EPOCHS seem to sit down to a certain task. Not all forms of industry are pursued with equal thought and fervour. Even had sin and vice not entered into the nature and problems of society, we should still have had a progress of impulsers and of idleness; for as good men are creatures of inspiration and of repose and lassitude, so good nations would have advanced by unequal steps. Man, sinful or holy, is of varying enthusiasm, and may dash onward for a time, and then be smitten with the spirit of peace. The best souls have a flow and ebb like the sea. Sin and vice have modified the phenomena of mankind, but they have not created them. By decree of his Maker man hurls himself onward and then rests. Hence all society presents the two scenes of amazing industry and amazing inaction. It is probable that as the mind advances the hours of idleness will diminish in number, and those great deserts in history, on which no live or sweet thing grew, will be narrowed, and the area of life and verdure will be correspondingly enlarged. Rest will never be displaced, for it is that condition of contrast which is demanded in all the pictures of moral beauty. We could as easily think of light without shade as of labour without repose.

The Hebrew age, with its Moses at one end and its Jesus Christ at the other, was man at a special task. Egypt and other adjoining nations were busy over the same general work, that of struggling with the mysteries of religion. The nations were all theocracies, the philosophies theologies, and the sciences were all coloured with the supernatural, and most of the learned men were priests. The air and land and sea were in the possession of superhuman creatures full of evil or good. In that long day the foundations of worship were slowly but dreply laid. The human mind, unable to do two things at the same time, unable to serve two masters, was faithful to a certain study of the invincible, and neglected many possible paths that it might ornament and measure and frequent a favourite road. It was a via sacra for many generations. Egypt built chiefly temples because God was the theme of most thought; it embalmed the dead of mankind and of the domestic animals because its mind was possessed by the hereafter of the forms of life.

Meanwhile the sun-worshippers were as busy over their forms of inquiry and worship and belief. Their temples are among the most impressive ruins upon earth. These tremendous aggregations of steps and platforms and columns arose in the name of a moral system that resembled that of the New Testament of later date. The oldest parts of the Zend Avesta lie alongside the best days of Egypt and Judea. From what we can learn in history, man first toiled in the field of religion and left untouched many areas of thought and feeling upon the right and left. This made up a great day in the construction of society. The morning and evening brought about a great result.

The classic nations were just as incapable of doing several works at one time; and accepting of the religious toil undergone by others, they concentrated upon the beautiful. They carried onward the arts, including literature as an art. Greece became a noble specialist. It discovered many laws of taste, it applied many. It is not probable that Egypt or Judea or Persia, could paint a good portrait, or hew out a symmetrical statute, or write a good poem, or construct a great oration, or compose a complete tragedy. Greece as much founded the fine arts as Jerusalem founded religion or the Romans the principles of law. Greece studied the human face and form. And having reached a conception of the eternal beauty it demanded that by means of exercise and diet and manners, its living men and women should be specimens of grace and power. Following her special sense Greece fashioned a literature as full of grace as were her statues and columns, and she had as many poets as painters, as many rhythmical orators as skilled sculptors. Her statesmen were literati, her generals were scholars and students, her war was part of her fine art. Her evening and morning were another day in the sublime drama of creation. In those long and rich hours something arose up out of the face of the great deep—something beautiful, not destined to sink again, but to be the property of the human family for ever. The beautiful in Rome was a continuation of Greece, and the beautiful which re-appeared under the Medici family was only a resurrection of the soul of Athens.

It may be the special calling of our age to act as a reviewer of all the past. The thousands of years gone have thrown together an immense quantity of things. The quality of much is poor, of much good. Perhaps this is a day of reckoning and of general review—a preparation for a new advance. It is, at least, difficult to believe that a century so full of liberty and education and power is cast upon any trifling errand. In mind and energy the greatest of all periods it must contain within its hidden heart a mission worthy of its power. A part of its task evidently may be found in its ability to subject the forces of nature to the uses of man. It is helping man master the powers of the land and sea and air. It is making fifty years equal to a hundred of the older times. Each modern life is equal to at least two old lives as lived in the seventeenth century. If our age is now making the physical powers to spring forward equal to the new intellect it is living a worthy life. The morning and evening are making another day, and the Creator will call it good.

Thus in outline a moral creation is seen as now taking place. We are all in the midst of the sublime scene carrying onward the task and carried also by it toward a far off destiny. We shall not live here to see the conclusion of the whole tumult and to join in any perfect triumph; but to look down upon such pageants must be a reason and joy of immortality.

God is still creating the moral world. Each Nation has been the hurling forward of a similar column. No part of the living host retreats as beaten. The advance is in successive waves. As in the farther north the white and red shafts of the Aurora begin in the evening to shoot upward a little above the horizon, and withdraw only to climb still higher as the hours pass, and after long reaching and blazing meet in the zenith and form an impressive crown, so these many branches of mortal thought and love and action are cast forward and upward, all pointing to some final glory of man and God. All the worthy children of God will see the matchless splendour of the mind and soul, for God is not a God of the dead, but of the living. In Him all live.—Masonic Review.

On Saturday last there died at Leytonstone, in Essex, a Freemason who will be remembered by the brethren as worthy of all the honour that Lodges and Chapters have conferred upon him. Thomas Barford, who then, in his 54th year, ceased to exist, was a member of whom the Fraternity may justly be proud. His original social position was of the very humblest; he had no one to assist him; and yet, by intelligence, industry, honesty, and perseverance, he became a man of considerable importance, influence, and wealth. Of quiet, retired, and unassuming manners, he pursued his calling with seemingly no desire to assert himself, while his geniality and liberality won for him friends who saw that in all he did there was no self-seeking. He was a Past Master and one of the oldest members of the Constitutional Lodge, No. 55, and, besides this, he belonged to other Lodges, as well as Royal Arch Chapters. He was a supporter of all the Masonic Institutions, and was a living and moving spirit in every Masonic association with which he identified himself.—Evening News.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Indigestion, Stomach, and Liver Complaints.—Persons suffering from any derangements of the liver, stomach, or the organs of digestion should have recourse to Holloway's Pills, as there is no medicine known that acts on these particular complaints with such certain success. Its peculiar properties purify and regulate the circulation, strengthen the stomach, increase the appetite and rouse the sluggish liver. It is invaluable to dyspeptics, restoring the patient to the soundest health and strength. These aperients may be used at all times and in all climates by persons affected by biliousness, flatulency, colic, nausea, or disordered liver; for heartburn, water-pangs, and sick-headaches, they are specifics. Indeed, no ailment of the digestive organs can long resist their purifying and corrective powers.

Digitized by Google

DIARY FOR THE WEEK.

We shall be obliged if the Secretaries of the various Lodges throughout the Kingdom will favour us with a list of their Days of Meetings, &c., as we have decided to insert only those that are verified by the Officers of the several Lodges.

—:o:—

SATURDAY, 29th SEPTEMBER.

186—Percy, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., at 8 (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7 (Instruction)
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-st., W., at 8
1462—Wharncliffe, Rose and Crown Hotel Penistone

MONDAY, 1st OCTOBER.

22—Loughborough, Cambria Tavern, Cambria Road, near Loughborough Junction, at 7.30. (Instruction)
25—Robert Burns, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
45—Strong Man, Excise Tavern, Old Broad Street, E.C., at 7 (Instruction)
69—Unity, Inns of Court Hotel, Lincolns Inn Fields
73—Royal Jubilee, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
144—St. Luke, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
174—Sincerity, Railway Tavern, Railway Place, Fenchurch Street, at 7. (In)
180—St. James's Union, Union Tavern, Air-street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
188—Industry, Bell, Carter-lane, Doctors-commons, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
198—Jopps, Freemasons' Tavern, W.C.
548—Wellington, White Swan, High-street, Deptford, at 8 (Instruction)
1495—Hyde Park, Fountain Abbey Hotel, Praed Street, Paddington, at 8 (In).
1498—Marquess of Ripon, Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-rd., Hackney, at 7.30 (In)
1507—Metropolitan, The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C. at 7.30 (Inst.)
1608—Kilburn, 46 South Molton Street, Oxford Street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
1699—West Smithfield, Farringdon Hotel, Farringdon-street, E.C. at 8 (Inst.)
1625—Trafalgar, Royal Hotel, Mile End Road
1669—Royal Leopold, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
1699—Kingsland, Cock Tavern, Highbury N., at 8.30 (Instruction)
1691—St. Ambrose, Baron's Court Hotel West Kensington. (Instruction)
R.A. 29—Old King's Arms, Freemasons Tavern, W.C.
R.A. 933—Doric, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 7. (Instruction)
R.A. 1056—Victoria, Masons' Hall, Masons'-avenue

37—Anchor and Hope, Freemasons' Hall, Church Institute, Bolton-le-Moors
59—Royal Sussex, Masonic Hall, Old Orchard-street, Bath
119—Sun, Square, and Compasses, Freemasons' Hall, College-st., Whitehaven
193—Harmony, Rising Sun Hotel, Faversham
154—Unanimity, Masonic Hall, Zetland-street, Wakefield
188—Harmony, Hurshe Masonic Temple, Plymouth
199—Peace and Harmony, Royal Oak Hotel, Dover
296—York, Masonic Hall, York
338—Vitruvian, Royal Hotel, Ross, Herefordshire
381—Harmony and Industry, Spaller's Hotel, Market street, Over Darwen
393—Royal Union, Chenners Hotel, Uxbridge. (Instruction)
395—Guy, Crown Hotel, Leamington Priors
431—St. George, Masonic Hall, Norfolk-street, N. Shields
441—Three Grand Principles, Red Lion Hotel, Petty Curry, Cambridge
469—St. James's, Masonic Rooms, Wretham Road, Handsworth, Staffordshire
507—St. Cybi, Town Hall, Holyhead
804—St. Cuthberga, Masonic Hall, Wimborne
894—Oakley, Masonic Hall, Church Street, Basingstoke
897—Preston, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7.30. (Instruction)
950—St. Oswald, Town Hall, Ashbourne, Derbyshire
1009—Shakespeare, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester
1045—Stamford, Town Hall, Altrincham, Cheshire
1060—Grindlaid, King's Head Hotel, Rochester
1061—Rowley, Athenæum, Lancaster
1077—Witton, Red Lion Inn, Blackley, Lancashire
1108—Royal Wharfedale, Private Room, Barnbrough-gate, Otley, Yorks
1124—St. Oswald, Wynnstay Arms Hotel, Oswestry
1190—Forward, Masonic Rooms, New Hall-street, Birmingham
1211—Goderich, Masonic Hall, St. George-street, Leeds
1230—Wentworth, Freemasons' Hall, Sheffield.
1264—Neptune, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.
1309—De Warren, Masonic Hall, White Swan Hotel, Halifax
1380—Skelmersdale, Queen's Hotel, Waterloo, Liverpool
1449—Royal Military, Masonic Hall, Canterbury, at 8. (Instruction)
1510—Albert Edward, Albion Hotel, Clayton-le-Moors, near Accrington
1578—Cambrian, Masonic Hall, Caer-street, Swansea
1579—Marlin, New Inn Hotel, Pontypridd, South Wales
1674—Cambrian, Masonic Hall, Bank Buildings, Sussex Street, Rhyl
1678—St. Nicholas, Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-street, Newcastle
1700—Zion, Holme Town Hall, Manchester
R.A. 283—Salopian, The Lion Hotel, Shrewsbury
R.A. 312—Britannia, Masonic Hall, John Street, West Cliff, Whitby
R.A. 890—Integrity, Masonic Temple, Morley
R.A. 87—Holmesdale, Royal Sussex Hotel, Tunbridge Wells
M.M. 87—Wyndham, Masonic Hall, Church-street, Basingstoke.
R.C.—Skelmersdale, Masonic Hall, Liverpool

TUESDAY, 2nd OCTOBER.

Colonial Board, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
7—Royal York of Perseverance, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
9—Albion, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
55—Constitutional, Radford Hotel, Southampton-bldgs., Holborn, at 7 (Inst)
65—Prosperity, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7. (Instruction)
101—Temple, Ship and Turtle Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C.
141—Faith, 2 Westminster Chambers, Victoria-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
173—Old Concord, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
177—Domatic, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30 (Instruction)
188—Jopps, Champion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, at 7.30. (Instruction)
217—Stability, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon Stepney (Instruction)
753—Prince Frederick William, Eagle Tavern, Clifton Road, Maida Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
765—St. James, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark
890—Dalhousie Sisters' Tavern, Prowall-road, Dalston at 8 (Instruction)
1044—Wandsworth, Star and Garter Hotel St. Ann's Hill, Wandsworth (Inst.)
1257—Grosvenor, Freemasons' Hall, St. Queen-street, W.C.
1259—Duke of Edinburgh, Cape of Good Hope Tavern, Commercial Road
1288—Royal Standard, Club, Upper-street, Islington
1340—Friars, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1360—Royal Arthur, Rock Tavern, Battersea Park Road, at 8. (Instruction)
1381—Kennington, Horns Tavern, Kennington
1397—Anerley, Thicket Hotel, Anerley
1446—Mount Edgcumbe, 19 Jermen-street, S.W., at 8 (Instruction)
1471—Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, at 7 (Instruction)
1472—Hengler, Three Crowns, Woolwich
1541—Chaucer, Old White Hart, Borough High Street, at 8. (Instruction)
1559—D Connaught, Palmerston Arms, Grosvenor Park, Camberwell, at 8 (In)
1602—Sir Hugh Middleton, Queen's Head, Essex Road, N., at 8.30 (In)
1662—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Walthamstow
1682—Kingsland, Old Cock Tavern, Highbury-corner, Islington
1685—New Finsbury Park, Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, at 8 (Inst)
1707—Eleanor, Trocadero, Broad-street-buildings, Liverpool-street, 6.30 (Inst)
1949—Brixton, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, East Brixton, at 8. (Instruction)
Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, 6.30
R.A. 169—Temperance, White Swan Tavern, Deptford
R.A. 1325—Clapton, White Hart Tavern, Clapton, at 8. (Instruction)
R.A. 1539—St. Martins-le-Grand, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street

70—St. John, Hurshe Masonic Temple, Plymouth
103—Beaufort, Freemasons' Hall, Bristol.
120—Palladian, Green Dragon Hotel, Hereford.
124—Marquis of Granby, Freemasons' Hall, Old Elvet, Durham
139—Adams, Masonic Rooms, Victoria Hall, Trinity-road, Sheerness
209—Etonian, Masonic Hall, Windsor
226—Benevolence, Red Lion Hotel, Littleborough.
241—Merchants, Masonic Hall, Liverpool (Instruction)
249—True Love and Unity, Freemasons' Hall, Brixham, Devon
285—Royal Yorkshire, Masonic Club, Hanover-street, Keighley
315—Royal York, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
387—Cambrian, Masonic Hall, Neath.
393—St. David, Masons' Hall, The Parade, Berwick
493—Royal Lebanon, Spread Eagle, Gloucester
559—Temple, Town Hall, Folkestone.
879—St. John, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.
895—Northumberland, Assembly Rooms, Westgate-road, Newcastl
902—Sherborne, Subscription Rooms, Stroud, Gloucestershire
971—Londesborough, Masonic Hall, Bridlington Quay.
994—Warden, Royal Hotel, Sutton Coldfield
994—Carnarvon, Masonic Hall, Havant.
947—Fortescue, Manor House, Honiton, Devon.
949—St. Barnabas, Masonic Room, Linslade, Leighton Buzzard
960—Ruta, Masonic Hall, 9 Working-street, Cardiff.
995—Furness, Masonic Hall, Ulverston.
1002—Skiddaw, Lodge Room, Market-place, Cockermouth.
1131—Newall, Freemasons' Hall, Salford.
1141—Marwood, Freemasons' Hall, Redcar.
1210—Harrow, King's Head, Harrow.
1299—Waverley, Caledonia Inn, Ashton-under-Lyne.
1356—Square and Compass, Corn Exchange, Wrexham.
1473—Bootle, 146 Berry-street, Bootle, at 8. (Instruction.)
1488—St. Elath, Castle Hotel, Amlwch, Anglesea
1750—Coleridge, Sandringham House, Clevedon.
R.A. 203—St. John of Jerusalem, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.
R.A. 809—Sincerity Freemasons' Hall, Salem-street, Bradford
R.A. 845—Humphrey Chetham, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper Street, Manchester
R.A. 1611—Eboracum, Queen's Hotel, York
M.M. 11—Joppa, 55 Argyle-street, Birkenhead
M.M. 89—United Service, Assembly Rooms, Brompton, Chatham.
M.M. 161—Walton, Skelmersdale Masonic Hall, Kirkdale, Liverpool

WEDNESDAY, 3rd OCTOBER.

15—Kent, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
30—United Mariners', The Lugard, Peckham, at 7.30. (Instruction)
78—Mount Lebanon, Horse Shoe Inn, Newington Causeway, at 8. (Inst)
108—Confidence, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, at 7.30 (Instruction)
228—United Strength, Prince Alfred, 13 Crowndale-rd., Camden-town, 8 (In)
511—Zetland, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
538—La Tolerance, Morland's Hotel, Dean Street, Oxford St. at 8 (Inst)
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7 (Instruction)
781—Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, E. (Instruction)
813—New Concord, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. (Instruction)
847—Bullington, Red Lion, Punnin's-court, Fleet-street, at 8 (Instruction)
1278—Burdett Coutts, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel Road, E., at 8. (Inst.)
1298—Finsbury Park Cock Tavern, Highbury, at 8 (Instruction)
1391—Emblematic, Goat and Star, Swallow Street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
1455—Prince Leopold, Moorgate Tavern, Moorgate Street, at 7 (Instruction)
1475—Peckham, Lord Wellington Hotel, 518 Old Kent-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1491—Athenæum, Athenæum, Camden Road, N.
1594—Duke of Connaught, Royal Edward, Mare-street, Hackney, at 8 (Inst)
1595—Royal Commemoration, Fox and Hounds Hotel, Up. Richmond-rd. S.W.
1601—Wanderers, Adam and Eve Tavern, Palmer St., Westminster, at 7.30 (In)
1669—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow, at 7.30 (Inst.)
1697—The Rothesay, Inns of Court Hotel, Lincoln's Inn Fields
1766—St. Leonard, Town Hall, Shoreditch
1791—Creaton, Prince Albert Tavern, Portobello-ter., Notting-hill-gate (Inst.)
1922—Earl of Lathom, Station Hotel, Camberwell New Road, S.E., at 8. (In.)
R.A.—Camden, The Boston, Junction Road, Holloway, at 8.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 55—Constitutional, Private Rooms, Leytonstone
R.A. 177—Domatic, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-st., at 8 (Instruction)
R.A. 1328—Granite, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 1549—St. Duncan's, Anderton's Hotel, E.C.
M.M.—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, at 8 (Instruction)
M.M. 199—Duke of Connaught, Haverlock, Albion-rd., Dalston, at 8.30 (Inst.)
K.T. 129—Holy Palest, 33 Golden Square, W.

71—Athol, Masonic Hall, Severn-street, Birmingham
209—Harmony, Masonic Rooms, Ann-street, Rochdale
298—Moira, Freemasons' Hall, Park-street, Bristol
327—Wynton St. John, Lion and Lamb, Winton
408—Northern Counties, Freemasons' Hall, Manle-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne
417—Faith and Unanimity, Masonic Hall, Dorchester
429—Royal Navy, Royal Hotel, Ramsgate
471—Silurian, Freemasons' Hall, Dock-street, Newport, Monmouthshire
594—Downshire, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7. (Instruction)
811—Marches, Old Rectory, Ludlow
845—Humphrey Chetham, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester.
873—St. John, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8 (Instruction)
874—Earl Ellesmere, Church Hotel, Kersley, Farnworth, near Bolton.
889—Franklin, Peacock and Royal Hotel, Boston
972—St. Augustine, Masonic Hall, Canterbury. (Instruction)
992—St. Thomas, Griffin Hotel, Lower Broughton
1010—Kingston, Masonic Hall, Worship-street, Hull
1013—Royal Victoria, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1037—Portland, Portland Hall, Portland. (Instruction.)
1063—Malling Abbey, Bear Inn, West Malling, Kent
1065—Hartington, Masonic Hall, Gower-street, Derby
1091—Erme, Erme House Ivybridge, Devon
1147—Alnwick, Masonic Hall, Clayport-street, Alnwick
1206—Cinque Ports, Bell Hotel, Sandwich
127—Earl of Durham, Freemasons' Hall, Chester-le-Street
1323—Talbot, Masonic Rooms, Wind-street, Swansea
1335—Lindsay, 20 King-street, Wigan
1354—Marquis of Lorne, Masonic Rooms, Leigh, Lancashire
1356—De Grey and Ripon, 140 North Hill-street, Liverpool, at 7.30 (Inst)
1367—Tyndall, Town Hall, Chipping Sodbury, Gloucester
1431—St. Alphege, George Hotel, Solihull
1511—Alexandra, Hornsea, Hull (Instruction)
1519—Abercorn, Abercorn Hotel, Great Stanmore.
1540—Marlborough, Derby Hall, The Brook, Liverpool
1542—St. Leonards, Concert Rooms, St. Leonards-on-Sea
1903—Prince Edward of Saxe Weimar, Masonic Hall, Portsmouth
R.A. 54—Hope, Spread Eagle Inn, Cheetham Street, Rochdale
R.A. 221—St. John, Commercial Hotel, Town Hall Square, Bolton
R.A. 300—Perseverance, Pitt and Nelson Hotel, Ashton-under-Lyne
R.A. 804—Philanthropic, Masonic Hall, Great George Street, Leeds
R.A. 342—Royal Sussex, Masonic, 79 Commercial Road, Portsea
R.A. 477—Fidelity, 55 Argyle-street, Birkenhead
R.A. 1125—St. Peters, Masonic Hall, Fore Street, Tiverton
R.A. 1248—Denison, Grand Hotel, Scarborough
M.M. 36—Furness, Hartington Hotel, Duke-street, Barrow-in-Furness

THURSDAY, 4th OCTOBER.

3—Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-street, Fitzroy-sq., at 8 (Instruction)
27—Egyptian, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
27—Egyptian, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
45—Strong Man, Masons' Hall Tavern, Masons'-avenue, Basinghall-street.
87—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth, at 8 (Instruction)

Digitized by Google

147—Justice, Brown Bear, High Street, Dartford, at 8. (Instruction)
192—Lion and Lamb, City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street
227—Ionic, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall Street
435—Salisbury, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
538—La Tolerance Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney
701—Camden, Lincoln's Inn Restaurant, 305 High Holborn, at 7 (Instruction)
742—Crystal Palace, Crystal Palace, Sydenham
754—High Cross, Coach and Horses, Lower Tottenham, at 8 (Instruction)
901—City of London, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, at 6.30. (Instruction)
902—Burgoyne, Cock Tavern, St. Martin's-court, Ludgate-hill, at 6.30 (Inst)
1158—Southern Star, Pheasant, Stangate, Westminster-bridge, at 8 (Inst.)
1178—Perfect Ashlar, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark
1185—Lewis, Kings Arms Hotel, Wood Green, at 7 (Instruction)
1227—Upton, Swan, Bethnal Green-road, near Shoreditch, at 8 (Instruction)
1339—Stockwell, Cock Tavern, Kennington-road, at 7.30 (Instruction
1351—St. Clement Danes, 265 Strand
1426—The Great City, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
1539—Surrey Masonic Hall, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
1614—Covent Garden, Constitution, Red Lion-street, W.C., at 7.45 (Instruction)
1673—Langton, Mansion House Station Restaurant, E.C. at 8. (Instruction)
1677—Crusaders, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 9 (Inst.)
1765—Trinity College, 61 Weymouth Street
1772—Pimlico, Morpeth Arms Tavern, Millbank
1950—Southgate, Railway Hotel New Southgate, at 7.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 174—Shenstone, Cheshire Cheese Tavern, Crutched Friars
R.A. 753—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, at 8. (Inst.)
R.A. 1471—North London, Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, at 8. (Instruction)

24—Newcastle-on-Tyne, Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-st., Newcastle.
31—United Industrious, Masonic Room, Canterbury
38—Union, Council Chamber, Chichester
41—Royal Cumberland, Masonic Hall, Old Orchard-street, Bath
50—Knights of Malta, George Hotel, Hinckley, Leicestershire
123—Lennox, Freemasons' Hall, Richmond, Yorkshire
249—Mariners, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
254—Trinity, Craven Arms Hotel, Coventry
264—Naphtali, Masonic Hall, Market-place, Heywood
269—Fidelity, White Bull Hotel, Blackburn
289—Fidelity, Masonic Hall Carlton-hill, Leeds
294—Constitutional, Assembly Rooms, Beverley, Yorks
295—Combermere Union, Macclesfield Arms, Macclesfield
300—Minerva, Pitt and Nelson, Ashton-under-Lyne
309—Harmony, Red Lion, Fareham
317—Affability, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester.
380—Pomert, Abington Street, Northampton.
419—St. Peter, Star and Garter Hotel Wolverhampton.
425—Cestrian, Grosvenor Hotel Chester
446—Benevolent, Town Hall, Wells, Somersetshire.
509—Tees, Freemasons' Hall, Stockton, Durham.
637—Portland, Masonic Rooms Town Hall, Stoke-upon-Trent.
792—Pelham Pillar, Masonic Hall, Bullring-lane, Great Grimsby
974—Pentalpha, New Masonic Hall, Darley-street, Bradford
1012—Prince of Wales, Derby Hotel, Bury, Lancashire
1074—Underley, Masonic Room, Market-place, Kirkby Lonsdale
1182—Duke of Edinburgh, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1231—Savile, Royal Hotel, Elland
1282—Ancholme, Foresters' Hall, Brigg, Lincolnshire
1284—Brent, Globe Hotel, Totnham, Devonshire
1304—Olive Union, Masonic Hall, Horncastle, Lincolnshire
1387—Beaminster Manor, White Hart Hotel, Beaminster
1384—Equity, Alforde Chambers, Widnes
1473—Bootle, Town Hall, Bootle, Lancashire
1500—Walpole, Bell Hotel, Norwich
1504—Red Rose of Lancaster, Starkie's Arms Hotel, Padiham, near Burnley
1513—Friendly, King's Head Hotel, Barnsley
1590—Cranbourne, Red Lion Hotel, Hatfield, Herts, at 8 (Instruction)
1639—Watling-street, Cock Hotel, Stoney Stratford, Bucks
1807—Loyal Wye, Builth, Breconshire
1829—Burrell, George Hotel, Shoreham
R.A. 187—Charity, Freemasons' Hall, Park Street, Bristol
R.A. 429—Thanet, Royal Hotel, Ramsgate
R.A. 581—Rectitude, Corporation Hotel, Tipping-st., Ardwick, Openshaw, Man
R.A. 758—Bridgewater, Freemasons' Hall, Runcorn, Cheshire
R.A. 1016—Elkington, Masonic Hall, New-street Birmingham
R.A. 1074—Beneficence, Masonic Rooms, Kirkby, Lonsdale
M.M. 53—Britannia, Freemasons' Hall, Sheffield
M.M. 158—Rose and Thistle, 20 King-street, Wigan

FRIDAY, 5th OCTOBER.

Metropolitan Masonic Benevolent Association, 155 Fleet-street, E.C. at 8.30.
Emulation Lodge of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
25—Robert Burns, The North Pole, 115 Oxford-street, W., at 8 (Instruc.)
144—St. Luke, White Hart, King's-road, Chelsea, at 7.30. (Instruction)
507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30. (Instruct.)
706—Florence Nightingale, Masonic Hall, William Street, Woolwich
766—William Preston, St. Andrew's Tavern, George St., Baker St., at 8 (In.)
780—Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge. (Instruction)
834—Ranelagh, Six Bells, Hammersmith (Instruction)
890—Hornsey, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
933—Doric, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1056—Metropolitan, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. at 7. (Instruction)
1158—Belgrave, Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
1298—Royal Standard, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, at 8. (In.)
1365—Clapton, White Hart, Lower Clapton, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1489—Marquess of Ripon, Metropolitan Societies Asylum, Balls Pond Road
1627—Royal Kensington, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1642—E. Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
1716—All Saints, Town Hall, Poplar
1789—Ubique, Guardsman Army Coffee Tavern, Buckingham Palace-road, S.W., at 7.30. (Instruction)
1815—Penge, Thicket Hotel, Anerley
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich. (Instruction)
R.A. 65—Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall St.
R.A. 79—Pythagorean, Portland Hotel, London-street, Greenwich. (Inst.)
M.M.—Old Kent, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, E.C. (Instruction)
M.M. 8—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, W.C.

44—Friendship, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester
81—Doric, Private Room, Woodbridge, Suffolk.
127—Union, Freemasons' Hall, Margate
219—Prudence, Masonic Hall, Todmorden.
242—St. George, Guildhall, Doncaster.
306—Alfred, Masonic Hall, Kelsall-street, Leeds
375—Lambton, Lambton Arms, Chester-le-street, Durham
432—St. Peter, Masonic Hall, Peterborough
453—Chigwell, Prince's Hall, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30 (Instruction)
521—Truth, Freemasons' Hall, Fitzwilliam-street, Huddersfield.
539—St. Matthew, Dragon Hotel, Walsall.
574—Loyal Berkshire of Hope, White Hart Hotel, Newbury
601—St. John, Wrekin Hotel, Wellington, Salop
680—Sefton, Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool
702—Invicta, Bank-street Hall, Ashford
83 —De Grey and Ripon, Town Hall, Ripon
839—Royal Gloucestershire, Bell Hotel, Gloucester
998—Welchpool, Railway Station, Welchpool
1096—Lord Warden, Wellington Hall Deal
1333—Athelstan, Town Hall, Atherstone, Warwick.
1387—Chorlton, Masonic Rooms, Chorlton Cum Hardy
1393—Hamer, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
1628—Fort Masonic Hall, Newquay, Cornwall.
1657—Albert Edward, Bush Hotel, Hexham.
1661—Morecambe, Masonic Hall, Edward-street, Morecambe, Lancashire.
1668—Prince of Wales, Freemasons' Hall, Salem-street, Bradford.
1664—Gosforth, Freemasons' Hall, High street, Gosforth
General Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, at 7
R.A.—General Chapter of Improvement, Masonic Hall, Birmingham
R.A. 61—Sincerity, Freemasons' Hall, St. Jonh's Place, Halifax
R.A. 350—Peace, Freemasons' Hall, Albion Terrace, Southampton
R.A. 1466—Hova Villa, Old Ship Hotel, Brighton

SATURDAY, 6th OCTOBER.

General Committee Boys' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
198—Percy, Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N., 8. (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7. (Instruction)
1572—Carnarvon, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street
1559—New Cross, New Cross Hall, New Cross
1622—Rose, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
824—Eccleston, King's Head, Knare Bridge Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1946—Brixton, Brixton Hall, Acre Lane, Brixton
Royal Chapter of Improvement, Union Air-street, Regent-street, W. at 8.
R.A. 173 Phœnix, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.

1194—Villiers, Albany Hotel, Twickenham
1273—Amherst, King's Arms Hotel, Westerham, Kent
1459—Truth, Private Rooms, Conservative Club, Newton Heath, Manchester
1466—Hova Ecclesia, Old Ship Hotel, Brighton
1567—Elliot, Railway Hotel, Feltham
R.A. 811—Yarborough, Old Ship Hotel Brighton

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:o:—

Justice Lodge of Instruction, No. 147.—On Thursday last, at the Brown Bear, High-street, Dartford. Bros. Moulder W.M., H. C. Freeman S.W., Pitt J.W., Speight Secretary, Church S.D., Greener J.D., J. W. Freeman I.G.; P.M.'s Hutchins Preceptor, Ingram, Penrose. After preliminaries, the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Greener candidate. The Lodge was closed to the first degree. Bro. W. Moulder, a P.M. of the Sydney Lodge, No. 892, was elected a member of the Lodge, and a vote of thanks accorded him for the able manner in which he had performed the duties of W.M. Lodge was then closed.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—Meeting on Saturday evening last, at the Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. There were present—The W. Bros. James Terry P.P.S.G.W. Norths and Hants W.M., G. Lambert P.G.S.B. S.W., Cohen P.M. 205 J.W., T. J. Bird W.M. 1837 P.P.G.S.B. Middlesex S.D., J. A. Powell J.D., Killick jun. P.G.S.B. Hertfordshire I.G., Pearcy Preceptor, C. Larkin Treasurer, Galer Secretar, and Rushton Organist. In addition there was a very large muster of brethren who had assembled to witness the rehearsal of the ceremonies of consecration and installation by so distinguished a Mason as Bro. Terry. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Lodge was opened in the second and third degrees. The Worshipful Master, Bro. James Terry, having addressed the brethren on the nature of the meeting, proceeded to rehearse the ceremony of consecration in a very effective manner. Lodge was then resumed to the second degree, and Bro. F. Orchard, W.M. of the mother Lodge, was presented as W.M. elect. The Lodge was resumed to the third degree, and Bro. Orchard having been installed into the chair of K.S., was duly saluted by the brethren in the three degrees, and the ceremony completed. The following brethren were unanimously elected members:—Bros. Carter of Lodge 45, Gilderstone 193, Carr 198, Langhton 1839, Jones 1278, Bean 1298, Baxter 1306, Ockelford 813, Callaghan 1208, Burrows 1347, D. Glass 212, Scarlett 1471, Jones 1766, Drysdale 1766, Clark 1766, Pringle 1275, Brampton 1693, and Coop 141. A very cordial vote of thanks was accorded to Bro. James Terry for his kindness in rehearsing the ceremonies of consecration and installation, and in reply Bro. Terry expressed his willingness at all times to do all he could for the benefit of Freemasonry, especially for the Percy Lodge of Instruction, as it was the first he ever attended. A cordial vote of thanks was also accorded to Bros. F. Orchard, Geo. Lambert, and F. Carr, Officers of the mother Lodge, who had so kindly honoured the brethren with their presence, thus showing the interest the mother Lodge takes in its offspring. Bro. Lambert P.G.S.B., in a lengthy and very interesting reply, referred to the different vicissitudes through which the Percy Lodge of Instruction had passed during its existence of nearly a century. Nothing further having offered for the good of Freemasonry, Lodge was closed in ancient form, and adjourned until 29th inst. The brethren subsequently resolved themselves into a harmonic party, thus closing a very enjoyable meeting. This may be chronicled as a red letter day in the history of the Lodge.

William Preston Lodge of Instruction, No. 766.—Held at the "St. Andrew," 70 George-street, Manchester-square, W., on Friday, 21st inst. This being Officers' night, Bro. W. Drake, W.M. of the mother Lodge, occupied the chair, assisted by Bros. W. J. Collens S.W., Braun P.M. J.W., Carsons S.D., A. C. Rees J.D., C. Pay I.G., H. Moore Secretary, G. Tribble Preceptor; also Bros. Wilson, Robinson, R. D. Smith, &c. After preliminaries, the ceremonies of initiation and passing were rehearsed, Bro. Smith being the candidate. Lodge was opened in the third degree, and closed down in due form. A vote of thanks was ordered to be entered on the minutes in compliment to the W.M. for his efficient working. The votes of the Lodge for the Girls' School were given in support of the candidature of Alice Garton West, whose late father was one of the earliest members of this Lodge of Instruction, and a Mason very highly respected by the brethren. The Lodge was closed, and adjourned to the following Friday, at the hour of 8, as usual.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—A meeting was held on Friday, the 21st inst., at the Star and Garter

Digitized by Google

Hotel, Kew Bridge. Present—Bros. Gunner W.M., Goss P.M. S.W., F. Botley J.W., Tucker W.M. 1612 Treasurer, C. E. Botley S.D., E. Monson J.D., Maton I.G. Past Masters Bros. Blasby, Andrews Preceptor, &c.; also Bros. Earl, Sherring, Flint, Geflowski, Treadaway Royal Standard, No. 1298, &c. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and signed. The ceremony of initiation was then rehearsed, Bro. Sherring acting as candidate. Lodge was opened in the second and third degrees, and the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. S. Flint candidate. Lodge was resumed to the first degree. On the proposition of Bro. F. Botley, the votes of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys belonging to the Lodge of Instruction were unanimously voted to Bro. Blasby, who is working for a candidate. Bro. C. E. Botley proposed, and Bro. Tucker seconded, that Bro. S Flint, of the Royal Alfred Lodge, be elected a member of this Lodge of Instruction. Bro. Geflowski proposed, and Bro. F. Botley seconded, that Brother Treadaway, of the Royal Standard Lodge, No. 1298, become a member. Both these brethren were unanimously elected. Brother F. Botley was elected W.M. for the next meeting. Lodge was closed and adjourned till Friday, the 5th October; Friday, the 28th inst. being the installation meeting of the mother Lodge.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—Held at Bro. Smyth's, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston, on Tuesday. Present—Bros. A. J. Clark W.M., Watkinson S.W., Cushing J.W., Christian S.D., Baker J.D., Smyth I.G., F. Carr Sec., Wallington Preceptor; also Bros. Lorkin, Marsh, Catlin, Olley, Wardell, Hunt, and Crowger. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Wardell candidate. The Lodge was called off, and afterwards resumed its Masonic duties by the W.M. opening the Lodge in the second and third degrees, and resuming in the second. Bro. A. J. Clark then vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Wallington, who rehearsed the ceremony of installation, placing Bro. Smyth into the chair of K.S. Bro. Smyth invested the Officers. Bro. Wallington then gave the addresses in a most perfect manner. Bro. Hunt, of the Loyalty Lodge 1607, and Bro. Crowger of the Yarborough Lodge 554, were elected members. Bro. Watkinson was elected W.M. for the ensuing week, and appointed his officers in rotation. The Lodge was then closed and adjourned.

Upton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1227.—This successful Lodge of Instruction held its weekly meeting at Brother Grey's, the Swan Tavern, Bethnal Green-road, E., on Thursday, 20th inst. Bros. Moss W.M., Pringle S.W., Powell J.W., Smith S.D., Richards J.D., Gilderstone I.G.; also Bros. Gross, Galer, Grey, Valentine, Horley, D. Alexander. Lodge was opened in due form, and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Smith acting as candidate. Bro. Richards worked the second, third, and fourth sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. The ceremony and the sections were conducted in a very masterly manner. It is pleasing to note the good work this Lodge of Instruction is doing for our Masonic Institutions; in the first year it subscribed twelve guineas to the Old People, besides relieving two distressed brethren. The headquarters of its meetings is one of the most comfortable rooms in the East, and brethren receive a kindly welcome if they pay a visit. In addition, the Lodge has a Masonic Association, which, up to the present, has sent to the Charities 200 guineas. After a few announcements, the Lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned until the 27th inst., which will be the Association night.

Rosslyn Lodge, No. 1543.—The first meeting of the season took place on the 18th inst., at the Saracen's Head Hotel, Dunmow. Present—Bros. H. Debane P.P.G.S.D. W.M., A. Rattray S.W., G. D. Clapham P.P.G.R. J.W., F. J. Snell P.M. Treasurer, F. W. Warner Secretary, C. J. Rhind J.D., W. Rowe I.G., R. Russell Tyler, E. F. Ferris, C. Bint, &c. The Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Bros. Ferris and Bint were raised to the sublime degree, the ceremony being performed by the W.M. in his usual able manner. Bro. Rattray was elected W.M. for the ensuing year, Snell Treasurer, and Russell Tyler. After the usual routine business had been completed the Lodge was closed until Tuesday on or nearest the full moon in October. The brethren then adjourned to refreshment, prepared by the worthy host. The W.M. gave the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts, and complimented the W.M. elect, wishing him a prosperous year of office. Bro. Clapham, in proposing the health of the W.M., eulogised Bro. Debane for the manner in which he had conducted the business of the Lodge during the two years he had been in the chair. The W.M. suitably replied, and announced that he was about to represent the Lodge at the forthcoming Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. The Tyler's toast concluded a very pleasant evening.

Kingsland Lodge of Instruction, No. 1693.—A meeting was held on Monday, 24th September, at Brother Baker's, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N. Present—Bros. Western W.M., Kidder P.M. S.W., George P.M. J.W., Killick P.M Treasurer, Collingridge Secretary, Dixie S.D., Trewinnard P.M. Preceptor, Defries I.G.; also Past Masters Bros. Tillett, Osborn, Fenner, Hall, and numerous other brethren. Lodge opened in first and second degree. It being the first meeting of this Lodge at its new quarters, the ceremony of installation was rehearsed by Brother Isaac P.M. Brother Western, who acted as the Worshipful Master, then invested his Officers, and vacated the chair in favour of Brother Isaac, who rehearsed the ceremony of passing, Brother Woodman acting as candidate. Both ceremonies were well carried out. After a cordial vote of thanks to Brother Isaac, Lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned till Monday next, at 8.30.

Sir Hugh Myddelton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1602.—The usual weekly meetings of this Lodge of Instruction were resumed on Tuesday last, at the Queen's Head Tavern, Essex-road, N., next door to Packington-street. Bros. R. Pearcy P.M. W.M., C. Dearing S.W., C. Weeden J.W., W. Williams S.D., J. Osborn P.M. J.D., Thomas I.G., J. Weston I.P.M., A. J. Dixie Secretary, and a numerous assemblage of brethren. Lodge opened in ancient form, and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Larter acting as candidate. After the usual formalities, the Lodge was closed. Bro. C. Dearing will preside at the next meeting. Brethren are reminded that the ceremonies of consecration and installation will be rehearsed as above by Bro. James Terry P.M. 1228, 1366, P.P.G.S.W. Norths and Hunts, on Tuesday next, 2nd October.

THE IRON INDUSTRY OF NEW SOUTH WALES.—The existence of extensive deposits of rich iron ores at Wallerawang, Lithgow, Mittagong, Mount Lambie, Berrima, Illawarra, and in various other parts of the Colony, has been demonstrated—in many instances in the vicinity of coal and lime in abundance; but owing to the heavy cost of erecting smelting and other works, and the difficulty of securing the necessary skilled labour, very little has yet been done towards developing this important source of wealth. In fact, with the exception of the Fitzroy Works at Mittagong, which have been abandoned for some time past, the only works in the Colony are those of the Eskbank Iron Company, at Lithgow Valley, which were originated in 1875. These works consist of furnace, foundry and forge, and rolling mills; the two branches are connected by a horse tramway. Most of the plant, including a 24-ton fly-wheel, was made on the ground. The blast furnace is capable of producing 100 tons of gray, or 115 tons of white iron per week. Both pig and malleable iron are made, and large quantities of rails for tramways have been rolled. Upon this Company's property are iron ore, coal, fireclay, and moulders sand. During the year 1881 the Eskbank iron Company made pig iron to the value of £10,950, bar, angle, and rail iron to the value of £31,086, and castings &c., to the value of £5,777. During the year the blast furnace was worked only five months and seventeen days. With the introduction of sufficient capital and experienced skill, a busy and prosperous future will become assured to the iron industry of the Colony.

LONDON TO CALCUTTA IN A WEEK.—Mr. Bourne, C.E., the principal of the new Engineering College at Maxwell Hill, contributes to the Chamber of Commerce Journal for September an article descriptive of a proposed new junction railway intended to unite the railways of Europe with those of India, and which will so accelerate communication between the Eastern and Western worlds that by its aid we shall be enabled to travel from London to Calcutta in a week. The design of this railway is due to Sir Macdonald Stephenson, by whom the Indian system of railways was inaugurated, and who so far back as 1850 brought the project under the consideration of Lord Palmerston, and, backed by his influence, under the notice of the principal courts of Europe, as an undertaking that must one day be proceeded with, being the necessary complement of the Indian system of railways about that time began. In 1847 Mr. Bourne had accompanied Sir Macdonald Stephenson to India to commence the works of the East Indian Railway—the first line constructed in India, and which has since reached a high measure of commercial success—and he has since, in conjunction with Sir Macdonald Stephenson, collected all necessary information regarding the commerce, population, productions, trade routes, topography, geological formation and mineral wealth of the countries intervening between Europe and India, so as to ascertain what were the physical difficulties which would be encountered in the construction of the proposed junction railway, and what the prospects were of a remunerative return. In the prosecution of this task about five thousand volumes, bearing upon such topics, have been examined, and a thousand maps, and a line has been struck out which there is every reason to believe would be remunerative from the local traffic alone, and which is exempt from serious engineering difficulty from end to end, The European system of railways is now complete, or being completed, up to Constantinople. The Indian system is complete up to Sibi on the road to Candahar, and the junction link now proposed between these two points, and which would be 3,000 miles long, or of the same length as one of the railways across America, would run from Constantinople through Angora, Sivas, Van, Tabreez, Teheran, Meshed, Herat, and Candahar. The time, it is believed, has now arrived for utilising the laborious research continued during so many years. A new and a faster route to India has become necessary. Railways ramifying over the face of Europe and over the face of India have now been constructed which will collect and distribute the traffic of the connecting trunk, and with such aids the through traffic, it is believed, will be large. Every railway in Europe and every railway in India is interested in the construction of this junction link, and measures, we are informed, are now being taken for carrrying out the undertaking without further delay.

Messrs. Cassell and Company, Limited, of London, Paris, and New York, announce that they will publish, in December, the Stock Exchange Year-Book for 1884, which will be a careful digest of reliable information relating to the origin, history, and present position of the Joint Stock Companies and Public Securities known to the markets of the United Kingdom. This is the tenth year of publication, and the services of Mr. Thomas Skinner, compiler and editor of "The Directory of Directors," "The London Banks," &c., have been secured to superintend the production of the work.

Digitized by Google

Price 3s 6d, Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

FIRST SERIES.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

1 OUR LITERARY BROTHER.
2 A DISTINGUISHED MASON.
3 THE MAN OF ENERGY.
4 FATHER TIME.
5 A CORNER STONE.
6 THE CRAFTSMAN.
7 THE GOWNSMAN.
8 AN EASTERN STAR.
9 THE KNIGHT ERRANT.
10 THE OCTOGENARIAN.
11 A ZEALOUS OFFICER.
12 THE SOLDIER.
13 FROM UNDER THE CROWN.
14 OUR HERCULES.
15 A MERCHANT PRINCE.
16 THE CHURCHMAN.
17 THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER.
18 THE MYSTIC.
19 A MODEL MASON.
20 A CHIP FROM JOPPA.
21 A PILLAR OF MASONRY.
22 BAYARD.
23 A RIGHT HAND MAN.
24 OUR CITIZEN BROTHER.
25 AN ABLE PRECEPTOR.
26 AN ANCIENT BRITON.
27 THE ARTIST.
28 THE FATHER OF THE LODGE.
29 A SHINING LIGHT.
30 AN ART STUDENT.
31 THE MARINER
32 SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.
33. "OLD MUG."

Second Series, Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 3s 6d, post free.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

SKETCHES

OF

DISTINGUISHED FREEMASONS.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

BY G. BLIZARD ABBOTT, OF LODGE No. 1385,

ASSOCIATE OF KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

NESTOR
(Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, 33 deg., Past G.S B., Past Dep. P.G.M. Hants, Assistant Secretary Sup. Council A. and A. Rite.)

THE STATESMAN
(The Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, 33 deg., Pro Grand Master, Pro Grand Z., Past G.M.M M., and Past M P.S.G. Commander A. and A. Rite.

THE TREASURER
(Bro. F. Adlard, P.M. and Treasurer Royal York Lodge of Perseverance, No. 7).

THE DEPUTY
(The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, 33 deg., Deputy G. Master, Grand H., G.M.M.M., Great Prior of the Temple, and M.P. Sov. G. Commander A. and A. Rite.)

A PROVINCIAL MAGNATE
(Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M. and G Sup. Hants and Isle of Wight, Past G.M.M.M. and Prov. G. Prior of the Temple, for Hants).

TIME-HONOURED LANCASTER
(Bro. J. Lancaster Hine, P. Prov. G.S. Warden East Lancashire).

THE SCHOLAR
(Bro. John Newton, F.R.A.S., P.M., P.Z., Author of Works on Navigation).

OUR NOBLE CRITIC
(The Right Hon. Lord Leigh, 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Warwickshire, Past G.M.M.M.)

OUR PERIPATETIC BROTHER
(Bro. C. Fitz Gerald Matier, 30 deg., G. Steward Scotland, and Past G.S. Warden Greece).

A BOLTON LUMINARY
(Bro. G. Parker Brockbank, 31 deg., Past Prov. G.S.D., and P. Prov. G. Treas. [Arch] E. Lancashire.

A WARDEN OF THE FENS
(The late Bro. John Sutcliffe, Past Prov. G.S. Warden, and Prov. G.M.M.M Lincolnshire).

A WARDEN OF MARK
(The Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, 32 deg., Past G.S. Warden, and Dep. G.M.M.M).

A MASTER OF CEREMONIAL
(Bro. Thos. Entwisle, 30 deg , Past Prov. G.S. of Works E. Lan.)

OUR COSMOPOLITAN BROTHER
(Bro. Samuel Rawson, 33 deg., Past Dist. G.M. and G. Sup. China).

A GREAT ARITHMETICIAN
(Bro. R. B. Webster, Member of the Finance and Audit Committees of the R.M. Girls' and Boys' Schools).

AN INSTALLING MASTER
(Bro. W. Biggs, Past Prov. G.S.W. Wilts, and Past Prov. G. Sec. Berks and Bucks).

A VETERAN
(Bro. W. Kelly, Past Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Leicestershire and Rutland, Prov. G.M.M.M. Leicestershire).

A GRAND STEWARD
(Bro. John Wordsworth, 30 deg., Past G. Steward, Past Prov. G J.W. W. Yorkshire, and Prov. G.M.M.M. W. Yorkshire).

VIR Veritas
(Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M and Past Prov. Grand. Soj. [Arch] Herts).

ACHILLES
(Bro. E. J. Morris, Past G.J.D., and Past Dep. Prov. G.M. of Eastern Division of South Wales).

A DEVON CRAFTSMAN
(Bro. J. E. Curtois, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. Warden Devon).

SIR RHADAMANTH
(Bro. J. M. Pulteney Montagu, J.P. D.L., 33 deg., G. J. Deacon, Past Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, and G. Chancellor Supreme Council A. and A. Rite).

HIPPOCRATES
(Bro. J. Pearson Bell, M.D., Past G. Deacon, Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. N. and E. Yorkshire).

A CESTRIAN CHIEF
(The Right Hon Lord de Tabley, Past G.S.W., Prov. G.M. Cheshire, Grand J., and Prov. G Sup. Cheshire).

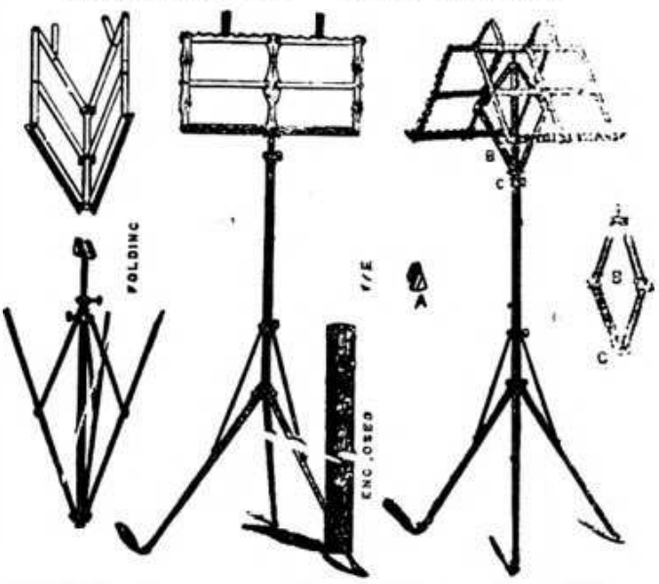
A HARBINGER OF PEACE
(Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., Past Prov. G.J.D. Herts).

THE LORD OF UNDERLEY
(The Earl of Bective, M.P., Prov. G.M., Prov. G. Sup., and Prov. G.M.M.M. Cumberland and Westmoreland, and Past G. Sov. of the Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine).

A BOON COMPANION
(Bro. E. C. Woodward, P.M. 382, 1637, &c.)

A GRAND SUPERINTENDENT
(Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Berks and Bucks).

ÆSCULAPIUS
(Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., 32 deg., Past G.S.B., Craft, and Past Soj. B., Arch, Intendant General Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine for North Lancashire).



London: W. W. MORGAN.

By Order of all Booksellers, or will be sent direct, by post, from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N

THE AMERICAN
PORTABLE MUSIC STANDS.

J. F. WALTERS' PATENT.

Iron, from 10/6 each. Brass, from 30/- each.

THESE Stands are unsurpassed in simplicity, strength, portability cheapness, and elegance of finish. They are suitable for Military Bands Orchestras, Reading and News Rooms, Libraries, Studies, and Drawing Rooms. When opened to their full capacity they stand 5 feet high, and can be folded and enclosed in a case 21 inches long by 2 inches diameter. The weight is about 3 lbs. 12 oz., and they will support a weight of 50 lbs.

To be obtained of all Music Dealers, and of the Manufacturers and Proprietors of the Patent,

HARROW & CO.

MUSIC SMITHS, BRASS WORKERS, &c.

13 and 14 Portland Street, Soho, London, W.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

Free by Post, Price One Shilling.

THE

REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS;

CRITICALLY CONSIDERED,

AND

COMPARED WITH THE OLD EDITION.

—:o:—

A SERIES OF ARTICLES,

REPRINTED FROM THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

—:o:—

LONDON:

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE;
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL & Co., 4 STATIONERS' HALL COURT;
AND OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

"All Freemasons interested in the Revision of the above, should read this work."

Crown 8vo, price 2s 6d, cloth lettered.

Uniformity of Masonic Ritual and Observance.

By Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M., P.Z., &c.

"May be read with advantage by the whole Craft."—Sunday Times.

"Grand Lodge should at once set to work to secure the desired uniformity."—Sheffield Post.

"The subject is ably argued by the author."—Western Daily Mercury.

"Useful and valuable in the highest degree."—Exeter Gazette.

"Will have a material effect on the future of Masonic Ritual."—South Western Star.

"The author adduces many variations in the language used by different Preceptors."—Cox's Monthly Legal Circular.

"Ought to be in the hands of every Mason."—Northampton Guardian.

"To Freemasons generally it will be found useful and valuable, and we commend it to their notice accordingly."—Surrey County Observer.

"Bro. Stevens' motion for a Committee on the subject of Uniformity of Ritual was carried by a large majority."—Freemason's Chronicle report of Grand Lodge meeting, 3rd December 1879.

Sent, by post, on receipt of stamps, by the Author, Bro. JAMES STEVENS, 112 High-street, Clapham, S.W.; or by Bro. W. W. MORGAN Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

Digitized by Google

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE,

A Weekly Record of Masonic Intelligence. Sanctioned by the Grand Lodge of England.

Price—13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE will be forwarded direct from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N., on receipt of Post Office Order for the amount. Intending Subscribers should forward their full Addresses to prevent mistakes.

Post Office Orders to be made payable to W. W. MORGAN, at Penton-street Office. Cheques crossed "London and County."

Advertisers will find THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE an exceptionally good medium for Advertisements of every class.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Per Page... ... ... £8 0 0
Back Page £10 0 0

Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1s per line.

General Advertisements, Trade Announcements, &c. single column, 5s per inch. Double Column Advertisements 1s per line. Special Terms for a Series of Insertions on application.

Agents, from whom copies can always be had:—

Messrs. SPENCER and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C.
Messrs. CURTICE and Co., 12 Catherine-street, Strand.
Messrs. KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.
Mr. RITCHIE, 6 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SIMPSON BROS., Shoe Lane.
Mr. H. SIMPSON, 7 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SMITH and SONS, 183 Strand.
Messrs. STEEL and JONES, 4 Spring Gardens, Charing Cross.
Mr. G. VICKERS, Angel Court, Strand.
Mr. H. VICKERS, 317 Strand.

RICHARD PEARCY,
WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
81 PACKINGTON STREET, ISLINGTON,
LONDON, N.

Watches Made and Repaired in the very best manner.

MASONIC JEWELS.

THE THEATRES, &c.

COVENT GARDEN.—PROMENADE CONCERTS.

PRINCESS'S.—At 7, AUNT CHARLOTTE'S MAID. At 7.40, THE SILVER KING.

DRURY LANE.—At 7.45 FREEDOM.

LYCEUM.—At 8, INGOMAR.

ADELPHI.—At 7.30, TURN HIM OUT. At 8.15, THE STREETS OF LONDON.

STRAND.—At 8, VICE VERSA. At 9.15, SILVER GUILT.

SAVOY.—At 8, PRIVATE WIRE. At 8.40, IOLANTHE.

GAIETY.—At 7.40, GOOSE WITH GOLDEN EGGS. At 8.30, BLUE BEARD.

TOOLE'S.—At 8, A ROW IN THE HOUSE. At 8.45, M.P.

COURT.—At 8, THE MILLIONAIRE.

GLOBE.—At 7.45, MAN PROPOSES. At 8.30, THE GLASS OF FASHION.

VAUDEVILLE.—At 8, AN OLD MASTER. At 9, CONFUSION.

ROYALTY.—At 7.45, A CUP OF TEA. At 8.30, THE MERRY DUCHESS.

COMEDY.—At 7.45, RIP VAN WINKLE.

ST. JAMES'S.—At 8, IMPULSE.

GRAND.—At 7.30, MY SWEETHEART.

STANDARD.—At 7.30, GLAD TIDINGS.

SADLER'S WELLS.—At 7.30, DOUBLE ROSE.

SURREY.—At 7.30, MANKIND.

MOHAWK MINSTRELS, Agricultural Hall.—Every evening, at 8.

EGYPTIAN HALL.—Messrs. MASKELYNE AND COOKE. Every evening at 8.

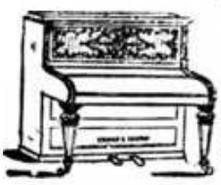
CRYSTAL PALACE.—This day, GRAND EVENING FETE. CONCERT. BICYCLE RACES. PANORAMA. Open Daily, Aquarium, Picture Gallery, &c.

BRO. G. S. GRAHAM,

The Popular Tenor and Buffo Vocalist, from St. James's Hall, Crystal Palace, &c.

(Provincial Grand Organist Middlesex)

IS OPEN TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FOR



Concerts, Entertainments, & Masonic Banquets.

Bro. G. S. Graham's Party of Eminent Artists can be engaged for Masonic Banquets, Consecrations and Installations, &c. For Opinions of the Press, and terms, address—G. S. GRAHAM, St. John's Villa, 91 Fernlea Road, Balham, Surrey.

PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS ON EASY TERMS.

GROVER & GROVER

LET ON HIRE, WITH OPTION OF PURCHASE,

BEAUTIFUL AND PERFECT INSTRUMENTS.
PURCHASERS CHOOSE THEIR OWN TERMS,
FROM 15s TO £3 3s PER QUARTER.

The Advantages of a Trial, with the Convenience of the Three Years' System at Cash Price, by Paying about a Quarter of the value down, the Balance by Easy Payments, from 15s per quarter.

GROVER & GROVER (late AVILL & SMART),
TABERNACLE SQUARE, FINSBURY, E.C.
ESTABLISHED 1830.

PIANOFORTES, £19 10s.
AMERICAN ORGANS, £9 5s.
HARMONIUMS, £5 15s.

Perfect in Tone and Touch. Elegant Walnut Cases. Every Instrument warranted to stand any extreme climate.

SHIPPERS AND DEALERS SUPPLIED.

Before deciding on purchasing, write for a descriptive Price List and Testimonials to G. LINSTEAD, Manager.

COBDEN PIANOFORTE COMPANY, 18 & 19 Eversholt Street, Camden Town, London.

HOTELS, ETC.

CARLISLE—Bush Hotel. SUTCLIFFE HOLROYD, Proprietor

EALING—Feathers Hotel

EASTBOURNE—Pier Hotel, Cavendish Place. View of Sea and Pier. A. TAYLOR Proprietor

HAVERFORDWEST.—Queen's Family and Commercial Hotel. BEN. M. DAVIES Proprietor.

KEW—Star and Garter. Good accommodation for Lodge & Dinner Parties. J. BRILL Proprietor

MILFORD HAVEN.—Lord Nelson Hotel. T. PALMER Proprietor

SANDWICH—Bell Family and Commercial Hotel, Good Stabling. J. J. FILMER Proprietor

ALL WHO SUFFER FROM
GOUT AND RHEUMATISM
Should immediately have recourse to

EADE'S CELEBRATED GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS.

Known throughout the world as the safest and most effectual remedy for the instant relief and rapid cure of Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Lumbago, and all Pains in the Head, Face, and Limbs.

OF ALL CHEMISTS, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d,

GEORGE EADE,
SOLE PROPRIETOR,
72 GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

BILLIARD BALLS, Chalks, Cues and Tips, at HENNIG BROS., Ivory Works, 11 High Street, London, W.C. Cheapest house in the trade for billiard-table requisites and ivory goods in general. Old balls adjusted or exchanged, and tables recovered. Price Lists on application. Established 1862.

RHEUMATISM.

THE only real remedy for this complaint is the Northern Cure (patent). In bottles 1s 1½d each, to be had of all Chemists. Proprietors and Manufacturers, EDWARDS AND ALEXANDER, 29 Blackett-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR GOUT and RHEUMATISM.

The excruciating pain is quickly relieved and cured in a few days by this celebrated Medicine.

These Pills require no restraint of diet during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.

Sold by all Chemists at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.

SMOKE CHARLESWORTH & AUSTINS TOBACCOS AND CIGARS
BORO' S.E.
Old Chums 2d
Favourites 2d & 3d
Golden Shag 4d & 5d

Digitized by Google

JOSEPH J. CANEY,

DIAMOND MERCHANT, AND MANUFACTURING JEWELLER AND WATCH MAKER,

44 CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.

MASONIC JEWELS, CLOTHING AND FURNITURE.

Spécialité—First Class Jewels—Artistic—Massive—Best Quality—Moderate in Price

CATALOGUES POST FREE.

A LARGE STOCK OF LOOSE BRILLIANTS FOR EXPENSIVE JEWELS.

Diamond Rings, Brooches, Studs, Earrings and Bracelets in Great Variety.

MASONIC JEWELS FOR ALL DEGREES.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS AND DECORATIONS.

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD IN ALL SIZES.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEDALS AND BADGES.

A. D. LOEWENSTARK & SONS, Medallists, 210 STRAND, LONDON, W.C.

MANUFACTORY—1 DEVEREUX COURT, STRAND.

R. W. GALER,

PRACTICAL WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

12 GREEN LANES, LONDON, N.

(Six doors from Newington Green).

OLD GOLD and SILVER BOUGHT or TAKEN in EXCHANGE.

PRESENTATION WATCHES AND MASONIC JEWELS MANUFACTURED ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

Communications by Post punctually attended to.

G. W. KNIGHT,

Carver, Gilder, and Picture Frame Maker,

LITTLE BELL ALLEY, BACK OF MOORGATE STREET, CITY,

AND

38 CHAUCER ROAD, BRIXTON.

CORNICES AND FRAMES OF ALL KINDS REPAIRED AND REGILT.

ADAM S. MATHER,

GAS ENGINEER, GENERAL GAS FITTER AND BELL HANGER,

MANUFACTURER OF BILLIARD LIGHTS

AND OF EVERY DESCRIPTION OF GAS APPARATUS FOR COOKING AND HEATING

Bath Rooms Fitted up. All the Latest Improvements Introduced.

MANUFACTORY—12 CHARLES STREET, HATTON GARDEN, E.C.;

AND AT 278 CALEDONIAN ROAD, ISLINGTON, N.

ESTIMATES GIVEN.

W. W. MORGAN,

LETTER-PRESS, COPPER-PLATE, LITHOGRAPHIC PRINTER,

BELVIDERE WORKS,

HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE.

SUMMONSES, MENU CARDS, &c. ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED.

Sketches or Designs for Special Purposes Furnished on Application.

Books, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Catalogues, Posters, Billheads, Showcards, &c.

Every description of Printing (Plain or Ornamental) executed in First Class Style.

ESTIMATES SUPPLIED.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER

7s 6d.

If with Pockets, 6d each pocket extra.

225 HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.

DRESS SUITS from £3 3s to £5 5s.

Demy 8vo, Price 7s 6d,

THE CHESS OPENINGS,

By ROBERT B. WORMALD.

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE.

CONCERTINAS,

ENGLISH AND ANGLO-GERMAN.

G. JONES, 350 Commercial-road, London, E., inventor of the Anglo-German with chromatic scale. His tempered steel notes never get out of tune. Used by the leading performers. Price List of Musical Instruments of every description free. Established 1850.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY Limited, 7 Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General accidents. | Personal injuries.
Railway accidents. | Death by accident.

C. HARDING, Manager.

THE EMPIRE LAMP.

(RIPPINGILLE'S PATENT.)

THE MOST BRILLIANT AND ECONOMICAL DOMESTIC LIGHT EXTANT.

It equals Gas for Simplicity, but surpasses it for Illuminating Power.

IT burns without a chimney, a pine-shaped globe only being required, which has never been known to break from the heat of the flame. It will give more light than any other lamp with a wick of equal size. The combustion is so perfect that it deodorises the oil, and burns absolutely without smell, giving an intense pure white and beautiful light. It is unrivalled for simplicity in lighting, cleaning, and trimming, and is, in fact, the perfection of artificial light. Suitable for Cottage or Mansion, Churches, Chapels, &c.

Illustrated Catalogue, with full particulars, and giving valuable hints on Domestic Lighting and the Management of Lamps, free on application.

THE HOLBORN LAMP COMPANY,

118 HOLBORN, LONDON, E.C.

Say where you saw this Advertisement.

Bro. A. OLDROYD, Stratford, London,

MANUFACTURER OF TOBACCO POUCHES,

With any name in raised letters.

CAN be obtained direct from the Maker, at the undermentioned prices, on receipt of P.O.O. payable at Stratford.

	Price		Will take a name of
No. 3	2/0	...	9 letters
,, 4	2/6	...	11
,, 5	3/0	...	12
,, 6	3/6	...	13
,, 7	4/0	...
,, 8	4/6	...
,, 9	5/0	...

A. OLDROYD,

Agent for Algerian Cigars, and Importer of Havana and Continental Cigars,

64 HIGH STREET, STRATFORD, LONDON, E.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

BIRKBECK BANK.—Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Current Accounts opened according to the usual practice of other Bankers, and Interest allowed on the minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £25. No commission charged for keeping Accounts.

The Bank also receives money on Deposit at three per cent. Interest, repayable on demand.

The Bank undertakes for its Customers, free of charge, the custody of Deeds, Writings, and other Securities and Valuables, the collection of Bills of Exchange, Dividends, and Coupons; and the purchase and sale of Stocks and Shares.

Letters of Credit and Circular Notes issued.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

31st March 1880.

The Birkbeck Building Society's Annual Receipts exceed Four Millions.

HOW TO PURCHASE A HOUSE FOR TWO GUINEAS PER MONTH, with immediate Possession and no Rent to pay. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY.

HOW TO PURCHASE A PLOT OF LAND FOR FIVE SHILLINGS PER MONTH, with immediate possession, either for Building or Gardening purposes. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Published every Wednesday. Price 3d,

THE

CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE;

AND

Journal of Indoor and Outdoor Amusements.

THE CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE can be ordered of any Bookseller in Town or Country, or will be forwarded direct from the Office on the following terms:—

Twelve months, post free	...	...	...	12 0
Three ,,	,,	...	...	3 3

It is also obtainable at the following Chess Resorts and Agencies—

Messrs. Dean and Son, 160A Fleet Street, E.C.
Simpson's Divan (Chess Room), Strand, W.C.
Purssell's Restaurant, ditto, Cornhill, E.C.

All communications and books, &c. for notice, to be addressed to the Editor, 555 Caledonian Road, N.

Printed and Published by Brother WILLIAM WRAY MORGAN, at Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, Saturday, 29th September 1883.

Digitized by Google

THE

Freemason's Chronicle;

A WEEKLY RECORD OF MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

SANCTIONED BY THE GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.

VOL. XVIII.—No. 456. SATURDAY, 6th OCTOBER 1883. [PRICE THREEPENCE. 13s 6d per annum, post free.

"CHARITY FAINTETH NOT!"

IT is an interesting spectacle, albeit there is imparted to it an admixture both of sadness and pleasure, to witness gatherings which take place regularly and at intervals within the walls of our Masonic headquarters in Great Queen-street for the election of candidates to one or other of those Institutions which stand forth as amongst the provident landmarks of the Craft. The pleasure arises from the conviction which is then perhaps more than at any other time forced upon the minds of the brethren, of the vast amount of disinterested and self-denying energy put forth to establish the fact already known that Charity is the one great characteristic of the Freemason's heart. We say the fact is already known, because the very existence of our magnificent palaces of benevolence and of solicitude for the wants and sufferings of our less-favoured fellow creatures proclaim to the world the depths to which the hearts of the brethren are stirred, and the unquenchable sympathy with suffering humanity which is promulgated by the tenets of our Order. Whatever the curious or cynical may say of the "doings" of Masons, and however they may cavil in inquisitive ignorance over the "secrets" and amenities, which are the absolute possessions of the initiated, the outer world is bound to confess, as it gazes on the splendid institutions we have raised for the shelter of the aged and decayed, the maintenance and education of our youth of both sexes, that although the ways of the Craft are to them inscrutable and past finding out, yet there is in it, at all events, a substratum of almost boundless charity which must excite the admiration and emulation of all right-thinking men, and prove to even the most sceptical that brotherly love, relief and truth exists in reality and not merely in name. The world in general sees the results of exertions put forth in this respect by the munificent sums that are subscribed thrice a year at our Festivals, testifying to a generosity and spirit of practical philanthrophy equalled by no other institution on the face of the globe. But great sums on paper, testifying though they do to the immense liberality and self-sacrifice of the Craft, generally do not represent in any degree the personal and heroic actions by which such results are attained.

Of this the world can know but little, if anything; their province is to look on, passive admirers of the great and glorious work which is achieved year after year by an Order they so often affect to hold up to ridicule. To us who are initiated to "look within and out," the realisation of this grand work is all the more glorious and sublime. It denotes to us that not only has money flowed in by thousands upon thousands, through the various channels, of the highest type of human benevolence, but we see in the person of every Steward who comes up to our Festivals the embodiment of collective and individual sympathy with the bereaved and needy, and a determination to assist in every possible way in assuaging the aggregate of the poverty and distress that surround us on every side. We see not merely the quiet contented home of the aged and infirm, where "age and want sit smiling at the gate," cared for in their declining years by tender and loving hands; but our thoughts are carried back to the days when these recipients of the bounty of the Craft were in better position, if not in enjoyment of comparative opulence. We hear the voices of gratitude that have resounded through those walls, like sacred music, recalling the forms and features of many who have passed away to the Grand Lodge above, where the worn and weary are at rest, and there is no want to need the exercise of human compassion. The grateful acknowledgments of those who are still with us are best, and echo similar strains that fell upon our ears in "the long ago," and inspire us to persevere in the task so dear to the Masonic creed of "going about doing good." Let there be no contemptuous curl of the lip at the utterance of such sentiments as these. We are not sermonising, but placing before those who are most intimate with facts, the real state of the case. Turn, again, to the ruddy-cheeked lads and modest maidens, many hundreds of whom are being clothed and fed and educated in our Schools, and say whether in fitting those little ones for the stern realities they must face in after life there is not a grand and beneficent scheme which must be placed to the credit of our oftentimes maligned Order? We say this in no apologetic strain, or boastful humour; the chariot wheels of Masonic benevolence roll noiselessly, yet invincibly, over the rough roads of life, carrying with them help and healing to the distressed and needy, and expecting no reward or praise from any human lip.

These thoughts, we say, give pleasure to the sensitive mind who visits the Hall and portals where so much real charity is periodically dispensed. But, on the other hand, there is a tinge of sadness in the thought, that, however open-handed the brethren have been, the demands are far in excess of the relief it is possible to afford. Anxious friends will buttonhole you upon the staircase, and plead for the gift or exchange of votes in aid of some deserving case, and as you pass along, utterly unable to comply with all (if any) of such requests, the feelings are saddened by the knowledge that so much real necessity exists. Inside the Hall are brethren who have come up from the Provinces, and sometimes, after travelling long distances, flushed with the hope of succeeding in behalf of poor deserving widow or child in whom they have taken a deep personal interest in the localities from which they hail. To watch fluctuating expressions of hope, anxiety, and disappointment which mark the countenances of those most deeply interested in the Election, is a sight to be seen, not described; and, at length, when the poll is declared and the results made known, the proud consciousness of duty well performed illumines the faces of those who have striven successfully on behalf of the objects of their compassion; whilst less fortunate are compelled to accept, with quiet and sorrowful resignation, the failure of cherished hopes, only to be revived when the next election time comes round, when fickle fortune might be in a better humour.

A lesson taught by such a scene as this is, that although a spirit of widespread and munificent sympathy pervades the Craft, and although the amounts of money subscribed year by year increase in a very satisfactory ratio, there is, nevertheless, a vast sum of unavoidable distress, which it is impossible to relieve, much as the brethren may be desirous of coping with the many exigencies that arise. It is grievous to see out of the lists of approved candidates which are submitted at each successive election, so many who are sent away empty, and unsatisfied through sheer inability to meet all the deserving claims upon the bounty of our Institutions; but it is only the same here as in all other schemes of a similar kind, whose object is to relieve distress and smooth the path of the unfortunate in life. The consciousness of having done one's duty renders at all times less bitter the sting of adversity; and thus, whilst sadness and pleasure go hand in hand on occasions such as these to which we have referred, there is this proud satisfaction that but for the continued and unwearied exertions of the Craft, an untold mass of human discomfort and suffering, not only immediate, but remote, must go unrelieved. It is only for the brethren to bear in mind that as the years roll on, so is the demand upon their liberality increased, and that if we are to justify the fame of which we proudly boast, of being the most benevolent and charitable institution extant, there must be no relaxation of either personal energy or application of purse in support of the great Institutions which are devoted to their several and most beneficent purposes. We are convinced that the brethren generally recognise to the full their responsibilities in this respect, and that in the session now fully opened for united work the stream of benevolence will flow on in its usual course, only with stronger and broader volume, impelled by the overflow of true sympathy in the increasing numbers of cases of real distress which arise deserving it.

Digitized by Google

"THUS APPEARS MASONRY."

An Oration delivered by Right Worshipful Philo A. Norton, of Darlington, at the Dedication of the New Masonic Hall, at Platteville, Wisconsin, 25th July 1883.

FROM the first record in history till the present time, buildings have been dedicated to the uses for which they were intended by appropriate forms and ceremonies. Over a thousand years before the Christian era, according to Scriptural chronology, King Solomon's Temple at Jerusalem, the work of those eminent artists whose memory we revere, was dedicated to the living God. The Temple and the manner of its dedication were marvellous, as they are described in the Sacred Writings. The building with its sacred and cunningly wrought vessels and furniture, viewed in the light of sacred or profane history, or of Masonic tradition, is a marvel and a wonder inexplicable to the profane philosopher, classed with the miraculous by the sacred writers, and by the Fraternity regarded as one of the grandest events in history, ever to be commemorated for its sublime incidents and the moral lessons symbolized by them.

The master builder of this wonderful Temple was one Hiram Abif, a widow's son, sent by Hiram, King of Tyre, to Solomon, a man skilled and cunning in the work Solomon had in hand. He it was who manufactured the two pillars of brass with their chapiters and network, which were placed in the porch of the Temple; one at the right called Jachin, and the other at the left called Boaz. Also the Sea of Brass, and all the vessels and ornaments which adorned the Temple. These were all cast in the clay ground on the plains of Jordan near Succoth.

The wood which entered into the Temple was cedar from Lebanon, conveyed by sea in floats to Joppa, and thence to Jerusalem. The walls of the building were of stone, so carefully prepared before it was brought thither that there was neither the sound of hammer, nor axe, nor any tool of iron heard in the house while it was building—a period of twenty years.

The Temple was built by the command of God, given to David, and when fully completed in all its parts it was dedicated by the King. The ceremony occupied eight days. It was attended by a great concourse of people. An immense orchestra, composed of the priests and Levites furnished music for the occasion. Twenty-two thousand cattle and one hundred and twenty thousand sheep were sacrificed. There was undoubtedly an Orator on the occasion, though the sacred history is silent on that point.

The most important part of the dedicatory services was the Prayer of King Solomon and its visible answer by JEHOVAH. His prayer was delivered from a scaffold erected in one of the courts of the Temple for the purpose, and was a practical and comprehensive petition to JEHOVAH to care for and protect the people of Israel, and to hear and answer their prayers. The Sacred Writings inform us that JEHOVAH appeared at night to Solomon and answered this prayer as follows: "I have heard thy prayer, and have chosen this place to myself for an house of sacrifice. Now mine eyes shall be open, and my ears attent unto the prayer that is made in this place. And as for thee, if thou wilt walk before me as David thy father walked, and do according to all that I have commanded thee, and shall observe my statutes and my judgments, then will I establish the throne of thy kingdom according as I have covenanted with David thy father, saying there shall not fail thee a man to be ruler in Israel."

This is the first Masonic dedication of which we have any knowledge, and in obedience to custom thus inaugurated, we have met with the brethren at Platteville to dedicate this beautiful Lodge. The brethren here should be congratulated for their pecuniary ability and taste displayed in the erection of this building, and for their energy, enterprise and devotion to the cause of Masonry, thus exhibited. It is a monument to their love of the principles of a fraternity, which is worthy of them, and of which they are worthy children.

May charity and the principles of universal brotherhood be ever so active with the members of this Lodge, as have been their efforts to erect this edifice, and may their characters be as symmetrical and as pure and spotless as the walls of this beautiful temple to-night, consecrated to brotherly love, virtue, and universal benevolence.

I need not to say to you, my brethren, that Masonry is one of the noblest of human institutions. You know this, for you have tested its virtues, and you daily attest your devotion to it.

The present age is an intensely practical one, so much progress is being made in every department of life, and the activities of every thinking person are in consequence so stimulated, that instinctively the spirit of the age judges everything by its ability. Its tendency to assist or retard progress, at once determines the estimation in which anything is held at the present day. It follows from this that old institutions, which have outlived the necessity which gave them birth, which may have been in their day the greatest aids to civilization in its struggle with ignorance and superstition, but which belonged to a plane of activity which the rising tide of civilization has submerged and obliterated, have ceased to interest the present age. Institutions thus discarded are like the geological stratas in the earth's crust. Once they were the life of the planet, and all that could be seen of it at the surface. Now, though still a part of it, and essential to the existence of the whole, they are buried deep out of sight and are forgotten.

A difference exists in this respect between societies or movements for the accomplishment of a specific object, and those which advocate certain general principles, which are as applicable to one condition of society as another. The anti-slavery movement in the United States sought the abolition of slavery in this country and nothing more, and when that object was fully accomplished, the movement ceased its activity. The molten mass, fused by the energy of agitation and aggressive contention, when it had consumed all opposition to it, cooled and became stratified, and now forms a great underlying moral sensibility of the nation, giving character and stability to our social and political fabric.

Our Fraternity is of the other class. Its objects are the advocacy and practice of charity, benevolence and brotherly affection. In so far as these objects are realized it is a silent power ever active for the right; an influence ever present to stimulate virtue. In degree its effect may and does depend upon the stage of intellectual and moral development of the people, but its benign influence is ever present and active like the sunlight which warms the desert and the beautiful fertile garden alike, however different the effect of its genial, life-giving rays may be upon them.

With institutions like ours, great age increases influence. The element of veneration is added. Its age and vigour exemplify and prove its excellence. Freemasonry is the oldest social organization in the world. It also has the largest membership, and exercises the greatest influence. It is in full sympathy with the activities of the present. Age has not brought infirmity. It is an athlete, though the dust of centuries rests upon its garments. It is as adaptable to free America of the Nineteenth Century as to the despotisms in Europe of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries. Its objects do not require it to interfere in political matters. It is a Masonic landmark that opposition to existing governments, disloyalty and rebellion are not to be countenanced. Freemasonry is a moral field.

Upon his first entry into a Lodge of Freemasons, every initiate is specially charged as follows: "There are three great duties which as a Mason you are charged to inculate—to God, your neighbour, and yourself: To God, in never mentioning His name but with that reverential awe which is due from a creature to his creator, to implore His aid in all your laudable undertakings, and to esteem Him as the Chief Good. To your neighbour, in acting upon the square and doing unto him as you wish him to do unto you; and to yourself, in avoiding all irregularities and intemperance which may impair your faculties and debase the dignity of your profession." My friends, do not understand me as claiming that all Masons live up to the requirements of this charge. They do not, and it is to be deplored that they do not. One of America's sweetest poets has said, "Not failure, but low aim is crime." Our Fraternity aims high. Nothing short of moral perfection, but while it holds high the standard of moral excellence it recognizes that humanity is weak; that however strong may be the impulse to do right a scorn of vicious propensities and inclinations of equal strength operate in a different direction. Then the Fraternity exercises charity. It teaches that while it is inseparable from humanity to err, it is an attribute of Divinity to forgive; every Mason is therefore solemnly enjoined to whisper good counsel in the ear of an erring brother, and in the most friendly manner warn him of his dangers and aid him to reform. If good counsel and aids to reformation fail to arrest the downward course of a brother, then Masonic duty enjoins that the strong arm be stretched forth to aid and assist the falling brother.

The antiquity of Masonry is in its favour, and should be maintained by Masons so far as the truth will maintain it. This opens a field of investigation which belongs to the antiquarian, and which has enlisted the best of talent in the past and present. As a result of these investigations, the truth may be now imperfectly discerned, and is found to lie between the extremes, on the one hand of writers zealous in the cause of Freemasonry, like the Rev. Geo. Oliver, who maintained that Freemasonry existed as it now exists in the days of Moses; that Moses was a Grand Master, and that Joshua was his Deputy, and Aholiab and Bezaleel were his Grand Wardens, and on the other hand extremists who in an unfriendly spirit toward the Fraternity, have maintained that its existence dates but little further back than the beginning of the Eighteenth Century, and that it is an invention of Elias Ashmole and Col. Manwaring, two ingenious Englishmen.

All admit that Freemasonry, as it now exists, is an outgrowth of English and Scotch Masonry. It is equally true and undeniable that Freemasonry was imported into England and Scotland from the continent of Europe, when it had long previously existed. The plant from the parent stock thus transplanted to England and Scotland survived the parent stock, and in time gave the world the Freemasonry it now has.

Digitized by Google

As it emerged from the dark ages, Freemasonry was wholly operative, including only men skilled in the arts of architecture and building. The most perfect type of that period were the association of stonemasons in Germany and France. Enough is known of the practices and formalism of these associations to prove the identity beyond doubt with the mother lodges of England and Scotland of whom we are the lineal descendants. These mediæval associations of Masons were patronised wholly by the Church, which then possessed largely the wealth of the world, and was thoroughly engaged in the advancement of church architecture and building. They were favoured by the church, and were released from various burdens and impositions which were imposed upon other people, for which reasons they came to be called Freemasons.

It is a matter of uncertainty when Masonic Lodges first existed in England and Scotland, but undoubtedly they came in connection with the erection of church edifices in those countries, by Master Masons from the continent. Kilwinning Lodge was the first and mother Lodge in Scotland. It remained at the head of the Fraternity there, until the organisation of the Grand Lodge of Scotland at Edinburgh in 1736.

The date of the organisation of Kilwinning Lodge is not known, but beyond doubt it was at or about the time of the founding of the Abbey of Kilwinning, which was in 1140. The Scotch Masons have always maintained an organisation independent of the English, and strong arguments have been made favouring the proposition that English Masonry sprung from Kilwinning. The Scottish rites appertain to Scottish Masonry.

Early Masonry in England is involved in still greater obscurity, largely in consequence of reliance in the past having been placed upon documents which, if genuine, would establish its existence as early as the Fourth Century, but which have in modern times been shown conclusively not to be genuine. The fact, undoubtedly, is, that Masonry came to England from the continent at about the time it came to Scotland, or that it came to England from Scotland soon after its advent there, and in either case that the erection of church edifices in England brought it to that country. It is beyond doubt true that Masonic marks are now visible upon the stones in the walls of the oldest abbeys and churches in Scotland, which show conclusively that they were built by Craftsmen from the continent. The first Masonic organisation in England was York Lodge, which is the mother of English Masonry. 24th June 1717, the Grand Lodge of London was organised. From that time until 1813 the Grand Lodges of England and York both existed, each claiming for itself regularity and supremacy over the other. The rivalry was settled in 1813, when all irregularities were healed, and the United Grand Lodge of England was organised at London, and at once became by common consent, and has since remained, the only Grand Lodge in England. After the organisation of the Grand Lodge in England in 1717, those Masons who still adhered to York styled themselves the "Ancients," which probably accounts for the use of that word in connection with present Masonry. The York rites appertained to the York jurisdiction, and much discussion has, in the past, occurred as to the regularity of York Masons.

Thus appears Masonry as viewed from this side of the impenetrable chasm of the dark ages, which shuts out all view of the remote past. It is impossible to prove to the satisfaction of the sceptic and probably also the critical and unprejudiced mind that Masonry existed anterior to the dark ages.

The Church is the ark by which the remnants of past civilisations were saved and brought to the present. And although at one time the Church was the chief patron and encourager of the Fraternity, and was in every sense its friend, the time came centuries ago when the Church changed its policy in this respect, and Rome became intensely hostile toward Masonry, and would afford it no facilities to establish its early existence. In view of this hostility, and the absence of other means of proof, it follows that if Masonry had existed previous to the dark ages, it would be impossible to prove it satisfactorily, at least to the critical mind; so that necessarily it becomes wholly a matter of conjecture.

Many facts, which none familiar with ancient history will deny, are consistent with the existence of Masonry before the Christian era. Indeed the proof makes it very probable that Masonry then existed, but falls short of absolutely establishing that proposition. At different times and in different countries anterior to the Christian era, sects or fraternities are known to have existed bearing in many respects a close resemblance to Freemasonry. One of these was the Essenes, a Jewish fraternity of which Josephus gives quite a full account. It may have existed at the time of the building of the temple by Solomon. It was a secret society. The characters of all candidates were carefully scrutinized before admission to it. Solemn obligations were imposed upon initiates not to divulge the secrets of the Order, nor to innovate upon its practices and customs. Women were not admitted to membership. They had retreats which were called colleges, and were similar to Masonic Lodges. They dressed in white, emblematic of innocence. Brotherly affection and charity were inculcated. They had a burial service. Their chief aim was the subjection of matters of sense and pleasure to a higher spiritual and intellectual life.

Pythagoras was a Grecian, and lived in the fifth century before CHRIST. He was a great traveller, and visited and closely studied all the Eastern countries. He afterwards lived in southern Italy, and there established a very peculiar school of philosophy. He was a mathematician. He taught that there was a rhythm in nature which determines the question of harmony or discord, and right or wrong. This quality was represented in pure mathematics by odd and even numbers. The elements in nature were represented by geometrical figures. He had a large following and his disciples were organised into a Fraternity, closely resembling the Essenian fraternity of the East, which, Masonic tradition informs us, Pythagoras had become a member of at the East and carried with him to Italy.

The Pythagoreans became numerous in Italy and Rome, where their colleges are known to have existed. Many have speculated and argued that these Pythagorean Lodges of Italy and Rome are identical with the Mediæval building associations of Europe, from which Scotch and English Masonry sprang.

This, my brethren, is an epitome of the history of the Fraternity which honours us with membership in it. Its antiquity is great. Practically it is unimportant whether it existed at the time of the building by Solomon of the Temple at Jerusalem or not, undeniably its existence is coeval with Western civilisation, which surely entitles it to be greatly venerated and loved. Its excellence is conclusively established by the vigour it now exhibits and the position it is recognised to have attained among the great moral influences at work at the present day. Its brow is gray and wrinkled with age, and its heart is young and warm with universal love and benevolence. The worthy poor and distressed everywhere are its friends. It is a great leveller; the rich and the poor, the distinguished and the obscure, the wise and the simple, all stand upon the same plane in Masonry.

The first preparation to be made a Mason must be in the heart, and unless this preparation precedes the work of the Lodge the material is bad and should be thrown into the rubbish and not placed in the building. Masonry is, however, a human institution, and is therefore not perfect. It is not gifted with the power to look into the heart and see the true character of the man. It has to judge of candidates who knock at its door for admission by appearances. Appearances are deceptive, and many are admitted to the Fraternity who ought not to be. The Fraternity is thereby made to suffer for the unworthiness of its children, thus paying a debt which all human institutions have to pay to the weakness and depravity of man's nature. Nor does the Fraternity claim for itself infallibility. It has made mistakes; mistakes which have aroused against it strong prejudices, prejudices which have lived a lifetime and then died, leaving the Fraternity comparatively unaffected by them.

It is not the policy of Masonry to defend itself against the attacks of the outside world. The opinions of the uninitiated of the Fraternity are of little consequence to a Mason. The Institution is not in search of proselytes. It is one of the most imperative and conscientious duties of a Mason to pass upon the admission of candidates for initiation. The integrity of the Institution depends upon the exclusion of bad material which may apply for admission. While the Fraternity welcomes to its doors men of good character who will conform to its rules and principles, its doors should be closed like adamant against the base and unworthy. Thus guarded, so long as virtue exists will the Institution of Masonry live.

In conclusion, let me say to the Companions and Brethren of Platteville, with these additional facilities for Masonic work and additional incentives to devotion to the principles of the Fraternity, come additional responsibilities. Where much is given much is required, is a rule having the Divine sanction. Let your lines be well ordered, that you make the greatest attainable progress in moral and Masonic perfection. Life is made up of small things.

The artist, however gifted he may be, cannot by a single blow of the hammer upon the chisel, or in a single day or month, develop from the rough marble the thing of beauty to which his genius has given birth. Months and years of toil many times lie between the conception in his mind and its realisation in the marble before him. Every point in the statue must be carefully studied, and as skilfully wrought as though the quality of the whole depended solely upon the merit of each part. So with the perfect human character to which Masonry aims.

Character is the crystallisation into moral habits of millions of the experiences, impulses and acts of the individual, all relating to the most commonplace affairs of life. To be perfect character must be perfect in every part. A single blemish determines largely the standing of the whole. How many of our race and of our brethren have, in most respects, approximated closely to perfection, while life has been a failure from some single fault or weakness, insignificant, perhaps, but incompatible with what the world requires of its favourites.

Masonry is an aid in the elevation of individual character towards the perfect model. It is not exclusive but will co-operate with other aids in this grand object. It is not required to crowd the church and religion out of the man to make room for Masonry. Both can exist together in harmony, and he who is so narrowly constructed as to have insufficient moral or mental compass for both, has obviously too little for either.

Obituary.

—:o:—

Another worthy brother, whose friendship we were accustomed to date back to the earliest days of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, has passed over to the great majority. Bro. S. J. Turquand died on Thursday, the 27th ult., respected, we may fearlessly say, by all who knew him, and his friends were not few, either in or outside the mystic circle. Bro. Turquand took a very great interest in Freemasonry, particularly so in Lodges of Instruction, where, as Preceptor or visitor, he was alike at home. His death, it may truly be said, has created a blank in Freemasonry which it will be hard to fill up.

FUNERALS.
Bros. W. K. L. & G. A. HUTTON,
COFFIN MAKERS AND UNDERTAKERS,
17 NEWCASTLE STREET, STRAND, W.C.
And 30 FOREST HILL ROAD, PECKHAM RYE, S.E.

Digitized by Google

THOUGHTS ON THE NEW HISTORY.

By Bro. Jacob Norton.

THE statutes relating to Freemasons I examined in 1875, and I then came to the conclusion that some of the laws in the Halliwell Constitution referred to some of these statutes. Bro. Gould, I see, differs from my conclusion; I shall, therefore, proceed to explain the matter. But, for the information of those who have not read the new history, I must say something first about the origin of the statutes.

An epidemic known as the "black plague" killed half of the population of England in 1348. Hence, in the ensuing year, there was a short supply of labourers and artizans; and hence higher wages were demanded by working men, which employers were compelled to pay. In 1349 and 1350, a series of statutes were enacted fixing the rate of wages to remain as it was in the twentieth year of the reign of Edward III., and fines and imprisonment to be inflicted on working men who refused to work at the said rates of wages. These laws were, however, disregarded; hence, in 1360, more stringent laws were enacted, and the statute of that year, as I pointed out in my last paper, proves that Masons and carpenters were then organised as a "Trade Union," having ordinances, oaths, &c. Not only did Parliament attempt to limit the amount of wages to the working men, but it also limited the prices that shopkeepers should charge for victuals, shoes, &c.; but as the lawmakers were landowners, they of course took good care not to limit the price of corn, and as during that period there were years of scarcity of food, when the working men had to pay ten times as much for a measure of corn as they paid in years of plenty, they, therefore, had good reason to be dissatisfied with the "statutes of labourers." Add to which, in 1351, Edward III. depreciated the currency; some coins were reduced in value about 12½ per cent., and other coins near 25 per cent., which of course reduced the purchasing power of the new currency; that is, an article that could be bought in 1350 for a shilling, they had to pay in 1351, say, 15 per cent. more. These, and other oppressions, brought on the Wat Tyler rebellion, and the Government, therefore, undertook to tinker the laws once more, and King Richard II., in 1389, issued the following proclamation:—

"Item.—It is ordained and assented that the statutes and ordinances made in the last parliament, holden in Canterbury [or Cambridge], as well as of servants, labourers, artificers, and victuallers, as well as of all other things, saving the exception of the next article before, touching justices of the peace, and also all other statutes and ordinances made before this time and not repealed, shall be firmly kept, and duly executed. But, forasmuch as man cannot put the price of corn and other victuals in certain, [Query, why not corn as well as wages?] it is accorded and assented, justices of the peace in every county, in two of their sessions, to be holden betwixt Easter and St. Michael, shall make proclamation, by their discretion, according to the dearth of victuals, how much every mason, carpenter, tyler, and other craftsmen, workmen, and labourers by the day, as well as in the harvest as in other times of the year, after their degree, shall take by the day, with meat and drink, or without meat and drink, between the two sessions beforesaid, notwithstanding the statutes thereof heretofore made, and that every man obey such proclamation, from time to time, as a thing done by statute."

Briefly, then, the wages had thenceforth to depend on the price of victuals, and discretion was left to justices of the peace to regulate the rates of wages accordingly. But, as a matter of course, the justices of the peace were landowners, or employers in some other branches of industry, and the working people got but scant justice from those worthies; the statutes, therefore, remained dead letters; hence, in the seventh year of Henry IV. (1405-6), after confirming the statutes of Edward III. and of Richard II., it was ordained that, once a year, "labourers and artificers, dwelling in the same leet, shall be sworn to serve and take for their service after the form of the statute;" that is, that the labourers and artificers should swear, once a year, to abide by the decision of the justices of the peace in their respective cities, towns, or counties.

I must here add, that the sheriffs and officers were ordered to look after the laws and regulations drawn up by the guilds for their own government, Bro. Gould says (p 347), that, in the twelfth year of Richard II., writs were sent to all the sheriffs in England to make proclamation for the sending up of the returns from guilds and crafts, called for by the parliament of Cambridge. The masters and wardens of guilds and brotherhoods were required to furnish full information as to the manner and form of the oaths, gatherings, feasts, and general meetings of "the brethren and sisters." Such being the case, we need not feel surprised to find that those who drew up the Masons' code of laws were more or less acquainted with the statutes above quoted. For instance, the Matthew Cooke MS., though it makes no mention of the meetings held by justices of the peace twice a year, as enacted by statute in 1389, nor of the annual swearing by the labourers and artificers before the said justices, as enacted in 1406 by Henry IV., yet, in one part, the writer of the Cooke MS. quotes the idea and the very words of the statute of 1389. On p 107, he says, "And not give more pay to no mason than what he may deserve, after the dearth of corn and victuals in the country." The last paragraph shows that the author meant the statute of 1389. We need not, therefore, feel surprised to find in the older code, regulations corroborating and affirming obedience to the statutes of the realm. Now, we infer from the above quotation, which I italicise, that the Cooke MS. was written after 1389. In a similar manner, the Halliwell poem refers to the statutes of 1389 and 1406, hence the poem must have been written after 1406. The following quotations from the said poem, copied from a modernised version in the Masonic Magazine, vol. ii. p 14, will explain my meaning.

The twelfth point is of great royalty.
There as the assembly holden shall be,
There shall be masters and fellows also,
And other great lords many more;
And also the mayor of that city.
Knights and squires there shall be,
And other Aldermen, as you shall see,
Such ordinances as they make there,
They shall maintain it whole together.
* * * * * * * *
The fifteenth point is full of good lore
For them that shall be there sworn,
Such ordinances as the assembly was layd [provided]
Of great lords and masters before said.
For thy ike [every one] that be disobedient for certain Against the ordinances that there is
Of these articles, that were moved there,
Of great lords and masters all together.
And if they be proved openly.
* * * * * * *
The sheriff shall come there soon
And put their bodies in deep prison,
For the trespass they have done
And take their goods and their cattle
Into the King's hand every dell [every portion]
And let them dwell there full still
As long as it be our liege King's will."

Now, these two sections, viz., of the twelfth and fifteenth "points" in the code as given in the poem, refer to an assembly of magistrates, who were empowered to ordain regulations for working men, which is in accordance with the statute of Richard II. in 1389. Here also is plainly stated, that "masters and fellows" had to appear before that assembly of magistrates, and had to swear to abide by the ordinances there and then made, which law was not enacted before the seventh year of Henry IV., or the year 1406. Consequently, the poem must have been written after the year 1406. Such was my opinion in 1875, when I examined the statutes. (See Masonic Magazine, vol. iii. p 135, and such is my opinion still.

Bro. Gould believes first that the poet himself was the author or originator of the Masons' code in the poem; and that the whole poem, laws, and all, "was evidently in use by a single guild, craft, or fraternity" (note 3, p 359, Gould's History). And, second, that whereas the twelfth and fifteenth points, above quoted, do not style the assembly in the Parliamentary words of "Justices of the Peace," but merely designates them with the poetic titles of "great lords, many more," "the mayor of that city," "knights," and "squires," and "aldermen," &c.; therefore Bro. Gould concluded that the said points or regulations in the poem do not refer to the statutes, and hence he assigns the origin of the poem to the fourteenth century.

Now, first, Mr. Halliwell says of the poet, "It would appear that the writer, who was a priest, had access to some documents concerning the history of the Craft," which means he copied the legends and laws from old documents. Second, poetry was never used for the composition of laws, nor is it well adapted for such use; nor has any government, guild, society, or Lodge ever ordered a poet to draw up for their use and guidance an original code of laws in rhyming verses. And third, the poet himself, in his description of the Athelstan assembly, ascribed the fifteen articles and fifteen points to King Athelstan, thus:

"An assembly then be known let make,
Of divers lords in their state,
Dukes, earls, and barons also,
Knights, squires, and many more,
And the great burghers of the city.
They were there in all their degree.
These were there each one in every way,
To ordain for their Masons' estate.
There they sought by their wit,
How they might govern it.
Fifteen articles there they sought,
And fifteen points there they wrought."

And again under the heading, "Alia ordinacio artis gemetriae," the poet says:

"There they shall be all sworn
That belongeth to this Craft's lore,
To keep these statutes every one,
That be ordained by King Athelstan."

Further down in the same paragraph he says:

"Also at every assembly that ye hold,
That you come to your liege king bold;
Beseeching him of his high grace,
To stand with you in every place,
To confirm the statutes of King Athelstan."

Well; having shown that the poet was not the originator of the code of laws in the poem, and the very fact that he ascribed the said laws to Athelstan, proves that the original document must have looked very old. True, it might not have been older than thirty years, but the constant handling, by working men, of a MS. for that period, made it look older than it really was; hence, the poet ascribed it to the days of Athelstan.

As to how the poet got possession of that document. It is not unreasonable to suppose that he may have been chaplain of the guild, or otherwise formed the acquaintance of a Master Mason, from whom he borrowed the MS., and being endowed with a talent for rhyming, he went to work, and transformed the code into poetry, and added thereto some new Masonic trimmings of his own fancy, such as the Euclid and Athelstan legends, the seven sciences, and the sermon; which trimming was afterwards introduced into the Mason's ritual. I have no doubt that the poet's code was never designed for the use of a Lodge. The old prose code doubtless defined the laws better and more cleverly than the crude written code in the poem did. I have also no doubt that some comments and reflections interspersed in the poet's code were added by the poet, and that he otherwise took a poet's liberty of altering and changing words and phrases. The poet's aim was to give a dramatic description of his assemblies; hence, his Athelstan assembly he made to consist of dukes, barons, knights, squires, many more, meaning that there were a large number of these personages present; and even the burghers, which grouped in the back ground, were styled "great burghers." But he had also to mention the meeting of the Justices of the Peace; this last phrase was too prosy for our poet's taste,—it was not sufficiently grand for his fancy. Besides which, "Justices of the Peace" may have been associated in some minds with very unpleasant reminiscences. This phrase therefore was deemed unsuitable for his composition. Our poet evidently aimed at making his assembly appear as grand as possible, a sort of Tableaux Vivant. Such as a painter might be tempted to canvas, hence, he designated the meeting of the Justices of the Peace as an "assembly," and the personages figuring in the said meetings he styled great lords, knights, squires, mayors, aldermen, not forgetting to add "many more." In short, the poet did not aim or expect to be quoted as an authority for history or law; he never dreamed that his rhyming code would be used in a Lodge, and it never was so used. All the poet did aim at was, to give a mere outline of the 15 Articles and 15 Points, which then formed the Mason's code or constitution, and to make its surroundings as grand as he could.

Digitized by Google

Nor can we accuse the poet of actual misrepresentation; for Mayors and Aldermen may have received appointments to act as Justices of the Peace, or, at all events, these personages were probably always present at the biennial meetings of the Justices of the Peace in the cities and in counties. I am sure that Lords acted as Justices of the Peace, as the following statute of 1360 will show: thus saith the statute—"In every county in England shall be assigned for keeping the peace one Lord, and with him, three or four of the worthy of the county, with some learned in the law." These worthies "of the county," were probably knights and squires; upon a whole, therefore, the poet did not very much exaggerate the scene he described.

Looking, therefore, at the question at issue from every point, I must come to the conclusion that the mere omission of the phrase Justices of the Peace by the poet cannot disprove the fact that the 12th and 15th "points" which he copied from the original code were designed to pacify the jealous officers of the law who were appointed to look after the regulations of Craftsmen. And I must here repeat, that as the said "points" were in accordance with the statutes of 1389 and 1406 the original code must have been written after the last-named year; and as the poet ascribed the said code to King Athelstan, a period of some thirty or more years must have intervened between the time when the code was originally written, and when the poet got the first sight of it.

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our Correspondents.

All Letters must bear the name and address of the Writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return rejected communications.

—:o:—

THE NEW TEMPLE QUESTION.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER.—The more I consider the question of the rebuilding of the Temple and the alterations thereupon contemplated, the more I am convinced of the propriety of the course that has been adopted. It is easy to find fault with the Special Building Committee, to assume superior wisdom after knowledge has been gained. It may strike some minds that the Committee either had no settled convictions of their own, or if they had they lacked the courage of them. My own impression is that they found the subject too vast, too important to assume a dogmatic attitude, and therefore they acted the prudent part. They gathered together information, they formulated a scheme with the aid of the Grand Superintendent of Works, and placed the whole matter before Grand Lodge for them to take whatever course might be deemed best. The result has proved the wisdom of the course adopted. If they had carried their investigations into the desirability of acquiring certain premises abutting on the west side of Freemasons' Hall, and had found out the terms upon which they might be obtained, their report would have been comprehensive and complete. Their omission to do this is the one fault in their work. I admit it to be a serious mistake so far as the Committee are concerned, and one that should be remedied at the earliest moment. What they have done, however, is of great value; it is a basis upon which action may be taken; it has without doubt afforded an opportunity for the Craft generally to understand the whole question, and to arrive at something like a definite and instructed opinion. The Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire have taken up the matter in earnest. Writing before any decision has been arrived at by them, I can only deal with what they propose to do, according to a notice of motion placed on the agenda paper for discussion at the meeting to be held at Ripon on the 3rd inst. The proposer at least regards the report of the Special Building Committee "with surprise and alarm." The grounds for this feeling are the purchase of the remainder of the lease of Bacon's Hotel—five and-a-third years—for £6,000 (annual rent £360) and the granting of an extension of Messrs. Spiers and Pond's lease for 50 years. By inference it is considered that the expenditure of £5,000 for the purpose alluded to is too much, or that it should not be made at all. As to the second point, there is no ambiguity. The first resolution distinctly states "that the leasing of any property of Grand Lodge, except for a limited period, is, under any circumstances, highly objectionable, and may prove, as in the cases of the three leases now existing, extremely inconvenient, and that the question of rent is quite a secondary consideration compared with the retention of full control of the premises and the tenants of Grand Lodge." Further, it is urged that it would be wise, under the direction of the Grand Superintendent of Works, to invite competent architects, Masons or non-Masons, "to submit plans of any scheme for reconstruction or enlargement of the Masonic Temple."

I have purposely called attention to the proposed action of the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire, because it affords proof of the wisdom of delay, and has opened up one fresh question for consideration. I cannot omit remarking, too, that the West Yorkshire brethren could not have taken up their present position had it not been for the preparatory work done by the Special Building Committee. I have grave doubts as to the desirability of purchasing the remainder of Mr. Bacon's lease, and although I did not at first realise any objection to the proposed extension of the term of Messrs. Spiers and Pond's tenure, now it is pointed out it strikes me as a very unwise arrangement. These are matters, however, that demand careful consideration, and certainly the money question cannot be neglected. It is one thing to expend a large capital sum, which means an increased yearly expenditure; quite another to still further increase the yearly outlay of Grand Lodge by sacrificing what have hitherto been sources of income.

It appears settled that there must be an enlarged Temple, but whether it shall be capable of holding fifteen hundred or any fewer number of brethren, is a question that remains to be determined. That the Temple, both in capacity and beauty, should be worthy of the Grand Lodge of England, admits of no doubt. It should be as complete and as superb as money and skill can make it—a fit home for the most sublime human institution the world has ever known. There may be some difference of opinion as to whether there should be a library and a museum. To my mind these accessories are absolutely needful. The Craft in this country can boast of many brethren skilled in Masonic lore, worthy to hold their own. Compared with the whole body they are few in number. They are brilliant lights, which accentuate the sentimental darkness of the mass that prevails on all matters of esoteric Freemasonry. It is possible to have every outward adornment, to have a Grand Temple, and all the necessary adjuncts, and yet lack the wisdom to understand the strength and beauty of the whole system. Knowledge can only come by cultivation, and hitherto the Masonic student has had to depend upon the length of his individual purse to provide the means of acquiring information. Technical knowledge of the Craft is now within easy reach. At one time that was not so, and a few experts alone were able to teach aspiring Masons the duties of their several offices. The brethren of the present day can hardly estimate the privileges they enjoy over and beyond those possible to their forefathers. What has been done for the ceremonial of the Order I desire to see accomplished for its history and philosophy. A library therefore is indispensable. A museum would grow out of it, and would be an outward visible form of some of the spiritual essence of Freemasonry. Whatever facilities might be afforded, students would only be few perhaps, but the result of their researches would leaven the whole mass, and before many years were over the Craft in England would be elevated in tone, and would become more worthy inheritors of noble principles than they now are.

Then I take it there must be hotel accommodation equal to the wants of the brethren. I believe, at the present time, every room at Freemasons' Hall that can be let for Lodge purposes is engaged. It is a question whether, in the new arrangements, more rooms should not be added. By this means the outlay could, in some measure, be covered, and the permanent income of Grand Lodge increased. To what extent this could be done I must leave to those better acquainted than I am with the present and probable capacity of Freemasons' Hall. There is one serious drawback which I reluctantly notice. I have no desire to injure vested interests or to aggravate complaints, but in justice to the body at large I am compelled to recognise existing facts. Whatever may be the cause, it is nevertheless true, that some Lodges meeting at Freemasons' Hall feel it necessary to go elsewhere for refreshment. They perform their duties in their several Lodge-rooms, and go to some other hotel or restaurant to dine. Of course, a caterer cannot be expected to sacrifice his interests to the wants and demands of any particular Lodge; but if these can meet at other large establishments why not at Freemasons' Hall? That is a question that should be satisfactorily answered. If the conditions upon which Messrs. Spiers and Pond hold their lease are so severe that they cannot compete with other hotels, then, in the interests of common justice and for the sake of the comfort of those frequenting Freemasons' Hall, they should be relaxed. If, on the other hand, Messrs. Spiers and Pond have such arbitrary powers, the exercise of which in some cases makes it impossible for certain bodies to utilise their services, then it is scarcely worth while to incur a further large outlay and grant a great extension of their lease. I should have thought that self-interest would have determined the matter satisfactorily, but that is not always the case, as those acquainted with the catering at Freemasons' Hall, in years gone by, well know. It may be that Messrs. Spiers and Pond have a better case than some of their predecessors had. Whatever may be the truth, it is necessary that the points I have raised should be considered, and such arrangements made as to admit of no reasonable doubt that the brethren can be as well and as cheaply provided for at Freemasons' Hall as elsewhere.

I fear I have trespassed too much upon your space, but the importance of the subject must plead my excuse.

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Fraternally yours,

WATCHMAN.

Digitized by Google

MASONRY AND THE COMPAGNONAGE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Permit me space to make some remarks on Brothers Speed and Speth's letters of the above date.

1st. Bro. Speed will find, in the Freemason, Vol. 3, page 428, an article of mine headed "Masonic Universality," in which I discussed the Bible question. This led to a controversy with the late Bro. W. Carpenter, in the same volume. In the fourth volume, page 116, he will find another of my communications, viz., "Bro. Hughan and the Bible question," followed by two or more papers on each side. I shall, however, briefly state, for the information of Bro. Speed, that I have a Ritual of 1723, another of 1724, another of unknown date, and still another of 1730, which Bro. Abbott kindly gave me; and in neither of the said rituals can I find three great lights, or the Bible either. In Dr. Anderson's account (Constitution 1738) of Grand Master Richmond's inauguration in 1724, he says, that in a procession, "The Master of a Lodge with one great light, two other great lights born by two Masters of Lodges." What the lights were I know not. They may have been candles. The procession of 1730, when the Duke of Norfolk was installed Grand Master, is also described by Anderson. Here "three lights" were not carried, but, as in the former procession, a Master of a Lodge carried a sword, and another Master carried "The Book of Constitutions on the fine cushion." * * * "And in this manner they decently walked into the Lodge room * * * and there the Masters and Wardens of Lodges received their Grand Master * * * in due form. He sat down in his chair before the pedestal, covered with a rich cushion, upon which were laid the Constitutions, and the sword." And then goes on, "After opening the Lodge, the last minutes were read," &c. Here we see that on 29th January 1730, the Grand Lodge of England was opened in due form, without a Bible, Square, and Compasses. I have, however, another ritual of 1730, probably improved after 29th January, wherein the Mosaic Pavement, Blazing Star, dented Tarsel, Bible, Compasses, and Square, are all called "the furniture of the Lodge." We see now that the Bible was not known in English Masonry as a great light in 1730. Nor is there any reference made to a "rule and guide of faith." Bro. Speed can draw from the above facts what inferences he pleases.

And now for my good friend Bro. Speth. It seems that he and myself alike doubt the Compagnonage theory. And, what is more, I intimated very plainly that Bro. Gould himself was not perfectly satisfied that all his arguments were conclusive, for I stated that Bro. Gould was not irretrievably committed to his theory. Let me, however, state that no one thinks more highly of Bro. Gould's History than I do. I am perfectly satisfied that he is not guilty of addition or omission with regard to his statements of facts. But yet the best man is liable to mistakes, and as a rumour was circulated long before I got hold of the new History that Bro. Gould had proved that our Masonry was derived from the Compagnons, I merely wished to convince all whom it may concern that the subject was not proved. Bro. Speth, however, was very anxious to show Bro. Gould's reasons. He says, "The Jacquites had a legend," and hence the Solomonites (he says) must also have had a legend. Then he assumes that it must have been the Hiramic legend. All which I understand very well, but it was not sufficiently convincing to me, nor is it convincing to Bro. Speth himself.

Bro. Speth enumerates forty-one points of similarity between Masonry and the Compagnonage. I could raise some questions about these similarities, but for brevity's sake I admit that there are such similarities, and, what then? For, if Perdignier's opinion is right, viz., that his Solomonites got the Hiramic legend from the Masons, why could not all the rest of the similarities have been derived from the same source? True, I have admitted that the Charles Martel legend was imported from France into England because Martel was King of France, and such a legend was more likely to be of French origin than of English. But Hiram was not a Frenchman, and I think that in a Protestant country like England, where the Old Testament was during the period of the Puritans especially valued—for the Puritans talked Old Testament, preached Old Testament, sang Old Testament psalms, and gave their children Old Testament names. And, even after the Puritan fever was over, the Old Testament was not altogether abandoned. While, on the other hand, in France, a Catholic country, the working people heard much more about the New Testament than about the Old; and, as far as we know, the old Compagnons may never have heard about Hiram, or Solomon either, for we do not know for certain how long they called themselves Solomonites. Now, in balancing as to which is which, I am inclined to believe that the balance preponderates in favour of Bros. Desaguliers and Anderson as the first introducers of the said legend.

Next, I beg to inform Bro. Speth that he did not astonish me about what he heard in a Lodge at Hamburg, for I myself visited a Lodge in Leipsic in 1869, in company with Bro. Findel. But German evidence on this point is not conclusive; our Masonry originated in England, and it is English evidence I want. Now, the several Rituals up to 1730 confirm my belief that the Moderns never changed their modes of recognition in the first two degrees. Within a month I tested an Irish brother, and also a Scotch brother, and I found that in first, second, and third, they did not differ from the English mode. On the other hand, I saw two Rituals of the Ancients, wherein first, second, and third differed from the present English Ritual, as well as from the Rituals of the last century, before the Ancients existed; the alteration in the mode of recognition in all the degrees was therefore the work of the Ancients. Preston was initiated in a Lodge of the Ancients, and he doubtless learned from them that the Moderns changed it, and he believed and repeated it. But if Bro. Speth thinks otherwise, I should feel obliged to him if he could ascertain about where, when, and why, the Irish and Scotch Masons changed their modus operandi?

Yours, &c.

BOSTON, 18th Sept. 1883. JACOB NORTON.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

ST. LUKE'S LODGE, No. 144.

THE annual meeting of this old established Lodge was held on Monday, at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street. Lodge was opened by Bro. Thomas Markland, the W.M., who was supported by Past Masters P. Kirke, H. C. Ball, R. Barham, E. Witts (Secretary), J. Maples M.C., R. J. Taylor, George Skegge, Walbancke, Henry Cox S.W. and W.M. elect, A. C. Rawlings S.D. Amongst the visitors were Bros. W. Barham 177, H. S. Pearce 1780, W. Stuart P.M. 141, J. Lightfoot 1901, C. Evans J.D. 1922, A. W. G. Weeks P.M. 3, Horace White S.D. 1257, J. M. Chapman W.M. elect 1922. T. M. Greenwood P.M. 749, J. J. Pope P.M. 1305, John Marsh S.W. 27, W. Carter P.M. 141, W. W. Morgan S.W. 211, W. M. Tegg I.P.M. 754, F. Holden 177, Turle Lee S.D. 1922, Geo. John White 1772, Richard Baker P.M. 1257, W. S. Hunter P.M. 1677, John Barnett 105, C. Sims 1558, J. Barney 1563, Runacres P.M. 1922. Robert Whitaker 1642, George White 975, G. A. Eunate 890, J. H. Keaston 446, A. Millward W.M. 1677, F. Bevan 1706, G. T. Carter P.M. 382, Llewellyn Thomas 969, W. Davis 1666, T. Poore P.M. Panmure. After the minutes of last meeting had been read and confirmed, the report of the Audit Committee was presented and adopted. Bro. Richard Fidge was then examined and entrusted previous to being passed. Lodge was opened in the second degree, and the W.M. conferred on Brother Fidge the degree of Fellow Craft. The W.M. elect was then presented and obligated. In due course a Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Brother Cox was regularly installed in the Master's chair. On the re-admission of the lay members, the W.M. was saluted in the three degrees, and he then appointed the following brethren as his Officers for the ensuing year:—Cole S.W., A. C. Rawlings J.W., Unite P.M. Treasurer, E. Witts P.M. Secretary, Tartarus (named) S.D., P. Canghlan J.D., R. W. Heney I.G., J. Maples P.M. M.C, R. J. Taylor W.S., Picket J.S., T. Bowler Tyler. A pleasing feature of this part of the day's proceedings was the formal presentation of a very handsome album, in a polished oak case; this was the gift of Brother Past Master Richard Barham. The album had an artistically illuminated title page, the work, we believe, of Brother Henry Barham,—the son of the donor. We are much in favour of the desire, that seems to be coming much in fashion, that the members of the several Lodges should retain the "counterfeit presentment" of those with whom they are associated in Lodge work, and, at the present day, when the art of photography has attained to such a height of perfection, we see very little difficulty in the way of the several Lodges thus perpetuating the remembrance of their members. In the case of the St. Luke's Lodge, Bro. Barham's gift was undoubtedly a very acceptable one, and on our next visit we feel assured that a substantial addition will be made to the number of portraits it already contains. Application was made by two brethren for the votes at the disposal of the Lodge, each case appealed for having its special claims set forth. In the end, an amicable arrangement was entered into by the applicants, and we are assured the voting papers will be faithfully applied, and we trust may assist in carrying the candidates. A proposition for a candidate for initiation, the ballot to be taken at the next meeting, was then handed in, and shortly afterwards Lodge was closed. The banquet was served in the Pillar Room, and under the personal superintendence of Bros. Clemow gave every satisfaction to the assembled guests. Grace—"For these and all Thy mercies"—having been sung, the W.M. briefly introduced the Loyal toasts. These, with that of the M.W. the Pro G.M., the D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers past and present, having been fully honoured, Bro. Chapman favoured the company with a capital song, and then the Immediate Past Master—Brother Thomas Markland—proposed the health of the Wor. Master. All must agree with him when he urged they had secured the services of a competent Master, one who would do his best to promote the welfare of the Lodge. Personally he (Bro. Markland) had every confidence in offering the toast for the acceptance of the brethren. After a glee, admirably sung by the musical party, the W.M. replied. He trusted they would accept his thanks for the way they had received the toast. He felt flattered at the confidence reposed in him in electing him to the exalted position he now held. He could assure them one and all he would strive to uphold the dignity of the Lodge, and fervently hoped that during his Mastership the lustre that had clung to it for so many years would not be dimmed and that the same happy feeling that had hitherto existed would be paramount amongst the members. In speaking to the toast of the Visitors, the W.M. expressed the gratification felt by the members at seeing so distinguished a body present. The Lodge was never chary in the welcome it gave, and he could only hope that the guests of the evening had enjoyed the entertainment provided. After a song by Bro. Millward, that was most vociferously applauded, several of the guests acknowledged the compliment paid them, and expressed themselves much indebted for the hearty welcome they had met with. The health of the Installing Master was the next toast on the list, and the W.M. complimented Bro. Markland on the way in which he had conducted the business of the Lodge during his year of Mastership. The ability with which the installation ceremony had been carried out was also gracefully alluded to by Bro. Cox, who then presented Bro. Markland with the Past Master's jewel of the Lodge, which he trusted would be accepted and worn for many years. The following was the inscription:—

ST. LUKE'S LODGE, No. 144.
Presented to Bro. THOMAS MARKLAND P.M.
By the Members of the above Lodge, in recognition of valuable services during his year of office, 1882-1883.

Bro. Markland briefly thanked the brethren, and assured them he should ever retain a deep interest in the welfare of the Lodge. In replying to the toast of the Past Masters, Bro. Kirke stated that he appeared that day for the first time as the Father of the Lodge. It was twenty-three years ago since he joined the Order, and he trusted he might continue his association with the brethren of St. Luke's Lodge for many years yet to come. Bros. Maple, Walbancke and Witts were the next Past Masters who spoke; the latter brother referred to the death of two old Past Masters of the Lodge, that had lately occurred; at the same time Bro. Witts explained that in each case the tie of membership had been severed some time since. Bros. Skeggs and Ball also addressed a few words, and then Bro. J. R. Taylor, with whose name had been associated the Masonic Institutions, replied. Bro. Taylor urged on the brethren to give their support to the Charities, which were doing immense service in assisting our necessitous brethren, their widows and children. The Officers then came in for a word of praise from the W.M., and shortly afterwards the Tyler was summoned for the parting toast.

Digitized by Google

ROYAL ALFRED LODGE, No. 780.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge was held at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge, on Friday, the 28th day of September. The brethren assembled at the early hour of two, when amongst those present were Bro. James Joseph Gunner W.M. elect, Past Masters W. Gomm (Treasurer), W. Hilton (Secretary), Littlewood, W. Goss B. E. Blashy, C. May, H. Potter, &c. Visitors—J. W. Parker P.M. 1767, E. Ayling W.M. 975, A. H. Strong I.G. 1585, E. H. Sngg P.M. 452, Joseph Clarke 1612, E. C. Daniels P.M. 1366, F. Wetherhilt 186, H. E. Tucker W.M. 1612, H. Stephens 73, H. S. Benson 1712, John Stacey 1900, W. J. Murlis P.M. 1642, W. Roebuck P.G.S. W M. 1996, H. W. Blake I.G. 834, George Penn P.M. 1642, Edwin Downs P.M. 788, W. W. Morgan S.W. 211, T. H. Hartley 1608. After the minutes of the last Lodge meeting had been read and confirmed, the Report of the Audit Committee was presented and adopted. Bro. Edwin Littlejohns, a candidate for the third degree, was examined and entrusted, and in due course raised by the W.M., Brother Franckel. The installation of the Worshipful Master was admirably carried out by Past Master Brother Hilton, and after the customary salutations in the three degrees, the following were appointed Officers for the year ensuing:—Bros. Ludolph Franckel I.P.M., Beckett S.W., F. Botley J.W., Gomm P.M. Treasurer, Hilton P.M. Secretary, C. Botley S.D., Maton J.D., Arnold I.G., Sperring D.C., Tarling W.S. A ballot was next taken for Mr. Edwin Stephens, of the Lyric Hall, Broadway, Ealing, who was proposed by Bro. F. Botley, and seconded by Bro. J. J. Gunner W.M. The result was unanimous in favour of the candidate, who was introduced and initiated by the new W.M., Bro. Gunner. After some routine work, Lodge was closed. An adjournment shortly afterwards took place to the banquet hall of the establishment, which is one of the most comfortable rooms in which our assemblies are held. A well-considered menu was capitally served by Bro. Brill, whose catering, as usual, gave every satisfaction. On the removal of the cloth, the W.M., who, we regret to say, was suffering from a relaxed throat, craved the indulgence of the brethren, as it was only with difficulty that he could address them; as a consequence, the remarks he should offer would necessarily be brief. He then offered the first toast—the Queen and the Craft. After the National Anthem, the solo of which was sung by Bro. Stacey, the Masonic Rulers came in for their modicum of praise, and then the old and favourite glee, "Ye shepherds, tell me," was given by Brothers Walter Goss, C. E. Botley, and F. Botley. The health of the W.M. was proposed in highly eulogistic terms by the I.P.M. Bro. Franckel. Bro. Gunner in reply said he had no desire to interrupt the harmony of the evening by attempting a long speech. He could assure the brethren that anything he could to sustain the ancient prestige of the Lodge should be exercised, and he trusted he might have a pleasant year of office, and that a spirit of harmony might prevail amongst the members that would be to their mutual advantage. The health of the Immediate Past Master was next given, and the W.M. presented Bro. Franckel with the jewel, which had been unanimously voted for his services during his year of office. This compliment having been acknowledged in suitable terms by Bro. Franckel, the toast of the Visitors was proposed, and responded to by Brother W. Roebuck W.M. 1996. The Past Masters severally acknowledged the compliment paid them by the W.M., and after a few other toasts, the brethren separated. There were some capital songs given during the evening, the brethren who took part in this part of the entertainment being ably assisted by Bro. E. H. Sngg, who presided at the pianoforte.

KINGSLAND LODGE, No. 1693.

THE brethren assembled on Tuesday last, the 2nd instant, at the Highbury Railway Hotel, Bro. Bakers', to celebrate their annual meeting. The W.M., Bro. Henry Hall, opened the Lodge at 4:30, when amongst those present were Bros. Past Masters A. W. Fenner, H. P. Isaac, James Hawkins, C. K. Killick junior, C. K. Killick senior (Secretary); Bro. James Crosbie S.W. and W.M. elect, and the following Visitors:—Bros. John Osborn P.M. 1602, J. S. Hegarty S.D. 1364, J. G. Humphreys W.M. 167, J. T. C. Powell 73, C. Hubbard W.M. 820, J. B. Ingram 820, C. Dearing 1602, E. Woodman J.W. 1950, W. W. Morgan S.W. 211, C. Townley 201, R. Pye 820, John Powell 186, J. T. Jenkins 851, R. T. Jordan J.W. 141, R. Baker P.M. 188, J. T. Sinclair 813, Thomas Woods 813. After the reading and confirmation of minutes of last regular Lodge and two emergency meetings, the Auditors' Report was presented and adopted. The ballot was then brought into requisition for Mr. John Walker Moulton, age 48, who was proposed by Bro. J. R. Collins, and seconded by Bro. Crosbie, the W.M. elect. The result was in favour of the candidate, who was at once received into the Order, Bro. Hall conducting the ceremony. The W.M. elect was now presented by Bro. H. P. Isaac P.M.; the obligation was regularly taken, and then those below the degree of Installed Master were requested to retire, while the Board of Installed Masters did their share in the day's proceedings. On the re-admission of the brethren, Bro. Crosbie was proclaimed and saluted in the three degrees. The Officers were then appointed as follows:—Bros. N. E. Western S.W., W. Gurson J.W., H. P. Isaac P.M. Treasurer, C. K. Killick P.M. Secretary, G. S. Pummell S.D., W. W. Williams J.D., R. Defriez I.G., J. Cooper M.C., J. T. Wilmore A.M.C., R. P. Forge P.M. Wine Steward, G. Snook Assistant Wine Steward. Brother Hall completed his labour by delivering the addresses to Master, Wardens, and Brethren; throughout the proceedings were conducted in a most praiseworthy manner, and Brother Hall was heartily congratulated on the success he had achieved. Brother J. L. Mather P.P.G.D.C. Herts ably carried out the duties of Master of the Ceremonies. The first duty undertaken by the new W.M. was an especially pleasant one; to present his predecessor with the Past Master's jewel. Bro. Crosbie's remarks were brief, but to the purpose, and Brother Hall replied, expressing his gratification that the members had seen fit to recognise his efforts. Another pleasing incident we may mention was the presentation to Bro. A. W. Fenner of a P.M.'s collar with jewel, which the brethren desired him to accept in token of their appreciation of his efforts in promoting the welfare of the Lodge. Bro. Fenner expressed his acknowledgments, and assured the brethren he should ever feel a pleasure in placing his services at their disposal. Routine work followed; the request of a brother to be placed on the list of country members was considered and agreed to. Shortly afterwards Lodge was closed. A capital banquet was supplied, the service being superintended by Bro. John Baker. On the removal of the cloth the toasts were briefly introduced, and the customary replies were elicited. The evening was enlivened by some capital songs, by Bros. Akehurst, Probert, Snook, Townley, Hegarty, Hawkins, Collins, Woodman, &c. We must not amit to mention that Bro. Collings, who presided at the pianoforte, displayed musical ability of a high order. The singing of Bro. Probert was also much applauded.

INDEPENDENT LODGE, No. 621.

ON Thursday evening, 9th August, an interesting ceremony took place at this Lodge, namely, the presentation of a handsome gold watch, bearing a suitable inscription, by a few members of the Lodge and other friends, to Worshipful Brother George Lewison P.M. on his retirement from active participation in the duties of Freemasonry. About forty brethren were present. Upon the dais we observed Brothers De Caila W.M., Rev. W. Walsh P.M., Virieux, and Ammel. Bro. Lewison sat at the right of the Worshipful Master, and, at his request, worked the Lodge. Before the Lodge was closed, the W.M. said:—Worshipful Past Master,—It affords me, and, I am sure, all present, great satisfaction to see you here to-night. I have requested you to attend the Lodge in order that I might perform one of the pleasantest duties that has devolved upon me since I have had the honour to occupy this chair. When you signified your intention to retire from all participation in Masonry, and urged, as a reason for doing so, your forty years' labour in the service of the Craft, all of us, I believe, felt regret that the connection which had so long bound us together was about to be severed. But, Worshipful Sir, there is a silver lining to every cloud, and the regret I have mentioned was not unmingled with satisfaction. The less experienced Masons amongst us—myself amongst the rest—reflected that, as we have a long way to travel before we can hope to attain to your excellence in working a Lodge, it would perhaps be a relief if our less perfect workmanship were not always exposed to your critical eye. Perhaps the new beginners amongst us feel more at ease when we imagine that our shortcomings pass unnoticed. At least I do. A few amongst us felt, however, that, although you have earned and received many trophies in acknowledgment of your services, this Lodge ought to bestow upon its founder some small mark of regard upon your final retirement. Therefore, Worshipful Sir, I have much pleasure, in my own name, and in the names of a few other Masons, to present you with this watch, which bears an inscription, showing the reasons why it is presented to you. Its value is not great, but I take it that you estimate the feeling that prompts the gift much higher than the gift itself. I have only to add that I pray the G.A.O.T.U. may long preserve you to wear it, and that when it is His pleasure to remove you, this souvenir may fall into the hands of some one who will work in the good cause with as much zeal as you have done. Bro. Lewison replied in suitable terms, expressing his appreciation of the feeling that had prompted the gift, and said that, although he had retired from active participation in Freemasonry, he nevertheless was always at the disposal of the Lodge should his services be required. The Lodge being closed, the brethren sat down to a banquet.

EDUCATION. — HAMBURG.

Bro. JOHN A. NEECK, 9 Bundesstrasse, HAMBURG,

Is prepared to receive into his Family

TWO OR THREE ENGLISH YOUTHS AS BOARDERS,

During the time they attend School in this City.

CAREFUL SUPERVISION, KIND TREATMENT, BEST BODILY & MENTAL CARE

High References in England and Hamburg.

PROSPECTUS FREE

BRO. R. HIRST engages to provide, at short notice, an efficient Band for Annual Banquets, Dinners, Excursions and Quadrille Parties. For terms apply to "R. Hirst, The Three Crowns, 237 Mile End Road, E."

Digitized by Google

THE IMPERIAL HOTEL,

HOLBORN VIADUCT, LONDON,

Adjoining the Terminus of the London Chatham and Dover Railway, but distinct from the Viaduct Hotel.

THE BEST FURNISHED AND MOST COMFORTABLE HOTEL IN LONDON.
HOT & COLD WATER LAID ON IN ALL BED ROOMS.
The appointments throughout so arranged as to ensure domestic comfort.

EVERY ACCOMMODATION FOR MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS,
Public Dinners & Wedding Breakfasts.

The Crusaders Lodge, No. 1677, and Perseverance Lodge, No. 1743, hold their meetings at this establishment.

GOOD COOKING. FINE WINES. MODERATE CHARGES.
The Edison Electric Light.
TARIFF on APPLICATION to Bro. A. BEGBIE.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL SPECIAL BUILDING FUND.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

In connection with such Special Fund, attainable until 31st December 1883.

Any present Life Governor of the General Fund, or any Donor who may qualify as such up to the date named above, will receive—

TWO VOTES,—instead of One Vote, for LIFE, for every FIVE GUINEAS contributed to the "Special Fund."

Lodges, Chapters, &c., similarly qualified may secure Two Votes instead of One Vote—for every Ten Guineas contributed to the "Special Fund."

 Ladies, and "Lewises"—being minors—similarly qualified, and all Vice-Presidents, will receive FOUR Votes for every Five Guineas so contributed.

Contributors of less than Five Guineas, to the "Special Fund," will be entitled to Votes as under ordinary conditions.

Lymington Villa, Clapham, S.W.
July 1883.

Dear Sir and Brother,—I am personally interested in the undermentioned case, the applicant being related to me. The sad circumstances under which the application is made are such as to justify the most strenuous exertions on the part of those who can sympathise with misfortune, and desire to mitigate unmerited distress.

If you will help me at the ensuing Election, I shall be very greatly obliged to you. The promise of your proxies and of your interest in support of this case will be highly esteemed and remembered should occasion arise.

Yours very truly and fraternally,
JAMES STEVENS P.M. P.Z.

Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.

OCTOBER ELECTION, 1883.

The favour of your Vote and Interest is respectfully and earnestly solicited on behalf of

KATHLEEN ALICE GIBSON,

AGED 8 YEARS

Daughter of Brother Charles George Gibson P.M. 223, 189 (now in Australia), who from unfortunate circumstances is unable to contribute anything towards the maintenance of his Wife and Six Children.

The case is strongly recommended by

W. Bro. Isaac Latimer, J.P., P.M. 189 P.P.G.S.W. Devon.
W. Bro. William Derry P.M. 156 P.G.J.W. Devon.
W. Bro. J. Edward Curteis P.M. 70, 189 P.P.G.S.W. Devon, V. Pat. R.M.I.B. V.P. R.M.B.I.
W. Bro. A. McPherson Walls P.G. Std., Vice-Pres.—Lloyds.
*W. Bro. E. F. Storr P.M. 22, 1679, P.Z. 1044, Z. 192, Mayday Villas, Bartholomew Road, Kentish Town, N.W.
W. Bro. E. C. Mather P.M. 23, 71 Fleet Street.
*W. Bro. J. Farmaner P.M. 28, 485, 8 Coleman Street, E.C.
*W. Bro. J. Hainsworth P.M. 28, 8 Coleman Street, E.C.
W. Bro. T. J. Thomas P.M. 28, 138 Queen Victoria Street, E.C.
W. Bro. T. Grove P.M. 1709, 173 Bishopsgate Street, E.C.
*W. Bro. Thomas Fairweather P.S.W. 22, 15 Watling Street, E.C.
W. Bro. James Stevens P.M. 720, 1216, 1426, P.Z., &c., Clapham, S.W.

Proxies will be thankfully received by those marked thus (*); also by the Mother, Mrs. C. G. Gibson, 14 Endsleigh Place, Plymouth.

VOTES AND INTEREST ARE SOLICITED FOR

MRS. JANE TRIBE, aged 63,

WIDOW of Brother George Henry Tribe, who was initiated 1858 in No. 604, Lyttelton, New Zealand; joined No. 609, Christchurch, New Zealand; was first Worshipful Master of No. 1241, Ross, New Zealand; subsequently District Grand Chaplain Westland; and District Grand Treasurer North Island, New Zealand.

Votes thankfully received by
Mr. C. BECKINGHAM, 415 Strand; or by
Bro. C. J. PERCEVAL (V.P.), 8 Thurloe Place, S.W.

FIRST AND LAST APPLICATION.

To the Governors and Subscribers of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.

YOUR VOTES AND INTEREST are earnestly solicited on behalf of AMY MARGARET LEE, daughter of the late Bro. Thomas Vincent Lee, of the Union Waterloo Lodge, No. 13.

MARGARET J. LEE, Bull and Last Highgate Road, N.

Royal Masonic Institution for Girls,

ST. JOHN'S HILL, BATTERSEA RISE, S.W.

Chief Patroness:
HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN.

Patron and President:
H.R. Highness the Prince of Wales, K.G., &c., M.W.G.M.

Patroness:
Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales.

A QUARTERLY GENERAL COURT of the Governors and Subscribers of this Institution will be held in the HALL of the Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen-street, Lincoln's Inn Fields, London, on Saturday, the 13th day of October 1883, at Twelve o'Clock precisely, on the General Business of the Institution, to consider Notice of Motion as follows, and to Elect 8 Girls into the School from a list of 32 approved Candidates. The Election will commence at One o'clock (or after the usual business is over), and close at Three o'clock precisely.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

By Brother A. H. Tattershall.—Rule XXXVII., to come after the word "trustees" on the third line:

"That three of the members of the Committee who have been longest on the Board shall not be eligible for re-election until after the expiration of twelve months."

Upon the recommendation of the House Committee:

By Brother J. H. Matthews, Vice-Patron:

"That the sum of £50 be granted to Miss Davis, the Head Governess, towards reimbursement of the very heavy medical and other expenses incurred by her during her late severe illness, which necessitated her absence from her duties from January to July last."

F. R. W. HEDGES,
Secretary.

Offices—5 Freemasons' Hall,
Great Queen Street, London, W.C.
6th October 1883.

HOLLY BUSH TAVERN, HAMPSTEAD,

(Close to the Fire Station).

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; BALLS and ASSEMBLIES; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c. Rail and Bus within easy distance.

The members of the St. John's Lodge, No. 167, have held their meetings at this establishment for many years.

Full particulars and Tariff on application to
C. M. FROUD, Proprietor.

PAUL & BURROWS,

MANUFACTURERS OF
SODA WATER AND SELTZER WATER,
LEMONADE AND GINGER BEER,
GINGER ALE AND POTASH WATER,
&c. &c.
FIRST CLASS QUALITY ONLY.
WILSON and ENDELL STREETS, LONG ACRE, LONDON, W.C
ESTABLISHED EIGHTY YEARS.

Twelfth Edition, post free, One Shilling.

DR. WATTS on ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS. A Treatise on the only successful Method of Curing these Diseases. By Robert G. Watts, M.D., F.R.S.L., F.C.S., &c., 5 Bulstrode-street, Cavendish-sq., London.
London: C. Mitchell and Co., Red Lion-court, Fleet-street; and Simpkin and Co., Stationers' Hall-court.

Now Ready, Crown 8vo, 96 pp,

Price One Shilling,

Free by Post on receipt of 24 Halfpenny Stamps,

OCCASIONAL PAPERS
ON
THE HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.

Written expressly for delivery in Lodges of Instruction.

Secretaries of Lodges of Instruction can be supplied, carriage free, at 10/- per dozen.

London: W. W. MORGAN,
Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N.
AND BY ORDER OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

FIRST APPLICATION.

To the Governors and Subscribers of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

THE favour of the VOTES and INTEREST of the Governors and Subscribers is earnestly solicited on behalf of

LIONEL BLENKINSOP J. MANBY,

AGED 8 YEARS.

The Candidate's father, Bro. John G. Manby, was initiated in the Sincerity Lodge, No. 293, Liverpool, in 1859, and on his removal to London joined Prudent Brethren Lodge, No. 145, and the Chapter, and continued to be a subscribing member of the same until his death, which took place in January 1883. He leaves a widow and four young children very inadequately provided for.

Proxies will be thankfully received by the widow, Mrs. MANBY, Ashwick Cottage, Oakhill, Bath.

Digitized by Google

FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE

RANDOM NOTES AND REFLECTIONS.

NO brother is more popular among the Craft, and no one is more sought after, than the Most Worshipful the Grand Master of England, Bro. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. As the heir to the throne his services are constantly invoked throughout the length and breadth of the land, and so well does he discharge the duties of the multifarious offices he assumes, that he actually courts invitations by his many excellencies. We in the Craft know his worth as a ruler, and we are not surprised to learn that wherever Masonic work is to be done in connection with charity, the Most Worshipful Grand Master should be asked to preside. To-day the Lord Provost will lay the foundation-stone of the new municipal building in Glasgow, when 20,000 workmen are expected to walk in procession. The ceremony will be performed with Masonic rites, and it was expected that Bro. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M. England would have been able to officiate. The canny Glasgie people have a pleasant recollection of a former visit, and would gladly renew the acquaintance of H.R.H., but the Prince cannot gratify the demand of the public on this occasion, nor cheer the hearts of the Scotch Masons by his presence. Bro. the Earl of Mar and Kellie is the M.W. Grand Master of Scotland, but he would have been proud to welcome the Prince of Wales, not only as a Prince, but as the head of the Craft in England, and we might almost say of the world.

—:o:—

Brother the Duke of Albany is scarcely less popular than his elder brother. He is held in high esteem by Freemasons generally, and we are not surprised therefore to learn that the warm-hearted Tykes of West Yorkshire intend presenting an address of welcome to His Royal Highness on the occasion of his visit to Huddersfield. The brethren of West Yorkshire are well known for their activity, and, like Yorkshiremen generally, hospitality and loyalty are natural to them.

—:o:—

It is a bad look out when cowan newspapers think it necessary to make public and discuss the strained relationship that may exist between brother Masons. As we have before stated there is greater freedom in these matters in America than in England, and Canada seems to be more inclined to follow the customs of its near neighbour than those of the country to whom it owes allegiance. We do not wish to exasperate the contention that exists between the Grand Lodge of England and the so-called Grand Lodge of Quebec. We would gladly let time and good feeling tone down asperities and determine the relative positions of both bodies. We by no means approve of the conduct of the seceders, but we utter no harsh judgment, and whatever good offices we can command shall be exercised with kindness and forbearance. There are times, however, when it is necessary to speak firmly, and one has arisen in which Bro. Wm. Ross, a member of the Lodge King Solomon, under the banner of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, and Bro. John H. Isaacson, Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Quebec, are concerned. It appears that the King Solomon Lodge seceded from its parent, and adopted the paternity of the Grand Lodge of Quebec. Bro. Ross and seven other members declined to follow their example. Notwithstanding this action, the names of Bro. Ross and his confrères were retained on the Lodge register. Bro. Ross received the usual summonses to attend the meetings of the Lodge, and dues were charged against him. He refused to recognise either invitation or claim, and in due course he was suspended for the non-payment of dues. He was reported to the Grand Lodge of Quebec as a defaulter, and his name as such was widely circulated in the annual report of the Grand Secretary. From the first Bro. Ross protested against the circulars of King Solomon Lodge being sent to him, and repudiated the new jurisdiction. Finding remonstrance in vain, seeing his name blazoned forth in the list of "Suspensions for non-payment of dues" issued by the Grand Lodge of Quebec, he sought redress at the hands of the Grand Secretary. Failing in this, he commenced an action for libel against Bro. Isaacson. An appearance was put in, counsel were engaged, and there was every prospect of a cause celèbre coming on. Wiser counsels prevailed; Bro. Isaacson has apologised, and Bro. E. R. Johnston, the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Quebec, has caused Bro. Ross's suspension to be removed, with an expression of regret "that all the facts connected with the case were not earlier brought under the notice of the Grand Master." The publication of the apologies and the payment of the costs by the Grand Lodge of Quebec has brought this unhappy dispute to a close.

—:o:—

All through this painful matter Bro. Ross has acted with great circumspection. He has not embittered the controversy, and his one aim has been to obtain an amicable settlement. He has nevertheless manfully contended for his rights, and denied the assumption that any foreign body can determine to whom he owes allegiance. He holds to the charter granted by the Grand Lodge of Scotland, and hopes to revive King Solomon Lodge under its warrant, when, he says, "we will be glad to receive again among us those who now regret the false position in which they have been placed."

—:o:—

We who live at home at ease, enjoying the fullest liberty of fellowship, little know of the persecution that Masonry is subjected to in the United States. There may be reasons for this antagonism we wot not of, but we none the less deplore its existence. Freemasonry makes more outward show in America than in England, and perhaps challenges controversy. It is more demonstrative; it is certainly more popular in the common acceptation of the term, and necessarily more open to criticism than with us. Now and then, however, such evidences of the power and nobility of the Craft are manifested as to silence enemies for the time, and awaken a spirit of admiration. Like everything else in America, Freemasonry is carried out on a large scale; even the acts of charity are marked by the spirit and enthusiasm which characterise the brethren generally. They seem equal to any occasion, and it is one of their proudest claims to admiration that they do not limit their beneficent labours. Witness the floods that swept the Valley of the Ohio, which caused such wide-spread desolation. The poor in Cincinnati suffered severely, but the Freemasons of the city were among the most earnest workers for their relief. Of course the citizens generally laboured in the same direction as well, but it was the members of the Craft who conceived and carried out one mode of relief that did more than anything else to rescue life and property. Boats were wanted, and immediately the word was sent to Cleveland: "Send us a number of row-boats." That night a dozen were sent, with a message that if more were needed, they should be forwarded; also, that if necessary, "a life-saving crew, with all needed provisions to make them effective," should follow immediately. Bro. Cornelius Moore, writing on this subject while on the narrow ledge of life which divides it from death, says:—

> The next day the Masonic fleet, manned and equipped by the strong arms of the Brotherhood, was afloat on the raging stream and submerged lowlands, rendering efficient help wherever help was most needed. Each boat carried a captain to direct, and a crew of strong Craftsmen, ready and able to do his bidding. Besides, each bore a small blue flag, with the square and compasses upon it; and wherever one of these boats of relief was seen, it was hailed with delight. And no wonder, it was a flotilla of Peace, messengers of mercy, bringing help and hope, and gladness to all, without distinction of age, sex, or church, or party. In those days of desolation and distress, when homes were being swept away, and the helpless were adrift on the angry flood, and millions of property were being destroyed—the Fraternity was abreast of public sentiment, and in the very front rank of the helpers.

Well may Bro. Moore invoke the "blessings of heaven to rest upon such true and constant Masons." Who would not join in such a prayer? Such an act redeems a multitude of faults, and proves that the hearts of the brethren in America beat as true to the principles of the Craft as anywhere else in the world. They rejoice in great freedom, they may even push their displays to the verge of licence, but when cause arises, they are faithful to the spirit of charity which Masonry inculcates, which braves difficulties and dangers in order that the suffering may be rescued and helped.

Digitized by Google

Most Lodges are pleased to welcome visitors to their gatherings, but how frequently does it happen that their presence is not recognised until many of the brethren have left the table, or until some of the guests even have departed? No slight is intended, but the time wasted sometimes in the Lodge, but most frequently at the banquet table, makes it impossible to get through the toasts in reasonable time. Visitors very often come from a distance, and have to leave early, and it is only common courtesy to complete the welcome begun at the banquet, and which should be ended by that friendly recognition which the toast affords. Much time is lost in the Lodge room, occasionally owing to the want of skill or tact on the part of the W.M., and the time fixed for the banquet is often exceeded by an hour or more. The result is that the brethren do not sit down until eight o'clock, perhaps later; then the absurd length of the service of dinner carries the time on to ten or half-past, so that the hour for leaving comes before half the toasts have been duly proposed and acknowledged. This produces dissatisfaction and a sense of disappointment. The worst of it is that it is unnecessary, and might easily be avoided. Then there is another custom more honoured in the breach than the observance. Some Lodges meet in the daytime, at an hour when it is difficult for persons engaged in business to attend. In some cases this practice is not only desirable, but absolutely necessary. The Asaph Lodge, for instance, is chiefly composed of brethren in the theatrical profession, who cannot attend meetings except in the afternoon. In their case there is no choice. Take, again, the Royal Alfred Lodge. This was formerly composed of professional men, and the same practice was pursued; but now circumstances are altered, and yet the Lodge meets in the daytime as heretofore. There is no necessity for this custom being continued, and an alteration would be for the benefit of the Lodge as well as for the comfort of the members. In all these matters there requires a guiding spirit, not precocious fledgelings in the Craft, nor obtrusive Past Masters; but old experienced Masons, who know how to rule a Lodge and to make the banquet table the means of pleasant and profitable social intercourse.

—:o:—

It is always pleasant to hear from old friends, wheresoever dispersed over land and water, and it is still more pleasant to learn of their well doing. We have just received a letter from our old friend Brother John Constable, who writes from the Transvaal Hotel, Kimberley, South Africa. Many brethren who knew him here, who were acquainted with the good work he did for the Craft, will be glad to learn that he is getting on in his new home. He has allied himself with the fortunes of an old friend, the proprietor of the above hotel, which, judging from the Diamond Fields Advertiser, is a very big thing. Brother Constable says the "hotel is one of the largest in the Colony, and cannot be approached in Griqualand West." The account given of it in the paper referred to reads like the description of one of our own most flourishing hotels. If it does not possess quite all the aids that a mature civilization gives us, it lacks very little of the ease and luxury that are to be found in this country. The hotel has no external pretensions, but once inside, its size and completeness at once indicate its character. The entire establishment covers upwards of an acre of ground, and affords every accommodation that the heart of man can desire and needs of horses demand. From the office electric wires run to almost every part of the building; the dining-room will seat over a hundred persons at one time; behind the bar is a billiard saloon fitted up with a table made by one of our best makers, specially imported. From this brief description it will be seen that the "Transvaal" is a very large undertaking, of which Brother Constable is the manager. We are glad to notice that the same energy that characterised him here is being displayed at Kimberley, and that he has won the confidence of those who are able to appreciate his labours.

—:o:—

Bro Constable was associated with this journal in the earlier part of its career. To him the Craft is indebted for much useful and interesting information, but his work in that direction was small compared with what he did for Masonry generally. He was always active and ever ready in the cause of benevolence. He earned the very enviable distinction of being made an honorary Vice-Patron of all the Masonic Institutions, a proof at once of his zeal and devotedness. He was not less energetic in promoting good working in the Lodge, and the difference he now experiences in this and in other respects strikes him somewhat painfully. He says:—"As to Masonic work, I'm dead." He does not think much of the Fraternity in Griqualand West; they are different to the brethren he has left behind. This is at once gratifying and disappointing. It is well to know that we in the old country do not suffer in comparison with others, but it is sad to learn that those of the Order with whom he has come in contact at Kimberley cannot command his respect, much less his admiration. Kimberley is not a Paradise of virtue; in fact, Bro. Constable describes it as a "hell," which "affords no opportunity for youngsters, saving the study of vice with all its deformities" With the improved tone of the morals of the people will probably come a better development of true Masonic interests, and then Bro. Constable will once again be in the element he loves. He desires to be remembered to his old friends; home associations often cheer him in his meditations; and although he cannot physically extend the hand of fellowship the friendships of the past have a firm grip on his heart. We rejoice to hear of his welfare, and we hope he may long live in health and strength.

GRANTS TO OUR CHARITIES AS REWARDS FOR SERVICES.

THE opening of another Masonic season brings us once more face to face with many subjects concerning the Craft which have already been referred to in our pages, but which, from one cause or another, have not become memories of the past alone. Such is the case with the subject now under discussion. We have, on more than one occasion, devoted our attention to it, but, so far, very little progress has been made towards the adoption of the system we advocate;—that some part of the sum annually devoted to rewards for past services should be expended in purchasing Life Subscriberships or Life Governorships of our Charities, rather than the all but worthless jewels with which it is customary to evidence our appreciation. We are aware of the old injunction, "Never to look a gift horse in the mouth," but we cannot help weighing the wants of our Institutions against the large amount annually expended in "jewels," and coming to the conclusion that it would be much better for a part of the one to be diverted for the benefit of the other. The innovation, for such we must call it, if it is to be considered in anything like a general sense, would be all the more likely to do good, as it would emanate from the heads of the Lodges, it seldom happening that any one but those high in office are made the recipients of testimonials, while it is only necessary to estimate the amount annually spent in London on Past Masters' jewels alone to see what large sums might find their way to our Institutions if no more than one-half the sums voted were expended in the cause of charity.

It may be there was a time when a Past Master's jewel was looked upon as an emblem of merit and ability, but surely there are few who really regard it as such at the present time, when its presentation has become, in many Lodges at least, as much a part of the year's proceedings as the installation of a new Master, and when the retiring W.M., who has simply been a dummy in the chair, receives the same as he who has really done good suit and service, both to his own Lodge and the Craft generally. It would not perhaps be worth while referring to this subject were we not reminded, by the long lists of candidates for our Schools, which we have recently reviewed, of the very large number of calls on our Institutions, which we are unable to meet, and, further, the very small number of applicants whose fathers have qualified as Life Subscribers or Governors of one or other of the Charities. We are inclined to think that were a column devoted to "jewels" on the ballot papers, it would contain more entries than does that which records the deceased brother's doings for the welfare of our Institutions, and while the one avails his distressed family nothing, the other would be considered by many brethren as a special reason for affording some aid to his orphan, and, we are convinced, would influence the number of votes obtained from outside sources at the time of election.

We do not advocate the total abolition of jewels, as those of our subscribers, who have read our former articles will be aware; but think that some arrangement might be made with the Institutions to provide a badge which would represent "Past Master's jewel with Life Subscribership" or "Life Governorship," as the case might be, and if it were officially recognised it would soon become a badge more honourable than any yet known to Freemasonry.

Digitized by Google

A meeting of the North London Chapter of Improvement was held at the Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, on 4th inst. Companions H. Stiles Z., W. M. Stiles H, Side J., Knight S N., Edmonds P S. There was a large meeting of the Companions on this occasion. The work was carried out by the Principals and Companions of the Metropolitan Chapter, in a very able and impressive manner.

The Provincial Grand Lodge of Mark Masons of Berks and Oxon is to be held on Tuesday next, 9th of October, at Reading, under the banner of the Leopold Lodge, No. 235.

Bro. T. G. Cowley Gambrill will be installed Worshipful Master of the Villiers Lodge, No. 1194, at the Mitre Hotel, Hampton Court, this day (Saturday), by Bro. John Galt Fisher, the retiring W.M.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Hale Constitutions.—When the human frame has become debilitated from the effects of exposure, excesses, or neglect, then these Pills will work wonders. If they be taken according to the lucid directions wrapped round each box, Holloway's Pills exert the most exemplary tonic qualities in all those cases of nervous depression in which the vital powers have become so weakened that the circulation has been rendered languid and unsteady. They improve the appetite, strengthen the digestion, regulate the liver, and act as gentle aperients. The Pills are suited to all ages and habits. A patient writes:—"Your Pills, to be valued, require only to be known. During many years I sought a remedy in vain, was daily becoming weaker, when your Pills soon restored me."

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:o:—

Justice Lodge of Instruction, No. 147.—On Thursday, 4th inst., at the Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford. Present—Bros. J. W. Freeman W.M., Banks S.W. and Treasurer, H. C. Freeman J.W., Emblin S.D., Beckett J D., Ingram P.M. I.G. Past Masters Bros. Hutchings (Preceptor), Speight (Secretary); also Bros. Bullwinkle and Williams. After preliminaries, the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Williams being the candidate. The Lodge was closed in the third degree, and then called off. Lodge was closed in the second degree. Bro. Banks S.W. was elected W.M. for the ensuing Thursday.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—Meeting on Saturday, 29th ultimo, at the Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. There were present—Bros. Bird W.M., Powell S W., C. Lorkin J.W., Pearcy Preceptor, Fenner acting Secretary, Gellen S.D, Dixie J.D., Jenkins I.G.; also Bros. Moss, Langdale, Laughton, Robinson, &c. After preliminaries, Bro. Moss proved himself an efficient F.C., and was entrusted. Lodge opened in the third degree, and the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, including the traditional history, Bro. Moss officiating as candidate. Brother Moss worked the third section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Lodge closed to the first degree, when Brother Lorkin worked the fourth section of the first lecture, assisted by Brother Fenner. Bro. Jenkins, of the Dalhousie Lodge, No. 860, was elected a member. Bro. Powell was unanimously chosen to preside at the next meeting. A sum of 21s was voted out of the Lodge funds for the relief of a distressed brother. Lodge was then closed in due form and adjourned.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—At Bro. Smyth's, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston, on Tuesday, the 2nd instant. Brothers Cushing W.M, Christian S.W., Smyth J.W., Wardell S.D., Baker J.D., Watkinson I.G., F. Carr Secretary, Wallington Preceptor; also Brothers Allen, Brasted, Lorkin, Banister, A. J. Clark. The Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Banister candidate. The Lodge was called off, and afterwards resumed its Masonic duties. Bro. Lorkin worked the first, second, and fourth sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Christian was appointed W.M. for the ensuing week. A cordial vote of thanks was ordered to be recorded on the minutes to the W.M., this being the first time he had occupied the chair in any Lodge of Instruction. Lodge was then closed and adjourned.

Sir Hugh Myddelton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1602.—The usual weekly meeting of the above Lodge was held at the new quarters, the Old Queen's Head Tavern, Essex-road, Islington, on Tuesday, 2nd inst., when the ceremony of the consecration of a new Lodge was very effectively rehearsed by Bro. Jas. Terry P.M. 228, 1278, 1366, P.P G.S.W. Norths and Hunts, P.P.G J.W. Herts, Secretary Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. Bro. Terry having taken the presiding Officer's chair appointed his Officers pro tem. as follows:—Bros. J. Weston P M. 1602 S.W., J. Glass W.M. 453 J.W., J. Rhodes 1524 S.D, W. Hirst W.M. 15 J.D, C. Weeden 813 I G. After the consecration, the presiding Officer installed Bro. W. Hirst into the chair as W.M. The new Master having been proclaimed and saluted in the three degrees, appointed and invested his Officers. Bro. Terry then gave great pleasure and instruction to the numerous brethren assembled by the beautiful style in which he delivered the usual addresses to Master, Wardens and brethren. At the first time of rising the following brethren were unanimously elected members:—Bros. James Terry P.M. 228, 1278, 1366, &c., J. E. Terry 1964, J. H. Collingridge 1677, J. Evans P.M. 753, J. Child P.M. 453, S. Rushton 1677, J. Boulton 813, C. H. Ockelford 813, W. H. Newell 15, R. W Fraser 1507, Blackwell 1538, J. Rhodes 1524. A hearty and unanimous vote of thanks was awarded to Bro. James Terry for his kindness in giving his valuable time, and for the ability he had displayed during the evening; also to Bro. Rushton, for the very complete and able manner in which he had carried out the musical arrangements. After the Lodge was closed several of the brethren spent a most enjoyable social hour, some very good singing being developed. This brought a very successful evening to a termination.

Kingsland Lodge of Instruction, No. 1693.—A meeting was held on Monday last, at Bro. Bakers', the Cock Tavern, Highbury. Present—Bros. Hall W.M., Galer S.W., Rhodes J.W., Collingridge Sec., Weeden S.D., Jones J.D., Dixie M.C. and Acting Preceptor, Goddard I.G.; Past Master Bro. Kidder, and several other brethren. After preliminaries had been fully observed, the ceremony of installation was rehearsed, Bro. Brook candidate. The brethren saluted the W.M. in the several degrees. The ceremony of initiation was then rehearsed by Bro. Brook, Bro. Bagnall acting as candidate. The Lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned till Monday next, at 8.30; Bro. Galer will then preside.

Brixton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1949.—The usual weekly meeting was held on Tuesday, 2nd inst., at the Prince Regent Hotel (Bro. Monk's), Dulwich-road, East Brixton. Present—E. Bye jun. W.M., A. E. Albert S.W., Rich. Poore J.W., E. A. Francis Preceptor, Hy. M. Williams Secretary, C. J. Axford S.D., J. Amsden J.D., C. H. Phillips I.G.; also Bros. E. M. Money, G. W. Knight, S. Richardson, A. Jones, Thos. Poore P.M., James Stevens P.M., F. Hill, H. Hooper. Lodge opened in due form, and minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was ably rehearsed by the W.M., with Bro. Jones as candidate. Bro. Richardson proved his proficiency, and was entrusted. Lodge was opened in the second degree, and the ceremony of passing rehearsed. Lodge was closed in the second degree. Bro. Albert was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. Lodge was closed in due form and adjourned in perfect harmony.

INSTALLATION
OF H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES
As the M.W.G.M. of England,
AT THE ROYAL ALBERT HALL,
28th APRIL 1875.

COPIES of this BEAUTIFUL ENGRAVING by Brother HARTY P.M., consisting of Artist's Proofs, Proofs before Letters, and Lettered Proofs, India Prints, and Plain Prints may be had at Cost Price by applying to

Bro. W. R. NORRIS,
29 Southampton Buildings, W.C., London.

DANCING.—To Those Who Have Never Learnt to Dance.—Bro. and Mrs JACQUES WYNMANN receive daily, and undertake to teach ladies and gentlemen, who have never had the slightest previous knowledge or instruction, to go through every fashionable ball-dance in a few easy lessons. Private lessons any hour. Morning and evening classes

PROSPECTUS ON APPLICATION

ACADEMY—74 NEWMAN STREET, OXFORD STREET, W.

BRO. JACQUES WYNMANN WILL BE HAPPY TO TAKE THE MANAGEMENT OF MASONIC BALLS. FIRST-CLASS BANDS PROVIDED.

FIRE AT FREEMASONS' HALL!

LARGE photographs of the Temple, taken immediately after the fire, on 4th May (suitable for framing), 5s each; or framed in oak, securely packed, sent to any address in the United Kingdom, carriage paid, on receipt of postal order for 15s. Masters of Lodges should secure this memorial of the old Temple for their Lodge rooms.

W. G. PARKER, Photographer, 40 High Holborn, W.C.
Established 25 years.

Digitized by Google

DIARY FOR THE WEEK.

We shall be obliged if the Secretaries of the various Lodges throughout the Kingdom will favour us with a list of their Days of Meetings, &c., as we have decided to insert only those that are verified by the Officers of the several Lodges.

—:o:—

SATURDAY, 6th OCTOBER.

General Committee Boys' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
188—Percy, Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N., 8. (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1382—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7. (Instruction)
1572—Carnarvon, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street
1559—New Cross, New Cross Hall, New Cross
1622—Rose, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1949—Brixton, Brixton Hall, Acre Lane, Brixton
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-street, W. at 8.
R.A. 173—Phœnix, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.

119—Villiers, Albany Hotel, Twickenham
1213—Amherst, King's Arms Hotel, Westerham, Kent
1458—Truth, Private Rooms, Conservative Club, Newton Heath, Manchester
1466—Nova Ecclesia, Old Ship Hotel, Brighton
1567—Elliot, Railway Hotel, Feltham
R.A. 811—Yarborough, Old Ship Hotel Brighton

MONDAY, 8th OCTOBER.

22—Loughborough, Cambria Tavern, Cambria Road, near Loughborough Junction, at 7.30. (Instruction)
45—Strong Man, Excise Tavern, Old Broad Street, E.C., at 7 (Instruction)
58—Felicity, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street
69—Royal Naval, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
177—Sincerity, Railway Tavern, Railway Place, Fenchurch Street, at 7. (In)
180—St. James's Union, Union Tavern, Air-street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
186—Industry, Bell, Carter-lane, Doctors-commons, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
193—Confidence, Anderton's Fleet-street, E.C.
548—Wellington, White Swan, High-street, Deptford, at 8 (Instruction)
957—Leigh, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1237—Enfield, Market-place, Enfield
1425—Hyde Park, Fountain Abbey Hotel, Praed Street, Paddington, at 8 (In).
1488—Marquess of Ripon, Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-rd, Hackney, at 7.30 (In)
1507—Metropolitan, The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C., at 7.30 (Inst.)
1571—Leopold, Gregorian Arms, Bermondsey
1608—Kilburn, 46 South Molton Street, Oxford Street, W., at 8. (Inst.)
1623—West Smithfield, Farringdon Hotel Farringdon-street, E.C. at 8 (Inst.)
1695—Tredegar, Royal Hotel Mile End Road, corner of Burdett Road. (Inst).
1657—Aldersgate, Castle and Falcon, Aldersgate-street, E.C.
1693—Kingsland, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N., at 8.30 (Instruction)
1805—Bromley St. Leonard, Vestry Hall, Bow-road, Bromley
1891—St. Ambrose, Baron's Court Hotel West Kensington. (Instruction)
R.A. 22—Mount Sion, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street
R.A. 933—Doric, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 7. (Instruction)
R.A. 1366—Highgate, Gatehouse Hotel, Highgate
R.A. 1537—St. Peter Westminster, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.C. 71—Bayard, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden-square

—Derwent, Castle Hotel, Hastings
75—Love and Honour, Royal Hotel, Falmouth
107—St. John, Ashton House, Greek-street, Stockport
151—Albany, Masonic Hall, Newport, I.W.
182—St. Hilda, Freemasons' Hall, Fowler-street, South Shields
262—Salopian, the Lion Hotel, Shrewsbury
282—Sincerity, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
296—Royal Brunswick, Freemasons' Hall, Surrey-street, Sheffield
297—Witham, New Masonic Hall, Lincoln
382—Royal Union, Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge. (Instruction)
411—Commercial, Flying Horse Hotel, Nottingham
481—St. Peter, Masonic Hall, Marle-street, Newcastle
502—Rectitude, Town Hall, Rugby
587—Howe, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
589—Druids of Love and Liberality, Masonic Hall, Redruth
685—Montague, Royal Lion, Lyme Regis
721—Independence, Masonic Chambers, Eastgate-row-north, Chester
724—Derby, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
797—Hanley, Hanley Hall, Dartmouth
893—Meridian, National School Room, Millbrook, Cornwall
949—Williamson, St Stephen School, Monkwearmouth, Durham
1021—Hartington, Masonic Hall, Custom House Buildings, Barrow-in-Furness
1069—United Brothers, Castle Hotel, Southsea
117—Pentangle, Sun Hotel, Chatham
1221—Defence, Masonic Hall, Carlton-hill, Leeds
1253—Travellers, Queen's Hotel, Manchester
1350—Fermor Hesketh, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1436—Sandgate, Masonic Hall, Sandgate
1449—Royal Military, Masonic Hall, Canterbury
1474—Israel, Masonic Hall, Severn-street, Birmingham
1592—Abbey, Suffolk Hotel, Bury St. Edmunds
1611—Eboracum, Queen's Hotel, Micklegate, York
1618—Handyside, Zetland Hotel, Saltburn-by-Sea
1790—Old England, Masonic Hall, New Thornton Heath
1861—Claremont, School-room, Esher, Surrey
R.A. 154—Unanimity, Masonic Hall, Zetland-street, Wakefield
R.A. 379—Tyrie, Masonic Hall, Old Orchard Street, Bath
R.A. 485—Wakefield, Masonic Hall, Zetland-street, Wakefield
K.T. 52—Richard de Vernon, Dudley Arms Hotel, Dudley
R.C. 12—Red Cross, Athenæum, Lancaster

TUESDAY, 9th OCTOBER.

15—Kent, Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street
55—Constitutional, Bedford Hotel, Southampton-bldgs., Holborn, at 7 (Inst)
65—Prosperity, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7. (Instruction)
141—Faith, 2 Westminster Chambers, Victoria-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
167—St. John, Holly Bush, Hampstead
177—Domatic, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30 (Instruction)
180—St. James's Union, Freemasons' Hall, W.C
188—Joppa, Champion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, at 7.30. (Instruction)
198—Percy, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street, E.C.
211—St. Michael, Albion, Aldersgate-street, E.C.
228—United Strength, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, City
548—Wellington, White Swan, Deptford
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney (Instruction)
753—Prince Frederick William, Eagle Tavern, Clifton Road, Maida Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
820—Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond, at 7.30 (Instruction)
834—Ranelagh, Criterion, W.
860—Bellamine Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston at, 8 (Instruction)
917—Cosmopolitan, Cannon-street Hotel
933—Doric, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
1044—Wandsworth, Star and Garter Hotel, St. Ann's-hill, Wandsworth (Inst.)
1196—Urban, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1269—Stanhope, Thicket Hotel, Anerley
1349—Friars, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1360—Royal Arthur, Rock Tavern, Battersea Park Road, at 8. (Instruction)
1381—Kennington, The Horns, Kennington. (Instruction)
1446—Mount Edgcumbe, 19 Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8 (Instruction)
1471—Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, at 7 (Instruction)
1472—Henley, Three Crowns, North Woolwich (Instruction)
1540—Chaucer, Old White Hart, Borough High Street, at 8. (Instruction)
1554—Connaught, Palmerston Arms, Grosvenor Park, Camberwell, at 8 (In)
1593—Royal Naval College, Ship Hotel, Greenwich
1602—Sir Hugh Middleton, Queen's Head, Essex Road, N., at 8.30 (In)
1604—Wanderers, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1614—Covent Garden, Criterion, Piccadilly
1668—Samson, Regent Masonic Hall, Air-street, W.
1695—New Finsbury Park, Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, at 8 (Inst)
1707—Eleanor, Trocadero, Broad-street-buildings, Liverpool-street, 6.30 (Inst)
1949—Brixton, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, East Brixton, at 8. (Instruction)
1969—Waldeck, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, 6.30
R.A. 185—Jerusalem, Freemasons' Tavern, W.C.

93—Social, 23 St Giles Street, Norwich
131—Fortitude, Masonic Hall, Truro
181—United Chatham of Benevolence, Assembly Rooms, Old Brompton, Kent
241—Merchants, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
272—Harmony, Masonic Hall, Main Ridge, Boston
284—Shakespeare, Masonic Rooms, High-street, Warwick
536—Northern Counties, Masonic Hall, Maple Street, Newcastle (Instruct)
473—Faithful, Masonic Hall, New Street, Birmingham
495—Wakefield, Masonic Hall, Zetland Street, Wakefield
503—Belvidere, Star Hotel, Maidenhead
603—Zetland, Royal Hotel, Cheltenham
626—Lansdowne of Unity, Town Hall, Chippenham
696—St. Bartholomew, Anchor Hotel, Wednesbury
726—Staffords in Kent, North Western Hotel, Stafford
892—Royal Edward, Royal Oak Hotel, Leominster
903—Gosport, India Arms Hotel, High-street, Gosport
1120—St. Milburga, Tontine Hotel, Ironbridge
1260—Gilbert Greenhall, Masonic Rooms, Sankey Street, Warrington
1325—Stanley, 214 Great Homer-street, Liverpool, at 8 (Instruction)
1347—Lorne, Greyhound Hotel, Croydon, Surrey
1414—Knole, Masonic Hall, Sevenoaks
1465—Ockenden, Talbot Hotel, Sutton, Sussex
1508—Madoc, Queen's Hotel, Portmadoc
1515—Baildon, Masonic Room, Northgate, Baildon
1678—Tonbridge, Masonic Hall, Tonbridge
1713—Wilbraham, Walton Institute, Walton, Liverpool
R.A. 70—St John's, Hyrshe Mason's Temple, Princes Street, Plymouth
R.A. 163—Integrity, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester
R.A. 265—Judea, Masonic Club, Hanover-street, Keighley
R.A. 268—Union, Queen's Arms Inn, Ashton-under-Lyne
R.A. 280—Fidelity, Masonic Hall, Carlton-hill, Leeds
R.A. 330—St. Petrock, Masonic Hall, Turf Street, Bodmin
R.A. 402—Royal Sussex, Masonic Hall Nottingham
R.A. 452—Frederick of Unity, 105 High Street, Croydon
R.A. 537—Zion, 9 Hamilton Street, Birkenhead
M.M.—Provincial Grand Lodge of Berks and Oxon, Reading
M.M. 15—St. George's, Masonic Hall, Gandy Street, Exeter
M.M. 152—Dover and Cinque Ports, Royal Oak Hotel, Dover

WEDNESDAY, 10th OCTOBER.

Committee Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, Freemasons' Hall, at 3
15—Kent, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
30—United Mariners', The Lugard, Peckham, at 7.30. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Horse Shoe Inn, Newington Causeway, at 8. (Inst)
87—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth
147—Justice, White Swan, High-street, Deptford
193—Confidence, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, at 7.30 (Instruction)
228—United Strength, Prince Alfred, 13 Crowndale-rd., Camden-town, 8 (In)
538—La Tolerance, Morland's Hotel, Dean Street, Oxford St. at 8 (Inst)
619—Beadon, Greyhound, Dulwich
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7 (Instruction)
749—Belgrave, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
781—Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, E.
813—New Concord, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. (Instruction)
820—Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond
861—Whittington, Red Lion Passage, Fleet-street, at 8 (Instruction)
1260—John Hervey, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1278—Burdett Coutts, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel Road, E., at 8. (Inst.)
1284—Finsbury Park, Cock Tavern, Highbury, at 8 (Instruction)
1305—St. Marylebone, Langham Hotel, W.
1309—Lodge of St. John, City Arms Tavern, St. Mary Axe
1321—Emblematic, Goat and Star, Swallow Street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
1415—Prince Leopold, Moorgate Tavern, Moorgate Street, at 7 (Instruction)
1475—Peckham, Lord Wellington Hotel, 316 Old Kent-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1503—Francis Burdett, Albany Hotel, Twickenham
1541—Duke of Connaught, Royal Edward, Mare-street, Hackney, at 8 (Inst)
1538—St. Martin's-le-Grand, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham Street
1596—Upper Norwood, White Hart Hotel, Upper Norwood
1604—Wanderers, Adam and Eve Tavern, Palmer St., Westminster, at 7.30 (In)
1662—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow, at 7.30 (Inst.)
1694—Imperial, Cadogan Hotel, Sloane-street, Chelsea
1718—Centurion, Imperial Hotel, Holborn-viaduct
1781—Creaton, Prince Albert Tavern, Portobello-ter., Notting-hill-gate (Inst.)
1900—Montague Guest, Inns of Court Hotel, Lincoln's Inn-fields
1922—Earl of Lathom, Station Hotel, Camberwell New Road, S.E., at 8. (In.)
R.A.—Camden, The Boston, Junction Road, Holloway, at 8.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 177—Domatic, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-st, at 8 (Instruction)
R.A. 857—St. Mark, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
R.A. 1524—Duke of Connaught, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
M.M.—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, at 8 (Instruction)

51—Hope, Spread Eagle Inn, Cheetham-street, Rochdale
88—Loyalty, Masonic Hall, Prescot, Lancashire
146—Antiquity, Bull's Head Inn, Bradshawgate, Bolton
191—St. John, Knowsley Hotel, Haymarket-street, Bury, Lancashire
204—Caledonian, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester.
225—St. Luke's, Coach and Horses Hotel, Ipswich
256—Amphibious, Freemasons' Hall, Heckmondwike
277—Friendship, Freemasons' Hall, Union-street, Oldham
281—Fortitude, Masonic Rooms, Athenæum, Lancaster
283—Harmony, Masonic Hall, Todmorden
380—Inspiration, Masonic Temple, Commercial-street, Morley, near Leeds
483—Sympathy, Old Falcon Hotel, Gravesend
567—Unity, Globe Hotel, Warwick
580—Harmony, Wheat Sheaf, Ormskirk
666—Benevolence, Private Rooms, Prince Town, Dartmoor
755—St. Tudno, Freemasons's Hall, Llandudno
758—Ellesmere, Masonic Hall, Runcorn, at 7.30. (Instruction)
851—Worthing of Friendship, Steyne Hotel, Worthing
852—Zetland, Albert Hotel, New Bailey-street, Salford
854—Albert, Duke of York Inn, Shaw, near Oldham
910—St. Oswald, Masonic Hall, Ropergate, Pontefract
972—St. Augustine, Masonic Hall, Canterbury. Instruction)
1018—Shakespeare, Freemasons' Hall, Salem-street, Bradford
1031—Fletcher, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
1069—Marmion, Masonic Rooms, Church-street, Tamworth
1087—Borough, Bull Hotel, Burnley
1094—Temple, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1101—Grey Friars, Masonic Hall, Reading
1269—Lewises, Royal Hotel, Ramsgate
1218—Prince Alfred, Commercial Hotel, Mossley, near Manchester
1248—Denison, Grand Hotel, Scarborough
1264—Neptune, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7 (Instruction)
1342—Walker, Hope and Anchor Inn, Byker, Newcastle
1356—De Grey and Ripon, 140 North Hill Street, Toxteth Park, Liverpool

Digitized by Google

1396—Baldwin, Dalton Castle, Dalton-in-Furness
142 —Brownrigg, Assembly Rooms, Old Brompton, Chatham
143[illegible]—Nottinghamshire, George Hotel, Nottingham
1511—Alexandra, Hornsea, Hull (Instruction)
152[illegible]—Earl Shrewsbury, Public Rooms, Cannock, Stafford
1547—Liverpool, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.
1638—Brownrigg, Sun Hotel, Kingston-on-Thames, at 8. (Instruction)
1643—Perseverance, Masonic Hall, Hebburn-on-Tyne.
1947—Stanford, Town Hall, Hove

R.A. 62—Social, Queen's Hotel, Piccadilly, Manchester
R.A. 350—Meribah, Grapes Inn, Stonecliough, near Manchester
R.A. 402—Bank Terrace, Hargreaves Arms Hotel, Accrington
R.A. 673—St. John, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 809—Etheldreda, Rose and Crown Hotel, Wisbech
R.A. 1177—Dinlych, Masonic Room, South Parade, Tenby
R.A. 1345—Victoria, Cross Keys Hotel, Eccles
M.M. 145—Constantine, Three Cups Hotel, Colchester

THURSDAY, 11th OCTOBER.

3—Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-street, Fitzroy-sq., at 8 (Instruction)
27—Egyptian, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
67—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth, at 8 (Instruction)
1 [illegible]—Justice, Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford, at 8. (Instruction)
206—Friendship, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street, E.C.
238—Pilgrim, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
435—Salisbury, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
704—Camden, Lincoln's Inn Restaurant, 306 High Holborn, at 7 (Instruction)
754—High Cross, Coach and Horses, Lower Tottenham, at 8 (Instruction)
860—Dalhousie, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
879—Southwark, Southwark Park Tavern
901—City of London, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, at 6.30. (Instruction)
902—Burgoyne, Cock Tavern, St. Martin's-court, Ludgate-hill, at 6.30 (Inst)
1076—Capper, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
1158—Southern Star, Pheasant, Stangate, Westminster-bridge, at 8 (Inst.)
1185—Lewis, Kings Arms Hotel, Wood Green, at 7 (Instruction)
1216—Hesdonald, Head Quarters 1st Surrey Rifles, Camberwell
1237—Upton, Swan, Bethnal Green-road, near Shoreditch, at 8 (Instruction)
1339—Stockwell, Cock Tavern, Kennington-road, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1425—Hyde Park, The Westbourne, Craven-road, Paddington
1426—The Great City, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
1457—Bagshaw, Princes Hall, Princes-road, Buckhurst Hill
1471—Islington, Cock Tavern, Highbury
1558—Duke of Connaught, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
1593—Ley Spring, Red Lion, Leytonstone
1599—Skelmersdale, Masons' Hall Tavern, Basinghall-street, E.C.
1614—Covent Garden, Constitution, Bedford-street, W.C., at 7.45 (Instruction)
1673—Langton, Mansion House Station Restaurant, E.C. at 6. (Instruction)
1677—Crusaders, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 9 (Inst.)
1706—Plucknett, Bald Faced Stag, East Finchley
179[illegible]—Creaton, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
180[illegible]—Coborn, Vestry Hall, Bow
1950—Southgate, Railway Hotel, New Southgate, at 7.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 73—Mount Lebanon, Bridge House Hotel, London-bridge
R.A. 170—St. George's, Green Man Hotel, Blackheath
R.A. 619—Beadon, Masons' Hall Tavern, Basinghall-street
R.A. 753—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, at 8. (In.)
R.A. 813—New Concord, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
R.A. 1383—Friends in Council, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden-square
R.A. 1471—North London, Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, at 8. (Instruction)
M.M. 86—Samson and Lion, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C.

55—Medina, 85 High-street, Cowes
97—Palatine, Masonic Hall, Toward-road, Sunderland.
112—St. George, Masonic Hall, Fore-street Hill, Exeter
116—Royal Lancashire, Swan Hotel, Colne
139—Britannia, Freemasons' Hall, Surrey-street, Sheffield
203—Ancient Union, Masonic Hall, Liverpool. (Instruction)
208—Three Grand Principles, Masonic Hall, Dewsbury
216—Harmonic, Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool.
249—Mariners, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8 (Instruction)
275—Harmony, Masonic Hall, South Parade, Huddersfield
285—Amity, Swan Hotel, Market-place, Haslingden
333—Royal Preston, Castle Hotel, Preston
337—Candour, New Masonic Rooms, Uppermill, Saddleworth
339—Unanimity, Crown Hotel, Penrith, Cumberland.
341—Wellington, Cinque Ports Hotel, Rye
3[illegible]—Faith, Bull's Head Inn, Radcliffe, Lancashire
469—Hundred of Elloe, Masonic Rooms, London Road, Spalding.
477—Mersey, 55 Argyle-street, Birkenhead.
546—Etruscan, Masonic Hall, Caroline-street, Longton, Staffor .
636—Ogle, Masonic Hall, Morpeth
659—Blagdon, Ridley Arms Hotel, Blyth
732—Royal Brunswick, Royal Pavilion, Brighton.
739—Temperance, Masonic Room, New-street, Birmingham.
784—Wellington, Public Rooms, Park-street, Deal
786—Croxteth United Service, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
945—Abbey, Abbey Council Chamber, Abingdon, Berks
991—Tyne, Masonic Hall, Wellington Quay, Northumberland
1035—Prince of Wales, Masonic Hall, Kirkdale, Liverpool.
1058—Derby, Knowsley's Hotel, Cheetham, Lancashire
1098—St. George, Private Room, Temperance Hotel, Tredegar, Mon.
1144—Milton, Commercial Hotel, Ashton-under-Lyne
1145—Equality, Red Lion Hotel, Accrington
1147—St. David, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester.
1164—Eliot, Private Rooms, St. German's, Cornwall.
1182—Duke of Edinburgh, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1204—Royd, Imperial Hotel, Malvern, Worcestershire.
1273—St. Michael, Free Church School-rooms, Sittingbourne
1369—Bala, Plasgoch Hotel, Bala
1416—Falcon, Masonic Hall, Castle Yard, Thirsk
1429—Albert Edward Prince of Wales, Masonic Hall, Newport, Mon
1576—Dee, Union Hotel, Parkgate, Cheshire
1580—Cranbourne, Red Lion Hotel, Hatfield, Herts, at 8. (Instruction)
1583—Corbet, Corbet Arms, Towyn
1697—Hospitality, Royal Hotel, Waterfoot, near Manchester
1782—Machen, Swan Hotel, Coleshill
1892—Wallington, King's Arms Hotel, Carshalton. (Instruction)
1915—Graystone, Forester's Hall, Whitstable
R.A. 275—Perseverance, Masonic Hall, South Parade, Huddersfield
R.A. 867—Cabbell, 23 St Giles Street, Norwich
M.M. 16—Friendship, 2 St. Stephen's Street, Devonport
M.M. 21—Howe, George Hotel, Melton Mowbray

FRIDAY, 12th OCTOBER.

Emulation Lodge of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
25—Robert Burns, The North Pole, 115 Oxford-street, W., at 8 (Instruc.)
144—St. Luke, White Hart, King's-road, Chelsea, at 7.30. (Instruction)
157—Bedford, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
177—Domatic, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30. (Instruct.)
766—William Preston, St. Andrew's Tavern, George St., Baker St., at 8 (In.)
780—Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge. (Instruction)
83[illegible]—Ranelagh, Six Bells, Hammersmith (Instruction)
903—Doric, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1056—Metropolitan, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. at 7. (Instruction)
115[illegible]—Belgrave, Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
1201—Eclectic, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1296—Royal Standard, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, at 8. (In.)
1365—Clapton, White Hart, Lower Clapton, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1643—E. Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
1789—Ubique, Guardsman Army Coffee Tavern, Buckingham Palace-road, S.W., at 7.30. (Instruction)
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich. (Instruction)
R.A. 33—Britannic, Freemasons' Tavern, W.C.
R.A. 65—Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall St.
R.A. 70—Pythagorean, Portland Hotel, London-street, Greenwich. (Inst.)
R.A. 569—Fitzroy, Headquarters Hon. Artillery Company, City Road, E.C.
M.M.—Old Kent, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, E.C. (Instruction)
K.T. D—Mount Calvary, Freemasons' Tavern, W.C.

36—Glamorgan, Freemasons' Hall, Arcade, St. Mary's-street, Cardiff.
64—Fortitude, Queen's Hotel, Manchester
155—Perseverance, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
453—Chigwell, Prince's Hall, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30 (Instruction)
458—Acre and Calder, Private Rooms, Ouse-street, Goole.
526—Honour, Star and Garter Hotel, Wolverhampton
682—Dartmouth, Dartmouth Hotel, West Bromwich
697—United, George Hotel Colchester.
815—Blair, Town Hall, Stretford-road, Hulme
916—Hartington, Burlington Hotel, Eastbourne
1001—Harrogate and Claro, Masonic Rooms, Parliament-street, Harrogate
1097—Beaudesert, Assembly Rooms, Corn Exchange, Leighton Buzzard
1143—Royal Denbigh, Council Room, Denbigh
1259—Rock, Royal Rock Hotel, Rock Ferry
General Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, at 7
R.A. 119—Sun, Square and Compass, Masonic Hall, Whitehaven
R.A. 137—Amity, Masonic Hall, Poole
R.A. 446—De Sussex, Masonic Hall, Maple Street, Newcastle
R.A. 601—Eyton St. John, Wrekin Hotel, Wellington, Salop

SATURDAY, 13th OCTOBER.

Quarterly General Court Girls' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 12
176—Caveac, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street
[illegible]—Percy, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Seven Sisters-road, N., at 8 (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 153 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1384—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7 (Instruction)
1426—The Great City, Cannon Street Hotel
1607—Loyalty, London Tavern, Fenchurch Street
1613—West Middlesex, The Institute, Ealing
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1671—Mizmah, Albion Hotel, Aldersgate-street
1685—Guelph, Red Lion, Leytonstone
1745—Perseverance, Imperial Hotel, Holborn Viaduct
1839—Duke of Cornwall, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1964—Clerkenwell, Holborn Viaduct Hotel, E.C.
Royal Chapter of Improvement (Inst.) at 8 Regent-st., W., at 8
M.M. 211—Hammersmith, Windsor Castle Hotel, King Street W, Hammersmith

149—Peace, Private Rooms, Meltham
1308—Prince George, Private Rooms, Bottoms, Eastwood
1415—Campbell, Mitre Hotel, Hampton Court
637—Unity, Abercorn Hotel, Great Stanmore

ROYAL KENSINGTON LODGE, No. 1627.

ON Wednesday evening Brother Delacoste invited the members of his Lodge to dine with him at the Café Royal (Bro. Nicols), Regent-street, W., on which occasion there were present Bros. Walters S.W., Tanner J.W., Stevens I.P.M., Soppet P.M. Treasurer, Dewar P.M. Secretary, B. Leith P.G.D., Hay S.D., Langridge J.D., Driver, Thomas, Ramsay and Joup. Visitors—Bros. Dr. Ramsey P.M., Pigache J.W. No. 12, A. Halcomb P.M. No. 90, Liotott, and J. E. Shand P.M. and Treasurer City of Westminster Lodge. After the usual loyal toasts the I.P.M. proposed the health of the W.M. and presented him, in the name of the Lodge, with a very handsome massive cup (egg or oval shape, with tripod legs of lion's claws pattern), on ebony stand, with the following inscription:—

To EUGENE DELACOSTE,
W.M. Royal Kensington Lodge, No. 1627,
Presented to him during his tenure of office as a mark of esteem and Brotherly love.
1882-83.

The cup, which is a capacious one, having been filled with 1874 Moet's Brut Imperial, was passed round. Bro. Delacoste then rose; he said he could hardly find words to express his gratification and delight at the very great compliment paid him. The kindness of the brethren had indeed taken him by surprise. He had no idea his services would have been appreciated in such a substantial manner by the members of the Lodge; it would be an everlasting memento to him of the fraternal good-fellowship existing between him and the brethren. Among other toasts, that of the Visitors received full honours: all of the guests expressed the pleasure it had afforded them to see Bro. Delacoste held in such high esteem. Bro. Pigache and others enlivened the proceedings with some excellent songs; altogether a most enjoyable evening was spent.

United Pilgrims Lodge of Instruction, No. 507.—

There was a goodly attendance of brethren at the meeting of this Lodge of Instruction, at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, on Friday, the 28th ult. W. Bro. James Stevens P.M. 720, 1206, 1426, the Preceptor, opened the Lodge at 7:30 precisely, when, amongst others present, were W. Bros. J. N. Bate W.M. Royal Jubilee, W. F. Kibble W.M. The Great City 1426, and W. Thurston P.M. Treasurer; Bros. J. B. Sarjeant, R. Poore Secretary, C. W. Acocks, C. O Mote, G. H. Chapman, D. Stroud, J. Laurence, C. J. Axford, Payne, Tomkins, &c. The ceremony of installation of W.M. was rehearsed, with the object of affording special instruction to the W. Bros. Bate and Kibble, who are about to instal their respective successors in the Lodges of which they are the present Masters. These brethren very ably rehearsed several portions of the ceremony, and both gave promise of success in the discharge of the several duties which devolve on all Masters desirous of leaving their exalted office with credit and reputation. Time was found for practice in entry drill, which greatly interested the visitors. Bros. James Laurence and Tomkins were elected members. Bro. J. B. Sarjeant was elected W.M. for the ensuing week, and the Lodge was then closed in perfect harmony.

Digitized by Google

Price 3s 6d, Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

FIRST SERIES.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

1 OUR LITERARY BROTHER.
2 A DISTINGUISHED MASON.
3 THE MAN OF ENERGY.
4 FATHER TIME.
5 A CORNER STONE.
6 THE CRAFTSMAN.
7 THE GOWNSMAN.
8 AN EASTERN STAR.
9 THE KNIGHT ERRANT.
10 THE OCTOGENARIAN.
11 A ZEALOUS OFFICER.
12 THE SOLDIER.
13 FROM UNDER THE CROWN.
14 OUR HERCULES.
15 A MERCHANT PRINCE.
16 THE CHURCHMAN.
17 THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER.
18 THE MYSTIC.
19 A MODEL MASON.
20 A CHIP FROM JOPPA.
21 A PILLAR OF MASONRY.
22 BAYARD.
23 A RIGHT HAND MAN.
24 OUR CITIZEN BROTHER.
25 AN ABLE PRECEPTOR.
26 AN ANCIENT BRITON.
27 THE ARTIST.
28 THE FATHER OF THE LODGE.
29 A SHINING LIGHT.
30 AN ART STUDENT.
31 THE MARINER
32 SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.
33. "OLD MUG."

Second Series, Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 3s 6d, post free.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

SKETCHES

OF

DISTINGUISHED FREEMASONS.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

BY G. BLIZARD ABBOTT, OF LODGE No. 1385,

ASSOCIATE OF KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

NESTOR
(Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, 33 deg., Past G.S.B., Past Dep. P.G.M. Hants, Assistant Secretary Sup. Council A. and A. Rite.)

THE STATESMAN
(The Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, 33 deg., Pro Grand Master, Pro Grand Z., Past G.M.M.M., and Past M.P.S.G. Commander A. and A. Rite.

THE TREASURER
(Bro. F. Adlard, P.M. and Treasurer Royal York Lodge of Perseverance, No. 7).

THE DEPUTY
(The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, 33 deg., Deputy G. Master, Grand H., G.M.M.M., Great Prior of the Temple, and M.P. Sov. G. Commander A. and A. Rite.)

A PROVINCIAL MAGNATE
(Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Hants and Isle of Wight, Past G.M.M.M. and Prov. G. Prior of the Temple, for Hants).

TIME-HONOURED LANCASTER
(Bro. J. Lancaster Hine, P. Prov. G.S. Warden East Lancashire).

THE SCHOLAR
(Bro. John Newton, F.R.A.S., P.M., P.Z., Author of Works on Navigation).

OUR NOBLE CRITIC
(The Right Hon. Lord Leigh, 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Warwickshire, Past G.M.M.M.)

OUR PERIPATETIC BROTHER
(Bro. C. Fitz Gerald Matier, 30 deg., G. Steward Scotland, and Past G.S. Warden Greece).

A BOLTON LUMINARY
(Bro. G. Parker Brockbank, 31 deg., Past Prov. G.S.D., and P. Prov. G. Treas. [Arch] E. Lancashire.

A WARDEN OF THE FENS
(The late Bro. John Sutcliffe, Past Prov. G.S. Warden, and Prov. G.M.M.M. Lincolnshire).

A WARDEN OF MARK
(The Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, 32 deg., Past G.S. Warden, and Dep. G.M.M.M).

A MASTER OF CEREMONIAL
(Bro. Thos. Entwisle, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. of Works E. Lan.)

OUR COSMOPOLITAN BROTHER
(Bro. Samuel Rawson, 33 deg., Past Dist. G.M. and G. Sup. China).

A GREAT ARITHMETICIAN
(Bro. R. B. Webster, Member of the Finance and Audit Committees of the R.M. Girls' and Boys' Schools).

AN INSTALLING MASTER
(Bro. W. Biggs, Past Prov. G.S.W. Wilts, and Past Prov. G. Sec. Berks and Bucks).

A VETERAN
(Bro. W. Kelly, Past Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Leicestershire and Rutland, Prov. G.M.M.M. Leicestershire).

A GRAND STEWARD
(Bro. John Wordsworth, 30 deg., Past G. Steward, Past Prov. G.J.W.W. Yorkshire, and Prov. G.M.M.M. W. Yorkshire).

VIR VERITAS
(Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M and Past Prov. Grand. Soj. [Arch] Herts).

ACHILLES
(Bro. E. J. Morris, Past G.J.D., and Past Dep. Prov. G.M. of Eastern Division of South Wales).

A DEVON CRAFTSMAN
(Bro. J. E. Curtis, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. Warden Devon).

SIR RHADAMANTH
(Bro. J. M. Pulteney Montagu, J.P. D.L., 33 deg., G. J. Deacon, Past Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, and G. Chancellor Supreme Council A. and A. Rite).

HIPPOCRATES
(Bro. J. Pearson Bell, M.D., Past G. Deacon, Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. N. and E. Yorkshire).

A CESTRIAN CHIEF
(The Right Hon Lord de Tabley, Past G.S.W., Prov. G.M. Cheshire, Grand J., and Prov. G Sup. Cheshire).

A HARBINGER OF PEACE
(Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., Past Prov. G.J.D. Herts).

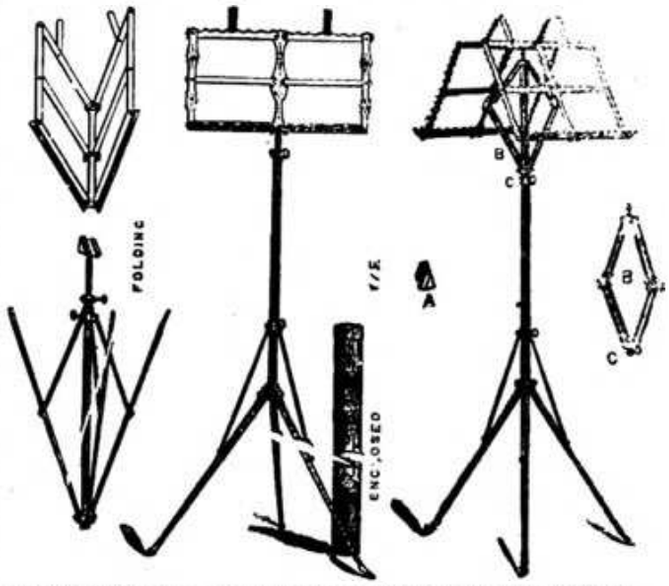
THE LORD OF UNDERLEY
(The Earl of Bective, M.P., Prov. G.M., Prov. G. Sup., and Prov. G.M.M.M. Cumberland and Westmoreland, and Past G. Sov. of the Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine).

A BOON COMPANION
(Bro. E. C. Woodward, P.M. 382, 1637, &c.)

A GRAND SUPERINTENDENT
(Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Berks and Bucks).

ÆSCULAPIUS
(Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., 32 deg., Past G.S.B., Craft, and Past G.St.B., Arch, Intendant General Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine for North Lancashire).

LONDON: W. W. MORGAN.



By Order of all Booksellers, or will be sent direct, by post, from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N

THE AMERICAN

PORTABLE MUSIC STANDS.

J. F. WALTERS' PATENT.

Iron, from 10/6 each. Brass, from 30/- each.

THESE Stands are unsurpassed in simplicity, strength, portability cheapness, and elegance of finish. They are suitable for Military Bands Orchestras, Reading and News Rooms, Libraries, Studies, and Drawing Rooms. When opened to their full capacity they stand 5 feet high, and can be folded and enclosed in a case 21 inches long by 2 inches diameter. The weight is about 3 lbs. 12 oz., and they will support a weight of 50 lbs.

To be obtained of all Music Dealers, and of the Manufacturers and Proprietors of the Patent,

HARROW & CO.

MUSIC SMITHS, BRASS WORKERS, &c.

13 and 14 Portland Street, Soho, London, W.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

Free by Post, Price One Shilling.

THE

REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS;

CRITICALLY CONSIDERED,

AND

COMPARED WITH THE OLD EDITION.

—:o:—

A SERIES OF ARTICLES,

REPRINTED FROM THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

—:o:—

LONDON:

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE;
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL & CO., 4 STATIONERS' HALL COURT;
AND OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

"All Freemasons interested in the Revision of the above, should read this work."

Crown 8vo, price 2s 6d, cloth lettered.

Uniformity of Masonic Ritual and Observance.

By Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M., P.Z., &c.

"May be read with advantage by the whole Craft."—Sunday Times.

"Grand Lodge should at once set to work to secure the desired uniformity."—Sheffield Post.

"The subject is ably argued by the author."—Western Daily Mercury.

"Useful and valuable in the highest degree."—Exeter Gazette.

"Will have a material effect on the future of Masonic Ritual."—South Western Star.

"The author adduces many variations in the language used by different Preceptors"—Cox's Monthly Legal Circular.

"Ought to be in the hands of every Mason."—Northampton Guardian.

"To Freemasons generally it will be found useful and valuable, and we commend it to their notice accordingly."—Surrey County Observer.

"Bro. Stevens' motion for a Committee on the subject of Uniformity of Ritual was carried by a large majority."—Freemason's Chronicle report of Grand Lodge meeting, 3rd December 1879.

Sent, by post, on receipt of stamps, by the Author, Bro. JAMES STEVENS, 112 High-street, Clapham, S.W.; or by Bro. W. W. MORGAN Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

Digitized by Google

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE,

A Weekly Record of Masonic Intelligence. Sanctioned by the Grand Lodge of England.

Price—13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE will be forwarded direct from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N., on receipt of Post Office Order for the amount. Intending Subscribers should forward their full Addresses to prevent mistakes.

Post Office Orders to be made payable to W. W. MORGAN, at Penton-street Office. Cheques crossed "London and County."

Advertisers will find THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE an exceptionally good medium for Advertisements of every class.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Per Page...	£8 0 0
Back Page	£10 0 0

Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1s per line.

General Advertisements, Trade Announcements, &c. single column, 5s per inch. Double Column Advertisements 1s per line. Special Terms for a Series of Insertions on application.

Agents, from whom copies can always be had:—

Messrs. SPENCER and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C.
Messrs. CURTICE and Co., 12 Catherine-street, Strand.
Messrs. KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.
Mr. RITCHIE, 6 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SIMPSON BROS., Shoe Lane.
Mr. H. SIMPSON, 7 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SMITH and SONS, 183 Strand.
Messrs. STEEL and JONES, 4 Spring Gardens, Charing Cross.
Mr. G. VICKERS, Angel Court, Strand.
Mr. H. VICKERS, 317 Strand.

RICHARD PEARCY,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
31 PACKINGTON STREET, ISLINGTON,
LONDON, N.

Watches Made and Repaired in the very best manner.

MASONIC JEWELS.

THE THEATRES, &c.

COVENT GARDEN.—PROMENADE CONCERTS.

PRINCESS'S.—At 7, AUNT CHARLOTTE'S MAID. At 7.40, THE SILVER KING.

HAYMARKET.—At 7.50, FIRST IN THE FIELD. At 8.15, FEDORA.

DRURY LANE.—At 7.45 FREEDOM.

LYCEUM.—At 8, INGOMAR.

ADELPHI.—At 7.45, IN THE RANKS.

STRAND.—At 8, VICE VERSA. At 9.15, SILVER GUILT.

SAVOY.—At 8, PRIVATE WIRE. At 8.40, IOLANTHE.

GAIETY.—At 7.40, GOOSE WITH GOLDEN EGGS. At 8.30, BLUE BEARD.

AVENUE.—At 7.30, OBLIGING A FRIEND. At 8.15, LA VIE.

TOOLE'S.—At 8, A ROW IN THE HOUSE. At 8.45, M.P.

COURT.—At 8, THE MILLIONAIRE.

GLOBE.—At 7.45, MAN PROPOSES. At 8.30, THE GLASS OF FASHION.

VAUDEVILLE.—At 8, AN OLD MASTER. At 9, CONFUSION.

ROYALTY.—At 7.45, A CUP OF TEA. At 8.30, THE MERRY DUCHESS.

COMEDY.—At 7.45, RIP VAN WINKLE.

ST. JAMES'S.—At 8, IMPULSE.

GRAND.—At 7.30, MY SWEETHEART.

STANDARD.—At 7.30, GLAD TIDINGS.

SADLER'S WELLS.—At 7.30, FAITHFUL HEART.

SURREY.—At 7.30, MANKIND.

MOHAWK MINSTRELS, Agricultural Hall.—Every evening, at 8. On Wednesday, 17th instant, Mr. HARRY HUNTER'S BENEFIT.

EGYPTIAN HALL.—Messrs. MASKELYNE AND COOKE. Every evening at 8.

CRYSTAL PALACE.—This day, M.P. GRAND EVENING FETE. CONCERT. PANORAMA. Open Daily, Aquarium, Picture Gallery, &c.

BRO. G. S. GRAHAM,

The Popular Tenor and Buffo Vocalist, from St. James's Hall, Crystal Palace, &c.

(Provincial Grand Organist Middlesex)

IS OPEN TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FOR

Concerts, Entertainments, & Masonic Banquets.

Bro. G. S. Graham's Party of Eminent Artists can be engaged for Masonic Banquets, Consecrations and Installations, &c. For Opinions of the Press, and terms, address—G. S. GRAHAM, St. John's Villa, 91 Fernlea Road, Balham, Surrey.

PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS ON EASY TERMS.

GROVER & GROVER

LET ON HIRE, WITH OPTION OF PURCHASE,

BEAUTIFUL AND PERFECT INSTRUMENTS.
PURCHASERS CHOOSE THEIR OWN TERMS,
FROM 15s TO £3 3s PER QUARTER.

The Advantages of a Trial, with the Convenience of the Three Years' System at Cash Price, by Paying about a Quarter of the value down, the Balance by Easy Payments, from 15s per quarter.

GROVER & GROVER (late AVILL & SMART),
TABERNACLE SQUARE, FINSBURY, E.C.
ESTABLISHED 1830

PIANOFORTES, £19 10s.
AMERICAN ORGANS, £9 5s.
HARMONIUMS, £5 15s.

Perfect in Tone and Touch. Elegant Walnut Cases. Every Instrument warranted to stand any extreme climate.

SHIPPERS AND DEALERS SUPPLIED.

Before deciding on purchasing, write for a descriptive Price List and Testimonials to G. LINSTEAD, Manager.

COBDEN PIANOFORTE COMPANY, 18 & 19 Eversholt Street, Camden Town, London.

BILLIARD BALLS. Chalks, Cues and Tips, at HENNIG BROS., Ivory Works, 11 High Street, London, W.C. Cheapest house in the trade for billiard-table requisites and ivory goods in general. Old balls adjusted or exchanged, and tables recovered. Price Lists on application. Established 1843.

RHEUMATISM.

THE only real remedy for this complaint is the Northern Cure (patent). In bottles 1s 1½d each, to be had of all Chemists. Proprietors and Manufacturer, EDWARDS AND ALEXANDER, 29 Blacket-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR GOUT and RHEUMATISM.

The excruciating pain is quickly relieved and cured in a few days by this celebrated Medicine.

These Pills require no restraint of diet during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.

Sold by all Chemists at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.

HOTELS, ETC.

CARLISLE—Bush Hotel. SUTCLIFFE HOLROYD, Proprietor

EALING—Feathers Hotel

EASTBOURNE—Pier Hotel, Cavendish Place. View of Sea and Pier. A. TAYLOR Proprietor

HAVERFORDWEST.—Queen's Family and Commercial Hotel. BEN. M. DAVIES Proprietor.

KEW—Star and Garter. Good accommodation for Lodge & Dinner Parties. J. BRILL Proprietor

MILFORD HAVEN.—Lord Nelson Hotel. T. PALMER Proprietor

SANDWICH—Bell Family and Commercial Hotel, Good Stabling. J. J. FILMER Proprietor

ALL WHO SUFFER
FROM
GOUT AND RHEUMATISM
Should immediately have recourse to

EADE'S CELEBRATED GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS.

Known throughout the world as the safest and most effectual remedy for the instant relief and rapid cure of Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Lumbago, and all Pains in the Head, Face, and Limbs.

OF ALL CHEMISTS, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d,

GEORGE EADE,
SOLE PROPRIETOR,
72 GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

SMOKE CHARLESWORTH & AUSTINS TOBACCOS AND CIGARS
BORO' S.E.
Old Chums 2d
Favourites 2d & 3d
Golden Shag 4d & 5d

Digitized by Google

JOSEPH J. CANEY,

DIAMOND MERCHANT, AND MANUFACTURING JEWELLER AND WATCH MAKER,

44 CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.

MASONIC JEWELS, CLOTHING AND FURNITURE.

Spe'ialité—First Class Jewels—Artistic—Massive—Best Quality—Moderate in Price

CATALOGUES POST FREE.

A LARGE STOCK OF LOOSE BRILLIANTS FOR EXPENSIVE JEWELS.

Diamond Rings, Brooches, Studs, Earrings and Bracelets in Great Variety.

MASONIC JEWELS FOR ALL DEGREES.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS AND DECORATIONS.

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD IN ALL SIZES.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEDALS AND BADGES.

A. D. LOEWENSTARK & SONS, Medallists, 210 STRAND, LONDON, W.C.

MANUFACTORY—1 DEVEREUX COURT, STRAND.

R. W. GALER,

PRACTICAL WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

12 GREEN LANES, LONDON, N.

(Six doors from Newington Green).

OLD GOLD and SILVER BOUGHT or TAKEN in EXCHANGE.

PRESENTATION WATCHES AND MASONIC JEWELS MANUFACTURED ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

Communications by Post punctually attended to.

G. W. KNIGHT,

Carver, Gilder, and Picture Frame Maker,

LITTLE BELL ALLEY, BACK OF MOORGATE STREET, CITY,

AND

38 CHAUCER ROAD, BRIXTON.

CORNICES AND FRAMES OF ALL KINDS REPAIRED AND REGILT.

ADAM S. MATHER,

GAS ENGINEER, GENERAL GAS FITTER AND BELL HANGER,

MANUFACTURER OF BILLIARD LIGHTS

AND OF EVERY DESCRIPTION OF GAS APPARATUS FOR COOKING AND HEATING

Bath Rooms Fitted up. All the Latest Improvements Introduced.

MANUFACTORY—12 CHARLES STREET, HATTON GARDEN, E.C.;

AND AT 278 CALEDONIAN ROAD, ISLINGTON, N.

ESTIMATES GIVEN.

W. W. MORGAN,

LETTER-PRESS, COPPER-PLATE, LITHOGRAPHIC PRINTER,

BELVIDERE WORKS,

HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE.

SUMMONSES, MENU CARDS, &c. ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED.

Sketches or Designs for Special Purposes Furnished on Application.

Books, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Catalogues, Posters, Billheads, Showcards, &c.

Every description of Printing (Plain or Ornamental) executed in First Class Style.

ESTIMATES SUPPLIED.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER

7s 6d.

If with Pockets, 6d each pocket extra.

225 HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.

DRESS SUITS from £3 3s to £5 5s.

Demy 8vo, Price 7s 6d,

THE CHESS OPENINGS,

By ROBERT B. WORMALD.

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE.

CONCERTINAS,

ENGLISH AND ANGLO-GERMAN.

G. JONES, 350 Commercial-road, London, E., inventor of the Anglo-German with chromatic scale. His tempered steel notes never get out of tune. Used by the leading performers. Price List of Musical Instruments of every description free. Established 1850.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY Limited, 7 Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General accidents, Railway accidents, | Personal injuries, Death by accident.

O. HARDING, Manager.

THE EMPIRE LAMP.

(RIPPINGILLE'S PATENT.)

THE MOST BRILLIANT AND ECONOMICAL DOMESTIC LIGHT EXTANT.

It equals Gas for Simplicity, but surpasses it for Illuminating Power.

IT burns without a chimney, a pine-shaped globe only being required, which has never been known to break from the heat of the flame. It will give more light than any other lamp with a wick of equal size. The combustion is so perfect that it deodorises the oil, and burns absolutely without smell, giving an intense pure white and beautiful light. It is unrivalled for simplicity in lighting, cleaning, and trimming, and is, in fact, the perfection of artificial light. Suitable for Cottage or Mansion, Churches, Chapels, &c.

Illustrated Catalogue, with full particulars, and giving valuable hints on Domestic Lighting and the Management of Lamps, free on application.

THE HOLBORN LAMP COMPANY,

118 HOLBORN, LONDON, E.C.

Say where you saw this Advertisement.

Bro. A. OLDROYD, Stratford, London,

MANUFACTURER OF TOBACCO POUCHES,

With any name in raised letters.

CAN be obtained direct from the Maker, at the undermentioned prices, on receipt of P.O.O. payable at Stratford.

	Price	Will take a name of
No. 3	2/0 ...	9 letters
,, 4	2/6 ...	11
,, 5	3/0 ...	12
,, 6	3/6 ...	13
,, 7	4/0 ...
,, 8	4/6 ...
,, 9	5/0 ...

A. OLDROYD,

Agent for Algerian Cigars, and Importer of Havana and Continental Cigars,

84 HIGH STREET, STRATFORD, LONDON, E.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

BIRKBECK BANK.—Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Current Accounts opened according to the usual practice of other Bankers, and Interest allowed on the minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £25. No commission charged for keeping Accounts.

The Bank also receives money on Deposit at three per cent. Interest, repayable on demand.

The Bank undertakes for its Customers, free of charge, the custody of Deeds, Writings, and other Securities and Valuables, the collection of Bills of Exchange, Dividends, and Coupons; and the purchase and sale of Stocks and Shares.

Letters of Credit and Circular Notes issued.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

31st March 1880.

The Birkbeck Building Society's Annual Receipts exceed Four Millions.

HOW TO PURCHASE A HOUSE FOR TWO GUINEAS PER MONTH, with immediate Possession and no Rent to pay. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY.

HOW TO PURCHASE A PLOT OF LAND FOR FIVE SHILLINGS PER MONTH, with immediate possession, either for Building or Gardening purposes. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Published every Wednesday. Price 3d,

THE

CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE;

AND

Journal of Indoor and Outdoor Amusements.

THE CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE can be ordered of any Bookseller in Town or Country, or will be forwarded direct from the Office on the following terms:—

Twelve months, post free 12 0
Three ,, ,, ... 3 3

It is also obtainable at the following Chess Resorts and Agencies—

Messrs. Dean and Son, 160A Fleet Street, E.C.
Simpson's Divan (Chess Room), Strand, W.C.
Pursell's Restaurant, ditto, Cornhill, E.C.

All communications and books, &c. for notice, to be addressed to the Editor, 555 Caledonian Road, N.

Printed and Published by Brother WILLIAM WRAY MORGAN, at Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, Saturday, 6th October 1883.

Digitized by Google

THE

Freemason's Chronicle;

A WEEKLY RECORD OF MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

SANCTIONED BY THE GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.

VOL. XVIII.—No. 457. SATURDAY, 13th OCTOBER 1883. [PRICE THREEPENCE. 13s 6d per annum, post free.

MONEY, MORALS, AND EXPENDITURE.

FREEMASONRY, in the public mind, is associated with the belief that its members must necessarily be well-to-do or wealthy men. This idea was stronger a few years ago than it is now, owing to the fact that the Craft was confined to the few. Now the many join its ranks, in proportion as trade has blessed them, or ambition fired them. The possession of money in greater abundance than was formerly possible, the spirit of imitation of the follies and fashions of the upper classes, has wrought a change which has affected society at large, and Masonry in particular. If education had progressed at the same rate as had the accumulation of wealth, there would have been fewer evils to deplore than now exist. Money has been made more a god of than ever, and the worshippers of the golden calf have increased and multiplied beyond all precedent. The growth of this class is one of the peculiar signs and dangers of the times. They are not educated in the better sense of the term. They are ignorant of vital matters affecting conduct and the higher virtues; showy and anxious to be considered gentlemen. They are often illiterate, they despise the cultivated mind, or use it so far as it can minister to their vanity and pleasure, and spend their wealth in an ostentatious manner believing that the outward sign of power is the one thing needful. Such men are the gloss of society; they are smooth and shiny on the surface; beneath they are covered with spots and patches that impair the wholesome character of the whole man. So great has been the progress of this class that they may be said to have leavened the mass of the community, to have stamped it with the sign of Mammon, and made its worshippers the slaves of fashion and luxury. Under such influences society has changed its character, and appearances are ranked before comfort, and vulgar show before retiring modesty. All classes have been more or less affected by the development of this moral and social canker, and it is almost impossible to thrive now-a-days and be modest. A man to live must identify himself with the times, must abandon much that used to be considered necessary and virtuous; but which is now dubbed old-world and sentimental, fit only for enthusiasts and saints.

