THE OCTOBER ELECTION OF THE GIRLS' SCHOOL.

THE Ballot Paper for the coming Election of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls presents an appearance which we are almost afraid to hope will be repeated for many years to come, even if ever it is during the lifetime of the present generation. Each of the candidates particulars of whose claims are recorded on it now seek election for the first time. This fact is not, in itself, anything very extraordinary, but it calls forcibly to our mind the great benefit which the School was able to afford to those whose position necessitated an appeal for its charity, by admitting, in April last, all the candidates then approved. We need not say more on the present occasion, on this subject, than to hope that the children who were then elected, by reason of the special resolution which authorised the necessary extra "vacancies," are one and all progressing, and that by attention to their studies they are shewing their appreciation of the benefits conferred on them.

There are twenty candidates on the list for this coming October election, of whom but seven can be admitted. As is usual, the selection of the seven most deserving would be a task almost of impossibility; we assume that all are deserving, and could only hope that it were again possible to take them all on. There is but one last application case, No. 14, B. A. Cookes, daughter of—so says the official particulars—the W.M. of the Shakespeare Lodge, No. 284 (Warwickshire), who has his wife and five other children to provide for. We feel sure that the Province of which this brother is a member will not allow a really deserving candidate to be neglected, so we may safely leave the case in their hands; but we cannot help remarking that this is another instance showing the lack of information to be desired from the published particulars of the several candidates. We think, in this case, some further information would be acceptable to the general body of subscribers, many of whom are unable to attend the meetings at which the petitions are discussed. No. 20, E. C. Hippey, is one of four children left parentless, and on that account has, we think, the next claim on the benefits of the Institution. We can only hope she may be successful in securing them. Her father's Province—Oxfordshire—ought to be able to get together a sufficient number of votes to carry her in, and we trust that, considering the destitute condition in which the four children who comprise the family are placed, they will make an extra effort to do so, and that, too, at this coming election. There are seven children dependent on the mother of No. 10, B. E. Knott, the father of whom died in July 1880. This is the only case from Worcestershire, and if taken up by the Province with anything like spirit, should be among the successful on the 14th proximo. There are three candidates whose widowed mothers each have six children dependent on them—No. 8, M. Dobby, daughter of an old member of the Great Northern Lodge, London; No. 13, N. Besly, daughter of a late W.M. of the Caveac Lodge, London, who died in March of the present year; and No. 17, M. Woodward, daughter of another W.M., of the Inhabitants Lodge, Gibraltar. The particulars we have already given as to these candidates—that they are all fatherless, and each a member of a family of six—are all that are supplied, but we imagine these are sufficient to cause a tear of sympathy to flow from each member of the Craft under whose notice their respective cases may come. The mother of No. 7, K. Stokes, is not, perhaps, quite so badly off; we read that one of her six children is partly provided for, but really unless the provision is of a substantial nature—and we presume it is not, or it would not be described as partial—this poor widow is hardly less to be sympathised with than the three last referred to. Her late husband is described as W.M. of the Finsbury Lodge, No. 861, London; he also died in March of the current year. There are no less than five candidates who are members of families of five children "dependent." Of these, No. 4, E. Hayes, has lost her mother, while the others, No. 3, K. Wortley, No. 6, F. Mason, No. 11, A. E. Lord, No. 15, M. E. Hammond, have severally lost their father. The father of No. 3, who, strange to say, is returned as another W.M. (of Marquis of Granby Lodge, No. 124, Durham), stands first in point of number of years subscribed, dues having been paid to Grand Lodge in his name for a total of twenty-four years, and as the date of his initiation dates back as far as December 1854, while his death occurred in December 1879, we may assume he was a member for the whole of that time. No. 4 is one of two cases accredited to the Province of Hants and Isle of Wight, this child's father having joined Peace and Harmony Lodge, No. 359, in that district. She is the candidate already referred to as having a father alive, but no mother; let us hope the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls will fulfil that office for her, at least so far as it is possible. No. 9 is a Cheshire case, and as such, thanks to the systematic working of the Cheshire brethren, is all but sure of election. In saying this we do not wish to draw away any outside help which might be given to the case; on the contrary, we think that those who take pains to secure the election of their candidates should be supported in preference to a Province where no organisation or self-help is brought to bear. The same may almost be said of No. 11, an East Lancashire case. The father of the child died while serving as W.M. of the Affability Lodge, No. 317, Manchester, at the end of last year, after a subscribing membership of eleven years. No. 15 is a Suffolk lass; let us hope she may secure the help of the entire Province of which her father was a member. The name of its Deputy Prov. G. Master is too well known in connection with the Charities of the Order to leave much doubt in our minds but that this child will have some good supporters if the case deserve it, and knowing what we do of the Suffolk brethren, we hardly think they would allow a candidate to be put forward unless she were deserving. We shall expect to see Mary Ethel Hammond among the "successful" at an early date. Four children dependent is the number accredited in the case of No. 9, F. M. Beavon, daughter of the late Senior Deacon of St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 500, Madras. We trust that sufficient support will be forthcoming to relieve this widowed "sister" of the burden of supporting one of her orphan children. No. 2, E. A. Hill, is one of a family of three now dependent on their mother, whose husband, a member of the Westbourne Lodge, No. 733, London, died in January 1881. Five of the remaining six candidates are each members of families of two dependent children. In one case—that of No. 12, F. M. G. Willcox,—the father is the surviving parent; in the other, the mother. Bro. Willcox is returned as a member of the Royal Cumberland Lodge, No. 41, Somerset, and has a good Province at his back if he can get it to take his case in hand. No. 5, F. A. Prebble is daughter of an old member of the Corinthian Lodge, No. 1208, Kent, a Lodge we remember visiting at a time when a case of great distress was brought before its members. What we saw on that occasion leaves no doubt on our mind but that the widow of their late member will receive such assistance as it is possible for her late husband's brethren to afford. No. 16, I. McLeod, is the other Hampshire case; her father having also been a member of Peace and Harmony Lodge, No. 359. The brethren of that Lodge, and of the Province generally, will have enough to do with their two cases, but doubtless the best that is possible will be achieved on behalf of each. No. 18, E. J. Matthews comes to us from Tasmania, her father having been a member of the Tasmanian Union Lodge, No. 536, up to the time of his death, which took place in September 1880. The brethren of Middlesex are called upon to help the family of one of their most respected past members—Bro. Keily, who ranked as P.G. Treasurer of the Province. During his lifetime he was not unmindful of the Institutions, from one of which his family now seek aid, he having acted as Steward, and qualified as a Life Governor to each of the three. Doubtless, he little thought, when urging the claims of the Institutions on others that a member of his family would one day become a candidate, yet such is the case; his daughter, M. P. Keily, stands No. 19 on the list. Let those who are able, assist her, and thus acknowledge the work done by her father. The last case to which we have to devote attention is the first on the list, M. H. Hirst. She is the only child dependent on a widowed mother, and is accredited to the Province of West Yorks. This is another of those fortunate cases where organisation and systematic utilisation of votes renders its candidate all but certain of securing a place, provided the Province takes the matter up; we hope that will be so in this instance, provided the child is as deserving of sympathy as are some of the others whose claims we have directed attention to in the earlier part of these remarks.

We are asked to point out that an omission—of a serious nature to the two more particularly concerned—has been made in the particulars given on the ballot papers for the October election of the Boys' School. It appears that Nos. 21, T. M. Nicholas, and No. 30 C. P. O'Doherty, will both be ineligible — on account of age — unless they are elected on the next occasion. Through some oversight, the special reference usual in such cases has been omitted, but we trust the error will not materially affect the chances of these candidates. Two other candidates, viz. No. 10, R. A. L. Hill, and No. 43, W. R. Worthington, have been withdrawn.

GRAND LODGE OF NEBRASKA.

THE Grand Lodge of the Most Ancient and Honourable Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons of Nebraska convened and assembled in its twenty-fifth Annual Communication in the Masonic Hall, Lincoln, Nebraska, on Tuesday, 20th June, at three o'clock in the afternoon, there being present:—

| Bro. Oliver W. Littler as ... ... | Grand Tyler |

Grand Lodge was opened in ample form, when it was ascertained that seventy-three out of the seventy-nine chartered Lodges were represented.

In the course of his address the Grand Master stated that the brethren were assembled in this their twenty-fifth Annual Communication to consider, and, so far as may be, adopt such measures as will preserve and promote the best interests and pure principles of our ancient and honourable Fraternity, and to that end it is earnestly hoped that the same careful scrutiny and thorough investigation of the several matters presented for consideration should be observed that had characterised their deliberations heretofore. He congratulated the brethren, and particularly the founders, upon their past fair record, and the promise of a bright future before their Grand Lodge. It may have been with fear and trembling that they laid the foundation stones of Nebraska Masonry, but they can now rejoice as one who returns and brings his sheaves with him; for the Institution has kept time and pace with their young and vigorous state in the rapid development of her material resources, and, side by side with the other co-ordinate departments of all her social system, has ever been found the Institution of Freemasonry; foremost in every good word and work that tends to the best moral, social, and intellectual interests of Society. The year that had just past had in many ways been a fruitful one. The earth had yielded her increase abundantly, and the labours of the husbandman had been richly rewarded. Sturdy yeomen from foreign lands, cringing under the yoke of despotism, and the more favoured sons of free America, from the less remote eastern and middle States, have in numbers without stint sought homes, happiness and prosperity within these borders. Capital seeking permanent and profitable investment had been lavishly employed in the development of valuable resources. The artizan and mechanic had found abundant employment for their skill and cunning, and on every hand the busy hum and bustle of industry had been heard. Thrift and prosperity were everywhere seen. The barren plains have been made to bud and blossom, and the onward march of civilisation had turned the great wilderness into a fruitful field. For these and kindred blessings it was but meet and proper that we should return our grateful acknowledgments to Him who is the giver of every good and perfect gift, and to whom alone we are indebted for our prosperity as a people and as a nation. After referring to the losses sustained by the Craft at large, through the hand of Death, and congratulating the brethren of his jurisdiction upon the immunity they had enjoyed, the Grand Master stated that to each of the bereaved Grand Lodges he had referred to, he had extended the fraternal sympathy of this M.W. Grand Lodge, and he recommended that suitable mention be made, and action taken by this Grand Body to commemorate the virtues of these fraternal dead.

The installation meeting of the Burdett Coutts Lodge, No. 1278, took place on Wednesday, at the Approach Tavern, Approach Road, Victoria Park. We had been invited, and certainly it was our intention to be present, but on our arriving at the headquarters of the Lodge, on Thursday evening, to our disappointment we found that the event had occurred the day previously. Bro. Jones, we were informed, was installed in due form by the retiring Master, Bro. J. L. Sturtevant, who performed the ceremony to the satisfaction of a goodly muster of the members and visitors, and we only regret that the alteration of the date, if accidental, should not have been communicated to us. We mention this matter, so that it may not appear discourteous, after the pressing invitation we received, not to give a more comprehensive report of the proceedings.

---

YE ANTIENTE FRATERNITIE OF YE RAHERE ALMONERS.—We notified in our last the consent of Bro. John Whittaker Ellis, Bart., Lord Mayor of London, to preside over the forthcoming Anniversary Festival Banquet of the above Society, to be held at Cannon-street Hotel, on the 20th October. Since that announcement a strong working Committee has been formed to assist the Grand Council in securing a reception for his Lordship, the present Sheriffs, Bros. Sir Reginald Hanson and Sir W. A. Ogg, and the Sheriffs elect Bros. Alderman De Keyser and Alderman Savory, who are also expected to be present, as shall fully justify the already acknowledged reputation of the "Rahere Almoners" for attractive public gatherings. We have had an opportunity of looking over the report of the past year's operations of the Fraternity, and can endorse the Lord Mayor's remark that "the Society is doing good and useful work." Many a poor heart in the parish with which it is connected (St. Bartholomew) was cheered and supported by the "Almoners'" timely gift during the past winter; and no charitable person can do otherwise than congratulate the Society on the patronage it has secured, and wish it GOD SPEED!

LODGE HISTORIES.

ANCHOR AND HOPE LODGE, No. 37, BOLTON.

In our last issue, we gave an outline account of the history of this old Lodge, from information which has been compiled by Bros. George Parker Brockbank and James Newton, and which will have been perused with deep interest by all under whose notice the little volume has fallen. Prior to 1765 there is little doubt that the Anchor and Hope assembled in the private room in Churchgate, before it assumed the wider dimensions in which it now appears. There are some curious items in this old history which will strike Masons of the present day with more than ordinary interest. It is pretty evident, moreover, that our brethren of a century and a-half ago were equally particular with ourselves in observing the amenities of society, for in the oldest volume of the existing records, which seems to have answered the double purpose of minute book and cash account, there is a singular entry of 6s 6d paid for "liquor" on 20th April 1765. Four items of a similar character occur between that date and 4th May, when it appears that the brethren found themselves in somewhat of a quandary, inasmuch as they had to pay Mr. Brown the enormous sum of half a sovereign before they could take away their "old box" which contained their utensils, "such as candlesticks, &c.!" The account runs as follows:—"Paid for candlesticks, cleaning, &c., 2s; a Mallett and Square, 6d; Copying the Bye-laws, 1s 6d; ten yards of Ferritting, at 2d per yard, 1s 8d; a Level, Square, and Plumb Rule, 2s; Two Brothers in distress, 2s;" also payments for "liquor" at T. Rothwell's and J. Lomax's! It is an inference drawn by the authors of this unique history that previous to the year from which their records date, Lodges used no distinctive names, but were known only by their members and the "signs" of the houses in which they assembled. Thus it transpires that the Anchor and Hope varied in different years as to its cognomen. The first mention to be traced of the name of the place of meeting is in the minute book of the Royal Arch Chapter of Concord attached to the Lodge. On 5th December 1787, in the Chapter bye-laws it is stated as the Hope. In subsequent entries, in the same minute book, it is variously stated as the "Hope," "Hope and Anchor," and "Anchor and Hope." This leads up to a reference in a local gazetter of an inn called the "Hope," and another called the "Anchor;" but it would seem that no record is extant as to a meeting place bearing any of these titles now existing in Bolton, though there is some historical connection between those names and the "Rope and Anchor," in Deansgate, which appears almost a paradoxical sign to give to a hostelry in an inland centre. Regular Lodges appear to have been held monthly, during the period mentioned in the "oldest volume," as well as occasional meetings of emergency, the Master and Principal Officers being elected half-yearly, and installed on the Festivals of St. Johns' the Baptist and Evangelist. A curious custom was the payment to the Secretary of a fee of one shilling for each initiation, while the enormous sum of 6d was paid for a twenty-four inch gauge, and a similarly extravagant amount of 1s 2d for a Junior Deacon's jewel! We quite concur with the writer's comment, that "the prices paid for these and other implements, previously noted, prove that the members were content with ordinary operative tools." On the contrary, and supposing the number of members to have been not very extensive, it is atrocious that 14s was paid on 23rd October 1766 for 3½ gross of pipes. Similar entries abound in the history, as the auctioneers say, "too numerous to mention." Another feature of the compendium is the conference of two degrees on a brother at the same meeting, though the qualification is appended that "we presume the term 'Enter'd' as applied to these brethren means that they were admitted as joining members." As an instance of the frugality of the members, it is noted that on the Festival on St. John's Day, 24th June 1769:—Paid for Liquor £1 1s 9d; 18 dinners 18s 0d; tobacco 6½d; maid 5s 3d; total £2 5s 6½d, or only about 2s 6½d each, towards which, on each occasion, the members present contributed half a crown each. The compilers point out, with some degree of force, that "this is in striking contrast to the costly banquets of the present day, although in one respect they are somewhat similar, the payments for fluids being in excess of those for solids then as now on many occasions." The charitable actions of the brethren of this old Lodge were significant in comparison with the expenses incurred personally, and it is most interesting to read of "blind and distressed brother" being relieved from the funds of the Lodge, which in those days can scarcely compare with modern affluence, whilst foreign brethren seem to have been treated with even more liberality than those at home. One little extract as to Masonic customs of over a century ago may be quoted:—

"A curious custom which prevailed in the Lodge at this period is marked by an entry of 2/6, paid 21 May 1772, by Bro. Nathl. Howarth as 'Beverage for a good wife.' The explanation of this entry must be taken to be that the worthy Brother had taken to himself a wife, and paid the sum named in order that his Brethren might toast the healths of the newly married couple at the expense of the bridegroom. Three similar entries subsequently occur in the book, the 'Beverage Money' being the same 2/6 in each case; and in another case 1/- is paid on the birth of a son. This custom continued to be practised in Lodges at the earlier portion of Bro. Brockbanck's Masonic career, now some 36 years ago."

And another, amongst the notes of the brethren of "ye olden time," states:—

"At a Lodge of Emergency held 10 March 1774, it was agreed 'That We subscribe 21/- towards building the Hall.'" This would be the Freemasons' Hall, London. The subscription appears to have been duly paid, along with the annual subscription to the 'General Fund of Charity.'"

Following on from the early records up to 1836, it appears the information gained is of but a fragmentary character, consisting mainly of a book of bye laws dated 1st July 1790, and a roll book, commencing December 1798, containing lists of members, with their payments of subscriptions. This bears out what the compilers informed us in their introduction as to the negligent or accidental destruction of many of the records, which, had they been preserved, would have spared a vast amount of time and pains in research. The roll of members, however, gives evidence of the vitality of the Lodge, inasmuch as in the 22 years between 1776 to December 1798, there were no fewer than seventy-six initiations, the names and dates of the brethren being furnished by Bro. Buss, the Assistant Grand Secretary, from the Grand Lodge books. Passing over the records of the Royal Arch Chapter attached to the Lodge in 1785, all of which are extant, we come upon an interesting entry, which informs us that in January 1786:—

"A Lodge was opened in Bolton, at the Crown Inn, Deansgate, under the 'Ancients' Grand Lodge, viz.:—The Lodge of Antiquity, No. 196, its present number being 146. This Lodge was originally established at the Fox Inn, Leigh, by warrant of 24 June 1776. Notwithstanding the prohibitory orders of their respective Grand Lodges, the members of the 'Anchor & Hope' and the 'Antiquity' Lodges seem, for a time at least, to have been in the habit of frequently interchanging visits as testified by the records of the Antiquity Lodge, and other entries therein otherwise refer to the Anchor and Hope Lodge."

Regular processions occurred at stated periods, such as sermons on St. John's Days, the funerals of deceased brethren, &c. and visits to sister Lodges were regulated by the flat of the Worshipful Masters, under conditions which appear strangely interesting in the light of modern Masonry. A local newspaper recently published the first mention that can be found of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Lancashire, from which, however, the particular day and month are absent. It seems there was a "General Provincial Convocation of the Masonic Societies at Manchester, at the particular request of the Grand Lodge in London," under the patronage of John Allen, Esq., the Provincial Grand Master for the county, who attended for the purpose." The brethren were all habited with the insignia of office, and the Colonel of the first Regiment of Dragoon Guards, having "politely" ordered a party of military to parade on the occasion, they proceeded to St. John's Church, preceded by the officers of the town, "who kindly tendered their services." Then follows in tabular form a description of the procession, which must have been a gorgeous affair, and at the service, where a large congregation assembled, an anthem and some hymns were selected, and an eloquent sermon was preached by the Rev. Bro. Ratcliffe from the 13th Chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans, "Let brotherly love continue." The procession then returned in the order in which they came, and when the brethren came opposite to the Bull's Head they formed in a line whilst the Grand Master passed, saluting them to the front. They then went in, where a very elegant dinner was awaiting them. Fourteen Lodges were represented, comprising the whole of the Lodges then existing in Lancashire under the "Moderns" Grand Lodge. To show the increase of the Craft in this stronghold of true Masonry, it may be mentioned that at the present time there are no fewer than 173 Lodges in the East and West Provinces of Lancashire. We may conclude our notice this week by referring to a curious extract, showing that to be a Chaplain in these good old times did not necessarily imply that he should be duly initiated into the mysteries and privileges of the Order.

THE RETAIL DRAPERY TRADE.—The Warehousemen and Drapers Trade Journal of Saturday last publishes reports of the retail drapery trade throughout the kingdom. From these it is concluded that the spring and autumn returns have been fairly good, although the summer has not proved so favourable for business as had been anticipated. In agricultural districts trade is still suffering from depression caused by the bad harvests of recent years, and the prospects for the coming season depend greatly upon the results of the harvest now in progress, which it is too early yet to estimate accurately. Grouping the metropolitan reports according to postal districts, those from the western division are perhaps the best. The east-end returns are not quite so encouraging. In some cases an improved trade is reported, but in most the average appears scarcely to have been sustained. In North London trade appears to have been slightly better, certainly up to an average, though complaints are made in this, as in other districts, of the severity of competition and the smallness of profits. In the south of London (S.W. and S.E.) an average trade has been done. In the central districts also business has been generally up to the average. The Irish reports as to trade are decidedly favourable, more so than had been anticipated, and taken in connection with indications of an improved state of feeling, are encouraging.

BULLS AND MANIFESTOS—BATTLE OF THE RITES.

THE season for "bulls" or manifestos has opened, all of them being imaginary death-blows at some part of our Institution.

The first bull was issued by a representative of the Pope, residing in some obscure place in Quebec, who, in order to achieve notoriety attacked Freemasonry, and threatened all sorts of penalties, in this and the next world, upon any Roman Catholics who would enter our ranks. We never like to speak lightly of clergymen, no matter what creed they belong to, but if the one here referred to practised what the Great Master called the second commandment, "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself," with as much earnestness as Freemasons, he would not endeavour to make himself the keeper of other men's consciences.

The second bull emanated from a like source, being promulgated by the "Tribune," a weekly Catholic paper, which many of our readers doubtless never heard of, although it is published in Toronto. This was a rare article, the chief characteristic being the unlimited supply of adjectives used, which proclaimed the writer to have once been press agent for a circus or a puffer-up of some patent medicine. We fancy Freemasonry will outlive these dreadful onslaughts.

The next bull or manifesto was issued by the acting G.C. of the Supreme Council of the Sovereign Inspectors General of the 33° of the A. and A.S.R. of Canada, warning its members of the invasion of its territory by another Supreme Council, and directing to "have no conversation or other connection with any members of these spurious concerns." Other Masonic bodies are appealed to, and requested not to countenance the invading Supreme Council, which is "without the least semblance of legitimacy." This document is couched in very forcible language, but beyond that, nothing in it proves its legitimacy."

Then comes the manifesto from the S.G. Council of the Sov. Grand Inspectors General, A. and A.S.R., for British North America, which was established in June 1882, with head-quarters in Toronto. This manifesto deals in dates, figures and perhaps facts, which are more convincing than mere statements. It says that the territory of B.N.A. being vacant, so far as the A. and A.S.R. was concerned, a Supreme Grand Council of the Cerneau Rite was established here, but acknowledges that there "was and is an association of Masons, practising the degrees of the Rite, but they, judged in the most lenient light, can never by their own laws be esteemed a Grand Council." This bull not only hits at the Supreme Council of Canada, but also deals a blow at Peckham, who recently instituted his branch of the Cerneau Rite in Canada, and Folger, the Masonic historian, is freely quoted to maintain the stand taken by the writer, who is Bro. Geo. C. Longley S.G.C., residing in Maitland, and who is no mean authority on matters of Masonic history.

Following this we have a manifesto from A. B. Mott, Most Ill. G.M. General in and for the Continent of America, who claims that Longley and two others received their 33° from him, and he pertly asks:—"who gave them authority to make a sufficient number of 33° members to constitute a Sovereign Sanctuary, and where is their charter?

And last, but not least, we have Bro. Dr. Ramsay's views in the "Tablet." His statement is tersely written and put together in not only a readable but convincing form. Strangely enough he also quotes from Folger to substantiate his statements. The "Tablet" says:—Recently we believe some of the former members of the Cerneau body, who deserted and took the oath of fealty to the Northern Jurisdiction, have deserted again, and under Hopkins Thompson have pretended to re-organise a Cerneau Supreme Council, but their claims are so manifestly absurd that no argument is needed to convince any reasonable mind that they are clearly illegitimate.

In all seriousness, we ask the brethren running these various Rites what all the fuss is about? If there are more than enough to keep afloat try and bury a couple, but a complete burial—without the possibility of a resurrection—would be a great blessing to Freemasonry. If these high grades are instituted for the sole purpose of giving the "guns" an opportunity of throwing mud at each other, then they are very successful; but if they have any higher aim they will never achieve it by the present course. We have for some time felt that these high grades had a little too much humbug about them, and now that they are adopting the cut-each-other-throat policy we are fully convinced that our estimate was not far astray.—Canadian Freemason.

From the Directors' Report of the Crystal Palace District Gas Company we gather that the general working of the Company during the half-year has been satisfactory. The Reports of the official Gas Examiners continue to be favourable, and in view of the completion of the new Gas Holder, which will give the Company an additional storage of 1,600,000 cubic feet of gas, the price of gas will, from and after the present Michaelmas quarter, be reduced to 3s 3d per 1000 cubic feet. The Directors recommend the declaration of a dividend for the half year ending 30th June last at the following rates per annum, viz.—6 per cent. on the Preference Stock, 7 per cent. on the ordinary 7 per Cent. Stock, 10 per cent. on the ordinary 10 per Cent. Stock, and 7 per cent. on the New Ordinary 7 per Cent. Shares—all less Income Tax; this will amount to £11,593 12s 4d, and the sum of £6,100 16s 3d will be carried forward to the profit of the succeeding half-year.

The monthly meeting of the Lodge of Benevolence was held on Wednesday evening, at Freemasons' Hall. Bro. Joshua Nunn occupied the seat of President, Bro. James Brett, Junior Vice President, occupied the Senior Vice President's chair, and Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford P.G.C. held the chair of Junior Vice President. There was a good attendance of brethren, considering the season of the year. The brethren confirmed the recommendations made at last meeting, amounting to £285. The new list contained the names of twenty-one petitioners. The brethren sat three hours, and granted a total sum of £570, which was composed of one £100, three £50, two £40, two £30, three £25, three £20, one £15, and three £10. Three cases were adjourned.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Autumn is proverbially the season of sickness: then the blood requires purification, the digestion demands thorough and attentive regulation, and all the secretions call for correction. Holloway's remedies supply all the necessaries for securing health; the one overcomes cutaneous diseases, sores, ulcerations, abscesses, carbuncles, and all visible imperfections; the other acts most potently in cleansing the circulation, strengthening the stomach, governing the liver, regulating the bowels, and reducing the entire system to order. Thus these twin medicaments furnish the most efficient medicine chest available for family use. It is easier, through Holloway's discovery, to point out the remedy than to describe the disease: into the former no fallacy can intrude; into the latter prejudice may unwittingly creep.

THE CARE OF LODGE FUNDS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In conversation with some brethren a few days ago on the above subject, a friendly discussion arose as to whether or not it would be beneficial to Lodges if their funds were vested in the case of Grand Lodge, i.e. if the latter would consent to act as bankers, and thus relieve the anxiety and responsibilities of private Treasurers. Of course, there is much to be said on both sides of the question; but inasmuch as your influential journal is specially designed to open up various matters connected with Freemasonry, it occurred to me that you might be glad to hear the views expressed during the conversation to which I allude, so that others may be induced to give their opinions upon it, if so disposed. In the first place then it was pointed out that in a great many Lodges the office of Treasurer is a sinecure, inasmuch as the whole of the business is virtually transacted by the Secretary, that really the Treasurer has no control over the actions of the latter, and if that officer is lax in the discharge of his duty in keeping the accounts "close up," the Lodge suffers, and the Treasurer, who is merely an ornamental personage, is brought to book for laches over which he has no control. On the other hand, it was contended that if the funds of private Lodges were placed in the hands of Grand Lodge there would be a stimulating influence exercised over them, because the officers of private Lodges would be most unwilling to appear in a weak-kneed position before the Grand Lodge, in whose favourable opinion they are always most anxious to stand.

Then, again, it was argued, with some degree of force, that such an investment of the funds would betray a sense of weakness on the part of individual Lodges, admitting that they were either incapable of managing their financial affairs, or that they did not care to be bothered with the responsibility. Further than that, it would have a tendency to "centralisation"—that word so hateful to every class of persons who are connected with self-government in any form. Moreover, it was urged that to deprive a private Lodge of its own Treasurer, and to ask Grand Lodge to be the bursar of its funds, would go far to shear it of much of its dignity and importance, and to destroy that esprit de corps—that sense of "our own-ness," to coin a word—which members of every Lodge like to feel respecting the affairs which immediately concern themselves. There is a kind of repugnance against too much interference on the part of the powers that be: and amongst the arguments expressed this was one—that Grand Lodge, if once entrusted with Lodge funds generally, might exercise too strict a parental authority, and such as would not be meekly borne by the brethren. For instance, they might find a Lodge which, in their opinion, is too lavish in the fourth degree, and not up to their standard as regards Charity, whereupon there might be—I do not say there would immediately—first a gentle hint, then a sharp reminder, and ultimately a peremptory command for "retrenchment and reform." Such discipline might be good for the Lodge to which it was administered, but there is room for doubt whether the members would submit thus to be dictated to by the ruling power. In my view, if the machinery of a Lodge is running too freely, and the funds are not held so well in hand as should be, then the Officers themselves should set to work, and quietly replace bolts and screws that have become loose, and altogether to amend the course of procedure. To abolish the office of Treasurer in our Lodges, and to make Grand Lodge the common bank for all the funds would, I think, be a great mistake, inasmuch as it would tend to destroy the individuality of Lodges, and do away with much of that principle of self-government which is so highly prized amongst Masons. That a great many Treasurers of Lodges have been known to go wrong, there can be no disputing; and that some Lodges are in a miserable financial plight, none who are aware of the facts will gainsay; but whether the system of investing the funds in the hands of Grand Lodge, allowing them a certain moral and disciplinarian influence over private members, would work well, is a matter upon which I can hardly venture to give an opinion. I rather think not; but should be glad to hear what some of your other correspondents have to say upon the point.

I remain, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

13th September 1882. ARGUS.

IS MASONRY REALLY FLOURISHING?

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have read your remarks on the above question, and the comments upon them by various correspondents, but have waited in vain for any argument to show decadence in the importance, usefulness, or progress of the Craft. All the statements, so far as I am able to judge, go to support the positive view of the question, and to strengthen the conviction which all true Masons must entertain, that Masonry, so far from showing any signs of falling away, is really in as good, if not a better, position than ever it was. One valuable feature of the consideration of the subject in your columns has been to elicit sundry hints as to the admission of unworthy members, the exercise of discretion in the issue of new warrants, the placing of a wholesome check upon "Masonic mendicancy," and those other little evils which have crept into the Order, and to which, as you justly point out, all societies are liable. A careful guard against those irregularities which, it may be, have increased with the growth of Masonry, should be made a matter of thought, as it doubtless will be now that they have been so pointedly alluded to; but so far as the crucial point is concerned, I can see nothing in the correspondence which has lately taken place to show that the prosperity of the Craft has one whit abated. This is all the more satisfactory, since you have challenged an interchange of opinion on all sides of the question; and that all the ideas expressed are uniformly a reply in the affirmative to the interrogatory which heads this letter, it may be fairly assumed that nobody has anything to say to the contrary. For my own part, I am assured that both in London and the Provinces the brethren are as eager as ever to maintain the prestige of the Craft, to uphold its dignity and the probity of its members, and to do all they can possibly for the true interests of our Ancient and Honourable Institution. There are several points not touched upon in the correspondence, but which perhaps it were better not to debate in the columns even of a Masonic print, and which can be more effectually dealt with in Lodge. In this I think your correspondents have exercised a wise discretion, acting on the motto which warns us against washing our dirty linen in public. But it is no use disguising the fact that in all institutions of an extensive and cosmopolitan character there must exist circumstances which will bear reform; and if in our own midst there are laches which require careful and judicious treatment with a view to their eradication, it is no more than one naturally expects to find amongst every body of men assembled together for the promotion of any cause. But even in this respect I venture to assert that Freemasonry will bear favourable comparison with any other combination of individuals engaged in the prosecution of a beneficent work, whilst the vast and increasing amount of good it is effecting, both palpably and in a quiet, unostentatious manner, claims for the Craft a pre-eminence above all other institutions in the world. Therefore, if for no other reason than that it has succeeded in proving nothing to the contrary, I am glad the subject has been mooted, and am now more than ever convinced that Freemasonry is really flourishing.

I remain, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

IMMEDIATE PAST MASTER.

GRATUITIES TO WAITERS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I scarcely know whether or not this subject is one which comes within the range of public discussion, but at all events it forms a matter of comment amongst many members of the Craft, and I would merely throw out a hint respecting it. I refer to the importunities of waiters at many of our hotels, both at the banquet and afterwards. It is not necessary to inquire whether those useful servants who minister to our wants on such occasions are adequately paid for their services, but the inference is that at our best hotels they are remunerated for their time and labour, and that such a practice as touting for gratuities, as is so often complained of, is unjustifiable. Yet how invariable is the practice, when dessert is coming on, for waiters who may not have been over attentive during dinner to thrust a toothpick towards the guests, with palm so adroitly extended as to now and then suggest the coveted and expected fee. Not only so; if a response is not promptly and liberally made, the obsequious servitor will whisper very audibly in your ear, "Have to retire now, sir," "Hope you have been well attended to, sir?" and sometimes even "Waiter, sir!" as though one was dining at a cook-shop. I am perfectly certain the proprietors of hotels are not aware the extent to which this system of cadging—for there is no other name for it—is carried on, and it is just as well they should receive the hint as for the frequenters of their hotels to pay and grumble. It is not merely in Masonic gatherings we find this practice exercised, though, inasmuch as good prices are usually paid for Masonic banquets, the annoyance is all the more inexcusable. I do not make these remarks because I am more stingy, perhaps, than the rest of my brethren, but it becomes a bore when one is pestered, after an enjoyable dinner, by servants who ought to be sufficiently well paid to be relieved of the necessity—if it be a necessity—of eking out their wages by soliciting "tips" from guests around the table, and sometimes with a persistency bordering very closely on impertinence. Either let it be understood that the waiter's fees be included in the bill of fare, or follow the custom prevailing at the Odd Fellows' and other club dinners of "passing round the plate for the waiters." In either case I and the other brethren would most willingly contribute our quota, but to be compelled by sinister politeness and gentle reminders—followed by more significant hints—of your duty to "shell out" to these gentlemen is nothing more than an offensive nuisance and should be checked as far as possible. I invariably propose in the companies I join to fee the waiter at the beginning of dinner, not because I think the custom is a judicious one in a well-conducted hotel, but in order that we may be spared the infliction afterwards. But I never would, at any rate, respond to the unwarrantable importunity, such as I refer to, and which, I am sorry to say, prevails at many of our most frequented establishments, under the very noses of proprietors, who I am sure would discountenance it, only that they are ignorant of its taking place. Having said this much, I subscribe myself, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

GRUMBLER.

[Our correspondent is perfectly justified in making his complaint, which is one we have heard ourselves. We have had some thought of giving to hotel proprietors the hints contained in the above letter.—ED. F.C.]

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF CHESHIRE.

THE annual meeting of the above Provincial Grand Lodge was held at Northwich, on 6th inst. About 300 members of the Masonic fraternity, representing the 39 Lodges of the Province, assembled, and the day being exceedingly fine the entire programme was fulfilled in a manner that left nothing to be desired. The responsibility of entertaining the Provincial Grand Lodge rested with the local Lodge of Sincerity, 428, of which Brother T. E. Skidmore is the W.M., and the excellent arrangements perfected by the various committees were carried out with the utmost order and regularity, the visiting brethren being highly pleased with the cordiality of their reception. The Market Hall was the scene of the gathering, this being the only place in the town which afforded adequate accommodation. The interior of the spacious building underwent complete transformation, and the brethren of Lodge 428 are to be congratulated upon having adapted it so admirably for the purposes for which it was hired. A strong wooden petition was erected on either side of the passage through the centre of the building, the Apple Market-street end being constituted the Grand Lodge-room, while the other half served the purposes of a banqueting room. The hall was splendidly decorated for the occasion, this work having been entrusted to Mr. Chadwick, of Market-street, who executed his commission in a way that elicited universal praise. The Lodge-room presented an extremely attractive appearance. The throne was fixed on a carpeted dais at one end, chairs for the use of the P.G. officers being provided on each side. The temporary "walls," and the gallery front and pillars were embellished with the Tabley and Tatton arms, a number of Masonic watchwords, emblems, and monograms, and festoons of evergreens. Great skill and taste were displayed in the adornment of the banqueting room, and an exceedingly brilliant effect was produced. Surmounting the chair in the centre of the dais, reserved for P.G. Officers, was a handsome trophy of flags, set off with the Tabley arms and Prince of Wales Feathers. On the right appeared the words, "Lodge Sincerity, 428," and "The Three Grand Masters;" while on the left were read, "Lodge Fidelity, 242," and "The Three Great Lights in Masonry." Other parts of the room were beautifully decorated with trophies of flags, illuminated shields and monograms, the titles and numbers of various Lodges of the Province, and such mottoes as "Friendship, Love, and Truth," "Peace, Plenty, and Unanimity," "Faith, Hope, and Charity," "Wisdom, Strength, and Beauty," "Brotherly Love," "Relief and Truth," &c. A number of magnificent palms and table plants from Mr. Owen's Greenbank Nurseries added to the elegance of the display. The galleries were carefully screened off all round with canvas, and portions were formed into cloak and clothing rooms, and lavatories. There were also provided a daintily-furnished room for the Provincial Grand Master, and a larger one for the use of the P.G. Officers.

The Right Hon. Lord de Tabley, Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, was prevented, by indisposition, from attending the meeting, and the circumstance was greatly regretted by all. His duties were efficiently discharged by Bro. G. W. Latham P.P.G.S.W.

The Provincial Grand Lodge having been opened in due form, the P.G.S. (Bro. Griffiths) read letters of apology from several brethren for non-attendance. The Acting Deputy Grand Master thought it right to deliver to them the message which the P.G.M. of Cheshire had entrusted him with, as they were probably aware it had pleased the Great Architect of the Universe to inflict upon him an access of illness. He trusted that would soon pass away, and would not prove to be so serious as at one time they anticipated it might be, and he was sure it would be the prayer of every member of the Provincial Grand Lodge that such might be the case. He had the pleasure of seeing their Provincial Grand Master that morning before starting, and he commissioned him to give his love to the brethren who were assembled, and to assure them how distressed he was at not being able to keep the engagement he had made, and how he hoped all would pass off successfully even in his absence. Having appealed for their sympathy and indulgence in the trying circumstances in which he was placed, he asked their prayers as a body and as individuals for the restoration of the Provincial Grand Master.

The minutes of the Grand Lodge at Macclesfield, and of two special meetings, were read by the Provincial Grand Secretary.

The Acting Deputy Grand Master said that he thought every one would agree that the present year had been one full of business in the Province of Cheshire. They had two special Grand Lodges, one to congratulate Her Majesty upon her escape from the hands of the assassin. It was a curious coincidence that a very few days before that attempt had been made, their Provincial Grand Master had alluded to a similar attempt which had been made upon the Chief Magistrate on the other side of the Atlantic. The other Grand Lodge had been for a purpose particularly agreeable to the feelings of all Masons—it was the laying of the foundation-stone of a hospital for little children. He could conceive no object nearer to the hearts of all Masons than that the sufferings of those innocent little children—suffering caused perhaps by the vice or poverty of their parents, but not inflicted upon them by their own sort—should be relieved or alleviated by the most extensive and successful measures. If their Grand Lodge had done no other work than that during the past year; if it had only been the helper on of a charity like that, he thought they would all agree that they had done a good work. But their work as Masons did not end with the two occasions of congratulation to their Sovereign and the work of charity. During that time they were called upon, not as a body but as individual Masons, to perform the pleasant office of presenting their Prov. Grand Master with a portrait of himself. Those who were present then knew how touching the ceremony was, how their Prov. Grand Master acknowledged in a few broken sentences the gift, and how they who gave it felt that all the trouble they had taken was amply repaid by the pleasure it had afforded them. That gift was to show their lavish love and affection for their Grand Master. They met again, not perhaps as a Provincial Grand Lodge, but on a most interesting occasion, when a new sister was added to the roll of Lodges of Cheshire. That Lodge was started under brilliant auspices, and accompanied by the presence of more Past Masters than he ever remembered to have met on one occasion. He hoped it might flourish, and become a source of strength to the Province. He rejoiced to see when a new Lodge was added that every solid principle was worked out, that charity, love, and virtue would be properly inculcated, and from which they would furnish a worthy number of brethren to come forward and do the work of the Province. Having alluded to the revision of the Book of Constitutions by the Grand Lodge of England, he said that it was rather a codifying of the old laws than re-enacting new ones, and that it was making matters clear where the expression before was doubtful. There was another point to which the Prov. G. Master particularly desired that attention should be drawn. There had during this year in his province been 80 resignations of membership, 35 exclusions, and 44 defaulters for non-payment of fees. He could not but believe that if proper care had been exercised in the admission of gentlemen when they were first proposed, a great many of these cases of exclusion and default would never have taken place. Of course it was perfectly impossible for him or any one else to put his fingers on this case or that, and say they were in too great a hurry in initiating this brother or that; but he did feel that if some little more care had been taken in inquiring into the circumstances and habits of gentlemen proposed, a very great deal of trouble might be saved afterwards, and a great deal of the disgrace which was brought on the Order thereby. He only mentioned that in order to urge that increased care should be exercised. He knew that care was taken at present that no person should be initiated who was not only a good fellow in himself, but who would be a credit to their Lodge and support the Order, and not, when the first flush of trouble came considered the Order should support him instead of him supporting the Order. He now turned to a subject on which he was allowed to speak with unalloyed satisfaction, that was their present position so far as regarded the Charities. They had at the present time 400 votes for Boys, 300 votes for Girls, 420 for the Old Men, and 250 for the Widows. In April they elected one Cheshire boy, and they could afford, notwithstanding, to allow a certain number for another boy. In May they elected a worthy old man, Bro. Worthington, and next October—and they must remember they had to do it—they had to elect a boy named Sykes for the Boys' School, and a girl named Mason for the Girls' School. He put that before them as their plain duty, and it must be done. To do it they must not be niggardly, they must not be remiss. He took it it was the duty of every Lodge to be liberal to these Charities. Turning to the Cheshire Educational Institution, they were educating fifty-two in 1881; now they were educating fifty-seven. He congratulated Brother Platt upon his zeal in the cause of the Charities, and his success in not only being generous himself, but of being the cause of generosity in others. He had to thank them for their large attendance that day. He had to thank them for the fact that not one single Lodge in the Province was unrepresented. Some, of course, by position and locality were more numerously represented than others, but not one Lodge was there but what was represented, and that showed that every Lodge was doing work, and was prepared to do its duty. He hoped the proceedings which had begun so auspiciously might be successful; and although their day might be clouded somewhat with the feeling that he who should have been with them was on a bed of sickness, yet his heart was with them, and he awaited anxiously the report of their proceedings, which would be taken to him after they were over. At their gathering in church, let them offer one silent prayer for the speedy restoration of their Provicial Grand Master.

Bro. F. Jackson P.G.T. submitted his report of the finances, and his re-election was proposed by the Acting Deputy Grand Master.

This was seconded and agreed to unanimously.

The Acting Deputy Grand Master next presented Bro. Eustace George Parker with a jewel for his services to Masonry, and the great efforts he had made in behalf of the Charities. Jewels were also presented to Bros. Platt, Marwood, Milner, Chesters, and Dutton. He also invested the following Provincial Grand Officers:—Bros. Colonel Fernley G.S.W., William Marquis G.J.W., Rev. E. Rawson P.G.C., Ferdinando Jackson P.G.T., E. H. Griffiths P.G.S., Francis Bolton G.S.D., Robert N. Banks G.J.D., Walter Milner G.Supt. Works, Herbert Finch G.D.C., Edmund Johnson Asst. G.D.C., Thomas E. Skidmore P.G.S.B., Henry Collier P.G.O., Eustace George Parker Grand Pursuivant, Finnie P.G. Tyler, Thomas Moore, J. E. Fletcher, J. H. Edwards, T. Ward, J. Newell, and G. T. Joynson, P.G. Stewards.

Other business having been transacted, the Acting Deputy Grand Master announced that the Provincial Grand Lodge would be held next year at Staleybridge. A vote of thanks to the Rev. J. E. Blencowe, vicar of Walton, for the use of the parish church, was unanimously passed.

On the conclusion of the business of the Provincial Grand Lodge, the brethren, attired in full Masonic clothing, attended divine service at Witton Church, marching from the hall by way of Apple Market-street, High-street, Witton-street, and Church-road, the music being supplied by the Hartford Volunteer Band, under the direction of Mr. C. Lambert.

The Lewises who carried the volume of the Sacred Law were—Thomas Moore, son of Bro. T. Moore; William Hardie, son of Bro. W. Hardie; Reginald Holland, son of Bro. James Holland; and Gerald Joynson, son of Bro. G. T. Joynson. They were attired in Eton suits, with white straw hats, and each wore a silver jewel suspended from a purple collar. The procession presented a very imposing sight, and as it marched to and from the church the streets were thickly lined with spectators. On arriving at the door of the church the procession halted, and the brethren opened out to the right and left, facing inwards, while the acting P.G. Master, preceded by his Standard and Sword Bearers, passed up the centre; the P.G. Officers and brethren then followed in succession from the rear, thus inverting the order of procession. The seats in the centre of the body of the edifice were reserved for the brethren; the other parts were filled with persons who had been admitted by ticket. The prayers were read by the Rev. C. E. Graham Jones P.P.G. Chaplain, of Hyde, and the lesson by the Rev. J. W. N. Tanner P.P.G. Chaplain, Antrobus. After the singing of the Anthem, "The Lord is my light" (Dr. Hiles), the Rev. E. Rawson, of Marston, the newly-appointed Provincial Grand Chaplain, ascended the pulpit and preached a sermon from the text, "Mark the perfect man, for the end of that man is peace" (Psalm xxxvii. 37). In the course of a brief but practical and forcible discourse, the preacher remarked that the outside world might taunt and doubt the Order of Freemasons, and make light of its ritual; but those who were Masons, and understood the virtues upon which the Order was founded, knew well that the operations of the Craft were carried on in order to do as much good as possible to those who were unable to help themselves, and that it was the aim of every true Freemason so to speak and act that he might become a more perfect man. After the sermon a collection was made on behalf of the Provincial Fund of Benevolence, the amount realised being £16 9s. The musical portion of the service was under the direction of Bro. Henry Collier P.G.O., assisted by Mrs. Knowles, and Bros. Stafford, Gaskill, Edmondson, Wilkinson, Booth, and Balfe. Bro. Collier played the National Anthem as the congregation were leaving the church.

The brethren returned in procession to the Market Hall, where about one hundred and thirty sat down to a banquet provided by Mr. Johnson, of Manchester.

Bro. G. W. Latham presided, and he was supported by most of the Provincial Grand Officers.

The Acting Prov. G.M. gave the toast of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen, which was enthusiastically received. He afterwards proposed The M.W.G.M. His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester, Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales and the rest of the Royal Family. This toast was also drunk with the utmost cordiality.

Bro. the Rev. E. Rawson proposed The Earl of Carnarvon M.W. Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Lathom R.W. Deputy Grand Master, and the Officers of Grand Lodge, past and present. Brother Bulley responded.

The Acting Prov. Grand Master next gave The Right Hon. Lord de Tabley Prov. G.M. He referred to his lordship's continuous and indefatigable exertions in the interests of Freemasonry in his Province, and expressed a hope that the Provincial Officers, as well as the members of private Lodges, would in future do their utmost to make his labours as light as possible. He trusted that their beloved P.G.M. would be spared to preside over them for many years to come.

The toast was drunk with Masonic honours.

Bro. J. B. Deakin proposed the Hon. Wilbraham Egerton, M.P., D.P.G.M. and the Officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge, Past and Present.

Bro. Colonel Fernley responded.

Bro. Bulley gave the health of Bro. G. W. Latham, and thanked him for the way in which he had conducted the business of the Lodge. Everything had prospered. Lord de Tabley could not have had a better representative than Bro. Latham.

Bro. G. W. Latham acknowledged the compliment, and proposed the Visitors, to which Bro. Matier, a member of the Committee of the Boys' School, London, replied.

In proposing The Lodge of Sincerity, 428, the Acting Prov. Grand Master referred to the hospitable reception which had been given to Provincial Grand Lodge at Northwich. The brethren of Lodge Sincerity had, at enormous trouble and large cost, prepared a place where they had been able to meet with thorough comfort. Their business was done in a room large enough for them, and their banquet was held in a room that had provided sufficient accommodation. Nothing had been forgotten which would add to the comfort of the brethren. Labour and trouble unthought of had been expended in preparing for their reception, and for that he wished, on behalf of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Cheshire, to return to Lodge Sincerity their most heartfelt thanks. He also took occasion to thank the Stewards for the able and self-denying manner in which they had fulfilled their duties. He was told that it was 21 years since the Provincial Grand Lodge was held at Northwich. He could only say that from the welcome they had given the Lodge that day, from the power of organisation they had shown, and the hospitality they had displayed, they should come to Northwich again after a very much shorter interval. He proposed Lodge Sincerity, coupled with the name of Bro. Skidmore W.M., and the Stewards, coupled with the name of Bro. T. Moore, the senior Steward.

Bros. Skidmore and Moore responded.

CONSECRATION OF THE HADRIAN LODGE, No. 1970, SOUTH SHIELDS.

ON Friday, 15th instant, the interesting ceremony of consecrating the Hadrian Lodge, took place in the Freemasons' Hall, Fowler-street, South Shields, in the presence of a very numerous and influential gathering of the Craft, nearly the whole of the Lodges of the two Northern Provinces being represented. The Masonic Hall had been recently cleaned and re-decorated by Mr. Lusher, of South Shields, and when set out with the new furniture of the Hadrian Lodge, presented a striking and tasteful appearance. The Hadrian Lodge is only the second formed in the borough, and was called into existence owing to the large member roll of the old Lodge of St. Hilda, No. 240. For the purposes of the Consecration a Provincial Grand Lodge was held, and the Lodge was opened and raised by Bro. E. D. Davis P.P.S.G.W. Durham and P.G.D.C. Northumberland, Acting Deputy Grand Master for the Province of Durham, who was assisted by the following Provincial Grand Officers:—Bros. J. W. Cameron P.G.S.W., J. McCulloch P.G.J.W., Rev. J. J. Brown P.G. Chaplain, R. Hudson P.G. Secretary, Thomas Bradley Asst. P.G.

Sec., Alexander Iley P.G.S.D., T. G. Mabane Acting P.G.J.D., G. Greenwell P.G.D.C., D. Sinclair Asst. P.G.D.C., Malcolm Acting P.G.S.B., George Porteous Acting P.G. Organist, I. Sinclair P.G.P., and John Thompson Tyler. The Lodge having been raised, the brethren received the Most Noble the Marquis of Londonderry, K.P., Lord Lieutenant of County Palatine of Durham, Provincial Grand Master, in due form, and the Marquis then proceeded to perform the Consecration according to the ceremonial provided, the solemn prayers and addresses being impressively rendered by the Rev. J. J. Brown P.G. Chaplain. The music incidental to the ceremony was very ably rendered by Bros. George Porteous acting P.G. Organist, E. J. Gibbon P.M. 541 P.P.G.O. Northumberland, G. J. Leatham 124, J. G. Smith W.M. 48, J. W. Woolner 240, and Thomas Lumley 240. The Lodge having been consecrated, the first Worshipful Master, Bro. Thomas Coulson P.G.J.W., was presented to the Provincial Grand Master, as were also the petitioners—Bros. G. S. Shotton W.M., J. J. Athey P.M., T. Potter P.M., T. G. Mabane P.M. and P.P.G.R., J. H. Morton P.M., J. H. Thompson S.W., and W. Davidson. Bro. Thos. Coulson, W.M. designate of the new Lodge, was installed into the chair of K.S. by Bro. E. D. Davis, acting Deputy P.G.M., as the first Master of the Hadrian Lodge No. 1970. The W.M. then invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. Thomas Potter I.P.M., J. J. Athey S.W., W. Davidson J.W., J. H. Morton P.M. Treasurer, J. Robertson M.C., J. Heppell Sec., Walter Ross S.D., M. I. Wheatley J.D., J. R. Walker jun. I.G., Colin Wawn and W. Dalziel Stewards, and J. Brown Tyler. Several new members to join the Lodge were proposed, and the business of the day was concluded by the W.M. being congratulated by the representatives from the various visiting Lodges, one being from Philadelphia in America. Afterwards the banquet was held in the Golden Lion Hotel (Bro. Thomas Lauderdale, late of Newcastle), when nearly one hundred brethren sat down to a first-class repast, which was served in excellent order by the host. The chair was occupied by the Marquis of Londonderry, who was supported on his left by Bro. Thomas Coulson W.M., the vice chair being occupied by Bro. J. J. Athey S.W. The Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, and the proceedings were enhanced by some excellent glees and songs by the brethren who officiated at the Lodge.

It may be mentioned that most of the furniture, and the whole of the working tools, &c., for the new Lodge were presented by the Officers and members, as under:—

MARK MASONRY.

INSTALLATION OF THE PROVINCIAL GRAND M.M.M. OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE.

THE old building known as the Town Hall, Newport Pagnell, has lately undergone considerable alterations and improvements. A new, substantial, and convenient staircase has been added, making the ingress and egress considerably easier, and its construction is fortunately of such a nature as to avoid any danger while ascending or descending, which is an important feature in all public buildings. Several other acceptable improvements have been made. Shortly before four o'clock on Tuesday, the 13th inst., a large number of the M.M. Masons of the district assembled, and they were joined by several distinguished brethren from Grand Lodge and the Provincial Grand Mark Lodges adjoining the Province of Bucks, including the R.W. Bros. General J. Studholme Brownrigg, C.B., P.G.W., D. M. Dewar Asst. Grand Secretary, George P.G. Steward P.M. 265, Hewens I.P.M. 245 and P.P.G.S.D. of Leicestershire, Northants, and Derby. Bro. General Brownrigg, addressing the brethren, said: I have to-day been commanded by Lord Henniker, the Grand Mark Master Mason of England, to act on his behalf in installing the first Provincial Grand Mark Master of this county. I am sure that the Grand Master, in honouring me with this duty, knew how I, more than any other Mark Mason, would appreciate it. It would not be becoming for me to say much about your Provincial Grand Master, but I am sure that you will believe, without my telling you, that it will be his earnest endeavour to promote the interests of Mark Masonry in the Province. Bro. the Rev. J. Studholme Brownrigg P.G.C. was then presented to the acting Grand Director of Ceremonies, Bro. T. Taylor, and was duly installed Provincial Grand Mark Master of Buckinghamshire. The Provincial Grand Master, in acknowledging the high compliment paid him, said: Brethren, In the first place I have to thank you for the honour which has been done me to-day. I can never forget that this patent is the result of a unanimous petition from the Mark Master Masons of Buckinghamshire to the Grand Mark Master Mason. I am proud to say that you conspired together to obtain for me what I did not seek, what I am conscious I did not deserve. To the best of my power I will endeavour to promote the welfare of this and every other legitimate branch of the Craft in this county. But to pass from a personal to a more general consideration of the matter. I am sure that Bro. Dewar will bear me out when I say that in whatever county the Craft is flourishing, there also from the parent stem is thrown out a vigorous and healthy shoot of Mark Masonry. It is almost a necessary consequence. As soon as men begin to value and appreciate the beauties of our Order, they wish to advance to a more perfect knowledge of it, and the result is that they form a close union with their old Lodge, a Lodge of Mark Master Masons. We are happy to live in days when this is possible without even the suspicion of disloyalty to the chief Masonic power of this country. The distinguished brother, whom I have to thank on your behalf for being to-day the Installing Master, can tell you how, in days when he first sat as a Grand Officer of the Grand Lodge of England, there was a bitter feud between the two G. Lodges. In no measured terms did the one denounce the other. Time is the great softener of all things, and the same voices which once spoke in discordant antagonism are now blended together in perfect unison. Every shadow of ill-feeling is gone for ever, and, as I have said, a prosperous Mark Lodge is sooner or later the natural outcome of every good Craft Lodge. But more than this. I hope that in this particular county Mark Masonry is not merely following the lead of the Craft Province. I think that we are in one important particular taking the lead. It has been argued that poor little Buckinghamshire cannot stand alone, that we want the help and guidance of an elder sister. Brethren, the assemblage to-day is, I think, an answer. If three Mark Lodges, all in North Bucks, can bring together such a meeting as this, surely eleven Craft Lodges can do as much. There is a French proverb "Tout vient a celle oni qui sent attendre"—"Every thing comes to the man who knows how to wait." But waiting does not mean sitting with our hands before us, it does mean taking every legitimate step to prove the vitality and energy of our Buckinghamshire Masons. We have taken such a step to-day, let us make a few more like it, and in good time we shall be allowed our independence, and the elder sister will be proud to see us walk alone, while we shall not be forgetful of the days when she bore with our infantine insubordination. As regards the Mark, we start to-day young, and perhaps foolish. We have all the dangers of infancy before us, we have not yet even got through the discomfort of teething, we shall come to that directly, when we discuss the Bye-laws; but we come of healthy parents, and we do not mind a little hard work. I hope none of us are afraid of the future. We mean to do our best. I am saying this for every Mark Mason in the Province, and I shall myself be glad to be the servant whenever there is any help wanted of every Lodge in the Province. I do not wish to sit on the right hand of the W.M. if an Inner Guard is wanted. The Provincial Grand Master appointed his Officers as follow:—Bros. B. Fountaine Prov. S.G.W., McCubbin Prov. J.G.W., W. H. Ball Prov. G.M.O., W. Fitch Prov. G.S.O., Mickley Prov. G.J.O., Revs. C. F. L. West and F. W. Harnett Prov. G. Chaplains, H. Poynter Prov. G. Registrar of Marks, J. Williams Prov. G. Director of Ceremonies, J. H. Cox Prov. G. Sword Bearer, W. R. Parrott Prov. G. Standard Bearer, B. Wilford Prov. G. Organist, Howell G.I.G., L. Cooper Prov. G. Steward. The Provincial Grand Lodge having been closed, the brethren adjourned to the Swan Hotel, for the banquet, which was catered for by host Cannon. At the conclusion of the repast, the Provincial Grand Master gave the toast of the Queen and Craft, and remarked that whether at home or abroad Her Majesty always showed much concern for the welfare of her subjects. At the present time we were engaged in an anxious war, and he need scarcely say that the sympathies of the Queen were at that moment with those suffering in Egypt. It was, therefore, at such times that they and all her subjects should sympathise with her, and he was convinced that he was reiterating the feelings of all present when he said that he wished her a speedy and happy termination of the anxiety in which she is now placed. Other Masonic and complimentary toasts were given.—Newport Pagnell Weekly Standard.

CHANGE IN THE PROPRIETORSHIP OF THE FREEMASONS' TAVERN.

ON WEDNESDAY last the above Tavern changed hands, after being under the conduct of Bro. Alfred Best for a period of five years. The well-known purveyors and caterers, Messrs. Spiers and Pond, now take possession, and we heartily wish them as much success as the previous proprietor has achieved. So highly were Bro. Alfred Best's courteous and genial qualities esteemed, that, early in the day before resigning his management, the members of the staff associated with him, in addition to a few intimate friends who desired to recognise his worth, assembled in one of the dining rooms, and presented him and his amiable wife (who, however, was unable to be present) with a very substantial testimonial, in the shape of an American organ, of the newest principles, and a music chair. Brother Terry made the presentation, in happy and choice language, while Bro. Best responded in a manner that testified more than words could possibly have done. So taken by surprise was he, that he seemed overcome by emotion, and could scarcely utter more than the plain but expressive words,—I thank you.

The Provincial Grand Lodge of Middlesex will be held, under the presidency of the R.W. Colonel Sir Francis Burdett, Bart.—P.G.S.W. of England, Representative from the Grand Lodge of Ireland, Prov. G.M.—at the Assembly Rooms, Teddington, on Saturday, 30th September, at 2.30 p.m. precisely.

THOMAS M. LAMB.

FROM THE VOICE OF MASONRY.

WHOEVER, by virtuous effort, is able to establish, make known and felt, his identity among mankind, deserves to be remembered; and when I seek for a striking example of that kind, I cannot afford to leave unnoticed the qualities exhibited in the life and character of our late friend and brother, Thomas M. Lamb.

Thomas M. Lamb was born at Worcester, Massachusetts, 26th June 1830. He inherited from his mother a delicate constitution and a keen intellect; from his father stability of purpose and sound judgment. His early education was acquired at the district school, and completed in the city high school.

Before his school life closed he expressed a desire to follow the occupation of a watchmaker and jeweller, and in due time was permitted by his parents to enter the store of S. P. Champney for the purpose of learning the trade. While engaged in this employment his recreation consisted in a series of well-directed efforts towards self-improvement and culture. About this time the Young Men's Rhetorical Society was organised for the mental and moral improvement of its members. Mr. Lamb was one of the first to distinguish himself as a clear and logical debater. He conducted a paper published by the society, wherein he first displayed his talent as a writer; and many of his productions of that early day clearly indicated a comprehensive knowledge of English composition.

31st December 1850, he was elected President of the Society. As a presiding officer he was calm, dignified, and accurate in his decisions, winning favour on all sides by his gentlemanly bearing, his acute perception and comprehension of delicate points in parliamentary practice.

13th February 1856, Mr. Champney advertised his business for sale, and on the 29th of the same month Mr. Lamb advertised his new establishment at 275 Harrington Corner, within a few feet of where he learned his trade, and where he continued in business till the time of his death.

He manifested an interest in religious affairs at an early age, and became identified with the Baptist denomination; but later in life embraced a more liberal faith, discarding all sectarianism and every form of worship as essential to the soul's salvation; but his faith in the Supreme Ruler of the Universe was never disturbed. He was conscientious to his own pecuniary disadvantage, never swerving from what he deemed to be exact justice. He was never accused of a dishonest act by an honest person, and his integrity was never questioned in the community where he lived. He was elected by his fellow citizens to fill offices of trust on several occasions, and his official duties were always discharged with rare fidelity. He was a true man, an unfaltering friend, a loyal citizen.

His Masonic life was made up of the generous impulses of an unselfish nature. He was made a Master Mason in Morning Star Lodge, at Worcester, 1st November 1859, and was Secretary of the Lodge for several years.

He was exalted to the august and sublime degree of a Royal Arch Mason in Worcester Chapter, 8th April 1864; and on the 27th October of the same year he received the Cryptic degrees in Hiram Council of Royal and Select Masters. He was created and dubbed a Knight Templar in Worcester County Commandery, Knights Templars, at Worcester, 21st April 1865.

31st October 1867, he received the degrees of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, from the 4° to the 14°, in Worcester Lodge of Perfection. He received the degrees of the Order of the Eastern Star from Past Grand Patron, Daniel Seagrave, in September 1869, and affiliated with Stella Chapter, No. 3, at Worcester, where the said Chapter was organised in 1871. He was elected Worthy Patron, 13th December 1876, and continued in office four years. He was elected Grand Secretary of the Grand Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star for Massachusetts, at its organisation, 11th December 1876, and held the office till 13th May 1879. He was elected Grand Patron 13th May 1879, and continued in office two years. He was elected Most Worthy Grand Patron of the General Grand Chapter of the Order, 10th May 1878, and held the office till 20th August 1880. He was chairman of the committee appointed to arrange and publish the Ritual of the Order, and that document shows how well his labours were performed. He was appointed committee on foreign correspondence by the Grand Chapter of Massachusetts for the year 1879, and re-appointed 10th May 1881. He was elected a life member of Stella Chapter 26th January 1880.

It will be seen by the above record that the Masonic career of Brother Lamb has been alike honourable to himself and to the Fraternity. His death occurred at Worcester, 29th December, 1881, after an illness of only five days. The community was shocked at the announcement of his death—so sudden and unexpected—and the large assembly gathered at the church on the day of his funeral bore unmistakable testimony to his worth as a man and a Mason.

He was one of the few men who never assumed a false position for gain; nor could he be persuaded by sophistry or logic, or compelled by any human authority, to forget or surrender the title Nature gave him to the highest type of manhood.

SPHINX LODGE, 1329.

ON Saturday afternoon the brethren of the above popular Lodge assembled at the Masonic Hall, Camberwell New-road, for the purpose of transacting some important business in connection with Masonry in general, and their Lodge in particular. Precisely at the time for which the Lodge had been convened, the W.M., Brother J. R. Richards, opened the proceedings. He was supported by the following Officers, namely, Bros. J. S. Mansell S.W., A. Middlemass J.W., J. Hernaman Sec., J. J. Brinton J.D., G. W. Marsden jun. I.G., Forbes Steward, B. R. Bryant I.P.M., P.M.'s Bros. G. T. Bickerton and H. Bickerstaff; also Bros. J. C. Bradly, R. Irvine, C. Gooding, C. Wilson, A. Parnacott, C. Lye, S. H. Goldschmidt, R. J. Voisey, C. F. Cockle, Dr. C. Gross, H. S. Bigg, T. E. Webb, W. Andrews, T. E. Heller, J. Turney, A. W. Hall, T. H. Woodward, J. E. Knox, G. P. Britten, C. J. Tyrrell, Brooks, G. T. Allen, D. D. Mercer, and F. G. Lewin. The visitors present were Bros. J. Howes J.D. West Smithfield 1623, R. J. Vincent S.W. and V. F. Murche Crichton Lodge 1641, John Hodges E.A. Duke of Albany Lodge 1963, and A. Clark Wickham Lodge 1924. The Lodge being opened in the first degree, the minutes of the preceding meeting were read and confirmed. Bros. Permewan, Heller, and Mercer were unanimously appointed an Audit Committee. They will meet for the despatch of business on the first Saturday in November. The election of W.M. for the ensuing year was then proceeded with in the usual manner. On the voting papers being examined, the W.M. announced that the choice of the Lodge had fallen on Bro. S. Mansell, but the voting had not been unanimous, inasmuch as several brethren had recorded their votes in favour of Bros. Middlemass, Heller, Bryant, and Nairne. However, the W.M. declared Bro. Mansell duly elected. Bro. J. C. Reynolds sen., who was unanimously re-elected Treasurer, was unfortunately absent. Bro. Harrison was chosen as Tyler. At this stage of the afternoon's proceedings a most interesting incident ensued. The W.M. vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Voisey, W.M. of the Duke of Albany 1963, who passed to the second degree Bro. T. Hodges an E.A. of that Lodge. During this solemn and impressive ceremony the chair of S.W. was occupied by Brother R. T. Vincent, and the J.W.'s chair by Bro. C. Wilson; Bro. V. T. Murche—also of the above Lodge—in conjunction with Bro. J. J. Brinton of the Sphinx, acting as Deacons. We should be omitting a duty if we failed to notice the efficient manner in which the brethren visitors conducted the ceremony. At the close of the passing, the Officers of the Sphinx Lodge resumed their respective positions, and the business appertaining to the Lodge proper was continued. Later on Bro. Britten P.M. proposed that a jewel and collar be presented to Bro. J. R. Richards, in recognition of his services as W.M. This was seconded by Brother B. R. Bryant I.P.M., and carried unanimously. The W.M., in some well chosen remarks, acknowledged the appreciation of his services. The Lodge was then closed in due form, and the brethren adjourned to the banquetting-room, where, under the direction of Brother H. Forbes, the esteemed and indefatigable Steward, Brother Slawson, of 736 Old Kent-road, had in readiness a most substantial repast, which, as usual, elicited the unqualified approbation of the brethren. On removal of the cloth, the loyal and patriotic toast was given from the chair, and was followed by that of the M.W. Grand Master the Prince of Wales, the R.W. Bro. the Earl of Carnarvon Pro Grand Master, R.W. Bro. the Earl of Lathom Deputy G.M., and the Officers of Grand Lodge. Bro. I.P.M. Bryant then proposed the health of the W.M., remarking that Bro. Richards' year of office had been far from a propitious one to him personally, owing to his ill health; nevertheless, under such untoward circumstances, he had maintained the prestige of the Lodge; and, as far as possible, had most carefully attended to the important duties associated with his office. It had been a source of comfort to them that evening to have him once more among them, and, in addition, to witness the able manner he had filled the chair. He (Bro. Bryant) was pleased to know that—with one exception—their respected W.M. had been supported by willing and efficient Officers, who knew their duties and had well performed them, even under great personal inconvenience. There was much comfort afforded to a Master of a Lodge when he knew that he was surrounded by those in whom he could place reliance, and whose co-operation could be depended upon when unforeseen circumstances arose. There had been a vast amount of work done in the Lodge during the past year—most important work—inasmuch as the number of brethren initiated had rapidly increased. That work had been gone through most admirably. Moreover, this could not fail to afford satisfaction to their W.M., whose term of office was at that moment expiring, owing to effluxion of time. Although on previous occasions their W.M. had been, from dire necessity, compelled to delegate the duties of his office to others, on that occasion he was himself again. With his wonted ability he had taken his place in their midst, and he (the speaker) felt assured that all who heard him would endorse the hope that his health would be restored to him, and that as a P.M. he may be spared to occupy a position among them for many a long year to come. The W.M. thanked the brethren for their kindness and sympathy. During his year of office, as had been remarked, most untoward circumstances had arisen, in consequence of his health having been affected; but he had been supported under his trials by knowing that he had efficient Officers, who possessed the knowledge and the ability to conduct the business of the Lodge. He might ask himself what he had done to merit their approbation and recognition? but could not elicit a satisfactory reply. Therefore, he felt the more grateful to them for the considerate kindness and fraternal sympathy which had been so unreservedly manifested by all the brethren. The Past Masters, likewise, had rendered him invaluable aid, and he should cherish the associations of his year of office—so far at least as the Lodge was concerned—with infinite pleasure and thankfulness. The W.M. then proposed the health of the W.M. elect, in some exceedingly appropriate remarks, and Bro. Mansell acknowledged the compliment, assuring the brethren that he would emulate the actions of his predecessors. The W.M. next proposed the health of the Visitors, and expressed the pleasure it had afforded him to witness the passing of a Brother by the brethren of the Albany Lodge. Bro. Vincent, in responding to the compliment, passed a warm eulogium on the members of the Sphinx Lodge for allowing the ceremony to take place. He had, on former occasions, been a guest there, and had experienced considerate kindness at the hands of the brethren of the Lodge, for which, on behalf of himself and those who had taken part in the passing, he heartily thanked them. The W.M. then proposed the health of the Past Masters of the Lodge, to which I.P.M. Bryant responded. The Worshipful Master having alluded to the Treasurer and Secretary, Bros. J. Hernaman and J. C. Reynolds, proposed their health in complimentary terms. Bro. Hernaman, in a most eloquent speech, replied thereto. The Worshipful Master, in proposing the health of the Wardens and Officers of the Lodge, stated that no Master could have better Officers than he had had during his term. He was proud of them, and so also was the Lodge. Bro. Middlemass J.W. responded, in a speech of great force and appropriate allusion and expression. The W.M. said that they were all indebted to Bro. Forbes, their Steward, who ministered to their creature comforts with unceasing care and attention. It was self-evident that Bro. Forbes did not consider himself; he took all possible pains to make them comfortable. He seemed to anticipate the taste of each one among them, and so long as he had been their Steward he had been unremitting in discharging his onerous duties. Bro. Forbes assured the W.M. and brethren that he would render true service, without lack of energy. So long as he was Steward his best services were at their command. He had not anticipated so many brethren being present that evening. Had he been aware that so many would have been in attendance, he would have provided a different menu for them. At that season of the year, as a rule, but few brethren attended. They should have told him of their intention of being present; fortunately, however, there had been enough and to spare. The Tyler's toast concluded the proceedings. Bros. Vincent, Gooding, Murche and Hernaman, by their excellent vocalisation and recitations, contributed to the enjoyment of the evening.

West Middlesex Lodge of Instruction, No. 1612, Ealing.—This flourishing Lodge has recently been compelled, in consequence of illness in the family of Bro. Stephens, to seek other quarters; and a Committee was duly appointed to consider the matter, and decide on the permanent arrangements to be made for the future. After carefully looking into the various proposals submitted to them, it was formed that there was a preliminary difficulty in selecting a place, owing to the Thursday nights being otherwise engaged; and, although with some reluctance, the Committee decided that there was no alternative but to recommend that the Lodge should meet at the Ealing Institute, on Tuesday evenings, at 7.30, in the same rooms as are now used by the mother Lodge, and the first meeting under the new arrangement was held on Tuesday, 19th September, when, considering the inclemency of the weather, there was a very good attendance of the brethren, and much satisfaction was expressed at the completeness of the arrangements made by the Committee. Indeed, when all is in working order, there is no doubt that the new arrangement will be a perfect success. Brother C. Andrews P.M., who has taken a great deal of interest in the change, had been selected to preside, but to the regret of the brethren, he was unable to attend, on account of illness, and in his absence the chair was taken by Bro. H. E. Tucker Preceptor and W.M. elect of the mother Lodge. Bro. Tucker was supported by the following Officers: Bros. G. Coop S.W., T. A. Smith J.W., J. R. Fence S.D., C. W. Cunningham J.D., J. Green I.G., J. Wells Sec.; and amongst the other brethren present were noticed the following:—A. J. Burr P.M., J. J. Clarke, E. C. Porter, H. Danby, Vassey, and Sherman.

Lodge opened in second and third degrees, and resumed to second, when Bro. P.M. Webb, according to promise, rehearsed the ceremony of installation, in a very efficient and praiseworthy manner, Bro. Roberts, W.M. of the mother Lodge, serving as W.M. elect. This brother subsequently appointed and invested the Officers. Bro. Shadler resumed the chair, and Bro. Haslip answered the questions leading to the second degree and was entrusted. Lodge resumed to second degree, and Bro. Haslip passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. Lodge resumed, and Bro. Haslip, W.M. New Concord Lodge 813, was elected a member. Bro. Posener was appointed to fulfil the duties of W.M. for next Tuesday evening, when it is hoped there will be a good attendance, the efficiency of the working of the W.M. elect being known to many of the brethren. Lodge closed and adjourned. We are requested to state that the Prosperity Chapter of Instruction will shortly open at Bro. Maidwell's, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street.

Eboracum Lodge, No. 1612.—The regular monthly meeting was held on Monday, the 11th inst. Bro. G. Simpson W.M. was in the chair, and there were also present Bros. J. T. Seller I.P.M., T. B. Whytehead P.M., J. S. Cumberland P.M., E. Balmford P.M., P. H. Rowland P.M., C. G. Padel P.M. (who acted as S.W.), B. Millington J.W., with the rest of the Officers and many brethren and visitors. A ballot was taken for a candidate; it proved successful. Bro. J. S. Cumberland moved a resolution standing in his name, relating to the Lodge bye-laws, and ultimately it was referred to a committee to report at the next meeting. Two Auditors were appointed for the annual examination of Lodge accounts. A circular from the Prov. Grand Secretary at Hull was read, asking for the opinion of the Lodge on the proposed increase of fifty per cent. on the Lodge quarterages, and an unanimous resolution was passed condemning the proposal, several members expressing an opinion that the sums granted in relief by the Board of Benevolence were often much too large. Bro. T. B. Whytehead then explained to the brethren the alterations that had been made by the committee appointed last year at Hull in the Provincial regulations, a draft of which would be submitted to the Prov. Grand Lodge at Northallerton on the 5th October, and a general opinion was expressed that the amended rules would be in many ways advantageous. Bro. Whytehead also gave a summarised account of the proposed alterations in the Grand Lodge Constitutions, pointing out the superiority of the new code. Bro. Cumberland expressed a hope that the question of the position of Past Masters would be finally and thoroughly settled, in which opinion all on the dais heartily concurred. There being no other business, the W.M. invited the J.W., Bro. Millington, to essay the work of the first degree. Bro. Millington having taken a seat on the dais, then appointed Bro. Turner to act as J.W., and rehearsed the initiation ceremony with excellent effect, and was afterwards congratulated by the Past Masters on his success. The Lodge work being resumed, Bro. Whytehead presented to the library several books, reports, &c. Two names of candidates for Freemasonry were proposed, and the Lodge was closed.

Brixton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1949.—On Tuesday evening last, the 19th inst., at Bro. Monk's, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, Brixton. In the absence of the W.M. for the week, Bro. Phillips, the esteemed Treasurer of the Lodge, was called to the chair. Lodge being opened in due form, and the minutes of the two previous meetings read and confirmed, the W.M. rehearsed the ceremonies of initiation and passing. On the motion of Bro. Francis Preceptor, it was resolved that the Lodge should pay a fraternal visit, on the 18th October next, to the Panmure Lodge of Instruction, Balham; and it was also resolved that the Lodge should visit the Loughboro' Lodge of Instruction on the 9th October next. One new member having been elected, and routine business transacted, Lodge was closed in due form.

The return home of Bro. Captain Lord Charles Beresford, R.N., was expected to take place either yesterday or to-day (Saturday).

THE OCTOBER ELECTION OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

AS usual, the ballot paper for the Boys' School Election presents a very different appearance to that of the sister Institution. While in the case of the Girls' School the number of applicants is twenty, and the vacancies to be filled seven, the numbers as exhibited by the return issued from the Boys' School are far more out of proportion, there being as many as sixty-two applicants, of whom but twelve are to be admitted. As stated in our last issue, there have been two withdrawals since the return was sent out from the office, namely, No. 10, R. A. L. Hill, who brought forward three votes from four previous elections; and No. 43, W. R. Worthington, who had 240 to his credit from the last election. We understand that in the former case the circumstances of the family have so much improved as to enable them to withdraw their application, and so make room for some one else. We think that a few more names might be removed from the list of candidates for a similar reason; there are more than one or two there whose friends are far better able to provide for their maintenance than are the majority of the men who are asked to subscribe to our Institutions. It is a somewhat difficult matter to know which of the remaining sixty are most worthy of consideration; but there are a few who, in the eyes of many, need it more than others. We allude to the last application cases, doubtless this is the position least admitting of delay; with them it is a question of now or never, and accordingly we will devote attention to them first, at the same time we are far from believing they are of necessity the most deserving. There may occasionally be among the "last applications" children whose friends might, without much extra struggling, very well afford to provide the necessaries of life for their charges, while, on the other hand, children with four or five opportunities before them may die of want before their chance of special reference as a "last application" may arrive.

There are seven cases to which the time limit rule will apply, and these, unless they are elected on the present occasion, will be removed from the list of applicants. Of them, three at least appear to have some chance of securing admission, namely—No. 2, H. A. Ecclestone, who starts with 1603 votes to his credit; No. 1, W. V. B. Jones, who has 1182; and No. 20, G. S. Jones, who has polled 1134. The two former have already stood five ballots each, and the latter three; so that although they severally have something substantial to start with, they have not obtained it without persistent efforts. We suppose it is hardly necessary to urge on the friends of these candidates the necessity of working hard, if they desire to be successful. The voting at the last election is the best lesson we can point to—on that occasion there were fifteen vacancies, the polling for which ranged from 3002 to 2050. According to that, something considerably over 2000 must be polled at the next election to stand a chance. No. 2 appears to be an only child dependent on a widowed mother; the case is accredited to Hong Kong, the father having been initiated in 1876; dying about twelve months later. No. 1 hails from N. and E. Yorkshire, and is one of a family of three, who also have to depend on their mother; their father, a late member of the York Lodge, died in July 1879. No. 20 is one of seven similarly circumstanced; his father, a late member of the Province of South Wales West Division, having died in October 1880. Of the other "last" cases, No. 30, C. P. O'Doherty, who has stood two previous elections, has 631 votes to the good; he is one of three children for whom a widowed mother has to provide; his father was a member of the United Strength Lodge, London. No. 21, T. M. Nicholas, who now makes his third application, is one of a family of six dependent children; the father is alive, but that fact should prove an additional claim on the benevolence of the Craft, as he is paralysed. He hails from the Royal Lebanon Lodge, Gloucestershire, and will, we hope, get sufficient support from that quarter to relieve him of the charge of the child now seeking election; doubtless many will wish, as we do, that it were possible to take on all such cases without the trouble of election. No. 37, R. E. Searle, has made but one previous application, and as the result thereof starts with 45 votes to his credit. These will not be of much use, we admit, but let us hope that ere long they will be increased by fifty times that number. Kent, to which the case is accredited, has been able to do that before, and can do it again, if, in the eyes of its representatives, the case appears the most deserving of those submitted to them. In this instance the father is dead, and there are seven children for the mother to provide for. No. 22—G. Potter—has but 40 votes from his two previous attempts. His also is a Kentish case, so that the brethren of that district will have their work to do; he is one of a family of five, all dependent on a widowed mother.

"Neither parent living," is the condition in which four of the remaining candidates are placed, and these we think are really the cases which have the heaviest claim on us. In the case of No. 61, T. E. Pawsey, there are four children in the family, besides the candidate, who are dependent on the benevolence of friends. The case is accredited to Somersetshire, of which Province, the father, as a member of Royal Cumberland Lodge, No. 41, belonged. The lad is young, but let us hope he may ere long secure a home in the Institution at Wood Green. No. 24—A. W. Wyatt—another of the parentless candidates, is one of a family of whom there are still four dependent. The friends have been successful in securing the election of a sister into the Girls' School, and we trust they will have similar fortune with the lad now under notice; they bring forward 242 votes from two previous elections. There are also four parentless children in the family of which No. 59, H. E. Hippey, is a member; the present is the first application. We hope that the brethren of Oxfordshire, to which district the case is accredited, will be enabled to secure sufficient votes to obtain for the lad a place in the School at no distant date. The other parentless canditate is No. 35, R. A. Sykes, who contested a first election in April last, on which occasion 316 votes were polled for him. He appears to be the only child dependent, and no doubt West Lancashire, the Province of which his father was a member, will take good care of him, provided, of course, they find him deserving.

Most of the other candidates have lost their father, no less than forty-five of the remaining forty-nine being so circumstanced. Of these, No. 6, C. P. Liversidge, is a member of a family of nine now dependent on a widowed mother, the lad brings forward 574 votes, having stood four elections. His father was a member of the Sir Watkin Lodge, No. 1477 (North Wales and Salop), and died in 1877. No. 16, F. F. Skelton, who has a sister in the Girls' School, is one of seven remaining dependent children, he has 740 votes to his credit, having already taken part in three elections; his father was a member of Lodge No. 147, London, and is one of the few of those whose children now seek election against whom something in the way of support to the Charities in the past can be recorded. No. 53, W. B. Townsend, now appears for the first time—he likewise has a sister in the Girls' School, and he also is a member of a family of seven dependent children. His father was S.W. of the Prince of Wales Lodge, No. 959, London. No. 56, F. F. Coleman, first application, is one of a family of seven dependent on a widowed mother. His father was a member of the Province of Oxfordshire (Cherwell Lodge, No. 599), the brethren of which, it will thus be seen, have more than one important case on hand. There are five instances in which families of six are still dependent on widowed mothers. No. 5, G. W. K. Hill, who comes forward for the sixth time, has 1426 votes to his credit, with a good chance of receiving enough more to secure a place in the School, that is if the Lodge of which the father was a member—the New Concord, No. 813,—takes the election in hand. No. 27, J. H. Hurden, a Warwickshire lad, has 22 votes forward from two previous attempts; we may safely leave his case in the hands of his father's Province. No. 29, A. J. Tettenborn, has also stood two elections, his total now being 205. This is accredited as a Norfolk case, but we think it will be better known as a London one, the father having joined the Metropolitan Lodge, No. 1507. The lad has many friends, who will doubtless use every effort to secure his early return. We confidently anticipate he will be successful sooner or later. The next case in this section is No. 48, T. Woodward, who comes forward, for the second time, with 132 votes polled on his behalf. His father was once W.M. of the Inhabitants Lodge at Gibraltar, and assisted as a founder of the Meridian Lodge, No. 743. No. 62, H. A. High, the last on the present list, appears now for the first time. His father was connected with three Lodges, and has a good amount of work for the Charities accredited to him. Let us hope, now that they are in need of it, his family may receive assistance from the Institutions their father supported in his lifetime. No. 8, T. W. Crabb, one of a family of five fatherless children, has 1721 votes to his credit, from four previous elections; his case is accredited to Staffordshire, the father having held the rank of S.W. in the St. John's Lodge, No. 1039, there. No. 13, C. E. Stewart, a London candidate, brings forward 1112 votes from three previous elections in which he has taken part, his father was a member of No. 45—The Strong Man Lodge—London. If the brethren work in the matter we think his family will have reason to be thankful he joined this Lodge. There are many energetic Masons belonging to it, who will, doubtless, take care that the son of one of their old members is not overlooked. No. 23, E. H. Simpson, has a brother in Christ's Hospital, but there are still five children of the family dependent on the widowed mother. This is a Hampshire case, and the candidate has already stood two elections, from which he brings forward 249 votes. No. 34, R. W. Delafons (London), has a sister in the Girls' School; he has received 183 votes at the one election he has already taken part in. No. 40, H. M. Hare, has also a sister in the Girls' School, while 657 votes were recorded in his favour at the April election of the Boys'. He is accredited to Hertfordshire, some of the most prominent members of which Province are energetically working to secure his election. No. 47, F. C. V. Basham, from Essex, made a fair start in April last, on which occasion 213 votes were recorded on his behalf. His father was a member of Star in the East Lodge, No. 650, for many years, and occupied various offices of trust, both in connection with his own Lodge and the Province. No. 52, G. H. Sutcliffe, Middlesex; No. 55, A. Chiesman, East Lancashire; and No. 60, R. A. L. Mitchell, Devon, are the remaining cases in which families of five dependent children remain; each now appears for the first time, so that there is little that can be said as to their chance of ultimate success. There are eight cases in which the candidates are respectively members of families of four dependent on their widowed mother. No. 15, J. B. Windross, son of a late member of the Sun, Square and Compasses Lodge, No. 119, Cumberland and Westmoreland, has already stood three elections, but only brings forward 42 votes. No. 26, W. J. Pringle, can only boast of 9, after two attempts; but we think that result is not so much owing to want of support as it is evidence of organisation in the Province to which the case is accredited, viz.—Warwick. There is little fear of the lad being neglected if it comes within the power of the Warwickshire brethren to help him. No. 31, F. W. Bell, from South Wales East Division, first appeared on the ballot sheet for April last, and on that occasion received three votes; we hope his total will soon present a more cheerful appearance. No. 45, L. C. Hooper, is put down to London, he has 329 votes in hand from April last, and being fairly circumstanced as regards age, may ultimately find a place among "Our Boys." No. 46, H. H. Tustin, has about as good a prospect as any one on the list. He has only tried once—in April last—and was then enabled to score 1151 votes. His father was a member of the Royal Kensington Lodge, No. 1627, in which, at the time of his death, he occupied the position of S.W. and W.M. elect. The support accorded to his child gives strong evidence that the respect shown him in his lifetime, by electing him to the chair of his Lodge, is continued now that he is dead. No. 54, J. E. Walters, first application, from the Joppa Lodge, No. 188, London, has a sister in the Girls' School; the present is his first appearance on the list, and we venture to predict that when his name disappears from it, it will be to appear among the "successful." No. 57, A. K. Bowes, son of a most energetic brother, well known in the Northern counties, comes next in order, he is accredited to the Western Division of Lancashire, a county in which his father was too well known to leave much doubt that his child will be warmly supported. No. 58, W. J. Hodge, closes this section of the list, his father was a P.M. of the Rural Philanthropic Lodge, No. 291, Somersetshire, and at one time filled the office of Provincial Grand Director of Ceremonies.

It may perhaps be considered somewhat unjust to pass over the remaining candidates without special reference to each, but really the list is such a long one that it becomes a matter of difficulty to find words of encouragement for all. Doubtless there are many among the candidates remaining unnoticed who are as meritorious as those we have already pointed out, but we have adopted our present plan in the hope of referring to some of the most deserving; taking first the last application cases, next those in which neither parent is living, and then those in which the largest families remain to be provided for, and in doing so think we have done the best we can with the small statement of particulars at our disposal. Among those remaining are some with good scores already in hand, notably No. 14, G. W. Taylor, a Middlesex lad, member of a family of three who have lost their father. He has 1842 votes forward, from three previous elections. No. 7, W. B. Stanford, brings 1468 votes forward, from four previous attempts; he also is one of three left fatherless, and is accredited to Norfolk. No. 18, C. J. Crow, of Lincolnshire, has a sister in the Girls' School. There is one other child dependent on the mother, in addition to the candidate now on the list, for whom, by the bye, 1326 votes have been polled, at the last three elections. No. 12, C. J. Sanderson, an only dependent child, from the Province of Kent, has 1198 votes to his credit, the result of three previous attempts. No. 28, A. H. Botting, and No. 17, G. C. Willett, follow pretty close so far as totals are concerned, the former having 1185 votes in hand and the latter 1183; the former has, however, only tried twice before, whilst the latter has already contested three times.

Of the cases outside the heads under which we have subdivided them on this occasion, there are four. No. 19, C. B. Cummings is one of six children who have lost their mother; the lad for whom the benefits of the School are sought has 94 votes in hand, from three elections. In cases of this nature—where the father is living—we think the general body of subscribers should demand some particulars of the case, showing why the application has been approved. Both parents are alive in the case of No. 25, J. P. Templeman, and there are two children now dependent on them. The candidate before us has secured 1564 votes, at two elections. We will assume this is a fit and proper case for the Institution; but why is not some reason given to show that the parents are unable to undertake the education and maintenance of their two children? The same may, in a great measure be said of No. 39, A. Pratt, who has a sister in the Girls' School, and were it not that we personally know something of the case, we should call for more particulars. Here, however, we can see that Bro. Pratt has been in good standing, as his record of services on behalf of the Institutions show, while the fact of his petitions to both the Boys' and the Girls' Schools having been accepted testify he is not in that position now.

We hope to see his son amongst the successful at no distant date. He has already had 309 votes recorded in his favour. No. 51, R. Beaumont, is a new case. The parents are both living, and so are ten children who are dependent on them. The father was initiated in the Faithful Lodge, No. 85, Norfolk, and is returned as W.M. thereof. Further than this we know nothing, but would suggest to the petitioner that it would be to his benefit if some reason were assigned for his being compelled to appeal to his brethren, and perhaps if he pointed the matter out doubtless the authorities at the Institution would find a means of supplying the desired information, not only in his case but in that of others.

We cannot close this article without expressing our determination to persevere in our effort to induce the authorities to supply information from which it might be possible for all to judge the merits of the several candidates. If this were done fully we think a large number of undeserving cases could be picked out. On the other hand, others might be discovered in which assistance would be a blessing, and lead up to exercise of the truest charity.

In our review, last week, of the Girls' School Ballot Paper, when speaking of No. 14, B. A. Cookes, we said that some further information in reference to the case would be acceptable to the general body of subscribers; we did so because the father, who is still living, is returned as W.M. of his Lodge, and we could hardly imagine a W.M. during his year of office seeking the aid of one of our Schools It seems, however, that in this case, as in most others where the rank is given as W.M., a mistake has been made in the preparation of the ballot papers, the fact really being that the brethren have been W.M. of their Lodge. The Masonic rank should be recorded as P.M. We believe the same error occurs in the case of the Boys' School List.

MIXED BLOOD IN LOUISIANA.

IN New Orleans a trace of negro blood is never forgotten—the record is preserved for centuries. Some twenty years ago a member of one of our first families was elected to the City Council. His opponent objected to his being sworn in, on the ground that he had negro blood in his veins and was ineligible to office. To test the question, the gentleman against whom this charge was made brought a suit for damages, declining in the meanwhile to take his seat in the Council until the matter was determined. The records of the old parish church of St. Louis, now the cathedral, were investigated, and the ancestry of the plaintiff traced back until it was found that one of his ancestors, at the beginning of the last century, had been an "esclave"—a slave. He acknowledged this, but replied that this slave was not a negress, but an Indian squaw.

In the colonial days of Louisiana the French reduced the Choctaws and Horemas to slavery, and at one time New Orleans boasted of as many redskin slaves as Guinea negroes. These Indians have long since melted away into the African race, like the bead and basket Indian of Niagara, and are represented to-day by a race of mestizoes, mixing the blood of all three races, the white, black, and red. It is a common boast of many New Orleans coloured people that they are of Indian rather than of negro descent. The white people laugh at this negro vanity, but it is more half than true, as is proven by the aquiline noses and straight stiff hair to be seen on some of the very blackest negroes. Then the damage suit rested on the question whether this slave ancestor was Choctaw or Congo. This, of course, could only be determined by oral testimony. The oldest inhabitant was called in for testimony. An incident occurred in this case probably without parallel since the days of Methuselah. An ancient creole dame, who had been called on to testify as to the race of this Marie, recalled the fact that she (Marie) had kept a shop on Chartres-street, before the big fire that burned that portion of the city. Nobody remembered this fire, and Marten's "History of Louisiana" had to be brought into court to find the date of the conflagration. It was then discovered that it had occurred just a century before. This testimony of the witness could scarcely be credited, and she was carefully cross-examined. She never wavered for a second, but proved conclusively that she could relate from personal knowledge and observation, facts occurring more than a century previous. The old lady claimed to be 120, perhaps an exaggeration of ten years or so, but the most thorough cross-examination left the fact legally established that her memory covered the space of more than a century. The decision in the case was in favour of the plaintiff.

Not so lucky was the plaintiff in a similar suit just after the war, when things had changed somewhat. This gentleman was a candidate for a high, or rather for a lucrative, office worth over 50,000 dollars a year. An opposition newspaper overhauled his record, and charged him with being a traitor to the Confederate cause, having deserted the Confederate army in the field; and, furthermore, with being of negro blood. These two charges, by-the-bye, elected him to office, for the negro and Union elements happened to be in a majority just then; but, far from pleased with his good fortune, he brought a suit for libel and damages against the offending journal. He was promptly ruled out of court. The Republican judge held that "negro" was not an approbrious or libellous term, and it was no insult to call a man a negro, and that certainly no action could lie for showing that he preferred the Union to the rebel cause.

About this time mixed blood was at a premium, because of its immense benefit in politics, and men who in their colour and features did not betray the slightest trace of negro ancestry actually boasted of it. A curious case was that of a Republican ward leader. He was a native New Orleanean of Spanish descent. His mother, a fine old creole, come from one of the West Indies, and clung patriotically to the dress of her native isle, a style unfortunately very familiar to that worn by the creole darkies. Her son lived in a negro ward, and required negro votes to elect him. Being hard pressed in a race for the Legislature, he hit on the novel and brilliant idea of passing himself off as a quadroon, which, thanks to the dark complexion of his Spanish blood, he was very well able to do. He took a number of his coloured constituents around to his house, pointed to his mother and her coloured head kerchief, and claimed to be of African lineage, and thus the old lady, possessed of all the bitter race prejudice of the West Indian against mixed blood, was made a most effective electoral card, until one day her whole history was shown up, and Charlie, being discovered to be a white man and a fraud, was relegated to private life.

This head kerchief, by-the-bye, is a fatal emblem in Louisiana, and one of her sons, prominent in the councils of the State and nation, has had the charge of negro blood brought publicly against him, on no other foundation than the fact that his grandmother wore this kind of headgear.

Outside of politics, however, the old prejudice continued as strong as ever. A Westerner came down here just after the war to get out a directory of the city. He unfortunately determined to distinguish between whites and blacks, and instead of simply giving "John Smith, carpenter, 530 Adole-street," made it "John Smith, coloured." The book had been printed and bound, and was just about being delivered, when the discovery was made that the fatal word "coloured" was placed against the name of one of our most prominent white merchants, and, unfortunately, one of swarthy complexion. There was only one way of escaping a libel suit, a duel, or perhaps something worse—to out out the offending word. The directory man did so, but it cost him several hundred dollars, and left his book badly mutilated. The accident had its lesson, for the word "coloured" was then finally and for ever dropped from our directories, which now refuse to recognise any difference of race, colour, or previous condition.

There is a family living in New Orleans completely white, but whose negro blood is indisputable and undenied. Unfortunately for the younger members, the old grandmother, through whom the African blood comes, survives, and instead of getting rid of this troublesome death's head, this ancient female, an octoroon, still resides with them. She being one-eighth negro, the present generation of girls is, consequently, one-thirty-second part coloured. This would seem to make them white, but public opinion in Louisiana, like Congress in the Vallandigham-Campbell contest, holds that one drop of blood in 100 of white contaminates. The girls are ideal blondes. Being handsome and personally attractive, they entertain many male visitors, and generally wind up their career by marrying well—and white men, of course. A young man of very good family was married to one of the girls some years ago. The fruit of their union is a child which is, of course, just one sixty-fourth part coloured, By one of those curious freaks common, however, in cases of heredity, this child shows, in an exaggerated form, all the features of its negro ancestors. It is perfectly white, but a white negro, at least in feature. Its hair is woolly, its mouth protrudes, its nose is flat, and its lips are large and sensual. After several generations the original African type is produced. It is accidents such as this, only too frequent, that frighten susceptible young men from miscegenation, more surely than the stories frequently told and implicitly believed before the war that the mulatto race became sterile at the fourth or fifth generation, and that the descendants were subject to a most horrible disease resembling leprosy that spotted the skin and caused the teeth to drop out.

Before the war the two races were mixing with such extraordinary rapidity that it was a mere question of time when the last pure-blooded African would disappear. Freedom has stopped miscegenation. The quadroon and octoroon girls, who were without prospect in the old days, now marry the leading coloured men who have worked their way up to prominence and a comfortable fortune, if not wealth. Thus the negroes of Louisiana are growing darker yearly instead of lighter. There is a perceptible decrease in the families of mixed descent, and a continued increase in those of pure negro blood.

[The above article, which appeared in a New York paper of recent date, proves that the statements made from time to time by Bro. Jacob Norton as to the prejudice against negroes are not in the least exaggerated. The prevailing antipathy of New Orleans of to-day is a fair representation of the New York of half a century ago.—ED. F.C.]

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—During the autumn months, when the atmospheric changes are alike sudden and extreme, it is a subject for grave and serious consideration how the health can be best preserved. An occasional alterative, like these Pills, will be the surest preventive of disease, because it overcomes all derangements of the system, purifies and regulates the circulation, and gives that needful energy to the nervous structures which carries the frame triumphantly through trials to which the weak and sickly would succumb. Neuralgic pains and rheumatic agonies derive present and permanent relief from diligent friction with Holloway's Ointment, which, acting as a derivative, releases the gorged and irritated blood vessels from their congestion, and the nerves from pressure.

A. AND A. RITE IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

By Bro. Jacob Norton.

IN my recent letter on the newly discovered R.A. Ritual, printed 24th June, I quoted from Marconnay's introduction as follows:—

"This copy was made by the undersigned [Marconnay] at New York in 1833, from a copy of Count De Saint Laurent," &c.

The name of Marconnay and his doings I remembered very well, but the Count's name slipped my memory. On perusing, however, a Scotch Rite pamphlet recently issued by Bro. E. T. Carson, of Cincinnati, I came across the name of Count de St. Laurent, thus proving that the said Count de St. Laurent was in New York during the latter part of 1832, and doubtless remained there until 1833. I must, however, here premise that since the first decade of this century, our American Scotch Riters were divided into hostile factions, and the champions of each faction invariably denounced all the other factions as spurious, illegitimate, clandestine, &c., but maintained that his own faction was the only Simon Pure thing alive. My esteemed Bro. Carson is not an exception to the rule, as the following introduction of the Count will show. Bro. Carson says:—

"The Hicks' Supreme Council was a spurious Masonic Scotch Rite body. It was organised in 1827, at New York, as the Supreme Council of the United States of America, their territories, and dependencies, and disbanded in November 1832. On the same day Hicks, in conjunction with a Masonic adventurer, a Frenchman, with the title of Count St. Laurent, a coloured gentleman, opened another spurious Supreme Council under the following stunning title:—'The United Supreme Council for the Western Hemisphere (legally and solemnly formed of the Old Supreme Councils of New Spain, of Terra Firma, and South America, from one sea to the other, Canary Islands, &c. &c., and of the Old Supreme Council of the United States of North America, sitting at the E. of New York.'" (To which Bro. Carson adds), "This celebrated Treaty of Masonic Union, &c., purports to be signed by legally authorised representatives of the New York, or Hicks' Supreme Council, the Supreme Council of France, and the Supreme Council of Brasil sitting at the East of Rio de Janeiro."

It seems to me that whenever an advocate brings in the religion or race of an opponent, simply because that religion or race happens to be unpopular, that that itself is a prima facie evidence of his consciousness of the weakness of his cause, and such was the case with Bro. Carson's specially informing us that the Count was a "coloured gentleman." Ragon, who evidently despised the high grades, with all their aiders and abettors, including Count St. Laurent, did not seem to know about his negro extraction, nor does Dr. Folger, who was a Mason in New York about or very near 1833. For these and other reasons I propose to take issue with Bro. Carson upon that question, thus:

I settled in Boston in 1842. About seven years before my arrival, a Boston mob would have murdered Mr. W. L. Garrison, the abolitionist, if the militia had not been called out to quell the riot. The great moralist, Dr. W. E. Channing, shirked (out of fear) the slavery question. In white men's churches, as well as the theatres, the negro had to sit in the negro's gallery, and it was a prison offence for clergymen to unite in marriage a black and white person. In 1842, the Boston anti-slavery party numbered about a dozen persons. In spite of the then prevailing prejudices, they kept up their annual meetings, and these meetings were invariably disturbed by rowdies at the instigation of Boston respectabilities. Mr. Wendel Phillips was the only anti-slavery speaker who could curb the mob, and make them sit quiet while he was speaking, in spite of prejudices, and in spite of the respectabilities. In those days, no hotel or boarding house kept by a white man would have allowed a coloured person to enter the house save and except as a servant (and this prejudice has not entirely ceased up to this day), and, of course, coloured children had to attend coloured schools only. Such was the case in Boston. In New York it was even worse; there a coloured person could not ride in the same car or omnibus wherein white persons rode, and I have no reason to believe that the New Yorkers were a whit more tolerant to negro company in 1832 than they were in 1842. If therefore the said Count de St. Laurent had had the slightest tinge of African blood in his veins, neither a decent nor indecent white man would have associated with him for five minutes in New York upon anything like a footing of equality. Bro. Carson's statement is, therefore, not only in the highest degree improbable, but it actually verges on the impossible.

Bro. Carson's authorities for his statement are, 1st, "Letters in the Archives of the Northern and Southern Jurisdictions;" and, 2nd, "The Proceedings of Northern Jurisdiction of 1864." This phrase "Archives of the Northern and Southern Jurisdictions" is very deceptive, for it leads one to suppose that the said Jurisdictions are in possession of very old archives. But the truth is, the Northern Jurisdiction dates, as I shall hereafter show, from 1848, and the Southern Jurisdiction, which is the great grandmother of the A. and A. Rite, does not possess a record older than 1860, so I was assured by a New York brother, who is a 33°. 2nd, On referring to the proceedings of 1864, I found an article or report by Bro. W. S. G. Gardner, who makes the same statement about "coloured gentlemen," and who also referred to "Letters" in the two forenamed Jurisdictions. As Bro. Gardner does not state that he had ever seen those letters it is probable that no such letters are in existence, and that he got his information from some unscrupulous A. and A. informant, of whom plenty abounded in those days among the A. and A. factions. The truth is, the active high graders in America, in 1864, were in an extraordinary state of delirium; many falsehoods were fearlessly asserted to depreciate their opponents by some, while others, like Bro. Gardner, who would not have stooped to invent a lie, would unhesitatingly repeat another man's lie without previous examination or criticism, and in order to explain the whys and wherefores of that state of feeling I shall proceed to furnish a brief historical sketch of the high grades in North America, thus:—

In 1762, Stephen Morin, a French Israelite (so Ragon says), brought to the West Indies 25 Masonic degrees from France, with power to scatter them in the Western Hemisphere. In Jamaica Morin met Moses M. Hays, of Rhode Island, also an Israelite, to whom he communicated these degrees, giving him power to establish them in America, as the atmosphere of New England was then deemed too cold for that French exotic. Hays communicated them to some Jews and Christian Masons in Charleston, South Carolina. Some of these degrees were doubtless designed to be Christian to the backbone, and the question has often been asked, what could have induced Jews to become zealous propagators of Christian rites? It seems, however, that those degrees were differently explained according to circumstances, or, in other words, they had a Christian ritual and a cosmopolitan one. Whether Morin brought with him from France the cosmopolitan ritual, whether he manufactured it, or whether the Charlestonian Hebrews tinkered it, I know not. It is, however, not impossible that in the second half of the eighteenth century, when the doctrines of Voltaire and others were making headway in France, and infecting largely all classes of society, that the ritual of those original Christian degrees may have been modified and changed by the French authorities of those degrees, and that Morin may have brought with him the modified ritual. That the Charlestonian Hebrews did not promulgate Christian rites may be seen in a document issued in New York in 1813, by De la Motta, a Charleston Hebrew, high cockalorum of the A. and A. Rite.

"Admitting," said he, "that Mr. Cerneau and his society should be in possession of the high degrees, I call upon them to produce, if they can, one single instance, in any one degree of Masonry, which disfranchises a Hebrew from enjoying every privilege granted to any other sect. Were I at liberty fully to explain myself, it being impossible to say into whose hands this may fall, I would lead them through each degree, particularly the Rose Croix and the Royal Secret, and point out whether a Hebrew is not as much entitled as a Christian brother, or any other of whatever persuasion, to the Royal Arch, the Perfection, the Chief of the Tabernacle, the Prince of Mercy, the Knight of the Brazen Serpent, and many more both under and above." In the United States they have now also two rituals:—thus, in Boston, in the ceremony of the Rose Croix a picture of the Crucifixion is displayed; but in the Southern Jurisdiction, as well as in New York, instead of the picture of the Crucifixion a picture or model of the Paschal Lamb is exhibited. This is capable of a double interpretation, and hence at its exhibition both Jewish and Christian high cockalorums can shake their wise heads very reverently, devoutly and approvingly. And as to the crosses, &c. it is well known that these were used as symbols by Pagans and philosophers long before Christianity was born, hence these symbols are made to refer to anything and everything but the Christian religion.

French Masonry did not, however, take root in Charleston very fast, nor were any permanent institutions established anywhere else before this century. It seems, however, to have reached the ears of Charleston Masons that the high grade gentry, though but a handful, boasted of having a right to rule the Grand Lodge. Upon being questioned by the Grand Lodge, after some hesitation they replied that they had such a right, but for the present they would waive that right. As these gentry had occupied high positions in the Grand Lodge, no further inquiry was made; but this dogma of having a right to rule Grand Lodges, the high graders have never abandoned.

In 1786, the Charlestonians pretended to have received a charter from Frederick the Great, which Kloss stigmatises as "the greatest lie of the Order." Up to 1801, they called their rite "the Rite of Perfection," but in 1801 they increased the degrees from 25 to 33, and assumed the name of "Ancient and Accepted Rite." About that time Count de Grasse, a St. Domingo refugee, arrived in Charleston, he was made a 33°, and was furnished with powers to establish the new Rite in France. On his return to Paris, he presented his claims, by virtue of the Charleston powers given to him, to rule the French high graders, but as the French cockalorums had never heard about Frederick the Great's connection with high degrees, they of course rejected the Count's claim, but A. and A. Riters have a law unto themselves, viz., when a 33rd finds that the work of a high degree concern does not come up to his ideal, he may take any man, Mason or no Mason, and confer upon him all the degrees, from an Entered Apprentice to the 33rd. These two then make another 33. When nine are so made, he forms them into a Supreme Council. Our A. and A. jurists, however, maintain that by nine Frederick meant to limit the Council to nine members; that is, it must consist of no more than nine, but it may consist of less than nine, nay, if even only one is left, he can exercise all the authority of a Supreme Council, that is, granting charters, &c., &c. Count de Grasse seems to have acted in accordance with Frederick's law, and as the old institution conferred only twenty-five degrees, while he conferred thirty-three, and, may be, he charged less than the others did, he therefore got a good rush of customers, while the old shop was deserted. At last the old concern had to go down upon its knees, and swear that Frederick the Great was an A. and A. Riter, and his Constitution shall thenceforth be their A. and A. gospel.

After the establishment of the new rite, the Charlestonians sent emissaries to the West Indies and other places; they appointed a Commander for Pennsylvania, and another for Rhode Island. Bro. Abraham Jacobs met one of the said emissaries in the West Indies, who conferred upon him (Jacobs) the A. and A. degrees, with the necessary powers to confer them upon others. Jacobs came to New York in 1804, opened there a Hebrew School, and when occasion offered, he conferred his degrees alike upon Christians and Jews. In 1808, he organised seventeen of his initiates into a Council of Princes of Jerusalem, which comprises the first fourteen degrees of the Rite. This was done in the presence, and with the approbation of the Charleston emissaries of Pennsylvania, and of Rhode Island; but subject to a charter from the Council at Charleston. He next gave warning in a daily paper that New York was his territory, so that no other

A. and A. emissary should encroach upon his domain. On the same day, when the advertisement appeared, Bro. Mulligan, in company with a Frenchman by the name of Cerneau, visited Bro. Jacobs at his school, and invited him to attend to some high degree Consistory (or something of the kind) in New York. Jacobs replied that no one but himself had a right to call such meeting in New York, and referred them to the advertisement.

As already said, Jacobs admitted Christians and Jews alike into his organisation: there were, however, in New York high-toned Christian Masons (amongst whom were De Witte Clinton, the Governor of the State, who was also the G.M. of the State); these could not very well stomach the idea of having a Jewish Boss in Masonry. But it luckily happened that Cerneau arrived in New York in 1806, who claimed to have received in the West Indies from Stephen Morin 33 degrees, with the necessary powers to establish the A. and A. Rite in New York. Now, be it remembered, that in 1762 Stephen Morin brought from France to the West Indies twenty-five degrees only, with powers to establish those degrees only. What became of Morin afterwards no one knows, save and except, according to Ragon, Morin was deprived, in 1766, by the French authorities of the Rite, of the powers given to him in 1761 or 62. Where Morin obtained the eight degrees manufactured in Charleston, and who gave him the power to confer the 33 degrees, never troubled our New York Christian Masons. Cerneau, who could not speak English, was put as a figure head for Sovereign Great Commander; but, in reality, Clinton was the real Commander—this took place in October 1807. Unfortunately, there appears to have been no records kept by the Cerneauites. Dr. Folger, who is a partizan of the Cerneauites, admits that there is great confusion about the origin of the Cerneau concern; and he also admits that Cerneau did not perfect his organisation till a year later; nor is there any claim made that the Cerneauites gave warning of their new Institution in the newspapers. However, from that time to the present, the American A. and A. Riters continued fighting like wild cats, and no one knows when this fighting will terminate. What finally became of Jacobs' concern I know not, for it evidently could not long maintain itself when opposed by high Christian respectabilities and audacity. 1st, the Cerneauites in 1808 petitioned the two A. and A. concerns in France for recognition. 2nd, it invaded Rhode Island, where Charleston had long before established a concern. These invasions brought De La Motta from Charleston to New York in 1813. The Charleston "Thrice Illustrious" challenged Cerneau to prove himself a 33 degreer. Cerneau would not, and most probably could not. Thereupon the Charlestonian denounced Cerneau as an impostor, &c. De La Motta then created John James Joseph Gourgas, also a Frenchman, as Sovereign of the Northern Jurisdiction. This Gourgas concern was also a failure—it melted away in a few years. But Gourgas tenaciously clings to his titles and pretensions; and, for many years, he alone formed the Supreme Council of his claimed Jurisdiction. 3rd, in 1814, the Cerneauites established a concern in New Orleans (right in the heart of the Southern jurisdiction). This concern is still flourishing, and some years ago it established in Louisiana a G.L. of its own, and Louisiana has had two Grand Lodges ever since; and 4th, in 1816, the Cerneauites established a Consistory in Charleston itself, and for the next ten years there was plenty of Masonic fighting in Charleston.

In 1825, General Lafayette, the American revolutionary hero, visited the United States, and was everywhere received with deserved acclamation. The Charlestonians invited the General to visit their city, and the invitation was accepted. Thereupon, the Grand Mother Supreme Council decided, upon the arrival of the distinguished visitor, to invite him into their sanctum, and confer upon him the thirty-three degrees. This being decided, we can naturally imagine that they went to work, brushed up their old uniforms, polished up their swords, renovated their ribbons, trinkets, tinsel, feathers, &c., and probably obtained a new banner, or cleaned up the old one. Well, the General at last arrived; a committee was sent to invite the General. But, horror of horrors! At the twelfth hour, the Grand Mother Council received information that the Cerneauites had got the General into their sanctum, and had already conferred upon him the thirty-three degrees. Was not this enough to make an angel swear?

As already stated by Bro. Carson (only there is no if or but about it): In 1832, the Cerneauites made a treaty of alliance, &c., with several Supreme Councils, which was effected through the agency of Count de St. Laurent.* In 1837, Henry C. Attwood, keeper of a small public house in Division-street, New York, was the Sovereign Grand Commander. Atwood got into a muddle with the Grand Lodge of New York, and was expelled from Masonry. Thereupon, by virtue of his high powers as Sovereign, &c., he established a Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter, &c., of his own; his expulsion caused a split among the Cerneauites, and for about a dozen years, the State of New York had two Masonic Sovereigns and also two Masonic Grand Masters.

* Folger says that Lafayette was appointed by the Cerneauites as their representative at the Supreme Council of France, and held that position until his death in 1834, when he was succeeded by Count de la St. Laurent."

CARE OF LODGE FUNDS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I wonder what sapient member of the Fraternity conceived the idea of every Lodge handing over its funds to Grand Lodge, as if the members of such Lodges were children, not to be trusted out of leading strings, and that G.L. should ever continue to be a nursing father or mother to them? If the Lodges have not sufficient respect for themselves to stand well in the eyes of the Craft, I do not think they hold Grand Lodge in sufficient awe to induce them to do so. As to the Treasurer being only an ornamental personage, it is his own fault, and much to his discredit if he permits himself to be made a dummy, or his office a sinecure. Decidedly, Secretary and Treasurer should work together, the one to be a check upon the other; but certainly the praise and blame as to how the Lodge accounts stand should bear with equal weight upon both; the W.M. also should make himself acquainted with the state of his Lodge Funds, from time to time, and not content himself by merely attending the annual audit. The following is a question I should like to have answered; viz., the Treasurer of Lodge 1527 (which does not exist) at very short notice leaves the country, just after the last meeting of the Session, proposing to return in a month or so. Time passes on, and at the commencement of the ensuing Session, his absence may be prolonged indefinitely, "Is it not within the power, and should it not be the duty, of the W.M., for the time being, to appoint a deputy Treasurer until the next period of election within the Lodge?"—No resignation having been sent in by the absent member.—Or "Is it necessary to ballot for the new Treasurer pro tem?" My own opinion is, that it is in his power; but I should like to hear an expression of views from more experienced Craftsmen.

Yours fraternally,

P.M. 1607.

25th September 1882.

The annual installation meeting of the Montague Guest Lodge, No. 1900, which was consecrated in July, last year, is fixed to take place on Wednesday, the 11th of next month, at the Inns of Court Hotel, when a large and distinguished attendance is anticipated. As we have had occasion to point out heretofore, the brethren of this Lodge, which is named after Bro. Montague Guest, M.P., the Provincial Grand Master of Dorset, were fortunate in securing the interest of many influential supporters, and Bro. W. H. Dean, also a Dorsetshire man, expressed, as its first Wor. Master, that the circumstances under which the Lodge had been consecrated were so auspicious that he looked confidently forward to much good work being accomplished in it. In this hope he has been more than justified by the results, which have proved that good sound Masonic work has been accomplished, to which, as a Lodge in the first year of its existence, it may refer with pride. Bro. Dean has proved himself a most efficient and zealous Master, and has gained the high and sincere respect of his officers and all the brethren for his assiduity and tact in controlling and directing the affairs of the Lodge. He will retire at the end of his term with "all his blushing honours thick upon him," not only for the excellence of his working, but also his zeal on behalf of the interests of his Lodge and the Craft generally. As a proof of the thorough earnestness of his Lodge it may be mentioned that at the recent Festival, at Brighton, Bro. George P. Festa, the Worshipful Master elect, and who officiated as a special Steward to receive the Lord Mayor, took up the very respectable sum of £182 18s 11d, which (with the exception of five guineas given by Bro. Dean himself) was all his own list. Such exertion and liberality on the part of a Lodge as yet in its swaddling clothes is most commendable, and needs no further comment. It is not at all likely that under Bro. Festa's reign the welfare of the Lodge will suffer in the least, for all who know that brother's robust activity and earnestness in the cause will readily believe that the best interests of the Lodge will be conserved and consolidated, and that he will prove a worthy successor to the first Master, who has done so much to establish the reputation and influence of the Lodge over which he has so ably presided during the past year.

It may be interesting to many of our readers to know that the Ancient Order of Freemasons have a Lodge, under the Grand Lodge of England, at Cairo (No. 1,105), and many Freemasons who are now serving with our army in the Egyptian capital have been able to assemble in Lodge in the surrendered city. His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught well represents the English Order in Egypt, and the name of his illustrious brother, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, Grand Master of the United Grand Lodge of England, is honoured in all parts of the world where Freemasonry exists. The 4th Royal Irish Dragoon Guards, who are now quartered in the Citadel at Cairo, will hold their Masonic gatherings whilst on service as regular as if at home. No better regiment exists than the 4th Dragoons, and the Masonic feeling amongst all ranks which has existed for many years has caused the crime of insubordination to be unknown in the corps. The squadrons of the Household Cavalry in Egypt boast of many Craftsmen. Amongst the many regiments who have regimental Masonic Lodges the most prominent are the 12th Prince of Wales's Royal Lancers, 17th Duke of Cambridge's Own Lancers, the 12th Suffolk Regiment, the 14th Prince of Wales's Own West Yorkshire Regiment, the 26th Cameronians, the Lancashire Fusileers (the old 20th), the 29th Worcestershire Regiment, the 39th Dorsetshire Regiment, the Royal Fusiliers, the Royal Military Lodge, Cavalry Depot, Canterbury, and the Brownrigg Lodge (Royal Engineers), Chatham.—Portsmouth Times.

LODGE HISTORIES.

ANCHOR AND HOPE LODGE, No. 37, BOLTON.

Following up the interesting account of this old Lancashire branch of the Fraternity, of which two notices have already appeared in these columns, and which, coming from the combined efforts of Bros. George Parker Brockbank and James Newton, are entitled to the respectful consideration of Masons everywhere, we note the curious difference shown between the old bye-laws of the Anchor and Hope Lodge of 1790 to those at present in use. There are some eighteen or twenty in all, and being too voluminous for extract, we will content ourselves with a sufficient outline of them. In the first place, after fixing the dates of meeting, "where the Master and the majority of the members shall think proper," the rules go on to stipulate that the election of Master, Wardens, Deacons, Treasurer, and Secretary of the Lodge shall be by a majority of its members on a ballot, to be taken on a regular Lodge night, held next before the Festivals of St. John the Evangelist and St. John the Baptist, and that "each new-elected Master shall be install'd and take the chair on the aforesaid Festival days." Then comes a singular bye-law, reminding us now-a-days of our Lodges of Instruction, viz., that "every Lodge night every member shall pay 6 pence, out of which (when paid) 3 pence shall be spent." It does not say in what manner, but presumably it would be on the creature comforts of the members, who, as we have before pointed out, were judiciously frugal in their habits. But it appears that then, as now, members were not always instant in the fulfilment of their responsibilities; if so, why the proviso contained in the parenthesis quoted? Then, members were fined twopence for half an hour's absence after the specified time for assembling; and threepence if absent a whole night," except in case of emergency." For speaking, after the Master had commanded silence, or sitting in the Lodge "uncloathed," or with his hat on, or interrupting the Master, or leaving the room without the consent of the Master, for each of these offences a penalty of twopence was imposed. It looks like an imputation upon the character of the members admitted to have been under the necessity of providing that any one "coming to the Lodge drunk, swearing, or using other profane and obscene language, or giving a brother the 'lye' in the Lodge shall forfeit one shilling for each offence;" whilst any member striking a brother in the Lodge shall forfeit five shillings, and be excluded three months. We trust these safeguards against the destruction of brotherly love were not often put to the test; indeed, we find no record in the history of such an untoward event. Members being four months in arrears, on any account, after they had been demanded of him, promoting the breaking up of the Lodge, or cheating or defrauding the same, were amenable to exclusion; whilst any one disturbing the proceedings of the Lodge was suspended for three months for the first offence, and "for the second offence, for ever." A Master refusing to serve after election was fined 2s 6d; the Wardens, Treasurer and Secretary 1s; and the Deacons 6d each. This is obviously a provision rarely needed in the present constitution of the Order, all our Officers being only too happy to receive the distinction conferred upon them by the brethren. Any Officer leaving his place without the consent of the Master, or who should be absent with his key half an-hour after the time specified, was expected to forfeit sixpence, the natural inference being that each of those Officers possessed a box or drawer in which he kept his insignia. The Master was under the penalty of half-a-crown unless he gave a lecture, or caused it to be done, on every Lodge night; and, as with the instances already named, these fines were all to be "spent." On a proposal for initiation the nominator was called upon to vouch for the good behaviour and character of the candidate, and deposit 5s "as his approbation money," which, however, was returned if the candidate was disproved of. The applicant was initiated if there was "no black ball against him," instead of three as at the present time; but if he failed to attend for that purpose within three nights after the acceptance, his approbation money was forfeited to the fund. On his initiation, he was called upon to pay £1 17s for the first step (and 2s 6d for each of the next two, also 1s when installed), out of which 7s 6d was to be spent; while the Secretary and Tyler were paid 1s each and the registering fees. A remarkable feature of the fourth degree in those days was that the members were asked to dine or sup together on the Festivals of St. John the Evangelist and St. John the Baptist, "agreeable to ancient custom," towards the expenses of which every member paid 3s 6d. This is also in strange and interesting contrast with the banquets of the present age, when the hotel bills are usually paid out of the Lodge funds, and Visitors are regarded as guests in the strictest application of the term. Half-a-crown was the fee of a joining member, and the Master of the house where the Lodge was, or might be, held was bound to subscribe his name to an inventory of the furniture, &c. belonging to the Lodge which was "vested in and to be the property of the brethren for the time being," acknowledging the same to be in his possession, and to sign a bond to deliver them up when demanded by the Master and Wardens for the time being. The Tyler was paid 1s a month over and above his fee at initiations—an arrangement which would hardly suit some of our useful aides in the present day! No liquor was admitted during Lodge; no E.A. was passed before he was perfect in his O.B., nor raised till he was perfect in the lecture on the first step Amongst the offences was that of attending "in any handkerchief except a white one," for which a forfeit of threepence was exacted. There are 91 signatures appended to the bye-laws, the last being that of a brother initiated in 1815. The Lodges of Instruction were held at the house of Bro. Henry Horrocks, of the Masons Arms, in Windy Bank (now known as Bank-street) on the Sunday following the regular Lodge night, and every Sunday evening after, "to compleat themselves in the sacred mysteries of Masonry, and to receive regular lectures thereon." The fine for non-attendance at these Lodges of Instruction was 3d; no "liquor" was allowed during the working, but at the close of it every brother was expected to spend fourpence at least. It is surmised that the Lodge continued to meet at the "Hope" until the year 1800, when, as the Assistant Grand Secretary, Bro. Buss, supposes, it removed to the "Legs of Man," emigrating for three years to the "Four Horse Shoes," and back again in 1804 to the "Legs of Man." There are various records of processions, in reference to which the occasion is often omitted, but one was on the fiftieth anniversary of the reign of King George III., on the 15th of July 1812, the return of the Bolton militia from garrison duty in 1814, the laying of certain foundation stones, and the funerals of deceased brethren. A fund for the relief of sick members in connection with the Lodge was established in 1831, the rules of which remind us of the friendly benefit societies of more recent times; and in the years between the date of the formation of the fund to 1844, the sum of £155 2s 10d was disbursed in sick and funeral allowance; but in the latter year the fund became extinct, and a distribution of the Lodge funds took place. This is very much on a par with many of the old village clubs, who used to divide their funds at regular periods, but which have been nearly all "improved away" by the Oddfellows', Foresters', and other registered friendly societies, within the last few years. Some time afterwards an Almoner was appointed on behalf of the Bolton Lodges to relieve itinerant Masons, from which system much good appears to have been effected, inasmuch as by means of an interchange of reports from various towns, a stop was put to indiscriminate relief being afforded in some cases to unworthy persons. This is the very question which has been opened up and largely commented on in these columns only within the past few weeks; and it only goes to show that even so far back as nearly half a century, the efforts of the brethren were seriously directed to the suppression of "Masonic mendicancy," the evils attending which have just now been so warmly debated in the journals of to-day. Later on the brethren conceived the notion of adding music to their ceremonials, and certain of them were accorded much credit for their indefatigable exertions in "composing and furnishing our vocal brethren with that which will not only elevate the Masonic feelings in their own breasts, but in all those who may have the pleasure of hearing them." The establishment of a local charity for female children of deceased Freemasons is also noted, and it appears by a subsequent paragraph that a donation of five guineas and an annual subscription of two guineas were voted to the East Lancashire Masonic School for Female Children, by this Lodge, showing its successful formation. On 18th February 1844, the Lodge was removed from the "Legs of Man" to the Swan Hotel, when the funds of the Lodge, even at so late a period, were equally divided among the members. The total amount on Boxing Day in that year was £212, of which the 53 members each received £4. This appears to have necessitated an increase of the monthly subscription to the Lodge from 1s 6d to 2s 6d; and the initiation and joining fees were, three years later, raised from four guineas and one guinea to five guineas and two guineas respectively. There are various accounts of presentations to the Lodge, of testimonials to its Officers, and gifts to needy members or widows; leading up to the modern system of holding Masonic balls and other festivities, the surplus from each was devoted to Masonic charitable institutions. The, records up to 1872 contain little of special interest, except the ordinary minutes, such as we might find in any Lodge; but on the 3rd July in that year a new code of bye-laws was adopted, and the Secretary read the centenary Warrant granted to the Lodge by the then M.W. Grand Master, of which we may append the full text:—

DE GREY & RIPON G.M.

