. Mr. R. Freeman, Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of special service to me in alleviating the wearisome spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne. Yours faithfully, CHARLES W. OWEN, L.R.C.P. Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng., the Divisional Head Quarter Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul.
The Times, August 13th, 1877. From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army. Okoum, July 25th, 1877. The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor, owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected miraculous cures.

OUR SCHOOLS AND GRAND LODGE.

WE mentioned last week, quite incidentally, that we thought it would be as well if Grand Lodge contributed more liberally towards the support of our Girls' and Boys' Schools. We admitted that it was quite in the order of things that, as the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution was mainly the offspring of Grand Lodge, it was the unquestioned duty of the latter to extend towards it such support as it deemed necessary. There is, also, a further reason why the Benevolent should receive every possible pecuniary encouragement from Grand Lodge, viz., that by providing annuities for our aged and indigent brethren and their widows, it relieves, to a considerable extent, the pressure on the funds of the Lodge of Benevolence. But, while we most readily and unreservedly admit that the Benevolent is fully entitled to all the support it receives, we see no reason why Grand Lodge should not behave with something like a corresponding liberality to the other two Institutions. We noted, in passing, that in the year 1839, Grand Lodge compounded, as it were, for its previous contributions to each School, by agreeing to pay annually the sum of £150. Grand Chapter has followed this good example by an annual contribution to each of ten guineas. On the other hand, the Benevolent is in receipt from these sources together of no less than £950, namely, £800 from Grand Lodge, and £150 from Grand Chapter. In other words, this latter Institution enjoys an annuity which is about three times as much as the annuities enjoyed by the other two Charities. Let us now particularise the grants which have been made from time to time by Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter respectively to the Schools and the Benevolent.

The Royal Masonic Institution for Girls had received from Grand Lodge, up to the year 1838 inclusive, contributions amounting in the aggregate to £3,580. Our figures, be it remarked, are taken from an official source, namely, the "Freemasons' Calendar and Pocket Book for 1881." In 1839, as already pointed out, it had granted to it an annual contribution of £150, and this amount it still continues to receive, in the face of the two important facts, that the number of pupils is largely in excess of what it was in the year the grant was made, and that the funds at the disposal of Grand Lodge have also increased amazingly. In the year 1842, the sum of £500 was voted to the Fund for Repair of Building; and in 1854, a further £350 to the Building Fund. In 1856, a grant was made of £1,000. Thus in the last forty-two years the Girls' School has received from Grand Lodge £6,300, being the aggregate of the annual grants; £850 for the Building and Repair of Building Funds, and £1,000, making a total of £8,150, or an average of rather less than £200 per annum. From Grand Chapter it has received grants amounting to £2,300—namely, £500 in 1868, £500 in 1873, £500 in 1874, £500 (Consols) in 1878, and £300 in 1880, together with the annual vote of £10 10s, which, in the event of its having been continued for the same period, represents £441, thus raising the contributions of Grand Chapter to £2,741, and the total from both sources to £10,891. Including contributions before 1839, the Boys' School has had altogether £14,471.

The Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, up to the year 1838, had received from Grand Lodge contributions amounting in the aggregate to £3,533. In 1839 was voted the annual sum, still continued, of £150. This gives for the forty-two years £6,300, as in the case of the Girls' School. Other and special grants are as follow:—In 1853, £500 to Fund for Repair of Building; in 1854, £350 to Building Fund; and in 1856, £1,000 to ditto, or £1,850 towards Repair and Building Funds. The total from Grand Lodge for the forty-two years is, as in the case of the Girls 'School, £8,150, and with contributions before 1839, £11,683. From Grand Chapter it has received £2,800, namely, £1,000 in 1867 towards Building Fund; in 1873, £500; in 1874, £500; in 1878, £500 Consols; and in 1880, £300, together with the Annuity of Ten Guineas, amounting, for say forty-two years, to £441. This gives a grand total from both sources of £14,924. Thus Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter between them have given to our Boys' and Girls' Schools, from first to last, £29,395, viz.—Grand Lodge in all £23,413, and Grand Chapter £5,982.

The Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution was established in 1842, when Grand Lodge voted an annual Grant of £400. In 1849 was added the Widow's Fund, and Grand Lodge voted £100 per annum. The latter was further increased by £100 per annum in 1855, and by another £100 in 1858, making a total to Female Fund of £300 per annum. In 1858 the Male Fund received a further Grant of £100 per annum, making a total of £500 per annum, or for the two funds together, £800. The aggregate of these several Annuities for the periods over which they have been granted, amount to £25,300, or an average per annum of as nearly as possible £666. Its special Grants have been as follow: £500 to Fund for Repair of Building in 1850, when the Masonic Asylum, Croydon, and the Benevolent Institution were amalgamated, and in 1854, £350 to Building Fund, making together £850; in 1856, £1,000 and £500 to Widows' Fund, or together, £1,500, making a total from Grand Lodge of £27,650. In 1847, Grand Chapter voted £100 per annum, which in 1849 was increased by £35 to Widows' Fund, and by a further £15 to same Fund in 1856. These several annuities, amounting now, as in 1856, to £150, have yielded altogether £3,545. Its special grants have been—in 1868, £500 and £500 to Widows' Fund; in 1873, £500; in 1874, £500; in 1878, £500 (Consols), and £500 (Consols) to Widows' Fund; and in 1880, £300; in all £3,300, making a total of £8,845. Putting Grand Lodge's and Grand Chapter's contributions together, we find they amount to £34,495, or £5,100 more than the Schools have received altogether. Having regard to the number of years which each Institution has existed, we find that the Girls' School, founded in 1788, has received from Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter an average per annum of over £157. The Boys' School, founded in 1798, has received £182 per annum; and the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, founded in 1842, over £907 per annum. Now, as we said last week, we do not wish that Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter should apportion its annual grants equally among all three Charities. We fully recognise that its own offspring, the Benevolent, of which it has so much reason to be proud, should receive the largest amount of contribution. But so vast a disproportion between it and the Schools should not be continued any longer. There should be the same liberality of spirit displayed towards all three Institutions, and if Grand Lodge converted its annual £150 to each School into £500, and Grand Chapter its annual ten guineas to each into £50, the Schools would benefit very materially, while the funds of Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter would scarcely feel the additional burdens thus cast upon them. We trust the subject will be taken up and pressed upon the notice of those two bodies. We feel sure they only need the offer of a favourable opportunity in order to at once do a most graceful and serviceable act most gracefully.

THE ELIGIBILITY OF CANDIDATES FOR THE MASONIC SCHOOLS.

WITHIN the last few months we have deemed it our duty to lay most forcibly before the Masonic world certain facts connected with the qualification of candidates for admission into our Boys' School. We attach no special blame to the Committee who pass the petitions, and may be said to do all that the laws require of them; but it is very certain that something is wrong, or it would have been impossible for such scandals to have occurred as that to which we drew attention in October, and which, on Monday last, was submitted to the Quarterly General Court of the Boys' School for final decision. What that decision would have been, we should have imagined, was incapable of question; but the action of some of the brethren who were present at the General Committee Meeting of the Institution held the previous Saturday, and of the members of the House Committee who were instructed to inquire into the merits of the case, proved otherwise, and the matter resolved itself into one on which the general body of the subscribers were called upon to adjudicate. Although we imagine most of our readers are well acquainted with the case in question, it may be as well to again lay the facts briefly before them before we proceed further.

On the 16th of November 1878, Brother Francis Collingwood died, leaving four children, one of whom has since come of age, while another has married. During the year ensuing the decease of Bro. Collingwood, a petition was presented to the Boys' School on behalf of one of his sons—Arthur Harvey Collingwood. The petition having been approved, the lad was placed on the ballot paper for the April election of 1880, and on that occasion 743 votes were recorded on his behalf. In the early part of the year, viz., in February 1880, letters of administration were granted to the widow of Bro. Collingwood, who proved the estate of her deceased husband as being under £9000. Such being the case, we pointed out that some explanation was due to the subscribers of the Boys' School before the lad was admitted, it being absurd to imagine that the benefits of the Institutions were ever intended for the assistance of families in possession of anything like the income it was fair to assume the Collingwoods enjoyed. In support of this theory we have only to refer to the action taken at the last October Quarterly Court, when the House Committee was instructed to inquire into the facts of the case, and report thereon to the Court to be held on the 10th inst. That report, and a recommendation based on it, were submitted to the General Committee, on Saturday, 1st inst., and it is to that report and recommendation we will now give consideration. As we have said, the estate of Bro. Collingwood was proved as being under £9000, but, as is common in such cases, the first declaration has been amended, and to-day we are in possession of information from which we gather, that Mrs. Collingwood has, in her own right, property of the value of £1927, that is, £1170 in cash, and £757 due on bills current. In addition to this, a sum of £2127 stands invested, one-half of which amount is for the benefit of the lad Arthur Harvey Collingwood, on whose behalf the petition was presented to the Boys' School. The interest thereon is to be applied during his minority to pay for his education and maintenance, and the principal sum to revert to him on his coming of age. The other half is to be applied in like manner for the benefit of another child, still under age. It will thus be seen that the mother and these two children have between them a capital sum of £4054, and that without taking into consideration the amount that has been paid to the other children who, having attained their majority, were entitled to their respective shares of the testator's property, and who, we consider, have as much right to be called on to contribute to their mother's assistance as have the generously disposed of the Masonic Craft.

We should have imagined that the House Committee, having possessed themselves of this information, would have unanimously advised that the lad be disqualified, but such was not the case; they even recommended the opposite, and suggested that he be admitted. The reason for this step we are at a loss to comprehend, unless they consider themselves in a measure pledged to uphold what had already been done, or were desirous of obtaining the opinion of the general body of the subscribers on the subject, as a test question between themselves and the constituency they represent. The General Committee of the Institution declined to endorse the recommendation of the House Committee, and thus the question went before the subscribers, with the result that, after a most animated discussion, in which opinions were strongly expressed against the eligibility of the candidate, it was deemed prudent, by Bro. Girling, who had charge of the case, to decline, on behalf of the lad, any benefits the School might be able to offer. The solution of the difficulty, as thus obtained, was satisfactory in one way, but most objectionable in another, as the subject of the eligibility of such candidates is virtually still an open question; whereas, had Bro. Girling allowed the vote to be taken on the merits of the case, it would have been decided authoritatively once and for all. By this we do not intend to convey that there was any doubt as to the result—Bro. Girling saw that, before he so contemptuously renounced the benefits he and others had strenuously sought for—but now the record stands that the lad's name was erased from the list of successful candidates, after his friends had announced their withdrawal, on his behalf, of all their claims; and it may be urged on some future occasion that this course was adopted, not from the fact of his ineligibility, but because his friends thought fit to withdraw him, and that it was deemed necessary for the meeting to endorse the decision by vote as a mere matter of form. We trust such a rendering of the records of last Monday's meeting will never occur, or indeed that the benefits of our Schools will never again be sought on behalf of a child so unfitted to receive them as young Collingwood. Taking into consideration the termination of this most unpleasant affair, we shall refrain from further commenting on the conduct of the family who have endeavoured to divert the outcome of Masonic benevolence to a wrong use; but we should like to know how they reconcile the facts of the case with the statement contained in the ballot papers, to the effect that four children were dependent on the widow, when in reality two were over the age of twenty-one years, and all are provided for out of the proceeds of their late father's estate. The question whether the possession of property will, in future, debar persons from applying to the Masonic Schools for relief is one which must be settled ere long; and if it be found necessary to alter the laws in any respect, the sooner the change is commenced the better it will be. In these remarks we have not taken any notice of the arguments used in favour of the admission of the lad—and there were some brethren who spoke strongly on the subject—preferring to leave the discussion of them to some future occasion, when we hope all will be able to approach the question at issue on its merits, without any feeling on the part of Collingwood's supporters that a "spirit of animosity" is urging us to do what we deem to be our duty to the Masonic Brotherhood and the Charities it supports.

THE GRILL ROOM AT THE ANGEL, ISLINGTON.

SO long as London remains the huge metropolis it is, so long will there be in its different districts certain central points of attraction, to which particular lines of traffic, both of foot passengers and vehicles, will converge. There is, perhaps, between the tendency of the present generation towards the removal of old land-marks, and the exigencies of a hugely overgrown city, which is always growing still more huge, a possibility that the old buildings which mark these different centres will give place to new ones, or be improved off the face of the earth, leaving nothing but their names behind. But however changed they may be in appearance, the centres were originally selected with so much judgment, that they bid fair to remain always. There is no longer a Flower-pot in Bishopsgate Street, but the ground on which it stood is still a starting-point for the traffic between the Northern and North-Eastern suburbs and the East of the City. Temple Bar has gone the way of other City gates, and the memorial which marks the western limit of the Lord Mayor's jurisdiction may follow in its footsteps, but the boundary will always remain. The Horns, Kennington, the Royal Oak, Westbourne Park, and the Mother Redcap, may cease to exist, yet the centres will be retained, as has been that of Charing Cross and others that might be named. Chalk Farm, with its associations of the duello, has passed away, but it remains in all its pristine glory of a land-mark to the inhabitants of North-Western London. And so it will be with the Angel, Islington, whither converges and whence diverges pretty well all the lines of vehicular traffic in London. You can reach the Angel from anywhere, and conversely you can reach anywhere from the Angel. On the busier nights of the week all the year, and especially at particular seasons, the neighbourhood offers a spectacle that is well worth seeing, with its numerous omnibuses and tram-cars, cabs, carriages, wagons, carts, and other vehicles incessantly passing to and fro, and its overcrowded pavements, while the Angel itself, as the centre of all this traffic, is perhaps the greatest sight of all. All its compartments are thronged with people anxious to obtain the much-needed refreshment of food or drink. The country cousin who makes this famous hostelry his head-quarters when visiting London, is sure to fare well. Indeed, the regular and the casual customer, the occasional passer-by, as well as the habitué, all find the accommodation they need is kept upon the largest and most liberal scale, and especially since our worthy Bro. Baker has become the proprietor. It was an hotel and tavern before he became its master, and an hotel and tavern it still remains under his management.

But Bro. Baker never allows the grass to grow under his feet. No sooner was he installed in the proprietorship than he set to work introducing a series of changes, and as all these changes have been carried out on a uniform and comprehensive plan, it is needless to say that the Angel of to-day is a very different kind of place from the Angel of a short time back. The congestion of buildings from which London especially, and all but its remoter suburbs suffer, is such that the expansion or outward growth of an habitable dwelling is out of the question. But it often happens that by a greater economy of space, and a most cunning utilisation of the existing premises, a greater amount of accommodation can be obtained. Other improvements are also found possible. There is a more numerous body of attendants, the quality of the liquors is improved, the viands are better dressed, the tariff of charges is amended, so as to meet the requirements of all classes of customers; while a general air of neatness and elegance pervades the whole of the establishment. All this has happened at the Angel since Bro. Baker came to preside over its fortunes, and those of our readers who live in, or have occasion to pass through, the neighbourhood have only to step within its hospitable gates in order to judge for themselves of the correctness of our statement. If, however, they are minded to do this thoroughly, they should do it when they have an hour to spare, and the desire is upon them to satisfy the cravings of hunger. Let them enter the new Grill Room, on which Bro. Baker must have expended a very considerable sum of money. No matter what day or what time of the day they may happen to select, they will find an ample and varied bill of fare, of excellent quality, and promptly as well as admirably served. The beverages they may call for are in keeping as regards quality, and the charges are very moderate. We have ourselves been in for the purpose of testing the quality and price of the provisions which are served to customers in this compartment, so that we are speaking from personal experience when we say that in no house in London of a similar kind can a better served luncheon, dinner, or supper be had at a more moderate charge than in the new grill room of the Angel, Islington, with Bro. Baker as its presiding deity. But strong as are the recommendations we have just stated, something remains to be said of the room itself, its fittings, and appointments. We have already remarked casually that Bro. Baker must have expended a very large sum of money on the room, and we venture to say he has spent it both wisely and well. It is a perfect picture of comfort—a commodious apartment, lofty and well proportioned, thoroughly well ventilated, and containing a sufficient number of conveniently arranged tables to allow of about fifty gentlemen lunching or dining together without any crowding whatever. Each table is well furnished with the usual appointments in the shape of table linen, cutlery, glass, &c. &c. The chairs are comfortable, and the attendance prompt. Moreover, the room is as well lighted as it is ventilated, while the large silver grill, with its attendant chef in appropriate costume and surrounded by the necessary paraphernalia, is in a room apart, fitted for grilling, so that though the pleasant operation of preparing the chop or steak for table may be witnessed through the handsome glass partition which separates the two apartments, the appetite is not spoiled by the smell of the cookery. So far we have spoken of the conveniences and proportions of the rooms. We must add a few words as to the artistic elegance of its decorations. The walls are faced with Minton's tiles, on which, in twelve compartments, are depicted as many episodes illustrating the story of the Maid of Islington, as handed down to us in the well known ballad of the name. The groundwork on which these twelve panels or compartments are represented, is fitted with a mass of beautiful tracery, in the tone and colours of which the artist has been most successful. The ceiling also is most beautifully decorated, by means of a patent process, in perfect harmony with the walls. Indeed, it is hardly possible to do full justice in words to the taste exhibited in the conception of the decorations and the elegance with which they have been carried out. London can now boast of many restaurants and similar establishments, in which it would be difficult to say whether of the two is the more praiseworthy, the exceeding elegance of the decorations, or the comfort and convenience of the appointments and fittings; and in which, at the same time, the utmost pains are taken to meet the varied and often capricious tastes of the many-headed public, by purveying the best of food, both solid and fluid, at a moderate tariff. In the category of these establishments must now be included the Angel Inn, Islington, with its elegant and commodious new Grill Room.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Rheumatism and Rheumatic Gout are the most dreaded of all diseases, because their victims know that they are safe at no season, and at no age secure. Holloway's Ointment, after fomentation of the painful parts, gives greater relief than any other application; but it must be diligently used to obtain this desirable result. It has been highly commended by rheumatic subjects of all ages and of both sexes, for rendering their attack less frequent and less vigorous, and for repressing the sour perspiratic ns and soothing the nerves. In many cases, Holloway's Ointment and Pills have proved the greatest blessings in removing Rheumatism and Rheumatic Gout which had assailed persons previously and in the prime of life.

It was almost a foregone conclusion that the motion of Bro. Raynham W. Stewart to the effect that an honorarium of £200 should be granted out of the funds of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys to its able and indefatigable Secretary, Bro. Binckes, for his valued services during the last twenty years, should be carried with acclamation. We have said that to indulge in over-praise of any one is distasteful, as, in very truth, it is unworthy of a true Freemason. But services such as Bro. Binckes has rendered to our Boys' School are calculated to evoke expressions of enthusiasm as well as of sympathy and praise, and even those who are acquainted with the particulars of what he has done, may be pardoned if, in his case, they exceed the ordinary limits of commendation. Bro. Binckes, in the course of his Secretaryship, has been the principal means of diverting into the coffers of the Masonic Boys' School upwards of £192,000—that is, on an average, very little short of £10,000 per annum. The stock sold towards the erection of the buildings has been more than replaced, and where there were under a hundred pupils when he entered upon his duties, there are now considerably over two hundred to be fed, clothed, and educated at the expense of the Craft. Such services as these are invaluable; no just recognition is possible. But a graceful vote, such as was passed on Monday at the Quarterly Court, may be taken as indicative of the sense entertained by the whole English Craft of Bro. Binckes's zeal and labours during the last twenty years. In this sense it is that we congratulate him on the just tribute of honour and respect so recently paid him by the governing bodies of the Boys' School.

We have, it seems, slightly over-estimated the length of time during which Bro. Binckes has been connected with the Boys' School. He was elected in June 1861, and the Anniversary Festival for that year, which yielded about £1640, was held in the March preceding. Still, we take it that from 1861 to 1880, both inclusive, the work done is virtually Bro. Binckes's. What that has been will be best shown by the following figures. In the five years to 1865 inclusive the receipts amounted to £31,478; during 1866-70 to £43,807; 1871-5 to £52,756; and from 1876 to 1880 to £64,276. The last period represents the amount of donations and subscriptions only! Taking the whole period the receipts are £192,317. No further justification of Monday's vote is necessary.

Monday's Quarterly Court of the Boys' School was, according to all accounts, a bear-garden affair. The most unparliamentary expressions were freely interchanged, and the kindly tact of the Chairman was somewhat severely taxed in order to maintain decorum. One brother—we believe it was Bro. Girling—went so far as to say, in effect, that he had qualified as Vice-President with a view, in the event of his prior decease, to his widow and children offering themselves as candidates for the benefits conferred by our Institutions. If this is a correct version of Bro. Girling's ideas on the subject, he has evidently confounded Freemasonry with a common Benefit Society.

The first meeting of the Board of Stewards for the approaching Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution was held yesterday (Friday). We understand that Bro. Terry, the energetic Secretary, has secured the names of 258 brethren to act as Stewards, and he hopes that this large number will be considerably augmented before the day of the Festival arrives.

The election meeting of the St. Michael's Lodge, No. 211, was held on Tuesday evening, at the Albion, Aldersgate-street. Bro. W. Radcliffe W.M. occupied the chair, and there was, as is usual on these occasions, a full attendance of members. We have great pleasure in announcing that Bro. Dr. John Waters S.W. was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing year, and that Bro. Charles Greenwood G.S.B. was re-elected Treasurer. It was resolved that a Past Master's jewel should be given to the retiring Master, Bro. Radcliffe, in recognition of his able services during the year which is now on the eve of closing.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

ST. JAMES'S UNION LODGE, NO. 180.

THE installation meeting was held on the 11th inst., at the Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen-street. Bro. E. Farwig P.M. in the absence of the W.M. occupied the chair, Bros. C. J. Wade S.W., Fletcher J.W., Robinson P.M. Treas., W. C. Parsons P.M. Sec., Wood P.M. S.D., Baker J.D., Maxted I.G.; P.M.'s L. Herf, Stonor, Cameron, Pillin. The Lodge was formally opened, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Sykes answered the usual questions in a satisfactory manner and was raised by the acting W.M. Each Officer showed himself capable of performing his duties. The report of the Audit Committee was read; it showed the Lodge was in a flourishing state. The balance in hand for the Benevolent Fund was £171 7s 11d. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. C. J. Wade S.W. and W.M. elect was presented and duly installed into the chair by Bro. E. Farwig. There were 18 W.M.'s and P.M.'s present. On the readmission of the brethren, the W.M. was regularly saluted, and he appointed and invested his Officers:—Bros. Stonor P.M. as I.P.M., Fletcher S.W., Wood J.W., J. Miles Treasurer, W. C. Parsons P.M. Sec., W. H. Baker S.D., Maxted J.D. Chester I.G., E. Farwig P.M. D.C., L. Herf P.M., W. S. Denne A.W.S., Gilbert Prov. G.T. Middlesex Tyler. The selection made by the W.M. seemed eminently satisfactory to the Lodge. Bro. Levitt was elected a country member. A letter was read from the I.P.M. regretting his inability to be present. The widow of a deceased brother was relieved, the sum of £10 being voted from the Lodge Benevolent fund. Bro. E. Farwig P.M. stated he was pleased to say he would represent the Lodge as Steward at the Annual Festival for Boys, and Bro. Miles Treas. proposed the sum of £10 10s be placed on his list. This proposition was carried, and then Lodge was closed. The brethren adjourned to the Crown room, where a sumptuous banquet and dessert was provided by Bro. A. Best, served by Bro. Dawkins. Grace having been sung, the W.M., in genial terms, proposed the toast of the Queen and the Craft. The National Anthem was then given, Miss Winifred Leigh singing the solo verses. The toast of H.R.H. The M.W. G.M. The Prince of Wales followed, and then the Pro G.M. and the R.W. the Deputy G.M. the Earl of Lathom were honoured, the W.M. regretting there were no Grand Officers present to respond. After a song by Bro. Arthur Thomas, Bro. Stonor P.M. rose. The W.M. had passed the gavel to him. He should commence his remarks by saying how creditably Bro. Wade had performed every duty required of him in the several offices he had held. These duties had been so admirably fulfilled that the brethren were warranted in electing him W.M., and he (Bro. Stonor) could predict that under his auspices a good and prosperous year would result. Miss Winifred Leigh here favoured the brethren with a song, in which she was accompanied by Bro. Kift. The W.M., in reply, had to thank the brethren for the reception they had given him. the words of the song they had just listened to—"When the heart is young"—were appropriate. When he was installed he had remarked that he would be proud to be Master of a Lodge; he had attained that position, thanks to the confidence the members reposed in him. He could assure them that the same way in which he had filled the minor offices, so he hoped to fill the exalted position of W.M. He fully appreciated the unanimous vote by which the brethren had placed him in the chair—he would strive to do the work to their satisfaction, and when he vacated it, he hoped it would be with the same good feeling as now pervaded the Lodge. The W.M. next proposed the health of the Visitors, and called on Bros. Sir Edward Lee No. 833, Baker 188, Thomas and Docker. After these brethren had suitably acknowledged the compliment, the W.M. proposed the health of the Installing Master Bro. Farwig. Those who had the pleasure of seeing him take the chair and raise the candidate, and afterwards instal the Worshipful Master, must have been gratified. Bro. Farwig was well known at Lodges of Instruction. He (the Worshipful Master) had to thank him for the knowledge he had acquired, which had enabled him to perform the duties of the chair. Without further remarks he would call on the brethren to drink the toast. Bros. Arthur Thomas and Cantle here sang, "The Moon hath raised her Lamp;" and then Bro. Farwig P.M., in eloquent terms, responded. The Past Masters were next honoured, special mention being made of the zeal displayed by them, the W.M. remarking that without them the Lodge could not carry on its duties. Bro. Miles, who had that evening been invested with the collar of Treasurer, was the oldest member of the Lodge, and had done good service. All knew the qualifications of the worthy Secretary, Bro. Parsons. Other of the Past Masters have been well tried, and during his year of office he was sure he could look to them for assistance if he required it. Bro. Pillon responded to this toast, and he was followed by several others. The Wardens and Junior Officers were not overlooked, the W.M. expressing his confidence in the ability each would display for the advantage of the Lodge and its members. In due course the Tyler gave the parting toast. Among the Visitors were Bros. Digby P.M. 933, R. Baker W.M. 188, J. E. Shand W.M. 1563, W. Hammond W.M. 1765, J. I. Cantle P.M. 1257, Lear Drew P.M. 157, Dawes 619, Donald 205, Birdseye P.M. 715, A. Godfrey 193, Sir Edward Lee 833, W. Joyce, Roberts 861, Cockshott 1257, Wandover 1491, E. LODGE OF HARMONY, No. 309.

THE ceremony of installing the W.M. of this Lodge for the ensuing year took place at the Red Lion Hotel, Fareham, on Thursday evening, 6th inst. The choice of the Lodge had fallen unanimously upon Bro. the Rev. A. Arthur Headley P.G. Chaplain Hants and Isle of Wight, who, during the previous year, had filled the office of S.W. The ceremony of installation was performed, according to ancient custom, by Bro. Arthur R. Holbrook, the retiring W.M., and at the conclusion the Officers for the year ensuing were appointed and invested in the following order:—Bros. A. R. Holbrook I.P.M., J. R. Hayman W.M. 257 S.W., Ernest Hall J.W., Rev. A. C. Hervey Chaplain and J.D., J. B. Goldsmith P.M. Treas., W. G. Heath Secretary, E. Goldsmith S.D., J. W. Gieve I.G., T. J. Hooper D.C., D. G. Gilmour and W. A. Hill Stewards, R. Eames Tyler. Before the ceremony, Bro. Holbrook presented to the Hon. Sec. (Bro. Heath), in the name of the Lodge, a very handsome jewel, in recognition of the ability with which he had fulfilled his duty as Hon. Secretary to the Lodge for many years. It was resolved, on the motion of Bro. J. Taylor P.M., that the thanks of the Lodge, together with a P.M.'s jewel, be presented to Bro. A. R. Holbrook, the retiring W.M., for the manner in which he had carried out his duties during the year and the ceremony of installation that evening. After the business the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet, provided by the Misses White.

LA TOLERANCE LODGE, No. 538.

THE installation meeting was held on the 6th inst., at the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street. Bros. T. W. Cooper W.M., E. Child S.W., E. Humphreys J.W., J. Kench G.P. Treasurer, J. B. Sly P.M. Secretary, Swears S.D., J. Skinner J.D., Bowman I.G., M. Powis Bale Organist; P.M.'s J. Quitman, Wolters, Langdon, and C. Burmeister. The Lodge was opened and the minutes were confirmed. Bro. Schlaepper was passed to the second degree. A ballot was taken for Mr. W. C. Burt, as a candidate for initiation. It was unanimous in his favour, and he was duly initiated into the mysteries of the Order. Both ceremonies were perfectly and impressively rendered by the W.M. Bro. Pfister, of the Burgoyne Lodge, was elected a joining member. The report of the Audit Committee was read and adopted; it showed the Lodge was in a flourishing state. A board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. E. Child S.W. and W.M. elect was presented and duly installed into the chair by Bro. James Kench P.M. G.P. At the conclusion of the ceremony Bro. Kench was warmly congratulated by the brethren and visitors. After the customary salutations, the W.M. appointed and invested his Officers—T. W. Cooper I.P.M., E. Humphreys S.W., Skinner J.W., J. Kench G.P. Treasurer, J. B. Sly P.M. Secretary, Bauman S.D., Palmer J.D., Langdon I.G., Elvin D.C., Bale Organist, Shott W.S., Carl Quitman S.S., and Church Tyler. The W.M., in the name of the Lodge, presented the I.P.M., Bro. T. W. Cooper, with an elegant jewel, with suitable inscription, for the able and efficient manner in which he had discharged the duties of Master during his year of office, and in token of the regard and esteem in which he was held by the members. The W.M., in presenting the jewel, hoped Bro. Cooper might live for many years to wear it, as a Past Master of the Lodge. After Bro. Cooper had acknowledged and thanked the brethren for their valuable gift, Lodge was closed. The banquet was admirably served by Bro. Alfred Best, and the brethren did ample justice to the good things provided. On the removal of the cloth, the Loyal toasts were given, and the brethren paid them full honour. With that of the Grand Officers of the Grand Lodge of England, the W.M. coupled the name of a Past Master of the Lodge, who is Grand Pursuivant of the year. The Lodge was also honoured with the presence of a visitor, Bro. Wilson P.G.P., whom the members were all pleased to see among them. Bros. Kench and Wilson responded. After a song by Bro. Bale, who was ably accompanied by Bro. Seymour Smith, Bro. Cooper I.P.M., with great pleasure, rose to propose the health of the W.M. Bro. Child had worked in every office: he had now attained the proud position of Master, and though he had as yet presided over them but a very short time, the brethren had seen his capacity. The members would, he was sure, support him during his year of office as they had the brother who had preceded him. After Bro. Seymour Smith had favoured the brethren with his ever popular song, "Mrs. Brown's Dinner Party," the W.M. replied. He had to return his heartfelt thanks for the manner in which his health had been proposed. His first feeling was one of gratitude to them for electing him as W.M. He was sure the officers he had selected would support him, and that he should be able to carry out the duties of the Lodge. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors. They had many distinguished brethren who had honoured them by their presence; the members were pleased to see them all. However, many there would miss one familiar face; one who had frequently visited them; one whose genial face was always welcome; the brother he referred to had been called away by death,—their late respected Bro. Davis. May his soul rest in peace! However, he would pass from this mournful theme, and ask Bros. Wilson, Stamwitz, Cooper, and Levy to respond. The toast received full honours, and the several brethren mentioned heartily acknowled the kind reception that had been accorded them. The next toast was the health of the Immediate and other Past Masters. No better members than were to be found among that body could any Lodge possess. After a song by Bro. Lyon, Bro. Cooper responded. He felt it most pleasurable to join the ranks of the Past Masters of such a Lodge. Personally he did not think the new W.M. required much assistance; but should he at any time require them, the services of any of the P.M.'s were at his disposal. He might remark incidentally that the jewel they had presented to him (Bro. Cooper) would always be prized, and, he hoped, in due course would be handed down to his children. He trusted he might be spared to wear it with them many years. The W.M. in proposing the toast of the Treasurer and Secretary, Bros. Kench and Sly, remarked that these worthy brethren had already been included with the Past Masters. In their individual capacities, no better working officers could be found; indeed, the Lodge might feel itself honoured by their acceptance of office. In responding, Bro. Kench said Bro. Quitman had signified his intention to act as Steward for the Boys' School; he trusted the brethren would support him so that the Lodge might not be ashamed of the amount subscribed. The W.M. in proposing the toast of the Officers said no better workers could be found than Bros. Humphreys and Skinner the S.W. and J.W. They, as well as the Juniors, knew their duties thoroughly; he hoped each would eventually occupy the chair. The toast was responded to, and Bro. Langdon Dawke had great pleasure in informing the brethren that £5 5s, from the Lodge of Instruction, would be placed on the list of Bros. Kench and Quitman, joint Stewards. The Tyler's toast was given, and the brethren separated after having spent a most harmonious and enjoyable evening The Visitors were—Bros. W. Wilson P.G.P., G. L. Lyons 1765, R. F. Gunnell 1441, H. J. Dean 45, E. Stamwitz P.M. 435, S. Cooper W.M. 1637, Seymour Smith 742, Verity, M. C. George 946, H. M. Levy P.M. 188.

The performers were Bros. J. Hele, Mus. Bac., John Fly, J. Firks, J. Rendle, W. S. Hearder, Barter, Taylor, A. J. Rider, E. S. Lancaster, G. Brown. No notice of a meeting of this Lodge would be complete without allusion to Bros. Lord and Rendle—the Treasurer and Secretary—one looking after the finances, and the other the musical comforts; for the St. John's is the musical Lodge of Devon. The Worshipful Master during the evening presented a valuable Past Master's jewel to the I.P.M., engraved as follows:—"Presented to W. Bro. B. R. P. Elliott by the brethren of Lodge 1247, to mark their appreciation of his zeal during his Mastership. A.L. 5880." The thanks of the Lodge were given to Bro. and Mrs. Walter for their care for the comfort of the brethren. The V.W. Bro. Curtois called the attention of the brethren to the concert in aid of the Devon Masonic Educational Fund, for Wednesday, 26th January, when the brethren will, by the especial dispensation of the Prov. Grand Master, appear in Masonic clothing.

Orde-Powlett. A candidate for Freemasonry was proposed, and Lodge was closed. The brethren afterwards met at supper, and a most harmonious evening was spent.

YARBOROUGH LODGE, No. 554.

THE annual festival of this Lodge was celebrated on the 6th inst., at Bro. Alfred Walter's hostelry, the Green Dragon, Stepney, with the greatest eclat—close upon 100 brethren of all ranks joining in making it the most successful installation meeting on record. Bro. J. S. Taylor P.M. W.M. opened the Lodge at an early hour in the afternoon, for although an emergency meeting had judiciously lessened the business to be transacted, an initiation being expected rendered this step advisable. Bro. Ware was well supported by his Officers Bros. E. W. Walter S.W. and W.M. elect, Tait J.W., W. Cross S.D., Lineker J.D., J. Taylor I.G., J. R. Shingfield W.S., and a strong muster of Past Masters, members, and visitors. Lodge having been opened, the minutes of the previous and an emergency meeting were duly confirmed. The ballot was taken for a joining member, Bro. A. F. Pusey 1602, who was unanimously elected. The ballot was also taken for the admission of a candidate for Freemasonry which likewise proved favourable. The ceremony of installing Bro. Edward Wrainch Walter into the chair of K.S. was next proceeded with, Bro. J. G. Stevens Past Master and Treasurer acting as Installing Master. Bro. T. J. Barnes P.M. officiated as D.C. in his usual courteous manner, Bro. J. J. Berry P.M. acted as I.G., and Bros. P.M. Wynne and Kindred acted as Senior and Junior Wardens, on the retirement of all below the rank of Installed Master. On the reassembling of the brethren according to rank, Bro. E. W. Walter was proclaimed W.M. of the Yarborough Lodge and saluted, this part of the ceremony being most effectively performed, Bro. Barnes marshalling the brethren to the lively strains from the instrument under the care of Bro. P.M. Seddon, Organist. The appointment and investiture of Officers was as follows:—Bros. Tait S.W., J. G. Stevens P.M. Treasurer (re-appointed), G. W. Verry P.M. Secretary (re-appointed), Lineker S.D., John Taylor J.D., J. R. Shingfield I.G., Hunt D.C., Seddon P.M. Organist (re-appointed), J. Speight Tyler (re-elected). Bro. Jennings was named as W.S., but was not able to be present. A word of praise is due to the W.M. for the very able manner in which he gave each Officer a resumé of the duties he would be required to discharge in the Lodge. The charges were next delivered to the W.M., the Wardens, and the brethren, by Bro. Stevens, in his usually effective and deliberate manner, and listened to with the utmost attention by nearly one hundred brethren. At its conclusion the silence gave place to a burst of well-merited applause as Bro. Stevens resumed his seat among his brother P.M.'s, of whom it was gratifying to see that all of that body now alive were present, to the number of one dozen. The pleasurable duty of presenting, in the name of the Lodge, a P.M. jewel to Bro. J. S. Taylor I.P.M. was next performed, and the recipient having expressed his high appreciation of this mark of esteem from the brethren, other business matters were disposed of, and Lodge was closed with prayer, and adjourned. The cordiality and harmony of this great gathering cannot fail to make this meeting memorable in the annals of the Lodge, as being characterised by real Masonic feeling, combined with the excellent working for which the Yarborough Lodge is famous. In connection with this we may mention, that the Worshipful Master and nearly all the Officers attend at the Lodge of Instruction, held on Tuesday evenings, of which Bro. J. J. Berry P.M. is the Preceptor. On repairing to the new Salle à manger the brethren found Bro. A. Walter engaged in arranging a problem of some difficulty. On the authority of Cocker, two into one won't go, but our worthy host having set the tables for about four score, found himself called upon, at the last moment, to seat an additional twenty. Thanks, however, to the resources of Bro. Host, the tact of the Past Masters, and the self-denial of two of the Junior Officers, all the guests were seated. Grace was said by Bro. Shaboe, and ample justice was done to a choice and varied menu, which was served under Bro. Walter's superintendence. After the banquet, the usual Loyal and Craft toasts were given, and met with a hearty response. In toasting the W.M., Bro. J. S. Taylor said, the brethren were all well aware for what purpose he held the gavel in his hand, for the first time as their I.P.M., and that it was his duty and privilege to propose the health of their W.M. They must all feel they were most fortunate in the choice of a W.M. He had worked through all grades from I.G., and he (Bro. Taylor) wished him every success. He had started fairly, had been honoured by a large attendance that evening, and he hoped when Bro. Walter left the chair he would have as large, or even a larger number of brethren to pay him and the Lodge a compliment. Bro. Walter here obliged by a capital rendering of the "Midshipmite." The W.M. then thanked the I.P.M. and brethen for the cordial manner in which the toast had been given and received. He assured them he had long aspired to work hard for the proud position he had just gained, and would strive to do all in his power to render his year of office a successful and satifactory one to the brethren. Bro. Walter concluded by thanking Bro. P.M. Stevens for the kind manner in which he had installed him that evening. After a song from Bro. P.M. Berry, Bro. Walter, in toasting the Past Masters, said they made a grand and imposing array. He was proud to say every P.M. living was present, from Bros. Wynn, Kindred, and Middleton. He esteemed it a very great honour to be supported by so many P.M.'s, all of whom had rendered whatever service the W.M. and the Lodge had required. Bro. P.M. J. H. Thorn sang the favourite song, "The Wolf," accompanied by Bro. Seddon, in his most able manner. After replies from several of the Past Masters, the Visitors were honoured, Bro. Sparks singing "The Pilgrim of Love" with much effect. This toast, the W.M. said, was a very important one indeed. He considered the Lodge was greatly honoured by the large number of brethren who had attended that evening. The toast was most heartily received, and after a song from Bro. Serjeant, Bro. P.M. Godwin responded for the toast. Bro. Greenwood favoured the brethren with a comical rendering of "The Merry Little Fat Grey Man." Introducing the Masonic Charities, the W.M. said he would abstain from saying much about them, as he was going to call upon Bros. G. Hollington and J. G. Stevens to speak fully upon the merits and claims of the three great Masonic Institutions. Bro. G. Hollington W.M. of the Doric Lodge was going to act as Steward for the Yarborough and Doric Lodges, Bro. P.M. Stevens was also going up again for the Old People. Bro. Hollington being called on to respond to the toast, said he thought the reply had better come from Bro. Stevens, who had gained much experience. Bro. Stevens thus appealed to, gave the brethren an exhaustive account of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, finishing by making a serious claim upon the brethren of the Yarborough Lodge for their support, and with much chivalrous feeling he powerfully solicited on behalf of Bro. Hollington's list. The Lodge had granted a ten guinea donation previously. The toast of the Officers was next honoured, and responded to. The hour waxing late, the Tyler was summoned, and the final toast given. Great credit is due to Bro. Walter for making the brethren so comfortable, and a word of praise is due to Bros. J. Taylor J.D. and J. R. Shingfield I.G. for their untiring exertions as Stewards throughout the evening to minister to the wants of the brethren and visitors. A more happy and pleasant evening could hardly have been spent, while Bro. Seddon's exertions added much to the general enjoyment. In the absence of the Signature Book, our list of Visitors is unavoidably a partial one. The following brethren were observed among that numerous body:—Past Masters Bros. Rev. D. Shaboe P.P.G. Chaplain, Godwin, Taplay W.M. 1076, H. N. Taylor W.M. 1421, J. W. Hobbs, G. Hollington W.M. 933, A. Robbins, Musto 1349, Bowron 933, Wainwright 933, Maidwell 27, McCarthy 1076; Bros. Brooks, Sussex, Scoetbs, Serjeant, L. Harvey J.D. 174, T. Barnes jun. 1306, L. Bolton 1506, H. J. Walter, S. G. Walter, Dix S.W., 1421, Loane 1421, G. H. Stephens J.D. 1623, T. J. Tyer J.D. 1306, T. Wooding J.W. 1306, R. B. Greenwood D.C. 1623.

THIS Lodge held its first Installation Meeting since the Consecration, March 1879, at the Bromley St. Leonard Vestry Hall, Bow Road, E. Present Bro. W. R. Marsh W.M., supported by Bro. W. Clarke A.G.P. as I.P.M., and rest of Officers, besides several members and visitors. Lodge opened, minutes having been read, was advanced to the third, and Bro. Horne raised. Bro. Cundick P.M. 1421, acting as D.C., presented Bro. G. Robey S.W. and W.M. elect, who was then duly installed by Bro. Marsh in his usual able manner, after which the following brethren were invested as Officers, viz., Bros. W. Bramham S.W., R. T. Fennell J.W., T. M. Knight Treasurer, Walter J. Rawley Secretary, A. Peterkin S.D., R. B. Brinkley J.D., G. Bond, for J. McLaren, I.G. The Lodge then voted a P.M.'s jewel to its retiring Master, with which he was duly invested, and for which he returned thanks in a very suitable speech. Lodge having closed, the brethren adjourned to the Langthorne Hotel for dinner, at the conclusion of which the usual Loyal and Craft toasts were proposed and responded to by Bro. W. Clarke A.G.P., on behalf of Grand Officers. Among the visitors present were Bros. H. Marflet P.M. 217, L. Potts W.M. 1716, F. G. Whitey P.M. 907, B. Cundick P.M. 1421, W. Boorman 65, W. Fennell J.W. offered to represent the Lodge at the forthcoming Festival for the R.M.B.I., which was accepted, and the sum of five guineas proposed to be put on his list.

Grundy) in due form and with solemn prayer. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Letters of apology for non-attendance from Bros. John Jones P.G.P., T. Butcher P.M., T. D. Roberts P.M., W. Whittington, T. E. Bargrove Watkins, and H. C. Rich jun. were read. The Lodge was then raised to the second and third degrees, and on the arrival of Bro. Tennant D.P.G.M. Eastern Division of South Wales, Bro. John Alfred Whittle S.W. was introduced by Bro. Frank Grundy for installation, and, according to custom, all brethren below the rank of Installed Master retired, and a Board of Installed Masters being formed, the W.M. elect was duly placed in the chair of K.S. The brethren were re-admitted, and the newly installed W.M. saluted, proclaimed, and greeted in the East, West, and South. The newly installed Master then appointed as his Officers for the ensuing year the following brethren:—John Morgan S.W., T. C. Bargrave Watkins J.W., Morgan P. Williams Chaplain, H. O. Aveline Mayberry Almr., Ernest Henry Teale Secretary, Rhys Davies Senior Deacon, H. C. Rich jun. Junior Deacon, Thomas Lawrence Lewis Organist, Adam Orlopp Director of Ceremonies, T. H. Price Inner Guard and Treas., E. T. Edwards and R. Owen Stewards, and Jas. Jones Tyler. The Worshipful Installing Master (Bro. Tennant) having delivered the ancient charges to the Wardens and brethren in a most impressive manner, the Lodge was closed in harmony. The brethren afterwards repaired to the Castle Hotel, where a sumptuous repast awaited them, presided over by the newly-initiated W.M., Bro. John Alfred Whittle. After the banquet, the usual loyal and patriotic toasts were given and duly honoured. The W.M., in proposing the Provincial Grand Master, the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, and Officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge, said the Lodge was greatly indebted to Bro. Tennant D.P.G.M. for his attendance there that evening; that was his fourth visit, and he hoped the Lodge would have the pleasure of his company as often in the future as in the past. Bro. Tennant, in responding, said that it gave him great pleasure in visiting the Loyal Brecknock, and that he endeavoured to pay each Lodge in the Province at least one visit during the year. Bro. Tennant then proposed the health of the W.M., and dwelt on the zeal and ability he had displayed since he had become a member of the Lodge. He (Bro. Tennant) felt sure that under their W.M.'s guidance all the ceremonies would be most efficiently rendered. To this toast the brethren present responded most heartily. In reply, Bro. Whittle thanked the brethren for their cordial reception of the toast, stating it would be his earnest endeavour to prove himself worthy of the dignified position in which they had placed him, and that he would ever have the interest of the Lodge at heart. Bro. Mayberry then proposed the Masonic Charities, and coupled the name of Bro. Tennant D.P.G.M. and Charity Commissioner, who duly responded. The next toast, the I.P.M. and the P.M.'s, was proposed by Bro. John Morgan S.W., and suitably acknowledged by Bros. F. Grundy and R. Webb. The toasts of Visiting Brethren, proposed by the W.M., and responded to by Bros. Prothero 479, T. H. Hughes 1098, and W. Williams 1807, and Wardens and Officers of the Lodge, by the W.M., which was duly acknowledged by Bros. Morgan S.W.,

Lewis Organist, and M. P. Williams Chaplain, followed. In the course of the evening, the proceedings were enlivened by songs efficiently rendered by Bros. QUARTERLY COURT OF THE GIRLS' SCHOOL.

THE Quarterly Court of the Governors and Subscribers of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls was held last Saturday, at Freemasons' Hall. Bro. Lieut.-Colonel Creaton (Grand Treasurer), Vice-President and Trustee, presided. There were also present Bros. A. H. Tattershall, Thomas Massa, A. J. Duff-Filer, S. Rawson, H. Massey, Arthur E. Gladwell, E. Letchworth, Joshua Nunn, J. J. Berry, and F. R. W. Hedges Secretary. Twenty-eight candidates were declared on the list for the April election, and 15 children to be elected. Bro. Joshua Nunn moved—

"That the following words be added to Law LXXII., after the word 'provision,' viz., 'and in cases of exceptional merit and necessity, the General Committee are authorised to increase the sum to an amount not exceeding £40.'"

He explained that several brethren who opposed it at the last Quarterly Court misunderstood that the motion was to give power to the Committee to grant £40 to all girls when they left the Institution. That was not so; it would only be granted in very exceptional cases. It had been so misunderstood by Bro. Henry Smith, Prov. Grand Secretary for West Yorkshire, but he cordially supported the motion now that he knew its real import. Bro. A. E. Gladwell seconded the motion. He also had misunderstood it at first, but he supported it now. It was only lost on the last occasion by a very small majority. Bro. Filer did not approve of the Pupils' Assistance Fund. Giving help to pupils should be left in the hands of those who were fully acquainted with the girls. He hoped the present motion would put an end to the fourth Charity, which he believed would be very detrimental to the Institutions. He never had subscribed to the Pupils' Assistance Fund, and never would. Those who were selected to carry out the affairs of the Institution had the confidence of the subscribers, and would not exercise their powers too often. Only in exceptional cases would they grant the full amount. Bro. E. Letchworth supported the motion with pleasure, and believed it was for the interest of the Institutions that it should be known throughout the Craft that they had such a fund as this. The Earl of Rosslyn, on taking the chair at one of their Festivals, thought he found a blot in their Institutions. It was not only desirable that there should not be a blot, but also that there should not be an impression that there was a blot. If he (the noble Earl) could have been made aware that the Committees could grant £20 to children, he would not have made the observation he did. If that sum was increased to £40 for exceptional cases, the principal supporters of his scheme would be assured that the machinery at the disposal of the General Committees was adequate to meet all circumstances. There were but few cases likely to occur in which it would be necessary to make this grant. The children could not get into the Schools without numerous and influential friends, who would no doubt look after them when they left the Schools. Bro. S. Rawson did not rise to oppose the motion, but thought that it should be adjourned to next Quarterly Court, when more brethren would be present. He thought it would be a compliment to the country brethren. The chairman said the country brethren had full notice of the motion by advertisement and circular, and if they wished to oppose they could have been present that day to do so. Bro. Joshua Nunn was happy to say there was no opposition, and if the brethren in the country wanted to oppose, they would have come and done so. He hoped it would put down a fourth Charity, which he could not but think would be detrimental to the Institutions. He had always thought so, and had expressed himself to that effect to the movers of it. The power now asked would never be used lavishly. Not much money had been expended in giving assistance to the girls, as only once in two years had £20 been given. There was a deserving case in which £30 should have been given if the Committee had had the power, but as they had not, they granted £20, and subscribed the other £10 among themselves. He was sorry that Lord Rosslyn was not made acquainted with the fact that the Committees had power to grant £20 to children leaving the Schools before he made the remarks which led to the establishment of a fourth charity. The motion was carried, and the proceedings closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

QUARTERLY COURT OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

THE January Quarterly Court of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, was held on Monday afternoon at Freemason's Hall. There were present:—Bros. Lieut.-Col. John Creaton G.T. (in the chair), A. J. Duff-Filer, G. Bolton, C. H. Webb, W. H. Perryman, Leopold Ruf, James Freeman, H. Moore, H. Venn, J. G. Stevens, J. J. Berry, Wm. Roebuck, J. Joyce Murray, James Terry, William Mann, Richard Tyrrell, William Paas, Donald M. Dewar, C. F. Matier, J. G. Chancellor, S. J. Benton, S. Rawson, Arthur E. Gladwell, W. F. C. Moutrie, W. H. Spaull, Charles Sanders, S. Rosenthal, H. S. Goodall, A. Williams, Abner Torkington, A. Tisley, T. Cubitt, G. Blythe, E. C. Massey, E. Baxter, E. C. Woodward, J. Peters, and F. Binckes (Sec). After the reading and confirmation of the minutes, the matter of the eligibility of Arthur Harvey Collingwood, which has been fully discussed in the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, came before the Court, and Bro. Matier submitted that as the boy had £40 a year for his maintenance and education, he should not be admitted to the School. Bro. Gladwell adopted Bro. Matier's view. Bro. Binckes read a number of letters and telegrams from different parts of the country, taking the same view, and Bro. J. G. Stephens stated that the matter was looked upon in this light by the supporters of the Institution at the East-end of London. Bro. Raynham W. Stewart urged the admission of the boy, on the ground that the School was not a pauper school, and that the mother's income was only £106 a year. Bro. Girling wished to withdraw the candidate, but as it was necessary that a motion should be made on the subject, this was done, and the name of Arthur Harvey Collingwood was erased from the list. The list for next election was then settled. Seventy-six candidates were named as the number seeking election, for whom there will be twenty vacancies. On the motion of Bro. Raynham W. Stewart, seconded by Bro. C. F. Matier, the brethren passed the following motion unanimously:—"That to commemorate the twenty years' services of the Secretary, Bro. Binckes, and in recognition of the ability shown by him during that period, also having regard to the success achieved through his exertions, a grant of £200 be made to him out of the funds of the Institution." Bro. Stewart remarked that during the said twenty years and upwards, £192,000 had been received. Bro. Binckes, who during the proposition had been absent from the room, was then called in, and he thanked the brethren very heartily for the vote. The proceedings closed with a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

THE monthly meeting of the Committee of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution was held on Wednesday afternoon, at Freemasons' Hall, when there were present Bros. Lieut.-Col. Creaton (Grand Treasurer), Vice-Patron, (in the chair), C. A. Cottebrune, John G. Stevens, Raynham W. Stewart, Edgar Bowyer, R. Warner Wheeler, C. H. Webb, S. Rawson, F. Adlard, William Stephens, John Henry Leggott, John Palmer, James Brett, Charles G. Hill, Thomas Cubitt, William Clarke, James Kench, Charles Daniel, William Hilton, Charles Atkins, and James Terry Secretary. The minutes of last meeting were read and verified. The deaths of three brethren and one widow were reported; also that the Secretary had repaid to Bankers the sum of £26. The Warden's report for the past month was read, and the Secretary was directed to acknowledge the kind gifts mentioned therein from Bros. Cutbush, Bowyer, Ellis and Goode—consisting of bulbs, books, and fruit, and wine and cards respectively. The Secretary also mentioned that through the kindness of some friends he had been enabled to purchase a piano for the use of the inmates. The report of the Finance Committee was received, adopted, and ordered to be entered on the minutes, and the Chairman was authorised to sign cheques for the several amounts named therein. Applications were made by two widows for half their late husband's annuity, both of which was granted. The petitions of fifteen brethren and fifteen widows, together with one deferred from last meeting, were accepted, and their names placed on the list of candidates for election in May next. The Secretary stated that this would make the list of candidates one of the heaviest, if not the heaviest, since the foundation of the Institution, there being 37 brethren and 62 widows—in all 99. The vacancies were 13 brethren, and 7 widows only, and unless the ensuing Festival was a successful one, no increase in the number to be elected could, he feared, be made. A vote of thanks to the Chairman closed the proceedings.

FREEMASONRY IN THE EAST.

The District Grand Lodge of China have arranged to hold a grand banquet on the 22nd instant, in the new Town Hall of Hong Kong, to welcome the Right Worshipful Grand Master, Bro. T. G. Linsteed, upon his return from England, where he has, for the past nine months, been engaged upon Masonic business. Covers will be laid for about 500 guests, a great accession of Masonic strength being expected by the assembly of the fleet. Bro. Linsteed has an autograph letter of greeting from His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales to the Grand Lodge of China, which will be read, and received by the assembled Lodge previous to adjourning for refreshment. At the banquet, Sir Pope Hennessy will respond for "Queen and Craft," and Admiral Coote for "Visiting Brethren," while "Grand Lodge of England" will be represented by Chief Engineer A. F. McIntyre, of the Comus. The Governor-General and the Military Commandant have both kindly lent their official service of plate for the occasion, which is estimated to value £500,000.—Western Daily Mercury.

THE SCHOOLS AND GRAND LODGE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I am very glad you have again drawn attention to the smallness of the annual Contributions by Grand Lodge to the Boys' and Girls' Schools. For now two-and-forty years the same sum has been given to each, but I do not think I am at all exaggerating the case when I say that each School is doing four times as much good now as it did in 1839, while the number of entrants into Freemasonry during the last few years has been eight times what it was then—that is, if the figures on which you base your statement are correct, and I fancy I recollect having read a somewhat similar statement a few years ago by Bro. Binckes. At the time it was proposed to vote a sum to, in some way, commemorate the safe return of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, Most Worshipful Grand Master, from India, it was suggested that the sum voted by Grand Lodge should be apportioned equally among our Institutions. The suggestion was not acted upon, and the Earl of Carnarvon Pro Grand Master, when proposing the vote of £4000 to the Royal Masonic Lifeboat Institution, in order to build and endow in perpetuity two lifeboats, referred to the counter proposal to give a sum to each of our Charities, and remarked that one reason why he did not agree with the proposal was that no appeal to the Craft to support those Charities would ever be made in vain. The remark was loudly cheered, and the Craft as a body has shown that those cheers were not without significance. But while the Craft in its subdivisions of Provinces and Lodges goes on increasing its support of them—as witness your statement published on the 1st inst. of the work done last year—Grand Lodge remains exactly where it was in 1839 in respect of the Schools, giving only the same £150 to each now as then. Ought not this to be improved, especially as the funds of Grand Lodge are so much more considerable than they were forty years ago? What say Bros. Binckes and Hedges on the subject?

Faithfully and fraternally yours,

UBIQUE.

WITHDRAWAL OF VISITORS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—It appears that our "IRREPRESSIBLE TOMKINS" is a pedant as well as a wag. Instead of fairly meeting what I advanced on the above subject, and satisfying my natural curiosity as to how a matter held right and proper in 1878 should be deemed wrong and improper in 1880, and how an eminent Masonic authority, quoted in support of opinions in the former year, can also be found available to sustain opposite views upon the same question at the present time, and instead of pursuing a course which might have proved interesting and instructive, he finds fault with me for having gone astray in the matter of logic. As he eagerly grasped the opportunity of a reporter's inadvertence to read a homily anent the conduct of Bro. Constable, so my protest against the presumption is made a pretext to favour me with a lecture on my ignorance, and, at the same time, to parade his acquaintance with syllogisms, the masters who wrote upon the art of reasoning, and to hint to an unappreciative world what an intellectual gem of the first water it permits to remain in obscurity. While fully conscious of my shortcomings, I am sensible of his greatness, and truly astonished at my temerity in daring to confront a force of such magnitude. Though deficient in logic, I can boast of some courage. But the characteristic of true courage is modesty. I will therefore, with all becoming humility, venture to inquire of the logician and lecturer on morality, courtesy and delicacy, why he does not enforce his precepts by example. For whatever may be thought of his effusions from a literary point of view, few will recommend them as models of courtesy, delicacy or right feeling. And next, may I ask how far, even in his estimation, he has succeeded in exculpating himself from the charge of using unfriendly and unfraternal language when canvassing the conduct of a brother? It is true, with tiresome reiteration, he insists upon his right to criticise the public conduct of any one. As if any one would or could deny him that right. It is not only politic, but frequently a necessary duty to throw light upon practices of individuals. It is not therefore with his privilege, but with the manner in which it was exercised, that I found fault, and felt bound to express disgust at the studied insolence which characterised and gave tone to what is now pretended to have been friendly criticism. I must persist in again pointing out that our logician engages in this fray—it does not deserve to be dignified with the appellation of battle—with unfair advantage. To follow his own nautical phraseology, he continues to sail under a borrowed flag. The identity of the skipper remains carefully concealed, while my poor little craft, foreign built too, fearlessly displays its own proper ensign. To judge, however, from the amazing amount of ammunition expended in the endeavour to counteract an attack by, and inflict some damage upon, what, in comparison, might justly be considered a mere little tub, the opposing craft must be of superior bulk certainly, but there has as yet been no evidence of any extraordinary seamanship; and as the shots fell wide of the mark, it may reasonably be inferred that the marksman was either groggy or of inferior skill. The little bark remains unharmed, and intends hopefully, merrily, and bravely to continue on its way, be the waters stormy or placid, ready to do its little best to render aid where help is needed, or duty calls. Now, Brother Editor, you will perhaps be inclined to consider me a kind of male "Rose Dartle," for I have another question to ask, and "really should much like to be informed," why our logical brother, of whose capacity to hold his own with a far superior antagonist than I ever can hope or pretend to be, shirks his work and tries to shift a duty apportioned to him from his to the editorial vessel? The very gist of my letter he leaves untouched, and wishes you to handle, whilst he contents himself to entertain us with the cachinnatious effect produced by what he is pleased to consider my absurdity. I, on the contrary, am free to admit a feeling akin to grief to find so much logic and ability thrown away upon so exceedingly trivial and absurdly insignificant a question, and, moreover, that a Masonic newspaper, so ably and consistently devoted to the spread of kindly feeling, goodwill, and fraternal affection, should be made the vehicle for publishing what, under the guise of fighting for principle, is, after all, only an exchange of hardly concealed personalities.

For my own part, I am perfectly willing to give the "IRREPRESSIBLE TOMKINS" best in this matter. He professes friendship to both Bro. Constable and myself, and I have no reason to doubt his assertion. Let me assure him that I have been animated by no enmity against a person of whose private life and character I can have no knowledge. I desire to retire from this useless and purposeless controversy as gracefully as may be, and am content to leave the field entirely to him.

Fraternally yours,

E. GOTTHEIL.

A GRIEVANCE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

SIR,—I shall esteem it a great favour by your allowing me space in your next issue for the ventilation of a few remarks on a grievance that should never have occurred in a Masonic Lodge, and which I very much regret having occasion to comment on through the Press. I have been a member of a Lodge for nearly ten years, during which period I have filled the various offices of Inner Guard, Junior and Senior Deacon. Some years previous to the year 1879 I was appointed Junior Deacon, and during the then clique system was cast aside, but as time rolled on I received an intimation, through a Past Master, that I was to be re-appointed Junior Deacon. In reply I stated that I would not be made a tool of, but at his earnest solicitation I took the office for a second time, and the following year was appointed Senior Deacon. I now felt I had a good right to expect that the office of Junior Warden would follow in due course this year. But this has not met the views of the powers that be. I have this consolation, however, that no Master, Past Master, or Warden could say I was not qualified to perform my duty had I been appointed.

It is to be regretted that Masonry in my Lodge is conducted only in name. Had I been an hotel keeper or a partner in a ship-building firm no doubt I should have been recognised as sufficiently eligible in the social scale. My once prosperous Lodge is now for the most part composed of a clique of Past Masters, and I cannot find language sufficiently strong to express myself against the abominable system of class interests which is allowed to hold in direct opposition to and violation of the first points of Masonry, and I do not hesitate to say the sooner the most Worshipful Grand Master withdraws the Charter from such a Lodge the better.

Now to return to my grievance. I was informed by a Brother that it was the present Master's special desire to appoint the late Junior Warden and myself to the offices of Senior and Junior Warden; but this was no sooner mentioned than it was overruled by the before-named clique, who recommended a recently-received member to fill the chair that should by right have fallen to me, simply because he was a master tradesman and supposed to be higher in the social scale.

Several members of the Lodge, in consequence of the unfair proceedings, intimated their determination to resign, but I strongly urged them on no account to do so, but to remain with me, in order, if possible, to put down the clique system that has sprung up for a second time in the Lodge.

I must apologise for occupying so much of your valuable space, but I feel it a duty incumbent on me to expose a system so rotten and so totally at variance with Masonry, and trust you will pardon me.

I remain, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

HENRY JAMES,

Past Senior Deacon.

Musto P.M. 1349, supported by Bros. Barnes as S.W. and Cundick as J.W. These names alone are sufficient to vouch that the working will be all that can be desired.

Hemming Lodge, No. 1512, Hampton.—An emergency meeting of this Lodge took place on Thursday, the 6th instant. Bro. T. W. Ockenden W.M. presided, supported by Bros. Hopwood P.M. Treasurer as S.W., Albert Marvin J.W. 1763 as J.W., W. Hammond P.M. Secretary, Hiscox S.D., J. E. Hunt 1768 acting I.G., and other brethren. A communication was received from the R.W. Bro. Colonel Sir F. Burdett Prov. Grand Master of Middlesex, regretting his inability to attend; apologies were sent by the two Wardens, who were absent through illness, and the J.D. pleaded pressure of business. Lodge was opened in the three degrees, and closed to the first, by which time Bros. Crofts and Jackson, candidates for passing, were in readiness for the ceremony, and in due course advanced. The W.M. worked the lecture on the Tracing-board. A candidate for initiation, elected last month, was not present. Two gentlemen were successfully balloted for as candidates for the benefit of Masonic light, and their initiation will take place at a subsequent meeting, the W.M. having announced, on the occasion of his installation, that he should not, except under the most urgent circumstances, initiate any gentlemen on the night of their election. The Lodge was closed with solemn prayer, and in perfect harmony, and adjourned until Thursday next, the 20th inst., at 6.15 p.m.

Rothesay Lodge, No. 1687.—A regular meeting of the above Lodge was held on the 5th inst., at the Inns of Court Hotel, under the presidency of Bros. J. B. Docker W.M., Crossland S.W., E. Duret J.W., L. Beck P.M. P.P.G.O. Middlesex Treas., F. Green acted as Secretary, in the unavoidable absence of Bro. W. C. Parsons P.M., Livermore S.D., F. Green sen. J.D., Valeriani I.G., Wallis W.S., Lloyd D.C., F. V. Green A.D.C., Berrow Org.; and Bros. Farr, Shaw, Carthew, Duchez, Wallace, Adams, Wells. The Lodge was formally opened, and the minutes of last meeting were confirmed. Bro. Wallis was invested with the collar of W.S., and Bro. F. V. Green A.D.C. Ballots were taken for the admission of Messrs. Jerrold Joseph and F. Colepepper, which were unanimously in their favour. Messrs. F. Thorne (previously accepted), J. Joseph, and Colepepper being in attendance were duly initiated into the Order. The W.M. rendered the ceremony in a very impressive manner. The Lodge was closed, and the brethren sat down to a banquet and dessert, provided by Bro. Walter Gosden, that gave every satisfaction. Grace having been said, the W.M. proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. Bro. L. Beck P.M. said, all were aware that he had the privilege of proposing the toast of the W.M., who was the fourth Master of the Lodge. All the members could see how ably he had worked the ceremony, and all hoped that success would continue to attend his efforts. He would now call on the brethren to drink his health, and wish him a happy New Year. Miss Beck, a pupil of Bro. L. Beck P.M., here sang "The Fisher Lad," and accompanied herself on the piano. The W.M., replying, could scarcely find words to express his thanks for the kind expressions of Bro. Beck, and the reception the brethren had given him; he hoped to do all his work to their satisfaction. He would now incidentally mention that he was a Steward for the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, and the Lodge had given a sum on his list, which he trusted the brethren would augment. The Boys' School was a noble Institution, and fully deserving of support. He had pleasure in stating that, thanks to Bro. Green, the sum subscribed by the brethren was £25 9s; for this he sincerely thanked them. The W.M. now proposed—as he expressed it—the toast of the evening, the newly initiated brethren; he was sure they would not only be ornaments to the Rothesay Lodge, but a credit to the Order. Miss Beck again delighted the brethren with an excellent song, and then Bro. Frank Thorne replied. He had long had an ardent wish to join Freemasonry, and had selected this Lodge, which, he hoped, he would eventually be a credit to. Bros. Colepepper and Joseph also made a few remarks. The Visitors were next complimented by the W.M., and after a song by Bro. F. V. Green, Bro. H. M. Levy P.M. 188 replied. Bros. Collens and others also addressed the brethren. In proposing the health of the Past Masters, the W.M. regretted the absence of Bro. W. C. Parsons, but they had with them their first Master and now their Treasurer, Bro. Louis Beck. Bro. L. Beck, in responding, explained how the Lodge had been honoured by the Most Worshipful Grand Master's allowing it to be designated by one of his titles—Duke of Rothesay; this was further evidenced by his banner being placed over the chair of the W.M. He thanked all for the kind way they had received him. The toast of the Wardens followed, the W.M. remarking that the attention which they had paid to their duties merited especial praise. Bro. Crossland, the S.W., had travelled specially from Huddersfield to be present. Bro. Durét had also come a long distance; he was their first initiate. They were proud of the brethren who filled the several posts of honour. Bro. Crossland S.W. said that, as far as good intent goes, his heart was with them, and what ability he possessed would be at their service. Bro. Durét J.W. followed. As the first initiate he was proud to be placed as J.W.; he would strive to do all he could to further the interests of the Lodge. The Tyler's toast was afterwards given, and the brethren separated. The Visitors were—Bros. H. Harvey 749, J. Holmes 1608, E. H. Simpson 152, A. Mount 1325, W. J. Collens S.D. 766, H. Dinford 1158, T. De Leliva 1426, H. M. Levy P.M. 188.

Albert Edward Lodge.—The Deputy Provincial Grand Master Bro. W. Hickman, on the 3rd inst., installed Bro. J. S. Pearce, the Sheriff of Southampton, as the W.M. of the above Lodge, at the Masonic Hall, Southampton, and the new W.M. subsequently invested his Officers as follow:—I. Harle I.P.M., W. Berry S.W., G. Grant J.W., S. S. Pearce Treasurer, A. Algar Secretary, T. Walton S.D., Turner J.D., J. Stevens I.G., B. Tanner D.C., W. Grinyer and G. Scorey Stewards, and Biggs Tyler. The D.P.G.M. was unanimously elected an honorary member of the Lodge, and a beautiful P.M.'s jewel was presented to I.P.M. Harle, in appreciation of his services to the Lodge from its commencement.

LONDON COTTAGE MISSION.—"How it has been snowing!" said paterfamilias, as he drew up the blinds of his bedroom window on Wednesday morning, for the bright white mantle lay some inches thick in every part of the Metropolis. What must this have been for poor creatures who, without food or fire, crouched together to retain just warmth enough to keep body and soul together in their shivering frames? An answer to this question was to be found outside the gates of the London Cottage Mission, in Conder-street, Limehouse, where some six or seven hundred children, with women, here and there with babies in their arms, were congregated. But once inside, and seated 200 at a time at the hospitable boards of the Mission, there was as much good hot Irish stew for them as hungry children could desire. The London Cottage Mission provided a similar meal for the poor children at the East-end all through last winter, and also during this winter, since the 8th December last, every Wednesday. This practical charity costs money, and we need scarcely say the Mission wants funds to carry on the work; for besides feeding the hungry, there is a reading-room for working men, lectures and services in the hall, mothers' meetings, and house to house visitation. We heartily commend the Mission to all our readers, and if they will send their contributions, however small, to Miss F. Napton, the Lady Superintendent, 304 Burdett-road, Limehouse, E., or to Mr. Walter Austin, 44 Finsbury Pavement, E.C., they will be thankfully received and acknowledged.

MISCONCEPTIONS OF THE TRUE CHARACTER OF FREEMASONRY.

WHAT is Freemasonry? is a question which is constantly being asked, and the answers that are given—especially by the uninitiated—are as various as they are ludicrous. Some people will persist in asserting that it is nothing else than a political secret society, whose foremost object is the destruction of all orderly government. Others affirm that it is an anti-religious fraternity, whose members are never contented but when they are engaged in combating the beneficent influences of religion. There are yet others who entertain the idea that it is a body of men associated together for the destruction of morality, while the least severe of our outside critics regard us as a society of good livers, whose highest aspirations are directed towards the greatest enjoyment that is possible of what are commonly designated the good things of this life. We might, of course, go on enumerating other different views enunciated by even reasonable beings as to the true scope and character of Freemasonry, but though in the first few sentences we might amuse our readers, we certainly should not succeed in edifying them, and we should as certainly incur the serious possibility of annoying them. Yet this conflict of ideas outside the pale of the Craft cannot, after all, be so very singular when we find that Freemasons themselves are divided in opinion as to its aims and objects. It is true they are told, at the very moment of their reception into the Order, that it is a system of morality, and they are expected, or at all events, presumed to accept this definition without mental reservation of any kind; but many so accept it disingenuously, and have barely had time to be raised to Master Masons ere they set busily to work to show how little they appreciate its solemn teachings. Many look upon it as a kind of mutual Life Assurance Company; others maintain that it is a kind of Benefit Society, while a numerous section of the Craft, regarding it from a knife-and-fork point of view, consider the three degrees of Masonry—with or without the Royal Arch—as being neither more nor less than so many preliminary steps towards a capital feed. These singular ideas would be very laughable, were it not for the influence they appear to be exercising, and the ridicule they are calculated to bring upon our Society. Let us then, at the risk of being a little tedious, give a moment's attention to what are not the true objects of our beloved Craft.

Were the impartial critic called upon to express his opinion as to the true character of Freemasonry, and, assuming that his judgment was on a level with his impartiality, he would come to the conclusion that in some of the countries of Europe it had a sort of political influence, while in others it was, if not exactly an anti-religious, yet certainly a non-religious, society. Passing on to Freemasonry in America, he would probably suggest that, in the land of the Stars and Stripes, it was a compound of sentimentality and outward show with—doubtless for the sake of old associations—the occasional consecration and erection of gaudy temples, and the heavy indebtedness which is the necessary consequence of indulging in a hobby without adequate means of defraying its cost. He would find, in various of the States, Institutions for the promotion of Masonic charity, and a genial hospitality, with the ever-readiness of all Americans to assist the unfortunate wayfarer, in all of them. In England he would note the existence of three grandly-organised Institutions having severally for object the relief of aged, indigent Masons and the widows of Masons, and the maintenance and education for a certain term of years of the sons and daughters of deceased or poverty-stricken brethren. He would learn, with a pleasure he would neither care nor seek to conceal, that the good these Charities did was owing to the munificent contributions of the Craft, nor would he, with this experience before him, be in the least degree surprised to hear that similar societies, but on a far smaller scale, were organised in many of our Provinces. Should he prosecute his researches further, and visit a considerable number of our Lodges, he would find in each an assemblage of very good fellows who, having despatched what, for the sake of appearances, is called business, as quickly as possible, at once sat down to enjoy themselves over a good dinner, with the customary Loyal and Masonic toast-giving to follow. In our Lodges of Instruction he would be edified by hearing, now a disconsolate Preceptor meekly propounding a series of questions and receiving an equal number of oftentimes crooked answers; now the rehearsal of an important ceremony, more or less ably performed. Yet for all the many things that would delight him, he would still be at a loss to reconcile the Masonry of practice with the doctrines of Masonry as laid down by our Constitutions. He would, probably, be in the first instance more than a little disconcerted on hearing from the lips of many worthy brethren that, for all its wide-spread beneficence and philosophic tendencies, they regarded it as a safe investment for themselves and their families against a rainy day. They knew well enough it was a morality, but they had been at the pains of ascertaining further that the morality was illustrated by three Asylums, one for decayed Masons and their widows, and the other two for the education and maintenance of the children of deceased or indigent brethren. Thus, having joined the Fraternity, they at once qualified as Governors to one or all of the Institutions, not only because by so doing they felt they would be doing some service to others; but also with one eye open to the future on their own account, so that if, in the vicissitudes of fortune to which all are liable, they should ever find themselves in the category of decayed Masons, and their families, therefore, be reduced from affluence to comparative poverty, they would at once have at command some source from which they might ask and obtain assistance. There is no doubt a good deal of common sense about this point of view, but it does not exactly accord with our generally, received ideas about Freemasonry. It is quite a mistaken idea to suppose that Freemasonry is a kind of Friendly Society, the members of which combine together for the purpose of assisting each other in sickness or distress, or in pensioning or helping to support the families of deceased members. Let those who regard Freemasonry in this light avoid it, or if they will persist in trying to force an entrance into our ranks, let it be resolutely denied them. The other day, at the Quarterly Court of the Boys' School, one brother had the candour to avow that he had qualified as a Vice-Patron or Vice-President—it is immaterial which—because, in the event of his death, it would afford a justification for his widow and children applying to the Masonic Institutions for help, even though he might leave them in possession of a fair quantum of means. Others openly supported the candidature of the lad Collingwood on the ground that the Boys' School, and by inference, its sister Institution, the Girls' School, were not intended to benefit paupers. That such ideas as these are gaining strength must be evident to all who take the slightest heed of the inner life of Freemasonry. Numbers are being admitted yearly into the Craft whose sole object is to make their membership a means for advancing their pecuniary interests, or, in the event of anything happening to them, of providing a something, or the chance of something, for their families. There are those who trade on Masonry—the wine merchant with his Masonic champagne is the latest development of this class—and there are those who, to use a familiar form of speech, have an eye to the main chance in supporting our Charities. We are not objecting to such displays of worldly providence, except in so far as they materially affect the true character of Freemasonry, which is not a Benefit or Burial Society; not an asylum for shaky people on the eve of going bankrupt in their worldly concerns; not a huge charity organisation for the relief of middle-class distress. It will be said our picture is an exaggerated one, and that we are hardly justified in taking the open statement of any brother's objects as conclusive testimony. Let it be so, for the sake of argument. Yet how comes it that, for all the many additions which have been made to the number of beneficiaries in our Institutions, the number of candidates goes on increasing annually? If, in illustration, we take the case of the Boys' School, which has already been referred to; about three years ago, owing to the excess of candidates over vacancies, it was resolved to increase the School by thirty, and there are now close on eighty candidates for the twenty vacancies which will fall due in April next. This must give one the idea that there are a good many people who enter the ranks of Freemasonry not wholly unbiassed by sordid motives.

HARD TIMES.

From the "Voice of Masonry."

A PROSPEROUS professional man, in a recent communication to us, used the expression, "Times is so hard." We read it and laughed. From our infancy up to this time, every year, month and week, we have heard that cry, "Hard times." In 1837, when corn, oats and wheat were abundant, and the latter was only worth twelve and a-half cents a bushel, people bitterly complained of hard times, and yet their only want was money. From that day to this, no matter how prosperous, many have kept up the cry, and it is now one of their worst chronic complaints. If every kind of grain, and fruit, and vegetable, and game, and stock, were as abundant as leaves in Valhambrosa; if money flowed from fountains, and springs and mines, and mints, and government printing presses, in rivulets, in brooks, in creeks, in rivers, in bays, in gulfs, and in seas; if every man, woman and child had constant and remunerative employment; if roses, tulips, lilies, diamonds and pearls were strewn in every pathway, and adorned every domicile, and if Happiness ever bestowed her richest gems to deck the moments of life, still that cry, "Times is so hard," would ring like discordant bells, throughout the land. And why? Because man, no matter how happy his lot may be, nor how perfect his condition, never is contented—never satisfied, and will murmur. The whole course of Time is strewn with his grumblings. The journey of the Israelites from Egypt to Canaan was a train of murmurs, and from that era to this railroading murmuring has been decidedly popular. So universal is this habit that, in all our life, we have met but one man who had no complaint to utter, no murmur to make, and who declared he had no earthly need that was not supplied, and no proper desire that was ungratified.

Now, the fact is the American people do not know what hard times are. They never have had famine, never have experienced real destitution, never have known real want. They always have had "enough and to spare" of every necessary and even comfort of life. They never have had real cause to cry, "Times are hard," and yet many of them have ever done so. Last year, and this, they prospered abundantly. All their crops were excellent, and prices were good. Money abundantly flowed into their pockets, and good was on every hand of them, yet they would not so esteem it. For this class of the [illegible] on good times have never come, and never will, since, no matter [illegible] manifold their blessings may be, they will not appreciate them [illegible] worth, but like many in days long past, will still exclaim, "[illegible]?"

[illegible] these [illegible] of times are hard, and the [illegible] murmuring. To them the beautiful in nature, [illegible], and in life, is as nought to immensity or as nonentity to infinity. Yea, to them the enjoyment of inestimable good is only an experience of hard times, and gratitude and thankfulness are not in their vocabulary. Verily, in all seriousness, it may be asked, What on earth or in heaven will satisfy them, or what can induce them to pronounce anything good?

They cry hard times and do nothing to make times better. They imitate well the balkiest mule that ever lived. Progress is not their forte. They promote no progressive work, and invariably delay payment of their just debts on the plea that times are hard. If they spend a dollar they fear they will never see another, and have a constant dread of dying in poverty. They never reflect that it is just such conduct as theirs that makes times hard and keeps them so. They are and will be "chronic grumblers," and to hope for anything better of them is to but cling to a rope of sand.

Now see the difference. At this moment a letter is received, saying, "There are no idlers here, and times are good." At once a cheerful feeling ensues. It really seems that the sun has increased his brightness, and that life has many precious boons. "Always cheerful," says the song, and "always cheerful" all ought to be. As one of our good German friends, now beyond the Jordan, always said, "even in our saddest hours, we ought to thank the Lord that is as well with us at is." Yea, we ought ever to be grateful that the woof of our lives has far more of the bright than of the dark colours, or, speaking Masonically, that our experience here is checkered with far more of good than of evil.

As Freemasons we have been most impressively taught that whatever our lot in life may be, or however dark, cheerless, rough or rugged our way may appear, we are not to despair nor even complain, since even then the Friend, in whose fidelity we may with perfect safety confide, is at our side and guiding us, and could we but see as He sees, not far distant we would behold beautiful groves, waving grains, elegant gardens, and refreshing streams. Trusting in Him, all dangers will be safely passed, and soon the Cedars of Lebanon in all their grandeur and beauty, the olive groves of Mount Olivet in all their vigour and fruitfulness, Jerusalem in all its magnificence, and the Temple of Solomon in all its pristine splendour, will dawn upon our visions and afford us elysian delight. The small hardships we experience by the way do us no real harm, and their ultimate is an increase of our joy. Only by knowledge of the bitter can we rightly judge the sweet, and if our trust is in God all things shall work together for our good.

The moral of all this is, Do not ever pull backward; do not ever cry hard times; do not ever shut your eyes to the precious blessings you enjoy; do not ever forget that "God is good," nor that His loving-kindness is infinite. Oh! do not ever be ungrateful; ever full of murmurs, but do see the bright side of every event in life, and so help all others to rise to, and stand on, the plains of light and joy. Yea, ever see the goodness of the Lord, and praise Him for it, and all times, with you, will be good.

Obituary.

BRO. J. DANIEL MOORE, M.D.

THE announcement of Bro. Dr. Moore's death will not perhaps be received with surprise among those of our readers who were aware of the long and trying illness he had suffered from for some months past. They will none the less, however, be grieved to hear that one who had so highly distinguished himself in every work with which he had been associated or had undertaken, and who was so universally beloved and respected in the various circles in which he moved, has passed away. His family and friends of course must find it a source of the deepest satisfaction, in the midst of their terrible bereavement, to know that throughout his whole life he had been so honoured, and in his death was so greatly respected. This is, indeed, a consolation to them in the midst of their grief, and must go some way towards alleviating the distress they are now enduring. It is not, however, our province to peer into the sorrows of private life. Our duty is to express, on our own behalf, as well as on that of our constituents, the sorrow that all of us must experience at the loss for ever of so learned, so practical, and so beloved a member of the Masonic Craft. Nor, indeed, is this the full limit of our duty. Two short years have passed since we took upon ourselves the pleasurable task—and it was truly a most pleasurable one—of including him, under the pseudonym of "ÆSCULAPIUS," in the category of those Masonic worthies it has been our delight from time to time to honour. The opinion we then expressed of his merits and position in the ranks of Masonry, we rejoice to say, stand out boldly on record in the pages of this journal, as well as in the series of Portraits which have been collated and reprinted therefrom. Thus, in reproducing in brief what we then said, we run no risk of being charged with undue exaggeration. What we write, now that he is gone, is no undeserved compliment, for it was written when he was in the enjoyment of his wonted vigour, and would have resented anything like an approach to sycophancy. But without further preface or apology let us sketch briefly the Masonic career of our late Brother.

Dr. Moore, though a Mason of high distinction, had not been a member of our Fraternity for any considerable length of time. He was initiated into its mysteries so recently as the year 1865, in the Rowley Lodge, No. 1951, Lancaster, then newly warranted; but his zeal was such that in a very few months after this event he was appointed to the post of Senior Deacon. Two years after, and our late esteemed Brother was elected to the chair of his Lodge, and the year following was re-elected to that responsible office. It was during his Mastership, and mainly through his instrumentality, that the late Earl of Zetland, then M.W.G.M., was induced to lay the foundation-stone of the "Royal Albert Asylum for Idiots and Imbeciles of the Western Counties." He had sole charge of the preliminary arrangements for this important ceremonial, and enjoyed the further satisfaction of receiving at the hands of the Grand Master and his principal officers their warmest thanks for the valuable services he had rendered. Provincial honours followed almost as a matter of course, and in 1871—only six short years from the date of his initiation—he received a still higher reward in the shape of his appointment as Grand Sword Bearer of the Grand Lodge of England. In 1875, when the Morecambe Lodge, No. 1561, was consecrated by the Earl of Lathom—then Lord Skelmersdale—Dr. Moore was installed by his Lordship as the first Master of the new Lodge. He will further be remembered as a most earnest and able lecturer in various Lodges of Instruction on the subjects specially studied there, as well as on others more or less intimately connected with the mysteries of Freemasonry. He had also frequently played the rôle of Installing Master, while so highly valued was his conduct as Secretary, for some eleven years, of his mother Lodge, that early in 1878 he was invited to be present at a complimentary dinner, when occasion was taken to present him with a handsome epergne in testimony of his services. The W.M. presided, and thus expressed himself when handing the epergne to our late brother:—"I have great pleasure in giving to you the sincere thanks of the brethren of this Lodge for the many and valuable services which, from time to time, you have rendered to them, and at their request, and on their behalf, present you with this epergne, which I hope you and yours may long enjoy, and I hope, also, that you may have a long, prosperous, and happy life." He was a recipient of other testimonials, notably of a solid gold Past Grand Officer's jewel presented to him by another Lodge, and a silver goblet of considerable dimensions by a third. He was exalted into R.A. Masonry after the customary interval, and in 1869 was inducted into the chair of First Principal of the Rowley Chapter, No. 1051; on retiring from this office, he was presented with a P.Z.'s jewel set in diamonds. He subsequently filled the chair of Second Principal of his Province, and the office of Grand Standard Bearer in the Supreme Grand Chapter of England. He had equally distinguished himself in Mark Masonry, in which both Provincial and Grand honours were conferred upon him; in Templar Masonry, in the A. and A. Rite—he had taken the 32° S.P.R.C.—in the Order of the Red Cross of Rome and Constantine, as a Rosicrucian, and in the side degrees. He was further, to his great honour, be it said, a loyal supporter of all our Charities, and had served the office of Steward, to one or the other of them, on some twelve or fifteen different occasions.

The above is a succinct account of our deceased brother's career as a Mason. That it is one we should all strive to emulate is certain, and equally so that it will be the fortunate lot of but few among us to succeed in emulating it. However, by following in his footsteps, we may be able to secure a portion of the respect and esteem in which he was so justly held. To his family and friends, as well as to the members of the several Masonic bodies with which he was associated, we beg to offer our sincere tribute of sympathy and respect. May He who has taken from them one so worthy give them strength to bear with their loss!

BRO. ALFRED ELLIS.

The funeral of our late Bro. Alfred Ellis, No. 933 and I.G. No. 27, who died on the 7th instant, took place at the Tower Hamlets Cemetery, Bow, on Saturday last. Besides the relatives and friends of the deceased, there was a numerous attendance of Craftsmen, all anxious to pay their last tribute of respect to a worthy brother. Among these we noticed Bros. Dr. Loane, B. Cundick, G. H. Stephens, W. Musto, C. Lacey and A. Furness. The ceremony was impressively rendered by the Rev. J. Kitto, the churchwardens of the parish being also present. Bro. Ellis was an active member of the Board of Guardians and of the Vestry of Mile-end, and had successfully held for two years the office of Parish Overseer. The many marks of respect that were shown along the route taken by the mournful procession must have been deeply gratifying to his sorrowing relatives, to whom we tender our sincere sympathy at their loss.

SERVICES OF THE ALBERT EDWARD LIFEBOAT, CLACTON-ON-SEA.

WE note elsewhere in our columns the signal service rendered on the 19th instant by the Albert Edward Lifeboat, Clacton-on-Sea—one of the two lifeboats presented and endowed by Grand Lodge of England to the Royal National Lifeboat Institution. We now supplement that brief reference by the following narrative, as given by the coxswain, from from the columns of yesterday's Standard:—

At six a.m. on Wednesday a signal was given by the Middle Light-ship, Lowness, but the tide prevented the lifeboat being launched. At eight a.m., with the assistance of six horses, the boat was got afloat. The wind was east, blowing hard. Soon after starting we saw the vessel, south-east by east, distant five miles. We made up the boat under a single reefed sail, and beat towards the vessel, which we reached at noon. She proved to be a schooner which had sunk in seven fathoms. Only the masthead was out of the water, and no one was on board. Then we made for Gunfleet, and observed a body floating; we hooked it, and found it was decomposed. We crossed the sand west of the buoy, and stood towards Heaps; we spoke a steamer steering east-north-east. Finding nothing at Heaps or Barrow, we steered for the Middle Light-ship, which reported three vessels and a steamer on the Maplin Sands. The first, a brigantine, supposed to be the Portia, had been abandoned. Obeying a signal from the Maplin Lighthouse, we steered south-west, and sighted a ship which was dismasted. On nearing it we saw a group on the deckhouse signalling; we made for the lee bow, and threw a loaded line, which was seized, and by its means a cable was hauled aboard. The sea was making a clean breach over the vessel, and with difficulty the crew of eight was transferred to the lifeboat. She proved to be the brigantine Hassel, of Hagnesund, Captain Tillsen, from Riga to London, laden with oats. The crew had been on the deckhouse from noon on Tuesday without food—a period of thirty-three hours. Leaving at two p.m., we sighted a vessel with the mainmast gone, four miles to the west. She was the Martha, of Newport, and had been abandoned by the crew, who are supposed to have walked ashore at Foulness Island. We stood towards a steamer on the ridge, about two miles above the Elbow Buoy; but as she was near the land, so that the crew could get ashore, and showed no signals, and as the tide leaving the sands prevented our getting near, we tacked southward to get the advantage of the tide for Clacton. Three miles below the Middle Light-ship [illegible] might not live [illegible] ing them alive by constant rubbing. Therefore we could not respond to the signal, and we arrived at Clacton at 4 a.m. on Thursday. We transferred the rescued crew to the Coastguard, by whom their wants were provided for."

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The greatest Wonder of Modern Times.—They correct bile, prevent flatulency, cleanse the liver and purify the system, renovate the debilitated, strengthen the stomach, increase the appetite, invigorate the nerves, promote health, and re-instate the weak to an ardour of feeling never before expected. The sale of these Pills throughout the globe astonishes everybody, convincing the most sceptical that there is no medicine equal to Holloway's Pills for removing the complaints which are so incidental to the human race. They are indeed a blessing to the afflicted, and a boon to those who suffer from any disorder, internal or external. Thousands of persons have testified that, by their use alone, they have been restored to health after other remedies had proved unsuccessful.

OUR SCHOOLS AND GRAND LODGE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have on several occasions written and spoken on the very important question to which, in your valuable article in a recent number of your paper, you have given justifiable prominence, and I do not consider it necessary to add much to what has already been advanced. I refer to the annual allowance by Grand Lodge to the Masonic Educational Institutions. The equity of the claim for a revision of the commutation effected in 1839 is to my mind so apparent that I fail to recognise the need of argument in its support.

The principle of the bounden duty of Grand Lodge to give an annual subsidy to the Schools was conceded by the enactment that a fee of half-a-crown on every certificate issued from the Grand Secretary's office should be paid to each. When the amount represented by such payment fluctuated between £130 and £140, a substituted sum of £150, payable annually, was a very fair commutation. There is nothing in the resolution of G.L. indicating an idea of fixity or finality in such commutation, and as it goes without saying that it can be readily shown that had the half crown fee been continued the payment to each School would now be upwards of £1200, what reasonable objection can be possibly urged against a reconsideration of the arrangement made in 1839? Why should not Institutions which have so enormously increased the relief afforded to the distress incidental to Freemasonry, as to all other organisations, share in the more enormously increased prosperity enjoyed by our Order for so many years past? I would much prefer seeing the subject treated in a generous spirit, by voluntary action on the part of the Board of General Purposes, to having it brought before Grand Lodge, by notice of motion, from either an interested or independent member; and I sincerely trust that this very important question will be so treated, and that without delay.

As I am writing, permit me to add a line or two on another subject. There appears to me to be a large exercise of ingenuity in finding grounds of complaint against "Our Boys'" School. Fair, free criticism no one can object to; but when it is seriously (?) put forward that that Institution fails in its object because it does not produce "refined, lady-like boys," I think we have reached the lowest depth of bathos.

The battle of Waterloo was said to have been won on the playing fields of Eton; but had the views enunciated by "P. W. M.," in the columns of your contemporary, then obtained, the result might have been different. Because Dick and Harry are not quite so well fitted for the parlour—I beg pardon, perhaps I ought to say the drawing-room—are they to be described as coarse and vulgar? I admit, with pride, the robustness and vigour of "Our Boys," but I demur to the description of coarseness and vulgarity, and I appeal to the hundreds of our friends in support of my demurrer. My experience of every walk in life is, that the boys of a family, of fourteen or fifteen years of age, are rarely quite so gentle or "refined" as girls of the same ages, and for the sake of future humanity, Heaven forefend that they should be so!

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

FREDERICK BINCKES.

London, 17th Jan. 1881.

AN OPPORTUNE SUGGESTION.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

Reading, 20th January 1881.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I had, as you know, the honour of being installed W.M. of the Union Lodge, No. 414, on Tuesday, the 18th inst., a day ever to be remembered on account of the fearful storm of wind and snow which raged throughout the day and night. After the ceremony was ended, our worthy Bro. Moxhay, who has acted as Installing Master to both our Reading Lodges for many years, proposed, in the most happy terms, that the contents of the broken column should be on that occasion devoted to the Royal National Lifeboat Institution, to a branch of which I have acted as Hon. Sec. for the last fifteen years. Bro. Moxhay's kind proposal was no doubt prompted partly by his thought of the weather outside, and the recent reports of gallant deeds by our Lifeboat men, and partly, perhaps, by a wish to pay a compliment to myself. The proposal was at once heartily taken up by the brethren, and the result was that £6 7s 6d was collected for the above purpose. I may add that the proposal met with the warmest approbation from Bros. Binckes and Terry, who both did us the honour of coming through the storm to be present. I venture to ask you to make this known through your columns, in hopes that some other Lodges may be induced to follow our example, and, while not forgetting for one moment their obligations to support our own Charities, try to spare something for the support of an Institution which just now has very heavy demands upon its funds.

I am, yours truly and fraternally,

CHAS. STEPHENS, W.M. 414,

P.G. Treas. Berks and Bucks.

[We consider the suggestion of our worthy and Worshipful Brother Charles Stephens is a most excellent one, and we commend it, accordingly, to the notice of our different Lodges. Every Mason must take a special interest in the welfare of the National Lifeboat Institution, quite apart from the ordinary impulses of humanity. There is no doubt about it being a magnificent institution, no doubt about the invaluable service it renders, and, unfortunately, no doubt about it being at all times, but more especially in such tempestuous weather as is now prevailing, in need of every scrap of pecuniary assistance that can possibly be rendered. So far we Masons and the public generally are of one accord, as we are upon the same level in respect to the Society's claims upon the support of the whole community. But we must not lose sight of the fact that when Grand Lodge determined on voting a sort of thank-offering, in order to commemorate the safe return from India of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, M.W. Grand Master, several schemes were proposed, but that which, after due consideration, found favour ultimately was the presentation to the Lifeboat Institution of £4000, for the purpose of building and endowing two lifeboats. These lifeboats have already done signal service, the latest evidence of which reaches us in the shape of a telegram from Clacton-on-Sea, where one of the two—the Albert Edward—is stationed:—

The brigantine Hasselo, of Haguesund, bound from Riga to London, with a cargo of oats, has been wrecked on the Maplin Sands. In reply to the signals of distress sent up from the Sands, the Albert Edward lifeboat, which belongs to the National Lifeboat Institution, proceeded out, and after an absence of twenty-four hours, she returned this morning, all safe, with the shipwrecked crew of eight men. The men were, however, all but dead from the cold.

This, of course, is only one out of many examples of the gallant services rendered by our Lifeboat crews. Yet it cannot fail to have a special interest with the Freemasons of England, who must rejoice that their humble contribution to the Royal National Lifeboat Institution has been of such service to the poor fellows whose duty it is to go down into the sea in ships at the imminent peril of their lives. Other reasons—notably that a third lifeboat, stationed, we believe, at Berwick-on-Tweed, owes its existence to the contributions of our Warwickshire brethren—might be urged in favour of Bro. Stephen's suggestion; but we need not enumerate them. Distress of every kind prevails just now, but among the most terrible to be endured is that connected with, or caused by, the perils of the sea.—Ed. F. C.]

WITHDRAWAL OF VISITORS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have no intention of prolonging what Bro. Gottheil very rightly describes as—in the character it has now assumed—a "useless and purposeless controversy," nor, if I was so disposed, is it likely that you, Sir, would care to have your pages encumbered with such purposeless matter. I must, however, ask you to accord me a little space in order that I may notice the singular idea which Bro. Gottheil appears to have formed of what I suppose I must call the duties of a private correspondent. I said in my last letter that I passed over one paragraph of Bro. Gottheil's letter because the matter it dealt with concerned the editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, not me. It was in that paragraph that he sought to inquire how apparently different statements of view made by the Editor on one and the same subject at different times were reconcilable, and how Oliver could be quoted in favour of one view in 1878, and in that of the opposite view in 1880. Now, I need hardly tell you, Sir, that I had not in 1878, and have not now, anything whatever to do with the editorial conduct of your Journal. I may, perhaps, have read your leading article respecting this "incident" in Bro. Constable's South African adventures; but I certainly had forgotten all about it when I saw your reporter's footnote to the Tranquillity notice. I criticised that note, or rather, the conduct it described, and quoted Oliver from memory as saying something to the effect that when business of a private character was being considered, a Visitor who possessed any delicacy of feeling would retire without being asked, or as soon as he was asked. For so much, or rather for all that I said in my letter, I am wholly and solely responsible; but how I can be held responsible for what was said by the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE in 1878 and 1880 is a mystery which I shall not even attempt to unravel. If Bro. Gottheil is anxious, from a very "natural curiosity," respecting certain apparent or alleged differences of opinion as expressed by you in 1878 and 1880, it seems to me that you are the proper person he should appeal to. I have said twice, and I repeat for the third time, that Bro. Constable's indignation struck me as being not unlike an exhibition of spleen. I have said twice, and repeat for the third time, that, were I Bro. Constable, I should have wished your reporter at Jericho rather than that he should have gone out of his way to refer to what Bro. Gottheil has himself described since as a "half-forgotten incident of no great importance to the high interests of the Craft." I still regard Oliver as an authority as to the propriety of Visitors retiring from a Lodge during the discussion of private business. For all this I am responsible, but I have nothing to do with what may have been said editorially in 1878 and 1880.

If pedantry consists in convicting a man of being illogical, I must plead guilty to the charge of being a pedant; but then I was obliged to appear in that character in order to defend myself from the somewhat serious charge of having criticised your reporter's version of Bro. Constable's conduct on a particular occasion in a spirit of long-suppressed anger against that brother. When I read this, I was induced by a very "natural curiosity" to ask Bro. Gottheil for the proof of his assertion. I am now told that it was not what I said, but the manner in which I said it, which so angered Bro. Gottheil and impelled him "to express disgust at the studied insolence which characterised and gave tone to what is now pretended to have been friendly criticism." He admits that I, or any other brother, had the right to criticise your reporter's note, and he is now obliged to admit that his charge against me of being prompted in making that criticism by a long suppressed-anger against Brother Constable has no foundation. However, in order to cover his retreat, he finds it convenient to attribute to me "studied insolence" and a pretence of friendly criticism. It must be obvious to your readers, that Bro. Gottheil's fever of disgust, like Bro. Constable's frenzy of indignation, has so completely mastered both his head and his heart, as to have knocked all sense out of the former, and all charitable feeling, as between brothers, out of the latter. He allows that he cannot possibly know anything about me or my character, yet having made one charge and been compelled to retract it, he now insinuates a brace of fresh ones, possibly in order that he may enjoy the pleasure of withdrawing them likewise, or better still, perhaps, in order to show how much preliminary squabbling is necessary to the establishment of the true spirit of Masonic charity.

I am glad to hear he "has been animated by no enmity" towards me, yet in all innocence and without the slighest enmity, I ask—

'Twas all very well to dissemble your love,
But why did you kick me downstairs?

Fraternally yours,

THE IRREPRESSIBLE TOMKINS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Whether or not it was wise on the part of the "IRREPRESSIBLE TOMKINS" to criticise certain conduct of Bro. Constable's may be fairly questioned, as it is a fair question for argument whether he might not have worded his letter somewhat differently. But no mistake or misconception on his part justified the violent personal attack that has been made upon him by Brother Gottheil. The brother who rejoices in the nom de plume of Tomkins had a right, as Bro. Gottheil himself allows, to criticise, in the public interest, conduct which he thought was wrong, though he may not have gone about his task in the best way. Still, there was nothing in his letter to justify the assertion that he was influenced in his remarks by a long-suppressed animosity, or words to that effect. If it was necessary for Bro. Gottheil to have his say, he should have done so without setting an example of that very violence of which, in his opinion, Bro. Tomkins had been guilty. As for the criticism having taken the form of an anonymous letter, I see nothing very serious to complain of in that. It was not an attack on Brother Constable's reputation, and the very worst that can be said of it is, that it was questionable taste on the part of the writer to have taken any notice at all of a matter so unimportant. It is only from the fact of Bro. Constable's name having been a good deal before the Masonic world for some few years past, that anything he says or does outside the special sphere of labour he has chosen, can have the slighest interest for the Craft. He has done splendid work for the Charities, but that does not constitute him an authority on the etiquette that should be observed in our Masonic Lodges.