Freemasonry has suffered in consequence of the change that has come over society. The growth of the Order at one time was slow and sure; of late years it has been rapid. When the Prince of Wales became Grand Master the Craft assumed an importance in popular minds it had hitherto failed to hold, and men rushed with all the ardour of the slaves of fashion to become members. The question of fitness was lost in the prospect of prosperity, and Masonry became vulgarised to such an extent as to cause alarm to the more thoughtful brethren, who perceived the danger of externals absorbing the higher qualities of the Order. These happily still exist, and have power; to their influence must be attributed all that is best in the Institutions. The great body, however, have deteriorated, their moral and intellectual status has declined, and the fashion now is to estimate persons and things by their money value. Worshipful Masters must be showy men, and have pretensions to position and money; and he who can introduce most members to a Lodge is counted the more worthy of approval. At one time it was a cardinal creed that no one should be asked, much less pressed, to join the Masonic body. The theory still exists, in practice it is a sham. Men do ask others to become Freemasons, and, as a rule, they are not careful to inquire as to the fitness of their protegées. Masonry by this means becomes popularised and degraded. The high motive that should inspire a seeker after truth, as exemplified in a grand philosophy, is too often lacking; hence the beauty of the Craft, the noble teaching of its ceremonies, the mystery that surrounds its origin, and the inexhaustible charms of its history, are confined to the few. Some advance has been made in the esoteric study of the Order, and now and then new light is thrown upon the past; but the present partakes of the vices of the age, and these are occasionally intensified by exceptional circumstances.

Although the shoddy spirit prevails, there is yet a large element of charity in the Craft. There is no reason to complain of the amount of money subscribed to the various benevolent movements. It is creditable to Masons to know that nowhere in the world can their Charities be matched for extent or liberality. The complaint is, that there is danger of being too generous, of incurring an outlay too great to be borne, and of stimulating ambitions that cannot be gratified. How great this danger is can be observed in the plans and schemes that are continually being laid before the brethren. There is a feeling in the minds of many that the children in the Schools, for instance, are being over-educated, rendered unfit for the stations in life which they will most likely fill, and made discontented, because disappointed members of society. It is a singular phenomenon, but nevertheless the truth, that the curriculum of the Schools has been raised, while the mental and moral qualities of the Craft cannot be said to be improved. Solid learning is a good thing, it is nearly a perfect blessing when accompanied by a modest disposition. But when education is made the basis of show, of fashion and selfish ambition, it is more likely to be an evil than a good The idea of possessing something better than anybody else, of showing to the world what a grand thing Masonry is, has led to assumptions and practices more befitting the aristocracy than the middle and lower middle classes of the community. The tendency of the age is to over-education, to the development of the mind at the cost of morals and health, and the Masonic Schools are in danger of falling into the same error. Some say it is a mistake to educate boys and girls above the station the great bulk of them must inevitably occupy; and it may be folly in the case of the Masonic Schools, when so many children are waiting to be admitted. The great end should be to make the Schools applicable to the classes for whom they are intended, to embrace as many as possible, and to give a sound practical education, leaving the adornments of the superstructure to be added hereafter, when those who desire them will know how to obtain and appreciate them. The same spirit that would lavish money in the education of the children is observed in other directions. It is proposed to be generous in a particular case, and to grant Miss Davis, the head Mistress, a sum of fifty pounds towards expenses incurred by her during her late severe illness. It is never pleasant for an able and sensitive officer to have his or her claims brought before the public, and he is no friend who, in season and out of season, seeks to play the generous part with other people's money. It is not a question of Miss Davis's ability, of her long and faithful services. All these have been considered in the salary she receives. The breakdown in her health was unfortunate, but it was one of those incidents of life to which all are subject, and against which no protection can grant an immunity. The Committee very properly allowed Miss Davis to seek health in retirement, paying her the same salary as if she were fulfilling her office. It does not appear whether or not any one filled Miss Davis's place during her absence, or whether the ordinary staff discharged the usual duties. In either case the claims upon the funds would be paramount; in the first instance they would be absolute, and in the second moral. Nor is there anything to show that Miss Davis desires the help that is proposed to be given her. That, however, is of little importance, as one word from her would at once put an end to the proposition. It is unfair, perhaps, to place her in the position of being made the subject of dispute. Prudent counsels would have obviated the probability of contention, and a careful consideration of all the facts would have suggested silence at the present time. Such motions should never be proposed unless there is a very good prospect of their being carried unanimously, and of meeting with the full sympathy of those concerned. Under the circumstances, the better plan would be to withdraw the motion in deference to the feeling that has been exhibited, and in justice to Miss Davis, who is worthy of all praise, but whose case, just now, is neither urgent nor important. It may be a good bargain to give £70 for the accommodation of the girls at Clapham Church, but the question will naturally arise—Was it necessary? Apart from the sum itself, there are other questions which bear upon the matter. It is supposed that the Church is endowed, and it may be it is supported by rates. If so, it is a question how far the Committee were justified in incurring so large an expenditure. It is just double the outlay that sufficed for a Chaplain. It is not a serious item; did it stand alone there would be little if anything to question; but in every direction there are signs of increased expenditure, a tendency to excessive generosity, if not to extravagance. With the prospect of an enormous outlay in the rebuilding of the Temple, in the face of bad trade and the scarcity of money, it is not the time to indulge in chivalric liberality, and to mortgage the future. Without being mean, or neglecting any reasonable demands the Institutions of the Craft may make upon the brethren, it is imperatively needed that greater regard should be paid in the future to expenditure, and less to show and experiments of a sentimental character.

Digitized by Google

RAMESES THE GREAT.

BRO. John A. Weisse, M.D., of New York, author of "The Obelisk and Freemasonry," styles Rameses II., otherwise Rameses the Great (named Sesostris by the Greeks), "the Masonic Pharaoh par excellence;" and the subterranean palace or rock-tomb discovered in 1818, by Belzoni, he calls "the Masonic Temple of Seti I. and Rameses II." This is large language. If it could be substantiated, it would shed lustre on the Masonic Fraternity. That there is some ground for the assertion we admit. Reginald Stuart Poole, one of the greatest of modern Egyptologists, in his article on Egypt, in the ninth edition of the "Encyclopædia Britannica," awards to Rameses the Great "the first place among the architect Pharaohs." In the Astor Library, New York, very beautiful illustrations of Belzoni's discoveries may be seen, and some of these "mystery chambers," as Bro. Weisse terms them, are finely portrayed, in colours, in the work of our Brother, referred to above. These represent, he tells us, "nine distinct initiatory meetings of candidate and master, and the intermediate persons, attendants, and even horrors, that have ever belonged to some of the Masonic initiations." Perhaps so. But, undoubtedly, Rameses the Great is one of the most noteworthy personages in Egyptian history, an "architect Pharaoh," a famous builder, whose stupendous structures even the destroying influences incident to the flight of three thousand years have not been sufficient to waste away. As the greatest figure in a long line of Pharaohs, the noblest patron of the Operative Masons of his time, and the alleged "Masonic Pharaoh par excellence," we shall devote a few paragraphs to a statement of his characteristic achievements, as revealed by the latest historians of the monuments and hieroglyphics of Egypt—Lenormant, Rawlinson, Brugsch, Poole, Wilkinson, Maspero, and Mariette.

Rameses II. was the third Pharaoh of the nineteenth dynasty, his reign beginning about B.C. 1360. Brugsch tell us, that a tablet found near the Temple of Dekkah in Nubia, built by Rameses, says that when he was but ten years of age no monuments were erected without his orders. Before the death of his father, Seti I., he defeated the Sardones and Libyans, so that they never attacked Egypt again, until after his death. He was recalled from an expedition into Ethiopia to succeed to the throne, and in the fifth year of his reign evinced the greatest personal valour, and vanquished the Hittites. The famous battle of Kadesh was fought in this campaign. In his eighth year he captured Shalam, probably (says Poole) Salem, or Jerusalem. In his eleventh year he captured Ascalon, and compelled the Hittite king to propose conditions of peace, written on a silver tablet. In the twenty-first year of his reign the conditions of this treaty were sculptured on the walls of Karnak, where they remain to this day, and have been deciphered by Maspero. This war ended most happily. Rameses II. received in marriage the eldest daughter of the Hittite king, and peace prevailed between the two great nations for more than a century. Rameses devoted the remainder of his reign to devising and completing those architectural wonders which to this day challenge the admiration of every Egyptian tourist.

Rameses the Great had his poet laureate, one Pentaour, who composed an epic on the battle of Kadesh, and inscribed his poem in hieroglyphics on the walls of the Temple of Karnak. This poem has been translated by Maspero, Professor of the Egyptian language in the College of France; and Gladstone, in his "Time and Place of Homer in History," goes so far as not only to compare the two creations, Homer's "Achilles," Pentaour's "Rameses the Great," but even to say: "Of the great Egyptian empire of Rameses the Great, and the nineteenth dynasty, Homer, or at least Hellas, may, or rather must, humanly speaking, have known something." And after referring to the prodigies of valour performed by Pentaour's hero, he inquires, "Was it the echo of these feats of war, or of this resounding celebration of them, that suggested to Homer the colossal scale of his 'Achilles?' * * * Not only is it probable that Homer had personal access to these sources, but we may almost say, it is certain."

But we are most concerned with the great architectural works of Rameses, which distinguished the greater part of his long and prosperous reign of sixty-seven years. To these we shall devote the remainder of this article. Here we should state, that Lenormant says Rameses II. was the first Egyptian monarch to adopt the plan, so familiar to Asiatic conquerors in later times, of transporting large bodies of prisoners enormous distances, and settling them in portions of his empire remote from their original homes. He thus planted whole tribes of Libyans and Asiatics upon the upper Nile, and these subject races he employed in raising his great architectural works. Among those so employed were the Hebrews, who had now grown very numerous.

The feats of architectural accomplishment of Rameses throughout Egypt and Nubia were so numerous that we can only refer to the most notable of them. First of these was the building formerly known as the Memnonium, and now commonly styled the Rameseum, at Thebes. The favourite title of Rameses, Mi Ammon, "the beloved of Ammon," was probably corrupted by the Greeks into Memnon. There can yet be read upon the walls of the Rameseum the achievements of the great king. With the aid of the "Hieroglyphic Dictionary" of Commodore Bro. E. Y. McCauley, U.S.N., one may puzzle out the recondite meaning of those hieroglyphics, written thirty centuries ago. Wonderful edifices! Only less wonderful the manifestation of skill that enables one to decipher the enigmas on those ancient walls! Over this Rameseum once towered the colossal image of the Pharaoh Rameses II. himself. It was formed out of a block of syenitic granite, estimated to weigh nine hundred tons, and to have been sixty four feet high. It measures twenty feet from shoulder to shoulder, the foot is five feet across, and a toe three feet long. Rawlinson says, "It was the largest of all the colossal statues of Egypt, exceeding in height the two seated colossi, in its vicinity, one of which is known as the

Digitized by Google

"Vocal Memnon." Next most worthy of mention is the Temple of Dekkah. At its entrance are two colossal statues of Rameses, with sculptures recording his victories, and celebrating his glory. These are finely pictured in Manning's "Land of the Pharaohs." Last, and perhaps noblest of all, are the two rock Temples at Ipsamboul. These were visited by Bro. Edward L. Wilson, of Concordia Lodge, No. 67, Philadelphia, the artist-photograper, one year ago, who took a number of fine photographs of the Temples, one large photo of which, the gift of Bro. Wilson, is before us as we write. Mr. Fergusson, the great historian of Architecture, says, "The largest of the rock-temples at Ipsamboul is the finest of its class known to exist anywhere." The façade is one hundred feet in height, and adorned by four of the most magnificent colossi in Egypt, representing Rameses II. Nothing, it is said, can exceed their calm majesty and beauty. The mountain behind this façade is excavated to a depth of about two hundred feet. Within there is a grand hall, with eight side chapels opening into it, a second smaller hall, a corridor, and an adytum, with altar and figures in relief. The walls are covered with paintings and sculptures. Everywhere is the cartouche of Rameses the Great. The walls glow with colour, and are like the pages of an illuminated missal. All tell of the glory of Rameses, and all of his portraits wear the same expression of sublime tranquillity and repose

Other notable works of this "architect Pharaoh" were, the completion of the Hall of Columns at Karnak, of the Temple of Abydos, and other famous temples at Memphis, Heliopolis, Tanis and elsewhere. In the ornamentation of his buildings he was lavish in the employment of obelisks and colossi. One of his obelisks, known as the Luxor obelisk, now occupies a commanding position on the "Place de la Concorde," at Paris, and is excellently described in Bro Lieut.-Com. Gorringe's handsome work on "Egyptian Obelisks," a copy of which Bro. Gorringe fraternally favoured us with. On this obelisk is a vignette of Rameses II., on his knees, offering two vases of wine to Ammon-Ra.

But, if we are to believe Bro. T. M. Ward, the author of a curious monograph on "The Obelisks" (Philadelphia: 1881), "There never was a king by the name of Rameses, because it is not the name of any person. Any king could have the phrase Rameses attached to his name, in order to show that he had received consecration, and had been accorded eternal life with the gods. * * The word, Rameses is compounded of 'Ra,' the sun, and 'Mss,' or 'Meses,' the mysteries — the sun and the mysteries." Well, if there was no "Rameses," there was the son of Seti I., who, Rawlinson says, "designated himself upon his monuments as Ra-user-ma Setep-en-ra Ramessu-Meriamen." We must say we prefer Rameses, or Rameses the Great for short.—Keystone.

The General Committee meeting of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys was held on Saturday last, at Freemasons' Hall, when there were present Bros. J. L. Mather (Chairman), Hogard, Tyrrell, Harding, Dewar, A. E. Gladwell, Jehanzie H. Kotharie, Williams, Berridge, Gillard, Whitley, Joyce Murray, Matier, Bowyer, Mann, Massey, Paas, Cubitt, Webb, Cooper, Britten, Motion, Morgan, W. H. Saunders, and F. Binckes (Secretary). After the confirmation of the minutes it was announced that a further sum of £1000 had been invested in India 4 per Cents. with dividend, and that the purchase price was 103⅞ per cent. Two deferred cases were considered, and the boys were placed on the list for the April election. There were three new candidates, Moore, of Lyme, Dorset; Haigh, of Huddersfield; and Milsham, of Sunderland. The cases were in order, and were placed on the list. Bro. Matier suggested that as the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution had lately passed a rule by which subscribers who had given as much as £200 to the Institution should thereby be constituted Patrons, the Boys' School might have a similar rule. Being asked whether he would give notice of motion to that effect, he replied that he would; whereupon several brethren objected, and Bro. Matier explained that at present it could only affect four old supporters of the Institution. Bro. Binckes did not see reason why they should not adopt the rule. Bro. C. H. Webb stated that he was present when the discussion on the proposal took place at the Benevolent Institution, and he objected to it. His idea was, that where subscribers had given large sums to the Institutions they should be credited with a certain number of votes to aid them if they should at any time personally require assistance. Bro. Britten, while not entirely agreeing with Bro. Webb, thought that instead of a Patronship being granted for money subscribed a subscriber of a large amount should have the benefit of it in case of his own candidature. After other expressions of opinion, the proposal of Bro. Matier was put into form, and handed in. The proceedings closed with a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

The Committee of Management of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution met on Wednesday afternoon, at Freemasons' Hall. Present—Bros. Raynham W. Stewart (in the chair), G. Bolton, Louis Stean, C. A. Cottebrune, A. H. Tattershall, W. H. Goodall, H. B. Marshall, W. Stephens, W. J. Murlis, J. Bulmer, C. H. Webb, T. W. C. Bush, R. P. Tate, C. J. Perceval, H. Moore, J. Brett, and James Terry (Secretary). After the reading and confirmation of the minutes, the Secretary reported the death of three annuitants—two male and one female. One of the annuitants was the oldest on the books, he having been elected thirty-two years ago. At the time of his death he was 94 years of age. This leaves Bro. Norris, the Warden of the Institution at Croydon, the oldest known Mason living. The Warden's Report was read, and the Secretary announced that he had entered into a contract with Messrs. Hall, Potter, and Co., of Croydon, for them to supply the Institution with coals during the winter months. The Finance Committee's Report for the quarter commencing 30th June was read, received, and adopted, and cheques as recommended were ordered to be signed. Two petitions for admission to the Institution by election were examined, and the petitioners were placed on the list. One petition was rejected. A vote of thanks to the Chairman closed the proceedings.

We are not surprised at the interest that is being taken in the status of Past Masters question. It grows week by week, and by the time when the final settlement must be made opinions will be matured and no doubt a righteous decision arrived at. Throughout the discussion we have contended for the delay that has arisen, and now every circumstance goes to prove the wisdom of that policy. Indeed, but for delay, the question would have assumed an aggravated and angry form. The resolution passed on the 8th August was not the result of the enlightened judgment of the Craft; it was a vote given at the instance of a comparatively few enthusiastic country brethren, who were no doubt honest and earnest in their belief that the change they proposed was necessary. It is doubtful whether they represented the feeling of the country brethren generally, and it is certain that the majority of the London members are against the alteration. Time will disclose the relative strength of parties, it will also have tended to soften asperity, and to place the whole subject fairly on its merits. We have seen no reason to recede from the position we first took up; if anything, we have been strengthened by the various opinions that have been expressed. The Revised Rules, omitting the vexed one in question, seem to provide all that is necessary for the protection of Past Masters; and if, as it appears in some cases, to be desirable to deal exceptionally with some brethren, each Lodge should be left as the arbiters of the honour they wish to confer. No action of a private Lodge can override the Constitutions, and as these now provide for the status of a Past Master in a generous and liberal sense, fresh legislation in Grand Lodge is unnecessary. A joining Past Master may be a great acquisition to a Lodge, and if the power is given to them to recognise exceptional merit, all that is requisite will be done. It is purely a question for private Lodges, and they ought to have authority to deal with it, under reasonable and intelligent conditions. The practice has already been followed in some cases, and although there is no written law either for or against the custom, the fact that it has been winked at, shows that no great harm was anticipated from its practice. To make a law, however, which shall force a Lodge either to blackball a would-be joining Past Master, or assign him a position which may be offensive to the brethren, is stretching the power of Grand Lodge, and would be the beginning of an antagonism to central authority which all right-minded Masons would deplore. Laws should be based upon the principles of justice, with a probable assurance that they would meet with the obedience of all loyal subjects.

Digitized by Google

LAYING THE FOUNDATION STONE OF ST. AGNES' CHURCH, MOSELEY.

THE foundation stone of a new church in the district of Moseley was laid on Wednesday, 3rd inst., with full Masonic ceremonial, by the Right Worshipful Brother Sir Edmund A. Lechmere, Bart. M.P., Provincial Grand Master, assisted by the Worshipful Brother Colonel John Machen, Deputy Provincial Grand Master of Warwickshire, and the brethren of the Provincial Grand Lodges of Worcestershire and Warwickshire. Notwithstanding the unfavourable state of the weather, there was a large attendance. The new church, which is called St. Agnes, is being erected in a road bearing the same name, branching out of the Wake Green-road. The site has been given by Mr. F. Wilmot. The church will be erected from the design of Mr. W. Davis, architect, Colmore-row, Birmingham, and will be in the form of a cross, with nave of moderate width, and wide aisles. The present contract is only for a portion of the complete structure, the plans having been so arranged that, with regard to future extensions, no portion of the church will either have to be taken down, or left unfinished, except a temporary west wall. The first portion comprises chancel, clergy and choir vestries, organ chamber, north and south transepts, and part of the nave; accommodating nearly 400 persons. The second portion will comprise an extension of the nave and aisles, and the erection of a north porch, with tower and spire, providing additional accommodation for 326 persons. The tower and spire will be in the centre of the west end, and will look very prominent and imposing in this position, having a total height of 137 feet. The style of building is Gothic, of the geometrical period, with somewhat elaborate ornamentation. The windows in the clerestory will be much larger than those in the north and south aisles, the object being to obtain the principal light from above, as not only being softer and more equally diffused, but less in the line of actual vision. Buttresses are to be placed between the clerestory windows, adding much to the stability of the walls. The east end will be made square, partly because that is the distinctively English form of chancel, and partly because it allows the introduction of a very fine east window, which will be an important feature, both internally and when viewed from the road. The chancel, which will be of dignified proportions, will be provided with stalls, and will accommodate four clergymen, twelve choirmen, and twenty-two boys. The floor here will be laid with Minton tiles, and that in the body of the church will be of Barnettised wood blocks, which have the effect of reducing the noise of rising and moving to a minimum. A low screen wall is to be placed between the nave and chancel, forming a base for a screen, should one be desired at a future period. The altar, by its footpace being raised seven steps above the floor of the nave, will be made the most prominent feature in the church. The two vestries are to be on the south side. The architect has arranged for the erection of an organ chamber on the north side of the chancel. The extreme length of the church from east to west will be 127 feet, and the width from north to south 48 feet. It is proposed to warm it by hot-water pipes running under the aisles, the heating chamber being under the clergy vestry; to light it with gas-jets around the tops of the capitals of the columns; and to ventilate it by means of hoppers in the upper portion of the clerestory windows. Both inside and outside the walls will be faced with stone, and the church will have a tiled roof. The builder is Mr. William Bloore, of Alma-street, Aston, and the masonry work will be done by Messrs. Miller, Carr and Co. The first contract is expected to be completed in July of next year. The total cost of the completed building will be about £8,000. The cost of the portion now being erected will be about £4,000, of which about £2,500 has been promised. The Freemasons assembled about half-past eleven, in the National Schools, Moseley, where a Craft Lodge in the three degrees was opened by the W.M. and Officers of the Stability Lodge, No. 564, Stourbridge. The Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master and Provincial Grand Officers having entered the Lodge, and being received with the customary honours, the Provincial Grand Lodge was opened in due form. The Worshipful Deputy Provincial Grand Master of Warwickshire, Brother Colonel Machen, accompanied by his Provincial Grand Officers, then entered the Lodge, and was saluted with the customary honours. The Prov. Grand Master, in offering his fraternal greetings to the D.P.G.M. and the Prov. Grand Lodge of Warwickshire, moved the following resolution, which was seconded by Bro. Buck P.G.S.W., and was carried unanimously. The members of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Worcestershire offer a hearty welcome to the members of the Prov. Grand Lodge of Warwickshire, represented to-day by the D.P.G. Master and other brethren of that Province, and desire to express their cordial satisfaction at having an opportunity of working in unison with the Grand Lodge of Warwickshire upon so interesting an occasion. Colonel Machen D.P.G.M. Warwickshire, replied. A letter was read from the D.P.G. Master, Bro. A. F. Godson, enclosing a handsome donation to the Building Fund, and expressing great regret that absence from England prevented his attendance that day. The muster roll having been suitably called, and after the Provincial Grand Master had explained the arrangements of the day, A procession was formed, in the following order:—Two Tylers (with drawn swords), Brethren of the Province of Warwickshire, and other visitors, not being Provincial Grand Officers, Lodges according to their numbers (Juniors walking first), Architect with plans, a cornucopia with corn borne by a Master of a Lodge, two ewers with wine and oil borne by Masters of Lodges, Past Provincial Grand Pursuivants, Provincial Grand Pursuivant, Provincial Grand Organist, trowel borne by a Past Master, mallet borne by a Past Master, Past Provincial Grand Sword Bearers and Directors of Ceremonies, Provincial Grand Director of Ceremonies, and Assistant Grand Director of Ceremonies, Past Provincial Grand Superintendents of Works, Provincial Grand Superintendent of Works (bearing inscription plate), Past Provincial Grand Deacons and Registrars, Provincial Grand Registrar, Past Provincial Grand Chaplains, Past Provincial Grand Wardens, Provincial Grand Secretary with Book of Constitutions, Provincial Grand Treasurer with phial containing coins, &c., the Provisional and Past Provisional Officers of Warwickshire and other visitors being Provincial Grand Officers, the Deputy Provincial Grand Master of Warwickshire, the Corinthian Light borne by the Master of a Lodge, the Column of the Provincial Junior Grand Warden borne by the Master of a Lodge, the Provisional Junior Grand Warden with the plumb rule, the Doric Light borne by the Master of a Lodge, the Column of the Provincial Senior Grand Warden borne by the Master of a Lodge, the Provincial Senior Grand Warden with the level, Provincial Junior Grand Deacon, the Provincial Grand Chaplain bearing the Sacred Law on a cushion, the Deputy Provincial Grand Master with the square, the Ionic Light borne by the Master of a Lodge, the Provincial Grand Sword Bearer, the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master, Provincial Senior Grand Deacon, two Provincial Grand Stewards, Provincial Grand Tyler. In this Order they proceeded to Moseley Church, where a special service was held. The prayers and lessons were intoned by the vicar (the Rev. W. H. Colmore) and the Rev. H. J. Coachafer; and the sermon was preached by the Rev. W. K. Ryland Bedford, Rector of Sutton Coldfield, and Past Grand Chaplain of England. The rev. gentleman took for his text Daniel ii. 34, "Thou sawest till that a stone was cut out without hands."

It was thus that, in prophetic vision, the man who, with the graces of the courtier combined the piety of the anchorite and the stedfastness of the martyr, to whom were opened the ineffable secrets of the counsels of the Most High, beheld that great revolution which has made the world what it is, and will go on transforming it until the time of the consummation of all things. It was when the fourth great monarchy was verging upon decrepitude, when the ruthless tyranny of the Assyrian and Persian dynasties had swept away the petty independent tribes who had by their feuds and maraudings kept the world in barbarism; when Greece, with her universal language, and Rome, with her commercial enterprise, her law-abiding instincts, and her religious indifference, had prepared, humanly speaking, the earth for the spread of the Gospel. Then it was that, without hands, without any visible machinery for success, a message was launched upon the world from an obscure province of Judea which, as a stone, might have pulverised the lime-compacted edifices of Babylon, broke down and dissipated the prejudices and traditions of ages, not with a new message, but with one which, old as the world itself, had never before gained a general hearing. It abolished the sun-god and the thunderer, the demons of the air and the nymphs of the stream, by revealing a true Father in heaven, by vindicating the latent divinity in human nature, and showing that it was possible to bridge the abyss which seemed to sever man from God. Let me draw the picture in the words of an eminent thinker, of our own day (Mr. Froude):—"Neither the philosophy of the schools, nor the mysteries, the festivals, the rituals of the heathen gods, availed to check the impurity of society, or to alleviate the miseries of mankind; but vice and wretchedness disappeared in every house into which the gospel found an entrance. This was true, and it was a truth which outweighed a millionfold the skilfullest cavils of the intellect. A new life had come into the world, it was growing like the grain of mustard seed, by its own vital force, and the earth was growing green under its shadow. Such an argument was unanswerable. No other creed could be pointed to from which any stream was flowing of moral regeneration." For eighteen centuries and a-half, these exalted doctrines have been published among men, generation after generation being sharers in the benefits arising from their dissemination. Yet the warfare is not accomplished, nor the and so a material stone is laid to-day, an emblem of the stone cut last enemy put under the feet of the great Captain of our salvation; without hands, from whence may arise a building made with hands, a figure of the true, of the heavenly Jerusalem, the church descending from above, to tell mankind the overmastering secret of victory over mundane things, the revelation of God made flesh and tabernacling in the hearts of men, this, the Alpha and Omega of religion—it has been truly as well as poetically expressed—

In the most ancient time,
When God and man were friends,
And earth was rounded with a summer clime,
And the dull doubt, that lends
Sorrow to life, was all a thing unknown;
Before those hours had flown,
God walked at eventide thro' Eden's shade,
And spoke to man, and man was not afraid.

Cannot that time return?
Is it not here for those
Who, from the strong still work of God can learn
His grandeur of repose?
A day with Him is as a myriad years;
A tear outweighs the spheres;
And as He walked 'neath Eden's mystic tree,
In the cool eventide, He walks with thee!

It seems to me, brethren, then, that there is an especial propriety in the Association of the Masonic body with such a ceremony as this of to-day, in times when men's minds are too often æsthetically disquieted by the symbols of the ancient Testament, recoiling from the elaborate, but apparently trivial, ordinances of external worship. If we at any time are inclined to withhold our intellectual sympathy from the visible Church, with its varied laws of oblation, its conventional guarantees of purity, its rules of ecclesiastical ritual, let us remember that the revelations to Moses, to Isaiah, and to Daniel, would appear puerile, if not unseemly, unless we recalled what those types and images meant, and were known to mean, by those to whom they were revealed; what, in fact, by the principles of visible language, then recognised, they must have meant. And as our mind appreciates the hidden language of type and figure, the whole economy of ancient Scripture, ceremonial, devotional, and prophetic, will utter no strange sound, although its syllables and sentences be

Digitized by Google

strangely figurative in their combination. And who is better able to comprehend and to establish this fact than we Freemasons, who, drawing our traditions and imagery from the crowning honour of symbolic worship, the unrivalled splendour of the Temple of Solomon, reduce that magnificence to the elements of moral simplicity; see in the embroidery and the sculpture the rich dyes of Tyre, and the gold of Ophir, only the embodiment of the lessons of natural equality and mutual dependence, as children of one Father, whom the heaven and heaven of heavens cannot contain; who makes Himself an abode in the faithful hearts of those who recognise the threefold command, "What does thy Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God." Yes, brethren, I may humbly hope that, as the Old Testament is not contrary to the New, but, in fact, the very mountain itself from which the stone was cut, which overthrow the godless fabric of heathen imperialism, so we may see, in our symbolic traditions, a testimony to the truth of the Christian Church, of which we are not, indeed, an incorporated part, but still a vestibule, or outwork; that the preservation in our Brotherhood of the main verities of religion may tend to support that recognition of the Fatherhood of God, which is equally the constituent of natural, revealed, and spiritual devotion. For if there is woe to the Church, which divorces herself from the free atmosphere of rational belief, there is triple woe to the philosophic contemner of revelation. Noble as our breadth of Masonic brotherhood may be, we must beware that our foundation stone be one without hands, lest we fall into a philosophy which is stony and dead—a liberality most illiberal—an inhuman humanitarianism, which masquerades most sadly in the rags of bygone fallacies—

"That last drear mood
Of envious sloth and proud decrepitude—
No faith, no art, no king, no priest, no God,"

from which only the great corner stone, Emmanuel, can deliver us. May He do so for His mercies sake. Amen.

At the conclusion of the Service a procession was formed, and proceeded to the site of the new church, Mr. Beech, the Organist of the temporary church, accompanied by the choir, and the choir of St. Mary's, leading, followed by the members of the Masonic body. The latter included the following members of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Worcestershire:—Sir Edmund A. H. Lechmere, Bart., M.P., Prov. Grand Master, J. R. Buck 280 G.S.W., R. Broomhall 564 G.J.W., Rev. C. Black, M.A., 1204 G. Chaplain, E. Turner 252 G. Registrar, George Taylor P.P.G.S.W. 377 560 1874 G. Secretary, W. Barkley 280 G.S.D., A. Comber 377 G. Dir. of Cers., A. Green 498 G. Assist. Dir. of Cers., R. S. Blundell 460 G. Sword Bearer, W. Haynes 1204 G. Organist, W. C. Green 377 G. Pursuivant, E. H. Metcalf 1204 G. Assist Pursuivant, W. Ottley and A. C. Wightman 529 Prov. G. Stewards, J. Stanley and J. Smith 280 Prov. G. Tylers. There were also present among the brethren from Worcestershire H. Wilson P.P.G.T. as Prov. G. Treasurer, F. H. Lingham P.P.G.D. as Prov. G. Junior Deacon, G. H. Williamson as Prov. G. Superintendent of Works, J. Elgood and J. W. Chadwick as Prov. G. Stewards, J. Aston and John Blundell as P.P.G. Registrars, E. R. Hartley P.P.G.D., G. K. Patten P.P.G. Supt. of Works, T. F. Higgs P.P.G. D. of C., C. Williams P.P.G.P., and a large number of the Officers and members of the Lodges of the Province. Of the Grand Lodge of Warwickshire we noticed W. Bro. Colonel John Machen Deputy Provincial Grand Master, George Beech Provincial Grand Secretary, R. H. Vertegans P.M., J. T. Colling P.M., J. Cuff P.M., C. Lee P.P.G.W., Joseph Rowlands, H. Myers, J. B. Martin, J. Green, W. McEntee P.P.G.S.W., T. H. Smith P.P.G.S.W., Jas. Moffatt P.G.R., J. Loxdale Warren P.P.G.S.W., T. M. Humphries P.P.G.S.W. Staffordshire, Rev. J. Seddon P.G.C. Staffordshire, and others. The local clergy present were the Revs. W. H. Colmore, W. B. Benison, J. Williamson, C. A. Dickens, R. A. Deakin, W. K. Smart, G. H. Simms, and H. J. Coachafer. The laity were represented by Messrs. T. C. S. Kynnersley, C. Williams, E. Bottridge, W. H. Davis, W. Dyke Wilkinson, T. Hadley, F. Barlow, and others. On arriving at the site, a hymn was sung, after which the Rev. H. J. Coachafer P.P.G. Chaplain offered up prayer. The Rev. W. H. Colmore, M.A., the chairman of the Building Committee, then addressed the Prov. Grand Master, saying—I am requested by the Committee that has been formed for the erection of this new church to ask you to be kind enough to lay the foundation stone for it. It is with great respect that I make this request, seconded as I am on behalf of the Committee, and I now ask you to proceed to lay the stone. The Provincial Grand Master then addressed the assembly in the following terms:—Men and brethren here assembled to behold the ceremony, be it known unto you that we, lawful Masons, true and faithful to the laws of our country, and engaged by solemn obligations to erect handsome buildings to be serviceable to the brethren, and to fear God the Great Architect of the Universe. We have amongst us, concealed from the eyes of all men, secrets which may not be revealed, and which no man has discovered; but these secrets are lawful and honourable, and not repugnant to the laws of God and man. They were entrusted in peace and honour to Masons of ancient times, and having been faithfully transmitted to us, it is our duty to convey them unimpaired to the latest posterity. Unless our craft were good, and on calling honourable, we should not have lasted for so many centuries, nor should we have had so many illustrious brethren [illegible] ready to promote our laws and further our interests. We are assembled here to-day, in the presence of you all, to erect a [illegible] to the worship, honour and glory of the Most High, which we pray God may prove as lasting as it is good to Him; and as the first Grand Master of Masons, it is [illegible] to invoke the blessing of the Great Architect of the Universe on this work. I call upon you to unite with our [illegible] Grand Chaplain in an address to the Throne of Grace. [illegible] H. J. Coachafer having offered up prayer, the Grand Master said: I now direct that the plate with the inscription upon it be placed upon the [illegible] and Grand Secretary to read the inscription upon the brass plate, which was placed over the cavity in the stone, in which were deposited copies of the Times, Daily Post, and Gazette, a list of Prov. Grand Officers, a programme of the day's proceedings, and a number of coins. At this stage of the proceedings Mrs. C. Williams came forward, and presented to Sir Edmund Lechmere a silver trowel, bearing the following inscription:—"Presented by Mrs. C. Williams, of Moseley Lodge, to the Right Worshipful Brother Sir Edmund A. H. Lechmere, Bart., M.P., Provincial Grand Master, on his laying the foundation stone of St. Agnes Church, Moseley, Oct. 3, 1883." She said she had pleasure in presenting the trowel, and she hoped the church would be a great blessing to the neighbourhood. Sir Edmund Lechmere, on receiving the trowel, said he need scarcely remind Mrs. Williams how cordially he received the presentation, which would prove a happy memento of the day's proceedings. The Provincial Grand Secretary, having adjusted the plate on the lower stone, and while the top stone was being lowered, the Grand Master dexterously spread the cement. While this was going on, the local choir, under the direction of Mr. Beech, sang Dr. Clarke Whitfield's anthem, "In Jewry is God known." The Junior Warden then presented the Grand Master with the plumb rule, and the Grand Master having applied the same to the stone, said: "I find this stone to be plumb, and that the Craftsmen have prepared it true and trusty." The level was then handed to him by the Senior Warden, and after applying it to the stone, he said: "I find this stone to be level, and that the Craftsmen have laboured skilfully." The square was then handed to him by the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, and on applying it to the stone, he said: "I find this stone to be plumb, level, and square, and that it has been truly prepared and truly laid, and that the Craftsmen have worked well." He then gave three knocks with a mallet on the stone. A Past Master then presented a cornucopia filled with corn, and the Grand Master, scattering a portion over the stone, said: "I scatter corn on this stone as the emblem of plenty and abundance. May the blessings of morality and virtue flourish within this building and produce fruit a hundredfold." A Master Mason then presented a ewer of wine, which the Grand Master poured upon the stone, at the same time saying, "I pour wine upon this stone as the emblem of joy and gladness." Oil was then handed to the Grand Master, who sprinkled it upon the stone, and said at the same time, "I sprinkle oil upon this stone as the emblem of peace and unanimity." He added, "May prosperity, happiness, and goodwill ever prevail amongst those who will minister within this house, to the glory of the Most High, until time shall be no more." The Prov. G. Supt. of Works then handed the plans of the building to the Prov. G.M., and also presented to him the architect. After having examined the plans, the Grand Master returned them to the architect, saying, "I now place in your hands the plans of this intended building, together with the necessary tools, not doubting your skill and ability as a Craftsman. I desire that you will proceed without loss of time to the completion of the work, in conformity with the plans and designs now entrusted to you. A number of ladies then came forward, and deposited purses of money upon the stone, after which a hymn was sung, and the benediction given. Before leaving the site, the group round the stone was photographed, and also a photograph taken of the whole gathering and surroundings. The emblems and requisites used in the procession, and at the ceremony were kindly placed at the disposal of the Province of Worcestershire by Bro. H. T. Lamb, of 5 St. John's-square, Clerkenwell. The procession was then formed, and the Masonic body returned to the National School, when the Lodge was closed.

The company afterwards assembled for luncheon at the Skating Rink, Trafalgar-road, Moseley. Sir Edmund E. H. Lechmere, Bart., M.P., presided, and there were also present most of those who had taken part in the previous proceedings of the day. The tables were laid out with great taste, and a capital menu was provided. The health of the Queen having been given from the chair, and duly honoured, the Chairman proposed, the Prince and Princess of Wales, and the rest of the Royal Family. He said they, as members of the Masonic Craft, knew how hard the Prince of Wales worked. They knew that he was ready at all times to give his services whenever they were required, and the admirable manner in which he discharged his public duties. Mr. Kynnersley proposed, the Bishop and Clergy of the Diocese. The Rev. W. K. R. Bedford thanked Mr. Kynnersley for his kind expressions. He felt sure that the Bishop deserved all the eulogium that had been said. The Rev. W. H. Colmore then rose to propose what he thought should be considered the toast of the evening, the health of Sir Edward Lechmere, M.P., Provincial Grand Master of Worcestershire, and the Freemasons of the Province. He said those who were not Freemasons always thought, and rightly to, that Freemasonry was surrounded by very great and deep secrets; and some of them, especially the ladies, were anxious to know what those secrets were. But in spite of all the care that Freemasons exercised, the secret had oozed out that Freemasons were banded and knit together by a solemn obligation to do all they possibly could for the welfare of their friends. They all heartily thanked Sir Edmund Lechmere for taking part in the religious ceremony of the day, and making it so very solemn, so very impressive, and so very imposing. The Freemasons had given an impetus to their work, and this day all fully acknowledged. They could not look at the brotherly love which existed amongst Freemasons, at the wonderful work of charity in which they were engaged, without wishing them success. He most cordially wished them success, and trusted the Freemasonry would exist as long as time should last. He trusted also that they would continue to be guided by those two principles which had guided them in the past—the principles of love to God and love to man. The Chairman, in responding, said he thanked them most cordially for the enthusiastic way they had paid him, and [illegible] for the [illegible] words he had uttered. He felt (Laughter) was afraid he should disappoint a good many of the ladies present if he did not [illegible] some of the secrets of the Order, but as [illegible] them that [illegible] were strictly guarded. It was true that on the occasion a lady was discovered in a lodge room, and when she was discovered it was decided that she should be initiated a member, and she seemed to have no dread of the ordeal, but went through the ceremony, and became a true and hearty member of the Craft, and he believed that was the only instance on record of a lady becoming a Freemason. But although he could not reveal the secrets of the Order, there were circumstances connected with Freemasonry which might be freely discussed, and one of them was the historical connection of Masonry with some of the most interesting buildings in the country. Perhaps some of those present were hardly aware that in mediæval times some of the great dignitaries of the time were either Masons or great patrons of Masonry. Kings and princes of the country had also been great patrons of Masons. Queen Elizabeth was one of the first sovereigns who had suspicions of the Masons, and, being extremely anxious, entrusted one of her councillors to find out and report their secrets. He did not reveal their secrets, but he told her what they did, and she was so struck that she at once declared that she considered them men who cultivated friendship, brotherly love, and peace, and who did not meddle with affairs of Church or State. Charles I. was a great patron of Masonry, and his great architect, Inigo Jones, was a Mason, as was also Sir Christoper Wren, in the reign of Charles II. But the work of the Masonic body in modern times had been more of an educational and charitable character—such as the Masonic Schools, accommodating 215 boys and 230 girls—the Institution for Aged Freemasons, which provides for over 400 candidates, the males receiving £40 per annum each, and the females £32 each. Locally, Freemasonry had had a great influence, having contributed largely to the restoration of Worcester and Gloucester Cathedrals, Tewkesbury Abbey, and other sacred buildings. Their Lodges, too, opened and closed with prayer, and at every Lodge the Bible was open. They could not admit an unbeliever or an Atheist, and though the privileges of the Legislature might at some day be open to Atheists, the Lodges of the Freemasons never could. The Freemasons of Worcestershire were glad to be present that day, and congratulate Mr. Colmore on having so many willing hands to help him in the work that had been begun. He was gratified at seeing so many Masons present at the ceremony in spite of the inclemency of the weather, and also at being able to announce that the collections of the day amounted to £140. They were acting, he was glad to see, on the principle adopted by the church builders of old, not to attempt too much at once, but to begin with the most sacred parts, leaving for future years, and perhaps for future generations, any extensions that might be desirable. He trusted that not only the partial erection of the building would be carried out, but that before long the scheme would be carried our to its completion. It had given him great pleasure to be present, and he thanked them for inviting him. It was his hearty wish and prayer that God would prosper the work, and that the new church might be a blessing and comfort for future generations. The Chairman then proposed Colonel Machen Deputy Provincial Grand Master of Warwickshire, and the Freemasons of the Province. He regretted that Lord Leigh, the Provincial Grand Master of Warwickshire, was unable to be with them on that occasion, but they had the pleasure of the presence of Colonel Machen, who had, however, been compelled to leave by an early train. He should, therefore, call upon the Provincial Grand Secretary of Warwickshire, Brother George Beech, to respond. Bro. Beech expressed thanks on behalf of Colonel Machen, who was reluctantly compelled to leave. He was sure that Lord Leigh regretted that he was unable to be present. For himself, he could only say that he was glad to be able to be present and take part in so good a work; and he might say that had it not been for the inclemency of the weather there would have been a much larger attendance. He could only hope that the work they had commenced would prosper, and that the seed they had sown that day would quickly germinate and bear good fruit. Bro. Charles Williams proposed the Visitors. He said when it was recollected that during the past twelve months the Masonic body had raised over £50,000 for their Charities alone, no one could be surprised if he was anxious to see the Brotherhood strengthened in that district by the formation of a Lodge in Moseley. He hoped that if a request was made, that the Worshipful Grand Master would grant it. Bro. Joseph Rowlands and Bro. John Simcox briefly responded. The Rev. A. J. Smith proposed the Ladies, which was responded to by Mr. John Wilmot, and then the proceedings terminated.

Digitized by Google

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

ST. MARTIN'S-LE-GRAND LODGE, No. 1538.

THE annual meeting was held on Wednesday, at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C. Bro. William Smith presided, and he was supported by Past Masters J. Hookey (Secretary), George Gregory, A. C. Woodward, W. Gibbs, A. C. Moffatt, Major Williams (Treasurer), &c. Amongst the Visitors present were Bros. F. A. Philbrick, Q.C., P.G.D., D.P.G M. Essex, F. Binckes P.G.S. Sec. R.M.I.B, C. F. Matier P.G.W. Greece, John Paige 1572, A. Durrant P.M. 569, W. Mardbell 1426, Geo. Corble P.M. 453, J. W. Baldwin 1692, E. C. Massey P.M. 1297, Bentley Haynes J.W. 27, Robert J. Cook P.M. 913, C. James J.D. 15, Harold Levett 452, E. T Edwards P.M. 788, E. A. Wells P.M. 15, E. Stimson S.W. 15, F. H. Plummer J.W. 15, H. H. Cooper Alliance, G. Thomas 1194, J. A. J. Woodward 194, Rüntz S.W. 534, W. W. Morgan S.W. 211, W. Lancaster P.M. 1194, J D. E. Tarr I.G. 1293, J. Glass W.M. 453, C. Woolmer Williams P.M. 1275, F. C. Dixie 453, A. Field 30, J. Edwards 149, T. W. Legge J.W. 15, C. E. Tinney J.W. 1319, H. J. Dutton 1706, J. W. Robins P.M. 25, John Grey 933. The minutes of the last regular meeting and of emergency meetings were read and confirmed. Bro. Tee, a candidate for raising, was then introduced, and the W.M. conferred the third degree on him. The Auditors' Report, which was now presented, showed the Lodge had a balance in its favour of over a hundred pounds. The Charity Fund also was in a healthy condition, £22 15s 2d standing to credit side of the account. Some discussion arose as to whether any transfer of monies should be made from the former of these funds to the latter, but in the end it was arranged that matters should stand over. The W.M. now vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Charles Williams, who had undertaken the duty of Installing Master. The W.M. elect, Bro. Thomas J. Robertson, was presented, and the ceremony was at once commenced. In due course the Board of Installed Masters did their share in the proceedings, and then the brethren not yet entitled to "mount the levels" were admitted, and the new W.M. was saluted in the three degrees. The Officers were appointed as follows:—J. P. Parkes S.W., Hatch J.W., Williams P.M. Treasurer, Hookey P.M. Secretary, Liversedge S.D., T. G. Fluck J.D., David Barnett I.G., John Gilbert Tyler. Bro. Williams then delivered the addresses, and on taking his seat a hearty vote of thanks was passed to him for his services. This compliment having been acknowledged, the elegant Past Master's jewel was presented to Bro. W. Smith, and pleasing reference made to the services he had rendered to the Lodge. Bro. Smith replied, thanking the brethren for their gift, and then it was proposed that a letter of condolence should be sent to the family of the late Bro. Matter, an esteemed member of the Lodge. Some resignations were announced, and the name of a candidate handed in for initiation, and soon afterwards Lodge was closed. The banquet was admirably served under the personal superintendence of Bro. Henry Mills, and on the removal of the cloth the W.M. proposed the toasts. After that of the Queen and the Craft, the National Anthem was sung. In speaking of the Most Worshipful the Grand Master, the W.M. said the Craft were indeed honoured by having for its ruler so genial, so ardent, and so esteemed a Mason as his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. In speaking to the toast of the Grand Officers, the Worshipful Master said this was a standard toast. It was quite unnecessary for him to debate on the merits of those who held these high offices. With the toast he would couple the name of Bro. Philbrick P.G.D. Brother Philbrick was sure that it must be a proud thing for any Mason to respond to a toast that had been honoured as that which the brethren had just drunk. He could not attempt, nor would he for one moment wish to suppose that the coupling of his name with it by his old friend, whom he rejoiced to see in the chair of that Lodge that evening, had anything to do with the reception of it. But he could say on behalf of the distinguished noblemen referred to by the Worshipful Master, that not only had they worked hard in the interests of the Craft, but that they well deserved their brethren's recognition and esteem and trust. He trusted he might be pardoned for saying that it was not merely a discharge of official duties and the acting as mere ornamental figures; the Pro Grand Master and Deputy Grand Master had each of them won the regard of their brother Masons; and he had himself known and seen, when the Provincial Grand Master was holding the seals of the Foreign Office, that Lord Carnarvon at anxious times in connection with the affairs of the nation; when his own time was of the very briefest, the first sacrifice of his time was always made in the cause of Masonry; no wonder that its interests were thoroughly cared for when they were able to have the services of such distinguished noblemen, in whose hearts the cause of Freemasonry was ever present. For the rest of the Grand Officers he returned his thanks. He ventured to say they thoroughly deserved the recognition the brethren had given them. The W.M. had stated to the Junior Warden that it would now become a privilege and duty of his to attend the Quarterly Communications of Grand Lodge. He would find that an important matter was still before Grand Lodge, namely, the discussion upon the Constitutions of the Order. They had to see what was for the good of Freemasonry in the time coming, and to try to put matters straight as far as they could be put straight. They were not to think that the Masons of this generation were wiser than the Masons of the past, or that they were immutable. He felt a solemn and a serious duty was cast upon Masons of the present time, so to model and so to leave the Constitutions to the Masons who must succeed them; the book must be handed down with their great traditions preserved, but above all with unity preserved, the ancient landmarks respected, and that Masonry as it was in the past, as it is in the present, might long remain in the future. It was a great pleasure to him to come as a Visitor to a Lodge prospering as this was prospering, and which bid fair to march on its way adequately representing the great principles of the Order. He congratulated the Lodge upon the accession to office of his friend the W.M.; he would not anticipate what some other speakers would refer to, further than to say that when he saw the manner in which the W.M. take up his work he could not but think that it was very clear that the suffrages of the brethren had fallen upon the right man. The health of the W. Master was proposed by Bro. Smith, and Bro. Robertson said, in replying to the toast which so nearly affected himself in as few words as would adequately convey his sense of the very kind way in which it had been proposed and the hearty recognition it had met with from the brethren, he believed it was customary on occasions of this kind for an incoming Master to state in somewhat explicit terms the manner in which he meant to carry out his duties in the ensuing year. If from his manner to-night the brethren thought he should perform his duties properly, he hoped they would accept that manner as an earnest in that direction. He would merely now thank them very heartily for the way in which the toast had been proposed and received. The next toast combined the Immediate Past Master and the Installing Officer of the day. Both these brethren acknowledged the compliment paid them. In proposing the health of the Visitors, the W.M. said it was so important a toast that he was almost inclined to call it the toast of the evening. In saying that he was not casting any slight upon the accomplished brother who had just sat down, because he was included among the visitors. There was a goodly number of visitors present, including many distinguished brethren. He had no doubt that each of these brethren would be delighted to respond; but he intended to begin as he meant to go on, namely—to ask only one visitor to respond to this toast; but the fact that he should on this evening call upon two must be taken as the exception that was to prove his rule. He would therefore couple with the toast the names of Bros. Corbie and Villiers. Bros. Corbie and Villiers replied, and then the W.M. proposed the health of the Past Masters, and the Treasurer and Secretary of the Lodge. The Past Masters had deserved well of the Lodge, which was not a very old one, having been consecrated in 1875, but that it had prospered was evident from the number of brethren whom they saw assembled that evening. The Treasurer was a very old friend of his, and had initiated him. He was sorry to see that he (Bro. Major Williams) had been obliged to leave them. The Secretary, Bro. Hookey, was one who devoted himself to the interests of the Lodge in every possible way, and he was thoroughly appreciated by the brethren. He was sure the brethren would receive the toast with hearty acclamation. He would ask Brother Woodward and the Secretary to respond. Bro. Woodward and Bro. Hooker (Secretary) replied. Bro. Philbrick having been entrusted by the W. Master with the gavel, in order that he might propose the toast of the Masonic Institutions, began by expressing the regret which he, in common with Bro. Villiers and every one else, must have felt at the absence of their esteemed Bro. Goddard. That brother had laboured most zealously and assiduously in his efforts to promote the welfare of mankind in general and hasten the arrival of that most desirable period in the world's history—the millennium. Unfortunately the time of universal happiness, when the lion and the lamb were prepared to lay down side by side, and men, instead of being ready at all times to give a free rein to their angry passions, were anxious, and indeed resolved on, converting all weapons of offence into implements of peace, unfortunately, he repeated, this time of universal peace and prosperity had not yet come. There were still disputes raging, and many of these were only determined after an appeal to the dread arbitrament of war. There still prevailed, in all parts, an almost incalculable amount of poverty and distress, and though much was being done to alleviate this distress, there was always much that remained to be accomplished. It was one of the glories of the Mason Craft, and one on which the brethren might honestly and honourably pride themselves that it omitted no opportunity, left no means untried to lessen the evils which poverty and misfortune are apt to entail. No other society in the world could point to such magnificent institutions as those which owed their existence to the fostering care of the brethren. No other society could point to similar charities as being wholly supported by the free-will offerings of its members. This, he remarked, was especially so at the most recent of their Anniversary Festivals, to wit the Festival of the R.M. Institution for Boys, which was celebrated at the Crystal Palace towards the end of June last, and resulted in a total of subscriptions and donations in excess of £23,000. On such a result as that he felt it was incumbent on him to offer his hearty congratulations to the zealous and able representative of that Institution, who was present with them that evening, as he was present in other Lodges on most other evenings in the year, for the purpose of aiding by his powerful advocacy the cause of Masonic Charity. Bro. Binckes had indeed great reason to be proud of his successful efforts, while he (Bro. Philbrick) was not the less pleased that this toast had been entrusted to him, because it gave him the further opportunity of congratulating the W. Master of the Lodge on having taken up the largest individual London Steward's list at the Festival in question. That was proof, if proof were wanting, that the Lodge was thoroughly imbued with the generous principles of Freemasonry, and that its members were prepared to give due effect to them at the proper time, and in the most effective manner. Brother Philbrick concluded a very animated speech by associating with the toast the name of Brother Binckes, whose response was again and again interrupted by the warm approval of his audience. Having expressed the pleasure he derived from having his name connected with such a toast, and his belief that no greater Masonic charm existed than Masonic Charity, Brother Binckes lamented his inability to say anything new in relation to the subject matter of the toast. It was constantly devolving upon him to reply to the same or similar toasts; but even had it not been so, he must, after so able and exhaustive a speech as that to which they had been listening with so much pleasure, have found himself at a loss to say anything that had not been said before. However, he would take the opportunity of pointing out that the School elections were very near at hand, and that many were interested in the results of these elections who had not contributed towards the support of the Masonic Charities. To all such he earnestly appealed for help, and he had every confidence the appeal would not be made in vain. As regards the Worshipful Master of the Lodge, he congratulated that brother on having won the blue ribbon of the year. He begged to convey to him his very warmest thanks for the services he had rendered. He had received several invitations to attend Lodges that evening, but as it was the first he had received in connection with that Lodge, and as he felt he was under a great obligation to the W.M. for what he had done on behalf of the Boys' School, he had elected to attend their meeting and thank them one and all for having so fully realised the style and title of the Lodge to which they belonged. The other toasts that followed were those of the Masonic Press, the Musical Artists—whose programme was admirably carried out—the Officers of the Lodge, and the Tyler's toast. A pleasing episode occurred towards the close of the evening, when one of the Visitors presented several very handsome bouquets to Brother Robertson, who, as a matter of course, was highly gratified at the compliment. One thing alone detracted from the enjoyment that attended our presence in the Lodge. The musical programme, though it gave every satisfaction, and, as we have said already, was admirably carried out, was on far too ambitious a scale. The services of no less than seven artists had been engaged, and each toast — and there was no less than twelve of them — was followed by a song. Consequently, the meeting was a protracted one. We see no reason whatever why, on these occasions, so much expense should be lavished on an entertainment which is quite uncalled for, and why the brethren should be required to sit to so late an hour—as they must do if they would avoid offence. Some of the most agreeable meetings we have had the privilege of attending have terminated at about the reasonable hour of ten, after which, if any were so minded, they could sit down quietly and enjoy an hour's social conversation. In our opinion, these late hours are quite uncalled for, while the expense of a banquet is quite sufficient outlay without adding to it in respect of an elaborate concert by processional artists.

Digitized by Google

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT LODGE, No. 1558.

THERE was a large gathering of the brethren at the Masonic Hall, Camberwell New Road, on Thursday afternoon, on the occasion of the installation of the W.M. elect, Bro. C. Sims. The business was heavy, and an early start was made. The feeling and interest exhibited in the proceedings was gratifying, not only to the incoming Master, but also to the retiring W.M., Bro. S. Taylor. The members of the Lodge mustered in force, and the attendance of visitors was exceedingly large. Among the latter present we observed the following brethren:—Grammer W.M. 27, G. Schadler W.M. and W. Walker J.D. 65, J. N. Bate W.M. 72, R. Barham P.M. and R. W. Harvey I.G. 144, A. Dockerell W.M. 145, J. Walker W.M. 172, Farwig P.M. 180, S. Martin, S.W. 188 and W.M. 1320, A. J. Paton Org. 205, W. Fieldson I.P.M. 548, E. Brooks 766, T. Gnignard 862, T. C. Kellaway 957, F. Brown 1158, M. S. Larlham P.M. 1216, F. C. Moufiet S.W. 1305, J. W. F. Cox W.M. 1314, J. Johnson S.W., F. H. Baker J.W., and H. A. Stunt 1320, T. W. Headon 1426, R. Forster P.M. 1441, D. Hilton S.W., H. Treacher and J. S. Waldron 1475, H. Youngman J.W. 1571, O. L. Finch 1641, J. Cox W.M., J. Hill S.D., C. C. Gibby J.D. and E. A. Grover 1658, C. F. Luckhurst 1604, A. Stokes W.M. 1839, G. J. Dawson P.M. 1853, R. J. Taylor Worshipful Master, and J. W. Chapman W. Master elect 1922. Bro. G. J. Dawson discharged the duties of Installing Master in a very effective manner, showing that he is not only well acquainted with the language of the ceremony, but that he knows how to give it with skill and precision. After having been duly installed, the W.M. Bro. C. Sims invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. S. Taylor I.P.M., J. Smith S.W., S. S. Stokes J.W., C. R. Power P.M. Treasurer, W. Mitchell P.M. Secretary, T. Nettlefold S.D., W. Briscoe J.D., T. E. Walker I.G., J. Plummer and W. Clayton Stewards, W. Brown M.C., W. Back Organist. Bro. Henry Thomas was re-appointed Tyler. The retiring P.M., Bro. Taylor, was presented with a very handsome Past Master's jewel, and some highly complimentry remarks were made with regard to the way in which he had discharged the duties of his office. Evidently Brother Taylor is a favourite with the Lodge, and deservedly so, judging by his genial and courteous manner. When he assumed the rule of the Lodge he had only a balance to commence with of £1 0s 4d, and he left for his successor £72 13s 8d. This result had been accomplished by prudent government, and was no doubt owing in no little degree to the estimation in which Bro. Taylor is held. The W.M., Bro. Sims, commenced his year of office well, and if he continues as well as he has begun he will be able, not only to be generous, a disposition he is strongly inclined to, but to leave the treasury in a flourishing state. He successfully initiated Messrs. Henry W. Prior, Joseph Sutton and Harry Cochrane; and others are awaiting the same ceremony at his hands. The business of the Lodge was not concluded until long after the time fixed for the banquet; every provision, however, was made for the temporary refreshment of the brethren, and the general wish appeared to be that the visitors especially should make themselves at home. Bro. Mitchell, the Secretary, was constantly looking after the comforts of the brethren of the Lodge and the guests, in which work he was ably assisted by Bro. P.M. Ranacres. The banquet was excellent, and served in the caterer's (Bro. Venables) best manner. There was a profusion of choice viands, but delay in sitting down had somewhat upset the chef's calculations, with the result that some of the fish was too much cooked. Where all was so good, it seems unkind to notice a defect the cause of which was so obvious. We refer to the matter simply in defence of Bro. Venables, and as a protest against the too common practice of irregularity as to time. The banquet took an inordinate length of time to complete; this, coupled with the delay referred to, brought on a late hour before the toasts were approached. We should not forget to mention that nearly 100 brethren sat down at the banquet tables, and that during the service of the several dishes a capital band discoursed some pretty lively music. The usual loyal toasts were given and responded to in an appropriate manner, and the singing between was both good and amusing. Bro. R. J. Taylor, Back and others contributed to this portion of the proceedings, and during the evening Bro. Dawson declaimed the "Bridge of Sighs" with touching force and emphasis. There was a happy combination of toast, speech, and song, a profusion of all that could minister to the inner man, not forgetting even the beautiful. The menu cards and toast list were pretty and effective, and each brother was supplied with a choice buttonhole of flowers. Bro. Sims has commenced under favourable circumstances, and there is every evidence of a prosperous year before him. It will be his own fault if he does not retire at the end with a high position in the Lodge, such as he evidently aspires to.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Invalids distracted by indigestion and discouraged in their search for its remedy should make trial of this never-failing medicine. A lady, long a martyr to dyspeptic tortures, writes that Holloway's Pills made her feel as if a burden had been taken off her. Her spirits, formerly low, have greatly improved; her capricious appetite has given place to healthy hunger; her dull, sick, bilious look has departed, and gradually so marvellous a change has been effected, that she is altogether a new creature, and again fit for her duties. These Pills may be administered with safety to the most delicate. They never act harshly, nor do they ever induce weakness; they rightly direct deranged, and control excessive action.

Digitized by Google

THE IMPERIAL HOTEL,

HOLBORN VIADUCT, LONDON,

Adjoining the Termini of the London Chatham and Dover Railway, but distinct from the Viaduct Hotel.

THE BEST FURNISHED AND MOST COMFORTABLE HOTEL IN LONDON.
HOT & COLD WATER LAID ON IN ALL BED ROOMS.
The appointments throughout so arranged as to ensure domestic comfort.

EVERY ACCOMMODATION FOR MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS,
Public Dinners & Wedding Breakfasts.

The Crusaders Lodge, No. 1677, and Perseverance Lodge, No. 1743, hold their meetings at this establishment.

GOOD COOKING. FINE WINES. MODERATE CHARGES.
The Edison Electric Light.
TARIFF on APPLICATION to Bro. A. BEGBIE.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL SPECIAL BUILDING FUND.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

In connection with such Special Fund, attainable until 31st December 1883.

Any present Life Governor of the General Fund, or any Donor who may qualify as such up to the date named above, will receive—

TWO VOTES,—instead of One Vote, for LIFE, for every FIVE GUINEAS contributed to the "Special Fund."

Lodges, Chapters, &c., similarly qualified may secure Two Votes instead of One Vote—for every Ten Guineas contributed to the "Special Fund."

 Ladies, and "Lewises"—being minors—similarly qualified, and all Vice-Presidents, will receive FOUR Votes for every Five Guineas so contributed.

Contributors of less than Five Guineas, to the "Special Fund," will be entitled to Votes as under ordinary conditions.

Lymington Villa, Clapham, S.W.
July 1883.

Dear Sir and Brother,—I am personally interested in the undermentioned case, the applicant being related to me. The sad circumstances under which the application is made are such as to justify the most strenuous exertions on the part of those who can sympathise with misfortune, and desire to mitigate unmerited distress.

If you will help me at the ensuing Election, I shall be very greatly obliged to you. The promise of your proxies and of your interest in support of this case will be highly esteemed and remembered should occasion arise.

Yours very truly and fraternally,
JAMES STEVENS P.M. P.Z.

Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.

OCTOBER ELECTION, 1883.

The favour of your Vote and Interest is respectfully and earnestly solicited on behalf of

KATHLEEN ALICE GIBSON,

AGED 8 YEARS

Daughter of Brother Charles George Gibson P.M. 223, 189 (now in Australia), who from unfortunate circumstances is unable to contribute anything towards the maintenance of his Wife and Six Children.

The case is strongly recommended by

W. Bro. Isaac Latimer, J.P., P.M. 189 P.P.G.S.W. Devon.
W. Bro. William Derry P.M. 156 P.G.J.W. Devon.
W. Bro. J. Edward Curteis P.M. 70, 189 P.P.G.S.W. Devon, V. Pat. R.M.I.B. V.P. R.M.B.I.
W. Bro. A. McPherson Walls P.G. Std., Vice-Pres.—Lloyds.
*W. Bro. E. F. Storr P.M. 22, 1679, P.Z. 1044, Z. 192, Mayday Villas, Bartholomew Road, Kentish Town, N.W.
W. Bro. E. C. Mather P.M. 23, 71 Fleet Street.
*W. Bro. J. Farmaner P.M. 28, 485, 8 Coleman Street, E.C.
*W. Bro. J. Hainsworth P.M. 28, 8 Coleman Street, E.C.
W. Bro. T. J. Thomas P.M. 28, 138 Queen Victoria Street, E.C.
W. Bro. T. Grove P.M. 1769, 173 Bishopsgate Street, E.C.
*W. Bro. Thomas Fairweather P.S.W. 22, 15 Watling Street, E.C.
W. Bro. James Stevens P.M. 720, 1216, 1426, P.Z., &c., Clapham, S.W.

Proxies will be thankfully received by those marked thus (*); also by the Mother, Mrs. C. G. Gibson, 14 Endsleigh Place, Plymouth.

VOTES AND INTEREST ARE SOLICITED FOR

MRS. JANE TRIBE, aged 63,

WIDOW of Brother George Henry Tribe, who was initiated 1873 [illegible] Zealand [illegible] at present District Grand Chaplain Westland and District Grand Treasurer [illegible] New Zealand.

Votes thankfully received by

Mr. C. BECKINGHAM, 415 Strand; or by
Bro. C. J. PEACEVAL (V.P.), 8 Thistle Place, S.W.

FIRST AND LAST APPLICATION.

To the Governors and Subscribers of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.

YOUR VOTES AND INTEREST [illegible] are respectfully solicited on behalf [illegible] of AMY MARY [illegible] Mason [illegible] Fidelity Lodge, No. 1216, and Mount Edgcumbe Lodge, No. 1426, Devonport, Devon, and late of the Union Workhouse, Stoke, Devonport.

[illegible] Votes thankfully received by Mrs. [illegible], 3 Albert Road, Devonport.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys,

WOOD GREEN, LONDON, N.

Patron:
Her Majesty the Queen.

President:
His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, K.G., M.W.G.M.

A QUARTERLY GENERAL COURT of the Governors and Subscribers will be held in the Large Hall, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, Lincoln's-inn-fields, London, on MONDAY, the 15th day of October 1883, for the transaction of the ordinary business of the Institution.

To consider the following Notice of Motion, by Bro. C. F. Matier V.P.:—

"Every individual donor of 200 guineas by one payment, or in sums of not less than five guineas each, shall become a patron, and have 80 votes at all elections of boys."

To elect 20 boys from an approved list of 64 candidates, reduced to 63 by the withdrawal of No. 42, Simmons, George John.

The chair will be taken at Twelve o'clock noon precisely. The ballot for the election of boys will open at one o'clock, or so soon as the general business of the court shall have terminated, and will close at three o'clock precisely.

By order,
FREDERICK BINCKES (P.G. Std.),
Vice-Patron, Secretary.

Offices—6 Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen Street, W.C.
6th October 1883.

Candidate withdrawn since meeting of General Committee, 6th instant:—
No. 46, LYON, WILLIAM BERESFORD.

THE EIGHTY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY FESTIVAL

WILL BE HELD IN JUNE 1884.

H.R.H. THE DUKE OF ALBANY, K.G.

R.W. PROVINCIAL GRAND MASTER OF OXFORDSHIRE,

Has most kindly consented to preside.

The services of Brethren willing to act as Stewards are earnestly solicited and will be gratefully acknowledged.

HOLLY BUSH TAVERN, HAMPSTEAD,

(Close to the Fire Station).

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; BALLS and ASSEMBLIES; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c. Rail and Bus within easy distance.

The members of the St. John's Lodge, No. 167, have held their meetings at this establishment for many years.

Full particulars and Tariff on application to
C. M. FROUD, Proprietor.

Brother C. G. SPARROW,

ACCOUNTANT AND AUDITOR,
17 FINSBURY PAVEMENT, E.C.

Accounts audited periodically at a moderate annual charge.
Terms on application.

PAUL & BURROWS,

MANUFACTURERS OF
SODA WATER AND SELTZER WATER,
LEMONADE AND GINGER BEER,
GINGER ALE AND POTASH WATER,
&c. &c.
FIRST CLASS QUALITY ONLY.
WILSON and ENDELL STREETS, LONG ACRE, LONDON, W.C.
ESTABLISHED EIGHTY YEARS.

Twelfth Edition, post free, One Shilling.

DR. WATTS on ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS. A Treatise on the only successful Method of Curing these Diseases. By Robert G. Watts, M.D., F.R.S.L., F.C.S., &c., 5 Bulstrode-street, Cavendish-sq., London.
London: C. Mitchell and Co., Red Lion-court, Fleet-street; and Simpkin and Co., Stationers' Hall-court.

FIRST APPLICATION.

To the Governors and Subscribers of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

THE favour of the VOTES and INTEREST of the Governors and Subscribers is earnestly solicited on behalf of

LIONEL BLENKINSOP J. MANBY,

AGED 8 YEARS.

The candidate's father, [illegible] Manby, was initiated in the Sincerity Lodge, No. 242, [illegible] and [illegible] joined the London United Pilgrims' Lodge, No. 1[illegible], and the Chapter, and continued to be a subscriber for upwards of [illegible] years, which [illegible] place in January last. He left a widow and [illegible] very little [illegible] provided for.

Proxies will be thankfully received by the widow, Mrs. MANBY, Ashwick Cottage, Oakhill, Bath.

FUNERALS.

Bros. W. K. L. & G. A. HUTTON
COFFIN MAKERS & UNDERTAKERS,
17 NEWMAN'S STREET, STRAND, W.C.
And at 30 Forest Hill Road, Peckham Rye, S.E.

Digitized by Google

RANDOM NOTES AND REFLECTIONS.

THERE is a spirit of reserve in English Freemasonry, which tends to preserve its dignity, to enhance its claims to admiration. There are times when displays are tolerated, even welcomed. These are special occasions, when some great event is about to take place, such as the laying of the foundation stone of some important structure or the funeral of some exalted brother. Then reserve melts before the dawn of rejoicing or the afternoon of lamenting, and the brethren discharge some of their symbolical functions in public. In London, beyond the attendance of the brethren at the grave of a departed brother, wearing a simple sprig of acacia, outward Masonic display is very seldom witnessed. In the provinces the Craft are more prone to demonstrations, which sometimes assume a very pleasing character. At Norwich, for instance, where the Provincial Grand Lodge usually hold their annual meeting, it is customary for the brethren to assemble in a building abutting on the cloisters of the Cathedral, dress, take their places in the nave and in due order, wearing regalia, march into the choir where service is performed. The sight is interesting and might very easily be made more imposing. The whole thing is done in a hum-drum hasty fashion, without any of that spirit and enthusiasm so characteristic of our northern brethren. The Provincial Grand Lodge of Chester have just held their annual meeting at Stalybridge, and we read that after the close of their labours, the brethren, headed by the Stalybridge Borough Band, went in procession to St. Paul's Church, where a sermon was preached. There is no canon against such displays, and so long as they are not carried to the verge of extravagance or tawdryness they may be permitted if not officially sanctioned.

—:o:—

Here is another instance. The Provincial Grand Lodge of Cumberland and Westmoreland, when they met on the 28th ult., at Egremont, after the conclusion of labour, most of which was devoted to charitable work, formed in procession, and accompanied by the Whitehaven Artillery Band, marched to the Parish Church, where they were exhorted to take firm hold of "Faith, Hope, and Charity." The brethren were not content with walking in procession to the church, but they returned in a similar manner, and then sat down to that reward which good work honestly done should always command.

—:o:—

There was a good deal of looting during the American War, Freemasons' Lodges sharing the fate of other places offering a chance of plunder. One event happened during the war which reads more like a romance than a reality. The battle of Fredericksburg took place in December 1862, and afforded an opportunity for despoiling the enemy. Brother W. L. Young, then a captain, after the battle, found in the possession of a private of artillery, a silver level, which he retained. He subsequently became acquainted with Bro. J. R. Spotswood, who was a member of the Fredericksburg Lodge, No. 1 who informed him that the Lodge Room had been broken into and stripped of its valuable contents, including some relics of the early history of the Lodge, the jewels which had been worn by Bro. George Washington, who was a member of the Lodge. He said no doubt the level previously was one of the stolen jewels. Bro. Young was satisfied of the correctness of the statement, and sent a letter containing the whole facts, together with the jewel to Integrity Lodge, No. 187, asking them to hold it in trust until the war was ended, when the jewel could be returned to its rightful owners. The trust was accepted, and the level was placed, with other property of the Lodge, in a place of safety, and then forgotten. A change of Secretaries recently took place in the Integrity Lodge, when Bro. David Bitter-house, after thirty-eight years service, retired, and Brother L. Matthews took his place. The latter, upon assuming the duties of his office, examined the property of the Lodge, and discovered the stolen level. The matter, thus revived, was pursued, and after some correspondence, the level was duly handed over to the Fredericksburg Lodge, after having been missing for twenty-one years. The brethren of the latter Lodge were unprepared for restoration of the prized jewel, and when, therefore, they received it at the hands of a deputation from Integrity Lodge, great was their rejoicing. We need hardly state that the visitors were welcomed with enthusiasm, and a very pleasant social evening was spent in fraternal intercourse.

—:o:—

We are not among those who admire the martinets of Freemasonry, who frequently contend most ardently for the letter of the Craft, but who most grossly violate its spirit. We have seen some strange examples of this genus, these lovers of externals, and have not been surprised at the contradiction their actions often suggested. For instance, we knew a Provincial Grand Secretary who was shocked at a brother publishing notices of Lodge meetings in his paper without first seeking the authority of the Provincial G. Master, but who turned his back upon a brother in the rudest and most ungentlemanly manner when the said brother temperately asked for information upon a matter affecting himself, and which might have been unfairly pressed against him. We need scarcely add that the Province referred to was not remarkable for its activity or charitable impulses under the management of such a Secretary.

—:o:—

Liberty is rather an expensive article in the United States, especially among Freemasons. Every State must have its rights independent of other States, and, of course, where three Lodges exist there and then must arise a Grand Lodge, with all the honours, cares and responsibilites of the oldest body in the Order. In America there is very little honorary service, and therefore not much of that personal responsibility which is the life and soul of true charity, the essence of friendship, and the great prompter of action. Men are paid for everything they do, with the result of the development of corruption and selfishness to an enormous extent. We have given some examples of self-sacrifice and noble deeds of succour and relief that occasionally occur in America, but these only serve to heighten the general contrast, and to show that the heart of the brethren is sound and only needs the abolition of the paying practices to fully bring out the better elements of their nature. There is a pride in the consciousness of doing good, which far exceeds any gratification that money can give, and there are duties to be performed which no money payment can command. This theory is the soul of Freemasonry, but our brethren across the Atlantic have covered it with sordid dross and tinsel, so that its brightness is concealed and its glory tarnished. The evil of paying brethren for services that ought to be cheerfully rendered, that should be counted an honour to be permitted to discharge, is forcing itself upon the Craft in America. The pocket is too severely taxed, and now the demand is for economy, and with it arises the question: Is this enormous outlay necessary? One illustration of the expenditure of a Grand Lodge will suffice for our purpose. The annual revenue amounted to twelve or fourteen thousand dollars, and the expenditure of one session was something like eleven thousand dollars, besides extra for the expenses of the Grand Secretary, in addition to his salary of more than three dollars per day. Says the late Bro. Cornelius Moore:

> More than ten thousand dollars were paid for mileage and per diem of members to and from the session of the Grand Lodge. These are the necessities, from which the Fraternity derives but little [illegible] the [illegible] which will work an injury to the Institution. The expenses incurred by the Craft in Cincinnati, and other points, to relieve suffering caused by the late floods, which rose to [illegible] the heart of Freemasonry than will five times the amount expended to hold a session of Grand Lodge.

—:o:—

Alas, for the needed reform! Bro Moore no longer wields the pen, still he has left his thoughts on record, and Masonic journalists, especially in America, should take care that they do not die until the nobler conscience of the brethren has been purged of the grossness of filthy lucre, the love of which is the curse of every people under the sun, and a by-word and curse to the Craft. It has been suggested that the meetings of Grand Lodges should be biennial, even triennial, so that not only would expense be saved, but constant changes in the laws would be avoided. It is pleasant to notice that all the Grand Lodges in America do not follow the pernicious practice of paying delegates, and these are the best in the States. To hold office in Grand Lodge with them is an honourable ambition, and the discharge of its obligations a pleasurable duty, the cost of which is cheerfully borne. Their experience tallies with our own—that there is nothing like voluntary work to keep the Craft healthy, vigorous, and truly benevolent. Bro. Moore was strongly in favour of something like our system of Provincial Grand Lodge being introduced into America. While he offered the suggestion with the modesty that usually accompanies strength of character and conviction, he cast off all reserve in denouncing the paying system as being hostile to the spirit of Freemasonry, expensive, and unnecessary. We trust that Bro. Moore's dying words will have their effect upon our American brethren, and that they will not permit the continuance of that jealousy of the mother country which has so frequently intervened to prevent the adoption of old practices which time has proved to be of great price.

Digitized by Google

Bro. Seymour-Smith announces his Annual Concert for Saturday, 20th instant, at the South Place Institute, Moorgate-street. We look forward to these pleasant gatherings, under the control of our esteemed Bro. Smith, with some amount of pleasurable anticipation. We invariably meet many old and esteemed friends, and a capital programme is sure to be provided. On the occasion under notice, Bro. Smith will be assisted by the Misses Matilda Roby, Maud Cameron, Meta Russell, Helen Heath, and Madame Raymond; Messrs. Lester, James Lord, G. T. Carter, F. H. Cozens, C. A. White, Arthur Thompson, Chaplin Henry, and Albert Hubbard. Instrumentalists: Madame Brett, Misses Evelyn Seymour-Smith, Dunbar Perkins; Messrs. W. Morrow and Richard Blagrove. Accompanyists: Messrs. Michael Watson, F. A. Jewson, and Seymour-Smith.

At the last meeting of the Ewell Lodge, No. 1851, Bro. Dunkley (G. S. Graham) was unanimously elected W.M.; his installation will take place in May next, at the Sun Hotel, Kingston.

Bro. Graham's Eighteenth Annual Concert, at St. Andrew's Hall, Balham, last week, was a great success. Bro. Egbert Roberts, Miss Amy Graham, and Madame Lansdell Sims were enthusiastically applauded. The demand for encores in several instances were gracefully conceded by these popular artistes.

THE LATE FIRE AT FREEMASONS' HALL.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I should be glad if you could find space for the following particulars in reference to the portraits destroyed by the late fire, and of which, I regret to say, we have neither copies nor engravings. Amongst your readers there may be some who are more fortunate; or, at any rate, may be able to enlighten us as to whether any of them were either engraved or copied.

In 1785 a proposal was made for engraving the two first-named portraits, but I am inclined to think it was not done at that time, if at all.

Yours fraternally,

H. SADLER, P.M.

1.—Robert Edward, 9th Lord Petre, Grand Master 1772 to 1777; painted in 1785 by the Rev. W. Peters.

2.—George, 4th Duke of Manchester, Grand Master 1777 to 1782; painted by the Rev. W. Peters.

3.—H.R.H. Henry Frederick, Duke of Cumberland, Grand Master 1782 to 1790; painted by the Rev. W. Peters.

4.—H.R.H. George Augustus, Prince of Wales, Grand Master 1790 to 1813; painted in 1795 by the Rev. W. Peters.

5.—Francis, 2nd Earl of Moira, Acting Grand Master 1790 to 1813; supposed to be painted by Reynolds.

6.—John, 4th Duke of Athol, Grand Master (Ancients) 1791 to 1813; painted in 1814 by Thomas Phillips.

7.—H.R.H. Edward, Duke of Kent, Grand Master (Ancients) 1813; painted in 1814 by Sir Wm. Beechy, R.A.

8.—H.R.H. Augustus Frederick, Duke of Sussex, Grand Master 1813 to 1843 (in Highland costume); painted in 1814 by Sir Wm. Beechy, R.A.

Justice Lodge, No. 147.—A meeting was held on Wednesday, 10th October, at the White Swan Hotel, Deptford:—Present Bros. J. W. Freeman W.M., Banks S.W., H. C. Freeman J.W., Bartlett Treasurer, Speight P.M. Sec., Pitt S.D., Beckett J.D., Dilley I.G., Goddard Tyler. Past Masters Bros. Bolton, C. G. Dilley, Waterman, Hutchings, Ingram, and Patte. Visitor—Bro. Bullwinkle J.W. 1421. Business—This was the first meeting after the vacation, and there was a numerous attendance of the brethren. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, Bros. Lewis and Parkinson, candidates for passing, answered the usual questions satisfactorily, and after the Lodge was opened in the second degree, they were duly passed to the degree of F.C. Some formal business was then disposed of, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet, which was most admirably served by the popular proprietor Bro. Morgan. The cloth being cleared, the usual toasts followed, and some capital singing by Bros. Banks, W. E. Dilley, Astley and Williams served to pass a very pleasant evening.

Tranquillity Lodge, No. 185.—The first meeting of this Lodge after the usual recess was held on Monday at the Guildhall Tavern. The ordinary meetings are held on the 3rd Monday, in the month, but as next Monday evening is a Jewish Festival (Tabernacles), and as a large proportion of the brethren are Jews, an emergency meeting was convened for Monday last. Bro. A. Staley W.M. presided, and there was a very large attendance of brethren. Bros. Tuck and Rosenfeld were raised, and Bros. Lebus, Myers, Emanuel, Reeves, Birn and Cohen were passed. Brother Abraham Cohen (formerly of this Lodge) and Brother Benjamine Ramus (late of the Commercial Lodge, Glasgow) were elected joining members. Bro. Philip Levy tendered his resignation as Secretary of the Lodge, after a service of nearly a quarter of a century. The resignation was accepted, with much regret, and a resolution passed acknowledging the valuable services rendered to the Lodge by Brother Levy. Bro. Asher I. Myers was elected Secretary pro tem. The brethren adjourned to banquet, at which the W.M. presided. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed and responded to. Bros. Harfeld P.M. and Moses (Montefiore Lodge) acknowledged the toast of the visitors. Bros. Ross, Barnett and other brethren contributed to the harmony of the evening.

St. Leonard Lodge, No. 1766.—The first monthly meeting of this Lodge after the vacation was held at the Town Hall, Shoreditch, on Wednesday, the 3rd inst. Bro. J. A. Jones W.M. occupied the chair, and was supported by Bros. E. Benjamin I.P.M., L. Stean P.M., C. F. Barham P.M., A. A. Clements S.W., Jas. Funston J.W., Rev. H. G. Henderson, M.A., Chaplain, J. Cox Secretary, E. Walker S.D., F. Matthews J.D., H. J. Thrower M.C., G. C. Young Organist, L. A. Harrison and E. T. Clark Stewards, and J. Very Tyler. The members present were Bros. E. T. Henman, H. Waynforth, T. Douglass, S. Fennell, E. T. Henman jun., W. Strickland, J. W. Griffiths, Dr. Holt, F. Meriton, B. Nicholson, A. Rogers, Jas. Roberts, G. Short, and T. Weatherley. Among the visitors were Bros J. W. Long P.M. Fitzroy Lodge, J. Smith W.M. 193, J. Little 1607, G. J. Mustoe 813, E. Seymour 1382, W. Shearman 1382, B. Legge 15. Lodge was opened with solemn prayer, and after the usual business a ballot was taken for Mr. Alfred James Heard, merchant, who was unamiously elected, and duly initiated into the mysteries of the Order. Other matters connected with the interests of the Lodge were disposed of, after which Lodge was closed in ancient form, and the brethren retired to refreshment. During the subsequent speeches, reference was made to the capital working of the Master and his Officers, and to the amounts contributed to the Masonic Charities from this young Lodge.

Selwyn Lodge of Instruction, No. 1901.—A meeting of the above Lodge was held at the East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich, on Friday, the 28th ult., when a large number of brethren were present. The chair was taken by Bro. Conley P.M. 1559, who appointed the following Officers:—Bros. Taffs W.M. 186 as S.W., Johnson S.W. 1320 J.W., Burnett S.W. 1901 S.D., Shorter J.D., Rotheroe 30 I.G., Bowler Tyler. The Lodge having been opened in due form, the ceremony of installation was rehearsed, and Bro. Bellis W.M. 1901 was installed into the chair. The following brethren were then elected members of the Lodge:—Bros. Benedetti 1155, Davis 310, Addington 217, Parkhouse 1475, Beck 1901, Kedge 749, Brinton 1329, Williams 90, Shannaw 975, Williams 72, and Lean 1564. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to the banqueting room, and sat down to a supper provided by Bro. Gurney, the host. The harmonic portion of the evening was most ably contributed to by Bros. Lennard, Hook, White, Wallis and Powell. We may mention that this is a new locality, so far as buildings are concerned, which have been erected only a short time. Freemasonry, however, is flourishing.

MR. DUVAL'S "ODDS AND ENDS."

THIS gentleman, of whose ability as a public entertainer we have already had occasion to speak in favourable terms, has recently been giving a series of most successful performances, with his variety entertainment entitled "Odds and Ends," at the St. James's Great Hall." We may say of Mr. Duval that he never descends to vulgarity, but sustains the several characters he impersonates with considerable versatility and gentlemanly bearing. His changes of costume are carried out with marvellous rapidity, and he keeps the interest of his audience well sustained during the whole time he occupies the stage.

The Fifteen Sections will be worked in the Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198, on Saturday, the 27th instant, when the chair will be taken by our esteemed Brother Fenner. Brethren who can make it convenient to attend will be amply rewarded.

Digitized by Google

DIARY FOR THE WEEK.

We shall be obliged if the Secretaries of the various Lodges throughout the Kingdom will favour us with a list of their Days of Meetings, &c., as we have decided to insert only those that are verified by the Officers of the several Lodges.

—:o:—

SATURDAY, 13th OCTOBER.

Quarterly General Court Girls' School, Freemasons' Tavern, at 12
176—Caveac, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street
198—Perce, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., at 8 (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1361—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7 (Instruction)
1426—The Great City, Cannon Street Hotel
1607—Loyalty, London Tavern, Fenchurch Street
1612—West Middlesex, The Institute, Ealing
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1671—Mizpah, Albion Hotel, Aldersgate-street
1685—Guelph, Red Lion, Leytonstone
1743—Perseverance, Imperial Hotel, Holborn Viaduct
1839—Duke of Cornwall, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1964—Clerkenwell, Holborn Viaduct Hotel, E.C.
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, [illegible]-street, Regent-st., W., at 8
M.M. 211—Hammersmith, Windsor Castle Hotel, King Street W, Hammersmith

148—Peace, Private Rooms, Meltham
308—Prince George, Private Rooms, Bottoms, Eastwood
1418—Campbell, Mitre Hotel, Hampton Court
1637—Unity, Abercorn Hotel, Great Stanmore

MONDAY, 15th OCTOBER.

Quarterly General Court, Boys' School, Freemasons' Tavern, at 12
21—Emulation, Albion, Aldersgate-street
22—Loughborough, Cambria Tavern, Cambria Road, near Loughborough Junction, at 7.30. (Instruction)
45—Strong Man, Excise Tavern, Old Broad Street, E.C., at 7 (Instruction)
174—Sincerity, Railway Tavern, Railway Place, Fenchurch Street, at 7. (In)
180—St. James's Union, Union Tavern, Air-street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
185—Tranquillity, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
186—Industry, Bell, Carter-lane, Doctors-commons, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
548—Wellington, White Swan, High-street, Deptford, at 8 (Instruction)
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham.
862—Whittington, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
901—City of London, Gresham-street, E.C.
907—Royal Albert, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1425—Hyde Park, Fountain Abbey Hotel, Praed Street, Paddington, at 8 (In).
1469—Marquess of Ripon, Pembury Tavern, Amherst-rd., Hackney, at 7.30 (In)
1507—Metropolitan, The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C., at 7.30 (Inst.)
1537—St. Peter Westminster, Criterion, W.
1606—Kilburn, 46 South Molton Street, Oxford Street, W., at 8. (Inst.)
1624—West Smithfield, Farringdon Hotel, Farringdon-street, E.C. at 8 (Inst.)
1625—Trafalgar, Royal Hotel Mile End Road, corner of Burdett Road. (Inst).
1693—Kingsland, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N., at 8.30 (Instruction)
1891—St. Ambrose, Baron's Court Hotel, West Kensington. (Instruction)
1910—Shadwell Clerke, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill
R.A. 933—Doric, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 7. (Instruction)
R.A. 1319—Asaph, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
M.M. 173—Temple, Green Dragon Tavern, Stepney

61—Probity, Freemason's Hall, St. John's-place, Halifax
77—Freedom, Clarendon Hotel, Gravesend
236—York, Masonic Hall, York
264—Nelson of the Nile, Freemasons' Hall, Batley
302—Hope, New Masonic Hall, Darley-street, Bradford
307—Prince Frederick, White Horse Hotel, Hebden Bridge
331—Phœnix Public Room, Truro
359—Peace and Harmony, Freemasons' Hall, Southampton
382—Royal Union, Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge. (Instruction)
498—Three Graces, Private Rooms, Haworth
424—Borough, Half Moon Hotel, Gateshead
466—Merit, George Hotel, Stamford Baron, Northampton
467—Tudor, Red Lion Hotel, Oldham
613—Unity, Masonic Hall, Southport
622—St. Cuthbergs, Masonic Hall, Wimborne
725—Stoneleigh, King's Arms Hotel, Kenilworth
823—Everton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7.30. (Instruction)
925—Bedford Masonic Hall, New Street, Birmingham
934—Merit, Derby Hotel, Whitefield
945—Alexandra, Masonic Hall, Hollbeach.
1030—Egerton, George Hotel, Wellington Road, Heaton Norris, near Stockport
1037—Portland, Portland Hall, Portland
1141—Mid Sussex, King's Arms Hotel, Horsham
1170—St. George, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
1199—Agriculture, Honey Hall, Congresbury
1208—Corinthian, Royal Hotel, Pier, Dover
1238—Gooch, Albany Hotel, Twickenham
1449—Royal Military, Masonic Hall, Canterbury, at 8. (Instruction)
1502—Israel, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1542—Legiolium, Masonic Hall, Carlton-street, Castleford
1575—Clive, Corbet Arms, Market Drayton
1909—Carnarvon, Masonic Hall, Nottingham
1973—Saye and Sele, Essenden Hotel, Belvedere
R.A. 32—Jerusalem, Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool
R.A. 40—Emulation, Castle Hotel, Hastings
R.A. 218—Fidelity, Freemasons' Hall, Bolton Street, Brixham
R.A. 298—Loyalty, Freemasons' Hall, Surrey-street, Sheffield
R.A. 827—St. John, Masonic Temple, Halifax-road, Dewsbury
R.A. 951—St. Aubyn, Ebrington Masonic Hall, Granby Street, Devonport
R.A. 995—Furness, Masonic Temple, Ulverston
M.M. 9—Fortescue, Masonic Hall, South Molton, Devon
K.T.—Edmund Plantagenet, Knowsley Hotel, Haymarket-street, Bury K.T.—Prince of Peace, Bull Hotel, Preston

TUESDAY, 16th OCTOBER.

Board of General Purposes, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
30—United Mariners, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
58—Constitutional, Bedford Hotel, Southampton-bldgs., Holborn, at 7 (Inst)
65—Prosperity, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark
95—Eastern Star, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street, E.C.
141—Faith, 2 Westminster Chambers, Victoria-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
177—Domatic, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30 (Instruction)
188—Joppa, Champion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, at 7.30. (Instruction)
435—Salisbury, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney (Instruction)
753—Prince Frederick William, Eagle Tavern, Clifton Road, Maida Hill, at 8 (Instruction)
820—Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond, at 7.30 (Instruction)
860—Dalhousie, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston at, 8 (Instruction)
1044—Wandsworth, Star and Garter Hotel, St. Ann's-hill, Wandsworth (Inst).
1339—Stockwell, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1449—Friars, Liverpool Arms, Cannon Town, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1360—Royal Arthur, Rock Tavern, Batterses Park Road, at 8. (Instruction)
1381—Kennington, The Horns, Kennington. (Instruction)
1420—Earl Spencer, Swan Hotel, Battersea Old Bridge
1446—Mount Edgcumbe, 19 Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8 (Instruction)
1471—Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, at 7 (Instruction)
1472—Henley, Three Crowns, North Woolwich (Instruction)
1540—Chancer, Old White Hart, Borough High Street, at 8. (Instruction)
1559—D. Connaught, Palmerston Arms, Grosvenor Park, Camberwell, at 8 (In)
1602—Sir Hugh Meddelton, Queen's Head, Essex Road, N., at 8.30 (In)
1695—New Finsbury Park
1695—New Finsbury Park, Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, at 8 (Inst)
1707—Eleanor, Trocadero, Broad-street-buildings, Liverpool-street, 6.30 (Inst)
1949—Brixton, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, East Brixton, at 8. (Instruction)
Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, 6.30
R.A. 11—Enoch, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 19—Mount Sinai, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
R.A. 186—Industry, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 1305—Clapton, White Hart Tavern, Clapton, at 8. (Instruction)
M.M. 238—Prince Leopold, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.

126—Silent Temple, Cross Keys Inn, Burnley
213—Perseverance, Masonic Hall, Theatre-street, Norwich
241—Merchants, Masonic Hall, Liverpool (Instruction)
248—True Love and Unity, Freemasons' Hall, Brixham, Devon
373—Socrates, George Hotel, High-street, Huntingdon
384—St. David, Masonic Rooms, Bangor.
402—Royal Sussex, George the Fourth, Nottingham
414—Union, Masonic Hall, Reading
418—Menturia, Mechanics' Institute, Hanley
448—St. James, Freemasons' Hall, St. John's-place, Halifax
468—Light, Great Western Hotel, Birmingham
510—St. Martin, Masonic Hall, Liskeard.
624—Abbey, Masonic Hall, Union-street, Burton-on-Trent
661—Brecknock, Castle Hotel, Brecon
667—Alliance, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
779—Ferrers and Ivanhoe, Town Hall, Ashby-de-la-Zouch
897—Loyalty, Fleece Inn, St. Helens, Lancashire
960—Bute, Masonic Hall, 9 Working-street, Cardiff.
986—Hesketh, Grapes Inn, Croston
1006—Tregullow, Masonic Rooms, St. Day, Scorrier, Cornwall
1052—Callender, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
1069—De Shurland, Fountain Hotel, Sheerness.
1113—Anglesea, Bull Hotel, Llangefni
1214—Scarborough, Scarborough Hall, Caledonia-road, Batley
1270—Warren, Queen's Hotel, Birkenhead, Cheshire
1325—Stanley, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1427—Percy, Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle
1470—Chiltern, Town Hall, Dunstable
1473—Bootle, 146 Berry-street, Bootle, at 8 (Instruction)
1534—Concord, George Hotel, Prestwich
1551—Charity, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
1570—Prince Arthur, 140 North Hill Street, Liverpool
1726—Gordon, Assembly Room, Bognor
1764—Eleanor Cross, Masonic Hall, Abington-street, Northampton
1941—St. Augustine's, Shrewsbury Arms Hotel, Rugeley
R.A. 41—Royal Cumberland, Masonic Hall, Old Orchard Street, Bath
R.A. 315—Royal Pavilion, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
R.A. 624—Abbey, Masonic Rooms, Burton-on-Trent
R.A. 792—Oliver, Masonic Hall, Osborne Street, Great Grimsby
R.A. 829—High Cross, Bull Inn, Dartford
R.A. 970—St. Anne's, Masonic Hall, East Looe, Cornwall
R.A. 1174—Pentangle, Sun Hotel, Chatham
M.M. 266—Amherst, Masonic Hall, Sandgate
R.C. 54—Albion, Concert Hall, St. Leonards-on-Sea

WEDNESDAY, 17th OCTOBER.

General Committee Grand Chapter, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
15—Kent, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
30—United Mariners', The Lugard, Peckham, at 7.30. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Horse Shoe Inn, Newington Causeway, at 8. (Inst)
140—St. George, Trafalgar Tavern, Greenwich
174—Sincerity, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
193—Confidence, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, at 7.30 (Instruction)
228—United Strength, Prince Alfred, 13 Crowndale-rd., Camden-town, 8 (In)
538—La Tolerance, Morland's Hotel, Dean Street, Oxford St. at 8 (Inst)
619—Beadon, Greyhound, Dulwich
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7 (Instruction)
781—Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, E. (Instruction)
813—New Concord, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. (Instruction)
862—Whittington, Red Lion, Poppin's-court, Fleet-street, at 8 (Instruction
865—Dalhousie, Town Hall, Hounslow
1044—Wandsworth, East Hill Hotel, Wandsworth
1150—Buckingham and Chandos, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1278—Burdett Coutts, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel Road, E., at 8. (Inst.)
1288—Finsbury Park, Cock Tavern, Highbury, at 8 (Instruction)
1321—Emblematic, Goat and Star, Swallow Street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
1349—Friars, London Tavern, Fenchurch Street
1382—Corinthian, George Inn, Glengall Road, Cubitt Town
1445—Prince Leopold, Moorgate Tavern, Moorgate Street, at 7 (Instruction)
1478—Peckham, Lord Wellington Hotel, 516 Old Kent-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1507—Metropolitan, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
1524—Duke of Connaught, Royal Edward, Mare-street, Hackney, at 8 (Inst)
1604—Wanderers, Adam and Eve Tavern, Palmer St., Westminster, at 7.30 (In)
1624—Eccleston, Criterion, Piccadilly
1662—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow, at 7.30 (Inst.)
1677—Crusaders, Imperial Hotel, Holborn Viaduct
1791—Creaton, Prince Albert Tavern, Portobello-ter., Notting-hill-gate (Inst.)
1922—Earl of Lathom, Station Hotel, Camberwell New Road, S.E., at 8. (In.)
R.A.—Camden, The Boston, Junction Road, Holloway, at 8.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 141—Faith, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
R.A. 177—Domatic, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-st., at 8 (Instruction)
R.A. 192—Lion and Lamb, Cannon-street Hotel, E.C.
M.M.—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, at 8 (Instruction)
M.M. 144—Grosvenor, Masonic Hall, Air Street, Regent Street
M.M. 199—Duke of Connaught, Town Hall, Shoreditch

20—Royal Kent of Antiquity, Sun Hotel, Chatham
121—Mount Sinai, Public-buildings, Penzance
125—Prince Edwin, White Hart Hotel, Hythe, Kent
128—Prince Edwin, Bridge Inn, Bolton-street, Bury, Lancashire
175—East Medina, Masonic Hall, John-street, Ryde, I.W.
178—Antiquity Royal Hotel, Wigan
200—Old Globe, Private Rooms, Globe-street, Scarborough
210—Duke of Athol, Bowling Green Hotel, Denton
221—St. John, Commercial Hotel, Town Hall Square, Bolton
240—Royal Union, Freemasons Hall, Cheltenham.
274—Tranquillity, Boar's Head Inn, Newchurch, near Manchester
290—Huddersfield, Masonic Hall, South Parade, Huddersfield
311—South Saxon, Freemasons' Hall, Lewes
325—St. John's Freemasons' Hall, Islington-square, Salford
342—Royal Sussex, Freemasons' Hall, 79 Commercial Road, Landport
363—Keystone, New Inn, Whitworth.
387—Airedale, Masonic Hall, Westgate, Shipley
424—Sincerity, Angel Inn, Northwich, Cheshire
451—Sutherland, Town Hall, Burslem
537—Zetland, 9 Hamilton-street, Birkenhead.
581—Faith, Drover's Inn, Openshaw
591—Buckingham, George Hotel, Aylesbury
592—Cotteswold, King's Head Hotel, Cirencester
594—Downshire, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7. (Instruction)
606—Segontium, The Castle, Carnarvon
625—Devonshire, Norfolk Hotel, Glossop
633—Yarborough, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
673—St. John, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
683—Isca, Freemasons' Hall, Dock-street, Newport, Monmouthshire
750—Friendship, Freemason' Hall, Railway-street, Cleckheaton
758—Ellesmere, Freemasons' Hall, Runcorn, Cheshire
795—St. John, Ray Mead Hotel, Maidenhead
816—Royd, Spring Gardens Inn, Wardle, near Rochdale

Digitized by Google

823—Everton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
874—Holmesdale, Royal Sussex Hotel, Tunbridge Wells
889—Dobie, Griffin Hotel, Kingston-on-Thames
938—Grosvenor, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
962—Sun and Sector, Assembly Rooms, Workington
972—St. Augustine, Masonic Hall, Canterbury
1019—Sincerity, Freemasons' Hall, Zetland-street, Wakefield
1040—Sykes, Masonic Hall, Driffield, Yorks
1046—Walton, Skelmersdale Masonic Hall, Kirkdale, Liverpool
1129—St. Chad, Roebuck Hotel, Rochdale
1161—De Grey and Ripon, Brunswick Hotel, Piccadilly, Manchester
1206—Cinque Ports, Bell Hotel, Sandwich
1253—Holte, Holte Hotel, Aston
1301—Brighouse, Masonic Room, Bradford-road, Brighouse
1337—Anchor, Masonic Rooms, Durham House, Northallerton
1353—Duke of Lancaster, Athenæum, Lancaster
1356—De Grey and Ripon, 140 North Hill-street, Liverpool, at 7.30 (Inst)
1403—West Lancashire, Commercial Hotel, Ormskirk
1423—Salem, Town Hall, Dawlish, Devon
1511—Alexandra, Masonic Hall, Hornsea, Hull.
1634—Starkie, Railway Hotel, Ramsbottom
1645—Colne Valley, Lewisham Hotel, Slaithwaite
1797—Southdown, Hurstpierpoint, Sussex
R.A. 76—Economy, Masonic Hall, Parchment Street, Winchester
R.A. 86—Lebanon, Masonic Hall, Prescot
R.A. 240—St. Hilda, Freemasons' Hall, Fowler-street, South Shields
R.A. 323—Charity, Florist Hotel, Stockport
R.A. 341—Beauty, Bull's Head, Radcliffe
R.A. 361—Industry, Norfolk Arms, Hyde
R.A. 371—Nicholson, Freemasons' Hall, Englefield Street, Maryport
R.A. [illegible]—Stortford, Chequers Inn, Bishop's Stortford
R.A. 417—Faith and Unanimity, Masonic Hall, Dorchester
R.A. 5[illegible]9—Vernon, Dragon Hotel, High Street, Walsall
R.A. 731—Truth, Masonic Hall, Gower Street, Derby
R.A. 1[illegible]3—Talbot, Mackworth Hotel, Swansea
R.A. 13[illegible]7—Chorlton, Masonic Hall, High Lane, Chorlton-cum-Hardy
M.M. 135—Hotspur, Freemasons' Hall, Claypool-street, Alnwick

THURSDAY, 18th OCTOBER.

House Committee Girls' School, Battersea Rise, at 4
3—Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London street, Fitzroy-sq., at 8 (Instruction)
27—Egyptian, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
49—Gihon, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street
55—Constitutional, Inns of Court Hotel, Fleet-street, W.C.
87—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth, at 8 (Instruction)
147—Justice, Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford, at 8. (Instruction)
169—Temperance, White Swan, High-street, Deptford
179—Manchester, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
181—Universal, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
435—Salisbury, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
704—Camden, Lincoln's Inn Restaurant, 305 High Holborn, at 7 (Instruction)
733—Westbourne, Lord's Hotel, St. Johns Wood
751—High Cross, Coach and Horses, Lower Tottenham, at 8 (Instruction)
813—New Concord, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street
901—City of London, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, at 6.30. (Instruction)
902—Burgoyne, Cock Tavern, St. Martin's-court, Ludgate-hill, at 6.30 (Inst)
1139—South Norwood, Public Hall, South Norwood
1158—Southern Star, Pheasant, Stangate, Westminster-bridge, at 8 (Inst.)
1185—Lewis, Kings Arms Hotel, Wood Green, at 7 (Instruction)
1227—Upton, Swan, Bethnal Green-road, near Shoreditch, at 8 (Instruction)
1287—Great Northern, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1339—Stockwell, Cock Tavern, Kennington-road, at 7.30 (Instruction
1426—The Great City, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
1475—Peckham, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1613—Cripplegate, Albion, Aldersgate-street
1614—Covent Garden, Constitution, Bedford-street, W.C., at 7.15 (Instruction)
1673—Langton, Mansion House Station Restaurant, E.C. at 6, (Instruction)
1677—Crusaders, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 9 (Inst.)
1681—Londesborough, Regent Masonic Hall, Air Street, W.
1681—Londesborough, Berkeley Arms, John Street, May Fair, at 8. (Instruct).
1728—Temple Bar, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich.
1950—Southgate, Railway Hotel, New Southgate, at 7.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 79—Pythagorean, Ship Hotel, Greenwich
R.A. 217—Stability, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
R.A. 753—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, at 8. (In.)
R.A. 1471—North London, Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, at 8. (Instruction)
M.M.—Bon Accord, 8a Red Lion Square, W.C.
M.M. 199—Duke of Connaught, Havelock, Albion-rd., Dalston, at 8.30 (Inst.)

42—Relief, Albion Hotel, Haymarket-street, Bury, Lancashire
48—Industry, 34 Denmark-street, Gateshead. (Instruction)
56—Howard, High-street, Arundel
98—St. Martin, Town Hall, Burslem
100—Friendship, Crown and Anchor, Great Yarmouth
203—Ancient Union, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
215—Commerce, Commercial Hotel, Haslingden
268—Union, Queen's Arms Inn, George-street, Ashton-under-Lyne
343—Concord, Militia Officers' Mess Rooms, Starkie-street, Preston
345—Perseverance, Old Bull Hotel, Church-street, Blackburn
346—United Brethren, Royal Oak Inn, Clayton-le-Dale, near Blackburn
350—Charity, Grapes Inn, Stoneclough, near Manchester
367—Probity and Freedom, Red Lion Inn, Smallbridge
369—Limestone Rock, Masonic Hall, Church-street, Clitheroe
432—Abbey, Newdegate Arms, Nuneaton
456—Foresters, White Hart Hotel, Uttoxeter
462—Bank Terrace, Hargreaves Arms Hotel, Accrington
523—John of Gaunt, Freemasons' Hall, Halford-street, Leicester
600—Harmony, Freemasons' Hall, Salem-street, Bradford
605—Combermere, Queen's Hotel, Birkenhead
663—Wiltshire Fidelity, Masonic Hall, Devizes.
971—Trafalgar, Private Room, Commercial Street, Batley
1011—Richmond, Crown Hotel, Blackfriars-street, Salford
1042—Excelsior, Masonic Hall, Great George-street, Leeds
1125—St. Peter, Masonic Hall, Tiverton, Devon
1182—Duke of Edinburgh, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1184—Abbey, Masonic Hall, Battle
[illegible] near Liverpool
[illegible] New Town
[illegible]

[illegible]AY, 19th OCTOBER.

House Committee [illegible]
[illegible] Lodge of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.

25—Robert Burns, The North Pole, 115 Oxford-street, W., at 8 (Instruc.)
144—St. Luke, White Hart, King's-road, Chelsea, at 7.30. (Instruction)
507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30. (Instruct.)
766—William Preston, St. Andrew's Tavern, George St., Baker St., at 8 (In.)
780—Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge. (Instruction)
834—Ranelagh, Six Bells, Hammersmith (Instruction)
933—Doric, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 8. (Instruction)
975—Rose of Denmark, Greyhound, Richmond
1056—Metropolitan, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. at 7. (Instruction)
1158—Belgrave, Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
1298—Royal Standard, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, at 8. (In.)
1365—Clapton, White Hart, Lower Clapton, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1642—E. Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
1704—Anchor, Holborn Viaduct Hotel
1789—Ubique, Guardsman Army Coffee Tavern, Buckingham Palace-road, S.W., at 7.30. (Instruction)
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich. (Instruction)
1962—London Rifle Brigade, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
R.A. 65—Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall St.
R.A. 79—Pythagorean, Portland Hotel, London-street, Greenwich. (Inst.)
M.M.—Old Kent, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, E.C. (Instruction)
M.M. 176—Era, 8a Red Lion Square, W. C.
K.T. 45—Temple Cressing, Ship Hotel, Greenwich
R.C. 10—Invicta, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden-square, W.C.

127—Union, Freemasons' Hall, Margate
152—Virtue, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
271—Royal Clarence, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
347—Noah's Ark, Wagon and Horses Hotel, Tipton
[illegible]1—Royal Forest, Hark to Bounty Inn, Slaidburn
[illegible]1—Watford, Freemasons' Hall, Watford
453—Chigwell, Prince's Hall, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30 (Instruction)
460—Sutherland of Unity, Castle Hotel, Newcastle-under-Lyme
516—Phœnix, Fox Hotel, Stowmarket
541—De Loraine, Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-street, Newcastle
652—Holme Valley, Victoria Hotel, Holmfirth
993—Alexandra, Midway Hotel, Levenshulme
1031—Eccleshill, Freemasons' Hall, Eccleshill
1096—Lord Warden, Wellington Hall, Deal
1102—Mirfield, Assembly Rooms, Eastthorpe, Mirfield
1311—Zetland, Masonic Hall, Great George-street, Leeds
1393—Hamer, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
1644—Alma Mater, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
1773—Albert Victor, Town Hall, Pendleton
General Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, at 7
R.A.—General Chapter of Improvement, Masonic Hall, Birmingham
R.A. 170—All Souls', Masonic Hall, Weymouth
R.A. 355—Wiltshire, Masonic Hall, Victoria Street, Swindon
R.A. 41[illegible]—Union, Masonic Hall, Greyfriars Road, Reading
R.A. 521—Truth, Freemasons' Hall, Fitzwilliam-street, Huddersfield
R.A. 712—St. James's, Masonic Hall, Rosemary Lane, Louth
R.A. 837—Marquess of Ripon, Town Hall, Ripon
R.A. 1010—Kingston, Masonic Hall, Worship Street, Hull
M.M. 65—West Lancashire, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.C.—White Rose of York, Freemasons' Hall, Sheffield

SATURDAY, 20th OCTOBER.

198—Percy, Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N., 8. (Instruction)
1185—Lewis, King's Arms Hotel, Wood Green
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Old Town Hall, Mare-street, Hackney
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7. (Instruction)
1621—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1641—Crichton, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1732—King's Cross, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-street, W. at 8.
R.A. 112—St. Thomas's, Cannon Street Hotel
R.A. 1572—Carnarvon, Albion, Aldersgate Street
R.A. 1796—Orpheus, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
M.M. 101—Macdonald, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham Street
M.M. 205—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow
M.M. 251—Tenterden, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.

811—Yarborough, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
1556—Addiscombe, Harewood House, High Street, Croydon.
1807—Citadel, Railway Hotel, Harrow
R.A. 1194—Royal Middlesex, Mitre Hotel, Hampton Court
R.A. 1235—Phœnix of St. Ann, Court Hotel, Buxton
M.M. 14—Prince Edward's, Station Hotel, Stansfield, Todmorden

---

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:0:—

LODGE OF JOPPA, No 188

THE first regular meeting since the vacation was held on the 8th instant, at the Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen-street. Bros. J. Benjamin W.M., A. Martin S.W., G. Bean J.W., J. S. Lyon Treasurer, E. P. Albert P.G.P. Secretary, L. Watt J.D., J. Dewsnap I.G., G. M. Lion Steward, Woodstock P.M. Tyler; P.M.'s L. Alexander, H. M. Levy, A. G. Dodson M.C., L. M. Myers I.P.M., L. Lazarus and O. Roberts. Visitors—Bros. Andrews 1604, W. G. Jennings, Prenton 1319, Barker 1319. After preliminaries, Bro. L. Davis and Jacobson were raised, and Bro. Van Stavern was passed, the ceremonies being perfectly and impressively rendered. The resignation of three brethren was received, with regret. A distressed brother was relieved with the sum of two guineas from the funds of the Lodge. The following notice of motion was given by Bro. Alexander, that on and after the 1st of January 1884 all initiation fees, after deducting the [illegible] Grand Lodge certificates, [illegible] for [illegible] purposes, viz., part for the use of the [illegible], and part [illegible] the Joppa Benevolent Fund, in such proportions as shall be decided by the Committee [illegible] Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to the Crown Room, where they partook of a [illegible] banquet [illegible], provided by Brothers Salere and [illegible] Silver. [illegible] E. P. Albert P.G.P. [illegible] for the [illegible] the Benevolent Fund, the W.M. said [illegible] have to appeal to the [illegible] give with liberal hands, as there [illegible]; he hoped the brethren [illegible] President's appeal. He would [illegible] it was [illegible]. He felt all [illegible] to do honour to the toast. The W.M. in reply thanked Bro. Myers for his kind expressions. His aims were for the good of the Craft in general, and this Lodge in particular; if he had done his duty and the brethren were satisfied, nothing more could be desired. For the Visitors Bros. Jennings and Anderson replied. The other toasts given were the Past Masters, the Treasurer and Secretary, the Wardens and other Officers. In each case a suitable response was made. As usual at this Lodge, music was in the ascendant; Miss Fitzgerald, and Bros. Prenton and Barker were the artistes engaged. Bro. P. E. Van Noorden, the Organist, being absent through indisposition, his son, Mr. Walter Van Noorden, ably accompanied on the piano; this gentleman also played a solo in a very artistic manner.

Digitized by Google

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF THE MINERVA LODGE, No. 250, HULL.

THIS Lodge, which was established on the 8th October 1783, celebrated its Centenary Anniversary on Monday evening, the 8th instant, at the Masonic Hall, Dagger Lane, Hull. Preparations for celebrating such an auspicious event had been in progress for some time previously, under the able management of Bro. M. C. Peck P.M. Prov. Grand Secretary, and, as was to be anticipated, under such direction nothing was forgotten nor omitted. As invitations had been sent to, and accepted by, a considerable number of the Present and Past Grand Officers of the Province, the display made by the P.M.'s on the dais in their full dress clothing can be easier imagined than described. Punctually at half-past seven o'clock the brethren and visitors assembled, and took their allotted places, whilst an admirable selection of music was played by Bro. Vessey King Organist. There were present Worshipful Brothers the Rev. H. W. Kemp, M.A., W.M. and P.P.G. Chaplain, W. Holder I.P.M., E. Balchin P.M., R. Huntly P.M. P.P.G.D.C., W. Reynolds P.M. P.P.G.D.C., G. W. Stonrton P.M., George Hardy P.M. P.P.S.G.D., R. E. Harrison P.M. P.P.G. Organist, Henry White S.W., Charles Wells P.M. Treasurer and P.P.G.S.W., M. C. Peck P.M. Prov. Grand Secretary, A. Thornton S.D., W. C. Whitehead J.D., George Selby D.C., Vessey King Org., J. H. Leggott I.G., W. Clayton, and upwards of forty other members of the Lodge. Visitors—Wor. Bro. J. P. Bell, M.D., J.P., D.P.G.M. of N. and E. Yorks, P.M.'s W. Tesseyman 57 P.P.G.S. of Works, Morris Haberland 57 Prov. G.J.D., R. G. Smith 1010 P.P.G.R., Thomas Sissons P.P.G.R., George Wilson 57 P.P.G.S.D., W. Day Keyworth 57 P.P.G.S. of Works, Thomas Thompson 57 P.P.G.S.D., Martin Kemp 57 P.P.G.S.B., W. Banks Hay, M.D., 57 P.P.G.S.D., George L. Shackles 1511 Prov. G.S.D., J. R. Ansdell 1605 Prov. G.S.B., B. L. Wells 1511 P.P.G.S.B, James Pyburn, M.D., 1010 P.P.G.R., W. Cheeseman 1695 P.P.G. Org., R. Cooke P.P.G.D., R. Kirkendbright (S.C.), Andrew King W.M. 57, H. Forder W.M. 1010, Charles H. Wright W.M. 1605, George Spink W.M. 1511, Eli Bryan W.M. 294, R. Buvors I.P.M. 57, Wm. Gillett I.P.M. 1605, George D. Storry 57 Prov. G. Org., Thos. Wells P.M. 208, Wm. Sidman Sec. 1010, and many others. The brethren being in their places, the W.M. and his Officers, accompanied by W. Bro. J. P. Bell, M.D., J.P., the D.P.G.M. of North and East Yorkshire, entered and proceeded round the Lodge whilst the brethren chanted the Psalm—"Behold how good and joyful a thing it is, brethren, to dwell together in unity." The Lodge was then opened in the first degree, and the opening, "Hail, Eternal, by whose aid," was sung, after which the W.M. Bro. Kemp, in addressing the brethren, stated it was his duty and privilege to say a few words on the event they were that evening celebrating, viz.—the Centenary Anniversary of the Foundation of the Minerva Lodge, and it would perhaps be as well to cast their minds back to, and reflect on the state their good old town of Hull was in 100 years ago. It was somewhat difficult in the present day, with its manifold improvements and appliances, to thoroughly understand the difficulties our forefathers had to contend with in the last century, but such a retrospect could not but be edifying and pleasing to them, for Hull had during that time made vast strides and immense progress, commercially, physically, and morally. On the 8th October 1783, the Hull General Infirmary, which celebrated its centenary anniversary with such eclat a year ago, was only just founded, and had not got into working order. The first dock in Hull, subsequently called the Queen's Dock, had only been opened five years; the old wall, erected by their forefathers for the protection of Hull, had but a few years previously been levelled to the ground; the site of the present Railway Dock was a playground for the boys of the Grammar School, whereas they had now eight docks opened, covering a water-space of nearly ninety acres, and another one close upon completion, which would occupy forty-six acres, or thereabouts. The population 100 years ago was only one-eighth of what it is now. The parish of Sculcoates, which was then outside the borough, was a distant hamlet, and it was a country walk to the Parish Church on a Sunday afternoon. Drypool was a rural village where Hull citizens used to exercise themselves in the country games and amusements that were in vogue at the period. All the Societies and Institutes that had been founded, for the education, development and amusements of all classes of our fellow townsmen had not at that time any existence. The three sister Lodges had not been founded, and the warrant of another, The Rodney, had since been returned to Grand Lodge and ceased to exist. Who then could say the progress made during the last 100 years had not been really and truly marvellous, and a credit to the town of which they were all so proud. Bro. M. C. Peck P.M. Secretary, and Prov. Grand Secretary, then read the original warrant granted at York by the Prov. G. Master, on the 15th September 1783, nominating as the first Master Bro. Edward Coulson, a merchant in High-street, Hull; and also a copy of the Centenary Warrant, which would be forwarded from the Grand Secretary so soon as the signature of the M.W.G.M. the Prince of Wales could be obtained. The hymn, "O Praise our God to day," having been sung, Bro. Peck gave a most interesting and graphic historical sketch of the Lodge from its foundation to the present time; from this we gather that it originally met at the Masons' Arms in Chapel-lane, Hull. In 1802, or 19 years after its foundation, the members obtained a lease of the ground and building which it now occupies, and a few years ago they purchased the freehold, so that there need be no fear in the future of their having to seek another home. It had always met, without a single interruption, so far as could be ascertained, on the 4th Wednesday in the month in the summer, and the 2nd and 4th Wednesdays in the month in the winter, and during the whole century their days of meeting had never been altered. Of course the Lodge, like most others during the same period, had had times of adversity as well as times of prosperity, but the former had been of short duration, and when such had been the case some worthy brethren had always come forward, and, by putting their shoulders to the wheel, lifted the Lodge out of its temporary difficulties. During the past 30 years they had had a period of uninterrupted prosperity and activity, and for this in some measure they were indebted to Bro. Chas. Wells P.P.G.S.W., one of their Past Masters and Treasurers, who he was glad to see present that night. Bro. Wells, at any early part of the period he had mentioned, had given a large amount of time and trouble to the Lodge affairs. Building and Benevolent Funds, at different times being found necessary, were organised, and as one result of the latter fund they had now over £2,000 invested to help the poor and distressed brethren and their families should it be wanted. It was needless to say their numbers had increased, as they started with twenty or thereabouts, whereas now they had five times that number. The Lodge was in possession of the whole of the minute books that had been in use, recording their proceedings, with one exception, and that was one from 1802 to 1809. These minute books were now, and would be for all time, a most valuable record in years to come, and every precaution would be taken that they should not be lost or destroyed. They also had a Bible, which was purchased in the year 1784, the first year of the Lodge's existence, for the sum of 10s. The three chairs in the adjoining banqueting room were purchased a few years subsequently, although they were now shorn of the canopy which originally belonged to them, and to his mind this was no loss. A silver seal, engraved with the crest and arms of the Lodge, was presented to them in the early part of the present century, and this was also in their possession. Other interesting facts and occurrences connected with the history of the Lodge, too voluminous to be mentioned here, but which we hope to give in extenso on a future occasion were referred to. The reading of the historical sketch was listened to by the brethren with rapt attention, and at its conclusion it was moved by the W.M., seconded by Bro. Holder, the I.P.M., and carried unanimously, with great acclamation, "That the best thanks of the Lodge be given to Bro. M. C. Peck for his interesting résumé of the Minerva Lodge since its foundation, and he be requested to allow the same to be published." Bro. Peck, in thanking the brethren, stated he would gladly acquiesce in the wish they had expressed; he only regretted that the time at his disposal would not admit of his entering into a more full and complete history of their Lodge, which, if done, must necessarily lead to a work he had long desired to write, viz., A History of Masonry in Hull. Materials for such a work had for many years been in course of collection and preparation by him, and he hoped the day was not far distant when it would be un fait accompli. The Masonic Anthem—"Hail, Masonry Divine"—having been sung, Bro. Cheeseman P.M. P.P.G.Org. taking the solo, Bro. Dr. Bell D.P.G.M. congratulated the W.M., Officers and Brethren of the Lodge on the event they were that evening celebrating, and in conveying to them the hearty good wishes of the Provincial G. Lodge, hoped they would make as much progress intellectually, Masonically, and numerically, during the next century as they had done in the past. The closing hymn—"Now the evening shadows closing"—having been sung, and telegrams from Bro. Shadwell Clerke Grand Secretary, and Bros. Whytehead and Cumberland of the Eboracum Lodge, York, having been read, expressing their regret at being unable to be present, Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to an elegant banquet, served in the banqueting hall adjoining the Lodge; after which the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, interspersed with a varied programme of vocal and instrumental music.

St. Michael's Lodge, No. 211.—The first meeting since the summer vacation was held on Tuesday, at the Albion, Aldersgate-Street. Present:—Bros. F. J. Hentsch W.M., W. W. Morgan S.W., T. H. Peirce J.W., C. Greenwood P.M. P.G.S.B. Treas., W. Radcliffe P.M. Sec., H. Martin S.D., E. Thring J.D., A. Withers P.M. M.C., A. Green P.M. Steward, E. L. Pembroke Organist, C. T. Speight P.M. Tyler. Past Masters Bros. John Laver, Jas. Linsdell, &c. Business:—After the Lodge had been formally opened, several interesting features were brought under consideration. The Bye Laws were read, and after routine work Lodge was closed. The brethren afterwards spent a social hour together.

Royal Commemoration Lodge, No. 1585.—This Lodge held its first meeting this season on Wednesday, the 3rd of October, at the Fox and Hounds Hotel, Putney. Present—Bros. G. Mansell W.M., Whitley P.M. S.W., S. Pardoe J.W., Robinson P.M. Sec., G. Watkins Treas., Collick S.D., Williams J.D., Collins P.M. M.C., Sneed Steward, Strong I.G., Whateley P.M. Tyler; Past Masters Bros. F. H. Smith I.P.M., Boehr, and Stacey Organist. Visitors, Bros. Clarkson, Dunlop, Banbery, Dare, Dunnett, and Walter P.M. Business—After the minutes had been read and confirmed, Messrs. Colman, Wing, and Coombe were initiated. A dinner followed; after the cloth was cleared the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were given. In reply to the P.M.'s toast, the I.P.M. thanked the brethren for the amounts they had kindly subscribed; these enabled him to take up over one hundred guineas to the Boys' School.

Digitized by Google

Price 3s 6d, Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

FIRST SERIES.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

1 OUR LITERARY BROTHER.
2 A DISTINGUISHED MASON.
3 THE MAN OF ENERGY.
4 FATHER TIME.
5 A CORNER STONE.
6 THE CRAFTSMAN.
7 THE GOWNSMAN.
8 AN EASTERN STAR.
9 THE KNIGHT ERRANT.
10 THE OCTOGENARIAN.
11 A ZEALOUS OFFICER.
12 THE SOLDIER.
13 FROM UNDER THE CROWN.
14 OUR HERCULES.
15 A MERCHANT PRINCE.
16 THE CHURCHMAN.
17 THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER.
18 THE MYSTIC.
19 A MODEL MASON.
20 A CHIP FROM JOPPA.
21 A PILLAR OF MASONRY.
22 BAYARD.
23 A RIGHT HAND MAN.
24 OUR CITIZEN BROTHER.
25 AN ABLE PRECEPTOR.
26 AN ANCIENT BRITON.
27 THE ARTIST.
28 THE FATHER OF THE LODGE.
29 A SHINING LIGHT.
30 AN ART STUDENT.
31 THE MARINER
32 SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.

33. "OLD MUG."

Second Series, Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 3s 6d, post free.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

SKETCHES

OF

DISTINGUISHED FREEMASONS.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

BY G. BLIZARD ABBOTT, OF LODGE No. 1385,

ASSOCIATE OF KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

NESTOR
(Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, 33 deg., Past G.S.B., Past Dep. P.G.M. Hants, Assistant Secretary Sup. Council A. and A. Rite.)

THE STATESMAN
(The Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, 33 deg., Pro Grand Master, Pro Grand Z., Past G.M.M.M., and Past M.P.S.G. Commander A. and A. Rite.

THE TREASURER
(Bro. F. Adlard, P.M. and Treasurer Royal York Lodge of Perseverance, No. 7).

THE DEPUTY
(The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, 33 deg., Deputy G. Master, Grand H., G.M.M.M., Great Prior of the Temple, and M.P. Sov. G. Commander A. and A. Rite.)

A PROVINCIAL MAGNATE
(Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Hants and Isle of Wight, Past G.M.M.M. and Prov. G. Prior of the Temple, for Hants).

TIME-HONOURED LANCASTER
(Bro. J. Lancaster Hine, P. Prov. G.S. Warden East Lancashire).

THE SCHOLAR
(Bro. John Newton, F.R.A.S., P.M., P.Z., Author of Works on Navigation).

OUR NOBLE CRITIC
(The Right Hon. Lord Leigh, 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Warwickshire, Past G.M.M.M.)

OUR PERIPATETIC BROTHER
(Bro. C. Fitz Gerald Matier, 30 deg., G. Steward Scotland, and Past G.S. Warden Greece).

A BOLTON LUMINARY
(Bro. G. Parker Brockbank, 31 deg., Past Prov. G.S.D., and P. Prov. G. Treas. [Arch] E. Lancashire.

A WARDEN OF THE FENS
(The late Bro. John Sutcliffe, Past Prov. G.S. Warden, and Prov. G.M.M.M. Lincolnshire).

A WARDEN OF MARK
(The Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, 33 deg., Past G.S. Warden, and Dep. G.M.M.M).

A MASTER OF CEREMONIAL
(Bro. Thos. Entwisle, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. of Works E. Lan.)

OUR COSMOPOLITAN BROTHER
(Bro. Samuel Rawson, 33 deg., Past Dist. G.M. and G. Sup. China).

A GREAT ARITHMETICIAN
(Bro. R. B. Webster, Member of the Finance and Audit Committees of the R.M. Girls' and Boys' Schools).

AN INSTALLING MASTER
(Bro. W. Biggs, Past Prov. G.S.W. Wilts, and Past Prov. G. Sec. Berks and Bucks).

A VETERAN
(Bro. W. Kelly, Past Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Leicestershire and Rutland, Prov. G.M.M.M. Leicestershire).

A GRAND STEWARD
(Bro. John Wordsworth, 30 deg., Past G. Steward, Past Prov. G.J.W. W. Yorkshire, and Prov. G.M.M.M. W. Yorkshire).

VIR VERITAS
(Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M and Past Prov. Grand. Soj. [Arch] Herts).

ACHILLES
(Bro. E. J. Morris, Past G.J.D., and Past Dep. Prov. G.M. of Eastern Division of South Wales).

A DEVON CRAFTSMAN
(Bro. J. E. Curteis, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. Warden Devon).

SIR RHADAMANTH
(Bro. J. M. Pulteney Montagu, J.P. D.L., 33 deg., G. J. Deacon, Past Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, and G. Chancellor Supreme Council A. and A. Rite).

HIPPOCRATES
(Bro. J. Pearson Bell, M.D., Past G. Deacon, Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. N. and E. Yorkshire).

A CESTRIAN CHIEF
(The Right Hon Lord de Tabley, Past G.S.W., Prov. G.M. Cheshire, Grand J., and Prov. G Sup. Cheshire).

A HARBINGER OF PEACE
(Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., Past Prov. G.J.D. Herts).

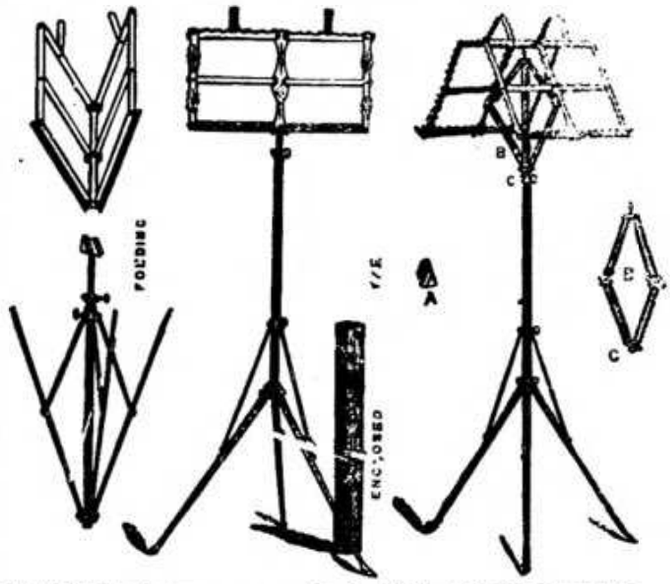
THE LORD OF UNDERLEY
(The Earl of Bective, M.P., Prov. G.M., Prov. G. Sup., and Prov. G.M.M.M. Cumberland and Westmoreland, and Past G. Sov. of the Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine).

A BOON COMPANION
(Bro. E. C. Woodward, P.M. 382, 1637, &c.)

A GRAND SUPERINTENDENT
(Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Berks and Bucks).

ÆSCULAPIUS
(Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., 32 deg., Past G.S.B., Craft, and Past G.St.B., Arch, Intendant General Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine for North Lancashire).

London: W. W. MORGAN.



By Order of all Booksellers, or will be sent direct, by post, from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N

THE AMERICAN

PORTABLE MUSIC STANDS.

J. F. WALTERS' PATENT.

Iron, from 10/6 each. Brass, from 30/- each.

THESE Stands are unsurpassed in simplicity, strength, portability cheapness, and elegance of finish. They are suitable for Military Bands Orchestras, Reading and News Rooms, Libraries, Studies, and Drawing Rooms. When opened to their full capacity they stand 5 feet high, and can be folded and enclosed in a case 21 inches long by 2 inches diameter. The weight is about 3 lbs. 13 oz., and they will support a weight of 60 lbs.

To be obtained of all Music Dealers, and of the Manufacturers and Proprietors of the Patent,

HARROW & CO.

MUSIC SMITHS, BRASS WORKERS, &c.

13 and 14 Portland Street, Soho, London, W.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

Free by Post, Price One Shilling.

THE

REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS;

CRITICALLY CONSIDERED,

AND

COMPARED WITH THE OLD EDITION.

—:o:—

A SERIES OF ARTICLES,

REPRINTED FROM THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

—:o:—

LONDON:

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE;
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL & CO., 4 STATIONERS' HALL COURT;
AND OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

"All Freemasons interested in the Revision of the above, should read this work."

Crown 8vo, price 2s 6d, cloth lettered.

Uniformity of Masonic Ritual and Observance.

By Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M., P.Z., &c.

"May be read with advantage by the whole Craft."—Sunday Times.

"Grand Lodge should at once set to work to secure the desired uniformity."—Sheffield Post.

"The subject is ably argued by the author."—Western Daily Mercury.

"Useful and valuable in the highest degree."—Exeter Gazette.

"Will have a material effect on the future of Masonic Ritual."—South Western Star.

"The author adduces many variations in the language used by different Preceptors."—Cox's Monthly Legal Circular.

"Ought to be in the hands of every Mason."—Northampton Guardian.

"To Freemasons generally it will be found useful and valuable, and we commend it to their notice accordingly."—Surrey County Observer.

"Bro. Stevens' motion for a Committee on the subject of Uniformity of Ritual was carried by a large majority."—Freemason's Chronicle report of Grand Lodge meeting, 3rd December 1879.

Sent, by post, on receipt of stamps, by the Author, Bro. JAMES STEVENS, 112 High-street, Clapham, S.W.; or by Bro. W. W. MORGAN Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

Digitized by Google

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE,

A Weekly Record of Masonic Intelligence. Sanctioned by the Grand Lodge of England.

Price—13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE will be forwarded direct from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N., on receipt of Post Office Order for the amount. Intending Subscribers should forward their full Addresses to prevent mistakes.

Post Office Orders to be made payable to W. W. MORGAN, at Penton-street Office. Cheques crossed "London and County."

Advertisers will find THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE an exceptionally good medium for Advertisements of every class.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Per Page... ... ... £8 0 0
Back Page £10 0 0

Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1s per line.

General Advertisements, Trade Announcements, &c. single column, 5s per inch. Double Column Advertisements 1s per line. Special Terms for a Series of Insertions on application.

Agents, from whom copies can always be had:—

Messrs. SPENCER and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C.
Messrs. CURTICE and Co., 12 Catherine-street, Strand.
Messrs. KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.
Mr. RITCHIE, 6 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SIMPSON BROS., Shoe Lane.
Mr. H. SIMPSON, 7 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SMITH and SONS, 183 Strand.
Messrs. STEEL and JONES, 4 Spring Gardens, Charing Cross.
Mr. G. VICKERS, Angel Court, Strand.
Mr. H. VICKERS, 317 Strand.

RICHARD PEARCY,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
31 PACKINGTON STREET, ISLINGTON,
LONDON, N.

Watches Made and Repaired in the very best manner.

MASONIC JEWELS.

THE THEATRES, &c.

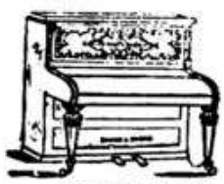
COVENT GARDEN.—PROMENADE CONCERTS.
PRINCESS'S.—At 7, A CLERICAL ERROR. At 7.40, THE SILVER KING.
HAYMARKET.—At 7.50, FIRST IN THE FIELD. At 8.15, FEDORA.
DRURY LANE.—At 7.45 FREEDOM.
LYCEUM.—At 8, INGOMAR.
ADELPHI.—At 7.45, IN THE RANKS.
STRAND.—At 8, VICE VERSA. At 9.15, SILVER GUILT.
SAVOY.—At 8, PRIVATE WIRE. At 8.40, IOLANTHE.
GAIETY.—At 7.35, YOUNG WIDOW. At 8.15, ARIEL.
AVENUE.—At 7.30, OBLIGING A FRIEND. At 9.15, LA VIE.
TOOLE'S.—At 8, A ROW IN THE HOUSE. At 8.45, M.P.
COURT.—At 8, THE MILLIONAIRE.
GLOBE.—At 7.45, MAN PROPOSES. At 8.30, THE GLASS OF FASHION.
VAUDEVILLE.—At 8, AN OLD MASTER. At 9, CONFUSION.
ROYALTY.—At 7.45, A CUP OF TEA. At 8.30, THE MERRY DUCHESS.
COMEDY.—At 7.45, RIP VAN WINKLE.
ST. JAMES'S.—At 8, IMPULSE.
GRAND.—At 7.30, MY SWEETHEART.
STANDARD.—At 7.30, GLAD TIDINGS.
SADLER'S WELLS.—At 7.30, FAITHFUL HEART.
SURREY.—At 7.30, MANKIND.
ST. JAMES'S HALL.—Mr. DUVAL'S ODDS AND ENDS.
MOHAWK MINSTRELS, Agricultural Hall.—Every evening, at 8. On Wednesday, 17th instant, Mr. HARRY HUNTER'S BENEFIT.
EGYPTIAN HALL.—Messrs. MASKELYNE AND COOKE. Every evening at 8.
CRYSTAL PALACE.—This day, M.P. GRAND EVENING FETE, CONCERT. PANORAMA. Open Daily, Aquarium, Picture Gallery, &c.

BRO. G. S. GRAHAM,

The Popular Tenor and Buffo Vocalist, from St. James's Hall, Crystal Palace, &c.

(Provincial Grand Organist Middlesex)

IS OPEN TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FOR



Concerts, Entertainments, & Masonic Banquets.

Bro. G. S. Graham's Party of Eminent Artists can be engaged for Masonic Banquets, Consecrations and Installations, &c. For Opinions of the Press, and terms, address—G. S. GRAHAM, St. John's Villa, 91 Fernlea Road, Balham, Surrey.

PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS ON EASY TERMS.

GROVER & GROVER

LET ON HIRE, WITH OPTION OF PURCHASE,

BEAUTIFUL AND PERFECT INSTRUMENTS.
PURCHASERS CHOOSE THEIR OWN TERMS,
FROM 15s TO £3 3s PER QUARTER.

The Advantages of a Trial, with the Convenience of the Three Years' System at Cash Price, by Paying about a Quarter of the value down, the Balance by Easy Payments, from 15s per quarter.

GROVER & GROVER (late AVILL & SMART),
TABERNACLE SQUARE, FINSBURY, E.C.
ESTABLISHED 1830.

PIANOFORTES, £19 10s.
AMERICAN ORGANS, £9 5s.
HARMONIUMS, £5 15s.

Perfect in Tone and Touch. Elegant Walnut Cases. Every Instrument warranted to stand any extreme climate.

SHIPPERS AND DEALERS SUPPLIED.

Before deciding on purchasing, write for a descriptive Price List and Testimonials to G. LINSTEAD, Manager.

COBDEN PIANOFORTE COMPANY, 18 & 19 Evershott Street, Camden Town, London.

HOTELS, ETC.

CARLISLE—Bush Hotel. SUTCLIFFE HOLROYD, Proprietor

EALING—Feathers Hotel

EASTBOURNE—Pier Hotel, Cavendish Place. View of Sea and Pier. A. TAYLOR Proprietor

HAVERFORDWEST.—Queen's Family and Commercial Hotel. BEN. M. DAVIES Proprietor.

KEW—Star and Garter. Good accommodation for Lodge & Dinner Parties. J. BRILL Proprietor

MILFORD HAVEN.—Lord Nelson Hotel. T. PALMER Proprietor

SANDWICH—Bell Family and Commercial Hotel, Good Stabling. J. J. FILMER Proprietor

ALL WHO SUFFER
FROM
GOUT AND RHEUMATISM
Should immediately have recourse to

EADE'S CELEBRATED GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS.

Known throughout the world as the safest and most effectual remedy for the instant relief and rapid cure of Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Lumbago, and all Pains in the Head, Face, and Limbs.

OF ALL CHEMISTS, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d,

GEORGE EADE.
SOLE PROPRIETOR,
72 GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

BILLIARD BALLS, Chalks, Cues and Tips, at HENNIG BROS., Ivory Works, 11 High Street, London, W.C. Cheapest house in the trade for billiard-table requisites and ivory goods in general. Old balls adjusted or exchanged, and tables recovered. Price Lists on application. Established 1862.

RHEUMATISM.

THE only real remedy for this complaint is the Northern Cure (patent). In bottles 1s 1½d each, to be had of all Chemists. Proprietors and Manufacturer, EDWARDS AND ALEXANDER, 29 Blaekett-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR GOUT and RHEUMATISM.

The excruciating pain is quickly relieved and cured in a few days by this celebrated Medicine.

These Pills require no restraint of diet during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.

Sold by all Chemists at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.

SMOKE CHARLESWORTH & AUSTINS TOBACCOS AND CIGARS
BORO' S.E.
Old Chums 2d
Favourites 2d & 3d
Golden Shag 4d & 5d

Digitized by Google

JOSEPH J. CANEY,

DIAMOND MERCHANT, AND MANUFACTURING JEWELLER AND WATCH MAKER,

44 CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.

MASONIC JEWELS, CLOTHING AND FURNITURE.

Spe'ialité—First Class Jewels—Artistic—Massive—Best Quality—Moderate in Price

CATALOGUES POST FREE.

A LARGE STOCK OF LOOSE BRILLIANTS FOR EXPENSIVE JEWELS.

Diamond Rings, Brooches, Studs, Earrings and Bracelets in Great Variety.

MASONIC JEWELS FOR ALL DEGREES.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS AND DECORATIONS.

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD IN ALL SIZES.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEDALS AND BADGES.

A. D. LOEWENSTARK & SONS, Medallists, 210 STRAND, LONDON, W.C.

MANUFACTORY—1 DEVEREUX COURT, STRAND.

R. W. GALER,

PRACTICAL WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

12 GREEN LANES, LONDON, N.

(Six doors from Newington Green).

OLD GOLD and SILVER BOUGHT or TAKEN in EXCHANGE.

PRESENTATION WATCHES AND MASONIC JEWELS MANUFACTURED ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

Communications by Post punctually attended to.

G. W. KNIGHT,

Carver, Gilder, and Picture Frame Maker,

LITTLE BELL ALLEY, BACK OF MOORGATE STREET, CITY,

AND

38 CHAUCER ROAD, BRIXTON.

CORNICES AND FRAMES OF ALL KINDS REPAIRED AND REGILT.

ADAM S. MATHER,

GAS ENGINEER, GENERAL GAS FITTER AND BELL HANGER,

MANUFACTURER OF BILLIARD LIGHTS

AND OF EVERY DESCRIPTION OF GAS APPARATUS FOR COOKING AND HEATING

Bath Rooms Fitted up. All the Latest Improvements Introduced.

MANUFACTORY—12 CHARLES STREET, HATTON GARDEN, E.C.;

AND AT 278 CALEDONIAN ROAD, ISLINGTON, N.

ESTIMATES GIVEN.

W. W. MORGAN,

LETTER-PRESS, COPPER-PLATE, LITHOGRAPHIC PRINTER,

BELVIDERE WORKS,

HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE.

SUMMONSES, MENU CARDS, &c. ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED.

Sketches or Designs for Special Purposes Furnished on Application.

Books, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Catalogues, Posters, Billheads, Showcards, &c.

Every description of Printing (Plain or Ornamental) executed in First Class Style.

ESTIMATES SUPPLIED.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER

7s 6d.

If with Pockets, 6d each pocket extra.

225 HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.

DRESS SUITS from £3 3s to £5 5s.

Demy 8vo, Price 7s 6d,

THE CHESS OPENINGS,

By ROBERT B. WORMALD.

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE.

CONCERTINAS,

ENGLISH AND ANGLO-GERMAN.

G. JONES, 350 Commercial-road, London, E., inventor of the Anglo-German with chromatic scale. His tempered steel notes never get out of tune. Used by the leading performers. Price List of Musical Instruments of every description free. Established 1850.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY Limited, 7 Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General accidents. | Personal injuries.
Railway accidents. | Death by accident.

C. HARDING, Manager.

RIPPINGILLE'S PATENT WARMING STOVES.

THE only Perfect Oil Stoves. Made to burn absolutely without Smoke or Smell, Trouble or Dirt. Unequalled for Warming

GREENHOUSES, VINERIES, SOPS,

BEDROOMS, HALLS, OFFICES, DAMP ROOMS &c.

Perfectly safe, require no pipes or fittings, will burn from twelve to twenty hours without attention, give off no injurious vapour, and are the best stoves ever invented to save plants from frost, keep out the damp, &c.

Price, from a few shillings.

Write for Illustrated List of Warming Stoves to

The Holborn Lamp and Stove Co.

118 HOLBORN, LONDON, E.C.

And say where you saw this Advertisement.

Bro. A. OLDROYD, Stratford, London,

MANUFACTURER OF TOBACCO POUCHES,

With any name in raised letters.

CAN be obtained direct from the Maker, at the undermentioned prices, on receipt of P.O.O. payable at Stratford.

	Price	Will take a name of
No. 3	2/0 ...	9 letters
,, 4	2/6 ...	11
,, 5	3/0 ...	12
,, 6	3/6 ...	13
,, 7	4/0 ...
,, 8	4/6 ...
,, 9	5/0 ...

A. OLDROYD,

Agent for Algerian Cigars, and Importer of Havana and Continental Cigars,

64 HIGH STREET, STRATFORD, LONDON, E.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

BIRKBECK BANK.—Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Current Accounts opened according to the usual practice of other Bankers, and Interest allowed on the minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £25. No commission charged for keeping Accounts.

The Bank also receives money on Deposit at three per cent. Interest, repayable on demand.

The Bank undertakes for its Customers, free of charge, the custody of Deeds, Writings, and other Securities and Valuables, the collection of Bills of Exchange, Dividends, and Coupons; and the purchase and sale of Stocks and Shares.

Letters of Credit and Circular Notes issued.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

31st March 1880.

The Birkbeck Building Society's Annual Receipts exceed Four Millions.

HOW TO PURCHASE A HOUSE FOR TWO GUINEAS PER MONTH, with immediate Possession and no Rent to pay. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY.

HOW TO PURCHASE A PLOT OF LAND FOR FIVE SHILLINGS PER MONTH, with immediate possession, either for Building or Gardening purposes. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Published every Wednesday. Price 2d,

THE

CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE;

AND

Journal of Indoor and Outdoor Amusements.

THE CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE can be ordered of any Bookseller in Town or Country, or will be forwarded direct from the Office on the following terms:—

Twelve months, post free	...	...	12 0
Three ,, ,,	...	...	3 3

It is also obtainable at the following Chess Resorts and Agencies—

Messrs. Dean and Son, 160A Fleet Street, E.C.
Simpson's Divan (Chess Room), Strand, W.C.
Purssell's Restaurant, ditto, Cornhill, E.C.

All communications and books, &c. for notice, to be addressed to the Editor, 555 Caledonian Road, N.

Printed and Published by Brother WILLIAM WRAY MORGAN, at Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, Saturday, 13th October 1883.

Digitized by Google

THE

Freemason's Chronicle;

A WEEKLY RECORD OF MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

SANCTIONED BY THE GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.

VOL. XVIII.—No. 458. SATURDAY, 20th OCTOBER 1883. [PRICE THREEPENCE. 13s 6d per annum, post free.

CANDIDATES FOR THE SCHOOLS AND THEIR PARENTS' BENEVOLENCE.

OUR last few issues have contained references to a question which has been the subject of comment in the Masonic Charity World almost as long as we can remember—the question of giving some special advantages to those candidates for the Masonic Schools whose parents are accredited with having supported one or other of the Institutions during their lifetime. It seems to us that, as election after election comes round, this subject is regularly brought forward and discussed only to be as regularly lost sight of again until the issuing of another balloting list reopens the question, when the same routine is gone through and the same arguments brought forward as have been used for years past, with, so far, no practical result.

Opinion is very much divided as to whether or not any notice should be taken of past services on the part of parents when a child comes forward as a candidate for the benefits offered through the liberality of the Craft, and much may be said on both sides of the question. It appears very hard that a child whose parent liberally supported the Charities in the time of his prosperity should, in his time of need, have to give place to the offspring of one who systematically ignored the claims of our Institutions, and however much the true principles of Freemasonry may be opposed to making distinctions from anything like a monetary point of view, we are yet inclined to favour the proposal that some distinction should be observed, although we frankly admit that we consider it all but impossible to make any arrangement which shall apply with equal force in all cases, or which may not perhaps lead to charges of greater unfairness than the present system of making no distinction whatever.

Those who are in favour of continuing the present system argue, that if a preference were given to children whose fathers had been supporters of the Charities, it would virtually transform Freemasonry into an ordinary benefit society. We cannot endorse this view, unless anything like a right of admission is secured to the child of a subscriber, and that we know is an absolute impossibility. Besides this, we have sufficient faith in the general body of Freemasons to believe that they would continue their support of the Charities from other than mercenary or unworthy motives, just the same as initiates continue to swell the ranks of the Order. Is there any one who really believes a brother would subscribe, say ten guineas, to one or other of our Institutions on the bare chance that in the event of his children being left destitute, years after, they would be entitled to some little extra consideration over the children of his fellow members who did not so subscribe? We think not. Our opinion is, that very few men are disposed to invest sums of money during their days of prosperity to form provision for possible days of adversity, more particularly when the chances of benefit by such an outlay are as remote as they must of necessity always be with regard to our Schools. The number of children which can be provided for by our Institutions is so infinitesimal, as compared with the number of subscribers annually required to provide the sum needed to maintain them, that it is absurd to think the idea of future benefit for one's own family can ever become a favourite inducement to men to subscribe, while there is the further additional drawback to such an unworthy feeling ever becoming popular, that the benefits are, really, not available until after the death of the subscriber, or at least until something almost as bad as death has overtaken him. Adopting for the moment a jocular form of argument, we are reminded of the story of the man who thought to provide an independence for himself and family by insuring his life in some dozen or more offices, and then getting killed, forgetting that he would not be present to take his share of the "plunder." Very few men would care to invest money in a way that could be of little service to their family except in the event of their own death occurring within some eight or ten years, and on this ground alone we may dismiss the argument that Freemasonry would become a benefit society simply because its great educational Institutions offered some return for past support to those who in after years might themselves be in need of it. Masonry, it is argued, is free—free alike to the rich and to the poor; but, however true this may be from a symbolical point of view, there are many instances in which the equality ceases as soon as poverty sets in; and if the Charities of the Order choose to set up restrictions based on mercenary ideas they will but be acting in accordance with the practice of the Craft itself, which deprives a Mason of very many of his privileges so soon as he is unable to continue his subscriptions to a Lodge. The Charities are, and should be, truly Masonic; at the same time it must be remembered that their support by Freemasons is not compulsory; they are supported by only such as feel disposed, and have sufficient means to humour their fancy. Why, then, it may be asked, seeing that the support of the Institutions is only optional, should the adoption by them of every Masonic principle be compulsory? especially when it is also considered that very many persons who are not Masons have contributed to the funds, and are at all times especially invited to do so by the inducement of extra votes being accorded them in comparison with what is given to members of the Order when contributing similar amounts. But is the practice of helping those who have helped us opposed to the principles of Freemasonry? If it is not, then there can be no possible argument on the score of "principle" against conferring extra benefits on those candidates whose parents helped the Institutions when they were in a position to do so; and, if it is, then it would indeed be unwise to propose any deviation from the present uniform system, which also has the advantage of having worked with tolerable success for years past.

Let us now consider the case of those who are in favour of making an alteration. The main point on which they rely is, that when a man who, in times of prosperity, has been generous and mindful of the wants of his less fortunate fellow-creatures, is himself overtaken by adversity, he should reap some benefit from his previous liberality; more especially so when this can be done in a manner similar to that which the unfortunate brother himself adopted as the best means of dispensing relief. We have already disposed of the argument that brethren subscribe in the hope, or with the view, of afterwards reaping special benefit from so doing; it is not feasible they would do so if all the facts of the case are taken into consideration, but if a preference can be given to them they are perhaps entitled to it, just as the most thoughtful and painstaking are entitled to preference in the affairs of every-day life.

Digitized by Google

On the other hand, it must be borne in mind that it is donations alone—as represented by votes—which secure the election of any candidate. If an applicant's father has not subscribed to the Charities it is very certain that his friends, or the friends of his family, must have done so before it becomes possible to secure the election of the child, and such being the case it would be manifestly unfair to deprive a child of the sympathy of friends simply because its father neglected, or was unable, to subscribe to one or other of the Masonic Institutions, or even to handicap their powers of election by affording additional advantages to those whose fathers had subscribed. Votes represent money, and to suggest that the outcome of some thousands of pounds should be deteriorated in value to an appreciable extent because some particular individual withheld a donation of five or ten guineas would be inconsistent, besides which it would be a matter of impossibility to determine how much each individual brother had subscribed to the Institutions. One brother might have given a donation of five guineas, and, provided that was the qualification decided upon, would have thus rendered the whole of his family eligible for the Schools; while another who might have given double the amount in odd shillings would not have secured them similar advantages. Grand Lodge, with its long array of subscribing subordinate Lodges, might also be expected to protest against any restrictive regulations being adopted. The donations from these sources—and they total up to a very large amount each year—are given on behalf of the whole of the members of the several Lodges; and, such being the case, it really follows that every Mason has, directly or indirectly, contributed to our Charities. It would most certainly be very unwise to propose any alteration in existing rules which might lead to the alienation of the grants from Grand Lodge, and its subordinate Lodges; indeed, we might say it would simply amount to suicide were such a proposal ever entertained; and for this reason alone, if for no other, it would be impossible to restrict the candidates for the Schools to those whose parents had personally qualified as subscribers or governors of one of the Institutions.

Taking the question in all its bearings, we are inclined to think it best to leave the matter as it stands. As we have said, it is by subscriptions alone that a candidate's election can be secured, and whether these subscriptions come from a child's father, or from its friends, it matters very little: the Institution has had the money, and some one is entitled to the benefits arising therefrom. We have heard other arguments and suggestions made, to secure some special advantages to certain candidates, but cannot on the present occasion devote more space to the subject. Moreover, we think our readers will be able, from what we have already said, and from their own personal experience, to form an opinion one way or the other. Personally, we shall be very pleased to learn the opinions of our subscribers on the subject, and trust that such of them as are able will forward an expression of their views for publication.

QUARTERLY COURT OF THE GIRLS' SCHOOL.

THE Quarterly Court of this Institution was held at Freemasons' Hall on Saturday last. Bro. Colonel Creaton P.G. Treasurer presided, and the attendance was, as usual, numerous. The minutes of the preceding Court having been read and confirmed, and that of the General Committee read for information, Bro. H. Tattershall brought forward the motion, of which he had given notice, to the effect that the three of the members of the Committee who had been longest on the Board shall not be eligible for re-election until after the expiration of twelve months. This was seconded, and after a discussion, in which Bros. Bristow, Hopekirk, Raynham W. Stewart P.G.D., and others took part, the resolution was defeated by a small majority. The proposition to grant the sum of £50 to the head governess, Miss Davis, in reimbursement of the heavy medical expenses during her recent protracted illness was carried, after a brief discussion, without a dissentient voice. Scrutineers were then appointed, and the Court proceeded with the Election of eight, out of an approved list of thirty-two, candidates for admission into the School. The names of the successful candidates will be found in our advertisement columns; those of the unsuccessful are appended, together with the votes polled for them, which will be carried forward to the Election in April of next year.

UNSUCCESSFUL.

No. on List	Name	Forward	Polled	Total
30	Harrison, Lucy		1664	1664
14	Weber, Florence Alice		1486	1486
19	Johnstone, Eleanor Alice		1429	1429
25	High, Beatrice Mary		1395	1395
11	Tanner, Mary		1233	1233
32	Vowels, Rose Ethel		937	937
13	Motion, Florence Ann		858	858
2	Woodward, Minnie	333	425	758
26	Searle, Frances Alice		665	665
6	Haworth, Sylvia Mary (last)	428	46	474
3	Hutchings, Jane Wheeler	38	393	431
17	Wheeler, May Amelia		410	410
24	Bromley, Maude Mary		355	355
27	Lee, Amy Margaret (last)		195	195
18	Lyon, Hilda Sophia		183	183
4	Ochsenbein, Annie Lucie	13	156	169
21	Heath, Fanny		141	141
31	Capon, Edith Daisy		126	126
20	Graham, Catherine (last)		20	20
23	Owen, Amy M		17	17
8	Godfrey, Mabel Harriet		5	5
22	Betts, Edith Ellen		5	5
29	Hall, Emily Sarah Jane		3	3
28	Pinder, Emily		1	1

QUARTERLY COURT OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

THE Quarterly Court of the Boys' School was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Monday, the 15th instant, the chair being taken at the appointed hour by Bro. Colonel Creaton P.G. Treasurer. After the reading and confirmation of the minutes of the previous Court, a letter from the widow of the late Bro. John Wordsworth, in which she expressed her deep thanks for the vote of sympathy which had been passed and forwarded to her, was read, and on the motion of Bro. Roebuck, seconded by Bro. Dr. Ramsay, ordered to be recorded on the minutes. A motion to the effect that a letter of condolence be sent to Bro. Lord Homesdale, expressive of the Court's sympathy with his Lordship, in respect of the death of Lady Holmesdale, was passed unanimously. Brother C. F. Matier's motion that every donor of 200 guineas in one sum, or in sums of not less than five guineas, should be dubbed a Patron of the Institution, and have eighty votes at each election, with the addition that Her Majesty should be styled Grand Patron, instead of as now Patron, was carried. Bro. Binckes announced that the sum of £9,000 had already been funded in respect of the Preparatory Scool Building Fund, and that he hoped at the next meeting of the General Committee to be in a position to suggest an increase of this amount by funding a further £2,000. Bro. Binckes thought it not improbable the Fund would reach £12,000 before the close of the year, and in expressing himself hopefully of the scheme, thought the time had arrived when they might appropriately begin to think of forming their plans for the erection of the building. The Court then proceeded to the election of twenty boys. whose names will be found in our advertisement columns. Those of the unsuccessful, together with the votes they polled, being appended, the said votes being carried forward to the next election.

UNSUCCESSFUL.

No. on List	Name	Forward	Polled	Total
40	Whiting Robert Henry	91	2090	2181
14	Williams, Arthur Frederick	1095	1078	2173
15	Pratt, Alfred	1133	728	1861
18	How, John	153	1543	1696
23	Coleman, Frederick F	450	889	1339
48	Blunt, Arthur		1322	1322
20	Shaw, John	565	509	1074
12	Delafons, Richard William	593	456	1049
22	Walters, John Edward	480	407	887
27	Booker, Herbert Walter	164	592	756
32	Seagrave, James Pullen	161	488	649
54	Manby, Lionel B J		633	633
25	Pawsey, Thomas Edwin	277	233	510
11	Gale, Horace	330	72	402
21	Beaumont, Reginald	218	172	390
63	Gloster, Harry Percy O		245	245
56	Cooper, Charles Bernard		242	242
61	Sharland, William F		219	219
31	Lillywhite, Herbert J M	62	155	217

Digitized by Google

39	Hildred, Benjamin Meeds	81	86	167
57	Besly, James Campbell		161	161
53	Warner, Arthur		157	157
43	Gishford, William Taylor		147	147
38	Habgood, William Ernest	25	103	128
59	Canty, William George		127	127
10	Douglas, Francis C A	7	104	111
47	Jarvis, Henry Maurice		111	111
7	Cummings, Charles Brown	106	4	110
50	Gore, James Ambrose		86	86
51	Bailey, John Augustus M		81	81
44	Barber, Christopher W G		77	77
26	Longman, Frederick W	28	9	37
34	Graves, Harry Robert	5	20	25
28	Green, James Murray	4	12	16
*9	Bell, Frank William	5	9	14
*45	Westlake, Thomas Percy		13	13
24	Mitchell, Reginald A L	8		8
64	Gibson, Stanley Watts		8	8
49	Allan, John Sinclair B		5	5
62	Anderson, Ernest Harold		3	3
37	Davis, Frederick Teilo	2		2
46	Lyon, William Beresford (withdrawn)		2	2
41	Crutchett, Albert Edmund		1	1
42	Simmons, George John (withdrawn)

* Will be removed from List under Law 52, being Eleven years of age, and unsuccessful.

Votes to the Scrutineers and the Chairman brought the proceedings to a close.

THE GRAND LODGE TEMPLE.

IT appears that the proposed re-building of a portion of the Grand Lodge property will necessitate the entire obliteration of that grand old hall which has been the pride of the English Craft for upwards of a century, and the scene of the most important events in the history of English Masonry, and, as doubtless many of our readers may never have had the privilege of viewing its noble proportions and beautiful and appropriate decorations, it may not be considered out of place to reprint the following description of the old hall in its earlier days, which we extract from "Preston's Illustrations of Masonry":—

The hall is as elegant and highly finished a room as the metropolis can show. The entrance into it is from the committee room, through a small gallery, on the right of which is a commodious flight of steps leading to the undercroft, or ground apartments, and on the left a small room appropriated for the reception of wines on grand festivals; above this is a large music gallery, capable of containing three hundred spectators, exclusive of the band of music, supported by pillars and pilasters of the composite order. The length of this building, within the walls, is 92 feet; it is 43 feet broad, and upwards of 60 feet high. At the Upper end of the hall there is a place allotted for the Grand Officers and their attendants, when the Grand Lodge meets, which takes up about one-fourth of the whole length, and which is higher than the rest by two steps; at the extremity of which is a very beautiful alcove of a semi-circular form, in which is fixed a fine organ. On the right and left of this elevated place are two galleries, supported by beautiful fluted pillars of the Corinthian order, either for music, or to admit ladies to the sight of such ceremonies as the laws of the Society will permit. The remaining part of the hall is for the use of the Grand Stewards and brethren in general, when the Grand Lodge assembles. The pilasters on each side of the hall are fluted, and otherwise most beautifully decorated. Between these pilasters are places appropriated for the reception of full-length paintings of the Grand Masters, &c. Those at present fixed are the Prince of Wales, the Earl of Moira, the late Dukes of Cumberland and Manchester, and the late Lord Petre. Above them are places for such historical paintings as have some affinity to the royal art, or are expressive of the virtues of Freemasonry. All the other intermediate spaces are elegantly decorated with the most beautiful emblematical, symbolical, and hieroglyphical figures, and representations of the mysteries of the royal art.

Round the top of the side walls runs a small balustrade, or rather a kind of ornamented iron palisade, capable of holding a vast number of spectators, above which a number of semicircular windows are placed, so contrived as to open and shut with the greatest ease and facility, to let in fresh air as often as may be required.

The roof of this magnificent hall is, in all probability, the highest finished piece of workmanship in Europe, having gained universal applause from all beholders, and has raised the character of the architect beyond expression. In the centre of this roof a most splendid sun is represented, in burnished gold, surrounded by the twelve signs of the Zodiac, with their respective characters. Whenever the Grand Lodge assembles, this hall is further ornamented with five brilliant and rich cut glass chandeliers, the most magnificent of which hangs over that part of the hall allotted to the Grand Officers; the other four are distributed in pairs at equal distances. These lustres, with a sufficient number of sconces, in which only wax lights burn, illuminate the hall with a great brilliancy.

MASONRY IN WAR TIME.

A CURIOUS Masonic incident is related by Bro. Charles Du Val, in his work entitled "With a Show through Southern Africa," as having occurred in Pretoria, while beleaguered by the Boars during the late war in the Transvaal. The writer says:—

A meeting of Freemasons was held towards the end of January, and under circumstances so entirely novel that it may be worth while to recount them. In the first place the members of the Craft had to obtain permission from their various Commanding Officers or respective Ward Masters, to attend the meeting. These passes, countersigned by the Garrison Adjutant, were granted at the bearer's own risk—the Masonic Hall of the town of Pretoria being the place of assembly. Slightly at variance with the motto of the brethren —"Peace, Love, and Harmony"—was their appearance, clad in the various costumes of war, many carrying their rifles and bandoliers; a group of horses standing outside the Hall, while the Master and Officers of the Lodge went through the various rites of the ancient Craft in an apartment through which the breezes freely blew, entering a line of loopholes knocked out of the wall at the one side to escape by a similar set at the other—possibly the most novel system of ventilation that ever admitted the fresh air to participate in the mystic ceremonies of the Free and Accepted ones, in either South Africa, or wherever else the maul has resounded or the compasses been extended in open Lodge.

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our Correspondents.

All Letters must bear the name and address of the Writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return rejected communications.

—:o:—

THE LATE FIRE AT FREEMASONS' HALL.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have read with interest the letter of Bro. Sadler in reference to the destruction of the portraits of the former eminent Masons, which formerly adorned the walls of the Masonic Temple, and which were entirely destroyed at the calamitous fire that occurred in the early part of this year. Bro. Sadler, in his communication, observes that it was with regret he stated there were neither copies nor engravings of the lost pictures. I presume he has the authority of the Grand Secretary for making this statement. He enumerates the titles of these Masonic dignitaries, with whose full-length portraits every member of Grand Lodge was familiar, and suggests that some readers of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE may be fortunate in the possession of some engraved or other reminiscences of those illustrious Masons whose portraits have been irretrievably lost in the fire which destroyed the Masonic Temple in common with the beautiful and elaborate decorations which enriched its ceiling and walls. I am happy to say that I am in possession of a large engraved portrait of the Earl of Moira, Acting Grand Master to the former Prince of Wales (the late George the Fourth), who occupied that position from 1790 to 1813, and to whom the Craft voted a jewel of the value of £1000 on his quitting the Grand Lodge to assume the dignified position of Governer General of India. The portrait from which the engraving was taken was painted by Bro. J. Hopner, of the Royal Academy, and not by Sir Joshua Reynolds, as Bro. Sadler supposes. It is a beautiful line engraving, drawn from the original by Bartolozzi, and engraved by Henry Landseer. The noble Earl is represented as seated in the same chair as that now occupied by the Grand Master during the meetings of the Grand Lodge, but which for so many years was unknown to many of members of the Lodge, having been stowed away with many other things as lumber in the cellars of the tavern, and only brought to light at the building of the new hall attached to the tavern. The portrait is dedicated by permission to his Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, and the Right Hon. Francis Earl of Moira, Acting Grand Master of the Most Ancient and Honourable Society of Free and Accepted Masons. The portrait is in fine preservation, and has been in my possession for many years.

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours truly and fraternally,

H. THOMPSON,

P.M. 177, 1158, and P.Z. 619.

Brother W. W. Morgan, S.W. 211, will deliver his Lecture "The Masonic Institutions; their Establishment and Development," at the St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction, No. 144, at the White Hart, 49 Kings Road, Chelsea, on Friday, the 26th instant. Lodge will be opened at 7.30. Brethren are invited to attend.

At a meeting of the United Brothers' Lodge, No. 1069, held on Monday evening last, at the Grosvenor Hotel, Southsea, Brother C. J. E. Mumby was elected Worshipful Master for the ensuing year.

Digitized by Google

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

THE GREAT CITY LODGE, No. 1426.

THE installation meeting of the above Lodge was held on Saturday, 13th instant, at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, E.C., and, as is customary with the meetings of this Lodge, was numerously attended, both by members of the Lodge and Visitors. The W.M. of the past year, Bro. W. F. Kibble, opened the Lodge, and was supported during the proceedings by the following Officers:—Frederick T. C. Keeble S.W., William Baber J.W., Rev. R. J. Simpson P.G.C. Chaplain, N. B. Headon P.M. Treasurer, G. W. Blackie P.M. Secretary, P.M.'s Jas. Stevens, J. Seex, James Freeman, Richard Stanway, T. Hamer; Robert Fendick S.D., F. W. Potter J.D., H. Durrant M.C., G. Jenkins Organist, J. T. Skinner I.G., H. J. Bertram Steward, &c. The business of the evening comprised, among other matters, the initiation of Mr. Dottridge, after which the W.M. elect was duly inducted into the chair, the ceremony being performed in a really impressive manner by the outgoing Master. In due course, the new ruler of the Lodge appointed his Officers, conferring the collars on the following brethren:—Kibble I.P.M., Baber S.W., Fendick J.W., Headon Treasurer, Blackie Secretary, Simpson Chaplain, Potter S.D., Skinner J.D., Durrant I.G., E. H. Cadiot M.C., Jenkins Organist, H. J. Bertram and L. J. Hudd Stewards, and R. Potter P.M. Tyler. The work of installation having been completed, the report of the Audit Committee was received and adopted. Several letters of regret at inability to attend the meeting were read by the Secretary, among them being apologies from the Lord Mayor, J. Derby Allcroft, T. Fenn, Col. Shadwell H. Clerke, &c. The company then adjourned to the large hall, and sat down to banquet, under the presidency of the newly-appointed W.M. At the conclusion of the repast, and after grace had been sung, the Chairman proceeded with the toasts of the evening. The first, he said, was one of which it was impossible to say too much, and at the same time it was one of which the least said the better. He should copy a speaker he had heard at one of the oldest Lodges, which he had recently visited, and propose "The First Lady in the Land; the First Brother in the Craft—the Queen and the Craft." The toast was well received, and was followed by the National Anthem. The next toast was the Most Worshipful Grand Master H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. Their Grand Master, the Chairman remarked, was certainly the most popular man of the day in England, as he was also the greatest man of the day. As the head of the Craft he was all that could be desired, never being tired of devoting himself to the promotion of the Order. This toast was followed by that of the Pro Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers present and past. The way in which the Officers of the Grand Lodge of England performed the duties of their respective offices was, as was well known, a credit to them, one and all. The members of the Craft were very proud of their rulers, and justly so. Those who had been present in Grand Lodge when the Revision of the Constitutions was under consideration could bear testimony to the patience and kindly attention of the Earl of Carnarvon during the five hours that meeting lasted. The Great City Lodge was fortunate in numbering among its members many Officers of Grand Lodge—there was Alderman Stone, Thomas Fenn, and, last, but not least, their worthy Chaplain—the Rev. R. J. Simpson. They could but regret the absence of the two first named, but, having the pleasure of the latter's company, he should couple his name with the toast. Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson, in responding, regretted there were no other Grand Officers present. He considered the time had arrived when the Grand Master might be advised to appoint a member of The Great City Lodge to an office in Grand Lodge; such a compliment would be an honour to the brethren of The City, and a gratifying acknowledgment of the efforts of the members of the Lodge to promote the true interests of Freemasonry. If the Grand Officers of England had been present, and seen the way in which the brethren had received the toast proposed in their honour, they could but consider their health had been much promoted. Small Lodges were plentiful, and harmony in them was not to be wondered at, but in such a one as The Great City, with a membership running into hundreds, and nothing occurring to ruffle the good feeling existing among the members—that was indeed a pleasing state of things, and the Lodge where it existed was raised high in the esteem of the world. The speaker referred to the manner in which the retiring Master had performed the ceremony of installation, and justly complimented him on his work, feeling assured that the way in which he had conducted the ceremony would be to the advantage of the new Master, who could hardly forget his induction into the chair. The I.P.M. next assumed the gavel, and proposed the health of the W.M. He could say with truth that in their new Master they had one of whom they might be justly proud. He had been known in the Lodge for many years, and had always been courteous and willing to assist any who might be in need of help. He had served the minor offices with credit, not only making himself conversant with the work required in each, but going far beyond, and qualifying himself for any duties he might be called upon to perform. He felt he might justly say the brethren of The Great City Lodge had never had a more worthy brother in the chair, or one who could better maintain the dignity of the Lodge; indeed, he was convinced that Bro. Keeble would add to it during his term of office. The W.M. considered his position the most difficult a man could possibly find himself in. To speak of oneself was certainly among the hardest tasks which fall to public men. Nine years previously—on the anniversary similar to that they were then celebrating—he had occupied the position of initiate in that very room. If the ceremony their brother had just gone through had made a similar impression to what the same did on him nine years ago, then he felt that The Great City Lodge had done its best to make a good Mason. The W.M. remembered how, on his first visit nine years since, he was all but a stranger among them; so much so, that he asked the then Secretary at what part of the table he should sit; he was immediately taken by the hand, informed that he was the guest of the evening, and placed in the position of honour at the then Master's right hand. He distinctly remembered, when seated there, wondering whether he should ever rise to the position of Ruler of a Lodge; he even went so far as to hope he might; and now that he had attained the position, and looked back on the way in which he had been appointed to it, he felt he must consider that he had given some amount of satisfaction, otherwise his election would not have been so unanimous. He felt, indeed, that he had done what had been expected of him. Ever since his connection with Freemasonry he had been possessed of the laudable desire of becoming the Master of his Mother Lodge, and now that he had secured that honour he was satisfied. Whatever further honours might be in store for him, he felt none could approach that of his present position, which he hoped he might be able to do justice to. He then proposed the health of the Initiate, expressing the pleasure he felt in welcoming a new brother on the night of his own installation. He considered their initiate had selected the best time to join the Lodge—the day of the annual gathering, as on such an occasion he was likely to get a better idea of Freemasons than was possible at any other time. The initiate tendered his thanks. He took it that all of those present had gone through a similar ceremony as that he had taken part in that night, and, therefore, they could imagine his feelings. He could but thank them most heartily, and hope he might prove himself an acquisition to the Lodge. The Visitors next came in for attention. The W.W. gave each a hearty welcome, and was pleased to see so many well known faces among them. Such a feature was evidence that the members of The Great City pleased those who came to visit them. Bro. Latimer and several others having replied, the Master proposed the toast of the Installing Master and the Past Masters. There had been some ten installations performed in The Great City Lodge, but not one had been better worked that had that of 1883. It gave him great pleasure now to perform a duty which he had intended to perform in Lodge, viz.—to present his predecessor with the jewel which had been voted him by the members, and which, as had just been evidenced, was well deserved. The jewel bore the following inscription:—

"The Great City Lodge, No. 1426.
Presented to Bro. W. F. Kibble, with the thanks of the brethren, on the termination of his year of office as Tenth Worshipful Master.
18th Oct. 1883."

He was also pleased to see so many of the other Past Masters present, and was gratified in being called upon to propose their health. The I.P.M. considered his career in The Great City Lodge had been one marked by kindness and encouragement. He had tried to do his best, and felt, when he received their mark of approval, that he had pleased them. Bro. James Stevens replied in a very brief manner on behalf of the other Past Masters—so briefly indeed that we could hardly believe our own ears. His reply consisted of three words, and these he said represented his feelings—"Factor non verba." Such brevity is most commendable, and we trust will be adopted in the future. The health of the Treasurer, the Secretary, and the rest of the Officers, brought the proceedings to a termination, after a most successful gathering. The musical arrangements were under the management of Bro. N. F. Frost, who was assisted by Bros. W. A. Frost, A. Kenningham, F. E. Walker, and T. Kempton. There was a numerous array of visitors, the list comprising representatives from many London, Provincial, and Foreign Lodges, as follow:—Bros. C. Ellright I.G. 1460, Henry Baldwin Sec. 1777, C. J. Axford 1949, E. A. Smith 1826, J. Lawrence J.D. 1326, F. Page 1414, G. H. Atkinson 1622, E. J. Williams 1539, T. O. Kelsey J.D. 931, G. H. Gardner No. 1 U.S.A., Frederick Walters P.M. 73 P.P.G.D. Middlesex, &c., William Henry Chalford W.M. 1425, D. Belinfante I.G. 435, Geo. Alcock P.M. 1149, W. Whyte jun. P.M. 125 (I.C.), W. Saul P.M. 1201, A. D. Kerrell W.M. 145, Charles J. Fox M.C. 1743, W. Poupard 9, W. Gowland J.D. 206, A. M. Catling 1579, T. Harper I.P.M. 1216, John M. Draper 1702, Adolphus Nicols W.M. 1974, Samuel Benton W.M. 1657, Adolphus Buck 179, W. Medwin W.M. 1613, C. P. McKay P.M. 720, E. C. Percy-Stevens 1326, Thomas Glover 181, Isaac Latimer P.M. 189 P.P.G. Secretary Devon P.P.G.J.W., Frank Herold W.M. 1056, W. G. Gribbon 34, G. H. Blackmore 45, W. Styles late 1426, George Read P.M. 511, H. Debane W.M. 1543 P.P.G.S.D. Essex, Leonard Benet P.M. 179, E. J. Jolliffe J.W. 1647, W. A. Frost 1728, A. Kenningham 1706, T. Kempton 1706, Thomas Poore P.M. 720, Fred Walker, &c.

STAR IN THE EAST LODGE, No. 650.

THE Anniversary Festival of this Lodge was held at Harwich, on 9th inst., and was of an unusually interesting character. At about 3.30 the brethren assembled in Lodge for the purpose of the Installation of Brother Harry G. Everard S.W., which ceremony was ably performed by Brother the Rev. E. H. Crate P.G.C., who is a member of 650, and who kindly acted in the unavoidable absence of the D.P.G.M. of the Province, W. Bro. Fred. A. Philbrick, Q.C., P.G.D. At the close, the new W.M. appointed and invested his Officers, as follow:—Bros. Richard Clowes P.G.S.W., I.P.M., F. R. Hales S.W., M. L. Sanders J.W., the Rev. E. H. Crate P.G.C. Chaplain, Wm. Groom Treasurer, Richard Clowes I.P.M. P.G.S.W. Secretary, A. Kinsey Morgan S.D., A. C. Parsons J.D., Bede Hutchinson M.C., C. R. Salter Organist, G. Helsdon I.G., T. Dunn Steward, R. Barlow Tyler. Brother R. Clowes was elected as representative on the Provincial Charity Committee. The W.M. then, in the name of the Lodge, presented to W. Brother Richard Clowes I.P.M. a handsome Past Master's jewel, and took the opportunity to thank Brother Clowes for the many kindnesses they had received at his hands, both as a Lodge and as individuals. Brother

Digitized by Google

Clowes heartily thanked the brethren for this mark of their goodwill, and promised to continue his efforts for the prosperity of Masonry generally, and Lodge 650 particularly. A vote of thanks was passed to W. Brother the Rev. E. H. Crate for so kindly undertaking the day's duty; and he was presented with the Lodge jewel as a token of the esteem in which the brethren hold him. A vote of thanks was also passed to Brother Bede Hutchinson for the zeal and ability he had shown as Secretary to the Lodge Charity Association, through which no less a sum than £63 had during the year been contributed to the R.M.Institution for Boys, Lodge was afterwards closed and, later in the evening, between 40 and 50 brethren dined together at the Pier Hotel, a splendid repast being well served by Brother Rule, the host. After dinner, the usual Masonic toasts were proposed and responded to. In giving the I.P.M. and P.M.'s of No. 650, the W.M. took occasion again to refer to the eminent services Brother Clowes had rendered to Lodge 650 during his year of office. It was chiefly owing to his energy and hard work that the son of their late Secretary—Bro. Basham—had been elected to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys; he had borne the entire expense of the entertainment of Provincial Grand Lodge, and had rendered signal services in hundreds of ways both to the Lodge and also its members as individuals. It had consequently been thought by some of them that the presentation of a P.M.'s jewel was not a sufficient expression of the kind feeling they all entertained to Brother Clowes, and the matter having been warmly taken up, had resulted in the purchase of the silver goblet which he now had the great pleasure to hand to Brother Clowes, and trusted he would live long to continue his services to Masonry. The cup, which had only a few minutes before been brought into the room, was then, amid great applause, handed to Brother Clowes, who in acknowledging the gift spoke with considerable emotion. He said he had been so thoroughly taken by surprise at this extremely warm token of their kind feeling that he did not know how to reply. He could assure them, however, that he should value their handsome gift most highly, and so would his family; and his three boys, who he hoped one day to see Masons, would, he felt sure, point with pride to that cup on the sideboard and say—That's what our father received at the end of his year of office from the brethren of the Star in the East Lodge, 650. The cup, which is of solid silver, gold lined, bears the following inscription:—

"Presented to W. Brother Clowes I.P.M. P.G.S.W., by the members of Star in the East Lodge, 650, as a token of their appreciation of his valuable services to the Lodge, and as a mark of their personal regard. October, 1883."

Among the brethren present during the day were—W. Brothers Thomas J. Balling P.M. 51 P.G. Secretary, R. D. Poppleton I.P.M. 433 P.G.S.D., J. J. Cavill I.P.M. 1312 P.G.J.D, Thomas G. Mills I.P.M. 697 P.G.P., E. Hennemeyer P.M. 51 P.P.G.S.W., Alfred Welch P.M. 51 P.P.G.J.W., John J. C. Turner P.M. 51 P.P.G.O., C. Osmond W.M. 51 P.P.G.O., J. P. Lewin P.M. 276 P.P.G.S. of W., Thomas Rix P.M. and Secretary 697 P.P.G.S.B., Thomas Eustace W.M. 1977 P.P.G.S.B., G. A. Eustace W.M. 697 P.G.S., A. A. Bennett W.M. 376 P.P.G.R. Suff., W. O. Ward P.M. 650 P.P.G.P., J. H. Weston P.M. 1536. Brothers C. H. Snelgar 697, John Smith 225, J. T. Bailey I.G. 697, J. Steer 1536, C. D. Marshall S.W. 697, Turle Lee I.G. 766, Charles Beckett 1300, George F. Smith 1839, George F. Smith jun. 1977, F. Atkinson 376, S. Munson Tyler 51, &c.; and the following members of 650—Bros. Rixon Ford, O. Broadberry, George Holsdon, Edgar Bonner, Thomas Dunn, and J. R. Watson.—Essex Standard.

ROTHESAY LODGE, No. 1687.

THE installation meeting of this flourishing Lodge was held on 3rd instant, at the Inns of Court Hotel, High Holborn. Bros. W. C. Parsons W.M., E. Duret S.W., Green sen. J.W., L. Beck P.P.G.O. Middlesex Treasurer, Docker P.M. Secretary, Valeriani S.D., Green jun. J.D., Mole I.G. Smith M.C. Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. Brother Duret S.W. and W.M. elect was presented; a Board of Installed Masters opened, and he was duly installed into the chair by the I.P.M., Brother W. C. Parsons, who was deservedly complimented by the brethren and visitors. The newly installed Worshipful Master, in appropriate terms, appointed and invested his Officers:—Bros. W. C. Parsons I.P.M., Green sen. S.W., Valeriani J.W., L. Beck P.P.G.O. Middlesex Treasurer, W. C. Parsons P.M. Secretary, Green jun. S.D., Mole J.D., Shaw I.G. Applause followed the investiture of the several Officers. A candidate was proposed for initiation, and soon afterwards Lodge was closed. The brethren sat down to a sumptuous and récherché banquet, superintended by Brother Gosden. Grace having been said, the Worshipful Master in eloquent terms proposed the Loyal and Masonic toasts. Brother Parsons I.P.M., in proposing the health of the Worshipful Master said, they were pleased to have Bro. Duret occupying the chair; from his general ability they might rest assured the Lodge would prosper under his direction. The Worshipful Master briefly and appropriately returned thanks. The W.M. in proposing the toast of the Visitors said, the Rothesay Lodge was always pleased to see Visitors; when he looked around and saw so many familiar faces, several of whom had done him the honour to come from Warwick and Leamington to see him installed, he felt a great compliment was paid him. With the toast he would couple the names of Bros. Boddington and Coombs. These brethren responded; and in the course of their remarks allusion was made to the respect in which the Worshipful Master was held, not only in London, but also in the Guys Lodge, at Leamington. The toast of the Past Masters came next; the Worshipful Master was sure it would meet with a hearty reception. Before they honoured the toast, however, he had great pleasure in presenting Brother W. C. Parsons with a gold Past Master's jewel. He (the W.M.) hoped Brother Parsons might live for many years to wear it. Brother Parsons in a characteristic speech thanked the Worshipful Master and the brethren for their valuable gift. He alluded to the pleasing fact that the Master now occupying the chair was the first initiate of the Lodge. Brother L. Beck P.M. followed. The Worshipful Master in proposing the toast of the Officers said, this was a very important one; he hoped the selection he had made would be for the advantage of the Lodge. The Officers were known for their Masonic ability; attendance at the Lodge of Instruction had gone far towards perfecting them. The toast was enthusiastically received, and was ably responded to by Bros. Green sen. and Valeriani. The Tyler's toast closed an agreeable and harmonious evening. Bros. Stalward, Percy, L. Beck, Coombs, and Frankton contributed to the harmony. Among the Visitors were Bros. Boddington P.M. 567 P.P.G.D.C. Warwick, Ruf P.M. 12, Coombs P.M. 12, Franklin P.M. 567, Noel 6, Monck 567, Johnston 1608, Levey 231, Shaw 1471, Madell 1201, H. Harvey 749, Dallay 1475, Oswald 1670, Walby 395, Deacon 25, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188.

MONTAGUE GUEST LODGE, No. 1900.

THE annual meeting of this young, yet prosperous Lodge, was held on Wednesday, the 10th inst., at the Inns of Court Hotel, and the fact that Bro. Hedges, the respected Secretary of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls was to be installed in the chair of K.S. had the effect of securing a more than ordinarily large attendance of members, while among the visitors there was an unusually strong muster of past and present Grand Officers. The chair was taken at the appointed time by Bro. Festa W.M., and Lodge having been opened, the minutes of the last stated meeting, as well as of an emergency meeting, were read and confirmed. The Auditors' report showed the financial state of the Lodge to be most satisfactory, and this having been submitted and accepted, Bro. Festa entered on the duty of installing his successor, Bro. Hedges, and this duty he carried out in a highly commendable manner, and with great earnestness. After the customary salutations, Bro. Hedges proceeded to appoint and invest the following brethren as his officers for the year, namely—Brts. H. J. Capon S.W., H. Slyman P.M. J.W., W. H. Dean P.M. Treasurer (elected), J. D. Collier P.M. Sec., W. H. Gardener S.D., S. Brooks P.M. J.D., G. M. Doble I.G., C. M. Tait M.C., W. H. Staff Org., H. N. Pratt Steward, and Banks Tyler. The next duty that devolved on Bro. Hedges was that of presenting the I.P.M., Bro. Festa, with a very elegant Past Master's jewel, set with brilliants, together with a collar and solid silver square, in recognition of his valuable services during his tenure of office as W.M., the inscription on the jewel being as follows:—"Viro ornatissimo Johanni Paulo Festa, pro Liberalitate ejus et Urbanitate et Fidelitate, curato munere, sodales sodali; D. D. Montague Guest Societas 1900, D. D. Oct. MDCCCLXXXIII." Bro. Hedges having expressed the pleasure with which he fulfilled this particular duty, and Bro. Festa having feelingly acknowledged the compliment paid him by the brethren of the Lodge, the other business was dispatched, Lodge was closed, and the brethren sat down to banquet. On the removal of the cloth, the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed and honoured, that of the "Grand Officers" being acknowledged by Sir John B. Monckton, President of the Board of General Purposes, who expressed the pleasure which he felt sure his brother G. Officers, present and past, experienced at being present on that occasion. There were, he remarked, three reasons which conduced to this feeling. There was, in the first place, their desire to show their sympathy with the Lodge which, albeit one of the youngest of the Lodges, was very vigorous and energetic in its work. Then they were able to show their sympathy with, he might almost venture to say, the most engaging of their Charities; and lastly, they could evince their respect for Brother Hedges, the able Secretary of that Institution, and now W. Master of the Lodge. It was this third reason which had prompted him to attend, though at some personal inconvenience, so that he—and with him the other Grand Officers—might show their respect for a most excellent Mason, and also a most excellent servant of the Craft. True, they were all of them servants one way or another, and he was one himself in another sphere, and he felt that those who faithfully discharged the duties entrusted to them merited recognition: hence the pleasure they experienced in bearing testimony to the ability and faithfulness of Bro. Hedges. Bro. Festa I.P.M. briefly proposed the health of the W.M., remarking that, in such an assembly, and especially after the speech with which they had just been favoured, there was no necessity to speak upon it at any length. Bro. Hedges, in reply, thanked them very heartily for their kindness, though he confessed he felt some difficulty in doing so. He considered the Mastership of the Lodge was a great honour. He had long desired to occupy such a position, and he trusted he should succeed in discharging its duties with credit to himself and advantage to the Lodge. And as it was to Bro. Festa that he was indebted for his introduction into the Montagne Guest Lodge, he felt that he might take that opportunity of thanking him for his kindness and telling him how much he appreciated it. In conclusion, he gave the toast of the I.P.M., whose services to the Lodge were known to all the brethren. It had afforded him the greatest pleasure in presenting him with the jewel he was then wearing, and he cordially invited the brethren to supplement the presentation of the jewel by giving the toast a cordial welcome. The request having been complied with, Brother Festa expressed the gratification he had derived from his connection with Freemasonry, and the pleasure he had felt in installing a brother for whom from the moment he joined the Craft he had formed a sincere friendship, which had lasted ever since, and which, he trusted, might last for many years. He admitted he was very enthusiastic, and he had striven to do his duty and be a credit to the Order as well as to afford all possible pleasure to the brethren of the Lodge. Any faults or shortcomings he might have shown they must kindly set down to his nationality and to the greater sensitiveness of his temperament. However, he was glad that what had been done had given them satisfaction, and their handsome acknowledgment of his services would act as an incentive to him to do if possible even more in the future than he was glad to hear he had done in the past. To the toast of the Visitors Bros. J. A. Rucker P.G.D., and Raynham W. Stewart P.G.D. replied, the former remarking that he was proud to see Bro. Hedges in his present position, and from his knowledge of that brother's career he was persuaded he would fulfil his duties well and with a will; while Bro. Stewart, as uncle of Bro. Hedges, was equally confident the latter would have a successful year of office. The toast of the Charities was entrusted, for obvious reasons, to other hands than the Chairman's, and Brother Dean P.M. and Treasurer, in proposing it, spoke briefly, but earnestly. Bro. Terry, in his reply, said he was not surprised at the favour bestowed on the Girls' School, as it was only natural they should look kindly on the Girls. He also complimented Brother Binckes on the amazing success which had attended his last Festival. Still, as it was the Old Men who had built up the Schools and kept them going long before they bethought themselves of raising a Fund for themselves and the Old Women, he trusted that the Institution with which he was connected would secure its fair measure of support. He hoped the time would never come when there would be undue rivalry among the Institutions, but that each in turn would stand by and help the others as much as they could. He congratulated Brother Hedges on being Worshipful Master, and also for the help he had given the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. The rest of the customary toasts followed. Among those present were the following, namely—Bros. Sir John B. Monckton Pres. Board of General Purposes, Col. Shadwell H. Clerke Grand Secretary, Col. J. Peters Grand Sword Bearer, Edgar Bowyer Grand Standard Bearer, Frank Richardson, Robert Grey, Peter de Lande Long, John A. Rucker, Raynham W. Stewart, J. H. Matthews Past Grand Deacons; Joshua Nunn Past Grand S.B., J. Terry P.G.W. Herts, H. A. Dubois P.G.W. Middlesex, W. Lake Past Prov. Grand Registrar Cornwall, J. P. Platt P.G.W. Cheshire, A. H. Tattershall P.M. 140, D. M. Dewar P.M. 1415, A. E. Gladwell P.M. 172, A. Tisley P. Grand Steward, Herbert Dicketts P. Grand Steward, Thomas Arnold 780, J. F. Waest P.M. 753, R. Loftus Wetherall 741, and H. Massey P.M.

Digitized by Google

ECCLESTON LODGE, No. 1624.

THE members of this popular Lodge celebrated their Eighth Installation Meeting on Wednesday. The brethren assembled at the Criterion, Piccadilly, under the Presidency of the W.M. Bro. E. Powell, who was supported by Bros. Tayler S.W., Johnson J.W., Isaacs Treasurer, Beckham Secretary, Bottle S.D., McRay Steward, Egerton Organist. Past Masters Bros. Fisher, Vincent Prov. Grand S.B. Middlesex, Jones, Flatterly, Hunt, and MacLeod. Visitors—Bros. Cullingford 35, Thorne 1194, Freeman 1416, Butt 1791, Gee 1571, Furber 754, Vine P.M. 173, Stuart 948, Waley 172, Bond W.M. 1314, Stark 1194, Minnis P.M. 157, Ayling W.M. 975, Goffin 1695, Folson 1604, Roberts 393, King 1929, Whales 172, Tunnell 1791, Sanders 1257, Briggs P.M. 157, Bell 1207, Massey P.M. 619 and 1928, Scott, Wrangham P.M. 619, Barleton P.M. 860, Larner 858, Bankel 378, Davis 87, Brindley 1604, Hollyman 27, Shepperd 140, Dobbs P.M. 1150, West P.M. 1815, Sadler 172, Keen W.M. 1426, Wyatt 1044, Elliot 1772, Poulton 1791, White 1772, Schartau 1549, Cantle P.M. 1441, H.M. Levy P.M. 188. After the Lodge had been opened, and the minutes confirmed, the Auditors' report was read and adopted. The financial statement as regards the Benevolent Fund showed there was a balance in favour of the Lodge of upwards of £50. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. C. Tayler S.W. and W.M. elect was presented to the Lodge, and in due course, in the presence of fifteen W.M.'s and P.M.'s, duly installed into the chair by the retiring W.M., who conducted the ceremony in a most perfect and impressive manner. Bro. W. Vincent P.M. efficiently acted as M.C. On the re-admission of the brethren, the W.M. was saluted, according to ancient custom. He then, in appropriate terms, appointed and invested his Officers:—Bros. E. Powell I.P.M., H. J. Johnson S.W., R. Bottle J.W., I. Isaacs (re-elected) Treas., A. W. Beckham (re-appointed) Sec., Coulthard S.D., Johnston J.D., Moorman I.G., Ray and Watkins M.C.'s, Egerton Org., Hooper and Weston W.S.'s, Thomas Reece Jones Tyler. Ballots having been previously taken for the admission of Messrs. T. Salter, J. Pride, and C. J. Forder, and the result being unanimously in favour of these candidates, they were duly initiated into the Order by the newly installed W.M., who evidenced his capability for office by performing the ceremony in a manner that augurs well for his conduct of the Lodge. Bro. W. Vincent proposed that the name of the Lodge should be used in connection with the annual ball of the members, and a dispensation be applied for for the brethren to wear Masonic clothing on the occasion. Any surplus that may accrue to be devoted to the Benevolent Fund of the Lodge. This proposition having been seconded, was carried unanimously. The brethren, to the number of 104, sat down to a sumptuous and récherché banquet provided by Messrs. Spiers and Pond (Limited), and superintended by Bro. Madell. The W.M., who in the Lodge had performed his duties admirably, made a very genial president; he proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. Brother E. Powell I.P.M. was entrusted with the gavel to propose what he described as the toast of the evening, the health of the Worshipful Master. Brother C. Tayler, was the first initiate of the Lodge; he had worked up through every office: he had attained the proud position he now occupied by sheer merit and perseverance, and all felt sure he would do his duty satisfactorily. The W.M., in reply, thanked Bro. Powell for the kind manner in which he had spoken of him; whatever he had done had been a labour of love. On the first night of his initiation he made up his mind to go forward in Freemasonry, and when he was raised to the degree of Master Mason he went into office. With pleasure he saw the result. By the kindness of the brethren he now occupied the chair. At the next Festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, which would be held in June next, under the presidency of His Royal Highness the Duke of Albany, he would serve as a Steward, and he thought opportunity might be taken by the members of the Lodge to make their mark on the Charity Roll of the Order. In conclusion, he again thanked the brethren for the reception they had given him. The Worshipful Master then proposed the toast of the I.P.M., and referred to the excellent manner in which Bro. Powell had carried out each and every of his duties. It might indeed be said he had crowned all by his working of the ceremony of installation. It was gratifying for him (the W.M.) to be the medium of presenting Bro. Powell with a testimonial of the respect the Lodge entertained for him, in the shape of the Past Master's jewel, which he had the pleasure of placing on his breast; he hoped he might live for many years to wear it. Bro. Powell rose with a great amount of diffidence. He hoped he had given the brethren satisfaction during his year of office. As one of the Founders of the Lodge, he took a deep interest in its well-doing. With respect to the handsome jewel they had presented him with, he regretted he had no son to hand it down to, but he had a grandson, who doubtless would appreciate the honour conferred upon him. The other toasts given were the Past Masters, the Initiates, the Visitors, the Press, the Treasurer and Secretary, the Officers, &c. Some capital responses were elicited. Finally, the Tyler gave the parting toast. To Bros. I. Cantle, Schartau, Davis, Lee, and Moorman great credit is due for the musical ability they displayed, while Bro. Vincent P.M. was most energetic in ministering to the comfort and entertainment of the Visitors.

UNITY LODGE, No. 1637.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge was held at the Abercorn Hotel, Great Stanmore, Middlesex, on Saturday, 13th inst. Lodge was opened by the W.M., Bro. Joseph Adkins, who was supported by Bros. Stephens P.M. Treas., T. W. Cooper P.M., S. A. Cooper P.M. Sec., Slyman S.W. W.M. elect, John Woodmason I.G., Linscott S.D., Gordon, Webster M.C., Davies, Larkin, Jefferson, Parsons W.S., Clarkson, and Parsons. Visitors—Bros. R. Green Urban Lodge, W. H. Dean P.M. P.P.G.S.D. Dorset, S. Smout W.M. 1642, W. F. Packer 1571, E. Childs 538 P.M., R. J. Taylor W.M. 1922, and R. Coulthard 144 and 1632. After the minutes of the last Lodge meeting had received confirmation, the installation of Bro. Henry Slyman S.W. W.M. elect was proceeded with. The ceremony was capitally performed by the outgoing Master. The following were appointed Officers:—Bros. Linscott S.W., Woodmason J.W., Stephens P.M. Treas., S. A. Cooper P.M. Sec., Webster S.D., Parsons J.D., Jefferson I.G., Gordon M. of C., Miller W.S., Larkin A.W.S., Middleton Tyler. At the conclusion of the labours of the day a capital banquet was served by host Veal, and the after proceedings were of a most harmonious character.

NEW FINSBURY PARK LODGE, No. 1695.

THE anniversary meeting was held at the Highbury Station Hotel, better known as the Cock Tavern, on Tuesday last, the 16th instant. Lodge was opened by the Worshipful Master, Brother J. N. Thompson, supported by Bros. Edmunds S.W. and W.M. elect, Bastable J.W., Eldridge P.M. Treasurer, Frampton Secretary, Berry acting S.D., Tibbits J.D., Lone acting I.G., W. Hollis P.M. M.C., Very Tyler; also Bros. Press P.M., Swinyard, Cattermole, Hawkes, Scott, Canfer, Lewin, Richmond, Ayden, Bouts, Lone, &c. The Visitors were as follow:—Bros. Follitt 45, Rothschild 1288, Pigot 753, Forge 619, Fenner 1693, Wilkinson 167, Manger 1260, Dawes 619, Hartnett 813, Ashton 1929, Tremere 1929, Leipold 1929, Phillips 1185. Minutes were read and confirmed, and the Auditors' Report was adopted. After the obligation had been taken, a Board of Installed Masters was formed, and Bro. Edmunds was regularly installed by Brother Thompson. The brethren being readmitted, saluted the W.M. in the three degrees. The Officers were appointed as follow:—Bros. Bastable S.W., Tibbits J.W., Eldridge P.M. Treas., Frampton Secretary, Berry S.D., Lewin J.D., Lone I.G., Hollis M.C., Very Tyler. Brother Thompson then gave the addresses in a very impressive manner; and was unanimously applauded. We congratulate him on this excellent finish to his term of office. Lodge was then closed in regular form, and the brethren adjourned to banquet, which was served by Brother Baker in his usual satisfactory manner. Grace was sung by Bros. Ashton, Colson Phillips, and Tremere. The W.M. gave the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts, which were duly honoured by the brethren. The before-named brethren then sang a trio. The W.M.'s health was proposed in a very neat speech, in which the Immediate Past Master stated that the honour of the Lodge would be upheld in all its integrity by Bro. Edmunds, who had worked hard to fit himself for his position. He (Brother Thompson) trusted that the brethren would find him plenty of work to do. The toast was cordially received by all present. In thanking the brethren, the W.M. stated that he would strive to do his best to give satisfaction while he had the honour of being their W.M.; he trusted his endeavours would meet with the approbation of the Past Masters of the Lodge, to whom he would look with pleasure for instruction; he considered the Past Masters as the guiding stars of the Lodge. He also hoped that Brother Thompson, the esteemed I.P.M., would always be at his elbow to give him assistance should occasion require it. He trusted he might vacate the chair of K.S. in as graceful a manner as did his predecessor. The I.P.M.'s toast was next proposed, and the Wor. Master in giving it stated the brethren knew that Bro. Thompson was one who could not slur over his duties. He had done them in a very masterly, as well as graceful manner. He had great pleasure in presenting him with a P.M.'s jewel, which had been unanimously voted by the members of the Lodge, and sincerely trusted that Bro. Thompson would be spared for many years to wear it; he was very proud of the opportunity of having the honour of presenting the jewel, as both Brother Thompson and himself were initiated together; had worked together; and followed each other step by step in the Lodge to the present proud position he then occupied. The toast was received with acclamation. In reply, Bro. Thompson assured the brethren he had the best interests of the Lodge at heart, and would exert his utmost to foster a genuine Masonic feeling of good fellowship among the brethren of the Lodge, and would ever remember with the kindliest feelings the occasion of his having the P.M.'s jewel presented to him. He concluded by thanking the brethren for the kind mark of their approbation. The Past Masters, Treasurer and Secretary's toasts were proposed, and responded to by Bro. T. Press for the P.M.'s, Bro. Elridge for Treasurer, and Bro. C. R. Frampton for Secretary. The Visitors' toast was responded to by Bros. W. Wilkinson W.M. 167, R. P. Forge W.M. 619, H. Follett P.M. 45, J. H. Leipold 1929, and A. W. Fenner P.M. 1693, each of whom eulogised the I.P.M. for the excellent manner he had performed the duties of Installing Master, and thanked the Worshipful Master and brethren for the hearty reception accorded them by the Lodge. Bro. Fenner made a few remarks on the value of Lodges of Instruction. Without them, Masons would never be able to carry out the duties of Office. He impressed upon all young Masons who aspired to distinction in the Craft to avail themselves of the benefits to be derived by attending as often as possible. At the same time, he called the attention of the brethren to the fact that an excellent Lodge of Instruction, working under the warrant of the New Finsbury Park Lodge, meets every Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock, at the New Hornsey Wood Tavern, Seven Sisters'-road (opposite Finsbury Park). The Officers' toast was proposed, and received due honour; the Tyler's toast brought a pleasant evening to a close. Bros. H. Ashton, Colson Phillips, and T. Tremere enlivened the proceedings with some admirable songs and trios, while Bro. Leipold kindly presided at the pianoforte, and gave some brilliant fantasia, with which all the brethren were delighted.

Digitized by Google

DUKE OF CORNWALL LODGE, No. 1839.

THE first regular meeting of this flourishing Lodge since the installation was held on 13th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, under the presidency of Bro. A. Stokes W.M., J. W. Dewsnap S.W., Smith sen. J.W., J. W. Brooke P.M. Secretary, T. C. Corpe P.M. Treasurer, A. Williams S.D., Cattermole J.D., Marcus I.G., Gent M.C., Trego Organist, &c. Visitors—John Woodman 22, J. L. Culpen 749, G. F. Williams 1791, H. M. Levy P.M. 188. Lodge was opened, and the minutes of former meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. W. Wright, having been balloted for and accepted, was duly initiated into the Order, the W.M. conducting the ceremony in a very perfect way, each Officer contributing to the impressiveness of the ceremony. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren, thirty-four in number, sat down to a very excellent banquet, provided by Messrs. Spiers and Pond (Limited) and superintended by Bro. Dawkins. The W.M. proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. Bro. Smith I.P.M. proposed the health of the Worshipful Master. The brethren were pleased to see how ably he had performed the ceremony of initiation; they hoped on the next occasion to have another new member, and thus keep the W.M. in working order. He hoped the brethren would drink the toast with the enthusiasm it deserved, and wish the W.M. a prosperous year of office. Bro. Stokes, in reply, thanked Bro. Smith for the kind manner he had spoken of him; however, he felt he could hardly come up to the standard of the Past Masters, and was sure he could not excel them; at the same time he would do his utmost to equal them. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the newly initiated brother. From the attention he had paid to the ceremony he felt Bro. Wright would be a good Mason and a credit to the Lodge. Bro. Wright acknowledged the compliment. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors, coupled with the names of Bros. H. M. Levy P.M. 188, and Culpen 729, who severally responded. The I.P.M. Bro. Smith was next complimented, and then the toast of the Treasurer and Secretary was given. After suitable response had been made, other toasts followed, and were duly acknowledged: the Tyler's closed a very harmonious and agreeable evening. Bros. Foote, Marcus, Garrett, Lowry, Corpe P.M., Smith I.P.M. and the W.M. contributed some excellent songs, accompanied by Bros. Trego and Smith.

Justice Lodge of Instruction, No. 147.—On Thursday, 18th October, at the Brown Bear, High-street, Deptford. Bros. B. R. Banks W.M., J. W. Freeman S.W., Penrose J.W., S. R. Speight P.M. Secretary, Ingram S.D., Millington J.D., J. B. Williams I.G., P.M. Hutchins Preceptor, and several other brethren. The work comprised the rehearsal of the ceremonies of the third and second degrees, Bro. Millington candidate. Lodge was then called off. On resuming, and after collection of the dues, Bro. J. W. Freeman was elected W.M. for the first Thursday in the ensuing month. Brethren residing in the neighbourhood are cordially invited to attend.

United Pilgrims Lodge of Instruction, No. 507.—The usual weekly meeting of this Lodge of Instruction, held at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell New-road, S.E., on Friday, the 5th inst., was exceedingly well attended. The Lodge was opened precisely at 7·30, and amongst those present were—Bros. J. B. Sargeant W.M., J. N. Bate S.W., Henry Baldwin J.W., H. H. Hughes S.D., G. H. Chapman J.D., B. P. Jesse I.G., James Stevens P.M. and Preceptor, Richard Poore Secretary, and Bros. C. J. Oxford, J. C. Rhind, J. W. Tomkins, A. J. Styles, Henry, Stokes, &c. The first section having been worked by the brethren, the W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of initiation in the most able manner, Bro. Styles acting as candidate. At the request of the brethren explanations of sundry points in ceremonial were given by the Preceptor, who also delivered the lecture on the tracing board. Bro. Bate rendered the charge at initiation, with considerable effect. Lodge was called off for entry drill, in which all present took part, and was then called on. Bro. Bate was elected W.M. for the ensuing week, when the Lodge will work in the second degree with part sections and lecture. In consequence of other pressing engagements Bro. F. Thurston was reluctantly compelled to resign the office of Treasurer. The resignation was accepted with much regret, and honorary membership conferred on Bro. Thurston as some slight acknowledgment for past services. Bro. J. N. Bate was then unanimously elected Treasurer. Congratulations were expressed on the evident progress this Lodge of Instruction is making, and meeting as it does in a Temple prepared for and devoted solely to the purposes of Freemasonry, and worked without any distracting accompaniments, we cannot be surprised that, amongst intelligent brethren, caring more for mental improvement than bodily enjoyment, there are to be found an increasing number of staunch supporters. After two hours of most profitable instruction on this occasion, the Lodge closed in due form and the meeting adjourned.

New Concord Lodge of Instruction, No. 813.—The usual meeting of the above Lodge was held at Brother Langdale's, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate Road, on Wednesday last. Bro. Lone occupied the chair, supported by Bros. Marks S.W., Ferrar J.W., P.M. Cusworth Preceptor, Perl Secretary, Jones S.D., Western J.D., Gadsby I.G., Allsop, and others. Lodge having been opened in due form, the W.M. proceeded to rehearse the ceremony of initiation, having Bro. Allsop as a candidate. Lodge was opened in the second degree, when Bros. Allsop and Gadsby answered the usual questions leading to the third degree, but were not entrusted, they only being F.C. The W.M. then vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Ferrar, who rehearsed the ceremony of passing. Brother Lowe resumed the chair. Bro. Marks was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

Brixton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1949.—On Tuesday evening last, at Prince Regent Hotel, (Bro. Monk's) Dulwich-road, East Brixton. Albert W.M., Poore S.W., Lucas J.W., Francis Preceptor, Williams Secretary, Axford S.D., Phillips J.D., Banks I.G.; also Bros. Farrington S.W. 1949, Martin 1949, Richardson, Hill, Hudepohl, and Green 1687. After preliminaries, the ceremony of initiation was ably rehearsed, Brother Hill as candidate. Bro. Richardson gave the charge of the degree. Brother Poore was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

THE FIFTEEN SECTIONS

WILL BE WORKED

At the Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198, on Saturday, 27th October, at the Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. Bros. A. W. Fenner P.M. 1693 W.M., D. Moss J.W. 1275 S.W., J. A. Powell 186 J.W. First Lecture—Bros. Ashton, Robinson, Hall, Pearcy, Lorkin, Cull, Gush. Second Lecture—Bros. Bird, Moss, Trewinnard, Powell, Fenner. Third Lecture—Bros. Gribbell, Galer, Cohen. Bros. R. Pearcy P.M. 228 I.P.M., R. W. Galer J.D. 1366 Secretary. Lodge will be opened punctually at 7 p.m.

At the King's Cross Lodge of Instruction, No. 1732, on Sunday, 28th October, at the Blue Posts Tavern, 54 Charlotte Street, Fitzroy Square, W. Bros. J. Hemming M.C. 1287 W.M., J. Paul I.G. 1472 S.W., F. Sillis M.C. 1744 J.W., Wm. Stiles P.M. P.Z. 1507 I.P.M., L. Solomon W.M. 1732 Secretary. First Lecture—Bros. Bower, Kauffmann, Harvey, Gilby, Koester, Paul, Sillis. Second Lecture—Bros. Robinson, Burgess, Guyer, Agar, Whiting. Third Lecture—Bros. Davis, Emblin, Smith. At 6·15 o'clock precisely.

The Annual Festival of St. Ambrose Lodge of Instruction will be held on Monday evening, 29th October, at seven o'clock precisely, at the Baron's Court Hotel, West Kensington, on which occasion the Ceremony of Consecration will be rehearsed by Brother Frances P.P.G.S.D. Surrey, the Preceptor; the musical portion by Bro. J. Mallett Jones Organist, and Brother Ambrose W. Hall P.G.C. has kindly consented to take the chair at the Banquet, that will follow.

At the North London Chapter of Improvement, on Thursday, at the Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, Comp. Edmonds occupied the chair of Z., R. Bird H., Gillard J., Knight S.N., Buckhurst P.S. The Companions mustered in goodly numbers from the Metropolitan Chapters, thereby proving that the Royal Arch is making rapid advance with good workers.

The Companions of the North London Chapter will rehearse the Ceremony of Installation of Principals on Thursday evening, 1st of November, at eight o'clock, at the Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury.

The Provincial Grand Master of Hampshire and the Isle of Wight, the Right Wor. Brother W. W. B. Beach, M.P., and his Officers, will conduct the ceremonies at the inauguration of the new Masonic Hall, which has been erected at Woolston, by Brother Chapman P.M., for the accommodation of the rapidly increasing Clausentum Lodge. The opening will take place on Monday, the 19th of November, the tenth anniversary of the foundation of the Lodge.

FUNERALS.—Bros. W. K. L. & G. A. HUTTON, Coffin Makers and Undertakers, 17 Newcastle Street, Strand, W.C. and 30 Forest Hill Road, Peckham Rye, S.E.

Digitized by Google

Royal Masonic Institution for Girls,

ST. JOHN'S HILL, BATTERSEA RISE, S.W.

Chief Patroness:
HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN.

Patron and President:
H.R. HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G., &c., M.W.G.M.

Patroness:
HER ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCESS OF WALES.

AT A QUARTERLY GENERAL COURT OF THIS INSTITUTION, held at Freemasons' Tavern, Lincoln's Inn Fields, London, W.C., on Saturday, 13th October 1883,

Colonel J. CREATON, Treasurer and Trustee, in the Chair.

After the General Business was disposed of, the Governors and Subscribers proceeded to the Election, by ballot, of 8 Girls into the Institution, from a list of 32 APPROVED CANDIDATES, when the following were declared duly ELECTED:—

No. on List		Votes	No. on Poll
9	Sutcliffe, Ethel Haden	3101	1
10	Hutton, Edith	2992	2
7	Heastie, Isabelle Sophia	2481	3
5	Henshaw, Helen Mabel	2465	4
12	Gibson, Kathleen Alice	2228	5
15	Smith, Lucy	1818	6
16	West, Alice Garton	1805	7
1	Hayes, Ellen	1682	8

The votes recorded for unsuccessful Candidates will be carried forward to their credit at the next Election, if eligible. Lists showing the votes polled for successful and unsuccessful candidates may be obtained at the Office.

F. R. W. HEDGES,
Secretary.

OFFICES—5 FREEMASONS' HALL,
GREAT QUEEN STREET, LONDON, W.C.
13th October 1883.

Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.

OCTOBER ELECTION, 1883.

Case 12.—KATHLEEN ALICE GIBSON.

THE friends of this successful Candidate desire to return their best thanks to the Ladies and Brethren who so generously assisted her supporters to secure her election, fifth on the poll, on the 13th inst. The especial liberality of several eminent brethren towards the result attained will be ever gratefully remembered.

London, 15th October 1883.

THE IMPERIAL HOTEL,

HOLBORN VIADUCT, LONDON,

Adjoining the TERMINUS of the LONDON CHATHAM and DOVER RAILWAY, but distinct from the Viaduct Hotel.

THE BEST FURNISHED AND MOST COMFORTABLE HOTEL IN LONDON.
HOT & COLD WATER LAID ON IN ALL BED ROOMS.
The appointments throughout so arranged as to ensure domestic comfort.
EVERY ACCOMMODATION FOR MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS,
Public Dinners & Wedding Breakfasts.
THE CRUSADERS LODGE, No. 1677, AND PERSEVERANCE LODGE, No. 1743, HOLD THEIR MEETINGS AT THIS ESTABLISHMENT.
GOOD COOKING. FINE WINES. MODERATE CHARGES.
The Edison Electric Light.
TARIFF on APPLICATION to Bro. A. BEGBIE.

HOLLY BUSH TAVERN, HAMPSTEAD,

(Close to the Fire Station).

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; BALLS and ASSEMBLIES; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c. Rail and Bus within easy distance.

The members of the St. John's Lodge, No. 167, have held their meetings at this establishment for many years.

Full particulars and Tariff on application to
C. M. FROUD, Proprietor.

Brother C. G. SPARROW,

ACCOUNTANT AND AUDITOR,
17 FINSBURY PAVEMENT, E.C.
Accounts audited periodically at a moderate annual charge.
Terms on application.