To the Master, Wardens, and other Officers and Members of the Anchor & Hope Lodge, No. 37, Bolton-le-Moors, Lancashire, and all others whom it may concern.

Greeting.

Whereas, it appears by the Records of the Grand Lodge, that on the 9th day of November 1732, a Warrant of Constitution was granted to certain Brethren therein named, authorising them and their Successors to hold a Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons at Bolton-le-Moors, in the County of Lancaster, and which Lodge was then registered in the books of the Grand Lodge as No. 105, at the alteration in 1740 it became No. 93, at the alteration in 1756 it became No. 55, at the alteration in 1770 it became No. 46, at the alteration in 1781 it became No. 36, at the alteration in 1792 it became No. 33, and which Lodge in consequence of the union of the two fraternities of Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons, on the 27th December 1813 became No. 51, at the alteration in 1832 it became No. 44, and by the general alteration of numbers in 1863, it became, and is now registered in the books of the United Grand Lodge, as No. 37, meeting at Freemasons' Hall, Bolton, in the County of Lancaster, under the title or denomination of the "Anchor & Hope" Lodge, and, whereas, the brethren comprising the said Lodge are desirous, now that it has completed the Centenary of its existence, to be permitted to wear a Jewel Commemorative of such event, and have prayed our sanction for that purpose.

Now know ye, that we having taken the subject into our consideration, have acceded to their request, and in Virtue of our prerogative do hereby give and grant to all and each of the actual subscribing Members of the said Lodge, being Master Masons, permission to wear, in all Masonic Meetings, suspended to the left breast by a sky blue ribbon not exceeding one and a half inches in breadth, a Jewel or Medal of the pattern or device that we have already approved of as a Centenary Jewel, but such Jewel is to be worn only by those brethren who are bonâ fide Subscribing Members of the said Lodge, and for so long only as each shall pay his regular stipulated subscription to the funds thereof, and be duly returned as such to the Grand Lodge of England.

Given at London, this 21st day of January A.L. 5871. A.D. 1871.

(Signed) JOHN HERVEY G.S.

On a question frequently raised as to whether brethren in arrears should be allowed to vote in Lodge, we may quote a paragraph from this History, showing that at a meeting held on the 4th September 1871, on the ballot being taken for a candidate for initiation, an objection was raised against any votes being received from members in arrear with their subscriptions, as they were disqualified from voting under the Bye-laws. The ballot was, however, proceeded with, all the members present being supplied with balloting balls; the result being that two black balls appeared in the box. The objection raised against brethren in arrears voting being persisted in, the W.M. Bro. T. H. Winder ordered a new Ballot to take place, expressly omitting to supply balloting balls to any member in arrear, and the ballot was then declared to be unanimously in favour of the candidate, but the W.M. declined to declare the candidate elected until he had submitted a fair statement of the case to the R.W. Prov. G. Master. In the interval between this meeting and the next meeting, on 3rd Oct. the W.M. submitted the case to the R.W. Prov. G. Master, who declared the candidate duly elected, and he was initiated accordingly.

Following their History up to current date, the compilers point out the various places at which the Lodge appears to have met during the 150 years of its existence, namely:—A private room (supposed to be in Churchgate) from 1732 to 1765; the Hope Inn from 1765 to 1800; Legs of Man Inn from 1800 to 1801; Four Horse Shoes Inn from 1801 to 1804; Legs of Man Inn from 1804 to 1844; Swan Hotel from 1844 to 1866; Church Institute from 1866 to 1879; Swan Hotel from 1879 to 1882. One commendatory feature of the Lodge referred to, with pardonable pride, nearly at the end of the History, is that, in addition to the liberal sums given to local charities the Lodge contributed from 1843 to 1879 to the Benevolent Institution, £60 5s; to the Boys' School, £59 6s; and to the Girls' School, £21. This is most praiseworthy for a Lodge to show so well on the list of honours, independently of the efforts of private members; and if all our Lodges could show the same amount of zeal in this respect the promoters of those Institutions, which are the pride and boast of Masonry all over the world, would have far less cause for anxiety and individual exertion than that with which they are saddled at the present hour. The roll of membership of the Lodge from its commencement, for which the compilers suitably thank the Assistant Grand Secretary, is a matter more of local than of general interest; but the History is one which should be widely circulated, containing as it does, a vast fund of important information to the students of contemporary history, the comparison of dates and other subjects which must ever occupy the attention of the brethren of the mystic tie who are striving after knowledge in season and out of season, whether on work or pleasure bent.

The monthly meeting of the General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls was held on Thursday afternoon, at Freemasons' Hall, when there were present Bros. Col. Creaton Grand Secretary (in the chair), Joshua Nunn, John A. Rucker, Frank Richardson, Arthur E. Gladwell, E. H. Finney, Frederick Adlard, H. Massey, J. H. Matthews, James F. Corbin, J. J. Caney, and F. R. W. Hedges (Secretary). After the confirmation of the minutes, the Committee adopted a recommendation of the House Committee, that the salary of the senior clerk in the office of the Institution should commence at £100 a year, and of the junior clerk at £65 a year. The chairman reported the receipt of £178 10s 6d for a purchase case, after which one petition was examined, and the child named therein placed on the list for election in April. The Committee then adjourned.

The annual meeting of the Royal Alfred Lodge, No. 780, took place on the 22nd inst., at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew-bridge, where there was a goodly muster of brethren and visitors. Lodge having been duly opened, and some formal business transacted, Bro. L. Franckel, who ably discharged the duties of the Senior Warden's chair last year, was installed as Worshipful Master, in the place of Bro. C. Costelow. The ceremony of installation was well performed by Bro. B. E. Blasby P.M., and after the newly installed W.M. had received the salutations of the brethren, he invested his Officers for the ensuing year. At the conclusion of the business the brethren partook of a sumptuous repast, when the customary Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured. We regret that, in consequence of other pressing engagements, we were unable to accept the kind invitation we had received, and which we had hoped to have responded to. We, nevertheless, tender our best wishes for a prosperous year for the Lodge.

There was a large attendance of brethren and visitors at the first meeting after the recess of the Prosperity Lodge, No. 65, held at the Guildhall Tavern, on Thursday evening, under the presidency of Bro. J. Roberts W.M. The speeches after the banquet included a stirring appeal by Bro. J. Terry, Secretary of the R.M.B.I., on behalf of the Charities. A full report, which we have in type, is unavoidably deferred till next week.

THE LATE LORD TENTERDEN.

A WIDE-SPREAD sense of sorrow will have been experienced amongst a large circle of the Fraternity at the receipt of the intelligence of the death of Lord Tenterden, Provincial Grand Master of Essex, which melancholy event occurred on Friday in last week. His lordship's active and zealous interest in the Craft has often formed the subject of deserved commendation in the columns of the Masonic Press, and his departure from amongst us will have left a void in the ranks of Freemasonry which must be most sincerely deplored. Not only amongst the members of the Order, but in official circles, in which the deceased nobleman occupied a prominent position, will his removal by death, at the early age of forty-eight years, be a matter of profound regret. His active and useful career, especially in relation to the foreign policy of the country, and in other governmental service, earned for him eminent distinction, which was duly recognised by the Ministers of the Crown, for whom he acted in many important capacities. The deceased, Charles Stuart Aubrey Abbott, Baron Tenterden, of Hendon, Middlesex, in the peerage of the United Kingdom, was the only son of the Hon. Charles Abbott, second son of Charles, first Lord Tenterden, Lord Chief Justice of the Court of King's Bench, and Deputy Speaker of the House of Lords, and was born on the 26th September 1834. He was appointed to a clerkship in the Foreign Office in April 1854, and was precis writer to Lord Stanley (the late Earl of Derby) when Secretary for Foreign Affairs. His lordship was next appointed as attendant on the Royal Commission of the Neutrality Laws; and afterwards as Secretary to the Royal Commission of Inquiry into the Laws of Naturalisation and Allegiance. He was Secretary to the Joint High Commission to consider the various questions affecting the relations between Great Britain and the United States of America in February 1871. The Commission sat at Washington from that date until May in the same year, when, for his services, he was created a Companion of the Order of the Bath (Civil Division). He was subsequently engaged assisting the Lord Chancellor in the preparation of the case for decision respecting the Alabama claims, and afterwards acted as Agent for Great Britain at the Geneva Conference on the same subject. He was appointed Assistant Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in 1871, and in October 1873 was appointed Permanent Under Secretary on the resignation of the Right Hon. Edmund Hammond, who on his retirement was created Lord Hammond. In 1878, in further recognition of his civil services, he was created a Knight Commander of the Order of the Bath. His lordship's Masonic career extended over a quarter of a century, during which period his activity and zeal in promoting the interests of the Craft, of which he was so distinguished an ornament, were most deservedly appreciated and recognised. Indeed, it is admitted that the Order could well afford to have "spared a better man," for his exertions in its behalf were as practically useful as they were persistent and unwearying. He was initiated, as Mr. Charles Stuart Aubrey Abbott, in the Harmony Lodge (then No. 317, now No. 253), Richmond, Surrey. Three years later he was elected to the position of Worshipful Master of that distinguished Lodge, an honour which was repeated in 1863, and for many years in his capacity of Honorary Secretary of the Lodge he discharged the duties of the office to the entire satisfaction of successive Masters, Officers and brethren. In consideration of the valuable aid he rendered to the then Most Worshipful Grand Master of England, the Marquis of Ripon, as Secretary to the Royal Commission for the Negociation of the Treaty of Washington, he was appointed Senior Grand Warden in Grand Lodge of England on the 24th of April 1872, and subsequently became the representative in Grand Lodge of the three Grand Lodges of Berlin. On the death of Bro. Bagshaw, the Most Worshipful Grand Master His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales appointed him Provincial Grand Master of Essex, the date of the patent being the 26th of March 1879. His installation into that position was the occasion of a great assemblage of the brethren of Essex and adjoining counties at Chelmsford, on the 2nd of July in that year, the ceremony being performed by the R.W. Bro. the Earl of Carnarvon Pro Grand Master. Soon afterwards, in the fulfilment of his position as Provincial Grand Master, he consecrated the St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 1817, at the Cambridge Hotel, Shoeburyness. In all his subsequent ruling of the Province he was most popular, and spared no pains to secure a thorough discussion of all questions which were brought before Provincial Grand Lodge. Indeed, it is thought on some occasions he evinced a somewhat too ardent a desire to thrash out matters which might have been more expeditiously settled; but such was his enthusiasm and zeal for the thorough working of the body over whom he ruled so wisely and so well. The Colchester Gazette observes:—"It was only on 3rd August last that he held his Grand Lodge at Chingford, and it was one of the largest and most successful that has been held since his lordship's installation. It was a sad coincidence that the first Essex Lodge to meet after his lordship's death was the Chigwell, No. 453, under whose banner the last Prov. Grand Lodge was held, and which met on Saturday last for its annual festival. At the meeting a resolution of condolence with Lady Tenterden was unanimously passed; and at the banquet table a toast to the 'memory of the late Provincial Grand Master' was drunk in solemn silence. We are quite sure that his lordship's decease will cause wide-spread regret among the Craft in Essex." We ourselves observed, at the last meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Essex, that the noble lord was not in his accustomed physical "form," but there was nothing to denote more than a passing fit of slight indisposition. His Lordship had been a constant attendant at Grand Lodge, and also presided over one of the recent Festivals of the Emulation Lodge of Improvement. He took a prominent part in the organisation of a charity scheme in his province, and was ever an enthusiastic admirer of the higher principles and tenets of the Craft. On one occasion we remember to have heard him remark that, "Some people say it is because Freemasonry leads to pleasant dinners and social gatherings; but in the days when conviviality, singing Bacchanalian choruses, and drinking endless toasts, were the fashion, and the popular idea of a Freemason, as illustrated by Hogarth, was a man in a fantastic apron staggering home at early morning, Freemasonry made comparatively little progress. Others, again say—It is because it is a great Charitable Institution; and this is the true answer, although we must not take the expression in its narrowest sense. It is a Charitable Institution, because it inculcates Charity in its noblest, in its widest aspect. Not only must a Freemason have 'a tear for pity, and a hand open as day for melting charity,' but he is bound by his Masonic obligations to exercise the spirit of charity in brotherly love towards all mankind, and especially towards his brethren in Freemasonry. It is often very much easier to give a sovereign than to forgive an injury. Freemasonry teaches us not only to succour the distressed, but to exercise universal toleration, and to receive and treat as brethren men of all races and creeds who join with us in recognising the landmarks of our Order, the duties we owe to the Most High, to our Fraternity, and to the Queen. This is the true secret of Freemasonry, and it is in this respect that Freemasonry may be said to be the handmaid of religion and the support of social order." This was the spirit which ran throughout the whole of his utterances, and there can be no doubt but that the brethren whom he addressed fully caught the inspiration of his admonitions. In many other ways he gave practical exemplification of his thorough heartedness in all matters of Masonic interest, and his loss will occasion a considerable amount of sympathetic regret amongst all with whom he had been brought into contact. He had been staying with Lady Tenterden and his family for three weeks at Neilson Cottage, Lynton, North Devon, and was apparently in the enjoyment of moderately good health, as only two days prior to his death he was out fishing in the river Lyn, in company with several other gentlemen. Here, however, he was taken with a fit of apoplexy, and was at once removed to an hotel, where medical assistance was obtained, but from the first it was evident that the case was hopeless, and his Lordship lingered almost unconsciously until Friday morning, when he died, to the inexpressible grief of his family and friends. The deceased peer is succeeded by his only son, the Hon. Charles Stuart Henry Abbott, who on the 30th of October will have attained the seventeenth year of his age.

"YE ANTIENTE FRATERNITIE OF YE RAHERE ALMONERS."

UNDER the above quaint appellation, a little more than a year ago two residents of South London, interested in the Parish of St. Bartholomew in the City of London, were mainly instrumental in forming a charitable society which is now, to quote the expressive words of the Lord Mayor of London, "doing good and useful work." Possessing a fair share of influence in their respective districts these two residents in our locality (Mr. Thomas Sangster, of Kennington, and Mr. James Stevens of Clapham), succeeded in attracting to the Society a large adhesion of South London subscribers and donors. As these latter will doubtless be much interested in some forthcoming events of interest to the Society, and many of our readers may be naturally curious to learn what a "Rahere Almoner" is, and how he comes to be part and parcel of a "Fraternitie," we venture to put on record in our columns a few details gathered from "Ye Legende," and certain historical facts, which have been prepared and published by Mr. Stevens, who holds the position of Grand Counsellor to the Fraternity.

It appears, then, that in or about the year 1123, there was a certain minstrel or jester to King Henry I., who was named Rahere. Through circumstances, which are narrated in "Ye Legende," he became Prior Rahere, building the church of St. Bartholomew, at Smithfield, founding St. Bartholomew's Hospital, instituting Bartholomew Fair (many years since discontinued), and doing much charitable work, through a fraternity of pious men, whom he governed. He died in 1143, was buried in the north chancel of his own church, and his fine monument may still be seen there, in good preservation, and bearing the inscription, Hic jacet Raherus primus canonicus et primus prior hujus ecclesiæ.

The winter of 1881, especially memorable for the gale and snowstorm of the 18th January, caused great distress in the parish of St. Bartholomew, as well as elsewhere, and the gentlemen above named associated themselves with several parishioners to endeavour to afford some relief to many sufferers. It was then determined to constitute a permanent society, and the connection of the past good deeds of the pious prior Rahere with the then present desires and intentions of the originators of the new charity, was happily thought of. By the "Rules and Regulations," which we have perused with great interest, we observe how closely this connection has been entertained in the construction of the new, or we should, perhaps, more properly say, the resuscitation of the olden almonry, to which reference is made in "Ye Legende." As the corollary in the brief history to which we have referred puts it, "It is an injury to our common nature when deeds of charity and beneficence are suffered to die out of recollection," and the resuscitation of the almonry by means of the present Society not only keeps green the memory of a former benefactor, but provides the means for continuing such good works to the great advantage of the poor and helpless in our present day and generation.

In the past, and first, year of the existence of "Ye Antiente Fraternitie," a sure and steady progress towards firm establishment has been effected. Its list of subscribers is becoming lengthy; the beneficence of donors has added to its funds; and the support given by the general public to its three or four entertainments in aid of its exchequer has been liberal. The first appearance of the Fraternity in public was on the occasion of its Inauguration Festival, at the Crystal Palace, 24th August 1881, which proved a most successful introduction of the Society. In the following December the ancient Priory Church of St. Bartholomew, in West Smithfield, was crowded to its utmost capacity at a "Choral Evensong," and the performance of Handel's Oratorio, "The Messiah;" and on the 22nd of March in this year, the Memorial Hall in Farringdon Street, E.C., was in like manner filled to overflowing on the occasion of a grand concert under the patronage of the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor of London, who, in company with some of the most important officers of the City Corporation, attended in semi-state. The result of this support, and the three public gatherings referred to, has been a liberal distribution of assistance to sick and needy persons, and at the close of the past winter a fair balance for recommencing similar acts of mercy and charity in the dark season fast approaching.

We commend this Institution to our readers, and feel assured that the same courtesy which has been extended to us by the two gentlemen above named, in making us fully acquainted with the particulars we have recorded, will be shown by them to all such as may desire full information as to the nature and scope of the Institution with which they are so closely identified.

Since the above was written we have been informed of the intention of "Ye Antiente Fraternitie" to hold its Anniversary Festival at the Cannon Street Hotel, E.C., on the 20th October next, when the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, Sir John Whittaker Ellis, Bart., has kindly consented to preside at the banquet, and the present and newly elected Sheriffs, together with many important officers of the City Corporation, are expected to attend. In response to the deputation which waited upon the Lord Mayor in reference to this proposed festival, his Lordship expressed his conviction that the Fraternity "is doing good and useful work;" and this kindly sentiment it is in our power, through the knowledge we have of the details of such work, to thoroughly endorse. It is to be hoped, therefore, that this forthcoming public gathering may prove as successful as each of the former have been, and that the support of its friends in South London may be continued as heretofore.—Clapham Free Press.

THE ROYAL (late WESTON'S) MUSIC HALL.

THIS popular resort, in High Holborn, continues to attract crowded audiences nightly, proving the high appreciation of efforts put forth by the management to provide entertainment in which excellence and variety are the most commendable features. It is a matter of satisfaction also to visitors that every attention is paid to their comfort and enjoyment by way of lighting and ventilation—two important essentials in places of amusement; and with the lime-light and appliances for a continual draught of air through the building every care has been taken to secure the comfort of the audience. Moreover, the general fitness of the hall is in keeping with the rest of the interior economy, and the proprietor, Bro. W. T. Purkiss, is to be congratulated only upon a success that he deserves. It would probably be somewhat to his advantage if a little more rigid discipline were insisted upon amongst waiters in attendance; for on the occasion of our visit it seemed with them a case of "what is everybody's business is nobody's business." As far as the entertainment is concerned, we can hardly speak too highly, it being evidently the determination of the management to set before their patrons a repertoire of excellent vocal and instrumental talent, whose combined efforts go to make up a recherché entertainment. Although the name of Arthur Lloyd has been so many years before the public, the veteran lacks none of his old vigour, and is always well received. Miss Nelly Power retains all her youthful grace and archness of manner, and is a favourite everywhere; her efforts at the Royal the other night being most flatteringly acknowledged. Mr. J. H. Booth, who officiates in so able and genial a manner as chairman, gave some good baritone songs, winning hearty and genuine applause, while Miss Sinclair (as a serio comic), Miss St. Clair (serio and skipping rope dancer), Miss Harriet Vernon, Marie Loftus (with the rather fulsome, nevertheless true, epithet of "the charming songstress), and the Sisters Loamar (the "Royal" favourites), each came in for a fair meed of applause. Disappointment was expressed at the absence, through illness, of Miss Nellie Moon, the favourite cantatrice; but if we omit the "Eccentric Duettists," and the "Characteristic Duettists," neither of whom displayed either much taste or talent, the feminine element are very fairly appreciable. Will Bent, G. W. Hunter, Harry Braham, T. W. Barrett, and F. Jonghmans were all good in their respective parts, and were each most cordially received. Taken altogether, the entertainment was far above mediocre in point of merit, and it is no matter of surprise that with such an admirable bill of fare, large audiences should ever be found attracted to this favourite music hall. To-day (Saturday) there will be a grand morning performance at half-past two o'clock.

WAITERS' FEES.

A propos to our correspondent's letter on this subject, in the last issue of this journal, a writer to the Daily Telegraph says:—

SIR,—Many of us are at length back from our holidays, and have entered upon our civic life again. In our wanderings abroad we have dined wisely and well, and we would do so even now. But a painful fact confronts us—we are once more face to face with the English waiters' fees. With the English waiter himself I have no quarrel; he is as good as any of his fellows, perhaps better. And were I only called upon to signify my sense of his care and attention by a modest gift at the end of any repast I might take at restaurant or dining room, I would not complain. This is, however, merely a third of what is expected of me. I must pay for "attendance" on my bill; I must fee the portly head waiter, with whom, till the moment of paying arrives, I do not come in contact; and after all this must still satisfy the man who has served me with my comestibles, or submit to something very like an insult on quitting the place. Why is this system pursued in England alone? Even in the City of London it is not recognised. Your merchant, broker, shipper, or banking clerk enters his chop-house, eats, and pays at the door as he goes away. He may leave something for the waiter or not, as he pleases. But those of us, forsooth, who do not take our dinner at midday in the City, and who venture into a restaurant west of St. Paul's, must perforce pay at least twice and often three times for "attendance." Surely, the proprietors of dining-rooms should see that it would be to their interest to abolish so obnoxious a tax. The public can only fight against it by staying away. The only time I tried I was defeated. "Attendance" being charged in my bill, I gave the head waiter nothing, but handed a trifle to the waiter who had served me the dinner; whereupon he who had presented the bill told me frankly that I must give him something, seeing that he was paid nothing for his services, and had not only to find himself but all the waiters in the room out of the donations he received from customers. What could I do? I handed him the sum exacted and quitted the establishment, resolved never to enter it again.

EDEN LODGE, No. 1530.

THE installation of Officers of the above Lodge took place on Tuesday, 25th July, at the Masonic Hall, Newton, Auckland. There was a very large and influential attendance on the dais and on the floor of the Lodge, including visitors from sister Lodges. The District Grand Lodge of England attended as a Lodge, composed of Bros. Lodder D.D.G.M., Moat D.G.S. Warden, Rev. W. Tebbs D.G. Registrar, Wade D.G. Secretary, Warren D.G. Treasurer, Haisewell D.G. Sword Bearer, Fenton D.G. Pursuivant, Cole D.G.S.D., Waddel Steward, Katterns D.G.J.D., Leers D.G. Director, Wilcocks D.G. Sup. Works, and Dr. Dawson. From the P.G. Lodge of Ireland there were present the R.W.P.G.M. Bro. Pierce, and Major Burns Director of Ceremonies. There were also present Bros. Rule W.M. United Service, and P.M. Suiter of the same Lodge. Lodge Ara also attended as a Lodge, and comprised the following Officers:—Bros. A. Wright W.M., J. B. Crothers I.P.M., C. Western S.W., G. H. Powley J.W., J. R. Hanna S.D., together with the Stewards, and Bro. Kidd I.G. The Lodge was opened by Bro. Warren, the outgoing W.M., and after preliminaries, Bro. W.M. Moat was called on to perform the duties of Installing Master, an office to which his long experience and thorough knowledge of Masonic ritual enabled him to carry out in a thoroughly efficient and impressive manner. The W.M. elect was presented by Bros. Wade and Warrens P.M.'s, and having been duly installed into the chair of King Solomon, he invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. Y. Warren S.W., C. M. Newson J.W., T. Faulder Treasurer, H. Chapman Secretary, F. Stephens S.D., A. McKemish J.D., A. N. Busby M.C., J. Thompson I.G., S. A. Steel Steward, W. J. Wright Steward, William Johnston Tyler. Apologies for unavoidable attendance were read by letter from Bro. General Gosset W.M. Prince of Wales, and from two members of Lodge Eden. Brother the Rev. W. Tebbs apologised for the unavoidable absence of the Rev. C. M. Nelson D.G. Chaplain, and for Dr. Goldsbro' D.G.J.W. At the close congratulations were received from Lodges Ara, United Service, Prince of Wales, Remuera, Love and Honour (289 England), Sir Walter Scott and Coromandel. Bro. Wade also apologised for the absence of members of the Scottish P.G. Lodge, as they had a Grand Lodge meeting that night. The Lodge having been closed in harmony, the brethren assembled at a banquet in the upper room. Here the most was made of the space, and Bro. McEwen provided a really excellent banquet on a most liberal scale. The W.M. was supported on his right by Bro. Lodder D.D.G.M., and on his left by Bro. G. P. Pierce P.G.M. Seventy-five brethren sat down to table. The substantials being cleared, there was little time left for speaking on the toasts which succeeded. The Chairman proposed the toasts of "The Queen and Craft, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, the M.W.G.M. of England, and the M.W.G.M.'s of Ireland and Scotland, the Duke of Abercorn and the Earl of Mar and Kelley." The latter toast was responded to by Bro. Burns P.M., and Bro. Slater R.W.M. of Lodge St. Andrew. Bro. Slater then proposed "The D.G.M.E.C. and his Officers," to which Bro. Lodder responded. "The P.G.M.'s of the Irish and Scottish Constitutions" was proposed by Bro. Lodder, and responded to by Bro. Pierce. Brother Wade proposed "The Health of the newly-installed W.M.," to which Bro. Kitt made a suitable reply. "Visiting Brethren" was proposed by Bro. Chapman P.M., and responded to by Bro. Waddel W.M. 689 E.C. and Bro. Wright 348 I.C. The toast of the "Installing Master" was proposed by Bro. J. Warren I.P.M., and responded to in suitable and congratulatory terms by Bro. Moat D.G.S.W. The other usual toasts were drunk with honours, and a very enjoyable evening followed.

The Anniversary Meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Sussex will take place, under the presidency of the Right Worshipful Sir Walter Wyndham Burrell, Bart., M.P., Provincial Grand Master, at the Royal Pavilion, on Friday, the 13th day of October next, at half-past two o'clock p.m.

THE UNIVERSALITY OF FREEMASONRY.

THIS is a very wide subject, but admitted on all hands to be the core and kernel of the professions we make as members of a common brotherhood whose branches are spread over the whole of the habitable globe. Freemasonry, in its comprehensive and cosmopolitan sense, forms the platform upon which men of all shades of opinion, all schools of thought, all creeds and ideas, can meet in the freedom of unrestrained harmony and goodfellowship; and nowhere is the word "home" so thoroughly and practically demonstrated as within the precincts of a Masonic Lodge. Here, upon the chequered floor is the only spot on God's earth where are exemplified the true principles of Liberty, Equality, and Fraternity; and they are here found in all their purest and most disinterested fulness. Nations and communities have for centuries aimed at a realisation of this condition of things, but have utterly failed to accomplish the ends embodied in that sentiment. There is no such thing existent, except in theory, as true equality, and man might as well try and add a cubit to his stature as to expect an exact parellel in all the conditions and relations of life. The countenances, the handwritings, and the very thoughts of men, are distinctive and individual, and the axiom of seeing "eye to eye" in all mundane matters is as remote as the discovery of the philosopher's stone or the attainment of perpetual motion. In nature and art, in the sciences, and all the other phases of human affairs, transition and change are the marked indications of every age; progress and retrogression are ever alternate; and as the world keeps moving on, the motto still holds good, "Sic transit gloria mundi." Only in our great, wise, and beneficent scheme is the great problem of universality solved, and that is in the broad, expansive scheme laid at the feet of every man who finds a shelter and a rest beneath the banner of our Ancient and Honourable Institution — who has felt the fraternal grasp of a brother's hand, and known what is meant by the pure and lofty sentiments delineated by the five points of fellowship. Freemasonry has a "domain upon which the sun never sets:" with us the glorious orb is ever at its meridian, and sheds its lavish and gracious benefits upon all, no matter of what nation, kindred, or tongue, from whom have been removed the hoodwink of darkness, and who have been admitted into the fulness of Masonic light. He may traverse the world from pole to zone, and ever find kindred hearts beating in unison with his own; a hearty and genuine welcome everywhere, whether in frigid or torrid climates; amongst strange people, and in strange lands. Indeed, Freemasonry is "the only one touch of Nature which makes the whole world kin," the "open sesame" to the heart of hearts of brethren who are linked together in the universal bonds of "ye mystic tie." When we take up contemporary journals, and find how brethren from our own shores are received, we find in such records only a pleasing counterpart of that which we witness every day in our own Lodges at home—a hearty sympathy and co-operation in the common cause—a brotherly welcome and downright genuine sense of amenity and binding friendship. There is no other section of humanity in which such sentiments are to be found as those which guide and actuate the community of Masons throughout the world. The wide canopy overshadows all, and the lights which illumine the Masonic mind drive away all phantoms of discord and enmity, which are never to be found inside the portals of a Masonic Lodge. To our mind, in theory, and we are bound to say it is very fully borne out in practice, the universality of Freemasonry and the affinities it creates, bring us as near as we can hope for in this sublunary sphere to the millennium of peace and goodwill amongst men. A brother sets out upon a distant voyage, to lands where the habits and customs of his future associates are to him an enigma, and which take him a long time to understand. Upon the vasty deep he meets with brethren who have tastes and aspirations coincident with his own, and those who have participated in the ceremonies of a Lodge at sea will be able to appreciate the true bonds of fellowship which perhaps prevail amongst men of various nationalities. Once on shore he finds, even at the Antipodes, a home; the counsel, advice, and hospitality of friends, as ardent in the cause as himself, as solicitous for his welfare as though he were—as, indeed, he really is—one of their own family circle. In cases of difficulty and distress there is no deaf ear turned to the voice of supplication, but ever a helping hand stretched forth to assuage sorrow and to alleviate necessity. There the man who is a true student of the Divine art can never feel alone. He is a unit in the great commonwealth of brotherly love, relief, and truth, and is surrounded on every side, and hedged in by generous and sympathetic hearts, in whose hands his very inmost secrets and dearest interests are held sacred and inviolate. This is the bright jewel which glitters in the diadem of the Brotherhood, this universal unselfish sympathy, this cordial unity and cohesion, and this unrestrained equality, which permeates the whole system of Freemasonry, which leavens the various sections of society and kneads them into one common whole. True, it may be pointed out that these ideas, though lofty and noble in themselves theoretically, are sometimes deficient in practice; but let our detractors point to any community under the sun in which there are not delinquents—any rule to which there is not an exception. We are often reminded that there is no flock, howsoever well tended, but one black sheep is there. And unquestionably, in the course of experience every one of us has found instances in which men speak sneeringly, and even in terms of disgust almost, at the mere mention of those principles of which they once avowed themselves the exponents, and the principles they at the outset of their Masonic career promised to support. The very suggestion of our cosmopolitan responsibilities running concurrent with our universal advantages is spurned by some men of acerbetive minds and temperaments, who, when appealed to in any cause of charity or co-operation, turn round and plead hurry or other engagements in order to shirk duties which are morally incumbent upon them. But these are the "outsiders," so to speak, of the Craft. They are men who fail to discern the binding responsibilities of their obligation, who have blurred the mirror of their perceptions, and fail to recognise the sublime allegory by which our "beautiful system of morality" is veiled. Starting into life, with everything around them fresh and novel, they overleap themselves with vaulting enthusiasm; but as the stern realism of experience sets in, and the alloy of personal interests and ambition clogs the freedom of their mental aspirations, the universality of Freemasonry becomes a vista, in the mist of which they lose sight of that disinterestedness and truth of character they displayed when they were freely granted the "prodonimant wishes of their hearts." Such men ought never to have joined the Craft. They are like the unstable light which bursts into a rapid flame, and burns ignominiously out with the first gust of an adverse wind. The chief scoffers, however, against the universality of Freemasonry are those who have entered the ranks actuated by "mercenary or other unworthy motives," who have failed to realise their sordid anticipations, and who, crossed and soured in their Masonic hopes; not content with isolating themselves from those who at first welcomed them within their hospitable circle, ready to share the smiles and tears of our common existence, they become querulous and hypercritical, and finally hostile to the professions they once espoused. But this does not one whit affect the broad, grand, and comprehensive principle of the universality of Freemasonry. In the overwhelming majority of Masonic hearts the truth will ever be realised and practically exemplified that we are a band of brothers, knit together by unfaltering, unswerving patriotism and fidelity to each other, and that the ground trodden by Masons should be unstained by even the thought or suspicion of untruthfulness or deceit. The farther the true student of Masonry travels along the path of science, the more deeply he is impressed with the solemnity and vitality of the aphorism "Semper fidelis." The wide-spread canopy of Freemasonry is as pure as it is co-extensive with the firmament itself; the love and affections of true Masons are free and fervent as the air we breathe, or the sunshine which gladdens the surface of the earth; and the aspirations of all firm and true men are sealed towards each other with a never-dying and unalterable intensity. This is no mere sermonising, but the plain and revealed truth in connection with our glorious Order; and they know it best who have tested the conditions which rule and sway the existence and progress of the Craft in all lands. Now that the season has again fully set in, and our Lodges are beginning in earnest the work set before them, we shall receive fresh and welcome testimony to the truth of our assertion that Freemasonry is the universal bond of fellowship and the only exponent of freedom and true friendship all the world over; that personal interests are sunk in the grand scheme of mutual love and help; and that the professions of a common brotherhood are no vain, idle boast, or visionary dream. We shall hear from the lips of those who have imbibed most deeply the true delights of Fremasonry how good and glorious a theme it is that is conveyed in the words at the head of this article, and how generally and truly it is practised amongst the members of the Fraternity. That this spirit of cosmopolitism is increasing in depth and fulness, rather than diminishing, we are quite assured; and that it is the fountain from which good thoughts and noble deeds will continue to emanate can never be doubted by those who have caught the inspiration engendered by a study of the Art, and who are the willing and apt disciples of those glorious tenets embodied in the most free and unfettered system of universal love which can ever be known amongst mankind.

Currency was given last week to a rumour that the Duke of Connaught would probably be appointed by the Prince of Wales to the Grand Mastership of Essex, vacant by the death of Lord Tenterden. It was a rumour, and nothing more, but it was based on a generally received opinion that the appointment would be very popular, and to Freemasons generally, as well as to the Essex Freemasons particularly, would be most acceptable. The Yorkshire Post thinks that as there are several military depots in the country (Colchester, Harwich, Shoeburyness, Tilbury, Purfleet, and Warley), the Duke, being a military officer, would be a suitable Provincial Grand Master. But there are other reasons as well. The Duke of Connaught is a most popular man. He is also a Past Grand Senior Warden, and his younger brother, the Duke of Albany, who is a Past Junior Grand Warden, has already an important province (Oxford), and Freemasons as a body would be glad to see another member of the reigning house in the exalted position of a Provincial Grand Master.—Evening News.

A MASONIC MEETING AT SEA.

A MEETING of Masons was held on board the Trojan, recently, on her outward voyage from Southampton to the Cape. The brethren present who took part in the interesting proceedings of the somewhat novel gathering, mustered about twenty. The sum of £2 12s 6d having been collected, it was decided that it should be devoted to the funds of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, and it was directed to be forwarded to the Secretary of that Institution in London. The following resolution was unanimously adopted:—"That Bro. J. C. Lory Marsh P.M. 567 should, on his return to England, apply to Grand Lodge, to ascertain under what regulations travelling Masons may be permited to hold Lodges of Instruction on board vessels at sea."

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF MIDDLESEX.

THE members of this Province held their annual meeting on Saturday last, the 30th ult., at the Assembly Rooms, Teddington, where there was a very fair attendance of brethren, who assembled to meet the Provincial Grand Master, Sir Francis Burdett, Bart. Amongst those present were Bros. Sir Charles T. Bright P.D.G.M., Raymond H. Thrupp P.S.G.W., E. S. Blaikie P.J.G.W., H. G. Buss P.G. Treasurer, H. C. Levander P.G. Sec., C. Harding P.S.G.D., H. M. Gordon P.G.J.D., Thomas Nash P.G.D.C., R. Lonsdale P.A.D.C., W. H. Goodall P.G.S.B., G. J. Dunkley P.G. Organist, Isaac Dixon P.G. Pursuivant, J. Gilbert P.G. Tyler, C. Ross, Bird, Pearson P.G. Stewards; amongst the Past Prov. Grand Officers were Bros. F. Davison, H. Briggs, Thomas Massa, T. C. Walls, J. Linzell, W. Stephens, G. W. Kenning, E. B. Bright, Dr. Ernest Brette, G. Tidcombe, T. W. Ockenden, A. B. Day, G. Hopwood, &c. &c. The Provincial Grand Lodge was opened soon after three o'clock, when the rolls of Provincial Grand Officers and of Lodges were called. It will be seen by the list we give above that the Prov. Grand Officers had loyally obeyed the summons of their Prov. Grand Master, while out of the thirty-one Lodges combined in the Province, all but four were represented. The minutes of the last Provincial Grand Lodge were read and adopted, and then the Reports of the Audit and Charity Committees were presented, and assented to by the members. The election of Provincial Grand Treasurer resulted in the re-appointment of Bro. H. G. Buss Assistant Grand Secretary. The appointment and investment of Provincial Grand Officers was then made as follows:—

The following sums were granted from the Benevolent Fund:—To the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, £10 10s; Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, £10 10s; Royal Masonic Institution for Aged Masons, £10 10s. With respect to the motion of Bro. Clabon P.G.D. in Grand Lodge, 10th June 1882, to increase the Quarterly Payments to Grand Lodge, it was unanimously agreed that any change was undesirable; and as regards the Communication of Grand Secretary in reference to the Royal College of Music, a formal motion was agreed to that Col. Shadwell H. Clerke should be thanked for his letter. After a few other matters had received attention, Prov. Grand Lodge was closed. A banquet was afterwards served, but the arrangements made did not receive that cordial approval that might be desired. Brethren who attended seemed to realise that we are approaching the chilly season of the year, and however desirable a "cold" collation may be in the dog days, for the last day of September such an arrangement is hardly to be commended. Moreover, many of those present had made "a day of it," and had fortified themselves for a good dinner by "a good long walk," and for such as these the delicacies of a confectioners's "set out" were of too "unsubstantial" a character. However, the repast was done ample justice to by some, while others threatened what they would do to satisfy their hunger when they returned to town. On the removal of the cloth, Sir Francis Burdett proposed the first toast, "The Queen and the Craft." It might be said Her Majesty for many years had been revelling in a bed of roses, but she had lately passed through a period of great anxiety as to the welfare of her troops in Egypt. After the National Anthem, the Most Worshipful the Grand Master H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, K.G., was toasted; and then the Right Worshipful the Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Carnarvon. K.G.; the Right Worshipful the Deputy Grand Master, the Earl of Lathom; and the Grand Officers, Present and Past. In speaking of the Grand Officers, the R.W. Prov. G. Master particularly mentioned the services of the Deputy G. Master the Earl of Lathom, who was not only popular in his Province, but was universally honoured in consequence of his great efforts to promote the prosperity of Freemasonry in every way. The rest of the G. Officers were equally deserving of praise and support, as they were the mainstay of the Order. The Prov. G. Lodge were fortunate that evening in having before them three Grand Officers, viz., Bros. Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke, Buss, and Levander. He should couple the name of Bro. Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke Grand Secretary, who was always ready and willing to do all he could for the good of Freemasonry. Bro. Clerke said that so important a toast required a long speech; but as they (the members of the Province of Middlesex) on former occasions had heard him expatiate on the merits of the Officers comprising Grand Lodge, he had nothing new to offer them, further than that every year the Grand Lodge of England grew in importance, by the admission into its Councils of many distinguished noblemen and gentlemen. The Province of Middlesex fortunately possessed the services of two very good and able Grand Officers, namely, Bros. Buss and Levander. It afforded him great satisfaction to witness the progress of the Province of Middlesex under the genial sway of their popular Prov. Grand Master, Bro. Sir Francis Burdett. The health of the R.W. Prov. Grand Master was heartily proposed by Bro. Thrupp, who said he felt extreme diffidence in giving this toast, as he could not do justice to all the good qualities that Bro. Sir Francis Burdett possessed; suffice it to say he was a pure Englishman. They all knew him as an able Mason; but he (the speaker) had heard of his popularity in Wiltshire, and elsewhere, as a kind and generous landlord. Sir Francis said it had always been his desire, not to pose as Prov. Grand Master, but to do the best he could for his fellow men. It had given him great pleasure to assist others with whom he had been associated. The Provincial Grand Master gave the Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Provincial Grand Officers, coupled with the name of Bro. Thrupp, who gracefully acknowledged the compliment. Bros. Buss and Levander responded for the Treasurer and Secretary. With the toast of the Visitors was coupled the name of Brother Alfred Brookman W.M. of the Aldersgate Lodge, who thanked Sir Francis for the great honour he had done him. The Masonic Charities was next given. Brother Terry, after replying, took occasion to mention that the next Festival of the Benevolent Institution would be held under the presidency of General Brownrigg, the Provincial Grand Master for the neighbouring county of Surrey, when he respectfully hoped that Bro. Sir Francis Burdett might be kindly induced to support his brother-in-arms by acting as Steward for the Province of Middlesex. The musical arrangements for the evening were entrusted to Bro. G. S. Graham, who ably fulfilled the task allotted him. He was assisted by Bros. W. Sexton, Charles White, Henry Prenton, and Michael Watson. We may mention here that Bro. Graham, who is a genial and talented artist, will give his Seventeenth Annual Concert, under royal and distinguished patronage, at the St. Andrew's Hall, Balham, on Thursday, the 26th inst., on which occasion he will doubtless receive the support of many of his brother Masons.

The Secretary to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys gratefully acknowledges a donation of Fifty Guineas from a Member of the Court of Common Council towards the Preparatory School Building Fund.

Bro. A. M. Broadley, who is retained as counsel for Arabi Pasha, was counsel for the late Mr. Levy in the Enfida case; he is also the author of "Tunis Past and Present."

It has been arranged that the annual Provincial Grand Lodge of Mark Masons for Hampshire shall take place this year at Gosport. The date selected is Saturday, the 21st of October.

The ceremony of installation will be rehearsed in the Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, No. 1507, at the Moorgate, 15 Finsbury-pavement, E.C., on Monday, the 9th instant, by Bro. W. M. Stiles W.M. 1507, P.M. 1732, Secretary 1744. Brethren are cordially invited. No visitors' fee is charged at this Lodge of Instruction. At 7.30 p.m.

The Freemasons' Tavern is about to be fitted up with Messrs. Merryweather and Sons' improved and inexpensive high pressure fire extinguishing apparatus, for the new proprietors, Messrs. Spiers and Pond. The Novelty Theatre, immediately opposite the Tavern, is being similarly protected, and by the same renowned firm.

Our readers are reminded that the annual meeting of the Montague Guest Lodge, No. 1900, when Bro. G. P. Festa will be installed in succession to Bro. W. H. Dean P.P.G.S.B. of Dorset, will take place on Wednesday next, at the Inns of Court Hotel, Holborn, when a large and distinguished assemblage is expected. On Thursday night Bro. Dean rehearsed the ceremony of installation at the Union Tavern, Aire Street, Regent Street, where there was a goodly assemblage of the brethren, all of whom were much interested and instructed by the manner in which the work was done. We hope next week to be able to congratulate the first Master upon the successful and fitting termination of his reign. Surely no brother has more deservedly won the Past Master's jewel.

We have been written to, by one of the supporters of the candidate, in reference to the remarks which we made in our issue of the 23rd ult., relative to the case of B. A. Cookes, No. 14 on the list for the coming election of the Girls' School. The brother who writes, and who we know is working hard to secure the girl's election, gives particulars, which certainly establish the worthiness of the child to receive the support of the general body of subscribers. Our request for further information was not made so much in reference to this case in particular, as it was for further details in every case. It would be better for all—candidates, parents, and general supporters—if the future ballot sheets gave details on which it would be possible to form some sort of opinion as to worthiness.

Following the resolution of Grand Lodge on the 6th ult., there has been issued from Grand Secretary's office to the Masters of all Lodges under the English Constitution, a copy of the Revision of the Book of Constitutions, which the Board of General Purposes submit for the consideration of the Craft, and on which it will have to determine at special Grand Lodges in February next. It consists of a book of 112 pages and 308 sections, the drafting and arranging of which have occupied the attention of the Board for eighteen months. The discussion which will ensue on these rules, when brought before Grand Lodge, must be very long, and no doubt the objections will be numerous, but it cannot be denied that as they now stand the new Constitutions are designed for the general welfare of the Order, and must commend themselves to the goodwill of the best-thinking Freemasons. Taking, however, only the new arrangement of the rules, the book is far in advance of the volume now in use, inasmuch as the rules are arranged methodically, having regard to their bearing and sequence, and they are all numbered consecutively, so that the number alone will be a complete reference to each rule.—Evening News.

The illuminated address from the Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar Lodge to Lord Charles Beresford is, we hear, to be presented in London, as his Lordship contemplates proceeding to Scotland without delay. It heartily congratulates Lord Charles upon his safe return, after having, in the discharge of his duty, been exposed to many perils both by sea and by land. The members of the Lodge state that they have read, with pride and gratification, the accounts of his gallant deeds before the enemy, and of the valuable service he has rendered to his country, by which he has worthily maintained the traditions of the distinguished family of which he is a member, and has shed additional lustre upon the noble profession to which he belongs. To the members of the Lodge, of which he was the first Worshipful Master and one of the founders, his well merited promotion is a source of the greatest pleasure, and the brethren trust that he may be spared many years to be an ornament to the Navy, and to render valuable service to Freemasonry.—Portsmouth Times.

Remarkable Bicycle Ride.—The 24 hours' Road Competition, promoted by the manufacturers of the "Facile" Safety Bicycle, took place on Saturday last. The event has attracted great interest among bicyclists and others, and the start was made from Anderton's Hotel at 12 midnight on Friday, in the presence of an immense gathering of spectators. There were 26 starters, and the result of the race was as follows:—1st prize, value £10 10s, won by Walter Snook; distance ridden in the 24 hours, 214½ miles. 2nd prize, value £6 6s, won by W. F. Sutton; distance ridden, 198 miles. 3rd prize, value £4 4s, won by C. H. Cole; distance ridden, 189 miles. Besides the above, 14 riders are entitled to the gold medal, value £3 3s, having accomplished 150 miles, and 2 to the silver medal, value £1 1s (128 miles). All the competitors rode "Facile" bicycles, varying in size from 36in. to 44in., and taken altogether the performance of the winner may be considered the most remarkable that has yet been accomplished upon the "silent steed." The whole arrangements for checking the race were in the hands of Mr. P. G. Coleman, official timekeeper to the Bicycle Union.

In consequence of the great demand for No. 1 of the New Series of the Pictorial World, containing the coloured Portrait of Sir Garnet Wolseley, and the commencement of Miss Braddon's Tale "The Golden Calf," the Proprietors have reprinted, at very great cost, the entire Number, which will be re-issued on Monday next, 9th October. On 21st October will appear a coloured Portrait of the Right Hon. William Ewart Gladstone, being the first of a series of Political Portraits.

The Fifteen Sections will be Worked by the Members of the Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, No. 1056, at the "Cambria Tavern," Cambria Road, Loughboro' Junction, on Monday, the 9th day of October, 1882, commencing at 7 o'clock in the evening precisely.

On Monday evening of last week an entertainment was given to 500 boys and girls at Berner-street Board School, St. Georges-in-the East. They were entertained by the Rev. J. M. Fidler, of St. Mathew's Church, Princes-square, St. George's East; each child also received a bag of biscuits, kindly given by Messrs. Huntly and Palmer, and Messrs. Peek, Frean and Co. On Tuesday evening a second entertainment was given to nearly 400 infants, who received a bag of biscuits, and by the kindness of Messrs. Allen and Sons, of Canal-road, Mile-end, each child received a prize packet of sweets. Dissolving views were exhibited by the Rev. J. M. Fidler and a gentleman from the Shoreditch Tabernacle.

Lewis's Penny Readings.—A pennyworth of pure literature is one of the best investments that can be made by any "man, woman, or young person"—as the Factories Acts have it—who desires to have recreation, amusement, companionship and instruction constantly at hand. One of the very largest and best pennyworths of this commodity that we have ever seen has just been issued by a firm whose extensive trading organisation has enabled them to produce a marvellous example of cheap publications. Lewis's, the famous house whose warehouses and stores occupy so prominent a position in Market-street, Manchester, have given their name to a handsome book of 130 excellently printed pages, entitled Lewis's Penny Readings," containing admirable selections from the best poets, prose writers, orators, and humourists of the last two or three centuries, and sold for one Penny; or persons at a distance can obtain a copy by sending 2½d in stamps. Nothing could be added to the mere mention of this enterprise that could increase its suggestiveness.

Brother Rev. H. G. Donavia Hunt Mus. B., F.R.A.S., delivered the inaugural address of the session at the distribution of certificates and other awards to the successful students of Trinity College on Tuesday evening.

Bartlett 185, Horace White J.D. 1257, Ruff P.M. 95, J. Garrod P.M. 754, J. W. T. Chapman J.W. 922, C. Evans I.G. 1922 W. G. Dickins P.M. 860, George Read P.M. 511, J. H. Pearson P.M. 1567 P.D.C. Middlesex. Donald Clark P.M. 1632, R. Burleton P.M. 1681, H. Cross J.W. 586, J. H. Hawkins P.M. 1693, Thomas Cross W.M. 1194, S. White 1426, A. Millward W.M. elect 1677, R. Day 201, J. T. Dufroy I.G. 1275, A. Runacres P.M. 1558. After the minutes had been read and confirmed, the Report of the Audit Committee, was presented, and unanimously adopted. Bro. Henry Cross was elected a joining member, and then Bro. William James Fortescue was raised to the sublime degree, and Bros. George J. Picking and William Hopkins were passed. Both ceremonies were performed by the I.P.M., Bro. J. R. Taylor. Lodge was then called off, and after a brief interval, the W.M. elect, Bro. Thomas Markland, was presented to Bro. Past Master J. R. Taylor, who had kindly undertaken the duties of Installing Officer. The obligation was duly administered, the brethren below the rank of I.M. retired, a Board of Masters was opened, and the ceremony proceeded. On the re-admission of the brethren, the new W.M. was saluted in the three degrees, and the following were appointed Officers for the ensuing twelve months:—H. Cox S.W., W. G. Cole J.W., J. G. Unite P.M. Treasurer, Edward Witts P.M. Secretary, E. G. Banks (named as) S.D., A. C. Rawlings J.D., A. A. Tartas I.G., J. Maples P.M. M.C., R. J. Taylor P.M. W.S., E. E. Heyworth A.W.S, T. Bowler Tyler. The addresses were delivered by Bro. Taylor, who fully realised all that had been expected of him. We may here say these expectations were of a high standard, and based upon what had been evidenced as to ability by his efforts in the earlier part of the days' proceedings. A proposition for a rejoining member was submitted to the Lodge for next meeting, and the resignation of a brother tendered, and accepted, with regret. Hearty good wishes were submitted and Lodge was closed. The proprietors of this well-known hotel supplied a most enjoyable banquet, Bro. Arthur Clemow personally superintending the service. On removal of the cloth, Grace—For these and all Thy mercies—was sung, and the W.M., Bro. Markland, gave the Loyal toasts. Bro. Barham, in brief but expressive terms, proposed the health of the W.M. Bro. Markland had only just been installed, but the members had every confidence in his ability to rule the Lodge, which doubtless during his year would continue its career of prosperity, while the happy feeling of sympathy amongst its members would, if possible, be extended. After a song by Bro. H. Cross—"Hearts of Oak"—came Bro. Millbank's reply. He was much gratified at the way in which the toast had been received. He could but feel flattered at the unanimous manner in which he had been elected to the highest position in the Lodge. The way in which he had been received that evening was intensely gratifying. He would do all he could to advance the interests of the members. Short speeches were the order of the evening, and, under the circumstances, he would conclude by again heartily thanking the brethren, one and all, for the reception they had given him. Here Brother Heney favoured with a song. For the Visitors, Bros. Poore and Lilley replied. In replying to the toast of the Installing Master, Bro. Taylor, after acknowledging the cordial remarks of the W.M. in introducing the toast, felt he had only done his duty; if the brethren were satisfied with his exertions, he was amply repaid for any trouble he had been at. A Past Master's jewel was presented to the outgoing Master, who gracefully acknowledged the compliment, at the same time he recognised his many shortcomings, which the brethren had graciously overlooked. The other toasts customary on these occasions were done full honour to, and able replies were elicited. Bro. T. Poore gave a popular selection from the works of Dickens. There were several other recitals, and the harmony of the evening was well sustained; in this regard Bros. H. Mann, A. Millward, Picket, and Chapman, especially deserve praise.

Lodge of Joppa, No. 188.—The first regular meeting of this Lodge was held on the 2nd inst., at the Albion Tavern Aldersgate-street. Bro. L. M. Myers W.M. in the chair, Bros. J. Benjamin S.W., N. Martin J.W., E. P. Albert P.G.P. Secretary, J. S. Lyon Treasurer, G. Bean S.D., A. Botibol J.D., L. Wall I.G., P. E. Van Noorden Organist, L. Lazarus P.M. M.C., J. Wynman and S. B. Alexander Stewards; P.M.'s R. Baker I.P.M., L. Alexander, S. Hickman, H. M. Levy, M. Alexander, L. Lazarus and Roberts. Visitors—N. S. Marks I G. 368 Melbourne, F. A. Pullen J.W. 742, G. Bohn 405, E. M. Cottrill 30, San Francisco, Marcus 1839, J. S. Lewis 490, W. Birdseye 715, J. Samuel 205, Fletcher W.M. 180, Isaacs 19, New York, S. Davis late 188, Baker 244, Brown P.M. New Jersey, U.S. After preliminary business, Bros Deering and Lack were passed to the second degree. Ballots were taken for the admission of Messrs Lorie and L. Davis, who were initiated into the Order in a way that reflected great credit on the W.M. for his perfect working. Bro. J. Levy was elected a joining member. Messrs. Henry Marks and W. H. Bacon were proposed for initiation. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren, eighty-three in number, sat down to a sumptuous and récherché banquet and dessert, provided by Bro. Jennings, and superintended by Bro. M. Silver. The W.M. proposed the Queen and the Craft, and the National Anthem was given, Miss Pattie Laverne singing the solo verses. This having received a most enthusiastic reception, the toasts of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M.; the Earl of Carnarvon Pro G.M.; the Earl of Lathom D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers of the Grand Lodge of England followed in quick succession. Bro. E. P. Albert P.G.P. responded for the G. Officers. The W.M. next proposed the toast of the Benevolent Fund, coupled with the name of Bro. L. Alexander Past President. Miss Laverne sang the "Surprise," and was deservedly applauded. Bro. L. Alexander P.M., in responding to the toast, said he was pleased to inform those present that the newly-initiated brethren had each given the sum of 21s. The W.M. proposed the toast of the Initiates, Bros. Lorie and Davis; one he had known for many years, and the other, by the recommendations he had brought, would doubtless become a credit to the Order. In order to save time, with this toast he would associate the name of Bro. Levy, their newly elected joining member. Bro. L. Davis was the first to reply, and he was followed by Bro. Lorie, who said the solemnity of the proceedings had so impressed him that he could scarcely find words to speak. It had long been his earnest desire to become a Freemason, and he had now accomplished his wish. To speak metaphorically, he might say he had stepped on the first rung of the ladder, and he trusted he might be able to ascend to the top. The joining member also spoke, and thanked the brethren for their reception of the toast. Bro. R. Baker I.P.M. then rose; he had only to mention the name of the W.M. and he knew how the toast would be received. They had seen how excellently Bro. Myers had performed the ceremonies, and how firmly he upheld the dignity of the Lodge, while as a president he was second to none. The members would regret when his year of office was over. No better man or Mason exists. The W.M. thanked Bro. Baker for speaking of him in such glowing terms. If he had given them satisfaction, it was most pleasant to receive their approval. The other toasts comprised the Visitors, responded to by Bros. Marks, Baker, Brown and Fletcher. Brother Richard Baker responded for the Past Masters. The Treasurer, Brother Lyon, and the Secretary, Brother Albert, each acknowledged the compliment paid them, and Brother Benjamin replied for the other Officers. The W.M. deserves great praise for the way in which he exerted himself for the entertainment of the brethren. A talented company had been engaged, under the direction of Brother P. E. Van Noorden. The brethren gave a hearty welcome to Miss Pattie Laverne, who is an old favourite with the members of the Joppa. Her rendering of Brother Van Noorden's "Yet," deserves special praise.

Audley Lodge, No. 1898.—The first meeting of the season was held on Tuesday, 26th ult., in the Lodge-room, Town Hall, Newport, Salop. The W.M. Bro. John Bodenham P.P.S.G.W. North Wales and Shropshire, P.G. Treasurer Staffordshire, presided, and was supported by Bros. Lieut.-Col. Masefield S.W., C. R. Gordon, D.D., Prov. G. Chaplain J.W., James Smart P.M. P.P.G.O., J. W. Thompson P.M. P.G. Steward, and a full muster of members of the Lodge. The occasion was invested with special interest by the presence of W. Bro. W. Masefield Grand Standard Bearer P.D.P.G.M. Worcestershire, who is a native of Newport, and an honorary member of this Lodge. During the recess an address of congratulation, signed by all the members of the Lodge, was presented to Bro. Masefield. This was now ordered to be entered on the minutes, and Bro. Masefield suitably acknowledged the compliment. At the close of the business, the brethren adjourned to a banquet, provided by Bro. Bird, which, by a singular coincidence, was held in the house where the venerable guest of the evening was born, eighty-two years ago. The building has, it is scarcely necessary to add, undergone various changes, both of business and of form, during the period that has elapsed. The W.M. in proposing the Officers of Grand Lodge, took occasion to remark the probably unique circumstances under which Bro. Masefield was present, and expressed the gratification of all the members of the Lodge at the honour reflected on it by having on its roll, and present with them, a native of the town, whose Masonic career had commanded such deep and general respect, and on whom Grand Lodge honours had been so well and worthily bestowed. The other visitors were Bros. James Senior W.M. 726, Charles Fleet P.M. 117, and Duncan Guilding (Brecon).

ST. GEORGE'S LODGE, No. 1723, BOLTON.

THE first meeting after the vacation was held on Wednesday, the 27th September, at the Commercial Hotel, Bolton, at half past six o'clock in the evening. Bros. William Court W.M., Latham S.W., Cosgrave as J.W., N. Nicholson P.M. Secretary, J. W. Taylor M.C., T. E. Smith Organist, Priestley as Chaplain, T. B. Tong I.G., J. W. Roiley Tyler. P.M.'s Bros. G. P. Brockbank P. Prov. S.G.D., J. Morris, J. M. Rutter, J. H. Greenhalgh; Derham, Parkinson, Morris, Naylor, Bardsley, Goulburn. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, it was resolved to contribute the sum of £1 1s to the John Hervey Testimonial Fund. An address of condolence was agreed to be sent to the widow of Bro. T. T. Holt, late Organist of the Lodge, who had, during his brief career as a Mason, made himself exceedingly useful—particularly in regard to the musical arrangements—in conducting the proceedings of the Lodge. The sympathy of the brethren was also conveyed to the Senior Warden, who since the last meeting had been bereaved of his wife and child. It was resolved that the congratulations of this Lodge, as the youngest, be cordially conveyed, on the occasion of the Sesqui-Centennial meeting on the 23rd October 1882, to the members of the Anchor and Hope Lodge, No. 37, being the oldest Lodge in the town, and also in the Provinces in England, which has continued to meet uninterruptedly for a period of 150 years. Bro. Blain I.P.M. delivered the lecture on the tracing board in the first degree, and was highly complimented by the Past Masters and other brethren for the pleasing and effective manner in which he conveyed his information. He was requested to continue his efforts to introduce this method of Masonic instruction to the brethren. Lodge closed at 8 p.m. The brethren adjourned to banquet, the after proceedings being considerably enlivened by the assistance of Bro. Smith and other brethren who displayed considerable musical talent.

Skelmersdale Lodge, No. 1658.—The first regular meeting of the above excellent working Lodge was held on the 28th ult., at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell. The Lodge was draped in black, and the brethren wore Masonic mourning, out of respect to the memory of a late member of the Lodge, Bro. E. E. Levy. There was a full attendance of members and visitors. Amongst the latter were Bros. Rusk 1051, G. Stokes I.G. 1558, R. P. Hart 1348, E. P. Storr P.M. 22, A. Marston 158, J. Watts P.M. 507, H. M. Levy P.M. 188. The W. M. Bro. Albert Storr occupied the chair; he was supported by Bros. J. Cox S.W., S. Boys J.W., Earney P.M. Treas, J. Hill Sec., J. Darwin S.D., Smith M.C., P.M.'s J. Thorp, Larlham, Earney, &c. The Lodge was formally opened, and the minutes of the last regular, and emergency meeting on the 22nd June, were read and confirmed. Bro. F. J. Tull was passed to the second degree, and Bro. H. C. Hill was raised to the third. Both ceremonies were perfectly and impressively conducted by the W.M., while the assistance rendered by the Officers left nothing to be desired. Ballots were taken for the admission of Messrs. H. Seabourne, A. M. Leach, and F. F. Leach. The candidates were not present, but were accepted and will be initiated at a future meeting. Mr. H. F. Phillips was named as a candidate for initiation. Bro. Hill Sec. proposed that a letter of condolence be sent to the widow and family of the late Bro. E. E. Levy, expressing the Lodge's sympathy with them in their bereavement. The W.M. said he fully supplemented the kind remarks of the proposer and seconder; the late Bro. Levy was one whom they all respected. Bro. J. Hill Secretary proposed, and Bro. H. Coben seconded, that the first paragraph of Bye Law No. 8 should be amended as follows: "That the initiation fee shall be £5 5s, and the joining fee £3 3s at such times as the number of members shall not exceed 30. When more than thirty, and not exceeding 50, the initiation fee shall be £7 7s, and the joining fee £4 4s, and when over fifty and not exceeding seventy, then the initiation fee shall be £9 9s, and the joining fee £5 5s. At such times as the number of members shall exceed seventy the initiation fee shall be £12 12s, and the joining fee £8 8s." This was carried unanimously. That the sixth paragraph of Bye-law No. 8 shall read—"The visitors' fee for the installation shall be 12s 6d, and for refreshment on other evenings 5s, and any brother introducing a visitor shall be responsible for the payment of the fee for the same." That the seventh paragraph of Bye-law No. 8 shall be altered as under—"The W. Master shall be privileged to invite two visitors to banquet or refreshment at the expense of the Lodge. At the installation meeting, the W. Master and the W. Master elect shall each be entitled to invite two visitors to the banquet, and if the out-going Master does not instal his successor, the brother who may be called upon to officiate as Installing Master shall have the privilege of inviting one guest to the banquet at the expense of the Lodge." Both these amendments were likewise assented to. That a new Bye-law, No. 8A, shall be inserted as follows:—"That one guinea shall be deducted from each and every Initiation-fee, throughout the current year, if the funds will allow it, and also that 3s be taken from every member's paid annual subscription to form a 'Benevolent Fund:' also that when the balance at the end of the year, after all and every liability have been paid, shall exceed twenty pounds, that the sum of ten guineas shall be placed to the account of the Benevolent Fund, and that votes in different Masonic Charities be obtained in its name by the Lodge. That a book shall be kept by the Secretary for recording the account of the Benevolent Fund, with the names and addresses of the brethren, and full particulars of each of their votes, which may and have been obtained by this Bye-law." This proposition was also carried. Hearty good wishes were tendered by the Visitors, and the brethren sat down to a very excellent dinner, ably supplied by Bro. Venables. The W.M., who very genially presided, proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts in brief but appropriate terms. Bro. Thorp I.P.M. proposed the health of the W.M. They had not all seen how ably Bro. Albert Storr had discharged the duties of the chair during his year of office, but they had seen how he had performed the ceremonies of raising and passing. He hoped they would give the toast the reception it merited. The W.M., in reply, said he could not but be thankful for their kind expressions. In the year 1877 a few brethren established this Lodge. It was agreed that it should be called after Lord Skelmersdale, our worthy Deputy Grand Master, who had given the members permission to use his coat of arms. They never expected in such a short space of time to see the Lodge so prosperous, nor could they have anticipated the acquisition of such brethren as constituted its members. Personally, he was proud to see how it had progressed, and he would say, God speed the Lodge. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors, they were honoured by the presence of many brethren who were distinguished in Freemasonry. He would call on Bros. H. M. Levy P.M. 188, Storr P.M. 22, Watts P.M. 507 to respond. These brethren severally replied. Bro. Storr dwelt especially on the notice of motion for a Benevolent Fund to be attached to the Lodge, and warmly advocated the claims of the three Masonic Charities. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Past Masters; they were not numerous, but they are patterns for imitation. While they had such P.M.'s as Bros. Thorpe, Earney, Larlham, and Cass, the Lodge must prosper. Bro. Earney P.M. said it was a great pleasure to see a Lodge only five years old establishing a Benevolent Fund. He was sure it would be a success; anything that he and the P.M.'s could do for the advancement and the interests of the members would be willingly undertaken. The W.M., in proposing the toast of the Wardens and Officers, said the S.W. and J.W. had done their duty well, and he looked forward to see some excellent working in the Lodge. As to the worthy Secretary, Bro. Hill, the members were all greatly indebted to him, and hoped eventually to see him attain the proud position of the chair. The toast was ably responded to by the Senior and Junior Wardens. Bro. Earney P.M. Treasurer also acknowledged the compliment. The W.M informed the brethren that the Lodge of Instruction meets every Friday evening, at the Surrey Masonic Hall, where Bro. Hill is the Preceptor. He (the W.M.) was always ready to assist Bro. Hill, and thus enable the brethren to become perfect in the working. Before parting he had much pleasure in proposing the health of those who had so ably contributed to the harmony of the evening. Bro. Benjamin's splendid singing, accompanied by Bro. Zucker, and Bro. Humphrey Coben's recital of Bro. G. R. Sims' "Christmas Day in the Workhouse," and a selection from "Pickwick," it had been a pleasure to listen to. The Tyler's toast completed the business of the evening.

Brixton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1949.—On Tuesday, the 3rd inst., at Bro. Monck's, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, East Brixton. There was a good attendance of brethren, including Bros. Poore W.M., C. H. Phillips S.W., G. W. Knight J.W., E. A. Francis Preceptor, Hy. M. Williams Secretary, H. Stokes S.D., H. Durham J.D., J. E. Farr I.G.; also Bros. W. Lucas, Croucher, Albert, Pooler, Axford, Bigg, Serjeant, and J. V. Henirich. The work comprised the rehearsal of the ceremony of initiation, which was ably done by the W.M., with Bro. Bigg as candidate. Bro. Albert proved his proficiency, and was entrusted. Lodge was opened in the second degree, and the ceremony of passing was creditably rehearsed by the W.M., with Bro. Albert as candidate. Lodge was closed in the second degree. Three new members were unanimously elected, and Bro. Phillips was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

ROTHESAY LODGE No. 1687.

HELD its sixth installation meeting at the Inns of Court Hotel, Lincoln's-Inn-Fields, on the 4th inst. A prominent feature was the Lodge banner, with arms of H.R.H. the M.W.G.M., this being one of the Prince of Wales's titles. The chair was occupied by Bro. Docker I.P.M., in the unavoidable absence of the W.M., Bro. Crossland, who is now sojourning in Canada. Bros. Duret S.W., L. Beck P.P.G.O. Middlesex Treasurer, W. C. Parsons P.M. Secretary, F. Green sen. S.D., Valeriani J.D., F. V. Green I.G.; P.M. J. Hancock, and a goodly attendance of members and brethren; amongst the latter being Bros. Raynham W. Stewart P.G.D., L. de Stephani W.M. Il Dovere I. Lugani, Dr. Ramsay P.P.G.S.D. Middlesex, H. Harvey 749, L. Ruf P M. 12, Warner P.G.S., Festa W.M. elect 1900, Blackie 1426, Simms 207, Hobbs 209, Grozan 256, Cloots, Higgins 1563, Strong, G. Solomon 9, H. M. Levy P.M. 188, Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. W. C. Parsons P.M. and Secretary of the Lodge was inducted into the chair by Bro. Docker I.P.M., whose working in the Lodge for two years has been so uniformly good that every brother fully anticipated a display of ability on his undertaking the ceremony of installation. Bro. Docker, on its conclusion, received the applause of the brethren and Visitors, after the customary salutations, which were given in ancient form, the newly-installed Master appointed and invested his Officers. Brother L. Beck P.M. and Founder, P.P.G.O. Middlesex I.P.M. acted as M.C.:—Bros. Duret S.W., Green sen. J.W., L. Beck Treas., Docker Sec., Valeriani S.D., Green jun. J.D., Moule I.G., J. Smith A.M.C., Potter Tyler. The applause that followed the appointment of each Officer showed the W.M. had selected those brethren who, like himself, would work for the credit of the Order. The W.M. stated that a member of the Lodge had recently died in distressed circumstances, and a sum of five pounds was voted, to be given to the widow, from the Benevolent Fund. This being the first application for the benefits it was established to dispense. Bro. Valeriani S.D. announced his intention to serve as Steward at the next Anniversary Festival of the Boys' School; he hoped to have the co-operation of the brethren, and to take up a good list. Hearty good wishes were given by the numerous visitors, and the brethren, 39 in number, sat down to a very excellent banquet and dessert provided by Bro. Gosden, and superintended by Bro. Smith. The W.M. in eulogistic terms proposed the toast of the Queen and the Craft, Bro. Beaumont and Miss Beck singing the solo verses of the National Anthem. The toast of the M.W.G.M. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales was fully honoured, as were also those of the Pro Grand Master the Earl of Carnarvon, the Deputy G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers of the Grand Lodge of England. The W.M. said the Lodge that night was honoured with the presence of a Grand Officer—Bro. Raynham W. Stewart P.G.D. Not only as a member of Grand Lodge, but also as a worker in connection with the Charities, is he well known; he (the W.M.) was pleased to have so distinguished a Mason present. Bro. Stewart said when the M.W.G.M. gave this Lodge permission to use his title he was assured the members would never abuse it; theirs was a Lodge worthy the confidence of the Craft. The W.M., Bro. Parsons, knew his duties thoroughly; a man the Craft was proud of. Bro. L. Beck I.P.M. proposed what he described as the toast of the evening. The W.M. had paid the greatest attention to the duties of his office, and the brethren that evening had seen his qualifications, not only in that respect, but in many others; this Lodge was indebted to him for his exertions in the cause of Charity; he would ask them to drink the toast with the enthusiasm it merited; their W.M. was a man who was respected in every capacity. The W.M. said he was indebted to Bro. L. Beck for his kind remarks. He was one of the Founders of the Lodge; he was proud to say he had received great assistance from Bro. Beck. When he was initiated it was by an Italian, that was seven years ago. Bro. Docker is a Belgian, and the next Master he hoped would be a Frenchman; he wished to pay a good and just compliment to Bro. Docker, who had installed him into the chair. He had done so, he might say, without any effort, although he had to master the difficulties of two languages. This he had done thoroughly, as they had heard, not only to-night, but on many occasions—he is one whom they all respect. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors, to whom he gave a hearty welcome. Bro. Stoppani, No. 1, Lugani, in a very exhaustive speech responded. Bro. Festa followed; he was proud to see the W.M. in the chair; he knew no better working Mason, nor one who had the interests of the Craft more at heart. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the P.M.'s. There were only three present—Bros. Docker, Hancock, and Beck. Last, but not the least worthy, was Bro. Docker, whom he had invested with the Collar of Secretary. He is already most anxious to do good in Masonry, and where there is working Bro. Docker is always ready to assist. Bro. Docker, in responding, said he had done what he could for their comfort; his services were at their disposal, not only in his old, but in his new capacity. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Wardens and Officers. The S.W. had now filled that office for two years. It would be a great pleasure to say that it was with his concurrence that he, the W.M., had been elected. Bro. Duret said it gave him great satisfaction to be among them once again; he was pleased to see so many members of the Lodge present, and he hoped in time to occupy the chair. Bro. Green J.W. endorsed the remarks of the previous speaker. He took a great pleasure in attending Lodges of Instruction; it was evident the members of the Lodge had also done so, and to that fact he attributed the efficiency exhibited. Several others made a few remarks, and shortly afterwards the Tyler was summoned. The W.M. provided a very excellent musical entertainment. Miss Beck delighted the brethren with some excellent songs. Bro. Beaumont and Master Solomons also assisted. Bro. Charles Solomons accompanied on the pianoforte. During the evening it was intimated that a P.M.'s jewel would be presented to Bro. Crossland on his return to England.

KINGSLAND LODGE, No. 1693.

THIS successful Lodge met at the Highbury Railway Hotel, Islington, on Tuesday last, to celebrate its annual meeting. The Lodge was opened at 4.30, by Bro. A. W. Fenner, who was ably supported by his Officers, while several visitors attended to do honour to the occasion. The business of the evening comprised the reading of the minutes of last meeting, which were unanimously confirmed; the installation of a Master for the new year, and the introduction of a candidate into Freemasonry; besides routine work usual on these occasions. Brother Fenner, who is well known as a shining light in Freemasonry, undertook the duty of installing his successor, and Bro. Mather, who acted as M.C., introduced the W.M. elect, Bro. Henry Hall. After the candidate had given his unqualified assent to the fulfilment of the duties devolving upon him in his new capacity, he was obligated, and in due course a Board of Installed Masters was opened, and the ceremony was proceeded with. The following brethren received the collars and insignia of office:—Crosbie S.W., Weston J.W., H. P. Isaac P.M. Treasurer, C. K. Killick sen. P.M. Secretary, Thompson S.D., Opperman J.D., Pummel I.G., Williams M.C., Defriez W.S., T. Bowler Tyler. In due course the addresses were delivered, and Bro. Fenner resumed his seat amidst congratulations. The new W.M. now proceeded to initiate Mr. William Andrew Francke, who had been proposed by Bro. Snook, and seconded by Bro. Trewinnard P.M., and for whom the ballot had been taken in the earlier part of the evening. Bro. Hall proved himself a worthy successor to the competent workers who have hitherto filled the chair in this Lodge. Later on the Auditors' Report was adopted, and after some other matters had received consideration Lodge was closed. The banquet was capitally served by Brother John Baker, who spared no effort to add to the comfort of his patrons. On the removal of the cloth, the W.M. briefly introduced the Loyal toasts. On Brother Fenner the I.P.M. rising, he said: This was the first time he had had the opportunity of wielding the gavel as I.P.M. of the Kingsland Lodge. He was assured their W.M. desired the aid and co-operation of the Officers and members; personally he (Bro. Fenner) was assured he would receive every assistance. He had great pleasure in proposing the toast of the W.M. Bro. Snook here sang the "Old Brigade," which he rendered in capital style. The W.M. in reply thanked one and all for the kindness he had met with. He would strive earnestly to advance the welfare of the Lodge, which, as one of the Founders, he takes a deep interest in. He next proposed the health of the Installing Master, to whom a Past Master's jewel was presented. It afforded him (Brother Hall) infinite pleasure to attach it to the breast of Brother Fenner, whose children and children's children he hoped would treasure it as an heirloom. After a song by Bro. P.M. Hawkins, Brother Fenner replied. After thanking the W.M. for his kind remarks, he assured the brethren that he should prize the jewel they had voted him. He should continue in the future what he had done in the past—to strive for the welfare of the Lodge. He urged on all to unite as a band of Brothers, and make the Lodge second to none in the Craft. Several other toasts were given and some sensible remarks were made in reply. The proceedings were enlivened throughout with songs and recitations. Bros. A. Mullord and Isaac, in addition to those we have already named, assisting. Bro. W. Wright was, as usual, a most efficient accompanyist. A notable feature of the evening was that all those who had filled the office of Worshipful Master of the Lodge were present. Amongst the Visitors were Bros. W. Wright Org. 1897, R. Pearcy P.M. 228, John Osborn P.M. 1602. Edward Wolf 223, R. W. Pearcy W.M. 1227, Charles Biggs I.G. 1549. H. Hawkins 857, Thomas Douglass 1756, Edwin Woodman S.D. 1950, A. Mullord P.M. 1288, J. King 1623, and W. W. Morgan Sec. 211.

Alexandra Palace Lodge of Instruction, No. 1541.—This excellent Lodge of Instruction, of which the well-known and respected Brother J. R. Stacey, is the Preceptor, is held in connection with the Loughborough Masonic club, and until last week met regularly on Saturday evenings at Loughborough Junction. A removal having been considered necessary, arrangements were made with Bro. C. Sims, of the Station Hotel, Camberwell New-road, and at that prosperous and prospering establishment the meeting of Saturday last was, for the first time, held. There was a very large gathering of members and friends, the large room which Bro. Sims has provided for the accommodation of the Lodge being occupied to its fullest extent. Amongst those present we observed Bros. J. A. Smith W.M., J. Butterworth S.W., J. B. Sherring J.W., J. R. Stacey I.P.M., G. J. Dawson Treasurer, H. A. Shent Secretary, C. J. Axford S.D., G. Cooper J.D., J. Stafford I.G., A. J. Martin Steward, S. J. Eidmans, E. Farwig P.M., H. M. Appleton, C. Jones, C. Martin, C. F. Haines, C. Sims, W. J. Webb, W. Smart P.M., W. Walker, A. Stokes, W. Bristow, E. Albert, James Stevens P.M. P.Z., W. Maxted, W. J. Godden, H. Stokes, E. Bye, W. Stuart, R. Poore, H. Bigg, H. Venables, R. Forster, J. D. Smith, J. Hill, O. L. Finch, T. Hendon, Brand, W. B. Briscoe, &c. Lodge was opened and minutes read. The second section was worked by the brethren under the questioning of Bro. Stacey Preceptor, the second by Bro. Farwig P.M. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed. Bro. Eidmans candidate. The brethren assisted Bro. James Stevens to work the fourth section, and the Lodge was then closed. Subsequently harmony prevailed. Mr. A. E. Spent presiding at the piano, and Mr. T. White and several brethren sang excellently and to the expressed satisfaction of all present. This musical termination to Lodge work will be repeated on each future first and third Saturdays. The earnest endeavours of Bro. Stacey to render this Lodge of Instruction efficient deserves encouragement, and we hope to see still larger gatherings as occasions may offer.

West Midddlesex Lodge of Instruction, No. 1612.—Meeting held at the Institute, Ealing, Tuesday, 3rd October. Present—Bros. J. Green W.M., J. R. Fernée S.W., C. W. Cuningham J.W., A. Jones S.D., T. A. Smith J.D., J. Wells Secretary, H. E. Tucker Preceptor, J. Fryers I.G., J. Owen, E. T. Brown, Meadows, and G. Taylor. The Lodge was opened to the third degree, and closed to the first degree, when Bro. A. Jones delivered the lecture. Bro J. Fryers was elected a member of the Lodge. Bro. J. Furnée was appointed W.M. for Monday, 17th inst. The Officers of the West Middlesex Lodge No. 1612, will occupy their respective positions on Tuesday, 10th inst.

Last night the annual installation of the Marquis of Ripon Lodge, No 1489, was to be held at the Hall of the Metropolitan Societies' Asylum, Balls Pond-road, Dalston, when the Rev. F. T. Twining, of the Homerton Hospital, was a candidate for initiation by the retiring W.M., Bro. James Glaskin, assisted by his Officers. Bro. William Stephens P.P.G.D.C. Middlesex, and a Past Master of more than one Lodge, was subsequently to be installed as Worshipful Master for the ensuing year, and to invest his Officers. We hope to give a full report of the proceedings, and of the banquet which is to follow, in our next issue.

Bro. Erasmus Wilson, F.R.S., has been sworn in as an Assistant of the Carriers' Company of London.

The Gresham Hall Angling Society has now removed to Bro. Wood's, Masons' Hall Tavern, Masons' Avenue, where its meetings will be held every Tuesday evening, instead of Thursday, as heretofore. Papers will be read on the first Tuesday in each month, the series being introduced on Tuesday evening last by Captain Alfred, who read an exceedingly interesting essay on barbel fishing.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Enfeebled Existence.—This medicine embraces every attribute required in a general and domestic remedy. It overturns the foundations of disease laid by defective food and impure air. In obstructions or congestions of the liver, lungs, bowels, or any other organ, these Pills are especially serviceable, and eminently successful. They should be kept in readiness in every family, being a medicine of incomparable utility for young persons, especially those of feeble constitutions. They never cause pain or irritate the most sensitive nerves or most tender bowels. Holloway's Pills are the best known purifiers of the blood, the most active promoters of absorption and secretion, whereby all poisonous and obnoxious particles are removed from both solids and fluids.

MADAME WORRELL'S ANNUAL CONCERT.

AT the Brixton Hall, on Wednesday evening last, this concert was an unqualified success, the large Assembly-room being filled, and numbers of persons not provided with tickets being unable to obtain admission by payment at the doors. The programme was lengthy, and contained some charming songs, new to the public, and in several cases accompanied by the composers. The popular bénéficiare was warmly welcomed, and was the recipient of numerous floral offerings in appreciation of her talent. Amongst the lady artistes were, in addition to Madame Worrell, Miss Matilda Roby, Miss Emma Buer, Miss Isabel Browning, Miss Pauline Featherby, and Miss Mary Conroy. The charming performances of Mdlle. Bertha Bronsil on the Violin are specially deserving of mention. Bros. Turle Lee and John Jefferys assisted at the Pianoforte; and the vocal talents of Bros. Seymour Smith, Arthur Thompson, Robert Hilton, Frederick Bevan, James Budd, Thomas Nettleship, Henry Baker, J. H. Maunder, and H. Schartau were also called into requisition. It would be invidious to select any portion of this excellent entertainment for mention beyond the remainder. Indeed it would be, from the fact that each and all used their best exertions to merit the appreciative support of the audience, very difficult to make a selection. The encores and recalls were freely made by the delighted listeners, and there can be no doubt that the well deserved reputation of these annual concerts was considerably enhanced by the merits of the entire performance.

The Marquis of Ripon Lodge resumed its meetings on Monday last, at the Pembury Hotel, Amhurst Road, Dalston; they will continue to be held there every Monday evening at 8 o'clock, when visitors are cordially invited to attend.

The painted windows presented to St. James's Church, Clerkenwell, by the Crusaders Lodge, to commemorate its restoration, will be unveiled on the 13th inst., by the Lord Mayor. The subjects are connected with Bible history and Freemasonry; and the artist is Mr. Charles Evans, of Warwick-street, W.

J.D. of the John of Gaunt Lodge, No. 528, as a candidate for advancement. The ballot proving unanimous in his favour, that brother was regularly advanced by the W.M. to the honourable degree of Mark Master Mason. At the conclusion of the ceremony the Provincial Grand Master R.W. Bro. William Kelly, F.S.A., &c. and the Officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge, proceeded to open Provincial Grand Lodge. The R.W. Prov. Grand Master having been saluted according to ancient custom, the roll of Lodges in the Province was called over, the following being duly represented:—Fowke 19, Howe 21, Knight of Malta 30, Simon de Montfort 194, Simon de St. Liz 245, Duke of Connaught 246, and the recently consecrated Lodge the Derby 302. Among other formal business transacted, the following vote of condolence was moved by the R.W. Prov. Grand Master, seconded by W. Bro. S. S. Partridge P.D.P.G.M.M., and carried unanimously, that the members of this Provincial Grand Lodge have received with deep regret the mournful intelligence of the decease of their highly esteemed and respected Brother James Malcolm McAllister P.M., who during eight years had most zealously and efficiently filled the important office of Provincial Grand Secretary in this Grand Lodge, and the brethren, whilst recording on their minutes this tribute to departed worth, desire at the same time to offer the widow and children of the departed heartfelt expressions of sympathy and condolence in the irreparable bereavement with which it has pleased the G.A.O.T.U. to afflict them. The R.W. Prov. Grand Master appointed and invested the following brethren as Prov. Grand Officers for the ensuing year:—

An invitation was accepted to hold the next annual Communication at Northampton, under the banner of the Simon de St. Liz Lodge, No. 245. After the closing of Provincial Grand Lodge in due form, the business of the Fowke Lodge was resumed, during which a Past Master's jewel was unanimously voted to the I.P.M. Bro. T. Worthington P.P.G.S.O. At the close of the Fowke Lodge, the annual banquet of the Province took place, under the presidency of the R.W. Prov. Grand Master; ample justice having been rendered to it, the customary Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly proposed by the "veteran" Provincial Grand Master, who has now, for nearly a "quarter of a century," continuously presided over this Mark Province, to its great advantage and prosperity.

PROVINCIAL GRAND MARK LODGE OF BERKS AND OXON.

THE Grand Lodge of this Province assembled, by command of the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, the Right Hon. the Earl of Jersey, at Maidenhead, under the banner of the Jersey Lodge, No. 257, on Monday last, and was well attended by Officers and Brethren from all parts of the Province. The Committee of General Purposes met in the Council Chamber of the Town Hall, at 11 a.m., and at high noon the Jersey Lodge was opened by the W.M. Bro. H. H. Hodges, and shortly afterwards the procession of the Provincial Grand Lodge entered the Lodge-room. There were then present, amongst many others whose names we were unable to ascertain:—Bros. the Right Hon. the Earl of Jersey Prov. G.M., C. Stephens Prov. D.G.M., Fred. Davison G. Treas., D. M. Dewar Asst. G. Sec., James Stevens P.G.J.O., H. Lovegrove P.G.S. of Wks., W. Morris S.W. 257, W. B. Farr P.M. Mayor of Maidenhead, J. Jenkin P.M. 247 Mayor of Oxford, J. J. Pulley I.G.S.D. Prov. G. Nowell Tyler, and other members of No. 257; G. M. Knight W.M., J. Baner P.M., G. G. Cosburn J.W., S. Knight J.O. of No. 27, G. Norwood, W. Hemmings, and W. Boyer P.P.G.P., Henri Brett, J. Rennie 340, &c. The Prov. G.M. and Deputy P.G.M. having been respectively saluted, the business of the Jersey Lodge was proceeded with, and the minutes of the previous Lodge meeting having been confirmed, Bro. H. H. Hodges the W.M. vacated the chair of A. in favour of Bro. C. Stephens the D.P.G.M., who then installed Bro. W. Morris as the W.M. for the ensuing year. The Officers of the Lodge were appointed and invested in the following order, viz.:—Bros. H. H. Hodges I.P.M., R. Nicholson S.W., Rev. E. de Ewer J.W., C. W. Cox M.O., E. J. Shrewsbury S.O., Beal J.O., F. R. Spender Treasurer, Vardy Registrar, H. J. Mount Secretary, A. E. Hewitt S.D., E. Davey J.D., Llewellyn I.G., Deacon M.C., J. S. Silver Organist, Pattick Stwd. The W. Bro. F. H. Cozens P.G. Organist conducted the musical portion of the installation ceremony, which was most efficiently performed by the able D.P.G.M. At its conclusion, the Prov. G. Master occupied the Throne, and the several Officers of the P.G. Lodge took their respective positions. Provincial Grand Lodge was then opened in ample form, and the rolls of the P.G. Lodge Officers and of the Lodges in the Province were called over, and received a very fair response by the brethren in attendance. The minutes of the last P.G. Mark Lodge at Abingdon, in August 1881, were confirmed, and the report of the Prov. Grand Secretary as to the position of the Province was read and received with much satisfaction. The Provincial Grand Treasurer's accounts were received and approved of, the balance to credit of P.G. Lodge being larger than at previous meeting. A contribution to the proposed wedding present to Bro. His Royal Highness Prince Leopold, was unanimously voted. After other routine business, Bro. Jenkin, of Oxford, nominated the Right Hon. the Earl of Jersey as Prov. Grand Master for a further period of three years, and no other nomination being made, his Lordship was re-elected, and expressed his thanks to the brethren for the confidence they had again reposed in him. Bro. E. J. Trendell was unanimously re-elected Prov. Grand Treasurer. The Prov. Grand Officers for the ensuing year were appointed and invested as follows:—

It was announced by the Provincial Grand Master that he would hold his next Provincial Grand Lodge at Reading, a very cordial invitation from the Mark brethren of that town having been given. Brother Jenkin offered his services as Steward to represent Provincial Grand Lodge at the next Mark Benevolent Festival. Grand Lodge was then closed, and subsequently the Jersey Lodge and the brethren separated for a short interval. On re-assembling, at Boulter's Lock, they embarked on board three of Brother Deacon's steam launches, the "Beatrice," "Wild Rose," and "Iris," and enjoyed a very pleasant trip to Great Marlow, returning at about 5.30 p.m., to dine at the Ray Mead Hotel, where Bro. Deacon had provided a very substantial banquet. The usual Loyal and Masonic speeches were given after dinner, over which the Prov. Grand Master presided, whilst they were necessarily brief, in order that "due time" might be observed in respect of trains departing for the several districts from which the brethren had attended. Bro. Farr, in proposing the R.W. Deputy G.M.M.M. and the Officers of Grand Lodge, thanked such of those Officers who had attended, and also expressed thanks to the Jersey Lodge for the manner in which the reception had been accorded, and facetiously referred to one or two incidents of the river excursion, which had so pleasantly varied the business of the day. Bro. F. Davison Grand Treasurer responded, and proposed the health of the Right Wor. Prov. Grand Master, who thanked the Prov. G. Lodge for re-appointment, although he had doubts as to the advisability of continuance in office beyond the specific period assigned. He would, however, be careful that the Provincial Grand Lodge interests should not suffer in this instance. He desired to recognise the great assistance he had received from his Deputy, whose health he proposed. Bro. C. Stephens acknowledged the cordial reception given to the toast, taking the opportunity to pay a well-deserved compliment to Bro. Pulley, the Prov. G. Sec., to whom, as Bro. Stephens remarked, the happiness and comfort of the day was so materially due. He also desired to thank the Jersey Lodge for the admirable and successful efforts its members had made to secure a highly satisfactory result to the meeting, and concluded by proposing the health of its W.M. Bro. W. Morris, who briefly responded. Bro. Jas. Stevens P.G.J.O. proposed the toast of the Mark Benevolent Fund, calling attention to the hard working of Bro. Binckes G. Secretary and Bro. Dewar Asst. G. Secretary, in their efforts to promote the best interests of the Fund. Bro. Dewar P.G.M.O. returned thanks, and in the course of his very interesting remarks mentioned that the appointed managers of the Fund now saw their way to include daughters as well as sons of worthy Mark Masons in the educational privileges of the Institution. Other toasts followed, but time had overtaken the full programme, and departures became, before nine o'clock, absolutely necessary in many instances. Within a brief space after that hour all the brethren were fairly on their way to their respective homes, which we trust they reached safely, and with the satisfaction of pleasant reflections on a day well spent in the cause of Mark Masonry.

ERRORS IN VOTING PAPERS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In a special paragraph following your usual able and exhaustive analysis of Voting Papers for the ensuing Elections, you prominently call attention to the "error" committed in substituting "W.M." for "P.M." in the column descriptive of qualification of Fathers of Candidates. I venture to submit, however, that it is immaterial which title is given. To be a "P.M." a brother must, of course, have been previously a "W.M.," and either is sufficient to denote what is intended to be shewn, that the brother deceased has so far discharged his Masonic duties faithfully and conscientiously as to have entitled him to the highest position his Lodge has it in its power to bestow on any of its members. I do not admit that it is to be inferred, naturally or logically, that because the description is given "W.M." a brother held that rank at the time of his death. He had held such rank, and there is no misdescription, or need of "further information" on the question.

As to "errors" generally! It, doubtless, to the great majority, appears a very simple matter to compile a document such as our voting paper, and to issue it as a perfectly "correct card." And I can quite understand the annoyance experienced by the friends of any given candidate at the detection of mistakes in connection with a case, which in their opinion may to some extent jeopardise its success! They turn at once to the particular case in which they are interested, and at a glance can ascertain whether particulars with which they are intimately acquainted are given with minute accuracy, and should they discover a "little rift," sharp and severe are the criticisms to which the luckless responsible official is subjected. Let, however, any one try his hand at the preparation of a complicated sheet such as our voting paper has become, and he will find how easy it is, with the exercise of every care, to trip in some detail. Most disappointing and mortifying is detection! I have felt it acutely, and deeply deplore any act of seeming carelessness or neglect.

I never defend errors! It always appears to me the better and more politic course to admit them unreservedly, and to strive to remedy their consequences. All I ask is—for as much indulgent consideration as can be extended, and I do so now the more emphatically—in relation to omissions in our voting paper, for which I am truly sorry—on account of illness of now nearly nine weeks' duration, for five of which I had to keep my bed, and for the remainder have been, as I still am, unfortunately, in a condition not best fitted for attention to arduous duties.

But, after all said and done, suppose for an instant there were no such things as "errors." The charm of life to the large criticising class would be utterly destroyed. The machinery of society would be paralysed. The elaborate organisations for the correction of "errors," "mistakes," &c. (harsher words are employed occasionally) would be useless and unnecessary, their very existence would lose its raison d'être. Such a state of perfection is inconceivable. "The web of life is of a mingled yarn, good and ill together," and so let it, as it must, continue. There must be those who perpetrate blunders for the sake of those whose mission it is to expose and condemn them. "In error I was born, in error I have lived, and in error I shall die," was the definition of himself given by one eminent in an immediate bygone generation; while, for myself, I am free to confess that were I to attempt a palliation of the numerous shortcomings to be laid to my charge, this hurried epistle would insensibly extend itself to an apologia pro vita mid.

With a request for general forgiveness,

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

FREDERICK BINCKES,

Secretary R.M.I.B.

Dover, 4th October 1882.

R.M. BOYS' SCHOOL ELECTION.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER, — In your article on the forthcoming election you express your proper determination to seek for information to show the merits of the several candidates for election in the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. I ask for space in which to assist you. The case of Frederick Wolfe Hennah (41 on the list) is that of the eldest son of three, whose mother is the widow of Brother Hennah. Our departed brother was initiated in the Union Lodge, No. 127, Margate, when principal of a scholastic establishment at Westgate-on-Sea, and though he removed to London, to combine ministerial with scholastic duties, he continued to take a warm interest in his Lodge until his premature death, which occurred last autumn. He was seized with a fatal illness owing to his feeling impelled to the duty of preaching while labouring under a severe chill. His scholastic establishment, shorn of its head, became of little value to his widow, who had to dispose of it for a nominal price, and has herself to battle with the world in the arduous role of a teacher. How hard this task is, only those who know the little esteem placed upon brain workers' efforts can tell. Some few, myself among the number, poor in the art of vote begging, are pressing this case. Poor Bro. Hennah was the London member of a Kent Lodge, and while his widow cannot appeal to any London Lodge for help in her son's cause, from the circumstance of her husband removing from Kent, the brethren of his Lodge did not seem, at the last election, to regard the case as a "local" one. Bro. Hennah was loyal to his Lodge, and one element in this case, giving it a wide claim upon our brethren, is, that the widow has nothing but her helplessness to strengthen her appeal. The "case" is thought to be so good that, apparently, brethren have thought it "must get in," and hence left it to take care of itself.

Ever yours faithfully and fraternally,

J. WHILE.

THE REVISE OF THE BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have obtained a copy of the "Draft Revise Constitutions," which is printed in large type, on both sides of the page, with very narrow margin, and that margin chiefly filled up with references to the edition of 1813. The references are certainly essential and useful, but why the type was not reduced to half the size, so as to leave nearly half the page for remarks, amendments &c., &c., I cannot conceive, unless it was to defeat the object for which I moved,—that copies should be sent to all Lodges, and be available for all who wished to purchase them; or the Committee, if they objected to alter the type, might have had the copies interleaved as I have done, and then left a fair margin of profit at the limit price of two shillings. A day or two after the motion "for postponing the consideration," of the Revise, I called at the office, and looked at a copy which lay open for inspection, which was printed in the same type as the copies now issuing, on one side of the page only, and on large folio paper, the printed matter in the middle, with ample margin on either side and on the opposite page, for amendments and corrections. I called attention to the fact that the new method (Baron de Ferriere's) of counting the votes on a division, had not been substituted for the old one, and that it would be as well to have the alteration made in the copies about to be issued; but that has not been done, though there was ample time. I would here remark that, had the Grand Lodge accepted the revise at the meeting in last September, without having given us time for consideration, we should have defeated the very resolution we had just confirmed. Now, with regard to this very law of telling the votes, brethren generally may not be aware that the law with regard to the teller has not been acted up to for the last seven years. It reads thus, page 28, article 9, in the present edition, and pages 24, article 26, of the Revise:—"All matters are to be decided by a majority of votes, each member having one vote and the Grand Master two votes, unless the Lodge think proper to leave any particular subject to the determination of the Grand Master. The votes of the members are to be signified by each holding up one of his hands, and the motion is then to be declared as carried or lost; but if two members demand that the votes be counted, the brethren in favour of the motion shall pass to one side of the Grand Lodge, and those against it to the other, when they shall be counted by THE GRAND DEACONS, THE MOVER AND SECONDER OF THE MOTION, and TWO OF HIS OPPONENTS, provided such demand appear reasonable to the Grand Master." Now, Sir, can you or any other brother tell me when the mover and seconder and two of their opponents were appointed tellers with the G. Deacons? I may be told that they could have demanded it. I answer, no doubt they could, and in many instances would, had they, as they should have done, made themselves acquainted with the Rules of the Craft. It becomes all the more necessary now that we have risen to be such a vast and important factor in society that the revision of the laws which govern us should be maturely weighed and considered, and made as perfect as possible. When Bro. Fenn announced that sixteen months had already been spent on the work, I think it shewed great want of courtesy, and of what was due to the Craft at large, that they had been kept in ignorance of the fact for over twelve months.

Yours fraternally,

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Strong Man Lodge, No 45—The first meeting of this old and highly popular Lodge since the vacation was held on Thursday evening last, at the Masons' Hall Tavern, Basinghall-street, where there was a moderately large attendance, under the presidency of Bro. W. A. S. Humphries W.M. There were also present Bros. W. Ball S.W., J. Smith J.W., H. Follett P.M. Treasurer, A. A. Wing P.M. Secretary, W. T. Neil S.D., H. Fountaine J.D., F. R. Callow I.G., J. Driver P.M., J. G. Defriez P.M., Geo. G. Symons P.M., J. Vass P.M., Charles Cordingly P.M., H. W. H. Hemsworth P.M., R. E. Hunt, S. Stanton and W. H. P. Thomas Stewards, J. N. Heath, Thomas Belt, J. G. Locke, B. G. Glennie, Joseph Jesson, E. A. King, S. Wood, Thomas C. Cubbon, and J. J. Marsh Acting Tyler. Visitor: Bro. H. J. Dean W.M. 1260. Lodge having been opened in accordance with the usual formalities, and some special business transacted, an advance was made to the third degree, when Bro. J. G. Locke, having proved himself worthy, was raised to the sublime degree of M.M., the ceremony being ably performed by the Worshipful Master, assisted by his Officers. On resuming, the ballot was opened for Mr. Isaac Tallintire, of Canonbury, who had been proposed by Bro. S. Wood, seconded by the I.P.M.; and for Mr. William T. Hodsell, of Kingsland-road, proposed by Bro. B. J. Glennie, and seconded by Bro. S. Wood. Both were unanimously accepted, and Mr. Hodsell, being in attendance, was duly initiated into the mysteries and privileges of the Order, the working being all that could be desired. Mr. M. Deva had been ballotted for previously, but was not present. The election of a Tyler of the Lodge, in the room of Bro. Steed, deceased, was adjourned till the next meeting. At the conclusion of business, the brethren supped together, an excellent repast being provided by Bro. Wood, whose arrangements for the comfort and enjoyment of the party elicited expressions of unqualified satisfaction. The customary Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, interspersed with songs and recitations, and altogether a most agreeable and harmonious evening was enjoyed.

PROSPERITY LODGE, No. 65.

THAT this popular Lodge well deserves its title, and maintains the prestige it has gained in past years, was amply evidenced on Thursday night, the 28th ultimo, at the first meeting after the summer recess, when the esteemed Wor. Master, Brother J. Roberts, was met by a numerous gathering of the brethren and visitors at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street. There is a soundness and vitality about this Lodge which is positively encouraging, and it is no empty compliment to say that the whole of its proceedings are deserving of imitation by every section of the Fraternity. Lodge was opened in accordance with ancient rites soon after five o'clock, when the Worshipful Master was supported by Bros. G. Schädler S.W., Charles J. Rich J.W., G. T. Brown P.M. Secretary, J. Hawkins S.D., H. W. Gregory I.G., W. Walker M.C., P.M.'s Charles Daniels, C. E. Ferry, L. A. Leins, J. Bellerby; Bros. C. Hills, T. East, E. T. Bond, C. Jones and R. Dyson (Wine Stewards), J. Woods, G. W. Carer, E. Watkins, R. Wallis, A. Miller, G. W. Miller, T. M. Ellis, A. Slater, C. W. Eaves, G. George, S. Rudd, G. Haller, J. B. Wall, G. Simpson, N. Henson, F. A. Herold, C. W. Martin, W. Fenoott, G. Devenish, H. Sladden, J. Stafford, Wood, A. Panll, W. Retallack, R. Frost, W. Spurr, W. H. Edridge, T. Chivers, C. Wilkinson, C. T. Speight Prov. Grand Tyler Surrey, Tyler, &c. Visitors:—Bros. C. H. Webb P.M. 174, J. Terry P.M. 228 Secretary of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, B. Lamere I.P.M. 193, J. H. Thompson 1580, T. J. Maidwell P.M. 27, H. J. Smith S.D. 751, John E. Fells W.M. 193, and others. The minutes of the last meeting having been confirmed, Lodge was advanced to the second degree; Bros. Wood and East were interrogated, and having answered the questions satisfactorily, were entrusted, and afterwards passed to the degree of F.C., the ceremony being admirably performed by the W.M., assisted by his Officers. Lodge was then lowered, and the ballot was prepared for Mr. William Retallack, magnetic appliance manufacturer, of Plymouth, who had been proposed by Bro. C. E. Ferry P.M. and seconded by the Worshipful Master. The voting was unanimously in favour, and Mr. Retallack being in attendance, was duly initiated into the mysteries and privileges of the Order, the working being of the most efficient character, affording edification and instruction to all present. A sum of five guineas was voted to the widow of a deceased brother, and it was resolved that a petition be presented for election into the Boys' School of the son of a deceased member. After the transaction of some formal business, the brethren adjourned to the throne-room of the hotel, where a sumptuous repast awaited them, and to which upwards of fifty guests sat down, under the presidency of the Worshipful Master. Dessert having been placed upon the tables, the customary Loyal and Masonic toasts were honoured, Bro. J. Bellerby responding for the Grand Officers, expressing the hope that, if spared for 20 years to come, he might have the privilege and pleasure of having his name associated with that toast. He felt sure all the Officers were actuated by the same desire, to promote the best interests of the Craft, and by wise legislation to advance the cause which was nearest and dearest to the heart of every true Mason, viz.—Charity. Bro. C. E. Ferry P.M. then rose, amidst applause, to propose the next toast. It was his privilege and pleasure again to assume the gavel, and really it made him feel two or three years younger to be so close to the W.M. He regretted the absence, through indisposition, of their I.P.M. Bro. Chicken; if he had been away on a holiday he should have had still more gratification in speaking on his behalf. He felt sure, however, he should enlist the sympathy and co-operation of all present when he asked them to drink with him the health of their esteemed W.M., who had acquitted himself so well. No man could do more than his best, but Bro. Roberts had tried to do even better than that; they must therefore appreciate the efforts he had made on behalf of the Lodge, and they could not hesitate to do honour to one who had, by act and deed, done all he could, and successfully, to maintain the prestige and honour of their good old Lodge. The toast was received with enthusiastic cheers, and Bro. Roberts, in responding, said he had to thank the brethren most heartily and sincerely for the kind manner in which they had met him that evening. It was always a pleasure to him to do the best he possibly could on behalf of this Lodge, and he should continue to do so as long they brought up initiates and gave him work to do. He had received a few lines from their I.P.M., Brother Chicken, that day, to say he was sorry he was too unwell to come amongst them; but he hoped it was only a passing indisposition, and that their excellent brother would soon again resume his position in the Lodge, which he so ably maintained. In turn, he proposed what he might call the toast of the evening, namely, their Initiate. This intimation was received with loud applause. He had initiated that evening a brother, a friend and neighbour, being a countryman of his—a pure, thoroughbred Cornish man; and he believed they were about the best people out. If Bro. Retallack only acted up to the principles laid down to him that evening, he would be a thorough good Mason. He had entered into the good path, and he felt sure he would never regret it. The toast having been received with a hearty good fire, Bro. Retallack responded in a very happy vein. He said it was not an easy matter as a novice to stand before a number of brethren such as he saw around him, and in first attempting to address them in a new capacity. He had always looked upon Masonry in a solemn light, and had long desired to become a member of the Fraternity; but business and other engagements had prevented him from earlier seizing the opportunity. However, the ceremony of that evening was the most solemn and impressive he ever attended, though he was constant at many in the course of his life. He assured the brethren he should leave no effort untried and no stone unturned to follow up the duties imposed by Freemasonry. He should support the Charities so far as his pocket would admit, for he did not think any ceremony so went home to his heart and feelings as that which he had just witnessed in the Lodge-room. It was binding on his conscience, and without any presumption he felt himself already a Mason. Although he had travelled 230 miles in order to be present this evening, he would travel 500 miles to thank them for the very kind manner in which they had received him on that occasion. It was a marked day in his history, which he should not easily or ever forget. The W.M. then rose and said, this Lodge was ever noted for having visitors amongst them, especially in quantity, and though they had not so many as usual, it was made up in quality. He then enumerated the visitors who had honoured the Lodge with their presence, with especial reference to each. The toast was most cordially received. Bro. Webb was the first to respond; he said this was the first time he had visited the Prosperity Lodge, and it afforded him the utmost pleasure to see the work so well performed; it gave him the greatest gratification to have been present. Their Masonic meetings were again commencing for the season, and it seemed like a revival taking place. He hoped they should meet on many as happy and prosperous occasions as the present. Bro. Lemare remarked that the last time he met the brethren of this Lodge was at Richmond, and he must say he never attended the meetings of any Lodge where there had been more hearty feeling manifested amongst the brethren. He was delighted to hear of the rapid progress of the Lodge, and as long as there was that spirit of emulation amongst them they would be sure to maintain the title they had adopted. He liked a good name, and was sure the Prosperity Lodge would prosper. His own Lodge was the Confidence, and they felt confidence in each other, confidence in themselves. Wherever he met Masons he was glad of the grip of the hand, all over the world, of the confident brotherly greeting, and it was that feeling which bound Masons together wherever they assembled. He travelled a good deal, and was constantly meeting those whom he was glad to hail as brethren. He must say, therefore, it was a help through life to be a Mason. It smoothed all difficulties, for wherever a man was he met new friends, and if they were only true to themselves they must do good in the world. Bro. Maidwell also replied. It afforded him great pleasure in meeting old faces year after year, and he knew the manner in which their W.M. did his work must meet with the approbation of all by whom he was surrounded. He drew attention to the Lodge of Instruction in connection with this Lodge, which was always much appreciated by those who attended, and said they had inaugurated a little Chapter of Improvement which, with the assistance of their esteemed Bro. Walker, would be soon in full operation. There was also the Prosperity Masonic Charities Association, which he hoped the brethren would support; and concluded an able speech by expressing the hope that they would all combine to make the various ramifications of the good old Prosperity Lodge complete and successful. Bro. John E. Fells endorsed the sentiments which had fallen from his own I.P.M., and did not think he could add anything further, except to thank the brethren for the cordial reception that had been accorded to the toast of the Visitors. It always afforded him pleasure to be associated with the Craft in its every aspect, for he was certain the good it effected could only be gauged by those who were most intimately acquainted with its operations. He admired the spirit of unity and cohesion which was manifested in this Lodge, and trusted he might have the gratification of seeing more of the usefulness and influence exercised by the Lodge of Prosperity. Bros. Smith and Thompson also suitably responded. In reply to the toast of the Masonic Charities, proposed in felicitous terms by the W.M., Bro. James Terry, who was received with enthusiastic applause, said this was not the first time by many that in the Prosperity Lodge he had had the pleasure of responding to the toast which the W.M. had thought fit to introduce that evening. He knew full well that when the toast of the Masonic Institutions was given in this Lodge it was not an idle toast, but one which came home most forcibly and most practically to the hearts and pockets of many whom he saw around the table. In days gone by, in the history of this Lodge, the names of the Charities were scarcely noticed, but now better times had dawned, and for years the various Institutions had been well supported by members of this Lodge. The Prosperity was never behind its compeers in making advances to those Institutions, but prided itself upon the fact that when it had enough in hand it always donated a certain amount to either one or the other of the Charities. If every Lodge were to pursue the same course of conduct, the promoters of these Institutions would not have to make half the number of appeals, or attend so many Lodges in the course of the year, as they were compelled to do at present. He took it as an augury of the success of the future that, this being the opening night of their winter session, the Prosperity should be the first Lodge he had been called upon to visit. He welcomed it as an omen that prosperity would attend their efforts in the coming year—that under the Stewardship of their W.M. the very best list that possibly could be brought up from this Lodge would be forthcoming. He knew the Lodge was progressive, even as Masonry was a progressive science, and that with its growth would follow a corresponding increase to the Masonic Charities. He alluded with pleasure to the establishment of a Charity Association in connection with the Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, and said if they looked at this and similar organisations in the country, they must acknowledge much good had resulted. 46 ballots, representing 450 guineas, had been paid into the coffers of the three Institutions from this Association. He ventured to say that, but for the establishment of such movements there would have been but 46 guineas paid in; and it only showed how easy it was, by the small payment of 1s a week to make every member who belonged to them a Life Governor of one of the Institutions. He had no doubt that as, through the exertions of the Secretary Bro. Brown, and the Treasurer Bro. Maidwell, this Association had existed 2½ years, another would rise, Phœnix-like, from its ashes, and enable new members to participate in the beneficent cause. All must be acquainted with the fact that if advantages were to be extended to annuitants, and to the boys and girls, the brethren must also be prepared to contribute the means of supporting them. Spasmodic effort was of no avail, and he urged steady and regular support to all the Charities. He alluded to the large numbers who were sent empty away, because of the deficiency of the means at the disposal of the executive to relieve all the cases which demanded their attention, and appealed for the constant and steady support of the various Masonic Institutions. In conclusion, he wished for this Lodge a long course of future happiness and prosperity, leaving them with the hope that they would do all in their power to help those who could not help themselves. Bro. Terry having resumed his seat, amidst prolonged applause, the W.M. proposed the P.M.'s, and the Secretary and Treasurer; the absence of the latter Officer he sincerely regretted. Bros. Ferry, Daniels, and Bellerby having suitably responded, assuring the W.M. of their continued and cordial assistance, Bro. Brown P.M. and Secretary said he saw their worthy Treasurer on the previous day; he told him he was not feeling quite so well as he could wish, but said he would endeavour to be present that evening. He feared he was indisposed, or he would have been present amongst them. He also saw Brother Past Master Cornwell that evening, and he also was not able to attend, in consequence of the illness of one of his daughters. He thanked the brethren for their kind reception of the toast, and said he was always anxious to do his best for the welfare of the Prosperity Lodge. One of the most agreeable of his duties was that of being Secretary of the Prosperity Charities' Association, which had been so kindly mentioned by Bro. Terry. It was a small Association, started by a few of the brethren, but he hoped by the end of the fourth year they should have sent up 780 guineas to the Charities by the means of a simple shilling a week each. As that fund was drawing to a close, he hoped they would start another, which should have even a larger result, if possible. Anything he could do towards that end would afford him infinite pleasure. He could only say his duties in connection with the Prosperity Lodge were a labour of love, and he hoped to be able to continue in the same course for many years to come. The health of the Officers of the Lodge was then proposed by the W.M., and suitably acknowledged by the S.W., and the official list closed with the drinking of the Tyler's toast. An abundance of good vocal and instrumental music combined to make up a very harmonious and pleasant evening.

United Pilgrims Lodge of Instruction, No. 507.—The ceremony of installation of W.M. was rehearsed in this Lodge of Instruction on Friday evening, the 29th ult., when there was a full attendance of members, and several Visitors. Lodge was opened by Bro. James Stevens P.M. Preceptor, and there were present amongst others—Bros. Thomas Poore P.M. S.W., B. Fulwood P.M. J.W., J. N. Bate S.D., F. Thurston P.M. Treasurer J.D., H. M. Phillips I.G., H. M. Williams Organist, John S. Terry P.M. Secretary, J. W. Watts P.M., J. H. Taylor W.M. 1767, J. B. Sarjeant, R. Poore, Nevill 1426, Turner 72, Payne, R. W. Pooler, H. Stokes, Harper, H. S. Bigg, &c. Lodge was opened to F.C., and Bro. Thos. Poore was, as candidate W.M. elect, duly presented. Lodge was opened in M.M., and the ceremony of installation was effectively rehearsed by Bro. Stevens, with the assistance of Bro. J. W. Watts as M.C., and musical service by Bro. Williams. After the investment of Officers, and the usual addresses by the Installing Master, Lodge was regularly closed down and called off. Entry drill was practised, and after a sufficient interval, the Lodge was called on. Several Visitors were elected members. Bro. J. N. Bate was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. Votes of thanks were passed in favour of the Installing Master and his assistants during the ceremony. The Lodge was then closed, and the meeting adjourned to the 6th inst. at 7.30.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

HUNDREDS of Medical Practitioners testify to its marvellous efficacy in immediately relieving and rapidly curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Spasms, Colic, Whooping Cough, and all Nerve Pains. It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. It rapidly relieves pain, from whatever cause, soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases, and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.

Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, Lord Justice Mellish decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davenport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. See Times of July 14th, 1873. Bottles 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, 11s, and 20s. Sold by all Chemists.

TESTIMONIALS.—Head Quarter Staff, Cabul, May 31st, 1880. Mr. S Freeman, Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of special service to me in alleviating the wearisome spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne. Yours faithfully, CHARLES W. OWEN, L.R.C.P. Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng., the Divisional Head Quarter Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul.

The Times, August 13th, 1877. From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army. Okoum, July 25th, 1877. The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor, owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected miraculous cures.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION ON BOARD SHIP.

IN our last issue we inserted a brief notice of a Masonic meeting held at sea, on board the Trojan, on her voyage from Southampton to the Cape, at which it was resolved that a Past Master, then present, should, on his return to England, "apply to Grand Lodge to ascertain under what regulations travelling Masons may be permitted to hold Lodges of Instruction on board vessels at sea." At first glance we fail to see the actual use of an established Lodge of Instruction on board ship; but if it is deemed desirable, we cannot imagine any difficulty in securing it, provided the captain, or some of the chief officers, were themselves Masons, and would undertake to see the meetings properly conducted. Assuming then, that the captain of the vessel is a Mason, he could, on application to his Lodge, secure the necessary permission required by Article 1, page 88, of the Book of Constitutions, or he might even apply for "the special licence and authority of the Grand Master," a course which would perhaps, until a precedent was established, be the best, and one which we think would prove successful. Having obtained the necessary authority, the great difficulty would then present itself—that of properly testing applicants for admission—and this, we think, would be a grave responsibility to impose on any brother. It is not likely that an actual Lodge of Instruction would be allowed unless some one did take this responsibility, and we therefore think the matter at once resolves itself into a virtual impossibility. At present it is possible for a number of Masons to hold a private meeting among themselves for the purpose of Masonic intercourse, and then one and all take upon themselves the responsibility of testing their fellows, and they can exclude any one they like, but if once a Lodge of Instruction was in existence a sort of right of attendance would be created, and no one could be excluded who pertinaciously set to work to gain admittance, without an amount of ill feeling being engendered among the passengers which we question if any captain would care to run the risk of. Even if a permit was in existence, the brethren could not do more than they can without one, except perhaps that they would then be obliged to keep a minute book, a perusal of which would afford amusement to future meetings, but this could be got over by starting such a book, and handing it to the captain, who would no doubt be pleased to hand it over from time to time to the Masonic section of his passengers. Further, he would soon acquire such experience as would enable him to decide the possibility of having a regularly authorised Lodge of Instruction on board. One other advantage which an established Lodge would possess would be the facility it would offer as a means of raising subscriptions for our Charities, but even this could be as successfully carried out by a number of private meetings as it could be by a series of regular ones, provided a record of each journey's assemblies was kept. The amounts could be handed over to the captain, to be paid into the Institutions in the name of the vessel from which they emanated, and in time we think a goodly array would be the result. On the whole we believe regularly established Lodges of Instruction on board ship would be found impracticable, while we fail to see any advantage that would accrue from them beyond those now enjoyed by private meetings. Another question which would affect travelling Lodges of Instruction, as indeed it does every Lodge of Instruction to a certain extent, would be the variations in working. These variations would become more apparent in an assembly of some twenty brethren, who may have been brought up in twenty different parts of the country, accustomed to, perhaps, twenty different renderings of our ritual; and although in many instances the differences might be very slight, they would yet be sufficient, especially if two or three "letter perfect" brethren were among those assembled, to form food for discussion and argument during a lengthy voyage. Who, then, should decide as to the form of working to be adopted in the "Ship Lodge."

THE VALUE OF OUR BOYS' SCHOOL VOTES.

IN view of the great difficulty which is now experienced in securing admission for a child to one or other of our Institutions, the more particularly as regards the Boys' School, we think some consideration given to this subject desirable. It seems pretty certain that at the election on Monday next nothing short of 2,500 votes will be safe for a boy's case, and we even question if that number can be relied upon as devoid of risk. What, we ask, is the monetary value of these 2,500 votes? Judged by the price charged by the Institution—one guinea for two votes—they represent £1,312 10s, and this in face of the fact that admission may be purchased for a boy for one hundred and seventy guineas (£178 10s). To judge of this value from a Life Governor's point of view, we ought to be in possession of calculations as to the average life of a Governor, but for our purpose we think that twenty-one years will be a fair term, although we are pretty sure the average is much below that. On the basis therefore of twenty-one years' enjoyment of the privilege of Life Governorship, we find the 2,500 votes represent a cash amount of £312 10s; that is to say, a subscriber of ten guineas, receiving four votes per year for twenty-one years, would get in all eighty-four votes, which would give an average cost of two shillings and sixpence each. We shall perhaps better illustrate the Life Governor's case by pointing out that if thirty-four brethren combined, they could, by their donations, secure the immediate admission of TWO lads into our Boys' School, while it would be eighteen years and a half before they could accumulate sufficient votes to carry the election of ONE, even supposing they all lived that time—a very unlikely event; and an election then could be carried with the same number as now—another very unlikely event. It is, we think, evident from these figures that there is something wrong; either the price of purchased admission is too low, or the votes are not of the value they should be; both of which subjects should be matters of importance to all connected with our Schools.

The Committee of the Portsmouth "Masonic at Home" commenced their winter session on Wednesday last, and from the considerable support hitherto accorded to their views, intending subscribers should communicate with the Secretaries before the list is closed, as the number is necessarily strictly limited, to ensure the comfort of the members.

A. AND A. RITE IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

By Bro. Jacob Norton.