I remain, yours faithfully and fraternally,

H. C. E.

P.S.—I am entirely in the dark as to the personal identity of the IRREPRESSIBLE TOMKINS with any particular brother, and only write this because I consider Bro. Gottheil was not justified in charging him with animus against Bro. Constable.—H. C. E.

GRAND LODGE GRANTS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I fully agree with every word you say as to the advisability of—I will go further, and say the necessity for—Grand Lodge reviewing its annual donation to our Schools. A grant that was reasonable enough more than forty years since cannot be reasonable now that the intrants into Freemasonry have so vastly increased in number. But as regards the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, it must not be lost sight of that Grand Lodge exacts a kind of quid pro quo in the shape of votes to the Lodges under its jurisdiction in return for its liberal grant of £800 per annum. I am well aware that even then its grant is largely in excess of those made to the Schools, but the condition exacted makes the inequality less real, if not altogether less apparent. I have not by me at the moment of writing the Rules of the Benevolent Fund, or I would have given you chapter and verse for my statement.

Yours very fraternally,

ANSELM.

[We are obliged to our correspondent for his communication, and shall take an early opportunity of referring to the matter he has noticed. It will, of course, be understood that what we concern ourselves about is the welfare of all our Institutions. Each has it admirers and workers, but we admire and work for all three.—[ED. F.C.]

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

ANCHOR AND HOPE LODGE, No. 37, BOLTON.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge was held at the Swan Hotel, Bolton, on Monday, 10th inst. There was a good attendance of brethren. Amongst those present being Bros. J. Mills W.M., R. Frederick Croaker was unanimously elected Worshipful Master for the ensuing year; Bro. John Constable P.M. was re-elected Treasurer, with many thanks for his past valuable services to the Lodge; and Bro. R. F. Potter was again appointed Tyler. On the motion of Bro. John Constable P.M., it was unanimously resolved that the sum of ten guineas be voted from the Lodge Fund, wherewith to purchase a testimonial to the Worshipful Master, Bro. W. D. Bayley, upon his retirement from the chair. After the transaction of the customary business, Lodge was closed in form, and the brethren adjourned to the coffee-room of the hotel, where a substantial supper was provided by Messrs.

Ritter and Clifford, whose arrangements for the comfort and enjoyment of the party were eminently satisfactory. After the prefatory toasts had been honoured, Bro. J. D. Barnett I.P.M. had much pleasure in proposing the health of their excellent retiring Master, Bro. Bayley, whose services to the Lodge could not be overestimated. No one had ever filled that position in their old and reputed Lodge with more real ability or fidelity, and he was sure Bro. Bayley retired from the post he had so worthily filled with the esteem and the affection of all the brethren. He had so endeared himself to the brethren by his admirable working, his urbanity and kindness, that the testimonial which had been voted to him that evening was but a very slight, though sincere, recognition on their part of the regard in which he was held by all who had the privilege of attending the meetings of this Lodge. Brother W. D. Bayley, who was received with loud and prolonged applause, said it was always with a certain amount of diffidence that one responded to the toast of his health so kindly and so flatteringly proposed as his had been that evening. He could hardly find words adequate to express his gratitude for the double compliment which had been paid him by the brethren of the Lodge, but he assured them of his continued interest in the Lodge of Tranquillity, and he should endeavour to do his utmost to promote the welfare of a body amongst whom he had received so much kindness and assistance. He had striven to the utmost of his ability to occupy the position to which, by the kindness of the brethren he had been elected, and to retire from that post with such expressions of satisfaction as he had heard to-night was a proud moment in a man's life. When he took the chair, he heard a great deal about the duties appertaining to so exalted a position, but those duties had turned into pleasures from the kindnesses he had received from the Officers and all connected with the Lodge. Indeed, his path had been one of flowers instead of thorns. In turn, he proposed the health of the W.M. elect, and he could only express the hope that when he left the chair he might receive the same kind expressions as they had accorded to him (the speaker) on the present occasion. He felt certain it would be so, for Bro. Croaker had worked himself up side by side with himself, and had shown such assiduity and such practical care for the interests of the Lodge that it was eminently satisfactory he should have been so unanimously elected to the chair for the ensuing year. He was perfectly convinced that in Bro. Croaker they would find an excellent Wor. Master in the ensuing year. Bro. Frederick Croaker, in acknowledging the compliment paid him, assured the brethren that when he occupied the position to which they had so kindly elected him, he should do his utmost to discharge his duties to the Lodge and to the Craft in a manner that should reflect credit on himself and, he hoped, give satisfaction to the brethren. Several other toasts were proposed, special mention being made of the services rendered by Bro. John Constable, the Treasurer of the Lodge. During the evening some excellent vocal and instrumental music was rendered by the brethren and visitors, and the proceedings were altogether of a very enjoyable and harmonious description.

UNION LODGE, No. 38.

A GATHERING of an exceptionally interesting character took place at Chichester, on Thursday, 13th inst. There was a large muster of Masonic notabilities to witness the installation of Bro. R. G. Raper P. Prov. G.W. for the second time as W.M. of the above Lodge, and who selected as his Senior Warden Bro. the Earl of March, M.P. At the banquet which followed, the W.M. referred to the circumstance of the Earl of March accepting office that day in the Lodge, and to the fact that in due course his Lordship would succeed to the chair. The W.M. said he rejoiced in the circumstance, not simply from the high position of the noble Lord, but because he was keeping up the traditions of his House in thus associating his name again with Masonry. He added that for nearly 200 years the Dukes of Richmond had been connected with Masonry. In 1675 a Duke of Richmond was Grand Master of England; a few years later a Lodge was held on St. Roques's Hill (Rock's Hill), under the auspices of a Duke of Richmond, who also obtained permission to hold a Lodge at his seat at Aubigny, in France, in consequence of which Masonry was much extended in foreign countries. Successive Dukes of Richmond and Earls of March had been Provincial Grand Masters of Sussex and Masters of the Union Lodge in an unbroken line up to 1861, when the death of the much-loved Charles Duke of Richmond, the late Duke, for a time broke the tie. But that evening they had another Earl of March enrolled in their Lodge, holding office in it, and in full prospect of the highest post therein, and under whose kind and genial shelter they might with confidence hope to see the Lodge and Masonry generally flourish and increase. The Visitors included Bro. J. Henderson Scott J.G.D. Deputy Provincial Grand Master of Sussex, and the Masons of Portsmouth had a worthy representative in Bro. R. J. Murrell P.M. FIDELITY LODGE, No. 230.

THE annual meeting of this Lodge was held on Thursday, the 20th inst., at the Royal Hotel, Devonport, and was one of the most enjoyable of the season, inasmuch as the ladies were, as on a former occasion, present. The dinner was all that could be desired, and Mrs. and Bro. Parker were especially thanked for their attention to the wants of the visitors, and for their excellent arrangements. The toasts usual on the occasion of the Festival of St. John were duly honoured, and in the course of the evening the Worshipful Master presented his Installing Past Master with a gold Past Master's jewel, engraved as follows:—"Presented by Lodge Fidelity, No. 230, to W. Bro. J. P. H. Harris, in recognition of his zeal and ability as Master. A.L. 5880." The Secretary stated that the finances of the Lodge were in a sound and satisfactory condition. Bro. R. Cawsey, the Secretary, after thanking the brethren for himself, stated that the Treasurer had, on a recent occasion, declined to receive a jewel from the Lodge funds, whereupon the members had resolved to subscribe for one amongst themselves, and the result was the very handsome and massive gold jewel which he had the honour and pleasure of presenting. This jewel was engraved—"Subscribed for, and presented to, Bro. John Lynn P.M. Treasurer, P.P.G.S.B. Devon, by his brethren of Lodge Fidelity, 230, as a mark of their esteem for him, and in recognition of his services to the Lodge. A.L. 5881." The toast of the evening was "The Ladies," Bro. Gover replying "as a wife," and giving the Masons some sound advice, whilst Bro. Orchard replied as a sweetheart. The tables being cleared, a ball and concert followed. Bro. C. Haggarty acted as M.C. for the ball, and there was an excellent band. A young lady of eleven, Miss Bessie Haggarty, pupil of Miss Williams, of Valletort-place, Stoke, who has lately passed a successful examination at Trinity College with honours, performed some choice selections of music, which were highly appreciated and applauded; and Bros. Rendle, Lynn, Ridland, and Orchard gave excellent songs and readings. Bro. R. Ellis presided. Amongst those present were the following Past Masters:—Bros. J. P. H. Harris, J. Lynn, R. Cawsey, William Joll, D. Lynn, A. Rowe, W. Luce, A. Swiss, R. Pike, all of 230; the other Officers and brethren comprised—R. Pitcher, J. Whitford, F. Border, W. M. Ridland, E. Littleton, W. Rattenbury, H. Boyling, Fred. Orchard, J. E. Curteis 189, E. Aitken-Davies 1099, J. Batten-Gover 20, J. Russell-Lord 1247, C. S. Stribbling 70, E. March 202, R. Pengelly 70, James Rendle 1247 W. Coath 893, Hy. J. Trethewy 202, T. Searle 1091, T. G. Peek Metham. The ladies were well represented by Mesdames Ellis, Harris, J. Lynn, Cawsey, D. Lynn, Pike, Pitcher, Whitford, Border, Ridland, Littleton, Boyling, Pengelly, March, Trethewy, Quance, Vahland, Haggarty, Pierce, Bridgman, Sandy, and Misses Stephens, Miller, Boyling (2), Ellis, Berryman, Leader, Brown, and Bailey. The W.M. elect was installed in the chair by Bro. Franklin Thomas P.M. (Blackburn) P.P.G.R. Oxon P.P.G.J.D. E. Lanc., and the following Officers were invested by Bros. John Wardley P.M. E.L., T. Grime P.M. P.P.G.A.D.C. E.L. of Darwen, and other brethren from Blackburn, Bacup, Stockport, Plymouth, &c. The brethren afterwards adjourned to the Alexandra Hotel, were a most sumptuous dinner was served by Bro. and Mrs. Bromley. The room was tastefully decorated, the leading feature being three large shields, bearing the monogram, number, and name of the Lodge, and badge of the principal Officer, and affixed behind each principal chair, executed in most artistic taste by Bro. C. H. Woods, Architect, of this town. The Lodge appears to be in a healthy and flourishing condition, and is rapidly gaining strength in numbers and in influence.

WELLINGTON LODGE, No. 784, DEAL.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge was held at the Public Rooms, Deal, on Thursday, 13th inst., when Bro. Benjamin Wood was duly installed as W.M. by Bro. Bird P.M. 784 P.P.S.G.W. Kent. There was a large number of visiting brethren present; nineteen Past Masters forming the Board. Bro. Wood then appointed his Officers as follow:—Bros. Solly S.W., Rev. T. Griffith Rector of Deal J.W., Bridge jun. S.D., Foster J.D., Elliott I.G., Bro. Hayman was re-appointed Secretary, and Browning re-invested as Treasurer. The Charity box was passed, and the Tyler's toast terminated a very agreeable evening.

MERIDIAN LODGE, No. 829.

ON Monday, the 17th inst., a new Lodge room—built by the R.W. Grand Master of Cornwall, the Earl of Mount Edgcumbe—was opened at Millbrook, when a large number of distinguished brethren were present. MEETING OF THE LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

THE Lodge of Benevolence held its first meeting for the present year on Wednesday evening. The chairs of President, Senior Vice-President, and Junior Vice-President, were occupied respectively by Bro. Joshua Nunn P.G.S.B. Senior Vice-President, Bro. S. Rawson Past D.G.M. of China, and Bro. Henry Garrod P.M. 749. The attendance of brethren, owing no doubt to the great inclemency of the weather, was not so large as usual. The brethren first confirmed the grants recommended at last meeting, amounting to £590. There were twenty-eight new cases on the list, nineteen of which, after a long sitting, were relieved, with a total sum of £520. Eight cases were deferred, being incomplete, and one was dismissed. The Lodge of Benevolence was then closed.

Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, No. 554.—On Tuesday, the 18th instant, the Fifteen Sections were to have been worked by Bro. P.M. Andrews, assisted by a capital list of good workers. However, it could scarcely have been expected that any number would in such weather as prevailed on that day be at the trouble of attending. Still, Bro. Andrews was to the front, and secured a really good muster. The ordinary work was done, and Bro. Andrews was supported by Bros. Shingfield as S.W., Loane J.W., T. F. Harvey S.D., Judd I.G., and G. H. Stephens Acting Preceptor. Bros. J. Taylor, Wilson, W. Musto P.M., T. J. Tyer, Anderson, &c., were also present. After the usual preliminaries, the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. J. Taylor candidate. The W.M. worked the first, second, and third sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bros. A. Judd 1421 and T. J. Tyer 1306 were admitted members, and the working of the Fifteen Sections having been fixed, subject to confirmation, for the 15th proximo, Lodge was closed and adjourned until the 1st February, instead of, as would have been the case, to the 25th instant, owing to the Yarborough Masonic Benevolent Association holding its usual monthly meeting on the latter mentioned day.

William of Wykeham Lodge, No 1883.—This new Lodge has attracted many candidates, and at Lodges of Emergency, on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, the W.M. (Bro. Everitt) initiated eight candidates, being aided in the heavy work by P.M.'s W. Gamon, E. D. Godwin (Mayor), and A. A. Hill. The banquet was held on Wednesday night at the George Hotel. The attendance was good, and Bro. Palmer's catering gave entire satisfaction to the Lodge.

FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE

23 GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

TESTIMONIAL TO THE PROV. G. SECRETARY OF NORTH AND EAST YORKSHIRE.

THERE was an influential gathering of Masons at York, on Monday, 17th inst., on the occasion of the presentation of a testimonial to Bro. M. C. Peck, who for fourteen years has performed the honorary duties of Provincial Grand Secretary for the Province of North and East Yorkshire. It was at the time of the last communication of the Provincial Grand Chapter in May 1880, that the subject of a testimonial to Bro. Peck was broached, and at that time a committee was formed, with Dr. Bell Deputy Provincial Grand Master as chairman, and Bro. T. Thompson P.M., of Hull, as Secretary, to carry out the idea. Subscription lists were opened, and contributions came in from the various Lodges of the Province, with the result that a very handsome sum was raised. At the meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge at Scarborough in the autumn, it was arranged that the presentation should be made at York, as the most central place, in January, and accordingly arrangements were made, the use of the Masonic Hall was granted by the W.M. of the York Lodge, and the Provincial Grand Master consented to present the testimonial.

All subscribers to the fund received invitations to be present, and there was a good gathering, which would have been much larger but for the inclement nature of the weather. The brethren appeared in full Masonic clothing. The testimonial consisted of a large and massive silver salver, and a tea and coffee service, and was laid out upon a table in the centre of the hall.

The Earl of Zetland Provincial Grand Master took the chair, and, at the request of the Deputy Provincial Grand Master Dr. Bell, proceeded to make the presentation. He said it gave him great pleasure to see before him so influential an assemblage of brethren, and he was sure that but for the severe weather many more would have been present. Bro. Peck had been well known amongst them for many years. For a period of over 22 years he had been a Mason, and during most of that time he had acted as Secretary to the Minerva, his mother Lodge. He had also been instrumental in founding more than one Lodge in the Province, and during the fifteen years he had served as Provincial Grand Secretary he had devoted his best energies to the interests of Freemasonry in the Province. He (Lord Zetland) could say that during the seven years he had been honoured by holding the high office of Provincial Grand Master, he could not have wished for better support than he had received from the brethren, and from Bro. Peck in particular, as Provincial Grand Secretary. He had always experienced at his hands the utmost courtesy and kindness. He would proceed to read to them the inscription upon the salver, which was as follows:—

Presented, together with a Tea and Coffee and Service,
And other articles of Silver,
By the Freemasons of the North and East Ridings of Yorkshire,
To
MICHAEL CHARLES PECK Junior, Esq., P.M. and P.Z.
Nos. 250, 1040, 1511, &c.,
As a mark of their high personal esteem and regard, and in recognition of the great ability, zeal, and courtesy
With which he has for a period of 15 years performed the honorary duties of Provincial Grand Secretary.
Jan. 7 1881.

His lordship went on to say that he was sure he was only the mouthpiece of the brethren of the Province of North and East Yorkshire when he expressed a hope that Bro. Peck might live and prosper for many years to come to enjoy the remembrance of the esteem of his brethren.

Bro. Dr. Bell said he might add to what had fallen from his lordship that the committee had expended a small balance of the fund at their disposal in the purchase of a gold bracelet, set with diamonds and sapphires, which they desired Bro. Peck to convey to Mrs. Peck as a testimony of the respect in which her husband was held by his brethren.

Bro. Peck, in responding, said that there were some periods in the life of every man when he felt embarrassed and at a loss for words, and this, in his case, was one of them. He could only express in feeble sentences the deep honour and gratification he felt in this mark of their confidence, and in the unanimous response of the brethren to the suggestion of the D.P.G.M. They had been pleased thus to express approval of his services. He could only say on his entry into Freemasonry he had made up his mind to make a study of the Royal Art, and to devote his spare time to its interest. Bro. Peck then gave a sketch of his career in Blue Masonry from the time of his initiation to that when he succeeded Dr. Bell as Provincial Grand Secretary fourteen years ago. He could assure them that the testimonial was most unlooked for. Some brethren might think he had not visited the Lodges as much as he might have done, but if this were so, it was due to the pressing emergencies of his own business. He was deeply sensible of the uniform consideration shown towards his imperfections by the brethren, and trusted the G.A. would spare them all for many a year to meet their illustrious chief at their annual assemblies. On behalf of himself and Mrs. Peck he tendered his warmest thanks.

Bro. Dr. Bell, in moving a vote of thanks to the Provincial Grand Master for presiding, said his lordship must have a Masonic heart above blood heat, to have induced him to travel so tedious a journey to be present on the occasion with the thermometer at zero. Sir James Meek seconded the vote of thanks, which was carried by acclamation, and Lord Zetland, in acknowledging the same, said it was never a toil, but always a pleasure to him, to come amongst brethren who were ever so kind and courteous towards himself. He always was glad to meet their wishes in every possible way. Bro. J. W. Woodall proposed, and Bro. Dr. Bell seconded, a vote of thanks to Bro. T. Thompson, the Secretary of the Fund. Bro. Dr. Bell proposed, and Bro. Cumberland seconded, a vote of thanks to the W.M. and brethren of the York Lodge for the use of their hall, which was responded to by Bro. J. Todd, who apologised for the absence of the W.M., who was detained by business. This closed the business of the meeting.

A collation was afterwards held at the Station Hotel, at which about twenty-five brethren met together. In responding to the toast of his health, Bro. Dr. Bell, who presided, said he regretted to have observed in one of the Masonic papers, in a sketch of Masonry in Bath, an attempt to take from York the glory of being the first and original Grand Lodge of England. By a quibble of words it was sought to prove that London was the first Grand Lodge. He maintained that York was the first Grand Lodge, and if it did not bear that title, still it was de facto the Grand Lodge, for it exercised the functions of the Grand Lodge, being the annual place of assembly of all the Masons' Lodges in England, where the constitutions were preserved and enactments passed for the good of the Craft. He was extremely jealous of the prestige of York Masonry, and he objected to any attempt to filch from York the ancient fame of being the Cradle of English Masonry. A number of other toasts were honoured. We may add that the value of the testimonial exceeded £160.

Amongst the brethren present on the occasion we noticed the following, in addition to those whose names have already been mentioned:—Bros. C. Palliser P.M. 1416, Prov. Grand Superintendent of Works, A. Buckle P.M. 236 Prov. Grand Deacon, J. Murray P.M. 200 Prov. S.G.W., T. B. Whytehead P.M. 1611 P.P.G.D.C., W. Lawton P.M. 236 P.P.G.R., J. W. Walker W.M. 660, W. H. BEADON CHAPTER, No. 619.

THE Installation Convocation of the Beadon Chapter, No. 619, took place on Thursday, the 13th, at the Masons' Hall Tavern, Mason's-avenue, Basinghall street, and was numerously attended; Comps. Wyer Z., H. Thompson H., and F. Sharratt J. Previously to the meeting of the Chapter the annual audit of the accounts was held, and it terminated with the knowledge that there was a very satisfactory balance in favour of the Chapter. The P.Z.'s present were Comps. Coste, Seaman, Green, and Sneed, the latter being the Installing Officer, which duty he has most ably discharged for many years past. The whole of the Companions below the degree of Installed First Principal having withdrawn, Comp. Thompson, who had been unanimously elected M.E.Z. at the last convocation of the Chapter, was presented by Comp. W. H. Green P.Z. and S.E. to fill the exalted office of M.E.Z. for the ensuing year, and was most impressively installed by Comp. W. Sneed, and it was remarked by the Companions who had the privilege of being present, that never was that important ceremony more accurately, impressively, or beautifully performed, and these remarks would equally apply to his rendering of the solemn rites in respect to the installation of Comps. Sharratt and Dodman respectively as H. and J. The rest of the Companions having been re-admitted, the M.E.Z. proceeded to invest the Officers of the Chapter, viz., Comps. Green S.E., Dawes S.N., Coste locum tenens for Comp. A. Avery as Treasurer, Dr. Pridmore as P.S., and Bavin as Janitor, offering a few words of congratulation to each, but more particuly to Comp. Green P.S., who he should always look up to with esteem and respect as his father in Royal Arch Masonry. He hoped for many years to see him re-elected into the responsible position of S.E. of the Beadon Chapter. In investing Dr. Pridmore as P.S., he impressed upon him a knowledge of the important duties he had to perform, as without his ready and efficient assistance it was impossible that the business of the Chapter could be properly fulfilled. He then said that he had a most pleasing duty to perform, which was to present Comp. Wyer the I.P.Z., on behalf of the Companions, with a substantial mark of their regard, which was a jewel, unanimously voted to him at the last Chapter. In placing it on his breast, as a token of their goodwill, he trusted that he might be long blessed with health to wear it, and when he looked upon it, he felt assured it would remind him of the high esteem and many happy hours he had spent in the Beadon Chapter. Comp. Wyer, in accepting the jewel, which had just been placed upon his breast, said he should always wear it with pleasure; it had been his earnest desire to deserve it; he had served all the offices, and anything that he could now do to promote the prosperity of the Chapter, would be to him a pleasure; he should always be ready to do anything in his power to maintain that goodwill that had ever subsisted amongst them. The M.E.Z., in investing Comp. Bavin as Janitor, said he also had for many years held that office, and remarked that his duties were very responsible, as regarded the admission of strangers amongst them, but he had for so many years carried on those duties to their satisfaction that it needed no comment from him, and he hoped he for many more years would fill that important post. The Chapter was then closed in the usual form, and the Companions adjourned to the dining-hall for refreshment, where an excellent dinner was provided by Comp. Wood. On the conclusion of the repast the customary Royal Arch grace was given. The M.E.Z. said the first toast that was given in all assemblies was that of the Queen, and as he had no desire to occupy the time of the Companions by extolling her good qualities, he should, without further comment, give them the Queen and Royal Arch Masonry; which was responded to with a hearty "fire." The M.E.Z. next proposed the toast of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales Grand Z., and remarked that to say anything in his praise would be to gild refined gold; therefore he asked the Companions to join with him in rendering all homage to the toast he proposed, which request was most heartily responded to. The M.E.Z. said as he knew the Companions were desirous of getting to their homes as early as was consistent with their comfort, the next toast he had to propose would be a comprehensive one; it was the Pro Grand Z. the Earl of Carnarvon, the Grand H. the Earl of Lathom, and the Grand J. Lord de Tabley, which was also well responded to. Comp. Wyer I.P.Z. rose; he had the privilege to propose the next toast, which was the health of the M.E.Z. Comp. Thompson, remarking he had great pleasure in doing so, as he felt assured he would discharge the important office to which he had been appointed to their entire satisfaction. The toast was cordially received. Comp. Thompson M.E.Z., in reply, said he felt deeply grateful to the Companions for the exalted position in which, by their unanimous vote, he had been appointed, and could assure them that he would do all in his power to perform the duties to their satisfaction, although he had been called to it much earlier than he expected, and he feared he should but inadequately follow the excellence of Comp. Wyer, who had preceded him; but if they found any shortcomings on his part, he must ask them to give him their indulgence. This, however, he would say, that no effort on his part should be wanting to give them satisfaction, and if he failed it would not be from want of inclination, but of ability. The M.E.Z. said the next toast he had to propose was that of the Past Principals of the Chapter—Comps. Wyer, Green, Seaman, Coste, and Sneed, who had all rendered good suit and service, and on this occasion wished particularly to refer to Comp. Sneed, the installing P.Z.; in doing so he hardly knew how to express his appreciation of the ability with which he had performed the ceremonies of installing the Principals that evening, for nothing could be more impressive or beautiful than the manner in which they had been gone through; any commendation he could utter would fall far short of what it deserved. It was to him a great pleasure; although somewhat of an old Mason he had never been so thoroughly impressed with any ceremony he had before witnessed; it was one of which he would always retain a lively remembrance. Comps. Coste, Wyer, Green, and Seaman briefly returned thanks for the flattering terms in which the M.E.Z. had spoken of them, and Comp. Sneed also acknowledged the compliment that had been paid to him, at the same time stating that at any time any services he could render were always at the command of the Chapter. At this period of the evening, Comp. John Foulger P.Z. of the Domatic Chapter entered the room, and the M.E.Z. said he would take the liberty of interposing a toast that was not included in the programme, for he found that he was that night honoured by the presence of a very old friend, who was, with him, a member of the Domatic Lodge. It was an unexpected pleasure to find him present on the night of his installation into the chair of First Principal of the Royal Arch. He gave him a hearty welcome, and would ask the Comps. to join him in drinking the health of Comp. J. Foulger P.Z. of the Domatic Chapter. The toast was most cordially received, and Comp. Foulger expressed the satisfaction and pleasure he felt in being present on the occasion of Comp. Thompson's installation, and spoke of the pleasant recollections it brought of times past, when they were both members of the Domatic Lodge. The M.E.Z. then said he had now to propose a very important toast; it was the health of Comps. Sharratt and Dodman, the Principals H. and J. He had no doubt that they would well discharge their duties, and in due time attain the high position he now occupied. Comps. Sharratt and Dodman respectively returned thanks, expressing their determination to maintain the reputation of the Chapter. The next toast was the health of Comps. Green and Dawes, S.E. and S.N., and in proposing it the M.E.Z. said that Comp. Green was a most worthy and painstaking Officer, by whom he had been exalted into Royal Arch Masonry, and for whom he should always entertain the highest repect; he believed Comp. Dawes as S.N. would prove a most efficient Officer. Comps. Green and Dawes each returned thanks for the appreciation of their services; they would always endeavour to merit the good opinion of the Companions. In giving the toast of the Treasurer, the M.E.Z. said that Comp. Alfred Avery was one of his oldest friends in Freemasonry, and he deeply regretted that he was absent that evening, the more especially as he (Companion Thompson) understood that it was illness kept him away, but he trusted it would only be temporary. He then proposed, as a toast, "Better health to Comp. Avery," with the best wishes of every member of the Chapter. The toast was heartily responded to. Comp. Coste undertook to convey to Comp. Avery the kind feelings evinced towards him by the M.E.Z. and Companions; he was sure that he would be gratified to know that in his absence he had not been forgotten. Some other toasts were given, and that from the Janitor brought a pleasant evening to a close. Several songs were sung during the evening. Complete harmony and good fellowship prevailed.

S.S. PETER AND PAUL'S LODGE, No. 1410.

THE installation banquet in connection with this Lodge was held on Tuesday evening, 11th inst., at the Swan Hotel, having been adjourned from Tuesday, 9th November, owing to the banqueting room being in an unfinished state at that time. The room presented a very neat and excellent appearance as far as the architectural surroundings were concerned, and also exhibited the fact that a good deal of care had been displayed in the workmanship; but the increased size of the room and the abolition of the partition has tended somewhat to add to the discomfort of the company, as was experienced on this occasion, when many of the members complained of the intense cold. Besides this, the removal of the partition has taken away the ante-room, which was of considerable service, and was much appreciated. The business of the evening, which was of a purely formal character—the installation of the W.M. Bro. A. J. Coles, and the investiture of his Officers, having taken place at the previous meeting—was held in an adjoining room. Host Canon had provided an excellent repast, which gave general satisfaction. On the removal of the cloth, the usual loyal toasts were given and well received. The W.M. then gave the toast the Most Worshipful the Grand Master and Pro Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers Past and Present, coupled with the name of Bro. the Rev. J. Studholme Brownrigg Past Grand Chaplain, who, in responding, said that it was thought by some that when the Prince of Wales was appointed Grand Master of England he would simply be acting as an ornamental title-page, but such he was able to inform them was certainly not the case, for he always took a very great interest in Masonry, and particularly in the working part. The Provincial Grand Master, the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, and the rest of the Provincial Grand Officers Past and Present was the next toast given, accompanied by suitable remarks from the W.M., coupled with the name of Bro. J. Reeve, who, in replying, said he was sure that every one who had the pleasure of knowing Sir Daniel Gooch also knew him to be a thorough gentleman and an excellent Mason. They were at the present time exceedingly fortunate in having Bro. Brownrigg as the D.P.G.M., because as long as he remained in that position they would always have the work well done. The health of the W.M., Bro. Coales, was then proposed by Bro. T. Taylor, who spoke very highly of his abilities as a Mason, and trusted the Officers would endeavour to follow his example. The W.M. briefly replied, and said he thanked Bro. Taylor for his very kind remarks, but thought he had said more of him than he deserved. He should endeavour to do his best to perform the duties of his office, and felt sure he would have the hearty co-operation of his Officers. He would thank them heartily for their very kind wishes, and hoped they might all have a Happy New Year. The W.M. then gave the Past Masters, coupled with the name of Bro. T. Taylor I.P.M., of whom he spoke in eulogistic terms, and was sure that no Lodge could boast of a better Past Master. Bro. Taylor suitably acknowledged the compliment, and was sure the W.M. had said more of him than he deserved, for he had simply done his duty. They had a capital example in Bro. Brownrigg, the first Master of the Lodge, and he thought with such an excellent beginning those who followed ought to do their best to make the working of the Lodge a success. The next toast, the Visitors, was given by the W.M., and was replied to by the following brethren:—Bro. Dr. Bull, who said it gave him great pleasure to be with them on that occasion, and especially to see the excellent working of the Lodge; Bros. the Rev. E. O. Rawson, J. Reeve, — Rogers, W. H. Robinson, R. King, E. Revill, F. D. Bull, and — Pike. The Rev. E. O. Rawson, in acknowledging the toast said, Worshipful Master, Senior and Junior Wardens, and Brethren, it always seems to me that those who have to respond on these occasions to the toast of the Visitors, are deserving of some sympathy, knowing, as we do, that Masonry has been in existence from time immemorial, and that hospitality has invariably been one of the characteristics of the Craft. You will form some idea of the number of times which this toast has been proposed, and how almost impossible it must be to say anything in reply which has not been often said before. But so near the beginning of the new year as we now are, the toast of the Visitors has more than its ordinary meaning. Our ears have lately been ringing with the words, "Peace on earth and good will to men," and I believe that we, as Masons, do not look upon the angelic song as once uttered, and then pass away, but that we all, constantly, on evenings like this, and at all other times, are anxious to carry its precepts and injunctions into daily practice. But, brethren, I have upon me to-night another thought. I come to you from the very spot in Cheshire which has lately been made famous, both in print and picture, by the sinking of land, the falling of buildings, and the toppling of chimneys; and while one feels that there is work there now for the operative Masons, it comes home to me with still greater force, that we have need to carry out the principles of Freemasonry, in order to perfect the edification of our own moral rectitude. I might also mention to you, that some months ago, Bro. Brownrigg, in the course of some addresses delivered in my parish, spoke to the men at work in one of our largest mines, which is now being closely watched, in fear of an inundation. So that it is possible, if Bro. Brownrigg had delayed his visit until the present time he might have been swamped where he stood, and the Masons of England would have to deplore the absence of a P.G.C.; this Province of its D.P.G.M.; and this Lodge of its energetic Secretary. It only remains for me to thank you for the heartiness of your welcome, to express a hope that the loss you sustained by fire last year was not very great, and to congratulate you on the rebuilding of the walls of your banqueting room. The Officers was next given, and suitably acknowledged by Bros. Cooper S.W. and Terry J.W. The Deputy Provincial Grand Master, the Rev. J. Studholme Brownrigg, begged leave to propose a toast. He would have preferred to have spoken a few words on the subject of this toast in open Lodge, but as they had been pressed for time he had been obliged to defer until the banquet that expression of regret which he, as the senior member of the Lodge, felt it his duty to make for himself and for the whole Lodge at the absence of Wor. Bro. Richard Hales P.J.G. Warden of the Province. All his Masonic friends knew the energy and zeal with which Bro. Hales did every kind of work he undertook. To him, as the first Junior Warden of the Lodge, the brethren of the SS. Peter and Paul's Lodge owed a debt they could never repay. But it would not be merely amongst Masons that Bro. Hales would be missed. All knew the important office he had held, that of Master of the Newport Pagnell Workhouse, and all knew how in the discharge of every duty connected with that office he had been a just and upright man. Of the twenty-four hours of the day he gave the most to his employers—it would have been well if he had spared more for that recreation which is essential to the health of a hard working man. One of the very few recreations he did permit himself was the membership of the SS. Peter and Paul's Lodge of Freemasonry, but for some years he had declined to hold office, lest by any chance its duties might encroach upon his professional work. Every member of the Lodge knew that never had any part of that professional work been hurried over or neglected for the sake of Freemasonry. They also knew how, in his daily life, Bro. Hales carried out those high principles which, as a Mason, he learnt with the Lodge. Was it possible to imagine any refreshment more suitable for a man whose daily life required a maintenance of the strictest honour and integrity, under many temptations, than the work of a Mason's Lodge, so full of high and noble teaching. Bros. E. Carr, C. Terry, A. J. Coles W.M., J. R. Wilmer, and T. Taylor spoke in the highest terms of Bro. Hales, both as a Mason and the Master of the Union, and the last strongly deprecated the language which had recently been used in respect to the fulfilment of his public duties. The harmony of the evening was sustained as follows:—"The May Pole," Bro. W. Wilmer; "The Jolly Miller," and "The Englishman," Bro. J. Odell; "The Midshipmite," "The Tar's Farewell," and "True Blue," Bro. H. H. Booth; "The British Lion" and "Little Binks," Bro. — Rogers; "Molly Dear" and "Three Little Pigs," Bro. B. Wilford; "Susan Jane," Bro. J. R. Wilmer; "Nobody cares for me," Bro. C. Terry; "Jolly Old Cadger," Bro. J. P. Goodwin; "The Bay of Biscay" and "She Wore a wreath of Roses," Bro. J. Line; and "Noisy Cats," Bro. Smith. The health of Bro. E. George was given by Bro. J. R. Wilmer, and suitably acknowledged. The Tyler's toast, given by Bro. T. Taylor, concluded a very pleasant evening.

SINCERITY LODGE, No. 174.

THE annual installation meeting of this Lodge took place on Wednesday, 19th inst., at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street. The attendance of brethren was somewhat small, but when we take into consideration the terrible state of the weather, it may be looked upon as being better than could have been expected. Bro. C. H. Webb the W.M. of the past year was the Installing Master, and it is needless to say that he peformed his task most efficiently. He was supported by the following Officers:—G. Jones Senior Warden, Fred Brown J.W., J. S. Fraser S.D., A. Haig Brown J.D., S. H. Rawley P.M. Treasurer, J. Newton P.M. Secretary, G. T. H. Seddon I.P.M., G. J. Hilliard P.M., C. Lacey P.M., E. J. Moore P.M., W. Fraser D.C., T. F. Harvey I.G. The business of the evening comprised, besides the installation, the initiation of Messrs. E. Goll and W. Henderson; one other candidate, whose name appeared on the summons, not being in attendance. A proposition, of which notice had been given, was brought forward by Bro. Brown, and after considerable discussion, was adjourned. After the closing of Lodge, the brethren proceeded to the banquet room where, under the presidency of the newly-installed W.M. Bro. G. Jones, a very pleasant evening was spent. After the brethren had enjoyed the good things provided, the usual loyal toasts were given. Bro. C. H. Webb, in proposing the health of the W.M., referred to the pleasure the brethren must experience in having as a Master Bro. Jones—a worthy and esteemed Brother of their ancient and honourable Lodge. He had performed his duty most efficiently in the past, and he (Bro. Webb) felt sure that when the time should come for him to retire from the chair, he would show that the selection of the brethren had been one worthy the reputation of the Lodge. The W.M. having tendered his thanks, assured the brethren that he very much appreciated the honour that had been paid him in placing him in his present position: it would be his constant endeavour to do all that might be required of him, both in support of that—his mother—Lodge, and of the Charities connected with the Order. He next gave Prosperity to the Charities, with which was coupled the name of Bro. Terry. Had every Lodge, said Bro. Terry, done the same thing in support of the Charities, the Institutions would now have been in a much better position. Not only was the Sincerity to the front on the many occasions when they were represented at the Festivals, but its private donations were both large and numerous. Its annual grant towards the Old People's New Year's entertainment, although of a somewhat insignificant character, showed the kindly spirit by which they were actuated, and he desired to especially thank the brethren for it. At the present time the Benevolent Institution was sadly in want of funds, and it was only by renewed efforts that they should be able to keep up even to the point they had already reached. At the present time there were ninety-nine candidates seeking a participation in the benefits of the Institution, but so far it was only possible to declare twenty vacancies, and thus four-fifths of the candidates would have to be rejected—a state of affairs terrible to contemplate. Bro. Terry had pleasure in referring to the forthcoming Stewardship of the W.M. of the Lodge, and announced with pleasure that he (Bro. Jones) had headed his own list with a personal donation of forty guineas, while up to the present time he had secured promises which enabled him to announce a total of £109. The W.M. next gave the health of the I.P.M. Bro. C. H. Webb, eulogising that brother for the way in which he had carried out the work of the chair during the past year. Bro. Webb expressed his hearty thanks. He looked upon the rank of P.M. in so old a Lodge as the Sincerity as a very great honour for any man to enjoy. He hoped that in the future, as in the past, he should work in such a way as to satisfy the brethren and himself. The Visitors were next honoured, Bros. Hill, Norden, Thorn, Brooks, Morgan, and others replying, after which, the P.M.'s and other Officers were proposed, Bros. Rawley, Lacey, Brown, Newton and others responding. The Tyler was next summoned, and gave the closing toast. Among the Visitors present were—Bros. P.M.'s G. Brooks 902, J. H. Thorn 554, J. Terry 228, &c., Sec. R.M.B.I.; Bros. C. G. Hill 1366, G. B. Chapman W.M. 27, J. How 141, T. Jones 1607, L. Dettmer 179, J. Stannard 1538, J. Stedman 1765, W. W. Morgan jun. 1385, L. Norden W.M. 205, W. March 276, T. J. Davy 1471.

The middle of the coming month will be a lively time for the brethren of the mystic tie who patronise the art of Terpsichore, for no less than three Masonic balls are announced to take place between the 17th and the 21st. The first, on the 17th, will be that given in connection with the Earl of Carnarvon Lodge, and will be their fifth annual entertainment; like the last, it will take place at the Town Hall, High-street, Kensington. The whole of the proceeds will be devoted to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, and we trust that the success which attended last year's attempt—when fifty guineas were handed over to the Benevolent Institution—may not only be equalled, but excelled on the present occasion. The price of the tickets is fixed at 10s 6d, and 7s 6d for gentlemen and ladies respectively, the double ticket being 16s. We must refer our readers for further information to Bro. W. J. Murlis, the Secretary, 154 Lancaster-road, W. The second ball under notice, which is that of the Carnarvon and Mixpah Lodges, is announced to take place on Friday, 18th prox., at the Cannon Street Hotel. The experience gained by the brethren of these two Lodges in the past will doubtless enable them to make every arrangement for the comfort of the guests, and we anticipate that this, like its predecessors, will be of a most enjoyable character. Bro. Nelson Reed (St. Helens Lodge, Lee, S.E.) is the Secretary, and he will be happy to answer any inquiries. The price of tickets is fixed at 15s single, and 25s double. The brethren of the Burdett Coutts Lodge, No. 1278, have fixed their ball for Monday, 21st February, and they also have secured the Cannon Street Hotel. The ball is under the patronage of the Baroness Burdett-Coutts, and the proceeds are to be devoted exclusively to the Masonic Charities. In this instance, as in the others, we think it best to refer our readers to the Secretary, Bro. R. L. Sturtevant, Bonner's Hall Fields, E. The price of the tickets is 21s double, and 12s 6d, and 10s 6d single for gentlemen and ladies respectively. We hope each of the entertainments will be well supported, and that all will prove enjoyable.

R.W. Bro. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Bart., M.P., P.G. Warden of England, who has recently been appointed by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M. to the Provincial Grand Mastership of Gloucestershire, in succession to Lord Sherborne resigned, has kindly consented to preside on the occasion of the Ninety-third Anniversary Festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, to be held at Freemasons' Hall, on the 18th—instead of on the 11th, as originally fixed—May next.

Miss Helen Heath—a lady of whose vocal talents laudatory mention has been frequently made in these columns—announces that her first Evening Concert will take place on Friday, 4th February, at the Horns, Kennington Park, on which occasion she will be assisted by the following Artistes:—Madame Worrell, Misses Annie Sinclair and Matilda Roby; Messrs. Tickets—3s, 2s, and 1s—can be had of the usual Music Publishers, or of Miss Heath, 20 Chryssell-road, Vassall-road, North Brixton.

SS. Peter and Paul's M.M.M. Lodge, No. 163.—A meeting of this Lodge was held at the Swan Hotel, Newport Pagnell, on Tuesday, 11th instant. The Lodge was opened by V.W. Bro. the Rev. J. S. Brownrigg P.G.C. in the absence of Bro. Hales the W.M. Bro. T. Taylor S.W., the W.M. elect, was duly installed as W.M., and after investing the Officers, a ballot was taken for Bro. E. Carr, who was then advanced to the degree of M.M.M. Other candidates having been proposed for advancement, the Lodge was closed in due form.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

THE GREAT CITY LODGE, No. 1426.

THE monthly meeting of this Lodge was held on Saturday evening, the 8th of January, at the Cannon-street Hotel. Bro. Thomas Hamer W.M. presided, and was supported by his Officers. The minutes of the last Lodge were confirmed, and a ballot took place for Mr. James Lodge, who was a candidate for admission into Freemasonry. The ballot was unanimous in his favour, and he being in attendance was most impressively initiated into the mysteries and privileges of Freemasonry, the W.M. giving the brethren a good opportunity of judging of the propriety of the choice they had made. Some business of a nature referring to the management of the Lodge was disposed of, and the brethren adjourned for refreshment. The dinner was well served, and the attendance of waiters was all that could be desired. On the removal of the cloth the W. Master gave the Queen, coupling with the toast that of the Craft. The next toast was a comprehensive one, as it included H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M., the Earl of Carnarvon Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Lathom Deputy G. Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers past and present, which was duly honoured. Bro. Blackie I.P.M., in very complimentary terms, proposed the health of Bro. Hamer

W. Master, and alluded to the excellent manner in which he had gone through the ceremony of initiation that evening, showing that the brethren had made a good selection when they elected him to the chair. The Worshipful Master, in returning thanks for the toast so flatteringly proposed by Bro. Blackie the Immediate Past Master, and so cordially responded to by the brethren, said he was very grateful for the honour they had conferred upon him, and expressed his determination to do everything in his power to promote the prosperity of the Lodge. He next gave the health of their brother initiate, Bro. Lodge, who had selected that Lodge as the one into which he would be received into the great Brotherhood of Freemasonry. He believed that he would prove a worthy member, for the tongue of good report had been heard in his favour, he having endeared himself to all who knew him from his kindness and genial good nature. Bro. Lodge, in responding to the toast, said he thanked the W.M. for the very kind way in which he had proposed the toast, and the brethren for the equally kind manner in which they had received it. He (Bro. Lodge) had not entered the Lodge without due consideration as to the step he had that night taken; he hoped to become a good Mason, and that he would never disgrace the Lodge to which he had been admitted. Some formal toasts were given, and the proceedings were brought to a close at an early hour, Bro. Steedman giving the Tyler's toast. A number of songs were sung, and complete harmony characterised the whole proceedings.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—The regular weekly meeting was held at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge, on Friday, 14th January. Not one of the Officers appointed at the last meeting was in attendance, so the brethren invited the Hon. Secretary, Bro. Gunner, to take the chair, and with Bros. Monson S.W., F. Botley J.W., Mason S.D., Dorey J.D., Sperring I.G., Daniels, Kent, and Nash (of Perfect Unanimity Lodge, No. 150, Madras), Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of last meeting were confirmed. Bro. Daniels volunteered as candidate, and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed. The call to refreshment was given; after a short interval, labour was resumed, and Bros. Sperring and Daniels answered the questions leading to the second degree. Bro. Monson was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing Friday evening. Bro. Nash was unanimously admitted to membership in this Lodge of Instruction. Bro. Gunner, in the name of the brethren, gave him a cordial greeting. Bro. Nash expressed his gratification at his admission, and thanked the brethren for the hearty welcome he, a Mason from a foreign clime, had received at their hands. The brethren expressed concern upon learning that Bro. Blasby (the W.M. of the mother Lodge) was obliged to keep his room, and that Bro. Brill (the host of the Star and Garter) was also unwell. Lodge was then closed.

Grey Friars Lodge, No. 1101.—A meeting was held on Wednesday, 12th Jan., at the Masonic Hall, Reading. Present—Bros. William Ferguson W.M., E. J. Blackwell S.W., R. Dowsett J.W., J. T. Stranson Treasurer, W. P. Ivey P.M. Secretary, C. R. Honey S.D., J. H. Hawkes J.D., W. J. Browne D.C., W. Ravenscroft Steward, R. C. Prickett I.G., W. Hemmings Tyler; Past Masters—Bros. Danks I.P.M. Prov. G.S. of Wks. Berks and Bucks, T. J. Pulley, E. Margrett; Members—Bros. Knight, Weatherhead, H. Ferguson, Cordrey, Hammett, Bailey, Titcombe, Collins, Wort, Breton, Goff, James; Visitors—Bros. W. F. Cottrell P.M. and W.M. "Friendship" 278 D.G.S.W. Gibraltar. Lodge was opened, and the minutes of the last regular Lodge were read and confirmed. The ballot was taken for Mr. W. E. Parks as a candidate for initiation; he was elected. Mr. Joseph Greenaway was initiated into the mysteries of the Order. The W.M. announced that Bros. Goff, Knight, and James were candidates to be passed to the second degree; they, after giving proof of their efficiency in the former, were passed to the degree of F.C., the ceremony being performed by the W.M. in a most correct and impressive manner. The Lodge was resumed in the first degree, when the W.M. announced that he had received communications from the three Masonic Institutions, and that he had decided to represent the Lodge at the next Festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys; he added that he hoped the brethren would support him with their contributions, so that his list might compare with those of his predecessors. Bro. Margrett P.M. gave notice of motion, "That the sum of ten guineas from the Lodge Fund be added to Bro. Ferguson's list." The W.M. returned thanks for the kind intimation of Bro. Margrett. After proposing and seconding a candidate for initiation, and the usual ceremonies, the Lodge was closed according to ancient form. We congratulate Bro. Ferguson upon the success he has thus far in his year of office attained.

Sphinx Lodge, No. 1329.—The brethren of the above Lodge assembled at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell New-road, on Saturday, the 15th inst., for the transaction of important business. The Lodge was opened at 5 p.m. The W.M. (Bro. B. R. Bryant) presided, supported by his Officers. The minutes of last meeting were read by the Secretary (Bro. J. Hernaman), and confirmed. Mr. Charles Cockle, of 2 Commercial-place, St. John's Hill, Wandsworth, having been ballotted for and approved, was initiated, the ceremony being most impressively rendered by the W.M. A resolution passed at the previous meeting of the Lodge—namely, "That a jewel and collar be presented to Bro. Lyon I.P.M., in recognition of his services to the Lodge as W.M."—was then confirmed, as was another resolution—"That a jewel be presented to Bro. J. J. Brinton, in recognition of his valuable services to the Lodge as Steward for four years." A third resolution, which had been proposed by Bro. Middlemas—"That five guineas from the Lodge funds be presented to Bro. W. Andrew, as a Life Subscriber to one of the Masonic Charities, in recognition of his services to the Lodge as Secretary for a long series of years"—was carried with acclamation. The W.M., in brief but eloquent language, presented the jewels to Bros. Lyon and J. J. Brinton, who acknowledged, in appropriate terms, the honour conferred upon them, their remarks eliciting loud applause. After labour in the Lodge had ended, the brethren adjourned to the banqueting room, where Bro. C. G. Slawson, of 736 Old Kent-road had provided a capital repast, replete with every delicacy. On the removal of the cloth, the usual Loyal, Patriotic, and Masonic toasts were given and honoured. The proceedings were enlivened by some excellent songs and recitations. Altogether a most enjoyable evening was spent.

King's Cross Lodge, No. 1732.—This Lodge held its regular monthly meeting on Saturday, the 15th inst., at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. Present—Bros. J. T. Briggs W.M., H. Stiles S.W., H. Higgins J.W., F. Saintsbury Secretary, J. J. Michael P.M. Treasurer, L. Jacobs as S.D., B. Kauffmann as J.D., C. B. Putland D.C., W. R. Yates Steward, F. Fletcher as I.G., and J. Daly Tyler; P.M.'s Bros. W. M. Stiles I.P.M. and T. W. Knight. Visitor—Bro. Valentine, Montefiore Lodge. Minutes were confirmed. Bro. F. C. Austin was passed to Fellow Craft, and Bro. Henry Stiles S.W. was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing year. Bro. J. J. Michael P.M. was unanimously re-elected Treasurer, and J. Daly re-elected Tyler. Bros. Deighton, Hubbard, and Amor were elected an Audit Committee. A Past Master's jewel of the value of £10 10s was voted to Bro. J. T. Briggs W.M., for his able working during the past year. Bro. Henry Stiles S.W. announced his intention of representing the Lodge at the next Festival of the Benevolent Institution, and succeeded in obtaining the sum of £50 for same. A banquet followed, presided over by the W.M. in his usual happy manner, supported by P.M.'s Bros. Stiles, Michael, &c.

King's Cross Lodge of Instruction, No. 1732.—The weekly meeting was held on the 16th inst., at Bro. Devine's, the Blue Posts, Charlotte-street, Fitzroy-square. Bros. N. Valentine W.M., F. Silvester S.W., J. Cohen J.W., Devine Treasurer, L. Jacobs as Secretary, Guyer S.D., Burgess J.D., B. Kauffman I.G., A. Hemming Preceptor; Bros. G. Denham, H. L. Phillips, Lambourne, J. C. Smith, and H. M. Levy. After preliminaries, the first and second sections of the first lecture were worked, and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. H. M. Levy acting as candidate. Bro. F. Silvester was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. The W.M. informed the brethren that the King's Cross Masonic Association, in connection with the Lodge of Instruction, has a total of 27 members. He felt pleased to see their Preceptor, Bro. Hemming, again with them. Bro. Briggs, the W.M. of the parent Lodge, has signified his intention of being present on the 6th of February, to rehearse the ceremony of installation.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

HUNDREDS of Medical Practitioners testify to its marvellous efficacy in immediately relieving and rapidly curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Spasms, Colic, Whooping Cough, and all Nerve Pains. It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. It rapidly relieves pain, from whatever cause, soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases, and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.

Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, Lord Justice Mellish decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davenport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. See Times of July 24th, 1873. Bottles 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, 11s, and 20s. Sold by all Chemists.

TESTIMONIALS.—Head Quarter Staff, Cabul, May 31st, 1879. Mr. R. Freeman, Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of special service to me in alleviating the wearisome spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form. Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne. Yours faithfully, CHARLES W. OWEN, L.R.C.P. Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng., the Divisional Head Quarter Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul.

The Times, August 13th, 1877. From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army. Okoum, July 25th, 1877. The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor, owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected miraculous cures.

THE ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

A FEW weeks hence, and the Anniversary of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution will be upon us. The circumstances of the time are not, perhaps, what we should exactly wish for, but the generosity of the Craft is such that we may anticipate the result of the Anniversary Festival on the 23rd proximo will fully equal the most enthusiastic hopes of our most diligent and enterprising friend, Bro. James Terry. Moreover, West Yorkshire, in the person of its genial and ever-ready chief, will play the leading part on the occasion, and having regard to the energetic support which this most influential Province invariably renders to every Festival, we may reckon that it will emulate and not improbably succeed in surpassing the efforts of other among our larger Provinces in furtherance of the interests of our several Charities. Sir Henry Edwards is himself so popular, and so deservedly popular, that, as far as he is concerned, we may look to a grand success, whilst his Province is so eager in support of all our Institutions, that we may anticipate a brilliant result, even if the circumstances were a thousand times more discouraging than they are.

There are, however, a few points to which we should wish to draw attention. We have latterly noted that while Grand Lodge is liberal in the bestowal of its bounty in the shape of annual grants to the Benevolent, its contributions to the Schools remain exactly at the figure at which they were arranged over forty years since. We have admitted that the Benevolent Institution, as being the offspring of Grand Lodge itself has in fact a claim upon it for a generous support. We individually and journalistically know of no distinction between this or that Masonic Charity. We believe firmly in all. We recognise as an indubitable fact that all are necessary, and we make a point of supporting and advocating the support of each and every of them, because they are so very necessary. But readily allowing, as we do, that Grand Lodge should favour its own child, we are strongly impressed with the necessity for its reviewing the arrangements which were made so far back as the year 1839. There is so vast a change in the condition of Freemasonry as between then and now, that all our brethren will admit that what was the height of liberality then cannot carry with it the same designation at the present time. There are, we believe, eight times as many initiates in the year as there were then, and the subsidies to our Schools should be in proportion, or nearly so.

But all is not gold that glitters, and in the bestowal of its liberality on the Benevolent Fund, Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter likewise have been careful to exact a perfectly legitimate quid pro quo for their handsome contributions. Grand Lodge, it may be repeated, contributes annually to the Male Fund of the Benevolent Institution £500, and to the Female Fund £300. In respect of these Contributions it receives, according to the Regulations of the Institution, certain votes—that is to say, the W.M. of every Lodge is entitled, in consideration of these Grants, to two votes at every election to the Male Fund, and one vote at every election to the Female Fund. Similarly, in return for the Grants of Grand Chapter, every Chapter, in the person of its M.E.Z., is entitled to two votes Male Fund, and one vote Female Fund at every election thereto. As there are about 1750 Lodges on the roll of Grand Lodge, this, of course, amounts to an aggregate of some 3500 votes in respect of the Male Fund, and 1750 votes on behalf of the Female Fund; while, if we estimate the number of Chapters at 600, the return for the grants of £100 per annum to the Male Fund, and £50 per annum to the Female Fund are counterbalanced by 1200 votes—two to the M.E.Z. of each Chapter, in respect of the Old Men election, and 600 votes in respect of that of the Old Women. Thus, Grand Lodge, in return for its annual Contribution of £800 to the two Funds, receives over 5000 votes, while Grand Chapter, in respect of its £150 to the same two Funds, receives 1800 votes. All this, of course, involves—to mention one single item only—a large outlay for postage, not far short, in round figures, of £15 a-year. However, Grand Lodge liberally supports this Institution, which is, in every way, so worthy of support, and which, to speak only from the records of the past few years, meets with a sympathy from the general body of the Craft which is most creditable. At the same time, it is just as well to point out, with reference to our recent article on the question of increased grants by Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter to our two Schools, and draw attention to the difference in the conditions under which those bodies contribute to our three Institutions. In return for its annual grant of £150, which, by the way, represents the interest on £5000 Government Three Per Cent. Stock, to each School Grand Lodge exacts no votes whatever on behalf of its Lodges, nor does Grand Chapter do so in respect of its two grants each of ten guineas—the interest on £350 Stock. On the other hand, as we have shown above, Grand Lodge, or rather the Lodges acknowledging its obedience, receive over 5000 votes annually in return for its £800, which is equivalent to the interest on about £27,000 invested in Government Stock; while Grand Chapter in like manner receives for its subordinate Chapters some 1800 votes in return for its annual £150—the interest on £5000 Stock. Thus the Schools receive their allowance unconditionally, the Benevolent receives its conditionally.

Bro. Terry has been, we rejoice to say, in a position to announce a large aggregate of contributions at each of the more recent anniversaries. May it be his good fortune to announce an equally successful aggregate on the occasion of the Festival now approaching! We may trust to Sir H. Edwards and the Province of West Yorkshire, of which he is the G. Master, to do their share. We doubt not the rest of the Craft, both Metropolitan and Provincial, will play their part as admirably.

THE PHILADELPHIA QUESTION.

BY BRO. JACOB NORTON.

A WAG is said to have convinced a crowd that the lion at top of the late Northumberland House, in the Strand, had wagged its tail. If the glorification of Masonry had been concerned, I really believe that said wag could have persuaded a Masonic crowd that the tail wagged the lion. Take for instance the earliest Masonic MS. viz., the Halliwell poem. Its author began the History of Masonry with Euclid, and English Masonry with Athelstan, and this was taken as history for a century. The next writer, viz., of the Matthew Cooke MS., not only incorporated the above into his history, but also added numerous inventions of his own. From that time Lamech become the founder of Masonry, and St. Alban the founder of English Masonry, &c., &c. Anderson began his Masonic history with Grand Master Adam, and Adam reigns supreme in the believing minds of orthodox English Masons to the present time. An ingenious brother invented a series of degrees, viz., "Ancient and Accepted Rite," and crowds of our silk stocking brethren believe that said Rite is ancient; another invented degrees, which he called the "Primitive Rite," and crowds of cotton stocking Masons now swear that it is a Primitive Rite. I really cannot understand how Masons who teach that "truth is a divine attribute, and the foundation of every virtue," should so zealously come forward in defence of these inventors and inventions, while the exposer of those errors is compelled to run the gauntlet.

This proclivity on the part of Masonic writers to falsify history, imposes upon the Masonic student the necessity of extra caution. Thus, in studying any branch of history (early ecclesiastical history always excepted) we may, as a rule, believe in the statements made in original records, or by contemporary writers; but in studying Masonic history, we are first bound to ascertain whether the records are original, and whether the contemporary writers are reliable.

For instance, since 1842 I have been assured again and again by high authorities that the Massachusetts Grand Lodge possessed original records from 30th July 1733. In 1867, when conversing with P.G.M. Dr. Winslow Lewis about the claims of New Jersey to Masonic priority in America on account of Daniel Coxe's deputation of 1730, "Oh!" replied Bro. Lewis, "New Jersey has not got a scrap of record of that period, while we have original records from 1733." In 1869, the said records were submitted to my examination, and in less than a quarter of an hour I became fully satisfied that up to 1750 Massachusetts had no record at all. And what is more, I found the whole record from 1733 to 1750 abounding in mis-statements. Now, under date 24th June 1734, is the following paragraph:—

"About this time our Worshipful Bro. Benjamin Franklin, from Philadelphia, became acquainted with our Rt. W. Grand Master Mr. Price, who further instructed him (Franklin) in the Royal Art, and the said Franklin, on his return to Philadelphia, called the brethren there together, who petitioned our Rt. W. G. Master for a constitution to hold a Lodge; and our Rt. W. Grand Master having this year received orders from the G.L. of England to establish Masonry in all North America, did send a deputation to Philadelphia, appointing the Rt. W. Benjamin Franklin first Master, which is the beginning of Masonry there."

Since 1792, when the Rev. Bro. Harris's history of Masonry in Massachusetts was printed, until I overhauled the record in 1869, every one believed in the above paragraph. In Moore's "Life of Price, 1857," he assures us that Franklin's warrant "bears date June 24th, 1734," &c., &c., though Franklin's petition was not written before the 28th November following; as Moore was a very high authority, no one doubted his statements.

In January 1874, Bro. MacCalla's article appeared in the "Masonic Magazine," in which he stated, "The City of Boston, Massachusetts, is the mother of American Masonry . . . And from this G.L. the earliest Lodges in Pennsylvania, Virginina, Maryland, New Jersey, North Carolina, South Carolina, &c., &c., owed their origin."

In my article, in the same magazine, of April ensuing, I called Bro. MacCalla's attention to Franklin's letter of 28th November 1734, signed "B. Franklin, G.M.," and further informed him, that Hyneman's Register refers to a Masonic meeting in 1732, at Philadelphia, and advised him to look over the Philadelphia newspapers of that time, &c. My arguments turned Bro. MacCalla's Masonic history topsy turvy; and Masonic fashion, he jumped from one error into another. Having found out that in 1730 Coxe got a deputation, and that in 1732 a G.L. was organised at Philadelphia, he put this and that together and made one out of the two. And as soon as Bro. MacCalla proclaimed that he saw (metaphorically speaking) the Philadelphia tail wag the lion, a crowd of Masonic luminaries immediately believed in the wagging lion. Now, as I was really the instigator of Bro. MacCalla's researches, and as I am not over and above in love with the G.L. of Massachusetts, I would have been anything but sorry had the pride of the Massachusetts G.L. been pulled a little further down. But, as I do not allow my likes and dislikes to bias my judgment on historical questions, I was compelled to take issue with Bro. MacCalla's assumption.

In my subsequent reply to Bro. MacCalla, I called his attention to the strongest evidence on his side, viz., the letter of Henry Bell, of 1754 (already quoted in this paper by Bros. Gould and Hughan), which had slipped Bro. MacCalla's memory. But I added my want of faith in its authenticity. The existence of that letter was first revealed to the world at the dedication of the Philadelphia Masonic Temple, in 1873, and but a fragment of it was quoted by the orator. The questions I asked were,—Who has got that letter? Why do they not print the whole document? and how came that letter to be preserved from 1754 to 1873? These questions must be answered before the said letter is admitted as evidence; we must also be satisfied that the letter is genuine, and that the writer of it was reliable. The late Bro. Leon Hyneman, a Philadelphia P.M., told me that he did not believe in the said letter, and he wrote the same to P.G.M. Nickerson, of Boston.

I shall now call attention to a fact which ought to shake the credulity of even Bros. Philadelphos and Hughan. I have referred above to Hyneman's Register, which was published in 1860. I glanced over the said work long before I began to write for the Masonic press. Therein I first read Franklin's letter, and also about the Masonic ingathering at Philadelphia 1732. I also remembered some allusion therein to Thomas Oxnard having granted a charter or deputation to Philadelphia. A few days ago I thought that I ought to refresh my memory about these subjects, and the following paragraph therefrom will I hope throw new light upon the question at issue. Bro. Hyneman's book says (p 355)—

"On the 10th of July 1749, Thomas Oxnard, Esq., who had received the appointment of Provincial Grand Master of North America, appointed Benjamin Franklin, Esq., Provincial Grand Master of Pennsylvania, with authority to appoint other Grand Officers, to hold a Grand Lodge, issue warrants, &c. Under this warrant a Grand Lodge was held on the 5th of September 5749, at the 'Royal Standard,' on Market-street, near Second; and Grand Master Franklin appointed Dr. Thomas Bond D.G.M.; Joseph Shippen S.G.W.; Philip Syng J.G.W.; William Plumsted G. Treasurer; Daniel Byles G. Secretary. At the same meeting a warrant was granted for a new Lodge in the City of Philadelphia to James Pogreen and others. At a communication of the Grand Lodge, held 18th March 5750, William Allen, Esq., Recorder of the City of Philadelphia, presented his commission from the Grand Lodge of England, appointing him P.G.M. His commission was recognised, and he appointed Benjamin Franklin D.G.M." To which Bro. Hyneman adds:—"The record from which we extract the above states, 'As far as the minutes of the modern G.L. go, Dr. Franklin was never absent from the meetings.'"

Having discussed the two theories advanced for the origin of legitimate Masonry in Philadelphia, and having shown that both are untenable, I shall now proceed to argue, from the above paragraph, that Oxnard was the actual founder of legitimate Masonry there. Henry Price claimed to have been appointed in 1733 P.G.M. of New England, and to have received from the G.L. of England, in 1734, power to establish Masonry in all North America. I believe that his claims were unfounded. But be that as it may, Robert Tomlinson was certainly appointed P.G.M. of New England, in 1736. Tomlinson was lost by shipwreck in 1742, or 43; then Oxnard succeeded Tomlinson, with the additional title of P.G.M. of North America; or at least, over those colonies where no P.G.M. was appointed by the G.L. of England; and his deputation was dated 23rd September 1743. Now, it seems that in 1749 Messrs. Allen, Franklin, and Co., of Philadelphia, got tired of playing bogus Grand Masters, and were desirous of having a G.M. appointed by the G.M. of England. And as the English G.M. would have refused a deputation to bogus Masons, hence Oxnard made Franklin G.M., in 1749 a Philadelphia G.L. was established, &c., &c.; and this appointment by Oxnard answered the purpose; for Bro. Allen received from Lord Byron (the English G.M.) a deputation a few months after Oxnard established legitimate Freemasonry in Pennsylvania.

Within a few days Bro. P.G.M. Nickerson called my attention to a minute in the Boston G.L. record, under date April 10th 1752; viz.: "For the Lodge at Philadelphia, Bro. MacDaniel appeared, and paid for their Constitution £31 10s."*

The above minute confirms the truth of Bro. Hyneman's quotation from a Philadelphia record of the Franklin G.L.

When I wrote upon the Philadelphia subject about four weeks ago (the paper was differently headed) I intended to find serious fault with Bro. Gould for the hesitating and ambiguous style of his first communication. But in the succeeding articles he makes amends, and we now stand on the same platform on the Philadelphia question. Bro. Gould disbelieves that No. 79 was a Philadelphia Lodge, and disagrees with the interpretation ascribed to the Henry Bell letter, if he does not even doubt its authenticity. So far so good. But I think that he ought to have given Bro. Hughan's knuckles a few sharp raps, which he richly deserved. Instead of doing so, in order to comfort Bro. Hughan, Bro. Gould made suggestions as unfounded and opposed to reason as the Coxe-Philadelphia theory itself. To remove a cancer effectually, every rootlet and particle must be cut out, and the same must be done when removing Masonic errors. I wish Bro. Hughan, from the bottom of my heart, all the comfort in the world he desires, save and except the comfort of indulging in Masonic errors; for he is justly accepted as a great Masonic authority, hence his indulgence in error is apt to make a great number of converts; and this very diffusion of error goes, as it were, against my grain. Now, to comfort Bro. Hughan, Bro. Gould assures him that he agrees with him in the belief "that the entry in the Dublin Pocket Companion referring to Lodge No. 79 was no invention of the [Dublin] compiler." And he intimates that the Dublin editor copied "No. 79, Hoop, etc., Philadelphia," from an English Lodge list of 1734. That "79, Hoop in Water Street," etc., is a pure fabrication, Bro. Gould does not deny. But why he attributes the said fabrication to an English Mason of 1734, instead of to an Irish Mason of 1735, is more than I can conjecture. Surely English Masons have enough sins to answer for in the fabrication line, and I cannot see why Bro. Gould should take the trouble of laying an additional sin upon English shoulders, when the evidence clearly denotes that the sin belongs to an Irish shoulder. Bro. Gould's suggestion about a picture of a tun having been mistaken for a picture of a hoop, is equally far-fetched and unfounded; for I do not believe that either a Philadelphia tun, or a Philadelphia hoop, was ever engraved on an English Lodge list. Let us not forget the adage,—

"A man convinced against his will,
Remains of the same opinion still."

Hence, while Bro. Hughan at last submits to Bro. Gould's decision on the question at issue, the suggestions of Bro. Gould above referred to, may, I very much fear, cause in Bro. Hughan's mind a revival of all the errors against which I have been contending. In conclusion, I thank Bro. Gould for the trouble he has taken on behalf of reason and truth, and I hope and trust that in the next edition of Bro. Woodford's Cyclopædia the account of the origin of legitimate Masonry in Pennsylvania will differ from that of the first edition of said work.

Boston, U.S., 7th January 1881.

* The £31 10s paid as above stated, was paid in a depreciated currency called "Old Tenor." A pound was worth about 1s 9d, the £31 10s really amounted to no more than two guineas and a half—the sum due for the Lodge Franklin chartered in 1749. I cannot however, refrain from adding, that if the Boston authorities had done their duty, that money should have been sent to the G.L. of England, and had that been done, the Philadelphia Lodge of 1479 would have appeared on an English Lodge list. But I am sorry to say that our Boston Masonic dignitaries of the last century were not over scrupulous about paying debts to the G.L. of England.

OUR SCHOOLS AND GRAND LODGE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I am very glad you have drawn attention to the smallness of the annual subsidies paid by Grand Lodge to our Schools. It is quite true, as your correspondent "ANSELM" states, that, in return for its contribution of £800 per annum, the Worshipful Masters of the Lodges in its jurisdiction are entitled to certain votes—two at each election to the Male Fund, and one at each to the Widows' Fund. So, for the matter of that, do the M.E.Z.'s of the different Chapters, in return for the contributions of Grand Chapter. But though, as "ANSELM" says, that may make the inequality less real as between the grant to the Benevolent and those to the Schools, that is no consolation to the latter. I see no reason why any votes should be given in return, but if they must, I should say Bros. Binckes and Hedges would raise no objection to a similar allotment of votes in return for a large grant; at all events, I should think they would rather do so than receive the present small, if unconditional, grant. For instance, suppose Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter increased their respective grants to the sums you suggest—namely, £500 and £52 10s—the additional amount would enable each School to add ten more pupils to its strength. What an incalculable advantage this would be in the case of the Boys' School may be judged from the fact that at the present time there is a list of seventy-six approved candidates for the twenty vacancies which will be balloted for in April next. Now Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter between them educate four boys and four girls, but in that event, they would be educating fourteen in each Institution. There is this further point to be taken into consideration. In 1839 the grant of £150 was an appreciable fraction—say roughly a tenth—of the whole income of each School; now it is a mere flea-bite, being about a hundredth part of what is raised by the voluntary contributions of the Craft. As Bro. Binckes has pointed out, if the payment of half-a-crown per certificate had not been commuted into an annual grant of £150, each School would now be in receipt of £1200 annually from Grand Lodge alone. Grand Chapter recognises the moderation of its annual subsidy by its frequent liberal contributions of a special character. According to Grand Lodge Calendar, however, the last time Grand Lodge made a special grant was in the year 1856, or quite a quarter of a century ago.

I remain,

Faithfully and fraternally yours,

A. L. T.

THE ST. AMBROSE LODGE, No. 1891.

To the Editor of the FREEMASONS' CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Being a constant reader of matters referring to the Craft, I was much struck with the following paragraph:—

"Bro. Col. Shadwell H. Clerke, Grand Secretary of England, consecrated the St. Ambrose Lodge, No. 1891, on Friday, the 15th inst.,* at the Baron's Court Hotel, West Kensington, ably assisted by Bros. the Rev. R. J. Simpson M.A. P.G.C., Capt. Nathaniel G. Philips P.G.D., Hugh D. Sandeman Past D.G.M. of Bengal, and Frank Richardson G.S.D. Bro. the Rev. Ambrose Wm. Hall M.A. P.S.G.W. Surrey, Chaplain to the Prince of Wales Lodge No. 259, was installed W.M., who appointed and invested Bros. Lieut.-Col. H. S. Somerville Burney Senior Warden, and Dr. W. H. Ramsay P.M. 259 Junior Warden. A report of the interesting proceedings will appear in our next."

This appeared in the Freemason of the 22nd inst. The date on which the ceremony of Consecration took place was the evening of the 21st, on the morning of which day the above paper was issued. The communication may be considered of a prophetic nature. Do the facts justify the foresight of the day? No doubt it would be a credit to any member belonging to the F.F.F.

Yours faithfully,

AN OLD BUT JUST BROTHER.

P.S.—Friday was not the 15th.

* Friday, 21st January.

The ceremony of installation will be rehearsed in the Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, meeting at the Moorgate, Moorgate-street, on Monday next, at 7.30 p.m. punctually, by Bro. J. T. Briggs P.M. 157 and W.M. 1732. Members of the Craft are cordially invited to attend.

Lodge was opened with the usual formalities at five o'clock, when the minutes of the last meeting were confirmed, and the auditor's report, showing the Lodge to be in a satisfactory condition, was received and adopted. Lodge was then advanced to the second degree, and Bro. Lampen was passed to Fellow Craft by the W.M., assisted by his Officers. Bro. Hiram Cosedge was then presented for installation as the W.M. for the ensuing year, and having expressed himself willing to undertake the responsibility, a Board of Installed Masters was formed, the rest of the brethren withdrawing during the installation ceremony. On the re-admission into Lodge, the newly-installed Master was greeted with the usual salutations, the impressive charges being delivered with much effect and precision by Past Master Bro. Joseph Driscoll, whose working was evidently greatly admired by the brethren and visitors alike. Bro. Cosedge then invested his Officers for the year, the collars being thus bestowed :—Bros. Joseph Clark I.P.M., J. W. Crossley S.W., Joshua Shipley J.W., Joseph Driscoll P.M. Hon. Sec., Joseph Harling P.M. Treasurer, T. E. Davey S.D., James Linscott J.D., John Lewis I.G., Louis Steingraber D.C., Charles Davey P.M. W.S. Some other business having been transacted, Lodge was closed in form, and the brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet, provided in Messrs. Ritter and Clifford's best style. The Loyal and Craft toasts having been most cordially received. Bro. Joseph Clark I.P.M. proposed the health of the newly-installed Worshipful Master, in doing which he said Bro. Cosedge had admirably filled all the various offices leading up to the chair, and they all hoped he might have health and strength vouchsafed to him by the G.A.O.T.U. to fulfil the duties of the exalted position to which he had just been elevated. He was a true and thorough Mason, and in that terribly inclement weather he had experienced great difficulty in reaching Lodge. He expressed the sincere hope that Bro. Cosedge might have a happy and successful year of office, and that the brethren would rally round him in the discharge of his arduous duties. The Worshipful Master, in responding, thanked his immediate Past Master for the kindly expressions he had used towards him. He could only hope he might approach Bro. Clark's excellent working, and took the opportunity of thanking the several P.M.'s and other brethren who had assisted him in fitting himself for the position to which, by the kindness of the Lodge, he had that day been elevated. He should certainly not have discharged his duties creditably had it not been for the valuable aid he had received, and if he had not found brethren to give him the exact cue when it was needed. If he turned out as good a Mason as his immediate Past Master had done, he should be most happy, for he regarded Masonry as one of the best institutions a man could possibly be attached to. In proposing the health of the I.P.M., he must say that during his year of office he had discharged his duties in a manner that was a pattern to the Craft, and it had been a pleasure to all his Officers to work under him. He (the speaker) only hoped that, at the end of his year of office, the brethren would be as satisfied with him as they must all be with Bro. Clark. He had now the utmost pleasure in presenting their I.P.M., on behalf of the Lodge, with a Past Master's jewel, and he could only express the wish that he might have health and strength to wear it for many years to come, as a mark of the esteem and affection entertained towards him by the brethren, and of their recognition of the admirable manner in which he had carried on the duties of his office. Bro. Joseph Clark I.P.M., who was received with prolonged applause, could only inadequately thank the company for the great honour they had conferred upon him that day. It had been his ambition to discharge faithfully and well all the duties he was called upon to undertake, and to fill the chair in his mother Lodge. That wish had been realised, and he could not do more than heartily thank those excellent Officers who had rendered him such valuable assistance during his year of office. He hoped the wish expressed by the W.M. might be fulfilled—that he might live many years to wear the beautiful jewel which they had so generously presented him, and that he might be in some measure useful in promoting the best interests of the Lodge. A pleasing incident occurred during the evening, in the presentation by the I.P.M. of a handsome cigar case, in morocco leather and gold, to Bro. Joseph Driscoll P.M., the esteemed Hon. Secretary of the Lodge. On it were inscribed the Masonic emblems and "J.D., 1881." Accompanying the gift was the following letter: "Bro. Joseph Clark presents his compliments to his dear Secretary, Bro. Joseph Driscoll, and begs his acceptance of the accompanying cigar case, as a slight mark of his appreciation of the very great kindness shown towards him during his year of office as W.M. of this his mother Lodge of United Mariners, No. 30." The W.M., in proposing "The Health of the Past Masters," acknowledged the great and valuable assistance he had at all times received from them, and regretted that the Lodge was about to lose the presence and aid of P.M. Bro. F. Bethell in the future. Bro. Joseph Driscoll P.M. thanked the W.M. sincerely for the kind manner in which he had proposed the toast, and the brethren for the cordiality with which they had received it. The United Mariners had a history which few others could boast, and it had possessed some of the most eloquent and able Masons, who had embellished the position which they held in its ranks. He carried their memories back to the early part of the century, from the year that Bro. P. Matthews filled the chair—one of the most eloquent of Preceptors,—referred also to Bro. Barnes, and others who laboured on in splendid manner to carry out the advancement of the Boys' School, and especially to establish the annual Festivals. It was their duty in the present day to try and emulate the good example set by the pioneers of the Lodge. They had done so in the past, and would still continue to try and deserve the friendship and esteem of the younger members, who should be encouraged to elevate themselves to the highest positions in the Lodge. Bro. F. Bethell P.M. also responded, in doing which he thanked Bro. Driscoll for his eloquent speech, which really left him little to say. As the Wor. Master had observed, he (the speaker) was about to leave for Canada, and he should be sorry to sever his connection with the Lodge, because it was here he had the honour of initiation, and it was this Lodge he had the honour of representing at the installation of the Prince of Wales at Albert Hall. He therefore esteemed his connection with the Lodge as a great pleasure and honour, and hoped to return and meet with the brethren for many years to come. Bro. Ansell P.M. said, after many years' connection with the Lodge he felt thoroughly at home amongst his friends and compeers, and he urged upon the brethren to give all the support they could to the Charities, which were the noble landmarks of their ancient and honourable Institution. The Worshipful Master then gave the Visitors, of whom he was pleased to see so large a number present, and the toast was received with special honours. Bros. F. M. Harling and Sampson Doden responded, each referred to the exemplary manner in which the business of the Lodge was conducted. Several complimentary toasts followed, interspersed with some excellent vocal and instrumental music, whilst a recitation by Bro. Driscoll P.M. was intensely relished by the company. Altogether the proceedings were of the most agreeable and harmonious description.

LODGE OF PRUDENT BRETHREN, No. 145.

THE installation meeting of this ancient, flourishing, and excellent working Lodge, was held on the 25th inst., at the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, and was numerously attended by the members and Visitors. A new and appropriate Lodge summons had been issued, which was most deservedly commended for its artistic beauty. The chair was occupied by Bro. W. R. Lister; Dr. Whiteway Wilkinson S.W., C. A. Woods J.W., T. Bull P.M. Treas. P.P.G.S.B. Middlesex, Kerrell J.D., and Curtis I.G.; P.M.'s J. H. Leggott, G. S. States P.G.S., Purkess, and Haslett. The Visitors were Bros. J. Bingemann P.M. 55 and 1599, Venn P.M. 49, Lovegrove P.G.S.W. Middlesex, Docker W.M. 1587, C. J. Perceval P.M. 1607, Captain Finch P.M. 34, Foxley 173, E. Lloyd 1287, Alde 1305, C. Marriner 1669, Pocock 569, Sauter 167, Latreille 1260, Speller 217, Hume 259, Dawson 179, Green P.M. 27, R. Roberts P.M. 209, Wilkinson J.W. 92, Bohn 92, Pringle 92, Carter P.M. 382, T. Distin, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188. The Lodge was opened and the minutes were confirmed. A board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. Dr. W. Wilkinson S.W. and W.M. elect was presented and duly installed into the chair by the retiring W.M., whose rendering of the ceremony deserves especial praise. There were fourteen Installed Masters present. The new W.M., in very appropriate terms, appointed and invested his Officers. W. R. Lister I.P.M., C. A. Woods S.W., A. Kerrell J.W., T. Bull P.M. Treasurer, E. H. Thiellay P.G.S.B. Middlesex Secretary, J. Curtis S.D., J. Reid J.D., H. Brock I.G., G. Banks D.C., W. F. Master W.S., J. D. Lambe A.W.S., and Reinhardt Tyler. The W.M., with great pleasure, had now to present Bro. Lister I.P.M. with a testimonial worthy of him; this took the shape of a Past Master's jewel; a jewel (the W.M. said) Bro. Lister well deserved, for the admirable manner in which he had conducted the duties of the Lodge during his year of office. Bro. Lister I.P.M., in reply, thanked the W.M. for the kind expressions he had uttered. He had spoken of the manner he had conducted the duties of the Lodge; his aims ever were for the welfare of it; and now while he occupied the proud position of a P.M., it would be a further incentive to him to do all he could for it. He should be proud to hand it down to his children as an heirloom. Letters of apology were read from G.S. Bro. Shadwell Clerke, regretting his not being able to be present at the meeting. Bro. J. H. Leggott announced that he would serve as Steward at the next Anniversary Festival for the Boys' School, and would represent the Lodge; also that he had accepted a Stewardship for the Girls' School, where he would represent the Victoria Chapter; any donations the members would favour him with would be thankfully received by Bros. Binckes and Hedges. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren, forty-nine in number, adjourned to the Crown Room, where a sumptuous banquet was provided by Bro. A. Best, ably superintended by Bro. E. Dawkins. Grace having been sung, the W.M. proposed the toast of the Queen and the Craft. After the National Anthem, the solo verses sung by Bro. Carter, Miss Anguarde, Miss L. Distin, and T. Distin, the toast of H.R.H. the M.W.G.M. of Grand Lodge of England was given. Miss Anguarde sang "The Kerry Dance," and then came the toast of the R.W. the Pro Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers, which was warmly honoured by those present. Bro. Lister I.P.M then rose; "The W.M. had handed him the gavel, and it was his fortune to have to propose the toast of the evening, the health of their W.M., who, he was sure, would have the ability and the energy to carry out the duties required of him in their old and influential Lodge. Personally, he was pleased to see Bro. Wilkinson in that position. He hoped the members would give the toast a suitable reception. Bro. Theodore Distin, in his usual excellent style, sang "Ferryman Dan." The W.M. in replying to the toast, felt a great pleasure in returning thanks for the manner in which it had been proposed. He felt proud to see so many old friends, brother Masons, and Visitors present, and he felt it a great pride and honour to see so many around him to support him in the chair. He hoped to worthily follow in the footsteps of his predecessors. The toast of the Visitors was next given. The W.M. said he was pleased to see so many distinguished brethren among them; he would call on Bros. Lovegrove, Wilkinson, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188, to respond. Miss Anguarde in feeling tones sang the "Fireman's Farewell." The toast of the Visitors was then responded to, and then the W.M. gave that of the P.M.'s. He would call on Bro. Lister I.P.M. to respond. Bro. Lister, on behalf of the P.M.'s, begged to thank the brethren. As so young a Past Master he hardly felt competent to return thanks. However, any service he could render the Lodge would always give him pleasure. The Treasurer and Secretary were next complimented. The former brother had proved himself an excellent financier, and had ably carried out his duties. The same business qualifications were likewise displayed by Bro. Thiellay the Secretary, whose genial qualities they well knew. As no representative of the Charities was present to respond to that toast, he would add it as a rider to the one he was speaking to, and would ask the brethren to drink it heartily. After Bro. Carter had favoured the brethren with "The Pilgrim of Love," Bro T. Bull rose:—he felt pleased to have his name associated with Bro. Thiellay; he felt it a great honour to be among them, not only in his capacity of Treasurer, but that he had been considered worthy to follow in the footsteps of the late Brother John Boyd. He was sure that brother's name would ever be revered in their Lodge; indeed, he might say, throughout the Craft. Bro. Thiellay followed. He was pleased to know the W.M. had again appointed him as Secretary; he trusted the appointment would conduce to the prosperity of the Lodge. He, like Bro. Bull, was proud to have his name associated with the Charities, in conjunction with which Bro. Leggott had so signally distinguished himself. The W.M. had also signified his intention to act as a Steward for the Boys' School. The three Institutions are a credit to the Order, and ought to be well supported; he was sure the brethren would continue to support them He also advocated the cause of a son of the late respected Bro. Charles Gosden, who had been initiated in this Lodge; he trusted they would support the case. The remaining toasts comprised the Officers of the Lodge, for which Bros. A. Woods and Kerrell replied. The Tyler's toast was given, and the brethren separated.

We have referred elsewhere to the summons which was issued for this meeting. The following particulars respecting it we have pleasure in appending:—

The majority of Lodges having adopted an emblematical design, the Lodge of Prudent Brethren, not being a juvenile, ought not to be destitute of the same; it is here attempted, therefore, to symbolise the name and principles of our Lodge, with the due observance of Masonic harmony. The Centenarian Lodge of Prudent Brethren, No. 145, is represented by a double cube, with its brimful cornucopia adjoining; it is emblematically presided over by Justice, personifying the W.M., assisted by six other Stars. Justice, by the inspiration of the Radiant Triangle, demonstrates Hope to the faithful; and, blindfold against prejudice, prudently practises towards the Widow and the Orphan that virtue which endureth all things; thus illustrating Faith, Hope, and Charity, encircled by the symbol of Eternity.

LION LODGE, No 312.

ON Monday afternoon the brethren of this Lodge assembled in the Masonic Hall, John-street, West Cliff, to take part in the installation of Bro. W. G. Lockey as W.M. for the ensuing year. There was a numerous attendance of the local fraternity. Bro. John Stevenson P.M. officiated as installing master on the occasion, and performed the interesting ceremony in an impressive manner. The new W.M. then invested the Officers of the Lodge appointed for the ensuing year, viz.—I.P.M., Bro. Francis Thornton P.M.; S.W., Bro. W. E. Wolsey; J.W., Bro. Middleton Smith; Treasurer, Bro. J. N. Lawson P.M.; Organist, Bro. H. Hallgate P.M.; Secretary, Bro. J. B. Dale; S.D., Bro. John Thornton; J.D., Bro. John Brooks; I.G., Bro. Thomas Tate; M.C., Bro. J. F. Jefferson; Tyler, Bro. T. H. Trueman; Stewards, Bros. J. T. Stewart and T. Atkinson jun. At the termination of the installation proceedings, the brethren adjourned to the Royal Hotel, where a sumptuous banquet, to celebrate the event, was served by Mrs. Attlay, the hostess. The W.M. (Bro. Lockey) presided, and Bro. Wolsey S.W. occupied the vice-chair. The customary loyal, patriotic, and Masonic toasts were given and responded to in a cordial and harmonious manner. The health of the Earl of Zetland, R.W.P.G.M., and the other Provincial Grand Officers, was drunk with all the honours, and elicited an able response from Bro. W. H. Falkingbridge P.M. The toast of the evening, "The W.M., and prosperity to the Lion Lodge," was given by Bro. Thornton, the I.P.M., and acknowledged by the W.M. The toast of the visiting brethren having been drunk, it was responded to by Bro. Arthur, captain of the Louis Henry, lying in Whitby Harbour, one of the brethren of the Lodge of St. John of Themis, Caen (France), who spoke in the French language with great empressement, and his Lodge sent their fraternal greetings to the Lion Lodge. After the toast of "All poor and distressed Masons" had been drunk, a few non-Masonic toasts were recognised. There were excellent songs during the evening by Bros. J. Thornton, T. H. Trueman, W. H. Pitts, and W. H. Attlay, and recitations by Bros. Wolsey, S. W. Dale, and Maule.

Ellington 1566 Many others were prevented from attending in consequence of the inclemency of the weather. Lodge was opened, and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. A ballot was taken for Mr. Chas. Thos. Rayner, who was declared to be elected. The W.M. announced that Bro. H. E. L. Grant was a candidate to be passed to the second degree. Bro. Grant having given proof of his efficiency retired. Lodge was then opened in the second degree, and Bro. Grant was passed; soon after which Bro. Moxhay, the Installing Master, entered the Lodge, and to him W.M. resigned his gavel, and proceeded to introduce Bro. C. Stephens as the elected Master to receive at his hands the benefit of installation, the ceremony of which was performed by Bro. Moxhay in his usual impressive manner. After resuming the Lodge to the first degree, the W.M. proceeded to appoint and invest his Officers, viz., Bros. S. Bradley I.P.M., R.C. Mount S.W., F. J. Ferguson J.W., Rev. N. T. Garry Chap., S. A Pocock Treasurer, M. J. Withers Sec., S. Wheeler S.D., A. W. Parry J.D., Hayward Org., F. Blackwell D.C., D. Witherington I.G., C. G. Butler S.S., Moffatt and J. W. Martin J. Stewards, Hemmings Tyler. After the salutations in the different degrees and the usual adddresses, the W.M. proposed that a vote of thanks to Bro. Moxhay be recorded on the minutes for the admirable manner in which he had conducted the installation ceremony. This was seconded and carried by acclamation. Bro. Moxhay expressed his thanks to the W.M. and brethren for their kindness, and called their attention to the W.M. being the local Secretary of the Lifeboat Institution. He suggested that the present was an opportune time to show their appreciation of Bro. Stephens' great exertions in the noble work of aiding to save life, by voting that the sum collected in the broken column be appropriated to that most valuable Institution. This was carried by acclamation. After proposals of candidates for initiation and the usual congratulations, the Lodge was closed according to ancient form, and the brethren adjourned to the George Hotel, where an excellent banquet was provided by Mrs. Pontin, to which between 50 and 60 sat down. On the removal of the cloth, the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to. Upon that of the Masonic Charities, the broken column was passed round, resulting in the sum of £6 7s 6d, being collected for the National Lifeboat Institution. The toast was responded to by Bro. F. Binckes Sec. R.M.I.B. and Bro. Terry Sec. R.M.B.I., both the speeches being of a practical character, urging a combination of effort to support the three excellent Institutions. We have not space to give the toasts and speeches, but we heartily congratulate Bro. Stephens on his entering upon office under very auspicious circumstances, and wish him a very successful year of office.

[From the foregoing account it will be seen that the meeting at which our estimable Bro. Stephens was installed W. Master of his Lodge was a highly successful one. The attendance was numerous, and the enthusiasm was very pronounced in its character. The Lodge and its new W. Master, under the circumstances, are to be congratulated, but especially when we call to mind the terrible state of the weather which prevailed on the evening of the meeting. We greatly regret that a domestic affliction should have prevented our accepting the invitation we had received to take part in the interesting ceremony. This, and not the weather, was the cause of our absence. But the storm of that memorable Tuesday would have justified even a postponement of the gathering. The cold was so intense that a child was picked up dead out of the snow. The town was, so to speak, in a state of siege, and those who wished to leave it—no matter in what direction, whether north, south, east, or west—were unable to do so. Of the railway lines some were wholly, some partially, blocked, while the roads were next to impassable. These facts justify our going somewhat out of our way to say a word or two of praise on behalf of a Lodge whose members and guests assembled on the evening of such a day. This is evidently no perfunctory observance of Masonic duty.—Ed. F.C.]

It was decided to present at the next meeting of the Lodge a P.M.'s jewel to Bro. Lovelock, as a mark of esteem, and in recognition of the fidelity and zeal with which he had discharged the duties of the chair during the past year. After the transaction of some other business, the brethren sat down to a récherché banquet, provided by Messrs. Wood and Romain, whose arrangements for the comfort and enjoyment of a numerous party elicited unbounded expressions of satisfaction. The customary Loyal and Craft toasts were duly given from the chair, and were enthusiastically received, that of the health of the newly-installed W.M. being hailed with special acclamation. Amidst an abundance of excellent music and singing, a thoroughly harmonious and pleasant evening was enjoyed.

GREAT NORTHERN LODGE, No. 1287.

THIS Lodge held its installation meeting on Thursday, the 20th inst., at Freemasons' Hall. Present:—Bros. T. Reed P.M. as W.M., George William West P.M. as S.W., George J. K. Tribbel J.W. W.M. elect, Past Masters T. Staton Secretary, and Samuel Webb Treasurer, Owen S.D., Cleghorn J.D., Kempton as I.G., Rawles Tyler; Past Masters Reed, Forbes, Jupe, Christie, West. Visitors—Bros. Augustus Braun P.M. and P.Z. 766, Kerrell 145, Kennard 145, Little, Guignard, and a large muster of other brethren. In the unavoidable absence of the W.M. Bro. Robinson, the Lodge was opened in due form by Bro. Reed P.M. The minutes were read and confirmed. Bro. Myatt was raised to the third degree, after which Mr. Tomkins was regularly initiated into the Order, the ceremony in each case being performed by Bro. Reed in his accustomed impressive manner. The Lodge was then resumed to the second degree, and Bro. George William West P.M., by special desire, took the chair as Installing Master. The Worshipful Master elect, Bro. George Joseph Keith Tribbel, was then duly presented, and Bro. West P.M. proceeded with the installation, which that worthy Mason performed in such a clear and eloquent manner as is rarely listened to. Indeed, the Lodge may well be proud of so able a Past Master—one ever ready to assist in whatever work he may be called upon to perform. Bro. Tribbel, being duly installed into the chair of King Solomon, invested, with well-chosen and impressive words, the following Officers:—Bros. Cleghorn S.W., Owen J.W., S. Webb Treasurer, Staton Secretary, Bathard S.D., Kempton J.D., Kane I.G. The W.M. then rose for the first time, and the report of the Audit Committee was confirmed; it showed an unusually large balance in hand for so young, but certainly prosperous, Lodge. All labour being ended, the brethren adjourned to the large Hall, where a magnificent banquet was served, under the presidency of the new and esteemed Worshipful Master. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts having been given and honoured, the Acting I.P.M. Bro. West proposed the health of the Worshipful Master, which was most enthusiastically received. Bro. Tribbel, in responding, said that he could scarcely find words to express his gratitude to the Lodge for placing him in his present high and important position; nothing should be wanting on his part to strengthen the confidence the brethren had reposed in him. He hoped that the G.A.O.T.U. would give him health and strength to carry out his duties with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the brethren. After the Initiates' toast, the W.M. gave that of the Visitors, coupling with it the name of Bro. Braun P.M., who, in responding, said that he was truly glad to have the opportunity afforded him of being present on so important an occasion as seeing his old friend Bro. Tribbel attain the summit of his Masonic ambition. He spoke in terms of the highest praise of the Wor. Master's constant industry and zeal in the field of Masonic labour; by these means alone he had, after but comparatively few years, attained the proud position he now held. Bro. Kerrell also spoke in high terms of the Lodge in general and its financial position; the members might well be proud of belonging to such a Lodge. To the toast of the Past Masters, Bro. West responded; he was proud to be one of the Past Masters of the Great Northern Lodge, all of them took a keen interest in its welfare. He also referred, with much feeling, to the illness of Bro. Robinson. After the other regular toasts, the brethren separated, all satisfied with the pleasant evening they had spent at the Great Northern Lodge.

We are informed that the members of the New Finsbury Park Lodges No. 1695, and of the Sir Hugh Middelton Lodge, No. 1602, have arranged to hold a joint ball, at the Cannon-street Hotel, on Monday, the 7th February next, when the whole of the spacious and elegant suite of rooms will be at the disposal of the visitors. A dispensation has been obtained, enabling the brethren to appear in Masonic clothing and jewels. The musical arrangements are under the direction of Bro. R. G. Thomas, Organist 1602; and Bro. J. Jarvis will act as M.C. The price of tickets is, for ladies 8s 6d; gentlemen 12s 6d. We can only hope that as great a success will be the result of this as has attended previous balls given by the same Lodges.

IGNORING PROFESSIONAL FEES, and simply charging for the Mechanical process on the scale of the fair profits of a Mercantile Firm.

AN ENTIRELY NEW AND IMPROVED SYSTEM OF FIXING ARTIFICIAL TEETH is adopted by the Association, dispensing with the usual painful Dental operations, extraction of loose teeth or stumps being quite unnecessary. Complete success is guaranteed, even in the most difficult and delicate cases, where other practitioners have failed. Extreme lightness combined with strength and durability are insured. Useless bulk being obviated, articulation is rendered clear and distinct. Perfect mastication is easily and naturally effected. By recent scientific discoveries in the mechanical art, which secures the close adjustment of the Teeth to the gums, and their life-like appearance, detection is rendered utterly impossible.

The following Past Masters were elected to preside with the Lodge Officers over the Fund of Benevolence:—McLeod Alexandra Lodge, Tebbs Prince of Wales' Lodge, Crawford Turanganui Lodge, H. Chapman Eden Lodge, Rees George Remuera Lodge, Dargaville St. George's Lodge. Appointments were not made for the Rodney and Waitemata Lodges, because there was no P.M.'s provided for, and for the Northern Light Lodge, because it was too young to have a Past Master. The D.D.G.M. announced that an emergency meeting would be called on the arrival of the D.G.M. Bro. Graham. The D.D.G.M. then, in feeling terms, proposed a vote of condolence to Bro. E. S. Willcocks on his recent bereavement. The proposition was seconded and supported by Bro. Moat, and the Secretary was instructed to forward to Bro. Willcocks the vote of the District Grand Lodge. The Lodge was then closed in the usual form.

The new and handsome edifice erected by the brethren of the Lodge Remuera was consecrated on 9th Nov. The Lodge holding under the English Constitution, no more suitable day could have been selected than the Birthday of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, the Most Worshipful Grand Master of the Constitution. There was a very large gathering of members of the Craft, including representatives of the sister Grand Lodges, and officers and brethren of the various Lodges. Bro. Lodder D.D.G.M., and the first W.M. of the Lodge, presided at the opening ceremony. A procession was formed to St. Mark's Church, where a service was conducted by Bro. the Rev. C. M. Nelson D.G. Chaplain, and Bro. the Rev. W. Tebbs. After the service the brethren returned to the Hall, where the consecration service was completed. The opening of the Hall was celebrated by a ball in the evening, at which there was a large and fashionable gathering. Mr. Canning, of Queen-street was the caterer for the refreshments.

At the annual meeting of the Lodge Manukau, 587 S. C., the election of Officers for the ensuing year took place as follows:—C. V. Hill, R.W.M.; W. Dunwoodie, I.P.M. and Treasurer; J. J. Austin, S.W.; W. Brierly, J.W.; J. Robb Secretary; Rev. F. Gould, Chaplain; J. R. Roberts, S.D.; F. Lawry, J.D.; R. Bennett, I.G.; F. Austin, Tyler. After the installation, Brother Nicool, on behalf of the Lodge, presented to Brother Dunwoodie a Past Master's jewel, manufactured by Messrs. Kohn of Queen-street. It bore the following inscription:—"Presented by the members of Lodge Manuka, 586 S.C., to Brother William Dunwoodie P.M., in recognition of his services as W.M. during 1880, Onehunga, 1st December." Brother Dunwoodie, taken by surprise, only replied briefly, and he then on behalf of the Lodge presented to Brother M. Nicool P.M., a handsomely-illuminated address, prepared by Bro. J. Slator, and worded as follows:—"Brother M. Nicool: Dear Sir and Brother,—The Officers and Brethren of Lodge Manukau, 686 S.C., desire to express their unqualified satisfaction at the manner in which you have carried on the onerous duties of Master for a period of four years, often, as we are well aware, coming out to Onehunga at great personal inconvenience. We beg your acceptance of this testimonial as a small mark of our esteem and regard, with the hope that although you have retired from active service in the Lodge, we may often have the pleasure of seeing you amongst us assisting by your advice and thorough knowledge of Masonic usages. With hearty good wishes, we subscribe ourselves, on behalf of the brethren,—WM. DUNWOODIE, R.W.M., CHAS. VINER, S.W.; J. V. AUSTIN, J.W." Brother Nicool mode a suitable reply, and a very successful ball was held subsequently.

YORK MARK LODGE (T.I.)

ON Tuesday evening, 24th inst., the annual installation meeting of this Lodge was held at York, when there was a goodly gathering of members of the degree. The Installing Master was Bro. the Rev. W. Valentine (Wixley), the outgoing W.M., and his successor is Bro. the Rev. W. C. Lukis (Wath). The following Officers were appointed for the ensuing year:—Bros. J. S. Cumberland S.W., C. G. Padel J.W., G. Garbutt M.O., M. Millington S.O., A. T. B. Turner J.O., T. J. Wilkinson Chap., T. B. Whytehead P.M. Sec. and Treas., J. R. Jackson Registrar of Marks, T. G. Hodgson S.D., T. Humphries J.D., F. Smith D.C., G. Balmford P.M. Organist, W. Harrison and R. Ware Stewards, W. B. Dyson I.G., P. Pearson Tyler.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—The great variations of temperature, the fogs and the foul vapours which permeate the atmosphere, try the respiratory channels terribly; hence arise Hoarseness, Quinsies, Loss of Voice, Bronchitis, and the whole train and endless variety of Throat and Chest Affections which now prevail. Neglect of these in their early stages is almost criminal, as many a life might be saved through early and prompt treatment by means of Holloway's well-known remedies. This treatment can be readily and easily carried out, and soon disposes of the attack in a most satisfactory manner by restoring the balance between the circulation and respiration, by lessening the inflammation, abating the febrile symptoms, and by soothing the irritability of the nerves.