PAUL & BURROWS,

MANUFACTURERS OF
SODA WATER AND SELTZER WATER,
LEMONADE AND GINGER BEER,
GINGER ALE AND POTASH WATER,
&c. &c.
FIRST CLASS QUALITY ONLY.
WILSON and ENDELL STREETS, LONG ACRE, LONDON, W.C.
ESTABLISHED EIGHTY YEARS.

BRO. R. HIRST engages to provide, at short notice, an efficient Band for Annual Banquets, Dinners, Excursions and Quadrille Parties. For terms apply to "R. Hirst, The Three Crowns, 237 Mile End Road, E."

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys,

WOOD GREEN, LONDON, N.

Patron:
HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN.

President:
HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G., M.W.G.M.

AT A QUARTERLY GENERAL COURT of the Governors and Subscribers, held at Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen-street, Lincoln's Inn Fields, London, on Monday, the 15th day of October 1883,

Col. J. CREATON, V. Pat. and Trustee (P.G.D. and P.G. Treas.), in the chair.

A ballot took place for 20 Boys, from an approved list of 64 Candidates, reduced to 62 by the withdrawal of

No. 43, Simmons, George John.
No. 46, Lyon, William Beresford.

the following being declared to be successful:—

No. on Poll	No. on List		Votes
1	35	Steed, Ernest Arthur	3237
2	2	Stanford, William Bryant	3107
3	56	Lane, Harry Richard	2881
4	13	Sykes, Richard Alfred	2879
5	6	Willett, George Cross	2858
6	1	Liversidge, Charles Percy	2837
7	17	Hennah, Frederick Wolfe	2695
8	19	Hooper, Lionel Charles	2683
9	3	Stewart, Charles Edward	2679
10	8	Wyatt, Augustine William	2619
11	36	Carré, Emile E. P.	2619
12	30	Bevis, Samuel Harman	2538
13	16	Hare, Harold Malcolm	2509
14	5	Skelton, Frederick Francis	2475
15	53	Herring, Frank Alexander	2458
16	29	Rose, Frederick Joseph	2457
17	4	Windross, John Benjamin	2450
18	60	White, Thomas William	2414
19	52	Cordingley, Walter E	2319
20	55	Gane, Harold R H	2285

Lists of Candidates (successful and unsuccessful), with full particulars of polling, &c., may be had on application at the Office. Votes of unsuccessful candidates will be carried to the credit of those qualified for election, in April next.

FREDERICK BINCKES (P.G. Std.),
Vice-Patron, Secretary.

OFFICES—6 Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen Street, W.C.
15th October 1883.

THE EIGHTY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY FESTIVAL

WILL BE HELD IN JUNE 1884.

H.R.H. THE DUKE OF ALBANY, K.G.

R.W. PROVINCIAL GRAND MASTER OF OXFORDSHIRE,

Has most kindly consented to preside.

The services of Brethren willing to act as Stewards are earnestly solicited and will be gratefully acknowledged.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL SPECIAL BUILDING FUND.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

In connection with such Special Fund, attainable until 31st December 1883.

Any present Life Governor of the General Fund, or any Donor who may qualify as such up to the date named above, will receive—

TWO VOTES,—instead of One Vote, for LIFE, FOR EVERY FIVE GUINEAS contributed to the "SPECIAL FUND."

Lodges, Chapters, &c., similarly qualified may secure Two Votes instead of One Vote—for every Ten Guineas contributed to the "SPECIAL FUND."

 Ladies, and "Lewises"—being minors—similarly qualified, and all Vice-Presidents, will receive FOUR Votes for every Five Guineas so contributed.

Contributors of less than Five Guineas, to the "SPECIAL FUND," will be entitled to Votes as under ordinary conditions.

Now Ready, Crown 8vo, 96 pp,

Price One Shilling,

Free by Post on receipt of 24 Halfpenny Stamps,

OCCASIONAL PAPERS
ON
THE HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.

Written expressly for delivery in Lodges of Instruction.

LONDON: W. W. MORGAN,
BELVIDERE WORKS, HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE, N.

Twelfth Edition, post free, One Shilling.

DR. WATTS on ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS. A Treatise on the only successful Method of Curing these Diseases. By ROBERT G. WATTS, M.D., F.R.S.L., F.C.S., &c., 5 Bulstrode-street, Cavendish-sq., London.
London: C. MITCHELL AND CO., Red Lion-court, Fleet-street; and Simpkin and Co., Stationers' Hall-court.

Digitized by Google

MARK MASONRY.

—:o:—

GRAND LODGE OF THE PROVINCE OF BERKS AND OXON.

THE members of this Provincial Grand Lodge, accepting the invitation given at Maidenhead last October, assembled on Tuesday, the 9th instant, at the Masonic Hall, Greyfriars-road, Reading, under the banner of the Leopold Lodge, No. 235, and transacted the annual business. The General Purposes Committee, presided over by the R.W. the Provincial Grand Master, the Earl of Jersey, met in the morning at the Great Western Hotel, and dealt with various matters requiring attention, and at two o'clock Provincial Grand Lodge was close tyled at the Masonic Hall, where the brethren had an opportunity of inspecting the newly-opened suite of ante-rooms. Although the Province has only been formed since 1879, and notwithstanding the fact of many brethren being prevented attending through the press of other engagements, nearly every seat in the Lodge was occupied, and Sir Francis Burdett, Bart., Provincial Grand Master of Middlesex and Surrey, designated the assemblage as one of the largest and most satisfactory he had ever witnessed in the Provinces in connection with Mark Masonry—a fact largely due to the popularity of the Provincial Grand Master and the unflagging energy of the Provincial Grand Secretary. Among those present were the Right Hon. the Earl of Jersey the M.W. Provincial Grand Master, Bro. C. Stephens the V.W. Deputy Prov. G. Master, Bros. Sir Francis Burdett, Bart., Provincial Grand Master of Middlesex and Surrey, John Walker Deputy Provincial Grand Master of Gloucestershire, Donald M. Dewar Assistant Grand Secretary, James Jenkins ex-Mayor of Oxford and P.G.S.W., Captain W. C. Golding P.P.G.J.W., Thomas J. Pulley Past Grand Senior Deacon and Prov. G. Secretary, F. W. Ansell P.P.S.O., Christopher Park P.P.G.J.W., F. Ryman Hall P.P.G.D.C., Walter Thompson P.P.G.S.O., Harry G. W. Drinkwater P.G.S., James Rutland P.G.O., Charles G. Butler P.G.I.G., R. Glasspool P.P.G.A.S., Maurice Wheeler P.G.S.B., W. Hickie P.G.Org., John Tomkins P.P.G.S.W., W. Ravenscroft P.G.J.W., A. Wheeler P.G.S.D., J. Fisher, Samuel Bradley P.G.M.O., Richard Eve P.G.W. Hants, George Boyer P.G.S.B., H. Creed, Edwd. L. Shepherd P.G.S.W., J. M. Dormer P.P.G. Assist. Secretary, E. Nichols P.G.S.D., W. Brett P.P.G.I.G., J. T. Stransom P.P.G.O., Edward Margrett P.G.S.D., George J. Cosburn P.P.G.S.B., W. T. Dupree, F. H. Cozens P.G. Org., W. G. Flanagan, F. Marsh, W. J. James, W. W. Ridley, W. Morris P.G.J.W., F. H. Marychurch, Robt. Rastrick P.P.G.M.O. Hants and Isle of Wight, John Dew P.P.G.I.W. Hants and Isle of Wight, J. H. Trollope, J. Harvey, R. Croisdale P.G.S.D. Hants and Isle of Wight, Sidney Payne, Rev. R. P. Bent P.G. Chaplain, W. Hinckley P.P.G.S., Thomas Benham P.P.G.S.D. Hants and Isle of Wight, J. W. Lindars P.G.A.S., W. B. Farr Mayor of Maidenhead P.P.S.W. Bengal, P.P.S.W. Berks and Oxon, Robert Nicholson P.P.G.St.B., F. R. Spender, H. Howard Hodges P.P.G.M.O., H. Smith, Edwin Hewitt, Richard Puttick, C. H. Tench P.G.S., J. Westfield, &c.

The business transacted was of the usual character, and the finance and other reports were adopted. Bro. E. Trendell (Abingdon), who was absent through domestic affliction, was again elected as Provincial Grand Treasurer, on the motion of Bro. Stephens, seconded by Bro. Jenkin. Bro. Pulley announced that letters of apology for non-attendance had been received from a large number of distinguished Mark Masons in different parts of the kingdom. The Provincial Grand Master invited the brethren to give in their names as Stewards for the Mark Benevolent Fund Festival, and Bro. Pulley consented to represent the Province on the occasion. The Prov. Grand Master spoke very highly of the services of the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, and re-appointed Bro. Stephens to that office. Bro. Stephens thanked Lord Jersey for the honour he had again conferred upon him, and assured the Provincial Grand Lodge of his unabated interest in Mark Masonry. The appointment of the rest of the Provincial Grand Lodge Officers for the ensuing twelve months was then proceeded with, Lord Jersey investing them with their insignia of office in the following order:—

Bros. F. W. Ansell 247	... ...	G. Senior Warden
W. G. Flanagan 235	... ...	G. Junior Warden
Captain Golding 55	... ...	G. Master Overseer
F. H. Lyon, M.D., 27	... ...	G. S. Overseer
R. Nicholson 257	... ...	G. J. Overseer
Rev. E. De Ewer 257	... ...	G. Chaplain
E. J. Trendell 225	... ...	G. Treasurer
Sir Benjamin V. S. Brodie, Bart., 55		G. Reg. of Marks
Thos. J. Pulley 235	... ...	G Secretary
J. W. Lindars 235	... ...	G. Assistant Secretary
C. W. Cox 257 ...	... ...	G. Senior Deacon
M H. C. Palmer 27	... ...	G. Junior Deacon
Captain J. H. Trollope 225	...	G. Supt. of Works
Dr. C. H. Tench 235	... ...	G. Dir. of Cers.
H. G. W. Drinkwater 247	...	G. Asst. Dir. of Cers.
G. H. Osmond 247	... ...	G. Sword Bearer
W. E. Beal 257 ...	... ...	G. Standard Bearer
F. R. Spendon 257	... ...	G. Organist
H. Creed 235 ...	... ...	G. Inner Guard
A. Thompson 235	... ...	G. Stewards
J. S. Fisher 247	... ...
W. T. Dupree 235	... ...
W. Hemmings 235	... ...	G. Tylers
G. Norwood	... ...

The Prov. Grand Master, accepting the invitation of the officers and brethren of the Alfred Lodge, announced that the Provincial Grand Lodge would meet next year at Oxford. This completed the business and the Provincial Grand Lodge was closed in due form. The banquet was served at the Great Western Hotel by Bro. W. G. Flanagan P.G.J.W., who was much complimented on the arrangements made for the comfort and entertainment of the company. In the course of the evening a number of interesting speeches were delivered in carrying out the list of toasts, the first honoured being, of course, that of the Queen and Mark Masonry. The M.W. G.M.M.M. (the Right Hon. Lord Henniker) and Past G.M.M. Masons was then proposed by the Prov. Grand Master, who bore his personal testimony to the great interest which Lord Henniker takes in Mark Masonry. The Prov. Grand Master next gave the health of the R.W. Deputy G.M.M.M. (the Right Hon. the Earl of Kintore) and Grand Officers Past and Present, coupling with the toast the names of Bros. Sir Francis Burdett and Donald M. Dewar, of whose services to Masonry his Lordship spoke in eulogistic terms. Sir Francis Burdett said it gave him pleasure to return thanks for the post. He had been connected with this degree a great number of years, longer, perhaps, than any Mason present; still he had seldom realised more pleasure than on this occasion, inasmuch as this was one of the largest Provincial gatherings of Mark Masons he had had the privilege of attending. Indeed, he had never seen a Provincial Grand Master more heartily or thoroughly supported than his friend Lord Jersey had been to-day. He had never seen the work performed more satisfactorily, and it would certainly have done credit to any Provincial Grand Lodge in England, and he felt sure that when any of the Provincial Grand Officers were called upon to officiate in Grand Lodge they would discharge their duties satisfactorily. Sir Francis then proposed the health of the Provincial Grand Master, and remarked that although Lord Jersey had been re-appointed for a term of three years only, they all entertained the hope that he would continue to reign over the Province for a great many years. The longer they knew Lord Jersey the more they liked him. There could be no doubt that under his genial and able presidency the Province would long continue to flourish. The Prov. Grand Master, in reply, said he highly valued the kind expressions of Sir Francis, and also the warm and hearty reception given to the toast. It gave him sincere pleasure to find himself supported by so many of the brethren, and he earnestly hoped the Provincial Grand Lodge would long continue to flourish. His Lordship concluded by proposing the health of the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, thanking him for the kind interest he had taken in the affairs of the Province, which he felt were perfectly safe in Bro. Stephens' hands. The Deputy Prov. Grand Master said he wished he could feel he was entitled to the kind words used and the good feeling manifested towards him. He was willing to render such service as he could, and should feel it to be his duty to visit the Lodges in the Province and see the work performed during the ensuing year. Bro. Stephens gave the health of the "Wardens, Treasurer, and other Officers of the Province, Present and Past," and Bro. Ansell responded. Bro. John Walker Deputy Prov. Grand Master for Gloucestershire, proposed the health of the W.M., Wardens, and Brethren of the Leopold Lodge, for whom Bro. Samuel Bradley W.M. returned thanks. Bro. Pulley, in the course of an able speech, proposed the Mark Benevolent Fund, remarking that he did so with very great pleasure, the subject of the toast being connected with his dearest thoughts of Masonry—charity. He thought he might say, without any egotism, that no member of the Mark Degree had taken more interest in the Mark Benevolent Fund than he had done. He had spared no effort to ensure its prosperity and promote its success whenever he had had the opportunity, not only by advocating its claims to their support, but also by ensuring, as far as possible, the thorough working of the benevolent objects which they had in view. He referred to the good work being carried on by means of this fund, and expressed his hope that the Province would continue to accord its liberal support, and that he would be in a position to present a very substantial amount at next year's Festival. Bro. Donald M. Dewar, in reply, said he took the greatest possible interest in the Mark Benevolent Fund, and they were fortunate in having such a splendid advocate and supporter of the fund as Bro. Pulley, who was not a man of mere words, but a man of action as regards every degree of Masonry to which he belonged. Bro. Pulley's name appeared in the lists of many stewards, and he was undoubtedly the right man to advocate the claims of the fund. Brother Dewar then gave a history of the fund, and the excellent objects carried out in connection therewith, and concluded by remarking that he felt extremely glad they would have the advantage of the able Stewardship of Bro. Pulley for the next Festival. The health of the visiting brethren was then proposed by Bro. Tomkins, and acknowledged by Bro. Eve in an eloquent speech, the speaker observing that the more the brethren made themselves acquainted with the Masonic Charities the greater would be the support given to them. The Prov. Grand Master then gave the health of the Host, remarking upon Bro. Flanagan's excellent catering. Bro. Flanagan having returned thanks, the Provincial Grand Master took his departure for home, being much cheered as he withdrew. A smoking concert followed, and proved a splendid success, the arrangements devolving upon Bro. W. Hickie P.P.G.O. An attractive programme was rendered with great taste by Madame Worrell, and Bros. Cozens, Ashton Nettleship and Tower, and the applause was hearty throughout. Bro. Pulley was warmly congratulated upon the unqualified success of the days' proceedings.—Berkshire Chronicle.

Digitized by Google

DIARY FOR THE WEEK.

We shall be obliged if the Secretaries of the various Lodges throughout the Kingdom will favour us with a list of their Days of Meetings, &c., as we have decided to insert only those that are verified by the Officers of the several Lodges.

—:o:—

SATURDAY, 20th OCTOBER.

196—Percy, Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N., 8. (Instruction)
1185—Lewis, King's Arms Hotel, Wood Green
1275—Star, Five Bells, 185 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
136 -Earl of Zetland, Old Town Hall, Mare-street, Hackney
136 -Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7. (Instruction)
162 -Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1641—Crichton, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1732—King's Cross, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-street, W. at 8.
R.A. 142—St. Thomas's, Cannon Street Hotel
R.A. 1572—Carnarvon, Albion, Aldersgate Street
R.A. 1706—Orpheus, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
M.M. 104—Macdonald, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham Street
M.M. 206—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow
M.M. 251—Tenterden, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.

811—Yarborough, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
1556—Addiscombe, Harewood House, High Street, Croydon.
1697—Citadel, Railway Hotel, Harrow
R.A. 119 -Royal Middlesex, Mitre Hotel, Hampton Court
R.A. 1235—Phœnix of St. John, Court Hotel, Buxton
M.M. 1 -Prince Edward's, Station Hotel, Stansfield, Todmorden

MONDAY, 22nd OCTOBER.

22—Loughborough, Cambria Tavern, Cambria Road, near Loughborough Junction, at 7.30. (Instruction)
78—Old King's Arms, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
4 -Strong Man, Excise Tavern, Old Broad Street, E.C., at 7 (Instruction)
17 -Sincerity, Railway Tavern, Railway Place, Fenchurch Street, at 7. (In)
18 -St. James's Union, Union Tavern, Air-street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
183—Unity, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall Street, E.C.
186—Industry, Bell, Carter-lane, Doctors-commons, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
548—Wellington, White Swan, High-street, Deptford, at 8 (Instruction)
902—Burgoyne, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
905—De Grey and Ripon, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
149 -Hyde Park, Fountain Abbey Hotel, Praed Street, Paddington, at 8 (In).
1488—Marquess of Ripon, Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-rd., Hackney, at 7.30 (In)
1 7—Metropolitan, The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C., at 7.30 (Inst.)
1606—Kilburn, Queen's Arms Hotel, Kilburn
1 8—Kilburn, 46 South Molton Street, Oxford Street, W., at 8. (Inst.)
1623—West Smithfield, Fa. ingdon Hotel, Fa. ingdon-street, E.C. at 8 (Inst.)
1625—Tredegar, Royal Hotel Mile End Road, corner of Burdett Road. (Inst).
1632—Stuart, Surrey Masonic Hall, Cambe. well
1693—K gsland, Cock Tave , Highbur , N., at 8.30 (Instruction)
1691—St. Ambrose, Bacon's Con. Hotel, West Kensington. (Instruction)
R.A. 25—Robert Burns, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 933—Domatic, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 7. (Instruction)
R.A. 1237—Enfield, Cor House, Enfield

48—Industry, 34 Denmark-street, Gat head
387—Royal Union, Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge. (Instruction)
734 -Derby, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
827—St. John, Masonic Temple, Hall -road, Dewsbury
999—Robert Burns, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
1 -Royal Military, Masonic Hall, Canterbury, at 8. (Instruction)
1477—Sir Watkin, Masonic Hall, Mold
189 -Hen chell, Masonic Rooms, Slough
R.A. 16 -Sincerity, St. George's Hall, East Stonehouse
R.A. 210 -Faith, Bowling Green Hotel, Denton.
R.A. 241—Friendship, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 302—Charity, New Masonic Hall, Darley-street, Bradford
R.A. 331—Loyal Columbian, Masonic Hall, Truro
R.A. 1229—Inkerman, Masonic Hall, Weston-super-Mare
M.M.—The Old York, Masonic Hall, Bradford

TUESDAY, 23rd OCTOBER.

Audit Committee Girls' School, at 4.
1 -Tuscan, Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, W.C.
55—Constitutional, Bedford Hotel, Southampton-bldgs., Holborn, at 7 (Inst)
65—Prosperity, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7. (Instruction)
92 -Moira, Albion, Aldersgate-street
141—Faith, 2 Westminster Chambers, Victoria-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
145—Prudent Brethren, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
177—Domatic, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30 (Instruction)
186—Industry, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
188—Joppa, Champion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, at 7.30. (Instruction)
205—Israel, Cannon-street Hotel, E.C.
55 -Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney (Instruction)
753—Prince Frederick William, Eagle Tavern, Clifton Road, Maida Hill, at 8 (Instruction)
82 -Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond, at 7.30 (Instruction)
860—Dalhousie, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston at, 8 (Instruction)
104 -Wandsworth, Star and Garter Hotel, St. Ann's-hill, Wandsworth (Inst).
1158—Southern Star, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark
1348—Ebury, Regent Masonic Hall, Air-street, W.
1349—Friars, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, at 7.30 (Instruction)
136 -Royal Arthur, Rock Tavern, Battersea Park Road, at 8. (Instruction)
1381—Kennington, The Horns, Kennington. (Instruction)
1 6—Mount Edgcumbe, 19 Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8 (Instruction)
1471—Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, at 7 (Instruction)
1472—Henley, Three Crowns, North Woolwich (Instruction)
1540—Chaucer, Old White Hart, Borough High Street, at 8. (Instruction)
1558—D Connaught, Palmerston Arms, Grosvenor Park, Camberwell, at 8 (In)
1602—Sir Hugh Middleton, Queen's Head, Essex Road, N., at 8 30 (In)
1695—New Finsbury Park, Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, at 8 (Inst)
1707—Pleiades, Trocadero, Broad-street-buildings, Liverpool-street, 6.30 (Inst)
1744—Royal Savoy, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1949—Brixton, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, East Brixton, at 8. (Instruction)
Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, 6.30
R.A. 7—Royal York of Perseverance, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 1269—St Alphege, Thicket Hotel, Anerley
R.A. 1339—Stockwell, Half Moon, Herne Hill.
M.M. 2—Keystone, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall Street

24—Newcastle-on-Tyne, Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-st., Newcastle, 7.30 (In)
241—Merchants, Masonic Hall, Liverpool (Instruction)
253—Tyrian, Masonic Hall, Gower-street, Derby
1018—Elkington, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
1069—Dramatic, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1675—Antient Briton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 47—Abbey, George Hotel, Nottingham
R.A. 94—De Lambton, Freemasons' Hall, Queen Street, Sunderland
R.A. 109 -Dearfort, Freemasons' Hall, Park Street, Bristol
R.A. 113—Unanimity, Bull Hotel, Church Street, Preston
R.A. 199—Peace and Harmony, Royal Oak Hotel, Dover
R.A. 823—Everton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
M.M. 168—Keystone, Old Ship Hotel, Brighton
M.M. 263—St. Martin, Masonic Hall, Canterbury
K.T. 116—Fidelity, Masonic Hall, Carlton-hill, Leeds

WEDNESDAY, 24th OCTOBER.

Lodge of Benevolence, Freemasons' Hall, W.C., at 6
15—Kent, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
30—United Mariners', The Lugard, Peckham, at 7.30. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Horse Shoe Inn, Newington Causeway, at 8. (Inst)
193—Confidence, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, at 7.30 (Instruction)
212—Euphrates, Masonic Hall, Masons' Avenue, Basinghall-street, E.C.
228—United Strength, Prince Alfred, 13 Crowndale-rd., Camden-town, 8 (In)
507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
538—La Tolerance, Moriand's Hotel, Dean Street, Oxford St. at 8 (Inst)
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7 (Instruction)
756 -High Cross, Seven Sisters' Tavern, Page Green, Tottenham
781—Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, E. (Instruction)
813—New Concord, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. (Instruction)
862—Whittington, Red Lion, Poppin's-court, Fleet-street, at 8 (Instruction
871—Royal Oak, White Swan, Deptford
1017—Montefiore, Regent Masonic Hall, Air Street, W.
1056 -Victoria, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
1278—Burdett Coutts, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel Road, E., at 8. (Inst.)
1288—Finsbury Park, Cock Tavern, Highbury, at 8 (Instruction)
1321—Emblematic, Goat and Star, Swallow Street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
1455—Prince Leopold, Moorgate Tavern, Moorgate Street, at 7 (Instruction)
1475—Peckham, Lord Wellington Hotel, 516 Old Kent-road, at 8. (Instruction)
153 -Duke of Connaught, Royal Edward, Mare-street, Hackney, at 8 (Inst)
1540—Chaucer, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark
1589—St. Dunstan's, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
1604 -Wanderers, Adam and Eve Tavern, Palmer St., Westminster, at 7.30 (In)
1662—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow, at 7.30 (Inst.)
1791—Creaton, Prince Albert Tavern, Portobello-ter., Notting-hill-gate (Inst.)
1820—Sir Thomas White, Holborn Viaduct Hotel
1922—Earl of Lathom, Station Hotel, Camberwell New Road, S.E., at 8. (In.)
R.A.—Camden, The Boston, Junction Road, Holloway, at 8.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 13—Union Waterloo, Masonic Hall, William Street, Woolwich
R.A. 177—Domatic, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-st., at 8 (Instruction)
M.M.—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, at 8 (Instruction)

37 -St. George, Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool
117—Salopian of Charity, Raven Hotel, Shrewsbury
220 -Harmony, Garston Hotel, Garston, Lancashire
72 -Derby, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
972—St. Augustine, Masonic Hall, Canterbury. (Instruction)
1039—St John, George Hotel, Lichfield
126 -Neptune, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7 (Instruction)
1392—Egerton, Stanley Arms Hotel, Stanley-street, Bury, Lancashire
1511—Alexandra, Hotel, Hull (Instruction)
1633—Avon, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
1638—Brownrigg, Sun Hotel, Kingston-on-Thames, at 8. (Instruction)
1723—St. George, Commercial Hotel, Town Hall-square, Bolton
1967—Beacon Court, Ghusnee Fort Hotel, New Brompton, Kent
R.A. 605—De Tabley, Queen's Hotel, Birkenhead
R.A. 1356—De Grey and Ripon, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
M.M.—Northumberland and Berwick, Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle
K.T. 10 -Prudence, Freemasons' Hall, Ipswich

THURSDAY, 25th OCTOBER.

General Committee, Girls' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
3—Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-street, Fitzroy-sq., at 8 (Instruction)
22—Neptune, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
27—Egyptian, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
34 -Mount Moriah, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
65—Prosperity, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
66—Grenadiers', Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
87—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth, at 8 (Instruction)
147—Justice, Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford, at 8. (Instruction)
235—Salisbury, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
704—Camden, Lincoln's Inn Restaurant, 305 High Holborn, at 7 (Instruction)
754—High Cross, Coach and Horses, Lower Tottenham, at 8 (Instruction)
858—South Middlesex, Bear ort House, North End, Fulham
881—Finsbury, London Tavern, Fenchurch-street
901—City of London, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, at 6.30. (Instruction)
902—Burgoyne, Cock Tavern, St. Martin's-court, Ludgate-hill, at 6.30 (Inst)
1158—Southern Star, Pheasant, Strangrte, Westminster-bridge, at 8 (Inst.)
1185—Lewis, Kings Arms Hotel, Wood Green, at 7 (Instruction)
1227—Upton, Swan, Bethna' Green-road, near Shoreditch, at 8 (Instruction)
1338—Stockwell, Cock Tavern, Kennington-road, at 7.30 (Instruction
1421—Lambhouse, Swan Hotel, Stratford
1436—The Great City, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
1614—Covent Garden, Constitution, Bedford-street, W.C., at 7.45 (Instruction)
1658—Skelmersdale, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
1673—Langton, Mansion House Station Restaurant, E.C. at 6, (Instruction)
1677—Crusaders, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 9 (Inst.)
1681—Londesborough, Berkeley Arms, John Street, May Fair, at 8. (Instruct).
1816—Victoria Park, Queen's Hotel, Victoria Park Road
1956—Southgate, Railway Hotel, New Southgate, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1974—St. Mary Abbotts, Town Hall, Kensington
R.A. 29—St. Albans, Albion, Aldersgate Street
R.A. 177—Domatic, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
R.A. 534—Polish National, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 753—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, at 8. (In.)
R.A. 766—William Preston, Cannon-street Hotel, E.C.
R.A. 1471—North London, Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Can at 8. (Instruction)
R.A. 1623—West Smithfield, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street

51—Angel, Three Cups, Colchester
78—Imperial George, Assheton Arms Hotel, Middleton, Lancashire
111—Restoration, Freemasons' Hall, Archer-street, Darlington
203—Ancient Union, Masonic Hall, Liverpool. (Instruction)
210 -Hope and Unity, White Hart Hotel, Brentwood, Essex
249—Mariners, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8 (Instruction)
285—Samaritan, Green Man Hotel, Bacup
3 -St. John, Bull's Head Inn, Bradshawgate, Bolton
595—Donaldson, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
785—Wellington, Public Rooms, Park-street, Deal
[illegible]—Cabbell, Masonic Hall, Theatre-street, Norwich
905—Phœnix, Ship Hotel, Rotherham
937—Harmony, Freemasons' Hall, Islington-square, Salford
966—St. Edward, Literary Institute, Leek, Stafford
1313—Fermor, Masonic Hall, Southport, Lancashire
1325—Stanley, 214 Gt. Homer Street, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
1459—Ashbury, Justice Birch Hotel, Fyde-road, West Gorton, nr Manchester
1505—Emulation, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1580—Cranbourne, Red Lion Hotel, Hatfield, Herts, at 8. (Instruction)
1626—Hotspur, Masonic Hall, Maple street, Newcastle
1892—Wallington, King's Arms Hotel, Carshalton. (Instruction)
R.A. 57—Humber, Freemasons' Hall, Hull
R.A. 129—Kendal Castle, 12 Stramongate, Kendal
R.A. 216—Sacred Delta, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 266—Naphtali, Masonic Hall, Market-place, Heywood
R.A. 279—Fortitude, Freemasons' Hall, Halford Street, Leicester
R.A. 394—Concord, Freemasons' Hall, Albion Terrace, Southampton
R.A. 424—De Burghi, 34 Denmark-street, Gateshead.
R.A. 431—Ogle, Masonic Hall, Norfolk-street, North Shields
R.A. 1037—Portland, Masonic Hall, Portland, Dorset
R.A. 1094—Prince of Wales, Private Rooms, Temple Hall, Tredegar
R.A. 1503—Francis Burdett, Albany Hotel, Twickenham
M.M. 34—St. Andrew, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper's-row, Manchester

FRIDAY, 26th OCTOBER.

Emulation Lodge of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
25—Robert Burns, The North Pole, 115 Oxford-street, W., at 8 (Instruc.)
60—Peace and Harmony, Freemasons' Tavern, W.C.
144—St. Luke, White Hart, King's-road, Chelsea, at 7.30. (Instruction)

Digitized by Google

507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30. (Instruct.)
569—Fitzroy, Head Quarters, Hon. Artillery Company, E.C.
766—William Preston, St. Andrew's Tavern, George St., Baker St., at 8 (In.)
780—Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge. (Instruction)
834—Ranelagh, Six Bells, Hammersmith (Instruction)
933—Doric, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1076—Metropolitan, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. at 7. (Instruction)
1158—Belgrave, Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
1298—Royal Standard, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, at 8. (In.)
1364—Clapton, White Hart, Lower Clapton, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1601—Ravensbourne, Board of Works Office, Catford Bridge, Lewisham
1642—E. Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
1789—Ubique, Guardsman Army Coffee Tavern, Buckingham Palace-road, S.W., at 7.30. (Instruction)
1901—Belgravia, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich. (Instruction)
R.A. 65—Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, Hercules Tav., Lowlenhall St.
R.A. 79—Pythagorean, Portland Hotel, London-street, Greenwich. (Inst.)
R.A. 749—Belgrave, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall Street
R.A. 1602—Sir Hugh Myddelton, Agricultural Hall, N.
M.M.—Old Kent, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, E.C. (Instruction)
M.M. 223—West Smithfield, Cathedral Hotel, St. Paul's Churchyard
K.T. 74—Harcourt, Greyhound Hotel, Richmond

463—Chigwell, Prince's Hall, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30 (Instruction)
810—Craven, Devonshire Hotel, Skipton
1303—Pelham, Freemasons' Hall, Lewes
1385—Gladsmuir, Red Lion, Barnet
1391—Commercial, Freemasons' Hall, Leicester
1393—Hamer, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1621—Castle, Crown Hotel, Bridgnorth
1713—St. John, Freemasons Hall, Grainger Street, Newcastle upon Tyne
1821—Atlingworth, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
General Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, at 7
R.A. 143—Magdalen, Guildhall, Doncaster
R.A. 471—Silurian, Freemasons' Hall, Dock Street, Newport, Monmouthshire
R.A. 680—Sefton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 1086—Walton, Skelmersdale Masonic Hall, Kirkdale, Liverpool
K.T. 125—Sussex, Southdown Hotel, Eastbourne
R.C. 20—Royal Kent, Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle

SATURDAY, 27th OCTOBER.

186—Percy, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., at 8 (Instruction)
1276—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1297—West Kent, Crystal Palace, Sydenham
1365—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7 (Instruction)
1541—Alexandra Palace, Imperial Hotel, Holborn Viaduct
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1706—Orpheus, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1871—Gostling-Murray, Town Hall, Hounslow
Royal Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-st., W., at 8
R.A. 1329—Sphinx, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.

1363—Burdett, Mitre Hotel, Hampton Court
1462—Wharncliffe, Rose and Crown Hotel Penistone
1777—Royal Hanover, Albany Hotel, Twickenham

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:o:—

LODGE OF CONFIDENCE, No. 193.

THE members of this popular Lodge met for the first time since the recess on Monday evening last, at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, when there was an unusually numerous attendance of brethren and visitors, under the presidency of Bro. James Smith, the genial Worshipful Master. Amongst those present we observed:—Bros. Walter Wood S.W., W. A. Cubitt J.W., J. Shackell P.M. Sec., W. Saint S.D., F. Silvester J.D., Geo. P. Nightingale I.G.; Past Masters F. Bonney, S. Webb, H. Webb, T. B. Biddle, G. F. S. Warne, B. D. Kershaw, Birch, H. Reed, and J. Brock; Bros. G. Master, J. G. Gildersleen, W. M. Covell, J. H. Clare, S. Smither, E. W. Pithian, C. H. Davis, W. A. Colyer, H. D. Alston, H. Freeman, W. G. Walker, J. H. Bayley, B. McMillan, J. J. Crake, S. Dickette, T. Wright, E. Carey, J. W. Garwood, H. Doubleday, W. Buckley, J. G. Desane, T. J. C. L. Boordman, W. Kedge, J. Williams, H. Norris, D. Macdonald, E. H. Walden, H. Meyer, J. Passingham, W. Hall, E. H. Walden, H. Meyer, J. Passingham, W. Hall, E. J. Davey, J. D. Collins, L. G. Reinhardt Tyler, &c. The visitors included Bros. Stephen Crane 933, W. Fieldsworth P.M. 1364, J. F. Haskins Org. 1364, J. Sleeman W.M. 15, J. Silvester 177, T. Staton 1287, C. A. Harvey P.M. 795, F. Mansfield 21, Joseph Cox 1766, H. J. Amphlett 1511, and others. The minutes of the last Lodge meeting having been read and confirmed, Lodge was advanced to meet an unusually formidable agenda of business, the first being to raise Bros. Edmund Cary, Thomas J. C. L. Boordman, and William Cave Hisirlidge Buckley to the sublime degree. The ceremony was worked in admirable manner by the W.M., assisted by his Officers, the recital of the solemn charges eliciting expressions of general appreciation from all present. Lodge having been resumed in the second, Bros. Thomas Wright, William McMillan, William George Walker, and William Alex. Colyer, were passed to the second degree, this rite being also executed in a manner that reflected much credit upon the working of the Lodge. Subsequently Mr. James William Garwood was initiated, on the proposal of Bro. J. H. Clare, seconded by Bro. W. M. Covell; and at the conclusion of a heavy lot of work, which occupied over four hours in transaction, the brethren and visitors sat down to a sumptuous banquet, provided in a style for which Bro. F. H. Clemow has long been proverbial. The customary loyal toasts having been disposed of, reference was made by the Worshipful Master to the zeal and ability with which the Grand Officers administered the affairs of the Craft, a sentiment that was cordially echoed by the whole company. Bro. S. Webb P.M., in the absence of the I.P.M. (Bro. J. E. Fells), said the task had devolved upon him of asking them to drink the health of their esteemed W.M. He congratulated Brother Smith upon the large attendance on the first night after the recess, and observed that it augured well for the remainder of his term of office. During the time he had occupied the chair he had discharged his duties uncommonly well, and the brethren were eminently satisfied with him. If he continued to do so to the end of his first year—though he (the speaker) was not going to hold out any hope to Brother Smith that he would be re-elected—the brethren would be exceedingly pleased with him, and it would tend very greatly to the prosperity of the Lodge. They had a right to say they were satisfied with their W.M.; and when he looked around, and saw the number of Officers who were coming along, he had no fear for the continued proficiency and success of the Lodge of Confidence. The W.M., in acknowledging the compliment paid him, thanked the brethren for attending in such goodly numbers after the recess, and for the support they had accorded to him during his year of office. Since he had occupied the chair he had experienced, to a greater extent than he had ever anticipated, the cordial support and assistance that had been given him by the Past Masters, and his Officers and brethren. Whether Freemasonry was getting better, sinking deeper into their minds, making them brighter men, and more honourable—or whether they were living out the grand and glorious principles of Masonic virtue—he knew not. He hoped it was so. At all events, he felt, as Master of this Lodge, that those principles were worth living for, and carrying out, and that if they practised those principles, the better men and better citizen they must become, the more honourable towards each other, and the more deeply impressed with the reality of Masonic charity and virtue. In taking that chair, with their approbation, he thoroughly appreciated the responsibilities of the position, and was deeply sensible of them now. Freemasonry was no farce; it was a solid principle, that was not like a passing shower; it must be for their life's practice, or it was of no use whatsoever. He was more than ever convinced that as they impressed upon the brethren the usefulness and great importance of the Order, the better men they would become. He thanked the Lodge for what they had done for him. He assured them that his heart had been rejoiced more than once since he had been Master of the Confidence Lodge. More especially when he went up as Steward for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, he felt the money he was enabled, by the liberality of the Lodge, to hand over towards relieving the sufferings of the aged and the infirm, he felt the value and the happiness of putting into practice the distinguishing characteristic of the Craft—Charity. After he had considered his list closed, he received a substantial sum towards that Institution, much to his surprise and pleasure, and he hoped such Charity might long continue to be evoked. The Institutions of the Craft were worthy of all support, and their Masonry was but of little avail unless they felt it touched their pockets as well as their stomachs. He concluded by expressing the hope that the G.A.O.T.U. might make the Craft a terror to evil doers, and a praise to all who thought and acted aright. The health of the Initiate was next most cordially received, Bro. Reid P.M. giving the A. E. song, and Bro. Garwood briefly acknowledged the reception given to his name. The Worshipful Master next proposed the Past Masters of the Lodge, whom he designated as beacons to guide the Master and his Officers on the road—as finger posts to direct the brethren in the right path, so that they might always walk straight. He looked upon the Past Masters as the backbone of the Institution and the pillars of the Temple of K.S. Bro. Birch P.M. suitably replied, in doing which he admitted that he had never heard the ceremonies more fairly—he might say reverentially—given than they had been that evening by their excellent W.M. In saying this he knew he should be upheld by all who were fortunate enough to have been present. It afforded the Past Masters great delight to know they had had in the past such apt pupils as Bro. Smith, and he trusted the same abilities would be displayed by others who should follow him in the chair. The Visitors were next cordially welcomed, and in response these brethren expressed the great pleasure it had afforded them to witness the excellent work done in the Lodge room, and to participate in the splendid hospitality provided for them by the brethren of the Lodge. Several other toasts, including the Officers, were honoured, the speeches throughout being interspersed by some excellent songs, Bro. Haskins kindly rendering admirable and efficient assistance as accompanyist on the pianoforte.

PERCY LODGE, No. 198.

THIS ancient and flourishing Lodge, the number of whose members is limited to thirty, met for the first time since the vacation on the 9th inst., under the presidency of Bro. Orchard W.M; Bros. G. Lambert P.M. P.G.S.B. Grand Lodge England S.W., Carr J.W., H. Lambert P.P.G.W. Herts Treasurer, Heath P.P.G.S.D. Herts Secretary, Rowell S.D., Leigh as J.D., Cox Organist, Read P.M. as Organist; Bro. Dr. G. Cowell I.P.M. P.M.'s Bros. Dr. Cross, Winter, J. J. Caney, and Rowe. Visitors—Bros. Macarthy 21, W. Roofe, H. Lowe 1364, H. C. Cross 176, C. Waters 1627, A. Rumsey 1627, W. Hatch 771, H. M. Levy P.M. 188. Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. Bro. G. Lambert proposed that a vote of thanks be recorded on the minutes to their respected Bro. Heath, who has been Secretary for 15 years. Bro. Heath had lately met with a severe accident, but he was present that evening. The brethren had to thank him for his catering for them at Gravesend. He (Bro. Lambert) trusted they might see him among them in renewed health for many years. Bro. Heath feelingly responded; he fully appreciated the remarks of Bro. Lambert, while the kind feeling of the brethren would never be effaced from his memory. He had been Secretary for fifteen years, and hoped to be spared to be with them for fifteen years more. After the Loyal toasts, Brother Cox, Organist, sang the National Anthem and "God Bless the Prince of Wales." In speaking of the Grand Officers, the W.M. said they had the honour of having a Grand Officer belonging to their Lodge—Bro. George Lambert. The post of a Grand Officer is no sinecure, but their worthy brother, it was well recognised, was equal to all that was demanded of him. Bro. Lambert P.G. Sword Bearer eloquently responded to the toast. He referred to the various matters that will be brought forward at the next Grand Lodge meeting; these he hoped would be for the future benefit of the Craft. Brother Cowell I.P.M. now took the gavel. This was the first meeting since April; all were pleased to see their W.M. present, and they trusted he had so far recouped his health that he might be among them for many years yet to come. The W.M. in reply thanked Brother Cowell for his kind expressions, and the manner in which the toast had been received. If there was any work before the Lodge, it would be done, he was sure, to their satisfaction. The toast of the Past Masters was the next on the list, and then the health of the Visitors was proposed by Bro. Lambert P.M., and Bros. Walters and Macarthy responded. Several other toasts followed, and suitable responses were made. The proceedings throughout were of a most agreeable character.

Digitized by Google

BELGRAVE LODGE, No. 749.

THE annual election meeting of this Lodge was held on the 10th instant, at Anderton's Hotel, when the Worshipful Master (Bro. W. C. Hall) was surrounded by a very large gathering of the brethren, whilst the Visitors' list was of gratifying length. Lodge having been opened in due form, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed, after which a rather heavy agenda, including three raisings, and one passing, was got through. The working of the ceremonies was admirable throughout, and reflected the highest credit upon the Worshipful Master and his staff of Officers. Subsequently the election of Worshipful Master for the ensuing year was proceeded with, and the choice of the brethren fell unanimously upon Bro. Augustus Leech, who had discharged the duties of the Senior Warden's chair to the utmost satisfaction of the Lodge. Bro. Leech was warmly congratulated on his election, and suitably acknowledged the honour that had been conferred upon him. Bro. J. Painter P.M. was unanimously re-elected Treasurer, with thanks for his past services, and Bro. Joseph J. Marsh was re-appointed Tyler. Some other business was transacted, after which the brethren and Visitors partook of a banquet served in Bro. Clemow's best style, and the ordinary Loyal and Masonic toasts were discussed. Special reference was made to the ability and zeal displayed by Bro. Hall during his year of office, and the satisfactory manner in which he had at all times acquitted himself both in Lodge and at the banquet table. Bro. Leech was felicitated upon his election by so unanimous a vote of the brethren, who wished for him a happy and prosperous year on his accession to office. Several complimentary toasts followed, and amidst an abundance of excellent vocal and instrumental music a thoroughly agreeable and harmonious evening was enjoyed.

EBORACUM LODGE, No. 1611.

THE annual meeting of this Lodge, for the election of Master, was held on Monday evening. The Lodge room was crowded, amongst those present being Bros. M. Millington W.M., G. Simpson I.P.M., P.M.'s T. B. Whytehead, J. S. Cumberland, C. G. Padel, J. T. Seller, G. Balmford Treasurer, W. P. Moat (Auckland, New Zealand), Rev. W. C. Lukis 837, J. Benkin S.W., A. T. B. Turner J.W., and many other members and visiting brethren from the York and Agricola Lodges. The first business after a successful ballot for a candidate was the raising of Bro. Wigglesworth to the degree of a Master Mason, which was performed by the Worshipful Master, the traditional history being given by Bro. T. B. Whytehead. The report of the Auditors was brought up and adopted, the Worshipful Master congratulating the Lodge upon its excellent financial position. The report of the Hall Proprietary Fund was also brought up, and was considered satisfactory. The election of Master then took place, and the unanimous vote of the Lodge fell upon Bro. J. Blenkin S.W. Bro. G. Balmford P.M. was unanimously re-elected Treasurer, and Brother P. Pearson Tyler. On the motion of Brother Whytehead, seconded by the W.M., Brother the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, Past Grand Chaplain, and editor of the Freemason, was elected an honorary member of the Lodge. A congratulatory telegram was ordered to be sent to the Minerva Lodge, No. 250, Hull, which was that night celebrating its centenary of existence. After the close of the Lodge the brethren sat down to an excellent supper, the health of the newly-elected W.M. was drunk with enthusiasm, as also that of the outgoing Master, who had during his year of office acted most generously and done credit both to the Lodge and himself.

United Mariners' Lodge, No. 30.—On Tuesday night the members of this old and popular Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons assembled for the first time after the summer recess, at the Guildhall Tavern, under the presidency of Brother Joshua Shipley W.M., who was well supported by his Officers and brethren. The only business before the Lodge was to ballot for Mr. Alfred Lane, who had been proposed by Bro. Howard, and seconded by Brother Hiram Cosedge P.M. The voting was unanimously in favour, and the candidate will be initiated at the next meeting.

Strong Man Lodge, No. 45.—The regular meeting of the season was held on the 4th inst., at the Mason's-avenue Tavern, Basinghall-street, under the presidency of Bro. W. A. Humphries I.P.M., the W.M., Bro. H. G. Ball, being absent in Canada. Bros. J. Smith S.W., H. T. Nell J.W., H. Follett P.M. Treas., Heall Sec. Fountain S.D., Hunt I.G., H. P. Thomas A.S.; P.M.'s Driver and Symonds. Visitors—Bros. H. J. Dean 1260, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188. After preliminaries, Bro. John Phillips was raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason. Hymns were sung throughout, and the Kyrie Eleison used is taken from Mendelssohn's oratorio Elijah. A letter was read from the W.M., stating that he had visited the Rehoboam Lodge in Canada, where, after a careful examination, he was admitted, and had the honour of being present with the Prov. Grand Master and the Deputy Prov. Grand Master; there were 250 brethren present. He was enthusiastically received, and in the name of his Lodge thanked the Rehoboam Lodge for the cordial reception he had met with. The report of the committee respecting the revision of the bye-laws was received. It was proposed, seconded, and carried that a gold centenary jewel be presented to the I.P.M., Bro. W. A. Humphries, for his exertions and kindness on behalf of the Lodge. Notice of motion was given by Bro. G. G. Symonds P.M., seconded by Bro. Smith S.W., "That no banquet take place unless the requisite funds are in the hands of the Treasurer." Several matters were then discussed, and the Lodge was closed.

Royal Gloucester Lodge, No. 130.—On Thursday evening, 11th inst., the R.W. Provincial Grand Master of Hampshire and the Isle of Wight (W. W. B. Beach, M.P.), and the Deputy Provincial Grand Master (Bro. W. Hickman), with the Grand Lodge Officers, paid a visit to the Royal Gloucester Lodge, No. 130, on the invitation of the W.M. Bro. J. Robertson. There was a large attendance of Grand Lodge Officers, Past Officers, and other Brethren, including the W.M.'s and Wardens of the Lodges Economy and William of Wykeham (Winchester), all of whom received a very cordial greeting. At the banquet which was subsequently held the P.G.M., in responding to the toast of his health, referred to several propositions which have been submitted to the Lodges in regard to matters affecting the Province, and pointed out that certain of them were diametrically opposed to each other, while the most important, emanating from Portsmouth, and suggesting the division of the Province, could not be carried out, even were it desirable, under the Book of Constitutions. Bros. Frost and Rastrick (Portsmouth), both Grand Lodge Officers, repudiated the idea that the movement for the division of the Province had any general support among the brethren forming the Lodges in that important town.

Faith Lodge of Instruction, No. 141.—The weekly meeting was held on Tuesday, the 16th instant, when the brethren attended in unusual strength, at their new quarters, the Queen Anne's Restaurant, Queen Anne's Gate, St. James's Park Station. Lodge was opened by the W.M. Bro. H. Cox W.M. 144, assisted by Bros. T. D. Dutton W.M. Elliott Lodge S.W., Swaine J.W., Macefield S.D., Christmas J.D., R. J. Taylor P.M. 144 I.G., Cottebrune P.G.P. Preceptor. There were also present Bros. Bassington P.M. Treasurer, Cross P.M. 1194 Secretary, Baker P.M., Gardner W.M. Granite, Flattely P.M. 1624, C. Tayler W.M. elect 1624, Cobham P.M., Vincent P.M., Skinner W.M. 838, and many other brethren. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed, and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed by the W.M., Bro. C. Tayler candidate. Bro. Powell then took the chair of W.M. and rehearsed the ceremony of installation. Bro. T. Dutton was placed in the chair of K.S. After the return of those below the rank of Installed Master, the brethren saluted. Lodge was resumed to the first degree. Bro. C. Tayler then invested the Officers. Bro. Powell W.M. 1624 and Bro. Bottle S.D. 1624 were unanimously elected members of the Lodge. A vote of thanks was recorded on the minutes to Bro. Powell for the able manner in which he had performed the ceremony of installation. All Masonic business being ended, Lodge was closed in perfect harmony, after one of the most successful meetings the Lodge has ever had.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—At the meeting held on Saturday last, at the Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N. Present—Bros. Jenkin W.M., Powell S.W., Gildersleu J.W., Galer Secretary, Robinson S.D., Parkes J.D., Weeden I.G.; R. Pearcy (Preceptor), Fenner, Gush, Pilley, Ockelford, Langdale, Morgan, &c. Business:—Lodge was opened, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Brother Fenner offered himself as a candidate for the second degree, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed. Brother Fenner worked the second, and Brother Gush the third sections of the second lecture, assisted by the brethren. Brother Fenner then worked the fourth, Brother Powell answering the questions of this section in a most eloquent style. In the fifth section, which followed, the questions were answered by the brethren. Lodge was closed in the second degree, and then Brother Robinson answered the questions of the second section of the first lecture. Bro. Powell was appointed Worshipful Master for Saturday, the 20th inst., and after a vote of thanks had been passed to Brother Jenkin, Lodge was closed.

United Strength Lodge, No. 228.—The members of this old and substantial Lodge assembled for the first time after the recess on Tuesday evening, at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, when there was a numerous attendance of brethren and visitors. Lodge was opened in accordance with ancient rites, under the presidency of Bro. H. W. Alford W.M., who was well supported by his Officers, a large number of the brethren, with a sprinkling of visitors. After the transaction of the usual formal business, it was announced that the only work named on the agenda paper was the raising of Bro. Lobb (a member of the London School Board) to the third degree; but a letter had been received from that brother to the effect that, having suffered a severe domestic bereavement, he found it impossible to attend. Mrs. Lobb died on Thursday last week, and was interred on Monday in Abney Park Cemetery, in the presence of a large number of friends, who attended to pay the last tribute of respect to the deceased. The brethren joined in united expressions of sympathy with Bro. Lobb in his sad bereavement, and it was resolved that a letter of condolence should be sent. There being no business to claim the attention of the brethren they adjourned at an early hour to the banqueting room, where an admirable repast awaited them, when the customary Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured. In consequence, however, of the circumstance alluded to, the after proceedings were of a somewhat subdued and quiet description.

Hyde Park Lodge of Instruction, No 1425.—There was a crowded gathering of the brethren on Monday night, at the

Digitized by Google

Fountains Abbey Hotel, Praed-street, Paddington, to listen to the rehearsal of the ceremonies of consecration and installation. Lodge having been opened in the three degrees by the Preceptor, Bro. G. Read P.M. 511, Bro. J. Terry P.P.G.J.W. Herts and Secretary of the R.M.B.I. was invited to the chair to perform the ceremonies referred to above. He was most ably supported by Bro. J. Stevens P.M. as S.W., and the following brethren, holding offices as indicated. Bros. F. T. C. Keeble P.M. 1426 J.W., R. E. Cursons S.D., A. Harding J.D., C. R. Wickens I.G., H. Dehane W.M. 1543 P.P.G.S.D. Essex Sec., C. S. Mote and W. Death Stewards, G. Davis P.M. 176 M.C. and M. S. Rubinstein Organist. In addition to the foregoing brethren were also present Bros. Capt. A. Nichols P.D.S. West Punjab, G. Hesse 167, M. S. Spiegel P.M. 188, W. A. Cubitt J.W. 193, J. Peile 198, G. J. Earney 511, W. Fieldson L.P.M. 548, J. Evens W.M. and J. T. Westley 753, T. Artand 1305, W. J. Mason 1328, W. H. Chalfont W.M. 1425, W. Newton 1541, W. Rowe 1543, H. Davey 1608, W. Honeyball W.M. elect 1681, E. Stevens 1826, G. P. Festa L.P.M. 1900, and about fifty others, most of whom belonged to the Hyde Park Lodge of Instruction. Nine new members were made in due course, thus strengthening this already strong and popular Lodge. We need not describe the ceremony of consecration; most Masons are familiar with it, and those who are not cannot do better than be present at the next opportunity that presents itself, especially if Bro. Terry presides. He is facile princeps in all that relates to the ceremonial of the Fraternity, and the way in which he consecrated the Lodge and rehearsed the ritual of installation on Monday night was calculated to increase his reputation. The charms of Bro. Terry's working consist in earnestness, clearness of utterance, and directness of purpose. While he observes all the technical points of the ceremonies, he never fails to go beneath the shell and lay bare the kernel—the spiritual basis of the Craft. He was particularly impressive on the occasion we are describing, and those who think lightly, or do not think at all, of the religious character of the Order had better make the acquaintance of Bro. Terry's working. They would learn much of the real essence of Freemasonry, and could not fail to have a higher estimate of its functions and a nobler conception of the G.A.O.T.U. We were sorry that a portion of the installation ceremony was omitted, owing to want of time, and in deference to the wishes of the majority of the brethren. Past Masters require to have the rust rubbed off now and then, and no one is more fitted to give the polishing touch than Bro. Terry. We should have liked to witness the conferring of the "Master's degree"—if we may be permitted to use the term—at the hands of Bro. Terry, but under the circumstances the omission was perhaps wisely made. Music, as is well known, forms a conspicuous part in the ceremony of consecration, and this division of labour was ably sustained by Bro. Rubinstein. The whole proceedings were conducted with due solemnity, and were listened to with rapt attention and joined in with reverence and heartiness. Before the Lodge was closed, Bro. J. Stevens S.W. said it was seldom that the brethren heard the ceremony of installation given in any manner, and still more rare to hear it given in such a way as it had been rendered that night. Bro. Terry was an old acquaintance of his, an honour he, and all who knew him, prized. The ceremonies they had listened to had been very carefully rehearsed, and he (Bro. Stevens) thought they ought not to separate without conveying to Bro. Terry an expression of their esteem for him, and the high estimation in which he is held by the Craft—not in mere words only, but from the heart. Bro. Terry filled an important post, the duties of which were well discharged. There were many claims upon his time, yet he was always willing to go among the brethren to instruct and please them. Bro. Stevens moved that a hearty vote of thanks be given to Bro. Terry, and that it be entered on the minutes of the Lodge. This was seconded by Bro. Read, and carried unanimously. Bro. Terry, in reply, expressed his gratification at the remarks of his old friend, Bro. Stevens. He was only carrying out one of the obligations he had undertaken—to communicate instruction. It was true he was engaged in heavy work; he had been particularly busy that day, owing to the election for the Boys' School, but he always endeavoured to find time to keep engagements with the brethren of the Craft outside the claims of his immediate duties. The highest reward to him was to know that his services were appreciated, and in thanking the Lodge for their vote, he said he should be happy to visit them again, should they desire his help and he could make it convenient to attend. The remarks of both Bro. Stevens and Bro. Terry were received with much approbation by the brethren present. It was announced that Bro. Stevens would be present on the 3rd December next, and give an explanation of the second degree. The same brother will explain the first degree at the Eccleston Lodge of Instruction, Ebury Bridge, on Saturday evening, 3rd November.

Kingsland Lodge of Instruction, No. 1693.—On Monday, 15th instant, at Bro. Baker's, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N. Bros. Brock W.M., Jordan S.W., Clark J.W., Collingridge Secretary, Dixie S.D., Crosbie J.D., Trewinnard P.M. Preceptor, Rhodes I.G., and other brethren. Lodge was opened in due form in the first and second degrees, when the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Weeden acting as candidate. The ceremony of the third degree was also rehearsed, Bro. Hall P.M. acting as candidate. Brother Hall will rehearse the ceremony of installation on Monday, 22nd October, at 8·30.

THE LATE SOCIAL SCIENCE CONGRESS.

IN the Health Department Bro. George Smith, of Coalville, read two papers. One paper relating to the sad condition of the canal children, and the steps he proposes for bringing about a free education; and also to secure, without inconvenience and with but little cost, the better sanitary condition of their floating homes, for which power is taken in a Bill he has had before Parliament during the last four sessions to amend the Canal Boats Act of 1877.

Upon one of the clauses of the Bill, to which some objection has been taken, Bro. Smith said: Sub-section 2 of section 3 says, "a child or young person under the age of 16 years shall not be employed for hire or profit in or for purposes of a canal boat on Sunday;" what is the object of that Sub-section 2 of Clause 3 of the Bill? I may say that the principal objects of this section are threefold; First, the gradual lessening of Sunday traffic without the boatmen and boat owners experiencing any loss or inconvenience thereby. Second, to enable those boatmen who, with large families, in order to conform to the requirements of the Act, and the regulations of the Local Government Board, divide their families and work a pair of boats, putting the girls to sleep in one cabin and the boys in another, cannot afford to have a home on land immediately the Act comes into operation, but whose children are required to make the number of attendances at day schools per quarter. To put it in another way, the children living in a canal boat will be required to make 200 attendances in a day school in the year, or 50 attendances per quarter, to enable them to pass the Third Standard before they can work, which would not be a great hardship, as the boats, vans, shows, and like places are stationary, on an average, fully one-third of the year. To prevent the infliction of what at first sight may appear hardship on the boating parents—to compel them to tie up their boats on week days till the boat children have made their attendances—I propose, as you will see in my remarks, that the children should be allowed to make 50 out of 200 attendances required in a Sunday School; and, thirdly, the gradual lessening of child slavery; which the canal children have to endure, in toiling and trudging on and after the canal boats, from fourteen to sixteen hours daily, winter and summer, from the year's beginning to the year's end while their fathers are generally, to say the least of it, taking matters quietly. Most of the work in connection with boating, when the women and children live in the cabins, devolves upon those least able to bear it. It has been said more than once that the restrictions which I propose would be interfering too much with traffic and individual liberty, and consequently lessening of canal trade would be the result. This I deny in toto, again and again, that is, if we put in contrast the restrictions our factory laws, mining laws, &c., exact from the parent property owner and manufacturers, and the results that have been achieved by factory legislation and the spread of sanitary laws. The passing of the Bill in its present form will admit of the boat children of nine years old (who pass the second, third, or such standard as the Education Department may think well to fix), working all the hours in the week, without cessation of toil from Monday morning to Sunday morning round and round again. Surely, then, it is only just, fair, and honest, to give the poor canal and van children of tender years a few hours rest out of 168 in the week. Even when this easy and simple bill has passed, a boatman can compel a boat child of ten years to work 144 hours in the week, while straw-plait manufacturers, silk weavers, tile-makers, and others, of any class, grade, and employment, light and heavy, can only compel a child of thirteen years, or a young person, to work 56 hours per week out of 168. Bro. Smith explained how the annual registration of the boats, for a fee of 5s, is to be brought about, without any inconvenience to either boatmen or boatowners. Without the annual registration of the boats Bro. Smith stated that the Act of 1877 would continue to be a failure in its main features, as would any other Act dealing with the education and welfare of the canal and gipsy children, who live in moving and temporary homes.

In the other paper read by Bro. George Smith, of Coalville, relating to the condition of our gipsies and their children, Bro. Smith stated that there are among us at the present time nearly 50,000 men, women, and children, living in tents, vans, shows, carts and wigwams, tramping the country as gipsies and vagabonds of the deepest dye, attending fairs, feasts and fêtes, 30,000 of whom will be children of school age, not five per cent. of whom can read and write a sentence, and who—with some bright exceptions—are a disgrace to civilisation, and an encouragement to those who predict the downfall of Christianity, and the spreading of the darkest heathenism upon its ruins. Bro. Smith referred to some of the leading features of the present day gipsyism, which are at work among the lower grades of society, working out peril, mischief, poverty, and degradation to themselves, and the darkest, direful evils for the country's welfare, the sad consequence of which it is impossible to estimate or form any idea of. Bro. Smith stated that 75 per cent. of the gipsies living together as man and wife are not lawfully married, and that during his visits for many years to the gipsies and other travelling vagabonds in various parts of the country, he has come upon men, women and children of all ages and sizes, huddling together upon rotten straw and bags, full of vermin and filth, that would cause the heart of the nation to ache and bleed rivers of sympathy and help, if Englishmen did but know the depths to which our present-day gipsies have sunk. Bro. Smith also said that he had recently seen 17 families of gipsies pigging together, numbering close upon 100 human beings, in ten wigwams, not three out of the number could tell a letter. He also gave instances how small-pox has been and is carried about the country by means of gipsy vans, tents, and wigwams. Only a few days ago Bro. Smith said small-pox was carried to Ashton by a gipsy van, and more than twenty persons were ill of this dreadful disease at that time at Ashton. Brother Smith proposes to bring about an improvement in the condition of the gipsies and other children by extending the provisions of the Canal Boats Act of 1877, and his Amending Bill.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Hale Constitutions.—When the human frame has become debilitated from the effects of exposure, excesses, or neglect, these Pills will work wonders. If they be taken according to the lucid directions wrapped round each box, Holloway's Pills exert the most exemplary tonic qualities in all those cases of nervous depression in which the vital powers have become so weakened that the circulation has been rendered languid and unsteady. They improve the appetite, strengthen the digestion, regulate the liver, and act as gentle aperients. The Pills are suited to all ages and habits. A patient writes:—"Your Pills, to be valued, require only to be known. During many years I sought a remedy in vain, was daily becoming weaker, when your Pills soon restored me."

Digitized by Google

Price 3s 6d, Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

FIRST SERIES.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

1 OUR LITERARY BROTHER.
2 A DISTINGUISHED MASON.
3 THE MAN OF ENERGY.
4 FATHER TIME.
5 A CORNER STONE.
6 THE CRAFTSMAN.
7 THE GOWNSMAN.
8 AN EASTERN STAR.
9 THE KNIGHT ERRANT.
10 THE OCTOGENARIAN.
11 A ZEALOUS OFFICER.
12 THE SOLDIER.
13 FROM UNDER THE CROWN.
14 OUR HERCULES.
15 A MERCHANT PRINCE.
16 THE CHURCHMAN.
17 THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER.
18 THE MYSTIC.
19 A MODEL MASON.
20 A CHIP FROM JOPPA.
21 A PILLAR OF MASONRY.
22 BAYARD.
23 A RIGHT HAND MAN.
24 OUR CITIZEN BROTHER.
25 AN ABLE PRECEPTOR.
26 AN ANCIENT BRITON.
27 THE ARTIST.
28 THE FATHER OF THE LODGE.
29 A SHINING LIGHT.
30 AN ART STUDENT.
31 THE MARINER
32 SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.
33. "OLD MUG."

Second Series, Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 3s 6d, post free.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

SKETCHES

OF

DISTINGUISHED FREEMASONS.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

BY G. BLIZARD ABBOTT, OF LODGE No. 1385,

ASSOCIATE OF KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

NESTOR
(Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, 33 deg., Past G.S.B., Past Dep. P.G.M. Hants, Assistant Secretary Sup. Council A. and A. Rite.)

THE STATESMAN
(The Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, 33 deg., Pro Grand Master, Pro Grand Z., Past G.M.M.M., and Past M.P.S.G. Commander A. and A. Rite.

THE TREASURER
(Bro. F. Adlard, P.M. and Treasurer Royal York Lodge of Perseverance, No. 7).

THE DEPUTY
(The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, 33 deg., Deputy G. Master, Grand H., G.M.M.M., Great Prior of the Temple, and M.P. Sov. G. Commander A. and A. Rite.)

A PROVINCIAL MAGNATE
(Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Hants and Isle of Wight, Past G.M.M.M. and Prov. G. Prior of the Temple, for Hants).

TIME-HONOURED LANCASTER
(Bro. J. Lancaster Hine, P. Prov. G.S. Warden East Lancashire).

THE SCHOLAR
(Bro. John Newton, F.R.A.S., P.M., P.Z., Author of Works on Navigation).

OUR NOBLE CRITIC
(The Right Hon. Lord Leigh, 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Warwickshire, Past G.M.M.M.)

OUR PERIPATETIC BROTHER
(Bro. C. Fitz Gerald Matier, 30 deg., G. Steward Scotland, and Past G.S. Warden Greece).

A BOLTON LUMINARY
(Bro. G. Parker Brockbank, 31 deg., Past Prov. G.S.D., and P. Prov. G. Treas. [Arch] E. Lancashire.

A WARDEN OF THE FENS
(The late Bro. John Sutcliffe, Past Prov. G.S. Warden, and Prov. G.M.M.M. Lincolnshire).

A WARDEN OF MARK
(The Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, 33 deg., Past G.S. Warden, and Dep. G.M.M.M).

A MASTER OF CEREMONIAL
(Bro. Thos. Entwisle, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. of Works E. Lan.)

OUR COSMOPOLITAN BROTHER
(Bro. Samuel Rawson, 33 deg., Past Dist. G.M. and G. Sup. China).

A GREAT ARITHMETICIAN
(Bro. R. B. Webster, Member of the Finance and Audit Committees of the R.M. Girls' and Boys' Schools).

AN INSTALLING MASTER
(Bro. W. Biggs, Past Prov. G.S.W. Wilts, and Past Prov. G. Sec. Berks and Bucks).

A VETERAN
(Bro. W. Kelly, Past Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Leicestershire and Rutland, Prov. G.M.M.M. Leicestershire).

A GRAND STEWARD
(Bro. John Wordsworth, 30 deg., Past G. Steward, Past Prov. G.J.W. W. Yorkshire, and Prov. G.M.M.M. W. Yorkshire).

VIR Veritas
(Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M and Past Prov. Grand, Soj. [Arch] Herts).

ACHILLES
(Bro. E. J. Morris, Past G.J.D., and Past Dep. Prov. G.M. of Eastern Division of South Wales).

A DEVON CRAFTSMAN
(Bro. J. E. Curtois, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. Warden Devon).

SIR RHADAMANTH
(Bro. J. M. Pulteney Montagu, J.P. D.L., 33 deg., G. J. Deacon, Past Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, and G. Chancellor Supreme Council A. and A. Rite).

HIPPOCRATES
(Bro. J. Pearson Bell, M.D., Past G. Deacon, Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. N. and E. Yorkshire).

A CESTRIAN CHIEF
(The Right Hon Lord de Tabley, Past G.S.W., Prov. G.M. Cheshire, Grand J., and Prov. G Sup. Cheshire).

A HARBINGER OF PEACE
(Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., Past Prov. G.J.D. Herts).

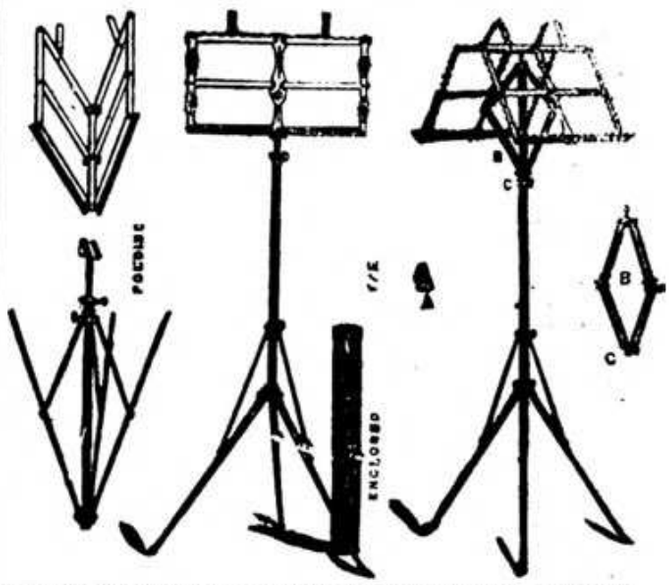
THE LORD OF UNDERLEY
(The Earl of Bective, M.P., Prov. G.M., Prov. G. Sup., and Prov. G.M.M.M. Cumberland and Westmoreland, and Past G. Sov. of the Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine).

A BOON COMPANION
(Bro. E. C. Woodward, P.M. 382, 1637, &c.)

A GRAND SUPERINTENDENT
(Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Berks and Bucks).

ÆSCULAPIUS
(Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., 32 deg., Past G.S.B., Craft, and Past G.St.B., Arch, Intendant General Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine for North Lancashire).

London: W. W. MORGAN.



By Order of all Booksellers, or will be sent direct, by post, from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N

THE AMERICAN

PORTABLE MUSIC STANDS.

J. F. WALTERS' PATENT.

Iron, from 10/6 each. Brass, from 30/- each.

THESE Stands are unsurpassed in simplicity, strength, portability cheapness, and elegance of finish. They are suitable for Military Bands Orchestras, Reading and News Rooms, Libraries, Studies, and Drawing Rooms. When opened to their full capacity they stand 5 feet high, and can be folded and enclosed in a case 21 inches long by 2 inches diameter. The weight is about 3 lbs. 13 oz., and they will support a weight of 50 lbs.

To be obtained of all Music Dealers, and of the Manufacturers and Proprietors of the Patent,

HARROW & CO.

MUSIC SMITHS, BRASS WORKERS, &c.

13 and 14 Portland Street, Soho, London, W.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

Free by Post, Price One Shilling.

THE

REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS;

CRITICALLY CONSIDERED,

AND

COMPARED WITH THE OLD EDITION.

—:o:—

A SERIES OF ARTICLES,

REPRINTED FROM THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE

—:o:—

LONDON:

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE;
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL & Co., 4 STATIONERS' HALL COURT;
AND OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

"All Freemasons interested in the Revision of the above, should read this work."

Crown 8vo, price 2s 6d, cloth lettered.

Uniformity of Masonic Ritual and Observance.

By Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M., P.Z., &c.

"May be read with advantage by the whole Craft."—Sunday Times.

"Grand Lodge should at once set to work to secure the desired uniformity."—Sheffield Post.

"The subject is ably argued by the author."—Western Daily Mercury.

"Useful and valuable in the highest degree."—Exeter Gazette.

"Will have a material effect on the future of Masonic Ritual."—South Western Star.

"The author adduces many variations in the language used by different Preceptors."—Cox's Monthly Legal Circular.

"Ought to be in the hands of every Mason."—Northampton Guardian.

"To Freemasons generally it will be found useful and valuable, and we commend it to their notice accordingly."—Surrey County Observer.

"Bro. Stevens' motion for a Committee on the subject of Uniformity of Ritual was carried by a large majority."—Freemason's Chronicle report of Grand Lodge meeting, 3rd December 1879.

Sent, by post, on receipt of stamps, by the Author, Bro. JAMES STEVENS, 112 High-street, Clapham, S.W.; or by Bro. W. W. MORGAN Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

Digitized by Google

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE,

A Weekly Record of Masonic Intelligence. Sanctioned by the Grand Lodge of England.

Price—12s 6d per annum, post free.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE will be forwarded direct from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N., on receipt of Post Office Order for the amount. Intending Subscribers should forward their full Addresses to prevent mistakes.

Post Office Orders to be made payable to W. W. MORGAN, at Penton-street Office. Cheques crossed "London and County."

Advertisers will find THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE an exceptionally good medium for Advertisements of every class.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Per Page... ... ... £8 0 0
Back Page £10 0 0

Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1s per line.

General Advertisements, Trade Announcements, &c. single column, 5s per inch. Double Column Advertisements 1s per line. Special Terms for a Series of Insertions on application.

Agents, from whom copies can always be had:—

Messrs. SPENCER and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C.
Messrs. CURTICE and Co., 12 Catherine-street, Strand.
Messrs. KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.
Mr. RITCHIE, 6 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SIMPSON BROS., Shoe Lane.
Mr. H. SIMPSON, 7 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SMITH and SONS, 183 Strand.
Messrs. STEEL and JONES, 4 Spring Gardens, Charing Cross.
Mr. G. VICKERS, Angel Court, Strand.
Mr. H. VICKERS, 317 Strand.

THE THEATRES, &c.

COVENT GARDEN.—PROMENADE CONCERTS.
PRINCESS'S.—At 7, A CLERICAL ERROR. At 7.40, THE SILVER KING.
HAYMARKET.—At 7.50, FIRST IN THE FIELD. At 9.15, FEDORA.
DRURY LANE.—At 7.45, A SAILOR AND HIS LASS.
LYCEUM.—At 8, INGOMAR.
ADELPHI.—At 7.45, IN THE RANKS.
STRAND.—At 8, VICE VERSA. At 9.15, SILVER GUILT.
SAVOY.—At 8, PRIVATE WIRE. At 8.40, IOLANTHE.
GAIETY.—At 7.35, YOUNG WIDOW. At 9.15, ARIEL.
AVENUE.—At 7.30, OBLIGING A FRIEND. At 8.15, LA VIE.
TOOLE'S.—At 8, A ROW IN THE HOUSE. At 8.45, M.P.
COURT.—At 8, THE MILLIONAIRE.
GLOBE.—At 7.45, MAN PROPOSES. At 8.30, THE GLASS OF FASHION.
VAUDEVILLE.—At 8, AN OLD MASTER. At 9, CONFUSION.
ROYALTY.—At 7.45, A CUP OF TEA. At 8.30, THE MERRY DUCHESS.
COMEDY.—At 7.45, RIP VAN WINKLE.
ST. JAMES'S.—At 8, YOUNG FOLKS' WAYS.
GRAND.—At 7.30, LOAN OF A LOVER. At 8.15, NEW BABYLON.
STANDARD.—At 7.30, GLAD TIDINGS.
SADLER'S WELLS.—At 7.30, FAITHFUL HEART.
SURREY.—At 7.30, MANKIND.
ST. JAMES'S HALL.—Mr. DUVAL'S ODDS AND ENDS.
MOHAWK MINSTRELS, Agricultural Hall.—Every evening, at 8.
EGYPTIAN HALL.—Messrs. MASKELYNE AND COOKE. Every evening at 8.
CRYSTAL PALACE.—This day, GRAND EVENING FETE. CONCERT. PANORAMA. Open Daily, Aquarium, Picture Gallery, &c.

RICHARD PEARCY,
WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
31 PACKINGTON STREET, ISLINGTON,
LONDON, N.
Watches Made and Repaired in the very best manner.
MASONIC JEWELS.

BRO. G. S. GRAHAM,
The Popular Tenor and Buffo Vocalist, from St. James's Hall, Crystal Palace, &c.
(Provincial Grand Organist Middlesex)
IS OPEN TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FOR
Concerts, Entertainments, & Masonic Banquets.
Bro. G. S. Graham's Party of Eminent Artists can be engaged for Masonic Banquets, Consecrations and Installations, &c. For Opinions of the Press, and terms, address—G. S. GRAHAM, St. John's Villa, 91 Fernlea Road, Balham, Surrey.

PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS ON EASY TERMS.

GROVER & GROVER
LET ON HIRE, WITH OPTION OF PURCHASE,

BEAUTIFUL AND PERFECT INSTRUMENTS.
PURCHASERS CHOOSE THEIR OWN TERMS,
FROM 15s TO £3 3s PER QUARTER.
The Advantages of a Trial, with the Convenience of the Three Years' System at Cash Price, by Paying about a Quarter of the value down, the Balance by Easy Payments, from 15s per quarter.
GROVER & GROVER (late AVILL & SMART),
TABERNACLE SQUARE, FINSBURY, E.C.
ESTABLISHED 1830.

PIANOFORTES, £19 10s.
AMERICAN ORGANS, £9 5s.
HARMONIUMS, £5 15s.
Perfect in Tone and Touch. Elegant Walnut Cases. Every Instrument warranted to stand any extreme climate.
SHIPPERS AND DEALERS SUPPLIED.
Before deciding on purchasing, write for a descriptive Price List and Testimonials to G. LINSTEAD, Manager.
COBDEN PIANOFORTE COMPANY, 18 & 19 Eversholt Street, Camden Town, London.

HOTELS, ETC.
CARLISLE—Bush Hotel. SUTCLIFFE HOLROYD, Proprietor
EALING—Feathers Hotel
EASTBOURNE—Pier Hotel, Cavendish Place. View of Sea and Pier. A. TAYLOR Proprietor
HAVERFORDWEST.—Queen's Family and Commercial Hotel. BEN. M. DAVIES Proprietor.
KEW—Star and Garter. Good accommodation for Lodge & Dinner Parties. J. BRILL Proprietor
MILFORD HAVEN.—Lord Nelson Hotel. T. PALMER Proprietor
SANDWICH—Bell Family and Commercial Hotel, Good Stabling. J. J. FILMER Proprietor.

ALL WHO SUFFER FROM
GOUT AND RHEUMATISM
Should immediately have recourse to
EADE'S CELEBRATED GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS.
Known throughout the world as the safest and most effectual remedy for the instant relief and rapid cure of Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Lumbago, and all Pains in the Head, Face, and Limbs.
OF ALL CHEMISTS, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d,
GEORGE EADE.
SOLE PROPRIETOR,
72 GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

BILLIARD BALLS, Chalks, Cues and Tips, at HENNIG BROS., Ivory Works, 11 High Street, London, W.C. Cheapest house in the trade for billiard-table requisites and ivory goods in general. Old balls adjusted or exchanged, and tables recovered. Price Lists on application. Established 1862.

RHEUMATISM.
THE only real remedy for this complaint is the Northern Cure (patent). In bottles 1s 1½d each, to be had of all Chemists. Proprietors and Manufacturers, EDWARDS AND ALEXANDER, 29 Blaskett-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.
THE GREAT REMEDY FOR GOUT and RHEUMATISM.
The excruciating pain is quickly relieved and cured in a few days by this celebrated Medicine.
These Pills require no restraint of diet during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.
Sold by all Chemists at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.

SMOKE CHARLESWORTH & AUSTINS TOBACCOS AND CIGARS
BORO' S.E.
Old Chums 2d
Favourites 2d & 3d
Golden Shag 4d & 5d

Digitized by Google

JOSEPH J. CANEY,

DIAMOND MERCHANT, AND MANUFACTURING JEWELLER AND WATCH MAKER,

44 CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.

MASONIC JEWELS. CLOTHING AND FURNITURE.

Spe ialité—First Class Jewels—Artistic—Massive—Best Quality—Moderate in Price

CATALOGUES POST FREE.

A LARGE STOCK OF LOOSE BRILLIANTS FOR EXPENSIVE JEWELS.

Diamond Rings, Brooches, Studs, Earrings and Bracelets in Great Variety.

MASONIC JEWELS FOR ALL DEGREES.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS AND DECORATIONS.

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD IN ALL SIZES.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEDALS AND BADGES.

A. D. LOEWENSTARK & SONS, Medallists, 310 STRAND, LONDON, W.C.

MANUFACTORY—1 DEVEREUX COURT, STRAND.

R. W. GALER,

PRACTICAL WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

12 GREEN LANES, LONDON, N.

(Six doors from Newington Green).

OLD GOLD and SILVER BOUGHT or TAKEN in EXCHANGE.

PRESENTATION WATCHES AND MASONIC JEWELS MANUFACTURED ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

Communications by Post punctually attended to.

G. W. KNIGHT,

Carver, Gilder, and Picture Frame Maker,

LITTLE BELL ALLEY, BACK OF MOORGATE STREET, CITY,

AND

38 CHAUCER ROAD, BRIXTON.

CORNICES AND FRAMES OF ALL KINDS REPAIRED AND REGILT.

ADAM S. MATHER,

GAS ENGINEER, GENERAL GAS FITTER AND BELL HANGER,

MANUFACTURER OF BILLIARD LIGHTS

AND OF EVERY DESCRIPTION OF GAS APPARATUS FOR COOKING AND HEATING

Bath Rooms Fitted up. All the Latest Improvements Introduced.

MANUFACTORY—12 CHARLES STREET, HATTON GARDEN, E.C.;

AND AT 278 CALEDONIAN ROAD. ISLINGTON, N.

ESTIMATES GIVEN.

W. W. MORGAN,

LETTER-PRESS, COPPER-PLATE, LITHOGRAPHIC PRINTER,

BELVIDERE WORKS,

HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE.

SUMMONSES, MENU CARDS, &c. ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED.

Sketches or Designs for Special Purposes Furnished on Application.

Books, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Catalogues, Posters, Billheads, Showcards, &c.

Every description of Printing (Plain or Ornamental) executed in First Class Style.

ESTIMATES SUPPLIED.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER

7s 6d.

If with Pockets, 6d each pocket extra.

225 HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.

DRESS SUITS from £3 3s to £5 5s.

Demy 8vo, Price 7s 6d,

THE CHESS OPENINGS,

By ROBERT B. WORMALD.

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE.

CONCERTINAS.

ENGLISH AND ANGLO-GERMAN.

G. JONES, 350 Commercial-road, London, E., inventor of the Anglo-German with chromatic scale. His tempered steel notes never get out of tune. Used by the leading performers. Price List of Musical Instruments of every description free. Established 1860.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY Limited, 7 Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General accidents. | Personal injuries.
Railway accidents. | Death by accident.

U. HARDING, Manager.

RIPPINGILLE'S PATENT

WARMING STOVES.

THE only Perfect Oil Stoves. Made to burn absolutely without Smoke or Smell, Trouble or Dirt. Unequalled for Warming

GREENHOUSES, VINERIES, SOPS,

BEDROOMS, HALLS, OFFICES, DAMP ROOMS &c.

Perfectly safe, require no pipes or fittings, will burn from twelve to twenty hours without attention, give off no injurious vapour, and are the best stoves ever invented to save plants from frost, keep out the damp, &c.

Price, from a few shillings.

Write for Illustrated List of Warming Stoves to

The Holborn Lamp and Stove Co.

118 HOLBORN, LONDON, E.C.

And say where you saw this Advertisement.

Bro. A. OLDROYD, Stratford, London,

MANUFACTURER OF TOBACCO POUCHES,

With any name in raised letters.

CAN be obtained direct from the Maker, at the undermentioned prices, on receipt of P.O.O. payable at Stratford.

	Price	Will take a name of
No. 3	2/0 ...	9 letters
,, 4	2/6 ...	11
,, 5	3/0 ...	12
,, 6	3/6 ...	13
,, 7	4/0 ...
,, 8	4/6 ...
,, 9	5/0 ...

A. OLDROYD,

Agent for Algerian Cigars, and Importer of Havana and Continental Cigars,

64 HIGH STREET, STRATFORD, LONDON. E.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

BIRKBECK BANK.—Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Current Accounts opened according to the usual practice of other Bankers, and Interest allowed on the minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £25. No commission charged for keeping Accounts.

The Bank also receives money on Deposit at three per cent. Interest, repayable on demand.

The Bank undertakes for its Customers, free of charge, the custody of Deeds, Writings, and other Securities and Valuables, the collection of Bills of Exchange, Dividends, and Coupons; and the purchase and sale of Stocks and Shares.

Letters of Credit and Circular Notes issued.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

31st March 1880.

The Birkbeck Building Society's Annual Receipts exceed Four Millions.

HOW TO PURCHASE A HOUSE FOR TWO GUINEAS PER MONTH, with immediate Possession and no Rent to pay. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY.

HOW TO PURCHASE A PLOT OF LAND FOR FIVE SHILLINGS PER MONTH, with immediate possession, either for Building or Gardening purposes. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Published every Wednesday. Price 3d,

THE

CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE;

AND

Journal of Indoor and Outdoor Amusements.

THE CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE can be ordered of any Bookseller in Town or Country, or will be forwarded direct from the Office on the following terms:—

Twelve months, post free	...	...	12 0
Three ,, ,,	...	...	3 3

It is also obtainable at the following Chess Resorts and Agencies—

Messrs. Dean and Son, 160A Fleet Street, E.C.
Simpson's Divan (Chess Room), Strand, W.C.
Pursell's Restaurant, ditto, Cornhill, E.C.

All communications and books, &c. for notice, to be addressed to the Editor, 555 Caledonian Road, N.

Printed and Published by Brother WILLIAM WRAY MORGAN, at Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, Saturday, 20th October 1883.

Digitized by Google

THE

Freemason's Chronicle;

A WEEKLY RECORD OF MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

SANCTIONED BY THE GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.

VOL. XVIII.—No. 459. SATURDAY, 27th OCTOBER 1883. [PRICE THREEPENCE. 13s 6d per annum, post free.

POOR CANDIDATES AND THE VOTING SYSTEM.

IT would be an interesting, though perhaps not a pleasant study, to inquire into the cost of charity. It is comparatively easy to ascertain the outlay in any given instance where a building or institution exists. The balance sheet in each case should clearly show income and expenditure, assets and liabilities. From these figures and the number of persons benefitted, a per capitum charge could be arrived at, sufficiently precise to admit of honest inferences being drawn. What is easy in the instance mentioned is almost impossible in the case of any one seeking the aid of a particular Institution. A person wishing to obtain a benefit by means of voting must necessarily incur some outlay in the operation, and to a certain extent success depends upon the amount expended. Those who have influential friends stand a better chance; indeed, they virtually monopolise the vacancies in most charities. How painful and disheartening the system is to the very poor few can realise, and the thought occurs whether a preliminary fund should not be formed to help those who are too poor to help themselves. It is sad to contemplate such cases, many of which, it is feared, are hopelessly out of the struggle because they have neither money themselves, nor friends to supply the necessary means. Yet this very class has the first claim upon charitable institutions, especially upon those connected with Freemasonry. The difficulty does not arise from want of heart. Those engaged in Masonic Charities, and these alone are matters of consideration at the present moment, rank among the foremost of those concerned in good works. It is enough to go to Freemasons' Hall on voting days to understand the devotion displayed by men, aye, and by women too, in labours that can have no earthly reward except that which a satisfied conscience yields. The scene is one of mixed pleasure and pain. On the one hand is the certainty of relief being given to a fixed number; on the other hand is the equal certainty that the majority must go empty away, sick at heart and in despair. A few who can come again have hope in the future, but too many, alas! have sacrificed their strength in vain. How many of these fail from want of monetary and other help it would not be easy to define. It is not an unfair inference to assume that some at least might have succeeded if they had been blessed with that assistance which seems to become more and more necessary every day. It cannot always be made clear that some candidates are less eligible than others, and it assuredly is not intended here to insinuate that any candidate is unworthy of success. Yet the fact remains that there are distinctions, and the fear is that the present system is calculated to intensify them, to render more difficult the path of the poor to the desired end. The cure for this state of things is not apparent, nor would it be possible to formulate a method that would be acceptable to the majority. It would, perhaps, not be desirable, even were it possible, to lay down fixed rules. The charitably disposed are entitled to the choice of method of exercising their generosity, and the only thing that can be done is to place the facts of each case before them in the clearest and fullest manner. Every care, no doubt, is taken in the first place, in accepting candidates, and honourable efforts are made officially to present individual claims. So far the work is done well, and little alteration, perhaps, can be made in that respect. The Masonic Press, particularly the CHRONICLE, does sift the cases, and present their several necessities in a clear, if not in an exhaustive manner. In our own case great pains are taken to place the merits of each case before the brethren, and we have reason to believe that much good results from this arduous though willingly undertaken labour; but something more is needed in particular instances, especially in the poorer cases, which can only be done by those possessing personal knowledge. In the absence of any general rule on the subject it would be well for individuals and Lodges to assure themselves that their candidates are able to bear the necessary outlay consequent upon an effective canvass; and where it was lacking to endeavour to supply it. We can only point out to persons what we consider to be a necessity, and leave the decision in their hands. No reproach would attach to them for not finding money as well as votes. They are the best judges of their own powers and responsibilities. We may, however, appeal to Lodges, and ask them to consider what we have said, in order that any candidate in whom they are interested shall not risk the chance of defeat, because of the lack of means to push their claims. The disposition to do all that is necessary no doubt exists; it only requires to be put into systematic practice to secure the end they desire, at least to ensure an equality of chance for those they favour.

Looking at the question in another light, it opens up considerations that are well worth reflection. The practice of borrowing votes has obtained a wide development, and has led to the growth of evils that threaten to damage reputations and the Charities themselves. Much recklessness prevails in this respect, and unless greater care is exercised in the future very unpleasant results will follow. The system is wrong in principle, unless the security for repayment is absolutely put beyond question. It is something like the custom that exists among too many young men, who are induced to pledge their credit by tempting facilities only to find that they have brought upon themselves torture, disgrace, and an incubus from which years, and, perhaps, a life, cannot free them. A case occurs to us, in which a brother, in his zeal for a candidate, pledged his voting credit beyond the possibility of repayment. He brought reproach upon himself, discredit upon the system, and inflicted injury upon some other candidate or candidates who relied upon the return of borrowed votes. He sowed distrust, and probably damaged a reputation that in every other respect stood high. It is to be hoped that there are not many similar cases, but the system is full of temptation and danger; and, unless some alteration takes place, the probability of recurrence may be constantly anticipated. Moral influence can do a great deal to guide the practice of exchange of votes. The principles of the Stock Exchange are not desirable in the work of charity, and, however anxious a brother may be to secure the return of a particular candidate, he should not forget his liabilities, nor should he incur obligations about the discharge of which he has the slightest doubt. The system of barter implies risks, hence the creation of rates of exchange. Were security indisputable, there would be no necessity for the inequality of votes; in proportion as this is not so, rash speculation arises, and in the nature of things there must be some failures. No law would meet this condition of things; only moral influences can weigh with individuals. Something, however, might be done in a manner we have already indicated. When a brother takes up a case, and shows his interest in it by drawing upon his own purse, it is fair to suppose that if he borrows votes he will repay them. He would not be likely to exceed his means, or rather, his means would be equal to any demands made upon them. The same may be said of Lodges, whose reputations are the more strongly fortified because of the many who man them, and whose failure would be the more disastrous from the same cause. Lenders should exercise discretion as to whom they entrust their votes. They should discard the practice of seeking interest, and look to security. Were the means we have suggested carried out, many brethren would be saved from themselves, the poorer candidates would stand on an equality with others more favoured, and a system full of evils and dangers would be destroyed, or, at any rate, greatly purified.

Digitized by Google

THE GRAND TREASURERSHIP.

ALREADY steps have been taken in this matter in view of the coming election of Grand Officers. We believe a large majority of the Craft are in favour of the office of Grand Treasurer being held by a different brother each year, and in accordance with this theory a meeting was held on Tuesday last, at the Holborn Restaurant. Over a hundred Metropolitan and Provincial Lodges were represented, and there were also present several Grand Officers. A resolution was carried unanimously to the effect that Bro. Horace Brooks Marshall, C.C., D.L., is a fit and worthy brother to succeed Bro. John Derby Allcroft as Grand Treasurer for 1884, the brethren present pledging themselves to use their influence to secure his election. There is a rumour afloat that Bro. Colonel Creaton will be put in nomination by an influential section of Grand Lodge. Personally there can be no objection to Bro. Creaton, but it would be well for his friends to consider the possibilities of the case. Respect ought to be had for the views of the large majority of the Craft, who believe that the honour of the office of Grand Treasurer should be dispensed year by year to worthy brethren, not only as a mark of esteem, but also to stimulate a spirit of friendly emulation. Bro. Creaton has already received honour at the hands of Grand Lodge; Bro. Allcroft superseded him last year in accordance with the spirit we have referred to, and now the time has come round again for a further choice. We sincerely hope that the friends of Bro. Creaton will not persist in their intentions of putting him forward, if they have formed such an intention. They should remember that success would cause wide-spread irritation, and defeat would damage a reputation that stands deservedly high. With regard to Bro. Marshall, we may say that he is a very worthy brother. He is attached to several Lodges, and a Companion of at least one Chapter; he holds a prominent position in the City of London, and is a most generous supporter of the Masonic Charities. Indeed, Bro. Marshall is noted for his large-heartedness, and his services are frequently sought when any charitable movement is on foot. He already possesses forty-six silver trowels as mementoes of his labours and those of Mrs. Marshall, who heartily seconds her husband's efforts. The record, therefore, of Bro. Marshall is good; he is wealthy and benevolent. He is held in great respect in every relation of life, and his ambition seems to lead him in those directions where he can combine personal honour with a large exercise of charity.

MASONIC TEMPLE, HOLBORN RESTAURANT.—We take the following from the prospectus issued by the proprietors. They say that the Temple "has been declared by competent authority to be a very beautiful example of harmonious and appropriate decorations. It has been constructed from special designs. . . . The ceiling, of dome shape, is of a clear, almost turquoise blue, clustered with gold stars, the centre being occupied with an electro sunburner, from which diverge straight and sinuous rays of raised gold. On a blue and gold frieze, beneath the dome, are pictorial and astronomical representations of the signs of the Zodiac. The panelling of the walls is a light blue, with white and gold ornament, outlined in deeper blue, and centred by smaller panels, alternately containing groups of flowers, and figures representing the Masonic virtues of Temperance, Prudence, Fortitude, Fidelity, Obedience, and Secrecy. The styles are deep red, gold, and black, and in recesses in the walls are red and gold Ionic columns mounting to a cornice of white and gold, bearing mottoes or inscriptions. There are two fine stained-glass windows in this room, with figures of Benevolence and Charity.

HIGH DEGREES.

IT is not at all surprising that Freemasons should aspire to the possession of high degrees—on the contrary, such a course of conduct is altogether commendable. Usually, whatever is low is unworthy. Low companions are unhealthy, and so is a dwelling-house upon low ground. We take high ground on this question of degrees—as high as the highest. We say, let us have the highest, or none. Whoever receives the first degree in Masonry, should at the same time hope to attain to the highest and last degree; if he does not he is a poor Mason.

From the beginning Freemasonry set up a high standard for itself, and planted its standard upon high ground. Where did our traditional Grand Master, King Solomon, build his Temple? Down in a valley, or high on a hill? Let Mount Moriah answer. For four thousand years, from Adam to Christ, mountains were sacred places. The prophet Samuel writes of "the hill of God," and King David asks, "Who shall ascend unto the hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in His holy place?" And again, "The hill of God is * * * a high hill, as the hill of Bashan," "I have set my King upon my holy hill of Zion." The First Great Light in Masonry condemns high places only when they are used for the worship of false gods. King Solomon was on Mount Gibeon when the Grand Architect of the Universe said unto him, "Ask what I shall give thee?" and Solomon wisely asked, and received "an understanding heart."

Just as the Freemason looks up to his Worshipful Master, or Grand Master, so when he is an Entered Apprentice he should look forward and upward to the time when he shall receive the highest degree. But what is the highest degree in ancient Freemasonry? One hundred and forty odd years ago, in the fourth decade of the last century, this question was earnestly asked, as it is to-day. Prior to that time only THREE Masonic degrees were conferred, viz.: Entered Apprentice, Fellow Craft, and Master Mason. Then some dissatisfied brethren started a Lodge having a higher degree, conferring FOUR degrees in all, the highest and last being that of the Royal Arch. This "high degree," whether it was made by division or addition, "took," and the result is that it is now universally acknowledged over the Masonic world to be the highest and last degree of Ancient Craft Masonry. In England it is conferred to this day in Royal Arch Lodges, as it formerly was in America; while in the latter it is now exclusively conferred in Royal Arch Chapters, the Grand Lodges having relinquished their jurisdiction over it. We are now prepared to answer the question, What was, and is, the highest degree in Ancient Freemasonry? Prior to about 1736-9, it was the Master Mason's Degree; since that time it has been the Royal Arch Degree.

But, the reader may say, You ignore the genuine High Degrees? Not at all. We are writing of Ancient, not Modern Masonry. We are guaging what we say by the old original Masonic degree-metre, in use in the Craft for a century and a-half past, and not by any recently fabricated metre, rising into the hundreds of degrees. A recent writer on political economy says: "It no doubt wounds the vanity of a philosopher who is just ready with a new solution of the universe, to be told to mind his own business." Not a few brethren have performed in an analogous role, in seeking to IMPROVE Masonry by adding to it several hundred different sorts of degrees, thus repeatedly offering a new solution of the question as to which is the highest degree. They have envied King Solomon his honours. They are not satisfied with getting into the newspapers only when they marry, or die, but they wish to be looked up to and published in the Masonic papers during their lives as great degree inventors, and ritual manufacturers. They want to be sovereigns, Possibly they want also to be rich, for are not degrees sold for so much money, and must not additional bodies have so many additional salaried Officers? This is a very low way of looking at very high degrees, but it is a very fair way. It seems that there is a certain proportion of the Masonic community that must possess all attainable degrees, even if there be no degree of comfort left in their home as a consequence. These brethren the degree manufacturer considers legitimate game, and he captures all of them that he can in his network. Quite a ludicrous result follows, when, as sometimes happens, two sets of brethren, who are diametrically opposed to each other, assume to confer the same high degrees. Then, when one party excommunicates the other, and exposes all of its naughtiness, and the other retorts and exposes the naughtiness of the first, Brethren of Solomonic wisdom smile, and congratulate themselves upon the fact that, after all, they themselves possess the much coveted and truly genuine "highest and last degree," about which there can be no contention as to its regularity or antiquity.

Digitized by Google

Brethren should manifest their appreciation of the only ancient and universally accepted degrees, including as they do the highest of all, by diligent attendance at the meetings of the respective Masonic bodies in which they are conferred. Always do full justice, first to your Lodge and Chapter; and afterwards devote what time you may to other bodies. The former are entitled to your loyal and cordial allegiance. They made you, Masonically, what you are; they include in their membership the entire Masonic family; they are elevated, dignified, and enlightened; and search where you will, go where you may, you can find outside of them no higher degree.—Keystone.

AN ANTI-MASONIC AGITATION.

THAT unscrupulous party-manager, wire puller and corrupter of popular constituencies, Thurlow Weed, who had more actions for libel brought against him than any editor in America, gives an account in his autobiography, recently published at Boston, of an anti-Masonic movement in New York State which has, as a Times reviewer remarks, a curious resemblance to the anti Semitic agitation in Hungary. A mysterious disappearance, due to suicide, to accident, absconding, or ordinary crime, was turned to shameful but most profitable account for political purposes, and in fact created the political reputation of the arch-apostle of the movement, Thurlow Weed. In his autobiography, Weed naturally adheres to the lie which he propagated, but the friendship which he boasts of maintaining to the end with those whom he accused, and still posthumously accuses, of the murder, is utterly inconsistent with a genuine belief in the horrors which he relates. As individual and popular force become to an increasing extent repressed by the strong arm of the law, the attempt to misdirect that arm itself by false accusations, carefully prepared and placed in a credible light by all kinds of lying reports spread abroad in the press, will become more frequent, since whether the charge succeeds or not in the courts, its effect upon the populace is pretty sure to be useful to the party which forges the slanderous tale.

The Freemasons were the victims in 1826 in America, as the Jews were recently in Hungary; and the history of the anti-Masonic feud is full of instruction to ourselves. Weed's account of it is warped and coloured to palliate his own disgraceful share in spreading the scandal and obscuring the truth. But practically it is the confession of a Thug. After naively recounting his exploits in bribing the rural electors of New York with 8,000 dollars sent to him one Sunday morning in a large bandana handkerchief, he tells us that he was at Rochester, New York, editing a paper, when he was asked to print a revelation of the first three degrees in Freemasonry, which a Captain William Morgan had been writing out. The request was refused, on the ground that a partner in the paper was a Freemason. In the following September intelligence reached Rochester that Captain Morgan, who had removed to Batavia, New York, with his wife, had been spirited away, and that the printed sheets of a book describing the secrets of Freemasonry had also disappeared. Morgan, it seemed, by the interposition of Masons, had been released from temporary detention at Canandaigua. The wife of his gaoler deposed that she saw and heard him struggling with men who, on his leaving the gaol, forced him into a carriage. About the same time a body of men, supposed to be young Freemasons, attacked and tried to burn the office at which Morgan's book was being printed. Many respectable Freemasons, accused of having assisted in the abduction, were brought to trial, in five different counties. Convictions of John Whitney and others were obtained. The opinion still was that Morgan had only been carried off. In October 1827, two residents of Carleton, Orleans county, discovered a dead body much decayed on the beach at a point at which the Oak Orchard Creek enters Lake Ontario. An inquest was held, and elicited nothing. When an account of the body was received at Rochester, Morgan's acquaintances were convinced the body was his. It was exhumed, and many persons, including Mrs. Morgan, identified it. A jury, among whom was Thurlow Weed, agreed unanimously that it was the body of William Morgan. Almost immediately afterwards information was received that a Canadian, Timothy Munroe, had been drowned in the Niagara River in September 1827. Masons and their friends declared the body was his. Once more it was exhumed, in the presence of a crowd of Masons and anti-Masons, and Mrs. Timothy Munroe was there. The clothes had been preserved, and she was asked to describe those her husband wore. Her description tallied minutely, to a darn, with the clothes of the drowned corpse. But her recollections of her husband's body differed. Her husband had been four inches taller, and the colour of his hair was dissimilar. As Thurlow Weed himself puts it, "The question, as far as it had been settled testimony, seemed to involve the contradiction, if not the absurdity, of proving that Munroe's clothes were found upon the body either of Morgan, or of some unknown person." The clothes had been worn by Munroe a year after the presumed drowning of a man upon whose body they were found. Thurlow Weed, writing in 1869, professed, as persuaded in 1829, that he had actually looked at Carleton on the murdered body of Morgan. He knew how the crime was committed. He had heard from the lips of John Whitney, in the presence and with the assent of Colonel Jewett, another Mason, who had been tried for his share in the abduction, that Whitney and others drowned Morgan in Lake Ontario by direction of the highest Masonic authority, given one evening after those engaged had been "called from labour to refreshment."

In the Morgan mystery the attempt was to prove that the drowned body was the subject of a murder, and had been clothed in some inexplicable way in another man's clothes. In the Tisza-Eszlar prosecution the allegation was that the body discovered in the Theiss was the subject of no murder, and that the clothes it was dressed in, which were the clothes of the supposed victim of Jewish fanaticism, had been put on it in the design to blind justice. The natural inclination is to deny the murder of Morgan, and to assume that he was simply hidden away. If, however, Masons had removed him they would have brought him back to screen their Order from the storm of odium. An easy solution is to adopt the theory of his murder. But then there is the difficulty of the clothes, which had been apparently worn by a man who survived him. Had Thurlow Weed insinuated that Mrs. Timothy Munroe was in league with the Masons, and falsely feigned to recognize clothes of which she had received a description from accomplices, despair at the dilemma might have tempted to acquiescence. Thurlow Weed ventures upon no such insinuation against Mrs. Munroe's good faith. The result is an unsolved and insoluble puzzle. All which is apparent is, that Morgan vanished after being subjected, as alleged, to violence from Freemasons, that for several years all the politics of New York State hinged upon his disappearance, and that this was greatly to the advantage of the juryman Thurlow Weed. Weed describes his first attack on the Masons as most moderate. This is from a man who could never understand how the people whom he libelled in his scandalous prints felt aggrieved, and who forbore, probably with some reason, from taking any proceedings against the Daily Advertiser when it reported that he had pulled out dead Timothy Munroe's whiskers to identify the face with the shaven cheeks of William Morgan. His accusation, couched in whatever terms, was in itself an outrage upon Masons. They retorted—perhaps with undue vehemence; in its earlier stages at least such a charge is often best snuffed out by silence. Weed stood at bay, and created anti-Masonry. The party of the anti-Masons revolutionised New York politics, and elevated Thurlow Weed into a potent political manager. He had always been friendly with Masons. His first political chief, Governor Clinton, was the New York Grand Master. He boasts that his personal relations with a prominent person among the accused, Colonel Jewett, were scarcely disturbed during the bitterest days of the controversy. He wrote to John Whitney, one, as he affects to believe, of the direct murderers, who had been actually convicted of the abduction, as his "dear old friend." But his were the counsels which guided the campaign against Freemasonry. Although he confesses that his efforts failed to render secret societies in general unpopular, he succeeded for a time in raising up a mighty combination against Freemasonry. He did more. On anti-Masonry he founded a political organisation, which fought for John Quincy Adams against General Jackson, clouded the prospects of Mr. Clay, who was himself a Mason, and was felt in every public relation of the State until the purposes of its existence were exhausted, and it merged in 1833 in Thurlow Weed's Whig party.

Thus the accusation "paid" very well for a time, although it entitles its author or main advocate to lasting infamy. He was not ultimately prosperous, even from a material point of view.—Jewish Chronicle.

Bro. Seymour Smith's annual benefit concert at the South-place Institute, Moorgate-street, on Saturday last, was a great success. The programme was both lengthy and varied, and the number and quality of the artistes were above the average. Amid such a host of talent it is difficult to do justice, especially when all did so well. We could say a good word for every item in the programme, but as our space is limited, we can only indulge in two or three references to performances that struck us as being particularly pleasing. The "Drummer Boy's Song," by Miss Heath, was one of these; another was "In cellar cool," by Mr. Albert Hubbard; a third was "Dorothy's Diary," by Miss Maud Cameron; and still another, the "Sands o' Dee," by Mr. Arthur Thompson, was particularly fascinating. Of course, the beneficiaire contributed to the pleasure of the audience, and the talent who assisted him, in addition to the names already given, were, vocalists—Miss Meta Russell and Madame Raymond, Messrs. Lester, James, Lord, G. T. Carter, F. H. Cozens, C. A. White, and Chaplin Henry. Instrumentalists—Madame Brett, Miss Evelyn Seymour Smith, Miss Dunbar Perkins, Messrs. Michael Watson, W. Morrow, Richard Blagrove, and F. A. Jewson. Most, if not all, of the male performers are members of the Craft, and their services were highly appreciated by a numerous and appreciative audience.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Rheumatism and Gout.—These purifying and soothing remedies demand the earnest attention of all persons liable to gout, sciatica, or other painful affections of the muscles, nerves, or joints. The Ointment should be applied after the affected parts have been patiently fomented with warm water, when the unguent should be diligently rubbed upon the adjacent skin, unless the friction should cause pain. Holloway's Pills should be simultaneously taken to reduce inflammation and to purify the blood. This treatment abates the violence, and lessens the frequency of gout, rheumatism, and all spasmodic diseases, which spring from hereditary predisposition, or from any accidental weakness of constitution. This Ointment checks the local remedy. The Pills restore the vital powers.

Digitized by Google

MARK MASONRY.

—:o:—

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF MARK MASTER MASONS OF SUSSEX.

THE annual meeting of this Provincial Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons was held at the Old Ship Hotel, Brighton, on Friday the 19th inst. The following Provincial Grand Officers were in attendance, viz., R.W. Bro. Thomas Trollope, M.D., Prov. Grand Mark Master, and Bros. Lord Arthur Hill M.P., D.G.M., C. W. Duke S.W., T. J. Pulley P.G.S.D. J.W., J. Pearson Treasurer, R. Pidcock Registrar, R. J. Reed Acting Secretary, G. W. McWhinnie M.O., C. W. Hudson S.O., T. Catle J.D., L. W. J. Hennah S. of W., F. Rossiter D. of C., R. Paige A.D. of C., W. J. Bayliss S.B., C. P. Henty, W. H. Russell, and E. Bridges Stewards. The Grand Mark Lodge of England was represented by the R.W. Bro. F. Davison G.J.D. and P.G.M. Middlesex and Surrey, the V.W. Bro. D. M. Dewar P.G.M.O. and Asst. Grand Secretary, James Stevens P.G.J.O. and P.P.G. Secretary for Middlesex and Surrey, the W. Bros. Wm. Hudson P.G.D.C., and H. Hacker P.G.A.D.C. There were also present the following brethren, viz., Bros. C. J. Smith P.G.S.W., F. Woodin 168, H. Kemball Cook 168, F. Duke Secretary 166, S. A. Julius 166, F. H. Hallett Organist 166, Seymour Burrows M.O. 168, M. Hancock J.D. 168, J. Harrison P.M. 62, C. Golding Secretary 164, H. W. G. Abell S.D. 164, E. R. Amis Chaplain 166, G. Brown P.G.M.O. Leicestershire, and others. The minutes of the Prov. Grand Lodge meeting, held at Hastings last October, were read and confirmed, and the Auditors' and General Purposes Committee's report were received. The election of officers was next proceeded with, when Bros. J. Pearson and T. Hughes were re-elected Treas. and Tyler respectively. The Prov. Grand Officers were then invested, the R.W. Prov. Grand Master retaining the majority of the present Officers for the ensuing year. Bro. Lord Arthur Hill, M.P., D.P.G.M. was nominated as Brother Trollope's successor as Provincial Grand Master. The following were elected on the General Purposes Committee, viz., Bros. McWhinnie, C. Hudson, F. Russell, and W. G. Bayliss; while Bros. E. Bridges and J. Harrison were appointed Auditors. The R.W. Prov. Grand Master then addressed the Prov. Grand Lodge in reference to the work and progress of the past year, and the future prospects for increased prosperity, and, having received the greetings and hearty good wishes of the brethren generally, directed the closing of Grand Lodge, which was accordingly carried out in due form and with solemn prayer. At the banquet succeeding the afternoon's labours, the R.W. Provincial Grand Master presided with his accustomed urbanity and ability. At his request, and to suit the convenience of brethren from London and several distant places, the speeches were brief, but none the less (perhaps all the more) effective. Some capital singing by several brethren enlivened the proceedings, and a most satisfactory meeting was brought to a close at 8.30, when the usual unavoidable separation took place amidst expressions of gratification with the annual social re-union of the Mark Masons of Sussex.

CONSECRATION OF A MARK LODGE IN DOUGLAS.

FOR some little time past the desirability of forming a Mark Lodge in Douglas has been under consideration, and it must have been exceedingly gratifying to the brethren to witness the display of enthusiasm which greeted the culmination of their efforts on Tuesday last, when the Peveril Lodge of Mark Master Masons, No. 823, was consecrated under auspices of a more than usually favourable character, and inaugurated with an eclat which promises well for its future good government and success. Although Craft Masonry, which has flourished to a remarkable extent in the Island, particularly during the last decade, is a living and powerful body for good, as its actions amply testify, there is probably no degree in Freemasonry that can lay claim to greater antiquity than those of Mark Man or Mark Mason, and Mark Master Mason, and in dealing with so vast a subject it is necessary to be constantly on our guard against arriving at conclusions from insufficient data, and treating a gigantic useful, and complex institution, dating from time immemorial, as though it were but the creation of yesterday. A Committee of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Scotland, who conducted an inquiry into the position of the degree, reported in 1865 :—"In this country, from time immemorial, and long before the institution of Grand Lodge of Scotland (in 1736), what is now known as the Mark Master's Degree was wrought by the operative Lodges of St. John's Masonry." Prior to the long-anticipated union of the two Grand Craft Lodges in England, which was satisfactorily effected in 1813, under the title of "The United Grand Lodge of England," the Mark Degree was regularly worked in numerous Lodges meeting under the authority of one or other of the two Constitutions, as well as under the sanction of the Grand Lodge, meeting from Time Immemorial at York. When the union occurred in 1813, the Mark Degree was excluded from the system then adopted and relegated to the regions of oblivion, so far as official sanction was concerned. One of the articles of the declaration agreed to at such meeting being "pure and ancient Masonry consists of three degrees, and no more, including the Holy Royal Arch." Notwithstanding this decision, which at first sight appeared to be fraught with serious consequences to the prospects of Mark Masonry, the degree continued to be worked most extensively, especially in England, the Lodges being convened under Immemorial Constitution derived from the Old Athol York Grand Lodge. In Scotland, Ireland, and America the Mark Degree is universally regarded as an essential and integral portion of Ancient Freemasonry: while in Scotland it is conferred under the authority of both Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter. In the United States, since the middle of last century, the Mark Degree has been conferred in independent Mark Lodge, as well as under the authority of Grand Chapters of the Royal Arch. In England, as we have already pointed out, the knowledge and working of the degree has never been lost, but it has been practised from the earliest time in distinct and independent Mark Lodges which have never acknowledged the authority or jurisdiction of either the Craft Grand Lodges of 1717 or 1813, or of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of 1813. In the Colonies and Dependencies of the British Crown considerable difficulty, and consequent embarrassment, has been encountered from the establishment of Lodges under different jurisdictions—some recognising the Mark Degree and some altogether ignoring it. To remedy this confused state of affairs an attempt was made in the year 1855 to obtain its official recognition as a separate degree by the United Grand Lodge of England, and an influential committee, consisting of members of that Grand Lodge, and of members of the Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter of England, was appointed to investigate and report upon the subject of the Mark degree. The Report of the Committee, approved by the Most Worshipful Grand Master, pronounced the Mark degree as, in their opinion, "not positively essential, but a graceful appendage to the degree of Fellow Craft," was presented to the United Grand Lodge of England, at the Quarterly Communication held in March 1856, and was then unanimously adopted. Owing, however, partly to the conscientious objections of some of the most influential members of Grand Lodge, including the M.W.G.M., who maintained that Grand Lodge was pledged by the Articles of Union only to acknowledge the three Craft degrees as then worked by the Lodge of Reconciliation (including the Royal Arch), and Masons of the position which it was proposed to assign to the Mark degree at the next ensuing Quarterly Communication of the United Grand Lodge of England on special motion, duly proposed and seconded, thus portion of the minutes of the previous Quarterly Communication referring to the Mark degree was non-confirmed, and the status in quo ante was resumed. The United Grand Lodge of England, as the supreme Masonic organisation in this country, having thus formally declared its inability, in accordance with its Constitutions, to adopt the degree into its system, a declaration which has since been repeated on various occasions, several earnest Masons, particularly anxious for its propagation, in place of having recourse to the Old English Mark Lodges, applied for, and invariably received Charters of Constitution from the Supreme Grand Chapter of Scotland, under the authority of which Lodges were opened and the degree of Mark Master conferred in London and other parts of England. Other Mark Master Masons who had taken the degree in various old (time immemorial) English Lodges, together with the members of the Bon Accord Lodge, gladly welcoming the increasing appreciation of the beauties of the Mark Degree, but not approving this attempt to introduce a foreign supreme Masonic authority into England, resolved to constitute a Grand Lodge with jurisdiction over the Mark Degree in this country and its dependencies, in the establishment of which they received the adhesion of the Northumberland and Berwick, Royal Cumberland, and Kent Lodges. With this institution the Mark Degree was thus placed under an independent central authority, in accordance with the precedent already set with respect to the Royal Arch Degree by the Grand Chapters of England and Scotland, as well as by the four London Lodges in the establishment of a Grand Lodge in London, A.D. 1717. The Grand Lodge of All England then meeting at York. The Right Honourable Lord Leigh Prov. Grand Master of Warwickshire (Craft), a thoroughly constitutional Mason, was unanimously elected Most Worshipful Grand Master of England. The first meeting of the new Grand Lodge was held in June 1856, when a desire for a general union of all the Mark Masters of England, under one head, was most warmly expressed. In order to give effect to this desire, a meeting was convened on 30th May 1857, of representatives from all existing Mark Lodges in England, wherever they could be found, and at this meeting, which was numerously attended by influential Masons from all parts of the country, a Committee was appointed to concert measures for organising a union of all regular Mark Master Masons. This Committee reported in favour of a general union of all Mark Lodges upon equal terms in a Grand Mark Lodge. Meanwhile, several of the Lodges holding charters from the Supreme Grand Chapter of Scotland, became desirous of meeting under the Supreme Body in this country considering it derogatory to the national character to apply to a sister country for warrants of constitution, and a circular was issued in September 1858 by the Masters, advocating a union in the interests of Masonry with the Grand Mark Lodge. Additions were thus continually made to the Lodges, ranging themselves under the banner of the G. Lodge of England; and Lord Leigh continued to be elected Grand Master till June 1860, when he was succeeded by the Earl of Carnarvon, who in turn has been succeeded by equally noted Constitutional Masons, like Viscount Holmesdale, Earl Percy, the Earl of Limerick, the Earl of Lathom, Lord Henniker, &c. The Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons, it may be stated, is in friendly relation, so far as regards the Mark Degree, with the General Grand Royal Arch Chapter of the United States of America, as well as with the Grand Royal Arch Chapters of Ireland, Canada, Quebec, Pennsylvania, Iowa, West Virginia, and Columbia. The Mark brethren assembled in the ante-room at 7·15 precisely, and under the direction of Bro. Brice Craig, Director of Ceremonies for the occasion, marched in procession to the Lodge room. Masonic honours having been accorded to the representative of the M.W. Grand Master, Bro. Dalrymple, Consecrating Officer, took the chair, and appointed his Officers pro tem, after which his authority to constitute and dedicate the Lodge, duly signed by the M.W.G.M. Lord Henniker, was read. The founders of the new Mark Lodge, Bros. H. P. Mayle, C. M. Challender, and T. H. Nesbitt, were called upon to present themselves to the Consecrating Officer, and the petition which had been forwarded by them to the Grand Master, praying for a Warrant of Constitution, was afterwards read. The warrant granted by the M.W.G.M. Lord Henniker was read by Bro. Nesbitt, and in response to the recommendation of the petitioning brethren, Bros. G. C. Heron, Hy. Brearley, and C. E. Johnson were named by the Grand Master as the Most Worshipful, Senior Warden and Junior Warden respectively. The interesting ceremony of consecration was then gone through in an imposing manner, Bro. Dalrymple and the brethren by whom he was accompanied acquitting themselves in the discharge of the onerous duties devolving upon them in a manner which elicited the hearty approbation of all present, and which will long be remembered in the annals of Insular Masonry. The presiding Officer having formally dedicated the Lodge, Bro. Nesbitt nominated, and Bro. Mayle seconded, twelve candidates for membership, who were unanimously elected, and nine subsequently advanced to the most honourable degree of Mark Master Mason in a praiseworthy manner. The brethren who had not attained to the rank of W.M. having retired, Bro. George C. Heron was installed in the chair in ancient form by Bro. Dalrymple, and the brethren having been re-admitted, he was saluted and proclaimed in the manner customary amongst Masons, and duly appointed and invested his Officers for the ensuing twelve months, as follow:—Bros. Hy. Brearley S.W., C. F. Johnson J.W., L. G. Hannay M.O., T. H. Nesbitt S.O., Secretary and Registrar of Marks, W. A. McKown J.O., J. A. Brown Treasurer, J. Morrison S.D., J. H. Stretch J.D., W. J. Brown I.G., and J. Lanagban Tyler. Bro. G. M. Lofthouse presided at the organ during the various ceremonies of consecration, advancement, &c., and the ability and execution displayed by him in the manipulation of the instrument gave general satisfaction, and well deserved the encomiums he received. On the motion of Bro. J. A. Brown, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Bro. Dalrymple and the rest of the visiting brethren for their assistance and co-operation in the establishment and consecration of the Lodge. After a running fire of hearty good wishes from the visitors, and the nomination of eleven candidates for advancement, the Lodge closed in brotherly love and harmony. After the completion of the Masonic ceremonies, the brethren, upon the invitation of Bro. Heron, the newly-installed Master, adjourned to the Peveril Hotel, where an excellent dinner was served. The toast list included the Queen, proposed by Bro. Heron; the M.W. Grand Master and Grand Lodge Officers, proposed by Bro. Heron and responded to by Bro. Dalrymple; the W.M.M. Bro. Heron, proposed by Bro. Dalrymple; the Visiting Brethren, proposed by Bro. Heron and responded to by Bro. Peacock; the Mark Masons of Manxland, proposed by Bro. Dearden and responded to by Bro. G. M. Lofthouse; the Promotors of the Peveril Mark Lodge—Bros. Nesbitt and McKown, proposed in felicitous terms by Bro. Heron and responded to by the brethren named; and the Host and Hostess, proposed by Bro. J. A. Brown and responded to by Bro. Nattan. The brethren separated at one a.m., having spent an enjoyable evening.

Digitized by Google

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our Correspondents.

All Letters must bear the name and address of the Writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return rejected communications.

—:o:—

BENEVOLENT OUTLAY AND RETURNS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Responding to your invitation, I desire to say a few words anent your thoughtful article in last week's issue under the heading of "Candidates for the Schools and their Parents' Benevolence." To my mind you have put the pros and cons very fairly, with the result that few, if any, can fail to understand the issues raised. I am disposed to accept your conclusions, for the simple reason that it is impossible to define the measure of support given to our charities by individual brethren and their friends. I know of no means by which claims could be adequately considered upon the basis of subscriptions, and I should not like to be engaged in the task of selection. The inquiry, to be just, would have to be far-reaching and exhaustive. If it were possible to get at the facts it would need the services of a skilled actuary to determine relative merits, for not only would amounts have to be considered, but time and circumstances under which support had been given to Masonic work and charity. There are many brethren who cannot subscribe a large sum, but whose subscriptions are only locally credited to them. Others, again, give time and work. All these conditions would have to be taken into account, and what that would involve I leave to be imagined. As an abstract proposition it is right that those who support the Charities in their prosperity should have preferential claims in their adversity, or the adversity caused by their death. Like many other abstract propositions, however, it is subject to the control of circumstances, and cannot be applied in the pure and absolute form of justice. "God helps those who help themselves," and although the manner of fulfilment of this axiom is not always apparent, it would be an insult to the principle of eternal justice to suppose that the cheerful giver should altogether lose his reward even in this world. The difficulty of rewards consists in marshalling facts and in deciding claims. No law would meet the case, and as far as I can see no system that could be framed would be even approximately just.

Many brethren subscribe to our Charities who have no children, or if they have, they are frequently of such an age at the time of need as to be ineligible for the Schools. Many subscribers are not members of the Craft, and it would be manifestly unfair to handicap their efforts by giving preference to candidates who would be virtually removed from the test of competition. There are some deserving cases no doubt that fail in consequence of not being known, from lack of influential support, whose claims are unquestionably great, even paramount. These are pitiable exceptions, and not the rule, for which I fail to see how provision can be made. What can and ought to be done is, to place the facts of each case before the brethren, so that those having votes, and who dispose of them upon their individual responsibility, may have a fair opportunity of making a choice. The voting power, however, to a large extent is concentrated in Lodges and in Provinces, and as these bodies have a full knowledge of the candidates they support, it is fair to suppose that most pressing claims are as a rule preferred. It should also be remembered that no candidate is accepted unless found worthy according to well defined rules, and that the claims of each are put forth officially as fairly and as fully as can well be done by the Committee of selection. Speaking generally then, all candidates are placed on an equal footing, and the result depends upon the agency each can command. This is a matter for the friends or candidates to see to themselves, for which no law can be framed. Upon the whole I think the present system works well, notwithstanding the shock that sentimental justice sometimes receives.

Yours fraternally,

WATCHMAN.

MASONRY AND MUSIC.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I was not a little startled, and I may add not less agreeably surprised, at some remarks I noticed at the close of a report in your issue of the 18th inst. of the Installation Meeting of St. Martin's-le-Grand Lodge, No. 1538. They say the sting lies in the tail, and this is true of the report referred to. Fortunately for me I belong to a Lodge where work and benevolence are the ruling motives. We occasionally indulge in show, and sometimes I fear we are getting leavened with the vice of extravagance; but hitherto the humblest brother amongst us has had a fair chance. Work, character, and devotion to the Craft hitherto have been the only credentials necessary for office. So long as a brother has kept up his subscriptions, been regular in attendance, punctual and skilful in the discharge of his duties, the path to the chair has been free from the obstructions of lavish personal expenditure and the exercise of inordinate ambition. In a word, money has been regarded as the means to certain ends, and not the ends themselves.

I am a lover of music, I am no enemy to the profession, but I do not like music, however sweet its sounds, to obstruct business, to lengthen banquets, so as to make them a painful necessity, instead of a pleasurable observance. I do not want the rich Master to set the example of lavish expenditure to the temptation, and it may be the injury of his successors. I am glad, therefore, that you have had courage to assail growing evils—those of excessive expenditure and the waste of time at banquets. I hope you will follow up the charge and continue to be outspoken in all matters relating to the interests of the Fraternity.

Yours faithfully,

I.P.M.

INSTALLATION CONCERTS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—It will, and not without reason perhaps, be made the subject of remark that your comments on the very common practice of having professional vocalists at installation banquets would have carried with them greater weight had they been made in general terms, and not with reference to a particular Lodge. You have unquestionably laid yourself open to this kind of criticism. But looking at the matter from a general point of view, I am very much inclined to think your remarks are well worthy of consideration, and for this, if for no other reason, that it unnecessarily prolongs a meeting which, in the very nature of things, must be of unusual length. An installation meeting must occupy a good deal of time, and however much the majority of us brethren may be in love with Masonry and all its works, I confess that I for one, and I fancy there must be a good many more of the same opinion, do not appreciate long sittings, especially if they can be kept within reasonable limits. I am not ashamed to say that I am very partial to the society of my brother Masons, that I respect good working in the Lodge, and that I invariably find the work gives me a good appetite for the banquet that follows. In short, I do not attach undue importance to the "knife and fork" degree, but I conform to its ritual on all suitable occasions, and there are none more suitable than after one has played an humble part in a long course of Lodge business. I delight in listening to a good speech; and music, be it vocal or instrumental, hath charms to soothe my savage breast. But I take the liberty of suggesting that a set concert, by professional artists, is out of place at our Lodge banquets. I have said that I am partial to music, and it is not the music as such that I object to. It smacks too much of formality and involves no end of expense. This latter point is, of course, of no consequence where a W.M., or the Lodge over which he presides, has always a large balance at his or its bankers'. But how will it fare with me, who am not so fortunately placed, if in my turn I should happen to be installed in the chair of K.S. My immediate predecessor, and it may be all my predecessors in the chair, have been blessed with long purses, purses which seem to be almost inexhaustible. If I follow their example, and engage the services of half a dozen professional singers, I suffer in pocket; if I do not follow their example, I run the very common risk of being dubbed "niggardly," or "poor devil," while, in fact, I am neither. But there is another and almost equally forcible objection. In the case which evoked your criticism, you say there were some dozen toasts, in the intervals between which there were as many songs. In such case, I presume, the toast list must have been spread over some three hours, which, as a reasonable being who has duties to attend to, and requires a certain amount of rest between the work of one day and that of the next, is about twice as long as is compatible with my sense of comfort. I repeat, I have no objection to a long sitting in Lodge, I am the reverse of indifferent to a good dinner, and I like to know it is digested by the agency of the genial toast, song, and sentiment, but let all this be done in reason, so that the man of large means and the man of moderation may, so far as outward appearances go, stand on pretty much the same level before their brother Masons.

Digitized by Google

I fear I must ask you and your readers to pardon my seeming egotism, but I am afraid that in the circumstances some slight amount of this objectionable article cannot be dispensed with altogether. With this apology, I subscribe myself,

Faithfully and fraternally,

R. L. X.

PROVINCE OF WEST YORKSHIRE.

We have been requested to publish the following communications:—

St. John's, Wakefield, 19th October 1883.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I desire to remind you that Grand Lodge meets on Wednesday, 5th December, to consider the Report of the special Building Committee, appointed to consider the question of reinstating, enlarging, or removing the old Masonic Temple, recently seriously damaged by fire.

I have the pleasure to enclose, for your consideration, copy of Resolutions adopted by our Provincial Grand Lodge on the 3rd inst.

It would afford us great satisfaction if you would, at the earliest opportunity, lay it before the members of your Province and of your Lodge, with a view to a similar expression of opinion, to be supported by members attending in Grand Lodge on 5th December.

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

HENRY SMITH,

Prov. G. Secretary.

At a Provincial Grand Lodge, holden in the Town Hall, Ripon, on Wednesday, 3rd October 1883.

PROPOSED RE-BUILDING OF GRAND LODGE.

The W. Deputy Provincial Grand Master, Bro. Thomas William Tew, J. P., in pursuance of Notice, proposed, and W. Bro. George E. Webster Provincial G. Registrar, seconded, and it was resolved.

1.—"That this Prov. G. Lodge of West Yorkshire, whilst fully appreciating the services of the Special Committee appointed to report to Grand Lodge on the subject of the Masonic Temple recently seriously damaged by Fire, regards with surprise and alarm the Report of such Committee, which contemplates the purchase of the unexpired term of 5½ years' lease, with furniture, of Bacon's Hotel for £6,000 (annual rent £360), and the granting of an extension of Messrs. Spiers and Pond's lease to 50 years. That this Provincial Grand Lodge is of opinion that the leasing of any property of Grand Lodge, except for a very limited period, is, under any circumstances, highly objectionable, and may prove, as in the cases of the three leases now existing, extremely inconvenient, and that the question of rent is quite a secondary consideration compared with the retention of full control of the premises and the tenants of Grand Lodge."

2.—"And this Provincial Grand Lodge would suggest the desirability of the Temple at Freemasons' Hall being reinstated at a moderate cost, to be provided out of the funds received from the Insurance Offices. And that under the direction of the Grand Superintendent of Works, competent Architects, Masons or Non-Masons, be invited to submit plans for this purpose."

3.—"That copies of these Resolutions be transmitted to Grand Lodge and to the Board of General Purposes."

HENRY SMITH,

Prov. G. Secretary.

Bro. Peter Forge, of Billingsgate, proposes to give another of his fish suppers to Islington Freemasons, in aid of the Masonic Charities. The last was a bit of a scramble, owing to the great crowd of fish-eaters who put in an appearance being too much for the waiters, but this time everything is to be on the best principles. The large room at the Cock at Highbury is to be the scene of operations, and the 9th of November is to be the day. Thus all those who do not happen to be invited to turtle with the Lord Mayor, will have an opportunity of tasting every known fish in season with Peter Forge. Peter generously presents the fish, promising something like thirty courses, and the money subscribed for the tickets is to go to the Masonic Charities. As this supper is in connection with the Kingsland Lodge of Instruction, Brother Terry is to preface it with a rehearsal of the ceremony of installation.—Islington Gazette.

The Revised Book of Constitutions; Critically Considered, and Compared with the Old Edition. London: Simpkin, Marshall & Co., 4 Stationers' Hall Court, E.C. Sent on receipt of stamps, One Shilling, by W. W. Morgan, Freemason's Chronicle Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.—(ADVT.).

The monthly meeting of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls was held on Thursday afternoon at Freemasons' Hall, Col. Creaton, Past Grand Treasurer, in the chair. There were also present Bros. J. H. Matthews, John A. Rucker, Frank Richardson, James Peters, E. H. Finney, Samuel H. Parkhouse, H. Massey, J. J. Caney, A. H. Tattershall, and F. R. W. Hedges Secretary. After the reading and confirmation of the minutes of the former meeting, and the reading of the minutes of the Quarterly Court, and of the House Committee, and of the Audit Committee for information, Bro. Frank Richardson P.G.D., said that at the last meeting of the House Committee it was the unanimous feeling of the Committee that Miss Redgrave's salary was not commensurate with her attainments, and therefore on behalf of the House Committee he gave notice that at the next meeting of the General Committee he should move that Miss Redgrave's salary be increased from £75 to £95 per annum. Cheques in payment of the quarterly accounts were authorised to be signed by the Chairman. One petition was received and examined, and the candidate ordered to be placed on the list for the next April election. The Committee adjourned after passing a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

The October meeting of the Lodge of Benevolence was held at Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday last. The President and Vice-Presidents were Bros. James Brett, William Stevens, and W. H. Perryman. The number of brethren who attended was large, and so was the number of cases applying for relief. After confirming recommendations made at the September meeting, the Lodge considered the new list, which contained the names of thirty-four applicants, of whom sixteen were widows of Masons, one the daughter of a Mason, and the other seventeen were distressed brethren. The cases were nearly equally divided between London and the Provinces. In the course of a three hours' sitting, two of the cases were deferred through informality; but the remaining thirty-two were relieved, with a total sum of £850. At the opening of the proceedings Bro. J. H. Matthews informed the Lodge of the death of Bro. Henry Murray Past District Grand Master of China.

A meeting of the North London Chapter of Improvement was held on the 25th instant, at the Alywne Castle, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury. Comps. Gregory sustained the office of Z., Holness H., Killick J., George S.N., Edmonds P.S. This Chapter of Improvement will open on Thursday next, 1st November, at 7 o'clock, instead of 8, as the Installation of Principals will be rehearsed on that evening.

MADAME WORRELL'S ANNUAL CONCERT.

THAT popular artiste Madame Worrell, wife of our esteemed Bro. William Worrell, scored a well-deserved success at Brixton Hall, on Thursday evening, the 11th inst., the occasion of her annual concert. Every seat was occupied, while many visitors were compelled to stand. The company was select and fashionable, as well as numerous, and gave Madame Worrell a very hearty reception. The programme opened with "The Lass of Richmond Hill" (part song), Miss M. Roby, Miss A. Butterworth, Bro. F. H. Cozens and Mr. Budd. "Very nearly" (Lohr), by Miss Maud Cameron followed. "Gold" was given in very good style by Bro. Frederick Bevan, who was also very successful in his second contribution, "Trafalgar." Madame Worrell was in excellent voice, and sang with her usual ability. Her songs were "O that we two were Maying" (Gounod). "Meanwhile" (A. H. Behrend), a composition that deserves to become popular (accompanied by the composer); and "I did not know" (Frank L. Moir). She also took the soprano part in the duet, "Qui est Homo," with Madame Osborne Williams, which was very successful. Madame Worrell was in each instance recalled, and by force of applause induced to sing again. Madame Osborne Williams gave in good voice "Fanciulle che et core; (Dinorah) and "Daddy," Behrend. "Vio che sapeta" (Figaro) was given with much grace and feeling by Miss Matilda Roby, who also sang "Just as Well," for which she had a spirited encore. Bro. Henry Guy gave with his wonted charm "O 'tis a glorious sight" (Weber), also "Days gone by." Two songs were pleasingly rendered by Miss Annie Butterworth, "Gentle Faces," and "A Song and a Rose." Bro. Budd was highly successful in the new song "Allegiance," a very taking musical composition of Distin's, with words by Oxenford, brisk and full of ring. Violoncello solos, including Caprice de Concert and Nocturne (Piatti), were also skilfully performed by Mons. Albert; and Bro. Cozens gave some admirable comic songs, which were received with immense applause. The pieces were accompanied throughout by Bro. Turle Lee with his usual care and ability. Indeed the Concert was an entire success, and Madame Worrell, together with her friends, cannot fail to be satisfied with the result.

Digitized by Google

THE HOLBORN RESTAURANT.

WHEN a firm begin to enlarge their premises it is a sign that their business is increasing and that the public have confidence in them. About ten years ago some enterprising gentlemen converted the old Holborn Casino into an elegant dining saloon, and so great has been their success, that they have now enlarged their space, developed their resources, and perfected arrangements, already excellent. They were the first to set the example of giving good music while their customers were dining, thus pleasing the fancy as well as the gastronomic tastes. While still continuing upon the old familiar lines, the proprietors have been lavish in decoration, and have paid particular attention to comfort. Masons early found out the advantages of the Holborn Restaurant, and have used it with great satisfaction for some years. To them we need not commend the establishment, but to those who have not dined there we simply say —Go, and judge for yourselves. We cannot give an architectural description of the building, nor can we say positively that the proprietors have been influenced by the fact that Masons so largely patronise them. But it is interesting to notice that the present structure affords evidence of the development of Operative Masonry, and is certainly a thing of beauty, and most likely will be a joy for many years to come. In a handsomely printed prospectus, the proprietors set forth the history of the past; they tell of the present, leaving the future to make its demands, and secure their satisfaction. It is a modest, yet a truthful statement, and one that will please all classes, even the teetotalers, and clubs and societies of modest means. Every want has been provided for, from the simple bun and a glass of water to the most récherché banquet, and costly and delicate wines. The same attention will be paid to the humble customer as to the rich one, that is, so far as civility and politeness go. No one dining at this establishment will be solicited to order wine; he must ask for it if he requires it. This arrangement will gratify most people, and will put those at their ease who do not indulge in intoxicants. In a word, we may say that the Holborn Restaurant is an open club, where everything can be obtained to please the pocket and the fancy. Like as at an officers' mess, music accompanies eating; but, unlike it, that whereas one set of persons dine in barracks, the others luxuriate in a palace, surrounded with works of art, and all that can add to gastatory enjoyment.

"MASONIC WORLD" AND MEMPHIS RITE.

"THE so-called Masonic World, for July, says:

"'The first, second and third degrees of the Rite of Memphis have been worked in France and several other countries. Nearly all the Masons in Egypt were made in this Rite. In fact it gave birth to the National Grand Lodge of Egypt, which is universally recognised by the York and other rites.'

"A mistake. The Grand Lodge of Egypt has not been universally recognised by the Grand Lodges of the Craft. It has been denied recognition by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania and other Grand Lodges. It was, among other reasons, just such an entangling alliance as that above mentioned, that has justly caused it to fail to receive the approval of judicious Freemasons."

The above extract, from the Keystone, shows a point well taken, but it might have gone further, and stated that the Masonic powers of France when appealed to for acknowledgment by the Memphis Rite, made an examination through a committee, who reported that inasmuch as the said Rite had no foundation degrees, that is the first, second, and third, the superstructure must fall. The report was approved and the Rite rejected as not possessing any Masonic status whatever. Hence France declared it was not Masonry. Subsequently, at different periods, three degrees by sections or detachments were composed for the system, and thereby hangs another curious narrative.

We received a copy of the so-called Masonic World, but found it so full of complete nonsense that we laid it aside as a curiosity—a specimen of idiosyncrasies.—Hebrew Leader.

NEW MUSIC.

The Bride's March: by Brother James Loaring, F.C.O.

WE have received an early copy of this march, which is one of the best we have heard for a long time, and we venture to opine that it will become as popular as Mendelssohn's "Wedding March." It is one of the most beautiful compositions we have listened to for many a long day, and the principal theme haunts the memory. Visitors to the International Fisheries Exhibition will recognise the Bride's March as amongst the choicest morceaux to be heard within the building, and it is always received with the utmost possible éclat. We congratulate Brother Loaring upon the great success which he has already achieved with his new piece, and which bids fair to take rank amongst the most brilliant and favourite acquisitions to the drawing-room.

—:o:—

Nita. Spanish Serenade. Respectfully dedicated to Mdme. Alvarez by I. L. Ximenes y Peña. London: C. Jefferys, 67 Berners-street

THIS is a very tuneful and pleasing melody, and highly characteristic of the national music of which it is a part. The words also are to be commended; there is a nice easy flow about them, which has evidently evoked a kindred spirit in the composer in his setting. If sung at our banquets, and it is an appropriate song for such occasions, we feel sure it will be well received.

THE LODGE HOME OF MASONS.

HOME is one of the most expressive of words. It is invested with an almost magical power to rouse the feelings of the heart and to set in motion thoughts and sentiments which belong to the nobler part of human nature. Its potent suggestions belong first of all to the domestic fireside, around which cluster such priceless ministries and affections. This home stands as the sanctuary of love, the school of human virtue, and the resting-place where many souls may find refreshment and peace not elsewhere obtainable. Men go forth to the hard toils and sometimes grievous conflicts of life, fulfilling thus the conditions to which their earthly being is appointed; and how blessed the privilege, after such labours, of returning to the one charmed spot where they are sure to find welcome and rest, thus obtaining a fresh invigoration for whatever may be the work to which they are called!

Home, with its gracious privileges and endearments, can hardly be represented in too attractive colours. Every true and loving heart appreciates the worth of home, and holds in high esteem the comforts and virtues found within its hallowed limits. This is the home where we dwell with loved ones and find the supremest zest of being. Here we are sure of appreciation however the world may misjudge or misuse us; and here we may bar out much that is hard and unwelcome, so creating an ideal atmosphere of love, purity, and peace. Blessed indeed are the homes of earth—the domestic firesides—that afford these bountiful ministries of affection, and contribute so much to make human life purer, sweeter and happier than it could otherwise be.

The word home may have a wider suggestiveness than when applied to the domestic fireside. The religious home is often referred to in our common speech. The house of worship, within whose walls believers meet to offer their devotions to Almighty God, is in some sense a home. Those who bow around the same altar sustain to each other a close and sacred relation. They are constituted into one family by the bonds of a spiritual fellowship. Thus the religious home becomes grandly attractive, while its gracious ministries bless the life on its superior side. The altar and the church serve to bring men into a close companionship, so that they become helpers of each other, while together as brethren and fellow-believers they engage heartily in enterprises that look to the welfare of the human world and the glory of God. It is the Church home with its good fellowship, its tenderness of thought and sentiments, that provides large and blessed accomplishments, while it also supplies an atmosphere of moral peace and delight.

With equal propriety reference is often made to the Masonic home, meaning thereby the Lodge in which Brethren hold membership. A Mason's thoughts and affections should not be unduly circumscribed. He ought to have a high regard for the Institution with which he is connected, and be concerned in whatever relates to its advancement and glory. He may well be interested in the several departments of Masonic work and instruction. But after all his Lodge should hold the high place of honour and preferment. It should be regarded as his Masonic home. Whatever other ties and engagements may be formed in the great Brotherhood, every true Craftsman will hold most sacred these relations established between himself and his brethren who are members of the same Lodge. He should realise the family nature of their association, the good fellowship to which they are privileged, and not less the good work for which they are called to co-operation and mutual endeavours.

Every Masonic Lodge should be made to constitute a real home for its members. Its atmosphere should be that of love and restfulness —of sociability and sympathy—thus attracting brethren to such a home that they may be refreshed in their life and encouraged in the way of their mortal pilgrimage. The Masonic Lodge that is not characterised by this kindredness of feeling fails to some extent in accomplishing its rightful mission. The Lodge which does not provide a bright, cheerful, restful home for its members, is lacking in what cannot be supplied by any wealth of resources or mere aggregation of numbers.

To constitute the Lodge a real home—to establish the family relation among its members—should be the distinctive aim of brethren thus associated together. They must let the love of their hearts go out to one another, recognising the special bond that unites them. They must enter into each other's joys and sorrows as do the members of the same family. They must not only be courteous and sociable, but sympathetic also, and ready to perform the offices of pity and help as occasion may offer. Only in this way can the Lodge take on the blessed characteristics of that home which it ought to do according to the genius and aims of Masonry.—Freemasons' Repository.

At the meeting of the Eccleston Lodge of Instruction, No. 1624, to be held at the King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, S.W., on Saturday evening, 3rd November, Bro. James Stevens P.M. P.Z., on the invitation of the Lodge, will deliver his lecture, explanatory of the Rituals and Ceremonies of the First Degree. Lodge will be opened at 6·45. The attendance of brethren is invited.

The Covent Garden Lodge of Instruction, No. 1614, now meets at the Cranbourne, 1 Upper St. Martin's Lane, W.C. (Next door to Aldridge's Horse Repository), on Thursday evenings, at 8 o'clock. Bro. W. H. Richardson P.M. 1348 is the Preceptor, and Bro. G. Reynolds 1614 the Secretary.

DANCING.—To Those Who Have Never Learnt to Dance.—Bro. and Mrs. JACQUES WYNMANN receive daily, and undertake to teach ladies and gentlemen, who have never had the slightest previous knowledge or instruction, to go through every fashionable Ball-dance in a few easy lessons. Private lessons any hour. Morning and evening classe

PROSPECTUS ON APPLICATION

ACADEMY—74 NEWMAN STREET, OXFORD STREET, W.

BRO. JACQUES WYNMANN WILL BE HAPPY TO TAKE THE MANAGEMENT OF MASONIC BALLS. FIRST-CLASS BANDS PROVIDED.

Digitized by Google

THE IMPERIAL HOTEL,

HOLBORN VIADUCT, LONDON,

Adjoining the Termini of the London Chatham and Dover Railway, but distinct from the Viaduct Hotel.

THE BEST FURNISHED AND MOST COMFORTABLE HOTEL IN LONDON.
HOT & COLD WATER LAID ON IN ALL BED ROOMS.
The appointments throughout so arranged as to ensure domestic comfort.

EVERY ACCOMMODATION FOR MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS,
Public Dinners & Wedding Breakfasts.

The Crusaders Lodge, No. 1677, and Perseverance Lodge, No. 1743, hold their meetings at this establishment.

GOOD COOKING. FINE WINES. MODERATE CHARGES.
The Edison Electric Light.
TARIFF on APPLICATION to Bro. A. BEGBIE.

HOLLY BUSH TAVERN, HAMPSTEAD,

(Close to the Fire Station).

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; BALLS and ASSEMBLIES; PARochial DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c. Rail and Bus within easy distance.

The members of the St. John's Lodge, No. 167, have held their meetings at this establishment for many years.

Full particulars and Tariff on application to
C. M. FROUD, Proprietor.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL SPECIAL BUILDING FUND.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

In connection with such Special Fund, attainable until 31st December 1883.

ny present Life Governor of the General Fund, or any Donor who ay qualify as such up to the date named above, will receive—

TWO VOTES,—instead of One Vote, for LIFE, for every FIVE GUINEAS contributed to the "Special Fund."

Lodges, Chapters, &c., similarly qualified may secure Two Votes instead of One Vote—for every Ten Guineas contributed to the "Special Fund."

 Ladies, and "Lewises"—being minors—similarly qualified, and all Vice-Presidents, will receive FOUR Votes for every Five Guineas so contributed.

Contributors of less than Five Guineas, to the "Special Fund," will be entitled to Votes as under ordinary conditions.

Now Ready, Crown 8vo, 96 pp,

Price One Shilling,

Free by Post on receipt of 24 Halfpenny Stamps,

OCCASIONAL PAPERS
ON
THE HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.

Written expressly for delivery in Lodges of Instruction.

London: W. W. MORGAN,
Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N.

Twelfth Edition, post free, One Shilling.

DR. WATTS on ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS. A Treatise on the only successful Method of Curing these Diseases. By Robert G. Watts, M.D., F.R.S.L., F.C.S., &c., 5 Bulstrode-street, Cavendish-sq., London.
London: C. Mitchell and Co., Red Lion-court, Fleet-street; and Simpkin and Co., Stationers' Hall-court

Brother C. G. SPARROW,

ACCOUNTANT AND AUDITOR,
17 FINSBURY PAVEMENT, E.C.

Accounts audited periodically at a moderate annual charge.
Terms on application.

PAUL & BURROWS,

MANUFACTURERS OF
SODA WATER AND SELTZER WATER,
LEMONADE AND GINGER BEER,
GINGER ALE AND POTASH WATER,
&c. &c.
FIRST CLASS QUALITY ONLY.
WILSON and ENDELL STREETS, LONG ACRE, LONDON, W.C.
ESTABLISHED EIGHTY YEARS.

BRO. R. HIRST engages to provide, at short notice, an efficient Band for Annual Banquets, Dinners, Excursions and Quadrille Parties. For terms apply to "R. Hirst, The Three Crowns, 237 Mile End Road, E."

FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE

RANDOM NOTES AND REFLECTIONS.

A LETTER has appeared from Bro. H. Sadler, which raises a most important point with regard to the furnishing of the new Temple. He enumerates eight valuable portraits that were destroyed by the late fire, of which he is apprehensive that neither copies nor engravings exist. He expresses the doubtful hope that others may be more fortunate, and as he says, "may be able to enlighten us as to whether any of them were either engraved or copied." We fear the loss is irreparable; were it otherwise, the expense of replacing them in oil would be very great. If the subjects or any of them have been engraved, a copy of each might be obtained perhaps at a comparatively small cost; and these would help to keep alive the memory of the originals, who were illustrious men and Masons. It would be a pity to lose altogether the outward representations of the eight brethren referred to, and we sincerely hope that Bro. Sadler's efforts to secure substitutes of some kind for the originals will be successful.

—:o:—

What a history might be written of those brethren whose effigies have been destroyed! Their Masonic record extends from 1772 to 1843, thus: Lord Petre 1772-77, Duke of Manchester 1777-82, Duke of Cumberland 1782-90, Prince of Wales 1790-1813. These were Grand Masters during those periods. The Earl of Moira was Acting Grand Master from 1790 to 1813. Then followed the Duke of Sussex, 1813-43. In addition to the portraits of the six brethren already mentioned, there were those of the Duke of Athol, Grand Master (Ancients) 1791 to 1813, and his successor, the Duke of Kent, 1813. In this year the Ancients and Moderns were formed into one Grand Lodge. The whole of the brethren we have named were distinguished men, who have left their mark upon the Craft. Losing their noble faces is parting with cherished links that bind the past with the present, that severs real landmarks, and tends to obliterate associations around which memory should cling with the veneration of children for honoured parents.

—:o:—

Bro. H. Thompson P.M. 117 1158, and P.Z. 619 is the fortunate possessor "of a large engraved portrait of the Earl of Moira . . . in fine preservation," which he says, "has been in my possession for many years." Thus the "counterfeit presentment" of one of the fathers of the Craft is saved for posterity. We hope that others will turn up as publicity is given to the matter. Would it not be desirable to apply to the living representatives of the other distinguished Masons? The inquiry might result in more important facts becoming known, such as would lead to the knowledge of the existence of the desired portraits, and might end in their acquirement. At any rate, the knowledge would be useful in determining the arrangements that will ere long have to be made.

—:o:—

We are glad to learn that Bro. Sadler has been more fortunate than probably he anticipated. He says he has "obtained engravings of three of the portraits that were in the Hall. One of them is a genuine relic, being a fine portrait of the Duke of Sussex in Highland costume, bearing H.R.H.'s signature, and presented to a brother whose nephew has now given it to Grand Lodge." The donor, according to the Evening News, is Bro. R. S. Warington, of Garrick-street.

—:o:—

The question of rebuilding the Temple must, ere long, be settled, and when it comes on for consideration we trust that some one will be prepared to enter into details so that the Craft may know the entire scheme. It is right enough, as far as it goes, to point out the main features, such as the enlargement of the Temple, the building of a new banquetting room, the removal of the kitchen, the acquire-ment of the tail of Mr. Bacon's lease, and other matters entailing the expenditure of money upon building operations. Beyond all this there are questions demanding the attention of the brethren, and not the least among them ought to be the one with regard to the destroyed portraits. Then there is the matter of the Library and Museum, and a proper waiting room. The decoration of the Temple is something more than an architectural question; the means of cultivating a knowledge of the literature of the Craft is beyond the builder's genius, and the collection and storing of mementoes of the past is a work which the learned of the Fraternity alone are fitted to perform. They all involve the outlay of money, and the question arises—whether it is not better to meet the case as a whole now rather than spend our substance entirely upon bricks and mortar, and relegate to a future generation the duty we owe to the memory of our predecessors, to those seeking the means of Masonic knowledge, and to those who desire to preserve whatever is left to us and can be gathered of the past. We think the wiser course would be to consider the matter as a whole, to prepare alternate schemes. At any rate, it is imperative that if a large outlay is incurred, some of it should go to the cultivation of the head as well as to the gratification of the stomach.

Digitized by Google

—:o:—

The Duke and Duchess of Albany terminated their visit to Huddersfield in excellent style. Before leaving the town the Masons of West Yorkshire determined to give H.R.H. Brother the Duke of Albany, the R.W.P.G.M. Oxfordshire, a loyal welcome. Accordingly, the brethren assembled in large numbers in the Town Hall, to which they invited the Duke just before his departure, to receive an address at their hands, and the welcome of fraternal fellowship. The occasion was made a red-letter day in the annals of the Craft of the Province. Over a thousand brethren obeyed the summons of the R.W.P.G.M. of West Yorkshire, Bro. Sir Henry Edwards.

—:o:—

The illustrious visitor was received by the Mayor Bro. Brigg, the Town Clerk Bro. Batley, and by the Masters of the five Lodges in Huddersfield. Prior to this the Lodge was officered by the following brethren: Rev. J. F. Pearce 275 W.M., W. B. Wall 299 S.W., W. H. Jessop 521 J.W., B. Hutchinson 1514 S.D., Wm. Fitton 1783 J.D., Wm. Harrop P.M. 290 I.G. Bro. Allan Haigh W.M. 1514 acted as D.C. After the Lodge had been formed it was converted into a special Provincial Grand Lodge, when the R.W.P.G.M. Bro. Sir Henry Edwards presided. The address, which was signed by him, by Bro. Thos. Tew D.P.G.M. West Yorkshire and S.G.D. Grand Lodge of England, and the W.M.'s of the five Lodges already mentioned, expressed pleasure at the opportunity that had been afforded of welcoming their Royal Highnesses to Huddersfield; it offered their homage of loyalty and affection to the Queen and the royal family, and referred to the position his R.H. occupied in the Craft, to the prospect of his residing at the Festival of the Boys' School next year, and to his talents and abilities. The address concluded as follows:

We acknowledge with pride and gratitude our fraternal attachment to your person, as well as our loyal obedience to you and His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, our Most Worshipful Grand Master of Freemasons in England, as recognised heads of our ancient and honourable Institution. We devoutly pray that your Royal Highness may be long spared to adorn the Craft, and that the principles of brotherly love, relief, and truth may take deep root, not only in the hearts of all Masons, but in the hearts of all men.

His Royal Highness replied in brief but happy terms, and was loudly cheered.

—:o:—

The R.W.P.G.M. thanked His Royal Highness for receiving the address, and after singing an appropriate hymn, the brethren formed in procession, and accompanied the Duke and Duchess (who was in waiting) to the station. The brethren marched in their full Masonic costume, and on returning to the Hall, thanks were given to the Mayor and Corporation, and to the chief of Police Bro. Ward. We should state that Bro. Joshua Marshall P.P.G.O., presided most ably at the organ.

—:o:—

We read of a fiddle being used in one Scotch Lodge to furnish the requisite musical accompaniment to the ceremonies; we have not, however, heard of the bagpipes doing similar duty. Perhaps those instruments—we were going to say of torture, but having the fear of our worthy Scotch brethren before our eyes, we will say—of primitive music, were considered too noisy. They are all very well for pibroch, reel and strathspey, but for the solemnities of the Lodge room they would be to ogreat an innovation, even for the most go-ahead Yankee. Speaking of music, we have too little of it, arising from various causes. Sometimes the Organist of a Lodge fails to put in an appearance too late to be of service, or absents himself altogether. The office being an honorary one, nothing can be said to him that would be likely to cause him to amend his ways, unless indeed there were more than one brother prepared to perform the duties. Then it sometimes happens that the ceremonies are too much hurried, not only to permit of the playing of appropriate music, but also to the detriment of the beautiful language of the Institution. In some Lodges they open and close with singing. This is a charming adjunct to the service of the Craft, and we should be glad to see it more generally adopted. It aids to form a devotional frame of mind, and tends to a wider interest in the proceedings. It makes each member a partaker of the ceremonies, and assuredly enhances the sublimity and bearing of the whole proceedings.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

ST. JOHN'S LODGE, No. 795.

THE installation meeting of the above Lodge was held on Wednesday, 17th October, at the Raymead Hotel, Maidenhead. A numerous array of brethren and visitors left town by the 1·10 train in a splendidly appointed saloon carriage, kindly placed at the disposal of the brethren by Bro. Hart, the courteous station master at Paddington, arriving at Maidenhead about two p.m. Here carriages were in readiness to convey the party to the Raymead Hotel, most charmingly situate on the banks of the Thames, the surrounding beauty of the scenery and the autumnal tints on the foliage being greatly admired and enjoyed by all present, the day being exceptionally fine and summer-like. After luncheon was partaken of, Lodge was opened, and the installation of Bro. T. B. Linscott proceeded with, the addresses being admirably delivered by Bro. Allen P.M. Lodge was closed, and the brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet and dessert, most excellently served by the host, Bro. Deacon. The usual toasts were given, that of the Visitors being responded to by Bros. Mason, Johnstone, and Osborn; and the Officers by Bro. J. Greenfield J.W. The brethren left for town about nine o'clock, having spent a most enjoyable day. The Visitors were Bros. J. Mason P.P.G.D. Middlesex, A. T. Lewis 140, J. Norrington 1669, T. Grove P.M. 1769, G. Croxton J.W. 1769, W. G. Dickins P.M. 860, J. Osborn P.M. 1602, C. Dearing 1602, E. Woodman J.W. 1950, H. W. Mayes Assistant G.P. Middlesex, H. Price 55, J. Johnstone W.M. 55, J. Edmonstone P.M. 1658, J. Blyth 178, A. J. Hopkins 178.

ELEANOR CROSS LODGE, No. 1764.

THE annual Festival of this prosperous and popular Lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Abington-street, Northampton, on Tuesday, 16th inst. Lodge was opened at five o'clock, by the Worshipful Master Bro. Henry Hill P.P.G.O., assisted by the Officers and brethren, and after the transaction of business routine and ceremonial, Bro. Henry Spoor Provincial Grand Sword Bearer, was duly installed, according to ancient custom, W.M. for the ensuing year, by his predecessor, assisted by Bro. Henry Brown P.P.G.J.W. The W.M. then appointed and invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. H. Hill I.P.M., E. Morris S.W., Rev. T. C. Beasley P.P.G.C. J.W., R. Taylor Treasurer, T. Emery Secretary, G. Butcher S.D., S. J. Newman J.D., A. Jones M.C., R. Croft Organist, J. Carrall I.G., H. V. Tebbutt S.S., W. Goldney J.S., C. Dean and W. Kirby Tylers. In addition to the above-named, the following occupied places in the Lodge:—Bros. Butler Wilkins Deputy Provincial Grand Master, Frederick Binckes P.M. Grand Stewards' Lodge, H. J. Atkins P.P.G.D. P.M., G. Ellard Prov. G.D.C. P.M. 360, Rev. S. W. Wigg P.P.G.C. W.M. 1911, J. L. Spoor, H. Roberts, H. Hodges, B. Thompson, T. P. Dorman, J. A. Jowett, W. J. Howe, F. Laycock, R. Abel, W. J. Clarke, J. Gold, J. J. Hart P.P.G.P. S.W. 360, G. L. Michel P.P.G.D. 360, E. Fletcher 360, Ward 1564, &c. A vote of thanks to Bro. Rev. S. J. W. Sanders P.M., for his valued services to the Lodge as Treasurer, was unanimously carried; and, after the acceptance of the Auditors' report Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to banquet, which was admirably served by Mrs. Forth, of the Peacock Hotel, and to which full justice was done. The usual toast list was presented—the Queen and the Craft, the Most Worshipful the Grand Master H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, the Grand Lodge and Officers were submitted in truly Masonic spirit by the Worshipful Master, who then proposed the Right Worshipful the Provincial Grand Master His Grace the Duke of Manchester, the Worshipful the Deputy Provincial Grand Master Bro. Butler Wilkins and the Officers of Provincial Grand Lodge. Bro. Butler Wilkins highly appreciated the reception accorded to the toast, and regretted that the many public engagements of his Grace prevented him oftener meeting his brethren, but trusted that as the next Provincial Grand Lodge would be summoned to meet under the banner of the Eleanor Cross, which had been consecrated since the Prov. G. Master last presided, he would be present, particularly if the date could be so altered as to suit his convenience. Bro. Wilkins assured the brethren that, as the duties of his position called upon him to attend each of the Lodges in this widely-extended Province, he need not say that he experienced the greatest pleasure in attending as often as possible those which were close at home. Bro. George Ellard, as Provincial Grand Director of Ceremonies, replied on behalf of the rest of Provincial Officers. Bro. Rev. T. C. Beasley J.W., in proposing the health of the Worshipful Master of the Eleanor Cross Lodge, did so with the recollection that at a time when he (Bro. Beasley) most required the guiding hand of a brother, it was the hand of Bro. Spoor which was held out to him, and which led him in a path they knew of, since which time he had watched the Masonic horizon of the Worshipful Master, and saw there a shining light, the progress of which he had notice with admiration, and congratulated him on having at length reached the zenith of his glory. Bro. Beasley was pleased to occupy the position of one of his Wardens, and hoped he and his brother Warden would find themselves in the position he had once observed in a very beautiful phenomenon called mock suns, in which two bodies appeared, one on either side of the sun, but which, instead of detracting from its brightness, seemed only to add thereto. The Worshipful Master, in acknowledging the flattering remarks of his Brother Junior Warden, said that, as one untried in the exalted position he found himself, he was fully aware of the responsibilities of the office, and the difficulties of the task he had undertaken, particularly in having to follow brethren of such marked skill as those of his predecessors, but what he lacked in ability should be made up for in zeal, and his efforts should be devoted to dispersing any little mists that might appear on the horizon, and to cement the harmony of the Lodge. Brother Ellard P.M. 360 proposed in eloquent and flattering terms The Installing Master and the Past Masters of the Lodge, regretting that the engagements of the brother who undertook the chief portion of that day's work had called him away, but whose place was well supplied by a brother whom they all liked, and were always glad to see and hear. Brother H. Brown P.M., in responding, lamented that circumstances had removed from among them on this occasion all those, with the exception of his companion, Bro. Atkins, who had previously adorned the chair of that Lodge, to work for which was his pleasure and delight, and assured the brethren that, as in the past, so in the future, loyalty to the Master would ever be the guiding principle of his actions, and that whoever might occupy the chair could rely on his assistance and the exercise of his ability in promoting the welfare of the Eleanor Cross Lodge. Bro. Atkins P.M. gave The Masonic Charities, and as Provincial Charity Steward for the year hoped to be enabled to carry to the Festival of the Boys' School such a list as would do credit to the Province of Norths and Hunts, and to that Lodge particularly; a Lodge which, although so young, had already distinguished itself in the cause of charity, and had added to its voting power, by becoming a vice-president of the Royal Masonic Institution for Aged and Decayed Freemasons. Brother F. Binckes, Secretary to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, replied in a powerful and most eloquent appeal on behalf of those three great Institutions, which were the pride of the Craft and the wonder of the uninitiated world, calling on each brother to remember that touching appeal to their hearts made when, at a peculiar moment, they promised, if in their power, to help, according to their means, those who, from unforeseen circumstances, were reduced to the lowest ebb of poverty and distress, and as they had been reminded that day, there was a second phase of being happy—that was to communicate happiness. Bro. James L. Spoor proposed the Visiting Brethren, assuring them of the heartiness of the welcome always accorded to the members of other Lodges. Bro. Ward, St. John's Lodge, No. 1564, suitably acknowledged the toast, and complimented the Officers on the efficient manner in which everything connected with the Lodge was carried out. Bro. T. Emery gave the Sister Lodges of the Province, to which Bro. J. Hart S.W. Pomfret Lodge, and Bro. Michel Past Warden responded. The Worshipful Master proposed the Warden and Officers of the Lodge, and Bro. E. Morris having, in happy terms, replied, the Tyler gave the concluding toast, which brought to a close a very happy meeting, characterised throughout by thorough harmony and concord. The proceedings were enlivened by some capital singing, accompanied by Bro. R. Croft, the very efficient Organist. The principal vocalists were Bros. Hart, Jowett, Laycock, Atkins, Butcher, Ellard, Emery, How, Fletcher, and Binckes, the last-named also rendering with effect a scene from Othello. Great praise is due to Bro. T. Emery for the transformation of the banquet room into a gala hall, by an artistic arrangement of flags, banners, shields, and plants.

Digitized by Google

BLACKHEATH LODGE, No. 1320.

A REGULAR meeting of this Lodge was held on the 18th inst., at the Trafalgar Hotel, Greenwich. The chair was occupied by Bro. A. Martin W.M.; Bros. J. R. Johnson S.W., H. A. Stunt J.W., Hubbuck P.M. Treasurer, R. A. Collington P.M. Secretary, H. D. Harfield P.G.S. S.D., Sadler Wood as J.D., Godden I.G., Atkinson Tyler; P.M. Morson. Visitors—Hampton 145, Westley I.G. 186, J. W. Dewsnap S.W. 1839, Bywater J.D. 419, H. M. Levy P.M. P.Z. 188. Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. Bro. J. Sadler Wood 177 was elected a joining member. Bros. A. Lister, E. C. Lister, E. Morson and J. M. Buckley were passed to the second degree. The working of the W.M. and Officers was in every respect perfect. The resignation of a Brother was accepted with regret. Bro. Johnson informed the brethren that he had undertaken a Stewardship at the next annual Festival for the Boys' School. The name of a candidate was handed in for initiation. Hearty good wishes were given by the brethren, and Lodge was closed until December. The brethren sat down to a very excellent dinner, provided by the London, Windsor and Greenwich Company (Limited), and superintended by Bro. J. C. Dowsing. The W.M., in appropriate terms, proposed the Loyal and Masonic toast. In speaking of the joining member, Bro. Sadler Wood, the W.M. stated their Lodge was in a very flourishing condition; Bro. S. Wood was a Mason they were pleased to have among them; at a short notice he had acted as J.D., and the Lodge was pleased to have such a brother as a member. Bro. Sadler Wood, in appropriate terms, returned thanks; he was grateful for the kind expressions of the W.M., and he thanked the W.M. for having placed a collar on him that evening. Brother Morson Immediate Past Master had great pleasure in proposing the toast of the W.M. It was he proposed Bro. Martin as a joining member; almost every brother knew his qualifications; he had fully carried out in every detail what the Lodge required of him. The W.M. in reply thanked Brother Morson for his kind remarks, and the brethren for the way they had received them; he hoped to give them every satisfaction in the future. He had reached the proud position of W.M., and hoped that when he left the chair he should do so with credit to himself and satisfaction to the Lodge. With the toast of the Visitors was coupled the names of Brothers H. M. Levy P.M. 188, and Dewsnap I.G. 188 and S.W. 1839, who each responded, complimenting the W.M. on his working, and also the Officers for the way in which every detail in Freemasonry had been carried out. In speaking of the Past Masters, the W.M. said it was always a custom to pay a tribute of respect to them, they were like the great pillars of our Order. He was pleased to place on the breast of Bro. Morson the jewel which had been unanimously voted to him for his valuable services; he (the W.M.) hoped he might live long to wear it among them. Bro. Morson I.P.M., in responding, said he felt great pleasure in receiving the jewel so kindly voted by the Lodge. The essence of Masonry is charity, and he hoped he had worked creditably in that great cause. It was always with pride he saw the dear children of the Girls' School; they were well looked after. Brother Hubbuck P.G.S. and Treasurer in a very eloquent speech followed. With the care evidenced by the W.M., the funds would be well looked after; he hoped that Lodges would be self supporting and not be dependent on Initiation Fees. This speaker was followed by Brother Collington P.M., the first Master of the Lodge, who was gratified to see the brethren so ably supporting their W.M. On behalf of the Past Masters, he heartily thanked them. The toast of the Wardens and Officers of the Lodge came next, and then the Tyler's toast was given. Bros. Hampton, Lester, Johnson, Goddard, and the Worshipful Master, sang some excellent songs.

ST GEORGE'S LODGE, No 1723.

THE monthly meeting was held on Wednesday, 26th September, at the Commercial Hotel, Bolton, at six o'clock in the evening. Bro. Robert Latham W.M. in the chair; Bros. E. G. Harwood J.W., N. Nicholson Secretary, T. B. Tong S.D., Bardsley I.G., and many other brethren. The minutes of the former meeting having been confirmed, Bros. T. M. Whewell and Joel Settle were entrusted and retired. Lodge proceeded to the second degree, when Bro. Bolton, having passed a satisfactory examination, was entrusted and also retired, when the Lodge was opened forthwith in the third degree, and Bro. Bolton was re-admitted and raised to the sublime degree of M.M. by Bro. James Heywood P.M. On closing to the second degree, Bro. Wheeler was passed by Bro. Nicholson P.M., and Bro. Settle was passed by the W.M. of the Lodge (Bro. Latham). Lodge closed to the first degree, when Mr. Robert Gowanlock, builder, of Bolton, was initiated an Entered Apprentice Mason by Bro. G. P. Brookbank, the Senior Past Master of this Lodge and W.M. of the Anchor and Hope Lodge, Bolton, No. 37, the working tools of the degree being explained by the J.W. Bro. Harwood (Mayor of Bolton), and the charge delivered, as usual, by Bro. Brookbank. Lodge was exceedingly well attended, and it was remarked that all the brethren who had served the office of Master in this Lodge were at their posts, and ready to take any part in the business of the Lodge to promote its interests. A portion of the Ancient Charge was read by the Senior Warden, and the Lodge closed in harmony at 8·15 p.m.

Kent Lodge of Instruction, No. 15.—At Bro. Serjeants', the King and Queen, Norton Folgate, E., on 24th inst. Present—Bros. Serjeant W.M., Black S.W., G. H. Clark J.W., J. K. Pitt J.D., C. Kramur I.G., J. Pinder P.M. Preceptor, J. Millington Secretary; also Bro. Wright, &c. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Pinder candidate. Brother Wright answered the questions leading to the second degree, and was entrusted. Lodge was opened in the second. The ceremony of passing was rehearsed. Lodge was closed in the second degree. Bro. Black was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. The ceremony of installation will be rehearsed next Wednesday, 31st October. Brethren are cordially invited to attend.

Justice Lodge of Instruction, No. 147.—On Thursday, 25th inst., at the Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford. Present—Bros. J. W. Freeman W.M., Banks S.W., Pitt J.W., Emblin S.D., Ingram P.M. I.G., S. R. Speight P.M. (Secretary), G. Bolton P.M., J. J. Hutchings (Preceptor), and several other brethren. The work comprised the rehearsal of the ceremony of installation by Bro. J. W. Freeman W.M. Justice Lodge, who performed his task in a very able and impressive manner. The Lodge was called off, and on resuming to the first degree, the chair was occupied by Bro. Bank S.W., and the ceremony of initiation rehearsed, Bro. Freeman personating the candidate. Lodge was then closed in due form. Brethren residing in the neighbourhood are cordially invited to attend.

Digitized by Google

St. John's Lodge, No. 221.—The monthly meeting of this Lodge was held on Wednesday, the 17th inst., at the Commercial Hotel, Bolton, at six o'clock in the evening. Present—Bros. James Isherwood W.M., J. Boothroyd I.P.M., Peter Bradburn J.W., G. R. Brockbank P.P.S.G.D. Treasurer, Charles Crompton S.D., James Walker J.D., W. Chambers I.G., J. S. Sugden, Thomas Morris P.M., Higson P.M., Ratter P.M., Forrest, Briscoe Organist, and others. Visitors—Bros. J. Goulburn St. George's 1723, Nightingale and Downes 146, Sugden P.M. Ripon Lodge, Darlington. The minutes of the last meeting having been confirmed, Bros. Fletcher and Bradley passed a satisfactory examination, and were entrusted. Lodge was advanced and Bros. Fletcher and Bradley were passed to the degree of Fellow Craft by the W.M.; the tools of the degree were explained by Bro. Boothroyd I.P.M. Lodge being closed to the first degree, Mr. John Swarsbrick jun., of Horwich, was duly balloted for, approved, and initiated an E.A. by the W.M., the working tools of the degree being explained by the J.W., Bro. Bradburn, and the customary charge delivered by Bro. G. P. Brockbank, senior P.M. A gentleman was proposed for initiation at the next meeting, and hearty good wishes were expressed by the visiting brethren. A vote of sympathy and condolence with the family of the late Bro. J. L. Aldred, a P.M. of the Lodge, who, during his career, had been a very useful and painstaking member, sparing neither time nor purse in promoting the interests of the Craft, especially with reference to the Charities of the Order, was passed, on the motion of Bro. Brockbank, who briefly referred to the labours Bro. Aldred had taken upon himself in relieving the Treasurer of some of the more onerous portions of his duty, and gratefully acknowledging his efficient services. A portion of the Ancient Charge having been read by the S.W., Lodge was closed in harmony at eight p.m.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—At the Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., on Saturday, 20th inst. Bros. Gush W.M., Parks S.W., Giller J.W., Gribbell S.D., Robinson J.D., Jenkins I.G., Fenner Acting Preceptor, and Galer Sec.; also Bros. Jones, Lardner, Manger, Darnell, Snook, Powell, and Bullock. After the formal business Bro. Lardner worked the first section of the third lecture, assisted by the brethren. Lodge was resumed to the second degree, and Bro. Jones offered himself as a candidate, underwent examination, and the ceremony of raising was rehearsed. The Lodge was called off and on. The W.M. worked the second section, and Bro. Lardner the third, assisted by the brethren. Lodge was closed in the third and second degrees. Bro. Bullock, of the Walton Lodge, 1086, was unanimously elected a member. Bro. Parkes was elected W.M. for the ensuing fortnight.

Brethren are cordially invited to attend on this Saturday, the 27th inst., when the Fifteen Sections will be worked under the presidency of Bro. A. W. Fenner P.M. 1693, assisted by Bros. D. Moss J.W. 1275, and J. A. Powell 186.

William Preston Lodge of Instruction, No 766.—Held at the St. Andrew, George-street, Manchester-square, W., on Friday, 19th inst. Present—Bros. G. Coop W.M., Wood S.W., Tribble J.W., Cursons S.D., R. Smith J.D., Antina I.G., H. Moore Secretary; also Bros. Smith, Stevens, Wright, Steng, Cox, Robinson, Halliday, &c. After preliminaries, the W.M. addressed the brethren in explanation of the science of Freemasonry. After which he called upon Bro. Moore to answer the questions of the first section of the first lecture. After giving the usual charge, the W.M. called upon Bro. Cursons to answer the questions of the second section, which he did with much satisfaction to the brethren. The charge following was responded to by the brethren, and the W.M. called upon Brother Tribble to answer the questions of the third section. Bro. R. D. Smith answered the questions of the fourth, Bro. Wood the fifth, which he did in a very perfect manner, in the absence of Bro. Cox, who wrote to be excused. This Brother also answered the questions of the sixth section. Bro. F. Smith was then called upon for the answers to the seventh section. The work throughout was done with great fluency, affording the brethren great pleasure. The Secretary read a letter from Mrs. West, thanking the Lodge for its kind assistance in helping the candidature of her daughter for the Girls' School; this has happily been successful. Bro. Halliday was elected a joining member of the Lodge. The Lodge was then closed, after a pleasant evening's meeting.

New Concord Lodge of Instruction, No. 813.—On Wednesday last, at Bro. Langdale's, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate Road. Bro. Trick occupied the chair, supported by Bros. Marks S.W., Jones J.W., P.M. Cosworth Preceptor, Perl Sec., Long S.D., Ashton J.D., Manger I.G.; P.M.'s Trewinnard, O'Donnell, Western, Forge. Lodge having been duly opened, and the minutes read, the W.M. proceeded to rehearse the ceremony of initiation, Bro. O'Donnell acting as candidate. Bro. O'Donnell then offered himself as a candidate to be passed, and after answering the necessary questions was duly entrusted. The Lodge was opened in the second degree, and the ceremony rehearsed. Lodge was closed in the second degree. The Preceptor proposed that a cordial vote of thanks be re orded on the minutes for the very able manner in which the W.M. had occupied and carried out the duties of the chair for the first time in this Lodge. This was seconded by the J.W., and unanimously carried. Bro. Marks was elected to the position of W.M. for the ensuing meeting. Nothing further offering for the good of Freemasonry, Lodge was closed in perfect harmony, and adjourned until Wednesday next, 31st October, at the hour of eight p.m. precisely, when the Officers for the year ensuing will be elected.

Lily of Richmond Lodge, No. 820.—A regular meeting of the above Lodge was held at the Greyhound Hotel, Richmond, on Wednesday, 10th instant, under the presidency of Bro. Hubbard, the W.M. After opening the Lodge, Brother Hubbard performed the ceremonies of initiation and raising, both of which were rendered most impressively; Bro. Young P.M. officiating as Organist. After Lodge was closed, the brethren sat down to a well served banquet The W.M. was particularly terse in giving the toasts, and thereby enabled the brethren to enjoy a long musical evening, songs and recitations being rendered by Bros. Wicks, Snook, Young, Woodman, Phillips, &c., Miss Thomas ably accompanying at the piano. Visitors—Bros. N. L. Western S.W. 1693, Snook 1693, Littlewood P.M. 760, W. B. Phillips P.M. 975, Humphreys P.M. St. John's, E. Woodman J.W. 1950, J. Baker 1471, J. Wicks 813.

Great Northern Lodge, No. 1287.—This Lodge opened its winter session on Thursday, the 18th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, when there were as many as sixty-seven members and visitors present. Bro. Thomas Owen the Master of the Lodge presided. There was a full agenda paper, and the whole of the three ceremonies were performed. The members of the Lodge resolved to increase there initiation fee from seven to ten guineas, and the fee for joining members from two guineas to four. The Lodge passed a vote of thanks to Brother Staton, the Secretary, and Bro. Henry Cox, a member of the Cranbourne Lodge, for their exertions in securing the election of a daughter of a Past Master of the Lodge to the Girls' School on the preceeding Saturday. After the dinner, which took place at Spiers and Pond's, Freemasons' Tavern, a beautiful selection of music was given by some of the brethren.

Lindsay Lodge, No. 1335.—The usual monthly meeting was held at Wigan, on Wednesday, the 3rd instant, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Present—Bros. J. D. Murray W.M., H. T. Byrom S.W., A. H. Crossley J.W., Johnson Secretary, R. B. Seddon S.D., W. Wall J.D., Boucher I.G., John Browne and W. M. Wylde Stewards, D. Mortimer P.P.G.O. Berks and Bucks Org.; also Bros. Robert Halliwell, H. Riddlesworth, Bezar P.M., and Ralph Betley P.M. Visitors—Bros G. P. Brockbank W.M. 87 P.P.G.S.D. East Lancashire and Grand Steward Scotland, Reginald Young P.P.G.S.D. West Lancashire, John Phillips P.M. 178, Thomas Millner P.M. 178, J. W. Ashurst W.M. 178, P. Leyland 178, William Holt 178, Atherton Ainsworth W.M. 580. After preliminaries, Bro. W. Rigby was raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason by the W.M. (Brother Murray) and was instructed in the working tools of the degree, Lodge was closed to the first degree, when Garnet George Tatham, Doctor of Medicine, who had been previously balloted for and elected, was initiated an Entered Apprentice by the W.M., and the working tools of the degree were explained to him, and the usual charge delivered. Brother Murray is entitled to great praise for the admirable manner he acquitted himself in the ceremonial, being the only opportunity he has had since his installation into office of proving his efficiency as Master of a Lodge, and certainly the hopes of the brethren were fully realised, the work was perfect in all its parts. The Lodge was closed in peace and harmony, at 7 p.m.

New Finsbury Park Lodge of Instruction, No. 1695.—The weekly meeting was held at Hornsey Wood Tavern, on Tuesday evening, the 23rd inst. Present—Bros. Gush W.M., Russell S.W., Follitt J.W., Fenner Acting Preceptor, Berry Sec., Rushton S.D., Moon J.D., Haynes I.G., and Bros. Edmunds, Morris, Smethurst, Flux, Fetch, Amey, Mallett, Hoare, and Frampton. After preliminaries, the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Hoare candidate. Bro. Morris worked the first section, and Bro. Fenner the third section of the Lecture. Lodge was then resumed, when Bro. Russell was elected W.M. for the ensuing week.

Brixton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1949.—The usual weekly meeting was held on Tuesday evening, 23rd inst., at the Prince Regent Hotel, (Bro. Monk's) Dulwich-road, East Brixton. Present—C. J. Axford W.M., S. Richardson S.W., W. Lucas J.W., E. A. Francis Preceptor, C. H. Phillips Treasurer, Hy. M. Williams Secretary, G. W. Knight S.D., E. A. Albert J.D., H. Hooper I.G.; also Bros. C. J. Earney P.M., Rd. Poore, A. Jones, J. M. Buckley, W. E. Farrington, Dore 1949, Evans 1949, F. Wootton, H. Martin, F. Hill, Hudspohl, W. Millen. The ceremony of initiation was ably rehearsed, Bro. Martin candidate. Lodge was opened in the second degree, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, with Bro. Jones as candidate. Lodge was closed in the second degree. Bro. Richardson was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. Bros. C. J. Dore 1949 and Hy. Taylor Domatic 177 were elected members. Lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned in perfect harmony.

EDUCATION. — HAMBURG.

Bro. JOHN A. NEECK, 9 Bundesstrasse, HAMBURG,

Is prepared to receive into his Family

TWO OR THREE ENGLISH YOUTHS AS BOARDERS,

During the time they attend School in this City.

CAREFUL SUPERVISION, KIND TREATMENT, BEST BODILY & MENTAL CARE

High References in England and Hamburg.

PROSPECTUS FREE

Digitized by Google

DIARY FOR THE WEEK.

We shall be obliged if the Secretaries of the various Lodges throughout the Kingdom will favour us with a list of their Days of Meetings, &c., as we have decided to insert only those that are verified by the Officers of the several Lodges.

—101—

SATURDAY, 27th OCTOBER.

198—Percy, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., at 8 (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1297—West Kent, Crystal Palace, Sydenham
1365—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7 (Instruction)
1541—Alexandra Palace, Imperial Hotel, Holborn Viaduct
1634—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1706—Orpheus, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1871—Gostling-Murray, Town Hall, Hounslow
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-st., W., at 8
R.A. 1339—Sphinx, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
1
1293—Burdett, Mitre Hotel, Hampton Court
1463—Wharncliffe, Rose and Crown Hotel Penistone
1777—Royal Hanover, Albany Hotel, Twickenham

MONDAY, 29th OCTOBER.

Grand Mark Masters, Masonic Hall, 8A Red Lion Square, W.C.
22—Loughborough, Cambria Tavern, Cambria Road, near Loughborough Junction, at 7.30. (Instruction)
47—Strong Man, Excise Tavern, Old Broad Street, E.C., at 7 (Instruction)
79—Pythagorean, Ship Tavern, Greenwich
176—Sincerity, Railway Tavern, Railway Place, Fenchurch Street. at 7. (In)
180—St. James's Union, Union Tavern, Air-street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
186—Industry, Bell, Carter-lane, Doctors-commons, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
548—Wellington, White Swan, High-street, Deptford, at 8 (Instruction)
1435—Hyde Park, Fountain Abbey Hotel, Praed Street, Paddington, at 8 (In).
1469—Marquess of Ripon, Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-rd., Hackney, at 7.30 (In)
1507—Metropolitan, The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C., at 7.30 (Inst.)
1608—Kilburn, 46 South Molton Street, Oxford Street, W., at 8. (Inst.)
1615—Bayard, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden-square
1623—West Smithfield, Farringdon Hotel, Farringdon-street, E.C. at 8 (Inst.)
1625—Tredegar, Royal Hotel Mile End Road, corner of Burdett Road. (Inst).
1698—Kingsland, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N., at 8.30 (Instruction)
1891—St. Ambrose, Baron's Court Hotel, West Kensington. (Instruction)
R.A. 933—Doric, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 7. (Instruction)

63—Social, Queen's Hotel, Manchester
148—Lights, Masonic Rooms, Warrington
382—Royal Union, Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge. (Instruction)
1110—Tyrian, Gildredge Hotel, Eastbourne
1177—Tenby, Tenby, Pembroke
1440—Royal Military, Masonic Hall, Canterbury, at 8. (Instruction)
R.A. 310—Union, Freemasons' Hall, Castle Street, Carlisle
R.A. 1305—Elliott, 1 Caroline Place, East Stonehouse

TUESDAY, 30th OCTOBER.

55—Constitutional, Bedford Hotel, Southampton-bldgs., Holborn, at 7 (Inst)
65—Prosperity, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7. (Instruction)
141—Faith, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.
141—Faith, 3 Westminster Chambers, Victoria-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
177—Domatic, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30 (Instruction)
188—Joppa, Champion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, at 7.30. (Instruction)
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney (Instruction)
753—Prince Frederick William, Eagle Tavern, Clifton Road, Maida Hill, at 8 (Instruction)
820—Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond, at 7.30 (Instruction)
860—Dalhousie, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston at, 8 (Instruction)
1044—Wandsworth, Star and Garter Hotel, St. Ann's-hill, Wandsworth (Inst).
1349—Friars, Liverpool Arms, Carning Town, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1360—Royal Arthur, Rock Tavern, Battersea Park Road, at 8. (Instruction)
1381—Kennington, The Horns, Kennington. (Instruction)
1428—Mount Edgcumbe, 19 Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8 (Instruction)
1471—Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, at 7 (Instruction)
1472—Henley, Three Crowns, North Woolwich (Instruction)
1540—Chaucer, Old White Hart, Borough High Street, at 8. (Instruction)
1558—D. Connaught, Palmerston Arms, Grosvenor Park, Camberwell, at 8 (In)
1602—Sir Hugh Myddelton, Queen's Head, Essex Road, N., at 8.30 (In)
1695—New Finsbury Park, Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, at 8 (Inst)
1707—Eleanor, Trocadero, Broad-street-buildings, Liverpool-street, 6.30 (Inst)
1949—Brixton, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, East Brixton, at 8. (Instruction)
Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, 6.30

241—Merchants, Masonic Hall, Liverpool (Instruction)
299—Emulation, Bull Hotel, Dartford
310—Unions, Freemasons' Hall, Castle-street, Carlisle
357—Apollo University, Masonic Hall, Oxford
573—Perseverance, Shenstone Hotel, Hales Owen
1358—Torbay, Town Hall, Paignton
1479—Halsey, Town Hall, St. Albans
1566—Ellington, Town Hall, Maidenhead
1630—St. Cecilia, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
R.A. 418—Staffordshire Knot, Freemasons' Hall, Hanley
R.A. 721—Grosvenor, Masonic-chambers, Eastgate-row-north, Chester

WEDNESDAY, 31st OCTOBER.

15—Kent, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
30—United Mariners', The Lugard, Peckham, at 7.30. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Horse Shoe Inn, Newington Causeway, at 8. (Inst)
169—Confidence, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, at 7.30 (Instruction)
238—United Strength, Prince Alfred, 13 Crowndale-rd., Camden-town, 8 (In)
538—La Tolerance, Morland's Hotel, Dean Street, Oxford St. at 8 (Inst)
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7 (Instruction)
781—Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, E. (Instruction)
813—New Concord, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. (Instruction)
862—Waithman, Red Lion, Poppin's-court, Fleet-street, at 8 (Instruction
898—Temperance in the East, 8 Newby Place, Poplar
1278—Burdett Coutts, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel Road, E., at 8. (Inst.)
1288—Finsbury Park, Cock Tavern, Highbury, at 8 (Instruction)
1321—Emblematic, Goat and Star, Swallow Street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
1455—Prince Leopold, Moorgate Tavern, Moorgate Street, at 7 (Instruction)
1475—Peckham, Lord Wellington Hotel, 516 Old Kent-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1521—Duke of Connaught, Royal Edward, Mare-street, Hackney, at 8 (Inst)
1601—Wanderers, Adam and Eve Tavern, Palace St., Westminster, at 7.30 (In)
1662—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow, at 7.30 (Inst.)
1768—Progress, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1791—Creaton, Prince Albert Tavern, Portobello-ter., Notting-hill-gate (Inst.)
1922—Earl of Lathom, Station Hotel, Camberwell New Road, S.E., at 8. (In.)
R.A.—Camden, The Boston, Junction Road, Holloway, at 8.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 177—Domatic, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-st., at 8 (Instruction)
R.A. 435—Mount Lebanon, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall Street
R.A. 820—Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond
M.M.—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, at 8 (Instruction)

63—Integrity, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester
304—Philanthropic, Masonic Hall, Great George-street, Leeds
439—Scientific, Masonic Room, Bingley
972—St. Augustine, Masonic Hall, Canterbury. (Instruction)
996—Sondes, Eagle Hotel, East Dereham, Norfolk
1083—Townley Parker, Mosley Hotel, Beswick, near Manchester
1085—Hartington, Masonic Hall, Gower-street, Derby (Instruction)
1119—St. Bede, Mechanics' Institute, Jarrow
1219—Strangeways, Empire Hotel, Strangeways, Manchester
1283—Ryburn, Central-buildings, Town Hall-street, Sowerby Bridge
1611—Alexandra, Hornsea, Hull (Instruction)
1983—Prudence and Industry, George Hotel, Chard, Somersetshire
R.A. 236—Zetland, Masonic Hall, Duncombe Street, York
M.M.—Howe, Masonic Hall, New Street, Birmingham
M.M. 34—Roberts, Masonic Rooms, Ann Street, Rochester
K.T.—Alpass, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.C.—Stanhope, Queen Hotel, Chester

THURSDAY, 1st NOVEMBER.

3—Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-street, Fitzroy-sq., at 8 (Instruction)
27—Egyptian, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
27—Egyptian, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
45—Strong Man, Masons' Hall Tavern, Masons'-avenue, Basinghall-street.
87—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth, at 8 (Instruction)
147—Justice, Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford, at 8. (Instruction)
192—Lion and Lamb, City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street
227—Ionic, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall Street
231—St. Andrew, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
785—Salisbury, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
538—La Tolerance, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney
704—Camden, Lincoln's Inn Restaurant, 306 High Holborn, at 7 (Instruction)
754—High Cross, Coach and Horses, Lower Tottenham, at 8 (Instruction)
833—Victoria Rifles, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
901—City of London, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, at 6.30. (Instruction)
902—Burgoyne, Cock Tavern, St. Martin's-court, Ludgate-hill, at 6.30 (Inst)
1158—Southern Star, Pheasant, Stangate, Westminster-bridge, at 8 (Inst.)
1185—Lewis, Kings Arms Hotel, Wood Green, at 7 (Instruction)
1227—Upton, Swan, Bethnal Green-road, near Shoreditch, at 8 (Instruction)
1288—Finsbury Park, Cock Tavern, Highbury
1339—Stockwell, Cock Tavern, Kennington-road, at 7.30 (Instruction
1351—St. Clement Danes, 265 Strand
1360—Royal Arthur, Village Club Lecture Hall, Wimbledon
1428—The Great City, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
1445—Prince Leopold, City Arms Tavern, St. Mary Axe, E.C.
1539—Surrey Masonic Hall, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
1614—Covent Garden, Cranbourne, 1 Up. St. Martin's Lane, W.C., at 8. (Inst.)
1672—Mornington, London Tavern, Fenchurch-street
1673—Langton, Mansion House Station Restaurant, E.C. at 6, (Instruction)
1677—Crusaders, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 9 (Inst.)
1681—Londesborough, Berkeley Arms, John Street, May Fair, at 8. (Instruct).
1724—Kaisir-i-Hind, Regent Masonic Hall, Air-street, W
1765—Trinity College, 61 Weymouth Street
1950—Southgate, Railway Hotel, New Southgate
R.A. 753—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, at 8. (In.)
R.A. 1381—Kennington, Surrey Club Hotel, Kennington Oval
R.A. 1471—North London, Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, at 7. (Instruction)
R.A. 1507—Metropolitan, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
M.M. 199—Duke of Connaught, Haverlock, Albion-rd., Dalston, at 8.30 (Inst.)
M.M. 241—Trinity College, 13 Mandeville-place, W.

24—Newcastle-on-Tyne, Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-st., Newcastle.
31—United Industrious, Masonic Room, Canterbury
38—Union, Council Chamber, Chichester
41—Royal Cumberland, Masonic Hall, Old Orchard-street, Bath
50—Knights of Malta, George Hotel, Hinckley, Leicestershire
123—Lennox, Freemasons' Hall, Richmond, Yorkshire
249—Mariners, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
254—Trinity, Craven Arms Hotel, Coventry
266—Napthali, Masonic Hall, Market-place, Heywood
269—Fidelity, White Bull Hotel, Blackburn
289—Fidelity, Masonic Hall, Carlton-hill, Leeds
294—Constitutional, Assembly Rooms, Beverley, Yorks
295—Combermere Union, Macclesfield Arms, Macclesfield
306—Minerva, Pitt and Nelson, Ashton-under-Lyne
309—Harmony, Red Lion, Fareham
317—Affability, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester.
360—Pomert, Abington Street, Northampton.
416—St. Peter, Star and Garter Hotel Wolverhampton.
425—Cestrian, Grosvenor Hotel, Chester
456—Benevolent, Town Hall, Wells, Somersetshire.
463—East Surrey of Concord, Greyhound, Croydon.
509—Tees, Freemasons' Hall, Stockton, Durham.
637—Portland, Masonic Rooms, Town Hall, Stoke-upon-Trent.
792—Pelham Pillar, Masonic Hall, Bullring-lane, Great Grimsby
913—Pattison, Lord Raglan Tavern, Plumstead
970—Pentalpha, New Masonic Hall, Darley-street, Bradford
1012—Prince of Wales, Derby Hotel, Bury, Lancashire
1074—Underley, Masonic Room, Market-place, Kirkby Lonsdale
1182—Duke of Edinburgh, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1231—Savile, Royal Hotel, Eland
1282—Ancholme, Foresters' Hall, Brigg, Lincolnshire
1284—Brent, Globe Hotel, Tonsham, Devonshire
1301—Olive Union, Masonic Hall, Horncastle, Lincolnshire
1387—Beaminster Manor, White Hart Hotel, Beaminster
1384—Equity, Alforde Chambers, Widnes
1473—Bootle, Town Hall, Bootle, Lancashire
1500—Walpole, Bell Hotel, Norwich
1504—Red Rose of Lancaster, Starkie's Arms Hotel, Padiham, near Burnley
1513—Friendly, King's Head Hotel, Barnsley
1598—Cranbourne, Red Lion Hotel, Hatfield, Herts, at 8. (Instruction)
1594—Cedewain, Public Rooms, Newtown, Montgomeryshire
1639—Watling-street, Cock Hotel, Stoney Stratford, Bucks
1697—Loyal Wye, Builth, Breconshire
1829—Burrell, George Hotel, Shoreham
R.A. 187—Charity, Freemasons' Hall, Park Street, Bristol
R.A. 325—St. John, Freemasons' Hall, Islington-square, Salford
R.A. 496—Mount Edgcumbe, Masonic Rooms, St. Austell
R.A. 587—Howe, Masonic Hall, New Street, Birmingham
R.A. 758—Bridgewater, Freemasons' Hall, Runcorn, Cheshire
R.A. 1393—Hamer, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
M.M. 10—Cheltenham and Keystone, Masonic Hall, Cheltenham
M.M. 53—Britannia, Freemasons' Hall, Sheffield

FRIDAY, 2nd NOVEMBER.

Metropolitan Masonic Benevolent Association, 185 Fleet-street, E.C. at 8.30.
Emulation Lodge of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
2—Robert Burns, The North Pole, 253 Edgware-road, W., at 8 (Instruc.
14—St. James, White Hart, King's-road, Chelsea, at 7.30. (Instruction)
54—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30. (Instruct.)
76—Florence Nightingale, Masonic Hall, William Street, Woolwich
76—William Preston, St. Andrew's Tavern, George St., Baker St., at 8 (In.)
78—Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge. (Instruction)
81—Randolph, Six Bells, Hammersmith (Instruction)
889—Hornsey, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.

93—Doric, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 8. (Instruction)
105—Metropolitan, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. at 7. (Instruction)
115—Belgrave, Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
129—Royal Scotland, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, at 8. (In.)
134—Clarence, White Hart, Lower Tooting, at 7.30. (Instruction)
162—Royal Kensington, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
164—E. Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
178—Ubique, Grandsman Arms Coffee Tavern, Buckingham Palace-road, S.W., at 7.30. (Instruction)
181—Penge, Thicket Hotel, Anerley
190—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich. (Instruction)
R.A. 3—Fidelity, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 8—British, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 63—Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall St.

Digitized by Google

R.A. 78—Pythagorean, Portland Hotel, London-street, Greenwich. (Inst.)
R.A. 96—Eastern Star, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall Street
R.A. 1469—Kerr, 90 Ball's Pond-road, N.
M.M.—Old Kent, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, E.C. (Instruction)
K.T. 134—Blondel, Freemasons' Tavern, W.C.

44—Friendship, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester
81—Doric, Private Room, Woodbridge, Suffolk.
137—Union, Freemasons' Hall, Maryggeate
319—Prudence, Masonic Hall, Todmorden.
342—St. George, Guildhall, Doncaster.
306—Alfred, Masonic Hall, Kelsall-street, Leeds
375—Lambton, Lambton Arms, Chester-le-street, Durham
442—St. Peter, Masonic Hall, Peterborough
453—Chigwell, Prince's Hall, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30 (Instruction)
531—Truth, Freemasons' Hall, Fitzwilliam-street, Huddersfield.
539—St. Matthew, Dragon Hotel, Walsall.
574—Loyal Berkshire of Hope, White Hart Hotel, Newbury
611—St. John, Wrekin Hotel, Wellington, Salop
690—Sefton, Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool
709—Invicta, Bank-street Hall, Ashford
837—De Grey and Ripon, Town Hall, Ripon
839—Royal Gloucestershire, Bell Hotel, Gloucester
1007—Lord Warden, Wellington Hall, Deal
1333—Athelstan, Town Hall, Atherstone, Warwick.
1367—Chorlton, Masonic Rooms, Chorlton Cum Hardy
1393—Hamer, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
1428—Fort, Masonic Hall, Newquay, Cornwall.
1457—Albert Edward, Bush Hotel, Hexham.
1561—Morecambe, Masonic Hall, Edward-street, Morecambe, Lancashire.
1648—Prince of Wales, Freemasons' Hall, Salem-street, Bradford.
1667—Gosforth, Freemasons' Hall, High-street, Gosforth
1725—Douglas, College Gateway, Maidstone
General Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, at 7
R.A.—General Chapter of Improvement, Masonic Hall, Birmingham
R.A. 61—Sincerity, Freemasons' Hall, St. John's Place, Halifax
R.A. 271—Lennox, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
R.A. 359—Peace, Freemasons' Hall, Albion Terrace, Southampton
K.T.—Loyal Volunteers, Queens Arms Hotel, George-street, Ashton-under-Ly

SATURDAY, 3rd NOVEMBER.

General Committee Boys' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
169—St. Thomas, City Terminus Hotel, Cannon Street
198—Percy, Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N., 8. (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7. (Instruction)
1572—Carnarvon, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street
1633—Rose, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1634—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
Stmal Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-street, W. at 6.
1468—Truth, Private Rooms, Conservative Club, Newton Heath, Manchester
1469—Hova Ecclesia, Old Ship Hotel, Brighton
1567—Elliot, Railway Hotel, Feltham

THE PURIFICATION OF SEWAGE.

THE very able and exhaustive report of Dr. Murphy, Medical Officer of St. Pancras, furnishes yet one more illustration of the danger arising to the public health from drinking milk which, owing to ignorance or it may be a want of care on the part of those supplying it, had become impregnated with sewage matter. The conclusion at which, after the most searching enquiries, Dr. Murphy arrives, and has herein placed on record is, that the source of the recent lamentable outbreak of typhoid fever in that parish is traceable to a farm near St. Albans from which a portion of the milk supplied to the London dealer was drawn, the well and the cess-pit being not more than twenty feet apart. The mischief has at length been remedied, but not until 62 of the 431 persons attacked by the fever had succumbed. This, it must be remembered, is the third time within the brief space of two years that an epidemic of typhoid has been traced to unsanitary conditions at the source of one of our milk supplies, and it is the more incumbent on our Local Boards of Health that all possible precautions should be taken so as to prevent whatever is supplied to the people for drinking purposes, whether milk or water, from becoming impregnated with sewage. But the same journal from which we have gleaned the foregoing particulars, contains an announcement to the effect that the West Malling Rural Sanitary Board was recently fined for polluting with sewage a stream running through Sir Henry Hawley's estate. Thus, on the one hand we have over sixty people dying from disease contracted through drinking impure milk, and on the other hand a local sanitary authority fined for polluting with sewage a stream, the water of which is not improbably used for drinking purposes. The problem that meets us is, what shall we do with our sewage so as to render it innocuous to health? Several solutions have been suggested, and have been tried with greater or less success, and, having had the opportunity of judging of the efficacy of one of the proposed methods we are in a position to furnish our readers with some account of the modus operandi. This particular process was patented some months back by Bros. Andrews and Parker, and is being tried at Barking, the Metropolitan Board of Works having granted them a concession to tap the main sewer near the Northern Outfall into the Thames at that locality, as well as to erect the necessary premises for demonstrating the value of the patent. Our readers are not perhaps aware that at this Outfall alone—to say nothing of the Southern Outfall at Crossness, and others that exist in the upper reaches of the river—the enormous quantity of over ninety million gallons of sewage, containing fully 700 tons of solid fecal matter, is discharged into the Thames in all its original offensiveness within the space of every twenty-four hours. The theory is, that all this is immediately carried away seawards by the action of the tide, and that the water of the Thames is not polluted. But the universal experience of the water teaches us differently, and though our Water Companies take all possible precautions to secure purity in the supplies they distribute, it is well nigh impossible that the water which is obtained from the Thames, and distributed for Londoners to drink, is entirely unpolluted. The process patented by Bros. Andrews and Parker will unquestionably reduce the danger arising from thus disposing of London sewage to a minimum. The works they have erected at Barking, though necessarily limited in extent, and dealing with only a small portion of the sewage, are large enough to furnish practical evidence of the value of their scheme. The sewage is received direct from the sewer into a large underground tank, at the rate of 27,600 gallons per hour. When in this tank, two streams, one of hydrochloric acid, and the other of caustic soda, common chalk, clay, and coke breeze, previously ground together in water, are poured into it simultaneously. When it has become thoroughly mixed with these, the sewage is lifted by steam power into certain automatic agitators, whence it is conveyed by means of a series of steps or falls into a precipitating tank, thence it passes into a second similar tank placed alongside, where the work of purification is completed, and the liquid portion of the sewage finds its way into Barking Creek, through a channel lined with white glazed tiles, part of which is open to view and shows that the stream, as it passes through, is clear and pure. The advantages of this method are obvious. The liquid portion of the sewage thus dealt with, instead of entering the Thames in all its natural offensiveness, enters it in a state of purity as nearly absolute as medical ingenuity can secure, while the solid portion does not enter it at all, but accumulates in the works in the form of sludge, and is removed from time to time to a drying kiln, where the moisture is carefully drained off, and what remains becomes a compost possessing valuable manurial properties, and highly useful therefore for agricultural purposes. It may be as well perhaps to add that the experiment is now in full operation, and is being carried out under the direct supervision of an officer appointed for the purpose by the Board of Works.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

ROYD'S PRECEPTORY, MANCHESTER.

A MEETING of this Preceptory was held on Tuesday, the 16th instant, at the Queen's Hotel, Manchester, at four o'clock. Sir Knight G. P. Brookbank Past Grand Captain Eminent Preceptor present; also Sir Knight C. R. N. Beswicke-Royds Prov. Grand Commander Lancashire, and many other leading Templars in the Province. The Preceptory having been opened, and the minutes of the previous meeting confirmed, the Provincial Grand Commander assumed the throne, and installed Sir Knight Reginald Young as Eminent Preceptor for the ensuing year. Eminent Sir Knight Brookbank was elected Treasurer and Fraser Secretary. Equerry

Officers invested:—

Bros. J. B. Phillips	... ...	Prelate
J. H. T. Cottier	... ...	Constable
H. L. Hellingworth	... ...	Marshal
W. J. Thompson	... ...	Registrar
H. Thomas	... ...	Sub Marshal
Thomas Chorlton	... ...	Captain of Guard
J. C. Lees	... ...	Almoner
John Worsley	... ...	1st Standard Bearer
John Greaves	... ...	2nd "
W. W. Cottam	... ...	1st Aide de Camp
E. Barber	... ...	2nd "

Captain Garnett was balloted for, and elected a joining member. The death of the late Sir Knight Bagshawe was referred to, and deep sympathy expressed with his relatives in their bereavement. Alms were collected, and the Preceptory closed in peace and harmony at five p.m.

THE FIFTEEN SECTIONS

WILL BE WORKED

At the Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198, on Saturday, 27th October, at the Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. Bros. A. W. Fenner P.M. 1693 W.M., D. Moss J.W. 1275 S.W., J. A. Powell 186 J.W. First Lecture — Bros. Ashton, Robinson, Hall, Pearcy, Lorkin, Cull, Gush. Second Lecture—Bros. Bird, Moss, Trewinnard, Powell, Fenner. Third Lecture—Bros. Gribbell, Galer, Cohen. Bros. R. Pearcy P.M. 228 I.P.M., R. W. Galer J.D. 1366 Secretary. Lodge will be opened at 7 p.m.

At the Eccleston Lodge of Instruction, No. 1624, on Saturday, 27th October, at the King's Head, Ebury-bridge, Pimlico. Bro. McLeod P.M. Preceptor in the chair. First Lecture—Bros. Ray, Grist, Chilcott, Flattely, Johnston, Tayler, Smith. Second Lecture—Bros. Folson, Cross, Stamp, McLeod, Dairy. Third Lecture—Bros. Powell, Fisher, Brindley. Bro. Chas. Tayler Hon. Sec. At 7 p.m.

At the King's Cross Lodge of Instruction, No. 1702, on Sunday, 28th October, at the Blue Posts Tavern, 54 Charlotte Street, Fitzroy Square, W. Bros. J. Hemming M.C. 1287 W.M., J. Paul I.G. 1472 S.W., F. Sillis M.C. 1744 J.W., Wm. Stiles P.M. P.Z. 1507 I.P.M., L. Solomon W.M. 1732 Secretary. First Lecture—Bros. Bower, Kauffmann, Harvey, Gilby, Koester, Paul, Sillis. Second Lecture—Bros. Robinson, Burgess, Guyer, Agar, Whiting. Third Lecture—Bros. Davis, Emblin, Smith. At 6.15 o'clock precisely.

At the Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, No. 1507, on Monday, 29th October, at The Moorgate, 15 Finsbury-pavement, E.C. Bros. J. R. Stacey P.M. 180 W.M., Larchin P.M. 1541 S.W., Abell P.M. 1569 J.W. First Lecture—Bros. Appleton, Shaw, Sadler Wood, Fitzpatrick, Snelling, Squirrell, Larchin. Second Lecture—Bros. Jenkins, Abell, Stacey, Fox, Pardon. Third Lecture—Bros. Moss, Harding, Johnson. At 7 o'clock p.m.

FUNERALS.
Bros. W. K. L. & G. A. HUTTON,
COFFIN MAKERS AND UNDERTAKERS,
17 NEWCASTLE STREET, STRAND, W.C.
And 30 FOREST HILL ROAD, PECKHAM RYE, S.E.

Digitized by Google

Price 3s 6d, Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

FIRST SERIES.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

1 OUR LITERARY BROTHER.
2 A DISTINGUISHED MASON.
3 THE MAN OF ENERGY.
4 FATHER TIME.
5 A CORNER STONE.
6 THE CRAFTSMAN.
7 THE GOWNSMAN.
8 AN EASTERN STAR.
9 THE KNIGHT ERRANT.
10 THE OCTOGENARIAN.
11 A ZEALOUS OFFICER.
12 THE SOLDIER.
13 FROM UNDER THE CROWN.
14 OUR HERCULES.
15 A MERCHANT PRINCE.
16 THE CHURCHMAN.
17 THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER.
18 THE MYSTIC.
19 A MODEL MASON.
20 A CHIP FROM JOPPA.
21 A PILLAR OF MASONRY.
22 BAYARD.
23 A RIGHT HAND MAN.
24 OUR CITIZEN BROTHER.
25 AN ABLE PRECEPTOR.
26 AN ANCIENT BRITON.
27 THE ARTIST.
28 THE FATHER OF THE LODGE.
29 A SHINING LIGHT.
30 AN ART STUDENT.
31 THE MARINER
32 SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.
33. "OLD MUG."

Second Series, Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 3s 6d, post free.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

SKETCHES

OF

DISTINGUISHED FREEMASONS.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

BY G. BLIZARD ABBOTT, OF LODGE No. 1385,

ASSOCIATE OF KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

NESTOR
(Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, 33 deg., Past G.S.B., Past Dep. P.G.M. Hants, Assistant Secretary Sup. Council A. and A. Rite.)

THE STATESMAN
(The Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, 33 deg., Pro Grand Master, Pro Grand Z., Past G.M.M.M., and Past M.P.S.G. Commander A. and A. Rite.

THE TREASURER
(Bro. F. Adlard, P.M. and Treasurer Royal York Lodge of Perseverance, No. 7).

THE DEPUTY
(The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, 33 deg., Deputy G. Master, Grand H., G.M.M.M., Great Prior of the Temple, and M.P. Sov. G. Commander A. and A. Rite.)

A PROVINCIAL MAGNATE
(Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Hants and Isle of Wight, Past G.M.M.M. and Prov. G. Prior of the Temple, for Hants).

TIME-HONOURED LANCASTER
(Bro. J. Lancaster Hine, P. Prov. G.S. Warden East Lancashire).

THE SCHOLAR
(Bro. John Newton, F.R.A.S., P.M., P.Z., Author of Works on Navigation).

OUR NOBLE CRITIC
(The Right Hon. Lord Leigh, 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Warwickshire, Past G.M.M.M.)

OUR PERIPATETIC BROTHER
(Bro. C. Fitz Gerald Matier, 30 deg., G. Steward Scotland, and Past G.S. Warden Greece).

A BOLTON LUMINARY
(Bro. G. Parker Brockbank, 31 deg., Past Prov. G.S.D., and P. Prov. G. Treas. [Arch] E. Lancashire.

A WARDEN OF THE FENS
(The late Bro. John Sutcliffe, Past Prov. G.S. Warden, and Prov. G.M.M.M. Lincolnshire).

A WARDEN OF MARK
(The Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, 32 deg., Past G.S. Warden, and Dep. G.M.M.M).

A MASTER OF CEREMONIAL
(Bro. Thos. Entwisle, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. of Works E. Lan.)

OUR COSMOPOLITAN BROTHER
(Bro. Samuel Rawson, 33 deg., Past Dist. G.M. and G. Sup. China).

A GREAT ARITHMETICIAN
(Bro. R. B. Webster, Member of the Finance and Audit Committees of the R.M. Girls' and Boys' Schools).

AN INSTALLING MASTER
(Bro. W. Biggs, Past Prov. G.S.W. Wilts, and Past Prov. G. Sec. Berks and Bucks).

A VETERAN
(Bro. W. Kelly, Past Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Leicestershire and Rutland, Prov. G.M.M.M. Leicestershire).

A GRAND STEWARD
(Bro. John Wordsworth, 30 deg., Past G. Steward, Past Prov. G.J.W. W. Yorkshire, and Prov. G.M.M.M. W. Yorkshire).

VIR Veritas
(Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M and Past Prov. Grand, Soj. [Arch] Herts).

ACHILLES
(Bro. E. J. Morris, Past G.J.D., and Past Dep. Prov. G.M. of Eastern Division of South Wales).

A DEVON CRAFTSMAN
(Bro. J. E. Curtois, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. Warden Devon).

SIR RHADAMANTH
(Bro. J. M. Pulteney Montagu, J.P. D.L., 33 deg., G. J. Deacon, Past Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, and G. Chancellor Supreme Council A. and A. Rite).

HIPPOCRATES
(Bro. J. Pearson Bell, M.D., Past G. Deacon, Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. N. and E. Yorkshire).

A CESTRIAN CHIEF
(The Right Hon Lord de Tabley, Past G.S.W., Prov. G.M. Cheshire, Grand J., and Prov. G Sup. Cheshire).

A HARBINGER OF PEACE
(Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., Past Prov. G.J.D. Herts).

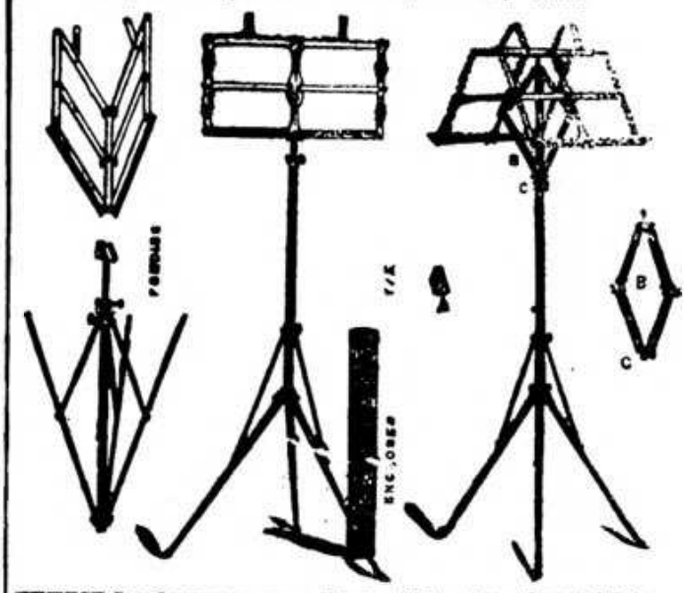
THE LORD OF UNDERLEY
(The Earl of Bective, M.P., Prov. G.M., Prov. G. Sup., and Prov. G.M.M.M. Cumberland and Westmoreland, and Past G. Sov. of the Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine).

A BOON COMPANION
(Bro. E. C. Woodward, P.M. 382, 1637, &c.)

A GRAND SUPERINTENDENT
(Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Berks and Bucks).

ÆSCULAPIUS
(Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., 32 deg., Past G.S.B., Craft, and Past G.St.B., Arch, Intendant General Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine for North Lancashire).

London: W. W. MORGAN.



By Order of all Booksellers, or will be sent direct, by post, from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N

THE AMERICAN

PORTABLE MUSIC STANDS.

J. F. WALTERS' PATENT.

Iron, from 10/6 each. Brass, from 30/- each.