I must now return to Sovereign Gourgas. It seems, according to Folger, that Gourgas' Council lingered on until 1818, when it entirely melted away, and he was left Sovereign without subjects. In 1844 Gourgas held a Grand Council of the Northern jurisdiction (of course, consisting exclusively of himself), and there and then unanimously resolved to plant the A. and A. Rite in London. I do not know whether any one in England had ever been transmogrified into the 33°. But what of it? the power of an A. and A. Sovereign was potent enough to confer thirty-thirds even to parties who were thousands of miles away from him. All he had to do was to send them the "Ancient Secret Constitutions, the Ritual, and other directions how to make themselves thirty-thirds."

The year 1845 is an important epoch in the history of Gourgas' Northern jurisdiction; in that year he thirty-thirded, five or six personages, the most important of these were two Bostonians. First Edward A. Raymond. True, he was illiterate, but he was rich; very ambitious to climb to the top of the Masonic ladder, and was willing to pay for it. Bro. Raymond had some years before obtained permission from Giles, Founder Gates of Albany, New York, to play a Prince of Jerusalem. I have seen him several times march in procession at the head of a small squad of "Princes of Jerusalem," and Bro. Raymond imagined himself a veritable Prince of Jerusalem. Why! do not all authorities agree that the old Hebrew Princes of Jerusalem were dressed in black cloth pants, vests, swallow-tailed coats, cocked hats with long white ostrich feathers? Well, Bro. Raymond and his squad of Princes were costumed in the same fashion.

The second Bostonian was Charles W. Moore, Grand Secretary of Massachusetts. Bro. Moore wrote on Masonry in 1824 or 1826. He was the great champion of Freemasonry during the anti-Masonic crusade. He was a St. John's Day lecturer. In 1841 he started a Masonic magazine. In 1843 he published a Masonic manual. Massachusetts Masons were proud of him. Nothing ever was done in the Grand Lodge which was not sanctioned by Bro. Moore. Indeed, "he was the power behind the throne, greater than the throne itself." In 1845, his fame had already extended over North America; besides which, he was in correspondence with Dr. Oliver, Dr. Crucefix, and perhaps with other distinguished foreign brethren; he was a great controversialist; but, above all, he was believed to be, "the greatest Masonic authority in the world" in "the science of Masonic jurisprudence," and being editor of a Masonic magazine, at a time when not more than one or two other such magazines had started into existence, it will readily be admitted that he was a trump-card for Bro. Gourgas.

It was not, however, before 1848 that Gourgas organised a Supreme Council, with himself as Sovereign, and Moore as Grand Secretary of the "Holy Empire." Their maiden document was then sent to all the Grand Lodges in the United States, informing them of the establishment of a Supreme Council for the Northern jurisdiction, &c., &c., and that the said Council had authority to rule the Grand Lodges of the Blue degrees, but for the present it would "forbear" to exercise that power. This impudent assertion, be it remembered, was issued by not more than nine individuals. By 1850, Raymond, having learned how to be a Sovereign, bought out Gourgas' Sovereignty, removed the Council from New York to Boston. Raymond then became Sovereign, Moore Secretary, &c.

Raymond now arrived at the top of his ambition: in 1850 he was both G.M. of Massachusetts and Sovereign of the A. and A. Rite—for all which, however, he was indebted to Moore's engineering. Besides which, as Raymond was illiterate, Moore supplied him with addresses and reports, both for the G.L. and the Supreme Council. Up to 1845 the name of Gourgas was almost unknown, even to American high graders; but by the succession of events above narrated, above all, the removal of the concern to Boston, the Cerneauites found an opponent, the like of which they never encountered before. Besides, Moore's ability to torture and twist "the science of Masonic jurisprudence" to suit his own purposes, he was not over scrupulous as to facts. If facts failed him, he invented. The addresses he wrote for Raymond were filled with the foulest and most abusive epithets against the Cerneauites. The number of the A. and A. Riters in America was, however, then very few; and nobody outside of those factions knew what the fight was about; but it was the general impression, at least in Boston, that Moore must be right.

About 1854 or 1855 Bro. Raymond treated Bro. Moore to a trip to Europe. It seems that during that trip something occurred to rupture the long-existing friendship between Raymond and Moore. Besides this free treat to Europe, it is well known that Moore was under financial obligations to Raymond. But Moore was a spoilt man; he was so much flattered by his correspondents; he had so much his own way in the G.L., and consequently became so much puffed with self-conceit, that he finally could not bear the slightest opposition to his dictum. Sovereign Raymond had a weakness not uncommon to Sovereign rulers; Moore ceased to be his favourite, and he substituted for Moore the Rev. Bro. Randall P.G.M. of Massachusetts. Some two or three years after Moore was treated with a trip to Europe, Raymond gave Randall the same treat. This must have been a further cause of irritation to our imperious Bro. Moore. Randall was Moore's pastor, and Randall would never have been G.M. if Moore had not made him G.M. To be brief. In 1860, an open rupture took place between Moore and Raymond. Moore deposed Raymond from his Sovereignty, and placed on the throne a New Yorker who belonged to his faction. Up to this time the number of these A. and A. gentry was still very small, the Supreme Council of 1860 instead of having nine members had only five: the other four positions were kept open in anticipation of some big guns who might be worthy of them, but this rebellion of Moore changed the original policy. Now, thirty-seconds, and thirty-thirds too, are as plentiful here as mosquitoes on a midsummer night.

Raymond was not, however, without adherents. P.G.M. Robinson stood up for him. P.G.M. Randall was now raised to the thirty-third degree, was made a member of Raymond's Council, and became Raymond's champion. Randall, who was educated in a school of theological controversy, was even a more adroit hair-splitter than Moore himself. Moore monopolised a Masonic magazine; Randall, therefore, published a pamphlet, in which he proved to demonstration that, according to the Constitutions of the thrice illustrious Frederick the Great, that Moore was a worse kind of rebel, and that his concern was bogus, illegitimate, spurious, clandestine, &c., &c. About the same time, the editor and proprietor of the Boston Herald opened a Masonic column in his Sunday issue. He was a Raymondite, and he and his friends now peppered away at the Moorites. Unfortunately, the said Herald proprietor belonged to a Lodge consisting almost exclusively of Moorites, so charges were brought against him, I never could learn for what, and he was expelled from Masonry and has never been restored since.

I have gone ahead a little too fast, and must therefore retrace my steps to 1860. I have said that Moore was very overbearing, and especially to the humbler members of the Fraternity, but as long as the upper ten continued to praise him as an oracle, the lower hundred had to bite their nails and bear his insults; when, however, three past Grand Masters united in exposing Moore's presumptions, the offended ones began to express their feelings against Moore more openly. "Moore," they said, "has been too long in office, and it is high time to make a change," &c. To strengthen himself in his position, Moore sent emissaries to the permanent members of the Grand Lodge, viz.: P.G. Masters, P.D.G. Masters, P.G. Wardens, as well as to the Grand Officers, offering them his high degrees for little or nothing. But Raymond did the same: next, the rising or talented members of the Fraternity, such as lawyers, doctors, &c., received the same offers from both parties. Next emissaries were sent to the Masters and Wardens of both town and country Lodges: and, lastly, everybody in the Craft was offered the degrees by both factions for little or nothing.* Thus, twenty-five dollars was the price for being made a thirty-second, but if a man was shrewd he could get them at his own price. The result was a great rush into high degreedom, and as many as one hundred and fifty, and even more, were made in those concerns in a single night. For these facts I have the best evidence. Thus, a P.D.G.M., a lawyer of high standing, assured me that delegates from both factions offered to make him a thirty-third for nothing; a P.M. of St. John's Lodge told me that an emissary waited upon him, and offered to make him a thirty-second for twenty-five dollars; but promised that the money should be returned to him as soon as he joined the concern. A member of the Raymond party said to me, "I will tell you the method adopted by our recruiting sergeants. Thus: Bro. A. would call upon Bro. B., and after some general talk, would break out with, "Oh! look here; why don't you join the high degrees? I can get you in. The price is only twenty-five dollars. Cheap! dirt cheap! you will never have the chance again, &c. &c. B.—Well, I don't know; but I will consider about it." A few days afterwards B. received an invitation to meet A. in the evening at one of the sanctums. When he came there A. said: "Oh! I am glad you are here, and I congratulate you on your being unanimously elected." B.—"But I did not authorise you to propose me. I said I would see." A.—"Oh! That is all nonsense. I know you meant it. It is only twenty-five dollars. So come in." B.—"But I can't spare twenty-five dollars." A.—"Oh! is money an object. Well, you shall have the degrees for twenty dollars. Have them for fifteen. Come, you shall have them for ten. Cheap! dirt cheap!" And so Bro. B. got a bargain, viz., twenty-nine sublime degrees, besides the titles of Sir Knight this, Sir Knight that, and Sir Knight of ever so many orders of high chivalry; also the titles of Royal Prince, Emperor, and what not! All these high honours he got for ten dollars.

A thirty-second of the Moore faction said to me, "I will tell you, Bro. N., how thirty-seconds were in those days sublimed by wholesale. Imagine (said he) a hundred and fifty of us dressed in white cotton garments, each carrying a long cross, and marching in procession round the hall, headed by an officer wearing high boots, the upper part strapped round the waist, to which were appended spurs about a foot long; and after so marching several times round the hall, we came to a sudden halt, when, in a thrice, each of us had twenty-nine degrees injected into him, which, together with the three blue degrees, transmogrified us all at once into sublime thirty-seconds."

In 1863 news reach the Moorite camp that the Raymondites had united with the New York Cerneauites. The howl of indignation raised at the said news by the Moorites could not be surpassed by an Irish mob; some, who were filled to overflowing with Christian charity, bitterly lamented the fate of poor Bro. Raymond, that he had so—

"Fallen, fallen, fallen, from his high estate."

Others wrote more savagely; while others again went to work and collected all the foul epithets which Raymond in his addresses (which addresses were all written by Moore) had formerly hurled at the Cerneauites. On the other hand, the Cerneauites brought to light a correspondence of Moore with them, wherein he himself offered to unite with them. The reader may now form an idea of the amount of intrigue and deceit in which those "Thrice Illustriouses" then indulged. In 1864 Bro. Gardner wrote that brief history of the A. and A. Rite, and I have no doubt that he negrofied Count de St. Laurent upon heresay evidence, probably given to him by Moore, of which, for reasons already given, I do not believe a word. The excitement caused amongst Masons in those days is indescribable. Old friendships were severed; Lodges, Chapters, &c. were divided into factions of "Buzzards" and "Pelicans," for so they styled each other; the animosities ran so high that some began to talk of constituting another Grand Lodge in Massachusetts. This would have had no effect upon Moore, for with him it was either rule or ruin; but there were ugly difficulties which stared in the faces of other leading men.

* A very intelligent brother, who got from Moore the degrees for nothing, informed me, since the above was written, that Moore issued printed circulars to all the Masters and Wardens of Lodges, offering them the degrees for five dollars, and it was arranged that they should come to Boston in batches of about two or three hundred for each night when the concern met, and my informant went through the mill in company with about three hundred of these personages.

Briefly, then, I may state that the Boston Temple was destroyed by fire in 1863. The wiseacres who then ruled the Grand Lodge computed the cost of the erection of a temple at, say 350,000 dollars, but when, in 1865-6, the temple was approaching completion, it was discovered that it would cost about double that mount. A number of the wealthy members had already advanced large sums of money, or endorsed the notes of the Grand Lodge. With a united Grand Lodge, it was barely possible to bridge the gap over; but with a disunited jurisdiction the Grand Lodge would have been bankrupt after the first six months' interest was due. To save the Grand Lodge and the parties interested from ruin, a union between the "Buzzards and Pelicans" began to be seriously entertained. The result was, a union was effected, in 1867, when each party declared the opposite party to have always been genuine simon pures, and the saints of both parties were alike placed in holy niches as holy saints of the Northern Jurisdiction of the A. and A. Rite of North America, all which was wound up with a jolly feast, and any amount of hand-shaking and embracing—all were happy, save and except Bro. Moore, who lost his friends, his prestige, and finally lost his position as Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts.

After that peace one would naturally suppose that a Supreme Council of Cerneanites would never again exist in America. But such is not the case. We have now no less than three Cernean Supreme Councils in New York, besides the one which adheres to the Union of 1867, and these continue to hurl against each other the old orthodox A. and A. Billingsgate vocabulary. One of these bodies invaded the jurisdiction of Bro. Carson (Ohio), and our good brother denounced them as "infernal Masonic Buzzards." I suppose that is all right; but I want to know why the others have not equal right to denounce Bro. Carson's faction as "infernal Masonic Buzzards?" And another of the Cerneanite Councils established, last March, a Consistory in Boston, consisting of from seventy-five to one hundred members. Besides these, about two years ago the Memphis Rite was introduced into Boston, and one hundred and ten members at once joined it. The price was ten dollars, and for that sum the recipient got three times as many grandiloquent titles as the poor A. and A. Rite can confer. This was getting too hot for Northern jurisdiction dignitaries, and consequently they bethought themselves of the necessity of some reform. Now, no man can successfully elevate the intellectual or moral standard of society unless he is endowed with three qualifications. 1st, He must be a man of reason and ability. 2nd, He must be a man of sincere and good conscience, and 3rd, He must be endowed with moral courage. If a man falls short of either of these three requisites he may not do harm; but he never can accomplish any good. If, then, the G.L. of Massachusetts had had a man at its head fully endowed with the necessary qualifications, he would, if the disease had not become too deply rooted, recommend to the G.L. to follow the example of the G.L. of Hamburg, viz., to pass a law to expel every Mason who belongs to any of the so-called Masonic bodies higher than the M.M. degree. But if the disease had become too deply rooted, then he might assemble the grandees of those bodies, and thus frankly address them:—

"Brethren,—The aim of the founders of our modern or speculative Masonry was to make the Lodge a centre of union for all good and true men 'be their religion what it may,' (providing they believe in the G.A.O.T.U.) Your so-called Masonry is, however, based upon sectarian creeds, which are directly antagonistic to the original idea of the founders. Your Masonry is therefore really and truly nothing more nor less than anti-Masonry.

Second. Some of you claim that Frederick the Great absolved you from your obligations of fealty to your Grand Lodge. But who furnished Frederick with the power of absolving you from your oaths of obedience to this Grand Lodge? Was Frederick a God, a prophet, or a Pope? or do you believe that he was authorised by the powers above to do so? But that is not all; are you not aware that the whole story of Frederick's charter was the invention of some Charleston high degree charlatans?

Third. Is there in existence a body of sane men (save and except professional stage actors) who would lay claim to such ridiculous titles as Sir Knights, Princes, Emperors, Thrice Illustrionses," &c., &c. Now, pray, what made you so very illustrious? have you distinguished yourselves in arts, science, letters, statemanship, generalship? or have you descended from a long line of illustrious ancestors who have improved the moral, social, or political condition of mankind? Your grandiloquent title has not only made you a laughing stock to the outer world, but it reflects discredit upon the intelligence of the whole fraternity.

And fourth. If in spite of reason and remonstrance, you are still determined to continue making fools of yourselves, do so to your hearts content; but you must not hold your meetings in Masonic temples; you must not decorate yourselves with your jewellery when you are in a Masonic Lodge; you must not spread over the covers of Masonic publications your emblems, nor fill its pages with your rubbish; and above all, you must not style yourselves "Masonic Bodies."

Such an address from a Grand Master might have served to redeem some of the high graders from their folly, and might have prevented others from joining it. But, unfortunately, Massachusetts never had a Grand Master who either could, would, or dared talk common sense upon the subject of high degreedom. Indeed, I have reason to believe that from the time additional degrees began to be introduced here, Grand Masters took to them as naturally as ducklings take to water, and I know that, at least for the last fifty years, no one could be G.M., G.W., or receive the appointment of D.G.M., who could not sport a cocked hat in a public procession; and since the mania for the A. and A. Rite set in, I doubt whether a man could receive any office in the Grand Lodge unless he was at least a thirty-second. How then could a Massachusetts Grand Master talk common sense upon the high degrees, when he wallowed (either willingly or unwillingly) in the same mire with the rest. But something had to be done to stop the new rivals to high degreedom. So they adopted an amendment to the Constitution, which simply amounted to this. Masons under this jurisdiction may join and belong to Masonic humbuggery No. 1, No. 2, and so on, up to a certain number; but if they should join Masonic humbuggeries beyond that number they are liable to expulsion, &c. Be it further remembered, that the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts is not empowered by its constitution to control more than the first three degrees. Some of its members, such as Wardens of country Lodges, have probably never taken either the degrees of the Memphis Rite or the Scotch Rite, and are utterly ignorant of the history, merits, or demerits of either of the rival Scotch Riters, and these were called upon to vote which of those factions were legitimate, and which were illegitimate.

But in spite of the amendment to the Constitution the Memphisites held a Convention this month in Boston, consisting of sixty delegates from various States of the Union. Among the delegates were two clergymen, whom they elected Officers for the United States, and the Cerneanites had also advertised to hold a Session in Boston. What the result will be of all this grasping remains to be seen.

The fact is, high degreedom rules the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts as much as if it was a creature of the A. and A. Rite; or, in other words, the high degreers play the fiddle and the Master Masons must dance in accordance with the fiddler's music. In glancing, therefore, back at the history of the high grades (so-called) in America, I can see any number of ills they have inflicted on Craft Masonry, but I cannot point out a solitary particle of good they have ever done or are ever likely to do.

FRATERNITY.

FROM THE KEYSTONE.

What though the crouds who shout the word,
Pervert the meaning it should bear,
And feel their hearts with hatred stirr'd,
E'en while their plaudits load the air;—
Yet shall not we, thou mighty THOUGHT,
Despair thy triumph yet to see,
Or doubt the good that shall be wrought
In thy great name, FRATERNITY.

By prophets told, by psalmists sung,
Preach'd on the Mount by lips sublime,
The theme of every sage's tongue
For twice a thousand years of time;
What happy progress hast thou made?
What bliss to man has flow'd from thee?
What war and bloodshed hast thou stayed?
What peace affirm'd, FRATERNITY.

Alas! the years have fail'd to teach
The obvious lesson to mankind,
A myriad preachers fail'd to preach
Conviction to the deaf and blind.
Still do we rush to furious war,
Still to the slayer bend the knee,
And still, most Christian as we are,
Forget thy name, FRATERNITY?

And shall we, cramm'd with mutual hates,
Despise our neighbour for a flaw?
And sneer, because he pronulgates,
Before he understands, thy law?
No! let us hail the word of might,
Breathed by a nation of the free;—
Thy recognition is a light—
Thy name a faith, FRATERNITY.

The preacher may belie his creed,
But still the truth preserves its flame;
The sage may do a foolish deed,
Yet wisdom shares not in the shame.
Be scorning hushed—be cavil dumb—
Whatever ills the world may see,
We'll look for blessings yet to come
In thy great name, FRATERNITY.

The ceremonies of consecration and installation will be rehearsed at the Selwyn Lodge of Instruction, No. 1901, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich Green (near Champion Hill Station), by Bro. James Terry Prov. S.G. Warden Northa and Hunts, P. Prov. Junior Warden Herts, P.M. 228 1278 1366, Secretary of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, on Thursday, 26th October. Lodge will be opened at 6.45 for 7 precisely. Brethren to appear in full Craft clothing.

A VISIT TO THE WEST END.

NOW that the season has fairly set in, and the brethren of our various Lodges have settled down, like veterans, to the work of the campaign, it may not be uninteresting to give a passing allusion to some of the resorts unto which the members of the mystic tie repair, either for labour or refreshment, in various districts of the metropolis. There are some which are known as the "homes" almost of certain Lodges, where, year after year, the same faces and the same fraternal greetings are to be met with, the only changes being when initiates are brought within the pale of the Craft, to supply the ranks of those who, from a variety of causes, have "fallen out." We are prompted to this introductory notice, of which we may hope to give more before the season closes, by agreeable recollections of hearty Lodge, Chapter and Rose Croix assemblies we have attended at Limmer's Hotel, in George-street, Hanover-square, over which Bro. T. Benskin presides so amiably and with such business-like tact and ability. We have been there, and still would go, when the Masonic pen was silent, in a professional sense, but when the Grand old hall resounded with the clank of arms, and royalty has deigned to preside over festivities, surrounded by all the glorious "pomp and circumstance" of military merry making. We remember the cordial interchange of sentiment between the regiments of Hussars and Lancers and Highlanders, the sturdy cheers of the Black Watch, and the equally happy gatherings of the Fusiliers and Infantry, which have made the walls of Limmer's ring during the past season, and before our troubles in Egypt began; whilst many a more subdued, though equally pleasant réunion, has been witnessed in this luxurious West-end establishment which will live in the memories of the Royal Military College, the Marlborough, Cornish, Phœnix, Oxford, Falstaff, and other clubs—the Royal Institute of British Architects (over whom our esteemed Bro. Horace Jones, City Architect, so well presided), of the Royal Military College, the Army Pay Department, the Defence of Lucknow Presidency, and the Household Brigade Cricket Club, and many other associations, who, when their work was ended for the time, have assembled here and found a place to spend a happy evening. The fame of all these gatherings has gone abroad, and we understand that more than one of our West-end Lodges have thought of making Limmer's more than an occasional house of call. The Bayard Lodge has tested the capacities of this luxurious establishment, and Rose Croix Chapters have there also found their needs administered in truly Masonic fashion by Bro. Benskin, and his able staff of assistants. Nor do we know of a more central and suitable trysting place for the many brethren who dwell in this aristocratic quarter. As many of our readers are aware, the hotel occupies a bold and commanding position, at the corner of George-street, Hanover-square and Conduit-street, and presents at once a warm, dry and luxurious aspect. On entering the hall the visitor is struck by the massive and elegant surroundings, with its ornamented foliage, plants and exotics, tastefully displayed within the alcoves and around the pillars supporting the roof, whilst immediately on the right are the offices, flanked by a neatly and comfortably furnished smoking-room, which bears the aspect of simple luxury and ease. Around the tables are seats and lounges of the most approved pattern, whilst the best magazines, periodicals and papers of the day are in abundant supply, with the addition of books for reference on all matters interesting to visitors. Opening from the corridor is the banquet-hall, a spacious and magnificent apartment, capable of seating comfortably 150 guests at dinner. Corresponding with the hall, the roof is supported by pillars, the ceiling is richly and chastely embellished, the light being furnished in the daytime by an elaborately decorated dome, and in the evening by massive gaseliers, fitted with the most approved appliances, while all the necessary apparatus for ventilation and a free current of air through the saloon have been carefully studied. The walls are beautifully decorated, and in keeping with the rest of the fittings, and the coup doil, when the hall is brilliantly lighted, suggests the acme of luxuriance and elegance. Adjoining are all the requisite offices and lavatories. The plan adopted by Bro. Benskin has evidently been the outcome of large experience in the all-important matters of comfort and convenience. Proceeding over the tesselated pavement to the broad open staircase, the visitor is conducted to the general coffee-room, which overlooks Conduit-street and its approaches, the bay windows being filled with choice plants, which give to them a cool and refreshing aspect. The room itself is lofty and well decorated, the ceiling being embellished with figure-work of a light and elegant design. The tables are placed à la Russe, and are adorned with vases and epergnes of flowers and ferns, whilst pictures and mirrors add to the completeness and comfort of the apartment. On this floor are other private sitting-rooms, all admirably appointed, and presenting a homely appearance, combined with every accessible comfort, with pianos and lounges en suite. Ascending to the second floor, another suite of rooms, which communicate with each other, forms a most admirable and unique arrangement for such purposes as the Craft require, and which we expect soon to see more extensively utilised in that way. On this floor are also the well-appointed bed-rooms and retiring-rooms, with baths, lavatories and other conveniences, of the most modern style, while above these again are other suites of apartments, in unison with the general interior economy of this admirably-designed and well-conducted hotel. There are electric bells all over the house, so as to reduce the labour of the servants to a minimum, and prevent delays that are often vexatious, whilst by means of telephonic communication can be readily secured with any part of the City. It is no matter for surprise that, in a locality so proverbially matrimonial, wedding parties should frequently be given at Limmer's, and many have been the nuptial rejoicings there during the past season. When so many Lodges are casting about for a suitable meeting place in which to spend their hours of work and recreation, it would be well to pay a visit to Bro. Benskin, whose courtesy and urbanity are so well known, and we anticipate that in the session which has just opened, the voice of Masonry will be even more frequently heard here than in the past. We cannot conclude without congratulating Bro. Benskin upon the vast improvements he has effected since his occupancy, which has extended over the last eighteen months, and it will be the universal verdict of all who visit Limmer's, that it now forms one of the most récherché and admirably-appointed hotels at the West-end.

The Phynodderree, and other Legends of the Isle of Man. By EDWARD CARLOW. London: J. Dean and Son, Fleet-street, E.C.

FEW but Manxmen would comprehend at first sight the meaning of this strange-sounding title, nor by any stretch of the imagination could the ordinary reader attach a fairy-like interpretation to it. But it is in the nature of young people to be enquiring, and they will only have to turn the leaves of this pretty volume to find such a charming banquet of fairy love as they little anticipated. With a charming touch of tenderness, the author dedicates his work "to the dear fairies of my own home, Sarah Frances, Frances Elizabeth, and Alice Mary, presumably his daughters; and he has evidently laid himself out to entertain as well as to instruct the youthful mind. There are, however, chapters which appeal to the more matured sense and taste, and the style and diction is such as at once commends itself to thoughtful and intelligent minds. In many parts of the kingdom it is well known that there exists—we will not call it superstition—a certain vague belief in fairies, or elfins, or pixies; we may call them what we please, but their antics and orgies are handed down from generation to generation, until they become surrounded with a sort of fanciful mystery which is essentially hereditary. Our author assures us that this proclivity is nowhere more predominant, or retains a greater hold than upon the people of the Isle of Man; and in the volume before us he produces much that is, to a majority of readers, quaint and original, mixed up with information of the deepest interest concerning the beautiful little island, "somewhere in the Irish Sea." It appears that the cat minus its tail is not the only wonderful phenomenon peculiar to the Isle of Man; for the legends and tales related by its denizens vie almost with those of the Arabian Nights in their poetry, humour and intricacy. We are assured that those who care to inquire into the habits and customs of the Manx cottagers will see much that will reward their curiosity; and it is not by merely casually visiting this island, on a summer holiday, and keeping in the beaten track of sightseers, that any perfect idea of these manners and customs will be obtained. We must branch off to the high road, and out of the recesses of mountain districts to glean these weird stories which hover about the hearth of the humbler and uneducated classes—legends that have been handed down from father to son for generations, and which will never be effaced, no matter how rapid the march of education and refinement. To rescue these from oblivion has been the special forte and fancy of the author of this work, and he certainly has succeeded in collecting a great number, and presenting them to his readers in the most agreeable and entertaining fashion. No doubt the perusal of these tales will reward the aim of the writer by inducing many to become personally acquainted with the scenes so cleverly depicted, and to learn more for themselves of the habits of that thoroughly industrious race who dwell mid ocean, off our north-western coasts. The tale of fairy love which opens the volume, and the others which follow—"Tom Kewley and the Lannanshee; or the fairy cup of Kirk Mallow;" "King Olire the Second and the Great Sword Macabnin;" and "The Buggane's Vow—a Legend of St. Trinion's Church," are all replete, with that charming simplicity of style and piquancy of incident which must arrest and rivet the attention, especially of young readers, and enable them to wile away many a pleasant hour, in wholesome relaxation, during the long winter evenings which are now so rapidly coming upon us. We will not spoil the appetites of our little friends—and the children of larger growth, too, for that matter—by even shadowing forth a hint as to the plots revealed in these quaint stories and reminiscences, handed down through long-forgotten days; but need simply say that they abound with interest and entertainment, and, whether in the drawing-room or the nursery, they will form matter for a vast amount of pleasant occupation. The book is beautifully got-up, and embellished in a style for which this eminent publishing firm is noted; and it will form an ornament on the library or drawing-room table. We heartily commend this handsome volume, so full of entertaining matter, simply though forcibly written, to the attention of parents who aim at placing within the reach of their children really pure and entertaining matter, without any admixture of the pernicious stuff contained in many modern "fairy books," and wish for the author as great success in the matter of circulation as he has achieved in his admirable compilation.

MASONRY AND RELIGION.

FROM THE MASONIC REVIEW.

WHEN brethren here and there say that Freemasonry is their Religion, they speak both better and worse than they know. it is a phrase we often hear—"Masonry is a good enough religion for me." There is no truth in the statement at all, unless the brother making it gives evidence in his daily life and conversation that Freemasonry is doing as much for him in the directions of social, moral and religious culture as the average Church of to-day can do. Now whether the Church of to-day would make him a better man or not, is not the question we are discussing; but the question is, does the brother's Freemasonry make him a better man, and cultivate in him the elements of the true and good man, the social virtues, and the religious character and life? If not, then, first, he has no right of ground or reason to say that Freemasonry is a good enough religion for him; and, second, he does not know what Freemasonry is in its deeper and richer meanings, and in its persuasive power over the hearts and lives of those who seek its interpretations, and love its lessons. For if a man will not keep his vows to the Lodge, the Chapter, the Commandery, and the grades of the Scottish Rite, he will not keep his vows to the Church, though St. Paul himself, or even an angel from heaven, were the preacher. It is distinctly understood that we are drawing no comparison at all between Freemasonry and the Church—between Freemasons and Church members. Still, it is true that an unworthy church member is as far from the kingdom of heaven as is an unworthy Masonic brother, and no man has any more right to say that the Church is a good enough religion for him, when he neglects his religious vows of faith and love, than a Masonic brother has to say that the Lodge is a good enough religion for him when he fails to fulfil, and even to recognise, his solemn vows and covenants to be a true man in his relations to himself, to his family, to his country, and to his God. They are equally unworthy, and fall far short of the blessed inheritance of love and eternal life! A man is saved, not by being in either, but by the discharge of his covenant obligations, and fulfilling his manhood duty, that duty, in any place, rising as high as heaven and leading to its golden gates.

Our Jewish brethren are naturally drawn to the grades of Masonry, and to its obligations and vows, because of the relation which the Institution bears to their history and people, to their city, their Temple and their God. Still, these brethren, as we all know, do not accept the Christian teaching of the God-head of Jesus of Nazareth. They worship the One, Ever living and True God, as they claim, and we have no right to doubt their sincerity in this worship, or dispute their right thus to worship. Indeed, it is a question among theologians and Christian teachers if the Jews who do not accept the Messiahship of Jesus, and still sincerely worship the Ever-living and True God, are to be punished hereafter because they do not accept Jesus as very God. In the same category with them, in this connection, we name Longfellow, Emmerson, Holmes and others. And yet many of these Jews have passed into the higher grades of Masonry, where the Christian idea illumines and interprets the lower grades, and they have accepted, in their own sincere and serious interpretations, the profound, touching, inspiring, glowing lessons, emblems and spiritual power of Rose Croix! If ever Christian history, truth, principle and doctrine were preached any where, they have been preached, and avowed, in a Chapter of Rose Croix, and in a Commandery of Knights Templar. And it was only the most natural and fitting thing in the world, when an eminent man and Christian of this community was receiving the Order of Christian Knighthood, that he should break the solemn silence of the Asylum, and interrupt the lesson of the Eminent Commander, by speaking out—"Glory to God! Hallelujah! Bless His holy name!"

Now, my brother, whether Freemasonry is a good enough religion for you or not depends altogether upon what use you make of it. You have no right to say it, unless you exemplify the principles you have professed, and perform the vows you have made. As we said before, the Church, in any form or power of it, could not save you, or be a good enough religion for you, if you were indifferent to your profession, and neglectful of your vows. You might worship in St. Peter's at Rome, or in St. Paul's in London, in cathedral, chapel, or crypt, in temple of Moslem Buddha, or Brahma, but you would not have the faintest experience of a good enough religion only as you performed your duties, fulfilled your vows, and cultivated the spiritual virtues you formally and solemnly avowed. Nor can the Lodge, by any means, nor the Institution, in its solemn Christian Order, be a good enough religion for you, if you neglect her ways of Zion, her paths of righteousness, her vows of fidelity, and her binding covenants of truth, loving kindness, and religion.

The only "good enough" religion for you, my brother, is that which teaches and inspires you to "love the Lord thy God, with all thy heart, with all thy soul, with all thy mind, and with all thy strength, and thy neighbour as thyself." On these two Commandments hang all the Law and the Prophets. "This do, and thou shalt live."

The definition of Religion by St. James is worthy of meditation: "Pure Religion, and undefiled before God and the Father, is this: To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world." And St. James himself comments upon his own words when he says: "If a brother or sister be naked and destitute of daily food, and one of you say unto them, depart in peace, be ye warmed and filled, notwithstanding ye give them not those things which are needful for the body, what doth it profit?"

And St. John the Evangelist, one of the Patron Saints of our Order, says: "But whosoever hath this world's goods, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him?"

Now, my dear brother, your Freemasonry teaches you to do these things, and you are under solemn obligation to perform them. If you fail to observe and to do these things, you are not a Mason, and if you will neglect your vows as a member of the Lodge, and perform them not, unto men and before God, you will be neglectful, unruly, disobedient and unfaithful toward any vows you may take anywhere else. In such case, there is nothing named under heaven that will be "a good enough religion" for you!

Lodge having been opened with the usual formalities. The first degree was conferred on Mr. F. T. Twining, M.B., Bro. Stephens occupying the chair. At the conclusion of the ceremony Lodge was advanced, and Bro. Stephens was duly installed into the chair of the Lodge as Master for the year. Bro. Terry acted as Installing Master on this the second time that Bro. Stephens has been placed in the first position in this Lodge, he having been installed as first Master on the consecration of the Lodge by the late Bro. J. Hervey, in 1874. Bro. Stephens next appointed the following as his Officers:—Bros. J. Tovell S.W., W. Gray J.W., J. E. Walford P.M. Treas., G. J. Glover Sec., F. A. Hawthorn S.D., E. George J.D., J. Hannay I.G., C. H. Fisher M.C., H. Patient Steward, W. Matthews Organist, and J. J. Marsh Tyler. The W.M. presented a new set of collars to the Lodge, and then proceeded to close it. Before doing so he proposed, and Bro. Walford Treas. seconded, that the rank of Honorary Membership should be conferred on Bros. Buss and Terry, in consideration of their services to the Lodge, both at its consecration and since. The vote was unanimously agreed to. Bro. Buss, in acknowledging it, said he distinctly remembered having been elected an honorary member of the Lodge on the occasion of its consecration, and had considered himself as such ever since. If, as the W.M. had said, the minutes contained no notice of it, the Secretary for the time being had omitted part of his work. Bro. Terry also replied, and acknowledged a special vote of thanks passed to him for having acted as Installing Master for that day. A banquet followed, after which the usual toasts were given.

Alfred William Flack being present, and a candidate for passing, answered the usual questions and was entrusted. Lodge advanced, and the candidate duly passed to the second degree, the ceremony being worked in a very impressive and interesting manner. Lodge having closed in the second degree, several propositions were taken for initiates, as well as for a joining member. A proposition was made by the S. Warden, seconded by Bro. Oxley (notwithstanding the tardiness in bringing it forward), that considering the great amount of trouble undertaken by Bro. C. Veal P.M. during his year of office, for the future welfare of this Lodge, in which special reference was made to his success in removing the Lodge from its old quarters, a testimonial engrossed on vellum should be prepared and presented to him. This was carried unanimously. Nothing further offering, Lodge closed and adjourned till 8th November ensuing. The brethren afterwards partook of refreshment, and a pleasant evening was spent.

A MONUMENT TO MORGAN.

FROM THE ELMIRA SUNDAY TELEGRAM.

ON Wednesday, 13th September last, a monument, erected to the memory of Captain William Morgan, at Batavia, was unveiled. The exercises were under the auspices of the National Christian Association, and consisted of a hymn, composed for the occasion; prayers by President J. Blanchard, of the National Christian Association; presentation address on behalf of the monument Committee by Rev. Dr. McFall, of Boston; an address by Professor C. A. Blanchard, of Wheaton College, Ill.; a brief retrospective address by Judge Moss Taggart, of Batavia, who was personally acquainted with William Morgan for three years. Other survivors of the Morgan affair also made short addresses. The monument is nearly forty feet in height, and bears a statue of Captain Morgan seven feet six inches high. The cost of the monument—2,500 dols.—has been raised by subscription throughout the country. One of the inscriptions on the monument is this:

Sacred to the Memory of
WILLIAM MORGAN,
A native of Virginia, a Captain of the War of 1812,
A respectable Citizen of Batavia, and
A Martyr to Writing, Printing and Speaking the Truth.
He was abducted from near this spot in the year 1826,
by Free Masons,
And Murdered for Revealing the Secrets of their Order.

Grand Recorder Robert Macoy, of New York, speaking about the erection of the monument, said: "Morgan was a blacksmith, living in Batavia. He was a thief, drunkard, and wife-beater. These facts were not known to the Lodge that made him a Mason until some time after he had joined the Order. As a Mason, he was an impostor, working his way among Masons by the grossest falsehoods. He employed the then Grand Lecturer, Blanchard Powers, to instruct him; he was thus enabled to play the character of a mercenary dependent upon Masonic charity. He took the degree of Royal Arch at Le Roy, and began immediately to prepare an 'exposition' of such of the esoteric Masonic matters as he could remember or would best serve his purpose. It became known to the Brotherhood that he was employed upon this shameful task, and they denounced him through the newspapers. On 12th September 1826 he was arrested upon a warrant, for theft and taken to Canandaigua. Four days later he was released and taken in a carriage to Fort Niagara, at the mouth of the river by that name, a distance of 115 miles. This journey was made with his own consent. He was confined in the fort a few days in a room formerly used as a powder magazine. There all traces of him disappear.

A body was found in the whirlpool below Niagara Falls, and it was said to be that of Morgan, but the identity was never established. The theory is absurd that Eli Bruce, and the men who assisted him would have publicly conveyed Morgan over one hundred miles to throw him over the Falls. There was an alarming excitement over the affair. Anti-Masonic associations were formed. They worked in the political campaign that fall and carried the state. Thurlow Weed was among the anti-Masonic politicians. He was informed that the body found was not that of Morgan."

"Never mind," was the reply; "it is a good enough Morgan body until the election is over."

"Sheriff Bruce and several others were arrested for the alleged abduction, and tried on the charge of murder. The trial created great excitement. Bruce narrowly escaped conviction. Men of unquestionable veracity testified that the only object of carrying off Morgan was to produce a separation between him and his publisher (Miller), and thereby prevent a publication of Morgan's books. Was Morgan killed? Morgan had neglected his family, had no property, was despised by the community, owed many debts, had a charge of larceny hanging over his head, and was only too glad to turn his back for ever upon his native place. The theory held by the best informed is that he was supplied with money by his abductors and passed over into Canada, the scene of former adventures in his career, where, amid a rough population, he met the end likely to befall a man whose pockets were sufficiently well lined to make him the victim of a highwayman. The suspicion that he was murdered by his abductors will never be entertained by a person who looks closely into the character of the men who took him upon that journey, and the train of circumstances connected with that unfortunate affair. It is possible that the whole truth may yet come out. I have just received a letter from Mr. Robert Morris, of La Grange, Oldham, county, Ky. It is dated from Batavia. Mr. Morris writes me that he has spent thirty years in trying to solve the Morgan mystery, and that he is now at Batavia trying to procure closing proof upon which to publish the result of his investigations."

Jerusalem Chapter, No. 185.—The first meeting for the season of this Chapter was held on Tuesday evening, at Freemasons' Tavern, Comp. Nathan Moss Z. presiding. There was also a good attendance of members and visitors. Bro. Ernest Isaacson, of Joppa Lodge, No. 188, was exalted to the Royal Arch degree, the whole ceremony being splendidly performed. After Companion Moss Z. had mentioned Col. Shadwell Clerke's circular bringing to the notice of the Order the Prince of Wales's scheme for the Royal College of Music, the Companions partook of an excellent banquet. A handsome P.Z.'s jewel was presented to Comp. T. C. Walls.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—This medicine has resisted every test which time, prejudice, and vested interest could impose upon it, and it at length stands forth triumphant as the most reliable remedy for those derangements of the system so common at the change of season. When the air grows cooler, and the functions of the skin are retarded, an occasional dose of Holloway's Pills will call on the liver and kidneys for greater activity, and compensate the system for diminished cutaneous action. As alteratives, aperients, and tonics these Pills have no equal. To every aged and delicate person whose appetite is defective, digestion infirm, and tone of health low, this medicine will be a precious boon, conferring both ease and strength.

IS FREEMASONRY FLOURISHING?

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—At the Committee meeting of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, on Wednesday, in reference to one of the petitions a long discussion took place, not so much as to this special applicant, who was well known to a good many present, but as to the Lodge that presented him. This Lodge has contributed something under £300 in all to this Institution, and has received about £3 000 from it, and I learn is about sending up two more applicants. If there is not a case from this Lodge at the Board of Benevolence at every meeting it is looked upon as a wonder, and the same commercial speculation is being carried on in regard to both the Boys' and Girls' Schools. Permit me to throw out a note of warning, both to the Lodge and the members of Committee. "Let the galled jade wince, our withers are unwrung."

Yours fraternally,

A MEMBER of COMMITTEE.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION ON BOARD SHIP.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Do pray set your face against the establishment of any more Lodges of Instruction (?)—no matter whether on the ocean or on terra firma. It is becoming a well-known axiom, that if you want "not to do it," you may attend the so-called Lodges of Instruction. What with Bro. A.'s version, and what with the bodge podge served up by those who pretend to be pupils of A. or of B., we are scarcely able to recognise our once sacred ritual.

Yours truly,

AN OLD MASON.

COMMITTEE MEETING OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

THE monthly meeting of the General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys was held last Saturday, 7th inst., at Freemasons' Hall. There were present Bros. Raynham W. Stewart P.G.D. (in the chair), Abner Torkington, Edgar Bowyer, A. J. Duff-Filer, John L. Mather, Arthur E. Gladwell, Don. M. Dewar, H. S. Goodall, Alfred Williams, H. Massey, G P. Britten, C. H. Webb, Rev. Richard Morris, D.D. (Head Master), Fredk. Adlard, W. H. Saunders, George J. Palmer, George P.

Gillard, George Cooper, Edward Baxter, and F. Binckes (Secretary). On the recommendation of the House Committee, it was resolved to invest a further sum of £1,000. There were five petitions before the Committee, four of which, after examination, were passed, and the boys were placed on the list for the April election: the fifth was deferred. Outfits of £5 each were granted to four ex-pupils of the Institution, and £15 to a fifth. The following Notices of Motion were given for the Quarterly Court next Monday:—

1. That the days of election in the two (Boys' and Girls') Institutions remain unaltered, provided only—that when the Quarterly Courts for the election of Candidates shall fall respectively on the Saturday immediately following Good Friday and on Easter Monday, the Quarterly Court in each case shall be postponed to the corresponding days in the ensuing weeks.

2. That whenever the Quarterly Courts for the election of Candidates in the two (Boys' and Girls') Institutions shall fall respectively on the Saturday immediately following Good Friday and on Easter Monday, the Quarterly Court in each case shall be postponed for one week.

By Brother J. L. Mather, V.P.—To amend Rule 55, as follows:—

No boy shall be eligible for election or for admission by purchase or otherwise who has a brother in the Institution, unless the number of vacancies is in excess of the number of candidates.

Bro. W. H. Saunders moved a vote of congratulation to Bro. Binckes on his recovery from his recent severe illness, and stated that the Committee were pleased to see him back again in his place. The motion having been seconded by Bro. J. L. Mather, was put, and carried unanimously. Bro. Binckes acknowledged the vote, and said the Committee were not more pleased to see him back again than he was pleased to be back. However, if he took the advice of his medical attendant, he should have to be quiet for the next six months; but that would not mean a want of interest in the Institution. The Committee then adjourned.

The Committee of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution met at Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday, at four p.m., when there were present Bros. Raynham Stewart (in the chair), Tate, Cottebrune, Custance, Perceval, Woodford, Dilley, Gallant, Farnfield, Cass, Robbins, C. H. Webb, Goodall, W. Stephens, Moore, Godtschalk, Tattershall, Rawson, Daniels, W. Verry, H. Massey, and James Terry Secretary. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. A letter was read from General Brownrigg, C.B., accepting the President's chair for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Festival in February 1883; it was received with pleasure. The Secretary reported two deaths since the last meeting. The Report of the Audit Committee was read, received, adopted, and ordered to be entered on the minutes. Petitions were then read from two brothers, and one widow, which were accepted. All business being ended, the meeting was dissolved.

There is expected to be some contest on Saturday over the confirmation of a resolution come to at last Quarterly Court to preclude purchasing into the Masonic Girls' School a sister of any girl admitted by election, unless the vacancies exceed the number of candidates. Already no two sisters can be in the Institution at the same time by election. Some brethren think that so long as a girl can be purchased into the School she should be admitted, but the general opinion seems to be the other way. In the case of life presentations, that is, where an individual has already paid £500 on condition that he or she during his or her life should always have one child in the School, or where Provinces have paid the sum of £1,050 sterling for the same privilege, the original condition should hold good, but the understanding should be that future purchases will not include the sisters of inmates of the Institution. There is also to be a proposition brought forward on Saturday to present a donation of 35 guineas to the second assistant governess, who has obtained the appointment of head governess of the Dublin Female Orphan School. It is always considered ungallant to oppose anything in which a lady is interested, but it is to be hoped that the Craft as a body will bestir themselves in the matter of the increasing expenses of the Masonic Institutions. Donations to clerks and other employés, the increase of salaries in all directions, portraits of leading individuals, besides the sums of money given to children leaving the Schools, are now absorbing an amount that might profitably be employed in extending the benefits of the Charities.—Evening News.

St. Martin's-le-Grand Chapter, No. 1536.—At a meeting of this Chapter, held at the Guildhall Tavern, on the 3rd inst., Comp. George Gregory was installed into the chair of Z., but, owing to a recent family bereavement, was unable to preside at the usual banquet.

PROVINCE OF HAMPSHIRE AND THE ISLE OF WIGHT.

A SPECIAL Provincial Grand Lodge will shortly be summoned for the purpose of electing a gentleman to fill the office of Prov. G. Treasurer, which, as has already been announced, was relinquished at the last annual P.G. meeting by Bro. Mark E. Frost, who, after seventeen years' arduous service, finding that failing energies incapacitated him from carrying out the duties with that zeal which had hitherto characterised his Masonic career, desired to be relieved of his responsibility. No successor was appointed at the time, as revised bye-laws were being considered for the future government of the Province, and these in some measure affected the duties of the Officers. It is anticipated that a Portsmouth brother will again be elected to fill the post, it having been the custom for many years past (the Secretary being elected from the Southampton Lodges) that the Treasurer should be chosen at Portsmouth. Bro. Frost retires from his active Masonic duties with the good wishes of every Lodge in the Province, and the P.G. Master (W. W. B. Beach, Esq., M.P.) has personally expressed his regret at the termination of his long period of office, and thanks for his valuable assistance and counsel on many occasions. Bro. Frost has filled the chair in several of the local Lodges, and his first office in the Province was that of Grand Superintendent of Works. He was elected P.G. Treasurer at a special P.G. Lodge, held at Portsmouth, in 1865. At that time a sum of £100 was invested, and £262 was received by him from the representatives of his predecessor. The progress of Freemasonry in the Province is evidenced by the fact that at the present date the sum invested has been increased to £800, and a balance of £390 19s 4d in cash was handed over by Bro. Frost on relinquishing office. During the seventeen years, the sum of £1,834 13s has been disbursed in Charity, viz., £967 3s to individual Masons, or some members of their family requiring pecuniary assistance, and £867 10s to the three Institutions connected with the Craft. These donations to the Masonic Institutions have secured the following votes in perpetuity for the Province:—Boys' School, 105; Girls' School, 31; Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, 36. The current expenses have amounted to £766 11s in the seventeen years. It must have been a gratifying circumstance to Bro. Frost that, having received funds to the amount of £362 on acceding to office, he was enabled on retirement to hand over a larger amount, viz., £390 in cash, in addition to bonds for £800, invested principally in Colonial Government Securities.—Portsmouth Times.

YE ANTIENTE FRATERNITIE OF YE RAHERE ALMONERS.

THE annual Festival of the above fraternity has, by special request of Bro. the Lord Mayor, been postponed till Monday, the 23rd inst., the 20th having been appointed by his Lordship, the Junior Grand Warden of England, for the entertainment of the Grand Officers and members of his Lodge, No. 1, at the Mansion House. The Rahere Festival promises to be a very unique affair. "Ye Lord Mayore offe ye Citie of London wille be in ye Chair atte VI offe ye clocke," and will be supported by the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex (of whom Bro. Ald. De Keyser is one), and numerous members of the Court of Common Council. We are informed that during the banquet a boar's head will be introduced in ancient style of State and Old English Carol; and that much of the quaintness which characterised the Inauguration Festival of the Society last year, at the Crystal Palace, and contributed so much to its success, will be repeated at the Cannon-street Hotel on the 20th inst. The Rahere Almoners have, in the words of the Lord Mayor, "done good and useful work" during the past winter, and we cordially wish them that further support which a testimony of that kind from so influential a personage should certainly secure.

The Lord Mayor, Grand Junior Warden, will entertain his brother Grand Officers for the year, and the members of the Grand Master's Lodge No. 1, of which he is now Worshipful Master, and other Masonic guests, at the Mansion House on Friday, the 20th inst. Sir Francis W. Truscott gave a similar entertainment during his mayoralty, when he was Grand Junior Warden. On that occasion the Prince of Wales was the principal guest of the evening.—Evening News.

GILPIN'S "FOREST SCENERY."—Messrs. Sampson Low, Marston and Company, are about to publish a cheap edition of the illustrated re-issue of Gilpin's "Forest Scenery," edited, with notes bringing it up to date, by Mr. F. G. Heath, author of "Autumnal Leaves." It is a curious fact that the existence of the third Edition of "Forest Scenery," which was revised by Gilpin himself, and which forms the text of Mr. Heath's reprint, was unknown to Sir T. D. Lander, first Editor of this famous work, and there is no copy of it even in the British Museum.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

MONTAGUE GUEST LODGE, No. 1900.

THE installation meeting of this new Lodge, which, since its consecration in July of last year, has achieved a success that not even the most sanguine of its well-wishers could have anticipated, took place on Wednesday, at the Inns of Court Hotel, Lincoln's-inn-fields. There was a very large gathering of brethren, many present holding high rank in the Craft, amongst those who signed the attendance book were General Brownrigg, C.B., Prov. Grand Master Surrey; Rev. J. Studholme Brownrigg D.P.G.M. Berks and Bucks, and Rev. C. W. Arnold D.G.M. Surrey, Grand Chaplains; A. H. Stevenson P.D.G.M. Canada, H. E. Prinsep District G.M. Bengal, Col. Shadwell H. Dean, and the Officers were in their places, as under:—Bros. G. P. Festa (W.M. elect) S.W., F. R. W. Hedges (Secretary Royal Masonic Institution for Girls) J.W., J. D. Collier P.M. Secretary, H. J. Capon S.D., H. Slyman J.D., W. H. Gardener I.G., W. H. Staff Organist, and B. Banks Tyler. The minutes of the last regular meeting in April, and of the Lodge of Emergency, held on the 20th of June, were read by the Secretary, and duly received confirmation. The report of the Audit Committee was next presented, and adopted. The members then proceeded to elect a Tyler, and Bro. Banks was chosen to fulfil the duties. The W.M. elect was presented by the acting Immediate Past Master, and Bros. Colonel Shadwell Clerke and Capt. N. G. Philips took the Wardens' chairs. The obligation having been administered, a Board of Installed Masters (about forty in number) was opened. On the readmission of the brethren below the degree of Installed Master, the new W.M. was saluted. The following brethren were then invested with their respective collars:—F. R. W. Hedges S.W., H. J. Capon J.W., W. H. Dean P.M. Treasurer, J. D. Collier P.M. Secretary, Hy. Slyman P.M. S.D., W. H. Gardener J.D., Samuel Brooks P.M. I.G., E. N. Doble M.C., W. H. Staff Org., C. M. Tate W.S., B. Banks Tyler. Bro. Festa was very happy in his choice of words; the remarks he made to each Officer showed that he had fully considered the responsibilities entailed on each one who undertook the duties of Lodge management. A most elegant Past Master's jewel, together with a Past Master's collar and silver jewel attached, was presented, in the name of the Lodge, to Bro. Dean. The following is the inscription:—

to
W. Brother W. H. DEAN, P.M. 417, P.P.G.S.B. Dorset,
As a mark of esteem, and in recognition of the courteous and efficient manner in which he presided over them as first W.M. and Founder.
Oct. 11th, 1882.

In making this presentation Bro. Festa assured Bro. Dean it afforded him intense personal gratification to hand him the Past Master's jewel. It had been unanimously voted by the brethren, for the able manner in which the first Master had conducted the business, as well as for the eminent services he had rendered to the Lodge. He (Bro. Festa) hoped the G.A.O.T.U. would give him health and strength that he might wear it for many years, to his own satisfaction, and to the honour of the brethren of the Lodge. Bro. Dean in reply said, he scarcely knew how to find words to return thanks He should at all times wear the jewel with pride and pleasure, and should ever feel gratification in knowing he was the first Master of the Montague Guest Lodge. The addresses were given in splendid style by Bro. Dean, who was heartily congratulated on the completion of his labours. A proposition for a candidate for initiation at the next meeting was handed in; several letters of regret at inability to attend were read,—notably from Bros. Montague Guest, Sir Francis Burdett, Lieut.-Colonel John Creaton, H. G. Buss, Wilhelm Ganz, Frederick Binckes, H. C. Levander, J. S. Eastes, J. L. Thomas, Alderman Knight (Lord Mayor Elect), Nicols, De La Coste, —and a communication from General Sir Henry Ponsonby, on behalf of the Queen, thanking the brethren for the vote of congratulation passed by the Lodge on Her Most Gracious Majesty's providential escape from assassination. This letter was ordered to be recorded on the minutes. Shortly afterwards hearty good wishes were tendered, and Lodge was closed. The banquet was served under the personal superintendence of Bro. Gosden, the manager of the Hotel, and great credit is due to him for his exertions. On rising to propose the first toast Bro. Festa said, the toast was one he always felt was done most honour to by the fewer the words in which it is given. Therefore, without any further preface, he would propose the health of our Sovereign, Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen, the Patroness of the Craft. After the National Anthem, the W.M. submitted that of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales Most Worshipful Grand Master. He felt convinced that in mentioning so august a name as that of our Supreme Ruler the toast would be received with that enthusiasm which it deserves. In speaking to the toast of the Pro Grand Master the Earl of Carnarvon, the Deputy Grand Master the Earl of Lathom, and the Grand Officers of England Present and Past, the W.M. said, of the Pro Grand Master it was unnecessary for him to say much; the brethren knew how well his Lordship, in the absence of the Most Worshipful Grand Master, discharges the official duties. His great ability and winning manners leave nothing to be desired from him. They also know the Deputy Grand Master the Earl of Lathom, who is the embodiment of one of the hardest worked Masons in the country. He is the essence of what is desired in a gentleman, and is in every respect worthy of admiration. With respect to the other Grand Officers; we are honoured to-day with the company of several. General Brownrigg is deservedly popular in the Province over which he rules; he brings to bear the proper qualifications for a president, and this was notably instanced at the last Communication of the Grand Lodge. Brother Colonel Shadwell Clerke, the Grand Secretary, was our Consecrating Officer, and we may take it he is satisfied with the way in which this Lodge has been conducted; this may be accepted by the fact that he is with us to-day. We also have many other distinguished Masons, Bro. Stevenson a Past G.M. of Canada, the Hon. Justice Prinsep D.G.M. Bengal, Captain Philips, the Revs. J. Studholme Brownrigg and C. W. Arnold, besides many others. With a list of such dimensions he knew he might commend the toast to their notice, and would call on General Brownrigg to respond. After a glee, General Brownrigg rose. He always thought the toast with which his name had been associated was a somewhat difficult one to say anything new upon. The Grand Officers were burdened with great responsibilities; this especially applied to those who held the permanent offices. They had, however, an influence which the Craft at large acknowledged, and the toast of their health was always warmly received. After a very happy allusion to the condition of the new Lodge, which he said might be expressed as having been just weaned from its first nourisher, with whom it had parted in a sound condition, General Brownrigg concluded, with thanks to all for the way in which the toast had been received. Bro. Dean rose. It was his privilege to give the next toast. He did so with the greatest pleasure. Their W.M. was a most zealous, efficient, and charitable Mason. The Lodge, since its commencement, had collected for the three Institutions a sum of nearly £500. Two-thirds of this had been realised by the efforts of Bro. Festa; this result would fully testify to his efficiency. With respect to his zeal, this was displayed fully by what he did when the members of the Lodge were endeavouring to obtain their warrant. If they were to be guided by what Bro. Festa had done towards the preliminary work, he (Bro. Dean) was assured the brethren could not have made better choice of a Master. He sincerely trusted their W.M. might have health and strength to carry on the work of the Lodge. In reply, Bro. Festa said, if he were to reduce into words all that his heart felt at the present moment, his speech would be of great length; yet if he attempted to condense all that he wished to say, it would be like one of those meat lozenges which, though it may contain the essence of one or two good mutton chops, is none the less disappointing. This much, however, he might venture to urge, that ever since he had been a member of this most honourable Order it had been his earnest endeavour to do his duty, and to practise, in their integrity, those virtues which have been laid down for our guidance. He need scarcely say that his experience in the past would be his guide for the future. He thanked Past Master Dean for the kind way in which he had proposed the toast; and the brethren, for the cordial manner in which they had received it. In proposing the health of the Visitors, the Worshipful Master said the members of the Lodge were gratified at seeing so many present. He had already referred to the Officers of Grand Lodge, and to speak of them in this connection, he should merely repeat what he had already advanced. We are proud to have them with us. We have also several distinguished brethren who hail from the Provinces, who we look upon as representatives of the Craft, and feel intensely flattered at their having come so far to visit this Lodge. The Metropolitan District may also be said to be ably represented. With the toast he would associate the name of Bro. A. A. Stevenson D.G.M. Canada. Bro. Stevenson in reply, said he did not desire that the brethren should accept him as a fair specimen of Canadian Masons, for this particular reason, which would commend itself to their judgment—he was sure that they had within that room two magnificent specimens of Canadian Masons, Bros. General Browrigg and J. M. P. Montagu. Both these brethren were made in Canada; and he believed the brethren would admit that even the Grand Lodge of England owed something to that benigbted country, inasmuch as it had given it twosuch useful members. Following the example which had been set of making short speeches, he would say he was exceedingly grateful for the courtesy and the kind and fraternal feeling which had been shown him during the past two or three days that he had been within this great city, and it had occurred to him that if he could only spare the time (and people who lived in such a great city believed the visitors from abroad could spare the time) he would experience the same hospitalitality that people going to America would experience. Now, his stay was a very limited one, but he had enjoyed himself thoroughly. It was a most fortunate thing for him to have met the Grand Secretary, Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke, through whom he had received great hospitality. He had experienced this at Golden-square, and now he had experienced it again in the Montagne Guest Lodge. For such a young Lodge it was a marvel, and it had presented a most creditable spectable that day. He had admired, as everybody else must have admired, the very efficient manner in which everything was done in the Lodge. He thought they had made a splendid selection in their choice of a W.M., who had exhibited great judgment in his choice of Officers. He should look with considerable interest upon the working of No. 1900. They had no such high number as that in Canada. The people there had more to do in clearing the forest, sowing the seed, and reaping the harvest, than in learning Freemasonry. Still there were parts here and there where Freemasonry was cultivated, and when England, Scotland and Ireland had learned that it was their duty to send people out there instead of to foreign nations, where the feeling was not always in favour of this country, he had no doubt they would be able in Canada to build it up, and on the same principles has had been witnessed that evening. He had enjoyed himself very much in the Lodge; he had enjoyed himself very much at the banquet table, and he had also very much enjoyed the music. After a few remarks on the programme, the distinguished brother said, the brethren must be cautious as to whom they admitted into the Order; number was not to be so much accounted as quality; and that if the privilege of the ballot box was not carefully exercised they might get inferior members into the Order, who would be found as destructive as one bad apple in a barrel of fruit. In proposing the health of the Immediate Past Master, the W.M. pleaded his lack of knowledge of the English language as an excuse for not speaking all he could wish. He might however say, Bro. Dean had brought with him all the qualifications that could be desired in a Master, and the members of the Lodge would assent to the statement,—he had exercised those qualifications to their advantage. After acknowledging the compliment paid him, and thanking all for the reception they had given the toast, Brother Dean said the year just past had truly been spent in a labour of love for Freemasonry. The W.M. had been an enthusiastic co-worker with him, and each of the Founders had done his best. In fact, one and all had but one aim, and that was to unite in promoting each others happiness and comfort. It was essentially gratifying to know there had been no differences of opinion; all had striven for the common welfare. The progress made during the year had far exceeded his expectations; they had initiated eleven candidates, and had had several members join the Lodge. Personally he thanked all for the reception given the toast. In speaking of the Masonic Institutions the W.M. said that Charity is the fundamental object of Freemasonry. In bringing the consideration of this cardinal virtue forward, he would ask the brethren to examine it under two heads. First, to assist those in want; the second, moral charity, which all of us at some time or other are called upon to practise. It was the second application he wished earnestly to urge upon the members of this Lodge, in order that they might continue to exercise it as hitherto they had done. This may be called the leading qualification of a true Freemason; it conduces to the promotion of that brotherly love which should at all times characterise us. In order, however, not to occupy too much time, he would leave to Bro. Terry the exemplification of the other feature referred to. After a song by Bro. De Lacy, Bro. Terry rose to reply. After thanking the W.M. for associating his name with the toast, Brother Terry announced that Brother Festa had munificently entertained the "Old Folks" at Croydon, on this the occasion of his Installation, and he had just received intimation that the inmates desired to pledge the Worshipful Master of the Montagne Guest Lodge. Bro. Terry made reference to what this new Lodge had done, since its establishment, for the three Institutions, and availed himself of the opportunity to intimate that General Browrigg, who was a guest that evening, had consented to preside at the next Anniversary Festival of the R.M.B.I., and suggested that it would be a compliment to him if the Lodge would appoint a Steward to represent it in February 1883. The next toast was the health of the Treasurer and Secretary. As the W.M. remarked earlier in the day, in Bro. Treasurer we have a good working Mason, who brings with him a knowledge which essentially qualifies him for the office to which he has been elected. In our Secretary, we have an indefatigable worker, who will be assiduous in his duties, and courteous to all. Bro. Dean, in reply, said he considered it a great honour to succeed, as Treasurer, so distinguished a Mason as Bro. Montague Guest. Bro. Collier also responded. At this stage of the proceedings the Worshipful Master asked permission to interpolate a toast; they had just been joined by Bro. Howard, Prov. Grand Secretary of Dorset, who though under pressing engagements had travelled a long distance to spend a short time with the Lodge. He felt assured the members would pay all honour to the toast. This compliment having been acknowledged, the W.M. said it was with no small amount of pleasure he found himself in a position to congratulate the Lodge on its staff of Officers. From the S.W. Bro. Hedges, down to the Assistant Wine Steward Bro. Tate, one and all are zealous workers in the Craft, and men any Master may be proud of. He trusted they would, with unabated energy, continue to give that earnest support so essential to the welfare of the Lodge. This, undoubtedly, had combined to the success of his predecessor. He called on the brethren present to give a warm reception to the toast, with which he coupled the name of Bro. Hedges, Senior Warden. This was gracefully, but briefly acknowledged by Bro. Hedges, and then the Tyler was summoned. The entire management of the evening was admirably carried out. Bro. Edwin Moss was entrusted with the conduct of the musical arrangements; he was ably assisted by Bros. Albert James, Herbert Schartau, and R. De Lacy.

St. Michael's Lodge, No. 211.—This Lodge resumed its duties after the summer recess on Tuesday last, at the Albion, Aldersgate-street, when there were present Bros. Usher Back W.M., W. E. Young S.W., F. J. Hentsch J.W., C. Greenwood P.M. P.G.S.B. Treasurer, W. W. Morgan Secretary, A. Withers P.M. as S.D., H. Martin J.D., E. Thring I.G., C. F. Speight Tyler, P.M.'s W. Radcliffe, John Laver; Bros. Crapper, Burr, H. Green, &c. &c. Lodge was opened and the minutes of last regular, and an emergency meeting were read and confirmed. The Secretary read a letter he had received from Mr. Joseph Parsons, son of the late Bro. G. Parsons P.M., thanking the brethren, on behalf of himself and other members of his family, for the letter of condolence he had received from the Lodge, through the Secretary. This letter was ordered to be recorded on the minutes. Bro. Pembroke, a candidate for passing, was examined and entrusted. Lodge was advanced a step, and Bro. Aires was interrogated. Lodge was opened in the third degree, and Bro. W. Radcliffe P.M. took the chair, and raised Bro. Aires to the sublime degree. Lodge was resumed in the second, and Bro. Back passed Bro. Pembroke to the degree of Fellow Craft. Both ceremonies were carefully performed, Bro. Martin officiating as Organist, and thus adding materially to the impressiveness of the proceedings. Later on a candidate was proposed for initiation, the ballot to be taken at the next meeting. The Secretary announced that Mr. Bradley, who was ballotted for as a candidate in November last, but who met with a very serious accident about that time, which had incapacitated him from business pursuits, was happily recovering, and had just started for China in the steam ship Glenalvon. The members expressed their gratification at this intelligence, and then Lodge was closed.

Covent Garden Lodge, No. 1614.—The brethren of the above flourishing and excellent working Lodge met for the first time since the vacation on Tuesday, at the Criterion, Piccadilly, under the presidency of Bros. Simeon Jacobs W.M., W. H. Gulliford P.M. 1017 S.W., G. Coleman J.W., E. Jacobs P.M. Treasurer, W. Bourne P.M. Secretary, J. Jacobs S.D., H. Kedgley J.D., Dixon I.G., B. Solomon W.S., Kedgley I.P.M. Visitors—Bros. J. E. Shand P.M. 1563, W. Waghorn P.M. 946, W. Roots 1273, H. Smith 1348, Holmes 141, Cruttenden 779, D. Jones I.G. 27, L. Valentine 185, J. Walsh Grand Stewards' Lodge, Kompolurdy 185, G. M. Gross 901, C. Solomon late 188, H. M. Levy P.M. 188. Lodge was opened, and after minutes of last meeting had been read and confirmed, Bro. Thorpe was (by the courtesy of the W.M.) raised to the third degree, in a very excellent manner. The W.M. then resumed the chair, and passed Bros. G. S. Ripley and Harding Moore to the second degree. A ballot was taken for the admission of Mr. Isidore Scheltjens. This was unanimous in favour of the candidate, who was duly initiated into the Order, the ceremony being ably worked by the W.M. Bro. E. Jacobs P.M. and Treasurer proposed, and Bro. Kedgley P.M. Secretary seconded, that a sum of twenty guineas be voted from the Fund of Benevolence to form a nucleus for a sum to be given to the orphan daughter of a late member, a Past Master, who is now in a lunatic asylum, and that a committee be formed to carry the same into effect. This was unanimously agreed to. A candidate was proposed for initiation, and hearty good wishes were given from the Visitors. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren sat down to an excellent banquet and dessert provided by Messrs. Spiers and Pond (limited), and superintended by Bro. Mardell. The W.M. gave the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. Bro. Kedgley I.P.M. rose; with great pleasure he had to take the gavel; it was a privilege he felt proud of. The W.M. was one who, to the best of his ability, did all he could for the welfare of the Lodge. He (Bro. Kedgley) hoped he would have health and strength to carry out the duties of his important office during the year; the Past Masters would then only be too pleased to receive him into their ranks. The W.M., in reply, thanked the I.P.M. for the manner in which he had spoken. When he became a Past Master his services would always be at their command. The W.M. then proposed the toast of their newly-initiated Brother. He, Bro. Sheltzen, had come to them with the recommendation of Bro. E. Jacobs; and the Lodge was proud to receive him. He would ask them to give the toast the reception it merited. Bro. Bourne P.M. then sang the E.A. song. The toast having been responded to, the W.M. said he had now to propose a toast they were all proud to honour—that of the Past Masters; he thanked them for their kind assistance; without them he could not have got through his duties; he would couple with the toast the name of the Treasurer Bro. E. Jacobson, the Secretary Bro. Bourne, and he was sure the members would not overlook Bro. Kedgley's claims on their regard. They had witnessed the ability with which he performed the ceremony of raising. He felt assured they would give the toast the reception it deserved. Bro. E. Jacobs thanked the W.M. for the honour paid him, not only on this, but on many former occasions; the services of the P.M.'s would always be at their command. It was with great pleasure he had introduced the candidate of the evening, who would doubtless become a credit to them. Bro. Bourne followed, in a neat and characteristic speech. Bro. Kedgley also thanked the brethren. The toast of the Visitors was next on the list. The W.M. said the Lodge was pleased to see Visitors. He hoped they had all been properly attended to. He named Bros. Walsh G.S. Lodge, W. Waghorn P.M. 946, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188 to respond. Bro. Waghorn said he felt he was among friends and neighbours; he had to thank Bro. Bourne for the Masonic knowledge he possessed. Bro. Walsh G.S. followed, and then Bro. H. M. Levy, who testified to the hospitality and charitable feeling shown by the Lodge. In speaking to the toast of the Wardens and Officers, the W.M. elect said they were brethren to whom the W.M. had to look for support; he was proud to say he had it from his Officers. While such men as Bro. Gulliford the S.W., and Bro. Coleman the J.W., filled the offices, the Lodge must prosper. This toast having been responded to, the Tyler's was given. A very harmonious evening was enjoyed, Bro. C. Solomons placing his valuable services at the disposal of the Lodge. Bro. Solomon also introduced his daughter, a talented young lady of nine years of age, who delighted the brethren. The W.M. also favoured the brethren with several songs. Great praise is due to Bro. Solomon for his attention to the Visitors.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

THE usual October Court of the Governors and Subscribers to this Institution was held on Saturday, 14th inst., at Freemasons' Tavern, London. The Grand Treasurer, Bro. Col. Creaton, occupying the chair. Some discussion arose on the proposition to confirm the minutes of the last Court, when it was decided that two sisters should not be allowed in the Institution, either by election or purchase; but eventually the minutes were confirmed. The two propositions relative to the future days of election, of which notice had been given in the following terms, were agreed to:—

1. "That the Days of Election in the Two (Boys' and Girls') Institutions remain unaltered, provided only—that when the Quarterly Courts for Election of Candidates shall fall respectively on the Saturday immediately following Good Friday and on Easter Monday, the Quarterly Court in each case shall be postponed to the corresponding days in the ensuing weeks."

2. "That whenever the Quarterly Courts for the Election of Candidates in the Two (Boys' and Girls') Institutions shall fall respectively on the Saturday immediately following Good Friday and on Easter Monday the Quarterly Court in each case shall be postponed for one week."

The next business was the recommendation of the House Committee—"That a gratuity of thirty-five guineas be granted to Miss A. F. Triggs, the Second Assistant Governess, on her appointment to the position of Head Mistress of the Dublin Female Orphan School." This was carried, and then the Chairman announced that intelligence had just been received from the Provincial Grand Master of Hants and the Isle of Wight (W. W. B. Beach, Esq., M.P.), expressing his willingness to undertake the presidency of next anniversary Festival of the Institution, to be held in May 1883. The poll was then opened for the election of seven girls, from an approved list of twenty candidates, the result being in the case of the successful, as recorded in our advertising pages, and as regards the unsuccessful as follows:—

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

THE October Court of this Institution was held on Monday, 16th instant, also under the Presidency of Colonel Creaton. As was the case with the Girls' School, a part of the business had reference to the days for holding future Elections upon, and the two proposals which were passed for the Girls' School were also adopted for this Institution, notwithstanding a proposition by Bro. J. S. Cumberland, that the Boys' Election should take place on the Friday preceding that of the Girls'. The rule as to the exclusion of a second boy from one family from the School, whether by purchase or otherwise, except in case the number of vacancies is in excess of the applications, was also adopted, and then the Election took place for twelve Boys, from an approved list of sixty. We give in our Advertisement columns a list of the successful candidates. The following were returned as unsuccessful in the order they occupied at the close of the poll.

THE REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS.

THERE is, in the main, good reason to be satisfied with the work done by the Committee entrusted with the task of revising the Book of Constitutions. That such a task must inevitably have been undertaken sooner or later must be obvious to any one who has been a member of the Craft for even the period of a few years. Changes, more or less material, are constantly being made, as it is right and necessary they should be made; and even those who are most zealous in noting such changes may occasionally let one or more escape observation. From time to time, therefore, a fresh edition of these laws becomes indispensable, and hence the version now before the brethren for their consideration, its immediate predecessor having been issued in 1873. And as, not only of our own motion, but likewise at the request of many of our readers, we have been at the pains of comparing the new book with the old, with a view to estimating the value of the changes contemplated, it seems only right that we should place our opinions on record, quite as much for the satisfaction of those who have been in communication with us as for our own. Some valuable suggestions have been made to us;—one brother has evidently studied the work most attentively, the comments he offers on the Book as revised occupying several score pages of closely written manuscript. These, or such of these remarks as may occur to us to be worth reproducing will be submitted to our readers in the articles we purpose publishing on the subject. We must not, of course, be held to endorse them because they appear in these pages. Our object is to invite criticism, so that the revised laws may be as clear and comprehensive as possible, and it is now, while the work of the Committee is before the public, that such friendly suggestions as may occur to brethren should be placed on record and their value determined.

The work has been most thoroughly carried out, and is not simply confined to Revision, but involves a complete and most satisfactory re-arrangement of the Laws. Thus the new Book consists of three principal groups or subdivisions, headed respectively "Grand Lodge," "Provincial and District Grand Lodges," and "Private Lodges," each group containing all the laws and regulations relating to its particular subject. Another feature which is especially noteworthy is, that the old numbering has been done away with, and a new system of consecutive numeration from the beginning to the end of the book substituted. Again, each rule has a marginal note explanatory of its purport, so that the reader has in the body of the work what is equivalent to an index, necessarily more complete in its way than the ordinary kind of index. At the same time, we would suggest that there should be the same kind of index at the end of the volume, so that when reference to some particular law becomes necessary, it may be found with the least possible difficulty. The marginal notes are an excellent addition, but without an index one would be under the necessity of wading through the whole for sub-division in order to discover the particular subject of reference. The laws themselves have been most carefully examined and in many instances re-written entirely, or in great measure, and, further, no law is entered more than once. Thus the Committee have succeeded in placing before the Craft a Book of Constitutions, which is distinguished by its accuracy and consecutive enumeration, as well as by the perspicuity of its phraseology and its compactness. It would be difficult, indeed, to bestow greater praise on the brethren who have had charge of this important work.

This much by way of preface. Next week we shall set ourselves to study and compare the laws as revised with the last edition as issued in 1873.

The annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons of Lancashire was held at Accrington on Thursday. The Earl of Lathom, Immediate Past G. Master, and Grand Master of the Province, presided, and the attendance was more numerous than usual. His Lordship, who has already held the P.G. Mastership of this influential county for two consecutive periods of three years, was re-elected for a further term of the same duration, the re-election being received with every evidence of satisfaction on the part of those present. The P.G. Officers for the year having been appointed and invested, and the other business of the meeting disposed of, Prov. G. Lodge was closed, and the brethren returned to banquet, under the presidency of their popular chief. It is satisfactory to note that of the twenty-four Lodges on the roll of this Province, no less than twenty-three were represented.

We cannot let slip the opportunity of congratulating Bro. Festa on the success which marked his installation last week as W. Master of the Montague Guest Lodge, No. 1900. Bro. Festa, by birth, is a foreigner, and therefore we cannot be charged with going out of our way to pay him a compliment which it would be impossible for us to pay other W. Masters. We feel sure, however, that, under the circumstances, none among our readers will grudge Bro. Festa these present remarks. He has worked hard and successfully in the offices he has filled. This year he served as Steward at all three Festivals, his list at that of the R.M.B.I. being £106, and that of the R.M.I.B., in round figures, £180. To the Girls' School he contributed the amount of a Life Governorship, and has already promised his services as Steward at its Festival next year. He has also founded a prize for shorthand writing, of two guineas, to be given annually for three years. On the day of his installation he entertained the "Old Folks" at Croydon, and he has also been instrumental in placing a former pupil of the Girls' School in an excellent house of business without the premium of fifty guineas usually demanded.

The Grand Masonic Concert in aid of the funds of the local Cottage Hospital, held at the Corn Exchange, Wallingford, on Wednesday, the 18th instant, under the auspices of the St. Hilda Lodge, No. 1887, passed off with the most unequivocal success. There was a very numerous attendance, and what with the Craft insignia of the members, and the tasteful dresses of the ladies, the scene was a very brilliant one. This is not surprising, having regard to the fact that the Concert enjoyed the patronage of H.R.H. the Duke of Albany Prov. G.M. Oxfordshire, R.W. Bro. Sir D. Gooch, Bart., M.P., Prov. G.M. of Berks and Bucks, Bros. Rev. J. Studholme Brownrigg Deputy Provincial Grand Master Berks and Bucks, and Reginald Bird, M.A., Deputy Provincial Grand Master Oxon, the Mayor and Corporation of Wallingford, the County and Borough Magistrates, and P. Ralli, Esq., M.P. An almost equally effective explanation of this success will be found in the admirable entertainment provided for the occasion. The services of Miss Jeannie Rosse of the Alexandra, Crystal Palace, and Promenade Concerts, Miss Grace Miller, a pupil of Miss Rosse, and Bro. John F. Probert of the same Concerts, proving most valuable, the other contributors to the Concert being Bros. A. Rowley Past Provincial Grand Organist, and W. Knowles, both of New College, and Bro. J. H. Robson of Magdalen College, Oxford, whose efforts were greatly appreciated by the audience. Bro. H. Plumridge, Mus. Bac., P.P.G.O. was a most serviceable accompanyist. We offer our congratulations to the brethren of the St. Hilda Lodge, and should imagine the Cottage Hospital will largely benefit by their kindness.

We have to acknowledge receipt of copy of a very handsome coloured menu card of the Mary Commandery, No. 36, of the Knights Templar of Philadelphia, published in memory of the "Bi-Centennial of the landing of William Penn," on the 26th October 1682. The front is illustrated with a neat lithograph of the Masonic Temple, Philadelphia, and contains the names of the principal Officers of the Commandery, with a list of the fratres who have held the office of E.C. On the back is an elegant banner of arms of Mary Commandery, flanked right and left by those of Beauseant, No. 1, of Baltimore, and Morton Commandery of New York.

It is with deep regret we announce the departure from this life of Brother Jonathan L. Jones, Worshipful Master Royal Savoy Lodge, No. 1744, which melancholy event took place on Thursday, 12th instant, after a few weeks illness from erysipelas. The funeral took place at Kensal Green Cemetery, on Tuesday, the 17th instant, when several members of the Order attended to pay a last tribute of respect to a worthy brother.

THE GREAT CITY LODGE, No. 1426.

THE annual installation meeting of this Lodge was held on Saturday, 14th instant, at the Cannon-street Hotel, London. The Worshipful Master, Brother C. Taylor, presided, and was supported by Bros. W. F. Kibble (W.M. elect) S.W., F. T. C. Keeble J.W., N. B. Headon P.M. Treasurer, G. W. Blackie P.M. Secretary, W. Baber S.D., R. Fendick J.D., F. W. Potter Inner Guard, J. T. Skinner and H. Durrant Stewards; P.M.'s T. Hamer, J. W. Townsend, J. Seex, R. Stanway, J. Freeman, J. Stevens, a large assembly of brethren, and the following, among other visitors:—T. Vincent P.M. 1861, G. Alcock W.M. 1149, W. D. Church 1365, A. McGregor 22, B. Williams J.W. 1861, F. G. Nawton 749, G. Bird 1815, W. Poupard 9, F. Jacob P.M. 45, L. Artus P.M. 34, G. W. Saul P.M. 1201, J. De Lacy 1706, W. A. Frost 1721, W. W. Morgan jun. J.W. 1107, A. C. Thorp 34. The customary formalities having been observed in the opening of the Lodge, the ballot was taken for Mr. Ernest Samuel Donaldson, a candidate for initiation; and, resulting unanimously in his favour, he was introduced and received the benefits of Masonic light. Lodge was now advanced, and Bro. Hamer having assumed the chair, the W.M. elect was presented, obligated, and duly installed into the chair of the Lodge. The customary salutes having been given, the new W.M. appointed and invested his Officers, as follow:—F. T. C. Keeble S.W., W. Baber J.W., N. B. Headon P.M. Treasurer, J. W. Blackie P.M. Secretary, Rev. R. J. Simpson P.G.C. Chaplain, R. Fendick S.D., F. W. Potter J.D., J. T. Skinner I.G., H. Durrant M.C., G. Jenkins Organist, E. H. Cadiot and H. J. Bertram Stewards. The installation ceremony was then completed, and the W.M. proceeded to close his Lodge, after which the brethren repaired to the Banquet hall, where, under the presidency of Bro. Kibble, a very enjoyable evening was spent. During the ceremony in the Lodge Bro. James Stevens P.M. acted as M. of C. At the conclusion of the banquet the customary toasts were given. The first, that of the Queen, was, the W.M. said, always received with great heartiness. There was no body of men throughout Her Majesty's dominions more loyal than Freemasons. The toast was followed by that of the Most Worshipful the Grand Master, another name the W.M. said which had only to be mentioned to call forth the most hearty response. His Royal Highness had endeared himself to the whole community, but more especially so to the members of the Craft, for whom it appeared he could not do too much. Generally, whenever a good work was to be done, it was only necessary to mention it, and their Grand Master undertook it, with a willingness which showed he sympathised with it. He had brought this characteristic into Freemasonry, and had acted on all occasions for the benefit of the Craft. He (the Worshipful Master) had just heard that a threat had been made to take the life of the Prince of Wales; this he hoped was not true. He could not find language in which to express his utter disgust and contempt for the man who would dare to raise hands against so good a Prince as he had proved himself to be. He felt they could not, therefore, select a more fitting occasion for expressing their respect and esteem for their Grand Master. The toast was most heartily responded to, and was followed by that of the Grand Officers. Bro. Simpson was the first to reply, thanking the brethren for the hearty reception accorded to the toast. Personally he deemed it a great honour and privilege to be an Officer of The Great City Lodge. There were few, if any, in which a stronger feeling of Brotherly Love existed. Bro. Ganz followed, also expressing his gratification at being associated with the toast. Bro. Taylor having assumed the gavel, gave, with great pleasure, the toast of the Worshipful Master. He felt assured that the members of the Lodge not only welcomed the Worshipful Master into his present office, but also wished him every success in it. He (the speaker) had just gone through the office, and knowing its responsibilities and duties, could only hope the new Master might get through his year with as few anxieties as he had done. The Worshipful Master tendered his thanks for the very kind way in which the brethren had received the mention of his name; the kindness was not new to him, as he had been warmly received in every office he had filled, and he had gone through all but one in the Lodge. He esteemed it a very great honour to be placed in the position of Worshipful Master of The Great City Lodge, and although he might be able to say very little in reference to it, he yet appreciated it the more. The next toast he had to propose was one they would all agree was an important one—really the toast of the evening. They owed a debt of gratitude to the initiates, for without them Freemasonry would soon cease to exist; indeed he felt he could not really say how much they did owe to the initiates. To the brother they had had the honour of receiving that night he might say, he had taken upon himself great responsibilities, as to him and those who came after him would depend the future of Freemasonry. The initiate they had received that evening came on the recommendation of one of the most esteemed members of the Lodge—one who had known Bro. Donaldson for twenty years, and who assured them he was a fit and proper person to be admitted among them. He hoped that such would prove to be the case, and that he would rise, step by step, until he reached the summit of every Mason's ambition—the Master's chair. Bro. Donaldson replied. He could hardly find words to express his thanks. He hoped long to be associated with the Lodge, and to give satisfaction to the members of it; he should try and become a good and true Mason. The toast of the Visitors, the next on the list, was one which had always met a cordial reception at The Great City Lodge. The Lodge had usually been favoured with a goodly array, and that augured well, as when a brother was not ashamed to ask his friend to his Lodge, it showed he was satisfied with its working. They had that night not only a goodly array, but likewise many shining lights among them. He referred particularly to the presence of some of those who materially assisted them at the Lodge of Instruction, and called upon the brethren to honour the toast. Bros. Poore and Saul replied to the toast, or rather to that portion of it where the Worshipful Master had referred to the Lodge of Instruction. If our esteemed friends will allow us to act the part of Preceptor to them—distinguished Preceptors though they be—we would suggest that a reply to the toast would have been much better than a long tirade on the merits of their pet baby—the Lodge of Instruction. Perhaps they will bear this advice in mind, as, although no doubt unintentionally, they offered a slight to the other visitors, in not even thanking the Lodge for the entertainment they had provided, or the brethren for the way they had responded to the call of the Worshipful Master. The W.M. in brief terms proposed the health of the Past Masters, and invested the Immediate Past Master with the P.M.'s jewel, presented by the Lodge. To Brother Hamer, the Installing Master, the Lodge was particularly obliged for his coming forward so readily when called upon to perform the ceremony of installation. The brethren were in the happy position of seeing all the Past Masters of the Lodge before them, and he felt sure hoped such would long be the case. The jewel presented to Brother Taylor bore the following inscription.

THE GREAT CITY LODGE, No. 1426.
Presented to
BRO. CHARLES TAYLOR,
With the thanks of the Brethren,
On the termination of his year of office,
As 9th Worshipful Master.
14th October 1882.

Bro. Taylor tendered his thanks. He should ever wear the jewel with which he had just been presented as an expression of the hearty good will of his brethren. Bro. Hamer also thanked the brethren for the many kindnesses they had shown him in the past. As long as he remained a member of the Lodge he should consider it his duty to do what he could to advance its welfare. Bro. Stevens also replied. He thought it must be particularly gratifying to the members of the Lodge to see all the Past Masters present after an existence of nine years. The toast of the Treasurer and Secretary was next given, and responded to by Bros. Headon and Blackie. The former drew attention to the omission from the toast of the Masonic Charities, but hoped they would never be overlooked by the Lodge. The Worshipful Master afterwards announced his intention of serving as Steward for the Girls' School, and trusted he might have the support of every member of the Lodge. The Tyler's toast was then given and the proceedings brought to a conclusion. A first-rate musical programme was provided, under the direction of Brother H. F. Frost, who was assisted by Bros. W. Frost, A. Kenningham, F. E. Walker, and R. de Lacy.

The members of the Royal Standard Lodge of Instruction will work the Fifteen Sections in their Lodge, at the Alwyne Castle, Canonbury, on Friday, 27th instant; and also, by invitation, at the Percy Lodge of Instruction, Jolly Farmers', Southgate-road, N., on the following evening, Saturday, 28th instant. On both occasions Lodge will be opened at 7 p.m.; and Bro. T. Cull P.M. 1446, Preceptor, will preside.

At the North London Chapter of Improvement, held at the Canonbury Tavern, St. Mary's-road, N., on 19th, Comp. Huggins occupied the chair of Z, and was supported by Comp. Styles of the Metropolitan Chapter as H., and Hunter J. An instructive evening was spent. On Thursday evening, 26th October, Comp. James Terry, Provincial Grand Senior Warden Norths and Hunts, P.P.J.W. Herts, P.M. 228, 1278, 1366, Secretary Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, has kindly consented to work the ceremony of exaltation, assisted by the Officers of the Islington Chapter, at this Chapter of Instruction.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

HUNDREDS of Medical Practitioners testify to its marvellous efficacy in immediately relieving and rapidly curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Spasms, Colic, Whooping Cough, and all Nerve Pains. It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. It rapidly relieves pain, from whatever cause, soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases, and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.

Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, Lord Justice Mellish decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davenport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. See Times of July 24th, 1873. Bottles 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, 11s, and 20s. Sold by all Chemists.

TESTIMONIALS.—Head Quarter Staff, Cabul, May 31st, 1880. Mr. R. Freeman, Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of special service to me in alleviating the wearisome spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form. Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne. Yours faithfully, CHARLES W. OWEN, L.R.C.P. Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng., the Divisional Head Quarter Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul.

The Times, August 13th, 1877. From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army. Okoum, July 25th, 1877. The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor, owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected miraculous cures.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

STAR IN THE EAST LODGE, No. 650.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge was held on 10th inst., and passed off with unusual eclat. The Lodge was opened at three o'clock, in the Assembly rooms, Dovercourt, and the popularity of the W.M. elect, Bro. Richard Clowes, of Ardleigh Park, was evidenced by the large attendance. The ceremony of installation was performed in his usual impressive manner by W. Bro. Fred. A. Philbrick, Q.C., P.G.D., and the new W.M. appointed and invested his Officers for the ensuing year as follow:—Bros. T. Jennings P.P.G.J.D. I.P.M., H. Everard S.W., F. R. Hales J.W., Rev. E. H. Crate P.P.G.C. P.M. 697 Chaplain, W. Groom Treasurer, M. L. Sanders Secretary, Kinsey Morgan S.D., T. L. Bennett J.D., C. Hempson W.M. 1799 P.G.A.D.C. M.C., C. Salter Organist, A. C. Parsons I.G., Hotchinson and Howard Stewards, Barlow Tyler. At the conclusion of the ceremony a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Bro. Philbrick for his kindness in attending, and so ably installing the W.M., which was duly acknowledged by the Installing Master. The W.M. then feelingly alluded to the late death of the P.G.M.; and a vote of condolence with Lady Tenterden and her family in their heavy bereavement having been unanimously passed, the Secretary was directed to enter it on the minutes, and to forward a copy thereof to Lady Tenterden. The presentation of a P.M.'s jewel to the I.P.M., and a Secretary's jewel to the hard-working Secretary (Brother M. L. Sanders) followed, the former, in acknowledgment of his two years' service as W.M., and the latter for his activity and attention, especially in reference to the formation of a Charity Association. The W.M. was then heartily congratulated by the Visitors present on his elevation to the Chair; and the business of the day concluded. Between fifty and sixty brethren afterwards assembled at the Pier Hotel, where an elegant banquet was well served by the host. The W.M. presided, supported on his right and left by Bros. F. A. Philbrick, Q.C., P.G.D., T. Jennings I.P.M. P.P.G.J.D., F. Binckes Sec. R.M.I.B., Thos. J. Ralling P.M. 51 P.G. Sec., A. Welch P.M. 51 P.P.G.J.W., W. Sowman W.M. 51, J. J. C. Wilson, J. C. Pratt, J. Howard, G. W. Pickering, R. Ford, &c. On the removal of the cloth, the usual Masonic toasts were duly honoured. Feeling allusion was made in the course of the evening, both by W. Bro. Philbrick and W. Bro. T. J. Ralling, to the great loss the Province has sustained in the death of Lord Tenterden, who, although unable, owing to his official engagements, to often visit the brethren, took the warmest interest in the welfare of the Lodges under his rule. W. Bro. Philbrick also gave an eloquent dissertation on the tenets of Freemasonry, and of the necessity to exercise care in the admission of members. The health of the new W.M., proposed by I.P.M. Jennings, was enthusiastically drank; and Bro. Clowes, in responding, promised to do all in his power to further the interests of the Lodge. He announced that he had received letters from Lord Claud J. Hamilton, M.P. (who had taken great interest in Basham's case, having sent no less than 400 votes); Sir Henry Tyler, M.P., Col. Somerville Burney P.G.D., and others, regretting that they had been unable to attend on the present occasion. The name of Bro. F. Binckes, as Secretary of the Royal Masonic School for Boys, was coupled with the toast of "Masonic Charities" and that energetic Brother (who all were glad to see in better health), in responding, spoke of the good service which had already been done by Lodge Star in the East in the cause of Charity, and announced that the W.M. had kindly, for the second time, undertaken to represent the Lodge as Steward at the next Festival of the Boys' School. Bro. Binckes also expressed a hope that their labours (and those of their W.M. he knew had been very great), on behalf of the boy Basham, would be successful. The proceedings at the festive board were enlivened by a capital programme of vocal music, under the direction of Bros. T. Hodges, W.M. elect of the Orpheus Lodge, No. 1706, who was ably assisted by Bros. Reed, Chapman, G. F. Smith, and G. F. Smith jun. The Loge room was adorned with some choice flowers from the Nurseries of Bro. W. O. Ward P.M., Ramsey; and the same brother also supplied flowers for the banquetting table, there being a "button-hole" to each serviette.

WEST MIDDLESEX LODGE, No. 1612.

THE members of this successful Lodge assembled in strong force on Saturday last, the 14th instant, to inaugurate the seventh year of their establishment. Lodge was opened at three o'clock, at the Ealing Institute, Ealing Green, when there were present Bros. J. Green W.M., H. E. Tucker (W.M. elect) S.W., S. Dyer J.W., H. Kasner P.M. Treasurer, J. Chambers Roe P.M. Secretary, W. Seward jun. S.D., Fisher J.D., Nye I.G., Delevante Organist, Harrison Tyler; Past Masters A. Beasley, A. J. Burr, &c. Visitors Bros. T. Brown P.M. 780, J. C. Woodrow P.M. 1297, E. Holme W.M. 340, H. Green P.M. 179, W. Gardiner P.M. 780, H. E. Stidolph 270 P.P.G.O. Essex, B. E. Blasby P.M. 780, H. Tweed 1771, W. Buxton 1871, E. Singer 1894, J. Templeman 384, J. S. Fisher J.D. 340, John Daniells 780, J. Owen 671, T. C. Walls 1381 P.P.G. Organist Middlesex, Robinson 1889, Newland 1642, Danby 1076, Heath, Parker 1428, Maton 780, J. Brill 780, Kennedy 1894, Murch J.W. 27, Herbage S.W. 177, Wills 780. After the minutes of the last Lodge meeting, and of a Lodge of Emergency had been read and confirmed, the Report of the Audit Committee was presented and adopted. The next business was to confer the second degree upon Bro. F. J. Penny, which was duly undertaken by the W.M., in a highly satisfactory manner. The ballot was now brought into requisition for Mr. Walter Fitzherbert Henning, who was proposed by Bro. Henry E. Tucker W.M. elect, and seconded by Bro. A. Beasley P.M.; for Mr. Sidney Charles Hadley, proposed by Bro. Henry E. Tucker W.M. elect, and seconded by Bro. A. J. Burr P.M. Both candidates were unanimously accepted, and Bro. Past Master Beasley took the chair, and initiated Mr. W. T. Henning. Bro. Tucker was now introduced, and Bro. Beasley, who acted as Installing Master, administered the obligation, and proceeded with the ceremony. In due course the Board of Installed Masters was opened and closed, and the brethren below that degree were re-admitted, and the new Master saluted in the three degrees. The Officers had the collars distributed as follow:—Bros. Dyer S.W., Seward J.W., Kasner P.M. Treasurer, Rowe P.M. Sec., Nye S.D., Porter J.D., Wright I.G., Coop W.S., Harrison Tyler. The addresses, to Master, Wardens, and the lay members, were delivered in capital style by Bro. Henry Kasner P.M., who, with Bro. Beasley, was heartily congratulated by the Visitors. It is the universal rule in this Lodge that all candidates for initiation shall be received separately, and as both of them were present when the ballot was taken, the second, Mr. Hadley, was next introduced, and Bro. Tucker conferred on him the privileges of the first degree. A proposition of Bro. Tucker, that the Lodge should obtain premises of their own, was referred to a Committee, and the routine work having been despatched, Lodge was closed. The banquet was served at the Lyric Hall, which now presents a warm and comfortable appearance; the decorations have been conceived in a tasteful spirit, and have been carried out most successfully. We understand Bro. H. Stephens is the proprietor, and we tender him our best wishes that success may follow his enterprise. On this occasion, undoubtedly, his efforts to promote the comfort of those who patronised him were eminently successful. When the cloth had been cleared, the W.M., who seemed thoroughly at home in his new position, proceeded to do honour to the toast list. After the Queen and the Craft, the National Anthem was sung. In introducing the toast of the M.W.G.M., the W.M. remarked how fully recognised was the deep interest the Prince of Wales took in the doings of the Order. He need scarcely urge this in speaking to the toast, which he was assured all would readily join in honouring. Bro. Green I.P.M. proposed the health of the W.M. In Bro. Tucker they had a young, but energetic Mason. All trusted he might have a successful year. He (Bro. Green) was assured he would have the hearty co-operation of the Past Masters, and doubtless the members would render him every assistance. That brother in his reply briefly referred to his connection with Ealing, whither he had migrated some eight years since. Two years after that he was initiated into Masonry, and having now risen to the highest office in the Lodge, he hoped he should be able to uphold, and even promote its fortunes. He should do his best to prove that the confidence reposed in him by the Lodge when they chose him for their Worshipful Master had not been mispaced, and he trusted, at all events, that when he retired from the chair it would be found in at least as prosperous a condition as it was at present. The toast of the Past Masters was gracefully acknowledged by Brother Green I.P.M., to whom a handsome Past Master's jewel was presented, in recognition of his services during the past year, and Brother Beasley, the first Master of the Lodge. The initiates responded to the compliments paid to them, Brother Hadley's speech being particularly happy and to the point. To the Visitors, the W.M. extended, on behalf of the Lodge, a most hearty welcome, and Bro. Herbage S.W. 177 replied with a heartiness fully equal to the occasion. Brother Kasner acknowledged the toast of the Treasurer and Secretary, and Bro. Senior Warden for himself and the other Officers of the Lodge. After this there remained only the Tyler's toast, and this brought the proceedings to a close in perfect harmony.

During the service of dinner, the Band of the Central London District Schools played a choice selection of music. The youthful performers gave evidence of the great care the conductor, Bro. Templeman, pays to their instruction. A word or two as to the menu card may not be out of place. It is unquestionably a work of art, and the introduction of the portrait of the new Worshipful Master is a feature on which we may congratulate the Lodge. But why repeat the Shakesperian excerpts appropriate to the different toasts which appeared on last year's menu card? We should have thought the West Middlesex Lodge included an array of poetical talent strong enough to have furnished a fresh list of excerpts. We do not know if W. Bro. Tucker, who has entered on his new duties under such favourable auspices, is poetically given, but where was the Worshipful Father of the Lodge that he should have overlooked this repetition? He is, or ought to be, Shakesperian to the backbone, and doubtless had his leisure permitted would have contributed an entirely fresh batch of mottoes.

ECCLESTON LODGE, No. 1624.

The Auditor's Report was read; this showed the Lodge was in a prosperous condition, the balance in hand in favour of the Lodge being £18 12s 5d, while to the Benevolent Fund there was a credit of £72 18s 9d. Brothers Foster and Timbrell were raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason, by Bro. W. Vincent P.M., who, by courtesy of the W.M., took the chair for that purpose. Bro. Vincent performed the ceremony in his usual perfect and impressive manner. Bro. E. Powell S.W. and W.M. elect was presented to the Lodge. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and he was duly installed into the chair by the retiring W.M., Bro. J. G. Fisher, in a manner that reflected great credit for its perfect rendering and impressiveness. There were thirteen W.M.'s and P.M.'s present. Bro. W. Vincent P.M. acted as M.C. On the re-admission of the brethren the W.M. received the customary salutations, and then, in very appropriate terms, appointed and invested his Officers:—Bros. J. G. Fisher I.P.M., C. Taylor S.W., J. Johnson P.M. J.W., J. Isaacs Treas., A. Beckham re-appointed Secretary, Bottle S.D., Coulthard J.D., Bennett I.G., Egerton Organist, Johnstone and Moorman M.C.'s, Ray and Watkins Stewards, Thomas Tyler, Hooper Asst. Tyler. Applause followed the investiture of every Officer, shewing the W.M. had made an excellent selection, to the entire satisfaction of the brethren. The W.M. shewed his proficiency by initiating Messrs. C. Withers, W. Chilcottt, Roberts, and Jones (who had been previously unanimously accepted) into the Order, in a manner rarely witnessed from a W.M. who had been so recently installed. Bro. J. G. Fisher I.P.M. intimated his intention to serve as Steward at the next Anniversary Festival for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and the Widows of Freemasons; he hoped the brethren would liberally support him. Later on, the sum of £5 5s was placed on his list from the funds of the Lodge. A letter of apology was read from Bro. Colonel Creaton, Grand Treasurer, regretting his inability to be present. He, however, hoped to attend on a future occasion. The three senior P.M.'s of the Lodge were elected trustees of the Benevolent Fund. Shortly afterwards hearty good wishes were tendered, and Lodge was closed. The brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet and dessert, provided by Messrs. Spiers and Pond Limited, superintended by Mr. Madell. The tables were beautifully and artistically decorated. Grace having been sung, the W.M., whose efficiency as presiding Officer was equal to his working, appropriately gave the Loyal and Masonic toasts. The National Anthem and "God Bless the Prince of Wales" were sung. In speaking of the Rulers of the Order, the W.M. regretted the absence of a Grand Officer who was universally respected, not only in this Lodge, but in Grand Lodge. He referred to Col. Creaton, Grand Treasurer, who they had hoped would have been present. Brother Fisher I.P.M. then rose to propose what he called the toast of the evening. It was needless to speak of their Worshipful Master's qualities as a man; as a Mason he has worked in every respect to their satisfaction. In whatever office he has held he has done the duties with credit; he has also, since he has been in the chair, by his excellent working, won the approval of the members. He (Bro. Fisher) trusted he might have health and long life to still further carry out those duties; as a Past Master they would be proud to receive him into their ranks. Bro. Powell in reply thanked Bro. Fisher for his kind expressions. He remarked how pleased he was to see how the brethren responded to the toast. As regards the management of the Lodge, he felt that the Officers he had selected had hitherto given satisfaction, and with the co-operation of the Past Masters he hoped to complete a successful year of office. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Immediate Past Master, Bro. Fisher, who had done his work thoroughly during his year of office. It now devolved on him to present Brother Fisher with a jewel, unanimously voted by the Lodge. They were proud of him, and hoped he would live long in health and prosperity to wear it. Bro. Fisher thanked the brethren for the manner the toast had been received; the W.M. had spoken in such kindly terms that he began to think he had performed the duties of the Lodge to their satisfaction. This was a great thing for him to feel. He had also to thank the brethren for their valuable token; he could not, like his predecessor, say it would be handed down to his children, but it should be handed down to a family among whom were many Masons, who would thereby see that he (the I.P.M.) once held a high position in this influential Lodge. He, as well as they, would look on it with pride. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Initiates, and Bro. Chilcott appropriately returned thanks; he was followed by Bros. Roberts and Jones. With the toast of the Visitors was coupled the name of Bros. Roberts P.M. 181, and Hamilton I.G. 1003. The former brother, in responding, said he felt it a compliment to be called on to return thanks. The W.M. was an old and personal friend of his. Both the W.M. and his Officers had performed their duties thoroughly. Bro. A. M. Cohen followed; he was proud to see how prosperous the Lodge benevolent fund was becoming; he hoped shortly to see many other Lodges establishing similar funds. His Lodge had in its benevolent fund £800 and he hoped to see the Eccleston in the same condition. The W.M. next proposed the toast of the Masonic Press. He was pleased to see Brother H. M. Levy P.M. 188 present to represent the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, a journal that gives Masonic intelligence truthfully and correctly. Bro. Levy, after acknowledging the compliment paid him, said if the paper he had the honour to represent had given them satisfaction he was satisfied. It was a great pleasure to know the Immediate Past Master had done his work so satisfactorily. The Wor. Master, also in the short space of time he had been in the chair, had performed the ceremony of initiation in such a way that deserved to be chronicled. He felt fully justified the paper with which he was associated would continue to give faithful and honest reports of Masonic proceedings. In speaking of the Past Masters, the W.M. said how much he was indebted to them for their valuable assistance; they had well discharged their duties in every respect. Bro. Hunt was the first to respond. Bro. McLeod followed; he spoke of the pride he felt in the formation of their Benevolent Fund. The Wardens and Officers were next toasted. After responses had been made, the Tyler gave the parting benediction. In concluding this notice, we may remark that though former meetings had been successful, this gathering was especially satisfactory. Bros. Ray and Watkins, the Stewards, zealously contributed to the comforts of the brethren and Visitors. The W.M. provided an excellent musical entertainment. Bros. Taylor S.W., Lee, Cross, Moorman, Roberts and I. O. Cantle contributing to the harmony. Bro. Egerton was an able accompanyist on the pianoforte.

DOMATIC LODGE, No. 177.

THE regular meeting of this truly Masonic Lodge was held on Friday, 13th instant, at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, under the presidency of Bro. James McLean, the W.M. The business on the agenda paper was exceptionally heavy, there being two candidates for raising, three for passing, three for initiation, and one for rejoining. All the former were in attendance, and in due course the several degrees were worked for their benefit. Bros. S. Andrews and J. W. Francis were raised, Bros. W. S. Birch, C. Titcomb, and J. Amos were passed, and Messrs. John William Robinson, John Kembry, and Frederick Cole were initiated. The W.M. carried out his duties in a very able manner, the length of the proceedings being a severe test of his ability. A sum of five guineas was voted from Lodge funds on behalf of the widow of a deceased brother, and after the transaction of minor matters, the Lodge was closed. A banquet followed, the W.M. presiding, and in due course proposing the customary Loyal toasts. Bro. Ferguson P.M., who acted as I.P.M., proposed the health of the W.M. This was a toast, he said, which must commend itself to all present. The excellent way in which Bro. McLean had that evening carried out the onerous duties he had had to perform, and the manner in which he generally conducted the work of his office, were a credit to him, and called for the heartiest thanks of the members of the Lodge. The W.M. had been regular in his attendance, and had done all that lay in his power to advance the interests of the Lodge. He had, during the term he had presided over the Lodge, had many gentlemen to initiate, and generally it might be said that under his guidance the Lodge presented a most flourishing condition. Bro. Ferguson referred to the Summer Festival of the Lodge, which he said had been revived under the direction of their present Master. It was matter of regret the weather was not finer on the occasion, but the assembly had passed off most successfully, a result which depended in a great measure on what the W.M. had done. The Lodge under his guidance had continued its customary harmonious course; indeed, it might be said that while under Bro. McLean's presidency nothing had occurred to mar the happiness of the members. On the whole, the speaker thought the members might really congratulate themselves on their ruler, and he felt sure they would drink his health most heartily. The toast was well received and suitably acknowledged by the W.M. He felt he hardly deserved so many encomiums as had been passed upon him, but he hoped he had done all that lay in his power. It seemed to him only the other day that he had sat on the right of the W.M. as the initiate of the evening. He should continue to do the best he could for the Lodge, and hoped at the conclusion of his term of office to be able to retire from the chair with the best wishes of the members of the Lodge. He next had a very important toast to propose—that of the initiates. It must be admitted that without them Freemasonry would soon fall to the ground. He could but say they were very fortunate as regarded initiates in their Lodge, and was quite sure the gentlemen admitted that evening would become ornaments of the Craft. The Initiates' toast having been honoured, was duly acknowledged. Bro. Robinson thanked the brethren for the honour they had conferred on him by initiating him that evening. He preferred deeds to words, and he trusted that by the former he should prove his worthiness; that in his everyday life he should so conduct himself as to secure the approval of the members of his Lodge. Bro. Cole followed. He hoped to become a good Mason, and rise to the higher positions of the Craft. Bro. Kembry endorsed the remarks of the previous speakers. He should do all that lay in his power to become a good and true Freemason. The Master next gave the toast of the Visitors. He was sure there was not a Lodge in London that extended a heartier welcome to its guests than did the Domatic. They were always proud to see Visitors. He only hoped that those present had experienced some pleasure from their visit. Bro. Webb was the first to reply. It was a great pleasure to visit the Lodge. He thanked the brethren for the heartiness of their reception. Bro. Styles followed. As probably one of the most regular Visitors to the Lodge he felt in a position to testify to the good feeling always exhibited in it. The Domatic was the first Lodge he had ever visited, and he did not think he could be accused of having deserted it, since he had attended its meetings on every possible occasion, and considered that proved that he, as a Visitor, was satisfied with the way he was treated. He felt sure that every other brother who had opportunity of being present at one or other of its meetings must feel the same. The W.M. next proposed the health of the Past Masters. He assured the brethren that the assistance they rendered to the Lodge was far above what appeared. Without their assistance he felt he could not have carried out his duties. Bro. Walford was the first to reply. He referred to the many deaths which had occurred among members of the Lodge since their last meeting, regretting, as he felt all must do, the loss of so many of their number. He was proud of the hearty reception always accorded to the toast of the Past Masters, and glad to see the Lodge in so prosperous a condition. Bro. Kent followed, also expressing his regret at the many losses the Lodge had sustained. Brother Ferguson felt himself elevated to a position he had no right to occupy, simply because the I.P.M. proper was absent; still he was very proud of the honour, and should endeavour to fulfil the duties required of him. He desired to say a few words to the Initiates. At first they might imagine that all Freemasons were angels, but he would warn them not to be carried away by that idea. It would be their duty to conform to the Rules of the Craft and carry out its teachings to the best of their ability, but it was necessary to beware of being imposed upon, for unfortunately there were men who enter Freemasonry with anything but worthy motives. For this reason it was incumbent on every brother before introducing a candidate to make sure that he was the right sort of man, that he would indeed become an honour to the Lodge, and a credit to the brother who had introduced him. Bros. Buscall, White, and Spink, followed, after which the W. Master proposed the health of the Treasurer and Secretary. He considered this a toast which concerned the prosperity of the Domatic Lodge very materially. These two brethren were so well known to the members, that it was not necessary for him to speak of their merits. Their Treasurer was all that could be desired, while it could truly be said of their Secretary that he had always given satisfaction. Bro. Everett said it had been his intention to have made a speech, but really everything it was possible to talk about had been touched upon, by one or other of the previous speakers, and he felt there was nothing left to say. He thought that if the brethren engaged in the revision of the Constitutions could be induced to alter the toast list, placing the Treasurer before the Past Masters at least, they would be doing an act which would greatly assist him and Treasurers generally. He hoped the brethren had all enjoyed themselves on this their first meeting night after the long recess. He was glad indeed to tell them the Lodge was in a prosperous condition, and as regards the good feeling of the members one towards another, it was only necessary to be present to be assured of it. The brethren by their reception of the toast had shewn they appreciated the efforts that he had made for their comfort, and he was pleased to think he gave them satisfaction. Bro. Morris followed. He was gratified to know he had given satisfaction in the past, and could only promise to try and do still better in the future. The toast of the Officers followed. The W.M. considered the Senior Warden one of the most worthy men in Lodge, and one who he felt sure would give every satisfaction if elected to the chair. The other Officers worked well, and appeared to do all they could to advance the welfare of the Lodge. Each of the Officers present having replied, the Tyler was summoned, and he gave the concluding toast. Among those present were Bros. J. McLean W.M., W. Herbage S.W., W. M. Foxcroft J.W., G. Everett P.M. Treasurer, T. Morris Secretary, A. Simner W.S. (acting I.G.), H. Price M.C.; P.M.'s W. J. Ferguson, J. Buscall, W. B. Spink, E. White, F. Kent, J. E. Walford, &c.; also Bros. J. Cockburn S.W. 1381, A. Dodson 1366, C. Parsons 1637, C. Phillips I.P.M. 820, A. W. Wells P.M. 299, W. P. Webb W.M. 1381, H. D. Share W.M. 1558, W. Williams 90, A. Robbins P.M. 1056, A. G. Thomson 1624, W. M. Stiles W.M. 1507, G. W. Knight M.C. 1507, and others.

CRUSADERS' LODGE, No. 1677.

THE installation meeting of this popular Lodge was held on Wednesday evening, at the Imperial Hotel, Holborn Viaduct. Lodge was opened at four o'clock by the W.M., Bro. Frank Rothschild, who was supported by Past Masters Bros. W. J. Hunter, Thomas Goode, J. W. Simmonds, J. Maples (Treasurer), J. G. Defriez (Secretary). Visitors—Bros. Thomas Vernon 25, J. J. Goode J.W. 1964, W. H. Smith 1622, William Clarke 1964, C. Clayton W.M. 1968, Oxley P.M. 1237, A. H. Hickman W.M. 228, S. Goode 1288, Wallace S.D. 907, H. J. F. Gale 1167, G. T. Turner W.M. 183, Edward Harvey J.W. 1314, G. H. Gilham P.M. 1632, W. R. Barnett J.W. 719, Jas. Kew P.M. 179, R. J. Taylor P.M. 111, W. Best S.W. 1288, W. Henchirk P.M. 179, Edwin Woodman S.D. 1950, Thos Cartland 913, P. Woodman 228, C. Evans I.G. 860, Samuel Flint 1613, R. P. Forge W.M. 1950, H. G. Penny 834, W. F. Hughes S.D. 179, W. W. Morgan Sec. 211, Tom Hodges S.W. 1706, A. Kenningham 1706, H. T. Sandy 228, C. Hurford 1420, P. J. Jagels 1714, J. J. Griffiths 198, R. Paget 228, &c. After the minutes of the last Lodge meeting, and the Lodge of Emergency of the 3rd of May, had been read, the same were offered for confirmation, and unanimous approval given them. The Auditors' Report was presented and adopted. The ballot was brought into requisition for admission, as joining members, of Brother William Hawtin, Great Northern Lodge, No. 1287, who was proposed by Bro. T. Goode P.M., and seconded by the W.M.; and for Brother George William Tillett P.M. Lodge No 752, proposed by Bro. A. Millward W.M. elect, and seconded by Bro. Hunter P.M. Both candidates were unanimously approved of. The installation of W.M. was next proceeded with, the ceremony being admirably performed by the outgoing Master, Brother Frank Rothschild. The appointment and investiture of Officers resulted as follows:—Bros. G. E. Cablerwood S.W., Joseph Pigot J.W., J. Maples P.M. Treasurer, J. G. Defriez P.M. Secretary, Rev. Caswell Chaplain, R. D. Cummings S.D., W. J. Goode J.D., Frederick Goode I.G., Alfred Goode M.C., T. M. K. Gilbert A.M.C., W. J. Hunter P.M. W.S., J. J. Stockall Assistant W.S. Lodge having been closed, and a very admirably served banquet having been done full justice to, the usual toasts were given and received with the greatest cordiality, great stress being laid on that of the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M., of whom the Worshipful Master spoke in the most respectful and complimentary terms. The toast of the Worshipful Master was, as is customary on these occasions, entrusted to the I.P.M., who spoke in well-merited terms of the claims on their regard as Master and Brother of Bro. Millward, who had acquitted himself most successfully in the various offices to which he had been appointed. After a brief interval, Bro. Millward rose and returned thanks, both for the kind remarks of the brother who had proposed his health, and for the manner in which it had been received by all present. He had striven in the past to perform his duties successfully, and he trusted that his future career would be equally satisfactory. He had at heart the interest of the Lodge, and he also had every confidence in the will and ability of the Past Masters and Officers to help him through his term of office. The toast of the I.P.M. and Installing Master followed, and it is unnecessary to say that it was drunk with enthusiasm, the value of the toast being greatly enhanced by the fact that a Past Master's jewel was presented to the brother so appropriately honoured, as a slight recognition of his valuable services. Bro. Rothschild's acknowledgment was brief, but to the point, and the remaining toasts having been honoured, the brethren rose and dispersed after a most agreeable gathering.

The windows presented by the Crusaders' Lodge to St. James's Church, Clerkenwell, were unveiled, on the 13th inst., by the Lord Mayor and Sheriffs of London, who attended in state. The subject on the left hand window is "The Building of the Temple;" King Solomon is represented in company with Hiram Abiff, and the degrees in Freemasonry are represented. A very good idea is conveyed by the arrangement of the figures. The subject in the right hand window is "The Queen of Sheba viewing the Temple on its completion;" King Solomon is represented showing the Temple to the Queen, while numerous Eastern princes are grouped in the background, ready to offer costly presents. The working tools are introduced in the border of the former window, and the various jewels of office in the latter. Besides numerous other emblems, the Grand Lodge and Crusaders' Arms are introduced. The windows were designed and executed by Bro. Charles Evans, of Warwick-street, Regent-street, W., and form a lasting tribute to an energetic and skilful artist. We have great pleasure in adding that the Lodge and the banquet room were illuminated by means of Edison's incandescent lamps, and there cannot be the slightest question as to the brilliancy of the effect. We have visited, in the course of a long experience, many Lodges, but we cannot call to mind a single case in which a Lodge has been so successfully illuminated as in this instance.

ELEANOR CROSS LODGE, No. 1764, NORTHAMPTON.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Abington-street, on Tuesday. There was a strong muster of Officers and members, and a compact little contingent of visitors. In the former category must be included Bros. Henry Brown (Prov. Grand Junior Warden) W.M., Henry Hill (P.P.G.O.) S.W. and Worshipful Master elect, Henry Spoor Secretary; Past Masters Rev. S. J. W. Sanders, Johnston (No. 25 I.C.), H. J. Atkins, &c.; in the latter were Bros. J. J. Hart J.W. 360, James L. Spoor, W. Kingston P.M. 360, W. W. Morgan Secretary 211, and Jones 415. Lodge having been opened, and the minutes of the last meeting confirmed, the ballot was taken for Messrs. Augustus Peachey and Walter John Howe, and, as it proved satisfactory, those gentlemen were forthwith initiated into the mysteries of the first degree, the work being done in an able and impressive manner by Bro. Brown. Then followed the ceremony of installation, which was carried out with equal ability by the same brother; and Bro. Henry Hill having been by him inducted into the chair of K.S., in accordance with ancient custom, proceeded to appoint and invest the following brethren as his Officers for the ensuing year, namely:—Bros. Henry Brown I.P.M., Henry Spoor S.W., Eli Morris J.W., Rev. S. J. W. Sanders Chaplain, Hamilton W. Parker Treasurer, George Ellard Secretary, Rev. T. C. Beasley Senior Deacon, Richard Croft Junior Deacon, Henry J. Atkins Master of Ceremonies, George Butcher Assistant Master of Ceremonies, Thomas Emery Inner Guard, Brook Sampson Organist, Robert Abel Assistant Organist, Samuel J. Newman and James Carrall Stewards, C. Dean and William Kirby Tylers. The report of the Auditors having been submitted and approved, and a notice of motion for the next meeting handed in, Bro. Hill very gracefully presented his predecessor with the jewel of a Past Master, as a mark of the appreciation in which his services as Master were held by the members of the Lodge. Bro. Hill's remarks were of necessity of a complimentary character, but the frequent bursts of applause with which they were greeted showed unmistakably that they were not more complimentary than the occasion and the services demanded. Bro. Brown expressed his sense of the compliment paid him in brief but appropriate terms, and there being no other business Lodge was closed and the banquet served. On the removal of the cloth, the customary Loyal and Masonic toasts were given and received with equal heartiness. For that of the Grand Master of the Province, the Duke of Manchester, the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, Butler Wilkins, and the rest of the Provincial Grand Officers present and past, Bro. Wilkins, who regretted he had not arrived earlier, responded at some length. He congratulated the Lodge on the success which had attended it from the outset. It had shown itself a stedfast upholder of Masonic principles, and he hoped that the brethren who had been initiated that day would prove themselves as efficient and as worthy as those that had preceded them. Bro. Wilkins further suggested that the Lodge should lay itself out to invite the Provincial Grand Lodge to be held in Northampton under its banner—a suggestion which it is hardly necessary for us to add was received with marked favour, coming, as it did, from a brother of such influence as the Deputy Grand Master of the Province. In reply to the toast of his health, Bro. Hill expressed his thanks for the cordial manner in which it had been received. He should do his utmost to fulfil the duties of his office in a manner which would sustain the credit of the Lodge, and in these endeavours he felt confident he might rely upon the effective co-operation of the Past Masters, his Officers, and the members generally. To Bro. Ellard Secretary was entrusted the duty of proposing the Masonic Charities, and in his remarks he laid great stress on the extent to which they were supported, the sum raised annually for several years past being in excess of £10,000. Bro. Atkins, who purposed representing the Province as Charity Steward, replied, and insisted on the importance of raising subscriptions by means of the Masonic Associations, the contributions to which, being spread over a considerable period of time, would hardly be felt. The toast of the Past Masters was proposed by Bro. Johnston, who expressed the satisfaction he had derived from watching the proceedings, furnishing, as they did, indisputable evidence of the ability which distinguished the successive occupants of the chair of the Lodge. Bro. Rev. T. C. Beasley gave the toast of the Visitors, whom he heartily welcomed, and Bros. W. Kingston, Morgan, and Jones responded, Bro. Kingston observing that when the Eleanor Cross Lodge was first started he confessed he had watched its proceedings with some jealousy. That feeling, however, rapidly passed into one of admiration at the manner in which the Lodge work had been done, and he congratulated the members on the position they then occupied in the Craft. The Worshipful Master proposed the Officers of the Lodge, and the Tyler's toast, as usual, brought the proceedings to a close. The proceedings were enlivened with a wealth of good singing, and Bro. Morgan was much applauded for his effective recitation of "Brought to Light."

Just now there is a severe pressure on our resources, the invitations to Lodges being almost more numerous than we can satisfy. In these circumstances we shall esteem it a favour if our friends will kindly give us the earliest possible intimation that our presence is desirable, so that we experience less difficulty than we have done latterly in meeting their wishes.

Bro. Henry Baldwin, Secretary of the Royal Hanover Lodge, No. 1777, asks us to announce that the Installation Meeting of this Lodge will be held on Saturday, the 28th inst., at the Royal Albany Hotel, Twickenham, at 2 p.m. The W.M. elect Bro. C. C. Cruikshanks will be duly installed into the chair of K.S., according to ancient custom, by the retiring W.M. Previous to the above ceremony, the several degrees will be conferred on the candidates by the W.M. Bro. Harry Clark. Banquet about 4 o'clock.

The Provincial Grand Chapter of Middlesex will be held at the Greyhound Hotel, Hampton Court, on Saturday, at four in the afternoon, under the presidency of Sir Francis Burdett. The appointment will be made of the Grand Second and Third Principals, and after their installation the other Provincial Grand Officers will be appointed and invested.

We beg to remind our readers that the Anniversary Festival Banquet of the Rahere Almoners will take place at the Cannon-stree Hotel, E.C., on Monday next, at six o'clock p.m. To those who desir to know more of this "Antiente Fraternitie" we commend a very interesting paper which appeared in the City Press of Wednesday last.