THE LATE BRO. J. DANIEL MOORE, M.D.

THE interment of Dr. Moore took place on the forenoon of the 17th inst., at the Lancaster Cemetery, and notwithstanding the intense coldness of the weather, a large number of Freemasons and others assembled to pay the last token of respect to their deceased Brother and Companion. The funeral cortège left the residence of the deceased at ten o'clock, in the following order:—Private gentlemen; members of the Morecambe Lodge, Duke of Lancaster, Fortitude and Rowley Lodges of Freemasons; directors of the Athenæum; and members of the medical profession. Next followed the hearse, the following Masonic brethren officiating as pall bearers:—Bros. Captain Garnett, Captain Sly, H. Longman, Ed. Simpson Bagnall, Hall, John Hatch and Dean. Following the hearse were two mourning coaches, the first containing the two brothers of the deceased—Mr. J. M. Moore (Derby), and Mr. H. C. Moore (Lancaster)—as chief mourners, and the second Mr. C. Johnson and Dr. Wilson (Hornby), the deceased's medical advisers: the deceased's private carriage, containing Mr. Hannah and Dr. Reyne (deceased's partner), Mr. Starkie's, containing that gentleman and the Rev. C. T. Royds; Mr. E. B. Dawson's and Dr. Howitt's, the latter two being closed. On reaching the Grammar School a few of those in the procession left the ranks, but the bulk preceded the funeral cortège to the Cemetery. On reaching the mortuary chapel the brethren opened out and stood uncovered whilst the hearse and mourning coaches passed through. Before the mortal remains of the deceased were carried into the Chapel, three wreaths—two formed of white camelia and one of acacia—the latter being sent by Mrs. Onion, were placed on the coffin by the brothers of the deceased. The prayers and lesson of the Burial Service were impressively read by the Rev. P. Bartlett and the Rev. W. D. Firth. On these being concluded, the coffin was borne to the grave side, followed by the brethren, where the service was concluded, the brethren before quitting the grave side cast in the sprigs of acacia which they had worn during the ceremony. The deceased leaves a widow and two children to mourn his loss. We are indebted to a contemporary for the following particulars:—For some months back Dr. Moore, who was forty-six years of age, had shown signs of failing health, but much against the advice of his friends he continued to attend to his professional duties instead of taking that rest which he stood so much in need of himself. About three months ago, Dr. Moore had a severe attack of illness, which subsequently developed into a complication of diseases, and from which—although at one time he had sufficiently recovered to be able to take outdoor exercise—he never rallied. For a couple of weeks or so prior to his death, Dr. Moore was slightly better, but on Friday, 14th inst., a relapse set in, and it was evident he could not long survive, his frame being exhausted by the previous sufferings he had undergone. Although Dr. Moore was not a native of the town yet he has been resident here so long as to become identified with it. He first came to Lancaster about 1862, as assistant medical officer to the Lancaster County Lunatic Asylum. Subsequently he entered into partnership with Mr. Howitt, surgeon, of Queen-square, and in conjunction with that gentleman carried on a large practice, which since the retirement of the latter, a few years ago, was successfully continued by the deceased. Some few years back Dr. Moore took considerable interest in subjects of Natural History and Science, on which he frequently lectured, treating the matter in hand with a freshness and vigour which made it at once interesting and instructive. Dr. Moore was for a period of sixteen years honorary secretary of the Lancaster Athenæum Company, in the management of which he took a very prominent part during the whole of that time. His illness, and subsequent resignation of the office he held, had an important influence in accelerating the decision of the directors to abandon the society's entertainments. He was also surgeon to the Duke of Lancaster's Own Yeomanry, an office which he held at the time of his death. For the last fifteen years Dr. Moore devoted considerable time and attention to Masonic matters, and very rapidly, and at the same time very deservedly, attained the front rank amongst the members of that body, and in this district was looked upon as the leader in Masonic thought. His advancement in the Craft was mainly attained by sheer hard work and constant study of Masonic lore.

FUNERAL OF BRO. ROCKETT.

The funeral of Bro. Herbert Rockett, a well-known Devonport Mason, took place at Stoke Churchyard on Sunday. The deceased gentleman was member of Lodge Friendship, 202, and held several minor offices during his membership of fifteen years. He was also a Royal Arch Mason, and Member of the Mark Degree. He distinguished himself by regular attendance to his duties. He was elected (after holding many other offices) Master of the True Blue Lodge, held at St. George's Hall, Stonehouse, and performed the duties to the entire satisfaction of the members. The cortège started from the residence of the deceased shortly after four p.m. There was a lengthy procession. The coffin was of polished oak with brass plate, bearing the inscription—"Herbert Rockett. Died 16th January 1881. Aged 52 years."

We are requested to announce that the working of the Fifteen Sections, at the West Smithfield Lodge of Instruction, 1623, at the Cathedral Hotel, St. Paul's, E.C., has been postponed until March, in consequence of Bro. G. H. Stephens, J.D. of the mother Lodge (who was to have presided on Monday, 31st inst.), having sustained severe domestic affliction.

INDUSTRY LODGE, No. 186.

THE Installation Meeting of this Lodge was held on Tuesday, 25th inst., at the Freemasons' Hall, London, on which occasion the following Officers were present, viz.:—Bros. R. Allisor W.M., W. W. Philp S.W., H. J. Johnson J.W., W. H. Hook I.P.M., T. E. Sallent, D. J. Robinson, Henry George Lake, and C. W. Noehmer; W. Mann P.M. Treas., J. Seex P.M. Sec., J. J. Taffs S.D., John G. Horsey J.D., G. J. Dyer Steward, G. W. Hook I.G. There was also a large attendance of members of the Lodge, and the following visitors:—W. Poore P.M. 1306, James Stevens P.M. 1426, James Garnar P.M. 1622, G. Bond 704, H. W. Ruff W.M. 95, T. W. Skelton P.M. 1056, H. J. Godden P.M. 21 P.G.S., G. Whitaker 73, W. Marden 1791, E. J. Dixon 1627, D. Wetherilt S.D. 1681, C. Tayler S.D. 1624, W. W. Morgan jun. 1385, C. W. Peters J.W. 507, Seymour Smith 742, &c. Some business of a preliminary nature having been transacted, and two gentlemen initiated into the Order, the ceremony of Installation was proceeded with, the retiring W.M. ably fulfilling the duty of placing his successor, Bro. W. Woodfield Philp, into the chair. That brother, after the observance of the customary ceremony proceeded to invest his Officers, the following brethren receiving the respective collars:—Bros. Johnson Senior Warden, Taffs Junior Warden, Mann Treasurer, Seex Secretary, Horsey Senior Deacon, G. W. Hook Junior Deacon, Dyer Inner Guard, C. W. Noehmer D. of C., Creighton and Page Stewards, Woodstock Tyler. The installing Master then gave the addresses, and thus concluded the work of his year of office in most efficient style. On rising for the first time the W.M. said he had a duty to perform—one of the first which usually fell to the lot of a W.M., and which to him was a most pleasing duty. He was gratified at being called upon to present to the outgoing Master the jewel which the brethren had voted for him, and which they had presented as a mark of their esteem, and in recognition of the able and courteous way in which he had carried on the duties appertaining to the chair. The W.M. and brethren only hoped that Bro. Allison would live long to wear it, and that he would be able to look upon it with gratification for many years to come. Bro. Allison suitably returned thanks. He accepted the jewel, and should always look upon it as a most gratifying memento of his term of office in the Industry Lodge. The petition of a Brother, who is now, and has been for some time past, in most distressed circumstances, was brought before the Lodge, and, on motion duly made and seconded, the sum of two guineas was presented to him from the Funds of the Lodge. The W.M. then closed the Lodge and the brethren adjourned to refreshment, which was served in the Freemasons' Tavern. The newly installed Master ably fulfilled the duties of president of the festive board, and if we may judge from the boisterous enthusiasm with which the brethren supported him he did so to their entire satisfaction. But at the same time we think that as much regard can be shewn for a W.M. by the members of a Lodge by quiet appreciation of his efforts as by the continued exercise of the powerful lungs of the more enthusiastic brethren. To say the least, it is unnecessary in a Masonic Lodge to employ noise to shew pleasure, and however enjoyable it may be to the brethren who make it, it is very unpleasant to the quiet ones, and must be particularly so to the Brother who for the first time finds himself at the head of a Lodge. The toasts of the Queen and the Prince of Wales having been given and honoured, Bro. Seymour Smith gave his experiences of Lord Mayor's Day, and, as usual, his efforts met a most hearty reception. Bro. Allison having assumed the gavel, rose to propose the health of the W.M. He considered this the toast of the evening. It would be almost impossible for him to enumerate the many good qualities possessed by Bro. Philp; he further felt that the W.M. was so well known to the brethren as to render such a course unnecessary. He would simply call upon them to drink the toast, and to wish Bro. Philp a successful year of office. The W.M. in reply referred to the time of his initiation, at which he had looked with veneration and awe at the then W.M. He remembered wondering if it would ever be his good fortune to become Master of that or any other Lodge; and to-day, when the honour had been conferred on him, he looked upon it as the proudest attainment of his life. The next toast was that of the initiates, which was proposed from the chair. The Worshipful Master gave the newly admitted brethren a most hearty welcome, as did also the brethren in drinking to the toast. Each of the initiates responded, and then the W.M. proposed the health of the Installing Master and the Past Masters of the Lodge. They were a most influential body, one and all of them being ever ready to give their time, assistance, and influence for the Lodge. As regarded the Installing Master, Bro. Allison, the W.M. felt all would agree with him when he said it was impossible to say too much in his favour; he was a Mason heart and soul, and had devoted all his energy during the past year to the duties of the office he had so ably filled. He especially referred to the services rendered by the Treasurer and Secretary, and concluded by saying that, as all had done good service in the past, so he hoped they would live long to do so in the future. Bro. Allison briefly replied to the toast, and was followed by other of the Past Masters. The W.M. next proposed the toast of the Visitors, to which Bros. Godden, Cantle, and Stevens replied Other toasts followed in due order, and the proceedings were in due course brought to a conclusion.

OLD GLOBE LODGE, No 200.

Dippie S.W., took place at the Old Globe, Scarborough, on Wednesday evening, when a large number of the brethren attended. The ceremony of installation was impressively performed by Bro. W. H. The minutes of last regular Lodge meeting were confirmed. Report of the Audit Committee and balance sheet were next read by the Secretary, and approved. Among items in the balance sheet were Grand Lodge dues £24 7s, carriages for attending the late Bro. C. Coote's funeral £2 16s 9d, repairs to furniture, new jewels, &c. £11 0s 6d, Lodge Benevolent Fund £15 7s 6d, Charities £7 7s 3d, together £22 14s 9d, and Mansion House Relief Fund for Distress in Ireland £5 5s. Philcox and Mr. Phillip Oestermann were duly initiated. Bros. J. Jacobs, M. Jacobs, S. Jacobs, and C. M. Anderson were passed, and Bro. A. Z. Gartley was raised to the sublime degree. Lodge was resumed, and Bro. H. J. Phillips, W.M. elect, having been presented to the sitting Master Bro. T. Norden, proceeded to instal his successor in the chair of K.S. The ceremony was admirably worked, and elicited high eulogiums from the brethren, especially from the P.M.'s. The W.M. invested his Officers as follow :—Bros. J. Da Salva S.W., A. Abrahams J.W., A. M. Cohen P.M. Treas., C. F. Hogard P.M. Sec., A. Abrahams S.D., J. A. Gartley J.D., H. M. Harris P.M. D.C., J. J. Ward I.G., C. H. Norden Steward, and Rawles Tyler. The brethren then adjourned to the banquetting room, and did ample justice to the good fare provided. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given, and duly acknowledged. During the evening the W.M. invested the I.P.M. with a jewel, which was the unanimous vote of the Lodge, and in a few words gracefully complimented him upon having discharged the duties of his year of office to the entire satisfaction of the brethren. Letters of apology and regret were read from Bros. G. Secretary, Sir Albert Woods P.G.W., T. Fenn P.G.D., Jabez Hogg P.G.D., and others. The brethren separated, after having spent a very enjoyable evening.

The ballot was then prepared for Mr. James William Sherman, lamp manufacturer, &c., of No. 28 New Compton Street, Soho, and 16 Ashchurch Terrace, Starch Green, who had been proposed by Bro. Robert Williams, and seconded by Bro. Henry George Danby. The voting was unanimous, and the candidate initiated by the W. Master, who acquitted himself most satisfactorily. After the transaction of some routine business, Lodge was closed, and the brethren sat down to a sumptuous repast, under the presidency of the W. Master, and the Loyal and Craft toasts were enthusiastically received. The Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, which is in connection with this Lodge, holds its meetings at the Portugal Hotel, Fleet Street, every Friday evening, at seven o'clock.

Tredegar Lodge of Instruction, No. 1625.—A meeting was held on the 24th instant, at the Royal Hotel, Mile-end-road. Bros. Clements 1306 W.M., Hammond 1178 S.W., C. The installation meeting of the Jordan Lodge, No. 201, was held on Friday, 21st inst., at Freemasons' Hall, W.C. A report of the proceedings shall appear in our next.

Clemow's arrangements for the comfort and enjoyment of the party elicited general applause, and the customary Loyal and Mark toasts were proposed and received with due honours. The very enjoyable proceedings were interspersed with some excellent vocal and instrumental music, the arrangements for which were under the direction of Bro. Cozens. Among the Visitors were Bros. H. Venn, J. E. Pinder, F. H. Cozens, Hubbard, Fredk. Binckes, C. F. Matier, &c.

In addition to the services recorded in our last issue as having been rendered by the Masonic Lifeboat, the "Albert Edward," a noble effort was made to save a portion of the crew of the ill-fated Indian Chief, but was unfortunately unsuccessful. The boat was out on that occasion for twenty-four hours. For these services the National Lifeboat Institution has made very liberal payments to the crew of the lifeboat, and in reference to the services of the boats of the Institution generally, we may mention that during the recent storms they have saved the following shipwrecked crews :—

French Ketch "Manne de Ciel," 4; Dutch steamer "Euerst," 7; Spanish brigantine "Rosetta," 8; ship "Indian Chief," of Liverpool, 12; barque "Hertha," of Christiansund, rendered assistance; brigantine "Hasselo," of Haguesund, 8; schooner "Minnie Coles," of Southampton, saved vessel and crew; brig "Visitor," of Whitby, 6; s.s. INSTALLATION OF BRO. H. C. E. MUECKE AS R.W. D.G.M. SCOTTISH CONSTITUTION.

THE most imposing ceremonial that has ever taken place in South Australia in connection with the Masonic Order was the installation of Bro. H. C. Muecke as Right Worshipful District Grand Master of the Scotch Constitution, which took place in the Adelaide Town Hall, on Tuesday, 30th Nov. With the growth of the colony the numbers of the Freemasons have correspondingly increased, and although the dignity of the official positions in connection with the mystic tie has the same significance in a small as in a large community, yet the representative character of such an office as that of D.G.M. must necessarily be greatly enhanced as the strength and portance of the Order is developed in a comparatively new colony. The installation of Bro. Muecke was therefore made the occasion of a very important demonstration on Tuesday, when officers and members from Lodges in the most distant parts of the country attended to take part in the ceremonial. The office to which Bro. Muecke has just been appointed was formerly held by Bro. C. H. T. Connor, who retired a short time since on account of ill-health. The members of the Grand Lodge assembled at the Town Hall at 7.30 p.m., and when the visiting members from the other Lodges had arrived, to the number of upwards of 500, the hall wore a very imposing appearance, which was heightened by the display of the various insignia appropriate to the occasion. The Lodge was opened by an impressive service in which the R.W. Allan Quin G.S.W. officiated as Installing Master, assisted by Bros. J. Wallace as Senior Warden, A. Hall Junior Warden, and the Rev. Canon Farr, M.A., Chaplain. Amongst those who took part in the ceremony were the R.W. District Grand Master of the English Constitution, Bro. A. Hardy, M.P., the W. Deputy D.M.G., Bro. H. E. Downer S.M, and other Officers; the R.W. D.M.G. of the Irish Constitution, Bro. W. J. Crawford; the D.P.G.M. Bro. W. N. Crowder, and the principal Officers of Lodges in the suburban and country districts. Bro. G. Oughton, Grand Organist of the Scotch Constitution, presided as instrumentalist. The installation ceremonial was of a most imposing character, and included the reading, by the S.W., of the Warrant from Sir Michael Earnshaw Stuart, Bart., Grand Master of Scotland, appointing Bro. Muecke to be D.G.M. Bro. Muecke was duly installed, and proclaimed in ancient form. He received the congratulations of the P.G.M. Scotch Constitution, and the D.G.M. of the English Constitution, and Masters of the various Lodges present, after which he appropriately returned thanks. The D.G.M. then appointed the Officers in the Provincial Grand Lodge—Bro. H. Quinn D.D.G.M.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Candour Lodge, No 337.—The members of this Lodge are building new premises, which they purpose occupying in April. They have been seeking an abiding place at several public-houses, but propose having a home of their own at last. Some of the brethren have been struggling for years to obtain it, but the oppositionists have been afraid of the extra cost to the Lodge. Candour Lodge may be considered a good Lodge as to numbers when we bear in mind that it meets in a country village and has upwards of 50 members. It can boast also of about 130 votes for the various Charities, and will send a Steward to support its Prov. G.M., Sir H. Edwards in his Chairmanship for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, and will thus add still more votes. It has also 18 P.M.'s in the Lodge, all active men. The brethren will not hold a festival in January, as they hope to have one when they enter their new building. The W.M. Bro. S. Robinson was installed last Lodge night, 18th January, by Bro. P.M. J. Hirst P.P.J.G.W., he invested the Officers, passed one Brother, and initiated one. The Lodge was established in 1812, with the charter from Penrith, which had been forfeited by a Lodge there. The first books came from a Lodge which used to be held at the Golden Lion, Weston, in Cheshire, on the banks of the Dee, but how they came, and why, there is no record to be found. The first meetings noticed in the book are of 1801, but there must have been older records. A short time ago an old forged Bank of England Note was found in one of the books; it had been paid into the Bank of England on the 10th of June 1820, and they stamped the word "forged" all over it, and sent it back. There is a memo on the back that the Lodge got another for it. It was sent to the Grand Lodge for contributions, &c., but it had passed through many hands before being found out. It was manufactured in June 1819.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—As is customary before the meeting of the mother Lodge—which assembled on Friday, the 28th inst., for emergency business—the W.M. of the mother Lodge, Bro. Blasby, and his Officers attended at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge, on Friday evening, 21st inst. There were also present Bros. Roe P.M. Preceptor, Andrews P.M., F. Botley, Brill, Dorey, Monson, Tucker, Lees, Underwood, Daniell, &c. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of last meeting were confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Daniell candidate; after which Bros. Daniell and Lees answered the questions leading to the second degree, and retired. Lodge was opened in the second, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Monson candidate. Lodge was opened in third, and closed to first degree. The election of Bro. Monson as W.M. was ordered to stand good for 4th February. Lodge was then closed and adjourned.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—At Bro. Smyth's, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston, on 25th instant. Bros. Smyth W.M., Carr S.W., Wardell J.W., Clark S.D., Christian J.D., Edwards I.G., J. Lorkin Sec.; also Bros. Dallas, Brand, Dignam, Forss, Williams, Lankester, Morant, P.M. Lee, and others. After preliminaries, Bro. Dignam was raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason. The W.M. vacated the chair in favour of Bro. P.M. Lee, who rehearsed the ceremony of installation, Bro. Brasted acting as W.M. elect. The Lodge was resumed to the first degree. Bro. Carr was appointed W.M. for the ensuing week. The working of the Fifteen Sections has been postponed till 22nd February. A vote of thanks was recorded to Bro. P.M. Lee for the very able manner in which he had rehearsed the ceremony of installation.

Prince Leopold Lodge of Instruction, No. 1445.—Held at Bro. Stevenson's, Mitford Tavern, Sandringham Road (close to Hackney Downs Junction). On Monday, 17th inst., Bro. Seymour-Clarke presided as W.M., supported by Bros. W. H. Myers Preceptor, Crane S.W., Frankel J.W., Goddard, Partridge, McDonald, Robson, Loring, Kimbell, Brevetor, and Hildreth. After the observance of due formalities, Bro. Partridge was questioned, entrusted, and raised to the sublime degree of M.M. Lodge being lowered, the first and second sections of the second lecture were worked by Bro. McDonald, assisted by Bros. Kimbell and Partridge. Lodge was closed to the first degree, and Bro. Loring assisted Bro. McDonald to work the first section. Bro. Crane was elected W.M. for Monday, 31st Jan., Lodge was closed in due form. On Monday last, 24th inst., the chair of K.S. was taken by Bro. W. Musto P.M. 1349, who added to the roll of his Masonic achievements by working the Fifteen Sections in a masterly manner. Bro. W. H. Myers P.M 820 and 1445 Preceptor acted as I.P.M. The chair of S.W. was most ably filled by Bro. B. Cundick P.M. 1421, who officiated in that capacity in the unavoidable absence of the veteran Bro. T. J. Barnes P.M. 554 and 933, whose presence would have increased and added lustre to the above assemblage of the Wise Men of the East. Bro. Hildreth acted as J.W., Bro. Seymour-Clarke Sec. After preliminaries, the W.M. was assisted in his Masonic working by the following brethren: First Lecture—Bros. Loring, Macgregor, Robson, Goddard, McDonald, Pavitt, and McDonald; Second Lecture—Bros. Kimbell Partridge, F. C. Fenn, Cundick, and Worsley; Third Lecture—Bros. I. P. Cohen, Job, and Myers. Lodge being resumed in the first degree, votes of thanks were unanimously given to the W.M. for his excellent working, the S.W. for his able services, and also to those brethren who, by their thorough efficiency in their responses whilst working the several sections, had so greatly added to the gratification and enlightenment of those present. Bro. Worsley 860, the worthy Sec., and Bro. Pavitt, "Mine Host," of the Friars Lodge of Instruction, and also Bro. Hildreth, were then elected hon. members, that compliment having long since been passed to the W.M. and S.W. We were pleased to welcome as visitors Bros. John Constable 185, W. J. Smith 860, Wooding and Couture 1306, Robson 960, S. Crane 933, Wendover and Fenn 171, Bellerbee 65, Harlow 1613, R. Bayley 45, Guthrie, and many others, though the inclement weather prevented several from attending who had promised to support the W.M., but who thus missed the pleasure afforded by so many able exponents of Masonic Craft Ritual. Bros. Fenn, Wooding, Bellerbee, Smith 860, Couture, Robson 960, A. W. Guthrie, and R. Bailey, were elected members. Lodge was closed in due form.

Hemming Lodge, No. 1512, Hampton.—Notwithstanding the desperate state of the weather, the brethren mustered in sufficient force to open Lodge within a few minutes of the time appointed on Thursday, 20th instant. Bro. T. W. Ockenden W.M. presided, assisted by Bros. P.M.'s Jessett I.P.M., T. C. Walls S.W., E. Hopwood Treasurer acting J.W., W. Hammond Secretary, Toser, Herbert Jones, H. Tozer, Ballard, and Gilbert Tyler. The Lodge having been duly opened, and the minutes of the last meeting, 8th November, and of emergency meetings, 18th December and 6th January, read and confirmed, the Worshipful Master proceeded to initiate Messrs. Ransford and Dohoo into the mysteries of the Craft. Another candidate for initiation, and also a brother for passing, were absent, through illness, and a large number of members forwarded apologies for non-attendance, pleading stress of weather and snow-bound quarters. Indeed, it was a matter of congratulation to the W.M. that as many as nearly a dozen true and trusty brethren were present, who had ventured to brave the elements, and face the fatigues of a journey either from town or the neighbouring districts. After the Lodge was closed, the brethren spent a couple of hours most harmoniously at the supper table, the Tyler's toast bringing the proceedings to a close at ten o'clock. Since the meeting a very kind communication from the R.W. Bro. Colonel Sir Francis Burdett Prov. Grand Master has been received by the W.M., regretting inability to attend, in consequence of being snowed up in the Provinces. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, 18th February.

West Smithfield Lodge of Instruction met at the Cathedral Hotel, St. Paul's, on Monday last, when there was a good number of brethren present. This being an off night the first, second, and third degrees were rehearsed by the following brethren:—Bro. Keeble S.D. The Great City, first; Baker J.W. Grosvenor, second; Bro. Van Raalte W.M. Cosmopolitan, third. On the motion of Bro. Pennefather, that the hour of meeting be altered from 8 to 7 p.m., the brethren were unanimous that the latter would be better. Consequently, on and after Monday next, the members will meet at 7 p.m. Brethren wishing to become proficient in Masonic Ritual will receive a hearty greeting. The ceremony of installation will be rehearsed by the W.M. of the Royal Albert Lodge on the last Monday in February.

MASONIC HISTORY AND ITS CRITICS.

IT goes without saying that our Masonic historians have much to answer for in respect of the highly-coloured descriptions they have published of the early history of the Craft. To those who are most conversant with the difficulties encountered in the ordinary course of historic investigation, the facility with which our writers on Masonic history have adopted the unsupported statements of those who preceded them must be astounding. Even in connection with many events, the authenticity of which is established beyond all doubt, it will be found occasionally that there is a great variety of readings as to the circumstances, the order in which those circumstances occurred, and the motives by which the men who took part in them were actuated. If we take, as a single illustration of the truth of our statement, certain of the events which occurred in this country during the latter half of the fifteenth century, we shall find that many of them are still enshrouded in mystery. Thus, after the most careful researches, we are still in doubt as to the circumstances attending the death, in the Tower of London, of our Henry VI., the general belief being that he was got out of the way by Richard of Gloucester, afterwards Richard III.; of George Duke of Clarence, brother of Edward IV. and the same Richard, the popular version being that, sentence of death having been passed, he was at his own request drowned in a butt of his especial favourite Malmsey wine; and of the young princes, Edward V. and his brother of York, who are said to have been suffocated at the instance of their uncle, the Protector, Richard of Gloucester. The character of this last-named prince is a mystery to this very day. The majority incline to accept the picture drawn of him by our immortal Shakspeare, who has delineated him as one of the most bloody-minded tyrants that ever disgraced a throne; while there has arisen of late years another school of critics who view his character with a far greater degree of favour, pronouncing him to have been an able prince and a distinguished military leader, who, in all the actions which marked his brief reign, was influenced by a lofty patriotism, while, as to his alleged bloodthirstiness, he was not less scrupulous or more indifferent to the shedding of human blood than his contemporaries. Many, indeed, go so far as to say that, as a man, the qualities he possessed made him the superior of his successful rival, the first of the Tudors, and that had he proved victor on the field of Bosworth, our country would have been better governed and would have attained, under his auspices, a far higher measure of prosperity than it did under those of his wily and ungenerous successor. Here, then, we have certain events about the actual occurrence of which there is not the slightest doubt whatever, and yet the facts are scarcely at all more clear now, after centuries of investigation, than they were at the time they happened. If, then, there is all this doubt and mystery about matters which are known to have taken place, as well as about the character of a prince who played so conspicuous a part in the history of his time as did our Richard III., how much greater doubt and mystery must hang about the occurrences of Masonry, which, whether as an Operative Guild or a Speculative Society, has always enjoyed the character of being a secret body? Under these circumstances, it is, of course, the more surprising that any sane man possessing ability to distinguish between the probable and the improbable, yet without the data which would enable him to determine the actual, should have associated with the early history of Freemasonry so much that is absolutely mythical. That Freemasonry has an early history, extending far back into the remote past, we are firmly persuaded; the very nature of our splendid Society justifies that belief. But it is one thing to believe in a genuine antiquity and yet another of an entirely different complexion to deliberately associate with it a series of personages and events which, in the order of things, could never have been connected with it. To mention one conspicuous case only. St. Alban, the protomartyr of Britain, may have been a great patron of architecture, but to affirm that he was the founder of the first Lodge of Freemasons—in anything like the sense in which we understand the expression—is about the most grotesque of the many grotesque absurdities which the human imagination has ever, in its wildest moments, been guilty. This is only one of the almost countless assertions of our historic writers which have made Freemasonry—or, rather, its history—a byeword and reproach among men of rough, but ready, understanding. We may affirm and imagine what we will, we shall never, while the world lives, succeed in compiling a veracious history of the Society of Freemasons. Yet we cannot but involve ourselves in ridicule of the most humiliating character when we persist in speaking of Adam, Noah, Euclid, St. Alban, to mention no other names, as having been Grand Masters of our Society.

On the other hand, and while we deprecate the nonsense of those writers who insist on giving an actuality to the history of the Craft in the remotest times, and on proclaiming the direct personal connection with our Order of many among the most remarkable of the world's heroes, we must not allow ourselves to run into the opposite extreme of questioning everything which is not demonstrable in the manner ordinarily accepted by expert historical investigators. We may not, for instance, be able to clear up the mystery as to the circumstances which attended the deaths of Henry VI. and George Duke of Clarence, as well as of Edward V. and his brother. It is out of our power—at all events, without further evidence—to resolve the character of Richard III.—whether he was a magnanimous prince, inspired equally by patriotism and a lofty idea of the kingly power, or a mere bloodthirsty tyrant. The facts remain that Henry VI. and the others died in the fortress we have named, and Richard III. lived and died a Sovereign of England. Similarly, and descending from great things to small, from the conduct of a State to the ramifications of a Society, there are many matters connected with the earliest history of Freemasonry which cannot be fully explained, but the actuality of which cannot or ought not to be seriously questioned. If we are so unfortunate as to be compelled to number among former contributors to the history of Freemasonry many who have given priority to the extravagance of their imagination over probability, there are those among us at this present time who would narrow the circle of historic probability till it was nothing more than a mathematical point. These latter are the class of men who would write whole libraries of volumes for the purpose of showing that somebody's name or title was written either with or without a final "e;" that the common ancestor of the multitudinous family of the Smiths spelled his name with a "y" instead of an "i;" that the half-outlined bird on the long-disused signboard of an ancient hostelry must have been intended to represent a duck because it was small, a goose because it was ungainly, or a swan because it was graceful as to its neck, when as a matter of fact there was nothing about the sign as depicted which could justify the formation of any opinion whatever. These are the men who must have every date as accurately stated as it is in the consecutive numbers of a daily or weekly paper, and who will have chapter and verse for every incident which is said to be or to have been connected with the history of Freemasonry as clearly indicated as in a current item of news. There was a Lodge in Islington, says a matter-of-fact individual, who has a good deal of faith in the legitimate antiquity of Freemasonry, and who has as much faith in the doctrine of historic probabilities as men of reading and ordinary powers of discernment are wont to have. There was, he affirms, a Masonic Lodge in Islington in the year 1730. Bro. Thompson, who was at the time the senior churchwarden of the parish, was the Worshipful Master. It met at the sign of the "Duck" in High Street, and what is of greater moment, the Islington Recorder of December for that year speaks of a meeting of the Lodge having been held on the 10th of that month at the house indicated. But, retorts our hypercritical critic, there never was such a house as the "Duck" in High-street, it was the "Goose." Bro. Thompson was in Paris on 10th January 1731; how could he then have been in Islington on 10th December previous, in days when there were neither railways nor telegraphs? Moreover, the Islington Mercury of 1734 speaks of a Bro. Holloway having been installed Master of the first Lodge in Islington on 23rd June of that year. Therefore, it is all humbug to say there was a Lodge as stated in Islington in 1730, unless you can produce some evidence from the archives of Grand Lodge itself to prove the case. To urge that these archives were very differently kept in those days as an apology for being unable to produce such evidence would be useless. The hypercritic must have it that, in 1730, the house was called the "Goose," there was no such sign as the "Duck" in the neighbourhood; Bro. Thompson could not have been in Islington in December 1730, because he was in Paris in the following month, and mention of the first Lodge in Islington is distinctly made in 1734. Moreover, he would say, in addition, that in a somewhat similar case which had been submitted to him for investigation, it had taken him "only a quarter of an hour" to satisfy himself that certain records which were supposed to date from 1723 began in reality from 1750 only.

Perhaps some of our readers will consider this an extreme and somewhat childish illustration. This is far from being the case, however. There is a school of critics who insist that, in order to prove the existence of a Lodge in a particular locality, even the smallest and most trivial detail must be verified, or in the absence of such verification, they reject the statement of there ever having been such a Lodge. For instance, it cannot be a matter of life or death to us whether Philadelphia is or is not the Mother-City of American Freemasonry. Yet we have never heard it authoritatively contradicted that in 1730 the Duke of Norfolk, then Grand Master, granted a deputation to Bro. Daniel Coxe as Prov. Grand Master of New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. The minutes of our Grand Lodge record that early in the course of 1731 the said Bro. Coxe was present at a certain Communication, and they describe him as Prov. Grand Master of North America. A Philadelphia journal of 1732 speaks of Freemasons meeting in that city. There is, moreover, no inherent or antecedent improbability against the actuality of these circumstances; while having regard to the meagreness of the records relating to the Speculative Freemasonry of that day, we cannot expect, we have no right to expect, that absolutely irrefragable evidence of the truth of any statement—such as a Court of law would insist upon having—shall be produced. It is not because we are under the necessity of rejecting the myths of Masonic history that we must follow suit by rejecting as wild absurdities whatever events in its world-wide career are unsupported by chapter and verse, so to speak, in the way of testimony. The school of hypercritics must excuse us for reminding them that the most difficult of all undertakings is to attempt to prove a negative, and they who try, after the lapse of a century and a-half, to prove there were no Masons who met together in Philadelphia in or about the year 1730 will need more than the wisdom of all the Seven Ages of Greece combined. There is a something in the shape of proof that there were such; there is absolutely nothing in the way of disproof. If we deal with the history of Freemasonry, as we do with other histories, we shall have nothing to be ashamed of on the score of either exaggeration or the reverse.

THE KIDDERMINSTER MASONIC HALL AND CLUB COMPANY.

IT will be in the recollection of our readers that early in the course of last year a Masonic Hall at Kidderminster was consecrated by the Right W. Bro. Sir E. Lechmere, Bart, M.P., Prov. G.M. of Worcestershire. We are always pleased to note events of this kind, for established quarters which are one's own property are always preferable to hired quarters. Our Kidderminster brethren acted, therefore, with a degree of circumspection when they resolved on erecting their own Hall and Club, and having, as good business men are wont to do, seen their way clear to do this, they are now, at the end of their first year's experience, under the necessity of placing before their constituents a full record of what has been done since the consecration. This record, which is now before us, we rejoice to say, is eminently satisfactory. We do not, of course, mean by this to affirm that the Kidderminster Masonic Hall has no liabilities. But its position seems to be sufficiently sound and satisfactory, to judge from the tenour of the Auditors' Report, which will be submitted at the first annual General Meeting of the Company, to be held at the Hall, 128 Mill-street, on Monday, the 7th instant. Under the Freehold Account there remain, after payment for land and buildings of £2077 8s 5d, liabilities amounting only to £21. The same must be said of the Furniture Account, in respect of which sums amounting to £683 6s 3d have been paid, while those yet to be paid are £90 18s. These outlays, and the expenses of forming the Company, have been met, as described in the Establishment Account, by the fully paid-up capital of £1500, a sum of £1200 raised by mortgage, and a loan from the Birmingham Banking Company of £249 4s 9d, of which there remains to be drawn a sum of £111 18s. From the Liabilities Account it appears that the still-outstanding liabilities represent a total of £127 13s 9d, and there is, as regards the Cash Account, a small sum in hand. In short, on the whole account, there appears to be a Balance of Profit not very far short of £250, which, under all the circumstances, must be regarded as a most satisfactory result, especially at the end of the first year. It is true the figures are not large, but the profit bears to the sum of the Capital, Mortgage, and Loan a very handsome ratio. We must congratulate the Directorate on the success of their management, and express a hope that the year they are now entering upon will be still more prosperous.

SPECIAL MEETING OF PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF DEVONSHIRE.

THE annual meeting of the Committee of Petitions was held on Thursday, the 27th ult., in the Market Hall, Torrington. There were present the following Right Worshipful and Worshipful brethren:—Bros. W. J. Rogers (chairman), J. B. Gover, Charles Godtschalk (Representative of the Committee in London), John Stocker, Samuel Jones, J. Edward Curteis, James E. Moon, John Brewer, William Browning, Richard Cawsey, W. C. Oliver, George C. Searle, Rev. Thomas Russell, E. A. Davies, J. H. Trounce, J. Russell Lord, E. Thomas Fulford, William Bradie.

The Secretary stated that his remarks would be embodied in the report of the London Representative of the Committee, and Bro. Godtschalk submitted as follows:—

Brethren,—At the last meeting of this Committee, on the 19th of August last, held at Barnstaple, it was decided the boy Sydney E. Loveridge should be the adopted candidate to receive the support and votes of the Province for election into the School of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. The election took place 11th October last. There were 74 candidates, competing for 16 vacancies. The highest of the 16 candidates polled 1994 votes; the lowest of the 16 winning candidates polled 1498 votes. For use at this election I received from Bro. J. B. Gover—Boys, Devon Province, votes 304; and from Cornwall, through Bro. Gover, 68; total from Devon, 372. Not a large number, brethren, for an election at which the lowest elected boy polled 1493. However, working upon the principle I have adopted since the management of the Province votes has been entrusted to me—viz., that the candidate should be, if possible, elected the first time of asking, I obtained from Province of Berks 93 votes, from Province of Cheshire 300, from Province of Shropshire 100, from North Wales 100, from Dorsetshire 276, and by exchange for girls' votes and my own 77, total 1532 boys' votes. Of these votes I polled for our adopted candidate Loveridge 1328.

With the 324 brought forward our candidate was elected the tenth on the poll. I then, holding 204 votes saved, after I had made the candidate secure, lent the 204 saved votes to the Province of Warwickshire on IOU for return for the April election this year, Bro. Gover holding the IOU.

For the Girl's Election, October 1880, no candidate was adopted by the Committee, from the fact that no votes were available, for had I not obtained the large number of boys' votes from sister provinces, every girl's vote from Devon would have been exchanged for boys, and used for the adopted candidate Loveridge; even in that case the combined boys and girls' votes of our Province would not have produced more than one-third the number of votes necessary for the boy's election. This Committee having given me power of discretion in the management of the votes, whilst the girls' election of October last was unusually favourable for candidates, I, in conjunction with Bro. Gover, and from letters received from Mrs. Huyshe upon the subject of a Devon girl, the daughter of our late Bro. Drake, solicitor, of Exeter, was induced to take up the case of that child, with the following results:—Received from Bro. Gover, Devon Province, girls votes 150, repaid to me by South Wales upon their IOU, which I held 200, total votes (girls) from Devon 350, from Cornwall, through Bro. Gover, 126 girls, I obtained from the Province of Berks (girls) 67, from Dorsetshire 67, by exchange for boys 43. Then polling for the girl Drake 567, and she bringing forward 22, elected the case No. 39 on poll with 589 votes. At this most unusual election there were 54 candidates and 42 vacancies. The highest elected polled 1422, the lowest elected polled 582 votes. Therefore, with my 589 winning it is evident no votes were wasted. I have now to call the attention of the Committee to the following facts—the indebtedness of Devon to the following Provinces:—We owe Cornwall 68 boys' votes, 126 girls' votes, and 120 widows' votes. To Berkshire we owe 93 boys' and 67 girls'. To Cheshire 300 boys'. To Shropshire 100 boys'. To North Wales 100 boys'. To Dorsetshire 276 boys' and 67 girls', for which these Provinces hold severally the IOU's of Devon. To myself the Province owes 128 boys' votes and 362 widows' votes, for which I am personally responsible, and for which I hold the IOU of Devon, signed by Bro. Gover. As a set-off to these figures, Warwickshire is indebted to Devon 400 aged Masons' and widows' votes, also 204 boys' votes—604. In conclusion, it may be stated that between April and October 1880, five Devon candidates have been elected into the respective Institutions—first, in April, H. Norrish, a boy, into the Boys' School, he having polled 1513 votes; next, in May last, Mrs. Andrews, of Plymouth, who had polled for her 923 votes, and Bro. G. Elliott, of Brixham, polled 320 votes, the fourth and fifth candidates, the boy Loveridge and girl Drake polled respectively 1652 and 589 votes. The actual number of votes polled for the five candidates has been 4997. To do this the total number of votes received from Devon has been 1948, leaving a gap of 3049 votes, which have been found elsewhere. Summary—Devon owes 1807 votes, against which deduct 604 votes owed to Devon by Warwickshire, reducing the number owed by Devon to 1203. Therefore, take the Devon votes received by me 1948, add to them the votes Devon owes 1203—total 3151; for these votes the Province has elected five candidates, and has nothing to pay. For difference between the 3151 votes and the 4997 votes it cost to elect the five candidates, viz., 1846 votes. In recognition of this and previous work of the same character, I have to ask, through you, Bro. Chairman, that this Committee do now recommend the Provincial Grand Lodge, at its regular annual meeting (whenever that takes place), to vote the sums respectively of £52 10s to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Masons and Widows, and the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.

The report was received and adopted, and, though no resolution could be put, it was understood that the brethren would support one at the next meeting, when they would have power to recommend the sums named in the last passages of the report. In a discussion which followed, it was suggested that if the representatives of the different Lodges would make themselves better acquainted with the Charities of the Order, and keep the matter well before their Lodges, much benefit would accrue. The Secretary had received no petitions for relief, and, in accordance with the by-law, no candidate could be adopted for either of the great Charities. R.W. Bro. W. G. Rogers was unanimously re-elected the chairman, M.W. J. B. Gover the Secretary, and V.W. Bro. C. Godtschalk the representative in London; and a very cordial vote of thanks was given to each of these brethren for their services.

The Especial Provincial Grand Lodge was held in the new Lodge room about two p.m. R.W. Bro. Viscount Ebrington, Provincial Grand Master, presided, supported by Bros. W. G. Rogers, J. Edward Curteis, Rev. Thomas Russell, Rev. L. H. Powys Maurice, J. E. Moon, J. Brewer, E. Furze, J. Harris Square, J. Russell Lord, John Lynn, W. C. Oliver, F. Hooper, P. L. Blanchard. In addition to these and the brethren who were at the Committee, there were also present, Bros. John Wood, A. Bradley, R. P. Morrison 281, W. C. Wallace 175, John Bickle 421, H. M. Burrows 489, G. Pollard 489, John Baxter 954, C. R. Jones 421, P. Rousham 1885, H. Ascot 489, J. C. Clark 489, Hon. J. S. Trefusis 112, J. Omer, and J. Crocker.

Upon the proposition of Lord Ebrington, it was unanimously resolved "That the P.G. Lodge desires to express its sympathy with Mrs. Huyshe in the loss she has sustained by the lamented death of the Rev. John Huyshe, M.A., &c., and to record, by some lasting memorial, the affectionate esteem in which the late P.P.G.M. was held by the Masons of Devonshire."

The W. Bro. Rogers then proposed—"That the P.G. Lodge desires to perpetuate the remembrance of the late P.P.G.M. by a memorial window in the Cathedral Church of the Diocese, and that a committee be appointed to collect subscriptions and make the necessary arrangements." He spoke of Bro. Huyshe as a Freemason, a clergyman, and a magistrate, and contended that there could be no better memorial than what he had suggested. He had authority for saying that the Dean and Chapter would consent to the erection of such a window, and he believed it would have the approval of Mrs. Huyshe.

Bro. S. Jones seconded the proposition, and said that in the recent restoration of the Exeter Cathedral the marks of Freemasons had been found on the old portions of the building, and it was therefore the place for a memorial of one of the best of Masons. There was no innovation, as similar windows had been placed in various parts of the country in Cathedrals.

Bro. Charles Godtschalk, in an able speech, observed that, taking up the debate from the motion of the Provincial Grand Master's words, to record, by some lasting memorial, the memory of their late Bro. Huyshe, would undoubtedly meet with the unanimous approval of the Province—were the Province polled from end to end. And not alone in the Province of Devon did this esteem and respect for the memory of our late brother exist—but many brethren outside and wide of Devon would only too cheerfully subscribe to a memorial to perpetuate that name. But was it not a question of great doubt whether a memorial window, as proposed by the D.P.G.M., was the most fitting form to perpetuate the memory of one so dearly and universally beloved as their late Bro. John Huyshe—a memorial window placed in a church, even if that church be the cathedral located in the capital town of the Province, was but a poor and antiquated form to hand down the name from one generation to another. My experience tells me that memorial windows, as a rule, are placed in an out of the way corner of a damp church. Seldom seen, and often forgotten, even before completion, or very shortly after, and record nothing. He believed the majority of the brethren of the Province would feel more satisfaction in subscribing to a memorial of a character in keeping with the active life and benevolence of Bro. Huyshe. He therefore suggested that the proposed memorial take the form of an endowment for a scholarship, to be called the Huyshe Scholarship, and that Scholarship be added to the Devon Educational Fund. This Scholarship would really perpetuate and keep green the name of Huyshe. Whenever this Scholarship was gained, the name of Huyshe would appear with it, and even outside the Order it would be asked, who was Huyshe? and the reply would be a good man, who was the Past Grand Master of the Masons of Devon, whose whole life was one of active benevolence, charity of heart and of pocket, a man totally free from all sectarian bias.

In illustration of this, take the action of Grand Lodge in commemorating the return of the Grand Master H.R.H. the Prince of Wales from India. Certain brethren on the dais strongly advocated the money should be expended in adorning St. Paul's Cathedral, and in restoration of St. Alban's Abbey; but the sterling good sense of the body of Grand Lodge, some 600 to 700 strong, willed it otherwise, namely, that the return of H.R.H. should be commemorated by founding two Lifeboats. Brethren, one of those boats has since been placed on the coast of Devon, the other on the coast of Essex. Both have done good work—Masonic work in its truest sense—aiding suffering humanity in the time of need and peril. Surely this is a better outcome for our money than elaborating the Cathedral of St. Paul, and piling stones on St. Alban's Abbey.

In a like manner, therefore, will the Scholarship to be called the "Huyshe," if added to a local fund of charity that already is doing good in the Province, be the means of far more good than the memorial window proposed by the D.P.G.M. It not only will perpetuate the memory we hold dear, but be the best investment for our subscription to this fund.

Bro. J. E. Curteis proposed as an amendment that the question as to the form of the memorial be adjourned to the annual meeting of the P.G. Lodge. The few members present made it hardly a representative body in so a large a Province, and he was very doubtful whether the suggested window was the most advisable. Bro. Huyshe in his life had always been practical in his unbounded charity, and would it not be better to take the far more advantageous form of a Scholarship in connection either with the Devon Educational Fund or some other Masonic Charity?

Bro. Gover seconded the amendment. He did not think that at a meeting so small, and in a remote part of the Province, was either the time or the place to decide upon what form the memorial should take. There was no Freemason in the Province that would not assist, if they believed it would perpetuate the memory of so good a Mason as their revered late P.G. Master. He also suggested a Foundation Scholarship, and alluded to the fact of the grandfather of the present P.G. Master having his name handed down to posterity in connection with the Fortescue Annuity Fund, which was doing good service, and a very much more lasting memorial than a window which few would see. He was anxious that above all things the Province should be united in what they did, and should have time for consideration.

Bro. Moon supported the proposition, and thought the window was the best suggestion.

Bro. Bradie also supported the proposition.

The R.W. Prov. Grand Master said that as only about sixty brethren were present it would perhaps be advisable to defer the matter, but he suggested that in the interval the Masters of the different Lodges should ventilate the subject, and report to the Prov. Grand Secretary the members who were inclined to support either or any other scheme, and the amounts they were willing to subscribe. It might be found that both suggestions could be carried out.

The amendment was then carried.

The new Lodge, the Torridge, No. 1885, was then consecrated and constituted, the ceremony being ably performed by the Prov. Grand Master, with Bros. Rogers and Curteis.

The brethren then adjourned to the Globe Hotel for the banquet, which was very satisfactorily served.

After the banquet the Worshipful Master of the new Lodge was installed by Bros. W. G. Rogers, J. Linn, and J. Baxter. The first Master is W. Bro. Charles Richard Jones, and the Officers invested or appointed were Bros. P. Rousham S.W., Rev. W. C. Wallace J.W., F. Haberfield Treasurer, H. Mallett S.D., J. Hayley J.D., Dr. Norman D.C., S. Tapley I.G. The very inclement weather prevented a large number of brethren from attending.

All Books intended for Review should be addressed to the Editor of The Freemason's Chronicle, 23 Great Queen Street, W.C.

The History of Freemasonry in the District of Malta, from the year 1800 to the present time. By W. Bro. A. M. Broadley, of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister-at-Law; P.M. 1717; W.M. 1835; P.D.D.G.M. Malta: P.G.M.M.M. for Tunis and Malta; P.G.M. of the Cryptic and Allied Masonic Degrees for Tunis and Malta; D. Intendant-General of the Red Cross for Malta and Tunis; P.G.C. and G.P. and P.P. Prelate and Chancellor K.T. and K.M. for the Mediterranean; and P.M.W.S. 18°. Published for the benefit of the District Benevolent Fund. London: George Kenning, "Freemason" Office, 198 Fleet-street, E.C. 1880.

We heartily welcome this latest addition to the history of our Society. The chief interest it will excite will, of necessity, be local in its character, but every Freemason will find it a labour of love to diligently study the clear and comprehensive narrative of Bro. Broadley. Had the materials at his disposal been ampler Bro. Broadley would, of course, have been enabled to write still more comprehensively; but the same obscurity would seem to prevail in Malta, as in other Provinces and Districts, as to the earlier doings of our Lodges. For instance, some five pages suffice for a sketch of "all that is known of Masonry in Malta prior to 1815," though a Lodge "called St. John's Lodge of Secrecy and Harmony, was constituted 30th March 1789, being then numbered 539." So writes our worthy Brother, quoting as his authority, Bro. Gould, and, continuing the quotation, he adds, "at the alteration of numbers in 1792 it became No 448, and was not carried forward on the Union Roll 1813." There are no other details about this Lodge to be found in the archives of Grand Lodge. Indeed, it would be very surprising if the said archives were able to throw any light on the early history of Masonry in these parts, seeing we are told in another note that neither this nor a Lodge No. 717, which was chartered in 1819, and died out about five years later, ever made any returns to Grand Lodge. However, Bro. Broadley has made the best possible use of the materials obtainable, and has wisely avoided the fault, which too many of our historic writers have committed, of supplying the lack of trustworthy detail out of the exuberant wealth of their own fertile imaginations.

Chapter I. is very brief, and as we have said already, five pages suffice for the sketch of Masonry in Malta prior to 1815. "Preston," says Bro. Broadley, "would have us believe that the Order of Malta became at a comparatively remote period the active protector of the Order of Masons," and that it rose again into esteem "under the patronage of the Masters and Fellows of the Order of St. John of Rhodes (now Malta), who assembled their Grand Lodge in 1500, and chose Henry"—that is our Henry VII.—"their protector." Our author, however, very properly points out that all the Knights of St. John as a corporation ever did before the Eighteenth Century was "to largely avail themselves of the operative Masonic guilds of the past in the erection and embellishment of their religious and civil buildings." When, however, in the early part of last century, the Modern or Speculative system of Masonry, was erected "on the remains, customs, and traditions" of those operative associations, the Knights Hospitaller of St. John showed a marked predilection for it. Boldly and precisely he lays it down that "there is really no actual connecting link between the 'Chivalric Order of St. John' and the 'Religious, Military, and Masonic Orders of the Hospital.' As the mediæval guilds of the past are related to the speculative Lodges of to-day, so is the Order of Malta (which to all intents and purposes ended in 1799) connected with the now-existing degree of Christian Masonry which bears its name,—the one a physical prototype; the other a moral adaptation. Craft Masonry has symbolised the practice and observance of working guilds, while the modern Masonic Orders of the Temple and the Hospital perpetuate in a similar manner the teachings and the tenets, the aim and the purpose, the actions and the achievements of the two most powerful celebrated religious confraternities which the world has ever seen." This is the view we have always taken as to the true character of the antiquity of Masonry. Freemasonry as a morality, with its peculiar symbolism and its special organisation, is of modern origin, erected on "the remains, customs, and traditions" of the operative guilds. But those guilds were the repositories of the scientific knowledge, as the monks were of the literary knowledge, which survived through the dark ages from the early centuries of the Christian era, and through them from the old-world civilization. In those dark ages the guilds and the monks worked harmoniously together in continuing the beneficent work of civilisation—that is, in perpetuating the teachings of religion and morality. Those teachings were necessarily, and—speaking literally in this instance—"as old as the hills." Thus, while the organisation of Masonry is purely modern, its principles are coeval with Time itself. They have taken different forms at different epochs. They were the "mysteries" of Egypt and the East generally, the "philosophies" of Greece and Rome, the "ethics" of every school that at one time or another has been founded for the purpose of teaching men their duty to God and each other: to attempt to establish more than this is to involve us all in ridicule. To proceed, however, with our task of considering the narrative of Bro. Broadley.

There were Masons in Malta before the date—1789—of the constitution of the first regular Masonic Lodge. Thus, the influence of the Papacy in the island was so great in the early half of last century, that "in 1740 the Grand Master of the Order"—of the Knights of Malta—"caused the Bull of Clement XII. to be published in that island, and forbade the meetings of the Freemasons. On this occasion several Knights and many citizens left the island, and in 1741 the Inquisition pursued the Freemasons at Malta. The Grand Master prescribed their assemblies under severe penalties, and six Knights were banished from the island in perpetuity for having assisted at a meeting." Papal anathemas, however, were powerless to oppose successfully the progress of our Society, and Bro. Broadley quotes the following from a MS. by the late Right Worshipful Bro. W. Rodwell Wright P.G.M. of Malta 1815-26:—"I have reason to believe that for a very considerable time after the settlement by the Knights of St. John in the island, they continued to patronise the system of Freemasonry, which being, like all other sciences at that period, chiefly indebted to ecclesiastics, was looked upon with much favour, and perhaps I might add, held in high estimation by the most distinguished characters of the Roman Catholic Church. I do not consider that the Order of Malta was necessarily connected with Freemasonry, nor, indeed, had any further connection with it than what was common to all the orders of chivalry, which, in their gradations and principles of union, bore such a striking resemblance to our institutions as, combined with the Oriental origin of those institutions, may fairly induce us to presume that they sprang originally from this root. I have no reason to believe that Masonry, either publicly or privately, formed any part of the initiation of the Knights of Malta." This is in accord with what we have said already as to the harmony that prevailed formerly between the guilds and the Church, while the further fact which the late Bro. Rodwell Wright mentions, that Grand Master Emmanuel di Rohan, who died in 1797, was a Mason, though not a member of a Lodge, shows what progress our Society must have made in the island in the teeth of Papal denunciations.

The first regular Lodge received its Warrant of Constitution from H.R.H. the Duke of Cumberland, Grand Master, and is described by the late Bro. Wright as having been "a very numerous and respectable Lodge, almost exclusively confined to the Knights of the Order, who appear, however, to have adhered chiefly to the French ritual, and whose Lectures were delivered in that language." We are also informed on the same authority that "subsequently to the occupation of Malta by the English, a Lodge was established" there "by the French prisoners of war, in correspondence with the Grand Orient of Marseilles." Ultimately the few remaining members of this Lodge sought and received—in 1819—a Warrant of Constitution from the Grand Lodge of England as "Les Amis en Captivité," No. 717. It ceased working in 1824. It is these two Lodges which never made any returns to Grand Lodge. Of the latter of them, fortunately, some parchment certificates have been preserved. From one dated 25th October 1812, in the French language, it appears the Lodge was then described as "the respectable Lodge of St. John, bearing the distinctive name of Les Amis en Captivité and worked at Città Vecchia." It attests that Bro. Ignatius Vidal had taken the third degree, and also that at the time "Bro. H. Aubin was Hon. W.M., Bro. Vardier W.M., Bro. Danesmil S.W., and Bro. Lombard J.W. It was signed by sixteen brethren, and two of the signatures are followed by Masonic marks." On the back of this, says Bro. Broadley, "is a certificate engrossed on the 20th December 1812, to the effect that "the Soveriegn Princes of the Valley of Toulon had conferred on the same Brother the 18th degree of the Scottish Rite." This is signed by Bros. P. Pensa and H. Aubin." The second certificate, dated 16th March 1814, was issued by Lodge Parfaite Union, and attests that a Bro. Nicholas Ataglioti "had been perfected a S.P.R.C. and Knight of St. Andrew, the M.S.W. being Pietro Pensa; but whether this was "a separate Masonic body or the Chapter attached to the Lodge Amis en Captivité is not certain." The third certificate, dated 11th May 1816, and like the two preceding, in the French language, attests that the third degree had been conferred on the same Nicholas Ataglioti. This emanates from the Lodge Les Amis en Captivité, and is described as being "surrounded by an elaborate drawing in water-colours of the columns of the temple, surmounted by the sun, moon, and stars. The seal is circular, attached by a blue ribbon, and inscribed 'L. Amis en Captivité Or. Ile de Malthe, 36 Deg. de Lat.' In the centre is a triangle, having the Ark of the Covenant in the middle surmounted by the All-Seeing Eye, with a square and compass extended beneath its base. The triangle is surrounded by a circle, from which seven points, forming a star, extend towards the circumference of the seal. Between each of these points is a five-pointed star." The Officers named on this are Bros. L. Nani W.M., Jean André Roediger S.W., and J. A. Hockkofter J.W. The fourth certificate, dated 25th December 1820, is to the effect "that Bro. Ignatius André Vidal had fulfilled, with honour to himself, the posts of D. of C. and J. W.," in the Lodge. This is surrounded by a border of Acacia, the seal being attached by a red ribbon, edged with green, and covered with green stars. "In the centre of the upper portion is the All-Seeing Eye with a wreath of lilies on one side and of acacias on the other." The endorsement gives the number of the Lodge as 716. "The W.M. at the time was a Bro. R. Stevens, and of the thirteen officers signing it "four described themselves as 'Knights of the Templar and Malta.'" The number "716" is also given in the minute books of the Lodge of St. John and St. Paul—the oldest existing Lodge in the District, when certain members of the now defunct Lodge visited it.

No history of Freemasonry in Malta would be acceptable which did not contain a tolerably full sketch of the late Bro. Walter Rodwell Wright, and accordingly Bro. Broadley devotes his second chapter to so much of that brother's career as preceded his arival in Malta. From this, we gather that Bro. Wright joined the Prince of Wales Lodge, then No. 412, on the 18th December 1801; but whether this was his first introduction into the Society or not does not appear. Three years later he was elected Grand Master of the Order of the Red Cross in England, being described at the time as "a most distinguished Mason, and a personal friend of the Dukes of Kent and Sussex. In 1807, the former Royal Duke having executed a Warrant for the revival of "The Knights of the exalted Religious and Military Orders of the Temple and Holy Sepulchre of St. John of Jerusalem," Bro. Wright was elected Grand Master on the 12th April. This post he continued to hold till 6th August 1812, when he resigned in favour of His Royal Highness the Duke of Sussex. He was present on the memorable 27th of January 1813, when the Earl of Moira Pro G.M., who was under orders to leave

England for India, was presented with a magnificent jewel in recognition of his valuable services to the Order. He took a prominent part in connection with the union of Ancients and Moderns, his name following that of the Duke of Sussex as one of the signatories, on behalf of the Moderns, to the articles of Union, dated 1st December 1813. He was also present at the Lodge of Reconciliation, and the first meeting of the United Grand Lodge, on 27th December, when an ode written by him was recited and formed a prominent feature of the day's proceedings. A somewhat similar effusion is published in this volume. It is entitled, "Ode for the Installation of His Royal Highness the Duke of Kent and Strathearn as Grand Master of Masons of England, according to the old Institutions, on Wednesday, the 1st December, 1813. Set to music by Bro. Kelley," and Bro. Wright is said to have been "the joint author." The concluding portion reads thus:—

Recit. And, do we not behold the dawn
Of purer skies, and brighter days,
When Masonry's unclouded blaze
With threefold light shall shine?
When all (to one grand temple drawn,
Our slightly-differing forms revised,
And little jealousies despised)
In unity combine.

Duet. For see! from heaven the peaceful dove
With olive branch descend!
Augustus shall with Edward join
All rivalry to end;
And taught by their fraternal love,
Our arms our hearts shall intertwine,
The union to approve.

Full piece. Then, Edward and Augustus, hail!
For now beneath the Brunswick line,
One system shall prevail.
O'er all the earth, with truths divine,
Shall Masonry extend its sway,
Till time itself shall pass away,
In unity to shine.

Chor. Then, brothers, hail the kind decree
That gave them both to Masonry!

Our readers will remember that the late Duke of Kent was installed Grand Master of the Ancients with the express object of bringing about the union of that body with the Grand Lodge of the Moderns. This, of course, explains the references to the part played by the Royal Dukes in that grand event. The year following Bro. Wright left England for Malta, in order to take up the appointments of President of His Majesty's Court of Appeal and Senior Member of the Supreme Council of Justice of that island. From his arrival may be said to date the history of modern Freemasonry in Malta.

Stevens's Masonic Map and Directory for 1881 of Lodges and Chapters in England and Wales. London: Edward Stanford, 55 Charing Cross, S.W., and all Booksellers. Price 1s; coloured 1s 6d; stout sheets 2s 6d; coloured and mounted 3s 6d.

We are very much pleased with this Map, and the pains which have evidently been bestowed on its compilation. It shows at a glance the locality of every Lodge and Chapter in the Metropolis and Provinces the numbers being used to indicate the whereabouts of the former, an asterisk being added in the case of those which have Chapters attached to them. Smaller maps are given for Manchester and District, the Thames Valley, the Metropolitan District, and the area extending for a radius of one mile and a-quarter from Freemasons' Hall. It is a pity, however, Bro. Stevens has followed Grand Lodge Calendar as to days of meeting. It is hardly worth while repeating other people's inaccuracies, and it is well known that Grand Lodge Calendar contains very many, only a small portion of which could have been avoided. In all other respects the Directory answers its purpose. We may add that the Map is an admirable specimen of Mr. Edward Stanford's Chartography.

FESTIVITIES AT KENDAL.

THE Brethren and Companions of the Union Lodge and the Kendal Castle Chapter have for some years past celebrated their annual festival on the same day, and this year was no exception. On Friday last, at the Masonic Hall, Stramongate, a goodly number of the members of the Craft assembled to do honour to the occasion. The Chapter met first, and after the usual routine business, the Principals elect, Comps. Nelson, Godfrey, and Bell, were installed according to ancient custom by Ex. Comp. John Bowes P.Z. P.P.G.S.N., to whom a cordial vote of thanks was tendered by acclamation. At five o'clock the Craft Lodge met, and was largely attended. In the absence of the W.M (Bro. F. Watson), through domestic bereavement, the Lodge was opened by Bro. McKay P.M. P.G.S.W., assisted by the various Officers. The minutes of the previous meeting having been confirmed, and the Lodge opened in the second degree, the acting W.M. invited Bro. Bowes P.M. P.P.J.W. to take the chair as Installing Master. Bro. McKay then presented Bro. J. H. Hogg S.W., W.M. elect, for the benefit of installation, and the ceremony was performed in an able and impressive manner. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Installing Master for present and past services. The addresses to the Wardens and Brethren were then delivered. After the Lodge was closed, the brethren adjourned to the banquet, where a most enjoyable evening was spent under the genial presidency of the newly installed W.M.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

NEPTUNE LODGE, No 22.

THE annual installation meeting in connection with this Lodge was held at the Guildhall Tavern, on Thursday, 27th ultimo, when there was a very numerous and influential attendance, under the presidency of the retiring W. Master, Bro. Thomas F. Collings. Amongst those present were:—Bros. George Britton S.W. and Master-Elect, James Harper J.W., Isaac Wilcox P.M. Treasurer, T. R. Eames P.M. Hon. Secretary, W. Ashwill I.P.M., James Norman P.M., E. F. Storr P.M., G. Waterall P.M., O. C. Sargeant I.G., Henry Povey, Robert W. Coulcher, H. F. Griffin (Master of Fan Makers' Company), Thomas Whiting, Joseph Corbett, B. Peart, W. Cook, John Frost, Mark Hubbard, W. J. E. Crane, B. Peart jun., J. Miller, W. H. Keen, E. J. Jolliffe, J. J. Slater, J. Parkinson Tyler. Visitors—Bros. Sir John Bennett P.G. Steward, William Winnett 59, the Rev. J. Jackson Wray Past Provincial Chaplain Middlesex, W. J. Dickson 27, John F. Stone 1033 (Fremantle, West Australia), P. Müller 73, J. Davies 1309, G. P. Britton P.M. 183, C. Jenkinson 1657, W. Greaves, and T. M. Norman (late of the Neptune Lodge). The usual formalities having been gone through, Bro. George Britton was presented as Worshipful Master for the ensuing year, and having expressed his willingness to accept the responsibility, a Board of Installed Masters was constituted, and he was duly installed and greeted with the customary salutations. Bro. Britton then invested his Officers for the year as follows:—Bro. Thomas F. Collings I.P.M., Bro. John Harper S.W., Bro. John J. Slater J.W., Bro. Isaac Wilcox P.M. Treasurer, Bro. Thomas R. Eames P.M. Hon. Secretary, Bro. Henry Povey S.D., Bro. Robert Walpole Coulcher J.D., Bro. William Cook I.G., Bro. Edward F. Storr P.M. D.C., Bro. William Neats W.S., and Bro. J. Parkinson Tyler. The ballot was then prepared for Mr. Edward Stanton Hopper, of No. 34, Mornington Crescent, N.W., who had been proposed by the Worshipful Master elect, and seconded by Bro. Edward F. Storr P.M. The voting was unanimous, and Mr. Hopper was initiated into the privileges and mysteries of the Order by the newly-installed Worshipful Master in a style which may have surprised some who had, a short time ago been disposed to call in question the administrative abilities of "Little Britton." The ceremony was performed in a manner which must have convinced the brethren and visitors that the newly-elected Worshipful Master has judgment to discern and ability to execute the functions of his exalted office, and we are bound to congratulate Bro. Britton upon the success which attended his debut. Two notices of motion affecting the bye-laws, by Bros. E. F. Storr P.M. and J. Harper J.W. respectively, were adjourned till the next meeting, and the report of the Audit Committee having been received and adopted, Lodge was closed in form. Subsequently the brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet, provided in Messrs. Ritter and Clifford's best style. Bro. J. Marcham acted as toastmaster. At the conclusion of the repast the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, after which the Worshipful Master proposed "The Lord Mayor and Corporation of the City of London," the toast being heartily received, and responded to by Bro. Sir John Bennett P.G. Steward, who alluded in eloquent terms to the increasing numbers and influence of the Craft, and the extension of its cultivating powers. He expressed the hope that the Corporation of this great city might prove itself not unworthy of being associated with such a toast as had just been proposed. The Immediate Past Master, in proposing the toast of the evening, the "Health of the newly-installed W. Master," said the gavel had been placed in his hands on this occasion to propose a toast which he was sure would be received with the utmost sincerity and cordiality. Since they last met, he (the speaker) had gone down slightly in his position, but the honour of proposing this toast fully reconciled him to the place he now occupied. Then Bro. Britton was one in whom they would all take great pride and delight as the Worshipful Master of the Neptune Lodge, for he was thoroughly master of his work, and what was still more important, he had every confidence in his working. To add to all, he had a first-class lot of Officers about him; and with all these elements of success they might confidently look forward to a happy and successful year of office. In asking their acceptance of the toast, he wished for Bro. Britton long life and every happiness. The Worshipful Master, who was loudly cheered on rising to acknowledge the compliment paid him, said, If their Bro. Past Master Collings felt awkward in the position he held that night, they might readily imagine his bashfulness when called upon to respond to this important toast. However, he candidly admitted that he had looked forward to the proud position he now held ever since he entered the ancient and honourable Institution of Freemasonry. When he had the good fortune to mention to Bro. Storr that he should like to belong to Freemasonry, and asked that brother to propose him for the privilege of being admitted into the Neptune Lodge, he thought with their number of members it would take him a long time to work up to the chair of W.M., but he was determined to persevere, and, if possible, to attain the object of his ambition. He was only very pleased to have been thought worthy of being elected to that position, for he always considered the chair of the Neptune Lodge had been well filled; he never recollected one who had not done the work efficiently. That was a point which he must look to, for he felt it was of no use his aspiring to such an office unless he was prepared to emulate the example of those who had preceded him. He should endeavour to carry out the duties of his office with assiduity and earnestness, and thus hand down the insignia to his successor with lustre untarnished. They could never have work done too perfectly, and he could only trust that no blemish would rest on his exertions during the coming year. Before sitting down he begged to propose the health of the initiate. He could only congratulate the Lodge upon such an accession to their numbers as they had received that night. Bro. E. S. Hopper briefly responded. In the course of his remarks he thanked the brethren for the kindly welcome they had accorded him, and expressed the hope that he might become an apt scholar of the beautiful principles which were embodied in Freemasonry, and at which he had that evening been permitted a first glimpse. The W.M. next proposed the Masonic Charities, associating with the toast the name of Bro. Edward F. Storr P.M., who had not only spent large sums of money, but a vast amount of time and labour in promoting the welfare of those Institutions, which were a pride to the Craft and to the nation. Bro. E. F. Storr P.M., who was loudly cheered, thanked the company most heartily for the manner in which the toast had been received, although he did not lay claim to all the eulogiums which had been so kindly attached to his name. He could only attribute it to the hearty feeling of the brethren, whose hearts were stirred by the mere mention of those noble Charities, of whom they were justly so proud. He congratulated Bro. Britton upon the high and honourable position to which he had that day been elected; and if their present W.M. enjoyed as happy and prosperous a year as he (Bro. Storr) did when he filled that chair he might indeed have reason to consider himself a fortunate individual. So far as the Masonic Charities were concerned, he could only reiterate the sentiments they had so often heard him express—might God speed them. He felt peculiar pride in seeing Bro. Britton occupying the chief position in his mother Lodge: into which he had the pleasure of introducing him; he was one whom he knew would do honour to the Craft, and who would fill the chair with credit to himself and to the entire satisfaction of the brethren. For himself, he was rather proud of the appellation "Charity Storr," and if he had in any way served their noble Institutions in the past, he trusted the G.A.O.T.U. would spare him to continue in the same path of duty for many years to come. While he remained a member of the Lodge, the Charities he hoped would ever be represented, and he felt they ever should be so far as he was concerned. No one could visit the Boys' or Girls' Schools but must come away better than he went, for they must all recognise the fact that the children who received the benefits of those Institutions received such an education as not only fitted them to earn a livelihood and a position in life, but it also proved a comfort and a blessing to them in their declining years. With regard to the Benevolent Institution they saw it providing a shelter in old age to those who had occupied better positions in life, but who, "through unforeseen circumstances of calamity and misfortune had been reduced to the lowest depths of poverty and distress." Hence they sought a home and shelter in the winter of their old age in an Institution which the brethren were helping to support; and who could tell but that—happy and prosperous as they were at present—some of those present might be grateful to spend the autumn of their lives in such a noble Institution as that? Therefore, he said, while they had health and strength, whilst God gave them the means to do so, let them not dispense their charity with sparing hand, but let it be done with that liberality and generosity which were characteristic of a Freemason's heart. He said, as a Freemason, they did not do enough for these charitable institutions—they did not give a paltry 8s a-piece all round. If all Masons would but give 5s a year each they would not need the Annual Festivals, because such funds would be sufficient for all purposes. If they all subscribed a guinea a-year what a grand and noble thing it would be for the Masonic Charities. He hoped when he went round amongst them on behalf of the Boys' School they would not send him empty away, and he was sure they would not. Might God speed and bless those Institutions, and might the autumn days of those who helped them be days of pleasantness and peace; and when they left this sublunary sphere might they be received into the Grand Lodge above, and enjoy the reward which was there being prepared for them by the Great Architect of the Universe. The Worshipful Master then, in felicitous terms, proposed the health of the Past Masters, in doing which he said he should be glad if the brethren would enable him to take up a good list, in the name of the Neptune Lodge, on behalf of the Charity which he had the honour to represent as a Steward at the next anniversary. The Past Masters of this Lodge were first-rate men and thorough Masons, who had brought the Lodge to the high position it now enjoyed in the Craft. He considered this was the best Lodge in the Order, and he should use his humble endeavours to promote its best interests, so that it might continue to uphold the prestige it had hitherto enjoyed. The Immediate Past Master briefly but suitably acknowledged the toast. The Worshipful Master next proposed "The Visitors," of whom he was glad to see so goodly a company present. The toast was cordially received. Bro. G. P. Britton P.M. of the Unity Lodge 183, in responding said, speaking from a long and varied experience, he never saw the Ritual more beautifully or efficiently performed than he had done to-night. He thanked them for the welcome they had extended towards the visitors, and felt assured they had done so in the true spirit of Freemasonry. The Worshipful Master next gave the health of the Treasurer and Secretary, with thanks to them for their past efficient services. Bro. T. R. Eames P.M. Hon. Secretary regretted the unavoidable absence of his esteemed colleague, Bro. Isaac Wilcox, but assured the brethren that they, in common with the rest of the Officers, would continue to exert their utmost endeavours in promoting the welfare of the Lodge. The Worshipful Master then gave the Officers and Prosperity to the Lodge, the toast being heartily received. Bros. J. Harper S.W. and John J. Slater J.W. responded in a few happily chosen sentences; and the Tyler's toast closed the official programme. The proceedings of the evening were enlivened by some excellent vocal and instrumental music, amongst the former being capitally rendered songs, by Bro. Henry Poovey, "Quips the Quaker" and "Oh, Sophia;" Bro. Mark Hubbard, "Polly" and "The Village Blacksmith;" Bro. Harper, "The Sapper Brigade" and "Over the Garden Wall;" Bro. G. M. Vane, "Jack's Yarn" and "Drink, puppy drink;" Bro. W. Winnett, "The Thorn" and "Will o' the Wisp," &c. The evening was most pleasantly spent, amidst a prevailing element of harmony and fraternal feeling.

ST. JOHN'S LODGE, No. 70.

THE regular meeting of this Lodge, No. 70, was held on 1st Feb., at the Huyshe Temple, Plymouth, and was the first meeting held since the Provincial Grand Lodge at Torrington, when it was resolved to record, by some lasting memorial, the affectionate esteem in which the late P.P.G.M. was held by the Masons of Devonshire. From a circular just issued by the Provincial Grand Secretary, the Lodges are invited by the P.G.M. to decide, not later than April, what, in their opinion, is the best form of memorial, and what amount Lodges and individual Masons would subscribe. Bro. Godtschalk, after relating what took place in the Provincial Grand Lodge at Torrington on Thursday last, explained to the brethren his remarks at that meeting conveyed the only distinct suggestion as against the proposed memorial window, namely, his idea that a Scholarship, to be called the "Huyshe Scholarship," added to the Devon Educational Fund now in existence, and doing real good work, would be a far more fitting mode to perpetuate the memory of one so dearly beloved as the late Bro. John Huyshe. He, therefore, moved the following resolution:—"That this Lodge, St. John's, No. 70, devote the sum of fifteen guineas to the proposed memorial to the memory of our late D.P.G.M., if that fund is to form a Scholarship called the Huyshe Scholarship, in connection with the Devon Masonic Educational Fund for educating and clothing children of deceased or distressed Masons of the Province of Devon." This was seconded by the Worshipful Bro. L. D. Westcott, the Treasurer, supported by Bro. J. B. Gover the Secretary, and carried; and before the next meeting no doubt a large amount will be subscribed by the members. There was a full attendance of brethren of this old Lodge.—Plymouth Daily Mercury.

JORDAN LODGE, No. 201.

THE annual meeting of this Lodge took place on Friday, 21st ult., at the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, on which occasion Bro. Payn was installed as W.M., and the following brethren were invested as Officers for the ensuing year, viz.:—Bros. Wallis S.W., Dovey J.W., Davage Treas., Robinson Sec., Fox S.D., Simpson J.D., Dunkeley I.G. Bro. Hyland, the outgoing Master, officiated as Installing Master, and performed the task most satisfactorily. Previous to closing the Lodge the newly-appointed W.M. presented to his predecessor a handsome P.M.'s jewel, which had been voted by the members of the Lodge as a mark of their appreciation of the efforts of Bro. Hyland during his presidency of the Lodge. Bro. Hyland tendered his sincere thanks to the brethren for this further mark of their satisfaction, and assured them that he considered it a much greater honour to have filled the chair of the Lodge than to be the fortunate recipient of any reward for the duty he had fulfilled. He hoped he should live for many years and have frequent opportunities of being present at the meetings of the Jordan Lodge, where he should with pride wear the jewel just presented him as evidence that he had given satisfaction during his year of office. The Lodge being closed, the brethren adjourned to the banquet room, where a most enjoyable evening was spent. The W.M., at the conclusion of the banquet, gave the customary loyal toasts. Bro. Hyland proposed that of the W.M. He felt that Bro. Payn would prove himself a worthy representative of K.S., and that he would carry out the duties of the chair to the credit of the Lodge and the satisfaction of himself. His unanimous selection had proved the feeling with which he was looked upon in the Lodge, and he had no fear that he would do anything which would lead the brethren to regret the choice they had made. The W.M. felt there was little he could say in answer to the glowing accounts given of him by his I.P.M. He hoped to be able to carry out the duties of the office both to the satisfaction of the brethren and himself. He next gave the toast of the Visitors, to which each replied. In response to the toast of the Immediate Past Master, Bro. Hyland suitably replied. In giving the health of the Past Masters, the Worshipful Master referred to the progress made by the Lodge, that progress was of course due to the ability displayed by the brethren who had in the past filled the chair, and he had little doubt but that whenever occasion offered they would be as ready to help the Lodge as they had been in the past. Bro. Smith replied to this toast. There were so many new faces around him that he could hardly recognise the Lodge, still he could not forget that it was the Old Jordan, and as such was deserving of the greatest regard from all connected with it. He referred to many worthy brethren who had emanated from it, and trusted that its future career would be as glorious as was its past history. To the toast of the Charities Bro. Hyland responded, he being a Steward for the approaching Festival of the Benevolent Institution. The health of the Treasurer and Secretary was next given, the W.M. briefly referring to the care they each bestowed in the discharge of their respective duties, and expressed a hope that the Lodge would long be benefitted by their assistance. Bros. Robinson and Davage having replied, the toast of the Officers was given and acknowledged, after which the proceedings terminated.

West Middlesex Lodge of Instruction, No. 1612.—A meeting was held at the Feathers Hotel, Ealing, on 27th January. Present—Bros. H. E. Tucker W.M., G. Coop S.W., J. Green J.W., C. E. Porter S.D., W. Seward J.D., J. Wells I.G. Bros. T. Wilkinson Lodge No. 115, Ceylon, T. Smith, S. Smout jun., W. Nye, and Acworth. Lodge was opened in due form and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. After all formalities had been observed, the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. T. Smith candidate. Lodge was closed in third degree. The ceremony of passing was rehearsed, with the same brother as candidate. The Lodge was resumed to first degree, and Bro. S. Smout jun. volunteered as a candidate, and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed. Bro. T. Wilkinson of Leinster Lodge, No. 115 Irish Constitution, Ceylon, was elected a member. Bro. G. Coop was appointed W.M. for the next meeting.

MAURITIUS.

INDEPENDENT LODGE, No. 236 I.C.

THE Installation Meeting took place at Lodge La Paix, on Monday, the 27th December (St. John's Day), Bro. A. G. Rickwood W.M. presiding. After the opening of the Lodge, and the confirmation of the minutes of the previous meeting, members from the Sister Lodges in the Island were admitted in the order of their different degrees. There was a large number of Visitors present, amongst whom we observed Bros. F. Courteau, C. de Perindorge, E. Chrétien, A. P. Tennant, E. Chaillet, T. G. Hownslow, J. H. Tompson, W. Argent, H. W. M. Brownrigg, D. Stewart, H. J. Blackburn, L. Baratoux, J. F. Seymour, E. Magot, C. H. Ledger, C. Moulinie (Seychelles), J. Astrue, D. C. Smith, J. Wilson, J. Nickols, Robinson, H. Crocker, Amel, Bording, Talibard, Letourneur, Chevreaux, Doton, Humes, Golden, &c., members of the principal Lodges of Mauritius. The formalities connected with the admission of Visitors having been concluded, W.M. Bro. Rickwood proceeded with the Installation of the W.M. elect, Bro. George Lewison P.M. of the British Lodge E.C., and P.M. of Lodge Friendship S.C. As a matter of form the W.M. elect was presented by Bros. D. C. Smith and Tennant 32 deg. After investiture, the brethren present, led by Bro. P. M. Rickwood, formed in procession and saluted according to ancient custom. In thanking the brethren for their attendance and support, the newly-installed Master expressed his gratitude to the members of the Independent Lodge for the unanimity with which he had been elected to the chair. He could only assure them that during his tenure of office he should do his best to promote the interests of the Lodge in particular and Freemasonry in general. He liked Freemasonry, and was one of those who believed its teachings rendered men better husbands, better fathers, and better members of society. The longer he lived, the more he believed in Freemasonry, and if his thirty-five years' experience of the Craft had tended to impress him more and more with the beauties of its teachings, it had also shewn him that he had yet much to learn. He had always been struck by the words used in the Installation Ceremony, viz.: "Forcibly impress upon them the dignity and high importance of Freemasonry." It sought to bring together men of all political professions and every religious creed, wean them from their isolation, their selfishness and their sins, and unite them together for their common good. Wherever he turned his eye it fell upon some object—some emblem—associated with the Craft, reminding him of some virtue he ought to pursue. In that sense, Freemasonry had helped him on in the path of life. If, as Freemasons, they put that principle into ordinary practice, and carried into daily life duties they were taught in Lodge, they would be making daily progress not only in Freemasonry, but in every social virtue. He could assure them that, as Master of the Lodge, it would be his earnest endeavour to discharge his duties with fervency and zeal. In accepting that position he considered himself in the light of a Priest of the best and noblest system of morality, and not the President of a merely social Order. There were laid upon them certain duties and reponsibilities towards each other, and from his knowledge of the brethren he felt certain that those duties would be well and worthily performed. In conclusion, he might be permitted to hope that the Great Architect of the Universe would continue to cement together, and adorn their Order, with every social, moral and intellectual virtue, and endow them individually with such wisdom as would enable them to carry out the trust reposed in them in such a manner as would redound to His Glory and the credit of the Order. They would thus become better Masons, better men, and better brothers, united more closely, hand to hand, heart to heart. Finally, he trusted that he should be spared to hand over to his successor their Charter pure and unsullied as he had received it from the hands of his dear Worshipful Brother Rickwood. It only remained for him to thank the Installing Master for the very efficient manner in which he had carried out his duties. The appointment and investiture of Officers then took place, as follows:—Bros. Rickwood I.P.M., Graves S.W., De Perindorge J.W., Asher Sec., Leblanc Treas., Jones I.G., Arnaud Tyler. The W.M. next presented W. Bro. Rickwood with a very handsome jewel, subscribed for by members of the Lodge in appreciation of his services during his two years occupancy of the chair. In acknowledging the receipt of this gift, Bro. Rickwood said it afforded him much pleasure in being able to believe that his feeble services had been appreciated. He had not done so well as he could have wished, and even that little would have been impossible without their hearty co-operation. The emblem which had just been placed upon his breast would be worn by him with gratification and pride, a memento of pleasant associations; and when he should no longer exist, it would be looked upon by his children, and would be an incentive towards their achievements. Initiated in 1859, he had in succession filled every office in a Lodge, passed the chair of the Mauritius Lodge of Harmony in 1867, was installed in the chair of the Independent Lodge in 1878, and, having been so much before them, it was gratifying to feel that he had throughout retained their confidence and good will. He thought, however, he might venture to say that he had done his duty as a Freemason. As Master, he had enforced strict obedience to the Rules of the Grand Lodge of Ireland, and had maintained the ancient regulations and landmarks of the Order. He observed with regret the systematic enmity that had been shown towards that Lodge. Such a feeling was not only unbecoming the dignity of their ancient Order; it was also unworthy of Freemasons, and contrary to the solemn and sacred obligations into which they had entered. He would fraternally enjoin upon all present to read as often as possible the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE and other works on the beauties of their ancient Craft. Indeed he would go so far as to recommend the formation of a Freemasons' Library. He would conclude by expressing a fervent hope that it might please the Great Architect of the Universe to remove from the hearts of Freemasons in this island the feelings which produced so much mischief amongst them, and led to constant bickerings between the brethren, who, instead of raising the Craft to its proper level, lowered it in the eyes of the uninitiated. The Lodge was then closed in Love, Peace, and Harmony, and the brethren and visitors adjourned to the splendid banqueting room of the Lodge La Paix. Here a sumptuous repast was served by Bro. Corbett.

SOUTH AFRICA.

Peace and Harmony Lodge.—A meeting was held at De Toits Pan, on Wednesday, 5th January. Officers present:—C. Roberts W.M., D. Van Ulsen D.M., B. Klisser S.W., E. Isaacs Hon. Sec., A. Yockmonitz Treasurer, W. Kuipers Arch., H. N. Campbell acting I.G., S. W. Green Tyler. There was a good attendance of brethren, and a large muster of visitors. Lodge opened in first degree, when the Hon. Sec. read the minutes of previous meetings, which were confirmed. A letter was read from the D.D. Grand Sec. acknowledging, with thanks, the receipt of £19 1s, being the sum voted by the Lodge to Rev. Bro. Stenson, Chaplain to the Field Forces serving in Basutoland. The W.M. informed the brethren that they had met, as the circular announced, for the purpose of passing Bros. Alfred Cohen and W. H. Lomas to the degree of Fellow Craft. The candidates having answered the questions satisfactorily retired, when the Lodge was advanced; they were re-admitted and duly passed as Fellow Crafts by the W.M. Labour being ended in the second degree, Lodge was reduced, when an application was read from Mr. Frank Murray Campbell to become a Freemason. The W.M. instructed the Secretary to have his name inserted in next notice of meeting. Certificate (M.M.) was granted to Bro. C. J. Barnes. Labour being ended, Lodge closed, and the brethren departed in peace and harmony.

DEATH.

STEPHENS.—On the 29th ult., at 17 Walden-street, Stepney, E., CHARLOTTE ELIZABETH, the beloved Wife of Bro. G. H. STEPHENS, after a long and painful illness.

MASONIC CONCERT AT PLYMOUTH.

ON Wednesday, 26th ult., a concert in aid of the Devon Masonic Educational Fund was given under distinguished patronage at the Guildhall, Plymouth. The wretched state of the weather militated greatly against the success of the concert; but few of the patrons were present, and the large hall was only partially filled. Notwithstanding the doors being carefully closed, the atmosphere therefrom was much colder than those ladies and gentlemen who had come in evening dress could have desired. The front of the platform was most tastefully decorated with beautiful plants and ferns, kindly lent by Mr. William Derry, and arranged by his gardener, Mr. Cox, and some Masonic banners, suspended from the pillars, also aided in giving a cheerful appearance to the hall. Mr. Hele—in Masonic parlance, a Wor. Bro. and P.P.G.O. of Cornwall—conducted, accompanied the songs and played with admirable spirit a march at the opening of the concert. Mr. Binding, of course also a Brother, bandmaster of H.M.S. Royal Adelaide, led his band, and in the three selections that fell to their share, a "Minuet and Finale," from Haydn's Symphony in G, the overture to Beethoven's "Prometheus," and a "Serenade" and "Gavotte," by Desormes and Kottaun, conducted. Bro. Michael Rice of Torquay, played excellently two violin solos, selections from Bach and Spohr, and by his masterly performance called forth much applause. Mr. Fly, well-known to all Plymothians, gave a cornet solo, "Cleopatra," by Damare, though from the prominent part the organ took in the accompaniment it might well have been called a duet. A Masonic choir sang a Madrigal and Chorus Song, and were well applauded, and in the second part gave a humorous part song—"A Franklyn's Dogge," by Mackenzie, with which, however, we were not so much struck. Wor. Bro. J. Lovell, of Penzance, sang "The Diver;" J. Rendle, Campanas's "The Smuggler;" and N. B. Bullen, of Truro, "Let me like a Soldier Fall." That they all sang carefully and well, it is hardly necessary to say, and their efforts were much appreciated. We have left until last any notice of the two ladies—Miss Sarah Mear, of Wadebridge, soprano; and Miss Coyte Turner (a Modbury lady, we understand), contralto, of the Royal Albert Hall and London Ballad Concerts. Though an announcement was made that in consequence of the unusual length of the programme no encores would be permitted, the rule broke under the continued applause of the audience, and both ladies were encored. Miss Mear first gave "Beloved Again," A. Barri, with great spirit and good taste, and in reality secured an encore. In the second part, Molloy's "Kerry Dance" provoked another decided encore, which she responded to by singing "Home Sweet Home," a song which, though we have heard as an encore so many times that we dread the sound of it, we feel bound to say she sang unusually well. Miss Turner secured the sympathy of her audience directly she opened her mouth. With a fine voice, peculiarly rich in some notes, she united an easy and graceful manner and utterance, and both her solos were loudly encored. To the first, "St. Roman's Eve," by Lacy, with organ accompaniment, she responded with Sullivan's beautiful song, "The Chorister," and to the second, "I Love my Love," by Pinsuti, with "The Lady of the Lea." The concert appropriately wound up with the "March of the Masons," by Bro. Croger, by Masonic choir, organ, and band.—Western Daily Mercury.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The chief Wonder of modern times.—This incomparable medicine increases the appetite, strengthens the stomach, cleanses the liver, corrects biliousness, prevents flatulency, purifies the system, invigorates the nerves, and re-instates sound health. The enormous demand for these Pills throughout the globe astonishes everybody, and a single trial convinces the most sceptical that no medicine equals Holloway's Pills in its ability to remove all complaints incidental to the human race. They are a blessing to the afflicted, and a boon to all that labour under internal or external disease. The purification of the blood, removal of all restraint from the secretive organs, and gentle purgative action are the prolific sources of the extensive curative range of Holloway's Pills.

LODGE OF ECONOMY, No. 76, WINCHESTER.

THE installation meeting took place on Wednesday, 26th ult., at the Masonic Hall, and was performed by Bro. J. Harris, the outgoing Master, who was highly complimented for his able rendering of the splendid ritual, which was not a little enhanced by the musical ability of the Provincial Grand Organist, Bro. G. Jones. The ceremony of installation was followed by the investment of Officers as under:—Bros. J. Harris I.P.M., J. F. Nixon S. W., Captain Hall J.W., T. Stopher Treasurer P.M., W. Gammon Secretary P.M., W. H. Jacob S.D., G. Seeley J.D. E. D. Godwin P.M., D.C. E. Snelling A.D.C., J. T. Clifton S., W. Lumsden A.S., E. T. Chamberlain I.G., Sims T. The lodge having been closed, the brethren adjourned to the Royal Hotel, where the banquet was splendidly served by Mrs. Spriggs. About forty sat down. The usual loyal and craft toasts followed, and Bro. Murray received the "hearty good wishes" of his own and the visiting brethren.

FITZROY LODGE, No 569.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge took place at the Head Quarters of the Honourable Artillery Company, Finsbury, on Friday, the 28th ultimo, when there was a very large gathering of the members and their friends to witness the ceremony. The ordinary business having been disposed of, the W.M. Bro. J. C. Sanderson initiated Mr. Sydney Walford, of No. 1 Company, and afterwards vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Captain Eglese, who, in his usual able and impressive manner, installed the W.M. elect, Bro. Lieutenant F. J. Stöhwasser, into the chair of K.S. The brethren then saluted the newly-installed Master with the customary honours. The W.M. invested and appointed his Officers as follow:—Bros. P.M. Captain Helsham Treasurer, P.M. Captain Eglese Secretary, Quartermaster W. G. Brighten S.W., W. Birdseye J.W., C. W. J. Baker S.D., George Fulcher J.D., Second-Lieutenant J. Pash I.G., P.M. W. H. Honey Director of Ceremonies, R. W. Goddard Tyler. The W.M. then presented the I.P.M. Bro. Sanderson with a very handsome jewel, which had been voted to him by the Lodge for his zealous services during his year of office. There being no further business to transact, Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to their magnificent Hall, and sat down to a most excellent banquet, served by the sutler Bro. F. W. Bolton. After grace had been sung, and the usual loyal toasts had been given, the W.M. proposed the toast of the Prov. Grand Master, which was responded to by Bro. Alderman D. H. Stone P.G.S.W. The I.P.M. was then entrusted with the gavel, and in very complimentary language congratulated the W.M. on his elevation, and expressed a hope that he would enjoy as pleasant a year of office as he (the speaker) had experienced. The toast was then drunk with enthusiasm. The W.M. expressed his thanks in a neat and appropriate speech. Bros. Col. Sir Francis Burdett P.G.M. Middlesex, and Col. Shadwell J. Clerke G.S., responded for the visitors. The musical arrangements were under the direction of Bro. Wilhelm Ganz P.G. Organist, who was assisted by Miss Bertha Moore R.A.M., Miss Belval, Bro. Faulkner Leigh and Bro. Frederic Penna, their harmony contributing largely to the enjoyment of the entertainment. Among the brethren present were: Past Masters H. J. Adams, W. H. Honey, Capt. W. I. Spicer, F. Graves, R. G. Webster, and A. D. Everingham. Among the visitors we noticed Bros. Sir C. T. Bright D.P.G.M. Middlesex, E. B. Bright P.G.J.W. Middlesex, Major C. Harding P.G.S. Middlesex, Dr. Barringer P.J.W. Herts, Lardner P.P.G.S.W. Herts, G. Lambert P.J.G.W. Herts, J. Terry P.G.W. Herts, Rooke P.G.S.W. Herts, Motion P.G.D. Essex, W. P. Brown St. John's.

GOLDEN RULE LODGE, NO. 1261.

THE Installation Meeting was held on the 1st instant, at the Cafe Royal, Air-street, Regent-street. Bro. J. Lewis W.M., W. Emden S.W., Atkins J.W., J. Lewis Treasurer, F. G. Longley P.M. Sec., Hicklin S.D., Beckett I.G.; P.M.'s Jessop, Dr. Allworth, D. R. Cross, Wolfskey. Visitors—Bros. Trick 1360, Langton P.M., J. Abrams 177, Beeton 1260, Colonel Wiggington 1503, H. Rees 72, W. Stoe 181, H. M. Levy P.M. 188. Lodge was opened, and the minutes were read and confirmed. Messrs. Dr. Gilbert Lynch and E. H. Dowler were initiated into the Order by the W.M. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. Walter Emden S.W. and W.M. elect was presented to the Lodge and duly installed by Bro. Dr. Allworth P.M. The following brethren were appointed Officers:—Bros. James Lewis I.P.M., Atkins S.W., Beckett J.W., James Lewis Treasurer, F. G. Longley P.M. Sec., Hicklin S.D., Rose Innes J.D., Terry I.G., V. N. Jessop P.M. W.S., Goddard P.M. Tyler. Bro. Dr. Allworth gave notice of motion that the sum of £25 be given from the Lodge to the three Masonic Charities, and Bro. Wolfskey P.M. announced that, under the circumstances, he should have great pleasure in acting as Steward at the next Anniversary Festival for the Royal Institution for Boys. Hearty good wishes were given by the brethren and visitors, and Lodge was closed. The brethren sat down to a récherché banquet and dessert, provided by Bro. D. Nichols. The W.M. ably presided, and proposed the usual toasts. Bro. J. Lewis I.P.M. then rose; he had great pleasure in proposing the toast of the evening—the health of the Worshipful Master. The brethren were well aware that the selection they had made was one they would never regret. Bro. Emden's knowledge of Freemasonry, added to his other qualifications, would stand him in good stead during his occupancy of the chair. The W.M., in reply, said he had always aspired to occupy the chair, but he should have felt a diffidence in his present position were he not assured he should have the confidence and support of those belonging to the Lodge. The next toast was that of the newly initiated brethren, and after Bro. R. Jessop had played an artistic solo on the piano, the new members expressed their acknowledgments. The Installing Master was next complimented, and the remaining toasts were done ample justice to. In due course the proceedings closed with the parting toast from the Tyler.

LODGE OF FIDELITY, No. 663, WILTSHIRE.

THE Installation Meeting took place on Tuesday, 18th January, at the Town Hall, Devizes. Owing to the tremendous snow storm which prevailed on that day, none but the members of the Lodge actually resident in the town, were able to attend, the roads being blocked in every direction. The gathering therefore was a very small one. The W.M. elect, Bro. Harry Howse, who had filled the office of S.W. for the past year, was duly installed in the chair of K.S. by the Provincial Grand Registrar of Wiltshire, Bro. William Nott P.P.G.W., who afterwards delivered the customary addresses to the W.M., Wardens, and Brethren. The Officers for the coming year were installed and invested as follows:—Bros. W. H. Burt I.P.M., J. A. Randell S.W., G. S. A. Waylen J.W., D. A. Gibbs P.M. Treas., W. Nott P.M. Sec., S. M. Badham S.D., W. H. Bush J.D., T. Waite P.M. M.C., F. S. Hancock I.G., T. C. Hopkins and W. H. Butcher Stewards, J. Hayter Tyler. A brother from Canada was proposed as a joining member, and after the alms bag had as usual been sent round in aid of the Lodge Charity Fund, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to their annual banquet at the Crown Hotel, to which, with his accustomed liberality, Bro. S. Watson Taylor, of Erlestoke Park, contributed a liberal supply of venison and game.

Royal Alfred Lodge, No 780.—An emergency meeting was held at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge, on Friday, the 28th of January. At 2 p.m. the brethren assembled, under the presidency of the W.M., Bro. B. E. Blasby; the S.W. (Bro. C. Costelow) was unavoidably absent, but the other Officers ably supported the W.M. The first business was to ballot for, as a joining member, Bro. Alfred Kent, of the St. Michael's Lodge, No. 211. The ballot was unanimous in his favour, and Bro. Kent took his seat as a member. Three brethren—Alexander George Emmerson, Joseph Hughes, and Joseph James Barnes—ably sustained their claim for preferment, and were raised to the sublime degree. Three candidates for passing—Bros. George John Lees, Walter John Sperring, and Willie Clarke Daniell—were also advanced a step; and the ballot was brought into requisition for Mr. Samuel Blasby, No. 31 Gloucester-place, Kew, who was proposed by Bro. Blasby W.M., and seconded by Bro. W. Goss P.M.; for Mr. Charles Thomas James Hildersley, of the Market-place, Brentford, proposed by Bro. Arnold, and seconded by Bro. Metcalfe; and for Mr. J. Moore Lucas, of Rose Cottage, Kew-road, Richmond, who had for his sponsors the W.M. and Bro. Maton. This proved successful in each case, and, accordingly, the several gentlemen were duly initiated into the mysteries of the first degree in Freemasonry. The whole of the work was done by the Worshipful Master, and done in so able and impressive manner as to elicit the warm applause of all who were present. The remaining business was then disposed of, and Lodge having been closed with the accustomed formalities, the brethren adjourned to a capital banquet, under the presidency of the Worshipful Master. Ample justice having been done to the good things provided, the cloth was removed, and the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed and honoured. The I.P.M., in terms of well-merited compliment, gave the health of the Worshipful Master, making special reference to the arduous duties he had been called upon to fulfil that evening, and the earnest and intelligent manner in which he had performed them. The heartiness of the applause which greeted the I.P.M.'s remarks was of itself a sufficient testimony to their truth, though the Worshipful Master, in his reply, very modestly disclaimed having done anything more than attempt to emulate the brilliant working of his predecessors. The toast of the Initiates was heartily received, and briefly but appropriately responded to. To the Visitors, too, was extended in word, as it had previously been in deed, a thoroughly Masonic welcome, which they were not slow or niggardly in acknowledging. The Tyler's toast concluded the festive portion of the proceedings, which enjoyed the further advantage of being enlivened, in the intervals between the speeches, by songs, recitations, &c. We must not let slip the opportunity of speaking a few words of praise as to the conduct of business in the Lodge. Thanks to a very able and enthusiastic body of Past Masters, and to the knowledge obtainable at the well-ordered and intelligent Lodge of Instruction, which works in complete harmony with the mother Lodge, the Officers are remarkably able and zealous in the discharge of their appointed functions: there are, indeed, few of the Lodges we have visited in which the work in all the degrees is better done. In saying this we are anxious to pay the Lodge, not a mere empty compliment, but the tribute of praise to which it is entitled. Among those present were Bros. Blasby W.M., Franckel J.W., Goss P.M. Treasurer, W. Hilton P.M. Secretary, Gunner S.D., Kent Organist, Tarling S.; Past Masters Littlewood and Chambers Roe; and Visitors—Bros. Reynolds 820, Dallman 1414, Morgan Sec. 211, W. Bell 1024.