THESE Stands are unsurpassed in simplicity, strength, portability cheapness, and elegance of finish. They are suitable for Military Bands Orchestras, Reading and News Rooms, Libraries, Studies, and Drawing Rooms. When opened to their full capacity they stand 5 feet high, and can be folded and enclosed in a case 21 inches long by 2 inches diameter. The weight is about 3 lbs. 12 oz., and they will support a weight of 60 lbs.

To be obtained of all Music Dealers, and of the Manufacturers and Proprietors of the Patent,

HARROW & CO.

MUSIC SMITHS, BRASS WORKERS, &c.

13 and 14 Portland Street, Soho, London, W.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

Free by Post, Price One Shilling.

THE

REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS;

CRITICALLY CONSIDERED,

AND

COMPARED WITH THE OLD EDITION.

—:o:—

A SERIES OF ARTICLES,

REPRINTED FROM THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

—:o:—

LONDON:

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE;
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL & CO., 4 STATIONERS' HALL COURT;
AND OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

"All Freemasons interested in the Revision of the above, should read this work."

Crown 8vo, price 3s 6d, cloth lettered.

Uniformity of Masonic Ritual and Observance.

By Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M., P.Z., &c.

"May be read with advantage by the whole Craft."—Sunday Times.

"Grand Lodge should at once set to work to secure the desired uniformity."—Sheffield Post.

"The subject is ably argued by the author."—Western Daily Mercury.

"Useful and valuable in the highest degree."—Exeter Gazette.

"Will have a material effect on the future of Masonic Ritual."—South Western Star.

"The author adduces many variations in the language used by different Preceptors."—Cox's Monthly Legal Circular.

"Ought to be in the hands of every Mason."—Northampton Guardian.

"To Freemasons generally it will be found useful and valuable, and we commend it to their notice accordingly."—Surrey County Observer.

"Bro. Stevens' motion for a Committee on the subject of Uniformity of Ritual was carried by a large majority."—Freemason's Chronicle report of Grand Lodge meeting, 3rd December 1879.

Sent, by post, on receipt of stamps, by the Author, Bro. JAMES STEVENS, 112 High-street, Clapham, S.W.; or by Bro. W. W. MORGAN Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

Digitized by Google

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE,

A Weekly Record of Masonic Intelligence. Sanctioned by the Grand Lodge of England.

Price—13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE will be forwarded direct from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N., on receipt of Post Office Order for the amount. Intending Subscribers should forward their full Addresses to prevent mistakes.

Post Office Orders to be made payable to W. W. MORGAN, at Penton-street Office. Cheques crossed "London and County."

Advertisers will find THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE an exceptionally good medium for Advertisements of every class.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Per Page... ... ... £8 0 0
Back Page £10 0 0

Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1s per line.

General Advertisements, Trade Announcements, &c. single column, 5s per inch. Double Column Advertisements 1s per line. Special Terms for a Series of Insertions on application.

Agents, from whom copies can always be had:—

Messrs. SPENCER and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C.
Messrs. CURTICE and Co., 12 Catherine-street, Strand.
Messrs. KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.
Mr. RITCHIE, 6 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SIMPSON BROS., Shoe Lane.
Mr. H. SIMPSON, 7 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SMITH and SONS, 183 Strand.
Messrs. STEEL and JONES, 4 Spring Gardens, Charing Cross.
Mr. G. VICKERS, Angel Court, Strand.
Mr. H. VICKERS, 317 Strand.

RICHARD PEARCY,
WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
31 PACKINGTON STREET, ISLINGTON,
LONDON, N.

Watches Made and Repaired in the very best manner.

MASONIC JEWELS.

THE THEATRES, &c.

COVENT GARDEN.—PROMENADE CONCERTS.
PRINCESS'S.—At 7, A CLERICAL ERROR. At 7.40, THE SILVER KING.
HAYMARKET.—At 7.50, FIRST IN THE FIELD. At 8.15, FEDORA.
DRURY LANE.—At 7.45, A SAILOR AND HIS LASS.
LYCEUM.—At 8, INGOMAR.
ADELPHI.—At 7.45, IN THE RANKS.
STRAND.—At 8, VICE VERSA. At 9.15, SILVER GUILT.
SAVOY.—At 8, PRIVATE WIRE. At 8.40, IOLANTHE.
GAIETY.—At 7.35, YOUNG WIDOW. At 8.15, ARIEL.
AVENUE.—At 7.30, OBLIGING A FRIEND. At 8.15, LA VIE.
TOOLE'S.—At 8, A ROW IN THE HOUSE. At 9.45, M.P.
COURT.—At 8, THE MILLIONAIRE.
GLOBE.—At 7.45, MAN PROPOSES. At 8.30, THE GLASS OF FASHION.
VAUDEVILLE.—At 8, AN OLD MASTER. At 9, CONFUSION.
ROYALTY.—At 7.45, A CUP OF TEA. At 8.30, THE MERRY DUCHESS.
COMEDY.—At 7.45, RIP VAN WINKLE.
ST. JAMES'S.—At 8, YOUNG FOLKS' WAYS.
GRAND.—At 7.30, LOAN OF A LOVER. At 8.15, NEW BABYLON.
STANDARD.—At 7.30, GLAD TIDINGS.
SADLER'S WELLS.—At 7.30, FAITHFUL HEART.
SURREY.—At 7.30, MANKIND.
ST. JAMES'S HALL.—Mr. DUVAL'S ODDS AND ENDS.
MOHAWK MINSTRELS, Agricultural Hall.—Every evening, at 8.
EGYPTIAN HALL.—Messrs. MASKELYNE AND COOKE. Every evening at 8.
CRYSTAL PALACE.—This day, GRAND EVENING FETE. CONCERT. PANORAMA. Open Daily, Aquarium, Picture Gallery, &c.

BRO. G. S. GRAHAM,

The Popular Tenor and Buffo Vocalist, from St. James's Hall, Crystal Palace, &c.
(Provincial Grand Organist Middlesex)
IS OPEN TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FOR
Concerts, Entertainments, & Masonic Banquets.

Bro. G. S. Graham's Party of Eminent Artists can be engaged for Masonic Banquets, Consecrations and Installations, &c. For Opinions of the Press, and terms, address—G. S. GRAHAM, St. John's Villa, 91 Fernlea Road, Balham, Surrey.

PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS ON EASY TERMS.

GROVER & GROVER
LET ON HIRE, WITH OPTION OF PURCHASE,

BEAUTIFUL AND PERFECT INSTRUMENTS.
PURCHASERS CHOOSE THEIR OWN TERMS,
FROM 15s TO £3 3s PER QUARTER.

The Advantages of a Trial, with the Convenience of the Three Years' System at Cash Price, by Paying about a Quarter of the value down, the Balance by Easy Payments, from 15s per quarter.

GROVER & GROVER (late AVILL & SMART),
TABERNACLE SQUARE, FINSBURY, E.C.
ESTABLISHED 1830.

PIANOFORTES, £19 10s.
AMERICAN ORGANS, £9 5s.
HARMONIUMS, £5 15s.

Perfect in Tone and Touch. Elegant Walnut Cases. Every Instrument warranted to stand any extreme climate.

SHIPPERS AND DEALERS SUPPLIED.

Before deciding on purchasing, write for a descriptive Price List and Testimonials to G. LINSTEAD, Manager.

CORDEN PIANOFORTE COMPANY, 18 & 19 Eversholt Street, Camden Town, London.

HOTELS, ETC.

CARLISLE—Bush Hotel. SUTCLIFFE HOLROYD, Proprietor
EALING—Feathers Hotel
EASTBOURNE—Pier Hotel, Cavendish Place. View of Sea and Pier. A. TAYLOR Proprietor
HAVERFORDWEST.—Queen's Family and Commercial Hotel. BEN. M. DAVIES Proprietor.
KEW—Star and Garter. Good accommodation for Lodge & Dinner Parties. J. BRILL Proprietor
MILFORD HAVEN.—Lord Nelson Hotel. T. PALMER Proprietor
SANDWICH—Bell Family and Commercial Hotel, Good Stabling. J. J. FILMER Proprietor.

ALL WHO SUFFER FROM
GOUT AND RHEUMATISM
Should immediately have recourse to
EADE'S CELEBRATED GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS.

Known throughout the world as the safest and most effectual remedy for the instant relief and rapid cure of Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Lumbago, and all Pains in the Head, Face, and Limbs.

OF ALL CHEMISTS, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d,

GEORGE EADE.
SOLE PROPRIETOR,
72 GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

BILLIARD BALLS, Chalks, Cues and Tips, at HENNIG BROS., Ivory Works, 11 High Street, London, W.C. Cheapest house in the trade for billiard-table requisites and ivory goods in general. Old balls adjusted or exchanged, and tables recovered. Price Lists on application. Established 1862.

RHEUMATISM.

THE only real remedy for this complaint is the Northern Cure (patent). In bottles 1s 1½d each, to be had of all Chemists. Proprietors and Manufacturer, EDWARDS AND ALEXANDER, 29 Blaekett-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR GOUT and RHEUMATISM.

The excruciating pain is quickly relieved and cured in a few days by this celebrated Medicine.

These Pills require no restraint of diet during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.

Sold by all Chemists at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.

SMOKE CHARLESWORTH & AUSTINS TOBACCOS AND CIGARS
BORO'S.E.
Old Chums 2d
Favourites 2d & 3d
Golden Shag 4d & 5d

Digitized by Google

JOSEPH J. CANEY,

DIAMOND MERCHANT, AND MANUFACTURING JEWELLER AND WATCH MAKER,

44 CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.

MASONIC JEWELS. CLOTHING AND FURNITURE.

Specialité—First Class Jewels—Artistic—Massive—Best Quality—Moderate in Price

CATALOGUES POST FREE.

A LARGE STOCK OF LOOSE BRILLIANTS FOR EXPENSIVE JEWELS.

Diamond Rings, Brooches, Studs, Earrings and Bracelets in Great Variety.

MASONIC JEWELS FOR ALL DEGREES.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS AND DECORATIONS.

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD IN ALL SIZES.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEDALS AND BADGES.

A. D. LOEWENSTARK & SONS, Medallists, 210 STRAND, LONDON, W.C.

MANUFACTORY—1 DEVEREUX COURT, STRAND.

R. W. GALER,

PRACTICAL WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

12 GREEN LANES, LONDON, N.

(Six doors from Newington Green).

OLD GOLD and SILVER BOUGHT or TAKEN in EXCHANGE.

PRESENTATION WATCHES AND MASONIC JEWELS MANUFACTURED ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

Communications by Post punctually attended to.

G. W. KNIGHT,

Carver, Gilder, and Picture Frame Maker,

LITTLE BELL ALLEY, BACK OF MOORGATE STREET, CITY,

A. D

38 CHAUCER ROAD, BRIXTON.

CORNICES AND FRAMES OF ALL KINDS REPAIRED AND REGILT.

ADAM S. MATHER,

GAS ENGINEER, GENERAL GAS FITTER AND BELL HANGER,

MANUFACTURER OF BILLIARD LIGHTS

AND OF EVERY DESCRIPTION OF GAS APPARATUS FOR COOKING AND HEATING

Bath Rooms Fitted up. All the Latest Improvements Introduced.

MANUFACTORY—12 CHARLES STREET, HATTON GARDEN, E.C.;

AND AT 278 CALEDONIAN ROAD. ISLINGTON, N.

ESTIMATES GIVEN.

W. W. MORGAN,

LETTER-PRESS, COPPER-PLATE, LITHOGRAPHIC PRINTER,

BELVIDERE WORKS,

HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE.

SUMMONSES, MENU CARDS, &c. ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED.

Sketches or Designs for Special Purposes Furnished on Application.

Books, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Catalogues, Posters, Billheads, Showcards, &c.

Every description of Printing (Plain or Ornamental) executed in First Class Style.

ESTIMATES SUPPLIED.

Bro. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER

7s 6d.

If with Pockets, 6d each pocket extra.

225 HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.

DRESS SUITS from £3 3s to £5 5s.

Demy 8vo, Price 7s 6d,

THE CHESS OPENINGS,

By ROBERT B. WORMALD.

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE.

CONCERTINAS.

ENGLISH AND ANGLO-GERMAN.

G. JONES, 350 Commercial-road, London, E., inventor of the Anglo-German with chromatic scale. His tempered steel notes never get out of tune. Used by the leading performers. Price List of Musical Instruments of every description free. Established 1850.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY Limited, 7 Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General accidents. | Personal injuries.
Railway accidents. | Death by accident.

C. HARDING, Manager.

RIPPINGILLE'S PATENT WARMING STOVES.

THE only Perfect Oil Stoves. Made to burn absolutely without Smoke or Smell, Trouble or Dirt. Unequalled for Warming

GREENHOUSES, VINERIES, SOPS,

BEDROOMS, HALLS, OFFICES, DAMP ROOMS &c.

Perfectly safe, require no pipes or fittings, will burn from twelve to twenty hours without attention, give off no injurious vapour, and are the best stoves ever invented to save plants from frost, keep out the damp, &c.

Price, from a few shillings.

Write for Illustrated List of Warming Stoves to

The Holborn Lamp and Stove Co.

118 HOLBORN, LONDON, E.C.

And say where you saw this Advertisement.

Bro. A. OLDROYD, Stratford, London,

MANUFACTURER OF TOBACCO POUCHES,

With any name in raised letters.

CAN be obtained direct from the Maker, at the undermentioned prices, on receipt of P.O.O. payable at Stratford.

	Price		Will take a name of
No. 3	2/0	...	9 letters
,, 4	3/6	...	11
,, 5	3/0	...	13
,, 6	3/6	...	13
,, 7	4/0	...
,, 8	4/6	...
,, 9	5/0	...

A. OLDROYD,

Agent for Algerian Cigars, and Importer of Havana and Continental Cigars,

64 HIGH STREET, STRATFORD, LONDON, E.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

BIRKBECK BANK.—Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Current Accounts opened according to the usual practice of other Bankers, and Interest allowed on the minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £25. No commission charged for keeping Accounts.

The Bank also receives money on Deposit at three per cent. Interest, repayable on demand.

The Bank undertakes for its Customers, free of charge, the custody of Deeds, Writings, and other Securities and Valuables, the collection of Bills of Exchange, Dividends, and Coupons; and the purchase and sale of Stocks and Shares.

Letters of Credit and Circular Notes issued.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

31st March 1890.

The Birkbeck Building Society's Annual Receipts exceed Four Millions.

HOW TO PURCHASE A HOUSE FOR TWO GUINEAS PER MONTH, with immediate Possession and no Rent to pay. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY.

HOW TO PURCHASE A PLOT OF LAND FOR FIVE SHILLINGS PER MONTH, with immediate possession, either for Building or Gardening purposes. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Published every Wednesday. Price 3d.

THE

CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE;

AND

Journal of Indoor and Outdoor Amusements.

THE CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE can be ordered of any Bookseller in Town or Country, or will be forwarded direct from the Office on the following terms:—

Twelve months, post free	...	...	...	12 0
Three ,, ,,	...	...	...	3 3

It is also obtainable at the following Chess Resorts and Agencies—

Messrs. Dean and Son, 160A Fleet Street, E.C.
Simpson's Divan (Chess Room), Strand, W.C.
Pursell's Restaurant, ditto, Cornhill, E.C.

All communications and books, &c. for notice, to be addressed to the Editor, 555 Caledonian Road, N.

Printed and Published by Brother WILLIAM WRAY MORGAN, at Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, Saturday, 27th October 1888.

Digitized by Google

THE

Freemason's Chronicle;

A WEEKLY RECORD OF MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

SANCTIONED BY THE GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.

VOL. XVIII.—No. 460. SATURDAY, 3rd NOVEMBER 1883. [PRICE THREEPENCE. 13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE MARK GRAND LODGE AND THE PRINCE OF WALES.

THOUGH the Mark degree is not recognised as constituting any part of Antient Free and Accepted Masonry, as defined in the Book of the Constitutions of the United G. Lodge of England, it has long been regarded as a worthy adjunct of the second degree, which might legitimately be cultivated in a separate organisation. It has from the very commencement received countenance and support from our most conspicuous brethren in the Craft. Lord Leigh, a sound constitutional Mason, was its first Grand Master, and he was succeeded by our present Pro Grand Master (Craft). Our Deputy G. Master has likewise occupied the throne of Mark Masonry, as also have such other worthy brethren of distinction as Bros. Viscount Holmesdale, W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Rev. Canon Portal, Earl Percy, M.P., and the Earl of Limerick, while it is not so very long since that H.R.H. the Duke of Albany, the Prince of Wales's youngest brother, was installed as Past G.M.M.M. Possibly it may have been this circumstance which led to the interesting ceremony of Tuesday. At all events, at the last Summer Half-yearly Communication of Mark G. Lodge it was announced—and it is needless to say the announcement gave the utmost satisfaction to the brethren of the degree—that H.R.H. the Prince of Wales was anxious, without compromising his position as G. Master of Craft Masonry, to be advanced to the degree. This was followed by another announcement to the effect that the Grand Master would confer on His Royal Highness on some suitable occasion the degree of Past G.M.M.M., with seniority next in order to the G. Master. Accordingly, on Tuesday, a special meeting of Mark G. Lodge was held in the Masonic Hall at 33 Golden-square, in the presence of a full attendance of the Grand Officers for the year, and of other high dignitaries of the Order. The ceremony of advancement was most ably and gracefully performed by the Prince's own brother H.R.H. the Duke of Albany, the Chair of S.W. being occupied by Bro. W. W. B. Beach, and that of J.W. by Bro. C. F. Matier. This done, Lord Henniker M.W. G.M.M., in the presence of a Board of thirty-four P.M.'s, solemnly installed H.R.H. in the Chair of A., after which followed an interchange of mutual felicitations, and Grand Lodge was closed in ample form and with the accustomed ceremonial. We heartily congratulate our brethren of the Mark Degree on the occurrence of so auspicious an event. It will assuredly influence for good the future fortunes of the Grand Lodge, although there is no doubt these had already been firmly established. Be it added that the following constituted the attendance on the occasion, namely :—

Bro. Rt. Hon. Lord Henniker	G.M.M.M.
H.R.H. Duke of Albany, K.G. ...	P.G.M.M.M.
Rev. Canon Portal Prov. G.M. Hants and the Isle of Wight	P.G.M.M.M.
W. W. B. Beach, M.P.	P.G.M.M.M.
Col. Sir Francis Burdett, Bart., Prov. G.M. Middlesex and Surrey
John Watson, J.P.. Prov. G.M. Notts
General Lord Wolseley, G.C.B. ...	G.S.W.
Hon. Arthur H. Henniker	G.J.W.
General J. S. Brownrigg, C.B. ...	P.G.W.
Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke	P.G.W.
Captain N. G. Philips	P.G.W.
C. F. Matier	P.G.W.
Henry R. Hatherly	G.M.O.
Colonel C. E. Bignold	G.S.O.
S. G. Kirchhoffer	G.J.O.
Rev. E. H. Crate	G. Chaplains
Rev. F. J. C. de Crespigny	G. Chaplains
Rev. C. J. Martyn D.P.G.M. of East Anglia	P.G. Chaplain
Frederic Davison	G. Treasurer
H. C. Levander, M.A.	G. Registrar
Frederick Binckes P.G.W.	G. Secretary
D. M. Dewar P.G.M.O.	G. Assistant Secretary
Geo. Cooper...	G.S.D.
Dr. Brodie	G.S.D.
Robert Harwood...	G.J.D.
T. J. Ralling	G.J.D.
R. W. Edis, F.S.A.	G. Insp. of W.
Robert Berridge	C.D. of C.
Geo. Dalrymple	G.A.D. of C.
Controller S. G. Bake	G.S. Bearer
J. D. Murray	G. Std. Br.
Wm. Watkins	G. Std. Br.
E. M. Lott P.G.O.	as G. Org.
J. H. Banks	G.I.G.
Thomas Taylor	G. Stewards
William March	G. Stewards
John O. Marsh	G. Stewards
J. S. Cumberland	G. Stewards
George Ker	G. Stewards
W. C. Gilles	G. Stewards
John Tomkins	G. Stewards
George Austin	as G. Tyler

DANGEROUS TENDENCIES.

CRAFT Masonry is the basis upon which all other cognate systems are built. It is complete of itself; easily understood, yet abstruse; simple, yet recondite. These terms, in their nakedness, appear paradoxical; and so they are to the uninitiated. To the enlightened, they embody common truths, which only differ in degree according to the intellectual and moral standpoint from which they are viewed. It is no injustice to the brethren to say that the great majority of them are lay members, whose faith is greater than their knowledge: the few only drink deep of the spiritual essence of the Institution, and in consequence become teachers and rulers. The humblest brother, however, can appreciate the general lessons inculcated by the ceremonies; all can participate in their simple and universal principles, while inexhaustible fields of inquiry are left open to the most erudite. The comprehensiveness of Freemasonry is one of its great distinguishing characteristics, which places it above all other human institutions. It embraces all the virtues, and its principles are co-existent with the soul of man. Like all other human institutions, however, it is subject to abuse, and great care is necessary to preserve it from corruption. It is surrounded with temptations, and these are apt to lead men to forget the spiritual teachings of Freemasonry. There is the pride of office, which some seek to gratify at the sacrifice of duty and family obligations. The lust of power and position tempts many into ways that are seductive and dangerous, and produces that feeling of inequality which destroys the life of the Order. It induces them to become lavish in expenditure, to indulge in excessive social enjoyments, and to lose sight of the higher qualities of the Craft. One of the common vices of prosperity is to ignore fundamental truths, to forget that these alone are the foundations upon which virtue is raised, and the only sure source of hope in time of adversity. The evils of prosperity are alike manifest in individuals, nations, and institutions, and no wonder need be felt that Freemasonry shares in the common sin. Responsibility varies according to the light that is given, and it is great in the case of members of the Craft, who are blessed with such teaching and guidance that, while they make them heirs of a noble inheritance, they entail upon them duties and obligations which cannot be neglected without danger.

Digitized by Google

Leaving general principles for the time being, and proceeding to particular subjects, it cannot be denied that there is much in the present condition of Freemasonry that needs amendment. There is a wonderful amount of vitality among the brethren, the outcome of the instinctive recognition of the charitable qualities of the Craft; there is also a great deal of self-indulgence and waste of time; an inordinate love of show, and a prodigal display of hospitality. Nothing can be said against the moderate indulgence of the pleasures of the table. Social enjoyment is one of the elements of the Order—subservient to, and not distinct from nor above, its higher teaching. It is only when banquets become too frequent and costly, and when the time consumed in their service is too great, that evils arise. These, however, are so serious, that the period has come to consider whether a change cannot be brought about. The comparison between old and modern tavern bills, for instance, opens up a question of great importance. Our forefathers were content with modest fare, altogether unlike the feasting of to-day. It is no exaggeration to say that the cost of banquets at the present time is double what it was within the memory of some of the brethren still living, while the time consumed in partaking of them is a waste and a scandal. A modern custom has led to the introduction of professional music on special occasions, as elaborate and artistic as that provided at a public concert, which serves to unduly prolong the time of gatherings. Individuals are chiefly responsible for this late extravagant addition to the pleasures of the table, and they defend it upon the ground that they pay for it themselves. Apart from the objections that are urged upon general principles, it should be remembered that no Worshipful Master is altogether free to indulge in costly show, even though he pays for it himself. He is under a moral obligation to set an example of prudence and modesty, and ought not to fix a standard which, in a vast majority of cases, cannot be followed by his successors. The Lodge should, or does, determine the character of its pleasures, and no single brother, however rich and generous, ought to exceed the limit that is ordered by usage. The social position and circumstances of a Master of a Lodge, in the abstract, make distinctions impossible; but in practice they are the cause of inequalities which are painful to those who are not blessed with an abundance of worldly wealth. The brother with money makes a show and gains popularity, which may or may not be deserved. His other qualifications may be excellent, but then they may not, and he thus arrives at a spurious fame, which is alike inimical to the Craft at large and to his successor. The loss of time which elaborate ceremonies at banquets entail is not so great as their cost; it is, nevertheless, a serious evil, and altogether unnecessary. In venturing to express this view in a recent issue, we gave offence to a brother for whom we have every respect. He questioned our right to "reportorial" criticism, and assumed the privilege to do as he pleased with his own. So he has in his private capacity; but even here that right is often limited by law and custom. As we have shown, he stands in a different position as Master of a Lodge of Freemasons. His first duty is to the genius of the Craft, which is opposed to excessive indulgence in social pleasures; and his next duty is to those who, for the time being, are subordinate to him, but who will follow him in the exalted position he holds. They ought not to be tempted to imitate an example that would be ruinous to them, and it is cruel to expose them to comparisons which have been instituted without their consent, and in defiance of the true principles of the Craft. Music is one of the most beautiful adjuncts of Masonry. The ceremonies, ennobling as they are, gather force when accompanied with the strains of the organ. Here music is in its right place, and performs functions which, if not indispensable, are at least in harmony with the main object, and exceedingly beautiful and impressive. There is no objection to music at banquets either, provided the cost comes out of the Lodge funds, and the brethren have a voice in controlling expenditure. It should not be allowed to interfere with the complimentary business of the evening, which should always be of a pleasing character. But it is often so late before the toast list is half exhausted that many brethren are compelled to leave without receiving honour or witnessing honour done to others. Confusion and disgust ensue, and many regret such wanton waste of generosity and time. The real business—and a well-arranged toast list is the most important part of the ceremonies of a banquet—should be got through with decency and order, with a due regard to time and convenience. When this has been done, it is competent for those who desire further social intercourse to prolong their stay, as was done recently at Reading, by instituting a smoking concert. This was a happy arrangement, and satisfied the necessary conditions of respect and enjoyment. Guests were honoured, and they reciprocated the feeling by remaining and taking part in all the official proceedings, and the enjoyment and convenience of all were ensured.

We know we shall give offence to some by these remarks, but were we not conscious of a high sense of duty in the matter, the letters that have reached us, and the concurrence of opinion we have heard expressed, would be sufficient justification. We are not mawworms; we have no quarrel with the pleasures of the table; we are not at war with the tavern keeper. We desire that all things should be done in moderation, and with a reverent regard for the high and noble character of the Craft. If Masonry be a solemn institution, as all acknowledge it to be, then our first care ought to be its moral, intellectual, and spiritual development, and social pleasures should be subordinate to the full discharge of duty.

EMINENT MEN WHO WERE MASONS.

FROM THE KEYSTONE.

MAJOR-GENERAL Sir Robert R. Gillespie, K.C.B., was made in the Lodge at Cromter, County Down, Ireland, in 1783. Major-Gen. Thomas Proctor was made in Lodge No. 3, Philadelphia, in 1766, receiving all the degrees from E.A. to K.T. He was W.M. of No. 3, and afterwards also of Military (now Montgomery) Lodge, No. 19, Philadelphia. Rev. Canon Duckworth was made in the Lodge of Antiquity, London, as was also Prince Leopold. General Rufus Putnam was made in American Union (Army) Lodge, near West Point, N.Y., and was elected the first Grand Master of Ohio. Herman Blannerhassett (the victim of Aaron Burr) was Secretary of American Union Lodge, No. 1, of Marietta, Ohio, in 1798. James T. Brady, the eminent lawyer, was made in New York, in 1866. The remains of Admiral Farragut were interred with Masonic honours at Portsmouth, N.H. General and President Andrew Jackson was Grand Master of Tennessee in 1822 and 1823. Wm. King, the first Governor and first Grand Master of Maine, is honoured by having his statue placed in the national statuary hall in the capitol at Washington. Colonel Augustus Stone was made 5th October 1807, in American Union Lodge, No. 1, Ohio, Gen. Rufus Putnam being W.M. when he received the F.C. degree; and at the time of his death, aged 98 years, he was the oldest affiliated Mason, Secretary and Royal Arch Mason in the United States. George M. Dallas, Grand Master of Pennsylvania and Vice-President of the United States, was made in Franklin Lodge, No. 134, Philadelphia, in March 1818, and in 1820 was elected W.M. Wm. James Hughan, author of the "Masonic Memorials," &c., was made in 1862, in St. Aubyn Lodge, Devonport, England. Robert Freke Gould, the author of "The Four Old Lodges," &c., was made in Royal Naval Lodge, No. 429, Ramsgate, England, in 1855. Dr. A. G. Mackey, author of the "Encyclopædia of Freemasonry," &c., was made in St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 10, Charlestown, S.C., in 1841. A. T. C. Pierson P.G.M. P.G.H.P., and P.G. Capt.-Gen. Grand Encampment, author of "The Traditions of Freemasonry," was also made in 1841. The Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, M.A., P.G. Chap. of the Grand Lodge of Eng., editor of the London Freemason, and author of "Kenning's Cyclopædia of Freemasonry," is a Past Officer and member of the Lodge of Antiquity, No. 2, London. D. Murray Lyon Grand Secretary, and author of "Freemasonry in Scotland," was made in June 1854, in Lodge Ayr and Renfrew Malitia St. Paul, No 204, Scotland. George F. Fort, author of "The Early History and Antiquities of Freemasonry," was made in Camden Lodge, No. 15. Camden, N.J., in 1868. Leon Hyneman, compiler of the "Masonic Library," and one of the founders of Shekinah Lodge, No. 246, Philadelphia, was made in La Fayette Lodge, No. 71, Philadelphia. Robert Morris, LL.D., P.G.M. of Kentucky, the author of "The Level and the Square," was made 5th March 1849, in Gathright Lodge, No. 33, Oxford, Miss. Theodore S. Parvin was made in Nova Cæsarea Lodge, No. 2, Cincinnati, O., 14th March 1838. Enoch T. Carson was made 8th November 1845, in Marion Lodge, No. 120, Mt. Pleasant, O. Charles W. Moore was made in Kennebec Lodge, Hallowell, Me., in May 1822. Chief Justice J. Banister Gibson, in 1852, was elected Grand Master of Pennsylvania, from the floor of the Grand Lodge. Lieut.-Com. Henry H. Gorringe is a member of Anglo-Saxon Lodge, No. 137, of New York city. Three recent Lord Mayors of London are Freemasons—Aldermen Knight, J. Whittaker Ellis, and

Digitized by Google

Francis W. Truscott. King Kalakaua, of the Sandwich Islands, is a P.M. of the Lodge Le Progres de l'Oceanie, No. 124, Honolulu (originally chartered by the Grand Lodge of California). Prince Leopold is a P. Em. Com. of Cœur de Lion Preceptory, Oxford, England. John Fitch, the inventor of the steamboat, was a member of Bristol Lodge, No. 25, of Bristol, Pa. General Kit Carson was made in Montezuma Lodge, No. 109, Santa Fé, New Mexico. Brandt, the Indian Chief, was made a Mason while on a visit to Europe. James Milnor, D.D., was made in Lodge No. 31, Norristown, Pa., in August 1795. He served as W.M. of No. 31, and also of No. 3, and for seven years was Grand Master of Pennsylvania. He was eminent as a lawyer, member of Congress, and finally as a clergyman. His son, William H. Milnor, D.D., was Grand Master of New York in 1851. John Dove, M.D., Grand Secretary of Virginia, was made in St. John's Lodge, No. 36, Richmond, Va., on 2nd December 1813. The Duke of Albany is the First Principal of Apollo (University) R.A. Chapter, Oxford. "Artemus Ward"—Charles F. Brown, was a member of Neptune Lodge, N.Y. The Duke of Wellington was made a Mason in Lodge No. 494, Ireland, when he was Arthur Wellesley, Lieutenant in the 12th Light Dragoons, in February 1795. Sir William Johnson, of New York, was the first W.M. of St. Patrick's Lodge, Caughnawago, N.Y., 23rd May 1766. His second wife was a Mohawk girl of rare beauty, Molly Brandt, the sister of Joseph Brandt (Thoyendanegea), an Iroquois chieftain and Freemason. Prince Rhodocanakis, Grand Master of Greece, was made in St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 48, of Edinburgh, Scotland. Cornelius Moore, founder of the Masonic Review, Cincinnati, was made in La Fayette Lodge, No. 79, Zanesville, Ohio, in March 1837. Prince Wm. Fred. Charles, of the Netherlands, was made at Berlin, in 1816, and the same year was elected Grand Master. His sixtieth anniversary as Grand Master of the Netherlands was celebrated in 1876. "Father" Taylor (Rev. Edw. T. Taylor) was initiated in 1820 in Duxbury, Mass. Thomas Chalmers, D.D., founder of the Free Church of Scotland, was made in the Lodge St. Vigeans, Arbroath, Scotland, 26th April 1800. Chancellor Walworth, of New York, was made in 1811, at Plattsburg, and in 1853 was Grand Master of New York. Chief Justice John M. Read was made in Franklin Lodge, No. 134, Philadelphia, 15th December 1821, and in 1837 was Grand Master of Pennsylvania. His son, J. Meredith Read, U.S. Minister to Greece, was made in 1858, in St. John's Lodge, of Providence, R.I. De Witt Clinton was initiated in Holland Lodge, New York, in 1793, was elected Grand Master of New York in 1806, and filled that station for thirteen consecutive years. Kossuth was made in Covenant Lodge, No. 113, Cincinnati, O. Chief Justice John Marshall was Grand Master of Virginia, and welcomed La Fayette as a visitor to Richmond Lodge, No. 10, Richmond, Va., on his visit to this country in 1824. Belzoni was made a Mason in the Lodge of the Pyramids, Egypt. William Smellie, the natural philosopher, and editor of the first edition of the "Encyclopædia Britannica," was made a Mason on 15th November 1762. Jo. H. Davies, Grand Master of Kentucky, was slain in the Battle of Tippecanoe; Henry Clay delivered his funeral oration before the Grand Lodge. Both Major Andre and William Paulding, one of his captors, were Freemasons. Dr. Robert T. Crucefix, the great promoter of the Masonic Charities of England, was made 6th April 1829, in Burlington Lodge, England. Rev. John Wesley was made 30th October 1788, in Lodge No. 367, Downpatrick, Ireland. His nephew, Samuel Wesley, the son of Charles, was made 17th December 1788. In 1812 he was Grand Organist of the Grand Lodge of England. Sir Walter Hawksworth, Knight and Baronet, was "President" of the old Lodge at York in 1713. Francis Drake, M.D., F.R.S., the antiquarian of York, was made 6th September 1725. Menotti Garibaldi, son of General Garibaldi, who was Grand Master of Italy, was made in Tompkins Lodge, New York city. Mozart was made in Vienna shortly prior to 1783, and composed a number of Masonic cantatas. Gen. James Wilkinson, distinguished for his services against the Indians in 1795, was a member of Bristol Lodge, No. 25, Bristol, Pa. Pierpont Edwards, the eminent lawyer and member of Congress, was the first Grand Master of Connecticut. Charles S. Stratton ("General Tom Thumb") was made a Mason in Bridgeport, Conn. On 24th April 1881, he visited Jerusalem R.A. Chapter, No. 3, Philadelphia. Our diminutive Brother was also a Knight Templar. Edmund Randolph, Governor of Virginia, and Attorney General of the United States, was Grand Master of Virginia, from 1786 to 1788. It was he who warranted Alexandria Lodge, No. 22, with Washington for its first W.M. While he was D.G.M. he was elected to succeed Patrick Henry as Governor of the Commonwealth. Jabez Bowen, LL.D., Lieut.-Governor of Rhode Island, was Grand Master of that jurisdiction from 1794 to 1798. Col. William Barton (the captor of the British General Prescott, in 1777) was made a Mason in St. John's Lodge, Providence, R.I. in 1779. Maj. Gen. and Judge John Sullivan, LL.D., Governor of New Hampshire, was the first Grand Master of that jurisdiction in 1789. Governor William R. Davie, of North Carolina, was Grand Master of that State for several years, until he was sent as ambassador to France in 1799. General Richard Caswell, Governor of North Carolina, was the Second Grand Master of that State, holding the office at the time of his death, in 1789. The Rt Rev. Bishop Abraham Jarvis in 1798 was Grand Chaplain of Connecticut. The Hon. William Dayton, Chief Justice of South Carolina, was the first Grand Master of that State in 1787. Martin Clare, A.M., F.R.S., was Deputy Grand Master of England in 1741. Thomas Manningham, M.D., was Deputy Grand Master of England from 1754 to 1757. Laurence Dermott was W.M. of Lodge No. 26, Dublin, Ireland, in 1746; afterwards affiliated with Lodge No. 5 (now No. 9), London, England; on 5th February 1752 was elected Grand Secretary of the Ancients, and from 1771 to 1777 and 1783 to 1787 was Deputy Grand Master. Dr. Winslow Lewis, Grand Master of Massachusetts in 1855, 1856 and 1860, was made in Columbia Lodge, Boston, 3rd November 1830. Tecumseh, the Indian Chief, was a Freemason. The Rev. John Entick edited two editions of Anderson's "Constitutions" in 1756 and 1767. John Boswell (of Auchinleck) a member of the Lodge of Edinburgh in June 1600, is the earliest authentic instance of a Freemason who was not an architect or builder by profession. F. J. B. Clavel, the author of "Histoire Pittoresque de la Franche Maçonnerie," in 1824 was W.M. of the Lodge Emeth, France. John Custos, who was tortured by the Spanish Inquisition, was Worshipful Master of a Lodge at Lisbon. H. J. Da Costa was persecuted by the same tribunal, but was saved by some English brethren. He printed in London, in 1811, a narrative of his sufferings. The Rev. Frederick Dalcho was Grand Secretary and Grand Chaplain of South Carolina. J. G. Findel, author of the "History of Freemasonry," was made in 1856, at Baireuth, Germany. In 1858 he founded the Bauhutte Masonic newspaper, of Leipsic. Frederick William, Crown Prince of Prussia, was made 5th November 1853, and became G. Master in 1860. The Emperor Alexander I. of Russia presided in the Russian Military Lodge in which Frederick William III. King of Prussia, was made a Mason in 1814. Herder, the German philosopher, was made in 1766 in a Lodge at Riga. In 1801, he edited the Masonic journal, Adrastea. Kloss, the "father of Masonic Bibliography," was initiated in Germany in 1805. His valuable Masonic library, in its entirety, is now in the Royal Library at the Hague. Krause, another distinguished German Masonic writer, was made in Altenburgh in 1805. Lessing, the "father of German criticism," was made at Hamburgh in 1771. The Hon. Wm. D. Kelley, the senior member of the American Congress, was made in Oriental Lodge, No. 385, Philadelphia, on 28th June 1867. The Right Rev. Cortlandt Whitehead, Bishop of the Diocese of Pittsburgh, is a G. Chaplain of the G. Lodge of Pennsylvania. Simon Greenleaf, Professor of Law in Harvard University, and author of the "Law of Evidence," was G.M. of Maine. Bro. Thomas S. Webb was exalted in Harmony R.A. Chapter, No. 52, Philadelphia, on 18th May 1996. Space fails us to give further details. We need only mention the following Freemasons by name: Haydn and Meyerbeer, Victor Hugo, Chief Justice Weston and Whitman, of Maine; General Fessenden, Tom Moore, John C. Breckenridge, General N. P. Banks, Louis Phillips, Ethan Allen, Chief Justice Woodbridge, of Vermont; Charles James Fox, Richard Brinsley Sheridan, Dugald Stewart, John Paul Jones, John Notman, Napoleon Le Brun, W. B. Astor, Edwin Forrest, Anthony Trollope, General Houston, Robert Fulton, W. Pinkney, Captain James Riley, the author of "Riley's Narrative;" Dr. David Livingstone, Justice Stanley Matthews, General Richard Montgomery, Signor Blitz, Professor John S. Hart, George Augustus Sala, Sir John Franklin, Professor F. V. Hayden, Earl Canning (Governor General of India), Thomas Cole, the artist; Charles Dickens, Henry Irving, Napoleon III., Dom Pedro, of Brazil; James Lick, the California millionaire, and Ole Boll. Laurence Sterne, the author of "Tristram Shandy," was an applicant for initiation when his career was cut short by death.

What a galaxy of Nature's noblemen does this list afford. Well may Freemasons regard it with complaisance. With such men for our predecessors and cotemporaries—for our brethren, how could the great Fraternity of Freemasons be other than a noble and happy family, each member proud of all the others. Let this record remain as a landmark of the Craft.

Obituary.

—:o:—

THE LATE BROTHER PISSEY.

WE regret to have to record the death of Bro. William Pissey, of Rayleigh, who, for the past 45 years, has carried on the professional business of a chemist in that town. The deceased gentleman—who was in his 66th year, and had been in gradually failing health for upwards of a year—expired on 20th ult., from Bright's disease and enlarged heart. Bro. Pissey was a native of Rayleigh, but, beyond occasionally holding the office of Overseer, he did not take a great interest in parish matters, but, nevertheless, he will be very much missed by all classes, especially so by the poor, on account of the valuable advice he was always ready to give, and the kind inquiries and attentions he paid in all cases of sickness. Next to his strict attention to business, nothing interested him so much as all matters connected with Freemasonry. Initiated at Rochford (True Friendship Lodge, No. 160), on 25th April 1863, he speedily rose to the position of W.M., and soon became Installing Master for several Lodges in the district. For his services in that capacity to the Priory Lodge, No. 1000, Southend, he was presented with a handsome jewel. He was also a P.Z. of the Royal Arch Priory Chapter, No. 1000. In the Provincial Grand Lodge he held the office of P.G.J.W.; and in the Royal Arch G. Chapter that of P.S.B. In the Trinity Lodge, No. 1734 (Rayleigh), he was a leading spirit, being, as he was proud to style himself, the "Father of the Lodge," or in other words, one of its chief promoters and its first Master. On the expiration of his year of office, he accepted the Secretaryship, which post he filled till a month before his decease. The funeral took place on 26th October, when the deceased gentleman was buried amidst many manifestations of respect. Blinds were drawn, and the shops partially closed throughout the town; and in order to give his Masonic brethren an opportunity of following him to the grave, a Lodge of Emergency was held at the Golden Lion. The cortège started from the deceased's residence at two o'clock. The coffin, which was of oak, with brass fittings, bore the following inscription: "William Pissey, died 20th October 1888, aged 65." At the conclusion of the ceremony, each Mason, in accordance with ancient custom, threw a sprig of acacia and his right hand glove into the grave.

At the last meeting of the Landport Lodge, No. 1776, held at the Masonic Hall, Commercial-road, Portsea, Bro. T. H. Williams W.M. presiding, Bro. J. G. Niven S.W. was elected W.M. for the ensuing year.

Digitized by Google

RANDOM NOTES AND REFLECTIONS.

TIME has not diminished the interest that is taken in the status of Past Masters question, although it has tempered the feeling that at one period marred the discussion. Bro. C. W. Arnold P.G.C. and D.P.G.M. Surrey, has contributed to a contemporary a very excellent letter on the subject, and his views coincide with those that have been consistently advocated in these columns. We need not repeat them in extenso. No doubt joining Past Masters had two grievances at least, and these were, as Brother Arnold says—(1) That they had no place in their Provincial Grand Lodge; and (2) That their rank as Installed Masters was not acknowledged by the Lodge they joined. By the new rules the first grievance has been completely removed, and by the same authority the second has been substantially met; in the one case a place has been assigned to joining Past Masters in their Provincial Grand Lodge, and in the other it is provided "that in the absence of the P.M. of a Lodge, joining P.M.'s have a right to take the chair." This assigns a distinct position to a joining P.M., and is a full recognition of his rank as an honoured officer of the Craft as a body. The other resolution that was carried, which has given rise to a prolonged discussion, and which will come up for acceptance or rejection on confirmation of the minutes at next Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge, on 5th December, goes much farther. Not content with what was freely given at the demand of justice, some brethren deemed it right to claim for joining P.M.'s the rank of P.M. of the Lodge they joined, taking rank immediately after the W.M. at the time they entered.

—:o:—

We need not repeat the objections that have been urged against this attempt to create by law a distinction that should only be conferred as free recognition of merit, or be the result of work done in and for the Lodge. Brother Arnold, like ourselves, thinks that a compromise might be effected. We use the term "compromise" in a limited sense, because the remedy he proposes, and which we from the first advocated, has been in use for years. Bro. Arnold sees objections to making it a law of Grand Lodge that private Lodges may, by a vote of the Lodge, assign a position to a joining P.M. amongst the Past Masters of that Lodge; but he advocates giving power to Lodges to make a bye-law for the purpose. This would meet every just demand, and we trust the views so ably put by Bro. Arnold will be accepted as a solution of a question that has caused much heat, and which cannot be finally settled except upon the broad basis of justice. The following sentence in Bro. Arnold's letter will recall our own opinions so frequently expressed, and we give it because it puts the equity of the case in a very pithy form:

> If this power were given to the Lodge, no further grievance could exist; for if a Lodge did not choose to honour, as well as to receive a joining Past Master, it would in all probability be because it considered that he was a speculative rather than a working Mason and no one would sympathise with him under such circumstances.

—:o:—

Apparently, we are only on the threshhold of the discussion of the question of the rebuilding of the Temple. A weary war of words is before us, and unless the object to be aimed at is definitely settled, there will be no end to the contention. The Special Committee have obtained a great deal of information which is now before the Craft. From the tone and matter of their report it is quite clear they believed that either they had a mandate to consider the points they had to deal with, or that they came within the scope of their work. How they arrived at that conclusion we need not discuss; it is sufficient to know that the cost their scheme would entail has aroused strong opposition, especially in the Province of West Yorkshire. Even in London the feeling seems to be, to some extent, in favour of restoration chiefly, and not in furtherance of the plan of the Committee. It is contended that all that is necessary is to restore the Temple, and perhaps rearrange the kitchen department. We certainly share in the objections that are urged against the purchase of the remaining portion of the lease of Bacon's Hotel; the price demanded is a strong argument against granting a long lease to Messrs. Spiers and Pond. No one knows what the future may bring forth, and for Grand Lodge to tie its hands for fifty years, even were the terms much better than those proposed, would be forging fetters for the future which would be galling and unjust to our successors, and might involve them in claims which they could not meet without serious injury to the Craft, especially to the cause of charity.

—:o:—

Still there remain matters to be decided that were, and probably still are, regarded as important. The desire for an enlarged Temple was not a mere sentiment, surely; if so, it would be difficult to determine where the sentimental begins and ends, and where the practical comes in. If the Temple only is to be restored, the matter can soon be disposed of; but if it is to be enlarged, if better accommodation is to be afforded to those who have to go to Freemasons' Hall on business, if there is to be a library and museum worthy of the Craft, if the kitchen arrangements are to be improved, then structural alterations must take place. Until the brethren make up their minds as to what they really do want, it will be impossible to draft a plan. The restoration of the Temple would be the simplest scheme, but we can hardly believe that that is all that is likely to be demanded. It may not be necessary to purchase Mr. Bacon's lease, nor to extend that of Messrs. Spiers and Pond, but it may be desirable to do something more than restore the damaged Temple. The question of banquetting accommodation is not so important as some seem to think. When we find private enterprise doing so much for the service of Lodges, it would be imprudent to incur any large outlay on our own premises, unless the present and prospective advantages were beyond dispute. That does not appear to be so, and were the Craft polled it would be found that they are opposed to speculations which would involve an increased outlay, and tie the hand of Grand Lodge for half a century to come. If our tenants are suffering at our hands, relief ought to be given as a matter of justice; if not, consideration ought to be given to our own wants, and those can best be served by taking the control of our property into our own keeping.

—:o:—

On Tuesday afternoon the remains of Bro. the Marquis of Donegall, K.P., G.C.H., were interred in the family mausoleum on the estate near Belfast. Our deceased Brother was Provincial Grand Master of the Province of Antrim, and on the occasion of his funeral the brethren assembled in large numbers to swell the mournful cortège. He was ripe in years, having been born in 1797, being thus 86 years of age at the time of his death. He was also held in high respect, as not only did the Freemasons of his own and adjoining province take part in the funeral ceremony, but also representatives of the Royal Irish Militia, of the Belfast Corporation and the Harbour Commissioners, while the peopled assembled in thousands in and around Cave Hill, the name by which the residence of the late Marquis is known.

—:o:—

There was a cheerful as well as a sorrowful aspect of the meeting of the Craft. A Grand Masonic Bazaar has been held at Belfast during the past few days, which helped to increase the number of the brethren in the town. After attending the funeral of Brother the Marquis of Donegall, the members of the Craft attended the ceremony of closing the bazaar, which was a brilliant finish to an equally brilliant opening. We learn that the financial results are most cheering, and that the local Masonic Charities will receive a great accession of funds.

—:o:—

There is great activity in the Masonic ranks just now. In addition to the doings in Ireland, we find that Brother Lord Hartington laid the foundation stone of a New Sunday School building in connection with St. James' Church, Buxton, on Tuesday. The ceremony was performed with Masonic rites, and afforded a pleasant and edifying sight to a large crowd gathered on the occasion.

A Convocation of the North London Chapter of Improvement was held, on Thursday, 1st inst., at the Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury. The installation of Principals was conducted by Comp. Brown, in a most praiseworthy and impressive manner, at 7 o'clock; there was a number of Past Principals assembled on this occasion. At 8 o'clock the ceremony of exaltation was rehearsed; Comp. Hunter occupied the chair of Z., Comps. Isaac H., Sparrow J., R. Bird S.N., Hubbard P.S.

Digitized by Google

SUPREME GRAND CHAPTER OF ROYAL ARCH MASONS.

A QUARTERLY Convocation of the Supreme Grand Chapter will be held at Freemasons' Hall, London, on Wednesday, the 7th day of November next, at six o'clock in the evening.

The Minutes of the last Quarterly Convocation to be read for confirmation.

The report of the Committee of General Purposes (as follows) will be submitted to the Supreme Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of England.

The Committee of General Purposes beg to report that they have examined the accounts from the 18th July to the 17th October 1883, both inclusive, which they find to be as follows:—

	£	s	d		£	s	d
Balance Grand Chapter	1043	14	1	Disbursements during the quarter	201	10	4
„ Unappropriated Account	209	9	10	Balance	1031	19	9
Subsequent Receipts	195	14	6	„ in Unappropriated Account	215	8	4
	£1,448	18	5		£1,448	18	5

which balances are in the Bank of England, Western Branch.

The Committee have likewise to report that they have received the following Petitions:—

1st. From Companions William Richard Pratt as Z., James Gray as H., William Barefoot as J., and six others for a Chapter to be attached to the John Miller Lodge, No. 1906, Madras, to be called "The Madras Chapter," and to meet at Royapoorum, or Black Town, Madras, in the East Indies.

2nd. From Companions Theobald Ringer, M.D., as Z., Reverend John Augustus Lloyd, M.A., as H., John Campbell Maclean as J., and ten others for a Chapter to be attached to the Lodge of Loyalty, No. 1533, Marlborough, to be called "The Methuen Chapter," and to meet at the Masonic Hall, Marlborough, Wiltshire.

3rd. From Companions Sir Michael Edward Hicks Beach, Bart., M.P., as Z., John Walker as H., Richard V. Vassar-Smith as J., and nine others for a Chapter to be attached to the Royal Gloucestershire Lodge, No. 839, Gloucester, to be called "The Royal Gloucestershire Chapter," and to meet at the Bell Hotel, Gloucester.

The foregoing Petitions being in all respects regular, the Committee recommend that the prayers thereof be respectively granted.

The Committee have likewise to report that they have received a Memorial from the Companions of the Chapter of Unanimity, No. 42, Bury, Lancashire, praying for a Charter authorising them to wear a Centenary Jewel, in accordance with the resolution passed by the Supreme Grand Chapter on the 1st February 1882.

This Memorial being in form and the Chapter having proved an uninterrupted existence of one hundred years, the Committee recommend that the prayer thereof be granted.

The Committee have likewise to report that the District Grand Lodge of Malta having, on the 18th September 1883, expelled from Masonry a Brother of the Wanderers' Lodge, No. 1604, London, and P.M. and Treasurer of the Wayfarers' Lodge, No. 1926, Malta, also of the Melita Chapter, No. 349, Malta, for defalcation of his Lodge accounts, the Grand Chapter will, in accordance with Article 10, page 6, of the Royal Arch Regulations, proceed to declare the said Companion expelled from the Royal Arch Degree.

The President will therefore move—

"That the said Companion, of the Melita Chapter, No. 349, be declared expelled from the Order of Royal Arch Masons."

The Committee have also to report that the Grand Orient of Portugal having intimated that they had authorised the formation of a Royal Arch Grand Chapter for that Country, with Chapters working in accordance with the English Ritual, and the said Grand Orient and Grand Chapter having each requested the recognition of the latter Body by the Grand Chapter of England; the Committee recommend that this Grand Chapter do accede to the request.

The President will therefore move—

"That the Grand Chapter of Portugal be henceforth recognised by the Supreme Grand Chapter."

The Committee also beg to recommend, and the President will move—

"That the sum of £2,000 be granted from the funds of this Grand Chapter, in aid of the proposed re-building of the Temple at Freemasons' Hall, recently destroyed by fire."

(Signed) JOHN CREATON, P.G.Pr. Soj.
Past Grand Treasurer,
President.

FREEMASONS' HALL, LONDON, W.C.
17th October 1883.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are strongly recommended to all persons who are much reduced in power and condition, whose stomachs are weak, and whose nerves are shattered. The beneficial effects of these Pills will be perceptible after a few days' trial, though a more extended course may be required to re-establish perfect health. Holloway's medicine acts on the organs of digestion, and induces complete regularity in the stomach, liver, pancreas, and kidneys. This treatment is both safe and certain in result, and is thoroughly consistent with observation, experience, and common sense. The purification of the blood, the removal of all noxious matter from the secretions, and the excitement of gentle action in the bowels, are the sources of the curative powers of Holloway's Pills.

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our Correspondents.

All Letters must bear the name and address of the Writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return rejected communications.

—:o:—

"POOR CANDIDATES AND THE VOTING SYSTEM."

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR,—I have read with much interest your leading article on "Poor Candidates and the Voting System," and if the truths therein expressed could only be brought home to some of the leading and most charitably disposed of the Brotherhood, so as either to abolish, or greatly alter the present "voting system," you will indeed have conferred a great benefit and kindness on many widows and candidates, both of present and future times. The expense is, as you remark, great, and truly places those most in need of assistance at the greatest disadvantage, and just at a time when both money and time is to the widow most valuable. It is not alone the expense, but the time occupied in canvassing for votes, either personally or by letter, which must of necessity be undertaken by the widow; time by this means is lost, as it debars her from obtaining any employment by which to augment her income, and even precludes her, if she enter "heart and soul" into the business of "securing votes," from carrying on the education of younger children, should her means, which is often the case, be insufficient to send them to school with the elder ones. Hence, double evil is wrought where a benefit is intended. I can assure you that ever since my boy was sent in for "election," I have done nothing but write letters, and send out circulars to subscribers; and, finding that no replies were received at first, I the second time enclosed a "stamped envelope" to ensure a reply of some kind, in order to save myself the trouble of writing half a dozen times to no purpose; to enclose a stamp is therefore a saving in the end.

I have two children (out of four) whose education I should be now conducting myself, or else, by obtaining a "Companionship" at a salary, at least maintaining one at school; which would also save friends the burden of its support; but with this voting business on hand, it is impossible; as, if I wish to succeed, I must labour for myself. Doubtless many others are in a similarly uncomfortable position. I could say more on the same head, respecting the great trouble it imposes on friends, &c.

With regard to the "borrowing" system, I was not until very lately aware that any one would dream of guaranteeing "a loan of votes" unless they knew they were in a position to return them at a given time, and had no idea that a failure of "return of votes" to time would necessitate "pecuniary compensation." This places one in a still more awkward position, as, under the circumstances, I for one could never never think of asking, or permitting a friend to ask, for a "loan of votes," unless I felt that I could myself pay for the favour, as I should on such terms consider it equivalent to "begging" for £50 or more, which I could not endure. I do not understand the working of the "voting system," but beg to offer a suggestion as to how I think it might be made easier, viz., Suppose that "Presentations" were issued, according to the number of vacancies each time, these to be given each year to Her Majesty, to the Prince of Wales, and the rest of the Vice Presidents in turn. A report of all the cases, with their various necessities, to be sent first to all these for consideration, and when each Vice President has decided on which child he would support, then the whole list of gentlemen having Presentations, with the name of the candidate each intends to support, to be printed on balloting papers, and sent to each subscriber, &c., who would then decide, in turn, for whom they would vote, and send their papers to the Vice President favouring that particular case. Of course, the candidates not chosen by the Vice President would be set aside for next election. There might also be a sum, say from £20 downwards, fixed for candidates to pay, according as they were admitted at first, second, or third elections, which would benefit the Institution, and not as now (with more added) be expended by the widow for benefit of Inland Revenue, printers, stationers, &c.; it would for this purpose be incurred with pleasure. I hope I may be pardoned, being a sufferer, the presumption of offering these suggestions, but it is merely an "idea," which may perhaps be better "worked out" by those who understand these matters. This would, I think, be fair to all parties, and as borrowing is wrong in principle, under a new régimé it is to be hoped that it would be considered illegal, and the candidature of any one attempting it be forfeited. I fear that I have trespassed seriously on your valuable time, and hope you will kindly excuse my attempt at a reply.

Yours truly and gratefully,

THE MOTHER OF A CANDIDATE.

INSTALLATION CONCERTS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—It surprised several of my friends very much, and myself not less than them, that you should have thought it expedient or wise to protest against Lodges having an arranged musical programme to accompany the toasts at their Installation banquets. When, however, after the lapse of a fortnight, your two correspondents in last week's issue of the CHRONICLE have summoned up boldness enough to support the peculiar notions ventilated by you, I think it only meet to say, as one of the opposition, that I am very pleased to think that the majority of the Craft are not of the same opinion. In reference to the opinions of the two correspondents themselves, I do not propose to dilate, except to say that their effusions appear to me full of contradictions, and beside the question at issue.

Digitized by Google

I have attended several Installation meetings, at only one of which, I am happy to say, the musical part of the programme was left to the members of the Lodge and their bona fide visitors; and, I must say, although "comparisons are odious," that the manner in which the work has been expedited and completed in those Lodges which had made arrangements for everything, viz., visitors' speeches, music, &c., have, in my humble opinion, always carried off the palm.

It is something new to be told, by inference, that the honour of attaining the chair of K.S. is only for him who can manage, by hook or by crook, to keep up his subscriptions, and that any one higher in the social scale, who is entitled and finds himself elected to fill that honourable position, should not be allowed to put his hand into his own pocket in order to minister to the pleasure and edification of the members and visitors to his Lodge. The merest child in Freemasonry should know, that although it makes brothers of us all, it fails to make the poor rich, or the rich poor; and, therefore, it should be no reason, because there happens to be two or three brothers in a Lodge who are in less affluent circumstances than the other members, why the whole body should be afflicted with two hours or more of bad singing and worse speechifying at the principal Masonic meeting of the year. No one would expect or like a brother, who had been elected to fill the chair of K.S., to launch out into an expense which he could not afford, and wherefore, then, should such a brother envy and carp at the laudable endeavours of another to do honour to his Lodge who it is well known can afford an extra five-pound note on one of the most auspicious occasions of his life?

We have heard and read of some peculiar "innovations in Freemasonry," but it would be difficult, I think, to imagine a greater, or one more outrageous to common sense, than that the majority of the members of a Lodge should be made to look niggardly or contemptible before their visitors merely because there are in the Lodge a few brethren who, if they had previously wisely considered their circumstances, would have never become members of a society which, of necessity, is always calling upon its solvent members for fresh proofs of their charity and love.

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

J. G.

London, 31st October 1883.

SCRUTINEERS AND THEIR RESPONSIBILITIES.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—The October election for the young folks is over; and some of their representatives have gone away with hearts full of thankfulness and rejoicing, others buoyed up with hope for the future, and others again in sorrow and despair that their efforts have been in vain, and that they are debarred from all further chance. But such is the lottery; all cannot win, some must of necessity lose; at least until the laws of our Institutions can be rendered more perfect. There are several circumstances which have occurred during this election (not new, because they have happened before) to which it might not be considered time lost to direct the attention of the Craft at large, more especially of those brethren who are actively engaged in working the several cases which come before the Quarterly Courts for decision. Like an Irishman I commence at the end of the proceedings, as the cases in point are more tentitive, and require more steady judgment than the first part. I mean, for instance, when a representative officer challenges the correctness of the return of the Scrutineers. Either he should demand a scrutiny or he should be silent, if not certain as to the correctness of the number of votes he has sent in. That there should be mistakes in the enumeration of such a large number of votes is not only possible, but probable; it therefore behoves a brother to be particularly careful before making such a charge. For the information of those who are unacquainted with the business, it may be as well briefly to explain how the counting is done. On the ballot boxes being brought up to the Scrutineers, two brethren open them, take out the papers, and arrange them according to the order of the cases, on shelves duly numbered and set apart for that purpose; they are then taken into an inner room, and each bundle of papers is gone through by two counters, who check each others work; the papers are then handed to a third Scrutineer, who looks them through again, and verifies or rejects them according to circumstances. When correct they are handed to a fourth inspector, who sees whether, even after these tests, they are signed and filled in for the names on the bundles. Thus every provision is made to avoid the least possible chance of error. Now, when a brother challenges the correctness of the return, and when called upon declines to demand a scrutiny, but yet, outside the Court, expresses his opinion that he has been sat upon by the Scrutineers, I venture to assert such a proceeding is not only unfair to himself, but to the Scrutineers, whose honour is at stake as to the correctness of the return they send in. My second point is, the position of a successful candidate, eligible for election, but not to enter the School for a period, it may be of nearly twelve months, and who thus excludes the next highest unsuccessful candidate for a longer period, which difficulty I think might be met by the following method:—The candidate to whom I refer shall be declared elected, and be eligible for the first vacancy that may occur after he has reached the requisite age. It is only natural the friends of a particular candidate desire to secure the benefits of the School as early as possible, and by this means they could still do so, without leaving a vacancy unfilled for any length of time. If this should meet the views of the Fraternity, I shall be happy to propose such a course be adopted at the next Quarterly Court.

With regard to the manner in which some of the worthies in question send in their votes attention has been called previously, and with marked success; but there are still some to whom a few remarks will be a propos. First of all, they should open their papers, and see that they are both properly signed and filled up, and then arrange them in bundles, placing the papers together according to their relative value. These suggestions, if attended to, would facilitate the enumeration, and hasten the declaration of the poll. On the other hand, the opposite course causes much trouble and inconvenience; (1st) when the proxies are sent up singly each paper has to be opened and placed in its respective bundle on the shelves; (2nd) unsigned proxies are of no use to any body; (3rd) when papers are improperly or carelessly filled in, the votes may be recorded to a wrong case; the instructions on the proxy papers are plain enough for any one to understand, viz.: "That you are to place the vote or votes you intend to give opposite the name of the candidate or candidates you are desirous to assist, taking care not to put down more than the paper entitles you to. Thus, if you have three votes, and you desire to poll for John Thomas Smith, the number should come after Smith, not before John. Supposing, which is usually the case, there are two or more columns of names, be careful not to place it on the dividing line, but clearly in front of the case, or still better run a double pencil mark through all the names but that one or those you intend to vote for. Then, unless you have divided your favours, the number does not so much signify, as it will be taken from the value written or printed on the paper.

Now, with a few statistics of the polling I will close this already lengthy letter.

	Votes.				Votes.
Boys—Brought forward ...	28,540	Issued			47,700
Issued	47,700	Polled			43,795
	76,240				3,905
		Spoilt			127
		Unpolled ...			3,778

Highest successful, 3,237; lowest successful, 2,285; average, 2,544½.

Girls—Brought forward ...	2,133	Issued			32,877
Issued	32,877	Polled			29,399
	35,010				3,478
		Spoiled			56
		Unpolled ...			3,422

Highest successful, 3,101; lowest successful, 1,862; average, 2,372½.

The Boys carry forward 19,415 votes for next April, and there wille be, as far as can be ascertained now, 29 vacancies; for these there are already 40 candidates.

The Girls carry forward 12,281 votes, and there will be 23 vacancies, for which at present there are only 21 applicants. Three last chances failed at this election.

I remain,

Yours fraternally,

A SCRUTINEER.

60 Queen Victoria-street, E.C.
20th October 1883.

ROYAL ARCH.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND COMPANION,—Like "Rosa Dartle," I want to know. A summons has been issued for Grand Chapter for next Wednesday, enclosing the minutes of the last Quarterly Communication.

In the list of Grand Officers then present—presumably printed in the correct order of precedence—one member is described as Past A double s ist G. Sojr. and the next as Past A single s isst G. Soj.

Will you kindly advise if either rank is both, or both is neither, or if either is which, or if both have been mixed? or, if in Grand Chapter A double ss ist. takes precedence of A single s isst.? how either should be distinguished from each in a private Chapter if both should favour with their company at the same Convocation?

Yours fraternally,

A PUZZLED P.Z.

31st October 1883.

[We have heard it said, that "printers are very stupid people;" if this attempt at an explanation does not meet the views of our correspondent, we fear we must give his conundrum up.—ED. F.C.]

AN IRREPRESSIBLE MASONIC BLUNDERER.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—There is an old adage, viz., those who cannot bear the smell of powder should not go to war, and in like manner I would recommend those who are apt to get excited by a criticism to keep away from the Press. There seems, however, to be in England a Masonic writer who cannot bear to be criticised, and who is more especially galled when the criticism happens to be unanswerable. Now, I happened to designate the originators of certain fallacies as Masonic blunderers. The cap happened to fit that party; he knows that he has blundered, but he is so over and above opinionated, and so determined to maintain his assumption of Masonic infallibility, that he must still rush to the Press with something; and as he has not a peg to hang an argument on, and has probably been on the look out for some time for something to sting me with, he very fortunately, or unfortunately, discovered in the Keystone a quotation from my paper on the Compagnons, and with this quotation he rushed to the Freemason, wherein his letter, headed "Bro. Jacob Norton," was printed in the 29th September issue. In the said letter he favours the Editor with a witticism of his own, viz., "that Bro. Norton's bark hurts more than his bite," and then adds the isolated quotation from the Keystone, and sneakingly signs the letter with a nom de plum.

Digitized by Google

Poor fellow! whoever he is; the above letter proves conclusively that he is an out and out Masonic blunderer; and whatever blunders the said writer may have defended or originated, that letter is the greatest blunder of all; his aim was to bring me into discredit; but how can a letter from a sneak and a coward bring any one into discredit?

Respectfully and fraternally yours,

JACOB NORTON.

Boston, U.S., 15th October 1883.

AFTER VACATION, WHAT?

IF we have been so fortunate as to enjoy a vacation period, what ought to be its result? If for a little time we have turned aside from the usual routine of life and become interested in new scenes—if we have sought to refresh our jaded bodies and minds by communion with nature, whose glory we have seen upon the mountain or by the seaside—what shall such an experience profit us? Surely we ought to come back from our vacation wanderings and rest with some fresh flow of spirits and strength for the labours to which we are called. The occasional pauses in life have their proper ministry in a revival of both physical and mental energies. We rest awhile that we may take up our work with fresh ardour, and put into its accomplishment more of real power, as we come also to comprehend what is the blessed privilege of activity in that sphere to which each life is appointed. We go away for a little time that we may bring home quickened thought, a more cheerful temper, and some augmented power to discharge the duties which devolve upon us day by day.

After vacation cometh work. After rest and refreshment we must needs return to those labours which engross so large a part of our existence. Doing this we may not murmur or complain, for such is the make and structure of our being that we find highest good in the activities that so much engage our attention. We are subject to the law of a constant service, and we know that we must apply ourselves with diligence to whatsoever our hands find to do, if we are to fulfil the possibilities of a noble being and realize largest blessings. Nature is ever active. Her stupendous laboratory is never closed, and there is no interregnum in the operation of her stupendous forces. Consider how that beautiful process evaporation constantly goes on; the moisture from the earth beneath ascends to the clouds overhead, and then come back in the early and the latter rains; so likewise the streams are ever moving to the great ocean, and the tides are flowing and ebbing all the days of all the years. In all departments of the material universe there is incessant activity, for nature is always at work in soils, rocks, grasses; everywhere operating to produce a higher condition of development.

Man is not able to maintain such constant activity. The body is the machinery of man, and has the touch of weakness upon it. It often needs, as does the mind, a period of comparative rest for the renewal of its strength and its more efficient working. But man's normal condition is that of activity. He must work for the attainment of highest good. He cannot succeed in any department of life except by his earnest and persistent endeavours. He must not weary in well-doing if he would gather the treasures which must bless and satisfy; whatever the obstacles that confront him he must toil and struggle, never losing hope in a brighter and better future, and never doubting the sure rewards which God has appointed for all faithful service. Whoever we are, wherever we are standing, whatever the limitations that surround us, we have yet the opportunity for some good work, some large and blessed achievements.

"Shall we sit idly down and say,
The night hath come, it is no longer day?
The night hath not yet come: we are not quite
Cut off from labour by the falling light.
Something remains for us to do or dare:
Even the oldest tree some fruit may bear.
For age is opportunity no less
Than youth itself, though in another dress.
And, as the evening twilight fades away,
The sky is filled with stars invisible by day."

It is this earnest hopeful spirit that we should carry with us in the resumption of our Masonic communions and work. The vacation period in our Lodges should be followed by a season of awakened zeal and interest. Indolence and indifference will not secure Lodge prosperity. If real progress is to be made there must be an intelligent application of means to ends—a resolute putting forth of energy in the right direction. Brethren must be interested and active if they expect their Lodge, or other Masonic organization, to attain the ideal condition of excellence. No large success is possible unless they put their hearts into the work—unless they are ready to give something of their best thought, love, and service to the association in which they have membership. As they come back from their journeyings, as they enter again the halls that have been closed, privileged once more to exchange fraternal greetings and engage in Masonic work, what so much is needed as that they should be moved by a resolute purpose to help each other and to uphold the interests to which they stand pledged, that thus the true mission of Masonry may be accomplished? May we not hope for this augmented zeal and devotion in all Masonic Lodges?—Freemasons' Repository.

MARK MASONRY.

—:o:—

York Lodge (T.I.)—The regular meeting of this Lodge was held at York, on the 16th ult., there being present—Bros. C. G. Padel W.M., J. Todd P.M. as S.W., M. Millington J.W., T. B. Whytehead P.M. Treas. and Sec., G. Balmford P.M., A. T. B. Turner, H. C. Pickersgill, G. Lamb, and many other brethren. Capt. Baldray and Sergt.-Major Knights, 5th Dragoon Guards, were advanced to this degree. The election of Master and Treasurer then took place, resulting in the unanimous return of Bros. Millington and T. B. Whytehead. Auditors were appointed, letters of apology were read, and the Lodge was then closed, the brethren afterwards spending an hour or two in social converse.

BRASS AND COPPER TRADES PENSION INSTITUTION.

THE Thirtieth Annual Festival of the above Institution was held on Wednesday, at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, under the genial presidency of Bro. G. Lambert, F.S.A., Past Grand Sword Bearer, President of the Goldsmiths' and Jewellers' Annuity and Asylum Institution. After a sumptuous banquet and dessert, provided by Bros. Ritter and Clifford, the Chairman proposed the usual toasts, Bros. Major Shipway and Cutler responding for the Army and Navy. The Chairman, in felicitous terms, proposed the toast of the evening. Mr. London, in proposing the toast of the Sister Institutions, said, it was a trite saying that Charity never faileth, and while they had such men as Bro. Lambert at their head, Charity never would fail. His philanthrophy was duly recognised and widespread. Mr. Adams responded. Mr. Brockley proposed the health of the Chairman, and intimated that the Committee of Goldsmiths' Hall had given a special grant of ten guineas. The other toasts included the Secretary, Mr. Manton, who announced subscriptions to the amount of £300, including a donation from the Chairman of one hundred guineas, £52 10s from Mr. A. McGlashan, and £50 from Mr. D. Hulett. A very excellent selection of music was given under the direction of Miss Maria Belval.

Bro. James Stevens P.M. P.Z. has undertaken to deliver his lecture, explanatory of the ritual and ceremonies of the first degree, to the members of the Eccleston Lodge of Instruction, No. 1624, meeting at the King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, this evening, at 6.45; in the Arboretum Lodge, No. 731, at the Masonic Hall, Derby, on the 8th inst.; and in the Wandsworth Lodge of Instruction, East Hill Hotel, Wandsworth, on the 20th inst.

SELF-POSSESSION.—The British correspondent of the Sanitary Engineer, New York, writes: "Scotchmen are a cool-headed and matter-of-fact race. Professor Gardner read his address as President of one of the sections from manuscript notes, which he had evidently not had time to modify. It was, however, very amusing to watch him every now and then, in the course of its delivery, pause, take a pencil from his pocket, and then dot an i, cross a t, or erase a word. The audidience stood these eccentricities of genius with marked good temper, and toward the expiration of the hour taken to deliver the address speaker and listeners became an amused and happy family."

EDUCATION. — HAMBURG.

Bro. JOHN A. NEECK, 9 Bundesstrasse, HAMBURG,

Is prepared to receive into his Family

TWO OR THREE ENGLISH YOUTHS AS BOARDERS,

During the time they attend School in this City.

CAREFUL SUPERVISION, KIND TREATMENT, BEST BODILY & MENTAL CARE

High References in England and Hamburg.

PROSPECTUS FREE

DANCING.—To Those Who Have Never Learnt to Dance.—Bro. and Mrs. JACQUES WYNMANN receive daily, and undertake to teach ladies and gentlemen, who have never had the slightest previous knowledge or instruction, to go through every fashionable ball-dance in a few easy lessons. Private lessons any hour. Morning and evening classes

PROSPECTUS ON APPLICATION

ACADEMY—74 NEWMAN STREET, OXFORD STREET, W.

BRO. JACQUES WYNMANN WILL BE HAPPY TO TAKE THE MANAGEMENT OF MASONIC BALLS. FIRST-CLASS BANDS PROVIDED.

FIRE AT FREEMASONS' HALL!

LARGE photographs of the Temple, taken immediately after the fire, on 4th May (suitable for framing), 5s each; or framed in oak, securely packed, sent to any address in the United Kingdom, carriage paid, on receipt of stamps for 15s. Masters of Lodges should secure this memorial of the old Temple for their Lodge rooms.

W. G. PARKER, Photographer, 40 High Holborn, W.C.

Established 25 years.

The Revised Book of Constitutions: Critically Considered, and Compared with the Old Edition. London: Simpkin, Marshall & Co., 4 Stationers' Hall Court, E.C. Sent on receipt of stamps, One Shilling, by W. W. Morgan, Freemason's Chronicle Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.—(ADVT).

Digitized by Google

THE IMPERIAL HOTEL,
HOLBORN VIADUCT, LONDON,
Adjoining the Termini of the London Chatham and Dover Railway, but distinct from the Viaduct Hotel.

THE BEST FURNISHED AND MOST COMFORTABLE HOTEL IN LONDON.
HOT & COLD WATER LAID ON IN ALL BED ROOMS.
The appointments throughout so arranged as to ensure domestic comfort.
EVERY ACCOMMODATION FOR MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS,
Public Dinners & Wedding Breakfasts.
The Crusaders Lodge, No. 1677, and Perseverance Lodge, No. 1743, hold their meetings at this establishment.
GOOD COOKING. FINE WINES. MODERATE CHARGES.
The Edison Electric Light.
TARIFF on APPLICATION to Bro. A. BEGBIE.

HOLLY BUSH TAVERN, HAMPSTEAD,
(Close to the Fire Station).
ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; BALLS and ASSEMBLIES; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c. Rail and Bus within easy distance.
The members of the St. John's Lodge, No. 167, have held their meetings at this establishment for many years.
Full particulars and Tariff on application to
C. M. FROUD, Proprietor.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.
PREPARATORY SCHOOL SPECIAL BUILDING FUND.
SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.
In connection with such Special Fund, attainable until 31st December 1883.
ny present Life Governor of the General Fund, or any Donor who ay qualify as such up to the date named above, will receive—
TWO VOTES,—instead of One Vote, for LIFE, for every FIVE GUINEAS contributed to the "Special Fund."
Lodges, Chapters, &c., similarly qualified may secure Two Votes instead of One Vote—for every Ten Guineas contributed to the "Special Fund."
 Ladies, and "Lewises"—being minors—similarly qualified, and all Vice-Presidents, will receive FOUR Votes for every Five Guineas so contributed.
Contributors of less than Five Guineas, to the "Special Fund," will be entitled to Votes as under ordinary conditions.

WANTED.—Tracing Boards for the Craft degrees; size about 3 ft. by 2 ft. Apply, with price and particulars, to GEORGE L. SHACKLES, 7 Land of Green Ginger, Hull.

Now Ready, Crown 8vo, 96 pp,
Price One Shilling,
Free by Post on receipt of 24 Halfpenny Stamps,
OCCASIONAL PAPERS
ON
THE HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.
Written expressly for delivery in Lodges of Instruction.
London: W. W. MORGAN,
Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N.

Brother C. G. SPARROW,
ACCOUNTANT AND AUDITOR,
17 FINSBURY PAVEMENT, E.C.
Accounts audited periodically at a moderate annual charge.
Terms on application.

PAUL & BURROWS,
MANUFACTURERS OF
SODA WATER AND SELTZER WATER,
LEMONADE AND GINGER BEER,
GINGER ALE AND POTASH WATER,
&c. &c.
FIRST CLASS QUALITY ONLY.
WILSON and ENDELL STREETS, LONG ACRE, LONDON, W.C.
ESTABLISHED EIGHTY YEARS.

BRO. R. HIRST engages to provide, at short notice, an efficient Band for Annual Banquets, Dinners, Excursions and Quadrille Parties. For terms apply to "R. Hirst, The Three Crowns, 237 Mile End Road, E."

Twelfth Edition, post free, One Shilling.
DR. WATTS on ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS. A Treatise on the only successful Method of Curing these Diseases. By Robert G. Watts, M.D., F.R.S.L., F.C.S., &c., 5 Bulstrode-street, Cavendish-sq., London.
London: C. Mitchell and Co., Red Lion-court, Fleet-street; and Simpkin and Co., Stationers' Hall-court

HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.

(Continued from Vol. XVII. p 275.)

HAVING given the legend of Maître Jacques and pointed out the absence of information respecting that of Maître Soubise, Bro. Gould pursues his task by giving us some insight into the constitution of the several fraternities. Thus, in that of the Joiners of Solomon, of which Perdiguier was a member, the mode of affiliation is described; the candidate being perfectly free to retire at any moment, and only accepted after due questioning and the ordinances had been read to him. He then takes the first step—the manner of so doing not being described, and becomes eligible to receive the other degrees, of which there are three, accepted companion (compagnon réçu), finished companion (compagnon fini), and initiated companion (compagnon initié). Even the affiliates attended the General Assemblies. In the Maître Jacques system there were only two grades, the Aspirants being the inferior, and the Companions the superior grade. The number in the Maître Soubise system was also two—Companions and Foxes, but in both the inferior grade was denied all participation in the ceremonies, assemblies, and festivals. As regards costume, some societies carried long canes, some short ones, usually iron-tipped, which were used both as walking sticks when journeying, and as weapons of offence in the numerous battles fought between rival societies. Each body had its own emblems, in the shape of ribbons of distinctive colours, which were worn in the hat, collar, or a button-hole, the higher these were carried, the more noble being the society. Members of the first degree were not allowed to carry their distinctive paraphernalia, the stonemasons of Solomon being the one exception, and they wore white and green ribbons attached to the right breast. Then each fraternity and each division of it had its officers, a president, elders, and secretary, who were elected twice a year, the lower class of members taking part in the election in the case of the Sons of Solomon, but not under the other systems, in which they were compelled to accept as president of their degree a member of the upper class. This president took the title of first companion, first fox, &c., according to the class of which he was temporarily the chief, except among the joiners and locksmiths of Solomon, where the four grades formed only one society, of which the chief might belong to the initiates—in which case he was called the dignitary, and wore over his right shoulder and under his left arm a blue scarf fringed with gold lace, and the square and compasses interlaced on his breast—these and other implements were commonly worn as personal badges—or be a Finished Companion, when he took the title of First Companion, and only added gold fringe to his ribbons. Each Craft had its special house of call, which was known as La Mère—the mother—and after initiation, each Companion chose a soubriquet, examples of which are given. Each family had also one or more distinctive titles, that of Compagnons du dévoir being common to all these divisions, the sons of Solomon also calling themselves Compagnons du dévoir de Liberté, or simply Compagnons de Liberté. Among other distinctions we are told the Stonemasons of Solomon called themselves Compagnons Etrangers, on the ground that when in Judea they were strangers; while the Stonemasons of Jacques, and the Carpenters of Soubise, call themselves Compagnons passants, the reason being that when at Jerusalem they did not intend to make a long stay. Again, the Stonemasons of Solomon call themselves Wolves, those of Jacques Were Wolves, and the Carpenters Drilles or Bondrilles, that is, "good fellows;" the Joiners and Locksmiths of Solomon gavots, an obsolete word, meaning "highlanders," the Sons of Soubise and Jacques, except the Stonemasons and the Crafts admitted by them, "dogs" and "devorants." Bro. Gould suggests the latter is a corruption of "devoirants," that is, members of a devoir or charge; and among the Sons of Soubise the apprentice is a lapin (rabbit), the aspirant a renard (fox), the Companion a dog, and the master a singe (ape), because of his greater knowledge and cunning.

Digitized by Google

Of the customs of the Compagnionage, the one which Bro. Gould rightly sets down as among the most curious and the most pernicious and unreasonable is, the topage, the word toper being used in challenging to mortal combat. If two Companions of rival Crafts meet in the highway, they challenge each other, and the result is a battle royal, till one or other of them can fight no longer, and the conqueror stalks off the field in triumph, bearing with him his rival's cane as a trophy. Sometimes these fights, from the number engaged on each side, assume the dimensions of pitched battles, and terminate with disastrous, and even fatal, results. But if the two Companions meeting proved to be of the same or friendly Crafts, they rushed into each other's arms, as if they had been brothers long separated, and adjourned to the nearest tavern. Against this brutal custom of topage, Perdiguier, we are told, set his face very strongly, and did his best to uproot it.

As to their houses of resort, they formed the quarters of the Companions when on their travels, the whole society being in a measure responsible to la Mère for the expenses of any particular member. "It was here," writes Bro. Gould, "that the new comer received his welcome, and applied for work; it was here that on his departure he took a solemn yet jovial farewell of his fellows; it was here that he first was admitted to join the society; here that he entered into the serious questions of trade policy, or joined in the excitement of an annual dance." A member's advantages were numerous. On arriving in a city he was directed where to find employment. "If destitute of funds, he obtained credit at his 'mother's.' If important matters called him away and he had no money, the society would help him from town to town, until he arrived at his own village or destination. In the event of sickness, each member would take it in turn to visit him, and to provide for his wants. In some societies he is granted a sum of ten sous per diem during the time he is in hospital, which amount is presented in a lump sum on his leaving. If he should be cast into prison for any offence not entailing disgrace, he is assisted in every possible way; and if he dies, the society pays for his funeral, and honours his memory by a special service a year afterwards." In every society there is appointed a fresh Rouleur, whose duties are onerous, and who "welcomes the new arrivals, finds them work, and on their desiring to leave the town, sees that all their old scores are cleared off, and accompanies them to the gate of the town." This Rouleur likewise convokes the assemblies, of which the general assemblies are usually held on the first Sunday of every month, while special assemblies meet as occasion requires. He is also "bound to be present at all partings between master and man, and to take care that their accounts are adjusted. He then calls a special meeting, when the accounts between the society and the journeyman are likewise settled, also any obligations towards his fellow-workmen. On arriving at a fresh town, the society there always inquires of the branch at the last city in which he worked whether the member had cleared off all scores." It is the Rouleur who procures the number of men required by a master, who, however, must not employ in one shop the members of two different societies; though, if he is dissatisfied with the members of one great division, he may discharge all in his employ, and seek assistance from the chiefs of another division. In the event of a master seriously offending the society, he is placed under an interdict, and if his fellow-masters support him the whole town is banned.

The manner of providing work for members—the technical term is embauchage—which differs in the different systems—is described. Of other customs there is the regular convoy or Conduite en règle, which attends a companion when leaving a city to resume his travels. Respecting this we are told that "the leave taking with his master was usually on a Saturday afternoon. The special assembly took place in the evening. On Sunday morning he treated his friends, and the convoy then started. All the members who are anxious to assist decorate themselves in full companionage colours and a band, or at least a fiddler, is commonly engaged. First starts the Rouleur, carrying the knapsack or bundle of the traveller, then the premier companion and the departing brother arm in arm, the others follow two and two, all of course armed with their long canes. Thus they pass through the gates, singing their companionage songs, and having arrived at some distance from the town, in a wood or other quiet place, 'a ceremony takes place, which differs according to the society.' Perdiguier is far too conscientious to describe this ceremony, but he adds 'they howl, or not, as the case may be, but in all cases they drink.'" Sometimes this leads to the dispatch by an hostile society of a false or fictitious convoy, which arranges matters so as to meet the regular convoy on its return to the city, and a regular topage or fight takes place. As to the Conduite de Grenoble, or Grenoble convoy, Bro. Gould tells us it "is called into requisition when a companion has disgraced himself or his society. In full assembly he is forced on his knees, the fellows standing round and drinking to his 'eternal damnation' in flowing cups. Meanwhile he is compelled to drink water until nature rebels, and he is unable to imbibe any more, when it is poured over him in torrents. The glass which he uses is broken into fragments; his colours are torn from him and burned; the Rouleur then leads him round the room, each companion bestowing a buffet, less to hurt him than as a sign of contempt, and the door being opened, he is finally led to it, and ignominiously expelled."

The annual high festival commences with a special mass, after which the general assembly is held, and the officers elected for the ensuing year, the whole concluding with a banquet, followed by a dance, to which the companions invite their sweethearts and friends, a second dance usually taking place the following day, at which the masters and their families are present. This festival is fixed for the day of its patron saint, who is supposed to have exercised that particular Craft, the Stonemasons, however, selecting Ascension day. It should be noted that the Companions hold their festivities apart, to the exclusion of the aspirants; but the latter, though having a jollification of their own, cannot exclude the former. The Sons of Solomon, being one fraternity, hold joint meetings.

The following account of a funeral ceremony is worth giving in its entirety, the society undertaking all the expenses of interment. "The deceased is carried by four or six of his fellows, who change from time to time. On the coffin are placed two canes crossed, a square and compasses interlaced, and the colours of the society. Each Companion wears a black crêpe on his left arm and on his cane, and sports his colours. They march to the church, and thence to the cemetery in two lines, place the coffin on the edge of the grave, and form around it the 'living circle.' One of the Companions next addresses the mourners, all then kneel on one knee and offer a prayer to the Supreme Being. The coffin is lowered, and the accolade or guilbrette follows," consisting of the following ceremony. "Two canes are placed on the ground near the grave, so as to form a cross. Two Companions take their places, each within one of the quarters so formed; turn half round on the left foot, carrying the right foot forward so as to face each other, and occupy with their feet all four quarters of the cross; then, taking each other by the right hand, they whisper in one another's ear and embrace. All perform the guilbrette in turn, kneel once more on the edge of the grave, offer up a prayer, throw their pellets of earth on the coffin, and retire. In a few Crafts the concluding portion of the ceremony is slightly varied, the address to the mourners is diversified by lamentable cries, of which the public can understand nothing. This is evidently a further instance of 'howling.' Perdiguier does not clearly indicate whether the accolade takes place or not. When the coffin has been lowered, a Companion descends and places himself beside it; a cloth is stretched over the mouth of the grave, and lamentations arise from below, to which the Companions above reply. If this ceremony takes place for a Companion Carpenter of Soubise, 'something occurs at this moment, of which I am not permitted to speak.' I am inclined to think that Perdignier has here forgotten his usual caution, and says too much; there can be little doubt that the masked Companion gives the guilbrette, or some modification thereof, to the deceased."

Of other customs that of the Stonemasons, Joiners, and Locksmiths establishing and maintaining technical schools in all the towns of the Tour de France is singled out for mention; as also that of the same three Crafts with the Carpenters, all which owed a divided allegiance, whereby when one family was well established in a particular city, the others refrained from intruding. This supremacy was sometimes determined by a trial of skill (concours), while sometimes it was settled by a fight, instances of which are cited.

(To be continued.)

Digitized by Google

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

CASTLE LODGE, No. 1621.

THE installation meeting was held on Friday, the 26th October, at the Crown Hotel, Bridgnorth, when there were present Bros. E. M. Southwell W.M., Thomas Whitefoot jun. S.W. W.M. elect, W. L. Southwell J.W., Hubert Smith Treasurer, H. E. Roberts Secretary, J. H. Cooksey S.D., T. F. Nock J.D., J. Sewell Organist, W. Westcott I.G., George Westcott and Alf. Bethell Stewards, W. Simms I.P.M., and P.M.'s T. Pratt, H. B. Southwell and E. Jones Chittey; also Bros. H. J. Skelding, J. W. Chadwick, Thos. Whitefoot, Ernest Cooper, T. M. Deighton, Rev. R. Lucas, A. S. Trevor, and H. Goodall Tyler. As visiting brethren there were Bros. A. Green 498 P.G.D.C. Worcestershire, Jas. Turner S.D. 254, Jno. Bodenham 1896 P.P.G.S.W., Jas. Smart 1896 P.P.G.O., T. R. Jones P.M. 293, Jno. Cresswell 377, Charles Lewis 1896, T. C. Bird 1896, D. R. Davies 357, W. Barkley 280 P.P.G.S.W. Worcestershire, J. T. Meredith 1874 P.G.D.C. Worcestershire, G. W. Naylor 1874 P.P.G.O. Worcestershire, G. Holdsworth 377, S. Boddington I.P.M. 1016, E. M. Wakeman 262 P.P.S.W., and James Cartwright Tyler 1896. Lodge was opened and advanced, when the Worshipful Master elect, Bro. T. Whitefoot junior, was presented, and the brethren below the degree of Master having withdrawn, a Board of Installed Masters was opened by P.M. Chittey, who also conducted the ceremony, with great regularity and ability. The W.M. invested his Officers as follow:—W. L. Southwell S.W., J. H. Cooksey J.W., Rev. R. Lucas Chaplain, H. Smith Treasurer, H. E. Roberts Secretary, T. F. Nock S.D., W. Westcott J.D., J. Sewell Org., G. Westcott I.G., A. Bethell and H. J. Skelding Stewards, and H. Goodall Tyler. Before closing the Lodge the W.M. presented Bro. E. M. Southwell with a P.M.'s jewel, which had been voted him by the brethren, and in doing so complimented him upon the excellent manner in which he had presided over his Lodge during the year. In returning thanks Bro. Southwell testified to the able manner in which he had been supported by every officer in the Lodge, and thanked them for their unwearying zeal. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren retired to the banqueting-room where a magnificent spread awaited them. The brethren having duly refreshed themselves, did honour to the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. The toast of the Provincial Officers was responded to by Bros. Bodenham, Smart, and Jones, the former complimenting the Castle Lodge very highly upon its working, whilst the latter, during an eloquent speech, said, "I shall not be improperly exposing secrets if I state that Bro. Sir Offley Wakeman D.P.G.M. told us, after his recent visit to the 'Castle,' that it was the best worked Lodge in Shropshire." The toast of the Visitors was ably acknowledged by Bro. Barkley, who expressed the pleasure he and the visiting brethren had felt in being present to witness such excellent work. Some capitally rendered songs were interspersed with the toasts, and a most enjoyable evening was spent, probably the most brilliant since the foundation of the Lodge.

PRUDENT BRETHREN LODGE, No. 145.

THE first meeting since the vacation was held on the 23rd ult., at the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, under the Presidency of the W.M. Bro. Kerrell, J. Read S.W., Brock J.W. Bro. T. Bull (Treasurer) was unavoidably absent through indisposition. D. Haslett P.M. Secretary, G. Banks S.D., Masters J.D., Hampton as I.G., Cox W.S., Reinhardt Tyler; C. A. Woods I.P.M.; P.M.'s J. H. Leggott, Lister, Purkess, G. S. States P.G.S., E. H. Thiellay P.P.G.P. Middlesex, &c. Visitors—H. M. Appleton S.W. 1381, E. Swanborough P.M. 1319, Green P.M. 27, W. Daniell W.M. 1107, J. W. Hiscox I.P.M. 1512, E. Lloyd 1141, and H. M. Levy P.M. 188. After the formal opening of Lodge, the minutes were read and confirmed. A ballot was taken for the admission of Mr. D. E. Davies; and this being unanimously in favour, that gentleman was duly initiated into the Order. Bro. Capt W. F. P. Moore answered the usual questions, and was duly passed to the 2nd degree. Both ceremonies being ably rendered by the W.M. A vote of condolence was proposed to the widow of the late Bro. Walker. The W.M. and brethren all expressed regret at the enforced absence of the worthy Treasurer, Bro. T. Bull; all wished him a speedy recovery and it was agreed that a letter be sent to him from the Lodge to that effect. After Lodge was closed, the brethren sat down to a very excellent banquet and dessert, provided by Messrs. Spiers and Pond (Limited), and superintended by Brother Dawkins. The Worshipful Master in proposing the loyal toasts remarked, he did not intend to give long speeches. In speaking to the toast of the Initiate, the W.M. said Bro. D. E. Davies had paid great attention to the ceremony, and doubtless would become a good Mason. Bro. Davies appropriately responded. Bro. C. A. Wood I.P.M. proposed the health of the W.M., and spoke of his popularity as a man and a Mason. The brethren had had an opportunity of seeing Bro. Kerrell's working that evening, which was everything that could be desired. In reply, the W.M. said he was grateful to know that during his occupation of the chair he had given them satisfaction, it would be his continued aim to do this. In speaking of the Past Masters, the W.M. said the I.P.M. is one of the hardest working Masons in London. Whether in Craft or Arch Masonry he is always at his post to do his duty; a more genial friend could not be found. The other Past Masters had all done meritorious work for the Lodge, and were ever ready to strive for its advancement. Bro. C. A. Wood I.P.M., in a characteristic speech, responded; he thanked the W.M. for his kind remarks. Bro. Purkess followed; although he had not been present for nearly three years, he had been pleased to learn the Lodge was in a prosperous condition. For the Visitors, who were next complimented, Bros. E. Swanborough, H. M. Levy and others responded. All complimented the W.M., and gave credit to the Officers for their excellent working. In proposing the toast of the Treasurer and Secretary, allusion was again made by the W.M. to the enforced absence of Bro. Bull. Both he and the Secretary, Bro. Haslett, worked zealously to sustain the prestige of the Lodge, and their efforts were highly appreciated by the members. Several other toasts were offered before the summons was given for the Tyler to close the meeting. The proceedings throughout were of a most harmonious character.

SELWYN LODGE, No. 1901.

THE regular meeting of this Lodge was held on Thursday, 18th October, at the East Dulwich Hotel. The W.M., Bro. Bellis, advanced Bro. Dadd jun. to the sublime degree of M.M., and passed Bro. Palmer. Mr. Joseph Henry Stevenson (who had been previously ballotted for) was duly initiated into the mysteries of the Craft. The W.M. can be conscientiously congratulated on his very efficient staff of Officers; visitors generally express themselves to the effect "that they have never seen the work done so well." The M.C., Bro. P.M. Foye, looks well after the business connected with the Lodge. After the labours of the day, the brethren sat down to a very excellent banquet, supplied by the worth host, Bro. Gurney. Among the visitors present were—Bros. Wallis P.M. of the City of London, Leonard W.M. Royal Hanover, Vail Excelsior, Hill Suburban, Forbes P.M. Sphinx, Meggey Hope of Charity, Penny Henry Muggeridge, Bridger Royal Jubilee, Auld Fitzroy. Amongst the members present were Bros. Burnett S.W., Anderson S.D., Wimble J.D., Powles J.W., Hook P.M. Sec., Eagle Treas., Foye P.M.; also Bros. Wells, Dadd jun., Eagle, Beck, Searley, Rowan, Gauntlett, Bridgman, Davis, Lightfoot, Garney sen., Gurney jun., Shaws, Phillips, Terry, Smeeting, Dean, Campbell, Bosher, Bullimore, and Constable. After having listened to some good speeches and capital songs, well accompanied, the brethren separated.

POLISH NATIONAL CHAPTER, No. 534.

THE first meeting of the Companions of this Chapter for the present season was held at Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen-street, on Thursday, 25th ult., under the presidency of Comp. W. Paas M.E.Z.; Comps. Hyde Clarke P.Z. H., J. F. Lowden J., Dr. Jagielski S.N., and Dr. Jackson P.S. The report of the Auditors was read and confirmed, and congratulations were given that the funds of the Chapter were in such an improving condition. All other business being completed, the Convocation was closed in due form. Refreshments were partaken of; after the usual Loyal and Royal Arch toasts had been given, Comp. Paas, in a short but forcible speech, alluded with pleasure to the improving condition of the Chapter, especially giving thanks to Comp. Nowakowski, who had supported the Chapter during its depression, with funds out of his own pocket. Also touching allusion was made to the fact of our worthy and esteemed Bro. Sir Moses Montefiore that day entering on his 100th year, and congratulations were tendered for his continuance in good health. Several of the Companions contributed to the harmony of the evening; this was very pleasantly spent.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

WE were quite prepared for complaints against the Jurors' awards at the now late Fisheries Exhibition. They always arise, and not angels from heaven could please inventors. Making allowance, therefore, for the difficulties that jurors have invariably to encounter, and fully discounting Brother John Banting Rogers' claim, we think he has just cause of complaint against those gentlemen who recently adjudicated upon Life Saving Appliances at Sea, shown at the Fisheries Exhibition. Capt. Prowse, R.N. (Board of Trade), Admiral Robinson (late of the National Life Boat Institution), Capt. Sargent, R.N. (late of the Coastguard Service), and the Representative of the United States' Life Boat Saving Appliances, were the jurors in question. Brother Rogers says, that the three first-named gentleman have seen his invention at work years ago, and know that he has beaten the rocket apparatus of the country on several occasions. As far back as 1868 he won the prize offered to the world by the Shipwrecked Mariners' and Fishermen's Royal Benevolent Society, "for the best means of communicating between ship and shore or vessels at sea." Admiral Robinson, who witnessed the trials on that occasion, says Bro. Rogers, "expressed himself satisfied that I had achieved a success." On several occasions the superiority of Bro. Rogers' inventions was proved, and notably at Paris, in 1875, when in a competition he beat a French system, and "Capt. Prowse with fourteen picked coast-guardsmen," while only nine landsmen worked his own apparatus, which they had never seen before. He took first prize, the lowest being awarded to Captain Prowse. Captain Sargent witnessed experiments at Folkestone in 1876, approved of what he saw, and told Bro. Rogers "that the apparatus appeared perfect in every respect." In addition to these triumphs, the Admiralty awarded Bro. Rogers £200 after severe official trials of his apparatus at Sheerness. He also gained the only gold medal for Life Saving Appliances offered at an exhibition held at the Royal Aquarium in 1878. Add to all these recognitions of merit, testimonials signed by over 500 master mariners holding certificates as captains of the Mercantile Marine, 150 pilots of the Tyne, by 40 men of Cullercoats, and by over 3,000 British seamen who presented Bro. Rogers with an illuminated vellum at a public meeting where Mr. (now) Sir Thomas Brassey presided." It seems passing strange, after what we have recorded, that the jurors in question should have passed over Bro. Rogers' inventions without even naming them. We have no reason to question their honour, and it would be rash on our part to challenge their judgment. What, then, is the explanation? We confess we are puzzled.

Digitized by Google

DIARY FOR THE WEEK.

We shall be obliged if the Secretaries of the various Lodges throughout the Kingdom will favour us with a list of their Days of Meetings, &c., as we have decided to insert only those that are verified by the Officers of the several Lodges.

—:o:—

SATURDAY, 3rd NOVEMBER.

General Committee Boys' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
143—St. Thomas, City Terminus Hotel, Cannon Street
196—Percy, Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N., 8. (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7. (Instruction)
1572—Carnarvon, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street
1623—Rose, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-street, W. at 8.

1458—Truth, Private Rooms, Conservative Club, Newton Heath, Manchester
1466—Hova Ecclesia, Old Ship Hotel, Brighton
1567—Elliot, Railway Hotel, Feltham

MONDAY, 5th NOVEMBER.

12—Fortitude and Old Cumberland, 139 Leadenhall-street
22—Loughborough, Cambria Tavern, Cambria Road, near Loughborough Junction, at 7.30. (Instruction)
25—Robert Burns, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
45—Strong Man, Excise Tavern, Old Broad Street, E.C., at 7 (Instruction)
72—Royal Jubilee, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
144—St. Luke, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
174—Sincerity, Railway Tavern, Railway Place, Fenchurch Street, at 7. (In)
180—St. James's Union, Union Tavern, Air-street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
186—Industry, Bell, Carter-lane, Doctors-commons, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
188—Joppa, Freemasons' Tavern, W.C.
256—Unions, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
548—Wellington, White Swan, High-street, Deptford, at 8 (Instruction)
1319—Asaph, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1435—Hyde Park, Fountain Abbey Hotel, Praed Street, Paddington, at 8 (In).
1469—Marquess of Ripon, Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-rd., Hackney, at 7.30 (In)
1507—Metropolitan, The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C., at 7.30 (Inst.)
1606—Kilburn, 46 South Molton Street, Oxford Street, W., at 8. (Inst.)
1623—West Smithfield, Farringdon Hotel, Farringdon-street, E.C. at 8 (Inst.)
1625—Tredegar, Royal Hotel Mile End Road, corner of Burdett Road. (Inst).
1669—Royal Leopold, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
1683—Kingsland, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N., at 8.30 (Instruction)
1853—Caxton, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1891—St. Ambrose, Baron's Court Hotel, West Kensington. (Instruction)
1934—Wickham, St. Peter's Hall, Wickham Park, Brockley
1966—Priory Lodge of Acton, Royal Oak Assembly Hall, High Street, Acton
R.A. 933—Doric, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 7. (Instruction)
R.A. 1196—Urban, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 1615—Bayard, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden-square
M.M. 139—Panmure, 8a Red Lion Square, W.C.

37—Anchor and Hope, Freemasons' Hall, Church Institute, Bolton-le-Moors
53—Royal Sussex, Masonic Hall, Old Orchard-street, Bath
119—Sun, Square, and Compasses, Freemasons' Hall, College-st., Whitehaven
133—Harmony, Ship Hotel, Faversham
154—Unanimity, Masonic Hall, Zetland-street, Wakefield
166—Harmony, Huyshe Masonic Temple, Plymouth
199—Peace and Harmony, Royal Oak Hotel, Dover
236—York, Masonic Hall, York
338—Vitruvian, Royal Hotel, Ross, Herefordshire
381—Harmony and Industry, Smalley's Hotel, Market street, Over Darwen
382—Royal Union, Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge. (Instruction)
395—Guy, Crown Hotel, Leamington Priors
431—St. George, Masonic Hall, Norfolk-street, N. Shields
441—Three Grand Principles, Red Lion Hotel, Petty Curry, Cambridge
478—Churchhill, Masonic Hall, Oxford
482—St. James's, Masonic Rooms, Wretham Road, Handsworth, Staffordshire
597—St. Cybi, Town Hal, Holyhead
823—St. Cuthbergs, Masonic Hall, Wimborne
823—Everton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7.30. (Instruction)
850—St. Oswald, Town Hall, Ashbourne, Derbyshire
1009—Shakspeare, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester
1045—Stamford, Town Hall, Altrincham, Cheshire
1050—Gundulph, King's Head Hotel, Rochester
1051—Rowley, Athenæum, Lancaster
1077—Wilton, Red Lion Inn, Blackley, Lancashire
1108—Royal Wharfedale, Private Room, Boroughgate, Otley, Yorks
1124—St. Oswald, Wynnstay Arms Hotel, Oswestry
1180—Forward, Masonic Rooms, New Hall-street, Birmingham
1211—Goderich, Masonic Hall, Gt. George-street, Leeds
1239—Wentworth, Freemasons' Hall, Sheffield.
1264—Neptune, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.
1302—De Warren, Masonic Hall, White Swan Hotel, Halifax
1380—Skelmersdale, Queen's Hotel, Waterloo, Liverpool
1440—Royal Military, Masonic Hall, Canterbury, at 8. (Instruction)
1519—Albert Edward, Albion Hotel, Clayton-le-Moors, near Accrington
1573—Caradoc, Masonic Hall, Caer-street, Swansea
1578—Merlin, New Inn Hotel, Pontypridd, South Wales
1676—St. Nicholas, Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-street, Newcastle
1798—Zion, Hulme Town Hall, Manchester
R.A. 380—Integrity, Masonic Temple, Morley
M.M. 12—Minerva, Masonic Hall, Prince Street, Hull

TUESDAY, 6th NOVEMBER.

Colonial Board, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
7—Royal York of Perseverance, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
9—Albion, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
18—Old Dundee, City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street
55—Constitutional, Bedford Hotel, Southampton-bldgs., Holborn, at 7 (Inst)
65—Prosperity, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7. (Instruction)
101—Temple, Ship and Turtle Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C.
141—Faith, Queen Anne's Restaurant, Queen Anne's Gate, St. James's Park Station, at 8. (Instruction)
166—Union, Criterion, W.
172—Old Concord, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
177—Domatic, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30 (Instruction)
188—Joppa, Champion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, at 7.30. (Instruction)
217—Stability, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon Stepney (Instruction)
753—Prince Frederick William, Eagle Tavern, Clifton Road, Maida Hill, at 8 (Instruction)
765—St. James, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark
820—Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond, at 7.30 (Instruction)
860—Dalhousie, Masters' Tavern, Prescott-road, Dalston at, 8 (Instruction)
1044—Wandsworth, Star and Garter Hotel, St. Ann's-hill, Wandsworth (Inst).
1289—Duke of Edinburgh, Cape of Good Hope Tavern, Commercial Road
1351—Golden Rule, Café Royal, Regent-street, W
1298—Royal Standard, Club, Upper-street, Islington
1349—Friars, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1360—Royal Arthur, Rock Tavern, Battersea Park Road, at 8. (Instruction)
1381—Kennington, Horns Tavern, Kennington
1397—Anerley, Thicket Hotel, Anerley
1446—Mount Edgcumbe, 19 Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8 (Instruction)
1471—Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, at 7 (Instruction)
1473—Henley, Three Crowns, Woolwich
1540—Chaucer, Old White Hart, Borough High Street, at 8. (Instruction)
1558—D. Connaught, Palmerston Arms, Grosvenor Park, Camberwell, at 8 (In)
1602—Sir Hugh Meddelton, Queen's Head, Essex Road, N., at 8.30 (In)
1662—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Walthamstow
1693—Kingsland, Old Cock Tavern, Highbury-corner, Islington
1695—New Finsbury Park, Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, at 8 (Inst)
1707—Eleanor, Trocadero, Broad-street-buildings, Liverpool-street, 6.30 (Inst)
1949—Brixton, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, East Brixton, at 8. (Instruction)
Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, 6.30
R.A. 1365—Clapton, White Hart Tavern, Clapton, at 8. (Instruction)
M.M. 1—St. Mark's, Freemasons' Tavern, W.C.
R.C. 73—Canterbury, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden-square

70—St. John, Huyshe Masonic Temple, Plymou
103—Beaufort, Freemasons' Hall, Bristol.
120—Palladian, Green Dragon Hotel, Hereford.
134—Marquis of Granby, Freemasons' Hall, Old Elvet, Durham
158—Adams, Masonic Rooms, Victoria Hall, Trinity-road, Sheerness
209—Etonian, Masonic Hall, Windsor
226—Benevolence, Red Lion Hotel, Littleborough.
241—Merchants, Masonic Hall, Liverpool (Instruction)
246—True Love and Unity, Freemasons' Hall, Brixham, Devon
265—Royal Yorkshire, Masonic Club, Hanover-street, Keighley
315—Royal York, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
364—Cambrian, Masonic Hall, Neath.
393—St. David, Masons' Hall, The Parade, Berwick
493—Royal Lebanon, Spread Eagle, Gloucester
558—Temple, Town Hall, Folkestone.
673—St. John, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.
685—Northumberland, Assembly Rooms, Westgate-road, Newcastl
702—Sherborne, Subscription Rooms, Stroud, Gloucestershire
734—Londesborough, Masonic Hall, Bridlington Quay.
794—Warden, Royal Hotel, Sutton Coldfield
804—Carnarvon, Masonic Hall, Havant.
847—Fortescue, Manor House, Honiton, Devon.
948—St. Barnabas, Masonic Room, Linslade, Leighton Bussard
960—Bute, Masonic Hall, 9 Working-street, Cardiff.
995—Furness, Masonic Hall, Ulverston.
1002—Skiddaw, Lodge Room, Market-place, Cockermouth.
1134—Newall, Freemasons' Hall, Salford.
1244—Marwood, Freemasons' Hall, Redcar.
1322—Waverley, Caledonia Inn, Ashton-under-Lyne.
1336—Square and Compass, Corn Exchange, Wrexham.
1473—Bootle, 146 Berry-street, Bootle, at 8. (Instruction.)
1488—St. Eleth, Castle Hotel, Amlwch, Anglesea
1619—Sackville, Crown Hotel, East Grinstead
1674—Caradoc, Masonic Hall, Bank Buildings, Sussex Street, Rhyl
1750—Coleridge, Sandringham House, Clevedon.
R.A. 203—St. John of Jerusalem, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.
R.A. 800—Sincerity, Freemasons' Hall, Salem-street, Bradford
R.A. 881—Scarsdale, Masonic Hall, Chesterfield
R.A. 784—Wellington, Public Rooms, Park-street, Deal
R.A. 938—Grosvenor, Masonic Hall, New Street Birmingham
R.A. 1138—Devon, Masonic Hall, Devon Square, Newton Abbey
M.M. 69—United Service, Assembly Rooms, Brompton, Chatham.

WEDNESDAY, 7th NOVEMBER.

Grand Chapter, Freemasons' Hall, at 6
15—Kent, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
30—United Mariners', The Lugard, Peckham, at 7.30. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Horse Shoe Inn, Newington Causeway, at 8. (Inst)
193—Confidence, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, at 7.30 (Instruction)
228—United Strength, Prince Alfred, 13 Crowndale-rd., Camden-town, 8 (In)
511—Zetland, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
538—La Tolerance, Morland's Hotel, Dean Street, Oxford St. at 8 (Inst)
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7 (Instruction)
781—Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, E. (Instruction)
813—New Concord, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. (Instruction)
862—Whittington, Red Lion, Poppin's-court, Fleet-street, at 8 (Instruction
1278—Burdett Coutts, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel Road, E., at 8. (Inst.)
1288—Finsbury Park, Cock Tavern, Highbury, at 8 (Instruction)
1321—Emblematic, Goat and Star, Swallow Street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
1445—Prince Leopold, Moorgate Tavern, Moorgate Street, at 7 (Instruction)
1475—Peckham, Lord Wellington Hotel, 516 Old Kent-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1491—Athenæum, Athenæum, Camden Road, N.
1524—Duke of Connaught, Royal Edward, Mare-street, Hackney, at 8 (Inst)
1604—Wanderers, Adam and Eve Tavern, Palmer St., Westminster, at 7.30 (In)
1585—Royal Commemoration, Fox and Hounds Hotel, Up. Richmond-rd. S. W
1662—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow, at 7.30 (Inst.)
1687—The Rothesay, Inns of Court Hotel, Lincoln's Inn Fields
1766—St. Leonard, Town Hall, Shoreditch
1791—Creaton, Prince Albert Tavern, Portobello-ter., Notting-hill-gate (Inst.)
1827—Alliance, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street
1922—Earl of Lathom, Station Hotel, Camberwell New Road, S.E., at 8. (In.)
R.A.—Camden, The Boston, Junction Road, Holloway, at 8.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 177—Domatic, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-st., at 8 (Instruction)
R.A. 1471—Islington, Cock Tavern, Highbury
M.M.—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, at 8 (Instruction)

74—Athol, Masonic Hall, Severn-street, Birmingham
86—Loyalty, Masonic Hall, Prescot, Lancashire
288—Harmony, Masonic Rooms, Ann-street, Rochdale
326—Moira, Freemasons' Hall, Park-street, Bristol
327—Wigton St. John, Lion and Lamb, Wigton
406—Northern Counties, Freemasons' Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne
417—Faith and Unanimity, Masonic Hall, Dorchester
429—Royal Navy, Royal Hotel, Ramsgate
471—Silurian, Freemasons' Hall, Dock-street, Newport, Monmouthshire
594—Downshire, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7. (Instruction)
611—Marches, Old Rectory, Ludlow
645—Humphrey Chetham, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester.
673—St. John, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8 (Instruction)
678—Earl Ellesmere, Church Hotel, Kersley, Farnworth, near Bolton.
838—Franklin, Peacock and Royal Hotel, Boston
972—St. Augustine, Masonic Hall, Canterbury. (Instruction)
992—St. Thomas, Griffin Hotel, Lower Broughton
1010—Kingston, Masonic Hall, Worship-street, Hull
1013—Royal Victoria, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1037—Portland, Portland Hall, Portland. (Instruction.)
1065—Hartington, Masonic Hall, Gower-street, Derby
1091—Erme, Erme House, Ivybridge, Devon
1167—Alnwick, Masonic Hall, Clayport-street, Alnwick
1208—Cinque Ports, Bell Hotel, Sandwich
1218—Prince Alfred, Commercial Hotel, Mossley, near Manchester
1274—Earl of Durham, Freemasons' Hall, Chester-le-Street
1323—Talbot, Masonic Rooms, Wind-street, Swansea
1335—Lindsay, 20 King-street, Wigan
1354—Marquis of Lorne, Masonic Rooms, Leigh, Lancashire
1356—De Grey and Ripon, 193 North Hill-street, Liverpool, at 7.30 (Inst)
1363—Tyndall, Town Hall, Chipping Sodbury, Gloucester
1431—St. Alphege, George Hotel, Solihull
1511—Alexandra, Hornsea, Hull (Instruction)
1620—Marlborough, Derby Hall, Tue Brook, Liverpool
1842—St. Leonards, Concert Rooms, St. Leonard's-on-Sea
1903—Prince Edward of Saxe Weimar, Masonic Hall, Portsmouth
R.A. 126—Nativity, Cross Keys Inn, Burnley
R.A. 248—Old Globe, Londesborough Rooms, Scarborough
R.A. 221—St. John, Commercial Hotel, Town Hall Square, Bolton
R.A. 304—Philanthropic, Masonic Hall, Great George Street, Leeds
R.A. 477—Fidelity, 55 Argyle-street, Birkenhead
R.A. 625—Devonshire, Norfolk Arms Hotel, Glossop
M.M. 36—Furness, Hartington Hotel, Duke-street, Barrow-in-Furness
K.C.—Palatine, Palatine Hotel, Manchester

Digitized by Google

THURSDAY, 8th NOVEMBER.

3—Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-street, Fitzroy-sq., at 8 (Instruction)
19—Royal Athelstan, City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street
27—Egyptian, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
87—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth, at 8 (Instruction)
91—Regularity, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
147—Justice, Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford, at 8. (Instruction)
206—Friendship, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street, E.C.
238—Pilgrim, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
263—Bank of England, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street, E.C.
435—Salisbury, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
534—Polish National, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
657—Canonbury, Albion, Aldersgate-street
704—Camden, Lincoln's Inn Restaurant, 305 High Holborn, at 7 (Instruction)
754—High Cross, Coach and Horses, Lower Tottenham, at 8 (Instruction)
860—Dalhousie, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
879—Southwark, Southwark Park Tavern
901—City of London, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, at 6.30. (Instruction)
902—Burgoyne, Cock Tavern, St. Martin's-court, Ludgate-hill, at 6.30 (Inst)
1076—Capper, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
1158—Southern Star, Pheasant, Stangate, Westminster-bridge, at 8 (Inst.)
1185—Lewis, Kings Arms Hotel, Wood Green, at 7 (Instruction)
1227—Upton, Swan, Bethnal Green-road, near Shoreditch, at 8 (Instruction)
1339—Stockwell, Cock Tavern, Kennington-road, at 7.30 (Instruction
1425—Hyde Park, The Westbourne, Craven-road, Paddington
1426—The Great City, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
1457—Bagshaw, Princes Hall, Princes-road, Buckhurst Hill
1471—Islington, Cock Tavern, Highbury
1523—St. Mary Magdalene, Ship Hotel, Greenwich
1598—Ley Spring, Red Lion, Leytonstone
1599—Skelmersdale, Masons' Hall Tavern, Basinghall-street, E.C.
1614—Covent Garden, Cranbourne, 1 Up. St. Martin's Lane, W.C., at 8. (Inst.)
1622—Rose, Stirling Castle Hotel, Church Street, Camberwell. (Instruction)
1642—Earl of Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill
1673—Langton, Mansion House Station Restaurant, E.C. at 6, (Instruction)
1677—Crusaders, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 9 (Inst.)
1681—Londesborough, Berkeley Arms, John Street, May Fair, at 8. (Instruct).
1708—Plucknett, Bald Faced Stag, East Finchley
1797—Creaton, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1804—Coborn, Vestry Hall, Bow
1950—Southgate, Railway Hotel, New Southgate, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1987—Strand, Ashley's Hotel, Covent Garden
R.A. 140—St. George's, Green Man Hotel, Blackheath
R.A. 538—Vane, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney
R.A. 753—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, at 8. (In.)
R.A. 1471—North London, Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, at 7. (Instruction)
R.C. 42—St. George, 33 Golden Square, W

35—Medina, 85 High-street, Cowes
97—Palatine, Masonic Hall, Toward-road, Sunderland.
112—St. George, Masonic Hall, Fore-street Hill, Exeter
116—Royal Lancashire, Swan Hotel, Colne
139—Britannia, Freemasons' Hall, Surrey-street, Sheffield
203—Ancient Union, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
208—Three Grand Principles, Masonic Hall, Dewsbury
216—Harmonic, Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool.
249—Mariners, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8 (Instruction)
275—Harmony, Masonic Hall, South Parade, Huddersfield
283—Amity, Swan Hotel, Market-place, Haslingden
333—Royal Preston, Castle Hotel, Preston
337—Candour, New Masonic Rooms, Uppermill, Saddleworth
339—Unanimity, Crown Hotel, Penrith, Cumberland.
341—Wellington, Cinque Ports Hotel, Rye
344—Faith, Bull's Head Inn, Radcliffe, Lancashire
469—Hundred of Elloe, Masonic Rooms, London Road, Spalding.
477—Mersey, 55 Argyle-street, Birkenhead.
546—Etruscan, Masonic Hall, Caroline-street, Longton, Staffor .
636—Ogle, Masonic Hall, Morpeth
659—Blagdon, Ridley Arms Hotel, Blyth
732—Royal Brunswick, Royal Pavilion, Brighton.
739—Temperance, Masonic Room, New-street, Birmingham.
78 -Wellington, Public Rooms, Park-street, Deal
786—Croxteth United Service, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
945—Abbey, Abbey Council Chamber, Abingdon, Berks
991—Tyne, Masonic Hall, Wellington Quay, Northumberland
1035—Prince of Wales, Masonic Hall, Kirkdale, Liverpool.
1055—Derby, Knowsley's Hotel, Cheeth. n, Lancashire
1098—St. George, Private Room, Temperance Hotel, Tredegar, Mon.
1144—Milton, Commercial Hotel, Ashton-under-Lyne
1145—Equality, Red Lion Hotel, Accrington
1147—St. David, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester.
1164—Eliot, Private Rooms, St. German's, Cornwall.
1182—Duke of Edinburgh, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1204—Royd, Imperial Hotel, Malvern, Worcestershire.
1273—St. Michael, Free Church School-rooms, Sittingbourne
1369—Bala, Plasgoch Hotel, Bala
1416—Falcon, Masonic Hall, Castle Yard, Thirsk
1429—Albert Edward Prince of Wales, Masonic Hall, Newport, Mon
1576—Dee, Union Hotel, Parkgate, Cheshire
1580—Cranbourne, Red Lion Hotel, Hatfield, Herts, at 8. (Instruction)
1583—Corbet, Corbet Arms, Towyn
1697—Hospitality, Royal Hotel, Waterfoot, near Manchester
1782—Machen, Swan Hotel, Coleshill
1911—De La Pré, Masonic Hall, Northampton
1915—Gravstone, Forester's Hall, Whitstable
R.A. 51—Patriotic, Three Cups Hotel, Colchester
R.A. 220—Harmony, Wellington Hotel, Garston, Lancashire
R.A. 254—Trinity, Castle Inn, Coventry
R.A. 275—Perseverance, Masonic Hall, South Parade, Huddersfield
R.A. 461—Hwlffordd, Masonic Hall, Haverfordwest
R.A. 509—Tees, Freemasons' Hall, Stockton-on-Tees
R.A. 613—Bridson, Masonic Hall, Southport
R.A. 723—Panmure, Masonic Hall, Barrack Road, Aldershot
R.A. 818—Philanthropic, Masonic Hall, Lion Street, Abergavenny
R.A. 889—Dobie, Griffin Hotel, Kingston-on-Thames
R.A. 1130—De Mowbray, George Hotel, Melton Mowbray
M.M. 16—Friendship, 2 St. Stephen's Street, Devonport
K.T. 21—Salamanca, Masonic Hall, Halifax

FRIDAY, 9th NOVEMBER.

Emulation Lodge of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
25—Robert Burns, The North Pole, 115 Oxford-street, W., at 8 (Instruc.
33—Britannic, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
134—Caledonian, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street
144—St. Luke, White Hart, King's-road, Chelsea, at 7.30. (Instruction)
167—Bedford, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
177—Domatic, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30. (Instruct.)
766—William Preston, St. Andrew's Tavern, George St., Baker St., at 8 (In.)
780—Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge. (Instruction)
885—Ranelagh, Six Bells, Hammersmith (Instruction)
933—Doric, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1056—Metropolitan, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. at 7. (Instruction)
1158—Belgrave, Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
1298—Royal Standard, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, at 8. (In.)
1305—Clapton, White Hart, Lower Clapton, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1642—E. Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
1789—Ubique, Guardsman Army Coffee Tavern, Buckingham Palace-road, S.W., at 7.30. (Instruction)
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich. (Instruction)
R.A. 65—Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall St.
R.A. 79—Pythagorean, Portland Hotel, London-street, Greenwich. (Inst.)
M.M.—Old Kent, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, E.C. (Instruction)
M.M. 198—Croydon, 105 High Street, Croydon
R.C. 3—Mount Calvary, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden-square

36—Glamorgan, Freemasons' Hall, Arcade, St. Mary's-street, Cardiff.
453—Chigwell, Prince's Hall, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30 (Instruction)
458—Aire and Calder, Private Rooms, Ouse-steet, Goole.
526—Honour, Star and Garter Hotel, Wolverhampton
662—Dartmouth, Dartmouth Hotel, West Bromwich
697—United, George Hotel Colchester.
815—Blair, Town Hall, Stretford-road, Hulme
916—Hartington, Burlington Hotel, Eastbourne
1001—Harrogate and Claro, Masonic Rooms, Parliament-street, Harrogate
1087—Beaudesert, Assembly Rooms, Corn Exchange, Leighton Buzzard
1143—Royal Denbigh, Council Room, Denbigh
1299—Rock, Royal Rock Hotel, Rock Ferry
General Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, at 7
R.A. 81—Royal York, Private Rooms, Doric Place, Woodbridge
R.A. 993—Alexandra, Medway Hotel, Levenshulme
K.T.—Hope, Freemasons' Hall, Huddersfield
K.T. 126—De Warenne, Royal Pavilion, Brighton

SATURDAY, 10th NOVEMBER.

108—London, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street
173—Phœnix, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
198—Percy, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., at 8 (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1328—Granite, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7 (Instruction)
1426—The Great City, Cannon Street Hotel
1446—Mount Edgcumbe, Swan Hotel, Battersea
1584—Loyalty and Charity, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge
1607—Loyalty, London Tavern, Fenchurch Street
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1686—Paxton, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1743—Perseverance, Imperial Hotel, Holborn Viaduct
1839—Duke of Cornwall, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1964—Clerkenwell, Holborn Viaduct Hotel, E.C.
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-st., W., at 8
R.A. 1185—Lewis, King's Arms Hotel, Wood Green
M.M. 234—Brixton, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.

308—Prince George, Private Rooms, Bottoms, Eastwood
R.C. 43—Eureka, Masonic Rooms, Pavilion, Brighton

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:o:—

St. Luke's Lodge of Instruction, No. 144.—A meeting was held on Friday, the 26th ult., at Bro. Pope's, the White Hart, King's Road, Chelsea. Present—Bros. Markland I.P.M. 144 W.M., Cox W.M. 144 S.W., Murch J.W., R. Byrnes P.M. Sec., R. J. Taylor P.M. S.D. Past Masters Bros. Stuart (Preceptor), Pope; Ansell, Brandon, Fromholtz, Jones, W. W. Morgan, &c., &c. Lodge was formally opened and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Lodge opened in the second, and Bro. Ansell offered himself as a candidate for the sublime degree, and was examined and entrusted. After Lodge had been further advanced, the ceremony of raising was carefully rehearsed by the W.M., who gave the traditional history and explained the tracing board of the degree. Lodge was then resumed, and Bro. Morgan gave his popular lecture, "The Masonic Institutions; their Establishment and Development," to a most attentive audience. A cordial vote of thanks was passed to Bro. Morgan, who was also complimented by having the honorary membership of the Lodge conferred upon him. In acknowledging the honour done him, Bro. Morgan said he feared the state of his health had rendered his efforts less vigorous than he could have desired, but he felt great pleasure in having received so much attention at the hands of the brethren, and would have infinite gratification in complying with their request to revisit them at an early date. Lodge was then closed.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—Held at the Jolly Farmers, Brother Langdale's, Southgate-road N., on Saturday 27th October. Present:—Bros. Fenner W.M., Moss S.W., Powell J.W., Gribbell S.D., Cohen J.D., Ashton I.G., Pearcy Preceptor, Galer Secretary; also forty-one other brethren. The Lodge was opened in due form and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The Lodge was opened to the third degree and resumed to the first, when the W.M. at once proceeded to work the Fifteen Sections, with the assistance of Bros. Ashton, Robinson, Galer, Pearcy, Sparrow, Cull, and Powell in the first lecture; Bros. Dixie, Moss, Weeden, and Powell in the second; Brothers Gribbell, Galer and Cohen in the third. The following brethren were unanimously elected members, Bros. Patten 813, Saint 193, Isaacs 511, O'Donnell 1524, Amey 1326, Coker 581, L. Prager 15, and J. Very. Cordial votes of thanks were accorded to the W.M. for the excellent way in which he had worked the sections, and to the brethren who had assisted him. Nothing further having offered for the good of Freemasonry, Lodge was closed in ancient form and adjourned to Saturday next, 3rd November, when Brother C. G. Sparrow, W.M. of the Lodge of Perseverance 1743, has kindly accepted an invitation to rehearse the ceremony of installation. Brethren who can make it convenient to attend will receive a hearty welcome from the members of this the oldest Lodge of Instruction in existence.

Lodge of St. John, No. 221.—A weekly meeting for emergency business was held at Bolton, on Tuesday, 30th inst., at seven o'clock. Present—Bros. John Isherwood W.M., Jabez Boothroyd I.P.M., Edwin Melrose S.W., Peter Bradburn J.W., G. P. Brockbank P. Prov. G.S.D. G. Steward Scotland Treasurer, Charles Crompton S.D., James Walker J.D., W. Chambers I.G., W. Seddon and R. Cuerden Stewards, H. J. Briscoe Organist, Thos. Higson Tyler; P.M. Thomas Morris; also Bros. E. M. Makin, R. J. Chirnside, J. R. Haslam. Brother Makin having passed a satisfactory examination as an E. A. was entrusted with the test of merit and retired. Lodge was then advanced to the second degree, when Bro. Makin was readmitted and passed by the W.M. (Bro. Isherwood); the working tools of the degree were explained by Brother Edwin Melrose S.W. Lodge closed in harmony at eight o'clock.

Digitized by Google

William Preston Lodge of Instruction, No 766.—Held at the St. Andrew's Hall, George-street, Baker-street, W., on Friday evening, 26th October. Bros. Cursons W.M., G. Tribble P.M. S.W., Halliday J.W., Robinson S.D., Simpson J.D., Steng I.G.; also Bros. F. Smith, C. Wood, and G. Coop Preceptor. The Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The Lodge was opened in the second degree. The Preceptor, with the assistance of the brethren, worked the first section of the lecture. Bro. Robinson having offered himself as candidate for raising, answered the usual questions, and was entrusted. Lodge was opened in the third degree, and the ceremony of raising was ably rehearsed by the W.M. Bro. Tribble was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. The Preceptor informed the brethren that the Fifteen Sections would be worked in the Manchester Lodge of Instruction, No. 179, held at the Yorkshire Grey, London-street, Fitzroy-square, on Saturday evening, 3rd November, at seven o'clock; and also at the United Strength Lodge of Instruction, held at the Hope, Stanhope-street, Regent's Park, on Wednesday evening, 7th November, also at seven, the attendance of brethren being cordially invited. The Lodge was then closed in ancient form, and in perfect harmony.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.— A meeting was held on Friday, 26th October, at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge. Present:—Bros. Botley W.M., Blasby S.W., Maton J.W., Weeden S.D., Dixie J.D., Monson I.G. The work included the rehearsal of the ceremonies of raising and passing. It is intended to hold the annual dinner soon, and also to rehearse the ceremonies of consecration and installation. The Lodge of Instruction now meets every Friday evening, at 8 o'clock. Brothers C. H. and F. Botley are the Hon. Secretaries, and Bro. C. Andrews P.M. the Preceptor.

New Concord Lodge of Instruction, No. 813.—The usual meeting of the above Lodge was held on Wednesday, at the Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road. Bro. R. M. Jones occupied the chair, supported by Bros. Western S.W., A. Potter J.W., Cusworth P.M. Preceptor, F. Perl Secretary, Galer S.D., Lone J.D., Halford I.G.; also Bros. Trewinnard P.M., Weeden, Williams, Trick, Ockelford. After preliminaries, the W.M. proceeded to rehearse the initition ceremony. Bro. Williams proved himself efficient to be passed, and was entrusted; he then acted as candidate for the rehearsal of the ceremony of the second degree. Bro. Weeden answered the questions leading to the third, and was entrusted. Lodge was advanced, and the ceremony of raising was ably rehearsed. Bro. Western was elected to occupy the chair at the ensuing meeting. A letter was read from Bro. A. Perl, tendering his resignation, which was received, with regret. Bro. Trewinnard was unanimously elected Treasurer in his stead. Bros. Cusworth and F. Perl were re-elected, the former to the office of Preceptor, and the latter to that of Secretary. Nothing further offering for the advancement of the Lodge, it was closed and adjourned until Wednesday, 7th November, at the hour of eight p.m. precisely.

Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, No. 1507.—There was a very large attendance of the members and supporters of this Lodge of Instruction at "The Moorgate," 15 Finsbury Pavement, on Monday evening last, when the Fifteen Sections were worked under the presidency of Bro. J. R. Stacey P.M. 180, who was assisted by members of the Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, No. 1056. The establishment where the members of No. 1507 Lodge of Instruction now meet has recently changed hands, and the new proprietors, with a spirit of enterprise that we consider most commendable, have already effected, and are still carrying out, most extensive alterations, which will materially add to the convenience and comfort of those who patronise them. The Lodge room has undergone a complete transformation, and may now be considered one of the best appointed and most desirable rooms for the purposes it is intended in the metropolis. Bro. Stacey was supported by Bros. Larchin P.M. 1541, and Abell P.M. 1599, who respectively filled the chairs of Senior and Junior Warden. Bro. W. M. Stiles (Preceptor) occupied the chair of I.P.M., while Bros. Scales (Treasurer) and Storr (Secretary) fulfilled their respective duties. To the following members were allotted the several sections: First Lecture—Bros. Appleton, Shaw, Giddings, Fitzpatrick, Snelling, Larchin, J. A. Powell; Second Lecture—Bros. Jenkins, Abell, Gush, Fox, Fenner; Third Lecture—Bros. E. Storr, Larchin, Gush. The work was admirably conducted by Bro. Stacey, who enjoys a well-earned reputation for skill as a Craftsman, and on the completion of his duties a hearty vote of thanks was passed to him for his attendance. The brethren who assisted also were complimented, while the honorary membership of the Lodge was conferred on Bro. Abell, the J.W., both Bros. Stacey and Larchin having at an earlier date been made the recipients of this mark of the esteem in which they are held by the members. The replies elicited were brief, but were to the purpose, and all expressed their satisfaction with the way in which the arrangements had been carried out. A considerable addition was made to the number on the roll of membership; there were, during the evening, as many as 100 brethren present.

Rose Lodge of Instruction, No. 1622.—On Thursday evening, the 25th ultimo, the brethren of this Lodge—so named after Bro. D. Rose, the Preceptor, whose name is as familiar among the brethren of the gentle Craft as household words—assembled at the Stirling Castle Hotel, Church-street, Camberwell, for the purpose of working the Fifteen Sections. The following brethren occupied the respective positions indicated, namely, Bros. Rose P.M. W.M., Hilton S.W., W. C. Page J.W., Wishart I.G., Grummant Secretary. Business commenced at seven, when the minutes of the preceding meeting were read and confirmed, after which the Lodge was opened to the third degree and then resumed. The working of the first lecture was gone through by the following brethren:—Brothers Leonard, Stone, Wishart, Stope, Marche, the W.M., and Hilton; the second lecture was worked by Bros. Wishart, Grummant, Voisey (two sections), and Hilton. The third lecture was undertaken by Bros. W. C. Page, Vincent, and Grummant. The time occupied was two hours and a half, no prompting being needed. At the close, about twenty brethren were added as members, and Bro. J. Richards, P.M. Lodge 1329, in an excellent speech, proposed a vote of thanks to the W.M. and the brethren who had laboured during the evening. This was seconded by Bro. Brinton S.D. 1329, and carried. After the compliment had been appropriately replied to, the Lodge was closed in due form. This Lodge of Instruction has hitherto met at the Walmer Castle, but has now been removed, owing to the rapid increase of its members. During the evening the spacious room of the new quarters of the brethren was crowded in every part. Bro. Terry, of the United Pilgrims Lodge, is the Manager, and he attended to the comforts of the brethren. The Panmure Lodge of Mark Master Masons holds a Chapter of Instruction here, under the Preceptorship of Bro. Poore P.M., every Friday evening. We anticipate that this hotel will in future become a centre of Freemasonry in this locality.

St. George's Lodge, No. 1723.—The monthly meeting of this Lodge was held on Wednesday, the 24th October, at the Commercial Hotel, Bolton. Brethren present—Bros. R. Latham W.M., W. Court I.P.M., W. Blair P.M. as S.W., E. G. Harwood J.W., John Priestly Chaplain, G. Ferguson P.M. Prov. G.S. of W. Treas., N. Nicholson P.M. Secretary, A. Cosgrave S.D., G. B. Tong J.D., J. W. Taylor P.M. P.Prov. G. Organist M. of Ceremonies, T. E. Smith Organist, W. E. Bardsly I.G., J. W. Roiley Tyler, T. Naylor and B. Derham Stewards; P.M.'s G. P. Brookbank P. Prov. S.G.D. G.S. Scotland W.M. 37 Secretary 64 Treasurer 221, J. Heywood, T. Mortis, J. H. Greenhalgh; Bros. J. Smith, W. Pendlebury, J. Fogg, T. M. Whewell, J. B. Bolton, J. Parkinson, T. Arden, J. Hall; Visitors—W. Bowden P.M. 1213 and 1814 P. Prov. G.S.B. West Lancashire, J. Andrews P.M. 1213 and 1268, J. McAdam 381, J. F. Skelton Junior Warden 146, C. Pontefract 337, J. F. Elleston 221, Richard Duxbury Worshipful Master 146. The Lodge was opened at 5 o'clock in the evening, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Gowanlock passed satisfactory examination and was entrusted. Opened in the second degree when Bro. Whewell underwent an examination as to his proficiency as a F.C.; this proving satisfactory he was entrusted and retired. Lodge was further advanced, when Brother Whewell was readmitted and raised to the degree of Master Mason by Brother Nathaniel Nicholson P.M. and Secretary, who also instructed him in the working tools of the degree. Lodge closed to the second, when Bro. Gowanlock was passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. Lodge closed to the first degree. Mr. Edwin Kershaw of Bolton was balloted for, elected, and initiated into Masonry by the W.M. (Bro. Latham), the working tools being explained by the J.W. and the customary charge given by Bro. G. P. Brookbank Senior P.M. Grand Steward of Scotland. An old member of the lodge was proposed as a candidate for rejoining, and one gentleman for initiation in the Lodge. Hearty good wishes were tendered by the visiting brethren, and a portion of the Ancient Rules and Charges read by the Senior Warden. After this the Lodge was closed in peace and harmony, at 8 o'clock.

Brixton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1949.—On Tuesday evening last, the 30th ult., at the Prince Regent Hotel, Dulwich-road, East Brixton, Bros. S. Richards W.M., Henry M. Williams S.W., G. W. Knight J.W., E. A. Francis Preceptor, C. H. Phillips Treas., R. Poore Acting Secretary, E. H. Albert S.D., A. Jones J.D., J. G. Banks I.G.; also Bros. J. Harling P.M., Hy. Baldwin J.W. 1949, J. Warren, W. Miller, H. Taylor, Hy. Stokes S.D. 1986, T. C. Edmonds 1507, J. H. Hudspohl 1669, F. Wootton, A. Martin, Sadler, F. Hill, C. J. Axford, G. F. Bruce 1507, H. J. Brotheridge 1649. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was ably rehearsed by the W.M., with Bro. Phillips as candidate. Bro. Edmonds proved his efficiency in the degree, and was duly entrusted. Lodge was opened in the second degree, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed by the W.M., with Bro. Edmonds as candidate. Bro. Baldwin answered the usual questions most satisfactorily, and was duly entrusted. Lodge was opened in the third degree, and the W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of raising, Bro. Hy. Baldwin being the candidate. Lodge was regularly closed to the first degree. The Preceptor, Bro. E. A. Francis, having been elected W.M. for the ensuing week, promised to rehearse the ceremony of installation. Bro. G. F. Bruce 1507 and H. J. Brotheridge 1649 were elected members. After hearty good wishes, Lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned to Tuesday next, at 8 p.m. After Lodge work the usual monthly meeting (first Tuesday) of the Benevolent Institution in connection with the Lodge will be held, and two ballots for £5 5s each will be taken.

FUNERALS.
Bros. W. K. L. & G. A. HUTTON,
COFFIN MAKERS & UNDERTAKERS,
17 NEWCASTLE STREET, STRAND, W.C.
And at 30 FOREST HILL ROAD, PECKHAM RYE, S.E.

Digitized by Google

Price 3s 6d, Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

FIRST SERIES.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

1 OUR LITERARY BROTHER.
2 A DISTINGUISHED MASON.
3 THE MAN OF ENERGY.
4 FATHER TIME.
5 A CORNER STONE.
6 THE CRAFTSMAN.
7 THE GOWNSMAN.
8 AN EASTERN STAR.
9 THE KNIGHT ERRANT.
10 THE OCTOGENARIAN.
11 A ZEALOUS OFFICER.
12 THE SOLDIER.
13 FROM UNDER THE CROWN.
14 OUR HERCULES.
15 A MERCHANT PRINCE.
16 THE CHURCHMAN.
17 THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER.
18 THE MYSTIC.
19 A MODEL MASON.
20 A CHIP FROM JOPPA.
21 A PILLAR OF MASONRY.
22 BAYARD.
23 A RIGHT HAND MAN.
24 OUR CITIZEN BROTHER.
25 AN ABLE PRECEPTOR.
26 AN ANCIENT BRITON.
27 THE ARTIST.
28 THE FATHER OF THE LODGE.
29 A SHINING LIGHT.
30 AN ART STUDENT.
31 THE MARINER
32 SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.

33. "OLD MUG."

Second Series, Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 3s 6d, post free.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

SKETCHES

OF

DISTINGUISHED FREEMASONS.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

BY G. BLIZARD ABBOTT, OF LODGE No. 1385,

ASSOCIATE OF KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

NESTOR
(Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, 33 deg., Past G.S.B., Past Dep. P.G.M. Hants, Assistant Secretary Sup. Council A. and A. Rite.)

THE STATESMAN
(The Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, 33 deg., Pro Grand Master, Pro Grand Z., Past G.M.M.M., and Past M.P.S.G. Commander A. and A. Rite.

THE TREASURER
(Bro. F. Adlard, P.M. and Treasurer Royal York Lodge of Perseverance, No. 7).

THE DEPUTY
(The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, 33 deg., Deputy G. Master, Grand H., G.M.M.M., Great Prior of the Temple, and M.P. Sov. G. Commander A. and A. Rite.)

A PROVINCIAL MAGNATE
(Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Hants and Isle of Wight, Past G.M.M.M. and Prov. G. Prior of the Temple, for Hants).

TIME-HONOURED LANCASTER
(Bro. J. Lancaster Hine, P. Prov. G.S. Warden East Lancashire).

THE SCHOLAR
(Bro. John Newton, F.R.A.S., P.M., P.Z., Author of Works on Navigation).

OUR NOBLE CRITIC
(The Right Hon. Lord Leigh, 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Warwickshire, Past G.M.M.M.)

OUR PERIPATETIC BROTHER
(Bro. C. Fitz Gerald Matier, 30 deg., G. Steward Scotland, and Past G.S. Warden Greece).

A BOLTON LUMINARY
(Bro. G. Parker Brockbank, 31 deg., Past Prov. G.S.D., and P. Prov. G. Treas. [Arch] E. Lancashire.

A WARDEN OF THE FENS
(The late Bro. John Sutcliffe, Past Prov. G.S. Warden, and Prov. G.M.M.M. Lincolnshire).

A WARDEN OF MARK
(The Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, 33 deg., Past G.S. Warden, and Dep. G.M.M.M).

A MASTER OF CEREMONIAL
(Bro. Thos. Entwisle, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. of Works E. Lan.)

OUR COSMOPOLITAN BROTHER
(Bro. Samuel Rawson, 33 deg., Past Dist. G.M. and G. Sup. China).

A GREAT ARITHMETICIAN
(Bro. R. B. Webster, Member of the Finance and Audit Committees of the R.M. Girls' and Boys' Schools).

AN INSTALLING MASTER
(Bro. W. Biggs, Past Prov. G.S.W. Wilts, and Past Prov. G. Sec. Berks and Bucks).

A VETERAN
(Bro. W. Kelly, Past Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Leicestershire and Rutland, Prov. G.M.M.M. Leicestershire).

A GRAND STEWARD
(Bro. John Wordsworth, 30 deg., Past G. Steward, Past Prov. G.J.W. W. Yorkshire, and Prov. G.M.M.M. W. Yorkshire).

VIR Veritas
(Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M and Past Prov. Grand, Soj. [Arch] Herts).

ACHILLES
(Bro. E. J. Morris, Past G.J.D., and Past Dep. Prov. G.M. of Eastern Division of South Wales).

A DEVON CRAFTSMAN
(Bro. J. E. Curtois, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. Warden Devon).

SIR RHADAMANTH
(Bro. J. M. Pulteney Montagu, J.P. D.L., 33 deg., G. J. Deacon, Past Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, and G. Chancellor Supreme Council A. and A. Rite).

HIPPOCRATES
(Bro. J. Pearson Bell, M.D., Past G. Deacon, Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. N. and E. Yorkshire).

A CESTRIAN CHIEF
(The Right Hon Lord de Tabley, Past G.S.W., Prov. G.M. Cheshire, Grand J., and Prov. G Sup. Cheshire).

A HARBINGER OF PEACE
(Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., Past Prov. G.J.D. Herts).

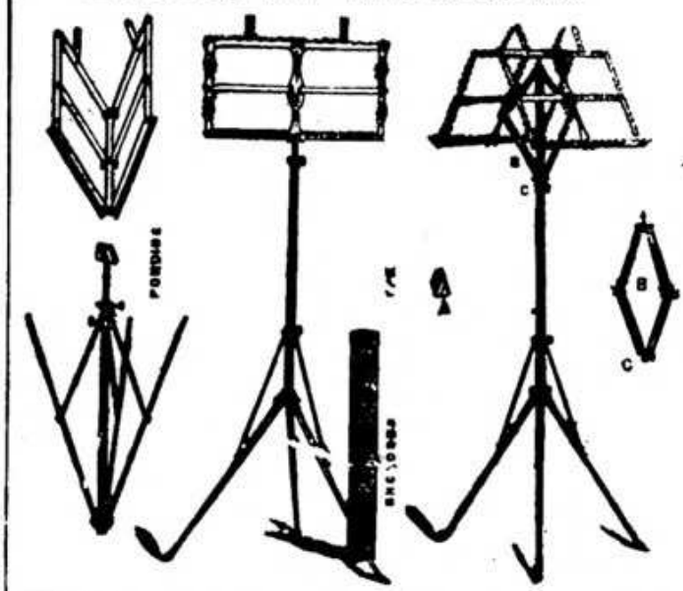
THE LORD OF UNDERLEY
(The Earl of Bective, M.P., Prov. G.M., Prov. G. Sup., and Prov. G.M.M.M. Cumberland and Westmoreland, and Past G. Sov. of the Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine).

A BOON COMPANION
(Bro. E. C. Woodward, P.M. 382, 1637, &c.)

A GRAND SUPERINTENDENT
(Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Berks and Bucks).

ÆSCULAPIUS
(Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., 32 deg., Past G.St.B., Craft, and Past G.St.B., Arch, Intendant General Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine for North Lancashire).

London: W. W. MORGAN.



By Order of all Booksellers, or will be sent direct, by post, from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N

THE AMERICAN

PORTABLE MUSIC STANDS.

J. F. WALTERS' PATENT.

Iron, from 10/6 each. Brass, from 30/- each.

THESE Stands are unsurpassed in simplicity, strength, portability cheapness, and elegance of finish. They are suitable for Military Bands Orchestras, Reading and News Rooms, Libraries, Studies, and Drawing Rooms. When opened to their full capacity they stand 5 feet high, and can be folded and enclosed in a case 21 inches long by 2 inches diameter. The weight is about 3 lbs. 13 oz., and they will support a weight of 50 lbs.

To be obtained of all Music Dealers, and of the Manufacturers and Proprietors of the Patent,

HARROW & CO.

MUSIC SMITHS, BRASS WORKERS, &c.

13 and 14 Portland Street, Soho, London, W.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

Free by Post, Price One Shilling.

THE

REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS;

CRITICALLY CONSIDERED,

AND

COMPARED WITH THE OLD EDITION.

—:o:—

A SERIES OF ARTICLES,

REPRINTED FROM THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

—:o:—

LONDON:

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE;
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL & CO., 4 STATIONERS' HALL COURT;
AND OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

"All Freemasons interested in the Revision of the above, should read this work."

Crown 8vo, price 2s 6d, cloth lettered.

Uniformity of Masonic Ritual and Observance.

By Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M., P.Z., &c.

"May be read with advantage by the whole Craft."—Sunday Times.

"Grand Lodge should at once set to work to secure the desired uniformity."—Sheffield Post.

"The subject is ably argued by the author."—Western Daily Mercury.

"Useful and valuable in the highest degree."—Exeter Gazette.

"Will have a material effect on the future of Masonic Ritual."—South Western Star.

"The author adduces many variations in the language used by different Preceptors."—Cox's Monthly Legal Circular.

"Ought to be in the hands of every Mason."—Northampton Guardian.

"To Freemasons generally it will be found useful and valuable, and we commend it to their notice accordingly."—Surrey County Observer.

"Bro. Stevens' motion for a Committee on the subject of Uniformity of Ritual was carried by a large majority."—Freemason's Chronicle report of Grand Lodge meeting, 3rd December 1879.

Sent, by post, on receipt of stamps, by the Author, Bro. JAMES STEVENS, 112 High-street, Clapham, S.W.; or by Bro. W. W. MORGAN Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

Digitized by Google

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE,

A Weekly Record of Masonic Intelligence. Sanctioned by the Grand Lodge of England.

Price—18s 6d per annum, post free.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE will be forwarded direct from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N., on receipt of Post Office Order for the amount. Intending Subscribers should forward their full Addresses to prevent mistakes.

Post Office Orders to be made payable to W. W. MORGAN, at Penton-street Office. Cheques crossed "London and County."

Advertisers will find THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE an exceptionally good medium for Advertisements of every class.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Per Page...	£8 0 0
Back Page	£10 0 0

Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1s per line.

General Advertisements, Trade Announcements, &c. single column, 5s per inch. Double Column Advertisements 1s per line. Special Terms for a Series of Insertions on application.

Agents, from whom copies can always be had:—

Messrs. SPENCER and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C.
Messrs. CURTICE and Co., 12 Catherine-street, Strand.
Messrs. KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.
Mr. RITCHIE, 6 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SIMPSON BROS., Shoe Lane.
Mr. H. SIMPSON, 7 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SMITH and SONS, 183 Strand.
Messrs. STEEL and JONES, 4 Spring Gardens, Charing Cross.
Mr. G. VICKERS, Angel Court, Strand.
Mr. H. VICKERS, 317 Strand.

RICHARD PEARCY,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

81 PACKINGTON STREET, ISLINGTON, LONDON, N.

Watches Made and Repaired in the very best manner.

MASONIC JEWELS.

THE THEATRES, &c.

COVENT GARDEN.—PROMENADE CONCERTS.
PRINCESS'S.—At 7, A CLERICAL ERROR. At 7.40, THE SILVER KING.
HAYMARKET.—At 7.50, FIRST IN THE FIELD. At 8.15, FEDORA.
DRURY LANE.—At 7.45, A SAILOR AND HIS LASS.
LYCEUM.—At 8.30, THE LADY OF LYONS.
ADELPHI.—At 7.45, IN THE RANKS.
STRAND.—At 8, VICE VERSA. At 9.15, SILVER GUILT.
SAVOY.—At 8, PRIVATE WIRE. At 8.40, IOLANTHE.
GAIETY.—At 7.35, YOUNG WIDOW. At 8.15, ARIEL.
AVENUE.—At 7.30, OBLIGING A FRIEND. At 8.15, LA VIE.
TOOLE'S.—At 8, SIX MONTHS AGO. At 8.30, OURS.
COURT.—At 8, THE MILLIONAIRE.
GLOBE.—At 7.45, MAN PROPOSES. At 8.30, THE GLASS OF FASHION.
VAUDEVILLE.—At 8, AN OLD MASTER. At 9, CONFUSION.
ROYALTY.—At 7.45, A CUP OF TEA. At 8.30, THE MERRY DUCHESS.
COMEDY.—At 9, FALKA.
ST. JAMES'S.—At 8, YOUNG FOLKS' WAYS.
GRAND.—At 7.30, LOAN OF A LOVER. At 9, NEW BABYLON.
STANDARD.—At 7.30, GLAD TIDINGS.
SADLER'S WELLS.—At 7.30, GREEN LANES OF ENGLAND.
SURREY.—At 7.30, CRIMES OF PARIS.
ST. JAMES'S HALL.—Mr. DUVAL'S ODDS AND ENDS.
MOHAWK MINSTRELS, Agricultural Hall.—Every evening, at 8.
EGYPTIAN HALL.—Messrs. MASKELYNE AND COOKE. Every evening at 8.
CRYSTAL PALACE.—This day, CONCERT. PANORAMA. Open Daily, Aquarium, Picture Gallery, &c.

BRO. G. S. GRAHAM,

The Popular Tenor and Buffo Vocalist, from St. James's Hall, Crystal Palace, &c.

(Provincial Grand Organist Middlesex)

IS OPEN TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FOR

Concerts, Entertainments, & Masonic Banquets.

Bro. G. S. Graham's Party of Eminent Artists can be engaged for Masonic Banquets, Consecrations and Installations, &c. For Opinions of the Press, and terms, address—G. S. GRAHAM, St. John's Villa, 91 Fernlea Road, Balham, Surrey.

PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS ON EASY TERMS.

GROVER & GROVER

LET ON HIRE, WITH OPTION OF PURCHASE,

BEAUTIFUL AND PERFECT INSTRUMENTS.
PURCHASERS CHOOSE THEIR OWN TERMS,
FROM 15s TO £3 3s PER QUARTER.

The Advantages of a Trial, with the Convenience of the Three Years' System at Cash Price, by Paying about a Quarter of the value down, the Balance by Easy Payments, from 15s per quarter.

GROVER & GROVER (late AVILL & SMART),
TABERNACLE SQUARE, FINSBURY, E.C.
ESTABLISHED 1830.

PIANOFORTES, £19 10s.
AMERICAN ORGANS, £9 5s.
HARMONIUMS, £5 15s.

Perfect in Tone and Touch. Elegant Walnut Cases. Every Instrument warranted to stand any extreme climate.

SHIPPERS AND DEALERS SUPPLIED.

Before deciding on purchasing, write for a descriptive Price List and Testimonials to G. LISTEAD, Manager.

COBDEN PIANOFORTE COMPANY, 18 & 19 Eversholt Street, Camden Town, London.

BILLIARD BALLS, Chalks, Cues and Tips, at HENNIG BROS., Ivory Works, 11 High Street, London, W.C. Cheapest house in the trade for billiard-table requisites and ivory goods in general. Old balls adjusted or exchanged, and tables recovered. Price Lists on application. Established 1862.

RHEUMATISM.

THE only real remedy for this complaint is the Northern Cure (patent). In bottles 1s 1½d each, to be had of all Chemists. Proprietors and Manufacturer, EDWARDS AND ALEXANDER, 29 Blaskett-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR GOUT and RHEUMATISM.

The excruciating pain is quickly relieved and cured in a few days by this celebrated Medicine.

These Pills require no restraint of diet during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.

Sold by all Chemists at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.

HOTELS, ETC.

CARLISLE—Bush Hotel. SUTCLIFFE HOLROYD, Proprietor

EALING—Feathers Hotel

EASTBOURNE—Pier Hotel, Cavendish Place. View of Sea and Pier. A. TAYLOR Proprietor

HAVERFORDWEST.—Queen's Family and Commercial Hotel. BEN. M. DAVIES Proprietor.

KEW—Star and Garter. Good accommodation for Lodge & Dinner Parties. J. BRILL Proprietor

MILFORD HAVEN.—Lord Nelson Hotel. T. PALMER Proprietor

SANDWICH—Bell Family and Commercial Hotel, Good Stabling. J. J. FILMER Proprietor

ALL WHO SUFFER FROM
GOUT AND RHEUMATISM
Should immediately have recourse to
EADE'S CELEBRATED GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS.

Known throughout the world as the safest and most effectual remedy for the instant relief and rapid cure of Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Lumbago, and all Pains in the Head, Face, and Limbs.

OF ALL CHEMISTS, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d,

GEORGE EADE,
SOLE PROPRIETOR,
72 GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

SMOKE CHARLESWORTH & AUSTINS TOBACCOS AND CIGARS
BORO' S.E.
Old Chums 2d
Favourites 2d & 3d
Golden Shag 4d & 5d

Digitized by Google

JOSEPH J. CANEY,

DIAMOND MERCHANT, AND MANUFACTURING JEWELLER AND WATCH MAKER,

44 CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.

MASONIC JEWELS, CLOTHING AND FURNITURE.

Spécialité—First Class Jewels—Artistic—Massive—Best Quality—Moderate in Price.

CATALOGUES POST FREE.

A LARGE STOCK OF LOOSE BRILLIANTS FOR EXPENSIVE JEWELS.

Diamond Rings, Brooches, Studs, Earrings and Bracelets in Great Variety.

MASONIC JEWELS FOR ALL DEGREES.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS AND DECORATIONS.

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD IN ALL SIZES.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEDALS AND BADGES.

A. D. LOEWENSTARK & SONS, Medallists, 210 STRAND, LONDON, W.C.

MANUFACTORY—1 DEVEREUX COURT, STRAND.

R. W. GALER,

PRACTICAL WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

12 GREEN LANES, LONDON, N.

(Six doors from Newington Green).

OLD GOLD and SILVER BOUGHT or TAKEN in EXCHANGE.

PRESENTATION WATCHES AND MASONIC JEWELS MANUFACTURED ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

Communications by Post punctually attended to.

G. W. KNIGHT,

Carver, Gilder, and Picture Frame Maker,

LITTLE BELL ALLEY, BACK OF MOORGATE STREET, CITY,

AND

38 CHAUCER ROAD, BRIXTON.

CORNICES AND FRAMES OF ALL KINDS REPAIRED AND REGILT.

ADAM S. MATHER,

GAS ENGINEER, GENERAL GAS FITTER AND BELL HANGER,

MANUFACTURER OF BILLIARD LIGHTS

AND OF EVERY DESCRIPTION OF GAS APPARATUS FOR COOKING AND HEATING.

Bath Rooms Fitted up. All the Latest Improvements Introduced.

MANUFACTORY—12 CHARLES STREET, HATTON GARDEN, E.C.;

AND AT 278 CALEDONIAN ROAD, ISLINGTON, N.

ESTIMATES GIVEN.

W. W. MORGAN,

LETTER-PRESS, COPPER-PLATE, LITHOGRAPHIC PRINTER,

BELVIDERE WORKS,

HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE.

SUMMONSES, MENU CARDS, &c. ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED.

Sketches or Designs for Special Purposes Furnished on Application.

Books, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Catalogues, Posters, Billheads, Showcards, &c.

Every description of Printing (Plain or Ornamental) executed in First Class Style.

ESTIMATES SUPPLIED.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER

7s 6d.

If with Pockets, 6d each pocket extra.

225 HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.

DRESS SUITS from £3 3s to £5 5s.

Demy 8vo, Price 7s 6d,

THE CHESS OPENINGS,

By ROBERT B. WORMALD.

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE.

CONCERTINAS,

ENGLISH AND ANGLO-GERMAN.

G. JONES, 350 Commercial-road, London, E., inventor of the Anglo-German with chromatic scale. His tempered steel notes never get out of tune. Used by the leading performers. Price List of Musical Instruments of every description free. Established 1850.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY Limited, 7 Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General accidents. | Personal injuries.
Railway accidents. | Death by accident.

C. HARDING, Manager.

THE EMPIRE LAMP.

(RIPPINGILLE'S PATENT.)

THE MOST BRILLIANT AND ECONOMICAL DOMESTIC LIGHT EXTANT.

It equals Gas for Simplicity, but surpasses it for Illuminating Power.

IT burns without a chimney, a pine-shaped globe only being required, which has never been known to break from the heat of the flame. It will give more light than any other lamp with a wick of equal size. The combustion is so perfect that it deodorises the oil, and burns absolutely without smell, giving an intense pure white and beautiful light. It is unrivalled for simplicity in lighting, cleaning, and trimming, and is, in fact, the perfection of artificial light. Suitable for Cottage or Mansion, Churches, Chapels, &c.

Illustrated Catalogue, with full particulars, and giving valuable hints on Domestic Lighting and the Management of Lamps, free on application.

THE HOLBORN LAMP COMPANY,

118 HOLBORN, LONDON, E.C.

Say where you saw this Advertisement.

Bro. A. OLDROYD, Stratford, London,

MANUFACTURER OF TOBACCO POUCHES,

With any name in raised letters.

CAN be obtained direct from the Maker, at the undermentioned prices, on receipt of P.O.O. payable at Stratford.

	Price	Will take a name of
No. 3	2/0 ...	9 letters
,, 4	2/6 ...	11
,, 5	3/0 ...	13
,, 6	3/6 ...	13
,, 7	4/0 ...
,, 8	4/6 ...
,, 9	5/0 ...

A. OLDROYD,

Agent for Algerian Cigars, and Importer of Havana and Continental Cigars,

64 HIGH STREET, STRATFORD, LONDON, E.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

BIRKBECK BANK.—Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Current Accounts opened according to the usual practice of other Bankers, and Interest allowed on the minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £25. No commission charged for keeping Accounts.

The Bank also receives money on Deposit at three per cent. Interest, repayable on demand.

The Bank undertakes for its Customers, free of charge, the custody of Deeds, Writings, and other Securities and Valuables, the collection of Bills of Exchange, Dividends, and Coupons; and the purchase and sale of Stocks and Shares.

Letters of Credit and Circular Notes issued.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

31st March 1880.

The Birkbeck Building Society's Annual Receipts exceed Four Millions.

HOW TO PURCHASE A HOUSE FOR TWO GUINEAS PER MONTH, with immediate Possession and no Rent to pay. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY.

HOW TO PURCHASE A PLOT OF LAND FOR FIVE SHILLINGS PER MONTH, with immediate possession, either for Building or Gardening purposes. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Published every Wednesday. Price 3d.

THE

CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE;

AND

Journal of Indoor and Outdoor Amusements.

THE CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE can be ordered of any Bookseller in Town or Country, or will be forwarded direct from the Office on the following terms:—

Twelve months, post free	...	...	...	12 0
Three ,, ,,	...	...	...	3 3

It is also obtainable at the following Chess Resorts and Agencies—

Messrs. Dean and Son, 160A Fleet Street, E.C.
Simpson's Divan (Chess Room), Strand, W.C.
Pursell's Restaurant, ditto, Cornhill, E.C.

All communications and books, &c. for notice, to be addressed to the Editor, 555 Caledonian Road, N.

Printed and Published by Brother WILLIAM WRAY MORGAN, at Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, Saturday, 3rd November 1883.

Digitized by Google

THE

Freemason's Chronicle;

A WEEKLY RECORD OF MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

SANCTIONED BY THE GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.

VOL. XVIII.—No. 461. SATURDAY, 10th NOVEMBER 1883. [PRICE THREEPENCE. 13s 6d per annum, post free.

HALTING COUNSELS.

THERE is a laissez faire spirit abroad. Matters that were considered important, and which still await settlement, are now regarded with little respect in certain quarters. A mighty change has taken place, apparently without cause. The mass of the brethren may still feel the same interest in the question of the future Temple of the Craft; they may continue to think that there is something more than a mere whim in the desire of a large number of brethren who advocate a great change in the status a Past Master should hold upon joining a lodge. Whatever may be the fact with regard to them, it is quite certain that some who claim to speak ex cathedrâ have come to the conclusion that it would be better to leave well alone. They seem to think that Grand Lodge have done all that is required in one matter, and if they simply restore the old Temple they will have done all that is necessary. Just to keep their friends in countenance, they are prepared to accept some change in the kitchen department; in every other sense, "as you were" is the new policy. Men have a right to change their views; the effect of such change varies according to the position held by the human chameleon. Those who aspire to be leaders should first make themselves sure of their ground and only shift when compelled by the force of circumstances or the discovery of new facts. The mass who do not think, or who are guided by their feelings and friendships rather than by knowledge, may be expected to be fickle. We look for better things from those who should instruct others. When the calamitous fire took place at Freemasons' Hall, it was thought a good opportunity would be afforded for carrying out improvements, which until then were looked upon as much needed. Among these were an enlarged Temple, better offices for waiting and other purposes, and a library and museum. It is now held that it is only necessary to restore the one, and let the other questions slide into the tomb of forgotten or despised necessities. We cannot see the reason for this relapse into a worse feeling than that of indifferentism. If the late Temple was too small for its purpose in the past, surely if it were simply restored it would be less suitable in the future, for the Craft is more likely to grow than to diminish. It may not be necessary to build a Temple capable of seating fifteen hundred brethren, that would be virtually doubling its size. There are grave objections to this plan, but greater space is needed for the accomodation of the brethren, and to effect this purpose the skill of those versed in architecture should be called into exercise. The large scheme of the Special Committee has alarmed some of the brethren, and instead of seeking a more modest course, they resolve to do nothing. They argue against the purchase of Bro. Bacon's lease, they object to let another part of the premises out of their control for half a century. They are right in these conclusions. But the necessity for better accommodation is not thus satisfied, nor is the formation of a library and museum forwarded. It is urged as a reason for restoring the Temple now, that when Bro. Bacon's lease falls in it will be time enough to consider the whole question. If that be so, then all that was considered urgent a short time ago will become urgent again, and we shall see what we shall see. If those who reason thus mean what they say, in five years' time the whole question will be re-opened. The circumstances will be changed, and what is comparatively easy now would become difficult then, unless it is intended to commence forming a building fund at once that shall be large enough to meet the cost of any scheme, however elaborate. There are no signs of any such effort, although there are evidences of the existence of a very liberal spirit both among the blue and the red. Were such a fund started, and were it as successful as the most ardent supporter could desire, it would become a question whether any outlay should be incurred at present, while so much doubt exists as to the plans of the future. It will be urged that the Temple cannot remain in its present condition, nor is it desirable that it should, but better an eyesore than a wanton waste of money, which would result from mere restoration now and reconstruction five years hence. Something more than the re-building of the Temple is required by the majority of the Craft; by the minority it is only regarded as a question of time. It may be urged that waiting will save at least £6000 that Grand Lodge might now have to give Bro. Bacon for the remainder of his lease, but is it necessary to secure this part of the building at the present time? We do not hold with increasing the Temple to double its former size, and we are strongly inclined to think that the contemplated arrangements for tavern purposes might be much modified, if not almost altogether dispensed with. It is desirable that where Lodge and Chapter meetings are held, there the brethren should dine, but owing to various circumstances many members prefer to seek elsewhere the accommodation that is lacking at Freemasons' Hall. This has always been a defect, more or less, of the establishment. It cannot be altogether the result of want of room and convenience. There is something inherent in the spirit of management which either despises competition or refuses to enter into it. It may arise from a sense of monopoly; if so, then that feeling ought to have disappeared long ago. Fresh places are rising up which offer a tempting welcome to Lodges, and the tendency at the present time is to patronise these homes both of work and refreshment.

It is obvious, from what we have stated, that Grand Lodge cannot stand still. To advance one step now, and to have to retrace a dozen a few years hence, would not be the policy of prudent men. There seems little chance of the scheme submitted by the Special Building Committee going further than the Report and its entry on the minutes. Under these conflicting circumstances, it becomes difficult to know what to do. If we were sure that the same objections that are now urged against the erection of a building with its adjuncts worthy of the Masonic body of England would not be reproduced five years hence, we might be disposed to give the preference to delay. If a distinct pledge were given that the necessities of the whole case should be dealt with in a generous spirit, we should be tempted to warmly recommend delay. But experience proves that it is dangerous to discount the present by drawing upon the future, and that it is better "to bear the ills we have, than fly to others we know not of." First of all, it is necessary to ascertain whether any and what property can be obtained west of the present building. That decided, all the possibilities would be before the Grand Lodge. The next step would be to decide upon requirements, and these should include an enlarged Temple, proper accommodation for members and officials, and a library and museum. The changes decided upon, there would be no difficulty in carrying them out. We are quite certain there would be no lack of funds, and the spirit that caused the erection of the parent building would revive in an even more vigorous degree in order to erect a Temple worthy of the noble Craft of Freemasonry, and a home fitted for the greatly increased number of brethren who now find it necessary to use it for ceremonial and business purposes.

EPPS'S (GRATEFUL COMFORTING) COCOA.

Digitized by Google

The question as to the status of Past Masters stands in a somewhat different position to that of the rebuilding of the Temple. Specific action has already been taken in the former case, and the issue now is—shall that action stand, be modified, or reversed? We believe the majority of the brethren will decline to confirm the minutes, and if the counsel of the indifferent prevail, all the time that has been devoted to the consideration of the subject will be thrown away, and a spirit of resentment will be aroused. The vote of August was wrong, and the motion in its present form is objectionable, but it was the outcome of a grievance which was strongly felt by many brethren who are entitled to respect. They were in possession of what had been already done by alterations in the rules, and still felt something more was required, hence the action subsequently taken. To suppose, therefore, that what failed to stop them from pursuing their purpose is likely to induce them quietly to resign the fruits of their victory, is to imagine a vain thing. Men are not used to surrender at discretion what they have succeeded in obtaining as the spoils of war; they are the more likely to cling to them, and the best thing to do is to satisfy all reasonable demands, which if done in a manly, generous spirit, will ensure a willing obedience to what Grand Lodge shall determine. Our views are well known on the subject. Custom has always prescribed the remedy for any difficulty that may arise as to the status of a Past Master, and all that is required to be done is to give private Lodges the power to make bye-laws for the purpose of converting custom into legal and recognised action. Were this done, the necessities of the whole case would be met, all cause for ill-feeling would be swept away, and the indifferent would be rebuked. The time will soon arrive for action, and we trust that prudent counsels will prevail. We are convinced that delay in settling the Temple question will only breed further trouble, and we are certain that to reverse the vote of last August, and leave matters where they were with regard to the status of Past Masters would end in discontent, and a large crop of difficulties in the time to come.

A QUESTION THAT AGITATES MASONRY.

RIVAL CLAIMS OF TWO SO-CALLED SUPREME GRAND COUNCILS.

THE question which is the Simon-pure, original and legitimate Supreme Grand Council of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Masonry in this country, which has vexed high-grade Freemasons for more than half a century, is about to be precipitated for answer upon the Supreme Grand Council of France. An adjudication of the rival claims of the so-called Gourgas and Cerneau Councils is not impending, for there is no tribunal in existence having jurisdiction, both these American bodies claiming equal power with the sister council that is now to be fretted with the old controversy. At the request of the Supreme Grand Council of which William H. Peckham is the Most Puissant Sovereign Grand Commander, Claudius F. Beatty, Grand Marshal General, is about to visit Paris for the purpose of asking recognition from the Supreme Grand Council of France as the representative of the only legitimate supreme body of the Scottish Rite in the United States. The representatives of the rival body will also be there, and it is believed that the showing of proofs and the presentation of facts and arguments will be such that the French Council, from which the present Cerneau Council claims original authorisation, will speak in a manner that will heal the distraction in which many Masonic Craftsmen have long been held. Mr. Beatty is a Past Grand Officer of the Knights Templars of the United States, and will sail day after to-morrow, on the City of Rome, with the Apollo Commandery, which will then start on a two months' pilgrimage to Europe.

Touching the controversy, which has developed evolutions that give the lay mind pause, like the question as to who is the original Bowery hatter, Mr. Peckham said yesterday to a Tribune reporter :—

"In the United States there are two Grand Councils that claim to exercise the privilege of conferring the degrees of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Masonry. One is known as the Cerneau Council, and was founded in New York City on 27th October 1807; the other is the Gourgas Council or Northern Jurisdiction, founded in New York City in 1813 by Emanuel de la Motta, and resuscitated, after thirty years of extinction, in the Northern States by J. J. J. Gourgas, formerly a clerk of De la Motta. In 1863 the Gourgas Council was split in two parts, one of which was known as the Raymond Council and the other as the Van Rensselaer Council. Both parties excommunicated and expelled each other. The Cerneau Council, then under the government of Edmund B. Hayes, united with the Raymond branch of the Gourgas Council, the number of Officers being doubled, so that all the nine Officers of the two Councils were retained. Under this union, which was known as the Supreme Grand Council of the United States, the Southern Jurisdiction under Albert Pike, the Confederate General, and the Van Rensselaer Council, were entirely ignored. When the war was over Pike objected to what had been done, and the consolidation was dissolved, the Raymond Council joining with the Van Rensselaer. The Cerneau Council left the Raymond Council, and both Supreme Grand Councils continued to work as they had done previous to 1863. We are now fighting for the position we held previous to that time, Gourgas and Pike men are coming over to us in large numbers, and expulsions, red letter documents, and a flow of printer's ink are following them.

"We claim that we have had an unbroken succession of legitimate Most Puissant Sovereign Grand Commanders since 1807, when Joseph Cerneau established the Most Puissant Sovereign Grand Consistory with De Witt Clinton, Cadwallader D. Colden, Martin Hoffman, and other distinguished New York men as his inferior Officers. We claim to be governed by the Constitutions of 1762 and 1862, while the Southern and Northern Jurisdictions are governed by the so-called Constitutions of 1762. These Constitutions are impudent and baseless forgeries which made their appearance about 1801 at Charleston. They profess to have been signed by Frederick the Great at an alleged Convention of high-grade Masons in Berlin; but for years previous to 1762 Frederick the Great was a hopeless paralytic at Sans Souci. Besides, he was opposed to high-grade Masonry, and Masonic history is silent concerning such a conference. We propose now to have our rights established on the Continent of Europe as they have always been recognised. We want our rivals and traducers to come over and be healed. We were a body in this city in 1807, recognised by France and brought here by France, and our territory was invaded in 1813. We shall ask that we alone be recognised."—New York Daily Tribune.

AN OLD MASONIC ORATION.

THE following curious old oration was transcribed by me from the original manuscript in the possession of Bro. J. C. Robinson P.M., of the Cestrian Lodge, Chester. It was delivered before the Provincial Grand Lodge of Cheshire some time towards the close of the last or beginning of the present century, by Brother the Rev. Thomas Crane, who was Rector of St. Olave's Church from 1778 to his death, in 1820, at the age of 82, and who was Provincial Grand Chaplain. Unfortunately, the date of his chaplaincy is uncertain.

T. B. WHYTEHEAD.

BRETHREN,—As the Most Worshipful Grand Master of this Province has solemnly convened us that we may cement affection and connect the chain of friendship among the Lodges, I shall beg your attention for a moment on the subject of Freemasonry.

The man who is a Mason has the honour to belong to a very antient and illustrious Society; a Society which has been patronised by many of the most distinguished characters which have adorned the historic page; a Society which will probably descend to the latest ages of the world, secure of the approbation of heaven, if Masons adhere to Masonic principles.

Digitized by Google

There cannot possibly be more than three degrees in Masonry: those of the Entered Apprentice, the Fellow-Craft, and the Master Mason.

All Masons seem to be agreed in the manner of opening the Lodge of the Apprentice and of the Fellow-Craft, but we are not unanimously of opinion which is the best method of conducting a Masters' Lodge.

Much may be said in favour of the English method, which is certainly very antient, but perhaps borders too much on the marvellous.

Some will have Templar Masonry to be real Master Masonry. This is that sort of Masonry which was adopted by the Knights Templar, who were all Master Masons; whose Order flourished one hundred and ninety-four years, till it was suddenly dissolved in the year one thousand three hundred and twelve, for several pretended crimes: but the real crime was the Templars were very rich, and the Kings of Europe thought them well worth plundering. There is something very improper in the manner in which Holy Scripture is attended in this part of Masonry, which can only be defended by considering the usage was introduced in a barbarous age. Templar Masonry ought not to be recommended unless the exceptionable part of the ceremony be omitted. In the flourishing state of the Order, the exhibition to which I allude was always a wooden machinery, splendidly adorned with silver and gold.

The same objection does not lie against Royal Arch Masonry, as does against Templar Masonry. The Royal Arch Lodge consists entirely of Master Masons, and with very little improvement would be unexceptionable.

The modern manner of lecturing in the Lodge I have taken occasion more than once to reprehend, because it deviates too much from real Masonry, which is founded on Architecture and Geometry. The Lecturer should by no means dwell on anything foreign to the royal art. He should carefully avoid . . . . which has been the ruin of true Masonry in many Lodges.

Our greatest care should be to reject those who apply for admission among us whose character will not bear the strictest scrutiny. And when we do admit a Brother, we should not confer his degrees rapidly, but wait a competent time till it be known whether he be worthy of advancement. If men of bad morals be found among us the Craft will fall into contempt, and if brethren be hurried through every degree, they will know nothing perfectly in any.

Take heed, brethren, that you at all times deport yourselves as worthy members of this ancient and honourable society, and let the clothing with which you are invested, which is an emblem of perfect innocence, induce you to attain that purity of heart, which is the distinguishing mark of a good Mason, and a good Christian. Then will you be as burning and shining lights amidst the gloom of an evil world. Then will the popular world entertain a good opinion of Masonry, when they perceive no blot in the morals of Masons.

I recommend to your patronage, the fund of Charity, lately established by the United Lodges in this city. The regulations of this fund are now printed for the inspection of the brethren, and if the scheme be carried on with wisdom and discretion, it may have the happiest effect.

May that Adorable Being, to whose holy name the Grand Foundation Stone at first was laid, bless, preserve and keep you now and for ever.

SUPREME GRAND CHAPTER.

A LARGER number than usual of the Companions attended the Quarterly Convocation of Supreme Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of England, held at Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday evening. The offices were filled as follow:—Bros. J. M. Montague as M.E.Z., the Hon. Mr. Justice H. T. Princeps as H., Col. Creaton P.G. Treasurer as J., Col. Shadwell H. Clerke G.S.E., Rev. F. Robinson as G.S.N., Rev. A. F. A. Woodford P.S., Robert Grey 1st Assist. S., Dr. Gooding 2nd Assist. S. The minutes of the Grand Chapter held in August were read and confirmed, and the Report of the Committee of General Purposes was entered upon the minutes. The accounts of the quarter showed no feature of interest. The following petitions were granted: a Chapter to be attached to John Miller Lodge, No. 1906 Madras, to be called the Madras Chapter, and to meet at Royapoorum; a Chapter to be attached to the Lodge of Loyalty, No. 1553 Marlborough, to be called the Methuen Chapter, and to meet at the Masonic Hall, Marlborough; a Chapter to be attached to the Royal Gloucestershire Lodge, No. 839 Gloucester, to be called the Royal Gloucestershire Chapter, and to meet at the Bell Hotel, Gloucester. A Charter was granted to the Chapter of Unanimity, No. 42 Bury Lancashire, authorising the Companions to wear a Centenary Jewel, the Chapter having had an uninterrupted existence for over one hundred years. A brother P.M., late of the Wanderers' Lodge, No. 1604 London, and P.M. and Treasurer of the Wayfarers' Lodge, No. 1926 Malta, also of the Melita Chapter, No. 349 Malta, having been expelled by the District Grand Lodge of Malta for having been guilty of defalcation of his Lodge accounts, was declared expelled from the Order of Royal Arch Masons. It was resolved—"That the Grand Chapter of Portugal be henceforth recognised by the Supreme Grand Chapter," it having been previously intimated by the Grand Orient of Portugal that they had authorised the formation of a Royal Arch Grand Chapter for that country, with Chapters working in accordance with the English Ritual. The motion for granting £2,000 in aid of the proposed rebuilding of the Temple was postponed, as Grand Lodge had not yet decided upon a scheme.

The monthly meeting of the General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys was held on Saturday last, at Freemasons' Hall. Bro. Edgar Bowyer, Grand Standard Bearer, presided, and he was supported by the following brethren:—G. P. Britten, Joyce Murray, William Roebuck, Charles Frederick Hogard, Alfred Williams, Donald M. Dewar, John L. Mather, Frederick Adlard, W. Mann, H. B. Marshall, H. Venn, H. S. Goodall, Rev. Dr. Morris (Head Master), J. Seex, Thomas Cubitt, C. H. Webb, G. P. Festa, G. Motion, W. Maple, G. P. Gillard, H. Massey, A. F. Godson, and F. Binckes Secretary. A discussion arose upon the refusal of the Audit Committee to pass an item of £9, the hire for half a year of an omnibus employed to convey the Committee to Wood Green. Some doubt was expressed as to the duties of Auditors, and it was ultimately resolved to refer the matter to the House Committee, with a view of considering whether the use of the omnibus shall be continued after the 31st December. Cheques were signed for payment of the sums passed by the Audit Committee, including one for £9 for the omnibus. The report read by Bro. Binckes showed a clear balance in hand of £3,978 4s 8d. The sum of £2,000 was ordered to be invested to the account of the Preparatory School Fund, making the total £11,000. It having been resolved to transfer £500 to the Sustentation Fund, and to grant £5 each to three former pupils of the Institution for outfits, Bro. C. H. Webb called attention to the case of the boy Herring. He said he was informed that the boy would be entitled, when 21 years of age, to £1,800. Bro. Binckes said the boy's eligibility had been determined, after full discussion at a Quarterly Court, by 28 votes to 23. Bro. Webb gave notice of motion to the effect that further inquiry should be made at the Quarterly Court in January as to whether the boy was a proper subject for admission to the Institution.

The Earl of Mar and Kellie, Grand Master of Scotland, will consecrate the new Masonic Lodge of Rothsay St. John's, on Thursday, 13th December.

In our report, last week, of the Prudent Brethren Lodge, No. 145, the candidate who was passed should have been given as Bro. William Lloyd, not Bro. Capt. W. T. P. Moore.

Obituary.

—:o:—

THE LATE BROTHER RICHARDS.

IT is our painful duty to record the death of Bro. Joseph Richards, I.P.M. of the Sphinx Lodge 1329, which occurred on Wednesday afternoon, at his residence, 247 New Cross-road, at the age of fifty-eight. Bro. P.M. Richards, who had but recently withdrawn from the duties of an active and useful life—duties which he had discharged efficiently and praiseworthily—devoted his leisure moments to the furtherance of Freemasonry. As the Master of the Sphinx Lodge, he endeared himself to all the brethren thereof by his sociability and genial manners. But few have passed the chair with more credit than he. In addition, he attended as late as Thursday sen'night at the Rose Lodge of Instruction, No. 1622, and on Saturday evening he was present at the yearly audit of his own Lodge, apparently in the possession of good health and excellent spirits. On Wednesday afternoon, however, he was seized with an apoplectic fit, which struck him down, and although Bro. Dr. Bull was called in and applied every possible remedy, his patient never rallied, but quietly passed away to rest and peace in the presence of those near and dear to him. He leaves a name which will be long cherished as an example worthy of emulation. He had "troops of friends," and therefore this unexpected event has plunged many persons into deep sorrow, more especially the brethren of the Sphinx, Rose, and Peckham Lodges. We understand that he will be interred in Forest Hill Cemetery, which is almost abutting on the Honor Oak Station of the London, Chatham and Dover Railway. There will be a general muster of the local brethren on the melancholy occasion, and doubtless a gathering of his local friends will be present.

The actions of the just smell sweet,
And blossom in the dust.

Digitized by Google

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our Correspondents.

All Letters must bear the name and address of the Writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return rejected communications.

—:o:—

INSTALLATION CONCERTS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—So far as essential principles are involved in the discussion as to the wisdom or otherwise of professional concerts at installation banquets, your article, entitled "Dangerous Tendencies," answers "J. G.'s" letter that appeared in the same issue. There are points, however, that may be briefly dealt with, if only to show how real the dangers are of the besetting sin of the pride of the purse. "J. G." is evidently sore at the remarks you were pleased to make in connection with the proceedings at the installation banquet of St. Martin's Lodge, and in his anger he is somewhat reckless. He sneers at myself and your other correspondent "R. L. X." for taking a fortnight to muster up "boldness" to support your views, but he forgets that editors are sometimes compelled to postpone the appearance of letters and other matter to make room for more pressing claims. I presume that is the explanation of the delay of the appearance of my own letter at least. But suppose it were otherwise, how does the question of time affect the matter at issue? Not at all, and the reference to it by "J. G." only serves as a peg on which to hang an unworthy suspicion. It required no boldness on my part to attack an evil that is only too apparent, and I may add that my courage, unlike that of Bob Acres, is not in danger of oozing out of the palms of my hands. The boldness, even unto rashness, seems to me to lie with "J. G.," who assumes so much and proves so little. He regards his own experience as conclusive, and poses in the character of "Sir Oracle" with more assurance than characterises wise and modest men. Referring to myself and "R. L. X.," he says our "effusions appear . . . full of contradictions and beside the question at issue," and that he did not propose to dilate upon them; yet he proceeds to do the very thing he promised not to do. This contradiction might be passed over had he dealt fairly with the views he appears to hold in contempt. No one questions the desirability of arranging the business proceedings of a banquet, and to assume that I hold a contrary opinion, and the contrast "J. G." has instituted in the second paragraph of his letter, is simply begging the whole question. It does not follow that no provision is made by members of a Lodge because professional singers are not engaged, and how business can be expedited by lengthening the proceedings passes my comprehension. I question "J. G.'s" judgment as to the relative value of the entertaining powers of members of, and visitors to, Lodges and professional artistes. I do not desire to disparage the skill of trained musicians, but Lodge banquets are not the occasions for its exercise. Rivers ceased to flow and mountains danced to the piping of Orpheus, but there came a time when circumstances were more powerful than the god's charms. Music, no doubt, is beautiful of itself, but there are times when it is not desirable, or when its use would interfere with the performance of necessary duties. Set concerts and Masonic banquets do not agree; they are objectionable because they prolong proceedings, sometimes prevent the full and free exchange of those courtesies which brethren and visitors have a right to expect, stop the friendly chat, limit the action of the W.M., and give an unnatural and strained tone to everything around. In fact, they are the survival of the unfittest, and would not be tolerated for a moment were the members generally heard as to the arrangements, especially if they had to bear the expense. What is more pleasant than the fraternal greetings of the brethren, and where can they be so well exchanged as at the banquet table? What affords more fun than joking a brother about his harmless eccentricities of speech or song? All this is impossible where professional artistes are engaged; stiffness and formality prevail where all should be free and joyous. The W.M. feels that he must get through the programme if only to secure his money's worth; all is hurry and very often confusion. There is no real pleasure except to a few musical enthusiasts, and probably to the author of the extravagance, who may pride himself upon the show he has made, in the end to discover that he has been following a "Will-o'-the-wisp," the phantom of respect and not the reality.

"J. G." is as much in fault in his inferences as in his assumptions. He takes strange liberties with his opponents. I am not in favour of anything in Masonry being done by "hook or by crook." The idea is one of "J. G.'s" fictions. I believe in good men and true being appointed to fill the chair of K.S., but I object to the creation of inequalities which are the result of a lavish, or, if the term is preferred, generous expenditure of money. Social distinctions exist outside the Lodge, not within, and he who contributes to their formation violates the fundamental principles of the Craft and sets up a false and artificial standard. Freemasonry should make the poor brother richer because of his brotherhood, and the rich brother is certainly made poorer when he indulges in show and sets up as a cash-proud Pharisee. Every brother is entitled to equal respect unless found unworthy, and the possession of riches count as nothing in pure Freemasonry. Money is needed to carry on the work of charity; it is necessary for the usual expenses of the Lodge. Beyond these wants all else is show and fanfaronade, shoddy, the vice of prosperity, and the curse of unlawful ambition. It is unmanly to point the finger of scorn at a poor brother; it is an outrage upon the principles of the Order. Each Lodge judges as to the fitness of a member before he is initiated; once admitted he stands primarily on the same footing as any other member. Work, attention to duty, and the cultivation of Masonic virtues alone are the passports to office and to fame, and whatever militates against their exercise is injurious to the Craft. The Lodge invariably marks the honour done to a brother when he is promoted to the chair by providing a special banquet according to the funds at its disposal, which renders it unnecessary for any additional outlay by the W.M. The "extra five-pound note," therefore, is not required, but if the W.M., in the fullness of his joy, "on one of the most auspicious occasions of his life," wishes to make a money-offering, there is his own Lodge Benevolent Fund, or should be, and the several Charities open to receive it. No Lodge acts niggardly that provides according to its means, and if a member, because he happens to be the W.M. for the time being, takes upon himself to supplement the arrangements out of his private purse, he insults the Lodge, sets an example which his successor may not be able or willing to follow, and creates a distinction that is opposed to the truths of Freemasonry.

Yours fraternally,

I.P.M.

"POOR CANDIDATES AND THE VOTING SYSTEM."

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I dare say many, like myself, have read the letter of "The Mother of a Candidate," that appeared in your last issue, with mingled feelings of compassion and regret. The writer has passed through the ordeal of canvass and voting in connection with one of our Charities, and she knows by experience the difficulties that have to be encountered, especially by those of limited means, and who have but few influential friends to back their efforts. The task is indeed hard, and, I fear, often impossible to accomplish, owing to the lack of a sum of money absolutely necessary to make known their claims to those who can sustain them. The poor, struggling widow demands compassion, but the regret is that so little can be done for her by any general legislation. I quite agree with the suggestions you made in your article under the above heading, and which appeared in the CHRONICLE of the 27th ult. It occurs to me that those who take especial interest in cases should assure themselves that the applicants have the necessary means to put their claims fully and fairly before the subscribers. They should do this in justice to themselves, but more particularly out of compassion for claimants of limited means, who otherwise might be tempted to spend their little all upon one child, and incur liabilities that would perhaps weigh them down for years. It should not be forgotten that the extent of their poverty is the measure of their necessity, and that to help the poorest is even better than to help the poor. I wish all applicants could be successful, but as that cannot be, it surely is right to give the preference to those who need help the most. The arguments that apply to individuals are equally applicable to Lodges, with this difference, that the latter could, in nearly all cases, better afford the inevitable outlay consequent upon contests than the former.

I do not approve of the new plan of election your correspondent has sketched out. Were it feasible, I do not think it would be prudent to issue presentations to any one, much less to Her Majesty and to the Prince of Wales. The holders of presentations would be subject to pressure from friends, and the carrying out of the scheme would entail an amount of attention and labour that neither the Queen nor the Prince of Wales ought to be expected to undertake. The selection of candidates would be limited in an arbitrary manner, and might be so exercised as unwittingly to exclude deserving cases. As it is at present, all candidates who comply with the necessary regulations which experience has proved to be essential, can have a chance, and if the precautions I have pointed out as to means are taken, there is no reason why the poorest case should not have an equal if not a better chance than any other.

"The Mother of a Candidate" is strong when dealing with the difficulties of canvass, but her remedy, I fear, would but intensify the evils that unfortunately exist. It is a knotty problem to solve, and while I differ from your fair correspondent, I sincerely respect the motive and courage that have prompted her to offer a solution. She has evidently pondered over the matter, and if others would do the same and send the results to you, perhaps some method might be devised that would be welcome to the great body of subscribers, more hopeful for the candidates, and better calculated to secure the noble ends of charity. I trust the question will receive attention at the hands of those who have had experience in charity voting especially in connection with our own institutions.

Yours fraternally,

WATCHMAN.

OH! FREDERIC, HOW MANY FRAUDS HAVE MASONS COMMITTED IN THY NAME?

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Every reader of your paper has doubtless heard or read about the forged charter at Charleston, South Carolina, upon which the high degree luminaries have erected their superstructure of the so-called "Ancient and Accepted Rite," but very few know that numerous Masonic forged letters have been printed, signed "Fredric." Here is one of these I copied about four months ago from the Keystone, Philadelphia.

FREDERIC THE GREAT AND FREEMASONRY.

The Freemasons' Lodge at Aashen, which had been defunct for some time, was resuscitated and newly installed by her mother Lodge, at Wetzlai, in the year 1778.

The Lector Greinesman, of the Dominihuner cloister at Aashen and

Digitized by Google

Sahuff, priest of the Kapurziner, excited in the cathedral the populace against the Freemasons.

When Frederic the Great received knowledge of the fanatic behaviour which threatened the public safety, he wrote the following letter, dated 7th February 1773, to these public instigators:—

"My very Rev. Fathers,—Several reports, confirmed through the press, have brought to my knowledge with what zeal you endeavoured to whet the sword of fanaticism against quiet, virtuous and respected people called Freemasons.

"As a former honour-bearer of this respected Fraternity I must, as much as in my power, hurl back this slander with which you affront them, and endeavour to draw aside the dark veil which presents you the Temple which we have erected for all nations, as the place of meeting of all vices.

"Now my very Rev. Fathers, would you bring back those centuries of ignorance and barbarism which have been so long a disgrace to human intellect? Those times of fanaticism, to which the eye of human reason can only look back with horror; those times when hypocrisy was sitting between superstition and humility on the throne of despotism; put shackles on progress, and without distinction burned all those at the stake who were able to read.

"You give the Freemasons not only the odious name of sorcerers, but you accuse them of being thieves and lawless people, the forerunners of anti-Christ, and you exhort a whole nation to exterminate that damned race.

"Thieves, my very Rev. Fathers, do not make it their duty, as we do, to assist the poor and orphans. Thieves, on the contrary, very often rob them of their inheritance, and fatten themselves on their spoils, in the lap of idleness and hypocrisy.

"A Freemason, when he returns from his place of labour, where he receives lessons for the benefit of mankind only, becomes a better husband in his family circle. Forerunners of anti-Christ would, most likely, endeavour to destroy the laws of the Most High, but Freemasons could not do this without destroying their own structure, and how could those be a damned race who seek their glory in the indefatigable propagation of all virtues which make an honest man.

"FREDERIC."

The Keystone quotes this from the Canadian Craftsman.

To my surprise, in the last issue of the Keystone, I found the identical Fredric letter again, but this time it is credited to the Masonic Chronicle. Now it is well known, that upon one special point the worthy editor of the Keystone is afflicted with a repeating chronic mania. I believe that since 1874 the Grand Mother Philadelphia question has appeared in the Keystone and elsewhere upon an average three or four times a year. The reappearance of the Fredric letter after so short a period indicates that his chronic mania for repeating is extending to other points of the Masonic compass. Well, then, in order to stop the reappearance of the Fredric letter, I beg to inform you that I sent a copy of the said letter to Bro. Findel, and in his reply, dated 20th September 1883, he says, "Concerning the letter of Fredric the Great, I must tell you that it is a humbug." He further informs me that the Handbuch der F.M. is of the same opinion, or to use his own words "it is an error that Fredric is the author of any of these writings" and that in 1860 Bro. Schetter enumerated (as I understand it) more than 50 of such spurious documents, and Bro. Findel adds, "You are therefore quite right to doubt the genuineness of that letter." Thanks to Bro. Findel for the explosion of the Fredric Masonic bubble.

Yours fraternally,

Boston, U.S.
22nd October 1883.

JACOB NORTON.

INFORMATION SOLICITED.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I should feel greatly obliged if you would allow any Brother to inform me if it be customary for a Master of a Lodge to appoint as his Junior Warden a member who has held no office therein save and except that of being Secretary? I may add, that the J.W. is only a joining member. In addition, I may add, that the I.G., J.D. and S.D. are all able to hold office, over whose head this preferment has been made.

If there be analagous cases, I should be thankful to learn under what circumstances such appointments have been made.

As the S.D. is ousted from office, what position does he now hold in his Lodge, and when will he reach the chair? Is there no appeal, against such favouritism? Must those thus passed over remain quiescent under these circumstances?

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

9th November 1883.

JUSTICE

[A W.M. is all-powerful in his Lodge, and has a perfect right to select his officers. He is responsible for the working and honour of the Lodge, and his action in the choice of officers cannot be questioned. We know of no more irksome and onerous office than that of Secretary. The brother chosen for the post is generally one skilled in the Craft, and who has gained the confidence of the members of his Lodge. No brother has less chance of honour than he, and not only is it the Master's prerogative to take a Secretary from his post, and place him in one of the Warden's chairs, but in our opinion it is simply an act of justice.—ED. F.C.]

RANDOM NOTES AND REFLECTIONS.

WE trust Bro. Sadler has met with the portraits of the eminent members of the Craft whose features were limned in oil, which a few months ago looked down from the walls of the now ruined Temple. When last we referred to the subject, Bro. Sadler had obtained a fair measure of success, and we shall be glad to learn that he has succeeded still further. Writing to a contemporary, "Macunium" calls attention to some steel engravings which were sent to him among papers belonging to a Lodge, which are portraits of eminent Masons. He gives a list of them, but they only contain portraits of two out of the eight brethren mentioned by Bro. Sadler. No doubt it is desirable to obtain the best pictures possible of the old Grand Masters, but there is no reason why the portraits of other brethren eminent in the Craft should not find a place on the walls of Grand Lodge. Now that inquiry has been set on foot, why not carry it on, in the hope of forming a Masonic portrait gallery, which shall honour many a noble feature, and form a charming link, connecting the past with the present? In a magazine published over a quarter of a century ago, we saw a notice of a portrait of Bro. the Earl of Zetland by Bro. Shenton. It is a half-length figure, and is surrounded with Masonic emblems. This engraving may be known to Bro. Sadler; it may perhaps be found in many places: if not, it is worth while to make inquiry respecting it Even if Grand Lodge possesses a portrait of that old nobleman and Mason, Bro. the Earl of Zetland, a duplicate would not be unwelcome. We should very much like to see this matter of portrait hunting carried on with spirit, and if the brethren would include books in their search, and send samples of both to Grand Lodge, the question of the establishment of a library and museum would soon receive a practical solution.

—:o:—

We have no desire to discuss what are termed the higher grades of Freemasonry. We are content with Craft Masonry, and in its teaching is found all that is essential for the development of the intellect, for the improvement of morals, and for the cultivation of the best impulses of the heart. Let others seek fresh fields and pastures new—richer they may be in colour and dress, but not more satisfying to the soul. While being content ourselves, we by no means wish to cast contempt upon those who have other aspirations. What we do desire is, that Craft Masonry should stand first as the foundation upon which all else rests, and when that claim is accorded, we are content to let the question as to the relative value of the several rival rites be determined by individuals according to their bent.

—:o:—

We have been much struck with some remarks made by Bro. Longley at the proceedings of the Sovereign Sanctuary of Royal and Oriental Freemasonry 33°, 96°, 90°, held at Ottawa, Canada, in July last. Bro. Longley, who is styled Most Worthy Grand Master General, in his address, used the following language:

Permit me, brethren, to remind you that it is to Craft Masonry, the mother and foundation of all rites, that our best allegiance is due; and that in comparison with the Blue Lodge, and the genuine and practical Masonry therein taught, all Rites and so-called High Grades sink into insignificance. It has been frequently urged, as a matter of reproach against the High Grades, that by their multiplicity of degrees and elaborate ritual, they cause in the minds of many of the brethren a distaste for and a neglect of the more simple ceremonies of the three Craft degrees. I trust that this reproach may never be brought, with justice, against the members of our Rite, but that we may, one and all, plainly show that our love and reverence for the Blue Lodge, the nursing mother of all practical Masonry, is as it ought to be—pure, fervent, and of undiminished zeal.

—:o:—

Bro. Longley's plain speaking does not end with the foregoing. Here is a further acknowledgment, couched in no less vigorous language, which we deem worthy of being recorded. He says:

For my part, I have taken every opportunity, both by voice and by pen, to assert that before all high-sounding titles, or mysterious numbers, or ornamental appendages, I esteem and value most the simple title of a Master Mason.

Having vindicated the kingship of the Craft, Bro. Longley rebukes the pretensions of some members of the ruling bodies of other rites who "elevate themselves to an equality with the genuine rulers of Masonry . . . the officers and members of the Craft Grand Lodge." He regards such "vaulting ambition" as ridiculous and injurious, and warns the members of the body of which he is the head against any pretensions of sovereignty in Masonry. The spirit of the whole address is excellent, and whatever may be the claims of the rites he and his followers favour, there cannot be a doubt that those of the Craft are still held in greater reverence.

Digitized by Google

—:o:—

Litigation between Freemasons would be simply impossible were its tenets properly understood and acted upon. We believe there are few instances in which brethren have sought the law to settle their money disputes. At any rate the cases have not made much noise in the world, and the enemies of the Craft, ever eager to seize upon scandal, have not been able to point the finger of scorn in this particular direction. No doubt there have been cases, indeed, we referred to one a short time since, which was terminated before it had gone further than the porch, or it may be the corridor of the Canadian law courts. In looking over a foreign Masonic paper a few days ago, we came across the following incident, which was recorded in an Irish newspaper at the time. We give it upon the authority of the author of "From Lights and Shadows of the Mystic Tie," who says:

In the summer of 1835, the schooner Vigilant, Captain Berquin, from Dunkirk, arrived in Lacwick Harbour, with the loss of sails and other damage. The captain procured an agent, with whom he agreed for the necessary repairs, which were soon effected, and the vessel declared ready for sea.

A misunderstanding arose, summary legal proceedings were taken, and the captain was being marched off to prison. The writer proceeds to add:

As the captain understood the English language but very imperfectly, I proferred my services in his forlorn state. After the burst of indignation which naturally followed had subsided, he earnestly requested that a Freemason might be sent to him. I was acquainted with several gentlemen reputed to be of the Order, and to whom I made his case known. The agent who procured the warrant, the judge who signed it, and the captain who suffered by it, were all Freemasons. Instant justice was rendered, and the captain immediately liberated.

—:o:—

Three years ago we felt it to be our duty to protest against the election of a boy named Collingwood to the Boys' Institution, on the ground that his mother inherited something like £9,000 from her deceased husband. On that occasion our efforts were successful, and the boy was removed. In March last we drew attention to a similar case, in which a boy named Frank A. Herring was concerned. We took considerable trouble over the matter, in order to place the real facts before the brethren. Briefly stated, they were: Bros. Thomas H. Herring was initiated in a Lodge at Preston in 1869, and died in 1882, leaving issue three children, but no will. His brother administered to the estate, which resulted in the nett sum of £1,665 14s 7d being left after payment of all outstanding claims. This gave £554 4s 10d for each child, and, as we observed, would yield a total of over £1,000 to the boy if left to accumulate until he was tweaty-one years of age. We held that the possession of the capital sum was a bar to the boy's claim, and the matter was discussed by the authorities more than once, with the result that it was admitted by 28 for, to 24 against. The boy was not successful in the April election, but fared differently in October. The interest that was awakened months ago has not died out; indeed, it has been revived, and is likely to cause a good deal of discussion. A meeting of the General Committee of the Boys' Institution was held on Saturday last, when Bro. C. H. Webb referred to Herring's case, and although he was informed by Bro. Binckes that the case had been fully inquired into by the Quarterly Court who had decided that the boy was eligible, he gave notice of motion that further investigation should take place at the next Quarterly Court, to be holden in January.

—:o:—

With the precedent of the boy Collingwood before them, we cannot see how the Quarterly Court can do otherwise than follow it in the case of Herring. The two cases run on all fours, except in one particular feature, and that adverse to Herring. It was argued by one correspondent that the partial deprivation of wealth was painful to those who had hitherto enjoyed position, and who, although they could not be said to be poor, felt keenly their altered circumstances. As was shown at the time, the argument was fallacious as applied to the widow Collingwood and her children. Even if it had been otherwise, surely it cannot be contended for one moment that the poor candidate should fail while one amply provided for otherwise should be the recipient of charity. The argument, however, does not apply to the boy Herring, as both parents are dead, and he is too young to feel any pang at the loss of social station, if there be any loss at all, which we very much doubt. We cannot now go into the whole question, but we may say, that while so many necessitous cases are waiting admission, it seems little less than cruel to retain this boy in the Institution.

THEN YOU ARE A MASON.

From the Voice of Masonry.

MASONIC tradition informs us that there was employed in the construction of King Solomon's Temple, in addition to our Three Ancient Grand Masters, 3,300 Masters or Overseers of the Work, 80,000 Fellow Crafts and 70,000 Entered Apprentices, and that this vast army of workmen was so classed and arranged, by the wisdom of Solomon, that envy and discord were unknown among them. I wonder whether it ever occurred to Grand Lecturers, what a barefaced misrepresentation this tradition is, in view of the revelations in the succeeding degrees! Where were the Mark, Most Excellent, Select, Royal, and other kind of Masters? What a wonderful substance Masonic tradition is made of, as many Masons would have us believe! Its expansibility excels a child's rubber balloon a thousandfold. All one has to do is to expand it a little more, apply the microscope, and a new tradition is discovered. But, like the rubber balloon, it may not stretch for ever, and the next attempt to distend it may shiver it into innumerable fragments.

The boast of American political life is, that every voter is the peer of every other voter, regardless of wealth, eminence or influence; Vanderbilt and the humblest grease-wiper in his employ go to the polls on the level; and the boast of Freemasonry is, that we meet on the level, but in practice the levels vary as they do in canals; one must lock through the various bodies to get to the top levels; and they are continually increasing in number. Freemasonry's primitive, actual level is the sea level, where the tide ebbs and flows twice in twenty-four hours; the sea-level of a Master Mason of three degrees, and not the level of a Knight Templar or 33°. As Master Masons only can we meet on the level; it cannot be done elsewhere.

I am not opposed to les hautes grades as such. I am a member of some of them; hold official positions in them, and devote much of my time, often at personal inconvenience, to their development, but I am opposed to the manner of their dissemination, and disgusted at the arrogance of many of their members; particularly at the disrespect manifested by some of the aforesaid members for the Masonic mother that bore them, and gave them the opportunity of decorating themselves in gaudy apparel and styling themselves Knights and Princes. There is not a sincere lover of Freemasonry who has not heard one of these superficial craftsmen express himself about as follows respecting the Lodge: "No doubt, mother, you once were beautiful, and graceful, and attractive, but now you are old, and plain, and sedate; notwithstanding your age, you are hale and active, and seem to enjoy the drudgery of visiting the sick and burying the dead; attending to the poor and relieving their necessities; you are a really good, kind-hearted old lady, but you must not expect us to devote our time to your society; you have not a particle of style about you, and you know style is everything now-a-days."

I have no idea that one of the class of Masons I refer to will ever read this; it would be ridiculous to imagine it; they never read anything about Freemasonry but the invitations to celebrations, and the bills of fare; they go in crowds, like the oysters they are continually in search of, and gain admission, not by tests, but acquaintance, and I must, therefore, content myself with hoping to enlist the favourable opinion of the three degree Masons; those who prefer the simple brother to any high-sounding title.

When Freemasonry took its present speculative form, in 1717, it had not its present organization. It consisted of one degree, and the rank of Fellow Craft and Master could only be obtained at Grand Lodge. Gradually the body of the Craft became Masters, and the Grand Lodge authorized the Lodges to confer the three degrees now known as the Blue or Symbolic. It was not long after the speculation science was put into a system that degrees were added by talented men, who saw an opportunity of earning an honest penny without work. The schism in England, on account of the Royal Arch degree and its subsequent adoption as a legitimate degree, in 1813, is familiar to the well-informed brother. It is well to enquire what the early Masons considered legitimate. In the "Articles of Union," adopted by the two English Grand Lodges, "It is declared and pronounced that pure Ancient Masonry consists of three degrees, and no more, viz.: those of the Entered Apprentice, the Fellow Craft, and the Master Mason, including the Supreme Order of the Holy Royal Arch. But this article is not intended to prevent the Lodge or Chapter from holding a meeting in any of the degrees of the Orders of Chivalry, according to the Constitutions of the said Orders." It will be observed that there are only three degrees recognized.

In Scotland the Grand Lodge recognizes no degrees as Masonic but the three symbolic, and the Mark, although the latter recognition is of recent occurrence. In Germany there are six Grand Lodges, but there is no step or degree recognized as Masonic beyond that of Master. In Norway a rite of nine degrees is worked, but the brethren there are now considering its abandonment and the adoption of the pure, ancient Masonry of three degrees. In Switzerland and Hungary the Craft know nothing about any degrees beyond that of Master Mason. These instances are sufficient to show that les hautes grades are not the acme of Freemasonry.

Digitized by Google

In America the Lodges maintained their right, under the English Constitutions, of conferring the Royal Arch degree and the Order of the Temple, until Thomas Smith Webb taught differently, and originated degrees in sufficient numbers to make separate organizations, and to him the American Mason is indebted for our Chapter and Commandery. With these established, peddlers came around with the Royal and Select degrees, and they, too, became incorporated into the American System, and by the Council organization the honorary degree of Super-Excellent Master has been recognized in some jurisdictions.

We have in America at this time two rites, the so-called York, or American, and the Scottish. A Master Mason is eligible to either. The majority flock to the former, and many of them are members of both; but we occasionally meet a Scottish Rite Mason who is not a Templar There are whisperings now of a change in this respect, which is to make it prerequisite for the fourth degree of the Scottish Rite that a candidate shall be a Templar. As the latter is now the ninth degree, the 33° will become the 42°. In addition to these recognized degrees there are unrecognized ones that are seeking Masonic sanction just as the Cryptic degrees secured it. We have the Royal Order of Scotland, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, Rosicrucians, Order of the Palm and Shell, and—the Masonic Collectors' Association. When these, all but the last, become widely disseminated, why will they not be recognized as others have been? It is irrational to think so? And when they are, what is to follow? Where will be our Freemasonry?

Recently some of our jurisdiction have been invaded by the Rite of Memphis, with 96°, and any number of glorious titles. Can any one show how the Lodge is benefitted by them? Do they not, on the contrary, do us harm? harm, in that they invade our sanctuary and seduce, under the promise of more light in Masonry, the young Craftsman to come up higher (?), and before we can commence to make a Mason out of him he is occupied in taking degrees and, like Oliver Twist, continually crying for more. I would have the Lodge assert its supremacy, its authority as the all in all of Freemasonry, and in a manner so emphatic as to leave no doubt as to its meaning.

In 1874 a certain populous jurisdiction enacted a law that it was un-Masonic for a Lodge of Master Masons to attend the funeral of a brother where the same was not under the control of a Lodge of Master Masons and conducted by it. At the Grand Conclave of the State succeeding the Grand Commander of the Templars so cut and slashed at the "ignorant and narrow-minded bigots" who framed it, that the Grand Lodge graciously revoked its action, and consented to allow the Master Masons to attend a Templar funeral, provided they could enjoy the privilege of depositing in the grave the emblem of immortality and explaining its significance according to the Lodge ritual. "On what meat hath this our Cæsar fed that he hath grown so great?" The Grand Lodge acted as it thought best to maintain harmony, but even the peaceful Quaker will fight when he is required, and it seems to me the time has arrived when the Lodge ought to stand for its rights and dignity. It is now almost impossible for a Lodge to hold a purely Masonic celebration on the natal days of our Patron Saints; the plumed Knights attend the Lodge and vote themselves an invitation to attend, and then monopolize the occasion; a Master Mason sinks into insignificance, and drags himself home, hungry and disgusted, with a vow registered never to be so silly as to act in a similar manner again, but to join the Commandery, where he will receive some civility. The consequence is that as a Master Mason he is seen and known no more.

A circumstance of recent occurrence will serve to show why it is necessary for the Blue Lodge to act for self-preservation. A few years ago I attended the constitution of a Commandery in a city where a prosperous Lodge was the owner of a commodious building. The Orders were eagerly sought after, or to put it differently, the petitions for them were numerous, and the Knights soon held a controlling vote in the lodge. The improvement of the building was then suggested and agreed upon, and the conveniences for the Orders were most prominent in the plans, but when the rental was adjusted the Knightly vote put the expense on the Lodge.

I have seen Sir Knights who were suspended in Lodge and Chapter in the ranks of parading Commanderies, and one Commandery attended the Triennial in Chicago, in 1880, whose Captain General was suspended in one of the lower (?) bodies, which fact the Commandery well knew, but excused its action on the plea that it had received no official notice of the suspension.

It is the invariable practice of Masonic law that a suspension from the Lodge works a suspension in all the succeeding degrees. Masonic intercourse with a suspended Mason is forbidden, and Templar law forbids it. Why is it not enforced? It is not the Order of the Temple that is at fault, but the lax discipline that prevails in its ranks. The Orders are common, easy to obtain, and lightly valued in consequence. The Lodge cannot regulate Masonic chivalry, but it can say we will not hold you in Masonic recognition. A Grand Lodge can specify certain degrees that are Masonic, and can lay down a code for the government of its members. It cannot prevent them from becoming Royal Arch Masons, nor from affiliating with any of the numerous Societies of the country, but it can say you must not disclose to any of them anything of a Masonic character, because none others are Masonic than those designated by us, and any intercourse, as Masons, with any other is positively forbidden.

Is it necessary for the good of the Fraternity that we should have more degrees than the English system recognizes? Of what utility are any more? Do they render the mass of the Fraternity any better Masons? Why should the Lodge, by recognizing these appendages stultify itself with the acknowledgment that it is simply the veriest entrance into the Institution? Chapters, Councils, Commanderies and the Scottish Rite bodies, are all esteemed legitimate, and confer an aggregate of 39 degrees. The Lodge admits that it can give but three, and says to the world, the other 36 can be had elsewhere. The bulk of the Fraternity, not only in America but Europe, is of the three degrees. Why not have Freemasonry uniform, and permit the other degrees, except the Royal Arch, to live or die without Masonic sanction? No landmark of the Craft would be removed; no Masonic pledges violated, and I cannot discern why Master Masons should concern themselves with what affects alone some other organization.

The Masonic pen has been quite active of late in discussing the action of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts respecting the Rite of Memphis; some of the speakers before the Grand Lodge, as well as writers in the Magazines and Correspondence Reports, have suggested that it were consistent for Master Masons to be silent on the subject, and the advice appears to be sensible. A prominent Grand Lodge, some years ago, passed an order which still exists, that the Eastern Star and all other so-called side degrees were illegitimate and should not be conferred in Masonic Halls. Now, in the metropolis of this same Grand Jurisdiction the Templars and Princes meet in the Masonic Temple and welcome caravans of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, who have come from distant points in the desert to witness the conferring of this new side degree. It may be contended that this Ancient (?) Arabic Order is not a Masonic degree; be it or not, the fact is no one is eligible to receive it unless he be a Templar or 32°; and the Grand Lodge of this same State has, in its constitution, forbidden its Lodges to meet in a room in which a non-Masonic body holds its meetings.

The fact is, Master Masons have been persuaded by the top-lofty ones into giving them recognition and standing; these secured, they ignore all regulations of the Craft that do not suit them, and, if necessary, pack the Grand Lodge and mould the legislation. Why should this state of affairs continue? Why should not the Lodge assert its equality, at least with these outgrowths and cause them to respect its authority as PARENT?

ROYAL ORDER OF SCOTLAND.