The address voted by the Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar Lodge to Captain Lord Charles Beresford, R.N., congratulating him on the gallant part which he played during the Egyptian war, is to be presented, at a specially convened Lodge, to be held on Tuesday next at the Masonic Hall, Highbury-street, Portsmouth. The Lodge is to be close tyled at 4.30 p.m. The address, which has been illuminated by Mr. J. Robertson, of Landport, is enclosed in a handsome gilt frame. The Worshipful Master of the Lodge (Brother Thomas Page) has invited the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master (Brother W. W. B. Beach, M.P.) and his Officers to be present. It is hoped that Lord Carrington, Colonel Shadwell Clerke the Secretary of Grand Lodge, and other distinguished members of the Craft will also be able to accept invitations to attend.—Portsmouth Times.

The annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Sussex was held on the 13th instant, at the Royal Pavilion, Brighton, under the presidency of Sir W. W. Burrell, Bart. M.P., Provincial Grand Master. The reports of the Board of Finance and Charities Committee were satisfactory, and were unanimously adopted. A proposition to increase quarterage fees from Provincial brethren to the Benevolent Fund was discussed. Only one Lodge was found to be in favour of the proposition, and 22 opposed any alteration. It was ultimately resolved not to sanction an increase. The Provincial Grand Master congratulated the Lodge on the flourishing state of Freemasonry in the Province, and the Officers for the ensuing year were then appointed. A banquet subsequently took place, under the presidency of Sir W. W. Burrell.

The Duke of Albany has promised to attend the half yearly Communication of Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons of England and Wales, &c., on the 5th of December, to receive the wedding present which Grand Mark Lodge and individual Mark Masons subscribed to for His Royal Highness and the Duchess of Albany. The presentation will be made by Lord Henniker, the Grand Master of the Order.

The annual supper will be held at the above address on Wednesday, 8th November. Tickets can be obtained on application to the Secretary, Brother J. Rothschild, 17 and 18 Little Britain, E.C.

FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE

23 GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF DURHAM.

THE annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of this Province was held on Tuesday, 17th inst., in the Central Hall, Darlington, under the banner of the Restoration Lodge, No. 111, and of the Marquis of Ripon Lodge, No. 1379, when there was a more than usually large attendance of past and present Provincial Grand Officers, and representatives from all the Lodges of the Province. The appearance of the hall was very imposing, the brethren being ranged under their respective banners. Prov. Grand Lodge was opened in due form by the Right Wor. the Prov. Grand Master the Marquis of Londonderry, Knight of St. Patrick, &c., assisted by the following Officers:—Bros. A. Iley P.G.S.D.. Thos. Conlson P.G.J.D., T. Bradley P.G. Assist. Sir Hedworth Williamson D.P.G.M., J. W. Cameron P.G.S.W., J. McCulloch P.G.J.W., Rev. J. J. Brown P.G. Chap. R. Hudson P.G. Sec., Sec., Geo. Greenwell P.G.D.C., David Sinclair P.G. Assist. D.C., A. T. Munro P.G. Sword Bearer, R. Dickinson P.G. Organist, John Sinclair P.G. Pursuivant, John Thompson P.G. Tyler. Bro. R. Hudson, Provincial Grand Secretary, read the minutes of last Provincial Grand Lodge which were confirmed. The Treasurer's report was read by Brother T. Bradley Assistant Secretary, this showed the Funds to be in a highly satisfactory condition. Bro. Hudson Past Grand Secretary read the report of the Fund Committee, presided over by Bro. Sir Hedworth Williamson, Deputy P.G.M., in which it was stated that the committee had that day voted £60 to five applicants; and it was further recommended that £52 10s be given to the Masonic Boys' School, £52 10s to the Girls' School, and £26 10s each to the Aged Masons' Institute and the Aged Widows' Institute. It was likewise proposed that £25 be subscribed to the Provincial Education Fund. Sir Hedworth Williamson moved the adoption of the report, which was carried. The Charities Committee reported the successful working of the committee, and the new educational scheme in the Province. Bro. C. S. Lane moved, and Bro. M. Corbett seconded the adoption of the report, which was carried. After some conversation respecting the promotion of the Royal College of Music, in which the M.W. Grand Master the Prince of Wales takes a deep interest, it was decided to invite the Lodges to take the matter up. The roll of the Lodges was then called by Bro. Geo. Greenwell, D.C., when the Worshipful Masters of the following reported progress in funds and membership, and continued harmony in working; the Industry 43 Gateshead, St. John's 80 Sunderland, Phœnix 94 Sunderland, Palatine 97 Sunderland, Restoration 111 Darlington, Marquis of Granby 124 Durham, St. Hilda 240 South Shields, Lambton 375 Chester-le-street, Borough 424 Gateshead, Tees 509 Stockton, St. Helen's 531 Hartlepool, Fawcett 661 Seaham, Harbour of Refuge 764 West Hartlepool, Philanthropy 940 Stockton, Williamson 949 Sunderland, St. Bede's 1119 Jarrow, Wear Valley 1121 Bishop Auckland, Bainard 1230 Barnard Castle, Earl of Durham 1274 Chester-le-street, Norman 1334 Durham, Marquis of Ripon 1370 Darlington, Fenwick 1389 Sunderland, Fraternity 1418 Stockton, Perseverance 1643 Hebburn, Rose of Raby 1650 Staindrop, Stranton 1862 West Hartlepool, Whitworth 1932 Spennymoor, Hadrian 1970 South Shields. After hearing the reports from the respective Masters in the Province, the Right Worshipful Grand Master the Marquis of Londonderry said it was only a profound sense of duty and a sincere wish to be with them that day alone persuaded him to be present on the occasion, seeing that he had to leave the dying bed of the mother of her to whom he owed a life of happiness. He was glad to meet them in such good numbers, and to congratulate them upon the continued prosperity of the Order, and the harmony which reigned in their midst. Bro. Hudson, the Provincial Grand Secretary, had prepared for him some statistics, which showed that in 1818 there were thirteen Lodges and 372 members in the Province, and in 1881 there were twenty-seven Lodges with 1976 members, and during the present year another Lodge—the Hadrian—had been consecrated. After referring in feeling terms to the decease, in March last, of Bro. Henry Crookes, late Grand Secretary, and expressing his obligation and gratification to Bro. Hudson that he had undertaken the onerous duties of Secretary, the R.W.G.M. expressed the pain he felt in receiving the resignation of Bro. J. Cundell as P.G. Treas., a brother whom he had long esteemed and revered. Bro. R. Hudson P.G. Secretary said it was interesting to know that Bro. Cundell was present at the Grand Lodge at the installation of Bro. John Fawcett, late P.G.M., and had been P.G. Treasurer since 1858. Bro. E. D. Davis P.P.G.S.W., &c., moved that Bro. Babington Bowlton, Darlington, be P.G. Treasurer, which, on being seconded, was carried unanimously. On the motion of R.W. Deputy Grand Master Sir H. Williamson, the Secretary was instructed to write to Bro. the Rev. J. Cundell, expressing feelings of regret that he had retired from the Grand Lodge. The R.W. Prov. G. Master then appointed his Officers for the ensuing year, as under:—

|---|---|
| Bros. Sir Hedworth Williamson | P.D.G. Master |
| W. J. Young | P.G. Senior Warden |
| C. R. Fry | P.G. Junior Warden |

| B. Bowlton | P.G. Treasurer |
| R. Tuck | P.G. Registrar |
| R. Hudson | P.G. Secretary |
| T. Bradley | P.G. Asst. Secretary |
| T. Bell | P.G. Senior Deacon |
| T. Coulson | P.G. Junior Deacon |
| J. Tillman | P.G. Supt. of Works |
| G. Greenwell | P.G. Director of Ceremonies |
| D. Sinclair | P.G. Asst. D.C. |
| R. B. Harpley | P.G. Sword Bearer |
| J. Porteous | P.G. Organist |
| J. Wyld | P.G. Pursuivant |
| G. D. Seng | P.G. Asst. Pursuivant |
| J. Curry | P.G. Tyler |
| J. Martin, C. McMarrar, W. B. Elsdon, William Davidson, M. Burn, T. Hylton | P.G. Stewards |

On the motion of Bro. Hudson P.G. Secretary, it was resolved to enter upon the minutes of Grand Lodge the deep loss sustained by the province at the death of Bro. Henry Crookes, late Prov. Grand Secretary, and that a letter of condolence be sent to his relatives. There being no other business the Lodge was closed in due form, after which the brethren adjourned to the annual banquet, which was held in the Mechanics' Hall, Darlington. About 150 brethren sat down, under the presidency of the most noble the Marquis of Londonderry. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, and the proceedings were agreeably enlivened by music by Bros. Whitehead, Nutton, and Walker, Bro. Boynes accompanying on the piano.

ROYAL ARCH.

PROVINCIAL GRAND CHAPTER OF DEVON.

THE Royal Arch Masons of the Province of Devon held their annual Grand Chapter on Tuesday, at Exeter. The Companions assembled at the Victoria Hall. The attendance was not, however, so numerous as expected, and the meeting might have been held at the Exeter Freemasons' Hall in Gandy-street. Viscount Ebrington, M.P., the Prov. G. Superintendent of the Province, presided, supported by ex-Comps. W. G. Rogers H., and Col. Ridgway J. The following Companions were also among those present:—J. Brewer P.G.S.E., Mark Farrant P.G.P.S., J. S. Keskerman P.G. 2nd A.S., H. S. Gill P.G. 1st Gr. B., W. B. Mays P.G. 2nd Gr. B. J. Blanchard P.G. Janitor, Lieut-Col. J. Tanner-Davy, J.P., P.P.G.H., Capt. W. E. Elphinstone-Stone, R.N., P.P.G.J., J. H. Warren P.P.G.A.S., W. Easton P.P.G.S.N., W. F. Quick P.P.G.A.S., S. B. Colston P.P.G.S.B., Rev. E. Aitken-Davies P.P.G., James Murray P.P.G.D.C., Joseph Page P.Z. Treasurer 112, Rev. Thomas Russell H. 251, Wm. Haynes P.Z. 106, W. Brodie H. 1284, Rev. T. W. Lemon, M.A., Z. 189, J. P. Heath H. 112, W. Brodie P.Z. 328, Thomas Elsworthy P.Z. 251, J. U. Valentine H. 303, John Olver Z. 1138, John Stocker Z. 112, Charles Stevens P.Z. 1138, W. E. Warren P.Z. 238, William Harris P.Z. 1138, Dr. Bousfield, Weyside Chapter 1395, P.P.G. Officer Surrey. Companions W. R. Lisle Gr. B. 112, Henry Stocker Asst. S. 112, W. Densham P.S. 112, Jno. Alger Reg. 112, F. Sanders S.N. 1284, S. R. Jerred 112, Geo. Hussey 328, Walter G. Lacey 106, H. W. Madelay 112, H. J. Hancock 251, H. F. Willey 1284, Thomas Wutherton 248, H. Stansfield 106. The minutes of last P.G. Chapter, held at Stonehouse, on 4th of June 1881, were read by the P.G.S.E Ex-Comp. Brewer, and confirmed. The next business was the reception of reports. The P.G.S.E.'s report showed that an unusual amount of dues had been received during the past year. Warnings had been forwarded to several Chapters that were in arrears, and the whole, with the exception of one, had paid up. Some had four years' dues to pay, others three years, and two years. The Treasurer, Ex-Comp. Curteis, was prevented by his engagements from attending. His statement of accounts was read by Bro. Brewer. It showed a balance in hand of £66 14s 1d, but from that had to be deducted £6 6s due to the Fortescue Annuity Fund, which left the available balance at £60 8s 1d. The By-Laws Revision Committee had not drawn up any draft of By-laws to submit. They reported that they wished to have the Grand Lodge laws settled first, for their guidance. The Chapter received and adopted these reports. A recommendation was made by the Chapter to the Revision Committee to arrange in their draft of By-laws for providing a Committee of Petitions for the Provincial Grand Chapter, upon a similar plan to that adopted by the Craft Masons in the Province, in order that the awarding of the available balances might be made upon careful consideration, not haphazard votes at the annual meeting. It was proposed by Ex-Comp. W. Brodie, and seconded by Ex-Comp. E. Aitken Davies, that twenty guineas be voted to the Devon Educational Fund. Ex-Comp. Captain Stone stated that the management of that Fund required revision, and should be considered before any more money was voted to it. Provision had for the present been made to pay the allowances to children, so there was no pressing necessity for the £20. Ex-Comp. Fulford and Ex-Comp. John Stocker complained that the Educational Fund was weakening the support furnished from the Province to the London Masonic Charities, from whom the Province was at present deriving large grants. After a long discussion a majority carried a resolution to award £30 a year to the Masonic Girls' School, and £30 to the Masonic Boys' School. Ex-Comp. J. P. Heath was elected the Treasurer for the year. Ex-Comps. T. S. Baxly P.P.G. Reg., and J. Lynn P.P.G.S.B., were re-elected the Auditors. The following Officers were then appointed:—

Beadon Chapter, No. 619.—The Quarterly Convocation of this Chapter was held on Thursday evening, the 12th of October, at the Masons' Hall Tavern, Coleman-street, City, but was very thinly attended by the members. Comp. F. Sharratt was M.E.Z., Comp. Myer P.Z. occupied the position of H., and Comp. Jacobs J., the regular Principals being unable to attend. The minutes of the last Convocation were read by Comp. Green P.Z. and S.E., and unanimously confirmed. The next business was the reception of Bro. James Gordon, of the Beadon Lodge, who had been balloted for at the last Convocation, and he, being in attendance, was duly exalted into Royal Arch Masonry. The next items were the election of the M.E.Z., Treasurer, and other Officers for the ensuing year. Comp. Sharratt was unanimously elected, for the second time, to occupy the chair of First Principal, Comp. Carrington H., and Comp. Thompson P.Z. was for the second time elected to fill the chair of J. Comp. Avery was re-elected Treasurer, and Comp. Green S.E.; Comp. Dr. Podmore was elected S.N., and Comp. Bond P.S.; Comp. Bavin was re-elected Janitor for the ensuing year. The Audit Committee was appointed, and the Chapter was closed in due form. The Companions then adjourned to the banqueting room, where a very bountiful repast was provided. On the removal of the cloth, the formal Royal Arch toasts were given and duly honoured. Comp. H. Thompson then rose and proposed the health of the M.E.Z., Comp. Sharratt, and said that nothing could give him greater pleasure than having the privilege of proposing this toast. They all knew the kind and genial qualities for which Comp. Sharratt was distinguished; these had been fully manifested that evening in his being unanimously re-elected to fill the distinguished position of M.E.Z. for the second time. He was quite sure as long as he held that position he would ever command the same kindly feelings which had always been entertained towards him. It is almost needless to say that this toast was received with the greatest cordiality. The M.E.Z., in responding, said he felt that he did not deserve all the kind things that Comp. Thompson had said of him; he did not go through the duties as he could desire, but he would do his best to give them satisfaction. The next toast was that of the P.Z.'s of the Chapter, and in responding to this Comp. Thompson said he felt it to be a great honour to fill the position of J., and to be for the second time elected to it; although he would rather have desired to see their choice fall upon some one else; yet, as it was their pleasure to elect him, he would endeavour to discharge the duties to their satisfaction. Comp. Green S.E. also acknowledged the toast, and expressed his determination to adhere strictly to the bye-laws, and whenever the time arrived for them to meet together he should send out the proper notices, whether or not there was business to be transacted; a neglect of this regulation did not conduce to the interests of the Chapter. Some other toasts were given, and a very pleasant evening was spent, diversified by songs from several of the Companions. Comp. H. Frances, of Provincial Grand Chapter Surrey, was the only visitor.

The monthly meeting of the Lodge of Benevolence was held on Wednesday evening, at Freemasons' Hall, when there were present Bros. Joshua Nunn (President), James Brett (as Senior Vice President), C. A. Cottebrune (as Junior Vice President), Charles Dairy, Henry Smith, G. P. Festa, C. Atkins, G. P. Britten, H. Garrod, A. A. Pendlebury, W. Dodd, Neville Green, W. Mann, H. Massey, Edgar Bowyer, John Newton, W. Stephens, C. F. Hogard, F. Kent, W. Paas, R. P. Forge, and others. The brethren first confirmed grants to the amount of £215, recommended at the September meeting. There were thirty cases on the new list. In the course of a three-and-a-half hours' sitting four of these were deferred, and one was dismissed. The remainder were relieved, with a total of £640.

The City Press of Wednesday says:—It is not certain whether H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, as Grand Master, will be able to attend the Masonic banquet at the Mansion House on Friday, but the Pro Grand Master the Earl of Carnarvon, the Deputy Grand Master the Earl of Lathom, and other Grand Officers, are expected to be present. By a special dispensation, the guests are authorised to appear in full Masonic regalia.

It is proposed to form a Benevolent Association, to be called the Third Clapton Benevolent Association. The first meeting will take place on Friday evening, the 3rd of November, at the Lord Stanley, Sandringham-road Hackney, when the Officers will be elected. Bro. Charle Diamond, of the King Harold Lodge, No. 1527, has undertaken to act as Secretary pro tem.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Autumnal remedies.—Towards the fall of the year countless causes are at work to lower the tone of the nervous system, which will be followed by ill health unless proper means be employed to avert that evil. Holloway's far-famed preparations supply a faultless remedy for both external and internal complaints connected with changes of season. All affections of the skin, roughness, blotches, pimples, superficial and deep seated inflammations, erysipelas, rheumatic pains, and gouty pangs, alike succumb to the exalted virtues of Holloway's Ointment and Pills, which will effect a happy revolution in the patient's condition, though the symptoms of his disorder are legion, and have obstinately withstood the best efforts of science to subdue them.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

TRANQUILLITY LODGE, No. 185.

THE first meeting after the vacation of this Lodge took place on the 16th inst., at the Guildhall Tavern, E.C. Brother T. W. C. Bush W.M. presided. After the usual preliminaries, Bros. Rosenfeld and De Liew were raised to the third degree. At the close of the business the W.M. did a graceful act in a graceful way, by proposing to confer honorary membership, with all the privileges of a subscribing member, upon Bro. J. D. Barnett P.M., who for some time has acted as Organist, but who for many years has contributed in no small degree to the pleasure and entertainment after banquet; and who by his unvarying kindness and courtesy has endeared himself to every member of the Lodge. Bro. W. D. Bailey P.M. seconded the motion, which was carried with acclamation. Bro. Barnett, whose surprise was evidently genuine, was only able to utter a few words of thanks for the unexpected honour the brethren were pleased to confer upon him. An ample repast followed, after which the W.M., as is customary in these days in many of our London Lodges, joined the three principal toasts in one, in the comprehensive form of Loyalty to the Throne and devotion to the best interests of the Order. Although there were six visitors, namely, Bros. Mickley P.M. 479, Siletoe 615 P.P.G.D.C. East Lancashire, Wagstaff 188, Maas 901, Brown 1558, and Perceval 1607, the W.M., in proposing their health coupled the names only of Bros. Mickley and Siletoe. The former replied briefly, the latter gave some interesting anecdotal reminiscences of brethren who, hailing from immense distances, invite the members of a Lodge they are visiting, promising hearty welcome should an opportunity—which, however, was highly improbable—arise of a return visit. He instanced a case which was realised, in a most unexpected fashion, and at an out of the way place. The W.M next proposed Prosperity to the three noble Masonic Institutions, of whose glorious position they had every reason to be proud, especially if it is recollected that this year, by individual effort, no less a sum than £10,000 has been collected for their support, a result achieved by the unflagging zeal of members of the Craft. He would couple with the toast the name of Brother Perceval, who in his reply remarked that he had been engaged all day at the election of boys, and the amount of work would be understood when he stated that some 42,300 votes had to be examined, together with some 22,000 and odd brought over from former elections. Twelve boys were elected, and twelve mothers made happy. When it is stated that in the last seven years over a third of a million has been collected for the Charities, and that a very considerable staff has to be looked after, it will readily be conceived that the work could only be done by continual and sustained exertion and self denial; the burdens of which, however, was lightened by the reflection that, as was taught in the ceremonies, "Blessed is he that giveth, as well as he that receiveth." Bro. Bloomfield P.M., who responded for the Past Masters, could scarcely realise his position as one of the senior P.M.'s. The W.M. was courteous enough to speak of the assistance those who had passed the chair were always willing and able to afford to the presiding Master; but unfortunately, or he should rather say fortunately, for the Lodge, since he himself occupied the chair, which was now a good many years ago, there had never occurred an occasion at which any help from them was required. He could assure the brethren, should opportunity arise, it would be found the Past Masters were ready and willing to prove in acts what was so kindly said of them in words. Bro. Phil Levy, Secretary, in thanking the W.M. and brethren, feelingly regretted the absence of Bro. J. Constable, Treasurer, with whom he had so long harmoniously worked. He had no doubt that their Treasurer was with them that night in spirit, and that each expressed a silent wish that the worthy and esteemed Brother might be present at the next period of election, to resume the duties which he had performed with so much ability, to the advantage of the Lodge. Bro. Staley S.W. having replied for the Officers, the Tyler's toast brought the proceedings to a close. The Officers were Staley S.W., S. Barnett J.W., Boaz S.D., Peartree J.D., Lyons I.G., Tipper M.C., Potter Tyler. The Past Masters present were, Croaker, Bailey, Bloomfield, J. D. Barnett, N. Moss, S. Moss, N. Gluckstein, and E. Gottheil.

Joppa Lodge of Instruction No. 188—On Tuesday, at a meeting of the above Lodge of Instruction, held at the Champion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, under the presidency of Bro. Isaac Botibol, an interesting ceremony took place, in the shape of presenting a set of diamond studs to Bro. A. G. Dodson, the Preceptor, and a service of plate to Bro. Dodds, the Honorary Secretary. In presenting the testimonials Bro. Gardner, chairman of the Testimonial Committee, said, the pleasing duty had devolved upon him of conveying to Bros. Dodson and Dodds an expression of the respect in which they were held by the Lodge, and appreciation of the valuable services they had rendered. He need hardly remind the members of the able, courteous, and urbane manner in which Bro. Dodson had officiated as Preceptor of the Lodge since it was established, and of the very beneficial instruction he had imparted to the brethren at their regular weekly assemblies. Their estimation of his kindness and ability at all times had found tangible expression in this slight token of their regard and esteem, and, in the names of all the members of the Lodge, he asked Bro. Dodson to accept this set of diamond studs, which, though valuable in themselves, represented only in a slight degree the motives which prompted the gift, and which were those of sincere affection and esteem, and of their cordial recognition of the admirable services Bro. Dodson had rendered to the Lodge. The same remarks applied to their excellent Hon. Secretary (Bro. Dodds), and, in begging his acceptance of the service of plate, subscribed for by the brethren, he (the speaker) assured that gentleman of their hearty and fraternal good wishes, and thanks for the services he had accorded to their Lodge of Instruction. To both brethren their thanks were eminently due; and if the gifts they tendered were of no great intrinsic worth, he trusted they would be accepted in the spirit in which they were offered, namely, as some slight mark of their esteem and recognition of services faithfully and ably rendered to the Joppa Lodge of Instruction. The gifts were suitably acknowledged by the recipients, who received the congratulations of the brethren, and subsequently an agreeable evening was passed.

Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, No. 382.—Meeting held on Monday, 16th inst., at the Chequers' Hotel, Uxbridge. Bros. Brooks W.M., Rowles S.W., Cotton J.W., Taplin S.D., Phillips J.D., Daffin I.G. and Tyler. Lodge was opened in due form, and after the usual preliminaries, the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Daffin candidate. Bro. Phillips showed proficency in the first degree, and was entrusted. Lodge was advanced to the second degree, and the ceremony of passing rehearsed, with Bro. Phillips as candidate. Bro. Rowles was elected to fill the chair at the next meeting. Lodge was closed and adjourned until Monday, the 23rd of October.

Grey Friars Lodge, No. 1101.—A regular Lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Reading, on 11th October. Present—Bros. E. J. Blackwell P.G.J.D. Berks and Bucks W.M., R. C. Hurley P.M. acting as I.P.M., Rd. Dowsett S.W., Edwd. Margrett P.M. P.G.S.B. Berks and Bucks acting J.W., Stransom Treasurer, H. Creed acting Secretary, Hawkes S.D., Pritchett J.D., Hickie Org anist, Benamin Tyler; also Bros. Bailey, Greenaway, Chandler, Whitfield, Weatherhead, Collins, T. Margrett. In due was opened and the minutes of last regular meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. W. Margrett was initiated into the mysteries of Freemasonry, the Charge, after initiation, was delivered by the W.M. in his usual correct and impressive manner. The election of Master for the ensuing year resulted unanimously in favour of Bro. R. Dowsett S.W., who returned thanks for the honour conferred upon him; he would do his utmost to promote and uphold the honour and integrity of the Lodge, by walking in the footsteps of the present Master, who so working has become a proverb in the Province. The W.M. congratulated the Lodge on having such an efficient Treasurer as Bro. Stransom P.P.G.S.B. Berks and Bucks, who has kindly consented to fill the office if again elected; he had much satisfaction in proposing him. P.M. Margrett seconded, and Bro. Stransom was unanimously re-elected Treasurer for the ensuing year. Bro. Stransom, in a few suggestive and appropriate remarks, returned thanks for the honour. The W.M. proposed, and P.M. Hurley seconded, the re-election of Bro. Hemmings as Tyler. This was agreed to. The W.M. brought before the Lodge the motion of Bro. J. M. Clabon, in accordance with a resolution passed at the last Prov. Grand Lodge, and asked for opinions of members on the question. P.M. Hurley said he thought it best to keep any surplus the Lodge might have for its own distribution. Past Master Margrett said that Grand Lodge should certainly be supplied with funds to properly support it; but as the increased quarterages were required for the Fund of Benevolence alone, which was administered by the London brethren almost entirely, and as he objected to the system of raising money by taxing Masonic Lodges, he thought that if any increased amount were required it should be given voluntarily, and he proposed, "That, in the opinion of this Lodge, it is not desirable that Bro. Clabon's resolution be passed by the Grand Lodge." This was seconded by Bro. Dowsett S.W. and W.M. elect. Bro. Bailey offered a few remarks in support of P.M. Margrett's proposition. The W.M. stated that many Lodges had negatived the motion, whilst only a very few had affirmed it, he thought the motion of Bro. Clabon could not be supported. Bro. P.M. Margrett's proposal was unanimously carried. Bro. P.M. Margrett announced that his list for the R.M.I.B. amounted to £45; he thanked the brethren for their support. The W.M. read a letter from the Grand Secretary Bro. Col. Shadwell H. Clerke, and stated that he had received a draft copy of the Revised Book of Constitutions and Synopsis of Rules, with a short sketch of proposed alterations and amendments, and said he would be happy to show the same to any member. At the suggestion of Bro. Stransom Treas. and P.M. Margrett, the W.M. undertook to procure four copies of the proposed rules for the use of the brethren. The W.M. also read a letter from the G. Secretary on behalf of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M., with reference to the Royal College of Music, inviting subscriptions thereto. P.M. Hurley proposed, "That the thanks of the Lodge be given to the W.M. for the very able manner in which he had fulfilled the duties of his office during the year, and that a Past Master's jewel be presented to him as a slight recognition of his valuable services." In making this proposition P.M. Hurley said, he had great pleasure in doing so, for he had rarely seen the work done so well as it had been by Bro. Blackwell. P.M. Margrett, in seconding the proposal, desired to express his admiration of the manner in which Bro. Blackwell had conducted the ceremonies and performed the duties of his office; it was passed unanimously and with acclamation. The W.M. suitably returned thanks. The W.M elect nominated as Banquet Stewards Bros. Ferguson P.M., W. W. Ridley, W. Ravenscroft I.G., and W. Collins. The labours of the evening being ended, the Lodge was closed according to ancient form. We congratulate Bro. Blackwell on his successful year of office, and on the admirable manner in which he has conducted the ceremonies, his ritual having been pronounced by the Prov. G. Secretary as "simply perfect." The venerable Secretary Bro. Ivey P.M. was absent, on a tour in Devon and Cornwall, to visit his children and grandchildren, but it is anticipated he will return in time for the installation on the second Wednesday in November.

Loughborough Lodge of Instruction, No. 22.—A meeting was held on Monday, 16th inst., at half-past seven o'clock p.m., at Bro. McDiarmaid's, Cambrin Tavern, Loughborough Junction. Bros. Taffs W.M., Sherring S.W., Warren J.W., Perkins S.D., Westley J.D., Westmore I.G., Johnson Preceptor, and the following brethren: Heinrich, Keyse, McDiarmaid, Hayward, Banks, and Denning. After preliminaries, the second section of the first lecture was worked by Bro. Sherring. Lodge opened in second degree, when Bro. Banks offered himself as a candidate to be raised to the third degree, answered the usual questions, and was entrusted. Lodge opened in third, when the ceremony of raising was ably rehearsed, and the traditional history given by the W.M. Lodge resumed to first degree, when Brother Denning, of Lodge 1772, was elected a member. Brother Sherring was elected Worshipful Master for ensuing week; he appointed the Officers in rotation. A vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to Bros. McDiarmaid, Miller, Perkins, and Philps, for their presents to the Lodge. It was announced that the annual supper would take place on 13th November, on which occasion Bro. Taffs S.W. 186, Lodge of Industry, will preside. All business being ended, Lodge was closed in ancient form, and adjourned till 23rd instant.

United Pilgrims Lodge of Instruction, No. 507.—The weekly meeting, held at the Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E., on Friday, the 13th instant, was presided over by Bro. J. N. Bate as W.M., and the Officers were Bros. R. Poore S.W., H. Stokes J.W., C. H. Nevill S.D., James J.D., Pooler I.G., John S. Terry P.M. Sec., James Stevens P.M. Preceptor, E. A. Francis, and others. The Lodge worked, in F.C. degree, the ceremony and charge by the W.M., and the lecture on the second tracing board by Bros. Jas. Stevens and E. A. Francis. Lodge was closed down, and Bro. R. Poore was elected W.M. for the ensuing week, when the Lodge will be opened in M.M degree.

Brixton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1949.—The weekly meeting was held on Tuesday evening, at Bro. Mork's, Prince Regent, Dulwich Road, East Brixton, when Bro. James Warren, as W.M., was supported by the following brethren:—Henry Stokes S.W., W. Moss J.W., H. Hooper S.D., Richard Poore J.D., E. A. Albert I.G., E. A. Francis Preceptor, Henry M. Williams Secretary; also R. W. Pooler, J. A. Danks, W. Croucher, J. W. Plummer, James Amsden and others. After preliminaries, the ceremony of raising was most impressively rehearsed by the W.M. Lodge was regularly closed to the first degree. Bros. J. W. Plummer, Duke of Connaught Lodge, and James Amsden, Eclectic Lodge, were elected members. Bro. Henry Stokes having been elected W.M. for the ensuing week Lodge was closed in due form in perfect harmony, and adjourned.

St. James's Union, No. 180.—The first meeting after the vacation was held on Tuesday, the 10th September, at the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street. Bros. Geo. A. B. Fletcher (in the chair), Farwig P.M. acting S.W., W. H. Baker J.W., W. Parsons P.M. Secretary, J. Miles Treasurer, J Maxted S.D., J. Chester J.D., T. A. Denne I.G., A. W. Staden W.S.; P.M.'s J. C. Wade, A. Stoner, Robinson, and Farwig. Visitors—Bros. R. Baker I.P.M. Joppa, Dr. Atcherley, of India, and W. Hudson. After the minutes had been read and confirmed, Mr. Spence, after being balloted for, was initiated into Freemasonry, in a manner highly creditable to the W.M., who it may be mentioned, was suffering from a fractured jaw. After Lodge had been closed the brethren adjourned to a capital banquet, provided by the new proprietors, Messrs. Spiers and Pond Limited. It is almost needless to say that the banquet was excellently served. Owing to the indisposition of the W.M., Bro. J. C. Wade presided, and gave the Queen and Craft, after which the National Anthem was sung by Bro. Chester. Then followed the toast of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. The Earl of Carnarvon Pro G.M., the Earl of Lathom D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers Present and Past followed rapidly. Bro. J. Wade then rose to propose the health of the W.M.; the brethren had witnessed the work of Bro. Fletcher, which he could say left nothing to be desired. Although their W.M. was suffering most acutely, he had come to Lodge, and performed the duties of his office in a manner highly creditable to the St. James's Union Lodge. He gave them the health of their W.M., and in the name of the brethren he assured the Worshipful Master of the sympathy of the entire Lodge with him in his present sufferings. They all hoped he would soon be perfectly restored. The W.M., in a few well chosen words, thanked the brethren generally for their continued kindness and sympathy. Before sitting down he would give them the toast of the initiate, who was a personal friend; he could testify to the sterling merit of Bro. Spence. Their newly-made brother, in the great struggle of life, evidenced all the qualities which endears a man to his kind. He would call upon the brethren to testify their hearty appreciation of his presence. After a song, capitally sung by Bro. Westrop, Bro. Spence replied:—He thanked the W.M. for the kind words spoken of him, also the brethren for the hearty response given to his name. He felt in a novel situation, and could not say much, except that he trusted the future would confirm the brethren in the choice they had made in admitting him to the Ancient Fraternity. The I.P.M. then gave the Visitors. The St. James's Union Lodge had long been noted for a goodly attendance of Visitors, and he was sorry they had not more to-night, but although they were few in number, they were bright ornaments in the Craft and as such the St. James's Union Lodge was delighted to welcome them. He called upon Bros. Dr. Atcherley and Hudson to respond. After a very able recitation from Bro. Baker, the Visiting Brethren returned thanks; in eulogistic terms congratulating the Lodge upon the excellence of its work, every one of the Officers acquitting himself very efficiently. The I.P.M. then proposed the health of those he described as the bulwarks of the Lodge, the P.M.'s, coupling with the toast the names of the Treasurer and Secretary. For the compliment Bro. P.M. Stoner, on behalf of the P.M.'s, and Bro. Miles, for himself and Secretary, responded. The Officers of the Lodge were next toasted, and Bro. P.M. Wade congratulated them upon the manner in which they had carried out their respective duties; they individually returned thanks, and the Tyler's toast brought an end to a very pleasant meeting.

Lodge was opened in the second degree, and the ceremony of passing rehearsed, Bro. Gibbs as candidate. Lodge resumed to the first degree, when Bro. C. K. Killick jun. P.M. 1693 read a Lecture, written by the late Dr. Oliver, on Ancient Masonic Rituals. Bros. G. M. Lion of the Joppa Lodge, No. 188, W. Nicholls of the East Surrey Lodge of Concord, No. 463, and Thomas Burtenshaw of the Hope and Unity, No. 214, were elected members. Bro. Gush was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. Edwin James was raised to the sublime degree of M.M., Bro. John Snow was afterwards duly initiated, the W.M. (Bro. John Bingley) in each case performing the ceremony in a very able and impressive manner. Upwards of 30 afterwards sat down to refreshment, amongst them being Bros. P.M. R. C. Pars and John Rogers of 607, and Bro. Jacob Dellmain of Western Lodge 39, United States. The whole proceedings were most pleasant and harmonious, and the Mother Lodge of the Province fully maintained its character for excellence of working throughout.

W. Fenner Preceptor, C. J. Free Secretary, D. Moss S.D., W. B. Ford J.D., R. Pringle I.G.; also Bros. I. P. Cohen, Grey, Horley, James Smith, &c. The usual formalities were duly observed in opening the Lodge, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of initiation in a very correct manner, Bro. James Smith acting as candidate. Bro. Fenner assisted Bro. I. P. Cohen to work the fourth, and Bro. D. Moss the fifth sections of the lecture. Lodge was opened in the second degree. Bro. Horley assisted Bro. Fenner to work the first section of the lecture. Lodge being resumed to the first degree, Bro. James Smith, of the Doric Lodge, No. 933, was duly elected a member, and Bro. A. Perkins appointed W.M. for the ensuing week. Bro. Fenner, after having complimented the W.M. on the excellent manner in which he had rehearsed the ceremony, proposed a vote of thanks to be entered on the minutes to Bro. Chitson the W.M., for the efficient manner he had discharged his duties, for the first time in this Lodge of Instruction. This was carried unanimously, after which Lodge was closed and adjourned. Bro. A. W. Fenner will work the Fifteen Sections in this Lodge of Instruction on the first Thursday in November next.

Chine Lodge No. 1884—On 10th instant, the members had an outing. Starting from Bro. S. H. Shillings', Clarendon Mews, in conveyances, the brethren proceeded by way of Brading and Nunwell to Wootton, and made a call for a short time at the residence of Bro. F. White Popham, J.P., afterwards continuing the journey to West Cowes, where dinner was provided by Bro. Mursell. The party reached Shanklin at a late hour, after having spent a most enjoyable day.

Dinner and Presentation.—On Saturday afternoon a dinner was given, in the Seacombe Hotel, to the employés of the Journal of Commerce, by the proprietor, Brother Charles Birchall, principally owing to the paper having attained its majority. The banqueting-room, in which the entertainment took place, was decorated with flowers in an elegant and profuse manner, from the nurseries of Messrs. Hughes. The catering was of the character for which Mr. Eberle is unsurpassed, and the arrangements were conducted throughout under the efficient superintendence of Miss Hobdall, the manageress. Between forty and fifty sat down to table, and amongst the gentlemen to whom special invitations had been sent were Alderman Willmer, the former Editor, Mr. Henry Greenwood, and Mr. Thomas Lee. Bro. Birchall presided, the Vice Chair being occupied by Mr. John Hide, of the commercial department. The fulfilment of the programme was initiated by the Chairman, from whom came the loyal and constitutional toasts, after which several appropriate to the occasion were proposed. Amongst those who spoke were the three gentlemen named, who referred to the inception, foundation, and subsequent prosperity of the Journal of Commerce. In the course of the evening a testimonial, consisting of a mantlepiece clock, with a suitable inscription, was presented to Mr. Thomas Baird, as a token of the estimation in which he is held by his colleagues and subordinates. The presentation was made in excellent terms by Mr. R. W. Cooper and Mr. Baird made a feeling reply. In the subsequent proceedings the chairman fully sustained the high opinion entertained by those who are under Mr. Baird's superintendence, a sentiment which was freely endorsed by other gentlemen. The instrumental and vocal talent of the company was very marked; a feature was a glee party, who contributed to the success of the gathering, which was in every respect a most enjoyable one.—Liverpool Daily Post.

The annual meeting of the St. Ambrose Lodge of Instruction will be held at Barons Court Hotel, West Kensington, on Monday, the 30th inst., on which occasion Bro. Frances P.P.G.S.D. Surrey (whose services in Masonry are well known), more particularly in the South and West of London, will instal in the chair of K.S. Bro. Ambrose Hall, M.A., P. Grand Chaplain, and the Rev. Brother will afterwards preside at the banquet, and will doubtless, by his geniality and companiable qualities, ensure a success to the meeting. A large number of brethren are expected.

An impressive Masonic demonstration took place at Paisley on the 7th inst. The occasion was the laying of the memorial stone of a new Masonic Hall, which is to be erected at a cost of about £6,000. The style of architecture will be that of the French Renaissance. A procession, numbering about two thousand members, was formed, among others present being Sir Archibald C. Campbell, of Blythswood, P.G.M. Renfrewshire East; R. W. Cochran-Patrick, M.P., of Woodside, R.W.M. of the Mother Lodge Killwinning, and P.G.M. Ayrshire; H. F. M'Neill, of Carnwath, P.G.M. Upper Ward of Lanarkshire, and Mr. D. M. Lyon G.S. for Scotland.—Society.

THE BANQUET AT THE MANSION HOUSE.

IT is very natural that London, which may justly be regarded as the original home of speculative Masonry, should take a deep interest in its welfare. We record elsewhere, and not for the first time, the cordial welcome which has been extended to the Craft by its first magistrate, himself a Mason, and we consider it our bounden duty to make this hospitality the subject of brief comment. In March 1875, Lord Mayor Stone and the Sheriffs, of whom the present Lord Mayor Ellis was one, were invited to a grand banquet by The Great City Lodge, and though there cannot be a doubt that a most kindly feeling existed anteriorly between the Corporation and the Craft, it is equally beyond question that this invitation enlarged that feeling to a remarkable extent. At all events, Bro. Sir F. W. Truscott, when he occupied simultaneously the offices of Lord Mayor and Junior Grand Warden, appears to have felt himself impelled, by a kind of natural impulse, to reciprocate the kindly feeling towards Freemasonry which had been exhibited in the days of his predecessor, Bro. Stone, by inviting Grand Lodge and the Officers and members of his Lodge, No. 1, to a grand banquet at the Mansion House. The Prince of Wales was present, and the entertainment passed off most brilliantly. Lord Mayor Ellis, occupying, Masonically and Civically, exactly the same rank as Sir F. Truscott, has followed in the latter's footsteps, with a success almost as brilliant, the attendance only needing the presence of the Grand Master to have made it equally so. May these interchanges of brotherly feeling be continued!

THE REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS.

WE enter now on our twofold task of comparison and comment. We assume the reason why the "antient charges" which, in the present edition of the Constitutions, precede the Regulations, are omitted from the revise is that, as no alteration in or re-arrangement of them is possible, they will find their old place, or, at all events, a place in the new version as a matter of course. In this case, there was no necessity to be at the pains or expense of reprinting them. Thus the revise, as issued for the consideration of the Craft, enters at once on the "General Laws and Regulations for the Government of the Craft," and those who may wish to institute for themselves a more extended comparison than is possible in the circumscribed space at our disposal, must turn for such purpose to page sixteen of the existing edition, where the Regulations begin. It may be as well, however, if we repeat a statement we made last week. The Regulations in the revised edition are numbered consecutively from 1 onwards throughout the whole book; in the present edition, they are numbered under the several heads to which they belong.

No. 1 in the revise, which is conveniently described in the marginal note as the "Declaration," is word for word the same as in the present edition. So likewise is No. 2, "The Grand Lodge," up to the words, "The United Grand Lodge of Antient Free and Accepted Masons of England" inclusive. The proposed law then continues, "and is hereinafter referred to as 'the Grand Lodge;'" whereas in the other it goes on, "and its members rank in the following order," the list of Grand and other Officers and members constituting Grand Lodge in their order of precedence being added. This last forms No. 6 of the proposed code.

No. 3 deals with the "General powers of all substituted authorities," and corresponds with Rule 15, page 24, in the present edition. The intent and purport in each is the same, but the language in which this is conveyed differs very materially, as will be seen from the following parallel arrangement of the two Laws:—

| REVISED EDITION. | PRESENT EDITION. |
| "The Pro Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and every other Officer and Brother who shall, in accordance with the laws and procedure of Masonry, preside or act in Grand Lodge or in any Provincial or District Grand Lodge or in any private Lodge or on any Board or Committee for or in the place of any other Officer or Brother, who may be absent shall, while so presiding or acting, have all the rights, powers, and duties of the Officer or Brother whose substitute he shall be, or in whose place he shall act, he shall enforce all rules and regulations, and his acts shall have the same validity in all respects as those of such Officer or Brother unless the contrary is expressly provided for in those laws and regulations." | "All powers and authorities, rules and regulations, for the government of the grand lodge, or provincial grand lodges, or boards, or committees, respectively, during times of public business or meetings, or proceedings, shall be used and exercised, and enforced respectively by the officers or members by any law or constitution authorised to preside or act in the absence of the grand master, or any superior officer or member in such lodges, boards, or committees, or in the general government of the Craft, as fully to all intents and purposes as if such substitute officers or members were specified in every law or constitution in which any powers or authorities are given, or rules or regulations prescribed for the principals, unless special provision is made to the contrary. |

The proposed regulation appears to us to be the better of the two, being more precise and directly to the point than the one it is intended to supersede, but the introduction of the Pro Grand Master and the Deputy Grand Master, of whom up to this point we can have had no official cognizance whatever, lends point to the remark of our correspondent referred to last week, that it would have been better had No. 3 contained the list of the members of Grand Lodge. Of course, this objection could easily be overcome by omitting all mention of the said Officers, and making the law begin "every Officer or Brother," &c. We should also, for the sake of euphony, and also because the word is unnecessary, read "for or in the place of any Officer or Brother," instead of "for or in the place of any other Officer or Brother." Reverting, however, to our correspondent's criticism, he proposes that No. 6 should become No. 3, No. 3 being regulated to No. 4, No. 4 to No. 5, and No. 5 to No. 6. In our opinion, it would be a preferable arrangement to merely transpose Nos. 3 and 6, leaving Nos. 4 and 5 where they are.

The new rules in the order of sequence would then read: No. 2 "The Grand Lodge;" No. 3 "Rank and Precedence of Members;" No. 4 "All Laws emanate from Grand Lodge;" No. 5 "Power of final decision"—for which we would suggest the substitution of "Further Powers of Grand Lodge;" No. 6 "General powers of all substituted authorities."

No. 4. corresponds with the first part of Rule 16, p 24, with the words "possesses the supreme superintending authority" from the law "Of Appeal," p 95, interpolated, and reads thus:—

"The Grand Lodge possesses the supreme superintending authority, and alone has the inherent power of enacting laws and regulations for the government of the Craft, and of altering, repealing, and abrogating them, always taking care that the antient landmarks of the order be preserved."

No. 5 is verbatim the same as the second section of Rule No. 16, p 24. The subdivision of the present law is no doubt an improvement, but, if the new arrangement is accepted, the word "also" in No. 5—"The Grand Lodge has also," &c.—must be omitted, as being superfluous. The marginal note—"Power of final decision"—as we have already hinted, does not appear to us to convey clearly the meaning of the law, which says, in effect, Grand Lodge has the power to investigate certain matters, and it may exercise that power of itself or by delegated authority, but it alone can erase Lodges and expel brethren. We would substitute "Further powers of Grand Lodge," or words conveying the same sense. Moreover, in the law itself we would suggest the addition of the words, "except as hereinafter provided in Law 105, under 'Provincial and District Grand Lodges,'" which lays it down that, under the circumstances as described, "the grand lodge delegates to its district grand lodges, meeting under district grand masters duly authorised and appointed by the grand master of England, in addition to the powers herein given to provincial grand lodges, the power of expelling masons, and erasing lodges within their respective districts." It will be remembered that when Brother James Stevens proposed to submit a motion for the subdivision of the Metropolis into four districts, each with a kind of Provincial Grand organisation presiding over it, objection was immediately taken to the proposed "Metropolitan District Grand Lodges," on this very ground that District Grand Lodges possessed these very powers of expelling Masons and erasing Lodges, and consequently that the new bodies would possess greater powers than the Provincial Grand Lodges. Bro. Stevens, it is true, used the word "District" in a postal, not a Masonic sense, but still most true is it that Masons may be expelled and Lodges erased in District Grand Lodges without apparently any intervention of G.L. authority whatever. For these reasons, we would extend and make more compatible with fact the new law No. 5 by the addition of the exception already noted, and we would also amend the marginal note, which does not accurately convey the meaning and intent of the law.

No. 6, which gives a list of the members of Grand Lodge, may be dismissed with the remark that no places are provided for Deputy Grand Director of Ceremonies and Past Deputy Grand Directors of Ceremonies, who should follow after "26 Past Grand Directors of Ceremonies," or for the Grand Standard Bearer and Past Grand Standard Bearers who, if we take the order of appointments as made or recorded this year for our guidance, should follow the "Past Grand Sword Bearers." No place, be it added, is made for "Past Assistant Grand Pursuivants," who should not be left out in the cold, or in accordance with the custom practised till this year should be promoted to Grand Pursuivants, and then take past rank.

No. 7, "additional members may be appointed or elected," differs from old No. 2, p 18, in this respect, that the constitution of such additional members is no longer confined to the vote of Grand Lodge. The new law reads "Brethren of eminence and ability, who have rendered service to the craft, may, by appointment of the Grand Master, or by a vote of the grand lodge duly confirmed, be constituted members of the grand lodge, with such rank and distinction as may be thought proper."

No. 8 corresponds with Art. 3, page 30, with the addition that it confers on the Grand Master the power of constituting a brother whom he may appoint his representative in a sister Grand Lodge, as well as a brother regularly deputed by a sister Grand Lodge, to be members of the Grand Lodge of England, with such rank as the Grand Master may deem appropriate. This extension of the Grand Master's powers is unobjectionable.

No. 9. "Qualification and disqualification of past masters" compares favourably as regards compactness with Art. 1, page 18. It determines clearly enough that Past Masters cannot be members of G. Lodge when they have ceased to be subscribing members of any Lodge for the period of twelve months, and they only regain their right of membership of Grand Lodge as Past Masters when they have again filled the office of Worshipful Master.

No. 10 is the concluding section of Art. 7, page 19, amplified to this extent that it lays down that "a visitor can only attend Grand Lodge by permission of the Grand Master," and then if admitted, he shall not "speak," &c.

No. 11 is the first section of the same Article 7, as far as the word "December," the clause "at which none shall be present but the proper members without the permission of the grand master" being omitted. Having regard to the preceding rule, the retention of such clause was unnecessary.

No. 12 is, with a few verbal alterations, of no importance whatever, the same as A. 12, p 22, while No. 13 corresponds with A. 13, p 23, the clause "which shall be dedicated to brotherly love and refreshment" being omitted, and the restriction against private Lodges within the London district having a Masonic feast on the day of the Festival being struck out.

No. 14 treats of the nomination, election, and installation of the Grand Master, and compares with the opening sentences of A. 1, p 29, the clauses about the winter solstice and the vernal equinox being appropriately dismissed, while his installation is fixed absolutely for the day of the Festival. No. 15, provides for the appointment of a Pro Grand Master in the case of the Grand Master being a prince of the blood royal, but the clause as to his powers is omitted, these having been already determined by Rule No. 3. No. 16 provides for the contingency of the Grand Master's death, and what measures shall be taken by those next in authority. This law is substantially, indeed we may almost say verbally, the same with Art. 2, pp 29, 30. No. 17, "abuse of power of Grand Master," is the same as Art. 11, p 32.

No. 18 compares with the last section of A 1, p 29, but is greatly improved, as it enumerates the Grand Officers whom he shall appoint, and instal or invest in ancient form. In this list are introduced the "Deputy Grand Director of Ceremonies," and the "two Grand Standard Bearers," whose omission from Rule 6—"Rank and precedence of members" of Grand Lodge—has already been noticed. It is further added that (1) he, the Grand Master, "may also appoint an Assistant Grand Secretary," and (2) "the Grand Registrar must be an actual Master or Past Master of a Lodge." It strikes us a place apart, or in No. 3, might have been found for this clause about the Grand Registrar.

No. 19 provides for the nomination of the Grand Treasurer in December, and his election in March. By the present law, Art. 1, p 34, he is to be elected in March without previous nomination. The provision of sureties is now no longer necessary, and is omitted.

No. 20 fixes the appointment, by the Grand Master, of the President of the Board of General Purposes; but as his rank has already been determined in Rule No. 6, the clause of the present law as to his rank, p 36, is left out.

No. 21, relating to the appointment of the Grand Secretary, corresponds with the opening part of A. 1, p 37. So much of the present laws as relates to his clerks and his duties will be found provided for in the New Rules, Nos. 34 and 35.

Nos. 22-24 need no comment. No. 25, as to the powers and privileges of the Deputy Grand Master might, we think, be dispensed with, as it is provided for under Rule No. 3, "General powers of substituted authorities." No. 26, as to the Grand Wardens, differs somewhat from the present law. Thus, for "in their absence the seniors of the past grand wardens present shall act pro tempore," it is proposed to read "in their absence the past grand wardens present shall act in the order of seniority." Of these we look upon the former as being the more correct from a grammatical point of view. Then the present law continues "If no past grand warden be present the grand master may direct any other member of grand lodge being, or having been, master of a lodge, to act as grand warden for the occasion." It is now proposed: "If no past grand warden be present, the grand master may direct any other past grand officer or member of grand lodge to act as grand warden for the occasion." We fail to see what is gained by the removal of one restriction as to "being, or having been, master of a lodge," and the introduction of another "any other past grand officer." Under the new regulation the warden of a private Lodge is eligible to fill a Grand Warden's chair, while a Grand Deacon is not. The present rule as to Wardens being liable to fine for non-attendance is omitted. It was never acted upon, and its retention in the Book would only be an act of barefaced hypocrisy.

No. 28 relates to Grand Chaplains, and Nos. 29 and 30 correspond with the laws defining the duties and responsibilities of Grand Treasurer, and the custody of Grand Lodge moneys and audit of Grand Lodge accounts.

Nos. 31-33, respecting the functions of Grand Registrar, remain as at present. The same applies to Nos. 33, 34, and 35, which embody full particulars as to those of the Grand Secretary, there being, however, one addition—in No. 34, that the Grand Secretary is "to receive the contributions payable by lodges or brethren to the fund of benevolence or the fund of general purposes, and pay or cause the same to be paid to the account of the grand lodge at the Bank of England." The new rules, however, are differently arranged as regards matter from the present, while a part of the latter have already been dealt with previously.

CELEBRATION OF THE SESQUI-CENTENNIAL.

THIS old Lodge celebrated its Sesqui-Centennial or 150th anniversary on Monday, 23rd October. The Lodge was warranted 23rd October 1732, by Lord Viscount Montague Grand Master of the "Moderns" Grand Lodge, and its history has recently been published by Bros. G. P. Brockbank and James Newton, as noticed in our columns a few weeks ago.

The proceedings at the Sesqui-centennial were held in the Masonic room at the Swan Hotel, the Lodge being opened at half-past four o'clock by the W.M. Bro. E. M. Garstang, assisted by his Officers, the following members of the Lodge being present:—Bros. John Booth S.W., Fred. W. Pacey J.W., Rooke Pennington Immediate P.M., William Slater P. Prov. S.G.D. Treasurer, G. P. Brockbank P. Prov. S.G. Deacon Secretary, J. W. Poyntz J.D., Walter Pennington P.M. Master of Ceremonies, R. K. Freeman P.M. Organist, John Hardcastle I.G., W. H. Lomax and James Naylor Stewards, Thomas Glaister P. Prov. S.G. Warden (Mayor of Bolton), Samuel Isherwood P.P.G. Treasurer, James Newton P.P.G.S.D., Samuel Crowther Past Prov. Grand Superintendent of Works, James Walker P.M., W. H. Horrocks P.M., Johnson Mills P.M., John Morris P.M., B. A. Dobson, C. F. Porter, John Ridyard, W. H. Wilson, and Robert Nightingale. The Lodge was honoured by the presence of the following Present and Past Officers of the Grand Lodge of England, viz.:—Bros. Col. Le Gendre N. Starkie Past G.W., Provincial Grand Master, H. D. Sandeman Past District Grand Master of Bengal, Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke Grand Secretary, C. R. N. Beswicke-Royds Grand Junior Deacon, Major-General H. Clerke Past Grand Deacon, Captain N. G. Philips Past Grand Deacon, J. M. P. Montague Past Grand Deacon, and George Mellor Past Grand Deacon, Deputy Provincial Grand Master. The following other visitors were also present:—Bros. John Chadwick Provincial Grand Secretary, J. R. Wolfenden Past Provincial Grand Secretary, F. A. Huet Past Provincial Grand Pursuivant Staffordshire, W. Nicholson Provincial Grand Sword Bearer, J. W. Taylor Past Provincial Grand Organist, T. Mitchell Provincial Grand Tyler, G. Taylor W.M. 146, Jabez Boothroyd W.M. 221, J. B. Taylor W.M. 348, W. Court W.M. 1723, John Alcock P.M. Secretary 348, N. Nicholson P.M. Secretary 1723, R. Horsfall W.M. 950, N. T. Martin W.M. 1814, J. Whitehead W.M. 1952, J. M. Rutter P.M. 221, J. Hothersall S.W. 1534, Joseph Heathcote J.D. 1952, C. E. Schuster P.M. 62, Jessop Hulton P.M. 62, Thomas Wingfield 146, Thomas Nightingale 146, A. Cooke 1030, Robert B. Seddon 1335, J. Collins 678, Thomas Wilson 1814, J. M. Bentley, Mus. Doc.

Lodge having been opened to the third degree, the Prov. Grand Officers, and Grand Officers respectively, entered the Lodge, and were received with the customary salutations.

The Worshipful Master, on behalf of the Lodge, tendered to all the brethren present a hearty welcome on the interesting occasion which had brought them together. His remarks were supplemented by Bro. Samuel Isherwood P.M. Past Provincial Grand Treasurer, the senior member of the Lodge, he having been initiated therein in 1856.

The Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master (Col. Le G. N. Starkie) delivered an address, expressing his satisfaction at being privileged to be present at such an assemblage of the brethren, and expressing his thanks to the members of the Lodge for their courteous and kindly welcome, and his earnest hope that the Lodge Anchor and Hope would long continue at the head of the roll of Lodges in his Province and be as prosperous in the future as it had been in the past.

The Secretary (Bro. G. P. Brockbank) announced that letters of apology had been received from the Right Hon. the Earl of Lathom Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master, General Brownrigg Prov. Grand Master Surrey; Bros. W. J. Hughan Past Grand Deacon, John M. Wike Past Grand Deacon, C. J. Bannister Past Grand Sword Bearer, A. S. Alpass Grand Standard Bearer, Rev. W. Chaytor Past Provincial Grand Chaplain, Thomas Entwisle Past Provincial Grand Superintendent of Works, and others.

Brother James Newton Provincial Grand S. Deacon read an interesting paper "On Provincial Lodges to No. 105 now No. 37 Bolton." which had been compiled at considerable pains by Bro. W. Hughan Past G.S.D. of England, Past Provincial Grand Secretary of Cornwall, &c. The purpose of the paper was to prove the assertions made by the Lodge historians, "that the Lodge is the Premier Provincial Lodge in England originally warranted as a Provincial Lodge and continually on the roll to the present time." In order to do so, Bro. Hughan makes another assertion, which he fully proves in his paper, viz. "that all the Lodges originally chartered as Provincial Lodges prior to the Anchor and Hope Lodge have either been erased or for a time removed from the roll." A list of such Lodges, alphabetically arranged in Provinces is then given, showing twenty-seven Provincial Lodges and four foreign Lodges, all chartered prior to the Anchor and Hope, and which have all been erased from the roll, having, in fact, discontinued, save No. 97 (now No. 39) Exeter, warranted in July 1732, which was removed from the roll for about twenty years, and in 1770 was placed as the junior of the 1732 Lodges as No. 48; the "Anchor and Hope" then being No. 46.

The reading of Bro. Hughan's Paper was listened to with great interest, and at the conclusion a vote of thanks was cordially given to him for the same.

Bro. Rooke Pennington, B.A., LL.B., Immediate Past Master of the Lodge, read an epitome of the Lodge History during the past 150 years, narrating many interesting facts which he had culled from the History. A cordial vote of thanks was given to Bro. Pennington for his Paper.

On the proposition of Bro. William Slater Past Provincial Grand Senior Deacon, seconded by Bro. James Walker Past Master, a vote of thanks was passed to his Worship the Mayor, for kindly allowing the use of his banqueting-room at the Town Hall for the purpose of the banquet on this occasion.

Bro. G. P. Brockbank P. Provincial Grand Senior Deacon proposed a vote of thanks to the R.W. Provincial Grand Master and the Grand Officers for their attendance on the occasion. The motion was seconded by Bro. Newton P. Provincial Grand Senior Deacon, and carried unanimously.

Bro. H. D. Sandeman Past District Grand Master of Bengal, in acknowledging the vote of thanks, expressed the pleasure it had afforded him and the other Grand Officers in being present on such a unique occasion. His remarks were supplemented by the Grand Secretary, Col. Shadwell H. Clerke, who also expressed his own personal pleasure at being present, and intimated that so far as he knew, this was the first Sesqui-Centennial celebration of any Lodge under the English Constitution.

The W. Masters of the sister Lodges in Bolton, in turn, presented to the Lodge resolutions, which had been adopted by their respective Lodges, congratulating the Anchor and Hope on this auspicious occasion.

On the motion of the Worshipful the Mayor, Bro. Thos. Glaister, seconded by Bro. W. H. Horrocks, a vote of thanks was passed to the sister Lodges for their fraternal expressions of congratulation.

The Lodge was then closed to the first degree. Hearty good wishes were presented by the visiting brethren, and after the Grand Officers and Prov. Grand Officers had retired, the Lodge was forthwith closed.

The brethren then proceeded to the Town Hall, where a récherché banquet was provided in the Mayor's banqueting-room, by the permission of his Worship, who presided during the subsequent proceedings. The following is a list of the toasts given during the evening:—

1. The Queen, proposed by the Mayor.
2. The Prince of Wales and the rest of the Royal Family, proposed by the Mayor.
3. Our Rulers in the Craft, proposed by the W.M., and responded to by the R.W. Prov. Grand Master.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are the medicine most in repute for curing the multifarious maladies which beset mankind when autumnal heats give place to chilly, drenching days. In fact, the Pills offer relief even if they fail of proving an absolute remedy in all the disturbances of digestion, circulation and nervous tone which occasionally oppress a vast portion of the population. Under the genial, purifying and strengthening powers exerted by this excellent medicine, the tongue becomes clean, the appetite improves, digestion is quickened, and assimilation is rendered perfect. These Pills possess the highly estimable property of cleansing the entire mass of blood, which in its renovated condition, carries purity, strength and vigour to every tissue of the body.

STRAY LEAVES FROM A FREEMASON'S NOTE BOOK.

FROM THE VOICE OF MASONRY.

FREEMASONRY presents itself to us under two general aspects. One wears a solid, sober, serious air, like the cold, hard outlines of a Temple built of Parian marble, and as though its individual members were engaged in a very dignified and important work, with grand objects in view and great duties to perform, and such they have to do. In the Lodge, and during its labours, the demeanour must be carefully observed. After the labours of the evening are concluded, the members enjoy themselves socially in such way as their tastes and temperaments may suggest, but still in a fraternal and pleasant manner. Legitimate Freemasonry does not wear a cowl, as though it had just escaped from a cell, but walks abroad in the bright sunlight to inhale the pure, bracing, free air of heaven. It does not wear a long face, even at its labours, and is substantially the same everywhere and at all times; "good men and true" labourers on the Temple of Faith, Hope and Immortality. Freemasons may have their faults, and do have them, but to be pleasant and social is not a fault; they may produce laughter or a smile, but this is no sin.

A good many years ago an old and particular friend and a very prominent and active Freemason, who was much annoyed at the treatment he had received at the hands of some brother, asked me the question: "Is Freemasonry what it professes to be, or is it a mere pretence?" I replied that I believed it to be genuine, in its professions and characteristics, without any mere pretences. Recently I had occasion to write to the same brother, for we have been intimate friends since his young manhood, near forty years ago, about a matter in itself not very pleasant, and quoted his question of former years, as referred to above. In his reply, referring to that question, he said: "I can't answer you. The Order is largely composed of men; men are largely made up of human nature, and human nature is about the same in Mosque, Synagogue, Cathedral, Meeting House or Lodge. I have sometimes thought that the world was all wrong, but upon more mature reflection I have concluded that, taken all together, good and bad, the world makes a fair average out of the bad material of which it is composed. Lodges, like the churches, are not always what they should be, and Freemasons too often forget their duty to themselves and their fellow mortals; but the possibilities of Freemasonry are always the same, and when adhered to, lead to the Temple of Truth, Virtue, Morality, and good-will to man."

That describes the whole matter in the writer's usual sententious and facetious way, and much better than I can do it. I withhold the name of the writer, because I have not permission to use it publicly, but this is a correct view of Freemasonry in its grave, solid and dignified characteristics. Would that all its members could see it in the same light, instead of robing it in a kind of mock dignity and putting professions in its mouth which it hardly comprehends, and pledges it rarely makes good. As I said, Freemasonry has two sides to it. Work in the Lodge is serious and exacting. The general duties of the Craft include visiting the sick, burying the dead and providing for the needy. These are the substantial and distinguishing features of the grand old Temple of Freemasonry, and much more attention should be paid to these duties.

But there is another side to Freemasonry—a side view, presenting a different aspect—not of Freemasonry, but of its membership. It is a sunny view, taken on a calm, summer eve, when the perfume of the flowers and the fragrance of the foliage fill the air with Nature's richest aroma. Referring to the answer to my letter above quoted, that "men are largely made up of human nature, and that human nature is about the same in Mosque, Synagogue, Cathedral, Meeting House or Lodge," I wish to turn away from the demure, care-worn face, and bask a little while in the sunshine of human nature in its sunnier aspects.

I suppose, Brother Brown, that most of your readers were boys once; nearly all men have passed through boyhood, and we all remember the saying that "men are but children of a larger growth." Well, when boys tire of their books and problems and exacting studies, over which presides the iron features of the stern old Master, when such boys are permitted a little time for recreation on the green, and in the pure and open air, they seem to be different creatures from what they were in the school-room; they grow more and get more soul in them in a brief half hour than they would in a week pondering over their Greek and Algebra. It is just so in the experiences and memories of Freemasons, even the oldest of us. Eminently a social institution, after the labours are finished and "school is out," the members wish for social enjoyment, as soldiers when the hard-fought battle is over, around the camp fire or in bivouac, there are warm hand shakings and joyous greetings and hearty commendations—the quiet and sunshine after the tempest and storm.

Masons are like other men. At a session of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky many years ago, I was talking with a member in relation to a certain brother, when I asked, "What kind of a man is that, any how?" "Well," said he, assuming a look of grave thoughtfulness, "there is a great deal of human nature in him." His reply was full of meaning, and thoroughly answered my question. Some brethren, even in the full maturity of manhood, cannot forget they were once boys, and are glad to be boys again. The desire for amusement, even among Masons of mature years and prominent official position, is sometimes uncontrollable, and cannot be restrained even until the serious work of the Lodge is ended, whilst others are all dignity and decorum, and no effort can extort a smile from them. Of both classes, or rather of the sunny and puritanical, I will venture to give some illustrations, for I imagine that some of your grave, dignified readers sometimes enjoy the relaxation of a smile.

I was visiting a Lodge in Ohio; the hall was capacious and handsomely furnished; the Master was a large, dignified man, and looked as though he would brook no levity while the Lodge was at work. A brother, who was vouched for at the door, came in and, presenting himself before the altar, saluted the Master with profound respect. As he entered the hall there came at his side, but unnoticed by him, his very large and finely formed Newfoundland dog, who walked beside his master to the altar, and stood there with quiet dignity facing the East. The owner was not yet aware of his presence, and took his seat, but the keen-eyed Master was, and knowing that no such visitor had been announced, inquired, "Who vouches for him?" Waiting a moment for a reply, and not receiving one, the gavel came down, followed by the imperious command, "Put him out!" The owner rose to execute the command, when the noble animal was, like a cowan, ushered into the outer room, wearing a facial expression which said very plainly: "Well, I have visited the Lodge anyhow." This almost convulsed the members, and the dignified Master had quite as much as he could do to preserve order and decorum. Evidently he had a hard struggle to control his emotions, yet he had no smile, but sat there like a marble statue in the Chair of Solomon. This is one example of unbending dignity and stern discipline in a Lodge.

And now, while I am on the subject of dogs, allow me to give you another instance of a dog in the Lodge, by way of contrast to the preceding one. Grand Master Bierce, of Ohio, had his peculiarities, and who has not? It is this, with other features, that individualises men. Bierce's peculiarities were pleasant rather than harmful, often evoking a smile, but never a tear.

He had a kindly feeling for all animals, but especially for dogs, and the homelier and more unattractive they were the more welcome to his friendship and caresses. It made no difference what their appearance or breed of blood, from the little, hairy-faced Scotch terrier, to the intelligent and kingly Newfoundland, all were sure of a welcome from the General. Brother Bierce was Master of his Lodge for more than twenty years. He had a small dog named Peter, who always accompanied his master to the Lodge and to church. On one occasion he followed his owner to a different church from that which the General usually attended, when the sexton unceremoniously drove him out of doors. Peter's dignity was greatly offended, and he never could be induced to enter that church again!

But Peter was always secure of a kind reception at the Lodge. His master always required him to be at his side on the dais, where, sitting on his haunches, he assumed great importance. In the matter of opening and closing the Lodge he was greatly interested, and usually followed the Deacons around during the discharge of their duties, as if he desired to see if they were correct in their work. This interested the members greatly, and especially the Master, who was much gratified at the progress his pet had made in his instructions.

Peter made such progress in his knowledge that he soon learned to distinguish the night in the week on which the Lodge met, and when the hour came for meeting, if he could not readily find the General, he would go directly to the Hall, enter, and take his accustomed position on the dais and there await his master's coming. On one occasion the General had been attending court in the adjoining county—he was an attorney in good practice—and expected to reach home in time to meet his Lodge, but was detained until next day. Peter, however, remembered the night and went to the Lodge, where he took his accustomed seat. The members waited for some time, when one asked, "I wonder if the General has got home?" Another remarked, "I think he has, for here is Peter waiting for him." But the General did not come, and Peter was compelled to go home alone. The General was greatly delighted when he heard of Peter's recollection and faithfulness, declaring that Peter's memory was much better than that of some members of his Lodge, who were more deeply interested.

Such are some of the by-plays of Masonic experience, and the pleasant addenda to the labours of Craftsmen. In good time Peter died and went to the place "where good dogs go," but his memory was cherished by his master, and his rare sense and faithfulness long appreciated. In after years, in a ripe old age, the General finished his work, and his name will long be remembered by his co-labourers "about the Temple" in Ohio. These pleasant recollections of Masonic labours and life and intercourse are scenes on which we may dwell in after years. Now and then the evening glow from the altars lights up the social intercourse of Masonic life, and gives a zest to the pleasant fellowship of the Craft when not restrained by stern discipline or active labour; while the joke and the repartee, the pleasant chat and glowing sunshine shut out anxious cares and make us forget our sorrows in the kindness and warmth of fraternal love. A cheer for the Craft—ready for labour when labour is needed, and glad of the hours devoted to rest and recreation.

"Hail to the Craft, the grand old Craft,
Which has weathered the storm so long,
Which has won renown, from Crozier and Crown,
And a lay from the child of song!"

Now let me turn over a new leaf, and copy a pleasant little story from memory's page. A good many years ago I happened to be in St. Louis while the Grand Lodge was holding its annual meeting, and concluded to attend the evening session. Having no voucher that I know of, I sent in my name. There were those inside who knew me, and immediately came to welcome and vouch for me. Among others was one whom I felt sure I had never seen before. He was quite a young man, over six feet high, muscular, and straight as a sunbeam.

Grasping my hand he greeted me with a rough welcome, and said he also could vouch for me. Did you ever meet me in a Lodge? said I. "No, sir." "Did you ever see me before?" "No, sir." "How, then, can you vouch for me?" Why, sir," he replied, "I read your magazine when I was a little boy in my father's house, in old Kentucky; I'll vouch for you, sir!" I thought it a new way of obtaining a voucher, but went in.

I received a very fraternal welcome, and the Grand Master assigned me to a seat on the dais. I remember no names that were present, except O'Sullivan, Grand Secretary—one of the grand old Irish gentlemen of former days, and a brother by the name of Vinci, who I think is still an active member of that Grand Lodge. Who was the Grand Master I do not remember, but he appeared to be entirely devoted to the duties of the hour. The Deputy was a different kind of man—so full of fun and mischief that he could not restrain himself, even during the session of the Grand Lodge. He sat at the left of the Grand Master, while I was honoured with a seat at the left of the Deputy. The latter seemed to take but little interest in the current transactions, yet they may have only been informal, and of no special importance, but his eye was wandering, as though waiting "for school to turn out." I watched him closely, for his face and manner interested me. He appeared to dwell in the sunshine, and live on anticipated mischief. Wishing no harm to any one, he seemed to be waiting to victimise some friend.

Soon a member came in, apparently about the age of the Deputy, and, as seats were scarce, he advanced to the front and took a seat on the second step leading to the dais, and directly in front of the Deputy Grand Master. Between the latter and myself stood a basket full of scraps of paper and old tickets that had been used in voting at the election. The basket must have held half a bushel of debris. It seemed to be the opportunity for which the Deputy Grand Master had been waiting. His eyes brightened up at once. He looked at the basket of debris, and then at his friend on the step before him. The temptation was too great for him to resist, so he picked up the basket and emptied the entire contents upon the head of his victim, who, knowing who was behind him, took it as a matter of course. The Deputy replaced the basket and resumed his seat with the quiet gravity of a Quaker preacher, while the victim did not even turn his head towards the Deputy, as though he need not be surprised at the infliction of the official mischief from the Deputy, who sat in his chair with an innocence as though knowing nothing about what had transpired. I suspect it was settled that night in their room over a bottle of wine—such things will occur sometimes.

This was a little by-play, a gleam of sunshine that will come now and then to bring a glow over the sterner realities of life, and make Lodge meetings, when work is over, specially attractive. Most of the then active workmen in the Grand Lodge of Missouri, I presume, have retired from labour to refreshment, but it is still pleasant to recall the sunshine and summer glow of years long past.

From one of the leaves of my earlier note-books I will select another incident which may provoke such a smile as it did from the writer when the event occurred, and was one of the pleasant incidents that come to the hard-working Craftsman when the labours of the evening are ended. Of course, the sunny playspells are not Freemasonry, but the outgrowths of that warm fraternal fellowship and social union when hearts have been bound together around our common altars.

In former years we had a faithful old brother who tyled all the Masonic bodies in Cincinnati, and the Grand Bodies of that State as well. As there were not so many Bodies in that city then as there are now, they all met in the same Hall, and Joseph B. Covert was the Tyler, but we called him "Uncle Joe," for short. He was very fond of a joke, and would sometimes perpetrate one on some assuming young brother who lingered too long about the outer door to chat, when his place and duty were in the Lodge, and Uncle Joe desired to be let alone to attend to his work.

Among the younger brethren, I will call him Jacob, was a very faithful member in his attendance, but was usually late in coming. He would come to the door and say: "Uncle Joe, what are they doing to-night?" Obtaining the desired information he would frequently retire, but sometimes go into the Hall. This continued practice and repetition of the same question at last became annoying, and the faithful old Tyler determined to set a trap for Jacob at the first favourable opportunity, and see if he could not cure him of the habit of coming late and repeating the usual question.

One night an initiation was taking place, and the Master of the Lodge was possessed of a very stern manner, though, when work was finished, could enjoy a joke as well as any one. After the work was nearly completed, Bro. Jacob, as was usual, presented himself, and with the customary question: "What are they doing to-night, Uncle Joe?" The old Tyler rose to his feet and assumed a manner of great indignation, declared it was the most outrageous conduct he had ever heard of in a Lodge. "Why, what's the matter, Uncle Joe?" exclaimed Bro. Jacob, who was sure there must be something wrong to thus excite the venerable and usually quiet Tyler. "Matter," said Uncle Joe, "why, I never read of such a transaction in my life, nor do I think you have; I can hardly be induced to sit here at my post of duty while such work is being done." "Do tell me what it is, Uncle Joe? if it is wrong it should be attended to at once." "Wrong!" said the old man, giving his hands a whack together, as if to express his terrible indignation: "Why, sir, it is in violation of all Masonic law I ever read; I only wish the Grand Master would make his appearance just now! Why, sir, you will hardly believe that the oldest Lodge but one in the State, and with such a Master, should be initiating a man who can see no more than a dead horse!" "Why, Uncle Joe, you surprise me: are you sure of this?" "Sure? Did I not see the candidate and conduct him to the preparing-room? I should have protested, but feared to embroil myself with the Master. The ceremony will close in a few minutes, and I will then admit you and you can see for yourself."

The initiation being concluded, Bro. Jacob was admitted, and, approaching the altar, inquired of the Master if it were true that they had initiated a man who could not see. The Master at once suspected something, and in his usual stern manner asked who had told him such a singular story. Jacob said Uncle Joe had given him the information, when the Master, drawing down his heavy brows, inquired if Bro. Jacob had ever seen a person initiated into Masonry who could see? The question awakened a new thought, and Jacob began to suspect that he had been victimised by Uncle Joe, and asked permission to retire, but the Master would not permit it until the Lodge was closed, when all hands, including Uncle Joe and Bro. Jacob, enjoyed such a laugh as had not been heard in that hall for many a day or evening. Jacob did not forget the lesson Uncle Joe had taught him, and the Tyler was not troubled again with the question: "What are they doing, Uncle Joe?" Bro. Jacob ever afterwards came in good time, or, if his business prevented, he remained absent, yet he was the same faithful and devoted Mason as ever. If the poor were to be relieved, or the sick attended to, Bro. Jacob could always be depended on; he was ever ready with his time and his means to aid a brother, his widow or his orphan. But the kind-hearted old Tyler, and his victim Bro. Jacob, had many a laugh over the manner in which the latter had been cured of an unpleasant habit. But Tyler and Jacob have long slept under the sod, while the venerable Master still lives in age and decrepitude, as he

"Walks thoughtful on the solemn silent shore
Of that vast ocean we must sail so soon."

I believe, Bro. Brown, I have room for one more leaf from my old scrap-book, and as it refers to an intellectual malady which I believe still prevails to a limited extent, and in a modified form, "in and about" your good City of Chicago, I will copy it for the benefit of "whom it may concern." You know the disease is a troublesome one, and difficult to cure. The last case that I knew of in Ohio was one of "spontaneous combustion." No one could tell whence it came nor where it went, but like Arab robbers in the desert it went as rapidly and as suddenly as it came, and took refuge in a desert where neither reason nor religion could reach it.

The authorities had determined to erect a new Court House in Bellefontaine, Ohio, and asked the Grand Lodge of Freemasons to lay the corner-stone of the new building with the usual Masonic ceremonies. This act of the Commissioners excited the displeasure of certain ultra-religionists of the county, and they prepared and filed a terrible protest against the wicked procedure, but as you have seen so much of anti-Masonic literature I need not describe to you this offensive twaddle. It was so offensive that even those who signed it were ashamed of it, more especially when they learned that the Commissioners had determined to deposit a copy of it in the corner-stone as a curiosity of the age, and that other generations of one or two centuries hence might know of the offensive document, and of the names appended to it.

This act greatly alarmed the Antis, and they would have given almost anything to have the document withdrawn, but it was too late. It had been printed, and the boys on the street read and ridiculed it, while every man of sense denounced it. But it went into the corner-stone, and if any readers of the Voice should be alive two or three centuries hence they may get a peep at that curious document and learn something about the creed and professions of the anti-Masons of the nineteenth century.

THE RAHERE ALMONERS.

THE second anniversary banquet of this ancient fraternity took place on Monday evening, at Cannon-street Hotel, under the patronage and presidency of the Right Hon. Bro. Sir John Whittaker Ellis, Bart., who was supported by the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex, Mr. Alderman De Keyser and Joseph Savory, Esq., together with the members of the Court of Common Council for the Ward of Farringdon Without. There were also present a large number of Visitors, and the gallery was occupied by ladies, who appeared to take a lively interest in the proceedings of the evening, which were of an unusually attractive character throughout. True it is, "that nothing succeeds like success," and those associated with this memorable fraternity are resolved that they will, if possible, "success achieve." Perhaps at the outset, some may inquire who and what are these "ancient Almoners?" We will answer these questions. Their intentions and objects are to afford assistance and relief to deserving necessitous persons—and their name is legion—in memory of Rahere, the pious founder of the ancient priory of St. Bartholomew. In order to effect this, a fund, which from time to time will accumulate, is to be devoted to charitable purposes. In addition, offerings in kind from benevolent persons will be bestowed to clothe the naked and to feed the hungry, and this without reference to creed or nationality; "the hand of melting charity" will be opened to all whom Providence has reduced, for reasons and purposes which often it is quite impossible to fathom. The deserving will receive substantial and ready aid, the undeserving will be sent empty away. What a noble undertaking to do this, and much more! What a gracious task to clothe the naked and to feed the hungry, to minister in the name of "sweet charity" to dying wants, to comfort the widow and the fatherless, and all that are desolate under the chastening rod of bitter affliction. No wonder, therefore, that the ladies testified by their presence on Monday evening that they cordially sympathised in this noble movement. Passing, however, from this—with reluctance—for various reasons, we return to what occurred at Cannon-street Hotel. The executive of this noble fraternity are gentlemen who do things as they should be done, and not by halves. As a matter of course, in order to do what is required at their hands, there must be a vast amount of self abnegation, to which they cheerfully and readily submit. There is no looking back; on the contrary, "forward" is their watchword, and this will undoubtedly carry them through. The programme of the evening was the handiwork of Bro. Jas. Stevens V.W.G. Counsellor. Whether we regard its artistic merits, or the literary ability it exhibits, we must freely, but no less impartially, confess it is a masterpiece, and as such elicited the encomiums of all present. His is no 'prentice hand. Mr. Thos. Sangster, Grand Recorder, acted as Master of the Ceremonies, and that so ably as to put the possibility of a hitch out of the question. The City of London Rifle Corps acted as a body guard to the Lord Mayor, a flourish of trumpets, "both loud and long," heralding his arrival. The banquet was well served and unreservedly commended. During this repast a boar's head was brought in on the shoulders of stalwart men, and keepers from Epping Forest, preceded by sound of trumpet, and followed by choristers in procession, who vocalised "The Boar's Head" most pleasingly. This carol is annually sung at Queen's College, Oxford. The refrain was excellently-well sustained, namely—

Caput apri de fero,
Reddens laudes Domino.

On the removal of the cloth the usual loyal and patriotic toasts were given and pledged right heartily. Then followed the Army, Navy, and Reserve Forces, to which Major-General B. Milman, C.B., Constable of the Tower of London, responded. Frater Thomas Simpson, in an eloquently-forcible speech, proposed, The Corporation of the City of London, which compliment was acknowledged by Mr. Alderman and Sheriff De Keyser. The Lord Mayor next proposed, Ye Antiente Fraternitie of ye Rahere Almoners, in the course of which he made honourable mention of the Almoners, inasmuch as he personally knew that they had effected great good among those who would rather suffer privations than resort to parochial assistance. He warmly recommended the claims of the Almoners to all around him, and added that in that great, rich, and also poor city, no institution deserved more aid and sympathy than the one then before them. Although the good work they had in hand extended only over a very short period, evidence had been given that earnest men, and no less earnest women, had been engaged in the great work of doing good, and that without parade or ostentation. His Lordship then feelingly and gracefully alluded to Brother James Stevens and Mr. Sangster, and the efforts they had made in fostering and furthering the objects of the Fraternity, to whom all honour was due. The citizens of London, who had evinced heretofore an anxiety to do good, wherever and whenever appeals were made to them, would no doubt fill the coffers of the Almoners, so that every case that they deemed deserving would be relieved as fully as could be desired. His lordship coupled the name of Bro. James Stevens with the toast, which was pledged with acclamation. Bro. James Stevens, in an able speech, responded, and in a manner peculiar to himself, gave a succinct history of the Fraternity since its resuscitation in 1881. The idea had been taken taken up by a few individuals, and the funds at first amounted to shillings only; thanks, however, to his friend, Mr. Sangster, and others who had rallied round them, they had now money at command, and therefore were enabled to render assistance to many who were in indigent circumstances. It would be remembered that their first anniversary festival was celebrated at the Crystal Palace in August last year, at which he ventured to predict that the time was not far distant when the Lord Mayor would preside over their festivities. That prediction had been verified already, as they could perceive. The executive called for co-operation, so that their usefulness might be extended, and every appeal to them from their poorer brethren might not be made in vain. Those with whom he laboured found cases outside the domain of parochial aid, cases which involved much outlay, and extended over considerable periods of time. They did not intend to leave persons as they found them; on the contrary, they endeavoured to place them, after their poverty had been bridged over, in positions in life where they could earn an honest living, and start afresh in the world with a good courage. Several other toasts followed, in rapid succession. Bro. James Stevens proposed the press in eulogistic terms, which was responded to by Bro. J. J. Brinton, as the representative of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE. Bro. F. Toole acted as toastmaster, and the vocalisation of Messrs. E. Roberts, F. Paton, G. S. Graham, W. Sexton, Madame Worrell, Miss Florence Cater, Miss Maria Norton, together with the Minstrels, added much to the pleasures of the evening. Frater J. Lorring directed the musical arrangements. Bro. J. Stevens, when the guests were about departing bade, in the words of Scott—

"To all, to each, a fair good night,
And pleasing dreams and slumbers light."

In addition to what we have already stated, we ought to mention that the majority of those present were brethren. Thus proving that they do not narrow their sympathies exclusively to Masonic Institutions, but are "ready to do good unto all men" without stint, or letting their left hand know what their right hand doeth. So mote it be!

THE LATE BRO. JOHN FAWCETT.

R.W. Bro. John Fawcett Past Provincial Grand Master of Durham, died at half-past eight o'clock on Saturday night. Although the deceased gentleman had reached the advanced age of 83 years, he retained his faculties in a remarkable degree up to the very last. Indeed, so late as Wednesday he was one of the magistrates present on the bench at the Durham Quarter Sessions. He took his usual walk on Friday, but feeling unwell on Saturday, he remained in his room. On Saturday evening he had dinner served in his bedroom a little earlier than usual. On the butler going up about half-past eight o'clock, he found his master dying. Dr. Barron was sent for, but Bro. Fawcett was dead before the doctor arrived. He was born the 6th of May 1799, and was the eldest son of the late Rev. John Fawcett, by Mary Anne, daughter of the late Ralph Bates, of Melbourne, Northumberland. The deceased gentleman was educated at Balliol College, Oxford, and took his B.A. degree in 1821, and that of M.A. in 1824. He was a Justice of the Peace for the counties of Northumberland and Durham, and in 1817 he was High Sheriff of the county of Durham. He also had conferred upon him the honorary title of D.L. The deceased gentleman had the honour of being the oldest Provincial Grand Master in the United Kingdom. For more than half a century he has been prominently identified with the Masonic Craft. He was initiated into the mysteries at the Apollo Lodge, Oxford, on the 18th October 1820. On leaving Oxford he joined the Marquis of Granby Lodge (124) at Durham, of which he became Master in 1823, and he became Grand Master of the Northern Province on the 6th November 1847, a position he held until two years ago, when failing health compelled him to resign, and he was succeeded by the Marquis of Londonderry. On his resignation the members of the Craft presented Bro. Fawcett, as Provincial Grand Master and as Past Provincial Grand Superintendent of the Royal Arch Masons, with a beautifully illuminated address, "for the marked manner in which for upwards of 32 years his lengthened and able administration had advanced and adorned the Order, and for the calm and wise judgment and gentlemanly courtesy, untiring and able energy, and unvarying impartiality and firmness exhibited by him in the discharge of high and responsible office, and praying that the Great Architect of the Universe might during his remaining years see fit to grant him all peace and happiness." During the period in which he held the office of P.G.M. of the Northern Province, Bro. Fawcett had the distinguished honour of installing His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales as the Worshipful Master of a Craft Lodge, and he also assisted in the installation of the Prince of Wales as Grand Master of England, which took place in the Albert Hall on the 28th April 1875, being one of the largest and most brilliant assemblies of the Craft ever witnessed. The deceased gentleman took a warm interest in several of the public institutions in the city of Durham. Bro. Fawcett is claimed to be one of the oldest Freemasons. It is quite true that he was in that rank, but he was not the oldest Freemason. He was initiated, as already stated, in the Apollo (University) Lodge at Oxford on the 18th October 1820, at the age of twenty-one, and at the time of his death had been therefore sixty-three years a Mason. But Bro. Philip Chetham, of Stockport, Cheshire, was initiated in the Lodge of Peace, Stockport, on the 3rd of October 1811, more than nine years before Bro. Fawcett. There is now living a Bro. James Norris, a resident in the Masonic Benevolent Institution at Croydon, who was initiated in the Lodge of Sincerity, London, on 10th March 1812.

NEW FINSBURY PARK LODGE, No. 1695.

THE installation meeting of this rising Lodge was held on Tuesday the 17th inst., at the Holborn Viaduct Hotel. Present:—Bros. Davies W.M., Thompson S.W., Edmunds J.W., P.M. Eldridge Treasurer, Berry Secretary, Bastable S.D., Speller J.D, Tibbits I.G., Richmond jun. Steward, Very Tyler; also Bros. Booth, E. Cattermole, W. J. Cattermole, Ayden, Chatter, Earl, Frampton, Hawkes, Lewis, Lang, Perfect, Swinyard, Scott. The Visitors were:—Bros. Butt P.M. 907, Bond P.M. 141, Fenner P.M. 1227 and 1693, Follett P.M. 45, Meekham P.M. 1288, Mallord P.M. 1288, Oliver P.M. 1328, Pigot P.M. 753, Rowe P.M. 167, Forge W.M. 1950, Brown 350, Pierpoint 1828, Butt 1623, Matthews 1766, Baker 1471, Hoare 1765, Wilkinson 167, Barber 1314, Humphreys 167, Nunn 1531, Side 1507, Fowler 754. The Lodge being duly opened and the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed, Bro. Booth was passed to the second degree, and Bros. Lang and Lewin raised. The ceremony of installation was then most ably performed by Bro. Davies the retiring W.M., and Bro. Thompson was duly inducted into the chair of K.S. The following Officers were appointed by the W.M.:—Bros. Edmunds S.W., Bastable J.W., Eldridge P.M. Treasurer, Frampton Secretary, Speller S.D., Tibbitts J.D., Richmond jun. I.G., Earl Steward. All business being ended the brethren adjourned to a recherché banquet, provided in the well-known style of Spiers and Pond. A most enjoyable evening was passed, the proceedings being enlivened by the vocal abilities of several of the brethren.

Montefiore Lodge, 1017.—This excellent working Lodge, which is named after that noble philanthropist Bro. Sir Moses Montefiore, who on the 22nd inst. completed his ninety-eighth birthday, met on the 25th inst., at the Masonic Rooms, Air-street, Regent-street, under the presidency of the W.M. Bro. S. V. Abrahams; Bros. P.M. Marks as S.W., Syer J.W., L. Jacobs Treas., E. P. Albert P.G.P. Secretary, G. T. Mann S.D., Benjamin J.D., M. Leverton I.G., N. P. Vallentine Steward, D. M. Davis Organist, Gulliford P.M. M.C.; P.M.'s Grunebaum, J. Lazarus, Chev. Pollitzer, A. Binmenthal, and a numerous attendance of members and Visitors. Amongst the latter being Bros. S. Marks W.M. 368, Coleman J.W. 1614, J. B. Kyshe P.M. 235, E. Cleaver (Granite), G. Chiness, Flynn 30, S. M. Lazarus P.P.G.W. Wilts, Ellis Jones 28, S. Genese 188, H. M. Levy P.M. 188. The Lodge was opened, and minutes were confirmed. Bros. Paul Levy Chancer Lodge, and E. Saunderson P.M. 153, were unanimously elected joining members. Bro. John Nathan was passed to the second degree, and Messrs. J. Sax and Percy Harbury, being duly balloted for and unanimously elected, were duly initiated into the Order by Bro. W. H. Gulliford Past Master, who, by the courtesy of the Worshipful Master, was permitted to preside. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren sat down to a very excellent banquet and dessert, provided by Brother Nicols, and superintended by Brother M. Silver. The W.M. proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. In speaking of the Grand Officers, he made some feeling remarks on the late lamented Lord Tenterden, Prov. Grand Master Essex; all Masons in that county regretted his loss. With the toast he would couple the name of Brother E. P. Albert P.G.P. After the toast had been acknowledged by Bro. Albert, the W.M. said he had great pleasure in proposing the health of one, in honouring whom he might say they were honouring themselves; Bro. Sir Moses Montefiore; whose honoured name is associated with the good work of the Lodge. All wish him continued health. He would call on Bro. Myers to respond. Bro. Myers said he had had the honour and pleasure of seeing Sir Moses a few days since; he was pleased to say he was in good health and spirits. He would convey to him the kind expressions of the W.M. and the members of the Lodge. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Initiates and the joining members, Bros. Levy and Samuelson; all were pleased to see them in the Lodge. Bros. Harbury and Samuelson responded. The toast of the Visitors was next given. The members were gratified in seeing how ably Bro. Marks had acquitted himself in the capacity of Senior Warden. Bro. Marks in an eloquent speech replied; he came from Melbourne, and was pleased to see how well the two brethren had occupied the chair—the W.M. and the P.M. He might tell them Freemasonry was flourishing in Melbourne. In the name of the visitors he thanked them for their hospitality. Brother S. Pollitzer Past Master had great pleasure in proposing the toast of the W.M. After so long an absence he looked younger; while his working showed that he was as zealous as when he last presided over them. The W.M. in replying said, he felt complimented by the remarks made by Brother Pollitzer; it was by mere accident he now occupied the chair; he hoped he had done so to their satisfaction. The toast of the P.M.'s was next on the list. They are all good working brethren, and the W.M. might say volumes in their praise. The Lodge was specially indebted to Brother Gulliford, who had come among them that night and initiated their two brethren most ably. He (the W.M.) hoped to see them occupying the chair. He would couple with this toast the Health of Brother Gulliford. Brother Gulliford having acknowledged the compliment, the Officers received their share of praise. The S.W. had occupied the chair for the second time, and the W.M. hoped to see him in a higher position. Brother Mann also does his work perfectly. In fact all the Officers may be looked upon as Masters in embryo. To Bro. Vallentine especial thanks are due, as no matter what duty is required of him, he is ever ready and capable of performing it. He would call on Bros. Syer S. Warden and Vallentine M.C. This request being complied with, the Tyler's toast was given, and the proceedings terminated.

RECENT CONCERTS.

Jupiter Pluvius has been too terribly in earnest during the past fortnight, even for those most enthusiastic in the cause of music. Moreover, the regular duties of business must always take precedence of what we must define as "pleasurable duties." Saturday last, for instance, was a day on which the element of water—in the shape of rain—especially distinguished itself, but we manfully braved the whole force of this element and turned up incontinently at South-place Institute, South-place, Moorgate-street. Bro. Seymour Smith, who has so often enlivened Masonic audiences by his varied entertainments, had arranged to hold his annual concert, and where—on his account we rejoice—a strong Masonic representative audience had assembled for the purpose of paying this tribute of respect to the worthy beneficiary. A most admirable programme had been prepared, in which many well-known artistes took part, and the result must be described as a success in all respects worthy of Bro. Seymour Smith's claims to recognition by the Craft.

Thursday was fixed for the seventeenth annual concert of Bro. G. S. Graham, with whom likewise the Craft is familiar as a contributor on many occasions to the more convivial pleasures of Lodge and occasional gatherings. He, too, had an admirable programme, and a strong artistic force to support him, and, as in the case just noted, a triumph worthy of the occasion and of the beneficiary was achieved. Weather notwithstanding, Bro. Graham had reason to be satisfied with the loyalty of his friends and patrons.

Richardson for the increase of the salaries of governesses and teachers, as recommended by the House Committee, after which a series of motions by the same brother, as to the salary of Miss Gardener, a teacher, grants to the Misses Goodridge and Hinson, pupils, to enable them to pursue further their musical studies, and to enable the Chairman of the General Committee to sign cheques in respect of the swimming bath during its erection, were passed unanimously. A proposal by the Chairman to invest sums amounting to £1,350 in augmentation of the Sustentation Fund was also carried, and the Committee then rose, after the usual complimentary vote to Colonel Creaton for presiding.

The Committee now submit the same for consideration of Grand Chapter, and have called on the Chapter, in accordance with the said Article of the Regulations, to show cause, to next Grand Chapter, why it should not be erased from the list of Chapters.

ENTERTAINMENT BY THE LORD MAYOR.

THE Lord Mayor, on Friday evening, the 20th ult., entertained at the Mansion House the Grand Officers and the Officers and many of the members of the Grand Master's Lodge, of which his Lordship is the present Worshipful Master. Upwards of 150 guests were present, including Bros. Lord Carrington, Sir John Monckton, Sir Francis Burdett, Sir George Elliot, M.P., General the Hon. Somerset Calthorpe, Sir Francis Truscott, Colonel Stevenson, Sir Albert Woods, Æ. McIntyre, M.P., Colonel Shadwell Clerke, Justice Prinsep, Lieut. Colonel Lyne, H. D. Sandeman, Alderman Hadley, W. Lake, Colonel Creaton, Rev. T. Robinson, W. G. Harrison, Q.C, Philbrick, Q.C., Sir John Bennett, the Rev. A. W. Hall, Dr. Wendt, W. Bristowe, Major Fernier, H. G. Buss, and Littell. The Lord Mayor proposed, amidst great enthusiasm, The Queen and the Craft, The Health of the Prince of Wales, as Grand Master, and the other principal Grand Officers, remarking, in giving the former, that the way in which her Majesty was pleased to receive the address of congratulation voted by Grand Lodge upon her escape from assassination would never be forgotten by those brethren who were privileged to be present. In giving the toast The Provincial and District Grand Officers, the Lord Mayor remarked upon the very heavy duties that those gentlemen performed. Their duties, too, were of a very responsible character, and they were discharged in a manner that gave the greatest satisfaction to the Craft generally. It was with the greatest possible regret that they heard of the death of Lord Tenterden, Provincial Grand Master of Essex. All who had had the opportunity of seeing him recognised the fact that he was a true and hearty Mason: They deeply regretted his loss—a loss which was felt by the country at large. Sir Francis Burdett, replying, remarked that they had present the Past Grand Master of Canada, who ruled over a district 400 miles in extent, and the District Grand Master of Bengal, whose power extended over 1200 miles of country. Before such brethren the Provincial Grand Masters of England must feel themselves very small indeed; but, nevertheless, they successfully rallied around the brethren. The Lord Mayor next gave The Sister Grand Lodges, observing upon the great pleasure he experienced in having present such important Officers as the Past Grand Master of Canada and the District Grand Master of Bengal. As they were all aware, the great principles of Freemasonry were brotherly love and loyalty to the State to which each Mason belonged. And, in his opinion, very much of the loyalty which happily they found existing in this country and throughout our Dependencies was due to Craft Masonry. It was with extreme pleasure, therefore, that they found that at this moment the number of Freemasons was greater than it had ever been at any period in the past. Canada was a country not only large in extent, but it possessed great and free institutions, and it was with extreme pleasure that, notwithstanding evil elements, they found it still loyal to the Mother Country. As in England, so in Canada, he believed that very much of the loyalty was due to Freemasonry. He referred in humorous terms to the fact that Colonel Stevenson, Past Grand Master of Canada, was an Alderman of the City of Montreal, where they had 27 Aldermen and no Common Councilmen. Colonel Stevenson had also the proud honour of firing the salute when their Grand Master the Prince of Wales visited Canada. Colonel Stevenson in responding, referred to the universality of the Craft, stating that it was really the most important body, and had more influence on the government of the world than perhaps many of the so-called Governments really had. It was based on goodwill towards all men, and he was proud to say that there were no material differences existing between any of the Grand Lodges, and certainly none which should separate the Grand Lodges of Canada. They were striving to build up that territory on the same principles as governed that of Great Britain, and were determined to demonstrate, without question or cavil, that even by the side of one of the greatest Republics the world had ever seen, how a people could enjoy as much civil and religious liberty under a limited Monarchy as existed in a great Republic itself. At present the government of Canada cost Great Britain not a single sixpence; but they were pleased to enjoy the great privilege and satisfaction of having at their head a nobleman, the Marquis of Lorne, and the Princess Louise. At the same time, Canada enjoyed the protection of the British army, and if Great Britain continued as true to Canada as Canada was true to Great Britain, Great Britain would find on the shores of America a nation which would be a source of strength to the British Empire. The Lord Mayor proposed the health of the Grand Officers, and Lord Carrington Grand Senior Warden responded to the toast. He said that for the last few years it had been customary that the office of Senior Grand Warden should be held by a member of the House of Peers. He was happy to say that, though a member of that House, he was a descendant of a member of a great banking house not a hundred yards distant, and was proud to be a citizen of the great City of London. The Lord Mayor next proposed the toast of the Grand Master's Lodge, No. 1, and coupled with it the name of Bro. Richard Hervo Girand, the Treasurer of the Lodge for more than fifty years. The Hon. Bro. Justice Prinsep, District Grand Master of Bengal, proposed the health of the Lord Mayor. As an eminent example of the saying that nothing succeeded like success, he adduced the case of the honourable host of the evening. Whether in private life, in his Civic Office, as a Brother Mason, or as an Englishman, he had been equally successful, and in all these offices he was recognised as a thorough Englishman. The appreciative audience before him were fully acquainted with, and fully recognised the high qualities which had enabled the Lord Mayor to fill his various offices, to which he had risen by sheer ability; and Her Majesty had been glad to recognise that ability by conferring upon him an hereditary honour. They all hoped that future descendants of his would recollect that the year in which the honour was conferred on the Lord Mayor was the year in which he held high office in Grand Lodge. Although not Masonic, he coupled with the toast, the health of the Lady Mayoress. The Lord Mayor, in reply, referring to Burn's lines:—

"Oh! wad some power the giftie gie us, said he wished he could see himself in the same colours as those in which he had been depicted by others, and he should be the happiest man alive. But even when a Chief Justice proposed his health in such glowing terms, he was not so foolish as to believe anything he said. His case was a very simple and plain one—in fact, nothing could be better than a letter which he received from Lord Derby when he (the Lord Mayor) was made a baronet, in which his Lordship said that the baronetcy was the reward of labour. He (the Lord Mayor) believed that was a true statement at least, and that he deserved no decoration for anything he had done in this world except for labour. He would, as long as health and strength lasted, go on labouring in several interests, among which would be the interest of Freemasonry, and the interests of his country and the City of London. After thanking Mr. Justice Prinsep for including the Lady Mayoress in the toast, his Lordship said that no entertainment given by him in that Hall had afforded him greater pleasure than entertaining his Masonic brethren that evening. The company shortly afterwards separated. During the dinner, the Coldstream Guards Band, conducted by Bro. C. Thomas, played a charming selection of music, and between the toasts Bros. Winn, Coates, and Seymour Smith sang several songs, accompanied by Bro. Fountain Meen.
To see oursels as ithers see us,"

PRINCE EDWARD OF SAXE-WEIMAR LODGE, No. 1903.

PRESENTATION TO LORD CHARLES BERESFORD.

A SPECIAL meeting of this Lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Highbury-street, Portsmouth, on Tuesday afternoon, for the purpose of presenting an address of congratulation and welcome to Captain Lord Charles Beresford, R.N., the Immediate Past Master of the Lodge, on his return to this country from Egypt. Brother Thomas Page W.M. presided, and was supported by a large number of members of the Craft, including the following:—Sir H. Keppel, G.C.B., Admiral of the Fleet, Lord Charles Beresford I.P.M., J. D Wolf, M.P., the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, the Provincial Grand Secretary, Lord Carrington Grand Senior Warden of England, Colonel Hay Gordon Highlanders, Colonel Shadwell Clerke Grand Secretary, Captain Haldane, Fredk. Binckes, &c. The business of the Lodge was admirably conducted by the Worshipful Master, who, on its conclusion, said that before closing the Lodge he had the most pleasing duty to perform that would fall to his lot during his year of office, namely, that of presenting to Brother Past Master the Right Honourable Lord Charles Beresford an address of congratulation on his success and gallant conduct at the bombardment of Alexandria, when in command of Her Majesty's ship Condor. The founders of the Lodge were fully aware that when his lordship gave consent to be the first Worshipful Master, he informed them that there existed a probability that his services would be required before his year of office had expired. Unfortunately for the Lodge those services were required, he having been appointed to take command of H.M.S. Condor. The war in Egypt afforded the opportunity for displaying that energy, zeal, and true British pluck which was characteristic of the noble family whose name his lordship bore, and that he had shown himself possessed of all those qualities was universally admitted. From the time the signal was made, "Well done, Condor," to the termination of his Lordship's services in Egypt, whether afloat or on shore, his career was most anxiously watched, but by none more anxiously than the brethren of the Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar Lodge. At the regular meeting, held in August, a proposition was made, seconded, and carried unanimously, that an address of congratulation should be presented on his Lordship's return, and the Worshipful Master felt sure it would be highly prized by his lordship, conveying as it did the brethren's high appreciation of those services so gallantly and cheerfully rendered to their beloved Queen and country. They congratulated his lordship most heartily on his promotion, and prayed that the Great Architect of the Universe might grant him long life, which he (the W.M.) felt sure would be devoted to the service of his country, and last, but not least, to the benefit and welfare of the Craft. The Secretary then read the following address, which was most handsomely illuminated by Mr. J. Robertson, Commercial-road, Landport, and framed in a neat oak and gold frame:—

MY LORD AND BROTHER,—We, the members of the Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar Lodge, No. 1903, desire to tender your lordship our warm and hearty congratulations upon your safe return to England, after having, in the discharge of your duty to your Queen and country, been exposed to many perils both by sea and land.

We have read with pride and gratification the accounts of your gallant deeds before the enemy, and of the valuable services which you have rendered to your country. You have worthily maintained the traditions of the distinguished family of which you are a member, and have helped to shed additional lustre upon the noble profession to which you belong.

It is to us, the members of the Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar Lodge, a source of the greatest pleasure that our first Worshipful Master, who was also one of the founders of the Lodge, and who has always evinced the warmest interest in its prosperity, has by his special promotion already obtained some recognition of his valour.

We trust that your valuable life may be spared for many years, to be an ornament to the gallant service of which you are a member, and to render valuable service to Freemasonry in general.

We have the honour to be,

My Lord and Brother,

Yours respectfully and fraternally,

T. Page W.M., H. W. Townsend acting I.P.M., G. Bray S.W., J. Martyr J.W., P. H. Good Chaplain, H. Threadingham Treasurer, A. L. Emanuel Secretary, W. Latham Cox S.D., J. McLeod J.D., H. M. E. Brunker M.C., J. Johns Asst. M.C., H. Long I.G., Sam Knight and G. Backler Stewards.

Lord C. Beresford said he could assure them he meant what he said when he told them he did not know how to express himself adequately in thanking them for their magnificent address. When he at first heard of their intention he did so with regret, for the reason that he did not deserve it. During his year of office circumstances had prevented him from doing his duty as he should have wished. His next feeling was one of great pride—not for anything he had done himself, but it was in some measure a tribute to that profession to which he belonged. There was an old-fashioned expression, that you might take a horse to the water, but could not make him drink. The best officer might take a ship into action, but that was of no use, unless the men were careful with their shots, and plucky at their guns. And but for the men they would not have done what they did. Therefore he thought the honour they had done him that night was indirectly conferred on the men he had commanded. His Lordship paid a high compliment to the Marines who had assisted him in the police ashore. He wished to thank those Officers of the Lodge who had taken his duty in his absence, and more particularly Bro. Townsend, who had undertaken the work in a critical time, as the first year was always the most difficult. The Lodge now stood second to none in the kingdom, and that proved how well the duty had been carried out. He assured them that this address would be stored with his treasures at home, and it would remind him of the brotherly affection they had shown him on every occasion. Lord C. Beresford moved that an address of congratulation be presented by the Lodge to H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, on his return from Egypt, and this will be considered at the next Lodge meeting. A banquet was served after the Lodge meeting, in the dining-room of the hall. Bro. T. Page W.M. presided, and was supported by Lord Charles Beresford, Admiral of the Fleet Sir H. Keppel, and several Provincial Officers and Installed Masters. The catering was entrusted to Mr. W. Maybour, of Butcher-street, Portsea, whose arrangements were very satisfactory. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were honoured, Brother H. W. Townsend Provincial G. Deacon, replying for the toast of the Provincial Officers. The W.M. said that the next toast he had the pleasure of bringing to the notice of the brethren was one that he felt sure would be drunk with great enthusiasm. When he mentioned the name of their distinguished brother the Immediate Past Master, Lord Charles Beresford, it was quite sufficent to ensure a hearty response. No words of his could increase their estimation of his deeds, which had gained world-wide fame and further honoured the illustrious name he bore. He (the W. Master) felt sure the Masonic body had reason to be proud of having such a brother amongst them. It was matter of indifference to his lordship whether it was on sea or land, as long as he could face the enemy, and his conduct before Alexandria not only commended his name to the heart of every Englishman, but made "all the world wonder." They were reminded of a well-known poem, and when they asked, "Was there a man dismayed?" they could say there was not one on board of that little Condor. England need not fear for her prestige while she had such gallant leaders as Bro. Lord Charles Beresford. The W.M. concluded by asking the brethren to drink heartily to the toast, and pray that his lordship might be spared for many, many years to be amongst them. Lord C. Beresford thanked the W.M. for the flattering terms in which he had proposed the toast, and the brethren for their kind and enthusiastic reception. The Navy as a service had very few opportunities of appreciating the better part of war. It made it worth while fighting when their fellow countrymen turned out to welcome them home and cheer them as they marched in. The Navy did not get any of that; after the war was over they were ordered off to their ships, except those who were unlucky enough to get promoted and sent home. After a campaign Jack and his dear old friend Joe—as they called the Marines—went off to their ship, but they knew that the people at home thought just as much of them, although they did not come home. He was sure the reception they had given him was as the representative of the "good old trade," and that they were thinking of the good fellows out there. He then spoke of the gallantry with which the Egyptians fought at the bombardment of Alexandria, and as evidence of the pluck of our men, he mentioned that the poor boy whose foot was shot off hopped on one leg to the sick bay, and, holding up his foot, said, "Look what Arabi's done to me." It was the same in the sister service, for he was told of the Highlanders at Tel-el-kebir that men in their death struggle told the others to go on and leave them to take care of themselves. After the bombardment the men went ashore, and amongst other duties they had to guard the Ras-el-Tin Palace. To shew the judgment and discretion with which they did their work, the first man they arrested on suspicion was a judge. That was very creditable on the part of the men who arrested him. Amongst their other duties was the landing of the mules and horses. He saw one petty officer violently kicked on the stomach, and when he was able to speak, he said, "I hope the animal will treat Arabi in the same way." He spoke of the work at Ismailia, and described Captain Fisher's ironclad train, of which he said each truck was made a ship in commission, with mast and pennant. With regard to Admiral Hoskins' work in the Suez Canal, he thought the admiral had not received half enough credit for it. With regard to their dear old Commander-in-Chief Sir B. Seymour, he certainly did get the credit he deserved; the way in which he organised the ships and put them into action was extraordinary. He was proud of the manner in which the blue jackets marched past at Cairo, seeing they came from different ships, and the Marines were second to none. He referred to the irksome nature of the police work ashore, and to the splendid way in which all the men worked. He described in a most humorous way a dangerous escapade of a stout marine serjeant—a gallant old fellow, who had gone too far to the front in one of the reconnaisances from Fort Meks. He was pursued by about thirty of Arabi's cavalry, and they saw the dear old fellow footing it like a hare, and whenever he got a cartridge in his rifle turning round to fire. Fortunately, with a little gun they had posted, they were enabled to scare the cavalry, and save the "fat old sergeant." The Marines had acted most gallantly on 5th August, and their steady retreat under fire was the most beautiful thing ever seen. Having referred to Sir Garnet's plan of attack, which he designated as splendid, and the plucky charge of the Household Cavalry, his lordship said there were many lessons to be learned from the war, and one was, that the transport and medical departments both required looking into; and another, was the value of machine guns, of which he gave some interesting instances. Before he sat down, he wished to propose a toast—that grand old corps, which, whether on sea or shore, or as his countrymen would put it, "where the divil ever they are," would always do well—the Royal Marines. He hoped this campaign would remove from the minds of every one, whether in or out of office, any idea of proposing to do away with the Marines. He coupled with the toast the name of Colour Sergeant Holdstock, who had been mentioned in dispatches for distinguished service on 5th August. Colour-Sergeant Holdstock, who was loudly cheered, in responding, expressed his willingness to follow his lordship anywhere. He described several incidents in the war, in which he and his comrade Sergeant Young had taken part. Several other toasts followed.—Portsmouth Times.

Hook the I.P.M. and first Master of the Lodge, now the esteemed Secretary, presented a very handsome bound Photographic Album with gilt plate, engraved with the name of the Lodge, &c. The W.M. received it on behalf of the Lodge with much pleasure, and a hearty vote of thanks was recorded to Bro. Hook for his handsome present. After the business was over and the Lodge closed, some thirty to forty brethren and visitors sat down to a banquet provided by the W.M., and a very enjoyable evening was passed. Brothers Mussared, Eagle, Bellis, and Allison contributed to the evening by their excellent singing. The usual toasts were given and responded to, the Tyler's bringing the proceedings to a close.

Bro. J. L. Graydon announces his annual benefit, at the Middlesex Music Hall, Drury-lane, on 1st of November, on which occasion several well-known music hall stars have promised their attendance. There will be new scenery, and the usual floral display.

ST. JOHN'S LODGE, No. 795.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge was held on the 18th inst., at the Ray Mead Hotel, Maidenhead. The members assembled at the Great Western Railway Station, Paddington, where a saloon carriage had been specially provided for the accommodation of the brethren. On their arrival at Maidenhead, Lodge was opened by Bros. W. Stollard Worshipful Master, T. B. Linscott Worshipful Master 55 Senior Warden, A. L. Jefferies, Junior Warden, Captain Finch P.M. Treasurer, H. H. Hodges P.M. P.P.G.S.W. Berks and Bucks Secretary, J. Innes S.D., J. Greenfield J.D., E. W. Allen 173 I.G. The minutes of last meeting having been read and confirmed, a Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. A. L. Jefferies J.W. and W.M. elect, was presented to the Lodge and duly installed into the chair by Bro. Allen P.M. 173, who gave a most perfect delivery of the ceremony. The W.M. having been saluted according to ancient custom, appointed and invested his Officers:—W. Stollard I.P.M., T. B. Linscott W.M. 55 S.W., J. Innes J.W., Capt. Finch P.M. 173 Treasurer, H. H. Hodges P.M. Secretary, J. Greenfield S.D., W. Allen P.M. J.D., F. Foxley P.M. 173 I.G., Nowell Tyler. An excellent banquet was provided by the worthy host, Bro. Deacon. The W.M., who ably and genially presided, proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. In speaking to the toast of the R.W. Sir Daniel Cooch R.W. Prov. G.M. Berks and Bucks, the W.M. said how pleased he was to propose the toast. Sir Daniel was one for whom every Mason in the Province entertained the highest regard and esteem. Bro. H. H. Hodges P.P.G.S.W. ably responded, and then proposed the health of the W.M., who, personally, he had known for many years; and he was sure from what they had seen of Bro. Jefferies' qualifications, he would be one who would study their interest, and the Lodge under his direction would prosper. The Worshipful Master, in reply, said his future actions would shew the brethren that to the best of his ability he would discharge the duties required of him in his present important position. In proposing the toast of the P.M.'s, the W.M. spoke of their qualifications, and took the opportunity of presenting the I.P.M., Bro. Stollard, with a jewel voted by the Lodge. He hoped he might wear it for many years. (The jewel is of solid gold, set with a pearl and diamond. It is of very elegant and chaste design.) Bro. Stollard, in brief and appropriate terms, returned thanks for the valuable gift. The W.M., in proposing the toast of the Installing Master, Bro. Allen P.M. 173, paid him a just compliment for the excellent manner in which the ceremony had been performed. Bro. Allen, in reply, thanked the W.M. He was pleased that his services had given them satisfaction. Anything it was in his power to do for the welfare of the Lodge would be at the[ir] disposal. The toasts of Treasurer and Secretary, Wardens and Officers, and that of the Tyler, concluded a very agreeable and harmonious meeting.

The Hackney Hansard.—Commercial enterprise has added to the stock of periodical literature a record of the sayings and doings of the Parliamentary Debating Society of Hackney in the form of the House of Commons' Hansard. Two numbers have already appeared, and it is pleasant to know that the circulation of the work has secured a deservedly remunerative return to the professional shorthand writers who are at the expense of producing it. The work is certainly well got up, and exhibits great care in the reporting and editing. Although the publication, which is a weekly one, is mostly on sale in Hackney, it may also be obtained at the offices of the Proprietors, Messrs. Walpole and Bottomley, Shorthand Writers, 90 Chancery-lane, W.C. Other local Parliaments are also about to have their Hansard.

We have great pleasure in bearing our testimony to the beauty of the new Valse, entitled "Pense à Moi," by Bro. Edward Crosse, Lodge No. 1298, of 4 Argyle-place. It is described as the "Valse of the Season," but we shall content ourselves with saying that it is very tuneful and inspiriting, and will be highly favoured by all votaries of Terpsichore. We can also commend Bro. Crosse to our readers as one who provides most efficient bands for balls, banquets, and private parties, and we trust he will receive from the Craft a large measure of support, such as he is worthy of receiving.

THE EMPIRE LAMP.

(Rippingille's Patent.)

THE MOST BRILLIANT AND ECONOMICAL DOMESTIC LIGHT EXTANT.

It equals Gas for Simplicity, but surpasses it in Illuminating Power.

IT burns without a chimney, a pine-shaped globe only being required, which has never been known to break from the heat of the flame. It will give more light than any other lamp with a wick of equal size. The combustion is so perfect that it deodorises the oil, and burns absolutely without smell, giving an intense pure white and beautiful light. It is unrivalled for simplicity in lighting, cleaning, and trimming, and is, in fact, the perfection of artificial light. Suitable for Cottage or Mansion, Churches, Chapels, &c.

THE REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS.

NOTHING is said as to the powers and duties of Grand Deacons, Grand Sword Bearer, and Grand Standard Bearers. No objection can be taken to the omission of the paragraphs concerning the penalties for non-attendance to which the first two are liable under the existing law; but why omit the proviso that, to be eligible for the office of Grand Deacon, a brother "must have regularly served the office of warden of a private lodge?" As a matter of fact, those appointed to the Grand Deaconships have invariably, though not necessarily, passed the chair, but under the proposed law, and in the absence of anything laid down to the contrary, a M.M. is eligible as a Grand Deacon. Here, and without apparent reason is an extension of the sphere of selection for this office, which extension is not noticeable, because nothing is said upon the subject. Again, under the existing law provision is made for the absence of the Grand Deacons—"if the grand deacons be absent, the grand master may appoint the master of any lodge to officiate pro tempore." There is some inconsistency in requiring a substitute to be of higher rank in the Craft than may be the officer for whom he is acting. On this ground we think the omission of any such or similar provision is an act of prudence. As to the G. Standard Bearers, no mention is made of them. In the existing edition is the following: "grand standard bearers may be appointed by the grand master as occasion shall require. They must be master masons, and are to carry the standards of grand lodge, grand patron, and grand master, on all grand ceremonies. They are not, however, by their appointment, members of the grand lodge, nor are they to wear the clothing of a grand officer." And there is this paragraph likewise: "Any grand officer, entitled to have a standard, may, whenever it shall be necessary, appoint a standard bearer, who must be a master mason." Last week we were inclined to consider the omission from Rule 6—"Rank and precedence of members" of Grand Lodge—of the Grand Standard Bearers and Deputy Grand Director of Ceremonies as accidental, especially as they were included in the list of the Grand Officers to be appointed by the Grand Master at his installation—Rule 18. We are not disposed to alter this opinion, having in mind the grounds on which the recent increase in the number of Grand Officers was made to rest. It is obvious, however, that some insertions in respect of these are necessary in order to make the law clear beyond the possibility of question.

Rules 36, 37, and 38, severally concerning the Grand Superintendent of Works, the Grand Director of Ceremonies, and the Grand Pursuivant, are substantially the same as in the existing Book. No. 39 concerns the Grand Tyler, and is the same as Art. 2, p 41, except that the words "or post," are inserted, thus giving him the option of delivering or posting all summonses to Grand Lodge, &c. Art. 1, and Art. 3, p 41, the former defining his status and the manner of his appointment, and the latter describing the penalties he is liable to in certain flagrant derelictions of duty, have no place in the proposed code. Nos. 40-49 affect the Grand Stewards, and on comparison with Arts. 1-11, "Of Stewards," pp 42-44, will be found to all intents and purposes the same, Art. 8, p 43, as to his liability to fine for non-attendance, being omitted. The Rules, however, are re-arranged, and, we think, with advantage.

Rules 50-60 concern the "Business of Grand Lodge," and their counterpart in the existing code will, in the main, be found at its pp 20-22. It will be as well, perhaps, if we reproduce them side by side.

| REVISED EDITION. | PRESENT EDITION. |

| "50. All business to be brought under the consideration of the grand lodge must be previously communicated to a general committee, consisting of the present and past grand officers, and the master of every regular lodge, which shall meet on the fourteenth day immediately preceding each quarterly communication." | "8. It being essential to the interests of the craft that all matters of business to be brought under the consideration of the grand lodge should be previously known to the grand officers and masters of lodges, that, through them all the representatives of lodges may be apprised of such business, and be prepared to decide thereon, without being taken by surprise, a general committee, consisting of the present and past grand officers, and the master of every regular lodge, shall meet on the Wednesday fortnight immediately preceding each quarterly communication." . . . . |
| "51. If the master of any lodge cannot attend the general committee, the immediate past master may supply his place; should that brother be unable to attend, some other past master of such lodge may act for him, but in every case the past master must be a subscribing member of that Lodge." | "9. The general committee, when assembled, shall be governed by the laws enacted for preserving order in the grand lodge during the time of business. If the master of any lodge cannot attend, the immediate past master may supply his place; should that brother be unable to attend, some other past master of such lodge may act for him, but in every case the past master must be a subscribing member of that lodge." |
| "52. At this meeting all reports and representations from the grand master, or the board of general purposes, or any board or committee appointed by the grand lodge, shall be read; and any member of the grand lodge intending to make motion therein, or to submit any matter to its consideration shall, at such general committee, state, in writing, the nature of such intended motion or matter, that notice thereof may be printed on the paper of business." | 8. . . . . "at which meeting all reports or representations from the most worshipful grand master, or the board of general purposes, or any board or committee appointed by the grand lodge, shall be read; and any member of the grand lodge intending to make motion therein, and to submit any matter to its consideration, shall, at such general committee, state, in writing, the nature of his intended motion or business, that the same may be read." |
| "53. No motion, or other matter, shall be brought into discussion in the grand lodge, unless it shall have been previously communicated to the general committee, but it shall be competent for any member of the grand lodge to move, without previous notice being given, the adoption or otherwise of any report or recommendation contained in such | 8. . . . . "54. The chairman of the general committee shall direct that any notice of motion which, in his judgment, is not within the cognizance of the grand lodge, shall be omitted from the list of business to be brought before the grand lodge, and in such case, he is specially to report the same, with a copy of the notice, to the grand master; the member who gave notice of the motion shall also be informed thereof before the meeting of the grand lodge."

[N.B.—No such law as that proposed is in the existing code.]

"55. All nominations for boards or committees must be given to the general committee in writing, signed by a member of the grand lodge, and stating the masonic rank of every proposed candidate, and whether a master or a past master at the time of his nomination, together with the name and number of his Lodge, and in the case of a master adding also the date of his installation."

8 . . . "No nomination for any board or Committee shall be received, unless it be in writing, signed by a member of grand lodge: the masonic rank of every proposed candidate, with the name and number of his lodge, must be stated."

"56. Notices of motion shall be set down for consideration in the order in which they were given, and, if renewed at the general committee, shall stand on the paper of business in precedence of all subsequent notices, and shall, so long as renewed, maintain such precedence until they have been considered by grand lodge, or otherwise disposed of."