The first, second, and third sections of the lecture were worked by Bro. Wooding, assisted by the brethren. Bros. Brittain and Sturtevant, both of 1278, were elected members. Bro. Barnes announced, in very feeling terms, that Bro. G. H. Stephens had met with a heavy calamity in the death of his wife. He proposed that a letter of condolence be written to Bro. Stephens by the Secretary on behalf of the Lodge. This was seconded by Bro. Hubbert, and carried unanimously. A letter was also ordered to be written to Bro. Preceptor Hogg, condoling with him on the loss he has sustained by the death of his father-in-law, who was frozen to death during the late severe weather.

UNITED MASONIC BALL.

THE third annual ball in connection with the Finsbury Park and Crusaders' Lodges, Nos. 1,288 and 1,677, took place at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, on Monday, when a large and fashionable company were present. Dancing commenced about half-past nine. At half-past twelve the company adjourned to the Crown Room, where supper was admirably served under the superintendence of Bro. E. Dawkins, and to which full justice was done. The banquet was presided over by the two Worshipful Masters, Bros. A. Mullord, of Lodge 1,288, and W. J. Simmonds, of Lodge 1,677. At the conclusion of the repast the president, Bro. Mullord proposed the first toast, "The Queen and the Craft," which was followed by that of "Success to the United Masonic Ball," ably responded to by Bro. Simmonds. The toast of "The Ladies" was proposed in felicitous terms by Bro. Price, and heartily received by the brethren. The company then returned to the ball-rooms, were dancing was renewed, and kept up with great vigour till after four o'clock.

We hear that Bro. Terry's Board of Stewards for the approaching Anniversary Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution already numbers over 300 brethren, of whom a round ninety hail from the Province of West Yorkshire, whose distinguished Chief, Sir Henry Edwards, Bart., has kindly undertaken to preside. There is, of course, ample time yet for even this unusually large number to be increased, as the Festival is fixed for Wednesday, the 23rd inst., or more than a fortnight hence. We heartily congratulate Bro. Terry on the success which has thus far attended his zealous advocacy of the claims of the R.M.B.I. to the support of the Craft, and we trust the pecuniary result will be commensurate with the numerical strength of the Board of Stewards.

It will be seen from an announcement we publish elsewhere, that our worthy brother G. H. Stephens has recently sustained an irreparable domestic loss, his wife having, a few days since, succumbed to a painful malady from which she had been long suffering. We respectfully offer to our brother, in this moment of severe trial, our sincere condolence.

DANCING.—Bro. JACQUES WYNMAN, Professor of Dancing, gives daily instruction in all the fashionable Dances to those who are without previous knowledge. Private lessons at any time, by appointment. Families attended. Balls conducted, and first class Bands provided if desired.
Assemblies every Monday and Thursday, at Eight o'Clock.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:o:—

Strong Man Lodge of Instruction, No. 45.—There was a well-attended meeting of this Lodge on Thursday, 27th ult., at the Masons' Hall Tavern, and some excellent working was done.

Prosperity Lodge, No. 65.—A meeting of the members of this Lodge was held on Thursday evening, at the Guildhall Tavern, under the presidency of Bro. C. E. Ferry W.M., who was supported by Bros. W. Chicken S.W., J. Roberts J.W., George T. Brown P.M. Hon. Secretary, J. Scheidler S.D., C. J. Rich J.D., Louis A. Leins D.C., Charles Daniel P.M., H. J. Goodall P.M., H. Caton acting as I.G., and many other brethren and visitors. Lodge having been duly opened, the ballot was taken for Mr. William Fencott, proposed by Bro. Goodall P.M., seconded by Bro. Charles Daniell P.M.; Mr. Henry Albert Patience, whose sponsors were the same; Mr. William Martin, nominated by Bro. H. Sladden, seconded by the W.M.; and Mr. Rowland G. Pocock, proposed by Bro. H. Sladden, seconded by the W.M. All were unanimously accepted and initiated into the mysteries and privileges of the Order by the W.M., who discharged his duties in an effective manner. Lodge was then advanced, and Bro. Hills was raised; after the transaction of some other business, the brethren supped together, and spent a most enjoyable evening.

Lodge of Lights, No. 148, Warrington.—The regular monthly meeting of this Lodge was held at the Masonic rooms on Monday evening last. The W.M., Bro. Dr. A. H. Young, was supported by Bros. Charles E. The Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed. The Lodge was opened in the second degree, when Bro. W. Warner claimed preferment, and having sustained his claim, was entrusted. The Lodge was opened in the third degree, Bro. Warner readmitted and raised, the whole of the beautiful ceremony being worked by the Secretary of the Lodge, Bro. Bowes, with the exception of the presentation and explanation of the working tools, which duty was entrusted to the J.W., Bro. J. Paul Rylands. The Deaconate of Bro. Thos. Grime was marked by precision and accuracy, as, indeed, was the whole of the long ceremony. The Lodge having been lowered to the E.A. degree, a joining member was proposed, the remaining business transacted, and the brethren separated in harmony.

Lodge of Joppa, No. 188.—An emergency meeting was held on the 31st ult, at the Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street, Bro. R. Baker W.M., L. M. Myers S.W., J. Benjamin J.W., J. S. Lyon Treasurer, E. P. Albert P.G.P. Sec., Blanks S.D., Davis as J.D., Wall as I.G., P. E. Van Noorden Org., Bean D.C.; P.M.'s L. Lazarus, L. Alexander, H. M. Levy, H. Hymans, A. G. Dodson. Visitors—I. De Silva 205, J. Lewis 493, Harriss 1558, W. Benson 1580, Lewis 1017. Ballots were taken for the admission of Messrs. H. McKinlay, Hobman, and Midgley, who were duly initiated into the Order. Bro. B. Simmons having answered the questions, was passed to the second degree. Both ceremonies were perfectly worked, and reflected credit on the W.M. The Lodge was then closed.

Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, No. 554.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Tuesday, the 1st inst., at Bro. Walter's, the Green Dragon Tavern, Stepney, E. Bros. Loane W.M., Stewart S.W., Shingfield J.W., T. J. Barnes P.M., J. Andrews P.M. and acting Preceptor, J. Taylor Deacon, Wood I.G.; Bros. Poulter, Dutton, C. H. Bardoulean 1421, Swanson 567, Gamble 49 (S.C.), &c. Lodge was opened, and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Poulter candidate. The W.M. vacated the chair for the W.M. of the mother Lodge, when Lodge was opened in the second degree, and Bro. Loane was interrogated. In due course the W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of raising, Bro. Loane candidate. Bro. Barnes P.M., in feeling terms, alluded to the sad loss sustained by Bro. G. H. Stephens. It was unanimously resolved that a letter of condolence with Bro. Stephens, on the loss of his wife, be sent by the Lodge. Bro. Stewart was unanimously elected W.M. for the 8th inst. The following brethren were admitted members:—Bros. C. H. Bardoulean 1421, Dutton 554, Swanson 567, Gamble 49 (S.C). Lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned until the 8th inst.

William Preston Lodge, No. 766.—A meeting of the members of this Lodge was held on Thursday evening, at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, under the presidency of the W.M. After the transaction of business, the brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet, and the usual Loyal and Craft toasts were duly honoured.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—Held at Bro. Smyth's, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston. Bros. F. Carr W.M., Wardell S.W., Clark J.W., Christian S.D., Dignam J.D., Larter I.G., J. Lorkin Secretary, Smyth Treasurer, Brasted acting Preceptor; Bros. Dallas, Catling, Collins, Forss. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Catling candidate. Bro. Forss worked the first, second, third, and fourth sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. The Lodge was opened in the second and third degrees, and regularly closed to first degree. Bro. Wardell was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. All Masonic business being ended, the Lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned. It is with deep regret that we have to record the severe indisposition of Bro. Wallington P.M., the esteemed Preceptor of this Lodge of Instruction. We hope that the G.A.O.T.U. will restore him to his usual health, and sanction his return to the field he has so energetically laboured in.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

HUNDREDS of Medical Practitioners testify to its marvellous efficacy in immediately relieving and rapidly curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Spasms, Colic, Whooping Cough, and all Nerve Pains. It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. It rapidly relieves pain, from whatever cause, soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases, and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.

Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, Lord Justice Mellish decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davenport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. See Times of July 24th, 1873. Bottles 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, 11s, and 20s. Sold by all Chemists.

TESTIMONIALS.—Head Quarter Staff, Cabul, May 31st, 1880. Mr. R. Freeman, Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of special service to me in alleviating the wearisome spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form. Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne. Yours faithfully, CHARLES W. OWEN, L.R.C.P. Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng., the Divisional Head Quarter Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul.

The Times, August 13th, 1877. From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army. Okoum, July 25th, 1877. The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor, owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected miraculous cures.

THE CRAFT IN DEVON.

WE published last week a highly interesting account of the meeting in the Market Hall, Torrington, on the 27th ult., of the Committee of Petitions for the Province of Devon, and the subsequent Especial Communication of Prov. Grand Lodge in the new Lodge room, under the presidency of Viscount Ebrington Prov. G. Master. It is worth while devoting a brief space to the former, while the principal business which occupied the attention of the brethren at the latter gathering merits something more than a passing word or two; and, as the business is still undecided, we shall, in all probability, have further occasion to deal with it.

The Committee of Petitions met together for the purpose of receiving the report of Bro. Godtschalk, its London representative, and that report is worth considering, if only for the purpose of showing how a Province which, albeit a strong one, and having, of necessity, only a very limited voting power, so exerts that power as to be able to carry the day in behalf of its chosen candidates at the elections of our Institutions. Devon appears to have been very successful during the past year, having carried no less than five candidates, namely, one at each of the Boys' School elections in April and October, one into the Girls' School in October, with one to the Male and one to the Female Fund of the Benevolent Institution in May. Now, the voting power which the Province itself was able to exercise during the year was 1948 votes only, and the number of those cast at the election of these five candidates was 4997, so that it must have entailed on Bro. Godtschalk a considerable amount of ingenuity in order to accomplish his task. In April last, the boy Norrish polled 1513 votes; in May, Mrs. Andrews obtained 923 votes, and Bro. G. Elliott 320 votes; in October, the boy Loveridge and the girl Drake secured 1652 votes and 589 votes respectively. But how were these successes achieved? Let us take the two last cases in illustration. The boy Loveridge was the adopted candidate of the Province, which directly—and indirectly likewise from Cornwall—was able, through Bro. J. B. Gover, to give him 372 votes. Bro. Godtschalk then borrowed from Berkshire 93 votes, Cheshire 300 votes, Shropshire 100 votes, North Wales 100 votes, Dorsetshire 276 votes, and, by exchanging girls' votes and adding his own, he succeeded in obtaining 1532 votes from outside sources. As there were already 324 votes to the boy's credit, Bro. Godtschalk only polled 1328, making the candidate secure with a total of 1652 votes. The surplus 204 were lent to the Province of Warwickshire, and will, of course, be repaid in April. In the case of the Girl's School Election, last October, no candidate was adopted as there were no votes available, yet Bro. Godtschalk does not appear to have been in any way dismayed. The occasion was an unusually favourable one, it will be remembered, there being no less than forty-two vacancies, and only fifty-four candidates. Accordingly, he set to work, and obtained from Devon, through Bro. Gover and himself, 350 votes, of which 200 were due from South Wales on IOU; from Cornwall, through Bro. Gover, 126 votes; from Berks 67 votes, and from Dorsetshire 67 votes in exchange for a proportionate number of boys' votes. This made a total of 567, which, added to a previous poll of 22, carried the girl in successfully as thirty-ninth on the list of candidates, with 589 votes, the lowest number polled being 582. The result of all this clever management is that, at the present time, the Province is in debt, in various directions, to the extent of 1807 votes, and has owing to it 604 votes, leaving a net indebtedness of 1203 votes. Thus, by means of a total of 3151 votes, namely, 1948 of its own, and the 1203 due on IOU's, Devon has succeeded in carrying five candidates in one year, the difference between these 3151 votes, and the 4997 actually recorded, namely, 1846 votes, costing it nothing whatever. We are not surprised that, having regard to so satisfactory a result, Bro. Godtschalk should have submitted a proposition to the effect that two sums of £52 10s each should be voted to the Female Fund of the Benevolent Institution and the Girls' School respectively. Nor are we surprised that Bros. W. G. Rogers, J. B. Gover, and C. Godtschalk should have been re-elected by acclamation to the several offices of Chairman, Secretary, and London Representative of the said Committee. It is principally due to the energy and ability of these worthy Craftsmen that Devon is in a position to congratulate herself with so much reason on the successes of the past year, and this re-election, accompanied by a hearty vote of thanks to each of them, was a matter of course. The recommendations as to the two sums to be granted, as aforesaid, were, of necessity, reserved.

The meeting of the Especial Provincial Grand Lodge was held in the afternoon of the same day, the purpose for which the brethren met together being to signify by word and deed their deep sense of the valuable services rendered to Masonry by the late Rev. Bro. John Huyshe, who for so many years presided over its destinies in this Province. As befitted so important an occasion, the chair was occupied by Viscount Ebrington, the late Bro. Huyshe's successor in the Prov. Grand Mastership, and in spite of the extremely inclement weather, there were present some sixty brethren. Devon, however, is a large Province, and it was rightly felt that such a gathering could not be considered a representative one. As to the resolution moved by the P.G. Master, duly seconded, to the effect that "the P.G. Lodge desires to express its sympathy with Mrs. Huyshe in the loss she has sustained by the lamented death of the Rev. John Huyshe, M.A., &c., and to record, by some lasting memorial, the affectionate esteem in which the late P.P.G.M. was held by the Masons of Devonshire," that was carried unanimously; but a long discussion ensued as to the character the said memorial should take. The first suggestion emanated from Bro. Rogers, and was to the effect that the virtues of our late brother should be perpetuated by a memorial window in the cathedral church of the diocese, and that a Committee should be appointed, in order to raise subscriptions, and make the necessary arrangements. Bro. Godtschalk submitted that a far better kind of memorial would be the foundation of a Huyshe Scholarship, in connection with the Devon Educational Fund. Bros. Curteis and Gover, though they moved as an amendment that the consideration as to the form the proposed memorial should take should be deferred, also favoured the idea of a Scholarship, whether connected with the Devon or any other Charity Fund, while the window was approved by Bros. Moon and Bradie. Lord Ebrington, however, seemed to think the idea was as yet immature, and the amendment to defer consideration was agreed to. In the meantime, we trust the Wor. Masters of the Devon Lodges, and the members generally, will give the matter all the attention in their power. No doubt the memorial window will find a large share of support, for our late Brother was a clerk in holy orders in the Anglican Church; yet it strikes us the Scholarship scheme would be preferable. It is an essentially practical suggestion. Not only will it perpetuate the name and fame of our departed brother, but it will illustrate to a good purpose the active principle of benevolence, the charity of heart and of pocket, by which he was so greatly distinguished. As Bro. Curteis is reported to have pointed out, "Bro. Huyshe in his life had always been practical in his unbounded charity," and Bro. Gover supported this view by quoting in illustration the Fortescue Annuity Fund, which was founded in memory of the grandfather of their present chief, and was doing good service. Whether it should be established in connection with the Provincial Educational Fund, or in connection with one of our Central Schools, is a question which we do not venture on discussing. This must in great measure be settled by the character of the subscriptions. If these should be wholly or in greatest part from Devonian brethren, then we think the Scholarship should be connected with the local Fund; but if any considerable sum outside the Province should be subscribed, sufficient, that is to say, to justify the donors in claiming to exercise a voice in the appropriation of the sum raised, then, perhaps, it would be better to connect it with a central charity. For ourselves, we should prefer seeing it connected with the local Fund, for it was as a Devon Mason and among Devonshire folk generally that the late Rev. J. Huyshe was so deeply and deservedly respected. Perhaps, as the Prov. G. Master suggested, when the matter has been more generally discussed throughout the Province, and it becomes gradually more clear what will be the approximate amount of the subscriptions, it may be found possible to adopt both schemes—the window and the Scholarship. One thing is certain, nothing will be lost by delay, for the purpose of giving the Lodges in the Province the opportunity for formulating and making known amongst themselves their several opinions. We do not doubt, from the spirit already exhibited, that the Province will carry out the scheme it may determine upon in a manner which, while it will be a certain and lasting tribute to the memory of one who, in all the many positions he occupied, whether as a Clergyman, as a Justice of the Peace, or as a Mason, was universally loved, will likewise be in all respects worthy of so distinguished a Province, presided over, as it is, by so zealous and able a chief as our late Bro. Huyshe's successor.

FREEMASONRY IN MASSACHUSETTS.

WE have received, and acknowledge with thanks, copy of the Proceedings of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts on certain Special Communications of the 1st October and 4th December, of the Annual Communication of the 8th December, and of a Stated Communication of the 28th December of last year, with a brief sketch of the annual feast which followed. The first of these was held for the purpose of consecrating the new Masonic apartments of the Norfolk Union Lodge, when there were present among other Grand Officers—Bros. C. A. Welch G. Master, W. H. Chessman as Deputy Grand Master, W. Parkman as G.S.W., F. Mortin as G.J.W., Bradford L. Wales as G. Treasurer, Tracy P. Cheever Recording G. Secretary, &c. &c., together with representatives of the several Lodges in the vicinity. The Grand Master made a brief but appropriate address, and when the proceedings were ended, Grand Lodge was entertained at a sumptuous banquet. The Communication held on the 4th December was for the fulfilment of no less sad a duty than the paying a last tribute of respect to the memory of a late distinguished Mason, Bro. John T. Heard, Past Grand Master, who died on the first of that month, at his residence in Louisburg-square, Boston. After a brief address, in which Grand Master Welch expressed his appreciation of the great loss the Craft in that State had sustained by the death of their late chief, the Lodge funeral service was read, after which the Grand Officers and brethren proceeded to the residence of their late brother, where, after a funeral service by the Rev. Cyrus A. Bartol, D.D., the cortège moved off to the cemetery at Mount Auburn, where the rest of the sad duties of the day were fulfilled, and the brethren dispersed.

There was a very full attendance of Grand Officers and Lodge representatives at the Annual Communication on the 8th December. Bro. Charles A. Welch Grand Master presided, and among those who supported him were Bros. A. H. Howland jun. D.G.M., Charles W. Moody S.G.W., Otis E. Weld G.J.W., Samuel Wells Grand Treasurer, Tracy P. Cheever Recording Grand Secretary, George P. Sanger Corresponding Grand Secretary, &c, &c., &c. When Grand Lodge had been opened, and the usual references made to the different Committees, the Grand Master read his report, in which he carefully noted all the incidents which had occurred during the period of his Grand Mastership. He also drew attention to the report of the Auditing Committee on the Grand Treasurer's accounts, which was of a highly satisfactory character. Grand Lodge then proceeded to the election of Grand Officers, with the following result:—Bros. S. C. Lawrence Grand Master, Edwin Wright Deputy Grand Master, F. Lyman Winship S.G.W., Nathan S. Kimball G.J.W., S. Wells Grand Treasurer, Tracy P. Cheever Recording Grand Secretary, George P. Sanger Corresponding Grand Secretary, Charles W. Slack S.G.D., Charles Harris G.J.D., &c., &c., &c. On the 28th December the installation of the Grand Master and his principal Officers took place, Past Grand Master Welch playing the chief part in the ceremony. A handsome Past Grand Master's jewel having been subsequently presented to Bro. Welch, several other matters of business were despatched, and the annual banquet was held, about 154 brethren taking part in the festive gathering.

NEW FINSBURY PARK AND SIR HUGH MYDDELTON LODGES, Nos. 1695 AND 1602.

THE annual ball of the members of these popular Lodges was held on Monday, 7th inst., at the Cannon-street Hotel, and in the result proved a great success. Dancing was enjoyed to the strains of C. H. R. Marriott's band. At the supper the W.M. of the Sir Hugh Myddelton Lodge presided, being supported by Bro. Hollis vice. The toast of the Queen was followed by that of Success to the United Ball of the two Lodges. The President looked upon the large attendance and the happy appearance of all around him as evidence of the success of the ball, and he hoped it might continue as an institution for many years to come, and that at all times it would be a success. Bro. Hollis proposed the health of the Ball Stewards and Ball Committee. He was sure this toast would meet a hearty welcome, as it was to the exertions of these brethren that the success of the ball might be attributed. From personal experience he could testify that it was no easy task to organise such a ball, much less to bring it to a successful issue. He felt sure the committee were amply repaid for all their trouble by the way in which the ball was attended, and by the apparent happiness of all around him. He could not let the opportunity pass without making special reference to one brother, on whom perhaps fell a great portion of the work—he alluded to Bro. A. F. Speller, the Hon. Sec. of the Committee. That brother had left no effort untried to add to the enjoyment of the company, and to him especial thanks were due. Bro. Speller replied to the toast. He was very pleased to hear what Bro. Hollis had just said, but he thought so much praise was hardly due. He felt there was not a brother in the Lodge but would have done what he had in order to enhance the success of the ball. He was only too happy to know that the efforts of himself and brother committee-men had resulted so successfully. Bro. Tibbitts proposed the toast of the ladies, to which Bro. Heyse responded. Dancing was then resumed, and kept up with spirit until close on five a.m.

ANCIENT AND ACCEPTED RITE.

Hilda Chapter, Rose Croix.—The annual meeting for the installation of M.W.S. took place at York, on Friday evening. The Chapter was opened by the M.W.S. Bro. T. B. Whytehead, after which the chair was taken by Ill. Bro. C. J. Banister 33 S.G.I.G., who proceeded to instal the M.W.S. elect Bro. J. S. Cumberland. The Officers were afterwards appointed, as follow:—Bro. the Rev. W. C. Lukis H.P., S. Middleton First General, M. Millington Second General, T. B. Whytehead P.S. Recorder, A. T. B. Turner G.M., G. Simpson Raphael, L. Murphy Herald, E. J. De Salis Captain of Guard, J. T. Atkinson Org., Rev. J. Blake D.C., P. Pearson and H. Jackson Equerries. The Chapter was afterwards closed, a vote of thanks for services rendered having been accorded to Bro. Banister.

Bro. W. Purkiss, P.M. 1695, has purchased the Royal Music Hall Holborn, of Bro. Sweasey. Bro. Purkiss will shortly take possession, when the Hall will undergo an entire renovation; all the modern improvements will be introduced. The work will be carried on under the superintendence of Bro. E. Clarke, architect. The best and most talented artistes are being engaged.

We have been requested to announce that the Annual Banquet of the Kilburn Lodge of Instruction will take place on the 14th instant, at Bro. W. F. Walton's, the South Molton Hotel, South Molton-street, Oxford-street, W., Bro. James W. Cuff, W.M. of the mother Lodge, will preside. Brethren are offered a cordial welcome. Tickets 5s each. A MASONIC PANTOMIME.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—We have all read about burlesque Masonic processions and Masonic caricatures; but I doubt very much whether any of your readers are aware that a Masonic pantomime was performed at Covent Garden Theatre in 1781, just a hundred years ago. Bro. Parker, the Superintendent of the Boston Masonic Temple, however, called my attention to "Curwen's Journal and Letters," printed here in 1842, in which Mr. Curwen described such a pantomime. A few words must, however, be said about the author, Mr. Samuel Curwen, a native of Salem, Massachusetts, who was at one time a soldier, then a judge and merchant, and was a royalist when the American Revolution broke out in 1775. As Boston was too hot a place for royalists, he went to Philadelphia; but finding Philadelphia also too hot for him, he sailed for England, and remained there until 1784, when he returned to America. During his sojourn in England he kept a diary. I find in it mentioned several visits to theatres; but he evidently never saw a pantomime before 1781. And now for his account thereof:—

"Jan. 9. [1781]. Accompanied Mr. Daglish to Covent Garden Theatre, comedy, Busy-body,—entertainment, the tasty performance of Freemason's procession,—scenery pompous, former part, to my taste, unpleasing—Harliquin in dumb show; why he is said to be a freemason, I cannot divine, unless investing him with a square, one of their badges, suspended by ribbon and hung round his neck, so constituted him. The skipping about of an antic dressed in a merry-andrew's coat, his face covered with black crape, and wooden sword by his side, put on for the purpose of showing how ready he is drawing it forth to slap his brother antic's face, shoulders, etc.; displaying the wonders of his transforming power in converting trunks, dogs, and chests, into watch boxes, arbours, chimney-pieces, etc.; his principal aim being to make grimaces and wry faces at his favorite columbine, who by the way, is a fine looking girl, and made to be deeply in love with a fantastic ape, without one probable reason for it. These species of pantomime seem at present greatly in vogue: to arraign the taste is perhaps conceited: but this remark will never come to light, if ever, till, I dare say, it will be as despised as it is now relished, especially by the more enlightened class; as to the lower, they ever were and ever will be too gross for any entertainment above the lowest humor . . . I would fain call it vulgar, but too many box spectators seem to enjoy it, and join the galleries. I can't, however, but believe that all sensible persons do disapprove of these shows as unworthy, but dare not openly avow their opinion.

"The comedy was excellent, and well performed, and much exceeds in point of wit, plot, etc., the to me flattish sentimental compositions of the present day, with few exceptions.

"After the silly harliquin had skipped behind the scenes, a grand procession began, preceded by a standard of light red color, the ground of all following ones: the first contained a scroll, wherein was painted in large golden letters ENOCH, the first Grand Master, his representative following, accompanied by two attendants; at a little interval appeared NIMROD, second Grand Master, with his representative and four attendants; next was brought the front of the Temple of the Sun at Thebes; afterwards, the great pyramid of Egypt and the sphynx; then front of the Temple of Jerusalem, built by King Solomon. Pharaoh's two daughters next followed, attended by their Egyptian and Jewish female and male servants, the high priest properly habited, holding a pot of incense in his hand, breast plate and other insignia on, closing with a long stream of attendants and servants in the rear: next, front of the Pantheon at Rome, the founder or repairer, for it is uncertain which, M. Agrippa's name in a list under the capital; then, Temple of Jerusalem, built by Herod, destroyed by Vespatian, represented as in flames; next, William the Conqueror, and behind him was carried a prospective view of the Tower of London, as if built by him; then Edward the Third, accompanied by his son clad in black armor . . . giving liberty to, and taking the chains off the legs of two captive kings, John of France and James II. of Scotland, at the instance of his son, followed by a train of attendants. The front of St. Peter's at Rome then succeeded. Julius II., having in his hand a crosier, and on his head a triple crown . . . He was attended by a train of ecclesiastic officers and servants, and had the keys hanging to his girdle, as lord chamberlain of the state-rooms of the upper regions, and jailor in the lower dungeons . . .

"Next in order came Queen Elizabeth, dressed in royal robes, and attended by her servants, both state and domestic. Then followed King James, surrounded by court sycophants; front of the banqueting house, as it now stands. . . . Next, Guy Fawkes, in dress of his day, holding a dark lantern,—alluding to the gunpowder plot; next followed Inigo Jones, the restorer of Greek and Roman architecture, preceded by an ensign, having his name in a scroll, with the Masonic letters D.G.W. [more probable D.G.M.] Then came Charles II. and attendants, follow'd by the front of St. Paul's. . . . founded in his reign [why was Wren omitted?] At length appeared William and Mary, the former holding a sheet of paper, with this inscription—Bill of Rights—words that I wish could be indelibly impressed on the minds of kings, lords, commons, courtiers, and people of this island; for, on the practical remembrance of this short sentence depends the security of this unparalleled constitution, which verily I fear is near its dissolution.

"Then followed the grand-master, seated in a magnificent alcove; then, an arch, having an inscription Ancient Masonry; then two pillars, on the top of each a globe,—on one the celestial, the other terrestrial,—and on a list, by which they were kept steady, was inscribed Modern Masonry. The last in the procession were Solomon and Pharoah's daughter, seated on a throne of state, and over it a rich canopy raised by six steps: on the bottom steps, on each side, stood two lions guardant, between them two young Egyptian damsels, dressed in white,—and on each side of the throne, all the principal personages of the procession ranged, with standards displayed, made a grand and glittering appearance. A fine chorus was sung, and, when ended, a universal shout of applause rang through the house, and the curtain dropped."

I shall only here remark that the distinction made between Ancient Masonry and Modern Masonry is rather curious. The Arch properly belonged to the Ancients, but whether the globes and pillars were confined to the Moderns ought to be ascertained. Cannot our London brethren find out something more about this "Masonic Pantomime?"

Fraternally and respectfully yours,

JACOB NORTON.

THE ST. AMBROSE LODGE, No. 1891.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—"AN OLD BUT JUST BROTHER" is a little hard on your contemporary for its notice about the consecration of the above Lodge. There was an inaccuracy as to date, and it is well known the Freemason is published on Friday for Saturday. But though the notice might have been worded somewhat differently, there was, I imagine, nothing in the paragraph it gave which had not already appeared in the summons or notice paper issued to those immediately interested as founders or invited to take part as visitors in the consecration of the St. Ambrose Lodge. It was a trifle premature, but not more so than other announcements of a somewhat similar character I have seen in other journals.

I am, faithfully yours,

SCRIBE.

THE PHILADELPHIA QUESTION.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I cannot, for the life of me, understand why Bro. Jacob Norton will persist in banging away at Philadelphian Masonry, or what good object he imagines he will gain by so doing. Is he, I will ask, in a position to deny the authenticity of the following, namely, that—

(1.) In 1730, the Duke of Norfolk granted a deputation to Daniel Coxe, as Prov. Grand Master of New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania.

(2.) The said Daniel Coxe was present the year following (1731) in Grand Lodge, London, and is described as Prov. Grand Master of North America.

(3.) A Philadelphia journal, published in 1732, distinctly mentions the fact of brethren meeting in that city on one or more occasions in that year.

It matters very little to me personally whether Philadelphia, Boston, New York, or any other city in the United States, is the Mother-City of American Freemasonry, but until Bro. Jacob Norton is in a position to prove that the above are, to use a favourite term of his, all "humbug," he should, in common fairness to history, if not to Freemasonry, discontinue questioning the Philadelphia theory of Bros. Hughan, M'Calla, and others. There is, as you remarked last week, "no inherent or antecedent improbability" as to the "actuality" of the above circumstances, and it cannot possibly be of service to attack everybody all round, because there exist no records of their meetings, such as are compiled by a Lodge Secretary in these days.

Fraternally and respectfully yours,

PHILADELPHOS.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

THE February meeting of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution was held on Wednesday afternoon, at Freemasons' Hall. There were present Bros. Col. John Creaton Grand Treasurer (in the chair), J. H. Tattershall, Wm. Stephens, Saml. Rawson, James Brett, Charles G. Hill, Jno. G. Stevens, Edgar Bowyer, Jno. H. Leggott, Thos. Cubitt, Louis Stean, Charles Atkins, Charles H. Webb, Jas. Willing jun., and Jas. Terry Secretary. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, the Secretary reported the death of an approved candidate, who had for two years received half her late husband's annuity. The Warden's Report for the past month was read. Permission was given to one of the residents in the Institution to resign his apartments, he wishing to reside with some relatives. Cheques for payment of the annuities for the ensuing quarter, as also for various other purposes, were signed. The rating of the Institution at Croydon having lately been materially increased, the Secretary was requested to appeal against the present rating. A statement of the receipts and disbursements for the past year having been submitted, the Committee decided to elect thirteen males from an approved list of thirty-seven candidates, and seven widows from an approved list of sixty-one candidates, at the election on the 20th May next. A vote of thanks to the Chairman closed the proceedings.

With the year 1815 may be said to begin the history of modern Freemasonry in this island. The arrival of Bro. Wright was a piece of good fortune for the Anglo-Maltese, and on 18th February of that year twenty-five brethren addressed a letter to him, requesting he would exercise his influence with the Governor for the erection of a Lodge of Freemasons, and further give them the benefit of his counsel and experience. This led to the issue of a dispensation for the establishment of a Lodge, bearing the style and title of St. John and St. Paul, No. 673, and on the 15th April the said Lodge was consecrated, Bro. Slythe being installed the first Worshipful Master by Bro. Wright, who, in the interim, had been appointed Prov. Grand Master for Malta and Gozo—a title subsequently altered to that of Prov. Grand Master of the Mediterranean. Bro. Slythe, however, appears to have been only nominally the first Worshipful Master, for no sooner had he been inducted into office than he vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Wright, and at all future meetings was described as Past Master. Twenty-eight brethren met together on this occasion, and no less than twenty candidates were proposed, of whom all but three were elected. The Lodge continued to meet weekly, under the personal direction of Bro. Wright, and their progress was sufficiently satisfactory to arouse the anger of the Roman Catholic Bishop, who sought an interview with the then Governor, Sir Thomas Maitland, for the purpose of remonstrating against the establishment of Freemasonry in his jurisdiction, the grounds of his complaint being that our Society was not only subversive of the Catholic Religion, but directly in antagonism with Christianity itself. Sir Thomas Maitland, after consultation with Bro. Wright, dismissed the complaint, and declined in any way to interfere. For his vindication of the aims and purposes of Masonry on this occasion Bro. Wright received a vote of thanks from the Lodge. At the next election Bro. Wright was re-elected Worshipful Master, and each of the Wardens, on appointment, nominated his own Deacon. The Lodge went on prospering more or less, under the presidency of Bro. Wright or other member, but with nothing of moment intervening till August 1829, when its sittings were suspended—presumably owing to the interference of the local Government—and remained so until the beginning of the year 1822, when the brethren received permission to resume their labours. During the first ten years of its existence the Lodge received several accessions of strength, among others that were elected being Viscount Mandeville, subsequently sixth Duke of Manchester, Lord J. S. Churchill, afterwards Junior Grand Warden of England, Right Hon. J. Hookham Frere, General Gardiner, R.A., and Sir Montagu Stopford. On the completion of this period, Bro. Wright proposed that a special jewel—an illustration of which is given at p 18—should be worn by the members of the Lodge, and this proposal was acted upon. In the year 1826 Bro. Wright died, and a funeral Lodge was held to commemorate his worth, the oration being delivered by the Worshipful Master, Bro. Whitmore. From the opening paragraph we give the following extract:—

"No one possessed of sense or feeling could ever have known our deceased brother who did not honour and esteem him; but we, my brethren, bound to him by every moral and social tie, our friend, our brother, the brightest ornament that ever graced our body, the establisher and constant supporter of this Lodge—how great is our cause for sorrow, how long and deeply must we deplore his loss! Within the Lodge, zealously rigid and eminently efficient in the execution of his own duties, he expected the same attention and obedience from others he was wont to pay himself; nor did any consideration of private gratification, nor sickness, nor suffering, ever prevent his attendance at all duties of the Lodge, which he continued to uphold and exalt to the last moment by example and precept. As a Mason perhaps unequalled, and excelled (I presume) by none. Most enlightened and refined, through a long and brilliant career the pride and beauty of the fraternity; its readiest source from which to gain instruction, its purest fountain of information. As a man, a profound and elegant scholar, a perfect gentleman, and uniformly constant in the exercise of every moral virtue. In his profession eloquent, just, and upright, unbiassed by partial or unworthy motives; honour and humanity guided his steps, and the goodwill and admiration of mankind were the crown of his labours. His mind a compound of all that was noble and generous, enriched by learning and dignified by conscious integrity; benevolent, kind, courteous, and affable; to rich and poor alike a friend, with a heart ever open to sympathise with distresses of his fellow creatures, and a hand ever ready to relieve their wants. An uncommon greatness of soul and mental vigour supported his enfeebled frame under long and acute bodily sufferings, and enabled him to perform the duties of his high station almost to the very moment of his death."

Bro. Wright was buried in the Misida Bastion Cemetery at Floriana, and in 1840 a monument was erected to his honour by the Lodge of which he was the founder, the inscription on which, by the Right Hon. J. H. Frere, reads as follows:—"To the memory of Brother Walter Rodwell Wright, of the county of Suffolk, P.G.M. for the Mediterranean, and founder of the Lodge of St. John and St. Paul at Malta, President of H.M. High Court of Appeal, and senior member of the Supreme Council of Justice in this island. Early distinguished for high literary attainments, and throughout life for uniform benevolence and a strict sense of honour, he secured to himself the confidence and goodwill of the population of this island, and the respect and esteem of his British fellow-countrymen. He died on the 26th April 1826. Bonus atquè fidus Judex honestum prætulit utili. This monument is erected by the Lodge of St. John and St. Paul to mark their deep sense of departed worth."

For some years after Bro. Wright's death, the Lodge was the reverse of prosperous. "During the years 1830-31," writes Bro. Broadley, "the Lodge seems to have had a hard struggle for bare existence;" but on the rejoining of Bro. Whitmore, who had resigned his membership in 1828, there followed a great renewal of activity. In 1832, by the closing up of the Lodges on the roll, the Lodge became No. 437, and in 1863 this was again altered to its present No., 349. Among those who joined the Lodge during these years, may be mentioned Admiral Sir Lucius Curtis, Bart., P.G.M. Hants, Admiral Sir Thomas Fellowes, Sir Godfrey Webster, Robert Langston, H.M. Attorney-General for the island, Archdeacon Burrows P.G.M. of Andalusia, subsequently P.G.M. for Malta, the date of his appointment being early in the year 1847, or close on one-and-twenty years subsequent to Bro. Wright's death. The progress of things during these years seems to have been generally uneventful, only a few incidents occurring which appear to be worth noticing. Thus, on 20th June 1828, the Lodge was visited by Lord Yarborough, P.G.M. of the Isle of Wight, and afterwards D.G.M. of England. His Lordship, however, would not seem to have been a very expert Brother, for the Officers that were sent out to examine him, reported that "he was not provided with his certificates, and was apparently imperfect in the signs and words of the first two degrees; at the same time he was possessed of so much as gave every reason to believe that he had lawfully obtained such degrees, upon which he was admitted." In 1833 a complaint was made against a Bro. Reade, on the ground of his having given "Masonic signs in a public manner at the Mitre Tavern, in Valetta." In March 1843, the thanks of the Lodge were passed to a Bro. Harding "for the very handsome present of two stones, one of them being from the rock of Mount Sion, to be designated the rough ashlar, and the other from the stone of Bethlehem, of which the church of St. James at Jerusalem is being built, to be designated the perfect ashlar." On the same occasion a Bro. Salih Effendi, of H.M.S. Monarch, was initiated, and took the obligation on the Bible and Koran conjointly. In October of this year a pastoral letter, denouncing secret societies, and especially Freemasonry, was issued by the Bishop of Malta, the effect of which was such as to expose the brethren, especially of the Union of Malta Lodge, to the insults and even violence of the populace. Letters were addressed to the Grand Lodge of England and the Chief Secretary of the Malta Government, by Bro. Leonard, of the Lodge of SS. John and Paul, but the effect of such remonstrances does not appear to have been entered on the records. To the end of 1850 the minutes of the proceedings in the three degrees were kept separately, but thenceforward a change was made, and the minutes were entered in the usual manner.

A singular mistake appears to have occurred at the meeting on the 1st March 1852, when a German brother, a member of the Zetland Lodge who was only an E.A.P., remained during a portion of the second ceremony, but it was remedied by the Brother being then and there passed. On the 15th May in this year, the Lodge, it seems, was opened in the degree of P.M., and five members admitted thereto, a record which is chiefly curious as showing till how comparatively recent a period the practice of conferring this degree lasted. Another curious custom is noted, that of allowing brethren to vote by proxy at the election of W. Master, a resolution to this effect having been adopted in December 1851.

The influx of troops into the Island at the time of the Crimean war, caused an extra activity in this and the other Lodges, and several officers were elected, one of them being Lieut.-Col. (afterwards General) Dalrymple, C.B. In the autumn of 1856, a Masonic Ball was held, with a view to raising funds for the Charities of the Lodges, and erecting a memorial to those brethren of the Island who fell during that gallant struggle. About this time, too, we meet with the names of two brethren, that are familiar to all English Craftsmen, namely, Captain N. G. Philips and Lieut.-Colonel, then Captain, Shadwell H. Clerke, our present Grand Secretary. Both won golden opinions from the Craft, and the latter remained long enough to occupy the chair of the Lodge, and very much it prospered under his hands. A curious circumstance is mentioned in connection with this distinguished brother. During his Mastership of St. John and St. Paul, a Captain E. C. Johnson, of the Rifle Brigade, was initiated and passed, but did not receive the third degree till 1876, or after an interval of sixteen years, when it was conferred upon him in the Bavard, No. 1615, in the presence of Lieut.-Colonel Clerke and Colonel R. Douglas, to whom he was mainly indebted for such Masonic light as he had previously received.

Another and still more distinguished brother—the Earl of Limerick, P.G.M. Bristol, then Viscount Glentworth—was initiated in the Lodge in February 1861, while of local brethren of high repute we notice Bro. Edwards, M.D., who in 1863 succeeded Archdeacon Burrows as D.G.M.; Bro. William Kingston, the present holder of the D.G. Mastership; his Deputy, Bro. Rosenbusch, and a former Deputy, namely, the learned author himself, Bro. Broadley. During the Mastership of the Hon. W. Hylton Jolliffe, the Lodge was visited by Sir W. W. Wynn Bart., M.P., P.G.M. North Wales and Shropshire; and somewhat later, the Lodge took part in the presentation of a beautifully-illuminated address to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M., to which a gracious answer was vouchsafed. It was during this visit that an emergent meeting was held, at which Lord Suffield P.G.M. Norfolk, and Lord Carington were present as visitors; and Earl De La Warr, Bro. W. Howard Russell, LL.D., the well-known Times correspondent, and others were initiated. If to what we have already noticed we add that in 1877 the Lodge favourably recommended the petition of certain brethren for the constitution of Lodge "Ancient Carthage," which meets at Tunis, and that St. John and St. Paul, with a roll of sixty-nine members, is in an eminently prosperous condition, we shall have said all that need be said of the premier Lodge of the District of Malta.

The next Lodge, the Union of Malta, was constituted early in 1831, as No. 859. The year following it became No. 558, and in 1863 received its present number, 407. The first Worshipful Master was Bro. Peter Hepburn. This, too, would seem to have enjoyed a career, not indeed wholly unchequered, yet on the whole satisfactory. A very unusual incident is quoted as having occurred at the meeting of the 6th April 1841, when a candidate, "duly prepared and admitted into the Lodge, refused to proceed, and was therefore dismissed, after taking a serious obligation to secrecy." In 1843 the members of this Lodge, which met at Senglea, were much inconvenienced by the Bishop of Malta's pastoral letter, denouncing Freemasonry, to which reference has already been made. Copy of the letter addressed to Grand Secretary, which was to be laid before the Grand Master, is given. Towards the end of the year following occurs another singular entry in the minutes—namely, "To prevent the visits of improper persons, the body of brothers may have the faculty of demanding ten pounds as a visiting fee, which they may reduce to two shillings and not less." We may note that the practice we have alluded to of conferring the degree of Past Master was also adopted in this Lodge, it being mentioned that on one occasion seven brethren received the degree, the fee paid by each being five shillings.

That in Malta the military element should become conspicuous in all the Lodges is a matter of course, and the 42nd Highlanders—the famous Black Watch—would seem to have greatly favoured the Union. Moreover, at the time when there was every prospect of war breaking out with Russia, and among other troops the brigade of Guards was quartered here, many of its officers either joined or were initiated in it, among the former being the Earl of Rosslyn—then Lord Loughborough—Past Grand Master Mason of Scotland—and among the latter the Earl of Annesley. On their return to England these officers presented a handsome Bible, with Square and Compasses in silver attached to it, bearing the following inscription:—"The Union of Malta Lodge, No. 588. Presented by the Brigade of Guards, who were initiated into this, their mother Lodge, in March and April 1854."

Among other testimonials presented to the Lodge must be mentioned a splendid silver snuff-mull, mounted on a ram's head, and surmounted by a Malta Cross, the gift of Bro. Captain Drummond, of the Black Watch, who filled the chair of Master in 1846-7. The horns are described as being tipped with silver, while six Masonic emblems are attached by chains of that metal to the ends of the Cross. The following is the inscription on the massive box in the centre:—"Presented to the Brethren by H. M. Drummond, Captain 42nd Highlanders, of Megginch Castle, Perthshire, as a mark of esteem and respect for a body over whom he presided for nearly two years. 20th December 1848." We may add that one of the most distinguished members of this Lodge is Bro. Kingston District Grand Master, who was initiated in the year 1857, while, as showing how prosperous the Lodge must have been, thirty-two candidates were initiated in the year 1847; in 1849 seventy-six brethren either joined or were initiated, and during the four years 1850-3 sixty-nine candidates were initiated. In further evidence of this Bro. Broadley mentions that prior to the decease of Bro. Gardiner, who was Worshipful Master in 1848-9, the half-yearly dues remitted to Grand Lodge amounted to £41, and a special request was made "that it should be clearly shown in the report of Grand Lodge to be a half year's dues, to show to the brethren of the Union, now scattered over the world, how their mother Lodge is flourishing." For this reason it is that we regret that every here and there we should have to be told that the minutes for such a year or such a period are missing, or were not compiled.

THE General Committee of the Royal Institution for Boys met last Saturday, at Freemasons' Hall. The brethren present were Bros. William Boebuck (in the chair), George J. Row, Donald M. Dewar, Leopold Ruf, Arthur E. Gladwell, A. J. Duff-Filer, J. G. Chancellor, A. M. Broadley, H. Massey, W. Gurton, W. H. Saunders, Richard Tyrrell, Rev. Richard Morris, LL.D. (Head Master), F. Adlard, George J. Palmer, Alfred Williams, and F. Binckes (Secretary). The immediate business of the meeting was unnecessarily delayed through the intervention of Bro. Gladwell, who animadverted strongly on a paragraph which appeared in these columns on the 15th January. The chairman good-naturedly allowed our worthy brother to say what we may fairly presume was the bulk of what he intended to say, and the business on the agenda paper was then begun, and ended in complete harmony. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, and the minutes of the House Committee were read for information. The Audit Committee's Report was read and adopted, and ordered to be entered on the minutes. The minutes of the Quarterly Court were read, and the Chairman was authorised to sign £1500 worth of cheques in discharge of tradesmen's bills, which would be certified by the Audit Committee. Three outfits, of £5 each, were granted to former pupils of the School, and a vote of thanks to the Chairman closed the proceedings.

[Those who care to know what it was which so disturbed the equanimity of Bro. Gladwell, that he could not even postpone his explosion of temper till after the minutes of the previous Committee Meeting had been read and confirmed, will find it at p 51, in our issue of 15th January of the current year.—Ed. F.C.]

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

FORTITUDE AND OLD CUMBERLAND LODGE, No. 12.

THE installation meeting of this ancient Banner Lodge was held on the 7th inst., at the Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street, and was attended by a numerous assemblage of members and visitors, viz., Bros. Richardson W.M. 1861, G. Stransome 360, A. Thomas P.M. 1446, Dewar P.M. 1415, Iron J.W. 1579, Vaughan 861, W. G. Barnes W.M. 66, Soppet P.M. 1627, Dr. Ramsay P.M. 259, F. Binckes P.G.S., W. M. Stiles P.M. 1732, G. A. Berkeley 108, Cozens 907, A. Thomas, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188. The chair was occupied by Bro. Mower W.M., R. Coombs S.W., E. B. Kidder J.W., L. Ruf P.M. Treasurer, A. Snelgrove P.M. Secretary, W. J. Bedell S.D., Buttenbach J.D., Matthews I.G., Pigache D.C.; P.M.'s G. Angold, W. B. Kidder, A. Lilley, Dudley Rolls, D. Nicols, Lemaitre, Snelgrove, Sidney Rolls. The Lodge was opened and the minutes were confirmed. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Brother Coombs S.W. and W.M. elect was presented and duly installed into the chair by Bro. E. E. B. Kidder, who performed the ceremony in a very perfect and impressive manner, and was warmly congratulated by the brethren and visitors at its conclusion. On the re-admission of the brethren, the W.M. was saluted according to custom, and he appointed and invested his Officers: H. Mower I.P.M., E. E. B. Kidder S.W., J. Bedell J.W., L. Ruf re-elected for the 16th time Treasurer, A. Snelgrove P.M. Secretary, D. Matthews S.D., G. Pigache J.D., Jones I.G., Marsh Tyler. The W.M. said his first duty was a pleasing one; it was to present Bro. Mower, the I.P.M., with a Past Master's jewel. This he was essentially worthy of; the zeal and assiduity he had displayed were most commendable; while the able manner in which he had conducted the duties of the chair left nothing to be desired. He hoped he might live long to wear it. Bro. Mower, in suitable terms, returned thanks for the valuable gift so gracefully presented to him at the hands of the W.M. After the usual routine work, Lodge was closed, and the brethren, thirty-nine in number, sat down to a sumptuous and récherché banquet and dessert, provided by Bros. C. and A. Painter. The new W.M. most ably presided, and proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. The National Anthem and God Bless the Prince of Wales being respectively given. The W.M., in proposing the toast of the Grand Officers, stated that one of their P.M.'s—Bro. Raynham W. Stewart—was a Past G.D. All would regret the absence of that worthy brother, through indisposition. Bro. Bedell here sang an excellent song. Bro. H. Mower I.P.M. next rose; he said he thought they were all creatures of desire. When he became a Mason he desired to become a Master; so he supposed did the W.M.; and he had achieved his ambition. He would call on the brethren and Visitors to wish him a successful year of office. Bro. Cozens having sung a very humorous song, the W.M. thanked Bro. Mower for his kind remarks; that night, above all other nights, was the great one of his life. Theirs was not a large Lodge. In point of number, they were limited to 40 members; but they had good and honoured members of the Craft associated with them, men who had passed the chair in the Lodge with honour. We are proud of them, and we trust they will be among us for many years. Bro. Arthur Thomas sang an Italian bravuria, with castanet accompaniment. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors, and called on Bro. Dr. Ramsay to respond. This worthy brother said he hoped he should embody the sentiments of the Visitors when he said they all should have regretted not being present that day had they missed the opportunity of hearing how ably Bro. Kidder had performed the ceremony of installation, while the genial manner in which the W.M. had presided showed that he was the right man in the right place. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Past Masters, and mentioned their names seriatim. Each of them had worked, not only for the good of the Lodge, but also for the good of Freemasonry in general; all had done their duty admirably. He would call on his old friend Bro. Mower to respond. After a tenor song by Bro. Pigache, which was excellently rendered, Bro. H. Mower replied to the toast. He was much gratified at the manner in which it had been proposed and received; he knew he might safely say that if any member of the Lodge required the assistance of the Past Masters, they would always be ready and willing to give it. The W.M. now, by unanimous wish of the brethren, sang a capital song, his own composition, which was deservedly applauded. The toast of the Installing Master Bro. Kidder P.M. was next on the list. Those who had heard Bro. Kidder in the role he had so ably filled that evening could but have been pleased with the perfect manner in which he had carried out the ceremony. Among those present were many W.M.'s, who could testify to the ability he had displayed. Bro. Kidder, in an able speech, returned thanks. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Treasurer and Secretary; he could tell them that Bro. Ruf P.M. had conscientiously acted as Treasurer for sixteen years, and it was to him the Lodge was indebted for its creature comforts. Bro. Dudley Rolls P.M. is also a valuable assistant, while as to Bro. A. Snelgrove Past Master and Secretary no better Mason could be found. He (the Worshipful Master) hoped they would be spared for many years to continue their able services; no better Officers could be secured. Bro. Cozens again delighted the brethren, and then Bro. Ruf P.M. replied. As the W.M. had said, he had been Treasurer for sixteen years; he was proud to acknowledge, and thank Bro. Dudley Rolls for, much valuable assistance. Bro. Dudley Rolls said he was proud to act as assistant to such a worthy Past Master and Treasurer; all he could say was, that his services were at the command of the Lodge. Bro. A. Snelgrove felt it an honour to be associated with two such brethren; he hoped to be with them to help them to carry out their respective duties for many years. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Masonic Charities; it was astonishing to see the enormous amounts contributed by the brethren to these Charities. Bro. Binckes had handed him a statement, showing that nearly £1000 per week had been collected for the Charities during the past year. In years gone by it would have been thought fabulous that such large sums could ever have been raised. He mentioned how many candidates there were receiving the benefits of the three Institutions, and said he would act as Steward for the Girls' School, while Bro. Walker would serve as Steward for the Boys'. As Bro. Binckes, the excellent Secretary of the latter Institution, was present, he would call on him to respond. Bro. Binckes said it was correct that the sum of £50,000, or nearly so, had been subscribed during the last year; thus, notwithstanding the depression of trade, which latter fact was too patent to be looked upon as a mere figure of speech, it was intensely gratifying to know the Institutions had not suffered. However, he must remind those present that the claims on them had materially increased. He had a Festival twelve years ago, when it was represented to him that the sum of £3600, which he then secured, was thought to be a great effort. On behalf of those associated with him in the Masonic Institutions, he begged to return his sincere thanks. The W.M. next proposed the toast of the Officers. Bros. Kidder, Bedell, and Pigache were all good working Masons, and he hoped to see each occupy the chair. Bros. Kidder, Bedell, Matthews, Pigache, and Jones severally responded. The W.M. said he thought it was a duty incumbent on them to drink to the health of Bro. W. Raynham Stewart, a Past Master of the Lodge and a Grand Officer. Bro. Stewart had been ill for fourteen days, but he trusted he might be spared, and soon appear among them. He was sure the brethren all would join in wishing him a speedy return to health. The Tyler was then summoned, and the final toast was given.

PHŒNIX LODGE, No. 173.

THE Fourth Annual Ball of the members of this Lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, on the 8th instant, under the presidency of Bro. James Blyth W.M., who was assisted by an efficient array of P.M.'s, and a committee, consisting of Bros. E. W. W. Allen I.P.M., T. J. Bentley, H. Conolly, A. Culverhouse, Captain Finch P.M., F. Foxley J.W., E. Filmer, W. Holcombe W.S., G. Garden, G. Gutterbrook I.G., S. S. Phillips P.M., F. H. Riddle, F. R. Vine P.M., and W. Williams, to whom every credit is due for his consideration for the comfort of the ladies and brethren. Bro. Hon. Secretary H. W. Davis also rendered good service. At the supper, which was a most essential feature of the evening's proceedings, Bro. Blyth the W.M. presided. He said there were but few toasts to be given on the occasion. First, he would call on them to drink to Her Majesty the Queen. The present might be considered a somewhat critical time. However, he felt there was a spirit of loyalty among all, but more especially so among Freemasons, and he felt proud to propose the toast. Bro. Allen P.M. said it was with great pleasure he proposed the health of their W.M. It was a great honour to be W.M. of a Lodge, but the one he presided over he might be especially proud of. They also were proud of their W.M., who might be said to be overflowing with charity. Bro. Blyth said he felt proud to be their W.M., and also President at this social gathering; he would quote a very old saying—he was pleased to be happy himself, and communicating happiness to others. Bro. Phillips P.M., in a humorous speech, proposed the toast of the Ladies. Bro. Davey responded, and then the brethren and ladies again repaired to the ball room, where dancing was resumed. Bro. Blyth, the W.M., who had so ably contributed to the enjoyment of the evening, also presented each Steward with a souvenir, consisting of an elegant shield, with a solid silver Phœnix, emblematic of the title of the Lodge. One little feature we have omitted. Before the W.M. left the chair, he asked the brethren present to drink to the health of Bro. Foxley; this was his natal day, and all the brethren wished him many happy returns of it. Bro. Foxley fluently responded to the compliment. Bros. Coote and Tinney's band, which was in attendance, gave unqualified satisfaction to all present at this most agreeable assembly.

ST. MICHAEL'S LODGE, No. 211.

THE installation meeting of this popular Lodge took place on Tuesday last, at the Albion, Aldersgate-street. The W.M. Bro. William Radcliffe presided; he was supported by a goodly number of Past Masters and members. Amongst the former body being the esteemed father of the Lodge, Bro. Douglas Drysdale; also Bros. Charles Greenwood (G. Sword Bearer) Treasurer, T. H. Lavers, John Laver, George Parsons, T. T. Pyecroft, Jas. Linsdell, Alfred Green, and Alfred Withers I.P.M. Amongst the visitors were Bros. R. F. Gould P.M. 92 S.G.D., C. Greenwood P.G.R. Surrey, E. C. Woodward P.M., B. E. Blasby W.M. 780, John B. Stevens W.M. 1627, Wainwright 34, A. Goldicutt late 211, Charles Maton 780, H. Nash 150, J. Coppen 1219, J. M. Wohlgemuth P.M. 916, H. W. Madeley 1543, G. King P.M. 172, W. Bonner P.M. 1348, W. Alexander 1348, John Case P.M. 190, John Glynes 1027, C. W. Bevis 511. The Lodge was opened at five o'clock, and the minutes of last meeting were read by Bro. W. W. Morgan the Hon. Secretary. In due course the W.M. opened the Lodge in the second degree, and Bro. P.M. T. H. Lavers introduced the Senior Warden and W.M. elect, Bro. John Waters, to receive the benefits of installation. Bro. Waters having given his assent to the requisite conditions of Mastership, Lodge was further advanced, and in due course a Board of Installed Masters was opened, and the ceremony proceeded with. On the re-admission of the brethren, the new Worshipful Master was saluted, and he appointed the following brethren his Officers:—Bros. Usher Back S.W., C. E. Young J.W., C. Greenwood P.M. G.S.B. Treasurer, W. W. Morgan Sec., F. J. Hentsch S.D., T. H. Peirce J.D., H. Green (by proxy) I.G., Martin Org., A. Withers P.M. D. of C., and C. T. Speight Tyler. Bro. W. Radcliffe, who had performed the ceremony throughout in a most perfect manner, then gave a forcible and very effective rendering of the several addresses to the Master, Wardens, and Brethren, and took his seat amidst the congratulations of the many distinguished brethren who were present. We must not omit to mention that the new W.M., in investing the Officers, addressed some forcible remarks to each as to what was expected of them in the discharge of their respective duties; these remarks were greatly relished for their originality and the earnestness with which they were offered. The Auditors had held their meeting the week previous, and a copy of the accounts will be placed in the hands of each of the members at an early date. The I.P.M. was presented with the jewel of the Lodge, the W.M. complimenting Bro. Radcliffe on the admirable way in which he had conducted the work of the past year; likewise on the ability he had shown as an Installing Master. After routine work, during which the names of two gentlemen were handed in as candidates to be proposed at the next meeting. Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to a banquet, which, speaking from a pretty long experience, we do not hesitate to say was a magnificent one, in every way worthy of so famous an hostelry. On the removal of the cloth the accustomed Loyal and Masonic toasts were given from the chair, the responsibility of replying for that of the Pro Grand Master, Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers present and past, being entrusted to Bro. Gould G.S.D., who acknowledged the compliment in a well considered speech. He pointed out that the services of the Earls of Carnarvon and Lathom in the interests of the Craft were recognised on all sides, so that the value of such services needed no embellishment at his hands. There were also, he remarked, among the Grand Officers several who, like Bros. Sir Albert Woods Grand Director of Ceremonies, Æneas McIntyre Grand Registrar, John Gibson Grand Supt. of Works, held, almost as a matter of course, life-long appointments, whose services were also appreciated as they deserved; and who, he trusted, would long remain to adorn the front rank of English Masonry. He also complimented the Worshipful Master in having been chosen to his high office by the unanimous voice of his fellow-members, and the I.P.M. on the ability he had displayed in the capacity of Installing Master. On Bro. Radcliffe, of course, devolved the agreeable duty of proposing the health of the Worshipful Master, whom he congratulated on his attainment of the chair, as well as on the ability he had already displayed during his brief tenancy of the office. Bro. Waters, in reply, thanked his predecessor for the kindly manner in which he had proposed his health, and all present for the heartiness with which they had received it. He hoped he should be found equal to the discharge of the important duties they had entrusted to him, and that during his period of office the St. Michael's Lodge would be as prosperous as it had been under his predecessors. The toast of the Visitors followed, and was responded to by Bros. Stevens, Blasby, and Bourne, Bro. C. Greenwood jun. adding a few words. With the toast of the Past Masters was associated the name of Bro. Radcliffe I.P.M., who took that opportunity of reiterating his thanks to the Lodge for the Past Master's jewel which had been presented to him earlier in the evening. He also thanked the brethren of St. Michael's generally for the kindly support they had extended to him during his Mastership. When Bro. Radcliffe resumed his seat, Bro. Pyecroft P.M. was presented with a Past Master's jewel which had been voted him by the Lodge for his services when occupying the chair, but which, owing to his inability to attend, had not been handed to him. Bro. Pyecroft in a few words expressed his thanks for so grateful an acknowledgment of his services as Master, and the other toasts having been given and responded to, the brethren rose and separated after a most agreeable evening had been passed, as old minute books are wont to record, "in perfect harmony." Of the ten Past Masters of the Lodge who were present—and whose presence may be regarded as indubitable evidence of the hearty good feeling which has always prevailed in the Lodge—one (Bro. Drysdale) occupied the chair for the first time as far back as 1849, while another (Bro. C. Greenwood) held the same position in 1855. We must not conclude our notice without mentioning that Bro. Radcliffe I.P.M. presented each member of the Lodge with a copy of its recently published history, the cost of reproducing which in book form from the columns of this journal was most generously undertaken by our worthy brother. We trust the deep interest thus exhibited by Bro. Radcliffe in the Lodge of which he is, and, we hope, will long remain, a most conspicuous member, will be appreciated by his fellow-members. For ourselves we thank him most cordially—as, indeed, we have already done in our brief preface to the history—for his kind assistance in placing at our disposal the materials necessary for the completion, as well as in suggesting and contributing, towards its reprint.

CHERWELL LODGE, No. 599.

THE Annual Festival of this Lodge was held at the Red Lion Hotel, Banbury, on 8th inst., upon which occasion Bro. W. P. Ellis was installed as Worshipful Master for the ensuing year. The ceremony of installation was performed by Bro. Potts, Bro. Ellis afterwards appointed and invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. T. W. Holland I.P.M., J. S. Palmer S.W., C. Claridge J.W., Rev. A. W. Ayton P.M. Chaplain, R. Havers P.S.G.D. Treasurer, E. J. Hartley P.M. Secretary, W. H. Garland S.D., W. A. Samman J.D., Dr. Griffin P.M. D.C., T. Fowler and W. Chamberlin Stewards, H. Kilby I.G., T. Moss Tyler. The brethren afterwards dined together, when Mr. Johnson catered in a style that does the highest credit to the cuisine of the Red Lion. The dinner was truly sumptuous, and was served up most admirably. The W.M. presented the wines.

Polish National Lodge, No. 534.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Thursday, at Freemasons' Hall, W.C., when Bro. Dr. Jagielski the W.M. presided. Several matters of business were disposed of, and the Lodge having been closed, a most enjoyable evening was spent at the festive board.

FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE

23 GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

GRAND LODGE OF SCOTLAND.

A QUARTERLY communication of the Grand Lodge of Scotland was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Thursday, 3rd instant—Sir Michael R. Shaw, Bart., Grand Master Mason, on the throne. Bro. R. F. Shaw Stewart Senior Grand Warden was in his place, and Bro. Crombie, Aberdeen, Junior Grand Deacon, acted as Junior Grand Warden. Amongst the other brethren present were—the Earl of Mar and Kellie Depute Grand Master; Bros. D. Murray Lyon Grand Secretary, David Kinnear Grand Cashier, Andrew Kerr Grand Architect, John S. Matheson Grand Jeweller, George Fisher Grand Bible Bearer, Major Hills Grand Director of Ceremonies, H. Y. D. Copland Grand Sword Bearer, James Turner President of the Board of Grand Stewards, W. M. Bryce Grand Tyler, Alexander Hay Proxy Provincial Grand Master of Jamaica and Greytown, William Mann Proxy District Grand Master of India, Dr. John Falconer Proxy Provincial Grand Master of New South Wales, with numerous other representatives from foreign Grand Lodges.

Grand Lodge having been properly constituted, the Grand Master made a suitable reference to the loss which Grand Lodge had sustained through the decease of Bro. the Rev. W. C. E. Jamieson, one of the Joint Grand Chaplains. Many of the brethren were, he said, better acquainted than he was with their departed Chaplain, but he had always understood that he was a very estimable and rising minister of the Church of Scotland. At any rate he knew, and most of the brethren knew, that Bro. Jamieson was kind, courteous, pleasant, and gentlemanly; and he little thought, when he had the pleasure of meeting him at last St. Andrew's Festival, that that kind and genial young man would no more be among them. He was sure the brethren all regretted his loss, not for his own sake, but for those he had left behind him; and he moved that Grand Lodge, through their Grand Secretary, should send to the bereaved widow an expression of their sincere sympathy and condolence. This was at once agreed to by Grand Lodge.

A statement was submitted of the accounts of the Grand Lodge for the year ending 30th November last, which showed an income of £3685, and expenditure amounting to £2285. The funds and estate amounted to £18,105, as compared with £16,705 last year, showing an increase during the year of £1400. During the period under report there had been 3763 intrants and affiliations. A statement of the accounts of the Masonic Benevolent Fund for the same period showed that about £400 had been distributed by the Committee in votes and casual charity in the course of the year, and that the Fund now stood at £5712, as compared with £5460 last year. During last quarter the grants had amounted to nearly £140. A vidimus of the income and expenditure of Grand Lodge for last quarter showed that the income had been £1291, and the expenditure £723, leaving an excess of income to the extent of £568. There had been 855 intrants to the Craft during that period.

It was reported that Bro. the Earl of Fife, acceding to the wishes of the brethren in Banff-shire, had agreed to allow himself to be nominated for appointment to the Provincial Grand Mastership of Banffshire; and Grand Lodge unanimously agreed to issue a commission in his Lordship's favour. On the recommendation of the Grand Lodge of Hamburgh, Bro. Dr. H. Goldstucker was appointed representative to that body, in room of Bro. Dr. De la Camp, deceased. It was agreed to accept the resignation of Bro. T. M. Reid of his office of Provincial Grand Master of Trinidad, and to thank him for his long-continued and highly valuable services. In forwarding his resignation, which was owing to pressure of business, Bro. Reid stated that Masonry in that colony was at present carried on more satisfactorily than he had known it for many years. It was resolved to exchange representatives with the Grand Lodge of Rhode Island, U.S., and to appoint Bro. Past Grand Master James Hutchison as representative to that body. Bro. Dunas Filgueira was appointed Provincial Grand Master of Peru. On the petition of the Provincial Grand Lodge of the West India Islands and others, Bro. William M'Call Provincial Grand Senior Warden was unanimously appointed Provincial Grand Master, in room of Bro. the Hon. J. King Wattley, deceased. Grand Lodge ordered that charters be issued in favour of Lodges St. Clair (Kilwinning, Lyttleton, N.Z.), Breadalbane (Aberfeldy), and Rawcliffe (Rothesay). A report was submitted from the Provincial Grand Lodge of Peebles and Selkirk for the year 1880, which showed that the Lodges within the Province had been officially visited during the year, and found to be in good working order, and that otherwise the Provincial Grand Lodge was in a healthful condition. Satisfactory reports were also submitted from Sir Archibald C. Campbell, of Blythswood, and Captain Clavhill Henderson, of Invergowrie, Provincial Grand Masters of Renfrewshire East and Forfarshire, as to the condition of the Lodges in their respective Provinces.

Grand Lodge approved the minutes of committee in reference to complaints against the action of the office bearers of the Lodge the "Gael," Glasgow, and other brethren, for having issued and recommended a petition or "begging circular," which had been issued to Lodges both in and furth of Scotland and the Scotch Constitution. It had been stated in the Glasgow Provincial Grand Lodge, in defence of the "Gael," which Lodge was founded for the express purpose of rendering the mysteries of Freemasonry in "the native Gaelic tongue," that the liabilities of the Lodge which necessitated the circular were about £100. The Provincial Grand Lodge had expressed their strong disapproval of the conduct of the office bearers and other signatories of the letter, and expressed an opinion that a stop should be put to Lodges or brethren issuing begging letters or circulars, which were excessively derogatory to the Order. The Grand Committee had approved of this report, and recorded a vote of censure expressive of their reprehension of the course which had been adopted with reference to the petition; and their procedure was confirmed by Grand Lodge.

A report from the Grand Lodge of All Scottish Freemasonry in India showed also that the Craft was prospering in that important region. The Special Committee on the designations of the Provinces of Berwick and Roxburgh shires and Peebles and Selkirk shires reported that the Grand Secretary had issued circulars to all the Lodges in these Provinces, but that only seven had replied; and, looking to the diversity of the views entertained, the Committee recommended that, seeing Grand Lodge had had this matter under consideration so very recently, and that the views of the Lodges in the above Provinces were not sufficiently matured, the last resolution should not in the meantime be altered. This was approved of. Grand Committee reported that they had on their table a report from the Hall Committee on a scheme for additional accommodation in Grand Lodge premises, which proposed an expenditure of about £300, in order to afford more perfect scope for the working of the several Masonic degrees, and greater accommodation for Lodge property and stores, the want of which had from time to time been subject of much general complaint.

The meeting then proceeded to the election of fifteen brethren to serve on the Grand Committee, in place of twelve who retired by rotation and three interim members. There were twenty-four brethren nominated, and the following were elected, with the undernoted votes:—Bros. R. F. Shaw Stewart, Edinburgh, 234; William Maclean, Glasgow, 200; Wm. Mann, Edinburgh, 181; Wm. Hay, Edinburgh, 178; Alex. Hay, Edinburgh, 176; Dr. James Carmichael, Edinburgh, 168; John Wilson, Edinburgh, 149; James Craig, Edinburgh, 149; James T. S. Elliot jun., of Wolfelee, 142; Jas. Berry, Carnoustie, 140; H. Munro, Edinburgh, 137; W. Niven, Edinburgh, 125; Alexander Henry, Edinburgh, 121; Colonel J. T. Stewart, Glasgow, 120; J. D. Duncan, Glasgow, 111.

After disposing of some other business, Grand Lodge was closed in ample form after about two hours of a sederunt.

YORK LODGE, No. 236.

THE annual meeting for the Audit of the Accounts took place on Wednesday, 2nd inst. Lodge was opened at 7 o'clock by the W.M., Bro. M. Rooke, who was supported by a number of his officers and brethren. The Balance Sheet was presented by Bro. J. Todd P.M. P.P.G.R., and having been examined, was pronounced to be eminently satisfactory. After the close of the Lodge, the brethren met at supper, ample provision having been made under the supervision of the Tyler, Bro. Calvert. The cloth having been removed, the W.M. proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. Bro. Alderman G. Brown then gave the toast of the R.W. Prov. G. Master, and the P.G. Lodge. He said that it had been his privilege on the last occasion of the meeting of Prov. G. Lodge in York to afford some entertainment in the Mansion House, which he then had the honour to occupy, and he was sure that his opinion of their chief was that of all who had seen him presiding in Lodge, that he used his best efforts in the cause of Masonry, and nobly succeeded. Bro. A. Buckle P.M. Past Grand Deacon, responded, and said that he was certainly proud of the purple which had been conferred upon him, more especially as it brought him into closer association with those brethren who were standing up with him, and because he felt that in him the York Lodge had been honoured. The S.W., Bro. J. S. Rymer, gave the health of the W.M., who had already set them, during his short term of office, so good an example, and whose health he was so glad to see restored to him. The W.M. briefly responded, assuring the brethren that he should spare no pains to do his duty by the Lodge in all respects. Bro. Buckle then gave the toast of the evening, the health of the Treasurer of the Lodge. He dwelt upon Bro. Todd's many excellent Masonic qualities, and said that in him the successive rulers of the Lodge had always and would always find a friend and counsellor. Bro. Todd, in replying, made some reference to the finances, which he was glad to be able to show were in so healthy a condition. He then spoke of the Masonic Charities, and said that their Bro. the Dean of York was going up as Steward to the Benevolent Festival, and he hoped the Lodge would be able to vote a sum to his list. He (Bro. Todd) hoped to represent the Lodge at the Girls' Festival, and trusted he would receive the support of the Lodge and brethren. He then gave a sketch of the work of the Lodge during the past year, and showed that it had contributed a total sum to the Charities of over £100. Bro. T. B. Wytehead P.M. P.P.G.D.C. gave the toast of the Past Masters of the Lodge. He said that since the time he had become a joining member of the Lodge, about seven years ago, there had been a succession of Masters who had done their duty with the utmost credit to themselves and the Lodge; and if such conscientious workers could always be secured or the chairs of other Lodges, Masonry would be in a much better position than at present. He was entirely at one with his brother (Bro. Todd) on the Charities question, and was delighted at the substantial work of the Lodge. He trusted that great care, however, would be exercised in the admission of candidates into Masonry, for from several matters which had lately transpired, as well as from the number of applicants for the benefits of the Institutions, it was too patent that men were joining their ranks for the sake of what they and theirs could get out of Masonry. Such a condition of affairs, if not discouraged, would prove most damaging to the W.M. Bro. W. H. Gainforth I.P.M. responded, and was followed by Bro. G. Balmford P.M. P.P.G.O., who proposed the Officers of the Lodge. The S.W. replied, and shortly afterwards the proceedings were brought to a close. During the evening songs, duets and glees were sung by Bros. J. Todd, G. Kirby, W. Smith, G. R. Hitchcock, J. Stead, M. Smith, and others, Bro. Tuke Org. presiding at the piano. Among those present, in addition to the brethren already named were Bros. Sir James Meek P.M., G. Garbett S.D., W. Powell I.G. W. Nicholson, J. Young, W. T. Gowland, G. C. Lee, C. Kearsley, J Welburn and J. G. Turner.

Joppa Lodge, No. 188.—A meeting of the members of this old and flourishing Lodge was held on Monday evening, at the Albion, Aldersgate-street, under the presidency of Bro. Richard Baker W.M., who was supported by Bros. Lewis M. Meyer S.W., I. Benjamin J.W., Lewis Lazarus P.M., M. L. Alexander P.M., A. G. Dodson P.M., Henry Hymans I.P.M., Israel Abrahams P.M., S. L. Hickman P.M., E. P. Albert Past Grand Pur. Secretary, W. Baum I.G., A. Botibol and Lewis Wall Stewards, George Bean D.C., Van Noorden Organist, J. T. Woodstock Tyler; B. J. Hart, W. J. Gardiner, Isaac Botibol, S. Genese, &c. Visitors—Bros. A. M. Broadley P.D.D.G. Master Malta P.M. 1717, &c., A. Abrahams 205, R. Baker, L. Norden P.M. 205, H. J. Phillips W.M. 205, H. Meyer (Hamburg), Asher L. Meyer 185, Charles Bellerby 1612, H. M. Appleton 861, W. W. Morgan Secretary 211, William Wyatt (Brant Lodge, No. 45, Ontario, Canada), H. P. Isaac I.P.M. 1693, George A. Fletcher W.M. 180, &c. The minutes of the last regular meeting having been read and confirmed, certain candidates for acceptance into Freemasonry, who had been balloted for and elected, were initiated into the mysteries of the first degree. Application for relief was made by a distressed brother, and the Bye-laws of the Lodge Benevolent Fund, which forbids a higher amount than half-a-guinea being given, was in this instance suspended, and the sum of two guineas was voted unanimously. Certain propositions relating to the Bye-laws of the Benevolent Fund, which, of course, are interesting only to the Lodge members, came under consideration. We may state, however, that a proposal for dispensing with one of the formularies peculiar to this Lodge was most ably argued at some length, and in the result, an amendment for modifying the particular formulary was accepted. Lodge having been closed, and it being an off-night, the brethren sat down to a very quiet repast, after which the customary toasts were honoured. It was announced in connection with that of the Initiates, that each of them—including those initiated at a previous meeting, there were eight in all—had presented a guinea to the Benevolent Fund, and further that the Fund amounted to between £900 and £1,000. Bro. Broadley P.D.D.G.M. Malta, in replying for the Visitors, spoke in eloquent terms of the work that was being done in his District, especially in the classic neighbourhood around Tunis, where ancient Carthage once reared its proud head, and where the Lodge of "Ancient Carthage" now meets. He also heartily congratulated the Lodge on the efficient manner in which the duties of the evening had been carried out, and the enthusiasm exhibited by all present. It is needless to say that the toast of the W.M. experienced a very hearty reception. The Tyler's toast brought the evening to a close.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—On Tuesday, 8th February, at Bro. Smyth's, Sisters Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston. Bros. Wallington, who rehearsed the ceremony of installation, Bro. Wardell acting as W.M. The investiture of Officers followed, and Bro. P.M. Wallington gave the customary addresses in a very able manner. Bro. Edwards assisted Bro. C. Lorkin to work the first section of the lecture. Bro. Clark was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. All Masonic business being ended, the Lodge was closed in due form. We are glad to hear that Bro. P.M. Wallington has been able to resume his Preceptorship. Illness has prevented his attendance for the last four weeks. The Fifteen Sections will be worked at this Lodge of Instruction on Tuesday, 22nd inst. Bro. Webb P.M. 1607 and 177 will preside. Brethren are invited to attend.

Mather Preceptor, C. G. Sparrow Sec., Medwin S.D., Conchman I.G., and several others. After preliminaries, the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Button candidate. Bro. J. L. Mather then took the chair, and rehearsed the ceremony of installation, Bro. H. C. Sanders the W.M. elect of the Mother Lodge acting as candidate. Bro. Holness was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. West Middlesex Lodge of Instruction, No. 1612.—Meeting at the Feathers' Hotel, Ealing, on Thursday, the 3rd instant. Present:—Bros. G. Coop W.M., J. Green S.W., C. E. Porter J.W., Hamilton S.D., A. The work of the evening comprised the rehearsal of the ceremony of initiation, Bro. G. S. Wright candidate. Lodge was opened in second and third degrees, and the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. C. E. Botley candidate. Bro. J. Green was appointed W.M. for the 17th inst. The Officers of the mother Lodge occupied their respective places on the 10th inst. The regular meeting of the Lodge will be held this day (Saturday).

Trinity College Lodge, No. 1765.—The regular meeting was held on the 3rd instant, at No. 13 Mandeville-place, under the presidency of Bro. J. A. Hammond W.M., Stark S.W., Dr. Keene J.W., Gabriel Treas., J. Stedman L.Mus. Secretary, Hoare S.D., B. Turner J.D., G. F. Hammond I.G., W. J. Jennings Organist, A. W. Hoare Steward, G. Harrison Tyler; P.M. Professor E. Lott P.P.G.J.W. Jersey. The Visitors were—Bros. A. J. Muckelow 1658, F. Corder 732, Shand W.M. 1563, Taylor 1865, Tate 1653, Ward 1563, J. Docker W.M. 1687, T. Loring 171, F. Ward, A. W. Williams P.M. 1509, F. Low 181, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188. Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. A ballot was taken for the admission of Mr. John Mills; being unanimous in his favour, he was duly initiated. The resignation of a brother was accepted, with regret. The W.M. stated the Lodge had now been in existence three years, and he felt great pleasure in announcing that he would act as a Steward at the Anniversary Festival for the Boys' School; he hoped the brethren would support him. The W.M. then gave a very excellent account of the Charities, and Bro. Turner J.D. stated that Bro. Ridpath would give ten guineas, to be placed on the list of the Worshipful Master. The brethren also voted the sum of ten guineas from the funds. The name of a candidate for initiation was announced by the Secretary. Lodge was closed until the first Tuesday in March. The brethren afterwards partook of a cold collation and dessert, provided by Messrs. Withers and Englefield. The W.M. proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. A new overture, composed by Bro. Stark, was played by Bros. Stark and Turner. It received great applause for its artistic merits. Bro. Professor E. Lott I.P.M. then rose; he had great pleasure in proposing the toast of the W.M.; all respected and were proud of him; the duties of his office were ably fulfilled, and he (the speaker) was sure they would continue so to be. After a song —"The Sea Rover"—by Bro. Frank Ward, the W.M. returned thanks; Bro. Lott had said they ought to be proud of him; he might say in return he was proud of them. He had heartily to thank the brethren for placing him in his present position. In proposing the toast of the Initiate, the W.M. said that Bro. Mills was a very old friend of his; if he was as good a Mason as he had proved himself a friend, the Craft would be proud of him. The E.A. Song was sung by Bro. Turner. Bro. Stark then delighted the brethren with the overture to "William Tell," which he played on the organ in a most vigorous and effective manner. The newly-initiated Brother, in appropriate terms responded to the toast; he trusted he should fully carry out the W.M.'s kind anticipations. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors; they were all pleased to see them; he would call on Bro. Williams P.M. 1509 and Bro. J. E. Shand W.M. 1563 to respond. After a very excellent tenor song from Bro. Stedman—"The Shades of Evening"—Bros. Williams and Shand responded, expressing their appreciation of the great Masonic treat they had participated in, and thanking the Lodge for its excellent hospitality and musical entertainment. The P.M.'s were next honoured, and after a pianoforte solo by Bro. A. W. S. Hoare, Bro. Professor E. Lott I.P.M. responded in a very appropriate speech. After a splendid basso song by Bro. Stanley Smith, the W.M. proposed the toast of the Officers and Wardens. He regretted the absence of the Junior Warden, through illness. The S.W. of the Lodge however was present, and with his name he would couple the toast. Bro. Hoare sang "Simon the Cellarer." After a response from the S.W., who remarked that the excellent working of the W.M. would be an incentive to those whom he had appointed, the Tyler's toast was given, and the brethren separated.

King's Cross Lodge of Instruction, No. 1732.—A regular meeting to was held on 30th ult., at Bro. Devine's, Blue Posts, Char tte-street, Fitzroy Square. There were present Bros. Burgess W.M., B. Kauffmann S.W., Birrell J.W., Devine Treas., L. Jacobs as Sec., L. Solomon S.D., Harvey J.D., Proctor I.G., Hemmings Preceptor; also Bros. Guyer, J. Edwards, H. L. Phillips, H. M. Levy, N. Vallentine, Smith, Lambourne, &c. After preliminaries, the second and third sections of the first lecture were worked, and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. H. L. Phillips acting as candidate. Bro. Kauffman was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

ROYAL ARCH.

Prudent Brethren Chapter, No. 145.—The regular convocation of this Chapter was held on the 8th inst., at Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen-street. Comps. Venn M.E.Z., Haslett H., Braine J., E. Moody P.Z. S.E., N. Headon S.N., Leggott P.S., T. Bull P.Z. Treas., Moon 2nd Assist. Soj., Warrington, Cox, and E. H. Thiellay. The Chapter was opened and the minutes of the former convocation were read and confirmed. A ballot was taken for the admission of Bro. Defriez 45, who was duly exalted into R.A. Masonry. The ceremony was perfectly and impressively worked by the M.E.Z., the H., J. and other officers likewise being perfect in knowledge of their duties. After the Chapter was closed, the Companions sat down to a very excellent banquet, supplied by Bro. A. Best, and superintended by Comp. Dawkins. The M.E.Z. ably presided, and proposed the usual Loyal and R.A. toasts. Complimentary speeches were in the ascendant, and a very agreeable time was passed. Comp. Green Z. 795 was present as a Visitor.

Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement.—A weekly convocation of this eminent Chapter of Improvement was held on Tuesday evening, 8th February, at the Jamaica Tavern, St. Michael's-alley, Cornhill, and was very numerously attended. The respective offices were filled as follows:—Companions Edmonds Z., Higgins H., Lardner J., F. Brown S.E. and Preceptor, M'Donall Sec., J. S. Fraser P.S., and the following Companions:—Lovegrove, Kirke, W. Fraser, Rowe, Sayer, Coden, Greenwood, Webb, H. Thompson, W. Green, Clement, Walker, F. T. Pocock and S. H. Parkhouse. After the confirmation of the minutes of last Convocation, it was announced that the ceremony of exaltation was about to be rehearsed, upon which Comp. Walker expressed his willingness to act as candidate. The ceremony was most ably performed, and elicited the warmest marks of approval, all the Officers being most efficient in the performance of their duties. This being election night the following Officers were appointed for the next fortnight:—Lardner Z., Edmonds H., H. J. Payne J., M'Donall S.N., Pocock P.S. Comp. F. Brown S.E. proposed that Comps. F. E. Pocock of the Ezra Chapter 1489 and S. H. Parkhouse of the Earl of Carnarvon Chapter 1642 become members of this Chapter of Improvement, and they were unanimously elected. Afterwards they severally returned thanks for the unanimity with which they had been received as members, and expressed the gratification they experienced at the very admirable manner in which the ceremony of exaltation had been performed that evening, and their anxious desire to be present as often as possible, and receive the instruction the Chapter was so well able to afford. It was announced that Comp. Stephens would rehearse the ceremony of installation of Principals on the third Tuesday in March, and as these ceremonies are seldom rehearsed in a Chapter of Instruction, a great attendance of advanced Arch Masons is anticipated.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Nervous Debility.—No part of the human machine requires more watching than the nervous system—upon it hangs health and life itself. These Pills are the best regulators and strengtheners of the nerves, and the safest general purifiers. Nausea, headache, giddiness, numbness, and mental apathy yield to them. They despatch in a summary manner those distressing dyspeptic symptoms, stomachic pains, fulness at the pit of the stomach, abdominal distension, and overcome both capricious appetites and confined bowels—the commonly accompanying signs of defective or deranged nervous power. Holloway's Pills are particularly recommended to persons of studious and sedentary habits, who gradually sink into a nervous and debilitated state, unless some such restorative be occasionally taken.

We are not prepared to say that Bro. Gladwell has resolved himself into a Committee of Safety for the purpose of protecting the members of the General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys from the assaults of the world at large, and the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE in particular. He did, however, assume some such rôle at the Committee Meeting of Saturday last. No sooner had a chairman been elected, than Bro. Gladwell—who would seem to have been almost on the point of boiling over with ill-restrained impetuosity—rose and drew attention to certain remarks of ours as to certain statements made at the last Quarterly Court of the Institution. The Chairman, Bro. Roebuck, very kindly allowed our worthy brother to rid himself in greater part of the burden under which he has been labouring for the past two or three weeks, and then suggested, with a propriety which none will question, that Bro. Gladwell's grievance formed no part of the business proceedings of the day. Most of those present concurred in this opinion, and Bro. Gladwell was so considerate as to permit himself to subside into absolute silence as to the course he was anxious should be adopted against this journal. It is clear to us that Bro. Gladwell is ill at ease in the novel character he has assumed, or else he must have been unfortunate enough to enact it for the first time in the presence of a sadly inappreciative audience. We had indulged in the hope that, after visiting and personally consulting us on the matter, and after we had shown him every consideration in our power, he would have seen the advisability of saying nothing. However, the only sufferer appears to have been the agenda paper, and possibly there may have been a slight delay in the discussion of that refreshment which customarily follows the transaction of important business. We shall always be pleased to meet Bro. Gladwell and offer him advice in any matter on which he may desire to consult us. Meanwhile, we commend to his notice a certain proverb, in which the relative merits of speech and silence are very clearly defined, the former as being "silvern," while the latter is "golden."

ABOUT THE PHILADELPHIA QUESTION.—Bro. J. Norton writes:—"Had the Philadelphia Masons been legitimatised in 1732 or 1734, Philadelphia would not have played second fiddle to Boston as late as 1749."

GOETHE AS A FREEMASON.—Herr Pietsch, of Leipzig, has just published a full and annotated edition of his interesting essay on Goethe as a Freemason ("Johann Wolfgang von Goethe als Freimaurer"), which he delivered as a festival oration at the Goethe Centenary, on 23rd June 1880. Very few persons, even amongst Goethe's biographers, knew that the great poet belonged to the Order; and even the few who were aware of the fact will learn many details that are new to them from Herr Pietsch's diligent researches into Goethe's relations with the Brotherhood and his Masonic activity. It was on the 13th January 1780, at the close of his tour in Switzerland with the Duke Karl August, of Weimar, that the poet first applied for reception, and his application was made to the Master of the Amalia Lodge, Baron von Fritsch, Goethe's special adversary at the Court of Weimar. Herr Pietsch prints the letter of application. In it the poet says he has been moved to apply for admission into the Fraternity in order that by acquiring the title and privileges of a Freemason he may come into closer contact with a number of eminent persons whom he has learned to esteem. "This social feeling alone," he adds, "has moved me to ask for reception." As an Apprentice, the great poet was most zealous and painstaking in the fulfilment of his duties, and co-operated actively in assisting the needy and distressed, as, for instance, at the conflagration at Gross-Brembach. "Masonic echoes," says Herr Pietsch, "are to be detected in all the works written by Goethe after the year 1780, and particularly in his letters to Charlotte von Stein. On the 5th of February 1782 Goethe and his Sovereign, the Duke Karl August, were admitted at the same time to the degree of Master Mason. Strife afterwards arose, and the Amalia Lodge was suspended from 1783 to 1808. In 1810 Goethe was nominated Master of the Lodge, but he declined the honour with so much decision that the offer was not repeated. He frequently officiated, however, as Orator (Redner). On the 23rd of June 1830 he celebrated his fifty years' jubilee as a Mason. The address delivered to him by the Amalia Lodge on this occasion is printed in its entirety by Herr Pietsch.—Globe.

G. T. T.—The law is absolute on the subject. A brother must have served the office of Warden in a regular Lodge for one entire year in order to become eligible for the chair of W. Master. It does not, however, matter whether he was Senior or Junior Warden, or he may have been J.W. for one part of the year and S.W. for the rest of it.

W. B.—We will act up to your suggestion, which has our unqualified approval.

Forss S.W., Harvey J.W., Taylor S.D., Shingfield I.G.; also Bros. J. J. Berry P.M. Preceptor, and Bros. Tyer, Wood, Poulter, Gamble, Andrews, Swanson, Walter, &c. Lodge was opened in due form and the minutes were confirmed. The necessary questions were answered by Bro. Swanson, and Lodge was advanced, when the ceremony of passing was capitally rendered. The sections of the lecture were worked as follows:—1st and 2nd by Bro. Forss, 3rd and 4th by Bro. Andrews P.M. 1227, assisted by the brethren. Lodge was resumed, and Bro. Harvey assisted Bro. Andrews to work the 4th, and Bro. Forss the 5th, sections of the 1st lecture. The election of a Worshipful Master for the 15th inst. was waived, that being the date fixed for working the Fifteen Sections by Bro. J. Andrews P.M. 1227, who will be assisted by the following brethren:—Bros. T. J. Barnes P.M. 554 and 993 S.W., E. W. Walter W.M. 554 J.W., Berry P.M. 554 I.P.M. The following brethren will work the Sections:—First Lecture—Bros. Anderson, Waterer, Loane, Harvey, Wooding, Forss, Stephens; Second Lecture—Bros. Ellingford, Berry, Walter, Barnes, Cundick; Third Lecture—Bros. Musto, Veal, Taylor, Bro. Wm. Cross J.W. 554 is the Hon. Sec. of the Lodge of Instruction. A cordial vote of thanks was accorded to Bro. B. Stewart for his highly efficient discharge of the duties appertaining to the chair. Lodge was closed and adjourned until the 15th inst. Brethren who can attend upon this occasion may rely upon a capital rendition of the sections, the above names being in themselves a guarantee for good working.

Friars Lodge of Instruction, No. 1349.—Held at Bro. Pavitt's, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, on Tuesday, 8th February. Bros. Watkins W.M., Pavitt S.W., Prosser J.W., Smith S.D., Rawe J.D., Ives I.G., Worsley Secretary, P.M. Musto Preceptor; also Bros. Sadler, Wild, Keable, Wood, Dixon, Roddam, &c. The Lodge was opened in due form with prayer, and the minutes were read and confirmed. Bro. Wild answered the necessary questions, and Lodge was opened in the second degree, when the ceremony of passing was rehearsed. Bro. Worsley worked the first and second sections of the lecture. Bro. Pavitt was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing week. A sum of one guinea was ordered to be placed on Bro. Rawe's list for the old men and women. The Lodge then closed in due form. We should like to see a good muster for next week, to hear Bro. Pavitt's rendering of the third ceremony. Bro. Pavitt is a most painstaking worker.

Kings Cross Lodge of Instruction, No. 1732.—On the 6th instant, at Bro. Devine's, Blue Posts, Charlotte-street, Fitzroy-square, Bro. Briggs W.M. 1732 in the chair of W.M., H. Stiles S.W., L. Solomon J.W., Devine Treasurer, L. Jacobs Secretary, W. M. Stiles P.M. S.D., B. Kauffmann I.G., Hemming Preceptor, and over thirty members being present. The Lodge of Instruction having been opened, and the minutes confirmed, the fourth section of the first lecture was worked. The ceremony of installation was then rehearsed by Bro. Briggs, Bro. H. Stiles W.M. elect acting as candidate, Bro. Stiles P.M. officiating as D.C. The newly-installed W.M. showed his proficiency by the able manner in which he invested his Officers. The W.M., on investing Bro. Lewis Solomon as Secretary, said he had great pleasure in presenting him with a testimonial, as a token of regard and esteem, for the able manner in which he had carried out the duties of Secretary. Bro. Briggs P.M. supplemented the remarks of the W.M., and said it testified the respect in which the brethren held Bro. Solomon. Mainly through his exertions, the Masonic Charities had received the sum of ten guineas; he hoped he might live long to continue the good work. The testimonial consisted of a very elegant and massive silver inkstand. Bro. Stiles read the inscription. Bro. Solomon said he felt much surprised at receiving such a valuable present; it was entirely unknown to him that the brethren contemplated anything of the kind; and, consequently, he could the more appreciate it. Whatever he had done was to him a labour of love; his services were always at their command, not in the Lodge of Instruction alone, but also in the parent Lodge. The ceremony of installation was then proceeded with, Bro. Briggs giving a perfect rendering, to the satisfaction of all present. The ceremony of initiation was ably rehearsed by the acting W.M. Bro. Patteson and Yates were proposed as members, and a vote of thanks carried unanimously to Bro. Briggs for the able manner in which he had carried out the duties of Installing Master. The Lodge of Instruction was then adjourned to the following week.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. THE APPROACHING FESTIVAL OF THE R.M.B.I.

WEDNESDAY next, the 23rd instant, has been fixed by His Royal Highness the Grand Master for the Anniversary Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. It will be held, as usual, in the Great Hall of the Freemasons' Tavern, and Sir Henry Edwards, Bart., Prov. Grand Master, and Prov. Grand Superintendent of West Yorkshire, has kindly undertaken to preside. Our Right Worshipful Brother will be supported by, certainly, the largest Board of Stewards ever known, even in the annals of our Festival History, West Yorkshire alone being represented by over one hundred and fifty brethren. At this latter fact no one can have the slightest reason to be surprised. It is indisputable in all Masonic circles that West Yorkshire is one of the strongest and most consistent supporters of all our Masonic Institutions. We cannot call to mind a single occasion of late years on which, to use a well-worn expression, it has been "conspicuous by its absence." On the contrary, its contributions at each successive Festival, whether of the Boys' or Girls' School, or of the Benevolent, have all that character for largeheartedness and unbounded liberality by which the folk, to say nothing of the brethren, of Yorkshire have always been distinguished. This being the case, we are justified in believing that the gathering of Wednesday next will prove a grand success. When a supreme effort in support of the presidency on behalf of a particular Institution of an esteemed and respected chief is made by a Province, which can boast of its seventy Lodges more or less, and habitually contribut s its hundreds at each and every of the Festivals that is held annually in connection with Freemasonry, we are, we repeat, fully justified in expecting that results unusually brilliant will follow, and we take leave to congratulate Bro. Terry on the prospects that await him next week, when Sir Henry Edwards, with all the eloquence he can command, will plead the caase of the aged and distressed Freemason and his destitute widow.

As our readers are aware, the Benevolent is the youngest of our three Institutions, though it is by no means the least worthy of support. It was established as recently as the year 1842, by Grand Lodge itself, which set the example of commending it to the favourable consideration of the Craft generally by voting an annual subvention of £400. There are those, perhaps, who will claim for it a somewhat earlier origin—earlier, that is to say, by just a few years. It is but the other day that, in certain miscellaneous addenda to our history of the St. Michael's Lodge, No. 211, we drew attention to a circular on behalf of "The Asylum for the Aged and Decayed Freemason." This circular, which was signed "Robert Field, Secretary," quoted the testimony of "Grand Lodge of 6th December 1837 to the effect that this Grand Lodge recommend the contemplated Asylum for the Aged and Decayed Freemasons to the favourable consideration of the Craft." It fixed the date of the particular Festival for which it was anxious to receive the support of the St. Michael's Lodge for the 15th June 1842, and it added, "For your information I beg to state that the Festivals of this Charity have been always conducted upon such well-considered principles," &c. &c. The Asylum here referred to is the present Asylum at Croydon, and some years subsequently to the year mentioned, was amalgamated with the Benevolent offspring of our Grand Lodge munificence; and it must be clear, even to those who are but slightly acquainted with the history of the Institution, that when Secretary Field speaks of the Festivals anterior to 1842 being conducted on certain well-considered principles, the Asylum which was contemplated in 1837 must, at an early date thereafter, have been established. However, the question of a few years more or less in the life of an institution which has now developed to such magnificent proportions is of little moment to the general Craft. We are content, therefore, to accept the official statement in our Grand Lodge Calendar that the Benevolent Institution first saw the light in 1842, its chief means of support being the aforesaid annual subscription by Grand Lodge of £400. It was then known as the "Royal Masonic Annuity Fund," and its benefits were extended only to aged and distressed brethren. The first election took place on the 19th May 1843, when 15 out of a list of 16 candidates were elected, one of them being the then Tyler of the St. Michael's Lodge. The fixed income of the Charity was further increased in 1847 by an annual grant of £100 from Grand Chapter. In 1849 was established the Widows' Fund, Grand Lodge setting the example of support by voting £100 per annum, and Grand Chapter following suit with an annual £35. In the same year, the Asylum for the Aged and Decayed Freemason at Croydon was happily amalgamated with the Benevolent Annuity Fund, and Grand Lodge, with its accustomed liberality, voted the handsome sum of £500 towards the fund that was being raised towards putting the building in a thorough state of repair. In 1854 it voted a further £350 to the Building Fund, and in 1855 it increased its annual grant to the Widows' Fund by a second £100. In 1856 Grand Chapter raised its annual subscription from £35 to £50, while Grand Lodge voted £1000 to the Male Fund and £600 to the Widows' Fund. In 1858 the latter still further enlarged its grants by giving an additional £100 to each of the two Funds, making a total annual subvention of £800, namely, to the Male Fund £500, and to the Female Fund £300, while the contribution of Grand Chapter is £150, namely, £100 to Male, and £50 to Female Fund. Since then, however, Grand Chapter has at different times voted no less than £2500 to the Institution, that is to say—in 1868 £500 to each Fund, making £1000; in 1873 £500; in 1874 £500; and in 1880 £500; while in 1878 it transferred two amounts of £500 Consols each, one to the credit of the Male, and the other to that of the Female Fund.

So much for the official support which is extended to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, and in return for which it is under the necessity of giving so many votes to the W. Master of every Lodge under the jurisdiction of Grand Lodge, and so many to the Z. of every English Royal Arch Chapter at every election that takes place to each Fund. The extra-official support, however, is in every way worthy of the Craft, though, as in the case of our Schools, it was on a very limited scale in the early years of its existence. Indeed, the Benevolent was unfortunately-circumstanced at the outset of its career, in that it was allowed to hold a Festival in aid of its funds only once in three years. However, there soon followed a juster appreciation of the benefits that were being conferred by it, and the proportionate degree of assistance it stood in need of in order to confer those benefits, and the triennial period was first of all changed into a biennial one, and very shortly after into an annual. We need hardly state that these changes were a decided improvement, and increasingly benefited the funds of the Institution. Why there should ever have been any difference in matters of this kind between this and our other Charities it is not worth our while stopping to inquire. It is enough that all have, for several years past, equally enjoyed the opportunities of appealing annually to the Craft for its patronage and support. And this patronage and support has grown amazingly, especially during the last six years; nor do we think we shall be exaggerating if we set down the average annual amount subscribed at the last six Benevolent Festivals at £11,000. Such a figure is well-nigh astounding, but heavy subscriptions are made absolutely necessary by the heavy demands which are made upon the resources of the Institution. There are now 150 decayed brethren on the Male Fund, each of whom receives an annuity of £40. The annuitants on the Female Fund are 155 in number, each of them being in receipt of £32 per annum, while there are some seventeen widows in receipt each of a moiety of her late husband's annuity. These responsibilities amount to a sum of considerably over £11,300, while the expenses of management and the sustentation of Building require a full £2000 in addition, making a total annual liability of over £13,000. This, after all, is nothing very surprising when we bear in mind that the outlay places some 321 poor brethren and widows of poor brethren in fairly comfortable circumstances; at all events, beyond the reach of the most pressing demands of poverty. These brethren and these widows of brethren, moreover, have seen better days. They are people of tried character, or their candidature would not have been accepted. In too many instances they are unable to do anything towards their own maintenance, and some are even so unfortunate as to have neither children nor grandchildren to help them. Here, then, we see the value of so grand an Institution as our Benevolent Fund. By its aid over three hundred decayed yet honourable members of the great Masonic fraternity, or their widows, are honourably assisted; and it may be also that the dark prospects of their children and their children's children are made lighter. Our other Institutions provide for the orphan children of Craftsmen, or of Craftsmen who, having once been in affluent circumstances, are reduced to a state of penury. The Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution has an equal claim, and its Anniversary Festival being now imminent, we are justified in saying it has more than an equal claim upon our support; the consideration of those of the other two being deferred for the present, though not lost sight of. It makes the closing years of a well-spent life secure. The annuities it grants may not be equal to the provision of all those comforts which, in their more fortunate days, the recipients were enabled to command, but it helps to find some of them. And, in very truth, it strikes us as being a most honourable purpose to make smooth the declining years of those who have borne themselves bravely through life, a purpose not one whit less honourable than it is to start young girls and boys fairly, so as to give them the knowledge and the strength to make their way in life successful. The object of next Wednesday's gathering on behalf of the Benevolent Institution is to continue and, if possible, extend the good work it is doing. We know West Yorkshire will play its part well, and we are assured that London, and the other Provinces will strive their utmost to emulate its example. But should any special incentive to extra exertion on the part of the Stewards and the Craft generally be required, it will be found in the fact that, at the annual election to the two Funds, taken together, in May next, there are no less than ninety-eight candidates to fill twenty vacancies. This speaks for itself.