A PROVINCIAL Grand Lodge and Chapter of this Order was held on Saturday, the 3rd of November, at the Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester, at one o'clock in the afternoon. Present—Brothers R. H. Hutchinson Prov.G.M., J. Gibb Smith D.P.G.M., C. F. Matier P.D.P.G.M, G. P. Brockbank P.D.P.G.M and P.G.Treas., J. F. Hoffgaard P.S.G.W., John Chadwick P.G.Sec., W. J. Thomson P.G.S.B., T. C. Thorburn P.G.M., W. Nichol P.G.C., J. M. Bentley P.G.O., J. D. Murray P.G.G., J. M. Kerr P.G.S., Hugh Macintosh, James Wilson, C. L. Lane, Robert Mc D. Smith P.P.S.G.W. P.P.G.S.B., G. McKay P.P.S.G.W., G. W. Weldon P.P.G.P., W. J. Cunliffe, Edwards, Cairns, Jefferies, W. Jaffrey, Sly Guarder. Grand Lodge and Chapter opened in due form, after which a ballot was taken for Bro. Charles Letch Mason P.G. Mark Mason of West Yorkshire, who was declared duly elected. Apologies were received from several officers and other members. The ceremony of advancement to the degree of H.R.M. and promotion to the R.S.Y.C.S. was rehearsed by the D.P.G. Master and the P.G. Wardens, ably assisted by their old colleague Bro. C. F. Matier, who was very cordially welcomed on his re-appearance amongst the brethren, his engagements having prevented his attending several of the recent meetings. Arrangements were made for holding the next meeting, and the Grand Lodge and Chapter was closed in peace and harmony.

THE ITALIAN FREEMASONS AND INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION.

DURING the recent visit of Mr. Henry Richard, M.P., to Italy, a Deputation of Freemasons, headed by Count Braniforti, waited upon him, at Milan, to present him with an address from their Brotherhood, congratulating him upon the success of his labours, at various times, on the Continent of Europe, to popularise the movement for International Arbitration. In the address they described this pacific reform as "the most pure manifestation of the Masonic idea," and added that "human brotherhood, which is the true protector of justice, constitutes for you, as for us, a part of the religion to which we have dedicated our life." Mr. Richard gratefully acknowledged, in his reply to the Deputation, his sense of the value of the very important co-operation of such a powerful body as the Freemasons, both in Italy and other lands, in the great cause of International Arbitration and Peace. The active sympathy of such an influential Brotherhood was in the highest degree encouraging to himself and his colleagues of the English Peace Society.

A meeting of the Royal Union Lodge of Instruction, No. 382, will be held on Monday next, the 12th inst., at the Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge, at 8.30 p.m. precisely. There will be some special business brought before the meeting on this occasion, and the Installation ceremony will be rehearsed by Bro. C. Andrews P.M. 77, 299, 615, 1464.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS can be confidently recommended as a domestic remedy for the ailments of all classes and conditions of people. Young and old of both sexes may take this medicine with the certainty of deriving benefit from its use, when disorder or disease is making them miserable. Holloway's Pills are unrivalled for their purifying, aperient, and strengthening properties. They remove indigestion, relieve flatulency, and headache, and are specially serviceable in complaints peculiar to females. Each box is wrapped with explicit directions for the guidance of invalids, who will readily understand, from carefully studying them, the best way of recovering health. Holloway's Pills will work a thorough change in the constitutions of the weak and nervous.

Digitized by Google

THE IMPERIAL HOTEL,

HOLBORN VIADUCT, LONDON,

Adjoining the Terminus of the London Chatham and Dover Railway, but distinct from the Viaduct Hotel.

THE BEST FURNISHED AND MOST COMFORTABLE HOTEL IN LONDON.
HOT & COLD WATER LAID ON IN ALL BED ROOMS.
The appointments throughout so arranged as to ensure domestic comfort.
EVERY ACCOMMODATION FOR MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS,
Public Dinners & Wedding Breakfasts.

The Crusaders Lodge, No. 1677, and Perseverance Lodge, No. 1743, hold their meetings at this establishment.

GOOD COOKING. FINE WINES. MODERATE CHARGES.
The Edison Electric Light.
TARIFF on APPLICATION to Bro. A. BEGBIE.

HOLLY BUSH TAVERN, HAMPSTEAD,

(Close to the Fire Station).

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; BALLS and ASSEMBLIES; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c. Rail and Bus within easy distance.

The members of the St. John's Lodge, No. 167, have held their meetings at this establishment for many years.

Full particulars and Tariff on application to
C. M. FROUD, Proprietor.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL SPECIAL BUILDING FUND.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

In connection with such Special Fund, attainable until 31st December 1883.

ny present Life Governor of the General Fund, or any Donor who ay qualify as such up to the date named above, will receive—

TWO VOTES,—instead of One Vote, for LIFE, for every FIVE GUINEAS contributed to the "Special Fund."

Lodges, Chapters, &c., similarly qualified may secure Two Votes instead of One Vote—for every Ten Guineas contributed to the "Special Fund."

 Ladies, and "Lewises"—being minors—similarly qualified, and all Vice-Presidents, will receive FOUR Votes for every Five Guineas so contributed.

Contributors of less than Five Guineas, to the "Special Fund," will be entitled to Votes as under ordinary conditions.

WANTED.—Tracing Boards for the Craft degrees; size about 3 ft. by 2 ft. Apply, with price and particulars, to GEORGE L. SHACKLES, 7 Land of Green Ginger, Hull.

Now Ready, Crown 8vo, 96 pp,

Price One Shilling,

Free by Post on receipt of 24 Halfpenny Stamps,

OCCASIONAL PAPERS
ON
THE HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.

Written expressly for delivery in Lodges of Instruction.

London: W. W. MORGAN,
Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N.

Brother C. G. SPARROW,
ACCOUNTANT AND AUDITOR,
17 FINSBURY PAVEMENT, E.C.

Accounts audited periodically at a moderate annual charge
Terms on application.

PAUL & BURROWS,

MANUFACTURERS OF
SODA WATER AND SELTZER WATER,
LEMONADE AND GINGER BEER,
GINGER ALE AND POTASH WATER,
&c. &c.
FIRST CLASS QUALITY ONLY.
WILSON and ENDELL STREETS, LONG ACRE, LONDON, W.C.
ESTABLISHED EIGHTY YEARS.

BRO. R. HIRST engages to provide, at short notice, an efficient Band for Annual Banquets, Dinners, Excursions and Quadrille Parties. For terms apply to "R. Hirst, The Three Crowns, 237 Mile End Road, E."

Twelfth Edition, post free, One Shilling.

DR. WATTS on ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS. A Treatise on the only successful Method of Curing these Diseases. By Robert G. Watts, M.D., F.R.S.L., F.C.S., &c., 5 Bulstrode-street, Cavendish-sq., London.
London: C. Mitchell and Co., Red Lion-court, Fleet-street; and Simpkin and Co., Stationers' Hall-court

Emulation Lodge of Improvement.

UNDER THE SANCTION OF THE LODGE OF UNIONS.

No. 256.

Stewards:

Bro. THOMAS FENN P.G.D. Treasurer.

Bro. E. Almack 1768
J. R. Anderson J.W. 18
J. J. Black 1564
G. Brown P.M. 140
H. Bue J.W. 1820 Sec. 1965
F. T. Bennett 211
Col. S. H. Clerke G. Secretary
*W. A. Dawson P.M. 1768
G. Drysdale P.M. 222
H. J. P. Dumas P.G.D.
R. R. Davis P.M. 256
A. Escott P.M. 1593
A. Fyson 1768
Robert Grey P.G.D. [Herts
H. C. Heard P.M. 449 P.P.J.D.
E. B. Holloway P.M. 108
A. Heyes 1567
J. R. Jones J.W. 1768
W. H. Johnston S.D. 1925
J. W. Jones G.S.
W. G. Kentish P.M. 1293
C. Lowther Kemp 63 and S.W. 1924
Bro. P. de L. Long P.G.D.
G. F. Marshall S.D. 69
A. Marvin W.M. 1768
E. M. Money J.W. 28
C. A. Murton P.G.D.
J. H. Matthews P.D.G.D. Bengal
T. W Ockenden S.W. 1768
F. W. Prior 90
G. C. Pulsford W.M. 1593
H. Pritchard J.D. 1415
*A. A. Richards P.G.S. P.M 8 P.P.G.J.W. Middlesex
J. A. Rucker P.G.D.
A. C. Spaull P.M. 1768
*F. R. Spaull P.M. 1124, Sec.
W. H. Spaull P.G.S. N. Wales
*R. C. Sudlow P.M. 1965 [& Salop
S. W. Shaw W.M. 1965
W. Smallpeice P.M. 1395
J. T. Tanqueray S.W. 1965
E. L. Walford 905
S. B. Wilson P.M. 69

THE ANNUAL FESTIVAL

OF THE LODGE WILL TAKE PLACE AT

FREEMASONS' HALL,

On Friday Evening, 23rd November 1883,

ON WHICH OCCASION

R.W. Bro. The Hon. Mr. Justice Prinsep,
DISTRICT GRAND MASTER OF BENGAL,
Has kindly consented to preside.

THE LODGE WILL BE OPENED AT SIX O'CLOCK P.M. PRECISELY.

The second lecture will be worked :—

1st Section	... ...	By Bro. F. T. Bennett 211.
2nd ,,	... ...	J. T. Tanqueray S.W. 1965.
3rd ,,	... ...	A. Marvin W.M. 1768.
4th ,,	... ...	J. J. Black 1564.
5th ,,	... ...	G. F. Marshall S.D. 69

TICKETS for the SUPPER, 4s each, may be had of the STEWARDS, or of the SECRETARY.

F. R. SPAULL, Secretary,
29 Hammersmith Road, W.

N.B.—The Emulation Lodge of Improvement meets at Freemasons' Hall, on every Friday evening throughout the year, at seven o'clock.

HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.

(Continued from page 281.)

AMONG the instances cited of the Concours, is that which occurred in Marseilles in 1808, between the locksmiths (Sons of Jacques) and the locksmiths (Sons of Solomon). The former entrusted their c use to a Dauphiné, the latter to a Lyonnais, who were locked up in their several rooms under the guardianship of their rivals, having nothing else passed into them but their food and the necessary implements. After the lapse of several months, the competitors were released, when the Dauphiné's lock was found to be beautiful, and the key still more so, while the Lyonnais was found to have devoted his time to the manufacture of the several implements for fashioning a most complicated lock, but the lock itself had not even been commenced. The latter was accused of treachery, left the town, and was never heard of afterwards. Of the other method of settling the Concours, namely, by a fight, we are told the most memorable instance is the battle fought on the plains of La Crau, between Arles and Salon, in Provence, between the Sons of Solomon on the one part, and the Sons of Jacques and Soubise on the other, the original parties to the quarrel being the stonemasons, joiners, and locksmiths only. Even firearms were used; the number of killed was very large, and the military had the greatest difficulty in restoring order. As to other matters, we are told that the Sons of Solomon admit workmen of every religious creed to the Companionage, while those of Jacques and Soubise restrict membership to Roman Catholics. It further appears that in the case of the last two, a Companion on becoming a Master resigns his membership, a general assembly, at which a demit or certificate of honourable conduct during membership is granted, being held, but the Sons of Solomon never resign membership. This completes the sketch of the features, distinctive or in common, of the several sub-divisions of the Companionage, as derived by Bro. Gould principally from the work of Perdiguier. That it is a most interesting sketch even those who have been at the pains of following us will admit.

Digitized by Google

In subsequent pages we have described to us some idea of the ceremonies of the societies of Maître Jacques, for which, it seems, we are indebted to the apostasy of the Shoemakers, which took place between 1648 and 1651, or rather prior to the former of the two years mentioned, the climax of the apostasy belonging to the period itself. A Companion Shoemaker, of a religious turn of mind, took offence at some of the more questionable practices of his fellows, and abjured them. He next instituted a body of lay brothers, composed of journeymen shoemakers, adopted a particular dress, and enjoined on his fellows to enter the various shops of the craft, and, by instruction and good example, to reform the manners of their folk. They called themselves Brothers of St. Crispin, and obtained ecclesiastical authority for their proceedings. The result of all this was, that in 1648 the Municipality of Paris interdicted the assemblies. The ecclesiastical law was also brought to bear upon the Companionage Societies, and more revelations, followed by renewed attacks from the clergy, were the consequence. The Bailli of the Temple, a separate jurisdiction, in which in 1648 they had taken refuge, expelled them, in consequence of a riot they caused, and though many of the Societies refused to follow the example thus set, others were less scrupulous, and divulged their secrets. The proceedings, ceremonies, and the views of the Church on the question, as delineated in Bro. Gould's work, are derived "from three documents attached to an agreement, made the 21st September 1571, between the Shoemakers and Cobblers of Rheims," the date of the documents being, however, much more recent than that of the agreement. The first of the three gives a "Summary of the impious, sacrilegious, and superstitious practices which take place among the Companions—Sadlers, Shoemakers, Tailors, Cutlers, and Hatters, when they admit one a Companion of the Charge (du devoir), as they call it." For the details of this Summary we must refer our readers to the pages of the work itself. The second of the three documents contains the "Resolutions of the Doctors on the above questions," and is to the following effect:—"We, the undersigned doctors in the sacred faculty of theology at Paris, are of opinion—1st. That these practices combine the sins of sacrilege, impurity, and blasphemy against the mysteries of our religion. 2d. That the oath which they take, not to reveal these practices, even in confession, is neither good nor valid, and is not obligatory on them; on the contrary, they are bound to accuse themselves of these crimes, and of this oath, at confession. 3d. In case this evil continues, and they are not otherwise able to remedy it, they are bound in conscience to declare these practices to the ecclesiastical judges, and even, if need be, to the secular, who will be able to remedy it. 4th. That the Companions who cause themselves to be received in the above form may not, without mortal sin, use the watch-word, in order to recognise each other as Companions, and engage in the evil practices of this Companionage. 5th. That those who are of the Companionage are not in surety of conscience so long as they are desirous of continuing their bad practices, which they ought to renounce. 6th. That the journeymen who are not of the Companionage cannot enter it without mortal sin. Deliberated at Paris the 14th day of March, 1655. Signed. I. Charton, Morel, N. Cornet, J. Quoquerel, M. Grandin, Grenet, C. Gobinet, I. Peron, Chamillard, M. Chamillard." The third of the documents is headed "Observations on the above Practices and Resolutions," but is given in part only. Enough, however, is quoted for the purposes of the reader.

In the next section of this Chapter, Bro. Gould, after referring to the charcoal burners, and having enumerated certain postulates, with a view to ascertaining if it is possible to form an independent judgment, goes on to hazard sundry conjectures, which, however, when taken together, he is careful to point out, though not constituting an "unassailable" theory, make one which is in agreement with the facts that have come down to us. As to the Hiramic legend, he combats the statement by Perdiguier, that the Companionage derived it from Freemasonry. Perdiguier says—"As to this history of Hiram's, I regard it as a mere fable, ingenious enough, but of which the consequences are horrible; for it tends to separate those who take it seriously. The Bible—the only book of any real authority concerning the constructors of Solomon's Temple—says nothing about Hiram's murder; and, for my part, I do not believe it. The Compagnons étrangers and those of Liberty have no authentic details of this fable, which is quite new to them, and I fancy that the Companions of the other Societies are not more advanced. I look upon it, therefore, in the light of a Masonic invention, introduced into the Companionage by persons initiated into both of these Secret Societies. Freemasonry, according to the most zealous historians—and M. Bazot is of the number—was only introduced into France in 1715. The Companionage is indisputably anterior; nevertheless, from the day it was introduced into this country, our Companions frequented it, and found in its bosom useful truths, but also numerous errors." As regards the view thus expressed, we agree with Bro. Gould that Perdiguier, though generally worthy of credence, has jumped to an illogical conclusion; for the grounds on which he bases this belief, we refer our readers to pp 242-3, as well as for the supposed affinity between our Masonic term Lewis and the Companionage use of the nickname "Wolf"—loup, a Companion's sons being called Louveteaux, or little wolves. All this will be found most interesting, as well as what follows respecting the personality of Maître Jacques. So, too, are the coincidences traceable both in the Masonic and Companionage systems, which are as follow, and which, as the author suggests, are well worthy of attention:

"1. 'Sons of Solomon' certainly reminds us in general terms of our own fraternity. 2. Compagnons de Liberté, free companions of *Free*masons. 3. Devoir is a literal translation of our English Charge, and the documents appear to be very similar in form. 4. 'General Assembly' is a term common to both societies. 5. Accepted Companion and Initiated Companion sound strangely familiar. 6. Passed Companion presents a remarkable coincidence with our own expression. 7. The identity of idea and expression between the Lewis and the Louveteau can scarcely be a mere chance coincidence.

"The above are similarities of expression and phraseology; let us now pass on to those of procedure preparatory to initiation. In both societies we find—

"8. A previous inquiry into the candidate's character. 9. An absence of compulsion, and a perfect freedom of choice. 10. A preliminary exposition of the general tendency of the Society. 11. Perfect liberty to withdraw up to the last possible moment. 12. Sponsors, represented in Freemasonry by the proposer and seconder.

"As regards the government of the societies, it will have been observed that—

"13. Each particular society was thoroughly independent, but welded into uniformity with the other societies by the various charges. Previously to 1717 this was generally the status of Freemasonry. 14. Each society exercised the powers of petty justice over its own members.

"15. Punishments took the form of fines, and, in grave cases, of expulsion.

"16. Amongst the Sons of Solomon there was a perfect equality of membership. 17. All the members took part in the election of officers. 18. Every Companion was eligible for office.

"19. The officers were a president, elders, and secretary. If we regard the president as Master, and the elders as Wardens, the exact counterpart is met with in the three principal officers of a Freemason's Lodge. The Steinmetzen had only one Warden, the Companions evidently had more."

Other coincidences are pointed out in respect of "the acknowledged principles of the two institutions," "the Ceremonies," &c., &c., which it would occupy too much space to reproduce, more especially as they appear to us to be of secondary importance compared with those we have quoted. But without pausing to weigh the comparative merits of the different coincidences which Bro. Gould has noted, and having given them our best consideration, we are unable to lean towards the opinion which has evidently found favour with him, that Freemasonry is, in any way, indebted for its origin to the Companionage. The coincidences are most remarkable, but a large number of them are common to all societies, while the others are most probably fortuitous. We concede that Bro. Gould did quite right to include a study of the Compagnonnage in the introductory portion of his history, but as yet we have, in spite of his searching inquisition, failed to trace a connection between it and the Craft of Masonry. At a events, the completion of this Chapter brings us to the close of the First Volume of his able work, and for the present, therefore, we may claim leave to rest from the labour of further reviewing the volumes that have been already published.

Digitized by Google

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:o:—

Justice Lodge of Instruction, No. 147.—A meeting was held on Thursday, 8th instant, at the Brown Bear, High-street, Deptford. Bros. J. W. Freeman W.M., Banks S.W., H. C. Freeman J.W., S. R. Speight P.M. Secretary, Penrose J. D., Ingram I.G.; P.M.'s Hutchings (Preceptor), Geo. Bolton, and Bros. Sanderson and Williams. Lodge was opened, and the minutes of previous meeting were confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was then rehearsed, Bro. Penrose personating the candidate. Lodge was opened in the second, and the ceremony of passing rehearsed, Bro. Sanderson being the candidate. Lodge was further advanced, and the ceremony of the third degree was rehearsed, Bro Williams candidate. The whole of the ceremonies were effectively rendered by the W.M. Bro. Freeman will have to undertake the same work in his mother Lodge on Wednesday next, the 14th inst. Brethren residing in the neighbourhood are most cordially invited to attend this Lodge of Instruction.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—On Friday, 2nd inst., at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge. Present—Bros. C. Andrews Preceptor W.M., Maton S.W., F. Botley J.W., C. E. Botley S.D., Moxon J.D., Sperring I.G.; also Bros. Sugg P.M., Gunner W.M. 780, S. Blasby, Treadaway, F. Smee (Camden Lodge, No. 704). After full observance of ceremonial, the ceremony of the third degree was rehearsed, Bro. Sugg being candidate. Closed in the third, and resumed to the first degree, when the W.M. vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Gunner, who rehearsed the ceremony of initiation, Bro. S. Blasby candidate. The W.M. then resumed the chair. The Secretary announced that Bro. James Terry, Secretary of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, had consented to rehearse the ceremonies of consecration and installation, on 23rd of November. It was afterwards decided to hold the annual dinner on 16th November. Bro. C. Maton was elected W.M. for the next meeting. Lodge was then closed, and adjourned until the 9th inst., at eight o'clock.

Eccleston Lodge of Instruction, No. 1624.—On Saturday evening, 3rd inst., Bro. James Stevens P.M. P.Z., &c. gave his highly interesting and instructive lecture on the First Degree in Freemasonry, at the King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, to a large assemblage of brethren, in this popular Lodge of Instruction. The Chair of W.M. was occupied by Bro. D. H. McLeod P.M. 1624, Preceptor of the Lodge, supported by Bro. Edward Powell P.M. 1624 as S.W., and Bro. R. Bottle J.W. 1624 as J.W. The Lodge having been duly opened in the first degree, the W.M. in a few words introduced Bro. James Stevens to the brethren. After some introductory remarks on the desirability of unity of working the ceremonials of the Craft, and referring to efforts which had been made during a number of years for the attainment of that end, Bro. Stevens proceeded with his lecture. Commencing with the opening of the Lodge, he continued through the whole ceremony of initiation, explaining in a clear and lucid manner many points of interest, showing divergencies in various rituals as practised by Lodges in different parts of the country, and giving good and substantial reasons for correcting fallacies therein. The able and eloquent lecturer was listened to with rapt attention for a space of two hours by an appreciative and delighted audience. At the conclusion of the lecture Bro. J. C. Flattely P.M. 1624 proposed a most cordial vote of thanks to Bro. James Stevens for his interesting lecture, and that he be elected an honorary member of the Lodge of Instruction. In doing so he expressed the satisfaction and delight of the brethren in listening to the lecture. He was happy to find that the working of Eccleston Lodge was very little at variance with the lecturer's ideas, but only in minor matters of detail, to which serious importance could not be attached. Bro. W. Vincent P.M. 1624 seconded the resolution, expressing a general concurrence in the remarks of the proposer. The resolution having been carried by acclamation, the W.M. took occasion to thank Bro. Stevens, on behalf of all the brethren, for his services. As Preceptor of the Lodge he was gratified to find that the Eccleston working was so near perfection in the eyes of such a distinguished brother. Although he could not fall in with all his views on minor points, yet he was prepared to give consideration to such as would certainly tend to correct fallacies that may have crept in, without radically affecting the system of working that had been adopted by the Lodge since its foundation. Bro. Stevens briefly thanked the brethren for their attention during the lecture, and the compliments paid him by the foregoing speakers, and expressed his willingness to repeat the lecture in any Lodge or Lodge of Instruction, whether in or out of London, to any desirous of hearing it. This Lodge meets every Saturday evening, at 7 o'clock, at the King's Head, Ebury Bridge; brethren are invited.

Kingsland Lodge of Instruction, No. 1693.—A meeting was held on Wednesday last, at Bro. Baker's, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N. Bros. Trick W.M., Western S.W., Galer J.W., Collingridge Sec., Dixie S.D., Brock J.D., Cusworth P.M. Acting Preceptor, Treadwell I.G., and other brethren. The work comprised the rehearsal of the ceremony of initiation, Bro. Rhodes acting as candidate. Bro. Goddard, candidate for passing, answered the usual questions. The Lodge was opened in the second, and the ceremony was rehearsed. Lodge was closed and adjourned till Monday, 22nd Nov., at 8·30.

New Finsbury Park Lodge of Instruction, No. 1695.—At the weekly meeting on Tuesday, the 6th instant, Bros. Follett W.M., Hare S.W., Hilditch J.W., Berry Secretary, Davies Preceptor, Smethurst S.D., Haynes I.G.; also Bros. Stead, Mallett, Morris, Russell, Lewis, and Fetch. After preliminaries, the ceremony of raising was rehearsed. The first section of the third lecture was then worked by Bro. G. Morris. Bro. Hall having been elected W.M. for the next meeting, and all business being ended, the Lodge was closed in perfect harmony.

Brixton Lodge of Instruction, No. 1949.—The usual weekly meeting was held on Tuesday evening, the 6th inst., at the Prince Regent Hotel (Bro. Monk's), Dulwich-road, East Brixton, when there was a good attendance of brethren to witness the ceremony of installation rehearsed by the worthy and esteemed Preceptor Bro. E. A. Francis. Bro. Francis as W.M. was supported by the following brethren—Bros. C. H. Phillips S.W., G. W. Knight J.W., Thos. Poore P.M. as I.P.M., Henry M. Williams Secretary, A. E. Albert S.D., A. Jones J.D., G. C. Banks I.G.; also Bros. James Stevens P.M. 1426, Henry Lovegrove P.M. 1949, A. Storr P.M. 1618, H. Hooper, Rd. Poore, P. M. Hakim, S. Richardson, F. Hill, W. Millen, H. Taylor, G. Brotheridge. Lodge was opened in due form, and the Secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting which were unanimously confirmed. Lodge was opened in the second degree, and Bro. Richard Poore, as Master of the Ceremonies, presented Bro. Richardson as Worshipful Master elect, and Bro. Francis as Installing Master proceeded with and completed the ceremony of Installation (excepting that portion relating to the Board of Installed Masters). Bro. Richardson W.M. appointed as his Officers the brethren before mentioned. Bro. Williams Sec. efficiently acted as Organist, accompanying the various portions of the evening's work with very appropriate harmonies. A cordial vote of thanks was unanimously passed to Bro. Francis for the very efficient manner in which he had rehearsed the Installation ceremony, and further for his valuable services to the lodge as Preceptor. Bro. Francis thanked the brethren for the vote of thanks, and said their regular attendance showed their appreciation of his work as Preceptor, and it was a great source of satisfaction to him, and most encouraging to the permanent Officers of the Lodge. Bro. Phillips was elected W.M. for the ensuing week, and appointed officers in rotation. After "hearty good wishes" from the brethren, Lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned to the following Tuesday at 8 o'clock p.m.

This being the 1st Tuesday of the month, the monthly meeting of the Benevolent Association was held, after the Lodge of Instruction as above was closed. The President (Bro. Francis) in the chair, the Secretary (Bro. Hooper) read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were duly passed. Bro. Richardson Treasurer announced he had funds in hand to provide for three Ballots of £5 5s each. These were afterwards taken by Bros. W. Hopekirk W.M. 1986, H. Taylor 177, G. Manning 177. A vote of thanks to the President closed the proceedings. With the above £15 15s the Association has sent up to the Masonic Charities £105 in about six months. This is surely an example, which it is desirable many other Lodges of Instruction should follow, to say nothing of regular Craft Lodges and Chapters. By a small regular payment weekly or monthly, all Masons might become, in a few years, Life Subscribers or Governors of all, or at least one, of our Charities, and almost without any special effort or material detriment to their other responsibilities.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

IT IS THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE PRESENT CENTURY.

It is the best known remedy for COUGHS, CONSUMPTION, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, and ASTHMA.

It effectually checks and arrests these too often fatal Diseases—DIPHTHERIA, DIABETES, FEVER, CROUP, AGUE, &c.

It acts like a charm in DIARRHŒA, and is the only known Specific in CHOLERA and DYSENTERY.

It effectually cuts short all attacks of EPILEPSY, HYSTERIA, PALPITATION, CONVULSIONS and SPASMS.

It is the only Palliative in RHEUMATISM, GOUT, CANCER, TOOTHACHE, MENINGITIS, &c.

It rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause allays the irritation of Fever, soothes and strengthens the system under exhaustive diseases, restores the deranged functions, stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, gives quiet and refreshing sleep, and marvelously prolongs life. It may be taken by old and young at all hours and times.

It is extensively used by Medical Men in their official and private practice, at home and abroad, who have given numerous written testimonials of its wonderful efficacy.

SOLD BY

Chemists and Patent Medicine Dealers all over the world, in bottles 1s 1½d; 2 oz. 2s 9d; 4 oz. 4s 6d; half-pints 11s; and pints 20s each, and by the Inventor, RICHARD FREEMAN, 70 Kennington Park Road, London, S.E. Free by post. Purchasers are CAUTIONED not to have palmed upon them any substitute. See that the Trade Mark, "THE ELEPHANT," is on the wrapper, &c., and the words "FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYN" are engraved on the Government Stamp—which is the only TRUE CHLORODYNE.

Digitized by Google

DIARY FOR THE WEEK.

We shall be obliged if the Secretaries of the various Lodges throughout the Kingdom will favour us with a list of their Days of Meetings, &c., as we have decided to insert only those that are verified by the Officers of the several Lodges.

—:o:—

SATURDAY, 10th NOVEMBER.

108—London, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street
173—Phœnix, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
198—Percy, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., at 8 (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1328—Granite, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7 (Instruction)
1426—The Great City, Cannon Street Hotel
1446—Mount Edgcumbe, Bridge House Hotel, Battersea
1584—Loyalty and Charity, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge
1607—Loyalty, London Tavern, Fenchurch Street
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1686—Paxton, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1743—Perseverance, Imperial Hotel, Holborn Viaduct
1839—Duke of Cornwall, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1964—Clerkenwell, Holborn Viaduct Hotel, E.C.
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-st., W., at 8
R.A. 1185—Lewis, King's Arms Hotel, Wood Green
M.M. 234—Brixton, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.

308—Prince George, Private Rooms, Bottoms, Eastwood
R.C. 43—Eureka, Masonic Rooms, Pavilion, Brighton

MONDAY, 12th NOVEMBER.

5—St. George's and Corner Stone, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
22—Loughborough, Cambria Tavern, Cambria Road, near Loughborough Junction, at 7.30. (Instruction)
45—Strong Man, Excise Tavern, Old Broad Street, E.C., at 7 (Instruction)
58—Felicity, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street
59—Royal Naval, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
90—St. John, Albion, Aldersgate-street, E.C.
174—Sincerity, Railway Tavern, Railway Place, Fenchurch Street, at 7. (In)
180—St. James's Union, Union Tavern, Air-street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
186—Industry, Bell, Carter-lane, Doctors-commons, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
193—Confidence, Anderton's Fleet-street, E.C.
223—St. Andrews, 101 Queen Victoria-street
548—Wellington, White Swan, High-street, Deptford, at 8 (Instruction)
1237—Enfield, Market-place, Enfield
1366—Highgate, Gatehouse Hotel, Highgate
1425—Hyde Park, Fountain Abbey Hotel, Praed Street, Paddington, at 8 (In).
1489—Marquess of Ripon, Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-rd., Hackney, at 7.30 (In)
1507—Metropolitan, The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C., at 7.30 (Inst.)
1571—Leopold, Gregorian Arms, Bermondsey
1585—Royal Commemoration, Fox and Hounds, Putney, at 8. (Instruction)
1608—Kilburn, 46 South Molton Street, Oxford Street, W., at 8. (Inst.)
1623—West Smithfield, Farringdon Hotel, Farringdon-street, E.C. at 8 (Inst.)
1625—Tredegar, Royal Hotel Mile End Road, corner of Burdett Road. (Inst).
1657—Aldersgate, Castle and Falcon, Aldersgate-street, E.C.
1670—Adelphi, 4 Adelphi Terrace, Strand
1693—Kingsland, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N., at 8.30 (Instruction)
1789—Ubique, Masonic Hall, Air-street, W.
1805—Bromley St. Leonard, Vestry Hall, Bow-road, Bromley
1891—St. Ambrose, Baron's Court Hotel, West Kensington. (Instruction)
R.A. 720—Panmure, Horns Tavern, Kennington
R.A. 862—Whittington, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
R.A. 933—Doric, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 7. (Instruction)
R.A. 1537—St. Peter Westminster, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
K.T. 140—Studholme, Masonic Hall, Golden-square

40—Derwent, Castle Hotel, Hastings
61—Probity, Freemason's Hall, St. John's-place, Halifax
75—Love and Honour, Royal Hotel, Falmouth
104—St. John, Ashton House, Greek-street, Stockport
151—Albany, Masonic Hall, Newport, I.W.
240—St. Hilda, Freemasons' Hall, Fowler-street, South Shields
262—Salopian, the Lion Hotel, Shrewsbury
264—Nelson of the Nile, Freemasons' Hall, Batley
292—Sincerity, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
296—Royal Brunswick, Freemasons' Hall, Surrey-street, Sheffield
297—Witham, New Masonic Hall, Lincoln
302—Hope, New Masonic Hall, Darley-street, Bradford
307—Prince Frederick, White Horse Hotel, Hebden Bridge
382—Royal Union, Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge. (Instruction)
408—Three Graces, Private Rooms, Haworth
411—Commercial, Flying Horse Hotel, Nottingham
467—Tudor, Red Lion Hotel, Oldham
481—St. Peter, Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle
502—Rectitude, Town Hall, Rugby
587—Howe, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
589—Druids of Love and Liberality, Masonic Hall, Redruth
613—Unity, Masonic Hall, Southport
665—Montague, Royal Lion, Lyme Regis
721—Independence, Masonic Chambers, Eastgate-row-north, Chester
724—Derby, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
787—Hanley, Hanley Hall, Dartmouth
893—Meridian, National School Room, Millbrook, Cornwall
949—Williamson, St. Stephen School, Monkwearmouth, Durham
1021—Hartington, Masonic Hall, Custom House Buildings, Barrow-in-Furness
1069—United Brothers, Castle Hotel, Southsea
1174—Pentangle, Sun Hotel, Chatham
1221—Defence, Masonic Hall, Carlton-hill, Leeds
1253—Travellers, Queen's Hotel, Manchester
1360—Fermor Hesketh, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1436—Sandgate, Masonic Hall, Sandgate
1449—Royal Military, Masonic Hall, Canterbury
1474—Israel, Masonic Hall, Severn-street, Birmingham
1542—Legiolium, Masonic Hall, Carlton-street, Castleford
1575—Clive, Corbet Arms, Market Drayton
1592—Abbey, Suffolk Hotel, Bury St. Edmunds
1611—Eboracum, Queen's Hotel, Micklegate, York
1618—Handyside, Zetland Hotel, Saltburn-by-Sea
1790—Old England, Masonic Hall, New Thornton Heath
R.A. 89—Royal Cheshire, Ashley's Arms, Eukinfield
R.A. 100—Friendship Crown and Cushion, Great Yarmouth
R.A. 118—Elias Ashmole, Chapter Rooms, Warrington
R.A. 306—Alfred, Masonic Hall, Kelsall-street, Leeds
R.A. 379—Trinity, Masonic Hall, Old Orchard Street, Bath
R.A. 422—All Saint's, Masonic Hall, Gainsborough
R.A. 827—St. John, Masonic Temple, Halifax-road, Dewsbury
R.A. 1258—Kennard, Masonic Hall, George Street, Pontypool
M.M.—Egerton, Royal Rock Hotel, Rock Ferry, Cheshire.
M.M. 9—Fortescue, Masonic Hall, South Molton, Devon
R.C.—Walton, Skelmersdale Masonic Hall, Kirkdale, Liverpool

TUESDAY, 13th NOVEMBER.

15—Kent, Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street
46—Old Union, Holborn Viaduct Hotel
55—Constitutional, Bedford Hotel, Southampton-bldgs., Holborn, at 7 (Inst)
65—Prosperity, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7. (Instruction)
96—Burlington, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate street
141—Faith, Queen Anne's Restaurant, Queen Anne's Gate, St. James's Park Station, at 8. (Instruction)
177—Doffatic, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30 (Instruction)
180—St. James's Union, Freemasons' Hall, W.C
188—Joppa, Champion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, at 7.30. (Instruction)
198—Percy, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street, E.C.
211—St. Michael, Albion, Aldersgate-street, E.C.
228—United Strength, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, City
235—Nine Muses, Willis's Rooms, St. James's
548—Wellington, White Swan, Deptford
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney (Instruction)
753—Prince Frederick William, Eagle Tavern, Clifton Road, Maida Hill, at 8 (Instruction)
820—Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond, at 7.30 (Instruction)
880—Dalhousie, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston at, 8 (Instruction)
917—Cosmopolitan, Cannon-street Hotel
933—Doric, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
1044—Wandsworth, Star and Garter Hotel, St. Ann's-hill, Wandsworth (Inst).
1196—Urban, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1349—Friars, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1360—Royal Arthur, Rock Tavern, Battersea Park Road, at 8. (Instruction)
1381—Kennington, The Horns, Kennington. (Instruction)
1446—Mount Edgcumbe, 19 Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8 (Instruction)
1471—Islington, Champion, Aldersgate Street, at 7. (Instruction)
1472—Henley, Three Crowns, North Woolwich (Instruction)
1540—Chaucer, Old White Hart, Borough High Street, at 8. (Instruction)
1558—D. Connaught, Palmerston Arms, Grosvenor Park, Camberwell, at 8 (In)
1593—Royal Naval College, Ship Hotel, Greenwich
1602—Sir Hugh Myddelton, Queen's Head, Essex Road, N., at 8.30 (In)
1604—Wanderers, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1614—Covent Garden, Criterion, Piccadilly
1635—Canterbury, 33 Golden Square, W.
1668—Samson, Regent Masonic Hall, Air-street, W.
1695—New Finsbury Park, Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, at 8 (Inst)
1707—Eleanor, Trocadero, Broad-street-buildings, Liverpool-street, 6.30 (Inst)
1769—Clarendon, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street
1949—Brixton, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, East Brixton, at 8. (Instruction)
1969—Waldeck, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, 6.30
R.A. 255—Iris, Greyhound, Richmond
M.M. 22—Southwark, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark

93—Social, 23 St. Giles Street, Norwich
126—Silent Temple, Cross Keys Inn, Burnley
131—Fortitude, Masonic Hall, Truro
184—United Chatham of Benevolence, Assembly Rooms, Old Brompton, Kent
241—Merchants, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
272—Harmony, Masonic Hall, Main Ridge, Boston
284—Shakespeare, Masonic Rooms, High-street, Warwick
373—Socrates, George Hotel, High-street, Huntingdon
403—Hertford, Town Hall, Hertford
406—Northern Counties, Masonic Hall, Maple Street, Newcastle (Instruct)
473—Faithful, Masonic Hall, New Street, Birmingham
495—Wakefield, Masonic Hall, Zetland Street, Wakefield
503—Belvidere, Star Hotel, Maidenhead
603—Zetland, Royal Hotel, Checkheaton
624—Abbey, Masonic Hall, Union-street, Burton-on-Trent
626—Lansdowne of Unity, Town Hall, Chippenham
666—St. Bartholomew, Anchor Hotel, Wednesbury
726—Staffordshire Knot, North Western Hotel, Stafford
892—Royal Edward, Royal Oak Hotel, Leominster
897—Loyalty, Fleece Inn, St. Helens, Lancashire
903—Gosport, India Arms Hotel, High-street, Gosport
986—Hesketh, Grapes Inn, Croston
1120—St. Milburga, Tontine Hotel, Ironbridge
1214—Scarborough, Scarborough Hall, Caledonia-road, Batley
1250—Gilbert, Masonic Rooms, Sankey Greenhall, Street, Warrington
1314—Acacia, Bell Hotel, Bromley, Kent
1325—Stanley, 214 Great Homer-street, Liverpool, at 8 (Instruction)
1347—Lorne, Greyhound Hotel, Cuckfield, Surrey
1414—Knole, Masonic Hall, Sevenoaks
1461—Ockenden, Talbot Hotel, Sutton, Sussex
1509—Madoc, Queen's Hotel, Portmadoc
1545—Baildon, Masonic Room, Northgate, Baildon
1678—Tonbridge, Masonic Hall, Tonbridge
1713—Wilbraham, Walton Institute, Walton, Liverpool
R.A. 70—St John's, Huyshe Masonic Temple, Princes Street, Plymouth
R.A. 111—Vigilance, Masonic Hall, Archer Street, Darlington
R.A. 285—Judea, Masonic Club, Hanover-street, Keighley
R.A. 289—Fidelity, Masonic Hall, Carlton-hill, Leeds
R.A. 537—Zion, 9 Hamilton Street, Birkenhead
R.A. 680—King Edwin, Freemasons' Hall, Yorkergate, New Walton
R.A. 1055—Derby, Masonic Rooms, Bedford Street, Cheetham, Lancashire
M.M. 6—Adams, Victoria Hall, Trinity-road, Sheerness
M.M. 15—St. George's, Masonic Hall, Gandy Street, Exeter
M.M. 75—Royal Sussex, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
M.M. 152—Dover and Cinque Ports, Royal Oak Hotel, Dover

WEDNESDAY, 14th NOVEMBER.

Committee Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, Freemasons' Hall, at 3
3—Fidelity, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
11—Enoch, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
13—Union, Waterloo, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich
15—Kent, King and Queen, No. , Folgate, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
30—United Mariners', The Lugard, Peckham, at 7.30. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Horse Shoe Inn, Newington Causeway, at 8. (Inst)
87—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth
147—Justice, White Swan, High-street, Deptford
193—Confidence, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, at 7.30 (Instruction)
224—United Strength, Prince Alfred, 13 Crowndale-rd., Camden-town, 8 (In)
538—La Tolerance, Morland's Hotel, Dean Street, Oxford St. at 8 (Inst)
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7 (Instruction)
749—Belgrave, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
781—Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, E.
813—New Concord, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. (Instruction)
862—Whittington, Red Lion, Poppin's-court, Fleet-street, at 8 (Instruction
1278—Burdett Coutts, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel Road, E., at 8. (Inst.)
1288—Finsbury Park, Cock Tavern, Highbury, at 8 (Instruction)
1306—Lodge of St. John, City Arms Tavern, St. Mary Axe
1321—Emblematic, Goat and Star, Swallow Street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
1445—Prince Leopold, Moorgate Tavern, Moorgate Street, at 7 (Instruction)
1475—Peckham, Lord Wellington Hotel, 316 New Kent-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1524—Duke of Connaught, Royal Edward, Mare-street, Hackney, at 8 (Inst)
1601—Wanderers, Adam and Eve Tavern, Palmer-st, Westminster, at 7.30 (In)
1585—Royal Commemoration, Fox and Hounds Hotel, Up. Richmond-rd. S.W.
1682—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow, at 7.30 (Inst.)
1694—Imperial, Cadogan Hotel, Sloane street, Chelsea
1718—Centurion, Imperial Hotel, Holborn-viaduct
1781—Croxton, Prince Albert Tavern, Portobello-gate, Notting-hill-gate (Inst.)
1922—Earl of Lathom, Station Hotel, Camberwell New Road, S.E., at 8. (In.)
1986—Honor Oak, Moore Park Hotel, near Honor Oak Station
R.A.—Camden, The Boston, Junction Road, Holloway, at 8.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 17—Domatic, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-st., at 8 (Instruction)
R.A. 1260—John Hervey, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 1305—St. Marylebone, Langham Hotel, W.
M.M. (T.I.)—Old Kent, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street, E.C.
M.M.—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen-street, at 8 (Instruction)
M.M. 284—High Cross, Seven Sisters Hotel, Tottenham
R.C. 67—Studholme, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden-square

54—Hope, Spread Eagle Inn, Cheetham-street, Rochdale
126—Prince Edwin, White Hart Hotel, Hythe, Kent
128—Prince Edwin, Bridge Inn, Bolton-street, Bury, Lancashire
146—Antiquity, Bull's Head Inn, Bradshawgate, Bolton
191—St. John, Knowsley Hotel, Haymarket-street, Bury, Lancashire
204—Caledonian, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester.
210—Duke of Athol, Bowling Green Hotel, Denton

Digitized by Google

225—St. Luke's, Coach and Horses Hotel, Ipswich
258—Amphibious, Freemasons' Hall, Heckmondwike
274—Tranquillity, Boar's Head Inn, Newchurch, near Manchester
277—Friendship, Freemasons' Hall, Union-street, Oldham
281—Fortitude, Masonic Rooms, Athenæum, Lancaster
288—Harmony, Masonic Hall, Todmorden
290—Huddersfield, Masonic Hall, South Parade, Huddersfield
380—Integrity, Masonic Temple, Commercial-street, Morley, near Leeds
387—Airedale, Masonic Hall, Westgate, Shipley
483—Sympathy, Old Falcon Hotel, Gravesend
567—Unity, Globe Hotel, Warwick
580—Harmony, Wheat Sheaf, Ormskirk
606—Segontium, The Castle, Carnarvon
625—Devonshire, Norfolk Hotel, Glossop
666—Benevolence, Private Rooms, Prince Town, Dartmoor
755—St. Tudno, Freemasons's Hall, Llandudno
758—Ellesmere, Masonic Hall, Runcorn, at 7.30. (Instruction)
851—Worthing of Friendship, Steyne Hotel, Worthing
852—Zetland, Albert Hotel, New Bailey-street, Salford
854—Albert, Duke of York Inn, Shaw, near Oldham
910—St. Oswald, Masonic Hall, Ropergate, Pontefract
972—St. Augustine, Masonic Hall, Canterbury. (Instruction)
1018—Shakespeare, Freemasons' Hall, Salem-street, Bradford
1031—Fletcher, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
1060—Marmion, Masonic Rooms, Church-street, Tamworth
1084—Borough, Bull Hotel, Burnley
1094—Temple, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1101—Grey Friars, Masonic Hall, Reading
1209—Lewises, Royal Hotel, Ramsgate
1248—Denison, Grand Hotel, Scarborough
1284—Neptune, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7 (Instruction)
1342—Walker, Hope and Anchor Inn, Byker, Newcastle
1356—De Grey and Ripon, 140 North Hill Street, Toxteth Park, Liverpool
1398—Baldwin, Dalton Castle, Dalton-in-Furness
1424—Brownrigg, Assembly Rooms, Old Brompton, Chatham
1434—Nottinghamshire, George Hotel, Nottingham
1503—Francis Burdett, Albany Hotel, Twickenham
1511—Alexandra, Hornsea, Hull (Instruction)
1520—Earl Shrewsbury, Public, Rooms, Cannock, Stafford
1547—Liverpool, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.
1582—Llanidloes, Trewythen Arms, Llanidloes
1638—Brownrigg, Sun Hotel, Kingston-on-Thames, at 8. (Instruction)
1643—Perseverance, Masonic Hall, Hebburn-on-Tyne.
1645—Colne Valley, Lewisham Hotel, Slaithwaite
1797—Southdown, Hurstpierpoint, Sussex
1947—Stanford, Town Hall, Hove
R.A. 20—Royal Kent of Antiquity, Sun Hotel, Chatham
R.A. 24—De Swinburne, Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-street, Newcastle
R.A. 280—St. Wulstans, Masonic Hall, 95 High Street, Worcester
R.A. 298—Unity, 23 Ann Street, Rochdale
R.A. 303—Royal Preston, Preston
R.A. 409—Stortford, Chequers Inn, Bishop's Stortford

THURSDAY, 15th NOVEMBER.

3—Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-street, Fitzroy-sq., at 8 (Instruction)
23—Globe, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
27—Egyptian, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
49—Gibon, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street
55—Constitutional, Inns of Court Hotel, Fleet-street, W.C.
63—St. Mary, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
87—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth, at 8 (Instruction)
147—Justice, Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford, at 8. (Instruction)
169—Temperance, White Swan, High-street, Deptford
179—Manchester, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
181—Universal, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
435—Salisbury, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
704—Camden, Lincoln's Inn Restaurant, 305 High Holborn, at 7 (Instruction)
733—Westbourne, Lord's Hotel, St. Johns Wood
754—High Cross, Coach and Horses, Lower Tottenham, at 8 (Instruction)
813—New Concord, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street
901—City of London, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, at 6.30. (Instruction)
902—Burgoyne, Cock Tavern, St. Martin's-court, Ludgate-hill, at 6.30 (Inst)
1139—South Norwood, Public Hall, South Norwood
1158—Southern Star, Pheasant, Stangate, Westminster-bridge, at 8 (Inst.)
1185—Lewis, Kings Arms Hotel, Wood Green, at 7 (Instruction)
1227—Upton, Swan, Bethnal Green-road, near Shoreditch, at 8 (Instruction)
1278—Burdett Coutts, Approach Tavern, Victoria Park
1287—Great Northern, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1321—Emblematic, Horns Tavern, Kennington
1339—Stockwell, Cock Tavern, Kennington-road, at 7.30 (Instruction
1365—Clapton, White Hart, Clapton
1426—The Great City, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
1475—Peckham, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1613—Cripplegate, Albion, Aldersgate-street
1614—Covent Garden, Cranbourne, 1 Up. St. Martin's Lane, W.C., at 8. (Inst.)
1622—Rose, Stirling Castle Hotel, Church Street, Camberwell. (Instruction)
1623—West Smithfield, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1673—Langton, Marsion House Station Restaurant, E.C. at 6, (Instruction)
1677—Crusaders, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 9 (Inst.)
1681—Londesborough, Berkeley Arms, John Street, May Fair, at 8. (Instruct).
1728—Temple Bar, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich.
1950—Southgate, Railway Hotel, New Southgate, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1963—Duke of Albany, Masonic Hall, Shaftesbury Park, Lavender Hill
R.A. 507—United Pilgrim, Horns Tavern, Kennington
R.A. 742—Crystal Palace, Thicket Hotel, Anerley
R.A. 743—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, at 8. (In.)
R.A. 834—Andrew, Bell and Anchor Hotel, Hammersmith Road
R.A. 1216—Macdonald, Head-quarters 1st Surrey Rifles, Camberwell
R.A. 1471—North London, Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, at 7. (Instruction)
M.M. 199—Duke of Connaught, Haverlock, Albion-rd., Dalston, at 8.30 (Inst.)
R.C. 79—Orpheus, 33 Golden Square, W

42—Relief, Albion Hotel, Haymarket-street, Bury, Lancashire
56—Howard, High-street, Arundel
96—St. Martin, Town Hall, Burslem
100—Friendship, Crown and Anchor, Great Yarmouth
203—Ancient Union, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
215—Commerce, Commercial Hotel, Haslingden
268—Union, Queen's Arms Inn, George-street, Ashton-under-Lyne
313—Concord, Militia Officers' Mess Rooms, Starkie-street, Preston
345—Perseverance, Old Bull Hotel, Church-street, Blackburn
346—United Brethren, Royal Oak Inn, Clayton-le-Dale, near Blackburn
350—Charity, Grapes Inn, Stonecliough, near Manchester
367—Probity and Freedom, Red Lion Inn, Smallbridge
369—Limestone Rock, Masonic Hall, Church-street, Clitheroe
432—Abbey, Newdegate Arms, Nuneaton
449—Cecil, Sun Hotel, Hitchin
456—Foresters, White Hart Hotel, Uttoxeter
462—Bank Terrace, Hargreaves Arms Hotel, Accrington
524—John of Gaunt, Freemasons' Hall, Halford-street, Leicester
600—Harmony, Freemasons' Hall, Salem-street, Bradford
605—Combermere, Queen's Hotel, Birkenhead
663—Wiltshire Fidelity, Masonic Hall, Devizes.
971—Trafalgar, Private Room, Commercial Street, Batley
1041—Richmond, Crown Hotel, Blackfriars-street, Salford
1042—Excelsior, Masonic Hall, Great George-street, Leeds
1125—St. Peter, Masonic Hall, Tiverton, Devon
1182—Duke of Edinburgh, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1184—Abbey, Masonic Hall, Battle
1298—Pembroke, West Derby Hotel, West Derby, near Liverpool
1327—King Harold, Britannia Hotel, Waltham New Town
1382—Unity, Masonic Hall, Crediton, Devon
1432—Fitzalan, Wynstay Arms, Oswestry
1512—Hemming, Red Lion Hotel, Hampton
1514—Thornhill, Masonic Room, Dearn House, Lindley
1580—Cranbourne, Red Lion Hotel, Hatfield, Herts, at 8. (Instruction)
1587—St. Giles, Royal Oak Hotel, Cheadle
1872—St. Margaret's, St. Mark's School, Surbiton
1892—Wallington, Public Hall, Carshalton
R.A. 97—Strict Benevolence, Masonic Hall, Park Terrace, Sunderland
R.A. 107—Philanthropic, Masonic Hall, King's Lynn
R.A. 204—Caledonian, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
R.A. 249—Mariners, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 283—Wisdom, Swan Inn, Haslingden
R.A. 337—Confidence, Masonic Hall, Brownhill Vale, Upper Mill
M.M.—Canynges, Freemasons' Hall, Bristol

FRIDAY, 16th NOVEMBER.

Emulation Lodge of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
25—Robert Burns, The North Pole, 115 Oxford-street, W., at 8 (Instruc.
143—Middlesex, Albion, Aldersgate-street.
144—St. Luke, White Hart, King's-road, Chelsea, at 7.30. (Instruction)
201—Jordan, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30. (Instruct.)
766—William Preston, St. Andrew's Tavern, George St., Baker St., at 8 (In.)
780—Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge. (Instruction)
834—Ranelagh, Six Bells, Hammersmith (Instruction)
933—Doric, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 8. (Instruction)
975—Rose of Denmark, Greyhound, Richmond
1056—Metropolitan, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. at 7. (Instruction)
1118—University, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1158—Belgrave, Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
1298—Royal Standard, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, at 8. (In.)
1365—Clapton, White Hart, Lower Clapton, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1642—E. Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
1704—Anchor, Holborn Viaduct Hotel
1789—Ubique, Guardsman Army Coffee Tavern, Buckingham Palace-road, S.W., at 7.30. (Instruction)
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich. (Instruction)
1962—London Rifle Brigade, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
R.A. 65—Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall St.
R.A. 79—Pythagorean, Portland Hotel, London-street, Greenwich. (Inst.)
R.A. 92—Moira, The Albion, Aldersgate Street, E.C.
M.M.—Old Kent, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, E.C. (Instruction)
K.T. 45—Temple Cressing, Ship Hotel, Greenwich
K.T. 44—Kemeys Tynte, 33 Golden Square, W.

127—Union, Freemasons' Hall, Margate
152—Virtue, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
271—Royal Clarence, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
347—Noah's Ark, Wagon and Horses Hotel, Tipton
401—Royal Forest, Hark to Bounty Inn, Slaidburn
404—Watford, Freemasons' Hall, Watford
453—Chigwell, Prince's Hall, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30 (Instruction)
490—Sutherland of Unity, Castle Hotel, Newcastle-under-Lyme
516—Phœnix, Fox Hotel, Stowmarket
541—De Loraine, Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-street, Newcastle
652—Holme Valley, Victoria Hotel, Holmfirth
993—Alexandra, Midway Hotel, Levenshulme
1034—Eccleshill, Freemasons' Hall, Eccleshill
1096—Lord Warden, Wellington Hall, Deal
1102—Mirfield, Assembly Rooms, Easthorpe, Mirfield
1311—Zetland, Masonic Hall, Great George street, Leeds
1393—Hamor, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
1773—Albert Victor, Town Hall, Pendleton
General Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, at 7
R.A.—General Chapter of Improvement, Masonic Hall, Birmingham
R.A. 31—Bertha, Masonic Hall, St. Peter's Street, Canterbury
R.A. 355—Wiltshire, Masonic Hall, Victoria Street, Swindon
R.A. 521—Truth, Freemasons' Hall, Fitzwilliam-street, Huddersfield
R.A. 622—St. Cuthberga, Masonic Hall, Wimborne
R.A. 837—Marquess of Ripon, Town Hall, Ripon
M.M. 65—West Lancashire, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
M.M. 123—Callender, Derby Hotel, Bury, Lancashire
R.C.—Talbot, Freemasons' Hall, Sheffield

SATURDAY, 17th NOVEMBER.

198—Percy, Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N., 8. (Instruction)
715—Panmure, Canonbury Hotel, E.C.
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1329—Sphinx, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
1364—Earl of Zetland, Old Town Hall, Mare-street, Hackney
1384—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7. (Instruction)
1732—King's Cross, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.
1767—Kensington, Courtfield Hotel, Earl's Court, S.W.
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-street, W. at 8.
R.A. 1706—Orpheus, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
M.M. 205—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow
M.M. 251—Tenterden, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.

149—Peace, Private Rooms, Meltham
811—Yarborough, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
1556—Addiscombe, Harewood House, High Street, Croydon.
R.A. 69—Royal Clarence, Freemasons' Hall, Park Street, Bristol
M.M. 14—Prince Edward's, Station Hotel, Stansfield, Todmorden

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

TRINITY COLLEGE LODGE, No. 1765.

THE installation meeting of this excellent working Lodge, whose members are principally associated with the musical profession, was held on the 1st inst., at Trinity College, No. 13 Mandeville-place, W., under the presidency of the W.M. the Rev. Bonavia Hunt (Mus. Bach., Oxon). Bros. J. Stedman S.W., E. J. Hoare J.W., Biddlecombe Treas., J. A. Hammond P.M. Sec., B. Turner S.D., G. Hammond J.D., C. Tayler I.G., Lane Organist, P.M. Stark. The brethren were honoured by the presence of Bro. Col. Shadwell H. Clerke Grand Secretary, and many distinguished brethren. Visitors—Col. Shadwell Clerke, F. Philbrick, Q.C., D.P.G.M. Essex, R. Clowes P.G.S.W. Essex, Somers 568, J. W. Thompson I.P.M. 1695, H. Massey P.M. 619, 1928, G. F. Smith 1839, J. B. Abbess 43, Albert, F. Hare 172, Ward S.W. 1511, A. E. Gladwell P.M. 172, Cox 1563, H. M. Levy P.M. 188. Lodge was opened, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The Auditors' report was received and adopted, it showed the Lodge, although but a short time in existence, is in a flourishing condition. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. John Stedman W.M. elect was presented to the Lodge and duly installed into the chair by the retiring W.M. Rev. Bro. Bonavia Hunt, in manner alike perfect and impressive, which called forth manifestations of approval from all who were present. On the re-admission of the brethren the customary salutes were given. The

Digitized by Google

W.M., in appropriate terms, appointed and invested his Officers:—Bros. Rev. H. G. Bonavia Hunt I.P.M., E. J. Hoare S.W., B. Turner J.W., Rev. Bonavia Hunt Treasurer, J. A. Hammond P.M. Secretary (re-appointed), G. Hammond S.D., C. Tayler J.D., A. Howard I.G., Smith P.M. Org., Gabriel M.C., P. Martin W.S., Harrison Tyler. Bro. J. A. Hammond P.M. efficiently acted as M.C. The selection of Officers made by Bro. Stedman met with warm approval from the brethren, who freely gave utterance to their applause. After routine work, hearty good wishes were tendered, and Lodge was closed until the first Thursday in February. The brethren, over fifty in number, then sat down to a sumptuous banquet and dessert, provided by Bros. Withers and Englefield. Grace, "These and all Thy mercies," was sung by Bro. Stedman's choir boys. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Queen and the Craft. The National Anthem was sung, Master Herbert Townsend singing the solo verses. Herr Pollitzer played a solo on the violin (Reverie), that elicited loud and long applause; Bro. Stark P.M. accompanying on the piano. The toast of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M. was given in eulogistic terms, and Bro. Stanley Smith sang "'Tis Jolly to Hunt." The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Earl of Carnarvon and the rest of the Grand Officers. We all know their good qualities; the Grand Officers are chosen from the devotion they show to Masonry. Some Grand Officers have come among us this evening. Bro. Col. Shadwell Clerke, Grand Secretary; we are proud in being honoured by his presence. At any time where a Mason requires information he has only to refer to the G. Secretary. We have also Bro. Philbrick R.W. Deputy Prov. G. Master for Essex. With the names of these brethren he would beg leave to couple the toast. The Grand Secretary, in reply, said it was a great pleasure to respond to the toast of the Grand Officers, who have done good suit and service for the good of the Order. Personally, he thanked the brethren. It was five years since he consecrated this Lodge, and he had watched it very carefully. He was pleased it was flourishing, and congratulated the W.M. on his proud position; he thanked the brethren on his own behalf. Bro. Philbrick followed; he fully endorsed the Grand Secretary's remarks; five years had passed; they had seen what the Lodge had done in its infancy. Now, what would it do when it attained its majority? If one could judge by the present, what might we not augur for the future. We may hold up to other Lodges what the Trinity College Lodge has done, and what, under such able management, they could yet do. The W.M. then proposed the health of the Visitors from the Province of Essex, who had honoured the Lodge by their presence. They had Bros. Philbrick, and Clowes Provincial Grand Warden; the latter brother had come a very long distance to be present, and he would ask him to respond. In the course of his reply, Bro. Clowes expressed his gratification at the way the work of the day had been conducted, and assured any of the members of the Lodge they should receive a hearty welcome if they came on a visit to any of the Lodges in the Province of Essex. Bro. the Rev. Bonavia Hunt I.P.M. said, after the oratorical treat they had but just listened to, little remained for him to say; but he rose to discharge a very pleasing duty; that was to propose the health of the W.M. Bro. Stedman is one of the seven Founders of the Lodge, and he asked the brethren to drink with enthusiasm the toast of the Worshipful Master. In reply, the W.M. thanked the I.P.M. for his kind expressions, and the brethren for the manner in which they had received the toast. It was a proud position to be Master of any Lodge, but to be Master of such a Lodge as the Trinity College was one that any Mason might be satisfied with. He (the W.M.) had been much impressed, and would look back on the day's proceedings with pleasure. He should always be ready to make a sacrifice for the advantage of the brethren; and on leaving the chair he hoped he might be greeted with the same cordiality as on this the night of his installation. Bro. Herr Pollitzer delighted the brethren with another violin solo, and the W.M. then proposed the toast of the Visitors. In addition to the two brethren from the Province of Essex he had already referred to, he was pleased to see Bros. A. E. Gladwell P.M. 172, Tomkins 568, and Thompson 1695. Bro. A. E. Gladwell responded, and was followed by Bro. Tomkins. The lads comprising the W.M.'s choir sang "O'er the hills and vales," and then the W.M. proposed the health of the I.P.M. Bro. Hunt, the Installing Officer of the day. In the course of his remarks, Bro. Stedman referred to the energy Bro. Hunt had displayed in the formation of the Trinity College of Music, which he trusted would be the means of raising the musical standard of this country. With respect to Bro. Hunt's more immediate association with their Lodge, he (the W.M.) had now a pleasing duty to perform; to place on his breast a jewel, which all thought he had nobly earned. It was presented by the brethren in recognition of his services. Doubtless Bro. Hunt would appreciate the gift, and would treasure it as a token from loving brethren. Bro. Hunt, in reply, said that after the excellent speech of the W.M. he could hardly find words to express his gratitude. He must say, and that with truth, that he looked with pride on their social gatherings. Whatever he had achieved in the past he would strive to sustain in the future. He felt it a compliment to have some of the Grand Officers of the Grand Lodge of England present; he had experienced great pleasure in installing his worthy friend Bro. Stedman into the chair of the Lodge, and he thanked him for placing the distinguishing badge he now wore on his breast. The W.M. next proposed the toast of the Past Masters, and Bros. Stark and Hammond acknowledged the compliment. The Officers were next complimented, and Bro. Stark played the overture "Poet and Peasant," on the organ. This was listened to with rapt attention. Shortly afterwards the Tyler's toast was given.

ANCHOR AND HOPE LODGE, No. 37.

THE monthly meeting was held on Monday, 5th inst., at the Swan Hotel, Bolton, at six o'clock in the evening. Bros. G. P. Brockbank P.Prov. G.S.D. and Grand Steward of Scotland W.M., E. M. Garstang I.P.M., John Booth S.W., F. W. Pacey P. Prov. G. Org. Berks and Bucks J.W., J. H. Gibbon Chaplain, Jas. Poynts S.D., W. H. Lomax I.G., J. W. Roiley Tyler; P.M.'s Johnson Mills, Rooke Pennington, John Morris; also Bros. W. M. Musgrave, R. Nightingale, Wm. Golding, Marshall Robinson, W. Gillibrand, Jas. Naylor, Thos. Higson. Visitor—Peter Bradburn J.W. 221. The minutes of last meeting having been confirmed, Bros. Robinson and Gillibrand passed a satisfactory examination as Entered Apprentices, and were accordingly entrusted, and retired. Lodge proceeded to the second degree, when the candidates were duly raised by the W.M., and the working tools explained by the Senior Warden (Bro. Booth). Lodge was closed to the first degree. Bro. Pacey (Mus. Bac., Oxon) Junior Warden, to whose kindness the Lodge is indebted for several ornamental additions to its furniture, presented an oak frame, to enclose the four illuminated addresses which were presented to the Lodge on the occasion of the Sesqui Centennial Festival in October last. The workmanship is entirely from the hands of the donor, and executed by him when not actively engaged in his arduous professional duties. A very hearty vote of thanks was awarded to Bro. Pacey, on the motion of Bro. Freeman P.M., seconded by Bro. Rooke Pennington Past Master, cordially supported by the Worshipful Master. The wood of the frame is three inches wide, with a flange half of an inch outside, surmounted by a pediment in which is the sacred symbol on rays of glory, in carved fretwork; at the top of the frame proper, extending from one side to the other, is a conventional scroll in fretwork, laid on, with a medallion in the centre, having the Master's jewel carved on it, encircled by an imitation of rope; on the right and left of the frame are fluted Ionic columns, carved out of the solid, with lighted candles at the tops, the bases being cut into medallions similar to the one above, but having the jewels of the Senior Warden on the left, and Junior on the right; the bottom of the frame is carved to represent the square pavement. Across the frame, from side to side and from top to bottom, are bars of fretwork, composed of a repetition of a simple volute in a border, joined in the centre by a medallion, having carved on it the number of the Lodge (37), thus dividing the picture into four compartments, one for each address. The whole is of solid oak, designed and personally executed by Bro. F. W. Pacey P.P.G.O. Berks and Bucks J.W. 37. A portion of the Ancient Rules and Charges was read by the Senior Warden, and the Lodge closed in peace and harmony at 7·30 p.m.

Lodge of Joppa, No. 188.—The regular meeting was held at Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen-street, on Monday. Bro. Benjamin W.M., Martin S.W., Bean J.W., Albert P.G.P. Sec., Lyon Treas., Watt J.D., Wynmann I.G., P. E. Van Noorden Org., Dodson P.M. M.C.; P.M.'s O. Roberts, L. Lazarus, I. Abrahams, H. M. Levy. After preliminaries, Bro A. Van Stavern was raised. With respect to the notice of motion given by Bro. L. Alexander P.M., to devote the proceeds of all initiation fees to the Benevolent Fund and the Masonic Charities, Bro. Alexander not being present, the question was not entertained. Bro. S. Heilbuth proposed and Bro. Joseph Davis seconded a resolution to the effect that the Lodge of Joppa sends its hearty congratulations to its esteemed Bro. Sir Moses Montefiore on his attaining his 99th Birthday. The brethren also trust he may by spared for many years yet to shed lustre on the Craft, and to alleviate the distress of suffering humanity. This was supported in a very eloquent speech by Bro. Abrahams P.M., and the Secetary was instructed to forward the same to the worthy Baronet, and to express the esteem of the brethren of the Joppa Lodge. Lodge was then closed and the brethren sat down to a very excellent supper provided by Messrs. Spiers and Pond (Limited). The customary toasts were afterwards done full justice to.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—Held at the Jolly Farmers, Southgate Road, N., on 3rd inst. Bros. Parkes W.M., Jones S.W., Liebman J.W., Gribbell S.D., Gillen J.D., Gildersleve I.G., Pearcy Preceptor, and Galer Sec.; also Bros. Sparrow, Fenner, Coker, Powell and Bullock. Lodge was opened in due form and minutes confirmed. Bro. Bullock having offered himself as candidate, the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed. Lodge opened in second and third degrees; Brother Parkes vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Sparrow, who rehearsed the ceremony of installation in a very efficient manner. Votes of thanks were unanimously accorded to Bro. Parkes for his able working in the chair, it being his first attempt; and to Bro. Sparrow for his kindness in rehearsing the installation ceremony. Nothing further having offered for the good of Freemasonry, Lodge was closed in ancient form and adjourned to Saturday, 10th November.

United Pilgrims Lodge of Instruction, No. 507.—Meeting held at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E., on Friday, 2nd November, at 7.30. There were present amongst others Brothers Bate W.M., Payne S.W., Richardson J.W., Stevens P.M. and Preceptor, Poore Secretary, Axford S.D., Chamberlain J.D., Tomkins I.G.; also Bros. Style, Crouch, Bradley, Eldridge, Johnson, Hakim P.M., Goodyear, Phillips, Thomas Poore P.M., &c. The Lodge having been duly opened, the first section was worked by the brethren, and the ceremony of initiation was ably rehearsed by the W.M., who then delivered the charge and instructed the candidate for probation. Question time was occupied by explanations by the Preceptor on sundry points of ritual. Brother Stevens also delivered a portion of the lecture on the tracing board in the first degree. A short interval was devoted to entry drill, the Lodge being called off for that purpose. On resuming labour Bro. A. Crouch was selected as W.M. for the ensuing week, and Officers were appointed in rotation. Lodge was then closed and adjourned.

FUNERALS.—Bros. W. K. L. & G. A. HUTTON, Coffin Makers and Undertakers, 17 Newcastle Street, Strand, W.C. and 30 Forest Hill Road, Peckham Rye, S.E.

Digitized by Google

Price 3s 6d, Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

FIRST SERIES.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

1 OUR LITERARY BROTHER.
2 A DISTINGUISHED MASON.
3 THE MAN OF ENERGY.
4 FATHER TIME.
5 A CORNER STONE.
6 THE CRAFTSMAN.
7 THE GOWNSMAN.
8 AN EASTERN STAR.
9 THE KNIGHT ERRANT.
10 THE OCTOGENARIAN.
11 A ZEALOUS OFFICER.
12 THE SOLDIER.
13 FROM UNDER THE CROWN.
14 OUR HERCULES.
15 A MERCHANT PRINCE.
16 THE CHURCHMAN.
17 THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER.
18 THE MYSTIC.
19 A MODEL MASON.
20 A CHIP FROM JOPPA.
21 A PILLAR OF MASONRY.
22 BAYARD.
23 A RIGHT HAND MAN.
24 OUR CITIZEN BROTHER.
25 AN ABLE PRECEPTOR.
26 AN ANCIENT BRITON.
27 THE ARTIST.
28 THE FATHER OF THE LODGE.
29 A SHINING LIGHT.
30 AN ART STUDENT.
31 THE MARINER
32 SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.
33. "OLD MUG."

Second Series, Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 3s 6d, post free.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

SKETCHES

OF

DISTINGUISHED FREEMASONS.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

BY G. BLIZARD ABBOTT, OF LODGE No. 1385,

ASSOCIATE OF KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

NESTOR
(Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, 33 deg., Past G.S.B., Past Dep. P.G.M. Hants, Assistant Secretary Sup. Council A. and A. Rite.)

THE STATESMAN
(The Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, 33 deg., Pro Grand Master, Pro Grand Z., Past G.M.M.M., and Past M.P.S.G. Commander A. and A. Rite.

THE TREASURER
(Bro. F. Adlard, P.M. and Treasurer Royal York Lodge of Perseverance, No. 7).

THE DEPUTY
(The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, 33 deg., Deputy G. Master, Grand H., G.M.M.M., Great Prior of the Temple, and M.P. Sov. G. Commander A. and A. Rite.)

A PROVINCIAL MAGNATE
(Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Hants and Isle of Wight, Past G.M.M.M. and Prov. G. Prior of the Temple, for Hants).

TIME-HONOURED LANCASTER
(Bro. J. Lancaster Hine, P. Prov. G.S. Warden East Lancashire).

THE SCHOLAR
(Bro. John Newton, F.R.A.S., P.M., P.Z., Author of Works on Navigation).

OUR NOBLE CRITIC
(The Right Hon. Lord Leigh, 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Warwickshire, Past G.M.M.M.)

OUR PERIPATETIC BROTHER
(Bro. C. Fitz Gerald Matier, 30 deg., G. Steward Scotland, and Past G.S. Warden Greece).

A BOLTON LUMINARY
(Bro. G. Parker Brockbank, 31 deg., Past Prov. G.S.D., and P. Prov. G. Treas. [Arch] E. Lancashire.

A WARDEN OF THE FENS
(The late Bro. John Sutcliffe, Past Prov. G.S. Warden, and Prov. G.M.M.M. Lincolnshire).

A WARDEN OF MARK
(The Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, 32 deg., Past G.S. Warden, and Dep. G.M.M.M).

A MASTER OF CEREMONIAL
(Bro. Thos. Entwisle, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. of Works E. Lan.)

OUR COSMOPOLITAN BROTHER
(Bro. Samuel Rawson, 33 deg., Past Dist. G.M. and G. Sup. China).

A GREAT ARITHMETICIAN
(Bro. R. B. Webster, Member of the Finance and Audit Committees of the R.M. Girls' and Boys' Schools).

AN INSTALLING MASTER
(Bro. W. Biggs, Past Prov. G.S.W. Wilts, and Past Prov. G. Sec. Berks and Bucks).

A VETERAN
(Bro. W. Kelly, Past Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Leicestershire and Rutland, Prov. G.M.M.M. Leicestershire).

A GRAND STEWARD
(Bro. John Wordsworth, 30 deg., Past G. Steward, Past Prov. G.J.W. W. Yorkshire, and Prov. G.M.M.M. W. Yorkshire).

VIR Veritas
(Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M and Past Prov. Grand. Soj. [Arch] Herts).

ACHILLES
(Bro. E. J. Morris, Past G.J.D., and Past Dep. Prov. G.M. of Eastern Division of South Wales).

A DEVON CRAFTSMAN
(Bro. J. E. Curtois, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. Warden Devon).

SIR RHADAMANTH
(Bro. J. M. Pulteney Montagu, J.P. D.L., 33 deg., G. J. Deacon, Past Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, and G. Chancellor Supreme Council A. and A. Rite).

HIPPOCRATES
(Bro. J. Pearson Bell, M.D., Past G. Deacon, Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. N. and E. Yorkshire).

A CESTRIAN CHIEF
(The Right Hon Lord de Tabley, Past G.S.W., Prov. G.M. Cheshire, Grand J., and Prov. G Sup. Cheshire).

A HARBINGER OF PEACE
(Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., Past Prov. G.J.D. Herts).

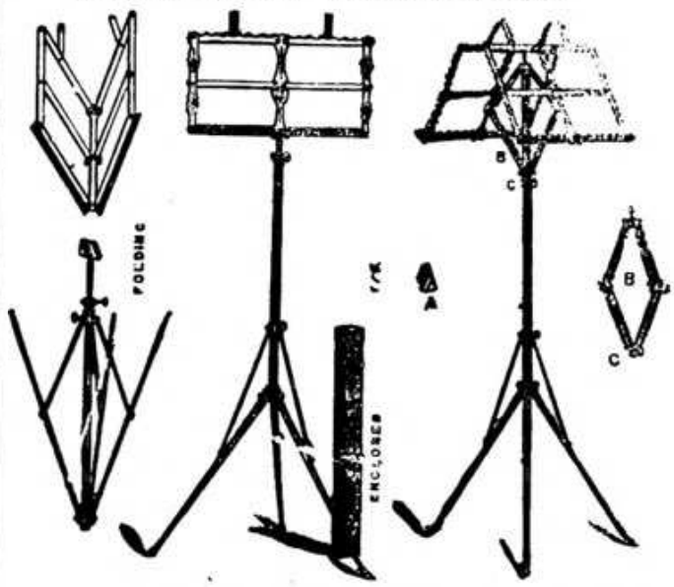
THE LORD OF UNDERLEY
(The Earl of Bective, M.P., Prov. G.M., Prov. G. Sup., and Prov. G.M.M.M. Cumberland and Westmoreland, and Past G. Sov. of the Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine).

A BOON COMPANION
(Bro. E. C. Woodward, P.M. 382, 1637, &c.)

A GRAND SUPERINTENDENT
(Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Berks and Bucks).

ÆSCULAPIUS
(Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., 32 deg., Past G.S.B., Craft, and Past G.St.B., Arch, Intendant General Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine for North Lancashire).

London: W. W. MORGAN.



By Order of all Booksellers, or will be sent direct, by post, from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N

THE AMERICAN

PORTABLE MUSIC STANDS.

J. F. WALTERS' PATENT.

Iron, from 10/6 each. Brass, from 30/- each.

THESE Stands are unsurpassed in simplicity, strength, portability cheapness, and elegance of finish. They are suitable for Military Bands Orchestras, Reading and News Rooms, Libraries, Studies, and Drawing Rooms. When opened to their full capacity they stand 5 feet high, and can be folded and enclosed in a case 21 inches long by 2 inches diameter. The weight is about 3 lbs. 12 oz., and they will support a weight of 50 lbs.

To be obtained of all Music Dealers, and of the Manufacturers and Proprietors of the Patent,

HARROW & CO.

MUSIC SMITHS, BRASS WORKERS, &c.

13 and 14 Portland Street, Soho, London, W.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

Free by Post, Price One Shilling.

THE

REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS;

CRITICALLY CONSIDERED,

AND

COMPARED WITH THE OLD EDITION.

—:o:—

A SERIES OF ARTICLES,

REPRINTED FROM THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

—:o:—

LONDON:

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE;
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL & Co., 4 STATIONERS' HALL COURT;
AND OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

"All Freemasons interested in the Revision of the above, should read this work."

Crown 8vo, price 3s 6d, cloth lettered.

Uniformity of Masonic Ritual and Observance.

By Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M., P.Z., &c.

"May be read with advantage by the whole Craft."—Sunday Times.

"Grand Lodge should at once set to work to secure the desired uniformity."—Sheffield Post.

"The subject is ably argued by the author."—Western Daily Mercury.

"Useful and valuable in the highest degree."—Exeter Gazette.

"Will have a material effect on the future of Masonic Ritual."—South Western Star.

"The author adduces many variations in the language used by different Preceptors."—Cox's Monthly Legal Circular.

"Ought to be in the hands of every Mason."—Northampton Guardian.

"To Freemasons generally it will be found useful and valuable, and we commend it to their notice accordingly."—Surrey County Observer.

"Bro. Stevens' motion for a Committee on the subject of Uniformity of Ritual was carried by a large majority."—Freemason's Chronicle report of Grand Lodge meeting, 3rd December 1879.

Sent, by post, on receipt of stamps, by the Author, Bro. JAMES STEVENS, 112 High-street, Clapham, S.W.; or by Bro. W. W. MORGAN Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

Digitized by Google

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE,

A Weekly Record of Masonic Intelligence. Sanctioned by the Grand Lodge of England.

Price—13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE will be forwarded direct from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N., on receipt of Post Office Order for the amount. Intending Subscribers should forward their full Addresses to prevent mistakes.

Post Office Orders to be made payable to W. W. MORGAN, at Penton-street Office. Cheques crossed "London and County."

Advertisers will find THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE an exceptionally good medium for Advertisements of every class.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Per Page... ... ... £8 0 0
Back Page £10 0 0

Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1s per line.

General Advertisements, Trade Announcements, &c. single column, 5s per inch. Double Column Advertisements 1s per line. Special Terms for a Series of Insertions on application.

Agents, from whom copies can always be had:—

Messrs. SPENCER and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C.
Messrs. CURTICE and Co., 12 Catherine-street, Strand.
Messrs. KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.
Mr. RITCHIE, 6 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SIMPSON BROS., Shoe Lane.
Mr. H. SIMPSON, 7 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SMITH and SONS, 183 Strand.
Messrs. STEEL and JONES, 4 Spring Gardens, Charing Cross.
Mr. G. VICKERS, Angel Court, Strand.
Mr. H. VICKERS, 317 Strand.

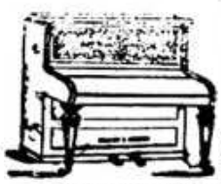
RICHARD PEARCY,
WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
31 PACKINGTON STREET, ISLINGTON,
LONDON, N.

Watches Made and Repaired in the very best manner.

MASONIC JEWELS.

THE THEATRES, &c.

COVENT GARDEN.—PROMENADE CONCERTS.
PRINCESS'S.—At 7, A CLERICAL ERROR. At 7.40, THE SILVER KING.
HAYMARKET.—At 7.30, FIRST IN THE FIELD. At 8.15, FEDORA.
DRURY LANE.—At 7.45, A SAILOR AND HIS LASS.
LYCEUM.—At 8.30, THE LADY OF LYONS.
ADELPHI.—At 7.45, IN THE RANKS.
STRAND.—At 8, VICE VERSA. At 9.15, SILVER GUILT.
SAVOY.—At 8, PRIVATE WIRE. At 8.40, IOLANTHE.
GAIETY.—At 7.35, YOUNG WIDOW. At 9.15, ARIEL.
AVENUE.—At 7.30, OBLIGING A FRIEND. At 8.15, LA VIE.
TOOLE'S.—At 8, SIX MONTHS AGO. At 8.30, OURS.
COURT.—At 8, THE MILLIONAIRE.
GLOBE.—At 7.45, MAN PROPOSES. At 8.30, THE GLASS OF FASHION
VAUDEVILLE.—At 8, AN OLD MASTER. At 9, CONFUSION.
ROYALTY.—At 7.45, A CUP OF TEA. At 8.30, THE MERRY DUCHESS.
COMEDY.—At 8, FALKA.
ST. JAMES'S.—At 8, YOUNG FOLKS' WAYS.
GRAND.—At 7.30, LOAN OF A LOVER. At 8. NEW BABYLON.
STANDARD.—At 7.30, GLAD TIDINGS.
SADLER'S WELLS.—At 7.30, DENOUNCED.
SURREY.—At 7.30, CRIMES OF PARIS.
ST. JAMES'S HALL.—Mr. DUVAL'S ODDS AND ENDS.
MOHAWK MINSTRELS, Agricultural Hall.—Every evening, at 8.
EGYPTIAN HALL.—Messrs. MASKELYNE AND COOKE. Every evening at 8.
CRYSTAL PALACE.—This day, CONCERT. PANORAMA. Open Daily, Aquarium, Picture Gallery, &c.



BRO. G. S. GRAHAM,

The Popular Tenor and Buffo Vocalist, from St. James's Hall, Crystal Palace, &c.
(Provincial Grand Organist Middlesex)
IS OPEN TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FOR
Concerts, Entertainments, & Masonic Banquets.

Bro. G. S. Graham's Party of Eminent Artists can be engaged for Masonic Banquets, Consecrations and Installations, &c. For Opinions of the Press, and terms, address—G. S. GRAHAM, St. John's Villa, 91 Fernlea Road, Balham, Surrey.

PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS ON EASY TERMS.

GROVER & GROVER
LET ON HIRE, WITH OPTION OF PURCHASE,

BEAUTIFUL AND PERFECT INSTRUMENTS.
PURCHASERS CHOOSE THEIR OWN TERMS,
FROM 15s TO £3 3s PER QUARTER.

The Advantages of a Trial, with the Convenience of the Three Years' System at Cash Price, by Paying about a Quarter of the value down, the Balance by Easy Payments, from 15s per quarter.

GROVER & GROVER (late AVILL & SMART),
TABERNACLE SQUARE, FINSBURY, E.C.
ESTABLISHED 1830.

PIANOFORTES, £19 10s.
AMERICAN ORGANS, £9 5s.
HARMONIUMS, £5 15s.

Perfect in Tone and Touch. Elegant Walnut Cases. Every Instrument warranted to stand any extreme climate.
SHIPPERS AND DEALERS SUPPLIED.
Before deciding on purchasing, write for a descriptive Price List and Testimonials to G. LINSTEAD, Manager.
CORDEN PIANOFORTE COMPANY, 18 & 19 Eversholt Street, Camden Town, London.

HOTELS, ETC.

CARLISLE—Bush Hotel. SUTCLIFFE HOLROYD, Proprietor
EALING—Feathers Hotel
EASTBOURNE—Pier Hotel, Cavendish Place. View of Sea and Pier. A. TAYLOR Proprietor
HAVERFORDWEST.—Queen's Family and Commercial Hotel. BEN. M. DAVIES Proprietor.
KEW—Star and Garter. Good accommodation for Lodge & Dinner Parties. J. BRILL Proprietor
MILFORD HAVEN.—Lord Nelson Hotel. T. PALMER Proprietor
SANDWICH—Bell Family and Commercial Hotel, Good Stabling. J. J. FILMER Proprietor

ALL WHO SUFFER
FROM
GOUT AND RHEUMATISM
Should immediately have recourse to
EADE'S CELEBRATED GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS.

Known throughout the world as the safest and most effectual remedy for the instant relief and rapid cure of Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Lumbago, and all Pains in the Head, Face, and Limbs.

OF ALL CHEMISTS, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d,

GEORGE EADE.
SOLE PROPRIETOR,
72 GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

BILLIARD BALLS, Chalks, Cues and Tips, at HENNIG BROS., Ivory Works, 11 High Street, London, W.C. Cheapest house in the trade for billiard-table requisites and ivory goods in general. Old balls adjusted or exchanged, and tables recovered. Price Lists on application. Established 1862.

RHEUMATISM.

THE only real remedy for this complaint is the Northern Cure (patent). In bottles 1s 1½d each, to be had of all Chemists. Proprietors and Manufacturers, EDWARDS AND ALEXANDER, 29 Blaskett-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR GOUT and RHEUMATISM.

The excruciating pain is quickly relieved and cured in a few days by this celebrated Medicine.

These Pills require no restraint of diet during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.

Sold by all Chemists at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.

SMOKE CHARLESWORTH & AUSTINS TOBACCOS AND CIGARS
BORO' S.E.
Old Chums 2d
Favourites 2d & 3d
Golden Shag 4d & 5d

Digitized by Google

JOSEPH J. CANEY,

DIAMOND MERCHANT, AND MANUFACTURING JEWELLER AND WATCH MAKER'

44 CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.

MASONIC JEWELS, CLOTHING AND FURNITURE.

Speciality—First Class Jewels—Artistic—Massive—Best Quality—Moderate in Price.

CATALOGUES POST FREE.

A LARGE STOCK OF LOOSE BRILLIANTS FOR EXPENSIVE JEWELS

Diamond Rings, Brooches, Studs, Earrings and Bracelets in Great Variety.

MASONIC JEWELS FOR ALL DEGREES.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS AND DECORATIONS.

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD IN ALL SIZES.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEDALS AND BADGES.

A. D. LOEWENSTARK & SONS, Medallists, 210 STRAND, LONDON, W.C.

MANUFACTORY—1 DEVEREUX COURT, STRAND.

R. W. GALER,

PRACTICAL WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

12 GREEN LANES, LONDON, N.

(Six doors from Newington Green).

OLD GOLD and SILVER BOUGHT or TAKEN in EXCHANGE.

PRESENTATION WATCHES AND MASONIC JEWELS MANUFACTURED ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

Communications by Post punctually attended to.

G. W. KNIGHT,

Carver, Gilder, and Picture Frame Maker,

LITTLE BELL ALLEY, BACK OF MOORGATE STREET, CITY,

AND

38 CHAUCER ROAD, BRIXTON.

CORNICES AND FRAMES OF ALL KINDS REPAIRED AND REGILT.

ADAM S. MATHER,

GAS ENGINEER, GENERAL GAS FITTER AND BELL HANGER,

MANUFACTURER OF BILLIARD LIGHTS

AND OF EVERY DESCRIPTION OF GAS APPARATUS FOR COOKING AND HEATING.

Bath Rooms Fitted up. All the Latest Improvements Introduced.

MANUFACTORY—12 CHARLES STREET, HATTON GARDEN, E.C.;

AND AT 278 CALEDONIAN ROAD, ISLINGTON, N.

ESTIMATES GIVEN.

W. W. MORGAN,

LETTER-PRESS, COPPER-PLATE, LITHOGRAPHIC PRINTER,

BELVIDERE WORKS,

HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE.

SUMMONSES, MENU CARDS, &c. ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED.

Sketches or Designs for Special Purposes Furnished on Application.

Books, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Catalogues, Posters, Billheads, Showcards, &c.

Every description of Printing (Plain or Ornamental) executed in First Class Style.

ESTIMATES SUPPLIED.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER

7s 6d.

If with Pockets, 6d each pocket extra.

225 HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.

DRESS SUITS from £3 3s to £5 5s.

Demy 8vo, Price 7s 6d,

THE CHESS OPENINGS,

By ROBERT B. WORMALD.

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE.

CONCERTINAS,

ENGLISH AND ANGLO-GERMAN.

G. JONES, 350 Commercial-road, London, E., inventor of the Anglo-German with chromatic scale. His tempered steel notes never get out of tune. Used by the leading performers. Price List of Musical Instruments of every description free. Established 1850.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY Limited, 7 Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General accidents. Personal injuries.
Railway accidents. Death by accident.

C. HARDING, Manager.

THE EMPIRE LAMP.

(RIPPINGILLE'S PATENT.)

THE MOST BRILLIANT AND ECONOMICAL DOMESTIC LIGHT EXTANT.

It equals Gas for Simplicity, but surpasses it for Illuminating Power.

IT burns without a chimney, a pine-shaped globe only being required, which has never been known to break from the heat of the flame. It will give more light than any other lamp with a wick of equal size. The combustion is so perfect that it deodorises the oil, and burns absolutely without smell, giving an intense pure white and beautiful light. It is unrivalled for simplicity in lighting, cleaning, and trimming, and is, in fact, the perfection of artificial light. Suitable for Cottage or Mansion, Churches, Chapels, &c.

Illustrated Catalogue, with full particulars, and giving valuable hints on Domestic Lighting and the Management of Lamps, free on application.

THE HOLBORN LAMP COMPANY,

118 HOLBORN, LONDON, E.C.

Say where you saw this Advertisement.

Bro. A. OLDROYD, Stratford, London,

MANUFACTURER OF TOBACCO POUCHES,

With any name in raised letters.

CAN be obtained direct from the Maker, at the undermentioned prices, on receipt of P.O.O. payable at Stratford.

	Price	Will take a name of 9 letters
No. 3	2/0 ...
,, 4	2/6 ...	11
,, 5	3/0 ...	12
,, 6	3/6 ...	13
,, 7	4/0 ...
,, 8	4/6 ...
,, 9	5/0 ...

A. OLDROYD,

Agent for Algerian Cigars, and Importer of Havana and Continental Cigars,

44 HIGH STREET, STRATFORD, LONDON, E.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

BIRKBECK BANK.—Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Current Accounts opened according to the usual practice of other Bankers, and Interest allowed on the minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £25. No commission charged for keeping Accounts.

The Bank also receives money on Deposit at three per cent. Interest, repayable on demand.

The Bank undertakes for its Customers, free of charge, the custody of Deeds, Writings, and other Securities and Valuables, the collection of Bills of Exchange, Dividends, and Coupons; and the purchase and sale of Stocks and Shares.

Letters of Credit and Circular Notes issued.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

31st March 1880.

The Birkbeck Building Society's Annual Receipts exceed Four Millions.

HOW TO PURCHASE A HOUSE FOR TWO GUINEAS PER MONTH, with immediate Possession and no Rent to pay. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY.

HOW TO PURCHASE A PLOT OF LAND FOR FIVE SHILLINGS PER MONTH, with immediate possession, either for Building or Gardening purposes. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Published every Wednesday. Price 3d,

THE

CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE;

AND

Journal of Indoor and Outdoor Amusements

THE CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE can be ordered of any Bookseller in Town or Country, or will be forwarded direct from the Office on the following terms:—

Twelve months, post free	...	...	...	12 0
Three ,,	,,	...	...	3 3

It is also obtainable at the following Chess Resorts and Agencies—

Messrs. Dean and Son, 160A Fleet Street, E.C.

Simpson's Divan (Chess Room), Strand, W.C.

Pursell's Restaurant, ditto, Cornhill, E.C.

All communications and books, &c. for notice, to be addressed to the Editor, 555 Caledonian Road, N.

Printed and Published by Brother WILLIAM WRAY MORGAN, at Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, Saturday, 10th November 1883.

Digitized by Google

THE

Freemason's Chronicle;

A WEEKLY RECORD OF MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

SANCTIONED BY THE GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.

VOL. XVIII.—No. 462. SATURDAY, 17th NOVEMBER 1883. [PRICE THREEPENCE. 13s 6d per annum, post free.

TIME'S CHANGES.

THERE is always a risk of charitable institutions changing their character in the course of time, even beyond the necessary modifications that circumstances demand. The history of the Charity Commissioners is full of instances of the transference of funds left for specific purposes to other uses. It might be advanced with perfect truth that in some cases the spirit of the bequest has been violated, and doubts have arisen as to the future disposal of the gifts of donors. This uncertainty is calculated to have a deterrent effect upon the cause of charity, unless care is taken in the disposal of funds left for clearly defined objects. On the other hand, it must be admitted that many abuses have grown up with time that needed reform in accordance with the spirit of the age. Where these changes have been carried out in a reverent manner no one has a right to complain. Where, however, they have led to money that was left for one class being devoted to another, suspicion has been aroused and dissatisfaction expressed. Popular opinion has often been urged against the present method of the administration of Christ's Hospital, in the City of London. It is alleged that it has become a foundation school for the sons of the comparatively well-to-do, and that only those, or chiefly those, who could otherwise afford to educate their children, reap the advantage. How far that accusation is sustained it is not necessary now to consider; it exists, and forms a very important factor in considering the whole question. It is true that time and circumstances have developed a middle class in this country for whom little or no provision has been made when misfortune has overtaken them. This condition of things has been assigned as a reason for diverting funds left for educational purposes, but which had hitherto been devoted to the use of the very poor alone. The Church of England for many years past, and the Government of late years, have done a great deal to supersede the necessity of private benevolence in the matter of the education of the poor, and this fact has been taken into account in dealing with the charitable bequests of olden time. Admitting all that can be advanced in this respect, there is danger in disturbing the evident intentions of donors, unless it can be proved that abuses have so altered them as to demand reform.

Looking back to the time when Masonic Charities began to take a concrete form, it is quite clear that the knowledge of the poverty of some of the brethren was the mainspring of the action of the promoters, and their zeal was directed in making provision for those who were helpless. In 1812, Grand Lodge passed a resolution, providing for contributions, in the shape of a registration fee for every newly-made brother of five shillings in Lodges in London and Westminster, and of "two-and-sixpence in country, foreign, and military Lodges," in aid of the "Institution for clothing and educating the sons of deceased and indigent Ancient Freemasons." About five years after the union of the "Ancients" and "Moderns," the two funds devoted to the help of boys that had previously existed apart were amalgamated, and in a letter announcing that fact, dated 29th May 1817," and signed "F. C. Daniel," occurs the following very significant passage: "There are now upwards of forty promising boys imploring protection, and I am sorry to say some without a shoe; what is still more distressing, that unless we provide for them, they must remain in ignorance, linger through a life of wretchedness, without education or decent clothing, and exposed to the mercies of a wide world." These references indicate the character of the foundation of the Boys' Institution, and they should be borne in mind in dealing with its present condition. There is danger of forgetting old landmarks, of violating the spirit of the Charity. It is right that altered circumstances should be taken into account, and it may also be admitted that it is wise and prudent to move with the spirit of the times. But no change is warranted that is calculated to lessen the value of a fundamental principle. The Institution was founded for the poor, the indigent, the waifs, and the ignorant, and these still have the first claim. The qualifications of candidates, as laid down in the laws, are fenced round with protections more or less in consonance with the foundation of the Institution. It is almost superfluous to insist upon a certificate from a Lodge to which a brother belonged to the effect that at the time of his enrolment he was in a position to warrant such a step. His admission was proof that the Lodge was satisfied as to his means, and it is hardly likely that they would express a contrary opinion, to their own discredit, especially in a case where an object of Charity was involved. There is real force in the obligation that a Lodge shall certify that a brother's position has so changed in a pecuniary sense, or if dead, that his family are so reduced in circumstances, as to render his child a suitable candidate for the benefits of the Charity. Even this condition is wide, and is open to a very liberal interpretation; still, it goes upon the original lines, and recognises the broad fact that a candidate must need help before he can be admitted. The character of the claim, the degree of necessity, is left an open question, and an opportunity is afforded of bringing forward candidates who are not exactly poor, or without means, but whose claims rest upon the broad grounds that their fathers fulfilled all the conditions of the Craft, and that they or their friends, or both, were supporters of the Charities of the Order. Membership and subscription do not confer a right to any one of the Institutions of the Fraternity. One is a necessary condition, the other gives power and moral influence. The right to relief is based upon poverty, and those who are poor have the first claim, according to their necessities. That ground is unassailable, and when departed from charity loses its strength and beauty. When rules of admission were framed, the fact that there were degrees of claims was duly noted. There is a provision for admitting a candidate upon the payment of a fixed sum, supposing room can be conveniently found. This rule conclusively establishes the theory of preferential claims, and the basis of preference is beyond doubt.

Last week reference was made to two cases, one of a boy named Collingwood, who had been admitted to the School, and subsequently removed after protest against his election on the ground that his mother was in possession of a considerable sum of money; the other of a boy

EPPS'S (GRATEFUL COMFORTING) COCOA.

Digitized by Google

named Herring, who was elected last month, who, it is represented, will be entitled to receive at the age of twenty-one over £1000, some state £1800. The same objections that were forthcoming with regard to Collingwood are urged in the case of Herring, and it is difficult to see upon what grounds they can be satisfactorily met. Bro. Herring, the father of the boy, may have been all that a Freemason should be; his friends may have been liberal supporters of the Charities. All this may be perfectly true, and yet it does not justify appropriating a place in the Boys' School to one who is provided for in another way, who can afford and ought to pay for his own food, clothing and education. If a home is sought for the lad, and the Freemasons' School is considered the best, let application be made for admission upon payment, according to the rules, and the case will be dealt with as circumstances permit. The Quarterly Court would have to retrace their steps and to admit that they had made a mistake. No doubt it will be difficult to get them to do this, but it is a duty incumbent upon them. Their course is clear, they have no alternative but to declare the election void. The spirit of the Institution, of charity itself, rebels against their judgment in the case of the boy Herring, and common sense as well as common justice demand reparation. It is not easy to understand people who would accept crutches when they can walk alone, and it does not speak well for the friends of this boy who would use a charity while wealth belonging to him is allowed to accumulate. Such a feeling arises from a perverted sense of claim, an assumption that something is bought when subscriptions are paid, and that what is required is to obtain a certain number of votes, and then all conditions have been satisfied. The whole difficulty has arisen out of this mistaken idea. The admission of the boy as a candidate in the first instance was a blunder; it was felt to have been such, and the question was raised at the Quarterly Court, when out of a Board of over fifty brethren there was only a very small majority in favour of the motion for admission. The existence of such a difference of opinion is suggestive of doubt, and when the whole facts are considered, the action of the minority will command the assent of all who desire the righteous and intelligent application of charity. Let the case be put fairly and its nakedness becomes not only apparent but startling. Here is a boy with something like £600 at the present time, most likely more, entirely in his own right, with no claims present or prospective upon it; here is another one, it may be of a large family, with only a poor widowed mother to look to. Both are sons of worthy Masons: the Dives of the case is admitted to the fruits of charity, while the poor dispirited Lazarus is sent empty away. This is no exaggerated picture; it is true to life and experience. It is no answer to say that both had the same chance so far as the body of selection was concerned, and that inequalities arise out of circumstances which neither they nor any one else can control. While this is true in letter, it is false in spirit. Both were admitted apparently upon equal conditions, but how can two persons be said to be equal in a contest in which money is essential, when one is rich and the other poor? Yet that is just the equality upon which the boy Herring was admitted in the struggle as compared with some who have failed. No doubt the inequalities of this world are great and inexplicable, but that is a reason why the utmost care should be taken not to increase or intensify them. Herring's case ought never to have been brought forward at all, and it was a gross abuse of true charity to admit him as a candidate. He has been elected upon a wrong issue, and justice, nay humanity, demands that he should be removed and his place filled by a real object of charity.

HOW MASONIC HISTORY IS TAUGHT.

WE have remarked on more than one occasion, that one of the most serious evils with which the Craft of Freemasonry is afflicted is the extraordinary facility evinced by many of its most devoted adherents in seriously regarding the personages and events of the ages long gone as constituting a very important part of its history. Grave and reverend authors have not hesitated to make its origin coëval with the origin of Time itself, while all, or nearly all, the most illustrious personages of antiquity have had assigned to them the chief places in its development. To a certain extent, perhaps, there is no very grave objection to this course. As a system of morality, intended to elevate and improve mankind, to unite together all sorts and conditions of men by the sacred bonds of love, Freemasonry may, without any serious strain on the imagination, be said to have existed from the very beginning. When men began to form themselves into communities, a certain code of morals, by which the conduct of each member towards his fellow members should be regulated, became a necessity. The principles on which this code was established were pretty much the same as those which constitute our system of Freemasonry; and those who had a hand in formulating or amending, from time to time, this moral code may be said to have been imbued with the principles which we brethren of the mystic tie are bound to profess. It is in this sense, but in no other, that the founders and exponents of the different schools of philosophy, be they of eastern or western origin, may be said to have had a hand in establishing and propounding our Masonic system. Their systems of philosophy were in fact so many systems of morality, and we are justified, therefore, in claiming them as of us, but in general terms only. To go further, and assign to them severally some particular rôle in the erection of our Masonic structure is to involve ourselves in endless and well-merited ridicule, and it is because so many of our writers on Freemasonry have adopted this course that the world laughs so mercilessly at our claims to immemorial antiquity.

We confess to having experienced the hope that with the more matter-of-fact researches of these latter years, we had seen the last of this highly imaginative style of dealing with the history of the Craft. It seems, however, that we have been somewhat too hopeful in our anticipations. We have before us a pamphlet by Bro. John Yarker, on "Speculative Freemasonry," which he describes as an "Historical Lecture upon the origin of Craft and High Grade Freemasonry, and showing the great antiquity of the combined system." As an illustration of the extent to which an intelligent man may allow his imagination to run riot, this pamphlet is certainly a curiosity; as an effort at historical exposition it must be set down as one of the most conspicuous of failures. The writer begins by lamenting "the sad want of authentic knowledge which exists amongst brethren of all ranks and degrees;" but when he adds, a little further on, that "if in Masonry there is one thing more certain than another, it is that these so-called Higher Mysteries," to which in the interval he has referred, "which a Craft Grand Lodge has no knowledge of, and cannot, therefore, be requested to patronise by recognition—have a better and more authentic history than Craft Masonry," we must take the liberty of assuring him, with all due deference, that he is even more conspicuous by his "sad want of authentic knowledge" than the brethren to whose ignorance he began by so plaintively referring.

Having gravely delivered himself of this preamble, Bro. Yarker at once addresses himself to the subject matter of his lecture, and tells the audience before whom it was delivered, that he will "indicate" to them "first, the history of Operative Masonry, and deal tenderly with it; second, the descent of the High Grades, and show their immense antiquity; third, the cause of the amalgamation of the two systems, and the period of its occurrence; constituting in effect the derivation and descent of Freemasonry as we now have it." It will be imagined that, having thus formally stated the points he is desirous of "indicating," Bro. Yarker at once sets himself to the task of demonstrating their truth by means of arguments based on premisses which are beyond dispute. He does nothing of the kind. In "dealing tenderly" with the history of Operative Masonry he begins by saying—"I do not entirely hold with those good brethren who express this opinion"—namely "that Craft Masonry as a ceremonial system had no existence before the year 1722, and that it is practising certain mysteries on the erroneous assumption that they are very ancient"—but he adds, "I do assert that our existing Craft and High Grade Mysteries, as a matter of antiquity, must stand or fall together, and it is actually the Superior Mysteries which have at various times during the last 5,000 years given off and organised numerous Craft Associations." This is nothing else than assertion, plain and unequivocal, but what the reader, who is not content with a mere superficial exposition of the subject he is interested in, requires, is some sort of reasonable argument in favour of the proposition, and this argument is not forthcoming.

Digitized by Google

Passing on a little further we light upon the following passage: "But the great middle-age builders were the Society of Knights Templar; another High Grade secret system of the middle or warrior caste, preserved in the degrees of our Senate. It is not very improbable, on the face of what I shall advance to you, that these, in or about the 12th century, gave off the Craft organisation of the Operative Masonry claiming from Solomon's Temple. This supposition is strengthened by the fact that the Templars, in A.D. 1118, acquired the site of Solomon's Temple, and that adjacent thereto existed a High Grade rite of Mohammedan warriors who sought occult knowledge, with an organised system of seven secret degrees, afterwards increased to nine, under the prestige of King Solomon, of whose magical powers they have astonishing legends. I allude to the secret doctrine of the House of Wisdom, which originated the somewhat unenviable society of Assassins, corresponding in its doctrines to the 'Elu' degrees of the Ancient and Accepted Rite, which we have rejected as immoral and unworthy of our own." This passage contains sundry assertions, as for instance that "the" great middle-age builders were the Society of Knights Templar," which was "another High Grade secret system of the middle or warrior caste"; that "the Templars, in A.D. 1118, acquired the site of Solomon's Temple"; that adjacent thereto existed "a High Grade Rite of Mahommedan Warriors," but nothing whatever is advanced from which we may judge of their value. However, this matters but little, as one at least of them is, to the best of knowledge and belief, capable of disproof. It is not a fact—so at least, we have always understood—that "the Templars, in A.D. 1118, acquired the site of Solomon's Temple." The year in question, or the next to it, is held to be the year in which the Order of the Temple was founded, and Baldwin II., King of Jerusalem, assigned the Knights a part of his palace for their quarters, to which the Abbot and Canons of the Church and Convent of the Temple, which stood adjoining, added another building for keeping their arms, and hence their name of Templars. Shall we venture so far as to say, quoting Latin by way of variety, "ex uno disce omnes." At all events, even Brother Yarker, with all his audacity of assumption, does not seem quite at his ease in respect of his statements. He begins his next paragraph with the highly significant words, "At any rate," which we take to imply, whether the middle-age builders were or were not Knights Templar; whether they did or did not "give off the Craft organisation of the Operative Masonry claiming from Solomon's Temple"; whether they did or did not in A.D. 1118 "acquire the site of Solomon's Temple"; and whether there did or did not exist adjacent thereto—that is the site of the Temple—"a High Grade Rite of Mahommedan Warriors," "at any rate," that is, whether these are or are not facts, "from this period there came down the stream of centuries such a Society as Operative Freemasonry was before the year 1700; but its ceremonies, even in the same country, were not uniform," a statement he illustrates by the Companionage in France, while as regards Britain, he suggests the probability of our Craft Masonry having had "the legend of the Hiram system in a much more meagre and unpolished form than now exists" before the year 1723. And he sums up the case of Operative Masonry thus curtly: "In other words, the British Operative or Craft Masons have left no record that they had an esoteric Mystery before the formation of the Grand Lodge at London. So much, for better or worse, is all that can be said for Craft Masonry." It is, in one sense, to be regretted that Bro. Yarker exhausted his powers of exposition as regards this branch of his subject in the course of a few paragraphs, but our regret is the less distressing, because, owing no doubt to the limited time at his disposal, he has been able to do little else than advance statements wholly unsupported by evidence of any kind whatsoever, much less by evidence possessing anything like trustworthiness.

In dealing with the second portion of his lecture, Bro. Yarker displays the same qualities. He boldly tells his audience that "in all the most ancient nations—Chinese, Babylonian, Egyptian, Indian, Persian—there existed, and still exists, a certain secret School of Wisdom, which in all lands had certain degrees, with obligations of secresy, and ceremonial rites with tokens and words; they were either of seven or nine degrees, and the members, then and still, affiliate with distant Rites;" the latter point he illustrates in his own case as having, like "many modern Craft Freemasons," become "connected with the Oriental Societies." But will Bro. Yarker condescend to tell us something more than that there "existed, and still exists, a certain secret School of Wisdom" in the most ancient nations—China, Egypt, India, Persia—we will excuse him in respect of Babylon, which no longer exists: and something more than that "they"—whatever "they" may be—we reeither of "seven or nine degrees?" We never miss, if we can help it, an opportunity of gaining even the slightest insight into knowledge of so mysterious a character. We shall be only too glad to learn, if Bro. Yarker will graciously undertake the rôle of instructor, and shall be only too thankful for the minutest crumbs of information, provided, of course, there is any chance of their being supported by something like evidence. Then, as to the Oriental Societies with which Bro. Yarker has become connected, he tells us—and he ought to speak with some authority—"that they have many points in common with the secret Cabala of the Jews, which probably derives from the Schools of the Prophets, of which we find mention in the Jewish writings. They sought 10,000 years ago by arduous toil—and found it—the basis of religion, philosophy, and art; their faith was that of the proved religion, in which all the learned men of antiquity agreed." Further on we learn that "primitively, the first adepts were men profoundly versed in arts, science, and spiritual knowledge, who proceeded to enlarge their numbers by the admission of neophytes from neighbouring tribes. As their numbers increased they emigrated far and wide, and established Colleges amongst all nations, which, on the model of the first, went on increasing their numbers. Originally celibates, some of them married and returned to the world, and had progeny, who founded the left-handed system, or sorcery. They were the 'Sons of God who took to themselves wives of the daughters of men.'" And again, "there is a record at Rome which states that the Eleusinian Mysteries of Ceres and Dionysos had been established in Britain. Various communities of monks and fraternities of knights continued the practice of the Mysteries, and even at this day the Madonna of Rome is an exact copy of the much more ancient Isis of Egypt." Bro. Yarker says also, "That our present ceremonies are those of the ancients is proved by the paintings in Egyptian temples and tombs. That the ancient Mysteries had our Rose Croix ceremonies is proved by the language of the Sybils of the Temple, preserved in the Sybilline Oracles." Here again we have a series of assertions, and without being so bold as to contradict Bro. Yarker, we venture to ask him in all simplicity for something like proofs of the verity of his statements. We shall be content to believe in the antiquity of the so-called High Grade Mysteries when it is demonstrated to us beyond the possibility of doubt that they have not been fashioned so as to resemble the Mysteries which were practised in bygone ages. It is one thing to say that the High Grade ceremonies are the same with those of the Egyptian or any other ancient cult; it is another to affirm that they have been regularly carried down "the stream of centuries" from those who originated them to those who now possess and practise them. As belonging to the old school, we have the utmost veneration and respect for whatever can justly lay claim to an immemorial antiquity of origin, but we have a right to expect that the claim shall rest on justice. We do not want to be told that a Rite, which is, as it were, of yesterday's creation, is the direct lineal representative of those rites which were practised in the earliest ages and of which the world has some degree of knowledge. What we are desirous of learning is, how the lineal descent is traceable, so that we may be in a position to appraise the value of the claim which Bro. Yarker so energetically advances.

(To be continued.)

The ceremonies of Consecration and Installation will be rehearsed at the Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780, Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge, by Bro. James Terry P.P.S.G. Warden Norths and Hunts, P.P.G.J.W. Herts, P.M. 228 1278 1366, Secretary of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, on Friday, 23rd instant, at 7·30 p.m. The musical arrangements will be under the direction of Bro. E. H. Sugg P.P.G.O. Surrey Secretary 1996. Craft Clothing to be worn. Brethren are invited to attend.

Digitized by Google

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our Correspondents.

All Letters must bear the name and address of the Writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return rejected communications.

—:o:—

MUSIC AND FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Jupiter has spoken, and all that comes after is as the stage substitute for the awful thunder of nature. Henceforth be it known, upon the authority of an inspired article in your contemporary, that music is the sixth of the seven sciences "included in the curriculum of Masonry," and therefore, a professional concert on Installation, and even on other occasions, is the proper thing. The information is volunteered that the toast list is nearly always the same, and nothing fresh can be said either for or in reply to the toasts, therefore, professional artistes are required to hide the weakness of the brainless, the ignorant, and the garrulous, and to make three or four hours association endurable. Then the question is put—why should the rich man be debarred of his pleasures because the poor man may be tempted to follow his example? And, as a climax, this staggering query is advanced—what will become of the purveyors of luxuries if the rich do not buy them? This is a poser, and I give it up. I might humbly observe, however, that the purveyors in question are well able to take care of themselves. That is their business, for myself I may say that I am so struck with the wisdom of this modern Solon that my feelings are divided between admiration and shame—admiration, at the wonderful learning displayed, and shame, to think that I have dared to express my belief that the brethren of and visitors to a Lodge almost invariably possess sufficient musical talent to satisfy all reasonable requirements. I am so hardened as still to urge that it is not necessary to engage professional talent at all in order to secure an efficient and pleasant programme, which can be varied and altered to meet circumstances without the risk of giving offence to these gentlemen, some of whom stand up for their order with a pertinacity and insolence not pleasant to endure. It is not long since that a professional pianist refused to accompany a brother in the Entered Apprentice song, because of some slight he imagined had been put upon his professional brethren. My object is not to run a muck at professional musicians; as a rule they are jolly fellows, whose company I have very much enjoyed, and hope to enjoy again, under circumstances more favourable than usually prevail at Lodge banquets.

I deny the postulate, that a Master of a Lodge has a right, even at his own expense, to indulge in costly luxuries; and I affirm that he commits an offence against both the letter and spirit of the Order when he permits the Lodge funds to be used for such a purpose, unless the members have a voice in determining the matter. Even then I contend that the indulgence in luxuries, especially of totally unnecessary ones, is forbidden by the genius of Freemasonry; it excites an unworthy desire of emulation; and gives rise to spurious pretensions and unjust inequalities when the expenditure comes wholly or partly out of the pocket of the Worshipful Master. Set and elaborate concerts waste time as well as substance. I believe I am within the mark when I say that the entertainment that gave rise to this discussion involved an outlay of at least £20, and as about one hundred brethren were present, that was four shillings a head for music. The concert was dear at the price; besides, it prevented friendly chat, strangled speeches, and obstructed the full exercise of those courtesies that ought to form so pleasant a part of the proceedings. In fact, it was a luxurious debauch, a wanton waste, and an exhibition of the pride of the purse.

In the article to which I am referring occurs the following sentence: "It is not the man of large fortune who is to be condemned for spending freely of his superfluous moneys, but the man who pinches or impoverishes himself in order to make a display." As an abstract theory this is very true; in practice it is a failure. Take any ordinary Lodge, and it will be found that while the few have an excess of means, the many are limited by prudence and circumstances to a modest outlay. One of the former, when he comes to the chair, gets up a grand display, to which he invites a number of friends. He creates a favourable impression altogether independent of his Lodge work or character as a Mason, and it may be in defiance of both. Show in the world often goes for real worth, and I have yet to learn that it has lost its effect even in Freemasonry. The successor of the rich brother may be a poor man. He has the example of his predecessor before him; the prestige (?) of the Lodge must be kept up; and, in fact, he must walk in the path made for him whether he likes it or not. Cases like this are constantly occurring, and the only alternative a poor brother has is either to assert the superiority of good working, vindicate the moral teaching of the Craft, and as a consequence be accounted mean; or he must "pinch or impoverish himself in order to make a display." The force of example for good or evil cannot be questioned, and it is as effective in Masonry as in anything else.

Then we are treated to the following trite and specious argument: "The rigid economist may urge that all expenditure which is not absolutely necessary is a mistake, because it affords a direct encouragement to luxury on the part of those who are unable to afford it. In other words, A, who has £2,000 a year, is not to buy the luxuries he can afford because B, with an income of £500, may outrun the constable." It is not what a man can, but what he ought, to afford. A member of the Masonic body is bound by its teaching, and this is all in favour of prudence, temperance, and charity. It distinctly enforces the lesson of the responsibility of one brother to another, and emphatically condemns anything that would be calculated to injure him. But take the worldly view of the subject, and the position is not improved. Supposing two men were placed thus—one with £2,000 a year and the other with nothing, would the former be justified in indulging in luxuries while the latter was virtually starving? Such contrasts are too common, and I put the matter in an extreme form because it is the logical outcome of the reasoning referred to. It will not do to say—oh! but such a case could not happen. It is one of the most striking and lamentable facts in history that one of the chief causes of revolution has been the neglect of the poor by the rich, who were doing "what they liked with their own," only to store up a host of troubles that were sure to overwhelm them at some time or other. It is equally true that one of the main causes of the decay of nations is luxury. I am not a Socialist, and only introduce these facts to show the responsibility of men of wealth. They cannot shirk the obligations that the possession of wealth imposes with impunity, and certainly they cannot abjure the teaching of the Craft, and ought not to introduce practices that are very likely to prove stumbling-blocks to others.

It does not follow because of the views I have advanced that there should be no enjoyment of luxuries. They play their part in the economy of life, and where reasonably indulged in, no just complaint can be urged. To assume, as the writer of the article referred to does, that because I object to luxurious expenditure in Lodges, therefore I am hostile to all luxuries, is simply begging the question, and is one of those tricks of argument calculated to catch the ear of the groundling. I protest against any such assumption, and I believe I have made out good reasons for the belief I hold.

One word as to the application of charity. It is a good thing to establish Schools and an Asylum, it is right to extend the help thus afforded for some who cannot go into either. I have not one word to say against these Institutions; on the contrary, I wish them God speed. But there are other means for the exercise of the spirit of brotherly kindness, and other needs that these Institutions furnish. How many brethren are there seeking employment, who would be glad of a helping hand, and how little in this respect is done by the Brotherhood? How many brethren are warmly recognised in Lodge and passed by in the streets with absolute indifference? To make use of the fact of your being a Mason when seeking assistance or employment is regarded as "bad form," and to resent the distinction that is set up between brethren in and out of the Lodge, especially in cases where the length of the purse alone constitutes the difference, is looked upon as an impertinence. If the rich brother wants work, if his heart beats true to the demands that can fairly be made upon him, there are plenty of ways of spending his money without wasting it upon professional singers and sumptuous banquets, and one of these is the luxury of doing good.

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

I.P.M.

"POOR CANDIDATES AND THE VOTING SYSTEM."

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR,—May I ask the favour of your thanking WATCHMAN for his kind and courteous criticism of my letter, but with regard to the remedy suggested, respecting the Voting System, judging from his reply, I fancy that I cannot have expressed myself with sufficient clearness. My idea was that all the cases should, as now, first pass before the School Committee, and secondly before a Committee composed of a representative of Her Majesty and the Prince of Wales and those of Vice-Patrons or Vice-Presidents, or of both, who had time to devote to the subject, to consider upon, and select from the candidates chosen by the School Committee, the number corresponding to vacancies, of those cases considered most urgent; and thirdly the cases of these secondly selected candidates to be submitted, through balloting papers, to all subscribers, &c., for their votes. All canvassing, except by private friends, and borrowing, to be prohibited, and a fair proportion of the expense which would have been incurred in public canvassing, &c. to be given as an entrance fee to the Institution. Candidates not chosen to stand over for next Election. This would, I think, produce a concentration of votes for candidates in most immediate want of aid, and also spare the remaining candidates the anxiety, loss of time, and expense consequent upon competing at so many elections.

I do not comprehend how any private influence could be brought to bear upon those having the Presentations under this system, any more than is at present the case, for it is evident that admission now depends much on the exertions of influential friends. I do not offer this explanation as a recommendation of my plan, because, as I before remarked, I do not understand the working of the matter, but simply because WATCHMAN appears to have misunderstood my idea. Thanking you for your kindness in bringing the subject before the numerous readers of your valuable paper.

I remain, Dear Sir,

Yours truly and obliged,

THE MOTHER OF A CANDIDATE.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Rheumatism and Rheumatic gout are the most dreaded of all diseases, because their victims know that they are safe at no season, and at no age secure. Holloway's Ointment, after fomentation of the painful parts, gives greater relief than any other application; but it must be diligently used to obtain this desirable result. It has been highly commended by rheumatic subjects of all ages and of both sexes, for rendering their attack less frequent and less vigorous, and for repressing the sour perspirations and soothing the nerves. In many cases Holloway's Ointment and Pills have proved the greatest blessings in removing rheumatism and rheumatic gout which had assailed persons previously and at the prime of life.

Digitized by Google

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

POLISH NATIONAL LODGE, No. 534.

THE first meeting for the present season of this old-established Lodge took place on Thursday, 8th November, at the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, with Bro. E. T. Smith as W.M., who was supported by the following Officers:—Bros. J. J. Runtz S.W., J. Bieling J.W., Bryant S.D., Tongue J.D., F. Gosden I.G., and Banks Tyler; Bros. Lancaster I.P.M. and P.M.'s Dr. Jagielski, Dr. Jackson, Rath, Pass Secretary, and Nowakowski Treasurer. The business of the evening consisted in receiving the report of the Committee which had been appointed to consult upon certain matters respecting the welfare of the Lodge. The W.M. performed the ceremony of raising in favour of three brethren, and passed Bro. Davenport to the second, in a most impressive manner. Two gentlemen were proposed in open Lodge as candidates for the next meeting. All other business being ended, Lodge was closed in the usual manner, and the brethren retired to the banqueting room, where, after due attention had been paid to the fourth degree, grace was sung, and the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts received attention. The W.M. proposed the health of the Visitors, namely, Bros. John Grist Eccleston 1624, W. Saegert P.M. Wellington 548, James Phillips Union 127, J. H. Hudepohl Royal Leopold 1669, and Thomas Gittens P.M. Foochow, Grand Lodge China. The latter brother in responding said it afforded him very great pleasure to be again at the Polish National Lodge on his return from China; he had been present at Lodges held in China, New Zealand, and Australia, but he had not seen the work better performed in these than it had been done by the W.M. on the present occasion. The Officers had also done well. Bro. Gittens also thanked the members for the hospitality that had been shown to him, and hoped he might be enabled to pay them another visit on a future occasion. Bro. Saegert also replied: he alluded to the masterly manner in which the W.M. had performed his duties. Bro. Lancaster I.P.M. then proposed the health of the W.M., who on rising to respond was received with continued cheering. Bro. Smith returned thanks for the enthusiastic manner in which he had been received, and also for the very hearty manner in which the toast of his health had been responded to. It had always appeared to him to be hard work to conduct a Lodge meeting properly; but now he was in the chair it appeared to be doubly so. However, he assured the brethren he had done his best, and if they were satisfied his greatest ambition had been attained. He would always use every endeavour to keep up the prestige of the Polish National Lodge, but he felt he could only carry that out with assistance from his Officers. He hoped they would continue to do their duty in the same satisfactory manner. Graceful allusion was also made to the P.M.'s who were present, and the toast having been responded to, the brethren separated, after having spent a very pleasant and instructive evening.

ARBORETUM LODGE, DERBY, No. 731.

THIS Lodge held an emergency meeting on Thursday, 8th November, the only business set forth on the Circular being "A Lecture by Bro. James Stevens P.M. P.Z., London, Explanatory of the Ritual and Ceremonies of the First Degree." Lodge was called for six p.m. at the Masonic Hall, and was opened by the W.M. The following brethren, amongst others, were present, viz.: Bros. J. Bland W.M., C. Webster S.W., James Copestick J.W., Edgar Horne M.D., A. Woodiwiss jun. J.D., J. W. Brigg Organist, Thomas Day M.C., Severn Taylor I.G., John Walker Steward, E. Holden Tyler; P.M.'s G. T. Wright, J. C. Merry, J. Brown, A. Frayer, W. Whittaker Treasurer, J. Taylor; Willie Helps, A. Tyler, W. Forman, J. Melrose, W. Knight, J. Ascott, &c. The Visitors were Bros. E. R. Ward P.M. 253, A. Ogden 787, E. Belfield W.M. 802, W. Butterfield W.M. C. D. Hart S.W. 1085, and James Stevens 720, 1216, 1426 P.M. P.Z. The Acting Secretary read the Circular convening the Emergency Meeting, after which the W.M. in a few words introduced Bro. Stevens to the brethren assembled, and called upon him to proceed with his lecture. Judging by the close attention paid to the lecturer, it was evident the Visitors and brethren of the Lodge were deeply interested, and all seemed surprised that the time had sped so quickly, when Bro. Stevens brought his admirable lecture to a close. The Senior Past Master, Bro. G. T. Wright, on rising to propose a vote of thanks to Bro. Stevens, expressed the great gratification he had received, and he had no doubt the brethren of the Arboretum Lodge would take heed of the various differences and discrepancies which had been pointed out by the lecturer, and adopt such alterations as might be deemed the best. He was glad, however, to note that their working ran very closely to that which had been so ably explained by Bro. Stevens. The proposition was seconded by Bro. John Brown P.M., who, as Preceptor of the Lodge of Instruction, said he had no doubt the brethren would discuss the various differences at the next meeting of that Lodge. The Worshipful Master supported the vote of thanks, which on being put was carried unanimously. Bro. Stevens, in reply, assured the W.M. and brethren of the pleasure it had given him to meet so prosperous a Lodge as 731, and to deliver his lecture at Derby. He thought that clever and distinguished as the London brethren might be, and were, some of them might learn useful lessons by visiting Provincial Lodges. Refreshment followed labour, and the W.M., on rising to give the first toast, thought it advisable to depart from the usual custom and announce that a formal toast list would be dispensed with. He, therefore, gave the Queen and the Craft, and, in a few words, the health of their distinguished visitor Bro. James Stevens, which was suitably responded to. The only other toasts were the Worshipful Master by Bro. Stevens, and the Visitors by Bro. W. Whitaker P.M. Treasurer, to which the W.M. briefly replied, as did also Bros. E. R. Ward P.M. 253 and Bro. Ogden 787. There being a large number of musical brethren present, a most enjoyable evening was spent, Bro. Stevens causing great pleasure by reciting "The Three Great Lights," and "The Level and the Square," The brethren then separated, well satisfied with the entire proceedings.

LODGE OF ASAPH, No. 1319.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge was held on the 5th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, and was numerously attended by members and Visitors. The chairs were filled as follows:—Bros. John Maclean W.M., F. Delavante S.W., C. E. Tinney J.W., C. Coote Treas., J. M. Chamberlain P.M. Secretary, H. Ashley S.D., Kent J.D., Lestocq M.C., H. Tinney I.G., Egerton Organist, W. Smith Steward, Meyer Lutz I.P.M.; P.M.'s E. Swanborough, Jekyll P.G.O., J. Weaver, Wellard, G. Buckland. Amongst the Visitors were Bros. Col. Shadwell Clerke G. Secretary, W. Day 1949, P. T. Duffy 33, Dr. Dunn 39, T. Squire 1633, Randolph 1373, Stevens 901, H. Massey P.M. 1928, E. Garden 949, A. Edwards 1328, E. Stanislaus 721, Lindsay 1531, C. Stevens S.W. 1793, Adams 738, R. Cumming 1677, Stone 704, C. Bere 211, Hobby 1531, E. J. Rawle 765, Brander 1563, Goodchild 1984, Smith 1567, Fitzgerald 1364, C. May P.M. 780, H. M. Harris W.M. 205, Brown 1672, Draper P.M. 1305, Maloney 25, A. Roberts 733, Wentworth 1760, Leon 186 and 780, A. G. Taylor P.P.G.S.W. Surrey, Linder P.M. 1642, Brocklehaus 862, Jas. Willing, Casson 1706, Davis 188, Wilson 101, Wilson 1366, Stohwasser P.M. 569, Bishop 231, Purkiss P.M. 145, H. M. Levy P.M. 188, Newingham 1706, Dewar 515. Lodge was opened and the minutes were confirmed. The reports of the Audit Committee and the Benevolent Fund were read and adopted. The former showed a balance in favour of the Lodge of £241 18s 6d while the Benevolent Fund had a credit of £560 8s 9d. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. F. Delevante S.W. and W.M. elect was presented to the Lodge and duly installed in the chair by the retiring W.M. (Bro. John Maclean), who conducted the ceremony in a manner that it was a pleasure to listen to. There were seventeen W.M.'s and P.M.'s present. The Worshipful Master having been saluted, appointed and invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. Maclean I.P.M., C. Tinney S.W., H. Ashley J.W., C. Coote Treasurer, Chamberlain P.M. Secretary, Kent S.D., H. Tinney J.D., L. Wooldridge I.G., W. Smith M.C., Hamilton Organist, Hutchinson and Fairchild Stewards, Gilbert P.G.T. Middlesex Tyler. Bro. Meyer Lutz P.M. efficiently acted as M.C. The resignation of a member was accepted, with regret, and a candidate was proposed for initiation at the next meeting. Hearty good wishes were tendered by the visitors, and the brethren, 123 in number, sat down to a sumptuous and récherché banquet, supplied by Messrs. Spiers and Pond (Limited), in the large hall, and superintended by Bro. Dawkins. Grace having been sung, the W.M. in a terse and able manner proposed the loyal toast—the Queen and the Craft. The National Anthem was sung by Madame Worrell and Madame Florence Winne, and then the toast of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales was given, and received with enthusiasm. The Prov. G.M., the Deputy G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers of the G. Lodge of England came next on the list, and Bro. Col. Shadwell H. Clerke was called on to respond. Before Col. Clerke rose, Bro. Maclean gave a capital recitation, entitled "A Villainous Ambition," which elicited loud and long applause. The piece in question, we may mention here, was written by the late lamented H. S. Leigh. In reply to the toast, Col. Clerke assured the brethren it was a great pleasure to return thanks for the Grand Officers. The Prov. G.M. and the Deputy G.M. have always done good suit and service for the Craft; while the names of the other Grand Officers were always received with enthusiasm. He hoped to be present at this Lodge on many future occasions. Personally, he wished the W.M. and the Lodge of Asaph every success in the future. Here Bro. H. Tinney J.D. gave a pianoforte solo—"Reisbilder"—which he played most artistically. Bro. J. Maclean now said it devolved on him to propose the health of the W.M., whose ability and qualities for good fellowship needed no recommendation from him. Bro. Delevante had been suffering for some years from a failing of eyesight. It was satisfactory to know their W.M. had now partially recovered this inestimable blessing, and he (Bro. Maclean) hoped he might perfectly succeed in recovering the blessing of material light, a boon so conducive to success in this life. The W.M. said it was a great pleasure, and he might say it had been the aim of the best part of his life-time, to attain the position he now held. This was his mother Lodge; it was only on one occasion that he had been absent since his initiation. He had worked through every office, from that of Organist. He looked upon this Lodge as a means of cementing friendships; there was a genial good feeling prevailing amongst its members. He hoped at the end of his year of office the brethren would not regret having placed him in the chair. Before rising from his seat he would, with the permission of the brethren, propose the health of the I.P.M. All know what Brother Maclean has done in the Lodge of Asaph; he has been a pattern of courtesy, a man moulded of good honest material. He is one of the pillars of the Lodge, and all hope he may long be spared to remain an ornament to it. Before, however, the brethren did that honour to the toast which he felt assured they would give it, he had a duty to perform; to present Bro. Maclean with the Past Master's jewel of the Lodge. This had been unanimously voted, and in placing it on his breast, he (Bro. Delevante) trusted he might wear it for many years as a token of the respect entertained for him by the brethren of the Asaph Lodge. Miss Florence Winne here favoured the brethren with an excellent song. On rising, Bro. Maclean said the first thing he had to do was to thank the W.M. and brethren for their kind reception; he had also to thank them for the jewel. He hoped he had deserved it; in the future he should be proud to wear it. He had especially to thank Bro. Frewin who had so kindly proposed the gift. The Officers had been diligent and conscientious in their work, and had materially helped him to carry out his duties; particularly to the P.M.'s his more especial thanks were due; no service was required of them but they were ever ready to undertake it. Bro. Chamberlin P.M. and Secretary responded to the toast of the Past Masters; Bro. Leon for the Visitors, and took the opportunity of preferring a request that his friend Bro. Swanborough would propose him as a joining member of the Lodge. The Officers were next complimented, and shortly afterwards the Tyler gave the parting toast. The evening was enlivened by some capital songs, &c.

Digitized by Google

DOMATIC LODGE, No. 177.

AN event of considerable importance to all concerned in the welfare of this old Lodge took place on the occasion of its last regular meeting, which was held at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C., on Friday, 9th inst., a testimonial being that evening presented to its worthy Treasurer and P.M. Bro. George Everett. The Lodge was presided over by Bro. Wm. Herbage W.M., who was supported by Bros. W. M. Foxcroft S.W., P. Pierpoint J.W., Geo. Everett P.M. Treas., Thomas Morris Sec., H. Bowman Spink P.M., W. J. Ferguson P.M., J. R. Foulger P.M., Isaac Buscall P.M., E. White P.M., Frederic Kent P.M., Harry Price S.D., A. Simner J.D., Robert Montague I.G., Richard Harvey Steward, and the following visitors:—H. Wootton 1986, H. M. Appleton S.W. 1381, H. Massey P.M. 619, 1928, C. H. Everett 1987, G. Coles 1381, H. Stiles I.P.M. 1507, W. T. Buxton 1881, E. Ayling W.M. 975, R. T. Whitley P.M. 946 P.P.G.D.C. Middlesex, T. H. Pulsford P.M. 1158, R. J. Vincent W.M. 1963, J. W. Batton S.D. 1613, W. E. Greaves 1744, W. Mann P.M. 186, T. H. Hartley 1068, W. H. Baker I.G. 1446, C. W. Blake 1185, W. P. Webb P.M. 1381, G. A. Potter J.W. 1964, H. Share 1558, W. H. Coubran 1657, Robert H. Clemow J.D. 1589, F. H. Clemow P.M. 1744, &c. The business of the evening comprised the raising of Brother H. M. Emerson, the passing of Brother E. J. Cook, and the initiation of Mr. Carlo Torriani and Mr. William Haines, all three of the ceremonies being worked in a very efficient manner. The special business of the evening—the presentation to Bro. Everett P.M.—occupied the attention of the W.M. as soon as the other business had been disposed of. In the course of an address which the Master delivered, he remarked that when he was installed as W.M. of the Domatic Lodge he referred to the especial pleasure he had felt in investing Brother Everett with the collar of Treasurer, as he was then convinced that the Lodge would be pleased to retain him in the office, and he felt that the way in which the testimonial about to be presented had been subscribed to was ample proof that he was not wrong in his surmise. Brother Everett carried out the work of his office efficiently and well, and in saying so he bore in mind that the office was no sinecure; no office of such a character could be in so large a Lodge as the Domatic. No matter on what branch of Lodge affairs they wanted advice, they always benefitted from an appeal to the Treasurer, who, of all the Officers, was most worthy of compliment. It might be there were brethren in the Lodge who considered some of the officers did not quite come up to the standard, but he thought there was only one opinion in regard to Bro. Everett, who was universally admitted to be all that could be desired. It had made a very great impression on his (the speaker's) mind when Bro. Everett first presided as W.M. in the Domatic Lodge. He then explained the true principles of Freemasonry most ably, and so long as he had known him he had always acted up to its teachings. The W.M. hoped Bro. Everett would long live to act for the welfare of the Lodge, and adorn the office he now so ably filled. He then begged Bro. Everett's acceptance of the testimonial which the brethren offered, as an expression of their goodwill towards him, it consisted of a silver tea and coffee service, an engrossed souvenir with list of subscribers, and a gold brooch and earrings for Mrs. Everett. The brethren hoped that the articles would long be used by Bro. Everett and his wife, and that they would, in years to come, remain in the family, as a token of the esteem in which Bro. Everett and his wife were held. The W.M. concluded by wishing them long life, health, and prosperity. The silver tea caddy bore the following inscription:—

Presented, with a Silver Tea and Coffee Service, to
Bro. GEORGE EVERETT,
P.M. 177, 1381, and P.Z. 177, 1381,
As a token of esteem and respect, by the Brethren and Friends of the Domatic Lodge, No. 177.
November 1883.

The scroll, on which is inscribed the names of the subscribers, is of quite a novel kind, from a design by Bro. Harry Price, S.D. of the Lodge, and beautifully painted by Miss Chargois, daughter of Bro. P. Chargois, of the Atlingworth Lodge, Brighton; the border being composed of lilies and pomegranates. At the top, forming a centre, is a column surmounted by a globe with a veil thrown over it, the whole forming a very pretty representation of net work, lily work, and pomegranates. It is nicely framed in oak, and forms a very handsome souvenir of the occasion. It reads as follows:—

Domatic Lodge, No. 177,
Bro. W. HERBAGE W.M.
Presented, with a Silver Tea and Coffee Service,
in open Lodge,
To Bro. GEORGE EVERETT, P.M. and Treasurer,
As a mark of esteem and respect, by the Lodge, and the following members and friends.
Also a Gold Brooch and Earrings for Mrs. GEORGE EVERETT, as a souvenir of the occasion.

Here follows a list of the subscribers to the testimonial—98 names in all—and at the foot the following signatures:—

Isaac Buscall P.M. Hon. Treasurer.
Harry Price S.D. } Joint
Richard Harvey W.S. } Hon. Secs.

9th November 1883.

Bro. Everett rose for the purpose of acknowledging the gift. He was not usually at a loss, he said, for something to say, but the occasion was such an exceptional one that he must ask for the consideration of the brethren. The expressions, "the present is one of the happiest moments of my life," or "my heart is too full to allow me to find words to thank you," stereotyped phrases though they were, most truly represented his feelings. He was really too much affected to properly express himself. The movement, which had terminated in the gift of the handsome articles he saw before him, had been of so spontaneous and popular a character as to show that the gift was the gift of the general body of members of the Lodge. He further prized the Testimonial because he found on the list of subscribers to it, not only the names of members who had been associated with him in the Lodge during the past few years, but also old members, as well as members who had but recently joined them. It contained the names of the oldest Past Masters, notably Bro. Baker P.M. and Father of the Lodge, Bro. J. Brett, also a P.M. of the Lodge, and a brother to whose kindly encouragement he owed his present position in Freemasonry; Bro. Foulger, another of the oldest P.M.'s; Bro. Ferguson, a Mason to whom he was particularly obliged, as it was to him he looked for any assistance he might require at the present, when, in consequence of absence or other causes, he was unable to attend personally to the work of his office. But it was invidious for him to enumerate the names of the numerous subscribers—all were equally kind, and he was equally indebted to all. He considered it indeed a kindness that they had thought of his wife. She was one who thought much better of Freemasonry than many Masons' wives did, and he felt she would prize very highly the gift the brethren had made her at his hands. If he had failed in thanking the brethren as he ought to have done, they must consider it was from want of power rather than from want of intention. He expressed his thanks to the officials of the Testimonial Committee, to whose kindly services he considered much of the success was due, and concluded by again tendering his acknowledgments to all concerned; he should ever esteem the gift as a very dear one, and trusted that those who should come after him would see in it the expression of the kindly feelings entertained towards him by the members of the Domatic Lodge. The W.M. then proceeded to close the Lodge, before doing which, however, he suggested that a telegram should be sent to H.R.H. the M.W.G.M. congratulating him on his birthday. This was agreed to with acclamation, was despatched, and later on most graciously acknowledged by the Prince of Wales. At the close of the labours of the evening the brethren partook of a banquet, which was presided over by the W.M., who in due course proposed the customary toasts. The brethren had particular pleasure in wishing their Grand Master long life, health, and prosperity on his natal day. His Royal Highness was a great acquisition to Freemasonry, shedding lustre on the Order, and devoting great attention to its welfare. Bro. Ferguson P.M. proposed the health of the W.M. It was at all times a pleasure to propose this toast. The W.M. had that night had a heavy amount of work, and had acquitted himself most ably. The W.M. expressed his thanks; Bro. Ferguson had stated that the Lodge was proud of its Master, he (the speaker) could assure the brethren that he was most sincerely proud of his Lodge. It was his endeavour to afford enjoyment and to give pleasure to each member. He then proposed the health of the Initiates, which toast was warmly received, and acknowledged by the two newly admitted brethren. The visitors were next complimented. This was always a popular toast in the Domatic; much could be said in support of it, but it was perhaps sufficient to acknowledge the honour the guests had conferred by visiting the Lodge. The W.M. hoped they had enjoyed themselves, and were satisfied with what had been done for them that night. Several of the visitors having replied, the toast of the P.M.'s was given from the chair, and this Bro. Foulger acknowledged. He regretted that he had been kept away for some time past from this, his mother Lodge. He was glad to see that the members had that day done honour to one who really deserved honouring. He was proud to be associated, as he had been for years past, with Bro. Everett, and gratified to see what the brethren had that evening done for him. The services Bro. Everett had been called upon to perform had been faithfully and zealously carried out, and he hoped that both he and his wife might live long to continue their interest in the welfare of the Lodge, and to utilize the testimonial presented them. The toasts of the Treasurer, the Secretary, and the Officers of the Lodge were severally proposed, and having been acknowledged, the proceedings were brought to a conclusion.

EARL OF CARNARVON LODGE, No. 1642.

THE annual visits which our official duties call upon us to make to those Lodges with which we have been intimately associated during the whole, or the greater part, of the time the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE has been in existence, seem to act on our mind in much the same way as milestones do which we meet while journeying along a country road. They also serve forcibly to impress us with the rapid flight of time, and, as each one is reached, call up memories of those which have preceded it. We live through the events of years gone by, and opportunity is afforded us of comparing the present with the past. The FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE has recorded the consecration of many a Lodge during the nine years it has been before the Masonic world, some of which have fulfilled the expectations of their founders; others have taken a course different to what was proposed at the outset; while others again, we are forced to admit, are far from what their founders intended they should be. It has been the custom in many cases, when a new Lodge has been proposed, to give some special reason for its promotion beyond the mere desire to advance the general welfare of the Order, almost as though a special excuse were necessary to account for the application for a warrant being made. The support of the Charities has been given as the raison d'être in many instances; the desire for a Lodge limited to the members of some particular art, profession, or science has called many others into being; while the peculiar ideas of various sects have also been urged as sufficient excuse for the promotion of new Lodges. We do not remember whether either of these reasons were urged when the Earl of Carnarvon Lodge was proposed, but we do know that from its commencement the promotion of our Charities' welfare has been among its watchwords, and that right nobly have its members worked to uphold that worthy desire. We have now arrived at the period in the existence of this Lodge when its founders have the opportunity of proving to the Masonic world that the confidence reposed in them years back, when the Warrant was issued, was not misplaced. The first initiates and joining members of the Lodge are now coming to the fore, and they bid fair to uphold the high reputation which the founders, who so far have occupied the chief positions, have secured to it. The regular installation meeting this year witnesses the retirement to the rank of P.M. of the brother first on the Lodge Register outside the actual founders, while his successor is another of those who joined the Lodge at its first regular meeting. Thus far the founders have every reason to be proud of their earlier selection. Bro. S. Smout jun., the I.P.M. of the Lodge, has proved himself to be a brother worthy of every respect, while Bro. F. C. Frye, the present W.M., displayed such talent on the night of his installation as to prove that he also is likely to add to the lustre already attached to his Lodge. Two of the first initiates, brethren who were also admitted at the first regular meeting of the Lodge, we now find occupying the position of Wardens, with every prospect of promotion, and so on right through the offices; the earlier members having regularly been invested with the several collars. This year's annual meeting took place on Thursday, the 8th instant, at the Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, and was presided over by Bro. S. Smout jun. W.M., who was supported by the following Officers:—Bros. Fred. C. Frye S.W., James Bartle J.W., Samuel H. Parkhouse P.M. Treasurer, W. J. Murlis P.M. Secretary, G. Penn P.M., E. M. Lander P.M., S. Smout sen. P.M., W. Stephens Hon. P.M., J. Woodmason S.D., W. W. Buckland J.D., Rev. P. M. Holden Chaplain, F. Delevante Organist, Robert Whitaker Steward, J. H. Wood I.G., Robert Schofield P.M. Tyler, and others. The minutes of last Lodge having been confirmed, Bro. Richard Truine was regularly passed to the degree of Fellow Craft, and the W.M. elect (Bro. Frye) was installed into the chair. Having invested his Officers, the ceremony of installation was completed. The Auditors' Report was presented and adopted, and a vote of thanks passed to the Auditors for their services. A notice of motion was then given, that the sum of fifty guineas should be voted to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, to be placed on the list of the I.P.M., and several other matters of business having been disposed of, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren proceeded to the banquet hall, where a first-rate dinner, provided by Bro. J. Linscott, was enjoyed. At the conclusion of the repast the W.M. proceeded to give the customary toasts. "The Queen and the Craft" having been honoured, that of the health of the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M., followed. Our Grand Master was, the W.M. said, always foremost in doing anything to further the interests of the Craft, in the welfare of which he appeared to take great interest. His recent advancement to the degree of Mark Master clearly proved that his interest in the Order was not dying out. The toast of the Earl of Carnarvon came next, and from the intimate association of his lordship's name with the Lodge met with a hearty reception. The W.M. regretted they had never had the honour of a visit from the Pro G.M., and hoped they might some day have that pleasure, when they would have an opportunity of proving to their sponsor that they did not discredit him in bearing his name. The Earl of Lathom and the Grand Officers Present and Past was next given. The Lodge was greatly honoured in the promotion of one of its earliest members—Bro. W. Stephens—to office in Grand Lodge, and now had great pleasure in congratulating him on his good fortune in securing the appointment of Assistant Grand Pursuivant. They were also honoured with the presence of Bro. Thomas Cubitt, a Past Officer of Grand Lodge, and also a brother well worthy of the distinction which had been conferred on him. Bro. Stephens expressed thanks on behalf of Lord Lathom and the Grand Officers generally. Personally he thanked the members of the Earl of Carnarvon Lodge very much, as he had been associated with it from its infancy. He was pleased to see the progress the Lodge had made. Every member of Grand Lodge endeavoured to do his duty, and he believed it was to the fact of his having always endeavoured to act on that principle that he in great measure owed his selection for Grand honours. He urged on those who were eligible to attend regularly the Quarterly Communications of Grand Lodge, in order that the welfare of the Order and of their respective Lodges might be looked after. He was gratified to find that no less a sum than £2,200 had been sent up to the Charities from the Earl of Carnarvon Lodge during its seven years' existence, and felt sure that its present position must be subject for gratification to the nobleman whose name they bore. Brother Cubitt followed, he particularly referred to the Masonic ability of the Deputy Grand Master; who was equally at home in Grand Lodge, in his Provincial Lodge, or at a Private Lodge. In all he was able to fulfil any duty which might be required of him. The Past Grand Officers had set an example which the present and future officers would do well to imitate. Bro. Smout the I.P.M. proposed the health of the W.M. This he considered was the toast of the evening, and he hoped the brethren would give it a hearty welcome. The members wished their new Master a very happy and successful year of office. Bro. Frye tendered his sincere thanks. If anything could dispel the diffidence he felt in the position he had that night been advanced to, it was the reception he had just met with. He was gratified to see so large an assembly to welcome him on his first appearance as W. Master of the Earl of Carnarvon Lodge, and more so at the way in which they had expressed their welcome. He looked upon it as an augury of future benefit to the Lodge; he felt that every brother associated with it would do his utmost to advance its interest and make his year of office a success. He had never regretted associating himself with the members of the Lodge, at whose hands he had always received that kindly reception which was so truly Masonic. He very highly esteemed the confidence reposed in him. He hoped to perform his duties in such a manner as to merit the approval of the brethren and their kindly support. He next proposed the toast of the visitors, expressing the pleasure he and the members generally felt at the presence of so many guests. He hoped all had enjoyed themselves, and that their experience of the Earl of Carnarvon Lodge had equalled their expectations. Bro. Jordan P.M. No. 4 and W.M. G. Stewards' Lodge, replied. He had never heard a more gratifying statement than that which had been made in reference to the Lodge's support of the Charities. That a Lodge so young should have done so much, reflected the greatest credit on all who were associated with; it he felt he could hardly find words to express his feelings on this point. He could not help feeling ashamed of what his own Lodge had done in face of such a record as was attached to the Lodge of which he was then a guest. Bros. Gold, Harding and Isaacs followed. The latter felt that nowhere was true and good Freemasonry more fully exemplified than in the Earl of Carnarvon Lodge, the Past Masters of which were a credit to the Order. The W.M. next proposed the toast of the Installing Master, a toast which, although omitted from their printed list, could on no account be omitted from their evening's programme. The work which the I.P.M. had that day been called upon to perform had been carried through most efficiently. The W.M. desired personally to thank Bro. Smout for the way in which he had performed his work, and he felt he might also thank him on behalf of the members generally. He had great pleasure in presenting Bro. Smout with the Past Master's jewel, which had been voted him at the last Lodge meeting, and hoped he might long live to enjoy the esteem of his brother Masons. The jewel bore the following inscription:

Digitized by Google

Presented by
The Earl of Carnarvon Lodge, No. 1642, to Bro. Samuel Smout jun.
in recognition of his services as W.M.
1882-83.

Bro. Smout tendered his thanks for being so highly complimented on performing what was really nothing more than his duty. When he was elected to the office of Master he made up his mind to carry out the duties of the office to the best of his ability, and to endeavour to give satisfaction. He was pleased beyond measure that his efforts had met with such approval as was evidenced in the kindly expressions and handsome present accorded him. The health of the Treasurer and Secretary followed, the W.M. paying the highest compliments to the two brethren who filled those positions. Bro. Murlis tendered his hearty thanks, as also did Bro. Parkhouse. The W.M. proposed the health of Bro. Truine. They had not had the pleasure of initiating any one that day, but on the last occasion they received into their midst a gentleman they were pleased now to welcome. They had not had an opportunity of drinking his health on the day of his initiation, and as he (the Worshipful Master) considered that the customary welcome should, in such cases, be given at the first available opportunity, he now had the pleasure to propose his health, and to tender him a hearty welcome. Bro. Truine having replied, the health of the Past Masters was given, and that having in turn been replied to, the proceedings were brought to a conclusion with the customary closing toast. An entertaining musical programme was carried through by Miss Pushman and Messrs. H. Linscott and Louis Stephens. Amongst the Visitors were—Bros. C. Webster S.D. 1637, George Amos Duke 1608, R. A. Fraser I.G. 1567, Robert Fairclough I.P.M. 155, J. M. Jefferson 1637, W. Hucks 834, J. Shipley W.M. 30, A. G. Gold 1615, Henry Gold 1615, Henry Walter Gilbey 25, J. Jordan P.M. 4 W.M. G. S. Lodge, J. N. Frye 195, J. H. Watson 1641, W. Weaver W.M. 1238, J. H. Pearson P.M. 1567, G. C. Harding P.M. 1238, G. D. Unite 55, Sir C. W. Dilke 834, J. E. C. Bodley P.P.G. Sec. Oxon, T. Fisher 733, F. G. Baker P.M. 753, C. W. Keep I.G. 195, Thomas Cubitt P.G.P., Samuel Dyer W.M. 1612, W. C. Williams J.D. 1585, Charles Davey P.M. 30, David Hughes S.W. 901, John Hughes W.M. 901, H. Dehane I.P.M. 1543 P.P.G.S.D. Middlesex, T. Hastings Miller P.M. 907 W.M. 1964 P.P.G.D. Essex, Canon Holden, H. Massey P.M. 619 1928, W. Laugridge Treasurer 1425, Lewis H. Isaacs P.M. 873, George Davis P.M. 167, A. Nicols W.M. 1974, S. Elborn P.M. 511, J. W. Cuff P.M. 1608.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—Held at the Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N., on Saturday, 10th inst. Present—Bros. Jones W.M., Liebman S.W., Gribbell J.W., Gellen S.D., Aston I.G., Pearcy Preceptor, Galer Secretary; also Bros. Weeden, Dixie, Cohen, Ferrar, O'Donnell, Parker, Robinson, Gildersleu, Richardson, Glass, Fenner, Ridder, R. Pearcy, Moss, Wright and Anney. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Glass having offered himself as candidate, was examined and entrusted. Lodge was opened in the second, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed. Bro. Cohen worked the first section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Lodge was closed in the second degree. Bro. Liebman was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing week. Bro. Fenner was elected Treasurer in the place of Bro. C. Lorkin, resigned. Nothing further having offered for the good of Freemasonry, Lodge was closed in ancient form, and adjourned to Saturday, the 17th instant. The business on this occasion was completed earlier than usual in order to elect Officers and a Committee for a Masonic Charities Association. The first meeting will be held on Saturday, the 24th inst., and after that date, on the last Saturday in every month. The subscriptions will be 1s per week, payable monthly; and as often as sufficient funds are in hand a Life Governorship for one of the Masonic Institutions will be hallotted for. Any Brother wishing to join can do so by forwarding his name and address and No. of Lodge, to the Secretary, Bro. R. W. Galer, 12 Green Lanes, N., who will be pleased to afford any further information that may be required.

Digitized by Google

THE IMPERIAL HOTEL,

HOLBORN VIADUCT, LONDON,

Adjoining the Terminus of the London Chatham and Dover Railway, but distinct from the Viaduct Hotel.

THE BEST FURNISHED AND MOST COMFORTABLE HOTEL IN LONDON.
HOT & COLD WATER LAID ON IN ALL BED ROOMS.
The appointments throughout so arranged as to ensure domestic comfort.

EVERY ACCOMMODATION FOR MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS,
Public Dinners & Wedding Breakfasts.

The Crusaders Lodge, No. 1677, and Perseverance Lodge, No. 1743, hold their meetings at this establishment.

GOOD COOKING. FINE WINES. MODERATE CHARGES.
The Edison Electric Light.
TARIFF on APPLICATION to Bro. A. BEGBIE.

HOLLY BUSH TAVERN, HAMPSTEAD,

(Close to the Fire Station).

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; BALLS and ASSEMBLIES; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c. Rail and Bus within easy distance.

The members of the St. John's Lodge, No. 167, have held their meetings at this establishment for many years.

Full particulars and Tariff on application to
C. M. FROUD, Proprietor.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL SPECIAL BUILDING FUND.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

In connection with such Special Fund, attainable until 31st December 1883.

Any present Life Governor of the General Fund, or any Donor who may qualify as such up to the date named above, will receive—

TWO VOTES,—instead of One Vote, for LIFE, for every FIVE GUINEAS contributed to the "Special Fund."

Lodges, Chapters, &c., similarly qualified may secure Two Votes instead of One Vote—for every Ten Guineas contributed to the "Special Fund."

 Ladies, and "Lewises"—being minors—similarly qualified, and all Vice-Presidents, will receive FOUR Votes for every Five Guineas so contributed.

Contributors of less than Five Guineas, to the "Special Fund," will be entitled to Votes as under ordinary conditions.

Now Ready, Crown 8vo, 96 pp,

Price One Shilling,

Free by Post on receipt of 24 Halfpenny Stamps,

OCCASIONAL PAPERS
ON
THE HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.

Written expressly for delivery in Lodges of Instruction.

London: W. W. MORGAN,
Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N.

Brother C. G. SPARROW,

ACCOUNTANT AND AUDITOR,
17 FINSBURY PAVEMENT, E.C.

Accounts audited periodically at a moderate annual charge
Terms on application.

PAUL & BURROWS,

MANUFACTURERS OF
SODA WATER AND SELTZER WATER,
LEMONADE AND GINGER BEER,
GINGER ALE AND POTASH WATER,
&c. &c.
FIRST CLASS QUALITY ONLY.
WILSON and ENDELL STREETS, LONG ACRE, LONDON, W.C.
ESTABLISHED EIGHTY YEARS.

BRO. R. HIRST engages to provide, at short notice, an efficient Band for Annual Banquets, Dinners, Excursions and Quadrille Parties. For terms apply to "R. Hirst, The Three Crowns, 237 Mile End Road, E."

Twelfth Edition, post free, One Shilling.

DR. WATTS on ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS. A Treatise on the only successful Method of Curing these Diseases. By Robert G. Watts, M.D., F.R.S.L., F.C.S., &c., 5 Bulstrode-street, Cavendish-sq., London.
London: C. Mitchell and Co., Red Lion-court, Fleet-street; and Simpkin and Co., Stationers' Hall-court

Emulation Lodge of Improvement.

UNDER THE SANCTION OF THE LODGE OF UNIONS.

No. 256.

Stewards:

*Bro. THOMAS FENN P.G.D. Treasurer.

Bro. E. Almack 1768
J. R. Anderson J.W. 18
J. J. Black 1564
G. Brown P.M. 140
H. Bue J.W. 1820 Sec. 1965
F. T. Bennett 211
Col. S. H. Clerke G. Secretary
*W. A. Dawson P.M. 1768
G. Drysdale P.M. 223
H. J. P. Dumas P.G.D.
R. R. Davis P.M. 256
A. Escott P.M. 1593
A. Fyson 1768
Robert Gray P.G.D. [Herts
H. C. Heard P.M. 449 P.P.J.D.
E. B. Holloway P.M. 108
A. Heyes 1567
J. R. Jones J.W. 1768
W. H. Johnston S.D. 1925
J. W. Jones G.S.
W. G. Kentish P.M. 1293
C. Lowthers Kemp 63 and S.W. 1924
Bro. P. de L. Long P.G.D.
G. F. Marshall S.D. 69
A. Marvin W.M. 1768
E. M. Money J.W. 28
C. A. Murton P.G.D.
J. H. Matthews P.D.G.D. Bengal
T. W Ockenden S.W. 1768
F. W. Prior 90
G. C. Pulsford W.M. 1503
H. Pritchard J.D. 1415
*A. A. Richards P.G.S. P.M 8 P.P.G.J.W. Middlesex
J. A. Rucker P.G.D.
A. C. Spaull P.M. 1768
*F. R. Spaull P.M. 1124, Sec.
W. H. Spaull P.G.S. N. Wales
*R. C. Sudlow P.M. 1965 [& Salop
S. W. Shaw W.M. 1965
W. Smallpeice P.M. 1395
J. T. Tanqueray S.W. 1965
E. L. Walford 905
S. B. Wilson P.M. 69

THE ANNUAL FESTIVAL

OF THE LODGE WILL TAKE PLACE AT

FREEMASONS' HALL,

On Friday Evening, 23rd November 1883,

ON WHICH OCCASION

R.W. Bro. The Hon. Mr. Justice Prinsep,
DISTRICT GRAND MASTER OF BENGAL,
Has kindly consented to preside.

THE LODGE WILL BE OPENED AT SIX O'CLOCK P.M. PRECISELY.

The second lecture will be worked :—

1st Section ... ... By Bro. F. T. Bennett 211.
2nd " ... ... J. T. Tanqueray S.W. 1965.
3rd " ... ... A. Marvin W.M. 1768.
4th " ... ... J. J. Black 1564.
5th " ... ... G. F. Marshall S.D. 69

TICKETS for the SUPPER, 4s each, may be had of the STEWARDS, or of the SECRETARY.

F. R. SPAULL, Secretary,
29 Hammersmith Road, W.

N.B.—The Emulation Lodge of Improvement meets at Freemasons' Hall, on every Friday evening throughout the year, at seven o'clock.

PROVINCIAL GRAND CHAPTER OF WEST YORKSHIRE.

AT a Provincial Grand Chapter, holden in the Masonic Hall, Long-causeway, Dewsbury, on Wednesday, 7th November 1883, at 4 o'clock p.m., under the Banner of Three Grand Principles Chapter, No. 208.

The Chapter was opened by the Principals and Companions of Three Grand Principles Chapter, No. 208, at 3·45, and at 4·15 the M.E. Comp. Lieut.-Col. Sir Henry Edwards, Bart., C.B., D.L., Prov. Grand Superintendent, entered, and Prov. G. Chapter was opened in due form. After the usual salutation, the Prov. G. Superintendent delivered the following address :—

Excellent Companions,—May I express to you my gratification at finding myself once more able to occupy this chair as your Provincial Grand Superintendent, this being the thirty-ninth meeting since this Provincial Grand Chapter was formed here in Dewsbury, on the 5th day of May 1858, and my obligations are due to the Companions of the Three Grand Principles Chapter, No. 208, for permission to assemble in their Temple.

I am glad to tell you that Holme Valley Chapter, No. 652, was consecrated on the 23rd April 1883, and that a Charter has been granted, but not yet received, for Nelson of the Nile Chapter, No. 264, Batley. I congratulate the Convocation on these evidences of prosperity of this symbolical degree. Perhaps I may be permitted once more to express my acknowledgments to the Companions and Masons of this province for the noble way in which they made holiday and left their various employments and businesses, and filled the Huddersfield Town Hall (so kindly placed at the disposal of the Craft by the Mayor, Bro. J. F. Brigg) on the occasion of the presentation of a Masonic Address of welcome to H.R.H. the Prov. Grand Master of Oxfordshire. I was delighted beyond measure with the marvellous manner the ceremonial and procession were carried out, and the splendid manner, without barricades, you kept the ground in front of the railway station until the departure of their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Albany for London, and your march back to the Town Hall to close the Provincial Grand Lodge. The Duke of Albany, through his Secretary, has expressed to my Deputy that H.R.H. was greatly pleased with the reception the Masons gave him, and desired him to take an opportunity of telling them so, and that he would gladly sign his name in the books of the five Huddersfield Lodges.

Digitized by Google

On this fête day our Boys' Election was being conducted in the Freemasons' Hall, London, and our representatives were debarred from being present at Huddersfield. Both our boys were elected, sixteenth and nineteenth on the list of successful candidates. After the reading and confirmation of the minutes of the previous Quarterly Court, a letter was read from the widow of our late Bro. John Wordsworth, in which she expressed her thanks for the vote of sympathy which had been forwarded to her; and was ordered to be recorded on the minutes of that Court. I mention this because it shews in what respect our late brother was held in London, and to which his munificent contributions to the Charities justly entitled him. £11,000 has been funded in respect of the Preparatory Boys' School Building Fund; and a motion was carried that every donor of 200 guineas should be a Patron of the Institution, and have 80 votes at each election, with the addition that Her Gracious Majesty, the Queen, should be styled "Grand Patron" instead of as now "Patron."

I trust our Charity Subscription List for 1884 may be as handsome in amount as the one now closed, viz. £2,566 2s. I appeal to your liberality to augment our voting power, sadly reduced by the deaths of generous brethren. At our meeting at Ripon on the 3rd October, at which I was unable to be present, being in Germany at the time, Companion Tew called the attention of the Craft to a report of the Special Committe appointed to report to Grand Lodge on the subject of the Masonic Temple, recently seriously injured by fire, the carrying out of which scheme would involve an expenditure of some £40,000 or £50,000; and the granting of an extension of Messrs. Spiers and Pond's (Limited) lease to 50 years.

Our Prov. Grand Lodge passed certain resolutions thereon, differing from the proposals of the Special Committee. I have approved that almost identical resolutions be entered on the Agenda paper of this Grand Chapter, which, if carried, might give weight to the discussions in Grand Lodge when this extravagant proposal will be debated. I have also approved that Prov. Grand Lodge resolutions be sent to each Prov. Grand Secretary of every province, and also to Grand Lodge and to the Board of General Purposes. I hope, Companions, you will be there present in goodly numbers on the 5th December to support our Registrar and other provinces in the adoption of our resolutions, our opinion being that the Temple at Freemasons' Hall should be permanently preserved and re-instated at a moderate cost, to be provided out of the funds received from the Insurance Offices.

A Petition will be presented for your charitable consideration. It is a most exceptionable application from the Companions of the Marquis of Ripon Chapter, No. 837. Companions, we are commanded in Leviticus that "If our brother be waxen poor and fallen into decay with us, then we shall relieve him that he may again live with us." In this spirit the appeal will be made.

Companions, again let me reiterate that this beautiful degree is worthy of support, and how anxious I am that every Master Mason should become a Companion of the Royal Arch Degree, and I ask the First Principals of all the Chapters to use their influence to make this degree popular in the province.

I again thank you for attending here in such goodly numbers, and for the support you have accorded me as successor in this office to the late Dr. Fearnley, who was here installed on 5th May 1858, and to the late Comp. Bentley Shaw, installed 10th November 1875, in this very Temple.

The Roll of Chapters was called.

The Roll of Present and Past Prov. G. Officers was called.

The Minutes of Meeting held at Pontefract on Thursday, 10th May 1883, were confirmed.

The Prov. G.S.E. read the following letter from the Widow of the late Captain Wordsworth:

"3 Blenheim Mount, Manningham, Bradford,
"Gentlemen, 12th June 1883.

"Allow me to return my most sincere thanks to all the members of the Provincial Grand Chapter of West Yorkshire for their kind expressions of sympathy and condolence in the very heavy loss I have sustained. I cannot refrain from saying that the high esteem in which the Freemasons have held my dear husband will ever be a source of comfort and satisfaction to me and my children. In conclusion, allow me to add that I shall always continue to take an interest in the prosperity of your Institutions, to which my dear husband was so greatly attached.

I am, Gentlemen, yours faithfully,
C. E. WORDSWORTH."

"To Henry Smith, Esq., St. John's Wakefield."

It was resolved "That the above letter be entered on the minutes."

The Prov. G.S.E. read the Petition for relief of Dr. W.P., P.Z. 837.

E. Comp. J.K. Ibberson moved, and E. Comp. J. Wordsworth seconded, and it was resolved:

"That the Prov. G. Superintendent be requested to suspend Bye-law 11;" he having complied,

"E. Comp. H. C. Pickersgill, J. 837, moved, and M.E. Comp. the Prov. G. Superintendent seconded, and it was resolved:

"That the sum of £25 be granted for the relief of Dr. W. P. out of the funds of Prov. G. Chapter."

PROPOSED REBUILDING OF GRAND LODGE.

E. Comp. Robert I. Critchley, Prov. G.H., pursuant to notice, moved, and the M.E. Prov. G. Superintendent seconded, and it was resolved:

I. "That this Prov. G. Chapter of West Yorkshire, whilst fully appreciating the services of the Special Committee appointed to report to Grand Lodge on the subject of the Masonic Temple recently seriously damaged by Fire, regards with surprise and alarm the Report of such Committee, which contemplates the purchase of the unexpired term of 5½ years lease, with furniture, of Bacon's Hotel for £6,000 (annual rent £360), and the granting of an extension of Messrs. Spiers and Pond's lease to 50 years.

That this Provincial Grand Chapter is of opinion that the leasing of any property of Grand Lodge, except for a very limited period, is, under any circumstances, highly objectionable, and may prove, as in the cases of the three leases now existing, extremely inconvenient, and that the question of rent is quite a secondary consideration compared with the retention of full control of the premises and the tenants of Grand Lodge."

2. "And this Provincial Grand Chapter would strongly recommend that the Antient Temple in Great Queen-street be preserved, and that it be immediately restored, the cost to be paid out of the funds received from the Fire Insurance Offices,—and further that no extensive building operations be undertaken until the expiration of the lease on Bacon's Hotel—which will afford a favourable opportunity for the consideration of a comprehensive scheme for an additional Hall, and the re-arrangement of the premises of Grand Lodge.

"A most hearty vote of thanks was given to the M.E.Z. and Companions of Three Grand Principles, Chapter No. 208, for their excellent arrangements, and for their hospitality."

There was no application for entertaining Prov. G. Chapter in May 1884.

This being all the business, Prov. G. Chapter was closed in due form at 5·45 p.m.

HENRY SMITH, Prov. G.S.E.

About 80 Companions afterwards partook of Thé à-la-fourchette E. Comp. Tew, in the absence of the Prov. G. Superintendent, presiding.

THE IMPERIAL HOTEL.

LONDON is much better off now in the matter of hotel accommodation than it was even twenty years ago, and it is possible for visitors from the country to obtain comfortable apartments and provender at moderate charges. Moreover, many of the new hostelries are conveniently situated either close to the most important railway termini or else in central places whence access to the theatres and other places of amusement, and indeed to all parts of the metropolis, is both easy and frequent. The Imperial Hotel, which, though almost adjoining the Viaduct Railway Station, is entirely distinct from the Viaduct Hotel, is among the latest additions to the hotel comfort and convenience of London. No pains have been spared to adapt it to the requirements of every class of guest. To speak in general terms, the furniture and fittings throughout are greatly to be admired, evincing as they do, a marked degree of taste on the part of those who superintended and carried out the upholstery arrangements, while nothing can well exceed the comfort which is so noticeable in every room in the building. In this respect, perhaps, the bedrooms show to the greatest advantage. They are marvels of cosiness, and are furnished with every possible convenience, even writing materials for those who prefer attending to their correspondence in private rather than in the rooms which are set apart for that and other purposes among the general body of visitors. The sitting rooms are also well furnished, and sufficiently large to allow of visitors receiving and entertaining their friends. For general use there are smoking and lounge rooms well supplied with the current literature of the day, a lofty coffee room, and a most elegantly appointed drawing-room, in which is an Erard's grand pianoforte, so that ladies staying here will be at no loss to make their leisure time pass agreeably. As to the lavatory accommodation, it is ample and most conveniently arranged, every floor being sufficiently provided in this respect, and the same may be said in respect of baths and bath rooms, which are likewise numerous and easily accessible. But we have by no means exhausted our remarks in respect of this hotel, the proprietors of which might well have inscribed over their entrance hall the doggrel lines which, we believe, are or were to be seen on the walls of an inn in the Low Countries.

In questa casa troverete
Tontes les choses que vous souhaites—
Vinum bonum, costas et carnes,
Neat postchaise, horse, and harness.

The commissariat department is well managed, and the tariff of prices most reasonable, as indeed are the charges under each head of service. There is an experienced chef who presides over the cuisine, and we are well assured that, whether it be a plain but substantial meal, or an elaborate one of several courses, the guests who partake of it will be equally well satisfied. Moreover, the wines and spirits are of the best quality, most of them being imported direct from the proprietors. There are, however, one or two features in connection with this department to which it is only right we should call special attention. In the first place there is a hot meat luncheon provided daily from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., at the moderate charge per head of half-a-crown, and there is also a table d'hôte in the grand dining room, consisting of six courses and dessert, between the hours of 5 p.m. and 8 p.m., the charge being 4s 6d per head. This is a most sensible arrangement, as it enables the guest to comfortably fit in his lunch and dinner hours so as to accord with his business or other engagements, and it is far preferable to a lunch or dinner at a fixed hour, which it may not be always possible or convenient to attend. It only remains for us to add that every possible precaution is taken against fire, there being hydrants in all convenient directions throughout the building, while the entire establishment is under the able and experienced superintendence of Bro. Begbie, who has been connected with the hotel for the last six years and is, therefore, in a position to meet, if not always to anticipate, the requirements of his customers. One other feature we may notice. The brethren of the Mystic Tie will find every requirement provided for Lodge meetings.

Digitized by Google

CONCERNING MASONS WHO ARE UNTRUE TO FREEMASONRY.

HOW the profane press delights to expose the weaknesses and shortcomings of individual Freemasons who chance to "go wrong!" Is Smith Brown charged with being a defaulter? It is not announced that this highly esteemed and trusted merchant has been guilty of fraud, but that a "high Mason" has ignored the distinction between meum and tuum. Is the Rev. Brown Johnson arrested for appropriating his neighbour's wife? It is not published as the act of a clergyman of the church, so much as a deed of a "high Mason." Is Robinson Smith, who is an Odd Fellow, a St. George's Society man, and a member of many other organisations of a highly respectable character, charged with a heinous offence, all of his individual and society characteristics are swallowed up in his Masonry, and it is lovingly announced that another "high Mason" has covered himself and the Craft of which he is a member with dishonour. This is not fair, it is not just. A man's Masonry does not obscure all of his other relations. He is primarily a man, and a member of society; secondarily a merchant (or physician, or lawyer, as the case may be) and probably a church member; and last of all, he is a Freemason; and yet when he breaks the laws of man or God, or both, he is held up to obloquy solely as a Mason.

There are some men whom no obligations seem competent to restrain. They are innately depraved, and all the gloss of good they wear is the merest veneering, to be put on for convenience, and cast off at pleasure. Such men cannot be surely known. Even the searching examination made by a Committee of Inquiry into their character, when they petition to be received and initiated into our Fraternity, often fails to disclose their secret selves. Then again, they may be respected by all their companions for years, and yield to temptation long after they have been honoured with initiation, as in the case of the traitor General Benedict Arnold. He was made a Mason on 10th April 1765, in Hiram Lodge, No. 1, of New Haven, Conn., at which time he was an esteemed bookseller and druggist in that town. It was not until fifteen years later, in 1780, that he betrayed his country. Was Masonry responsible in any degree for that dastardly deed? Was it the act of a "high Mason?"

While deprecating this unjust and improper assailing of the Fraternity of Freemasons, through the individual acts of its members, who are at the same time esteemed citizens, business men, and often church members, as well as Freemasons, we do not desire to shield our brethren from the just punishment due them on account of their breach of the laws of society and of the State. We owe a duty to ourselves in this matter, and it is concerning this that we shall now speak. Having rapped the profane press over the knuckles for its habit of blaming Masonry for all the ills that flesh is heir to, we shall now rap the knuckles of some of the brethren for their thoughtless and injurious conduct. Here we beg to say (in the language of Bro. Nisbet), we intend no "carping criticism," but only a fair and fraternal correction of an evil that ought not to be allowed to exist in any Masonic body. Let us suppose a case. A widely-known Mason "goes wrong," very wrong, exceedingly wrong—so wrong that he escapes justice only by flight; or, standing his ground, is tried and condemned. Such a man is no longer a pillar of beauty, an ornament of Masonry, but he is a blot upon the fair escutcheon of the Craft. No false considerations of mercy should prevent such a brother from being tried, and if found guilty, suspended or expelled from Freemasonry. Charity should be extended to worthy brethren, not to false brethren. While Freemasonry is not a religion, it is "the handmaid of religion," it is "a beautiful system of morality," and he who openly breaks the laws of God and man, and continues to be acknowledged by his brethren as a Freemason in good standing, is a false beacon-light, whose influence will continually be to lure others of his brethren to destruction. We cannot afford, we ought not to afford, to carry such "dead wood." Whoever openly and grossly forgets his character for honesty, sobriety and chastity in the community, is no longer entitled to the fellowship of Masonry. "Good men and true" only are knowingly received into the Craft, and "good men and true" only should be knowingly permitted to remain in it. To retain the other class is to repel from us some of the best men among the profane, to lower the esteem in which Freemasonry has ever been held, and to misrepresent the true character of our Fraternity. Unwittingly bad men sometimes will obtain admission to our society; men good on their admission will sometimes become bad; and for either of these classes we are not directly responsible—unless we adopt them after their disreputable character has been exposed, and then we make them doubly our own, once by reception, and now again by adoption. Let no false views of Brotherhood shield such unworthy brethren. Let them be promptly banished from the Craft, either by suspension or expulsion.—Keystone.

ROYAL ARCH.

—:o:—

PATRIOTIC CHAPTER, No. 51.

THE annual installation meeting of this Chapter took place on Thursday, 8th November, when the following were installed as Principals for the ensuing year, the ceremony being most ably and impressively performed by Ex. Comp. James Terry P.Z. 174, Sec. R.M.B.I.; Ex. Comps. E. Hennemeyer Z., J. E. Wiseman H., W. Sowman J. The Officers of the Chapter were invested as follows: Comps. Thos. J. Balling I.P.Z. Prov. G.S.E. S.E., C. D. Mashall S.N., W. P. Lewis P.Z. Treas., John J. C. Turner P.S., R. Clowes 1st Assist. Soj., H. G. Everard 2nd Asst. Soj., S. Munson Janitor. The Exaltation of a candidate followed, the chair of Z. being ably filled by Comp. Terry, and the newly-appointed Officers admirably executing their portion of the work. A cordial vote of thanks was passed to Comp. Terry for his kindness in attending. The Companions afterwards dined together at the Cups Hotel. Among those present, besides those already mentioned, were Ex. Comps. A. Welch P.Z., J. Street P.Z., N. Tracy P.Z. 276, S. R. Anness H. 876, H. J. Wright J. 876, W. S. Ling, R. D. Poppleton, M. L. Sanders, George Harrison, J. T. Bailey, R. Little, J. G. Renshaw, and B. Barber.

PANMURE CHAPTER, No. 720.

A REGULAR convocation of this Chapter was holden at the Horns Tavern, Kennington, on Monday evening, the 12th inst. Chapter was opened at 6 p.m., when there were present—Ex. Comps. B. R. Bryant M.E Z., J. S. Terry H., J. W. Watts J., James Stevens P.Z., R. N. Field P.Z., M. S. Larlham P.Z. and Treasurer, T. Poore P.Z. and Scribe E., H. Baldwin Scribe N., Charles Holcroft as P.S., H. C. Jeffreys Asst. Soj., G. Harrison Janitor, W. H. Beckley and others. Bro. Henry Aubrey Woodwell of the Confidence Lodge, No. 193, was the only candidate for exaltation on this occasion. The work of all the Officers concerned in the rendering of the beautiful ceremony of the Royal Arch was most perfect, and left nothing to be desired. Especially may be noticed the admirable work of Companion Holcroft as P.S., in which he was letter perfect, although but three months advanced in the Order. A notice of motion having been made for changing the date of the Summer Convocation from August to July, the Chapter was closed, and the Companions adjourned to banquet, which was provided and served by the host, Bro. Buxton, in excellent style. A most enjoyable evening was spent, under the genial presidency of Companion Bryant the M.E.Z., and the proceedings closed in perfect harmony.

At the Chapter of Improvement, at the Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, on Thursday, the 15th inst., Comp. Dean occupied the Chair of Z., R. Bird H., Ferguson J., Knight S.N., Hubbard P.S. The various duties were sustained by the respective officers in an admirable manner. This Chapter of Improvements meets under the able Preceptorship of Comp. T. C. Edmonds.

Bro. James Stevens P.M. P.Z. has accepted the invitation of the Highgate Lodge of Instruction, to deliver his interesting Lecture on the "Ritual and Ceremonies of the First Degree," at the Boston Hotel, Junction Road, Upper Holloway, on Thursday evening, the 29th inst., when a large gathering of members and visitors is expected.

The Civil Service Candidate is the title of a new publication, issued weekly by the Civil Service Department of King's College, London. As its name implies, it is intended for the use of those who purpose becoming Candidates for appointments in the Civil branches of the public Service, and from the character of the information it contains, which is both ample and trustworthy, we have no hesitation in saying that it will meet a long-felt public want, the knowledge heretofore obtainable as to vacant Civil Service appointments, the dates and schemes of examination, and other particulars relating to age, health, character, &c., having been of the most meagre character. The issue of the Civil Service Candidate has changed all this, and those who are desirous of becoming Civil Servants of the Crown have only to consult its pages in order to possess themselves of the requisite information. The price of the Circular is one penny weekly.

Digitized by Google

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:o:—

BEACONSFIELD LODGE, No. 1662.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge was held at the Chequers Hotel, Walthamstow, on Tuesday, 6th inst., under the presidency of Bro. Jas. Pinder W.M. Bros. C. B. Carter S.W., J. B. Burnard J.W., T. Franklin P.M. Treasurer, F. Hallows P.M. Sec., J. Edwards S.D., J. H. Wildash J.D., H. F. Inman I.G., D. Paterson Organist, T. Upward Immediate Past Master, W. Groome P.M.; also Bros. Lancaster, W. G. Hallows, T. Probert and C. Avison. Visitors—Bros. C. W. Parkes W.M. 861, J. R. Tolliss W.M. 1185, W. Serjeant W.M. 1227, J. A. Jones W.M. 1766, G. W. Preston P.M. 861, C. Patrick S.D. 1227, E. Thomas 5, C. Carter 45, F. Tyler 59, J. Pash 569, J. H. Harling 1365, W. Futcher 1365, Stuart Futcher 1365, &c. Lodge was opened, and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. The Auditors' report was received and adopted, it showed the Lodge in a very flourishing condition, after voting a Life Governorship to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, to be placed on the list of the Treasurer, Bro. P.M. Franklin, who will represent this Lodge at the next Festival. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. Charles Benjamin Carter W.M. elect was presented to the Lodge and duly installed into the chair in an able and masterly manner by the Secretary (Bro. F. Hallows P.M.), the final Charge being delivered by the outgoing Master Bro. J. Pinder. The newly-installed Master then appointed his Officers as follow:—Bro. J. Pinder I.P.M., J. B. Burnard S.W., J. Edwards J.W., T. Franklin P.M. Treasurer, F. Hallows P.M. Secretary, J. H. Wildash S.D., H. F. Inman J.D., C. Clemens I.G., D. Paterson Org., T. Probert M.C., W. Groome P.M. W.S., C. Thomas Tyler. After three alterations in the Bye-laws had been agreed to, the Lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to a sumptuous banquet and dessert, excellently provided by the host, Bro. W. G. Hallows P.M. 861. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were admirably given, and duly honoured.

COBORN LODGE, No. 1804.

THE regular meeting of this Lodge was held in the Vestry Hall, Bow, on Thursday evening, the 8th instant. In consequence of the lamented death of Bro. the Rev. R. H. Atherton S.W. and Chaplain, the members appeared in Masonic mourning. The event cast a gloom over the proceedings of the evening, more especially as the election of W.M. took place at this meeting, when in all probability Bro. Atherton would have been unanimously elected W.M. After the customary formal business, the W.M. raised Bros. Paterson and Hobbs to the sublime degree of M.M. Bro. R. Logan J.W. (the first initiate of the Lodge) was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing year, and Bro. Edinger P.M. and Treasurer was re-elected. It was then resolved, on the proposition of the W.M., that a vote of condolence with the widow of the late Bro. S.W. and Chaplain, in her bereavement, be entered on the minutes of the Lodge, and that a copy of the same be forwarded to Mrs. Atherton. It was further resolved that the Secretary be empowered to obtain a floral wreath to be placed upon the coffin of the deceased brother at the expense of the Lodge. The funeral took place on Saturday at the church of St. Matthew. There was a celebration of the Holy Communion at 8·30 a.m. by the Rev. A. R. Goodacre, vicar of St. Mark's, Camberwell. The first part of the Burial Service was read in the above church by the Rev. J. F. Kitto, M.A., rector of Stepney and Rural Dean, Bro. Grout Org. 1716 presiding at the organ. The church was densely crowded by members of the congregation and other friends, all of whom were attired in deep mourning. Amongst those present were Bros. Logan W.M. elect, F. J. Hunt P.M., Tijon Secretary, Wheatley Steward, and Parnell (all of Coborn Lodge 1804); also, of 1716, Bros. Hennett W.M., J. Howe I.P.M. and Scribe N., and J. H. Coleman P.M. and P.Z. The coffin was covered with floral wreaths and crosses, amongst which was a large wreath of camelias and other white flowers, supporting a double triangle of violets, the offering of the Coborn Lodge. The body was interred in Highgate Cemetery, where the concluding portion of the Service was read by the Rev. W. Donne, M.A., Rector of Limehouse. The service was choral, the choir of St. Mark's, Camberwell, assisting. The Craft was represented at the grave by Bros. House, Coleman, Tijon, and Wheatley, who, at the conclusion of the service, strewed sprigs of acacia upon the coffin.

Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, No. 65.—The annual supper was held at the Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, on 13th inst. Bros. G. Schadler 65 W.M., Rich 65 S.W., Hayes J.W., Bugins S.D., Dyson J.D., Bourne I.G., Moss 1275 Preceptor, W. Walker 65 Secretary; also Bros. Roberts I.P.M. 65, Daniels P.M. 65, Harris 65. Hill 65, Muggleton 65, East 65, Wall 65, Herold 65, Stone 65, Martin 65, Ruse 65, Sainte 193, Weil 35, Schweitzer 1420. Lodge was formed, and after the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed, was closed. The brethren then adjourned to supper, provided by Bro. Maidwell in his usual bountiful manner. The Loyal and Masonic toasts were done full justice to, and the proceedings were interspersed with some excellent songs and music. Prosperity to the Lodge of Instruction was proposed by the W.M., and responded to by Bro. D. Moss Preceptor. The health of Bro. Maidwell as Treasurer, and Bro. Walker as Secretary, was warmly received. The W.M. then proposed the health of the worthy host; this being responded to, the evening was brought to a very pleasant termination.

Kingsland Lodge of Instruction, No. 1693.—A meeting was held on Monday, 12th November, at Bro. Baker's, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N. Present—Bros. Alford W.M., Clark W.M. 141 S.W., Treadwell J.W., Collingridge Secretary, Turner S.D., Crosbie W.M. 1693 J.D., Forge P.M. 1696 Act. Preceptor, Defries I.G.; also Bro. Jordan S.W. 141, and several others. Lodge was opened in due form and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Brother Turner acting as candidate. Two new members, initiates in the Mother Lodge, Bros. Turner and Younghusband, answered the questions leading to the second degree. Lodge was called off for refreshment, resumed, and closed in due form, and adjourned till Monday 19th November, when Bro. Clark W.M. 1693 will occupy the chair, having been duly elected. On Monday, 26th November, Brother P. Forge P.M. 1950 has consented to rehearse the ceremony of installation.

MASONIC BALL AT SOUTHSEA.

THE members of the Masonic "At Home" gave a highly successful ball at Cawte's Assembly Rooms, on Wednesday evening, 7th inst., when about 250 guests accepted invitations. The arrangements, which were complete in every particular, were carried out by the following Committee:—Messrs. J. Arnold (Chairman), G. W. Ash (Vice-Chairman), G. Dean (Treasurer), J. Willmott, T. Baskett, T. P. Hall, J. Biden, G. Barnden, and E. S. Main and J. H. Corke (Honorary Secretaries). The programme included twenty items, the music being admirably rendered by Mr. F. Wilton's band. The top of the ball-room was decorated, under the direction of Mr. H. Cawte, with potted chrysanthemums, and some choice maiden-hair ferns and palms were also utilised with pleasing effect in the withdrawing and supper rooms. The M.C.'s were Messrs. G. Dean, J. Arnold, A. J. Wright, J. H. Corke, T. Baskett, and T. P. Hall.

The Montefiore Lodge, No. 1,017, which was named after Sir Moses Montefiore, yesterday week voted to the venerable brother an address congratulating him on his entering on his hundredth year, and praying the Almighty to preserve his faculties, give him strength, and bless him with peace. The address was moved by Bro. S. V. Abraham Past Master, and seconded by Bro. Lewis Jacobs Treasurer, and signed by all the members of the Lodge.—Evening News.

Bro. Chas. W. Cox P.P.G.D.C. Berks and Bucks, P.M. 1566, M.E.Z. Windsor Castle Chapter 771, was on the 9th inst. elected Mayor of the Borough of Maidenhead. Bro. Joseph Cox 813 1766, proprietor of the Hackney Express, is the eldest brother of the newly-elected Mayor.

We are compelled to hold over several reports and other items of interest.

Brother Charles Du Val will next week present his hundredth performance in London of his very successful entertainment. In the New Drawing Room of the St James's Hall he has made arrangements to continue his entertainment, giving extra day performances every Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday. These have been largely attended. He has added to his already successful programme some new impersonations, the speaking likenesses of Col. Burnaby, Lord Wolseley, Lord Randolph Churchill, Mr. Irving, and Number One, are to receive an addition in the person of the senior member for Northampton, which should be a "Truthful" likeness.

THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND TEMPERANCE SOCIETY, whose headquarters are at 9 Bridge-street, Westminster, celebrates its Twenty-first Anniversary this year. All the Bishops, several thousands of the Clergy, and 432,672 Members are now enrolled. The Anniversary arrangements consist of a Festival Service at Westminster Abbey on Monday, 19th November, with Sermon by the Ven. Archdeacon Farrar; a Breakfast at St. James's Hall on Tuesday, 20th Nov.; and a conference upon the Evils of Grocers' Licenses, and a Great Mass Meeting of Working People at Exeter Hall, on Wednesday, 21st November, under the presidency of the Bishop of Bedford. The Council are now endeavouring to raise a sum of £25,000 as a Thank-offering, to carry Temperance work into each Parish, to appoint special agents for Railway, Agricultural, Army, and Police Court rescue work. As this admirable Society unites both the Temperance and Total Abstinence branches, it deserves the hearty support of all sections of the Church.

EDUCATION. — HAMBURG.

Bro. JOHN A. NEECK, 9 Bundesstrasse, HAMBURG,

Is prepared to receive into his Family

TWO OR THREE ENGLISH YOUTHS AS BOARDERS,

During the time they attend School in this City.

CAREFUL SUPERVISION, KIND TREATMENT, BEST BODILY & MENTAL CARE

High References in England and Hamburg.

PROSPECTUS FREE

The Revised Book of Constitutions; Critically Considered, and Compared with the Old Edition. London: Simpkin, Marshall & Co., 4 Stationers' Hall Court, E.C. Sent on receipt of stamps, One Shilling, by W. W. Morgan, Freemason's Chronicle Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.—(ADVT).

Digitized by Google

DIARY FOR THE WEEK.

We shall be obliged if the Secretaries of the various Lodges throughout the Kingdom will favour us with a list of their Days of Meetings, &c., as we have decided to insert only those that are verified by the Officers of the several Lodges.

—:o:—

SATURDAY, 17th NOVEMBER.

196—Percy, Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N., 8. (Instruction)
715—Panmure, Cannon-street Hotel, E.C.
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1329—Sphinx, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
1364—Earl of Zetland, Old Town Hall, Mare-street, Hackney
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7. (Instruction)
1732—King's Cross, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.
1767—Kensington, Courtfield Hotel, Earl's Court, S.W.
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-street, W. at 8.
R.A. 1706—Orpheus, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
M.M. 205—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow
M.M. 251—Tenterden, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.

149—Peace, Private Rooms, Meltham
811—Yarborough, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
1556—Addiscombe, Harewood House, High Street, Croydon.
R.A. 68—Royal Clarence, Freemasons' Hall, Park Street, Bristol
M.M. 14—Prince Edward's, Station Hotel, Stanafield, Todmorden

MONDAY, 19th NOVEMBER.

8—British, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
21—Emulation, Albion, Aldersgate-street
22—Loughborough, Cambria Tavern, Cambria Road, near Loughborough Junction, at 7.30. (Instruction)
45—Strong Man, Exercise Tavern, Old Broad Street, E.C., at 7 (Instruction)
174—Sincerity, Railway Tavern, Railway Place, Fenchurch Street, at 7. (In)
180—St. James's Union, Union Tavern, Air-street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
185—Tranquillity, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
186—Industry, Bell, Carter-lane, Doctors-commons, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
548—Wellington, White Swan, High-street, Deptford, at 8 (Instruction)
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham.
862—Whittington, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
901—City of London, Gresham-street, E.C.
907—Royal Albert, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1425—Hyde Park, Fountain Abbey Hotel, Praed Street, Paddington, at 8 (In).
1489—Marquess of Ripon, Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-rd., Hackney, at 7.30 (In)
1506—White Horse of Kent, Holborn Viaduct Hotel
1507—Metropolitan, The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C., at 7.30 (Inst.)
1537—St. Peter Westminster, Criterion, W.
1795—Royal Commemoration, Fox and Hounds, Putney, at 8. (Instruction)
1608—Kilburn, 46 South Molton Street, Oxford Street, W., at 8. (Inst.)
1623—West Smithfield, Farringdon Hotel, Farringdon-street, E.C. at 8 (Inst.)
1625—Tredegar, Royal Hotel Mile End Road, corner of Burdett Road. (Inst).
1683—Kingsland, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N., at 8.30 (Instruction)
1891—St. Ambrose, Baron's Court Hotel, West Kensington. (Instruction)
1910—Shadwell Clerks, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill
R.A. 12—Prudence, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall Street
R.A. 933—Doric, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 7. (Instruction)
R.A. 1593—Trafalgar, Ship Hotel, Greenwich
K.T. 131—Holy Sanctuary, 33 Golden-square, W

77—Freedom, Clarendon Hotel, Gravesend
236—York, Masonic Hall, York
331—Phœnix Public Room, Truro
359—Peace and Harmony, Freemasons' Hall, Southampton
382—Royal Union, Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge
424—Borough, Half Moon Hotel, Gateshead
466—Merit, George Hotel, Stamford Baron, Northampton
622—St. Cuthberga, Masonic Hall, Wimborne
725—Stoneleigh, King's Arms Hotel, Kenilworth
823—Everton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7.30. (Instruction)
827—St. John, Masonic Temple, Halifax-road, Dewsbury
925—Bedford Masonic Hall, New Street, Birmingham
934—Merit, Derby Hotel, Whitefield
985—Alexandra, Masonic Hall, Holbeach.
1030—Egerton, George Hotel, Wellington Road, Heaton Norris, near Stockport
1037—Portland, Portland Hall, Portland
1141—Mid Sussex, King's Arms Hotel, Horsham
1170—St. George, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
1199—Agriculture, Honey Hall, Congresbury
1208—Corinthian, Royal Hotel, Pier, Dover
1449—Royal Military, Masonic Hall, Canterbury, at 8. (Instruction)
1477—Sir Watkin, Masonic Hall, Mold
1502—Israel, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1909—Carnarvon, Masonic Hall, Nottingham
R.A. 32—Jerusalem, Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool
R.A. 40—Emulation, Castle Hotel, Hastings
R.A. 120—Palladian, Green Dragon Hotel, Hereford
R.A. 128—Prince Edwin, Bridge Inn, Bury, Lancashire
R.A. 139—Paradise, Freemasons' Hall, Surrey-street, Sheffield.
R.A. 277—Tudor, Freemasons' Hall, Union Street, Oldham
R.A. 302—Charity, New Masonic Hall, Darley-street, Bradford
R.A. 734—Londesborough, Masonic Hall, Driffield
R.A. 1051—Rowley, Masonic Rooms, Athenæum, Lancaster
R.A. 1284—Brent, Masonic Hall, Topsham
K.T. 39—Fearnley, Masonic Hall, Dewsbury

TUESDAY, 20th NOVEMBER.

Board of General Purposes, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
30—United Mariners, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
65—Constitutional, Bedford Hotel, Southampton-bldgs., Holborn, at 7 (Inst)
65—Prosperity, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark
95—Eastern Star, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street, E.C.
141—Faith, Queen Anne's Restaurant, Queen Anne's Gate, St. James's Park Station, at 8. (Instruction)
162—Cadogan, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
177—Domatic, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30 (Instruction)
188—Joppa, Champion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, at 7.30. (Instruction)
194—St. Paul, Cannon-street Hotel,
435—Salisbury, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney (Instruction)
704—Camden, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
753—Prince Frederick William, Eagle Tavern, Clifton Road, Maida Hill, at 8 (Instruction)
820—Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond, at 7.30 (Instruction)
857—St. Mark, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
840—Dalhousie, Sisters' Tavern, Penwall-road, Dalston at, 8 (Instruction)
1044—Wandsworth, Star and Garter Hotel, St. Ann's-hill, Wandsworth (Inst).
1349—Friars, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1360—Royal Arthur, Rock Tavern, Battersea Park Road, at 8. (Instruction)
1381—Kennington, The Horns, Kennington. (Instruction)
1420—Earl Spencer, Swan Hotel, Battersea Old Bridge
1446—Mount Edgcumbe, 19 Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8 (Instruction)
1471—Islington, Champion, Aldersgate Street, at 7, (Instruction)
1472—Henley, Three Crowns, North Woolwich (Instruction)
1540—Chaucer, Old White Hart, Borough High Street, at 8. (Instruction)
1558—D. Connaught, Palmerston Arms, Grosvenor Park, Camberwell, at 8 (In)
1602—Sir Hugh Myddelton, Queen's Head, Essex Road, N., at 8.30 (In)
1695—New Finsbury Park, Londesborough Tavern, Fenchurch Street
1695—New Finsbury Park, Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, at 8 (Inst)
1707—Eleanor, Trocadero, Broad-street-buildings, Liverpool-street, 6.30 (Inst)
1949—Brixton, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, East Brixton, at 8. (Instruction)
Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, 6.30
R.A. 933—Doric, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
R.A. 1385—Clapton, White Hart Tavern, Clapton, at 8. (Instruction)
R.A. 1604—Wanderers, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
M.M. 238—Prince Leopold, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
R.C. 45—Oxford and Cambridge, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden Square

213—Perseverance, Masonic Hall, Theatre-street, Norwich
241—Merchants, Masonic Hall, Liverpool (Instruction)
348—True Love and Unity, Freemasons' Hall, Brixham, Devon
384—St. David, Masonic Rooms, Bangor.
414—Union, Masonic Hall, Reading
418—Menturia, Mechanics' Institute, Hanley
448—St. James, Freemasons' Hall, St. John's-place, Halifax
468—Light, Great Western Hotel, Birmingham
510—St. Martin, Masonic Hall, Liskeard.
651—Brecknock, Castle Hotel, Brecon
667—Alliance, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
960—Bute, Masonic Hall, 9 Working-street, Cardiff.
1006—Tregullow, Masonic Rooms, St. Day, Scorrier, Cornwall
1052—Callender, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
1089—De Shurland, Fountain Hotel, Sheerness.
1113—Anglesea, Bull Hotel, Llangefni
1276—Warren, Queen's Hotel, Birkenhead, Cheshire
1325—Stanley, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1427—Percy, Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle
1470—Chiltern, Town Hall, Dunstable
1473—Bootle, 146 Berry-street, Bootle, at 8 (Instruction)
1534—Concord, George Hotel, Prestwich
1551—Charity, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
1570—Prince Arthur, 140 North Hill Street, Liverpool
1726—Gordon, Assembly Room, Bognor
1764—Eleanor Cross, Masonic Hall, Abington-street, Northampton
1941—St. Augustine's, Shrewsbury Arms Hotel, Rugeley
R.A. 41—Royal Cumberland, Masonic Hall, Old Orchard Street, Bath
R.A. 105—Fortitude, Huyshe Masonic Temple, Plymouth
R.A. 340—Alfred, Masonic Hall, Alfred Street, Oxford
R.A. 446—Avalon, Town Hall, Wells, Somerset
R.A. 460—Perseverance, Castle Hotel, Newcastle-under-Lyne
R.A. 694—Oakley, Masonic Hall Church Street, Basingstoke
R.A. 764—Fawcett, Freemasons' Hall, West Hartlepool
R.A. 804—Carnarvon, Masonic Hall, Havant
M.M.—York, Masonic Hall, Duncombe Street, York
M.M. 166—East Sussex, Castle Hotel, Hastings
M.M. 266—Amherst, Masonic Hall, Sandgate

WEDNESDAY, 21st NOVEMBER.

General Committee of Grand Lodge and Lodge of Benevolence, Freemasons Hall, at 6
Grand Stewards, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
15—Kent, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
30—United Mariners', The Lugard, Peckham, at 7.30. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Horse Shoe Inn, Newington Causeway, at 8. (Inst)
140—St. George, Trafalgar Tavern, Greenwich
174—Sincerity, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
190—Oak, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
193—Confidence, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, at 7.30 (Instruction)
228—United Strength, Prince Alfred, 13 Crowndale-rd., Camden-town, 8 (In)
538—La Tolerance, Morland's Hotel, Dean Street, Oxford St. at 8 (Inst)
700—Nelson, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7 (Instruction)
781—Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, E. (Instruction)
813—New Concord, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. (Instruction)
862—Whittington, Red Lion, Poppin's-court, Fleet-street, at 8 (Instruction
969—Maybury, Inns of Court Hotel, W.C.
1044—Wandsworth, East Hill Hotel, Wandsworth
1150—Buckingham and Chandos, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1278—Burdett Coutts, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel Road, E., at 8. (Inst.)
1288—Finsbury Park, Cock Tavern, Highbury, at 8 (Instruction)
1321—Emblematic, Goat and Star, Swallow Street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
1349—Friars, London Tavern, Fenchurch Street
1382—Corinthian, George Inn, Glengall Road, Cubitt Town
1445—Prince Leopold, Moorgate Tavern, Moorgate Street, at 7 (Instruction)
1475—Peckham, Lord Wellington Hotel, 516 Old Kent-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1507—Metropolitan, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
1524—Duke of Connaught, Royal Edward, Mare-street, Hackney, at 8 (Inst)
1604—Wanderers, Adam and Eve Tavern, Palmer St., Westminster, at 7.30 (In)
1624—Eccleston, Criterion, Piccadilly
1662—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow, at 7.30 (Inst.)
1673—Langton, Viaduct Hotel, Holborn
1677—Crusaders, Imperial Hotel, Holborn Viaduct
1791—Creaton, Prince Albert Tavern, Portobello-ter., Notting-hill-gate (Inst.)
1803—Cornhill, King's Head, Fenchurch-street
1922—Earl of Lathom, Station Hotel, Camberwell New Road, S.E., at 8. (In.)
R.A.—Camden, The Boston, Junction Road, Holloway, at 8.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 177—Domatic, Union Tavern, Air-st. et, Regent-st., at 8 (Instruction)
R.A. 1593—Ley Spring, Red Lion, Leytonstone
M.M.—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, at 8 (Instruction)
M.M. 181—Francis Burdett, Albany Hotel, Twickenham
M.M. 199—Duke of Connaught, Town Hall, Shoreditch

20—Royal Kent of Antiquity, Sun Hotel, Chatham
131—Mount Sinai, Public-buildings, Penzance
175—East Medina, Masonic Hall, John-street, Ryde, I.W.
178—Antiquity Royal Hotel, Wigan
200—Old Globe, Private Rooms, Globe-street, Scarborough
221—St. John, Commercial Hotel, Town Hall Square, Bolton
246—Royal Union, Freemasons Hall, Cheltenham.
311—South Saxon, Freemasons' Hall, Lewes
325—St. John's Freemasons' Hall, Islington-square, Salford
342—Royal Susex, Freemasons' Hall, 79 Commercial Road, Landport
363—Keystone, New Inn, Whitworth.
423—Sincerity, Angel Inn, Northwich, Cheshire
451—Sutherland, Town Hall, Burslem
537—Zetland, 9 Hamilton-street, Birkenhead.
581—Faith, Drover's Inn, Openshaw
591—Buckingham, George Hotel, Aylesbury
592—Cotteswold, King's Head Hotel, Cirencester
594—Downshire, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7. (Instruction)
633—Yarborough, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
673—St. John, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
683—Isca, Freemasons' Hall, Dock-street, Newport, Monmouthshire
750—Friendship, Freemason' Hall, Railway-street, Cleckheaton
758—Ellesmere, Freemasons' Hall, Runcorn, Cheshire
816—Royd, Spring Gardens Inn, Wardle, near Rochdale
823—Everton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
874—Holmesdale, Royal Sussex Hotel, Tunbridge Wells
889—Dobie, Griffin Hotel, Kingston-on-Thames
938—Grosvenor, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
962—Sun and Sector, Assembly Rooms, Workington
972—St. Augustine, Masonic Hall, Canterbury
1019—Sincerity, Freemasons' Hall, Zetland-street, Wakefield
1040—Sykes, Masonic Hall, Driffield, Yorks
1086—Walton, Skelmersdale Masonic Hall, Kirkdale, Liverpool
1129—St. Chad, Roebuck Hotel, Rochdale
1161—De Grey and Ripon, Brunswick Hotel, Piccadilly, Manchester
1206—Cinque Ports, Bell Hotel, Sandwich
1246—Holte, Holte Hotel, Aston
1301—Brighouse, Masonic Room, Bradford-road, Brighouse
1337—Anchor, Masonic Rooms, Durham House, Northallerton
1353—Duke of Lancaster, Athenæum, Lancaster

Digitized by Google

1356—De Grey and Ripon, 140 North Hill-street, Liverpool, at 7.30 (Inst)
1403—West Lancashire, Commercial Hotel, Ormskirk
1443—Salem, Town Hall, Dawlish, Devon
1511—Alexandra, Masonic Hall, Hornsea, Hull.
1536—United Military, Masonic Hall, Plumstead
1634—Starkie, Railway Hotel, Ramsbottom
R.A. 261—Sincerity, Masonic Hall, Taunton
R.A. 284—Shakespeare, Masonic Room, 9 High Street, Warwick
R.A. 288—Loyal Todmorden, Masonic Hall, Todmorden
R.A. 417—Faith and Unanimity, Masonic Hall, Dorchester
R.A. 48—St. Peter, Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle
R.A. 632—Harmony, Trowbridge
R.A. 1000—Priory, Terminus Hotel, Southend
R.A. 1060—Marmion, Masonic Rooms, Tamworth
R.A. 1350—Fermor Hesketh, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 1375—Architect, Didsbury Hotel, Didsbury
M.M.—Newstead, Masonic Hall, Goldsmith Street, Nottingham

THURSDAY, 22nd NOVEMBER.

House Committee Girls' School, Battersea Rise, at 4
3—Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-street, Fitzroy-sq., at 8 (Instruction)
27—Egyptian, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
54—Mount Moriah, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
66—Prosperity, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
95—Grenadiers', Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
87—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth, at 8 (Instruction)
147—Justice, Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford, at 8. (Instruction)
435—Salisbury, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
704—Camden, Lincoln's Inn Restaurant, 305 High Holborn, at 7 (Instruction)
754—High Cross, Coach and Horses, Lower Tottenham, at 8 (Instruction)
766—William Preston, City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, E.C.
858—South Middlesex, Beaufort House, North End, Fulham
861—Finsbury, London Tavern, Fenchurch-street
901—City of London, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, at 6.30. (Instruction)
902—Burgoyne, Cock Tavern, St. Martin's-court, Ludgate-hill, at 6.30 (Inst)
1158—Southern Star, Pheasant, Stangate, Westminster-bridge, at 8 (Inst.)
1185—Lewis, Kings Arms Hotel, Wood Green, at 7 (Instruction)
1227—Upton, Swan, Bethnal Green-road, near Shoreditch, at 8 (Instruction)
1339—Stockwell, Cock Tavern, Kennington-road, at 7.30 (Instruction
1426—The Great City, Masons' Hall Masons' Avenue, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
1563—The City of Westminster, Regent Masonic Hall, Air Street, W.
1614—Covent Garden, Cranbourne, 1 Up. St. Martin's Lane, W.C., at 8. (Inst.)
1622—Rose, Stirling Castle Hotel, Church Street, Camberwell. (Instruction)
1658—Skelmersdale, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
1673—Langton, Mansion House Station Restaurant, E.C. at 6, (Instruction)
1677—Crusaders, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 9 (Inst.)
1681—Londesborough, Berkeley Arms, John Street, May Fair, at 8. (Instruct).
1818—Victoria Park, Queen's Hotel, Victoria Park Road
1950—Southgate, Railway Hotel, New Southgate, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1974—St. Mary Abbotts, Town Hall, Kensington
R.A. 5—St. George's, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 177—Domatic, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
R.A. 657—Canonbury, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue
R.A. 753—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, at 8. (In.)
R.A. 1471—North London, Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, at 7. (Instruction)
R.A. 1601—Ravensbourne, Board of Works Office, Catford

48—Industry, 34 Denmark-street, Gateshead. (Instruction)
51—Angel, Three Cups, Colchester
78—Imperial George, Asheton Arms Hotel, Middleton, Lancashire
208—Ancient Union, Masonic Hall, Liverpool. (Instruction)
348—St. John, Bull's Head Inn, Bradshawgate, Bolton
494—Downshire, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
784—Wellington, Public Rooms, Park-street, Deal
935—Harmony, Freemasons' Hall, Islington-square, Salford
1235—Stanley, 214 Gt. Homer Street, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
1459—Ashbury, Justice Birch Hotel, Hyde-road, West Gorton, nr Manchester
1505—Emulation, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1560—Cranbourne, Red Lion Hotel, Hatfield, Herts, at 8. (Instruction)
1636—Hotspur, Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle
1892—Wallington, King's Arms Hotel, Carshalton. (Instruction)
R.A. 202—Liverpool, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 304—Concord, Freemasons' Hall, Albion Terrace, Southampton
R.A. 732—Royal Sussex, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
K.T. 8—Plains of Mamre, Bull Hotel, Burnley

FRIDAY, 23rd NOVEMBER.

House Committee Boys' School, Wood Green, at 4
Emulation Lodge of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
26—Robert Burns, The North Pole, 115 Oxford-street, W., at 8 (Instruc.
144—St. Luke, White Hart, King's-road, Chelsea, at 7.30. (Instruction)
197—Jerusalem, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30. (Instruct.)
569—Fitzroy, Head Quarters, Hon. Artillery Company, E.C.
766—William Preston, St. Andrew's Tavern, George St., Baker St., at 8 (In.)
780—Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge. (Instruction)
834—Ranelagh, Six Bells, Hammersmith (Instruction)
933—Doric, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1056—Metropolitan, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. at 7. (Instruction)
1158—Belgrave, Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
1366—Royal Standard, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, at 8. (In.)
1385—Clapton, White Hart, Lower Clapton, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1603—Sir Hugh Myddelton, Agricultural Hall, N.
1643—E. Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
1789—Ubique, Guardsman Army Coffee Tavern, Buckingham Palace-road, S.W., at 7.30. (Instruction)
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich. (Instruction)
R.A. 65—Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall St.
R.A. 79—Pythagorean, Portland Hotel, London-street, Greenwich. (Inst.)
R.A. 1159—Marquis of Dalhousie, 33 Golden-square, W.
M.M.—Old Kent, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, E.C. (Instruction)

463—Chigwell, Prince's Hall, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1393—Hamer, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1631—Castle, Crown Hotel, Bridgnorth
1713—St. John, Freemasons Hall, Grainger Street, Newcastle upon Tyne
1821—Atlingworth, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
General Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, at 7
R.A. 153—Virtue, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester
R.A. 1096—Walton, Skelmersdale Masonic Hall, Kirkdale, Liverpool
K.T. 30—Royal Kent, Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle

SATURDAY, 24th NOVEMBER.

198—Percy, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., at 8 (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7 (Instruction)
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1679—Henry Muggeridge, Masons' Hall Tavern, E.C.
1706—Orpheus, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1871—Gostling-Murray, Town Hall, Hounslow
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-st., W., at 8
R.A. 178—Cavese, Albion, Aldersgate Street

1463—Wharncliffe, Rose and Crown Hotel Penistone
1464—Erasmus Wilson, Pier Hotel, Greenhithe
1966—Eastes, Pariah Rooms, Bromley, Kent
R.A. 178—Harmony, Royal Hotel, Wigan.

FUNERALS.—Bros. W. K. L. & G. A. HUTTON, Coffin Makers and Undertakers, 17 Newcastle Street, Strand, W.C. and 30 Forest Hill Road, Peckham Rye, S.E.

The Great City Lodge, No. 1426.—The monthly meeting of this Lodge, the second one of the present season, was held on Saturday evening, 10th November, at the Cannon-street Hotel, but was very thinly attended. Bro. Keeble W.M. presided. Bros. Baber S.W., Fendick J.W., Potter S.D., Headon P.M. Treasurer, Blackie P.M. Secretary, and several members. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The Lodge was then opened in the second degree, when Brother Henry Dottridge, having previously undergone an examination, was passed to the degree of F.C., the ceremony being well performed by the W. Master. The ceremony was afterwards repeated, by request of the W. Master of the Lebanon Lodge, No. 1326, and Bro. Gosler received his second step in Freemasonry. On the resumption of the Lodge to the first degree Bro. Hamer P.M. said he wished to bring under the notice of the Lodge the melancholy and sudden death of an eminent City man, a brother Mason, and one who had been a visitor to their Lodge on several occasions. Bro. Felton had occupied the position of chairman of the Commissioners of Sewers of the Corporation of London, and at the termination of his year of office had retired with the respect of every one of its members; he also had held other important offices in the City. He was a Past Master of the Cripplegate Lodge, No. 1613, and of the Victoria Lodge, No. 1056, and was highly esteemed by all. His death was a very sudden one, for he was well and hearty in business one day in the City, and the next he was no more. His funeral had been attended by many of his City associates, and also by members of the Lodges to which he belonged, and he thought that as Bro. Felton was well known to the members of The Great City Lodge, they would agree with him in paying a tribute of respect to his memory. He proposed:—"The members of The Great City Lodge, assembled on Saturday, the 10th of November 1883, desire to express their personal sympathy with the brethren of the Cripplegate Lodge, No. 1613, and the Victoria Lodge, No. 1056, on the great loss they have sustained by the death of their respected Past Master Bro. George Matthew Felton, C.C., who was so well known and held in such high esteem in the City, and that this resolution be entered on the minutes of the Lodge and that a copy of it be sent to the two Lodges respectively." Bro. N. B. Headon P.M. and Treasurer seconded the motion, which was put and unanimously agreed to. The case of a distressed brother was brought under the notice of the Lodge, and a very liberal sum was voted to him. The case of a widow of a deceased brother was also brought forward, which was deferred for further consideration. The Worshipful Master announced his intention of representing the Lodge at the next Festival for the Boys' School, and asked the members to support him upon that occasion. There being no further business, the Lodge was closed and adjourned until the second Saturday in December.

William Preston Lodge of Instruction, No 766.—This Lodge met as usual, on Friday evening, 9th inst., at the St. Andrews', George-street, Baker-street, W. Present—Bros. F. Smith W.M., Halliday S.W., R. E. Cursons J.W., G. Tribble P.M. S.D., Robinson J.D., Filon I.G., G. Coop Preceptor; also Bros. Artand, Simpson, and others. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Artand answered the questions, and was entrusted. Lodge was opened in the second, and the W.M. rehearsed the ceremony of passing. Lodge was again advanced, and the Preceptor worked the first section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. On resuming, Bro. Halliday was elected W.M. for Friday, 23rd inst. The Preceptor will occupy the chair on Friday next, for the purpose of working the sections of the second and third lectures; he will be assisted by Bros. Tribble, R. D. Smith, Wood, Dairy, F. Smith, Cursons and Coop. The Preceptor then called the attention of the brethren to the fact that this was the birthday of the Most Worshipful the Grand Master, and suggested that it be recognised with Masonic honours. This was enthusiastically done by the brethren. Lodge was then closed in ancient form.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—On Friday, 9th inst., at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge. Present—Bros. B. Blasby W.M., F. Botley S.W., C. E. Botley J.W., Gunner S.D., Tucker J.D., Goss I.G., Andrews Preceptor; Bros. Gomm P.M., Sperring, Maton, Weeden, Turner, Gillett. After preliminaries, the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Maton candidate. Lodge opened in the second and third, and resumed to the second degree, when Bro. Weeden answered the questions leading to the third degree, was entrusted, and retired. Lodge having been resumed, the ceremony of the third degree was rehearsed, Bro. Weeden candidate. Bro. Monson was elected W.M. for the 16th inst., when the annual dinner will take place. Lodge was then closed, and adjourned until that date, at 7 o'clock p.m.