8 . . . "Notices of motion once given shall stand on the paper of business in their order of precedency, if renewed at the general committee, until they have been considered by grand lodge, or otherwise disposed of."

"57. The printed report of the proceedings of the last grand lodge and a printed copy of the notices of motion for the ensuing grand lodge, with the names of all candidates nominated for any board or committee, shall be sent to all grand officers and masters of lodges in England and to the members of the Board of General Purposes and the Colonial Board at least ten days before each quarterly communication."

11 (p 22). "In order that all lodges may be duly informed of the business to come before grand lodge, the printed report of the proceedings of the last grand lodge, and a printed copy of the notices of motion for the ensuing grand lodge, shall be sent to all lodges in England at least ten days before each quarterly communication."

"58. All members of the grand lodge may have such papers of business and notices of special grand lodge meetings, together with all reports of the quarterly communications forwarded to them by post on registering their addresses and paying a fee of five shillings per annum in advance."

11 . . . "All brethren, being members of grand lodge, may have such papers of business and notices of special grand lodge meetings, together with all reports of the quarterly communications forwarded to them by post on registering their addresses and paying a fee of five shillings per annum in advance."

"59. A paper of the business to be transacted in the grand lodge shall be placed in the hands of each member on his entrance into the hall."

11 . . . "A paper of the business to be transacted in grand lodge shall be placed in the hands of each member on his entrance into the hall."

"60. At the general committee, six masters or past masters of lodges shall be nominated, who shall attend, within the porch of the grand lodge, at the subsequent quarterly communication, for the purpose of assisting the grand pursuivant in the discharge of his duties (38). In addition to the six brethren so nominated, four grand stewards of the year shall also be summoned to attend for the same purpose in rotation, according to the numbers of the lodges which they represent. The grand master shall nominate six brethren to attend in the porch of the grand lodge, for the purpose of assisting the grand pursuivant on the day of the grand festival, and also on any special meeting of the grand lodge."

10 (21). "At such committee, three masters or past masters of lodges shall be nominated who shall attend, within the porch of the grand lodge, at the subsequent quarterly communication, for the purpose of guarding, under the superintendence of the grand pursuivant, against the admission of any but those who are qualified, have their proper clothing and jewels, have signed their names to the accustomed papers, and are in all respects entitled to admission. The three brethren so nominated shall be assisted by three grand stewards of the year, who shall be summoned to attend for that purpose in rotation, according to the numbers of the lodges which they represent. For the like purpose the grand master shall nominate six brethren to attend in the porch of the grand lodge, on the day of the grand festival, and also on any special meeting of the grand lodge."

As regards this group of Rules as proposed, we may state generally, that the arrangement shows a great improvement, while the omission of the preamble to Art. 8, p 20, which, for the sake of perspicuity, we have given in italics, is unobjectionable. Proposed Rule 50 needs verbal alteration. Many may think us hypercritical, when we question the correctness of a "which" or similar apparently unimportant word. But it is impossible to be too exact in the wording of laws and regulations, and this rule, though we all know its intent and meaning, is liable to misconstruction. Thus the word "which" at the beginning of the last clause is intended to refer to the "general committee," but, grammatically, its proper antecedent is "lodge." The chance of such a misconstruction may be done away with by wording the Rule thus: "All business to be brought . . . . must be previously communicated to a general committee, which shall consist of the present and past grand officers, and the master of every lodge, and meet on the fourteenth . . . ." Moreover, it seems desirable that the first part of Art. 9, p 21, which is rightly enough omitted from Rule 51, should be added to the proposed Rule 50, when, with the verbal amendments just pointed out, and this addition, it would read compactly and clearly, as follows:—

"All business to be brought under the consideration of the grand lodge must be previously communicated to a general committee, which shall consist of the present and past grand officers, and the master of every regular lodge, and meet on the fourteenth day immediately preceding each quarterly communication. This general committee, when assembled, shall be governed by the laws enacted for preserving order in the grand lodge during the time of business."

The last part is almost verbatim the same as that portion of Art. 9, p 21, for which no place is found either in Rule 51 or elsewhere. Now the general committee, when assembled, must be under some kind of government during its conduct of business, and the character of that government should, with as much reason, be indicated in the proposed as in the existing edition. Certainly the rules for the management of business in General Committee ought not to be left to any one's imagination.

Nos. 51 and 52 are unaltered. In No. 53, what we have printed in italics is added, for the purpose, we presume, of placing it beyond question that it is open to any member of Grand Lodge to move, without previous notice, the acceptance or rejection of such reports as those of the Lodge of Benevolence or Board of General Purposes, or of the recommendations contained in such reports. We see no reason for taking any exception to this addition, which, if it errs at all, errs through excess of caution, not through any lack of it. To Rule No. 54 it is certain that grave objections will be raised. It is unreasonable to expect that brethren will be content with leaving it to the "judgment" of the "chairman of the general committee" to determine what does, and does not, come "within the cognizance of the grand lodge;" nor is it a safeguard worth speaking of against the erroneous exercise of his judgment that it is provided he is "specially to report the same,"—that is, the motion he rejects—"with a copy of the notice, to the grand master." The chairman of the general committee may or may not be capable of exercising a just discrimination in matters of doubt and difficulty, but were he a perfect Solomon, he ought not to possess the preponderating authority which it is proposed to invest him with under this Rule. The general committee itself is left in the unenviable position of being an absolute nonentity in respect of this class of question, and it is the prerogative of the chairman alone to accept or reject such notices of motion as may be submitted to the committee. The Rule does not even say that he shall report the notice of the rejected motion to the grand master for the latter's endorsement, so that his power of rejection cannot even be reviewed by the highest functionary in the Craft. We trust to see this Rule materially altered in the direction of greater liberality, and that some other means will be found of exercising that supervision over notices of motion which all are prepared to admit is necessary. As to the other Rules in this group, they need no further remark than this: Where the language has been modified, it has been for the better, especially in the case of No. 56, the existing Art. 8, p 21, being incomprehensible as it stands.

We next come to the Rules which affect the "Proceedings in Grand Lodge." Nos. 61, providing for the absence of the grand master, and 62, as to the "Opening of the lodge," correspond with Art. 14, p 23, and Nos. 63, "Reading of the minutes," and 64, "Communications and reports," with Art. 1, p 26. No. 65 is Art. 19, p 25, clothed in somewhat different language. The two read side by side thus:—

| REVISED EDITION. | EXISTING EDITION. |
|---|---|
| "65. No memorial, petition, or other document shall be presented to the grand lodge, which shall contain improper matter, or offensive or indecorous language." | 19 (25). "When any memorial, petition, or other document shall be presented by a member of the grand lodge, either on behalf of himself or another, he shall declare that such document does not contain improper matter, or offensive or indecorous language." |

No. 66—"Irregular propositions"—agrees with a part of Art. 8, p 27, and is to the following effect: "If it shall appear to the grand master that any proposed resolution contains anything contrary to the antient landmarks of the order, he may refuse to permit the same to be discussed." This is only a natural sequel to the Rule immediately preceding.

Nos. 67 and 68, as to "Silence to be observed," and "Members to keep their seats," comprise substantially Art. 2 and Art. 3, p 26, but No. 69 is new, and certainly necessary. It concerns the "distribution and collection of balloting papers," and is to the following effect: "Whenever a ballot is to be taken for a member or members of any board or committee, the balloting papers shall be distributed under the superintendence of the grand director of ceremonies immediately after the opening of the grand lodge, and the brethren shall keep their seats until the balloting papers are collected." It is surprising that such a rule as this should have been omitted all these years.

"Rule 70—"No member to speak twice"—is a decided improvement on Art. 4, p 27.

| REVISED EDITION. | EXISTING EDITION. |
|---|---|
| "70. The mover of an original resolution shall have the right of reply, but no other brother shall speak twice to the same question, unless in explanation. This rule does not apply to the grand registrar, who is the adviser of the grand lodge." | 4 (27). "No brother shall speak twice to the same question, unless in explanation, or the mover in reply." |

Nos. 71—"To stand while speaking, &c.;" 72—Transgressing the rules;" and 73—"Hissing prohibited"—are substantially the same as Arts. 5, 6 and 7, p 27, while No. 74, on "Motions for erasure or expulsion," differs verbally from Art. 17, p 25.

| REVISED EDITION. | EXISTING EDITION. |
|---|---|
| "74. No motion for the erasure of a lodge, or the expulsion of a brother, shall be made, unless the master and officers of the lodge, or the brother incriminated, shall have been first summoned to the grand lodge, to answer the complaint and be heard in person or make answer in writing as they or he may desire." | 17 (p 25). "No lodge shall be erased, nor any brother expelled, until the master or officers of the lodge, or the offending brother, shall have been summoned to show cause, in the grand lodge, why such sentence should not be recorded and enforced." |

For our own part, we think the latter part of the existing law would be preferable if it read thus—"shall have been summoned to the grand lodge to show cause in person or by writing why such erasure or expulsion should not be enforced."

No. 75, as to "grants of money, or alterations in the law," calls for no comment, nor does No. 77, as to the "Termination of business," but No. 76, which provides when and how the voting shall be carried out in Grand Lodge, will require to be altered so as to meet the resolutions submitted by Bro. Baron de Ferrières, M.P., in June last, and accepted and since confirmed.

"That the counting of votes on a division in Grand Lodge be conducted in future on the following system:—1st, That there shall be eight tellers from the body of the hall, namely—the four Grand Deacons acting for Grand Lodge, and the proposer and seconder of the motion, with two Brethren nominated by them, for the resolution. 2nd. That there shall be two tellers for the Grand Officers on the Dais, namely, the Assistant Director of Ceremonies for Grand Lodge, and a Brother nominated by the proposer for the resolution. 3rd. That on a division being called for, a pair of tellers shall be placed opposite each of the four divisions of Grand Lodge and the Dais, who shall request the Brethren of their division to hold up their hands, first for 'Ayes' and then for 'Noes,' the tellers audibly counting the numbers each time, which shall be at once noted on paper, initialed by both tellers, and handed up to the Grand Secretary, who shall announce the result after receiving and adding up all the scores."

This brings us to the close of our task as regards the Rules relating to Grand Lodge.

MONUMENTAL FAME.

A SHORT time since we published an excerpt from an American paper, in which were given some particulars respecting the dedication of a monument to the notorious Morgan, an impostor who lived after the manner of his species in the State of New York in the third decade of this century, and having threatened to reveal the secrets of Freemasonry, is said to have been deliberately murdered by sundry of the brethren. The rest of the excerpt consisted of a sketch, by one of our most distinguished American Craftsmen, of this same Morgan, and some particulars referring to this alleged abduction. It is, we admit, a very old story, which has been told almost times without number, and in spite of the lapse of over half a century—perhaps by reason of it—and of the most strenuous efforts made by leading Masons to discover the truth, the fate of this—to use one of the mildest terms—discreditable fellow is still enshrouded in mystery. It may be this mystery will never be cleared up. He was murdered, he was not murdered. His body was found, his body was not found, but that of somebody else was conveniently fished out of the pool below the Falls of Niagara, and made to serve the purpose of a party during a fierce political campaign. He was seen, we believe, after his alleged murder in Canada, and even within the last few years we have heard of the fellow having been found alive in one of the cities of the Turkish empire in Asia. One thing is certain, this Morgan, like many other good-for-nothing fellows, disappeared about 1826. His disappearance caused an immense amount of excitement at the time. Sundry people, including Sheriff Bruce, were tried for the murder, and acquitted. Thurlow Weed, who headed the Anti-Masonic party, when told the body found was not Morgan's, remarked "that it was a good enough Morgan body till the election was over"—unscrupulous politicians stand at nothing to gain their ends. All this and much else has been known to the whole world, and yet, on the 13th September last, a monument to the memory of this man was ceremoniously unveiled at Batavia, N.Y., under the auspices of a body styling itself "the National Christian Association." The said monument, we are told, cost 25,000 dollars (£500)—the price paid for the memorial busts to the late Earl of Beaconsfield, K.G., and the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone, M.P., Prime Minister of England, a few days since unveiled in Guildhall by the Lord Mayor, and one of the inscriptions on it describes the person to whom it is erected as "a Respectable Citizen of Batavia," and "a Martyr to Writing, Printing, and Speaking the Truth," who "was abducted from near this spot" in 1826 "by Free Masons, and murdered for Revealing the Secrets of their Order." We are also told that on the occasion of its being unveiled, the exercises included "a hymn, composed for the occasion" and "prayers by the President, J. Blanchard, of the National Christian Association," both of these being, we presume, addressed to the God of Christianity, who is the God of Truth and of Love; together with a presentation and other addresses, some of these being delivered by personal acquaintances of Morgan or "survivors of the Morgan affair."

Bro. Robert Macoy writes, "Morgan was a blacksmith, living in Batavia. He was a thief, drunkard, and wife-beater,"—facts not known till after he had been made a Mason. "As a Mason, he was an impostor, working his way among Masons by the grossest falsehoods." When it became known that he was about making public exposition of certain Masonic mysteries, he was publicly denounced by the Craft in the newspapers. On 12th September 1826, he was arrested for theft, and taken to Canandaigha. After a confinement of four days he was taken, at his own request, to Fort Niagara, and confined a few days in a disused powder magazine, after which he disappeared.

These are the rival versions—that of the "National Christian Association" of America—and that of a respected citizen of the U.S.A., who is also a Mason. We will dismiss the latter as being that of a partisan of Masonry, but what shall be said of a Christian (?) Association, which, in direct opposition to the sacred principles of Christianity, has deliberately and in public lent itself to the perpetuation of a lie on behalf of a man, who, when you have said of him the utmost in his favour, must and will remain forever as vile a specimen of the perjured liar as ever breathed. It has never been proved that this Morgan was murdered at all, or, if he was, that the deed was done by a Mason or Masons. Those charged with the murder were acquitted, and, according to every known principle of justice, an accusation, which cannot be established, should not be laid against any man or body of men, whether they happen to be benighted and bloodthirsty "Freemasons" or enlightened and liberal-minded members of a "National Christian Association." It has never been proved that Morgan was murdered by the Freemasons, but it is a fact, which even his friends have never disputed, that Morgan, having voluntarily sought admission into our ranks, and taken the obligation to keep the secrets entrusted to him, did prepare for publication an "Exposition" of some of those secrets, and was publicly denounced in newspapers for such intended purjury. We repeat, the best that can be said of him is that he was prepared to appear before the public in the character of a perjured scoundrel. And this is the man whom the "National Christian Association" has delighted to honour, at an outlay of £500, and with as much ceremony as if he had been a man of unblemished character.

Who, after this, will care to be enrolled among the recipients of monumental fame? To be placed in the same category with such as this William Morgan will be an eternal disgrace, even if it should be done under the auspices of a Christian Association.

LODGE MOTHER KILWINNING, SCOTLAND.

IF Freemasonry in Scotland, in the early days before the Reformation, as well as now, was honoured by the great, the noble and the illustrious, with their patronage and zeal, it was because Freemasonry commended itself to their honourable notice, and in becoming patrons of the Craft they became also wise Masters, and industrious, zealous and faithful Craftsmen. If they, on the one hand, looked with gracious favour upon, and participated with the Brotherhood in their good works, then, on the other hand, the Fraternity reflected honour upon them.

Freemasonry honoured her illustrious brethren. The illustrious names upon the roll of Mother Kilwinning, and other ancient Lodges, are haloed with an evergreen memory throughout the Fraternity around the world. The monasteries they founded and endowed may crumble to ruins, their castles may fall into dust, their chapels may vanish away, and even their estates may decay, and their titles become extinct; but, enshrined in the memories of Masons, they shall live throughout all time as members of the great Brotherhood, and their example of zeal and devotion to the cause become more and more felt as the years of Masonry go on.

The fraternity of Freemasons in Scotland always owned their King and Sovereign as their Grand Master, and to his authority they submitted all disputes that happened among the brethren. Accordingly we find King James I., that patron of learning and art, countenancing the Lodge with his presence as the Royal Grand Master, till he settled a yearly revenue of four pounds Scots, to be paid by every Master Mason in Scotland, to a Grand Master chosen by the Brethren, and approved by the Crown—one nobly born or an eminent clergyman, who had his Deputies in cities and counties; and every new brother, at entrance, paid him also a fee. His office empowered him to regulate in the Fraternity what should not come under the cognizance of law courts. To him appealed both Mason and lord, or builder and founder when at variance.

William St. Clair, Earl of Orkney and Caithness, Baron of Roslyn, received a grant of the office of Grand Master from King James II. He was a Grand Master indeed. He visited the Lodges, propagated the Royal Art, and built the Chapel of Roslyn, a masterpiece of Gothic architecture. Under him Masonry spread its benign influence through the country, and many noble and stately buildings were reared by princes and nobles during his time. By another deed of grant of King James II., the office of Grand Master was made hereditary to William St. Clair, and his heirs and successors in the barony of Roslyn, in which noble family it continued without any interruption until comparatively late years, the Barons of Roslyn supporting with dignity the character and office of Grand Master Mason over all Scotland.

The last Grand Master St. Clair, in 1736, being the last heir of the barony in the direct male line, represented to the Lodge the benefits which would result to the Fraternity by their election of a Grand Master to govern and protect the Craft; and in order to promote so laudable a design, he proposed to resign into the hands of the brethren, or whomsoever they should be pleased to elect, all right, or claim whatever, which he or his successors might have to preside as Grand Master in Scotland. After due deliberation this proposition was acceded to, and the Lodges being assembled, the Grand Lodge was constituted and erected on the 30th day of November 1736.

The Mother Lodge Kilwinning, however, did not acquiesce in the proceedings erecting a Grand Lodge, but continued herself to hold an independent Lodge as formerly, and grant charters to new Lodges.

It was not till the year 1807 that the differences between Mother Kilwinning and the Grand Lodge were adjusted finally by an agreement, in which Mother Kilwinning recognised the Grand Lodge on the one hand, while on the other she was honoured with the recognition of her supreme claims to be the first Masonic Lodge of Scotland, and was recognised by the Grand Lodge, on its roll of Lodges, as the first Lodge, without a number, and to be named Mother Lodge Kilwinning, with this concession also, that the Master of Mother Kilwinning should be Provincial Grand Master for the District of Ayrshire.

The elegant Chapel of Roslyn, and the old Baronial Castle, will impress the mind of the visitor with the opulence and highly cultivated art-taste of the noble family of Roslyn.

At the Reformation Roslyn was spoiled of its revenues. On the 11th of December 1688, the splendid chapel, to which no description of its elegance would do justice, was defaced by a mob; and during the early part of the last century it was in danger of falling into ruins. It was however, repaired by General St. Clair, and his successors have contributed much to the preservation of the building.

The family vault lies beneath the the pavement of the Chapel. Barons were anciently buried in their armour without any coffin.

Hay, writing about the beginning of the eighteenth century, says: "Late Rosline, my gud father, was the first that was buried in a coffin, against the sentiments of King James VII., who was then in Scotland, and several other persons well versed in antiquity, to whom my mother would not hearken, thinking it beggarly to be buried after that manner. The great expense she was at in burying her husband, occasioned the sumptuary acts which were made in the following Parliament."

A superstitious belief prevailed that the Chapel appeared on fire previous to the death of any of the Roslyn family. Sir Walter Scott, in his ballad of Rosabella, makes happy use of this belief, and alludes to the un-coffined mode of sepulture:

O'er Roslyn all that dreary night
A wondrous blaze was seen to gleam;
'Twas broader than the watch-fire's light,
And redder than the bright moonbeam.

It glared on Roslyn's castled rock,
It ruddied all the copsewood glen;
'Twas seen from Dryden's groves of oak,
And seen from caverned Hawthornden.

Seemed all on fire that chapel proud,
Where Roslyn's Chiefs uncoffined lie—
Each Baron, for a sable shroud,
Sheathed in his iron panoply.

Seemed all on fire within, around,
Deep sacristy and altar's pale:
Shone every pillar, foliage-bound,
And glimmer'd all the dead men's mail.

Blazed battlement and pinnet high,
Blazed every rose-carved buttress fair—
So still they blaze when fate is nigh
The lordly line of high St. Clair.

Bro. Sir Garnet Wolseley, on his return to London, has received a welcome in all respects worthy of his recent great achievements in Egypt. On his arrival at Charing Cross, on Saturday, H.R.H. the Duke of Cambridge, Commander-in-Chief, the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone, M.P., Bro. the Earl of Granville, Foreign Secretary of State, Mr. Childers, H.R.H. Princess Mary of Cambridge, Duchess, and the Duke of Teck, and Col. Clarke, representative of the Prince and Princess of Wales, were awaiting him. He has since had the honour of waiting on Her Majesty at Balmoral.

A new Council of the Allied Masonic Degrees, to be called the Four Kings' Council, No. 7, will be consecrated by R.W. Bro. Chas. F. Matier D.G.M., at the Masonic Hall, 8A Red Lion-square, on Saturday, the 11th inst., at three o'clock p.m. Bro. J. L. Mather is the Worshipful Master designate.

Bro. Kuhe's Brighton Musical Festival is arranged to open on Tuesday next, and will last throughout the rest of the week. There is a prospect of some rare music, to be interpreted by some of our best artists, in store for the Brightonians and their friends and visitors.

THE REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I am pleased to see that you have begun the task of comparing, and commenting on, the New Rules and the Present Edition. Nothing could be more desirable for the benefit of those members of the Craft who are too indifferent, or too much occupied to consider or digest the matter for themselves. I think the correspondent you allude to was right as to the relegating Rule 6 to Rule 3, and adjusting the others accordingly, and not, as you suggest, simply transposing them, because by so doing you destroy the natural sequence in which those rules should arise. Your comments on Nos. 5 and 6 are to the point, and worthy of adoption. A further proviso in No. 7 is much required, viz., that, besides being "brethren of eminence and ability, who have done service to the Craft," they must have passed the chair of a Lodge before being eligible for Grand Lodge or any post of distinction therein. I particularly call attention to this, because, on looking over the names of the Present and Past Grand Officers, and the names of the contributors to our Institutions, we find that a large proportion of the former are conspicuous by their absence, and however much the powers that be may try to draw the line of distinction between the Craft and the Institutions, they are so incorporated the one with the other that the head may as well be said to be capable of existence without the body as Masonry without its Institutions. Charity is our grand characteristic; Brotherly Love and Relief are two of the principles upon which our Order is founded, and the finger of Truth can be extended with pride towards our noble Institutions. Let then those whom the G.A.O.T.U. has prompted to contribute to, and support, these glorious undertakings, receive the just reward of their benevolent actions, and not be passed over by those who have done little or nothing to support the foundations of the Order to which they profess to belong; and as each member of a private Lodge should only rise to the highest honour in it by merit and ability, so should the honours in Grand Lodge be conferred only on those who have proved their proficiency by their deeds as well as words. I agree with you that in Clause 18 the Grand Registrar should stand apart, the same as Grand Treasurer; also that the verbal alterations in No. 26 are not so good as the present reading. The liability to fines by certain G. Officers for absence from duty never having been enforced, it would have been a farce to have retained the same. With regard to No. 35, in my opinion the Grand Secretary having undertaken the responsible duties of the G. Treasurer, for which he (the G. Treasurer), according to the present rules, was required to find security for the due performance thereof, a similar bond should be required of the Grand Secretary. Nobody, I am sure, would have foreseen or expected the calamity which overtook our late highly respected Grand Treasurer; the most unexpected event often happens; therefore, as a double safeguard and security, no Grand Secretary, or an elect to that office, could object to enter into the same bond as all Grand Treasurers have hitherto done.

Yours truly,

ST. AUGUSTINE.

THE BANQUET AT THE MANSION HOUSE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—All must admire the loyalty to Craft customs exhibited by recent Craft Lord Mayors, and their earnest desire to extend Civic hospitality to representatives of Masonry. Lord Mayor Ellis this year, like Lord Mayor Truscott in 1880, has entertained the Officers, past and present, of Grand Lodge, and the Officers and members of Lodge No. 1, at the Mansion House. The two banquets are such as to arouse a feeling of pride and respect among all brethren. But how is it invitations have been so sparsely distributed among the representatives of City Lodges? And why, in particular, has The Great City Lodge been apparently left, on both occasions, out in the cold? This Lodge, I would remind your readers, entertained Bro. Lord Mayor Stone and the Sheriffs at a grand banquet in March 1875, and thus set the example of this interchange of cordialities between the City and Freemasonry. Yet those who had charge of the duty of arranging the recent invitations appear to have ignored the claims to representation on such occasions of this particular Lodge, and thus, entirely against their inclination, both Sir J. Ellis and Sir F. Truscott have been made to offer a slight to a most worthy section of the Craft.

Fraternally yours,

NOT A "GREAT CITY" BROTHER.

THE VALUE OF OUR BOYS' SCHOOL VOTES.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—My attention has just been called to your article on this subject, and I shall be glad of a little space to point out that (1) there is no force in the reasoning, and (2) that no object is to be gained by writing such an article.

(1) The voting question in its naked simplicity is one of exchange. The School says to the Craft—We depend for our existence on your subscriptions; and, to encourage you to give, as well as to sustain, your interest in our welfare, we offer you votes in exchange for your money, according to a certain tariff. The donor of a guinea shall have one vote at each of the two elections occurring during the year of his donation, or two at one election. The donor of five guineas shall be called a Life Subscriber, and have a vote at every election during his lifetime, while ten guineas will qualify a brother for a Life Governorship with two votes at each election during his life, and so on with the Vice-Presidents and Vice-Patrons, who respectively give more and receive more in exchange. What has this to do with the value of votes, which depends not on the amounts subscribed by individual brethren, but on the number of candidates, and a variety of other circumstances affecting their candidature? But you say, in your article, with reference to the election now passed, "It seems pretty certain that at the election, on Monday next, nothing short of 2,500 votes will be safe for a boy's case," and you then proceeded to reckon up their value. I suppose every one will agree with you that if two votes equal one guinea, 2500 votes equal 1250 guineas, or £1312 10s. The most diminutive pupil in the Boys' School probably knows that much. But what then? Oh, say you, but a purchased admission costs only 170 guineas (£178 10s), and therefore, there must be something wrong somewhere. With all due deference, there is nothing wrong anywhere. The 170 guineas is the present average value of the sum annually expended on each pupil during the year he is in the School, and has no doubt been determined by an actuary or equally competent authority. At all events, any average arithmetician, with the data before him, could determine the value of a purchased presentation. Hence, to suppose any one would be guilty of the absurdity of subscribing 1250 guineas to secure his protégé's election is to set him down as a proper candidate for admission into Colney Hatch or other lunatic asylum. I need not say that your attempted argument about the Life Governors is equally obnoxious to common sense.

(2.) What is gained by thus writing? Does it help the School? Does it secure a candidate's success? Does it promote satisfaction among the subscribers? In a word, does it do any good of any description whatever to anybody? To all these queries I take upon myself to answer most emphatically, No! Subscribers are satisfied with the tariff of votes, and the purchase price of a presentation has been fixed by authority, which no one with the slightest knowledge of figures dare call in question. If you gave an annual subscriber twenty votes in his year of subscription, a life subscriber twenty votes per annum for life, a life governor forty votes per annum, and so on, the same difficulty in carrying a candidate would occur, because instead of requiring 2,500 votes, you would have to poll 25,000, while the value of a purchased presentation must remain unalterable. Kindly take my advice, and imagine you have not written the article to which this refers.

Fraternally yours,

"Q."

[There is some force, perhaps, in Bro. "Q.'s" criticism, but we think he has written in a more fiery style than is usual even with him.—ED. F.C.]

At the meeting of the Lodge of Prosperity, No. 65, on Thursday, the 26th ult., at the Guildhall Tavern, Bro. J. Roberts, the Worshipful Master, announced his intention to act as Steward for the Lodge at the next Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. We may also state the brethren have resolved to give a ball next month in aid of the Masonic Charitable Institutions.

We have personally tested the different cocoas and chocolates manufactured by Messrs. F. Allen and Son, of Canal-road, Mile End, and have great pleasure in testifying to their excellence and undoubted nutritive properties. They rightly claim for their Essential Extract of Cocoa, which is made from the finest nibs, that it retains no oily matter, and is suited to the most delicate palate, while their Homœopathic Cocoa is in all respects as palatable as any of a similar kind we have ever tasted. There are, of course, certain well known cocoas which will always maintain their reputation, so long as they are prepared with the skill and care hitherto shown. We do not suppose Messrs. Allen and Son's cocoas will supersede these, but they will jog along side by side with them in honourable rivalry for the public support. Their chocolates are equally to be commended, and will be sure to find increasing patronage as Christmastide approaches us more nearly. We may add that we are likewise much struck with the neatness and prettiness of the boxes containing their Chocolate Bonbons.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Provision.—As autumn treads on winter, slender, delicate, and pale-faced youths become listless, languid, and debilitated, unless an alterative, combined with some tonic, be administered to quicken their enfeebled organs. This precise requirement is supplied in these noted Pills, which can and will accomplish all that is wanted, provided the printed instructions surrounding them meet with scrupulous attention. Holloway's Pills are especially adapted to supply the medical wants of youth, because his medicine acts gently, though surely, as a purifier, regulator, alterative, tonic, and mild aperient. A very few doses of these Pills will convince any discouraged invalid that his cure lies in his own hands, and a little perseverance only is demanded for its completion.

GRAND MARK LODGE OF CORNWALL.

THE annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of the Mark Master Masons of Cornwall was held on Tuesday last, at the Assembly Rooms, St. Austell. R.W. Bro. Charles Bruno Graves-Sawle, Bart., the Prov. G.M.M.M. presided, supported by the following Officers:—R. W. Bro. W. J. Hughan Past G.W. of England, V.W. Bros. T. Chirgwin, J.P., ex-Mayor of Truro, Major W. E. Mitchell 206, Dr. William Mason 78, Harry Tilley 94, Bryant Wellington 206, Wilson Lloyd Fox 94, W. J. Johns 78, W. Bros. W. Trembath 175 P.G.S.M.D., Samuel Harvey P.G.M.D.C., W. Guy 275 P.G.M.A.D.C., W. Rookes 78 P.G.M. I.G., W. Wearne 175, I. T. Tillman 78, J. W. Higman 275 Prov. G.M. Stewards, J. Langdon P.G.M. Tyler.

The Report of the Prov. Grand Mark Treasurer showed a satisfactory balance in favour of the Lodge. Reports were submitted from seven out of eight Lodges of the Province. Meridian 73, Redruth, from some unknown cause, was not represented. The reports were favourable, showing satisfactory financial positions and increased membership. The only difficulty to submit was the case of 206, held at Newquay. W. Bro. Hicks said a large proportion of the members of that Lodge resided at St. Columb. The members of the Lodge generally were desirous of knowing if they could hold the Lodge two quarters of the year at Newquay, and the other two quarters at St. Columb.

The Prov. G.M.M. said that the change could not be made without the consent of the Grand Lodge in London, and he did not know but that giving permission might be thought there to be allowing migratory Lodges.

On the proposition of Bro. Hughan, three guineas from the Provincial funds were voted towards the expenses of the St. Austell Lodge. Five guineas were voted to the Royal Masonic Institution for Aged Widows of Freemasons. Five pounds were voted towards the publishing a Directory of the Mark and other high degrees of Masonry in the Province. Bro. Hughan said there was no doubt but that the Knights Templar Encampment and the Rose Croix Chapter might be induced to share the expenses. The Bye-Laws of the Provincial Mark Lodge and the private Mark Lodges might be printed with the Directory. The Lodges might thus be induced to subscribe towards the expenses, and the major part of the money returned, the Prov. Grand Lodge only making good the deficiency, should there be one. Bro. Hughan undertook the editorship. One guinea was voted to the Mark Degree present to the Duchess of Albany. Brother William Tweedy was re-elected the Treasurer of the Province.

The Prov. G.M.M.M. then invested the following brethren as the Officers for the ensuing year:—

| J. de Crossy Treffry ... ... | P.G. Stewards |
| H. F. Whitefield ... ... ... | |

In reply to a suggestion of R.W. Bro. Hughan, the Prov. Grand M.M.M. said it would give him great pleasure to attend the meetings of the Lodges if he was furnished with due notice from the Masters when their meetings were about to be held. It was accordingly arranged that the Secretary of each Lodge should include the P.G.M. in their list of brethren to be furnished with the notices of meetings. This concluded the business.

SLANDER

IF there is one trait more despicable than another it is Slander. The man that indulges in so gross a vice is invariably a sneak and a coward. We can, and do, respect him who boldly advances his opinions and fights us with weapons sharp "as Damascus steel," but we have the greatest contempt for the poltroon who stabs us in the dark, endeavours to injure our character behind our back, and insinuates falsehoods, although he dare not openly lie.

Now, if slander in the ordinary individual is so contemptible, how much more so is it in the Freemason, who has sworn in the presence of his brethren, and before high Heaven, to vindicate a brother's character, to uphold his fair name, to protect his honour, to guard with watchful eye those near and dear to him, to remember him when he bends the knee to offer up his prayers and oblations to the Great Creator? It is almost incredible that men, calling themselves brethren, dare to thus violate their obligations. There must, of course, be differences of opinion. Masons are but men, and view many matters from very different standpoints. In our Lodge-room we meet upon the square, but that does not necessitate our giving up our political opinions, or yielding in any of those peculiar religious views that we deem necessary for salvation. We leave the Lodge-room and we are still brothers, still linked together by the indissoluble chain of Faith, Love and Charity, and yet—yes, and yet, Masons at times dare to slander one another.

We have recently seen a notable instance of this, to which we have elsewhere referred, and which has caused the blush of shame and indignation to mantle on the cheek of every honest Craftsman in Ontario who noticed it. It is high time this system of thus stabbing in the dark, and attempting by such means to injure the name and character of a brother under some nom de plume were checked. If there is any cause for discontent, or provocation for public comment, let the writer do so openly and above-board, and not go sneakingly to work to damn a man, without giving him the opportunity of defending himself face to face.

If any Mason in this country has any grievances to adjust, he has every opportunity of "airing" them at the proper time, and in the proper place. We have no "hole and corner" arrangements, in which "dark and mysterious deeds" are done. In the G. Lodge every brother can be represented, either by himself or some friend, if he himself has not attained the proper qualification for a seat in that body, and there every consideration will be given to his views. Again, he has the Masonic press, with its columns ever open to the vindication of the principles of the Craft; but there is no reason or excuse for any Mason in Canada making a low, base, scarrillous attack upon another under a nom de plume, thus not only possibly injuring the person attacked, but perchance casting suspicion upon those who would scorn to take such an undue advantage of a brother Hiramite, or, in fact, of any honest man. We trust the foul tongue of slander will cease, at least for a time, in the land of the beaver and the maple.—Canadian Craftsman.

THE UNITY THEORY.

THE Voice of Masonry continues its Unity Theory doctrine with a perseverence worthy of a better cause. We cannot understand how any brother, of the well-known ability of the editor of that journal, can advocate a system which would, in many instances, absolutely prevent the formation of Grand Lodges in such territorial jurisdictions as had Lodges working in the same under different Grand Lodges. Does the Voice of Masonry pretend to assert that in a Province like Quebec a Grand Lodge is not to be formed, or, if organised, not to be recognised, until all the Lodges unite in the movement? If so, Masonry would have remained in a state of chaos and discontent there for years and years. Why is Quebec to be deprived of the rights, titles, privileges and prestige of a Grand Lodge, because three English Lodges, that Bro. Hughan admits are not in as flourishing condition as formerly, are obstinate, and refuse to unite in a movement for a self-governing body? Yet Quebec—priest-ridden Quebec—that requires a Masonic executive and legislative head more than any other Province in the Dominion, is to be robbed of her Masonic rights because, forsooth, a few worthy old fogyish gentlemen think they would rather have a Lodge or two to themselves—run on a sort of independent basis—a kind of independent, irresponsible association.

Note the trouble and discord concurrent jurisdiction produces. A man is rejected in a Quebec Lodge and at once may be accepted in an English Lodge in Montreal. Dare the Voice of Masonry say it is advisable to uphold such a state of affairs? Lodges in Ontario under foreign jurisdictions constantly did this, both before and after the Grand Lodge of Canada was organised, and it is only after years of labour that this crying injustice has ceased. Yet the Voice of Masonry argues that we are to allow this state of affairs to exist rather than attempt, after every other means have failed, to enforce such Lodges to unite with the Grand Body of the jurisdiction in which they are working, or surrender their charters.

If the theory of the Voice of Masonry is correct, then one insignificant country Lodge, composed of eight or ten members, can prevent one hundred Lodges, with a membership of two thousand, from organising into a Grand Lodge; they can say: "Your funds shall go to a foreign country; you shall pay salaries to officials appointed by a distant jurisdiction; you shall not be permitted to make your own laws or regulate your own fees; in a word, you shall be ruled by those who care little about you, and shall pay your money over to those who will, in all probability, never interest themselves in any way as to your actions." This is exactly the position in which every colony in Australia, New Zealand and Canada would have been placed, if this Unity Theory had been adopted in these countries.

If we in Canada had waited before we organised a Grand Lodge till we had every Lodge of one mind, we should have been sending our money to England, Ireland and Scotland to-day, yet we can proudly point to our Fund of Benevolence, such as few Grand Lodges in the United States can equal: our yearly charities, amounting to thousands of dollars, are now annually running up to the five figures; and to the fact that the Grand Lodge of Canada has never refused assistance in a single instance, during her existence of over a quarter of a century, to an applicant worthy of relief. If the Unity Theory of the Voice of Masonry had been held by Canadian Masons, there would not have been a Grand Lodge of Canada to-day, and our funds would have gone to swell the coffers of the Grand Lodges of Great Britain. Let the Voice of Masonry note the enormous sums now sent annually from Australia and New Zealand for charters, diplomas, &c., to the Mother Country. Would it not be better to keep their money in their own respective jurisdictions, to be applied as they saw fit?

The Unity Theory is simply a theory. We note the list of Grand Lodges that the Voice gives, and what is the result? Two of these Grand Lodges were organised by two Lodges each, viz., Rhode Island and Vermont; twelve by three Lodges each, viz., California, Colorada, Florida, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Oregon, Texas, Utah and Wisconsin; five by four Lodges each, viz., Arkansas (either three or four), Idaho, Iowa, Mississippi and Washington Territory; three by five each, viz., Kentucky,

Digitized by Google

Louisiana and Ohio. Thus we see in the case of these twenty-two Grand Lodges organised on the Unity Theory system, although we do not admit Ohio was, there could scarcely be anything else but unity, considering the "smallness" of the number of the Lodges in each jurisdiction. In the list of thirty-five Grand Lodges organised on the Unity Theory system, as given in the Voice, in no case was the number of Lodges in any given jurisdiction more than twelve, excepting in Maine, which was merely a quiet and peaceful separation from Massachusetts. What we maintain is, that if the Unity Theory is to be the only dogma by which a Grand Lodge can be organised, it will be dozens of years before any of the colonies of Australia or New Zealand can obtain a Grand Lodge of their own.

The Voice of Masonry must admit it is a very simple matter to have Unity in the foundation of a Grand Lodge where only two or three Lodges exist in the jurisdiction, but how different when there are forty, fifty, seventy, or one hundred working under totally different, if not opposing, forms of Constitution. Then the Unity Theory falls to the ground, and proves its utter inability to meet the requirements of the case. If everything in Masonry is to be based upon "our (the 'Voice's') doctrine, the Lord's doctrine, Freemasonry's doctrine of Unity," then our Officers must be unanimously elected, and then no subject can be settled without unity.

The whole thing is utter nonsense from beginning to end, and, with all due deference to the learned editor of the Voice of Masonry, merely a little hobby of his own, that he has started to make himself and his journal somewhat prominent. We again ask the Voice of Masonry to answer the question—"Is the Grand Lodge of Scotland a legitimate and legally constituted Sovereign Body, and one which it will recognise as such?" The "Voice" says, again and again, we will not recognise the Grand Lodge of Quebec as a Grand Lodge because there are three Lodges working within its jurisdiction that do not recognise its authority. Well, then, if it will not recognise the Grand Lodge of Quebec for that reason, how can it acknowledge the Grand Lodge of Scotland as Sovereign when it well knows Melrose Lodge works independently of that Grand Body, claiming the privilege of so doing on its Time Immemorial rights. Let the Voice of Masonry answer this question fairly and squarely; then we will be able to appreciate its consistency or comprehend its inconsistency.

THE PYRAMIDS.

IT would seem as though we are only beginning to learn something of the hitherto secret things contained in the Pyramids. Whether Freemasons will have greater reason for congratulation than other persons or societies, because of these later discoveries, must remain for future developments, but certain it is they cannot fail to have a lively interest in what is already known. The labours of M. Mariette and of Brugsch are being materially enhanced by those of M. Maspero, successor of the former, who says, "that the texts of the newly opened pyramids will revolutionize Egyptology." He declares that the great pyramid fields of Sakkara, Ghiza and Darbour present a symmetrical historical map of the kings of the earliest Egyptian era. Not every pyramid, but groups of pyramids are so placed that the position of any given pyramid of any given period can be determined beforehand. Three new pyramids have been opened. M. Maspero further says, "Mariette has found Pepi I. and Rameron II., and between us we have nearly completed the sixth dynasty. The excavations are to continue in my absence. In June and July 1882 three new pyramids are to be opened.

Dr. Brugsch, the well-known Egyptologist, recently lectured in Vienna on the latest discoveries in the Nile country, especially the finding of the Theban antiquities and the inscriptions in the pyramids. He said that through all antiquity could be traced a spirit of reverence towards the dead. Among the Egyptians three laws were prominent in religion, the first of which was to praise and thank God, the second to love all mankind, and the third to honour the dead. Hence their dead were buried with great solemnity and ceremony. The Egyptians, however, were not the grave and gloomy people they are commonly represented to have been, but were extremely cheerful and fond of enjoyment. Of this he found proof in an inscription on the tomb of a woman who died in the year 25 B.C: "Oh, my brothers, my spouse, my friends," she is represented as saying, "drink, love and be joyful, for the dead are dead, and for them there is no return nor union with the living."

In this there are three points of Masonic significance—the love of God, the love of man, and the ceremonies attending the burial of the dead. The inscription on the tomb is also important, for Masons have always been given to the cultivation of the social virtues.

ROYAL ARCH.

SUPREME GRAND CHAPTER.

THE Quarterly Convocation of Supreme Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of England, was held on Wednesday, the 1st instant, at Freemasons' Hall. The First Principal's chair was occupied by Companion E. E. Wendt, D.C.L., the Second by Colonel Creaton Grand Treasurer, and the Third by Companion James Glaisher. Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke G.S.E., Major Penrice S.N., Rev. H. Adair Pickard, M.A., as P.S., W. G. Harrison, Q.C., 1st A.S., Rev. Thomas Robinson 2nd A.S., C. A. Murton, Charles Greenwood D.C., J. March Case, Rev. C. W. Arnold, Robert Grey, Peter de Lande Long, Thomas Fenn, J. Lewis Thomas, J. Sampson Peirce, Rev. A. W. Hall, Joshua Nunn, H. J. P. Dumas, A. W. Royds Grand Sword Bearer, John Messent, Wilhelm Ganz G. Organist, and H. G. Buss Past Grand Standard Bearer, were also present; besides the Principals and Past Principals of several subordinate Chapters. After the reading, and confirmation of the minutes, charters were, on the motion of Colonel Creaton, seconded by the Rev. C. W. Arnold, granted to—

1st. Companions William Thompson Beanland as Z., George Hesketh as H., John Edward Wordsworth as J., and seven others for a Chapter to be attached to the Wharncliffe Lodge, No. 1462, Penistone, Yorkshire, to be called "The Wharncliffe Chapter, and to meet at the Rose and Crown Hotel, Peniston, in the West Riding of Yorkshire.

2nd. Companions Henry George Thompson, M.D., as Z., Stamps Walter Lambert as H., Frederick Thomas Mullett as J., and six others for a Chapter to be attached to the Addiscombe Lodge, No. 1556, Croydon, to be called "The Addiscombe Chapter," and to meet at the Masonic Hall, Croydon, in the County of Surrey.

3rd. Companions George Greenwell as Z., George Bailes as H., Jacob Barker as J., and nine others for a Chapter to be attached to the Norman Lodge, No. 1334, Durham, to be called "The Norman Chapter," and to meet at the Masonic Hall, in the City of Durham.

4th. Companions Jesse Gustavus Redman as Z., Charles Burley as H., John Matthew Goldfinch as J., and seven others for a Chapter to be attached to the St. Michael's Lodge, No. 1273, Sittingbourne, to be called "The St. Michael's Chapter," and to meet at the Town Hall, Sittingbourne, in the County of Kent.

5th. Companions John Harvey Askham as Z., William Hayward Allen as H., George Payne as J., and seven others for a Chapter to be attached to the St. John's Lodge, No. 1564, Knaphill, Woking, Surrey, to be called "The Brownrigg Chapter," and to meet at the Prince of Wales' Hotel, St. John's, Woking, in the County of Surrey.

A charter of confirmation was granted to the Principals and other members of the "Holy Zion Chapter," No. 486, Calcutta, the original Charter having become illegible through damp and other unavoidable causes.

A charter was also granted to the Companions of the "Chapter of Charity," No. 187, Bristol, authorising them to wear a Centenary Jewel, in accordance with the resolution passed by the Supreme Grand Chapter on the 1st of February 1882, the Chapter having proved an uninterrupted existence of 100 years.

The Jerusalem Chapter, No. 444, Starcross, had neglected for several years to hold meetings or make returns, and not replied to a Summons calling upon it for explanation of the same—and the Grand Superintendent of Devon having thereon recommended to Grand Chapter that the Chapter be erased from the Roll under Article 72, Royal Arch Regulations, the Chapter not having showed cause to Grand Chapter, why it should not be erased from the list of Chapters, was ordered to be erased, and Grand Chapter was then closed.

Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement.—This eminent Chapter of Improvement has resumed its weekly meetings for the season, at its old quarters, in the Jamaica Tavern, St. Michael's Alley, Cornhill, and, as of yore, its convocations are well attended, notwithstanding the comparatively early hour (6,30) at which the Companions assemble; this, however, has been arranged to suit the convenience of members living at a distance from the City. Comp. F. Brown still fulfils the duties of Preceptor, and it is needless to say the Ritual of Freemasonry, under his auspices, is correctly interpreted. The meeting on Tuesday last was well attended, when the ceremony of exaltation was rehearsed, with the following Officers: Companions Briggs Z., Fraser H., Webb J., Cottrell N., Haynes P.S., Edmonds candidate. Comps. Rosenthall 1260, and Allen 742 were elected members. The following were appointed Officers for the ensuing fortnight: Edmonds Z., Rowe H., Lilley J., Cottrell N., and Allen P.S.

Joppa Chapter, No. 188.—An emergency meeting was held on Thursday, at the Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street. Bros. W. H. Gulliford M.E.Z., H. P. Isaac H., W. Littaur P.Z. as J., J. Lazarus P.Z. Treasurer, M. J. Emanuel P.Z. S.E., A. Henochsberg P.S., Brooke 1st Asst., Dewsnap 2nd Asst.; P.Z.'s S. Lazarus, H. M. Levy, L. Lazarus, W. Littaur; Comps. G. T. Mann, G. Ellis, J. Hobinstock, Dewsnap, Brooke, W. G. Jennings, Meiter, and W. Howard. The Chapter was opened, and a ballot taken for the admission of Bro. Feilden No. 1839. This being unanimous in his favour, he was duly exalted into R.A. Masonry by Comp. L. Lazarus P.Z., who, by the courtesy of the M.E.Z., officiated. It is gratifying to state that every Officer was perfect in his working. The Chapter was closed, and the Companions adjourned to the Moorgate Restaurant, Moorgate-street, where Bro. Kingston supplied an excellent supper, that gave great satisfaction. The M.E.Z. stated it was not his intention to propose the usual toasts, this being an emergency meeting; but as they had met in such force he would propose the health of their newly-exalted Companion. Companion Fielden was one who we were proud to have among us. The newly-exalted Companion acknowledged the compliment; this was a day to be remembered by him with pleasure; he hoped to be among them for many years. Comp. J. Lazarus P.Z. and Treasurer proposed the health of the M.E.Z., and Comp. Gulliford, in reply, said although this was but an impromptu meeting, it was nevertheless a very enjoyable one; he was always pleased to be with them, no matter in what capacity. The proceedings shortly afterwards were brought to a close. Comps. Hobinstock, Henochsberg and H. P. Isaac contributed to the harmony.

Sir Hugh Myddelton Chapter, No. 1602.—Held at the Highbury-station Hotel, on Friday, 27 ult., on which occasion there were present Comps. Weston M.E.Z., Osborn H., Cogan J., Greenfield S.E., Pearcy acting S.N., Bird acting P.S.; also Comps. Hobbs, Perry, Dillon, &c. The Convocation was opened in due form, and the minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. The ballot was taken for Bro. Edwin Woodman S.D. 1950 and J.D. 1897, and Bro. S. J. Millin; the result was unanimous in their favour; Bros. Woodman and Willin being in attendance, were then admitted and exalted into Royal Arch Masonry, the ceremony being performed in a most perfect and impressive manner. This being installation night, Comp. Osborn was duly installed into the chair of M.E.Z. by Comp. Terry; the chairs of H. and J. being filled by Comps. Weston and Pearcy; the other Officers were Comps. Hirst S.E., Bird P.S., who appointed Comps. Dillon and Trewinnard Assistants. After the Chapter was closed, the Companions adjourned to an admirably served banquet, superintended by Bro. J. Baker. Amongst the visitors were Comps. T. G. Baker P.Z. 753, J. E. Sheffield 733, G. R. Soper M.E.Z. 1365, J. G. Humphreys 705, &c.

At the North London Chapter of Improvement, Canonbury Tavern, St. Mary's-road, on the evening of the 26th ult., Comp. Brown, of the Vaue Chapter, occupied the chair of Z., Hunter H., Holness J., supported by the members of the Islington Chapter, who attended by special invitation. A large number of R.A. Masons assembled on the occasion. The duties were carried out in a praiseworthy manner, and quite an enjoyable evening was spent. A vote of thanks was recorded on the minutes to Comp. Brown and the Companions of the Islington Chapter for their kindness in visiting this Chapter of Improvement. On Thursday last, the chair of the First Principal was occupied by Comp. Halford, that of H. by Comp. Gillard, and that of J. by Comp. Killick; the ceremony of exaltation was rehearsed.

UNION CHAPTER ROSE CROIX.

AT a meeting of this Chapter, held at the Masonic Hall, Georgetown, British Guiana, on Thursday, 5th October 1882, Ill. Bro. Joseph Klien 31 M.W. Sov. presiding, Ill. Bro. Captain W. F. Portlock Dodson 32, P.M. W.S., was duly installed in office as M.W. Sov. for the ensuing year, and the following Officers were appointed:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Ill. Bro. | J. Klien 31, P.M. W.S. ... | H. Prelate |
| E. Bro. | E. Dalton ... ... ... | First General |
| | Pieter Van Eaden ... ... | Second General |
| Ill. Bro. | Colonel Imlack 30 ... ... | Recorder and Treasurer |
| E. Bro. | D. C. Cameron ... ... | Grand Marshal |
| | Colonel Daley ... ... | Raphael |
| | The Hon. T. Mulligan ... | Herald |
| | C. Ross ... ... ... | Captain of the Guard |

E. Bro. Michael Bugle was elected as an honorary member of the Chapter.

The Alliance Lodge, No. 1827, held its installation meeting on Wednesday, 26th ult., when Bro. Sir John Monckton, Town Clerk of the City of London (who, by the way, was the first Master of the Lodge), installed Bro. Wildey Wright, barrister-at-law, as the Master for the ensuing year, performing the ceremony with his customary care and precision. Later in the evening he proposed the name of Mr. Gabriel Prior Goldney, the City Remembrancer, as a joining member of the Alliance Lodge. Bro. Goldney is a P.M. of the Grand Master's Lodge, No. 1, and is also a Past Grand Steward.

The installation meeting of the Grey Friars Lodge, No. 1101, will take place at the Masonic Hall, Reading, on Wednesday next, the 8th inst. Bro. Richard Dowsett is the W.M. elect.

There is some discussion going on just now in Masonic circles as to who is the oldest Freemason living in England. It arose consequent upon the death of Bro. Fawcett of Durham, who having been initiated in 1820, claimed to be the oldest member of the Craft. It is, however, now asserted that this honour pertains to Bro. Joseph Chetham of Stockport, who joined the Lodge of Peace in 1811. Neither of the gentlemen named is really entitled to be regarded as the "oldest Freemason." That distinction we claim for a member of our own community, whose association with the Brotherhood is not generally known. Very few Masons, and still fewer of the outside public, are aware of the fact that our venerated philanthrophist Sir Moses Montefiore—who just celebrated the 98th anniversary of his birth—is a member of the Craft. And for him we claim the distinction of being the Nestor of English Freemasonry and the oldest Mason living. He was initiated in the Moira Lodge early in the present century. The books of this old Lodge, prior to 1813 are missing; so that the exact year of his initiation cannot with certainty be established. But the records extant show "M. Montefiore" to have been a member of some standing at that time, and we have reason to believe that he joined in the year 1807. Sir Moses Montefiore's claim is in any case indisputable, and we are assured that Freemasons, Jewish and non-Jewish, who were hitherto ignorant of his connection with the Craft, will be glad to know that the venerable philanthropist whose conduct has throughout so perfectly squared with the principles professed upon entry by all good Masons, has a double claim upon their regard as a man and a brother.—Jewish World.

The Scottish brethren have many pleasant evenings in their Lodges, derived from the formal visits of all the local Lodges to the Lodge that is meeting. It is a custom which might well be introduced south of the Tweed if the members of the Lodges were not quite so numerous, and if less expense were incurred in entertainment than is customary in London Lodges. If the Lodges met, and after working, had only light refreshment instead of expensive banquets, they might be enabled to introduce a system which is in high favour with Scottish brethren. Lodge Busby St. John, No. 458, Glasgow, had one of these meetings a few days ago, when as many as eighty brethren were present. Deputations from Lodges—Mother Kilwinning, Thistle and Rose, No. 73, Royal Arch Ruthergien, No. 116, Scotia No. 178, Royal Arch Pollokshaws, No. 153, St. John's Greenock, and Sir George Cathcart, No. 617,—were received. The Lodge was opened in the Mark Degree, and thirty-five of the brethren were advanced to that degree by the Deputy Master Mr. Findlay. At the conclusion of the work several good Masonic addresses were given by the leaders of the various deputations. The evening was most enjoyable.—Evening News.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

LODGE OF HOPE, No. 433.

THE Installation Festival of this Lodge took place at Brightlingsea, on 23rd October. Additional interest had been given to the occasion from the fact that the W. Bro. F. A. Philbrick, Q.C., P.G.D., the D.P.G.M. of the Province under the late Lord Tenterden, had consented to perform the Installation ceremony, and in order that better accommodation might be given than that afforded by the room in which the Lodge holds its monthly meetings, the Public Hall was fitted up for the purpose, and, being hung with a plentiful supply of bunting, looked exceedingly pretty. Great disappointment, therefore, was felt at the receipt of a telegram from Brother Philbrick to the effect that he was confined to the house with rheumatism, and that he greatly regretted he could not get down to Brightlingsea. In this dilemma Wor. Brother the Rev. E. H. Crate, P.M. 697, P.P.G.C. kindly undertook the work of the day, and very ably installed the W.M. Elect, the Rev. A. Pertwee (the popular Vicar of Brightlingsea), into the chair. The Officers of the year were then appointed and invested as follows:—Bros. R. D. Poppleton I.P.M., C. Blyth S.W., John Dows J.W., the Rev. J. P. Britton Chaplain, W. Clarey Treasurer, J. E. Wiseman Secretary and M.C., Adam Smith S.D., Jas. French J.D., A. Went Organist, C. Fisher I.G., T. Wilson Tyler. At the close of the ceremony a hearty vote of thanks was passed to W. Bro. the Rev. E. H. Crate for his kindness in undertaking, at so short a notice, the duties of I.M., and the Rev. Brother in response, remarked that while regretting the absence of the distinguished Brother who was to have installed their W.M., as well as the cause of it, he had felt much pleasure in undertaking the part, as apart from the fact that himself and Bro. the Rev. A. Pertwee had enjoyed long and close personal friendship, their W.M. was a Masonic child of his. A vote of thanks was also passed with acclamation to W. Bro. Poppleton for his able conduct of the Lodge business during the past twelve months, but specially for his handsome present of a chequered carpet for the floor of the Lodge, used for the first time that day. Bro. Poppleton returned thanks, and said he should never forget the kindness that had been shown him by the brethren of the Lodge of Hope, and he should always be ready to do anything in his power to assist the Lodge or individual members of it. The usual Masonic greetings having been given to the new W.M., Lodge was closed, and the Brethren adjourned to the Swan Hotel, where a banquet, excellently served by the Hostess, Mrs. Harmer, was partaken of. After dinner the usual toasts were proposed and drunk, and regret was again expressed at the absence of Wor. Bro. Philbrick, and best wishes expressed for his speedy recovery. Bros. C. Osmond, J. J. C. Turner, E. Gowers, W. Sowman, and A. S. B. Sparling, kindly contributed a number of songs, glees, &c., greatly enlivening the after-dinner proceedings. Among those present, in addition to the names already mentioned, were:—Bros. T. J. Ralling, E. Hennemeyer, Thos. Rix, Thomas Eustace, G. A. Eustace, J. T. Bailey, C. H. Snelgar, Hervey, Norman, and the following members of the Lodge:—Bros. John Dean, W. S. Ling, R. C. Athill, G. Riches, H. York, Joseph Ames, J. Richardson, W. Bragg, W. Minter, Jos. Lake, J. Simms testified to the manner in which all the Officers had supported him, and expressed his gratitude, especially to the Wardens, Treasurer, and Secretary, upon whom the burden had principally fallen. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren retired to the banquetting room, where an excellent spread awaited them. The brethren having duly refreshed themselves after labour, did honour to the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts, concluding a most agreeable and harmonious meeting with fraternal greetings. We have been favoured with a copy of the Lodge Summons, Invitation Card, and Menu used on this occasion, and have been much gratified with an inspection of the same.

Grove Lodge, No. 410, Kingston, Surrey.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Saturday last, at the Sun Hotel, Kingston, under the presidency of the W.M., Bro. Charles Greenwood jun., who was supported numerously by his Officers and the members, and had the further honour of being supported by General Brownrigg, C.B., Grand Master of the Province, the Rev. C. W. Arnold P.G.C. Deputy Provincial Grand Master, and his father, Bro. Charles Greenwood sen., P.G.S.B. and Prov. G.S. Warden. The duties of the day were comparatively light, and were, in the main, confined to the passing of Bro. J. Eustace Smith to the degree of Fellow Craft, the ceremony being most ably carried out by Bro. Greenwood. The brethren afterwards sat down to a capital banquet, which was excellently served, and at which the Worshipful Master presided with his accustomed geniality. The earlier toasts having been acknowledged by General Brownrigg, who expressed the satisfaction he had derived from attending the Lodge, Bro. the Rev. C. W. Arnold responded for the Provincial Grand Officers, who, like himself, were most anxious to fulfil their duties. He had frequent opportunities of visiting the Lodges in Surrey, and he confessed he was very proud of the manner in which they carried out their work. The health of the Worshipful Master was proposed, and received most cordially, and in returning thanks, Bro. Greenwood spoke very feelingly of the reception the toast had met with, and also expressed his gratification at the references that had been made to his father, and the hope that he should always have the strength to follow in his footsteps, and gain for himself the respect with which he was received on all occasions. The toast of the Visitors was acknowledged by Bros. Jeffries W.M. St. John's Lodge, No. 795, Maidenhead, Usher Back, Worshipful Master of the St. Michael's Lodge, No. 211, Nye, of Brighton, W. W. Morgan Sec. 211, &c., each and all of them dilating upon the pleasure they had derived from the meeting. The toast of the Officers, &c. having been given and responded to, the brethren rose and separated. It remains to be added that the meeting did not pass without a reference to the chairmanship of General Brownrigg, at the approaching Festival of the R.M.B.I., and it gives us the utmost pleasure to state that Bro. Greenwood has expressed his intention of acting as Steward on the occasion. That General Brownrigg may rely with confidence on the hearty support of his Province is a proposition which it is hardly necessary to lay before our readers in so many words; and Bro. Greenwood jun. is to be complimented on having, at this early date, set so worthy an example to his brethren of the Province. The intervals between the toasts were enlivened by songs and recitations, which enhanced the pleasure of the gathering.

Lodge was opened in the second and third degrees, and resumed to the first, when the Fifteen Sections were worked by the following brethren:—First Lecture—Grey, J. West, Pearcy, Richardson, Pringle, D. Moss, Stewart. Second Lecture—Bros. Horley, J. A. Powell, West, Myers, Hopkins. Third Lecture—Bros. D. Moss, Stewart, Stephens. On the motion of Brother Moss, seconded by Bro. Pearcy, a cordial vote of thanks was awarded Brother Fenner for the manner he had worked the Sections, this being his first attempt. A vote of thanks was also ordered to be entered on the minutes to those brethren who had assisted the W.M. to work the Sections. The following visitors were elected members:—Bros. Myers 1445, F. Ashton 1507, Price 1013, Bull 781, West 933, Cobb 1745, Geer 1524, Winch 1524, after which Lodge was closed and adjourned. We congratulate Brother Fenner on the successful manner he has worked the Sections, for the first time, and we trust to have the pleasure of hearing him perform the same duty ere long.

Bro. Dr. W. Wilkinson will be installed W.M. of the St. Mark's Mark Lodge on Tuesday next.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

HUNDREDS of Medical Practitioners testify to its marvellous efficacy in immediately relieving and rapidly curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Spasms, Colic, Whooping Cough, and all Nerve Pains. It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. It rapidly relieves pain, from whatever cause, soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases, and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.

Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, Lord Justice Mellish decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davenport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. See Times of July 24th, 1873. Bottles 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, 11s, and 20s. Sold by all Chemists.

TESTIMONIALS.—Head Quarter Staff, Cabul, May 31st, 1880. Mr. R. Freeman, Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of special service to me in alleviating the wearisome spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form. Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne. Yours faithfully, CHARLES W. OWEN, L.R.C.P. Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng., the Divisional Head Quarter Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul.

The Times, August 13th, 1877. From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army. Okoum, July 25th, 1877. The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor, owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected miraculous cures.

THE REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS.

PROVINCIAL and District Grand Lodges, which constitute the second principal part or division, next claim our attention. The rearrangement in this has been carried out on a large scale, and it will be seen, as we proceed later on, that the proposed changes do not, in all cases, appear to us to be improvements. Before, however, we enter upon the more direct talk of comparison and commentary, we propose giving, in précis, and side by side in their order of sequence, the proposed and the existing regulations.

We cannot say we are altogether satisfied with the revised arrangement as proposed. We admit the existing edition will be the better for some alterations and amendments, but there is a certain method in the arrangements. We have first the rules relating to Provincial or District Grand Master, with a foot note defining the latter, the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, and other Provincial Grand Officers, and Provincial Grand Stewards. In all these, with the said foot note as our guide, we presume the terms Provincial and District are interchangeable, unless otherwise stated, or where such interchange is obviously inadmissible. Then follow the rules relating to Provincial Grand Lodges, and then those affecting District Grand Lodges. In the proposed re-arrangement the same order and method are not observed. For instance, the whole of the group of regulations is headed "Provincial and District Grand Lodges." No. 78 refers to Provincial Grand Lodges, No. 79 to District Grand Lodges, and Nos. 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 94, 95, 96, 98 concern equally Provincial and District Grand Lodges, Masters, and Officers. Yet it is not till we reach No. 104 that we arrive at a definition of what District Grand Lodges and Masters are. Again, we have the Deputy Provincial Grand Master or Deputy District Grand Master referred to or specified in Nos. 78, 79, 80, 83, 88, and 89, but the power of the Provincial Grand Master to appoint a Deputy is not mentioned till No. 90. In Nos. 88 and 89, the Deputy spoken of is that of the Provincial Grand Master, and the same is the case with Nos. 91 and 92, the latter giving the qualifications for the office, while nothing is said as to the Deputy District Grand Master. If the foot note in the existing Constitutions were either preserved as it is, or incorporated earlier in the text of the new edition; and if in all the rules we have cited, here and elsewhere, so far as may be necessary, the words or "District" were inserted after "Deputy Provincial," the laws would be clearer and more accurate. These amendments will entail, comparatively speaking, no great amount of time or trouble.

Taking the new rules seriatim, we find No. 79 in two sections, the first concerning the origin and conditions of existence of Provincial Grand Lodges, and the other their condition on the death, resignation, &c., of the Provincial Grand Masters. This corresponds with Art. 7, page 54, and is far more compact, while it contains a new and salutary provision likewise.

| "78. Provincial grand lodges emanate from provincial grand masters by virtue of the authority vested in them by their patents of appointment from the grand master. It therefore follows that provincial grand lodges possess no other powers than those specified in these laws and regulations, and cannot meet but by the sanction of the provincial grand master or his deputy. | 7. (54). "The provincial grand lodge emanates from the authority vested in the provincial grand master, and possesses no other powers than those specified. It therefore follows that no provincial grand lodge can meet but by the sanction of the provincial grand master or his deputy; and that it ceases to exist on the death, resignation, suspension, or removal of the provincial grand master, until a brother is duly appointed or empowered to perform the functions of provincial grand master, by whose authority the provincial grand lodge may be again established. |
| "On the death, resignation, suspension, or removal of the provincial grand master, his deputy shall perform all the functions of provincial grand master until a brother is duly appointed provincial grand master, or empowered to act as such by patent from the grand master, (33), but such deputy shall not thereby acquire the right to any additional rank." | |

From this it will be seen that, under the proposed new law, if it comes into force, the death, resignation, removal, &c., of the Prov. Grand Master does not destroy the organisation of the Prov. Grand Lodge, as is the case now. His Deputy may act in his stead until the appointment of a new P.G.M., or until the Grand Master has by patent placed the Province in charge of the Grand Registrar. This will necessarily save much trouble, as may be judged by the case of Essex, which but the other day had a complete Provincial organisation, which is now determined by the unexpected death of Lord Tenterden. We are curious, however, to know how it is possible to prolong the patent of appointment during pleasure of the appointee of a chief who is either deceased, or has been permanently or temporarily discharged of his functions. Rule No. 88 begins, "The provincial grand master, holding his office at the pleasure of the grand master, and the power of the deputy as well as of the provincial grand lodge emanating from the authority vested in the provincial grand master." When, therefore, through death or from some other cause, there is no longer a Provincial Grand Master, the power of the Deputy, and of Provincial Grand Lodge, which have emanated from the authority vested in the Provincial Grand Master, must of itself cease and determine. Common sense suggests the adoption of such an arrangement as is proposed under the law as revised, but something will have to be done to prevent legal difficulties arising out of a legally-impossible extension of powers that have ceased.

The same query will arise in connection with No. 79, which provides for the continuance of the Dist. G. Lodge and the exercise of the Dist. G. Master's functions on the death, or removal through other cause, of the Dist. G. Master. This law is substantially the same as Art. 7, p 58.

Rule No. 80—"Members of provincial or district grand lodge"—is better worded than Art 2, p 52, and No. 81 is verbally the same with Art. 1, p 45, but with the addition of "and until such installation he shall not be qualified to perform any of the functions of his office." This is a wise provision, as it necessitates the early installation of the new Prov. or Dist. G. Master in order that the Prov. or Dist. G. Lodge may be constituted.

Rule No. 82 is the closing sentence of the foot note at p 45, and enacts that a Prov. or Dist. G. Master, to be entitled to past rank, must have served five years from the date of his installation. This makes it impossible for brethren to become entitled to a seat in G. Lodge who have played only a trifling part in the direction of their Provinces or Districts.

Rule No. 83 has a decided advantage over Art. 2, p 45, which merely says, "He"—the Prov. or Dist. G. Master—"is impowered to appoint for his province a deputy, two wardens, two deacons, and other grand officers (except the treasurer, who is to be elected), and also provincial stewards not exceeding six in number." The proposed rule gives a list of the Prov. or Dist. Grand Officers he may appoint, and where more than one of each rank, the number of each to be so appointed. It is also added, "nor can he confer on any brother the rank of a past provincial or district grand officer." Rule No. 84 provides that in Provinces or Districts where there are more than forty Lodges, there shall be two additional Prov. or Dist. Grand Deacons and a Prov. or Dist. Dep. G. Director of Ceremonies.

Rule No. 85 corresponds in all essential particulars with Art. 6, p 47, and Nos. 86 and 87 with Art. 4, p 46, but an important function, as will be seen, is altogether omitted here. The two read thus:

|---|---|
| "86. He"—the provincial or district grand master—"shall hear and determine all subjects of masonic complaint or irregularity, respecting lodges or individual masons, within his province or district, and may proceed to admonition, fine, or suspension. A minute of such proceedings, stating the offence and the law applicable to it, together with the decision, is to be transmitted to the grand master." | 4. (46). "He shall hear and determine all subjects of masonic complaint or irregularity, respecting lodges or individual masons, within his district, and may proceed to admonition, fine, or suspension, according to the general laws of the craft. A minute of such proceedings, stating the offence and the law applicable to it, together with the decision, is to be transmitted to the grand master." |
| "87. The provincial grand master has no power to erase a lodge or expel a mason; when, therefore, the case is of so flagrant a nature as, in his judgment to require the erasure of a | 4. lodge, or the expulsion of a brother, be shall make a special report to the grand lodge, with his opinion thereon."

a special report to the grand lodge, with his opinion thereon.

"The provincial grand master has no power to expel a mason, though he may, when satisfied that any brother has been illegally excluded from any of his masonic functions or privileges, by a lodge within his district, order him to be immediately restored, and may suspend, until the next quarterly communication, the lodge or brother who shall refuse to comply with such order."

What we have printed in italics is, as we have said, excluded from this head or division, just as the existing law (Art. 9, p 32) conferring a similar power on the Grand Master had been omitted from the heading "Grand Lodge." The latter excluded law, and the above excluded clause, will be found grouped together under proposed new Regulation No. 208, under "Private Lodges." It is a fair criticism whether it would not have been better to group all the functions of the Grand Master under the head of "Grand Lodge," and all those of the Prov. and Dist. G. Master under that of "Provincial and District Grand Lodges," though it would be perhaps equally necessary even in that case to have some rule as to illegally-excluded members and their reinstatement, as in No. 208, which, of course, would contain the necessary references to the previous corresponding rules. If the object of publishing a revised Book of Constitutions is to make it as brief as possible, the present arrangement will be the better. But if clearness and compactness, under the several divisions, as well as brevity, are held to be the principal object, then our suggestion has a decided advantage.

Rule No. 88 compares with Art. 12, p 49, and is, in fact, that article reproduced almost word for word, and the same may be said of Rules Nos. 89. "To report proceeding to grand secretary"— 90. "May appoint a deputy"—91. "Notice of appointment" of Deputy P.G.M. 92. "Must be a past master." 93. "Dispensation for non-residence." 94. "Provincial and district grand officers have no rank out of their province or district." 95. "Qualification for office." 96. "Provincial or district grand stewards." 97. "Meetings of provincial grand lodge." 98. "Opening of provincial or district grand lodge." 99. "By-laws." 100. "Minutes." 101. "Provincial grand lodge may advise, but cannot adjudicate." 102. "Local fund." 103. "Treasurer to be elected annually." These correspond with the following, in the order in which they are given, in the existing edition, namely :—Art. 9, p 48; Art. 10, p 49; Art. 11, p 49; Art. 1, p 50, "Of D.P.G. Masters," part; Art. 1, p 50, "Of D.P.G.M," part; and Art. 1, p 50, "Of the other Prov. G. Officers," part; Art. 2, p 50, part, and Art. 2 p 51, part, the words "and shall possess within their district, the rank and privileges of grand officers" being omitted from the latter; Art. 3, p 51; law re Prov. G. Stewards, p 51, except as to clothing; Art. 8, p 48; Art. 1, p 52; Art. 3, p 52; Art. 6, p 54; Art. 8, p 55; Art. 4, p 53; and Art. 5, p 54. We have just noted the omission of certain words which were misleading in their definition of the status of Prov. G. Officers "within their district," and which, indeed, not long since caused some differences of opinion. We may add that the provision for non-residence under dispensation is now extended to Deputy Prov. G. Masters as well as the other Prov. G. Officers.

We have already remarked of No. 104, which corresponds with the first part of foot note at p 45, that, seeing it defines a District G. Lodge and District Grand Master and that these had already been frequently mentioned in the proposed rules under this head, it would have stood better at, or as nearly as possible at, the beginning of the division, either as a foot note or as incorporated in the text. No. 105—"additional powers" of D.G. Lodges—is to all intents and purposes the first part of Art. 1, p 55, while Nos. 106 and 107 correspond with Art. 3 and Art 2, p 56. Nos. 108, "Meetings of district grand lodges," 109 "Rules and regulations," and 110, "Payment to district fund," call for no observation, nor is there much to say as to Nos. 111 "District grand master may issue certificates," 112 "Blank certificates furnished," 113 "Duplicate returns to the Grand Secretary, 114 "Remittance of dues," and 115 "Dispensation to confer degrees at short intervals," except that Nos. 113 and 114 are together equivalent to Art. 11' p 60, and No. 115 to the second section of Art. 1, p 55.

We shall enter on our consideration of "Private Lodges" next week.

LORD MAYORS AND FREEMASONRY.

LE Roi est mort; Vive le Roi. On Thursday Bro. Sir J. Whittaker Ellis, Bart, Grand Junior Warden, laid aside the insignia of his office as Lord Mayor of the City of London, and Bro. Alderman Knight was formally inducted into the Civic Chair in his stead, amid those manifestations of the London citizens' loyalty to old and respected customs which are customary on such occasions. The grand inaugural banquet in the Guildhall followed in the evening, and was, as usual, attended by many of the principal members of the ministry. The loyal, patriotic, and other toasts were introduced and followed by speeches of varying merit. Everything, indeed, passed off in a manner worthy of such a gathering of Englishmen of the well-to-do classes, all bent on enjoying themselves around the festive board, and we may now be said to have fairly settled ourselves down to the work of a new Civic year under the tutelary care of Bro. Alderman Knight, Citizen and Freemason.

Ordinarily, of course, Lord Mayor's day and its celebration are matters outside the ken of a Masonic journal. There are many Lodges, it is true, which meet within the precincts of the city, and some of them have more immediately about them a certain added lustre from their connection, real or imaginary, with members of the great Corporation. These facts alone would not have induced us to make Lord Mayor's Day the subject of editorial comment. But latterly Freemasonry has played a more than usually conspicuous part in Civic celebrations. In two out of the last three Lord Mayoralties, the Mansion House has been the scene of brilliant Masonic gatherings, not of an informal character, but held there by dispensation from the Grand Master, in a close-tyled Lodge room, and the members all wearing the clothing and insignia of their rank. One of these meetings was honoured by the presence of His Royal Highness the Grand Master, and the other no doubt would have experienced the same good fortune, but for the multiplicity of the Prince's engagements. Then, in Alderman Stone's Mayoralty, Lord Mayor Stone and the Sheriffs, of whom Sir J. W. Ellis was one, paid a sort of state visit to The Great City Lodge; and other Lodges, but especially the Alliance, No. 1827, have been similarly, though perhaps less ceremoniously, honoured by Lord Mayors who have also been members of the Craft. In short, a strong feeling of mutual respect appears to have grown up of late years between the City and our Fraternity, and it need hardly be said to their mutual satisfaction and even advantage. There is reason for this. No municipality in the world dispenses its charity of every kind with a more liberal hand than the City of London, nor is there a more benevolent and beneficent body than the Freemasons, whose splendid support of the Institutions they have established is constantly being made the subject of eulogy by the outside world. Under these circumstances, we may justly ask to be excused if we have gone somewhat out of our usual course to record the succession of one Masonic Lord Mayor by another. We have no means of foreseeing what may happen during Bro. Knight's year of office. He may not have the same opportunities as his predecessor and Sir F. W. Truscott enjoyed of manifesting, as it were, semi-officially, his sympathy with our Society, but of his hearty goodwill towards it we are as certain as that he is at this present time the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor of London. And, what will be regarded with equal satisfaction by our readers, the two aldermen who stand next in order for election to the Civic Chair are both Masons, so that, in all human probability, the next three years, like the year which closed on Thursday, will see the destinies of London City entrusted to gentlemen who are Craftsmen as well as citizens. We will content ourselves with adding the expression of our hearty good wishes to Bro. Lord Mayor Knight on his accession to power, and the hope that his year of office may be as prosperous as that of his immediate predecessor, Bro. Alderman Ellis, and his predecessors, Bro. Sir F. W. Truscott, Sir Thomas White, and Alderman Stone.

WHY I BECAME A MASON.

I remember, with an admiration that increases with coming years, my grandfather on my mother's side. The bottle-green coat with brass buttons that glistened in the sunlight, the snow-white collar that almost hid his ears, the ruffled shirt, the high-cut satin vest, the velvet pants reaching the knee and clasped with bright silver buckles, and the shapely foot encased in the softest leather shoe. His was an appearance that would have satisfied the most sanguine expectations of the most ardent æsthete. I can hear his rich mellow voice as he called "Horace! Horace!" and see the bright black eyes sparkle, when in answer to the call I made my appearance. I was his namesake—his almost constant companion. Oft has he told me that when calling my name the re-echo sounding through the halls carried him back to the hours of his youth, and brought recollections of his earliest days. The pleasant hours spent with him only made his company, to me, the more desirable, for I well knew that I was to be entertained with glowing descriptions of sights seen in foreign lands, or the varied experiences of "A life on the ocean deep." It was a clear bright September day, the leaves were just beginning to show that fall was fast approaching, and there was hardly breeze enough to blow the long curls back from my face. Grandpapa and I were sitting on the doorstep, he had just finished one of his most interesting stories, when I heard in the distance the soft sweet notes of "Nearer, my God, to Thee." As it approached, we saw a funeral train headed by men wearing collars and aprons, and bearing other insignia indicative of secret organisation. With boyish curiosity I asked him what they were, his eyes brightened, a smile, that made his dear old face appear the happier, played round his shapely mouth as he almost whispered, "they are Masons."

I had often heard the word, and as often desired to know its meaning. My opportunity had come. Grandpa—my store-house of wisdom, my cyclopædia of all that was to be known—could and would tell me.

"Grandpa," I said, "what do they do?"

"Horace," he asked, "have you never noticed in my room the picture that hangs just at the foot of my bed?" He had hardly finished the question when I recalled the many times that I had stood before it trying to spell the long words and decipher the meaning of the ladder reaching, Jacob's like, unto heaven; the trowel, square and compass, and the great eye that seemed to follow me around the room; I had seen and wondered often about it, and now told him so.

"Well," continued he, "that announces my right to claim membership in a brotherhood that has existed from time immemorial, and whose object is to better the condition of mankind."

"Is it of any use?" I asked.

"Have I never told you of the one benefit it was to me?"

I nestled closer to him, leaned my head on his breast, looked up into his face with boyish admiration, and then said that something good was in store for me. After patting my cheek, he began: "I was sailing the good ship 'Flora' when war was declared between England and the United States. I had left Bombay with a valuable cargo of merchandise, bound for New York. One morning shortly after eight, the look-out announced a vessel astern that seemed to be making directly for us. Nearer and nearer she came, until we could see that it was a man-of-war carrying the English flag. It was evident that she was chasing us. If there was doubt in the mind of any one it was soon dispelled by a ball that came hissing over us. I saw that to attempt flight was useless, that "discretion was the better part of valour," and ordering the sails to be furled I calmly waited the approach of my captors. It was not long before they were abreast of us, the gig lowered, and in a moment more there stood on my vessel's deck an officer, whose uniform told his high rank. He approached, asked for my papers, and on receiving them announced that we were his prisoners. We were transferred from the 'Flora' to the prisoners' quarters on board the 'Destroyer,' and there left to reflect upon the horrors of an English dungeon and the anxiety and earnest longings of friends in our native land.

"We had been there some time sweltering in the heat, and almost choked by the musty atmosphere, when a marine came to the door and announced that I was wanted in the commander's room. He led the way, and I followed, and in a second or so I was standing before the man to whom I delivered my papers, and who had conveyed to me the news of capture. He addressed me as 'Captain,' and in response to my respectful 'Sir,' told me his intention and what would be my final destination. I looked him full in the face, he coloured up, and in a moment I knew that he recognised that I was a Mason. He extended his hand, took mine and shook it heartily. I was sent back to my quarters. After a little while I was again summoned into his presence. This time he invited me to be seated, extended the hospitality of his cabin, and said that I should be assigned better quarters.

"I thanked him for his kindness, but said that I would share the fate of my men. I was again sent back. Within one hour from this last interview we were aboard the 'Flora,' my papers were given me, and with all sail set we again sped homeward.

"The joy of all knew no bounds, the crew gave vent to theirs in shouting, 'God save the King,' while I sat down and wept like a child at thoughts of what might have been.

"The mystery of their escape was to the crew a source of continual wonder, and often, unknown to them, I heard their speculations and mysterious tales as to the reason for it. I never knew my benefactor's name, but am quite sure that if earnest prayer ever secured any heavenly guidance in this life, and an immortal existence hereafter, that was and is his fate."

"Horace," some one called I hardly heard it, so great was my interest in what had been told me. "Mother's calling," grandpa said. I kissed him, and ran off, with his promise to tell me at another time something more about Masons.

The monthly meeting of the General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Saturday last, when there were present Bros. W. Roebuck Past Grand Steward (in the chair), C. F. Matier, John L. Mather, Edgar Bowyer, G. P. Britten, C. H. Webb, E. E. Barrett-Kidder, Rev. Richard Morris, D.D. (Head Master), Frederick Adlard, Donald M. Dewar, H. Massey, James Terry, W. Mann, Alfred Williams, W. Maple, H. S. Goodall, W. Paas, and F. Binckes (Secretary). After the confirmation of the minutes, the Chairman was authorised to sign cheques in payment of sums due. It was also resolved to invest £1,000 in Indian Three Per Cents. Petitions were examined on behalf of five boys as candidates for admission to the School, who were placed on the list. Two grants of £5 each were made to two former pupils of the Institution, and a grant of £10 was made to another. The Committee then adjourned.

Thursday was the forty-first anniversary of the birth of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, who first saw the light at Buckingham Palace, on the 9th of November 1841. The County Ball, given at Sandringham, in honour of this auspicious event was arranged to take place yesterday (Friday). It should also be added that on the day itself there were the customary demonstrations in honour of the anniversary in London, at Windsor, Sandringham, Balmoral, and elsewhere in the United Kingdom.

Bro. Kuhe's twelfth annual Musical Festival at Brighton commenced on Tuesday, under favourable circumstances as regards attendance, though the weather was far from being satisfactory. Mr. Sullivan's "Martyr of Antioch," and Mr. Cowen's Scandinavian Symphony constituted the programme. Wednesday was devoted to the performance of miscellaneous classical music, and on Thursday "Elijah" was presented.

During the recent Egyptian campaign, according to the Portsmouth Times, there were no less than fourteen members of one Lodge among the British soldiers engaged. The Lodge in question was the Roman Eagle, No. 160, held at the Iona Hotel, Edinburgh, and the fourteen members were in the Royal Horse Guards, the Scots Guards, the Royal Marine Artillery, the Royal Marine Light Infantry, and the Royal Highlanders (Black Watch).

The Installation meeting of the Grey Friars Lodge, No. 1101, Reading, took place on Wednesday. There was a large attendance of Craftsmen, and the proceedings throughout were of a very agreeable character. Brother Richard Dowsett is the new Worshipful Master, and the ceremony of the day was performed by Brother Morhay P.M. A full report shall appear in our next.

A FREEMASONS' HALL AT BANBURY.

On Friday next, the 17th inst., H.R.H. the Duke of Albany, K.G., will hold his Provincial Grand Lodge at Banbury, for the purpose of laying the stone of a Freemasons' Hall, now being erected by the brethren of the Cherwell Lodge, 599. His Royal Highness will be escorted by a squadron of the Queen's Own Oxfordshire Hussars to the building, and will afterwards hold his Lodge, and preside at a luncheon in the Exchange Hall.

From the Lifeboat Journal we learn that casualties to ships in our rivers and harbours continue to be numerous; the number during the year having been 821, of which 31 were total losses, and 790 were partial casualties. Of these, collisions numbered 540, founderings 14, strandings 180, and miscellaneous 87. The 821 casualties caused the loss of or damage to 1397 vessels, of which 727 were British sailing vessels, 562 British steam vessels, 80 foreign sailing vessels, and 28 foreign steam vessels. The lives lost in these casualties were, happily, only 13.

There was a capital gathering at the Doric Lodge of Instruction, No. 933, at Bro. Clayton's, Duke's Head, Whitechapel-road, on Friday, 3rd November, under the able presidency of Brother C. H. Bardouleau, who was ably supported by Bros. B. Cundick P.M. Preceptor, William Musto P.M. Secretary, and numerous brethren. The evening was devoted to rehearsing the first ceremony, which was ably rendered, especially when we remember that our Brother Bardouleau is but a young Mason. Some sections were also worked from the chair, and a capital evening's instruction was enjoyed.

THE REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I am very glad to notice that you are taking up for criticism the revised Constitutions and I venture to point out what seems an anomaly in one at least of the appointments, which must be cleared up now or never.

In the Province of Staffordshire, for the last sixteen years to my knowledge, it has been the custom of the D.G.M. to hand a jewel of office to, and receive fees of honour from, the Provincial Grand Standard Bearer. These have been invariably Past Masters, and some of them have done excellent work in their Lodges. It has also been usual for these Officers to wear the purple in common with other Prov. Grand Lodge Officers.

One of these brethren a year or two ago visited a Lodge in London at which some G.L. Officers were present; to his surprise he was informed that the office conveyed no right to the clothing, and that, whatever might be the intention of the Prov. Grand Master to confer honour, it certainly ceased at the boundary of his Province.

My friend's position, as you may imagine, was no pleasant one. He had Provincial clothing only, and the consequence has been that the brother must compromise the matter by carrying two sets of clothing for the very doubtful honour.

I trust the issue of the new Constitutions will either prevent the future granting of these honours, or give the position a recognised status in the Grand and Provincial Lodges.

I am, yours fraternally,

A. B.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I cannot agree with your correspondent, ST. AUGUSTINE, "that another of your clients" was right as to the relegating Rule 6 to Rule 3, and adjusting the others accordingly, and not, as you suggest, simply transposing them, because, by so doing, you destroy the natural sequence in which those rules should arise." Premising that I am not quite sure I understand what he means by "the natural sequence" in which the rules "should arise," I would point out that if Nos. 3 and 6 are transposed, as you suggest, then the rules Nos. 2 to 6, according to their subject matter, will follow thus: No. 2, Grand Lodge; No. 3—now No. 6—members of Grand Lodge; No. 4, Grand Lodge's power of enacting laws; No. 5, Grand Lodge's power of final decision; No. 6—now No. 3—Powers of substituted authorities in Grand and other Lodges. Then would follow, as now, No. 7, members of Grand Lodge, honoris causa; No. 8, Grand Master's representatives and representatives from sister Grand Lodges; No. 9, Past Masters when members of Grand Lodge, when not members, &c. &c. &c. I see nothing whatever unnatural about this sequence.

I also disagree with him as to the proviso he would have inserted in Rule No. 7, which provides for "brethren of eminence and ability" being "constituted members of the grand lodge," either "by the appointment of the Grand Master," or "by a vote of the grand lodge duly confirmed." He would have the brethren thus honoured Installed Masters, as if it were impossible for any who has not passed the chair to exhibit unusual eminence and ability. I have no wish to depreciate Past Masters, but I wish it were more generally recognised that it is not necessary to be a Past Master in order to be an eminent and able Craftsman.

Faithfully and fraternally yours,

"CRITIC."

THE VALUE OF OUR BOYS' SCHOOL VOTES.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—No doubt, as you suggest, "Q." has written on this subject more warmly than he need have done, but I think he is right in the main. There is really no connection between the value of votes at any given election, and the price paid for them, while the cost of a purchased presentation has nothing to do with either, it being, as "Q." very properly points out, a known quantity determined by a competent authority. Taking the latter point first, and assuming a boy's stay extends on an average five years and a-half—the maximum period is seven, and the minimum four years—at an average annual cost of forty guineas, the total outlay at this rate for the period stated would be 220 guineas (£231). Leaving minute arithmetical calculation out of the question, will any one venture to suggest that 170 guineas (£178 10s) paid in advance is not a just equivalent for an annuity of £42 spread over five years and a-half?

Turning to the value of votes, I imagine it will be found to vary in an inverse ratio to the number of vacancies. If, for instance, there are ten vacancies and twenty candidates, then, all other things being equal, each of the latter starts with half a chance in his favour; if ten vacancies and thirty candidates, he has a one-third chance; and if ten vacancies and forty candidates, he has only a one-fourth. As a matter of fact, however, all other things are rarely, if ever, equal, and the niceties of arithmetical calculation as to a candidate's prospects of success at a given election are liable to be disturbed by a number, more or less great, of outside circumstances. One has plenty of influence, another has not; one brings forward votes, another does not. In fine, you cannot, in cases of this kind, determine a result which is indeterminable, or rather, which is liable to be influenced by so many outside chances, by the ordinary rule of three. My advice is pretty much the same as Q.'s,—leave this question of value to take care of itself.

Fraternally yours,

THE CAST OF THE DIE.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

THE meeting of the General Committee was held on Wednesday, at Freemasons' Hall, under presidency of Bro. J. M. Case. There were also present Bros. Tate, Leggott, Dilley, Bolton, Brett, Berry, Goodall, Cottebrune, Edgar Bowyer, Bush, Webb, Stedwell, Adlard, Cubitt, Murlis, Lacey, Clarke, Gallant, Moore, Willing jun., and E. C. Massey. The Secretary reported that five deaths had occurred amongst the annuitants since the previous meeting of the Committee—three males and two females; the aggregate amount received by the five while on the funds being £940. The Warden's report stated that on the 11th ultimo an entertainment had been provided by Bro. Festa for the residents of the Institution at Croydon, to commemorate the occasion of his entering on his year of office as Master of the Montague Guest Lodge. The sum of £2000 now on deposit at Bank was ordered to be transferred to current account to provide for payments falling due, and the chairman was authorised to sign cheques, of which a list was read by the Secretary. Of two applications from annuitants' widows for moieties of their late husband's annuities, one was granted, but the other gave rise to some discussion, as it appeared that the applicant had not been married for the full term of five years prescribed by the rules as a condition of eligibility. It was found that the Committee, who had in some similar cases waived this requirement, had in so doing contravened the rules, and it was therefore moved, seconded, and carried that Mrs. Lever was ineligible for the reduced annuity asked for. In reply to an inquiry, the Secretary stated that in some instances of this kind grants had been made by the Committee towards the support of the applicants until they could apply to be themselves elected annuitants, but that a notice of motion was requisite when it was desired to do this; whereupon Brother Dilley gave notice that he would, at the December meeting, propose that a sum of £10 be granted to Mrs. Lever. Nine petitions were presented on behalf of candidates for annuities to have their names placed on the list, from which selection will be made at next election. Of this eight were approved, and the names ordered to be added to the list; but the remaining petition gave rise to considerable discussion, and after the motion that it be received had been proposed, it was met by an amendment to the contrary effect, which was carried by a large majority. There being no other business before the Committee, the meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

STANDARD THEATRE.

BRO. James Willing jun.'s new sensational and emotional drama, entitled "The Ruling Passion," was produced on Monday evening at the National Standard Theatre, under the able auspices of the Bros. Douglass. It is replete with the strongest interest, and will, doubtless, when it has undergone some of the modifications and excisions the necessity for which only become apparent after a public presentation, secure a long period of popularity. Its reception on Monday was most favourable, though the scenes in the madhouse were too terribly realistic to exactly meet the taste of the audience. The scenery was of a character worthy in every respect of the reputation of the Standard and its energetic proprietors, and the stage accessories were equally to be commended. The acting of Mr. Edmund Leathes as the villain, and of Miss Louise Moodie as the twin sisters—Minnie Doone and Laurie Swaine—showed a complete appreciation on their part of the characters allotted, nor must we pass over the Nat Grey of Mr. Arthur Goodrich, the Dr. Dwining, keeper of the private asylum at Norwood, of Mr. Odell; while the Laura of Miss Katie Neville especially deserves praise. These several parts were most ably and felicitously interpreted. Those who think the height of dramatic representation consists in abundance of realistic situations will, we are sure, be pleased with "The Ruling Passion," the scene in which the heroine escapes in the balloon being especially terrible. By the way, we have seen it suggested in some of the criticisms on Bro. Willing's latest production, that the usual net to which the car lines of the balloon are attached was wanting. This is an error, and we may add that, in order to ensure a correct representation, the services of Mr. Wright, the well-known aeronaut, were called in, and he expressed his full approval of the balloon, and the arrangements for working it.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Sores, Wounds, Ulcerations, and other diseases affecting the skin, are capable of speedy amendment by this cooling and healing unguent, which has called forth the loudest praise from persons who had suffered for years from bad legs, abscesses, and chronic ulcers, after every hope of cure had long passed away. None but those who have experienced the soothing effect of this Ointment can form an idea of the comfort it bestows, by restraining inflammation and allaying pain. Whenever Holloway's Ointment has been once used it has established its own worth, and has again been eagerly sought for as the easiest and safest remedy for all ulcerous complaints. In neuralgia, rheumatism and gout, the same application, properly used, gives wonderful relief.

TOO MANY DEGREES.

A MIDDLE-AGED lady, with a black alpaca dress, worn shiny at the elbows, a cheap shawl and bonnet, and her hands puckered up blue, as though she had just got her washing out, went into the office of a prominent Mason a few mornings since, and took a chair. She wiped her nose, and the perspiration from her face on a blue checked apron, and when the Mason looked at her with an interested brotherly look, as though she was in trouble, she said—

"Are you the Boss Mason?"

He blushed, told her he was a Mason, but not the highest in the land. She hesitated a moment, fingered the corner of her apron, and curled it up like a boy speaking a piece in school, and asked:—

"Have you taken the whole 233 degrees of Masonry?"

The man laughed and told her there were only thirty-three degrees, and that he had only taken thirty-two. The other degree could only be taken by a very few, who were recommended by the Grand Lodge, and they had to go to New York to get the thirty-third degree. The lady studied a minute, unpinned the safety pin that held her shawl together, put it in her mouth, took a long breath, and said—

"Where does my husband get the other two hundred degrees, then?"

The prominent Mason said she guessed her husband never got two hundred degrees, unless he had a degree factory. He said he did not understand the lady.

"Does my husband have to set up with a corpse three nights a week?" she asked, her eyes flashing fire. "Do you keep a lot of sick Masons on tap for my husband to set up with the other three nights?"

The prominent Mason said he was thankful that few Masons died, and only occasionally was one sick enough to call for Masonic assistance. When a Mason was sick, and away from home, or when his family desired it, the brethren were only too glad to sit up with him, but there were so many Masons, and so few sick, that it was only once in two or three months that a brother was called upon to sit up with anybody. "But why do you ask these questions, madam," said the prominent Mason.

The woman picked the fringe off her shawl, hung her head down, and said:

"Well, my husband began to join the Masons about two years ago, and he has been taking degrees or sitting up with people every night since, and he comes home at all times of the night, smelling of beer and cheese. I thought at first that the cheese was the result of his going to the Morgues to help carry Brother Masons home after they had been found in the river. He has come twice with the wrong pair of drawers on, and when I asked him how it was, he said it was a secret he could not reveal under penalty of being shot with a cannon. All he would say was that he took a degree. I have kept a little track of it, and I figure that he has taken 233 degrees, including the Grand Sky Fugle degree, which he took the night he came home with his lip cut, and his ear hanging by a piece of skin."

"Oh, madam," said the prominent Mason, "there is no Sky Fugle degree in Masonry. Your husband has lied to you."

"That's what I think," said she, as a baleful light appeared in her eye. "He said he was taking the Sky Fugle degree, and fell through the skylight. I had him sewed up, and he was ready for more degrees. After he had taken, I should believe, about a hundred and fifty degrees, I told him I should think he would let upon it, and put some potatoes in the cellar for winter, but he said when a man once got started on the degrees he had to take them all, or he did not amount to anything. One time I wanted a hat to wear to church, with a feather on, and he said feathers were all nonsense, and the next day he brought home a leather case with a felt coal scuttle in it, and a feather on it that could not have cost less than ten dollars, the way I figure millinery. And when he put it on, and I laughed at his ridiculous appearance, he began to throw his arms around, and I asked him what was the matter, and he said that was the grand hailing sign of distress, and if I did not look out an avenger would appear from a dark closet and run a toad sticker through me for a scoffer. He must have spent a fortune on the last hundred and fifty degrees. One morning he came home with his coat tail split right up his back, and his pants torn just as though a dog had chewed him, and one eye closed up, and a wad of hair pulled right out of his head, and he said he had been taking the 200th degree, but he would not tell me how it happened, because it was a dead secret. Sometimes a brother Mason comes home with him along in the morning, and they talk about a 'full flush,' and they both act full as they stand on the steps and talk about their 'pat hands,' and 'raising 'em out,' and 'calling,' and 'bob tail flush.' One night when he was asleep, I heard him whisper, 'I raise you ten dollars,' and when I asked him what it meant, he said they had been raising a purse for a poor widow. Another time he raised up in bed, after he had been asleep, and shouted, 'I stand pat,' and when I asked him what it meant, he said he was ruined if I told it. He said he had spoken the pass word, and if the brethren heard of it they would put him out of the way, even as Morgan was put out of the way. Mister, is 'I stand pat,' your pass word?"

The Mason told her it was not. That the words she had spoken was an expression used by men when playing draw poker, and he added that he did not believe her husband was a Mason at all, but that he had been lying to her all these years.

She sighed and said, "That's what I thought when he came home with a lot of ivory chips in his pocket. He said they used them at the Lodge to vote on candidates, and that a white chip elects and a blue chips rejects a candidate. If you will look the matter up and see if he has joined the Masons, I will be obliged to you. He says he has taken all the two hundred and thirty degrees, and now the boys want him to join the Knights of Pythias. I want to get out an injunction to prevent him from joining anything else until we get some under clothes for the winter. I will tell you what I will do. The next time he says anything about Sky Fugle degrees, and consistory nonsense, I will take a wash-board and make him think there is one degree on Masonry that he has skipped, and now good-bye. You have comforted me greatly, and I will lay awake to-night till my husband comes from the Lodge with his pat hand, and I will make him think he has forgot his ante."

The lady went out to a grocery to buy some bar soap, and the prominent Mason resumed his business with a feeling that we are not all truly good, and there is cheating going on all around.—Geo. Peck.

The many friends of Bro. Jacob Norton will be deeply grieved to hear that for the last three months he has been stricken with a severe illness. From a letter just to hand from his son we learn that our worthy brother is now on the way to recovery, but when we bear in mind the age of Brother Norton, we can scarcely hope he will regain strength so rapidly as we feel all our readers could desire. Bro. Norton requests those of his correspondents who may deem him somewhat remiss in replying to their communications to accept this statement as a reason for any apparent discourtesy. We tender our deep sympathy with him in his affliction, and feel assured all English Craftsmen join us in the hope he may be spared for many years to continue the literary labours he has hitherto so ardently followed.

ROYAL KENSINGTON LODGE, No. 1267.

THE installation meeting of this popular Lodge was held on the 3rd inst., at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, under the presidency of Bro. J. Stevens W.M., Eugéne Delacoste S.W., J. L. Mather P.M. as J.W., Soppet P.M. Treasurer, D. M. Dewar P.M. Secretary, Waters S.D., Tanner J.D., Hay I.G., Higgins Steward, P.M. Cramer, Percy Leith P.G.D., and a numerous attendance of members and Visitors, amongst the latter being the Grand Secretary Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke, and several distinguished Provincial Grand Officers. Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. Bro. Charles Toope, Corinthian Lodge No. 448, New York, was proposed as a joining member. Bros. Driver, Waters, Cowie and Rumsey were passed to the second degree, the work being ably carried out by the W.M. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. Eugéne Delacoste S.W. and W.M. elect was presented to the Lodge and, in the presence of thirty W.M.'s and P.M.'s, duly installed into the chair by the retiring W.M. Bro. Stevens, who carried out the duties in an impressive manner, that merited the encomiums passed on him by the brethren and Visitors at the conclusion of the ceremony. Bro. Dewar P.M. very efficiently acted as M.C. The newly-installed W.M. appointed and invested the following as his Officers:—Bros. J. B. Stevens I.P.M., C. Waters S.W., W. Tanner J.W., Soppet P.M. Treasurer, D. M. Dewar P.M. Secretary, H. P. Hay S.D., H. Langridge J.D., T. L. Higgins I.G., C. Richardson Steward, Potter Tylor. The selection of Officers seemed to give every satisfaction. Letters of apology were read from Bro. Col. Sir Francis Burdett P.G.M. Middlesex, Col. Creaton G. Treasurer, Sir John Monckton President of the Board of General Purposes, and Bro. Hyde Pullen P.G.S.B., regretting their inability to be present. Hearty good wishes were tendered by the several Visitors. Bro. Percy Leith P.G.D. proposed that a Lodge of Instruction be established, to work under the warrant of this Lodge. The W.M. seconded, and the proposition was carried unanimously. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren, seventy-eight in number, sat down to a récherché banquet and dessert, provided by Messrs. Spiers and Pond (Limited), which was superintended by Brother Dawkins. The repast gave unqualified satisfaction, the tables were artistically decorated, and buttonholes provided for every one present by the W.M. Grace having been sung, the W.M. proposed the toast of the Queen and the Craft, and Madame Worrell sang the solo verses of the National Anthem. This was followed by that of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M. Bro. Egbert Roberts sang "God Bless the Prince of Wales." With the toast of the Grand Officers was coupled the name of Bro. Colonel Shadwell Clerke Grand Secretary, and Bro. Percy Leith P.G.D. Here Miss Isabella Stone sang a popular selection, with great taste and feeling, and was deservedly applauded. Colonel Shadwell Clerke said it was a great pleasure to return thanks on behalf of the distinguished Craftsmen the Grand Officers. There are only nine or ten offices in the gift of the Grand Master, and those brethren who receive them have to bear the heat and burden of the day. Personally he thanked them for inviting him. He had the pleasure of knowing the W.M. before he was a Mason, and was pleased to see him in the chair; he was also gratified to see how ably the I.P.M. had performed the ceremonies of passing and installation. On behalf of the Grand Officers, he tendered them his sincere thanks. Bro. Raynham W. Stewart P.G.D. followed. At this part of the evening Bro. Egbert Robert's sonorous voice was heard to great advantage in his popular song, "Big Ben." Bro. Stevens said he had wielded the gavel for two years, and need not take up their time in speaking of the merits of the W.M. He is a pattern to many in the Craft. He has been popular in every office he has been called on to perform, and the brethren would not have any cause to regret having elected him their Worshipful Master. The W.M., in reply thanked Bro. Stevens for his kind words. Whatever he had done he thought was but his duty, and for that he desired no thanks; he hoped their future would be such as the Lodge would be equally satisfied with. The next toast was one all the members would be pleased to receive; it was the health of the Installing Master—Bro. Stevens. The W.M. might say he had never seen the ceremony better performed. Bro. Stevens had ably occupied the chair for two years, and he (Bro. Delacoste) hoped to follow in such able footsteps. Again a musical treat awaited the brethren. "Melodie," by Gounod, was sung by Miss Isabella Stone, while a violoncello obligato, by J. A. Brousil was given. Brother Stevens I.P.M., after acknowledging the honour done, said he was introduced to the Lodge by their respected Brother Hyde Pullen, and initiated by Brother Soppet. He then thought there must be something good in Freemasonry. The kindness he had received he should never forget. He passed through the chair, but, unfortunately, they lost by death the W.M. elect, and he was compelled to occupy it for a second year. He felt a great amount of pleasure in having the privilege to instal their W.M., and hoped he had gained his approbation. The words uttered by the Grand Secretary it was a great satisfaction to him to hear; they would make a lasting impression on him. The W.M. next proposed the toast of the Visitors. Brother Ramsay responded. Bro. Cramer returned thanks for the Past Masters, and Bro. F. Binckes made a forcible appeal in responding to the toast of the Masonic Institutions. The other toasts comprised the Treasurer and Secretary, the Wardens and Officers, &c., &c. To each full honour was done. The W.M. exhibited great judgment in selecting a musical party to add to the enjoyment of the meeting. To Bro. Edwin M. Lott was entrusted the arrangements, and he had secured the services of the popular favourite Madame Worrell, Miss Isabella Stone, and Bros. Egbert Roberts and J. Brousil; these artistes exerted themselves most creditably. During the evening Bro. Pigache, by particular request, sang "The Chalet." The following is a list of the Visitors:—Bros. Colonel Shadwell Clerke, Dr. Ramsay, Mather, Hurdy, Jordan, Dunkley, Higgins, Lott, Ruf, Green, Toope, Hobbs, De Grabowski, Kidder, Lemaitre, Festa, Cockerell, Delacroix, H. Wilde, Dickets, Armstrong, Sband, Coffin, Lintell, Wilde, Nicols, Dudley Rolls, Scott, Pigache, Binckes, Green, Armstrong, Kempster, Roberts, Graham, Berkeley, Hubinet, Levy.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF WILTSHIRE.

THE annual meeting was held on Friday, 3rd inst., at the Town Hall, Swindon, the receiving Lodge being the Gooch Lodge, No. 1295, New Swindon. The Provincial Grand Master, Lord Methuen, presided, and was supported by Bros. Sir Gabriel Goldney, Bart., M.P., D.P.G.M., Lord Harry F. Thynne, M.P., Prov. G.W. P.P.S.G.W., Rev. J. A. Lloyd P.G. Chaplain, F. H. Goldney Past G. Steward P.G. Treasurer, T. Ponting P.G. Reg., Henry C. Tombs Past G.D. P.G. Sec., W. T. Briscoe P.G. Sup. of Works, J. Chandler P.P.S.G.W. P.G.D.C., James Sparks, A. J. Benvan P.G. Pursuivant, William Nott P.P.G.J.W. Prov. Char. Sec., Alf. Plummer P.P.G.J.W., T. Graham P.P.G.J.W., C. F. Marshall P.P.G.S.W., T. S. Futcher P.P.G.J.D., Rev. A. Law P.P.G. Chaplain, Rev. G. E. Gardiner P.P.G. Chaplain, S. Gauntlett P.P.G.J.D., J. H. Chandler P.P.G.O., W. H. Brinckworth P.P.G.O., W. S. Bambridge P.P.G.O., S. Badham P.P.G.O., Edwin Eyres P.P.G. Pur., E. Browne P.P.G.S.B., Robert Cook P.P.G.S.B., and many other brethren. There were comparatively few Visitors present, amongst them being Bros. Clement Tudway P.M. 592 P.P.G.D.C. Gloucester, C. E. Botley 780, &c. The roll of the various Lodges was called, and all were found to be duly represented. The Provincial Grand Master—Lord Methuen—after expressing his pleasure at again meeting the brethren, called upon the Prov. G. Secretary—Brother H. C. Tombs—to read the minutes of the last regular meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge, and also of a Lodge of emergency held on the 19th July last, at Devizes, principally for the consecration of a new Masonic Hall there for the Wiltshire Lodge of Fidelity, No. 663. These minutes, which were rather voluminous, having been duly read and confirmed, the Prov. Grand Treasurer—Brother F. H. Goldney—read an abstract of his accounts for the past year, which had been duly audited, the Charity account showing a balance in hand of upwards of £50 in addition to £100 invested in pursuance of the directions of the last Prov. G. Lodge. The accounts were approved. The Prov. G. Secretary then read the minutes of a meeting of the Charity Committee, held that morning. The Committee recommended a donation of £10 to the Prov. Benevolent Fund, and that two brethren who had offered their services should be approved as Stewards to represent the Province at the Festivals of two of the Masonic Institutions in the coming year, viz., Bros. Dr. Theobald Ringer 1533 P.M. 1303 for the Benevolent Institution, and Bro. James Sparks 1271 P.G.O. for the Boys' School. The Report of the Charity Committee and its recommendations were unanimously approved and adopted. A considerable discussion then took place as to the disposal of the balance on the Charity Fund account, and eventually it was resolved that £10 10s be placed on the list of each of the two Stewards named. The P.G. Master, before calling for the reading of the other reports, said that these were rather lengthy, and contained much valuable information which he thought would be much better appreciated if the reports were for the future printed and circulated with the Provincial Grand Lodge summons and agenda paper. The brethren would thus have time to consider them, and it would not then be necessary that such reports should be read in full at the Prov. Grand Lodge. This suggestion was unanimously approved. The Prov. G. Registrar—Bro. T. Ponting—read his usual annual report, which showed that the number of subscribing members in the Province, now 444, was practically the same as for the last two or three years. The report called attention to the fact that the outstanding subscriptions in arrear showed a very slight decrease, whilst the outstanding liabilities were considerably less, but that there was no other alteration in the main feature of the returns. It was especially noted that for the past three years two of the Lodges had neither outstanding assets nor liabilities. Accompanying the report the Registrar submitted an abstract, and the Lodge returns, dealing fully with the accounts both financially and otherwise, and made out on the averages for three years as had been done by his predecessors, and, in submitting it, he suggested that a summary, showing the totals of each Lodge return, would be more useful than one showing the averages for three years, as it would state accurately the position of each Lodge, and consequently of the Province at the date of the return, instead of only its general average position throughout a period of three years. The Provincial Grand Registrar's report was approved, and his suggestion adopted. Bro. William Nott, Provincial Charity Secretary, then read his report on behalf of the Provincial Charity Organisation and Benevolent Fund Committee, which was as follows:—

Charity Organization.

On behalf of the Committee I beg to lay before this Provincial Grand Lodge an account of its work during the past year.

This Province having no candidate for either the Boys' or the Girls' School, was enabled to so dispose of its votes as to more than cancel its indebtedness, and leave a small balance of votes owing to it.

On the Benevolent Fund account matters were different. It having been decided that the case of Mrs. Roach, the candidate adopted by the Committee, should, if possible, be carried at the election last May, arrangements were made by which this object was effected. Owing to the increase in the number of Wiltshire votes sent in to the Committee, to the good help given by outside friends of the candidate, and to certain advantageous arrangements which your Secretary was enabled to make, our candidate's success was secured with only a comparatively small debt being incurred by this Province on the Benevolent Fund account. Our candidate was seventh on the list of the thirteen successful candidates, with a total of 1448 votes.

Thus far as regards this Province more especially, it may be mentioned as regards the other Provinces with which Wiltshire is associated, that at the Boys' School election in April, out of the twelve successful candidates, four were from the allied Provinces, namely, one each from Lincoln, Worcester, Somerset and Leicester, whilst at the election for the same Institution in October now just past, the only case in which the association was interested, a Gloucester case, came in at the head of the poll. As to the Girls' School election, in April, the whole of the candidates were declared elected without ballot; in October the allied Provinces determined to run one candidate only, a Worcester case, and succeeded in carrying it, while the surplus votes beyond the number necessary were polled for a Somersetshire case which has been adopted for the election next spring.

As regards the Benevolent Fund and the other Provinces alluded to, a Widow's case from Bristol would, in addition to the Wiltshire case, have been successfully carried had it not been for some unfortunate mischance in the counting of the votes sent in. As it was, she was highest on the unsuccessful list, and at the next election there will, doubtless, be little difficulty in carrying her case, together with, it is hoped, those of two other candidates, one from Monmouth and one from Worcester.

Your Committee highly appreciates the hearty co-operation received from the representatives of other Provinces, and would more especially mention Bros. Capt. S. G. Homfray D.P.G.M. Monmouth, R. C. Else D.P.G.M. Somerset, W. H. Bowden Bristol, Geo. Taylor P.G. Sec. Worcester, Rev. W. Langley Leicester and Col. Basevi and his successor R. Vassar Smith, Gloucester.

In order to carry out the work which has been recapitulated, your Charity Secretary attended at three of the elections during the year.

The votes the Committee has had placed at its disposal by the Lodges in the Province, and voters connected therewith, during the last three years, have been as follows:—

|---|---|---|---|
| Royal Masonic Institution for Boys ... | 372 | 407 | 475 |
| " " Girls ... | 350 | 372 | 356 |
| " Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons ... | 222 | 219 | 235 |
| " " " for Widows | 127 | 119 | 153 |

being an increase in this year over last year of 102 votes, and being considerably more than in any previous year.

The voting power of the Province is thus shown to be increasing, and it is very necessary that it should increase if Wiltshire is to hold its own at the elections, the number of votes necessary to carry a candidate at either of the Institutions having increased something like fifty per cent. during the past few years.

Wiltshire Recipients of Masonic Charities.

As it may be interesting to the brethren to know what advantages are being derived by this Province from the various Masonic Charitable Institutions, the following particulars have been gathered together:—

Benevolent Institution.

Three widows are now enjoying annuities of £32 each, or a total of £96 per annum. One (whose husband belonged to the Trowbridge Lodge 632) having been in enjoyment of her annuity for six years. Another (Devises 663) for four years, the other (Chippendale 626) being the annuitant elected in May last.

THE MASONIC SCHOOLS.

The Wiltshire Scholars, with the Lodges to which their fathers belonged are as follows, and against the name of each is an extract from the Report of the Governess or Master of the School respecting them:—

Girls' School.

A. M. C. (Old Swindon 355), age 13, elected 1879, leaves the School 1885. "Will rise to third class after Christmas. Is a good girl."

A. L. W. (New Swindon 1295), age 13, elected 1879, leaves 1885. "In fourth class; has lost time through delicate health, but is stronger, and likely to make more progress; is a good girl."

E. M. G. (Salisbury 586), age 11, elected 1879, leaves 1886. "In fifth class and backward, but is a good little girl."

F. J. N. (Old Swindon 355), age 11, elected 1880, leaves 1887. (No report.)

G. E. B. (Old Swindon 355), age 11, elected 1880, leaves 1886. "In fifth class, but is likely to make progress; is a good girl."

G. M. S. (Old Swindon 355), age 9, admitted 1882. "Is a nice little girl admitted this September; is backward."

L. M. S. S. (Trowbridge 632), aged 10, admitted 1882. (No report.)

Boys' School.

H. V. N. S. S. (Trowbridge 632), aged 12, elected 1877, leaves 1886. "Conduct satisfactory, ability and industry fair, and has much improved of late."

It will thus be seen that there are at present no less than eight Wiltshire children enjoying the advantages of education at these Schools, an education which must represent a money value of some £400 per annum and which, added to the annuities, gives a total of about £500 a year.

Stewardships for the Charities.

During the year the following amounts have been taken up to the Festivals of the different Masonic Institutions by the following Stewards from this Province:—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Bro. Martin, Benevolent Institution ... ... | 89 | 5 | 0 |
| Dr. Ringer, Girls' School ... ... ... | 56 | 3 | 0 |
| William Nott, Boys' School ... ... | 147 | 0 | 0 |
| Dr. Ringer, " ... ... | 15 | 15 | 0 |
| Total ... ... | £308 | 3 | 0 |

Benevolent Fund.

No claim as yet has been made upon this fund. The Committee has therefore been enabled to invest the whole of the income, thus helping to form a Capital Fund, which will in a short time be sufficiently large to afford from its investment a substantial annual income.

In last year's report the Committee was only able to furnish a provisional account of receipts and payments, but a complete account, for the year ending 31st December 1881 is appended hereto.

Your Committee in its last year's report ventured to express an opinion that the number of contributing Lodges would this year be increased. Such anticipation has been realised, and there is every reason to hope that next year the whole, or nearly the whole, of the Lodges in the Province will be direct contributors to this fund.

Under the rules of this fund the Provincial Grand Lodge is entitled to nominate one of its Officers as a Life Governor of the fund, in respect of the donation of £50 voted to it last year. The R.W. the P.G.M., the D.P.G.M., the P.G. Treasurer, the P.G. Reg., the P.G. Secretary, and the Charity Secretary are already ex officio members of the Committee. It is therefore suggested whether it would be desirable that this Provincial Grand Lodge should name another of its Officers to be a member of the Committee as Life Governor.

Digitized by Google

The Report was unanimously approved, but the consideration of the suggestion contained in the last paragraph thereof was postponed.

The Provincial Grand Secretary, Bro. Tombs, produced the report of the Bye-laws Committee, accompanied by the Draft of the Bye-laws, which such Committee recommended for adoption. These Bye-laws having been already well discussed in the Province, and generally approved, no discussion now took place upon them.

On the motion of Sir G. Goldney, seconded by Lord H. F. Thynne, the report of the Committee was adopted, and the Bye-laws, as presented, were approved and passed, and ordered to be submitted for the approval of Grand Lodge; and it was resolved that if, and when, such Bye-laws were so approved, they should be printed and circulated in the Province.

Bro. James Powell W.M. of the receiving Lodge—the Gooch Lodge, No. 1295—asked permission to introduce for the approval of the Provincial Grand Master a banner which had been presented to the Gooch Lodge, the device thereon being the armorial bearings of the esteemed brother from whom that Lodge was named—Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart.—formerly D.P.G.M. of Wilts, but now the R.W. Prov. G.M. of Berks and Bucks. Permission having been granted, Bro. Powell, accompanied by the Past Masters of the Lodge, retired, and re-entered with the banner in question. He begged leave to present their banner to the Provincial Grand Master, and to ask his sanction to its being used as the banner of the Gooch Lodge.

Lord Methuen, in reply, said that he most willingly gave his sanction, and that it would have given him additional pleasure if their dear friend, Sir Daniel Gooch, whose name they saw on the banner before them, could himself have been present on the occasion.

Bro. Powell thanked the P.G.M., and the banner was hung in its proper situation on the walls of the Lodge room.

Lord Methuen then said that a very pleasurable duty devolved upon him, and that was to recognise the services to the cause of Charity of two brethren, who during the past year had acted as Stewards for two of the Masonic Charities. He called upon Bro. W. Nott Prov. Charity Secretary, who having in previous years twice filled the office of Steward for the Benevolent Institution, and once the like office for the Girls' School, and thereby become the possessor of the Charity jewel, and one bar, had in 1882 acted as Steward for the Boys' School (with a list of nearly £150), and thus entitled to a second bar. This bar the P.G.M. now, in the name of the Provincial Grand Lodge, presented to Bro. Nott, coupling the presentation with the remark that all the brethren were deeply indebted to him for his successful efforts during many years past in the furtherance of the cause of Masonic Charity in Wiltshire, and the hope that the Province would long have the benefit of his services.

Bro. Nott briefly returned thanks for the presentation, and expressed his gratification that his efforts in the cause of charity had been so well supported, and hoped that in the future he might still merit the approbation of his lordship and the brethren of the Province.

The P.G.M. next called up Bro. Deputy Surgeon General Theobald Ringer, of Lodge 1533, Marlborough (and P.M. of Lodge 1308), who had, during the past year, filled the office of Steward, both for the Girls' School and for the Boys' School, taking up for the former fifty-five, and for the latter fifteen guineas. This entitled him to the Charity Jewel, and such jewel the P.G.M. then, in accordance with the practice in the Province, presented on behalf of the P.G. Lodge to Bro. Ringer. Lord Methuen expressed the pleasure it gave him to thus recognise Bro. Ringer's exertions, and that it was with still further pleasure he found that brother's name down as one of the Stewards of the Province for the ensuing year.

Bro. Ringer thanked his Lordship and the brethren for this recognition of his services.

The Provincial Grand Secretary read the letter issued by the Grand Secretary, dated 9th November 1881, declaring the precedence of Grand Officers over all Provincial Grand Officers (except Prov. G. Masters), whether in their own provinces or not. This letter was ordered to be entered on the minutes.

The Committee as to Revised Book of Constitutions presented a report, in which certain alterations were recommended. This report was unanimously adopted, and the alterations recommended were directed to be submitted to Grand Lodge for consideration.

The R.W. the Provincial Grand Master then addressed the meeting, congratulating himself and Masonry on the excellent attendance that day. Masonry in this Province, fostered as it had been by such Deputy Grand Masters as Sir Daniel Gooch in the past, and Sir Gabriel Goldney in the present, still maintained its position, and showed that their influence on the Province had not been impaired by time. He himself felt deeply indebted to those Provincial Grand Officers, more especially to the Prov. G. Secretary, Bro. Tombs, who so kindly took so much of the labour of the Province off his hands, and he hoped that when he met them again he should be able, thanks to the valuable assistance of those Officers, to again congratulate them on the progress of Masonry in Wiltshire.

The P.G.M. in alluding to several matters which had been brought before them, more especially called attention to that part of the minutes of a preceding P.G.L. which expressed disagreement with Bro. Clabon's proposition to increase the dues to the Grand Lodge Fund of Benevolence payable by Provincial brethren, and expressed a hope that the members of that P.G.L. would as far as possible make a point of attending Grand Lodge when the subject came on for discussion there, in order to support the resolution of the P.G.L. of Wiltshire.

Lord Methuen then declared all offices vacant.

On the proposition of Lord H. F. Thynne, seconded by the Rev. G. E. Gardiner, Bro. F. H. Goldney was re-elected by acclamation as Provincial Grand Treasurer.

The Provincial Grand Officers for the ensuing year were then appointed and invested as follow:—

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Bro. Henry J. Birch 1295 | ... ... | P.G. Senior Warden |
| Col. J. R. Ford 335 | ... ... | P.G. Junior Warden |
| Rev. Canon Millar 626 | ... ... | P.G. Chaplain |
| F. H. Goldney 626 (reelected) | ... | P.G. Treasurer |
| Thomas Ponting 1478 (reappointed) | | P.G. Registrar |
| Henry C. Tombs 355 (reappointed) | | P.G. Secretary |
| George Lopes 626 ... | ... ... | P.G. Senior Deacon |
| Edwin Browne 1295 | ... ... | P.G. Junior Deacon |
| J. H. Chandler 663 | ... ... | P G. Supt. of Works |
| John Chandler 355 (reappointed) | | P.G.D.C. |
| James Powell 1295 | ... ... | P.G.A.D.C. |
| T. C. P. Calley 355 | ... ... | P.G.S.B. |
| Frederick Harding 355 | ... ... | P.G. Organist |
| Joseph Goudge 1295 | ... ... | P.G. Pursuivant |
| John Savory 355 (reelected) | ... | P.G. Tyler |

This ended the business of the meeting, and the Provincial Grand Lodge was duly closed.

The brethren afterwards dined together at the Goddard Arms Hotel, under the presidency of the R.W. Prov. Grand Master, when the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly given and warmly responded to.