We beg to remind our readers that the Annual Ball of the Burdett Coutts Lodge, No. 1278, will be held at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon Street, E.C., on the evening of Monday next, the 21st instant, dancing to commence at 9 p.m. We trust the Committee of Management and the Lodge generally will achieve as great a success as they have done in previous years.

A slight inaccuracy occurred in our report, last week, of the Fortitude and Old Cumberland Lodge, No. 12. We stated that Bro. E. E. B. Kidder performed the ceremony of installation, whereas we should have said that it was Bro. W. B. Kidder who performed the task. Bro. E. E. B. Kidder was appointed S.W., moreover, he not being a P.M., the error was doubtless apparent to many of our readers.

IN THE REGION OF IDEAS.

From the KEYSTONE.

THOSE who are familiar with only the lowlands of the earth, in the region of its meadows and morasses, and have never been transported to its highlands, with their lofty points of view, lack comprehension of both the highest beauty and the greatest utility of the world in which we dwell. A hill-top, a mountain-peak, lifts one in spirit nearer to the Grand Architect of the Universe. It reveals a material panorama, miles in length and depth—a resplendent picture, filled with the truth of life. It enlarges the circle of one's vision, unveils the progress of civilisation, and fills the mind of the spectator with ideas. On one hand are the primeval woods, tokens of aboriginal nature; on the other are cities and towns, hives of industry, devoted to the development of art, and manufactures, and laws, and whatever tends to lift man from ignorance and want into the broad realms of knowledge—where invention is busy to supply every need, and industry furnishes the means to possess all of the necessaries and conveniences of life. Just as one must be lifted out of and above himself to understand the highest and best truths, so he must have experience beyond the place of his birth to be enabled to grasp the world-idea of a diversified earth, teeming with industry and art, and chequered with natural and artificial beauty, and at the same time related to those stupendous spheres in space which sweep with such celerity and majesty through their celestial orbits. No man has ever travelled far without getting in the region of ideas. So, even more emphatically, whoever fails to view with his mind's eye the boundless realm of knowledge, and make excursions through its flowery meads and cultured fields, and devote days and nights to the acquisition of that learning which constitutes the wealth of wisdom's kingdom, fails to gather ideas that are inestimable in value, fitted to make him wise and successful in this life, and happy in the great hereafter.

There are certain aids that men may avail themselves of in this world to get in the region of ideas. They were devised in ages past, by good men and true. They have since been used by hosts of individuals, who have freely testified to their value. At the same time they are not aids that serve as mere crutches, to be taken up and thrown down at pleasure. They must be honestly sought, welcomely received, and earnestly used. One must possess a measure of wisdom before he will feel inclined to seek them, and a measure of uprightness before we can dare to hope for their bestowal. There is more than one organisation that proffers its hand to the seeker after light; but the one, high up in the scale of dignity and power, to which we now refer, is the Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons. Freemasonry most emphatically lifts the candidate for its honour, and privileges into the region of ideas. It brings him face to face with the loftiest truths. It touches both the life that now is and that which is to come. Its ideas are at once homely enough for this work-a-day world, and holy enough to have come from Sinai's mount. They are God-ward and man-ward.

Where else can you find the refined idea of brotherhood so clearly enunciated, or so universally practised, as in Freemasonry? But, say some faulty thinkers, "Your brotherhood is a narrow one; it is confined to yourselves—the few, while the true idea of brotherhood embraces the world." Not so. In the language of the immortal Goethe, "An idea is not at liberty to be liberal." Those who are not of one spirit, mentally and morally, cannot be fitly united in one fraternity. The "brotherhood of man" is an empty phrase, a glittering generality, that means just nothing. Not only does Freemasonry recognise and know no such brotherhood, neither does the world. The degraded, and ignorant, and immoral move, as it were, in a different world from the refined, the intelligent and the upright. The former are in the world of the latter, but not of it—they are a world to themselves, a nether world, to whose depths Freemasonry never descends in search of fitting members for its brotherhood. There is a brotherhood of the liberal minded, the pure hearted, those of good report, those accepted after due examination—and such is the brotherhood of Masonry.

Where else can you find the divine idea of charity more faithfully carried out than in Freemasonry? The distressed are aided, the sick are visited, the dead are buried, the widow and the orphan are succoured. In life the spirit of brotherly love is exhibited in a thousand ways—by the fraternal hand-clasp, the cordial greeting, the smiling countenance, the encouraging word. The right hand of fellowship is always extended. It is a wide-open hand, betokening a wide-open heart and wide-open pocket. In death the sorrowful tear falls, the sprig of acacia is cast into the open grave, and brethren, relatives and friends are cheered with the hope of a happy reunion in the endless hereafter.

Where else can you find faith in God more steadfastly enjoined than in Freemasonry? The candidate must voluntarily share in this faith before he can advance a single step towards the Masonic Altar. Afterwards he renews the confession of this faith at every opening service of his Lodge. The Grand Architect of the Universe, who is revealed to us in the Holy Bible—the First Great Light in Masonry—is the Freemason's God, to whom his prayers are addressed.

Where else can you find the doctrine of the immortality of the soul more clearly and beautifully taught than in Freemasonry? By type and figure, by word and deed, by precept and example, in the Lodge and at the grave of a deceased brother, this great doctrine is taught over and over again.

How true it is that the Mason is lifted by Freemasonry into the region of ideas! Our Fraternity is ennobling, intellectually and morally. It places a brother on vantage ground, above the level of selfishness, where his vision takes in the world of Masonry, and where his heart beats in unison with the heart of the Craft. It is not surprising that Freemasonry, being an organisation which is dominated by ideas, should always have possessed men of ideas—its Goethes, Schillers, Washingtons, Franklins, and Lafayettes! Like produces like, just as out of nothing, nothing comes. Let us cherish our ideas, then, for they are the very life-blood of Freemasonry.

ELIAS ASHMOLE, WINDSOR HERALD, AND FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In various Masonic and non-Masonic publications the initiation of Elias Ashmole into Freemasonry at Warrington, in the year 1646, has been alluded to as the first instance of the regular initiation of a "gentleman," of which there now remains authentic contemporary documentary evidence. But although his Diary still exists, and was printed many years, probably a century ago, the writers who have chronicled the ceremony named above have never, so far as I know, quoted several other interesting particulars which Ashmole thought worth recording, and which give further information regarding English Freemasonry towards the close of the seventeenth century, including the name of the "Master of the Masons Company," which seems to have been equivalent to the "Grand Master of England," in 1682. I therefore introduce the following extracts recently made verbatim from the entries in Ashmole's original manuscript diary which is preserved in the Bodleian Library at Oxford, they being the whole of the references to Freemasonry contained in the volume :—

"1646. Oct: 16.—4^{h} 30' p.m.—I was made a Free Mason at Warrington in Lancashire with Coll: Henry Mainwaring of Karincham in Cheshire. The names of those that were then of the Lodge [were] Mr. Rich: Fenket, Warden. Mr. James Collier, Mr. Rich: Sankey. Henry Littler. John Ellam. Rich: Ellam, & Hugh Brewer.

"March 1682.

"10: About 5^{h} p.m. I rec^{d} a Sumons to app^{r} at a Lodge to be held the next day, at Masons Hall London.

"11: Accordingly I went and about noone were admitted into the Fellowship of Free Masons,

"S^{r}: William Wilson Knight, Capt: Rich: Borthwick, Mr. Will: Woodman, Mr. Wm: Grey, Mr. Samuell Taylour & Mr. William Wise.

"I was the Senior Fellow among them (it being 35 years since I was admitted). There were p^{r}sent beside my selfe the Fellowes after named.

"Mr. Tho: Wise, M^{r}. of the Masons Company this p^{r}sent yeare, Mr. Thomas Shorthose, Mr. Nich: Young, Mr. John Shorthose, Mr. William Hamon, Mr. John Thompson, & Mr. Will: Stanton.

"Wee all dyned at the halfe Moone Taverne in Cheapeside, at a Noble Dinner prepaired at the charge of the New= accepted Masons."

Ashmole recorded the exact hour of most of the events in his life for astrological purposes usually quite as exactly as the "4 hours 30 minutes p.m." given above.

Colonel Henry Mainwaring, of Kermincham, was a kinsman of Elias Ashmole's first wife, and this will account for their having gone through the ceremony of initiation on the same occasion, Ashmole being on a visit to Cheshire.

Before closing this letter, I wish to quote a remark of one of the officials at the Bodleian Library, in order, if possible, to save trouble to the librarians there, as well as to inquirers after an imaginary Masonic manuscript, which I have heard spoken of more than once. He says in a letter to me :—"There is a MS. said to be here of very early date, but its existence in the Bodleian is a myth. It is, however, a matter of some trouble, for it is always being inquired for. I have myself been written to about it twice within twelve months."

I am, Sir, yours fraternally,

SCRIBE E. AND J.W. 148.

GRAND LODGE SCOTLAND AND THE GAEL LODGE, SCOTLAND.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I am very glad to find from your report of the last Quarterly Communication of the G. Lodge of Scotland that it has endorsed the vote of censure recorded by the G.L. Committee on the Gael Lodge, Glasgow, for having issued a begging circular, not only among our Scottish brethren whose interest in the subject-matter of the letter may be considered as direct, but also among brethren belonging to other jurisdictions, whose interest is certainly of a very indirect character. I remember to have seen a copy of one of these circulars, and it struck me the plaintive appeal it contained was out of place and most unworthy of any Masonic Lodge. It is no doubt most laudable on the part of the brethren who are familiar with the Gaelic language, and are desirous of carrying out our rites and ceremonies in that tongue, that they should advocate the maintenance of a Lodge especially for Gaels. But then it is the duty of the members to support their Lodge, and if it fall into difficulties, to extricate it therefrom. What limit would there be to the demands made upon our brethren if every Lodge established for a special object, and finding that object beyond its reach without extraneous help, should appeal to them for support? If Masonry rendered in Gaelic is not sufficiently popular with the Gaels to secure the needful support, is it likely it will obtain the requisite means of support among brethren to whom Gaelic is as unintelligible as Japanese or Sanscrit? If I were a Scotchman I should probably look upon Gaelic as the finest language that ever has been spoken by man, just as I might picture to myself the bagpipes as being the most melodious of musical instruments. Being an Englishman, however, I am unable to appreciate either Gaelic or the bagpipes. This may be owing to a great want of taste on my part, but I cannot help it.

I say nothing as to the grave impropriety of any Lodge soliciting aid to extricate it from difficulties to which all Lodges alike are equally liable. Grand Lodge of Scotland has determined that.

Fraternally yours,

AN ENGLISH MASON.

THE NEW FINSBURY PARK AND SIR HUGH MYDDELTON BALL.

A COMMITTEE meeting was held at the Old Cock Tavern (Bro. Baker's) on Wednesday last. Present:—Bros. Weston, Hollis, Swynyard, Jackson, R. G. Thomas, Greenfield, Berry, Speller Hon. Secretary, and others. The accounts were duly audited, and, thanks to the exertions of the brethren of the New Finsbury Park Lodge, the Ball proved financially a success. A vote of thanks was unanimously passed to Bro. Baker for his kindness, at so short a notice providing for the use of the meeting one of the private rooms of the Hotel. In reply, Bro. Baker said at all times it would be his endeavour to promote the comforts of similar meetings to the utmost of his power. A Committee was then formed for a joint Ball, to be called (subject to the opinion of the next meeting) the Holloway and Finsbury Park Ball, and 150 tickets were at once vouched for.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M., has been pleased to confer the Grand Mastership of the Province of Staffordshire, rendered vacant by the death of the late Earl of Shrewsbury and Talbot, on Bro. Major G. Singleton Tudor, heretofore D.P.G.M. Bro. Tudor has filled the office of Grand Superintendent of Royal Arch Masonry in this Province since the summer of 1871, and as he is one of the most popular members of the Craft, not only within the county of Stafford, but likewise outside its limits, his appointment cannot be otherwise than most gratifying, and we feel sure will prove to be in every way beneficial to the Freemasons of Staffordshire.

We beg to offer to Bro. T. Entwisle, of Bolton, our sincere tribute of respectful sympathy with him and his family in their present grievous affliction. On Friday last, Bro. Entwisle's second son, Mr. Ethelbert Entwisle, aged only twenty and nine years, was skating in Bradford Park, at Great Lever, when the ice gave way, and he was seen by the spectators on the bank to be struggling in the water at a distance from them of only about twenty yards. Steps were immediately taken to rescue him from his perilous position, but ineffectually, and it was some time before the body was recovered. Attempts were made, according to the approved method of Dr. Sylvester, to restore animation, but the body had been too long immersed, and the endeavours proved fruitless. Mr. Entwisle was a young gentleman of great promise. He had won many and high distinctions in the course of his scholastic career, and there was every prospect of his achieving still more substantial successes in connection with the firm of which his father was the head, and himself a member. The sudden death, in all the vigour of early manhood, of so able and popular a townsman has aroused in Bolton a wide-spread feeling of sorrow, which, we trust, will prove, to a certain extent, some consolation to the bereaved family in the midst of their grief.

THE FIFTEEN SECTIONS

WILL BE WORKED

At the Beacontree Lodge of Instruction, No. 1228, at Bro. Barford's, Red Lion, Leytonstone, on Tuesday evening next, at seven o'clock precisely. Bro. W. H. Myers P.M. Nos. 820 and 1445 will preside, supported by Bros. William Hogg P.M. 1349 S.W., R. Durell S.W. 1349 J.W., G. W. Verry P.M. 554 I.P.M., George Edward Walters P.M. 1598 Honorary Secretary. First Lecture:—Bros. Sampson, Skelt, Loane, Livermore, Musto, Calver, and Durell. Second Lecture:—Bros. Roberts, Walters, F. C. D. Fenn, W. Hogg, and Macgregor. Third Lecture:—Bros. Stewart, McDonald, and Verry.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Few persons are so favoured by circumstances, or so fortified by nature, as to enable them to pass unscathed the sore trials of an inclement season. With catarrhs, coughs, and influenzas everywhere abounding, it should be universally known that Holloway's Ointment diligently rubbed upon the chest, checks the worst assaults of these maladies, and securely wards off more grave and dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. The truth of this assertion must remain unquestioned in the face of thousands of unimpeachable living witnesses, who have personally derived the utmost possible benefits from this treatment when their present sufferings were appalling, and their future prospects most disheartening. Both remedies act admirably together.

The History of Freemasonry in the District of Malta, from the year 1800 to the present time. By W. Bro. A. M. Broadley, of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister-at-Law; P.M. 1717; W.M. 1835; P.D.D.G.M. Malta; P.G.M.M.M. for Tunis and Malta; P.G.M. of the Cryptic and Allied Masonic Degrees for Tunis and Malta; D. Intendant-General of the Red Cross for Malta and Tunis; P.G.C. and G.P. and P.P. London: George Kenning, "Freemason" Office, 198 Fleet-street, E.C. 1880.

The third on the District Roll of Lodges is Zetland, No. 515, which was founded in 1846, and thus named in honour of the then Grand Master, the late Earl of Zetland. Some difficulties appear to have been encountered at the outset, owing to the refusal of the W.M.'s of the sister Lodges to take part in the consecration. The brethren, however, would not submit to be disappointed, and, having expended the considerable sum of £180 on furniture and decorations, they formally met together and opened the Lodge. This happened on the 12th January 1846, when twenty-nine Masons were present, and several, among whom must be included Bro. G. Tamajo, now a Senator of Italy and Sov. G. Commander of the Supreme Grand Council of the A. and A. Rite for Italy, became joining members. However, after some negociations, these obstacles to the constitution of the Zetland were overcome, and Bro. Jerome P.M., and acting W.M. of the Union Lodge, duly consecrated it, as No. 756, and then installed Bro. Flack as its first W. Master. Bro. Flack was continued in office for a second term, and was then succeeded by Bro. Tancredi Sciberras, but, owing to the latter's absence from the island, he appointed the Officers and fulfilled his duties till the autumn of the year when Bro. Sciberras returned, and attended a meeting on the 9th October, on which occasion it is recorded that, the Lodge being in the third degree, the acting W.M. (Bro. Flack) requested all those who were not Past Masters to retire, unless they expressed their desire to take that degree, when Bros. Diston, Samut, Giovanetti, and Morris joined with Bro. Sciberras, and the degree of P.M. was conferred upon them. In December, Bro. Goodenough was elected and installed W.M., and on the evening of the latter event a Bro. Steddall was named Expert, and five brethren nominated for the R.A. degree—a charter for the formation of a Chapter of that degree having been received in the September preceding. Bro. Flack was re-chosen W.M. for the ensuing year, and was succeeded in 1851 by Bro. Goodenough, during whose (second) Mastership a scheme was set a-foot for the union of the three Lodges of Malta into one. On the 1st Feb. 1851, a joint meeting of the three was held, in the form of a Lodge, there being present sixteen members of the Zetland, with seven of SS. John and Paul, and twenty-three of the Union of Malta. Bro. Goodenough presided, and a letter in support of the movement was read from Bro. McLeod Moore, a Past Master of the oldest Lodge in the island, and Grand Prior of the Order of the Temple in Canada at the present time. The proposal was fully discussed, and in the event adopted by an overwhelming majority, a committee, consisting of the three W. Masters, three Past Masters, and three elected representatives being appointed to arrange the details. This Committee met at an early date, and recommended that the new Lodge should be called the Grand Union Lodge, and its R.A. Chapter the Grand Union Chapter. Copies of the resolution were sent to the P.G.M. (Bro. Burrows) and the Grand Secretary of England. A second joint Lodge was held on 10th February, having been called by order of the W.M.'s, when the steps taken were confirmed, and a copy of the terms of arrangement, accompanied by a petition, was determined on being forwarded to England. In the latter it was stated "that many desire to amalgamate our existing warrants into ONE, to bear on your books the No. 437" (now 349) "being that of our oldest Lodge, unless, indeed, the nobleness of our purpose, and its high Masonic character should lead you" (the Grand Secretary) "to consider us as deserving of a very high number on the records of the Grand Lodge of England." At the April meeting of the Zetland a letter was read from Archdeacon Burrows, P.G. Master of the Province of Andalusia, Malta, and Gozo, in which he expressed his approval of the scheme; but, strange to say—and it speaks but ill for the courtesy of our then Grand Secretarial functionaries—no notice whatever was taken of the petition by Grand Lodge. Equally strange is it that the proposal is barely hinted at in the minutes of the other two Lodges. It is, perhaps, not greatly to be regretted that nothing came of the suggested union. The United Lodge would have been excessively numerous, and brethren meriting advancement to the principal offices would have been obliged to wait an unconscionable length of time.

In the year 1852 Bro. Chapman presided over the destinies of the Zetland as W.M., and during his term of office Bro. Goodenough presented to the Lodge a costly dinner service of stone china, which is still in use, after the lapse of close on thirty years. Bro. B. Douglas was chosen Master for the year following, and it is worthy of note that at his installation, as at that of his predecessor, again in 1856, and at the end of the year 1857, when he was for the second time installed in office, the degree of Past Master was conferred on several Master Masons, our present Grand Secretary, Bro. Shadwell Clerke, being one of twenty so honoured on the last-named occasion. The minute book for the next four years appears to be missing. It seems, however, that early in 1856 the Lodge was visited by Bro. Captain Philips, who shortly afterwards became a member, installed Bro. Gingell in the chair of K.S., himself becoming S.W. But his association with the Lodge was of no great duration, as duty required him to return to England. During his membership he enjoyed what to him must ever be a source of gratification, of having seconded the nomination of Bro. Shadwell Clerke as a candidate for initiation into the mysteries of Freemasonry, and before he left the island a farewell dinner, which we are told he was unfortunately prevented from attending, was given in his honour, while an address was presented to him as "an acknowledgment of the very great services rendered by him to the Lodge." During Bro. Gingell's second Mastership, £20 was voted by the Lodge to the Indian Relief Fund, while in Bro. Douglas's second Mastership, 1858, a difference of a serious character arose between that brother and Bro. Past Master Flack, through "the appointment of an Expert, contrary to the Book of Constitutions." As no further mention is made of the difference, we presume it cannot have been of a very enduring character. It was during this year also the Lodge was visited by Bro. Tristram, P.M. of the Atlantic Phœnix Lodge, No. 271 (now No. 224), who recorded an event which had happened to him some time previously, and was likely to prove of interest, as showing the general diffusion of Masonry and its benefits. Bro. Tristram then related how, when travelling in "the south of the Djereed (south of the Tunisian frontier), his party were brought to a standstill for the want of fresh camels as well as provisions. This perplexity was increased by falling in with a hostile tribe, and Bro. Tristram, on being conducted to the seat of the chief, perceiving the personal danger they were in, and finding all other means fail, tried to communicate with him by one of the higher degrees of Masonry, which was immediately responded to, and although in their interchanges some differences were found, chiefly arising from the difficulty of language, yet sufficient was made known to engage the hospitality of the Arab Sheihk, who not only furnished them with means of fresh transport, but entertained them for some days free of expense." It was also during this year Bro. W. Kingston, the present D.G.M., first visited the Lodge, that Bro. Laferta presented to it an engraving, of President George Washington in Masonic costume, and that delegates from all three Lodges met together, and determined if possible to hold their assemblies under the same roof. Bro. Gingell—to whom, by the way, had been presented a Past Master's jewel, in recognition of his valuable services in the chair during the years 1856-7—again occupied the post of Master in 1859, being succeeded by Bro. Delamere in 1860, Bro. M. Drake being W.M. in 1861, with Bro. Armstrong as his S.W., and Bro. Dr. St. John Edwards, afterwards D.G.M., as his J.W. Bro. Edwards filled the chair in 1862, and Bro. Armstrong in 1863, when the number of the Lodge was altered from 756 to 515. Bro. Edwards was Master for the second time in 1864, on the 27th April in which year he was nominated as the first resident D.G.M., after the lapse of close upon forty years. In 1865-6, Bro. Dewar was W.M., and it was during the latter of these two years that Bro. Rosenbusch, the present D.D.G.M., was initiated. But it is unnecessary to give the full list of Masters. Among those who have occupied the chair since Bro. Dewar should be mentioned Bro. Conolly P.D.D.G.M., who was W.M. in 1867, 1868, and 1871, to whom two years after was presented a D.D.G.M.'s jewel of the value of £10; Bro. R. Mowat W.M. 1872, who was honoured with the presentation of a D.G.J.W.'s regalia, in recognition of his services; Bro. Gorham W.M. in 1870, to whom was presented a scroll and marble timepiece, and Bros. Segond W.M. in 1879, present D.G. Treasurer, towards a testimonial to whom, in his D.G. Tresorial capacity, the sum of £5 was in 1874 voted by the Lodge. Since the constitution of the Lodge in 1846 there have been 671 initiates and joining members, while the number of subscribing members at the time of publication of Bro. Broadley's sketch is set down as being twenty-six.

We have thus far given a brief sketch of the history of the three Lodges in Malta, but it is within the recollection of our brethren that in the year 1877 a Lodge was chartered, bearing the style and title of Ancient Carthage, No. 1717, and meeting at Tunis, North Africa, near the site of the famous city from which its name is derived. We shall therefore depart from the order of Bro. Broadley's treatment, and complete our notice of English Craft Masonry before passing to the notice of the Arch, Mark, and other branches of Masonry in the District. We will, first of all, however, glance at the information whith Bro. Broadley has collated respecting Freemasonry in this neighbourhood before 1877. In 1821, owing to a revolution in Naples, a large emigration to Tunis took place, and among the emigrants were many members of the G.O. of that State, who, in spite of the objections of the Bey of Tunis, held secret meetings in the suburbs of the capital, and especially "under the friendly shelter of the great Roman cisterns amidst the ruins of Carthage." In 1830 the name of the working Lodge was "Figli Addottioi di Cartagine Ed Utica," the W.M. being Bro. Plass. In 1845 this became merged in the "Figli Scelti di Cartagine ed Utica, of which Bros. Colin and Payen successively filled the presidential chair. The eighteenth degree of the A. and A. Rite was worked at this time, and the Lodge issued a most beautiful and artistic certificate in the French language." These were succeeded by the "La Novella Cartagine," with Bro. Dr. Ducord as W.M., and the "Attilio Regolo," the W.M. being Bro. G. Morpurgo. In 1860 the G.O. of France chartered a Lodge with Rose Croix Chapter attached, named "La Perseverenza." These flourished for some seven or eight years under the presidency of Bros. S. Garsin W.M. and P. Sulema M.W.S. respectively. In 1865 the G.O. of Palermo constituted the "Cartagine ed Utica," with Bro. Magnaini as W.M., and about the some time the Grand Council of France chartered "La Segretezza." In 1867-8 the G.O. of Italy, then located at Florence, authorised a Lodge and Chapter to be known as "Concordia ed Progresso." None of these, however, Bro. Broadley tells us, have had an active existence since 1870. In 1877, the idea of seeking, from the Grand Lodge of England, a Warrant for a Lodge to be styled the Ancient Carthage Lodge, No. 1717 was started, the initial difficulty caused by only one of the seven would-be petitioners being an English Mason, being overcome by the affiliation with SS. John and Paul, No. 349, Malta, of the Wardens designate, Bros. Rev. E. B. Francke of No. 293, Jerusalem, G.O. Canada, and J. E. L. Barker of La Chaine d'Union Beyrout, G.O. of France. The petition, dated 4th June 1877, was recommended by No. 349, and the Warrant dated 13th July bore the signatures of the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M., the Earl of Carnarvon Pro G.M., Lord Skelmersdale D.G.M., and John Hervey G.S. On the 6th September Bro. Broadley was installed W.M. by Bro. Rosenbusch D.D.G.M. On the 27th December the Lodge resolved on commemorating its first festival by purchasing a Life Governorship to the Boys' School. At the meeting of the D.G. Lodge of Malta, held in that island on the 30th March 1878, several Tunis brethren were presented, and it was announced that the District of Malta had been extended, so as to include the Regency of Tunis in its jurisdiction. Bro. Broadley W.M. and Rev. Bro. Franckel S.W. 1717 were honoured with the appointments of D.G.S.W. and D.G. Chaplain respectively, and two other members were appointed D.G. Stewards. On the 22nd June following, a meeting of the D.G. Lodge was held at Tunis, under the banner of the Ancient Carthage Lodge. Bro. Kingston D.G.M. presided, and amongst those who supported him were Bros. Broadley D.G.S.W. and Rischelman D.G.J.W. Bro. Kingston's reception was a most hearty one, and Bro. Broadley's address was admirable. On the 6th September the latter was re-elected W.M., and re-installed the following month, a P.M.'s jewel being at the same time presented to him in recognition of his services as a founder and the first W.M. On the 1st April the Lodge was honoured with a visit from Bro. General Sir A. Cunyngham, G.C.B., P.M. of a military Lodge, and ten days later Bro. Broadley was appointed D.D.G.M. About this time, too, was published a translation of the bye-laws in Italian by Bro. A. Perini, M.D., who was installed Bro. Broadley's successor in the Mastership on 4th October 1879. During Bro. Perini's year of office the Lodge had the honour of entertaining Bro. Montagne Guest, M.P., Provincial Grand Master Dorsetshire, and his Deputy Bro. Hambro, as well as Bro. Rosenbusch, D.D.G.M. So sensible were Bros. Guest and Hambro of the hearty and fraternal reception they experienced on this occasion that an address of thanks was passed by our Dorset brethren in P.G. Lodge assembled, and forwarded to Bro. Broadley and the W.M., Wardens, and members of the Ancient Carthage Lodge. No less than 135 members have been initiated or joined since the formation of the Lodge, they being of almost every nationality and religion. The active members last year mustered altogether eighty-two.

In 1879, when Ancient Carthage had a muster roll of one hundred, several of the brethren who resided in Goletta, the port of Tunis, formed the resolution of petitioning Grand Lodge for a warrant constituting a new Lodge, which bears the name and number of the William Kingston Lodge, and No. 1835, respectively. The Lodge was consecrated by Bro. Broadley on the 21st June of that year, and Bro. J. E. L. Barker Past Junior Warden of No. 1717 was installed the first W.M. The D.D.G.M. Broadley, on behalf of his chief, presented the new Lodge with a handsome set of jewels and collars. At its annual Festival on 20th February, eight P.M.'s and W.M.'s of the Tunis Lodges were present, and an important speech was made by W. Bro. Reade P.M. 1068, and P.D.D.G.M. Egypt, who a few months previously had taken up the Agency and Consul-Generalship of Tunis, and become a joining member of No. 1717. In May 1880, Bro. Broadley was elected, and, in June, installed W.M., the ceremony being performed by Bros. W. Read P.M. No. 407, P.D.G. Reg., assisted by W. Bros. T. F. Reade, Perini, and Barker. The number of those who have joined or been initiated in the William Kingston since its constitution is given as thirty-five, of different nationalities and religions; the present active list consisting of thirty-one members.

The above completes the English Lodges forming the D.G.L. of Malta. There is, however, another Craft Lodge in Malta under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of Ireland. It was warranted in 1851, and is known as the Leinster Lodge, No. 387, being so named in honour of the late Duke of Leinster G.M. of Ireland, and it has attached to it a Royal Arch Chapter and Mark Masters' Lodge. The first meeting was held in January 1852, and Bro. Gresham was installed W.M., who filled the office, as did all his successors to 1875, for only six months. Since 1875 inclusive the W.M. has been elected annually. The Irish brethren, we are told, were at first somewhat coldly received, but the feeling lasted only for a few months, and our English and Irish brethren have since been on the very best of terms. In 1856, Sir R. Douglas, Bart., then a minor, was initiated by dispensation from the Grand Lodge of Ireland, and about the same time the Leinster placed its Hall at the disposal of Lodge Integrity, then 1771, now No. 528, attached to the 14th Foot, and holding under the English Constitution. In recognition of this courtesy and hospitality, Integrity made Leinster a present of five dozen handsome firing glasses. Among other presentations to the Lodge may be mentioned an inkstand, made out of a shell from Sebastopol, given by Bro. Robinson; a square and compasses, by Bro. Layland; a portrait of the late Duke of Leinster, by Bros. Swift and Good, and a splendid Bible, by Bro. A. J. Godfrey, of the 21st Foot. Among donations by the Lodge are noted £20 to the Indian Mutiny Relief Fund, in 1857; £5 towards the relief of the Christians who suffered in Syria in 1860, and £20 to the Lancashire Distress Fund, in 1862. Among joining members of the Lodge will be found the name of Capt. Shadwell Clerke. In the twenty-nine years of its existence there have been 748 initiates, and the Lodge, with an invested fund and a satisfactory balance to its credit, may be described as in a condition of prosperity. Strangers who may attend its meetings, says Bro. Broadley, will carry away with them the most agreeable recollections "of the hospitality and fraternal reception accorded to them." We have now completed our picture of Craft Masonry in Malta.

Bro. T. P. Payne P.M. (an ex-Mayor of the Borough) was installed Master of the Southampton Lodge, at the Freemasons' Hall, on Thursday afternoon. There was a large and influential attendance.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

LODGE OF FIDELITY, No. 3.

THE members of this old and flourishing Lodge held their installation meeting on the 9th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, when a numerous attendance of brethren and visitors was present. Bros. McDougal W.M., J. Allen S.W., J. Peacock J.W., A. Low P.M. Treas., J. Squire P.M. Sec., Barratt S.D., Challen J.D., A. Larcombe I.G.; P.M.'s Dr. W. C. Clark, T. Robinson, Cordwell, C. Terry, Perryman, Crage, and McDougal. Amongst the visitors were Bros. Hopekirk P.M. 179, Coulson W.M. 27, Eckstein W.M. 1196, H. Brown P.G.S., J. Jeffreys, Beeton W.M. 788, J. Covell 1692, H. Dickey 1744, C. Smith 680, A. Pears P.M. 865, Levaque 1572, Sellis 1744, Sutton late No. 3, Bohn 92, H. Browne P.G.S. W.M. No. 4 P.P.G.R. Cambridge, J. Jessop P.M. 1261, F. Ward 1541, J. Stedman 1765, G. Basford, H. Jay 174, A. Best 211, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188. After preliminaries, Messrs. R. Ashton and P. Polenaghi were balloted for and initiated into the Order, and Bro. Smith was raised to the third degree, both ceremonies being admirably rendered by the W.M. Bro. Allen S.W. and W.M. elect was then presented, and duly installed into the chair by Bro. Cordwell P.M. P.P.G.R. Middlesex, who ably acquitted himself. After the customary salutations the W.M. appointed and invested his Officers—Bros. McDougal I.P.M., Peacock S.W., Barrett J.W., A. Low P.M. Treasurer, Squire P.M. Secretary, Challen S.D., Larcomb J.D., W. Squire I.G., Perryman P.M. W.S., Potter P.M. Tyler. Bro. J. Lorkin signified his willingness to act as Steward for the Boys' School Festival. Bro. Collier was proposed as a joining member, and a candidate was proposed for initiation. Lodge was then closed. A sumptuous and récherché banquet and dessert was provided by Bro. A. Best, in the Crown Room, Bro. Dawkins superintending the service. Grace having been sung by Bro. Stedman and his choir, the W.M. proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. Bro. Frank Ward sang "The Boatswain's Mate." The toast of the grand Officers was eloquently responded to by Bro. H. Browne P.G.S. P.M. No. 4, and P.P.G.R. Cambridge. After a splendid effort from Master Tebbutt, who sang "Cherry Ripe," Bro. McDougal I.P.M. rose, with great pleasure, to propose the toast of the W.M. All present knew what he had done; he had filled creditably every office, with satisfaction to the brethren. He (Bro. McDougal) had been associated with him for many years, and now trusted his year of office would be a successful one in every respect. The W.M. replying, thanked Bro. McDougal for his kind expressions; all that laid in his power should be done, and he hoped to their satisfaction. He could truly say nothing would give him greater pleasure on leaving the chair than to be able to say he had merited their approbation. The initiates, Bros. Ashton and Polenaghi, were next complimented; the W.M. said the members were proud to see both among them. Bro. P.M. Squires sang the E.A. song, and then the toast was in appropriate terms responded to. Bro. Donald King, the veteran P.M., sang McGregors' Gathering, in a style that elicited loud and long applause. We have seldom heard our worthy brother in such excellent voice. The toast of the Visitors was next given; they were a numerous body; with the toast the W.M. would couple the names of Bros. H. M. Levy P.M. 188, and Eckstein W.M. Urban Lodge. After a humorous song by Bro. Taylor, Bros. Levy and Eckstein severally responded; each deservedly complimented the W.M. on his able presiding, and referred to the excellent rendering of the ceremony of installation by Bro. Cordwell P.M. The remaining toasts comprised the P.M.'s, responded to by Bro. McDougal; the Treasurer and Secretary, for which each of these Officers responded; the Wardens and Officers, for which Bros. Peacock and Barrett replied. The Tyler's toast was then given. The musical arrangements of the evening were under the direction of Bro. Stedman, whose efforts were fully appreciated by the brethren and visitors.

UNITED MARINERS' LODGE, No. 30.

THE first meeting of the members of this old and reputed Lodge, under the presidency of the newly elected Worshipful Master Bro. Hiram Cosedge, was held on Tuesday evening last, at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street. Amongst the brethren present were—Bros. Joseph Clark Immediate Past Master, J. W. Crossley S.W., Joshua Shipley J.W.; Past Masters Bros. Joseph Harling Treasurer, Joseph Driscoll Honorary Secretary, Charles Davey acting as S.D., L. G. Rheinhardt Tyler, Thomas M. Smith, A. Lefeaux, Alfred Thomas Gladwell, G. J. C. Smith, A. F. Ablitt; Bros. James Linscott J.D., Louis Steingraber D.C. acting as I.G., Samuel Lampen, S. Horn, Thomas Oblein, James C. Hildrath, A. Couldrey, Carl Fasseber. Visitor—Robert Schofield Past Master 511, &c. Lodge was opened with the usual solemnities, when, after some formal business had been transacted, the ballot was opened for Messrs. Max Kish and Siegfrid Stock, both of No. 108 Cambridge-Gardens, Notting Hill, who had been proposed by Bro. Olhendorf, and seconded by the Honorary Secretary. The voting in each case was unanimous, but the candidates having been prevented from attending, the initiation ceremony was deferred until next Lodge meeting. Bro. S. Lampen, having answered the interrogations satisfactorily, was entrusted, and on his return to the Lodge was duly raised to the sublime degree, the impressive ceremony being performed by the Worshipful Master in a manner that, considering this was his first rendering, afforded the utmost pleasure to, and was highly appreciated by, the brethren. The Honorary Secretary then proposed that the sum of one guinea be voted towards the testimonial which it has been proposed shall be presented to Mr. D. Sherwill, who has for many years acted most efficiently as the Manager and Secretary of the Guildhall Tavern. In doing so Bro. Driscoll observed that he had constantly transacted business with Mr. Sherwill on matters connected with the Lodge, and his courtesy and gentlemanly demeanour on all occasions had been such that he could not refrain from asking the brethren to express their respect for him, and their high estimation of the services Mr. Sherwill had rendered them, by contributing to the fund which so many of his friends had decided upon raising for the purpose of presenting to him this testimonial. The proposition was most cordially acquiesced in by all present. Some other formal matters having been considered, Lodge was closed in due form, and the brethren repaired to the banqueting-hall, where an excellent repast was provided by Messrs. Ritter and Clifford. Dessert having been placed on the tables, the customary Loyal and Masonic toasts were honoured, the Worshipful Master giving those of the Rulers of the Craft in eloquent terms. Bro. Joseph Clark, in proposing the health of the Worshipful Master, said the brethren had seen what Bro. Hiram Cosedge had done in the way of working the ceremonies at the first meeting after his installation, which was but a sample of what they might expect to witness at his hands in the future. Circumstances over which he had no control had prevented him (the speaker) from being present during the whole of the meeting, but from what he had seen and heard, he felt convinced the brethren must have been perfectly satisfied with the manner in which he had acquitted himself, and would heartily join with him in wishing Bro. Cosedge health and prosperity during his year of office. The Worshipful Master, in acknowledging the hearty manner in which the mention of his name had been received, thanked the brethren for the kindness and cordiality with which they had treated him while endeavouring to discharge for the first time the duties of his position. Before he was exalted to his present high office, he scarcely thought the work was so burdensome and onerous as he now found it to be. He never imagined that the duties, which he had hitherto regarded with so much veneration, and which he had so inaptly performed—[No]—were so arduous; but the knowledge he had acquired made him admire Freemasonry all the more. That he had but a short time to prepare for the discharge of those functions was no excuse, and he was only too grateful for the aid and support he had received at the hands of the brethren generally. But, though deeply sensible that he had fallen far short of the perfection of those who had preceded him in the chair, it should be his constant study to attain that proficiency which had gained for this ancient Lodge its proud reputation. He acknowledged that, but for the kind prompting volunteered him, it would have been impossible for him to have succeeded. There was so much nobility, so much expansion, so much beyond the signification of the degree they had witnessed, that it needed the whole grasp of intellect and memory to go through it satisfactorily. In this venerable Lodge, which had been in existence more than a century, he had seen such excellence of working as he could hardly hope to emulate, and the only means by which he had succeeded so well was because he had been so ably supported by the Past Masters. He was eminently indebted to them, and he promised to exert his utmost in the future so to improve as to repay them for their abundant kindness. He then proposed the health of the Visitors, who were always welcomed as members of their one common brotherhood, with whom they were happy to exchange ideas, and to show them how anxious the brethren were to sustain the reputation which this good old Lodge had gained. The Honorary Secretary asked permission, at this juncture, to interpose for the purpose of mentioning a subject which was usually brought forward at the January meeting, but it had been unavoidably postponed, in consequence of the absence of Bro. George Smith on that occasion, and also the amount of work which he (the speaker) had on hand. He referred to the efforts which should be made by the Lodge on behalf of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. He reminded the brethren that there were ninety-nine applicants for participation in the benefits of that noble Institution at the approaching election, and of these only twenty could possibly be elected. Amongst the ninety-nine was the widow of their late Tyler, Bro. Grant, to whom he hoped as many votes would be accorded as possible. In addition to this, there was Bro. Ford, who had been recommended by Bro. Gibbs, and in whose case Bro. Ablitt took a very deep interest. So that, over and above the influence the Life Governors possessed, he wanted all the brethren to qualify for votes, and take their own views as to whether they would appropriate them to the benefit of the male or female candidate he had named. He should be glad if they would give all their votes on the male side to Bro. Ford, and on the female side to the widow of their late Tyler. [A list was then passed round, and Bro. Driscoll was pleased to announce that, in spite of the not very numerous attendance, the sum of £4 had been subscribed.] Bro. Robert Schofield, in returning thanks on behalf of the Visitors, said he had met with a cordiality he should not readily forget. He should convey the sentiments so well expressed by their Honorary Secretary to the proper quarter, where he knew they would be received with the generous gratitude they deserved. From what he had seen that night he predicted that Bro. Cosedge would turn out an excellent Master. His Officers were all well up in their duties, and he was certain their Worshipful Master would be ably supported during his term of office. The Worshipful Master then proposed the health of the Past Masters, who were united in furthering the best interests of the Lodge and upholding the younger brethren. He said again, in reply to the observation of the last speaker, if ever he turned out to be an excellent Master, it would be entirely due to the valuable aid he received from his Past Masters. Bro. Joseph Clark responded, in doing which he said the Past Masters always esteemed it a privilege and an honour to be able to impart to the younger brethren the information they needed. In doing so they merely performed the duty which was expected of them in every Lodge. The Worshipful Master next proposed the health of the Officers, speaking in felicitous terms of his able and efficient staff. Bro. J. W. Crossley S.W., in thanking the Worshipful Master for his kindly expressions towards himself and brother Officers, said it would be their earnest desire and aim to do their best for the interests of a Lodge so ancient, which stood so high on the roll, and which enjoyed such great prestige. He believed he spoke the feelings of every Freemason when he said he looked upon the possessor of the chair in a Lodge as a being of a superior sphere, and this feeling of awe and respect was an incentive to them all to aspire to that exalted position. He concluded by again assuring the Worshipful Master that he and his brother Officers would do all they could to discharge their duties efficiently. One or two other complimentary toasts were honoured, interspersed with songs and recitations, that by the Honorary Secretary, entitled "The Mate of the Nancy Brig," being intensely relished. Altogether, the proceedings were of a very enjoyable description.

LODGE OF FRIENDSHIP, No. 928.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge took place on Monday, the 7th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Peterafield. The ceremony of installing Bro. H. Pierson S.W. as W.M. for the ensuing year was performed, according to ancient custom, by Bro. M. P. Creedon, the retiring W.M., who carried out the duties in the most perfect manner, and was highly complimented by all present on his knowledge and able delivery of the ritual, a special vote of thanks being subsequently passed to him. At the conclusion of the ceremony the W.M. appointed and invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. Creedon I.P.M., W. C. Burley S.W., J. Woodhouse J.W., W. B. Edgeler P.M. Treasurer and Secretary, L. A. B. Cole P.M. D.C., J. Swan D.C., E. Nayler J.D., W. Smoker I.G., C. Oakley Organist, J. Wright and J. Whitefield Stewards, C. Knight Tyler. The addresses to the Officers were eloquently rendered by the Installing Master. Bro. Edgeler P.M. then, on behalf of the officers and brethren of the Lodge, presented to Bro. Creedon a very handsome Past Master's jewel, in recognition of the courteous manner in which he had presided over them, and the ability with which he had performed the duties of Master of the Lodge for two successive years. Bro. Edgeler referred to the impressive manner in which Bro. Creedon had always conducted the ceremonies, and the great ability he had displayed in the delivery of the various lectures. Bro. Creedon briefly thanked the brethren for their unexpected and valuable present. The new W.M. commenced his duty at once, and carried out the work most ably, receiving valuable assistance from Bro. Woodhouse the J.W. An unanimous vote of thanks was passed to the Honorary Secretary for the attention given by him to the duties of his office. Amongst those present, in addition to those whose names have already been mentioned, were Bros. A. L. Emanuel P.M. 1069 P.G.J.D., H. W. Townsend P.M. 1428, G. R. Strick W.M. 1428, Laverty J.W. 1428, G. P. Arnold, Cecconi, Marshallsay, W. Hawkins, J. Underdown, R. Pocock, J. Loveridge, J. Jacobs, &c.

Dowsett J.W., Stransom Treasurer, Ivey P.M. Sec., Honey S.D., Hawkes J.D., Browne D.C., Hickie Organist, Prickett I.G., Ravenscroft Steward, Hemmings Tyler; P.M.'s Hurley and Margrett; Bros. The Lodge was opened and minutes of the last regular Lodge were read and confirmed. Mr. Frederick Coates was balloted for as an initiate, and elected. The Lodge was opened in the second degree. The W.M. stated that there were three candidates to be raised to the third degree, one of whom (Bro. Knight) was unavoidably absent, the other two, Bros. Goff and James, gave proof of their efficiency, were entrusted, and they retired. The Lodge was opened in the third degree, Bro. Goff was raised to the sublime degree of M.M. by his personal friend P.M. Margrett; Bro. James was raised to the sublime degree of M.M. by the W.M.; the ceremonies were correctly and impressively performed, the usual musical and vocal accompaniment adding considerably to the effect. Lodge was resumed, and the W.M. read notice of motion, "That the sum of ten guineas, from the funds of the Lodge, be added to the list of the W.M.," who will represent the Lodge as Steward at the next Festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. P.M. Flanagan seconded the proposition, and it was carried unanimously. The Secretary read a communication he had received from the Prov. Grand Secretary, stating that at the last Prov. Grand Lodge, a grant of five guineas was awarded to the Grey Friars Lodge from the Charity Fund, and asking to which of the Masonic Charities the grant should be appropriated. The R.M.I.B. was selected, the amount to be added to the list of the W.M. Two candidates were proposed for initiation, and after the usual ceremonies, the Lodge was closed.

Friars Lodge of Instruction, No. 1349.—At Bro. Pavitt's, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, on Tuesday, 15th inst. Bros. Pavitt W.M., Prosser S.W., Smith J.W., Myers S.D., Ives J.D. and I.G., Worsley Secretary, P.M. Musto Preceptor; also Bros. Logg, Watkins, &c. Lodge was opened in due form, and minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Lodge was in due course advanced; Bro. Myers, acting as candidate, answered the necessary questions, and was raised to the sublime degree, the W.M. ably rehearsing the ceremony. The three sections of the lecture were worked by the W.M. Bros. Musto and Myers had to leave, to assist in working sections at the Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, No. 554, which for this evening was presided over by that excellent worker P.M. Andrews. Lodge was then closed to the first degree, when Bro. Prosser was elected W.M. for Tuesday next, on which occasion sections only will be worked.

FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE

23 GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

Soc : Rosicr : in Angliâ.

—:o:—

A ROSICRUCIAN ESSAY OF THE XVIIth CENTURY.

A Paper read before the York College at a Regular Meeting held at York, on the 20th November 1880, by R.W. Frater T. B. Whytehead, IX°, Chief Adept.

FRATRES,—To-day I am about to submit for your consideration a curious, though I believe representative, specimen of Rosicrucian Literature. It is commonly said that the writings of the old Rosicrucians were unintelligible to ordinary readers, and some persons have been uncharitable enough to suggest that their solution would have been an Enigma even to the authors themselves. You will I think agree with me that the essay, a translation of which I am about to read to you, is sufficiently occult in its meaning to render it worthy of a very distinguished place amongst the incomprehensible literature, which remains to us of the school of Andrea. Perhaps it would not have been worth while troubling you with the subject at all, were it not that allusions occur in reference to emblems in Masonry well known to many of us, and which seem to me to hint at an early connection between Rosicrucianism and what are known now as "High Grades."

The pamphlet in question is a large duodecimo of 17 pages printed about 260 years ago, and is thus described on the title page, which like the body of the work is a strange combination of dog Latin and obsolete German:

that is Philosophical Revelations rendered perfectly plain and intelligible and dedicated humbly to the celebrated and distinguished Fraternity, Sacred Order R.C., by Rhodophilus Staurophorus, an unworthy vassal (clientem) of that most wise and Divinely inspired Fraternity of the most Sacred Order R.C., who is inwardly sick of love and all in a blaze with longing.—Anno 1619.

The writer begins with a preface to the Reader indited in Latin hexameters and pentameters, which runs thus:

Behold they come, the excellent and closely knit Society of the wise ones of the Rosy Cross; they come from Christ.

The terrified foe of mankind jealously multiplies his gigantic deceptions day and night in order to confound by his arts the united society; to snatch away the little flock by means of death.

But though the world and Hell rage, Christ defends the band. None can injure the Fratres.

Behold they come; the society of the Rosy Cross, foretold for many ages, unconquerable even by tried philosophers. The disputatious band of our Lyceus arises, and pours out many scommata (sic) against the sacred ones, friends of the Gods. An evil tongue profits the sophist; a shameless tongue betrays the ignorant.

But though the world and Hell rage, Christ defends the band. None can injure the Fratres.

Behold they come; the Society of the Rosy Cross, long expected by the world. A pious society, a society of Christ, foretold of the ancient prophets, beloved of the wise, and approved of God. It is therefore meet for the Society to appear with watchful breast. Let each brother lay bare the clouds of his error, for error surrounds us all. But to desire not to be aware of error—this is the greatest folly of all.

Behold they come, the Society of the Rosy Cross, dispersed through the whole world. The wise man rejoices in heart and mind. But the opposing spirit of evil rages, and the envious sophist bursts with jealousy.

But though the world and Hell rage, Christ defends the band. None can injure the Fratres.

(And then he signs, with what I conclude is his motto in the Society.)

R.C.

Coming to the body of the essay we find it printed in the most singular manner; old black letter German text most of it, but here and there German words spelt with Roman letters, and Latin words in German text and so on. There are even composite words, formed of equal parts of Latin and German. Some of the German words are obsolete and not in any modern dictionary, but I will read you what you may safely regard as a free translation. He says:—

Once on a day when I the undersigned could neither sleep nor rest, I cogitated the means by which, through the help of God, one might get access to the ever celebrated and distinguished Fraternity R.C.

Whilst thus meditating I was entranced, and seemed to travel a.m.p. (sic) to the high thought of the Fraternity, R.C. Before me I saw a number of roads but knew not which would take me thither. In the midst was a very rough and stony path, so grass-grown as to be difficult to see. Few could find it, or liked it, for the difficulties it presented. In the distance there walked on this road a God-like youth in white robes. In distress, I stood, uncertain of my way. There was no one to enquire of, though the other roads were crowded, but I thought the youth in white beckoned me. I hesitated, because of the wild beasts which infested the path and the other difficulties, but as I was well clad and shod, and carried a costly gamahen (sic), which had efficacious virtues against wild beasts, I finally set off on the road, but could not overtake the youth.

I had struggled along for a considerable distance when a strong lion which had broken loose and had a piece of chain round his neck, ran at me with open mouth. In expectation of death I prayed the Gods to aid me when the little cupid flew to me and with his bow shot the lion in the heart, who ran away roaring and plunged into a neighbouring well, which was dedicated to Apollo and Diana. Thanking the Gods I ran to the well to look after the lion but found him drowned.

Exhausted and thirsty, I pulled up the bucket, but found it full of milk. I poured it out, thinking the shepherds had left it there, for it was noon; pulling it up again, I found it blood, and poured it out also, astonished at the prodigy.

(Here occurs an incomprehensible passage about the relative proportions of the contents of the buckets, and which would almost lead us to suppose that the sentence contained some occult chemical analysis.)

Soon after leaving the well I recollected leaving something, and turned back, when a raven flew off the roof of the well, changing as it flew into a peacock, a swan, &c. I thought it was a spectre (Gespenst), but climbed the roof of the well, curious to see what there was, and there I found dead in a nest some young and tender birds with their heads pecked in by the wicked raven. Angry, I leaped down to follow the raven, when the old one, a bird of an unknown form, came flying, and as soon as it had seen the wretched death of its young ones it began to scream and to strike its breast with its beak until the blood ran into the nest in streams and soaked the young ones, by means of which and the sun's heat they were revived. Astonished at the miracle, I proceeded.

Now approached me, beautifully dressed and adorned, a graceful female, sitting on a high chair of seven steps in a small chariot covered with grey cloth, lined with white. Her dress was crimson and byssus (sic). On her head was a golden crown. In front was inlaid a brilliant and Royal carbuncle. Her horses were two grim bears. Before her went an animal with antlers. The driver was Vulcan. On each side of the chariot walked two maidens; one was dressed in black and looked melancholy, and carried in her hand a skull, emblem of mortality. Another was dressed in white. In her hand she carried a goblet of water to sprinkle herself. The third was in yellow, and carried under her left arm a pair of bellows; and the fourth, in red, carried a flaming torch. The female in the carriage carried a gold crucifix. We exchanged salutes, and she asked me where I was going and what spirit had led me thither to so lonely a place. I said I searched for the Gentlemen Brothers of the R.C. and the youth who had met her had brought me. She replied, "You have ventured a great thing, but you will not gain your object unless you learn why I have met you." I asked her to enlighten me, and offered my willing services in return. She replied, "You can be my servant, but you must follow me." I promised. She then continued—"Pay attention, and remember that my fierce animals give you the beginning, I the middle, my first animal the end," and saying this she pulled from her bosom a book of strange appearance, but containing, confusedly written, everything in Heaven and Earth. This book she gave me, blessed me, and passed on. Thanking her, I opened the book, and found it was called AZOTH, and correctly, for everything was to be found in it. At the foot of the page stood these two letters —F.R. I turned it over and found: Folio 1—Description of the ancient and highly esteemed art of magic, with its specialities, and by what means they are acquired.

Fol. 18—Necromancy.
Fol. 3—Astrology.
Fol. 1—Book of the Sealed Arts.
Fol. 13—Geomancy.
Fol. 9—Pyromancy.
Fol. 5—Hydromancy.
Fol. 13—Chaomancy.
Fol. 18—Attained Medicine.
Fol. 9—Book of Attained Philosophy.
Fol. 18—Attained Mathematics, with all belonging to them.

In short, there were all the known and unknown arts and sciences in the world. I was amazed, for the book was similar in character to a speculum archetypum, though very different, and I had often before seen it, but through mental blindness never recognised it. I had not time to read its contents, for the youth in white waited my coming, so I put my treasure for safety in my bundle. Reaching him, we exchanged salutes, and he asked me if I knew the woman who met me. I said, "No, but she was of noble birth." "Yes," he replied, "it was Nature, who at present is unknown to the learned and wise, and no one can meet her unless he follow me on this road." He then ordered me to write this story, get it printed, and send it to the Fraternity R.C., which I have accordingly done.

Accordingly, I send this to you highly-learned, God-wise, grace-illumined, as well as gracious and longed-for Brothers of the highly esteemed and celebrated Fraternity of the Holy Order R.C., with the due reverence and obeisance, humbly beseeching and imploring those, &c., &c., of the, &c., &c., R.C. to become my patrons, and take me unworthy as their disciple, promising with the help of God in all things diligently to follow their instructions.

I therefore commend you all, as well as myself, to the protection of God Almighty. O Lord help. O Lord prosper the good!

Given in the 6th month, 1618.

RHODOPHILUS STAUROPHORUS.

It seemed to me, Fratres, whilst reading the above, that the allusions to Nature, to the elements, and to certain symbols pointed to some connection between this Society and others which have always been popularly understood to have been closely allied with Masonry in the last century. At any rate the author's allegory is at your service, and it will give me great pleasure to hear your ideas on its strange contents. This pamphlet I find numbered 2553 in the division of Rosicrucian works in the catalogue of the celebrated Dr. Kloss, published at Frankfort, a most valuable work, placing its author in the first rank of Masonic students. Kloss was one of those who held, like Findel, that Freemasonry came from the German Steinmetzen.

METROPOLITAN LODGE OF INSTRUCTION, No. 1507.

THE annual banquet of this successful Lodge of Instruction was held on Monday, 14th inst., at The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C., Bro. Side, the W.M. of the mother Lodge, presiding. The meeting, which it was anticipated would be as usual a large one, was taken advantage of by the brethren as a fitting opportunity of presenting to Bro. W. M. Stiles a testimonial which has been subscribed for by several of the brethren to whom he is personally acquainted, and this, added to the special nature of the anniversary, brought together a large company of brethren. Bros. Henry Stiles and E. E. B. Kidder occupied the two vice-chairs, and the W.M. was immediately supported by Bros. W. M. Stiles, the Preceptor, and J. Willing jun., the Treasurer, of the Lodge. A most enjoyable banquet was provided by the proprietors of the establishment—Messrs. Kingston and Fromm—and all seemed thoroughly to enjoy themselves. Bro. Scales, P.M. of the mother Lodge, gave the health of the President. He felt a great pleasure in doing so; Bro. Side was well known to those around him, and no words that he (Bro. Scales) could offer, could possibly enhance him in the opinion of his many friends. Bro. Side expressed the pleasure he felt in being present and witnessing so agreeable a meeting. When they considered the short time that the Lodge of Instruction had been in existence, it was in every respect a splendid gathering. The presence of so many distinguished brethren was ample proof that the Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction held a high position, and that it was looked upon as being a Lodge where Masonry was taught in the right way. They had been blessed in the past with a Preceptor who was known throughout the Craft, and who was looked upon as being one of the best teachers of the ritual ever known. He was universally respected and beloved, and his death was regretted by brethren in all parts. The brother who had now taken his place was himself a pupil of that worthy Mason, and he (Bro. Side) felt little doubt but that the good name of Bro. Adams would descend on Bro. Stiles, who, he felt sure, would do honour to so illustrious a reputation, and thereby be the means of maintaining the high position now occupied by the Lodge. Bro. Willing next rose to propose the toast of the evening—Success to the Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction—coupled with the name of Bro. W. M. Stiles, the Preceptor. Six years since, when he and a few other brethren established the Lodge of Instruction, they little anticipated that it would ever attain its present position, either as regarded numerical strength, or reputation for teaching. Looking back, he called to mind many of its members who had filled the highest offices in the Craft in various Lodges, and that, too, in a way that reflected the greatest credit, not only on the brethren themselves, but on those who had acted as their tutors, and this could hardly have been the case had not their Preceptor been one of the best Masons of the day. Now, as regarded his successor, Bro. Stiles, there could be but one feeling, and that, the greatest regard for him. All must wish him many years of good health, and wish that in the office of Preceptor, which he had just undertaken, he might as much endear himself to the brethren as he had in the past while acting as Secretary. He was deputed to present to Bro. Stiles a testimonial which the brethren offered as a tangible proof of their appreciation of his services; and in handing it to him he felt there was no one in the Lodge more worthy of it than was Bro. Stiles. He could say, without fear of contradiction, that during the whole time he had been connected with the Lodge, no brother had ever heard an angry or unkind word from him. The testimonial, which consisted of a very handsome tankard, and cigar-case, were then handed to Bro. Stiles, and the brethren drank his health in the heartiest way. Bro. Stiles, while sincerely thanking the brethren, felt he hardly deserved the great kindness they had shown him. What he had done had been to him a labour of love, and he was only too happy to hear that the brethren approved of the manner in which he had fulfilled the duties of the office he had occupied. When he was first appointed Secretary to the Lodge he was but a very young Mason, and he then took it as a great compliment that he was deemed a fit and proper person to fulfil so important a trust. In the earlier part of his experience he had very great assistance from Bro. Willing, and it was under his guidance that he was able to carry out the duties as he had done. During the five years he had acted as Secretary of the Lodge, he had been only too happy to do the work of that office and anything else that could assist the brethren, and he could but say he should endeavour to act in the future in the same way. His services were at the disposal of the Lodge, which he hoped would continue in the same prosperous career it had followed in the past. The health of the Visitors having been given, was acknowledged by several of those present. Bro. Thompson was very pleased to hear that his old friend, Bro. Adams, was held in such high estimation by those who had looked up to him as their tutor, and was glad to see so worthy a successor as Bro. Stiles elected to follow him. He was, as it were, a twin brother to Bro. Adams in Freemasonry, they both having joined the St. John's Lodge on the same night, and he having followed Bro. Adams through the several offices up to the chair. Both were exalted the same night, and they passed the three chairs of the Chapter in succession. Bro. Ferguson followed; of the many men he knew in Freemasonry there was one who shone out prominently, who was at all times ready and willing to do anything in his power to help in the cause of Freemasonry; and, strange as it might appear, that Brother was the same they had that night assembled to honour. He greatly esteemed Bro. Stiles, and looked upon him as one of his dearest friends in Freemasonry. He was only too pleased to see that his good qualities had been thus publicly acknowledged. Bro. Nash also tendered his thanks to the brethren, as did several other of the Visitors, including Bros. Kidder, Eldridge, Paul Storr, &c. The President then proposed the toast of the Officers, which was acknowledged by Bros. Stiles, Willing, and Storr. Other toasts were given, and the proceedings were kept up with spirit until a late hour. We have great pleasure in giving publicity to the following list of work performed in this Lodge of Instruction during the past year, which particulars were furnished by Bro. E. Storr, the present Secretary:—Besides sections which were worked when time permitted, the whole fifteen were delivered on 6th December. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed thirty-seven times, passing twenty-five times, and raising thirty-six times. The ceremony of installation was rehearsed four times, while during the year thirty-seven new members were elected.

Presented, with a Silver Cigar Case,
To Bro. W. M. STILES P.M.
By Members of the Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, No. 1507,
On his accepting the office of Preceptor,
As a token of their high esteem and regard, and in recognition of his valuable services while Honorary Secretary, 1875-1880.
Feb. 14th 1881.

Kilburn Lodge of Instruction, No. 1608.—The first Annual Banquet of this Lodge was held on the 15th inst., at Bro. W. F. Walton's, South Molton Hotel, South Molton-street, W. The brethren, under the genial presidency of Bro. James Cuff, W.M. of the mother Lodge, ably assisted by Bro. T. B. Linscott J.W. 55, as Vice-president, sat down to a capital banquet, served under Bro. Walton's personal supervision, and which gave great satisfaction, the only matter of regret being the smallness of the attendance compared with the number expected, owing, no doubt, to the inclemency of the weather. Among those present were Bros. J. Bingeman P.M. 55 Preceptor, W. W. Gray Past Master 704, C. Thompson J. Deacon 55, Blank I. Guard 704, Daines Past Master 1366, Bloom, Cherer 145, S. Brooks P.M. 1608, T. Hartley 1608, Turner S.D. 1608, Bird 645, A. Latrielle S.W. 1260, Finch W.M. 795, Holden P.M. 435, Collier Past Master 1366, Robinson, &c., &c. After the banquet the toasts of the Queen and the Craft and H.R.H. the Prince of Wales were given and heartily received. These were followed by the toasts of the W.M. Bro. J. Cuff, proposed by P.M. Brooks, and the Visitors, coupled with the names of Bros. Gray and Holden. The Vice-President next gave the Preceptor Bro. Bingeman, dwelling, in pithy terms, upon the valuable services the Lodge received from that worthy Mason. This was enthusiastically received, and, after a response from Bro. Bingeman, the Officers were highly complimented, Bro. Linscott, Treasurer, receiving special mention for his assiduous support, both by regular attendance on Monday evenings, and for the generous financial support accorded to the Lodge. Bro. Linscott, in returning thanks, alluded to the non-attendance of other brethren who were expected, and mentioned the absence of Bro. Soper, which was, unfortunately, owing to severe illness. The Officers of the Mother Lodge were next honoured, and responded to by the I.P.M. Bro. Brooks at some length. The Host—Bro. Walton—was toasted most heartily, and complimented upon the excellent fare which had been submitted to the brethren. Bro. Walton expressed his appreciation of the praise bestowed upon his efforts to please; he would always feel it a great pleasure to work for the good of the Kilburn Lodge of Instruction.

From the progress made during the first year's working, in which 43 members have joined, and a splendid set of furniture and other requirements have been purchased, the Lodge would appear likely to become as prosperous as it is already acknowledged to be a favourite Lodge of Instruction. We may mention that it meets every Monday evening at 7 o'clock, and brethren are offered a cordial welcome.

The Consecration of the St. Austell Lodge of Mark Masters, No. 275, at the Masonic Rooms, St. Austell, on Tuesday, 22nd Feb., will be performed by the W. Bro. Thomas Chirgwin D.P.G.M., assisted by Bros. W. J. Hughan, J. Johns, N. J. West, &c.

The Great City Lodge, No. 1426.—The usual meeting of this Lodge was held on Saturday evening, 12th inst., at the Cannon-street Hotel, Cannon-street. Bros. T. Hamer W.M., Taylor S.W., Freeman (pro tem) J.W., N. Headon P.M. Treasurer, Blackie P.M. Secretary, Keeble S.D., Baber J.D., Fendick I.G., Bowen Steward, Steedman P.M. Tyler; and the following visitors:—Bros. Swanson 567 S.C., Mcelwin 1613, Thompson 1580, Timms 1539, Williams 858. Lodge having been opened, and the minutes read and confirmed, was afterwards opened in the second degree, and Bro. James Lodge was passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. In the course of the proceedings, Bro. H. Thompson P.M. took occasion to bring before the Lodge the subject of the Prestonian Lecture, not for the purpose of moving a resolution upon it, but for ventilating the question, so that possibly some one might take up the matter. In the year 1819 Bro. William Preston, a member of the Lodge of Antiquity, and whose works on Masonry are well known, amongst other charitable grants bequeathed £300 Consols for the purpose of making a perpetual provision for the annual delivery by some able member of the Craft of his beautiful lectures on the different degrees of Freemasonry, and which usually attracted a numerous assembly of members. These lectures were given for several years, but for a very long period they have been discontinued, for what cause he was unable to say. The last time one was so given it was delivered by Bro. Henry George Warren, and he (Bro. H. Thompson) expressed a desire to know what was the reason the recital of these interesting lectures was discontinued, and as the £300 Consols were vested in the Lodge of Antiquity, as to how the accruing interest was applied. He hoped that some explanation might be given upon this subject. After the transaction of some other business, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned for refreshment. On the removal of the cloth, the W.M. gave the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts, which were all duly honoured. Bro. Blackie I.P.M., in proposing the health of the W.M., remarked upon the excellent manner in which he had gone through the ceremony of passing that evening, and well emulated what had been done by those who had gone before him, believing as he did that it was highly satisfactory. He doubted whether in the future the W.M. would have any great amount of work to do, but let them hope that small as it might be, it would be equally as well done as it had been up to the present time. The W.M., in reply, said he rose to return his most grateful thanks to the Immediate Past Master for the very flattering manner in which he had proposed the toast of his health, and the brethren for the kind reception they had given it, as they always had done, but he hardly felt he deserved all the encomiums that had been passed upon him, although he was most anxious to merit the confidence which they had reposed in him. He wished to do better, and he thanked them cordially for the indulgence they had shown him. It was his ambition to get to the position of W.M., and especially so of The Great City Lodge, but he could assure them that it was not at all times a bed of roses in an endeavour to do rightly and please everybody. It was his desire to do all in his power for the benefit of the Lodge, and so long as he adhered to that principle, he was sure that he should receive their support. The W.M. next gave the Past Masters, for which Bros. Headon, Blackie, Stevens, Freeman, and Stanway severally returned thanks. The next toast was that of the Visitors, for which they individually returned thanks. The W.M. then gave the Treasurer and Secretary, and said the Lodge was very grateful for their services, for two more zealous Officers it was impossible to find; they were always active in doing anything that they took in hand, indeed their Bro. Treasurer was thinking of doing something that would be very agreeable to the members. It was proposed on the 26th March that they should have a soirée, to which they could bring their wives, daughters, and sisters, and he believed that the result would be crowned with success. Bro. Headon again had to return his hearty thanks for the manner in which the toast had been proposed and received; as the W.M. had made an allusion to a matter that was in contemplation, he might say that on the 26th March, which was the earliest day that they could have the rooms, there would be a soirée; and on that occasion the W.M. intended bringing a galaxy of talent for a concert, for which a number of volunteers had placed their services at his command. The concert would occupy about an hour and a half, after which Mr. Benn had volunteered to give half an hour's entertainment, which could not fail to be acceptable to all. At eight o'clock there would be a supper, which would probably occupy about an hour, after which those who chose could have a dance for about three hours, and those who did not wish to dance could have a hand at cards; therefore he anticipated they would have a very pleasant evening. He might, however, inform them that the room could not comfortably accommodate more than 250, and the house must be closed at twelve o'clock. Having given them that information, he thanked the brethren on his own behalf, and that of Bro. Blackie, the Secretary, for the hearty manner in which they had received the toast of their health, as they had done on all former occasions. A few other toasts were given, and that of the Tyler brought the proceedings to a close.

Yarborough Lodge of Instruction, No. 554.—The Fifteen Sections were worked at the Green Dragon, Stepney, on the 15th inst. The chair was occupied by Bro. J. Andrews P.M. 1227, who was assisted by the following brethren:—Bros. T. J. Barnes P.M. as S.W., E. W. Walter W.M. 554 as J.W., J. J. Berry P.M. Preceptor, J. Taylor Deacon, Harvey I.G., J. R. Shingfield Secretary. After preliminaries, the first lecture was worked, the following brethren taking part:—1st section, Bros. J. Taylor; 2nd, B. Stewart; 3rd, T. Loane; 4th, T. F. Harvey; 5th, T. Wooding; 6th, H. Forss; 7th, G. H. Stephens. Lodge was advanced, and the second lecture was rendered by the following brethren:—first section, I. P. Cohen P.M.; 2nd, J. J. Berry P.M.; 3rd, E. W. Walter; 4th, T. J. Barnes P.M.; 5th, G. H. Stephens. Lodge was advanced, and the third lecture was also ably rendered by the following brethren:—1st section, Bros. W. Musto P.M.; 2nd, C. H. Webb P.M.; 3rd, J. Taylor. The entire working, both of the W.M. and the brethren, gave great satisfaction to the numerous brethren present, amongst whom we noticed Bros. J. R. Shingfield, Mills, Judd, Poynter, Swanson, Day, Richardson, Austen, Davies, Battes, Taylor, Sackett, Brookes, Horner, W. H. Myers P.M., Seymour-Clarke, A. Walter, &c., &c. The following were unanimously admitted members of this Lodge:—Bros. Mills 1421, Richardson 174, Austen 1457, Day 1716, Davies 1021, Seymour-Clarke 1445, and Taylor, No. 5, Scotch Constitution. The pleasing duty of proposing a vote of thanks to the W.M. Bro. Andrews, for the excellent manner in which he had discharged the onerous duties of the chair, was performed by Bro. P.M. Berry, Preceptor of the Lodge of Instruction, and was carried by acclamation; it included the conferring the honorary membership of the Lodge. This double compliment was briefly acknowledged by Bro. Andrews, who next expressed his indebtedness to the brethren who had given him such valuable assistance in working the sections. A vote of condolence with Bro. W. Cross, the Secretary of the Lodge of Instruction, who was absent owing to illness, and a special vote of thanks to Bro. Barnes, the veteran Preceptor, for again officiating as S.W., were also passed. Bro. J. R. Shingfield also came in for a word of praise for the efficient way he temporarily discharged the duties of Secretary. Lodge was closed, and the brethren separated, having passed a most instructive evening.

West Middlesex Lodge of Instruction, No. 1612.—Meeting at the Feathers' Hotel, Ealing, on Thursday, 10th instant. Bros. H. Kasner W.M., J. Green S.W., S. Dyer J.W., W. Seward S.D., A. Jones J.D., G. Coop I.G., H. E. Tucker Treasurer and Preceptor, C. Andrews P.M., Simpkin, Botley, Mitchell, Stephens, Smith, Parker. After preliminaries, the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Botley candidate. Lodge was opened in the third degree, and regularly closed. After the close of the Lodge, the first meeting was held of the Committee of the Benevolent Association recently established in connection with this Lodge, and two ballots were taken for Life Governorships in one of the Royal Masonic Institutions. The fund is in a very satisfactory condition, and it is expected that one or two more ballots will be taken before the ensuing elections.

West Smithfield Lodge of Instruction, No. 1623.—A regular meeting was held on Monday, the 14th inst., when there was a good attendance. Bros. King W.M., Lawrence S.W., Mallett J.W., C. Taylor S.D., Davis J.D., Danner I.G. and others. Lodge was opened in due form at seven p.m., and the minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Willis offered himself as a candidate, was examined and entrusted; Lodge was then opened in the second, and the ceremony of passing ably rehearsed by the W.M. Bro. Davis worked the first and third sections, and the W.M. the second section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren.

MIDDLESEX YEOMANRY CAVALRY (Head Quarters, 1 Princes-street, Storey's Gate, S.W.)—The Annual Ball of this popular regiment was held on Thursday evening, at St. James's Hall, under the patronage of Lieut.-Col Harfield and the Officers. The members were supported by a distinguished company, numbering over 500. The Quadrille Band of the Regiment, conducted by Band Master Graves, performed some excellent music. NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

DOMATIC LODGE, No. 177.

THE first meeting of this Lodge since the installation of Bro. William Harris, the present W.M., was held on Friday, 11th inst., at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, and a most enjoyable and harmonious evening it proved. It is quite unnecessary for us to dilate at any length on the peculiar characteristics of this Lodge, which has now attained a reputation throughout the Craft for its thorough Masonic character, the ability of its Officers, and the good-will of its members. The present occasion was no exception to the general rule, and as we have already said, everything went off most harmoniously. The W.M. was supported by a goodly array of Past Masters of the Lodge, the following signing the attendance book, viz:—H. B. Spink I.P.M., G. Everett Treasurer, W. J. Ferguson, W. F. Smith, I. Buscall, E. White, J. Willing jun., and J. E. Walford. The Officers present were—Bros. J. McClean S.W., W. Herbage J.W., T. Morris Secretary, W. M. Foxcroft S.D., R. Pierpoint J.D. and J. Jennings I.G., while among the Visitors who signed the attendance book were Bros. H. E. Price 1744, W. Fieldwick P.M. 1364, H. Higgins P.M. 1381, D. Drysdale P.M. 211, A. Hardy 201, R. Turner 795, J. C. Roberts 795, R. J. Taylor W.M. 144, E. Bowles I.G. 1056, W. Banbery 217, J. Knight 228, J. Hyde 1314, W. Smith 228, W. Webb S.W. 1381, J. S. Manley 1381, W. W. Morgan jun., T. J. Hyland P.M. 201, H. S. Newton 1704, Ilderton 317, &c. After transaction of the usual formal business, the ballot was taken on behalf of Mr. John Manning, and proving in his favour, that gentleman was initiated. The other business of the evening comprised the raising of Bros. Brustad and Salmon and the consideration of a motion, of which notice had been given by Bro. P.M. Everett, Treasurer of the Lodge, to the effect that the sum of twenty-five guineas be voted to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, at the next Festival of which the W.M. has agreed to represent the Lodge. The grant was carried with acclamation, and we can but congratulate Bro. Harris on so handsome a sum being voted to head his list, which we sincerely trust may occupy a prominent position in the records of Wednesday next. Bro. G. L. Everett was entrusted with the collar of Steward, and a proposition having been handed in, the brethren adjourned to the banquet hall, where the remainder of the evening was spent. At the conclusion of the banquet the W.M. proposed the toasts of the Queen and the Craft, the Prince of Wales, and the Grand Officers. Bro. Spink I.P.M. next assumed the gavel, to propose the health of the W.M. This was a toast always received in the Domatic Lodge with gladness and enthusiasm. The way in which the present Master had that evening performed his duties showed that he would add to the reputation of the Lodge. He was also imbued with the spirit of charity, and had consented to represent the Lodge at the Benevolent Institution Festival. It was only to be hoped that the brethren would support their present Master as they had him (the speaker) when he filled a similar office last year on behalf of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, when he had the gratification of taking up a list of which the Lodge could but be proud. The W.M. tendered his hearty thanks to his I.P.M. and the brethren generally, for the way in which they had received the toast of his health. He felt that the remarks just made by the I.P.M. were really genuine, and came from the bottom of his heart. As the brethren were all aware, he had undertaken the office of Steward on behalf of the Old People, and he might assure them that no effort would be spared on his part to make his list on that occasion worthy of the Domatic Lodge. He referred to the many good qualities of the Institution, and pointed out the great amount which was annually required to maintain it in its present sphere of usefulness, concluding by asking the brethren to do their very utmost on behalf of its funds, and thereby add somewhat to the comfort of the old brethren and widows who were compelled to seek the benefits it offered. The health of the initiate followed, the W.M. hoping he would never have occasion to regret the step he had that night taken in seeking to be admitted a member of the Craft, but that he would for many years have opportunities of taking part in the meetings of the Order, and more particularly of his mother Lodge. The initiate having suitably replied, the W.M. gave the Visitors. There was no Lodge in the Craft where visitors were more welcome than in the Domatic, where every endeavour was made to entertain them in such a way as to send them away gratified, and with a desire to attend again. Bro. Taylor and several others replied. The first speaker paid a well-merited compliment to the Master and his Officers for the way in which the work had been performed. Every point in the ritual had been carefully marked, and he felt that no one could have performed the third degree better than did the I.P.M. (Bro. Spink). He felt confident that the Master would have a prosperous year, as it was impossible, considering all the circumstances in which he was placed, that anything serious could occur. The M.M. proposed the toast of the Past Masters of the Lodge. He thought that in no Lodge would it be possible to find such a body of P.M.'s as in the Domatic. He felt he was unable to say enough in their favour, as they were at all times ready to assist in every way that lay in their power. He hoped they, one and all, might long be spared to come among them, lend their aid, and give their advice. Bros. Spink, Walford, Ferguson, Willing, Buscall and White severally replied. Bro. Smith, the oldest P.M. who now frequents the Lodge, referred to the progress of the Lodge since the time he was initiated, now twenty years past. Since that time the Lodge had seemed to enjoy one continuous round of prosperity, and at no time were its prospects brighter than at the present. Bro. Willing regretted that his other engagements prevented his more regular attendance. He felt, however, there was really no need for the Past Masters to worry themselves as to the way in which the Lodge would be likely to be carried on: it was only when the Master was inefficient that it was needful for the Past Masters to attend regularly, and such not being the case with the present Master, he felt no anxiety when compelled to absent himself. He looked upon Bro. Harris as a pattern of regularity, and felt that in the hands of so painstaking a brother the Lodge could but prosper. The toast of the Treasurer and Secretary followed. The W.M. felt that the Lodge could hardly go on without Bro. Everett, the Treasurer. He seemed to do everything that could possibly be required to advance the interests of the Lodge, and to him they were indebted for very much of the success that attended them. Of Bro. Morris, the Secretary, he could also speak in the most flattering terms, he being a brother well fitted for the post he filled. The way in which he carried out the duties—which must be known to every member—was of a nature that could but be gratifying to all. Bro. Everett, in the course of his reply, said he had tried to deserve all the good things that had been said of him. No one could know, except by experience, the amount of work that the office of Treasurer entailed, especially in so large a body as the Domatic. He thanked the brethren very much for the way in which he was at all times received, and hoped the Lodge would ever continue in its present prosperous condition. He was extremely proud to be able to say—as he had on many previous occasions—that the Domatic Lodge was never in a more prosperous condition. Bro. Morris followed, assuring the brethren that so long as he was entrusted with the duties of Secretary, he should endeavour to fill the post to the satisfaction of all. The health of the Officers was next given, and those present having replied, the Tylor was summoned, and gave the customary closing toast, which brought the meeting to a termination.

Portsmouth Lodge, No. 487.—At the last regular meeting of this Lodge Bro. T. P. Palegrave S.W. was elected W.M. for the ensuing year, in succession to Bro. H. Threadingham.

Lodge was advanced to the second degree and resumed to the first, when the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Gunner acting as candidate. The brethren were called to refreshment. After a brief interval labour was resumed, and Bro. Lees answered the questions leading to the second degree in a very satisfactory manner, and was entrusted. FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

HUNDREDS of Medical Practitioners testify to its marvellous efficacy in immediately relieving and rapidly curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Spasms, Colic, Whooping Cough, and all Nerve Pains. It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. It rapidly relieves pain, from whatever cause, soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases, and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.

Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, Lord Justice Mellish decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davenport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. See Times of July 24th, 1873. Bottles 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, 11s, and 20s. Sold by all Chemists.

TESTIMONIALS.—Head Quarter Staff, Cabul, May 31st, 1880. Mr. R. Freeman, Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of special service to me in alleviating the wearisome symptoms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form. Many of my patients now ask for and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne. Yours faithfully, CHARLES W. OWEN, L.R.C.P. Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng., the Divisional Head Quarter Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul.

The Times, August 13th, 1877. From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army. Okomm, July 25th, 1877. The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an enviable reputation as a doctor, owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected miraculous cures.

THE ANNIVERSARY FESTIVAL OF THE R.M.B.I.

THE Festival for the current year of the Benevolent Institution is now among the events that are past, and after our remarks of last week in anticipation of the probable result, our readers will exhibit no sense of surprise when we tell them that with so large and influential a Province as West Yorkshire to lead the way, and so splendid a following on the part of the Metropolis and the other Provinces, the success of this particular Anniversary is unprecedented in the annals of Freemasonry, even the grand achievement of Bro. Binckes, in the summer of last year, having been surpassed. The number of Stewards fell very little short of 400, the Metropolis being represented by 124, West Yorkshire by 176, and twenty-eight other Provinces by 95. The total amount, as announced on Thursday morning as £14,160, was increased by supplementary contributions received in the course of that day to £14,262; and it is quite in accordance with the experience of past years that the actual sum realised will be even greater still. Thus the year 1881 has opened most auspiciously for our Institutions, and if the two Schools do no more than repeat their achievements of last year, we shall be in a position to give an account of Masonic Benevolence in excess of any it has been thus far our privilege to record.

Time does not permit of our giving the customary analytical sketch of the great event. We must, therefore, content ourselves with a few remarks pertinent to the occasion, and to the Institution in whose honour the Festival was held. After our article of last week, but little need be said in respect of the Charity itself. We pointed out then that the Benevolent is the youngest of our three Institutions, one of its Funds having been established by Grand Lodge in 1842, and the other in 1849. There was nothing in the nature of what was done at the outset that could possibly have induced the idea that, within the space of forty years, from such small beginnings there should have grown up so magnificent an Asylum as is our Benevolent, which places beyond the reach of want considerably over 300 old brethren, or widows of deceased brethren, bestowing upon the former a life annuity of £40, and upon the majority of the latter one of £32, the small additional number of female beneficiaries receiving each the half of her husband's grant. That it would be possible to do so much without making a special call upon the Craft must be obvious when we point out that the permanent income of the Institution from all sources is slightly in excess of £2600, while the permanent expenditure is about five times that amount. There was, too, on the present occasion, an additional incentive to the brethren to give increased help. In May next, twenty vacancies, on the two Funds together, will have to be filled, and there are, as nearly as possible, one hundred approved candidates, who will compete for those vacancies, and of whom, unless the authorities in the meantime make arrangements for an increase in the number of annuitants, some eighty decayed old men and women will necessarily be left out in the cold, to endure, as best they can, their present straitened circumstances for at least another year, if not, indeed, for an indefinite period of time. Thus, for the result we have announced above we are under a deep debt of gratitude to, in the first place, the Province of West Yorkshire and its popular chief, Sir Henry Edwards, who presided at the Festival, and, in the next, to the two hundred and more Stewards who represented the Metropolis and twenty-eight other Provinces. They together have done, as a Board of Stewards, what no other Board has ever done before. Brilliant as have the previous successes of Bro. Terry on behalf of this Institution, and of Bro. Binckes in aid of "Our Boys," as well as of Bro. Hedges at the two Festivals that have been held during his Secretaryship for "Our Girls," the Anniversary which is now past has proved to be more brilliant still. It may appear to be iteration, worthy even of the epithet which is usually associated with the word, on our part to mention again this fact within so short a space, but it is hardly possible to speak in terms too laudatory of such a result as that of Wednesday. Especially gratifying must it be to Sir Henry Edwards, Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master of Yorkshire, to find that his acceptance of the chairmanship was so splendidly backed up, firstly, by his native Province, and then by the rest of English Masonry. It is, as we have remarked in connection with almost every Festival that has taken place since the beginning of the year 1875, no slight responsibility which is undertaken by the Brother who consents to preside at such a gathering. This responsibility, of course, is greatly lessened when he has at his back so large a Province, and one so consistent in its support of our Institutions as West Yorkshire. It is still further lessened when the Provinces evinced so resolute a determination to render their share of help on so large a scale. But none the less is it an arduous task to preside over a large assembly for a special purpose; and Sir Henry Edwards is to be congratulated that on the occasion of his appearance for the first time as Chairman at the Benevolent Festival, he should have secured a larger total than has ever been secured before, and over 70 per cent. as much as was contributed on the occasion of his Chairmanship, in 1876, at the Girls' Festival, when the late Bro. Little announced a total of £8214. West Yorkshire must also be congratulated on the magnificence of its achievement. When, on the occasion just referred to, its Chief presided at the Girls' Festival, the Province was represented by six-and-thirty Stewards, including the Chairman, and the total of its contributions was close on £708. None will deny this was a most satisfactory result even for so large a Province, but on the present occasion it mustered no less than 176 Stewards, and the total of its contributions reached the grand sum of £3500. It is true that East Lancashire on two occasions has exceeded this figure, once in 1869, when it seconded the efforts of its then P.G.M., the late Bro. Stephen Blair, on behalf of the Boys' School, and contributed £3885; and again in 1879, when Bro. Nicholas Le Gendre Starkie was its Chairman at the Benevolent, and it supported him to the extent, as announced, of £3542. But the trifling difference is immaterial. Both Provinces have distinguished themselves, just as West Lancashire, Warwickshire, and other Provinces have done, whenever the duty of supporting their several rulers has devolved upon them. The other Provinces, too, must not have their deeds passed over without notice, the twenty-eight which were represented contributing among them very little short of as much as was given by West Yorkshire, while London, with its strong array of representatives, gave over £6300. Especially do we single out little Herts, which contributes, though at a long interval, the second largest amount among the Provinces, and Bro. Buss, the worthy Assistant Grand Secretary, who, as regards the total of his list, heads the roll of the Metropolitan Stewards.

Indeed, to each and every, who contributed in any way to the result of Wednesday's gathering, are due the thanks of the whole body of Freemasonry.

We have reserved all reference to Bro. Terry till the last. We all know how hard he works; how he throws himself heart and soul into the business of his office; how he interests himself in the welfare of the annuitants; how he lays himself open to provide them on occasions with some special entertainment; and how, moreover, he is ever ready to satisfy the inquiries of Craftsmen who may visit him at the offices of the Institution in Freemasons' Hall. We are also but too well aware, and our readers are also well informed on all these points, how, night after night in well nigh every week of the year, he, like his colleague of the Boys' School, Bro. Binckes, goes about visiting Lodges, not only in London, but in the Provinces likewise, his great object being to plead the cause of the Institution with which he is associated. There are those who say this self-imposed duty is quite unnecessary, and that brethren are not likely to be less liberal if they are left to themselves. This is not the view we take. We think the course which has been pursued by Bros. Terry and Binckes so successfully for many years past is right. We think it very likely that a considerable number of guineas would have to be subtracted from the contributions to our Institutions, if the personal exertions of the two most experienced of our Secretaries were not made, as they are constantly being made, in open Lodge and Chapter. We do not envy either of these energetic brethren the task they conscientiously feel it their duty to undertake and so honourably fulfil. It is no light matter to be, say, one day in Birmingham, then in Manchester, then in Sheffield, and, after a short interval, it may be, in Portsmouth, or Exeter. To carry this on for any length of time a man must have an iron constitution. It will probably be said that the Girls' School, under the present management, has been very successful without any peripatetic advocacy whatever. But the Girls' School reaps all the benefit of the labours of Bros. Binckes and Terry without incurring any of their trouble. Moreover, our late respected Brother Little was of the same opinion as his surviving colleagues. Perhaps, as this is somewhat of a controversial matter, we had better say nothing further, and leave the Executive of each of our three Charities to adopt the policy which suits them best. Let us bring these remarks, therefore, to a conclusion. The Festival just over will be a memorable one even among the great successes which have been achieved these latter years. The period is not the most favourable for heavy subscription lists. There are strikes and slackness of trade in one part of the United Kingdom, and there is civil disturbance in another. These do not justify our looking for unusual results, and yet, in spite of such depressing circumstances as admittedly exist in some parts of the country and must exercise a certain influence over the whole, the Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, under the presidency of Sir Henry Edwards, backed by a Board of Stewards of close on 400 brethren, has proved a grand success. Let us trust this may prove an augury of what will happen at the Anniversaries of our two Schools.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

THE Anniversary Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and Widows of Freemasons was held on Wednesday at the Freemasons Tavern, Great Queen-street, London, under the presidency of Lieut.-Col. Sir Henry Edwards, Bart., D.L., Provincial Grand Master for West Yorkshire. The noble Chairman was supported by the largest number of Stewards ever known in connection with any of the Festivals of the Charities of the Order, no less than 395 brethren being enrolled on the list. The result of their efforts was an addition of upwards of £14,000 to the funds, which amount is far in advance of anything ever subscribed at one of the Masonic Festivals. The large banqueting hall was filled to its utmost capability, and generally the Festival was a grand success. The chairman was well supported by members of Grand Lodge, as well as by a very considerable number of brethren from his own Province. Grace having been said by Bro. Rev. C. J. Martyn, Deputy G.M. Suffolk, the banquet was served. We cannot omit a word of praise to Bro. Best and his staff for the way in which the exceptionally large party was catered for; everything appeared to have been thoroughly well arranged, and the whole party was properly provided for. The musical arrangements were under the direction of Bro. Charles E. Tinney, Organist of Asaph Lodge, No. 1319. Grace having been sung, the toasts of the evening were proceeded with. The Chairman, in proposing the first toast—"Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen"—referred to her many intimate associations with the Craft; she was the Patroness of the Order, the daughter of a Mason, the niece of a Grand Master, and the mother of our much respected and esteemed Ruler, who was, without doubt, the most popular man in the kingdom. It would be, he thought, unbecoming to do more than express their admiration of her noble character and her many virtues. Long might she continue to reign over a loving and loyal people, of whom not the least loyal were the Freemasons of England. In giving "His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, K.G., Most Worshipful Grand Master, our Patron and President, the Princess of Wales, and the other Members of the Royal Family," Sir Henry said,—The Prince of Wales, our noble Chief, was installed in 1875, in the presence of at least ten thousand Masons—the largest gathering and most distinguished assemblage of Freemasons ever held in this or any other country. He hoped His Royal Highness might be long spared to fill this honourable position and shed his influence over the Craft. The Masons of England were not only indebted to the Prince of Wales, but likewise to his two brothers, who had each filled high positions in the Craft, and were at all times anxious to advance its interests. To the other members of the Royal Family they were equally indebted for very many acts of kindness and consideration. The next toast was, "The Right Hon. the Earl of Carnarvon Most Worshipful Pro Grand Master, the Right Hon. the Earl of Lathom Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master, and the Present and Past Grand Officers." Sir Henry Edwards said,—The Earl of Carnarvon was not only well known to all as occupying a high position in Masonry, but as a statesman and a highly gifted nobleman. All regretted his absence abroad, on account of delicate health, and earnestly hoped that he might be speedily restored to health and enabled again to preside over their deliberations in Grand Lodge. The Earl of Lathom Deputy Grand Master, without exception, was perhaps the most industrious Freemason in England, and Lord Beaconsfield has honoured him in giving him a step in nobility. The name of Skelmersdale was a household word amongst Masons. Let those who did not know him, if any exist, go to West Lancashire for his character, there he was at home. Bro. Col. Shadwell H. Clerke Grand Secretary replied on behalf of the Grand Officers. In proposing "Success to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and the Widows of Freemasons," Sir Henry Edwards said,—Ladies and Brethren,—This chair has been occupied by many worthy Masons, but never did one take it with a higher sense of the honour or a higher sense of the responsibility attached to the position than myself. I am satisfied that it is no part of my duty this evening to plead for this Benevolent Institution. I am rather in the position of one to return thanks for most indefatigable labours with noble results. I am, like yourselves, most anxious to hear from Bro. Terry the outcome of the Stewards' labours. I may not anticipate his secret, but I know sufficient to warrant me in saying that some modern Homer must have found brethren in generous mood when he sang—

> Since kind Heaven with wealth our realm hath blest,
> Give it to Heaven by aiding the distrest.

He did not plead in vain. I may now mention that this Institution was first suggested by His Royal Highness the Duke of Sussex, Most Worshipful Grand Master in 1842, when thirteen male annuitants received £290; now 150 male annuitants receive £6000, or £40 each. In 1849 the Widows' Fund was founded, under the late Earl of Zetland Most Worshipful Grand Master, when five widows received £75; now 155 widows receive £4960, in incomes of £32 each. Since the establishment of the Institution 531 brethren have received these annuities, and 304 widows have had their closing days cheered from this source. Roundly stated, the permanent income is £2610, and the expenditure £13,000, leaving a deficiency each year of £10,400. There are now 99 applicants, and only 20 vacancies. There is an Asylum at Croydon, affording a home for 33 annuitants, who have each two rooms, and are provided with medical attendance free, and coals during the winter. It needs no words from me to commend the toast entrusted to me, and I give you, "Success to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and the Widows of Freemasons." I call upon Bro. Terry to read the Stewards' lists. Bro. J. Terry, Secretary of the Institution, then announced, amid the heartiest enthusiasm, the result of the Stewards' efforts, the list we give below, with alterations and additions made up to the time of going to press. Colonel Le Gendre N. Starkie, D.L., R.W. Prov. Grand Master for East Lancashire, having proposed "The Health of the Chairman," Sir Henry, in responding, said: He could not adequately acknowledge the very kind and too flattering manner in which they had received the toast of his health. He assured his gallant, eloquent, and generous friend and neighbour, Colonel Starkie, he highly appreciated the kind expressions he had given utterance to. Would that he deserved all that he had said. When invited to take the chair at this Festival, he felt great diffidence, fearing perhaps the noble Institution might suffer in his hands; on the contrary, he had, indeed, reasons to be proud of the response to Bro. Terry's appeal. He would not attempt to say more than how deeply grateful he felt to the London brethren for their share in the munificent contribution. They would, he was sure, forgive him if he added one word of thanks to his dear brethren of West Yorkshire, who had not only subscribed largely, but had done him the honour of coming to London to be present and support him that evening. His best, his warmest thanks were due to the noble band of Stewards—no fewer than 395—the very largest number enrolled at any Festival. He must not forget his excellent and untiring friend the Secretary, Bro. James Terry, to whom he was especially and deeply indebted for his courteous assistance, and to whom all were indebted for the admirable manner in which he had discharged his onerous duties. With reference to the contribution of West Yorkshire, he might perhaps be permitted to state that the amount announced was not the largest ever sent up by a Province, but he might say that they gave every year something, and the aggregate for the past seven previous years amounted to £13,000 for the three Masonic Institutions. Bro.

F. R. W. Hedges, Secretary of the Girls' School, replied on behalf of "The other Masonic Institutions," and the health of the Ladies having been proposed and acknowledged, the brethren repaired to the Temple, where the usual Concert was given, and the remainder of the evening was spent in company with the Ladies.

The following is a corrected list of the Stewards and amounts collected by them up to the time of our going to press.

—:o:—

The History of Freemasonry in the District of Malta, from the year 1800 to the present time. By W. Bro. A. M. Broadley, of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister-at-Law; P.M. 1717; W.M. 1835; P.D.D.G.M. Malta; P.G.M.M.M. for Tunis and Malta; P.G.M. of the Cryptic and Allied Masonic Degrees for Tunis and Malta; D. Intendant-General of the Red Cross for Malta and Tunis; P.G.C. and G.P. and P.P. Prelate and Chancellor K.T. and K.M. for the Mediterranean; and P.M.W.S. 18°. Published for the benefit of the District Benevolent Fund. London: George Kenning, "Freemason" Office, 198 Fleet-street, E.C. 1880.

Royal Arch Masonry appears to be fairly well represented in the District by the Chapters attached to the Lodges Nos. 349, 407, and 1717, and known respectively as Melita No. 349, William Kingston No. 407, and Ancient Carthage No. 1717. The Charter for the Warrant of the first R.A. Chapter, to be attached to the SS. John and Paul, bears date 1st August 1819, and was signed by the Duke of Sussex Grand Z., Lord Dundas H., and Comp. John Aldridge J., as well as by Comps. W. H. White S.E., and Edward Harper S.N. The earliest minutes of the Chapter are dated 15th May 1820, and indicate that Comps. W. Rodwell Wright, D. Noble, and A. C. Harris were Z., H. and J. respectively. Comp. Wright appears to have been P.G. Superintendent likewise. At the first election of Officers Comps. A. C. Harris, E. Noble, and H. Harper were severally chosen Principals. The next meeting was on 15th April 1822, and on 4th April 1823, Comp. Allen became Z., Comp. Ferro H., and Comp. Cotes J. Three days later seven brethren, among whom was the Right Hon. J. Hookham Frere, were exalted. On 6th April Lord H. Churchill received the degree. In 1825 Comps. W. R. Wright, Whitmore, and David were elected Z., H. and J., while in 1828 Comp. Whitmore was Z., with Comp. Witton as H., and David as J. A few days after this election, the following resolution was adopted, to the effect "that whenever a member of the Lodge Des Amateurs de la Sagesse of Marseilles (with which the Lodge of St. John and St. Paul is affiliated) may present himself as a visitor when this Royal Arch Chapter is open, should he be found to have arrived at a degree of Masonry that can be considered equal to our Sublime Degree of Jerusalem, although not exactly conforming to it in all respects, that he shall be admitted upon undergoing the customary ceremonies and obligations as usual for candidates on exaltation, but exempt from fees, and that this Chapter communicate this decision to the Lodge Des Amateurs De la Sagesse at Marseilles, and requests to be informed by them what degree in their system of Masonry they consider to be equal to the Royal Arch of Jerusalem as worked in England, and requests a similar indulgence from our affiliated brethren."

About six years elapse ere we have further records, and it is not till 6th May 1836 that we again have mention of any Officers, Comp. Douglas being recorded as acting Z., Comp. Pennington H., and Comp. Farr J. Comp. Galland was chosen Z. this year. There is again a lapse till May 1839, when Comp. Galland presided as Z., with Comp. Douglas as H., and Comp. Leonard as J. At the next meeting, on 19th February 1845, Admiral Sir Lucius Curtis was present. Meetings continued to be held at rare intervals till 1852, when there were several; while in 1854 there was a degree of activity corresponding with that of Craft Masonry, this being the result of the influx of troops into the island at that critical period. At a convocation on 14th March of that year, the chairs were occupied by Comps. Douglas, Winthrop, and Macbeath, as Z., H., and J. respectively. On this occasion Lord Loughborough, now Earl Rosslyn, the Hon. Percy, now General, Fielding, C.B., and Sir R. L. Newman, Bart., who was slain at Inkerman, and whose unclaimed certificate is still preserved among the archives of the Chapter, were exalted. After an installation in March 1857, a candidate was exalted, "who was subsequently put through the veils," while on the 3rd April Bro. R. F. Gould, of the Royal Naval Lodge, then No. 627, "having first passed the chair of Worshipful Master," was exalted. The minutes till 1862, we are told, are missing, but among items of intelligence gleaned from other sources we gather that in 1860 Companion Kingston's name first appears among the Visitors. In March 1863 Companion Armstrong became Z., Edwards H., and Liddell J. Comp. Edwards was M.E.Z. in 1864, and Comp. Andrews was elected to the same office, in 1865, though throughout the latter year the Chapter was worked, with Comp. Kingston as First Principal. In December 1875 Comp. Kingston was presented with a set of regalia, while in March 1868 he was elected Z., Comp. Douglas being H., and Bosworth J., with Comp. Rosenbusch N. On the 9th October, a sash, apron and jewel were voted to Comp. Douglas, who had been the mainstay of the Chapter for five-and-twenty years. In 1870, objection was taken to Comp. Doherty becoming J., on the ground that he was not a P.M. under the English Constitution. The question was referred to Grand Scribe E., whose decision was to the effect that, "to render a Companion eligible to be elected a Principal under the English Constitution, he must be the actual Master or Past Master of a Craft Lodge under that Constitution." Meanwhile, however, Comp. Doherty had been elected W.M. of the Union Lodge, No. 407, and the difficulty was overcome. Since then the Lodge has been increasingly prosperous from year to year, and it only remains for us to mention that, on March 1878, five M.M.'s of the Ancient Carthage Lodge were exalted, thus enabling that Lodge to found the Ancient Carthage Chapter, while in October 1879, it recommended the revival of the Chapter attached to the Union Lodge. When it received the title of Melita does not appear.