St. Leonard Lodge, No. 1766.—The usual monthly meeting of this Lodge was held at the Town Hall, Shoreditch, on 7th inst., Bro. J. A. Jones W.M. presided, with Bros. L. Stean P.M., C. F. Barham P.M., A. A. Clements S.W., J. Funston J.W., E. Walker S.D., R. Drysdale I.G., H. J. Thrower M.C., and other Officers and Brethren. The Lodge having been opened, and minutes read, Bro. A. J. Heard was duly passed to the F.C. degree. A ballot having taken place for W.M. for the ensuing year, Bro. A. A. Clements S.W. was elected to that high honour. Bro. D. King was unanimously re-elected Treasurer of the Lodge, and Bro. J. Very Tyler. It was then resolved to present Bro. J. A. Jones W.M. with a Past Master's jewel on his retirement from the chair, as an expression of the warm esteem of the brethren, and in acknowledgment of the valuable services he has rendered to the Lodge. The time for the audit of the accounts having been fixed, the Lodge was closed, and the proceedings terminated.

Digitized by Google

Price 8s 6d, Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

FIRST SERIES.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

1 OUR LITERARY BROTHER.
2 A DISTINGUISHED MASON.
3 THE MAN OF ENERGY.
4 FATHER TIME.
5 A CORNER STONE.
6 THE CRAFTSMAN.
7 THE GOWNSMAN.
8 AN EASTERN STAR.
9 THE KNIGHT ERRANT.
10 THE OCTOGENARIAN.
11 A ZEALOUS OFFICER.
12 THE SOLDIER.
13 FROM UNDER THE CROWN.
14 OUR HERCULES.
15 A MERCHANT PRINCE.
16 THE CHURCHMAN.
17 THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER.
18 THE MYSTIC.
19 A MODEL MASON.
20 A CHIP FROM JOPPA.
21 A PILLAR OF MASONRY.
22 BAYARD.
23 A RIGHT HAND MAN.
24 OUR CITIZEN BROTHER.
25 AN ABLE PRECEPTOR.
26 AN ANCIENT BRITON.
27 THE ARTIST.
28 THE FATHER OF THE LODGE.
29 A SHINING LIGHT.
30 AN ART STUDENT.
31 THE MARINER
32 SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.
33. "OLD MUG."

Second Series, Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 3s 6d, post free.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

SKETCHES

OF

DISTINGUISHED FREEMASONS.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

BY G. BLIZARD ABBOTT, OF LODGE No. 1885,

ASSOCIATE OF KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

NESTOR
(Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, 33 deg., Past G.S.B., Past Dep. P.G.M. Hants, Assistant Secretary Sup. Council A. and A. Rite.)

THE STATESMAN
(The Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, 33 deg., Pro Grand Master, Pro Grand Z., Past G.M.M.M., and Past M.P.S.G. Commander A. and A. Rite.

THE TREASURER
(Bro. F. Adlard, P.M. and Treasurer Royal York Lodge of Perseverance, No. 7).

THE DEPUTY
(The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, 33 deg., Deputy G. Master, Grand H., G.M.M.M., Great Prior of the Temple, and M.P. Sov. G. Commander A. and A. Rite.)

A PROVINCIAL MAGNATE
(Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Hants and Isle of Wight, Past G.M.M.M. and Prov. G. Prior of the Temple, for Hants).

TIME-HONOURED LANCASTER
(Bro. J. Lancaster Hine, P. Prov. G.S. Warden East Lancashire).

THE SCHOLAR
(Bro. John Newton, F.R.A.S., P.M., P.Z., Author of Works on Navigation).

OUR NOBLE CRITIC
(The Right Hon. Lord Leigh, 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Warwickshire, Past G.M.M.M.)

OUR PERIPATETIC BROTHER
(Bro. C. Fitz Gerald Matier, 30 deg., G. Steward Scotland, and Past G.S. Warden Greece).

A BOLTON LUMINARY
(Bro. G. Parker Brockbank, 31 deg., Past Prov. G.S.D., and P. Prov. G. Treas. [Arch] E. Lancashire.

A WARDEN OF THE FENS
(The late Bro. John Sutcliffe, Past Prov. G.S. Warden, and Prov. G.M.M.M. Lincolnshire).

A WARDEN OF MARK
(The Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, 32 deg., Past G.S. Warden, and Dep. G.M.M.M).

A MASTER OF CEREMONIAL
(Bro. Thos. Entwisle, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. of Works E. Lan.)

OUR COSMOPOLITAN BROTHER
(Bro. Samuel Rawson, 33 deg., Past Dist. G.M. and G. Sup. China).

A GREAT ARITHMETICIAN
(Bro. H. B. Webster, Member of the Finance and Audit Committees of the R.M. Girls' and Boys' Schools).

AN INSTALLING MASTER
(Bro. W. Biggs, Past Prov. G.S.W. Wilts, and Past Prov. G. Sec. Berks and Bucks).

A VETERAN
(Bro. W. Kelly, Past Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Leicestershire and Rutland, Prov. G.M.M.M. Leicestershire).

A GRAND STEWARD
(Bro. John Wordsworth, 30 deg., Past G. Steward, Past Prov. G.J.W. W. Yorkshire, and Prov. G.M.M.M. W. Yorkshire).

VIR Veritas
(Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M and Past Prov. Grand. Soj. [Arch] Herts).

ACHILLES
(Bro. E. J. Morris, Past G.J.D., and Past Dep. Prov. G.M. of Eastern Division of South Wales).

A DEVON CRAFTSMAN
(Bro. J. E. Curtois, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. Warden Devon).

SIR RHADAMANTH
(Bro. J. M. Pulteney Montagu, J.P. D.L., 33 deg., G. J. Deacon, Past Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, and G. Chancellor Supreme Council A. and A. Rite).

HIPPOCRATES
(Bro. J. Pearson Bell, M.D., Past G. Deacon, Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. N. and E. Yorkshire).

A CESTRIAN CHIEF
(The Right Hon Lord de Tabley, Past G.S.W., Prov. G.M. Cheshire, Grand J., and Prov. G Sup. Cheshire).

A HARBINGER OF PEACE
(Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., Past Prov. G.J.D. Herts).

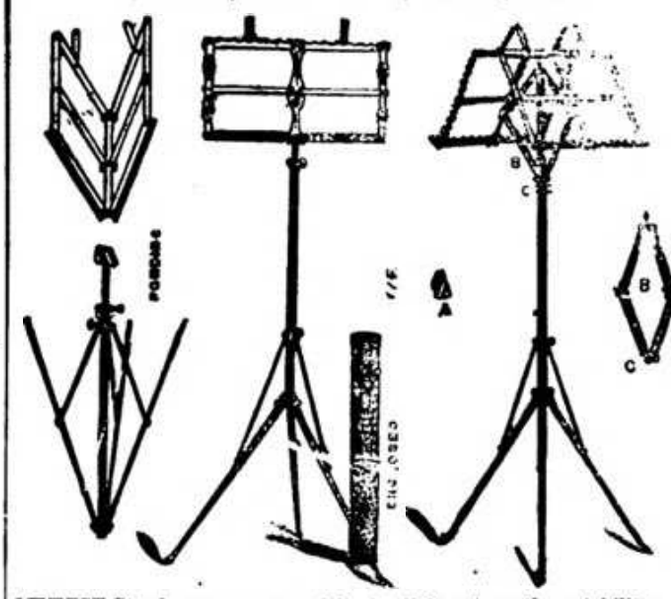
THE LORD OF UNDERLEY
(The Earl of Bective, M.P., Prov. G.M., Prov. G. Sup., and Prov. G.M.M.M. Cumberland and Westmoreland, and Past G. Sov. of the Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine).

A BOON COMPANION
(Bro. E. C. Woodward, P.M. 382, 1637, &c.)

A GRAND SUPERINTENDENT
(Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Berks and Bucks).

ÆSCULAPIUS
(Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., 32 deg., Past G.S.B., Craft, and Past G.St.B., Arch, Intendant General Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine for North Lancashire).

LONDON: W. W. MORGAN.



By Order of all Booksellers, or will be sent direct, by post, from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N

THE AMERICAN

PORTABLE MUSIC STANDS.

J. F. WALTERS' PATENT.

Iron, from 10/6 each. Brass, from 30/- each.

THESE Stands are unsurpassed in simplicity, strength, portability cheapness, and elegance of finish. They are suitable for Military Bands Orchestras, Reading and News Rooms, Libraries, Studios, and Drawing Rooms. When opened to their full capacity they stand 5 feet high, and can be folded and enclosed in a case 21 inches long by 3 inches diameter. The weight is about 3 lbs. 12 oz., and they will support a weight of 50 lbs.

To be obtained of all Music Dealers, and of the Manufacturers and Proprietors of the Patent,

HARROW & CO.

MUSIC SMITHS, BRASS WORKERS, &c.

13 and 14 Portland Street, Soho, London, W.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

Free by Post, Price One Shilling.

THE

REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS;

CRITICALLY CONSIDERED,

AND

COMPARED WITH THE OLD EDITION.

—:o:—

A SERIES OF ARTICLES,

REPRINTED FROM THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

—:o:—

LONDON:

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE;
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL & CO., 4 STATIONERS' HALL COURT;
AND OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

"All Freemasons interested in the Revision of the above, should read this work."

Crown 8vo, price 2s 6d, cloth lettered.

Uniformity of Masonic Ritual and Observance.

By Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M., P.Z., &c.

"May be read with advantage by the whole Craft."—Sunday Times.

"Grand Lodge should at once set to work to secure the desired uniformity."—Sheffield Post.

"The subject is ably argued by the author."—Western Daily Mercury.

"Useful and valuable in the highest degree."—Exeter Gazette.

"Will have a material effect on the future of Masonic Ritual."—South Western Star.

"The author adduces many variations in the language used by different Preceptors."—Cox's Monthly Legal Circular.

"Ought to be in the hands of every Mason."—Northampton Guardian.

"To Freemasons generally it will be found useful and valuable, and we commend it to their notice accordingly."—Surrey County Observer.

"Bro. Stevens' motion for a Committee on the subject of Uniformity of Ritual was carried by a large majority."—Freemason's Chronicle report of Grand Lodge meeting, 3rd December 1879.

Sent, by post, on receipt of stamps, by the Author, Bro. JAMES STEVENS, 112 High-street, Clapham, S.W.; or by Bro. W. W. MORGAN Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

Digitized by Google

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE,

A Weekly Record of Masonic Intelligence. Sanctioned by the Grand Lodge of England.

Price—13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE will be forwarded direct from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N., on receipt of Post Office Order for the amount. Intending Subscribers should forward their full Addresses to prevent mistakes.

Post Office Orders to be made payable to W. W. MORGAN, at Penton-street Office. Cheques crossed "London and County."

Advertisers will find THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE an exceptionally good medium for Advertisements of every class.

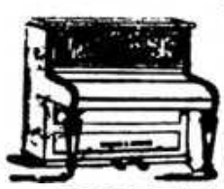
SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Per Page... ... ... £8 0 0
Back Page £10 0 0

Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1s per line.

General Advertisements, Trade Announcements, &c. single column, 5s per inch. Double Column Advertisements 1s per line. Special Terms for a Series of Insertions on application.

Agents, from whom copies can always be had:—



Messrs. SPENCER and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C.
Messrs. CURTICE and Co., 12 Catherine-street, Strand.
Messrs. KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.
Mr. RITCHIE, 6 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SIMPSON BROS., Shoe Lane.
Mr. H. SIMPSON, 7 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SMITH and SONS, 183 Strand.
Messrs. STEEL and JONES, 4 Spring Gardens, Charing Cross.
Mr. G. VICKERS, Angel Court, Strand.
Mr. H. VICKERS, 317 Strand.

THE THEATRES, &c.

COVENT GARDEN.—PROMENADE CONCERTS.
PRINCESS'S.—At 7, A CLERICAL ERROR. At 7.40, THE SILVER KING.
HAYMARKET.—At 7.50, FIRST IN THE FIELD. At 8.15, FEDORA.
DRURY LANE.—At 7.45, A SAILOR AND HIS LASS.
LYCEUM.—At 8.30, THE LADY OF LYONS.
ADELPHI.—At 7.45, IN THE RANKS.
STRAND.—At 8, VICE VERSA. At 9.15, SILVER GUILT.
SAVOY.—At 8, PRIVATE WIRE. At 8.40, IOLANTHE.
GAIETY.—At 7.35, YOUNG WIDOW. At 8.15, ARIEL.
AVENUE.—At 7.30, OBLIGING A FRIEND. At 8.15, LA VIE.
TOOLE'S.—At 8, SIX MONTHS AGO. At 8.30, OURS.
COURT.—At 8, THE MILLIONAIRE.
GLOBE.—At 7.45, MAN PROPOSES. At 8.30, THE GLASS OF FASHION
VAUDEVILLE.—At 8, AN OLD MASTER. At 9, CONFUSION.
COMEDY.—At 8, FALKA.
ST. JAMES'S.—At 8, YOUNG FOLKS' WAYS.
GRAND.—At 7.30, LOAN OF A LOVER. At 8. NEW BABYLON.
STANDARD.—At 7.30, GLAD TIDINGS.
SADLER'S WELLS.—At 7.30, DENOUNCED.
SURREY.—At 7.30, CRIMES OF PARIS.
ST. JAMES'S HALL.—Mr. DUVAL'S ODDS AND ENDS.
MOHAWK MINSTRELS, Agricultural Hall.—Every evening, at 8.
EGYPTIAN HALL.—Messrs. MASKELYNE AND COOKE. Every evening at 8.
CRYSTAL PALACE.—This day, CONCERT. PANORAMA. Open Daily, Aquarium, Picture Gallery, &c.

RICHARD PEARCY,
WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
81 PACKINGTON STREET, ISLINGTON,
LONDON, N.
Watches Made and Repaired in the very best manner.
MASONIC JEWELS.

BRO. G. S. GRAHAM,
The Popular Tenor and Buffo Vocalist, from St. James's Hall, Crystal Palace, &c.
(Provincial Grand Organist Middlesex)
IS OPEN TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FOR
Concerts, Entertainments, & Masonic Banquets.
Bro. G. S. Graham's Party of Eminent Artists can be engaged for Masonic Banquets, Consecrations and Installations, &c. For Opinions of the Press, and terms, address—G. S. GRAHAM, St. John's Villa, 91 Fernlea Road, Balham, Surrey.

PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS ON EASY TERMS.
GROVER & GROVER
LET ON HIRE, WITH OPTION OF PURCHASE,

BEAUTIFUL AND PERFECT INSTRUMENTS.
PURCHASERS CHOOSE THEIR OWN TERMS,
FROM 15s TO £3 3s PER QUARTER.
The Advantages of a Trial, with the Convenience of the Three Years' System at Cash Price, by Paying about a Quarter of the value down, the Balance by Easy Payments, from 15s per quarter.
GROVER & GROVER (late AVILL & SMART),
TABERNACLE SQUARE, FINSBURY, E.C.
ESTABLISHED 1830.

PIANOFORTES, £19 10s.
AMERICAN ORGANS, £9 5s.
HARMONIUMS, £5 15s.
Perfect in Tone and Touch. Elegant Walnut Cases. Every Instrument warranted to stand any extreme climate.
SHIPPERS AND DEALERS SUPPLIED.
Before deciding on purchasing, write for a descriptive Price List and Testimonials to G. LINSTEAD, Manager.
COBDEN PIANOFORTE COMPANY, 18 & 19 Eversholt Street, Camden Town, London.

BILLIARD BALLS, Chalks, Cues and Tips, at HENNIG BROS., Ivory Works, 11 High Street, London, W.C. Cheapest house in the trade for billiard-table requisites and ivory goods in general. Old balls adjusted or exchanged, and tables recovered. Price Lists on application. Established 1850.

RHEUMATISM.
THE only real remedy for this complaint is the Northern Cure (patent). In bottles 1s 1½d each, to be had of all Chemists. Proprietors and Manufacturer, EDWARDS AND ALEXANDER, 29 Blackett-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.
THE GREAT REMEDY FOR GOUT and RHEUMATISM.
The excruciating pain is quickly relieved and cured in a few days by this celebrated Medicine.
These Pills require no restraint of diet during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.
Sold by all Chemists at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.

HOTELS, ETC.
CARLISLE—Bush Hotel. SUTCLIFFE HOLROYD, Proprietor
EALING—Feathers Hotel
EASTBOURNE—Pier Hotel, Cavendish Place. View of Sea and Pier. A. TAYLOR Proprietor
HAVERFORDWEST.—Queen's Family and Commercial Hotel. BEN. M. DAVIES Proprietor.
KEW—Star and Garter. Good accommodation for Lodge & Dinner Parties. J. BRILL Proprietor
MILFORD HAVEN.—Lord Nelson Hotel. T. PALMER Proprietor
SANDWICH—Bell Family and Commercial Hotel, Good Stabling. J. J. FILMER Proprietor

ALL WHO SUFFER FROM
GOUT AND RHEUMATISM
Should immediately have recourse to
EADE'S CELEBRATED GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS.
Known throughout the world as the safest and most effectual remedy for the instant relief and rapid cure of Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Lumbago, and all Pains in the Head, Face, and Limbs.
OF ALL CHEMISTS, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d,
GEORGE EADE.
SOLE PROPRIETOR,
72 GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

SMOKE CHARLESWORTH & AUSTINS TOBACCOS AND CIGARS
BORO'S.E.
Old Chums 2d
Favourites 2d & 3d
Golden Shag 4d & 5d

Digitized by Google

JOSEPH J. CANEY,

DIAMOND MERCHANT, AND MANUFACTURING JEWELLER AND WATCH MAKER,

44 CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.

MASONIC JEWELS, CLOTHING AND FURNITURE.

Specialité—First Class Jewels—Artistic—Massive—Best Quality—Moderate in Price.

CATALOGUES POST FREE.

A LARGE STOCK OF LOOSE BRILLIANTS FOR EXPENSIVE JEWELS

Diamond Rings, Brooches, Studs, Earrings and Bracelets in Great Variety.

MASONIC JEWELS FOR ALL DEGREES.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS AND DECORATIONS.

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD IN ALL SIZES.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEDALS AND BADGES.

A. D. LOEWENSTARK & SONS, Medallists, 210 STRAND, LONDON, W.C.

MANUFACTORY—1 DEVEREUX COURT, STRAND.

R. W. GALER,

PRACTICAL WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

12 GREEN LANES, LONDON, N.

(Six doors from Newington Green).

OLD GOLD and SILVER BOUGHT or TAKEN in EXCHANGE.

PRESENTATION WATCHES AND MASONIC JEWELS MANUFACTURED ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

Communications by Post punctually attended to.

G. W. KNIGHT,

Carver, Gilder, and Picture Frame Maker,

LITTLE BELL ALLEY, BACK OF MOORGATE STREET, CITY,

AND

38 CHAUCER ROAD, BRIXTON.

CORNICES AND FRAMES OF ALL KINDS REPAIRED AND REGILT.

ADAM S. MATHER,

GAS ENGINEER, GENERAL GAS FITTER AND BELL HANGER,

MANUFACTURER OF BILLIARD LIGHTS

ND OF EVERY DESCRIPTIONIOF GAS APPARATUS FOR COOKING AND HEATING.

Bath Rooms Fitted up. All the Latest Improvements Introduced.

MANUFACTORY—12 CHARLES STREET, HATTON GARDEN, E.C.;

AND AT 278 CALEDONIAN ROAD. ISLINGTON, N.

ESTIMATES GIVEN.

W. W. MORGAN,

LETTER-PRESS, COPPER-PLATE, LITHOGRAPHIC PRINTER,

BELVIDERE WORKS,

HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE.

SUMMONSES, MENU CARDS, &c. ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED.

Sketches or Designs for Special Purposes Furnished on Application.

Books, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Catalogues, Posters, Billheads, Showcards, &c.

Every description of Printing (Plain or Ornamental) executed in First Class Style.

ESTIMATES SUPPLIED.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER

7s 6d.

If with Pockets, 6d each pocket extra.

225 HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.

DRESS SUITS from £3 3s to £5 5s.

Demy 8vo, Price 7s 6d,

THE CHESS OPENINGS,

By ROBERT B. WORMALD.

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE.

CONCERTINAS,

ENGLISH AND ANGLO-GERMAN.

G. JONES, 350 Commercial-road, London, E., inventor of the Anglo-German with chromatic scale. His tempered steel notes never get out of tune. Used by the leading performers. Price List of Musical Instruments of every description free. Established 1850.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY Limited, 7 Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General accidents. | Personal injuries.
Railway accidents. | Death by accident.

C. HARDING, Manager.

THE EMPIRE LAMP.

(RIPPINGILLE'S PATENT.)

THE MOST BRILLIANT AND ECONOMICAL DOMESTIC LIGHT EXTANT.

It equals Gas for Simplicity, but surpasses it for Illuminating Power.

IT burns without a chimney, a pine-shaped globe only being required, which has never been known to break from the heat of the flame. It will give more light than any other lamp with a wick of equal size. The combustion is so perfect that it deodorises the oil, and burns absolutely without smell, giving an intense pure white and beautiful light. It is unrivalled for simplicity in lighting, cleaning, and trimming, and is, in fact, the perfection of artificial light. Suitable for Cottage or Mansion, Churches, Chapels, &c.

Illustrated Catalogue, with full particulars, and giving valuable hints on Domestic Lighting and the Management of Lamps, free on application.

THE HOLBORN LAMP COMPANY,

118 HOLBORN, LONDON, E.C.

Say where you saw this Advertisement.

Bro. A. OLDROYD, Stratford, London,

MANUFACTURER OF TOBACCO POUCHES,

With any name in raised letters.

CAN be obtained direct from the Maker, at the undermentioned prices, on receipt of P.O.O. payable at Stratford.

	Price	Will take a name of
No. 3	2/0 ...	9 letters
,, 4	2/6 ...	11
,, 5	3/0 ...	13
,, 6	3/6 ...	13
,, 7	4/0 ...
,, 8	4/6 ...
,, 9	5/0 ...

A. OLDROYD,

Agent for Algerian Cigars, and Importer o Havana and Continental Cigars,

64 HIGH STREET, STRATFORD, LONDON, E.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

BIRKBECK BANK.—Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Current Accounts opened according to the usual practice of other Bankers, and Interest allowed on the minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £25. No commission charged for keeping Accounts.

The Bank also receives money on Deposit at three per cent. Interest, repayable on demand.

The Bank undertakes for its Customers, free of charge, the custody of Deeds, Writings, and other Securities and Valuables, the collection of Bills of Exchange, Dividends, and Coupons; and the purchase and sale of Stocks and Shares.

Letters of Credit and Circular Notes issued.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

31st March 1880.

The Birkbeck Building Society's Annual Receipts exceed Four Millions.

HOW TO PURCHASE A HOUSE FOR TWO GUINEAS PER MONTH, with immediate Possession and no Rent to pay. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY.

HOW TO PURCHASE A PLOT OF LAND FOR FIVE SHILLINGS PER MONTH, with immediate possession, either for Building or Gardening purposes. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Published every Wednesday. Price 3d,

THE

CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE:

AND

Journal of Indoor and Outdoor Amusements

THE CHESS PLAYER'S CHRONICLE can be ordered of any Bookseller in Town or Country, or will be forwarded direct from the Office on the following terms:—

Twelve months, post free	...	...	12 0
Three ,,	,,	...	3 3

It is also obtainable at the following Chess Resorts and Agencies—

Messrs. Dean and Son, 160A Fleet Street, E.C.
Simpson's Divan (Chess Room), Strand, W.C.
Pursell's Restaurant, ditto, Cornhill, E.C.

All communications and books, &c. for notice, to be addressed to the Editor, 555 Caledonian Road, N.

Printed and Published by Brother WILLIAM WRAY MORGAN, at Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, Saturday, 17th November 1883.

Digitized by Google

THE

Freemason's Chronicle;

A WEEKLY RECORD OF MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

SANCTIONED BY THE GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.

VOL. XVIII.—No. 463. SATURDAY, 24th NOVEMBER 1883. [PRICE THREEPENCE. 13s 6d per annum, post free.

HOW MASONIC HISTORY IS TAUGHT.

(Concluded from page 307).

IN dealing with the third branch of Bro. Yarker's lecture, namely, "the cause of the amalgamation of the two systems and the periods of its occurrence: constituting in effect the derivation and descent of Freemasonry as we now have it," we shall endeavour to observe the same principles of tenderness which influenced us in our treatment of the first and second branches. But the difficulties which face us are incomparably more serious, and should it unfortunately happen that, in our criticisms, we overstep the limits we have marked out, not ours the fault, say we, but Bro. Yarker's.

We have drawn attention to the marvellous fertility of imagination heretofore exhibited by the lecturer in his gentle treatment of operative Masonry, and his remrks on the High Grades and their immense antiquity. It will be seen that this fertility of imagination plays a far more conspicuous part in the portion of the lecture we are now about to examine. It must be conceded that Bro. Yarker begins well as an exponent of Masonic history: "As various branches of Craft Masons in olden times," says he, "were instituted by various High Caste or professedly Theosophic systems, so they possessed more or less of their One learning." It will be seen that this statement is made unreservedly, as though he knew his audience were so well acquainted with the proofs in support of it as to require no arguments in its favour. A little further on we are told that, "in England, as early as the year 1663," the system of the operative Masons "had become nearly extinct as a trade system, and lost its operative character by the admission of Rosicrucians, Geometricians, Alchemists, Theosophists, Knights of Malta, and other learned men and gentlemen of position. These, naturally, in their Lodge attendance, brought into Craft Masonry the various dogmas and ceremonies with which they were acquainted (Rosicrucianism and Templary), out of which—by uniting, adapting, and amending—about the year 1686, sprang the Rite called Ancient Masonry, of seven degrees: virtually, three Craft degrees and three High degrees." We admit this reads prettily enough, and that the several clauses have been so blended together as to apparently produce towards the close of the Seventeenth century a so-called system of Masonry which had no existence in fact till one-half of the Eighteenth century had passed away. We further learn that "at this time the leading spirit both in Craft Masonry and in Rosicrucianism was Elias Ashmole, and he kept a diary, from which we gather that Father Backhouse was his teacher, and that both societies fell into decay together, and both revived together in 1682." As a matter of fact, we learn from Ashmole's diary—at least as regards Masonry—that he was received a member of a Lodge of Freemasons at Warrington in 1646, and that five and thirty years later he attended a Masonic Lodge in London, when several gentlemen were admitted as members. As to the alleged decay and subsequent revival of the Society in 1682, we shall but too gladly welcome any evidence which Bro. Yarker may be able to adduce.

The statement which next claims our attention is the following: "It can be proved that there was (sic) in existence, in 1717, certain Craft Lodges which had no participation in the formation of the Grand Lodge of London, and even the Grand Master was prohibited from visiting these Lodges; and in 1738 the two systems—one of which recognised three degrees, called Modern Masonry, and the other seven degrees, called Ancient Masonry—came to wordy quarrels, leading to the establishment of a second London Grand Lodge." Leon Hyneman is quoted as the authority for the existence of the other Lodges which had no part in the establishment of the 1717 Grand Lodge, and which "even the Grand Ma.ter was prohibited from visiting;" but we have yet to learn that Hyneman's authority is more than a kind of peg on which Bro. Yarker finds it convenient to hang his pet theory of the exemplary character and presumed antiquity of the A. and P. Rite. If we search the pages of the most trustworthy Masonic historians, we shall look in vain for the Lodges which are said to have held aloof when the Grand Lodge of London was established, and many years afterwards to have set up the rival Grand Lodge of so-called "Ancient" Masons. As far as our knowledge goes, the founders of this latter Grand Lodge were seceders fron the Grand Lodge of 1717, while the terms "Ancients" and "Moderns" are misnomers, the true "Moderns" being the secessionists, and the true "Ancients" those from whom they seceded. Unfortunately, we labour under the very serious disadvantage of not being able to expand our knowledge by the aid of the inventive faculty which is so marked a characteristic of Bro. Yarker.

The very next sentence to the one we have just quoted is eminently calculated to excite the interest of the curious. It reads thus: "The Grand Lodge of All England, at York, took the part of the Ancients, and themselves practised the seven degree system; and there is a printed work of 1744 mentioning this fact." We have read in Findel that the York Grand Lodge was more than once in friendly correspondence with the London Grand Lodge, and on the first occasion before the so-called "Ancient" Grand Lodge was dreamt of. We have read also that when Preston and other members of the Lodge of Antiquity seceded from the original G. Lodge, London, they applied to the York Grand Lodge for, and obtained, its sanction for the establishment of a fourth G. Lodge of England, which assumed the style and title of "the Grand Lodge of England South of the Trent." This, we believe, is pretty well all that is known of the relations between the York and London Grand Lodges, while as to the rite practised by the former, we are in the position of most other people who have heard of the so-called York Rite of Masonry, but never learned its character, we are in the profoundest ignorance and must so remain until we can see with the eyes of Bro. Yarker and read history as he is in the habit of reading it.

What shall we say of the following:—"In 1743, there existed in London a body claiming to date from time immemorial as a chapter of Heredom—Rosy Cross or Templar. It had three grades: Arch, or Knight of the East, Rose Cross, and Mystic Point. The same degrees are minuted in 1746 as being practised in Durham." And again:—

EPPS'S (GRATEFUL COMFORTING) COCOA.

Digitized by Google

"The Chevalier Ramsay, in France, was an active member of the Seven Degree Rite from 1728 to 1738. In 1736, according to Folger, but probably from 1725, the Grand Lodge of France had appended to their Craft Warrant obtained in 1725 from the 1717 Grand Lodge of London the three grades of H.R.M., R.S.Y., C.S.S.; to which they added others; and Prince Charles Edward Stuart introduced them at Bordeaux in 1744, and gave a charter from the Rosy Cross to Arras in 1747 as Hereditary Grand Master, stating that previous to the misfortunes of his family it had been styled Knight of the Eagle and Pelican—our own badge, and the banner of his father in 1715." These two sentences contain so many statements, made with such absolute freedom from reservation, as to be tantamount to an equal number of distinct declarations of fact, that we find ourselves in a state of utter amazement—obstupuimus steteruntque comæ, &c. Heredom in 1743; the Chevalier Ramsay in 1728-38; the Grand Lodge of France in 1725 with its Craft Warrant and High Grade appendages; Prince Charles Edward in 1744 and his charter for the Rosy Cross in 1747—where to begin and where, having begun, it will be necessary we should leave off, are questions which it is beyond our feeble intellectual capacity to solve. In these circumstances we believe we shall be acting with a becoming spirit of humility if we abandon all thoughts of saying anything, and for the self-same reason attributed to Burleigh in the Critic, in excuse for his silence—because we are so deeply engaged in thinking; and the more we think, the less capable do we seem to grasp the full force of Bro. Yarker's astounding revelations. We will content ourselves, therefore, with expressing our surprise that, after these statements and others which immediately follow, Bro. Yarker should have the boldness to contend that "in England a High Grade Rite of seven degrees existed prior to the establishment of any Grand Lodge, and that such degrees were derived from the occult Rosicrucian School; that this system, in 1730, was known in England as Templars; in France, as Rosy Cross; in Sweden, as Royal Secret; and in Germany, as Rosicrucians." We are very far from being desirous of speaking in terms at all disrespectful of any system of Freemasonry, and least of all of this High Grade Rite of seven degrees which existed in England long before the establishment of any Grand Lodge; yet even this feeling of anxiety will not preclude us from asking Bro. Yarker if he will kindly produce some evidence in support of his theses.

In the concluding portion of the lecture, in which he gives "some information" in regard to the origin of the A. and P. Rite, "with other particulars with reference to it and to Freemasonry generally," Bro. Yarker tenaciously observes the same line of exposition as in the body of his essay. We must content ourselves, however, with the following illustration of his method of teaching Masonic History. Having traced the origin of the A. and P. Rite to the Rite of the Primitive Philalethes—or Primitive Philadelphes, for it is not clear which is intended, though, the two being identical, the point is immaterial—he goes on to observe as follows: "It is believed that the Ancient Mysteries are yet practised in Egypt by certain Dervishes, and Napoleon the Great and Kleber, who were French Masons, received affiliation to the Egyptian by investure (sic) with a ring by an old Egyptian Sage, at the Great Pyramid of Cheops. Napoleon and the officers of his army, upon this, in 1798, established European Freemasonry with a Grand Lodge at Cairo, and, having initiated a brother named Samuel Honis, he reconveyed the present Rite of Memphis to France. It was in 1815 that certain travelled initiates, Frenchmen and Egyptians, of this Rite (Gabriel Matthieu Marconis de Negre, Grand Master and Hierophant; the Baron Dumas, the Marquis de Laroque, Samuel Honis, of Cairo, &c.) reconstituted a Grand Orient of it at Montauban, called Disciples of Memphis. The Egyptian Rite of Memphis continued to prosper, and when Mehemet Ali Pasha obtained the direction of affairs in Egypt he gave his patronage to the Lodges on Egyptian soil; they continued a correspondence by means of cyphers, yet preserved to us, with their confreres in Europe and the rest of the world. After the death of the Great Pasha, the Rite of Memphis sank for awhile—perhaps in consequence of their meddling with politics—as it is asserted that in his time Greek and Arab women were members of the Lodges. The son of the first French Grand Hierophant, Jacques Etienne Marconis, a man of great learning and strict morals, and in every way an honour to Masonry, supported by his father, carried our Rite to Brussels in 1838, and to Paris in 1839, when he founded the Grand Lodge of Osiris, whence it spread again to Egypt, Italy, Roumania and America. The Grand Orient, or Craft Grand Lodge of France, at that time the highest authority on High Grade Masonry in the world, secured the control of it in 1862, and we derive our own origin from them in that year. It is probably the only High Grade Rite which ever had its Charter ratified by a Grand Lodge of Symbolical or Craft Masons, and we can, therefore, ask Craft Masons to admit that we are the most legitimate of all existing Rites." Shall we be venturing too far into the field of logic if we affirm, on the strength of this very prolonged statement and on the supposition that it is proof against the most determined assaults of the sceptical, that it follows as a reasonable deduction from Bro. Yarker's premisses that Napoleon the Great and Kleber were the founders of the A. and P. Rite. We are so accustomed to hear of people propounding the most extraordinary theories that we confess to being surprised at nothing. But there is something exquisitely ludicrous in the proposition that Napoleon the Great, who spent the greater part of his life in overthrowing or attempting to overthrow empires and kingdoms, played a principal part in the establishment of a comparatively unknown and worthless so-called Masonic Rite. The brilliant general, the author of the Code Napoleon, transformed into a pedlar of Masonic wares is a picture on which we do not care to dwell. We have no objection to Adam or Noah, or even Beelzebub, being adopted as the father of the A. and P. Rite; but the memory of one of the greatest men the world has ever seen should be held sacred from the silly, if harmless, pleasantries of a Masonic dreamer.

We have little more to say. Bro. Yarker, by his recent historical effort, has achieved notoriety, if not fame. To him unquestionably belongs the honour of having compressed within the limits of a sixteen-page pamphlet a greater number of the most astounding fictions than we ever remember to have seen gathered together within the compass even of a goodly-sized volume. His enthusiasm has run away with his common sense. It is just possible his lecture may have satisfied his audience. On the spur of the moment men are often led astray by magniloquent phrases and high-sounding titles, and readily accept what they do not understand. But this is rarely done in cold blood, when the listener of yesterday becomes the reader of to-day, and, natural curiosity being aroused, he endeavours to fathom the mysteries that have been referred to. Then it is that the flippant use of a loud-sounding terminology is exposed, and the astounding theory which was built on a foundation of sand comes toppling to the ground. It would have been better had Bro. Yarker remained satisfied with the applause vouchsafed him in the lecture-room by an audience whose ignorance was doubtless on a par with its enthusiasam and good nature. In appealing to the deliberate judgment of the Masonic world as to the value of his extravagant theories, he has merely brought himself more prominently than before into ridicule. As a would-be Masonic historiographer, he is the laughing-stock of his brother Masons.

At the monthly meeting of the Lodge of Benevolence, which met on Wednesday, at Freemasons' Hall, there was a very numerous attendance. Bro. Joshua Nunn President occupied the President's chair; and Bro. James Brett, the Senior Vice-President, was in his place, while the Rev. W. Oswell Thompson, Grand Chaplain, occupied the chair of Junior Vice-President. The agenda paper of the next Grand Lodge was submitted to the Board of Masters, and the Lodge then proceeded with the list of cases before it. The brethren confirmed the recommendations of grants at the October meeting, to the extent of £365. There was a very long list of new cases, consisting of no less than forty-five petitioners who made appeals. During a sitting of nearly four hours and a half the Lodge relieved forty of these, with a total sum of £1,060. Five cases were deferred, the usual requisites not having been complied with.

At the Meeting of the Mount Moriah Lodge, No. 34, held on Thursday, at the Freemasons' Tavern, Brother R. A. Meyer was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing year.

FUNERALS.—Bros. W. K. L. & G. A. HUTTON, Coffin Makers and Undertakers, 17 Newcastle Street, Strand, W.C. and 30 Forest Hill Road, Peckham Rye, S.E.

Digitized by Google

REMINISCENCES OF A SECRETARY.

THE summons to attend the funeral of a deceased Brother is always more or less shocking to the recipient, but to the Secretary who issues the summons it is even more, for he must generally go to the house of mourning to ascertain the particulars, and there at once finds himself in the midst of great grief, and he should use great discretion to save and respect the feelings of the bereaved family and also protect the interests of his Lodge.

I remember on one occasion our Master was away on business in an Eastern city, when I received a very laconic missive from a member that "Bro. Condin had just died—see to it." Bro. Condin lived on First avenue near Sixteenth street, in a densely populated tenement district. He occupied part of a floor on the fifth story back. He had been a bricklayer, was often out of work, and recently had fallen from a scaffolding, from which injury he never fully recovered, and finally succumbed, leaving a widow with a large family to look after; leaving them, too, with his debts to pay; leaving them alone to continue the fierce battle, and struggle for existence. And such an existence! Five persons in three little rooms, with three more families on the same floor. I counted twenty-seven persons in that little hive, and ascertained that over three hundred human beings were "sardined" into this big trap. I ascertained, however, which concerned me more closely, that we would have to take entire charge of Bro. Condin's funeral, as well as of his family. The only inheritance they had from the husband and father was his excellent reputation and good name—that, of course, was very good; but it does not buy any bread or pay rent.

I had hastened to an undertaker, who took charge of the remains, and then to the Senior Warden, and called upon a Past Master, and it was arranged that the funeral should take place the following Sunday—that gave me two days to issue my summonses, and have everything in readiness. Meantime the family had to be seen to, and through the kindness of some of our Brethren and their good wishes, this was accomplished easier than I at first anticipated. The ladies took charge of the female portion of the family, and with great delicacy loaned them the regulation mourning apparel, and we also provided them with the immediate necessities, and several of the members called at intervals to help and cheer and console the bereaved family.

When I had made all the arrangements for the funeral, and the day and hour had been agreed upon, I hurried home to write out the proper notices. I had hardly got through the list of names when a telegram was brought to me, signed by a Brother of the Lodge, saying that Bro. Walter B. Clarendon "had just died—please call at the house at once."

Bro Clarendon lived at No.— Madison avenue, and when I arrived at the brownstone mansion I found the stylish and highly varnished wagon of an undertaker already before the door. I was not permitted to ring the bell, a liveried servant was stationed at the elegant vestibule to prevent any noise from disturbing the deathly stillness that prevailed. I made myself known to the person in charge, who referred me to the undertaker, who, being a Mason, understood my motive in insisting to see Mrs. Clarendon at once. I was shown up stairs, where I found several females busily engaged among a heap of mourning goods—cutting, sewing and fitting the stuff—as I supposed, to have it ready for the coming funeral. I saw the beloved widow, bowed down with grief and sorrow, surrounded by her little ones; she, too, was left alone with four orphaned children; but what a contrast to the scene I had witnessed in the morning. True, both women deeply felt their affliction, and felt their lonely condition; but the poor, sorrowing one in the fifth story back had, beside the bleeding wound of her loss, the fearful pangs of hunger and want to bear. She could see nothing in the near future but trouble, struggle, and a desperate fight for a bare living for herself and children, while the widow in the Madison avenue mansion was at least spared that horror—she knew that her husband had left her well provided with this world's goods.

I finally made the arrangements here, too, and as it was the express wish of Mrs. Clarendon to have the funeral take place on Sunday, I had to bestir myself and again summon the Lodge for this second funeral on the same day. We were to meet in the Lodge room altogether, and then divide—one party, headed by the Senior Warden, to go to one house, while another party, with the Junior Warden, to go to the other—each section to be accompanied by some of the Past Masters.

I confess I watched with a great deal of cynical interest to see who among the Brethren would choose to go to the Madison avenue mansion, and who would prefer the tenement house funeral, and to the credit of Masonry in general, and our Lodge in particular, be it said, that a very large majority thought the poor woman in the fifth story back needed more of our countenance and our presence than the Madison avenue lady—for, argued most of the Brethren, the rich lady on Madison avenue no doubt has many friends to-day; even if they do not mean it they will show their pretended respect by their presence; but poor Mrs. Condin will be more neglected than ever, and we must show her that with us, at least, her poverty makes no difference, and that we think as much of her, and as much of the one dead Brother in the tenement house as of the one in the brownstone front. And so we divided ourselves into two parties, but by far the larger of the two repaired to the First avenue mansion, while the other went to the Madison avenue house. At the latter place ample preparations had been made, coaches were provided for everybody, and all the members of the Lodge rode from the house to Greenwood Cemetery; while the other "section" walked a short distance from the house, then by street cars to the ferry, thence again in cars to the same destination.

Both the funeral services were performed by our Past Masters, surrounded by the Brethren and grief-stricken families, and when the coffins were lowered into the ground, the earth looked the same over both graves, as there all ranks are levelled, all distinctions obliterated.—Keystone.

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our Correspondents.

All Letters must bear the name and address of the Writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return rejected communications.

—:o:—

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—The loss of the valuable and life-like portraits which had for so long a period adorned our famous Old Hall was, I need not say, a severe blow to one who, from long and close association with them, had become as familiar with every feature as though they had been living and very dear friends.

The originals being, as I feared, past restoration, I resolved that no effort should be wanting on my part to replace them, and I at once set about endeavouring to ascertain whether any of them had ever been engraved or copied. A few days after the fire Bro. H. W. Longhurst, of the Canonbury Tavern, Islington, presented to the Grand Lodge a full length engraving of the late Earl of Zetland, an exact copy of the one destroyed, and, as I now fear, the only one of the series that has been engraved in its entirety, although the Craft are much indebted to Bro. R. S. Warrington P.G.S., of Garrick Street, and Bro. Whytehead, of York, for two very fine half-length engravings of the Dukes of Kent and Sussex, the latter bearing H.R. Highness's well-known autograph, it having been presented by him to Bro. Warrington's uncle.

Having carefully searched the Records of Grand Lodge, and made inquiries in other directions, with no satisfactory result, I thought it possible that the Masonic Press might assist me, hence my letter of the 13th ult., which, as no doubt you will have observed, only refers to copies of the identical portraits destroyed by the fire.

Owing to the publicity and support so readily given to my endeavours, by yourself and your contemporaries, I have received several letters from brethren (one from Gibraltar), offering portraits for the purpose of being copied. To these I have replied privately, as in most cases they referred to pictures already in the possession of Grand Lodge, and I presume the subject of copying will have due consideration by the authorities on the completion of the New Temple. You will be glad to learn that, in addition to the large engravings I have mentioned, we have now smaller ones of all the noblemen mentioned in my former letter, with the exception of the Duke of Athol. As in your issue of the 10th inst. you were good enough to suggest contributions to the Grand Lodge Library and proposed Museum, you will no doubt be equally pleased to know that some of our brethren are not unmindful of the importance of having a Masonic Museum at the headquarters of English Masonry. Unfortunately, the donations at present are very few in number, but I feel sure that now the Masonic Press has taken the matter in hand, and with the assistance of such well known and energetic Masonic scholars as Bros. the Rev. Woodford P.G.C. and Bro. Geo. Lambert, F.S.A., P.G. Sword Bearer, we shall soon see a very different state of things. These brethren have already contributed several very rare and curious masonic engravings, &c., and the last named has been good enough to permit me to say that the inauguration of a Museum would have his warmest support, and that he has several other scarce Masonic relics which he would have much pleasure in presenting if he found that the Craft in general evinced some interest in the undertaking. I have no recollection of having seen the portrait you mention of the Earl of Zetland, and shall be glad of further information regarding it. I very recently availed myself of the kind permission of Bro. H. Thompson to inspect the portrait of the Earl of Moira, mentioned in his letter to you of the 20th ult.; which, though not a copy of the one that was destroyed, certainly merits every word he said in its favour. The picture is quite new to me, although there is one in the Grand Lodge Library very similar, probably executed about the same period, but by another artist, plainly evincing the well deserved popularity of the distinguished original.

Yours fraternally,

H. SADLER P.M.

A Convocation of the North London Chapter of Improvement was held at the Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, on Thursday, 22nd inst., at 8 o'clock. Comps. Gregory Z., Dean H., Sheffield J., Radcliffe S.N., Knight P.S. The first section of the Royal Arch Lecture was worked by Comp. Preceptor Edmonds, and afforded much instruction to the R.A. Masons present.

The Winter Number of Society for this year will be called Round The Fireside, and will contain several complete stories by such well known authors as Richard Dowling, Godfrey Turner, J. Palgrave Simpson, Ernest Warren, William Mackay, C. C. Rhys, &c., and will be illustrated by Frank Feller, Rudolf Blind, Frederick Waddy, &c. The price is to be sixpence, and the number will be ready on 8th December.

"Heath's Fern Portfolio" is the general title of a series of life-size reproductions of ferns in which the author of the "Fern World" will give what has never before been attempted, namely, absolute facsimiles, in form, colour, and venation, of these beautiful plants, together with letter-press descriptions on the same plates. Mr. Heath's new serial will be published monthly by Messrs. Sampson Low, Marston and Co.

Digitized by Google

RANDOM NOTES AND REFLECTIONS.

WE are not surprised at the pleasure that was felt by Brother the Duke of Albany at the reception he received at the hands of the brethren of West Yorkshire on the occasion of his recent visit to Huddersfield. It was a right loyal welcome, carried out with becoming spirit. Formal recognition of the reception was given at the time, but we now learn that intimation has been conveyed to Brother Sir Henry Edwards, R.W. Provincial Grand Master of West Yorkshire, that his Royal Highness will gladly sign the books of the five Lodges in Huddersfield as a memento and a record of his visit. Bro. the Duke of Albany takes this opportunity to renew the expression of pleasure he felt at the reception he met with, the details of which were arranged and carried out by the five Lodges in question. The signature of our noble brother in the Lodge books will be highly prized by the brethren of the Huddersfield Lodges, and will be taken as a great compliment by the whole of the Craft in the province.

—:o:—

Judging from the expression of opinion on all hands, the resolution arrived at in August last relative to the status of joining Past Masters will not be confirmed at the Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge, to be held on 5th December. It is not so easy to predict the precise course that will be taken, nor is it necessary to prophecy. The suggestion of an influential section of the brethren to let matters rest where certain of the new rules leave them, has rather lost than gained favour, and the disposition seems to tend in the direction of doing something to meet the wishes of those who still think they have a grievance, and who were powerful enough to carry Grand Lodge with them in August. The views we have expressed from time to time are now being warmly esponsed, and we can see no better way of preserving the dignity of Grand Lodge and of satisfying all reasonable demands, than by leaving the decision as to the status of a joining Past Master in the hands of the members of the Lodge he joins. It will only be recognising a custom that already prevails to some extent, and will permit private Lodges to exercise that discretion which naturally belongs to them, and which it is no part of the duty of Grand Lodge to define. It is purely a local question, and should be determined locally. It is one thing to give a Lodge choice of action, and another to force the members into a precise method, or to have recourse to the painful and objectionable practice of blackballing. There is no necessity for Grand Lodge to act in a matter that in no way affects them or the principles of the Craft, and if they simply make legal what custom now sanctions, they will get rid of a troublesome matter in a very dignified manner, and do all that can fairly be asked of them.

—:o:—

There is a lull in the discussion anent the rebuilding of the Temple, which is not to be wondered at, seeing that there is yet a good deal to be learned about what is possible. More information is needed before a basis of action can be arrived at, and as time does not seem to be of the first consideration, it is as well that the production of plans should be postponed until it is known what Grand Lodge and the Craft at large desire. The plan of the Special Building Committee has met with little favour, not altogether because of its general demerits as a plan, but because of its costliness in certain directions. We have already expressed our views on this matter, and shall not now further allude to them than to say that, whatever is done we hope the library and museum question will not be forgotten.

—:o:—

It is pleasant to notice that with one exception Bro. Sadler's appeal has been successful in obtaining likenesses, of one sort or the other, of the noble brethren whose portraits were destroyed by the late fire. The missing one is that of the Duke of Athole, which we trust will be secured. We are glad to find that an interest has been awakened in the matter, and hope that the outcome will be the formation of a gallery of Masonic portraits which shall either find space in the new Temple, or in the library that is to be. We have a home for work and social enjoyment, we ought to have a place where the mind can be stored and the taste cultivated. Looking at the features of a noted Mason may suggest inquiry as to the history of the Craft, and the more that is known of the early workers and of the past struggles and successes of the Order the better for all.

—:o:—

Though late, we may be permitted to add our testimony to the worth of the late Bro. Edward M. Hubbuck P.G.S. He was only 64 when he died, on the 12th inst., but his whole life has been one record of kindness. His hospitality at his beautiful home at Catford, Kent, is well known to many who enjoyed it, while his benevolent disposition led him to perform continuous acts of charity. As a Mason of twenty-five years standing, he will be remembered as a correct and painstaking worker upon the plan so ably sustained by the Stability Lodge of Improvement, whose proceedings he at one time conducted, in the absence of Bro. Muggeridge, and as a liberal contributor to various Masonic Charities. Bro. Hubbuck was rather of a retiring disposition, and never sought distinction in the Craft; but he was greatly revered in his mother Lodge, the Felicity, No. 58. We remember meeting him at St. George's Lodge of Instruction, No. 140, on a festive occasion, and was much impressed with his genial courtesy and kindliness. He was a great favourite with the St. George's Lodge, of which he was a member, and also with the Blackheath Lodge, No 1320, which he helped to found. He will be missed by many. His remains lie in Lee Cemetery.

MARK MASONRY.

Porchester Lodge, No. 27.—A numerously attended meeting of the members of this Lodge was held on Friday evening, at the Temperance Hall, Newbury, under the presidency of the Wor. Master, Brother F. H. Lyon, M.D., P.G.S.O. The principal item on the agenda was the choice of a Worshipful Master of the Lodge for the ensuing year, and a ballot having been taken, the W.M. announced that the Senior Warden Bro. George J. Cosburn, P.P.G. Standard Bearer, had been unanimously elected to preside over the Lodge during the coming year. The W.M. elect having thanked the Officers and brethren for the honour conferred upon him, the members unanimously re-elected Brother Head to the office of Treasurer, and Brother Dodd was re-appointed Tyler. The installation Lodge will be held towards the close of January.

Brixton Lodge, No. 234.—Bro. G. J. Dunkly was installed W.M. of this prosperous Lodge of Mark Master Masons on Saturday, 10th inst., at Anderton's Hotel. Bro. G. Clarke performed the ceremony in a splendid and most impressive mannner; there was a large gathering. After the ceremony the brethren sat down to a good banquet, and with some excellent singing, by Bro. Halliday and the W.M., the evening passed off in a most delightful way, the W.M. receiving sincere good wishes from all the brethren. We have no doubt a prosperous and happy year will be the outcome of Brother Dunkly's Mastership.

ROSICRUCIAN SOCIETY.

A MEETING of the Lancashire College was convened for Saturday, 10th instant, at the Masonic Hall, Wigan, when the following Fratres formed the M.C.:—Right Wor. G. P. Brookbank 9° Chief Adept, V.W. Robert Harwood Suffragan, J. D. Murray Celebrant, H. T. Byrom 1st Ancient, A. H. Crossley 2nd Ancient, W. W. Wylde Secretary; W. J. Thomson, Thos. Morris, E. Bielby, T. C. Thornburn, J. M. Kerr and W. Wall. The minutes of the preceding meeting having been confirmed, the degree of Zelator was conferred on Bros. T. H. Glendinning, 1055, and Wm. Newsome, 86 and 1384. Letters of apology were read from Fratres Wood, Huet, Young, Campbell and Middleton. The following were appointed as Officers of the College for the ensuing year:—Fratres Jas. Horrocks Celebrant, J. Hoffgard Deputy Celebrant, A. Middleton 4th Ancient, H. T. Byrom 3rd Ancient, A. H. Crossley 2nd Ancient, W. M. Wylde 1st Ancient, H. B. Seddon Secretary, Thos. Morris Treasurer, Reginald Young Precentor, James Dunbar Organist, J. Barrett Conductor of N., T. T. Richardson Herald, W. Nicholl Guardian of T., W. J. Thomson Torch Bearer, W. D. Dean Medallist. A cordial vote of thanks was tendered to Frater J. D. Murray, for the efficient manner in which he had conducted the business of the College as Celebrant during the past year; and, after a suitably reply, the M.C. was, dissolved, and the Fratres adjourned to banquet.

A New Masonic Hall was opened at Woolston on Monday, 19th inst., in connection with the Clausentum Lodge No. 1461, the tenth anniversary of which was at the same time celebrated. The ceremony of dedication of the building was performed by Brother W. W. B. Beach, Esq. M.P., Prov. G. Master., who was assisted by the D.P.G.M. and several P.G. Officers, in presence of upwards of one hundred of the brethren of the province. The W.M. of the Lodge, Bro. Methven, presided at the banquet which followed the ceremony.

Digitized by Google

CONSECRATION OF THE CHISWICK LODGE, No. 2012.

BRANCHING out of the main road leading from Hammersmith to Kew Bridge, and a short distance on the left before reaching Turnham Green Church, there is an estate called the Glebe, out of which a new town has been fashioned. In the midst of a net-work of streets is the Bolton Hotel, in the Duke's Road, the only building of the kind, we believe, on the estate. Here, on Friday afternoon, the 16th inst., a number of the brethren, some of them distinguished in the Craft, and all apparently earnest Masons, assembled on the occasion of the Consecration of a new Lodge, very appropriately called the "Chiswick." What the birth of a son and heir is to a father, so is the consecration of a new Lodge to those who assist at its nativity, especially to the Master, who is to act as parent during the most delicate and infantile period of its existence, and those who are to perform the disciplinary work necessary for growth and strength. Before proceeding to describe the details of the ceremonies of Consecration and Installation, we may state that the Lodge room forms a pretty, and by no means inconvenient, little Temple. Cowans can be carefully excluded, while the necessary approach for the free and enlightened is open during work. Other means of access are available when the brethren seek refreshment. The Tyler is provided with a suitable room for the discharge of his duties, and candidates for initiation have been considered in the arrangements. The Temple is also the banquetting room, but as far as possible any inconvenience that might arise in consequence has been anticipated or provided against. For instance, there is a large billiard saloon, containing two tables and well supplied with lounges. There is plenty of space to move about, and adjoining is an ante-room, so that the comfort and convenience of guests have been thoughtfully considered. The difficulties that arose on the night we are referring to were exceptional, and only likely to recur on rare occasions. Such a banquet as was then provided will not be given again for some time to come, and conversion from Temple to refreshment hall will be an easy task in the future. On Friday night the Temple was filled with brethren during the hours of work; at one time the odour of "sweet incense" pervaded the room: these and the fumes of gas contributed to impair the atmosphere, at any rate to deprive it of that freshness so essential to the development of a good appetite and the gratification of it afterwards. The interval that took place between work and refreshment happened to be a long one, which gave time for the admission of fresh air and the purification of the atmosphere. No real inconvenience was felt, and we shall be suprised indeed if the brethren do not find the "Bolton" a cosy and very pleasant home.

In accordance with arrangement, the V.W. Bro. Col. Shadwell H. Clerke P.G.D., Grand Secretary England, took the chair of King Solomon, and performed the ceremonies of Consecration and Installation in an easy, graceful manner. He was assisted by W. Bro. Dr. Ralph Gooding G.S.D. as Senior Warden, W. Bro. Edgar Bowyer G.S.B. as Junior Warden, V.W. Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford P.G.C. as Chaplain, W. Bro. Frank Richardson P.G.D. as Director of Ceremonies, Bro. T. C. Walls P.G.D. Middlesex as I.G. There were also present: Bro. J. M. P. Montagu Deputy G.M. Dorset, Bro. H. Sadler G.T., and Bros. J. Welch 3, Thos. Wright P.M. 22, W. Herbage W.M. and W. J. Ferguson P.M. 177, J. M. Levy W.S. 185, A. Louis Chapman 255, Henry Whittick P.M. 511, W. Fieldson I.P.M. 548, H. Massey P.M. 619 and 1928, W. Gomm jun. 780, G. A. Payne P.M. 933, W. E. Harrison 946, W. H. Makins 969, Wm. Rippon 1158, W. P. Webb W.M. and H. M. Appleton S.W. 1381, Geo. Aldred 1507, S. Brooks P.M. and T. H. R. Hartley 1608, Geo. S. Wright 1612. Bro. Seymour Smith, assisted by Brothers Collins and G. T. Carter, very efficiently carried out the musical portion of the service. In addressing the assembled brethren, the W.M. explained the motive of the meeting, and proceeded to say that the number of Lodges in London had pretty well reached the limit. New neighbourhoods were the exception, and in this instance there was no Lodge in the locality; the facts of the case had been represented by several brethren of repute, and Grand Lodge had granted a warrant for a new Lodge. He would advise the brethren not to be in a hurry to build up a Lodge; it was a common fault to hasten to make up a good list of members, to the danger of admitting those who where not suitable. The outside world took more interest now than heretofore in Freemasonry, and the fame of the Institutions and the munificent Charities of the Order was a powerful attraction to many to join, who afterwards found themselves in a false position. Care should be exercised in the admission of members, and time should be taken in order to select those who were really capable of appreciating the Craft. A good beginning had been made in the selection of the W.M. designate, whose experience would be valuable, and through whom high hopes might be formed of the future of the Lodge. The petition and warrant were read in due course. The former was signed by the following brethren: Geo. Everett P.M. 177 and 1381, 1608, Chas. H. Everett 1507, 1987, G. Gardner 177, W. D. Scott P.P.G.D. Surrey and P.M. 410, W. Mann P.M. 186, James Ford 1507, Jno. H. Rutherglen 1612, Adam Pringle jun. I.G. 92, Harry Oliver Smith 1974, Frederick Lawrence P.M. 255. The petition was recommended by the Loyalty and Charity Lodge 1584, meeting at the Star and Garter, Kew Bridge, through its Officers as follow: Brothers G. E. Mortimer W.M., T. Drew Bear S.W., D. Francis Williams J.W. The oration by Bro. Woodford, which followed, was an able composition, and dealt chiefly with certain points of interest in connection with the Fraternity. It was declaimed with the author's accustomed energy and was warmly approved. In alluding to the Brotherhood of the Craft, Bro. Woodford remarked that they had hoped to have had one among them that day who could have given them his experience of the working of Freemasonry amongst various sections of peoples living in India. He was not, however, present, but the fact was well known, that Parsees, Brahmins, Mahommedans, and Christians, widely separated as they were by creeds, and some by lands and seas, were yet united in one common work of humanity, held and bound together by principles that all could understand and appreciate. After dwelling upon the spirit and practice of toleration which the Craft inculcated, Bro. Woodford closed his oration with an eloquent tribute to charity as exemplified by the Order. The ceremony of Consecration was then proceeded with and carried on in that graceful and reverent manner so characteristic of Bro. Shadwell Clerke. Long practice has made him familiar with the work, and knowledge and experience has given him confidence. He was happy, too, in having intelligent assistance, especially in the Master of the Ceremonies, Bro. Frank Richardson, who discharged his duties "as if to the manner born." Bro. Woodford was equally successful as officiating priest. He was zealous and fervent, and wafted the censer with skill. The fumes of the incense mingled with the impressive language of this part of the ceremony, affecting the senses and appealing to the soul. After the final benediction, the W.M. designate, Bro. George Everett, was duly installed into the chair by Bro. Shadwell Clerke, who omitted a small portion of the service, as the W.M. had already passed through the ordeal on two previous occasions. Everything essential, however, was done to make the work complete and impressive. After the usual salutes had been made and addresses delivered, Bro. Chas. H. Everett was appointed S.W., Bro. Gardner J.W., and Bro. Dr. F. Lawrence Treasurer. Each officer was invested and instructed in his duty by the W.M., and all were warmly applauded as they were led to their respective positions. The other offices were left open until the next meeting, when they will be filled up by brethren already selected. We may say that Bro. J. Daly was the Tyler. No fewer than twelve names were handed in by the Secretary pro tem, Bro. H. O. Smith, as joining members, and the names of four gentlemen were given who were anxious to become enlightened. After some remarks by the W.M., in which he modestly referred to his position, he moved that a very special vote of thanks be given to the Consecrating Officer for his services that day, and to those who had so ably assisted him, which was seconded by the S.W. and carried unanimously. Bro. Col. Shadwell Clerke responded, and after the usual greetings, the Lodge was closed in the customary form.

Some delay, for reasons we have already given, took place before the brethren sat down to the banquet. In the meantime refreshments had been provided in another room, and all that hospitality could suggest and accommodation furnish was forthcoming for the comfort of those present. The banquet itself was excellent, but somewhat slowly served. This was a drawback, as time was far advanced when the middle of a well-selected musical programme had been reached. The toast list had been carefully prepared, and it was certainly of modest though of ample proportions. The musical programme was equally modest, yet it was found to be too full, for several brethren had to depart without having the opportunity of enjoying it. The first toast, of course, was the Queen and the Craft, followed by the M.W. the Grand Master, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. Justice was done to both by the W.M. and those present. The Earl of Carnarvon Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Lathom Deputy Grand Master, and the Grand Officers Present and Past, brought up Bro. Woodford in reply, who acknowledged the honour, and said that both he and those who had acted with him that day, were always glad to assist in the grand ceremony of Consecration, and for himself he might add that he was willing at all times to accompany the Grand Secretary in his pilgrimages. During his forty years' experience of Masonry he could say that he had formed the best and dearest friendships of his life, and the longer he lived the more he became attached to the Craft. Bro. Shadwell Clerke then proposed the health of the W.M., the prime mover of their meeting that night. He congratulated the brethren upon the selection they had made; they had acted wisely in securing a brother to preside over them who had already filled the chair in two other Lodges. In addition to his valuable experience, Bro. Everett had secured a large measure of esteem among the brethren generally. Only a week before the Domatic Lodge, of which Bro. Everett was Treasurer, had presented him with a very handsome testimonial. All this showed the estimation in which he was held, the success that had followed his labours, and now that he had a child of his own, the same good fortune would he hoped attend him. The toast was received with enthusiasm. In replying, the W.M. thanked the Grand Secretary for the kind and handsome manner in which he had proposed the toast, and the brethren for the reception they had given to it. A year ago he felt that, after twenty-five years' service, he had earned his retirement, especially as he was at times the victim of attacks of rheumatic gout. Some brethren, however, thought there was good work to be done in the locality in which they then were, and he was induced to get into harness once more. Having accepted office again, he should do his best to make the Lodge a prosperous one. The Grand Secretary had kindly alluded to the presentation made to him, the W.M., on the previous Friday, by the Domatic Lodge; this would encourage him, and he hoped the new Lodge would be very successful and very prosperous. The W.M. proposed the Consecrating Officers, and alluded in complimentary terms to the Grand Secretary and others who had done such yeoman service that day. Bro. Col. H. Shadwell Clerke responded. Bros. Montagu and Herbage responded for the Visitors, Bro. Lawrence for the Treasurer and Secretary, and Bro. Chas. H. Everett S.W. for the Officers. The catering was excellent, and great praise is due to Bro. Harry Price who acted as Wine Steward and looked after the comforts of the brethren. The whole proceedings were highly successful, and the W.M. starts with a prospect full of promise.

The ceremony of Installation will be rehearsed by Bro. Simon J. Byng (424 S.C.) P.M. 902, on Friday, 30th November, at 8 p.m., at the Royal Standard Lodge of Instruction, No. 1298, held at Bro. T. Meekham's, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury. Bro. G. H. Hunter P.M. 1298 is the Hon. Secretary of this Lodge of Instruction.

Digitized by Google

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

ST. JOHN'S LODGE, No. 221, BOLTON.

THE monthly meeting was held on Wednesday, the 21st instant, at the Commercial Hotel, Town Hall Square, Bolton. Bros. John Isherwood W.M., J. Boothroyd I.P.M., E. Melrose S.W., P. Bradburn J.W., G. P. Brockbank Treasurer, C. Crompton S.D., James Walker J.D., W. Siddon as I.G., H. J. Briscoe Organist, R. Cuerden Steward, T. Higson Tyler; and Bros. Forrest, Swanbrick, Makin, J. P. Fletcher, Bradley, and T. Morris P.M. Visitors—Bros. W. Cooper P.M. 146, Skelton J.W. 146. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Bros. Fletcher and Bradley, having passed a satisfactory examination as Fellow Crafts, were severally entrusted, and thereupon retired. Lodge opened in the third degree, when the candidates were re-admitted, and raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason by the W.M. (Bro. Isherwood) and Bro. Boothroyd I.P.M.; the working tools of the degree were explained to them. Lodge closed to the second, when Brother Swarbrick (who had been previously entrusted with a test of merit) was passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. Lodge closed to the first, when Mr. W. Crompton, of Bolton, decorator, who had been proposed at the last regular meeting as a candidate, was ballotted for, elected, and initiated into Masonry by the W.M., the working tools of the degree being presented by the Junior Warden, and the customary charge delivered by Bro. Brockbank, Senior Past Master. A letter was read from the Provincial Grand Secretary, desiring the duly qualified brethren to attend the Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge, when the proceedings of the last meeting will be submitted for confirmation. A gentleman was proposed for initiation, and a portion of the rules and charges read by the Senior Warden. Lodge was then closed in peace and harmony, at nine o'clock.

ST. MARY LODGE, No. 1312.

THE annual festival of this Lodge was held at the White Hart Hotel, Bocking, on Tuesday, 13th November, when Bro. R. Guy Kellett S.W. was duly installed as W.M. for the ensuing year, the ceremony being ably performed by Bro. Vero W. Taylor P.M. P.P.G.S.W. The following were invested as Officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. J. J. Cavill P.G.J.D. I.P.M., F. Lake P.M. S.W., J. Clayden J.W., W. N. Tufnell P.M. P.P.G.S.W. Treas., Thomas Malyn P.M. Sec., J. Fuller S.D., E. Copus J.D., J. Coates I.G., Metson Tyler. In reference to the appointment of Secretary, the W.M. announced with great regret that Bro. Portway P.M., who had served them so long and so faithfully, had been compelled, owing to continued ill-health, to resign. The W.M. further stated that he considered the services Bro. Portway had rendered had been so distinguished that they deserved some substantial recognition at their hands. He therefore proposed that a Committee be at once formed with a view of collecting subscriptions to present to Bro. Portway some suitable testimonial of their esteem and regard. This having been seconded and carried unanimously, it was decided that the Committee for carrying out the proposal should consist of the W.M., Wardens, Treasurer, and Secretary. At the conclusion of the ceremony of installation, a cordial vote of thanks was passed to Bro. Vero Taylor for his kindness in attending, and so ably carrying out the duty. The brethren afterwards dined together at the White Hart Hotel, an elegant banquet being served by the host, Bro. Coates. During dinner, an interchange of congratulatory telegrams took place between the new Worshipful Master and the Worshipful Master of the Walden Lodge, who had that day been installed to his office at Saffron Walden. The usual toasts were drunk, and several brethren contributed to the harmony of the evening by some excellent songs. Among the brethren present, in addition to those already mentioned, were—Bros. Joshua Nunn P.M. P.G.S.B., President of the Lodge of Benevolence, Thomas J. Ralling P.M. and Sec. 51 P.G. Sec., E. H. Inman P.M. 1312, J. Panton 1312, A. B. Collis 1312, W. Newton 1312, &c.

ST. CECILIA LODGE, No. 1336.

AT the last regular meeting, after routine business, Bro. J. Eboral presented the W.M., Bro. W. H. Gibson, with a very elegant christening cup for his infant daughter, who had been born during his year of office. Our worthy brother Gibson has lately been suffering from severe illness; but, thanks to the G.A.O.T.U., was able to be present. Bro. J. H. Scott, Deputy Provincial Grand Master for Sussex, said, in years to come Bro. Gibson would look on the gift as a pleasing remembrance that he was once Master of the St. Cecilia Lodge, and that during his Masonic reign little "Edith Clara" was born. All present wished him renewed health and strength, and long life and happiness with his amiable wife, family, and infant daughter. The cup bore an appropriate inscription. The names of the subscribers were written on vellum.

ROTHESAY LODGE, No. 1687.

THE first regular meeting since the installation was held on the 7th instant, at the Inns of Court Hotel, under the presidency of the W.M. Bro. B. E. Duret; Bros. Green S.W., E. Valeriani J.W., L. Beck P.P.G.O. Middlesex Treasurer, W. C. Parsons P.M. Secretary, Green jun. S.D., Adams I.G.; Bros. Leigh, Culpepper. After preliminaries, Bro. Beroni was raised to the third degree. The W.M., who is a foreigner, impressively rendered the ceremony. A ballot was taken for the admission of Mr. Ernest Maldick, and was unanimously in his favour. This gentleman will be initiated at the next regular meeting. A candidate was also proposed. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren separated.

EBORACUM LODGE, YORK, No. 1611.

THE installation of Master of this Lodge took place on Monday, the 12th instant, at the Queen's Hotel, in the presence of a large assemblage of brethren and visitors. The W.M. elect was Bro. Blenkin. The Lodge was opened by Bro. Millington, the outgoing W.M., who was supported by Bros. Whytehead, Cumberland, Meek, Rooke, Middleton, Lee, Morton, Pickersgill, McGachen, Kirby, Rymer, Cumberland, Strachan, Lukis, Marshall, Binckes, Balmford, Seller, Simpson, and others. Bro. J. S. Cumberland then assumed the gavel and proceeded to open the Lodge in the second degree, Bro. T. B. Whytehead acting as S.W., and Bro. C. Balmford as J.W. In due course a Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. Blenkin was placed in the chair with the customary ceremonies. Having lowered the Lodge and received the usual salutations, the W.M. proceeded to invest his Officers as follow:—Bros. M. Millington I.P.M., Sir F. G. Milner, Bart., S.W., A. T. B. Turner J.W., Rev. J. Metcalfe, M.A., Chaplain, G. Balmford P.M. Treasurer, James Kay Secretary, W. Brown S.D., G. Chapman J.D., W. G. Penty M.C., W. S. Child Org., S. J. Dalton I.G., P. Pearson Tyler, W. Lackenby and W. Stephenson Stewards. The W.M. also appointed Bros. T. B. Whytehead, and J. S. Cumberland P.M. to the respective posts of Lecture Master and Preceptor. After the close of the Lodge, the brethren met at a banquet in the Queen's Hotel, when the newly installed W.M. presided. There was a short toast list, and the evening was enlivened by songs and glees performed admirably by the Lodge glee party, assisted by Bros. J. S. Cumberland, J. E. Wilkinson, W. S. Child, J. Watson, and J. Wilson. The toast list was, as usual, a work of art, and contained many new features. The speeches were also very much to the point, and that of Bro. F. Binckes was, as might be expected, very eloquent. The massive and ancient flagon used as the Loving Cup occupied a conspicuous place on the tables, and was emptied to the prosperity of the Lodge.

COVENT GARDEN LODGE, No. 1614.

THE regular meeting was held on the 13th instant at the Criterion, Piccadilly, under the presidency of Bro. E. Jacobs, who acted in the absence of the Worshipful Master, Bro. Gulliford, Bros. G. Coleman S.W., J. Jacobs J.W., E. Jacobs P.M. Treasurer, Bourne P.M. Secretary, Kedgeley S.D. Dixon J.D., B. Solomon I.G., Figgis W.S., Bassett A.W.S., P.M. S. Jacobs. Visitors—J. Robins P.M. 25, W. B. Gulliford 1017, Belsham 733, Harvey Jackson No. 8, Cork, Thompson 169, Valentine 185, C. Greenwood P.G.S.B., Ruf P.M. 12, E. Steers 179, H. Salmon 1558, H. M. Levy P.M. 188. Lodge was opened, and the minutes of last meeting were confirmed. Bro. J. Napper was raised, and Bros. W. Cousins and S. Hewitt were passed. Ballots were taken for the admission of Messrs. Frank Gulliford (a Lewis), son of the Worshipful Master, G. H. Reynolds, G. A. Holditch, C. J. Shannon, David Mordecai, and C. E. Joy. Each was unanimous in favour. The first five named were duly initiated into the Order by the W.M., who conducted the duties in a manner that reflected great credit on him. Bro. C. B. Rolph, No. 1421, was unanimously elected a joining member. A telegram was received from the Worshipful Master, thanking Bro. E. Jacobs for taking upon himself the duties of the chair, and tendering hearty good wishes to the brethren. The Lodge was shortly afterwards closed, and the brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet and dessert, provided by Messrs. Spiers and Pond (Limited), and superintended by Bro. Madell. Forty-nine guests were present. Grace having been said, the acting W.M., in eloquent terms, proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. In speaking of the Right Worshipful the Earl of Lathom Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers, Bro. Jacobs said he was pleased to say they were honoured by the presence of Bro. C. Greenwood P.G.S.B. England, Prov. Grand Secretary Surrey. The brethren were gratified at seeing him in Grand Lodge. Bro. Greenwood, in reply, said all knew that His Royal Highness the Most Worshipful Grand Master and each Officer of Grand Lodge were ready and willing to render service when it was required of them. He was very pleased to see how ably and impressively the acting W.M. had performed the ceremonies. Bro. S. Jacob Senior P.M. said he regretted the W.M. was absent; he, however, had to propose the health of the one who had so ably acted as his representative. Bro. Jacobs was one whom they one and all respected. He had great pleasure in proposing the toast. This having been suitably acknowledged, the health of the Initiates was given, and Bro. Mordecai responded. For the Visitors, who were next complimented, Bro. H. M. Levy P.M. 188, Robins P.M. 25, and Ruf P.M. 12, severally responded. For the P.M.'s Bros. S. Jacobs and Bourne replied, while for the Wardens and Officers Bro. Coleman S.W. was called on. The Tyler shortly afterwards gave the parting toast.

William Preston Lodge of Instruction, No. 766.—On the 16th inst., at the St. Andrew, George-street, Manchester-square, W. Present—Bros. G. Coop Preceptor, W. M. Wood S.W., G. Tribble J.W., F. Smith S.D., R. E. Cursons J.D., Perry I.G., Artaud Acting Secretary; also Bros. Robinson, Simpson, Wilson, Cox, Wilson, Dairy P.M., T. Sedgwick P.M., and several other brethren. After preliminaries the W.M. worked the sections of the second lecture, assisted by Bros. Tribble P.M., Cox, Coop, Wood, and Dairy P.M. The Lodge was opened in the third, and the sections of that lecture were worked by the W.M., assisted by Bros. Cursons, Smith, and Sedgwick. Lodge was resumed to the first, and Bro. Perry was elected a member. A special vote of thanks, proposed by Bro. Cursons and seconded by Bro. Tribble, was ordered to be recorded on the minutes to the W.M. for the manner in which he had worked the sections. This was responded to. The W.M. intimated to the brethren that the support of the members would be thankfully received for his Stewardship for the Aged Masons.

Digitized by Google

Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, No. 65.—At the Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, on Tuesday, Bros. Schadler W.M., Rich S.W., Rose J.W., Wall S.D., Wilkinson J.D., Weil I.G.; also Bros. Roberts, Moss Preceptor, Dyson, Sainte, Schweitzer, Muggleton. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Dyson candidate. Bro. Sainte answered the questions leading to the second, and was duly passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. Lodge closed in the second degree. The following brethren were unanimously elected to the offices:—Maidwell Treasurer, Moss Preceptor, and Walker Secretary, this being the first night of the Prosperity Lodge of Instruction's new year. Bro. Rich was elected as W.M. for the ensuing week. Bro. Wilkinson, of No. 65, was elected a member. There being no further business, Lodge was closed.

Faith Lodge of Instruction, No. 141.—The weekly meeting was held on Tuesday last, at the Queen Anne's Restaurant, St. James's Park Station. The business was ably conducted by Bro. Swain W.M., assisted by Bros. Masefield S.W., Forscutt J.W., Mount S.D., Lovegrove J.D., Mason I.G., Cottebrune P.G.P. Preceptor. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Collens candidate. The Worshiptul Master then vacated his chair in favour of Bro. Collens, who went through the investiture of Officers. Bro. Swain resumed his position as W.M., and Bros. Orpe 1328, Balchin 1604, Power 1604, Hardy 201 were unanimously elected members of the Lodge. All Masonic business being ended, Lodge was closed in perfect harmony. The total number of members present was twenty-five. After the Lodge was closed, the Subscribers of the Masonic Charities' Association met, and passed the rules of the Association. Bros. Cottebrune was elected President, Collens Vice President, Bassington Treasurer, Croft Secretary; while Bros. Hunt, Dairy, Green, Mason, and Levegrove were successful in gaining the ballot to act as the Committee. It was determined the first payments should be made on Tuesday, 27th November.

Tranquillity Lodge, 185.—The usual meeting was held at the Guildhall Tavern, Gresham Street, E.C., on Monday, the 19th inst. Bro. Stailey, the W.M. presided, assisted by Brother T. W. C. Bush I.P.M. A number of brethren attended, although it was what is termed an "off night." Two gentlemen were initiated. A case of severe distress having been made known, by Bro. John Ross P.M., the W.M. exercised his prerogative by ordering £3 3s to be paid to the applicant. Very ample refreshment having been partaken of, the usual toasts were given, and were received most cordially, especially the one referring to the W.M., which was submitted by the I.P.M. Bro. T. W. C. Bush. The W.M. has reason to be proud of his popularity in the Lodge, this was made sufficiently clear by enthusiastic cheering when his name was mentioned. These "off nights" are very much appreciated, as is evidenced by the sparkling flow of conversation and the bright faces round the table. The etiquette and observances which prevail on banquet nights are wisely omitted, and a certain amount of genial laxity permitted by the authorities. A collection among the brethren produced £10 10s in as many minutes, to add to the £3 3s ordered by the W.M.

Lodge of Union, No. 414.—The monthly meeting of this old-established Lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Reading, on Tuesday last. Bros. Ferguson W.M., Wheeler junior S.W., Withers J.W., Mount I.P.M. Treasurer, Parry Secretary, Witherington S.D., Blackwell J.D., Martin M.C., Tirbutt Organist, Butler I.G., Webb and Hawkes Stewards, Hemmings Tyler; P.M. Bradley. Bros. Tench, Ld. L. Simonds, A. Simonds, Wellings, Sherwood, Stubington, Wellman, Armstrong, Millar. Visitors—Bros. Luckee P.D.P.G.M. Herefordshire, &c., Coleman, "Cartoon," Penns., U.S.A., 32°, &c., Dowsett I.P.M. 401. The Lodge was opened and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The Lodge was opened in the second degree. Bros. Ld. L. and Arthur Simonds, and Wellings, candidates for raising, gave satisfactory proof of their proficiency and were entrusted. Lodge was opened in the third degree; Bros. Simonds' and Wellings were re-admitted and raised to the sublime degree of M.M. The W.M. performed the ceremony admirably. The traditional history was recited by Brother Mount, with his usual correctness; the working tools and closing parts of the ceremony were rendered by the W.M., whom we congratulate on this his first attempt to perform what has been rightly termed the climax of Craft Masonry. Lodge was resumed to the first degree, when several ballots were taken for joiners and initiates, resulting in the approval of the candidates. The sum of two guineas was voted to the widow of a brother who died rather suddenly, but was not a member of either of the Reading Lodges. Proposals for joiners and initiates were seconded, and, after the customary ceremonies, Lodge was closed and adjourned.

New Finsbury Park Lodge of Instruction, No. 1695.—At the weekly meeting, held at Hornsey Wood Tavern, on Tuesday, the 13th instant. Bros. Hall W.M., H. Morris S.W., Bolt J.W., Davies Preceptor, Berry Secretary, Smethurst S.D., Haynes J.D., Moon I.G., and Bros. Fenner, Follett, Scott, Fitch, Oldis, Finck, and Lewin. The work comprised the rehearsal of the ceremonies of initiation and passing, Bro. Oldis candidate. The first and second sections of the first lecture were ably worked by Bro. H. Morris. Bro. Morris having been unanimously elected W.M. for next meeting, and all business being ended, the Lodge was closed in perfect harmony.

On Tuesday evening last, Bros. H. Morris W.M., Gush as Preceptor, Bolt S.W., Smethurst J.W., Berry Sec., Scott S.D., Moon J.D., Haynes I.G., and Bros. Fenner, Hall, Follett, Fetch, Oldis, Knight, Lewin, Flack, Snelling, Gregory and Hoare. All formalities observed, the first section of the third lecture was worked by Bro. Fenner. The ceremony of raising was then rehearsed, Bro. Snelling candidate. The second and third sections of the lecture were worked by Bro. Fenner. Bro. Bolt was elected to fill the chair at the next meeting. A vote of thanks to Bro. Morris for his able conduct in the chair was then proposed and carried.

Tredegar Lodge of Instruction, No. 1625.—On Monday, 12th inst., at the Royal Hotel, Mile End Road, Bros. Hubbert W.M., Brown S.W., West J.W., B. Stewart Secretary, Eastland S.D., C. Kendall J.D., Allen I.G.; also Bro. Hill. After preliminaries, the ceremonies of initiation and passing were rehearsed, Bro. Eastland candidate. Bro. Hill 1625 was elected a member, and Bro. Brown appointed W.M. for next meeting.

UNITED BROTHERS LODGE, No. 1069.

ON Monday last there was a large gathering of the members of the Masonic body at the Grosvenor Hotel, Southsea, on the occasion of the installation of Brother C. J. E. Munby as the Worshipful Master of this Lodge. The ceremony was impressively conducted by Bro. Frost P.G. Senior Warden, and at its conclusion the newly-invested Worshipful Master appointed and invested his Officers as follows:—Brothers W. E. Atkins I.P.M., H. Cook S.W., W. T. Dupree J.W., Reverend P. H. Good Chaplain, Richard James Rastrick Treasurer, G. Whitehall Secretary, German S.D., Lawrence J.D., Lobb M.C., House I.G., Moses and Smith Stewards, Exell and Smith Tylers. A very chaste P.M.'s jewel (supplied by Messrs. Moses, of The Hard), and subscribed for by the members of the Lodge, was presented to the retiring W.M. by Bro. W. E. Atkins, in recognition of his services to the Lodge during the past year. The brethren afterwards sat down to a banquet supplied in récherché style by Bro. T. W. Scaddan, the proprietor of the hotel.

LANDPORT LODGE, No. 1776.

BRO. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., P.G.M. Hampshire and Isle of Wight, attended, with the Officers of Provincial Grand Lodge, at the Freemason's Hall, Landport, on Thursday, 15th inst., to conduct the ceremony of installing the W.M. of the Lodge for the ensuing year (Bro. J. G. Niven). There was an unusually large attendance. After the ceremony the W.M. appointed the following as his Officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. T. H. Williams I.P.M., W. Miles S.W., Foster J.W., A. H. Ancox Treasurer, T. A. Bramston and Barnden Secs., T. H. Casey S.D., W. Marshallsay J.D., Bucknell M.C., C. F. Brown I.G., Gilbert Organist, G. Buckler and G. Brookland Stewards. The Lodge having been closed, the brethren, numbering upwards of 100, repaired to the dining hall, where the newly-installed W.M. presided at the banquet, which was served in a manner reflecting the highest credit on the cuisine of the Club. A special vote of thanks was passed to Bro. T. H. Williams, the retiring W.M., whose services during the two years he has filled the chair, were highly eulogised. Bro. Williams was also presented with a very handsome set of silver fish knives and forks, subscribed for by members of the Lodge, in recognition of the great zeal he has exhibited in the interest of the Craft. Among the brethren present were the following Provincial Officers:—Bros. W. Hickman D.P.G.M., M. E. Frost P.G.S.W., H. Martin Green P.G.J.W., R. J. Rastrick P.G. Treas., J. E. Le Feuvre P.G. Sec., J. S. Hickley P.G.S.D., W. B. Edgeler P.G. Supt. Wks., J. S. Pearce P.G.D.C., H. Croucher P.G.A.D.C., J. Woodhouse P.G.S.B., and Rosoman P.G.S. There were also present Bros. Murrell, Court, Goldsmith, Loveland, Cousins, Cudlipp, Cawte, Ellis, Askew, Travess, Beale, Townsend, Knott, Brown, Main, Atkins, Kent, Threadingham, Outridge, Page, Brunwin, Mumby, Knight, Pike, Loader, Grant, Hall, Chamberlain, Cosser, Ash, Cunningham, Dean, Backler, Westerman, Brookland, Sanders, Emanuel, Drake, Poad, Murch, Guyatt, Maybour, Corke, Hann, Earwicker, &c.

Kingsland Lodge of Instruction, No. 1693.—On Monday last, at the Cock Tavern, Highbury, N. Present—Bros. Clark W.M., Jordan S.W., Galer J.W., Collingridge Secretary, Dixie S.D., Rhodes J.D., Treadwell I.G., Cusworth P.M. Preceptor. Lodge opened in due form, and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Brock candidate. Lodge was called off and on. Bros. Turner and Youngbusband answered the questions leading to the second degree. Two new members were elected—Bros. E. Kearney I.G. No. 1541, Hurdle W.M. 1348; and Brother Jordan was appointed W.M. for Monday, 3rd December. Brother P. Forge P.M. 1950 will rehearse the installation ceremony on Monday next, the 26th instant.

Bro. J. Stevens P.M. P.Z. will deliver his Lecture, explanatory of the Rituals and Ceremonies of the First Degree, before the members of the Highgate Lodge of Instruction, No. 1366, at the Boston Hotel, Junction Road, on Thursday evening, 29th inst., at 7·30 p.m.

The following banquets have been held at the Freemasons' Tavern during the week ending 23rd November:—

Monday—British Lodge, Whittington Lodge; Tuesday—Cadogan Lodge, Salisbury Lodge, Wanderers' Chapter; Wednesday—Grand Stewards' Lodge, Buckingham and Chandos Lodge, Oak Lodge, Social and Political Education League, Permanent Committee of Royal York Lodge; Thursday—Grenadiers' Lodge, Mount Moriah Lodge, St. George's Chapter; Friday—Jerusalem Lodge, Emulation Lodge, Duke of Cornwall Chapter.

Digitized by Google

THE IMPERIAL HOTEL,

HOLBORN VIADUCT, LONDON,

Adjoining the Terminus of the London Chatham and Dover Railway, but distinct from the Viaduct Hotel.

THE BEST FURNISHED AND MOST COMFORTABLE HOTEL IN LONDON.
HOT & COLD WATER LAID ON IN ALL BED ROOMS.
The appointments throughout so arranged as to ensure domestic comfort.

EVERY ACCOMMODATION FOR MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS,
Public Dinners & Wedding Breakfasts.

The Crusaders Lodge, No. 1677, and Perseverance Lodge, No. 1743, hold their meetings at this establishment.

GOOD COOKING. FINE WINES. MODERATE CHARGES.
The Edison Electric Light.
TARIFF on APPLICATION to Bro. A. BEGBIE.

HOLLY BUSH TAVERN, HAMPSTEAD,

(Close to the Fire Station).

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; BALLS and ASSEMBLIES; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c. Rail and Bus within easy distance.

The members of the St. John's Lodge, No. 167, have held their meetings at this establishment for many years.

Full particulars and Tariff on application to
C. M. FROUD, Proprietor.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL SPECIAL BUILDING FUND.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

In connection with such Special Fund, attainable until 31st December 1883.

Any present Life Governor of the General Fund, or any Donor who may qualify as such up to the date named above, will receive—

TWO VOTES,—instead of One Vote, for LIFE, for every FIVE GUINEAS contributed to the "Special Fund."

Lodges, Chapters, &c., similarly qualified may secure Two Votes instead of One Vote—for every Ten Guineas contributed to the "Special Fund."

 Ladies, and "Lewises"—being minors—similarly qualified, and all Vice-Presidents, will receive FOUR Votes for every Five Guineas so contributed.

Contributors of less than Five Guineas, to the "Special Fund," will be entitled to Votes as under ordinary conditions.

Now Ready, Crown 8vo, 96 pp,

Price One Shilling,

Free by Post on receipt of 24 Halfpenny Stamps,

OCCASIONAL PAPERS
ON
THE HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.

Written expressly for delivery in Lodges of Instruction.

London: W. W. MORGAN,
Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N.

Brother C. G. SPARROW,
ACCOUNTANT AND AUDITOR,
17 FINSBURY PAVEMENT, E.C.
Accounts audited periodically at a moderate annual charge
Terms on application.

PAUL & BURROWS,

MANUFACTURERS OF
SODA WATER AND SELTZER WATER,
LEMONADE AND GINGER BEER,
GINGER ALE AND POTASH WATER,
&c. &c.
FIRST CLASS QUALITY ONLY.
WILSON and ENDELL STREETS, LONG ACRE, LONDON, W.C.
ESTABLISHED EIGHTY YEARS.

BRO. R. HIRST engages to provide, at short notice, an efficient Band for Annual Banquets, Dinners, Excursions and Quadrille Parties. For terms apply to "R. Hirst, The Three Crowns, 237 Mile End Road, E."

Twelfth Edition, post free, One Shilling.

DR. WATTS on ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS. A Treatise on the only successful Method of Curing these Diseases. By Robert G. Watts, M.D., F.R.S.L., F.C.S., &c., 5 Bulstrode-street, Cavendish-sq., London.
London: C. Mitchell and Co., Red Lion-court, Fleet-street; and Simpkin and Co., Stationers' Hall-court

TESTIMONIAL TO BRO. W. J. HUGHAN, P.G.D.

President:
THE RIGHT HON. THE EARL OF ZETLAND,
Provincial Grand Master of North and East Yorkshire.

Committee:
Right Hon. the Earl Ferrers P.G.M. Leicestershire and Rutland.
J. Derby Allcroft Grand Treasurer.
J. P. Bell Past Grand Deacon, D.P.G.M. North and East Yorkshire.
T. W. Tew Grand Senior Deacon, D.P.G.M. West Yorkshire.
Hon. W. T. Orde-Powlett P.P.G.W. North and East Yorkshire.
Sir J. Meek P.P.G.W. North and East Yorkshire.
Magnus Ohren P.G.A.D.C.
W. Kelly, F.S.A., P.P.G.M. Leicestershire and Rutland.
D. Murray Lyon Grand Secretary Scotland.
George Kenning P.P.G.D. Middlesex.
Thomas Fenn P.G.D.
Rev. T. Robinson Past Grand Chaplain.
G. Toller jun. F.G.S.B., D.P.G.M. Leicestershire.
Dr. H. Hopkins P.M. 41, 43, P.P.G S.W. Warwickshire.
T. J. Ralling Prov. Grand Secretary Essex.
E. L. Hawkins Prov. Grand Senior Warden Oxon.
M. C. Peck Prov. Grand Secretary North and East Yorkshire.
J. H. Neilson P.M. 620 I.C., P.G.S.W. and Representative G.L. Egypt.
J. W. Woodall P.P.G.S.W. Prov. G.M.M.M. North and East Yorkshire.
J. Le Cronier D.P.G.M. Jersey.
Rev. C. J. Martyn P.G.C., D.P.G.M. Suffolk.
G. L. McKay P.P.G.S.W. and Prov. G. Sec. Cumberland and Westmoreland.
Robert Case Prov. Grand Secretary Dorset.
George Taylor Prov. Grand Secretary Worcestershire.
J. Smith Eastes D.P.G.M. Kent.
G. P. Brockbank P.P.G.D. East Lancashire, Grand Steward Scotland.
F. Binckes Past Grand Steward, Secretary R.M.I.B.
T. Y. Strachan D.P.G.M.M.M. Northumberland and Durham.
Rev. W. C. Lukis P.P.G. Chaplain West Yorkshire.
R. Hudson Prov. Grand Secretary Durham.
J. Brook Smith D.P.G.M. Gloucester.
W. G. Rogers D.P.G.M. Devon.
C. Pendelow 339 P.P.G.W. Staffordshire.
R. S. Brown P.M., &c., Edinburgh.

First list of Subscriptions.

	£	s	d
Right Hon. the Earl Ferrers P.G.M. Leicestershire and Rutland ...	1	1	0
J. D. Allcroft Grand Treasurer	1	1	0
J. P. Bell P.G.D., D.P.G.M. N. and E. Yorkshire	1	1	0
T. W. Tew G.S.D., D.P.G.M. West Yorkshire	1	1	0
Hon. W. T. Orde-Powlett P.P.G.W. N. and E. Yorkshire	1	1	0
Sir James Meek P.P.G.W. N. and E. Yorks	1	1	0
Magnus Ohren P.G.A.D.C.	1	1	0
W. Kelly, F.S.A., P.P.G.M. Leicestershire and Rutland	1	1	0
D. Murray Lyon G. Sec. Scotland	1	1	0
Thomas Fenn P.G.D.	1	1	0
Rev. T. Robinson Past Grand Chaplain	1	1	0
George Toller jun. D.P.G.M. Leicestershire	1	1	0
Dr. H. Hopkins P.M. 41	1	1	0
T. J. Ralling Prov. G. Sec. Essex	1	1	0
E. L. Hawkins P.G.S.W. Oxon	1	1	0
M. C. Peck Prov. G. Secretary N. and E. Yorkshire	1	1	0
J. H. Neilson P.M., Dublin	1	1	0
J. W. Woodall P.P.G.S.W. Prov. G.M.M.M. N. and E. Yorkshire ...	1	1	0
J. Le Cronier D.P.G.M. Jersey...	1	1	0
Rev. C. J. Martyn P.G.C., D.P.G.M. Suffolk	1	1	0
G. L. McKay P.P.G.S.W. and P.G. Sec. Cumb. and Westmoreland	1	1	0
Robert Case Prov. Grand Secretary Dorset	1	1	0
George Taylor Prov. G. Sec. Worcestershire	1	1	0
George Kenning P.P.G.D. Middlesex	1	1	0
J. Smith Eastes Deputy Prov. Grand Master Kent	1	1	0
G. P. Brockbank P.P.G.D. E. Lancashire	1	1	0
Frederick Binckes Past Grand Steward, Sec. R.M.I.B.	1	1	0
T. Y. Strachan D.P.G.M.M.M. Northumberland and Durham ...	1	1	0
Rev. W. C. Lukis P.P.G. Chaplain W. Yorks	1	1	0
J. S. Cumberland P.M. 1611	1	1	0
J. Todd P.M. 236	1	1	0
G. Simpson P.M. 1611	1	1	0
J. T. Seller P.M. 1611	1	1	0
W. H. Belk P.M. 1848	1	1	0
H. J. Morton P.M. 1248	1	1	0
J. Blenkin W.M. 1611	1	1	0
M. Rooke P.M. 236	1	1	0
T. B. Whytehead P.M. 1611	1	1	0
York Lodge, 236	1	1	0
Eboracum Lodge, 1611	1	1	0

Subscriptions may be forwarded to George Kenning, Treasurer pro tem, Little Britain, London, E.C.

INSTALLATION
OF H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES
As the M.W.G.M. of England,
AT THE ROYAL ALBERT HALL,
28th APRIL 1875.

COPIES of this BEAUTIFUL ENGRAVING by Brother HARTY P.M., consisting of Artist's Proofs, Proofs before Letters, and Lettered Proofs, India Prints, and Plain Prints may be had at Cost Price by applying to

Bro. W. R. NORRIS,
29 Southampton Buildings, W.C., London.

EDUCATION. — HAMBURG.

Bro. JOHN A. NEECK, 9 Bundesstrasse, HAMBURG,
Is prepared to receive into his Family
TWO OR THREE ENGLISH YOUTHS AS BOARDERS,
During the time they attend School in this City.
CAREFUL SUPERVISION, KIND TREATMENT, BEST BODILY & MENTAL CARE
High References in England and Hamburg.
PROSPECTUS FREE

Digitized by Google

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF WILTSHIRE.

THE annual meeting of this Provincial Grand Lodge was held at Chippenham, on Tuesday, the 13th instant, the receiving Lodge being the Lansdowne of Unity, No. 626, of that town. The Provincial Grand Master Lord Methuen presided, and was supported by a goodly number of the Wiltshire brethren, comprising Bros. Sir Gabriel Goldney, Bart., M.P., D.P.G.M., Lord H. F. Thynne, M.P., P.G.W. England P.P.S.G.W. and P.G. Superintendent (Royal Arch) Wilts, Colonel Randle Ford P.J.G.W., Rev. Canon Millar P.G. Chaplain, F. H. Goldney P.G. Treasurer, T. Ponting P.G. Registrar, Henry C. Tombs P.G.D. England P.G. Secretary, G. L. Lopes P.S.G.D., John Chandler P.P.S.G.W. P.G.D.C., Thomas H. Chandler P.P.G.S.W., C. F. Marshall P.P.S.G.W., William Nott P.P.J.G.W. Prov. Char. Sec., Rev. G. E. Gardiner P.P. Grand Chaplain, Rev. J. A. Lloyd P.P. Grand Chaplain, J. V. Toone P.P.S.G.D., R. S. Edmonds P.P.S.G.D., E. B. Merriman P.P. Grand Supt. of Works P.P.G.D.C., D. A. Gibbs P.P.G.A.D.C., James Sparks P.P.G. Sword Bearer, S. Badham P.P.G.O., A. J. Beaven P.P.G.P., G. W. Collen P.P.G.P., H. E. Bishop P.P.G.P., Edwin Eyres P.P.G.P., Viscount Dangan, &c. Amongst the Visitors were Bros. S. G. Homfray D.P.G.M. Monmouth, and George J. McKay P.G. Sec. Cumberland and Westmoreland.

The roll of the various Lodges was called, and all were found to be duly represented.

The minutes of the last Provincial Grand Lodge, held at Swindon, of which minutes a printed copy had been issued with the Grand Lodge Summons, were taken as read and duly confirmed.

The Provincial Grand Secretary, Bro. Henry C. Tombs, then read the minutes of the meeting of the Provincial Charity Committee, held that morning, from which it appeared that Bro. Edwin Eyres P.M. 626 P.P.G.P. W.M. was recommended by the Committee to represent the Province as Steward at the forthcoming Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, and Bro. Thomas Ponting P.M. 1478 Provincial Grand Registrar to fill a similar office as regards the Girls' School, with contributions from the Province to their respective lists of 20 guineas to the Benevolent Institution, and 10 guineas to the Girls' School. These recommendations were, on the proposition of Lord H. F. Thynne, seconded by Sir Gabriel Goldney, duly adopted.

The Provincial Grand Treasurer, Bro. F. H. Goldney, read an abstract of his accounts which had been duly audited, and which shewed a balance in his hands on the Provincial Charity Account of £81 8s 9d (in addition to £101 17s 6d invested in New Three per Cents.), on the Benevolent Fund Account of £42 19s 10d (in addition to £178 3s 6d invested in Consols), and on the General Account £12 10s.

The Provincial Grand Registrar, Bro. Thos. Ponting, read his usual report, shewing that the number of members in the Province was 440, being substantially the same as in the previous year, but he stated that he was unable, owing to certain circumstances in connection with the returns from one of the Lodges, to render the usual abstract of the accounts of the various Lodges in the Province.

The Secretary to the Provincial Benevolent Fund and Charity Organisation Committee, Bro. William Nott, presented the Report of that Committee, as follows:—Report of Provincial Charity Organisation and Benevolent Fund Committee, to be presented to the Provincial Grand Lodge, held at Chippenham, 13th November 1883.

On behalf of the Committee I now as usual lay before the Prov. Grand Lodge an account of the past year's work, both as regards the Benevolent Fund and the Charity Organization.

As to the Benevolent Fund, there is little to report save that the Fund is steadily increasing. The account for the year 1882 shews net receipts for that year of £74 3s, whilst the subsequent receipts were, from Lodges £34 15s, and from the Prov. G. Royal Arch Chapter £5, the latter sum completing the qualification of the Provincial Grand Superintendent for the time being as a Life Governor of this Fund. The sum of £75, covering the balance shewn on last year's account, has been invested in the purchase of £73 1s Consols, making a total of £178 3s 6d of that stock, and in addition thereto there is at present a cash balance in the Treasurer's hands of £42 19s 10d.

Seven out of the ten Lodges in the Province are now regular contributors to this fund, and of the remaining three two are young Lodges, that will doubtless in good time see their way to support it.

No application for assistance from this fund has yet been received, so that the whole of the income has been available for investment.

As to the Charity Organisation, I have to report that at the School elections in April last the votes of this Province were applied in conjunction with those of the other Provinces with which Wiltshire is allied in securing the election of two girls, one each for Somerset and Leicester, and of one boy for Somerset; whilst at the elections for the Benevolent Institution, in May, the associated Provinces were successful in carrying the three widows they had on the list of candidates, viz.: one each for the Provinces of Worcester, Bristol, and Monmouth.

Your Committee, at its meeting in March last, adopted the case of Harold Richard Humphries, grandson of the late Bro. Richard Gane, of Trowbridge, to be supported by this Province as a candidate for the Boys' School, and it was accordingly placed upon the list of candidates for the October election. It was not intended to actually carry this case until April next, but your Secretary, who attended the election, found that he could readily obtain sufficient votes to then ensure success, and accordingly, as authorised by the Committee, he borrowed them, and pledged this Province to their future repayment. The result was that the case was carried, being twentieth (and the very last) on the list of successful candidates; another candidate for the Eastern Division of South Wales (another of the associated Provinces) succeeded in attaining the eighteenth place.

Your Charity Secretary desires to express his appreciation of the co-operation of the other Provinces, and to say that the Provincial Grand Lodge on this occasion is more especially indebted to Bros. Capt. S. G. Homfray Deputy Provincial Grand Master Monmouth; R. C. Else Deputy Provincial Grand Master Somerset; W. H. Bowden Bristol; and R. V. Vassar-Smith Gloucester, who personally attended the election.

Your Committee has further adopted the case of Henry Maurice Jarvis, son of the late Bro. Henry Jarvis—a member of the Marlborough Lodge, but formerly of Bath,—to be supported at a future election, in conjunction with the Province of Somerset, as a candidate for the Boys' School, and has engaged that when the case shall be taken up by the last-named Province, Wiltshire shall contribute its proportion of the votes which will be required.

It will be readily understood, therefore, that not only on account of the votes already borrowed for the Wiltshire case elected last month, but also to fulfil the engagements thus entered into for the future, the resources of this Province will be taxed to the utmost for the next two or three elections.

The votes the Committee has had placed at its disposal during the last three years by and in connection with the various Lodges in the Province have been as follows:

	1881.	1882.	1883.
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys ...	407	475	498
Do. do. Girls ...	372	356	370
Do. Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons ...	219	235	242
Do. do. Widows	119	153	171
	1117	1219	1281

being 62 more votes this year than in 1882, and showing a constant and steady increase.

The Wiltshire recipients of the Masonic Charities are at present as follows:

Benevolent Institution.—The same as last year, namely, 3 widows receiving annuities of £32 each, or a total of £96 per annum; one (whose husband belonged to the Trowbridge Lodge, 632) having been in receipt thereof for seven years, another (Devizes, 663) for five years, and the other (Chippenham, 626) for one year.

The Masonic Schools.—The children from Wiltshire, with the reports of the Governess or Master of the School—as the case may be—with reference to them, are specified in the following list:—

GIRLS' SCHOOL.

M. J. F. (Trowbridge 632), age 16; elected 1877.—"Left the School in July 1883; is teaching in a family at Hilton Farm, near Trowbridge."

A. M. C. (Old Swindon 355), age 14; elected 1879, leaves the School 1885.—"Is a good girl and making fair progress: is in the third class."

A. L. W. (New Swindon 1295), age 14; elected 1879, leaves 1885.—"Is only in the fourth class, though 14 years of age, but being now stronger, is making more progress: is a good girl."

E. M. G. (Salisbury 586), age 12; elected 1879, leaves 1886.—"Is now in the fourth class, and making more progress: is a good girl.

F. J. N. (Old Swindon 355), age 12; elected 1880, leaves 1887.—Is making good progress; she is in the fourth class, and likely to pass to the third after Christmas: is a good girl."

G. E. B. (Old Swindon 355), age 12; elected 1880, leaves 1886.—"Is in the fourth class, and making fair progress: is a good girl."

G. M. S. (Old Swindon 358), age 10; admitted 1882, leaves 1889.—"Is still in the junior School, but is much improved since last year, having been very backward when she entered the School. She is a good little girl."

L. M. S. S. (Trowbridge, 632), age 11; admitted 1882, leaves 1882.—"Has just entered the senior School, of which she is in the sixth class, but seems likely to make progress: she is a good girl."

BOYS' SCHOOL.

H. F. N. B. S. (Trowbridge, 632), age 13; elected 1877, leaves 1886.—"In the third class (first is the highest), conduct satisfactory, progress improved, diligence improved. Place in class of 27 boys, 5th. Sept. 22nd 1883."

H. R. H. G. (Trowbridge, 632), age 9; elected 1883, leaves 1890 (not yet actually admitted into the School).

It will thus be seen that there are 3 widows and 9 children from Wiltshire enjoying the benefits from these noble Institutions, which benefits may be measured by an annual value of something like £500 or £600.

Stewardships for the Charities.—During the year the following amounts have been taken up to the Festivals of the different Masonic Institutions by Stewards from this Province:

Bro. Dr. Ringer, Benevolent Institution	50	1	0
Bro. James Sparks, Boys' School	135	9	0
	£185	10	0

WILLIAM KNOTT,
Prov. Char. Sec.

Devizes, 17th Oct. 1883.

Bro. Dr. Theobald Ringer 1533 P.M. 1308 was then called up by the R.W. P.G.M. and presented on behalf of the Provincial Grand Lodge with a Charity bar and ribbon in respect of his third Stewardship as representative of this Province to the Masonic Charities.

The Provincial Grand Secretary, Bro. Henry C. Tombs, on behalf of the Committee, as to the new Book of Constitutions, called the attention of the Provincial Grand Lodge to the fact that the subject would come before the next Grand Lodge, to be held on Wednesday, the 5th December, and he reminded the brethren that at the same Grand Lodge the question of rebuilding the Masonic Temple, recently damaged by fire, would also be considered. Some discussion took place, and the feeling seemed to be strongly against any part of the property of Grand Lodge being let on lease for such a long term—fifty years—as had been recommended by the Special Grand Lodge Committee on the subject. No formal resolution was taken, but the Provincial Grand Master Lord Methuen expressed the hope that every Wiltshire member of Grand Lodge who could possibly attend on the occasion would do so in order to be able to record his vote on the questions indicated after having heard the arguments that might be brought forward.

Digitized by Google

Lord Methuen then declared all offices vacant, and proposed the re-election as Treasurer of Bro. F. H. Goldney. This was seconded by Lord H. F. Thynne, and carried by acclamation. The Provincial Grand Officers for the ensuing year were then appointed and invested, the list being headed by the Lord Mayor of London (who is a member of the Chippenham Lodge, but was unfortunately unable to be present on this occasion) as S.W.

The following is the list:

Bro. R. N. Fowler (Lord Mayor) 626 ...	Senior Warden
H. Blackmore 586	Junior Warden
Rev. C. H. Awdry 626	Chaplain
F. H. Goldney (re-elected) 626 ...	Treasurer
Thos. Ponting (re-appointed) 1478 ...	Registrar
Henry C. Tombs (re-appointed) 355	Secretary
B. H. Watts 335, 626	Senior Deacon
Viscount Dangan 626	Junior Deacon
Jas. Sparks 1295	Supt. of Works
John Chandler (re-appointed) 355 ...	Dir. of Ceremonies
Dr. T. Ringer 1533	A. Dir. of Ceremonies
H. C. Bishop 632	Sword Bearer
E. S. Mackrell 1478	Organist
H. Merrick 1271	Pursuivant
W. Jenkins 355	A. Pursuivant
John Savoy (re-elected) 355 ...	Tyler

This ended the business of the meeting, and the Provincial Grand Lodge was duly closed, Lord Methuen expressing his regret that, owing to a slight misunderstanding, a previous engagement clashed with the day fixed for the Provincial Grand Lodge; this, he was sorry to say, compelled him at once to leave for his home and rendered him unable to stay to the banquet.

The brethren subsequently dined together at the Angel Hotel, under the presidency of the D.P.G.M. Sir Gabriel Goldney, Bart.

PROVINCIAL GRAND MARK LODGE OF NORTH AND EAST YORKSHIRE.

ON Tuesday, the 13th inst., this body met in the Masonic Hall, York, by invitation of the York Mark Lodge (T.I.) The entertaining Lodge was opened at 1·45 by the W.M., Bro. C. G. Padel, and at two o'clock the Prov. Grand Master, Bro. J. W. Woodall, entered with his Prov. Grand Officers, was saluted, and assumed the chair. Prov. Grand Lodge was then opened, the following officers being in their places:—Bros. Hon. W. T. Orde-Powlett Deputy Prov. G.M., Sir Jas. Meek P.P.G.W. as S.W., H. A. Williamson P.P.G.W. as J.W., T. Thompson Prov. G.M.O., M. G. Collingwood Prov. G.S.O., S. Chadwick Prov. G.J.O., Rev. W. C. Lukis Prov. G. Chaplain, J. M. Meek Prov. G. Reg., T. B. Whytehead Prov. G. Sec., J. Marshall Prov. G.D., S. Middleton Prov. G.D. of C., A. P. Wilson as Prov. G.I.G., and J. Verity Prov. G. Tyler. Letters of apology for absence were read from Bros. J. S. Cumberland Prov. G.S.W., and other brethren, as also from a number of visitors who were unable to accept invitations to be present. The Prov. G. Treasurer's balance-sheet was read and adopted, the roll of Lodges called, and Brother J. Todd P.M. was re-elected Prov. G. Treasurer. The appointment of Prov. G. Officers was then made as follows:—

Bro. W. T. Orde-Powlett	Dep. G.M.
W. H. Cowper	Senior Warden
T. Thompson	Junior Warden
C. G. Padel	Master Overseer
V. Fowler	S. Overseer
E. Bryan	J. Overseer
Rev. W. C. Chilman	Chaplain
M. M. Reynard	Reg. of Marks
T. B. Whytehead	Secretary
M. Millington	Senior Deacon
J. Hogg	Junior Deacon
J. Dunn	Inspector of Works
J. B. Nicholls	Sword Bearer
J. S. Cumberland	Dir. of Cers.
J. T. Seller	Inner Guard
A. F. B. Turner	Organist
J. Verity	Tyler

Bros. Sir Jas. Meek, Rev. W. C. Lukis, A. P. Wilson, and J. Marshall were elected on the Board of General Purposes. Bros. G. Balmford and C. G. Padel were re-elected Auditors. The question of inviting the Grand Mark Lodge to York was mooted, and it was resolved that the Grand Master be invited to hold a moveable Grand Lodge in York next June. The Prov. Grand Master then addressed the brethren, congratulating them upon the condition of the province. He said he had hoped before that date to see the two strong Lodges at Hull join the province, and so form one of the best provinces in England. He hoped that this would soon be the case, and in the meantime that all the Lodges would work together harmoniously. Bros. J. Sutcliffe R.W.P.G.M. Lincolnshire, and T. Y. Strachan D.P.G.M. Northumberland, who was present, also addressed the brethren, after which Bro. F. Binckes, Grand Sec., congratulated the province upon its condition and the manner in which it was worked. He alluded to the fact of the Prince of Wales having lately been made a Mark Mason and accepting the rank of Past Grand Master. He described the progress of the Order and its present strength, and urged the brethren to maintain the dignity of the degree.

The Prov. G.M. having signified his wish to hold the next annual meeting at Middlesborough, Prov. G. Lodge was closed, and after the retirement of its officers, the York Lodge was closed.

A banquet was afterwards held at the Queen's Hotel, at which the Prov. Grand Master presided.

SCOTLAND.

ST. ANDREW'S ROYAL ARCH CHAPTER, No. 83.

THE usual monthly meeting of the above-named Chapter was held in the Freemasons' Hall, Edinburgh, on Friday, 16th instant, under the direction of Commander G. Dickson M.E.Z. Dr. Walter Scott Carmichall H., James Mercer S.N., Colin Campbell McFarlane S.E., Allen Roliston J. Visitors—Dr. Corrie Jackson, P.S. Polish National Chapter, 534, England, and Capt. J. Ward, Royal Navy. There being no candidate for exaltation, the business of the evening merely consisted in the usual routine of confirming the previous minutes. A very interesting discussion took place as to the differences existing between the English and Scottish ritual, the English ritual being given by Comp. Jackson. After the usual hearty good wishes had been given, the Companions retired to refreshment, and a very pleasant time was spent, several of the Companions adding to the harmony of the evening.

TESTIMONIAL TO MISS BERRIE STEPHENS.

THIS young lady, whose musical ability has frequently been referred to in these columns, was, a few evenings since, made the recipient of a handsome testimonial in the shape of a chamber organ. The Rev. J. W. Horne in making the presentation said, the company had assembled there that evening to congratulate Miss Berrie Stephens on her talent and many good qualities, and to mark their respect and esteem in a substantial manner. He did not intend to make a speech, they had not gathered there to listen to speeches, but rather to spend a pleasant evening. They wished to mark their friendly appreciation of the pluck and perseverance of Miss Stephens, and he hoped that as she struck the chords of the organ, she would ever remember the chords of friendship that had prompted the gift. He had great pleasure in handing over to Miss Berrie Stephens the organ and the accompanying testimonial, and, in addition, a purse of sovereigns with which to purchase music. He then called upon Mr. Turpin to open the organ. After a "Fantasia" on a theme by Weber, arranged by Mr. Turpin himself, had been most beautifully rendered, Mr. Laing in a most able and praiseworthy speech, returned thanks on behalf of his niece, Miss Stephens, who was visibly affected. A letter was read from Miss Mary Davies, expressing regret that an engagement at Brighton prevented her being present to congratulate her pupil and friend, but as she herself had been unable to be with them, she had sent her photograph, elegantly framed in crimson plush. The instrument is in a handsome case of black and gold, with bright metal pipes, mounted by a beautifully engraved plate, constructed by Mr. Eustace Ingram, of Eden Grove, Holloway, from designs by Mr. H. Turpin. We would add our congratulations to those of her many friends and admirers, and hope that the musical career of Miss Stephens, already so successful, may become brighter with each year of her life.

The Provincial Grand Lodge of Leicestershire and Rutland will be held next Wednesday, at Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, under the Presidency of Earl Ferrers, Provincial Gand Master. The Commercial Lodge, No. 1391, will be the entertaining Lodge. The New Provincial Grand Officers will be appointed at this meeting. The balance sheet to be presented to the Provincial Grand Lodge is encouraging, showing a balance of £92 4s 3d in the Treasurer's hands. The Charity Fund of the Province is also in a prosperous state, for, after gifts of £31 10s to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, a subscription to the Masonic Charity Association, £8 8s to two poor women, and the expenses of the Fund for the year, there is a balance of £23 15s 4d in hand.—Evening News.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—When inclement weather checks to a considerable extent the natural exhalations of the skin an alterative is required to expel them entirely from the body through some other channel. Holloway's Pills can be confidently recommended as the easiest, surest, and safest means of attaining this desirable end without weakening the most delicate or incommoding the most feeble. When from frequent chills or impure air the blood becomes foul and the secretions vitiated, these Pills present a ready and efficient means of cleansing the former and correcting the latter. By this salutary proceeding disease is arrested at its onset, its pains and inconveniences averted, and the nervous structures saved from the depressing effects entailed upon them by an illness.

Digitized by Google

NEW SOUTH WALES.

—:o:—

PRINCE OF WALES LODGE E.C., SYDNEY.

THE Installation meeting of this Lodge was held on Tuesday evening, 25th September, a very numerous assemblage being present, including a number of District Grand Lodge Officers Past and Present, in their private capacity. We noticed 25 P.M.'s on the dais. Wor. Bro. Francis B. Davidson presided. The usual routine business as regards minutes, &c., having been performed, one candidate for initiation was balloted for and accepted; the W.M. Elect Bro. A. Percival Bedford S.W. was presented and ultimately obligated and duly inducted in the chair by the W.M. P.M. Davidson, in such a manner as might have been anticipated from this Masonic veteran. The following Officers were invested for ensuing year: Francis Barnard Davidson I.P.M.; Brothers C. B. Airey Senior Warden, Kelso King Junior Warden, E. L. Hitchens P.M. Treasurer, J. Pope P.M. Master of Ceremonies, Rev. Moore White P.M. Chaplain, N. Thallon Secretary, J. Bryant Organist, Chatfield S.D., White J.D., Pyman, Hogg, Kyngdon and Butler Stewards, Shaw I.G., Stainer O.G. P.M. E. L. Hitchens acted as Master of Ceremonies, although the duties of that Officer were considerably curtailed. The W.M. was saluted in the several degrees. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the Wardens approached the dais, bearing a very handsome blue satin cushion with fringes, on which reclined a massive silver gavel, beautifully engraved, with a handle of carved ivory, which was presented to P.M. Francis B. Davidson, in recognition and appreciation of his services to the Lodge. On one side of the gavel is the monogram of the recipient, on the reverse the Prince of Wales feathers, while on the top is the following inscription:—"Presented to Wor. Bro. Francis B. Davidson, P.D.G.D.C., Past Master Prince of Wales Lodge 1653 E.C., in testimony of the fraternal esteem and respect of the brethren, 25th September, A.L. 5883, A.D. 1883." P.M. Davidson feelingly returned thanks for the token of their appreciation of his efforts, and said if he had done so well in the past such a testimonial as he had just received should prove an incentive to still further endeavours to promote the best interests of the Prince of Wales Lodge. After two Auditors had been appointed, and all business being at an end, Lodge was closed, and the brethren sat down to banquet. The supper rooms were tastefully decorated with twenty-four shields, evergreens, trophies, &c., and draped with flags. Grace was said by the Rev. W. Moore White, LL.D., Chaplain; after which the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly proposed and received. Bro. E. O. Smith spoke at some length; he stated that although for reasons probably better known than he need explain, he did not come amongst the brethren as frequently as he formerly did, but he could assure them that his interest in the Craft was as warm as ever; he further intimated that they might shortly expect a distinguished visitor, the King of Hawaii, who recently visited Europe; he is a Mason of high degree, and will doubtless receive a fitting welcome from the Masonic body. Bro. H. Hughes returned thanks for the youngest Lodge, the Rose of Sharon, "only eight days old." Among the various speakers, Bro. E. L. Hitchens P.M. reminded visitors that the Old Samaritan Lodge, once so prosperous, after certain trials and tribulations, Phœnix-like, had arisen, and now was identical with the Lodge they that night were enjoying the hospitality of. The D.G. Chaplain, S.C., who had been attached to the Irish Grand Lodge at Woolwich, Kent, England, in 1846, made an admirable speech in which he stated that the distinguishing trait in Masonry was charity. Letters of apology for the absence of upwards of forty invited guests were received, although about eighty remained to partake of the repast, interspersed by some excellent music, causing a most enjoyable evening to be spent. The Prince of Wales Lodge is now in a flourishing position, its rapid advancement being particularly noticeable during the past twelve months.—From the Sydney Freemason's Chronicle, 1st October 1883.

Last Tuesday evening there was a Masonic banquet in connection with the Prince of Wales Lodge, E.C., held at the Freemasons' Hall, which was very handsomely decorated with flags, evergreens, &c., in a tolerably gorgeous style. The ceremonies were of unusual importance, inasmuch as the occasion witnessed the retirement of Bro. Francis B. Davidson from the position of W.M., in which he had been succeeded by Bro. Arthur Percival Bedford. In connection with Bro. Davidson's retirement, a number of that gentleman's friends belonging to the noble Order took the opportunity of making a presentation of a gavel and cushion. The gavel head is of pure silver, brightly burnished and elaborately ornamented in an extremely artistic manner, and coming as it does from the atelier of Messrs. T. T. Jones and Co., of George-street, it may be regarded as a very fine specimen of colonial art. The inscription on the head of the gavel is as follows:—"Presented to Wor. Bro. Francis B. Davidson P.D.G.D.C., Past Master Prince of Wales Lodge 1653, E.C., Sydney, N.S.W., in testimony of the fraternal esteem and respect of the brethren, 25th September, A.L. 5883, A.D. 1883." On each side of the gavel head are the "Prince of Wales' feathers," emblematical of the Lodge, and at the end are Bro. Davidson's initials. The handle is of ivory, and the accompanying cushion is of blue quilted satin fringed with silver filagree work, and having large silver tassels at each corner.—From the Sydney Daily Telegraph, 29th September 1883.

At the meeting of the Prince of Wales (E.C.) Lodge, held in the Freemasons' Hall, on Tuesday, the 25th September, a presentation of a very elegant silver gavel was made to Past Master Bro. Francis B. Davidson P.D.G.D.C. The gavel is of the orthodox shape and size, and has an ivory handle. It rests upon a blue satin cushion trimmed with silver cord, and is enclosed in a large glass shade. The article, which is chased in an exquisite manner, was obtained from the establishment of Messrs. T. T. Jones and Son, George Street. The gavel bears the following inscription:—"Presented to Worshipful Brother Francis B. Davidson P.D.G.D.C., Past Master Prince of Wales Lodge, No. 1653, E.C., Sydney, N.S.W., in testimony of the fraternal esteem and respect of the brethren. 25th September A.L. 5883, A.D. 1883."—Sydney Morning Herald.

THE MASTER OF HORSE TO THE LATE EMPEROR NAPOLEON III.

BRO. Alexander Gamble, a member of Mother Lodge Kilwinning, Scotland, was Master of Horse to the Emperor Napoleon III. His history, which was quite romantic, is related by our friend, Bro. Robert Wylie, J.P., in a communication to the Ardrossan Herald of 17th Aug. last, from which we extract the following interesting particulars: Bro. Gamble was born at Saltcoats, Scotland, in 1817. In 1845 he entered the service of Prince Louis Napoleon, in London, and soon became, not only his servant, but his attached friend. When Napoleon was elected President of the National Assembly, in 1848, Bro. Gamble, who had meanwhile been left in charge of his London establishment, received orders to join the Prince at the Elysée in Paris. It is worthy of note, in passing, that the house which Napoleon occupied in King Street, St. James's, London, now bears the following inscription on an oval plate: "Napoleon the Third lived here in 1848." It may well be imagined that it was a happy moment in Bro. Gamble's life when, on reaching Paris, the Prince told him that he wished to appoint him Master of the Horse—a situation he held at first, however, not without a good deal of jealousy on the part of some of the French courtiers. He industriously set to work to acquire a knowledge of the French language, and soon after was able to speak it almost as fluently as a native. To find a Scotsman Master of the Horse at the Tuileries was a surprise to not a few of the many visitors to the Emperor's stud—the finest in the world. It is worthy of note that, several years after Louis Napoleon had ascended the throne of France, the Earl of Eglinton paid the Emperor his long-promised visit, and, during his stay, he accompanied his guest of the Tournament to the Imperial Stables, who introduced him to Bro. Gamble, saying: "Allow me, Lord Eglinton, to introduce you to a countryman of your own." Bro. Gamble added; "Sire, not only a countryman, but also, I might say, a townsman." Naturally his lordship was surprised, and was still more so when Bro. Gamble told him that he was present when the youthful Scottish nobleman had gained the captaincy of Kilwinning Papingo. A horse named "Sir Walter Scott" was the favourite horse of Napoleon for twenty-two years, and it was a special favour to get a hair out of its tail. Bro. Gamble received valuable presents from most of the Crowned Heads of Europe when visiting Paris, including Queen Victoria and Prince Albert. Bro. Wylie remembers being present at St. Cloud when he was presented with a handsome and valuable snuff-box by the representatives of the London Press, for his attention to them during the Queen's visit, in August of 1855. In the war with Austria, in 1859, Bro. Gamble accompanied the Emperor through the short but brilliant victories of the Italian campaign. He was in the thick of the battles of Magenta and Solferino, and held the Emperor's horse in charge while the treaty of Villafranca was being signed. When the Franco-Prussian war broke out in 1870 he left St. Cloud with the Emperor and the Prince Imperial for Metz, and was at Saarbruck when "Louis received his baptism of fire." The bullets and balls "whistled and hummed" over him and around him, and thudded on the ground underneath his horse on the battle-field of Sedan. Only once in his life did he disobey the orders of his Imperial master, and that was when he told him to shelter himself from this "storm of bullets." Bro. Gamble was at hand when that memorable interview took place between the Emperor of Napoleon and Bismarck at the wayside house, near Donchery; and Bismarck, who chatted with him afterwards, was surprised to find a Scotsman in charge of the Emperor's war horse. Among other things, he asked him, "How he liked this game?" Bro. Gamble, confessed, however, that his "balls were too peppery for him." Bro. Gamble, after the Emperor's surrender, went with him to his place of captivity at Wilhelmshöhe. He next came to Chislehurst, and remained the faithful and devoted attendant of the Emperor, Empress, and the Prince Imperial. In one of his letters, of date 5th December 1871, he mentions that he spent the summer in Leamington; but having nothing to do, he got into a low, reflective state of mind. He returned to Chislehurst, and saw his old friend and master. He told him that he could not stay away from him; and in his own kind way, the Emperor said, "Gamble, come and amuse yourself with a few horses I have left." The death of the Emperor, and then of the Prince Imperial, to whom he was equally warmly attached, deeply affected him, as one may well imagine and believe, and it is not too much to say that it hastened his own end. He died at Chislehurst, after a brief illness, in the quiet of a Sabbath morning, on the 15th August 1880.—Keystone.

VOTES AND INTEREST ARE SOLICITED FOR

MRS. JANE TRIBE, aged 63,

WIDOW of Brother George Henry Tribe, who was initiated 1858 in No. 604, Lyttelton, New Zealand; joined No. 609, Christchurch, New Zealand; was first Worshipful Master of No. 1241, Ross, New Zealand; subsequently District Grand Chaplain Westland; and District Grand Treasurer North Island, New Zealand.

Votes thankfully received by

Mr. C. BECKINGHAM, 415 Strand; or by
Bro. C. J. PERCEVAL (V.P.), 8 Thurloe Place, S.W.

The Revised Book of Constitutions: Critically Considered, and Compared with the Old Edition. London: Simpkin, Marshall & Co., 4 Stationers' Hall Court, E.C. Sent on receipt of stamps, One Shilling, by W. W. Morgan, Freemason's Chronicle Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.—(ADVT.).

Digitized by Google

DIARY FOR THE WEEK.

We shall be obliged if the Secretaries of the various Lodges throughout the Kingdom will favour us with a list of their Days of Meetings, &c., as we have decided to insert only those that are verified by the Officers of the several Lodges.

—:o:—

SATURDAY, 24th NOVEMBER.

198—Percy, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., at 8 (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7 (Instruction)
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1679—Henry Muggeridge, Masons' Hall Tavern, E.C.
1706—Orpheus, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1871—Gostling-Murray, Town Hall, Hounslow
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-st., W., at 8
R.A. 176—Caveac, Albion, Aldersgate Street

1462—Wharncliffe, Rose and Crown Hotel Penistone
1464—Erasmus Wilson, Pier Hotel, Greenhithe
1965—Eastes, Parish Rooms, Bromley, Kent
R.A. 178—Harmony, Royal Hotel, Wigan.

MONDAY, 26th NOVEMBER.

Grand Mark Masters, Masonic Hall, 8a Red Lion Square, W.C.
4—Royal Somerset House and Inverness, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
22—Loughborough, Cambria Tavern, Cambria Road, near Loughborough Junction, at 7.30. (Instruction)
26—Castle Lodge of Harmony, Willis's Rooms, St. James's
29—Old King's Arms, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
45—Strong Man, Excise Tavern, Old Broad Street, E.C., at 7 (Instruction)
79—Pythagorean, Ship Tavern, Greenwich
174—Sincerity, Railway Tavern, Railway Place, Fenchurch Street, at 7. (In)
180—St. James's Union, Union Tavern, Air-street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
183—Unity, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall Street, E.C.
186—Industry, Bell, Carter-lane, Doctors-commons, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
548—Wellington, White Swan, High-street, Deptford, at 8 (Instruction)
902—Burgoyne, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
905—De Grey and Ripon, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1425—Hyde Park, Fountain Abbey Hotel, Praed Street, Paddington, at 8 (In).
1489—Marquess of Ripon, Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-rd., Hackney, at 7.30 (In)
1507—Metropolitan, The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C., at 7.30 (Inst.)
1585—Royal Commemoration, Fox and Hounds, Putney, at 8. (Instruction)
1606—Kilburn, Queen's Arms Hotel, Kilburn
1608—Kilburn, 48 South Molton Street, Oxford Street, W., at 8. (Inst.)
1615—Bayard, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden-square
1623—West Smithfield, Farringdon Hotel, Farringdon-street, E.C. at 8 (Inst.)
1625—Tredegar, Royal Hotel Mile End Road, corner of Burdett Road. (Inst).
1632—Stuart, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1693—Kingsland, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N., at 8.30 (Instruction)
1745—Farringdon, Holborn Viaduct Hotel
1828—Shepherds Bush, Athenæum, Goldhawk-road, W.
1891—St. Ambrose, Baron's Court Hotel, West Kensington. (Instruction)
R.A. 188—Joppa, The Albion, Aldersgate Street
R.A. 933—Doric, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 7. (Instruction)
R.A. 1201—Eclectic, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
M.M. 5—Mallet and Chisel, Bridge House Hotel, London Bridge

48—Industry, 34 Denmark-street, Gateshead
63—Social, Queen's Hotel, Manchester
148—Lights, Masonic Rooms, Warrington
382—Royal Union, Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge. (Instruction)
724—Derby, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
999—Robert Burns, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
1110—Tyrian, Gildredge Hotel, Eastbourne
1177—Tenby, Tenby, Pembroke
1449—Royal Military, Masonic Hall, Canterbury, at 8. (Instruction)
1894—Herschell, Masonic Rooms, Slough
R.A. 219—Justice, Masonic Hall, Todmorden
R.A. 241—Friendship, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 321—Faith, Crewe Arms Hotel, Crewe
R.A. 411—Commercial, Masonic Hall, Nottingham
R.A. 449—Regularity, Freemasons' Hall, St. John's-place, Halifax
R.A. 1045—Stamford, Town Hall, Altrincham
M.M.—The Old York, Masonic Hall, Bradford
M.M. 146—Moore, Masonic Rooms, Athenæum, Lancaster

TUESDAY, 27th NOVEMBER.

14—Tuscan, Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, W.C.
65—Constitutional, Bedford Hotel, Southampton-bldgs., Holborn, at 7 (Inst)
65—Prosperity, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7. (Instruction)
92—Moira, Albion, Aldersgate-street
141—Faith, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.
141—Faith, Queen Anne's Restaurant, Queen Anne's Gate, St. James's Park Station, at 8. (Instruction)
145—Prudent Brethren, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
165—Honour and Generosity, Inns of Court Hotel
177—Domatic, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30 (Instruction)
186—Industry, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
188—Joppa, Champion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, at 7.30. (Instruction)
205—Israel, Cannon-street Hotel, E.C.
259—Prince of Wales, Willis's Rooms, St. James's
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney (Instruction)
753—Prince Frederick William, Eagle Tavern, Clifton Road, Maida Hill, at 8 (Instruction)
820—Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond, at 7.30 (Instruction)
860—Dalhousie, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston at, 8 (Instruction)
1044—Wandsworth, Star and Garter Hotel, St. Ann's-hill, Wandsworth (Inst).
1158—Southern Star, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark
1348—Ebury, Regent Masonic Hall, Air-street, W.
1349—Friars, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1360—Royal Arthur, Rock Tavern, Battersea Park Road, at 8. (Instruction)
1381—Kennington, The Horns, Kennington. (Instruction)
1441—Ivy, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell New Road
1446—Mount Edgcumbe, 19 Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8 (Instruction)
1471—Islington, Champion, Aldersgate Street, at 7. (Instruction)
1472—Henley, Three Crowns, North Woolwich (Instruction)
1540—Chaucer, Old White Hart, Borough High Street, at 8. (Instruction)
1558—D. Connaught, Palmerston Arms, Grosvenor Park, Camberwell, at 8 (In)
1602—Sir Hugh Myddelton, Queen's Head, Essex Road, N., at 8.30 (In)
1695—New Finsbury Park, Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, at 8 (Inst)
1707—Eleanor, Trocadero, Broad-street-buildings, Liverpool-street, 6.30 (Inst)
1744—Royal Savoy, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1949—Brixton, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, East Brixton, at 8. (Instruction)
Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, 6.30
R.A. 21—Cyrus, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall Street
R.A. 180—St. James's Union, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 228—United Strength, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham Street
R.A. 548—Wellington, White Swan Hotel, Deptford
R.A. 890—Hornsey, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
R.A. 1275—Star, Ship Hotel, Greenwich
R.A. 1365—Clapton, White Hart, Lower Clapton
R.C. 29—Palatine, 33 Golden Square, W.

24—Newcastle-on-Tyne, Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-st., Newcastle, 7.30 (In)
241—Merchants, Masonic Hall, Liverpool (Instruction)
253—Tyrian, Masonic Hall, Gower-street, Derby
299—Emulation, Bull Hotel, Dartford
310—Unions, Freemasons' Hall, Castle-street, Carlisle
337—Apollo University, Masonic Hall, Oxford
573—Perseverance, Shenstone Hotel, Hales Owen
1016—Elkington, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
1358—Torbay, Town Hall, Plaignton
1479—Halsey, Town Hall, St. Albans
1566—Ellington, Town Hall, Maidenhead
1609—Dramatic, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1636—St. Cecilia, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
1675—Antient Briton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 74—Athol, Masonic Hall, Severn Street, Birmingham
R.A. 103—Beaufort, Freemasons' Hall, Park Street, Bristol
R.A. 124—Concord, Freemasons' Hall, Old Elvet, Durham
R.A. 168—Adam, Masonic Rooms, Victoria Hall, Trinity-road, Sheerness
R.A. 175—East Medina, Masonic Hall, John Street, Ryde, Isle of Wight
R.A. 510—St Martin's, Masonic Hall, Liskeard
R.A. 721—Grosvenor, Masonic-chambers, Eastgate-row-north, Chester
R.A. 815—Blair, Town Hall, Hulme, Manchester
R.A. 1094—Temple, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, 28th NOVEMBER.

3—Antiquity, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
15—Kent, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
30—United Mariners', The Lugard, Peckham, at 7.30. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Horse Shoe Inn, Newington Causeway, at 8. (Inst)
193—Confidence, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, at 7.30 (Instruction)
212—Euphrates, Masonic Hall, Masons' Avenue, Basinghall-street, E.C.
228—United Strength, Prince Alfred, 13 Crowndale-rd., Camden-town, 8 (In)
507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
538—La Tolerance, Morland's Hotel, Dean Street, Oxford St. at 8 (Inst)
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7 (Instruction)
781—Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, E. (Instruction)
813—New Concord, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. (Instruction)
862—Whittington, Red Lion, Poppin's-court, Fleet-street, at 8 (Instruction
871—Royal Oak, White Swan, Deptford
898—Temperance in the East, 6 Newby Place, Poplar
1017—Montefiore, Regent Masonic Hall, Air Street, W.
1056—Victoria, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
1278—Burdett Coutts, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel Road, E., at 8. (Inst.)
1288—Finsbury Park, Cock Tavern, Highbury, at 8 (Instruction)
1321—Emblematic, Goat and Star, Swallow Street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
1445—Prince Leopold, Moorgate Tavern, Moorgate Street, at 7 (Instruction)
1475—Peckham, Lord Wellington Hotel, 516 Old Kent-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1534—Duke of Connaught, Royal Edward, Mare-street, Hackney, at 8 (Inst)
1589—St. Dunstan's, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
1604—Wanderers, Adam and Eve Tavern, Palmer St., Westminster, at 7.30 (In)
1662—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow, at 7.30 (Inst.)
1768—Progress, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1791—Creaton, Prince Albert Tavern, Portobello-ter., Notting-hill-gate (Inst.)
1818—Clapham, Grosvenor Hotel, Victoria Station
1820—Sir Thomas White, Holborn Viaduct Hotel
1922—Earl of Lathom, Station Hotel, Camberwell New Road, S.E., at 8. (In.)
R.A.—Camden, The Boston, Junction Road, Holloway, at 8.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 157—Bedford, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 177—Domatic, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-st., at 8 (Instruction)
R.A. 907—Royal Albert, White Hart Tavern, Abchurch Lane
M.M.—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, at 8 (Instruction)
R.C.—St. Andrew, Cafe Royal, Regent Street, W

32—St. George, Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool
117—Salopian of Charity, Raven Hotel, Shrewsbury
163—Integrity, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester
220—Harmony, Garston Hotel, Garston, Lancashire
304—Philanthropic, Masonic Hall, Great George-street, Leeds
439—Scientific, Masonic Room, Bingley
724—Derby, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
972—St. Augustine, Masonic Hall, Canterbury. (Instruction)
996—Sondes, Eagle Hotel, East Dereham, Norfolk
1039—St John, George Hotel, Lichfield
1083—Townley Parker, Mosley Hotel, Beswick, near Manchester
1085—Hartington, Masonic Hall, Gower-street, Derby (Instruction)
1119—St. Bede, Mechanics' Institute, Jarrow
1219—Strangeways, Empire Hotel, Strangeways, Manchester
1264—Neptune, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7 (Instruction)
1283—Ryburn, Central-buildings, Town Hall-street, Sowerby Bridge
1392—Egerton, Stanley Arms Hotel, Stanley-street, Bury, Lancashire
1511—Alexandra, Hornsea, Hull (Instruction)
1633—Avon, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
1638—Brownrigg, Sun Hotel, Kingston-on-Thames, at 8. (Instruction)
1723—St. George, Commercial Hotel, Town Hall-square, Bolton
1953—Prudence and Industry, George Hotel, Chard, Somersetshire
1967—Beacon Court, Ghuznee Fort Hotel, New Brompton, Kent
R.A. 42—Unanimity, Derby Hotel, Bury, Lancashire
R.A. 258—Amphibious, Freemasons' Hall, Heckmondwike
R.A. 322—Hope, Vernon Arms Hotel, Stockport
R.A. 328—St. John's, Masonic Hall, Torquay, Devon
R.A. 329—Brotherly Love, Choughs Hotel, Yeovil
R.A. 357—Apollo Universary, Apollo Universary Hall, Oxford
R.A. 376—Royal Sussex of Perfect Friendship, Masonic Hall, Ipswich
R.A. 503—Belvidere, Star Hotel, Maidstone
R.A. 533—Warren, Freemasons' Hall, Congleton, Cheshire
M.M.—Howe, Masonic Hall, New Street, Birmingham
M.M.—Northumberland and Berwick, Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle
M.M. 19—Fowke, Freemasons' Hall, Leicester
M.M. 178—Wiltshire Keystone, Town Hall, Devizes
R.C.—Philips, Masonic Rooms, Athenæum, Lancaster

THURSDAY, 29th NOVEMBER.

General Committee, Girls' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
3—Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-street, Fitzroy-sq., at 8 (Instruction)
22—Neptune, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
27—Egyptian, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
87—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth, at 8 (Instruction)
147—Justice, Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford, at 8. (Instruction)
435—Salisbury, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
704—Camden, Lincoln's Inn Restaurant, 305 High Holborn, at 7 (Instruction)
754—High Cross, Couch and Horses, Lower Tottenham, at 8 (Instruction)
901—City of London, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, at 6.30. (Instruction)
902—Burgoyne, Cock Tavern, St. Martin's-court, Ludgate-hill, at 6.30 (Inst)
1158—Southern Star, Pheasant, Stangate, Westminster-bridge, at 8 (Inst.)
1185—Lewis, Kings Arms Hotel, Wood Green, at 7 (Instruction)
1227—Upton, Swan, Bethnal Green-road, near Shoreditch, at 8 (Instruction)
1339—Stockwell, Cock Tavern, Kennington-road, at 7.30 (Instruction
1426—The Great City, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
1524—Duke of Connaught, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
1614—Covent Garden, Cranbourne, 1 Up. St. Martin's Lane, W.C., at 8. (Inst.)
1622—Rose, Stirling Castle Hotel, Church Street, Camberwell. (Instruction)
1673—Langton, Mansion House Station Restaurant, E.C. at 6. (Instruction)
1677—Crusaders, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 9 (Inst.)
1681—Londesborough, Berkeley Arms, John Street, May Fair, at 8. (Instruct).
1950—Southgate, Railway Hotel, New Southgate, at 7.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 753—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, at 8. (In.)
R.A. 1471—North London, Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, at 7. (Instruction)

111—Restoration, Freemasons' Hall, Archer-street, Darlington
249—Mariners, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8 (Instruction)
286—Samaritan, Green Man Hotel, Bacup
807—Cabbell, Masonic Hall, Theatre-street, Norwich
934—Phœnix, Ship Hotel, Rotherham
996—St. Edward, Literary Institute, Leek, Stafford
1313—Fermor, Masonic Hall, Southport, Lancashire
1590—Cranbourne, Red Lion Hotel, Hatfield, Herts, at 8. (Instruction)
R.A. 57—Humber, Freemasons' Hall, Hull
R.A. 303—Benevolent, Holland's Road East, Teignmouth

Digitized by Google

R.A. 360—Northampton, Masonic Hall, Abington-street, Northampton
R.A. 1395—Weyside, Masonic Hall, Woking
M.M. 32—Union, Freemason's Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester
K.T. 34—Albert, Masonic Rooms, 23 Ann-street, Rochdale

FRIDAY, 30th NOVEMBER.

House Committee, Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, Croydon, at 3
Emulation Lodge of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
25—Robert Burns, The North Pole, 115 Oxford-street, W., at 8 (Instruc.
144—St. Luke, White Hart, King's-road, Chelsea, at 7.30. (Instruction)
507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30. (Instruct.)
766—William Preston, St. Andrew's Tavern, George St., Baker St., at 8 (In.)
780—Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge. (Instruction)
834—Ranelagh, Six Bells, Hammersmith (Instruction)
963—Doric, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1056—Metropolitan, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. at 7. (Instruction)
1158—Belgrave, Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
1298—Royal Standard, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, at 8. (In.)
1365—Clapton, White Hart, Lower Clapton, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1643—E. Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
1789—Ubique, Guardsman Army Coffee Tavern, Buckingham Palace-road, S.W., at 7.30. (Instruction)
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich. (Instruction)
R.A. 65—Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall St.
R.A. 79—Pythagorean, Portland Hotel, London-street, Greenwich. (Inst.)
R.A. 134—Caledonian, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street
M.M.—Old Kent, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, E.C. (Instruction)
K.T. 26—Faith and Fidelity, Cannon Street Hotel, E.C.

453—Chigwell, Prince's Hall, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30 (Instruction)
810—Craven, Devonshire Hotel, Skipton
1305—Pelham, Freemasons' Hall, Lewes
1365—Gladsmuir, Red Lion, Barnet
1391—Commercial, Freemasons' Hall, Leicester
General Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, at 7
R.A. 243—Magdalen, Guildhall, Doncaster
R.A. 471—Silurian, Freemasons' Hall, Dock Street, Newport, Monmouthshire
R.A. 897—Loyalty, Masonic Buildings, Hall Street, St. Helens
R.A. 945—Abbey, Abbey Council Chambers, Abingdon

SATURDAY, 1st DECEMBER.

General Committee Boys' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
142—St. Thomas, City Terminus Hotel, Cannon Street
198—Percy, Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N., 8. (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1366—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7. (Instruction)
1550—New Cross, New Cross Hall, New Cross
1572—Carnarvon, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street
1623—Rose, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1634—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1949—Brixton, Brixton Hall, Acre Lane, Brixton
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-street, W. at 8.
R.A. 975—Rose of Denmark, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge

1262—Royal Albert Edward, Market Hall, Redhill
1458—Truth, Private Rooms, Conservative Club, Newton Heath, Manchester
1466—Hova Ecclesia; Old Ship Hotel, Brighton
R.A. 811—Yarborough, Old Ship Hotel Brighton

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:o:—

Justice Lodge of Instruction, No. 147.—A meeting was held on Thursday, 15th instant, at the Brown Bear, High-street, Deptford. Bros. B. R. Banks W.M., Dixon S.W., Stringer J.W., S. R. Speight P.M. Secretary, Ingram S.D., Penrose J.D., J. Bedford Williams I.G.; P.M. Hutchins Preceptor. After due observance of formalities, the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Penrose candidate. Lodge was then called off, and on resuming was closed to the first degree. Bro. Dixon was elected W.M. for the second Thursday in December, and Bro. R. T. Stringer, J.W. of the Royal Oak Lodge, was unanimously elected a member. Lodge was then closed in due form. Brethren residing in the neighbourhood are most cordially invited to attend.

On Thursday, 22nd November, Bros. Hutchings Preceptor W.M., H. C. Freeman S.W., Penrose J.W., Speight P.M. Secretary, J. W. Freeman S.D., Williams J.D., Ingram P.M. I.G.; P.M.'s Bros. G. Bolton and H. Bartlett; and Bros. Pitt, Emblin, and several other members. Lodge was opened in the first degree, and the minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed, after which the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed. Lodge was called off, and on resuming the chair was vacated by Bro. Hutchings, and occupied by Bro. J. W. Freeman (W.M. of the Lodge of Justice). Lodge opened in the second, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Williams candidate. Lodge was then advanced to the third, and closed to the first degree; and, after some formal matters were disposed of, was closed in due form.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—Meeting held at Bro. Langdale's, the Jolly Farmers, Southgate Road, N., on Saturday, 17th inst. Present—Bros. Gribbell W.M., Gellen S.W., Ashton J.W., Capstick S.D., Rhodes J.D., Flack I.G., Pearcy Preceptor, Galer Secretary; also Bros. Cohen, Gush, Gildersleve, J. A. Jones, Dixie, Weeden, Robinson, Oldis, Fenner, Powell, Mass, Manger, Hall. With due observance of preliminaries, the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Gush candidate. Bro. Cohen worked the first, second and third sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Lodge was resumed, and Bros. Flack, of the St. John's Lodge, and Oldis, of Finsbury Park Lodge, were elected members. Bro. Gellen was unanimously appointed W.M. for the ensuing week. A letter was read from Bro. D. Hatch, Provincial Grand Master of Nicaragua, South America, tendering his sincere thanks to the Preceptor and brethren for the instruction he had received in the Percy Lodge of Instruction during his recent stay in London. Nothing further having offered for the good of Freemasonry, Lodge was closed in ancient form, and adjourned to Saturday, 24th inst, on which evening will be held the first monthly meeting of the Masonic Association which has been formed in connection with this Lodge of Instruction. This promises to be a great success. Brethren wishing to support the Masonic Charities and qualify themselves as Life Governors should kindly forward names and addresses to the Secretary, R. W. Galer, at the above address. Bro. Galer will be happy to supply particulars. Bro. Gush has kindly accepted an invitation to rehearse the installation ceremony on Saturday evening, the 24th inst., at eight o'clock.

United Pilgrims Lodge of Instruction, No. 507.—Meeting at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell New Road, S.E., on Friday evening, 16th instant. Bros. A. J. Style W.M., C. J. Axford S.W., J. N. Bate Treasurer J.W., G. H. Chapman S.D., H. Baldwin J.D., Smith I.G.; also Bros. James Stevens P.M. and Preceptor, A. Pooler, Innes, and others. The Lodge was opened by the W.M. in the three degrees. The ceremony of raising was rehearsed, and the charge in the third degree delivered to the candidate. The W.M. having closed to the first degree, entry drill was practised. Some interesting explanations of certain portions of ceremonial were given by the Preceptor, in response to questions from several brethren present. Bro. C. J. Axford was elected W.M. for the ensuing week, and Officers having been appointed in rotation, the Lodge was closed in perfect harmony.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—The annual dinner was held at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge, on Friday, 16th inst., under the presidency of Bro. F. Botley, when a most enjoyable evening was spent, the catering of Bro. Brill being much appreciated. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts having been honoured, Prosperity to the Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction was given by the Worshipful Master, and replied to by Bro. C. Andrews P.M. Preceptor. To the toast of the Secretaries, Bro. C. E. Botley responded, and gave a résumé of the year's work, showing that thirty-four meetings had been held, that the ceremony of initiation had been worked nineteen times, that of passing ten, and raising ten, while thirty-four sections had been worked on twenty evenings. The total number of members on the books is eighty-eight. Bro. Secretary concluded by urging an increased attendance. Bro. F. Botley was re-elected W.M. for the next meeting. During the evening a number of songs were given by Bros. Gillett, Gunner, C. E. Botley, F. Botley, Clarke, &c., Bro. Sugg presiding at the pianoforte. The Lodge will meet on Friday, 23rd inst., at 7.30 p.m., when Bro. J. Terry will rehearse the ceremonies of consecration and installation.

Royal Military Lodge of Instruction, No 1449.—At the weekly meeting, held on Monday, 5th instant, at the Masonic Hall, Canterbury, Bros. Carter W.M., Davies S.W., Hammond J.W., Pakenham S.D., Webb J.D., Beardsley I.G. and Hon. Sec., Dareline Steward; also Bros. Cookersell, Blamires, Abbs, Caddington, Tomblings, Rix P.M. 398 Royal Standard, Vautier I.P.M. 1449, Plant P.M. 31. Lodge was opened, and the minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Caddington candidate. Bro. P.M. Rix delivered the lecture on the tracing board, in a very impressive manner. Lodge was then closed, and adjourned.

On the 19th inst., Bros. H. Hammond W.M., H. Webb S.W., R. Geddes J.W., T. Blamires Treasurer, W. Beardsley Secretary, A. Abbs S.D., W. Carter J.D., W. Carter M.C., F. Addison Steward, A. Develin I.G.; also Bros. Cookersell, Caddington, Clements. The work done comprised the delivery of the charge in the first degree by Bro. Blamires to Bro. Clements, an E.A. The questions leading from the first to the second degree were answered by the W.M. The working tools were explained. The Lodge was called from labour to refreshment, and again brought on from refreshment to labour. Nothing further being offered for the benefit of Freemasonry, Lodge was closed.

The Annual Banquet of the Faith Lodge of Instruction will take place on Wednesday next, at the Queen Anne's Mansions. Tickets may be had of the Secretary, Brother T. Cross, 13 Bessborough Gardens, S.W.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

IT IS THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE PRESENT CENTURY.

It is the best known remedy for Coughs, Consumption, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, and Asthma.

It effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal Diseases—Diphtheria, Diabetes, Fever, Croup, Ague, &c.

It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only known Specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

It effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, Convulsions, and Spasms.

It is the only Palliative in Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

It rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause, allays the irritation of Fever, soothes and strengthens the system under exhaustive diseases, restores the deranged functions, stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, gives quiet and refreshing sleep, and marvellously prolongs life. It may be taken by old and young at all hours and times.

It is extensively used by Medical Men in their official and private practice, at home and abroad, who have given numerous written testimonials of its wonderful efficacy.

SPECIMEN TESTIMONIAL.—From JOHN TANNER, M.D., L.R.C.P., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., L.M., Physician to Farringdon Dispensary, Physician to the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon's Metropolitan College, London, &c., 102 Harley Street, Cavendish Square, W.—"It gives me great pleasure to bear testimony in favour of FREEMAN'S Chlorodyne. I have prescribed it extensively, and in cases of Asthma, Chronic Bronchitis, the last stage of Phthisis, and the Winter Cough of the aged, I have never found any substitute or chemical combination its equal."

Sold by Chemists and Patent Medicine Dealers all over the world, in bottles 1s 1½d; 2 oz. 2s 9d; 4 oz. 4s 6d; half-pints 11s; and pints 20s each, and by the Inventor, RICHARD FREEMAN, 70 Kennington Park Road, London, S.E. Free by post. Purchasers are CAUTIONED not to have palmed upon them any substitute. See that the Trade Mark, "THE ELEPHANT," is on the wrapper, &c., and the words "FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE" are engraved on the Government Stamp—which is the only TRUE CHLORODYNE.

Digitized by Google

Price 3s 6d, Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

FIRST SERIES.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

1 OUR LITERARY BROTHER.
2 A DISTINGUISHED MASON.
3 THE MAN OF ENERGY.
4 FATHER TIME.
5 A CORNER STONE.
6 THE CRAFTSMAN.
7 THE GOWNSMAN.
8 AN EASTERN STAR.
9 THE KNIGHT ERRANT.
10 THE OCTOGENARIAN.
11 A ZEALOUS OFFICER.
12 THE SOLDIER.
13 FROM UNDER THE CROWN.
14 OUR HERCULES.
15 A MERCHANT PRINCE.
16 THE CHURCHMAN.
17 THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER.
18 THE MYSTIC.
19 A MODEL MASON.
20 A CHIP FROM JOPPA.
21 A PILLAR OF MASONRY.
22 BAYARD.
23 A RIGHT HAND MAN.
24 OUR CITIZEN BROTHER.
25 AN ABLE PRECEPTOR.
26 AN ANCIENT BRITON.
27 THE ARTIST.
28 THE FATHER OF THE LODGE.
29 A SHINING LIGHT.
30 AN ART STUDENT.
31 THE MARINER
32 SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.
33. "OLD MUG."

Second Series, Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 3s 6d, post free.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

SKETCHES

OF

DISTINGUISHED FREEMASONS.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

BY G. BLIZARD ABBOTT, OF LODGE No. 1385,

ASSOCIATE OF KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

NESTOR
(Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, 33 deg., Past G.S.B., Past Dep. P.G.M. Hants, Assistant Secretary Sup. Council A. and A. Rite.)

THE STATESMAN
(The Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, 33 deg., Pro Grand Master, Pro Grand Z., Past G.M.M.M., and Past M.P.S.G. Commander A. and A. Rite.

THE TREASURER
(Bro. F. Adlard, P.M. and Treasurer Royal York Lodge of Perseverance, No. 7).

THE DEPUTY
(The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, 33 deg., Deputy G. Master, Grand H., G.M.M.M., Great Prior of the Temple, and M.P. Sov. G. Commander A. and A. Rite.)

A PROVINCIAL MAGNATE
(Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Hants and Isle of Wight, Past G.M.M.M. and Prov. G. Prior of the Temple, for Hants).

TIME-HONOURED LANCASTER
(Bro. J. Lancaster Hine, P. Prov. G.S. Warden East Lancashire).

THE SCHOLAR
(Bro. John Newton, F.R.A.S., P.M., P.Z., Author of Works on Navigation).

OUR NOBLE CRITIC
(The Right Hon. Lord Leigh, 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Warwickshire, Past G.M.M.M.)

OUR PERIPATETIC BROTHER
(Bro. C. Fitz Gerald Matier, 30 deg., G. Steward Scotland, and Past G.S. Warden Greece).

A BOLTON LUMINARY
(Bro. G. Parker Brockbank, 31 deg., Past Prov. G.S.D., and P. Prov. G. Treas. [Arch] E. Lancashire.

A WARDEN OF THE FENS
(The late Bro. John Sutcliffe, Past Prov. G.S. Warden, and Prov. G.M.M.M. Lincolnshire).

A WARDEN OF MARK
(The Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, 33 deg., Past G.S. Warden, and Dep. G.M.M.M).

A MASTER OF CEREMONIAL
(Bro. Thos. Entwisle, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. of Works E. Lan.)

OUR COSMOPOLITAN BROTHER
(Bro. Samuel Rawson, 33 deg., Past Dist. G.M. and G. Sup. China).

A GREAT ARITHMETICIAN
(Bro. R. B. Webster, Member of the Finance and Audit Committees of the R.M. Girls' and Boys' Schools).

AN INSTALLING MASTER
(Bro. W. Biggs, Past Prov. G.S.W. Wilts, and Past Prov. G. Sec. Berks and Bucks).

A VETERAN
(Bro. W. Kelly, Past Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Leicestershire and Rutland, Prov. G.M.M.M. Leicestershire).

A GRAND STEWARD
(Bro. John Wordsworth, 30 deg., Past G. Steward, Past Prov. G.J.W. W. Yorkshire, and Prov. G.M.M.M. W. Yorkshire).

VIR Veritas
(Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M and Past Prov. Grand. Soj. [Arch] Herts).

ACHILLES
(Bro. E. J. Morris, Past G.J.D., and Past Dep. Prov. G.M. of Eastern Division of South Wales).

A DEVON CRAFTSMAN
(Bro. J. E. Curtels, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. Warden Devon).

SIR RHADAMANTH
(Bro. J. M. Pulteney Montagu, J.P. D.L., 33 deg., G. J. Deacon, Past Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, and G. Chancellor Supreme Council A. and A. Rite).

HIPPOCRATES
(Bro. J. Pearson Bell, M.D., Past G. Deacon, Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. N. and E. Yorkshire).

A CESTRIAN CHIEF
(The Right Hon Lord de Tabley, Past G.S.W., Prov. G.M. Cheshire, Grand J., and Prov. G Sup. Cheshire).

A HARBINGER OF PEACE
(Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., Past Prov. G.J.D. Herts).

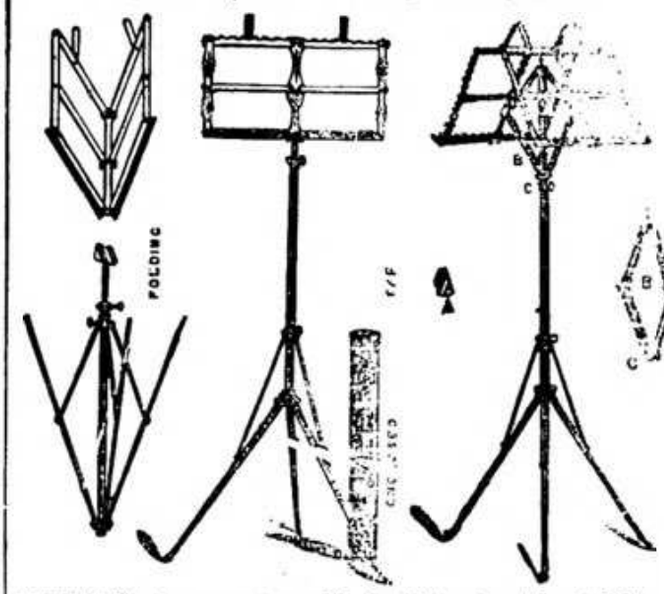
THE LORD OF UNDERLEY
(The Earl of Bective, M.P., Prov. G.M., Prov. G. Sup., and Prov. G.M.M.M. Cumberland and Westmoreland, and Past G. Sov. of the Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine).

A BOON COMPANION
(Bro. E. C. Woodward, P.M. 382, 1637, &c.)

A GRAND SUPERINTENDENT
(Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Berks and Bucks).

ÆSCULAPIUS
(Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., 32 deg., Past G.S.B., Craft, and Past G.St.B., Arch, Intendant General Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine for North Lancashire).

London: W. W. MORGAN.



By Order of all Booksellers, or will be sent direct, by post, from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N

THE AMERICAN

PORTABLE MUSIC STANDS.

J. F. WALTERS' PATENT.

Iron, from 10/6 each. Brass, from 30/- each.

THESE Stands are unsurpassed in simplicity, strength, portability cheapness, and elegance of finish. They are suitable for Military Bands Orchestras, Reading and News Rooms, Libraries, Studies, and Drawing Rooms. When opened to their full capacity they stand 6 feet high, and can be folded and enclosed in a case 21 inches long by 2 inches diameter. The weight is about 3 lbs. 12 oz., and they will support a weight of 50 lbs.

To be obtained of all Music Dealers, and of the Manufacturers and Proprietors of the Patent,

HARROW & CO.

MUSIC SMITHS, BRASS WORKERS, &c.

13 and 14 Portland Street, Soho, London, W.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

Free by Post, Price One Shilling.

THE

REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS;

CRITICALLY CONSIDERED,

AND

COMPARED WITH THE OLD EDITION.

—:o:—

A SERIES OF ARTICLES,

REPRINTED FROM THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

—:o:—

LONDON:

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE;
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL & Co., 4 STATIONERS' HALL COURT;
AND OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

"All Freemasons interested in the Revision of the above, should read this work."

Crown 8vo, price 2s 6d, cloth lettered.

Uniformity of Masonic Ritual and Observance.

By Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M., P.Z., &c.

"May be read with advantage by the whole Craft."—Sunday Times.

"Grand Lodge should at once set to work to secure the desired uniformity."—Sheffield Post.

"The subject is ably argued by the author."—Western Daily Mercury.

"Useful and valuable in the highest degree."—Exeter Gazette.

"Will have a material effect on the future of Masonic Ritual."—South Western Star.

"The author adduces many variations in the language used by different Preceptors."—Cox's Monthly Legal Circular.

"Ought to be in the hands of every Mason."—Northampton Guardian.

"To Freemasons generally it will be found useful and valuable, and we commend it to their notice accordingly."—Surrey County Observer.

"Bro. Stevens' motion for a Committee on the subject of Uniformity of Ritual was carried by a large majority."—Freemason's Chronicle report of Grand Lodge meeting, 3rd December 1879.

Sent, by post, on receipt of stamps, by the Author, Bro. JAMES STEVENS, 112 High-street, Clapham, S.W.; or by Bro. W. W. MORGAN Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

Digitized by Google

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE,

A Weekly Record of Masonic Intelligence. Sanctioned by the Grand Lodge of England.

Price—12s 6d per annum, post free.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE will be forwarded direct from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N., on receipt of Post Office Order for the amount. Intending Subscribers should forward their full Addresses to prevent mistakes.

Post Office Orders to be made payable to W. W. MORGAN, at Penton-street Office. Cheques crossed "London and County."

Advertisers will find THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE an exceptionally good medium for Advertisements of every class.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Per Page... ... ... £8 0 0
Back Page £10 0 0

Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1s per line.

General Advertisements, Trade Announcements, &c. single column, 5s per inch. Double Column Advertisements 1s per line. Special Terms for a Series of Insertions on application.

Agents, from whom copies can always be had:—

Messrs. SPENCER and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C.
Messrs. CURTICE and Co., 12 Catherine-street, Strand.
Messrs. KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.
Mr. RITCHIE, 6 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SIMPSON BROS., Shoe Lane.
Mr. H. SIMPSON, 7 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SMITH and SONS, 183 Strand.
Messrs. STEEL and JONES, 4 Spring Gardens, Charing Cross.
Mr. G. VICKERS, Angel Court, Strand.
Mr. H. VICKERS, 317 Strand.

RICHARD PEARCY,
WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
31 PACKINGTON STREET, ISLINGTON, LONDON, N.

Watches Made and Repaired in the very best manner.

MASONIC JEWELS.

THE THEATRES, &c.

COVENT GARDEN.—PROMENADE CONCERTS.
PRINCESS'S.—At 7, A CLERICAL ERROR. At 7.40, THE SILVER KING.
HAYMARKET.—At 7.50, FIRST IN THE FIELD. At 8.15, FEDORA.
DRURY LANE.—At 7.45, A SAILOR AND HIS LASS.
LYCEUM.—At 8.30, THE LADY OF LYONS.
ADELPHI.—At 7.45, IN THE RANKS.
STRAND.—At 8, VICE VERSA. At 9.15, SILVER GUILT.
SAVOY.—At 8, PRIVATE WIRE. At 8.40, IOLANTHE.
GAIETY.—At 7.35, YOUNG WIDOW. At 8.15, ARIEL.
AVENUE.—At 7.30, OBLIGING A FRIEND. At 8.15, LA VIE.
TOOLE'S.—At 8, SIX MONTHS AGO. At 8.30, OURS.
COURT.—At 8, THE MILLIONAIRE.
GLOBE.—At 7.45, MAN PROPOSES. At 8.30, THE GLASS OF FASHION.
ROYALTY.—At 8, GILLETTE.
VAUDEVILLE.—At 8, AN OLD MASTER. At 9, CONFUSION.
COMEDY.—At 8, FALKA.
ST. JAMES'S.—At 8, YOUNG FOLKS' WAYS.
GRAND.—At 7.30, LOAN OF A LOVER. At 8. NEW BABYLON.
STANDARD.—At 7.30, GLAD TIDINGS.
SADLER'S WELLS.—At 7.30, DENOUNCED.
SURREY.—At 7.30, CRIMES OF PARIS.
ST. JAMES'S HALL.—Mr. DUVAL'S ODDS AND ENDS.
MOHAWK MINSTRELS, Agricultural Hall.—Every evening, at 8.
EGYPTIAN HALL.—Messrs. MASKELYNE AND COOKE. Every evening at 8.
CRYSTAL PALACE.—This day, CONCERT. PANORAMA. Open Daily, Aquarium, Picture Gallery, &c.

BRO. G. S. GRAHAM,

The Popular Tenor and Buffo Vocalist, from St. James's Hall, Crystal Palace, &c.

(Provincial Grand Organist Middlesex)

IS OPEN TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FOR

Concerts, Entertainments, & Masonic Banquets.

Bro. G. S. Graham's Party of Eminent Artists can be engaged for Masonic Banquets, Consecrations and Installations, &c. For Opinions of the Press, and terms, address—G. S. GRAHAM, St. John's Villa, 91 Fernlea Road, Balham, Surrey.

PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS ON EASY TERMS.

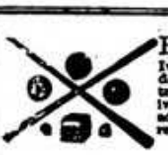
GROVER & GROVER

LET ON HIRE, WITH OPTION OF PURCHASE,

BEAUTIFUL AND PERFECT INSTRUMENTS.
PURCHASERS CHOOSE THEIR OWN TERMS,
FROM 15s TO £3 3s PER QUARTER.

The Advantages of a Trial, with the Convenience of the Three Years' System at Cash Price, by Paying about a Quarter of the value down, the Balance by Easy Payments, from 15s per quarter.

GROVER & GROVER (late AVILL & SMART),
TABERNACLE SQUARE, FINSBURY, E.C.
ESTABLISHED 1830.



PIANOFORTES, £19 10s.
AMERICAN ORGANS, £9 5s.
HARMONIUMS, £5 15s.

Perfect in Tone and Touch. Elegant Walnut Cases. Every Instrument warranted to stand any extreme climate.

SHIPPERS AND DEALERS SUPPLIED.

Before deciding on purchasing, write for a descriptive Price List and Testimonials to G. LINSTEAD, Manager.

COBDEN PIANOFORTE COMPANY, 18 & 19 Eversholt Street, Camden Town, London.

BILLIARD BALLS, Chalks, Cues and Tips, at HENNIG BROS., Ivory Works, 11 High Street, London, W.C. Cheapest house in the trade for billiard-table requisites and ivory goods in general. Old balls adjusted or exchanged, and tables recovered. Price Lists on application. Established 1862.

RHEUMATISM.

THE only real remedy for this complaint is the Northern Cure (patent). In bottles 1s 1½d each, to be had of all Chemists. Proprietors and Manufacturer, EDWARDS AND ALEXANDER, 39 Blackett-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR GOUT and RHEUMATISM.

The excruciating pain is quickly relieved and cured in a few days by this celebrated Medicine.

These Pills require no restraint of diet during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.

Sold by all Chemists at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.

HOTELS, ETC.

CARLISLE—Bush Hotel. SUTCLIFFE HOLROYD, Proprietor

EALING—Feathers Hotel

EASTBOURNE—Pier Hotel, Cavendish Place. View of Sea and Pier. A. TAYLOR Proprietor

HAVERFORDWEST.—Queen's Family and Commercial Hotel. BEN. M. DAVIES Proprietor.

KEW—Star and Garter. Good accommodation for Lodge & Dinner Parties. J. BRILL Proprietor

MILFORD HAVEN.—Lord Nelson Hotel. T. PALMER Proprietor

SANDWICH—Bell Family and Commercial Hotel, Good Stabling. J. J. PILMER Proprietor

ALL WHO SUFFER FROM
GOUT AND RHEUMATISM
Should immediately have recourse to

EADE'S CELEBRATED GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS.

Known throughout the world as the safest and most effectual remedy for the instant relief and rapid cure of Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Lumbago, and all Pains in the Head, Face, and Limbs.

OF ALL CHEMISTS, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d,

GEORGE EADE,
SOLE PROPRIETOR,
72 GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

SMOKE CHARLESWORTH & AUSTINS TOBACCOS AND CIGARS
BORO' S.E.
Old Chums 2d
Favourites 2d & 3d
Golden Shag 4d & 5d

Digitized by Google

SPIERS & POND'S
FREEMASONS' TAVERN,

GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

For MASONIC BANQUETS.

PUBLIC FESTIVALS and PRIVATE DINNERS.

WEDDING BREAKFASTS.

BALLS. EVENING PARTIES. SOIREES.

Spacious Hall for Election and other Public Meetings.

Rooms for Masonic Lodges, &c. SPIERS & POND, Limited.

JOSEPH J. CANEY,

DIAMOND MERCHANT, AND MANUFACTURING JEWELLER AND WATCH MAKER,

44 CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.

MASONIC JEWELS, CLOTHING AND FURNITURE.

Specialité—First Class Jewels—Artistic—Massive—Best Quality—Moderate in Price.

CATALOGUES POST FREE.

A LARGE STOCK OF LOOSE BRILLIANTS FOR EXPENSIVE JEWELS

Diamond Rings, Brooches, Studs, Earrings and Bracelets in Great Variety.

MASONIC JEWELS FOR ALL DEGREES.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS AND DECORATIONS.

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD IN ALL SIZES.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEDALS AND BADGES.

A. D. LOEWENSTARK & SONS, Medallists, 210 STRAND, LONDON, W.C.

MANUFACTORY—1 DEVEREUX COURT, STRAND.

R. W. GALER,

PRACTICAL WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

12 GREEN LANES, LONDON, N.

(Six doors from Newington Green).

OLD GOLD and SILVER BOUGHT or TAKEN in EXCHANGE.

PRESENTATION WATCHES AND MASONIC JEWELS MANUFACTURED ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

Communications by Post punctually attended to.

G. W. KNIGHT,

Carver, Gilder, and Picture Frame Maker,

LITTLE BELL ALLEY, BACK OF MOORGATE STREET, CITY,

AND

38 CHAUCER ROAD, BRIXTON.

CORNICES AND FRAMES OF ALL KINDS REPAIRED AND REGILT.

W. W. MORGAN,

LETTER-PRESS, COPPER-PLATE, LITHOGRAPHIC PRINTER,

BELVIDERE WORKS,

HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE.

SUMMONSES, MENU CARDS, &c. ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED.

Sketches or Designs for Special Purposes Furnished on Application.

Books, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Catalogues, Posters, Billheads, Showcards, &c.

Every description of Printing (Plain or Ornamental) executed in First Class Style.

ESTIMATES SUPPLIED.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER

7s 6d.

If with Pockets, 6d each pocket extra.

225 HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.

DRESS SUITS from £3 3s to £5 5s.

Demy 8vo, Price 7s 6d,

THE CHESS OPENINGS,

By ROBERT B. WORMALD.

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE.

CONCERTINAS,

ENGLISH AND ANGLO-GERMAN.

G. JONES, 350 Commercial-road, London, E., inventor of the Anglo-German with chromatic scale. His tempered steel notes never get out of tune. Used by the leading performers. Price List of Musical Instruments of every description free. Established 1850.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY Limited, 7 Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General accidents. | Personal injuries.
Railway accidents. | Death by accident.

C. HARDING, Manager.

RIPPINGILLE'S PATENT

WARMING STOVES.

THE only Perfect Oil Stoves. Made to burn absolutely without Smoke or Smell, Trouble or Dirt. Unequalled for Warming

GREENHOUSES, VINERIES, SHOPS,

BEDROOMS, HALLS, OFFICES, DAMP ROOMS, &c.

Perfectly safe, require no pipes or fittings, will burn from twelve to twenty hours without attention, give off no injurious vapour, and are the best stoves ever invented to save plants from frost, keep out the damp, &c.

Price, from a few shillings.

Write for Illustrated List of Warming Stoves to

The Holborn Lamp and Stove Co.

118 HOLBORN, LONDON, E.C.

And say where you saw this Advertisement.

Bro. A. OLDROYD, Stratford, London,

MANUFACTURER OF TOBACCO POUCHES,

With any name in raised letters.

CAN be obtained direct from the Maker, at the undermentioned prices, on receipt of P.O.O. payable at Stratford.

	Price		Will take a name of
No. 3	2/0	...	9 letters
,, 4	2/6	...	11
,, 5	3/0	...	13
,, 6	3/6	...	13
,, 7	4/0	...
,, 8	4/6	...
,, 9	5/0	...

A. OLDROYD,

Agent for Algerian Cigars, and Importer o Havana and Continental Cigars,

44 HIGH STREET, STRATFORD, LONDON, E.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

BIRKBECK BANK.—Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Current Accounts opened according to the usual practice of other Bankers, and Interest allowed on the minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £25. No commission charged for keeping Accounts.

The Bank also receives money on Deposit at three per cent. Interest, repayable on demand.

The Bank undertakes for its Customers, free of charge, the custody of Deeds, Writings, and other Securities and Valuables, the collection of Bills of Exchange, Dividends, and Coupons; and the purchase and sale of Stocks and Shares.

Letters of Credit and Circular Notes issued.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

31st March 1880.

The Birkbeck Building Society's Annual Receipts exceed Four Millions.

HOW TO PURCHASE. A HOUSE FOR TWO GUINEAS PER MONTH, with immediate Possession and no Rent to pay. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY.

HOW TO PURCHASE A PLOT OF LAND FOR FIVE SHILLINGS PER MONTH, with immediate possession, either for Building or Gardening purposes. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Printed and Published by Brother WILLIAM WRAY MORGAN, at Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, Saturday, 24th November 1883.

Digitized by Google

THE

Freemason's Chronicle;

A WEEKLY RECORD OF MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

SANCTIONED BY THE GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.

Vol. XVIII.—No. 464. SATURDAY, 1st DECEMBER 1883. [PRICE THREEPENCE. 13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE QUARTERLY COMMUNICATION OF GRAND LODGE.

THE agenda of business to be transacted at the December meeting of the Grand Lodge, to be held on Wednesday next, presents no new features of importance to the general body of English Freemasons; indeed, the greater part of the programme of proceedings has reference to the nomination and election of next year's officers of Grand Lodge, other matters of detail usual at this period of the year, and the settlement of various points in connection with the restoration of the Masonic Temple and the Revision of the Book of Constitutions.

Items 1 and 2 relate to the confirmation of minutes; first come those of the last Quarterly Communication (held on the 5th September), and then those of the two Special Grand Lodges of 29th June and 8th August, deferred from the last Grand Lodge. This latter really means much more than mere confirmation; it is not unlikely that many of the points referred to in the minutes will actually be rediscussed, and it is not wholly improbable that the confirmation may be again delayed. Item No. 3 is the nomination of a Grand Master for the ensuing year, and although it is a foregone conclusion who will be nominated, this yet forms one of the most important features in the Masonic year's work. We trust that our present M.W. Grand Master will again honour the brethren of England by allowing himself to be nominated, and that being the case, we have little doubt but that his election will again be of that unanimous character which has marked it in previous years. There is not much doubt on the point, and yet this annual nomination and election is necessary; if only to periodically show the respect entertained by the Craft for the Prince of Wales, who we hope may long continue to occupy the position of Grand Master. The appointment of a President of the Lodge of Benevolence comes next, and then the election of Senior and Junior Vice-Presidents. Bro. James Brett P.G.P. being the only brother nominated for the position of Senior Vice-President, he will, in due course, be again appointed to the post he has already filled with credit to himself and satisfaction to the Craft. The post of Junior Vice-Presi- is sought by three brethren—Henry Garrod P.M. 749, James H. Matthews P.M. 143, and Charles A. Cottebrune P.G.P. When the choice of Grand Lodge between these three has been settled, the formal election of the twelve Past Masters (Bros. Britten, Cull, Dairy, Garrod, Gillard, Hogard, Mann, McPherson, Noble, Perryman, Spaull and Storr), nominated to serve on the Lodge of Benevolence will take place, and then item No. 7 will call for attention: this is the report of the Lodge of Benevolence for the last quarter, in which are recommendations for ten different grants, amounting in the aggregate to £645, and comprising one of £150, one of £100, one of £75, six of £50, and one of £20, this latter being an amount already paid to a brother, since deceased, on account of a recommended grant of £150, and which in consequence of his death has now lapsed. The report of the Board of General Purposes, next on the list, contains a record of two minor cases of irregularity which have been dealt with by the Board, and the usual statement of Grand Lodge accounts. Item No. 9 is another matter deferred from the last Communication—the Report of the Special Building Committee in reference to the restoration of the Temple. We may fairly expect a lengthy discussion on this subject, which, as is well known, has occupied the attention of the Craft for some time past, and in nearly every portion of the country. A body, styling itself the "Grand Lodge of Victoria, Australia," requests recognition by the United Grand Lodge of England, and their right to have it, or otherwise, will next be decided. An appeal from the Reunion Lodge, No. 1956, New Zealand, against certain comments made by the Colonial Board, relative to the conduct of a member of the Lodge, will need attention, and then the various motions of which notice has been given will be brought forward. The first four of these notices have reference to the reconstruction of the Temple, the fifth is the usual proposal by Lieut.-Colonel Creaton, that the sum of £70 be given from the Fund of General Purposes to supply the inmates of the Institution at Croydon with coals during the winter season, while the ten remainder have reference to the Revision of the Book of Constitutions. We give these in detail in another part of our present issue, and do not, therefore, consider it necessary to repeat them here.

We can but urge on every brother who is eligible to do his best to attend, and give his attention to the day's programme, as many of the points, although they have been before the Craft for some time past, are most essential, as affecting its future welfare.

RICHARD PLANTAGENET—WAS HE A MASON?

BROTHER G. W. SPETH has a keen scent for all matters Masonic, and he appears never to lose a chance of laying hold of any fact that is likely to lead to the confirmation of what all true students of Freemasonry desire to believe, namely, the remote origin of the Craft. The faith in the antiquity of the Fraternity is remarkably strong and general, but the grounds upon which this faith is founded are not so capable of demonstration as a mathematical problem, nor are they altogether satisfactory to those who are in the habit of weighing facts and testing conclusions. Tradition has always some modicum of truth in it; it can be relied upon when it relates to some general principle or custom. Words and phrases, songs and folk lore may be handed down by oral communication from generation to generation, but specific facts are exposed to great danger of being misunderstood and misinterpreted. Tradition, for instance, could be trusted if it related the existence of an ancient bard, although little or nothing remained of anything he did to indicate his style or genius. His labours would be widely known and popular, but the same could not be said of an individual, who lived a retired life, who was known only to a comparatively few. It is necessary, therefore, to be careful about facts in forming conclusions. Two cases in point have recently

EPPS'S (GRATEFUL COMFORTING) COCOA.

Digitized by Google

arisen—one with regard to Sir Christopher Wren, and the other with regard to Richard Plantagenet, so-called. With the former we shall not now deal, but confine our remarks to the latter.

A short time ago, the rector of St. Edmund's, Lombard Street, City of London, delivered a lecture at Margate, on the "Historical Memorials of Kent," and in the course of his remarks he referred to an entry in the church registry at Eastwell, where the death is recorded of "Richard Plantagenet" in December 1550. The lecturer stated that this Richard Plantagenet worked at Eastwell "as a mason for his living." Bro. Speth's mind was at once exercised on the matter, and he wanted to know who this Richard was, and the authority for the statement as to his occupation. He says: "Let us prove this statement and we shall indeed have one royal brother at least previous to the revival." The Rev. Mr. Benham very courteously responded to Bro. Speth's desire for more information, but his reply is more suggestive than explanatory, although he contributes some interesting facts. He states that his immediate reminder was Murray's "Handbook of Kent," which he had lent since the lecture, and could not therefore refer to it; to Hasted's "History of Kent," which he had sent to the binder. He also alludes to the "Gentleman's Magazine" for 1767, in which appeared, he says, "a full account of the discovery of the man's personality." According to Drake's Eboracum, Richard "was sixteen years old at the time of his father's death, and had been knighted by him at York." Mr. Benham records two or three other particulars, and adds: "My authority for using the word mason is an old history of England, which makes no mention of Eastwell, but merely says that 'King Richard left a natural son, who, after his father's death, supported himself as a mason.'" Just previously Mr. Benham had said: "I think, but am not sure, that Murray calls him a bricklayer." That is just what Murray does not do. The passage will be found on page 192 of the "Handbook for Kent and Sussex," from which we take the following:

> Eastwell Church, in which is buried the "last of the Plantagenets." Richard, a natural son of Richard III., is said to have fled hither immediately after the battle of Bosworth, and to have supported himself as a mason, until discovered by Sir Thomas Moyle, who allowed him to build a small house adjoining Eastwell Place, in which he lived and died (1550). The parish register of burial contains the following entry, copied, of course, from an earlier book:
>
> "V Rychard, Plantagenet, Desember 22nd, 1550."
>
> The letter V marking persons of noble birth throughout the register. A tomb in the chancel, without inscription and deprived of its brasses, is said to belong to this offset of the White Rose (but the Earl of Winchilsea told Dr. Brett, in 1720, that it was unknown whether he was buried in the church or churchyard. See Dr. Brett's letter in Peck's Desiderata Curiosa.) The house in which Plantagenet lived was destroyed toward the end of the 17th cent.; a modern building marks the site. Near it is a spring called "Plantagenet's Well."

The author of Desiderata Curiosa was the Rev. Francis Peck, M.A., Rector of Godeby, near Melton, Leicestershire. The letter written by Thomas Brett, LL.D., to William Warren, LL.D., president of Trinity Hall, dated the 1st September 1733, in which the facts relating to Richard Plantagenet are set forth, is given in full on page 249 in the work referred to, together with several notes. The story reads like a romance of chivalry, and was thought, by Mr. Charles Knight, worthy of a place in that excellent work, "Half Hours with the Best Authors," now published by Warne and Co., Bedford Street, Strand. The paper is too long to transfer to our pages, but the following brief summary will give a fair idea of the interesting events recorded in Dr. Brett's letter.

Sir Thomas Moyle built the house called Eastwell-place, and Richard Plantagenet is called his "chief bricklayer." This Richard was observed to be fond of reading a particular book, a circumstance that excited the curiosity of his employer. The latter surprised Richard one day while engrossed in his study, and rudely snatched the book from him. Another account states that Sir Thomas, on one occasion found Richard asleep, and quietly removed the book from under his arm. At any rate, Sir Thomas discovered that the book was in Latin, and he examined Richard in the language. His answers suggested other questions, and by this means the real character of Richard was discovered, although he wished to keep his story a secret. It appears that he was boarded with a Latin schoolmaster, without knowing who his parents were. In a note the Rev. Mr. Peck makes Richard to say: "I was brought up at my nurse's house (whom I took for my mother) till I was seven years old. Then a gentleman, whom I did not know, took me from thence, and carried me to a private school in Leicestershire." Afterwards Richard was taken by a strange gentleman to a fine house, where he had an interview with "a man, finely dressed, with a star and garter," who gave him money and dismissed him back to school. A note puts words into Richard's mouth as follows. Referring to the interview with the gentleman with the star and garter, who no doubt was the king, he says: "Who examined me narrowly, and felt my limbs and joints, and gave me ten pieces of gold, viz., crown gold, which was the current money then, and worth ten shillings apiece." We do not know Peck's authority for this detailed statement. He is precise, while Brett is general. The latter got his information from the Earl of Winchilsea, a member of the family that succeeded to Sir Thomas Moyle's estate, and simply repeats it to an intimate friend without apparently taking any trouble to confirm the facts. Peck, on the other hand, seems to have bestowed some pains upon the matter. He gives results and not authorities. Resuming the thread of the main story, it is recorded that Richard was favoured with a second visit from the same gentleman while at school. On this occasion he was furnished with a horse and accoutrements, and taken to the King's tent on Bosworth field. The King embraced him, told him where to meet him if successful in the battle, when he would own and provide for him; if defeated, Richard was told to shift for himself. The King then gave him a purse of gold and dismissed him. A note gives fuller particulars of this meeting, but both statements substantially agree. We shall take Peck's note as to what followed in preference to the original story. Richard says: "After the battle was over, I set out accordingly for London. And just as I came into Leicester, I saw a dead body brought to town upon an horse. And upon looking stedfastly upon it, I found it to be my father, I then went forward to town. And (my genius leading me to architecture), as I was looking on a fine house which was building there, one of the workmen employed me about something, and finding me very handy, took me to his house and taught me the trade which now occupies me." Brett also has it that Richard "put himself apprentice to a bricklayer." After Sir Thomas had heard Richard's story, he offered him the run of the house, but his "chief bricklayer" preferred to live retired, as he hitherto had done. He therefore craved a piece of ground, on which he built a house, where he lived and died. The close of the story, as given by Brett, is important, we therefore transcribe it literally:

> I have been computing the age of this Richard Plantagenet when he died, and find it to be about 81. For Richard III. was killed August 23 1485, which subtracted from 1550, there remains 65, to which add 16 (for the age of Richard Plantagenet at that time), and it makes 81. But, though he lived to that age, he could scarcely enjoy his retirement in his little house above two or three years, or a little more. For I find by Philpot that Sir Thomas Moyle did not purchase the estate of Eastwell till about the year 1543 or 44. We may, therefore, reasonably suppose that upon his building a new house on his purchase, he could not come to live in it till 1546, but that his workmen were continued to build the walls about his gardens, and other conveniences off from the house. And till he came to live in the house he could not well have an opportunity of observing how Richard Plantagenet retired with his book. So that it was probably towards the latter end of the year 1546 when Richard and Sir Thomas had the forementioned dialogue together. Consequently, Richard could not build his house, and have it dry enough for him to live in till the year 1547. So that he must be 77 or 78 years of age before he had his writ of ease.

It will be seen from the foregoing that Murray and Brett do not agree. The former says that Richard fled to Eastwell after the battle of Bosworth, and there supported himself as a mason; the latter, we think, relates the more probable story, because it accounts for Richard's knowledge of a handicraft, although its precise character is disputed. Whether a mason or a bricklayer, the "last of the Plantagenets" was a builder; that is certain, if there is any truth at all in the whole story. If Brett's authority is to be relied upon, the whereabouts and the life of Richard from 1485 to 1543 are involved in obscurity. It is true that he went to London, and Peck makes him to say that he had a genius for architecture, and Brett agrees with Peck in stating that Richard learned the art of bricklaying. What was the life of our hero during the long interregnum between his apprenticeship and his connection with Eastwell, there is nothing to show at present. Peck, in a note, states that at the interview at Bosworth the King gave his natural son "twelve hundred of the same (crown) pieces," so that Richard had a considerable sum of money wherewith to apprentice himself. The account, however, he gives of his engagement in London favours the idea that a certain bricklayer took compassion upon him, put him to do humble work, and finding him handy, taught him the trade of a bricklayer. That he attained skill in his trade is affirmed by Brett, who says that he was Sir Thomas Moyle's "chief bricklayer." But the question arises—Was he a mason, a member of a guild, and can he be claimed as a member of the Craft which was first operative and afterwards became speculative? These are questions to be considered, and at this point we leave the subject at present.

Digitized by Google

THE HUGHAN TESTIMONIAL.

IT has become so frequent a practice of late years to recognise in a more or less substantial form the services which a brother may have rendered to his Lodge, to his Province, or to some other section of the Craft, that many on the impulse of the moment are inclined to look askance at testimonials as though, in the ordinary run of cases, they possessed little more than a nominal value, that is, of course, speaking extrinsically, if we may so phrase it. When every successive occupant of the chair of a Lodge is voted a Past Master's jewel on his retirement from office, many people are inclined to look upon the presentation as a compliment certainly, yet as a compliment which is paid as a matter of course. There is no very grave objection to the practice. A man who has fulfilled a particular duty well, or even fairly well, is apt to think that some slight is intended if his services, trivial though they may have been, are allowed to pass unrecognised; and, undoubtedly, having regard to the regularity with which P.M.'s jewels are voted, the omission to pay such a compliment would be a slur upon a man's character well nigh intolerable. In fact the P.M.'s jewel must be looked upon as the ornamental outward and visible sign that a brother has once occupied the chair of K.S., not that he has achieved any special distinction when so placed. So with many other classes of testimonials, they are evidences that a man has occupied a particular position, or discharged a particular duty, rather than that he has done anything out of the common run of achievements. There are of course exceptions, as when a man has occupied a position of great trust and responsibility, or involving, by the onerous nature of the duties attached to it, the sacrifice of much time. In those cases, any testimonial that may be presented in recognition of such labours becomes a real recognition of undoubted merit or of more or less considerable but special sacrifices made by the recipient. The testimonial which is being raised on behalf of Brother W. J. Hughan will serve admirably to illustrate our meaning. That worthy brother has already received many tokens of regard from his brethren, but in this respect he is only one of a very large number of estimable Craftsmen who have been made the recipients of similar tokens of regard. Quite recently, when on the point of leaving the Province with which his name had been so long associated, and for which he had laboured with so much enthusiasm and so successfully, his brethren of the said Province considered they would not be doing their duty unless they paid him some special compliment, and they did so. Yet even as the recipient of this higher, because more limited kind of distinction, Bro. Hughan by no means stands alone. There are many others who have been thought worthy of being placed in the same category with him. But the testimonial which it is now in contemplation to present him with, and which has been vigorously taken in hand by a Committee, which is strongly representative of the Mason Craft in the United Kingdom, is one that could only be proposed in the case of a brother who has rendered services to Freemasonry of a very exceptional character; services which must mark him out as the possessor of qualities of an unusually high order; services which have been productive of great and enduring advantages to the Fraternity. Herein lies the special significance of the Hughan Testimonial. He has done for the Craft at large, without hope or expectation of reward, but not without a heavy expenditure of time and means, and the exhibition of conspicuous ability, what no other living Mason has done; what it is within the capacity of very few to equal; and what, speaking with even great assurance, we may confidently affirm that none will surpass. The sphere of his labour has not been outwardly impressive. Considering the amount of time he must have devoted to the work of his choice, there is, perhaps, and speaking, of course, comparatively, but little to show for it; but that little is of sterling value, and for generations to come will form the basis of far more showy productions. He has done the lion's share of laying the foundations of the trustworthy history of Freemasonry which has yet to be written, and it is well that he should be honoured while he is yet in the full vigour of his mental powers. Moreover, there is a certain fitness in the form which it is proposed the testimonial should take. He has already been honoured with the purple, by him alone who had the right to confer such honour. He has long enjoyed the respect of his brother Masons, and this to a far greater extent than would otherwise have been the case, because it is universally acknowledged that his literary labours have been something less than pecuniarily productive; they have cost him money, as well as time and thought, and we feel that the Craft would not be doing their duty if, with such valuable evidence before them of his great ability as a writer, and his untiring energy as an investigator of abstruse historical problems, they did not make some return to him, of extrinsic as well as intrinsic value, for what he has done so unselfishly. For these reasons we commend the Hughan Testimonial to the favourable notice of our readers. We trust that all who can will contribute their mite, and having regard to the many influential names on the Committee, we are not without hopes that the testimonial, when complete, will be as worthy of the donors as it must be of the recipient.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." So think the House Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. The first of a series of entertainments to be given during the winter months took place on Monday, the 26th ult., at the Institution, Wood Green. The pupils took part in the concert that was given on the occasion, and were aided by Bros. John Hodges, Hanson, and Edward Wharton. Bro. Charles E. Tinney (Musical Director) wielded the baton, and rendered general and efficient service throughout. The programme was a pleasing one, and was well executed. The concert was organised by Bro. J. Murray, Vice-Patron and member of the House Committee, and gave general satisfaction. Among those present were Bro and Mrs. Edgar Bowyer and party, Bro. Joyce Murray, Bro. and Mrs. H. S. Goodall and party, Bro. and Mrs. Matier and party, Bro. G. J. Row and party, Bro. R. W. Stewart, Bro. W. Willey, Mrs. Jno. Constable and party, Bro. Cubitt and party, Bro. Dr. Morris (Head Master), Mrs. Hogard and party, with several other friends, and Bro. F. Binckes (Secretary). Votes of thanks were given to those who had in any way contributed to a most enjoyable gathering.

Bro. Col. Creaton P.G.T. presided at the monthly meeting of the General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, held at the Freemasons' Hall on Thursday afternoon. There were also present Bros. Richardson P.G.D., Col. Peters G S.B., Parkhouse, H. Massey, Matthews, Finney, Tattershall, Letchworth, Kingston, Gladwell, Berry, Grey P.G.D., Webb, Bateman, Graveley, Caseley, Mason, Mickley, Spooner, Rudderforth, Hedges Secretary. The House Committee having unanimously recommended that the salary of Miss Redgrave, first assistant governess, should be raised from £75 to £90 a-year, Bro. Richardson moved a resolution in accordance therewith, observing that, during the six months' absence, through illness, of the head-mistress, Miss Davis, Miss Redgrave so ably discharged her duties that Miss Davis's presence was hardly missed. He meant no reflection upon the latter, but as a matter of justice to Miss Redgrave he was bound to mention the fact. Bro. A. E. Gladwell seconded the motion, and it was carried unanimously. Notice was given that, at the next meeting, it is intended to move that the Secretary's salary be increased. After approving of two petitions of candidates for next election, and postponing a third, the Committee adjourned.

On Tuesday evening, 27th ult., Brother John G. Horsey Past Prov. G.D. of Ceremonies Surrey, P.M. 1619, P.M. 1892, was unanimously elected W.M. of the Industry Lodge, No. 186. Our esteemed Brother Horsey was initiated in this Lodge, and has worked through every office, from the door. We congratulate him on having been elected to the chair of this his mother Lodge.

Digitized by Google

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our Correspondents.

All Letters must bear the name and address of the Writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return rejected communications.

—:o:—

THE HIGH GRADES OF ANTIENT AND PRIMITIVE MASONRY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—As a rule I neither reply to reviews nor criticisms of our Rite, but I feel constrained to ask from you, in all justice, a little space in which I may reply to the critic who has so plentifully bespattered my recent lecture on the High Grades with abuse. He has altogether passed beyond the limits of civility, and no one can blame me in case I fall into the same vein. Some writer has observed that there are only two styles of criticism, namely, the slash and the puff. It is scarcely possible to suppose that this slasher of yours expects a serious answer to his criticism; and if I rightly recognise the style, it may be said of his writings, as Jack Johnson said of his friend, "Not such a fool as he looks." It is the fashion of all Masonic journals to praise in the most fulsome manner all those puerilities which the rest of the world laughs heartily at; and hence I was quite unprepared for the fall of this thunderbolt of the Press on my devoted head. Under the magic steel pen of Slasher my very nature seems to myself to be changed. Grave and hoary as I now am I do not recollect that my most intimate friends have ever attributed to me the faculty of a developed imagination, and I am equally certain that I do not possess that vice which Disraeli described in Parliamentary language as "drawing upon his imagination for his facts." Can I therefore believe otherwise than that your brief to the reviewer bore on its outside,—"No case; abuse plaintiff's attorney."

I beg you, therefore, in the first place to notice that you give your readers to understand that my lecture was intended to enlighten the darkness of the Craft. I said no such thing, and it was far from being the spirit of my lecture, in pointing out that the Antient and Primitive Rite of Masonry was the source to which the uninstructed Craft should look for light as to the history of Masonry and development of those hidden mysteries of Nature and Science which the Craftsmen so much neglect. Nevertheless, I flatter myself that I have tested my ground pretty well in my thirty years' acquaintance with all grades in Freemasonry, and that I know it better than your slashing critic.

Great offence seems to be taken with my statement that it could not be proved that Craft Masonry had any esoteric mystery before about 1722. You admit at the same time that I expressed my belief that they had from remote times ceremonies similar to those now in use. But I cannot prove it, nor can any one else. The very fact of my stating that various High Grade Rites during the last 5,000 years had given off Craft Associations is evidence of my own belief, and, if admitted, the best evidence we can get that Craft Masonry had its peculiar ceremonies in all time. But is your slashing critic so far prejudiced in favour of the Craft as to believe that it is the parent of the religious Mysteries? This we know has been a favourite dogma with some writers of the imaginative period, but is not likely to find any favour with writers of sound judgment. Craft Masonry for some centuries was nothing more than an operative trade union; and I say that the Sacerdotal Colleges or Fraternities instituted them. The most ancient Constitution traces the origin of the Craft to Euclid's Lodge of Geometricians at Alexandria. But the Sacerdotal Colleges and Brotherhoods were thousands of years older than this, and almost all the Greeks who taught the Arts and Sciences (Socrates excepted) obtained their learning as initiates of the religious Mysteries. If you, on the other hand, derive our Craft guilds from the Roman Colleges of Artificers, we shall be equally obliged to admit that the Sacerdotal preceded and constituted them. The founder of the Roman Colleges of Artificers was Norma Pompilius, and ancient tradition informs us that he was an initiate of the Etruscan Priests. I even quoted a case in India, of a Sudra Yogam of Artizans, who assert that they are contemporaneous in antiquity with the Yogams of the Brahmins, but this equal antiquity is very improbable, for reasons which will strike any student of Indian literature. Again, in case we assign to Craft Masonry a middle age origin we are equally impelled to the conclusion that the system sprang from the Monastic Fraternities. This is all that it is necessary to say in regard to the preference of date which I have given to the Sacerdotal Colleges.

But there are several circumstances which lend countenance to the supposition that the Templars gave off our Craft Masonry, or the Hiram system, as distinct from the other systems of operative Masonry practised of old in France, and it may be even in Britain, amongst the followers of Maitre Jacques, Father Soubise, and perhaps others now extinct. We may go further in search of a father, and fare very much worse. 1. The Templars had a similar secret organization of their own, with mystic and secret ceremonies. 2. They built very largely in Europe. 3. They brought their system from the East. 4. They actually styled themselves "Knights of the Temple of Solomon." 5. The present Templar and Craft ceremonies are equally as old as the Grand Lodge. 6. Von Hammer, the Oriental scholar, has shewn that the "Syrian House of Wisdom" used identical symbols in common with both the Templars and modern Freemasons, and we may add also the old Rosicrucians.

And here I may say, that my account of the Mahommedan House of Wisdom was taken from Von Hammer, who informs us that it consisted of nine degrees, which were obtained by Hakim B'Mir Ella from the Colleges in Egypt. You have already extracted so largely from Bro. R. F. Gould's work in respect to the French Compagnionages that I need say little here. They are not all likely to have had an identical origin with the rival system of Hiramite Masonry, but, where not modern, would spring as a matter of necessity from the Monkish fraternities. But such reasoning is not imagination as you term such things; it is logical deduction acquired from, and by a knowledge of, history.

As to Bro. Ashmole's diary, I can only say that your slashing critic must have read it very indifferently if he failed to notice that the last Masonic meeting mentioned by Ashmole in London terminated at the same time as the last Rosicrucian meeting, and that the two societies, after a long slumber, revived together, or nearly so. But why try to enlighten a brother whose sole object seems to be to use my lecture as a convenient means of gratifying some grudge against the writer? I will therefore only answer some of his critisims by asking him questions, leaving him to find the answers as a means of increasing his Masonic knowledge.

1. Your slashing critic, does he not know that "Long Livers" had a dedication to the G.L. in 1721, in which High Grades are mentioned in Rosicrucian language? (Bro. Gould proved that this work was actually printed in 1722, and was by Robert Samber).

2. Does he not know of any evidence that shews that there were other Lodges in existence in the South than those of which G.L. was composed (Even the learned brother "MASONIC STUDENT" admits this).

3. Does he not know that G.M. Payne was censured by G.L., and was requested not to attend their so-called irregular meetings.

4. Does he not know that the so-called James III., when he invaded England in 1715, had embroidered on his banner the Eagle and Pelican? (our Rose Croix Badge).

5. Does he not know that Ramsay did propagate a Rite of 7° between 1728 and 1738, and that it differed in some respects from either the English Rite of 7° or the Rosy-Cross Rite of 7°.

6. Does he not know that D'Assigny states that the Arch degree of 3 steps was practised at York in 1743?

7. Does he not know that the York Masons supported and acknowledged the Athol or Ancient Masons?

8. Does he not know that the G.L. of York acknowledged the degrees of Past Master, Arch, Templar, and Priest?

9. Does he not know that Prince Charles Edward Stewart did actually charter a High Grade body at Arras as Hereditary Grand Master, which the Grand Orient yet preserves (or did a few years ago) as the Rite of Kilwinning; and that it was neither Ramsay's Rite or that of our Ancient Masons?

10. Does he not know that there are records of various bodies in London of Heredom Rosy-Cross, said records then, in 1743, claiming immemorial date?

If he is unacquainted with all these things the sooner he qualifies himself to write upon Masonry, by studying Masonic history, the better for the "CHRONICLE'S" reputation. What an ingenious logician! "Modern" really means "Ancient," and "Ancient" means "Modern;" that is what he gravely calls upon us to believe.

I have already shewn in my Lecture how the "Ancient and Primitive Rite of Masonry" may claim to represent the ancient mysteries, and need, therefore, only allude here to the first establishment of our Masonic Rite in Egypt. Various authorities have noticed the fact that Buonaparte's army established a Grand Lodge in Egypt. The account I gave in my Lecture will be found to agree with that in "Heckthorn's Secret Societies" (John Hogg). The statement that Napoleon and Kleber, as Masons, received investiture with a ring from an Egyptian sage at the Great Pyramid of Cheops, is taken from a recent pamphlet by the Illustrious Bro. S. A. Zola, Past Grand Master of Egypt, but I remember seeing some mention of it about twenty years ago. The previous G.M., Marquis de Bauregard, 33°.97°, asserted that the Dervishes were actual Masons, in an Official Bulletin of the Grand Orient of Egypt, and the present G.M., Bro. Ralph Borg, had a newspaper article, in which it is alleged that he was allowed, at the request of a friend, to visit one of the Dervish Lodges: he was led blindfolded when nearing the locality, and vouches for the similarity to our Institution. I could give other proof as to the Constantinople Dervishes, but my obligations prohibit me.

Having replied to the more Masonic matter, I will touch, as briefly as I can, upon the Oriental Societies. I know of several such, and am entitled to a fifth degree of the ancient wide-spread Buddhistic order of nine degrees. I am aware that this admission will be turned against me, but our Rite has met with such great injustice from the Unitarian or "Christian Degrees," that I would even renounce Christianity if I thought it was at all likely that I should meet with such societies in the next life. But the fact is of little import, as the base or esoteric stand-point of all religions is the same. But none of the Oriental Societies will give information to outsiders. I could put any deserving Mason in the way of getting some little information by degrees from the Lodge of a Modern Rite in London, but even that would depend upon his capabilities. No English Freemason could make any great progress in the Old Societies, as, besides the monkish vows of poverty, chastity, and obedience, they require abstinence from wine, animal flesh, and all sensual indulgence.

Any true initiate of the East knows well what the Ancient Mysteries were, and in the secret archives of their Orders are preserved untold treasures of ancient wisdom, and no one is likely to accuse the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE of knowing what is hidden even from the Sanscrit scholars of the West. I do happen to know, however, that the colleges of adepts for the instruction of initiates have transmitted their history, from the most remote times, upon parchment and tablets of precious stones, and that in proof of this, their history, they point to ruins of ancient temples and caves where their Mysteries were practised. Very recently the scion of one of our great families (and I mention this only because I know how prone London Masons are to fall down and worship the golden calf) submitted evidence to Professor Huxley, who pronounced very favourably as to the probability of its authenticity. That the Societies of ninth degree are now existing and claim the most remote descent is known to me with all the certainty of my own existence.

Digitized by Google

Your slashing critic has been especially sarcastic upon my account of the Primitive Adepts, a passage which, for reasons of his own, he has divorced from the context. I said that the Vedas specifically exact the death penalty against all initiates who reveal the secrets of the third to the second degree, or of the second to the first degree; and the account I gave is the commentary of an initiate upon a passage in the Vedas which is used in a part of one of our A. and P. ceremonies, and moreover agrees pretty well with our own Bible. There are many curious coincidences between the esoteric interpretation of the Cabalists and the Colleges of the East. Both seem to teach that the first man created by the Elohim, or creative powers, was bi-sexual, and spiritual, whilst the Second or Adamic race, created by the Lord Jehovah (or Brahma) was material and constituted of earth, air, fire and water, and needed a female help. The Biblical "Sons of God" are, in the Vedas, the Brahmans, who were celibates until Brahma, or the Lord God, gave to them wives, daughters of the fourth race or giants. It is only as to the account of the giants that the Biblical tradition differs from the Vedaic records.

It is generally believed that the Ethiopians derived their instruction from the Indian Adepts, and communicated it to the Egyptians. Our A. and P. ceremonies specially state it, but there is a very ancient Indian historian who says that Mani (Menes, the first King of Egypt), abandoned by the Brahmins, led his army from old India, through places recognised as Ethiopian, to the land of Mizraim. Whether this is an exact historical account is of little moment here, for the Vedas are the oldest books in the world (much older than the West believes, and curiously correspond in number with the Hermetic books of Egypt), and all the Ancient Colleges of Adepts taught the same esoteric doctrine. India has maintained to our day amongst the few her old esoteric Secret Wisdom; but Cambyses and other foreigners scattered the Egyptian. That Plato was an Egyptian Initiate is certain, and to his works must we look with an understanding mind to discover the teaching of the Adepts, and it will be found identical with the Indian. Champollion observes of Plato:—"It was the dream of his life to write a work, and record in it the doctrines taught by the Egyptian Hierophants; he often talked of it, but found himself compelled to abstain on account of his solemn oath." In his "Phœdrus," Plato says that it is only by "Constantly perfecting himself in perfect mysteries, that a man becomes truly perfect." That the late Neo-Platonists of Alexandria, as well as the Essenes of Syria, were a branch of the Ancient Mysteries, admits of no manner of doubt to those who know the history of Occultism. I have already observed, on the testimony of Von Hammer, that it was at Alexandria that Hakim B'Mir Ella obtained the 9° of his Syrian House of Wisdom, and from these the Druzes are derived. I know the nature of the Druze ceremonies, on the testimony of actual Initiates, and pronounce them a continuation of the Mysteries. But the doctrine, degrees, and systems of other Secret Societies yet existing among ancient nations, also correspond with the remote Colleges of Wisdom, and we are logically justified in asserting, as I have done, that the present Societies have truly descended from the most ancient times. The Indian will one day prove this.

The rest must be discovered by your slashing critic, by the aid of his own great intellect, for I do not intend again to write on the subject. I have neither time, inclination, nor money for it, as what he wants from me is a book of 1000 pages. If he is disposed to investigate the matter for himself, he must first discover what the dogmas of the ancient Hierophants were, and trace the same cultes in the Secret Societies of all ages and times. He may either ascend or descend the stream of time. Wherever he finds these special dogmas, he will equally find secret oaths and ceremonies, and must of necessity arrive at the same point that I reached in my Lecture. I have traced more by dogmas as, if these are identical, the landmarks of initiatory ceremonies must have been identical.

I do not want to advertise my own works, but to save loss of time in letter writing, I desire to mention that in my larger work on "Speculative Freemasonry" (John Hogg), I have shown clearly enough, on contemporary evidence, that the High Grades were derived from the Rosicrucians; moreover, these Rosicrucians asserted, in the seventeenth century that their association was organised in degrees, in a similar way to the Indian Societies. Now, as we know that these latter have been uninterruptedly continued from ancient times, and as the Druzes, Dervishes, and Indians, equally with the Rosicrucians and many middle-age Societies, possess a system identical in Dogma with the ancient Sacerdotal Colleges, or Hermetic Associations, are we not justified in claiming the uninterrupted descent of all these modern societies from those of antiquity? I assert emphatically that we are, and that any Freemason may prove the thing for himself by diligent study; and if he will not undertake it, he does not deserve the "Gnosis." The royal road thereto is the Ancient and Primitive Rite of Masonry, but even there the indolent student will fail to discover all that he ought to know.

The closing lines or parting stroke of your slashing critic was evidently intended by him to be the hardest hit, and most telling paragraph. Therefore let me tell him plainly, that it is a matter of the utmost indifference whether "my brother Masons," which of course means the learned critic and his particular friends, laugh at my lecture or cry over it. If one may judge of the rest by this sample, their Masonic knowledge is confined to a few pot-house scrapings and comic songs. It is my intention shortly to again trespass upon their risibility, but I scarcely think that you will quote so largely from my next lecture.

With great respect, and in perfect good nature,

I remain,

Your obedient Servant and Brother,

JOHN YARKER, 33°, 96°, 90°.

MUSIC, MASONRY, AND CHARITY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Jupiter thundering is a sight for the gods, but Jupiter maudlin is—I hardly like to say what I think—well, not a pretty object. I have already dealt with the thunder, but the air is not yet cleared. I am not quite sure that there are not two modern Masonic Jupiters, some say three—two who air their eloquence in one print, and a third relieves himself of a little bile in a paper that is eagerly scanned by Freemasons once a week. I propose to let the latter roam at pleasure, for the present. His lucubrations are comparatively harmless and of one type—strictly orthodox, narrow, and respectable. The other two I shall deal with as one, for if Jupiter major will permit Jupiter minor to assume the reins now and again he must not be surprised if he has to follow where his alter ego leads him. Before following out my main purpose, I may, perhaps, be allowed to summarise the position taken up by the three brethren I have alluded to. No. 1 is sentimental, and earnest over the cause of charity. No. 2 thinks that professional concerts and banquets do not affect the good of the Masonic Institutions—are permissible pleasures; and No. 3 is of opinion, "as a general principle that it is far better to lay out money in honest labour than to encourage pauperism by enriching charities." Aye, but does No. 3 mean that our Masonic Institutions are encouraging pauperism? If so, then "charity is outrage," and he is bound to strive after a remedy; if not, then his remark has no relevance. But I forgot, I promised not to deal with this writer at present.

Once for all, let me clear the ground. I have no unkind thought towards any of whom I write; I would not willingly wound their feelings; but I am earnest in my contentions, and I believe that although plain speaking may cause temporary irritation, that it will ultimately win its way to the conviction of all who desire that truth and justice may prevail. As an artist attains effect by striking contrasts, so I humbly seek to follow his example by bringing my thoughts into relief without violating the canons of good taste, and certainly without any desire or intention of being personally offensive. I prefer to let the blow go straight from the shoulder, and if in the counter I get a facer, I must take my punishment in good temper. I want a free stage and no favour, and when the bout is over I shall hope to shake hands with my opponents as if nothing had occurred to ruffle our feelings.

My contention all through this controversy has been—not that there should be no music or banquets, but that both should be used with moderation; not that no arrangements should be made on special occasions, but that these should be effected with the aid of members and visitors, who, almost without an exception, are well able to furnish all the musical entertainment needed. I do not pretend to set up a precise standard, nor do I wish to limit personal discretion and generosity to the verge of a narrow utilitarian creed, or to the stinginess of a miser. I am content to abide by the broad and conclusive teachings inculcated by Freemasonry, and I hold very strongly that much of the money now spent in music and feasting could be much better employed. I am not bound to any particular plan of utilising the money that would be saved by moderation in selfish indulgence. If the coffers of the present Charities are full to repletion, then other means can easily be found for the use of surplus cash. But have our Charities arrived at that point when further efforts are not needed? Is their income placed on such a sure footing as to supersede the necessity of consideration when the engagement of professional artistes and the providing of luxurious banquets are contemplated? I think not, and therefore it is that I urge reflection and greater economy in the indulgence in those matters that minister to the lusts of the flesh.

Now, your contemporary speaks with two voices. One says it is right to enjoy in full the pleasures of the table; that the well-to-do Master is justified in spending of his substance in providing a professional musical entertainment on special occasions. My impression of the meaning of this voice is, that enough is being done for the Charities, and that the whole question as to music and banquets resolves itself into one of personal discretion. I have advanced reasons already against this conclusion, and shall not now repeat them. The other voice is of a very different character. Speaking of the lack of Stewards for the Annual Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, your contemporary in its last issue says, "At the approach of our winter season, our thoughts naturally revert to old friends and old age, and the feeling that any old brother Masons whom we once knew, and sat by happily and genially in Lodge, or their widows, are wanting sometimes the very necessaries of life, must dispose our hearts to relieve their distresses and succour their necessities in fraternal goodwill and true-hearted Masonic sympathy." Bro. James Terry, Secretary of the Benevolent Institution, had been lamenting the lack of Stewards, and your contemporary urges the pressing claims of the Charity upon us all. Might not professional artistes be dispensed with on a particular occasion, and could not the brethren do without some of the costly luxuries of the table, in order to help in some degree to meet these "very pressing claims?" Who or what would suffer by such self-sacrifices? We have seen who would benefit by the help thus sought.