We beg to draw our readers' attention to a modest little Masonic work published this week, and entitled "Occasional Papers on the History of Freemasonry." We cannot take upon ourselves to say much as to the "Papers" themselves, which have already appeared in our columns, nor need we lay much stress on the object in view in reproducing them in book form. They were compiled for the express purpose of being read in Lodges, and in Lodges of Instruction, and it is worthy of remark that, whenever any of them have been so read, they have met with a most flattering reception from all present. Now that they are before the Masonic public, they will, we trust, remove a complaint that has been often made in connection with the said Lodges of Instruction, to the effect that brethren would more regularly attend those useful Lodges, and take a greater interest in their proceedings, if there were occasional departures from the ordinary routine of work. These Papers, if utilised, will afford the much-needed relief from the monotony complained of. We have described the new publication as a modest little work, and modest it is, undoubtedly, in the important essential of price, which is only One Shilling. Our publisher has reason to be proud of this, when we bear in mind that the great obstacle to the free spread of useful Masonic literature has always been the exorbitant prices charged for works of no greater pretensions, and oftentimes possessing less interesting and instructive matter than this.

On Thursday, the 2nd instant, the members of the Lechmere Lodge, No. 1874, meeting at the Masonic Hall, Kidderminster, Worcestershire, paid a tribute of their respect to Bro. George Taylor, Prov. Grand Secretary, and Prov. Charity Secretary, who was first W.M. of this Lodge, by presenting him with a magnificent Past Master's jewel, specially manufactured by Bro. H. T. Lamb, of St. John's Square, Clerkenwell. The design embodies the Borough Arms, and the Arms and Crest of Sir E. A. H. Lechmere, Bart., M.P., Prov. Grand Master of Worcestershire, after whom the Lodge is named. The following is the inscription:—

Presented to Bro. George Taylor,
P.P.S.G.W., P.G. Secretary, P.M. 377 and 1874, and W.M. 560, on the termination of his year of office as W.M. of the Lechmere Lodge, No. 1874, in recognition of his labours in promoting its foundation, March 1882.

On Thursday Bro. Richard Wilder was elected Mayor of Wallingford.

Mr. Paul Meritt, the well-known dramatist, whose name has become a household word throughout the entire English-speaking world in connection with such extraordinary dramatic successes as "Youth," "The World," "New Babylon," "Stolen Kisses," "Mankind," and "For Ever," has just completed an original ultra-sensational story of domestic interest, called "The Hidden Million," which has just been secured by the proprietors of the Pictorial World, and will form the entire Christmas number of that paper. The Story will be illustrated, by such distinguished artists as Robert Macbeth, Frederick Barnard, Hal Ludlow, Wal Paget, F. Barton, F. Barraud, W. B. Wollen, Charles Wyllie, M. ## HONOUR TO THE BRAVE.

IT is a good quarter of a century since the Queen has held a review of troops on their return home after having been engaged in warlike operations. In 1856 the three battalions of the Guards on their return from the Crimea were inspected by Her Majesty in Hyde Park, the other four battalions of the same corps being likewise on the ground and marching past the saluting point. The year following our gracious Sovereign was the central figure in another imposing military ceremony, namely, the distribution of Victoria Crosses to the gallant officers and men who had been recommended to receive it for their personal exhibition of distinguished valour in the field. The Order had only a short time previously been created, and to mark the Sovereign's sense of the importance she attached to this first distribution of the Cross, there was a considerable gathering of troops on the occasion, who were under the command, we believe, of the late Lord Clyde, then Sir Colin Campbell, among other distinguished persons who were present being the late Earl of Cardigan, the gallant leader of the Light Brigade. Since then no other military ceremony has taken place in London, or, indeed, as far as we know, in any part of the country in which soldiers returning from a campaign have passed in review before the Queen. The ceremony, therefore, which has been arranged for to-day (Saturday) on the parade ground at the back of the Horse Guards is one which cannot fail to bring together vast multitudes not only of Londoners, but also of people from all parts of the country. Preparations are being made to give all possible éclat to the review. Accommodation has been provided so far as the limited space at the disposal of the authorities will permit, for all who, officially or otherwise, have a claim to be present, and no doubt, if we are favoured with what is familiarly known as "Queen's weather," the spectacle will be as imposing as it is rare. Bro. Sir Garnet Wolseley, who commanded the expeditionary force to Egypt, will necessarily be the central figure. With him will be present Sir John Adye, his chief of the Staff, General Willis, who commanded the first division, Major-General Drury-Lowe, who commanded the cavalry, Major-General H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught at the head of his brigade of Guards, and Brother Sir Evelyn Wood in command of the second brigade. The Seamen, Marine Artillery, Marine Light Infantry, the Engineers, the Commissariat, Transport, and Postal Corps will also be represented. In short, every branch of the sister services lately engaged in Egypt will take part in the Review, including of course the small contingent of officers, non-commissioned officers, and men of the Indian contingent now visiting this country. The Review itself will be a most simple operation, and will be confined to a march past of the troops on the ground, but the Queen has resolved on doing her utmost to make the display as attractive and as honourable as possible to the naval and military professions by personally distributing medals to selected representatives of the different regiments and detachments that took part in the campaign.

To the Craft, who must have many friends among our victorious soldiery and seamen, such a display will necessarily commend itself. As loyal subjects they admire all who have successfully discharged any public duty, and as individual members of the community, they, in common with all others, will be only too delighted to have this opportunity of paying Honour to the Brave.

THE subject of Private Lodges is dealt with in the third principal head or subdivision of the Revised Edition, and a mere glance at this and the existing edition will suffice to show that it has undergone the process of re-arrangement to a very considerable extent. Thus, in the present Book, it is first of all laid down who are the Officers of a Lodge, &c.; how, and how often, they shall be elected or appointed; what office shall not be held concurrently by the same brother in two Lodges, except under what conditions; what brethren shall not hold office except under what conditions; that Lodges may frame their own bye-laws," &c. &c. &c. In the Revised Edition we start with the "Application for a warrant for a new lodge;" "Provisional warrants from district grand masters;" "Must be exchanged for regular warrants;" "Form of petition for a warrant;" "A lodge must be regularly constituted;" all which are taken from the heading in the present Book "OF CONSTITUTING A NEW LODGE." This re-arrangement may justly be described as a violent disturbance of the Order of our Regulations, for which, as far as we can see, no sufficient justification can be shown. We are told in the "Synopsis" which accompanies the Revised Constitutions, that "the Rules are arranged methodically, having regard to their bearing and sequence," but the constitution of a new Lodge is merely an ordinary incident in the every-day life of Freemasonry, for which of course it is necessary to make provision in our Regulations, but which cannot be said to be entitled to any priority of "bearing or sequence" over the laws that affect all Lodges, both those already constituted, and those which may hereafter be constituted. If "bearing or sequence" are to be our guides in the arrangement of our Constitutions, it must be clear to every one that our first duty is to lay down the definition of a Lodge, and then to describe its organisation. Of course, the primary business of a number of brethren who are desirous of setting up a new Lodge is to obtain the necessary authority in the shape of a Warrant of Constitution from the Grand Master. But the petitioners must be registered Masons, who are or have been members of regular Lodges, and the prayer "must be recommended by the master and wardens of a regular lodge." The new Lodge is thus an offshoot from a Lodge or Lodges already in existence, and it seems a curious kind of methodical arrangement which gives priority of "bearing and sequence" to the rules for constituting a new Lodge over those which concern the existence and organisation of Lodges already in existence. It must likewise be borne in mind, as still further confirming our views as to the impropriety of the present arrangement, that new Lodges are organised exactly after the manner of old Lodges. We should, therefore, be told first of all what this organisation is, and then it will be time to describe the steps that must be taken in order to constitute a new Lodge. For our own part, this constituting of a new Lodge being, as we have said, a mere ordinary Masonic incident, we should prefer seeing the regulations affecting it placed in a group by themselves as a kind of Appendix to the division, "Private Lodges." There is, indeed, no sufficient reason, as far as we can see, why the existing head "OF CONSTITUTING A NEW LODGE" should not be retained, so much of the Ceremonial and Directions as are obsolete being omitted, and their place supplied by the directions now observed.

EPPS'S (GRATEFUL COMFORTING) COCOA.

As to the rules for the establishment of new Lodges, they are an improvement on those now in existence. See the first, second, and third paragraphs "OF CONSTITUTING A NEW LODGE," at pp 126-7.

| "116. Every application for a warrant to hold a new lodge must be by petition to the grand master, signed by at least seven master masons regularly registered under the constitution of the grand lodge of England, and specifying the lodges to which they belong, or formerly belonged. The petition must be recommended by the master and wardens of a regular lodge, and be transmitted to the grand secretary; and in the case of any petitioner who is not a present subscribing member of a lodge, his clearance certificate from his last lodge must also be transmitted to the grand secretary. If the lodge is proposed to be holden in a province, or district, the petition and certificates are to be forwarded in the first instance to the provincial or district grand master, as the case may be, or to his deputy, who is to forward them with his recommendation or opinion thereon to the grand secretary for the decision of the grand master." | P 126. "Every application for a warrant to hold a new lodge must be by petition to the grand master, signed by at least seven regularly registered masons; and the lodges to which they belong, or formerly belonged, must be specified. The petition must be recommended by the officers of a regular lodge, and be transmitted to the grand secretary, unless there be a provincial grand master of the district or province in which the lodge is proposed to be holden, in which case it is first to be sent to him, or to his deputy, who is to forward it, with his recommendation or opinion thereon for the grand master." |
| "117. The grand master may authorise district grand masters, in such districts as he shall think proper, to grant provisional warrants for the formation of new lodges within their respective districts upon the petition of any seven master masons regularly registered under the constitution of the grand lodge of England. The authority when given to continue during the pleasure of the grand master." | "The M.W. grand master may authorise district grand masters, in such districts as he shall think proper, to grant provisional warrants for the formation of new lodges within their respective districts upon the petition of any seven regularly registered masons, who shall have fully complied with the rules and regulations in force relating to the constituting new lodges. The authority when given to continue during the pleasure of the grand master. |
| "118. Whenever such provisional warrant shall have been granted, the master of the new lodge shall, within one month, apply by petition to the grand master for a regular warrant of constitution; and upon receipt of such petition, which must state the fact that a provisional warrant has been granted and be countersigned by the district grand master, a regular warrant shall be issued." | "Whenever such provisional warrant shall have been granted, the master of the new lodge shall, within one month, apply by petition to the grand master for a regular warrant of constitution; and upon receipt of such petition, which must state the fact that a provisional warrant has been granted and be countersigned by the district grand master, a regular warrant shall be issued." |

The clause in italics in No. 116 is an additional, and at the same time a most important, provision. Without such certificates to guide him, the Grand Master might grant a warrant on the petition of unworthy brethren. It is further to be noticed that the petitioners must, at least to the number of seven, be Master Masons, which will also secure a stronger class of brethren as the founders of a new Lodge.

With reference to No. 119, which contains the "form of petition for a warrant to hold a new lodge," we would observe that what we will call the preamble—"We, the undersigned, being regular registered masons of the lodges mentioned against our respective names, having the prosperity of the craft at heart"—is not strictly in accordance with the Rules Nos. 116 and 117, which prescribe that the petition must be "signed by at least seven master masons regularly registered under the," &c. It is true nothing has been said as to the exclusion of F.C. and E.A.P. Masons from the category of petitioners for a new Lodge, and the term "regular registered masons" may apply with equal force to them as well as to Master Masons. But we necessarily attach importance to the substitution in the said Nos. 116 and 117 of the words "Master Masons" for "regularly registered Masons." A careful comparison of the proposed with the present regulations induces us to believe that the qualifying words, "at least seven," are not intended to imply that, whatever the number and status of the petitioners may be, "at least seven" of them must be "master masons," but rather that the petitioners must be all Master Masons, of whom, however, there need not be more than "seven" to justify the petition. For this reason, therefore, we would insert in the form of petition the word "Master," so that the proposed Rule should begin, "We, the undersigned, being regular registered Master Masons of the," &c.

No. 120 corresponds with the paragraph at p 128, which immediately follows "the form of petition for a warrant," and with Art. 10, p 64, with the exception of the first sentence. Side by side they read thus:—

| "120. In order to avoid irregularities, every new lodge should be solemnly constituted, according to antient usage, by the grand master, with his deputy and wardens; or, in the absence of the grand master, by his deputy, who shall choose some master of a lodge to assist him. If the deputy be absent, the grand master may appoint some other grand officer or master or past master of a lodge to act as deputy pro tempore. No lodge shall be acknowledged, nor its officers admitted into the grand lodge or a provincial grand lodge, nor any of its members entitled to partake of the fund of benevolence or other masonic privilege, unless it has been regularly constituted and registered." | P. 128. "In order to avoid irregularities, every new lodge should be solemnly constituted by the grand master, with his deputy and wardens; or, in the absence of the grand master, by his deputy, who shall choose some master of a lodge to assist him. If the deputy be absent, the grand master may appoint some other grand officer or master of a lodge to act as deputy pro tempore.10. (p. 64). . . . . "No lodge shall be acknowledged, nor its officers admitted into the grand lodge or a provincial grand lodge, nor any of its members entitled to partake of the general charity or other masonic privilege, unless it has been regularly constituted and registered." |

The only remark we need offer upon this is that, according to the proposed Rule, a "past master," as well as a "master," may act as "deputy pro tempore" in the absence of that officer. Under the existing law the deputy's place can only be taken by a "master"—"some other grand officer" being common to both rules. There can be no objection to this extension of the present rule, but in such case, if a deputy's place can be occupied by a "master or past master of a lodge," why should not the law allow the said deputy to "choose some master or past master of a lodge to assist him?" If a "past master" is held competent to discharge the functions of deputy, he must be equally competent to "assist" him. Or, if he is incompetent to "assist" him, à fortiori must he be incompetent to take his place. No doubt the omission to which we have called attention is an oversight, and will be made good, when the Revised Edition comes to be carefully considered rule by rule, and clause by clause.

Rule No. 121 is new, and, in our opinion, is quite superfluous, while the marginal note flatly contradicts the purport of the proposed law. It lays it down that "No brother shall be installed as master or invested as a warden of a new lodge, except the brother named in the warrant for such office, unless by special sanction of the grand master." The marginal note reads—"The officers named in the warrant cannot be altered," notwithstanding the law itself says they can be altered "by special sanction of the grand master."

Rule No. 122 must be read with the first sentence of Art. 10, p 64, and Art. 1, p 44. These fit together appropriately enough, as will be seen when they are placed side by side with the existing separate rules.

| "122. Lodges shall rank in precedence in the order of their numbers as registered in the books of the grand lodge. The grand stewards' lodge shall not have a number, but shall be registered in the books of the grand lodge, and placed in the printed list, at the head of all other lodges, and rank accordingly." | 10 (p 64). "The precedency of lodges is derived from their constitution, as recorded in the books of the grand lodge." . . . .1 (p 44). "The grand stewards' lodge shall not have a number, but shall be registered in the books of the grand lodge, and placed in the printed list, at the head of all other lodges, and rank accordingly." |

The first sentence of the proposed rule is a decided improvement, in respect of language, on the existing part of the said Art. 10, and is, historically, more accurate, as the dates of "their constitution," as they concern the surviving lodges of the Union, are no criterion of their "precedency." We have said the two parts of No. 122, as taken from Art. 10, p 64, and Art. I, p 44, fit well enough together, but, in our opinion, a still better arrangement might have been made. We would have joined Rule No. 123 as to the "Peculiar constitution of the grand stewards' lodge," with so much of No. 122 as determines the precedence of the said lodge, and made out of them one concise rule as to the "rank and constitution of grand stewards' lodge." Then we would have taken the first part of No. 122, as to the general "precedence of lodges," and combined with it No. 124, as to the "Local precedence of provincial" (or district) "lodges." Thus our Rule No. 122 would stand thus :—

"The grand stewards' lodge, which, being constituted as a master masons' lodge, has no power of making, passing, or raising masons, shall not have a number, but shall be registered in the books of the grand lodge, and placed in the printed list, at the head of all other lodges, and rank accordingly."

What in such case would be Rule No. 123, we propose should be made up of the first part of No. 122 and 124, and would be to the following effect :—"The other Lodges shall take precedence in Grand Lodge in the order of their numbers as registered in the books of the Grand Lodge. But every Provincial or District Lodge shall have a local as well as a general rank," &c., &c. Or, better still, perhaps as it would necessitate no further alteration of the Rule numbers, we might have No. 123 close with the words, "in the books of the Grand Lodge," while No. 124 would stand as proposed.

As to this Rule No. 124, it is substantially Art. 4, p 73, reproduced, but it is made applicable to Districts as well as Provinces. Thus, instead of beginning, "Every country lodge shall have a local," &c., the proposed rule reads, "Every provincial or district lodge shall have," &c., the words "or district" being inserted after "province" whenever the latter occurs. Be it added that, in order to be in harmony with the Rule, the marginal note should read, "Local precedence of provincial and district lodges."

Nos. 125 and 126 are new rules, the former enacting that "A lodge cannot act without a warrant," and the latter providing for the contingency of a warrant being lost or withheld. Thus, according to No. 125, "No lodge, except while acting under dispensation in the colonies or foreign parts, can meet without a warrant of constitution from the grand master, which is to be specially intrusted to the master for the time being at his installation, who is responsible for its safe custody and shall produce it at every meeting of the lodge. This regulation does not apply to the Lodge of Antiquity, No. 2, and the Royal Somerset House and Inverness Lodge, No. 4, which act under immemorial constitutions." No. 126 is to the effect that "If a warrant be lost, or withheld by competent masonic authority, the lodge must suspend its meetings until a warrant of confirmation has been applied for and granted by the grand master, or until the warrant so withheld be restored." As to the former of these rules we will merely ask why, if the printed list of Lodges in the Grand Lodge Calendar is intended to serve as our guide to their "dates of origin," Lodges Nos. 3, 5, 7, 9, 11, 13, and 15, which are described in the said list as "T.I." Lodges, are not also excluded from the operation of this law? Or, if this law is to be our guide, and it is authoritatively determined by it that the only Lodges "which act under immemorial constitutions" are Nos. 2 and 4, then we shall gladly be informed why the Calendar Committee of the Board of General Purposes is bent on misleading us into the belief there are nine instead of two Time Immemorials. We should like to know, in other words, if Lodges "Nos. 3, 5, 7, 9, 11, 13, and 15 are to be considered as working under warrants of constitution from the Grand Master; if the said warrants are "specially intrusted" to the respective Masters of the Lodges; andif is is intended the said Masters shall produce the said warrants at the several meetings of the said Lodges. Also, in the event of the warrants of any of these Lodges being lost, if they are to "suspend" their meetings until warrants of "confirmation" have been applied for and "granted by the grand master." This may seem a formidable array of questions to propound, but if the Book of Constitutions and the Grand Lodge Calendar, both of which are published under the authority of Grand Lodge itself, are distinctly at variance, it will be necessary we should have the variance cleared up. As to No. 126, we have nothing further to suggest than that the marginal note should read "warrant lost or withheld."

No. 127, we are led to believe, is directed against the sale of a Lodge warrant; and so it is, but in part only. It is also directed against the equally, or, perhaps even more, heinous offence of procuring a warrant "by any other means than through the regular channel of petition to the grand master or district grand master." Here again, therefore, the marginal note, "Warrant not to be sold," is insufficient, and to rightly describe the purport of the law, there should be added the words "or irregularly procured." Those who have had a hand in framing the Revised Regulations must or should know that it is quite possible for a précis to be too precise. This No. 127 is a case in point. It deals with two distinct offences, one being the sale of a Lodge warrant, the other the procuring such a warrant through an improper channel. The marginal note takes cognisance only of the former. As to the Rule itself, it must be read with Art. 28, p 70, there being, however, an additional clause which greatly strengthens the law now in force. This addition is printed in italics.

| "127. If the warrant of a lodge be sold, or procured by any other means than through the regular channel of petition to the grand master or district grand master, such warrant shall be forfeited, and the lodge erased, and all brethren concerned in such sale or irregularity shall be deemed to have committed a masonic offence." | 28 (p 70). "If the warrant of a lodge be sold, or procured by any other means than through the regular channel of petition to the grand master, or district grand master, such warrant shall be forfeited, and the lodge erased." |

The addition, as we have said, greatly strengthens the existing law. The forfeiture of the warrant, and the erasure of the Lodge, are a severe punishment, but they do not touch the wrongdoers. When the latter know they are "deemed to have committed a masonic offence," they will have before them the fear of individual Masonic punishment.

No. 128 is absolute in the prescriptions it lays down, whereas the law it is intended to supersede (Art. 11, p 65) is optional. They compare thus :—

|---|---|
| "128. Every lodge must be distinguished by a name or title, as well as a number, and no lodge shall be permitted to make any alteration in its name or title without the approval of the grand master, and in provinces or districts, also that of the provincial or district grand master. Any such alteration must be immediately communicated to the grand secretary for registration." | 11 (p 65). "Any lodge which may not be distinguished by a name or title, being desirous of taking one, must, for that purpose, procure the approbation of the grand master, or provincial grand master, and the name must be registered with the grand secretary. No lodge shall be permitted to alter its name without the like approbation." |

In No. 129 are enumerated the Officers of a Lodge, both those who are necessary to its proper organisation, and those whom it rests with the Master to appoint or not, at his pleasure. There is also attached to the law as proposed the proviso that no brother shall hold at one time more than one office. The proposed and present rules read side by side thus :—

| "129. The regular officers of a lodge consist of the master and his two wardens, a treasurer, a secretary, two deacons, an inner guard, and a tyler. The master may also appoint a chaplain, a director of the ceremonies, an organist, and stewards. No brother can hold more than one office in the lodge at one and the same time." | 1 (p 61). "The officers of the lodge are the master and his two wardens, with their assistants the two deacons, inner guard, and tyler. There must also be a treasurer and a secretary. A chaplain, a master of the ceremonies, and stewards may be appointed." |

We are glad to see the word "director" substituted for "master" of the ceremonies. It will secure uniformity in our official titles, whereas under the existing law a certain confusion is constantly arising, and the term "director of ceremonies," which properly describes certain Officers in Grand Lodge, and Provincial or District Grand Lodges, is applied indifferently to the Officers in private lodges, who are charged with similar functions. Nothing, however, is said about a Past Master; for whom provision is customarily made in our lodges, there being always, in the case of a new Lodge, some Installed Master enrolled for the office.

No. 130 is constructed partly out of Art. 2, p 62, and partly from Art. 1, p 76, as will be seen from the following comparison :—

|---|---|
| "130. Every lodge shall annually, at a stated period, proceed to elect its master by ballot from among those of its members who have duly served the office of warden in a regular lodge warranted under the English constitution. At the next regular meeting the first business after the opening of the Lodge shall be the reading of the minutes of the preceding meeting, and if they be confirmed so far, at least, as relates to the election of master, he shall be deemed to be elected, and shall be duly installed in the chair according to antient usage. No master elect shall assume the master's chair until he has been regularly installed. Should the minutes of the election of master not be confirmed, then a summons must be issued for the following regular meeting of the lodge, setting forth that the brethren will again proceed to elect a master, and on the confirmation of the minutes of that election at the following regular meeting of the lodge, the installation of the master shall follow." | 2 (p 62). "Every lodge shall annually elect its master . . . . by ballot, such master having regularly served as a warden of a warranted lodge for one year, and, at the next meeting after his election, when the minutes are confirmed, he shall be duly installed in the chair according to antient usage." . . . .1 (p 76). . . . . Previously to the installation of the master, the minutes of the preceding meeting of the lodge must be read and confirmed, so far at least as to the election of the master, after which the usual ceremonies of installation are to be performed, and no master elect shall assume the master's chair until he shall have been regularly installed, though he may in the interim rule the lodge. Should the minutes of the election of master not be confirmed, then a summons must be issued for the following regular meeting of the lodge, setting forth that the brethren were again to proceed to elect a master, and on the confirmation of the minutes of that election at the following regular meeting of the lodge, the installation of the master will follow." |

Speaking in general terms, the proposed rule is preferable to the parts of rules it is intended to supersede. It brings the whole subject before the reader lucidly and in a compact form, instead of distributing it under two heads. Taking the parts of the proposed rule severally in the order of their occurrence, we notice, as regards the first sentence, that it fixes "a stated period" for the election of Master, who must be chosen from among the members "who have duly served the office of warden," not simply "of a warranted lodge," but "in a regular lodge warranted under the English Constitution." This is an improvement. Under the existing law a brother who has served the office of Warden in a regular Scotch or Irish Lodge is eligible, and the limitation to English Lodges is to be commended. On the other hand, the words "for one year" in the existing law have no place in the proposed law, which merely requires that the members from whom the Master is eligible shall have "duly" served the said office of Warden. We do not think the proposed clause, as worded, is satisfactory. There is nothing in this rule, or elsewhere, so far as we have carried our researches, to indicate that "duly" and "in one year" have equal force. Such may be the intention of the compilers, but, in the absence of a distinct definition, "duly" may be made to bear different meanings by different brethren. We would certainly substitute for the present clause, "who have served the office of Warden for one year in a regular Lodge warranted under the English Constitution." As to the next sentence, we would suggest that it might with advantage be curtailed. The first business at every regular Lodge meeting, "after the opening of the lodge," is the reading and confirmation of the minutes. We would suggest it should run thus: "At the next regular meeting, if, after the opening of the Lodge, the minutes of the preceding meeting be confirmed so far, at least, as relates to the election of Master, he shall be," &c. &c. &c. The omission from the next sentence of the words "though he may in the interim rule the lodge" is necessary, as a Master continues in office until his successor has been installed. The last sentence only calls for a note of minor importance. It will read the better if the words "of the lodge" are omitted from the phrases "for the following regular meeting of the lodge" and "at the following regular meeting of the lodge."

No. 131 provides for the case of "a prince of the blood royal" accepting the office of Master of a private Lodge.—See second part of Art. 1, p 61, with which it corresponds almost verbatim. No. 132, "The master's obligation," is Art. 2, p 77, and No. 133 compares with part of Art. 5, p 78, over which it has a decided advantage as regards sense.

| REVISED EDITION. | EXISTING EDITION. |
|---|---|
| "133. The master is responsible for the due observance of the laws, by the lodge over which he presides." | 5 (p 78) "The master is responsible for the due observance of the laws relating to private lodges." |

We see no necessity, in the proposed law, for a comma between the words "laws" and "by." He is responsible not "for the due observance of the laws," which would be exacting too much of him, but for their due observance by the lodge over which he presides.

Nos. 134, providing that a brother "cannot be Master of two Lodges at same time," and 135, defining the "period of office" he may serve continuously, need no comment. No. 136 provides for the appointment of Wardens, &c. the election of Treasurer, and the choice of Tyler, a portion of Art. 1, p 94, referring to the removal of the last mentioned being incorporated with part of Art. 2, p 62. The proposed and the present rules compare thus :—

| "136. Upon his installation the master shall appoint his wardens and other officers, except the treasurer, who shall be annually elected by ballot on the regular day of election of master, and the tyler who is to be chosen by the members of the lodge and may at any time be removed for cause deemed sufficient by a majority of the brethren present at a regular meeting of the Lodge." | 2 (p 62) . . . . "after which" —that is, his installation—"he shall appoint his wardens and other officers, except the treasurer; the tyler is to be chosen by the members of the Lodge."1 (p 94) . . . . "and may at any time be removed, for cause deemed sufficient by a majority of the brethren present, at a regular meeting of the Lodge." |

No. 137, as to "master and wardens to sign in grand lodge book," is substantially the same as Art. 7, p 78, with the addition of the clause, "and no master, past master or warden of any London lodge shall be entitled to enter the grand lodge unless he shall have previously signed his name in such book." No. 138 disqualifies the master of the house at which a Lodge meets from holding office in such Lodge, except under proper dispensation, while No. 139, "master and wardens to attend summonses," embodies all that relates to the subject in Art. 23, p 69; Art. 8, p 31; Arts. 5 and 8, p 78; and Art. 30, p 71. No. 140—"Removal of officers"—fits with Art. 9, p 79, but the improvement will be more apparent if we place the two side by side.

| "140. Should the master be dissatisfied with the conduct of any of his officers, he may lay the cause of complaint before the lodge at a regular meeting; and if it shall appear to the majority of the brethren present that the complaint be well founded, the master shall have power to displace such officer, and to appoint another. If a vacancy shall occur in any office other than that of treasurer or tyler, the master shall appoint a brother to serve such office for the remainder of the year, and if the vacancy be in the office of treasurer or tyler the lodge shall, after due notice in the summons, elect a successor for the remainder of the year." | "9 (p 79). The wardens and officers of a lodge cannot be removed, unless for a cause which appears to the lodge sufficient; but the master, if he be dissatisfied with the conduct of any of his officers, may lay the cause of complaint before the lodge; and if it shall appear to the majority of the brethren present that the complaint be well founded, he shall have power to displace such officer, and appoint another." |

So much of proposed No. 140 as we print in italics constitutes a necessary addition, as the existing law does not recognise any distinction as between Officers appointed by the Master, and those elected or chosen by the Lodge.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The blood being the very essence of health and life, it is most essential that it should be thoroughly purified before the depressing influences of winter display themselves. These Pills will accomplish this purification in a safe and satisfactory manner, and put the circulation in that desirable condition which alone can rightly form flesh, bone, muscle, nerve, and skin. Capricious appetites, weak digestions, torpid livers, and irregular bowels are corrected by this potent medicine, which may be truly said to induce "a sane mind in a sound body." Holloway's Pills possess the remarkable property of cleansing without weakening. While purifying they are strengthening and adding to those enjoyments of life which health and vigour can alone bestow.

THE REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—While every one must sympathise with the friend of your correspondent A. B., it must be obvious he had only himself to blame for the unpleasant predicament in which he found himself on the occasion specified. Assuming that A. B.'s friend was a Past Master, and had done some "excellent work" in his Lodge, I hope I am justified in assuming further that, at some period of his career, he had occasionally consulted the Book of Constitutions. In it there is a special heading "Of Grand Standard Bearers" which I will quote in full:—

"Grand standard bearers may be appointed by the grand master as occasion shall require. They must be master masons and are to carry the standards of the grand lodge, grand patron, and grand master, on all grand ceremonies. They are not, however, by their appointment, members of the grand lodge, nor are they to wear the clothing of a grand officer.

"Any grand officer, entitled to have a standard, may, whenever it shall be necessary, appoint a standard bearer, who must be a master mason."

That for the last sixteen years great laxity in this particular respect must have prevailed in the Province of Staffordshire is evident from A. B.'s letter. Otherwise Prov. Grand Standard Bearers would not have been appointed, nor would they have received jewels of office from, or paid fees of honour to, the D. Prov. G. Master, or worn the purple "in common with other Provincial Grand Lodge Officers."

In the Book of Constitutions as revised, provision is made in Rule 18 for the appointment by the Grand Master of two Grand Standard Bearers. According to Rule No. 288, the jewel of a Grand Standard Bearer is "Two staves in saltire tied by a ribbon; flowing from the dexter a standard of the arms of the grand lodge, and from the sinister a standard of the arms of the grand master for the time being." Under Rule No. 307, he is to pay to the Fund of Benevolence, a fee of Five Guineas (£5 5s). There is, however, nothing said in Rule No. 88 in which are enumerated the Provincial or District Grand Officers whom a Provincial or District Grand Master may appoint. Consequently, if the list remains unaltered, there will be no Prov. or District G. Standard Bearer.

Very faithfully and fraternally yours,

LONDON.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER.—I think you are quite right in prominently drawing attention to the omission of certain functions belonging to the Grand Master and to Provincial and District Grand Masters from what I conceive to be their proper places under the respective heads of "Grand Lodge," and "Provincial and District Grand Lodges." You say, with reference to the proposed new Rule, No. 81, in the latter division: "It is a fair criticism whether it would not have been better to group all the functions of the Grand Master under the head of 'Grand Lodge,' and all those of the Provincial and District Grand Master under that of 'Provincial and District Grand Lodges.'" You further suggest, in the particular case under notice, that it might perhaps be necessary to have some corresponding law under "Private Lodges," reference being made in such law to the law or laws already enacted under the previous heading or headings. Passing over this suggestion, I would point out that proposed new laws Nos. 142 and 143, the former of which provides that "the grand master has full authority to preside in any lodge" he may visit, and the latter that, in the Grand Master's absence, the Deputy Grand Master has the same authority, ought most decidedly to have a place in the division, "Grand Lodge," while Nos. 144 and 145, which provide similar enactments in the cases, first, of a Provincial or District Grand Master, and then of his Deputy, belong rightly to the division, "Provincial and District Grand Lodges." I should like to hear what, if any, justification the Committee of Revision—I suppose it is a committee which has undertaken, and thus far carried out, this work—can offer for excluding from the divisions "Grand Lodge," and "Provincial and District Grand Lodges," laws which especially assign these functions to the chiefs of those bodies, and, in certain circumstances, to their deputies. In the four rules, in their order of sequence, which I have quoted, the subjects which severally govern them, are the Grand Master, who "has full authority to preside in any lodge;" the Deputy Grand Master who, in the Grand Master's absence, has the same authority; the Provincial or District Grand Master, who "may preside in every Lodge he visits within his province or district;" and in the absence of the Provincial or District Grand Master, his Deputy who, in that case, "may preside," &c. &c. These, in fact, are the central figures, while the Lodges they visit occupy an absolutely subordinate position. In the present Book of Constitutions, Art. 5, p 31, providing that the Grand Master has full authority to preside in any Lodge, is placed under the heading "Of Grand Master and Pro Grand Master;" Art. 2, p 33, makes similar provision for the Dep. G. Master, and is placed under the heading appropriated to that functionary. Art. 3, p 46, similarly concerns the Provincial Grand Master, and is classed under "Provincial or District Grand Master," while part of Art. 2, p 50, makes similar provision for the Dep. Prov. G. Master. You will gather from what I have said that I consider the four existing provisions are rightly classified as stated, and that the new rules corresponding with them should not be included under the heading of "Private Lodges." There can, of course, be no objection to a rule or rules being included under that head, in which the private Lodge will occupy the place of subject, while the Grand Master, and the rest of them will play—that is, in a syntactical sense—only subordinate parts.

If I take proposed rule No. 166, which lays down the conditions necessary to the removal of Lodges, I shall perhaps succeed in making my meaning more clear. In this the Lodge, whether London, Provincial, or District, is the subject or central figure, and very properly so. It is the Lodge which initiates the idea of a removal from the place in which it was warranted to meet to some other and more convenient place. To carry out this removal the consent of the Grand Master, &c. is necessary, but I repeat, it is the Lodge which in this instance takes the initiative, and, consequently, it is round and about the Lodge that every person mentioned, and everything to be done under the provisions of this law, centres. It is otherwise in the case of the Grand Master, &c. visiting a Lodge, for he it is who takes the initiative, and becomes the central figure, while all other persons and things are absolutely dependent on him.

So far as the little leisure time at my disposal has enabled me I have carefully, and, to the best of my ability, studied the proposed code of Regulations. I see everywhere signs of the great care bestowed upon the work, and you can hardly turn over a page without feeling called upon to recognise some improvement; but I feel sure that you and others will agree with me that much remains to be done before this new code shall be adopted.

Fraternally yours,

"Q."

Bro. Kuhe's Brighton Festival concluded on Saturday last, with a very successful performance of M. Gounod's Oratorio of the "Redemption," the Dome being crowded in every part with people eager to hear and judge of its merits. The day previous had been set apart by our worthy brother for his benefit, and consequently a very full and interesting programme of vocal and instrumental music was arranged for the occasion. With hardly an exception the numbers chosen gave satisfaction to the audience, Miss Kuhe especially distinguishing herself by her brilliant performance of Weber's "Concertstücke," the general effect of which was greatly enhanced by the able manner in which she was supported by the orchestra.

The Provincial Grand Lodge of Leicestershire and Rutland will be held next Tuesday, under the auspices of the Vale of Catmos Lodge, No. 1265, at the Agricultural Hall, Oakham, when, under the Provincial Grand Mastership of Earl Ferrers, the new Provincial Grand Officers will be appointed. The brethren have plenty of work before them, among which is the consideration of the proposal to increase the quarterages to the Fund of Benevolence, the Prince of Wales's scheme for the Royal College of Music, and the draft of the proposed Revision of the Book of Constitutions. The fourth annual report of the Leicestershire and Rutland Masonic Charity Association, which will be submitted to the Provincial Grand Lodge on Tuesday, shows that two half yearly drawings have taken place during twelve months: one on the 23rd December last, and the other on the 22nd July. Twenty-three life subscriberships to the Masonic Charities were drawn. Since the formation of the Association in 1878 ninety-three of these have been drawn, which represents a considerable permanent accession to the voting strength of the Province. The number of members is now 134. During the year just closed the number of nominations drawn has been less than in either of the preceding two years, the falling off being due to the neglect of the members in allowing their subscriptions to get in arrear. The necessity for the Association, and such as it, is deduced from the fact that whereas five or six years ago one thousand votes or less would get a boy into the Boys' School, and a very much less number than a thousand take a girl into the Girls' School, at the last October election of the Boys' School any number under 2,464 votes was unsuccessful, and at the Girls' election a less number than 2,212. If local candidates, therefore, are to be successful in future the brethren must support these local Associations. There will be another drawing on the 15th December.—Evening News.

A complimentary Benefit will be given, through the graceful courtesy of Bro. Henry Irving, at the Lyceum Theatre, on Wednesday morning, 22nd Nov., to the respected veteran actor Bro. Wm. Creswick (Urban Lodge), on the occasion of his attaining the 50th year of his professional avocations. The successful comedy of "Much Ado about Nothing" will be played, the ladies and gentlemen of the company giving their services. After the play Bro. Creswick will address the audience.

Bro. J. H. Jennings, the manager of the "Oxford," announces his Annual Benefit for the 22nd inst., the principal artists of the day have promised him their valuable assistance.

The Secretary of State for War has appointed Bro. J. L. Thomas P.A.G.D.C., F.S.A., late Deputy Surveyor, to be Chief Surveyor War Department, vice Mr. J. Atwool retired.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

St. Michael's Lodge, No. 211.—A meeting was held on Tuesday last, at the Albion, Aldersgate-street, E.C. Present—Bros. Usher Back W.M., Young S.W., Hentsch J.W., Greenwood P.M. P.G.S.B. Treasurer, W. W. Morgan Secretary, T. H. Peirce S.D., H. Martin J.D., E. Thring I.G.; P.M.'s Bros. W. Radcliffe, A. Green, John Laver; also Bros. Crapper, Burr, Skipp, Aires, Dixon, H. Green, Pembroke, Frohawk, &c. Visitors—Bros. General J. Studholme Brownrigg Provincial Grand Master Surrey, C. Greenwood jun. Provincial Grand Secretary Surrey, B. E. Blasby P.M. 780, A. J. Abthorpe 442, H. J. P. Dumas 99 P.G.D. After the minutes of last regular meeting had been read and confirmed, Brother Pembroke was raised to the sublime degree by Past Master W. Radcliffe, who carried out the ceremony in a very impressive manner. A pleasing incident then took place; the members presented their Treasurer with a very neat diamond ring. Brother Back in placing it upon the finger of Brother Charles Greenwood, remarked that it was a pleasant duty that devolved upon him, he being the medium through which the members of St. Michael's desired to convey this pretty jewel. He trusted Brother Greenwood might live long to wear it, and continue to give this Lodge the advice and assistance he had for so many years vouchsafed it. Brother Greenwood seemed thoroughly to appreciate the kind remarks of the Worshipful Master. He said he could scarcely find words to express his thanks. He had been, as Brother Back had stated, associated with the Lodge for many, many years. When he looked back, he almost feared too many. In that eventful time he had seen many a gap made in their ranks; many had gone to that bourn whence no traveller returns. When he joined the St. Michael's Lodge, they met at the George and Blue Boar. He now, with the exception of the father of their esteemed Senior Warden, was the oldest member of the Lodge. Whenever he looked round, he was reminded of many dear friends who had been called away, at the same time he could but be impressed with the true Masonic feeling that prevailed amongst the members. He should, when wearing their gift, be reminded of the circle of eternity which it symbolised, and could assure the members it would tend to wed him still more closely to his duties. Bro. Greenwood concluded a well-conceived speech by again thanking the brethren for their bounty. A sum of 21s was voted from the Lodge funds for the Royal College of Music, and shortly after Lodge was closed. A capital banquet was served under the superintendence of Bro. W. G. Jennings, the manager of the Albion. The after proceedings were of the most enjoyable character.

New Concord Lodge, No. 813.—A meeting of this popular Lodge was held on Thursday, at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C., when there were present Bros. Haslip W.M., T. J. Cusworth P.M. S.W., George P.M. J.W., Bolton Treasurer, Harper P.M. Secretary, A. J. Potter S.D., Harnett J.D., Weeden I.G., C. T. Speight Tyler, &c. After the Lodge had been opened, and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed, the W.M., at the request of the W.M. of St. Michael's Lodge, conferred the degree of Fellow Craft on Bro. Francis N. Frohawk, an E.A. of 211. Bro. Frohawk, who is Chief Officer of the screw steamer Manora, only returned from Brisbane on Friday last, and was unable to attend the meeting of his own Lodge at the time fixed for the ceremony; hence the request of Bro. Usher Back to the Worshipful Master of No. 813. The ceremony was conducted by Bro. Haslip in a most creditable manner, and the Officers fulfilled their duties excellently. On the completion of the ceremony Bro. Morgan, on behalf of the members of St. Michael's, thanked the W.M. for his courtesy, and Bro. Haslip, in acknowledgment, expressed the gratification it had afforded him to carry out the request of the Worshipful Master of St. Michael's. Amongst other matters that were brought under consideration was the advisability of repeating the Annual Ball, which has proved so successful in previous years. It was agreed this should be done, and a Committee was appointed to make arrangements. The names of two candidates for initiation at next meeting having been handed in, Lodge was closed, and adjourned till the third Thursday in December.

New Concord Lodge of Instruction, No. 813.—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held at the Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate Road, on Wednesday last. Present—Bros. Dixie W.M., Haslip S.W., Fenner P.M. J.W., Dixie S.D., Weeden J.D., Marks I.G., Cusworth P.M. Preceptor, F. Perl Sec., Killick P.M., W. Potter, R. M. Jones, and others. Lodge was opened in due form, and minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Jones acting as candidate. This brother also answered the questions leading to the second degree, and was entrusted. Lodge was opened in the second, and the W.M. rehearsed the ceremony. Bro. F. C. Dixie was elected a member. Bro. Cusworth proposed a vote of thanks to the W.M. of the evening for his able rendering of the ceremonies, for the first time in this Lodge of Instruction; carried unanimously. Bro. Haslip will preside on Wednesday next.

West Middlesex Lodge of Instruction, No. 1612.—At the Institute, Ealing, on Tuesday, 14th instant, Bros. G. Coop W.M., Henning S.W., Hadley J.W., Fernee S.D., Fryers I.G., J. Wells Secretary, P.M. Andrews, and Cammell Lodge No. 15. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The W.M., with the assistance of the brethren, worked the first section of the first lecture. The ceremony of initiation was then rehearsed, Bro. Wells candidate. Bro. Andrews P.M., with the assistance of the brethren, worked the fourth section of the lecture. Bro. Henning was elected W.M. for the next meeting. Lodge was closed with the usual formalities, and the meeting adjourned to Tuesday, 21st November.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—Held at the Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, on Saturday, the 11th inst. Present—Bros. Gribbell W.M., Galer S.W., Parkes J.W., Pearcy Preceptor, Fenner Secretary, A. M. Marks S.D., Archer J.D., Ashton I.G.; also Bros. Houghton, Spencer, Weeden, A. Ferrar and others. After preliminaries, the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Ferrar, who had previously been examined, being the candidate. Lodge was called off and on. The second section of the lecture was worked by Bro. Pearcy, the third by Bro. Fenner. Lodge was resumed to the first degree, and the ceremony of initiation rehearsed, Bro. Weeden being the candidate. Both ceremonies were ably conducted by Bro. Gribbell. Bro. Galer was elected to preside next Saturday, after which Lodge was closed and adjourned.

Gallery Lodge, No. 1928.—The "Press" Lodge, which was established for the convenience of the literary staff of newspapers, and received its name from the Reporters' Gallery of the Houses of Parliament, held an emergency meeting at the Brixton Hall, on the 11th instant, when two members received the third degree. This clears the way for the installation of a new Master, which will take place on 9th December, Brother H. E. F. Bussey is the Worshipful Master elect. The brethren passed a very enjoyable evening, and after supper, arranged that the Gallery Lodge ball, which was so successful on the 13th January last, should be repeated next January.

We have received specimen copy of the menu card at the recent installation of the Eboracum Lodge, No. 1611, York. It is a most artistic work, and reflects credit on Bro. Whytehead and the brethren who had a part in designing it. Each toast has an appropriate sentiment attached, which has been selected from some well-known Masonic luminary. This shows an advance upon the menu card we had occasion to refer to the other day, in which the sentiments affixed to the several toasts had been continued from the preceding year.

At a meeting of the North London Chapter of Improvement, at the Canonbury Tavern, St. Mary's-road, on Thursday, 16th inst., the First Principal's chair was occupied by Comp. Halford, Dean H., Sheffield J., Hunter S.N., Bird P.S., Edmonds Preceptor. The ceremony of exaltation was rehearsed; after which the Convocation was adjourned until Thursday evening next, the 23rd inst., at the hour of eight.

PRESENTATION TO BROTHER ACKLAND.

A VERY gratifying incident occurred a few days ago at the Manchester Hotel, Aldersgate-street, when a valuable testimonial was presented to Bro. Charles Robert Ackland, of Israel Lodge, 205, for some years the respected manager of the Holborn Viaduct Hotel, but who has just relinquished that position to assume the management of the "Manchester." The esteem in which Bro. Ackland was held amongst the many representatives of the Manchester and Scotch trades, and others having their headquarters at both these first-class metropolitan hotels, found tangible expression on the occasion, when upwards of sixty gentlemen, including many brethren assembled, under the presidency of Bro. Broderick Mackay, who presided in the absence of Mr. Bullen, Chairman of the Testimonial Committee, who was detained at Gosport on an important legal matter. Supporting the Chairman were Bro. Charles Robert Ackland, "the guest of the evening," Rev. Dr. Morgan (Hon. Secr of the Testimonial Committee), Mr. Peter Tocher (Hon. Treasurer), Bros. S. Pannell C.C., Felton C.C., Pearse Morrison C.C., McDonald C.C., and one of the directors, R. J. Jameson, of Edinburgh (vice-chairman); Messrs. Philp, Davis, Captain P. Rose-Innes, Newlands, Ormeston, Brand, Skinner, Allbutt, McCleod, of Glasgow, Ackland sen., Messrs. Bolton, Liversedge, and Berwick (representing the firm of Messrs. Salt and Co., the eminent brewers), Mr. J. Webb, Messrs. Brew and Claris (of Finsbury), Mr. Painter, Mr. G. F. Brooke, Mr. Montague Hawkins, Mr. W. Randle (from Australia), Dr. C. E. Ashton, Mr. H. Davis, Mr. C. Ashton jun., Mr. Ashwin, Bro. J. J. Slater, Captain Matthews (high bailiff of Chester), Mr. H. Redgrave (of Worcester), Mr. Williamson, Mr. Bremner, Mr. Rich, Bro. Herbert Rymill (of the well-known Horse Repository, Barbican), Mr. Hardy, Mr. H. Farra (of Deal), Mr. Eccles, Mr. Gallie (of Calcutta), Dr. Allen, Mr. G. H. Tipper, Mr. Jacobs, Mr. Barton, and many others. Captain J. Fernyhough was unavoidably prevented from attending. At the conclusion of a sumptuous repast, which reflected the highest credit upon the cuisine of this comparatively new, but immensely popular commercial establishment, the customary loyal and patriotic toasts were given from the chair. On giving the toast of the evening, the Chairman referred to the high esteem and regard in which Brother Ackland was held by a very wide circle of commercial and other friends. It did not require any eloquence on his part to remind the company Bro. Ackland was what he appeared to be, a sound, substantial, thorough good fellow. Many of them had had experience of the manner in which he had conducted his business, and all must have admired his ability and tact in dealing with the complaints of his multitudinous customers who came to the hotel. The discernment he had displayed on all occasions showed he had the knack of seeing whether such complaints were merely flimsy, or whether there was any real foundation for them. At any rate he had the happy tact of satisfying all concerned, and had thus surrounded himself with a host of friends. He had not only succeeded in making substantial profit for the employers by whom he had been engaged, earning their hearty goodwill for the services he had rendered them, but he had also earned the hearty goodwill of all with whom he had come into contact by his urbanity, ability, and admirable business judgment. He (the speaker) had no hesitation in saying that the house in which they were now assembled had taken a step in advance in securing the services of a manager who is so universally esteemed; and he felt Bro. Ackland would not only maintain the prestige he had gained in the past, but would do his utmost to raise the Manchester to the position of one of the best and most successful hotels in London. He then begged Brother Ackland's acceptance of a slight testimonial of their esteem and regard, and hoped he would value it, not merely for its intrinsic worth, but as an expression of their genuine and heartfelt esteem. Amidst loud cheering, the chairman then presented to Bro. Ackland a magnificent silver claret jug, richly chased, and bearing a suitable inscription, together with a cheque for a hundred guineas, and a valuable bracelet for Mrs. Ackland. After the applause had subsided, Bro. Ackland suitably acknowledged the compliment which had been paid to his wife and himself, and observed that the expressions of their kindness were far greater than he had expected, and were, therefore, all the more gratifying. He was extremely grateful to his many friends, who had done so much in getting up this splendid testimonial, and felt it a great honour to be favoured with so large and influential a company on that occasion. It was quite refreshing to see so many of his old acquaintances, whose friendship he hoped he might long continue to deserve, and he assured them all he should strive to do so in his new sphere of labour.

It is proposed to erect a Kursaal off the Chain Pier, which will be a great improvement to the town of Brighton. The entrance to the Pier will be widened 14 feet. The promenade will be 116 feet wide, and at the head a construction, 630 feet long from east to west, and 148 feet wide.

Bro. Alderman H. Cox (Chairman Royal Aquarium), was elected Mayor of Brighton for the ensuing year, but the worthy brother being unable to attend the Committee through indisposition, the late Mayor, Bro. Alderman Hallett, proceeded to his residence, where he was invested, and the customary declaration was made. The thanks of the Council were unanimously voted to the late Mayor, Bro. Alderman Hallett, and the Mayoress, for services rendered, and in recognition of the efficient manner in which he had discharged his duties during his year of office. Bro. Hallett has been twice Mayor of Brighton.

ROYAL ARCH.

ROYAL ARCH MASONRY IN MAINE.

THE Report of the Fifty-seventh Annual Convocation of the Grand Chapter of Main has been received, and an examination of it shows much of interest and of satisfaction.

The Grand High Priest said, in his address, "I do not think there has ever been a time in the history of Capitular Masonry in this State when the Companions of the several Chapters were more closely allied together than the present." He also said, during his remarks, that though there were sixty more exaltations this year than last, the present membership is not as large. This he attributes to neglect in paying dues, and the consequent purging of Chapter rolls of membership, but notwithstanding this, he considers Royal Arch Masonry stronger in the State than ever before.

The Grand Treasurer's Report shows the yearly income to have been 1,580·01 dols., and a balance on hand, after paying expenses of 714·79 dols. The Charity Fund amounts to 4,302·00 well invested.

The Report on Foreign Correspondence appears in the body of the Proceedings, and not as an Appendix. It is a review of the proceedings of thirty-seven Grand Chapters, by Companion Josiah H. Drummond, and is in keeping with the familiar qualities of this ardent correspondent.

A liberal part of this report is taken up with a discussion of the question of nonpayment of dues, as regulated by the Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter of Maine; in trying to make their position clear to a brother correspondent, he discourses as follows:—

He does not understand the difference between "suspension" and "suspension from membership" under the laws of our Grand Lodge. We will try to explain. Our Companion doubtless knows the difference between an unaffiliated Mason and one suspended from all his Masonic rights; under the law of the Grand Lodge of Maine, a Mason deprived of membership is an unaffiliated Mason, who can regain membership only upon petition and unanimous ballot, a Mason suspended from membership is better off than one deprived of membership, as he can, if suspended for non-payment of dues, by payment of his dues regain membership, or if for any other cause, by performing the condition attached to his suspension from membership. In other words, deprivation of membership absolutely unaffiliates him, while suspension from membership merely unaffiliates him for the time being. This may not be any explanation after all, as we see that he holds an unaffiliated Mason is not in good standing. So that in Wisconsin there practically may be no difference in the status of unaffiliated and suspended Masons, except that the suspended Mason may recover good standing by a two-thirds vote, and an unaffiliated Mason can regain it only by a unanimous vote!

Companion Drummond has paid close attention to statistics, as the following quotation will show:

The figures for Florida, Rhode Island, South Carolina and West Virginia, are the same as given in our report of last year, as we have no later advices.

Those from some other jurisdictions are not as accurate as is desirable, because in some cases an estimate of the membership of Chapters not making returns is included, and in other cases it is not.

The total membership is 128,557 against 127,105 in 1881, and 127,025 in 1880, the Exaltations are 7,424 against 6,733 in 1881, and 5,733 in 1880; the Admissions and Restorations are 1868 against 1900 in 1881, and 1742 in 1880; the Dismissions are 2,818 against 3,073 in 1881, and 3,183 in 1880; the Expulsions are 75 against 85 in 1881 and 122 in 1880; the Suspensions (including suspensions from membership) are 2,859 against 3,762 in 1881, and 4,293 in 1880; and the Deaths are 1633 against 1496 in 1881, and 1602 in 1880.

We thus find an increase of nearly 1500 in the total membership' and while it is gratifying to find that this increase comes in part (692) from an increase of exaltations, still the great cause for rejoicing is found in the decrease of dimissions, and especially in the decrease of nearly 1000 in suspensions. It is evident that suspension for non-payment of dues has reached its maximum, and we have, therefore, reason to look for an increase of membership in the future.

The number of Royal Arch Masons in Maine, is 4,040, of whom 213 were exalted during the year.

Companion Joseph A. Locke of Portland, was re-elected Grand High Priest, and Ira Berry Grand Secretary.—Liberal Freemason.

THE LATE BROTHER WILLIAM DUNHAM.

The funeral of this worthy member of the Great Northern Lodge, No. 1287, took place on the 7th instant, at Kensal Green Cemetery. The procession left Seymour-place about eleven o'clock, amidst signs of deep sorrow and regret, as evidenced by the large number of neighbours and friends who partially closed their establishments during the progress of the funeral. The coffin, of polished oak, and ornamented with brass mountings, was borne on a handsome open car, drawn by four horses, and was almost hidden by the numerous wreaths, crosses and other emblems of affection and regret, sent as a last honour to the deceased by his many friends and relations. The square and compasses, very artistically formed of white flowers, which was sent by the brethren of the William Preston Lodge of Instruction (of which the late Brother Dunham was Treasurer), as a last tribute of respect, and to mark their appreciation of his worth as a man and a Mason. The five mourning coaches following the hearse carried the widow and family of the deceased, besides a numerous company of relatives and friends. The Rev. H. C. Johnston, who officiated, read the service in a most impressive manner, and a large gathering of brethren assembled round the grave, amongst whom were Bros. Staton, Tribble, Kennard, Gordon, Halley, Hart, Reed, Guignard, Shackel, Moore, Hall, &c. The deceased was particularly well known amongst the Odd Fellows, having been a member of the City of Pride Lodge for more than thirty years, during which period he has filled on many occasions all the offices connected with the Lodge. At the time of his death he was Treasurer and Trustee. The brethren deeply regret the severe loss they have sustained by the death of one of their oldest and most respected members.

GREY FRIARS LODGE, No. 1101.

THE annual meeting of this prosperous Lodge was held on Wednesday, the 8th instant, at the Masonic Hall, Reading. There was a very large attendance to support the W.M. Bro. E. J. Blackwell, Provincial Grand Junior Deacon Berks and Bucks; the Past Masters of the Lodge being represented by Bros. W. P. Ivey (Secretary), R. C. Hurley, E. Margrett, W. Ferguson, J. E. Danks, and J. T. Brown. Amongst those present as Visitors were Bros. Robert Bradley Prov. Grand Secretary Berks and Bucks, R. Nicholson Wor. Master 1566, V.W. R. P. Bent P.G.C. W.M. 1894, C. H. Hunt W.M. 1501, R. Barton W.M. 771, R. B. Bateman W.M. 591, H. Jowett S.W. 591, F. H. Cozens Org. 907, H. Higgs 414, H. R. Holland P.M. 1349, S. Bradley P.M. 414, W. H. Staff Organist 1900, C. W. Radway P.M. 41 P.P.S.G.W. Somerset, R. B. Cater W.M. 41, James Robinson 41, G. Gadd 1247, H. Blackwell J.W. 1540, F. Blackwell I.G. 414, M. J. Withers Sec. 414, J. Fisher M.C. 340, C. G. Butler M.C. 414, E. Horne W. Master 1887, W. T. Day 179, R. T. Hodge W.M. 1895, R. C. Mount W.M. 414, W. W. Morgan Secretary 211. After the Lodge had been formally opened, the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. William Margrett, a candidate for passing, was then interrogated and entrusted. Lodge was opened in the second, and the W.M. conferred the degree of Fellow Craft on Bro. Margrett. The members of the Reading Lodges are to some extent fortunately circumstanced, inasmuch as they have with them an esteemed brother who, for several years, has taken upon himself the duties of Installing Master. These duties he has fulfilled, and we trust will continue to be able to fulfil, in an eminently satisfactory manner, but we take the liberty of urging on Bro. Moxhay that in the present day, our rulers, notably Provincial Grand Masters, are continually impressing on Craftsmen that outgoing Masters should qualify themselves in every case to instal their successors. We are aware that once upon a time it was absolutely necessary to bespeak the services of an Installing Master some considerable interval before the day fixed for an installation meeting, and we also have it on record it has occurred that the installation of a Worshipful Master has had to be postponed because Bro. Leading Man had other important functions to fulfil. These things, however, are of the past, and are never likely to occur again. Were it necessary, we think we should have no difficulty, in Reading alone, in finding a dozen brethren who could creditably instal a Master, and that with honour to the Lodge to which they belong. Where we find such skill displayed in the various Lodge duties, we cannot but think frequent cause of disappointment must be felt when a suggestion is thrown out that it is not customary to entertain the idea of performing the crowning act of a Master who desires to carry out his duties in their entirety. We feel assured our excellent Bro. Moxhay will pardon us for this digression, but we are writing in the interests of the Craft, and we are convinced every encouragement should be given to those who desire to do all the work apportioned them. The W. Master elect was presented by Bro. Blackwell, and Bro. Moxhay having administered the obligation, Lodge was opened in the third, and all below the degree of Installed Master were requested to retire. A Board was then opened and the ceremony was proceeded with. On the readmission of the brethren the new W.M. was proclaimed and saluted in the three degrees. He then proceeded to invest the Officers, the collars being allotted as follows:—Bros. W. W. Ridley S.W., J. H. Hawkes J.W., Rev. C. R. Honey Chaplain, J. T. Stransom Treasurer, W. P. Ivey P.M. Sec., R. C. Prickett S.D., W. Ravenscroft J.D., Cordery M.C., Hickie Org., Hemmings Prov. G. Tyler Tyler, Tegg S.S., Bowles J.S. The ceremony was brought to a conclusion by the Installing Master calling on the members to salute their new Officers; the customary addresses on this occasion, for want of time, being omitted. The first duty Bro. Dowsett had to perform was to present, on behalf of the Lodge, a P.M.'s jewel to his predecessor. He did this with much pleasure, and he trusted Brother Blackwell might live many years to wear it, and assist the Lodge with his counsel and advice. In acknowledging the honour done him, Bro. Blackwell said he could hardly find words adequately to express his thanks. His year of office had been a very agreeable one; true they had not had much heavy work; still they had had enough to keep them together. His labours, however, had been much lightened by the assistance he had received from his Officers, all of whom had been most zealous in the fulfilment of their duties. All had worked with unanimity, and this tended to promote the harmony which happily existed in the Lodge. He thanked the members one and all for their handsome gift, which he had pleasure in accepting as a testimony of their esteem. Before closing his remarks Bro. Blackwell referred to a custom which prevails in the Reading Lodges, where the outgoing Masters are in the habit of making a presentation—generally of some article of Lodge furniture, or whatever may be required. He was desirous to continue this laudable custom, but, on looking round, he thought their Lodge was so well supplied that it was not easy to find anything which the Lodge did not already possess. However, he should be pleased to receive a suggestion from any of the brethren as to what he should do in this regard. A cordial and unanimous vote of thanks was then passed to Bro. Moxhay for his services, and this having been acknowledged, several letters regretting inability to be present were read, a proposition for a joining member was handed in, and after customary greetings were tendered, Lodge was closed. The banquet took place at the Great Western Hotel, where Brother W. Flanagan exerted himself most successfully to promote the comforts of his guests. A capital bill of fare was provided, and every attention was paid to the service, which called forth considerable commendation. On the removal of the cloth the W.M. proposed the Loyal toast, and the National Anthem was sung. With the second toast—"His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales Most Worshipful Grand Master; the M.W. Pro Grand Master the Earl of Carnarvon; the R.W. the Deputy Grand Master, and Grand Officers of Grand Lodge of England"—was associated the name of V.W. Bro. Bent Past G. Chaplain, who acknowledged the compliment. In proposing the toast of—"The R.W. the Provincial Grand Master of Berks and Bucks, Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P.; the V.W. the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, the Rev. J. Studholme Brownrigg P.G.C., and Grand Officers of the Province, Past and Present"—the Worshipful Master said he had received a letter from Sir Daniel Gooch, regretting his inability to be present. He would call on Brother Robert Bradley to respond to this toast. After a song by Brother Fred. H. Cozens, who is deservedly a popular favorite with the Reading brethren, Bro. Bradley rose. He briefly reviewed the progress Freemasonry was making in the Province, as illustrated more fully at the last meeting of Prov. Grand Lodge, held at Reading in June last. He spoke of what was being done by way of the establishment of Masonic Halls, and expressed gratification at the consideration that was being given to this matter. The members of the Grey Friars were happily circumstanced in holding their banquet at the Great Western Hotel. Bro. Bradley next referred to the attention given to the review of the Book of Constitutions, and to Bro. Clabon's proposal to increase the payments to the Fund of Benevolence, and urged on the brethren to attend Grand Lodge when the question came on for discussion, and continue the opposition they agreed on at last Provincial Grand Lodge, to bring to bear on this proposal. In conclusion, he complimented the Lodge on its working and prosperous condition, and expressed his pleasure at seeing Bro. Ridley in the Senior Warden's chair. In proposing the health of the W.M., Bro. Blackwell was assured Bro. Dowsett would do all in his power to uphold the prestige of his Lodge. After a song by Bro. Hickie, Bro. Dowsett rose. The encouragement he had hitherto received would give him zest to persevere. At the same time, he felt that without the assistance of those who had preceded him he feared he should fall short of what he desired. One thing he felt he could urge on behalf of the Lodge,—it was not number, but quality, that was desired. For the Visitors, Bros. Cater and Hodge replied. In responding to the toast of the Immediate Past Master, Bro. Blackwell, after recognising the heavy responsibilities attached to his late position, thanked one and all for the assistance he had received in behalf of his Stewardship, and impressed on the brethren the desirability of continuing their support to the new Master. He thought that the brilliant assemblage that had gathered together that day might be accepted as a happy augury for Brother Dowsett's success in the future. Brother Rev. J. M. Guilding, Vicar of St. Lawrence, in a forcible speech, made an appeal on behalf of the Masonic Charities, and Brother J. Early Danks P.M. responded. The other toasts comprised The Installing Master, Brother Moxbay P.P.G.S.W.; The Worshipful Master, Past Masters, and Brethren of the Lodge of Union, replied to by Brother Mount W.M. 414; The Past Masters of the Grey Friars Lodge, 1101, for which Brother Ivey replied; The Treasurer and Officers of the Grey Friars Lodge, and last of all The Tyler's Toast. The proceedings throughout were enhanced by some capital songs, and a recitation given by Bro. Morgan was especially well received.

EBORACUM LODGE, No. 1611.

THE annual meeting of this Lodge, for the installation of W.M., took place on Monday, 13th inst., in the Masonic Rooms, Queen's Hotel, York. The W.M. elect had issued a large number of invitations, and at the time of opening the Lodge there was a very full room, the army of Past Masters being unusually large. The outgoing Master Bro. G. Simpson assumed the gavel, and was supported by Bros. Kay S.W., Millington J.W. W.M. elect, Humphreys Sec., Balmford P.M. Treasurer, Turner S.D., Blenkin J.D., Whytehead P.M. M.C., Davies Org., Cumberland P.M., Seller P.M., Padel P.M., Starkey, Dalton, Stephenson, Ware, Chapman, Rev. S. Edge, York, Smith, Stubbs and others, and by the following Visitors:—Bros. McGachen P.M. 236, J. Barker P.M. 1102, Chadwick W.M. 1040, Gibson P.M. 1042, Smith P.M. 302 Provincial Grand Secretary West Yorks, Banks P.M. 570, Gifford W.M. 570, Rymer W.M. 236, Todd P.M. 236, P.M.'s Strachan 24, Pendelow, Rev. W. C. Lukis 837, Smith W.M. 837, Howarth 242, Tuke 236, Smith 236, Short 670, Thompson 570, Kendall 570, Speers 570, Dent 236, Rev. E. Hewett 236, Kirby S.W. 236, White 236, Garbutt J.W. 238, De Solis 1381, Knight 570, Baldrey 570, Morgan 570, and others. The minutes having been read and confirmed, and successful ballots taken for three candidates, the chair was taken by the Installing Master, Bro. Whytehead, who appointed as his wardens Bros. Seller P.M., and G. Balmford P.M. The W.M. elect was then presented by the outgoing master, and having replied to the necessary questions was duly obligated. A Board of Installed Masters was opened in full form, Bro. Cumberland acting as Chaplain. The W.M. elect having been admitted and installed in the chair of K.S., was saluted and greeted, and the Board was closed, the working tools in each degree being presented by Bro. Cumberland, who also gave the individual addresses to the Officers on their respective investments. The three final charges having been delivered by the Installing Master, the ceremony was completed. The Officers of the Lodge were then appointed as follow—Bros. Simpson I.P.M., Blenkin S.W., Turner J.W., Rev. Edge, B.A., Chap., Balmford P.M. Treas., Humphries Sec., Dyson S.D., York J.D., Whytehead P.M. M.C., Davis Organist, Chapman I.G., Stephenson and Dalton Stewards, and Pearson Tyler. Bro. Cumberland P.M. again accepted the post of Preceptor. Bro. Whytehead P.M. was re-elected Charity Representative of the Lodge on the Provincial Board, and subsequently proposed as a joining member Bro. Reynard 1040. The Lodge was then closed amid "hearty good wishes" from all the brethren. The brethren afterwards sat down to a capital banquet, at which the W.M. presided, supported by sixty-five brethren. The tables were adorned bountifully with plants, lent by members, and by numbers of bouquets of exotic flowers, contributed by the lady friends of the W.M. The toast list was a complete novelty, and was got up in the classical antique style, after a design by Bro. T. B. Whytehead. The musical arrangements were most admirable, supplying quite a concert of part music, performed by the Lodge quartette and the Lodge glee party, interspersed with songs. The Eboracum Lodge has always been celebrated for its musical talent, but this last effort surpassed all previous occasions. The toast of Queen and Craft was followed by the song "Victoria," by Bro. J. S. Cumberland, that of The Prince of Wales Grand Master, drew forth "God Bless the Prince of Wales," from Brother J. E. Wilkinson, and The Pro Grand Master and the Grand Lodge, was followed by the glee "The two Roses," by the Lodge Quartette. Brother the Rev. W. C. Lukis P.M. P.P.G. Chaplain West Yorkshire gave the toast of The Provincial Grand Master and the Provincial Grand Lodge, and, after Hatton's glee, "The Hemlock Tree," by the Lodge Quartette, Brother J. S. Cumberland P.M. Past Provincial Grand Warden responded. Bro. T. B. Whytehead gave The health of the Worshipful Master, and said there was every reason to look forward to a happy and prosperous year under his rule; and, after the performance of "Life's a Bumper," by the Lodge Glee Party, the W.M. responded. He thanked the brethren very cordially for their kindness to him, and assured them that as he had begun so he intended to go on, and to spare nothing to promote the best interests of the Lodge. He concluded by proposing The Installing Master and the Past Masters. Then came Haynes Bayley's charming old song, "The Carrier Dove," by Brother Wilkinson, and the response on the part of Bro. Whytehead and of Brother Seller, on behalf of the Past Masters. Brother Balmford P.M. P.P.G.O. proposed The Eboracum Lodge and its Officers, and, after the Lodge Glee Party had given "Mynheer Van Dunck," with great spirit, Brother S.W. responded. Brother Padel P.M. proposed the Visitors, congratulating the Lodge upon the splendid array of distinguished brethren gathered under its banner that day. The Lodge Quartette sang "Of a' the Airts," and responses were given to the toast by Bros. Pendelow P.P.G.W. of Staffordshire, Strachan P.P.G. Warden of Northumberland, Rymer W.M. 236 (Sheriff of York), and Captain Gifford W. Master 507 (I.C), attached to the 5th Dragoon Guards Regiment, now stationed in York. Brother Todd P.M. 236 P.P.G. Registrar proposed The Masonic Charities," and congratulated the Eboracum Lodge on the work it had done as a young Lodge for the three great Charities of the Order. Macfarren's song, "My own my guiding star," here followed, and Bros. W. Child and J. S. Cumberland Provincial Charity Steward responded, entering at some length into several matters affecting the interests of the Province in the matter of the elections to the Benevolent Institution and Schools. Brother T. B. Whytehead gave the Memory of Our Honoured Dead in a few appropriate words, and the toast was drunk standing and in silence, the quartette singing the chant, "May we all meet together in the Grand Lodge above," silent honours following. Bro. Turner gave the Ladies, in a speech that excited much merriment. The quartette gave Hatton's glee—"Beware"—and Brother Dyson responded. Brother Wilkinson gave, by special request, "She wore a wreath of roses," and Brother Humphries proposed "Our Absent Friends," alluding to the scattered members of the Lodge in New York, Dakotah, South Africa, South Australia, and Egypt. Then came the glee, "Hail, smiling morn," followed by the health of the Host—Brother H. Churchill, and the Tyler's toast, the evening being most appropriately wound up by Bros. J. S. Cumberland giving in his telling manner, "A lift on the way," and the glee party completed their excellent performances with "As the moments roll." A more successful gathering has never taken place under the banner of this Lodge, and both members and visitors expressed themselves greatly pleased both with the ceremonies and festivities. Amongst the numerous apologies for absence enumerated by the Worshipful Master, were letters or telegrams from the following brethren:—Bros. the Earl of Zetland Provincial Grand Master, Dr. Bell Deputy Provincial Grand Master, Don. M. Dewar, George Taylor Provincial Grand Secretary Worcester, Canon Tristram, James Terry Secretary Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, Rev. J. Harrison, Oldham, G. P. Brockbank, Bolton, the Dean of York, Rev. W. Valentine, Whixley, D. Murray Lyon Grand Secretary Scotland, R. F. Gould P.G.D., J. W. Woodall P.P.G.W., J. Young P.M. 523, J. A. # FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

HUNDREDS of Medical Practitioners testify to its marvellous efficacy in immediately relieving and rapidly curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Spasms, Colic, Whooping Cough, and all Nerve Pains. It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. It rapidly relieves pain, from whatever cause, soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases, and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.

Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, Lord Justice Mellish decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davenport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. See Times of July 24th, 1873. Bottles 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, 11s, and 20s. Sold by all Chemists.

TESTIMONIALS.—Head Quarter Staff, Cabul, May 31st, 1880. Mr. R. Freeman, Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of special service to me in alleviating the wearisome spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form. Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne. Yours faithfully, CHARLES W. OWEN, L.R.C.P. Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng., the Divisional Head Quarter Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul.

The Times, August 13th, 1877. From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army. Okoum, July 25th, 1877. The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor, owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected miraculous cures.

It will give more light than any other lamp with a wick of equal size. The combustion is so perfect that it deodorises the oil, and burns absolutely without smell, giving an intense pure white and beautiful light. It is unrivalled for simplicity in lighting, cleaning, and trimming, and is, in fact, the perfection of artificial light. Suitable for Cottage or Mansion, Churches, Chapels, &c.

THE REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS.

RULE No. 141 provides for the "Death or incapacity of the Master," his removal from office, and his absence from the Lodge, so that, in this instance likewise, the marginal note is not sufficiently descriptive of the tenour of the law. The Rule itself compares with Art. 6, p 78, with which it agrees almost word for word, but there is added the following sentence embodying certain important reservations in the case of a Warden ruling a Lodge: "When a warden rules the lodge he shall not occupy the master's chair, nor can initiations take place, or degrees be conferred unless the chair be occupied by a brother who is a master or past master in the craft." It were as well perhaps if the Rule stated authoritatively the position to be occupied by the ruling Warden, and also if, in respect of Lodges in remote districts, especially in the colonies and foreign countries, some conditional latitude were allowed for the initiation of candidates for Masonic light, and the conferring of degrees by a Warden. It must be remembered that in India, South Africa, and our Australian Colonies, for instance, there are Lodges in very out-of-the-way places, and by no means easily accessible. In such cases, in the absence of the Master and Past Masters, which might easily happen, neither initiations could take place nor degrees be conferred, and worthy men or members might be very seriously disappointed, and perhaps even disgusted, at the very outset of their career, because the Master chanced to have a sharp attack, say, of influenza or gout, and the business obligations of the Past Masters precluded them from acting in his stead. This difficulty would be felt principally by young Lodges of two or three years standing only. Dr. Oliver, who, in matters of this kind, is a safe guide to follow, remarks, in his "Jurisprudence," that, in the case of such Lodges, initiation and the conferring of a degree by a Warden would not be viewed with disfavour by the authorities. Moreover, it would be easy to provide safeguards against the abuse of such a relaxation.

Rules Nos. 142-146, both inclusive, treat of private Lodges when visited by the Grand Master or his Deputy (Nos. 142, 143), the Provincial or District Grand Master or his Deputy (Nos. 144, 145), and by Grand Officers deputed by the Grand Master. Our remarks on these Rules have been in great measure anticipated by a correspondent's letter published last week, the writer of which considers, for reasons he is at the pains of explaining at considerable length, that they should more properly have been placed, Nos. 142 and 143 under the head of "Grand Lodge," and Nos. 144 and 145 under that of "Provincial and District Grand Lodges;" No. 146 being unnoticed by him. He argues, and we entirely agree with him in his argument, that as it is the Grand Master, or Provincial or District Grand Master, who takes the initiative in visiting a Lodge or Lodges, and as, consequently, the latter has no voice in the matter; or, to put the case still more forcibly, as these Rules ascribe to the Grand Master and his Deputy, and the Provincial or District Grand Master and his Deputy, certain powers which, in the exercise of their discretion, it is lawful in the case of the first two, and permissible in that of the last two, for them to exercise, they belong only indirectly, and in a very subordinate way, to the category of Rules for "Private Lodges." Primarily, they concern the Grand Master and his representatives at home and abroad, and for that reason their proper place in the Book of Constitutions is, as already pointed out by our correspondent, and endorsed by us—as regards Nos. 142, 143, under "Grand Lodge," and as to Nos. 144, 145, under "Provincial and District Grand Lodges." To this we would add, that No. 146, which gives the Grand Master power "to send his grand officers to visit any lodge he may think proper," should also be removed from this division and placed under that of the "Grand Lodge." One point, as being apparently outside the scope of our said correspondent's remarks, is deserving of notice. No. 142 states that the Grand Master, and No. 143 that in his absence the Deputy Grand Master, "has full authority to preside in any lodge," while No. 144, as to the Provincial or District Grand Master, and No. 145, as to, in his absence, the Deputy Provincial or District Grand Master, lay it down, the former that he "may preside in every lodge he visits within his province or district," and the latter that he "may preside in any lodge he visits within his province or district." We see no reason why there should be any difference in the wording of these laws. The Grand Master or, in his absence, his Deputy "has full authority to preside," but he is not compelled to exercise that authority. A Provincial or District Grand Master, or, in his absence, his Deputy "may preside" if he chooses, but he need not so choose. There is, therefore, really no difference in the powers ascribed to either group, and there should consequently be no difference in the language ascribing such powers, especially as the Provincial or District Grand Master is as supreme in some respects in his Province or District as the Grand Master is in the whole Craft. We may add that No. 142 must be compared with Art. 5, p 31; No. 143 with Art. 2, p 33; No. 144 with Art. 3, p 46; No. 145 with Art. 2, p 50; and No. 146 with Art. 6, p 31. The proposed laws do not differ materially from the present Regulations.

No. 147 treats of visiting, and is much briefer than Art. 19, p 67, with which it corresponds:—

|---|---|
| "147. The master and wardens of a lodge are enjoined to visit other lodges as often as they conveniently can, in order that the same usages and customs may be observed throughout the craft, and a good understanding cultivated among freemasons. | 19 (p 67). "All lodges are particularly bound to observe the same usages and customs; every deviation, therefore, from the established mode of working is highly improper, and cannot be justified or countenanced. In order to preserve this uniformity, and to cultivate a good understanding among free-masons, some members of every lodge should be deputed to visit other lodges as often as may be convenient." |

The proposed Rule has the merit of compactness, but what it has gained in this respect it has lost in emphasis and comprehensiveness. But few, if any, of those who are accustomed to compare different readings will deny that the existing law states its purpose clearly, emphatically, and thoroughly, while the proposed law is silent as to the most material object which justifies visiting. There is a mode of working established in accordance with ancient usages and customs, but the said mode of working is no more one and the same thing with the said usages and customs than a superstructure is one and the same with the foundation on which it rests. We are told that "every deviation" from the established mode of working "is highly improper, and cannot be justified or countenanced." The proposed law takes no notice of there being an established mode of working, and says nothing as to deviations from it being improper and unjustifiable. It may be that certain recent motions and counter motions in Grand Lodge have made the word "uniformity," and the idea it conveys distasteful to the Revision Committee, but that cannot be accepted as a justification for ignoring the necessity for a uniform mode of working. In one other respect we think the existing law preferable. It may be better that visits should be paid by the Masters and Wardens of a lodge, they are its rulers and official representatives; but we see no reason why the Past Masters and other members should be excluded from the operation of the rule.

No. 148 affects the "Admission of visitors" and corresponds with Article 1, p 89.

|---|---|
| "148. No visitor shall be admitted into a lodge unless he be personally known to, or recommended, or well vouched for by one of the brethren present, or until he has produced the certificate of the Grand Lodge to which he claims to belong, and has given satisfactory proof that he is the brother named in the certificate, or other proper vouchers of his having been initiated in a regular lodge. Every visitor during his continuance in the lodge is subject to the by-laws of the lodge." | 1 (p 89). "No visitor shall be admitted into a lodge unless he be personally known, recommended, or well vouched for, after due examination by one of the present brethren; and during his continuance in the lodge he must be subject to the by-laws of the lodge. The master of the lodge is bound to enforce these regulations." |

The proposed Rule is fuller and more satisfactory than that in existence, but in places it is awkwardly worded, as in the clause beginning "or until he has" to the end of the sentence. Without committing ourselves absolutely to the words, we would suggest "or until he has produced his Grand Lodge certificate"—which is, of course, the certificate of, or issued by, the Grand Lodge to which he claims to belong—"and given satisfactory proof he is the brother named therein, or has furnished evidence of his initiation in a regular Lodge." We would also suggest the last sentence should read, "Every visitor during his stay [or presence] in the Lodge is subject to its by-laws."

No. 149, "Refusal of Admission" is Art. 2, p 89, extended, so as to justify the Master's refusal of admission in the case of a visitor "whose presence he has reason to believe will disturb the harmony of the lodge," as well as of a "visitor of known bad character." No. 150, like Art. 3, p 89, disqualifies a non-subscribing Mason from visiting a Lodge "more than once until he again become a subscribing member of some lodge;" but the manner in which the proposed Rule is worded, "to visit any one lodge," is an improvement on the existing Rule, which forbids him "to visit any lodge in the town or place where he resides more than once during his secession from the Craft." Under the existing law there is nothing to prevent a brother who has seceded from visiting other Lodges than those "in the town or place where he resides" as often as they meet.

Nos. 151 and 152 respectively define what are "London Lodges" and what "Provincial or district Lodges." Lodges Nos. 153, 154, and 155 concern Military Lodges, and call for certain remarks. We say nothing as to the omission from the proposed Rules of the introductory article at p 74 on the subject "of Military Lodges." It is to the effect that, "It being essential to the interest of the craft, that all military lodges should be strictly confined to the purposes for which their warrants were originally obtained; and very great abuses having arisen from the improper initiation of masons by such Lodges, every warrant, therefore, which is held by a military lodge shall be forfeited unless the following laws be complied with, in addition to those specified under the head of 'Private Lodges.'" There is no objection to such a statement, but, on the other hand, it is unnecessary. There is, however, it seems to us, fair ground for objecting to the omission of Art. 1, p 75, which lays it down that "No warrant shall be granted for the establishment of a military lodge without the consent of the commanding officer of the regiment, battalion, or company to which it is to be attached." There is, in fact, every reason why this law should not be excised. We may take it for granted that such a Lodge could not be established in connection with any military body without the consent of the commanding officer; and that such consent is notified in the petition and repeated in the warrant. But this is a different thing from assuming that every body of petitioners for a military warrant has obtained the consent of the proper authority, or that no such body of petitioners will ever apply for such a warrant without having first of all obtained such authority. Indeed, the omission of this law might lead to the commission of the irregularity it is designed to prevent. Brethren are expected to know what is in the Book of Constitutions, but they cannot be expected to know what is not in it. Therefore, say we, let Art. 1, p 75, have its place in the Revised Book. As to the proposed laws, No. 153 corresponds, in all essential particulars, indeed, almost word for word, with Art. 3, p 75; No. 154 with Art. 2, p 75; and No. 155 with Art. 4, p 76.

Nos. 156, 157, 158, and 159 relate to Lodges of Instruction, and correspond respectively with Art. 1, p 88, first part; Art. 1, p 88, second part; Art. 2, p 88; and Art. 3, p 88. But few comments are needed. No. 157 is to the effect that "Notice of the times and places of meeting of lodges of instruction shall be given within the London district to the grand secretary, and in provinces and districts to the provincial or district grand secretaries respectively"—query, Why not "provincial and district?"—while the present law takes no notice of Lodges of Instruction in Provinces and Districts. As a consequence, No. 158, which like Art. 2, p 88, enacts that minutes shall be kept requires further that "such minutes shall be produced when called for by the grand master, the provincial or district grand master, the board of general purposes," &c. We would remark, with a view to strengthen and make more obvious our remarks on proposed new Rule No. 147, by which visiting is enjoined, that according to Rule No. 156, as according to the existing rule, "The lodge giving its sanction, and the brethren to whom such licence is granted, shall be answerable for the proceedings, and responsible that the mode of working adopted has received the sanction of the grand lodge." It seems, therefore, that, after all, there is some importance attaching to the "mode of working" which has "received the sanction of the grand lodge." Consequently, there can be no reason why a desire to study this mode of working, so as to avoid all improper and unjustifiable deviations from it, should not be as conspicuous among the reasons for visiting lodges under the proposed law (No. 147) as under the existing law (Art. 19, p 67).

Nos. 160 and 161 deal with the by-laws of a Lodge, and together constitute Art. 5, p 63, from which they do not widely differ, as will be seen from the following comparison:—

| "160. Every lodge has the power of framing by-laws for its government, provided they are not inconsistent with the regulations of the grand lodge. The by-laws must be submitted to the grand master, and when approved, a printed copy must be sent to the grand secretary, and in the case of a provincial or district lodge, also to the provincial or district grand master; and when any alteration shall be made, such alteration must, in like manner, be submitted. No law or alteration will be valid until so submitted and approved. The by-laws of the lodge shall be printed, and a copy shall be delivered to the master on his installation, who by his acceptance thereof shall be deemed to solemnly pledge himself to observe and enforce them.""161. Every brother shall be supplied with a printed copy of the by-laws of the lodge when he becomes a member, and his acceptance thereof shall be deemed to be a declaration of his submission to them." | 5 (p 63). "Every lodge has the power of framing by-laws for its government, provided they are not inconsistent with the regulations of the grand lodge. The by-laws must be submitted to the grand master, or the provincial grand master, and when approved, a fair copy must be sent to the grand secretary, and, in the case of a country lodge, also to the provincial grand master; and, when any material alteration shall be made, such alteration must, in like manner, be submitted. No law or alteration will be valid until so submitted and approved. The by-laws of the lodge shall be fairly written in a book, which shall be delivered to the master on his installation, when he shall solemnly pledge himself to observe and enforce them. Every brother shall sign them when he becomes a member of the lodge, as a declaration of his submission to them, and shall at all reasonable times have access to them, and be allowed to take copies." |

As regards the proposed law No. 160, we think it would be better if the first clause of the second sentence ran thus: "The by-laws must be submitted to the grand master, and, in the case of provincial or district lodges, to the provincial or district grand master, before final submission to the grand master for his approval." It seems to us that to exclude the Provincial or District Grand Master from any voice in the approval of the by-laws of Lodges in his Province or District is to cast upon him an unnecessary slight. In all the organisations we are acquainted with, the sub-departmental heads approve first of all the recommendations of their subordinates, and then such recommendations are passed on to the departmental head for his crowning sanction and approval. Such a system has a decided advantage, in this respect, that it prevents improper or unnecessary recommendations from being laid before the supreme authority, while those that do come under his notice have the impress of the intermediate functionary's approbation to recommend them. We would further amend the latter portion of the same sentence, so that it may read "and when any alteration or addition shall be made, such alteration or addition must, in like manner, be submitted." In such case, the next sentence would read "no law, or alteration or addition, will be valid until so submitted and approved." With respect to the presentation of a printed copy of the by-laws to the master on his installation, we are of opinion that the present law is preferable. It is more in accordance with the nature of a solemn pledge that it should be taken, not "deemed" to be taken, as though it were the observance of a mere form. Let us take for instance the "Summary of the ANTIENT CHARGES AND REGULATIONS" which is "read by the Secretary (or acting Secretary), to the MASTER ELECT, prior to his Installation into the Chair of a Lodge." When the reading has been concluded, we are told, at p VIII., "the Installing Officer addresses the Master Elect as follows:—'Do you submit to and promise to support these Charges and Regulations as Masters have done in all Ages?' Upon his answering in the affirmative the Ceremony of Installation proceeds." We ask our readers if it is not more in accordance with their idea of a solemn pledge that this summary of Charges and Regulations should be read, and the Master Elect be called upon to express verbally, in open Lodge, his readiness to "submit to and promise to support" them than that a printed copy of them should be delivered to him, and that, "by his acceptance thereof," he "shall be deemed" to express his readiness. The bye-laws of a private Lodge are not of the same importance as the "Antient Charges and Regulations" of the Craft, but they are of sufficient importance, as regards the limited sphere in which they operate, to be worthy of the Master's solemn verbal pledge "to observe and enforce them." So likewise as regards No. 161. A grave formality, which is the outward and visible sign of a solemn undertaking, is observed, when a brother signs the code of by-laws on becoming a member of a Lodge. But his mere acceptance of a copy of such by-laws, which is "deemed to be a declaration of his submission to them," is a formality which we can hardly conceive it possible will awaken in the mind of the recipient any serious sense of the responsibility he has undertaken.

No. 162 treats of the time and place of meeting, and corresponds with the first three lines of Art. 7, p 64, the words "except as herein otherwise provided" being rightly deemed a sufficient substitute for the remaining section of the present law. No. 163, stating under what authority "Lodges of emergency" may be held, agrees with Art. 9, p 64, the only difference in the provisions of the two laws being that the present law requires that the "business to be transacted" at such a Lodge shall be "recorded on the minutes" as well as "expressed in the summons," while the present law is content with requiring that it shall be "expressed in the summons" only. We do not think the omission is an improvement, though, doubtless, No. 169 is held to provide sufficiently for the "record on the minutes."

Nos. 164, 165, 166, and 167 concern the "Removal of Lodges." It will be seen from the proposed and present rules, when placed as under, in juxtaposition, that there is a considerable divergence between them, the alterations, whether of omission or commission, being for the most part improvements.

| "164. Unless otherwise specified in the warrant, any lodge may be removed from one house to another provided the following regulations be strictly complied with. | (92). "Any lodge may be removed from one house to another, within the same town or place, at the discretion of its members; but, in order to prevent disputes, and to ascertain how this power is to be exercised, the following regulations must be strictly complied with. |
| "If at any regular meeting a notice of motion for the removal of the lodge be given and signed by not fewer than seven subscribing members the master shall summon a special meeting of the lodge for considering and finally deciding the question; such meeting to be at least one week after the issuing of the summons. The proposition shall not be carried unless two-thirds of the members voting shall agree to the removal. If the master should fail or refuse to issue the summons that duty shall devolve on the senior warden, or failing him the junior warden." | "1. No lodge shall be removed without the master's knowledge, nor shall any motion for removal be made in his absence; but, if the motion be regularly made and seconded, the master shall order summonses to be sent to every member, specifying the business and appointing a day for hearing and deciding the question; such day to be at least one week after the issuing of the summonses. The majority present shall determine the question, provided the master be one of that majority; but, if he be against removing, the lodge shall not be removed, unless the majority consist of two-thirds of the members present."If the master should refuse to issue the summonses, either of the wardens may do so, and if the master neglect to attend, the senior or junior warden may preside in determining the question." |

The proposed law has two decided advantages over the existing law. In the first place it provides that the proposition for removal must be signed by the respectable number of at least "seven subscribing members," and in the next place the complex provision for voting the removal in accordance with which a mere majority is sufficient if it includes the Master, but if it does not, a two-thirds majority—gives place to the simple plan that the removal shall not take place unless it is supported by two-thirds of the members. No. 165 deals with "Temporary Removal under special circumstances," and must be read with Art 2, p 93.

| "165. If the meeting of a lodge at its regular place should, by any circumstance, be rendered impracticable or improper, the master shall forthwith apply to the grand master or provincial or district grand master for a dispensation to hold a temporary meeting, or meetings, at a specified place, and there, if so authorised by the terms of the dispensation, to carry on the general business of the lodge or to determine in the manner of voting above prescribed, whether the lodge shall be permanently removed." | 2 (93). "If the meeting of a lodge at its usual place should, by any circumstance, be rendered impracticable or improper, the master may appoint any other place for a meeting, to consult his brethren on the occasion, and whether a permanent removal may be expedient." |

We see no objection to the Master, in the circumstances stated, retaining the right to "appoint any other place for a meeting." A Lodge might find it impracticable, for instance, to meet at its usual place on a single occasion, without the necessity arising, or being likely to arise, for removal to other quarters. To meet such a case as this it should be in the power of the Master to select "any other place for meeting." But in the more complex case, where removal becomes necessary or expedient, the request for a dispensation, as provided by the new Rule, should be imperative. In the latter part of the Rule, there appears to be a slip in the grammar. It should read, "and there, if so authorised by the terms of the dispensation, carry on the general business of the lodge or determine," &c.

No. 166 embodies the provisions of Art. 7, p 47, Art. 5, p 74, and Art. 4, p 93, so far as they affect the "Consent required for removals." We place the proposed and present Rules side by side for comparison.

master. If the proposed removal should be from one province or district into another, the consent of the provincial or district grand master of each province or district must be obtained. into his own, providing that in all cases the laws relating to the removal of lodges shall have been complied with."

5 (p 74). "No country lodge shall be removed out of its province, nor from place to place within the same province, without the consent of the provincial grand master, nor if the M.W. grand master shall deem such removal inexpedient; and no lodge shall be moved into another province without the consent of the provincial grand master of that province, and also of the grand master."

4 (p 93). "No lodge can be removed from one town or place to another, nor the warrant transferred, without the consent of the grand master, or of the provincial grand master with the concurrence of the grand master. But in the colonies and foreign parts the concurrence of the grand master is not required for the removal of a lodge from one place to another within the same district."

It will be generally allowed that the proposed Rule embodies all the essential requirements of the three existing Rules, and that it is a great advantage to have the several regulations affecting removals thus conveniently brought into so modest a compass. We may also remark that the observations of our correspondent of last week, already referred to, with respect to No. 166—and had he deemed it necessary for his purpose they might have been made applicable to No. 165 as well—are completely in accordance with our own views as to its being appropriately placed under the head of "Private Lodges," and for the reasons assigned by him.

Rule No. 167 requires the removal to be recorded as under Art. 8, p 64, and Art. 3, p 93.

REVISED EDITION.

"167. When a lodge shall have resolved to alter its place or day of meeting a copy of the minutes of the lodge relating to such alteration shall be forthwith sent to the grand secretary, and when the lodge is held in a province or district, also to the provincial or district grand master that it may be ascertained whether the laws have been strictly complied with, and in order that the alteration may be duly recorded. The officers of a removed lodge shall not be permitted to attend the grand lodge or provincial or district grand lodge until these regulations have been complied with."

EXISTING EDITION.

8 (p 64). "Every lodge, when removed to a new place of meeting, or whenever the day of assembling shall be altered, shall immediately send notice thereof to the grand secretary, and, if a country lodge, also to the provincial grand master. The officers of a removed lodge shall not be permitted to attend the grand lodge or provincial grand lodge until the removal be properly notified."

3 (p 93). "When a lodge shall have resolved to remove, or to alter the day of meeting, the master or a warden shall forthwith send a copy of the minutes of the lodge for such alteration to the grand secretary, and also to the provincial grand master or his deputy, that it may be ascertained whether the above laws have been strictly complied with, and that the alteration may be duly recorded."

Here, again, the proposed law is a decided improvement on the existing laws, and for the reasons stated in respect of the Rule No. 166. At the same time we would suggest the retention in the new law of the words "his deputy" in Art. 3, p 93, at least in reference to the Provincial Grand Master. Proposed Rule No. 91 lays it down that, in notifying to the Grand Secretary the appointment of a Deputy, the Provincial Grand Master shall, "at the same time, specify whether he intends the business of the province to be transacted by himself or his deputy." If, then, the business is to be transacted by the Deputy, the notice of removal should be forwarded to that officer.

No. 168—"Furniture in trust for the lodge"—is almost verbatim the same as the first part of Art. 22, p 68, the second part of the latter with Art. 2, p 118, corresponding with Rule No. 188 on "Prohibited jewels."

No. 169, concerning "The minutes," compares favourably in clearness and precision with Art. 6, p 63, as will be seen from a comparison of the two.

REVISED EDITION.

"169. Every lodge shall keep a book, to be called the minute book, in which the master or the brother appointed by him as secretary, shall regularly enter from time to time:—

"Firstly,—The names of all persons initiated, passed, or raised in the lodge, or who shall become members thereof, with the dates of their proposal, initiation, passing, and raising, or admission respectively, together with their addresses, titles, professions, or occupations.

"Secondly,—The names of all members present at each meeting of the lodge, together with those of all visiting brethren, with particulars showing to which lodge they belong, and their Masonic rank.

"Thirdly,—Minutes of all such transactions of the lodge as are proper to be written.

"The minutes can only be confirmed at a subsequent regular meeting of the lodge."

EXISTING EDITION.

6 (p 63). "A book shall be kept in every lodge, in which shall be entered the names of its members, and of all persons admitted therein, with the dates of their proposal, admission, or initiation, passing and raising; their ages, titles, professions, or trades, together with such other transactions of the lodge as are proper to be written. The master is responsible for the observance of this law."

THE MARK GRAND LODGE.

THE Winter Half-yearly Communication of the Mark Grand Lodge will be held in the Great Hall, Freemasons' Tavern, on Tuesday the 5th December proximo, when the proceedings will be of an unusually interesting character. As a matter of course, the election of the G.M.M.M. will be one of the items in the programme of business, and there will be the other agenda of the usual character. There are, however, two events arranged to take place on this occasion which will make it a veritable red letter day in the history of this degree. Last year it was our privilege to record the installation of H.R.H. Prince Leopold, Duke of Albany, as a Past Grand Mark Master Mason, and there can be no question that His Royal Highness's acceptance of that high office has done much to advance a section of Masonry, which, albeit it is held to be outside the pale of pure Antient and Accepted Masonry, has nevertheless received the willing and earnest support of many of our most distinguished Craft Masons. On the eventful Tuesday now so near at hand the exceptional business to be transacted will be the presentation to the Duke of Albany of the gift voted by Mark Grand Lodge on the occasion of his wedding, after which His Royal Highness will proceed to consecrate a "Grand Master's Lodge," the principal Officers designate of which are M.W. Brother the Earl of Lathom Past G.M.M.M. W.M., M.W. Lord Henniker G.M.M.M. S.W., and R.W. the Earl of Kintore D.G.M.M.M. as Junior Warden. A Lodge which starts under such favourable auspices, and which has already enlisted the support of so many distinguished brethren of the Mark Degree, cannot fail to enhance the respect in which the Mark is held among the leading members of the Craft. There may be differences of opinion as to whether this Degree should be recognised as a part of Masonry pure and simple. But there can be no such differences of opinion as to its having advanced with marvellous rapidity in the estimation of brethren. A body which, after an existence of but little over a quarter of a century, already musters over 13,000 members, has a considerable balance at its disposal, and a Benevolent and Educational Fund, which has proved of material assistance to those in need of help, cannot be otherwise described than as being in a most flourishing condition. It has firmly established itself in all parts of the country; it has a strong array of Lodges in our colonies and abroad, and there appears to be every prospect that the prosperity which has hitherto attended it will go on increasing. Our hope is that it may go on and prosper, and with reason may be always in a position to adopt as its prayer —Floreat æternum.

THE CARE OF LODGE FUNDS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In your issue of the 23rd September, a correspondent, "ARGUS," invited expressions of opinion on the above subject, I am therefore tempted to lay before your readers the system which I adopted whilst in the chair, and which was found to be a very satisfactory solution of this question.

In accordance with the By-laws of our Lodge, the Secretary collected the monies, and banked them, to the credit of the trustees, taking a receipt from the Bank for each deposit. At the end of each month these receipts were handed to the Treasurer, who compared the amount with the cash received per the Secretary's receipt book. The Secretary then filled in the summonses and handed them to the Treasurer, who inserted the amount of dues, &c., owing by each brother, thus forming a complete audit of each account, by enabling the brethren to see that monies paid by them had duly been placed to their credit. The Treasurer not having had the cash actually pass through his hands would have no object in inserting an incorrect amount in the summonses; unless he were acting in collusion with the Secretary, which is a case very unlikely to occur.

This monthly balance greatly simplified the labours of the Auditors at the six-monthly audits of the Lodge accounts.

I hope that this explanation of a system, which has been found to work exceedingly well, will prove of service to some of the brethren.

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

P.D.G.W.

GREY FRIARS LODGE, No. 1101, AND ITS INSTALLING OFFICER.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have read your report of the Installation meeting of this Lodge with some interest, and confess I am pleased with the tenour of your remarks on the subject of its Installing Officer. To his zeal and ability you have borne willing testimony, and your remarks as to Reading alone being in a position to furnish "a dozen brethren who could creditably instal a Master," is, I am convinced, no less true than it is complimentary. At the same time you are quite right in saying that "every encouragement should be given to those who desire to do all the work apportioned to them," and in hinting that if the retiring Worshipful Master is desirous of installing his successor, he should be allowed, as I think he has the undoubted right, to do so. It is quite true there was a time when "it was absolutely necessary to bespeak the services of an installing Master some considerable interval before the day fixed for an installation meeting"—if I remember rightly, you will find a case or cases cited in Bro. Kelly's History of Freemasonry in Leicestershire and Rutland—but matters have greatly changed for the better since those days of laxity, and there is hardly a Lodge in England which cannot boast of several brethren in all respects capable of working all our ceremonies, that of installation being included. I admit that, at first sight, it may seem unkind to prefer the services of a new and comparatively untried man to those of the veteran, but, on the other hand, discouragement, and even dissatisfaction will sooner or later follow if only the veteran is to be permitted to fulfil a particular duty. For my part, I think the veteran who encourages his younger brethren to emulate his success does more good than he who claims as a right what has been accorded to him only through successive acts of courtesy.

I have purposely framed my remarks so that they may be looked upon as of general, not individual, application and I trust the brother to whom you referred, in your said report, but whose name I have studiously avoided introducing, will regard this letter as being so intended and void of all offence to him personally.

I remain,

Faithfully and fraternally yours,

ASPIRANT.

THE REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—With reference to "LONDON'S" letter, published in last week's number of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, and the irregularity he speaks of in connection with Staffordshire and its so-called Prov. Grand Standard Bearer, I would suggest that every Province and District should be authorised to include among its Grand Officers at least one Standard Bearer, who should enjoy the rank and wear the clothing of a Prov. Grand Officer. I take it that a Provincial or District Grand Master is a "grand officer entitled to have a standard;" and if so, there should be a Prov. or District G. Standard Bearer, who certainly ought not to be less esteemed, according to his rank, than a Prov. or District G. Sword Bearer. I am not in favour of multiplying appointments, but though Staffordshire had no right to have a Standard Bearer, it certainly had reason on its side in appointing one.

Fraternally yours,

A. PROVINCIAL.

The Review by the Queen, on Saturday last, of the expeditionary force recently returned from Egypt passed off most successfully. The streets along which the troops passed were thronged with enthusiastic spectators, and our gallant fellows received a most cordial welcome from all classes. As usual, the event was favoured by the Clerk of the Weather. In the morning there was a dense fog, in the afternoon a most unpleasant rain; but in the interim the sun shone out bravely, and once again London had the good fortune to enjoy a brief spell of "Queen's Weather."

On Tuesday Windsor was in a state of excitement. Some three hundred officers, non-commissioned officers, and men were received at Windsor Castle, and personally presented by Her Majesty with the medals awarded to all who took part in the recent campaign. Sir Garnet, now Lord Wolseley, Sir John Adye, Sir Evelyn Wood, the Duke of Connaught, were among those who took part in this brilliant spectacle, the representatives of the Indian force which took part in the campaign being also honoured with invitations to be present.

We take an early opportunity of drawing attention to the approaching annual supper of the New Concord Lodge of Instruction, No. 813, which has been fixed for the evening of Wednesday, the 13th December next, at 7·30 p.m. precisely, at Bro. Baker's well-known hostelry, the Cock, at Highbury. The New Concord Lodge of Instruction has worked most successfully for years past, and has done much to promote an exact knowledge of our ritual and ceremonies. The attendance is always numerous, and visitors receive a right hearty welcome. We feel confident, under the circumstances, that the annual supper will be a success as regards the number of those present. We know it will be so as regards Bro. Baker, whose readiness and ability to cater for his guests are too well known to need comment.

At the New Finsbury Park Lodge of Instruction, No. 1695, Bro. James Terry will rehearse the ceremonies of consecration and installation on Tuesday, 5th December next, at the Hornsey Wood Tavern, Seven Sisters'-road, Finsbury Park. Brethren are invited to attend. Lodge will be opened at eight o'clock precisely. Masonic clothing to be worn.

The banquet to commemorate the return of the Guards from Egypt took place in the Royal Aquarium, on the 20th inst., the Right Hon. W. H. Smith, M.P., in the chair. The Duke and Duchess of Connaught attended, and there were present about 1850 of the Guards, 80 officers and 200 visitors. The Committee thanked Messrs. Moet and Chandon for a quantity of magnums of Brut Imperial, and Messrs. Deutz and Geldermann for a large supply of Gold Lack Champagne, both of which were much appreciated.

The German Freemasons are taking a step, the first which foreign Freemasons have taken, which will place Continental Masonry on the same footing as English Masonry has assumed within the last hundred years. Germany will henceforth have, it is to be hoped, three charitable institutions similar to those in England. It is going to start with one of them. But German Masonry will begin where English Masonry ended, for whereas the Institution for the Aged was the last of the three Masonic Institutions founded in England, it will be the first in Germany. The news comes from Berlin that a movement has been set on foot by the Freemasons of that country to celebrate the silver wedding of the German Crown Prince and Princess (our Princess Royal) in a manner highly befitting the Craft. A home for destitute widows and daughters of deceased brethren is to be founded by means of subscriptions in honour of the occasion. The twenty-fifth anniversary of the wedding is on the 25th of January next.—Evening News.

For some weeks past we have been engaged in comparing the Revised with the Existing Code of Regulations for the government of the Craft, and the task is far from being completed. We are of the old-fashioned opinion that, if a thing is worthy doing at all, it is worthy doing thoroughly, and hence the length to which our comments have run, and are likely to run. Some of our readers, perhaps, not being specially interested in, or impressed with the importance of, the proposed revision, may consider we should have done better had we dismissed it briefly, and devoted the bulk of our space to the usual comments on passing events connected with Freemasonry. On the other hand, there are those who hold that we have acted wisely in the course we have adopted, and it is from their many and kind communications we have derived encouragement to proceed with our labours, so that when we have completed them, we have experienced the satisfaction of having, to the best of our ability, contrasted the proposed with the present laws. There is another reason, of some slight importance, which has impelled us to do what we have done. Though there is much activity in the Craft during the present season, there are few questions which appear to demand editorial comment, and in the absence of such questions, we cannot say our space has been ill occupied with the series of articles, now current, on the "Revised Book of Constitutions." It must be remembered that Revisions of a work so essential to our well-being and good government cannot be engaged in at frequent intervals. It is close on ten years since the last Revision took place, and we cannot look forward to another until at least an equal interval of time has passed. Every care, therefore, should be taken to make the proposed Code as thoroughly calculated to meet the necessities of the Craft as possible. There is no doubt the work of revision has been carefully done, and that in many important particulars the proposed Book of Constitutions is an improvement on the existing edition. But there is equally no doubt—in our judgment, at least—that amendments are needed in order to secure a nearer approach to perfection, and we are not without hope that some of our views may find favour with the Revision Committee.

The monthly meeting of the Lodge of Benevolence was held on Wednesday evening, at Freemasons' Hall. The three chairs of President and Senior and Junior Vice Presidents were occupied by Bros. Joshua Nunn, James Brett, and C. A. Cottebrune. There was a very large attendance of brethren, among whom were Lord Leigh, Prov. G.M. Warwickshire; Frank Richardson, Rev. Edmund J. Cox, Col. Shadwell H. Clerke, H. G. Buss Asst. G.S. The Board of Masters, which was first held, settled the paper of business for Grand Lodge of 6th December. The Lodge of Benevolence was then opened, and commenced by confirming grants to the amount of £160, recommended to the Grand Master at the former meeting. The new list contained the unprecedented number of fifty-six cases. Forty-eight of these were relieved, with a total of £1340. One case was dismissed, and the remainder were deferred.

A Meeting of the Members of the Grand Master's Council, No. 1, of the Degree of Royal and Select Masters, will be held at the Masonic Hall, 8A Red Lion-square, on Thursday, the 30th instant, at five o'clock in the afternoon.

A meeting of the Old Kent Royal Ark Mariner Lodge, attached to Old Kent Masters' Lodge, will be held at the Masonic Rooms, 8a Red Lion-square, on Wednesday next, the 29th inst., at 5.30 o'clock p.m. Besides other business that will be transacted, the members will elect a W.C.N. in place of Bro. Henry Venn, who has completed his term of office.

A meeting of the North London Chapter of Improvement was held on the 23rd inst., at the Canonbury Tavern, St. Mary's-road, N., when Comps. Osborn filled the chair of Z., Hunter H., Sheffield J., Gregory S.N., Edmonds P.S. The ceremony of exaltation was rehearsed, after which it was proposed by Comp. Edmonds, and seconded by Comp. Hunter, that the entrance fee be reduced to 1s 6d, and on each night of attendance the fee be 3d. This was duly carried by the Companions present. The Convocation was then closed and adjourned until Thursday, the 30th inst., at the hour of eight.

FESTIVAL OF THE HIGH CROSS LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

THE tenth anniversary festival of the High Cross Lodge of Instruction, was held at the Coach and Horses, Lower Tottenham, on Wednesday, 15th instant, when Brother W. M. Tegg the W.M. of the mother Lodge officiated as President, with Brother E. Poore W.M. 1237 as Vice President. The first part of the programme was, as usual on these occasions, a dinner, and to this the brethren sat down at the appointed time. Great credit is due to the proprietor for the way in which the viands were placed on the table, and although this was, we believe, one of the first attempts in this house, it showed he had acquired knowledge and experience elsewhere. At the conclusion of the dinner, the customary toasts were given and fully honoured, that of Prosperity to the High Cross Lodge of Instruction coming immediately after the loyal ones. The President, in proposing it, referred to the past history of the Lodge. It was established some ten years back, and during the whole of the time that had since elapsed had gone on most prosperously. Its objects and worth were so well known to those present as not to need special reference on the present occasion, suffice it to say, that the Lodge was known, far and wide, and was considered one of the best. He regretted he had not been able to avail himself of its instruction more than he had done, but recommended all aspiring brethren to regularly attend, as he had already learnt to value its teachings. Another important feature in connection with this Lodge of Instruction was, the work carried out by it so zealously on behalf of the Masonic Institutions. What it had done entitled it to foremost rank as regarded our own noble Charities. The toast having been enthusiastically received, was acknowledged by some of the founders then present, and then Bro. Poore proposed the health of the President. Bro. Tegg briefly replied; he hoped he should merit the good words that had been said of him. The toast of the Vice-President followed, being proposed from the chair. Bro. Tegg referred to the respect and esteem in which Bro. Poore was held by all who knew him. Personally he had always found him a most genial and affable gentleman. He had visited the Enfield Lodge, of which Brother Poore was Master, and there he found the same sentiments expressed. Bro. Poore having replied, the health of the Officers of the Lodge was drunk. Good Officers were as necessary, or perhaps more necessary, than in an ordinary Lodge. Those connected with the High Cross were most energetic men, and contributed in no small degree to its success. Bro. Miller was the first to reply. He felt proud of the position in which he was placed, and hoped to enjoy the confidence of the members for many years to come. He felt that Lodges of Instruction were most desirable institutions; without them he felt that Masters could not efficiently carry out their duties. Bro. Garrod also felt it a great pleasure to assist in the working of the Lodge. The present was the tenth anniversary of the Lodge which had been held in that house, and looking back during that time, one continued stream of prosperity presented itself. The Lodge had prospered in the past, and was still doing so, fresh members constantly enrolling themselves. As regarded the work done in the Lodge, there were numerous instances to which he could refer, of brethren who had carried out the work required of them in their respective Lodges most creditably, and who had learnt all in the High Cross Lodge of Instruction, while, as regarded its contributions to the Charities, as the W.M. of the evening had said, it had won foremost rank in that respect. The President next gave the toast of the Charities. The great idea of Freemasonry was charity, and this was thoroughly carried out in the High Cross Lodge of Instruction. Three Charity Associations had already been formed in connection with it, from each of which large amounts had been sent up to the several institutions. He hoped the charitable spirit of the members would ever continue. Brother Fiddler, whose name was associated with the toast, replied, giving some details of the extent to which the Lodge donations had amounted; to the first association £500 was contributed, to the second £700, while from the third, which was commenced in March last, fifty guineas had already been paid to the Institutions, with a further sum of twenty guineas voted but not yet appropriated. The Vice President proposed the toast of the Visitors, and the President that of the Press, each of which were acknowledged, and then the neighbouring Lodges were complimented. The toast of the Mother Lodge was also honoured, as was that of the host and hostess—Bro. and Mrs. Barnes. In proposing this latter toast, reference was made to the satisfactory way in which Brother Barnes had carried out his part of the programme; every thing he had done had given the greatest satisfaction. The brethren kept up the enjoyment till a late hour, most of those present trying their ability to add to the harmony by songs or recitations.

Lodge was opened in the second degree. Brother Tirbutt being a candidate for raising, gave satisfactory proof of his efficiency and was entrusted. After he had retired, Lodge was opened in the third, and Bro. Tirbutt was re-admitted and raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason. The ceremony was correctly performed by the W.M. and his Officers. After closing to the first degree and balloting for members, Lodge was closed, according to antient form, and adjourned.

Lardner, Gibbs, Houghton, Hawkins, Archer, Burtonshaw, Payne Catling, Nicholls, Woodman, Rhodes, Pearcy, &c. The usual formalities were complied with in opening the Lodge, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Lodge opened in the second degree, and Bro. Gibbs proved his qualification for raising, and was entrusted. Lodge was opened in the third, and the ceremony of raising rehearsed, Bro. Gibbs being the candidate. The ceremony included the traditional history. The third section of the lecture was worked by Bro. Lardner, assisted by the brethren. Lodge resumed to the first degree, and Lodge was called off and on. Bro. Lardner worked the first, second, and third sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Marks was elected Master for the next week, after which Lodge was closed and adjourned.

United Pilgrims Lodge of Instruction, No. 507.—At the weekly meeting of this Lodge of Instruction, held at the Masonic Hall, Camberwell-road, S.E., on Friday evening, the 17th inst., Bro. J. N. Bate presided as W.M. Amongst others present were Bros. C. H. Nevill S.W., C. H. Phillips J.W., James Stevens P.M. Preceptor, John S. Terry P.M. Secretary, H. M. Williams S.D., M. E. Stokes J.D., H. Baldwin I.G., E. A. Francis, R. Poore, W. D. Payne, G. W. Knight, R. W. Pooler, Henry Gebicker, and J. M. Romey of Lodge No. 72, &c. The evening's work comprised the opening of the Lodge in the three degrees; the rehearsal of the ceremony of raising, and the delivery of the M.M. charge by the W.M.; the explanation of the Six Grand Periods, and the Tracing Board in the second degree by Bros. James Stevens and E. A. Francis; the practice of entry drill in E.A. degree: and the several ceremonies of closing. Bro. C. H. Nevill was nominated by the Preceptor to occupy the chair of K.S. on the 24th inst., and no further Masonic business offering, the brethren separated.

William Preston Lodge of Instruction, No. 766.—Held at the Jacob's Well, George-street, Manchester-square, S.W., on Friday, 17th inst. On this occasion (Officers' night) the W.M. of the mother Lodge—Bro. Smart—occupied the chair, and, assisted by several of his brother Officers, rehearsed the second ceremony, as well as the ceremony of installation; Bro. Moore, being candidate for that high and honourable position, was duly installed into the chair of K.S., with the usual formalities, the brethren saluting him in the various degrees. Bro. Miller 766 gave the addresses, and the brethren listened to him with much pleasure, his delivery and perfect elocution being particularly noticeable. Amongst those present were Bros. W. Fleet Smart W.M. 766, Braun, Miller, Boete, Cox, Stickleback, Davis, Smith, Moore, Hart, Wilson, Brander, &c.

New Concord Lodge of Instruction, No. 813.—The members met at the Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, on Wednesday last. There were present Bros. Weeden W.M., Marks S.W., Ferrar J.W., Cusworth Preceptor, Perl Secretary, Dixie S.D., Thomson J.D., Ashton I.G., and others. After preliminaries, the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Thomson candidate. Bro. Jones proved himself an efficient candidate for the degree of F.C., and Lodge was opened in the second, and the ceremony of passing rehearsed. Bro. Marks was elected W.M. for the ensuing meeting.

The Duke of Albany presided, on the 17th instant, as Provincial Grand Master of Oxfordshire, at the Provincial Grand Lodge, which was held at the Town Hall, Banbury, when there was a large assemblage of the Freemasons of that Province and the Province of Warwickshire. His Royal Highness went down from London to Banbury by the 10 a.m. train, accompanied by Col. Shadwell Clerke Grand Secretary, Sir John B. Monckton President of the Board of General Purposes, and other Officers of Grand Lodge. He was received at Banbury by the Officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge, and escorted by a guard of honour to the Town Hall, where, after the Grand Lodge had been opened by Bro. Reginald Bird, M.A., Deputy Provincial Grand Master, a procession was formed, and the Freemasons, with their Provincial Grand Master, marched to Marlborough-street, to the site of a new Masonic Hall proposed to be erected by the Cherwell Lodge, No. 599. Arrived at the site of the new building, the Prince delivered a very neat little speech, and then laid the foundation stone in due Masonic form. The Mayor of Banbury then presented His Royal Highness with an address of welcome, which was graciously accepted. The procession then returned to the Town Hall. Crowds of spectators lined the way, and greeted their Royal visitor with the heartiest cheers. The houses were gaily decorated with flags and ornamental devices, and the whole town wore a very gay appearance. The proceedings of the Provincial Grand Lodge were concluded on the return to the Town Hall, and included grants of ten guineas to local charities, ten guineas to the Boys' School, and, upon the motion of His Royal Highness, a grant of ten guineas to the Royal College of Music. Subsequently his Royal Highness presided at a banquet served in the Corn Exchange, after which the Prince made, as usual, a very good speech—a speech which must have been most encouraging to all who are anxious to promote the spread of Freemasonry in the Province of Oxfordshire; for, in expressing his regret that it had been impossible for him to be present at the consecration of the Henley-on-Thames Lodge, which had been added to the roll since he had last been present with them, he assured them "that if any need arose in the future of forming a new Lodge, nothing should prevent his being present to consecrate it in person." Freemasonry on the whole seems to prosper in Oxfordshire, for although there is one Lodge which appears to have had no meetings during the year, and whose members have dwindled to fourteen in number, there is another which has had as many as thirty-eight initiations, besides receiving two joining members.—Evening News.

Bro. James Stevens P.M. 1426, &c., has been invited to deliver his lecture explanatory of the rituals and ceremonies of the first degree, at the Royal York Lodge of Instruction, No. 315, to be held in the Masonic Rooms at the Pavilion, Brighton, on Tuesday, the 4th of December. The R.W. Prov. Grand Master, Bro. Sir W. W. Burrell, M.P., has been pleased to grant permission for the brethren to wear Craft clothing on the occasion, and a large gathering of local Freemasons is expected.

The Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, No. 65, meets every Friday evening, at 6 o'clock, at Bro. Maidwell's, the Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall Street.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

WILLIAM PRESTON LODGE, No. 766.

THE installation meeting took place on Thursday, at the Cannon-street Hotel. Lodge was opened at 3.30 by the W.M., Bro. W. Fleet Smart, who was supported by Bros. William Drake S.W., W. J. Collens J.W., W. Jerrett Miller P.M. Treasurer, W. Worrell P.M. Sec., A. Le Grand J.D., A. Ramsey I.G.; P.M.'s E. Kidman, A. Braun, J. Pringle, C. R. Cutmore; Visitors—Bros. A. J. P. Stevens W.M. 1298, Julien Hooper 1515, E. B. Grabham P.M. 19, R. Leaman W.M. 1707, W. F. Walton J.D. 1608, H. Dale 902, W. C. Worley 275, G. J. Jenkin I.G. 72, W. Hopekirk P.M. 179, H. Moore 1257, J. L. Apsey 534, Thomas Nettleship 1641, H. Von Joel J.W. 957, Andrew Brolochan 1314, W. W. Morgan Sec. 211. After the minutes of last meeting had been read and confirmed, Bro. H. Heck was passed to the second degree by the W.M. Bro. P.M. Miller then took the chair, and after the candidates—Bros. J. Greenslade and H. F. Stoddard—had exhibited such knowledge as warranted them seeking preferment, the third degree was conferred upon them, the ceremony being most impressively rendered by Bro. Miller. The ballot was then brought into requisition for Mr. John Goode, who was proposed by Bro. W. J. Miller P.M., and seconded by Bro. E. Kidman P.M. The result was unanimously in favour of the candidate, who was introduced, and the ceremony of initiation was worked by Bro. Miller. Bro. Smart next resumed the chair to perform the ceremony of initiation, and the W.M. elect—Bro. William Drake—was presented by Bro. Miller, and the obligation was regularly administered. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and, this part of the ceremony completed, in due course the members below the rank of Installed Master were admitted, and the new W.M. saluted in the three degrees. The Officers were invested as follow:—Bros. W. J. Collens S.W., A. Le Grand J.W., W. Miller P.M. Treasurer, W. Worrell P.M. Secretary, J. H. Brookes S.D., A. C. Rees P.M. J.D., J. Turle Lee I.G., C. Pay M.C., Reinhardt Tyler, E. Kidman P.M. and W. Johnston Stewards. The charges to the W.M., Officers, and the brethren, were delivered with great fervour by Bro. Miller, and after the Auditor's report had been presented and adopted, routine work was brought on, and Lodge was closed. A capital banquet was partaken of by the brethren, about 60 sitting down to table. On removal of the cloth, the W.M. gave the toast of the Queen and the Craft, and the National Anthem was sung. On rising to propose the second toast, the Wor. Master said the Most Worshipful Grand Master not only took a deep interest in Freemasonry himself, but had been instrumental in bringing into the Order two of his brothers, who were both shining lights in Freemasonry. After a song—"Dream Faces"—sung with great feeling by Miss Matilda Roby, the W.M. proposed the toast of the Pro Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and the Grand Officers Present Past and, Brother Drake speaking to the toast in a few well chosen words. "The King's Highway," which was entrusted to Brother Thomas Nettleship, was marked on the programme to follow this toast, and was most creditably rendered by this popular singer. The Charity Box was now handed round;—a laudable custom, which we should be pleased to see more frequently carried out. The result in this case was most satisfactory, and reflected credit on the benevolent tendencies of the brethren of the William Preston Lodge. The health of the W.M. was proposed by Brother Smart, in terse and complimentary phrase, and then Miss Davey sang, with great taste, Smart's popular song, "The Sailor's Story." The W.M. replied, assuring the brethren of his appreciation of the honour they had conferred upon him in elevating him to his present position. He was one of the initiates of their Lodge, and he would strive in every way to maintain its prestige. After a pianoforte solo, by Brother Turle Lee, the heath of the Initiate was the toast brought next under notice. The W.M. stated that as Brother Goode represented the 50th member on their roll, he was the only gentleman introduced to the Lodge that night. Madame Worrell sang the next song—"In life and in death I am thine"—and was most deservedly applauded. After Brother Goode had acknowledged the honour done him, Miss Roby favoured the company with "Robin Adair," and again secured the unanimous approval of the audience. The Visitors' toast was next introduced by the W.M. After enumerating those who were present, the W.M. remarked that much good was to be secured by the interchange of visits, and called on the members to do full honour to the toast. After a song by Bro. Nettleship, Bros. Hopekirk, Worley, Stevens, Morgan, and Moore acknowledged the toast. Here Miss Davey, by her singing of "Darby and Joan," added to the enjoyment of the evening. In introducing the toast of the Immediate Past and Installing Master, Brother Smart, the W.M., said it must ever be gratifying to a Master leaving the chair to know that his Lodge was in a better position, financially and in point of number as regards membership, than when he entered on his duties. This, fortunately, was what Brother Smart could pride himself upon. He had now to perform a duty which perhaps might better have been done earlier in the evening; it was to present Brother Smart with the handsome Past Master's jewel, which had unanimously been voted by the members. To Madame Worrell was again entrusted the pleasurable duty of entertaining the company, and she sang, with intense spirit, "Never, ah, nevermore." In replying, Brother Smart said he stood there, eight years after his initiation, a Past Master of the Lodge. He had striven to the best of his ability to do his duty, and he laid the flattering unction to his soul that he had been successful. He thanked one and all for the assistance he had received, and hoped he might long be spared to continue a member of the Lodge. The remaining toasts were the Treasurer and Secretary; replied to by Bro. Miller, who gave a brief sketch of the career of the Lodge during the past fifteen years; and by Bro. Worrell, who confined his remarks more closely to the position in which the Lodge stood at the present time. Bros. Braun and Cutmore replied for the "Past Masters," and the "Officers" elicited response from Bros. Collens and others. In due course the Tyler was summoned, and the brethren separated, highly pleased with the evening's entertainment.