The Warrant for a Chapter in connection with the Union Lodge was granted 5th November 1834, and continued working till 13th October 1873, when the Warrant was returned. No minute books have been published, but in the register of attendance 1862-6, there appear the names of Comps. Kingston, Armstrong, and McArthur, as the Principals, "and," adds Bro. Broadley, "we know Colonel McLeod Moore filled the third chair in 1849-50." Towards the end of 1879, it was revived as the William Kingston Chapter, and was consecrated by Comp. Kingston, an exaltee of the old Union Chapter, Comps. Rosenbusch, Lieut. C. E. Coffey, R.A., and Captain H. Gardner being installed Z., H., and J. respectively.

To the constitution of the third existing Chapter, namely, the Ancient Carthage, No. 1717, Tunis, objection was at first raised, on the ground that the Lodge had not been in existence the customary three years; but the objection was overcome in G. Chapter, and the charter granted, the first Principals being Comp. Broadley Z., Comp. Kingston H., and Comp. Reichelman J. After the consecration, &c., fourteen M.M.'s had the degree conferred upon them.

There was formerly a Chapter attached to the Zetland Lodge, a Charter having been granted on 4th August 1847, which was returned 13th October 1873. In 1857, however, the Principals' Chairs were filled by Comps. Jerome Z., Gingell H., and Captain N. G. Philips J. The veils seem to have been worked. It would appear to have been "prosperous during their rule, as it received, on the 7th May, £30 from the Mark Lodge it appears to have chartered." Only the most modest amount of record has been preserved.

The Leinster Chapter, I.C., was warranted 2nd July 1857, and during the twenty-three years of its existence it seems to have been highly popular, especially with the military. Among those exalted in it must be included Captain Shadwell H. Clerke, G. Scribe E., who received the degree in 1858, and Viscount Glentworth, now Earl of Limerick, on whom it was conferred in 1861.

Mark Masonry is enjoying, at present, a high degree of popularity under the beneficent sway as P.G.M. of Bro. Broadley. Beside the Leinster Mark Lodge, in which 470 brethren have been advanced, and which works under the Irish Constitution, there are five English Mark Lodges, namely, the Keystone No. 107, warranted in 1870, the Kingston No. 222, the Broadley No. 248, Tunis, warranted in 1878, the Lodge of St. Louis No. 254, warranted in January 1880, and the Union No. 263, Malta. The first W.M. of the Keystone was Captain Gorham, R.A., and, after his installation, Bro. Kingston was advanced. Bro. Conolly, W.M. in 1871, was succeeded by Bro. Kingston, who was installed by special dispensation, having never filled the chair of Warden in a Mark Lodge. In 1878, during the Mastership of Bro. Westrup, several members of the Ancient Carthage Lodge were advanced, and the Lodge then supported the petition for a Mark Lodge at Tunis, to be called the Kingston. The Warrant, the first granted outside British territory, is dated 11th April 1878, and the consecration and subsequent installation of Bro. Broadley as first W.M. took place on 25th June following, Bro. Kingston fulfilling the duties of Consecrating and Installing Officer. On 12th May 1880, the Lodge was visited by Bro. Guest, M.P., P.G.M.M.M. Dorsetshire, and Bro. Chas. Hambro was advanced. In the two years of its existence no less than seventy-two M.M.'s have received the degree, of whom twenty-five were English, fifteen French, and twenty-four Italian. The other Lodges are also in a flourishing condition, the total numerical strength of the five Mark Lodges being 162. Thus the P.G. Master has a numerous and very enthusiastic body to support him, and we have every reason to believe that with such chiefs, and such a following, Mark Masonry will go on prospering.

Chapter IX, which is occupied with the consideration of "Christian Masonry" is full of interest. Here again, the late Bro. W. Rodwell Wright, first P.G. Master of Malta, plays the leading part. He, as may have already been gathered from our earlier articles on Brother Broadley's book, was a most enthusiastic brother, and as able as he was enthusiastic. We have already seen that when, in 1807, the late Duke of Kent executed a charter for the revival of "The Knights of the Exalted, Religious, and Military Orders of the Temple and Holy Sepulchre of St. John of Jerusalem," &c., Bro. Wright was elected the first Grand Master, and retained that office till 1812, when he resigned in favour of H.R.H. the Duke of Sussex. On Bro. Wright's appointment to a high judicial post in Malta, as we have noted previously, he eagerly set himself to the task of placing Freemasonry there on a sure and solid basis. What he did for Craft Masonry has been recorded, and Bro. Broadley, who is the most competent of living Craftsmen to form an opinion as to the extent of Bro. Wright's Masonic labours, has little doubt "that it was he" (Bro. Wright) "alone who introduced the working of Christian Masonry amongst the zealous and indefatigable founders of the Lodge St. John and St. Paul, and the Melita Chapter attached thereto." He considers he is justified in concluding, from facts which he is at the pains of describing subsequently:—

"Firstly, that Bro. Wright, as ex-Grand Master of the Red Cross and the Temple, sanctioned the working of these degrees in Malta between the years 1815 and 1825.

"Secondly, that he made some considerable progress with his design of making Malta the head-quarters of a Grand Priory or Provincial High Council of the Order of the Red Cross.

"Thirdly, that he contemplated in theory (and probably carried out in practice) the working of the degrees of the Temple and the Hospital as an integral portion of the Red Cross System.

"Fourthly, that it was from his authority the old Melita Grand Encampment took its rise, which, twenty years after his death was restored to something more than its pristine vigour by the labours of the present Grand Prior of Canada, Colonel McLeod Moore."

Bro. Broadley finds his justification for having arrived at the foregoing conclusions in what he describes as "one of the most complete documents in the MSS. of Bro. Wright," entitled "Red Cross of Palestine.—Provincial Division of St. John." For so much of this document as is given by Bro. Broadley in this Chapter we must refer our readers to the work itself. We may, however, state that two draft Certificates are reproduced as attesting the working of the Red Cross degree in Malta under Bro. Wright's auspices. The first of these, dated "this — day of November A.L. 5826, A.S.H. 1822" is granted to Sir A. C. Harris by Bro. Wright, who is described as "at present Grand Prior, and heretofore Grand Master, of the Order of the Red Cross of Palestine and Division of St. George instituted in the Kingdom of England," and who certifies, "by virtue of the authority to him belonging in his present character as Grand Prior," that he has "communicated the secrets both of the Lesser and the Greater Cross of the said Order" to the aforesaid Sir A. C. Harris. The other is dated 19th April 1824, and certifies that our "Faithful and Beloved Brother Sir — Coates, whose name is written beneath our own with his own hand, after having been duly received into the noviciate of the said Order by our Brother Sir John Daird, Knight of the Grand Cross thereof, in this Island of Malta, was regularly installed also a Knight of the Grand Cross in an occasional chapter thereof holden under our authority at Valletta in the Island aforesaid, on the — day of — A.D. 1823, and fully instructed in the secrets to the said degree of Knights Grand Cross appertaining."

From 1827 to 1849 the history of Christian Masonry in Malta appears to have been "a complete blank," but on the 10th February in the "latter year" an encampment of High Knights Templars and Knights Hospitalers of St. John of Jerusalem, or Knights of Malta, was working with considerable activity and success at Freemasons' Hall (also styled Templars' Hall), No. 43, Strada Zaccaria, Valetta," the principal officers being Fra. Sir Knights William J. B. McLeod Moore G.C., Edmund Goodenough Kt. R.C. G.M., Charles Line G.P., Edmund Stephen Thomas Bart. C.G., Thomas Flack 1st Captain, James Smyth 2nd Captain, R. Thomsett Recorder, T. Flack Chancellor, Thomas Seddall Warder. In 1850, the Melita Encampment "placed itself under the banner of, and obtained a charter from, the Supreme Grand Conclave of England and Wales," which, on the election in 1846, of Colonel Kemys Tynte as Grand Master of the Templars in England, had at once shown "signs of revival," and had shortly become so powerful that the Melita Encampment took the step we have described. Sir Knight McLeod Moore was the first E. Commander under the new régime. Among those who have filled the chair of E. Commander and Prior of this Melita Grand Preceptory and Priory, we find in addition to that of Sir Knight Moore, the names of Sir Knights Captain N. G. Philips, St. J. Edwards formerly D.G.M. Malta, E. Rosenbusch D.D.G.M., W. Kingston D.G.M., Colonel Boldero, and A. M. Broadley P.D.D.G.M. There is also a Provincial Priory of the Mediterranean, Colonel Boldero having been installed as the first Provincial Prior in 1875. When he left the island in 1877, Sir Knight W. Kingston was appointed his successor. The Calpe Preceptory, Gibraltar, is on the roll of the Provincial Priory. The same distinguished Brother is Intendant General of the Red Cross Degree, and has issued a provisional warrant for the working of a Conclave to be known as the Wignacourt. Be it added that there is a Rose of Sharon Chapter of Rose Croix, the 18th Degree A. and A. Rite, and also a Prov. Grand Council of the Allied Degrees with Bro. Broadley as P.G.M.

There is an Appendix, which contains much interesting official and statistical information respecting the different branches of Freemasonry in the island.

We have purposely treated Bro. Broadley's history thus in full because we are always glad of an opportunity of placing before our readers anything in the shape of Lodge histories. We cannot, however, conclude our remarks without expressing an opinion that Bro. Broadley's work is most valuable, and, as we said at the outset, it has been most diligently put together. Nor can we omit to say a few words as to the style in which Bro. Kenning has done his part. The book is as well printed and as neatly and elegantly bound together as any of its kind we have seen. It is, in short, a most workmanlike production, whether we look at it from a literary or a printer's point of view.

Harrison, Gilbert Wilkinson, S. W. Fisher, R. Y. Powley, R. H. Peacock, T. H. Dunn, W. Peacock, J. Hargrave, H. A. Williamson, J. H. Hackett, W. Milner, J. W. Taylor, H. Chapman, Jos. Shaw, John Inskip, W. B. Richardson, A. Neimans, J. A. Rines, R. Mitchell, H. P. Neimans, George Woodall, John Bowes, A. Frazer, John Woodall, Ivor Murray, M.D., George Dippe, George Dixon, W. Tonks, James Townend, E. Cooper, and many others. There was one joining member balloted for and accepted, and two candidates were then prepared and initiated by the W.M. Bro. Valentine Fowler S.W. was presented by the W.M. to the Installing Officer, Bro. J. W. Woodall P.M. P.P.G.S.W., and was duly installed in the chair of K.S. He appointed as his Officers Bros. J. Winfindale I.P.M., R. Land S.W., W. Cranswick J.W., R. Dobson P.M. Treasurer, Walter Fisher P.M. Hon. Sec., T. M. Lee S.D., H. Darley J.D., E. H. Green Organist, W. S. Meek and W. Dunn Stewards, John Dale I.G., W. Jefferson Tyler. After the closing of the Lodge, the brethren sat down to a most excellent banquet, provided by that well-known excellent caterer, Bro. Varley, of the Crescent Hotel, the newly-elected W.M. Bro. Valentine Fowler being in the chair, and the I.P.M. acting as vice. After the health of our Most Gracious Queen and the Craft had been given with much fervour from the chair, and most loyally received by all present, the W.M. gave H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M., the Right Hon. the Earl of Carnarvon M.W. Pro G.M., and the Right Hon. the Earl of Lathom D.G.M. The next toast on the list was the Right Hon. the Earl of Zetland R.W. P.G.M. of North and East Yorkshire, and the other P.G. Officers. Bro. Murray, M.D., responded. The next toast from the chair was the Installing Officer, Bro. J. W. Woodall, who responded in very appropriate terms. Next in succession was the W.M. of the Royal Lodge, and the newly-appointed Officers, each of whom returned thanks in warm expressions for the honours conferred upon them. Then came the retiring W.M. and his Officers, the highly-respected and worthy I.P.M. responding in a genial and humorous speech, each of the retiring Officers following in the same strain. After the "Masonic Charities," the "Visiting Brethren" was drank, to which Brothers J. Harrison, Ivor Murray, and G. Wilkinson severally replied. Success to the Old Globe 200, the Denison 1248, and the Leopold 1760, having been proposed, the Worshipful Masters of those Lodges respectively returned thanks. Bro. Dobson's health was drunk on his appointment as Treasurer, and on his accession as the oldest P.M., to which he gave a well-worded and appropriate response. The indefatigable and intelligent Hon. Secretary, Bro. W. Fisher, was next toasted, amidst loud applause; a warm eulogium was pronounced on his unceasing efforts to promote the well-being and prosperity of the Lodge. He returned thanks in a short, but feeling and excellent address. The health of Bro. Darley, the oldest member of the Lodge, was proposed by Bro. J. W. Woodall, and drank with all the honours, Brother Woodall at the same time presenting Bro. Darley with a purse of money, which had been contributed by the brethren present. Brother Darley, who had travelled from his distant home to pay his annual visit to his mother Lodge, is above eighty-two years of age, and returned thanks for the honour conferred upon him by drinking his health, as also for the generous donation so kindly presented him. He assured the brethren that so long as his life might be spared by the G.A.O.T.U., he should always endeavour to be present at the Installations in his mother Lodge. Everything that could tend to promote the harmony and good feeling existing amongst the brethren, was contributed by each present, and the members who possessed the gift of a melodious voice, vied with each other in giving some most excellent songs with great effect, and which were received by their less gifted brethren with unbounded applause. Upwards of sixty brethren sat down to banquet, and this most successful and enjoyable meeting will long live in the memory of the brethren of the Royal Lodge. A rather singular coincidence occurred on the occasion of Bro. Fowler being installed as W.M. His Christian name is

Valentine, and his installation took place on Valentine's Day. An appropriate song, composed by Bro. Darley, was presented to him, as follows:—

Brother Masons, arise, and join in the chorus,
When you hear what it is you will gladly obey;
A heart-stirring duty is present before us,
To welcome our Master on Valentine's Day.

Und voce elected to rule us, we render
A willing consent to be under his sway;
As a proof of that feeling we all of us tender
Our "hearty good wishes" on Valentine's Day.

The jolly old Veteran he has succeeded
Has made his path easier every way;
To follow his footsteps is all that is needed
To merit our plaudits on Valentine's Day.

In "brotherly love" we each of us greet him;
For his health and his happiness all of us pray;
And when in the Lodge, 'tis our duty to meet him,
We'll hark back with pleasure to Valentine's Day.

At the end of the year, when his term shall expire,
May each of the members be able to say,
"There is not one amongst us could ever desire
A better than ruled us on Valentine's Day."

Then raise up your voices and join in the chorus,
And let our energy loudly display
How earnest the wish, that our brother before us,
May live to see many a Valentine's Day.

SOUTHAMPTON LODGE, No. 394.

ON Thursday, the 17th inst., Bro. T. P. Payne was installed W.M. of this Lodge, at the Masonic Hall, Albion-place, Southampton. Bro. Payne, who has rendered most valuable service to Masonry during his lengthened connection with the Order, has previously presided over two other Lodges in Southampton, viz., the Royal Gloucester and the Peace and Harmony; and at the unanimous request of the brethren he has now taken the chair of the Southampton Lodge. The ceremony of installation was performed by the Deputy Provincial Grand Master (V.W. Bro. Hickman), who himself, twenty years ago, was installed for the first time as Master of the same Lodge. There was a large assembly of brethren, and some fourteen Past Masters took part in the installation ceremony, which was very impressively conducted by the Deputy Provincial Grand Master. The new Master having assumed the chair, proceeded to invest his Officers as follow:—Bros. A. Paris S.W., H. Lashmore J.W., J. D. Barford S.D., E. Gayton J.D., W. Furber P.M. Treasurer, E. Howell P.M. Secretary, H. P. Aslatt P.M. D.C., Rev. S. Scott I.G. Bro. the Rev. J. H. Mason will take the office of Chaplain to the Lodge upon the attainment of full Masonic status. The melancholy death of Bro. F. H. McCalmont, while Master of the Lodge, accounts for the non-investiture of any I.P.M. The usual banquet followed.—Portsmouth Times.

City of London Lodge, No. 901.—The first meeting of the members of this Lodge, under the presidency of the newly elected W. Master, Bro. Charles Beaumont, took place on Monday evening, at the Guildhall Tavern, when the attendance included Bros. Alfred Ginger I.P.M., G. C. Cundy S.W., J. Hughes J.W., Henry Darcy P.M. Treasurer, George Darcy P.M. Secretary, D. Hughes S.D., T. McClelland J.D., E. T. P. Harris I.G., Ernest C. T. Hand Organist, J. T. Woodstock Tyler; also Bros. W. R. Haylock, R. P. Stevens, A. J. Pritchard, Robert Gillard, George M. Gross, F. Chinnell, G. Smith, Robert Torry, W. Venner, Henry Barnett, G. Ruhardt, R. K. Stubbs, J. Eade, Edward Venner, H. W. Taylor, F. J. Ford, G. Chivers, Geo. Brittan, Frederick J. Lawrence, William Dance, William Walker, W. G. Smith, P. J. Walker, A. H. Bisley, and W. Easey. Visitors—Bros. J. H. Boyt 137, G. W. Knight 1507, G. Bentley 20, and W. C. Plater 720. Lodge having been opened in accordance with the usual formalities, the ballot was prepared for Bro. William Charles Plater, of the Panmure Lodge, No. 720, as a joining member, proposed by Bro. Ernest C. T. Hand, seconded by Bro. F. Lawrence. The voting was unanimously in his favour. The ballot was then opened for Mr. Peter John Walker, of 104 Seven Sisters'-road, Holloway, nominated by Bro. E. C. T. Hand, seconded by Bro. R. Gillard; and for Mr. Alfred Henry Bisley, of 40 South Island-place, Clapham-road; and for Mr. William Henry Easey, of Brunswick-street, Poplar, proposed by Bro. E. Harris, and seconded by the late Bro. J. Turner. All three were unanimously accepted, and having been found worthy, were duly initiated by the W. Master, who, on this the first occasion since his installation, performed the ceremony in such a manner as not only to give the utmost satisfaction to the brethren, but to show promise of more than ordinary skill and aptitude in the future. Bros. A. J. Pritchard, George M. Gross, W. H. Taylor, Robert Torry, and Geo. Brittan, having answered the usual questions satisfactorily, were entrusted, and subsequently were passed to the second degree by the W. Master, who here also acquitted himself in a most creditable manner. To add to a rather heavy agenda paper, already sufficient to test the capabilities of a young Master on his début, two aspirants for the sublime degree put in an appearance, in the persons of Bros. F. J. Ford and F. Churchill, the impressive ceremonial being rendered with considerable effect and precision by the W. Master, with but little assistance being needed from the I.P.M. At the conclusion of a more than usually arduous sitting, followed by the transaction of some formal business, Lodge was closed in form, and the brethren partook of a light supper, under the presidency of the W. Master, when the customary Loyal and Craft toasts were duly honoured. The proceedings of the evening were enlivened with some excellent singing, and a very agreeable réunion was enjoyed.

KINGS CROSS LODGE, No. 1732.

THE Installation Meeting of this young, but prosperous Lodge, was held on Saturday last, at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street. Bro. J. T. Briggs W.M. presided, and was well supported by his Officers, the members, and a goodly array of visitors. Lodge having been opened with the accustomed formalities, and the minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, Bro. F. C. Austin was entrusted and retired, and Lodge having been advanced to third degree, was raised to the sublime degree of M.M., the ceremony being ably and impressively performed by Bro. Briggs and his Officers. Bro. Henry Stiles S.W. and W.M. elect, was then presented in form for the purpose of receiving the benefits of installation at the hands of Bro. Briggs. The preliminary formalities having been observed, all below the rank of I.M. withdrew. A Board of Installed Masters was formed, Bro. Briggs occupying the chair of W.M., with Bros J. J. Michael S.W., and James Terry See. R.M.B.I. as D.C. Bro. Briggs performed his part most ably, and subsequently, on the re-admission of the brethren, delivered the several addresses in a manner which reflected on him the greatest credit. Bro. H. Stiles appointed and invested the following as his Officers for the year, namely, Bros. H. Higgins S.W., Lewis Solomon J.W., J. J. Michael P.M. Treasurer, Frederick Saintsbury Secretary, Leon Jacobs S.D., G. H. Gorringe J.D., C. B. Putland I.G., B. Kauffman D.C., W. R. Yates A.D.C., Frank Fletcher W.S., A. Hubbard A.W.S., Daly Tyler. Bro. Michael proposed, and Bro. Higgins seconded, that a vote of thanks be given to Bro. Briggs for his services as Installing Officer; and Bro. Stiles, in submitting the motion, took the opportunity of presenting to Bro. Briggs the Past Master's jewel, which had been unanimously voted by the Lodge, in recognition of his services in the chair. Bro. Briggs very gracefully acknowledged the vote of thanks for what he had done that day, and expressed himself as being very strongly impressed with the kindness of the brethren for the jewel they had voted him with complete unanimity. He trusted he should be long amongst them, if only to evince his sense of gratitude by wearing the jewel. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren sat down to an excellent dinner, in every way worthy of the reputation of the Bros. Clemow. On the removal of the cloth, the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given and heartily acknowledged. With that of the Grand Officers, Present and Past, was associated the name of Bro. Buss Assistant Grand Secretary, the W.M. rendering due honour to Bros. T. Cubitt P.G.P., W. Clarke A.G.P., and G. Beale Grand Steward. Bro. Buss, with his wonted heartiness, expressed his thanks for the compliment paid to the Grand Officers, whose services to Freemasonry were universally recognised, and to himself, who had derived great pleasure from attending the Lodge. Bro. Briggs I.P.M. was charged with the duty of proposing the health of the Worshipful Master, and, in fulfilling it, he expressed his belief that Bro. Stiles would be found a worthy occupant of the chair of K.S. He had diligently and ably fulfilled the duties of the inferior offices, and there was no doubt he would follow in the footsteps of another of the same family, who had already presided over the fortunes of the Lodge. Bro. Stiles acknowledged the compliment so kindly paid him, both in respect of the eulogistic terms in which it was proposed, and as to the kindly manner in which it had been received. He should do his utmost to carry out the duties of his office to their satisfaction, and expressed a hope that, when the term of his Mastership came to an end, the Lodge would be found to be in as prosperous a condition as it was at present. He concluded by proposing the toast of I.P.M. (Installing Master) and Past Masters, to which Bro. Briggs responded most heartily. For the Masonic Charities, Bro. Jas. Terry was called upon to reply, and he did so, it is needless to say, in his most effective manner, laying especial stress on a point which we have again and again noted, that if the members of our Fraternity would only contribute the small sum of five shillings per annum all round to each of our Institutions, there would be no need whatever for especial appeals, and the Institutions themselves would be, in all probability, enabled to extend the sphere of their usefulness. He also, as a matter which goes without saying, referred in hopeful terms to the approaching Festival of the Benevolent Institution. In reply to the Visitors' toast, Bros. Blasby, Side, Hudson, Murlis, Buss, Beale, Irvine, Hemmings, and Hickman responded. The other toasts, customary on these occasions, having been given, the brethren dispersed. We append a list of the Visitors, which is as follows:—Bros. B. E. Blasby W.M. 780, W. Devine 832, J. Shipley J.W. 30, G. G. Stanham 173, Thos. Cubitt P.G.P., H. G. Buss A.G.S., S. L. Hickman P.M. Joppa 188, W. Side W.M. 1507, L. Bamberger P.M. 1366, W. J. Murlis P.M. 1642, C. E. Barratt Kidder S.W. 12, Jas. Irvine 862, C. W. Hudson W.M. 1540, F. Silvester 193, E. Storr I.G. 167, G. Beale Grand Steward, W.M. elect 8, Geo. Oddy 754, J. Garrod J.W. 754, Jas. Hemmings 1287, R. L. Creber 70, S. Dicketts 193, W. W. Morgan Sec. 211.

West Middlesex Lodge of Instruction, No. 1612.—At the Feathers' Hotel, Ealing, on Thursday, 17th inst. Present—Bros. J. Green W.M., A. Jones S.W., Hamilton J.W., Wilkinson S.D., C. Andrews P.M. J.D., Porter I.G., H. E. Tucker Treasurer and Preceptor, Henry Stephens, and J. Wells Secretary. With all formalities duly observed, the Lodge was opened to the third degree, and then resumed to the first. Bro. J. Wells answered the questions leading to second degree, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed. The Lodge was closed in the second degree. Bro. Captain Wilton, a member of this Lodge, having received an appointment on the staff of Sir Samuel Rowe, for service against the King of Ashantee, sailed a few days ago, and it was unanimously agreed to telegraph to Bro. Captain Wilton at Madeira, to convey the hearty wishes of the brethren that he may have health and success in the Cape Coast Colony. The Secretary was requested to write a letter of sympathy to Mrs. Clarke, wife of Bro. J. Clarke, who lies seriously ill. Bro. A. Jones was elected W.M. for the next meeting.

Brecknock Lodge, No. 651.—A meeting was held on Tuesday, 15th March, at Freemasons' Hall, Brecon. Bros. J. A. Whittle W.M., John Morgan S.W., T. C. Bargrave Watkins J.W., T. H. Price Treasurer, Ernest H. Teale Sec., Rhys Davies S.D., H. C. Rich jun., J.D., Adam Orlopp D.C., E. T. Edwards Steward, T. H. Price I.G., W. Hamelin Tyler pro tem; P.M.'s Bros. Frank Grundy, Thomas Butcher, Richard Webb, and H. C. Rich sen. After preliminaries, the ballot was brought into requisition for the election as joining member of Bro. J. Watkins, Lodge 1212 Devonport; for Mr. Francis Henry Shepherd, as a candidate for initiation; to ballot for Bro. Henry Martin, as Tyler, in place of Bro. James Jones, deceased. The result in each case was favourable. Bro. J. Morgan proposed, and Bro. Butcher P.M. seconded, that the financial report for 1880 be adopted. The W.M. brought forward the desirability of forming a Benevolent Fund in connection with the Lodge, and after some discussion it was agreed that it be further considered next month.

Metham Lodge, No. 1205.—A meeting of the members of this Lodge was held on Monday, 21st inst., at the Lodge-room, Stonehouse, for the purpose of electing a Worshipful Master, Treasurer, and Tyler for the ensuing year, when Bros. T. A. Peek, D. Cross, and J. Gidley were unanimously elected to fill the above posts respectively.

Friars Lodge of Instruction, No. 1349.—At Bro. Pavitt's, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, on Tuesday, 22nd inst. Bros. Smith W.M., Rawe S.W., Innes J.W., Prosser I.G., Worsley Sec., Pavitt acting Preceptor. Lodge opened in due form with prayer, when the following Sections were worked:—1st, Bros. Worsley; 2nd, Watkins; 3rd, Rawe; 4th, Worsley; 5th, Pavitt; 6th, Smith. Bro. Rawe W.M. 711 was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing week. In addition to the brethren named above, Bros. Smith and Pavitt deserve great praise for the way in which they worked the Sections allotted to them. The brethren present were highly pleased.

Royal Savoy Lodge, No. 1744.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Tuesday, 22nd inst., at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street. In the absence of the W.M. (Bro. F. H. Clemow), due to a severe cold, the I.P.M. Bro. John Douglass took the chair, supported by Bros. James Willing P.M. as I.P.M. Treasurer, J. L. Jones S.W., Hyland J.W., W. M. Stiles Sec., Deller J.D., Holt I.G., J. W. Smith D.C., Sillis W.S., Johnson A.W.S., Smith Org., Koester Tyler. Visitors—Bros. W. J. Ferguson P.M. 177, Case P.M., J. Cherry 19, Holt 874, E. Storr I.G. 167, &c.; also Bros. Dovey, Captain Cole, Joyce, Wilkes (2), Hare, Ellis, Wall, Wauthier, Perugia, Greenfield, Jagels, Hoare, and many others were present. The Lodge having been regularly opened, the Worshipful Master impressively raised Bros. La Hag and Pitkin. Three brethren, W. Slater, J. Cohen, and J. Michell were passed to the degree of Fellow Craft, after which a ballot was taken for five gentlemen, which being in their favour, Messrs. J. M. Fulton, J. Bryan, and C. Veit were properly introduced and regularly initiated into the mysteries of the Craft. After some routine business, Bro. P.M. Willing announced to the brethren that either the W.M. or he would represent the Lodge at the Boys' Festival. Lodge was closed in due form, and the brethren (67) adjourned to the banquet. Owing to domestic bereavement, Bro. J. Douglass was compelled to leave, and the Worshipful Master's chair was occupied by Bro. J. Willing P.M., founder, who, in proposing the health of the Visitors, expressed the regret of the brethren at the absence of their W.M., and more particularly at the cause of it. Bro. Willing wished to impress upon the brethren the desirability of all earnest brethren, especially the Officers, joining the Royal Arch. The brethren had in Bro. Ferguson, their distinguished Visitor, one who now occupied the chair of two Chapters in London; he would be only too happy to receive any brethren amongst the ranks. In Bro. Storr they had an invaluable and indefatigable Secretary of the Lodge of Instruction used by the officers and many of their friends. These brethren were associated with Bro. Stiles, their Secretary, and the W.M. assured them they would always find a cordial welcome, combined with excellent teaching. The Visitors having eloquently responded, the health of the Initiates was given. The W.M. said they had paid every attention to the ceremony, and had raised the number of brethren in the Lodge to over 100. The Lodge had just commenced the third year of its existence, and it was highly gratifying to the founders to witness its success. He trusted it would continue as numerous and happy for many years. They certainly experienced an immense improvement where they now met over what they had to put up with before, and a deep debt of gratitude was due to Bro. Best, the proprietor, for the splendid suite of rooms placed at the disposal of the Lodge, as well as his liberal catering for their creature comforts. The initiates suitably replied, and a very pleasant evening was brought to a close about eleven p.m. Bro. Stiles and several other brethren sang some capital songs.

Kings Cross Lodge of Instruction, No. 1732.—On the 13th instant, at Bro. Devine's, the Blue Posts, Charlotte-street, Fitzroy-square. Bro. Burgess W.M., Birrell S.W., L. Solomon J.W., Cleghorn S.D., Guyer J.D., J. Edwards I.G., Devine Treasurer, L. Jacobs as Secretary, J. Hemming Preceptor, and twenty-nine other brethren. After preliminaries, the first section of the first lecture was worked, and the ceremony of initiation rehearsed, Bro. H. Phillips acting as candidate. The fourth and fifth sections were worked. Bro. B. Phillips, No. 93 Scotland, J. Douglass 571, Kabul lane 1613, G. Lundbury, and H. C. Francis were unanimously elected members. Bro. Birrell was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

THE MASONIC HALL (SOUTHAMPTON) COMPANY.—The first annual report of the Directors of this Company has just been issued, and upon the business of the past year a dividend at the rate of 4 per cent. is recommended.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

THE General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls met on Thursday afternoon at Freemasons Hall. There were present Bros. Colonel Creaton Grand Treasurer (in the chair), E. Letchworth, Thomas Massa, James Peters, Rev. A F. A. Woodford, Griffiths Smith, Arthur H. Gladwell, Henry Massey, John A. Rucker, and W. Bailey. The Committee increased the salary of Brother Hedges, the Secretary, by £100 a year from the 1st January last, in consideration of the zeal and assiduity he has shown in the discharge of the duties of his office during the time he has held that position. Bro. E. Letchworth, who moved in place of Bro. Joshua Nunn, Bro. W. Bailey, who seconded the motion, and Bro. Arthur E. Gladwell, who supported it, spoke in the highest terms of Bro. Hedges' efficiency as Secretary, and of the quiet, unassuming way in which he had so much conduced to the success of the Institution. Three petitioners were placed on the list for the election in October. Bro. Thomas Massa gave notice of three motions he intended to make at the Quarterly Court in April, and the Chairman having been authorised to sign cheques in discharge of accounts, the Committee adjourned.

The great pressure on our space, owing to the Festival of the R.M.B.I., necessitates our holding over report of the installation meeting on Monday, 21st instant, of the Gooch Lodge, No. 1238, Twickenham, Middlesex. We must fain content ourselves with mentioning, therefore, that the retiring W.M., Bro. Mesrouze, was highly complimented for the signal services he had rendered to the Lodge, and that such services were handsomely recognised by the presentation to him of a Past Master's jewel. During his year of office the Gooch Lodge has made considerable progress, thanks to his ability, diligence, and zeal; and this is all the more creditable seeing that Bro. Mesrouze is by birth and education a Frenchman. He is, indeed, a sojourner amongst us, being professionally engaged in the somewhat arduous and certainly unenviable task of imparting to Englishmen a knowledge of his own language. Bro. Mesrouze, however, it should be stated to his credit, is thoroughly well versed in the English tongue, and speaks it with an accent we have rarely heard in his fellow-countrymen. He is, moreover, a graduate of the University of Paris, and is essentially, therefore, a scholar, and one well qualified to play the part of a tutor. We wish him every success.

DANCING.—Bro. JACQUES WYNMAN, Professor of Dancing, gives daily instruction in all the fashionable Dances to those who are without previous knowledge. Private lessons at any time, by appointment. Families attended. Balls conducted, and first class Bands provided if desired.
Assemblies every Monday and Thursday, at Eight o'Clock.

6. REPORT OF THE BOARD OF GENERAL PURPOSES.

To the United Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of England.

The board of General purposes beg to report that:—

1st.—The Lodge No. — having laid before the Board a formal complaint against a Brother, Immediate Past Master, for retaining in his possession the Minute and other Books belonging to the Lodge, and refusing to hand them over to the Worshipful Master, the Board proceeded to deal with the complaint, and caused the said Brother and also the Worshipful Master and Secretary of the Lodge in question, to appear before them.

2nd.—The matter having been fully gone into, and the parties heard, the Board unanimously resolved, and ordered as follows:—

1st.—That the Lodge Books, improperly retained by the Brother in question after his vacation of the Chair of the Lodge, be handed to the Worshipful Master of the Lodge forthwith.

2nd.—That the conduct of the said Brother, in thus improperly retaining the Books of the Lodge, is, in the opinion of the Board, a Masonic offence proved to their satisfaction, and that he be, therefore, suspended from all his Masonic functions until the further order of the Board.

(Signed) JOHN B. MONCKTON,
President.

FREEMASONS' HALL, LONDON, W.C.
15*th February* 1881.

To the Report is subjoined a statement of the Grand Lodge Accounts at the last Meeting of the Finance Committee, held on Friday, the 11th February instant, shewing a Balance in the Bank of England of £5,977 6s 8d; and in the hands of the Grand Secretary for Petty Cash £75, and for Servants' Wages £96 15s.

7.—Report of Bro. R. P. Harding, Auditor of Grand Lodge Accounts, of Receipts and Disbursements during the year 1880.

8. PROPOSED MOTIONS:—

1. By Bro. John M. Clabon P.G.D., President of the Lodge of Benevolence.

That inasmuch as the recommendation by the Lodge of Benevolence to Grand Lodge, that a grant of £100 should be made to Brother Hugh R. Edwards, came to an end by his death, the Lodge of Benevolence be empowered, to the extent of that sum, to repay any expenses incurred for his benefit during his life or in relation to his death.

2. By Brother Tudor Trevor P.M. No. 944, Bombay, now of No. 41, Bath, and late of No. 1511, Hornsea.

That in consideration of the very exceptional circumstances of his application for pecuniary assistance, and that he has been much embrassed by the unmasonic litigation which ensued in defiance of the Principles of the Craft, and especially of No. 6 of Antient Charges and Regulations, consequent on the part he took in the exclusion from his Lodge, No. 1511, of an offending Brother (which exclusion was approved by the Provincial Grand Master), this Grand Lodge is pleased as a Special Case to direct the grant of £150 from the Fund of General Purposes, to Brother Tudor Trevor, P.M. &c., in aid of his costs in defending the action "Brother Voigt versus Brothers Carr, Laking, and Trevor," tried at Leeds in August last, and in respect of which costs Brother Trevor affirms that he has already paid £169 4s 11d, and that he has been greatly impoverished thereby.

List of Lodges for which Warrants have been granted by the M.W. Grand Master since the last Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge:—

ROYAL ARCH.

—:o:—

IN consequence of the long illness and subsequent death of the Most Excellent Companion John Huyshe P.G.J. of England, and Provincial Grand Superintendent of the Province of Devon, the Provincial Grand Chapter has been practically in abeyance. The last meeting for real business, as far as we recollect, was held at Topsham, 10th October 1877, since when no P.G. Officers have been appointed. We are glad to know officially that the M.E. the First Grand Principal His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has been pleased to appoint the M.E. Companion Viscount Ebrington to be Grand Superintendent of Royal Arch Masonry in and over the Province of Devon, to whom in future all communications relating to Royal Arch Masonry are to be addressed, excepting of course annual returns to Grand Chapter, applications for certificates, and other matters specially directed by the general regulations to be made to the Grand Scribe E., and which must be made as usual. We congratulate the Province on this appointment, which will be a popular one, and conduce to the prosperity of this important degree in Freemasonry.—Western Daily Mercury.

CARNARVON CHAPTER, No. 804, HAVANT.

THE annual Installation Meeting of the above Chapter was held on Tuesday, the 15th, but owing to various causes, some of the Officers elect were unable to be present. After the election of a candidate for exaltation at the next meeting, the ceremony of installation was performed by M.E. Comp. J. N. Hillman, the retiring First Principal. Comps. E. E. Street and T. Francis were respectively installed in the chairs of Z. and H., and Comp. H. M. Green P.Z. was placed in the chair of J. pro tem, in the absence of Comp. J. Lintott. Comps. W. Dart and J. A. Elverston were then invested with the collar of their offices as E. and P.Soj. Comp. J. J. Field N. elect was absent through illness; Comp. Hillman was then invested as Treasurer, and the First Principal, on behalf of the members of the Chapter, presented him with a P.Z.'s jewel; in doing so, he referred to the unremitting zeal and ability displayed by Comp. Hillman P.P.G.P.Soj. Hampshire and I.W. in connection with Royal Arch Masonry in general, and with this Chapter in particular, he having been elected to the chair of Z. on three occasions. The jewel bore a suitable inscription; round the emblems was the name and number of the Chapter, and on a shield on the ribbon "Portsmouth Chapter, 487." in commemoration of Comp. Hillman having filled the chair of First Principal in that Chapter. Comp. W. Blackmore was appointed Janitor. The Chapter being closed, the Companions adjourned to a banquet at the Dolphin Hotel. In addition to the above there were present—Comps. H. R. Trigg, J. Wicks, and J. Harrison P.Z.'s, J. Purnell P.H., O. N. Wyatt Z. Cyrus Chapter 38, and W. H. B. Burrell Lennox Chapter 271.

DE SUSSEX CHAPTER, No. 406.

THE regular Convocation of this Chapter took place on Friday evening, the 11th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Maypole-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne. The respective chairs were filled as follow:—Companions T. J. Armstrong M.E.Z., J. Wilson P.Z. as H., Dr. Luke Armstrong J., H. Hotham P.Z. Treasurer, G. Cockburn S.E., John Wood as N., R. Carr P.S., R. G. Salmon A.S., and G. S. Sims Janitor. The Chapter being opened, the ballot was successfully taken for two brethren, and they were exalted to the sublime degree by Most Excellent Companion E. D. Davis P.Z. P.P.G.H. in his usual perfect and impressive manner. Companion G. J. Dean P.Z. 24 gave the third lecture, and Companion Davis gave the first. The election for Officers for the ensuing year was then proceeded with; it resulted in the unanimous selection of the following Companions:—R. L. Armstrong Z., Dr. Luke Armstrong H., G. Cockburn J., Ralf Carr S.E., R. G. Salmon N., S. M. Harris P.S., H. Hotham P.Z. Treasurer, G. S. Sims Janitor. The M.E.Z. proposed a cordial vote of thanks to Companion E. D. Davis for his kindness in coming and working the degree so beautifully; this was carried by acclamation. Chapter was then closed, and the Companions adjourned to refreshment. The Visitors present were Companions E. D. Davis P.Z. 24 P.P.G.H., J. S. Wilson P.Z. 991, G. S. Dean P.Z. 991, J. Wood H. 48, R. Simons 481, and Davis (Bombay).

PANMURE CHAPTER, No. 720.

THIS Chapter met at the Horns Tavern, Kennington, on the 14th inst., when there was a goodly attendance of Companions. In the absence of the M.E.Z., the chair of Z. was occupied by E. Comp. Henry Smith P.Z., who was supported by Comps. R. N. Field H., Samuel Poynter J., James Stevens P.Z. Scribe E., and Comps. T. Meggy N., B. R. Bryant P.S., J. W. Watts 1st Assist. Amongst others present were Comps. Jas. Terry, Baldwin, Gilbert, &c., and visiting Comp. Henry Thompson M.E.Z. 619. After confirmation of previous minutes, a ballot was taken for Bro. W. Wilkins, of the Burgoyne Lodge, No. 902, and being found clear, that Brother was introduced and exalted into Royal Arch Masonry. The ceremony was conducted throughout in an exceedingly perfect manner, and without the slightest omission or hesitation on the part of the several Officers, and later in the evening the candidate himself referred to the great impression made on him by the confidence with which he was inducted into the Order, at the same time remarking that he could hardly have expected a different result, as the three Principals and other Officers who performed the ceremony were all Past Masters of his (the Burgoyne) Lodge, of each of whom he had had previous experience in Craft Masonry. The Chapter next proceeded to the election of Officers for the ensuing year, and in each case unanimous votes were given for Ex. Comps. Field as Z., Poynter as H., Thomas Meggy as J., James Stevens P.Z. as Scribe E. (we are informed that this is the thirteenth re-election of Comp. Stevens), B. R. Bryant, J. W. Watts P.S., and John Gilbert Janitor. An Audit Committee was appointed, and the cordial thanks of the Chapter voted to Ex. Comp. Henry Smith for officiating as Z. on this and the previous occasion of meeting. It was only natural that in this Chapter recognition should be given to the work of its Scribe E, and consequently it was ordered that a copy of his Map of Masonic Lodges and Chapters should be set in a handsome frame and hung conspicuously in the Chapter room. Companion Stevens acknowledged the compliment, which evidently gave him gratification. Business being completed, refreshment followed labour, and under the presidency of Comp. Smith a very pleasant evening was passed. In replying to the toast of the exaltee, Companion Wilkins, in a very able speech, expressed his pleasure with all he had heard and seen, and pledged himself to an equal devotion to the interests of the Order to that he had already taken in Craft Masonry. Companion H. Thompson, the only Visitor present, paid a high tribute to the perfection of working he had witnessed, and congratulated the Chapter on its recognised position in the Order with reference to its able interpretation of the ceremonies. After a thoroughly enjoyable evening, the proceedings closed, it having been first intimated that the Installation of Principals will take place on the 9th of May next. Ex. Companion James Stevens has been requested to perform the duties of Installing Principal on that occasion, and has promised to carry out same, with full ceremonies.

North London Chapter of Improvement.—A meeting was held at Bro. Fysh's, the Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, on Thursday, 17th inst. Present—Comps. Osborne (Scribe E.) J., Pearcy P.S., Hunter H., Fenner N., Edmonds (Preceptor) Z., Sheffield, Moss, Hobbs, Cogan, and Hubbard Exaltee. The working was extremely well done. Before closing the Chapter a resolution was proposed by Comp. Moss, and seconded by Comp. Hunter, that 500 circulars be printed and circulated to various Chapters, informing members desirous of advancement that a Chapter of Improvement is held at the Jolly Farmers every Thursday, at 8 o'clock.

Illustrious Bro. Lorenzo Augustus Homfray has been appointed Inspector-General for the Western District, in the place of General Doherty, who has resigned, in consequence of ill health.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Sudden changes of temperature sorely try all persons prone to rheumatism, sciatica, tic doloreux, and many similar maladies scarcely less painful, though of shorter duration. On the first attack of stiffness or suffering in any muscle, joint, or nerve, recourse should immediately be had to fomenting the seat of disease with hot brine and rubbing in this remarkable Ointment, which will assuage the uneasiness of the part, subdue inflammation, and reduce the swelling. The Pills, simultaneously taken, will rectify constitutional disturbances and renew the strength. No remedy heretofore discovered has proved so effective as the Ointment and Pills for removing gouty, rheumatic, and scrofulous attacks, which afflict all ages, and are commonly called hereditary.

MARK MASONRY.

MACDONALD MARK MASTERS' LODGE, No. 104.

THIS Lodge held its first meeting for the present year on Saturday, the 19th instant, at the Guildhall Tavern, London, E.C., when a large number of members and visitors attended. Lodge was opened at three o'clock in the afternoon by the W.M. Bro. F. H. Cozens P.G. Organist, and the following Officers:—Bros. W. P. Collins P. Prov. G.D. S.W., N. J. F. Bassett P. Prov. G.S. J.W., G. Yaxley P.G.S. M.O., W. C. Hale P.G.S.B. S.O., J. K. Pitt P. Prov. A.D.C. J.O., V.W. P.M.'s Thomas Meggy P.G.S.O. Treasurer, W. William Worrell P.G.O. Secretary, James Stevens P.G.J.O. D.C., W. Johnston R.M., Theodore De Leliva G.S. S.D., T. W. Symons J.D. Amongst other members present were the V.W. Bros. Frederick Binckes P.G.W. and Grand Mark Secretary, R. Berridge G.D.C., and Alfred Williams P.G.S.D., E. P. Spice P.G. Steward, and Bros. Mildred, Bale, Nettleship, &c. The Visitors were the V.W. Bros. Frederic Davison Deputy Grand Mark Master for Middlesex and Surrey, D. A. Dewar Asst. Grand Mark Secretary, and W. H. Gimingham P.M. of the Tenterden Mark Lodge. The minutes of the previous meeting having been confirmed, ballot was taken for two candidates named in summons, and Bros. Francois Ducher, of the Rothesay Craft Lodge, No. 1687, being in attendance, was introduced and advanced to the honourable degree, with full musical ceremony, the whole work connected with which was most impressively rendered. The Deputy Grand Master was pleased to express his favourable opinion in regard to the ceremony, and endorsed the minute book to that effect. A committee was appointed to revise the bye-laws of the Lodge, which in some particulars require emendation. There being no further business, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to the banquet, the provision and service of which, by Bros. Ritter and Clifford, left nothing to be desired. On the removal of the cloth the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given by the W.M., that of the Queen being most unexpectedly, but most appropriately, accompanied at the exact moment by the National Anthem, played by the full band of the London Rifle Brigade, then being dismissed, after parade, in the courtyard of the Guildhall. For Grand Mark Lodge the Deputy Grand Master for the Province, the V.W. Bro. Davison responded, and again expressed his gratification with the admirable working he had witnessed in Lodge, and his earnest hope that in the future its members would aim at a continuance of that meritorious endeavour which had so fully established the prestige of the Macdonald as one of the best exponents of the ritual of the degree. The W.M., in reply to the toast in his honour, which was proposed by Bro. Meggy, renewed his former promises to maintain the dignity of his position, and to promote the prosperity of the Lodge, and harmony amongst its members. By unanimous request the W.M. at once gave a practical evidence of his great ability to promote "harmony" in a musical sense, by indulging the brethren with one of his ever tuneful and amusing songs, the reception of which compelled him still longer to leave the presidential chair in the occupation of Bro Meggy, whilst he complied with the general requirements for another just in the usual way. For the Past Masters, Bro. Stevens made a brief response, which was followed by a "Yankee Electoral Address" from Bro. Gimingham, whose clever recitals for some time kept the table in a roar. At a later period of the evening the worthy Brother again assisted digestion by reciting another mirth convulsing narrative, and his earnest endeavours to delight his audience were unmistakably appreciated. The reception of the Visitors having been most cordially given, Bro. Ducher, whose foreign accent somewhat increased the effect of his words, made a forcible speech, in the course of which he said his impressions with regard to Masonry might be different from those of others, but he could not but believe that Freemasonry, which good and true men had for three thousand years been helping to build up as an edifice that hereafter will be the temple of humanity, had a potent mission, which mission would be accomplished, and the time would surely come, not, almost certainly, in our period, when that edifice, which we in our turn were helping to complete, would become universal, and embrace humanity as one nation, one people, one creed. To this glorious end he believed the work of the Order he had just entered was equally devoted as that of other branches of Freemasonry, whilst he felt bound to admit that the ceremony of his advancement had impressed him beyond any other he had gone through. The remarks of the worthy Bro. were listened to with profound attention. For the Visitors, the Asst. G.M. Sec., the V.W. Bro. Dewar, replied, endorsing the flattering expressions of former speakers. The Masonic Charities and the Mark Benevolent Fund called up Worshipful Bros. Binckes, Meggy, and Spice, who severally responded, Bro. Binckes, in the course of his remarks, referring to the frequent opportunities afforded him to dilate on the cause of charity, particularly in connection with the useful Institutions of Freemasonry. He acknowledged the sympathetic aid by means of which those of the household of faith, not so fortunate as ourselves, were not forgotten, through the social organisation of the Order, and felt assured that no one of us who may have contributed towards the assistance of those in need ever yet felt the worse off for so doing. Bro. Meggy gave a brief résumé of the progress of the Mark Benevolent Fund from the time, not many years ago, when but five Stewards could be obtained to represent Lodges at the Festivals, to the present, when as many as thirty-two worthy members of the Mark Degree offered their valuable assistance. He congratulated the Macdonald Lodge on the fact that it had sent Stewards on all occasions but two since the existence of the Fund. Bro. S. Spice, in an equally able manner, testified to the good done by all the Charities of the Order, and concluded a telling speech with the remark that the Stewards, whether in the past or the present, might well be looked upon as corner-stones of that Temple of which Bro. Binckes had so eloquently spoken. The remaining toasts —the Treasurer and Secretary, the Officers of the Lodge, and the Tyler's—were then given, and the brethren separated, each and all delighted with the happy reunion. We must not omit to mention that, in addition to the admirable songs and recitations of the Worshipful Master and Bro. Gimingham respectively, Bros. Symons, Meggy, and Ducher contributed materially to the musical entertainment of the evening.

UNITED SERVICE LODGE.

THE installation of the Officers of this Lodge took place on the 8th of January, when Bro. W. H. Addiscott, chief engine-room artificer of H.M.S. Victor Emmanuel, was impressively raised to the chair of King Solomon by the Very Worshipful Bro. C. B. Chater Deputy District Grand Master The collars were thus distributed:—Wor. Bros. G. May I.P.M., S. Coomber S.W., J. Windrum J.W., Wor. C. W. Duggan Treasurer, J. Beattie Secretary, N. Perry S.D., C. S. Barkley J.D., C. Wassinus Steward, A. J. Bridges Organist, C. Partington I.G., A. J. Grimble Tyler. At the conclusion of the business, the Lodge was closed, and ninety-seven brethren, including several officers of high rank from the Fleet, sat down to a sumptuous banquet. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts having been honoured, it was announced from the chair that a much respected member of the Lodge—Bro. Joseph Thomas, Sergeant-Major, R.A.—had suddenly passed away. He was on duty at high noon, and ten minutes afterwards had ceased to exist. He leaves a wife and two children not over well provided for. A collection was at once made, and a sum amounting to over £30 was subscribed for their benefit. On the following morning another brother—W. H. King—who left England some time since, to take the post of sergeant in the Hong Kong police, expired, after seven months' illness, leaving a wife and son, who are well respected, and will not need to return to England to find friends. Bro. Thomas's funeral took place on the 14th January, and was an imposing and impressive ceremony, being attended by over 800 representatives of both branches of the Service, all vieing to honour the Craft in the obsequies of the deceased. For the above information our thanks are due to the Western Daily Mercury.

BURDETT COUTTS LODGE BALL.

THE annual ball given in connection with this Lodge took place on Monday, 21st inst., at the Cannon-street Hotel, and proved one of the most successful gatherings we remember taking part in. It has very truly been said that it is not for mortals to command success, but on this occasion everything that could possibly be thought of to deserve it was done, and, as we have stated, with a most satisfactory result to all who attended. It may hardly come within our province to refer to the dresses of the ladies, but as we look upon these gatherings as being provided especially for them, we think we are justified in doing so. We could but notice the good taste that prevailed in this respect, we may say, without exception, the varied hues in which our fair sisters were attired added greatly to the beauty of the picture presented. Dancing was well sustained until midnight, when an adjournment took place to the supper-room, where the good things provided were partaken of by the company, under the able presidency of Bro. Dr. J. G. Defriez, who was supported in the vice chair by Bro. R. L. Sturtevant, the Hon. Sec. of the Lodge. The President confined his remarks to introducing the few toasts usually given within very narrow limits, as he felt assured that those present would much prefer the fare provided in the ball room than listening to long speeches from himself and colleagues. Bro. Sturtevant proposed the health of the President, referring to his many good qualities, and expressing a hope that he might live long and enjoy good health. After the reply of Bro. Defriez, the toast of the Ladies was given from the chair and to this Bro. W. W. Morgan jun. responded. A compliment having been paid to the Stewards, the party again proceeded to the ball room, where the remainder of the programme was gone through. One of the features of the second part was the fourteenth dance, which bore the name of the Burdett Coutts Quadrille, and which is certainly a worthy representative of a worthy Lodge. The music for the evening was provided by Mr. A. Cohen, and as on the conductor and his assistants very much of the enjoyment of an evening depends, we hardly think it is necessary, after the preceding remark, to add that he performed his part satisfactorily.

A YOUTHFUL, BUT AMBITIOUS AUTHORITY ON THE CONDUCT OF FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—A few days since I was among the Visitors at a rising Lodge in the Province of Middlesex, a Lodge which is well-known for its hospitable reception of brethren who are not members, and, it is needless to say, I thoroughly enjoyed myself. The work was well done, the dinner was a success, and the speeches were above the average. But I derived amusement as well as enjoyment. I met a well-known and highly popular representative of your esteemed journal, and in the course of the evening some well-deserved compliments were paid him on the tone and character of the paper with which he is connected. When the meeting was over, and those brethren who were under the necessity of availing themselves of the services of the "iron horse" were patiently waiting at the station for the arrival of the train that was to convey them Londonwards, a lively conversation ensued, in the course of which, complimentary reference was again made to the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, and it was suggested to a young brother who had that evening been honoured with appointment to an office far higher than he could have anticipated, and who had expressed his determination to commence forthwith making himself acquainted with the duties of that office, that he should begin his course of study by reading your journal, as he would be likely to gain from its columns a good many wrinkles. Our young and inexperienced brother, however, was "all there." He had heard, he intimated, very much about the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, and he expressed himself in terms of well-nigh unlimited condemnation of the course it had pursued in connection with the Collingwood case, and especially of certain remarks it had made as to the last Quarterly Court of the Boys' School. In fact, in a very offhand kind of way, he threatened that he and another brother, whom he named, had seriously intended throwing up Freemasonry altogether, as he considered the conduct—or, perhaps I should say the misconduct—of the case referred to above was unworthy of Freemasonry, and that the CHRONICLE had erred egregiously in advocating such treatment. In the first instance, I was inclined to think this expression on the part of a kind of half-fledged brother should be questioned. But second and better thoughts prevailed, and ultimately I came to the conclusion that it was a grand joke to have heard a brother, on the strength of his having been appointed to a responsible office, with the duties of which he was entirely unacquainted, cry out against the conduct of a case of which he evidently had no true and certain knowledge. Indeed, his comments struck me as being so ludicrous that I have been at the pains of writing to you these few lines in the hope that you will find a corner for them. If this young brother is so deeply concerned about the Collingwood case, and your remarks on it, that he feels he ought to throw Freemasonry up, let him do so. I dare say Freemasonry will survive the loss.

Yours fraternally,

A VETERAN M.M.

ELIAS ASHMOLE, WINDSOR HERALD, AND FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I am delighted to find that you now number among your correspondents a writer so able as Bro. J. Paul Rylands, F.S.A. The above subject is a most interesting one, and I trust that it will now receive the attention it deserves. No one can better deal with the subject than "SCRIBE E. AND J.W. 148."

Yours fraternally,

P.M. WEST LANCASHIRE.

We have recently had an opportunity of seeing some of the photographic portraits taken by Bro. E. C. Porter, of 6, The Esplanade, Ealing, W., who has established an Esplanade Portrait Club, which enables him to supply a most admirably finished portrait at an exceedingly low rate. Those we have seen are most beautifully printed, the clear atmosphere of a country suburb being most favourable to photographic printing. Judging, too, from the style in which the portraits we have seen are taken, we should say Bro. Porter is an artist of considerable merit. We have, therefore, all the greater pleasure in recommending his Portrait Club to the support and patronage of our readers.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

LODGE OF FRIENDSHIP, No. 100.

A MEETING was held at the Assembly Rooms, Great Yarmouth, on Thursday, 17th inst., for the installation of the Worshipful Master for the ensuing year. The Right Worshipful Prov. Grand Master Lord Suffield, and Bro. H. G. Barwell Prov. G. Sec., honoured the Lodge with their presence. There was a full gathering of members and visitors, the latter including Bros. H. Harvey-George 1631, H. W. H. Elwes 1452, T. Beeching 305, G. F. Crane 1631, J. A. Fisk 1681, D. G. Gaul 1801, H. A. Sherville 1500, R. C. Hammant 313, G. B. Micklebargh 266, H. G. Barwell 943, D. W. Bellamy 1631, &c. The presiding W.M., Bro. D. R. Fowler, having duly opened the Lodge in the three degrees, a Board of Past Masters was formed, and the W.M. elect, Bro. J. Etheridge, was installed with the usual ceremonies, Bro. Oswald Diver P.M. carrying out this duty in the most impressive manner. The new W.M. then proceeded to invest his Officers as follow :—Bros. D. R. Fowler I.P.M., Henry Stembridge S.W., W. J. B. Johnson J.W., Rev. James Wickham Chaplain, O. Diver P.M. Treasurer, James Bond P.M. Secretary, Henry Owles S.D., A. D. Bennett J.D., Thomas Tunbridge Organist, C. J. Bullen I.G., James Holt Tyler. Among the other brethren present were also Bros. L. Spence P.M., A. T. Mann, J. E. Teasdel, J. A. Wade, T. Elliot, E. Bostock, J. F. Southey, A. Lark, C. B. Hammond, W. J. Hopkins, T. Southey, R. H. Tunbridge, F. W. Rolfe, J. W. Bennett, A. Mitchell, J. E. Balls, W. Sayer, M. Weston, W. S. Wigg, H. Smith, W. Cattermole, and P.M.'s Bros. E. Howes, Bonfellow, Martins, and Hubbard. The Lodge having been duly closed, the brethren repaired to the Crown and Anchor Hotel, where a sumptuous banquet was provided by Bro. J. Franklin. The Worshipful Master occupied the chair, supported by the R.W. P.G.M., Lord Suffield, the P.G. Secretary (Bro. Barwell), the Installing Master, the Past Masters, and others. A very pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent. The musical arrangements, under the direction of the Organist, Bro. T. Tunbridge, were excellent; he was ably assisted by Bros. Rolfe, Green, Elliott, Calver, R. Tunbridge, Harvey-George, and Offord. Bro. Green's song "A Golden Dream" and Bro. Elliot's Violin Solo (selection from Il Travotore), being particularly admired.

Lodge of Prudent Brethren, No. 145.—The first regular meeting of this well-known Lodge was held on the 22nd inst., at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, under the presidency of the W.M. Bro. Dr. Whiteway Wilkinson, C. A. Wood S.W., A. Kerrell J.W., T. Bull P.M. Treas., E. H. Thiellay Sec., J. Reed J.D., G. Banks I.G., J. B. Lambe Steward. Past Masters W. R. Lester, and Bro. Hart, &c. Visitors—J. Faulkener S.W. 1423, H. M. Levy P.M. 188. Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. The report of the Committee was read respecting the formation of a Benevolent Fund to be attached to the Lodge. A notice of meeting was given that in future the initiate's fee be £10 10s, and the joining fee £7 7s. A letter of explanation was read from Bro. Leggott P.M., regretting his absence. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren separated.

Islington Lodge of Instruction, No. 1471.—A meeting was held on Tuesday, the 22nd inst., at the Moorgate Tavern. Present :—Bros. Sanders W.M., Shipley S.W., Hall J.W., C. G. Sparrow Secretary, J. L. Mather Preceptor, Hepburn S.D., Couchman I.G., and several other brethren. After preliminaries, the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Smith candidate. The W.M. also rehearsed the ceremony of raising, with Bro. Holness candidate. Bro. Simpson, Bedford Lodge 157, was elected a member. Bro. Shipley was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—On Friday evening, 18th inst., at the Star and Garter, Kew Bridge, Bros. Maton W.M., Gunner S.W., Blasby J.W., C. E. Botley S.D., Kent J.D., F. Botley I.G., Gomm P.M., Goss P.M., Metcalfe, Morgan, Thomas 1602, Lucas, Hildersley, &c. Lodge was formally opened, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of initiation, Bro. Lucas candidate. Bro. C. E. Botley delivered the charge of the degree in a very careful manner, and was complimented for the zeal he displays in study of the noble art. Bros. Lucas and Hildersley (Entered Apprentices) answered the usual questions leading to the second degree. Bro. Gunner was elected W.M. for next meeting. Bro. Hildersley was elected a member. Bro. Goss P.M. then rose, and proposed, and Bro. Gomm P.M. seconded, a motion, to the effect that Bro. R. G. Thomas, Organist No. 1602, and a member of our staff, should be elected an honorary member of the Lodge. Bro. Goss was very eulogistic in his remarks. He spoke of the frequent attendance at their Lodge of Bro. W. W. Morgan, of this journal, whose presence was always most welcome; who had taken a great interest in the working of their Lodge, and was also on the look out to promote its well-being; and who had already been elected to honorary membership, as some slight recognition for his services. The Lodge had had the opportunity of receiving another representative of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, and what he had done that evening, evidencing as it did the care taken in the selection of the staff of that journal, made the honour of receiving and being received reciprocal. He therefore proposed that Bro. Thomas's name be placed on their roll of honorary members. The motion was carried with acclamation, and Bro. Thomas warmly acknowledged the compliment. Lodge was then closed in due form.

[We cannot but feel gratified at this further proof of the kindly feeling entertained towards this journal by the members of the Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction. We knew well we were always welcome, whenever business allowed of our visiting the Lodge, and we esteem it a very high compliment indeed that Bro. Thomas should have been elected an honorary member. We are satisfied that he regards it in the same light.—ED. F.C.]

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—On Tuesday, 22nd inst., at Bro. Smyth's, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston. Bros. Webb W.M., Cundick S.W., Brasted J.W., J. Lorkin Sec., Wallington I.P.M., Smyth Treas., Marsh I.G.; also Bros. Wardell, Dignam, Edwards, Glass, Floyd, Boyce, Polak, Larter, Christian, Clark, Forss, Dallas, G. Larter, C. Lorkin, G. Weige. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The Fifteen Sections were worked by the following brethren :—First lecture—Bros. J. Marsh, E. Dignam, Smyth, Clark, Christian, Forss, Cundick. Second lecture—Bros. Edwards, Forss, Brasted, C. Lorkin, Cundick. Third lecture—Bros. Wardell, J. Lorkin, Wallington. Lodge was then closed to the first degree. Bro. Christian was appointed W.M. for the ensuing week. Bros. Boyce 1679, H. Edwards 1445, J. T. Larter 1524, were elected members. A cordial vote of thanks was ordered to be recorded on the minutes for the able manner in which Bro. Webb had worked the Fifteen Sections; also that honorary membership be conferred on Bro. Cundick S.W. for his assistance. All Masonic business being ended, Lodge was closed in due form.

Eboracum Lodge, No. 1611.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on 14th inst. at York. Bro. J. T. Seller W.M. occupied the chair, and was supported by Bros. C. G. Padel I.P.M., Past Masters T. B. Whytehead, J. S. Cumberland, and G. Balmford; George Simpson S.W., M. Millington J.W., and other Officers and brethren. A ballot was taken for a candidate, after which the W.M. announced that the following week he should go up to London to attend the Benevolent Festival, and he was happy to inform the Lodge that Bro. T. Humphries Assistant Secretary would accompany him as a Steward also. Several matters of business connected with the Lodge were disposed of, and after the close of the Lodge the brethren spent a couple hours in social intercourse. Several subscriptions to the Lodge Stewards' list for the Benevolent Festival were given in.

GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood, and a properly nourished frame." —Civil Service Gazette.

ANALYSIS OF THE SUBSCRIPTION LIST, R.M.B.I.

IT is with an unusual degree of pleasure that we enter on our customary task of noting the principal features connected with the Stewards' Returns at the recent Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. It is a matter of course that success should fluctuate as among our three Charities; and Bro. Terry, whose total list in 1880 was a long way inferior to those of the Schools, has inaugurated the new year with a list which exceeds any previously returned on behalf either of his own or the other Institutions by considerably over £200. It will necessarily be understood that our unusual satisfaction is not personal in its character. We are wholly impartial in our support of the Charities, and we endeavour, within the limits of the possible, to advocate their interests at all times without troubling ourselves as to which of them receives the largest, which the smallest, amount of patronage in the course of any year. We can with the utmost impartiality congratulate each of the three Secretaries in turn on his achievements without dreaming of saying aught that might be regarded as a disparagement of his fellow-labourers. The pleasure we derive from so magnificent a result as that of Wednesday, the 23rd ult., is due primarily to the fact that, even at a time when the aspect of things is not of the most hopeful character, the cause of Masonic Charity does something more than hold its own. Another and still more gratifying feature in connection with this particular Festival is to be found in the abnormal strength, numerically speaking, of the Board of Stewards. We are aware this unusual strength is explained by the strong contingent of representatives from West Yorkshire, but even if we were to leave this Province entirely out of the reckoning, we should have an array of close upon 220 Stewards, and a total of contributions little short of £11,000—that is, within a few hundreds of the sum at present required for the annuitants. Nor must we lose sight of the fact that more than one-third of the Metropolitan Lodges were represented, and two-thirds of the Provinces, so that with an area so much wider than is usual, it must be evident the Institution is being more widely supported by the Craft at large. Indeed, this increase in the area of support is, probably, to Bro. Terry himself even more gratifying than the increased aggregate of contributions. We have over and over again pointed out that if every subscribing member of a Lodge gave annually only the modest sum of five shillings to each of our three Institutions, not only would they be capable of effecting a greater amount of good, but there would be little, if any, necessity for strong periodical appeals to the Fraternity. It is the more gratifying, therefore, when we find the number of supporters is so largely in excess of what it has been in past years. To have had close on 400 Stewards must, indeed, be the most satisfactory of the many brilliant circumstances with which the Benevolent Festival of 1881 will always be associated in the mind of its indefatigable Secretary, Bro. Terry.

We pointed out last week that of the 395 brethren who constituted the Board of Stewards, 124 represented the Metropolis, and 271 the Provinces, the West Yorkshire contingent being 176, while the other twenty-eight Provinces that were represented sent up ninety-five. Giving our attention, in the first place, to London, we note that out of its 124 Stewards five were unattached. Of the remainder, 109 acted on behalf of 107 Lodges, Nos. 228 and 1278, each sending up two representatives, nine brethren served on the Board as representatives of eight R.A. Chapters, there being two Stewards in the case of Chapter No. 1589, and that one Rose Croix Chapter—No. 10—sent up a Steward. These 124 brethren among them took up a total of £6408 16s 6d, which gives, as nearly as possible, an average of £52 per Steward, and over £55 per body represented. The highest contribution was returned, as we noted last week, by Bro. Buss, Assistant Grand Secretary, who acted for the Canonbury Lodge, No. 657, and gave in £315, a total which, it is needless to say, is greatly above the average three-figure contributions, and speaks well both for the energy of Bro. Buss and the liberality of the Lodge. Following him in order is the worthy Secretary of the Benevolent, Bro. James Terry himself, who represented the Sincerity Chapter, No. 174, and handed up a list of £150 1s 6d. Friends in Council, No. 1383, stands third on the Metropolitan roll with £133 7s 0d, its Steward being Bro. J. W. Waldron, the Islington, No. 1471, being close up with £131 6s 6d. Then follow the Yarborough, No. 554, which, by the hands of Bro. John G. Stevens, contributes £126, and the Sincerity Lodge, which, per Bro. Jones, sends £124 3s as the total of its list. Then come some half-dozen Lodges, whose totals vary from each other by only a few shillings. These are the Fitzroy, No. 569, with £117 2s 6d, Bro. J. C. Sanderson, Steward; Westbourne Lodge, No. 733, Bro. John Welford, Steward, with £116 3s 6d; High Cross Lodge, No. 754, Tottenham, Bro. J. Garrod, Steward, with £115 10s, West Smithfield, No. 1622, whose representative, Bro. W. Clauson Thue, handed in a list of exactly the same amount, and Bro. Edgar Bowyer, unattached, £115. The last group of three-figure contributions is made up of Prosperity, No. 65, and the Percy Lodge, No. 198, each of which is entered for £106 1s, Bro. C. E. Ferry being Steward of the former, and Bro. R. Rowell that of the latter. Southwark, No. 879, by the hands of Bro. W. Topp, and Cripplegate, No. 1613, by those of Bro. Bernard Groner, figure for £105 each, the Highgate, No. 1366, giving £104 14s, per Bro. B. Fish, and the Doric, No. 933, Bro. G. Hollington, £100. Thus, there are no less than sixteen lists amounting to £100 and upwards, while of the remaining number St. Thomas's, No. 143, per Bro. J. H. Matthews, is close up with £97 13s, and the Great Northern Lodge, No. 1287, gives £90 4s 6d, per Bro. Samuel Webb; the Pythagorean, No. 79, per Bro. H. Roberts, £85 8s; the Metropolitan, No. 1507, contributes £84 13s, per W. Side; the St. Marylebone, No. 1305, £82 3s, per Bro. C. A. Smith; the Langthorne, No. 1421, per Bro. H. Neville Taylor, £80, and the Prince of Wales Lodge, No. 259, per Bro. T. W. Carmalt Jones, £78 15s. A fair proportion of the others give over £50 a-piece, so that the Metropolis, though its aggregate is inferior to that of the Provinces, is to be warmly congratulated on the largeheartedness with which it has supported Bro. Terry, the Lodges in the Northern districts having been especially successful in the fulness of their lists. Most of the regularly contributing Lodges are represented, Antiquity, No. 2, being the most noteworthy exception, and there are no less than five Lodges of 1879 constitution among them, the total of whose several contributions is in excess of £200. Two out of these five were represented at the Benevolent Festival in 1880, one of them, the Coborn, No. 1804, having taken part at each Festival in that year. A reference to our analytical article on the Festival last year will show that the Metropolis, with about the same number of Stewards, sent up over £7200, but we cannot in reason expect that every year will be equally productive, any more than we can expect that the Metropolis will always be ahead of the Provinces or vice versâ. A similar reference will show that of the Lodges we have especially mentioned the following extended their support to the Benevolent Institution in 1880, viz., Prosperity, No. 65, which gave £124, Sincerity, No. 174, to the extent of £121 8s, and Sincerity Chapter, to that of £210; the Prince of Wales, No. 259, which appears for £178 5s; the Fitzroy, No. 569, for £131 5s, the Canonbury, for £113 7s; the Friends in Council £187 3s, and the Islington, 1471, for £228 13s 6d. It is evident, therefore, that the claims of the Benevolent on the support of the Craft are highly appreciated by these Lodges, which, however, are very far from overlooking those of its sister Institutions. Indeed, these will be found among the most consistent supporters of all our Charities. This completes all which seems desirable to note in connection with the Lodges of the Metropolis, which, as we have said, were represented to the extent of over one-third of their whole number, while its contributions stand to those of the Provinces in the proportion of about four to five—a most creditable result, considering that the Chair was taken by the Master of so influential a Province as West Yorkshire.

We now turn our attention to the Provinces, of which no less than twenty-nine out of forty-one, or, if we include Beds, the Channel Islands other than Jersey, and the Isle of Man, of the forty-four districts into which the home jurisdiction of our Grand Master is apportioned. The total number of Stewards representing these twenty-nine Provinces was, as we have stated, 271, of which, as far as we have been able to make out, 176 acted on behalf of West Yorkshire, and the remaining ninety-five on behalf of the other Provinces. The total of the lists these brethren sent in was £7,877 18s, or an average of just a fraction over £29 per Steward. The absentee Provinces or Districts were Beds, Cambridgeshire, Cumberland and Westmoreland, Herefordshire, Leicestershire and Rutland, Lincolnshire, Norfolk, Northumberland, Notts, S. Wales East, South Wales West, Wilts, Worcestershire, Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man. The last two, as being remote, and as probably having but a slight connection on that account with our central Charities, may be dismissed without comment. Alderney and Guernsey, which together constitute the Channel Islands district, have between them five Lodges, and the Isle of Man has three. We occasionally hear of contributions from the former, and no doubt both dispense their charity locally with an open hand. Taking the others in their alphabetical order, we may remark that Beds, with its five Lodges, and Cambridgeshire, with its four, are again, as we regret to say they have been far too frequently of late, conspicuous by their absence. The former put in an appearance at the Festival of the Girls' School last year, when the representative of one of its Lodges figured for a total of six-and-forty guineas, and we think it would be well worth the while of the other Lodges, as indicating clearly their loyal appreciation of Masonic Charity, if they occasionally followed the good example we have just quoted of the Stuart Lodge, No. 540, of Bedford. As regards Cambridgeshire, it has, it is true, on one or two occasions emerged from the obscurity it seems to prefer, but this would seem to have been due to the efforts of one individual. As a Province, we cannot call to mind any of the last nineteen Festivals at which it has taken any active part in the proceedings. We have more than once drawn attention to this carelessness, as well as to its readiness to accept the benefits of our Institutions, in respect of its own protegés, and we have on one solitary occasion seen the name of its chief, the Earl of Hardwicke, as taking part at some festive gathering, namely, at the famous banquet in October last, when ex-Lord Mayor Truscott G.J.W. entertained His Royal Highness the Grand Master at the Mansion House. This is the one solitary occasion on which we have seen his name associated with anything Masonic. Perhaps his Deputy, Bro. John Deighton, being so thorough a Mason, might exert himself to remedy this state of indifference. The absence of Cumberland and Westmoreland (19 Lodges) is justly excusable. It sent over £375 to the Girls' School, and £63 to the Boys' School in 1880, and it was represented at the Festival of the Benevolent Institution in 1879, as well as on several previous occasions within the period over which our analyses have usually been spread. Herefordshire, with four Lodges, has not, to the best of our recollection, furnished a representative at any Festival since that of the Girls' School in 1878, and we must travel back a further period of two years in order to note another appearance on the Subscription List. It has now in the person of Sir J. R. Bailey, Bart., M.P., a new Prov. G. Master, who will doubtless arouse a greater amount of activity than could have been looked for under the gentle rule of his amiable but aged predecessor. Leicester and Rutland, 10 Lodges, to go no further back than the last two years, has been represented at the following Festivals, namely, that of the Benevolent 1879 by two Stewards with a total of £125 14s; at the Boys' Festival in the same year by Bro. G. Toller, whose list amounted to £42. In 1880, it helped the Girls' School to the extent of 73 10s, and the Boys' with £194 5s. These several contributions amount together to over £435, which is creditable to so small a Province, to say nothing of its services during the four preceding years. Lincolnshire, with its 20 Lodges, have a somewhat similar record, but with twice the number of Lodges, its contributions in the same two years are about one-half of the Leicester total. It has on other occasions exhibited its powers, and we think it might now bestir itself into emulating the most conspicuous of its past achievements. Norfolk (16 Lodges), ever since Lord Suffield's appointment to the Prov. G. Mastership, has shown that its old zeal on behalf of our Charitable Institutions is as sound and as busy as ever. At the Benevolent Festival of 1879 its contributions amounted to £306 12s. At the Boys' Festival the same year it sent up £25 4s. Last year it contributed to "Our Girls" £108 2s, and £207 13s to "Our Boys." These figures give a total for the two years of £647 11s, while, when its chief presided at the Girls' Festival in 1877, it supported him to the extent of £210, and the year following, when the Duke of Connaught presided at the Boys' Anniversary, it helped to swell the general aggregate by raising the sum of £289 6s. This gives us a total of over £1136 subscribed since Lord Suffield was installed as G. Master of the Province. Northumberland, with 20 Lodges, is another absentee, whose occasional absence may be explained by the largeness of its occasional support. Thus, at the Boys' Festival last July its total amounted to the very handsome sum of £638 17s, and in 1877, at the Festival of the same Institution, it sent up £304 15s. Nottinghamshire (12 Lodges), though unrepresented on this occasion, is by no means a frequent absentee. In 1880 it gave the Girls' £178 10s. It sent up a Steward to the Benevolent and the Girls' the year preceding, but the amounts he handed in are not stated. It assisted the Benevolent in 1878, and in 1877 both Schools. The Eastern and Western Divisions of South Wales, the former with fifteen Lodges, and the latter with nine, are not included in the contributing Provinces. At Bro. Binckes's Festival last July they both of them gave substantial help, South Wales East being entered for £126 5s, and South Wales West for £300. The former figures for £100 at the Girls' Anniversary, and the latter at that of the Benevolent for a small amount, apparently the personal contribution of its respected D.P.G.M., Lord Kensington, M.P. In 1879 the Eastern Division figures for a subscription of £105 to the Girls' School, and the Western for £225 to the Benevolent. At the Boys' Festival in 1878, the former gave £84, and at that of the same School the year previous it is down for £132 15s, while the latter gave £168. Wilts (10 Lodges) last year supported the Institution for Girls to the extent of £128 2s, its representative being none other than Lord Methuen P.G. Master; nor was the Benevolent entirely overlooked, though the one list which did duty for the Province was a small one. Still better did this Province do for the Benevolent in 1879, when its total was £237 10s. In 1878 the same Institution received £164 11s, and the Girls' School £267 5s, while in the year previous it gave its attention to all three Institutions, the Benevolent receiving £273 1s, Lord Methuen being on this occasion also its representative—the Girls' School £122 14s, and the Boys' School £142 16s. The remaining absentee is Worcestershire, with eleven Lodges; but under the presidency of Sir E. A. H. Lechmere, Bart., M.P., P.G. Master, it has been doing yeoman service. It was represented at the Boys' and Girls' Festivals last year, being entered, in the case of the latter, for £364 7s, but what it raised for the former does not appear to have been stated. To the Wood Green Institution in 1879 it gave £580 13s, to that at Battersea Rise £141 15s, and to the Benevolent £42. This admirable display must no doubt be in great part explained by the greater energy which has been exhibited in the Province since its present chief acceded to office in 1878.

Having thus cleared the way by explaining, as far as such explanation is possible or probable, the reasons which appear to us to justify or otherwise the non-representation at this Festival of the Provinces we have enumerated above, let us devote some space to those who helped Bro. Terry to achieve the grand result of last Wednesday week. First in order is Berks and Bucks, whose part on these occasions is always satisfactorily played. It has eighteen Lodges on its roll, the one half of which are in Berks and the other half in Bucks. Six Stewards, five of whom represented as many Berks Lodges, together raised £207 19s 6d, of which £37 18s 6d was the amount of the Bucks Steward's list. We would suggest to our brethren in the latter county that it would look far better if its Lodges exhibited a somewhat greater degree of activity in their support of our Institutions. Last year at the Benevolent it sent up the same number of representatives, their total, with one—a Bucks—list not accounted for, being £215 3s 6d. On this occasion there were four Berks and two Bucks Stewards. At the Girls' Festival there were seven Stewards, all of whom acted on behalf of Berks Lodges, the sum of their lists being £506 14s. At the Boys' School there were four Stewards, who raised together £105 18s, but it did not appear to what Lodges these Stewards were attached. However, we have said enough to show the force of our remark that a little more activity on the part of Bucks would seem to be desirable, if only in order to establish between it and its neighbour something like a fair equilibrium. The Province of Bristol, with its eight Lodges, gives by its general representative the sum of £54 2s. Last year its contribution to the Girls' School was £216 6s. It contributed on a small scale to the Benevolent and the Girls' in 1879. In 1878 the Benevolent and Our Boys received at its hands a fair share of attention, the former to the extent of £134 15s, and the latter to that of £81 18s; while in 1877, with the Earl of Limerick P.G.M. as its representative, it contributed £161 8s to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. This is a highly praiseworthy exhibition of zeal for our Institutions. Cheshire, with its thirty-seven Lodges, may always be reckoned upon for its share of support, though it has a local Institution of its own which is in a most flourishing condition. This time, with one Steward for the whole Province, and three brethren acting apparently on their own account, its total is £243 12s, of which £201 12s, is entered for the Province. Last July it sent up to the Boys' School eleven Stewards, whose aggregate was £313 12s 6d. In April 1880, by the hands of five Stewards, it contributed £151 4s to the Girls' School, and it figures at the Benevolent Festival in the previous February for £69. At the Girls' Festival 1879 it sent up £356 4s. This bears out what we have said—that Cheshire must be reckoned upon to a fair extent, and to one which, under the special circumstance we have alluded to, is worthy of its strength and reputation. Cornwall, with twenty-eight Lodges, gives £10 1s. It was unrepresented last year, but in 1879, when Bro. Hughan and another acted as Stewards, the former being the representative of the Province, it gave £378. In 1878 it bestowed its attentions on the Benevolent, the Earl of Mount Edgecumbe and Bro. Hughan being its Stewards, and the amount of its contributions £570. In 1876 the Boys' School was favoured, Bro. Hughan being the sole representative of the Province, and the total of his list £432 12s. Derbyshire (nineteen Lodges) has sent two Stewards, whose lists amount together to £110 16s. At the Boys' Festival of July last it sent £47 6s 6d, and at the Benevolent £132 3s. In 1879 it helped the Boys' to the extent of £277 2s, and is also to be credited with a contribution to the R.M.B.I. the same year. Devonshire has a roll of exactly fifty Lodges, and figures for £63. Last year it gave this Institution £191 13s, and the Girls' School £141 10s. In 1879 it gave £241 1s to Our Girls, and £68 5s to Our Boys. In 1878 all three of our Charities received support from it, the Benevolent to the extent of £110, the Girls' £29 10s 6d, and the Boys' £220; and the same remark applies to the year preceding, when the Benevolent had subscriptions amounting to £596, the Girls' £52 10s, and the Boys' £63. A reference to the lists will show that the two brethren who take the leading part on these occasions are Bros. Godtschalk and Curteis.

Dorsetshire, thirteen Lodges, is another of our Provinces, whose absence from these celebrations is of rare occurrence. Its contribution this time is only a modest £45 4s by the hands of Bro. R. N. Howard of the Portland Lodge, No. 1037. Last year, however, it showed itself worthy of its reputation. At the corresponding Festival in February 1880, it contributed £230 16s—the Province being represented by Bro. H. C. Burt to the extent of £180 10s, and Bro. J. M. P. Montagu, acting for the St. Mary's Lodge, No. 707, furnishing the difference. At the Girls' Festival Bros. Montagu and Howard between them handed in £95, while the list at the Boys' Anniversary was £161 1s. In 1879 it gave to the Benevolent per Bro. Grundy £101 1s, and to the Boys' School per Bro. Howard £295 2s. In 1878 it figures for £150 to the Benevolent, £116 11s to the Girls', and £401 12s to the Boys', Bro. J. M. P. Montagu being the Steward in each case. In 1877 its present Prov. G. Master Bro. Montague Guest, M.P., acted as representative, and his list amounted to £305. Bro. Montagu acted in a like capacity at the Girls' Festival and sent up £180 12s, while the contribution to the Boys' Festival per Bro. Benet Stanford Vere Fane was £80 17s. We need not go further back in order to prove that Dorset has a reputation in these matters and loyally sustains it whenever it has a chance. Durham, twenty-six Lodges, has turned its first Festival, since the Marquess of Londonderry became its Grand Master, to good account by contributing £174 0s 6d, of which the sum of £158 5s 6d found its way into the coffers of the Benevolent through the intermediary of Brother Babington Boulton acting for the Province. At the Boys' Festival in 1880, it contributed £136 10s, and to the Girls' it gave £108 10s. In 1879 the Schools were the recipients of its patronage, the lassies having the lion's share £227 17s, and the laddies £130 4s. In 1878 the latter had it to themselves, Bro. W. H. Crooke's Stewardship yielding £155 8s. In 1877 they were again helped through the medium of the same worthy brother with £158 11s, but the Girls' fared better still and received per Bro. Babington Boulton, acting for the Province, £286 2s 6d. The year before it gave Our Boys' £275 2s, Bro. Candlish, of the Fawcett Lodge, being its representative. The bare statement we have drawn out will speak far more eloquently than we could hope to do in showing that Durham, under its present chief, has fully resolved to maintain its character as a liberal and fairly impartial supporter of all three Institutions. When the time comes round for its P.G.M to occupy the chair at one of these Festivals, it will doubtless bestir itself into even more than its wonted activity. The black diamonds for which it is famous are likely to be of service in more ways than one when that event takes place.

One of the Home Counties—Essex—stands next in order, three out of its nineteen Lodges being represented, the sum of whose contributions is £57 19s. In July last, with four Stewards, it contributed £89 5s to the Boys'; the Girls', in the April preceding, being still more fortunate, there being six Stewards acting on behalf of as many Lodges, their joint lists representing a total of £237 8s, while £89 13s 6d, with a list still to be accounted for, went to the Benevolent. In 1879 there were again two Lodges doing duty for the Province at the Boys' Festival, and they between them found £103 7s 6d, while a Chapter gave a small contribution to the Benevolent. In 1878, the R.M.B.I. received £88 16s, the Girls' £40 13s 9d, and the Boys' £233 5s 7d, while the year before it assisted all three, the Benevolent with £113 13s, the Girls' with £37 9s, and the Boys' with £76 16s.

The transition from the country of the East Saxons to Gloucestershire is in one sense perhaps abrupt, yet it is made on this occasion with so much the greater pleasure because in making it we pass from the contemplation of a sum which is modest in amount to one of considerable proportions. Gloucester has fourteen Lodges, and under the auspices of Lord Sherborne has figured at our Festivals with much credit. It has now a new head in the person of Sir M. Hicks-Beach, Bart., M.P., and it may be that our brethren of this western Province were determined that, as they distinguished themselves at the last Festival which occurred during Lord Sherborne's Mastership, so would they show respect to his successor, the aforesaid Sir M. Hicks-Beach. At all events, four of its Lodges, and the Chapter attached to one of them sent up six Stewards, and their lists amounted, all told, to £263 11s, as against £234 5s, taken up by five Stewards at the last Boys' Festival. At the Girls' Festival last April there were six Stewards, whose contributions amounted to £358 1s. At the Benevolent, two months earlier in the year, four Stewards took up £88 8s. The year 1879—and we need not be at the pains of going further back for the purpose of demonstrating a proposition which is self-evident—it gave the Benevolent, through the medium of three Stewards, £148 12s; the Girls' School, per five Stewards, £312 19; and the Boys' School, per four Stewards, £378 10s. Thus, at the seven Festivals to which we have referred, its contributions amount to over £1784, which represents an average of as nearly as possible £255 per Festival.

Hants and the Isle of Wight, with its 35 Lodges, and its zealous and popular chief, Bro. Beach, falls but little short of £300, its six Stewards sending in amongst them £297 13s. At the Boys' Festival in July last it figured for £2 2 3s, with five representatives. At that of the Girls' it contributed £162 15s, there being still a list to account for, and at the Benevolent it gave £100 12s. In 1879 it supported the Benevolent to the extent of £187 8s 6d, for the Girls' School it raised £99 15s 6d (one list unaccounted at the time), and for the Boys' £173 2s. Each Institution was assisted both in 1877 and 1878, but when Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., presided at the Boys' Festival in the former year, the eleven Stewards among them sent up £624 1s. Bro. Beach and the brethren in this district are to be congratulated on so rich a display of liberality, but what shall be said of Herts, with its modest list of eleven Lodges, and its splendid total of £456? Six or the larger half of the Lodges sent up representatives, the Watford, No. 404, being first with £212 11s 6d; the Gladsmuir, of Barnet, No. 1385, being second with £105, the result of worthy Bro. J. G. Yolland's labour. Bro. T. S. Coates, as representing the Hertford, No. 443, taking third place with £71 15s. The Gresham, No. 869, per Bro. Copestick, sent £52 10s. In July last this Province sent up to the Boys' Festival two Stewards, who together gave in £290. The Girls' received £78 15s, and the Benevolent £218 8s 6d, with one list outstanding. In 1879 its contributions at the several Festivals in the order of their occurrence were—Benevolent, £144 10s; Girls', £144 2s; Boys', £25. In 1878 they were, in the same order—Benevolent, £645 11s 6d; Girls', £68 5s; and Boys', £26 5s. This is, indeed, a gratifying record of contributions, of which even a far larger Province would have good reason to be proud.

Kent, as our readers are aware, has a well-organised system, and under such circumstances it would, indeed, be surprising if its contributions were not regular and liberal. Of its forty-and-five Lodges, seven sent representatives, and the six lists returned make up £358 14s 6d. At the Boys' Festival, the eleven Stewards took up £563. At the Girls' it gave, per nine Stewards, with one list still to come, £571 10s 6d, while the Benevolent received by the hands of eight Stewards £236 9s. In 1879, it contributed to the R.M.B.I. £132 4s, to the Girls' £408 3s 6d, and to the Boys' £485 6s 6d. The total of its contributions at these seven Festivals is £3055 2s, giving an average of over £436 per Festival. To offer praise in the face of such loyal fulfilment of our most important duty, would be superfluous. If we could follow Kent back to the year 1875, from which our analyses are usually reckoned, we should find the same brilliant display with the same regularity of representation.

Owing to the great length of our remarks on this Festival, we find ourselves under the necessity of holding over the remaining portion till next week.

Bro. A. W. Woodliffe, who acted as Steward for the Vitruvian Lodge, No. 87, at the recent Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, has written and requested us to correct a clerical error, which, though no fault of ours, occurred in the list of subscriptions he handed in. The amount standing against his name should have been not £45 17s 6d, but £55 17s 6d. It affords us great pleasure to make the correction.

A new Lodge, to be named "The Chine Lodge," is to be opened at Shanklin on Monday next. The foundation stone of the New Masonic Hall at Shanklin is to be laid the same day.

NEPTUNE LODGE, No. 22.

THE first meeting of this Lodge since the election of Bro. George Britton as W. Master was held on Thursday, 24th ult., at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street. Amongst those present were Bros. W. Ashwell I.P.M., James Harper, Ph. D., S.W., John James Slater J.W., Isaac Wilcox P.M. Treasurer, T. R. Eames P.M. Hon. Sec., Henry Povey S.D., Robert W. Coulcher J.D., William Cook I.G., E. F. Storr P.M. D.C., James Norman P.M., C. H. Harcourt P.M., J. Parkinson Tyler. Visitors—Bros. W. J. Iliffe 78, Alfred Godfrey 192. Lodge was opened shortly before four o'clock with the customary observances, when the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Lodge was advanced, and Bros. W. J. E. Crane, H. F. Griffin and McGregor having replied satisfactorily to the usual interrogations, were entrusted, and on their return to the Lodge were raised to the sublime degree by the W. Master who, taking into account this was his experimental office in the chair, acquitted himself in a manner which afforded not only satisfaction and edification to those present, but foreshadowed a result which might have scarcely been expected after recent experiences from "the Little Britton." To speak candidly, the ceremony partook of an intellectual and sagacious turn which one has really little ground to expect from so young a Master, and it gave promise of a substantial upholding which the old Neptune has gained for perfection of working. Then the Lodge was lowered, and Bros. G. M. Vane and E. S. Hopper were passed, the same adherence to the ritual, and confidence of working being manifested by the W.M., showing how thoroughly he enters into the exercise of his onerous duties. To vary the proceedings, Lodge was again lowered, and the ballot was prepared for Mr. Leon Victor Walker, on the nomination of Bro. H. Povey, seconded by the W. Master. The voting was unanimous, and Mr. Walker was duly initiated into the mysteries and privileges of the Order by the W. Master, ably supported by his Officers. The working was described by distinguished Visitors as excellent, and a pattern to any Lodge in or out of the metropolis; and it is hardly necessary to say it afforded unbounded satisfaction to all present, and redounded the utmost credit upon the new Master. After the transaction of the usual business the brethren adjourned to the banquetting-room, where a récherché repast was spread by Messrs. Ritter and Clifford. The prefatory toasts being disposed of, the I.P.M. gave the health of the W.M., alluding, in felicitous terms, to the manner in which Bro. Britton had acquitted himself on the first occasion of his experience in his new office, and congratulated him on his successful debut. The Worshipful Master, in acknowledging the compliment paid him, alluded to the difficulty he had experienced in changing from one degree to another in order to cope with the mass of work brought before him on the first occasion of his having to discharge the onerous duties of the chair; but he had endeavoured to give satisfaction to the Lodge. In turn he gave the health of the Initiate, whom he was pleased to welcome to their assemblies. It was always a source of satisfaction to admit amongst their numbers gentlemen in whom they had confidence, and who they knew would help them to maintain the prestige of the good old Neptune Lodge. He felt convinced that the Neptune was gaining ground in the estimation of the outside world, and this was sufficiently evidenced by the number of gentlemen who were anxious to enter within its pale. He had known Bro. Walker for a considerable time, and was pleased to have the opportunity of seconding Bro. Povey's nomination. From his acquaintance with Bro. Walker he was satisfied he would become a useful member, and an ornament to the Craft. Bro. Walker thanked the brethren heartily for the cordiality with which they had received the mention of his name, and desired to express his gratitude, especially to his friend Bro. Henry Povey and the Worshipful Master, for having afforded him the opportunity of enrolling his name under the banner of this old and reputed Lodge. He could only say it would be his endeavour to become an apt student of the art, and he trusted no member of the Neptune Lodge would ever have cause to regret having admitted him as a member of its honourable association, but that he might in time become a true and upright man and Mason. The Worshipful Master then, in eulogistic terms, proposed the Past Masters, in doing which he expressed his heartfelt gratitude to those veterans who had lent him such valuable aid. If the Lodge was celebrated for its excellence and renown, it was to the Past Masters that the credit was due, and whose excellent example he was most anxious to emulate. He could have wished that more of the older members of the Lodge were present; still he was happy to see half-a-dozen Past Masters amongst them that evening, testifying their continued interest in the Lodge. Bro. Harcourt P.M., in responding, alluded to his connection with the Lodge for more than a quarter of a century, and said he recollected the time when fourteen or sixteen Past Masters put in an appearance at their gatherings. But circumstances interfered, and he regretted that physical affliction had kept him away for more than two years. This was a source of regret to him, as he hoped it was to the Lodge; still he had the interests of the Lodge at heart, and should do all he could to promote its welfare. The toast of the Visitors was acknowledged by Bro. Iliffe, who congratulated the Worshipful Master and his Officers upon the excellence of their work, and their munificent hospitality. Bro. Godfrey also responded, and said it gave him great pleasure to witness the manner in which the ritual of the Order had been expounded by their Worshipful Master. No doubt Bro. Britton had great difficulty in changing the different degrees, which must have been a tax upon the memory, but he (Bro. Godfrey) was certain that the disquisition he had given must have afforded the utmost satisfaction to all assembled. He thanked them heartily for the reception which had been accorded to the visitors, and which was but proverbial of the Neptune Lodge. The W.M. then proposed the health of the Treasurer and Secretary, in responding to which, Bro. Isaac Wilcox P.M. said it had been a source of pleasure to him to see the progress the Neptune Lodge had made. He hoped it would continue in the same state of prosperity, though he thought the time approached when he should relinquish the office he had held in it for so many years. He began to think the time had come when he should resign his duties into younger hands, for however well one might discharge a duty, one might hold office too long. He had thought it over seriously, and merely threw it out as a hint that he had occupied the position long enough. As soon as he could see a brother who would undertake the duty, and would be as constant in his attendance as he had been during the many years he had occupied that position, he should ask the brethren to release him from the post; and he was sure they would accept his nomination, because he would not recommend any one as Treasurer who was not a constant attendant at Lodge. He had been connected with the old Neptune for thirty years, and had only missed four of its meetings during the whole of that period. He told them this in order that they might not be surprised if he stated the time had come when a younger man should be elected to the office he now filled. Bro. Eames also briefly responded, and said the work, though onerous, was work that he liked, and the satisfaction of the brethren was his best reward. The W.M. then gave the Officers of the Lodge, which toast was received with the utmost enthusiasm. Bro. J. Harper, in responding, expressed the belief that all the Officers were anxious to maintain the prestige of the Lodge, and to work up gradually to the proud position which the then Wor. Master filled so well. He was satisfied the Officers would support the Wor. Master in the honourable position he held, and only hoped when he passed up to the chair he should be able to do as Bro. Britton had done; he did not wish to do better. The Officers would support him loyally, from beginning to end of his term of office. Bro. J. J. Slater, in returning thanks, also spoke of the excellent working of the Wor. Master, and endorsed the remarks of the last speaker as to the support that would be accorded to him by his Officers. For his own part, he should endeavour to do all he could for the interest of the Lodge, and to maintain for it that prestige it had so long enjoyed. It was a source of satisfaction to him, as it must be to every member, to witness the continued progress and prosperity of the Neptune Lodge; he felt satisfied all the Officers would support the Worshipful Master in his efforts to sustain the dignity and the onerous conditions of his office. Several complimentary toasts were honoured, amongst which thanks were accorded to Bro. Hopper for his valuable assistance at the pianoforte. The Wor. Master took occasion to mention the Masonic Charities, and in the course of an able speech mentioned the splendid result of the Benevolent Festival on the previous night, at which a sum of £14,250 had been subscribed. He (the speaker) had the honour of representing the Girls' School, and Bro. Storr the Boys', at their next Festivals. He was confident the brethren of his Lodge would rally round them and enable them, as heretofore, to take up respectable lists, and thus maintain the name of the Neptune Lodge for its munificence in all essential matters of Charity. Several other toasts were honoured, and the proceedings were enlivened by some excellent songs, Bro. Hopper rendering valuable aid as accompanyist on the pianoforte. Bro. Harper sang, in excellent voice, "Over the garden wall," the "Sapper brigade," and the "Old Rhine wine." Bro. Henry Povey "Complaints," the "Lord Mayor's Coachman," and "Quips the Quaker," all in irresistible style; Bro. Vane sang "Drink, puppy, drink," and "Jack's yarn;" Mr. Mark Hubbard sang "Down amongst the dead men" and "A fresh evening breeze," while several other singers combined to make up a most pleasant and harmonious evening.

LODGE OF PROSPERITY, No 65.

THE meeting of the members of this excellent Lodge for the election of Worshipful Master, Treasurer and Tyler, and for the transaction of other business, was held on Thursday evening, 24th ult., at the Guildhall Tavern, when there was a very large attendance, under the presidency of Bro. C. E. Ferry W.M. Amongst those also present were Bros. W. Chicken S.W., J. Roberts J.W., G. T. Brown P.M. Hon. Sec., J. Sheidler S.D., C. J. Rich J.D., Louis A. Leins P.M. D.C., C. S. Peirce Steward, Chas. Daniel P.M., H. J. Goodall P.M., T. Mullett P.M., &c. Visitors—Bros. Edwd. P. Barlow P.M. 15, Jas. Crow 334, R. Ricking 1227, W. Twyman 184, Thomas G. Davey 1471, W. A. Simmons 1559. Lodge was opened at five o'clock, in accordance with ancient formalities, when the ballot was opened for Bro. C. Ansell, merchant, of 32 Colveston-crescent, Ridley-road (of the Rising Star Lodge, Bloemfontein, O.F.S., No. 1022), proposed by Bro. Goodall, seconded by the W.M., as a joining member. The voting was unanimously in his favour. Lodge was then advanced, and Bros. W. Fencott, H. A. Patience, W. Mattin and R. G. Pocock were duly raised to the sublime degree by the Wor. Master, who performed the ceremony in a most perfect and impressive manner. Bro. W. Chicken was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing year, amidst the acclamations of the brethren, and it was resolved to present a P.M.'s jewel to the retiring Master in token of esteem, and in appreciation of the admirable way in which he had discharged the duties of his office. Bro. J. H. Goodwin P.M. was unanimously re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. C. T. Speight Tyler. Some other business having been transacted, Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to a sumptuous banquet, provided in Messrs. Ritter and Clifford's best style, and personally superintended by Mr. D. Sherwill. At the conclusion of the repast, the customary loyal and Craft toasts were duly honoured, and a most agreeable and harmonious evening was enlivened by some excellent vocal and instrumental music. The installation of Bro. Chicken will take place on the last Thursday in March.

Bro. A. Ginger I.P.M. 901, will rehearse the ceremony of installation at the La Tolerance Lodge of Instruction, No. 538, at the Green Dragon, Maddox-street, W., on Wednesday next, 9th instant.

GOOCH LODGE, No. 1238.