Let us look a farther on in the same issue. Referring to the possibility of the House Committee of the Boys' School enlarging "the scope of their original ideas and proposals," with regard to the "Junior School for Boys," your contemporary says: "We deprecate a lavish expenditure on our buildings for little boys as a hardship on those remaining candidates who are in a state of the greatest misery and distress, who are often hardly able to "keep body and soul together, and who cannot be taken into the Boys' School because there is no possible room for them." If this be a true state of things, and I have no reason to doubt the faithfulness of the deplorable picture, then I say boldly that to indulge in costly music and the abnormal pleasures of the table is a monstrous sin, and must work injury to the Fraternity. It is too late to talk about care in admitting persons into the Craft. The mischief has been done, and the consequences are before us. Due care may not always have been observed in the admission of candidates, but I question very much whether the temptation to enter has arisen so much from the nature and extent of the Charities, as from the social enjoyment that was anticipated, and which anticipations the festive doings of some Lodges are calculated to foster. It might fairly be asked—Has there been such an absence of care in the admission of candidates as to warrant the conclusion that any appreciable number of those who have sought, or are now seeking relief, ought never to have been permitted to enter the Order? It would be exceedingly difficult to adduce proof of such a contention. It is really one of those assumptions that passes current and is accepted without thought. My experience leads me to conclude that the want of care in the admission of candidates applies more to their mental and moral unfitness than to their social position. Men too often enter Freemasonry without duly appreciating its spiritual character; indeed, the inner life, the glory and strength of the Craft, is rarely thought of, and I do not think I am uncharitable when I say that social enjoyment, and not the cultivation of the mental and moral faculties, is the leading motive in the minds of most of the brethren. If I am right, then it is time to define what true Masonry is, and in this labour I confidently claim that voice in your contemporary which has proclaimed the pitiable condition of many now looking for that help which shall rescue them from starvation, and which only a few days ago made known the fact that the Craft "seeks to set before the world at large at all times, and in all places, reverence for God and love for man."

Digitized by Google

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

I.P.M.

REBUILDING.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I was much interested some weeks back by your elaborate description of the Old Freemasons' Hall, and am somewhat surprised that amongst your many able correspondents no one seems to have thought it worth while making an effort to prevent the "wiping out" of a structure so unique in itself, and so replete with Masonic reminiscences. Is it not possible to re-construct the Temple on the present lines, and yet give increased accommodation for the members of G. Lodge? I think it is; what has become of the galleries, "capable of containing 300 spectators exclusive of the band of music?" Could they not be restored and be made available on extraordinary occasions? According to the report of the Special Building Committee the present hall would hold about 750 persons; surely that should be amply sufficient for the purposes of legislation, not to mention the increased accommodation to be derived from the galleries. I am no advocate for the "patching up" policy so strongly urged by some of the Provincial Grand Lodges, nor can I support the unnecessary and very costly alterations suggested by the Special Building Committee, but, having given the subject my serious consideration, I am firmly convinced that the best course is, to rebuild the Temple on the old lines or nearly so, making use of all available space for seating accommodation, give increased facilities for entrance and exit, do away with all adjoining flues, and render the building as nearly as possible fireproof.

Yours fraternally,

E. P. W., P.M.

THE PRESTONIAN LECTURES.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I read in the Freemasons' Calendar and Pocket Book, published "under the sanction of the United Grand Lodge of England, and by command of the M.W. Grand Master," under the head of "Remarkable Occurrences in Freemasonry," that in 1819 Brother William Preston, of the Lodge of Antiquity, author of the "Illustrations of Masonry," bequeathed, amongst other Masonic gifts, £500 Consols to the Fund of Benevolence, and £300 Consols for the Prestonian Lecture. Now, Sir, I believe it is about twenty years since the Prestonian Lecture was delivered; the last time by Bro. Henry G. Warren. Can any of your readers inform me what, if anything, is done with the principal or interest on the £300 Consols, which must have been accruing for so long a period? It would also be worth while to know what has become of the MSS. of the lecture or lectures as they were given in the three Craft degrees. For many years these lectures were delivered annually, but for a long period they appear to have been altogether forgotten. I have listened to them with great pleasure, and I have no doubt many of our younger brethren would do the same if they had the opportunity of doing so.

I am, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours fraternally,

26th November 1883. P.M.

THE PERCY LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In a late number of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE, I noticed that some doubts were expressed as to whether the late Bro. Stephen Barton Wilson was a member of the Percy Lodge of Instruction. Now I can unhesitatingly answer the question in the affirmative, that he was not only a member, but its able and talented Preceptor and Instructor. The Lodge used to meet at the Falcon Tavern, Fetter-lane, every Saturday night, where Bro. Barton Wilson was always present, and often have I listened with greatest interest and pleasure to that information and explanation of different parts of our ritual which he was so eminently qualified to afford. As one who profited by his teaching, I have great satisfaction in now rendering my humble tribute of respect to his memory.

I remain, Dear Sir and Brother,

Yours truly and fraternally,

H. THOMPSON 1426, and P.M. 177 and 1158.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

STOUR VALLEY LODGE, No. 1224.

THE fifteenth anniversary and installation meeting of this Lodge, which now numbers sixty-three members on its books, was held at the Lodge room, Masonic Hall, Sudbury, on Friday, the 16th ult. Present—Bros. Ardley W.M., Jennings S.W., Grimwood J.W., Rev. Wilkinson Chaplain, Hill P.P.G.J.W. Suffolk Treasurer, Wheeler P.P.G. Reg. Suffolk P.M. Secretary, Alston S.D., B. H. Hirst Organist, Platt I.G., J. George Steward, W. H. Smith I.P.M., Emmerson P.M., Rev. C. J. Martyn D.P.G.M. Suffolk, Brothers Joslin, Wells, Reid, Revolta, Murrells, Lilley, Fenn, Havard-Jones, Whittle, Row, Kilpack, Mauldon, Aprile, Sewell, Mason, Wells, Joslin, Walford, and Sholl. Visiting Brothers—George J. Paine W.M. 1008, J. G. Oliver I.P.M. 1008, A. E. Smith W.M. 1983, R. Titlow 1983, J. Oakley Green 388, P. N. Canova 1983, J. G. Mills I.P.M. 697 P.G.P. Essex, E. W. Moore 388, A. Norman 697, W. J. Browne 1983, H. Cullum 1663, J. M. Canova P.G.S.W. Suffolk P.M. 1983, F. Grimwood I.G. 114, George Thompson P.M. 1008. The Lodge was opened in the three degrees, and Bros. Wells and Sewell were raised to the sublime degree of M.M., the ceremony being performed by the W.M. The Installing Master the Rev. C. J. Martyn D.P.G.M. took the chair, and after explaining the second portion of the traditional history and working tools to the newly made M.M.'s, Bro. Jennings S.W. was presented by the W.M. as Wor. Master elect. He having taken the customary obligation, a Board of Installed Masters was formed, and Bro. Jennings was duly installed into the chair of K.S., the ceremony being most ably rendered by the D.P.G.M. The W.M. then appointed his Officers as follow:—Bros. Grimwood S.W., Alston J.W., Pratt S.D., Tilley J.D., Mason I.G., Hills Treas., Wheeler Sec., Rev. J. F. Wilkinson Chap., Hurst Organist, George Steward, Maceldon M.C., Sholl Tyler. Bro. Wm. Inglis Mason, M.D., I.G., who had recently presented to the Lodge a very beautiful organ, in a handsome rosewood case, with gilt pipes, which had rendered goodly service during the recent ceremony, and whose rich tones had been much appreciated, was then presented, by Bro. Martyn, with a beautifully illuminated vote of thanks on vellum, signed by the Officers and members of the Lodge, and framed in a rich gilt frame, with Masonic emblems. Bro. Martyn, in making the presentation, said the heartfelt thanks and gratitude of the Lodge were due to Brother Mason for the handsome and most useful present of the beautiful organ which he had so kindly and generously given to the Lodge. After this very gratifying ceremony, the newly-installed W.M. presented to the Lodge a beautifully painted banner on silk. The D.P.G.M. then proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Bro. Colonel Shadwell Clerke G.S. and Capt. Phillips P.G.D., for the kind support and assistance they rendered in securing the election to the Boys' School of the son of the late esteemed Bro. Orlando Steed. This was seconded by the W.M., and carried unanimously. The Charity Column having been passed round, it produced £1 5s 6d. The Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned, to the number of about forty, to the Rose and Crown Hotel, and partook of a most sumptuous banquet provided by the host, Bro. George, the W.M. occupying the chair, supported by the Installing Master, Rev. C. J. Martyn, Thompson P.M. 1008, &c. Conspicuous among the Visitors were several members of the Martyn Lodge, 1983, Southwold. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly given and honoured; some excellent songs were sung, accompanied on the piano by the Organist Bro. Hurst. Some good recitations were also contributed. After spending a most enjoyable evening the brethren separated, at 11 o'clock.

CASTLE LODGE, No. 1621.

A REGULAR meeting of the members of this Lodge was held at the Crown Hotel, Bridgnorth, on Friday, 23rd November 1883. Present—Bros. T. Whitefoot jun. W.M., W. L. Southwell S.W., J. H. Cooksey J.W., H. E. Roberts Secretary, T. F. Nock S.D., W. Wescott J.D., Rev. R. T. H. Lucas Chaplain, J. Sewell Organist, H. J. Skelding and A. Bethell Stewards, G. Westcott I.G., W. Simms P.M., T. Pratt P.M., E. J. Chittey P.M. P.P.A.G.D.C., A. Pitt, A. S. Trevor, Thomas Whitefoot, J. Galley Secretary 823, and H. Goodall Tyler. The Lodge having been opened, and the minutes of last regular Lodge and Lodge of Emergency, held 26th October, confirmed, Bro. Dr. Lucas was duly proved in proficiency previous to being passed to the degree of F.C., and he withdrew. Lodge was advanced, and the ceremony of passing Bro. Dr. Lucas was performed and Lodge reduced. Mr. Thomas Bromwich, of Bridgnorth, photographer, who had previously been unanimously elected by ballot, was then admitted and initiated. The W.M. then proposed that Bro. P.M. Joseph Stokes P.P.G.R. be elected an honorary member of the Lodge, as a mark of the esteem of the brethren, and in recognition of the essential services rendered by him as the Founder of the Lodge and its first Master. In doing so he commented upon the great services rendered to Freemasonry in the district by Bro. Stokes, but especially to the Castle Lodge, and he was sure the brethren felt gratitude beyond expression to Bro. Stokes for having not only been mainly instrumental in founding the Lodge, but in carefully nursing it during its tender years and developing it into a well grounded Institution. Although Bro. Stokes had resided at Dudley, between which and Bridgnorth the railway communication was very difficult, often necessitating a long drive in cold weather, he was regular in his attendance, and had acted as Installing Master until this year. It was a heavy cloud which seemed to overshadow the brethren when they thought on the cause of his absence, and although the health of Bro. Stokes had failed so much that he could not now be expected to attend the duties of the Castle Lodge, the hearty desire of the brethren was that he might be spared as a blessing to his family and friends. The motion was very ably supported by P.M.'s Chittey, Pratt and Simms, and carried unanimously, after which Lodge was closed and the brethren adjourned for refreshment.

Digitized by Google

CRUSADERS LODGE, No. 1677.

A REGULAR meeting of the above Lodge took place on Wednesday, 21st November, at the Imperial Hotel, Holborn Viaduct, under the presidency of Bro. F. Rothschild P.M. acting W.M. The business before the Lodge consisted of a passing and a raising, both ceremonies being rendered in a most masterly and impressive manner by Brother Rothschild. A large muster of the members of the Lodge were present, who with the visitors adjourned to a banquet, excellently and expeditiously served by Bro. Begbie. The W.M. was brief with the toasts, enabling a long musical evening to be spent. Bro. Collings, Organist 1693, kindly officiated at the piano, and gave two selections, which were much applauded. Songs were given by Bros. Hopper, Casely, Woodman, Cummings and others. The following visitors were present—Bros. W. Rest W.M. 1288, E. Woodman J.W. 1950, and J. A. Collings Organist 1693.

HONOR OAK LODGE, No. 1986.

THIS Lodge held a regular meeting on Wednesday, the 14th ult., at the Moore Park Hotel, Honor Oak. The W.M., Bro. Walter Hopekirk P.M. was supported by the following officers and members: Bros. Darch P.M. acting I.P.M., John Hammond P.P.G.D. Middx., S.W., Phillips J.W., Bye sen. Treas., Williams Sec., Hartley J.D. acting S.D., Knight W.S. acting J.D., Hooper I.G., Johnston Org., Aldwinckle Assist. Sec.; Bros. Crofts jun., France, Morday, Cox, Simons, Wootton, Hakim P.M., Longhurst. Visitors—Bros. Cranch W.M. 1669, Williams P.M. 104, Coe P.M. 1339, Harper P.M. 1616, Gunner M.M. 720, Baldwin J.W. 1949, Richardson S.D. 183, Francis 1658, Tear 72, Tucker 1273, J. H. W. Tear Org. 72. Lodge was opened, and the minutes of the two previous meetings were read and confirmed. Bro. C. Longhurst, a candidate for passing, was questioned, and having proved his proficiency satisfactorily, was entrusted and passed. On the agenda was given the name of a brother who was to have been raised; he had, however, been suddenly called away from town, the work of the evening was consequently somewhat curtailed. Several letters of apology for non-attendance having been read, and a proposal for initiation given in, hearty good wishes were expressed, and the Lodge was closed. After dinner (on the cloth being removed) the W.M. proceeded to give the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts. That of the Visitors was received by the brethren of the Lodge with enthusiasm. All expressed their thanks for the hospitality and kindness of the Lodge, and admiration at the working of the officers. Bro. Williams said that he had never entered a Lodge room more perfect in its appointments, and where the embellishments were in more perfect taste. Bro. J. Hammond, in responding for the Masonic Charities, referred to the support already given by the members of this Lodge on the occasion of the W.M. going up as Steward at the last Festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. This was especially creditable, as but a few months had passed since the consecration of the Lodge. He (Bro. Hammond) hoped to represent the Lodge as a Steward at the next Festival for the "Old Folks;" he trusted to be as well supported by the brethren as the W.M. had been in his year of office. The other toasts comprised the acting I.P.M., the Treasurer and Secretary, and the Officers. The Tyler's toast brought a pleasant meeting to a close. During the evening some beautiful music was excellently rendered by the following brethren:—Bros. Cranch, Cropp, Johnston, Simons, G. I. Tear and J. H. W. Tear. Bro. J. H. W. Tear most efficiently acted as accompanyist.

Justice Lodge of Instruction, No. 147.—On Thursday, 29th ult., at the Brown Bear, High-street, Deptford. Bros. J. W. Freeman W.M., Good S.W., J. Bedford Williams J.W., S. R. Speight P.M. Secretary, Penrose S.D., Ingram P.M. I.G., Hutchings P.M. Preceptor, and several other brethren. The work comprised the rehearsal of the ceremony of initiation, Bro. Penrose personating the candidate. Lodge was then advanced to the third degree, and closed to the first. After other business had been disposed of, Lodge was closed in due form.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—On Friday, 23rd ultimo, at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge. Bros. James Terry P.P.G.S.W. Norths and Hurts, &c. W.M., C. Andrews P.M. S.W., B. Blasby P.M. J.W., Tucker W.M. 1612 Treasurer, C. E. Botley Secretary, Hodges 199 S.D., Hirsch J.D., Sperring I.G., Gunner W.M. 780 I.P.M., and about forty other brethren, including twenty visitors. Lodge having been opened in the usual manner, and the minutes of the previous meeting read, confirmed, and signed, was advanced to the second and third degree, Bro. Terry then proceeded with the rehearsal of the ceremony of consecrating a Lodge, in his usual impressive manner, which was much aided by the musical arrangements of the Organist. The Installation ceremony was next proceeded with, and the brethren below the chair having retired, a Board of Installed Masters was formed. The brethren were then re-admitted in order. Bro. Gunner, who had been placed in the chair, appointed his Officers. The following brethren were elected members:—Bros. H. Howard Hodges 1996 P.P.G.S.W. Berks and Bucks, A. H. Strong 1585, W. H. Causton S.W. 1726, J. E. Terry 1764, J. Edwards 1662, H. S. Benison 1702, F. J. Tyler 59. Lodge was then closed and adjourned until the 30th November, when Bro. F. Botley will occupy the chair.

Hyde Park Lodge of Instruction, No. 1425.—A meeting was held on Monday evening last, the 26th ult., at the Fountain Abbey Hotel, 111 Praed-street, Paddington, W., when were present Bros. W. A. Vincent W.M 1139 W.M., J. Lawrence S.W., W. H. Chalfont W.M. 1425 J.W., H. Dehane P.M. 1543 S.D., J. J. Humfries J.D., W. Middlewick I.G., C. S. Mote Steward; Past Masters James Stevens 720, 1216, 1426; M. S. Spiegel 188, and S. Smout 1642; also Bros. E. F. Ferris, W. Percy, R. Cullen, A. Hardy, F. Chandler, J. C. Rhind, C. Horton, W. J. Mason, G. Dickenson, J. J. Thomas, J. Reid, W. Mathews, J. Murch, H. Robinson, C. J. Morse, G. Simpson; and Visitor, Bro. S. Barnett S.W. 185. The Lodge was opened in due form and with solemn prayer, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The Lodge was called off, and the brethren were instructed by Bro. Stevens in entry drill. The Lodge was called on and opened in the second degree. The ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Hardy as candidate. The lecture on the second tracing board, preceded by the delivery of the second section, was given by Bro. Stevens. The Lodge was opened in the third degree, and then closed in due course to the first. Bro. Barnett was elected a member. Bro. Lawrence was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. A cordial vote of thanks was given to Bro. Stevens for his services during the evening; and it was announced that, at the meeting on Monday next, that brother would give, for the first time, and in this Lodge, a lecture explanatory of the ceremonial of the second degree. The report of the Auditors of this prosperous Lodge of Instruction was read and received, and thanks voted to the Auditors for their services. After a full business evening, which gave great satisfaction to all present, the Lodge was closed in perfect harmony, and the meeting adjourned to the 3rd December.

United Military Lodge of Instruction, No. 1449.—A meeting was held on Monday, 26th ult., at the Masonic Temple, Canterbury. Bros. Webb W.M., Geddes S.W., Abbs J.W., Blamires Treasurer, Develin S.D., Beardsley (Sec.) J.D., Carter M.C., Clements (E.A.) Steward, Caddington I.G., Ewell Tyler, and Tomblings. Lodge was opened in the first degree. The minutes of last Lodge of Instruction were read and confirmed. The tools of an E.A. were explained by Bro. Webb, and repeated by several brethren. The charge of this degree was given to Brother Caddington by Brother Blamires. The Lodge was called off, and again brought on for Masonic work. The questions leading from first to second degree were put to the brethren present. Nothing further having been offered for the benefit of Freemasonry in general or this Lodge of Instruction in particular, the same was closed in ancient form.

New Finsbury Park Lodge of Instruction, No. 1695.—At Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, on Tuesday, 27th ult. Bros. Bolt W.M., Scott S.W., Oldis J.W., Berry Secretary, Follett as Preceptor, Fetch S.D., Moon J.D., Stead I.G., and Bros. Kingston, Richards, Eldridge, Gribble, Smethurst, Amoy, Hildreth, Hall, and Morris. The Lodge was opened, and the minutes of last meeting having been confirmed, the chair was taken by Bro. Berry, and the ceremonies of initiation and raising were rehearsed. The chair was then resumed by Bro. Bolt, and Bro. Scott was elected to fill the office of W.M. at the next meeting, after which the Lodge was closed, and the meeting adjourned to Tuesday evening next at eight o'clock.

We must again crave indulgence from our friends. Several Lodge reports are unavoidably held over.

VOTES AND INTEREST ARE SOLICITED FOR

MRS. JANE TRIBE, aged 63,

WIDOW of Brother George Henry Tribe, who was initiated 1858 in No. 604, Lyttelton, New Zealand; joined No. 669, Christchurch, New Zealand; was first Worshipful Master of No. 1241, Ross, New Zealand; subsequently District Grand Chaplain Westland; and District Grand Treasurer North Island, New Zealand.

Votes thankfully received by

Mr. C. BUCKINGHAM, 415 Strand; or by
Bro. C. J. PERCEVAL (V.P.), 8 Thurloe Place, S.W.

The Revised Book of Constitutions: Critically Considered, and Compared with the Old Edition. London: Simpkin, Marshall & Co., 4 Stationers' Hall Court, E.C. Sent on receipt of stamps, One Shilling, by W. W. Morgan, Freemason's Chronicle Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.—(Advt).

BRO. R. HIRST engages to provide, at short notice, an efficient Band for Annual Banquets, Dinners, Excursions and Quadrille Parties. For terms apply to "R. Hirst, The Three Crowns, 237 Mile End Road, E."

Digitized by Google

THE IMPERIAL HOTEL,

HOLBORN VIADUCT, LONDON,

Adjoining the Terminus of the London Chatham and Dover Railway, but distinct from the Viaduct Hotel.

THE BEST FURNISHED AND MOST COMFORTABLE HOTEL IN LONDON.
HOT & COLD WATER LAID ON IN ALL BED ROOMS.
The appointments throughout so arranged as to ensure domestic comfort.

EVERY ACCOMMODATION FOR MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS,
Public Dinners & Wedding Breakfasts.

The Crusaders Lodge, No. 1677, and Perseverance Lodge, No. 1743, hold their meetings at this establishment.

GOOD COOKING. FINE WINES. MODERATE CHARGES.
The Edison Electric Light.
TARIFF on APPLICATION to Bro. A. BEGBIE.

HOLLY BUSH TAVERN, HAMPSTEAD,

(Close to the Fire Station).

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; BALLS and ASSEMBLIES; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c. Rail and Bus within easy distance.

The members of the St. John's Lodge, No. 167, have held their meetings at this establishment for many years.

Full particulars and Tariff on application to
C. M. FROUD, Proprietor.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL SPECIAL BUILDING FUND.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

In connection with such Special Fund, attainable until 31st December 1883.

ny present Life Governor of the General Fund, or any Donor who ay qualify as such up to the date named above, will receive—

TWO VOTES,—instead of One Vote, for LIFE, for every FIVE GUINEAS contributed to the "Special Fund."

Lodges, Chapters, &c., similarly qualified may secure Two Votes instead of One Vote—for every Ten Guineas contributed to the "Special Fund."

 Ladies, and "Lewises"—being minors—similarly qualified, and all Vice-Presidents, will receive FOUR Votes for every Five Guineas so contributed.

Contributors of less than Five Guineas, to the "Special Fund," will be entitled to Votes as under ordinary conditions.

Now Ready, Crown 8vo, 96 pp,

Price One Shilling,

Free by Post on receipt of 24 Halfpenny Stamps,

OCCASIONAL PAPERS
ON
THE HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.

Written expressly for delivery in Lodges of Instruction.

London: W. W. MORGAN,
Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N.
AND BY ORDER OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

Secretaries of Lodges of Instruction can be supplied carriage free, at 10/- per dozen.

PAUL & BURROWS,

MANUFACTURERS OF
SODA WATER AND SELTZER WATER,
LEMONADE AND GINGER BEER,
GINGER ALE AND POTASH WATER,
&c. &c.
FIRST CLASS QUALITY ONLY
WILSON and ENDELL STREETS, LONG ACRE, LONDON, W.C.
ESTABLISHED EIGHTY YEARS.

Brother C. G. SPARROW,

ACCOUNTANT AND AUDITOR,
17 FINSBURY PAVEMENT, E.C.

Accounts audited periodically at a moderate annual charge
Terms on application.

Twelfth Edition, post free, One Shilling.

DR. WATTS on ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS. A Treatise on the only successful Method of Curing these Diseases. By Robert G. Watts, M.D., F.R.S.L., F.C.S., &c., 5 Bulstrode-street, Cavendish-sq., London.
London: C. Mitchell and Co., Red Lion-court, Fleet-street; and Simpkin and Co., Stationers' Hall-court

GRAND LODGE OF MARK MASTER MASONS
OF
ENGLAND AND WALES
AND THE
COLONIES AND DEPENDENCIES OF THE BRITISH CROWN.

THE RIGHT HON. LORD HENNIKER,
MOST WORSHIPFUL GRAND MASTER.

THE RIGHT HON. THE EARL OF KINTORE,
RIGHT WORSHIPFUL DEPUTY GRAND MASTER.

THE WINTER HALF-YEARLY COMMUNICATION OF THIS Grand Lodge will be held in the Large Hall, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, Lincoln's Inn Fields, on Tuesday, the 4th December 1883, when and where all Grand Officers (Past and Present), W. Masters, Past Masters, Wardens, and Overseers of private Lodges, are hereby summoned to attend, and at which, by permission, all regularly registered Mark Master Masons may be present.

Grand Lodge will be opened at Five o'clock p.m.

A MEETING OF EMERGENCY
WILL BE HELD
On SATURDAY, 8th DECEMBER 1883,
At 3 o'clock in the afternoon precisely,
AT
FREEMASONS' TAVERN, GREAT QUEEN STREET, LONDON,

By Special Dispensation from the M.W. Grand Mark Master Mason:—
TO CONFER ON
H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES,

Who has signified his intention to be present,
THE RANK OF
MOST WORSHIPFUL PAST GRAND MASTER.

Morning Dress.

By command of the M.W. Grand Master,
FREDERICK BINCKES (P.G.J.W.)
Grand Secretary.

Office:—8a Red Lion Square, London, W.C.
26th November 1883.

N.B.—After the Meeting of Emergency a Banquet will be provided at
THE HOLBORN RESTAURANT, VENETIAN ROOM,
at Half-past Four o'clock. Tickets 17s/6d each, inclusive of wine. Seats will be reserved for those only who apply, with requisition duly signed, to the Grand Secretary, not later than Thursday, 6th December.

THE BOLTON HOTEL,

DUKE ROAD, CHISWICK,

A few Minutes from three Railway Stations—the Chiswick and Hammersmith on the North London; the Chiswick, on the South Western; and the Metropolitan, Turnham Green.

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c.

The Chiswick Lodge holds its Meetings here. "The 'Bolton' is a cosy and very pleasant home."—Vide Masonic Press.

Tariff and particulars promptly supplied.

THOMAS WRIGHT, Proprietor.

TESTIMONIAL TO BRO. W. J. HUGHAN, P.G.D.

President:

THE RIGHT HON. THE EARL OF ZETLAND,
Provincial Grand Master of North and East Yorkshire.

Committee:

Right Hon. the Earl Ferrers P.G.M. Leicestershire and Rutland.
J. Derby Allcroft Grand Treasurer.
Horace Brooks Marshall, C.C.
J. P. Bell Past Grand Deacon, D.P.G.M. North and East Yorkshire.
T. W. Tew Grand Senior Deacon, D.P.G.M. West Yorkshire.
Hon. W. T. Orde-Powlett P.P.G.W. North and East Yorkshire.
Sir J. Meek P.P.G.W. North and East Yorkshire.
Magnus Oliver P.G.A.D.C.
W. Kelly, F.S.A., P.P.G.M. Leicestershire and Rutland.
D. Murray Lyon Grand Secretary Scotland.
George Kenning P.P.G.D. Middlesex.
Thomas Fenn P.G.D.
Rev. T. Robinson Past Grand Chaplain.
G. Toller jun. P.G.S.B., D.P.G.M. Leicestershire.
Dr. H. Hopkins P.M. H. 19, P.P.G.S.W. Warwickshire.
T. J. Rolling Prov. Grand Secretary Essex.
E. L. Hawkins Prov. Grand Senior Warden Oxon.
M. C. Peck Prov. Grand Secretary North and East Yorkshire.
J. H. Nelson P.M. 624 I.C., P.G.S.W. and Representative G.L. Egypt.
J. W. Woodall P.P.G.S.W. Prov. G.M.M.M. North and East Yorkshire.
J. Le Cheminant D.P.G.M. Jersey.
Rev. C. J. Martyn P.G.C., D.P.G.M. Suffolk.
G. L. McKay P.P.G.S.W. and Prov. G. Sec. Cumberland and Westmoreland.
Robert Case Prov. Grand Secretary Durham.
George Taylor Prov. Grand Secretary Worcestershire.
J. Smith Eastes D.P.G.M. Kent.
G. P. Brockbank P.P.G.D. East Lancashire, Grand Steward Scotland.
F. Binckes Past Grand Steward, Secretary R.M.I.B.
T. Y. Strachan D.P.G.M.M.M. Northumberland and Durham.
Rev. W. C. Lukis P.P.G. Chaplain West Yorkshire.
R. Hudson Prov. Grand Secretary Durham.
J. Brook Smith D.P.G.M. Gloucester.
W. G. Rogers D.P.G.M. Devon.
C. Tyndilow Bye P.P.G.W. Staffordshire.
R. S. Brown P.M., &c., Edinburgh.
James Newton P. Prov. S.G.D. East Lancs.
J. H. Sillifant P.P.G.D.C. and P.G.J. East Lancs.

Subscriptions may be forwarded to George Kenning, Treasurer pro tem, Little Britain, London, E.C.

Digitized by Google

RANDOM NOTES AND REFLECTIONS.

ROYALTY and Freemasonry have become so linked together in this country that we feel no surprise at any fresh interest that may be taken by the sons of the Queen, especially by the Heir Apparent, in matters connected with the Fraternity. As the M.W. Grand Master of Masons in England, the Prince of Wales has earned the gratitude and secured the respect and admiration of the whole Craft. He has done more than any other man living to forward the Order; under his auspices Freemasonry has grown and flourished as it never did before. The Charities promoted by the body are unequalled in the world; and although the wants of the poor brethren have not yet been altogether compassed, sufficient has been and is being done to show a vast amount of good work accomplished and noble and glorious ends attained. There is evidence, too, of the growth of an inquiring spirit, of the desire to know more of the inward character of the Craft, to sound the depths of history, in order to prove, not only the antiquity of the Institution, but also its universality. We should be glad to see this feeling still more developed, so that the ethics of Freemasonry shall be regarded as a duty as well as a pride and a privilege.

—:o:—

Although Mark Masonry has not received official sanction in the same sense that the Royal Arch Chapter has, the fact of so many brethren of "light and leading" joining the Mark degree is proof enough that it is regarded by them as an adjunct to Craft Masonry, and well worthy of their recognition. It is not so very long since that H.R.H. Bro. the Duke of Albany had conferred upon him the rank of Past Grand Mark Master Mason, and only about a month ago he had the great and distinguished pleasure of performing the ceremony of advancing H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, at a special meeting of Mark Grand Lodge held for the purpose. Now the announcement is made that on Saturday next our M.W.G.M. (Craft) will be invested with the rank of Most Worshipful Past Grand Mark Master, with seniority next in order to the Grand Master, Bro. Lord Henniker. A Grand Lodge meeting is called for that day, at the Freemasons' Hall, when Bro. the Prince of Wales will be present to receive the honour, for which a special dispensation has been granted. The gathering will be a memorable one, and is looked forward to with intense interest. The event will mark an epoch in the annals of Mark Masonry, the effect of which cannot at present be realised, although it must tend to the advantage of this branch of the Masonic family. If the Mark degree did not possess inherent qualities of excellence those noble members of the Craft who now belong to it would never have lent it their countenance; but now that it has received the recognition of the most notable Freemason in the world, it must be admitted that the Mark degree will henceforth be regarded as a part of that Trinity in unity, independent of itself, yet forming a section of a complete whole. Saturday will be a proud day for Mark Masons, for then will be performed an act that shall crown the labours of years. The brethren of this degree have worked their way in a quiet, unostentatious manner, and it may truly be said of them that they have used no fictitious arts to secure adherents, but that the intrinsic merits of the Order alone have drawn men unto them. We cannot but hope and expect that good will result from the proceedings of next Saturday.

—:o:—

Bro. Sadler's letter in last week's issue has given us great satisfaction. His efforts to secure substitutes for the destroyed portraits of eminent brethren that once adorned the ruined Temple have met with almost complete success. The portrait of the Duke of Athol is still wanting, and if the Craft cannot furnish a copy, it will become a question whether the family of the noble duke should not be appealed to. They might have something that would satisfy Grand Lodge; at any rate, they doubtless possess some memorial of their distinguished ancestor, and might assist in getting a copy made. This question of copying will form an important matter for consideration, especially if the subject of a portrait gallery, museum, and library is taken up in a spirit worthy of the Craft. We are glad to find that such a movement has the sanction and the promise of support of such good Masons as Bro. Woodford and Bro. Lambert. Already something has been done, an earnest has been offered, and if the brethren at large only rise to the occasion, we shall ere long have an artistic, antiquarian, and intellectual side of Freemasonry worthy of the members of the present day, and, which shall, in however small a degree, recognise the esoteric genius of the Order. We shall be glad to aid any movement tending to such an end to the utmost of our power. We are justly proud of our Charities, the Craft stands in the foremost rank in making provision for their poor, and we desire to have a home worthy of our position, furnished in a manner that shall gratify the eye, minister to the taste and to antiquarian proclivities, and stimulate and satisfy the highest intellectual cravings.

—:o:—

We are afraid we cannot add much, if anything, more to the information already furnished relative to the portrait of Brother the Earl of Zetland mentioned in a former issue. The facts we have mentioned were taken from the Freemasons' Magazine and Masonic Mirror of April 1857. The paragraph is as follows:

Portrait of the Grand Master.—A beautiful half length portrait of the Right Honourable the Earl of Zetland, M.W.G.M., drawn and engraved by Bro. H. C. Shenton P.M. No. 40, has just been published. It is admirably executed in the most finished style of line engraving, is an excellent likeness, and reflects the greatest credit on our worthy Bro. Shenton. A limited number of proofs on India paper will be issued, and doubtless there will be a ready demand for them by the brethren. The portrait is enclosed in an appropriate Masonic border.

Doubtless Bro Sadler will know how to take up the clue, if he deems further search necessary.

—:o:—

In the same Magazine for April 1856, under the heading "Fine Arts," are two other references to portraits. The first paragraph alludes to a visit to the studio of Bro. Howell, a member of several Lodges, and who, as far as we can gather, resided at Richmond, Surrey. He had painted life-size portraits of the R.W. Prov. Grand Master the Earl of Mexborough, and his Deputy, Bro. Chas. Lee, and they are described as being eminently successful. It is stated that as many brethren had expressed a desire to have copies of the portraits, arrangements had been made to have them engraved in mezzo-tinto, the issue to be limited to the number of copies actually subscribed for, after supplying which the plates were to be destroyed.

—:o:—

The second reference is more important, and offers up a rather extensive field of research. We give the paragraph just as it stands. It runs thus:

Portrait of the late M.W.G.M. His Royal Highness the Duke of Sussex.—A most splendid picture by Lonsdale is in the possession of a family, the head of which was a Freemason, and celebrated for his conversance with the artists and famous productions of the last generation. The survivors wish to dispose of this magnificent painting to some Lodge, and we have great pleasure in making their wishes known to the Craft, some of whom will we trust, confer the double benefit of serving a Brother's children, and preserving so fine a memorial of our late Grand Master by purchasing it for the Fraternity.

Where is this painting now? Can its career be traced, and would it be desirable, if possible, to obtain it?

—:o:—

In looking over some old advertisements we observed one that awakened memories of a very mixed character. The announcement we refer to stated that the members of the Stability Lodge of Instruction would hold their anniversary at Radley's Hotel, Blackfriars, on the 25th April 1856, when the Lodge would be opened by Bro. Muggeridge W.M., and the banquet presided over by Bro. John Havers P.S.G.D. What changes have taken place since then. Bro. Muggeridge is little heard of, and only a short time since one who aided him when engaged in active Masonic work, Bro. Hubbuck, paid the debt of nature. Bro. Havers is still among us, somewhat the worse for wear and ill-health, but now we trust strong enough to occasionally attend Grand Lodge. His great knowledge and wide experience are valuable, and we should hail his return to strength and renewed interest in the Craft with pleasure. Few men, if any, have a better right to be heard than Bro. Havers, and if his health will permit, and his disposition to work for the Craft is equal to his capacity, the brethren generally will have good reason to welcome his return among them.

Digitized by Google

—:o:—

A circular, signed by Bro. Frank Richardson P.G.D. and others, has been issued, setting forth sundry reasons why Bro. J. D. Allcroft should be re-elected Grand Treasurer in March next. We have no word of disparagement of Bro. Allcroft to offer, nor do we desire to "split up the Craft," a consequence pointed out by the circular if the practice is followed out of electing a new Grand Treasurer every year. We question the prudence of the action taken by Bro. Richardson and his friends of Golden Square, and it appears to us that they are actually resorting to the very means of agitation they profess to view with disgust. The post of Grand Treasurer is one of honour chiefly, and is just one of those offices that can be utilised for the purpose of recognising merit, and of conferring distinction upon any brother who has made himself conspicuous by his work. There are certain conditions, of course, that are indispensable, such as character and financial solvency. When these requirements have been complied with, it is open to Grand Lodge to appoint whom they please to be their Treasurer. We go further, and say that the right to select a new Treasurer each year has been asserted in the election of Bro. Allcroft, who succeeded one who had held the office for some years. It was not because Bro. Col. Creaton was ineligible that he was superseded by Bro. Allcroft, but that it was necessary to assert the principle that the office should be annually at the disposal of Grand Lodge, in order that they might diffuse the honour and not confine it to a comparative few. We trust the brethren will pause before they respond to Bro. Richardson's circular.

—:o:—

We regret that owing to indisposition we were unable to be present at the annual Festival of the Emulation Lodge of Improvement that took place on Friday evening, the 23rd ult., at the Freemasons' Tavern. From information received we are glad to say that the whole proceedings passed off in a very pleasant and satisfactory manner. As is usual on these occasions, some work was done, we presume upon the principle that labour should precede refreshment, and that opportunity should be taken of the presence of non-members of the Lodge to exhibit the working for which the Lodge is famous. After opening in the three degrees, the second lecture was admirably worked, and in justice to the brethren who took part we give their names in the order in which they performed their repective duties. First section—Bro. F. T. Bennett 211. Second—Bro. J. T. Tanqueray S.W. 1965. Third—Bro. A. Marvin W.M. 1768. Fourth—Bro. J. J. Black 1564 Fifth—Bro. F. F. Marshall S.D. 69. Bro. T. Fenn P.G.D. acted as W.M., and acknowledged the vote of thanks passed to the workers of the lecture. After the Lodge had been duly closed, the brethren adjourned to a capital supper, provided by Messrs. Spiers and Pond, and served under the superintendence of Bro. Dawkins. Bro. the Hon. Justice Prinsep presided at the banquet, and as he was supported by several other members distinguished in the Craft, the speeches were more than usually interesting. The attendance was large, and many brethren took the opportunity to join the Lodge. Altogether, the Festival was very successful.

His Royal Highness the Most Worshipful Grand Master has granted a warrant for a new Lodge, to be called the Queen's Westminster, No. 2021. This Lodge will derive its name from the celebrated corps the 23rd Middlesex. Bro. George Lambert Past Grand Sword Bearer is the W.M. designate; Bro. Captain Probyn S.W. designate, and Bro. Payne P.M. J.W. designate. The Consecration will take place this month.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—The infirmities of our nature almost necessitate disease. Impurity of the blood, functional disturbances and loose living constantly give rise to despondency, debility, or distempers. In the above named remedies, the community can, and do have, at a little cost, the safe and certain means of preventing or checking, and curing both outward ailments, and inward maladies. Ample, plainly printed and very intelligible directions accompany every package of both Ointment and Pills, which only require attentive study to enable every invalid to be his or her own medical adviser. The earlier these powerful remedies are employed after discovery of the disease, the more rapid will be their action in expelling from the system all noxious matter and restoring health.

QUARTERLY COMMUNICATION OF UNITED GRAND LODGE.

THE following is the business to be transacted in Grand Lodge on Wednesday, 5th December 1883 :—

1. The Minutes of the Quarterly Communication of the 5th September 1883 for confirmation.

2. The Minutes of the two Special Grand Lodges of 29th June and 8th August, deferred from the last Grand Lodge, for confirmation.

3. Nomination of a Grand Master for the ensuing year.

4. Appointment of a President of the Lodge of Benevolence.

5. Election of a Senior and a Junior Vice-President of the Lodge of Benevolence.

6. Election of twelve Past Masters to serve on the Lodge of Benevolence for the year ensuing.

7. Report of the Lodge of Benevolence for the last quarter, in which are recommendations for the following grants, viz. :—

A Brother of the Derwent Lodge, No. 40, Hastings	£50	0	0
A Brother of the Castle Lodge of Harmony, N. 26, London, £150	20	0	0
Note.—This Brother died on the 10th October, consequently this recommendation has lapsed, with the exception of £20 paid to him on account of such recommended grant.
A Brother of the Acacia Lodge, No. 1314, Bromley, Kent	50	0	0
A Brother of the Belgrave Lodge, No. 749, London	50	0	0
A Brother of the Lodge of Harmony, No. 309, Fareham	50	0	0
The Widow of a Brother of the Temple Lodge, No. 101, London	100	0	0
The Widow of a Brother of the Mizpah Lodge, No. 1671, London	50	0	0
A Brother of the Lodge of Confidence, No. 193, London	50	0	0
A Brother of the Doric Lodge, No. 933, London	150	0	0
A Brother of the Lodge Star in the East, No. 650, Harwich	75	0	0

8. REPORT OF THE BOARD OF GENERAL PURPOSES.

To the United Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of England.

The Board of General Purposes beg to report as follows :—

The Isca Lodge, No. 683, Newport, Monmouthshire, having ballotted for and admitted a Joining Member at a Lodge of Emergency, contrary to Art. I., page 83, of the Book of Constitutions, the Board have censured the Lodge for the irregularity, and have fined it the sum of One Guinea.

The Members of a London Lodge having reported that their Worshipful Master, had on the 17th October last, wilfully burned the Warrant of the Lodge, the Board investigated the matter, and the said Brother having admitted the offence, but having pleaded extenuating circumstances, the Board severely reprimanded him, and ordered that he pay the cost of a Warrant of Confirmation—viz., Two Guineas—and further that he be suspended from all his Masonic functions for a period of six months.

(Signed) JOHN B. MONCKTON, President

FREEMASONS' HALL, LONDON, W.C.
20th November 1883.

To the Report is subjoined a statement of the Grand Lodge Accounts at the last Meeting of the Finance Committee, held on Friday, the 16th day of November inst., shewing a Balance in the Bank of England of £3,643 2s 11d; and in the hands of the Grand Secretary for Petty Cash £75, and for Servants' Wages £100; and Balance of Annual Allowance for Library £18 12s.

9. Report of the Special Building Committee, the consideration of which was deferred from the last Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge.

10. Applications from a body styling itself "The Grand Lodge of Victoria," Australia, requesting their recognition by the United Grand Lodge of England as a regular Grand Lodge.

11. Appeal from the Reunion Lodge, No. 1956, Blenheim, New Zealand, against certain comments made by the Colonial Board when cancelling the exclusion of a Brother from that Lodge, relative to the conduct of another Brother, of the same Lodge, in the matter.

N.B.—The papers relating to this appeal will be in the Grand Secretary's office till the meeting of Grand Lodge, and open for the inspection of the Brethren during office hours.

12. NOTICES OF MOTION :—

(1). By Brother JAMES STEVENS P.M. No. 1216 :—

(a) "That when the general scheme for the re-construction of the present damaged Temple, or for the erection of a new Temple, shall have been decided upon by the Grand Lodge, Architects who are Freemasons shall be invited, under the direction and authority of the Grand Superintendent of Works, to submit plans and designs for the re-construction or new erection, as the case may be, to the Committee already constituted, or to be constituted, for the purpose of carrying out the intended work.

(b) "That the foregoing being agreed, prizes of money

Digitized by Google

value, to be subsequently determined, be offered for the three most approved designs."

(2). By V.W. Sir JOHN B. MONCKTON, President of Board of General Purposes :—

"That so much of the Report of the Building Committee as refers to the enlargement of the Temple, and the arrangements consequent thereon, be adopted, and that on such adoption and the confirmation thereof at the next succeeding Quarterly Communication, it be referred to a Committee of twelve to carry the same into execution, and that such Committee consist of the eight members of the recently appointed Building Committee, and four additional members, to be appointed by Grand Lodge.

(3) By Brother GEORGE EDWARD WEBSTER P.M. No. 139. To move as an amendment to the report of the Special Building Committee :—

"That the Antient Temple be re-instated out of the funds received from the Insurance Companies, and that no extensive building operations be undertaken until the expiration of the lease of Bacon's Hotel. And that no part of the premises of Grand Lodge be leased for a longer period than seven years."

(4) By Brother HENRY SMITH P.M. No. 387 :—

"That this Grand Lodge is of opinion that the leasing of any property of Grand Lodge, except for a very limited period, is, under any circumstances, highly objectionable, and may prove, as in the cases of the three leases now existing extremely inconvenient, and that the question of rent is quite a secondary consideration compared with the retention of full control of the premises and the tenants of Grand Lodge. And this Grand Lodge decides on the preservation of the Antient Temple in Great Queen Street, and that it be immediately restored, the cost to be paid out of the funds received from the Fire Insurance Offices: and further, that no extensive building operations be undertaken until the expiration of the lease on Bacon's Hotel—which will afford a favourable opportunity for the consideration of a comprehensive scheme for an additional Hall, and the re-arrangement of the premises of Grand Lodge."

(5) By V.W. Brother Lieut.-Col. JOHN CREATON, Past Grand Treasurer :—

"That the sum of £70 be given from the Fund of General Purposes; that the money be placed in the hands of the Secretary of the 'Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution of Aged Freemasons and Widows of Freemasons,' to supply the inmates of the Institution at Croydon with coals during the winter season."

(6) By Brother EDWIN T. BUDDEN, P.M. No. 622 :—

In the event of Article 80 of Revise of Book of Constitutions not being confirmed, to move that the Article shall stand as follows:—"80.—A Provincial or District Grand Lodge consists of the Provincial or District Grand Master, the Present and Past Provincial or District Grand Officers; the Provincial or District Grand Stewards for the year; the Master, Past Masters and Wardens of all Lodges in the Province or District; and Past Masters of any Lodge under the English Constitution, if Members of Grand Lodge. But no Brother can be a Member of a Provincial or District Grand Lodge unless he is a subscribing Member of a Lodge within such Province or District."

(7) By Brother JOHN E. LE FEVRE P.M. No. 130 :—

To move that in Article 119 of the Revision of Book of Constitutions the following words be added in brackets after the words "Regular Lodge," viz.:—

"This qualification is only essential in the case of a petition for a new Lodge in England."

(8) By V.W. Brother Rev. CHARLES WILLIAM ARNOLD, P.G. Chaplain :—

In the event of Article 186 of the Revision of the Book of Constitutions not being confirmed, to move that the following words, "Every such Member, if an installed Master, may, by a vote of the Lodge, have a position assigned to him amongst the Past Masters of the Lodge, provided that he has not ceased subscribing to a Lodge for twelve months," be substituted for the words, "Every such joining Member, if a Past Master, shall have the rank of a Past Master of the Lodge, ranking next after the then Junior Past Master and the Worshipful Master of such Lodge, provided that he has not ceased subscribing to a Lodge for twelve months," and that the paragraph do now stand as so amended.

(9) By W. Brother HENRY C. TOMBS, P.G.D. :—

In the event of Article 130 of the Revision of Book of Constitutions not being confirmed, to move, to omit clause added by Special Grand Lodge in June, to follow the words "antient usage," and instead thereof to insert the following:—"If in any Lodge it should become impossible to hold either or both of such meetings upon the day named in the Bye Laws for that purpose, the Grand Master, and in Provinces and Districts the Provincial and District Grand Master, may grant a dispensation for the holding of such meetings, or either of them, upon a day not more than seven days before or after that fixed by the Bye Laws, which day shall for all purposes be deemed the regular day of meeting," and that the paragraph do now stand as so amended.

(10). By R.W. Brother The Hon. Mr. JUSTICE PRINSEP D.G.M. Bengal :—

To move that in Article 190 the following words be added after the word "Fees," viz.—"in England, nor for less than three guineas, exclusive of Registration and Certificate fees, abroad."

(11). By V.W. Sir JOHN B. MONCKTON President Board General Purposes :—

To move—"That in any case where an amendment to any rule provided for in the Revise of the Book of Constitutions shall have been carried at the Special Meetings of Grand Lodge in June and August last, but shall not be confirmed at a subsequent meeting of Grand Lodge, the law shall stand as proposed in the Revised Book of Constitutions and without such amendment."

(12). By Brother EDWIN T. BUDDEN P.M. No. 622 :—

To move—"That the regulations as to Masonic Funerals contained in page 136 of the present edition Book of Constitutions (1873) stand part of the Revised Edition."

(13). By W. Brother THOMAS W. TEW S.G.D. :—

To move—That in Art. 129 of the Revise of the Book of Constitutions the following words be added at the end of the paragraph:—"Except that of Treasurer."

(14). By V.W. Brother Rev. JOHN STUDHOLME BROWNRIGG P.G.C. :

To move—To omit in Article 186, Revise of the Book of Constitutions, the words "ranking next" to end, and to insert "but junior to all who at that time shall have" or at any future time may be installed in the Chair of that Lodge."

(15). By V.W. Brother Rev. HERBERT G. MORSE G.C. :—

To move—To insert in Article 146, Revise of the Book of Constitutions, before the word "present" the words "past or."

Name of Brother nominated for Election to the Office of Senior Vice-President of the Lodge of Benevolence.

Brother JAMES BRETT P.G.P.

Names of the Brethren nominated for Election to the Office of Junior Vice-President of the Lodge of Benevolence.

Brother HENRY GARROD P.M. 749.
JAMES H. MATTHEWS P.M. 143.
CHARLES ALEXANDER COTTEBRUNE P.G.P.

Names of Twelve Past Masters nominated to serve on the Lodge of Benevolence.

Brother GEORGE POLE BRITTEN	183
THOMAS CULL	1446
CHARLES DAIRY	141
HENRY GARROD	749
GEORGE P. GILLARD	657
CHARLES F. HOGARD	205
WILLIAM MANN	186
HENRY McPHERSON	890
JOHN NOBLE	975
WILLIAM H. PERRYMAN	3
FREDERICK R. SPAULL	1768
EDWARD FRANCIS STORR	22

And none others were nominated.

List of Lodges for which Warrants have been granted by the M.W. Grand Master since the last Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge :—

No. 2016.—The Shalden Lodge, Alton, Hants.
2017.—The Duke of Portland Lodge, Nottingham.
2018.—The Nipal Lodge, Gorakhpur, Bengal.
2019.—The Crook Lodge, Crook, Durham.
2020.—The St. Botolph's Lodge, Aldersgate Street.
2021.—The Queen's Westminster Lodge, 8A Red Lion Square.
2022.—The Haven Lodge, Ealing.

The "Freemasons' Calendar and Pocket Book" for 1884 is now ready, and can be had at the Grand Secretary's Office, Freemasons' Hall, London, price 2s, bound in roan.

The regular Convocation of the North London Chapter of Improvement was held at the Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, on Thursday, 29th ult., at eight o'clock. Comps. Gregory occupied the chair of Z., R. Bird H., Sparrow J., Radcliffe S.N., Knight P.S. This Chapter is being well attended by R. A. Masons from all parts of London and its surroundings.

FUNERALS.
Bros. W. K. L. & G. A. HUTTON,
COFFIN MAKERS & UNDERTAKERS,
17 NEWCASTLE STREET, STRAND, W.C.
And at 30 FOREST HILL ROAD, PECKHAM RYE, S.E.

Digitized by Google

DIARY FOR THE WEEK.

We shall be obliged if the Secretaries of the various Lodges throughout the Kingdom will favour us with a list of their Days of Meetings, &c., as we have decided to insert only those that are verified by the Officers of the several Lodges.

—:o:—

SATURDAY, 1st DECEMBER.

General Committee Boys' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
142—St. Thomas, City Terminus Hotel, Cannon Street
198—Percy, Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N., 8. (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7. (Instruction)
1559—New Cross, New Cross Hall, New Cross
1572—Carnarvon, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street
1622—Rose, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1949—Brixton, Brixton Hall, Acre Lane, Brixton
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-street, W. at 8.
R.A. 975—Rose of Denmark, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge

1382—Royal Albert Edward, Market Hall, Rothill
1459—Truth, Private Rooms, Conservative Club, Newton Heath, Manchester
1466—Hova Ecclesia, Old Ship Hotel, Brighton
R.A. 811—Yarborough, Old Ship Hotel Brighton

MONDAY, 3rd DECEMBER.

12—Fortitude and Old Cumberland, 129 Leadenhall-street
22—Loughborough, Cambria Tavern, Cambria Road, near Loughborough Junction, at 7.30. (Instruction)
25—Robert Burns, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
45—Strong Man, Excise Tavern, Old Broad Street, E.C., at 7 (Instruction)
69—Unity, Inns of Court Hotel, Lincolns Inn Fields
72—Royal Jubilee, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
83—United Lodge of Prudence, Albion, Aldersgate-street
144—St. Luke, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
174—Sincerity, Railway Tavern, Railway Place, Fenchurch Street, at 7. (In)
180—St. James's Union, Union Tavern, Air-street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
186—Industry, Bell, Carter-lane, Doctors-commons, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
188—Joppa, Freemasons' Tavern, W.C.
256—Unions, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
548—Wellington, White Swan, High-street, Deptford, at 8 (Instruction)
1319—Asaph, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1425—Hyde Park, Fountain Abbey Hotel, Praed Street, Paddington, at 8 (In).
1489—Marquess of Ripon, Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-rd., Hackney, at 7.30 (In)
1507—Metropolitan, The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C., at 7.30 (Inst.)
1585—Royal Commemoration, Fox and Hounds, Putney, at 8. (Instruction)
1608—Kilburn, 46 South Molton Street, Oxford Street, W., at 8. (Inst.)
1623—West Smithfield, Farringdon Hotel, Farringdon-street, E.C. at 8 (Inst.)
1625—Tredegar, Royal Hotel, Mile End-road
1669—Royal Leopold, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
1693—Kingsland, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N., at 8.30 (Instruction)
1891—St. Ambrose, Baron's Court Hotel, West Kensington. (Instruction)
R.A. 91—Regularity, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 933—Doric, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 7. (Instruction)
R.A. 1056—Victoria, Masons' Hall, Mason's-avenue
M.M. 224—Menatschin, Criterion, Piccadilly

37—Anchor and Hope, Freemasons' Hall, Church Institute, Bolton-le-Moors
53—Royal Sussex, Masonic Hall, Old Orchard-street, Bath
119—Sun, Square, and Compasses, Freemasons' Hall, College-st., Whitehaven
133—Harmony, Ship Hotel, Faversham
154—Unanimity, Masonic Hall, Zetland-street, Wakefield
156—Harmony, Hnyshe Masonic Temple, Plymouth
199—Peace and Harmony, Royal Oak Hotel, Dover
236—York, Masonic Hall, York
338—Vitruvian, Royal Hotel, Ross, Herefordshire
381—Harmony and Industry, Smalley's Hotel, Market street, Over Darwen
382—Royal Union, Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge. (Instruction)
395—Guy, Crown Hotel, Leamington Priors
431—St. George, Masonic Hall, Norfolk-street, N. Shields
441—Three Grand Principles, Red Lion Hotel, Potty Curry, Cambridge
478—Churchhill, Masonic Hall, Oxford
482—St. James's, Masonic Rooms, Wretham Road, Handsworth, Staffordshire
507—St. Cybi, Town Hal, Holyhead
822—St. Cuthbergs, Masonic Hall, Wimborne
823—Everton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7.30. (Instruction)
850—St. Oswald, Town Hall, Ashbourne, Derbyshire
1009—Shakespeare, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester
1045—Stamford, Town Hall, Altrincham, Cheshire
1050—Gundulph, King's Head Hotel, Rochester
1051—Rowley, Athenæum, Lancaster
1077—Wilton, Red Lion Inn, Blackley, Lancashire
1108—Royal Wharfedale, Private Room, Boroughgate, Otley, Yorks
1124—St. Oswald, Wynnstay Arms Hotel, Oswestry
1180—Forward, Masonic Rooms, New Hall-street, Birmingham
1211—Goderich, Masonic Hall, Gt. George-street, Leeds
1239—Wentworth, Freemasons' Hall, Sheffield.
1264—Neptune, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.
1302—De Warren, Masonic Hall, White Swan Hotel, Halifax
1380—Skelmersdale, Queen's Hotel, Waterloo, Liverpool
1449—Royal Military, Masonic Hall, Canterbury, at 8. (Instruction)
1519—Albert Edward, Albion Hotel, Clayton-le-Moors, near Accrington
1573—Carnadoc, Masonic Hall, Caer-street, Swansea
1578—Merlin, New Inn Hotel, Pontypridd, South Wales
1678—St. Nicholas, Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-street, Newcastle
1798—Zion, Hulme Town Hall, Manchester
R.A. 106—Sun, Royal Beacon Hotel, Exmouth
R.A. 312—Britannia, Masonic Hall, John Street, West Cliff, Whitby
R.A. 380—Integrity, Masonic Temple, Morley
R.A. 904—Watford, Freemasons' Hall, Watford
R.A. 874—Holmesdale, Royal Sussex Hotel, Tunbridge Wells
M.M. 2—Phœnix, 110 High Street, Portsmouth
R.C.—Skelmersdale, Masonic Hall, Liverpool

TUESDAY, 4th DECEMBER.

Colonial Board, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
7—Royal York of Perseverance, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
9—Albion, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
18—Old Dundee, City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street
55—Constitutional, Belford Hotel, Southampton-bldgs., Holborn, at 7 (Inst.)
65—Prosperity, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7. (Instruction)
101—Temple, Ship and Turtle Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C.
141—Faith, Queen Anne's Restaurant, Queen Anne's Gate, St. James's Park Station, at 8. (Instruction)
166—Union, Criterion, W.
172—Old Concord, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
177—Domatic, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30 (Instruction)
188—Joppa, Champion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, at 7.30. (Instruction)
217—Stability, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney (Instruction)
753—Prince Frederick William, Eagle Tavern, Clifton Road, Maida Hill, at 8 (Instruction)
765—St. James, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark
820—Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond, at 7.30 (Instruction)
869—Dalhousie, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston at, 8 (Instruction)
1044—Wandsworth, Star and Garter Hotel, St. Ann's-hill, Wandsworth (Inst).
1257—Grosvenor, Freemasons' Hall, Gt. Queen-street, W.C.
1259—Duke of Edinburgh, Cape of Good Hope Tavern, Commercial Road
1261—Golden Rule, Café Royal, Regent-street, W
1298—Royal Standard, Club, Upper-street, Islington
1419—Friars, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1490—Royal Arthur, Rock Tavern, Battersea Park Road, at 8. (Instruction)
1581—Kennington, Horns Tavern, Kennington
1583—Friends in Council, 33 Golden-square
1597—Anerley, Thicket Hotel, Anerley
1444—Mount Edgcumbe, 19 Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8 (Instruction)
1471—Islington, Champion, Aldersgate Street, at 7, (Instruction)
1472—Henley, Three Crowns, Woolwich
1540—Chaucer, Old White Hart, Borough High Street, at 8. (Instruction)
1558—D. Connaught, Palmerston Arms, Grosvenor Park, Camberwell, at 8 (In)
1602—Sir Hugh Myddelton, Queen's Head, Essex Road, N., at 8.30 (In)
1662—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Walthamstow
1693—Kingsland, Old Cock Tavern, Highbury-corner, Islington
1695—New Finsbury Park, Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, at 8 (Inst)
1707—Eleanor, Trocadero, Broad-street-buildings, Liverpool-street, 6.30 (Inst)
1949—Brixton, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, East Brixton, at 8. (Instruction)
Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, 6.30
R.A. 169—Temperance, White Swan Tavern, Deptford
R.A. 1305—Clapton, White Hart Tavern, Clapton, at 8. (Instruction)

70—St. John, Hnyshe Masonic Temple, Plymouth
103—Beaufort, Freemasons' Hall, Bristol.
120—Palladian, Green Dragon Hotel, Hereford.
124—Marquis of Granby, Freemasons' Hall, Old Elvet, Durham
158—Adams, Masonic Rooms, Victoria Hall, Trinity-road, Sheerness
209—Etonian, Masonic Hall, Windsor
226—Benevolence, Red Lion Hotel, Littleborough.
241—Merchants, Masonic Hall, Liverpool (Instruction)
248—True Love and Unity, Freemasons' Hall, Brixham, Devon
265—Royal Yorkshire, Masonic Club, Hanover-street, Keighley
315—Royal York, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
364—Cambrian, Masonic Hall, Neath.
393—St. David, Masons' Hall, The Parade, Berwick
493—Royal Lebanon, Spread Eagle, Gloucester
558—Temple, Town Hall, Folkestone.
673—St. John, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.
685—Northumberland, Assembly Rooms, Westgate-road, Newcastl
702—Sherborne, Subscription Rooms, Stroud, Gloucestershire
734—Londesborough, Masonic Hall, Bridlington Quay.
794—Warden, Royal Hotel, Sutton Coldfield
804—Carnarvon, Masonic Hall, Havant.
847—Fortescue, Manor House, Honiton, Devon.
948—St. Barnabas, Masonic Room, Linslade, Leighton Buzzard
960—Bute, Masonic Hall, 9 Working-street, Cardiff.
965—Furness, Masonic Hall, Ulverston.
1002—Skiddaw, Lodge Room, Market-place, Cockermouth.
1134—Newall, Freemasons' Hall, Salford.
1244—Marwood, Freemasons' Hall, Redcar.
1322—Waverley, Caledonia Inn, Ashton-under-Lyne.
1336—Square and Compass, Corn Exchange, Wrexham.
1473—Bootle, 146 Berry-street, Bootle, at 6. (Instruction.)
1488—St. Eleth, Castle Hotel, Amlwch, Anglesea
1674—Caradoc, Masonic Hall, Bank Buildings, Sussex Street, Rhyl
1750—Coleridge, Sandringham House, Clevedon.
R.A. 203—St. John of Jerusalem, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.
R.A. 600—Sincerity, Freemasons' Hall, Salem-street, Bradford
R.A. 645—Humphrey Cheetham, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper Street, Manchester
R.A. 903—Gosport, India Arms Hotel, Gosport
R.A. 1031—Fletcher, Masonic Hall, New Street, Birmingham
R.A. 1611—Eboracum, Queen's Hotel, York
M.M. 11—Joppa, 55 Argyle-street, Birkenhead
M.M. 69—United Service, Assembly Rooms, Brompton, Chatham.
M.M. 115—Bedford, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
M.M. 161—Walton, Skelmersdale Masonic Hall, Kirkdale, Liverpool

WEDNESDAY, 5th DECEMBER.

Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge, Freemasons' Hall
15—Kent, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
30—United Mariners', The Lugard, Peckham, at 7.30. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Horse Shoe Inn, Newington Causeway, at 8. (Inst)
193—Confidence, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, at 7.30 (Instruction)
224—United Strength, Prince Alfred, Harrowdale-rd., Camden-town, 8 (In)
511—Zetland, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
548—La Tolerance, Morland's Hotel, Dean Street, Oxford St. at 8 (Inst)
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7 (Instruction)
781—Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Barlett-road, E. (Instruction)
813—New Concord, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. (Instruction)
861—Whittington, Red Lion, Poupin's-court, Fleet-street, at 8 (Instruction
1278—Burdett Coutts, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel Road, E., at 8. (Inst.)
1288—Finsbury Park, Cock Tavern, Highbury, at 8 (Instruction)
1321—Emblematic, Gout and Star, Swallow Street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
1445—Prince Leopold, Moorgate Tavern, Moorgate Street, at 7 (Instruction)
1475—Peckham, Lord Wellington Hotel, 516 Old Kent-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1524—Duke of Connaught, Royal Edward, Mare-street, Hackney, at 8 (Inst)
1585—Royal Commemoration, Fox and Hounds Hotel, Up. Richmond-rd. S.W.
1601—Wanderers, Adam and Eve Tavern, Palace St., Westminster, at 7.30 (In)
1662—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow, at 7.30 (Inst.)
1687—The Rothesay, Inns of Court Hotel, Lincoln's Inn Fields
1701—Creaton, Prince Albert Tavern, Portobello-rise, Notting-hill-gate (Inst.)
1922—Earl of Lathom, Station Hotel, Camberwell New Road, S.E., at 8. (In.)
R.A.—Camden, The Boston, Junction Road, Holloway, at 8.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 177—Domatic, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-st., at 8 (Instruction)
R.A. 1580—St. Dunstan's, Anderton's Hotel, E.C.
M.M.—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, at 8 (Instruction)

74—Athol, Masonic Hall, Severn-street, Birmingham
298—Harmony, Masonic Rooms, Ann-street, Rochdale
326—Moira, Freemasons' Hall, Park-street, Bristol
327—Wigton St. John, Lion and Lamb, Wigton
406—Northern Counties, Freemasons' Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne
417—Faith and Unanimity, Masonic Hall, Dorchester
429—Royal Navy, Royal Hotel, Ramsgate
471—Silurian, Freemasons' Hall, Dock-street, Newport, Monmouthshire
894—Downshire, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7. (Instruction)
611—Marches, Old Rectory, Ludlow
645—Humphrey Cheetham, Freemasons' Hall, Corner-street, Manchester.
673—St. John, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8 (Instruction)
674—Earl Ellesmere, Church Hotel, Kersley, Farnworth, near Bolton.
838—Franklin, Peacock and Royal Hotel, Boston
972—St. Augustine, Masonic Hall, Canterbury. (Instruction)
992—St. Thomas, Griffin Hotel, Lower Broughton
1010—Kingston, Masonic Hall, Worship-street, Hull
1013—Royal Victoria, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1037—Portland, Portland Hall, Portland. (Instruction.)
1085—Hartington, Masonic Hall, Green-lane, Derby
1091—Erne, Erne House, Ivybridge, Devon
1167—Alnwick, Masonic Hall, Clayport-street, Alnwick
1206—Gimme Pots, Bell Hotel, Sunderland
1274—Earl of Durham, Freemasons' Hall, Chester-le-Street
1323—Talbot, Masonic Rooms, Wind-street, Swansea
1335—Lindsay, 20 King-street, Wigan
1351—Marquis of Lorne, Masonic Rooms, Leigh, Lancashire
1356—De Grey and Ripon, 148 North Hill-street, Liverpool, at 7.30 (Inst)
1363—Tyndall, Town Hall, Chipping Sodbury, Gloucester
1431—St. Alphege, George Hotel, Solihull
1511—Alexandra, Horton, Hall (Instruction)
1620—Marlborough, Derby Hall, The Brook, Liverpool
1842—St. Leonards, Clarence Rooms, St. Leonard's-on-Sea
1903—Prince Edward of Saxe Weimar, Masonic Hall, Portsmouth
R.A. 304—Philanthropic, Masonic Hall, Great George Street, Leeds
R.A. 360—Linnæan Rock, Swan and Royal Hotel, Clitheroe

Digitized by Google

R.A. 477—Fidelity, 55 Argyle-street, Birkenhead
R.A. 1248—Denison, Grand Hotel, Scarborough
M.M. 38—Furness, Hartington Hotel, Duke-street, Barrow-in-Furness
M.M. 56—Temperance, Masonic Hall, Todmorden

THURSDAY, 6th DECEMBER.

3—Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London street, Fitzroy-sq., at 8 (Instruction)
27—Egyptian, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
27—Egyptian, Hercules Tavern, Lewlenhall-street, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
45—Strong Man, Masons' Hall Tavern, Masons'-avenue, Basinghall-street.
87—Virtuvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth, at 8 (Instruction)
147—Justice, Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford, at 8. (Instruction)
192—Lion and Lamb, City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street
227—Ionic, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall Street
231—St. Andrew, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
435—Salisbury, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
538—La Tolerance, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney
704—Camden, Lincoln's Inn Restaurant, 305 High Holborn, at 7 (Instruction)
754—High Cross, Couch and Horses, Lower Tottenham, at 8 (Instruction)
822—Victoria Rifles, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
901—City of London, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, at 6.30. (Instruction)
902—Burgoyne, Cock Tavern, St. Martin's-court, Ludgate-hill, at 6.30 (Inst)
1158—Southern Star, Pheasant, Stangate, Westminster-bridge, at 8 (Inst.)
1178—Perfect Ashlar, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark
1185—Lewis, Kings Arms Hotel, Wood Green, at 7 (Instruction)
1227—Upton, Swan, Bethnal Green-road, near Shoreditch, at 8 (Instruction)
1339—Stockwell, Cock Tavern, Kennington-road, at 7.30 (Instruction
1351—St. Clement Danes, 265 Strand
1361—United Service, Greyhound, Richmond
1426—The Great City, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
1614—Covent Garden, Cranbourne, 1 Up. St. Martin's Lane, W.C., at 8. (Inst.)
1622—Rose, Stirling Castle Hotel, Church Street, Camberwell. (Instruction)
1672—Mornington, London Tavern, Fenchurch-street
1673—Langton, Mansion House Station Restaurant, E.C. at 6. (Instruction)
1677—Crusaders, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 8 (Inst.)
1681—Londesborough, Berkeley Arms, John Street, May Fair, at 8. (Instruct).
1772—Pimlico, Morpeth Arms Tavern, Millbank
1950—Southgate, Railway Hotel, New Southgate, at 7.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 2—St. James's, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 9—Moriah, The Albion, Aldersgate Street
R.A. 174—Sincerity, Cheshire Cheese Tavern, Crutched Friars
R.A. 753—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, at 8. (In.)
R.A. 1471—North London, Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, at 8. (Instruction)
R.A. 1716—All Saints, Vestry Hall, Fairfield Road, Bow
M.M. 197—Studholme, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden-square
M.M. 199—Duke of Connaught, Haverlock, Albion-rd., Dalston, at 8.30 (Inst.)

24—Newcastle-on-Tyne, Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-st., Newcastle.
31—United Industrious, Masonic Room, Canterbury
38—Union, Council Chamber, Chichester
41—Royal Cumberland, Masonic Hall, Old Orchard-street, Bath
50—Knights of Malta, George Hotel, Hinckley, Leicestershire
123—Lennox, Freemasons' Hall, Richmond, Yorkshire
249—Mariners, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
254—Trinity, Craven Arms Hotel, Coventry
266—Napthali, Masonic Hall, Market-place, Heywood
269—Fidelity, White Bull Hotel, Blackburn
289—Fidelity, Masonic Hall, Carlton-hill, Leeds
294—Constitutional, Assembly Rooms, Beverley, Yorks
295—Combermere Union, Macclesfield Arms, Macclesfield
300—Minerva, Pitt and Nelson, Ashton-under-Lyne
309—Harmony, Red Lion, Fareham
317—Affability, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester.
360—Pomert, Abington Street, Northampton.
419—St. Peter, Star and Garter Hotel Wolverhampton.
425—Cestrian, Grosvenor Hotel, Chester
446—Benevolent, Town Hall, Wells, Somersetshire.
509—Tees, Freemasons' Hall, Stockton, Durham.
637—Portland, Masonic Rooms, Town Hall, Stoke-upon-Trent.
792—Pelham Pillar, Masonic Hall, Ballring-lane, Great Grimsby
913—Pattison, Lord Raglan Tavern, Plumstead
974—Pentalpha, New Masonic Hall, Darley-street, Bradford
1012—Prince of Wales, Derby Hotel, Bury, Lancashire
1063—Malling Abbey, Bear Inn, West Malling, Kent
1074—Underley, Masonic Room, Market-place, Kirkby Lonsdale
1182—Duke of Edinburgh, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1231—Savile, Royal Hotel, Elland
1282—Ancholme, Foresters' Hall, Brigg, Lincolnshire
1284—Brent, Globe Hotel, Topsham, Devonshire
1304—Olive Union, Masonic Hall, Horncastle, Lincolnshire
1367—Beaminster Manor, White Hart Hotel, Beaminster
1384—Equity, Alfords Chambers, Widnes
1473—Bootle, Town Hall, Bootle, Lancashire
1500—Walpole, Bell Hotel, Norwich
1504—Red Rose of Lancaster, Starkie's Arms Hotel, Padiham, near Burnley
1513—Friendly, King's Head Hotel, Barnsley
1580—Cranbourne, Red Lion Hotel, Hatfield, Herts, at 8. (Instruction)
1639—Watling-street, Cock Hotel, Stoney Stratford, Bucks
1807—Loyal Wye, Builth, Breconshire
1829—Burrell, George Hotel, Shoreham
R.A. 187—Charity, Freemasons' Hall, Park Street, Bristol
R.A. 384—St. John, Bulls Head Inn, Bolton
R.A. 429—Thanet, Royal Hotel, Ramsgate
R.A. 581—Rectitude, Corporation Hotel, Tipping-st., Ardwick, Openshaw, Man
R.A. 758—Bridgwater, Freemasons' Hall, Runcorn, Cheshire
R.A. 998—Welchpool, Board Room, Railway Station, Welchpool
M.M. 53—Britannia, Freemasons' Hall, Sheffield

FRIDAY, 7th DECEMBER.

Metropolitan Masonic Benevolent Association, 155 Fleet-street, E.C. at 8.30.
Emulation Lodge of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
25—Robert Burns, The North Pole, 115 Oxford-street, W., at 8 (Instruc.
144—St. Luke, White Hart, King's-road, Chelsea, at 7.30. (Instruction)
507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30. (Instruct.)
706—Florence Nightingale, Masonic Hall, William Street, Woolwich
766—William Preston, St. Andrew's Tavern, George St., Baker St., at 8 (In.)
780—Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge. (Instruction)
834—Ranelagh, Six Bells, Hammersmith (Instruction)
890—Hornsey, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
933—Doric, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1056—Metropolitan, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. at 7. (Instruction)
1158—Belgrave, Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
1275—Star, Ship Hotel, Greenwich
1288—Royal Standard, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, at 8. (In.)
1365—Clapton, White Hart, Lower Clapton, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1489—Marquess of Ripon, Metropolitan Societies Asylum, Balls Pond Road
1627—Royal Kensington, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1642—E. Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
1769—Ubique, Guardsman Army Coffee Tavern, Buckingham Palace-road, S.W., at 7.30. (Instruction)
1815—Penge, Thicket Hotel, Anerley
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich. (Instruction)
R.A. 10—Westminster and Keystone, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 65—Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, Hercules Tav., Lewlenhall St.
R.A. 79—Pythagorean, Portland Hotel, Loudon-street, Greenwich. (Inst.)
R.A. 259—Prince of Wales, Willis's Rooms, King Street, St. James's
M.M.—Old Kent, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, E.C. (Instruction)
M.M. 8—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, W.C.

44—Friendship, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester
81—Doric, Private Room, Woodbridge, Suffolk.
127—Union, Freemasons' Hall, Margate
219—Prudence, Masonic Hall, Todmorden.
242—St. George, Guildhall, Doncaster.
306—Alfred, Masonic Hall, Kelsall-street, Leeds
443—St. Peter, Masonic Hall, Peterborough
453—Chigwell, Prince's Hall, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30 (Instruction)
521—Truth, Freemasons' Hall, Fitzwilliam-street, Huddersfield.
539—St. Matthew, Dragon Hotel, Walsall.
574—Loyal Berkshire of Hope, White Hart Hotel, Newbury
601—St. John, Wrekin Hotel, Wellington, Salop
680—Sefton, Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool
709—Invicta, Bank-street Hall, Ashford
837—De Grey and Ripon, Town Hall, Ripon
839—Royal Gloucestershire, Bell Hotel, Gloucester
998—Welchpool, Railway Station, Welchpool
1086—Lord Warden, Wellington Hall, Deal
1333—Athelstan, Town Hall, Atherstone, Warwick.
1387—Chorlton, Masonic Rooms, Chorlton Cum Hardy
1393—Hamer, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
1528—Fort, Masonic Hall, Newquay, Cornwall.
1557—Albert Edward, Bush Hotel, Hexham.
1581—Morecambe, Masonic Hall, Edward-street, Morecambe, Lancashire.
1648—Prince of Wales, Freemasons' Hall, Salem-street, Bradford.
1664—Gosforth, Freemasons' Hall, High street, Gosforth
General Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, at 7
R.A.—General Chapter of Improvement, Masonic Hall, Birmingham
R.A. 170—All Souls', Masonic Hall, Weymouth
R.A. 359—Peace, Freemasons' Hall, Albion Terrace, Southampton

SATURDAY, 8th DECEMBER.

108—London, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street
174—Phœnix, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
176—Caveac, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street
198—Percy, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., at 8 (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7 (Instruction)
1426—The Great City, Cannon Street Hotel
1612—West Middlesex, The Institute, Ealing
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1671—Mizpah, Albion Hotel, Aldersgate-street
1839—Duke of Cornwall, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1928—Gallery, Brixton Hall, Acre Lane, Brixton
1964—Clerkenwell, Holborn Viaduct Hotel, E.C.
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-st., W., at 8

308—Prince George, Private Rooms, Bottoms, Eastwood
R.A. 1235—Phœnix of St. Ann, Court Hotel, Buxton

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—Meeting held at Bro. Langdale's, the Jolly Farmer's, Southgate-road, N., on Saturday the 24th ult. Present—Bros. Gush W.M., Gellen S.W., Glass J.W., Parkes S.D., Ashton J.D., Flack I.G., Pearcy Preceptor, Galer Secretary, Fenner Treasurer; also Bros. Bullock, Dixie, Houghton, Schwabe, Chant, Williams, Weedon, Robinson, Pearcy, Moss, Ferrar, Manger, Jones, Wright, O'Donnell. The usual ceremonies were observed in opening the Lodge, and the minutes were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Schwabe being the candidate. Lodge was opened in the second degree, and the ceremony of installation rehearsed in a very excellent manner by Bro. Gush. Bro. Schwabe, of the Stanhope Lodge, No. 1269, was elected a member. A cordial vote of thanks was awarded to Bro. Gush for presiding in so efficient a manner. A widow of a deceased brother was relieved to the extent of £1 1s ont of the Lodge funds. This gift was supplemented by a considerable amount contributed by the brethren. Bro. Gellen will preside at the meeting this (Saturday) evening. Lodge was then closed and adjourned.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—Held at Bro. Smyth's, Sisters Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston, on 27th ult. Bros. Stewart W.M., C. Lorkin S.W., Brasted J.W., Robinson S.D., Olley J.D., Smyth I.G., F. Carr Secretary, Wallington Preceptor; also Bros. Cushing, Hunt, Little, Banister, T. Clark, Allen, Baker, Watkinson, Webb, Barlow, Creasey, Catling, Baveystock and others. Lodge was opened in due form. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. Lodge was opened in the second and third degrees, and resumed the first, when the following brethren assisted the W.M. to work the Fifteen Sections. First Lecture—Bros. Watkinson, Robinson, Catlin, T. Clark. Christian, Lorkin, Stewart. Second Lecture—Bros. Smyth, Webb, Brasted, C. Lorkin, E. J. Allen. Third Lecture—Bros. F. Carr, Catling, Wallington. Bros. Barlow, Baveystock and Creasey, of the Loyalty Lodge, No. 1607, were elected members, and honorary membership of the Lodge was conferred on Bro. Stewart for presiding on the occasion. Lodge was then closed and adjourned.

Kingsland Lodge of Instruction, No. 1693.—On Monday, at Bro. Baker's, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N. Present—Bros. Forge P.M. 1950 W.M. 619 W.M., Hurdell W.M. 1348 S.W., Western J.W., Collingridge Secretary, Defriez Senior Deacon, Goddard J.D., Trewinnard P.M. Preceptor, Treadwell I.G.; also Past Masters T. J. Casworth, Osborn, and several other brethren. After preliminaries the ceremony of installation was rehearsed by Bro. Forge, Bro. Hurdell acting as candidate. After the ceremony the newly-installed Master was saluted, and he invested his Officers. Bro. Forge delivered the various charges exceedingly well, and a cordial vote of thanks to him was ordered to be recorded on the minutes. Lodge was closed, and adjourned till Monday, 3rd December, when Bro. Jordan will preside.

EDUCATION. — HAMBURG.

Bro. JOHN A. NEECK, 9 Bundesstrasse, HAMBURG,

Is prepared to receive into his Family

TWO OR THREE ENGLISH YOUTHS AS BOARDERS

During the time they attend School in this City.

CAREFUL SUPERVISION, KIND TREATMENT, BEST BODILY & MENTAL CARE

High References in England and Hamburg.

PROSPECTUS FREE

Digitized by Google

Price 3s 6d, Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

FIRST SERIES.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

1 OUR LITERARY BROTHER.
2 A DISTINGUISHED MASON.
3 THE MAN OF ENERGY.
4 FATHER TIME.
5 A CORNER STONE.
6 THE CRAFTSMAN.
7 THE GOWNSMAN.
8 AN EASTERN STAR.
9 THE KNIGHT ERRANT.
10 THE OCTOGENARIAN.
11 A ZEALOUS OFFICER.
12 THE SOLDIER.
13 FROM UNDER THE CROWN.
14 OUR HERCULES.
15 A MERCHANT PRINCE.
16 THE CHURCHMAN.
17 THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER.
18 THE MYSTIC.
19 A MODEL MASON.
20 A CHIP FROM JOPPA.
21 A PILLAR OF MASONRY.
22 BAYARD.
23 A RIGHT HAND MAN.
24 OUR CITIZEN BROTHER.
25 AN ABLE PRECEPTOR.
26 AN ANCIENT BRITON.
27 THE ARTIST.
28 THE FATHER OF THE LODGE.
29 A SHINING LIGHT.
30 AN ART STUDENT.
31 THE MARINER
32 SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.
33. "OLD MUG."

Second Series, Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 3s 6d, post free.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

SKETCHES

OF

DISTINGUISHED FREEMASONS.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

BY G. BLIZARD ABBOTT, OF LODGE No. 1385,

ASSOCIATE OF KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

NESTOR
(Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, 33 deg., Past G.S.B., Past Dep. P.G.M. Hants, Assistant Secretary Sup. Council A. and A. Rite.)

THE STATESMAN
(The Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, 33 deg., Pro Grand Master, Pro Grand Z., Past G.M.M.M., and Past M.P.S.G. Commander A. and A. Rite.

THE TREASURER
(Bro. F. Adlard, P.M. and Treasurer Royal York Lodge of Perseverance, No. 7).

THE DEPUTY
(The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, 33 deg., Deputy G. Master, Grand H., G.M.M.M., Great Prior of the Temple, and M.P. Sov. G. Commander A. and A. Rite.)

A PROVINCIAL MAGNATE
(Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Hants and Isle of Wight, Past G.M.M.M. and Prov. G. Prior of the Temple, for Hants).

TIME-HONOURED LANCASTER
(Bro. J. Lancaster Hine, P. Prov. G.S. Warden East Lancashire).

THE SCHOLAR
(Bro. John Newton, F.R.A.S., P.M., P.Z., Author of Works on Navigation).

OUR NOBLE CRITIC
(The Right Hon. Lord Leigh, 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Warwickshire, Past G.M.M.M.)

OUR PERIPATETIC BROTHER
(Bro. C. Fitz Gerald Matier, 30 deg., G. Steward Scotland, and Past G.S. Warden Greece).

A BOLTON LUMINARY
(Bro. G. Parker Brookbank, 31 deg., Past Prov. G.S.D., and P. Prov. G. Treas. [Arch] E. Lancashire.

A WARDEN OF THE FENS
(The late Bro. John Sutcliffe, Past Prov. G.S. Warden, and Prov. G.M.M.M. Lincolnshire).

A WARDEN OF MARK
(The Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, 32 deg., Past G.S. Warden, and Dep. G.M.M.M).

A MASTER OF CEREMONIAL
(Bro. Thos. Entwisle, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. of Works E. Lan.)

OUR COSMOPOLITAN BROTHER
(Bro. Samuel Rawson, 33 deg., Past Dist. G.M. and G. Sup. China).

A GREAT ARITHMETICIAN
(Bro. R. B. Webster, Member of the Finance and Audit Committees of the R.M Girls' and Boys' Schools).

AN INSTALLING MASTER
(Bro. W. Biggs, Past Prov. G.S.W. Wilts, and Past Prov. G. Sec. Berks and Bucks).

A VETERAN
(Bro. W. Kelly, Past Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Leicestershire and Rutland, Prov. G.M.M.M. Leicestershire).

A GRAND STEWARD
(Bro. John Wordsworth, 30 deg., Past G. Steward, Past Prov. G.J.W. Yorkshire, and Prov. G.M.M.M. W. Yorkshire).

VIR Veritas
(Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M and Past Prov. Grand. Soj. [Arch] Herts).

ACHILLES
(Bro. E. J. Morris, Past G.J.D., and Past Dep. Prov. G.M. of Eastern Division of South Wales).

A DEVON CRAFTSMAN
(Bro. J. E. Curtois, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. Warden Devon).

SIR RHADAMANTH
(Bro. J. M. Pulteney Montagu, J.P. D.L., 33 deg., G. J. Deacon, Past Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, and G. Chancellor Supreme Council A. and A. Rite).

HIPPOCRATES
(Bro. J. Pearson Bell, M.D., Past G. Deacon, Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. N. and E. Yorkshire).

A CESTRIAN CHIEF
(The Right Hon Lord de Tabley, Past G.S.W., Prov. G.M. Cheshire, Grand J., and Prov. G Sup. Cheshire).

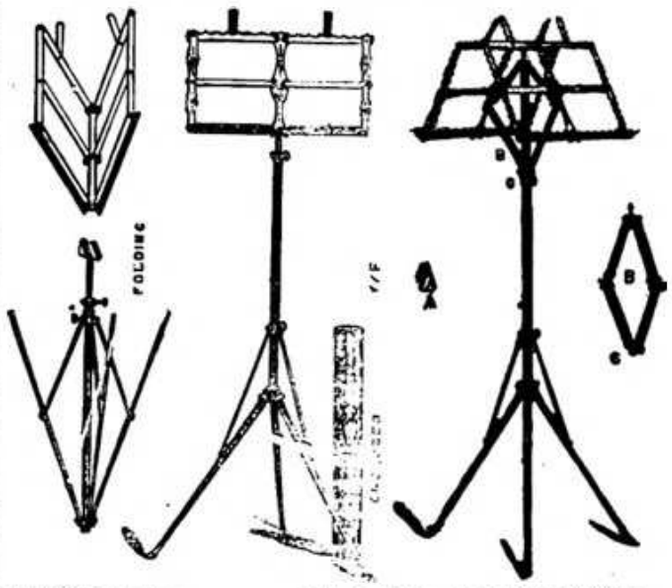
A HARBINGER OF PEACE
(Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., Past Prov. G.J.D. Herts).

THE LORD OF UNDERLEY
(The Earl of Bective, M.P., Prov. G.M., Prov. G. Sup., and Prov. G.M.M.M. Cumberland and Westmoreland, and Past G. Sov. of the Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine).

A BOON COMPANION
(Bro. E. C. Woodward, P.M. 382, 1837, &c.)

A GRAND SUPERINTENDENT
(Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Berks and Bucks).

ÆSCULAPIUS
(Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., 32 deg., Past G.S.B., Craft, and Past G.St.B., Arch, Intendant General Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine for North Lancashire).



London: W. W. MORGAN.

By Order of all Booksellers, or will be sent direct, by post, from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N

THE AMERICAN
PORTABLE MUSIC STANDS.

J. F. WALTERS' PATENT.

Iron, from 10/6 each. Brass, from 30/- each.

THESE Stands are unsurpassed in simplicity, strength, portability cheapness, and elegance of finish. They are suitable for Military Bands Orchestras, Reading and News Rooms, Libraries, Studies, and Drawing Rooms. When opened to their full capacity they stand 5 feet high, and can be folded and enclosed in a case 21 inches long by 2 inches diameter. The weight is about 3 lbs. 12 oz., and they will support a weight of 50 lbs.

To be obtained of all Music Dealers, and of the Manufacturers and Proprietors of the Patent,

HARROW & CO.

MUSIC SMITHS, BRASS WORKERS, &c.

13 and 14 Portland Street, Soho, London, W.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

Free by Post, Price One Shilling.

THE

REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS;

CRITICALLY CONSIDERED,

AND

COMPARED WITH THE OLD EDITION.

—:o:—

A SERIES OF ARTICLES,

REPRINTED FROM THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

—:o:—

LONDON:

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE;
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL & Co., 4 STATIONERS' HALL COURT;
AND OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

"All Freemasons interested in the Revision of the above, should read this work."

Crown 8vo, price 2s 6d, cloth lettered.

Uniformity of Masonic Ritual and Observance.

By Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M., P.Z., &c.

"May be read with advantage by the whole Craft."—Sunday Times.

"Grand Lodge should at once set to work to secure the desired uniformity."—Sheffield Post.

"The subject is ably argued by the author."—Western Daily Mercury.

"Useful and valuable in the highest degree."—Exeter Gazette.

"Will have a material effect on the future of Masonic Ritual."—South Western Star.

"The author adduces many variations in the language used by different Preceptors."—Cox's Monthly Legal Circular.

"Ought to be in the hands of every Mason."—Northampton Guardian.

"To Freemasons generally it will be found useful and valuable, and we commend it to their notice accordingly."—Surrey County Observer.

"Bro. Stevens' motion for a Committee on the subject of Uniformity of Ritual was carried by a large majority."—Freemason's Chronicle report of Grand Lodge meeting, 3rd December 1879.

Sent, by post, on receipt of stamps, by the Author, Bro. JAMES STEVENS, 112 High-street, Clapham, S.W.; or by Bro. W. W. MORGAN Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

Digitized by Google

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE,

A Weekly Record of Masonic Intelligence. Sanctioned by the Grand Lodge of England.

Price—13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE will be forwarded direct from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N., on receipt of Post Office Order for the amount. Intending Subscribers should forward their full Addresses to prevent mistakes.

Post Office Orders to be made payable to W. W. MORGAN, at Penton-street Office. Cheques crossed "London and County."

Advertisers will find THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE an exceptionally good medium for Advertisements of every class.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Per Page... ... ... £8 0 0
Back Page £10 0 0

Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1s per line.

General Advertisements, Trade Announcements, &c. single column, 5s per inch. Double Column Advertisements 1s per line. Special Terms for a Series of Insertions on application.

Agents, from whom copies can always be had:—

Messrs. SPENCER and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C.
Messrs. CURTICE and Co., 12 Catherine-street, Strand.
Messrs. KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.
Mr. RITCHIE, 6 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SIMPSON BROS., Shoe Lane.
Mr. H. SIMPSON, 7 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SMITH and SONS, 183 Strand.
Messrs. STEEL and JONES, 4 Spring Gardens, Charing Cross.
Mr. G. VICKERS, Angel Court, Strand.
Mr. H. VICKERS, 317 Strand.

RICHARD PEARCY,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
81 PACKINGTON STREET, ISLINGTON,
LONDON, N.

Watches Made and Repaired in the very best manner.

MASONIC JEWELS.

THE THEATRES, &c.

HAYMARKET.—At 8, LORDS AND COMMONS.

DRURY LANE.—At 7.45, A SAILOR AND HIS LASS.

LYCEUM.—At 8.30, THE LADY OF LYONS.

ADELPHI.—At 7.45, IN THE RANKS.

OLYMPIC.—At 7.30, A REGULAR FIX. At 8.30, THE SPIDER'S WEB.

SAVOY.—At 8, PRIVATE WIRE. At 8.40, IOLANTHE.

GAIETY.—At 7.35, YOUNG WIDOW. At 8.15, ARIEL.

AVENUE.—At 7.30, OBLIGING A FRIEND. At 8.15, LA VIE.

TOOLE'S.—At 8, SIX MONTHS AGO. At 8.30, OURS.

COURT.—At 8, THE MILLIONAIRE.

GLOBE.—At 7.45, MAN PROPOSES. At 8.30, THE GLASS OF FASHION.

ROYALTY.—At 8, GILLETTE.

VAUDEVILLE.—At 8, AN OLD MASTER. At 9, CONFUSION.

COMEDY.—At 8, FALKA.

ST. JAMES'S.—At 8, YOUNG FOLKS' WAYS.

GRAND.—At 7.30, YOUTH.

STANDARD.—At 7.30, GLAD TIDINGS.

SADLER'S WELLS.—At 7.30, DENOUNCED.

SURREY.—At 7.30, CRIMES OF PARIS.

ST. JAMES'S HALL.—Mr. DUVAL'S ODDS AND ENDS.

MOHAWK MINSTRELS, Agricultural Hall.—Every evening, at 8.

EGYPTIAN HALL.—Messrs. MASKELYNE AND COOKE. Every evening at 8.

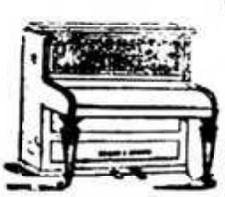
CRYSTAL PALACE.—This day, CONCERT. PANORAMA. Open Daily, Aquarium, Picture Gallery, &c.

BRO. G. S. GRAHAM,

The Popular Tenor and Buffo Vocalist, from St. James's Hall, Crystal Palace, &c.

(Provincial Grand Organist Middlesex)

IS OPEN TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FOR



Concerts, Entertainments, & Masonic Banquets.

Bro. G. S. Graham's Party of Eminent Artists can be engaged for Masonic Banquets, Consecrations and Installations, &c. For Opinions of the Press, and terms, address—G. S. GRAHAM, St. John's Villa, 91 Fernlea Road, Balham, Surrey.

PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS ON EASY TERMS.

GROVER & GROVER

LET ON HIRE, WITH OPTION OF PURCHASE,

BEAUTIFUL AND PERFECT INSTRUMENTS.
PURCHASERS CHOOSE THEIR OWN TERMS,
FROM 15s TO £3 3s PER QUARTER.

The Advantages of a Trial, with the Convenience of the Three Years' System at Cash Price, by Paying about a Quarter of the value down, the Balance by Easy Payments, from 15s per quarter.

GROVER & GROVER (late AVILL & SMART),
TABERNACLE SQUARE, FINSBURY, E.C.
ESTABLISHED 1830.

PIANOFORTES, £19 10s.
AMERICAN ORGANS, £9 5s.
HARMONIUMS, £5 15s.

Perfect in Tone and Touch. Elegant Walnut Cases. Every Instrument warranted to stand any extreme climate.

SHIPPERS AND DEALERS SUPPLIED.

Before deciding on purchasing, write for a descriptive Price List and Testimonials to G. LINSTEAD, Manager.

COEDEN PIANOFORTE COMPANY, 18 & 19 Eversholt Street, Camden Town, London,

BILLIARD BALLS, Chalks, Cues and Tips, at RENNIG BROS., Ivory Works, 11 High Street, London, W.C. Cheapest house in the trade for billiard-table requisites and ivory goods in general. Old balls adjusted or exchanged, and tables recovered. Price Lists on application. Established 1862.

RHEUMATISM.

THE only real remedy for this complaint is the Northern Cure (patent). In bottles 1s 1½d each, to be had of all Chemists. Proprietors and Manufacturer, EDWARDS AND ALEXANDER, 29 Blaskett-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR GOUT and RHEUMATISM.

The excruciating pain is quickly relieved and cured in a few days by this celebrated Medicine.

These Pills require no restraint of diet during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.

Sold by all Chemists at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.

HOTELS, ETC.

CARLISLE—Bush Hotel. SUTCLIFFE HOLROYD, Proprietor

EALING—Feathers Hotel

EASTBOURNE—Pier Hotel, Cavendish Place. View of Sea and Pier. A. TAYLOR Proprietor

HAVERFORDWEST.—Queen's Family and Commercial Hotel. BEN M. DAVIES Proprietor.

KEW—Star and Garter. Good accommodation for Lodge & Dinner Parties. J. BRILL Proprietor

MILFORD HAVEN.—Lord Nelson Hotel. T. PALMER Proprietor

SANDWICH—Bell Family and Commercial Hotel, Good Stabling. J. J. FILMER Proprietor

ALL WHO SUFFER FROM
GOUT AND RHEUMATISM
Should immediately have recourse to
EADE'S CELEBRATED GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS.

Known throughout the world as the safest and most effectual remedy for the instant relief and rapid cure of Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Lumbago, and all Pains in the Head, Face, and Limbs.

OF ALL CHEMISTS, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d,

GEORGE EADE.
SOLE PROPRIETOR,
72 GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

SMOKE CHARLESWORTH & AUSTINS TOBACCOS AND CIGARS
BORO' S.E.
Old Chums 2d
Favourites 2d & 3d
Golden Shag 4d & 5d

Digitized by Google

SPIERS & POND'S
FREEMASONS' TAVERN,

GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

For MASONIC BANQUETS.

PUBLIC FESTIVALS and PRIVATE DINNERS.

WEDDING BREAKFASTS.

BALLS. EVENING PARTIES. SOIREES.

Spacious Hall for Election and other Public Meetings.

Rooms for Masonic Lodges, &c. SPIERS & POND, Limited.

JOSEPH J. CANEY,

DIAMOND MERCHANT, AND MANUFACTURING JEWELLER AND WATCH MAKER,

44 CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.

MASONIC JEWELS, CLOTHING AND FURNITURE.

Specialité—First Class Jewels—Artistic—Massive—Best Quality—Moderate in Price.

CATALOGUES POST FREE.

A LARGE STOCK OF LOOSE BRILLIANTS FOR EXPENSIVE JEWELS

Diamond Rings, Brooches, Studs, Earrings and Bracelets in Great Variety.

MASONIC JEWELS FOR ALL DEGREES.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS AND DECORATIONS.

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD IN ALL SIZES.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEDALS AND BADGES.

A. D. LOEWENSTARK & SONS, Medallists, 210 STRAND, LONDON, W.C.

MANUFACTORY—1 DEVEREUX COURT, STRAND.

R. W. GALER,

PRACTICAL WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

12 GREEN LANES, LONDON, N.

(Six doors from Newington Green).

OLD GOLD and SILVER BOUGHT or TAKEN in EXCHANGE.

PRESENTATION WATCHES AND MASONIC JEWELS MANUFACTURED ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

Communications by Post punctually attended to.

G. W. KNIGHT,

Carver, Gilder, and Picture Frame Maker,

LITTLE BELL ALLEY, BACK OF MOORGATE STREET, CITY,

AND

38 CHAUCER ROAD, BRIXTON.

CORNICES AND FRAMES OF ALL KINDS REPAIRED AND REGILT.

W. W. MORGAN,

LETTER-PRESS, COPPER-PLATE, LITHOGRAPHIC PRINTER,

BELVIDERE WORKS,

HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE.

SUMMONSES, MENU CARDS, &c. ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED.

Sketches or Designs for Special Purposes Furnished on Application.

Books, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Catalogues, Posters, Billheads, Showcards, &c.

Every description of Printing (Plain or Ornamental) executed in First Class Style.

ESTIMATES SUPPLIED.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER

7s 6d.

If with Pockets, 6d each pocket extra.

225 HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.

DRESS SUITS from £3 3s to £5 5s.

Demy 8vo, Price 7s 6d,

THE CHESS OPENINGS,

By ROBERT B. WORMALD.

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE.

CONCERTINAS.

ENGLISH AND ANGLO-GERMAN.

C. JONES, 350 Commercial-road, London, E., inventor of the Anglo-German with chromatic scale. His tempered steel notes never get out of tune. Used by the leading performers. Price List of Musical Instruments of every description free. Established 1850.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY Limited, 7 Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General accidents. | Personal injuries.
Railway accidents. | Death by accident.

C. HARDING, Manager.

RIPPINGILLE'S PATENT
WARMING STOVES.

THE only Perfect Oil Stoves. Made to burn absolutely without Smoke or Smell, Trouble or Dirt. Unequalled for Warming

GREENHOUSES, VINERIES, SHOPS,

BEDROOMS, HALLS, OFFICES, DAMP ROOMS, &c.

Perfectly safe, require no pipes or fittings, will burn from twelve to twenty hours without attention, give off no injurious vapour, and are the best stoves ever invented to save plants from frost, keep out the damp, &c.

Price, from a few shillings.

Write for Illustrated List of Warming Stoves to

The Holborn Lamp and Stove Co.

118 HOLBORN, LONDON, E.C.

And say where you saw this Advertisement.

Bro. A. OLDROYD, Stratford, London,

MANUFACTURER OF TOBACCO POUCHES,

With any name in raised letters.

CAN be obtained direct from the Maker, at the undermentioned prices, on receipt of P.O.O. payable at Stratford.

	Price	Will take about this number of letters
No. 3	2/0 ...	11
„ 4	2/6 ...	12
„ 5	3/0 ...	13
„ 6	3/6 ...
„ 7	4/0 ...
„ 8	4/6 ...
„ 9	5/0 ...

A. OLDROYD,

Agent for Algerian Cigars, and Importer of Havana and Continental Cigars,

6 HIGH STREET, STRATFORD, LONDON, E.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

BIRKBECK BANK.—Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Current Accounts opened according to the usual practice of other Bankers, and Interest allowed on the minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £25. No commission charged for keeping Accounts.

The Bank also receives money on Deposit at three per cent. Interest, repayable on demand.

The Bank undertakes for its Customers, free of charge, the custody of Deeds, Writings, and other Securities and Valuables, the collection of Bills of Exchange, Dividends, and Coupons; and the purchase and sale of Stocks and Shares.

Letters of Credit and Circular Notes issued.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

31st March 1880.

The Birkbeck Building Society's Annual Receipts exceed Four Millions.

HOW TO PURCHASE A HOUSE FOR TWO GUINEAS PER MONTH, with immediate Possession and no Rent to pay. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY.

HOW TO PURCHASE A PLOT OF LAND FOR FIVE SHILLINGS PER MONTH, with immediate possession, either for Building or Gardening purposes. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Printed and Published by Brother WILLIAM WRAY MORGAN, at Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, Saturday, 1st December 1883.

Digitized by Google

THE

Freemason's Chronicle;

A WEEKLY RECORD OF MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

SANCTIONED BY THE GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.

VOL. XVIII.—No. 465. SATURDAY, 8th DECEMBER 1883. [PRICE THREEPENCE. 13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE QUARTERLY COMMUNICATION OF GRAND LODGE.

IT is fortunate that Grand Lodge meetings are rarely so well attended as was the one held on Wednesday night, at Freemasons' Hall, or a grave scandal would arise. To cram 1200 brethren into a space calculated to hold about half the number, was beyond the skill of the executive, the result being a crowded room, discomfort, and a somewhat maimed ceremonial. Not only was the great banquetting hall crammed, but the gallery over the entrance was filled, as well as rooms adjoining the improvised Temple. This large room really belongs to the hotel, and there were many signs that it either had been, or was about to be, used for a Scottish gathering. Over the main entrance door was a banner, on which was inscribed, "Welcome to the Marquis of Lorne," and on the walls were bannerets, containing shields, bearing the devices of Scottish noblemen. There was little to suggest the purpose to which the hall was to be devoted on Wednesday night until the brethren began to assemble, which they did very early, and then the character of the meeting was put beyond doubt, and the scene soon became animated and interesting. The doors of Grand Lodge were closed long before the time appointed for the commencement of business, and those who had no special right to admission had to be content with a seat up aloft or in an adjoining room. It was with difficulty that a passage was made for the procession of Grand Officers to the platform. On the appearance of the Pro Grand Master Bro. the Earl of Carnarvon, a cheer went up, which was renewed when he took the Grand Master's chair. He was supported by Bro. the Earl of Limerick as Deputy Grand Master, by Bro. W. W. B. Beach, Prov. G.M. Hants., Bro. General J. S. Brownrigg, C.B., Prov. G.M. Surrey, and a host of eminent brethren, who filled the dais. Bro. the Earl of Milltown, Senior Grand Warden, occupied his appointed chair, and Bro. the Right Hon. Col. Stanley, Grand Junior Warden, presided in the south. The Pro Grand Master took in the situation at a glance, and his experience and thoughtfulness enabled him to meet the difficulty that presented itself at the outset. Order followed the sound of the gavel, and the Pro Grand Master, in a clear voice, welcomed the brethren, especially those who had come from a distance to take part in the proceedings. This reference to the country brethren had an excellent effect upon them, and his after remarks put the whole assembly in good humour, and satisfied their sense of justice. He reminded them that it was impossible to accommodate all who had assembled on that occasion within the four walls of the Temple, and that exceptional circumstances needed exceptional treatment. The brethren who had come to record their votes were not to be deprived of their privileges nor denied the opportunity of satisfying their consciences; he had, therefore, arranged that overflow gatherings should be held in other rooms, to whom would be submitted the resolutions discussed and agreed upon in Grand Lodge, and the collective vote would determine what resolutions should be carried. There would be no discussion allowed out of Grand Lodge, but effect would be given to all motions as if the brethren had met in one room. That was the best arrangement that could be made on the spur of the moment for a difficulty for which he was in no way responsible. The remarks of the Pro Grand Master were received with great satisfaction, and business proceeded with less friction than might fairly have been anticipated.

The minutes of the Quarterly Communication, held on the 5th September, having been read and confirmed, the first conflict of the evening began in real earnest. On the motion of Bro. the Earl of Limerick, the minutes of the two Special Grand Lodges held on the 29th June and 8th August respectively, were taken as read. The motion for the confirmation of the minutes in their entirety was rejected by an overwhelming majority, and the points of objection were taken in detail. We do not intend to go fully into all the matters discussed; it is not necessary if our readers will refer to the agenda paper that appeared in last week's issue, and follow the results as now recorded. Bro. Budden succeeded in getting Article 80 of the Revised Rules nonconfirmed, and in carrying the one he had substituted. Bros. Le Feuvre and Tombs were equally successful with their motions. The same was the case with the resolutions that stood in the names of Bros. the Hon. Mr. Justice Prinseps, Sir John B. Monckton (No. 11), and Rev. Herbert G. Morse. Bro. Prinseps had no difficulty in convincing Grand Lodge that if English Freemasonry is to hold its own in India, the fees must not be in excess of those charged under other jurisdictions. Bro. Budden's resolution (No. 12) was lost, as was also Bro. Tew's (No. 13.) The tug of war came after Article 18 of the Revised Rules, referring to the status of Past Masters, had been nonconfirmed. Bro. the Rev. C. W. Arnold moved the resolution standing in his name, to the effect that a joining Past Master may, by a vote of the Lodge, have a position assigned to him among the Past Masters of the Lodge, provided he has complied with the usual conditions as to subscriptions. He set forth the arguments with which the brethren are now familiar in a clear, forcible, and very temperate speech. The motion was vigorously assailed by Bro. Sir John B. Monckton, and, after a sharp but short debate, it was put and lost by a very large majority, whereat there was a great shout. The Pro Grand Master stated that in consequence of the vote just taken, the resolution, notice of which had been given by Bro. Rev. J. S. Brownrigg, could not be put. Thus ended the long fight over the question of the status of Past Masters, which at one time threatened to become a serious cause of disturbance. We are not sure now that mischief will not arise out of the course that has been adopted. We presume the question stands just where it did in the old Book of Constitutions, and that some Lodges will continue the doubtful practice of giving honour to joining Past Masters, taking it for granted that what is not expressly forbidden is tacitly permitted. It seems almost impossible that those provincial brethren, who fought so ardently, and at one time so successfully, for their view of the question, will be content with the present aspect of matters, but we trust that, as loyal Masons, they will accept the decision that has been arrived at, and bide their time when a more favourable opportunity may arise for them. Although defeated on this question, they had their success later on. Bro. Fenn moved that Article 209, referring to the responsibility of a Lodge for the arrears of a joining member due to the Lodge from which he had been excluded, be nonconfirmed, on the ground that other rules met the case. The motion was lost. Bro. H. H. Riach, S.W. 1118, moved the nonconfirmation of Article 297, carried at the instance of Bro. Lord Holmesdale, and which provided that the blue collars should be worn under the Provincial Grand Collars. Bro. Riach contended for the priority of the light blue collar, and Grand Lodge, by a very large vote, endorsed his view. Bro. Sir John Monckton then moved that the Revised Book of Constitutions be confirmed as a whole, which was carried amid strong manifestations of approval. The Pro Grand Master remarked that he had the satisfaction to state that the vote had been carried without contradiction, meaning that the new rules had received the unanimous assent of the brethren present.

EPPS'S (GRATEFUL COMFORTING) COCOA

Digitized by Google

Bro. Major Harding, P.M. 231, nominated H.R.H. Bro. the Prince of Wales as Grand Master for the ensuing year, and gave notice that he should formally move his re-appointment at the next Quarterly Court of Communication. The brief remarks of Bro. Harding were cordially received, and the fate of his motion is not only a foregone conclusion, but a most agreeable anticipation.

Bros. John Derby Allcroft and Horace Brooks Marshall were nominated for the office of Grand Treasurer. Some doubt was felt whether the nominations could be made at that meeting, but the Pro Grand Master observed that, as the new rules had been passed, he was of opinion that they were in order. We presume it will be competent to nominate any other brother for this post of honour between this and the next Quarterly Communication, but probably the better plan would be to limit the contest to two brethren—that is, if the friends of Bro. Allcroft persist in running him,—one being the present holder of the office, and the other a brother equally eligible, such as we take Bro. Marshall to be. We cannot help feeling that the promotors of Bro. Allcroft's candidature are taking an unwise course in setting up a claim to the monopoly of an honorary office, against an understanding well understood, if not expressed, in a formal manner.

Bro. James Brett P.G.P. having been nominated Senior Vice-President of the Lodge of Benevolence, he was elected unopposed. There was a contest for the post of Junior Vice-President, which resulted as follows: Brother C. A. Cottebrune P.G.P.—322, Bro. J. H. Matthews P.M. 143—237, Bro. H. Garrod P.M. 749—207, Bro. Cottebrune was therefore elected. The names of the Twelve Past Masters elected to serve on the Lodge of Benevolence will be found in the Agenda paper already referred to. The grants recommended, amounting to £645, were confirmed.

The report of the Board of General Purposes was taken as read, was received and entered on the minutes, and the action recommended agreed to.

The despatch of business, considering the crowded state of the Hall and the many inconveniences attendant thereon, had been excellent up to this period, thanks to the tact and good management of the Pro G. Master, nor was it now to be hindered by any unseemly wrangling or opposition. Nevertheless, the subject of the re-building of the Temple was approached with some apprehension, nor was this feeling lessened by the speech Bro. Sir John Monckton made in moving the resolution (No. 2) which stood in his name. Virtually it proposed to embody in action the report of the Special Building Committee, and although this view was challenged, it was generally accepted that the mover, as Chairman of that Committee, had at least the courage of his convictions, and was prepared to recommend that the costly scheme suggested by the Committee should be carried out. Bro. Sir John Monckton claimed to act in his own personality, and not as a member of the Committee, which was defunct. He referred in detail to what had been done, and in the course of his remarks observed that Messrs. Spiers and Pond, so far from seeking any alteration, desired nothing better than to be left alone. Brother Raynham Stewart seconded the motion. Then Bro. G. E. Webster moved the amendment (No. 3) that stood in his name. He made a temperate and well-argued speech, and was received with such approval as to make it an augury of success. Bro. Havers seconded the amendment in a speech that completely settled the fate of the motion. Without being personally offensive, it was as strong a rebuke as could well be administered. He pointed out that Grand Lodge were asked to lay out £30,000 from which the Craft was to get no advantage. He alluded to the recommendations of the Special Building Committee, such as the enlarging of the Temple, the building of a new banquetting hall, removing the kitchen to the top of the building, converting the present kitchen into a supper room, and the purchase of Bacon's Hotel, and observed that although they would get an increased rental of £800 per annum, they would lose £350 received from Mr. Bacon, thus reducing the total increase per annum to £450, being about one and a quarter per cent. upon the outlay. He ventured to say that no business man in the City would enter upon such a speculation. He was well acquainted with the cost of Freemasons' Hall, from experience. The original outlay was £27,000, and in exchange they got £5,000 premium, which reduced the capital cost to £22,000. At first they received £1,200 a year rental, afterwards increased to £1,800, but subsequently reduced to the original sum; why he did not know. They got then seven per cent. for their outlay, and now it was proposed to lay out £30,000 for no real advantage, to say the least, with the prospect of getting one and a quarter per cent. for their money. Bro. Havers objected to granting a lease for fifty years, and said that all experience was against erecting immense halls in which people could not hear. The old Temple was large enough for all ordinary purposes, and he hoped that the brethren would pause before sanctioning an outlay, the extent of which was only problematical. Those familiar with building operations did not need to be told that estimates were generally exceeded, and if the outlay of £30,000 was sanctioned Grand Lodge might find that it was necessary to supplement it with nearly as much again. There was no answer to this speech, and Bro. Webster's amendment, with the exception of the last sentence referring to the leasing of property belonging to Grand Lodge, which was withdrawn, was carried with loud cheers. This was looked upon as a victory for the country members, who have worked so assiduously in this matter, and may be regarded as a set-off to their defeat with regard to the status of Past Masters' question. Bro. Havers then moved that the Special Building Committee be re-appointed to carry out the resolution arrived at, and that the following brethren be added to the Committee:—Bro. T. W. Tew S.G.D. Dep. G.M. West Riding of Yorkshire, Bro. Clement Royds, and Bro. Sir Jabez Goldney, M.P., Dep. P.G.M. Wiltshire. We believe this motion was agreed to; if so, it was sub silentio, for it certainly was not put, although there could be no doubt as to its acceptance. The proposition was well received, especially by the Provincial members, who could see in it a further recognition of themselves as an important factor in Masonic affairs. Bro. Stevens' motion (No. 1) was rejected by an overwhelming majority, and Bro. Smith withdrew his resolution, although he was informed that it could not be put, as ten o'clock had arrived and no fresh business could then be entered upon. There was a motion by Bro. Lieut.-Colonel Creaton relative to the granting of £70 for providing the Institution at Croydon with coals during the winter, but it was not put. We presume the money will be taken from the Fund of General Purposes, and an indemnity asked for at a future meeting.

As will be seen from the foregoing, the business transacted was of a very onerous character, and although we have already called attention to the tact and judgment displayed by the Pro Grand Master, we cannot refrain from again saying that but for his courtesy and firmness, his knowledge of the conduct of public business, and his unwearied exertions, it would have been impossible to get through the work. Notwithstanding the inconvenience endured by most of those present, good feeling prevailed, and a disposition existed to overcome the difficulties that presented themselves. In this matter, too, the officers exerted their influence with praiseworthy diligence, and deserve all credit for their courtesy and efficiency.

Our space is filled, and we cannot enter upon the question of the reinstatement of the Temple in its details. The course is somewhat cleared by the action already determined upon, but there yet remain matters of interest that ought not to be overlooked. There is the library and museum question, the portrait gallery, and improvements in the Temple. We fear that these things will be overlooked, and that simple rebuilding will be entered upon only. At present, however, we must defer further reference.

Digitized by Google

THE MASONIC ELECTIONS.

IN the Masonic as in the profane world the largest throngs of individuals are congregated at an election season. It would seem, at first thought, as though in Masonry it ought to be otherwise; that the current business of the Craft, and the frequent specially interesting proceedings, should attract a large proportion of the membership at the various meetings prior to "election night"; but when we reflect that, after all, the most weighty consideration is, Who shall rule the Fraternity, in its various Masonic bodies? it seems right and proper that the December meeting should draw together the largest number of members. There is no reason, of course, why they should remain away in January, and thereafter, but there is every reason why they should be present in December. The officers of a Masonic body to a large degree stand for the body itself; it is judged by their conduct, it is measured by their ability. If the W.M. be a thoroughly competent and estimable Freemason, he ensures for the Lodge over which he presides a year of concord and prosperity. Brethren should remember this before they determine how they shall cast their votes. The question should not so much be, will my friend be elected? as, will one be elected who will be an honour to the Lodge, a credit to the Fraternity, a capable worker, and a generally efficient officer.

For better or worse, "election night" is one that draws out many of the stay-at-homes. They come in throngs. Sometimes they are so little known as to require introduction all around—the Secretary and a few of the older members only knowing them. These brethren should be very careful how they vote. Some of them go at the request of personal friends, who expect their votes; others go on general principles, to observe once a year what is doing in the Lodge, and to vote for "the best man" for Junior Warden. After all, to the majority, this is the vital question "Who shall be Junior Warden?" Here, we submit, they beg the question. The most important consideration is, "who shall be W.M.?" The J.W. is only a prospective W.M., and until he becomes such, rarely takes part in the government of the Lodge. The fact should never be lost sight of that the Lodge is a microcosm—a little world, imperium in imperio; and most important of all is that it should be wisely and ably governed. The Master should have a governing head and a governing hand, be able to think, decide, and act promptly, be skilled in ruling men as well as making Masons. If such a brother has been presiding over you during the present Masonic year, you cannot do better, nor so well, as to re-elect him for the succeeding term. In the Grand Lodge it has long been customary to have the Grand Officers each serve for two terms in their respective stations, and it would be well for subordinate Lodges to adopt the custom in every case in which their officers have served them diligently, faithfully and skilfully. Ordinarily a W.M. goes out of office just as he has become thoroughly fitted for exercising the prerogatives of his station for the best advantage of the Fraternity. The practised worker and presiding officer must step down, as soon as he has qualified himself for the most skilful performance of his duties. This ought not to be. We trust to see the day come, and it will be a fortunate one for Freemasonry, when the rule shall be that the officers of a subordinate Lodge shall be re-elected, where they have proved efficient in their respective stations. Rotation in office when pushed to an extreme becomes injudicious. At an early period, in this jurisdiction, and generally also in other jurisdictions, all the officers of a Lodge were elected twice a year, prior to each St. John's Day. How absurd was this paltry six months service! How little did the practice thus attained qualify the officers for the best service of the Craft! A year's service does but little more, while two years' service, in meritorious cases, would redound in every way to the benefit of the Fraternity. Brethren, make a break in the present custom, for it is more honoured in the breach than in the observance.

But, supposing a new J.W. is to be selected, whom shall he be? He should be a brother who not only promises well, but has been seen to perform well. He should have already served his Lodge in a subordinate capacity. While exercising the duties of his place, he should have displayed that manliness, energy, whole-heartedness, and manifest ability to do something better in a more responsible position, so as to at once indicate to his brethren that he is worthy of promotion. Then again it sometimes happens that an old member, who has often served the Lodge, in and out of season, but who modestly has kept himself always in the background at the election season, deserves to be honoured. Whoever it is, let his merit speak for him, let his manifest ability command your votes. Above all, see to it that you do not elevate one whose electioneering skill is his predominant ability. Of course every brother may acquaint his personal friends with his willingness to serve as an officer, but this is a very different matter from making a canvass of all the voters, by himself or his friends. Again and again has electioneering been decided to be un-masonic. The most competent, high-minded brethren will not resort to it. When a comparative stranger solicits your vote, it is always safe to say no, and vote against him. He has yet to learn a radical truth in Masonry, that merit is the only passport to official station. We trust that such care will be exercised in the choice of officers in all our Masonic bodies at this season, that the ensuing year shall prove one of unalloyed prosperity.—Keystone.

THE OLD AND NEW.

ONE of the divinest qualities in man is his ability to love the old and the new. The Athenians whom Paul met, and who spent their time in nothing else but either to tell or hear some new thing, lived in the days of Athenian decay and ruin, and do not stand as fair specimens of the human family. That marvellous pageant of learning and art which passes before us at the mention of the name of that city, had marched along and had disappeared almost five hundred years before the Apostle walked the streets, which had once rumbled with the chariots of heroes, or had been marked with the steps of orators and philosophers. Paul knew Athens in its faded age. It had groups of idlers on each corner, and on the steps of each temple, and they loved to say and hear nothing except the sensation of the day. Had the Apostle lived when Socrates and Pericles and Xenophon, and thousands of great men and great women were living for every form of knowledge and for every art, he would have left us a different estimate of Athenian taste and customs. Perhaps in other lands and other times the desire to hear and to tell only some new thing may be a sign of a decaying country.

But was it not, and is it not, a mental merit to be eager for something new? Is not progress itself the fruit of this anxiety to meet with a new fact, or a new idea, or a new emotion? The negative answer is the better one to be given to such inquiries, for that is only a half-mind or a half-heart which looks to the new alone. All narrowness of thought and sentiment must be reckoned among the defects of man rather than among his virtues. To watch for only new appearances is to leave half of the spiritual sky unseen. It is as though one had hope and no memory. To seek ever to hear, or see, or possess some new thing is to make the soul undergo a great reduction of resources and happiness. The evil of the last days of Athens is the evil of our country, as truly, but not as widely. We have a limited number of citizens and strangers always who demand that each day bring them some new excitement. Not some new good or new duty, but the delight of something that had not hitherto come to pass. To these a day would be heavy as lead should it come only in the quiet dress of remembrance, or in the common toilet of simple time—time destitute of conflagration, or murder, or romance, or war, or calamity, public or private. Existence alone is not sweet—they ask for something startling. Could we reach some correct conviction as to this chase after the new, how ardent that chase should be; we should, beyond doubt, be able to lead lives of more scope and of less vicissitude. It is a rather dreadful thing to have our happiness or activity dependent upon a procession of startling events. This is a form of intemperance. Each year more novelties are demanded by this kind of demoralized soul. As the glutton, by his long devotion to his low appetite, increases his capacity and his hunger, and becomes at last as voracious as a carnivorous beast, so the mind can seek and love the new until half the days in the year are made dead days by the absence of amazing events. The gluttonous soul almost wishes some calamity would come, to somebody else, so as to disturb the becalmed sea of its life. To all these we can say: "Behold men gluttonous and wine-bibbers over things new."

Digitized by Google

Let us discuss our theme only in its relation to things spiritual. Let all else illustrate only the mingling of the new and old that must take place in the temple of worship. In the economy of earth the old and new are inseparable partners. Memory and hope are parts of one chain. The old doctrines are not something to be moved away from as society moves away from ignorance, and as famishing people move away from an exhausted country, but they are like old friends or old jewels, unaffected by time. The old truth must enter into the accumulated capital of each heart and seem to be always increasing by a high spiritual interest. The reason why so many clergymen are not to-day preaching the doctrines you heard in early life is because they assume that you are perfectly familiar with them and the arguments upon which they rest. The world of thought is so immense, so many questions are thrown upon society by its peculiar times, that pulpit and pew alike are borne onward by the current and discuss the topics of the hour, because there are not hours enough for a perpetual review of both the present and the past.

When a man plans a new house he does not give his thoughts to the earth which is to hold his home, and the heavens which are over it. He already has the globe and the sky, and now his mind turns towards a simple dwelling-house. He is not tired of earth and sky; he simply forgets them, so full of assurance on that point is his heart. The former pulpit, when building up its house each Sunday morning, assumed nothing, but always went back to the creation of all things from nothing, and having accounted for the existence of the world and the human race, it at last built up a little residence upon a few square feet of this terrestrial sphere. It revealed its affection for the past by going back to it each Sunday. But in those years creation was not far away. Science may have done us all a favour by placing the origin of things so far back that we clergymen are less willing to make a pilgrimage each sermon to a date so remote. But the fact of the creation is not the less noble or sublime because it is not made a perpetual starting point. The old, old story lies before the mind, the greatest in all record or dream. What can be more thrilling than that far-off horizon which was seen by the first man as marked out by the primeval forest or the primeval ocean? For there was a first ocean and a first wood and a first blue sky. And they appeared in company. For when our burning planet cooled off to such a degree that steam and vapours could condense, then soon came ocean and dews and rains; and then came vegetable life, and then came clear blue sky above. Thus, in rich companionship came the grand landscape of our world, made up of sky and cloud and water and hills and trees. And if you will look closely at the old picture you will see man appear and gaze at all in a spirit of joy and wonder. Some choose to note man as coming up from some inferior creature, but there seems little ground for such a marring of the old spectacle. The lowest forms of life known, the protozoa, the sponges, are the same to-day they were a million years ago; the roaches which ran and the snails which crawled in the far-off cycles of time are the roaches and snails which now run and crawl. A distinguished geologist of Montreal alludes with irony to the jump which the evolutions must make to produce from their monad the whale of the sea.

Reading all the recent arguments against evolution, many, once halting between two opinions, are giving up that theory as hopelessly lost. But passing by all variations of mode, and simply assuming a Creator, and at once there lies before us that sublime scene—the making of our world. No vision before man, unless it be the open gates of Paradise, can equal that old event—the rising up of this beautiful earth. With eyes thus turned toward the past, all the love of the new, such as moved the later Athenians, dies out in the heart, and the soul, lost in wonder, does not know which is the deeper mystery—the realm before the cradle of man, or the realm after his grave.—Masonic Review.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Chest and Stomach Complaints.—The source and centre of almost every ailment is impurity of the blood; dislodge this poison, and disease departs. Holloway's Pills exercise the inestimable power of thoroughly cleansing each component of the blood, and rendering the fluid fit to perform its important functions. They cope most successfully with chest diseases, stomach complaints, liver disorders, and many other maladies, which were once the besetting dangers of mankind at certain seasons in town and country. The directions for use enable every one to regulate the operations of these Pills with the greatest nicety. Chronic invalids, valetudinarians, and all whom other treatment has failed to relieve, are respectfully invited to try Holloway's celebrated medicine, which will strengthen and cure them.

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

DOMATIC CHAPTER, No, 177.

THE usual meeting of this flourishing Chapter took place on Thursday, 22nd November, at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, under the direction of Comp. F. Harrison M.E.Z., supported by Comp. T. Cubitt P.Z. as H., J. T. Briggs P.Z. as J., C. A. Cottebrune P.Z. S.E., T. Noton S.N., C. Buckhurst P.S., A. Hubbard 1st A.S., F. C. Austin 2nd A.S., and the well known and highly respected Comp. H. G. Buss P.Z. Treasurer. The business of the evening comprised the reading and confirming the minutes of the last convocation; Bro. H. Woods I.G. Acacia Lodge, No. 1309, Sheffield Club, Sheffield, proposed by Comp. T. Noton S.E., seconded by Comp. J. R. R. Lawrence P.Z.; Bros. W. Thomas 103 Talbot-road, Bayswater, W., J. H. Lewis 22 Great Portland-street, W., T. C. Thomas Osborne Villa Broughton-road, Acton, W., all of the Caxton Lodge, No. 1853, proposed by Comp. G. H. Hill P.Z., and seconded by Comp. C. A. Cottebrune P.Z. and S.E., were then balloted for, elected, and duly exalted into Royal Arch Masonry. After this lengthy business had been completed the Chapter was closed in the usual solemn manner, and the brethren retired to a sumptuous repast, which had been prepared in the well known manner of this favourite hostel. After the usual Loyal and Royal Arch toasts had been disposed of, the I.P.Z. rose to propose the health of the M.E.Z., to whose illness he alluded in a most sympathising manner, hoping the Comps. would overlook any little falling off in the working, as the M.E.Z. had hardly recovered his usual strength and vigour. The M.E.Z. in returning thanks said he was much obliged for the kindly feeling of the Comps., and hoped on a future occasion that no lapse should occur. He was very proud to say that in the Domatic Chapter there were no cliques, and that all was peace and good feeling. He next proposed, in a few suitable words, the health of the exaltees, and hoped that they would prove useful additions to the Chapter. Comp. Thomas who returned thanks for the honour done to himself and the other Comps. who were brethren of the Caxton Lodge, alluded to the feelings which he had first experienced when made an E.A., but how much more had he been impressed with the grandeur of the ceremony he had witnessed that evening; he should always endeavour to do everything to add to the lustre of the Chapter to which he had the honour of being elected. Several Comps. added to the harmony of the evening. The following visitors were present—Comp. T. C. Walls P.P.G.D.C. Middlesex, Comp. the Prov. G.J. East Lancashire, and Comp. Dr. Corrie Jackson P.S. Polish National Chapter, No. 534.

JOPPA CHAPTER, No. 188.

THE regular convocation and installation meeting of this Chapter, so justly celebrated for its perfect working, was held on the 26th ult., at the Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street. Comps. H. P. Isaac Z., S. M. Lazarus as H., A. Henochsberg J., M. J. Emanuel P.Z. S.E., Dewsnap S.N., J. Lazarus P.Z. Treasurer; P.Z.'s M. Lazarus, E. P. Albert, L. Lazarus, H. M. Levy, W. Littaur, P. Dickinson. Visitors—J. E. Sheffield 733, B. Lyons 733, G. A. Gattley 174, M. Emanuel P.Z. late 188, F. Eastwood 1257, Round 1839, Eckstein 1196. The Chapter was opened and minutes of last Convocation confirmed. Bro. H. J. Phillips P.M. 205 was exalted in R.A. Masonry. The working of the M.E.Z. and Officers was perfect. A Board of Installed Principals was now opened, and Comp. L. Lazarus P.Z. was inducted into the chair of M.E.Z. Comp. A. Henochsberg was installed as H., and Comp. W. Littaur P.Z. was installed as J. On re-admission of the Companions, the Z. invested his Officers: Comps. M. J. Emanuel P.Z. S.E., Da Silva S.N., J. Lazarus P.Z. Treasurer, J. Dewsnap P.S., Meiter 1st Assistant, Fearn 2nd Assistant, Goddard Janitor. The resignation of three Companions was accepted with regret, and a letter of apology was read from Comp. Ald. Isaacs, regretting his inability to be present at the installation of the M.E.Z. The Chapter was then closed, and the company sat down to a sumptuous banquet and dessert, provided by Comp. Jennings, and superintended by Comp. M. Silver. Grace having been said, the M.E.Z., in brief and appropriate terms, proposed the usual Loyal and R.A toasts. The M.E.Z. next rose, with great pleasure, to propose the toast of the Exaltee; he had had the pleasure of knowing Comp. Phillips from his youth; he is a Past Master of Lodge No. 205, and had conducted the duties of the chair so satisfactorily that he (Comp. Isaac) was sure he would be a credit to the Joppa Chapter. In the course of events he would doubtless be appointed to office, where he would carry out all duties required of him. Comp. Phillips, in a brief and appropriate speech, responded. Comp. H. P. Isaac I.P.M., in proposing the toast of the M.E.Z., said he had a pleasing duty to perform—to ask them to drink health and prosperity to Comp. Lazarus, who had so ably fulfilled the duties before, and the Companions were assured he would do so again. The M.E.Z. thanked the Companions for having placed him in so proud a position for the second time; he hoped that he might have many opportunities during his year of raising exaltees; he was convinced their prestige for good work would not fall off during his year of office. The toast of the Visitors came next on the list. The Companions were all pleased to see Companion M. Emanuel P.Z., late of the Chapter, as well as the other guests. Comp. Emanuel responded, and said he was much pleased with the working he had seen; he did not think it could be excelled. He was followed by Comp. Eckstein and the rest of the visiting Companions. The M.E.Z. then proposed the toast of the P.Z.'s, who had rendered important services to the Chapter; he hoped the Companions would give the toast a hearty reception; he would couple with it the name of Comp. H. P. Isaac. After the toast had been ably responded to, the H. and J., and the Junior Officers were complimented, and Companions Henochsberg and Dewsnap responded. The Janitor's toast concluded the proceedings. Companions Dickinson P.Z. and Eckstein contributed to the harmony of the evening.

Digitized by Google

ST. PETER'S CHAPTER, ROSE CROIX, BOLTON.

A MEETING of this Chapter was held on Saturday, the 24th November, at the Commercial Hotel, Town Hall-square, Bolton, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Present—Ill. Bro. W. J. Thomson (30) M.W.S.; Bros. Arthur Middleton 1st Gen., J. M. Sinclair 2nd Gen.; Ill. Bro. G. P. Brockbank (32) Treasurer; Bros. J. D. Murray Grand Marshal, T. H. Glendinning Dir. of Ceremonies, A. H. Jafferis Capt. of Guard, John E. Lees Organist, W. M. Wylde, R. H. Swindlehurst Stewards, J. M. Kerr, John Barrett; Past M.W.S.'s Ill. Bros. Rob. Harwood (30), J. W. Taylor (30), and Thos. Morris; Ill. Bros. C. J. Bannister (33) S.G.J.G. North Eastern District, C. R. N. Beswicke-Royds (33) S.G.J.G. North Western District. Visitors—Ill. Bros. Thos. C. Thorburn (M.W.S.) Liverpool Chapter, H. Krauss Past M.W.S. Leeson Chapter. The Chapter was opened in due form, after which the Inspectors-General of the two Northern Districts were received under the arch of steel. Four candidates were balloted for and unanimously elected, and three of them—viz., John W. Edwards of the Affability Lodge, Edwin Eveleigh of the Strangeways, and William Joseph Cunliffe of the Affability, having presented themselves, were duly perfected as Rose Croix Masons, Ill. Bros. G. P. Brockbank (32) presiding at the 1st point, Rob. Harwood (30) at the 2nd point; the duties of Raphael and Grand Marshal being ably conducted by Bro. J. D. Murray. The entire ceremony was quietly and decorously worked, the officers having taken considerable pains to perfect themselves in their respective parts. The older members were much gratified to notice the steady progress of the juniors, whose working was faultless. Letters of apology were read from several of the members, who were unable to attend from sickness and other causes. The brethren were pleased to be again visited by their veteran friend and former Inspector-General, and a resolution was proposed by Bro. Brockbank, seconded by the M.W.S., welcoming the illustrious brother on his return home after a tour in Canada, and expressing gratification at meeting him again in their Chapter, in whose progress and prosperity he has always evinced the warmest interest. Ill. Bro. Bannister suitably replied. Ill. Bro. Royds, Inspector-General of the District, invested the newly obligated brethren, explained to them the symbols of the Order, and completed the ceremony of perfecting the candidates. Considerable structural alterations and additions have been made to and in the house where the meetings of the Chapter are held, and much pleasure was evinced on this occasion to find that greater accommodation had been given for working the beautiful ceremony of this Order, and as the Chapter is one which has always been distinguished for its good working and its neat and appropriate furniture and general appointments, it may be fairly considered one of the most useful and harmonious Chapters in the Northern District. Shortly before dinner a telegram was received by Ill. Bro. Brockbank from Ill. Bro. C. F. Matier (31), Secretary to the Shadwell Clerke Lodge, Holborn Restaurant, London, conveying the hearty good wishes of Colonel Clerke and all the brethren of that Lodge then assembled to the M.W.S. and members of the St. Peter's Chapter at Bolton. This expression of fraternal good will was much appreciated by the brethren, and a return message was sent, reciprocating the kindly sentiments conveyed in the message from the Lodge. The Committee appointed at the last meeting to consider the best way of showing their appreciation of the manner in which Bro. Bannister has discharged the duties of Inspector-General since his appointment to that office, made a report to the brethren, and it was agreed, as the proposal made would be in full accord with the feelings of Bro. Bannister, that the same should be adopted, and the presentation made on a suitable occasion at an early period. Hearty salutations having been given from the visiting brethren, the Chapter was closed at 6 o'clock and the Companions adjourned to banquet.

CITY OF WESTMINSTER LODGE, No. 1563.

THE installation meeting of this excellent working and flourishing Lodge was held on the 22nd ultimo, at the Masonic Rooms, Air-street, Regent-street. Bros. J. A. Hammond W.M., T. W. Eastgate S.W., G. P. Jones J.W., J. E. Shand P.M. as Secretary, H. S. Lee S.D., W. C. Smith J.D., F. Hill I.G., E. H. Hoare Organist, Waugh P.M. Visitors—Bros. T. Smith 1656, J. Hooper 1515, Meliger 1855, R. Pinstead 84, W. S. Cutler W.M. 715, Fitzgerald W.M. 1364, J. H. Scott 1765, S. Dicketts 193, W. Land P.M. 742, De Leliva 1426, E. C. Massey P.M. 1397, C. F. Matier P.S.W. Greece, Stedman W.M. 1765, G. F. Smith 1839, Smith P.M. 1839, Nowakowsky P.M. 534, Rev. Bonavia Hunt P.M. 1765, E. Andrews P.G.O. Cheshire, H. M. Levy P.M. 188. Lodge was opened, and minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Ballots were taken for the admission of Messrs. Hicatt, Christo Jonnadis, and G. Lefort, who were duly initiated into the Order. Bro. H. J. Smith was raised to the third degree. Both ceremonies were very ably rendered by the W.M. The Report of the Audit Committee was read; it showed the Lodge was in a flourishing condition. The Benevolent Fund had in hand a balance of £55 15s 2d. A Board of Installed Masters was opened, and Bro. Eastgate W.M. elect was presented, and in the presence of sixteen Worshipful Masters and Past Masters duly installed in the chair by the retiring Worshipful Master, Bro. Hammond, who did his work in a perfect and impressive manner, that well warranted the encomiums passed on him at the conclusion of the ceremony. Bro. Farwig P.M. 180 acted efficiently as M.C. On readmission of the brethren, the customary salutations were given. The W.M. appointed and invested his Officers, as follow :—Bros. Jones S.W., Lee J.W., Hammond I.P.M. Treasurer, Shand P.M. Secretary, Smith S.D., Hill J.D., Cox I.G., Hoare Organist, Durant M.C., Brander W.S., Potter P.M. Tyler. The selection met with unanimous approval. Two gentlemen were proposed for initiation at next meeting. A letter was received from the Right Worshipful Bro. Colonel Sir Francis Burdett P.G.M. Middlesex, regretting his inability to be present. Hearty good wishes were given, and Lodge was closed. The brethren sat down to a very sumptuous and récherché banquet, provided by Bro. Nicols, and superintended by Bro. Eugene Delacoste; this gave every satisfaction. The W.M. most genially presided, and proposed the usual Loyal toasts. Bro. Hammond I.P.M., in proposing the health of his successor, said the W.M. was an Institution in this Lodge. Bro. Eastgate was perfectly competent to take the chair, to which he had been unanimously elected at the last meeting; the members were all pleased to see him in his present position. Here Bro. John Stedman W.M. 765 sang "Good Company." The W.M. then rose to reply; he could not control the diffidence he felt in responding; he hoped by his deeds, not words, to show he was worthy of the office they had elected him to. The health of the Installing Master, Bro. J. A. Hammond, was next proposed by the W.M.; he felt he need not remind the brethren of the excellent way in which Bro. Hammond had conducted the duties of the chair; by great exertions he had won the respect and esteem of all. He had now to place a jewel on his breast, which he thought might be considered worthy of his acceptance. Might he live long to wear it, and be among them for many years yet to come. Bro. Andrews P.G.O. Cheshire played a selection on the piano,—a march of his own composition. Bro. J. A. Hammond I.P.M., in responding, said it was a great satisfaction to him, after going out of the chair of a Lodge like the one he had had the honour of presiding over, to know his efforts had been appreciated. In wearing the jewel, gratitude for their gift would predominate. On any occasion the Lodge should require his services they would always be at its command. He thanked the Officers for their assistance; and he now left them in the hands of the W.M., feeling assured no better could be found. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the initiate, whom they were pleased to see among them. He was sure when they had passed the other degrees they would show their appreciation of our noble Institution. Bro. Hammond I.P.M. then sang the E.A. Song. Brothers Hicatt and Jonnadis severally responded. The toast of the Visitors was next given. As there were so many present the W.M. would call on the three Masters of Lodges, Bros. G. Seymour Cutler W.M. 715, Fitzgerald W.M. 1366, and Stedman W.M. 1765, to respond. Brother Polt having favoured with a very excellent song, Brother Cutler in an eloquent speech responded. He was followed by Bros. Fitzgerald, and E. Farwig P.M. 180. Bros. Rev. Bonavia Hunt, Andrews, and Matier also severally paid just compliments to Brother J. A. Hammond I.P.M. for his admirable working, and fully recognised the able and genial manner in which the Worshipful Master had presided. Brother Hoare then, with great humour, sang "The Little Fat Grey Man." The P.M.'s were next complimented. There were not many present; the brethren knew their capabilities, and he (the Worshipful Master) was sure he could rely on them on every occasion. Brother Hammond I.P.M. said the Past Masters were getting smaller by degrees and beautifully less. However, those who were left were always ready to do their duty. Brother J. E. Shand P.M. followed; he was the senior member of the Lodge; he was present at its consecration, and he had never missed a meeting. The Past Masters would strive to sustain the prestige of the Lodge. He earnestly desired the Lodge might be a success, and he thought he might say it had been while he had had anything to do with it. The toast of the Treasurer and Secretary was next given. In the present Treasurer they had secured an Officer who would have the interest of the Lodge at heart. To Brother Shand especial thanks were due; he is well qualified to fill the office. Bros. Hammond Treasurer and Shand Secretary responded; the former Brother said he and his colleague had always worked amicably together, and they would continue to do so; he hoped for many years, and for the benefit of the Lodge. The toasts of the Wardens and the rest of the Officers came next, and Brother W. C. Smith S.D. eloquently responded. Brother Hammond sang "In Cellar Cool" splendidly, and then the Tyler's toast was given, and a very agreeable evening was brought to a close. Bros. Durant and Brander paid every attention to the comfort of the Brethren and Visitors.

ST. GEORGE'S LODGE, 1723, BOLTON.

THE last meeting of this Lodge prior to the vacation was held on Wednesday evening, the 28th November, at the Commercial Hotel, Bolton, at 5.30. Present—Bros. Robt. Latham W.M., Wm. Court I.P.M., John Barratt S.W., E. G. Harwood J.W., Nathaniel Nicholson P.M. Secretary, Geo. Ferguson Prov. G. Supt. of Works Treasurer, Alex. Cosgrave S.D., Thos. B. Tong J.D., J. E. Smith Organist, W. E. Bardsley I.G., J. W. Roiley Tyler, Naylor and Derham Stewards; P.M.'s Thos. Morris, G. R. Brockbank P.P.S.G.D., J. W. Heywood, Job H. Greenhalgh; Fogg, Bolton, Whitaker, Morris, Goulburn, Kershaw, Parkinson, Arden, Brierley, Miles Settle, Joel Settle, Hall, Priestley, W. Newell. Visitors—Bros. W. Forrest 221, Siddorn 221, T. Alfred Martin 678, Naylor 37, Higson 348. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Edwin Kershaw passed a satisfactory examination as to his proficiency as an Entered Apprentice, and being thereon entrusted, retired. The Lodge proceeded to second degree, when Bros. Joel Settle and Robert Gorranlock were examined as to their proficiency as Fellow Craft Masons, and the same being satisfactory, were likewise entrusted, and they also retired. The Lodge opened in third degree, when Bro. Joel Settle was raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason by Bro. Jas. Heywood P.M.; Bro. Gorranlock also received the third degree at the hands of Bro. G. P. Brockbank Grand Steward of Scotland, and the working tools of the degree were explained to the candidates. The Lodge closed to the second, when Bro. Kershaw was re-admitted and passed to the degree of Fellow Craft, by Bro. Latham, Worshipful Master of the Lodge. Bro. Miles Settle, who recently had a narrow escape from an untimely death by reason of an accident which occurred at the colliery at which he is the managing partner, in Staffordshire, received the hearty congratulations of the brethren on his return home and to his Lodge, and deep sympathy for his sufferings during the illness which ensued therefrom. Bro. Matthew Fielding, formerly of Lodge Affability, was elected a joining member. It was announced that the W.M. (Bro. Latham,) the S.W. (Bro. Barrett,) and the J.W. (Bro. Harwood,) with Bro. Jas Heywood P.M., had agreed to serve as Stewards at the forthcoming Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and their Widows. A circular was read from the Prov. Grand Secretary requesting the attendance of the duly qualified brethren at the Grand Lodge meeting, to be held on the 5th December. Hearty good wishes were expressed by the visiting brethren, and the Lodge closed in peace and harmony at 8 p.m.

Digitized by Google

ALBERT EDWARD LODGE, No. 1714.

ON Wednesday, 28th ult., the ceremony of installing the newly-elected Master of the Albert Edward Lodge, No. 1614, took place at the Cambridge Hotel; there was a large attendance of brethren. After the ordinary business of the Lodge had been gone through, the Worshipful Master (Bro. E. Nichols), was duly installed according to ancient custom. The Installing Master was Bro. T. J. Pulley P.M., and it is scarcely necessary to say that what he had to do he did in admirable style. After the ceremony of installation, the Worshipful Master invested his Officers, amongst whom were the following:—Bros. W. Lindars S.W., A. Higgerty J.W., T. J. Pulley Treasurer, Bunce Secretary, R. Nichols S.D., J. Linney J.D., Serjt.-Maj. Bunting I.G., Serjt.-Maj. Lindrin and W. T. Price M.C.'s, Serjt. Lee and G. Tice Stewards. One of the pleasing incidents of the meeting was the presentation of a very handsome jewel to the Immediate Past Master, Bro. J. F. Latham. After the proceedings in Lodge had been cleared, the brethren adjourned to the banqueting-room, where a capital dinner was served by Mrs. E. S. Hallett, the proprietress of the hotel. Amongst those present were Bros. the Rev. C. W. Arnold D.P.G.M. P.G.C., H. Hacker, G. Westall, W. W. Ridley, S. Bradley, G. Payne, J. Howson, J. Hickley, R. J. Lapham, J. Dean, G. Nichols, H. Nichols, S. Nichols, J. Olds, W. Dupree, J. Dormor, W. Collins, W. Bayliss, E. Pope, R. McLaughlin, R. Tozer, W. Kelsey, &c.

SHEPHERD'S BUSH LODGE, No. 1828.

THE members of this popular little Lodge celebrated their annual meeting on Monday, the 26th ultimo, when the fifth year of the Lodge's existence was entered upon with very agreeable anticipations for a continued flow of that prosperity which has hitherto attended it. The W.M. of the past year, Bro. R. Pierpoint, opened his Lodge at the "Athenæum," Goldhawk Road, Shepherd's Bush, at 4 p.m., and during the evening he was supported by the following brethren:—P.M.'s L. Bryett, A. B. Baker, G. Harrison, W. Game (Treasurer), A. C. Alais (Secretary); R. Josey S.W. (W.M. elect), P. Burton J.W., W. Williams S.D., C. Breitbart J.D., &c. Amongst the Visitors were Bros. S. W. Sharler 1567, J. Tidmarsh Org. 1636, W. C. Williams J.D. 1585, H. Shaw P.M. 834, J. J. Lewis W.M. 1477, T. J. Ralling P.G. Sec. Essex, J. F. Maidment 1685, R. Fraser I.G. 1705, G. J. Symons P.M. 45, J. Baker Org. 571, D. F. Gillion P.M. 1425, J. R. Walter P.M. 1158, G. Whittaker 1792, William Cubitt J.W. 193, A. Love 1387, H. Philipps 1642, W. H. Hobbiss 858, Geo. Read P.M. 511, J. Hepburn W.M. 1702, G. Hazell 697, W. Crowhurst J.W. 1894, A. Turner M.C. 1894, L. Lichtwitz 1642, G. Gardner J.W. 2012, J. R. Roberts 1642, W. W. Morgan S.W. 211. After the minutes of last meeting had been read and confirmed, the Auditors' report was received and adopted. Bro. Weinell was then raised to the sublime degree of M.M. There were two candidates who desired to be enlightened; one, Mr. Hill, was ballotted for and approved at the last meeting of the Lodge; the other, Mr. James Rosedale, was proposed by Bro. Vandyk, seconded by Bro. Alais P.M. and Hon. Secretary. In this case the ballot was favourable, and both gentlemen having been announced, they were admitted and received the benefit of Masonic light, the W.M. giving a very careful rendering of the ceremony. The W.M. elect was now introduced, and the ceremony of installation was proceeded with. The Board of Installed Masters in due course completed their portion of the work of the day, and the brethren below the degree of I.M. were re-admitted, and the Worshipful Master was formally saluted in the three degrees. Bro. Baker acted throughout as Master of Ceremonies, while the Father of the Lodge, Brother L. Bryett, presented the working tools. The Officers were appointed as follows:—Bros. Burton S.W., Williams J.W., Game P.M. Treasurer, Alais P.M. Secretary, Braitbart S.D., Fisher (named as) J.D., House M.C., Paul I.G., Wyatt Senior Steward, White Junior Steward, Schofield P.M. Tyler. The address to the Worshipful Master was given by Brother Baker; that to the Wardens by Brother Harrison; while Brother Bryett gave the one to the members with intense fervour and with admirable effect. The Past Master's jewel of the Lodge was now presented to Bro. Pierpoint; this had been voted by the brethren at last meeting. Bro. Josey, who made the presentation, complimented Bro. Pierpoint on the way he had carried out his duties. In acknowledgment Bro. Pierpoint said, if he had given satisfaction he felt amply repaid. He had striven to the best of his ability, and it was gratifying to know his efforts had been appreciated. He hoped to be associated for many years with the brethren of the Lodge. Bro. Harrison offered his services as Steward for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, and it was proposed by Bro. Baker that ten guineas be voted from Lodge funds to be placed on Bro. Harrison's list. This was seconded by Bro. Pierpoint and carried unanimously. Bro. Clarke P.G.P. thanked the Lodge on behalf of Bro. Terry, who, he stated, was prevented by another important engagement from being present. Lodge was shortly afterwards closed. A very elaborate banquet was provided by Brother Ward, who is the recognised caterer for this Lodge. Brother Ward brings considerable experience to bear on the proper carrying out of his arrangements, but on the present occasion we cannot compliment him; the time taken up by the service sadly marred the enjoyment we look for in the after proceedings. On the removal of the cloth Brother Josey, however, lost no time; the preliminary toasts were dismissed with a few but very pertinent remarks. Brother Clarke P.G.P. replied to the toast of the Grand Officers, and made allusion to what may be termed the burning question of the day, and which he reminded would come on for settlement at approaching meeting of Grand Lodge. Brother Pierpoint proposed the health of the Worshipful Master. All the brethren were well acquainted with Brother Josey's genial qualities. He was fully capable of undertaking all the duties required of a Master of a Lodge. Personally he (Brother Pierpoint) felt assured that at the end of his year the brethren would have full cause to compliment Brother Josey on the result of his labours. In reply the W.M. said he was grateful to Bro. Pierpoint for the kindness he had shown in proposing the toast, and he thanked one and all for the reception they had given it. After a song by Brother Pierpoint—We yet may meet again—which was enthusiastically encored, the health of the Initiates was proposed by the W.M. and the E.A. Song was given by Bro. Bryett. Bro. Rosedale sincerely thanked all for the cordial way in which they had received the toast. Bro. Hill assured the brethren he had fully appreciated the reception he had met with; he trusted he might long be associated with the Lodge and the members present. The W.M. proposed the toast of the Visitors, and after Bro. Reynolds had given a capital recital, Bro. Ralling replied; he fully appreciated the kindness of the W.M. in calling on him to respond first for the Visitors. Bro. Lewis was the next who responded, it was only a short time since he himself was installed. He was gratified at seeing the prosperity of the Shepherds Bush Lodge, Brother Reed and Brother J. Tidmarsh also acknowledged the toast. The health of the I.P.M. was next on the list. The members were much indebted to Bro. Pierpoint, and he (the W.M.) felt they could not possibly have had a better Master. Bro. Baker here sang a capital song, in which he was accompanied on the pianoforte by Bro. Hobbis. In reply Bro. Pierpoint said he had found his yoke easy and his burden light. However, the result to him had been a most agreeable one. He had received the undivided support and assistance of the brethren. He felt, if he might be allowed to say so, it was with great regret he left the chair. He tendered his thanks to all, especially for the testimony of the regard shown for him by the members. In replying for the Past Masters Brother Bryett said this was the fourth anniversary of the consecration, and he felt he could recommend what had been done to the notice of members of many other Lodges. There was a spirit of good feeling existing that made everything pleasant and agreeable. All did the best they could for the advancement of the Lodge. Brother Baker was always present at the meetings, in fact all take a part, and might be described as a working staff of Past Masters. Brother Harrison also replied; he made an urgent appeal for the Institutions, and recounted how at the last Elections so many deserving candidates were left out in the cold. Brother Harrison's remarks were eloquently supplemented by Brother Bryett, who, in proposing Prosperity to the Masonic Institutions, forcibly described the good work being done. Brother Clarke replied to the toast, again regretting the absence of Brother Terry. Several other toasts followed, but the late hour to which the proceedings had been prolonged, necessitated the departure of many who had trains to catch. We tender our congratulations to the brethren on the progress this popular Lodge is making.

Wandsworth Lodge of Instruction, No. 1044.—Bro. James Stevens P.M. P.Z. delivered his interesting lecture, "Knobs and Excrescences," explanatory of the rituals and ceremonial of the First Degree, to a large assemblage of brethren, members and visitors, in the above Lodge of Instruction, on Tuesday, the 20th ult. Amongst those present were Bros. G. J. Jones W.M., F. Knipler S.W., H. Lee J.W., J. Carter P.M. and Preceptor, Higerty Secretary, Harman S.D., Ellis S.D., Cowley I.G., Foot, Cleaver, Black, Joyce P.M., Bain, Hardiman, Shearman, W. Carter P.M., Marshall, Hurn, G. R. Smith, Bate, R. Bell, W. H. Jones, C. Tarry 1790, F. J. Cuthbert 1815, H. Ackermann 1815, Montague Shearman 1146, H. Kendrick 1044, &c. Lodge was opened at 7.30 and minutes were read, after which the W.M. introduced Bro. Stevens, whose able lecture gave the greatest satisfaction to all present. For upwards of two hours the brethren gave earnest attention to the remarks of the lecturer, frequently expressing their cordial agreement therewith, and, at its conclusion, Bro. Stevens resumed his seat amidst loud applause. Bro. Carter P.M. and Preceptor proposed that a vote of thanks and honorary membership should be accorded to the worthy lecturer, at the same time expressing his decided opinion that the lecture should be heard by all those who desired a clearer insight into Masonic working than they at present enjoyed. Bro. Knipler S.W. seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously. Bro. Stevens, in returning thanks, stated his readiness to repeat the lecture whenever and wherever invited to do so. Bro. Montague Shearman 1146 and Kendrick 1044 were elected members, and the Lodge was closed in due form.

NORTH LONDON MASONIC BENEVOLENT BALL.

A COMMITTEE has been formed, who announce to their friends that a ball will take place at Myddelton Hall, Upper-street, Islington, on Tuesday, 8th January 1884, in aid of the Masonic Charitable Institutions. The tickets, which will admit either lady or gentleman, 6s each, will include refreshments throughout the evening. Bro. T. Meekham P.M. 619, 1288, and Bro. P. Forge W.M. 619, P.M. 1950, will officiate as M.C.'s on the occasion, while Bros. S. Price P.M. 1288, H. Sprake 813, J. Baker 1471, C. Dearing 1602, C. F. Snook 1693, H. Huggins 1288, and H. Harding 1471 will act as Stewards. Dancing to commence at 9 o'clock. Bro. C. Hammond 820, 1471, Upper-street, Islington, N., has undertaken the duties of Treasurer, and Bro. E. Woodman J.W. 1950, 50 Marquess-road, Canonbury, will act as Secretary.

Digitized by Google

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our Correspondents.

All Letters must bear the name and address of the Writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return rejected communications.

—:o:—

THE HIGH GRADES OF ANTIENT AND PRIMITIVE MASONRY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I have no intention of embarking in a controversy with Bro. Yarker; it would serve no useful purpose. I have fulfilled the task you entrusted me with, of reviewing his "Historical Lecture," and your readers are in a position to form their own opinion of my work. I have carefully looked through the two articles I devoted to his pamphlet, and nowhere do I find that I have overstepped the limits of civility. The brief I received from you did not contain on its outside, "no case; abuse the plaintiff's attorney,"—I should have written "defendant's attorney," but it matters not,—your one suggestion being, that there was no need to parade the writer's titles. It is impossible I could have any grudge against a man I had neither seen nor spoken to, while I take no credit to myself for not having disgraced my review by an uncalled-for reference to "pot-house scrapings and comic songs,"—that is the style of writing in which innately vulgar people delight.

I will, however, claim your indulgence while I make a few remarks. The effect of Bro. Yarker's letter—as long almost as his lecture—has been to confirm me in my opinion as to the utter worthlessness of what he has been attempting to palm off on a few deluded brethren as Masonic history. It strikes me, he is very much like the man who is said to have written an essay on "Chinese Metaphysics," having previously studied all the articles he could find in Encyclopædias and elsewhere on "China" and "Metaphysics" respectively, and then jumbled them up together. If I may judge Bro. Yarker by his own estimate of himself, his reading must have been various and extensive; if I judge him by the result of such reading—knowledge—I find it a curious compound of propositions either long since exploded, or never worth the paper on which they were printed.

Faithfully and fraternally yours,

YOUR REVIEWER.

BRO. YARKER AND GRAND MASTER PAYNE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Bro. Yarker, in his pamphlet reviewed in recent issues of your paper, says, on p 10—"It can be proved that there was in existence in 1717 certain Craft Lodges which had no participation in the formation of the Grand Lodge of London, and even the Grand Master was prohibited from visiting these Lodges." In a foot note he gives as his authority for this statement, or a part of the statement—which part he does not indicate—Leon Hyneman's "Ancient York and London Grand Lodges," published at Philadelphia in 1872. Your Reviewer seems to cast doubt upon the value of that authority, but that I pass by. Bro. Yarker, in last week's CHRONICLE, asks the following, among other questions: "Does he [Reviewer] not know that G.M. Payne was censured by G.L., and was requested not to attend their so-called Lodges?" meaning, of course, other Lodges than those of which G.L. was composed. Now I do not wish to enter into a contest with Bro. Yarker, nor do I desire to impart any heat into a dispute sufficiently strained already. I venture to point out, however, that in Bro. Gould's "Four Old Lodges," p 34, there is the following: "In 1730, Anthony Sayer, the Premier Grand Master, was publicly admonished and well-nigh expelled for taking part in illegal assemblies of dissatisfied Masons, who were seeking to undermine the authority of the Society they and others had so recently constituted." Has Bro. Yarker confounded Bro. Payne's name with Bro. Sayer's? If so, foot notes to the paragraph from which I have quoted in Bro. Gould's work partly prove the offence, which does not bear out Bro. Yarker's contention, for which Brother Sayer was censured, and as a friend reminds me that, as the matter occurred "in 1730, there were then no 'Ancients' in existence."

Yours fraternally,

S. J. B.

With one exception the meeting of the General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, held at Freemason's Hall, on Saturday last, was of a formal character. Permission was given in the case of a boy, whose times expires in January next, to remain until June 1884, owing to his unavoidable absence for a year, during which time he was under medical treatment for an accident, caused by no fault of his own. The usual outfit of £5 was granted to three late pupils of the Institution. The case of the boy Herring was again brought on, and Bro. Binckes said, from a letter he had received from Bro. H. S. Alpass, Grand Sword Bearer, he could state the lad, one of three children, would be entitled, when he attained the age of twenty-one years, to a third share of £1,598. From this it will be seen that the former statement as to the amount was not true, and Bro. C. H. Webb now apologised for any share he might have had in spreading an exaggerated report. He still felt, however, that the case ought never to have been entertained, and gave notice of motion as follows: "1st. That the resolution of the Quarterly Court of April last be rescinded, so far as relates to the candidature of Frank Alexander Herring. 2nd. That Frank Alexander Herring be ineligible for the benefits of this Institution (except by purchase), and that his election in October be declared void. 3rd. Subject to the above being carried, that the highest unsuccessful candidate at the election in October last be declared elected." Brother C. H. Webb also gave notice of the following motion:—"That the General Committee have power to place to the credit of every accepted fatherless candidate at each election any number of votes, not exceeding the number the father was entitled to at the time of his death, multiplied by the number of years he had been so qualified."

CREMATION IN DORSET.

THE first full Masonic funeral ceremony that has occurred in England for nearly a century took place at Manston, near Sturminster-Newton, Dorset, on Tuesday afternoon, when the remains of the late Captain Hanham were deposited in the family mausoleum to await the cremation he in his will provided for. The invocations were read, and addresses were delivered by Provincial Grand Master Montague Guest, M.P. There was a very large attendance of Masons and the public generally.

The remains of the late Captain Thomas Barnabas Hanham, who died last week, aged fifty-eight, were cremated at Manston on Tuesday night last, in the furnace or "cremator" built close to the deceased's house, immediately on the banks of the river Stour, partially from the designs of Captain Hanham, in whose lifetime the building was commenced. When the late Mrs. Hanham, the wife of the deceased, was cremated, more than a year ago, a great deal of iron was used in the furnace; but on account of the warping and partial fusion on that occasion, metal was in the present proceedings only employed where absolutely necessary. The masonry of the furnace is very solid, the exterior being of common brick, and all parts exposed to the flames being composed of firebrick. The place in which the coffin was deposited was some four or five feet from the base of the brickwork, and in the clear was 7 feet long by 2 feet 6 inches wide. The coffin rested on firebrick bars 10 inches thick and 9½ inches apart. These bars had sloping sides, down which the ashes and remains fell on the firebrick plates or pockets. These plates slanted from a central ridge to the sides of the brickwork, and were so arranged that although the fire could play all round the coffin not a particle of the ashes or other burnt remains of the body could escape. The height of the recess containing the coffin was 2 feet 3 inches from the arched roof to the bars before mentioned, and in the roof were three apertures, having a chamber from which the smoke escaped in a low, square chimney. There were four peep-holes ranged at regular intervals round the recess, so that the medical men could, when necessary, watch the process. The brickwork at the back of the recess was twenty-two inches thick, and in the front fourteen inches. A short distance above and below the coffin chamber the brickwork was strengthened by thick angle-shaped iron. There were three fire-boxes a short distance from the ground, the ash-pans of which were level with the ground.

The coffin, which had been placed in the mausoleum near the house with Masonic ceremonies during the afternoon, was removed to the "cremator" soon after seven o'clock in the evening, and having been placed in position, under the directions of Dr. Comyns Leach, the front of the chamber was closed with thick firebrick slabs or doors, which, together with the peep-holes, before mentioned, were made air-tight with mortar.

Everything having been got ready, the fires were lighted at exactly twenty minutes to eight, in the presence of Mr. J. C. S. Hanham, Dr. Comyns Leach, of Stourminster Newton, Mr. Montague Guest, M.P., Colonel C. J. Hambro, Mr. Bennett Stanford, Dr. C. Parkinson, of Wimborne, Dr. Tarzewell, of Stourminster-Newton, Mr. E. T. Budden, of Wimborne, and a few privileged friends of the deceased. The dense volume of smoke which followed the immediate lighting of the fires was soon succeeded by flames from the top of the chimney, spreading a glare around which could be seen for a considerable distance. The flames, however, at no time reached a very great height, owing to excellent arrangements made for internal combustion.

The best Forest of Dean coal was used, and in a very short time the thick firebrick slabs in front of the coffin chamber were red hot. At twenty minutes to ten the peep-holes before referred to were opened alternately by Dr. Comyns Leach, who pronounced cremation even then to have been to all practical purposes completed. Nothing of the coffin remained excepting the handles and screws and small pieces of white hot charcoal. The limb bones had fallen apart and had become highly calcined, but as some carbon still remained to be consumed, the peep-holes were accordingly reclosed. The fires still burnt with unabated vigour, but the brickwork was so solid that little of the heat was felt under the awning by which it was covered. So far the proceedings had been perfectly successful. Not the least offensive smell could be detected, and so far as sanitation was concerned nothing further could be desired. The fires were kept up till nearly eleven o'clock, by which time the cremation may be said to have been completed, and that very satisfactorily.

Digitized by Google

THE IMPERIAL HOTEL,

HOLBORN VIADUCT, LONDON,

Adjoining the Terminus of the London Chatham and Dover Railway, but distinct from the Viaduct Hotel.

THE BEST FURNISHED AND MOST COMFORTABLE HOTEL IN LONDON.
HOT & COLD WATER LAID ON IN ALL BED ROOMS.
The appointments throughout so arranged as to ensure domestic comfort.

EVERY ACCOMMODATION FOR MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS,
Public Dinners & Wedding Breakfasts.

The Crusaders Lodge, No. 1677, and Perseverance Lodge, No. 1743, hold their meetings at this establishment.

GOOD COOKING. FINE WINES. MODERATE CHARGES.
The Edison Electric Light.
TARIFF on APPLICATION to Bro. A. BEGBIE.

HOLLY BUSH TAVERN, HAMPSTEAD,

(Close to the Fire Station).

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; BALLS and ASSEMBLIES; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c. Rail and Bus within easy distance.

The members of the St. John's Lodge, No. 167, have held their meetings at this establishment for many years.

Full particulars and Tariff on application to
C. M. FROUD, Proprietor.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL SPECIAL BUILDING FUND.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

In connection with such Special Fund, attainable until 31st December 1883.

Any present Life Governor of the General Fund, or any Donor who may qualify as such up to the date named above, will receive—

TWO VOTES,—instead of One Vote, for LIFE, for every FIVE GUINEAS contributed to the "Special Fund."

Lodges, Chapters, &c., similarly qualified may secure Two Votes instead of One Vote—for every Ten Guineas contributed to the "Special Fund."

 Ladies, and "Lewises"—being minors—similarly qualified, and all Vice-Presidents, will receive FOUR Votes for every Five Guineas so contributed.

Contributors of less than Five Guineas, to the "Special Fund," will be entitled to Votes as under ordinary conditions.

Now Ready, Crown 8vo, 96 pp,

Price One Shilling,

Free by Post on receipt of 24 Halfpenny Stamps,

OCCASIONAL PAPERS
ON
THE HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.

Written expressly for delivery in Lodges of Instruction.

London: W. W. MORGAN,
Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N.
AND BY ORDER OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

Secretaries of Lodges of Instruction can be supplied carriage free, at 10/- per dozen.

PAUL & BURROWS,

MANUFACTURERS OF
SODA WATER AND SELTZER WATER,
LEMONADE AND GINGER BEER,
GINGER ALE AND POTASH WATER,
&c. &c.
FIRST CLASS QUALITY ONLY
WILSON and ENDELL STREETS, LONG ACRE, LONDON, W.C.
ESTABLISHED EIGHTY YEARS.

Brother C. G. SPARROW,

ACCOUNTANT AND AUDITOR,
17 FINSBURY PAVEMENT, E.C.

Accounts audited periodically at a moderate annual charge
Terms on application.

Twelfth Edition, post free, One Shilling.

DR. WATTS on ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS. A Treatise on the only successful Method of Curing these Diseases. By Robert G. Watts, M.D., F.R.S.L., F.C.S., &c., 5 Bulstrode-street, Cavendish-sq., London.
London: C. Mitchell and Co., Red Lion-court, Fleet-street; and Simpkin and Co., Stationers' Hall-court

GRAND LODGE OF MARK MASTER MASONS
OF
ENGLAND AND WALES
AND THE
COLONIES AND DEPENDENCIES OF THE BRITISH CROWN.

THE RIGHT HON. LORD HENNIKER,
MOST WORSHIPFUL GRAND MASTER.

THE RIGHT HON. THE EARL OF KINTORE,
RIGHT WORSHIPFUL DEPUTY GRAND MASTER.

A MEETING OF EMERGENCY
WILL BE HELD
On SATURDAY, 8th DECEMBER 1883,
At 3 o'clock in the afternoon precisely,
AT
FREEMASONS' TAVERN, GREAT QUEEN STREET, LONDON,

By Special Dispensation from the M.W. Grand Mark Master Mason:—
TO CONFER ON
H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES,

Who has signified his intention to be present,
THE RANK OF
MOST WORSHIPFUL PAST GRAND MASTER.

Morning Dress.

By command of the M.W. Grand Master,
FREDERICK BINCKES (P.G.J.W.)
Grand Secretary.

Office:—8a Red Lion Square, London, W.C.
26th November 1883.

N.B.—After the Meeting of Emergency a Banquet will be provided at
THE HOLBORN RESTAURANT, VENETIAN ROOM,
at Half-past Four o'clock. Tickets 17s 6d each, inclusive of wine. Seats will be reserved for those only who apply, with requisition duly signed.

THE BOLTON HOTEL,

DUKE ROAD, CHISWICK,

A few Minutes from three Railway Stations—the Chiswick and Hammersmith on the North London; the Chiswick, on the South Western; and the Metropolitan, Turnham Green.

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c.

The Chiswick Lodge holds its Meetings here. "The 'Bolton' is a cosy and very pleasant home."—Vide Masonic Press.

Tariff and particulars promptly supplied.
THOMAS WRIGHT, Proprietor.

TESTIMONIAL TO BRO. W. J. HUGHAN, P.G.D.

President:
THE RIGHT HON. THE EARL OF ZETLAND,
Provincial Grand Master of North and East Yorkshire.

Committee:

Right Hon. the Earl Ferrers P.G.M. Leicestershire and Rutland.
J. Derby Allcroft Grand Treasurer.
Horace Brooks Marshall, C.C.
J. P. Bell Past Grand Deacon, D.P.G.M. North and East Yorkshire.
T. W. Tew Grand Senior Deacon, D.P.G.M. West Yorkshire.
Hon. W. T. Orde-Powlett P.P.G.W. North and East Yorkshire.
Sir J. Meek P.P.G.W. North and East Yorkshire.
Magnus Oxbrn P.G.A.D.C.
W. Kelly, F.S.A., P.P.G.M. Leicestershire and Rutland.
D. Murray Lyon Grand Secretary Scotland.
George Kenning P.P.G.D. Middlesex.
Thomas Fenn P.G.D.
Rev. T. Robinson Past Grand Chaplain.
G. Toller jun. P.G.S.B., D.P.G.M. Leicestershire.
Dr. H. Hopkins P.M. 41, 43, P.P.G S.W. Warwickshire.
T. J. Ralling Prov. Grand Secretary Essex.
E. L. Hawkins Prov. Grand Senior Warden Oxon.
M. C. Peck Prov. Grand Secretary North and East Yorkshire.
J. H. Neilson P.M. 620 I.C., P.G.S.W. and Representative G.L. Egypt.
J. W. Woodall P.P.G.S.W. Prov. G.M.M.M. North and East Yorkshire.
J. Le Cronier D.P.G.M. Jersey.
Rev. C. J. Martin P.G.C., D.P.G.M. Suffolk.
G. L. McKay P.P.G.S.W. and Prov. G. Sec. Cumberland and Westmoreland.
Robert Case Prov. Grand Secretary Dorset.
George Taylor Prov. Grand Secretary Worcestershire.
J. Smith Eastes D.P.G.M. Kent.
G. P. Brockbank P.P.G.D. East Lancashire, Grand Steward Scotland.
F. Binckes Past Grand Steward, Secretary R.M I.B.
T. Y. Strachan D.P.G,M.M.M. Northumberland and Durham.
Rev. W. C. Lukis P.P.G. Chaplain West Yorkshire.
R. Hudson Prov. Grand Secretary Durham.
J. Brook Smith D.P.G.M. Gloucester.
W. G. Rogers D.P.G.M. Devon.
Captain Colville P.G.S.W. Cornwall.
C. Fenderlow 33° P.P.G.W. Staffordshire.
R. S. Brown P.M., &c., Edinburgh.
James Newton P. Prov. S.G.D. East Lanc.
J. H. Silliton P.P G.D.C. and P.G.J. East Lanc.
Edgar Bowyer Grand Standard Bearer.
N. B. Headon P.M. 1426.
R. Muckle Past Grand Treasurer Penn.
J. S. Cumberland P.G.S.W. N. and E. Yorkshire.
J. Todd P.P.G. Reg. N. and E. Yorkshire.
Hon. F. J. Townshend, LL.D., K. of the Grand Chapter Ireland.
Canon Tristram, D.C.L., Prov. G.M.M.M. Northumberland and Durham.
R. C. Else D.P.G.M. Somersetshire.
Colonel Adair, P.G.D. G. Supt. Somersetshire.
E. D. Anderton P.G. Sec. Cornwall.

Subscriptions may be forwarded to George Kenning, Treasurer pro tem, Little Britain, London, E.C.

Digitized by Google

PROV. GRAND LODGE OF LEICESTERSHIRE AND RUTLAND.

THE Annual Meeting of this Provincial Grand Lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, on Wednesday, the 28th ult., under the auspices of the Commercial Lodge, No. 1391.

In the absence of the R.W. Provincial Grand Master the Right Hon. the Earl Ferrers, the R.W. Past Prov. Grand Master Brother William Kelly, F.S.A., F.R. Hist. Soc., occupied the chair, and was supported by W. Bro. George Toller jun., P.G.S.B. England, the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, and a large number of Provincial Grand Officers, amongst whom were W. Bros. C. E. Stretton P.S.G.W., M. J. Walker P.P.J.W., Revs. J. Bird and A. P. Dawson P.G. Chaplains, R. Waite P.G. Treasurer, S. S. Partridge P.G. Sec., J. Halford and J. O. Law P.G.D.'s, R. Bradshaw Smith P.G. Supt. of Works, J. Young P.G.D.C., E. Taylor P.G.A.D.C., G. Oliver and J. Hassall P.G. Pursuivants, C. Oliver, E. Jeeves, B. A. Smith, R. R. Cole, and R. Michie, P.G. Stewards, and Bros. Dunn and Tanser P.G. Tylers, also W. Bros. Rev. W. Langley and W. B. Smith P.P.G.S.W.'s, J. T. Thorp P.P.J.G.W., Revs. F. H. Richardson and C. Henton Wood P.P.G. Chaplains, W. S. Allen and F. J. Baines P.P.G.D.'s, S. Clever P.P.G.A.D.C., Captain J. G. F. Richardson P.P.G.S.B., H. Nicholson and W. Vial P.P.G. Organists, M. H. Lewin and C. J. Wilkinson P.P.G.P.'s, C. Gurden P.P.G.S.B., E. Watson W.M. 1391, D. Challis W.M. 523, F. Griffith W.M. 1265, J. Wiggins W.M. 1330, A. H. Burgess I.P.M. 1560, R. S. Toller W.M. 1560, and many others. Amongst the visitors were W. Brothers J. Terry Secretary R.M.B.I., J. S. Cumberland P.P.J.G.W. N. and E. Yorkshire, and John Featherston W.M. 1656.

The Rolls of Lodges and of Provincial Grand Officers having been called and duly responded to, the minutes of the previous annual meeting of P.G. Lodge, which had been previously printed and circulated amongst the members, were taken as read, and were confirmed.

The Prov. Grand Secretary read the Report of the Provincial Committee of General Purposes, which presented a very satisfactory account of the condition of Masonry in the Province, and alluded particularly to the great interest shown in Masonic matters in the county town, to the rapid increase in the number of members during the past few years, and to the consequent want of additional Lodges in order to satisfy the claims of the many competent deserving brethren aspiring to take office. At the present time Leicester, having a population of somewhere about 130,000, only numbers four Lodges. The Report after dealing with some other local matters, referred specially to the Revision of the Book of Constitutions and to the desirable alterations and additions which have been made in the interests of the Provinces, and urged upon the brethren to support to the utmost those alterations and additions when they came before Grand Lodge at the December Quarterly Communication. An exception, however, was made in reference to the revised clause (No. 186), relating to the status of joining P.M.'s of Craft Lodges, the Committee, so far as their knowledge and experience in this Province extends, failing to perceive the existence of any hardship in the present position of such P.M.'s, and it was therefore considered that failing any reasonable compromise the present amendment ought not to be confirmed.

The Report was, on the motion of Bro. Langley, seconded by Bro. C. E. Stretton, duly adopted.

The following Report of the Provincial Charity Committee was read by Brother the Rev. W. Langley.

The Charity Committee are again glad, in presenting their Annual Report, to register the fact that their candidate, at the April election of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls, Caroline Louisa Weare, was elected eighteenth on the successful list of 22. The number of votes polled by the Leicestershire Province was 1275, which may be thought by some to be largely in excess of the requirements of the case, seeing that one of those elected only polled 878; but upon examining the list it will be found that the lowest of the first 21 out of 22 polled 1208, and that No. 22 must consider herself exceptionally fortunate in securing election at a figure so very much lower than those well versed in the matter predicted it safe to stand at. The large number of 1275 polled by this Province was made up as follows, votes in hand 458, votes borrowed 748, votes given to the Secretary by W. Bro. Captain Homfray D.P.G.M. of Monmouthshire 65, and 4 polled by unknown subscribers. The debts of the Province at the present time are as follows:—Boys: To Derbyshire, 485; less owing to us, 70—total 415. Girls: To North Wales, 50: Derby, 108; Monmouth, 265—total, 423. The thanks of the Committee are due to Worshipful Brother Captain Homfray D.P.G.M. of Monmouthshire, and to Worshipful Brother William Nott, of Wilts, for kindly co-operating with their Secretary in securing the election of Bro. Weare's child. No brother having offered his services as Steward at the ensuing Festival for the Girls' School, the Committee propose that Bro. S. S. Partridge P.P.S.G.W. and Prov. Grand Secretary be nominated as Steward to represent this Province at the forthcoming Festival of the Benevolent Institution for Aged Masons and their Widows, and the Committee have voted the sum of £21 to be placed on his list for the Widows' Fund.

The Committee have great pleasure in commending the Charity Association to the brethren of the Province, and point to the large increase of voting power as the fruit of its successful working. They cannot close their Report without rendering their hearty thanks to Worshipful Bro. Captain Richardson, who so successfully represented the Province at the last Festival of the Boys, when the magnificent sum of £405 was given in as his list.

The accounts have been examined and duly audited, showing a sum of £53 15s 4d to the credit of the Committee.

(Signed) G. TOLLER jun., D.P.G.M.
Chairman.

Freemasons' Hall, Leicester,
6th November 1883.

The D.P.G.M., in moving the adoption of the Report, and of a vote of thanks to Bro. Langley referred, in eulogistic terms, to the services of that brother as Secretary to the Charity Committee, the skill with which he discharged the duties of the office, and the great amount of thought and labour which he brought to bear in carrying out the arrangements for, and bringing the election of the local candidate to, a successful issue. The motion and vote of thanks were seconded by Bro. Thorp, supported by Bro. Capt. Richardson, and carried unanimously, the latter taking the opportunity at the same time of referring to the grand result of his Stewardship for the Boys, and pointing out the absolute necessity for continued exertions in face of the increasing number of applicants year by year for admission to the various Masonic Charities. Bro. Richardson hoped that the brethren would not stem the tide of their benevolence in coming years, but would cheer the efforts of future Stewards by according to them at least an equal measure of support to that which it had been his good fortune and privilege to receive. It should be observed that Bro. Richardson's list for the Boys', which amounted to about £405, averaged, as nearly as possible, £1 per head on the total number of members in the Province, such number being 406, as shown by the last annual returns to P.G. Lodge.

Bro. S. S. Partridge P.G. Sec. was unanimously elected to represent Provincial Grand Lodge as Steward at the ensuing Festival for the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution.

The P.G. Registrar's report was submitted, showing the number of members returned as 451, but which, after making allowances for members subscribing to more than one Lodge, was reduced to an actual membership of 406.

The Provincial Grand Treasurer's account, an abstract of which had been printed with the summons for P.G. Lodge, was submitted. The account showed a balance in hand on the General Fund of £92 4s 8d, and on the Charity Fund, £23 15s 4d. It was unanimously resolved that the account be passed, and the best thanks of the P.G. Lodge be given to Bro. R. Waite P.G. Treasurer for his services. Bro. R. Waite was then re-elected P.G. Treasurer.

The P.G. Officers for the ensuing year were appointed and invested as follows:—

Bro. J. T. Thorp P.M. 523	P.S.G.W.
W. S. Allen P.M. 779	P.J.G.W.
Rev. A. P. Dawson 1560	P.G. Chaplain
Robert Waite P.M.	P.G. Registrar
A. H. Burgess I.P.M.1 560	P.G. Treasurer
S. S. Partridge P.M. 523	P.G .Secotary
S. Cleaver P.M. 279	P.S.G.D.
E. Watson W.M. 1391	P.J.G.D.
F. Griffith W.M. 1265	P.G.S. of Works
J. Young P.M. 523	P.G.D.C.
C. Gurden W.M. 279	P.G.A.D.C.
J. Wiggins W.M. 1330	P.G. Sword Bearer
T. B. Laxton 1391	P.G. Organist
B. Wood P.M. 1007	P.G. Pursuivant
R. R. Cole 50	P.G.A. Pursuivant
D. Challis W.M. 523	P.G.S.B.
R. R. Bellamy 779, R. S. Clifford 1007, H. J. Goodall 1130, L. P. Chamberlain 1265, J. E. Beazeley 1891, J. B. Fowler 1560	G. Stewards
T. Dunn 523	G. Tyler
J. Tanser 279

A Report of the Leicester Freemasons' Hall Committee, on the subject of certain proposed additions to the Hall, was then brought up, and after a very long discussion was referred back to the Committee for reconsideration, with a recommendation that an alternative scheme for an entire reconstruction of the Hall premises or the erection of a new building on another site should be submitted for the approval of Provincial Grand Lodge.

The valuable services of Bro. C. C. Stretton P.P.S.G.W., as Honorary Secretary to the Leicester Freemasons' Hall Committee, were duly recognised by a cordial and unanimous vote of thanks to him, which was proposed by the Right Worshipful Grand Master, and seconded by Bro. M. J. Walker P.P.G.J.W.

Several communications were read, including letters from Bro. H. Smith Prov. Grand Secretary West Yorkshire, on the subject of Resolutions passed by the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire with reference to the proposed re-building or reinstating of the old Masonic Temple at Grand Lodge, and from Bro. T. B. Whytehead Prov. S.G.W. N. and E. Yorkshire, on the subject of the proposed testimonial to Bro. W. J. Hughan P.G.D.

On the proposition of Bro. S. S. Partridge, seconded by Bro. W. Kelly, it was resolved that Provincial Grand Lodge should contribute to the proposed testimonial to Bro. Hughan.

Letters of apology for absence having been read from Bros. W. J. Hughan P.G.D., W. Nott Secretary Wilts Charity Committee, Fred. Walters P.P.G.D. Middlesex, J. M. Moore P.P.G. Reg. Derby, and others, Provincial Grand Lodge was closed in form.

FUNERALS.—Bros. W. K. L. & G. A. HUTTON, Coffin Makers and Undertakers, 17 Newcastle Street, Strand, W.C. and 30 Forest Hill Road, Peckham Rye, S.E.

Digitized by Google

GRAND MARK LODGE.

ON Tuesday evening the Half-yearly Communication of Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons of England and Wales and the Colonies and Dependencies of the Crown was held at the Freemasons' Tavern, under the presidency of the Rt. Hon. Lord Henniker M.W.G.M.M.M., R.W. Bro. Rev. Thos. Robinson Prov. G.M. Kent acted as D.G.M.M., Colonel Gough, LL.D., Prov. G.M. Staffordshire as G.S.W., Hon W. T. Orde-Powlett P.G.M. North and East Yorkshire as G.J.W. There was a very large assemblage of the brethren, and the proceedings throughout were more than usually interesting. After the minutes of the last Half-yearly Communication of the 5th June, and of the Special Grand Lodge of 30th October, had been read and confirmed, Lord Henniker moved a resolution, of which due notice had been given, as follows:—"That the rank of Most Worshipful Grand Master be conferred upon His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales; and that the name of His Royal Highness be placed at the head of the list of Past Grand Masters of the Order." Lord Henniker congratulated the brethren on the accession of the Prince of Wales to their ranks, and thought it right that they should do the highest possible honour to him. The motion having been seconded, it was carried unanimously. Although His Royal Highness was unable to be present at that meeting, he has promised to be present to-day (Saturday), at three o'clock, to receive the rank of Past Grand Master which was agreed to be conferred upon him. The Earl of Kintore Dep. G.M. was elected Grand Master for the ensuing year. Upon the application of Bro. Woodall, of Scarborough, Prov. G.M. North and East Yorkshire, Lord Henniker said that he had fixed the next moveable Grand Mark Lodge to be held at York on some convenient day in May. Charity jewels were awarded to a number of brethren. From the report we gather that 694 certificates have been issued in the half-year ended 30th Sept., and that the total number of registered advancements was 18,165; warrants for four new Lodges have been granted during the same period. In the degree of Royal Ark Mariner 43 certificates have been issued, and the total registered elevations was 1393. The Fifteenth Anniversary Festival of the Mark Benevolent Fund, held at the Crystal Palace on 28th July, resulted in the sum of £729, the largest amount yet realised. The educational branch of the fund is increasing its benefits; at present nine boys and three girls are under its care, and fresh applications are being received; the election for two boys and two girls will shortly take place. The sum of £20 each was granted to two brethren of the Adams and Roberts Lodges. The balance-sheet records progress. The General Fund shows that during the half year £500 New Zealand Bonds have been purchased. The Benevolent Fund has been advancing; £305 has been transferred to the Educational Fund, and £100 Queensland Bonds have been purchased, leaving still a better balance at the bankers than was there in March. The invested funds are as follows:—General Fund £2,600, Benevolent Fund £1,800, Educational Fund £900. A further sum of £200 in each case has been ordered to be invested on behalf of the Benevolent and Educational Funds. After the closing of Grand Lodge, the brethren adjourned to banquet, and as Lord Henniker was unable to stay, the chair was taken by Bro. Binckes, who discharged the duties of the office in a very able manner.

Medina Lodge, No. 140.—The installation of the W.M. of this Lodge took place at the Masonic Hall, West Cowes, on Thursday, 29th ult., Brother T. W. Faulkner P.M. ably performed the ceremony of installing the W.M. elect, Bro. C. J. Airs S.W. The following officers were appointed by the W.M.—Bros. Faulkner I.P.M. and Treasurer, Mursell S.W., the Rev. G. Pickering J.W., Haxthausen Secretary and R.M., Roberton M.O., Rutland S.O., Sullivan J.O., Poland S.D., Horst J.D., Patch I.G., Lawrence Tyler. The brethren then sat down to an excellent banquet, provided by Brother W. Lawrence, and served in the banqueting-room.

The members of the Lodge of Prosperity, No. 65, announce that a ball in connection with their Lodge will be held at the Cannon-street Hotel, on Wednesday, 9th January 1884. Tickets can be had of Bro. George T. Brown P.M. and P.Z, Hon. Sec., 4 Beaufort-street, Chelsea, S.W.; they will include supper and light refreshments during the evening. Double, to admit lady and gentleman, 21s; single, to admit gentleman, 15s; single, to admit lady, 10s 6d.

THE HUGHAN TESTIMONIAL.

ON Wednesday, 5th inst., a meeting was held at Freemasons' Tavern, for the purpose of appointing a Committee and transacting other business in connection with the proposed testimonial to Bro. W. J. Hughan P.G.D. Both London and the Provinces were influentially represented, and the utmost unanimity prevailed as to the object for which the meeting was convened. Bro. Rev. Thos. Robinson P.G. Chaplain occupied the chair, and, in introducing the subject to the meeting, spoke in the highest terms of the merits and claims of Bro. Hughan, and of the esteem and affection in which he was universally held. He called on Bro. Whytehead to explain what had been already done to further the objects they had in view, and the subsequent steps the promoters proposed to take.

Bro. Whytehead stated that the idea of a testimonial on an extensive scale had been suggested to him by the one that had been so successfully carried out in Cornwall. He felt that the merits of their worthy brother were as highly appreciated by Masons in different parts of the country, and in fact wherever English Masonry existed, as they were in the Province which had so largely benefited by his services, and the letter he forwarded to the Freemason suggesting that such a fund should be raised was a spontaneous act on his part, without consultation with any one, and with no idea of prominently putting himself forward as the leader of the movement. But in consequence of that letter he received personally a number of communications sympathising with the movement and volunteering help. He, therefore, willingly undertook the duties of Secretary until a meeting could be called to formally appoint a Committee, &c. He had much pleasure in proposing that a fund be opened for the purpose of presenting a suitable testimonial to Bro. W. J. Hughan P.G.D., in recognition of his literary and other services to the Craft.

This was seconded by Bro. J. McKay Prov. Grand Secretary for Cumberland and Westmorland, and carried unanimously.

The following resolutions were then proposed and carried.

Proposed by Bro. E. D. Anderton Prov. G. Sec. Cornwall, and seconded by Bro. J. S. Eastes D.P.G.M. Kent:—"That the brethren mentioned on the printed list which appeared in last week's Freemason be a Committee for carrying out the above suggestions."

Proposed by Bro. George Kenning, and seconded by Bro. Whytehead:—"That the Earl of Zetland Prov. G. Master of North and East Yorkshire be President, and Bro. J. D. Allcroft Grand Treasurer be Vice-President."

Proposed by Bro. E. D. Anderton, and seconded by Bro. McKay:—"That Bro. George Kenning be Treasurer, and Bros. T. B. Whytehead and W. Lake joint Honorary Secretaries."

Proposed by Bro. George Kenning, and seconded by Bro. Eastes:—"That in addition to those already published, the names of the following brethren be added to the Committee: Bros. Edgar Bowyer Grand Standard Bearer, N. B. Headon P.M. 1426, R. Muckle Past Grand Treasurer Penn., Capt. Colville P.G.S.W. Cornwall, J. S. Cumberland P.G.S.W. North and East Yorkshire, J. Todd P.P.G. Reg. North and East Yorkshire, Hon. F. J. Townshend, LL.D., K. of the Grand Chapter Ireland, Canon Tristram, D.C.L., Prov. G.M.M.M. Northumberland and Durham, R. C. Else D.P.G.M. Somersetshire, Colonel Adair P.G.D. Grand Supt. Somersetshire, E. D. Anderton P.G. Sec. Cornwall.

It was further resolved, after some discussion, that the subscription be not limited to one guinea, as had been first announced.

A petition is about to be presented to the Grand Master for a warrant for a new Lodge, to be styled "The Abbey Lodge," and to meet at the Town Hall, Westminster, the foundation stone of which was laid in 1882 by the Baroness Burdett Coutts. It is to be formed out of the parochial bodies meeting at that place, comprising the joint vestries of St. Margaret's and St. John, and District Board of Works for Westminster. The first Master recommended to the Grand Master is Bro. W. Burdett-Coutts, who was initiated in the Apollo University Lodge of Oxford; Bro. W. H. Baker to be the first Senior Warden, and Bro. Frederick Seager Hunt the first Junior Warden. Bro. J. E. Shand P.M. of the City of Westminster Lodge, No. 1563, is to be Secretary. The names of several highly influential brethren in Westminster are appended to the petition.

THE LONDON COTTAGE MISSION.—The new hall of this most deserving charity, at Salmon's Lane, Limehouse, was, on Wednesday last, filled again and again with hundreds of the miserable little children, with whom the East End of London swarms, and who stood outside shivering in the bitter northern blast and waiting their turn for their welcome weekly dinner of hot Irish stew. This is the second time there has been a "dinner Wednesday" this season, and it is sincerely to be hoped, for the sake of the hungry little folks of Limehouse, Stepney, and the neighbourhood, that the exertions being made to keep them going during the coming winter will be crowned with success. But for this to be so, funds are most urgently wanted, indeed, it has been already a task of no small difficulty to provide the Irish stew needful to send the crowd of ragged little urchins away full and happy for their one day in the week. To aid in such good work many a kindly heart will doubtless be willing, and all who would lend a helping hand can send in their contributions forthwith to the Bankers, the London and South Western Bank, 7 Fenchurch Street, E.C.; the Lady Superintendent, Miss Napton, 304 Burdett Road, Limehouse, E.; or Mr. Walter Austin, 44 Finsbury Pavement, E.C., who will thankfully receive and acknowledge all subscriptions and donations.

Digitized by Google

DIARY FOR THE WEEK.

We shall be obliged if the Secretaries of the various Lodges throughout the Kingdom will favour us with a list of their Days of Meetings, &c., as we have decided to insert only those that are verified by the Officers of the several Lodges.

—:o:—

SATURDAY, 8th DECEMBER.

108—London, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street
173—Phœnix, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
176—Caveac, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street
198—Percy, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., at 8 (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7 (Instruction)
1426—The Great City, Cannon Street Hotel
1612—West Middlesex, The Institute, Ealing
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1671—Mixpah, Albion Hotel, Aldersgate-street
1839—Duke of Cornwall, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1928—Gallery, Brixton Hall, Acre Lane, Brixton
1964—Clerkenwell, Holborn Viaduct Hotel, E.C.
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-st., W., at 8

308—Prince George, Private Rooms, Bottoms, Eastwood
R.A. 1235—Phœnix of St. Ann, Court Hotel, Buxton

MONDAY, 10th DECEMBER.

22—Loughborough, Cambria Tavern, Cambria Road, near Loughborough Junction, at 7.30. (Instruction)
29—St. Albans, Albion, Aldersgate-street
45—Strong Man, Excise Tavern, Old Broad Street, E.C., at 7 (Instruction)
59—Royal Naval, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
90—St. John, Albion, Aldersgate-street, E.C.
136—Good Report, Inns of Court Hotel, Lincoln Inn Fields
174—Sincerity, Railway Tavern, Railway Place, Fenchurch Street, at 7. (In)
180—St. James's Union, Union Tavern, Air-street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
186—Industry, Bell, Carter-lane, Doctors-commons, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
193—Confidence, Anderton's Fleet-street, E.C.
222—St. Andrews, 101 Queen Victoria-street
548—Wellington, White Swan, High-street, Deptford, at 8 (Instruction)
967—Leigh, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1237—Enfield, Market-place, Enfield
1425—Hyde Park, Fountain Abbey Hotel, Praed Street, Paddington, at 8 (In).
1489—Marquess of Ripon, Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-rd., Hackney, at 7.30 (In)
1507—Metropolitan, The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C., at 7.30 (Inst.)
1571—Leopold, Gregorian Arms, Bermondsey
1585—Royal Commemoration, Fox and Hounds, Putney, at 8. (Instruction)
1606—Kilburn, 46 South Molton Street, Oxford Street, W., at 8. (Inst.)
1623—West Smithfield, Farringdon Hotel, Farringdon-street, E.C. at 8 (Inst.)
1625—Trafalgar, Royal Hotel Mile End Road, corner of Burdett Road. (Inst).
1670—Adelphi, 4 Adelphi Terrace, Strand
1693—Kingsland, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N., at 8.30 (Instruction)
1806—Bromley St. Leonard, Vestry Hall, Bow-road, Bromley
1891—St. Ambrose, Baron's-court Hotel, West Kensington
R.A. 22—Mount Sion, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street
R.A. 58—Felicity, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall Street
R.A. 933—Doric, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 7. (Instruction)
R.A. 1118—University, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.C. 53—Holy Sanctuary, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden-square

40—Derwent, Castle Hotel, Hastings
61—Probity, Freemason's Hall, St. John's-place, Halifax
75—Love and Honour, Royal Hotel, Falmouth
104—St. John, Ashton House, Greek-street, Stockport
151—Albany, Masonic Hall, Newport, I.W.
240—St. Hilda, Freemasons' Hall, Fowler-street, South Shields
262—Salopian, the Lion Hotel, Shrewsbury
264—Nelson of the Nile, Freemasons' Hall, Batley
292—Sincerity, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
296—Royal Brunswick, Freemasons' Hall, Surrey-street, Sheffield
297—Witham, New Masonic Hall, Lincoln
382—Royal Union, Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge. (Instruction)
408—Three Graces, Private Rooms, Haworth
411—Commercial, Flying Horse Hotel, Nottingham
467—Tudor, Red Lion Hotel, Oldham
481—St. Peter, Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle
502—Rectitude, Town Hall, Rugby
587—Howe, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
589—Druids of Love and Liberality, Masonic Hall, Redruth
613—Unity, Masonic Hall, Southport
665—Montague, Royal Lion, Lyme Regis
721—Independence, Masonic Chambers, Eastgate-row-north, Chester
724—Derby, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
797—Hanley, Hanley Hall, Dartmouth
883—Meridian, National School Room, Millbrook, Cornwall
949—Williamson, St. Stephen School, Monkwearmouth, Durham
1021—Hartington, Masonic Hall, Custom House Buildings, Barrow-in-Furness
1069—United Brothers, Castle Hotel, Southsea
1174—Pentangle, Sun Hotel, Chatham
1231—Defence, Masonic Hall, Carlton-hill, Leeds
1253—Travellers, Queen's Hotel, Manchester
1350—Fermor Hesketh, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1436—Sandgate, Masonic Hall, Sandgate
1449—Royal Military, Masonic Hall, Canterbury
1474—Israel, Masonic Hall, Severn-street, Birmingham
1542—Legiolium, Masonic Hall, Carlton-street, Castleford
1575—Clive, Corbet Arms, Market Drayton
1592—Abbey, Suffolk Hotel, Bury St. Edmunds
1611—Eboracum, Queen's Hotel, Micklegate, York
1618—Handyside, Zetland Hotel, Saltburn-by-Sea
1656—Wolsey, White Hart Hotel, Hampton Wick
1790—Old England, Masonic Hall, New Thornton Heath
R.A. 156—Harmony, Huyshe Masonic Temple, Plymouth
R.A. 377—Hope and Charity, Masonic Hall, 128 Mill Street, Kidderminster
R.A. 379—Tyntc, Masonic Hall, Old Orchard Street, Bath
R.A. 827—St. John, Masonic Temple, Halifax-road, Dewsbury
M.M. 9—Fortescue, Masonic Hall, South Molton, Devon
M.M. 171—Union, Freemasons' Hall, Union-street, Oldham
K.T.—Jerusalem, Queens Hotel, Manchester
K.T. 56—Hugh de Papens, Old Bull Hotel, Blackburn
R.C. 22—Victoria, Ipswich

TUESDAY, 11th DECEMBER.

15—Kent, Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street
55—Constitutional, Bedford Hotel, Southampton-bldgs., Holborn, at 7 (Inst.)
65—Prosperity, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7. (Instruction)
96—Burlington, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate street
141—Faith, Queen Anne's Restaurant, Queen Anne's Gate, St. James's Park Station, at 8. (Instruction)
177—Domatic, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30 (Instruction)
180—St. James's Union, Freemasons' Hall, W.C
188—Joppa, Champion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, at 7.30. (Instruction)
193—Percy, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street, E.C.
211—St. Michael, Albion, Aldersgate-street, E.C.
228—United Strength, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, City
235—Nine Muses, Willis's Rooms, St. James's
548—Wellington, White Swan, Deptford
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney (Instruction)
753—Prince Frederick William, Eagle Tavern, Clifton Road, Maida Hill, at 8 (Instruction)
820—Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond, at 7.30 (Instruction)
834—Ranelagh, Criterion, W.
890—Dalhousie, Sisters' Tavern, Prewnall-road, Dalston at, 8 (Instruction)
933—Doric, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
1044—Wandsworth, Star and Garter Hotel, St. Ann's-hill, Wandsworth (Inst).
1196—Urban, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1349—Friars, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1360—Royal Arthur, Rock Tavern, Battersea Park Road, at 8. (Instruction)
1381—Kennington, The Horns, Kennington. (Instruction)
1446—Mount Edgcumbe, 19 Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8 (Instruction)
1471—Islington, Champion, Aldersgate Street, at 7, (Instruction)
1472—Henley, Three Crowns, North Woolwich (Instruction)
1540—Chaucer, Old White Hart, Borough High Street, at 8. (Instruction)
1558—D. Connaught, Palmerston Arms, Grosvenor Park, Camberwell, at 8 (In)
1593—Royal Naval College, Ship Hotel, Greenwich
1602—Sir Hugh Myddelton, Queen's Head, Essex Road, N., at 8.30 (In)
1604—Wanderers, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1614—Covent Garden, Criterion, Piccadilly
1668—Samson, Regent Masonic Hall, Air-street, W.
1695—New Finsbury Park, Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, at 8 (Inst)
1707—Eleanor, Trocadero, Broad-street-buildings, Liverpool-street, 6.30 (Inst)
1949—Brixton, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, East Brixton, at 8. (Instruction)
Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, 6.30
R.A. 145—Prudent Brethren, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 185—Jerusalem, Freemasons' Tavern, W.C.
R.C. 71—Bayard, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden-square

33—Social, 23 St. Giles Street, Norwich
126—Silent Temple, Cross Keys Inn, Burnley
131—Fortitude, Masonic Hall, Truro
184—United Chatham of Benevolence, Assembly Rooms, Old Brompton, Kent
241—Merchants, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
272—Harmony, Mason c Hall, Main Ridge, Boston
284—Shakespeare, Masonic Rooms, High-street, Warwick
373—Socrates, George Hotel, High-street, Huntingdon
406—Northern Counties, Masonic Hall, Maple Street, Newcastle (Instruct)
473—Faithful, Masonic Hall, New Street, Birmingham
495—Wakefield, Masonic Hall, Zetland Street, Wakefield
503—Belvidere, Star Hotel, Maidenhead
603—Zetland, Royal Hotel, Checkheaton
624—Abbey, Masonic Hall, Union-street, Burton-on-Trent
626—Lansdowne of Unity, Town Hall, Chippenham
696—St. Bartholomew, Anchor Hotel, Wednesbury
726—Staffordshire Knot, North Western Hotel, Stafford
779—Ferrers and Ivanhoe, Town Hall, Ashby-de-la-Zouch
892—Royal Edward, Royal Oak Hotel, Leominster
897—Loyalty, Fleece Inn, St. Helens, Lancashire
903—Gosport, India Arms Hotel, High-street, Gosport
986—Hesketh, Grapes Inn, Croston
1120—St. Milburga, Tontine Hotel, Ironbridge
1214—Scarborough, Scarborough Hall, Caledonia-road, Batley
1250—Gilbert, Masonic Rooms, Sankey Greenhall, Street, Warrington
1335—Stanley, 214 Great Homer-street, Liverpool, at 8 (Instruction)
1347—Lorne, Greyhound Hotel, Cuckfield, Surrey
1466—Ockenden, Talbot Hotel, Sutton, Sussex
1509—Madoc, Queen's Hotel, Portmadoc
1545—Baildon, Masonic Room, Northgate, Baildon
1578—Tonbridge, Masonic Hall, Tonbridge
1713—Wilbraham, Walton Institute, Walton, Liverpool
R.A. 43—Fortitude, Great Western Hotel, Birmingham
R.A. 70—St John's, Huyshe Masonic Temple, Princes Street, Plymouth
R.A. 163—Integrity, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester
R.A. 265—Judea, Masonic Club, Hanover-street, Keighley
R.A. 289—Fidelity, Masonic Hall, Carlton-hill, Leeds
R.A. 324—Reason, Wellington Inn, Caroline Street
R.A. 402—Royal Sussex, Masonic Hall, Nottingham
R.A. 537—Zion, 9 Hamilton Street, Birkenhead
R.A. 540—Stuart, Bedford
R.A. 991—Tyne, Masonic Hall, Wellington Quay, Northumberland
M.M. 15—St. George's, Masonic Hall, Gandy Street, Exeter
M.M. 152—Dover and Cinque Ports, Royal Oak Hotel, Dover
R.C.—Liverpool, Masonic Hall, Liverpool

WEDNESDAY, 12th DECEMBER.

3—Fidelity, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
11—Enoch, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
13—Union Waterloo, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich
15—Kent, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
30—United Mariners', The Lugard, Peckham, at 7.30. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Horse Shoe Inn, Newington Causeway, at 8. (Inst)
87—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth
147—Justice, White Swan, High-street, Deptford
193—Confidence, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, at 7.30 (Instruction)
228—United Strength, Prince Alfred, 13 Crowndale-rd., Camden-town, 8 (In)
538—La Tolerance, Morland's Hotel, Dean Street, Oxford St. at 8 (Inst)
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7 (Instruction)
781—Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, E.
813—New Concord, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. (Instruction)
862—Whittington, Red Lion, Poppin's-court, Fleet-street, at 8 (Instruction
1260—John Hervey, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1278—Burdett Coutts, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel Road, E., at 8. (Inst.)
1288—Finsbury Park, Cock Tavern, Highbury, at 8 (Instruction)
1305—St. Marylebone, Langham Hotel, W.
1306—Lodge of St. John, City Arms Tavern, St. Mary Axe
1321—Emblematic, Goat and Star, Swallow Street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
1445—Prince Leopold, Moorgate Tavern, Moorgate Street, at 7 (Instruction)
1475—Peckham, Lord Wellington Hotel, 518 Old Kent-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1524—Duke of Connaught, Royal Edward, Mare-street, Hackney, at 8 (Inst)
1538—St. Martin's-le-Grand, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham Street
1586—Upper Norwood, White Hart Hotel, Upper Norwood
1604—Wanderers, Adam and Eve Tavern, Palmer St., Westminster, at 7.30 (In)
1610—Northern Bar, Holborn Viaduct Hotel
1662—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow, at 7.30 (Inst.)
1694—Imperial, Cadogan Hotel, Sloane-street, Chelsea
1718—Centurion, Imperial Hotel, Holborn-viaduct
1791—Creaton, Prince Albert Tavern, Portobello-ter., Notting-hill-gate (Inst.)
1900—Montagne Guest, Inns of Court Hotel, Lincoln's Inn-fields
1922—Earl of Lathom, Station Hotel, Camberwell New Road, S.E., at 8. (In.)
R.A.—Camden, The Boston, Junction Road, Holloway, at 8.30. (Instructio n)
R.A. 177—Domatic, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-st., at 8 (Instructio n)
M.M.—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, at 8 (Instruction)
R.C. 1—Grand Metropolitan, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden-square

54—Hope, Spread Eagle Inn, Cheetham-street, Rochdale
86—Loyalty, Masonic Hall, Prescot, Lancashire
125—Prince Edwin, White Hart Hotel, Hythe, Kent
128—Prince Edwin, Bridge Inn, Bolton-street, Bury, Lancashire
146—Antiquity, Bull's Head Inn, Bradshawgate, Bolton
191—St. John, Knowsley Hotel, Haymarket-street, Bury, Lancashire
204—Caledonian, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester.
219—Duke of Athol, Bowling Green Hotel, Denton
225—St. Luke's, Coach and Horses Hotel, Ipswich
268—Amphibious, Freemasons' Hall, Heckmondwike
277—Friendship, Freemasons' Hall, Union-street, Oldham
281—Fortitude, Masonic Rooms, Athenæum, Lancaster
284—Harmony, Masonic Hall, Todmorden
380—Integrity, Masonic Temple, Commercial-street, Morley, near Leeds
387—Aircdale, Masonic Hall, Westgate, Shipley
483—Sympathy, Old Falcon Hotel, Gravesend
567—Unity, Globe Hotel, Warwick
580—Harmony, Wheat Sheaf, Ormskirk
606—Segontium, The Castle, Carnarvon

Digitized by Google

668—Benevolence, Private Rooms, Prince Town, Dartmoor
755—St. Tudno, Freemasons's Hall, Llandudno
758—Ellesmere, Masonic Hall, Runcorn, at 7.30. (Instruction)
851—Worthing of Friendship, Steyne Hotel, Worthing
852—Zetland, Albert Hotel, New Bailey-street, Salford
854—Albert, Duke of York Inn, Shaw, near Oldham
910—St. Oswald, Masonic Hall, Ropergate, Pontefract
972—St. Augustine, Masonic Hall, Canterbury. (Instruction)
1018—Shakespeare, Freemasons' Hall, Salem-street, Bradford
1031—Fletcher, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
1060—Marmion, Masonic Rooms, Church-street, Tamworth
1064—Borough, Bull Hotel, Burnley
1094—Temple, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1101—Grey Friars, Masonic Hall, Reading
1209—Lewises, Royal Hotel, Ramsgate
1218—Prince Alfred, Commercial Hotel, Mossley, near Manchester
1248—Denison, Grand Hotel, Scarborough
1264—Neptune, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7 (Instruction)
1342—Walker, Hope and Anchor Inn, Byker, Newcastle
1356—De Grey and Ripon, 140 North Hill Street, Toxteth Park, Liverpool
1398—Baldwin, Dalton Castle, Dalton-in-Furness
1424—Brownrigg, Assembly Rooms, Old Brompton, Chatham
1434—Nottinghamshire, George Hotel, Nottingham
1511—Alexandra, Hornsea, Hull (Instruction)
1520—Earl Shrewsbury, Public, Rooms, Cannock, Stafford
1547—Liverpool, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.
1582—Llanidloes, Trewythen Arms, Llanidloes
1638—Brownrigg, Sun Hotel, Kingston-on-Thames, at 8. (Instruction)
1643—Perseverance, Masonic Hall, Hebburn-on-Tyne.
1645—Colne Valley, Lewisham Hotel, Slaithwaite
1797—Southdown, Hurstpierpoint, Sussex
1947—Stanford, Town Hall, Hove
R.A. 62—Social, Queen's Hotel, Piccadilly, Manchester
R.A. 88—Pythagoras, Red Lion Hotel, Cambridge
R.A. 251—Loyalty and Virtue, Freemasons' Hall, Barnstaple
R.A. 350—Meribah, Grapes Inn, Stonecliough, near Manchester
R.A. 409—Stortford, Chequers Inn, Bishop's Stortford
R.A. 673—St. John, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 703—Clifton, Clifton Arms Hotel, Blackpool
R.A. 709—Invicta, Bank Street Hall, Ashford
M.M. 192—St. Cuthbert, Masonic Hall, The Parade, Berwick

THURSDAY, 13th DECEMBER.

3—Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-street, Fitzroy-sq., at 8 (Instruction)
19—Royal Athelstan, City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street
27—Egyptian, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction
87—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth, at 8 (Instruction)
147—Justice, Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford, at 8. (Instruction)
206—Friendship, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street, E.C.
238—Pilgrim, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
263—Bank of England, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street, E.C.
435—Salisbury, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
534—Polish National, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
657—Canonbury, Albion, Aldersgate-street
704—Camden, Lincoln's Inn Restaurant, 305 High Holborn, at 7 (Instruction)
764—High Cross, Coach and Horses, Lower Tottenham, at 8 (Instruction)
860—Dalhousie, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
879—Southwark, Southwark Park Tavern
901—City of London, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, at 6.30. (Instruction)
902—Burgoyne, Cock Tavern, St. Martin's-court, Ludgate-hill, at 6.30 (Inst)
1076—Capper, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
1158—Southern Star, Pheasant, Stangate, Westminster-bridge, at 8 (Inst.)
1185—Lewis, Kings Arms Hotel, Wood Green, at 7 (Instruction)
1216—Macdonald, Head Quarters 1st Surrey Rifles, Camberwell
1227—Upton, Swan, Bethnal Green-road, near Shoreditch, at 8 (Instruction)
1339—Stockwell, Cock Tavern, Kennington-road, at 7.30 (Instruction
1425—Hyde Park, The Westbourne, Craven-road, Paddington
1426—The Great City, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
1457—Bagshaw, Princes Hall, Princes-road, Buckhurst Hill
1558—Duke of Connaught, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
1614—Covent Garden, Cranbourne, 1 Up. St. Martin's Lane, W.C., at 8. (Inst.)
1622—Rose, Stirling Castle Hotel, Church Street, Camberwell. (Instruction)
1673—Langton, Mansion House Station Restaurant, E.C. at 6. (Instruction)
1677—Crusaders, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 9 (Inst.)
1681—Londesborough, Berkeley Arms, John Street, May Fair, at 8. (Instruct).
1708—Plucknett, Bald Faced Stag, East Finchley
1791—Creaton, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1950—Southgate, Railway Hotel, New Southgate, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1987—Strand, Ashley's Hotel, Covent Garden
R.A. 72—Royal Jubilee, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
R.A. 753—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, at 8. (In.)
R.A. 1471—North London, Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, at 8. (Instruction)
M.M. 86—Samson and Lion, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C.
K.T. 117—New Temple, Inner Temple, London

35—Medina, 85 High-street, Cowes
97—Palatine, Masonic Hall, Toward-road, Sunderland.
112—St. George, Masonic Hall, Fore-street Hill, Exeter
116—Royal Lancashire, Swan Hotel, Colne
139—Britannia, Freemasons' Hall, Surrey-street, Sheffield
203—Ancient Union, Masonic Hall, Liverpool. (Instruction)
208—Three Grand Principles, Masonic Hall, Dewsbury
216—Harmonic, Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool.
249—Mariners, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8 (Instruction)
275—Harmony, Masonic Hall, South Parade, Huddersfield
283—Amity, Swan Hotel, Market-place, Haslingden
333—Royal Preston, Castle Hotel, Preston
337—Candour, New Masonic Rooms, Uppermill, Saddleworth
338—Unanimity, Crown Hotel, Penrith, Cumberland.
341—Wellington, Cinque Ports Hotel, Rye
344—Faith, Bull's Head Inn, Radcliffe, Lancashire
346—United Brethren, Royal Oak Inn, Clayton-le-Dale, near Blackburn
350—Charity, Grapes Inn, Stonecliough, near Manchester
369—Limestone Rock, Masonic Hall, Church-street, Clitheroe
456—Foresters, White Hart Hotel, Uttoxeter
462—Bank Terrace, Hargreaves Arms Hotel, Accrington
468—Hundred of Elloe, Masonic Rooms, London Road, Spalding.
477—Mersey, 55 Argyle-street, Birkenhead.
546—Etruscan, Masonic Hall, Caroline-street, Longton, Stafford.
636—Ogle, Masonic Hall, Morpeth
659—Blagdon, Ridley Arms Hotel, Blyth
732—Royal Brunswick, Royal Pavilion, Brighton.
739—Temperance, Masonic Room, New-street, Birmingham.
784—Wellington, Public Rooms, Park-street, Deal
786—Croxteth United Service, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
945—Abbey, Abbey Council Chamber, Abingdon, Berks
991—Tyne, Masonic Hall, Wellington Quay, Northumberland
1035—Prince of Wales, Masonic Hall, Kirkdale, Liverpool.
1055—Derby, Knowsley's Hotel, Cheetham, Lancashire
1098—St. George, Private Room, Temperance Hotel, Tredegar, Mon.
1125—St. Peter, Masonic Hall, Tiverton, Devon
1144—Milton, Commercial Hotel, Ashton-under-Lyne
1145—Equality, Red Lion Hotel, Accrington
1147—St. David, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester.
1164—Eliot, Private Rooms, St. German's, Cornwall.
1182—Duke of Edinburgh, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1204—Royd, Imperial Hotel, Malvern, Worcestershire.
1273—St. Michael, Free Church School-rooms, Sittingbourne
1369—Bala, Plasgoch Hotel, Bala
1416—Falcon, Masonic Hall, Castle Yard, Thirsk
1429—Albert Edward Prince of Wales, Masonic Hall, Newport, Mon
1576—Dee, Union Hotel, Parkgate, Cheshire
1590—Cranbourne, Red Lion Hotel, Hatfield, Herts, at 8. (Instruction)
1593—Corbet, Corbet Arms, Towyn
1597—St. Giles, Royal Oak Hotel, Cheadle
1697—Hospitality, Royal Hotel, Waterfoot, near Manchester
1782—Machen, Swan Hotel, Coleshill
1892—Wallington, King's Arms Hotel, Carshalton. (Instruction)
1915—Graystone, Forester's Hall, Whitstable
R.A. 213—Perseverance, 3 St. Giles Street, Norwich
R.A. 275—Perseverance, Masonic Hall, South Parade, Huddersfield
R.A. 286—Strength, Green Man Hotel, Bacup.
M.M.—St. John's, Commercial Hotel, Bolton.
M.M. 16—Friendship, 2 St. Stephen's Street, Devonport

FRIDAY, 14th DECEMBER.