St. AUGUSTINE'S LODGE, No. 972.

THE annual meeting of this Lodge was held at the Masonic Temple, St. Peter's Street, Canterbury, on Wednesday, 15th November, when the ceremony of installing the W.M. for the ensuing year, T. B. Rossiter, was most impressively performed by his immediate predecessor Bro. S. F. Pringuer. There was a very large gathering of brethren, including the following visitors:—Bros. Eastes D.P.G.M., Thorp P.G. Treasurer, Taylor P.P.G.S.B., Wilson P.P.G.S.B., Hall P.P.G. Assistant Secretary, Wiltshier P.G S.Wks., Eve P.P.G.A.D.C., Smith P.P.G.S.D., Taylor P.P.G.S.D. After the W.M. had been duly installed, according to ancient custom, he appointed the following brethren as Officers of the Lodge:—Bros. Pringuer I.P.M., Crump S.W., Price J.W., Pilcher P.M. Treasurer, Pringuer Secretary, Plant S.D., Newman J.D., Welsh P.M. M.C., R. Westwood I.G., Moulding and Fagg Stewards. Bro. P.M. Pilcher, on behalf of the brethren, presented the I.P.M. Bro. S. F. Pringuer with a valuable P.M.'s jewel, which had been subscribed for by them as a slight token of the regard they felt for him, and the manner in which he had carried out his duties during the past year. After the conclusion of the business the brethren adjourned to the Guildhall Hotel, where they sat down to a sumptuous banquet, provided in the worthy host's (Bro. Shaxby's) usual first-class style. The W.M took the chair, supported by V.W. Bro. J. S. Eastes D.P.G.M., and the Mayor of Canterbury. After the brethren had done justice to the good things provided, the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given and duly honoured, interspersed with glees, songs, &c., by Bros. Plant, Moulding, Higgins, Rhodes and Smith.

SPHINX LODGE, No. 1329.

ON Saturday last the annual meeting of this popular and prosperous Lodge was held at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell New-road. There was a large attendance, both of the members of the Lodge and visiting brethren. Among the former were Bros. Richards W.M. (in the chair), Mansell S.W., Middlemass J.W., Reynolds Treasurer, Hernaman Secretary, Brinton J.D., Forbes Steward, Marsden jun. I.G.; P.M.'s Sugden, Bickerstaff, Martin, Bickerton, Bryant, Lyon and Perceval Nairne M.C.; Lewin, Lye, Cooker, Britton, Parnacott, Mercer, Andrews, Biggs, Chabot, Tyrrell, Brooks, J. Brooks, Voisey, Goodinge, Bradley, Hall, Gross, Anstey, Irvine, Pernewan, Woodward, Wilson, Heller, Turney, Allen and Stevens. Among the latter were Bros. Colven G.S. P.G.S. St. Pauls 194, Wrigglesworth P.M. Rose of Denmark 975, Jackson Gibon 49, Diaper Gibon 49 J.W. Royal Leopold 1669, Rose P.M. Mount Lebanon 73, Dunn P.M. Royal Jubilee 72, Seymour Smith Org. Crystal Palace 742, Cooper P.M. Mount Lebanon 73, Estoclet 1641, Bradly P.M. Royal Leopold 1669, Butler Urban 1196, Vickery P.M. Peckham 1476, and T. Cooke J.D. Musgrove 1597. After the Lodge had been opened in due form, the Secretary read the minutes of previous meeting, which were confirmed. After some other matters had been proceeded with, the W.W. elect was presented by Bro. Nairne, and the usual obligation having been duly administered and pledged, Lodge was opened in the third degree, when all below the degree of Installed Master were called on to withdraw. A Board was then opened, and the impressive ceremony proceeded. The outside brethren were afterwards readmitted, who saluted the W.M. in the three degrees, under the direction of Brother Bickerton. This having been done with great precision and ability, the W.M. proceeded to invest his Officers, to whom collars were allotted as under, Bros. Richards I.P.M., Nairne M.C., Middlemass S.W., Reynolds jun. J.W., Reynolds sen. Treasurer, Hernaman Secretary, Brinton S.D., Marsden J.D., Forbes Steward, and Hall Organist; Brother Walker not being present, the appointment of Inner Guard was deferred. The new Officers were then saluted, and the W.M. presented, on behalf of the Lodge, a Past Master's jewel to his predecessor. At intervals, during the installation, anthems were sung, in a manner seldom heard inside a Lodge when close tyled. We understand that it is intended to continue this practice, and we hope that Brother Hall, who has entered on his duties as Organist, for which position he is eminently qualified, will do all in his power to cultivate a taste for music in his Lodge. heartily do we congratulate him on his accession to office, and we hope that the supplication contained in one of the odes may be abundantly answered, namely—

"God of light, whose love, unceasing,
Doth to all Thy works extend,
Crown our Order with Thy blessing,
Build, sustain us to the end."

Lodge was then closed, and the brethren after labour adjourned to the large hall, where Bro. Slawson, of 736 Old Kent-road, had in readiness a sumptuous banquet, which was much appreciated, and to which ample justice was done. On the removal of the cloth, the W.M. gave the Loyal toast, and then followed that of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales M.W. Grand Master, the Pro G. Master, Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers Past and Present, the Worshipful Master, the Visitors, the Immediate Past Master, the Past Masters, the Treasurer and Secretary of the Lodge, which was followed by that of the Stewards, and the Tyler's toast. The music and singing, under the direction of Bro. Hall, was excellent. Bros. Voisey, Hall, Goodinge, Seymour Smith, and Messrs. Colbourne, Abbott and Blaikie were unusually good. As a matter of course, Bro. Seymour Smith, in rendering "Lord Mayor's Day" and the "Happy Family," was inimitable, and elicited encores. The evening was spent in a most agreeable manner, Bro. Forbes, as on former occasions, with a great deal of self-abnegation, bestowing incessant attention on all present. This is now his seventh year of office, we believe, as Steward; he is the right brother in the right place, "a faithful and good Steward;" may he remain where he is, until he shall be called upon to render his account as a Steward to a tribunal other than that of an earthly one. So mote it be!

CRIPPLEGATE LODGE, No. 1613.

THE distinguishing feature at the regular meeting, held on the 16th inst., and which will, no doubt, constitute one of the red letter days in the history of the Lodge, was the visit of one of its honorary members, the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor. The Lodge has its usual quarters at the Albion, Aldersgate-street, E.C., and there the brethren assembled, under the presidentship of Bro. William Medwin W.M., who, with the assistance of his Wardens and the rest of the Officers, disposed of the usual business, which included one raising and two initiations. From an unforseen circumstance the large banqetting room of the Albion was not available on that special evening: it was therefore necessary to seek accommodation elsewhere. But, as it was deemed fitting to receive the honoured guest in state, and with proper regalia and personal decorations, a dispensation from the Grand Master had to be obtained to enable the brethren to display their Craft and other adornments outside their own "valley of Jehoshaphat." The work of the Lodge being over, the brethren adjourned to the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C., where a large reception-room had been prepared. It was a brave sight to see the brethren ranged around the room, the W. Master and Wardens at the upper end, and the Deacons, with their wands of office, at the entrance, ready to receive the expected guest, who, with accustomed punctuality (a well-known characteristic of his Lordship in the Ward of Cripplegate), made his appearance at the appointed time, and was conducted, amidst acclamations, to the left of the W.M. After hearty salutations, the brethren proceeded to partake of a luxurious banquet, where a commendable moderation in the matter of exciting fluids was noticeable. After grace, the W.M. gave the health of the Queen and Craft, and the professional party present, which consisted of Bros. W. Sexton, G. T. Carter, J. Kempton, W. Winn, under the direction of Fred H. Cozens, sang the National Anthem. The health of the M.W. Grand Master H.R.H. the Prince of Wales was heartily responded to. Bro. J. R. Foulger, Past Master and Secretary, proposed the toast of the Pro Grand Master, Deputy G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers, than whom, he thought, none were more energetic in their zeal for the best interests of the Craft, and none more willing to assist when difficulty arises. He would couple with the toast their highly esteemed Grand Secretary Brother Colonel Shadwell Clerke. The Grand Secretary expressed his sincere thanks for the kindly and fraternal way this toast was received, on the present and all similar occasions. The Grand Officers always endeavoured to perform their duties as efficiently as possible, but had not yet arrived at a Masonic millennium. It was impossible, even with the best will, to satisfy everybody. There were many brethren not altogether unworthy of some recognition for their services, but the fact was, the Grand Master had, comparatively, few favours to bestow. He could assure them that the future conduct of the Grand Officers would be regulated by the past. He was highly gratified to be present on that auspicious occasion, and was proud to have been invited to meet at that Masonic board the chief magistrate of the greatest city in the world, who was also an old and respected P.M. of the Craft. The W.M. next proposed the health of Brother the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, who was so well known in Cripplegate as to need no eulogy from him. The Lodge congratulated him on his accession to the highest dignity it was in the power of his fellow citizens to bestow. Bro. the Lord Mayor, who was received with long and continued cheering, said he rose with great pleasure to respond to the toast. It was a source of unfeigned gratification to meet the brethren of the Cripplegate Ward, who for many years past had shown a perfectly sincere esteem and kindness to him. The Cripplegate Lodge had always his special regard. When started he was invited to be the first Master. He always regretted to have been unable to accept the highly-prized offer. But they would probably recollect that just about that time he was Sheriff, and what with other duties, besides being Master of another Lodge, he felt unequal to accept the responsibility. They had paid him the compliment of electing him an honorary member, and in all his visits he had been extremely gratified with the careful way in which the work of the Lodge was conducted. The Craft stood high in the estimation of brethren, and even non-Masons were constrained to acknowledge its merits. The example set by their illustrious Grand Master showed them that they ought to be guided in all things by the great Masonic principle of doing as they would be done by, and to regard every man as a brother. Referring to his exalted office, he was proud to occupy the position of Lord Mayor, for which he was deeply indebted to his fellow citizens and brother Freemasons, with whom he had been associated during a tolerably long commercial life. When his health was so kindly proposed and heartily received, he could only assure them that his best energies would always be devoted to their service. The Lord Mayor then proposed the health of the Worshipful Master, remarking that he had had the pleasure of his acquaintance for a quarter of a century, and always found him a good neighbour, and a straightforward man of business. The Worshipful Master briefly acknowledged the compliment. The toast of the Visitors was responded to by Bros. Coombs and Wright. For the Past Masters Brother J. R. Foulger replied, remarking that Cripplegate Ward had produced Lord Mayors before, notably Sir Matthew Wood, who twice occupied the high office, and what reason can be urged against their honoured Alderman being again elected. Brother B. Groner P.M., to whom the toast of the Charities had been entrusted, said that Bro. Wildey Wright, in his response for the Visitors, poetically illustrated the great principles of Freemasonry, and glorious heritage of the past, imposing the duty of perpetuating, the Charitable Institutions. The Cripplegate Lodge, he was glad to say, had done all in its power in that direction. The Worshipful Master, taking upon himself the duty of acting as Steward at the coming Festival of the Benevolent Institution, the Lodge immediately voted £21 on his list. The same had been done previously, and he remembered when the first Worshipful Master announced his intention of representing the Lodge in a similar capacity, in about three months the sum of £50 was subscribed by the brethren. The Lodge being only six years old, he thought it had not failed in doing its duty. He would call upon Brother Terry, who he knew had all the facts and figures at his fingers' end, to respond to the toast. Brother Terry, in his accustomed forcible and elegant manner, advocated the claims of all the Charities, but as a matter of course dwelt more especially upon the Institution which is dependent upon the zeal, energy, and devotion which he so lavishly bestows. The Tyler's toast ended the proceedings. The Visitors numbered fifty-six, among whom were the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor (Alderman Knight), Colonel Shadwell Clerke Grand Secretary, Buss A.G.S., Jas. Terry Sec. B.I., J. L. Mather P.P.D.G.C., N. Gluckstein P.M. 185, Rickwood P.M. 192, R. Coombs I.P.M. 12, J. Harvey, C.C., P.M. Domatic, A. Westerby 182, H. Wildey Wright, Q.C., 1827, Feller 1056, E. Gottheil P.M. 185, &c. &c.

LANDPORT LODGE, No. 1776.

THERE was an unusually large gathering of the members of the Masonic Craft in the borough on Thursday evening, when Bro. Williams was re-invested as W.M. of this Lodge. The ceremony took place in the Lodge room at the Freemasons' Hall, Landport, and was most efficiently carried out by Bro. Main P.M. P.P.G.D.C. Bro. Williams appointed the following as his Officers for the year:—Bros. Green I.P.M., Niven S.W., Drake J.W., Hancox Treasurer, Byrbidge and T. A. Casey Secs., Miles S.D., Foster J.D., Brown M.C., Marshallsay I.G., Bramsdon and Hann Stewards, Parkinson Tyler. The musical portion of the ceremony was exceedingly well conducted, Bro. Bradbear P.G.O. officiating as Organist. An interesting feature of the evening's business was the presentation of a P.M.'s jewel to Bro. Williams, in recognition of the very able and zealous manner in which he had presided over the Lodge during the past twelve months. The presentation was made by Bro. Main, and acknowledged in appropriate terms.

Lodge of Israel, No. 1502.—This Lodge, which so happily comprehends both Jewish and Christian brethren—thus showing in some degree the comprehensive character of the Masonic Order—has held a prominent position amongst the numerous Lodges of the Province since its consecration, and the works of charity which it has been the means of carrying out have greatly enhanced its place on the long list of similar fraternal bodies. The annual installation is invariably attended by enthusiasm, and that which took place on the 20th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool, where there were upwards of 80 members and visitors present, proved no exception to the general rule. The chair at the opening of the proceedings was occupied by Bro. Maurice Aronsberg, the retiring W.M., who was supported by a full complement of P.M.'s and Officers, including Bros. P.M.'s Henochsberg, Schonstadt acting as S.W., Jones acting as J.W., Robinson W.M. elect, Tobias, Levy P.P.G.S., Henochsberg, Hart Treasurer, &c. After some preliminary business Bro. Robinson P.P.G. Reg., presented by Bro. Hart P.G.S. and Bro. Henochsberg P.M., was duly installed Worshipful Master of the Lodge for the second time during a most honourable Masonic career, an appointment which has given the greatest satisfaction to the whole of the brethren. The ceremony of installation was admirably performed by Bro. Aronsberg, and the addresses to the following Officers were given with much impressiveness by Bro. Henochsberg P.M., who came from London to take part in the interesting ceremony:—Bros. Aronsberg I.P.M., Tobias P.P.G.S.W. S.W., Henochsberg P.M. appointed J.W., M. Hart P.G.S. Treasurer and M.C., Gabriel-en Secretary, Silver S.D., Baum J.D., Dr. Stern Chaplain, Bryan Organist, Levy I.G., Archer S.S., Capstick J.S. Bro. Ball was re-elected Tyler. The first degree was given by the newly-installed W.M., and afterwards the brethren adjourned to a banquet. The catering was entrusted to Bro. Woodhouse, No. 1075, the house steward, whose serving was in every respect of the most satisfactory nature, showing how wisely the committee have selected a chief of their Masonic establishment. In the course of the evening a very artistic and valuable P.M.'s jewel was presented to Bro. Aronsberg, in recognition of the admirable services he has rendered to the Lodge of Israel as W.M. and in other offices.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

Loughboro' Lodge of Instruction, No. 22.—The usual weekly meeting was held on Monday evening, 20th inst., at Bro. Mc. Diarmaid's, the Cambria Tavern, Cambria-road, Loughboro'-junction, when there were present Bros. Westmore W.M., Banks S.W., Perkins J.W., Cormock S.D., Littlewood J.D., Sherring I.G.; also Bros. Johnson Preceptor, McKinley Secretary, Warren, Westley, Allison, Keyes, &c. The ceremonies of initiation and passing were ably rehearsed by the W.M. The Lodge was then opened in the third degree and closed to the first, when the dues having been collected, Bro. Banks was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. A cordial vote of thanks was accorded Bro. Westmore for the admirable way in which he had filled the chair of K.S., for the first time. A committee was appointed to revise the by-laws. All Masonic business being ended the Lodge was closed in ancient form, and adjourned till 28th inst. The usual harmony meeting followed.

Joppa Lodge of Instruction, No. 188.—The members of this young and prosperous Lodge of Instruction held their second winter dinner on Tuesday evening at the Champion Hotel, Aldersgate street, when Bro. Dodson P.M., the esteemed Preceptor, presided, supported by Bros. Chillingworth P.M. Treasurer, Wimble S.W., Nightingale J.W., Benjamin I.G., Dodds Secretary, Gardner, Hughes, Hodges, Dunlop, Amphlett, Davy, Midgley, Deering, Pigé, Lanham, and others. Various causes were assigned for the comparatively small attendance, contrary to what had been anticipated. Amongst them being the public interest taken in the School Board elections, which engage the attention of many of the members of the Lodge. However, the gathering lacked nothing short of that hearty and fraternal spirit which invariably characterises the meetings at the Champion, and the proceedings were of a very harmonious and enjoyable description. After opening and closing in the first degree, there being no special business to transact, the brethren and Visitors adjourned to the dining-room, where a sumptuous repast had been provided by Bro. Chillingworth P.M., the esteemed proprietor of the Hotel, and Treasurer of the Lodge of Instruction, whose arrangements for the comfort and enjoyment of the guests elicited expressions of unqualified satisfaction. Dessert having been placed on the tables, the customary Loyal and Masonic toasts were given from the chair and duly honoured, the President referring in felicitous terms to the valuable services rendered to the Craft by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales Most Worshipful Grand Master, Earl Carnarvon Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Lathom Deputy Grand Master, and other Grand Officers Past and Present. All of them were really good workers, and were not merely ornaments to the Craft, but Masons truly at heart. In proposing Success to the Joppa Lodge, the President observed that it had been the custom at all their festive assemblies to wish prosperity to the parent Lodge, and he therefore had peculiar pleasure in submitting that toast for acceptance by the company present. In doing so he expressed his sincere regret, which would be shared by the whole company, at the unavoidable absence of Brother Myers the Worshipful Master, and other members of the parent Lodge, who would have had much pleasure in acknowledging the toast. In their absence he would call upon Bro. Benjamin, the Senior Warden of the Joppa Lodge, to respond. The toast was heartily received, and Bro. Benjamin said he rose, with a vast amount of diffidence, to reply to the toast, as if other members of the parent Lodge had been present they would have discharged the task much more satisfactorily. He had thought that the members of the Lodge, who were always solicitous for the intellectual advancement and instruction of their younger brethren, would have mustered in force that evening, but unforeseen circumstances, over which they had little or no control, prevented them. However, he knew they, one and all, felt delighted that this Lodge of Instruction was bringing forward so many intelligent and industrious members, under the guidance of Bro. Dodson, who had rendered such able and substantial service to the Lodge of Instruction, with whom they were now assembled. The President, in proposing the toast of the evening, "Prosperity to the Joppa Lodge of Instruction," said, although their numbers were comparatively small that evening, yet the deficiency was in some measure compensated for by the zeal and assiduity of those brethren whom he saw around him at the festive board. He referred to the proficiency displayed by many of the regular attendants at the Lodge of Instruction, and congratulated the members upon the excellent master invariably witnessed at the monthly gatherings at the Champion. He regretted the fact that more of the brethren of the parent Lodge had not joined them in the fourth degree, but the letters that had been read by the worthy Secretary explained that absence on that festive occasion was from no lack of interest in their Lodge of Instruction. He associated with the toast the name of Bro. J. Hughes. Bro. Hughes, who on rising to reply was warmly received, said he had always felt pleasure in visiting this excellent Lodge of Instruction, and if they traced its history from the commencement they would find that he had attended most regularly, much to his own personal edification and advancement. It was greatly due to the wise and intelligent instruction imparted by their esteemed President Bro. Dodson, that he (the speaker) had attained to the proud position of being W. Master of the Victoria Park Lodge, and he considered the old Joppa ought to be proud that she had in her ranks so astute and accomplished a Past Master as was represented by the worthy Preceptor of this Lodge of Instruction. So far as he could judge, this Lodge was one of the most successful and useful he attended, and it was satisfactory to know that during the whole of the two years it had existed they had never failed in making up a good meeting. He could not say so much for some other Lodges of Instruction he had been in the habit of frequenting. It was only by being thus bound together, and cultivating an esprit de corps amongst the brethren that any such Lodge could succeed; and he wished for the Joppa Lodge of Instruction a long career of future prosperity. Bro. W. Gardner next proposed the health of their worthy President, a task which afforded him considerable amount of sincere and heartfelt pleasure. All who knew Bro. Dodson outside the Lodge appreciated him as a man, and those who were brought into most intimate contact with him in the Craft esteemed him still more as a thoroughly good Mason. On a recent occasion it was his pleasurable duty to present Bro. Dodson with a slight testimonial of esteem and regard on behalf of the members of the Joppa Lodge of Instruction, and in doing so he only expressed the sentiments of one and all the brethren of the Lodge. He was quite sure that, had they searched England through they would have had difficulty in finding a more competent or willing Preceptor, or one better fitted to act as their President. He was always ready to assist them, whether in or out of the Lodge, by giving his time and experience in instructing and coaching those brethren who were working up for office, and thus enabling them to undertake their duties with satisfaction to themselves, and with credit to their Lodge. Brother Dodson might regret that the company was smaller to-night than he had reason to anticipate; but, no doubt, those present would make up in the fervour with which they received the toast all that was deficient in point of attendance. The President, after suitably thanking the brethren for the cordiality with which they had received the mention of his name, begged to be excused from making a lengthy speech, in consequence of the bereavement he had recently sustained by the death of his mother. But though his thoughts were far away, his heart was bound up in the success of the Lodge of Instruction, and he again briefly expressed his sense of the high honour they had done him by so cordially recognising the toast proposed by Bro. Gardner. Bro. Nightingale next gave the health of the Visitors, in doing which he regretted they were not more numerous, though no doubt the interest just now manifested in the School Board elections had prevented many from attending who otherwise would have done so. At the same time they extended a hearty welcome to those brethren who had honoured them with their company that evening, and he assured them that if they attended the Lodge of Instruction they would find that the work was invariably well performed, under the direction of their zealous and esteemed Preceptor Bro. Dodson. The Lodge had only been in existence two years, yet it had so rapidly progressed that, in addition to their festive gatherings, they had been enabled to establish three Life-subscriberships to the Masonic Charities, which he thought spoke well for the vitality and importance of the Joppa Lodge of Instruction. The toast was suitably acknowledged by Bros. Hodges and Gannister. The President next proposed the health of the Treasurer and Secretary, than whom no better Officers could anywhere be found. Bro. Dodds was most energetic and zealous in the discharge of his duties, and had won for himself the esteem of all the brethren of the Lodge. The worthy Treasurer, Bro. Chillingworth, took the greatest care of the funds entrusted to him, and never parted with any money except to the successful winner of a ballot for a Life-subscribership of one of the Masonic Institutions. Within a year and ten months, during which this Lodge of Instruction had been in operation, they had created three of these Life-subscriberships, and he was happy to know that within another short time another similar ballot would take place. Bro. Chillingworth briefly responded, and in doing so expressed the pleasure it afforded him to act as Treasurer to this prosperous and useful Lodge of Instruction, and to observe how energetically the members combined to support the Charitable Institutions of the Order. They had been particularly fortunate in this respect, having, as the President had stated, created three Life-subscriberships, with a fourth nearly accomplished. He hoped the time would soon come when he should have to ask one of the Collectors for the Charities to attend their Lodge and receive at their hands another similar amount. Bro. Dodds also suitably replied, as Secretary, and several other toasts, including the Masonic Press—acknowledged by the representative of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE—were duly honoured. The proceedings were varied by some capital songs and recitations, and altogether a most harmonious and agreeable evening was enjoyed.

RULE No. 170 concerns the "Annual return of members," and is in agreement with the first portion of Art. 26, p 69, and Rule No. 171—"Remittance of Fees, &c."—corresponds with the latter section of Art. 1, p 90, and a clause of Art. 26, p 69. They compare as follows, the new Rule being clearly much more precise:—

| REVISED EDITION. | EXISTING EDITION. |
|---|---|
| "171. Every lodge when it makes the return of its contributing members, and of the brethren whom it has initiated or admitted, shall make a remittance for the registration fees, joining fees, fees for certificates, and quarterly contributions from each of its contributing members to the Fund of Benevolence (307, 308)." | 26 (69). . . . "and at the same time remit all moneys due to the grand lodge." . . . .1 (89) . . . . "Each lodge, therefore, when it makes a return of the masons whom it has initiated, or admitted to join from lodges under other constitutions, shall, in addition to the register fees, make a remittance for the certificates, which may either be taken out of the initiation or joining fee, or charged separately to the brothers for whom the certificates are obtained at the discretion of the lodge." |

The existing Rule has the demerit of vagueness in the latter part, while, as regards the expression "or admitted to join from lodges under other constitutions," it is manifestly faulty, as it leaves unnoticed altogether brethren who may be admitted into the lodge from other lodges under the same constitution.

No. 172 is a new and wise regulation, to the effect that "No lodge shall pay the quarterly contribution for a member who is in arrear, but his name shall nevertheless be returned with the words 'in arrear' written against it." Such a rule as this is not uncalled for, and is calculated to have the effect of arousing Lodges to a more regular collection of the moneys due from members. We have seen some Lodge accounts in which the annual subscriptions were terribly in arrear, while it is within the experience of almost every-one that when arrears are allowed to accumulate, they become in time hopelessly irrecoverable.

No. 173 provides for the "Return by provincial" (and district) "lodges" to the Provincial or District Grand Master of the particulars enumerated in No. 170, and the transmission of all moneys payable to the Provincial or District Grand Lodge. It agrees with Art. 2, p 73. Rule No. 174, as to the "Treasurer's accounts," is the same with Art. 15, p 66, but in a very reduced form.

|---|---|
| "174. All money received or paid for or on account of a lodge shall be from time to time regularly entered in proper books, which shall be the property of the lodge. The accounts of the lodge shall be audited, at least once in every year, by a committee appointed by the lodge." | 15 (p 66). All moneys received or paid on account of the lodge shall be entered in proper books. The fees or dues received on account of, and payable to, the grand lodge, and provincial grand lodge, shall be kept separate and distinct from the moneys belonging to the lodge, and shall be deposited in the hands of the master instead of the treasurer of the lodge, and shall be transmitted to the grand lodge, and provincial grand lodge at such time as the laws require. The accounts of the lodge shall be audited, at least once in every year, by a committee to be appointed by the lodge." |

The sentence in italics is very properly omitted. There is, in the first place, no reason why the Treasurer should not have the charge of all the Lodge moneys, whatever their ultimate destination may be, while, in the next, as regards the transmission of moneys due to Grand Lodge and Provincial or District Grand Lodge, it has already been provided for under Rules Nos. 171 and 173.

No. 175—"Rights of initiated brethren not prejudiced by neglect to make returns"—is substantially the same as the second paragraph of Art. 14, p 66. The introductory paragraph of the latter—"Every lodge must be particularly careful in registering the names of the brethren initiated therein, and in making the returns of its members, as no person is regularly entitled to partake of the general charity unless his name be duly registered"—is omitted, nor do we see any reason for its retention. As to the second paragraph, with which, as we have said, the new Rule corresponds, the neglect indicated consists not only "in not registering their names," but also in not "paying their grand lodge dues."

No. 176—"Annual return of masters, past masters and wardens"—embodies Art. 25, p 69, and Art. 5, p 19. It differs from the existing Law in fixing the time for the annual return to be made, namely, "immediately after the installation of the master." So far as this will have the effect of distributing over the year the work to be done in the Grand Secretary's office in connection with these returns, the introduction of this provision is a wise one. There is also this additional requirement at the end of the proposed Rule:—"This return shall also contain the full name and address of the secretary of the lodge."

Rule No. 177 concerns the "Penalty for neglect of returns," and embodies what of Art. 4, p 19, Art. 26, pp 69, 70, and Art. 4, p 90, relates to the subject. Much repetition is saved by this embodiment of the existing laws in one law, and we shall only quote the latter, leaving it to our readers to compare it with the former. It reads thus: "If any lodge shall during the space of twelve months neglect to make its return and payments to the grand lodge according to these regulations, it shall be liable to erasure, and the master, past masters, and wardens, shall not be permitted to attend the grand lodge, or sit upon any board or committee, by virtue of any qualification derived from such lodge. This disqualification shall cease when the returns and payments shall be made." In the existing laws there is a certain degree of inconsistency. Art. 4, p 19, mentions "the master, wardens, and past masters" as not being, in these circumstances, permitted to attend grand lodge. Art. 26, pp 69, 70, confines the penalty to "the master, immediate past master, and wardens," so that, if this law stood alone, the other past masters would not be deprived of the privilege of attending Grand Lodge. It is needless to say that we consider the new rule preferable; it is a great improvement on the existing Rules, both as regards completeness and clearness.

Rule No. 178, like Art. 4, p 80, of which it is almost a verbal reproduction, provides that a "Lodge may regulate its own proceedings." No. 179—"voting"—is the second paragraph of Art. 2, p 62, but modified with advantage, as will be seen by contrasting the two.

|---|---|
| "Whenever it shall happen that the votes are equal upon any question to be decided by a majority of a lodge, either by ballot or otherwise, the master in the chair shall be entitled to give a second or casting vote." | 2 (p 62). . . . Whenever it may happen that the number of votes shall be equal upon any question to be decided in a lodge, either by ballot or otherwise, the master in the chair shall be entitled to give a second or casting vote, excepting upon a ballot for a candidate for initiation or a brother to join." |

The alteration of the words "in a lodge" in the first clause of the existing Rule into "by a majority of a lodge" renders the excepting clause unnecessary; though, having regard to existing Art. 4, p 85, which provides for the rejection of a candidate "if three black balls appear against him," we are at a loss to understand how any such excepting clause can have found its way into the said existing law.

No. 180—"Admission of members"—embodies most of the contents of Art. 12, p 65, introductory paragraph at p 82, "Of proposing members," &c., and Art. 1, p 79. Here again it will be seen that the proposed new Rule is incomparably superior to the Rules it is intended to supersede.

|---|---|
| "180. Great discredit and injury having been brought upon our ancient and honourable fraternity from admitting members and receiving candidates, without due notice being given, or inquiry made into their characters, and qualifications; and from passing and raising masons without due instruction in the respective degrees, it is declared to be specially incumbent on all members of lodges to see that particular attention be paid to these particular points." | 12 (p 65). "No lodge can make a mason, or admit a member, without strictly complying with all the regulations enacted for the government of the craft."(p 82). "Great discredit and injury having been brought upon our ancient and honourable fraternity from admitting members and receiving candidates, without due notice being given, or inquiry made into their characters and qualifications; and from passing and raising masons without due instruction in the respective degrees, it is declared that a violation or neglect of any of the following laws shall subject the lodge offending to erasure, and no emergency can be allowed as a justification."1 (p 79). "No brother shall be admitted a member of a lodge, unless the laws of the craft relating to the proposing and admitting of candidates shall have been strictly complied with." |

We have but one suggestion to offer, and that is of an unimportant character. To avoid tautology the Rule should read "to see that strict"—instead of "particular"—"attention be paid to these particular points."

Rules Nos. 181—"Initiation"—and 182, "Initiation in cases of emergency"—correspond with the first and second paragraphs respectively of Art. 2, pp 83, 84. As regards No. 181 the words "unless his name, profession or occupation," are substituted for "unless his name, addition or profession,"—what "addition" may be is a mystery of mysteries—while the words, "with the names of his proposer and seconder" are very properly added. No. 182 is, in all important particulars, a reproduction of the second paragraph of the said Art. 2, p 84, the words "the name, profession, or occupation, and place of abode," being rightly substituted for "the name, &c." For the clause, "or in a summons for a lodge of emergency, to meet at a period of not less than seven days from the issuing of the summons therefor," which is a very clumsy compilation, we would suggest, "or in a summons for a lodge of emergency, to meet at a period of not less than seven days from date of issue," with, if thought desirable, the words "of the said summons" superadded. The last sentence of the proposed Rule, "The master shall previously to the ballot being taken, read the proposition, and state to the lodge the cause of the emergency, which shall be recorded in the minutes," is better than the corresponding passage in the existing Rule, "The master shall, previous to the ballot being taken, cause the propositions and emergency, to be recorded in the minute book of the lodge." In the 6th line of the new Rule for "circumstance" read "circumstances."

No. 183, like the earlier portion of Art. 3, p 84, states what must be the "age and circumstances of a candidate," the requirement that he shall be "his own master" being rightly struck out. No. 184 is the latter portion of the same article, but with the addition of the following sentence: "A person who cannot write is consequently ineligible to be admitted into the order." This, being a self-evident proposition, is hardly necessary; but if it is retained we should prefer the word "society" or "fraternity" for "order." No. 185—as to "Military candidates"—is Art. 8, p 86, but for the words at the end of the latter, "or by dispensation from the grand master, or provincial grand master" are substituted, "or by dispensation from the grand master, or provincial or district grand master of the province or district wherein the lodge may at the time be held." Some such extension of this part of the existing clause is clearly necessary in order to define its application. No. 186—as to "Joining members"—is virtually the same as Art. 1, p 83, while No. 187 is Art. 4, p 85, reproduced textually, with a wise provision added to the following effect: "and by-laws may also enact that a prescribed period shall elapse before any rejected candidate can be again proposed in that lodge." As regards No. 188—"An initiate may claim membership"—it must be read side by side with Art. 13, p 65, from which, on the surface, it does not appear to differ.

| "188. Every lodge must receive as a member, without further proposition or ballot, any brother initiated therein, except a serving brother, unless such brother express his wish to the contrary on or before the day of his initiation, as no lodge should introduce into masonry a person whom the brethren consider unfit to be a member of their own lodge." | 13 (p 65). "Every lodge must receive as a member, without further proposition or ballot, any brother initiated therein, provided such brother express his wish to that effect on the day of initiation, to ascertain which the master shall call his attention to this law, as no lodge should introduce into masonry a person whom the brethren might consider unfit to be a member of their own lodge." |

The insertion of the words "except a serving brother," may be thought necessary in order to give greater completeness, though the case is provided for under Rule No. 190. But the alteration of the clause, "provided such brother express his wish to that effect on the day of his initiation," into "unless such brother express his wish to the contrary on or before the day of his initiation" hardly appears to us to be a change for the better, as the latter—in our judgment at least—does not quite convey the same force as the clause for which it is to be substituted. The reason assigned is, in both cases, the same, namely, that a Lodge should not introduce into Masonry a person whom it does not consider fit to be one of its members. But is not this end more likely to be secured by requiring that the candidate shall express a wish to become a member of the Lodge wherein he is initiated rather than that he has no such wish? When a Lodge knows the person it is about to initiate is anxious to become one of its members, the brethren will naturally be more careful to make themselves certain of his being worthy of being introduced into Masonry. If, on the other hand, they know beforehand that he does not wish to be one of themselves, it is on the cards that they may concern themselves less immediately as to his worthiness to be admitted to the Fraternity. For ourselves, we should leave this clause as it is, only altering the words "on the day," into "on or before the day." As to No. 189, which, like Art. 6, p 86, limits the "number that can be initiated on same day" to five, "unless by a dispensation," the new Rule provides that the dispensation shall come "from the grand master, or the provincial or district grand master," whereas the existing Rule merely states that a dispensation for initiating more than five is necessary.

Bro. J. Terry P.P.G.J.W. Herts has kindly consented to rehearse the consecration and installation ceremonies in the West Middlesex Lodge of Instruction, No. 1612, held at the Institute, Ealing, on Tuesday, 19th inst., at 7 p.m. It is expected there will be a goodly number of the brethren. Masonic clothing is to be worn on this occasion.

ROYAL SAVOY LODGE, No. 1744.

ON Monday evening we had the honour of attending a Lodge whose "modest" dimensions was descanted on, to the infinite satisfaction of several of the speakers. Here, on Tuesday evening, we may say in the words of a popular poem, "the scene is changed." There is nothing "modest" about the dimensions to which the Royal Savoy Lodge has expanded. The Lodge is an offshoot of the Metropolitan, No. 1507, and now has nearly, if not quite 100 members on its roll. The installation meeting was held on Tuesday, at the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, when the chair was taken by Bro. James Willing P.M., who was the first Master of the Lodge. It will be in the recollection of most of our readers that in our issue of the 21st October it was our painful duty to record the death of Bro. Jonathan J. Jones, the Worshipful Master of this Lodge, which took place after an illness of two or three weeks; consequently, since that date the Lodge has been without a Master. Lodge was opened at 3.30, when the members assembled, with the following Visitors:—R. T. Elsam P.M. 201 P.P.G.D.C. Surrey, A. Hardy 201, E. H. Smith 1642, B. Kauffmann I.G. 1732, J. After the minutes of last meeting had been read and confirmed, the report of the audit committee was received and adopted. Bros. F. Jackson and R. Boss were raised to the sublime degree, and Bro. Charles J. Knightley was passed. The ballot was taken for four candidates—Mr. William Reuben Dixon, proposed by Brother J. Willing P.M. Treasurer, seconded by Brother J. N. Hare; Mr. Charles Edward Hilton, proposed by Brother J. Willing P.M. Treas., seconded by Brother W. M. Stiles Secretary; Mr. Joseph Alexander Rees, proposed by Brother H. Hoare, seconded by Brother W. J. Jennings; and Mr. Henry Longman, proposed by Brother J. Bryan, seconded by Brother J. W. Smith I.G. In each case the result was unanimous, and Messrs. Dixon and Longman, with Mr. Sydney Clifford, who had been balloted for at a previous meeting, were introduced and initiated by the acting W.M. The W.M. elect was now presented, and Bro. Willing, in addition to the heavy work he had already performed, proceeded with the Installation ceremony. The Board of Installed Masters was an exceptionally large one, and all expressed their approval of the way in which the work was done. On the re-admission of those below the degree, the W.M. was saluted, and he appointed the following as his Officers:—W. Cook S.W., Deller J.W., Jas. Willing jun. P.M. Treas., W. M. Stiles P.M. Sec., Holt S.D., J. W. Smith J.D., Jaques I.G., J. C. Smith M.C., Sillis A.M.C., Callahan Senior Steward, H. Dickie Junior Steward, Greenfield Organist, Mabey Assistant Secretary, Koester Past Master Tyler. The addresses were delivered in a careful manner by Bro. Willing, who on taking his seat had conferred on him the honour of a vote of thanks for his services. This having been suitably acknowledged, a proposition was made that as the late W.M. had left a widow and several children badly provided for, a petition should be sent in to the Board of Benevolence on her behalf, and this was signed by several of the members present. The Lodge also, taking into consideration that Bro. Jones would, had he lived, have had a Past Master's jewel voted him for his services, resolved to vote a sum of Ten Guineas for the immediate necessities of Mrs. Jones. A feature of the proceedings of the evening was the presentation to the esteemed Secretary, Bro. W. M. Stiles, of a substantial gold watch, which had been subscribed for by members of the Lodge. At the same time, the members of the Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, No. 1507, of which Bro. W. M. Stiles is the Preceptor—not to be outdone—embraced the opportunity of testifying their appreciation of Bro. W. M. Stiles and presented him with a very handsome chain. The watch bore the following inscription:—

Presented to
BRO. W. M. STILES M.E.Z. 1507, P.M. 1732, AND SECRETARY 1744, by the members of the Royal Savoy Lodge, No. 1744, and a few other brethren,
in appreciation of his invarying courtesy and valuable services as Secretary, since the formation of the Lodge.

Of course these gifts were fully appreciated and acknowledged by the recipient, who remarked that every time he looked at this valuable gift of theirs it would not only inform him of the progress of time, but would serve to remind him there were a large number of brethren who appreciated the fact that he was an earnest Freemason who tried to do his duty, and that he had been fortunate enough to gain a host of friends by the truly Masonic policy of striving to be happy, and communicating happiness to others. The banquet was served in the Large Hall of Freemasons' Tavern, and a very large party sat down to do justice to it. Brother Hyland, who has acquired and profited by the experience he has gained as Worshipful Master of another popular Lodge, makes a capital president, and on this occasion fully sustained his reputation. The routine toasts were done full justice to, Brother H. G. Buss Assistant Grand Secretary responding for the Grand Officers. In proposing the health of the W.M., Bro. Willing said he believed it would be admitted he generally had plenty to say; on the present occasion that was not the case. The toast he was about to propose—The health of their newly-installed W.M.—required no words to recommend it. Bro. Hyland had always proved himself anxious to carry out the work of Freemasonry, and there was no doubt that occupying the principal chair in the Royal Savoy Lodge would afford him ample opportunity of exercising that skill which he was known to possess. He was quite sure that Brother Hyland would also do all that lay in his power to promote the happiness of the brethren. The Royal Savoy was not a Lodge of grand pretensions: it was content with good work among its Officers, and goodwill among its members. It was not necessary for him to petition them for goodwill and consideration for their W.M., because he was sure that was already secured by what Bro. Hyland had done in the past; this was the best guarantee they could have of what his conduct in the future would be. After the W.M. had thanked Bro. Willing for the kind things he had said of him, he assured the brethren he would strive to the utmost to keep up the reputation of the Lodge. For "The Visitors" replies were made by Bros. Barratt-Kidder, H. Stiles, Harris, Hudson, Storey, Elsham and Edwin Storr, who explained the share taken in the production of the testimonial to their Preceptor by the brethren of the Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction. Several other toasts were given, and the proceedings throughout were of a most agreeable character. All present vieing the one with the other to sustain the harmony of the meeting.

New Concord Lodge of Instruction, No. 813.—This successful Lodge held its usual meeting at the Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, on Wednesday evening last. Brother Marks occupied the position of W.M., supported by Brothers Ferrar S.W., Thompson J.W., Cusworth Preceptor, Perl Secretary, Dixie S.D., Weeden J.D., Ashton I.G.; also Brothers Harper P.M., Pierpoint, Poller, Boulton, Haslip, Chipperfield, Priestly. Lodge was duly opened, and the previous minutes read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed in a very able manner, Brother Priestly acting as candidate. Brother Chipperfield having proved himself an efficient E.A., was passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. Lodge was resumed to first degree, when Bros. Chipperfield and Priestly were unanimously elected members. A vote of thanks was then recorded to the W.M. of the evening, Brother Marks, for the efficient manner he had filled that position, it being the first time in this Lodge of Instruction. Brother Ferrar was elected to the chair of K.S. for the ensuing meeting. A vote of thanks was also recorded to the brethren who had so kindly contributed towards the renovating of the room. It can now safely be said that this Lodge is one of the best appointed and, as regards comfort, complete in the North of London. The annual supper will take place on the 13th December, at the Cock Tavern, Highbury, at 7.30 sharp.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Outward infirmities.—Before the discovery of these remedies, many cases of sores, ulcers, &c., were pronounced to be hopelessly incurable, because the treatment pursued tended to destroy the strength it was incompetent to preserve, and to exasperate the symptoms it was inadequate to remove. Holloway's Pills exert the most wholesome powers over the unhealthy flesh or skin, without debarring the patient from fresh air and exercise, and thus the constitutional vigour is husbanded while the most malignant ulcers, abscesses, and skin diseases are in process of cure. Both Ointment and Pills make the blood richer and purer, instead of permitting it to fall into that poor and watery state so fatal to many labouring under chronic ulcerations.

BROTHER J. W. FORGE.

IN another column will be found a record of the death of Bro. J. W. Forge. Our late brother served every office in the Beadon Lodge, No. 619, and was one of its oldest members. Although seriously ill as far back as last January, he was present at the consecration of the Southgate Lodge, No. 1950, when his brother by birth, R. P. Forge, was installed as the first Master by the Grand Secretary Brother Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke. Brother J. W. Forge was much respected by a large circle of acquaintance.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF LEICESTERSHIRE AND RUTLAND.

THE annual meeting of the above Provincial Grand Lodge was held at the Agricultural Hall, Oakham, in the county of Rutland, on Tuesday, 21st November. In consequence of the inclement state of the weather, and the distance of the place of meeting from most of the Craft Lodges in the Province, there was only a moderate attendance.

The Vale of Catmos Lodge, 1265, under whose banner the Prov. Grand Lodge assembled, was opened at half-past one o'clock, shortly after which the W. Deputy Provincial Grand Master, accompanied by the Provincial Grand Officers, entered the Lodge-room, the Deputy Provincial Grand Master being received with the customary honours.

Amongst those present were W. Bros. G. Toller jun. P.G.S.B. Eng. D.P.G.M., Rev. W. Langley P.P.G.S.W. acting D.P.G.M., T. Harrold Prov. G.J.W., Rev. J. Bird Prov. G. Chaplain, Waite Prov. Grand Treasurer, Wright Prov. G. Registrar, Partridge Prov. G. Secretary, Allen Prov. G.S.D., Young Prov. G.D.C., Crow Prov. G.A.D.C., Gibson Prov. G.P., Walker Prov. G.A.P., Marris and Butler Provincial G. Stewards, Law Prov. G. Standard Bearer, Tanser and Dunn Prov. G. Tylers, Carrick, Crofts and Duncombe P.P.G. Junior Wardens, Richardson and Kelp P.P.G. Sword Bearers, Bennett P.P.G.J.D., Stretton P.P.G. Supt. of Works, Halford and Barber P.P.G.A.D. of C.'s, Wilkinson P.P.G.P., and many others.

Before proceeding with the business of the day, the Deputy Provincial Grand Master said he was sure that the brethren would hear with regret that the R.W. Provincial Grand Master the Earl Ferrers, who had intended to be present on that occasion, and had arranged to instal the W.M. elect of the Vale of Catmos Lodge, was prevented from attending, in consequence of having met with an accident in the hunting field.

The Deputy Provincial Grand Master then took the chair of the Craft Lodge, and in a very impressive and able manner installed Bro. Miles J. Walker as W.M. for the ensuing year.

The Provincial Grand Lodge was afterwards opened in form, and the rolls of Lodges and of Provincial Grand Officers were called, the former roll being answered by all the Lodges in the Province except St. Peter's, 1330, and the latter showing an unusually large number of absentees.

The minutes of the previous annual meeting, and of a special meeting, held in May last, on the occasion of the visit of their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales to Leicester were duly confirmed.

The Report of the Provincial Grand Lodge Committee of General Purposes was read, and, upon motion duly made, was received and adopted. The Report, amongst other matters, referred to the Royal visit to Leicester, in May last, the presentation to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales of a Masonic address of welcome on that occasion, and to the satisfactory arrangements made for the ceremony and the successful way in which they were carried out. The next subject was the draft of the proposed Revision of the Book of Constitutions, of which, after explaining at some length the more prominent changes made in the existing laws, and with the exception of revised article No. 172, the Committee expressed their approval, the work appearing to them to have been carried out with much thought and attention, and to be a great improvement on the existing edition. As to article No. 172, the views of the Committee and of the Authors of the proposed revision were at variance. The Provincial Grand Lodge, at its last annual meeting, favoured the enforcement of the payment of quarterage in respect of members whose subscriptions were in arrear, at which meeting the question was fully discussed. The Committee had since been unable to discover any fresh reason for changing their views, and they suggested that Provincial Grand Lodge should oppose the adoption of the new rule. The motion of Bro. J. M. Clabon P.G.D., proposing an increase in the Quarterage payable to the Grand Lodge Fund of Benevolence, was also referred to in the Report, the Committee stating that the views of the several Lodges in the Province had been asked, and there appeared to be a general concurrence of opinion that the proposed increase was undesirable. A few appropriate remarks on the loss the Province had sustained by the deaths of some of its Past Provincial Grand Officers brought the Report to a close. The P.P.G. Officers referred to were the late Bros. J. M. McAllister P.P.G.S.D., Capt. E. B. Hartopp P.P.G. Reg., Major C. T. Freer P.P.G.S.B., and the Rev. J. O. Picton P.P.G. Chaplain.

The following Report of the Provincial Charity Committee was read and duly adopted.

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PROVINCIAL CHARITY COMMITTEE.

In presenting their Annual Report the Committee are glad to be able to state that their Candidate for admission to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, who was unsuccessful at the October election of 1881, was elected in April last, though at a heavy cost of voting power.

After the October election of 1881 the Province owed 625 boys' votes. This indebtedness was raised in April to the large sum of 1,179. This at first sight may seem to have been a rash and unwise act, but it must be remembered that, as a large number of votes had been already expended on the case, the sooner the boy was elected the better, to save waste at future elections, and secure his entrance upon the advantages of the School before he became too old. No votes were, in fact, wasted, as he was amongst the lowest of those elected. To the Secretaries of the Provisional Charity Committees of Wilts, Monmouthshire, Derbyshire, and North Wales, for their kind help in lending votes, the Committee feel that their thanks are due. At the election in October the outstanding debt was reduced to 975. The Committee hope that brethren will do their best to support this excellent Charity at the next Festival, and they would remind them that money given to the Building Fund in the next year will secure a double quantity of votes.

The Committee now hold 471 girls' votes, which will be called up at the April election, and polled for the daughter of a deceased brother of St. John's Lodge, No. 279, who has been adopted as their candidate.

In the Old People's Charities the Committee are still 100 votes in debt from the election in 1880, but these will be cleared off in May next.

An application for relief has been made by the widow of a member of the Vale of Catmos Lodge, and a sum of £5 5s was voted by the Committee for her present needs.

The Committee have pleasure in proposing the name of W. Bro. J. G. F. Richardson, P.M. 1560, as Provincial Steward for the next Festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, and they have voted a sum of £21 to be placed on his list when appointed by the Provincial Grand Lodge.

The accounts have been duly audited, shewing a sum of £39 11s 8d to the credit of the Committee.

(Signed) S. S. PARTRIDGE P.P.G.S.W.
Chairman.

Freemasons' Hall, Leicester.
13th November 1882.

The Report of the Committee of the Leicestershire and Rutland Masonic Charity Association was presented and received.

The Committee report that the two half-yearly drawings had taken place, as usual, when twenty-three Life Subscriberships were drawn. The number of Life Subscriberships drawn since the formation of the Association, in 1878, was ninety-three, which represented a considerable permanent accession to the voting strength of the Province. The number of members was 134. The Committee draw special attention to the recent elections for the two Masonic Educational Charities. At the October election for the Boys' School, candidates polling a less number than 2464 votes were unsuccessful, and for the Girls' Institution the lowest successful number was 2212. Five or six years ago 1000 votes, or less, would generally be sufficient to ensure the election of a boy candidate, and a still smaller number was required for election into the Girls' School. In the face of these facts the Committee pointed out that the necessity for an Association of this description, and for its being heartily and systematically supported, need hardly be insisted on if local candidates for the future were to stand any chance of election.

The Provincial Grand Treasurer then submitted his annual statement of accounts, which was duly passed.

The Provincial Grand Registrar's report showed an increase in the number of subscribing members in the Province; but, though small, it was believed that the accessions to the rolls of the several Lodges during the past year comprised those only who would help to sustain and add credit to our Order. In other respects, the report stated that the several Lodges in the Province were in a very satisfactory condition.

The election of Provincial Grand Treasurer for the ensuing year was next in order on the agenda paper, when W. Bro. Robert Waite P.P.G.J.W., who has now held the office for several years, was unanimously re-elected, a vote of thanks for his past services being at the same time accorded to him.

The Deputy Provincial Grand Master having declared all offices vacant, proceeded to invest the following brethren as Provincial Grand Officers for the ensuing year:—

W. Brother Captain Richardson P.M. 1560 P.P.G.S.B. was unanimously appointed to represent the Provincial Grand Lodge as Charity Steward at the next Festival of the Boys' School.

The Provincial Grand Secretary read a letter from the Grand Secretary of England, on the subject of Brother Clabon's motion, when, after some discussion, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:—

"That this Provincial Grand Lodge considers the proposed increase in the Quarterage payable by Craft Lodges to the Grand Lodge Fund of Benevolence, as suggested by Brother J. M. Clabon's motion, both undesirable and unnecessary."

After some further business the Provincial Grand Lodge was closed in form.

The annual banquet afterwards took place at the George Hotel, under the presidency of the Deputy Provincial Grand Master; the admirable catering of the worthy host Brother J. Read giving every satisfaction.

The beautiful peal of bells in the Parish Church was rung in honour of the visit of the Provincial Grand Lodge.

KNIGHT TEMPLARISM IS THE BANE OF ANCIENT CRAFT MASONRY.

A CORRESPONDENT, who signs himself "A Christian Mason," calls our attention to an editorial paragraph in our last issue (which we have placed at the head of this article), and questions the correctness of our assertion.

The nom de plume he assumes is, perhaps, the best criterion of the truth of our statement. For, had he been thoroughly imbued with the principles taught by Craft Masonry, he would have felt how incongruous is the appellation assumed by him.

A man may be a good Christian or a good Jew, and at the same time be a Mason; but he cannot be a Christian Mason or a Jewish Mason, because it would be inconsistent with the primary teachings of the Institution, and in flat opposition to the tenets of the Fraternity.

Knight Templars claim to be Christian Masons.

Their existence is an historical deception, and a fraud upon Masons and Masonry.

With the former we have nothing to do; the latter only concerns us. They are a fraud upon Masons because they falsely hold out to the Masonic world that they confer Masonic degrees; they are a fraud upon Masonry because they pretend to be a higher Order of Masons, and because their teachings are subversive of the pure truths of Masonry.

Whether a man uses Masonry for selling clothing, trading in hogs, gathering Republican voters, or bringing souls to Jesus, he is a fraud.

Jews believe in God, one and indivisible—that is the foundation of their faith.

Christians likewise believe in God—but triune and divisible in character.

A number of Jews styling themselves Jewish Christians, teaching a trinity and claiming to be the simon pure descendants of the apostles, would occupy the same position in the religious world as the Knight Templars occupy in the Masonic world.

They might go to the synagogue on Saturday, and proclaim the unity of God (as the Knight Templar does when he goes to the Masonic Lodge as a Mason), and the next day to church and proclaim the trinity of God (as the Knight Templar does in his Asylum), but the world would condemn them as inconsistent frauds, and their followers as silly dupes.

The Knight Templars are the Jesuits of Freemasonry.

Scratch a Grand Lodge politician and you will find a Knight Templar.

Show us a Mason who believes it inexpedient to strike out everything sectarian from the ritual, and we will show him to be a Knight Templar, more suited for a Conventicle than a Lodge-room.

The insidious manner in which the Commandery is given a prominent position at Masonic celebrations—the allusion in Masonic eulogies to the exalted position occupied by the deceased brother in Templarism—the occupancy by them of rooms in Masonic halls to give them a quasi-Masonic reputation, justify us in styling them the Jesuits of Freemasonry.

Their society may be composed of Masons exclusively, but that gives them no right to foist themselves upon the Fraternity as a Masonic body.

Suppose one thousand Masons, professing the Jewish faith, were to organise a society and dub themselves Knights of the Temple, or Defenders of the Sanctuary, or any other seductive name that would tend to rope in greenhorns, instead of wearing white plumes and billy-cock hats, they would wear turbans with gorgeous feathers of red, white and blue. Instead of walking a-foot they would be mounted upon gayly-caparisoned chargers; instead of a cross upon their banner with a Latin motto, "By this sign shall ye conquer," they would inscribe in Hebrew characters, "Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God, the Lord is ONE." Does any sane Mason imagine that a single Grand Lodge would afford them house-room in their Masonic hall, accept their escort in a Masonic procession, or eulogise their knightly character? We think not; neither will it ever be attempted, for Jews who are Masons are neither frauds nor fools. But it all depends whose ox is gored.

More anon.

Who will start a home for aged and infirm Masons?

THE THREE GREAT LIGHTS.—The light of reason, nature and revelation.

There are 128,557 Royal Arch Masons upon the rolls of the various States.

Now the time approaches when the Senior Warden gazeth wistfully at the East, and smileth graciously with the boys.

Why the proceedings of the Grand Lodge of Texas should be embellished with wood cuts of a cross is something we cannot understand.

There are only two Lodges in the city of New York which make a liberal provision for the widows of deceased brethren—King Solomon's and True Craftsman.

Should any Grand Chapter adopt the revised translation of the New Testament, the Craft will no longer murmur at their wages, for they will receive a denarium instead of a penny a day.

Every Master should be able to draw his own designs upon his trestle-board. It is the oft-repeated monotonous lecture which makes the work dreary and keeps the members away from Lodge meetings.

Grand Master presided over a banquet, at which most of the brethren were present.

Prince Leopold Lodge, No. 238.—The quartely meeting of this Lodge was convened last week at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, when the brethren and visitors assembled under the presidency of Bro. Richnell P.P.G.S.B. Middlesex and Surrey W.M., who was supported by Bros. T. C. Walls P.M., C. J. Brown S.W., John Dodson J.W., F. Farrington M.O., W. Farrington S.O., Robert Skelton J.O., and many others. At the conclusion of business a sumptuous banquet was partaken of, after which the usual Loyal and Mark Masonic toasts were honoured, in the course of which the W.M. took occasion to refer to the joy it afforded all Englishmen, and especially Mark Masons, to see Her Majesty taking so prominent a part in State affairs, particularly in regard to the welcome home of the heroes who had fought in the Egyptian campaign. He also alluded to the rapid spread of Mark Masonry in London and the Provinces, and paid a high tribute of praise to the rulers of that branch of Freemasonry in which they were this evening most specially interested. Bro. Walls gave the health of the W.M., to which toast Bro. Richnell duly responded, and in turn gave the Visitors, in whose behalf Bro. Keith Frith, barrister-at-law, replied in an eloquent speech. Several other toasts, interspersed with harmony, were honoured, and a very agreeable evening was passed.

AN IMPOSTOR.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Will you please make known to the Craft, through your widely circulated journal, the existence of an impostor, who claims the help of Masons by stating she is "the widow of Bro. Thomas Lempriere P.M. and Treasurer of St. John's Lodge, Melbourne."

She tells a pitiful tale of her husband's murder in Alexandria, on 11th June last, and of dreadful suffering and privations on her own part.

I wrote, on the 9th August last, a letter addressed to the W.M. of St. John's Lodge, Melbourne, and have just received a reply from the D.G. Secretary for Victoria, to whom my letter was handed, saying—

"We have in this city but one Lodge of that name, viz., the Meridian Lodge of St. John, No. 729. I am afraid you have been grossly imposed upon by the so-called widow of Thomas Lempriere, because the only brother of that name in Lodge 729 is myself. I am the Secretary, and have been a member since 1858, and need hardly say I am pleased to observe that I am alive and in excellent health."

I can only regret not having been able to give this conclusive evidence of an imposture before, and fear that other Lodges, like my own, have been victimised.

Yours fraternally,

R. C. MOUNT W.M. 414,
Prov. G. Senior Warden Berks and Bucks.

WHAT CAME YOU HERE TO DO?

FROM THE MASONIC REVIEW.

IF the above query were propounded to each Brother as he entered the door of the Lodge, I fear very few would be able to give a ready and unconventional answer. The friends, as well as the enemies of our Society, entertain curious ideas of what transpires within our tyled doors, and very many of the more desirable material among the former are to some degree disappointed, when permitted to share in our labours, to discover that the occult and most interesting beauties of our science are crowded into obscurity by less intellectual and, I may say, un-Masonic observances. Initiating, passing and raising candidates, are in many Lodges, and in the opinion of many Masons, the only occasion when anything of interest is on the trestleboard, and when such labour is not marked upon it the irrational conclusion is hastily formed that Masonic progress has come to a standstill.

It were well that Masons should not only remember but thoroughly understand that the mere initiation of a candidate is only a ceremony—only an initiation; it does not make a man a Mason to acquaint him with the methods of satisfying others that he is one; nor is it true loyalty to the Craft for Masons to be so ready to invest every passable candidate with its rights and privileges. Every man of negatively good qualities admitted to the Fraternity makes one with whom all the other members are to be averaged. The number three is one of great universality in Masonry, and will serve to illustrate the idea presented. Let 1 represent the standard of Masonic excellence, 2 a medium, and 3 a negatively good character, one that presents no reasons why it is fit to work into Masonic material, and none why it is unfit. Three candidates representing these relative qualifications present themselves, are accepted, and with what result? Freemasonry's standard is not maintained, but is lowered to accommodate what may, with many chances in its favour, become rubbish in the attempt to give it the Masonic dressing. The admission of such candidates is a guarantee to each of them that men of similar calibre are eligible, and as friends usually present the petitions of friends, this brother's friends will be the only kind he will offer for inspection, and they are a kind that hope for Masonic respectability to give them caste.

A few years ago a moral and industrious young man petitioned one of the Lodges in the city in which I resided. I was well acquainted with him, and the Master of the Lodge to which he made petition enquired of me respecting his reputation. He remarked that he had learned his habits were good, usually spent his evenings with ladies, or in promenading the streets, dressed neatly and acting gentlemanly—but, and here he smiled—"he parts his hair in the middle, and I doubt his ability to appreciate Freemasonry." The candidate was accepted and initiated, and is quite often seen at Lodge, a quiet and apparently interested spectator; he was once elected and installed Junior Deacon, but never qualified himself, and is now, as he will always be, a nominal Mason, and the doubt expressed by the Master I have observed to be well founded. Masonry requires manliness in its members, and the man that effects effeminacy, and "parts his hair in the middle," lacks Masonic manliness. I doubt whether a purely "æsthetic young man" is worth making a Mason, he certainly adds nothing to the wisdom, and can contribute nothing to the strength and beauty of the edifice, and ought to be rejected.

Freemasons affect to attend the Lodge that they may learn lessons of moral rectitude, and add to their stock of Masonic knowledge. How many do it? In how many Lodges does the Master ever do more than his ritualistic duties require? Many in the observance of them manifest a degree of machine intelligence approaching to absolute ignorance of the duties of the Master's office. The theory of the Masonic organisation is excellent, perhaps as nearly approaching perfection as it is possible for human intellect to conceive, but its practice is shamefully abused, and due alone to the ignorance of its officials, and the botched work and inferior material they suffer to pass the inspection of the overseers. That this ignorance is wide spread, and exists in high places, is evinced in the variety of mirth-provoking questions put to the several Grand Masters, and annually repeated by them to their Grand Lodges. To the majority of these queries answers may be found in the several G. Lodge Constitutions, and in the remainder the exercise of a little common sense to construe the Constitutions would supply a ready answer. If Freemasonry were studied we would have no edicts of non-intercourse; no Grand Lodge complications; less legislation; fewer Lodges; more Masons; true Masonry.

What came you here to do? therefore becomes a very important question for Masons to consider, not only as respects themselves as members, but as Lodges. It leads us to contemplate why we spend time and money for Masonic purposes, and inaugurate methods for their accomplishment.

In my intercourse with the Craft, I have seldom found a Lodge in which there were not a few, perhaps but one or two, earnest, zealous seekers after Masonic light, Craftsmen who recognised in the rites and lectures of the Society something more than an arbitrary ceremony for observance in the admission of a new member, something more elevating and instructive than the simple repetition of these forms and the transaction of routine business, but what that something is they need assistance to discover. Let such make the Lodge a school of instruction, let the acquisition of the sought-for Masonic knowledge be what they come to the Lodge to do, and have something before the Lodge at each communication for the good of Masonry in general, and of their Lodge in particular. Indeed it is a wonder to me that some Lodges I have visited ever secure a meeting, for the very little they know of Freemasonry was explained in such a humdrum, slipshod, insipid manner, that it was like swallowing an emetic to endure it.

One of the emblems from which we draw instruction is the beehive; it recommends to us the practice of industry. At another time we are told that man was formed for social and active life, the noblest part of the work of God, and that he will so demean himself as not to be endeavouring to add to the common stock of knowledge and understanding, may be deemed useless members of society, and unworthy of our protection as Masons. Ganged by this standard how many are worthy?

The idea of a Masonic Lodge, when open, is a workshop; it is at labour, and no good Master of work will permit his men to idle their time. Every one should be busy, and not only busy but intelligently employed. We all admit that first impressions are the most lasting, therefore it becomes of the greatest importance that the initiation of a profane into our mysteries be done with a thorough knowledge of the ritual, and such a knowledge can be acquired only by frequent practice, therefore Lodges of Instruction should be frequently called, not for officers alone, but for the members, to the end that the absence of a regular Officer may not impair the successful working of the Lodge. My own practice, as Master, has been to assemble the Officers quietly, at residences or private offices, where each man was drilled in the role he was required to play in the drama of initiation, for as a drama it should be regarded and acted. And the manner is of far more importance than mere verbal accuracy, we admire the accomplishments of the lower animals at the circus, but do not forget that human culture and intelligence are wanting to make the exhibition more than an acquired habit or task. Therefore the Officers should be taught how to act their parts naturally, to use deliberation in speech and action, to convey by the intonation of the voice and expression of eye, coupled with grace and ease in delivery, a sense of earnestness and sincerity, that the candidate may be deeply impressed with the ceremony and become more than a nominal Mason. When the Officers become proficient and capable of imparting instruction to others, the members should be assembled and put in the official positions, with the Officers at their elbows to instruct them. All of the secrets, arts, parts and points must be insisted upon by the Master, for there is but one correct way, and any way is incorrect, nothing should be omitted for sake of brevity, for every thought and action in the Masonic ritual is pregnant with deep significance, is an important part of the whole, and essential to the proper exemplification of the wisdom, strength and beauty of the Institution. Indeed, rather than curtail the ceremonies, I would sanction the postponement of a portion of the ceremony until another meeting, as is the practice still in some jurisdictions, when several candidates are initiated at the same communication and lectured at another.

Religious and political societies regard a persistent inculcation of their doctrines essential to keep the membership intact; weekly sermons and periodical revivals in the churches, and vigorous political campaigns by the earnest patriots (!) are the result of this idea. Why then should we, Free and Accepted Masons, whose principles are preached from the same book the church uses, and whose territory embraces all political divisions and countries, be less earnest and industrious in our preaching than they? If it be that Masons regard their own principles of minor importance, the reason for such an erroneous opinion lies in the fact that we have not preached our principals sufficiently.

I have never failed to hear the Craft express the greatest satisfaction after listening to a sensible, instructive lecture by a competent and studious brother, and the very novelty of such discourses makes them the more eagerly listened to. The Lodge should be made a thorough school for Masonic culture, and to be successful, "the Master should have a lecture delivered each Lodge night, either by himself or some well informed brother selected for the purpose. After the lecture a general conversation should ensue on the subject discussed; interest and attention would be excited; the energies of individual brethren would be brought out and much useful information elicited.

Young Masons usually are like children, anxious to learn the why and wherefore of everything, and the practice of the Craft is to make them as ignorant as their predecessors by shutting to them all the fountains of learning. They find the membership unable to answer the simplest enquiry, and are either snubbed by the elders or laughed at by the youngers for their verdancy. This is all wrong; encourage research; solicit the youngest Entered Apprentice to ask questions, and assure him of its importance by making it the subject of a Lodge lecture.

The ancient charges say, "All preferment among Masons is grounded upon real worth and personal merit only * * * therefore no Master or Warden is chosen by seniority, but for his merit," and with this as good Masonic authority I encourage the ambition of Masons to hold office. No one can detest more than I the scramble for office seen too often not only in the Grand Lodge but Lodges, and I think very much of the scandal could be removed were the above constitutional requirements enforced. The Mason who will qualify himself for a position and then aspire to it is worthy of confidence and advancement; he has evinced his zeal by study, his fitness by Masonic skill, and his worthiness by qualifying himself to "honestly finish his work, whether task or journey." If competent men were chosen for Officers the Craft would be the better for it, and only those who are ambitious to excel would wear the honours.

In the instruction of candidates it is an excellent plan to do it in classes; half a dozen members and the candidate make a good sized class, and if there are additional candidates form additional classes. By this means the candidate has the information repeated in his hearing several times before he is called upon to respond himself, and he loses much of that timidity and nervousness that is apt to attack him in open Lodge.

By all means cultivate music. Select some appropriate words for opening and closing the Lodge, and use them at every communication. There are few gatherings in the general associations of man that are conducted without the accompaniment of music. It is everywhere prevalent, and everywhere appropriate; there is nothing that can so effectually arouse the passions, elevate the soul or stimulate man to exertion, as music. The national air inspires the soldier to face death, and the lullaby soothes the infant to sleep in its mother's arms. In religion and in politics it is a powerful influence, and in Masonic ceremonies it is equally efficient. It affords all an opportunity to participate and after an appropriate closing song the benediction falls on the ear with greater significance: "May the blessing of Heaven rest on us and all regular Masons; may brotherly love prevail, and every moral and social virtue cement us."

The General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls held their monthly meeting, under the Presidency of Col. Creaton, Grand Treasurer, at Freemasons' Hall, on Thursday, when there were also present Brothers Col. Peters, Robert Grey, John Rucker, Frederick Walters, Henry Gloster, Frank Richardson, J. H. Matthews, Edw. Spooner, Frederick Adlard, H. Dubois, Herbert Dicketts, C. H. Webb, A. H. Tattershall, Robert P. Tebb, Peter de Lande Long, and E. C. Massey. Brother Frank Richardson P.G.D. brought forward the motion of which he gave notice at the previous meeting, for the increase of the salaries of the teachers at the School at Battersea, in accordance with the recommendation of Miss Davis, the Head Mistress. The motion was agreed to. The proposed advances did not exceed £5 per annum in any case but one, in which instance £10 per annum was agreed to. The recommendation of the House Committee that Messrs. Rosser and Russell's tender to repair the boilers at the Schools, for the sum of £36 2s, be accepted, was adopted. Three petitions were under consideration, of which two were approved and the candidates' names ordered to be added to the list for next election; the other was deferred for three months, the child being unable to read. The chairman reported that a sum of £200 had been paid since the previous meeting on account of the building of the swimming bath. It was resolved that if money were required on the current account before next meeting it should be withdrawn from the sum of £2000 now lying on deposit account at the bankers. Bro. Frank Richardson gave notice that he would move the following resolution at next meeting:—

"That the best thanks of the Subscribers to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls are eminently due, and are hereby tendered to Bro. Lieut.-Col. Leach, R.E., for his fraternal conduct in voluntarily superintending the sanitary works lately so successfully carried out at the School-building at Battersea. And that as a small recognition of the services rendered by him he be, and is, elected an honorary Vice-Patron of the Institution, with all the rights and privileges attached thereto."

JOPPA CHAPTER, No. 188.

THE annual Convocation of this excellent working Chapter was held on the 27th November, at the Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street. Comps. Gulliford M.E.Z., Isaac H., Cohen J., Lazarus Treas., Emanuel P.Z. S.E., Henochsberg P.S. P.Z.'s Albert, S. M. Lazarus, L. Lazarus, Levy, Dickinson, and Littaur. Visitors—Osborn M.E.Z. 1602, and Edgar Bowyer P.Z. 1471 and 174. The report of the committee was read and adopted. The business feature of the day, the installation of Principals, was then proceeded with. Comps. Isaac was installed Z., Cohen H., Henochsberg J. The ceremonies being conducted by Comp. Littaur in his usual faultless manner. Comps. Lazarus P.Z. was invested Treasurer, Emanuel P.Z, S.E., Dewsnap S.N., Brooke P.S., Meiter 1st Asst., Hobinstock jun. 2nd Asst., Goddard Janitor. The Companions were addressed by the new M.E.Z. on their investiture in very appropriate terms, while the selection gave every satisfaction. The resignation of Comp. Abraham P.Z. was accepted with regret, and also that of Companion Brall. The Chapter was then closed, and the meeting adjourned until the last Monday in January. The Companions sat down to a sumptuous banquet and dessert provided by Comp. Jennings, and superintended by Comp. Silver. The M.E.Z. in eloquent terms proposed the Loyal and Royal Arch toasts. Comp. W. H. Gulliford I.P.Z. said, when he was authorised to hold the gavel, the Companions knew what they had to expect; it required a powerful speaker to enumerate the qualities of their M.E.Z. From the time Companion Isaac was exalted, each office he had held he had filled with credit, and his work had always been done in a truly Masonic spirit. He (Bro. Gulliford) hoped the Great Architect of the Universe would give him health and strength to successfully carry out the duties. The M.E.Z. in reply thanked Comp. Gulliford for the kind manner in which he had spoken of him. As he was now placed in the position of M.E.Z. he would endeavour to do all he could to give the Companions satisfaction. The Chapter was part of himself, and although but a young Mason, in his own Lodge he had initiated, passed and raised candidates, and installed his successor. He hoped during his year of office to make many exaltees; although the Companions had made him their king, he had no desire to consider them as subjects. The M.E.Z. then proposed the toast of the Visitors. The Joppa Chapter, he said, was noted for its reception of Visitors. On this occasion they had only two, but both of them had made their mark in Freemasonry—Companions Bowyer and Osborn. The members of the Chapter were proud to see them both. Comp. E. Bowyer said he was pleased to be present. This was the first time he had visited the Chapter. He was pleased with the excellent working; the M.E.Z., however, had been known to him for many years as a good working Mason. Comp. Osborn followed, fully endorsing all the remarks of Comp. Bowyer. The M.E.Z. said the toast of the Past Principals was one that ought to commend itself to their regard. Each was well worthy of it. He must first draw attention to the one who had just vacated the chair—Comp. Gulliford; no better Mason existed; it was perhaps too late to dilate on his excellent qualities. He would merely say Comp. Gulliford had been S.E. for three years; had filled the office of H. and J. to their satisfaction; and while in the occupation of the chair had done his duty in every respect; it was to him an auspicious moment when he was entrusted with the honour of placing on Comp. Gulliford's breast the token of esteem which all agreed he had fairly earned. The Companions in giving him this jewel hoped he might wear it as a token of the respect in which he is held by every member of the Chapter. He would now place the jewel on his breast, hoping he might live long to wear it. In addition he had to present another token, in the shape of a gold signet ring, with suitable engraving and inscription, as a further memento of their appreciation of his services. Comp. Gulliford said he felt it an especial honour to have to return thanks for the first time in his capacity of I.P.Z. He should always wear the jewel he had just received with pride. He regretted that at the meeting he had not had the opportunity of showing his qualification for work, but they knew he had worked, and could do so at any time. On behalf of himself and the P.Z.'s he returned his and their sincere thanks. The M.E.Z. had now a pleasing duty to perform; to propose the health of the Installing Principal Comp. W. Littaur, whose intellectual qualities were thoroughly known and appreciated. After a response from Comp. Littaur, the M.E.Z. complimented the H. and J.; the latter had been obliged to leave, but they had the H., Comp. I. P. Cohen, who he hoped would be the next Z.; he would couple with the toast the names of Comps. M. J. Emanuel, Brooks, and Dewsnap. This having been acknowledged by the Companions enumerated, the M.E.Z. gave as a special toast the health of Comp. H. M. Levy P.Z, who, in place of Companion J. Lazarus, who was unavoidably absent, had officiated in the capacity of Treasurer. Whatever duty Comp. Levy undertakes, it is for the benefit of the Chapter. Comp. H. M. Levy responded. The Janitor's toast was given, and the Companions separated, after spending a very agreeable and harmonious evening.

7. REPORT OF THE BOARD OF GENERAL PURPOSES.

To the United Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of England.

The Board have to report the irregular conduct of a Provincial Lodge who, acting on a paragraph in their By-laws, recently raised a Fellow Craft to the degree of a Master Mason, within a period of 13 days from his having taken the former degree.

As the By-law in question was passed contrary to paragraph 7, page 86, of the Book of Constitutions, which requires an interval of 28 days between the conferring of any two degrees in England, the Board has ordered that the degree so conferred on the Brother in question be cancelled, and that he be re-obligated in that degree previous to his being registered as a Master Mason; and further, that the irregular By-law be forthwith altered so as to be in accordance with the Book of Constitutions.

(Signed) JOHN B. MONCKTON,
President.

FREEMASONS' HALL, LONDON, W.C.
21st November 1882.

To the Report is subjoined a statement of the Grand Lodge Accounts at the last Meeting of the Finance Committee, held on Friday, the 17th day of November last, shewing a Balance in the Bank of England of £1,012 16s 4d, and in the hands of the Grand Secretary for Petty Cash £75, and for Servants' Wages £100.

8. REPORT OF THE COLONIAL BOARD.

To the United Grand Lodge of Antient Free and Accepted Masons of England.

The Board have to state that in the year 1877, just previous to the dissolution of the District Grand Lodge of Egypt, the Deputy District Grand Master in charge reported on certain Lodges in his District as follows :

Lodge No. 1068—CAIRO.—In abeyance for 4 years, not possible to revive it.
1154—ALEXANDRIA.—Never met. Warrant believed to be lost.
1156—CAIRO.—In abeyance for many years. Warrant believed to be lost.
1419—RAMLAH.—Dissolved by its own members. Warrant frequently applied for, but cannot be obtained.

Since the above-named period no returns or other documents have ever been received from the said Lodges, and there is no doubt that they have ceased to exist.

The Board therefore recommend to Grand Lodge that the Lodges—

No. 1068—Cairo
1154—Alexandria
1156—Cairo

be erased from the list of Lodges on the Registry of the United Grand Lodge of England.

(Signed) JOHN A. RUCKER P.G.D.,
President.

9. APPEALS.

1st.—From the Victoria Lodge, No. 1186, Brisbane, Victoria, against the ruling of the District Grand Master.—That a Lodge of Instruction can only be held under the Warrant of a Lodge under which it is sanctioned, and consequently not in any other Building.

2nd.—From Brother Lionel Mordecai, of the Friendly Lodge, No. 239, Kingston, Jamaica, against the ruling of the Deputy District Grand Master, confirming a decision of Brother John Ashenheim P.M., whilst acting as Master of the Lodge.—That an alteration made by the Lodge in their By-laws, changing their day of Installation from December to January, was valid notwithstanding that it had been submitted for the approval of the Deputy District Grand Master, on the ground that it was not a "material alteration" as contemplated by Article 5, page 63, of the Book of Constitutions.

3rd.—From Brother John James P.M. of the Lodge of Fortitude, No. 105, Plymouth, against a decision of the Provincial Grand Master for Devonshire, refusing to call on Bro. Capt. Elphinstone-Stone, Provincial Senior Grand Warden, to furnish the information on which he had opposed the election of Bro. James as Provincial Grand Treasurer at the meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge on the 1st of August last.

N.B.—The papers relating to these appeals will be in the Grand Secretary's office till the meeting of Grand Lodge, and open for the inspection of the Brethren during office hours.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:o:—

Lodge of Prosperity, No. 65.—There was a numerously attended meeting of the members of this Lodge on Thursday, the 23rd inst., at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, when Bro. Roberts Wor. Master presided, supported by Bros. G. Schadler S.W., Rich J.W., Brown P.M. Sec., Hawkins S.D., Marshall J.D., Gregory I.G., Walker M.C., Chicken I.P.M., Daniel P.M., Ferry P.M., Harris, Rogers, Retallack, Haller, Stanford, Wood, Rudd, Ratcliffe, Rose, Dyson, Sladden, Martin, Pilater, Brown, East, Edridge, Watkins, Roberts, Speight Prov. G. Tyler Surrey Tyler. Visitors—Bros. Caney 943, Norwich, and Searl 1107. Lodge was opened in due form, and after transacting some formal business, was advanced, when Bros. Wood and Retallack were raised to the sublime degree of M.M., the ceremony being most impressively performed by the Worshipful Master, assisted by his Officers. It was the subject of remark that, as an evidence of his Masonic zeal, Bro. Retallack had travelled all the way from Cornwall in order to take his degree, and that he had to leave early in the evening in order to meet his business engagement in the West of England next day. The business on the agenda paper having been disposed of, the brethren and visitors dined together, when the customary Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, reference being made to the valuable services rendered to the Craft by the Grand Officers Present and Past. Bro. Chicken I.P.M. then asked the company, to drink with the fervour it deserved the toast of the Wor. Master, in doing which he spoke of the admirable manner in which Bro. Roberts had discharged his duties during the year. He had been a constant worker in the Lodge, and also at the Lodge of Instruction and anything else that appertained to Freemasonry. In all his functions he displayed a most commendable zeal and discernment, and had thus gained for himself the esteem and admiration of all with whom he was brought into contact. The W. Master, in responding, thought he scarcely deserved the encomiums which were constantly passed upon him by the Past Masters and other brethren of the Lodge. He had been a member of it many years, and had done all he possibly could to further its interests, as he trusted he might be able to do in the future. This evening it had afforded him pleasure to raise two worthy brethren to the third degree, and he hoped, during the remainder of his term of office, they would bring forward many candidates for the mysteries and privileges of the Order. He trusted they would all rally round him and give him as much work as they possibly could. He then announced that it had been decided to hold their annual ball, in aid of the Masonic Charities, at the Cannon-street Hotel, on Tuesday, 16th January 1883, and he was pleased to say a large number of the Officers and brethren had signified their willingness to act as Stewards, and to assist him in carrying the affair to a successful issue. He wanted a good list to take up as Steward to the Benevolent Institution, and as the Lodge would only meet once more before he completed his term, he hoped to be liberally supported. He then proposed the Visitors, with which he coupled the name of Bro. Bullen, who though only a young Mason, was a good and true one, and a thorough Cornish man. Bro. Bullen suitably replied, thanking the brethren for their hospitality, and expressing regret at having been unable to attend earlier to witness the raising of his esteemed friend Bro. Retallack, in consequence of having to attend his own Lodge at Norwich. The W.M., in proposing the health of the Past Masters, said he could not say enough in their praise for the valuable aid and counsel they afforded him in all that pertained to the good and welfare of the Lodge. He thanked them all most heartily, and expressed the confidence he felt that they would all work harmoniously together in the future as they had done in the past. Bro. Chicken I.P.M. said it was a pleasure to work under the able rule of their present W. Master, and the Past Masters would share with him in the desire to do all they could to maintain the prestige that had so long been enjoyed by the Prosperity Lodge. He hoped to be able to render what little assistance he could for many years to come. He urged those who had not yet joined the Prosperity Chapter to lose no time in doing so, as only by that means could they learn the genuine secrets of the Masonic art. Bro. Brown P.M. also responded, and in doing so said the Past Masters, one and all, had the true interests of the Lodge at heart most thoroughly, and did whatever they could to promote its prosperity. As one of the originators of the Chapter, he desired to see it flourish and continue the successful career it had enjoyed in the first part of its existence, for it was already stronger than many of the Chapters in London of many years' standing. Their Chapter carried a considerable amount of weight with it. He was proud also to say the Charities' Association connected with this Lodge was in a very satisfactory and progressive condition. Bro. Ferry P.M. followed, with a few similar remarks, in the course of which he told the brethren that, until they joined the Chapter, they could not know really what Freemasonry was. In reply to the toast of the Officers, Bro. Schadler expressed the gratification it afforded him to act as Senior Warden under so estimable a Master, and Bro. Marshall delivered himself of similar sentiments as J.W. The health of the working Officers was responded to by Bros. Walker as M. of C., and Hawkins as I.G., after which the Tyler was summoned to bring the official list of toasts to a fitting close. The interesting proceedings were judiciously varied with some capitally-rendered songs and recitations.

SHEPHERD'S BUSH LODGE, No. 1828.

THE Annual meeting was held on Monday last, at the Athenæum, Goldhawk-road, Shepherd's Bush. It is satisfactory to know that this Lodge, though it does not aspire to occupy so prominent a position with regard to numerical strength as some of the Lodges which assemble in the immediate neighbourhood, is making steady and consistent progress. It was, and is, intended to be a Lodge where members of the Craft and their friends who desire to join the ranks of Freemasonry, residing in the immediate locality, may assemble together in a quiet, unostentatious, and economic manner. The Lodge was consecrated in 1879, and the brethren who hitherto have ruled it have won the confidence and esteem of the members. Lodge was opened on this, the first day of its fourth year, by Bro. George Harrison, who was supported by his Officers, and Past Masters L. Bryett and A. B. Baker; two honorary member—Bros. G. W. Dixon P.P.G.D.C. Berks and Bucks, and J. O. Carter P.P.G.S.W. of the same Province. As is usual at the meetings of this Lodge, there was a fair attendance of Visitors, amongst them being Bros. T. J. Ralling P.M. 51 Prov. Grand Secretary Essex, T. W. Sharle 1567, C. Sweaby Smith, M.D., P.M. 1380, C. Hubbard P.M. 820, R. Pye 820, F. L. Oliver S.W. 834, Stephen A. Cooper P.M. 1657, George Whittaker 1791, L. Lichtwitz 1642, M. S. Rubinstein 1642, G. P. Festa W.M. 1900, W. Side P.M. 1507, G. Read P.M. 511, F. Richmond 1695, H. F. Jones S.D. 1512, J. Walter P.M. 1158, Capt. A. Nicols W.M. 1794, Peter Harnett 813, T. Collings P.M. 1585, T. W. Heaton 1642, Robert Calingham 1178, C. Dawson Philpott 1895, W. Park 511, J. Nielson W.M. 1791, T. H. W. Fry 1692, George Pung Hazell 697, W. W. Morgan Secretary 211. After the minutes of the last meeting had been read and confirmed, Brother Harrison proceeded to raise Brother Crowe, which ceremony he performed in a carefnl and impressive manner. Amongst other items of business set out in the agenda for the members to transact, was to ballot for and, if approved, initiate Mr. Frederick C. Mander, estate agent, of 2 St. Agnes-villas, Uxbridge-road, W., who was proposed by Bro. White, seconded by Bro. Williams J.D. Also for Mr. Carl Vandyke, photographer, Gloucester-road, S.W., proposed by Brother Wyatt, seconded by Brother Pierpoint S.W. and W.M. elect. The ballot was in favour of both these candidates; as likewise was it for Bro. Walter Coates, Whittington Lodge, No. 826, proposed as a joining member by Brother House, seconded by Brother Alais Past Master and Hon. Secretary. The duty of installing the Wor. Master elect—Brother R. Pierpoint—was most satisfactorily carried out by the outgoing Master, Bro. Harrison. The Officers invested were R. Josey S.W., Peter Burton J.W., W. Game P.M. Treasurer, A. C. Alais P.M. Secretary, W. Williams S.D., C. Breitbart J.D, Fisher P.M. I.G, W. J. House M.C., J. Pierpoint W.S., A. W. Paul Asst. W.S., Schofield P.M. Tyler. The address to the Master was delivered by Brother Bryett P.M.; that to the Wardens by Brother Alais P.M. and Secretary, while the concluding address, to the brethren, was given by the Installing Master. Brother P.M. Baker officiated as Master of Ceremonies throughout. At the close of the ceremony Brother Harrison was complimented on the ability he had displayed in carrying out the work of the day. It was now announced that Mr. Mander, one of the candidates named above, was in attendance. He was introduced, and the new W.M.—Bro. Pierpoint—initiated him into the mysteries of the first degree. A Past Master's jewel was presented to the retiring Master, and Brother Harrison feelingly acknowledged the courtesy and invariable kindness he had received from the members, which he trusted might endure for many years. Some matters of home interest were then brought under consideration, and hearty good wishes having been tendered, Lodge was closed. The banquet was provided by Brother J. R. Ward, who served it up to the satisfaction of all assembled. After the loyal toast of the Queen and the Craft, the Worshipful Master introduced that of the M.W. the Grand Master. The Prince of Wales, he said, was a staunch upholder of the principles of Freemasonry, and this toast was at all times greeted with a hearty reception. After "God Bless the Prince of Wales," routine toasts were pushed on. Brother Harrison eloquently proposed the health of the W.M., and then came a song from Brother Past Master Baker. In reply Brother Pierpoint said he hardly knew how to express his thanks. He felt flattered by the way in which his name had been received. It was with some amount of diffidence he ventured to undertake the duties of the chair, but he would strive to the uttermost to carry them out successfully. It had been said that from the fulness of the heart the mouth speaketh; his heart was full, but words did not fall glibly from his mouth. Some men had greatness thrust upon them; he felt it was so in his case. However, of this he could assure them, he appreciated their kindness to its fullest extent. The health of the Initiate was followed by the E.A. song, by Brother Bryett. Bro. Mander made a suitable reply, expressing the hope that he might eventually reach the Master's chair; he would strive to become a good and worthy Mason. For the Visitors Bros. T. J. Ralling, Festa, Neilson, Reid, &c. replied. The Worshipful Master in proposing the health of the Immediate Past Master remarked that Brother Harrison had given full attention to the duties of his office during the year, and had ably conducted the ceremonies, including the crowning one of installing his successor. After a lively song by Bro. Rubinstein, Bro. Harrison acknowledged the honour done him by the W.M. He assured one and all he would ever exert himself to advance the interests of the Lodge. The next toast was that of the Past Masters, followed by a cornet solo, admirably rendered by Bro. Heaton. Bro. S. Bryett was the first to respond to the toast. He felt he might, with becoming modesty, take unto himself some credit for the success that had attended the establishment of their Lodge. True, it was not a large one, and this became the more apparent by comparison with others in the immediate neighbourhood. The Shepherd's Bush Lodge was not heralded into the world with a fanfare of trumpets, neither was there a large attendance of Grand Officers at its inauguration; but he felt he might state that it was an influential one, and had made satisfactory progress. They started with ten founders, and all were present that evening. They had more than doubled the roll of the number of their mess, and what was originally intended was carried out, inasmuch as all the members were residents of Shepherd's Bush. Bro. Baker also replied; he expressed his gratification at seeing so goodly an array of Visitors; this might be accepted as a testimony of the respect in which the Lodge was held. For the Treasurer and Secretary, Bros. Game and Alais replied; the Officers were also complimented, and in due course the Tyler gave the parting toast. Bro. Oliver presided at the pianoforte during the evening; he also contributed some excellent songs. We must not omit to mention the W.M.'s song—"The Old Brigade"—which was given with much spirit. Bros. Reid and Morgan favoured with recitations.

West Middlesex Lodge of Instruction, No. 1612.—At the Institute, Ealing, on Tuesday last, there were present Brothers Jones W.M., Smith S.W., Seward J.W., Bellerby J.D., Henning I.G., Tucker Treasurer and Preceptor, Wells Secretary, Beasley P.M.; also Hadley, Danby and Clarke. Lodge was opened, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Brother Henning candidate. The W.M. delivered the charge in a very able manner. Brothers Henning and Hadley answered the questions leading to the second degree. The meeting on Tuesday next being the one preceding the regular meeting of Lodge No. 1612, the Officers will occupy their respective positions, when it is hoped that the brethren will attend punctually. Brother Smith was elected Worshipful Master for the 12th December, and having appointed his Officers in rotation, Lodge was closed in due form, and the meeting adjourned to 5th December.

Brixton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1949.—The weekly meeting was held on Tuesday evening, the 28th ult., at the Prince Regent, Bro. Monk's, Dulwich-road, East Brixton. In the absence of the W.M. elect, Bro. E. Bye jun., who was attending his regular Lodge, Bro. Hy. M. Williams Secretary was invited to take the chair. He was supported by the following:—Bros. S. Richardson S.W., F. A. Smith J.W., E. A. Francis Preceptor, C. H. Phillips Treasurer, R. R. Johnson acting Secretary, Richard Poore S.D., H. Goodwin J.D., H. Hooper I.G.; Bros. Pooler, Croucher, Knight, Howe, Harling, Hoare, Moss, Durham, and others. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and unanimously confirmed. Lodge was opened in the second and third degrees. Lodge was resumed, and the ceremony of initiation rehearsed by the W.M., with Bro. Howe as candidate. Bro. Phillips gave proofs of proficiency, and was entrusted. Lodge was resumed in the second degree, and the ceremony of passing rehearsed by Bro. Phillips. Lodge was resumed in the third, and regularly closed to the first degree. On the motion of the Preceptor, Bro. S. Richardson was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing week. Hearty good wishes having been expressed by the brethren, Lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned in peace and harmony until the following Tuesday, at 8 p.m. Most of the brethren remained for the "social hour" after labour, and some excellent songs were given. Bro. A. W. Sebastian Hoare, of Trinity College, London, ably presided at the pianoforte. The W.M., in responding to the toast of his health, referred to the fact that the meeting that evening completed the first six months of the Lodge's existence; that the number of members was exactly seventy, while the attendance at the weekly meetings was most satisfactory. The Officers of the Lodge felt amply rewarded for their labours by the earnest manner in which the brethren worked the various ceremonies, the regular attendance of so many, and by the hearty good feeling existing in the Lodge.

In announcing, last week, the intended Lecture, Explanatory of the Ceremonies of the First Degree, to be given by Bro. James Stevens, in the Royal York Lodge of Instruction, at the Pavilion, Brighton, we inadvertently mentioned Tuesday as the date, instead of Monday next, the 4th inst. The Lodge is to be opened at 7.30, and the brethren are to wear Craft clothing.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

HUNDREDS of Medical Practitioners testify to its marvellous efficacy in immediately relieving and rapidly curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Spasms, Colic, Whooping Cough, and all Nerve Pains. It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. It rapidly relieves pain, from whatever cause, soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases, and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.

Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, Lord Justice Mellish decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davenport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. See Times of July 24th, 1873. Bottles 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, 11s, and 20s. Sold by all Chemists.

TESTIMONIALS.—Head Quarter Staff, Cabul, May 31st, 1880. Mr. R. Freeman, Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of special service to me in alleviating the wearisome spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form. Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne. Yours faithfully, CHARLES W. OWEN, L.R.C.P. Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng., the Divisional Head Quarter Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul.

The Times, August 13th, 1877. From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army. Okoum, July 25th, 1877. The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor, owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected miraculous cures.

THE EMPIRE LAMP.

(Rippingille's Patent.)

THE MOST BRILLIANT AND ECONOMICAL DOMESTIC LIGHT EXTANT.

It equals Gas for Simplicity, but surpasses it for Illuminating Power.

IT burns without a chimney, a pine-shaped globe only being required, which has never been known to break from the heat of the flame. It will give more light than any other lamp with a wick of equal size. The combustion is so perfect that it deodorises the oil, and burns absolutely without smell, giving an intense pure white and beautiful light. It is unrivalled for simplicity in lighting, cleaning, and trimming, and is, in fact, the perfection of artificial light. Suitable for Cottage or Mansion, Churches, Chapels, &c.

THE REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS.

RULE No. 190—the first paragraph of which fixes the "Charge for initiation," while the second deals with the "Initiation and status of serving brethren"—and No. 191—"Proposer responsible for fees"—correspond with Art. 9, pp 86-87, the two side by side reading thus :—

| REVISED EDITION. | EXISTING EDITION. |
|---|---|
| "190. No person shall be made a mason for less than five guineas, exclusive of the registration and certificate fees, and no lodge shall remit or defer the payment of any part of this sum. | 9. (pp 86, 87). "No person shall be made a mason for less than three guineas, exclusive of the registering fee, nor shall a lodge on any pretence remit or defer the payment of any part of this sum. The member who proposes a candidate must be responsible to the lodge for all the fees payable on account of the initiation. |
| "This is not to extend to the making of serving brethren, who may be initiated by the lodge which they are to serve, or for the service of grand lodge, provided that no fee be taken, and that a dispensation from the grand master or provincial or district grand master be first obtained, which shall be specified in the return made to the grand secretary, when the serving brother shall be registered free of expense, but must pay for his grand lodge certificate. A brother so initiated cannot be a member of the lodge in which he was initiated, unless he be afterwards duly proposed and elected as in the case of a joining member, upon which event he shall be liable to pay the same fees as an initiate, and on so doing he will be entitled to all the privileges and benefits of the Craft. | "This is not to extend to the making of serving brethren, who may be initiated by the lodge which they are to serve, provided that no fee or reward be taken, and that a dispensation from the grand master or provincial grand master be first obtained, which shall be specified in the return made to the grand secretary; but a brother so initiated cannot be a member of the lodge in which he was initiated though eligible to become a subscribing member of any other lodge; and, upon being registered as a joining member of such other lodge, and paying his contributions in like manner with other members, he is entitled to all the privileges and benefits of the craft. |
| "He is, however, eligible to become a subscribing member of any other lodge; and, upon being registered a joining member of such other lodge, and paying his contributions in like manner with other members, he shall be entitled to all the privileges and benefits of the craft. | "If, however, there be no other lodge in the vicinity of his dwelling of which he can become a member, he may be permitted to pay through the lodge in which he was initiated the quarterly dues to the fund of benevolence; and after having served the lodge and paid such dues for four years at least, may be considered eligible to be relieved in case of distress, and entitled to the other privileges of the craft in the same manner as if he had been a regular subscribing member." |
| "In case there be no other lodge in the vicinity of his dwelling of which he can become a member, he may be permitted to pay through the lodge in which he was initiated the quarterly dues to the fund of benevolence; and after having served the lodge and paid such dues for four years at least, he shall be eligible to be relieved in case of distress, and entitled to the other privileges of the craft in the same manner as if he had been a regular subscribing member." | |
| "191. The member who proposes a candidate is responsible to the lodge for all the fees payable on account of the initiation." | |

So far as the increase in the initiation fee from three to five guineas, exclusive of the certificate as well as registration fees, is calculated to ensure a better class of candidates, it must be set down as most desirable. At the same time it must be remembered that money is by no means a criterion of worth. The removal of the second sentence of the same paragraph, so as to form a Rule—No. 191—by itself, is also an improvement. In the first sentence of the second paragraph of No. 190, there is inserted at the end a reasonable clause, "When the serving brother shall be registered free of expense, but must pay for his grand lodge certificate." As to the alteration of that portion of the law which absolutely excludes a serving brother from being "a member of the lodge in which he was initiated" so as to allow of his becoming such after having been "duly proposed and elected as in the case of a joining member," we see no objection to this extension or to the provision that having been so proposed and elected "he shall be liable to pay the same fees as an initiate, and on so doing he will be entitled to all the privileges and benefits of the craft." Are we, however, to understand that, having been already "registered free of expense" as a serving brother, he is, regardless of any service he may have rendered to the Lodge, to be registered as an initiate, when, if he becomes a subscribing member of any other Lodge it is only necessary he should be registered as "a joining member" thereof? As to the remainder of No. 190, we have no remark to offer, except that in the last paragraph the words "may be considered eligible" have been altered into "shall be eligible." This likewise is a decided change for the better.

Rule No. 192—"Intervals between degrees"—corresponds with Art. 7, p 86, and No. 193—"Initiate entitled to a grand lodge certificate"—with Art. 1, p 89, and Art. 16, p 67. With reference to the latter proposed rule, however, the words at the end—"for which certificate the lodge shall pay the fee"—appear to us to be irreconcilable with Rule No. 190—"No person shall be made a mason for less than five guineas, exclusive of the registration and certificate fees," unless, indeed, we are to understand that, in respect of these fees, the Lodge is merely the channel through which the brother's money passes into the coffers of Grand Lodge. No. 194 is a new Rule, and provides for a brother who has lost his certificate obtaining a duplicate, "on payment of the regular fee." The other Rules relating to certificates are No. 195, corresponding with Art. 2, p 90; No. 196, with Art. 3, p 90; No. 197, with Art. 6, p 91; No. 198, with Art. 5, pp 90, 91; No. 199—"Certificate for begging purposes"—with Art. 17, p 67; and No. 200—"Private lodge certificates"—with Art. 7, p 91. They do not need any comment.

The four Rules which follow relate to "Offences," No. 201—"Assisting at irregular lodges"—save for a few verbal alterations, being a reproduction of Art. 2, p 79. No. 202—"Printing and publishing"—is much more comprehensive than Art. 3, p 80, and, as far as we can see from the following comparison, may be said to sufficiently provide for every possible contingency.

| REVISED EDITION. | EXISTING EDITION. |

to be printed or published, the proceedings of any lodge, or any part thereof, without the consent of the grand master, or provincial or district grand master, or print or publish any thing which by the laws and regulations of masonry is improper to be published. Nor shall any brother publish or circulate any document relating to any case of masonic complaint before the regularly constituted authorities, until after final adjudication thereon, and then only if the same be proper to be published according to the laws of masonry.

"This law does not extend to furnishing printed copies of documents for the use of any board or committee investigating the matter, provided the same are sent through the grand secretary, provincial or district grand secretary, or the secretary of such board or committee respectively, nor to the writing, printing, or publishing of any notice or summons, issued to the members of a lodge, by the authority of the master, nor to the proceedings of any festival or public meeting at which persons not masons are permitted to be present."

cause to be printed and published, the proceedings of any lodge, or any part thereof, or the names of the persons present at such lodge, without the consent of the grand master, or provincial grand master, under pain of being suspended or expelled the order.

"This law is not to extend to the writing, printing, or publishing of any notice or summons, issued to the members of a lodge, by the authority of the master, or the proceedings of any festival or public meeting at which persons not masons are permitted to be present."

What we have printed in italics constitutes the material additions to the existing law, nor is there any reason to find fault with their insertion. On the contrary, as we have said already, they extend the contingencies for which legal provision must be made to the utmost limit. As regards the penalty for violating the law, provision appears to be made in Rule No. 204. There are one or two minor amendments we would suggest. Thus, in line 6 of the first paragraph we would insert, after "print or publish," the words, "or cause to be printed or published;" and in the third line of the second paragraph, for the words "investigating the matter," we would read "investigating such case of masonic complaint."

No. 203—"Public appearance in masonic clothing"—embodies in brief but sufficient compass all the requirements of Art. 2, p 94; Art. 3, p 41; Art. 1, p 93; Art. 18, p 67; and Art 3, p 94. As another specimen of compactness it is worth reproducing. "No brother shall appear clothed in any of the jewels, collars, or badges of the craft, in any procession, or at any funeral, ball, theatre, assembly, or meeting, or at any place of public resort, unless the grand master, provincial grand master, or district grand master, as the case may be, shall have previously given permission for brethren to be there present in masonic clothing." The last of the four Rules as to "Offences," has the marginal note, "Other offences," and corresponds with the first part of Art. 31, p 71, concerning such other offences committed by a Lodge, and Art. 7, p 82 (first part), concerning the same when committed by a brother. Rule No. 205, respecting "Fines" in like manner embodies the second and third parts of the same two articles, one concerning a Lodge offence, and the other concerning a brother's offence, and the application of the Fines.

No. 206—"Exclusion from the lodge"—is Art. 20, p 67, but apparently with a penalty far less severe in one respect.

|---|---|
| "206. If any brother behave in such a manner as to disturb the harmony of the lodge, he shall be formally admonished by the master; and, if he persist in his irregular conduct, he shall be punished by censure, fine, or exclusion for the remainder of the meeting, according to the opinion of the majority of the members present, or the case may be reported to higher masonic authority." | 20 (p 67). "If any brother behave in such a manner as to disturb the harmony of the lodge, he shall be thrice formally admonished by the master; and, if he persist in his irregular conduct, he shall be punished by censure, fine, or exclusion, according to the by-laws of the lodge; or the case may be reported to higher masonic authority." |

No. 207, as to the "mode of exclusion," is Art. 21, p 68, but very much enlarged, and with great advantage, as will be seen by a comparison of the two.

|---|---|
| "207. Every lodge has the power to permanently exclude any of its members for sufficient cause, provided that such member shall have received due notice in writing of the complaint made against him, and of the time appointed for its consideration, when he may attend and be heard. This power of exclusion can only be exercised by a majority of not less than two-thirds of the members present. The name of every brother excluded from a lodge, with the cause of the exclusion, shall be forthwith sent to the grand secretary; and, if the lodge be a provincial or district lodge, also to the provincial or district grand secretary." | 21 (p 68). "No lodge shall exclude any member without giving him due notice of the complaint made against him, and of the time appointed for its consideration. The name of every brother excluded, with the cause of exclusion, shall be sent to the grand secretary; and, if a country lodge, also to the provincial grand master." |

We omit the note as to the difference between "expulsion" and "exclusion," because it is verbatim the same in both editions. As to the proposed rule, we think it is a wise provision that the sentence of exclusion can only be carried against a brother in the event of there being a two-thirds majority in its favour. In respect of Provincial or District Lodges, we see no reason for altering "provincial grand master," as in the existing rule, into "provincial or district grand secretary." In previous cases the word "master" has been maintained.

We have already referred to No. 208—"Power to reinstate excluded brethren"—in connection with New Rule No. 87, and pointed out that functions appertaining to the Grand Master, and Provincial or District Grand Masters, should have their place, the former under the head of "Grand Lodge," and the latter under that of "Provincial and District Grand Lodges," even though it should be necessary to have a corresponding rule or rules under "Private Lodges." The first paragraph corresponds with Art. 9, p 32, of the existing edition, which is placed under the heading "Grand Master." The second paragraph corresponds with the second paragraph of Art. 4, p 46, which is under "Provincial Grand Master," and the third is, of course, a necessary addition, to provide for District Grand Masters. The existing arrangements appear to us to be satisfactory, nor can we understand why they should not be retained. We give the proposed and the existing regulations side by side.

| "208. Should the grand master be satisfied that any brother has been illegally, or without sufficient cause, excluded from any of his masonic functions or privileges, he may order him to be reinstated, and may suspend, until the next ensuing quarterly communication, any lodge failing to comply with his order,"A provincial grand master has the same power within his province."A district grand master has the same power within his district, and in case of failure to comply with his order may suspend the offending lodge during such time as he thinks proper." | 9 (p 32.) "If the grand master should be satisfied that any brother has been illegally, or without sufficient cause, excluded from any of his masonic functions or privileges, by a private lodge or other authority, he may order him to be reinstated, and may also suspend, until the next ensuing quarterly communication, the lodge or brother who shall refuse to comply with his order."4 (pp 46, 47) second para. "The provincial grand master has no power to expel a mason, though he may, when satisfied that any brother has been illegally excluded from any of his masonic functions or privileges, by a lodge within his district, order him to be immediately restored, and may suspend, until the next quarterly communication, the lodge or brother, who shall refuse to comply with such order." |

That the proposed Rule is well drawn up must be allowed, but this does not appear to us to justify its appearing under "Private Lodges." Or, by slightly altering the wording, and making the brethren of a private lodge the subject, the proposed arrangement might stand.

Rules Nos. 209—"Excluded brethren joining another lodge"—and 210—"Certificate to be furnished, and reproduced when joining"—correspond with Art 5, p 81, the former with the first, and the latter with the second sentence. They are substantially the same as the existing Rule. No. 211—as to "Differences and complaints"—will be found to compare with Art 6, p 81, Art. 18, p 25, and Art. 6, p 74, the last prescribing that lodges in places where there is no Prov. or D.G.M. must submit "their communications and complaints direct to the grand secretary in London." The new Rule reads well. "All differences between, or complaints of members of London lodges or of lodges in places where no provincial or district grand master is appointed, that cannot be accommodated privately or in a regular lodge, shall be reduced into writing and delivered to the grand secretary, who shall lay the same before the grand master or the board of general purposes, or the colonial board, or other board or committee specially appointed by the grand lodge. When all parties shall have been summoned to attend thereon, and the case investigated, such order and adjudication shall be made as the laws and regulations of masonry authorize."

No. 212—"Differences and complaints in the provinces"—compares with Art. 1, p 72 (part), and Art. 5, p 47 (part).

|---|---|
| "212. Complaints against brethren in the provinces must in all cases be made to the provincial grand master, or his deputy; failing whose attention thereto the complaint may be transmitted to the board of general purposes." | 1 (p 72). "All country lodges are under the immediate superintendence of the provincial grand master of the district, to whom, or to his deputy, they are to apply in all cases of difficulty and doubt, and to whom all complaints must be transmitted. If those officers should neglect to proceed in the business, the application or complaint may be transmitted to the board of general purposes." . . . .5 (p 47) "If the provincial grand master or his deputy shall neglect to proceed forthwith on any case submitted for his decision, the application or complaint may be transmitted to the board of general purposes." . . . . |

Here, though a function of the Provincial Grand Master is concerned, the Rule makes the complaints of brethren the subject, and is rightly, therefore, included under this division. No. 213 concerns complaints in Districts, and No. 214 embodies the Rules at pp 95, 73, 57, 47, which relate to appeals from subordinate authorities—including District Grand Master and District Grand Lodge. We notice, however, that the sentence, "At the hearing of the appeal no fresh evidence shall be adduced by either party," which occurs in the existing Article on Appeal, at pp 95, 96, is excluded from the proposed new Rule, and we presume, therefore, that fresh evidence may be adduced. Rule No. 215 is the same with Art. 10, p 32, except that applications on business to the Grand Master cannot be made "except through the grand secretary," the Deputy Grand Master and Grand Registrar being no longer channels of communication between the Grand Master and Lodges or brethren. No. 216 is Art. 29, p 71, the last clause, "but if all the members of a lodge withdraw, the warrant becomes extinct," being altered into "but should the number of members remaining at any time be less than three the warrant becomes extinct." Rules Nos. 217—"Lodge failing to meet"—and 218—"Surrender of warrant"—correspond with part of Art. 26, p 70, and Art. 27, p 70, respectively, except that in the latter the words "without his" (the Grand Master's) "consent," are altered into "under any circumstances." No. 219 is new, and provides as follows: "In all cases not expressly provided for, the laws and regulations for the conduct or proceedings of the grand lodge are applicable to, and are to be taken as the rule for, private lodges." This brings us to the end of the third principal division, "Private lodges."

UNITED GRAND LODGE.

THE decision arrived at on Wednesday last, at the Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge, on the question mooted some time past as to the advisability of increasing the dues payable by every registered Mason to the Fund of Benevolence, is one which will materially affect the future of English Freemasonry. The actual question before the English Brotherhood was, whether or not the dues should be increased from four to six shillings per annum in the case of London brethren, and from two to three in the case of Provincials? but the issue involved was of far greater importance, even if it did not affect the whole structure of Freemasonry. Up to within a very few years—we might say months, for it is only since 1879 that the change has taken place—the dues payable to the Fund of Benevolence not only provided for every grant made from it, but left a surplus, reaching at the time to which we refer to something like £50,000, but for some unexplained cause the expenditure since then has so far exceeded the income as to arouse the gravest fears in the minds of many brethren, who see that a continuance of the course now adopted will not only swallow up the accumulated fund, but will lead to the greatest difficulty in dispensing relief to necessitous members of the Order. It cannot be denied but that the Masonic Charities occupy one of the foremost—if not the first—place among the Benevolent Institutions of this country, and therefore any question which concerns them not only affects the Brotherhood, but also has great weight on the general public. Freemasonry has become very popular during the past few years, and its popularity has led to greater publicity of its doings, until its great principle of charity has become a matter of general comment, instead of, as it formerly was, one of Masonic interest only. The amounts expended month by month in relief of those whose position necessitates an appeal to the Fund of Benevolence, the sums annually raised for the Masonic Institutions, and the grants of Grand, Provincial, and Private Lodges, are all matters which we Freemasons may justly feel proud in publishing to the world, but the greater publicity of these benefits of Freemasonry has, perhaps, caused a feeling of unworthiness in many, who see in Freemasonry nothing but a great benefit society, and who thus seek to join it with a view of reaping advantages should occasion offer. We do not care to commit ourselves to an expression one way or other as to whether this feeling has had any effect on the number who have recently joined Freemasonry, suffice it to say that the opinion that it has is a pretty widely spread one, while the ever increasing number of the claims made for assistance go far, in the eyes of many, to prove it. It cannot be wondered at, then, that a proposal to increase one of the funds available for relief by an addition of fifty per cent. in its chief item of income should call forth strong expressions of opinion, or that it should be strongly opposed by all who entertain the feeling that so much actual giving of money is detrimental to the best interests of the Order.

As we have said, the expenditure of the Fund of Benevolence during the past few months has so far exceeded its income as to arouse the gravest fears for the future; and the question which presents itself is, how to stop the heavy calls which have recently been made on the funded property? There are two methods—either to increase the income, or lessen the expenditure. The latter course entails—so say those who argue in favour of the former—a disregard of the true principles of Freemasonry, and of the necessities of those who appeal; while the other side argue, that what was sufficient a year or two back might be made sufficient now; and the latter is, we think, the more generally accepted idea. The causes which have led to this unsatisfactory state of affairs have not, as yet, been officially explained; we think, however, there is but one feeling as regards it. Up to 1879 there was a surplus, which about that time caused great trouble. It was getting so large as to be a disgrace to the Order—so much money lying idle, and still accumulating, was wrong—and so a proposal was made to spend some of it; and, strange to say, by the same brother who now (less than two years later) argues that the funds are insufficient to carry on the work which was then insufficient to absorb the income. Brother Clabon at that time argued ably in support of his scheme; the income of the Fund of Benevolence was amply sufficient, not only to satisfy all claims, but to leave a margin; why then should not a part of the surplus be devoted to some other good cause? The general feeling, however, was against him, there was a majority who thought the fund of Benevolence had enough claims on it, and accordingly Bro. Clabon's proposal was rejected. The future, it was said, would show that the income was only sufficient to meet the expenditure. The future has shown, that not only is the expenditure equal to the income, but that it can be made to exceed the amounts received, for the disproportionate rise in the expenditure, as compared with the income, prevents our considering the advance as legitimate, and such we think must be accepted as the opinion of Grand Lodge, which has now decided that the sums dispensed by the Lodge of Benevolence must be kept within the limits of its income. The arguments used on Wednesday last, both for and against the proposed increase, were numerous, and may receive further consideration at our hands on a future occasion.

As regards the other business before Grand Lodge, the first items, after the confirmation of the minutes, had reference to the chiefs of the Order for next year—the nomination of a Grand Master, the appointment of President, the election of Senior and Junior Vice Presidents of the Lodge of Benevolence, and of twelve Past Masters to serve on the same; each requiring attention. As regards the former, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales was again nominated for the office of Grand Master; the nomination being received with the same hearty approval as has marked the similar proposition in past years, Bro. James Brett and Bro. Charles Atkins were elected respectively Senior and Junior Vice Presidents of the Lodge of Benevolence; and the following were chosen as the Past Masters to represent Grand Lodge on the same board :—

|---|---|
| Brother GEORGE POLE BRITTEN | 183 |
| JOSEPH D. COLLIER | 1366 |
| THOMAS CULL | 1446 |
| CHARLES DAIRY | 141 |
| HENRY GARROD | 749 |
| CHARLES F. HOGARD | 205 |
| JOHN M. KLENCK | 1339 |
| WILLIAM MANN | 186 |
| JAMES H. MATTHEWS | 143 |
| WILLIAM H. PERRYMAN | 3 |
| WILLIAM STEPHENS | 1489 |
| EDWARD FRANCIS STORR | 22 |

The grants recommended by the Lodge of Benevolence were agreed to; they were eighteen in number, and amounted to £1100, there being four recommendations for £100 each, and fourteen of £50. This reduction in amount, as compared with the proposals of the past, is a much better plan for bringing the outlay of the Lodge to something like its income, than increasing the income to correspond with an outlay which, in some minds at least, was fast approaching extravagance. The report of the Board of General Purposes contained one peculiar item—a report of irregularity in a Provincial Lodge, where a Fellow Craft was recently raised to the degree of Master Mason within a period of thirteen days from his having taken the former degree. The law on this subject is so distinct that we can hardly imagine how it could have been transgressed, notwithstanding the fact that it is said the Lodge By-laws in a measure sanction it. However, once having been brought under notice, the necessary alteration has been ordered, and we imagine no further such mistakes will occur in the Lodge in question. The Colonial Board has apparently been led away from its ordinary quiet lines by the excitement of the public as regards Egypt, for we find a recommendation from it that four Lodges warranted for that country, viz., Nos. 1068 at Cairo, 1154 at Alexandria, 1156 at Cairo, 1419 at Ramlah, be erased from the list of Lodges on the Registry of the United Grand Lodge of England. Doubtless this step is very desirable, but we can hardly imagine that these four are the only Lodges which should come under the direction of the Colonial Board, and which are defunct. Still, as we have said, the proposal is a good one; we only hope it will be followed up as regards other countries, and that a general erasing of defunct Lodges, both in the Colonies and at home, will take place. Each of these reports were adopted. There were three appeals to be submitted to Grand Lodge, the first of which, from the Victoria Lodge, No. 1186, Brisbane, Victoria, against the ruling of the District Grand Master—that a Lodge of Instruction can only be held under the Warrant of the Lodge under which it is sanctioned, and consequently not in any other building, appears very strange to us. It was dismissed against the District Grand Master. The second appeal rested on the legal definition of what is a "material alteration" in a law; but the third was again a public matter—a Provincial Officer opposed the election of a brother to the office of Prov. Grand Treasurer. The latter thereupon sought for a public explanation of the why and wherefore of the opposition, finally calling upon the Provincial Grand Master, and then Grand Lodge, to force the objecting brother to explain. Of course, the appeal was dismissed. Four notices of motion followed; to the first—that by Bro. Clabon, as to the increase of Grand Lodge dues—we have already referred; the second, by the same brother, a proposal to prevent any part of the capital of the Fund of Benevolence being sold without the express order of a Grand Lodge, confirmed by a subsequent Grand Lodge, was withdrawn; while, as regards the others, the first, which was a proposal that Grand Lodge should endow two scholarships in the projected "Royal College of Music," was negatived; and the second, a proposal by Bro. James Stevens to subdivide the London Lodges outside a four-mile radius from Freemasons' Hall, was ruled out of order.

Obituary.

BRO. ELIAS SOMERS.

We regret to have to announce the decease of Bro. Elias Somers, P.M. 1602 and 1897, who expired on Monday last, after a long and painful illness. Bro. Somers was initiated in the Clapton Lodge, No. 1365; was a founder of the Marquis of Ripon Lodge, 1489, wherein he was the first Senior Warden. He was likewise a founder of the Sir Hugh Myddelton and Citadel Lodges, in both of which he was the first Worshipful Master. Bro. Somers was exalted in Sincerity Chapter, No. 174, and was one of the founders of the Duke of Connaught Chapter, No. 1524. The funeral will take place this day (Saturday), at Abney Park Cemetery, at One o'clock.

MRS. C. J. SCALES.

On the 6th instant, the funeral took place, at Nunhead Cemetery, of the beloved wife of Bro. C. J. Scales, P.M. 1507, who departed this life on the 30th ultimo. A circle of sympathising friends attended to show their respect. Brother G. W. Knight, of the Metropolitan Lodge, No. 1507, attended, and presented, as a mark of respect, on behalf of the Lodge of Instruction, a handsome floral wreath.

The monthly meeting of the General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys was held at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen Street, on Saturday last. There were present Bros. Mann (in the chair), Leopold Ruf, J. L. Mather, C. F. Matier, G. P. Gillard, A. Williams, Edgar Bowyer, A. E. Gladwell, Donald M. Dewar, F. Adlard, E. Baxter, Thos. Cubitt, A. H. Godson, and E. C. Massey. The minutes of the General Committee of the 4th November were read and verified, and those of the House Committee of the 17th idem, for information. There was one petition, from the widow of a professor of music, who died a short time since, of typhoid fever. Petitioner has eight children, including a posthumous child. The case was recommended by the Rev. C. J. Martyn, Past Grand Chaplain, and all documents being in order, the petition was accepted, and the name added to the list of candidates for election. A grant of £10 was made to a former pupil, in the employ of Mr. Dickinson, Marine Engineer, Monkwearmouth. There were special circumstances in this case, which induced the Committee to exceed the usual grant of £5. A vote was made of £5 to another ex-pupil, subject to enquiries. This being the whole of the business, the meeting broke up, after a vote of thanks to the chairman.

ANCHOR AND HOPE LODGE, No. 37.

THE monthly meeting of this old Lodge was held on Monday, the 4th December, at the Masonic-rooms, Bolton, at 6 o'clock in the evening. Present—Bros. Garstang W.M., Booth S.W., Pacey J.W., Slater P. Prov. S.G.D. Treasurer, Brockbank P. Prov. S.G.D. Secretary, Poynter J.D., Hardcastle I.G., Rev. J. H. Gibbon, Roiley Tyler. P.M.'s Bros. John Morris, Samuel Crowther P. Prov. Superintendent of Works, James Walker; also Bros. Naylor, Steward, and Golding. The minutes of the preceding meeting having been confirmed, the brethren proceeded to the election of W.M. for the ensuing year, and the unanimous choice of the brethren fell upon Bro. George Parker Brockbank, doubtless in token of appreciation of his long services to the Lodge and Masonry generally, and especially in connection with the Sesqui-Centennial of the Lodge in October last. Arrangements were made in regard to the installation meeting, and the ordinary Lodge business transacted. A Brother was proposed as a joining member, after which the Lodge was closed in peace and harmony, at seven o'clock, and the brethren adjourned to refreshment.

Bro. Da Silva, W.M. Lodge of Israel, 205, then rehearsed, in an efficient manner, the ceremony of installation, and was afterwards awarded a hearty vote of thanks. A vote of thanks was also passed to Bro. Webb P.M. for visiting this Lodge (he having come a great distance) to assist during the installation ceremony. Lodge was adjourned till Monday, 11th inst. The usual harmony meeting followed. To these gatherings brethren are cordially invited.