THE ANNUAL meeting of this Lodge for the installation of the W.M. elect, and the appointment and investiture of his Officers, was held at the Albany Hotel, Twickenham, on Monday, 21st ult. Bro. Mesrouze W.M. presided and was very cordially, as well as numerously, supported by the Officers, there being likewise the following strong contingent of visitors, namely:—Bros. W. Whitmarsh 145, H. Foskett 1642, J. S. Adkins W.M. 990, C. A. Walter S.W. 865, Fred. Dunn P.M. 72, W. J. Murlis P.M. 1642, E. M. Lander I.P.M. 1642, J. Bartle J.D. 1642, S. H. Parkhouse P.M. 1642, W. W. Morgan Secretary 211, A. Kent 211, M. Hawkins 1257, J. Fisher 733, and H. T. Smith 1257. After the customary formalities and the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and confirmed, Lodge was advanced, and Bro. Powell having been interrogated to the satisfaction of the brethren and entrusted, withdrew while the Lodge was raised to the third. On his re-admission in due course, the sublime degree of M.M. was conferred upon him, the ceremony being most impressively rendered by Bro. Mesrouze. After the necessary arrangements had been completed, Bros. Cooper and Stephenson were passed to the second degree, both ceremonies being worked by Bro. Mesrouze. A ballot was then taken for Messrs. Robert Coomber, and Frederick W. Jackson, which proved satisfactory in both cases. Bro. Mesrouze having vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Lonsdale P.G.Std. Middlesex, who had kindly taken upon himself the duties of Installing Master, Bro. George Capper Harding W.M. elect was presented for the purpose of receiving the benefits of installation. After Brother Harding had signified in the usual manner his adhesion to both the letter and the spirit of the ancient charges, and all those brethren below the rank of I.M. had withdrawn, a board of Installed Masters was formed, the Wardens' chairs being occupied by Bros. E. C. Woodward and Freeman respectively, the office of D. of C. being undertaken by Bro. Murlis. The ceremony of installation over, and the new W.M. having been saluted in the several degrees, Bro. Harding proceeded with the appointment and investiture of his Officers for the year. These were as follow:—Bros. Varley S.W.—in the temporary absence of Bro. Varley, Bro. Coombes was invested with the collar and jewel of the office—Leith J.W., Baber P.M. Treas., Laxton P.M. Secretary, Gillingham S.D., Mayne J.D., Powell I.G., Linsdell Std., and Bowler Tyler. After the usual addresses and congratulations to Bro. Harding, the Report of the Audit Committee, which was in every respect satisfactory, was submitted and adopted. On the motion of Bro. Lonsdale, seconded by Bro. Mesrouze, Bro. H. C. Levander, Prov. G. Secretary Middlesex, was unanimously, and amid general acclamation elected an honorary member of the Lodge. A proposition for the election of a candidate for the rights and privileges of Freemasonry having been handed in, and the resignation of two members having been accepted, with regret, Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent dinner under the presidency of their newly-installed chief. On the removal of the cloth, the customary Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured. To Bro. Mesrouze I.P.M., as of course, was entrusted the duty of proposing the health of the W.M., and this he did in well-chosen terms that were justly complimentary. Bro. Harding, in response, expressed his sense of gratitude, both for the manner in which his predecessor had proposed his health, and for the reception it had experienced from all present. He should use his best efforts to perform the duties of his high office to the entire satisfaction of the Lodge, and he trusted that when his occupancy of the chair came to an end, it would be found that in those efforts he had been successful. In conclusion, he proposed the health of the P.M.'s, and in associating with it the name of Bro. Mesrouze, he not only paid a compliment to the undoubted abilities which that estimable brother had shown in the office of W.M., but he likewise expressed the pleasure which he personally experienced that the first important duty it had fallen to his lot to discharge was that of presenting to Bro. Mesrouze the handsome P.M.'s jewel, which had been unanimously voted by the Lodge as some slight token of the respect in which he was held, and as a recognition of the able services it had been his fortune to render as Master. When the applause with which Bro. Harding's remarks were received had subsided, Bro. Mesrouze, who was much overcome, and had some difficulty in finding words to express his feelings, returned thanks for his brother P.M.'s, as well as for himself. As to the testimonial he had just received, he should ever regard it with pride and pleasure. It reminded him, he said, of the decoration of the Legion of Honour, which, as they all knew, was one that every Frenchman, who was held worthy of having it bestowed upon him, appreciated most highly. The other toasts having been given, the brethren rose and separated, after having spent a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

City of Westminster Lodge, No. 1563.—A meeting was held on Thursday, 24th Feb., at the Regent Masonic Hall, Air-street, Regent-street. Bros. J. E. Shand W.M., J. Hutchinson S.W., J. Waugh J.W., B. H. Swallow P.M. P.G.S.D. Midd. Treas., E. J. Scott P.M. Sec., Day S.D., J. Hammond W.M. 1765 J.D., T. Eastgate I.G., Potter P.M. Tyler; Bros. Edell, Stevens, Bonham, Smith, Taylor, Arnold, Hill, and others. Visitors—Bros. G. W. Reed P.M. 13, J. Charles P.M. 19, H. T. Reed P.M. 193 and 1287, J. L. Moore P.M. 169, E. H. Hoare S.D. 1765, J. Mills 1765, and B. Cohen 188. Mr. W. G. Higgins was duly balloted for and initiated. Bros. Davies, Quested, and Morton were duly passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. Propositions were given for next meeting. Bro. Scott (Sec.) expressed a wish to serve as Steward for the Girls'; and the sum of twenty guineas was voted to his list from the funds. The brethren, thirty-five in number, afterwards dined at the Cafe Royal. After an excellent dinner the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given by the W.M., Bro. Shand. The Initiate responded in well-chosen words. The Visitors expressed themselves pleased with the work of the Lodge room, and eloquently as to the hospitality proffered them. The contribution of songs and music made the evening very enjoyable. The brethren separated after the Tyler' toast, about eleven o'clock, until April.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I am very glad "A VETERAN M.M." has drawn attention to a practice which is far too common on the part of young brethren, especially if they have been appointed to high office without possessing the requisite qualification, of setting themselves up as authoritative expositors of Masonic law and propriety. It must have highly amused your correspondent to hear a representative of this class of brother announcing his intention of acquiring forthwith certain knowledge he ought to have possessed, and then almost in one and the same breath condemning the conduct of a case, as to the merits of which, I should say, he had only received ex parte information, and the action of your journal in reference thereto. Still more amusing must it have been to hear this "half-fledged brother" say that owing to this case and your action, he and another Mason had for a brief time "seriously intended throwing up Freemasonry altogether." A grave and reverend seignior of the Craft would have been justified in offering an opinion on the policy pursued or advocated in certain circumstances, and had such a one thought fit to do so, he would doubtless have expressed himself in grave and dignified terms, so as to offend none who might chance to differ with him.

I cannot say the conduct noted by your correspondent surprises me greatly. Human nature is much the same within, as, without the pale of Masonry, and I have, again and again, remarked how common a practice it is with the young men of this generation to set themselves up as authorities on even the most difficult questions, and that, too, in the presence of their seniors who are old enough and sensible enough not to arrogate to themselves a knowledge they cannot possibly possess. When I was a young man—which, I am sorry to say, was a good many years since—it was the elders who laid down the law, and the young who accepted the exposition; but now this order of things is reversed. I would suggest to these precocious youths that it would be well if they took a leaf out of the book of North American Indians, at all events as they have been described by Fennimore Cooper in the Last of the Mohicans and his other novels. Among them the Chiefs spoke, and their juniors listened in respectful silence; nor did the latter venture on offering an opinion until they were invited to do so.

I remain, fraternally yours,

OLD SCHOOL.

ENGLISH AND FOREIGN IDEAS ABOUT FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I was unable, through other engagements, to attend the Communication of Grand Lodge yesterday evening, but from the accounts I have read in this morning's papers of its proceedings, I gather that the Grand Lodge of the Netherlands some time since addressed a letter to our Grand Lodge for the purpose of enlisting its good offices on behalf of the Boers of the Transvaal in their struggle for independence of the British Crown. The Earl of Lathom D.G.M. occupied the throne, and he announced that Grand Master the Prince of Wales, in reply, had stated that such a course would be out of the question, seeing that any attempt at interference with questions of a religious and political character would be most unconstitutional. This reminds me of a statement made by Pro Grand Master the Earl of Carnarvon, in his address at the installation of the Prince of Wales, when his lordship remarked that he feared that in some foreign countries politics and Freemasonry were occasionally mixed up together, and that Masons' Lodges were often turned to account for the dissemination of political views. There were those who seemed inclined to question the accuracy of the Pro Grand Master's statement, but this action of the Netherlands Grand Lodge in soliciting the interference of ours in a question which is essentially political, should, I think, set those doubts at rest once and for all.

Yours fraternally,

London, 3rd March 1881. H. K. B.

GRAND LODGE.

THE Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge of English Freemasons was held on Wednesday evening at Freemasons' Hall. The Earl of Lathom Deputy Grand Master presided. Lord Tenterden Prov. Grand Master for Essex, Sir F. Burdett, Bart., Prov. Grand Master for Middlesex, Bros. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. Grand Master for Hants and the Isle of Wight, Montague Guest, M.P., Provincial Grand Master for Dorset, and numerous distinguished brethren, besides about 500 other Masons were present. Grand Secretary (Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke) announced that the resolution of last Grand Lodge, congratulating Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales on attaining her 36th birthday, had been engrossed, framed, and glazed, and forwarded to Her Royal Highness; and a letter had been received from her private secretary acknowledging its receipt, and accepting the resolution. Her Royal Highness also desired that the expression of her thanks for it might be conveyed to the brethren who were present when the resolution was passed. On the motion of Bro. J. M. Case P.G.D., seconded by Bro. Magnus Ohren Assistant Grand Director of Ceremonies, the letter was ordered to be entered on the minutes. The Earl of Lathom then said he had received the commands of His Royal Highness the Grand Master to make a statement to Grand Lodge. A few days ago he (the Earl of Lathom) received a letter from the Grand Lodge of the Netherlands, enclosing a resolution passed at their last meeting, on the 13th of February, requesting him, as their representative in Grand Lodge of England, to present it to Grand Lodge. As, however, that resolution was to the effect that the Grand Lodge of the Netherlands requested the good offices of the Grand Lodge of England towards obtaining the re-establishment of the Transvaal Republic, he (the Earl of Lathom) replied, with the entire concurrence and approval of His Royal Highness the Grand Master, that however anxious he might be to comply with their wishes, inasmuch as it was one of the fundamental principles of English Masonry that no question, either of a religious or of a political nature, could ever be brought forward or discussed at any of their meetings, he could only regret that, in accordance with such principle, he felt himself entirely precluded from acceding to their request. Major Bond rose on a question of privilege, having given a notice of motion to the Board of Masters for a committee of inquiry into the status of the Masonic Institutions. This notice was refused acceptance by the President of the Board of Masters, on the ground that Grand Lodge had no jurisdiction over the Charities of the Order. Bro. McIntyre, Q.C., advised G. Lodge that the President of the Board of Masters was quite right, and the Earl of Lathom ruled that Major Bond could not be heard. Bro. E. Letchworth, in proposing the re-election of the Prince of Wales as G.M., said he should be guilty not only of presumption, but of great injustice to Grand Lodge, were he vain enough for one moment to imagine that any words of his were necessary to arouse the loyalty of the brethren, or secure for this motion that hearty and unanimous support which he knew they would accord to it. But it might not be unfitting if on that occasion he reminded them that the year just closed was one which would ever be memorable in the history of the Order—a history no page of which would be more full of interest than that which chronicled how, on the 20th May 1880, Grand Lodge was held in the newly-constituted City of Truro, and how his Royal Highness the Duke of Cornwall, as Grand Master of English Masons, with all the solemn pomp and state of Masonic ceremonial, laid the foundation stone of that sacred edifice, with which his name would for ever be associated. He might also recall how, more recently, the Grand Master deigned to accept the hospitality—the splendid hospitality of a distinguished officer of Grand Lodge, at that time Lord Mayor of London. On that occasion many of them who were privileged to receive from the lips of His Royal Highness an assurance of his deep and unabated interest in all matters connected with the Craft, an interest which His Royal Highness told them would continue so long as he lived. He (Bro. Letchworth) was sure he was only giving utterance to the sentiment of every brother in Grand Lodge, and of every Mason throughout the land, when he expressed the fervent hope that H.R.H. might for many years continue to reign over that Grand Lodge, and that the day might be far distant when he would be called upon to exchange the gavel for the sceptre. Dr. Meadows seconded the motion, and the Earl of Lathom added a few words, testifying from his own personal knowledge to the ability and assiduity with which the Prince of Wales performed every duty which he undertook. The election was unanimous, and H.R.H. the Prince of Wales was proclaimed Grand Master by Sir Albert Woods. Colonel Creaton was re-elected Grand Treasurer, on the motion of Bro. Sampson Pierce, seconded by Bro. J. M. Case. The motion of Bro. Tudor Trevor was referred to the Board of General Purposes. Grand Lodge was then closed.

YORK COLLEGE OF ROSICRUCIANS.

THIS Masonic Archæological Body, meeting under the authority of the High Council of England, held its annual gathering at York, on Saturday, 26th ult. The Ch. Adept Fra. T. B. Whytehead IX. presided, and there were also present the following fratres:—Rev. W. C. Lukis VII. Suffr., J. S. Cumberland VII. Celeb., T. J. Wilkinson VI. P.A., W. Roley VI. S.A., J. Oates I. as T.A., R. W. Moore I. as Q.A., J. Maffey IV. as C.N., J. M. Meek I. as G.T., T. W. Holmes VI. T.B., J. W. Woodall IV., J. C. Thompson I. and J. F. Taylor I. Successful ballots were taken for the following brethren:—A. M. Broadley P.D.D.G.M. (Malta), J. A. Bindley P.M. 624 (Burton-on-Trent), Rev. J. Metcalfe, M.A. No. 1611 (York), and W. Fourness No. 1211 (Leeds). The following accepted aspirants were then introduced and admitted to the grade of Zelator:—Bros. J. J. Wilkes (Darlington), J. Todd P.M. (York), W. Bakewell (Leeds), and A. M. Broadley (Tunis). At the conclusion of the ceremonial, the Ch. Adept addressed the fratres, reviewing the work of the College since its commencement, and indicating its work for the future. He especially dwelt on the delight, as well as the necessity for Masonic investigation, and showed the advantages to be gained from the examination of old minutes and other Masonic memoranda which were too often permitted to be neglected and unsearched. He alluded to the admission that day of Fra. Broadley, who was exactly the kind of Mason they desired to enrol, and mentioned that it was Fra. Broadley's desire to open a college at Tunis on the ruins of ancient Carthage. The report of the Auditors having been adopted, Fra. Broadley was requested by the Ch. Adept to read some notes he had prepared on the Carthaginian remains, and the symbolic marks of the Phœnician builders. This he did in a most interesting manner, and the paper was ordered to be printed at the request of the fratres. The election of officers for the year then took place as follows: Fra. T. W. Holmes VI. Celeb, J. S. Cumberland VII. Secretary and Treasurer, Walter Rowley VI. P.A., E. P. Peterson V. S.A., C. L. Mason V. T.A., W. Watson IV. Q.A., J. Maffey IV. C. of N., J. M. Meek I., and R. W. Moore I. Heralds, J. C. Thompson I. G.T., E. Linck I. T.B., Wm. Paley I. Medallist. The Acolyte was re-elected, and it was resolved to hold the next meeting on some Wednesday in May. Two candidates were proposed; a number of letters of apology were read from absent members, and the M.C. was dissolved. During the earlier portion of the day the Ch. Adept and some of the Fratres inspected the parchment constitutions, minute books, &c., of the Grand Lodge of All England at York, Bro. J. Todd, Treasurer of the York Lodge, having kindly had the Masonic Hall opened for the purpose.

West Middlesex Lodge of Instruction, No. 1612.—At the Feathers' Hotel, Ealing, on Thursday, 24th ult. Bros. H. E. Tucker W.M., Wilkinson S.W., C. Andrews P.M. J.W., Porter S.D., J. Green J.D., J. Wells I.G.; also Bros. Simpkin and H. Stephens. The work of the evening comprised the rehearsal of the ceremony of initiation, Bro. E. C. Porter candidate. Lodge was opened to the third degree and closed to first, when the brethren elected Bro. Wilkinson W.M. for the next meeting.

Kings Cross Lodge of Instruction, No. 1732.—On the 27th ultimo, at Bro. Devine's, Blue Posts, Charlotte-street, Fitzroy-square. Bros. L. Solomons W.M., J. Edwards S.W., F. Silvester J.W., Birrell S.D., F. Guyer J.D., Devine Treasurer, L. Jacobs as Secretary, B. Kauffmann I.G., J. Hemming Preceptor, and thirty-one brethren. The first section of the first lecture was worked. The ceremony of initiation was ably rehearsed by the W.M., Bro. Douglass acting as candidate. The fourth section was then worked. Bro. Burgess practised the formula of investing officers. Bro. Snowden 157 was elected a member. Bro. J. Edwards was appointed W.M. for the ensuing week. After the Lodge had been closed, a ballot took place for a Life Governorship of one of the Masonic Charities, in connection with the Benevolent Association attached to this Lodge of Instruction.

FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE

23 GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

RECORDS OF EXTINCT LODGES.

—:o:—

THE MARINERS' LODGE, No. 576, SELBY.

By Bro. T. B. Whytehead.

SOME time ago I placed before your readers an account of the extinct Lodge once held at the Punch Bowl Inn, at York. I now have much pleasure in giving a sketch of the career of the Mariners' Lodge, at Selby, near York—a Lodge which existed apparently less than twenty years, but which during that period did a good deal of work. Its minutes are now in the safe custody of the St. Germain's Lodge, No. 566, at Selby, and I am indebted to the courtesy of the Worshipful Master and Secretary of that Lodge for the privilege of examining them thoroughly.

The Minute-Book is in excellent preservation, and has on the first page a form of summons issued by the Lodge. Below this is the following entry:—

"In the making, after the prayer in Preston's Illustrations, last chapter in 2nd Thessalonians to be read previous to the obligation. In the 2nd Degree we read the 13th chapter 1st Corinthians, and in the 3rd Degree 13th Hebrews, all previous to the obligation."

The first minute records the constitution of the Lodge, which took place on the 7th of June 1799. The ceremony was performed by four brethren of the Union Lodge at York (now the York Lodge, 236), and Bro. Hardisty, of the now extinct Apollo Lodge, who were appointed by the Provincial Grand Master for the purpose. Five or six brethren of Selby were also present. Having read their authority, which was signed by Bro. J. Watson, on behalf of the Provincial Grand Master, the "deputation" constituted the Lodge, and "dedicated it to Holy St. John the Baptist, to Freemasonry, Virtue, and Universal Charity and Benevolence." An Oration was given by Bro. Lund, the Secretary. The First Lecture was given by a second brother, the Second Lecture by Bro. Lund, and the third by a Past Master of the Union Lodge. A ballot was taken for a Worshipful Master, and Bro. A. Shepherd was chosen. "The health of the W.M. Elect was drank with Masonic Honours, and he was duly invested with the insignia of his office," and proceeded to appoint his Officers:—E. Aspinall S.W., Joseph Sawyer J.W., John Sawyer Secretary, and T. Winter Senior Steward. These having been invested, "the charges were given."

On the 12th of the same month an emergency meeting was held, when Bro. John Sawyer was appointed Treasurer, and a candidate was proposed. I may here mention that in all cases the ballot for candidates was taken in the third degree.

On the 21st August 1799 it is recorded that the J.W. acted as W.M. in the absence of the latter, and on the 28th of the same month the same thing occurred, when two candidates were initiated and passed by him.

On the 20th November "it was ordered that the Master shall apply for a constitution for this Lodge," and "harmony prevailed until Bro. Joseph Sawyer J.W. came into the Lodge in a very abrupt and insulting manner to the Order of Masonry, and particularly to the Worshipful Master, whereupon the Lodge was closed." On the 21st November an "Emergency and Inquiry Apprentice Lodge was opened," and it was resolved that the conduct of Sawyer was reprehensible. Accordingly the Apprentice Lodge was closed, and a Master Masons' Lodge was opened, and Sawyer was "unanimously expelled," and the Secretary was ordered to wait on him and inform him of this unpleasant circumstance, and "return him the money he had advanced;" also to inform Bro. E. Peck, the W.M. of the Union Lodge, at York, and also the Lodge at Wakefield.

On the 4th December 1799, Bro. A. Shepherd was re-elected Master. About this time the members seemed to have formed a Masonic Benefit Society for the relief of their own distressed members. Members joining it were regularly proposed and balloted for, and it was quite distinct from the Lodge Funds. In April 1800 Bro. J. Staniland was appointed by the W.M. as Provincial Steward for the Lodge, and in May, of the same year, a Lodge of Instruction was formed.

On June 21, 1800, Bro. E. Aspinall was elected W.M., and an emergency meeting was held to celebrate "the festival of our patron St. John the Baptist." On that occasion "an apprentice Lodge was opened, when E. Aspinall appointed himself to the chair in the absence of our late W.M. A. Shepherd, and installed his officers." A brother was then "exalted" to "the 3rd or Sublime degree." The terms "passed," "raised," and "exalted," were at this time used indiscriminately.

On the 3rd July the W.M. "requested the opinion of the Brethren respecting the proper chairs for the Lodge being procured, which were unanimously ordered to be procured."

In October of this year it was resolved that in future elections should not be by ballot, "all candidates to be publickly announced in full Lodge, and the assent or dissent of the brethren taken accordingly," but in November this resolution was rescinded, and the ballot was again adopted, "as the other method was not according to Masonic rules."

The Mariners' Lodge was staunchly loyal, for I find that in October 1800 "Mr. George Bennett was ballotted for and unanimously approved of, provided he recanted from his former political principles and promised due allegiance to the King and the laws and constitutions of these realmes." Mr. Bennett is described as a "Hatt maker." At this meeting the "lecture was given by Bro. T. Dickinson, who afterwards gave the Apprentice Song." At the following meeting "Mr. R. Bill and Mr. G. Bennett were initiated into the Mistories of Masonry in this Lodge in the first degree, or that of an apprentice, having first declared that they will pay due allegiance to King George the Third and the laws and Constitutions of these Realmes." On the 19th of the same month several brethren were raised to the third degree, and the "Floor Cloth was explained." It was at the same meeting ordered that Bro. Garbutt make "the passage of the staircase properly secure from coeins." The meetings were held throughout at the Rose and Crown Inn.

On 7th January 1801 Bro. J. Coulman, Treasurer, took the chair for the ensuing year. At the February meeting a visiting Brother Chambers "proposed himself" to be a member of the Lodge, and was accepted.

At the April meeting it was "resolved that Bros. Garbutt and Dickinson be requested to go over to York in order to receive instruction in the 3rd degree, and their expenses will be defrayed by the Lodge."

On the 18th November 1801 Bro. Coulman was re-elected, by scroll, to the chair, and on the 16th December the Junior Warden was also elected by scroll, the only instance on the minutes. In February 1802 fees for registration in Grand Lodge were paid by the brethren in consequence of a communication received from Bro. W. White Grand Secretary. At the next meeting a letter was read from Bro. Hartley, Secretary of the St. George's Lodge of East York Militia, notifying the expulsion of a brother for fraudulent conduct. In December 1820 the Lodge had enrolled 45 members, and Bro. Coulman was again re-elected to the chair, out of six brethren, who were eligible. On the 7th August 1803 a letter was read from Bro. Teally, W.M. of the Minerva Lodge, Hull, stating that two brethren had been expelled the Lodge for intoxication. It was resolved to send a letter of thanks for the information to the Minerva Lodge, and a hope was expressed that "the same will act as a caution to the brethren of the Mariners' Lodge." In December 1803 Bro. Thos. Foster was elected W.M., and accordingly at the December meeting, "Bro. Coulman divested himself of the badge of his office, and also divested all the other officers of the different orders of their offices. Bro. T. Foster was then duly exalted to the chair, and invested with the pass and chair word, and jewel of his office. The R.W.M. then duly invested our last Master his P. Master." Two Wardens, Senior and Junior Stewards, and a Tyler were also appointed and invested, but no other officers are mentioned. Bro. Foster seems to have been somewhat remiss in his duties during his term, and on the 1st December 1804 Bro. Coulman was re-elected to the chair.

In March 1805 it was resolved that the members should pay a weekly subscription of a shilling a piece for the State Lottery, and it was proposed that some of the Lodge Funds should be appropriated to the same purpose. This proposal, however, seems to have fallen through. A letter was read from Bro. W. Dignan, Secretary of the Masonic Charity for Female Children, and it was agreed to subscribe a guinea to that Institution.

In December 1805 Bro. Coulman was again re-elected Master, and it was resolved to purchase for the Lodge proper candlesticks, canopies for the chairs, and two globes. The following December Bro. Coulman was once more placed in the chair.

The last minute is dated Sept. 2, 1807, when we are informed that a Masters' Lodge was opened by Bro. C. Garbutt W.M., but there was no business. The Lodge, however, did not then cease to hold meetings, for I find in the Treasurer's cash-book, which is also preserved, entries for payments of Lodge expenses as late as July 6, 1814.

Amongst these cash entries are one or two items worth noting:—

1801.	Bro. Peck for Masonic Almanack - - - -	0	1	6
	Paid Travelling Turk - - - - - -	0	1	0
1802.	Apl. 7. Sashes for Royal Arch - - - -	3	11	9
	(There is no other allusion to the Royal Arch).

1806.	Nov. 5. Attending Provincial Lodge at York -	9	8	9½

One at least of the Secretaries of the Mariners' Lodge must have been unusually illiterate, for the spelling is occasionally marvellous—for instance, "seckerterrey," "prevenshall," "lodgnite," "sallery."

The Lodge members were gathered from all classes, and I find clergy of the Established Church, attorneys, surgeons, gentlemen, tradesmen, and a large proportion of mariners on the register.

Amongst the Visitors to the Lodge at various times were many from the Union Lodge at York, No. 331, as well as from the St. George's Lodge, East York Militia, No. 356. I also find—

16 July 1800. J. Prince, from No. 28, Ancient Masons Lodge, Cork.
3 Sep. 1800. G. Trueman, from Lion Lodge, Whitby.
3 Dec. 1800. Bro. Smallpage, from Fidelity Lodge, Leeds, No. 512.
4 Feb. 1801. R. Chambers, from Jacob's Lodge, Ramsgate.
Bro. Townsend, from Philanthropic Lodge, Leeds, No. 512.
5 Sept. 1804. Bro. Pindar, from Lodge 549, Halifax.
1 Aug. 1804. Bro. Dibb, from Minerva Lodge, Hull.
Bro. Badbey, from No. 7, Woolwich.

6 Mar. 1805. Bro. Prince, from White Hart Lodge, Huddersfield, No. 513.
3 Apl. 1805. Bro. Garnett, from Prince of Wales Lodge, Gainsborough, No. 423.
5 June 1805. R. Darbey, from Lodge of Attention (sic), Lynn.
7 Aug. 1805. J. Mentrup, from Rodney Lodge, Hull.
5 Mar. 1806. G. Schofield, from Lodge 2, Cannongate, Edinburgh.
3 Dec. 1806. T. Sissons, from Minervey (sic) Lodge, Hull.
3 June 1807. J. Lee, from St. Matthew's Lodge, 406, Barton.

The St. Germain's Lodge carefully preserves several relics of the Mariners' Lodge. The Master's chair, the back adorned by a blazing sun, surrounded by the motto, "Sit Lux et Lux Fuit;" half a dozen engraved glasses; three pedestals, about a foot high, for candlesticks; the old square and the Junior Warden's column. These are all worth examination, and it is gratifying to know that they are in such excellent hands. Bro. William Rawling P.M. has for eighteen years acted as Secretary of the St. Germain's Lodge, and is an excellent specimen of the hearty and hospitable Yorkshire Mason. His Lodge occupies very comfortable premises of its own. The Lodge room is elegantly furnished, and adorned with many portraits and engravings presented by the members. The chairs are emblematically painted, and adorned with symbols of the sun, moon, and stars, and everything seems to be maintained in excellent order, thanks to the energy and generosity of the brethren, conspicuous amongst whom, I understand, is Bro. Weddall, of Selby, the oldest Past Master of the Lodge.

To the courtesy of Bro. Rawling P.M., Bro. J. Dunn the I.P.M., and Bro. J. T. Atkinson P.M., the Master of the Ceremonies, I am indebted for the opportunity afforded me of preparing these Notes.

To complete the sketch, I ought perhaps to refer to the By-laws of the Lodge agreed upon in 1799. They provide for fines of various amounts to be inflicted on members found guilty of addressing the chair sitting, of coming to the Lodge in liquor, of swearing, profane talking, laying wagers, or refractory behaviour. The Secretary was to be fined 2s 6d for neglecting to summon the members. The ballot for candidates was to be unanimous. The fee was three guineas, the joining fee 12s 6d, the subscription 5s a quarter. The Lodge was to be closed at ten o'clock, and any member remaining after eleven was to be fined 5s. A candidate blackballed could not be again proposed. The Lodge was not closed for refreshments, but these were to be put on a side table, and any one partaking of them was to pay sixpence.

ANNIVERSARY OF BRO. HUGHES'S WEDDING DAY.

ON Friday, the 25th ult., a numerous assemblage of the relations and friends of Bro. Hughes, P.M. of the Manchester Lodge, and his amiable wife, met at the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, to celebrate the thirty-second anniversary of their wedding day. The company were received by Bro. Hughes and Mrs. Hughes in the Drawing-room of the Tavern, and forty-five guests sat down to a sumptuous and récherché banquet and dessert, provided by Bro. A. Best, and superintended by Bro. Dawkins. Owing to the care and attention of Bro. Hughes and his sons, there was nothing that could be desired by those who were present. Bro. Hughes was supported by Bros. Hopekirk, Kew, Benet, and Lovett, Past Masters of his Lodge, and these brethren were accompanied by their wives. The Officers of the Lodge were in attendance, in addition to several of the members. Bro. W. Hughes jun., in feeling terms, remarked how pleased he was to say the paternal feeling predominated on this, the thirty-second anniversary of his parents' wedding day. He should say but few words; he trusted that they might be spared for many years to gladden the hearts of their relatives and the numerous friends present on that social occasion. After a capital and appropriate song by Bro. Milward, Bro. Hughes said how pleased he was to see his relations and numerous other dear friends around him; he hoped, if spared, to meet them for many years. Bro. Hopekirk P.M., in humorous terms, responded to the toast of the Ladies. After a song from Mr. Hamilton, Miss Amy Hughes delighted the company with a song, in which she was accompanied by Miss K. Hughes. Bro. Hopekirk had now great pleasure in proposing the health of the sons and daughters of Bro. Hughes. All present had heard how eloquently the son had spoken of his parents, and now he (Bro. Hopekirk) might say the daughters were equally worthy of their regard and esteem. They had exhibited great talent both in painting and music. He would ask the company to drink to the toast heartily and enthusiastically. After this compliment had been acknowledged by Bro. Hughes jun., the ladies and brethren adjourned to the Ball-room, where music and dancing was thoroughly enjoyed till an early hour. The pleasant gathering terminated with the expressed hope that Bro. and Mrs. Hughes might be spared to celebrate their golden wedding. Madame Benet, Mrs. Milward, Bros. Dickinson, Milward, W. Hughes, and Mr. Hamilton contributed to the harmony.

The Fifteen Sections will be worked on Monday, 28th inst., at the West Smithfield Lodge of Instruction, Cathedral Hotel, Cheapside, on which occasion Bro. G. H. Stephens will preside. It may be remembered that this meeting was to have taken place some time since, but was postponed by reason of the illness of Bro. Stephens's wife. Bro. Barnes will occupy the chair of S.W., Bro. Myers that of J.W., and Bro. Musto will act as I.P.M. It is expected that a very large number of influential workers will be present, the brethren whose names are down for the various sections being among the most prominent in the Craft.

Bro. C. Cordingley, of Hammersmith, was unanimously elected Worshipful Master of the Strong Man Lodge, No. 45, on Thursday evening. The Installation Ceremony will take place at Masons' Tavern, Masons'-avenue, on Thursday, 7th April.

Kingston Chapter, No. 86, of Sovereign Princes, Rose Croix.

ILLUSTRIOUS BROTHER WILLIAM FREDERICK PORTLOCK DADSON, 32°.

Illustrious Sir and Brother,—We have heard with great regret that you are about to sever your connection with this island, and that you contemplate soon a return to the land which gave you birth.

While we would not, if we could, deny you the pleasure which is in store for you at once again beholding the glad countenances and joyful smiles of your wife and children on your return to England, we do say that we part with you with infinite regret.

Since your advent in Jamaica you have endeared yourself to all classes of individuals, and especially to Masons, by your fraternal intercourse with them. We bear witness to your zeal for Freemasonry generally, and to the anxious solicitude which you have always evinced for the proper working and advancement of the higher degrees in Freemasonry in Jamaica.

To your influence and assistance is this Chapter indebted for its existence, and though you go from us, still we shall always feel your presence among us. We trust that you will long live to illustrate by your life and actions the beauty and excellence of our Order, of which you have made yourself a high, distinguished, and respected member.

We breathe the earnest prayer that you may be conducted safely to your home and to the bosom of your family, under the especial guidance of "Him who is the way, the Truth, and the Life;" that you may ever enjoy the esteem of your fellows, and that you may continue so to live that when your life on earth is ended you may, in God's good time, appear before the Great White Throne on High, and there receive from our Great Immanuel, who is "the Rose of Sharon and the Lily of the Valley," the glad welcome, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of your Lord."

Finally, let us wish you, as members of this Chapter, a sad, fond adieu, and that God will pour down His choicest blessings upon your wife, your children, and yourself.

Jamaica Chapter (Rose Croix).—The regular meeting of this Chapter took place on the 26th January, at the Sussex Masonic Hall, 57 Hanover-street, Kingston. Jones, C. H. Davis, W. S. Magnus, E. Boliver Wolfe, A. H. Alexander, Gerald Waldron, R. Langley, F. A. Skeete; Bro. Albert Da Costa as Equerry. Excellent Bro. B. Mortimer Diaz was elected an honorary member of the Chapter. Bro. Frederick Adolphus Skeete, of Bridgetown, Barbadoes, was duly perfected in the eighteenth degree. Illustrious Bro. C. W. Steer 30 was elected by ballot as Most Worshipful Sovereign, and Excellent Bro. C. H. Warden presiding, in the unavoidable absence of Bro. Commander Warry, R.N. The members present included Captain Marvin S.W., Dr. Cormac McCormack J.W., F. S. Sanguinetti S.D., I. A. Bro. the Rev. Acheson Findlay was appointed Chaplain of the Lodge, in succession to Bro. the Rev. Hugh Croskery, M.D., who has left the island. Lieutenant John Holland Harwood, 2nd West India Regiment, was initiated, and Bro. Captain Robert F. Devereux, of the 2nd West India Regiment, was proposed for ballot as a joining member.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—During every break of wintry weather exertions should be made by the afflicted to recover health before unremitting cold and trying storms set in. Throat ailments, coughs, wheezings, asthmatical affections, shortness of breath, morning nausea, and accumulation of phlegm, can readily be removed by rubbing this fine derivative Ointment twice a day upon the chest and neck. Holloway's treatment is strongly recommended with the view of giving immediate ease, preventing prospective danger, and effecting permanent relief. These all-important ends his Ointment and Pills can accomplish, and will surely prevent insidious diseases from fastening on the constitution to display themselves afterwards in those disastrous forms that will probably embitter life till death itself is almost prayed for.

MARK MASONRY.

ON 22nd ult. there was a gathering of the Mark Masons of the Province of Cornwall, at St. Austell, the occasion being the consecration of a new Mark Lodge, to be known hereafter as the "St. Austell," No. 275 on the roll of the Mark Grand Lodge of England. The meeting was held at the elegant little Masonic Hall belonging to the Peace and Harmony Craft Lodge. The imposing ceremonial of the consecration of the Lodge was conducted by the Deputy Prov. Grand Master, ably assisted by Bros. Hughan, Johns and West, acting P.G.S.W.; Bros. W. P. Smith acted as P.G.J.W., Controller Blake as Past Grand Sword Bearer, Emra Holmes as Provincial Grand Director of Ceremonies, the Rev. E. Gill as Provincial Grand Chaplain and Organist. The Provincial Grand Secretary read the warrant constituting the Lodge, signed by the Earl of Lathom Grand Mark Master, on 1st January last, which mentioned as the founders, Bros. W. J. Hughan, C. Truscott jun., W. J. West, W. Guy, W. Mason, W. Luke, T. H. Lukes, J. W. Higman. The Lodge having been duly dedicated and constituted, the ballot was taken for the following, as joining members, who were all unanimously elected:—Bros. Sir Charles G. Sawle, Bart., Rev. E. E. Gill, R. Parson, W. P. Smith, H. De Legh, and W. Nettle. The ballot was then taken for the following brethren, candidates for advancement to the degree of M.M., who were also unanimously accepted:—Wor. Bros. Rev. F. B. Paul P.M. 1151 Past Provincial Grand Chaplain, T. J. Smith P.M. 496, J. Job P.M. 496, F. Williams P.M. 977 Past Provincial Grand Sword Bearer, F. Parkyn P.M. 856; Bros. W. Tredinnick J.D. 496, J. de Cressy Treffry J.D. 977, A. Sheriff Clunes D.C. 977, J. A. Blamey I.G. 1785, C. K. Stevens S.D. 977, B. Houseley S.D. 496, J. Holt J.W. 856, W. J. Watts 496, W. Real Tyler 496. The whole of the brethren being present, with the exception of Bros. Paul, Job, Stevens and Parkyn, they were duly and regularly obligated and advanced to the honourable degree of Mark Master Mason, the impressive and dramatic ceremony being performed by Bro. W. J. Hughan with his customary ability. The learned brother—whose works on Masonry are known and read wherever the English language is spoken, and nowhere perhaps more widely than in the United States of America—then delivered an oration on the principles of Mark Masonry, which was listened to with great interest and attention. He mentioned incidentally that there was a Mark Lodge held at Redruth in 1806, and that a Knight Templar Encampment had been held there since 1797. Dwelling upon the great antiquity of the Mark as a degree, he said he had seen the charter of a Mark Lodge in Scotland, with Marks of the members attached, of the date of 1678. These members were noblemen, and men of various professions, as well as operative Masons and other handicraftsmen, which showed that speculative Masonry existed at this period. At the conclusion of this most interesting address, Bro. West installed Bro. C. Truscott, who was presented by Sir Charles Sawle, as W.M. into the chair of A. at a special Lodge of Installed Masters. He then appointed and invested the following as his Officers:—Bros. Mason S.W., Guy J.W., A. Luke M.O., T. S. Lukes S.O., J. W. Higman J.O., A. Luke Treasurer, R. Parsons Secretary, De Legh (by proxy) Reg. of Marks, Rev. E. Gill Chaplain, W. P. Smith Organist, W. Nettle S.D., F. B. Williams J.D., Blamey D.C., J. de C. Treffry I.G., Smith and A. S. Clunes Stewards, Real Tyler. The brethren afterwards dined together, to the number of thirty, at the White Hart Hotel, where a splendid banquet was admirably served, and at a very reasonable cost, by Bro. Lukes, to which ample justice was done. The usual Masonic toasts followed, Bros. W. J. Hughan and Emra Holmes responding to that of the Officers of the Grand Mark Lodge of England. Bro. Hughan, in the very interesting and telling speech he made, showed by the list of names of eminent Masons in the Craft who had filled the office of Grand Master—which could only be held for three years in succession in this degree, and not practically ad vitam as in the Craft—that the Mark degree was held in high estimation by the rulers in Masonry. The present Grand Master was the Earl of Lathom, who was also Deputy Grand Master in the Craft—a nobleman beloved by all who knew him. The Earl of Carnarvon, the Earl of Limerick, Lord Leigh—who were respectively Pro Grand Master, Provincial Grand Master of Bristol, and Provincial Grand Master of Warwickshire in the Craft—and Earl Percy, were all Past Grand Mark Master Masons. The position of the Mark was exactly that of the other high degrees as regards the Craft. The learned brother concluded a very able speech by showing what, in his opinion, was the esoteric teaching of Mark Masonry. Bro. Emra Holmes, alluding to Bro. Hughan's statement of the position of Mark Masonry, as regards the Craft, said that by the articles of union between the two Grand Lodges in 1813 it was expressly stipulated in one of them that whilst it was ruled that ancient Masonry consisted of three degrees, and no more, including the Royal Arch, "yet that this article did not intend but that the chivalric Orders should meet in our Chapters and Lodges as heretofore," which was a distinct recognition of the high degrees of the Knights Templar and Rose Croix, &c. He (the speaker) thought the Mark one of the most interesting degrees from an archæological point of view. The Mark Masons of the middle ages marked the stones in their cathedrals and churches and castles, and he himself had seen crowds of these marks on the walls of Salisbury, removed from Old Sarum in the year 1220. The health of the R.W.P.G. Master Sir Charles Sawle was cordially given and responded to. Other toasts followed, and the brethren separated.—Western Daily Mercury.

NORTH AND EAST YORKSHIRE.

Mark Masonry is making rapid progress in the North just at present, and next week two Lodges will be constituted in this Province. On Wednesday the Middlesborough Lodge will be consecrated at the Masonic Hall, Martin-road, Middlesborough (Bro. J. M. Meek P.M. W.M. designate), and on Thursday the Fitzwilliam Lodge will be consecrated at the Masonic Hall, Malton (Bro. J. Marshall W.M. Designate), each ceremony taking place at 2 p.m. R.W. Bro. A. M. Broadley Prov. G.M.M.M. of Tunis and Malta has been deputed by the M.W.G. M.M.M. the Earl of Lathom to perform the ceremonies, and he will be assisted by W. Bro. J. W. Woodall P.G.M.O., Bro. T. B. Whytehead P.M. of York, and other distinguished brethren in the North. We learn that there is also a prospect of a Mark Lodge being constituted at Beverley, in the same Province.

Mallett S.E., H. Lardner N., Goodenough P.S., Van Raalte 1st Assist., and King 2nd Assist. S. The Comps. then adjourned to a banquet, several of the Companions enlivening the meeting with their harmony, and Comp. James Stevens delivered a most excellent Masonic recitation in a very telling manner. The Comps. separated about 11.30, after having spent a very pleasant evening.

EARL OF CARNARVON CHAPTER OF IMPROVEMENT.

ON Friday, 25th ult., the ceremony of inaugurating this new Chapter of Improvement was most ably performed at the Mitre Hotel, Golbourne-road, North Kensington, by Comp. William Stephens P.Z. 862, 874, 1365. 1489, &c., acting M.E.Z., assisted by Comps. S. H. Parkhouse as H. and G. Read P.Z. 19 and 834 as J. Amongst those present were Comps. Geo. Penn Z. 1642, S. Smout Treas., Geo. Davis, J. S. Adkins, C. Andrews, Monson, S. Elborn, E. Rogers, S. Smout jun., H. Wood, W. Williams, J. Woodmason, Hatton, and D. Stroud. After an address had been delivered the M.E.Z. proceeded to constitute the Companions into a regular Chapter of Improvement, under the warrant of the Earl of Carnarvon Chapter 1642. The Companions were then elected as Officers, and duly invested, when the ceremony of exaltation was rehearsed in a most perfect and able manner. At the conclusion of the ceremonies, Comps. Wm. Stephens, G. Read, and G. Davis were unanimously elected honorary members, and Comps. G. Penn and S. Smout jun. as Treasurer and Scribe E. respectively. A Committee was also formed to frame the Bye-laws. We may here state the Chapter is fully equipped and furnished with the banners and requisites suitable for a regular working Chapter. It is intended to meet fortnightly, and the first regular meeting will take place on Friday, 11th inst., Comp. Wm. Stephens acting as M.E.Z., and, as the working will be that of the late Comps. Dr. Ladd and John Boyd, we have no doubt of its success.

"DELILAH" AT THE NATIONAL STANDARD THEATRE.

THE BROS. DOUGLASS, proprietors of this theatre, enjoy a high reputation for the liberal spirit in which they endeavour to meet the taste of their patrons for a class of drama of a somewhat higher character than usually finds favour in the less aristocratic districts of London. Whenever a play of unusual merit has been produced at one of our West End theatres, it is a matter of course that, sooner or later, the Brothers Douglass will arrange for its performance at the Standard. Thus it was in the order of things that when Mr. Willing's drama, "Delilah," proved so great a success, firstly at the Park, where it was produced, and then at the Olympic, it should find a hearty welcome with the Douglasses and their patrons. The former, however, have not contented themselves with a mere representation of the play. They have secured the services of several well-known artists, with whose impersonations of character the audiences of the Adelphi, Olympic, Old Drury, &c., are familiar. They have provided new scenery and dresses, for the former of which Brother Richard Douglass deserves the warmest praise, while the latter can only be described by the word "magnificent." The piece was played well and evenly throughout by the whole company; but especial praise is due to Miss Bella Pateman as Miss Trevelyan in the Prologue, and Delilah in the drama; to Miss Fanny Addison as Lady Tempest, to Mr. J. C. Cowper as Major Bond, and to Mr. Leonard Boyne as Sir Arthur Tempest. The petite drama, "One Touch of Nature," concluded the evening's entertainment, Mr. J. C. Cowper and Miss Alice Rayner enacting their respective parts most successfully.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Lodge of Union, No. 414.—A meeting was held on Tuesday, 15th February, at the Masonic Hall, Reading, Bros. S. Bradley I.P.M. acting W.M., R. C. Mount P.M. S.W., F. J. Ferguson J.W., S. A. Pocock P.M. Treas., M. J. Withers Sec., S. Wheeler S.D., A. W. Parry J.D., F. Blackwell D.C., Butler Steward, Witherington I.G., Hemmings Tyler; Past Masters Bros. Oades, Baker, Yetts, Long 661. Visitors—Bros. Blackwell S.W. 1101, Ivey P.M. Sec. 1101, and Weatherhead 1101. In consequence of domestic bereavement, the W.M. was unavoidably absent. The chair was therefore taken by the I.P.M., who explained the reason of Bro. Stephens—the W.M.—inability to attend, and proceeded to open the Lodge. The minutes of the last regular Lodge were read and confirmed. Mr. C. T. Rayner, elected at the last regular Lodge, was initiated by the acting W.M. in a very correct and impressive manner. Lodge was opened in the second degree by P.M. Oades, who announced that Bro. H. E. L. Grant was a candidate to be raised to the third degree; he therefore put the usual questions, which were satisfactorily answered, and Bro. Grant was entrusted, and retired. The Lodge was opened in the third, and Brother Grant was raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason. The beautiful ceremony was admirably performed by P.M. Oades. The accompaniment of vocal and instrumental music, under the direction of Bro. Hayward Organist, added considerably to the effect. The Lodge was resumed to first degree, when three non-official brethren were elected on the Permanent Committee. The Permanent Committee's report as to the letting of the cellar under the Lodge room was received and adopted. After the usual ceremonies Lodge was closed.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—At the Star and Garter, Kew, on Friday evening, 25th February. Bros. Gunner Hon. Sec. W.M., C. E. Botley S.W., F. Botley J.W., Monson S.D., Kent J.D., Maton I.G., Roe P.M. Preceptor, Brill, Lees, Hildersley, &c. Lodge was opened, and the minutes of last meeting were read, confirmed, and signed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Lees candidate. Lodge opened in second degree, and Bro. Lees answered the questions leading to third. Bro. Maton was entrusted, and Lodge was opened in third degree. Bro. Maton represented candidate, and the ceremony of raising was rehearsed. Lodge closed in third and second degrees. Bro. C. E. Botley was elected W.M. for next meeting. A vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to Bro. Gunner, and ordered to be recorded on the minutes, for his able working, for the first time, of the ceremony of the third degree. After Bro. Gunner had acknowledged the compliment, Lodge was closed.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—On Tuesday, 1st March, at Bro. Smyth's, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road' Dalston. Bros. Christian W.M., Dignam S.W., Wardell J.W., J. Lorkin Sec., Brasted acting Preceptor, Catling S.D., Glass J.D., Smyth I.G.; also Bros. C. Lorkin, Macklin, Clark, Boyce, Polak, and P.M. Wallington. After preliminaries, the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Boyce acting as candidate. The W.M. worked the first, second, and third sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Dignam was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. All Masonic business being ended, Lodge was closed in due form.

Friars Lodge of Instruction, No. 1349.—At Bro. Pavitt's Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, on Tuesday, 1st March. Present—Bros. Musto W.M., Pavitt S.W., Smith J.W., Barley J.D., Prosser I.G., Worsley Secretary, P.M. Cundick as Preceptor; Bros. Watkins, Rawe, White, Keable, Forsyth, &c. Lodge was opened in due form and the minutes read. The ceremony of initiation was well rehearsed by Bro. Musto, who was assisted by that excellent worker Brother Cundick, who kindly acted as J.D.; the first, second, and third sections of the lecture were worked by Bro. Worsley. Bro. Pavitt was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing week; the Lodge then closed. We were gratified at seeing such excellent workers present. The rendering of the ceremony and sections was all that could be desired.

Grey Friars Lodge, No. 1101.—A meeting was held on Wednesday, 23rd ult., at the Masonic Hall, Reading. Present—Bros. William Ferguson W.M., John Early Danks I.P.M., E. J. Blackwell S.W., Richard Dowsett J.W., Stransom Treas., Ivey P.M. Sec., Honey S.D., Hawkes J.D., Browne D.C., Ravenscroft Steward, Prickett I.G., Hemmings Tyler. Past Masters Bros. Hurley, Welch, Margrett. Visitors—Bros. S. Bradley W.M. 414, Hawkes Steward 414. This was an emergency meeting; the present W.M. having a large schedule of work before him, thought it prudent to divide it a little so as not to have so much to do at any one meeting. Lodge was opened. Mr. W. E. Parkes, elected in January, and Mr. Frederic Coates, elected at the last regular Lodge, were initiated, the ceremony being admirably performed. Lodge was opened in the second degree, Bro. Knight, who was prevented from attending the last regular Lodge, a candidate to be raised to the third degree, satisfactorily answered the questions. Lodge was opened in the third, and Bro. Knight was raised to the sublime degree of M.M., the beautiful ceremony being most correctly and impressively performed. The vocal and instrumental accompaniment, under the direction of Bro. Ravenscroft, as acting Organist, materially added to the effect, the whole of the brethren joined in the singing of the hymn, and made an impression both on the candidate and the members not to be forgotten. After resuming to the first degree Lodge was closed.

Sparrow Secretary, Cuthbertson S.D., Kern I.G., and several others. After preliminaries the ceremonies of initiation and passing were rehearsed, Bro. Simpson candidate. Lodge closed in second degree, and Bro. Hall was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

HUNDREDS of Medical Practitioners testify to its marvellous efficacy in immediately relieving and rapidly curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Spasms, Colic, Whooping Cough, and all Nerve Pains. It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. It rapidly relieves pain, from whatever cause, soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases, and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.

Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, Lord Justice Mellish decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davenport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. See Times of July 24th, 1873. Bottles 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, 11s, and 20s. Sold by all Chemists.

TESTIMONIALS.—Head Quarter Staff, Cabul, May 31st, 1880. Mr. R. Freeman, Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of special service to me in alleviating the worrisome spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form. Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne. Yours faithfully, CHARLES W. OWEN, L.R.C.P. Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng., the Divisional Head Quarter Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul.

The Times, August 13th, 1877. From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army. Okoum, July 25th, 1877. The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor, owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected miraculous cures.

We will take the two Lancashires next. The Eastern Division, has 91 Lodges, and is numerically our largest Province. There is one list yet to be received, but the other five amount to £136 10s. West Lancashire, with eighty-one Lodges, figures for £257 5s. These are small amounts, but the latter supported their Prov. Grand Master, the Earl of Lathom, at the Boys' Festival last year to the extent of £2664 18s 6d, and, in 1876, when his Lordship presided at the Benevolent, it gave over £1500. As to East Lancashire, when its chief, Bro. N. Le Gendre Starkie, presided at the Benevolent Festival in 1879, its eighty-six Stewards took up the sum of £3542. With such splendid efforts as these we cannot feel any surprise at the smallness of their contributions at some Festivals. Returning, however, Metropoliswards, we come upon Middlesex with a total of £346 3s 6d, the result of the seven out of nine lists returnable, the Elliott, No. 1567, Feltham, and the Royal Hanover, No. 1777, of Twickenham, heading the roll each with £105. This is another Province which always shows to advantage at these festive gatherings. Thus, in 1880, it gave the Benevolent £356 6s, there being one other list returnable. The Girls' were still more fortunate, and secured £408 6s, while the Boys' were almost on a level with them, the subscriptions to the latter reaching £403 2s 6d. In 1879 it gave in the order of their occurrence £440 7s at the Benevolent Festival, £347 0s 6d at that of the Girls' School, and £122 7s at that of the Boys' School. An excellent record, forsooth, which stands out the more prominently when without any of the uncalled-for accessory of praise. We must not pretermit our details, however. Lodge No. 1777 was represented on Wednesday week by Bro. Horace Marshall, whose first labour as an E.A. was to make himself a Vice-Patron of one of our Charities. He has done this again and again since in respect of the others, and the amount of his present list is a fourth hundred guineas, but whether his own, or an aggregate of smaller amounts, we cannot say. Middlesex, be it added, has thirty-one Lodges on its roll.

Monmouthshire, eight Lodges, sends £52 10s by the hands of Bro. W. Watkins, the same who acted as Steward at the Benevolent Festival last year, when his list was £46 15s, and who, in conjunction with Bro. Pickford for the Province, made up a total of £105 at the Girls' Festival. At that of the Boys', Monmouthshire figured for £26 5s. In 1879, Bro. Watkins, with a Bro. Williams for the Province, took up £136 10s for the Benevolent. At the Girls' Festival, the indefatigable Watkins was again to the front, or, rather, represented the front, rear, and main body of Monmouthshire, his list being £63; and so he did for the Boys', when he gathered together for that Institution a most useful £37 16s. While paying due honour to compact Monmouthshire, we cannot refrain from uttering the short, but expressive, note of admiration, "Bravo, Watkins!" Norths and Hunts, whose worthy chief, the Duke of Manchester, is still, we rejoice to say, at his post of Prov. G. Master, gives £191 7s; and a very good return it is, too, for the nine Lodges borne on its roll, especially as it gave £115 10s to this same Institution in 1880, £50 in 1879, while, in 1878, when the Duke of Manchester was chairman at the Benevolent, it made up, with his personal contribution, a round £300. In 1877 it gave the Boys' a turn to the extent of a hundred guineas. In 1876 the Benevolent was also fortunate in winning its attentions, the amount at that Festival being £121. North Wales and Salop, twenty-six Lodges, has a single representative in the person of Bro. W. H. Foulkes, whose contribution being ten guineas makes us imagine it is his own gift. But at the Boys' Festival of last year it figured for £265 17s, the aggregate result of the labours of five Stewards. It sent a single representative at the 1880 R.M.B.I. Festival—Bro. Corbett, whose amount would also seem to have been a personal contribution, while for the Girls' School it raised £164 7s 6d. To this last Institution it gave £66 3s in 1879, and there was still a list to be accounted for, while the other School benefited to the extent of £150 19s; and in 1878 to that of £169 1s. Thus, North Wales and Salop, if not showing to great advantage in this instance, has some lists to which it can point with very natural pride. Oxfordshire, nine Lodges, likewise shows well, one of the Steward's lists being returned as £108 14s, Bro. Cooper-Smith being the Steward, and the Lodge represented the Apollo University, No. 357. Last year its total contributions to the Benevolent were £231 18s 6d, three of its Stewards acting for Apollo University, and one of the three being Bro. Cooper-Smith, with £106 9s 6d. When its Grand Master, Prince Leopold, presided at the Girls' School Festival, as he did in 1880, there were ten Stewards, and the aggregate of their contributions, including the Prince's own donation of fifty guineas, was £309 12s. Under these circumstances, it is not surprising the Boys' School should have to content itself with £19 19s. In 1879 it gave the Benevolent £41 18s, with one list to be added; to the Girls' School £96 12s; and to the Boys' £78 15s, while in 1878 its contributions were—Benevolent, £47 10s 6d; Girls' School, £144 6s 6d; and Boys' School, £75 12s; and at the Festivals in 1877, in the order of their occurrence, £279 13s, £62 9s, and £40 7s 6d respectively. It will doubtless be in the recollection of our readers that Prince Leopold promised to take the chair at the Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, but was unfortunately prevented by indisposition at the last moment from fulfilling his intention, and his place was taken by the late Earl of Shrewsbury and Talbot. This will explain the largeness of the first of the three amounts for this year. It is perhaps worth while adding that Apollo University takes the lead on these occasions, though the other Lodges, notably the premier on the roll of the Province—Alfred, No. 340—are also considerate of the necessities of our Charities.

Somersetshire, as represented by Capt. Perkins, acting for its twenty-two Lodges, sends £58 17s—no large amount, it will be said, but then in the year 1880 it gave the Girls' £241 10s, and the Boys' £106 1s, while the year before that it gave the Benevolent, per the same Capt. Perkins, £38 17s, the Girls,' per General Doherty, £247 16s, and the Boys' £133 8s. In 1878 it figures in the Benevolent list for £85 18s, Captain Perkins sending in the largest list; in that of the Girls' Festival, when the Earl of Carnarvon, its respected P.G.M. presided, for £318 3s; and it was represented at the Boys', but to what extent was not stated officially at the time. Its greatest achievement of late was in 1875, when his lordship presided at the Boys' Festival, and a total of £540 12s 6d was sent in. It would, indeed, be surprising if the Province, which is ruled by the Pro Grand Master, should be negligent of the interests of our grand Charities. Staffordshire, twenty-three Lodges, sent up two representatives whose lists together amounted to £178 10s, a result we may look upon as a favourable augury for the P.G. Mastership of Bro. Major G. Singleton Tudor. Last year it proved its strength by supporting the Girls' School to the extent of £536 11s, Major Tudor being the representative of the Province and Bro. Bayliss of the Province and Lodge No. 539—the St. Matthew, of Walsall. Bro. Pepper's list was not stated. After this praiseworthy effort, the support it could give the Boys' School would naturally be limited, still it sent in £36 15s. In 1879, the Girls' School was again the most highly favoured, receiving, as it did £376 3s, while the Boys' School had £216 6s. These are proofs, however, of the spirit in which the country of the Potteries does its work, while there is little doubt the late Earl of Shaftesbury and Talbot must have exercised a strong influence for good, an influence which, to judge from appearances, would seem to have survived him. Suffolk, twenty Lodges, has three representatives, the total of its contributions being the very respectable sum of £136 19s. Last year it gave the Benevolent £100 8s, one list being outstanding, the Girls' School £91 7s, and the Boys' School £99 15s. In 1879, its lists at the Benevolent totalled up £94 2s, at the Girls', by one Steward, it gave £63, and at the Boys', with Lord Henniker acting for it, its contribution was £112 7s. These together make up £697 18s, or as nearly as possible an average of £100 each for those seven Festivals. Well done, Suffolk, say we. We shall hope to see you repeat your kindly performance at the remaining Festivals of the year. Surrey, with two of its twenty-two Lodges represented has £56 18s standing to its credit, which is somewhat less than it gave this time last year, when two of the three Stewards between them made up a total of £69 5s. The Girls', in April last, were favoured only to the extent of £24 3s, but the Boys' School experienced a better fate, the five Surrey Stewards raising among them £123 18s. In February 1879, the Benevolent received £164 11s, the Girls' £48 6s, and the Boys' £97 2s 6d, while the year antecedent the Benevolent received £164 11s, the Girls' £48 6s, and the Boys' £97 2s 6d, while the year preceding, the Benevolent, Girls'; and Boys' received £66 18s, £42 10s, and £205 16s respectively. We take the figures as evidence of the favour with which our Institutions are looked upon in the Province which has General Brownrigg, C.B., for its chief. Sussex, with its twenty-four Lodges, has two represented; the Derwent, No. 40, of Hastings; and the Royal Clarence, No. 271, Brighton. The former list is £31, and the latter £141 1s, making together £175 1s, a most useful contribution, and the more creditable that last year at the Benevolent it contributed £600 by the hands of Bro. J. H. Scott, its D.P.G.M., and also found support for our little damsels to the extent of £130 4s, the St. Leonard's Lodge, No. 1842, only founded in 1879, having the credit of this achievement, and our Boys' to that of £84. We will just add as further exemplifying the regularity of its contributions, that in 1879 it raised £126 for the Benevolent, £231 1s for the Girls', and £128 1s for the Boys', while in 1878 it found for the Benevolent £84 10s, £29 8s for the Girls', and £118 13s for the sister School. Sir W. Burrell, Bart., M.P., must be proud of the Province he rules so well. Warwickshire, with thirty Lodges, has only £31 12s at present to its credit, the total of two lists, and there is a third yet to be handed in. Last year it gave the Benevolent £21, with a list to follow, the Girls' £129 3s, and the Boys' £162 10s. In 1879 one brother did duty for it, and took up a list of £38 17s at the Benevolent Festival; £380 2s was the sum total of the subscriptions sent in from the eight Lodges represented by eleven Stewards at that of the Girls' School, while one representative gave in a list of £147 10s at the Boys' Festival. At the Girls' Festival in 1878, one of its Lodges, the Athol, No. 74, of Birmingham, contributed by the hands of sixteen Stewards, the sum of £207 18s, while five Stewards, acting for four Lodges, gave £215 15s 6d to the Boys' School. Its great success, however, was at the Boys' Festival in 1876, when its head, Lord Leigh, presided; there were eighty-two Stewards, and among them they made up the grand total of £2000. Only two other Provinces remain, save the one which we reserve for separate consideration as being that with which the Chairman of the day is connected. These are North and East Yorkshire and Jersey. The former sends £52 10s, three-fifths of the sum being on the list of the Very Rev. Purey-Cust, Dean of York and Grand Chaplain of England. But at the Benevolent Festival last year, when its honoured Prov. Grand Master took the chair, it came forward and loyally supported him to the extent of £855 4s, which must be taken as an eminently satisfactory contribution from a Province with twenty-seven Lodges. The Earl of Zetland headed the array with £105, and his Deputy Bro. J. P. Bell, M.D., took up a list of £325 13s. It found also a useful £70 7s for the Girls' School, and a Fifty Guinea contribution to the Boys'. We take all the greater pleasure in noting this because two or three years ago we considered we should be doing the Province a service if we pointed out that its support of its Institutions should be somewhat commensurate with its reputation. It is gratifying to learn that such advice has since been acted upon. As regards Jersey, its contribution of £214 10s, all of which, with the exception of £21 standing to the credit of Major du Jardin of Yarborough Lodge, No. 244, Jersey, has been raised in the Province by Bro. John Le Cronier, is most useful, and all the more gratifying because we do not look, as a rule, for support from a Province which is so remote from the centre of English Freemasonry.

It only remains for us to offer a few words of congratulation to West Yorkshire on the loyalty with which it supported Sir Henry Edwards. The last Grand Lodge Calendar assigns to this Province sixty-six Lodges, so that in respect of mere numerical strength it stands third on the list of Provinces, East Lancashire, with ninety-one Lodges, and West Lancashire, with eighty-one Lodges, being first and second respectively. Its Grand Master, Sir Henry Edwards, has once already occupied the chair at a similar Festival—namely, at that of the Girls' School—when thirty-six brethren supported him, and the total of their joint labours was £707 16s. On the present occasion its contingent of representatives has been variously stated as 165 and 176, but whichever it may have been, it is by far the largest body of Stewards that has ever represented either the Metropolis or a Province. The total of the contributions is £3560, the personal donation of the Chairman being fifty guineas. There is no need for us to say aught by way of praise of West Yorkshire. It has done its duty nobly. We may, however, give the following table of its contributions to our several Charities since the 1st January 1875—that is, since the date when the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE was established. This table is as follows:—

	R.M.B.I.				R.M.I.G.				R.M.I.B.

This gives the magnificent average per Festival of, in round figures, £735.

We have now completed our task, and we shall content ourselves with repeating the expression of our hope that the Festivals of the two Schools will be as successful as has been that of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution.

* Not stated.

We have to thank Bro. H. T. Lamb, the well-known Masonic Jeweller, of 5 St. John's-square, Clerkenwell, E.C., for kindly forwarding to us a copy of his price list for the current year. We have more than once had occasion to speak in terms of well-merited eulogy of the excellence, both as regards quality of material and artistic design, of the jewellery which finds its way into our Lodges from the establishment of Bro. Lamb. This price list, besides being quite a work of art in itself, is a complete summary of the class of work, &c., &c., which he is prepared to supply, and is illustrated to the extent of considerably over a hundred different engravings of the jewels he has, in the course of upwards of thirty years, supplied to meet the ordinary and special requirements of Lodges and brethren. As to the well-vouched for testimonials to the merit of Bro. Lamb's jewellery, which are scattered broadcast throughout the pages of the list, their number is legion. We strongly advise those of our friends who may be on the point of purchasing Masonic regalia or Lodge furniture to visit this well-known establishment in St. John's-square.

STATEMENT OF PROVINCIAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE R.M.B.I. 1875-81.

WE have been at the pains of compiling a table of the contributions to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution of our several Provinces, and districts which cannot boast of a Provincial organisation, during the septennial period from 1875 to 1881, both inclusive. We have done so, because we have, in spite of whatever is now and again said to the contrary, an abiding faith in the impressive eloquence of plain figures. A statement such as we this day present to our readers shows clearly and unmistakably what this or that Province or district has or has not done towards fostering the Institution for Aged and Decayed Masons and their Widows. No amount of modesty on the part of any brother belonging to a largely contributing, and therefore distinguished, Province will, in the face of the information this statement furnishes, be able to interpose between the Craft generally, and its just appreciation of the active sympathy exhibited by such Province. Not even the most enthusiastic expression of "good intentions" will be capable of explaining away the indifference with which the active support of the R.M.B.I., during these seven years has been regarded by a few Provinces or districts. There is, however, one important qualification which it would be the height of injustice on our part to pass unnoticed. There are a very few Provinces—and the words "a very few" are pleasant to the ear of the genuine Mason—which habitually ignore altogether the claims of our Institutions to their support. There are those which habitually distribute their golden guineas with an impartial hand among all of them; while there are others which, whether by accident or intention, view one or other of the three with greater favour. Hence, in this statement, some Provinces will be found to shine to greater, and some to less, advantage, as compared with the remainder, than is their due. Warwickshire and Worcestershire are cases in point; and when, in the order of things, similar tables are published for our Schools, it will be found that their sympathies with those Charities is most cordial in fact as well as in intention.

The figures are taken from the official lists furnished by the Secretary of the R.M.B.I. the morrow of each Festival, and are the same, therefore, as we have dealt with in our analyses. It may be further interesting to give the names of the distinguished brethren who have presided at the Festivals thus grouped together. These are as follow, viz.:—1875, the late Earl of Shrewsbury and Talbot P.G.M. Staffordshire; 1876, the Earl of Lathom (then Lord Skelmersdale) D.G.M. and P.G.M. W. Lancashire; 1877, the late Earl of Shrewsbury and Talbot P.G.M. Staffordshire—who, when at the last moment it was announced that H.R.H. Prince Leopold P.G.M. Oxfordshire, was prevented, by the state of his health, from taking the chair, loyally placed his services at the disposal of the Institution; 1878, the Duke of Manchester P.G.M. Northamptonshire and Hunts; 1879, Lieut. Col. N. Le Gendre Starkie P.G.M. East Lancashire; 1880, the Earl of Zetland P.G.M. N. and E. Yorkshire; 1881, Sir Henry Edwards, Bart. P.G.M. W. Yorkshire.

We will just state that the total of over £39,000 gives the splendid average per Festival of rather more than £5570.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

THE monthly meeting of the General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys was held on Saturday last, at Freemasons' Hall. There were present Bros. S. Rosenthal (in the chair), Rev. A. F. A. Woolford, S. Rawson, Richard Morris Head Master, Arthur E. Gladwell, W. H. Perryman, A. J. Duff-Filer, C. F. Matier, Alfred Williams, Donald M. Dewar, E. S. Phillips, H. Massey, W. Roebuck, George J. Palmer, W. H. Saunders, F. Adlard, H. Young, W. Paas, John Mason, and F. Binckes Secretary. After the reading and confirmation of the minutes, two petitions were examined and the candidates placed on the list for the election in October. An outfit of £5 was granted to a former pupil of the Institution, now in a situation. Bro. C. F. Matier gave notice of motion for altering Law 55 of the Institution by making it necessary that a candidate's father should have been a subscribing member to a Lodge for three years. Bro. Duff-Filer also gave notice of motion for increasing the maximum sum to be given to exceptionally deserving pupils for their advancement in life on leaving the Institution, from £20 to £40. The Committee then adjourned.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

THE monthly meeting of the Committee of this Institution was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday afternoon, when there were present Bros. Col. J. Creaton V.P. (in the chair), A. H. Tattershall, Raynham W. Stewart, J. H. Matthews, W. Stephens, W. Clarke, George Bolton, John Bulmer, John G. Stevens, Charles John Perceval, Charles H. Webb, Charles G. Hill, C. A. Cottebrune J. M. Case, Edgar Bowyer, C. G. Dilley, Louis Stean, Charles Atkins, Thomas Cubitt, and James Terry Secretary. The minutes of the 9th of February were read and verified. The death of one annuitant, Mrs. Mary A. Thistleton, who had received £385, and Mrs. Isherwood, an approved candidate, were reported by the Secretary, who also reported that the Annual Festival was held on Wednesday, the 23rd ult., Sir H. Edwards, Bart., presiding; that the amount announced was £14,160 13s, with several lists to come in, but that the sum had now reached £14,380, with two lists outstanding. The Warden's Report for the past month was read. The Secretary also reported that the result of the appeal against the increased assessment of the building at Croydon was successful. The Chairman was authorised to sign several cheques. A letter was read from Bro. Curteis, of Stonehouse, Devon, which, after some consideration, was deferred till next meeting. The visit of the Stewards of the late Festival was left in the hands of the House Committee to make the necessary arrangements. Bro. Raynham W. Stewart gave notice of motion to increase the accommodation at the Institution in the centre building, after which a vote of thanks was passed to the Chairman, and the Committee adjourned.

Since writing our analysis, we have heard from Bro. Terry, and experience great pleasure in announcing, that although there are still two lists outstanding, the Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution on the 23rd ult. has yielded a total of £14,380.

We have been favoured with a communication from Bro. Henry Smith, who is Prov. G. Secretary W. Yorkshire and Chairman of its Charity Organisation Committee, in which, after stating that his Province had sent up 165 Stewards, who raised among them £3560, he draws attention to the great additional outlay incurred by those brethren in respect of the Festival itself. We must point out, however, in the first place, that such outlay is incurred by the Stewards in defraying the cost of the banquet, concert, &c., and in the second place we have never taken the Stewards' Fees into account. We should as soon think of including the travelling and hotel expenses of Provincial brethren who visit London in order to be present at the Festival in their capacity of Stewards. We congratulate Bro. Smith on the success of an Anniversary in which his Province has played so prominent a part, but it is hardly necessary we should go out of the way to gild the refined gold of W. Yorkshire.

We advise those of our readers who may be desirous of seeing a scholarly interpretation of Hamlet, to take the opportunity which is now afforded them, and will be open till the 18th instant, of visiting Sadlers Wells Theatre, to witness Mr. Hermann Vezin's assumption of this character. We feel sure they will be highly gratified, as we can personally testify to its being one of the ablest of the able performances we have been privileged to witness. Moreover, Mr. Vezin is fairly well supported by the company, and in particular by Miss Carlisle, who gave an admirable rendering of Ophelia. We must repeat that Hamlet will not be played after the 18th instant, arrangements having been made for the production, on the 19th, of "Mary Warner."

A MASONIC PANTOMIME.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Since I sent you Curwen's account of a Masonic Pantomime, I learned from Bro. John Barker, Publisher, at New York, that Bro. Nickerson, at Boston, had recently purchased some pamphlets, among which was a Masonic Pantomime. On my return to Boston, after reminding friend Nickerson as to where, when, and of whom he obtained the pamphlets; search was made, and, in short, here is a copy thereof—title-page, songs, recitations, choruses, and the order of the Procession. I have, however, omitted the explanations which follow each paragraph in the order of procession. These explanations are taken from Anderson and Preston, to show the connection of the great personages in the procession with Masonry; for instance, how Queen Elizabeth ordered the Lodge or G.L. at York to be broken up; how, where, and when Charles II., William III., &c., &c., were made Masons, and, for obvious reasons, these explanations are omitted.

I shall only add that G. Kearsly, the publisher of the Pantomime, had published a Freemasons' Constitution in 1769 (then in Ludgate-street).

Fraternally yours,

JACOB NORTON.

Songs, Duettos, Glees, Catches, etc.
With an explanation of the procession in the Pantomime of HARLEQUIN FREE-MASON —As performed at the Theatre Royal, in Covent Garden.—A new edition, with additions.
London:
Printed for G. Kearsly. Fleet Street. MDCCLXXXI.

AIR I.—MASONS' GLEE.

Behold the model of our art.
Work on whatever plan,
Masons must borrow still some part
From that great structure Man.
Here, well to captivate the sight,
The Orders all agree;
Proportion, strength, and force unite,
With ease and symmetry.
But, see, the sun rides down the west,
A hark, our sign from work to rest.

RECIT.—Hiram Abiff.

Lo, from amidst those sacred glades,
Where rest grand heroes, statesmen, kings,
And other Antient Masons' shades,
The ghost of Hiram Abiff springs.
Chief of Masons' noble art,
While of a Master they make choice,
Shall I not take an active part,
And loudly join my brethren's voice?
Fall, mystic figure—to our eyes
Present a motley child of mirth:
Whose featly pranks shall all surprise,
And give to vacant laughter birth.
Move, kneel, stoop, stand, spring, dance, leap, run;
Now, mark me, for the charm is done.

AIR.

In all your dealings take good care,
Instructed by the friendly square,
To be true, upright, just, and fair,
And then a fellow-craft shall be.
The level so must poise thy mind,
That satisfaction thou shalt find,
When to another Fortune's kind,
And that's the drift of Masonry.

II.

The compass t'other two compounds,
And says, though angered on just grounds,
Keep all your passions within bounds,
And then a fellow-craft shall be.
Thus, symbols of our Order are
The compass, level, and the square,
Which teach us to be just and fair,
And that's the drift of Masonry.

RECIT

Use this and this, in ev'ry hour,
And thou shalt wonder at their power,
Thou'lt see me yet ere it be night,
Be gone, and revel in delight.

AIR III.—Master Mason.

The Sun's a Free-mason, he works all day,
Village, city and town to adorn,
Then from labour at rest
At his lodge in the West,
Takes with good Brother Neptune a glass on his way.

Thence, ripe for the fair,
He flies all care,
To Dame Thetis' charms,
Till roused from her arms,
By the morn.

CHORUS.

So do we, our labour done,
First the glass,
And then the lass;
And then,
Sweet slumbers give fresh force,
To run our course;
Thus with the rising sun.

II.

The course of the sun all our mysteries defines;
First Masonry rose in the East,
Then to no point confin'd,
His rays cheer mankind;
Besides, who'll deny that he well knows the signs.
The Grand Master he,
Then of Masons shall be,
Nor shall aught the Craft harm
Till to shine and warm
He has ceas'd.

CHORUS.

Then, like him, our labour be done, &c.

AIR IV.—In the Temple of Bacchus.

At a jovial meeting of the Gods once, on high,
Ere Bacchus was hatched from Jupiter's thigh,
This one told his story, and that one sung his song,
And did what he could, lest the time should seem long,
Apollo read verses, the Graces wreath'd flowers,
The Muses of Harmony sung for the powers;
Bully Mars cracked his joke, and Momus his jest,
Yet their mirth wanted something to give it a zest.

II.

Says Jove, our assembly to-day's pretty full,
Yet I don't know how 'tis, we're horridly dull.
We have all the ingredients that mirth should inspire,
But some clay-born alloy damps our heav'nly fire.
I have it—in this I'll a mixture enclose,
Of all the delights whence good fellowship flows,
And we'll taste of its produce, for mirth's bad at best,
When there's anything wanting to give it a zest.

III.

So saying, so doing, he buried his shrine,
Which quickly sprang up in the form of a vine,
The leaves broad and verdant, the fruit deepest blue,
Whence a juice flow'd, that health, love of youth, might renew;
It's influence to feel, they came round it in swarms,
Mars took a draft of courage and Venus drank charms,
Momus swallow'd bon mots, Cupid love—so the rest,
While Jove spurning nectar, cry'd—This is the zest.

SONG.—Coachman.

Here I was, my good masters; my name's Teddy Clinch,
My cattle are sound, and I drive to an inch.
From Hyde-park to White-chapel I well know the town,
And many's the time I've took up and set down;
In short, in the bills, I'll be bound for't, there's not
A young youth who like Teddy can trip the long trot.

II.

Oh, the notions of life that I see from my box,
While fares of all kinds come about me in flocks;
The sot, who I drive home to sleep out the day,
The kind one, who plies for a fare at the play:
Or your gents of the law, there, who, four in a lot,
To Westminster-hall I oft trip the long trot.

III.

My coach receives all, like the gallows and sea,
So I touch but my fare, you know, all's one to me,
The men of the gown and the men of the sword,
A mariner or gambler, a rogue or a lord,
To wherever you're going, I well know the spot.
And do you tip a tizzy, I'll trip the long trot.

DUETTO.—Skaters.

This bleak and frosty morning,
All thought of danger scorning,
Our spirits briskly flow,
We're all in a glow,
Thro' the sparkling snow,
While skating we go,
With a fa, la, la, la,
To the sound of the merry horn.
From right to left we are plying,
Swifter than the winds we're flying,
Spheres and spheres surrounding,
Health and strength abounding.
In circles we sleep,
Our poise still we keep,
Behold how we sweep
The face of the deep.
With a fa, la, la, la,
To the sound of the merry horn.

II.

Great Jove looks on us, smiling,
Who thus the time beguiling,
Where the waters be seal,
Still rove on our keel,
Our weapons are steel,
And no danger we feel.
With a fa, la, la, la.
See our train advances,
See how each skater lances,
Health and strength abounding,
While horns and oboes sounding,
The Tritons shall blow,
Their conch-shells below,
And their beards fear to show,
While a-skating we go,
With a fa, la, la, la,
To the sound of the merry horn.

CATCH.—Lawyers.

Lawyer Brief, why all this stir?
Upon my word you wrong me, Sir;
I am not (as you say) a thief,
In truth, you wrong me, lawyer Brief.
Who was it took a double fee?
Who rapp'd? Who put in a sham plea?
Who should be pilloried? Who's a thief?
Who should be hanged? Cheat, Lawyer Brief!
Come, be friends, nor make this rout,
Brothers as we are, to fall out,
Besides, thief should not cry out thief;
You understand me, Lawyer Brief.

RECIT.—Hiram Abiff.

Thy perils are all past, thy toils are o'er,
Nor ever shall hard fortune vex thee more.
Leave me thy jarring foes to reconcile,
And follow where, in wonder lost the while,
The Masons' noble science you shall see
In all the pomp and pride of pageantry,
Where brothers, gracing Hiram's memory,
Upon the ancient stock a scion graft,
Choosing a master to the Royal Craft.

AIR.

Hail Masonry, thou Craft divine;
Glory on earth from heaven reveal'd,
Which does with jewels precious shine,
To all but Masons' eyes conceal'd.
As men from brutes distinguished are,
A Mason other men excels;
For what's in knowledge choice or rare,
But in his breast securely dwells?
His silent breast, and faithful heart,
Preserve the secrets of our art.

II.

From scorching heat and piercing cold,
From beasts whose roar the forest rends,
From assault of warriors bold,
The Mason's art mankind defends.
Ensigns of State that feed our pride,
Distinctions troublesome and vain,
By Masons true are laid aside;
Art's free-born sons such toys disdain;
Ennobled by the name they bear,
Distinguished by the badge they wear!

III.

Sweet fellowship! from envy free.
Friendly converse of brotherhood,
The Lodge's lasting cement be,
Which has for ages firmly stood.
Be justice done in every lay;
Those who have enriched the art,
Down to the Master of this day,
Let each Brother bear a part;
Let noble Masons' health go round;
Their praise in lofty Lodge resound!

CHORUS.—In the Procession.

Your cymbals tune, your voices raise,
Sing the name,
And mighty fame,
Of Solomon in ever-living song!
He our Grand Master shall remain,
While lofty pile, and holy fane,
Vestige, or monument of taste,
Of glorious Masonry shall last.

RECIT.—Hiram.

I am come to crave admittance for
A Brother and a Visitor;
One from his duty never swerving,
Who will prove faithful and deserving;
And who would fain, the brethren greeting,
Be present at the general meeting.

CHORUS.—The last.

Fill a capacious bowl,
While we proclaim,
The Mason's fame,

Which ever shall extend
From East to West, from Pole to Pole,
In spite of every poison'd shaft.
Let cowans what they will pretend,
Let three times three
The signal of our plaudits be,
While we toast to the King and the Craft.

FINIS.

A YOUTHFUL, BUT AMBITIOUS AUTHORITY ON THE CONDUCT OF FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have read with some interest the remarks of your correspondents on this subject, and I quite agree with OLD SCHOOL in the explanation he suggests, namely, that in offering opinions on what they do not understand, young Masons do but observe the practice of the average young men of the day. I was intensely amused on one occasion when, through no fault of my own, I was made the ear-witness of the following absurdity enunciated at an ordinary Lodge meeting at which I happened to be present as a visitor. A brother who, though not young in point of age, had evidently not arrived at years of Masonic discretion, was giving his reasons for not continuing his subscription to one or other of the two recognised organs of the Craft in England, and he did so in the following terms: "In the first place," said he, "I take no interest in Masonic journalism; in the second, I have never opened a single copy of the Masonic paper you refer to; and, in the third, I do not like the character of its articles." This, thought I to myself, is passing judgment with a vengeance. A brother proclaims that he dislikes the tone of the articles in a certain Masonic journal, when, according to his own showing, he has never taken the trouble to read them.

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

ANOTHER VETERAN M.M.

THE LATE DR. MARGOLIOUTH.

THE news of the sudden death of Dr. Margoliouth, M.A., LL.D., Ph.D., vicar of Little Linford, which took place in London at five o'clock on Friday evening, 25th February, where he had gone on the Monday previous to prosecute his literary labours, and his missionary work among the higher classes of the Jews, was received by the inhabitants of the town of Little Linford and neighbourhood with mingled feelings of sorrow and regret, for although the Rev. Dr. had been but a few years a resident at Little Linford, his pleasant and affable manner had won him many friends. Not only, however, will his loss be felt here, but he will be missed universally, for the country must regret to lose a man of such large talents. On Monday, 21st February, he left Little Linford for London, and on arrival there took up his residence at Nelson's Hotel, Great Portland-street. On the following evening, after an arduous day's study, he was taken ill. At first his illness was not thought to be of a serious nature, but the symptoms gradually increased in intensity, and on Friday evening a clever, noble, and generous man sank to his rest, at the age of 60.

Dr. Margoliouth was born in 1820, of Jewish parents, embraced Christianity in 1838, studied at Trinity College, Dublin, and was admitted to Holy Orders in 1844. He was afterwards appointed successively curate of St. Augustine's, Liverpool, vicar of Glasnevin, and examining chaplain to the Bishop of Kildare (all in one year by especial episcopal favour), and later, he was appointed assistant minister of St. Paul's, Haggerstone, and afterwards at St. Paul's, Onslow-square; here he remained till 1877, when he was instituted to the vicarage of Little Linford, where, as everywhere, he gained the love and esteem of all who knew him. He spent all the energies of his life in promoting the spiritual welfare of his own people. He had especial access to the highly educated Jewish families, and the blessing of God rested on his work. On his extensive travels, especially in the East, the leading idea of his life never left him. He was constantly endeavouring to spread the Gospel of Christ and to shed light on difficult passages. It may truly be said of him that "His heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel was that they might be saved." He was a voluminous writer. Among his principal works may be mentioned "The Fundamental Principles of Modern Judaism investigated" (the work of his undergraduate days), "The Pilgrimage to the Land of my Fathers," "Exposition of Isaiah liii.," "History of the Jews in Great Britain," "Essays on the Poetry of the Hebrew Pentateuch," and "A series of six essays on the Lord's Prayer." A work entitled "Some Triumph and Trophies of the Light of the Lord and the World," was passing through the press when he died. The deceased was also editor of The Hebrew Christian Witness, a work of incalculable helpfulness in bringing the great truths of Christianity before the unconverted of his own race, which we hope one day will be revived. He was an accomplished scholar, a learned orientalist, and an indefatigable worker and searcher of truth. His memory will long live in the hearts of many, and his works will be a source of information and guide in religious truth to earnest students of the Holy Scriptures.—Croydon's Weekly Standard.

EXHIBITION OF DOMESTIC LABOUR-SAVING MACHINERY.

ON Monday, at the Agricultural Hall, Islington, was opened what must certainly be described as a novelty in the way of exhibitions, and, as it will remain open till this day week, we think our readers will be interested if they visit the Hall. They will there see collected together every variety of implement in every-day domestic use. There will be found the latest and most approved inventions in sewing machines, washing machines, knife-cleaners, heating and cooking stoves, and in every imaginable kind of domestic appliance. There are likewise included many displays of articles in constant use among all classes of householders, such, for instance, as the mats, baskets, &c., which are the handiwork of blind operatives—this particular collection being placed in the centre of the building. There are, too, others which find favour with residents in suburban districts, such as lawn-mowers and tents, together with bicycles for the athlete, and carriages, and, above all, billiard tables for the wealthy. One stall, in particular, attracted our attention, that of Bro. Edwards, of the Kingsland-road, who, by the way, is on the eve of moving into larger and more commodious premises in the same neighbourhood, so rapid has been the increase in his business during the last few years. Bro. Edwards exhibits three well-made billiard tables, besides bagatelle and other tables and apparatus of a cognate character. All these, with the balls, cues, &c., &c., are a credit to the establishment by which they are manufactured. Our attention was especially attracted by an oak cabinet, so constructed as to support a Roller Marking Board for Billiards, and a Pool Marking Board for twelve players, having slate in centre, and a pool money till with glass front; while at the same time in the drawers, &c., &c., is provided ample accommodation for wines, cigars, &c., &c. This cabinet combines most admirably the useful with the ornamental, and no better specimen of Bro. Edwards' manufacture could, we think, have been shown. We were also much pleased with the group of pianos sent by Mr. Justin Browne, of 237 and 239 Euston Road. They were handsome in appearance, and the tone left nothing to be desired. Moreover, they have the further advantage of being comparatively modest in price.

MASONIC GRIPS.—A brother who does a good deal of travelling, and likes to "get acquainted as he goes," says there are six kinds of Masonic Grips, and he has felt them all. He classifies them in this way: 1. The pendulum shake, where the parties move their locked hands right and left, illustrating the jewel of the Senior Warden. 2. The pump-handle shake, where the motion assimilates to the emblem of the Junior Warden. Now if a Mason who is accustomed to number one grapples with the Mason who has been used to number 2, there will be trouble, sure. 3. The tourniquet shake, where you squeeze the hand until a pleasant sound of cracking follows, that denotes a weakness in the ossification of your opponent. 4. The melancholy shake, which is a pensive, tranquil motion, suggesting liver complaint and dyspepsia. 5. The effeminate shake, which only reaches to the fingers, sometimes only to the forefinger, and makes you think of your maiden aunt. There are also the anvil shake, the grip royal, the malicious shake, &c., but the best of all is, 6. The cordial shake, which is a hearty agitation of hands, accompanied by kindly greetings, and a certain thrill, affecting most pleasantly all the nerves, even the heart.—Masonic Review.

MOHAWK MINSTRELS.—Thursday next, the 17th instant, being St. Patrick's Day, the Mohawk Minstrels announce a special programme for the occasion, Irish songs and ballads, both comic and sentimental, of necessity receiving the greatest share of attention.

ROYAL POLYTECHNIC.—The Photophone, explained and illustrated by experiments. The Great Lightning Inductorium: an Astronomical Lecture, illustrated by Dissolving views and Effects, &c., by Mr. J. L. King. Musical Sketches, by Mr Eric Lewis. Magical Art, by Prof. R. Heller. Costume Recitals, by Madame Katherine Hickson. Electric Railway. Leotard and Blondin, the Wonderful Automata. Diving Bell, &c. Admission to the whole, 1s. Open from 12 till 5, and from 7 till 10.

LODGE OF JOPPA, No. 188.

THE regular meeting of the above excellent working Lodge was held on Monday, the 7th instant, at the Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street, and was numerously attended by the brethren and visitors, amongst the latter being Bros. C.E. Willing P.G.O., Macaulay, G. Gurton P.M. 172, Argent, G. Fletcher S.W. 180, W. J. Murlis P.M. 1642, J. J. Deacon 1382, H. Sanders W.M. 1471, W. Lyon 185, D. Baker 1246, Frank Elmore No. 12, C. A. White 1777. Lodge was opened by Bros. R. Baker W.M., L. M. Myers S.W., J. Benjamin J.D., E. P. Albert P.G.P. Sec., J. S. Lyon Treasurer, Blanks S.D., N. Baum J.D., J. Davis I.G., G. Bean D.C., P. E. Van Noorden Organist, A. Dodson P.M. W.S.; P.M.'s L. Lazarus, L. Alexander, S. Hickman, H. M. Levy, A. Dodson, H. Hymans, O. Roberts, and J. Abrahams. After the minutes had been confirmed, ballots were taken for the admission of Messrs. Henry Lion and Samson Lyon, who were duly initiated into the Order. Bro. Elias Simmons was raised to the third degree, and Bros. Gundlach, Isaacson, Harrison, Hicks, Kinley, Hobman, and Ridgley were passed. All the ceremonies were ably and perfectly rendered by the W.M., reflecting great credit on him. As usual in this Lodge, every Officer was equally perfect. A letter was received from the R.W. Bro. Colonel Sir Francis Burdett P.G.M. Middlesex, regretting his inability to be present. The petition of a distressed brother was recommended to the Grand Lodge of Benevolence. Bro. P.M. Levy proposed, and P.M. L. Lazarus seconded, a proposition that Bro. W. W. Morgan, Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, be allowed access to the minute books for the purpose of preparing a history of the Lodge of Joppa. This motion was carried unanimously. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren, seventy-two in number, sat down to a récherché banquet, provided by Bro. W. G. Jennings, and superintended by Bro. M. Silver. The W.M. proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. In speaking to the toast of the R.W. the Earl of Lathom D.G.M. of the G.L. of England, he said he was pleased to say they had the pleasure of having two Grand Officers present; one a member of their Lodge. Those who had seen the working of the Grand Officers in the past could realise what they would do in the future. Bro. Willing P.G.O., in eloquent terms, returned thanks; he was proud in having to respond to the toast. Those who were present at the last meeting of Grand Lodge saw how ably the R.W. Brother the Earl of Lathom sustained the dignity of the chair, a chair which he is so well qualified to fill. Bro. E. P. Albert P.G.P. likewise responded. The W. Master then proposed the toast of the Benevolent Fund, and coupled with it the name of the President, Bro. L. Alexander Past Master, who responded, and announced that the newly initiated brethren had each given a guinea to the Fund. Bro. H. Hymans I.P.M. then proposed the health of the W.M. Bro. Baker was one whom they all respected If other W.M.'s had performed the duties of the chair well, the present Master had excelled them that night. All had seen how ably he had performed the ceremonies. However, as it was getting late he would not further detain them, but would ask them at once to honour the toast. The W. Master, who was enthusiastically received, said he felt he did not deserve the kind remarks of Bro. Hymans; the support of the Lodge he hoped to secure. The advantage of the members he would look to in the future, for to them was due his present position in the chair. The W. Master then proposed the toast of the newly initiated brethren. He was pleased the recommendations they brought to the Lodge were so satisfactory. In the short time they had already been among them the seeds of charity had been sown in their breasts, and they had each contributed to the Benevolent Fund. From the attention they had paid to the ceremony he felt prond to rank them as members. The toast having been responded to by Bro. Lion, the W.M. proposed the health of the Visitors, mentioning the name of each; he would couple the toast with the names of Bros. W. Murlis P.M. 1642, Dr. Macaulay, No. 1, Star of the East, India, and D. Baker 1246 for the country brethren. Bro. Murlis said many years since he had been invited to this Lodge, but he had been prevented attending. He was pleased to see how the W. Master had performed the duties of the chair, and to witness the brotherly love and friendship that predominated among them. Whatever the Grand Lodge of Benevolence could do for the Craft, this Lodge, if he looked at the boards around him, was able to relieve its own members. The Earl of Carnarvon Lodge intended to follow this bright example. It lately had had a Ball, where a goodly sum for the Charities had been realised. But the Lodge intended to follow in every respect what the Joppa had done. Bro. Dr. Macaulay said he felt pleased to endorse the expressions of the former speaker. He had been much gratified at the work of the W.M., who had initiated two candidates, passed seven brethren, and raised one to the third degree—an amount of work rarely done by a W.M. in one evening—in a perfect manner. Bro. D. Baker said he was proud to acknowledge his relationship to their Worshipful Master. Nothing could more strengthen that feeling than the fact that his brother occupied the chair of that great Lodge. He, however, was a resident of another country; still he could but feel proud to see his brother so bound up in the bonds of charity, and he hoped he might be present on future occasions. After other of the Visitors had acknowledged the compliment, the W.M. proposed the toast of the Past Masters, coupled with the name of Bro. H. Hymans, who briefly responded. The W.M. then proposed the health of the Treasurer and Secretary. Their good qualities had been so often brought before the Lodge, that he scarcely knew what to say; all were proud of them. After this toast had been acknowledged, the W.M. said no Lodge could prosper without good Officers; as Wardens, no better could be found than Bros. L. M. Myers and Benjamin. The members had seen how they had performed their duties. After this compliment had been acknowledged, the Junior Officers were not overlooked, special mention being made of the exertions of the D.C. Bro. Dodson for the comfort of the brethren. In due course the Tyler's toast was given. The W.M. provided an excellent concert, under the direction of Bro. P. E. Van Noorden, at which Miss Flora Williams, Madame Strindberg, Messrs. H. Prenton, White, and Frank Elmore gave valuable assistance.

Albion Lodge of Instruction, No. 9.—At the recent celebration of the anniversary banquet of this Lodge, which meets in John-street, Berkeley-square, W., there were present Bros. Festa as W.M., Dean P.M. P.P.G.S.B. as S.W., Dairy P.M. as J.W., who were supported by the following distinguished brethren:—Cottebrune P.M. P.G.P., E. Read P.M., Barfield P.M., Cobham P.M., Ponter Past Master, Docker Worshipful Master, Burrow as Organist, Beazley, Green, Honeyball, Collens, Wetherall, Brand, Ball, Dickinson, Sacker, Miller, Levi, Corthew, Hill, Ducher, Daitraz, Cohen, Cox, Maxsted, Davidson, &c. The business was of a purely formal character, and after its conclusion, the brethren sat down to a very excellent repast, under the presiding auspices of Bro. Festa. When ample justice had been done to the viands, the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were honoured, Bro. Cottebrune P.G.P. replying in suitable terms for that of the Grand Officers. The health of the W.M., proposed by Brother Read, experienced a most enthusiastic reception, and Bro. Festa expressed his warmest thanks for the compliment paid him. "Prosperity to the Albion Lodge" was also well received, and among other toasts was that of the hostess, Mrs. Fellows and her family, well-merited praise being bestowed upon her, for her successful catering. Bro. Burrows presided at the piano, and the interval between the speeches was enlivened by songs and recitations, given by Bros. Miller, Green, and others. Indeed, in every respect the meeting was a great success.

SOME ACCOUNT OF A K.T. PRECEPTORY AT DINMORE, HEREFORDSHIRE.

A Paper read before the York College, at a Regular Meeting held at York, on the 20th November 1880, by W. Frater Rev. W. C. Lukis, M.A. F.S.A., VII°.

FRATERS,—Under other circumstances than those under which I now appear before you I should feel constrained to apologize for giving you this Paper. It is only a few months since I read a Paper to the Fratres, and in doing so I thought I should not be asked for a second until my turn came round again, which I imagined would be in the distant future. In obedience to the request of the Chief Adept, who himself never shirks any duty or labour in the promotion of Masonic science, I felt that I could not refuse to tread, in my own humble way, in the footsteps of a leader so enthusiastic, energetic and learned as he is. For this reason I do not consider myself called upon to offer one word of apology. I may add that even for the subject upon which I have been requested to address you, our Chief Adept is in some measure responsible, and I think that if he had been aware how very little there is to say upon it, he would have called upon another Frater to entertain and instruct you upon the present occasion. For my poor starveling I must therefore crave your indulgence, and for myself your commiseration.

The subject indeed is wholly unconnected with Rosicrucian Philosophy; yet in its general bearing it is one in which Masonic students cannot fail to take some interest. The bare allusion to ancient Templars will always touch the hearts of Englishmen and English Masons. The spirit of the Rules and Regulations of the military order so closely resembles that which pervades the system of Masonry that our sympathy is aroused, and our feelings are moved, by recalling the circumstances which occasioned the rise, and conduced to the fall, of the illustrious Order.

It is not my intention, however, to conduct you over the very wide, and most interesting, field of Templar history, because it would be, to you, fruitless as regards any new facts, and you are all probably better acquainted with it than I am myself. It constitutes one of the most astonishing outbursts of religious enthusiasm combined with military ardour that the world has ever witnessed, not excepting Mahometanism, which has long outlived it. Whether within the walls of their preceptories, or on their journeys, or engaged in war, the Rules for the observance of the fraternity were excellent. The Templars were to be examples of wisdom, and to be fruitful in every good word and work. Truth, honour, godly fear, charity, sobriety, modesty, chastity—these were to be the guiding principles of their lives and actions;—and, when not engaged in active military service, they were to be not slothful in prayer, serving the Lord. Further, voluntary poverty was absolutely required as a qualification for admission into the order. Hence you perceive the resemblance between this Guild and Freemasonry; for as, individually and collectively, the members of the former were to be just, and upright, and of strict morals, and to act with gentleness and kindliness towards an erring brother knight, so the distinguishing characteristics of the latter are Honour, Obedience, Truth and Fidelity.

A short while before the institution of the Templar Guild another Order had been established in the Holy City, called the Hospitallers of St. John, who duties were professedly the care of sick pilgrims arriving there, and piety. At a later period they assumed a military character, the younger and more ardent brethren preferring "the enterprise and activity of the camp to the monotonous life of the cloister."

I have no need to tell you, what you already know, whence the Templars derived their appellation, and for what purpose the Order was instituted. I merely allude to this matter in order to observe that it is a remarkable circumstance that two such bodies of men as the Templars and the followers of Mahomet, which were partly religious and partly military in their organisation, should have contended for two centuries for the possession of the sacred Places, and Holy Temple of Jerusalem.

Had poverty continued to distinguish the Christian Order, it would probably have survived to this day in some modified form. The great evils attending upon wealth and other causes, partly contributed to its downfall in the first half of the 14th century. The pure spirit which had characterised the early Knight-monks had gradually died out of the hearts of their descendants. With their growing wealth, luxury and sloth, jealousy and intrigues, laxity of discipline, vice and degeneracy crept in, infected, and weakened the entire body. Divisions also arose among themselves, and the saying was fulfilled, "A house divided against itself falleth." Nevertheless it is a vulgar error to suppose that arrogance, cruelty, and divisions within alone occasioned their ruin. Their suppression is to be attributed rather to the covetous eye of needy sovereigns and rulers outside the fraternity. Pope and King abolished the Templars, and Henry VIII., of England, "that monster of iniquity" as he has been styled, and not unjustly, "on the plea that the Order of Hospitallers of St. John had ceased to exist after the loss of Rhodes, took possession of the Commanderies in his kingdom," and seized their property.

One chief source of their abundant wealth, which proved so tempting to greedy and straightened monarchs, was the voluntary impouring of the Knights' possessions into their common treasury, from out of which revenues used to be transmitted to Jerusalem. A great benefactor is said to have been William, Archbishop of York — who I imagine was the same who is called St. William.

At the time when the Temple Church of London was consecrated, the Superior of the Order had an inquisition made of their lands, and the amount of all kinds of property is simply astounding. Upon their great estates prioral houses were erected for the use of stewards who managed their manors and farms, and collected the rents. These prioral houses became regular monastic establishments, inhabited chiefly by sick and aged Templars who had fought in Palestine, and retired hither to spend their few remaining days in peace and devotional exercises. They were cells to the principal house in London. Then there were smaller administrations, consisting of a Knight Templar, who had under him certain brothers, and a priest to celebrate for them and act as almoner. The Knight was styled Preceptor of the Temple, and the district which he administered was called a Preceptory. I presume that much the same arrangement was adopted by the Hospitallers of St. John. In Yorkshire the Preceptories were at Temple Hurst, Temple Newsam, and other places; and the Preceptories of the Knights of St. John were at Beverley, Newland, Mt. St. John, and Ribston.

I have, I fear, taken up too much of your time in introducing you to an ancient Preceptory in the County of Hereford, about which I have very little to say. If I have thrown the responsibility of this uninteresting paper upon the shoulders of our Chief Adept, I must be honest, and take part of it upon my own. I happened, during the course of last summer, to receive an invitation from a clergyman who was well known and deservedly esteemed in Leeds, who resides upon his estate at Dinmore, between Hereford and Leominster. On approaching the house, which stands upon a commanding elevation, the first object I saw was the small tower of a church rising above the trees. On the following morning I attended the family prayers, which are said daily in the sacred building, and was then informed that this was the chapel formerly attached to a Preceptory of the Knights of St. John, whose domestic buildings occupied the site of the present dwelling-house. The existing chapel appears to have been built about the year 1420 upon the foundations of a more ancient building, though no traces of that building have as yet been discovered. It is rectangular in form, 48ft. 6in. long, and 16ft. 6in. wide; and has a tower with short spire at the west end. The tower arch is of very good proportion, and deeply moulded with a plain shaft on each side. The sanctuary was formerly separated from the rest of the building by an oak screen, which was removed many years ago, and formed into the present altar-table. There are no windows on the north side, but the wall appears to have paintings under the plaster. There are a large east window of three lights, and on the south side one of three lights, and two of two lights each, and a quatrefoil in the west wall of the tower. All the windows have the same plain decorated quatrefoil tracery. The roof is of low pitch, and comparatively modern. There is a piscina of curious form, and a holy water stoup at the north door, of Early English design, which evidently belonged to the more ancient chapel. The real floor is 18in. below the present one. The burying ground appears to have been on the south side, where human bones are constantly dug up. The only monumental stone, which seems to be ancient, is in the floor of the chapel, and is incised with a curious triple cross, upon which a modern inscription has been placed. There is a patriarchal cross upon the east gable of the chancel, and in the cellars of the house I was shown ancient doorways and openings, now closed, constructed in the massive foundations. I immediately acquainted our Chief Adept with what I had seen, and his first thought was that a paper upon it would be appreciated by the Fratres. When I assented to his suggestion, I hoped to find in Dugdale's Monasticon and other books some assistance, but have been disappointed, for not a single allusion is made to it. From other sources of information, however, kindly supplied by the owner of Dinmore, I have ascertained that King "Henry II., son of the Empress Maud, gave to one Friar Thomas (one of the Brethren of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, called Hospitallers,) and his brethren a small quantity of land, part of the wood of Marden, called Dinmore, where he created a small Preceptory." His illustrious son "Richard I., after his return from the Holy Land, granted to the said Hospitallers his manor of St. John, at Hereford, and then the said Knights built a priory at Hereford,* to which the said King gave the Preceptory of Dinmore, as follows:—Richard, by the grace of God King of England, Duke of Normandy, &c., to the Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Earls, Barons, Justices, Sheriffs, and all his Ministers and faithful Subjects of all England, greeting: Know ye that the Brothers Hospitallers of Jerusalem, and all their goods and possessions, are in our custody and protection. We receive also into our custody and protection Friar Thomas, of Dinmore, and his Brethren, and all their goods and lands and possessions, and their place of Dinmore, which, by their consent, we have granted to the aforesaid Brothers Hospitallers of Jerusalem, together with one corve of land as the the same was admeasured to them by lawful Knights of the Country, in the time of our Father out of the Wood of Marden, to wit, in length from the assert of the Presbytery of Marden, so as the way is asserted between our wood and the said our free alms, unto the lands of the Monks of Leominster of the Hope, and in breadth from the aforesaid way unto Colweye. And, therefore, we will, and strictly command that the aforesaid Brothers and Hospitallers of Jerusalem, and their place of Dinmore, with the aforesaid corve of land, with all their appurtenances in woods and plains, and of the aforesaid Friar Thomas, Founder of that Place, and his Brethren, and all their goods and lands and possessions, you do keep, protect, and maintain and defend as our own demesnes, doing to them no wrong or contumely, or grievance, nor suffering any to be done by any other; but if any one to them in any thing hurt shall do that you shall to them, without delay, fully cause amends to be made.

By a grant in the first year of King John, which recites that the said Friar Thomas and his Brethren had given to the Priory of St. John at Hereford, his said Preceptory of Dinmore, in the Wood of Marden, the said King confirms the same.

I can tell you nothing respecting the fortunes of this Preceptory until the time of Henry VIII., except that, according to Leland's Survey, one Launcelot Dowera, Knt., was Master of Dinmore in the 20th of Henry VII..

In the 32nd year of Hen. VIII. it was particularly provided by Statute, concerning the possessions of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem—"All the Commanderies, Manors, &c., of the Order are vested in the Crown with all their former privileges."

From this time the usual story connected with the unjust confiscation of religious property is recorded; royal grants, their sale and re-sale.

In the 1st year of Edw. VI., the Bailiff of the Court of Augmentations accounts for the Manor and Preceptory of Dinmore, under Lease to Richard Durmin from the said Court. Lease dated March 3rd, 33rd Hen. VIII., for 21 years, at £12 10s 2d.

The said possessions remained in the Crown, till Queen Mary on 2nd Dec., in the 1st year of her reign, granted to Jane Russell the site of the Preceptory for her life, with remainder to Edwd. Russell, her son, for his life, and the reversion to the Queen, her heirs and successors.

Queen Elizabeth by grant, 3rd year of her reign, reciting the grant of Queen Mary, in consideration of £225 3s 0d, grants the same after the death of Russell to John Woolrych, and Elizabeth his mother, to hold to the said John Woolrych of the Queen in capite. In virtue of which grant the descendants of the said John enjoy the said premises.

The Preceptory, Manor, &c., of Dinmore was sold about the year 1739 by their descendant John Woolrych, Esq., to Richard Fleming, of Sibdon Castle, Esq., Co. Salop, who left it to his second son Richard, from whom it passed to his only son Richard Stukeley Fleming, from him to his only sister Frances, the wife of the Rev. John Francis Seymour St. John, and from them to their eldest son John Fleming St. John, whose son the Rev. Harris Fleming St. John, the present possessor, was my most kind host and provider of the materials for this hastily drawn up Paper.

That which renders this last information of peculiar interest to me, and will I trust before long prove interesting to others, and to Yorkshiremen in particular, is this:—That the above-named Richard Fleming, of Sibdon Castle, and of the Chancery Office, from whom the present owner of Dinmore is descended, was married Dec. 7, 1752, to Frances, eldest daughter of the Rev. Dr. Stukeley, Rector of St. George's, Queen Square, London, and Frances Williamson, his wife. This Dr. Stukeley was an antiquary of considerable note, whose correspondence, with the eminent men of his day, I am engaged in editing for the Surtees Society. His second wife was Elizabeth, daughter of Dr. Gale, a learned Dean of York, and sister to Roger Gale, of Scruton Hall, near Bedale. He was also initiated Jan. 6, 1721, into Freemasonry at the Salutation Tavern, Tavistock-street, London, on which occasion, as he writes in his commonplace book, "I was the first person made a Freemason in London for many years. We had great difficulty to find members enough to perform the ceremony. Immediately upon that it took a run, and ran itself out of breath, through the folly of the members." Whether the Brethren ever recovered breath, or died a violent death, I cannot say, but on 27th Dec., in the same year, Dr. Stukeley is found assisting in the formation of a Lodge at the Fountain Tavern, Strand; and when in 1726 he retired to Grantham he founded a Lodge there.

FRIENDSHIP LODGE, No. 100, GT. YARMOUTH.

ON 1st inst. a ball was held at the Assembly Rooms, Great Yarmouth, under the auspices of Lodge Friendship, and passed off with great success. This being the first ball ever given by the Lodge, preparations on an extensive scale were made, and the event was looked forward to with pleasurable anticipation. The rooms were appropriately and prettily decorated for the occasion. The dancing room was tastefully draped with curtains and other light material, and some handsome mirrors added to the effectiveness of the scene. A splendid portrait of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales as Grand Master, presented to the Lodge by Bro. J. W. B. Johnson, was also shown, and in front of the balcony were the banner of the Lodge and some plumes. Handsome vases, lent by various brethren, occupied the mantel shelfs, and the corridors and other parts of the building were draped. The apartments adjoining the large hall were elegantly furnished as withdrawing and coffee rooms. The ball was under the management of the following brethren as Stewards:—John Etheridge W.M. president, D. R. Fowler I.P.M., L. Spence P.M., R. W. Hubbard P.M., R. Martins P.M., E. J. Bonfellow P.M., J. Bond P.M., J. Franklin P.M., H. Stembridge S.W., J. W. B. Johnson, J. W. H. Owles S.D., A. D. Bennett J.D., C. J. Bullen I.G., J. E. Balls, and T. Elliot. Bro. A. D. Bennett carried out the arduous duties of Hon. Secretary with much credit and satisfaction, and thanks are due to him for his indefatigable exertions. The preparation of the refreshments was left to Bro. J. Franklin, and the tables, which were laid in the two billiard rooms, were exquisitely arranged. The decorations were carried out with great taste and skill, a couple of obelisks of ice and handsome epergnes embellishing each table. A variety of choice flowers were also utilised with very pretty effect, and the viands were crowned by a peacock, tastefully set off. The company present numbered about 140, including many of the gentry and tradesmen of the town, in addition to friends of the brethren and visitors from Norwich, Lowestoft, and places at a distance. Dancing commenced at nine o'clock, and was kept up till about 4 a.m. in a spirited manner to the strains of a capital band, under the direction of Mr. E. Winton, who also rendered much assistance in carrying out the programme. The brethren wore full Craft clothing, which added much liveliness to the scene. The ball was opened by Bro. J. Etheridge W.M. and Miss Fowler, and Bro. D. R. Fowler I.P.M. and Mrs. Etheridge. The Stewards did everything in their power to secure the comfort and pleasure of their friends.—[We are indebted to the Yarmouth Gazette for the above particulars.]

LODGE OF THE MARCHES, No. 611, LUDLOW.

BRO. William Powell is well known among the brethren for his zeal and energy in promoting all matters which have for their object the welfare and prosperity of the Craft; and it was a pleasing and interesting part of the business of the Lodge of the Marches at its meeting on Wednesday, 2nd inst., to present him with a P.M.'s jewel as a mark of the high estimation in which he is held by the brethren, and in testimony of their appreciation of the long-continued and valued services which he has given to the Lodge for a period approaching twenty years. Brother Powell has twice occupied the chair of the Lodge, and has also attained distinction as an Officer in the G. Lodge of the Province. Much of the work in the Lodge of the Marches has fallen to him; and he has also shown great assiduity in instructing in Masonic matters newly initiated members. Bro. Roberts, the Mayor of the Borough, and lately also for two years Master of the Lodge, made the presentation in the name of the Officers and brethren, and in doing so spoke in eulogistic terms of the services which Bro. Powell had rendered them. He said he had taken a great interest in the getting up of the testimonial, and could assure Bro. Powell that no brother in the Province was held in higher esteem by the brethren. Brother Powell, in returning thanks, said he was entirely unequal to the occasion, and unable to find words which would adequately express the feelings with which he received this mark of the goodwill and appreciation of the brethren. The Lodge could always command his efforts, and when from infirmity he could no longer make a response, he hoped some more able brother would be at hand to take up the work. The jewel, of eighteen-carat gold, is very handsomely designed; it has raised Masonic emblems, encircled by a relief base, with the words "Lodge of the Marches, No. 611," and is suspended from a monogram of the Ludlow Arms, of equally handsome and elaborate design. On the back the following inscription is neatly engraved:—"Presented to Bro. William Powell P.M. 611 P.P.D.C. of North Wales and Shropshire, by the Officers and brethren of the Lodge of the Marches, 611, as a mark of fraternal regard, and as a slight acknowledgment of many valuable services continuously rendered to the Lodge for a period of more than eighteen years.

Ludlow, 2nd March 1881."

We may add that at the same meeting there were three raisings The attendance was unusually large.

Islington Lodge of Instruction, No. 1471.—A meeting was held on Tuesday, 8th inst., at the Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement. Present—Bros. Hall W.M., Medwin S.W., Orme J.W., J. L. Mather Preceptor, C. G. Sparrow Hon. Sec., Kern S.D., Couchman I.G., and several others. After preliminaries, the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Batty candidate. Bro. Hall vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Blenkhorn, who rehearsed the ceremony of raising, Bro. Button candidate. Bro. Medwin was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

The Crichton Lodge, 1641.—The second annual ball of this Lodge took place on Friday, 4th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, and passed off with very great success. The Stewards were Bros. R. J. Voisey W.M., T. Gardner I.P.M., A. Middlemass P.M., T. Griffiths P.M., P. A. Nairne D.C., S. H. Goldschmidt S.W., T. E. Heller J.W., D. D. Mercer Treasurer S.D., T. Weeks Secretary, R. Greenwood I.G., R. Stokoe W.S., J. Maunder Organist, R. J. Vincent, J. Dallison, H. R. Baker, T. Nettleship, W. H. Briant, J. Cross, C. Köhler W.M. 1381, Fredk. Hilton J.W. 1473, and G. P. Coltar J.W. 1622. Bros. W. H. Baker J.D. 1641, H. A. Stunt W.S. 1641, and T. Cull W.M. 1446, acted as Honorary M.C.'s. The attendance was very numerous, nearly 200 guests being present. Amongst the Visitors were Bros. David Rose (P.M. Rose Lodge), W. M. Goss (W.M. Caveac Lodge), Vickery (W.M. Rose Lodge), W. Clausson Thue (P.M. Rose Lodge), W. Pilditch (P.M. Earl Spencer Lodge), and many other brethren. Dancing commenced at 9 o'clock, to the music of Bro. Dan Godfrey's band, and, as may be expected, was carried on with great spirit till far into the "small hours," the M.C.'s acting with untiring energy throughout for the comfort of the visitors. During the interval the company adjourned to an excellent repast, at which Bro. Voisey presided. The usual toasts were received with much applause, particularly in the case of "The Ladies," for whom Bro. Goldschmidt in appropriate terms responded. It is evident from the successful manner this ball was carried out the Charity Fund will be largely augmented.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Weakness and Debility.—Unless the blood be kept in a pure state, the constitution must be weakened and disease supervene. These wonderful Pills possess the power of neutralising and removing all contaminations of the blood and system generally. They quietly, but certainly, overcome all obstructions tending to produce ill health, and institute regular actions in organs that are faulty from derangement or debility. The dyspeptic, weak, and nervous, may rely on these Pills as their best friends and comforters. They improve the appetite, and thoroughly invigorate the digestive apparatus. Holloway's Pills have long been known to be the surest preventatives of liver complaints, dreadful dropsies, spasms, colic, constipation, and many other diseases always hovering round the feeble and infirm.

Lodge opened and minutes were read. Several sums were voted from the Benevolent Fund, and arrangements were made for a summer banquet.

Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, No. 65.—Held at Bro. Maidwell's, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., every Tuesday evening. It has been arranged to rehearse the ceremony of installation at the above Lodge on Tuesday, the 15th inst. Bro. Brown P.M. of the mother Lodge, will be the Installing Master. Brethren are cordially invited to attend.

St. James's Union Lodge, No. 180.—The regular meeting of the above Lodge was held on the 8th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen.street. Present:—Bros. C. Wade W.M., Fletcher S.W., J. Wood P.M. J.W., Miles Treasurer, Parsons P.M. Secretary, Maxted J.D., Chester I.G., L. Herf P.M. W.S., Denne assistant W.S., Hart Organist; P.M.'s Bros. Stonor, L. Herf, Robinson, and Farwig. Visitors—Bros. D. Baker, W. Donne 192, A. Baume 63, E. Farley 58, Grogan 256, A. Forsyth 140, Spooner 1470, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188. Lodge was opened and minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. Lodge was opened to the third degree, and closed to the first. The resignation of a brother was accepted, with regret. The petition of a widow from a member of a Lodge at Cambridge was recommended to the Lodge of Benevolence. Lodge was then closed until October. The brethren sat down to an excellent banquet and dessert, provided by Bro. Best and superintended by Bro. Dawkins. The W.M. proposed the Loyal and Masonic toasts. Bro. Stonor P.M. had pleasure in proposing the health of the W.M.; all knew his capabilities, and whenever his services were required he was ready to give them. He trusted that on a future occasion the members would have an opportunity of witnessing Bro. Wade's working; as president at their festive board, he had ably acquitted himself; he would conclude by calling on all present to cordially drink the toast. The W.M. thanked Bro. Stonor for his kind expressions; he hoped he had done his duty in every respect in the junior offices, and, as W.M., he trusted to have the opportunity of showing that, after the next meeting, initiations would follow. He assured them his heart and soul was with the Lodge. It was gratifying to know that the Benevolent Fund of the Lodge was in a flourishing condition, and while the Lodge was under his rule he trusted it might also flourish. The next toast given was the health of the Visitors; Brother H. M. Levy Past Master 188 acknowledged the compliment. The W.M. then gave the toast of the P.M.'s. They were all good working Masons; in fact, he might say they were the pillars of the Lodge. If he might say so, they were like old books, and could always be seen in reference to anything that might crop up. He had especially to thank Bro. Farwig for his assistance. Bro. Stonor also was a very old and respected P.M. Bro. Stonor, in reply, said he felt proud to assist the W.M., either as I.P.M. or in any way; he would do all he could to sustain the Lodge. Bro. Robinson P.M. followed. The W.M. had pleasantly alluded to them as old books; he hoped they would ever be bound together in one bond of brotherly feeling. In proposing the toast of the Wardens, the W.M. said he hoped their S.W. would be the next Master of the Lodge. The J.W. is W.M. of another Lodge, and his working is well known. The united assistance given by these brethren could but be for the benefit of the Lodge. Bro. Fletcher S.W. felt deeply grateful for the kind remarks of the W.M. He should, indeed, feel proud if he were elected to fill the chair of the Lodge. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Treasurer and Secretary, incidentally mentioning it was the intention of the latter Brother shortly to enter the holy bonds of matrimony. All knew the good and excellent qualities of their esteemed Brother, and he hoped the members would give the toast a hearty reception, wishing health and prosperity to the bride and bridegroom. The toast was enthusiastically received. Bro. Farwig P.M. said that Bro. Miles, one of the oldest members of the Lodge, had been elected Treasurer; he was a good and worthy Brother. With respect to Bro. Parsons, he (Bro. Farwig) had to thank him for introducing him to a Lodge of Instruction, which resulted in his first step on the ladder of advancement, and culminated in his being a P.M. of this Lodge. All the members would wish him every happiness in his Masonic life. The toast of the Junior Officers was ably responded to by Bros. Maxted, Chester, &c. and the brethren shortly afterwards separated.

La Tolerance Lodge, No. 538.—On Thursday, 3rd inst., this Lodge, after the regular meeting, which was the last for the season, and at which Bros. Burt and Walser were raised, gave a banquet, to which ladies were admitted, while a dispensation from Grand Lodge had been obtained which permitted the brethren to wear their Craft clothing. The banquet took place at Freemasons' Hall, in the Crown-room, upwards of seventy being present, thirty-six of the number being ladies, who assembled in the drawing-room, whither the brethren adjourned at the closing of the Lodge, having first formed in procession. The toasts of the Queen and the Craft, the G.M. and Officers (to which Bro. James Kench P.M. and Treasurer, G.P., replied), the W.M. (proposed by Bro. T. W. Cooper), the I.P.M., the Lady Visitors, the Gentlemen Visitors, the P.M.'s, and finally the Officers of the Lodge were complimented. Between the toasts suitable accompaniments were performed under the direction of Bro. H. J. Dean 45, Org. 1260. Afterwards a dance took place, thus bringing the festivities to a pleasing close, the ladies evidently appreciating and much enjoying the entertainments.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—At the meeting held on Friday, 4th inst., at the Star and Garter, Kew Bridge, Bros. C. E. Botley W.M., F. Botley S.W., Monson J.W., Maton S.D., Tucker Treas. J.D., Goss P.M. I.G., Roe P.M. Preceptor. Gunner Hon. Sec., Gomm P.M., Lucas, Kent, Daniel, Brill, Becket, &c. Lodge opened, and the minutes were read, confirmed, and signed. Lodge was advanced to the third degree, and Bro. Tucker was raised. Lodge closed to first degree, when the initiation ceremony was rehearsed, Bro. Lucas candidate. Bro. F. Botley was elected W.M. for next meeting.

The Thistle Mark Lodge of Instruction will in future hold its meetings at the Freemasons' Tavern, every Wednesday evening, at seven o'clock, Bro. W. J. Collens Hon. Sec.

UNITED STRENGTH LODGE, No. 228.

IT is impossible to attend a meeting of this old and flourishing Lodge, and not admit the appropriateness of its appellation. For, beyond the cohesion and fraternal unity which should, and invariably does, cement the members of a Lodge together, there are elements of sound and pure Masonic intercourse and co-operation which it must be said do not exist everywhere. Added to an excellence of working which strikes the visitor with agreeable astonishment, there is a vein of sterling amity pervading the Lodge, the town and country members vieing with each other only in advancing its interests and in cultivating those courtesies and amenities which are by no means the least important or essential elements of the Craft. Thus, on Tuesday evening last, the recently-installed Worshipful Master, Bro. George Hellen Patmore (of Luton) was met on the first evening of his presidency since his installation, by a large and enthusiastic gathering, including many Past Masters and Visitors. The brethren assembled at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, about half-past four o'clock, when Lodge was opened with the customary observances, the W.M. being supported by most of his Officers, viz., Bros. Alfred Henry Hickman S.W., Henry W. Alford J.W., Joseph Crump P.M. Secretary, Edward Davies P.M. Acting Secretary, Frederick J. Hunt S.D., Alfred H. Trewinnard W.M. 1692 J.D., Frank Arnold D.C., Matthew Moseley A.D.C., and George Bellett I.G. The esteemed Treasurer, Bro. John A. Winsland P.M., and Bro. James Terry P.M. (Secretary of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution), who has kindly undertaken the post of Steward, were unavoidably absent. The attendance also included—Bros. Robert Snare I.P.M.; P.M.'s Richard Pearcy, Robert H. Halford, James Hillhouse, A. Colston; Bros. H. Langley, Alfred Cornelius Wolsey, Joseph Reynolds Green, Francis Edward Thurland, Vilett Rolleston, Henry George Plaws, Cornelius Reepe, T. R. Bull, Harley Paine, William John Randall, John Woodman, James Francis Quartley, Charles Lewis Amez Droz, William Campden, William Smith, Henry Thomas Sandy, Charles William Butler, Edward Henry Johnson, James Evetts, Max Mendelsohn, John Henry Miller, Thomas Gebhardt, George Christopher Fidge, William Bray, T. H. Bromley, William Briden Smart, Robert Carlyle Childs, &c. Visitors—Bros. A. Davies 1247, Samuel Johnson 948, William Webb I.G. 1580, James Taylor 177, W. C. Hazelgrove W.M. 475, and G. E. Frodsham 3. Thus it will be observed that the metropolitan brethren were joined by a strong contingent from Luton and other parts of Bedfordshire; and, as we have said, Bro. Patmore's inaugural presidency drew together a numerous and enthusiastic assembly. The minutes of the installation meeting having been confirmed, the ballot was prepared for Mr. William Briden Smart, of Luton, proposed by the W.M., seconded by Brother Frank Arnold; for Mr. Thomas Jones, of Luton, proposed by Bro. Miller, seconded by the W.M.; and for Mr. Robert Carlyle Child, of Hampstead, whose sponsors were Bro. Vilett Rolleston and Bro. Edward Davies P.M. All were unanimously accepted, and Messrs. Smart and Child being in attendance were duly initiated into the mysteries and privileges of Freemasonry by the W.M., who acquitted himself with credit and satisfaction to the brethren. Lodge was then advanced, and Bro. William Bray, having answered the usual interrogations perfectly, was entrusted; and on his readmission was passed to Fellow Craft, the ceremony being well performed by the W. Master. Lodge was again advanced, when Bros. Alfred Cornelius Wolsey and Geo. Christopher Fidge were duly raised, the impressive manner in which the rite was carried out showing that the W. Master needs but little experience in his exalted position to attain perfection of working. At the conclusion of a somewhat heavy agenda, Lodge was closed in form, and the brethren adjourned to the Throne-room of the hotel, where Messrs. Ritter and Clifford, as usual, presented a tempting menu, the banquet being personally superintended by Bro. Henry Mills. The whole of the arrangements were such as to afford unqualified satisfaction. After dessert the customary Loyal and Craft toasts were honoured, and the health of the Initiates having been welcomed with a hearty "fire," Bros. Smart and Child acknowledged, in suitable terms, the compliment paid them. Bro. Snare I.P.M. then proposed the health of the Worshipful Master, whom he congratulated upon the numerous attendance at his first meeting, and upon the success he had achieved in conducting the duties of the Lodge. The W. Master, in responding, thanked the brethren for the very flattering manner in which they had received the toast. He was sensible of many shortcomings in the discharge of the arduous duties which they had entrusted to his hands; but it would be no fault of his if he did not acquit himself next time more to their satisfaction and his own. However, he had done the work to the best of his ability. It must be recollected that in the country they could not enjoy the facilities possessed by London brethren of attending Lodges of Instruction, where, with the Preceptor at their elbow, they were enabled to make rapid advances in their work. In such cases a man who applied himself to the task could soon make himself almost perfect in Masonry. It was not convenient for him to be in London every night, but he should endeavour to come as often as he could, and study to attain a little more polish than he had exhibited that evening. In conclusion he assured them he should always do the best he could for the Lodge of United Strength. He then proposed the Visitors, offering a few words of welcome to each whose name appeared upon the list. Suitable replies were made by Bro. W. C. Hazelgrove W.M. of St. John the Baptist Lodge, 475, who invited the brethren of the United Strength to pay him a return visit; Bro. Samuel Johnson, who expressed the pleasure it had afforded him, on this his first visit, to see the excellence of working in the Lodge, and the hearty unanimity which pervaded the brethren; Bro. William Webb, who thought from what he had seen of the working there was no need for the apologetic terms in which the W. Master had expressed himself. Bros. A. Davies, Jas. Taylor, and G. E. Frodsham also acknowledged the hospitable welcome which had been extended to the Visitors. The W. Master, in proposing the health of the Past Masters, observed that those who were in Lodge that night would be satisfied he (the speaker) would have fared badly had not his worthy Immediate Past Master been at his elbow to render him valuable assistance. They had also amongst them the father of the Lodge, Bro. Joseph Crump P.M., whom they all delighted to honour. It did not matter who came to visit the Lodge, they always inquired who was that venerable brother amongst them, and all were delighted to hail him as the parent of the United Strength Lodge. There were several other P.M.'s present, all of whom had ably filled the chair which he now occupied, though they regretted the unavoidable absence of Bros. Winsland, their esteemed Treasurer, and James Terry. Really, without the latter the Lodge did not seem complete; but they had the satisfaction of knowing that he was somewhere about the country advocating, with his well-known fervency and zeal, the claims of that noble Institution of which he was the guiding spirit and the grand propelling power. The toast was acknowledged by the Immediate Past Master, who claimed for himself and colleagues that "modesty" which always took possession of men who had passed the chair. He promised to Bro. Patmore all the aid which he and his brother P.M.'s could render during his year of office, which, he hoped, would be a happy and prosperous one. The health of the Officers of the Lodge was next given, and suitable replies were made by those brethren respectively, the official list being concluded with the Tyler's toast. During the evening some capital songs were rendered, the very agreeable proceedings being brought to a termination in time to enable the country brethren to catch the last train for home.

West Middlesex Lodge of Instruction, No. 1612.—At the Feathers' Hotel, Ealing, on 3rd March. Bros. F. W. Wilkinson W.M., C. Andrews P.M. S.W., C. E. Porter J.W., J. Green S.D., J. Wells J.D., F. Botley I.G., H. E. Tucker Treasurer and Preceptor. The work comprised the rehearsal of the ceremony of initiation, Bro. H. E. Tucker candidate. The W.M. gave the charge. The Secretary was requested to write to Bro. G. S. Wright a letter of condolence, sympathising with him in his bereavement,—the loss of his wife. A cordial vote of thanks was passed to Bro. Wilkinson on his having filled the chair in this Lodge of Instruction for the first time. Bro. C. Andrews was elected W.M. for the next meeting.

Tredegar Lodge of Instruction, No. 1625.—At the meeting of this Lodge, on the 7th inst., at Bro. A. Yates's, Royal Hotel, Mile End-road, Bro. Hubbert occupied the chair, and was ably supported by Bros. Sturtevant as S.W., Loane J.W., W. Hogg P.M. Preceptor, T. J. Barnes P.M. Treasurer, B. Stewart Secretary, Loftus S.D., Deeson J.D., Hammond I.G.; also present Bros. Johnson, Wheatley, J. Andrews P.M., Robinson, Stephens, &c. The usual preliminaries having been duly observed, Bro. Hubbert rehearsed the ceremony of initiation—Bro. Johnson as candidate—in a very commendable manner. Bro. Loane jun. worked the first section of the lecture, and Bro. Barnes P.M. the second and third, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Stewart Hon. Secretary then submitted the balance sheet for the past twelve months, which showed a satisfactory financial position. We are pleased to note the steady support which this Lodge has accorded to the Masonic Institutions, £5 5s having been voted twice to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, besides sundry grants to necessitous brethren. Whilst we are gratified to find the working of a Lodge to be good, this is doubtless the highest exercise of good working Freemasons can exhibit. Bro. Sturtevant was elected to fill the position of Master at the meeting on the 14th inst. A vote of thanks, which was supported in kindly terms by Bro. Barnes P.M., was unanimously accorded to Bro. Hubbert, he having occupied the position of W.M., for the first time in this Lodge, most ably. Announcements were made of the working of the Fifteen Sections by the following brethren:—On the 23rd inst., at the Burdett-Coutts Lodge of Instruction, No. 1278, by Bro. B. Cundick; on the 27th inst., at the Israel Lodge of Instruction, No. 205, by Bro. T. Wooding; on the 28th inst., at West Smithfield Lodge of Instruction, No. 1623, Cathedral Hotel, St. Paul's Churchyard, E.C., by Bro. G. H. Stephens, who, on the invitation of this Lodge, will be assisted entirely by brethren from the East End of London. Lodge was then closed and adjourned until the 14th inst.

FREEMASONRY IN CHINA.

A MOST interesting paper, by Bro. Herbert A. Giles W.M. Ionic, No. 1781, was read before that Lodge on 1st June 1880, and has since, by permission of the District G. Master of Hong Kong, been published in book form. The title is, perhaps, a little misleading, in the sense, at least, that it does not treat of Masonry as now established in China, but of a system which existed in that country ages ago, and which certainly justifies the opinion that something analogous to our Freemasonry was established there at a period very remote from the present. So interesting is it that we have thought it worth while to give an outline of the points which are especially referred to.

Bro. Giles first of all notes that, if by Freemasonry is meant the system now in vogue among western nations, with its ritual of doubtful date, its signs, constitutions, &c., then it certainly does not exist at the present time, and never has existed among this people. But if it "points to that higher and more ethereal scheme of morality, veiled in allegory, and illustrated by symbols drawn from operative Masonry, which was initiated in pre-historic times, when the human race, emerging gradually from savagery and barbarism, first turned to contemplate the wondrous works of the Great Architect of the Universe, and began to recognise the mutual obligations subsisting between man and man," then he thinks it will be found that a kind of Masonic system undoubtedly existed in days long anterior to the Christian era. Thus, says Bro. Giles, "from time immemorial we find the square and compasses used by Chinese writers, either together or separately, to symbolise precisely the same phases of conduct as in our own system of Freemasonry." The order, however, is reversed, priority being given to the compasses. Other Masonic tools and appliances are similarly used, the earliest passage within Bro. Giles's knowledge, which illustrates this statement, being in the Book of History, in which, in an account of a military exhibition, occurs the passage, "Ye officers of Government, apply the compasses," while in another part a magistrate is spoken of as "the man of the level," or "the level man." This book, we are told, extends over a period from the twenty-fourth to the seventh century B.C. Even if we take the latter period we note that curious Masonic expressions were in vogue in the written language over seven centuries before the advent of Christ; but as the authenticity of the Book is not in question, this gives a far higher antiquity to Masonry than has ever been claimed for it. In making this latter assertion the writer is so far in error that enthusiasts as to the antiquity of Masonry, take us back to the days of Adam and Eve for the origin of Freemasonry, though how sensible men could have advanced so strange a theory, in sober seriousness and in the sense in which they do advance it, is beyond ordinary comprehension.

Greater authorities still than the "Book of History" are certain quotations the author makes, one from the Discourses of the great Philosopher Confucius, and the others from the works of his great disciple Mencius, who lived two centuries later. In the former case, it seems "when recounting his own degrees of moral progress in life, the Master tells us that only at seventy years of age could he venture to follow the inclinations of his heart without fear of 'transgressing the limits of the square.'" The description of the passages in Mencius is still more curious, for there he says, "we are taught that just as the most highly skilled artificers are unable, without the aid of the square and compasses, to produce perfect rectangles or perfect circles, so must all men apply their tools figuratively to their lives, and the level and marking-line besides, if they would walk in the straight and even paths of wisdom and keep themselves within the bounds of honour and virtue." In support he instances three passages from as many different Books by this celebrated writer, namely, Books IV, VI, and VII, respectively. We quote them in their order of sequence:—

(1.) The Compasses and the Square are the embodiment of the rectangular and the round, just as the prophets of old were the embodiment of the due relationship between man and man.

(2.) A Master Mason, in teaching his Apprentices, makes use of the Compasses and the Square. Ye who are engaged in the pursuit of wisdom must also make use of the Compass and the Square.

(3.) A carpenter or a carriage-builder may give a man the Compasses and the Square, but he cannot necessarily make him a skilful workman.

These are curious, but equally so is a quotation or translation from "a famous canonical work, commonly known to foreigners as the Great Learning, the actual authorship of which is a moot point among scholars, though it is admitted on all sides that the text dates from between three and five hundred years before Christ." In this passage, which inculcates "that a man should abstain from doing unto others what he would not they should do to him," it is laid down that "this is called the principle of acting on the square." Descending to a later period, Bro. Giles makes reference to the Sacred Edict, "a number of moral maxims addressed to the people by the second Emperor of the reigning dynasty (1661-1723), and expanded by the third Emperor, his son. Herein it is laid down that filial piety and fraternal love should be the chief objects in the moral education of children, and that those virtues must be taught by example as well as precept, so that "the wisdom of our sons may ripen day by day, and they may walk within the limits prescribed by the compasses and the square." A further point of great value is that "the proverbial philosophy of China teems with allusions of this kind, so that when the Amoy Masonic Hall was erected, no difficulty was experienced in finding mottoes for inscription on either side of the entrance door to the Lodge, and accordingly the meaning of those which were inscribed on the respective sides were as follow, namely:—

That on the right—"The holy doctrine"—which in a footnote we are told is "Confucianism"—"in its education of mankind makes use of the Compasses and the Square."

That on the left—"The genius of the sage in the administration of affairs takes the form of the rectangular or the round."

But these figurative expressions are to be found not only in the written language, but also in all the colloquial dialects in vogue at the present date. Thus in every day talk one "who has no 'square and compasses,'" or does not understand them, is "oblivious of all moral and social obligations, and totally unfit for any society of men who prize honour and virtue above the external advantages of rank and fortune.'" The "Cash," the one and only coin current in China, being circular and having a square hole pierced in it, is considered by the people as "the most perfect symbol of a perfect man."

Passing on to the "point within a circle," the author says the Chinese have this very symbol, "which is nothing more nor less than the ancient form of the character of the Sun. It is one of the best of the scanty number of bonâ fide hieroglyphics that the Chinese have to show; it is a positive picture of the Sun, the life-giver, as their forefathers saw it overhead, a dot within the circle of the sky." Bro. Giles, however, while noting this and other coincidences, lays great stress on the necessity there is for the exercise of that important Masonic virtue of caution, before accepting offhand such coincidences as they might light upon as evidences of Freemasonry in China; and he cites two cases in which, in his opinion, Bro. Alabaster has been misled owing to the difference in character in the language as now written, and as it was written centuries since. Says he, "characters are now written with straight lines, whereas before the Christian era almost every other stroke was a curve." Thus he notes that the character chêng—"upright"—is Masonic both in shape and meaning and bears "a singular resemblance to the triple tau monogram of the Royal Arch degree," but "in ancient days, it was formed with curved strokes, in which its identity with the Masonic monogram can be traced only by the enthusiast." Yet the character t'ou ⊥ which our readers will at once recognise, is "written now as it was later even two and three thousand years ago."

Other coincidences next claim the writer's attention. Thus the place of honour in a Chinese family is in the East, and hence an employer is often spoken of by his employés as "the Eastern one." Then, as regards the Apron, the Chinese recognise the Masonic division of the body by its means, and have done so for centuries, and, adds Bro. Giles, "in their ancient ceremonial of several thousand years ago an apron of some kind undoubtedly played a part. Such an article of dress is, in fact, mentioned in the Discourses of Confucius, and is depicted in the old illustrated dictionary of the classics as ornamented with a plant, seven stars, an axe, and the character of a or ya." Further, "the Chinese symbol for an axe, placed inside the symbol for the square" is "the identical character by which the term 'Master Mason' is expressed in the written language of China." As to the a or ya Bro. Giles feels unprepared to fix its significance, but, he remarks suggestively, "Some assert that its meaning has reference to the disappearance of the sun; and, if so, why not to the darkness visible of a Master Mason's Lodge?" Finally, "the great Yü, who is said to have drained off the waters of the Chinese Deluge, girt himself with a lambskin apron when, bareheaded and barefooted, he offered himself as a sacrifice for the people; besides which we have the apron distinctly mentioned in the Book of History as part of the sacrificial costume of old."

Bro. Giles concludes his paper with some remarks on the Secret Societies of China, which, unfortunately, it appears, are "strictly forbidden by the Government, as hotbeds of sedition and political intrigue." The best known of them, we are told, is "the Triad Society," which has its headquarters in the Straits' Settlements, and had its origin curiously enough about a hundred and fifty years ago, or not so very far from the date of the establishment of Speculative Masonry in this country. The word "Triad" alludes to a conjunction of the three great powers in nature, to wit, Heaven, Earth, and Man. The Society admits members with a ceremonial resembling our own. Its working tools comprise "a 12-inch gauge, called 'the jade-foot rule,' a balance, a steelyard, an abacus or counting-board, and a pencil." They have "a W.M., a 'great brother' and 'a second brother,' corresponding to our Senior Warden and Junior Warden; a 'first point' and a 'second point,' corresponding to our Senior Deacon and Junior Deacon, and an inner and outer guard, both of whom wear wave-shaped swords, supposed to represent a dragon swimming in a pool. They have a Treasurer, and recognise the three degrees of E.A., F.C., and M.M., which they speak of as "affiliated younger brother,' 'obligated elder brother,' and 'obligated uncle,' respectively." Bro. Giles points out other points of resemblance, and gives a description of the ceremony of initiation, but at too great length for us to repeat in detail. It seems, however, that brethren discover themselves to each other by putting the question, "Whence do you come?" the answer to which is, "I come from the East." Then, "Whither are you directing your steps?" to which the reply is, "I wish to go where I can join the myriad brethren." With a few further particulars the lecture closes. We have gone thus minutely into it, because, as we said at starting, it cannot fail to be otherwise than most instructive to our readers. We think Bro. Giles has done his work extremely well, and that it was a politic as well as complimentary act on the part of the Lodge to have it printed and published in its present form. Bro. Giles's points are undoubtedly the result of most careful study, and we thank him most heartily for having afforded us an insight into a field of comparative literature with which it is well nigh impossible or, at all events, in the highest degree improbable, we should have any acquaintance.

THE APPROACHING SCHOOL ELECTIONS.

FOLLOWING very closely on the announcement of the result of the first of the annual Festivals held in connection with our Masonic Institutions come most practical evidences—in the form of "lists of candidates"—of the great need there is for the maintenance and even enlargement of our charity funds. We no not approve of the cry "give, give," being made a continuous one, but so long as Freemasonry rests on its present basis it will be incumbent on its members to do their utmost to uphold its distinguishing characteristic, and to provide as far as lies in their power for the widows and children of the deceased or less fortunate members. How best to accomplish this end is, and we imagine ever will be, a question on which great difference of opinion exists, but there are some points on which we think it will be as well to give a passing thought ere we proceed to our usual review of the several candidates. The election for the Girls' School takes place on Saturday, the 9th April, while that for the Boys' is fixed for the following Monday; we shall therefore, as usual, confine our present remarks to the particulars of the former. The list gives the names of twenty-eight candidates, of whom seventeen appear now for the first time; while of the whole number, fourteen—or exactly one-half—bear record of their father's death having taken place during the year just closed. Now, considering that by the rules governing our Schools, the petitions in each of these cases must have been drawn up some time before the end of 1880, we think this bears unmistakable evidence of a great neglect of duty on the part of the brethren whose families are compelled to appeal to the charity of the Craft, and it induces us to ask, what Freemasonry as practised in this country really is? Is it a luxury or a necessity? We answer most decisively, the latter; and we greatly blame the man who takes from his family the money for the purpose of paying his initiation fees or his Lodge subscriptions. We are frequently told that Freemasonry is not a benefit society, but we are beginning to think it would be much better if it were, for then every member would be compelled to do some little for the benefit of his family in case of need, whereas now it is well-known that some make a boast of what the Craft would do for their children if anything was to happen to necessitate an appeal to it, and in that way excuse themselves from personally making provision for misfortune. We are aware that it may be considered bad taste thus to speak of brethren who are dead, at the same time some action must be taken in order to check these serious and growing evils. It would appear that no sooner is a brother dead, than his family look around to see what advantages they can secure from his connection with Freemasonry. Now we are of opinion that if a family is so destitute as to necessitate this, then the father had no right to join Freemasonry. If, on the other hand, Freemasonry be defined as a necessity, then some rule should be adopted whereby provision would be secured to a member's family, at least for a short time after his death. We consider that the Masonic Schools should be for the reception of the children of Masons, who having themselves done their best, and having exhibited some amount of consideration for the future could, with good grace, appeal to their fellows in case of unforeseen calamity overtaking them or those dependent on them, and not for those who never exhibited the smallest amount of care, or showed they had the least regard for the future. If we take the same fourteen cases, we find that only four can boast of more than ten years membership of the Craft, while seven of them average but four years membership each. Still we hardly think that should be urged against the children, except as convincing us that in many cases the father acted unwisely in joining the Order, as the events of a few years have proved that their families had greater need of the money than they of the enjoyment afforded by association with the Craft.

To proceed with our task. As we have already said, there are twenty-eight candidates, six of whom are "last application" cases, four of the number appearing now for the first time. Of the remaining two, Elizabeth Minnie Parker, No. 1 on the list, one of five fatherless children, comes forward for the sixth time, with ninety-two votes to her credit—we may say this is about the only item creditable to the case. We suppose she has no better prospect of success on the present occasion than has characterised her previous efforts. Her father was a member of Lodge No. 441, "Three Grand Principles," of Cambridgeshire, and we suppose the members thereof have an answer ready to account for their failing to act up to what this name teaches, or is this another instance of the want of sympathy with our Institutions exhibited by the Province? There can be no excuse for any candidate being placed in such a position as this one occupies, as brethren have no right to raise false hopes in the minds of a widow by lending their names to a case they do not intend to support. No. 3, Emily Deacon, at three previous elections has polled 314 votes, and is one of seven dependent children, whose father is insane. The Province of Essex, from which the case emanates, has also another "last application" case, but we can hardly imagine the brethren thereof allowing either to fail, if any effort on their part can prevent it. The other case they have in hand is that of S. H. M. Tippler, No. 13, first application, whose father could boast of 31 years membership of the Order, he having been initiated as far back as 1848. Doubtless he became well-known in the Province during that time, and we hope it will now be possible to do something for one or other of the three parentless children he has left dependent. The other three "last" cases are London ones, viz.: Nos. 15, 21, 24—E. M. Penny, M. J. March, and L. M. Anscombe. Of these, undoubtedly the one calling for most support is No. 21, the lass is one of ten children, now dependent, whose father is insane. We have for many years known Bro. March, and if we may be allowed to say a word or two in favour of his child, we do so feeling assured that the case is one of the most deserving on the list, and that no brother need have any fear of doing wrong in supporting it. No. 24 is one of five fatherless children, while No. 15 is one of two similarly placed. Having thus disposed of the last application cases, we will address ourselves to a consideration of the others. First of these, as regards votes in hand, comes No. 10 (L. Williamson), one of seven children, of whom two are partly provided for. The father, who died in 1878, was a member of 935, an East Lancashire Lodge. At the last election her friends polled 532 votes in her favour. We have little doubt but that they will secure her election this April. No. 9 (A. A. Allison), one of three dependent children, has a brother in the Boys' School. She brings forward 364 votes from October, and we imagine will secure election on this or next occasion. E. M. A. Townsend, a Suffolk lass, has 305 votes to her credit. Her case is one that will doubtless receive the support of the brethren of her late father's Province, she being one of eight children now dependent. Edith Brown, No. 2—sixth application—has only 93 votes to her credit, but we imagine her claims will not be overlooked by the Devonshire brethren, that being the Province to which her father is accredited. She is one of eight children now dependent on her parents, both of whom are living. A. H. Nicholls, No. 5, also has a brother in the Boys' School, and she comes forward for the third time, with seventy-seven votes to the good. Her mother is still living, and has this child and three others to provide for. No. 8, A. E. Turner, second application, has nine votes from last election, and No. 4, M. McKinney but eight, from two trials. Each of the girls are members of families left fatherless, and in each case there are three children dependent on the widow. No. 6 (M. J. C. Fry) has appeared in the list on the last two occasions, but at present no votes have been recorded on her behalf. This does not, however, prove, that the child is quite forsaken, as it is well known the Committee of the Province to which her father belonged—Hants and Isle of Wight—organise their voting powers so thoroughly as virtually to monopolise every vote in their district, and when the time comes they are able to poll sufficient on one occasion to make up for the apparent neglect at previous elections No. 7 (M. L. Gane), from Wilts, shared a similar fate—so far as result is concerned—at the last October election. The remaining thirteen cases are all first application ones, and we do not know that we can say anything particular in reference to them, except that in the case of No. 27, G. B. Balch, who is one of five children, both parents are dead, and that consequently the children are entirely dependent on the charity of all but strangers. Every voter has at his command as much information as regards these candidates as we have—that given in the official list; and if there are any who consider this far from sufficient—as we do—the remedy is in their own hands. The experience of the past few months has been sufficient to warrant an alteration in this respect, and we can hardly imagine, but that something will shortly be done to remedy what we look upon as a grave omission.

Since writing the above we have taken upon ourselves the task of making further enquiries into the position of some of the candidates, and although the particulars we have been able to obtain are very meagre, there is one case regarding which, we think, some explanation is due. We refer to that of E. M. Penny, No. 15 on the list, who is described as being one of two children dependent on their mother, who, by her petition admits of being in receipt of £50 a-year on behalf of herself and these two children. This statement was made early last year, at which time the personal effects of the late Bro. Penny were sworn to as being under £1,500. This amount has, however, been amended, and at the present time the Register at the Probate Department of Somerset House gives the amount as being under £3,000, the alteration having been sworn to in February of the present year. There is one question we should like to have answered, does this alteration in any way affect the income of the widow or her children? We also deem it desirable a full statement of the position of the girl seeking admission to our School should be submitted to the voters before the election, as it is pretty evident that she is personally entitled to some share of her parent's property, no matter whether it is payable now or on her attaining her majority. We shall continue our search for further particulars, and may refer again to the subject before the election. We may add that the other child dependent on the widow is a lad of 17, and that there are four other children in the family, all of whom have attained the age of 21 years. If any of our readers can put us in the way of obtaining further details we shall be obliged to them. The deceased left no will, and consequently letters of administration have been applied for and granted.

John and James Lillywhite's Cricketers' Companion for 1881; with which is incorporated Lillywhite's Guide to Cricketers. Thirty-seventh Edition. Price One Shilling. London: Published by John and James Lillywhite & Co., Cricket Warehouse, 10 Seymour-street, Euston-square, N.W.; Kent & Co., Paternoster-row.

THIS will be found a necessary companion to every one who takes an interest, be it active or passive, in the game of cricket. We do not know that it contains a larger or more varied array of matter than it did last year. That, however, is owing to the fact that it had already attained to such perfection of accuracy, and was so filled with all requisite details, that the editor would have been puzzled to enlarge or improve upon his programme of contents. The leading articles are worthy of the writers whose names are appended to them severally. Mr. V. E. Walker's diagrams, showing the positions of the men in the field to suit various kinds of bowling, will be found of great service, and there is an ample array of information, statistical and otherwise, such as must have taxed the patience of those concerned to bring together, and will certainly be of the greatest interest to both professionals and amateurs. The Batting and Bowling particulars of the different Clubs and Schools, together with the Laws of Cricket and the Fixtures for the season of 1881, are also furnished. We must offer the editor our hearty congratulations on the admirable manner in which he has fulfilled his arduous duties, as well as on the excellence of the matter he and his coadjutors have contributed or collated.

An entertainment of a highly satisfactory character was given on the 17th inst., at Lusby's Music Hall, Mile End-road, in aid of the funds of the Metropolitan Police Orphanage. Bros. Crowder and Payne, the spirited proprietors of this favourite resort, had provided an array of talent which could not fail to meet with the approbation of the thousands who flocked to their popular establishment. At the close of the entertainment, a large number of the Inspectors and other officers and their wives partook of refreshment in one of the salles which this commodious establishment affords. Several toasts were proposed and heartily received. The Chairman, in giving the health of the hosts, Messrs. Crowder and Payne, announced that those gentlemen had given a donation of £25 to the Orphanage Including this sum, the receipts of the concert were about £80.

A RECORD OF FOUR DAYS' MASONIC WORK AT YORK.

THE ancient spirit which for so many centuries preserved in York the working of symbolic Masonry has not yet died out, and in that old centre there are still to be found a few enthusiastic brethren to whom no labour is too great if its object is to further the interests of the Royal Art in any of its branches. To them it is ever a pleasure when the opportunity occurs for introducing a good and worthy visiting brother into their charmed circle, and such a chance was eagerly embraced last week. Bro. A. M. Broadley, a Mason whose Masonic fame has travelled over the world, and who had before visited York and been worthily welcomed, having signified his willingness to consecrate two new Mark Lodges just warranted in the District of North and East Yorkshire, arrangements were made for a Masonic programme to extend over four days, including the two days of consecration, and the scheme was carried out with the most complete success, the result being a most enjoyable series of Masonic ceremonies and visits exemplifying the working of the rituals in most of the important branches of Masonry.

Work began at York, on the afternoon of Monday the 7th inst., when at 3.30. p.m. an emergency meeting of the Eboracum Conclave of the Red Cross of Rome and Constantine, No. 137, was held at the Masonic Rooms, Queen's Hotel, for the purpose of installing Companion J. A. Bindley, of Burton-on-Trent, P.M. and P.Z., Abbey Lodge and Chapter No. 624. The Conclave was opened by E. Comp. J. S. Cumberland M.P.S., the Viceroy's chair being occupied by E. Comp. T. B. Whytehead P.S., and that of Prelate by E. Comp. A. M. Broadley P.S. Int. Genl. unattached. Amongst the brethren present were also Comp. Geo. Simpson S.G., W. B. Dyson J.G., A. T. B. Turner Prefect, and P. Pearson Sentinel. The ceremony having been performed the M.P.S. on behalf of the Conclave welcomed their Brother A. M. Broadley, who is an honorary member of the Conclave, and expressed the pleasure experienced by the members at seeing him amongst them, accompanied by his friend and their brother the newly installed knight, to which Bro. Broadley responded. After the close of the Conclave the St. Peter Sanctuary and Commandery of St. John were successively opened by Bro. T. B. Whytehead Int. Genl. unattached, and the degrees were conferred upon Comp. J. A. Bindley, after which the Sanctuary and Commandery were closed with the full ceremonial.

The members having retired, reassembled at a high tea and spent a pleasant hour in fraternal intercourse. At half-past six an adjournment was again made to the Lodge rooms, where the members of the Eboracum Lodge, No. 1611, had been called by an emergency summons to exemplify their working in the first degree. Bro. J. T. Seller the W.M. was in the chair, and was supported by his Officers: Bros. C. G. Padel I.P.M., Geo. Simpson S.W., M. Millington J. W., Geo. Balmford P. M. Treas., Jas. Kay Sec., T. Humphries Asst. Sec., A. T. B. Turner S.D., J. Blenkin J.D., W. Girling I.G., O. Marshall Organist, &c. Bro. Broadley was introduced by Bro. T. B. Whytehead P.M. M.C., and was received by the W.M. with a hearty welcome, the brethren loudly expressing their pleasure at once more greeting amongst them one who they are proud to own as an honorary member of the Lodge. The work of the Lodge then proceeded, consisting of the initiation of a candidate, which was very neatly performed.

At its conclusion Bros. A. M. Broadley, J. A. Bindley, and T. B. Whytehead left the Eboracum and drove to the Masonic Hall, where the York Lodge, No. 236, was holding a regular meeting, the work consisting of two initiations and a passing. The passing had been concluded, but the party were in time to witness the initiation, which was done very impressively by the W.M. Bro. M. Rooke, who was supported by Bros. J. Todd P.M. Past Provincial Grand Registrar, A. Buckle P.M. Provincial Grand Deacon, W. H. Gainforth P.M., J. Sykes Rymer S.W., G. Kirby J.W., and a number of other brethren. At nine o'clock the party again took carriage and returned to the quarters of the Eboracum Lodge, where they found the brethren at refreshment, and here a most pleasant evening was passed. A number of toasts were proposed, the most important of which was that of the guests of the evening, which was responded to by Bros. Broadley and Bindley. In his speech Bro. Broadley made some most interesting references to his previous visit, to the interest he felt in York and York Masonry, to which he had been introduced by his friend Bro. Whytehead; to the District of Malta, of which he was a Past Deputy District Grand Master; to the working and progress of Masonry in Tunis, where he resided; and many other topics congenial to the minds of his hearers. At eleven o'clock the party broke up with the Tyler's toast, and after the performance of a number of glees by the Lodge glee party, conducted by Bro. J. S. Cumberland P.M., who is in music, as in ritual, a tower of strength in himself. Just before closing, a collection was made in aid of a poor and distressed brother in the North, which raised the sum of £1 11s.

On the afternoon of the following day (Tuesday, the 8th instant) at 3.30 p.m., the York College of Rosicrucians held a meeting for the purpose of receiving into the M C. Bros. J. A. Bindley of Burton-on-Trent, and C. S. Lane of Hartlepool. R.W. Fra. T. B. Whytehead IX. presided, and there were also present Fratres Rev. W. C. Lukis VII. Suffragan, J. S. Cumberland VII. Treasurer and Secretary, who acted as Celebrant, Walter Rowley VI., Wm. Lawton III., S. Middleton I., A. T. B. Turner II. The aspirants named were received and invested, and the Chief Adept then announced that he had received authority from the Supreme Magus of England to confer the grade of VIII. upon Fra. Broadley for the purpose of enabling him to found a College of the Order in Tunis, and accordingly he had much pleasure in announcing that he had already acted upon that authority, and had conferred that grade upon their worthy frater. This being an emergency meeting, called for special business, nothing further was brought forward, and the M.C. was dissolved, the members afterwards meeting for tea and talk preparatory to the work of the evening.

At six p.m. there was a large gathering of the Order of the Temple at the Masonic Hall, it being the annual installation meeting of the Ancient Ebor Preceptory and Priory of Malta. The Preceptor, the Hon. W. T. Orde-Powlett, had telegraphed that morning his inability to be present, owing to illness in his family, and the chair was accordingly taken by Fra. J. S. Cumberland, the Immediate Past Preceptor, who opened the Preceptory. There were also present amongst the members and visitors Fratres G. Simpson Cons., W. Lawton P.E.P., Sir James Meek P.E.P.,, T. B. Whytehead P.E.P. P.G. Captain of Guards, J. W. Woodall P.E.P. G.St.B., G. Althorp P.E.P. Bradford, T. Monckman P.E.P. Bradford; E.P.'s J. L. Atherton Bradford, S. Middleton Scarborough, C. Rutter Fry Darlington; G. Roper, Rev. W. C. Lukis Fidelity, J. A. Bindley Melita, S. F. Bousfield Royal Kent, T. Ness Darlington, J. G. Wilson, T. W. Wilson, M. Millington, and A. T. B. Turner. Allusion was made to the decease of the Sub-Prior of the Province, Fra J. F. Holder, of Hull, and the acting E.P., in the name of the Preceptory, congratulated Fra. J. W. Woodall upon his nomination by the Provincial Prior, Lord Londesborough, as Sub Prior. Fra. Woodall thanked the Knights, and said that he fully intended to make an effort to revive the Order in the Province if possible, and that he hoped to hold a Provincial Priory at Scarborough in the autumn, when the Provincial Prior would be present. Fra. J. S. Cumberland having vacated the Throne, Fra. T. B. Whytehead P.G.C.G. assumed the baton, and proceeded to instal the E.P. elect, Fra. George Simpson, who having been duly saluted, appointed and invested his Officers, as follow:—Fras. Rev. J. E. M. Young Constable, M. Millington Marshal, T. B. Whytehead Reg. and Treas., J. S. Cumberland Sub Marshal, A. T. B. Turner Standard Bearer, T. W. Wilson Sword Bearer, J. F. Taylor C.G., P. Pearson Equerry. The alms were collected, amounting to £1 13s 9d, and at the request of Fra. Whytehead, it was decided to forward the amount to a distressed brother in Gateshead, whose case was stated to be very sad. The Preceptory was then closed, and a Priory of Malta was opened in full and ample form. The five Officers in the East were—E. Fras. A. M. Broadley E.P. Prov. Grand Chancellor of the Mediterranean, J. W. Woodall C.G., J. S. Cumberland L.G., George Simpson 1st L., S. Middleton 2nd L., the Rev. W. C. Lukis acting as Prelate. The Officers at the Octagon Table were Fratres T. B. Whytehead Marshal, J. A. Bindley Hospitaller, C. Rutter Fry Admiral, J. L. Atherton Constable, G. Althorp Baillie, A. T. B. Turner Luroop, M. Millington Chancellor, and T. Ness Treasurer. Fra. S. F. Bousfield acted as C. of O. Fratres Sir James Meek, William Lawton, Colonel J. G. Wilson, and G. Roper having been accepted as candidates, were conducted to the Guard Chamber, and received the Mediterranean Pass, and thence passed the five banners, conducted by Fra. T. B. Whytehead, and finally were received and installed members of the Order by Fra. A. M. Broadley, who subsequently delivered a long, eloquent, and interesting oration, embracing not only the history of the Order, but other points of elucidation not usually touched upon. Many good wishes having been expressed by the Visitors, the Priory was closed, and the York Knights entertained their guests at supper. Many toasts were honoured, including that of Prosperity to the Preceptory, Fras. Broadley and Woodall both expressing their pleasure in seeing its vitality, and the latter alluding to a scheme on foot, projected by Fra. Whytehead, for still further increasing its effectiveness and usefulness in Masonic good works. At a late hour the Knights separated, amid mutual good wishes.

On Wednesday morning a party of the brethren were entertained at breakfast, at the Queen's Hotel, by Bros. Bindley and Broadley, preparatory to a railway journey to Middlesborough, a town on the river Tees, for the purpose of constituting and consecrating a Mark Lodge. About noon the party arrived in Middlesborough, and found their way to the Masonic Hall, where Bro. J. S. Cumberland, acting as D.C., proceeded to make arrangements for the ceremony. At two o'clock the Middlesborough brethren assembled, as well as Visitors from Newcastle, Darlington, and Stockton. The work began by the opening of a Mark Lodge by Bro. A. M. Broadley, Prov. G. Master of Tunis and Malta, by deputation from the G.M.M.M. of England. The Senior Warden's chair was occupied by Bro. T. B. Whytehead P.M., and the Junior Warden's chair by Bro. Rev. W. C. Lukis W.M. York Lodge (T.I.) Bro. S. Middleton P.M. Star in the East Lodge (Scarborough) acted as M.O., and Bro. J. S. Cumberland S.W. York Lodge (T.I.) as S.D. Bros. O. Marshall and J. E. Wilkinson of York carried out the musical arrangements most effectively. The first business was the advancement of a number of candidates, which was performed by Bro. J. M. Meek P.M. of the Darlington Mark Lodge and W.M. designate of the Middlesborough Lodge. The R.W. Bro. A. M. Broadley then proceeded with the Consecration ceremony, Bro. J. W. Woodall P.G.M.O. acting as Chaplain. The oration, which was delivered by the Consecrating Officer, was a masterly piece of Masonic oratory, in which the history, teaching, associations, and influence of the degree were all touched upon, and our only regret was that no shorthand writer was present in order to preserve a record of what would have been a valuable and instructive paper, but which, being delivered extempore, we have no means of placing before our readers. At the conclusion of the consecration the chair was assumed by W. Bro. T. B. Whytehead P.M. York Lodge (T.I.), who proceeded to instal the W.M. designate, Bro. J. M. Meek P.M., and afterwards to proclaim him the first W. Master of the Middlesborough Lodge of Mark Master Masons, No. 276. The Officers were appointed. The W.M. then closed his Lodge, and most of the Brethren and Visitors adjourned to the Queen's Hotel, where they partook of a good dinner at a moderate charge. The toast list was brief, the W.M. giving the Queen, the Grand M.M.M. and Grand Lodge, responded to by Bros. A. M. Broadley Prov. G.M. of Malta and Tunis, and by Bro. J. W. Woodall P.G.M.O.; the Consecrating Officers, responded to by Bro. T. B. Whytehead, P.M.; the Visiting Brethren, responded to by Bro. Strahan Deputy Prov. G. Master Northumberland and Durham. Bro. Woodall proposed Success to the New Lodge, and Bro. Broadley proposed the Health of the W.M. At 7.30 Bro. Broadley and his friends took their departure for York.

On Thursday morning, the 10th inst., at 10 a.m., there was another muster of Mark Masons at York Station, and a pleasant departure was effected for Malton, a prosperous country town about twenty miles distant, where a new Mark Lodge, with the title of the Fitzwilliam Lodge, No. 277, has just been warranted. A pleasant run of half an hour brought the party to Malton Station, where they were met and cordially welcomed by the W.M. designate of the new Lodge and several other Malton brethren, and escorted by them to the Masonic Hall, where they found everything in excellent order, and the Lodge set out for the ceremony, as well as light refreshment for those who had breakfasted early. After a short interval of arrangements, the visitors were conducted by their hosts through the quaint old town, and were shown the church and other objects of interest. At twelve o'clock they were entertained by the Malton brethren at lunch at the Talbot Hotel. At two o'clock the ceremonies commenced by a Mark Lodge being opened by Bro. T. B. Whytehead, after which the Consecrating Officer was received with Grand Honours, and a goodly number of candidates were advanced by him. The following is a list of candidates:—Bros. A. J. Taylor, J. W. Marshall, A. W. Walker, J. D. Dodsworth, T. M. Goldie, W. Heckley, M. F. W. Williamson, J. B. Nicholls, K. Wandby, T. C. Walker, F. Walton, and W. Newby. Bro. T. B. Whytehead acted as S.W., W. C. Lukis as J.W., S. Middleton as M.O., J. S. Cumberland as S.D., and the other chairs were occupied by brethren from York and Malton. The consecration ceremony was performed most ably and impressively, and the oration was given by R.W. Bro. A. M. Broadley, whose eloquence and elegance of diction was the theme of universal admiration. He congratulated the brethren on the circumstance of their all being members of the same Craft Lodge (Camalodunum, No. 660), which he trusted would be a symbol of unitedness in working and aim. He trusted the Mark and Craft Lodges would work in harmony, and alluded to the fact of the Earl of Lathom Deputy Grand Master of the Craft in England occupying the office of Grand M.M. Mason, and Colonel Shadwell Clerke Grand Secretary filling the chair of Grand Junior Warden in the Mark this year, proving that a feeling of complete amity existed between the two Grand bodies. This ceremony having been concluded, the chair was taken by Bro. T. B. Whytehead P.M., of York, who proceeded to instal the W.M. designate, Bro. J. Marshall, in a very able manner. The W.M. having been saluted and greeted by the brethren, appointed and invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. J. Staniland P.M. 660 S.W., S. Chadwick J.W., A. J. Taylor M.O., J. W. Marshall W.M. 660 J.O., A. W. Walker Treasurer, J. D. Dodsworth S.D., S. M. Goldie J.D., W. Heckley Organist, M. F. W. Williamson D.C., J. B. Nicholls I.G., A. Russell Registrar of Marks, K. Wandby Tyler. Before closing the Lodge, the W.M. proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Consecrating Officers, who had taken so much pains on their account, and moved that Bros. A. M. Broadley, J. W. Woodall, T. B. Whytehead, and J. S. Cumberland be elected honorary members of the Fitzwilliam Lodge, which was carried by acclamation. Those brethren returned thanks individually for the compliment, and said the labour had been one of love, and that the fraternal courtesy, energy, and hospitality exhibited by the brethren of the Malton Lodge had far more than compensated them for any trouble they had been put to. After the close of the Lodge, the Malton brethren again entertained their visitors at a high tea at the Talbot Hotel, after which a number of toasts were proposed and honoured, and a most fraternal evening was past, enlivened by songs and glees excellently rendered. At an early hour the fraternal chain was formed, and the brethren joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne," the York visitors being accompanied to the station by a warm-hearted party of their entertainers. Amongst the visitors and brethren present we also noticed Bros. R. H. Peacock P.M. (Scarborough), R. V. Powley P.M. (Scarborough), A. T. B. Turner (York), M. Millington (York), W. B. Dyson (York), J. Verity (Scarborough), T. Clough (Malton), J. T. Foster (York), &c.

Thus ended four days of real Masonic work, thoroughly enjoyed by all who took part in the labour. The arrangements were planned by Bro. T. B. Whytehead, of York, who received every possible aid from all concerned in successfully carrying out the programme. Both Mark Consecrations were greatly indebted for their success to Bro. J. S. Cumberland S.W. York Lodge (T.I.), who was deputed by the Consecrating Officer to act as Director of Ceremonies, and who performed the duties of his responsible office with that diligence and excellence for which he is deservedly known. It would, however, be invidious to particularise when all worked so heartily in a good cause—that of the good of Masonry, which must certainly be advanced by such a series of meetings as those we have recorded.

PORTSMOUTH LODGE, No. 487.

THE brethren of this Lodge met at the Masonic Hall, Highbury-street, Portsmouth, on Thursday, 10th inst., for the purpose of witnessing the ceremony of installing Bro. T. P. Palsgrave S.W. as W.M. for the ensuing year. The installation ceremony was carried out in a most effective and perfect manner by Bro. H. Threadingham P.P.G.S.W., the retiring W.M., in presence of a very large number of members of the Craft. After the ceremony of installation, the W.M. appointed and invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. H. Threadingham I.P.M., R. W. Beale S.W., W. M. Outridge J.W., A. Cudlip P.M. Treas., W. E. Atkins Sec., F. Meredith Assist. Sec., E. Groves P.M. D.C., H. T. Cecill Assist. D.C., H. P. Holley S.D., F. H. De Rheims J.D., G. Dean I.G., G. Pearman Organist, Cowd Steward, F. Benham Assist. Steward, Exell and Smith Tylers. The W.M. then proposed a special vote of thanks to Bro. H. Threadingham I.P.M. for his able conduct in the chair during his year of office, and for the most excellent manner in which he had carried out the ceremony of installation that day. He afterwards presented to Bro. Threadingham, in the name of the Lodge, a handsome biscuit box, ornamented on each side with pastoral scenes, in oxydised silver in relief on gold ground. The box, which had been subscribed for by members of the Lodge, was manufactured and supplied by Messrs. Moses and Co., the Hard, Portsea. On the box the following was inscribed:—Presented to Bro. Henry Threadingham I.P.M. P.P.G. Superintendent of Works, by the Brethren of the Portsmouth Lodge, No. 487, as a token of their esteem and hearty appreciation of his valuable services in the interests of the Lodge during his second year of office, terminating 10th March 1881." A vote of thanks was also unanimously passed to Bro. Mark E. Frost P.M. P.G. Treas., and Bro. J. Astridge P.P.G.P., for their services to the Lodge, they having for some years acted as Hon. Secretaries. Bro. Frost had occupied the position for a period of seventeen years, and now resigned to make room for a younger man. Bro. J. Astridge relinquished his duty as Assistant Secretary, having removed from the town. The musical portion of the installation ceremony was efficiently performed by a choir composed of Bros. Pearman, R. W. Downing, J. W. Dyson, G. Grant, T. Batchelor, and J. Howell. At the conclusion of the business about sixty of the brethren sat down to a récherché banquet provided by Bro. George Bond.

THE GREAT CITY LODGE, No 1426.

THE last meeting of this Lodge for the season was held on Saturday evening, 12th March, at the Cannon Street Hotel. Bro. Thomas Hamer W.M. presided, supported by his Officers, amongst whom were Bros. Headon P.M. Treasurer, Blackie P.M. Secretary, several Past Masters, a goodly muster of the members, and the following visitors:—Bros. Rossignol 1672, Eastgate 1563, Hart 1872, Lawrence 1804, Vernon 25, Reed 1572, Mariner 1669, Southcott 733, Randell 145, Rafter 154, R. J. Smith 34, Hackvale 1635, W. J. Buck 1702, and W. Perceval 78. Lodge having been duly opened, and the minutes of the preceding meeting read and confirmed, the Lodge was opened in the second degree; Bro. James Lodge was examined as to his proficiency in the science and the examination proving satisfactory, he withdrew. The Lodge was then advanced to the third degree, and he was impressively raised to the degree of M.M. The Lodge was then resumed to the first degree, when the bye-laws were read by Bro. N. B. Headon, the Treasurer. The next business was the election of a W.M. for the ensuing year, and on a ballot being taken, it resulted unanimously in favour of Bro. Charles Taylor S.W., who, in a few brief sentences, thanked the brethren for the honour conferred upon him. The next business to be transacted was the election of a Treasurer for the ensuing twelve months, and there was also a unanimous vote in favour of Bro. N. B. Headon P.M., although that worthy brother disclaimed any idea that the Treasurership of a Lodge should ever be considered as a freehold; he was quite willing to stand aside, and give way to any brother who sought to take the office; if any did so, he would render him any assistance in his power in the discharge of the duties. As Bro. Headon has given the greatest satisfaction for some years past, it is almost unnecessary to say that no one came forward to dispute with him the honour he uniformly had so well deserved. Bro. Steedman P.M. was also re-elected Tyler of the Lodge. The Audit Committee was next appointed. The installation of the new W.M. and appointment of Officers will not take place until the meeting of the Lodge in October next. The next business was a motion by Bro. N. B. Headon, of which he had given notice at the last Lodge, "That the sum of twenty-five guineas be voted from the Benevolent Fund of the Lodge to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, and be placed on the Worshipful Master's list, who as Steward will represent the Lodge on that occasion. The motion was seconded and unanimously agreed to. Bro. Headon then moved, also pursuant to notice, "That the sum of twenty-five guineas be voted from the Benevolent Fund to assist the orphan children of the late Bro. William Jackson, who was a member of the Lodge; and that the said sum be entrusted to the Treasurer to expend, as he may see fit, after consultation with the friends of the children." Bro. Greening seconded the motion, which was also unanimously agreed to. Bro. Stanway P.M. moved, "That the usual P.M.'s jewel be presented to the W. Master on the termination of his year of office." This was also unanimously agreed to. Some communications, and a proposition for initiation, having been received, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to the dining hall for refreshment. This having been disposed of and the cloth withdrawn, the W. Master gave the formal Loyal and Masonic toasts. In reference to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, he commented on the great strides Freemasonry had made since the time when His Royal Highness assumed the office of Grand Master at the Royal Albert Hall, and the anxiety he had at all times displayed to do everything in his power for the benefit of the Craft. Bro. Blackie I.P.M., in proposing the health of the W.M., said that although he had come up to that position sooner than was anticipated, Bro. Hamer had done the work as well as any Master who had preceded him, and he asked the brethren to join with him in drinking the toast. The W. Master, in acknowledging the same, expressed his grateful thanks to the brethren for drinking his health with such cordiality, and remarked that it was a great pleasure to serve any office in The Great City Lodge, for while he had been in it he had made many acquaintances, and he believed that he enjoyed friendships that only death would sever. When he commenced the duties of the chair he felt the responsibility, as he knew how the work had been done by preceding Masters; although he could only attempt to emulate them, he had to the best of his ability endeavoured to promote the welfare of the Lodge, which he would continue to do when he joined the rank of Past Masters, and then he hoped to make up for any shortcomings on his part during the time he occupied the chair. He would endeavour to do so, and again thanked them all for the very kind manner in which he had always been received in The Great City Lodge. The W. Master then gave the health of Bro. Charles Taylor W. Master elect; he was sure that every member wished him success in the duties which, for the next twelve months, would devolve upon him. Bro. Taylor returned thanks, and said that from the time of his initiation in the Lodge he had aspired to fill the position which was now so ably occupied by their Worshipful Master. He should continue to attend The Great City Lodge of Instruction, where was laid the foundation of his Masonic knowledge, and thus was he qualified to be appointed one of the Junior Officers. There was no telling what might happen between then and next October, but he hoped that the circumstances would be such as to enable him to take his position as W. Master of the Lodge with a desire to maintain its dignity, he hoped with some credit to himself, by attention to the comfort of the members, and endeavouring to maintain the excellent working of the Lodge. The W. Master wished to call the attention of the members for a few minutes to the forthcoming soirée, for which there were twenty Stewards, who had all worked hard. It was now beyond a doubt that this soirée would prove a great success, for a large number of tickets had been applied for, and as there were only a few on hand any one who wanted them should apply at once. The next toast given was that of The Visitors, for which the greater part of them responded; expressing the gratification they had experienced in visiting The Great City Lodge. Some other toasts were given and responded to. It was announced in the course of the evening that His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales had granted a dispensation to allow the members to wear their Craft clothing and jewels at the forthcoming soirée of the Lodge, on the 26th inst. The Tyler's toast brought a very successful meeting to a close at about eleven o'clock.

HAWTON LODGE, No. 100.

THE annual meeting of the above Lodge of Mark Master Masons was held on 9th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Ivybridge, when Bro. ERME LODGE, 1091.

THE annual meeting of this Lodge, was held on Wednesday, the 9th inst., at their new hall in Ivybridge. There was a large attendance. Amongst those present at the ceremonies, and who formed also the Board of Installed Masters, were the Retiring Master, Bro. W. H. Mackay (who ably performed the ceremony of installing his successor, assisted by W. Bro. T. Searl P.M.), and W. Bros. S. Jew P.M. 105, J. B. Gover P.M. 70, F. Pratt P.M. 1396, Henry Cole P.M., John P. Sawyer I.P.M., W. Boxall P.M., Richard Cawsey P.M. Treasurer 230, James R. H. Harris I.P.M. 230, Richard Ellis W.M. 230, S. Sandover P.M., James Gidley P.M. 156, Capt. Westhead P.M. 710, R. Grylls W.M. 202. Treasurer's account was read. It showed that, after large payments for furniture, consequent on the recent removal to new premises, and of donation to the Devon Educational Fund, there was a balance of about £13 in hand, with dues outstanding about same amount in favour of the Lodge. This account was received and adopted. After a discussion it was unanimously resolved, "That it is desirable that a lasting memorial should be raised to the late P.P.G. Master, the Rev. John Huyshe, M.A., P.G. Chaplain of England, and that the best form for the memorial to take would be to found a 'Huyshe Scholarship' in connection with the 'Devon Masonic Educational Fund.'" It was also unanimously resolved that a sufficient sum be given from the Lodge to make it a Governor, with five votes at each election. The Officers for the ensuing year are:—Bros. Richard Lavers W.M., W. H. Mackay I.P.M., Thomas D. Ford S.W., George H. Grills J.W., Henry Cole P.M. P.G.S. Treasurer, Richard King junior Secretary, John Cobbledick S.D., Richard King sen. J.D., James Horton D.C., George Smallridge A.D.C., Alfred S. Coyte O., Francis Henwood I.G., William Velvin S.S., Richard Saunders J.S., John G. Ford Tyler. W. Bro. W. H. Mackay was elected at a former meeting the Representative on the Committee of Petitions for the Province of Devon. In the name, and by vote of, the Lodge, the I.P.M. presented to Bro. T. S. Ford, the S.W., a very handsome Masonic apron. Several brethren were proposed for initiation, but it was an almost unprecedented occurrence for a newly-installed Master to propose three of his sons, with a probable prospect of three others to come when of mature age. The Lodge being closed, the brethren adjourned for the annual banquet, at Bro. Sandover's, Erme Hotel. The dinner was all that could be desired, and thoroughly enjoyed by all who were privileged to be present. The W. Master Bro. Lavers presided, and the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were honoured—that of the Master received with especial enthusiasm. The festivity was enlivened with appropriate songs. A special toast was the health of the host (Bro. Sandover) and hostess, and they were heartily thanked for their abundant hospitality and careful attention to the comforts of their guests. In addition to the Past Masters already named, and the Officers appointed, there were present Bros. W. H. Hunt J.W. 1205, M. Baker, J. Arthur, T. Barons, and W. Conway.

ST. JOHN'S, No. 1343.

THE Installation meeting of this thoroughly genial and worthy and worshipful Lodge of Freemasons was held on Tuesday, the 15th instant, at the King's Arms Hotel, Grays, Essex. Bro. F. J. Ash W.M. presided, and was numerously supported by his Officers and the members, as well as by the following visitors, namely, Bros. T. J. Ralling Prov. Grand Secretary, A. Lucking Prov. D.C., and James Eltham Prov. G. Purs. Essex; R. H. Blygh 1136, G. Berry W.M. 1,000, E. W. Walter W.M. 554, W. Hicks 483, G. Glasscock 1817, J. C. Biggs S.W. 77, H. Mills 257, W. W. Morgan Sec. 211, and J. C. Minchin 972. Lodge having been opened, and the minutes of the previous meeting read and confirmed, the Report of the Audit Committee, which showed the finances of the Lodge were in an excellent state, was submitted and approved. Bro. Ash then vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Godwin P.M., by whom Bro. Charles Potter, after he had been interrogated to the satisfaction of the brethren and entrusted, was passed to the degree of F.C. A ballot was taken for Mr. Alwyne Hills Arden, of Stanford-le-Hope Brewery, and that gentleman was accepted, but not initiated. This cleared the way for the especial business of the day—the installation of the W.M. elect, Bro. E. Sturgeon, the officiating Master being Brother Alfred Sturgeon P.M. After the usual preliminary observances, and the retirement of all brethren below the rank of I.M., a Board of Installed Masters was formed, and Bro. E. Sturgeon was most ably installed into the chair of K.S. by the acting President of the Board. In due course, the new W. Master appointed and invested his Officers for the year, namely, Bros. F. Sackett S.W., Bartlett J.W., A. Sturgeon P.M. Treasurer, W. Sackett Secretary, Wingrove S.D., Kigg J.D., Norris I.G., Martin Tyler. There then devolved on Bro. E. Sturgeon the agreeable duty of presenting to his predecessor, Bro. Ash I.P.M., a handsome P.M.'s jewel, which had been unanimously voted that brother by the Lodge in testimony of his able services in the chair during the past year; and in the fulfilment of this duty, the W.M. paid Bro. Ash many a well-deserved compliment, for the zeal, assiduity, and geniality he had exhibited, and expressed the very natural hope that he might long remain an honoured member of the Lodge. The gift having been suitably acknowledged, and Bro. Sturgeon having responded to the vote of thanks passed to him for his services as Installing Master, what other business remained was despatched, and Lodge was closed. The brethren then sat down to an excellent banquet, which did great credit to the host, Bro. J. A. Cuming, and on the removal of the cloth the customary toasts of the Queen and Craft, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M., and the Grand Officers present and past, were given and honoured. The toast of the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, Lord Tenterden, K.C.B., the Deputy Provincial G. Master Bro. Philbrick, Q.C., and the rest of the Provincial Grand Officers was most cordially received, and as cordially responded to by Bro. Ralling P. Grand Secretary, who gave expression to the satisfaction generally felt throughout the Province at the appointment of his Lordship. The noble Lord's official duties of necessity prevented him from visiting the Lodges very frequently, but he took a deep interest in their welfare, and there was no doubt that, since his Lordship's installation, Freemasonry in Essex had made very great progress. He also paid a compliment to Bro. Philbrick D.P.G.M., who, in his opinion, would be found a most worthy and zealous assistant to Lord Tenterden, and would be more highly appreciated by the brethren the more his opportunities of becoming acquainted with them increased. To Bro. Ash I.P.M. was entrusted the toast of the W.M.—a task as easy as it was agreeable to fulfil. Bro. E. Sturgeon, he pointed out, was in every way worthy of the honour they had conferred upon him. He not only possessed the zeal and ability to discharge his many and arduous duties as their W. Master, but he was likewise a most genial and hospitable man, and he (Bro. Ash) felt sure the Lodge would flourish increasingly during his year of office. After briefly returning thanks for both the friendly manner in which the I.P.M. had proposed his health, and the hearty reception it had met with at the hands of all present, Bro. E. Sturgeon proposed the toast of the Past Masters, who, he felt confident, would extend towards him the same kindly and courteous offices they had habitually rendered to his predecessors, and, in associating with the toast the name of Bro. Ash, he again spoke in terms of eulogy of that brother's services in the chair during the past year. To the health of the Visitors, which was most cordially received, replies by several of them were made, one and all concurring in the expression of their belief that in no Lodge could they have experienced a heartier or more hospitable welcome. With the toast of the Charities was connected the name of Bro. Godwin P.M., who, after an able recitation by Bro. W. W. Morgan—"The Wreck of the Indian Chief,"—observed, in reply, that, in supporting their noble Institutions, the Craft was giving a practical illustration of their faith in the grand ruling principles of Charity, which indeed was the very heart and soul of Freemasonry. He cordially thanked the Worshipful Master for having associated his name with the toast, and expressed the hope that the Lodge would make a point of being represented at each successive Anniversary Festival. The other toasts followed, and the brethren dispersed at a seasonable hour, well satisfied with the events of the day. We cannot close this notice without expressing our hearty thanks for the great hospitality shown to ourselves and all the visitors, both in and without the Lodge; nor was it the fault of the Lodge that the number of their guests was comparatively small. The Provincial Grand Master, his Deputy, the Provincial Grand Treasurer and Secretary, and the Worshipful Masters and Secretaries of the adjacent Lodges, all had received invitations to be present; but it was only in the power of a few among them to accept. Still, everything passed off with an éclat which must have been most gratifying to the members of the Lodge. Even the Clerk of the Weather must have been under the genial influence of Freemasonry, and was in more brilliant form than he usually is in this country at this season of the year.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE

23 GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

CONSECRATION OF THE WALLINGTON LODGE, No. 1892.

THE village of Carshalton was all astir on Thursday last, the day fixed for the above interesting ceremony. His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales Most Worshipful Grand Master of English Freemasons,—on the Petition of Bros. Charles Sawyer P.M. 1619, John G. Horsey 186 P.M. 1619, William Pile 1619, Thomas Carder 1619, J. W. Baldwin 1692, W. Russell Crowe P.M. 190, W. Harwood 1619, and E. Dickman 1619,—had been graciously pleased to grant a Warrant, and, in due course, the V.W. Bro. the Rev. C. W. Arnold, M.A., Past Grand Chaplain of England, and Deputy Provincial Grand Master for Surrey, had been deputed to act as Consecrating and Installing Officer. The Grand Officers and brethren of the Province assembled in considerable strength at the Public Hall, Carshalton, a capacious building admirably adapted for the business of the day. Amongst those present to support the Deputy Prov. Grand Master were Bros. S. G. Kirchhoffer P.G.S.W., George K. Saxon P.G.J.W., Rev. F. J. Foakes-Jackson P.G. Chaplain, George Price P.G. Treasurer, Charles Greenwood G.S.B. P.G. Secretary, H. E. Frances P.G.D. of C., F. Buckland P.G.S.D., Edwin D. Frost P.G.J.D., Charles Greenwood jun. P.G. Reg., R. W. Price P.G. Supt. of Works, James Squire P.P.G.S.B., G. C. Barry Past G. Organist, F. Frost and T. Vincent Prov. G. Stewards, R. Crowe 569 P.P.G.P. Essex; also Bros. Edward Mitchell W.M. 720, E. W. Whittaker S.D. 1790, G. Lambert J.W. 720, W. Gunner S.W. 720, W. Rudge J.W. 1680, G. Mitchell Sec. 1619, W. Wainwright P.M. 933, George Holmes 1619, E. A. Hand S.W. 1619, Henry Gates 1790, J. H. Hamilton W.M. 1506, John S. Streeter S.W. 463, Hugh Robertson 534, W. P. Catterson 548, E. J. S. Gillemand 720, S. P. Catterson W.M. 548, L. Mesronze P.M. 1238, W. T. Folks 507, W. H. Hook P.M. 186, G. W. Filmer 176, W. Golding 357, J. Carder 1619, F. Frost 463, J. Hooke J.W. 463, Thos. Bartlett 1347, J. C. Arlidge J.D. 1638, J. W. Comb P.M. 548, R. Davies 1673, W. E. Williams P.M. 162, Richard R. Davis Past Master 250, H. Potter 1347, Henry Potter Worshipful Master 1347, Cyrus White 1790, C. A. Blogg Org. 720, and W. W. Morgan Sec. 211. The brethren having assembled, a procession was formed. Bro. Arnold requested the Grand Wardens of the Province—Bros. Kirchhoffer and Saxon—to take their respective chairs. The Lodge was then formally opened to the third degree, and the D.G.M. addressed the brethren. He forcibly impressed on them how requisite it was to be certain that those who might express a desire to join the Lodge possessed the requisite qualifications to make them acceptable members. Freemasonry, he said, was largely extending, and the time had arrived when General Brownrigg the Provincial Grand Master desired to see its further extension checked. He urged the brethren associated with the new Lodge to be especially mindful in their selection of candidates. The Charities of the Order were large, but the demands on them were considerably on the increase. Far too many have already joined the Order who have been inspired by unworthy motives, and it behoves us all to be ever on the alert to stop this. He then explained the nature of the business for which they were assembled. The Petition and Warrant were read by the Prov. G. Secretary, and the brethren having signified their approval of the Officers therein named, a Lodge was formally constituted. The Consecrating Officer then called on the Prov. Grand Chaplain Bro. Foakes-Jackson, who delivered the following Oration on the Nature and Principle of Freemasonry:—

The present ceremony is of great importance to every true lover of Masonry. Those who are members of older Lodges cannot fail to be interested in the establishment of a new one. For every Lodge that is added to the already large number now existing is a proof of the strength and vitality of Freemasonry. The presence of the Provincial Grand Lodge is a testimony to the interest felt by all Masons in proceedings like those of to-day. There can, in my opinion, be no system more calculated to maintain the bond of Masonic union throughout the country than the present one, by which all Lodges in each Province are united in the Provincial Grand Lodge and the Provincial Grand Lodges in the Grand Lodge of England. No Lodge is suffered to become isolated, and the interchange of sentiments of goodwill among Masons is encouraged. All the elder Lodges in this Province unite in good wishes for the prosperity of the Wallington Lodge, and desire that the brethren who have undertaken its formation may carry out the responsible duties they have taken upon themselves. For your work, brethren, is not completed with the labours of to-day. On you the prosperity of the new Lodge greatly depends. It is your duty to watch its growth, to see that the true principles of Masonry are taught therein, and that none are admitted save men who are likely to prove worthy members of our Craft, and useful citizens of our country. The subject to which I wish to invite your attention is the character of our institution and the nature of its teaching. There are many popular errors about Freemasonry, for some of which we must acknowledge Masons are themselves to blame. The first I intend to mention is very easy for us to meet. It is that our Order, on account of the secrets which belong to it, is in any way connected with the dangerous secret societies which undermine the structure of European society. We need not go far to disprove this statement. One of our leading principles is that we are not a political society, and are pledged not to offend against the laws of the country in which we live. In the times of the outburst of revolutionary sentiments in England at the close of the last century, when secret societies were forbidden by law, Masonry was especially excepted. Whatever the private political views of any good Mason may be, we may be sure he would look with abhorrence on a crime like that perpetrated this week. No end could, in a Mason's eye, justify the dastardly murder of a Sovereign, who whatever we may think of his life, proclaimed by the liberation of millions of serfs, the grand Masonic doctrine of the natural equality of man. Masonry is the exponent of no particular political doctrine; men of every opinion may range under her banners, provided they are sincere, upright, and just men, ready to convert others to their views by sound argument and proofs of their truth, but not by violence or crime. The next objection is that Masonry is opposed to revealed religion. I have heard it stated that no man can be both a Mason and a Christian. The reason given is that a mere code of morality must be by its nature antagonistic to a religion based on revelation. But a knowledge of the true character of our teaching would prove the fallacy of such an argument. The fact is, Masonry, though never touching on controverted points, leaves us almost on the threshold of revealed religion. No man can be a true Mason who is not earnestly seeking after truth. Who does not believe in the existence of a personal God. Who does not acknowledge that there is something in man which will endure beyond the grave. We go further, and in one of the noblest of all our ceremonies profess a belief in a system of future rewards and punishments, and point to a gleam of hope shining even amid the dark clouds of death. And the lofty purity of our morality makes every true Mason feel that he must look for aid from some one stronger than himself. The prayers we are about to offer to the Creator of All during the course of this ceremony bear witness to this, and the right duties of every Mason will be rehearsed in the installation of the Worshipful Master. Every step of a Mason's career teaches him to Worship the Most High. The helplessness of his entrance into Masonry is a symbolical illustration of his own weakness. The source whence he is told all wisdom proceeds makes him look to the Most High. And at last, when in the darkness of death he stands at the brink of the grave, he learns to say, in the confidence of the royal Hebrew poet, "Yea, though I walk through the valley of death, I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me." Yes, the Mason who has acknowleged God as the source of strength, of knowledge, and of life, is not likely to despise the revelations he has given to us his creatures. The third objection is one with which I regret to say we must reproach ourselves. It is that Masonry is a mere frivolous Society; that its principal feature is eating and drinking; that Masons assemble merely for social purposes. Far be it from me to condemn entirely the festive gatherings which often follow Masonic work. I owe too many good friends to such meetings. But I am sure all will agree in discountenancing Lodges who meet only for the banquet, and neglect Masonic work. There is no sight more disheartening to a Mason than a half-empty Lodge; Master, Wardens, and Brethren hurrying over their work in a slovenly manner, and then all hastening to a dinner; perhaps disgracing the Order still more by a scene of riot and debauchery. There is nothing more injurious to Freemasonry than such Lodges; nothing more certain to bring our noble Craft into discredit. You, brethren, I feel confident are in no danger of thus acting. Your purpose, I may safely say, is to work honestly at Masonry, and to bring the Craft into honour in this neighbourhood. Let me ask you to remember what great and solemn doctrines Masonry inculcates—what a lofty morality she teaches. There are many who, upon first becoming Masons, feel disappointed at the apparently simple character of our secrets; but can any older Mason deny that every time he heard a Masonic ceremony well performed, he gained some new insight into the teaching of the Craft? The responsibilities, too, of a conscientious Mason are very great—the great problems which are presented to him suggest the importance of a well-spent life. He is bound to live as one who must one day give an account before his Creator; and not only must he do this, he must live for others too. In his prayers he must remember the wants of others; in his work he must find time to help the weak; in his pleasure he must deny himself to comfort the sorrowful. Such a life must you demand of all who become members of your Lodge. It is the duty of those in authority to strive to make those under them an honour to the Craft, and a blessing to mankind. This must be your high object if you wish the Wallington Lodge to fulfil its purpose. In all things may God be with you to guide and keep you in all His ways.

This address was delivered by the Prov. G. Chaplain with great eloquence, and was listened to by all present most attentively. The ceremony was then completed with the customary formalities, and then Bro Charles Sawyer, the W. Master designate, was introduced and installed as the first W. Master of the Wallington Lodge. After the customary salutations, the following Officers were invested:—Bros. Horsey S.W., W. M. Pile J.W., W. Russell Crowe P.M. Treas., E. Dickman S.D., J. W. Baldwin J.D., Thos. Carder I.G. The pleasing duty of proposing that the Prov. Grand Master, the Deputy Prov. G.M., and Prov. Grand Treasurer and Secretary be elected honorary members of the Lodge now devolved on the W.M. This was cordially seconded by the S.W., and unanimously agreed to. Propositions for initiation and joining were handed in; a proposal to establish a Lodge of Instruction in association with the new Lodge was discussed and agreed to; and hearty good wishes having been tendered, Lodge was closed. The customary banquet, without which ceremonies of this kind must be considered incomplete, was given at the King's Arms, Carshalton, and the catering of the host, Mr. George Jackson, is much to be commended. On removal of the cloth a very full toast list was gone through. The National Anthem and God Bless the Prince of Wales being sung after the Loyal toasts. For the Pro G.M., the D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers Bro. Arnold replied. It was an easy task for him to get through the first part of this pleasant duty mention of the names of the noblemen at the head of our Order was always well received; they were able and willing to fulfil the duties allotted them. For himself, he had been greatly pleased with the day's proceedings. The attendance of so large an assembly had much impressed him. The Wallington Lodge had made a good start, and he trusted it would have a successful career. He could assure the brethren Masonry was very dear to his heart. He forcibly impressed upon them that it must not be looked upon as a Benefit Society. There was much good to be done by those who professed it; it had a tendency to make them better men, better citizens. The precepts it inculcated were taught by the symbols in use amongst us, and led up to closer associations, and to the promotion of mutual enjoyment. He had that day faced a large body of his fellows, and he hoped that if he should meet any of them on a future day they would not give him the cut; he might remind them that he had that day been the centre for observation, and could assure his brethren that nothing gave him greater pleasure than to receive a grasp of the hand from members of his Province. He might not always be able to recognise those he had met that day, but he desired any who proved him forgetful in this respect to remind him they were present at the consecration of the Wallington Lodge. Bro. Arnold concluded a fervid speech by thanking one and all for the reception they had given him. In giving the next toast—the health of the R.W. Prov. Grand Master for Surrey, Bro. General Studholme Brownrigg, C.B.—the W.M. regretted the absence of the P.G.M., but he felt assured the brethren would give it a hearty reception. For the toast of the Prov. Grand Officers, Bro. Paxon replied; he made happy allusion to the beautiful arrangements of the Lodge room, and the way in which the business had been conducted. He should carry away with him most pleasant recollections of the day's work. In giving the toast of the Consecrating Officers, the W.M. spoke of the favourable impression that must be fixed on the minds of all who had heard the impressive oration of the Provincial Grand Chaplain To this toast Bro. C. Greenwood G.S.B. replied; he much regretted that their esteemed brother had not been able to join them at the festive board. It was his firm conviction that no better Mason than the P.G. Chaplain could be found. The Acting S.W. and J.W. were excellent workers, while as regards Bro. H. E. Frances Prov. G.D.C., he conducted the proceedings of the day most efficiently. The Lodge had indeed had a good beginning, and he trusted its progress might be equally satisfactory. Before sitting down he would beg leave to propose a toast; that was, the health of their W.M. He could personally bear testimony to the energy Bro. Sawyer had displayed over the preliminary work in connection with the formation of the Lodge. He believed the W.M. was actuated by a desire to uphold the truest principles of Freemasonry. The brethren might, he (Bro. Greenwood) thought, consider themselves singularly fortunate—they had a good place to meet in; a good Master; and a good field of action for securing recruits. The W.M. in reply thanked Bro. Greenwood for the way in which he had spoken. If he had displayed rather too much persistency in the prosecution of the preliminary work he would remind the brethren he considered himself but as the mouthpiece of the Founders. He had sometimes been under the impression that he was inflicting an amount of boredom on Bro. Greenwood, but he could assure the brethren that he had experienced on all occasions the most courteous treatment from their Prov. G. Secretary. He thanked all the brethren who had assisted him in procuring the warrant for the Lodge, and he felt it a great compliment that was paid him when brethren who had sat under him in another Lodge expressed a wish he should be the first Master of the Wallington. Bro. Sawyer concluded an excellent speech by reiterating his thanks to one and all. To the toast of the Visitors, Bros. Price, Mitchell, and Davis made response. The latter brother, who is the Secretary for the proposed Hervey Memorial Fund, explained the views of the brethren associated with him. He stated that the expenditure of any sum received would be for the relief of the unsuccessful candidates at the elections for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, and it was proposed to give an amount, say of £10 to each, to as many as the funds in hand would provide for. The Officers and Founders of the Lodge were next complimented, and then the W.M. called upon Bro. Prov. Grand Secretary to propose the next toast—The Charities of the Order, requesting him to associate with it the Masonic Press. Bro. Greenwood eloquently detailed the work being done by the Institutions for the relief of our distressed brethren, their widows and children. He also referred to the assistance given by the Masonic Press in recording the same. He spoke most kindly, and in high appreciation, of the assistance given by the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, and associated with the toast the name of Bro. W. W. Morgan, whom he called upon to respond. After a brief interval, Bro. Morgan rose for the purpose of expressing his acknowledgments of the honour done him in connecting his name with the toast, and the gratification it afforded him to be enabled in his official capacity to do what lay in his power to advance the interests of the Masonic Institutions. He complimented all present on the support which the Province regularly bestowed on those Institutions. He was unable to say offhand what Surrey had done for the Schools, though he was well aware it had given freely to both; but he saw from the table, which was published in the CHRONICLE last Saturday, that it had been represented at each of the last seven Festivals of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, and that the sum of its contributions very largely exceeded £500. Bro. Greenwood had reminded them that the Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, which had been so signally fruitful of good, was now an event of the past, and that the Festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls was rapidly approaching. He (Brother Morgan) was most anxious that the great success which Bro. Hedges had had the pleasure of announcing last year would be repeated this. At the same time he felt it to be his duty to say—what no doubt had momentarily escaped the notice of Bro. Greenwood—that there was yet a third Festival to be held in the current year, that of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, and great as was his desire that the Girls should receive their due share of support, he felt it incumbent upon him to point out that the Boys' Institution was even in greater need of support—to this extent, at all events, that the number of vacancies is very small, while the number of candidates is overwhelmingly large. Considering, therefore, that it was only last autumn that the Girls' School had been enlarged, he trusted the brethren of the Wallington Lodge would do all they could to assist the Institution with which their energetic Bro. Binckes had been for many years connected. He repeated he did not wish for a single moment to stand between them and any assistance they and the other Lodges in the Province might have it in mind to give to the Girls' Institution. All he asked them to bear in mind was, that the Boys' Festival for 1881 had yet to come, and he hoped they would then remember "Our Boys." The Tyler's toast was given, and shortly afterwards the brethren separated. Bro. Barry's musical abilities were brought into requisition both in the Lodge room and at the banquet table. During the evening some capital songs and recitations were given, Bro. Hook especially distinguishing himself.

STATEMENT OF PROVINCIAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE R.M.B.I. 1875-81.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I am very glad you have published a list showing the contributions of our different Provinces to the Benevolent Institution for the last seven years, and intend publishing similar lists or tables extending over the same period in the case of the two Schools. As you very justly remark, a single list like that of last week does not do full justice, or it may appear to do more than full justice, to the work of each Province. You have cited the cases of Warwickshire and Worcestershire as being Provinces which must not be judged only by the assistance they have rendered to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. Allow me to point out that Durham, Northumberland, and Nottinghamshire are similarly circumstanced, as will be shown when the other tables make their appearance in your columns. Allow me further to draw attention to the fact that, in addition to West Yorkshire, the following Provinces have been represented at each of the seven Festivals of which you have given particulars, namely,—Hants and Isle of Wight, Herts, Kent, Lancashire E., Lancashire W., Middlesex, Oxfordshire, Suffolk, and Surrey. This makes exactly ten Provinces which have regularly supported the Benevolent during the past seven years, and I think that when the seven years are completed for the Schools, it will be found they have been almost, if not quite, as regular in their support of those Institutions.

I trust you will be able to do the same with the London Lodges as with the Provinces. I am very well satisfied that statements of this kind cannot be otherwise than beneficial in furthering the interests of our Charities.

I remain, yours fraternally,

A PROVINCIAL M.M.

[We have already had under consideration our correspondent's suggestion as to the London Lodges, and if we can find time to spare, it is not unlikely we may act upon it.—ED. F.C.]

THE BENEVOLENT FESTIVAL.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I notice in your very interesting and able analysis of the Stewards' lists of the late Benevolent Festival the following remark anent this Province: "North and East Yorkshire sends £52 10s, three-fifths of the sum being on the list of the Very Rev. Porey-Cust, Dean of York." You might have added that the remaining two-fifths of the fifty guineas was contributed by the Eboracum Lodge, so that of the whole twenty-seven Lodges in North and East Yorkshire only two Lodges were represented at all, the York Lodge, 236, by its Chaplain the Dean with thirty guineas, and the Eboracum Lodge, 1611, by its W.M. Bro. J. T. Seller with twenty guineas.

I am, yours fraternally,

T. B. WHYTEHEAD, 236 AND 1611.