THE monthly meeting was held on Wednesday, 22nd November, at the Commercial Hotel, Bolton, at half-past six o'clock in the evening. Present—Bros. W. Court W.M., Wm. Blain I.P.M., Robert Latham S.W., John Barrett J.W., John Priestley Chaplain, George Ferguson P.M. Treasurer, Nathaniel Nicholson P.M. Secretary, E. G. Harwood S.D., A. Cosgrove J.D., J. W. Taylor P. Prov. G.Org. Master of Ceremonies, T. E. Smith Organist, T. B. Tong I.G., J. W. Roiley Tyler. Bros. Naylor, Parkinson, Goulborn, Thomas Morris P.M., G. P. Brockbank P. Prov. S.G.D., Thomas Arden, Morris jun., W. E. Bardsley, J. M. Rutter P.M., J. Richardson P.M., James Smith, J. H. Greenhalgh P.M. John Bromley P.M., J. W. Forbes, Benj. Derham. Visitors—Bros. Brothroyd W.M. 221, Siddorn 221, Flitcroft P.M. 221, Naylor 37, Crankshaw S.W. 348, Higson 348. The Lodge was opened in due form, and some formal business transacted, after which Bro. Blain I.P.M. delivered the lecture on the tracing board in the first degree, in a most impressive and correct manner, and was listened to with great interest by the brethren, and very cordially thanked. The next part of the proceedings was the presentation of a beautifully illuminated address to Bro. Harwood Junior Deacon of the Lodge, who had recently been elevated to the distinguished position of Mayor of Bolton, by the unanimous vote of the Town Council, in which body he had distinguished himself by many years' hard work in the capacity of chairman of one of the most important committees; and although he had been vigorously engaged during the day in conducting the polling for the School Board Election, he attended in his place in the evening as a Junior Officer of the Lodge. From his well known punctual habits, the brethren anticipated that he would not neglect his Masonic duties, and accordingly resolved to give him a fraternal welcome on his first appearance since his accession to the civic chair. The Lodge-room was beautifully decorated, and the following brethren sent their private banners to adorn the wall, namely, Bros. Brockbank, Court, Rutter, Blain, Heywood, Ferguson, Richardson, Nicholson, Greenhalgh, Bromley, Barrett, Morris, Latham, Stead, Isherwood, Aldred, Boothroyd; the Grand Lodge banners, Banners of 221 and 1723 were also hung in a conspicuous part of the room. The address was congratulatory, on Bro. Harwood's accession to his high municipal office, and expressive of the good wishes of the brethren, and their high appreciation of his personal character as a man and a Mason. Bro. Harwood briefly replied, thanking the brethren for their kindness and goodwill towards him, and offered his obligations Masonically to the elder members of the Lodge, who had always given him their help and support in his duties, expressing his determination to win by merit the continued good wishes of the brethren. Hearty good wishes having been expressed by the visiting brethren, a portion of the Ancient Charges was read by the Senior Warden, and the Lodge closed in peace and harmony at 7.30. A most enjoyable evening was afterwards spent, the brethren separating at eleven o'clock.

THE REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I do not like your explanation and remarks as to the root of the difficulty in either new or old rule 188 of the Book of Constitutions. Take the first clause:—Every lodge must receive as a member, without further proposition or ballot, any brother initiated therein; this at once assumes that the initiation has taken place, or how could he be a brother? How can a brother express his wish to the contrary on or before the day of his initiation? Because he would not be a brother before. The conclusion is absurd; the reason for the above is there given:—"As no lodge should introduce into Masonry a person whom the brethren consider unfit to be a member of their own Lodge;" first, the Lodge is prohibited from doing a certain thing; second, it leaves it to the brother already initiated therein, or the intended (if so) brother (already so-called) to decide the question himself as to whether he will be a member or not, and the last goes on to say that no Lodge should introduce, &c. &c. &c. This rule has been read by very many, and several lawyers among them, but, as written, cannot be agreed upon.

Yours fraternally, JAMES LAWTON,
P.M. Candour Lodge, No. 337, Upper Mill.

[An answer to this communication shall be given next week.—ED. F.C.]

GRAND LODGE OF SCOTLAND.

THE annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Scotland was held on Thursday afternoon, the 30th ult., in the Freemasons' Hall, George-street, for the installation of the new office-bearers. Bro. Villiers of Closeburn, the Provincial Grand Master of Dumfriesshire, officiated as Acting Grand Master, Major Crombie, Aberdeen, acted as Senior Grand Warden, and Brother Caldwell of Craigielea as Junior Grand Warden. There was a good attendance of members. The Acting Master declared the elective offices vacant, and moved the re-election of the Earl of Mar and Kellie as Grand Master Mason. This was unanimously agreed to, and the Grand Master was thereupon installed into office with the usual formalities. He then nominated Colonel Sir Archibald Campbell of Blythswood, Bart., as Depute Grand Master, and Brother R. F. Shaw Stewart, as Substitute Grand Master, and installed them into office. The other office-bearers were then elected for next year, and installed as under:—Right Hon. the Earl of Haddington Senior Grand Warden, Right Hon. The Earl of Breadalbane Junior Grand warden, D. Murray Lyon Grand Secretary, David Kinnear Grand Cashier, Rev. James Barclay, A.M., and Rev. W.W. Tulloch, B.D., Grand Chaplains, Major John Crombie Senior Grand Deacon, the Most Noble the Marquis of Tweeddale Junior Grand Deacon, John Baird Grand Architect, James Crichton Grand Jeweller, David Hume Grand Bible Bearer, Captain Farquhar Macgillivray Grand Director of Ceremonies, Sir Molyneux H. Nepean, Baronet, Grand Bard, James T. S. Elliot younger of Wolfelee Grand Sword Bearer F. W. Bridgman Grand Director of Music, Robert Davidson Grand Organist, Major William Hills Grand Marshal, William Barry Grand Inner Guard, David Robertson Grand Tyler, James Turner President, and Dr. George Dickson Vice-President of the Board of Grand Stewards. At the close of the installation ceremonial the Grand Lodge repaired to the Great Hall, there to celebrate the Festival of St. Andrew. There were about 250 present. The Grand Master occupied the throne, and on his right were— Brothers Sir Archibald Campbell Depute Grand Master, J. C. Forrest Provincial Grand Master of Lanark Middle Ward, F. E. Villiers Provincial Grand Master of Dumfries, J. Martin Provincial Grand Master of Dumbarton, D. Murray Lyon Grand Secretary, Rev. J. Barclay Grand Chaplain, Dalrymple Duncan, Glasgow; W. Officer Representative of the Grand Lodge of Ezypt, J. Crichton Grand Jeweller, Rev. C. J. Ridgeway Edinburgh, F. W. Bridgman Grand Organist, D. Hume Grand Bible-Bearer, Captain Farquhar MacGillivray Grand Director of Ceremonies, M. Muller, &c. On the left of the Grand Master were — Brothers R. F. Shaw Stewart Substitute Grand Master, G. Maxwell of Glenlee, Sir Molyneaux Nepean, Bart., Grand Bard, Rev W. W. Tulloch Grand Chaplain, J. Baird Grand Architect, A. Kerr Past Grand Architect, Rev. Macadam Muir, Colonel Stewart, Glasgow, H. Y. D. Copland, Edinburgh, Rev. T. N. Wannop, J. Graham, C.A., Glasgow, George Miller, C.A., Glasgow, &c. Bro. Crombie acted as Senior Grand Warden, supported by Bros. E. Savage, Aberdeen, and David Kinnear Grand Cashier. Bro. Caldwell acted as Junior Grand Warden, supported by Bro. Allan, Glasgow, &c. Several apologies for absence were intimated, and deputations were in attendance from the daughter Lodges.

After an excellent dinner, which was well served by Bros. R. Kay and Sons, the loyal toasts were given from the chair. The Rev. P. Macadam Muir then proposed the Navy, Army, Militia, and Volunteers, and Bro. Dr. W. T. Black replied for the Navy, Sir Molyneaux Nepean, Bart., for the Militia, Colonel Sir Archibald Campbell for the Militia, and Colonel T. T. Stewart for the Volunteers. Thereafter, Bro. John Graham, Glasgow, proposed the Grand Lodges of England and Ireland, and Bro. Rev. C. J. Ridgeway replied.

Sir Archibald Campbell next proposed the health of the Grand Master, and in doing so remarked that the Earl had made it part of his duty to go round and visit the Provinces and see how they were working. He was sure that in this the Grand Master had done a great deal of good in the Provinces, and that the manner in which the duties of his office were discharged would secure the gratitude of every member of Grand Lodge. The toast was received with much enthusiasm.

The Grand Master, who was received with much applause, thanked Grand Lodge for again placing him in the honourable position to which he had been reappointed. He then congratulated them on the entire absence of all cliques from Grand Lodge, and exhorted the brethren to maintain the harmony at present existing, and to do their utmost for the purity of the Order, and to make the world consider it an honour to belong thereto. Referring to his visits to the Provinces, he said he had not found anything but good work done, and he was glad to see that at present in Grand Committee a great many parts of the country were well represented. Not only from the great centres in the east and west, but from Aberdeen and further north, they had an excellent contingent of as good Masons as were in Scotland, and to the Grand Committee and to all Masons it would be a great pleasure to see Masons representing other Provinces appointed as members of that body. Speaking of work that still remained to be done, the Grand Master expressed a hope that ere next year something would be done to prepare a ritual, so as to secure, if not strict uniformity, at least an approximation thereto among all the Lodges in Scotland. Next, touching on the financial condition of Grand Lodge at the present moment, the Grand Master mentioned that the amount of their debt in 1877 was £15,000, that £1000 had been paid off during the past year; and that during the past five years the debt had been reduced from £15,000 to £1,500. That £1,500 included their whole indebtedness. The accounts were brought up to the present date, and showed that £1000 had been paid on alteration of premises and new furniture, so that if these expenses had not been incurred their total would not have been more than £500. During the past year the number of entrants had been greater than in any previous year, having amounted to 4,534. The number of new charters issued had been eleven. The gross income for the past year was £4462, and the gross expenditure £3522—showing an excess of income to the amount of £930. He thought that those results during these five years were satisfactory. In afterwards proposing the toast of the Past Grand Masters, the Grand Master said that it had been intended to present that evening to the Immediate Past Master, Sir Michael R. Shaw Stewart, a jewel of a Past Grand Master, which was in very good taste, and did great credit to the new Grand Jeweller. He regretted the absence of Sir Michael, owing to indisposition, and that the presentation would be postponed until next meeting.

The toast of the Foreign Grand Lodges was proposed by Brother J. Clerk Forrest, and responded to by the Grand Bible Bearer. Bro. the Rev. W. W. Tulloch proposed the Depute Grand Master, remarking that Sir Archibald had made himself popular, loved, and esteemed as a county gentleman, a soldier, and a Mason. Sir Archibald responded in appropriate terms; and thereafter Bro. Villiers proposed the Countess of Mar and Kellie, and the Grand Master replied. The health of the Substitute Grand Master was proposed by Brother Maxwell, of Glenloe; and the Grand Master then proposed in groups the toasts of the different Lodges which had sent deputations, and the head of each Lodge replied. A variety of toasts followed, including the other Office Bearers of Grand Lodge, in proposing which, the Grand Master spoke in high terms of the services of the Grand Secretary, Brother Murray Lyon. The proceedings were interspersed with songs by several of the brethren, and with music supplied by a band under Brother H. Dambmann. Grand Lodge was closed about ten o'clock.—Edinburgh Courant.

GRAND LODGE OF MARK MASTER MASONS OF ENGLAND AND WALES.

PRESENTATION OF A WEDDING GIFT TO H.R.H. THE DUKE OF ALBANY, K.G.

IN the history of this attractive Order in Freemasonry, no more important or grander gathering of its members has ever taken place than that of the 5th instant. We have had intimate acquaintance with the progress of the Mark Degree during nearly twenty-five years, and could not avoid comparing the assemblage of Grand Mark Lodge on this occasion with many of its former gatherings, even so lately as some ten or twelve years ago. Then one of the smallest Lodge-rooms in the Freemasons' Tavern afforded more than ample accommodation for the few earnest and indefatigable members who comprised the Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons. On Monday last the largest hall the building possesses only conveniently accommodated the brilliant assemblage; and the most spacious banquetting-room could scarcely provide seats at table for those who remained to support the highly esteemed Grand Master. As, in the Craft degrees, Freemasonry has benefitted and largely increased by Royal Patronage, and the adhesion of some of the highest and noblest in the land, so in Mark Masonry princely favour and the connection of the brightest ornaments of "pure and simple Masonry" with the Order has enhanced its prestige, and caused earnest consideration of the important position it ought ever to have held in the past of English Freemasonry. The guiding spirits of former years, who would not let difficulties damp their ardour, and foresaw the great esteem in which the Mark Degree would some day be held, must have been amply rewarded for their past labours, and cheered and stimulated for future exertion, by the spectacle which they beheld on this occasion, and more particularly at the moment when His Royal Highness the Duke of Albany, after the performance of an elaborate consecration ceremony, dedicated and constituted "The Grand Master's Lodge of Mark Master Masons," of which the three first principal Officers are the Earl of Lathom, Lord Henniker, and the Earl of Kintore, respectively, with Captain N. G. Philips as Deputy Master.

Grand Lodge having been opened in ample form, the M.W. G.M.M., and his Deputy, were respectively saluted with Grand honours. The minutes of the Grand Lodge, held on the 6th June last, were read and approved. A report from the General Board was brought up, from which it appeared that ten new Lodges had been granted during the past six months, and the registered advancements to the degree had reached a total of 16,733. Several important changes in the Provinces had taken place, all of which received approval. The fourteenth Anniversary Festival in aid of the Mark Benevolent Fund had been held in July last, when the amount of contributions reached a total of £553. The Educational Branch of the Fund had so completely fulfilled the expectations formed on its foundation that an extension of its benefits was agreed upon. Several Grants, which had been made to distressed Mark Masons, or the widows of Mark Masons, were confirmed. Each of the Funds had benefitted by investments, and each showed respectable balances in hand. The report in its entirety was received, and its recommendations fully adopted. The Right Hon. Lord Henniker M.W. G.M.M. was nominated by Bro. Capt. Thomas Hargreaves P.G.D. as Grand Master for the ensuing year. The following Stewards of the last Benevolent Fund Festival were presented by the Grand Master with Charity Jewels, after the expression of thanks for their services, and congratulations from the Grand Master on the successful results of their exertions, viz.:—Emanuel Hunts and Isle of Wight, Emerson Kent, George 265, Glasspool 265, Godson 40, Goodenough 255, Hodges 257, Homfray P.G.M. Monmouth, Hudson 164, Huet 32, Hughes 247, Inglis 7, Lardner 223, Lewis 271, Lovegrove 214, Manwaring 104, Meek 284, Mildred 104, Moorland 225, Ousey 239, Pullev 54, Ramsey Old Kent, Spice 3, Thorp 194, Venn Old Kent, White 266. At this moment the arrival of H.R.H. the Duke of Albany was announced, and a deputation was formed to receive and escort him into Grand Lodge. His Royal Highness was most enthusiastically received on his entrance, Bro. Wilhelm Ganz G. Org. playing the National Anthem. On taking his position as Past Grand Mark Master the Duke was saluted with Grand honours. After a short interval the M.W. Grand Master addressed his Royal Highness, expressing the loyalty and devotion of the Mark Masters under his rule towards the Throne, and the kindly regard which they at all times entertained towards the members of the Royal Family generally, and, having relation to his connection with the Mark degree, to His Royal Highness in particular. To mark in some slight degree their good wishes towards him, and also towards his amiable consort the Duchess of Albany, the several Lodges of the Order, as well abroad (and hence the delay in presentation) as at home, had united to provide a suitable wedding gift, the acceptance of which he, the Grand Mark Master, now hoped would be agreeable to his Royal Highness. The present, which consisted of two very handsome and elaborately-chased silver pot pourri jars, with covers, and a wine flagon of chaste design in massive silver, was then unveiled, and the Grand Master read the inscription, which had been engraved on each article, to the following effect:—

"Presented to H.R.H. the Duke of Albany, K.G., M.W. P.G.M., by the Mark Master Masons of England and Wales and the Colonies and Dependencies of the British Crown, on his marriage. 1882."

With a few further brief remarks, the Grand Master closed a most forcible address of congratulation and wishes for the long life and happiness of his Royal Highness and the Duchess. In response, his Royal Highness, who appeared to be much affected by the heartiness of his welcome, thanked the Grand Master and the members of the Order generally for this earnest of their esteem and kindly regard towards the Duchess and himself. He had promised, when he accepted the position of Past Grand Master, that what active work he could undertake on behalf of the Mark degree he would carry out. Until this occasion, no fitting opportunity had arisen, but on this day, when he had that before him which, beyond all its intrinsic worth, became so valuable, as the outcome of strong brotherly affection, he should be able to discharge some portion at least of his promise. His Royal Highness resumed his seat amidst great applause.

The Grand Master having temporarily vacated the throne, it was assumed by his Royal Highness the Duke of Albany, K.G., M.W. P.G.M., as Consecrating Officer, for the purpose of consecrating the Grand Master's Lodge of Mark Master Masons. The ceremony was rendered throughout in admirable style, the addresses of the Consecrating Officer, with dedication and constitution, being delivered with much effect. Bro. Wilhelm Ganz presided at the organ, and the anthems and chants were beautifully rendered by Bros. Sexton, Hodges, Abercrombie, Beckett, Dalzell, De Lacey, and Moore. On the completion of the consecration ceremony, Bro. Captain Philips was installed as Deputy Master into the chair of A. of the new Lodge, of which the Right Hon. the Earl of Lathom M.W. P.G.M. is the first Master. The Officers of the Lodge were then invested with the collars of office, viz.:—

The only business transacted by the new Lodge was the election of His Royal Highness the Consecrating Officer, and several Past Grand Masters as honorary members, and twenty-eight proposals for joining having been given, the Lodge was closed.

On the resumption of Grand Lodge, His Royal Highness retired, having to catch an early train, and his departure was marked by much enthusiasm. Brother His Highness the Rajah Rampal Singh was introduced to Grand Lodge and took his position on the dais. An application for a Provincial Lodge for Nottinghamshire was received, and an invitation to hold a Moveable Grand Lodge at Nottingham given Brother Woodall, Prov. G.M. of N. and E. York, on behalf of his Province, also invited the Grand Mark Lodge to hold a Moveable Grand Lodge at York, under the banner of the York Lodge. After apologies for absence had been read by the Grand Secretary, Grand Lodge was closed in ample form.

The banquet that followed this long afternoon's work was very largely attended, a difficulty being found in securing accommodation for all who desired to be present. It was exceedingly well served, and the menu gave entire satisfaction. After grace had been sung by the choir above named, the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given by the Most Worshipful Grand Mark Master, Lord Henniker. In response to the toast drank in his own honour, the Most Worshipful G.M.M. acknowledged the kindness with which he was at all times received by the members of the Order, in behalf of which time and distance had not prevented his attendance when absolutely necessary. It was a great pleasure to him to be able to record so satisfactory a progress as the Order is now making. It appeared as though more and more vigour were infused into it day after day. The proceedings which had just taken place were of a most gratifying description, and placed the position and influence of the Order beyond all doubt or fear of diminution. He could not omit to offer a meed of praise to all his Officers, and especially to those of the executive, as Bros. Binckes, Dewar, and others, who had made his exalted office so light and pleasurable to himself. For the toast of the M.W. Past Grand Masters, the R.W. Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., responded, and to many of the older Mark Masons present it was good to hear that worthy brother again addressing them. He referred to a period of repose during which his armour had been unbuckled, although the cause of Mark Masonry had not been forgotten. Now, as the "trumpet to the war borse," was the call to assist in the proceedings of this day, and again he buckled on his armour. It was, indeed, a great plasure to him to be present to note such great progress, and he could not do otherwise than in this moment of success, refer to those who had helped towards it in the past. He paid a tribute of great respect to, and admiration for, the Most Worshipful the Rev. Canon Portal, whose earnest services and zealous labour had so consolidated the Order, and he could not forget many indefatigable brethren who had worked for the best interests of the degree, when it had all its difficulties to encounter. After a brief reference to the elision of the Mark degree from the ceremonies of "pure and simple" Masonry as a great mistake of the past, Bro. Beach terminated a brilliant speech by congratulating the rulers and members of Mark Masonry on its ability to stand alone, as a worthy and important part of true Freemasonry. Amongst the other principal toasts was that of Success to the Mark Benevolent Fund, proposed by Bro. the Rev. W. Randall Grand Chaplain in a very effective speech, in the course of which the speaker took up the key note of Bro. Beach's remarks as to the connection of Mark Masonry with the Craft, and supported the views so frequently expressed that in the Mark degree only is to be found that which connects Speculative with Operative Freemasonry. He pointed out what had been done by Mark Masons for Charity even in their least prosperous years, and was glad to think that now fortune had attended their efforts, such Charity was readily increased. With the toast he coupled the name of Bro. Binckes, whose response was as effective as any of its many predecessors in relation to the same subject. To the last toast, that of the Visitors, his Highness the Rajah Rampal Sing replied in very tolerable English, although the speaker offered as an apology that it was not his mother tongue. His Highness stated his great love for Freemasonry, than which he thought nothing could better combine the nations of England and India. It was his pride and boast to be one of the Order of Mark Masons, and as far as in him lay, it would be always his endeavour to instil the principles of the Craft whenever opportunity afforded. The Rajah's remarks were received with much applause. This terminated the evening's proceedings, and the large party broke up, well satisfied with both labour and refreshment.

QUARTERLY COMMUNICATION OF GRAND LODGE.

THE Fourth Quarterly Communication for the year 1882 was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday, when there were about 600 present. The Earl of Limerick presided, Lord Carrington acted as Grand S.W., and Bro. Victor A. Williamson as Grand J.W. There were a large number of eminent Masons present, including, among others, Bros. Beach, M.P., General Brownrigg, Le Gendre Starkie, Sir Albert Wood, Col. Shadwell H. Clerke; Bros. Sampson Peirce, Sandeman, Col. Creaton, Nunn President of the Lodge of Benevolence; and Bro. Rucker President of the Colonial Board. Bro. Raymond Thrupp nominated H.R.H. the Prince of Wales as Grand Master, which was received with great applause. The President announced that the Grand Master had appointed Brother Joshua Nunn to be the President of the Lodge of Benevolence, and Brother James Brett was elected Senior Vice President, Brother Charles Atkins was elected Junior Vice President, and the following twelve Past Masters were elected to serve on the Lodge of Benevolence: Bros. Britten, Collier, Cull, Dairey, Garrod, Hogard, Klenck, Mann, Matthews, Perryman, Stephens, and Storr. The result of the presentation of the report of the Colonial Board was, that four Lodges which had been inoperative for many years were ordered to be struck off the Register of Grand Lodge, namely 1068 and 1156, Cairo; 1154, Alexandria; and 1419, Ramlah. The Lodge of Benevolence recommended eighteen grants of from £50 to £100, for confirmation by Grand Lodge, and after some explanations had been demanded and given about some among them, they were all agreed to. Of these grants six only were to brethren (or widows of brethren) of London Lodges, while twelve came from the Provinces, There were four grants of £100, all upon petitions from the Provinces The whole amount of the votes so confirmed was £1100. The Report of the Board of General Purposes referred to the irregular conduct of a Provincial Lodge in having raised a Fellow Craft within a period of thirteen days from the time of his being passed to the second degree, and it appeared that the Board had ordered that the degeee so irregularly granted should be cancelled, and that the brother should be obligated in the third degree before being registered as a M.M. It appeared from the report that the balance at the credit of the Grand Lodge accounts on the 17th November, when the Finance Committee last met, was £4187 12s 4d. Three appeals were considered. The first came from Brisbane, against the ruling of the District Grand Master, that a Lodge of Instruction can only be held in the same building as the Lodge under whose warrant it works, and the appeal was allowed on the ground that the identical locus in quo, though desirable, was not prescribed by the Book of Constitutions: but it was stated that there was at present a proposal to amend the Book of Constitutions in that particular. The second appeal came from Jamaica, and was against the ruling of the Deputy District Grand Master, allowing an alteration in a Lodge's by-laws, although the alteration in question had not been submitted for the approval of the Deputy District Grand Master. This appeal was dismissed, Grand Lodge concurring with the view of the Deputy District Grand Master that the alteration was not material within the meaning of Article 5. The third appeal was from a brother at Plymouth, against the decision of the Prov. G. Master for Devonshire, refusing to call for information upon which a brother had opposed the election of the appellant as Provincial Grand Treasurer. This appeal was dismissed. Upon Bro. Clabon's motion to raise the quarterages payable to Grand Lodge from 4s to 6s from Metropolitan, and from 2s to 3s from Provincial brethren, so as to increase the income of the Lodge of Benevolence, and enable them to continue the present liberal grants in aid, there was a long discussion. The opposition to the increase came entirely from the Provinces, which were strongly represented, and although Bro. Clabon, in his reply to the objections raised pointed to the fact above referred to, that two-thirds of the grants just voted were to provincial brethren or their widows, the motion was lost; the numbers being 182 for the motion, and 186 against it. Bro. Clabon then asked permission to withdraw the second motion of which he had given notice, that no part of the capital should be sold without the express order of a Grand Lodge, but this was opposed, and was only granted upon being put to the vote. Bro. Budden's motion that Grand Lodge should endow two Scholarships in the Royal College of Music was negatived. The President ruled that Bro. James Stevens' motion that the radius of the London district, which is now a distance of ten miles from Freemasons' Hall, should be reduced to a distance of four miles, was out of order. The proper course, he said, would have been to propose an alteration in the Book of Constitutions; otherwise they must have a resolution on the minutes at variance with the Book of Constitutions. This was an abstract resolution, which, if carried, would have to be followed by an operative resolution. The matter was therefore not proceeded with, and Grand Lodge was closed at ten o'clock.

CITY OF LONDON ORCHESTRAL UNION.

THE Concert given by this Musical Society on the evening of Wednesday, 29th ultimo, was one of the most successful we have attended, and we heartily congratulate Brother G. T. H. Seddon, the conductor, on the result achieved. The Union was established in June 1867, and in the course of its existence it has sent into the ranks of the musical profession many artists who have made their mark. We scarcely know a similar society where members have so steadily and persistently worked together, or where a more harmonious feeling has existed. The programme of the evening under notice comprised the following items: — PART I. — Overture, "Cosi fan tutte, Mozart; Larghetto, "Symphony No. 2," Beethoven; Ballet Music, "Faust," Gounod—No. 2 Adagio, No. 3 Allegretto, No. 4 Moderato; Grand Selection, "La Grande Duchesse," Offenbach, with Solos for flute, piccolo, oboe, clarionet, horn, cornet, trombone, and euphonium, by Messrs. Toussaint, Fisher, Shuckard, Hunter, Johnson, Pringuer, Herring, and Oxenham. PART II.—Overture, "Martha," Flotow, Horn Obligato, Mr. Johnson; Grand Selection, "Cinq Mars," Gounod, with Solos for flute, piccolo, oboes, clarionet, horns, cornet, and euphonium, by Messrs. Toussaint, Fisher, Shuckard, Coldwell, Hunter, Johnson, Jones, Pringuer, and Oxenham; Danse Romanesca (in F) Muscat; Fest Marsch, "Tannhauser," Wagner. The most successful of the numbers was unquestionably the "Ballet Music," Faust; but during the evening Gounod was in the ascendant; —the execution of the several solos in the Grand Selection, "Cinq Mars," evidenced great care had been paid to the rehearsals. During the evening Madame Clara West sang two or three songs, as likewise did Mr. R. Emslie. Miss Lottie West, whose name was in the programme, was prevented from attending through indisposition. In conclusion we may state that the Society meets every Wednesday evening throughout the year, at the Albion Hall, London Wall, and that any amateur who is desirous of joining may learn all particulars from the conductor (Bro. G. T. H. Seddon), or the librarian (Mr. G. H. Hillman).

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

HUNDREDS of Medical Practitioners testify to its marvellous efficacy in immediately relieving and rapidly curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Spasms, Colic, Whooping Cough, and all Nerve Pains. It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. It rapidly relieves pain, from whatever cause, soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases, and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.

Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, Lord Justice Mellish decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davenport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. See Times of July 24th, 1873. Bottles 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, 11s, and 20s. Sold by all Chemists.

TESTIMONIALS.—Head Quarter Staff, Cabul, May 31st, 1880. Mr. R. Freeman, Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure I am able to state that your Chlorodyne has been of special service to me in alleviating the wearisome spasms of Asthma, which is here existent in an aggravated form. Many of my patients now come and beg me to give them that medicine which always relieves them, and which I need hardly say is your Chlorodyne. Yours faithfully, CHARLES W. OWEN, L.R.C.P. Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng., the Divisional Head Quarter Staff and Civil Surgeon, Cabul.

The Times, August 13th, 1877. From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army. Okoum, July 25th, 1877. The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor, owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected miraculous cures.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

CITY OF WESTMINSTER LODGE, No. 1563.

THE installation meeting of this excellent working and flourishing Lodge was held on the 22nd ult., at the Masonic Rooms, Café Royal, Air-street, Regent-street. Bros. J. Waugh W.M., J. A. Hammond P.M. 1765 S.W., Eastgate J.W., J. E. Shand P.M. Treasurer, E. J. Scott P.M. Secretary, G. F. Jones S.D., Lee J.D., W. C. Smith I.G., P.M.'s B. H. Swallow P.P.G.D. Middlesex, E. White, J. Hill Steward, and a numerous assemblage of members, with the following Visitors:—G. P. Festa W.M. 1900, E. W. Pike 1900, Bianchi Maclean 177, J. Mason P.P.G.S.D. Middlesex, Collector R.M.B.I., W. J. Ferguson 177, Gore 1692, Biddlecombe 1765, Hopgood 1765, H. Tinney 1819, Hammond 1765, Crossley 1558, Smithers 1558, E. C. Massey P.M. 1297, W. Carrington W.M. 1314, W. Stark 1765, Baker 1641, Goffin 1571, Rev. Bonavia Hunt W.M. 1765, H. M. Levy P.M. 188. Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. Bro. Vincent Benoist, Lodge des Desmophiles, Tours, France, was elected a joining member. Messrs. Paul Antoine and D. Wilson were balloted for and initiated into the Order. Bro. Pike 1900 was, by the courtesy of the W.M., passed to the second degree. Bros. Bott and Ashby were raised to the third degree; all the ceremonies were perfectly rendered by the W.M. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. J. A. Hammond P.M. S.W. W.M. elect, was presented to the Lodge, and, in the presence of fifteen W.M.'s and P.M.'s, was duly inducted into the chair by the retiring W.M. Bro. Waugh, who was warmly congratulated on the conclusion of the ceremony by the brethren and visitors for the ability he had displayed. Bro. White P.M. efficiently acted as M.C., and Bro. Biddlecombe as Organist. On the re-admission of the brethren, the W.M. was saluted in ancient form, and he then appointed and invested his Officers. Bros. J. Waugh I.P.M., Eastgate S.W., Jones J.W., J. E. Shand P.M. Treas., E. J. Scott P.M. Secretary, H. S. Lea S.D., W. C. Smith J.D., Hill I.G., James M.C., B. H. Swallow P.M. W.S., Cox Asst. W.S., Potter Tyler. The approbation expressed denoted unmistakably that the W.M. had made a good selection. The report of the Audit Committee, and that as to the Benevolent Fund, were read and adopted; both denoted the Lodge was in a flourishing condition. Bro. J. E. Shand P.M., having accepted the office of Steward for the next annual Festival for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and the Widows of Freemasons, Bro. White P.M. made, and Bro. E. J. Scott seconded, a proposition that the sum of £10 10s be placed on his list from the General Fund of the Lodge. Bro. Festa W.M. 1900 thanked the I.P.M. for his kindness in passing Bro. Pike (a member of Lodge 1900) to the second degree. Hearty good wishes were given by the numerous Visitors, and then Lodge was closed, until the fourth Thursday in February. The brethren, sixty-two in number, sat down to a very sumptuous and récherché banquet, provided by Bro. Nicols and superintended by Bro. Eugene De la Coste. The repast gave unqualified satisfaction. Grace having been sung, the W.M. said, if he could not give them a flow of wit and long speeches, he would give them something to compensate for it in the shape of some music. He hoped this would be to their satisfaction He then proposed the toast of the Queen and the Craft, and Bro. H. Tinney delighted the brethren with a solo on the piano—Se J'Etais Roi. The W.M. then proposed the health of the Most Worshipful the Grand Master his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. This was followed by the toasts of the Pro Grand Master the Earl of Carnarvon, the Right Worshipful the Earl of Lathom, and the rest of the Grand Officers. Bro. Waugh said it was with great pleasure he now took the gavel, as I.P.M., to propose the health of the Worshipful Master. They all appreciated Bro. Hammond, so he need not expatiate on his excellent qualifications. They had seen his working, and approved his able presidency; he hoped they would drink the toast with that amount of enthusiasm it so well deserved. Bro. Hammond was one worthy of their esteem. Bro. Martin here sang "My sweetheart when a boy." The Worshipful Master, in reply, said he was gratified to hear such pleasant remarks. He had passed the chair in another Lodge, and his energies and best services would be at their command in every respect. He might urge it was with a great amount of gratification he had arrived at his present proud position. The next toast was a very important one—the Initiates; no Lodge can do without Initiates, and the latter would find, that in joining the Order they had taken a step they would never regret. He felt the members they had introduced that night would be a credit to the Craft. The W.M. here, by desire, gave the E.A. song. Bro. Wilson, in replying, thanked Bros. Cox and Holmes for his introduction into the Lodge; he hoped eventually to arrive at a position in it equal to that the W.M. now filled. Bro. Antoine also briefly responded. The toast of the Visitors was next brought under notice; the members were all pleased to see them. Personally he (the W.M.) must say he thanked the members of the Trinity College Lodge for being present; their W.M. (Bro. Hunt) especially; also Bro. Tinney, and the musical brethren who had contributed to the harmony. They also had Bro. Mason, who was connected with one of the Masonic Charities. He would have given him a separate toast, only time was on the wing. Bro. Stark here delighted the brethren with a pianoforte solo. Bro. Festa W.M. 1900 responded; he thanked the Worshipful Master, now the I.P.M., for having so excellently passed Bro. Pike, who was a member of his (Bro. Festa's) Lodge. Bro. Bolivia Hunt followed; as also did Bros. Madden, Carrington, and Mason, the latter speaking at some length on the Institutions. Bro. H. M. Levy P.M. 188 also added a few words. In speaking of the P.M.'s, the W.M. said they were getting numerous. Their working was well known, and it was an especial pleasure to see how ably the I.P.M. had performed the installation ceremony; he had much gratification in placing on his breast the handsome jewel voted by the brethren of the Lodge for the manner he had performed the duties during his year of office. He would call on Bro. Waugh to respond to the toast. Bro. Waugh said it was with no feeling of diffidence he had to thank them; they had responded to his appeal to assist him, and this had enabled him to carry out the duties of his office; it was not for the intrinsic value of the jewel he prized it; the way it was presented would ever be appreciated by him. Bro. Swallow followed; this Lodge was seven years old; he, when W.M., had introduced twenty-one gentlemen into the Order. The present W.M. was one of his children; he was proud of the Lodge, and of their W.M. Bro. White said he took into consideration the lateness of the hour; however, he esteemed it a very high honour to be present; it was especially gratifying to note the able manner in which the W.M. had carried out the duties of the chair. In speaking of the Treasurer and Secretary, the W.M. said they were brethren who may be taken as patterns by any Lodge. As regards the Treasurer, he might say the funds were in a satisfactory state. He regretted to say Bro. Scott had not been in very good health lately; however, all were pleased to see him there, and all wished him better health. After Bros. Shand and Scott had responded, the W.M. proposed the toast of the Officers, and Bros. Cox and Smith replied. At a late hour of the evening, Bro. John Levy, 188, the talented artiste on the cornet, arrived, and the brethren experienced a musical treat rarely heard at similar gatherings. Bro. Levy played several solos, receiving great applause for his efforts. Bros. Tinney, Stedman, Plant Martin, Stark and Turner, during the evening, entertained the brethren with some excellent music.

Kent Lodge of Instruction, No. 15.—Held at the King and Queen, Norton Folgate, E.C., on 30th November. Bros. P.M.'s Lardner 1745 W.M., Davidson 299 S.W., Pennefather 299 J.W., Pinder Preceptor, Clark, Andrews, Legg, Sergeant, Rome, Stroud, Millington, Pringle, Franklin, Patrick, Clark, Wooley, Carter, Cleverley, Tartefield, Howes, Kent, Lawrence, Lane, Flack, Perkins, Probert, Collinson, Mote, Inman. Minutes of last meeting having been read and confirmed, the Fifteen Sections were worked. First Lecture—Bros. Patrick, Lawrence, Rose, Pennefather, Pringle, Davison, Pinder. Second Lecture—Bros. Perkins, Patrick, Lawrence, Pringle, Kent. Third Lecture—Bros. Perkins, Kent, Davidson. On the motion of Bro. Clark, seconded by Bro. Andrews, a vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to Bro. Lardner for the efficient manner in which he had discharged the duties of W.M., and put the questions for the Fifteen Sections, the same to be entered on the minutes. Bro. Lardner was also unanimously elected an honorary member, with full privileges. He suitably responded. On the motion of Bro. Pinder, seconded by Bro. Clark, a vote of thanks was unanimously accorded to the brethren of the West Smithfield Lodge of Instruction, for so readily accepting the invitation of this Lodge to work the Fifteen Sections, and for the able manner in which they had done so. Bro. Pennefather suitably responded. The following brethren were unanimously elected members:—Bros. Pennefather, Kent, Lawrence, Lane, Doerr, Flack, Perkins, Mote, Davidson, Probert, Collinson, Inman. The Secretary having announced that a banquet would take place on Thursday, 14th December, Lodge was closed and adjourned to Thursday, 7th of December. Nothing that could conduce to the comfort of the brethren was left undone by Bro. W. Sergeant, the proprietor.

Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, No. 382.—Meeting on Monday, 4th inst.—Present—Bros. Cotton W.M., Taplin S.W., Brooks J.W., Rowles S.D., Bailey J.D., Duffin I.G. and Tyler; also Phillips and Taylor. After the usual preliminaries, Brother Taylor, a candidate for raising, gave proof of his proficiency in the former degrees, and was entrusted. Lodge was then advanced to the third degree, and the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Taylor candidate. The W.M. read an article from the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, of 2nd December, entitled "What came you here to do?" which appeared originally in the Masonic Review. The article is an exceedingly well written one, and is full of suggestions as to the welfare of both Masons and Lodges, and will repay any brother for a careful perusal. Brother Taplin was elected to fill the chair at the next meeting. Lodge was then closed with the usual formalities, and adjourned until Monday next, the 11th inst.

Royal York Lodge of Instruction, No. 318.—There was a large gathering of the Freemasons of Brighton and the adjacent districts on Monday evening last, the 4th inst., under the auspices of the above Lodge of Instruction to hear Bro. James Stevens P.M. P.Z. read his excellent lecture explanatory of the ritual and ceremonies of the first degree. The Lodge was opened shortly after seven o'clock by Bro. Gibson W.M. 315, and amongst the members of the Lodge present were Bros. Carpenter, Hanney, George Nash, Smith P.P.G.D., Lelew, Thacker, Kent, Nye S.D., Wood jun., Godfice, Deane, Beaumont, Styer, Paige, Anderson, Stride P.M., Fielders, Metherell, &c. And amongst the members were Bros. Norman 22 (London), Fitzgerald 36, Colborne 145, King 217, Wellington 207, Schofield 315, Clayton 341, Winleteshir 379, Legg 732, Walker 811, Knight 1446, Shackles 1511, Hornsen Prov. G.D. East Yorks, Tidmarsh 1636, Hollands 1797, Newton, Burfield, Thomson, Parsons and Tooth all of 1821, English and Gates of 1829, and several other brethren who failed to sign the Visitor's sheet. Immediately after the opening of the Lodge the W.M. introduced Bro. Stevens to the assembled brethren, and for a little more than two hours the lecturer kept his audience thoroughly interested, making his address the more attractive by an able recital of the several ceremonies in full, with most pertinent remarks on the numerous divergencies which have of late years crept into the Ritual. On the whole the hearers were in full accord with the remarks of the lecturer. On one or two points very interesting observations were made by intelligent brethren, with the result of enlightening the minds of many present, and enabling them to understand points and practices which they had not up to that time fully comprehended the importance of. At the conclusion of the lecture, Bro. Stevens was greeted with much applause, and the thanks of the Lodge of Instruction were cordially voted in slight acknowledgment of his services, the W.M. expressing his gratification to find that the working of Masonic ceremonial at Brighton agreed so nearly with that which had been set forth by the lecturer. He considered that he (the lecturer) should be heard far and wide, as many Lodges might then be able to correct existing fallacies; and by others, that their members might be confirmed, as in their own case, in the correctness of their mode of working. Bro. Stevens, in acknowledging the compliment, stated that the invite the Lodge had made, and the reception they had accorded him, were ample reward for any service he had rendered, his object being to receive, and, as far as was in his power, to give, Masonic instruction. He should be prepared, on reasonable notice, to repeat his evening's work in any other Lodge, Provincial or Metropolitan. The Lodge was then closed, and a most agreeable and enthusiastic evening was terminated by a brief entertainment in the way of refreshment at the usual meeting room of the Lodge of Instruction, at Bro. Paige's, the Union Hotel, North-street.

THE REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS.

THE next batch of Rules that demands our consideration is that which concerns the "Board of Benevolence," and with reference thereto we may remark, in the first place, that the marginal notes, with here and there an exception, do not contain the reference numbers to the existing Rules with which they severally correspond. The said numbers, however, are given in the Synopsis. Rule No. 120 is verbatim Art. 1, p 96—not Art. 1, p 26, as stated in the Synopsis. Existing Rule—Art. 2, p 96, is passed over under this head. It regulates the amounts to be paid to the Fund by the London and Provincial Lodges, and these amounts will be found in the General Register of Fees, at the end of the Proposed Edition. Rule No. 22 corresponds, almost word for word, with the first sentence of paragraph 1 of Art. 3, p 96—not Art. 1 as in the Synopsis. The marginal note should read—"Board of Benevolence. Of"—not "By"—"whom it consists." We note also that it is proposed to call it "Board" instead of "Lodge"—a point to be remembered by brethren who are sticklers for exactness. Rule No. 222 contains the "Disqualification" to which the Master of a Lodge is subject in certain circumstances, and is the same as Art. 4, p 99. Rule No. 223 is the opening sentence of the second paragraph of Art. 3, p 97, and the only trifling observation we have to offer is that, as Grand Lodge is a body, not a person, the words "shall be submitted to grand lodge in December, who shall elect" should be altered into "shall be submitted in December to grand Lodge, which shall elect." No. 224 corresponds with the second sentence of paragraph 1 of Art. 1, p 98, No. 225—"Disqualification for vice president"—with the last sentence; and No. 226 with the last sentence but one of the second paragraph, and No. 227 with the last sentence of the first paragraph of the same article. Nos. 228, 229, and 230 correspond with the several parts comprised in the third paragraph of this article, but are arranged in a different order. This subdivision of one long article of three paragraphs into some eight or nine separate rules is unquestionably an improvement.

Rules Nos. 231, 232, and 233 compare with Art. 5, pp 99, 100. As regards the first of these, the words in the existing law, "have been registered in the books of the grand lodge," are properly omitted, the requirement of registration having already been provided for in the opening words, "No mason registered."

No. 232 is much more compactly worded than the part of the existing law with which it corresponds, as will be seen from a comparison of the two.

| "232. Secretaries who by the Bye-laws of their Lodges are exempted from the payment of subscription, shall be considered in all respects as regular subscribing members of their Lodges, their services being equivalent to subscription; provided their dues to the grand lodge have been duly paid." | 5 (pp 99, 100). "Secretaries who are by their Lodges exempted from the payment of subscription, shall not thereby be disqualified from obtaining assistance from the fund of benevolence, but shall be considered as subscribing members of their lodges, their services being equivalent to subscription: provided their dues to the grand lodge have been duly paid." |

We would avoid the unpleasant jingle of "dues" and "duly" in the last clause by the omission of the latter, and we may remark also that in all previous rules the word "Bye-laws" is spelt "By-laws." It is as well to be consistent even in trifles.

No. 234 is Art. 6, p 100. Nos. 235, 236, and 237, concerning the relief of widows and children, correspond with Art. 7, pp 100, 101, only No. 236 is an enlargement of the clause relating to certificates, or, rather, it embodies also Art. 11, p 103.

| REVISED EDITION. | EXISTING EDITION. |

| "236. Before the petition of a widow or child shall be taken into consideration, the grand lodge or other masonic certificate of the deceased brother, and those of his marriage and death, or burial, and in the cases of children, of their births or baptisms, shall be deposited with the grand secretary. In the case of loss of any of the above-named certificates, or impossibility to procure them, the Board may, nevertheless, grant relief if such loss or impossibility be proved, and the facts otherwise established to the satisfaction of the Board." | 7. (pp 100, 101). —"provided the marriage certificate and other proper certificates and testimonials be produced."11 (p 103). "Before the petition of the widow or children shall be taken into consideration, the grand lodge or other masonic certificate of the deceased brother shall be deposited with the grand secretary, unless it shall be satisfactorily proved that it has been lost." |

No. 238 is Art. 8, p 101, with some trifling alterations. Thus, "in the case of foreign brethren," the words "exceeding three pounds" are altered to "exceeding five pounds," and it is to be understood that such assistance "is intended to assist them," not only "to return to their native land," but, if they prefer it, or in the case of settlers in some colony, "to any country in which they have been established or have friends." Sickness of course is an exception from this understanding in both rules.

Nos. 239, 240, and 241—relating to the "Form of petition," "Recommendation of a petition," and the "Form of recommendation," respectively—are the same with Articles 9, p 101; 10 (first paragraph), p 102; and part of 17, p 105; while No. 242—"Petitioners to be visited"—is the second paragraph of Art. 10, p 102, and the concluding section of Art. 17, p 106, and compares advantageously with the existing Rules.

future prospects, the position he has held in the Craft, and any matter that may guide the board in adjusting the distribution of relief from its funds. The application of widows or children to be accompanied with a like certificate so far as practicable, with the probable disposal of the funds if relieved. Every brother certifying shall also state that he is not aware of any circumstances disentitling the applicant to relief, or which ought to be disclosed to the board of benevolence before it deals with the application. In all London cases the brother giving the certificate, or some other brother who has visited the case, shall attend the board of benevolence on the consideration of the petition.

N.B. — Masters of lodges or visiting brethren are earnestly requested to forward the fullest particulars of each case, to enable the board to relieve applicants to the utmost extent of its means."

every application for relief from the Lodge of Benevolence.

The master or visiting brother of any lodge recommending a case for relief at the lodge of benevolence shall, to the best of his information and belief, certify in writing, to the actual condition of the applicant, his age, profession or calling, means of subsistence, what aid he receives from his family, his future prospects, the position he has held in the craft, and any matter that may guide the lodge of benevolence in adjusting the distribution of relief from its funds. The application of widows or children to be accompanied with a like certificate so far as practicable, with the probable disposal of the funds if relieved,"

The "N.B.," in italics, is common to both proposed and present Rules, and has therefore been reproduced under the former only.

Nos. 243—"Time of presenting petition;" 244—"Petitioner to attend. Exceptions;" and 245—"Second applications"—correspond exactly with Articles 12, 13, and 14, p 103; and No. 246, "Sums which may be given," is Art. 15, pp 103, 104, the word "lodge," where necessary, being in these and all cases replaced by "board."

The four remaining rules, namely, No. 247—"Extraordinary cases;" No. 248—"Votes requiring the confirmation of the board;" No. 249—"Exceptional grants;" and No. 250—"The laws to be read in January"—as they embody the present Regulations of Grand Lodge, and go no further, require no comment.

Rules Nos. 251 to 278, both inclusive, relate to the Board of General Purposes. There is in them a considerable re-arrangement of the existing Rules, but the alterations are few and comparatively immaterial. We note, however, an entire absence from the marginal notes of the reference numbers to the existing Rules, though they are contained in the Synopsis. Nos. 251-254 correspond with Art. 1, p 107, the word "appointed," with reference to the President and ten of the twenty-four members, being substituted for "nominated." No. 255 agrees with Art. 2, p 107, but for the words, "and for that purpose the names of the several brethren intended to be put in nomination are to be delivered in writing," we have the following: "and for that purpose the names of the several brethren put in nomination, together with the names and numbers of their lodges, and whether at the time of such nomination they are masters or past masters, and in the case of a master, the date of his installation, are to be delivered in writing," while the said names "shall be printed alphabetically," instead of "may be printed" in a list, &c. In No. 256, which corresponds with Article 3, page 108, the number of "scrutineers" to be respectively elected and nominated is in each case "eight" instead of "four," but we are at a loss to understand why the sentence, "These scrutineers" should not read "These sixteen scrutineers" unless the Revision Committee is afraid to commit itself to the simple addition of eight to eight. No. 257 corresponds with Art. 5, p 109, and No. 258 with Art. 4, p 108. In the case of the latter proposed Rule, we would suggest, as preferable from a grammatical point of view, that for "the vacancy shall be filled up. If one appointed by the grand master, then by the grand master; and if one elected by the grand lodge then by the grand lodge at the next quarterly communication," we should read "the vacancy shall be filled up;—if of one appointed by the grand master, then by the grand master, but if of one elected by the grand lodge, then by the grand lodge," &c. Nos. 259, corresponding with Art. 6, p 108, and 260, corresponding with Art. 7 on same page, as to the "Meetings" and "Quorum" respectively, require no comment. No. 261—"Power to inspect the grand lodge books, &c."—is Art. 9, p 110 reproduced, and the same remark applies to No. 262—"Care of building, &c."—present Art. 19, p 112; No. 263—"May originate improvements"—present Art. 21, p 113; No. 264—"Care of the correspondence of the grand lodge"—present Art. 20, p 113; No. 265—"Charge of the finances"—present Art. 10, p 110; and No. 266—"Quarterly accounts"—present Art. 11, p 110. In No. 267, which relates to the "Audit" of accounts, and corresponds with Art. 12, p 111, the clause, "and shall, at the quarterly communication in March, state the amount of receipts and expenditure under their respective heads," is altered into "and shall, at the quarterly communication in March, state the amount of expenditure," &c. We see no valid reason for the exclusion of the "receipts" from the operation of the proposed rule, especially as we are told later on that its object is "to give the grand lodge full information respecting the receipt and application of its funds." Doubtless the omission is the result of an oversight. No. 268 is Art. 13, p 111, and Nos. 269 and 270 together correspond with Art. 8, p 109. No. 271, "To summon lodges and brethren," is the same as Art. 14, p 111; No. 272, "When to be in masonic clothing," as Art. 16, p 112; No. 273, "Mode of Procedure," as Art. 17, p 112; No. 274, "Complaints affecting members," as Art. 18, p 112; and No. 275, "Communications to the Board," as Art. 15, p 112. Nos. 276, "Communications from the Board;" 277, "Precedence of business," and 278, "Minutes," are textually reproductions of Articles 22, 23, and 24, pp 113, 114 respectively.

As regards the six Rules—Nos. 279-284—which affect the Colonial Board, its constitution and functions, they correspond in all material respects with Articles 1 to 6 at pp 114, 115.

What remains of the Revised Book is grouped under the two heads of "Regalia, Clothing, Insignia, and Jewels," and "Fees and Contributions." On these we have nothing particular to remark. We do not understand why such a formidable array of words as "Regalia," &c., should be used, when two of them certainly will suffice. Further, there is a rule at the end of the same section, after particulars have been given as to the "aprons" to be worn, which is to the following effect: "In addition to the foregoing, grand officers and past grand officers wear garter-blue silk gauntlets with the emblems of their respective offices or past offices embroidered in gold. The same rule applies to provincial and past provincial grand officers. In private lodges gauntlets of light blue silk with silver embroidery may be worn by the officers."

We shall close our lengthened commentary by offering one further remark, namely, that all such words and terms as "Officers," "Lodges," Grand Officers," "Grand Wardens," "Provincial Grand Masters," "Masters," "Secretaries," &c. &c. &c. should uniformly be printed with capital letters. No rule appears to have been followed hitherto but the whim or caprice of the Revision Committee or their copyist, "Grand Master," "Grand Lodge," "Grand Secretary," &c. sometimes figuring with capitals and sometimes with small letters. As they are "proper names," they ought to appear with the former.

We regret, with reference to the letter we published last week, from Bro. Lawton, that our comments on the said Rule have not secured his favourable opinion, more especially as he appears to confine his criticism to the wording of the proposed and present Rules; for this we are not responsible. Nor can we congratulate him on his criticism, which is directed principally against the literal interpretation of the said Rules, and not against their spirit, which is manifest. There is not the slightest objection, in our opinion, to the first clause of the proposed Rule, "Every Lodge must receive as a member, without further proposition or ballot, any brother initiated therein." Membership does not, as a matter of course, follow initiation in a Lodge, for a candidate may be initiated in one Lodge and received into the membership of another. As far as our opinion goes, the language of both Rules, subject to what we said a fortnight back, is unobjectionable. A brother having been initiated in a Lodge, has the right to claim membership thereof, but he need not exercise such right. If he wishes to join another Lodge, he must make a statement to that effect "on or before the day of his initiation." but because the law lays this down, it does not constitute him a brother before he has become one by actual initiation. The law in fact, speaks in general terms, and, to a certain extent, necessarily, in the past tense, nor, as far as we can see, is there the slightest possibility of any one being misled by the language it employs.

The Committee of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution held their monthly meeting on Thursday, when Colonel Creaton occupied the chair. The following brethren were also present—Bros. James Willing jun., C. G. Dilley, J. Culmer, C. A. Cottebrune, George Snow, James Brett, James Kench, F. J. Murlis, W. H. Goodall, William Stephens, J. A. Farnfield, J. Newton, J. M Case, Raynham W. Stewart, W. Hilton, L. R. Gallant, G. L. Moore, J. J. Berry, C. H. Webb, Julius Quitmann, Jabez Hogg, Thomas Cubitt, E. C. Massey. The death of one annuitant was reported to have taken place since last meeting. The deceased had received from the Institution, in the aggregate, a sum of £295. The Warden's Report was presented, from which it appeared that Messrs. Chatto and Windus, publishers, had forwarded to the Institution a parcel of books. The Chairman was authorised to sign cheques for several small sums, including one for £20 towards the expenses of the annual entertainment given to the inmates of the Institution on New Year's Day. The widow of the above-mentioned deceased annuitant applied for a grant of one-half of her late husband's annuity, and the papers being in order, the application was granted. The Secretary reported that two Festival Stewards—1881 and 1882 respectively—had not paid over the money they had collected, with the exception of a small sum, and the Committee decided that unless the money was paid within fourteen days, the matter should be reported to the Lodge of General Purposes. Bro. Dilly, who had given notice that he would at this meeting move for the grant of a gratuity of £10 to the widow who was at a previous meeting found ineligible, according to the Bye-laws, to receive the grant of half her late husband's annuity, for which she had applied, on rising to speak to his motion, said his attention had been that evening called to some remarks made upon the subject in the Evening News, in which the reporter had pointed out that the Institution was the dispenser of Annuity Funds, and was not a Board of Benevolence, which he (Bro. Dilly) considered was dictating to them in a manner in which no reporter had a right to dictate to that Board. Bro. Dilly said that since giving his notice—and quite uninfluenced by the paragraph in question—he had upon reflection felt he had no right to allow his pity to make him do that which he felt was wrong, and had therefore intended to withdraw his motion; but as this liberty had been taken with the Board, he would move that the £10 be paid. Bro. Dr. Jabez Hogg thought it was a pity that the subject had been brought forward in such a spirit. He did not think there was anything wrong in the paragraph from the Evening News which Bro. Dilly had read, and as the motion was in order, it could be discussed upon its merits. A reporter was perfectly at liberty to offer a comment, pointing out that the case was a little out of the way, and required more consideration on that account. After the remarks that were made in Grand Lodge, he thought that the caution recommended in the paragraph was required, as the Board did need to act with a good deal more caution than they had previously done. He rather thought the remarks were not out of place, and that the Board was fairly open to them. The motion to grant the sum of £20 was put and carried. There were fourteen petitions, of which thirteen were approved. The other stood over for a medical examination, and report, which Dr. Hogg kindly offered to make.

The Committees of the Schools have requested us to state that Bro. Michael Mullen, of Bradford, the celebrated elocutionist, vocalist and humourist, has kindly consented to give his clever and pleasing Two Hours' Entertainment of Mirth, Music, and Mimicry, at the respective Institutions, on Monday and Tuesday Evenings, as a treat to the Pupils before the Christmas Vacation, when they cordially invite friends and supporters of the Institutions to attend. The entertainment on Monday Evening, 18th inst., will be given at the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, St. John's Hill, Battersea Rise, S.W., where Miss Malora F. Goodridge will be the Pianist. On Tuesday evening Brother Muller will endeavour to amuse "Our Boys" and their friends, at the School at Wood Green, where Miss Agnes Edith Binckes has kindly consented to preside at the pianoforte. Bro. Michael Muller is unquestionably a most versatile artist, and doubtless on both of these occasions he will be greeted most cordially. The entertainment on each evening will commence at 6·30.

We have received a communication from a brother, whom, if it were possible, we should be very glad to oblige, in respect of the recent appeal of Bro. John James, P.M. of the Lodge of Fortitude, No. 105, Plymouth, against a certain decision of the Provincial Grand Master of Devon in August last. We regret, in common with every one else, that there should have arisen any difference between members of the same Province, but we fail to see how the prolongation of the difference will in any wise make matters smoother. We greatly deprecate the public discussion of squabbles between brethren, especially when such public discussion is calculated to involve the Fraternity in ridicule. We are of the old school, and prefer that as little dirty linen—especially Masonic dirty linen—as possible should be washed in public.

Our worthy brother the present Lord Mayor has had his time pretty well occupied since his accession to office on the 9th ult. Leaving minor matters out of the question, we note that on the 4th inst. he took a prominent part in the opening of the Royal Courts of Justice. On the 12th inst. he had an even more conspicuous role to play, when the City of London School was formally opened by the Prince of Wales, and the day following he attended in state, with the Lady Mayoress, at the inauguration of the International Electric and Gas Exhibition at the Crystal Palace.

Thursday was the twenty-first anniversary of the death of the Prince Consort, and the fourth of his beloved daughter the Princess Alice. The solemn occasion was celebrated, as usual by the Queen and the members of her family by a memorial service in the Royal Mausoleum at Frogmore. The ladies and gentlemen of the Court were also present.

The Evening News states that G. Lodge Royal York of Friendship of Berlin is about to inaugurate next month a new hall, in which it will hold its meetings. It is a magnificent building, especially erected for that Lodge, which is the mother of forty-nine daughter Lodges in other parts of Germany. The outer front in the Dorotheenstrasse is a most imposing piece of architecture, although its general appearance, the more so in consequence of the garden in front of it, is that of a grand country mansion. There are on the ground-flour three large principal halls, namely, the large social hall, the arched temple or working hall, and the dining hall. The edifice has two entrances, one at its western corner leading to the offices, especially to the kitchen, and one at the eastern corner, namely, the principal entrance to the Lodge. Through the latter is an entrance into an ante-room, a kind of entrance hall, and thence to the vestibule, the arched roof of which is supported by four high pillars of coloured marble, the capital on which are corinthians bronzed in gold. To the left of this hall is the social hall, and the moment the curtain is removed is observed in front of the western wall the grand and mighty oil painting, representing the German Emperor life-size in General's uniform; not as Emperor, but as Prince of Prussia, in which capacity he assumed, on the 22nd of May 1840, after the Conference of the Association of Grand Masters in the Grand Lodge of Royal York, the protectorate of the Masonic Lodges in Prussia. The floor of the hall is parquetted, and the walls are divided into coloured panels. At the northern side of this hall a portal supported by marble pillars leads opposite an orchestra into the Lodge, the working hall, which is a most beautiful piece of architecture in the Alhambresque style, and its roof is formed of a cupola with a skylight. A grand organ is here erected. The dining hall is a very fine apartment, and its ceiling is richly ornamented in stucco.

ST. MARYLEBONE LODGE, No. 1305.

THIS excellent working Lodge, many of the members of which are Past Masters of other Lodges; one member has been the recipient of Grand Honours in the G.L. of England; has for the past three years been located at the Eyre Arms, St. John's Wood, where the Lodge was consecrated. It has now, by the resolution of its members, removed to the Langham Hotel. This (Wednesday last) was the first occasion on which a Masonic Lodge had been held at the Langham, and although the accommodation was in every respect good, the brethren laboured under a disadvantage by not having the commodious rooms that will in future be alloted them. This Lodge has a Benevolent Fund attached, with a capital amounting to nearly £300. Every member pays 4s per annum; every initiate 20s, and joining members 5s. At the meeting we are about to chronicle, the W.M., Bro. Benjamin Phillips, who is a P.M. of No. 1563, occupied the chair, and was supported by Bros. White P.M. S.W., Mouflet J.W., Baker Secretary, Hill S.D, Halliday J.D., Baker I.G., Kent Organist, Smith M.C.; P.M.'s Draper, Fowler, Ashdown, Ashwell, Foxall P.G.P., Stringer, and a numerous attendance of the members and Visitors. Amongst the latter were J. Tustin P.M., H. Price 55, Higgins 1290, E. Mayo 1732, L. Binet P.M. 179, E. C. Birch 1223, Gardner 177, Fredericks 188, Bloomfield 1613, J. Soper W.M. 1769, Lucas P.M. 192, Gapp late of 21, Garnham 933, Davie Secretary 173, Hammond W.M. 1563, Arnett 365, J. Emanuel 15, Leach 861, Austin P.M. 753, Nicols 173, Captain Finch P.M. 173, Jewell late of 194, Ealey 1615, Andrews 35, Bilby 19, H. M. Levy P.M. 188, &c. The Lodge was opened, and then a peep at the agenda paper showed that a goodly amount of work was to be done. Bros. Saville and A. A. Skoeins were raised to the sublime degree. Ballots were taken for the admission into the Order of Messrs. C. Curtis, E. Barr, and H. Ashdown. Result in each case being satisfactory, these gentlemen were duly initiated by the W.M., whose perfect working of the ceremonies deserves especial praise. Bros. E. B. Cox 1503, Douglass 228, and Victor Tussaud (late of this Lodge) were unanimously elected joining members. A notice of motion was handed in by Bro. E. White S.W. to revise the By-Laws. A candidate was proposed for initiation at the next meeting, and then a vote of condolence was unanimously passed to the bereaved widow and family of the late Bro. Myers, who was a brother-in-law of the W.M. Lodge was then closed until the second Wednesday in February, and the brethren, 68 in number, sat down to an excellent banquet and dessert provided by Captain W. C. Gordon, the service superintended by Mr. Cooke. The repast gave unqualified satisfaction, and grace having been said, the W.M., who makes a capital President, proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toast. The National Anthem was sung, by Miss Grace Godolphin. In proposing the toast of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W. Grand Master, the W.M. said he was pleased to know that at the last meeting of Grand Lodge His Royal Highness was again re-elected. All Masons hope that he will be with them in his present capacity for many years. "God Bless the Prince of Wales" was then sung by Bro. Kift. The W.M. then proposed the health of the R.W. the Earl of Carnarvon Pro G.M.; the Earl of Lathom D.G.M.; the brethren appreciated the honour of having a Brother a member of their Lodge who had been selected for Grand honours; he hoped to see Bro. Foxall among them for many years to come. He was one of the Founders of the Lodge, and was esteemed by all the members. Miss Grace Godolphin here sang—with great spirit—"The Kerry" Dancers," and well merited the applause she received. Bro. Foxall P.M. P.G.P., in reply, thanked the W.M. and the brethren for their reception of the toast. He then, in assuming the gavel, said it was a great privilege to have to propose the health of the W.M. Those who saw Bro. Phillips in the chair that evening could certify how ably he had discharged his duties, in initiating three brethren and raising two. His genial presidency, not only on this occasion, but on each one when he had occupied the chair, entitled him to respect. He would ask the brethren to give the toast especial honour. Brother Arthur Thomas sang, most artistically, "Forget and Forgive." The W.M. in replying thanked Brother Foxall for his kind expressions; he was pleased to be with them in the capacity of W.M. If he had done his duty to their satisfaction, it was a great pleasure to know it. This was his mother Lodge, and though they had hitherto been located at another establishment, for many years, he could not say they had been comfortable. They now for the first time, met in this large and influential Hotel, where he hoped they had been made comfortable. He was sure the worthy manager would do all he could to keep them with him for years. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Initiates. Those brethren, he was sure, would become ornaments to the Craft. On this occasion also they had three joining members, who the brethren were proud to welcome. After a humourous song by Brother J. Kift, Bros. Curtis, Barr, and Ashdown severally responded. The toast of the Joining Members was next given; they were Bro. Victor Tussaud, late a member of the Lodge, and Bros. Cox and Douglass. The toast was responded to by the latter Brother, in a very excellent speech; he was followed by Brother Cox. The W.M. then proposed the Past Masters. They had present Bros. Foxall and Stringer, both of whom he was pleased to see. The latter when W.M. initiated him into the Order, he hoped to see him among them for many years to come. There also was Bro. Draper, no brother in the Craft is more respected than he; he is ever kind and genial. Next we come to Bro. Baker, the Secretary; all knew his work and capabilities. Then came Bros. Ashwell and Fowler, the latter had travelled from Ramsgate to be present at this especial meeting. Brother Stringer P.M. said that when he initiated the W.M. he had a lively recognition of prognosticating he would make a good and worthy Mason, and one day would occupy the chair. That had come to pass. He could frankly state their W.M. was an honour and a credit to them. Brother Fowler said he had travelled a long distance to be present on this inaugural night. He would come any distance if he felt he could be as comfortable as they were then; a very agreeable evening had been passed, and he hoped to be present on many similar occasions. Bro. Draper also addressed the brethren. The Wor. Master then proposed the toast of the Visitors, and Bro. Austin in responding said he was a very old attendant at their meetings; he reminded the brethren that the R.A. Chapter attached to the Lodge would be held at the Langham, on the second Wednesday in January. Brother Baker P.M. and Secretary is the M.E.Z. Brother Captain Finch P.M. 173, in a very eloquent speech followed. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Treasurer and Secretary; he regretted the absence of the former brother, through a domestic affliction; Bro. Baker is a host in himself. No better Secretary could be found, nor one who has the interest of the Lodge more at heart. The duet, "No, Sir," was here sung, excellently, by Miss Grace Godolphin and Bro. Kift, and then Bro. Baker responded to the toast. He hoped that every success would attend the Lodge in their change of locality. The W.M. had that night initiated three gentlemen, while three members had joined; he regretted the cause that kept their worthy Treasurer away. Bro. Chaplin was one whom they all respected. The W.M. here said he was about to propose a toast somewhat out of ordinary course; that was the health of Dr. Spurgin, who although but a lay member, is one who has the interests of the Lodge at heart. It was to him, in conjunction with Bro. Baker, to whom they were indebted for the removal of the Lodge to its present quarters. The music which they had that night enjoyed was to be credited to him. After Bro. Dr. Spurgin had responded, the W.M. proposed the toast of the Officers. The S.W., Brother White, is one who knows his duties; he had passed the chair in an influential Lodge, and all hoped he would occupy the chair here. The J.W. and other Officers know their duties thoroughly, while Bro. Drake as W.S. is not only a liberal, but an economist. After a response from Bro. White, who said that after twelve years they had embarked on a new era; he hoped the Lodge would prosper. Bro. Mouflet J.W. followed, as did Bros. Halliday and Smith. Then the Tyler's toast was given. During the evening it was suggested that a ball, in connection with the Lodge, should take place at the Langham Hotel on the last Tuesday in January. A strong committee will be organised to carry this out.

NEW CONCORD LODGE OF INSTRUCTION, No. 813.

THE members of this Lodge of Instruction celebrated their Annual Festival, at Bro. Baker's, the Cock Tavern, Highbury Corner, on Wednesday evening. This Lodge of Instruction holds its regular meetings at the Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate Road, N., but owing to other engagements the proprietor was unable to offer, on this occasion, the necessary accommodation. Hence the migration to Bro. Baker's. In the absence of Bro. Haslip, W.M. of the Mother Lodge, who was prevented from attending through indisposition, the chair was taken by Bro. T. J. Cusworth P.M., who was supported by Bros. Sampson George P.M. 813, Boulton Treasurer 813, Stillwell 813, Woodman S.D. 1950, R. P. Forge W.M. 1950, W. W. Morgan, Ashton, Chipperfield, Thompson, R. M. Jones, Marks, Weeden, Wolf, A. Perl (Treasurer), F. Perl (Secretary), Kalen, Bevan, A. Potter, W. Potter, Wicks, Dixie, Chubb, Sargent, Charles, Willcock, T. Jones, Moorhouse, Edell, Stevenson, Flack, Cotton, and several others. The repast was placed on the table by Bro. Baker with every attention to detail, and afforded the most unqualified satisfaction to all present. On the removal of the cloth the President gave the first toast—Loyalty to the Throne and Devotion to the best interests of the Craft. After the National Anthem, Bro. Cusworth introduced the second toast—Success to the Mother Lodge—with it was associated the name of Brother Sampson George P.M. After a song by Brother August Perl—capitally rendered—Bro. George replied: He was called on somewhat unexpectedly, in consequence of the absence of Brother Haslip—which all regretted—to respond to this toast. He felt assured the members of the Mother Lodge who were present would have preferred to have seen assembled around the festive board more of their number. However, those who had come were gratified at the success that had attended the gathering. He might be pardoned if he went out of his course somewhat to announce that the Mother Lodge was, financially and socially, in a very happy condition. The members fully appreciated the labours of the Lodge of Instruction, by whose exertions the Officers were enabled to perform their several duties in a perfect and satisfactory manner. This in the main was due to the zeal and energy displayed by the Preceptor, Bro. T. J. Cusworth P.M., who so ably conducted it. He would now call upon the brethren to join him in wishing continued prosperity to the Lodge of Instruction, and a long life, with happiness, to its Preceptor, Bro. Cusworth. In acknowledging the compliment, Bro. Cusworth, after thanking the brethren, stated that he had filled the office of Preceptor for more than fourteen years, during which time they had seen many changes. The Lodge of Instruction met every week, and all necessaries to make the working perfect were at the disposal of the brethren. The Lodge room was amply furnished, and any Craftsman who chose to pay a visit would be cordially welcomed, and he ventured to think would derive satisfaction and profit from the visit. He would conclude by heartily thanking them for the reception they had given to the toast introduced by Bro. George. The Visitors, was the next toast given by the President. There were several distinguished Masons present, and he trusted they would make themselves better acquainted with the members; doubtless many of them, on a future occasion, would join the Lodge of Instruction. With this toast he would associate the names of Bros. Edell, Charles, Jones and Moorhouse. After a song by Bro. Venning, the brethren whose names were mentioned in connection with the toast severally responded, each expressing himself gratified with the visit. After a Shakspe:rian selection, delivered by Bro. Morgan with his wonted vigour, the Treasurer and Secretary were complimented, and to this the Brothers Perl replied. Several other toasts were given. Bro. Morgan responded for the Press. Special recognition was vouchsafed Bro. Baker for his attention to the creature comforts of his guests. The evening throughout was essentially a harmonious one; song succeeded song in rapid succession. Among those who distinguished themselves, in addition to those already named, we must mention Bros. Woodman, Wicks, Wolf, Venning, &c. Bro. W. Wright, as usual, proved himself an able pianist, and received hearty applause for his performance of the March of the Turkish Patrol. Bro. Dixie contributed a capital recitation.

St. James's Union Lodge, No. 180.—The meeting of this Lodge was held on Tuesday, 12th inst., at the Freemasons' Hall. Present—Bros. Fletcher W.M., Wade I.P.M., Stoner P.M. S.W., Baker J.W., Maxted S.D., Chester J.D., Donne I.G., Miles Treasurer, Parsons Secretary, Farwig P.M., and a goodly attendance of the brethren. Visitors—Bros. Baker I.P.M. Joppa, and Gibbs. Lodge was opened in due form, and after the minutes of previous meeting had been confirmed, Bro. Spence was examined and raised to the sublime degree of M.M., the ceremony being most impressively rendered by the Worshipful Master, assisted by his Officers. Lodge was resumed, when Mr. A. Paillard was initiated into the mysteries of the first degree. According to ancient custom, the brethren then proceeded to elect a W.M. for the ensuing year, when Bro. Baker was unanimously selected. Bro. Miles was re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. P.M. Stoner Treasurer of the Benevolent Fund. Bro. I.P.M. Wade then proposed that a Past Master's jewel be voted to Bro. Fletcher W.M., from the funds of the Lodge, to mark the appreciation of the brethren of the very satisfactory manner in which Bro. Fletcher had presided over the Lodge during his year. Not only had he earned the good opinion of all by his administration in the Lodge, but also his presidency at the banquet table left nothing to be desired. The W.M., in a few chosen words, thanked the brethren most sincerely for the kindness shown him, more particularly this evening. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to dinner, which was served to the satisfaction of all, bringing a very pleasant evening to a close.

Lodge of Joppa, No. 188.—A regular meeting of this popular Lodge was held on the 4th instant, at the Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street. Bro. Myers W.M., Benjamin S.W., Martin S.W., Lyon Treasurer, Albert P.G.P. Secretary, Bean S.D., Botibol 'J.D., Walls I.G., Dewsnap M.C., Jaques Wynman Steward, Richard Baker I.P.M., P.M.'s Berkowitz, Hickman, Dodson, Levy, Alexander, Roberts, Abrahams, Alexander. Visitors—Bradshaw 405, Bathard 1287, Stuut 1641, Lyon 185, Fletcher W.M. 180, Siems 1502, Jennings. Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. The bye-laws were read by Bro. Baker. Bro. Lorie having answered the usual questions very satisfactorily, was raised to the third degree by the Worshipful Master. The election of a Worshipful Master for the ensuing twelve months then took place, and Brother Benjamin was elected to fill that important position. Bro. Lyon was re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. Woodstock Tyler. Five brethren were elected on the Board of Management, eight on the Benevolent Fund, and two as Auditors. A distressed brother was relieved with the sum of 21s. Bro. Dodson announced that a new Lodge was about to be formed, and that he was to be nominated its first Master. It was proposed, seconded, and carried, that the petition be signed by the Lodge. Bro. Baker then proposed that a testimonial be presented to the W.M., on his retiring from the chair, for the able and efficient manner in which he had discharged his duties: and the sum of £5 5s was voted from the funds of the Lodge to form a nucleus for presenting him with a testimonial worthy his acceptance. This was carried unanimously. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to light refreshments. The W.M. presided, and proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. Bro. Albert responded for the Grand Officers. The toast of the Benevolent Fund was responded to by Bro. Alexander, Past President. The W.M. then offered the toast of the W.M. elect. He was pleased to see Bro. Benjamin in that position, and wished him health and prosperity. Bro. Benjamin in reply said he felt the responsibility of the duties devolving upon him; he knew they were great, but he hoped to discharge them to their satisfaction. He might remind them that he was almost born in Freemasonry; many of his family had distinguished themselves, and had gained Provincial Grand honours in Lancashire. He sincerely thanked the brethren one and all. Bro. Baker said he rose for the last time in his present capacity. No words of his could enhance what he was about to say—that was that the brethren should drink to the health of the W.M. Bro. Myers was one who had ably and efficiently done his duty during the past year, and however enthusiastically this toast had been received hitherto, he hoped the brethren on this occasion would give it a hearty reception. The Worshipful Master in reply thanked Bro. Baker for his kind expressions; also the brethren for the way they had received the toast. He likewise had to thank Bro. Baker for his kind assistance; at the same time every Officer had done well; he heartily thanked them. The toast of the Visitors was next given; the W.M. gave them a hearty welcome. He assured them that though the Lodge was about to leave the Albion, they would be always pleased to see them in their new quarters, especially Bro. Jennings, who, with Bro. Bathard, he would call upon to respond to the toast. Bro. Jennings said that it was a well-known axiom, "'tis hard to part from those we love," and harder to die; but changes must take place. He regretted the Lodge was about to leave the Albion; he would take an early opportunity of visiting. He could assure them that a token presented him by the members of the Lodge would ever be valued by him. Bro. Bathard followed, as likewise did Bros. Bradshaw and Fletcher. The other toasts were the P.M.'s, the Treasurer and Secretary, the Wardens and Officers; and then the Tyler's was given. Altogether a very agreeable evening was passed. Bro. Baker gave an excellent recitation, while Bros. Dodson, Hicks, and Martin contributed to the harmony.

AIRE AND CALDER LODGE, No. 458.

THE annual installation of the W.M. of this Lodge took place on Friday afternoon, the 8th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Ouse-street, Goole. Bro. Ezra Gooderidge, the W.M. elect, was installed by Bro. Gardiner I.P.M., there being, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, a number of visitors from other towns in the district, including Leeds, York, and Howden. The W.M. elect afterwards invested the following Officers: —Bros. H. Wilson S.W., W. Brook J.W., R. Wright P.M. Treasurer, E. C. B. Tudor M.C., T. Raven Secretary, W. Everett S.D., E. J. Foster J.D., R. Dayson I.G., Dixon and Blasdale Stewards, Stevenson Organist, and Brother H. Handley Tyler. Brother Wilson Senior Warden was re-elected charity member. At the close of the ceremony Bro. M. Wright presented to the retiring Master a handsome jewel bearing the inscription: "Presented to Bro. H. T. Gardiner, by the brethren of No. 458, Aire and Calder Lodge, in appreciation of his services in the chair for two consecutive years. 8th. Dec. 1882." The annual banquet was held at the Sydney Hotel, where the W.M. elect presided, being supported by Bro. Anderton W.M. 630, St. Cuthberts, Howden, and the Past Masters and brethren of the Lodge, there being a larger attendance than for several years past.

Upton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1227.—The anniversary banquet of this useful and progressive Lodge of Instruction was held on Friday evening, the 8th inst., at Bro. Grey's, Swan Tavern, Bethnal Green-road, Shoreditch, under the presidency of Bro. R. W. Pearcy W.M. 1227. The company included Bros. P.M.'s Fenner, Andrews, Clark, Serjeant S.W., Gieseke J.W., Free Secretary, Stroud I.G., Sherwin Organist, Horley W.S., Pearson 458, Pratt, Amphlett, Oxley, Marks, Ford, Smith, Moss, R. Pringle, Grey, Wright, &c. Ample justice having been done to Bro. Grey's excellent catering, the customary loyal toast was duly honoured, and the healths of our Masonic Rulers were received with the utmost enthusiasm. The W.M., in proposing the toast of the evening—Success to the Upton Lodge of Instruction—said he was very happy to inform the brethren that it had met with much success during the past year. The total number of attendances had been 619, giving an average of sixteen per meeting, which they must regard as very satisfactory. They had a balance in hand of something like £9, after having given two guineas to Bro. Robinson's list, and one guinea towards the Old People's Christmas Entertainment. There was also an Association connected with the Lodge, which had likewise been a success, for they had been enabled at every monthly meeting to have a draw—at the last meeting there were two draws—and the result had been to contribute in the aggregate 130 guineas in one year to the Charities. He thought, therefore, they might fairly congratulate themselves upon the success which had attended their efforts; and he really did not know where the Charities would be were it not for the Lodges of Instruction. He could say, with perfect truth and confidence, that quite one-half, and perhaps two-thirds, of the amount subscribed to the Institutions was derived from the various Lodges of Instruction. Therefore it behoved one and all, who had Freemasonry at heart—and it was comprehended in the one word "charity"—to look after their Lodges of Instruction, and do their best to render them all the assistance that lay in their power. He coupled with the toast the name of Bro. Fenner. The toast having been received with hearty fire, Bro. Fenner said he thanked the brethren most heartily for the cordial reception they had accorded him. He was very proud to hear the announcement made by their W.M. and which he (the speaker) had heard for the first time, as to average number of brethren who had attended this Lodge of Instruction. It showed the Lodge had done a vast amount of good, and he trusted it would long continue in the same direction. Of course, a Lodge of Instruction was almost a nonentity without a head, and as they had kindly placed him in that position year after year, he had done the best he could to afford the brethren what instruction he could. Any influence he could bring to bear, however, would be unavailing without the assistance of every member of the Lodge in forwarding its interests, in binding together and uniting in attaining such instruction as should enable them to rise to any office to which they might be called in the mother Lodge. He thought Lodges of Instruction were, as Bro. Terry once said, "the real backbone of Freemasonry." There would be few competent Officers in any Lodge unless they attended the meetings for instruction. Those who attended for the first time felt very strange, and naturally nervous, but when they had been in the habit of attending they gained confidence, and were able to acquit themselves in any position they might be asked to fill in their mother Lodge, not only with satisfaction to themselves, but with honour to the Lodge. For many years he had had the support of the Upton Lodge, and this gave him great confidence and pleasure in doing what little service he could in the way of imparting instruction to others. He hoped to see this Lodge of Instruction go on and prosper in the future as it had done in the past, and that Freemasonry might flourish and become increasingly influential, not only in promoting feelings of reciprocity and good fellowship, but also in cementing together good men and true who might otherwise have remained apart and unknown to each other. He then proposed the health of their excellent W.M., who fulfilled that position with as much credit as any who had preceded him. That he had striven to do his best, as Master of the parent Lodge, no one could doubt who had watched Bro. Pearcy's Masonic career. They all knew it was a difficult position to be placed in the chair of a Lodge, and that it required all a man's judgment and tact to carry on the duties satisfactorily. Bro. Pearcy had done so with much credit, and it augured well for the future success of the Lodge when their W.M. took so active an interest in its affairs. He trusted Bro. Pearcy might have the cordial co-operation and assistance of the Officers and brethren in the discharge of his duties; if so, it would give him confidence and enable him to carry on the work in a manner which must conduce to the best interests of the Lodge. No man had Freemasonry more at heart than he had, as was evidenced by the support he gave to the Charities, and the way in which he did his work in Lodge, which was highly creditable and satisfactory to them all. The toast was heartily received, and Bro. Pearcy in acknowledging it, thanked Bro. Fenner for the too eulogistic terms in which he had brought his name before the company. It was quite true that he had Freemasonry very warmly at heart. When he joined it he did so with the intention of getting to the top of the tree; and as whatever was worth doing at all was worth doing well, he had endeavoured to discharge his duty to the utmost of his ability. In the same way, whatever honours a man wished to gain were worth working for. With that idea he asked some one to introduce him into a Lodge of Instruction, and as there happened to be none in his neighbourhood, a few friends of his agreed that they should found this Lodge. He believed he was the only remaining founder who now attended, and several of the other originators had passed away. They first met to the number of thirteen; they subscribed their money, and they had gone on with varied success, sometimes up and sometimes down. This year had certainly crowned their efforts with success, and he trusted they would grow in the future even better than they had done in the past. He then proposed in felicitous terms the health of the Visitors, for whom Bros. Amphlett and Sherwin suitably responded. The W.M. then gave the Masonic Charities, in doing which he said it was his privilege to be a member of the Board of Benevolence, though the privilege was often a painful one, when they had to listen to so many tales of poverty and distress. But though the applicants for relief were so numerous there was rarely an instance of any one being sent empty away. At the last meeting there were fifty-eight cases, and all were relieved with the exception of one, which would not bear investigation, and the total amount granted was £1,500. Seeing the immense amount of good done by the Charities they could not do better than to render them all the support available; and in no way could they do this better than by promoting to the uttermost of their power the Lodges of Instruction. Bro. Moss replied to the toast in a practical speech. Several others were proposed, including the Treasurer and Secretary, who suitably responded. During the evening some capital songs were sung, Bro. Sherwin rendering efficient aid as accompanyist on the pianoforte.

KINGSTON LODGE, No., 1010.

THE annual meeting of this Lodge was held on Wednesday, 7th inst., at the Masonic Hall Worship-street, Hull, Bro. B. S. Jacobs W.M. in the chair. The ordinary business of the Lodge having been transacted, Bro. Henry Forder J.W., the Worshipful Master elect, was presented to the installing Officer, Bro. B. S. Jacobs, for installation as Worshipful Master for the ensuing year. The ceremony of installation was impressively performed, according to the ancient customs of the Craft. Bro. H. Forder, on taking the chair, appointed the following brethren to their respective offices:—Bros. Jacobs I.P.M., Seaton, C.E., S.W., Logan J.W., Rev. H. C. Casson, M.A., Chaplain, Mosely Lecture Master, Copland Treasurer, Sidman Sec., M. Grant-Dalton, C.E., S.D., Wellsted, C.E., J.D., Nicholson, M.D., Director of Ceremonies, Keyworth Almoner, Pybus, M.D., Organist, Fullerton I.G, Firth and Sutton Stewards, Lambert Tyler. The banquet was subsequently held at the Royal Station Hotel. Bro. H. Forder occupied the chair, and was supported by many distinguished Masons of the Riding, and visitors from the neighbouring Lodges. The customary Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured.

ST. LEONARD'S LODGE, No. 1766.

THE annual meeting of this Lodge was held on Wednesday evening, at the Town Hall, Shoreditch. The W.M., Brother Elias Benjamin, opened the Lodge, and was supported during the evening by the following brethren :- Jones W.M. elect S.W., Clement J.W., Rev. H. G. Henderson, M.A., Chaplain, Cox Secretary, Fanston S.D., Walker J.D., Drysdale M.C., Young Org., Matthews I.G., Thrower Steward; P.M.'s Bros. Barham, Barr, Stean, Terry, Clarke P.G.P., Buss Assist. G. Sec., several members of the Lodge, and the following, among other visitors—Bros. Berry 172, Thorey 1365, Turner 186, Finch P.M. 1365, Lee P.M. 1384, Steel J.D. 1365, Potter 1445, Bradgate 55, Hill 813, Edwards 907, Francke 1692, Stephens J.W. 1692 1382 and 898, Green 861, Smithers 193, Francis 55, Rowe 1096, Sanders 861, Hodges 1310, Frew 959, Douglass 1744, Jones 1607, Downing P.M. 20, James 723, Ames 860, Haggs 813, Heale 45, Symmons, Peacock 201, Brien P.M. 1076, Sims 861, Salter 861, Joseph Little 1607, J. Morgan jun. J.W. 1107, Robson 1445, Smith S.W. 193, Page 214, Stevens 1564, Clarke 1158, Harwood 813, Stephens P.M. 751, Mellor 1744, Durrant P.M. 569 1185, Birkett 569, Munro 569, Hawkins P.M. 569, Nicholson I.P.M. 1566, Cain 818, Bowen 65, Snook 1693, Doubleday 193, Hallows P.M. 1662, G. J. Freeman 1613, Gooding 1329, Iron S.W. 1579. After the confirmation of the minutes, the Lodge was advanced with the customary formalities. Bro. J. A. Jones was installed as W.M., appointing, in due course, the following as his Officers:—Bros. Clement S.W., Fanston J.W., Henderson Chap., King Treas., Cox Sec., Walker S.D., Matthews J.D., Drysdale I.G., Thrower M.C., Harrison and Staff Stewards, Young Organist. Messrs. E. J. Rose, J. L. Fraser, E. T. Henman jun., and George Colls were, after the ballot had been taken and proven in their favour, initiated by the newly appointed W.M., who then proceeded to close the Lodge. Before doing so he presented to the retiring W.M. a P.M.'s jewel, and it was stated that a testimonial would have been presented to the late Treasurer—Bro. C. Stevens P.M.—but for that brother's absence. The brethren then proceeded to banquet, which was presided over by the W.M. At its conclusion and after grace, the customary loyal toasts were honoured. With that of the Grand Officers was coupled the names of Bros. Buss and Clarke. The former referred to the great progress the Lodge had made, and hoped it might continue on its successful career. The Grand Officers felt deeply the responsibility reposed in them by the Grand Master, and did all that lay in their power to prove themselves worthy of it. It was a most fortunate thing for the Grand Officers that Grand Lodge chose men whose ability won for them the respect of the whole Craft. Bro. Clarke hardly thought he would have been called upon to respond to this toast in the presence of so worthy and distinguished a brother as the Assistant Grand Secretary. He was however very pleased to offer his thanks to the W.M. and the Lodge, with those of Brother Buss. He felt he could not let the opportunity pass without referring back a few years to the time when he had assisted at the consecration of the Lodge, and considering the short space of time that had elapsed since that event he felt they could but congratulate all connected with the St. Leonard's Lodge on the success that had attended it. Brother Benjamin next proposed the health of the Worshipful Master. He considered it quite superfluous for him to give a lengthened description of Brother Jones's capabilities, his acts that night had spoken far more forcibly as to his ability than any words he could utter, if their new W.M. carried out all the duties of the chair as ably as he had the ceremonies required of him on the first night of his ruling, it must redound to his credit and prove for the benefit of the Lodge. The W.M. in reply felt he could not sufficiently thank Bro. Benjamin for his kind words in proposing the toast of his health, he also thanked Bro. Buss for the compliment he paid him. To have one's working praised by such an experienced Mason as Brother Buss was indeed an honour; he only hoped he might continue to deserve such encomiums. He certainly felt it an honour to be surrounded as he was by such an array of brethren—some 120 in all—this large attendance was, in itself, a great compliment both to the Lodge and himself, he only hoped that he might continue to deserve such approval, and that when the time should come for him to give up the management of the affairs of the Lodge it could be said that it was none the worse for his year's occupation of the chair. He next had to propose the health of the Installing Master. This toast also comprised the Immediate Past Master of the year, for he was pleased to say that Brother Benjamin, his predecessor, had brought his year's work to an end by installing his successor. He had worked well for the Lodge, and from what he had done the W.M. felt every member would agree with him that he was well worthy of their esteem. Bro. Benjamin most sincerely thanked the W.M. and brethren for their approbation. He felt very proud of the high honour which had been conferred on him, and much obliged to the brethren for the handsome reception accorded him at all times. He was pleased that the brethren were satisfied with his exertions. The health of the Past Masters of the Lodge was next proposed from the chair. The W.M. in giving it felt he could speak of them with a thorough knowledge of their ability. He had known each of them, not only in the Lodge, but also before it was consecrated, and in every sphere he had found them to be most worthy brethren. Bro. Stean was the first to reply. It was a great pleasure to him, as year by year the day of installation came round, to see the progress made in the Lodge. He hoped this prosperity might go on for many years, and that not only would the brethren be able to boast of a flourishing Lodge, but would also be able to point to continued support of the Charities, which he considered should never be forgotten so long as the Lodge was in existence. Bro. Barr felt that the P.M.'s could only repeat each other's words, for every one of them wished for the Lodge prosperity and a bright future. It afforded them the greatest pleasure to see the work being carried out properly, and this he felt sure would specially be the case under the ruling of Bro. Jones. Bro. Barham looked upon this as the first occasion on which he had been able to respond as a full fledged Past Master. As one of the Founders he had always worked with one object in view—to make the Lodge among the first in the country. As he was particularly concerned as regarded the preparation of the banquet that night, he could but hope that every one had at least been well supplied. The number who had sat down was the largest that had ever dined in that hall, and if they had not achieved all that could have been wished, they had yet done what they could. Bro. Benjamin tendered his acknowledgments as a P.M., thanking the brethren for their reception of the toast. The next toast on the list was, the W.M. said, a most important one, for it had justly been said that without initiates Freemasonry would soon cease to exist. He sincerely hoped that the few received that night might prove beneficial additions to the Lodge, and he had no doubt that they would. He further hoped that they might live to occupy the most prominent positions in the Craft. Brother Fraser, on behalf of himself and his brother initiates, returned his sincere thanks. He was deeply sensible of the responsibilities he had taken upon himself that night, and hoped he might prove himself a worthy Mason. Brother Henman also thanked the brethren. He hoped the prominent position he and brother initiates had occupied in that night's assembly might some day be repeated as a reward for merit in the Craft. Each of the other initiates having replied, the W.M., in a most forcible manner, proposed the Charities, to which Brother James Terry responded. In the course of his remarks Brother Terry, after referring in general terms to the Charities, pointed out the prospects for the future as far as the Benevolent Institution was concerned. They had that day had a committee meeting, and as usual had received further applications for relief from both old men and women: these and the many who had been passed on previous occasions gave a total of one hundred and ten as candidates for the next election, and there were yet two monthly meetings to be held before the list was closed, from which he might reasonably expect thirty more approved cases, making one hundred and forty in all. For these to compete for, there were at present but eleven vacancies, viz., ten men, and one widow. These figures he thought proved, most forcibly, that something ought to be done beyond what was being achieved. It seemed woful to leave so many out in the cold, as they would unquestionably have to do. It really meant that either great help must come, a great number of deaths must occur among the present annuitants, or 133 old people would be left unprovided for. The toast of the Visitors was next honoured, and to this Bro. Captain Durrant and others replied. Other toasts followed in rapid succession, and the proceedings were brought to a conclusion by the Tyler, but not until very late were "our distressed brethren" toasted. The arrangements throughout left nothing to be desired.

Kingsland Lodge of Instruction, No. 1693. — On Monday last, Bros. Powell W.M., Pearcy P.M. S.W., Funston J.W., Trewinnard Preceptor, Forge W.M. 1950 Secretary, Killick jun. Treasurer, Weston S.D., Marks J.D., Clemmens I.G.; also Bros. Goddard, Snook, Killick sen., Jordan, Bevan, Longhurst, Venning, and others. After preliminaries, the ceremony of the third degree was rehearsed, the W.M. giving the traditional history and explaining the tracing board; Bro. Venning was the candidate. Lodge was resumed to first degree. Bro. Pearcy, Preceptor of the Percy, Finsbury Park, and Sir Hugh Myddelton Lodges of Instruction, was unanimously elected Master for the ensuing week. It was then proposed by Bro. Forge, and seconded by Bro. Snook, both members of the mother Lodge, that the sum of £2 2s, from the funds of the Lodge of Instruction, be handed to Bro. Terry, Secretary of the R.M.B.I., towards the Christmas Entertainment of the Old People, at Croydon. This proposition was carried unanimously. Proposed by Bro. Treasurer, and seconded by Bro. Preceptor, that the sum of £1 1s be voted from the funds of the Lodge of Instruction, towards the testimonial about to be presented to Bro. Terry. This was carried unanimously. We may mention here that this testimonial will take the form of a portrait in oil, to be hung in the Asylum, at Croydon, opposite that of Dr. Crucifix, the founder. We think other Lodges would be pleased to show their appreciation, in this way, of Bro. Terry's zeal in furthering the best interests of Freemasonry. During the evening it was decided that the Secretary of this Lodge of Instruction write a letter of condolence to the widow and family of the late Bro. Elias Somers, who was ever a staunch friend to all Craft Masons.

CONSECRATION OF THE EARL OF CLARENDON LODGE, No. 1984, AT WATFORD.

A LARGE gathering of distinguished Freemasons met at the Masonic Hall, Watford, on Wednesday, 14th inst., when the Earl of Clarendon Lodge, No. 1984, was consecrated by the R.W. Prov. Grand Master for Herts, Bro. T. F. Halsey, Esq., M.P., assisted by the V.W. Bro. Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke Grand Secretary. The brethren assembled in the larger Hall at about 3 p.m., and shortly afterwards the Grand Master and Officers of the Province entered in procession. A Lodge was then opened by the Provincial G. Master, Bros. Edgar Bowyer P.P.S.W. acting as S.W., and Dr. Hobson P.P.J.W. J.W. Just previous to the commencement of the consecration ceremony Bro. J. E. Cussans S.G.W. was announced, and on entry took his proper position as S.W. The Officers of the Prov. G. Lodge present were, in addition to the above, W. Bros. F. H. W. Iles, M.D., D.P.G.M., F. S. Knyvett Prov. G. Treasurer, J. E. Dawson Past Provincial Grand Senior Warden Provincial G. Secretary, W. E. Gomperts jun. Prov. G.J.D., G. F. Cook Prov. A.D.C., E. R. P.

Francis Prov. G. Org., T. Woodman Prov. G.P., F. Hall Prov. G.A.P., and Bros. T. Wright and C. Thomas Prov. G. Tylers. There were also present during the proceedings the following brethren, viz.—Bros. J. L. Mather P.P.G.D.C. S.W. designate, H. J. Giller J.W. designate, T. Kent P.P.G.D., F. Davidson P.S.G.W. Middlesex Frederick Binckes P.G. Steward, C. F. Matier P.G.W. Greece, D. M. Dewar 1415, George Kenning P.G.D. Middlesex, James Stevens P.M. P.Z., C. W. Reynolds P.P.G.A.P., H. Yolland W.M. 1385, Deedes 1479, J. T. Lee W.M. 404, C. W. Allen 1385, J. Britten 1385, J. Bristow 657, P. Cooper 591, H. J. Bell 404, H. Massey P.M. 1928, Sydney Martin 404, J. Belcher 1784, T. C. Grant 38, G. J. Flint 404, E. Burnford W.M. 1549, E. Hatch 357, T. W. Lane 1249, and many others who did not sign the attendance book. A brief address from the R.W. Prov. Grand Master and Consecrating Officer opened the business of the consecration, which was carried throughout in the most effective and reverent manner. The well delivered extempore oration, given by the Rev. Brother W. O. Thompson, Past Prov. Grand Chaplain, was certainly one of the best, if not the best, we have ever heard on similar occasions. It was not lengthy, but was most expressive, and thoroughly interested those who listened to the speaker's forcible language. Bro. J. L. Mather P.P.G.D.C. carried out the duties connected with the ceremonial to perfection, and the whole order of proceedings was, under his attentive care, smoothly and efficiently conducted. An excellent choir, under the direction of Bro. W. T. Graves, amongst whom were Bros. J. Lyndon Hodges, J. Stedman, G. F. Smith, and Frank Ward, made the musical portion of the consecration ceremony very attractive, and at its conclusion the brethren expressed their appreciation of the services of all concerned. Certainly the Earl of Clarendon Lodge was consecrated under especial auspices, and its introduction to its sister Lodges was worthy of its distinguished founders. After a brief interval, the R.W. Prov. Grand Master requested the V.W. Bro. Shadwell H. Clerke Grand Secretary to instal the W.M. designate of the new Lodge, and himself presented W. Bro. Dr. Wilson Iles for that purpose, with a few very kindly remarks expressive of his great esteem for his Deputy Grand Master, with whom he said he had been so pleasantly associated in Freemasonry. The Installing Master having addressed the R.W.P.G.M., the Lodge then duly installed Dr. Wilson Iles into the chair of K.S., Bro. F. D. Knyvett P.G. Steward acting as Director of Ceremonies. After the usual salutations, the following Officers of the Earl of Clarendon Lodge were invested, namely, Bros. J. L. Mather P.P.G.D.C. S.W., H. S. Giller J.W., G. Tidcombe jun. Treasurer, W. Wilson S.D., W. T. Graves J.D., W. Large M.C., T. C. Grant I.G., A. Cotton Steward, Charles Thomas Tyler. The ceremony of installation was completed by the addresses of the Installing Master, delivered with the customary ability and easy address of the Grand Secretary, to whom a vote of thanks for his services was unanimously accorded. The W.M. of the new Lodge then called upon his Officers and members to perform their first duty in saluting, as an act of allegiance, the Prov. Grand Master, which having been done, he next proposed the election of the Prov. Grand Master and the Grand Secretary as honorary members of the Lodge; this was carried. Both the distinguished brethren responded, with acceptance of the compliment, and kindly promises to assist the progress of the Lodge by every means within their power. A vote of thanks to Bro. George Lambert, Past Grand Sword Bearer, for his kind loan of the consecrating vessels, was cordially passed. Several propositions for initiation and joining having been made, and greetings and hearty good wishes having been expressed by the Visitors, the Lodge was closed with prayer. The banquet was held in the Corn Exchange, which had been prepared for the reception of the guests of the Lodge, and was decorated with abundance of choice ferns and evergreens. It is a fine assembly room, but somewhat cold for the purposes of a dining hall. Nevertheless, the attention which had been given towards securing as much comfort as possible somewhat mitigated the effects of an atmospheric change distinctly felt by even the strongest amongst the company, but which soon gave way to a more genial temperature as the several courses disappeared. The viands were extremely good, and the cuisine deserving of notice; and had it not been for the want of warmth in what was set before the guests, nothing but the utmost praise could have been merited by the host, his chef, and his attendants. After grace had been sung by the choir above named, the several toasts, which were commendably few, were given by the W.M. Referring to the Grand Master his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, the W.M. called attention to the strides which Masonry had taken since the Installation of his Royal Highness as Grand Master at the Albert Hall, an event which he was sure no Mason who had been then present could ever forget. The progress of Freemasonry under his rule was not to be wondered at, for the Grand Master, by the genial and kind-hearted exercise of his important functions, and endeavours to promote its good, had made Freemasonry popular and fashionable. He hoped the Earl of Clarendon Lodge might add to a local popularity also, but still earnestly advocated the principle that such popularity should not result in the acceptance of other than worthy and properly qualified candidates. In the glee which succeeded this toast, "Hail to thee, Albert," Bro. Stedman sang the solo with great effect, and received a well-deserved meed of applause. In submitting the toast of the M.W. the Pro Grand Master, the M.W. Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers, Present and Past, the W.M., after extolling the merits of Bro. the Earl of Carnarvon in the discharge of his high and important duties, referred with kindly expressions to Bro. the Earl of Lathom as the brother-in-law of the Earl of Clarendon, whose name the Lodge bears, and then speaking of the Grand Secretary as the right man in the right place, coupled his name with the toast, which was drunk with much enthusiasm. Bro. Frank Ward sang "Charity," a difficult composition, which only a thorough vocalist, as is Bro. Ward, could so render as to secure the satisfaction the company expressed. Bro. Colonel Shadwell Clerke G.S. acknowledged the honour and pleasure which he felt in responding to the toast of the Grand Officers, which was indeed a comprehensive one. He considered it not only a great pleasure, but a privilege enjoyed by them, to attend and work in Freemasonry whenever opportunity offered, and he, as one amongst them, was only too happy and too ready to afford what services he could in assisting the brethren generally, and the Lodges in particular. Having cordially thanked the W.M. and brethren of the Lodge, the Grand Secretary proposed the health of the Prov. G.M. the R.W. Bro. T. F. Halsey, whom he congratulated on the success which had attended the Province since his accession, some ten years ago; success which had resulted from the deep and personal interest he had taken in each of its Lodges. His genial and pleasing countenance was to be found in all Masonic circles where his position and influence could be brought to bear for the good of the Order, and he (the Grand Secretary) hoped that it might long be so for the sake of all who then heard him. The toast was heartily responded to, and the glee "Evening's Twilight" was well sung by the choir. In a capital speech, which was listened to with deep attention, the Prov. G.M. expressed his satisfaction that not only in his own Province, but generally, Freemasonry is holding its own, and doing its full work. He thanked the brethren for the confidence reposed in him, and re-endorsed his former pledges to use his utmost towards the continuance of the same good state of things. But he must not, could not, forget, that even Provincial Grand Masters required and received support from Provincial Grand Officers, and so, whilst acknowledging the compliments he received, he felt bound to recognise the sterling qualities and the unwearied efforts of his Deputy Grand Master Bro. Dr. Wilson Iles, and his Grand Secretary Bro. Dawson, who, with the remaining Officers, vied as to which should do most for the good of the Province. It is the duty of Provincial Grand Masters to make personal acquaintance with the members of the several Lodges under their rule, and this could not be done without the assistance of Provincial Officers. Through them this new Lodge was founded, and the successful commencement of its operations, now being celebrated, would, he hoped, lead to a great result in respect of the Province of Herts. He begged of them not to be ambitious of numbers in their Lodge, but of quality. The Provincial Grand Master then proposed the health of the Deputy Provincial Grand Master and W.M. of the Earl of Clarendon Lodge, again referring to the great assistance he had received at his hands, and publicly thanking him for valuable support. The toast was enthusiastically received. Bro. Stedman sang in good style, "Tell her I love her so." The W.M. returned thanks in his dual capacity, and in the course of his remarks said that he did not think the Ritual of Freemasonry was better worked than in the Lodges of the Province of Herts. The Watford Lodge was a good exemplar of working in Freemasonry, and to that Lodge was due much of the good resulting from such work, and, in reference to the present occasion of meeting, a recognition of the assistance given towards the formation of the Earl of Clarendon, which he hoped would work as well, and be as successful as the Watford Lodge had been. He thanked the numerous brethren of that Lodge, as also the many Visitors present, for their attendance on this occasion. He took it as a very great compliment, which he should not readily forget. The W.M. then gave the toast of the Provincial Grand Officers, Present and Past, coupling therewith the names of the Prov. Grand Senior Warden Bro. J. E. Cussans, author of the "History of Hertfordshire," and the P.P.G. Chaplain, the Rev. Brother W. O. Thompson, whose oration that evening in Lodge he, the W.M., felt assured would be long remembered by those who had listened to it. Both brethren briefly responded, the hour for breaking up and departure fast approaching. The Visitors was proposed by the W.M., with many thanks for their attendance, and especially to the London brethren for their journeying to Watford on such an unpleasant day. Brother Lyndon Hodges sang "The meeting of the Waters" in his usual effective manner, and but for pressure of time would have obeyed an encore. Bro. F. Davison P.G.S.W. Middlesex, and C. F. Matier P.G.W. Greece, severally responded, and the Masonic Charities having been proposed, and replied to rapidly, but with effect, by Bro. Frederick Binckes, the "train" became the most important consideration, and a rapid termination of the proceedings the result. By the courtesy of the manager of the London and North Western Railway Company, the up express was stopped at Watford, and the London brethren reached Euston at 11, much pleased with the success of the day's proceedings.

The annual meeting of the York Lodge, No. 236, will take place on Monday next, at the Masonic Hall, Duncombe-place, York. The brethren will assemble at four o'clock. Bro. George Kirby is the W.M. elect, and Bro. J. Todd P.M. P.P.G. Registrar will officiate as Installing Master.

---

The installation meeting of the Joppa Lodge, No. 188, will take place on the first Monday in January, at Freemasons' Hall, where, in future, this Lodge will hold its meetings.

---

Bro. Harris, Superintendent S. Division of Police, was, on Friday, presented with a very handsome jewel, by the brethren of the Domatic Lodge, as a mark of esteem, and in recognition of his valuable services, as Master of the Lodge during the past year.

BRO. CLABON'S MOTION.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Referring to the proceedings of the Grand Lodge on the 6th inst., as reported in the CHRONICLE of the 9th inst., at which I was present, I think some of the statements made by Brother James Stevens, if left uncorrected, are likely to mislead. He stated,

1st. The Provincial brethren at the present time contribute to the Fund of Benevolence about as much as the Metropolitan.

2nd. Did not the country brethren who were relieved represent two-thirds of the amount of that number?

3rd. He was adverse to being mulcted in a larger sum than the Provincial brethren.

Were these statements correct they would tell against the Provincial brethren.

I have before me the printed reports of the Quarterly Communications of Grand Lodge, and taking the contributions received from the various Lodges, as therein published, for a period of twelve months, commencing 1st July 1881, and ending 30th June 1882, I find the contributions from the Lodges to the Fund of Benevolence amount to £7496 6s 5d.

| From Provincial Lodges - - - | 4894 | 3 | 11 |
| From Abroad - - - - - | 14 | 19 | 0 |

That, I think, proves Brother Stevens's first statement to be incorrect.

On carefully analysing the grants made, over the same period, I find the sums voted to London and Provincial brethren amount to £10,205, namely—

| To London brethren - - - | £4185 | 0 | 0 |
| To Provincial brethren - - - | 6020 | 0 | 0 |

If the Provinces send up nearly two-thirds of the payments to the Fund of Benevolence (besides contributing a like sum to their own Provinces) surely it it is no hardship to the London brethren if their Provincial brethren get two-thirds of the grants. The above figures, however, do not show they receive that proportion.

Bro. Stevens's third statement is quite wrong. It is well known that every Mason in England and Wales contributes one shilling per quarter to Benevolence. In London the whole is paid over, but in the Provinces the Constitutions allow the brethren to send half to London, and half to their Provincial Grand Lodges. If all were sent to London, the matter would stand thus:—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Contributions from London Lodges - - | £2587 | 3 | 6 |
| ,, ,, Provincial Lodges - | 9788 | 7 | 10 |

I think such a statement should not have been made by Brother Stevens, considering his Masonic experience and knowledge, and could only have been done to tell in favour of the motion, and to the detriment of the Provinces.

In Bro. Clabon's closing remarks, he called attention to the votes of that evening as between London and the Provinces. Out of eighteen cases, twelve were Provincial and six London. Quite right, the proper proportion. The case, however, really stood—seven London (£350) and eleven Provincial (£750).

Brother Clabon further stated—"He asked the country brethren to give one shilling a-year—all this grand oratory had been against paying one shilling a-year." Brother Clabon hardly realises that meant drawing nearly £5000 a-year from the Lodges in the Provinces, for, had the motion been carried, the quarterages of the Provincial brethren would have been raised to 1s 6d, half being sent to London and half to the Provincial Grand Lodges, otherwise the position of London and Provincial brethren would have been different, which is quite inconsistent with the Constitutions of the Order.

The best suggestions made at the meeting were, altering the time of membership qualifying for a grant, or that no grant should be made exceeding £5, unless the brother had been initiated more than five years, and also discontinuing the large grants, except under very exceptional circumstances.

Apologising for the length of this letter,

I am, yours fraternally,

CHARLES S. MASON P.M. 304,

P.P.G. Treasurer W. Yorks.

Leeds, 12th December 1882.

MOTIONS "OUT OF ORDER."

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I appear to be most unfortunate in my endeavours to set before the Grand Lodge a matter which, in the opinion of numerous Metropolitan Freemasons, is of great importance. On three several occasions I have been ruled "Out of Order," but on what justifiable grounds neither my friends nor I can understand. I shall not now advance the arguments I can adduce for the adoption of one or other of the suggestions I have made for the subdivision of the Metropolitan area, so as to secure for the members of nearly three hundred and fifty Lodges meeting therein, equal rights and privileges to those enjoyed by brethren whose Lodges are outside the ten miles radius from Freemasons' Hall. The forthcoming debates on the Revision of the Constitutions of the Order will afford me an opportunity of which I shall not be slow to avail myself.

Without present reference to the reasons advanced for setting aside my two first notices of motion, which reasons I controvert, I should like to know how far the ruling of the Acting Grand Master at the last Quarterly Communication is consistent with the proceedings which had previously taken place on the same evening. It was adjudged that my motion was "an abstract resolution, which, if carried, would be at variance with the Book of Constitutions, and would have to be followed by an operative resolution," and therefore the motion was "out of order." Now, granting for one moment the correctness of this decision, would not the same have equally applied to Bro. Clabon's motion, which was admitted and debated? Our worthy brother moved a direct alteration of the second Article in the present Book of Constitutions, relating to the Quarterage payable from every member of each Lodge, and therefore his motion was quite as "abstract a resolution, requiring a subsequent operative resolution," as was mine, proposing a direct alteration of the Article which defines what are Lodges within the London district." Let any brother fairly and dispassionately set the respective propositions before him for consideration, and most assuredly he will see what I represent is correct. Can it be that in Grand Lodge there is one ruling for a brother in the purple, and another for a brother in the blue? We should all hope not; but from the persistent manner in which my several attempts have been, as I may say, strangled in their birth, I cannot be blamed if the suspicion on my mind, that such is the case, is strengthened by the technical objections which have been taken on each occasion.

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

JAMES STEVENS P.M. P.Z.

Clapham, 11th December 1882.

REVIEWS.

All Books intended for Review should be addressed to the Editor of The Freemason's Chronicle, 23 Great Queen Street, W.C.

—:o:—

Freemasons' Calendar and Pocket Book for the year 1883. London: Spencer's Masonic Depôt, 23a Great Queen-street, W.C.

THE spirit of progress would seem to have taken some hold of the Calendar Committee of the Board of General Purposes, and this year we have to congratulate its members on a further innovation. They have now introduced a list of all the Grand Officers from Wardens downwards who have been appointed since the Union of 1813, and in this the new issue is a decided improvement. We see no reason, however, why the list should not have been made complete by including the distinguished brethren who have filled the offices of Pro Grand Master and Deputy Grand Master respectively. In such case, the list would have the further merit of completeness. On the other hand, and by reason, perhaps, of the very boldness they have shown in introducing the novelty, they cling with remarkable tenacity to the errors we have noted in previous Calendars. They still continue to mislead their readers by announcing that the Lodges and Chapters meet, as the case may be, on the 1st Monday, last Wednesday, 2nd Tuesday, that is, of course in every month, whereas it is well known that a vast number of Lodges meet at the outside not more than eight times in the year, and many of them on still fewer occasions, while Chapters generally meet only once a quarter. As the Board of General Purposes and, of course, its Calendar Committee have access to the official records, there is no excuse for the repetition of this error in future Calendars. Again, Lodges Nos. 3, 5, 7, 9, 11, 13 and 15 are still distinguished by the letters T.I. (Time Immemorial) placed against them in the column provided for "Dates of Origin." Has the Calendar Committee lost sight of the fact that in 1717 there were only four Lodges which took part in the establishment of G.L.; that one of these about 1721-2 voluntarily sacrificed its original, or, as we should say, "Time Immemorial" Constitution, and sought and obtained a Warrant from Grand Lodge, while a second died out a little before, or just about, the time when the Schism broke out in English Masonry; that only two T.I. Lodges remain, one other, though still surviving, being a warranted Lodge, and, consequently, that to describe Lodges, whose earliest record dates no further back than 17th July 1751 as T.I. Lodges, is in the face of it absurd. Then, in Bro. Gould's "Atholl Lodges," under present No. 15, we have the following: "The Warrant of No. 8"—its number on the roll of the "Ancients" seems to have been the first issued by the "Ancients," and was signed by the Masters of Nos, 3, 4, 5, and 6 in 1751, in favour of James Bradshaw M., Thomas Blower S.W., and R. D. Guest J.W." We should like to be informed by the Calendar Committee—at all events in the case of present No. 15—how it can possibly be a Time Immemorial Lodge, when it has worked from the very commencement under a Warrant issued in a year that can be determined by reference to old records. Moreover, the "places"—in one instance the word "Warrant" is used—and nearly all these so-called T.I. Lodges were at some time or other purchased by Lodges lower down on the roll of the "Ancient" Grand Lodge. We should like to hear what Bro. Gould, who is himself on the Calendar Committee, has to say in defence of the Committee's designation of these Lodges.

As to the general appearance of the Calendar, the arrangement of its contents, and its accuracy—except where questioned as above—we have nothing but praise to bestow.

If we have but few remarks to offer in respect of this excellent publication, it is because it has been so greatly improved during the last few years that little, if any, room is left for the introduction of further improvements. Greater accuracy is noticeable in the days of meeting set down for Lodges and Chapters, because there has been more time to get in the necessary returns. The same prominence is given, and deservedly given, to the Mark degree, though all degrees outside pure and antient Masonry have their share of attention. The information as to Masonry abroad appears to us to be more complete. In short, the "Cosmo" of 1883 is pretty much what it was for 1882, and that because there had been so many improvements made up to and including the latter year, that no room was left for amending old matter or introducing new in the former. The "Cosmo" in its thirteenth year of publication is about as complete a vade mecum for all branches of Freemasonry as it is possible for any one to compile, and we congratulate Bro. Kenning and the Editor on the continued excellence of their work.

The Restoration of the Jews, and the Rebuilding of King Solomon's Temple. By Bro. C. Meiter, Mizpah, 1671, &c. Published by the Author, at 87 Gracechurch Street, London, E.C. Price One Shilling.

Bro. Meiter has our entire sympathy in his hopes and aspirations for the Restoration of the Jews to the Holy Land, and the rebuilding of King Solomon's Temple. His pamphlet is interesting, and contains abundant matter for reflection by those who have studied carefully the history of this marvellous people. His remarks as to the persecution they have latterly met with—especially in Russia—are by no means too severe; indeed it would be difficult to speak in terms of sufficient severity of the cruelties they have been subjected to within the past year or two by the semi-barbarous Russians. Brother Meiter, however, has held his feelings well under control, and discusses his subject calmly and with great reason, as well as with the exercise of much judgment.

Larger London. By Edward Walford. A Sequel to Old and New London. To be completed in Twenty-four numbers. Published monthly.

The first number of this periodical, published in their usually efficient style by Messrs. Cassell and Co., is now before the public. It is the commencement of a work to be issued in serial form, that will contain a history of the outlying parts of London, such as Chiswick, Acton, Gunnersbury, &c. Such a work will doubtless prove very interesting and useful, as, in addition to giving a history and description of the places of interest touched upon, and of the eminent men and women who have from time to time visited, and been resident in, the districts described, it is illustrated throughout; in many instances with sketches of considerable artistic merit, with views of numerous places of interest referred to in the work. Accompanying Part 1. is a large and useful map of "Larger London."

The same publishers also send us their "Illustrated Almanac for 1883," which contains, in addition to ordinary almanac matter, an interesting contribution called "Dark Days, a Story of Light," by Mr. G. Manville Fenn; short biographies of some of the most notable men of the year, with portraits, including Arabi Pasha, the Duke of Albany, Cetewayo, and other equally prominent personages. Also an obituary of eminent men who departed this life between 1881-1882.

We have to notice "Little Folks' Annual for 1883." This is a series of stories about kindness to animals, the various authors of which make the birds and animals their own advocates. These no doubt will amuse the Little Folks very much, and will serve as a suitable Christmas Present to many of our young friends. This Annual is illustrated by various well-known artists, including the versatile Ernest Griset.

"The World of Wonders," also by the same eminent firm, contains many interesting articles, amongst others, on the Rotation of the Earth, Extraordinary Growth of Finger Nails, Ice and Water, the Suez Canal, Electric Machines, &c. In addition, the work contains a variety of illustrations.

The London Cottage Mission opened its winter campaign on Wednesday with the first of its Irish stew dinners to the poor children of Eastern London; and long before noon—at which hour the doors were opened—the hungry hundreds were waiting outside for what was very likely the first really good meal they had since its doors were closed last May. Mr. Austin, the indefatigable manager of this excellent charity, had hoped to give the opening dinner in the New Hall now almost completed, but as a week or two must elapse before he takes formal possession of the future home of the Mission, he kindly and thoughtfully decided to begin at once to feed those little waifs and strays of humanity who look forward winter after winter to their weekly dinner of Irish Stew. Not only were many hundreds of children fed and sent happy away, but it was a sight to see the old and infirm creep in and take possession of the benches the little ones had just left, they too partaking of a warm and nourishing dinner. But what is wanted is to get the New Hall free from debt, so that there the work of the Mission may be carried on; for, admirable and Christian-like as feeding the hungry may be, it only forms part of the work of the Mission. To aid in this work—to feed the hungry—to carry to the masses of Eastern London the glad tidings of salvation—we now appeal for help, and as soon as the London Cottage Mission Hall is free from debt, and in Mr. Austin's hands, this good work will be much increased. That this will be ere the New Year sets in, we do not doubt, but meanwhile, all who would help are earnestly requested to send their donations and subscriptions to Miss Napton, the Lady Superintendent, 304 Burdett Road Limehouse, or to Mr. Walter Austin, 44 Finsbury Pavement, London, E.C.

The brethren then duly elected Bro. Airs S.W. as W.M. for the ensuing year. Bro. Butler Wilkins was also again duly elected Treasurer. A vote of five guineas to the daughter of an old brother was confirmed, and another application referred to a committee. The installation meeting will take place on Thursday, the 4th January, and not on the 27th December, as in former years.

Grey Friars Lodge, No. 1101.—A regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Wednesday, the 13th instant, at the Masonic Hall, Reading. Present—Bros. The Lodge was opened in the second. Bro. W. Margrett being a candidate for raising to the third, proved his efficiency, was entrusted, and retired. The Lodge was further advanced, when the W.M. resigned his gavel into the hands of Brother Margrett P.M., who in his usual efficient and impressive manner raised his Brother to the sublime degree of M.M. The ceremony was admirably performed, the effect being greatly heightened by vocal and instrumental music under the direction of Brother Ravenscroft, who presided at the instrument, Brother Westall led the vocal parts. The W.M. on resuming the chair proposed three non-official members on the permanent committee, the S.W. seconded, and this was carried. The W.M. read a letter from the Almoner, respecting a brother in distress, a sum was voted for his relief. All business being ended, Lodge was closed and adjourned.

Eboracum Lodge, No. 1611.—On Monday night there was a full meeting of the members of this Lodge, including Bros. M. Millington W.M., J. Blenkin S.W., A. T. B. Turner J.W., T. B. Whytehead P.M., J. S. Cumberland P.M., J. T. Seller P.M., G. Balmford P.M. and Treasurer, T. Humphries Sec., with several visitors. A ballot was taken for Bro. Reynard, 1040, as a joining member, after which Messrs. Plenty and Elliott, previously elected, were initiated by the W.M. A discussion ensued as to a proposed alteration in the Bye-laws, at the conclusion of which Bro. Whytehead presented a series of books to the Lodge library, for which a vote of thanks was passed. The names of three gentlemen were proposed as candidates for Freemasonry, and the Lodge was closed. At refreshment there was a most pleasurable gathering, enlivened as usual by a musical performance, the excellent programme containing the names of Bros. Wilkinson, Child, and Mennell. The principal Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured.

Ebrington Lodge, No. 1847.—The annual meeting of the above Lodge was held at the Ebrington Masonic Temple on Tuesday, 12th inst. After two candidates for initiation had been elected, and a Committee had been appointed to arrange all the details for the annual banquet, Worshipful Brother Lethbridge was unanimously elected to represent the Lodge at the Committee of Petitions for Prov. G.L. Afterwards, in a Board of Installed Masters—consisting of W. Bros. Jew, Gover, Lose sen., Stephens, Lethbridge, Littleton, Johns, Aitken-Davies, Lakeman, Westcott, Russell Lord, Pitcher, Hearle, Pearce, Bartlett, Elliott, Stanbury, Hammond, the W.M. elect, Brother Richard Lose jun., was very impressively installed by his father Bro. R. Lose, who also initiated him some years since, and both brethren were founders of the Lodge. Bros. Jew, Gover, and Lord gave valuable assistance. The following Officers were appointed for the ensuing year:—Charles A. Nicholson I.P.M., Isaac Masters S.W., James Lose J.W., S. Jew Treasurer, J. H. Stephens Secretary, Joseph J. Garland Chaplain, R. Hurrell S.D., R. J. Goodyear J.D., Isaac Morris I.G., William H. W. Macey M.C., W. H. Williams A.M.C., John Griffin Organist, James J. Masters S.S., Thomas Geach J.S., James Bartlett Tyler. The accounts of the Treasurer, which were admirably presented, were received, and they showed a good year's work, the Charities having been well looked after. The retiring W.M. will be presented with a handsome timepiece, in appreciation of his services. This will take place at the dinner, to be held on 9th January 1883.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—A certain remedy for diseases of the skin. Ringworm, scurvy, scrofula or king's evil, sore heads, and the most inveterate skin diseases to which the human race is subject, cannot be treated with a more safe and speedy remedy than Holloway's Ointment and Pills, which act so peculiarly on the constitution, and so purify the blood, that those diseases are eradicated from the system, and a lasting cure is obtained. They are efficacious in the cure of tumours, burns, scalds, glandular swellings, ulcerous wounds, rheumatism, contracted and stiff joints. These medicines act mildly and surely. The cure effected by them is not temporary or apparent only, but complete and permanent.