Emulation Lodge of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
25—Robert Burns, The North Pole, 115 Oxford-street, W., at 8 (Instruc.
134—Caledonian, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street
144—St. Luke, White Hart, King's-road, Chelsea, at 7.30. (Instruction)
157—Bedford, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
177—Domatic, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30. (Instruct.)
766—William Preston, St. Andrew's Tavern, George St., Baker St., at 8 (In.)
780—Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge. (Instruction)
834—Ranelagh, Six Bells, Hammersmith (Instruction)
933—Doric, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1056—Metropolitan, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. at 7. (Instruction)
1158—Belgrave, Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
1201—Eclectic, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1298—Royal Standard, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, at 8. (In.)
1365—Clapton, White Hart, Lower Clapton, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1642—E. Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
1789—Ubique, Guardsman Army Coffee Tavern, Buckingham Palace-road, S.W., at 7.30. (Instruction)
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich. (Instruction)
R.A. 65—Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall St.
R.A. 79—Pythagorean, Portland Hotel, London-street, Greenwich. (Inst.)
R.A. 569—Fitzroy, Headquarters Hon. Artillery Company, City Road, E.C.
M.M.—Old Kent, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, E.C. (Instruction)

36—Glamorgan, Freemasons' Hall, Arcade, St. Mary's-street, Cardiff.
155—Perseverance, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
401—Royal Forest, Hark to Bounty Inn, Slaidburn
453—Chigwell, Prince's Hall, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30 (Instruction)
458—Aire and Calder, Private Rooms, Ouse-steet, Goole.
460—Sutherland of Unity, Castle Hotel, Newcastle-under-Lyme
526—Honour, Star and Garter Hotel, Wolverhampton
652—Holme Valley, Victoria Hotel, Holmfirth
662—Dartmouth, Dartmouth Hotel, West Bromwich
697—United, George Hotel Colchester.
815—Blair, Town Hall, Stretford-road, Hulme
916—Hartington, Burlington Hotel, Eastbourne
1001—Harrogate and Claro, Masonic Rooms, Parliament-street, Harrogate
1034—Eccleshill, Freemasons' Hall, Eccleshill
1067—Beaudesert, Assembly Rooms, Corn Exchange, Leighton Buzzard
1143—Royal Denbigh, Council Room, Denbigh
1289—Rock, Royal Rock Hotel, Rock Ferry
General Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, at 7
R.A. 355—Wiltshire, Masonic Hall, Victoria Street, Swindon
R.A. 406—De Sussex, Masonic Hall, Maple Street, Newcastle

SATURDAY, 15th DECEMBER.

198—Percy, Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N., 8. (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Old Town Hall, Mare-street, Hackney
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7. (Instruction)
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1641—Crichton, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1732—King's Cross, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-street, W. at 8.
M.M. 205—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow
M.M. 251—Tenterden, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.

149—Peace, Private Rooms, Meltham
811—Yarborough, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
M.M. 14—Prince Edward's, Station Hotel, Stansfield, Todmorden

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:o:—

Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, No. 65.—Held at Bro. Maidwell's, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, on Tuesday last. Bros. Sainte W.M., Walker S.W., Ansbecker J.W., Valentine S.D., Dyson J.D., Buggins I.G., Moss Preceptor; also Bros. Daniel, Roberts, Harris, Mann, Rich, Posener, Schadler. Lodge opened in due form, and minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Harris candidate. Bro. Posener answered questions leading to second degree, and was entrusted. Lodge opened in second, when Bro. Sainte vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Rich, who rehearsed the ceremony. Bro. Sainte resumed the chair, and Lodge was closed in second degree. Later in the evening it was proposed by Bro. Moss, and seconded by Bro. Dyson, that one guinea be taken from the Lodge funds, and given to Bro. Daniel towards entertaining the Old Folks at Croydon during the Christmas time. Bro. Walker was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. A vote of thanks was ordered to be recorded on the minutes for the able and efficient way in which Bro. Sainte had performed the duties of W.M. for the first time in this Lodge. Bro. Schadler announced that he would rehearse the ceremony of installation on Tuesday, 18th December. Brethren are invited to attend.

Justice Lodge of Instruction, No. 147.—A meeting was held on Thursday, 6th December 1883, at the Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford. Bros. J. W. Freeman W.M., Banks S.W., Stringer J.W., S. R. Speight P.M. Sec., Good J.D., Ingram I.G., Hutchins P.M. Preceptor. After preliminaries had been duly observed, the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Good personating the candidate. Lodge was opened in the third degree and the ceremony of raising rehearsed, Lodge was resumed and after dues had been collected was closed in due form. Both ceremonies were ably worked; this will be the work to be performed in the regular Lodge on Wednesday the 12th inst. Brethren residing in the neighbourhood are most cordially invited to attend this Lodge of Instruction.

Lodge of Joppa, No. 188.—A regular meeting of this Lodge was held on the 3rd inst., at the Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen-street. Bros. L. Benjamin W.M., Martin S.W., G. Bean J.W., E. P. Albert P.G.P. Sec., G. S. Lyon Treas., A. Botibol S.D., L. Wall J.D., J. Dewsnap I.G., A. G. Dodson P.M. M.C., J. Wynmann Steward; P.M.'s L. Lazarus, A. Dodson, L. M. Myers, H. M. Levy, R. Baker, S. Hickman; Visitors—J. W. Smith W.M. 1839, A. J. Hands 1227, J. St. Gert 1744, W. S. Lyon 185, W. R. Davis S.D. 87, G. Smith I.P.M. 1839, Honey 1017. The Lodge was opened and the minutes were confirmed. The election for W.M. then took place, the result being in favour of Bro. Bean J.W. The Senior Warden, Bro. Martin, is the present Master of the Blackheath Lodge. Bro. J. S. Lyon was elected Treasurer, and Bro. Goddard P.M. Tyler. Five brethren were elected to serve on the Board of Management, and two as Auditors; while eight brethren were recommended to serve on the Benevolent Fund. Bro. M. Alexander P.M. proposed that the sum of five guineas be given from the funds of the Lodge as a nucleus for presenting the outgoing Master with a testimonial on his retiring from the chair, and a committee be formed for that purpose. This was seconded by Bro. L. M. Myers, and carried unanimously. Hearty good wishes were given, and the brethren then sat down to a very excellent supper provided by Messrs. Spiers and Pond (Limited).

Digitized by Google

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—Held at Bro. Langdale's, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N., on Saturday, 1st inst. Bros. Gellen W.M., Parkes S.W., Bullock J.W., Williams S.D., Ashton J.D., Gildersleve I.G., Fenner acting Preceptor, Galer Secretary; also Bros. Flack, Woolf, Williams sen., Weeden, Dixie, Chant, Shawbe and Gush. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of last Lodge meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Flack offered himself as candidate, and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed. Bro. Fenner worked the first section, assisted by Bro. Ashton, and the second and third, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Parkes was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing week. A cordial vote of thanks was accorded to Bro. Gellen for the manner in which he had conducted the duties of the chair, it being the first time in this Lodge of Instruction. A letter was read from the widow of a deceased brother, thanking the members for their prompt assistance in his hour of need. Nothing further having offered for the good of Freemasonry, Lodge was closed in ancient form, and adjourned to Saturday, the 8th inst., at eight o'clock.

Lodge of Israel, No. 205.—A numerous attendance of the brethren were present on the 27th ult., at the Cannon-street Hotel. They met under the presidency of the W.M., Bro. H. M. Harris; Gartley S.W., Norden J.W., A. M. Cohen P.M. Treasurer, C. F. Hogard P.M. Secretary, A. Henochsberg S.D., S. Jacobs J.D., Lonsdale I.G., H. J. Paton Organist, I. P. Cohen P.M. M.C.; P.M.'s A. Bassington, L. Norden, H. J. Phillips, M. J. Emmanuel, I. P. Cohen, S. M. Harris, W. Littaur. Visitors—Sidney Myers P.M. 130, G. L. Moore P.M. 169, M. J. Emanuel P.G.R. Hampshire, H. M. Levy P.M. 188. Lodge was opened, and the minutes were confirmed. Ballots were taken for the admission of Messrs. S. London, M. A. Fischer and M. Brommett, who were duly initiated into the Order. Bros. H. and T. Hart were passed to the second degree; both the ceremonies being perfectly rendered. The election for W.M. then took place, and Bro. Gartley was unanimously chosen. Bro. A. M. Cohen P.M. was re-elected Treasurer, and Rawles Tyler. The election for President, Vice-President and four members of the Committee took place. Bro. A. M. Cohen was elected President, and the W.M. Bro. H. M. Harris Vice-President. Bro. J. Da Silva P.M. proposed, and Bro. I. P. Cohen P.M. seconded, a motion that a testimonial be presented to the retiring W.M.—£5 5s to be given from the Funds of the Lodge—as a mark of respect for the able manner in which Bro. Harris had discharged his duties during his year of office. A candidate was proposed for initiation at next meeting, and after hearty good wishes were tendered Lodge was closed, until the fourth Tuesday in January. The brethren sat down to a very excellent banquet, provided by Bro. Rand, and superintended by Bro. A. Cohen. The W.M. eloquently proposed the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts, in terms of the following sentiment—Loyalty to the Throne and Devotion to the Craft. Bro. J. Da Silva P.M. said, for the last time he claimed the prerogative of proposing the health of the W.M. Brother Harris's heart and soul had been in his work, and all wish him health and future happiness. The Worshipful Master, in reply, said he had done all in his power for the good of Freemasonry in general and this Lodge in particular; he had to thank each member for the way he had contributed to his success. The W.M. then proposed the toast of the Initiates, and Brother London in a very able speech responded. Bros. Fischer and Brommett followed. The Worshipful Master then proposed the toast of the Worshipful Master elect, who, by his urbanity, had secured the good will of every member in the Lodge. The brethren might be sure of good working from the subject of their choice; all wish him a prosperous year of office. The Worshipful Master elect thanked the W.M. for his kind remarks; he hoped to have the assistance of the Past Masters; he would strive to do his duty, and trusted he might have candidates to shew how he could do the work required of him. The toast of the Visitors was replied to by Bro. M. Emanuel, late P.M. of this Lodge, P.G.R. Hampshire and the Isle of Wight. The Worshipful Master in proposing the toast of the P.M.'s, said no better could be found; they were ready and willing to fulfil every duty, either as Deacons or anything else required of them. Brother A. M. Cohen P.M. and Treasurer responded to the toast. He referred to the ability of Brother C. F. Hogard P.M. and Secretary; no better worker or one more capable could be found in the Craft. The Worshipful Master in proposing the toast of the Wardens and Officers said, the brethren had seen their working; the Worshipful Master elect might congratulate himself on having efficient Masons to assist him. He (Brother Harris) begged to thank them for the valuable assistance they had given him. This toast having been responded to, the Tyler gave the signal for departure.

St. John's Lodge, No. 328.—On Monday evening last the election meeting of this old and prosperous Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons was held at the Masonic Hall, Torquay, where there was a goodly muster of the brethren, under the presidency of Bro. H. Mortimer, Worshipful Master, who was supported by Bro. W. Taylor S.W., Bro. J. Grant J.W., and other Officers. There were several visitors present, including Bros. J. Lane P.M. 1406, Geo. Pepperell W.M. 1406, Dr. Searle, of Brixham, &c. Lodge having been opened in accordance with ancient rites, and some formal business transacted, the brethren proceeded to elect a Worshipful Master for the ensuing year, in succession to Bro. Mortimer. Their choice fell unanimously upon Bro. W. Taylor, who had well discharged the duties of the Senior Warden's chair during the past twelve months. Bro. C. J. Harland P.M. consented to retain his office as Treasurer for the year, and Bro. J. Newton was re-appointed Tyler. There was no other business on the agenda, and the brethren separated at an early hour. The installation meeting will take place on Thursday, the 27th inst. (St. John's Day), to be followed by the annual banquet at the Royal Hotel.

New Concord Lodge of Instruction, No. 813.—The usual meeting was held on 28th ultimo, at the Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, when Bro. Glass occupied the chair, supported by Bros. Trick S.W., Weeden J.W., Dixie S.D., Ashton J.D., Lone I.G., P.M. Cusworth Preceptor, F. Perl Secretary; also Bros. Williams, Ockelford, Galer, R. M. Jones. The usual preliminaries having been observed, Lodge was advanced to the second degree, and Bro. O'Donnell answered the questions leading to the third, and retired, he not yet having gone beyond the degree of Fellow Craft. Lodge was opened in the third, and the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Jones acting as candidate. The W.M., in a very able manner, delivered the traditional history. Lodge was resumed, and the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Ockelford acting as candidate. Bro. Trick was in due course elected to occupy the chair at the ensuing meeting. Lodge was closed in perfect harmony, and adjourned until Wednesday, 5th December. The annual supper in connection with this Lodge of Instruction will be held at the Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, on the 12th December. Tickets, 4s each, can be had of the Secretary, 41 Durham-road, Manor Park, Ilford. This promises to be a success. Bro. Tiddiman W.M. 813 will preside. Bro. James Terry has also accepted an invite to attend.

On Wednesday last, Bro. Trick ably occupied the chair; he was supported by Bros. Ashton S.W., Galer J.W., P.M. Cusworth Preceptor, Perl Secretary, Dixie S.D., Weeden J.D., McMillan I.G.; also Bros. Gadsby, Ockelford, O'Donnell, Patten, and others. The usual preliminaries having been observed in opening, Lodge was advanced to the second degree, and Bro. O'Donnell having proved himself efficient to be raised, was entrusted. Lodge was then opened in the third degree, and the ceremony of raising ably rehearsed, Bro. O'Donnell acting as candidate. Lodge was afterwards resumed, and the ceremony of passing rehearsed. Bro. McMillan, of the Keith Lodge, was unanimously elected a member. Bro. Ashton was elected to preside on 19th December. Lodge was then closed in perfect harmony, and adjourned until that date.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—Held at Bro. Smyth's, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston, on Tuesday last. Present—Bros. Robinson W.M., Watkinson S.W., Smyth J.W., Jenkins S.D., T. Clark J.D., Hunt I.G., F. Carr Secretary, Wallington Preceptor, also Bros. Wardell, Christian, Banister, Capers, East, Allen, Catlin, Brasted, Baker, &c. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Baker candidate. Lodge was called off, and resumed its Masonic duties by Bro. Christian working the first and Bro. Bristow the second section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bros. Capers and East, of Lodge 1524, were elected member. Bro. Watkinson was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. Lodge was then closed, and adjourned.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

IT IS THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE PRESENT CENTURY.

It is the best known remedy for Coughs, Consumption, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, and Asthma.

It effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal Diseases—Diphtheria, Diabetes, Fever, Croup, Ague, &c.

It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only known Specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

It effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, Convulsions, and Spasms.

It is the only Palliative in Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

It rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause, allays the irritation of Fever, soothes and strengthens the system under exhaustive diseases, restores the deranged functions, stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, gives quiet and refreshing sleep, and marvellously prolongs life. It may be taken by old and young at all hours and times.

It is extensively used by Medical Men in their official and private practice, at home and abroad, who have given numerous written testimonials of its wonderful efficacy.

SPECIMEN TESTIMONIAL.—From JOHN TANNER, M.D., L.R.C.P., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., L.M., Physician to Farringdon Dispensary, Physician to the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon's Metropolitan College, London, &c., 102 Harley Street, Cavendish Square, W.—"It gives me great pleasure to bear testimony in favour of FREEMAN'S Chlorodyne. I have prescribed it extensively, and in cases of Asthma, Chronic Bronchitis, the last stage of Phthisis, and the Winter Cough of the aged, I have never found any substitute or chemical combination its equal."

Sold by Chemists and Patent Medicine Dealers all over the world, in bottles 1s 1½d; 2 oz. 2s 9d; 4 oz. 4s 6d; half-pints 11s; and pints 20s each, and by the Inventor, RICHARD FREEMAN, 70 Kennington Park Road, London, S.E. Free by post. Purchasers are CAUTIONED not to have palmed upon them any substitute. See that the Trade Mark, "THE ELEPHANT," is on the wrapper, &c., and the words "FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE" are engraved on the Government Stamp—which is the only TRUE CHLORODYNE.

Digitized by Google

Price 3s 6d, Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

FIRST SERIES.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

1 OUR LITERARY BROTHER.
2 A DISTINGUISHED MASON.
3 THE MAN OF ENERGY.
4 FATHER TIME.
5 A CORNER STONE.
6 THE CRAFTSMAN.
7 THE GOWNSMAN.
8 AN EASTERN STAR.
9 THE KNIGHT ERRANT.
10 THE OCTOGENARIAN.
11 A ZEALOUS OFFICER.
12 THE SOLDIER.
13 FROM UNDER THE CROWN.
14 OUR HERCULES.
15 A MERCHANT PRINCE.
16 THE CHURCHMAN.
17 THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER.
18 THE MYSTIC.
19 A MODEL MASON.
20 A CHIP FROM JOPPA.
21 A PILLAR OF MASONRY.
22 BAYARD.
23 A RIGHT HAND MAN.
24 OUR CITIZEN BROTHER.
25 AN ABLE PRECEPTOR.
26 AN ANCIENT BRITON.
27 THE ARTIST.
28 THE FATHER OF THE LODGE.
29 A SHINING LIGHT.
30 AN ART STUDENT.
31 THE MARINER
32 SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.
33. "OLD MUG."

Second Series, Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 3s 6d, post free.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

SKETCHES

OF

DISTINGUISHED FREEMASONS.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

BY G. BLIZARD ABBOTT, OF LODGE No. 1385,

ASSOCIATE OF KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

NESTOR
(Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, 33 deg., Past G.S.B., Past Dep. P.G.M. Hants, Assistant Secretary Sup. Council A. and A. Rite.)

THE STATESMAN
(The Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, 33 deg., Pro Grand Master, Pro Grand Z., Past G.M.M.M., and Past M.P.S.G. Commander A. and A. Rite.

THE TREASURER
(Bro. F. Adlard, P.M. and Treasurer Royal York Lodge of Perseverance, No. 7).

THE DEPUTY
(The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, 33 deg., Deputy G. Master, Grand H., G.M.M.M., Great Prior of the Temple, and M.P. Sov. G. Commander A. and A. Rite.)

A PROVINCIAL MAGNATE
(Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Hants and Isle of Wight, Past G.M.M.M. and Prov. G. Prior of the Temple, for Hants).

TIME-HONOURED LANCASTER
(Bro. J. Lancaster Hine, P. Prov. G.S. Warden East Lancashire).

THE SCHOLAR
(Bro. John Newton, F.R.A.S., P.M., P.Z., Author of Works on Navigation).

OUR NOBLE CRITIC
(The Right Hon. Lord Leigh, 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Warwickshire, Past G.M.M.M.)

OUR PERIPATETIC BROTHER
(Bro. C. Fitz Gerald Matier, 30 deg., G. Steward Scotland, and Past G.S. Warden Greece).

A BOLTON LUMINARY
(Bro. G. Parker Brockbank, 31 deg., Past Prov. G.S.D., and P. Prov. G. Treas. [Arch] E. Lancashire.

A WARDEN OF THE FENS
(The late Bro. John Sutcliffe, Past Prov. G.S. Warden, and Prov. G.M.M.M. Lincolnshire).

A WARDEN OF MARK
(The Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, 33 deg., Past G.S. Warden, and Dep. G.M.M.M).

A MASTER OF CEREMONIAL
(Bro. Thos. Entwisle, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. of Works E. Lan.)

OUR COSMOPOLITAN BROTHER
(Bro. Samuel Rawson, 33 deg., Past Dist. G.M. and G. Sup. China).

A GREAT ARITHMETICIAN
(Bro. R. B. Webster, Member of the Finance and Audit Committees of the R.M. Girls' and Boys' Schools).

AN INSTALLING MASTER
(Bro. W. Biggs, Past Prov. G.S.W. Wilts, and Past Prov. G. Sec. Berks and Bucks).

A VETERAN
(Bro. W. Kelly, Past Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Leicestershire and Rutland, Prov. G.M.M.M. Leicestershire).

A GRAND STEWARD
(Bro. John Wordsworth, 30 deg., Past G. Steward, Past Prov. G.J.W. W. Yorkshire, and Prov. G.M.M.M. W. Yorkshire).

VIR Veritas
(Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M and Past Prov. Grand. Soj. [Arch] Herts).

ACHILLES
(Bro. E. J. Morris, Past G.J.D., and Past Dep. Prov. G.M. of Eastern Division of South Wales).

A DEVON CRAFTSMAN
(Bro. J. R. Curteis, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. Warden Devon).

SIR RHADAMANTH
(Bro. J. M. Pulteney Montagu, J.P. D.L., 33 deg., G. J. Deacon, Past Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, and G. Chancellor Supreme Council A. and A. Rite).

HIPPOCRATES
(Bro. J. Pearson Bell, M.D., Past G. Deacon, Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. N. and E. Yorkshire).

A CESTRIAN CHIEF
(The Right Hon Lord de Tabley, Past G.S.W., Prov. G.M. Cheshire, Grand J., and Prov. G Sup. Cheshire).

A HARBINGER OF PEACE
(Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., Past Prov. G.J.D. Herts).

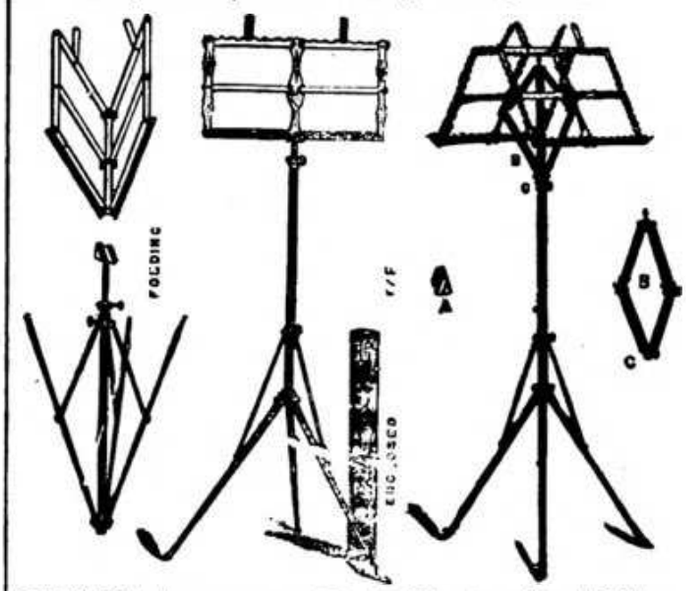
THE LORD OF UNDERLEY
(The Earl of Bective, M.P., Prov. G.M., Prov. G. Sup., and Prov. G.M.M.M. Cumberland and Westmoreland, and Past G. Sov. of the Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine).

A BOON COMPANION
(Bro. E. C. Woodward, P.M. 382, 1637, &c.)

A GRAND SUPERINTENDENT
(Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Berks and Bucks).

ÆSCULAPIUS
(Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., 32 deg., Past G.S.B., Craft, and Past C.St.B., Arch, Intendant General Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine for North Lancashire).

London: W. W. MORGAN.



By Order of all Booksellers, or will be sent direct, by post, from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N

THE AMERICAN

PORTABLE MUSIC STANDS.

J. F. WALTERS' PATENT.

Iron, from 10/6 each. Brass, from 30/- each.

THESE Stands are unsurpassed in simplicity, strength, portability cheapness, and elegance of finish. They are suitable for Military Bands Orchestras, Reading and News Rooms, Libraries, Studies, and Drawing Rooms. When opened to their full capacity they stand 5 feet high, and can be folded and enclosed in a case 21 inches long by 3 inches diameter. The weight is about 3 lbs. 12 oz., and they will support a weight of 50 lbs.

To be obtained of all Music Dealers, and of the Manufacturers and Proprietors of the Patent,

HARROW & CO.

MUSIC SMITHS, BRASS WORKERS, &c.

13 and 14 Portland Street, Soho, London, W.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

Free by Post, Price One Shilling.

THE

REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS;

CRITICALLY CONSIDERED,

AND

COMPARED WITH THE OLD EDITION.

—:o:—

A SERIES OF ARTICLES,

REPRINTED FROM THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

—:o:—

LONDON:

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE;
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL & CO., 4 STATIONERS' HALL COURT;
AND OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

"All Freemasons interested in the Revision of the above, should read this work."

Crown 8vo, price 2s 6d, cloth lettered.

Uniformity of Masonic Ritual and Observance.

By Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M., P.Z., &c.

"May be read with advantage by the whole Craft."—Sunday Times.

"Grand Lodge should at once set to work to secure the desired uniformity."—Sheffield Post.

"The subject is ably argued by the author."—Western Daily Mercury.

"Useful and valuable in the highest degree."—Exeter Gazette.

"Will have a material effect on the future of Masonic Ritual."—South Western Star.

"The author adduces many variations in the language used by different Preceptors."—Cox's Monthly Legal Circular.

"Ought to be in the hands of every Mason."—Northampton Guardian.

"To Freemasons generally it will be found useful and valuable, and we commend it to their notice accordingly."—Surrey County Observer.

"Bro. Stevens' motion for a Committee on the subject of Uniformity of Ritual was carried by a large majority."—Freemason's Chronicle report of Grand Lodge meeting, 3rd December 1879.

Sent, by post, on receipt of stamps, by the Author, Bro. JAMES STEVENS, 112 High-street, Clapham, S.W.; or by Bro. W. W. MORGAN Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

Digitized by Google

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE,

A Weekly Record of Masonic Intelligence. Sanctioned by the Grand Lodge of England.

Price—13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE will be forwarded direct from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N., on receipt of Post Office Order for the amount. Intending Subscribers should forward their full Addresses to prevent mistakes.

Post Office Orders to be made payable to W. W. MORGAN, at Penton-street Office. Cheques crossed "London and County."

Advertisers will find THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE an exceptionally good medium for Advertisements of every class.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Per Page...	£8 0 0
Back Page	£10 0 0

Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1s per line.

General Advertisements, Trade Announcements, &c. single column, 5s per inch. Double Column Advertisements 1s per line. Special Terms for a Series of Insertions on application.

Agents, from whom copies can always be had:—

Messrs. SPENCER and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C.
Messrs. CURTICE and Co., 12 Catherine-street, Strand.
Messrs. KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.
Mr. RITCHIE, 6 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SIMPSON BROS., Shoe Lane.
Mr. H. SIMPSON, 7 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SMITH and SONS, 183 Strand.
Messrs. STEEL and JONES, 4 Spring Gardens, Charing Cross.
Mr. G. VICKERS, Angel Court, Strand.
Mr. H. VICKERS, 317 Strand.

RICHARD PEARCY,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

31 PACKINGTON STREET, ISLINGTON, LONDON, N.

Watches Made and Repaired in the very best manner.

MASONIC JEWELS.

THE THEATRES, &c.

HAYMARKET.—At 8, LORDS AND COMMONS.
DRURY LANE.—At 7.45, A SAILOR AND HIS LASS.
PRINCESS'S.—At 7, A CLERICAL ERROR. At 7.40, CLAUDIAN.
LYCEUM.—At 7.45, A SHEEP IN WOLF'S CLOTHING. At 9, PYGMALION AND GALATEA.
ADELPHI.—At 7.45, IN THE RANKS.
OLYMPIC.—At 7.30, A REGULAR FIX. At 8.30, THE SPIDER'S WEB.
ALHAMBRA.—At 7.45, THE GOLDEN RING.
SAVOY.—At 8, PRIVATE WIRE. At 8.40, IOLANTHE.
GAIETY.—At 7.35, YOUNG WIDOW. At 8.15, ARIEL.
AVENUE.—At 7.30, OBLIGING A FRIEND. At 8.15, LA VIE.
TOOLE'S.—At 7.30, NAMESAKES. At 8.30, ARTFUL CARDS. At 10, STAGE-DORA.
COURT.—At 8, THE MILLIONAIRE.
STRAND.—At 7.30, A MUTUAL SEPARATION. At 8, WILD OATS.
GLOBE.—At 7.45, MAN PROPOSES. At 8.30, THE GLASS OF FASHION.
ROYALTY.—At 8, GILLETTE.
VAUDEVILLE.—At 8, AN OLD MASTER. At 9, CONFUSION.
COMEDY.—At 8, FALKA.
ST. JAMES'S.—At 8, YOUNG FOLKS' WAYS.
GRAND.—At 7.30, YOUTH.
STANDARD.—At 7.30, JO, the Outcast.
SADLER'S WELLS.—At 7.30, BAFFLED.
SURREY.—At 7.30, CRIMES OF PARIS.
ST. JAMES'S HALL.—Mr. DUVAL'S ODDS AND ENDS.
MOHAWK MINSTRELS, Agricultural Hall.—Every evening, at 8, at the Pavilion Theatre.
EGYPTIAN HALL.—Messrs. MASKELYNE AND COOKE. Every evening at 8.
CRYSTAL PALACE.—This day, CONCERT. PANORAMA. Open Daily, Aquarium, Picture Gallery, &c.

BRO. G. S. GRAHAM,

The Popular Tenor and Buffo Vocalist, from St. James's Hall, Crystal Palace, &c.

(Provincial Grand Organist Middlesex)

IS OPEN TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FOR

Concerts, Entertainments, & Masonic Banquets.

Bro. G. S. Graham's Party of Eminent Artists can be engaged for Masonic Banquets, Consecrations and Installations, &c. For Opinions of the Press, and terms, address—G. S. GRAHAM, St. John's Villa, 91 Fernlea Road, Balham, Surrey.

PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS ON EASY TERMS.

GROVER & GROVER

LET ON HIRE, WITH OPTION OF PURCHASE,

BEAUTIFUL AND PERFECT INSTRUMENTS.

PURCHASERS CHOOSE THEIR OWN TERMS,

FROM 15s TO £3 3s PER QUARTER.

The Advantages of a Trial, with the Convenience of the Three Years' System at Cash Price, by Paying about a Quarter of the value down, the Balance by Easy Payments, from 15s per quarter.

GROVER & GROVER (late AVILL & SMART),
TABERNACLE SQUARE, FINSBURY, E.C.

ESTABLISHED 1830.

PIANOFORTES, £19 10s.
AMERICAN ORGANS, £9 5s.
HARMONIUMS, £5 15s.

Perfect in Tone and Touch. Elegant Walnut Cases. Every Instrument warranted to stand any extreme climate.

SHIPPERS AND DEALERS SUPPLIED.

Before deciding on purchasing, write for a descriptive Price List and Testimonials to G. LINSTEAD, Manager.

COBDEN PIANOFORTE COMPANY, 18 & 19 Eversholt Street, Camden Town, London.

HOTELS, ETC.

CARLISLE—Bush Hotel. BUTCLIFFE HOLROYD, Proprietor

EALING—Feathers Hotel

EASTBOURNE—Pier Hotel, Cavendish Place. View of Sea and Pier. A. TAYLOR Proprietor

HAVERFORDWEST.—Queen's Family and Commercial Hotel. BEN. M. DAVIES Proprietor.

KEW—Star and Garter. Good accommodation for Lodge & Dinner Parties. J. BRILL Proprietor

MILFORD HAVEN.—Lord Nelson Hotel. T. PALMER Proprietor

SANDWICH—Bell Family and Commercial Hotel, Good Stabling. J. J. FILMER Proprietor

ALL WHO SUFFER FROM

GOUT AND RHEUMATISM

Should immediately have recourse to

EADE'S CELEBRATED GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS.

Known throughout the world as the safest and most effectual remedy for the instant relief and rapid cure of Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Lumbago, and all Pains in the Head, Face, and Limbs.

OF ALL CHEMISTS, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d,

GEORGE EADE.
SOLE PROPRIETOR,
72 GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

BILLIARD BALLS, Chalks, Cues and Tips, at HENNIG BROS., Ivory Works, 11 High Street, London, W.C. Cheapest house in the trade for billiard-table requisites and ivory goods in general. Old balls adjusted or exchanged, and tables recovered. Price Lists on application. Established 1862.

RHEUMATISM.

THE only real remedy for this complaint is the Northern Cure (patent). In bottles 1s 1½d each, to be had of all Chemists. Proprietors and Manufacturer, EDWARDS AND ALEXANDER, 29 Blaekett-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR GOUT and RHEUMATISM.

The excruciating pain is quickly relieved and cured in a few days by this celebrated Medicine.

These Pills require no restraint of diet during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.

Sold by all Chemists at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.

SMOKE CHARLESWORTH & AUSTINS TOBACCOS AND CIGARS

BORO' S.E.

Old Chums 2d

Favourites 2d & 3d

Golden Shag 4d & 5d.

Digitized by Google

SPIERS & POND'S
FREEMASONS' TAVERN,

GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

For MASONIC BANQUETS.
PUBLIC FESTIVALS and PRIVATE DINNERS.
WEDDING BREAKFASTS.
BALLS. EVENING PARTIES. SOIRÉES.

Spacious Hall for Election and other Public Meetings.
Rooms for Masonic Lodges, &c. SPIERS & POND, Limited.

JOSEPH J. CANEY,

DIAMOND MERCHANT, AND MANUFACTURING JEWELLER AND WATCH MAKER,
44 CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.
MASONIC JEWELS, CLOTHING AND FURNITURE.
Specialité—First Class Jewels—Artistic—Massive—Best Quality—Moderate in Price.
CATALOGUES POST FREE.
A LARGE STOCK OF LOOSE BRILLIANTS FOR EXPENSIVE JEWELS
Diamond Rings, Brooches, Studs, Earrings and Bracelets in Great Variety.

MASONIC JEWELS FOR ALL DEGREES.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS AND DECORATIONS.
ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD IN ALL SIZES.
ATHLETIC SPORTS MEDALS AND BADGES.
A. D. LOEWENSTARK & SONS, Medallists, 210 STRAND, LONDON, W.C.
MANUFACTORY—1 DEVEREUX COURT, STRAND.

R. W. GALER,

PRACTICAL WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
12 GREEN LANES, LONDON, N.
(Six doors from Newington Green).

OLD GOLD and SILVER BOUGHT or TAKEN in EXCHANGE.
PRESENTATION WATCHES AND MASONIC JEWELS MANUFACTURED ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.
Communications by Post punctually attended to.

G. W. KNIGHT,

Carver, Gilder, and Picture Frame Maker,
LITTLE BELL ALLEY, BACK OF MOORGATE STREET, CITY,
AND
38 CHAUCER ROAD, BRIXTON.
CORNICES AND FRAMES OF ALL KINDS REPAIRED AND REGILT.

W. W. MORGAN,

LETTER-PRESS, COPPER-PLATE, LITHOGRAPHIC PRINTER,
BELVIDERE WORKS,
HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE.
SUMMONSES, MENU CARDS, &c. ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED.
Sketches or Designs for Special Purposes Furnished on Application.
Books, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Catalogues, Posters, Billheads, Showcards, &c.
Every description of Printing (Plain or Ornamental) executed in First Class Style.
ESTIMATES SUPPLIED.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER
7s 6d.
If with Pockets, 6d each pocket extra.
225 HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.

DRESS SUITS from £3 3s to £5 5s.

Demy 8vo, Price 7s 6d,
THE CHESS OPENINGS,
By ROBERT B. WORMALD.
W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE.

CONCERTINAS,
ENGLISH AND ANGLO-GERMAN.
G. JONES, 350 Commercial-road, London, E., inventor of the Anglo-German with chromatic scale. His tempered steel notes never get out of tune. Used by the leading performers. Price List of Musical Instruments of every description free. Established 1850.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY Limited, 7 Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.
General accidents. | Personal injuries.
Railway accidents. | Death by accident.
C. HARDING, Manager.

RIPPINGILLE'S PATENT
WARMING STOVES.

THE only Perfect Oil Stoves. Made to burn absolutely without Smoke or Smell, Trouble or Dirt. Unequalled for Warming
GREENHOUSES, VINERIES, SHOPS,
BEDROOMS, HALLS, OFFICES, DAMP ROOMS, &c.

Perfectly safe, require no pipes or fittings, will burn from twelve to twenty hours without attention, give off no injurious vapour, and are the best stoves ever invented to save plants from frost, keep out the damp, &c.

Price, from a few shillings.

Write for Illustrated List of Warming Stoves to
The Holborn Lamp and Stove Co.
118 HOLBORN, LONDON, E.C.
And say where you saw this Advertisement.

Bro. A. OLDROYD, Stratford, London,
MANUFACTURER OF TOBACCO POUCHES,
With any name in raised letters.

CAN be obtained direct from the Maker, at the undermentioned prices, on receipt of P.O.O. payable at Stratford.

	Price	Will take a name of 9 letters
No. 3	2/0 ...
,, 4	3/6 ...	11
,, 5	3/0 ...	12
,, 6	3/6 ...	13
,, 7	4/0 ...
,, 8	4/6 ...
,, 9	5/0 ...

A. OLDROYD,
Agent for Algerian Cigars, and Importer of Havana and Continental Cigars,
64 HIGH STREET, STRATFORD, LONDON, E.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

BIRKBECK BANK.—Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.
Current Accounts opened according to the usual practice of other Bankers, and Interest allowed on the minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £25. No commission charged for keeping Accounts.
The Bank also receives money on Deposit at three per cent. Interest, repayable on demand.
The Bank undertakes for its Customers, free of charge, the custody of Deeds, Writings, and other Securities and Valuables, the collection of Bills of Exchange, Dividends, and Coupons; and the purchase and sale of Stocks and Shares.
Letters of Credit and Circular Notes issued.
A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.
FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.
31st March 1880.

The Birkbeck Building Society's Annual Receipts exceed Four Millions.

HOW TO PURCHASE A HOUSE FOR TWO GUINEAS PER MONTH, with immediate Possession and no Rent to pay. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY.

HOW TO PURCHASE A PLOT OF LAND FOR FIVE SHILLINGS PER MONTH, with immediate possession, either for Building or Gardening purposes. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY.
A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.
FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.
Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Printed and Published by Brother WILLIAM WRAY MORGAN, at Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, Saturday, 8th December 1883.

Digitized by Google

THE

Freemason's Chronicle;

A WEEKLY RECORD OF MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

SANCTIONED BY THE GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.

VOL. XVIII.—No. 466. SATURDAY, 15th DECEMBER 1883. [PRICE THREEPENCE. 13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE PRINCE OF WALES P.G.M.M.M.

AFTER the lapse of little more than a month, the M.W.G.M. of the United Grand Lodge of England has made his second appearance in an assembly of Mark Master Masons. On the first occasion he was advanced to the Mark Degree, and subsequently installed Worshipful Master of a Lodge of Mark Master Masons. On Saturday last, he was installed M.W.G.M. of the Mark Grand Lodge, after which he was assigned and will henceforth hold a position at the head of the Past Grand Masters of the Order. We have already congratulated our Mark brethren on their good fortune in having His Royal Highness enrolled amongst them, and the consummation of the work that was begun so auspiciously on the 30th October last requires no further comment; save this, perhaps, that the 8th day of December will for the future be regarded by all members and admirers of the Mark as probably the reddest of red letter days in the annals of its Grand Lodge. We have likewise laid stress on the fact that the Prince of Wales's advancement to the degree, and his acceptance of the rank of a Past Grand Master, is not to be taken as indicative of any desire on the part of His Royal Highness to disturb the settlement effected at the Union in 1813, and the character of Antient, Free, and Accepted Masonry as then defined by the Constitutions of United Grand Lodge. It is months since the Prince anticipated any objection that was likely to be raised on this score, through his acceptance of the Mark Degree, by stating most emphatically that it was furthest from his thoughts to disturb the basis of English Craft Masonry, and every one is perfectly well aware that His Royal Highness has a perfect sense of the responsibility that attaches to his statements as M.W.G. Master of the Craft Grand Lodge. It is not his habit to commit himself idly to any proposition, neither does he shrink from the responsibility which belongs to his actions. Hence every one is thoroughly persuaded that, as it has been in the past, so it will be in the future. Heretofore there has been a line of demarcation separating Craft from Mark Masonry, and that line of demarcation will still remain. The only difference that is likely to follow in the relations between the two bodies will probably be that the Mark will find still greater favour in the eyes of members of Craft Masonry, but there need be no fear of any changes being introduced into the clauses of our Constitutions, which define so clearly the limits of Antient Craft Masonry. Why, indeed, should there be any such fears now, since the Prince has become a Mark Mason, than there was in the days when he was installed Grand Master of the Temple, or subsequently when he permitted himself to be received into the A. and A. Rite, and had conferred upon him by the Supreme Council of that body the dignity of Grand Patron? It is true that Templar and High Grade Masonry are very much further removed from Craft Masonry than is the Mark, if, indeed, they can be said to have more than an imaginary connection with it. It is likewise true that, in their case at all events, the question of amalgamating them with the Craft has never even been dreamt of, much less raised, while but little more than a quarter of a century since the question of introducing the Mark among the degrees of Craft Masonry was very fully discussed, and even at one time looked upon with considerable favour. But once the settlement of a grave Masonic question has been arrived at, there is but the very slightest chance of its ever being disturbed, and the fear of any such disturbance ever taking place is no greater now than it has been any time since 1856, when it was finally determined that the Mark had no place among our Craft degrees.

We have laid some stress upon the consideration of these matters, because we have heard it rumoured—whether with or without sufficient authority we cannot say—that the ceremony of Saturday last has seriously disturbed the equanimity of brethren in high places. Why they should allow themselves to be thus affected passeth all understanding. The Prince is free to join as he is free to abstain from joining any Masonic degree outside those which constitute Craft Masonry. It is assuredly no business even of the elect what course he adopts or what he does not adopt. He is not a minister that he must be held in leading strings by the Elders of his flock. He is free to choose the manner of his out-going and of his in-coming. He has, no doubt, a will of his own, which it will be as well, perhaps, that his self-constituted critics should treat with respect. It is very certain that, in all things reasonable and just, he will follow the bent of his own inclinations without troubling himself to summon the over-righteous to his counsels. And our advice to these over-righteous, a class of men who think the world will never come to an end if they have had no hand in arranging the crisis, our advice to them is, that they should—if possible—think less of themselves, so that others, whose good opinion is worth having, may be led to think of them more highly. Let them try and persuade themselves that their approval of another man's acts, or their good offices in his behalf, are not indispensable. The world has jogged on merrily enough without them in the past, and we are much mistaken if it will not jog along as merrily without them in the future. Day and night, spring, summer, autumn, and winter will go on succeeding each other without their intervention. So let them form a somewhat more modest estimate of their own importance. To be practical, let them think more of their own business and less of other people's; and if, as in this instance, it should happen that a Prince, who is Grand Master of Craft Masonry, looks favourably upon the Mark Degree, let it be just a wee bit possible for him to do so without being under the necessity of consulting them.

The following article from the Times has reference to the installation of the Prince of Wales as M.W.G.M.M.M., and will, no doubt, be read with interest by our friends, who must feel delighted that important Masonic events should now and again attract to themselves expressions of opinion on the part of the public press. An interesting article also appeared in the Morning Post. This letter shall appear in our next week's issue.

Saturday last will be a memorable day in the annals of Mark Masonry. The Prince of Wales who was already a Mark Mason, was then raised with due ceremony to the highest rank which the Mark Masons have it in their power to confer. The position of His

EPPS'S (GRATEFUL COMFORTING) COCOA.

Digitized by Google

Royal Highness is now that of Senior Past Grand Master of Mark Masonry, and the brightest wishes of the Officers and promoters of the Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons have been at length realised to the full. We are warned, however, that the dignity of Craft Masonry is in no way endangered by the new importance to which Mark Masonry has risen. The Mark degree and the Craft degree are and will continue to be distinct. The inner world, which is acquainted with Masonic mysteries, will receive this announcement with the satisfaction it unquestionably demands. To outsiders its meaning will be less clear, and it will possibly be a trial of their faith to hold fast to the conviction that it means much or anything. They will be in no doubt, even so, that the adhesion of the Prince of Wales to Mark Masonry means a great deal, and that it will give a fresh stimulus to the growth of a Lodge which had become an important one before the Prince of Wales joined it. Freemasonry, in all its forms, is a very popular institution in this country. Its members have a pleasant sense that they belong to a secret order, that they can communicate with their fellows in some special way, and that they have therefore a claim of right to an acknowledged brotherhood with the highest and noblest in the land. To the uninitiated public, including the whole female sex, the whole thing is supposed to be a mystery, and, as such, an agreeable subject for speculation. Its secrets, it is true, have not been very closely kept. Indiscreet or treacherous brethren have revealed them to the world a dozen times over. The fullest information about them may be picked up for half a crown at almost any London book-stall. But the public prefers to be in the dark, and to go on guessing and speculating. If it really believed that Freemasonry is no more than what the Prince of Wales describes it to be—an order and an institution of charity and of usefulness—it would care much less for it. No one can be very curious about the private rules and regulations of a benefit society or an association for mutual help. Freemasonry must be more than these if it is to maintain itself in its present honour. There have been times and places at which it has been much more. On the Continent it has sometimes taken an anti-clerical bent, or has been used as a cover for revolutionary projects. In this country it exists, as it has always done, in a more innocent and more useful form. It raises dining to the rank of a religious function, and it has promoted the establishment of no small number of benevolent and educational funds, from which its poor members have benefited. These are its known merits, but they are small indeed if we compare them with its unknown. It is ever the unknown which is the magnificent, it is the unguessed riddle which the public seeks to pry into. Who would care much about the authorship of the letters of Junius or the personality of the Man in the Iron Mask if we could reach certainty about either of them? So it is with the hidden mysteries of Freemasonry. They attract attention as long as they are hidden. On these terms it is that the degrees of the Craft are willingly accepted by the world as patents of a high nobility, and that the insignia of a Grand Master are looked on on with a reverence as sincere as it is uninformed.

Whatever Freemasonry may be, for whatever objects it may exist and whatever by-ends it may be sometimes made to serve, there is one very real and tangible advantage which attaches to it in its international character. To become a Mason is to become the member of a society which ramifies over the whole world. Its signs and tokens are the same everywhere. The new Lodges which Mr. Broadley has been founding in Tunis and Malta and under the shadow of the Pyramids will admit their adherents to the universal Masonic brotherhood. Masonry exists everywhere. In the United States, in South America, in Asia, and in Africa its Lodges are to be found, and its signs pass current. The stranded Mason can claim and will receive help in every quarter of the world. He has only to reveal himself for what he is, and he is pretty sure to discover a friend and a brother among those with whom he has been cast. He will not always be safe even so, but at least his property and his person will have a better chance of being respected, or, if they are maltreated, of being let off on easier terms. We are not to suppose, however, that there is an equality of Masons among themselves, or that the same rank carries everywhere the same distinction. There is no small difference between one Lodge and another. To be a member of a good Lodge is as much of a privilege as to be a member of a good club. To become a member of some Lodge is no hard matter. Any seven Masons have a right to combine and establish a Lodge of their own, and admit members into it. A great Lodge may thus split off in a hundred directions, and grow like a polypus in every one of its parts. The new offshoots may be of a like dignity with their parent, or they may take rank above it or below it. It is a question very much of the social standing of its members. The Lodge which meets under the presidency of the local publican is none the less as truly a Masonic Lodge as any other. Its members, as Freemasons, share the full privileges of their Order, and may become acquainted with every secret of the Craft. More certain it is that they will keep up the traditions of the Masonic body by dining together and drinking together. Freemasonry has been defined or described as an excuse for a good dinner. It was in due course, therefore, that the proceedings on Saturday at the Mark Grand Lodge led up to a grand banquet at the Holborn Restaurant afterwards. To the traveller in distant lands Freemasonry may prove of service at a pinch. Its chief home use is less important, but more certain and possibly more attractive.—Times, 10th Dec. 1883.

The brethren of the Feltham Lodge, No. 1567, are about to do honour to Bro. John Mason, founder and Past Master of the Lodge, Collector to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, on the occasion of his silver wedding, which will be celebrated on Christmas Day next. A testimonial will be presented to commemorate the day. We tender our felicitations on the auspicious event.

Bro. Dr. Jabez Hogg P.G.D. presided at the usual monthly meeting of the Committee of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, held on Wednesday, at Freemasons' Hall. There was a good attendance, and after the minutes of the previous meeting had been confirmed, the Secretary reported three deaths, one of an accepted candidate for next election, and two of the annuitants. In the Warden's report it was mentioned that Dr. Strong had procured tickets for those of the old people in the Asylum who were able to use them to see the procession when the Duke of Edinburgh visited Croydon. Through Dr. Strong's efforts, seats had been provided at Whitgift's Hospital. Bro. Strong was thanked for this kind service, as was also Bro. Layton for having contributed to the pleasure of the sick. The necessary cheques were ordered to be signed, and it was intimated that the usual New Year's Entertainment would be given to the inmates. The chief business of the meeting was the consideration of a motion proposed by Bro. C. H. Webb, V.P., P.M. 1607, to the effect that the Board should take into consideration what measures (if any) could be adopted to assist accepted candidates for election, according to the amount of money and length of time they had contributed to the funds of the Institution. Bro. Webb's idea is fully embodied in his resolution, and in moving it, he said his object was not to convert the Institution into a benefit society, nor did he think it would lead to that result. Some of those who were candidates, and who might become annuitants, had done little or nothing for the Institutions; he thought the time had arrived when something in the direction he pointed out should be done, that those who really did support the Institution when they were able should have some preference given to them when misfortune compelled them to seek aid. Bro. R. Turtle Pigott said the motion was calculated to create bogus votes; the most deserving cases were those who were too poor to give; many persons were admitted into Masonry without due inquiry having been made as to their means. Bros Murlis, Goodall, Newton, Brett, and Perceval having spoken, Dr. Hogg observed that the state of things they were now lamenting once existed in the Royal Medical Benevolent College, where it was found that the majority of candidates never assisted at all, and that the fathers of candidates, although in prosperous circumstances, had not subscribed. The Council passed a rule establishing a Committee of Examiners, whose duty it was to investigate every case, and the votes were given according to their report. Bro. Webb, in reply, said that in the Builders' Benevolent Institution they gave a candidate 10 votes for every guinea he had subscribed. The subject was considered of so much importance that its further discussion was adjourned. After placing thirteen petitioners on the list of candidates for next May election, the Committee separated.

The installation of the Prince of Wales on Saturday last as Grand Master of the Mark Degree, was followed by a grand banquet at the Holborn Restaurant, at which, however, His Royal Highness's engagements did not admit of his being present. But previous to the ceremony taking place, His Royal Highness took lunch there in company with a select gathering of Grand Officers, when he was pleased to express himself as being delighted with the surroundings, as well indeed he might, seeing there are few, if any, places of a similar character in London, where, in rooms so handsomely and artistically appointed, the comfort of the guests is so thoroughly considered, and their requirements so promptly and satisfactorily attended to.

The 6th Annual Masonic Ball in connection with the Eccleston Lodge and Chapter, No. 1624, will take place on Friday, the 11th of January, at the Westminster Town Hall, S.W., under the presidency of the W.M. Bro. C. Taylor, and an efficient band of Stewards. Single tickets, 10s 6d, double ditto 18s 6d, to include supper and light refreshments. A dispensation has been granted for the brethren to wear Masonic clothing. Tickets can be obtained of Bro. A. A. Johnson, Hon. Sec., 11 Cambridge Terrace, South Belgravia.

Bro. W. H. Russell S.W. 40 was unanimously elected, on Monday last, Worshipful Master of the Derwent Lodge. Bro. F. Rossiter P.M. was elected Treasurer.

Digitized by Google

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

ST. LEONARD LODGE, No. 1766.

THIS prosperous young Lodge held its annual meeting on Wednesday, at the Town Hall, Shoreditch. Lodge was opened soon after 3 o'clock by the W.M., Bro. James Alfred Jones, who was supported by a very large gathering of Craftsmen, amongst whom we may mention Bros. Past Masters L. Stean, G. T. Barr, Elias Benjamin, Joseph Cox Sec., A. A. Clement S.W. and W.M. elect, the Officers of the Lodge, W. Clarke P.G.P. Hon. Member, and the following Visitors:—Bros. J. Smith W.M. 193, Thos. Fletcher 33, John Roberts 1816, A. Bradgate 55, E. Heard 95, C. Gooding 1329, Max Trenberg 1728, G. H. F. Rowe 1096, G. W. Danter 392, R. J. Saunders 861, G. T. Turner P.M. 183, R. R. Harper P.M. and Sec. 813, G. W. Mustoe 813, G. A. Christmas 27, G. Wade 1310, A. R. Trew 959, C. Lorkin W.M. 1524, C. Sims 861, H. Salter 861, F. Bruce P.M. 1976, C. W. Cox P.M. and Sec. 1566 (Mayor of Maidenhead), C. W. Smyth S.W. 1524, W. Idiens 925, J. Green 933, E. Wallace J.W. 907, J. E. Shand P.M. 1563, S. L. Barker W.M. 860, G. Heritage 860, D. M. Correll 193, J. A. Collings Org. 1693, A. Westerby 185, C. B. Carter W.M. 1662, W. Burroughs S.D. 1437, Thomas Price P.M. 946, H. Brett 1579, W. Clarke 1158, W. H. Baker S.W. 1641, G. Chant 813, R. Senecal P.M. 569, C. Corrick 101, H. G. Buss A.G. Sec., F. W. Terry J.W. 214, Thomas Hill 813, H. P. Matthews 569, T. M. Francis 55, A. Smeed 180, N. Hempstead 180, E. W. Symmons 1471, E. Sims P.M. Sir Hugh Myddelton, W. W. Morgan S.W. 211, &c. After the minutes of last meeting had been read and confirmed, the ballot was taken for Mr. James Austin, who was proposed by Bro. Edgar T. Clark, seconded by Bro. J. W. Griffiths. The result was in favour of the candidate. Bro. A. J. Heard then underwent examination, and in due course was raised to the sublime degree of M.M. The W.M. elect was presented for the benefits of installation, and the outgoing Master performed the ceremony in an eminently satisfactory manner. After the Board of Installed Masters had completed their portion of the work of the day, the members below the rank of I.M. were re-admitted, and they saluted the new Master in the three degrees. The following brethren were then appointed as Officers for the ensuing twelvemonths:—Bros. James Alfred Jones I.P.M., Jas. Funston S.W., E. Walker J.W., Rev. H. G. Henderson, M.A., Chaplain, Daniel King Treas., Joseph Cox Secretary, Frank Matthews S.D., R. Drysdale J.D., H. J. Thrower I.G., L. A. Harrison M.C., G. C. Young Organist, and E. T. Clark Steward. After the addresses had been delivered, the candidate named above—Mr. James Austin—was introduced and initiated into the Order, Bro. Clement performing the ceremony in a very creditable manner. A Past Master's jewel was presented to the outgoing Master, and graceful allusion made to the satisfactory way in which he had carried out the duties of his office. This compliment was suitably acknowledged, and Lodge closed. After a short interval, a capital banquet was served; the arrangements reflecting the highest credit upon Messrs. Humphreys and Devine, to whom the service had been entrusted. No time was lost, and each course was presented with every regard to the comfort and enjoyment of the guests. On the removal of the cloth the W.M. briefly introduced the Loyal toasts—The Queen and the Craft, and the Health of H.R.H. the M.W. the Grand Master; the National Anthem and God Bless the Prince of Wales being sung with the customary amount of enthusiasm, Bros. Strickland and Meriton sustaining the solo parts. In speaking to the toast of the Right Hon. the Earl of Carnarvon, the D.G.M. the Earl of Lathom and the rest of the Grand Officers Present and Past, the W.M. referred to the pains displayed by the Pro Grand Master at the last Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge to conduct the business in a complete and dignified manner. Bros. Buss (Assistant Grand Secretary) and Clarke (Past Grand Pursuivant) replied, and then the I.P.M. proposed the health of the Worshipful Master. He approached this pleasurable duty with all the cordiality and enthusiasm which should follow when a man is called upon to do honour to a consistent and successful Mason. Bro. Clement was one of the founders of the St. Leonard Lodge, and had worked his way up to the chair from the office of Inner Guard. He (Bro. Jones) had great pleasure in offering the toast for the acceptance of the brethren. After a song—the Powder Monkey—by Bro. T. Douglass, the W.M. replied. After thanking the brethren for the honour they had done him in responding to the toast so enthusiastically, he assured them his best services should be at the disposal of the Lodge. In speaking of the Installing Master the W.M. said: The ceremony of the day had been admirably rendered; personally he thanked Bro. Jones for the way in which he had carried it out. After a song by Bro. Strickland, Bro. Jones modestly acknowledged the compliment paid him, and assured the brethren of the gratification he experienced in the assurance he had received that his exertions were appreciated. Each of the Past Masters of the Lodge who were present acknowledged the toast proposed in their honour; Bro. Barr offering some well-considered remarks, that met with cordial endorsement. Our humorous friend and brother H. P. Matthews was next called upon for a song; this he gave so much to the liking of the brethren that an enthusiastic demand for a second ditty had to be complied with. As a matter of course the initiate was complimented, and after his toast had been responded to, the Masonic Institutions were brought under the notice of the members by the W.M., who called on Bros. Buss and Clarke to respond. The latter brother eloquently descanted on what was being done by the three Institutions connected with the Craft, and made a special appeal on behalf of the Benevolent Institution, with which he is associated more closely as a member of the Committee. For the Visitors Bros. Cox and Price replied. Reference was next made to the zeal displayed by the Officers of the Lodge, and after acknowledgment had been made, the Tyler gave the parting toast. In addition to the brethren we have already named, Bros. C. W. Cox and J. Cox contributed some capital songs.

ANCHOR AND HOPE LODGE, No. 37.

THE monthly meeting of this Lodge was held on Monday, the 2nd instant, at the Masonic Hall, Swan Hotel, Bolton, at six o'clock in the evening. Bros. G. P. Brockbank P. Prov. S.G.D. Grand Steward Scotland W.M., E. M. Garstang I.P.M., John Booth S.W., H. W. Pacey P. Prov. G. Org. Berks and Bucks J.W., James Newton P. Prov. S.G.D. Secretary, J. W. Poynts S.D., R. Nightingale as J.D., J. M. Bentley, Mus. Doc., Organist, J. Naylor as I.G., Roiley Tyler, Higson Assistant Tyler; Past Masters Johnson Mills, D. K. Freeman, James Walker; Bros. Gillibrand, Robinson, Musgrave. Visitors—Bros. Geo. Taylor P.M. 146, Richard Duxbury W.M. 146, John Isherwood W.M. 221, Nathaniel Nicholson P.M. 1723, Jas. Heywood P.M. 1723, J. Duxbury W.M. 1335, Edward Barber P.M. 113, J. McAdam 381. The minutes having been confirmed, Lodge was advanced forthwith to the second degree, when Bros. Robinson and Gillibrand passed a satisfactory examination, and were entrusted. Lodge was opened in the third degree, when the candidates were readmitted, and severally raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason by the W.M. Bro. Brockbank, by whom the traditional history was given. The working tools, tokens, &c., were explained by Bros. Nicholson and Duxbury. Lodge was closed to the first degree. Mr. James William Mather, Solicitor, Bolton, who had been duly announced in the circular calling the meeting, having been proposed in open Lodge at the last regular meeting, was balloted for and elected. Brother John Booth Senior Warden was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing year. On the motion of Bro. Newton, seconded by the W.M., it was resolved to contribute one guinea to the "Hughan" Testimonial Fund. Bros. Naylor and Freeman were appointed to audit the accounts for the past year. It was agreed to hold the Annual Festival on the first Monday in January next. Hearty good wishes were expressed from the visiting brethren, after which the S.W. read a portion of the Ancient Rules and Charges. Lodge was then closed in peace and harmony, at 8 o'clock.

RED CROSS OF CONSTANTINE.

DE-LA POLE CONCLAVE, KINGSTON-UPON-HULL, No. 132.

A REGULAR meeting of this Conclave was held at the Masonic Rooms, Charlotte-street, Hull, on the 28th ult., under the presidency of E. Sir Kt. George Wilson M.P.S. Amongst other Sir Knights present there were Em. Sir Knights Preston and Ansdell; Sir Knights W. Gillett, A. P. Wilson, Wing, Cheesman, Wright, Cooper, Bevers, Highmoor, and Matthews. After the calling of the muster roll and confirmation of the minutes of the previous Conclaves, Worshipful Brother Geo. L. Shackles P.M. of the Alexandra Lodge No. 1151, and Bros. W. A. Bennett S.W. and J. Chappel I.G. of the De-la-Pole Lodge, No. 1605, who had been elected at previous Conclaves were duly installed and proclaimed as Knights of the Order. A College of Viceroys was subsequently opened, and Sir Knight A. P. Wilson V.E. elect, was duly installed and inducted into the office of Viceroy of the Conclave, the ceremony being rendered by Eminent Sir Knight James R. Ansdell P.S., after which, a Senate being called, Eminent Sir Knight W. Gillett M.P.S. elect was enthroned. The newly-installed M.P.S. stated that owing to the lateness of the hour the investiture of the Officers would be deferred until the following meeting, when the addresses to each Officer would be delivered by Eminent Sir Knight A. P. Wilson, the newly-elected Viceroy. The Conclave was closed in ancient form, after which the Companions adjourned to the refectory, where a substantial and enjoyable banquet was served, and the usual Red Cross toasts given and responded to.

YE ANTIENTE FRATERNITIE OF YE RAHERE ALMONERS."—SMOKING CONCERT.

THERE was a large gathering of members and friends of this Charitable Institution (amongst whom are numbered several well-known Freemasons), at the first of a series of Smoking Concerts, held at the Manchester Hotel, E.C., on Monday last. Amongst the general company were Bros. Joseph Young, A. E. Emdin, J. Deverall C.C., and many others. Amongst the vocalists were Bros. Theodore Distin, Chaplin Henry, Wakefield Reed, Seymour-Smith, G. S. Graham, Egbert Roberts, and others. The whole of the Officers of the Grand Council of the Fraternity were present, and their friends completely occupied all the available space, there being nearly 200 persons present. The entertainment was excellent, and the result very successful, the alms chest largely contributed to, and a large number of annual subscribers being enrolled. The Chairman, Bro. Stevens, and Mr. Sangster, the worthy Recorder (or Secretary), respectively addressed the company during a necessary interval, recounting the past good works of the Institution, and their remarks met with much appreciation. We are informed that the second of the series of these Concerts will be given on the 14th of January next, and we hope it may meet with a like success.

A Convocation was held of the North London Chapter of Improvement on Thursday evening, 6th inst., at the Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, at 8 o'clock. Comps. H. Stiles Z., Hubbard H., Brasted J., Radcliffe S.N., Knight P.S. The attendances at this Chapter of Improvement have greatly increased now the winter has thoroughly set in.

Digitized by Google

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our Correspondents.

All Letters must bear the name and address of the Writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return rejected communications.

—:o:—

MASONS AND MASONIC DINING.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

SIR AND BROTHER,—I presume I am right in assuming that the report that appeared in last Monday's daily newspapers of the doings of the Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons of the previous Saturday is correct? It is recorded that they met at Freemasons' Hall to transact business, and afterwards adjourned to the Holborn Restaurant to dine. No doubt the latter place is worthy of the patonage Freemasons bestow upon it; I have no complaint to make against it; on the contrary, I believe it to be admirably adapted for all dining purposes. But what strikes me as very strange is, that with Messrs. Spiers and Pond at Freemasons' Hall for the express purpose of ministering to the inner man, it is considered necessary to go elsewhere so frequently to dine. What is the cause of this singular habit on the part of many brethren? I always thought that Freemasons' Hall was for Freemasons, and that they held it a first duty to patronise their own friends in preference to strangers. In this instance, not only are Messrs. Spiers and Pond friends, as understood in the ordinary sense of the term, but also, in a special degree, as tenants. Why, then, do so many seek in foreign quarters what they should be able to obtain quite as well in their own home? There must be a cause for this singular practice of migration. I believe there is no restaurant at the Hall, and yet when attending a recent election I and another brother were able to get a chop and necessary accompaniments. But I am informed that that was only a temporary arrangement, and by no means as perfect as it should have been. Personally I was well served, and have no fault to find. Then, I believe, there are no club facilities, such as are to be found at the Holborn Restaurant and elsewhere. If this is so, the fault may not be that of Messrs. Spiers and Pond, whose facilities may be limited. These considerations are, by the way; the main question is, why do some of our Lodges go from home to dine? It cannot be owing to lack of skill in management, for I believe Brother Dawkins is equal to any demands that might be made upon him in the way of catering. Is there a lack of accommodation, a want of enterprise, or the absence of desire to meet the wishes and wants of the Craft? It may be that some of the leading brethren are whimsical, and prefer strange to familiar haunts. Whatever may be the cause, I think it a grave scandal that so many leave Freemasons' Hall to go elsewhere to get necessary refreshments. If it is the fault of management, then an authoritative protest should be made; if it arises from prejudice and a hankering after novelty, then I would suggest that a kind of remonstrance should be made by those who, from age and experience, might speak without giving offence. Messrs. Spiers and Pond owe it to themselves to clear the matter up, and if they are wronged it is only just and right that the facts should be known and a remedy sought.

While on the question of the Tavern, I might point out that as balls take place in that part of the building devoted to general purposes, great care ought to be taken against fire. Such assemblies have often ended in serious conflagrations, and too much caution cannot be observed in providing against a similar catastrophe at Freemasons' Tavern.

Yours fraternally,

I.P.M.

No. 79 WAS UNDOUBTEDLY AN ENGLISH LODGE.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—About seven years ago, we had a discussion about the origin of a legally constituted Grand Lodge in Philadelphia, and I have since then sent to your paper several communications upon the same subject, showing in each of my communications additional evidence that the Grand Lodge in Philadelphia in 1732 was constituted without authority from the Grand Lodge of England. Before, however, I proceed to submit some further evidence, permit me, for the information of your new readers, to state briefly the arguments upon which our Philadelphian brethren have based their theory.

1st. Dr. Franklin, in his newspaper of 8th December 1730, stated: "As there are several Lodges erected in this Province," &c. Now, as there is not the slightest doubt that Franklin was not a Mason in 1730, his statement may therefore be regarded either as an invention or an exaggeration. In short, nobody believes in the statement of "several Lodges," even in Philadelphia.

2nd. At the dedication of the Philadelphia Masonic Temple about ten years ago, the orator cited a fragment from a letter said to have been written 17th November 1754, by Henry Bell, of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, to Thomas Cadwallader, of Philadelphia, in which Bell claimed that he was one of the originators of a Lodge in Philadelphia in 1730, and that he and others subsequently obtained a charter from Daniel Coxe, who was appointed Prov. Grand Master in 1730, over New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. This letter is evidently an imposition, for the several papers and orations upon this question, which have appeared in the Philadelphia Keystone during the last two years, are minus of the Henry Bell letter, though all the other arguments were carefully repeated; and with regard to Coxe, there is no evidence whatever that either Franklin or any other prominent Philadelphia Mason, knew anything about Coxe, and there is no evidence that Coxe had ever done anything in Masonry, even in New Jersey, where he resided.

And 3rd. We have Rawlinson's Lodge list, which terminates with No. 115, constituted in July 1733, in which list No. 79 is vacant; that is, the number 79 is there, but the place of its meeting is omitted, signifying that the Lodge was extinct in 1733. We have Pine's official engraved Lodge list of 1734, in which No. 79 is blank, and we have likewise Smith's "Masonic Pocket Companion," printed in London in 1735, to which is appended a Lodge of 1734, in which No. 79 is again blank. Here we have the evidence of three English writers, some of whom undoubtedly had access to the Grand Lodge of England's archives, who all agree that Lodge No. 79 was for some reason erased from the English Register. But in a Dublin reprint of Smith's "Pocket Companion" in 1735, the blank to No. 79 is filled up, with "At the Hoop, Water Street, Philadelphia," and upon his evidence, our Philadelphian friends, and our English Bro. Hughan, claim that No. 79 was chartered in London for Philadelphia.

But that is not all. I have a London "Pocket Companion," to which is appended a Lodge list of 1737, in which list I find that No. 79 was then located at the Crown and Angel in Little St. Martin's Lane, in London. I therefore come to the conclusion that No. 79, after being dropped from the English Register for several years, was restored to its original number in the beginning of 1735. I say 1735, because, on the 24th of February 1735, the Grand Lodge of England passed a law that if a Lodge within the Bills of Mortality shall cease to meet for twelve months, its name shall be erased from the Grand Lodge book, and from the engraved Lodge list, viz., Pine's Lodge list already referred to; and if the brethren of an erased Lodge should petition for its revival, they cannot have their old number or precedency, and it is highly probable that this very petition for the restoration of Lodge No. 79 suggested the enactment of that law in 1735. These and many more arguments upon this subject are not new, but I shall now proceed to furnish evidence which will be fresh to our Philadelphia friends.

On page 50 of Bro. Gould's "Four Old Lodges," a Lodge list, or list of English Lodges, is thus prefaced.

LIST OF LODGES 1730-32.
(From the Minute Book of the Grand Lodge).

"This list seems to have been continued from 1730 to 1732, and is thus headed in the earliest Minute Book of the Grand Lodge.

"List of the names of the members of all the regular Lodges as they were returned in the year 1730." In the list following the above I find that No. 79 used to meet at that time at the "Castle, in Highgate." Now, I know where Highgate is located, near London, but I never heard that, in or near Philadelphia, there was a place called Highgate in 1730. No. 79 must therefore have been originally in 1730 in Highgate, near London, and not in Philadelphia. The record to which Bro. Gould refers I saw in 1880. Bro. Gould himself called my attention to it. It is not a Lodge list or a list of Lodges in the way lists of Lodges appear in the old Pocket Companions, or in the modern Masonic Calendars, but at the head of each page is written the number of a Lodge, with the name of the public-house where it held its meetings, and this is followed with the names of the members of the said Lodge. Now, the page on the record, to which I beg to call attention, is as follows:—

"79, Castle, in Highgate."

Thos. Moore, Esq., Master.	Mr. Thos. Clypperton.
Mr. Thomas Crawford Warden.	Mr. Richard Busby.
Dr. Phillip Chandler Warden.	Claud Crespigny, Esq.
Alexr. Chocke, Esq.	Vinal Taverner, Esq.
Nathl. Blackerby, Esq.	— Shealwood, Esq.
James Smythe, Esq.	— Page, Esq.
John Pollex, Esq.	Mr. Richard Baugh.
John Bridges, Esq.	Mr. Harry Walthoe.
Mr. Edward Price.	Mr. Joshua Lewis.
Mr. Humphrey Primale.	Dr. Cotton.
Mr. John Plumert.	John Pawlet, Esq.
Mr. Henry Stone Street.	Mr. Lester King.
Mr. Thos. Jeffreys.	Mr. Peter Wright.

The lists of the names of the members of the Lodges in the said record were copied from reports made to the G.L. early in 1730, when Lord Lovel was G.M.

Here, then, is irrefutable evidence that Lodge No. 79, of 1730, held its earliest meetings at the Castle, in Highgate. Here are also the names of its officers and members as reported to Grand Lodge in 1732. And, what is more, several of those members held distinguished positions in the Grand Lodge of England. Thus Bro. Alexander Chocke was G.S.W. in 1726 and D.G.M. in 1727, Bro. Nathaniel Blakerby was S.G.W. in 1727, D.G.M. in 1729 and 1730, and G.T. from 1728 to 1737, James [Moore] Smythe was G.S. in 1732 and J.G.W. in 1733, Claud Crespigny was G.S. in 1732, Vinal Taverner was G.S. in 1732, Richard Baugh was G S. in 1733, Thomas Jeffreys was G.S. in 1733, and Thomas Moore was G.S. in 1731.

Now, with all these facts before us, I ask, in the name of common sense, how can a rational and conscientious man pretend to believe that Lodge No. 79 was located in Philadelphia in 1730?

Fraternally yours,

JACOB NORTON.

Boston, U.S., 27th Nov. 1883.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Sure Relief.—The weak and enervated suffer severely from nervous affections when storms or fogs prevail. Neuralgia, gouty pangs, and rheumatic pains, very distressing to a delicate system, may be readily removed by rubbing this Ointment upon the affected and adjacent parts after they have been fomented with warm water. The Pills taken occasionally in the doses prescribed by the instructions keep the digestion in order, excite a free flow of healthy bile, and regenerate the impoverished blood with richer materials, resulting from thoroughly assimilated food, wanting which the strongest must inevitably soon sink into feebleness, and the delicate find it difficult to maintain existence. Holloway's Ointment and Pills are infallible remedies.

Digitized by Google

MARK MASONRY.

GRAND CHAPTER OF QUEBEC AND THE MARK GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND AND WALES.

NOTHING is more natural than that our brethren of the Mark degree should rejoice over the enrolment of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales among the magnates of this Order. It is well understood, of course, that this adhesion of His Royal Highness to a degree which does not come within the scope of Antient, Free, and Accepted Masonry, as defined by the Constitutions of the United Grand Lodge of England, is not to be taken as any evidence of a desire on the part of the Prince to bring about an amalgamation of Mark and Craft Masonry. Still, quite apart from this understanding, which has been fully recognised from the very first, there is, as we have more than once remarked, no doubt whatever that the Mark degree has had a great honour conferred upon it by the Prince's accession to its ranks. However, it may be as well to caution our friends of the Order against being too jubilant as to the additional prosperity that may be in store for them. It not unfrequently happens that an advance in one direction is necessarily followed by a strategic movement to the rear in another direction, and this would almost appear to be the case with the Mark Grand Lodge at this present juncture. It numbers the Prince of Wales amongst its Past Grand Masters, but it has also succeeded in bringing down upon itself the wrath of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Quebec, which about two months since set about anathematising it and all its belongings, with a heartiness and thoroughness which speaks volumes for the excommunicative abilities of Quebec Masons. In these circumstances, it may well happen at some period not very remote that the unhappy picture may be presented to us of the chiefs of this supreme body, the Heir-Apparent to the British Crown included, sitting miserably in sackcloth and ashes, and lamenting the sad chance which has brought them into conflict with that august body, the aforesaid Royal Arch Chapter of Quebec. The presence amongst them of the Prince of Wales will avail them nothing in their pitiable condition, nor is it reasonable to suppose there can be the slightest hope for them in the future, and unless they turn forthwith and repent of their grave iniquities. So, at least, thunders forth the Grand Z. of the said Grand Chapter, and who is there that is bold enough to question his dictum?

No doubt the poor English Mark Mason, even in the most terrible paroxysms of his agony, on hearing of the fate that is in store for him, will be anxious to learn what, in the name of all that is reasonable, he has done to have brought upon himself an amount of cursing, to which that recorded in the Ingoldsby Legend is but as a tinkling cymbal. To this reasonable inquiry answer will at once be made that his respected chief, the Most Worshipful Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons has had the audacity to issue Warrants for the constitution of two new Mark Lodges in Montreal, and a patent to the Hon. W. Badgley, appointing him Prov. Grand Master of Quebec, of which Montreal is the capital. These Warrants of Constitution and this patent of appointment, it should be pointed out, are not intended to be encroachments on any of the rights and privileges possessed by the Grand Chapter of Quebec, but no doubt it will be unavailing to plead this in extenuation—"justification," in ordinary circumstances, would be perhaps a more comfortable word, were it not that we have before our eyes the towering wrath of the Quebec Grand Chapter. Neither will it avail us anything, if we allege in extenuation—or justification as the case may be—that, unless such Warrants are issued, many of our English Quebec Craft brethren must be denied the opportunity, should they desire it, of taking the Mark Degree. The Grand Chapter of Quebec, though, as ill-luck would have it, it was recognised a few years since by our Mark Grand Lodge—the Mark degree being a part of its curriculum—has never yet been recognised by the Supreme Grand Chapter of England. Hence our loyal brethren of the English Montreal Lodges and Chapters find themselves between the horns of a dilemma. Either they must take the Mark Degree, if they would become Mark Masters, in or rather under the auspices of Chapters which are not recognised by their own supreme authority; or they must forego the wish to take this degree altogether, and that notwithstanding it has been worked for a long course of years, and long before the Grand Chapter of Quebec was ever heard of. True, the working was somewhat informal, and the brethren who cultivated the degree did so without the sanction of any supreme authority. Still, as hundreds of Mark brethren in Montreal can testify, the Mark degree was a distinct entity in Anglo-Montreal Masonry, and members of the Quebec Constitution will have some difficulty in denying this fact.

We are well aware that in inflicting punishment it matters little as to the instrument selected, provided always that, in the opinion of those who use it, it is likely to prove efficacious. We are also aware that, when people have made up their minds to pick a quarrel, it is utterly useless for their opponents to attempt anything like argument to induce in them a better and more charitable frame of mind. So long as the leaders of Quebec Freemasonry can find an opportunity for lashing into their English brethren who resolutely decline to consort with them, it matters little with what instrument the lashing is inflicted. Similarly, there may be a hundred, or even a thousand, cogent reasons adducible in favour of the course that has been adopted by the Mark Grand Lodge. The reasons may be as plentiful as blackberries in season, but the Grand Lodge of Quebec will have none of them. It is a part, an essential part of its Masonic faith, that even a purely imaginary affront to its dignity must be resented, and hence this terrible decree of excommunication which was launched at the devoted heads of all our Mark brethren on the 13th October of the present year of civilisation and common sense by the Grand Lodge of Quebec. It may be as well, however, if we make one further remark. There are many reasons for doubting if the Masons holding under the Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter of Quebec constitute a legal body, that is, whether they are really and truly exempted from the operation of certain Acts passed by the local legislature in respect of secret societies. We understand that our Anglo-Montreal brethren have made up their minds to bring this matter to a direct issue in a Court of law, and should this contention of our anathematised friends turn out to be correct, where then will be the Grand Chapter of Quebec and its bombastic proclamation? We shall look forward with no small amount of curiosity to the answer which in time no doubt will be forthcoming to this somewhat ticklish query.

H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES AND THE MARK DEGREE.

A SPECIAL Grand Lodge of the Mark Degree was held on Saturday afternoon last, at the Freemasons' Tavern, by dispensation from the Grand Master, Lord Henniker, for the purpose of conferring upon His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales the rank of Grand Mark Master and Past Grand Mark Master. At the Grand Lodge last June Lord Henniker announced that the Prince of Wales was about to become a Mark Mason, but that His Royal Highness did not wish his taking that step should be construed into a desire that the Mark Degree should become amalgamated with the Craft Degree, or as an argument to be used by the brethren in favour of such a desire. His Lordship at the same time gave notice that at the following Grand Lodge in December he should move that the rank of Grand Master and Past Grand Master should be conferred upon His Royal Highness, and that his name should be placed at the head of the list of Past Grand Masters of the degree. His Lordship also referred to the fact of His Royal Highness's brother, the Duke of Albany, already holding that rank, and to the interest which various members of the reigning House of England took in the mystic craft. On Tuesday, 4th December, at the Half-Yearly Communication of Grand Mark Lodge, Lord Henniker moved the resolutions of which he had given notice, and they were seconded by Rev. Thomas Robinson, Deputy Provincial Grand Mark Master of Kent, and, of course, carried unanimously. On that occasion the Prince of Wales's numerous engagements prevented his attending to take the degree. The degree of Mark Mason was conferred on him on 30th October at a Lodge held at 33 Golden Square, when the Duke of Albany performed the ceremony, and the Prince of Wales was admitted into the Order. His Royal Highness appointed Saturday as a convenient day for his receiving the rank of Grand Master and Past Grand Master, and Lord Henniker called a special Grand Lodge for that purpose at three o'clock. Long, however, before that hour a large concourse of Mark Masons had assembled in the great hall of the Freemasons' Tavern to do honour to the head of English Freemasons. It was nearly half-past three before the Grand Lodge was opened, and at that time there could not have been less than 500 brethren present. Lord Henniker, the Grand Master, entered the hall with his Officers, who were under the direction of Bro. Robert Berridge, the Grand Director of Ceremonies. When Lord Henniker took his seat on the throne, he was supported on his right by the Earl of Kintore Deputy Grand Mark Master, and on his left by H.R.H. the Duke of Albany Past Grand Master. Brother General Brownrigg, C.B., acted as Grand Senior Warden, and the Hon. Major Henniker, the Grand Junior Warden of the year, took the seat of Grand Junior Warden. Included among the brethren present were Past Grand Masters the

Digitized by Google

Earl of Limerick, W. W. B. Beach, M.P., and Rev. Canon Portal; Bros. T. Trollope, M.D., Rev. W. M. Heath, W. Kelly, F.S.A., Major J. W. Woodall, W. A. F. Powell, J.P., Rev. J. S. Brownrigg, R. C. Else, J.P., Major A. W. O. Saunders, Capt. C. Hunter, A. M. Broadley, Percy Leith, Captain N. G. Philips, T. F. Halsey, M.P., Lord Arthur Hill, Hon. W. P. Orde-Powlett, Charles F. Matier, Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke, H. R. Hatherly, Colonel C. E. Bignold, S. G. Kirchhoffer, Capt. A. B. Cook, Magnus Obren, J. E. Le Feuvre, W. Roebuck, R. Eve, E. C. Mather, T. Cubitt, J. T. Tweedale, O. H. Pearson, R. J. Mure, Col. J. C. Hay, J. Stevens, Revs. F. J. C. de Crespigny, W. Stainton Moses, W. Randall, H. J. Hatch, C. J. Martyn, A. W. Hall; Frederic Davison, H. C. Levander, M.A., Frederick Binckes, D. M. Dewar, A. F. Dodson, C. Stephens, Col. J. R. Bramble, T. Y. Strachan, W. Hickman, Geo. B. Brodie, M.D., Geo. Cooper, T. J. Ralling, R. Harwood, S. Mattison, T. J. Pulley, Capt. T. Hargreaves, F. W. Ramsey, M.D., C. S. Lane, G. Lambert, G. J. McKay, A. Williams, R. W. Eddis, H. Lovegrove, C. H. Driver, S. B. Wilson, S. Rosenthal, C. Lacey, Controller S. G. Bake, G. W. Verry, T. C. Walls, W. Watkins, J. D. Murray, C. T. Sparks, E. M. Lott, W. Ganz, W. Belcher, J. H. Banks, C. Pullman, P. Wallis, W. March, G. Ker, H. Faija, T. Taylor, J. G. Marsh, J. S. Cumberland, C. Davies, W. C. Gilles, J. Barker, T. J. Armstrong, W. J. Meek, T. W. Murley, H. Massey, M. Mildred, J. H. Wynne, C. W. Duke, F. W. Koch, Maj. P. Dunbar, H. J. Lardner, R. P. Spice, C. E. Soppet, W. Stephens, J. E. Anderson, E. Gilbert, R. L. Loveland, W. W. Morgan, W. H. Gimingham, J. Manwaring, &c., &c.

Apologies for non-attendance were received from M.W. Bros. Right Hon. Lord Leigh, Right Hon. the Earl of Carnarvon, Right Hon. Lord Holmesdale, Right Hon. Earl Percy, and Right Hon. Earl of Lathom; R.W. Bros. Lieut.-Col. J. Tanner Davy, Right Hon. Lord Egerton of Tatton, Rev. T. Robinson, Rev. C. R. Davy, J. Watson, J. Sutcliffe, Right Hon. Earl of Bective, Lieut.-Colonel Foster Gough, LL.D., W. J. Hughan, Dr. Hopkins, G. P. Brockbank, T. B. Whytehead, John Walker, Lieut.-Colonel F. Sewell, J. G. Podevin, R. N. Howard, S. G. Homfray, W. Newton, Rev. J. Marsden, T. C. Roden, Lieut.-Col. J. Randle Ford, J. L. Thomas, and A. Cracknell.

After the Grand Lodge had been opened, the Grand Master and Deputy Grand Master (the latter of whom has been elected as Grand Master for the ensuing year) were saluted, according to ancient custom, and the minutes of Grand Lodge of the previous Tuesday, as far as they related to the conferring of the rank of Grand Master and Past Grand Master on the Prince of Wales, were read and confirmed. A deputation was then entrusted to proceed out of the Grand Lodge and conduct the Prince of Wales into the Grand Lodge. This deputation consisted of the Grand Stewards, the Grand Director of Ceremonies, the Assistant Grand Director of Ceremonies, the Grand Deacons, the Grand Chaplains, the Grand Secretary, the Grand Treasurer, the Grand Wardens, Captain N. G. Philips, Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke, the Provincial Grand Masters, and the Duke of Albany. On the deputation returning, Bro. Beach, M.P., and Bro. Rev. Canon Portal bore the cushion and regalia of the Past Grand Master to be worn by the Prince of Wales, while the Prince walked between the Duke of Albany and Lord Limerick. The Grand Organist, Bro. E. M. Lott, during the procession played the National Anthem, and the entrance of the procession was the signal for a loud burst of applause. The Duke of Albany presented the Prince of Wales to the Grand Master.

Lord Henniker then said: May it please your Royal Highness, it gives me very great pleasure to be able, as Grand Master, in the name of all the Mark Master Masons of England, to welcome you most heartily and warmly into our Grand Lodge. I think, sir, that the reception you met with when you entered Grand Lodge this evening justifies me in saying what I have said, that we heartily welcome you; and it would be idle, sir, for me to make a long address to you on an an occasion of this kind—you who are so well versed in everything connected with Freemasonry. But perhaps, sir, I may be allowed to say a very few words before I invest you. We congratulate ourselves on the fact that you have joined our Order. We know, sir, what many illustrious members of your family have done in the past for Freemasonry, and we all know what you yourself are doing now, and another member of the Royal House of England. We know this also—we know the value of the fact in itself of your joining our Order; but we know more than this, we know that in everything you do for the good of your countrymen, for the good of your brethren in Freemasonry, and for the good of this country, you do not do by halves, but you do it with all your might, and we think we may safely look with confidence that we shall have your aid to promote the best interests of this Order. Sir, we have gladly taken this opportunity of again showing our loyalty to the Crown of England, and we also take this opportunity of showing our high respect and great regard for your Royal Highness. We are very glad, sir, that you have accepted the compliment that we have ventured to offer to you, the compliment which was unanimously voted at the beginning of this week by Grand Lodge—the compliment of being Most Worshipful Past G. Master of our Order, and that your name shall be placed at the herd of the list of those who have occupied the throne on which I now sit. I can assure you, sir, that this compliment is no empty one; for those who have occupied this throne before myself are amongst the most distinguished and most earnest Masons of the present day. It has been said, sir, too, very often that the sun never sets on the British Empire. I think we may make the same boast on our Mark Lodges; and, sir, it is not in the name of this Grand Lodge of England alone of English Mark Masons, but it is in the name of Mark Masons throughout the world that we have ventured to confer on your Royal Highness the highest honour that it is in our power to give. Before I conclude, I would only say one word for myself. I will give place to no Grand Master that has gone before me in my desire to do all I can for Mark Masonry, and, sir, in the three happy years that have passed while I have ruled over this Order I never thought I should be able to look back with the satisfaction I do now to this event, which is one I am most proud of during my term of office of Master Mason—the having had the honour of welcoming you to Grand Lodge. Sir, we know that you have many engagements and many calls upon your time, but we hope that we may sometimes see you with us, and you may be sure that when you do visit us you will receive always a hearty and a loyal welcome.

The Prince of Wales thereupon went through the Masonic form necessary before being placed on the Throne of a Ruler in the Craft, and having been clothed with the badge of his office, he was duly installed amidst loud cheers, Lord Henniker standing on his immediate left, with the Duke of Albany next. His Royal Highness having been proclaimed by Bro. Berridge, the Grand Director of Ceremonies, was saluted in Mark form.

The Prince of Wales then rose and said: Brethren, I beg to return my warmest thanks to our Brother Lord Henniker, our most Worshipful Grand Master, and to you all, for the high honour and privilege you have conferred on me in making me a Past Grand Master of Mark Master Masons. It is a high compliment I assure you to have received this degree; it is now, I think, almost the last that I have to receive, and I look upon it as by no means the least. The interest in the Craft, brethren, which I hope you will give me credit for having evinced ever since I have been a member of it will, I assure you, not diminish. I only regret that, through the manifold duties which in the course of the year it falls to my lot to perform, I have not had time, unfortunately, to devote as much as I could wish to the interests of Freemasonry. But, brethren, you may be assured that I have your interests at heart, and as long as I live you may be convinced that I shall do all I can to uphold our ancient and honourable Order. As long, brethren, as Freemasonry remains as it is now—an Order and an Institution of charity and of usefulness—it will flourish as long as the world exists. Let us hope the time will never come when we may in any way be biassed by politics. Above all, brethren, let us remember that we must as a charitable body be religious. As long as religion remains engrafted in the hearts of the Craft of our country it is certain to flourish, and be assured of it, that when religion in it ceases, the Craft will also lose its power and its stability. I will not detain you longer, brethren, as I know many of you have travelled long distances and wish to return, but I must thank you once more for the high compliment paid to me to-day, and assure you of the pride I feel in having taken the chair of the Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons. I will now call upon Bro. Lord Henniker to preside.

Lord Henniker then resumed the chair, and closed the Grand Lodge in the usual form.

The Royal party were loudly cheered as they left the hall.

A grand banquet was afterwards partaken of at the Holborn Restaurant, after which the usual Mark Masonic toasts were proposed.

At the conclusion of the banquet, the usual list of Mark Masonic toasts was proposed by the chairman, Brother A. M. Broadley, Past District Grand Master of the Mediterranean, and were received with great cordiality by the company.

The Chairman gave first the Health of the Queen and the Success of Mark Masonry. He next proposed the Health of the Most Worshipful Grand Mark Master, Lord Henniker. In proposing the toast of the Most Worshipful Past Grand Masters, the Chairman said he thought they must go through the toast which came next upon the list, and which was one of solemnity. The first upon the list was His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. He thought the adhesion of His Royal Highness to their body was an event which was second to none which had occurred in the quarter of a century that this Grand Lodge had existed. The adhesion of His Royal Highness meant a great deal. Before His Royal Highness joined the certificates issued exceeded 180,000, but the admission of the Grand Master would, he was sure, give an additional impetus to Mark Masonry in every part of the world. His Royal Highness had not joined them with any idea of merging Mark Masonry with Craft Masonry, which they knew must ever be a perfectly independent corporation. He could imagine what a satisfaction this day's work must be to those who had borne the burden and heat of the day. He thought Brother Binckes, who a quarter of a century ago associated himself with Mark Grand Lodge, must experience a rare satisfaction when he looked back through the vista of those twenty-five years, and saw his brightest wishes realised in seeing the Prince of Wales take the position of Senior Past Grand Master of Mark Masons.

The Chairman, in proposing the fourth toast, said that it was one which was not less important than that which preceded it. It was the health of the Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master, the Earl of Kintore, and the Grand Officers present and past. If, as he had said before, the Past Grand Masters of the Order had contributed to the well-being of Mark Masonry, he did not think they could have achieved what they had done if it had not been for the hearty co-operation of the Deputy Grand Master and the Grand Officers, and while they were congratulating themselves on the success they had had they must not forget the services they had received from the Officers of the Grand Lodge. He did not think he need say anything more, because if the Grand Officers had not aided the Grand Masters in the way they had done they would not now be as a body in the proud position in which they found themselves. He thought it would be invidious to name any one in particular, but he should do injustice to himself if he did not say one word in respect to the exertions of their veteran Grand Secretary, Bro. Binckes. They all knew how much of their success was due to his exertions. There were also Bro. Davidson, their Treas., Bro. Levander their Grand Registrar, Bro. Dewar the Assistant Grand Secretary, and Bro. Berridge, all of whom it was necessary to name for the services they had rendered. He could associate with this toast the name of Bro. Percy Leith, Past District Grand Master Bombay, upon whom he would call to reply.

Bro. Percy Leith said he considered it a great compliment to have his name associated with the toast, but he was only a Past District Grand Officer of India, which was not equivalent to a Provincial Grand Mastership in this country. He went on to say that he had done his best while in India to bring native brethren into Mark Masonry.

Digitized by Google

Brother Binckes, the Grand Secretary, in response to a long-continued call, rose, and said that he was one of a large number whose names were associated with the toast who were quite content to trust the response to the very able hands of Brother Percy Leith, Past District Grand Master of Bombay, and he did not think that he could add anything to what he had said in returning thanks for the very kind manner in which the company had been pleased to receive the toast of the Deputy Grand Master and Grand Officers. But if he dare say a word, it was this—as to the allusion to his services in the past—he would say, and that without fear of contradiction, that when, 25 years ago, or thereabouts, he took his share as a responsible Officer of the Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons, and engaged to do all he could to promote the interests of the Order that he thought deserved support, he never calculated that he should live to find—as he did find to-night—such a magnificent success. There were brethren there to-night, some of his old fellow labourers, who had with him worked with a stern determination, but they never thought that, with the hostility that was displayed towards them, they would after 25 years of hard work, find the Most Worshipful Grand Master of English Freemasons accepting the Senior Past Grand Mastership of Mark Master Masons. He had ventured to say to a distinguished brother to-night that Mark Masons did many extraordinary things, and he repeated it now. The word used in their order was "advancement," it was by progress, by advance that they went on from strength to strength, and he would undertake to say that Mark Grand Lodge had that night received within itself the surest keystone that could by any possibility be placed upon it. They would show to the Masonic world that they were an essential part of Masonry, and the Grand Lodge should know, if a day of grief ever came to it (which was not likely), that Mark Masonry was the best friend to Craft Masonry.

Bro. Dewar, Assistant Grand Secretary, also acknowledged the toast.

Bro. Stephens (of Reading) said he had been commissioned to propose the next toast, which was not the least important, that of—The Mark Benevolent Fund. And he would call upon a brother who could give particulars of the fund to reply. He would merely say that the Mark Benevolent Fund deserved the heartiest support, and he would associate the name of Bro. Binckes, while asking the company to drink to its continued success.

Bro. Binckes said it was a very hard task whenever he had an opportunity of addressing his brother Freemasons to be eternally called upon to say something in reference to practical Masonic Charity. There was no charm attaching to it; he simply had to endeavour to press upon every one he had the opportunity of addressing to do something for the support of the Masonic Charities. And what words could he use that should be conveyed in the shape of novelty? What words could he use that would have any charm whatever? It was simply the duty of asking them when they were enjoying themselves, as they were that evening, just to bear in mind that there were those who in the circumstances of life were not so happily situated as those who were then present; that there were the children also of those who had at one time been as happily situated as his hearers, and there were the Old People too. He had an occasion to say in Mark Lodge over and over again that one of the most eminent members of Grand Lodge—Bro. John Havers—had, in reference to the great success of Mark Masonry said to him, "Do not you think it is a great mistake to divert the money from the Charities of the Order for the purpose of fostering an ideal degree like the M.G. Lodge?" His (Bro. Binckes's) reply was, that wherever you meet—under whatever circumstances you meet, you will never find brethren who will not be disposed to do something in the shape of practical charity. What had they done in the Mark Degree? They had a certain amount of money, for their own Charities had been most successful. At two o'clock that afternoon His Royal Highness was partaking of their hospitality at a luncheon; at half-past three he was taking the proud position of Senior Past Grand Master. They would make this a red letter day. He placed his mark there; every one present placed his mark there. They had at the banquet table distinguished brethren from all parts of England. What was the result of their observation of the work of Mark Masonry? Why they knew, as all present knew, that the object of Mark Masters was to do all they possible could to cultivate and support the best interests of Freemasonry. They had nothing in the shape of hostility to the Grand Lodge of England. Would His Royal Highness have honoured them with his presence if he had thought he would violate the obligations he had taken? He (Bro. Binckes) wanted them to bear in mind that His Royal Highness laid it down as a distinct understanding that by his undertaking that position in Mark Grand Lodge it was not to be considered in any shape or way any justification for an appeal that the Mark was to be accepted as an integral portion of Freemasonry. He would tell them they did not wish for that; they were strong enough to hold their own; they had nine Past Masters, the most illustrious brethren in the Grand Lodge of England. A year ago they accepted and paid homage to the Duke of Albany as Past Grand Master, and to-night as they knew they had received, as Senior Past Grand Master, the Prince of Wales. The Craft Grand Lodge could not do that. The Mark word, however, was advancement—progress. Now, as to the Charity, his good friend Brother Havers had asked him, "do you not think it is a great mistake to divert the funds that are supporting Mark Masonry from supporting the Charities of the Order?" Now, what had they found by experience? why, that their Mark Lodges and Mark Grand Lodges had been and were the best supporters of all the great Charities annexed to Craft Masonry: and then they had gone outside and founded Charities of their own—a Benevolent Fund and an Educational Fund—by means of which both boys and girls were supported and educated; and he said, without fear of contradiction, that their Mark Grand Lodge was the best handmaid that the Craft Grand Lodge of England ever had in the world; and they were carrying out, on parallel lines, its great inestimable truths. Let them go on and prosper. Mark Masonry was recognised by every other body in the old world and in the new; but, as he had said before, they could do without affiliation, as they were strong enough to stand alone.

Bro. Matier said that he had been honoured by the Most Worshipful Master in the chair by being allowed to propose a toast was not in the official programme, and that toast was one he was sure that every Mark Master among them would honour, and revere and drink to with the heartiest enthusiasm. Although they had not been honoured that evening, through unavoidable circumstances, with the presence of the Most Worshipful Grand Master or Deputy Grand Master, they were honoured by the presence of a brother who had presided over them with the utmost ability and most gracious cordiality, and the most perfect manner, in every way in which a Chairman should behave. His Right Worshipful Brother Broadley had presided in the most perfect manner, and the thanks of all of them were due to him for the great ability he had displayed in the chair. He therefore asked them to drink with enthusiasm to the health of their chairman.

Bro. Broadley, in acknowledging the compliment said, that while he was in Tunis and Malta he had done his best to promote Mark Masonry; while in Egypt, though engaged for sixteen hours a day on very special business—the nature of which he need not particularly allude to—he contrived to found a Lodge under the shadow of the Pyramids: he understood that two others only awaited consecration.

Bro. Binckes, on rising to propose the concluding toast, that of the Visitors, said, there was a distinguished brother present for whom he (Bro. Binckes) had a very great regard, one who had done Mark Masonry service in many ways, and while they were pluming themselves on having achieved a large amount of success, he thought they must not lose sight of the fact that every member of Mark Grand Lodge was a member of the Craft Grand Lodge of England. They had amongst them that evening a brother who, while discharging his duties most faithfully in reference to the Grand Lodge of England, did not ignore other degrees outside that system. That brother's presence showed that he had a desire to support a degree not altogether recognised by the Grand Lodge of England. He proposed to them the toast of the Visitors, with which he would couple the name of the Grand Secretary Bro. Col. Shadwell H. Clerke.

Bro. Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke having acknowledged the compliment, the company separated.

At the banquet table the Senior Warden's chair was occupied by Bro. Dewar, while Bro. Berridge occupied that of Junior Warden.

INSTALLATION
OF H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES
As the M.W.G.M. of England,
AT THE ROYAL ALBERT HALL,
28th APRIL 1875.

COPIES of this BEAUTIFUL ENGRAVING by Brother HARTY P.M., consisting of Artist's Proofs, Proofs before Letters, and Lettered Proofs, India Prints, and Plain Prints may be had at Cost Price by applying to

Bro. W. R. NORRIS,
29 Southampton Buildings, W.C., London.

EDUCATION. — HAMBURG.
Bro. JOHN A. NEECK, 9 Bundesstrasse, HAMBURG,
Is prepared to receive into his Family
TWO OR THREE ENGLISH YOUTHS AS BOARDERS
During the time they attend School in this City.
CAREFUL SUPERVISION, KIND TREATMENT, BEST BODILY & MENTAL CARE
High References in England and Hamburg.
PROSPECTUS FREE

DANCING.—To Those Who Have Never Learnt to Dance.—Bro. and Mrs. JACQUES WYNMANN receive daily, and undertake to teach ladies and gentlemen, who have never had the slightest previous knowledge or instruction, to go through every fashionable ball-dance in a few easy lessons Private lessons any hour. Morning and evening classes
PROSPECTUS ON APPLICATION
ACADEMY—74 NEWMAN STREET, OXFORD STREET, W.
Bro. JACQUES WYNMANN WILL BE HAPPY TO TAKE THE MANAGEMENT OF MASONIC BALLS. FIRST CLASS BANDS PROVIDED.

FIRE AT FREEMASONS' HALL!
LARGE photographs of the Temple, taken immediately after the fire, on 8th May (suitable for framing), 5s each; or framed in oak, securely packed, sent to any address in the United Kingdom, carriage paid, on receipt of cheque for 15s. Masters of Lodges should secure this memorial of the old Temple for their Lodge rooms.
W. G. PARKER, Photographer, 40 High Holborn, W.C.
Established 25 years.

The Revised Book of Constitutions: Critically Considered, and Compared with the Old Edition. London: Simpkin, Marshall & Co., 4 Stationers' Hall Court, E.C. Sent on receipt of stamps. One Shilling, by W. W. Morgan, Freemason's Chronicle Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.—(Adv't).

Digitized by Google

THE IMPERIAL HOTEL,

HOLBORN VIADUCT, LONDON,

Adjoining the Terminus of the London Chatham and Dover Railway, but distinct from the Viaduct Hotel.

THE BEST FURNISHED AND MOST COMFORTABLE HOTEL IN LONDON.
HOT & COLD WATER LAID ON IN ALL BED ROOMS.
The appointments throughout so arranged as to ensure domestic comfort.

EVERY ACCOMMODATION FOR MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS,
Public Dinners & Wedding Breakfasts.

The Crusaders Lodge, No. 1677, and Perseverance Lodge, No. 1743, hold their meetings at this establishment.

GOOD COOKING. FINE WINES. MODERATE CHARGES.
The Edison Electric Light.
TARIFF on APPLICATION to Bro. A. BEGBIE.

HOLLY BUSH TAVERN, HAMPSTEAD,

(Close to the Fire Station).

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; BALLS and ASSEMBLIES; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c. Rail and Bus within easy distance.

The members of the St. John's Lodge, No. 167, have held their meetings at this establishment for many years.

Full particulars and Tariff on application to
C. M. FROUD, Proprietor.

THE BOLTON HOTEL,

DUKE ROAD, CHISWICK,

A few Minutes from three Railway Stations—the Chiswick and Hammersmith on the North London; the Chiswick, on the South Western; and the Metropolitan, Turnham Green.

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c.

The Chiswick Lodge holds its Meetings here. "The 'Bolton' is a cosy and very pleasant home."—Vide Masonic Press.

Tariff and particulars promptly supplied.
THOMAS WRIGHT, Proprietor.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL SPECIAL BUILDING FUND.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

In connection with such Special Fund, attainable until 31st December 1883.

Any present Life Governor of the General Fund, or any Donor who may qualify as such up to the date named above, will receive—

TWO VOTES,—instead of One Vote, for LIFE, for every FIVE GUINEAS contributed to the "Special Fund."

Lodges, Chapters, &c., similarly qualified may secure Two Votes instead of One Vote—for every Ten Guineas contributed to the "Special Fund."

 Ladies, and "Lewises"—being minors—similarly qualified, and all Vice-Presidents, will receive FOUR Votes for every Five Guineas so contributed.

Contributors of less than Five Guineas, to the "Special Fund," will be entitled to Votes as under ordinary conditions.

Now Ready, Crown 8vo, 96 pp,

Price One Shilling,

Free by Post on receipt of 24 Halfpenny Stamps,

OCCASIONAL PAPERS

ON

THE HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.

Written expressly for delivery in Lodges of Instruction.

London: W. W. MORGAN,
Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N.
AND BY ORDER OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

Secretaries of Lodges of Instruction can be supplied carriage free, at 10 - per dozen.

PAUL & BURROWS,

MANUFACTURERS OF
SODA WATER AND SELTZER WATER,
LEMONADE AND GINGER BEER,
GINGER ALE AND POTASH WATER,
&c. &c.
FIRST CLASS QUALITY ONLY
WILSON and ENDELL STREETS, LONG ACRE, LONDON, W.C.
ESTABLISHED EIGHTY YEARS.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS.

LONDON AND NORTH WESTERN RAILWAY.—ROYAL MAIL ROUTE.

THE Express Trains of the London and North Western Railway afford the most expeditious means of reaching the principal Towns in the North of England, the Midland Manufacturing Districts, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, including Liverpool, Manchester, Birmingham, Chester, Dublin, Shrewsbury, Leamington, Wolverhampton, Preston, Carlisle, Glasgow, Edinburgh, Perth, Dundee, Aberdeen, Inverness.

A FAST and frequent service of trains is run from London (Euston) to Birmingham (New Street) under 3 hours. London (Euston) to Manchester (London Road) in 4½ hours. London (Euston) to Liverpool (Lime Street) in 4½ hours. 1st, 2nd and 3rd Class by all trains.

WEST Coast Route to and from Scotland. Direct trains to and from London (Euston), Birmingham (New Street), Liverpool (Lime Street), Manchester, Victoria, &c., and Edinburgh, Glasgow, Greenock, Perth, Aberdeen, Inverness, and the North.

OMNIBUSES for Family Parties. The London and North Western Railway Company provide Omnibuses to convey Passengers and their Luggage to and from the London and North Western Stations in the following Towns, when previously ordered:—London (Euston), Birmingham (New Street), Liverpool (Lime Street, Edge Hill), Manchester (London Road, Victoria). These Omnibuses, which are capable of carrying six persons inside and two outside, with the usual quantity of Luggage, can be obtained, when previously ordered, through the Station Masters at the above named Stations, to be sent to any Hotel or Private Residence for the conveyance to the Stations (in time for any of the trains) of parties proposing to travel by the London and North Western Railway, or to meet any train arriving at either of the Stations named.

DELIVERY of Passengers' Luggage at their Residences in London, Birmingham, Liverpool, and Manchester. The London and North Western Railway Company have now extended their arrangements for the delivery of Passengers' Luggage so as to enable the Public using the Line to have their packages sent from any of the principal Stations to any given address in the above places by Parcel Carts (within the usual limits) at a uniform charge of Sixpence per package. Full particulars can be obtained at the Railway Stations.

Euston Station, December 1883. G. FINDLAY, General Manager.

VOTES AND INTEREST ARE SOLICITED FOR

MRS. JANE TRIBE, aged 63,

WIDOW of Brother George Henry Tribe, who was initiated 1858 in No. 604, Lyttelton, New Zealand; joined No. 609, Christchurch, New Zealand; was first Worshipful Master of No. 1241, Ross, New Zealand; subsequently District Grand Chaplain Westland; and District Grand Treasurer North Island, New Zealand.

Votes thankfully received by
Mr. C. BECKINGHAM, 415 Strand; or by
Bro. C. J. PERCEVAL (V.P.), 8 Thurloe Place, S.W.

SECOND APPLICATION, April 1884.

To the Governors and Subscribers of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

THE favour of the VOTES and INTEREST of the Governors and Subscribers is earnestly solicited on behalf of

LIONEL BLENKINSOP J. MANBY,

AGED 8¾ YEARS.

The Candidate's father, Bro. John G. Manby, was initiated in the Sincerity Lodge, No. 202, Liverpool, in 1839, and on his removal to London joined Prudent Brethren Lodge, No. 145, and the Chapter, and continued to be a subscribing member of the same until his death, which took place in January 1883. He leaves a widow and four young children very inadequately provided for.

Proxies will be thankfully received by the widow, Mrs. MANBY, Ashwick Cottage, Oakhill, Bath.

BRO. R. HIRST engages to provide, at short notice, an efficient Band for Annual Banquets, Dinners, Excursions and Quadrille Parties. For terms apply to "R. Hirst, The Three Crowns, 237 Mile End Road, E."

Twelfth Edition, post free, One Shilling.

DR. WATTS on ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS. A Treatise on the only successful Method of Curing these Diseases. By Robert G. Watts, M.D., F.R.S.L., F.C.S., &c., 5 Bulstrode-street, Cavendish-sq., London.
London: G. Mitchell and Co., Red Lion-court, Fleet-street; and Simpkin and Co., Stationers' Hall-court

RANDOM NOTES AND REFLECTIONS.

WERE we not fully alive to the erratic character of the Times we should feel disposed to resent its interference in Masonic matters; as it is, we smile and go on our way, feeling assured that the Craft is in no danger, even when assailed by the Thunderer. We should say, the Thunderer that was. The Times no longer holds the position that made its frown terrible or its praise glorious. It might cease to-morrow and the skies not fall. England would still exist were the Oracle of Printing House Square silent for ever. We do not desire the extinction of this once mighty journal. With all its peculiarities, its occasional inanities, its Vicar of Bray propensities, it is justly regarded as incorruptible. What Cæsar's wife was said to have been, the Times is—above suspicion; and it is this feature, more than anything else, that makes its name and fame. However much we may differ from some of its utterances, where it records facts within its own knowledge it can be relied upon implicitly.

Digitized by Google

—:o:—

It was hardly likely that such an important event as the raising of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales the M.W. the Grand Master of Craft Masons under the English Constitution to the position of Senior Past Grand Master Mark Mason should pass without drawing forth opinions from the Press outside of the Order, especially as they published long reports of the Mark Masters' doings of Saturday last. The article in the Times of Tuesday is a curious production, like many another emanating from the same source. It opens in a bantering style, and casts doubts upon the secret character of the Order. It says "The fullest information about them [the secrets] may be picked up for half-a-crown at almost any London bookstall," but in order to escape from the flat contradiction given later on, it adds: "But the public prefers to be in the dark." Practically, then, Freemasonry is a secret organisation, notwithstanding that so much is supposed to be known. No doubt there is a charm about the mysterious, and that the disclosure of a name or a secret tends to destroy the interest in both. If this rule were applied to the Times, for instance, it might suffer in consequence. The writer asks: "Who would care much about the authorship of the letters of Junius or the personality of the Man in the Iron Mask if we could reach certainty about either of them?" We should say a great deal, for the power of the one and the circumstances surrounding the other are interwoven with our history, and will ever be regarded with interest. But according to the Times, Freemasonry is in a different position to either. Its secrets may become known, and yet the world prefers to remain in ignorance, and to believe that in the "unknown" lurks the "magnificent." We shall not quarrel with this view; we are content with what we ourselves know, and we are perfectly indifferent as to what the world chooses to believe of us, provided they let us alone, and mind their own business.

—:o:—

The Times, however, is fain to admit that there is an "international character" about Freemasonry, that the society "ramifies over the whole world. Its signs and tokens are the same everywhere." It goes on to add: "The stranded Mason can and will receive help in every quarter of the world." Surely these admissions are opposed to the tone of ridicule adopted, and an answer to the assertion that the secrets of the Order are common property. When a scoffer pays such tribute as is here recorded, believers may well remain content.

—:o:—

Ever since Bro. Sadler raised the question of obtaining copies or substitutes of the pictures destroyed by the great fire at Freemasons' Hall in May last, we have heartily seconded his purpose. It will be remembered that Bro. Sadler, in his letter on this subject, mentioned eight portraits, copies of which were desired. These have now been obtained. Seven of them came readily enough, through various friendly sources, and it now remains for us to state that the missing link has been supplied. To ourselves belongs the credit of having discovered a fine portrait of the Duke of Atholl, through the medium of Bro. Dorling P.P.G. Sec. Suffolk, and P.M. 376, 957, 1799, and of having placed the picture in the hands of Grand Lodge. It is not a copy of the painting destroyed, but it is very much like it, and is justly regarded as a very excellent substitute. It is a full length portrait of the noble Duke, and has the following inscription attached:—

The Most Noble John, Duke, Marquis and Earl of Atholl, Marquis and Earl of Tullibardine, Earl of Strathtay and Strathardle, Viscount Balquidder, Glenalmond and Glenlyon, Lord Murray, Belveny and Gask, Baron Strange of England, Earl Strange and Baron of Knocking, &c. &c. &c., Lord of the Isle of Man, Lord Lieutenant of the county of Perth, one of his Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, and Knight of the Most Ancient and Most Noble Order of the Thistle.

The print was engraved by C. Knight, 1811, from a painting by John Hooper, R.A. The original was the fourth Duke of Atholl, and was Grand Master (Ancients) from 1791 to 1813, the last a memorable year in the annals of the Craft. The painting that was destroyed by fire was the work of Thomas Phillips, and executed three years after the date of the print now in possession of Grand Lodge.

—:o:—

As a matter of information and of interest, too, we quote the following from a letter received from Brother Yarker, dating 2nd December. He says:

Referring to article, p 345, the portrait of the Earl of Zetland was published with the Freemasons' Magazine and Mirror, that of Earl Dalhousie followed, and I have both in old frames. My Mother Lodge, the Integrity, Manchester, have an excellent portrait of the Duke of Sussex, in Masonic clothing, presented by P.M. Wm. Dossen Whitehead, about 35 years ago; it now hangs at Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester. I cannot say positively whether it is a copy of that of Freemasons' Hall, London, or not.

After all that has been done, and the interest that has been excited, shall this question of Masonic portraits be allowed to drop? We trust not. One way of inducing Grand Lodge to take action would be by pressing copies of portraits and other articles of interest upon them. We should like to see a Masonic fine art gallery, a museum, and a library worthy of the Craft.

—:o:—

Three fires in seven months ought to act as a warning. The consequences of the 3rd May last at Freemasons' Hall has not yet been realised, nor will their full effect be felt until the work of restoration is begun. The cause of the accident was attributed "to a huge beam, which ran athwart a flue communicating with the kitchen of the Tavern becoming ignited." A fortnight afterwards, there was another outbreak, arising, as far as we can gather, from the same cause, but which happily did little damage. A third is now recorded as having occurred early on Saturday morning last, when, according to the special Sunday edition of a weekly newspaper, "the Freemasons' Hall was once more the scene of a fire, but fortunately this time only of a minor character. It arose from the old cause—an overheated flue. The chief damage was done in cutting away some timber and brickwork in the old hall, in order to reach the seat of the fire." Without attaching too much importance to this report, there is evidently something seriously wrong in a portion of the structure of the building in Great Queen-street, and the sooner attention is given to the matter the better. The simple restoration of the Temple will not be enough under the circumstances, and possibly the committee will find that in order to do their work safely, they will have to consider the possibilities of the future, so far, at least, as protection from fire is concerned.

—:o:—

Bro. Webster's motion, carried in Grand Lodge last week, runs as follows:—"That the ancient Temple be reinstated out of the funds received from the Insurance Companies, and that no extensive building operations be undertaken until the expiration of the lease of Bacon's Hotel." A special Committee was afterwards appointed to carry out the terms of the motion, one of which is "that no extensive building operations" shall be undertaken until Bacon's lease falls in, some five years hence. Does this mean that some building operations, in addition to the rebuilding of the Temple, may be carried on, the term "extensive" to be determined by the Committee? If so, is the expenditure to be limited to the sum of £8,500 received from the Insurance Companies? This sum is made up of the following items:—Building £6,400, furniture (with return of damaged carpet) £1,050, statue £500, organ £100, pictures £500. Possibly some may consider little outlay will be necessary with regard to the statue and the pictures; the former is damaged, certainly, but not destroyed, but the latter must be replaced under any circumstances. An organ, worthy of the Craft, will cost considerably more than £100. Perhaps the cost of new furniture will be covered by the insurance money. There does not appear to be any margin for building operations apart from the Temple, and it may fairly be assumed that none will be attempted. If it is so, and Bro. Webster's resolution is to be regarded in the terms in which it is expressed, then when Bacon's lease falls in the whole question of alterations will be revived. We think this aspect of the matter has not been fully considered, it may be that this is no serious motion in reference to the future at all, and that contingencies were only mentioned to satisfy those who think considerable changes are necessary, but who are willing to be put off with wordy promises. If extensive alterations are to be effected when Bacon's lease ends, would it not be well to pause and consider whether the expenditure of over £8,000 now is desirable under the circumstances? If that view of the matter cannot be taken in consequence of the resolve of Grand Lodge, it is certainly worth while to see how far the plans of the present can be made to serve those that may be possible in the future, so that there shall be no waste of money. If it should be found, at the end of five years, that a great portion of the £8,000 had been sacrificed, the brethren would have just cause of complaint. Before it is too late, then, we hope that the question will be considered in all its bearings, and that due caution will be exercised within the meaning of Bro. Webster's motion, which seems to us wide enough to give scope to the Committee for the exercise of their skill and discretion.

Digitized by Google

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:o:—

The Great City Lodge, No. 1426.—The monthly meeting of this Lodge was held on Saturday evening, 8th December, at the Cannon-street Hotel. Bros. F. T. C. Keeble W.M., Baber S.W., R. Fendick J.W., F. W. Potter S.D., J. K. Gwyn pro tem J.D., H. Durrant I.G., J. L. Hudd Steward, G. Jenkins Organist, N. B. Headon P.M. Treasurer, G. W. Blackie P.M. Secretary; P.M.'s T. Hamer, J. Stevens, W. Kibble and H. Thompson. Visitors—G. Taylor St. Clair 349, J. Lawrence Lebanon 1326, J. Goslin W.M. 1326, A. E. Staley Tranquillity 185, S. Stretch jun. W.M. Southgate 1950, E. T. Smith 534, T. O. Kelsey Dunedin 931, G. Taylor W.M. Surrey Masonic Hall 1539, A. Nicols W.M. St. Mary Abbotts P.D.G. Supt. Works Punjaub, T. Hanson Lewes 1785, C. H. E. Corelli W.M. Fitzroy 569, F. Cozens Royal Albert 907. Lodge having been duly opened, the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Lodge was opened in the second and third degrees and Bros Dottridge and J. C. Goslen were severally raised to the sublime. degree. Lodge was lowered to the first degree, when the cases of two widows of deceased members were brought forward, and donations were voted to them from the Samaritan Fund. Bro. N. B. Headon P.M. Treasurer gave notice that at the next meeting he should move that the sum of twenty-five guineas should he placed on the Worshipful Master's list, who intended to represent the Lodge as Steward at the next Festival for the Boys' School; this would complete the list, and make the Lodge Vice-President of all the Masonic Institutions. Two gentleman were proposed for initiation at the next Lodge, and the meeting, in perfect harmony, was brought to a close. The brethren then adjourned to the dining hall, where a bountiful repast was provided. At its conclusion, and grace said, the Worshipful Master said the first toast he had to propose was the Queen, who lived in the hearts of her people. Then followed the National Anthem by the brethren, the solo parts by Bro. Cozens, who presided at the pianoforte. The Worshipful Master said the next toast he had to propose was the health of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales Most Worshipful Grand Master; he need say nothing in his praise, for since he had been connected with the Craft he had become the most popular man amongst Masons; proof of this was given when he was again re-nominated as Grand Master on Wednesday last. The proposition was received with loud and unanimous cheering. The toast was heartily responded to, and Bro. Cozens finely rendered Brinsley Richards's well-known ode, "God bless the Prince of Wales." The W.M. said the next toast he had to propose was "The Pro Grand Master the Earl of Carnarvon, the Deputy Grand Master the Earl of Lathom, and the rest of the Grand Officers Past and Present." As regarded the Earl of Carnarvon, he was always considered to be the right man in the right place, and all who were present at the Grand Lodge on Wednesday last would bear testimony to the skill and judgment with which he acted on that occasion, when hundreds of brethren were unable to obtain admission into the Temple. He there arranged that those who were unable to get admission, and they were principally Provincial brethren, should not go away without an opportunity being given to them to record their votes, and two rooms were set apart for them to meet in. The toast was well received. Bro. Kibble I.P.M. said he had a duty to perform, which to him was one of real pleasure, and that was to propose a toast of health and prosperity to the Worshipful Master; it was also with great pleasure that he saw Bro. Keeble in the position he occupied. They had seen how he had worked up through the various offices, until he had finally arrived at the chair. Although he unfortunately had that day had a fire on his premises, he was with them to do his duty that night. As to the manner in which he had raised two brethren, he need say nothing but praise, and he was sure the members would hardly expect him to say less. He gave them the health of the W.M., Bro. Keeble. The W.M. said he returned his sincere thanks for the manner in which the toast of his health had been proposed and received; he apologised for any defect in his working that night, and hoped in the future to go through it to their entire satisfaction. The W.M. said the next toast he had to propose was one The Great City Lodge took particular pride in, for from its foundation it was always pleased to receive visitors, to whom they gave a hearty welcome, and held out the right hand of fellowship. Having enumerated the names of those who were present, he said he should select Captain Nichols, who would shortly sail for the Punjaub, and to whom they wished "God speed," and also Bro. Thomas Kelsey, who was about to depart to Dunedin, to respond to the toast. Captain Nichols, on behalf of himself and the other visitors, begged to return his hearty thanks for the kind manner in which the brethren had responded to the toast, and in the presence of such an array of visitors who were truly cosmopolitan. Although the W.M. had not travelled abroad, he could tell them that Freemasonry was the same all over the world. He did not know why he should have been selected to respond to this toast, unless it was that he was a working man, and had done a good deal of work, and after dinner he had a warm heart. Bro. Kelsey was going to the other side of the Equator, and he was sure he would take with him good wishes to the other parts of the world. Bro. Kelsey thanked the brethren for the high honour they had conferred upon him in coupling his name with the toast; he trusted it would be so considered in the Southern Hemisphere, where a warm feeling of respect was entertained towards the Mother Country. He thanked them on the part of the Lodges of New Zealand for the brotherly love and friendship with which he had been received; these thanks came from the very bottom of his heart. Bros. Staley and Lawrence also returned thanks. The W.M. said the next toast he had to propose was the Masonic Charities; for this Bro. Staley responded In giving the toast of the Past Masters of the Lodge, the W.M. said it was the most important one of the evening, for the Past Masters might really be considered the pillars of the Lodge; they were always willing to instruct the younger members. As to the Immediate Past Master, whom they had the pleasure of hearing that evening, he had gone through his duties with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the members; he was kind and courteous, and always able and willing to do his duty. As to Bro. Stevens, he did not know what they should do without him; and as to Bro. Headon, their Treasurer, he was always ready to help them in any way; Bro. Blackie was always, when travelling, attending to the business of The Great City Lodge. Bro. Hamer also deserved thanks. The toast was cordially received. Bro. Kibble I.P.M. said the kind expressions of the W.M. did not brook delay; he felt it to be his duty to reply at once to them, and acknowledge them in a becoming manner. When the Worshipful Master told him of his faults, in speaking of him, he could only say he believed that all he then said of him was true. Bro. Stevens also responded. Bro. Headon jocosely alluded to the reply at the former Lodge, by Brother Stevens, in Latin, and hoped that when next he made a short speech he would speak in a language that they could all understand. The Worshipful Master next gave the Treasurer and Secretary, Bros. Headon and Blackie. Bro. Headon, in responding, said there was one matter in which The Great City Lodge and all Freemasons took a deep interest, and which he was desirous of calling their attention to. Last year they took part in the election of Bro. Allcroft as Grand Treasurer in the place of Col. Creaton, who had held the office for five year. This being the only appointment to the purple which it was the privilege of the Craft to bestow it was expected that Bro. Allcroft would only hold it for one year. Bro. Tomkins held the office for a number of years, and it was then looked upon as a life office, but last year a number of the brethren broke down what they considered to be a monopoly, and elected Bro. Allcroft for the year; it now appeared that he had come forward and allowed himself to be put in nomination again. He therefore trusted that every member would use his influence, and every one who was able to attend Grand Lodge would give his vote, so that this office, the only one in their hands, should be annually conferred upon some brother who was worthy of the distinction. Bro. Blackie returned thanks as Secretary. Brother Thompson urged the members to persevere in the course which Bro. Headon had marked out, as they could not too rigidly guard the appointment to the only office that was open to the Craft in the Grand Lodge. The Worshipful Master next gave the Officers of the Lodge, to which they responded, and the Tyler's toast brought a very harmonious meeting to a close, which had been enlivened by songs and recitations, from Bros. Stevens, Cozens, and others.

Hyde Park Lodge of Instruction, No. 1425.—A meeting was held on 3rd inst., at the Fountains' Abbey Hotel, 111 Praedstreet, Paddington, W., at which were present Bros. J. Lawrence W.M., W. H. Chalfont W.M. 1425 S.W., F. Swain J.W., G. Read P.M. 511 Preceptor, W. Dehane P.P.G.S.D. Essex Secretary, S. J. Humfress S.D., C. S. Mote J.D., F. Chandler I.G., J. C. Rhind Steward; P.M.'s James Stevens 720, 1216, 1426, M. S. Spiegel 188, W. Craig 1425, J. T. Michelburgh 1425, Capt. A. Nicols W.M. 1974 P.D.G.S. W. Punjab, C. Andrews 77, H. Povey 22; also Bros. M. J. Green, W. C. Hutton, C. R. Wickens, T. Artaud, R. Masefield, H. P. Fowler, A. Hardy, J. French, J. T. Thomas, G. F. Ferris, D. Shand, J. Collinson, W. G. Mason, C. J. Morse, R. E. Corsons, W. Death, M. S. Rodet, M. J. Daniel, H. Perdue, C. E. Botley, G. Dickenson, &c. Visitors—Bros. J. Dehane 1052, 902, W. Tomkin 1328, Captain F. Wilson 1356, S. Vandyck 1328, H. Wilkinson 733. Lodge was opened, minutes read, and passed to the F.C. Degree. In accordance with a long standing promise, Bro. J. Stevens was called upon to deliver, for the first time, his lecture explanatory of the ceremonial of the second degree, and this he proceeded to do. Although not by any means so lengthy as that he gives in the first degree, the lecture is quite as interesting, and the same close attention which the first lecture receives was given to this. We hope Bro. Stevens will be encouraged by the reception given him to hasten the preparation of the M.M. lecture, and thereby complete a series of addresses which cannot fail to be of great service to the Craft generally. We can strongly recommend other Lodges of Instruction to hear them, and believe the worthy lecturer is open to invitations for that purpose. At the conclusion of his lecture, Bro. Stevens most satisfactorily answered questions relating to disputed points in working, and a cordial vote of thanks was recorded on the minutes for the instruction afforded. Bro. Capt. Wilson 1356 was elected a member. A presentation of a Masonic regalia was made by Bros. Lawrence, Mason and Green, to whom hearty acknowledgments was given. Bro. W. H. Chalfont W.M. 1425 is to preside on the 10th inst. The Lodge was then closed in perfect harmony. Subsequently ballots were taken for the Masonic Charities, and soon afterwards the brethren separated.

Digitized by Google

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—A meeting was held on Friday, 30th November, at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge. Present—Bros. Weeden W.M., F. Botley S.W., C. E. Botley J.W., Tucker Treas., Hirst S.D., Turner I.G., Andrews Preceptor. The work comprised the rehearsal of the ceremony of raising, Bro. Tucker candidate. Bro. Hirst gave an address from the Installation ceremony, as also did Bro. Preceptor. Bro. F. Botley was elected W.M. for next meeting. After a vote of thanks to Bro. Weeden and to Bros. C. E. and F. Botley, joint Secs., and routine work, Lodge was closed.

Friday, 7th inst., at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge. Bros. F. Botley W.M., C. E. Botley S.W., Gunner J.W., Andrews S.D., Turton J.D. There being but few brethren present, owing to the inclemency of the weather, the work consisted of opening the Lodge, reading the minutes, and working the first and second sections of the first lecture by the W.M. and Bro. Andrews. Bro. C. E. Botley was elected W.M. for 14th December. Lodge was then closed, and adjourned until 14th instant, at eight o'clock p.m.

Dalhousie Lodge of Instruction, No. 860.—Held at Bro. Smyth's, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston, on Tuesday last. Bros. Watkinson W.M., Smyth S.W., Jenkins J.W., T. Clark S.D., Baker J.D., Christian I.G., Wallington P.M. Preceptor, F. Carr Secretary; and Bros. Hunt, Wardell, Caperce, East, Banister, Brasted, Catling, C. Lorkin, &c. After preliminaries, the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Brasted candidate. Lodge was called off. On resuming Bro. C. Lorkin worked the third section of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. The W.M. then vacated the chair in favour of Bro. F. Carr. Bros. Capero and East answered the questions leading to the second degree, and retired from the Lodge. Bro. C. Lorkin was entrusted. Lodge was then opened in the second degree, and the ceremony rehearsed, Bro. C. Lorkin candidate. Bro. Watkinson again took the chair, and resumed the Lodge in the first degree. The Auditors' report was received and adopted. The usual sum of one guinea was unanimously voted, through Bro. Wallington, in aid of the Christmas Festival of the Benevolent Institution. Bro. Smyth was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. This brother was also elected Treasurer, while Bro. F. Carr continues the duties of Secretary. Nothing further offering for the good of Freemasonry, Lodge was closed and adjourned.

Highgate Lodge of Instruction, No. 1366.—On Thursday, 29th ult., Bro. James Stevens P.M. P.Z., gave his interesting lecture on the ceremonial of the first degree in Freemasonry to the members of this Lodge of Instruction, and a large gathering of influential brethren connected with the neighbouring Lodges, at the Boston Hotel, Junction-road, Kentish Town. Bro. Dellmar, of the Sir Hugh Myddelton Lodge, No. 1602, opened the Lodge at 7.30 p.m. Amongst the numerous assembly on this occasion were Bros. James Terry P.M. (Secretary of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution), Frost P.M. Preceptor 1366, Payne P.M., Lambert P.M. and many other distinguished members of the Craft. The minutes of the previous meeting having been confirmed, the W.M. introduced Brother Stevens, with a few appropriate observations. For rather more than two hours, during which period the most earnest attention was given to his remarks, the worthy lecturer expounded most eloquently the various points of interest contained in the working of the first degree. With but few exceptions, and those only in respect of least important divergencies, his conclusions met with ready acceptance; and it was generally agreed that a more perfect and instructive elucidation of the text of the ritual could not be otherwise obtained. At the conclusion of the lecture, Bro. Frost P.M. proposed a cordial vote of thanks to Bro. Stevens whom, he was glad to know, was associated with the Lodge of Instruction as an honorary member, and expressed his gratification with the interesting address he had listened to. This was seconded by Bro. James Terry P.M., who, whilst taking exception to some few of the opinions of the lecturer, desired, nevertheless, to express his sense of the important services rendered to the Craft generally by the repetition of his work in the several Lodges and Lodges of Instruction. The vote having been unanimously agreed to, Bro. Stevens, in reply, expressed his acknowledgments, thanking the brethren for their very patient attention, and stating his readiness to accept any invite he might receive from other Lodges of Instruction desirous of hearing the lecture. Several new members having been elected, Lodge was closed in harmony. The Highgate Lodge of Instruction meets every Thursday evening, at the Boston Hotel, at eight o'clock.

Royal Military Lodge of Instruction, No. 1449.—On Monday, 3rd inst., at the Masonic Temple, Canterbury. Bros. Carter W.M., Hammond S.W., Blamires J.W., Blamires Treasurer, Beardsley Secretary, Abbs S.D., Devlin J.D., Vautier M.C., Geddes Steward, Beardsley I.G.; P.M. Beer. After preliminaries, the ceremony of passing was rehearsed, Bro. Caddington candidate. Lodge was lowered to first degree and called off, and again brought on for Masonic work. After routine work, Lodge was closed in ancient form.

Kingsland Lodge of Instruction, No. 1693.—On Monday 3rd, at Bro. Baker's, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N. Bros. Galer W.M., Trick S.W., Brock J.W., Killick P.M. 1693 Treasurer, J. H. Collingridge Secretary, Weeden S.D., Treadwell J.D., Trewinnard P.M. 1693 Preceptor, Elliott W.M. 1275 S.W. 749 I.G.; P.M. Crosbie W.M. 1693, and other brethren. After preliminaries, the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Collingridge acting as candidate. Lodge was resumed to first degree and ceremony of initiation rehearsed, Bro. Turner candidate. Lodge was closed in due form.

On 10th instant, Brothers. Trick W.M., Brock S.W., Weeden J.W., Killick Treasurer, Collingridge Secretary, Gibbs S.D., Rhodes J.D., Bagnall I.G.; also Bros. Clark, Jordan, Forge, Western, &c. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed. Bro. Goddard as candidate for raising answered the questions, and the ceremony was rehearsed. Lodge was resumed to the first degree, and Bro. Galer and Younghusband answered the questions leading to the second, and in due course the second ceremony was rehearsed, Bro. Younghusband acting as candidate. Bro. Brock will preside on Monday next. The sum of one guinea having been unanimously voted for the Christmas Entertainment to the Old People, Lodge was closed.

The Fifteen Sections will be worked in the Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198, at the Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., this Saturday, 15th December. Bro. D. Moss will preside, and Bros. T. Cull and H. G. Gush will fill the Wardens' chairs, while Bro. R. Pearcy will act as Immediate Past Master. The following Craftsmen have undertaken to do the work:—Bros. Ashton, Gribbell, Pearcy, Fenner, Cull, Gush, Powell; Ferrer, Moss, Sparrow, Isaac, Weeden; Cohen, Galer, Strugnell. Lodge will be opened punctually at 7 p.m.; Bro. R. W. Galer J.D. 1365 is the Secretary.

A list of banquets, &c., held at the Freemasons' Tavern for the week ending 15th December 1883:—

Monday, 10th—City Ramblers' Cricket Club Ball, St. George's and Cornerstone Lodge, Leigh Lodge, University Chapter, Finsbury Conservative Association; 11th—Urban Lodge, St. James's Union Lodge, Jerusalem Chapter, Prudent Brethren Chapter, Coutts' Cricket Club; Wednesday, 12th—New Holborn Quadrilles, Amersham Hall Club, Enoch Lodge, Lodge of Fidelity; Thursday, 13th—Old Acquaintance Musical Society, Polish National Lodge, Caledonian Society, Creaton Lodge, Pilgrim Lodge; Friday, 14th—London Morayshire Club Ball, Bees' Cricket Club, Bedford Lodge, Eclectic Lodge; Saturday, 15th—Tottenham House Ball.

AN OLD CITIZEN.

MR. Jedediah Hubbell Dorwin died on Sunday, 10th November, at his residence, 1723 St. Katherine-street, Montreal. The deceased gentleman was born in New Haven, Vermont, on the 25th of May 1792, and was thus in his 92nd year. His grandfather was one of ten brothers who emigrated to the States from Kent, England; his mother was of Welsh descent. He was the last survivor of five children, his brother, Mr. Canfield Dorwin, a private banker of this city, having died in 1872. Mr. Dorwin married in 1817 Miss Williamson, of Albany, N.Y., who died fifteen years ago; he leaves one son besides his adopted daughter. Mr. Dorwin was out walking on Saturday, seeming in very good health; his final illness did not come upon him till Sunday morning.

The late Mr. Dorwin first came to Montreal in 1815, and settled here in the following year, taking a situation as a clerk. In 1817, on his marriage, he started a grocery store in the Quebec suburbs, but bad debts caused the failure of that business. In 1819 he contracted for, and accomplished, the removal of Citadel-hill from the present Dalhousie-square. Some of the earth went to fill up a neighbouring pond, and some was taken to the Champ de Mars. It was during that operation that Mr. Dorwin made the acquaintance of Mr. John (now Colonel) Dyde. About 1840 he entered the lumber trade with Mr. Peter McGill; he retired from business about 24 years ago, after the burning of his mills at Rawdon.

Mr. Dorwin is believed to have been the oldest Freemason but one in Canada. He was initiated in 1819 to one of the English regimental Lodges that came out in 1812. He was First Master of Union Lodge, First Past Master of St. George's Lodge 440 E.R., and First M.E.Z. of the Victoria Chapter of that Lodge, continuing an active member till his death.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

IT IS THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE PRESENT CENTURY.

It is the best known remedy for Coughs, Consumption, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, and Asthma.

It effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal Diseases—Diphtheria, Diabetes, Fever, Croup, Ague, &c.

It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only known Specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

It effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, Convulsions, and Spasms.

It is the only Palliative in Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

It rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause, allays the irritation of Fever, soothes and strengthens the system under exhaustive diseases, restores the deranged functions, stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, gives quiet and refreshing sleep, and marvellously prolongs life. It may be taken by old and young at all hours and times.

It is extensively used by Medical Men in their official and private practice, at home and abroad, who have given numerous written testimonials of its wonderful efficacy.

SPECIMEN TESTIMONIAL.—From JOHN TANNER, M.D., L.R.C.P., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., L.M., Physician to Farringdon Dispensary, Physician to the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon's Metropolitan College, London, &c., 102 Harley Street, Cavendish Square, W.—"It gives me great pleasure to bear testimony in favour of FREEMAN'S Chlorodyne. I have prescribed it extensively, and in cases of Asthma, Chronic Bronchitis, the last stage of Phthisis, and the Winter Cough of the aged, I have never found any substitute or chemical combination its equal."

Sold by Chemists and Patent Medicine Dealers all over the world, in bottles 1s 1½d; 2 oz. 2s 9d; 4 oz. 4s 6d; half-pints 11s; and pints 20s each, and by the Inventor, RICHARD FREEMAN, 70 Kennington Park Road, London, S.E. Free by post. Purchasers are CAUTIONED not to have palmed upon them any substitute. See that the Trade Mark, "THE ELEPHANT," is on the wrapper, &c., and the words "FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE" are engraved on the Government Stamp—which is the only TRUE CHLORODYNE.

Digitized by Google

DIARY FOR THE WEEK.

We shall be obliged if the Secretaries of the various Lodges throughout the Kingdom will favour us with a list of their Days of Meetings, &c., as we have decided to insert only those that are verified by the Officers of the several Lodges.

—:o:—

SATURDAY, 15th DECEMBER.

198—Percy, Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N., 8. (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Old Town Hall, Mare-street, Hackney
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7. (Instruction)
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1641—Crichton, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1732—King's Cross, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-street, W. at 8.
M.M. 205—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow
M.M. 251—Tenterden, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.

149—Peace, Private Rooms, Meltham
811—Yarborough, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
M.M. 14—Prince Edward's, Station Hotel, Stansfield, Todmorden

MONDAY, 17th DECEMBER.

1—Grand Masters', Freemasons' Tavern, W.C.
8—British, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
21—Emulation, Albion, Aldersgate-street
22—Loughborough, Cambria Tavern, Cambria Road, near Loughborough Junction, at 7.30. (Instruction)
45—Strong Man, Excise Tavern, Old Broad Street, E.C., at 7 (Instruction)
174—Sincerity, Railway Tavern, Railway Place, Fenchurch Street, at 7. (In)
180—St. James's Union, Union Tavern, Air-street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
185—Tranquillity, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
186—Industry, Bell, Carter-lane, Doctors-commons, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
548—Wellington, White Swan, High-street, Deptford, at 8 (Instruction)
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham.
862—Whittington, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1425—Hyde Park, Fountain Abbey Hotel, Praed Street, Paddington, at 8 (In).
1489—Marquess of Ripon, Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-rd., Hackney, at 7.30 (In)
1507—Metropolitan, The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C., at 7.30 (Inst.)
1537—St. Peter Westminster, Criterion, W.
1585—Royal Commemoration, Fox and Hounds, Putney, at 8. (Instruction)
1608—Kilburn, 46 South Molton Street, Oxford Street, W., at 8. (Inst.)
1623—West Smithfield, Clarence Hotel, Aldersgate Street, E.C. at 7 (Inst.)
1625—Tredegar, Royal Hotel Mile End Road, corner of Burdett Road. (Inst).
1693—Kingsland, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N., at 8.30 (Instruction)
1891—St. Ambrose, Baron's Court Hotel, West Kensington. (Instruction)
1910—Shadwell Clerke, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill
2021—Queen's Westminster, 8A Red Lion Square, W.C. (CONSECRATION)
R.A. 933—Doric, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 7. (Instruction)
R.A. 1319—Asaph, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
M.M. 173—Temple, Green Dragon Tavern, Stepney

77—Freedom, Clarendon Hotel, Gravesend
236—York, Masonic Hall, York
331—Phœnix Public Room, Truro
359—Peace and Harmony, Freemasons' Hall, Southampton
382—Royal Union, Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge. (Instruction)
424—Borough, Half Moom Hotel, Gateshead
466—Merit, George Hotel, Stamford Baron, Northampton
822—St. Cuthberga, Masonic Hall, Wimborne
725—Stoneleigh, King's Arms Hotel, Kenilworth
823—Everton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7.30. (Instruction)
827—St. John, Masonic Temple, Halifax-road, Dewsbury
925—Bedford Masonic Hall, New Street, Birmingham
934—Merit, Derby Hotel, Whitefield
985—Alexandra, Masonic Hall, Holbeach.
1030—Egerton, George Hotel, Wellington Road, Heaton Norris, near Stockport
1037—Portland, Portland Hall, Portland
1141—Mid Sussex, King's Arms Hotel, Horsham
1170—St. George, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
1199—Agriculture, Honey Hall, Congresbury
1208—Corinthian, Royal Hotel, Pier, Dover
1449—Royal Military, Masonic Hall, Canterbury, at 8. (Instruction)
1477—Sir Watkin, Masonic Hall, Mold
1502—Israel, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1909—Carnarvon, Masonic Hall, Nottingham
R.A. 32—Jerusalem, Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool
R.A. 40—Emulation, Castle Hotel, Hastings
R.A. 296—Loyalty, Freemasons' Hall, Surrey-street, Sheffield
R.A. 302—Charity, New Masonic Hall, Darley-street, Bradford
R.A. 345—Perseverance, Old Bull Hotel, Blackburn
R.A. 482—St. James, New Inn, Handsworth
R.A. 557—Valletort, Masonic Hall, Callington, Cornwall
R.A. 779—St. Augustine, Town Hall, Ashby-de-la-Zouch
M.M. 141—Skelmersdale, Pitt and Nelson Hotel, Ashton-under-Lyne

TUESDAY, 18th DECEMBER.

Board of General Purposes, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
30—United Mariners, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
55—Constitutional, Bedford Hotel, Southampton-bldgs., Holborn, at 7 (Inst.)
65—Prosperity, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark
95—Eastern Star, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-street, E.C.
141—Faith, Queen Anne's Restaurant, Queen Anne's Gate, St James's Park Station, at 8. (Instruction)
162—Cadogan, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
177—Domatic, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30 (Instruction)
188—Joppa, Champion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, at 7.30. (Instruction)
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney (Instruction)
753—Prince Frederick William, Eagle Tavern, Clifton Road, Maida Hill, at 8 (Instruction)
820—Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond, at 7.30 (Instruction)
869—Dalhousie, Slaters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston at, 8 (Instruction)
1044—Wandsworth, Star and Garter Hotel, St. Ann's-hill, Wandsworth (Inst).
1339—Stockwell, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1349—Friars, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1360—Royal Arthur, Rock Tavern, Battersea Park Road, at 8. (Instruction)
1384—Kennington, The Horns, Kennington. (Instruction)
1420—Earl Spencer, Swan Hotel, Battersea Old Bridge
1446—Mount Edgcumbe, 18 Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8 (Instruction)
1471—Islington, Champion, Aldersgate Street, at 7, (Instruction)
1472—Henley, Three Crowns, North Woolwich (Instruction)
1540—Chaucer, Old White Hart, Borough High Street, at 8. (Instruction)
1558—D. Connaught, Palmerston Arms, Grosvenor Park, Camberwell, at 8 (In)
1602—Sir Hugh Myddelton, Queen's Head, Essex Road, N., at 8.30 (In)
1695—New Finsbury Park, Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, at 8 (Inst)
1707—Eleanor, Travaders, Broad-street-buildings, Liverpool-street, 6.30 (Inst)
1949—Brixton, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, East Brixton, at 8. (Instruction)
Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, 6.30
R.A. 11—Enoch, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 19—Mount Sinai, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
R.A. 1305—Clapton, White Hart Tavern, Clapton, at 8. (Instruction)
M.M. 238—Prince Leopold, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.

213—Perseverance, Masonic Hall, Theatre-street, Norwich
241—Merchants, Masonic Hall, Liverpool (Instruction)
248—True Love and Unity, Freemasons' Hall, Brixham, Devon
384—St. David, Masonic Rooms, Bangor.
402—Royal Sussex, George the Fourth, Nottingham
414—Union, Masonic Hall, Reading
418—Menturia, Mechanics' Institute, Hanley
448—St. James, Freemasons' Hall, St. John's-place, Halifax
468—Light, Great Western Hotel, Birmingham
510—St. Martin, Masonic Hall, Liskeard.
651—Brecknock, Castle Hotel, Brecon
667—Alliance, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
960—Bute, Masonic Hall, 9 Working-street, Cardiff.
1008—Tregullow, Masonic Rooms, St. Day, Scorrier, Cornwall
1052—Callender, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
1089—De Shurland, Fountain Hotel, Sheerness.
1113—Anglesea, Bull Hotel, Llangefni
1276—Warren, Queen's Hotel, Birkenhead, Cheshire
1325—Stanley, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1427—Percy, Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle
1470—Chiltern, Town Hall, Dunstable
1473—Bootle, 146 Berry-street, Bootle, at 6 (Instruction)
1534—Concord, George Hotel, Prestwich
1551—Charity, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
1570—Prince Arthur, 140 North Hill Street, Liverpool
1726—Gordon, Assembly Room, Bognor
1764—Eleanor Cross, Masonic Hall, Abington-street, Northampton
1941—St. Augustine's, Shrewsbury Arms Hotel, Rugeley
R.A. 41—Royal Cumberland, Masonic Hall, Old Orchard Street, Bath
R.A. 80—St. John's, Masonic Hall, Park Terrace, Sunderland
R.A. 315—Royal Pavilion, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
R.A. 419—St. Peter, Star and Garter Hotel, Wolverhampton
R.A. 792—Oliver, Masonic Hall, Osborne Street, Great Grimsby
R.A. 1151—Unity, Town Hall, Tywardreath, Cornwall
M.M.—Lebanon, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
M.M. 268—Amherst, Masonic Hall, Sandgate

WEDNESDAY, 19th DECEMBER.

Lodge of Benevolence, Freemasons' Hall, W.C., at 6
15—Kent, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
30—United Mariners', The Lugard, Peckham, at 7.30. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Horse Shoe Inn, Newington Causeway, at 8. (Inst)
174—Sincerity, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
193—Confidence, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, at 7.30 (Instruction)
228—United Strength, Prince Albert, 143 Drummond-rd., Camden-town, 8 (In)
538—La Tolerance, Morland's Hotel, Dean Street, Oxford St. at 8 (Inst)
700—Nelson, Masonic Hall, William-street, Woolwich
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Balham, at 7 (Instruction)
781—Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, E. (Instruction)
813—New Concord, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. (Instruction)
862—Whittington, Red Lion, Poppin's-court, Fleet-street, at 8 (Instruction
969—Mayhury, Inns of Court Hotel, W.C.
1278—Burdett Coutts, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel Road, E., at 8. (Inst.)
1284—Finsbury Park, Cock Tavern, Highbury, at 8 (Instruction)
1321—Emblematic, Goat and Star, Swallow Street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
1349—Friars, London Tavern, Fenchurch Street
1382—Corinthian, George Inn, Glengall Road, Cubitt Town
1445—Prince Leopold, Moorgate Tavern, Moorgate Street, at 7 (Instruction)
1475—Peckham, Lord Wellington Hotel, 516 Old Kent-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1507—Metropolitan, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
1524—Duke of Connaught, Royal Edward, Mare-street, Hackney, at 8 (Inst)
1601—Wanderers, Adam and Eve Tavern, Palmer St., Westminster, at 7.30 (In)
1624—Eccleston, Criterion, Piccadilly
1682—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow, at 7.30 (Inst.)
1673—Langton, Viaduct Hotel, Holborn
1791—Creaton, Prince Albert Tavern, Portobello-ter., Notting-hill-gate (Inst.)
1803—Cornhill, King's Head, Fenchurch-street
1922—Earl of Lathom, Station Hotel, Camberwell New Road, S.E., at 8. (In.)
R.A.—Camden, The Boston, Junction Road, Holloway, at 8.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 177—Domatic, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-st., at 8 (Instruction)
R.A. 1598—Ley Spring, Red Lion, Leytonstone
M.M.—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, at 8 (Instruction)
M.M. 144—Grosvenor, Masonic Hall, Air Street, Regent Street

20—Royal Kent of Antiquity, Sun Hotel, Chatham
121—Mount Sinai, Public-buildings, Penzance
175—East Medina, Masonic Hall, John-street, Ryde, I.W
178—Antiquity Royal Hotel, Wigan
200—Old Globe, Private Rooms, Globe-street, Scarborough
221—St. John, Commercial Hotel, Town Hall Square, Bolton
246—Royal Union, Freemasons Hall, Cheltenham.
274—Tranquillity, Boar's Head Inn, Newchurch, near Manchester
290—Huddersfield, Masonic Hall, South Parade, Huddersfield
311—South Saxon, Freemasons' Hall, Lewes
325—St. John's Freemasons' Hall, Islington-square, Salford
342—Royal Sussex, Freemasons' Hall, 79 Commercial Road, Landport
363—Keystone, New Inn, Whitworth.
424—Sincerity, Angel Inn, Northwich, Cheshire
451—Sutherland, Town Hall, Burslem
537—Zetland, 9 Hamilton-street, Birkenhead.
581—Faith, Drover's Inn, Openshaw
592—Cotteswold, King's Head Hotel, Cirencester
594—Downshire, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7. (Instruction)
625—Devonshire, Norfolk Hotel, Glossop
643—Yarborough, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
673—St. John, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
683—Isca, Freemasons' Hall, Dock-street, Newport, Monmouthshire
750—Friendship, Freemason' Hall, Railway-street, Cleckheaton
758—Ellesmere, Freemasons' Hall, Runcorn, Cheshire
816—Royd, Spring Gardens Inn, Wardle, near Rochdale
823—Everton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
874—Holmesdale, Royal Sussex Hotel, Tunbridge Wells
938—Grosvenor, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
962—Sun and Sector, Assembly Rooms, Workington
972—St. Augustine, Masonic Hall, Canterbury
1019—Sincerity, Freemasons' Hall, Zetland-street, Wakefield
1040—Sykes, Masonic Hall, Driffield, Yorks
1086—Walton, Skelmersdale Masonic Hall, Kirkdale, Liverpool
1129—St. Chad, Rochuck Hotel, Rochdale
1161—De Grey and Ripon, Brunswick Hotel, Piccadilly, Manchester
1206—Cinque Ports, Bell Hotel, Sandwich
1246—Holte, Holte Hotel, Aston
1255—Dundas, Huyshe Masonic Temple, Plymouth
1301—Brighouse, Masonic Room, Bradford-road, Brighouse
1337—Anchor, Masonic Rooms, Darlton Horse, Nottingham
1353—Duke of Lancaster, Athenæum, Lancaster
1356—De Grey and Ripon, 119 North Hohnest, Liverpool, at 7.30 (Inst)
1403—West Lancashire, Commercial Hotel, Ormskirk
1443—Salem, Town Hall, Dawlish, Devon
1511—Alexandra, Masonic Hall, Hornsea, Hull.
1546—United Military, Masonic Hall, Chumstead
1634—Starkie, Railway Hotel, Ramsbottom
R.A. 329—Integrity, Junction Inn, Mottram
R.A. 361—Industry, Norfolk Arms, Hyde
R.A. 591—Buckingham, George Hotel, Aylesbury
R.A. 726—Royal Charter of Fortune, North Western Hotel, Stafford
R.A. 847—Fortescue, Masonic Hall, Hope street, Hanley
R.A. 1347—Chorlton, Masonic Hall, High Lane, Chorlton-cum-Hardy

THURSDAY, 20th DECEMBER.

House Committee Girls' School, Battersea Rise, at 4
3—Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-street, Fitzroy-sq., at 8 (Instruction)
27—Egyptian, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction
49—Gibon, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street
87—Vitruvius, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth, at 8 (Instruction)
147—Justice, Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford, at 8. (Instruction)
169—Temperance, White Swan, High-street, Deptford

Digitized by Google

179—Manchester, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street
435—Salisbury, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
704—Camden, Lincoln's Inn Restaurant, 305 High Holborn, at 7 (Instruction)
754—High Cross, Coach and Horses, Lower Tottenham, at 8 (Instruction)
813—New Concord, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street
901—City of London, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, at 6.30. (Instruction)
902—Burgoyne, Cock Tavern, St. Martin's-court, Ludgate-hill, at 6.30 (Inst)
1139—South Norwood, Public Hall, South Norwood
1158—Southern Star, Pheasant, Stamford, Westminster-bridge, at 8 (Inst.)
1185—Lewis, Kings Arms Hotel, Wood Green at 7 (Instruction)
1227—Upton, Swan, Bethnal Green-road, near Shoreditch, at 8 (Instruction)
1257—Great Northern, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
1339—Stockwell, Cock Tavern, Kennington-road, at 7.30 (Instruction
1426—The Great City, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
1613—Cripplegate, Albion, Aldersgate-street
1614—Covent Garden, Cranbourne, 1 Up. St. Martin's Lane, W.C., at 8. (Inst.)
1622—Rose, Stirling Castle Hotel, Church Street, Camberwell. (Instruction)
1673—Langton, Mansion House Station Restaurant, E.C. at 6, (Instruction)
1677—Crusaders, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 9 (Inst.)
1681—Londesborough, Regent Masonic Hall, Air Street, W.
1681—Londesborough, Berkeley Arms, John Street, May Fair, at 8. (Instruct).
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich.
1950—Southgate, Railway Hotel, New Southgate, at 7.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 79—Pythagorean, Ship Hotel, Greenwich
R.A. 733—Westbourne, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood
R.A. 753—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, at 8. (In.)
R.A. 1471—North London, Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, at 8. (Instruction)
M.M.—Bon Accord, 8A Red Lion Square, W.C.
M.M. 7—Carnarvon, Café Royal, W.
M.M. 199—Duke of Connaught, Haverlock, Albion-rd., Dalston, at 8.30 (Inst.)

42—Relief, Albion Hotel, Haymarket-street, Bury, Lancashire
48—Industry, 34 Denmark-street, Gateshead. (Instruction)
56—Howard, High-street, Arundel
98—St. Martin, Town Hall, Burslem
100—Friendship, Crown and Anchor, Great Yarmouth
203—Ancient Union, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
215—Commerce, Commercial Hotel, Haslingden
268—Union, Queen's Arms Inn, George-street, Ashton-under-Lyne
343—Concord, Militia Officers' Mess Rooms, Starkie-street, Preston
345—Perseverance, Old Bull Hotel, Church-street, Blackburn
387—Probity and Freedom, Red Lion Inn, Smallbridge
432—Abbey, Newdegate Arms, Nuneaton
523—John of Gaunt, Freemasons' Hall, Halford-street, Leicester
600—Harmony, Freemasons' Hall, Salem-street, Bradford
605—Combermere, Queen's Hotel, Birkenhead
663—Wiltshire Fidelity, Masonic Hall, Devizes.
971—Trafalgar, Private Room, Commercial Street, Batley
1011—Richmond, Crown Hotel, Blackfriars-street, Salford
1042—Excelsior, Masonic Hall, Great George-street, Leeds
1182—Duke of Edinburgh, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1194—Abbey, Masonic Hall, Battle
1299—Pembroke, West Derby Hotel, West Derby, near Liverpool
1432—Fitzalan, Wynnstay Arms, Oswestry
1514—Thornhill, Masonic Room, Dearn House, Lindley
1580—Cranbourne, Red Lion Hotel, Hatfield, Herts, at 8. (Instruction)
1872—St. Margaret's, St. Mark's School, Surbiton
R.A. 38—Cyrus, Council Chambers, North Street, Chichester
R.A. 317—Affability, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper Street, Manchester
R.A. 771—Windsor Castle, Masonic Hall, St. Alban Street, Windsor
R.A. 1145—Equality, Red Lion, Accrington
M.M.—Canynges, Freemasons' Hall, Bristol
M.M. 17—Portsmouth, Masonic Hall, Portsmouth
K.T.—William de la More, Masonic Rooms, St. Helens, Liverpool

FRIDAY, 21st DECEMBER.

House Committee Boys' School, Wood Green, at 4
Emulation Lodge of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
6—Friendship, Willis's Rooms, St. James's
25—Robert Burns, The North Pole, 115 Oxford-street, W., at 8 (Instruc.
144—St. Luke, White Hart, King's-road, Chelsea, at 7.30. (Instruction)
201—Jordan, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30. (Instruct.)
786—William Preston, St. Andrew's Tavern, George St., Baker St., at 8 (In.)
780—Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge. (Instruction)
834—Ranelagh, Six Bells, Hammersmith (Instruction)
933—Doric, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1056—Metropolitan, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. at 7. (Instruction)
1158—Belgrave, Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
1298—Royal Standard, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, at 8. (In.)
1385—Clapton, White Hart, Lower Clapton, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1842—E. Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
1789—Ubique, Guardsman Army Coffee Tavern, Buckingham Palace-road, S.W., at 7.30. (Instruction)
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich. (Instruction)
1962—London Rifle Brigade, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street
R.A. 65—Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall St.
R.A. 79—Pythagorean, Portland Hotel, London-street, Greenwich. (Inst.)
M.M.—Old Kent, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, E.C. (Instruction)
M.M. 176—Era, 8A Red Lion Square, W.C.
K.T. 6—St. George's, The Albion, Aldersgate Street
R.C. 10—Invicta, Masonic Hall, 33 Golden-square, W.C.

127—Union, Freemasons' Hall, Margate
152—Virtue, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
271—Royal Clarence, Royal Pavilion, Brighton
347—Noah's Ark, Wagon and Horses Hotel, Tipton
453—Chigwell, Prince's Hall, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30 (Instruction)
516—Phœnix, Fox Hotel, Stowmarket
541—De Loraine, Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-street, Newcastle
993—Alexandra, Midway Hotel, Levenshulme
1096—Lord Warden, Wellington Hall, Deal
1102—Mirfield, Assembly Rooms, Eastthorpe, Mirfield
1311—Zetland, Masonic Hall, Great George street, Leeds
1393—Hamer, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
1773—Albert Victor, Town Hall, Pendleton
General Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, at 7
R.A.—General Chapter of Improvement, Masonic Hall, Birmingham
R.A. 52—Royal George, Norfolk Hotel, Norwich
R.A. 403—Hertford, Shire Hall, Hertford
R.A. 521—Truth, Freemasons' Hall, Fitzwilliam-street, Huddersfield
R.A. 837—Marquess of Ripon, Town Hall, Ripon
R.A. 1010—Kingston, Masonic Hall, Worship Street, Hull
M.M. 66—West Lancashire, Masonic Hall, Liverpool

SATURDAY, 22nd DECEMBER.

198—Percy, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., at 8 (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7 (Instruction)
1621—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1871—Gostling-Murray, Town Hall, Hounslow
Sussex Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-st., W., at 8

FUNERALS.
Bros. W. K. L. & G. A. HUTTON,
COFFIN MAKERS & UNDERTAKERS,
17 NEWCASTLE STREET, STRAND, W.C.
And at 30 FOREST HILL ROAD, PECKHAM RYE, S.E.

Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, No. 65.—Held at Bro. Maidwell's, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, on Tuesday, 11th inst. Present—Bros. Walker (Sec.) W.M., Haynes S.W., Valentine J.W., Sainte S.D., Dyson J.D., Wall I.G., Moss Preceptor; also Bros. Rich, Schadler, Harris, Roberts, Bourne, Mann. Lodge opened in due form, and minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Rich candidate. The W.M. vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Moss. Lodge opened in second degree. Bro. Schadler answered the questions leading to the third, and was entrusted. Lodge opened in third degree, when Bro. Schadler, as candidate, was duly raised to the sublime degree. The W.M. during the rehearsal giving the traditional history very impressively. Bro. Walker then resumed the chair and Lodge was closed in second and third degrees. Bro. Haynes was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. It was also unanimously agreed that a vote of thanks be recorded on the minutes for the very able way in which the W.M. had presided, for the first time. Bro. Schadler, W.M. Prosperity, No. 65, will rehearse the ceremony of installation on Tuesday, the 18th inst., at seven o'clock.

Justice Lodge of Instruction, No. 147.—On Thursday, 13th inst., at the Brown Bear, High-street, Deptford. Present—Bros. S. R. Speight P.M. (Secretary) W.M., J. W. Freeman S.W., Pitt J.W., J. Bedford Williams S.D., Stringer J.D., Penrose I.G., Past Masters Bros. Hutchings Preceptor and Ingram, Bro. Emblem and several others. The ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Penrose personating the candidate, Bro. Ingram P.M. acting as I.G. The chair was then taken by Bro. B. R. Banks the W.M. elect of the Mother Lodge; he opened the Lodge in the second degree and rehearsed the ceremony of passing, Bro. Stringer being the candidate. Lodge was then advanced to the third, and called off; on resuming it was closed to the first degree, when Bro. J. W. Freeman was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing Thursday. Announcement was made of the death of Bro. H. B. Taylor, the Secretary of the Chislehurst Lodge. We regret to hear he leaves his widow in distressed circumstances. Lodge was then closed in due form.

New Concord Lodge of Instruction, No. 813.—The Annual Supper in connection with this Lodge was held on Wednesday last, at the Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road. Bro. Tiddiman W.M. 813 presided; he was supported by Bro. P.M. Cusworth, Vice-President, Bros. Past Masters James Terry, George, Stiles, Gabb, Harper; Bros. Recknell, Whale, Glass, Galer, Trick, O'Donnell, Ashton, McMillan, Patten, Ockelford, Chubb, Wicks, Laughton, Western, Dixie, A. Perl, Pilley, Powell, Wright, Leoffler, Clark, Freund, F. Sillis, Scarrah, J. R. Smith, W. Potter, Stillwell, Ross, F. Perl Secretary. The brethren having partaken of a sumptuous repast,—the proprietor catering in a manner which did him credit, and fully deserving the praise accorded him,—the President, in eulogistic terms, proposed the health of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen. The toast, as usual among Freemasons, was most heartily received, and Bro. A. Perl gave the National Anthem. Then followed the toast of the Most Wor. Grand Master and the Grand Officers past and present. Bro. Powell followed with a song, "God Bless the Prince of W les." The toast of the evening was next on the list, the President proposing it in terms most encouraging to the members. He recounted the good the Lodge had done in the past, and hoped it might go on successfully in the future. This was received most enthusiastically, the names of the Preceptor Bro. Cusworth and the Secretary Bro. Perl being coupled with the toast; both briefly responded. The next toast was that of the health of the President Bro. Tiddiman, proposed by the Vice-President, which also was most cordially received, and the President suitably acknowledged the compliment. One or two good songs were then indulged in, Bro. Glass rendering the "Ship's Carpenter" in a most amusing style. Bros. Sillis and Wicks each sang a good song, evoking loud applause. "The Charities" was next proposed, the President singling out that of the R.M.B.I., and, in the name of the Lodge, presenting to the Secretary, Bro. James Terry, the sum of £5 5s, as a donation. Bro. Terry's name was, of course, associated with the toast, and he very ably responded, making a most earnest appeal on behalf of the Institution for which he is Secretary. Bro. P.M. Stiles then followed with a song, and Bro. P.M. Cusworth with a recitation, "The Quack Doctor," one able to cure all diseases incidental to humanity. This brought forth a round of applause. The Visitors were next complimented, Bro. P.M. Stiles's name being coupled with the toast. He, with several others, responded. Bro. Terry's rendering of a recitation, entitled "Our Laws," was most amusing, and met with loud applause. A few more good songs followed, and the brethren dispersed after the usual seasonable greetings had been exchanged.

New Finsbury Park Lodge of Instruction, No. 1695.—At the weekly meeting, held at Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, on Tuesday, the 11th December, Bros. Moon W.M., Bolt S.W., Oldis J.W., Davies Preceptor, Berry Secretary, Morris S.D., Haynes J.D., Frampton I.G.; Bros. Fenner, Gush, Gribbell, Eldridge, Cox, Fetch, Scott, Tremere, Knight, Hoare, Dixie, and Gregory. The Lodge opened in due form, and the minutes of last meeting having been confirmed, the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Gribbell being the candidate. Lodge was opened in the second degree, and Bro. Dixie having offered himself as candidate, the ceremony of passing was rehearsed. Bro. Bolt was elected W.M. for the next meeting, and all business being ended Lodge was closed and adjourned to Tuesday next at eight o'clock.

The consecration of the Queen's Westminster Lodge, No. 2021, will take place on Monday, at the Masonic Hall, 8A Red Lion Square, W.C. Bro. G. Lambert P.G.S.B. is the W.M. designate. A banquet will afterwards take place at the Holborn Restaurant.

Digitized by Google

Price 3s 6d, Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

FIRST SERIES.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

1 OUR LITERARY BROTHER.
2 A DISTINGUISHED MASON.
3 THE MAN OF ENERGY.
4 FATHER TIME.
5 A CORNER STONE.
6 THE CRAFTSMAN.
7 THE GOWNSMAN.
8 AN EASTERN STAR.
9 THE KNIGHT ERRANT.
10 THE OCTOGENARIAN.
11 A ZEALOUS OFFICER.
12 THE SOLDIER.
13 FROM UNDER THE CROWN.
14 OUR HERCULES.
15 A MERCHANT PRINCE.
16 THE CHURCHMAN.
17 THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER.
18 THE MYSTIC.
19 A MODEL MASON.
20 A CHIP FROM JOPPA.
21 A PILLAR OF MASONRY.
22 BAYARD.
23 A RIGHT HAND MAN.
24 OUR CITIZEN BROTHER.
25 AN ABLE PRECEPTOR.
26 AN ANCIENT BRITON.
27 THE ARTIST.
28 THE FATHER OF THE LODGE.
29 A SHINING LIGHT.
30 AN ART STUDENT.
31 THE MARINER
32 SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.
33. "OLD MUG."

Second Series, Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 3s 6d, post free.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

SKETCHES

OF

DISTINGUISHED FREEMASONS.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

BY G. BLIZARD ABBOTT, OF LODGE No. 1385,

ASSOCIATE OF KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

NESTOR
(Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, 33 deg., Past G.S.B., Past Dep. P.G.M. Hants, Assistant Secretary Sup. Council A. and A. Rite.)

THE STATESMAN
(The Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, 33 deg., Pro Grand Master, Pro Grand Z., Past G.M.M.M., and Past M.P.S.G. Commander A. and A. Rite.

THE TREASURER
(Bro. F. Adlard, P.M. and Treasurer Royal York Lodge of Perseverance, No. 7).

THE DEPUTY
(The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, 33 deg., Deputy G. Master, Grand H., G.M.M.M., Great Prior of the Temple, and M.P. Sov. G. Commander A. and A. Rite.)

A PROVINCIAL MAGNATE
(Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Hants and Isle of Wight, Past G.M.M.M. and Prov. G. Prior of the Temple, for Hants).

TIME-HONOURED LANCASTER
(Bro. J. Lancaster Hine, P. Prov. G.S. Warden East Lancashire).

THE SCHOLAR
(Bro. John Newton, F.R.A.S., P.M., P.Z., Author of Works on Navigation).

OUR NOBLE CRITIC
(The Right Hon. Lord Leigh, 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Warwickshire, Past G.M.M.M.)

OUR PERIPATETIC BROTHER
(Bro. C. Fitz Gerald Matier, 30 deg., G. Steward Scotland, and Past G.S. Warden Greece).

A BOLTON LUMINARY
(Bro. G. Parker Brockbank, 31 deg., Past Prov. G.S.D., and P. Prov. G. Treas. [Arch] E. Lancashire.

A WARDEN OF THE FENS
(The late Bro. John Sutcliffe, Past Prov. G.S. Warden, and Prov. G.M.M.M. Lincolnshire).

A WARDEN OF MARK
(The Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, 33 deg., Past G.S. Warden, and Dep. G.M.M.M).

A MASTER OF CEREMONIAL
(Bro. Thos. Entwisle, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. of Works E. Lan.)

OUR COSMOPOLITAN BROTHER
(Bro. Samuel Rawson, 33 deg., Past Dist. G.M. and G. Sup. China).

A GREAT ARITHMETICIAN
(Bro. R. B. Webster, Member of the Finance and Audit Committees of the R.M. Girls' and Boys' Schools).

AN INSTALLING MASTER
(Bro. W. Biggs, Past Prov. G.S.W. Wilts, and Past Prov. G. Sec. Berks and Bucks).

A VETERAN
(Bro. W. Kelly, Past Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Leicestershire and Rutland, Prov. G.M.M.M. Leicestershire).

A GRAND STEWARD
(Bro. John Wordsworth, 30 deg., Past G. Steward, Past Prov. G.J.W. W. Yorkshire, and Prov. G.M.M.M. W. Yorkshire).

VIR Veritas
(Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M and Past Prov. Grand, Soj. [Arch] Herts).

ACHILLES
(Bro. E. J. Morris, Past G.J.D., and Past Dep. Prov. G.M. of Eastern Division of South Wales).

A DEVON CRAFTSMAN
(Bro. J. E. Curtois, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. Warden Devon).

SIR RHADAMANTH
(Bro. J. M. Pulteney Montagu, J.P. D.L., 33 deg., G. J. Deacon, Past Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, and G. Chancellor Supreme Council A. and A. Rite).

HIPPOCRATES
(Bro. J. Pearson Bell, M.D., Past G. Deacon, Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. N. and E. Yorkshire).

A CESTRIAN CHIEF
(The Right Hon Lord de Tabley, Past G.S.W., Prov. G.M. Cheshire, Grand J., and Prov. G Sup. Cheshire).

A HARBINGER OF PEACE
(Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., Past Prov. G.J.D. Herts).

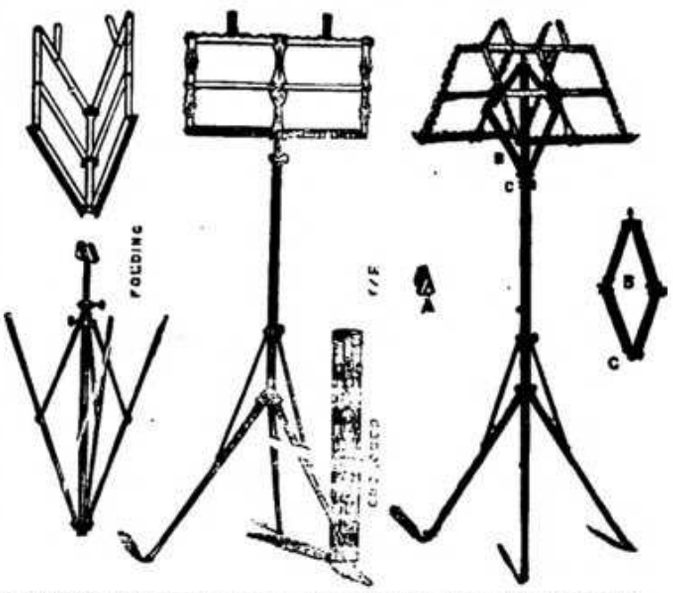
THE LORD OF UNDERLEY
(The Earl of Bective, M.P., Prov. G.M., Prov. G. Sup., and Prov. G.M.M.M. Cumberland and Westmoreland, and Past G. Sov. of the Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine).

A BOON COMPANION
(Bro. E. C. Woodward, P.M. 382, 1637, &c.)

A GRAND SUPERINTENDENT
(Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Berks and Bucks).

ÆSCULAPIUS
(Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., 32 deg., Past G.S.B., Craft, and Past G.St.B., Arch, Intendant General Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine for North Lancashire).

London: W. W. MORGAN.



By Order of all Booksellers, or will be sent direct, by post, from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N

THE AMERICAN

PORTABLE MUSIC STANDS.

J. F. WALTERS' PATENT.

Iron, from 10/6 each. Brass, from 30/- each.

THESE Stands are unsurpassed in simplicity, strength, portability cheapness, and elegance of finish. They are suitable for Military Bands Orchestras, Reading and News Rooms, Libraries, Studies, and Drawing Rooms. When opened to their full capacity they stand 5 feet high, and can be folded and enclosed in a case 21 inches long by 2 inches diameter. The weight is about 3 lbs. 13 oz., and they will support a weight of 50 lbs.

To be obtained of all Music Dealers, and of the Manufacturers and Proprietors of the Patent,

HARROW & CO.

MUSIC SMITHS, BRASS WORKERS, &c.

13 and 14 Portland Street, Soho, London, W.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

Free by Post, Price One Shilling.

THE

REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS;

CRITICALLY CONSIDERED,

AND

COMPARED WITH THE OLD EDITION.

—:o:—

A SERIES OF ARTICLES,

REPRINTED FROM THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

—:o:—

LONDON:

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE;
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL & CO., 4 STATIONERS' HALL COURT;
AND OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

"All Freemasons interested in the Revision of the above, should read this work."

Crown 8vo, price 2s 6d, cloth lettered.

Uniformity of Masonic Ritual and Observance.

By Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M., P.Z., &c.

"May be read with advantage by the whole Craft."—Sunday Times.

"Grand Lodge should at once set to work to secure the desired uniformity."—Sheffield Post.

"The subject is ably argued by the author."—Western Daily Mercury.

"Useful and valuable in the highest degree."—Exeter Gazette.

"Will have a material effect on the future of Masonic Ritual."—South Western Star.

"The author adduces many variations in the language used by different Preceptors."—Cox's Monthly Legal Circular.

"Ought to be in the hands of every Mason."—Northampton Guardian.

"To Freemasons generally it will be found useful and valuable, and we commend it to their notice accordingly."—Surrey County Observer.

"Bro. Stevens' motion for a Committee on the subject of Uniformity of Ritual was carried by a large majority."—Freemason's Chronicle report of Grand Lodge meeting, 3rd December 1879.

Sent, by post, on receipt of stamps, by the Author, Bro. JAMES STEVENS, 112 High-street, Clapham, S.W.; or by Bro. W. W. MORGAN Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

Digitized by Google

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE,

A Weekly Record of Masonic Intelligence. Sanctioned by the Grand Lodge of England.

Price—13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE will be forwarded direct from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N., on receipt of Post Office Order for the amount. Intending Subscribers should forward their full Addresses to prevent mistakes.

Post Office Orders to be made payable to W. W. MORGAN, at Penton-street Office. Cheques crossed "London and County."

Advertisers will find THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE an exceptionally good medium for Advertisements of every class.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Per Page...	£8 0 0
Back Page	£10 0 0

Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1s per line.

General Advertisements, Trade Announcements, &c. single column, 5s per inch. Double Column Advertisements 1s per line. Special Terms for a Series of Insertions on application.

Agents, from whom copies can always be had:—

Messrs. SPENCER and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C.
Messrs. CURTICE and Co., 12 Catherine-street, Strand.
Messrs. KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.
Mr. RITCHIE, 6 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SIMPSON BROS., Shoe Lane.
Mr. H. SIMPSON, 7 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SMITH and SONS, 183 Strand.
Messrs. STEEL and JONES, 4 Spring Gardens, Charing Cross.
Mr. G. VICKERS, Angel Court, Strand.
Mr. H. VICKERS, 317 Strand.

THE THEATRES, &c.

HAYMARKET.—At 8, LORDS AND COMMONS.

PRINCESS'S.—At 7, A CLERICAL ERROR. At 7.40, CLAUDIAN.

LYCEUM.—At 7.45, A SHEEP IN WOLF'S CLOTHING. At 9, PYGMALION AND GALATEA.

ADELPHI.—At 7.45, IN THE RANKS.

OLYMPIC.—At 7.30, A REGULAR FIX. At 8.30, SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER.

ALHAMBRA.—At 7.45, THE GOLDEN RING.

SAVOY.—At 8, PRIVATE WIRE. At 8.40, IOLANTHE.

GAIETY.—At 7.45, THE ROCKET. At 10, FRA DIAVOLO.

AVENUE.—At 7.30, OBLIGING A FRIEND. At 8.15, LA VIE.

TOOLE'S.—At 7.30, NAMESAKES. At 8.30, EARTFUL CARDS. At 10, STAGE-DORA.

COURT.—At 8, THE MILLIONAIRE.

STRAND.—At 7.30, A MUTUAL SEPARATION. At 8, WILD OATS.

GLOBE.—At 7.45, MAN PROPOSES. At 8.30, THE GLASS OF FASHION.

ROYALTY.—At 8, GILLETTE.

VAUDEVILLE.—At 8, AN OLD MASTER. At 9, CONFUSION.

COMEDY.—At 8, FALKA.

ST. JAMES'S.—At 8, YOUNG FOLKS' WAYS.

GRAND.—At 7.30, YOUTH.

STANDARD.—At 7.30, JO, the Outcast.

SADLER'S WELLS.—At 7.30, TINSEL QUEEN.

SURREY.—At 7.30, GREEN LANES OF ENGLAND.

ST. JAMES'S HALL.—Mr. DUVAL'S ODDS AND ENDS.

MOHAWK MINSTRELS, Agricultural Hall.—Every evening, at 8, at the Pavilion Theatre.

EGYPTIAN HALL.—Messrs. MASKELYNE AND COOKE. Every evening at 8.

CRYSTAL PALACE.—This day, CONCERT. PANORAMA. Open Daily, Aquarium, Picture Gallery, &c.

RICHARD PEARCY,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
31 PACKINGTON STREET, ISLINGTON,
LONDON, N.

Watches Made and Repaired in the very best manner.

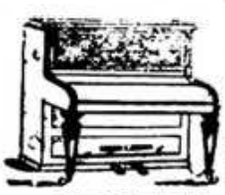
MASONIC JEWELS.

BRO. G. S. GRAHAM,

The Popular Tenor and Buffo Vocalist, from St. James's Hall, Crystal Palace, &c.

(Provincial Grand Organist Middlesex)

IS OPEN TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FOR



Concerts, Entertainments, & Masonic Banquets.

Bro. G. S. Graham's Party of Eminent Artists can be engaged for Masonic Banquets, Consecrations and Installations, &c. For Opinions of the Press, and terms, address—G. S. GRAHAM, St. John's Villa, 91 Fernlea Road, Balham, Surrey.

PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS ON EASY TERMS.

GROVER & GROVER

LET ON HIRE, WITH OPTION OF PURCHASE,

BEAUTIFUL AND PERFECT INSTRUMENTS.
PURCHASERS CHOOSE THEIR OWN TERMS,
FROM 15s TO £8 8s PER QUARTER.

The Advantages of a Trial, with the Convenience of the Three Years' System at Cash Price, by Paying about a Quarter of the value down, the Balance by Easy Payments, from 15s per quarter.

GROVER & GROVER (late AVILL & SMART),
TABERNACLE SQUARE, FINSBURY, E.C.
ESTABLISHED 1830.

PIANOFORTES, £19 10s.
AMERICAN ORGANS, £9 5s.
HARMONIUMS, £5 15s.

Perfect in Tone and Touch. Elegant Walnut Cases. Every Instrument warranted to stand any extreme climate.

SHIPPERS AND DEALERS SUPPLIED.

Before deciding on purchasing, write for a descriptive Price List and Testimonials to G. LINSTEAD, Manager.

COBDEN PIANOFORTE COMPANY, 18 & 19 Eversholt Street, Camden Town, London.

BILLIARD BALLS, Chalks, Cues and Tips, at HENNIG BROS., Ivory Works, 11 High Street, London, W.C. Cheapest house in the trade for billiard-table requisites and ivory goods in general. Old balls adjusted or exchanged, and tables recovered. Price Lists on application. Established 1862.

RHEUMATISM.

THE only real remedy for this complaint is the Northern Cure (patent). In bottles 1s 1½d each, to be had of all Chemists. Proprietors and Manufacturer, EDWARDS AND ALEXANDER, 29 Blaskett-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR GOUT and RHEUMATISM.

The excruciating pain is quickly relieved and cured in a few days by this celebrated Medicine.

These Pills require no restraint of diet during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.

Sold by all Chemists at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.

HOTELS, ETC.

CARLISLE—Bush Hotel. SUTCLIFFE HOLROYD, Proprietor

EALING—Feathers Hotel

EASTBOURNE—Pier Hotel, Cavendish Place. View of Sea and Pier. A. TAYLOR Proprietor

HAVERFORDWEST.—Queen's Family and Commercial Hotel. BEN. M. DAVIES Proprietor.

KEW—Star and Garter. Good accommodation for Lodge & Dinner Parties. J. BRILL Proprietor

MILFORD HAVEN.—Lord Nelson Hotel. T. PALMER Proprietor

SANDWICH—Bell Family and Commercial Hotel, Good Stabling. J. J. FILMER Proprietor

ALL WHO SUFFER FROM
GOUT AND RHEUMATISM
Should immediately have recourse to
EADE'S CELEBRATED GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS.

Known throughout the world as the safest and most effectual remedy for the instant relief and rapid cure of Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Lumbago, and all Pains in the Head, Face, and Limbs.

OF ALL CHEMISTS, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d,

GEORGE EADE.
SOLE PROPRIETOR,
72 GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

Digitized by Google

SPIERS & POND'S
FREEMASONS' TAVERN,

GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

For MASONIC BANQUETS.

PUBLIC FESTIVALS and PRIVATE DINNERS.

WEDDING BREAKFASTS.

BALLS. EVENING PARTIES. SOIRÉES.

Spacious Hall for Election and other Public Meetings.

Rooms for Masonic Lodges, &c. SPIERS & POND, Limited.

JOSEPH J. CANEY,

DIAMOND MERCHANT, AND MANUFACTURING JEWELLER AND WATCH MAKER,

44 CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.

MASONIC JEWELS, CLOTHING AND FURNITURE.

Specialité—First Class Jewels—Artistic—Massive—Best Quality—Moderate in Price.

CATALOGUES POST FREE.

A LARGE STOCK OF LOOSE BRILLIANTS FOR EXPENSIVE JEWELS

Diamond Rings, Brooches, Studs, Earrings and Bracelets in Great Variety.

MASONIC JEWELS FOR ALL DEGREES.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS AND DECORATIONS.

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD IN ALL SIZES.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEDALS AND BADGES.

A. D. LOEWENSTARK & SONS, Medallists, 210 STRAND, LONDON, W.C.

MANUFACTORY—1 DEVEREUX COURT, STRAND.

R. W. GALER,

PRACTICAL WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

12 GREEN LANES, LONDON, N.

(Six doors from Newington Green).

OLD GOLD and SILVER BOUGHT or TAKEN in EXCHANGE.

PRESENTATION WATCHES AND MASONIC JEWELS MANUFACTURED ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

Communications by Post punotually attended to.

G. W. KNIGHT,

Carver, Gilder, and Picture Frame Maker,

LITTLE BELL ALLEY, BACK OF MOORGATE STREET, CITY,

AND

38 CHAUCER ROAD, BRIXTON.

CORNICES AND FRAMES OF ALL KINDS REPAIRED AND REGILT.

W. W. MORGAN,

LETTER-PRESS, COPPER-PLATE, LITHOGRAPHIC PRINTER,

BELVIDERE WORKS,

HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE.

SUMMONSES, MENU CARDS, &c. ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED.

Sketches or Designs for Special Purposes Furnished on Application.

Books, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Catalogues, Posters, Billheads, Showcards, &c.

Every description of Printing (Plain or Ornamental) executed in First Class Style.

ESTIMATES SUPPLIED.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER

7s 6d.

If with Pockets, 6d each pocket extra.

225 HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.

DRESS SUITS from £3 3s to £5 5s.

Demy 8vo, Price 7s 6d,

THE CHESS OPENINGS,

By ROBERT B. WORMALD.

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE.

CONCERTINAS,

ENGLISH AND ANGLO-GERMAN.

G. JONES, 350 Commercial-road, London, E., inventor of the Anglo-German with chromatic scale. His tempered steel notes never get out of tune. Used by the leading performers. Price List of Musical Instruments of every description free. Established 1850.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY Limited, 7 Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General accidents. | Personal injuries.
Railway accidents. | Death by accident.

C. HARDING, Manager.

RIPPINGILLE'S PATENT

WARMING STOVES.

THE only Perfect Oil Stoves. Made to burn absolutely without Smoke or Smell, Trouble or Dirt. Unequalled for Warming

GREENHOUSES, VINERIES, SHOPS,

BEDROOMS, HALLS, OFFICES, DAMP ROOMS, &c.

Perfectly safe, require no pipes or fittings, will burn from twelve to twenty hours without attention, give off no injurious vapour, and are the best stoves ever invented to save plants from frost, keep out the damp, &c.

Price, from a few shillings.

Write for Illustrated List of Warming Stoves to

The Holborn Lamp and Stove Co.

118 HOLBORN, LONDON, E.C.

And say where you saw this Advertisement.

Bro. A. OLDROYD, Stratford, London

MANUFACTURER OF TOBACCO POUCHES,

With any name in raised letters.

CAN be obtained direct from the Maker, at the undermentioned prices, on receipt of P.O.O. payable at Stratford.

	Price		Will take a name of
No. 3	2/0	...	9 letters
,, 4	2/6	...	11
,, 5	3/0	...	12
,, 6	3/6	...	13
,, 7	4/0	...
,, 8	4/6	...
,, 9	5/0	...

A. OLDROYD,

Agent for Algerian Cigars, and Importer of Havana and Continental Cigars,

44 HIGH STREET, STRATFORD, LONDON, E.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

BIRKBECK BANK.—Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Current Accounts opened according to the usual practice of other Bankers, and Interest allowed on the minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £25. No commission charged for keeping Accounts.

The Bank also receives money on Deposit at three per cent. Interest, repayable on demand.

The Bank undertakes for its Customers, free of charge, the custody of Deeds, Writings, and other Securities and Valuables, the collection of Bills of Exchange, Dividends, and Coupons; and the purchase and sale of Stocks and Shares.

Letters of Credit and Circular Notes issued.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

31st March 1880.

The Birkbeck Building Society's Annual Receipts exceed Four Millions.

HOW TO PURCHASE A HOUSE FOR TWO GUINEAS PER MONTH, with immediate Possession and no Rent to pay. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY.

HOW TO PURCHASE A PLOT OF LAND FOR FIVE SHILLINGS PER MONTH, with immediate possession, either for Building or Gardening purposes. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Printed and Published by Brother WILLIAM WRAY MORGAN, at Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, Saturday, 15th December 1883.

Digitized by Google

THE

Freemason's Chronicle;

A WEEKLY RECORD OF MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

SANCTIONED BY THE GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.

VOL. XVIII.—No. 467. SATURDAY, 22nd DECEMBER 1883. [PRICE THREEPENCE. 13s 6d per annum, post free.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS.

THE teachings of Christmastide so far coincide with those of Freemasonry that it would be a difficult matter to write anything on the subject which Freemasons have not already been taught in some part of the beautiful ritual of the Order. Peace on earth, goodwill to men, is aptly rendered in our Masonic Principles,—Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth,—and he who thoroughly acts up to either, whether he be Freemason or not, acts in much the same way towards his fellow-creatures. Christmastide seems to be recognised as an annual period of reunion among those whose avocations take them apart during the remainder of the year; old friends meet, families congregate, and generally the spirit of festivity reigns supreme. Let us hope that such will be the case with every one of our readers, to one and all of whom we cordially tender the Compliments of the Season.

The position which an editor occupies in relation to his readers is a strange one. From continual intercourse with those nearest to him, and occasional visits and introductions to those further away, he in time becomes personally acquainted with a very large number of his constituents, and on such occasions as the present, of all others, memories of those he has met come most forcibly to his mind. At the present time we can picture the Masonic homes of friends in the North, East, South and West; homes where we have spent happy hours in the past, and enjoyed pleasures we would fain repeat. In all of them we can picture the hearty greetings of the brethren as they part for the last time ere Christmas comes upon them, and can even fancy ourselves side by side with many now far away, wending their way home to prepare for the festivities of the season. It is indeed difficult to express our feelings on the subject. A Merry Christmas appears too meagre an expression to convey all the good wishes we desire for our friends, and yet these few words have come to be recognised, in every part of the globe, as the heartiest desire one man can address to another. They are known to convey, not only a wish for actual merriment, but also every feeling of pleasure which life can afford; not mirth alone, but health, comfort, enjoyment, good feeling, and a freedom from anxiety with all its wearying surroundings. Our parting desire is, that all our readers may enjoy in the fullest sense

A Merry Christmas.

A YEAR'S WORK.

IT is pleasant at the close of the year to look back upon good work done, and to feel that if all that could be desired has not been accomplished, yet results show that labour has not been in vain. The Lodge formerly, now the Board of Benevolence, must regard their efforts with peculiar satisfaction at the end of the year; then the sum total, so far as figures can represent it, is before them, and they can realise in the concrete what has been effected in detail during the previous twelve months. A very interesting summary of the year's work of the Board of Benevolence is given in the Masonic Column of the Evening News, and to this statement we propose devoting a few remarks. In 1881 relief to the amount of £9813 was given in 328 cases. The amount in 1882 was £9637, and the number of cases 348. During the twelvemonths just ended the total grants reached £8675, and the cases numbered 334. It will be seen that while the amount voted in 1882 was nearly £200 less than that voted in 1881, the number of cases were 20 in excess. The difference between the present and last year is still more striking While the number of cases to which grants have been made are only 14 fewer this year than they were in 1882, the money voted is nearly £1000 less, showing that the Board have found it necessary to be less generous in their gifts than they formerly were. We do not mean to say that they went beyond the merits of any case, nor do we accuse them of want of caution in dealing with the funds of the Board. But in fact that they have been compelled to lower the amounts given to applicants is proof that the necessity for retrenchment has forced itself upon them. The invested capital has been drawn upon for at least the last three years, in order to meet the grants made, and although this fact may not of itself be sufficient to account for the reduction we have pointed out, no doubt it has operated as a check upon the more generous minds of the Board. We have so much faith in the generosity of the Craft that we believe no genuine appeal made on behalf of our Charities would fail in getting whatever sum might be required. At the same time it is well to remember the trite old saying—"easy come, easy go," and to revise the necessities of each case carefully. We have no sympathy with a haggling, huckstering spirit in the cause of charity, but there is a limit beyond which generosity becomes prodigality. We believe the Board of Benevolence have acted wisely in somewhat moderating their gifts, and taking the record of the year's work they seem to have carried out their duties systematically. There is not an exact correspondence between the number of cases and the amounts granted—that would be almost impossible; but there is a sufficient relation between the two to show that the sums granted bear reference to the number of applicants. For instance, the largest sum granted was in November, when there were 40 cases relieved to the extent of £1,060. In June there were 39 cases and the sum granted was £885. In September only twelve cases were presented, and these received grants to the amount of £370. In July and August there were 20 cases in each month, with grants of £570 and £650 respectively, while in January there were 24 cases and £685 voted. These examples exhibit the equable as well as the varied character of the work done. At the last meeting, held on Wednesday evening, at Freemasons' Hall, 34 cases were presented, but one was deferred. Most of them came from the country, and amongst them were two from the United States, two from India, and one each from China, New Brunswick, and Smyrna. With the change of name from Lodge to Board has come a change of formalities; we might say that the

EPPS'S (GRATEFUL COMFORTING) COCOA.

Digitized by Google

latter have been abolished. As a Lodge of Benevolence it was opened and closed according to ancient custom, now the members meet as a business body, and except the great fact that they are dispensing money subscribed by the Masonic body, there is no outward sign to show connection with the Craft. Whatever effect this change may have, we are certain that it will not detract from the interest the Board take in their labours.

MASONRY AND THE CIVIL LAW.

IT is creditable to Freemasons and Freemasonry that questions relating to the Craft have so rarely been brought before the civil courts for adjudication. In the vast majority of cases, practically as well as theoretically, Freemasonry has been a law unto itself. Brethren have very rarely appealed to the common or statutory law in support of their real or fancied rights, and profanes have seldom had occasion to cite a Masonic body into court. The facts being as stated, there are comparatively few judicial decisions bearing upon Masonic questions; but there have been some, and we propose referring to certain of the most important principles involved in and decided by them.

As a rule, Masonic bodies avoid incorporation. This is wise. A body corporate is a creature of the Commonwealth, and of the courts, and is directly amenable to the statutory law bearing upon corporations. No Lodge or Grand Lodge is wise that places itself in this position. Some Grand Masters have gone so far as to say that they would revoke the charter of a subordinate Lodge that sought incorporation. We entirely approve of the policy of keeping Freemasonry separate and distinct from legal entities of the State. Owe the State nothing; owe the courts nothing; save to be loyal to the one, and respectful to the other.

It has sometimes been mistakenly urged that a Masonic Lodge should be incorporated in order to protect its members from becoming individually liable as partners for the debts of the Lodge. The members of a Lodge are NOT partners. This has been decided, again and again. A voluntary association for social and charitable purposes stands upon an entirely different footing from a business association; members of the latter are partners, while members of the former are not. Suppose a Lodge builds a Masonic Hall, or resolves to become responsible in any manner for a moneyed expenditure, and that there are members of the Lodge—say nearly one-half of the membership—who are opposed to the proposed action. Were the Lodge a partnership, all would be individually bound; but, in fact, in case the Lodge funds are insufficient to pay the indebtedness, only those members can be personally and individually held liable who actively forwarded the plan, or assented to it, or ratified it—in other words, only those whose action it was. So if the officers of a Lodge borrow money on its account, and give a note officially for it, only those members who approved or ratified the making of the note can in any event be made personally responsible.

But while a society or association such as a Masonic Lodge can escape liability to the statutory laws of a State bearing upon corporations by avoiding incorporation, it cannot escape liability to a court of equity in case the property rights of its members become involved and a matter of litigation. Here, however, Freemasonry, by its very genius, is peculiarly free from liability even to the law of equity. No Freemason can demand any pecuniary benefit from the Craft. Its charities are all voluntary. Of right, a member cannot claim anything; as a matter of fraternal sympathy and good-will he may expect the most generous consideration from his brethren, who will give him, and freely give him, as long as they have anything that they themselves enjoy. And not only do Freemasons freely dispense their charity to their brethren; they occasionally go outside of themselves, and show that their charity is as broad as the world. In the largest and best sense of the term, Masonic Lodges and Grand Lodges are technical charities under the law, with no business whatever to conduct, and nothing to do with their means but to so invest and dispense them as to subserve the best interests, primarily of their own members, and secondarily of the most deserving and needy throughout the world. The outside world does not benefit oftener from Masonic charity simply because there are so many encircled by the Mystic Tie whose needs we feel in honour bound to supply first.

The question of the right of a civil court to reinstate an expelled member is not infrequently raised as to clubs and societies non-Masonic, but very rarely in the case of a Masonic Lodge. The law is, that where a society acts judicially its sentence is conclusive. A court will not review the merits of the case. The most that it will do in any case, and this only where property rights are involved, is to decide whether the ground for expulsion is well taken.

It seems scarcely necessary to add, that with the "mystery" of Freemasonry neither courts nor legislatures can have anything to do. The secrets of the Craft are inviolable. Wherever, under the bias of anti-Masonic fanaticism, the lever of legislative or judicial power has been employed to "torture" individual Freemasons into making a revelation of the "mystery" of our ancient and honourable Fraternity, it always has failed, and always must.

It is evident, from what has been stated above, that a Masonic Lodge is such a voluntarily charitable body as is looked upon with partiality by the civil law. In England there is statutory law directly in favour of Masonic bodies. In this country there is no direct legislation, but the general appreciation of the noble principles, humane character and charitable action of the Masonic Fraternity is so pronounced that the Craft is allowed to be a law unto itself. We doubt not it will continue to deserve the good opinion of all intelligent men, and perennially maintain the even tenour of its way, teaching the purest truth and exemplifying the noblest charity.—Keystone.

"CHRISTMAS COMES BUT ONCE A YEAR."

[CONTRIBUTED.]

APART from the religious origin of Christmas, about which we, as Freemasons, can form our own individual judgment, there is a fitness in the season for the exercise of that spirit of kindness and forgiveness which is the true sign of brotherhood. Rich and poor alike take advantage of this yearly festival to meet together, to bury feuds, to renew friendships, and to still further cement the affections of years. To an Englishman, it has a peculiar charm; no matter where he may be located—under an arctic sky or scorching sun, on sea or on land, he never fails to honour Christmas, and to rejoice according to his means. In this world of struggle and of strife, and in the race for wealth and pleasure; in the hungering after knowledge, and the thirst for fame, it is a great thing to know that at least once a year all can unbend, and join in festivities which are withheld from few, and ought not to be denied to any. So strong is the feeling of rejoicing exemplified at Christmas that the ordinary amenities of society are relaxed, and offences that would meet with punishment at normal times are passed by with a good-natured smile. The cold and phlegmatic melt before the beams of genial kindness that prevails, and even the miser's love of gold has been known to yield to the universal spirit of generosity that the advent of Christmas evokes. Then there are the happy release from school, the meeting of glad parents and children, the festivities of courtly hall and humble cot. The soberness of increasing years gives way to the sprightly spirit of the time, and even old age renews its youth, forgets for the moment all aches and pains, and only to remember the happy present. The young look forward to balls and parties, to pantomimes and fun. Jack Frost is eagerly looked for, and Santa Claus is regarded as a necessary visitor in every household. The poor are remembered; even the pauper is feasted and his lot lightened for the day. The sick are tended with a more affectionate care, if that be possible; the very animals are made partakers of the good things that always comes with Christmas. It is a time of high tide with the heart, and the overflow runs in streams of kindness and generosity. It is a period when unhappy thoughts are put aside, when difficulties are remitted to the limbo of forgetfulness. It is not less also the time for discounting wrongs, for forgetting grudges, and for the exercise of the noblest attributes of mankind.

Digitized by Google

As Freemasons, we should not be lacking in the general feeling of rejoicing that reigns at Christmas. We know that the inmates of the several Masonic Institutions will be provided with all that can minister to their comfort and pleasure. Benevolent hearts will open in an especial sense at this festive period, and those who are the recipients of the provident care of others will find that they have been remembered with generous, even lavish affection. While those are cared for who are prominently before the managers and friends of the several Institutions, it should be borne in mind that there are others waiting with anxiety to receive that help of which they stand so much in need. The rejoicing of the present, the superabundance of liberality that flows for the hour, are good things in their way; but to be complete, to be satisfying to the conscience, to afford food for lasting and happy contemplation, the future of the poor must be considered and provided for. We would not intrude a single thought that would mar the happy present, but we believe that the present would be more blissful still were each one to strive to make help for the poorer brethren, who are still unprovided for, immediately possible. Let rejoicing, therefore, abound now, but in order that its effects may be lasting, we recommend a larger generosity to our charities, and a broader sympathy with the unfortunate.

ESSENTIAL LESSONS OF MASONRY.

MASONRY teaches us that the Holy Bible is the central luminary of the Order, while each member forms a satellite, revolving around and drawing his lustre from the great fountain of truth hidden within the depths of its sacred pages, which alone is capable of lighting his pathway through the many tangled mazes of this life. And yet, while we profess this faith in its sacred precepts, and acknowledge the ability it possesses to awaken within the soul of man aspirations for and thoughts concerning his true and noblest good, do we not often permit the dust of neglect to gather like a cloud and obscure its celestial radiance from our spiritual vision? And while we are repeatedly taught that this is the immortal mine from which every Mason is required to discover and bring to light, for his own personal benefit, the glorious material which the Divine Architect has stored away within its depths, out of which, by our own efforts and His assistance, we are to rear the temple of our Masonic manhood to its noblest perfection, is it not true of too many of us that we neither discover nor bring to light these important truths, but to us they still lay hidden away in their native depths? The result is that our Masonic building is imperfect; because the very blocks we most need to give it strength and beauty are wanting, for we have left them in the quarry untouched. With this lesson fully mastered, each Mason should constitute a column, rising with beauty and symmetry from the midst of the checkered mosaic of this life, which we learn to behold embordered with the manifold blessings which a bountiful providence strews around us along life's journey—whose foundation is laid in the wisdom of faith; whose tower is reared in the strength of hope; while charity, like a vine of beauty, winds its spiral wreaths around the whole from base to summit.

Each piece of material that is needed in this tower of our Masonic manhood is plainly drawn upon this divine trestle-board with its due proportions, shape and place in the building, so we need not be mistaken or go far astray.

The lesson Masonry teaches in regard to the proper adjustment of our time is worthy of universal attention. It is like a mantle of light which infolds God, our neighbour, and ourselves within the silken web of each day's experience, giving to each an equal part. He who but thinks a moment as this lesson opens before him can scarcely fail to learn the immense value of time; it is but warp and woof in the web of life. How few Masons remember and appreciate this lesson. And yet, it is one of the foundation principles of the Order; one of the first truths taught us as we cross the threshold at our entrance in the Grand Temple of Masonry. Does Masonry so impress this lesson upon our minds that we never mention the name of God but with that reverential awe which is due from a creature to his Creator? Alas! is it not lamentably true that often Masons may be found with the twenty-four inch gauge in their hands, who take that Masonically sacred name in vain?

Do we appreciate the fact that Masonry not only teaches, but absolutely requires that we shall do to our neighbour as we would he should do to us?

While we readily admit that all men are naturally selfish, would it not be well to inquire, are we selfish after a Masonic manner? so as to avoid all irregularities, both of intemperance or excess, which would in the least impair our faculties or render us incapable of arising to the highest point of that true and noble manhood which Masonry would have us aim at and possess. This is the selfishess that Masonry inculcates.

Here we have three great duties enjoined upon us, to God, our neighbour, and ourselves, forming the three chief apartments in the Mystic Temple of Masonry, which is supported by the three pillars of Wisdom, Strength and Beauty; while it is adorned with the three essential virtues, or graces, Faith, Hope and Charity,—a triple triad—denoting perfection; and yet we have only learned a few of the lessons of Masonry—have only plucked a few from the wilderness of flowers which bloom around the threshold of our Mystic Temple.—Rev. W. H. Grim, in the Freemasons' Repository.

The Jordan Lodge, No. 1402, Torquay, on the 11th instant, voted £5 5s to the Hughan Testimonial Fund. The Royal Cumberland Lodge, No. 41, Bath, have voted a like amount; and the Honour Lodge, No. 379, of the same place, have placed two guineas on the subscription list.

Bro. Alderman R. N. Fowler, M.P., the Lord Mayor, has been elected Master of Grand Master's Lodge, No. 1, and will be installed on 21st January.

On Wednesday evening, 12th December, Brother T. B. Whytehead, of York, gave a lecture before the brethren of Scarborough, under the auspices of the Denison Lodge, in their Lodge room, at the Grand Hotel, upon "Lodge Duties." Bro. H. J. Morton P.M. presided, and the brethren expressed themselves pleased with the manner in which the subject was treated.

A Convocation of the North London Chapter of Improvement was held on Thursday, the 20th inst., at 8 clock, at the Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury. Companion Briggs performed the duties of Z., Companions Hubbard H., Dean J., Radcliffe S.N., Knight P.S. The various offices were sustained in a creditable manner by the Companions who filled them.

On the 14th inst. a Lodge of Emergency of the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire was held at Goole, when the W. Dep. P.G.M., Bro. T. W. Tew, J.P., dedicated a new Masonic Hall to Freemasonry. There was a large attendance of brethren from Bradford, Leeds, Wakefield, Sheffield, Pontefract, Howden, Hull, and several other towns in the West Riding. The new Hall is situated in the Booth Ferry-road.

OFFICIAL VISITATION.—Careful perusal of the reports of the transactions of the respective Grand Lodges, Grand Chapters, and Grand Commanderies, which we have received this year, has strengthened our opinion that official visitation and instruction of Lodges, Chapters and Commanderies is indispensible to their welfare and prosperity. We observe that wherever such work is faithfully and efficiently performed there good results follow, and that wherever it is neglected there lukewarmness, confusion and death prevail. Notably is this true in several Royal Arch jurisdictions, and therefrom the fact appears that the weak, discouraged and declining bodies are the ones which should receive the first and greatest attention. This work should be provided for by the Grand Bodies, and they should adequately pay for it. To this end we favour reduction of mileage rates wherever they prevail, and the increase of appropriations for official visitation and instruction. Upon this, we believe, largely depends the weal of the Fraternity.—Voice of Masonry.

The Revised Book of Constitutions; Critically Considered, and Compared with the Old Edition. London: Simpkin, Marshall & Co., 4 Stationers' Hall Court, E.C. Sent on receipt of stamps, One Shilling, by W. W. Morgan, Freemason's Chronicle Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.—(ADVT).

Digitized by Google

REVIEWS.

All Books intended for Review should be addressed to the Editor of The Freemason's Chronicle, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

—:o:—

How we defended Arabi and his Friends. A Story of Egypt and the Egyptians. By A. M. Broadley, Barrister-at-Law. Author of "Tunis Past and Present." Illustrated by Frederick Villiers, Special Correspondent of "The Graphic" in Egypt. London: Chapman and Hall (Limited). 1884.

As a rule, the British public is not given to concerning itself for any length of time about matters of foreign policy, and this is especially the case now, when events move so rapidly that what happened as it were but yesterday, to-day appears to have established a place for itself on the records of ancient history. But many circumstances have combined to make the Egyptian question an exception to this rule. Our shortest and most direct route to India lies through Egyptian territory. Very nearly one-half the shares of the Suez Canal Company are the property of the British nation. It is principally British shipping which provides the revenue of the Canal. For many years past we have taken a leading part in controlling the affairs of Egypt and the Khedive. Tewfik Pasha is our most obedient, humble servant. Recently, too, the disturbances brought about by the Mehdi in the Soudan and his defeat of the Egyptian forces under Hicks Pasha have again brought our connection with and interests in this country to the front. Hence Bro. Broadley's contribution to the history of the recent—we may almost say the present—Egyptian crisis is likely to prove unusually attractive, if, indeed, it does not exercise some influence in directing public opinion towards a clearer insight into the events of the past few months. We have, of course, no intention of offering any opinion on the politics of the Egyptian question—that is a matter which is altogether outside the province of a Masonic journal. But this need not prevent us from carefully laying them before our readers, as seen through Bro. Broadley's spectacles. We may, or may not, sympathise with his views, but we are under no compulsion to keep them hidden from the Masonic public. There is, indeed, one sufficient reason why, even at the risk of being thought sympathetic, we should go somewhat out of our way to give them some prominence. Much has been said and written about Egypt from the point of view opposed to Arabi and the movement of which he was the leader, but very little has been heard from that of Arabi himself. Therefore, in that spirit of fair play which induces Englishmen to hear both sides of a question before passing judgment on its merits, we feel it is only just that Bro. Broadley's advocacy of Arabi, albeit that of a client by his counsel, should be set forth, at all events as fully as the limited space at our command will permit. Nor do we think our readers will be dissatisfied with us for doing so. What Brother Broadley has to say is said in such agreeable fashion that, in placing it before our friends, even a slight, if unintentional, expression of sympathy with him and his client—should any such chance expression escape us—will stand a fair chance of being condoned.

Very early in his brief preface Bro. Broadley explains the purpose of his book. "The author," he writes, "who sees Egyptian things through Financial spectacles has had his say; a similar boon has been accorded to the wearers of the tinted glasses I will venture to describe as representing Politics, Diplomacy, French Influences, Vested Interests, Anglo-Egyptian ideas, and the various echoes of the historical verandah of Shepheard's Hotel at Cairo. All these gentlemen have had a patient hearing and a fair and open market for their wares. The tribune being for the moment vacant, I have, perhaps somewhat audaciously, stepped into the empty place, put on my Egyptian spectacles, and now invite the great and generous British Public to witness the panorama of Egyptian Nationalism, in which the principal characters will be sustained by my late clients." As far as we can, we purpose following the author in his very intelligent exposition.

Passing over the earlier chapters, in which the author tells us how he came to be retained as counsel for Arabi, what course of action had been followed by his brother-counsel, the Hon. Mark Napier, at the outset of his task, in a like capacity, and the state of public feeling, so far as the habitués of Shepheard's Hotel at Cairo may be taken to represent it, we come to what he describes as the "Preliminary Skirmishes," in which he makes the acquaintance of M. Borelli, the legal adviser of the Egyptian Minister of the Interior, with whom he sets about preparing the necessary understanding as to the mode of procedure to be followed at the trial. As will be seen from the book, the course of these negotiations did not always run very smoothly, especially at the later stages of the proceedings. But it was clearly to the advantage of the English counsel that they should have been invited to enter into them so early. It made it clear even to the fraternity of unbelievers, and those who thought that a "happy dispatch" was the best and shortest way of getting rid of Arabi and his fellow prisoners, that the British Government had no intention of permitting the latter to be tried without having the benefit of English counsel to defend them. Still the task was by no means an easy one. Egyptian Ministers had a knack of throwing obstacles in the way of settling the procedure and other matters, and it was only by repeated applications to British officials that Bros. Broadley and Napier were able to prosecute their work to an end. One thing they very soon learnt, namely, the charges on which Arabi and his associates were to be tried, and which were as follow:—

"1st. Of having hoisted the white flag at Alexandria on the morning of the 12th July, in violation of the laws of war and jus gentium, and at the same time of having withdrawn his troops and caused the burning and pillage of the said town.

"2nd. Of having excited the Egyptians to arm against the Khedive (a crime provided for by Article 5 of the Military Penal Code and Article 55 of the Ottoman Penal Code).

"3rd. Of having continued the war notwithstanding the news of peace (a crime provided for by Article 111 of the Ottoman Penal Code).

"4th. Of having excited civil war, and carried devastation, massacre, and pillage into Egyptian territory (a crime provided for by Articles 56 and 57 of the Ottoman Penal Code)."

Having learnt the charges, and settled and signed with M. Borelli the mode of procedure, their next task was to obtain access to Arabi, who was imprisoned in a house known as the Daira Saniga, and the necessary permit having been obtained from the Minister of the Interior, the party, consisting of Bros. Broadley, Napier, and Coe (the solicitor), with the interpreter, set out for the prison, and, meeting Sir Charles Wilson on the staircase, were by him ushered into the prisoner's cell, of which and its occupant we read as follows:—

"The only furniture of the room, when we arrived, was a handsome Shiraz rug, a mosquito curtain, a mattress and some pillows, an embroidered prayer-carpet, a Korán, and some brass and earthenware vessels. I must not be understood as complaining, for an Oriental rarely wants more than this."

Of Arabi, we are told that "he wore a pair of undress military trowsers, with white shirt and jacket. He sometimes changed the latter for a black Stambouli or Turkish frock coat." As to his appearance, we read:—"In repose, an almost fixed frown and knitting of the brows can hardly fail to excite an impression of forbidding sullenness, but I soon found out that this was the effect of deep and candid thought rather than of moroseness or bad temper. Arabi's habit of perpetually thinking has gained him many enemies amongst those who judge by first appearances. When his countenance lights up with animation the change wrought in his expression is so wonderful that you would hardly recognise him as the same man. His eyes are full of intelligence, and his smile is peculiarly attractive. His complexion is lighter than that of his son."—with whom they had previously had an interview,—"but his nose is too flat and his lips are too thick to allow me to describe him as a handsome man. He is considerably over six feet in height and broad in proportion. During his imprisonment his appearance was materially changed by the growth of a grey beard. After the manner of the Fellaheen, a blue band was tattooed round his wrist, and he rarely, if ever, loosed his grasp on a small black rosary he perpetually ran through his fingers when talking. The cloud of anxiety which seemed to overshadow him at first gradually lifted, and before his imprisonment was ended he became almost cheerful." And again, when Colonel Wilson had retired, Bro. Broadley presented to Arabi a letter from Mr. Blunt, which the latter asked permission to read, and during the reading of which he (Arabi) smiled, and, raised his hand to his forehead in token of gratitude and acquiescence. This habit of Arabi's, when perusing his correspondence, always struck me as singularly graceful. His peculiar courtesy of manner has rarely failed to impress those with whom he has come in contact." Subsequently, Bro. Broadley pressed him to give his full confidence and to speak unreservedly of his defence, on which we are told that, in reply:—

"He first observed that, at the end of the campaign (like many other unsuccessful generals had done before him) he had delivered his sword and his honour to General Lowe, and had done so in full confidence that his former opponents in the field, and not his political enemies, would be the judges of his deserts. He had maintained order, observed the usages of war in civilised countries, and acted towards his prisoners with humanity and kindness. Surely he could claim some better treatment from England than that which he had received at our hands? Was not our presence there to-day, in spite of his enemies, a sign that he was not altogether wrong? He had led the Egyptians in a struggle for freedom, and had achieved partial success, when our arms stopped his progress, and the very aspirations of which he was, by the will of the whole nation the exponent, were wrecked in the defeat at Tel-el-Kebir, and then hopelessly crushed out by the Turkish and Circassian cruelty which followed it. 'If you enquire,' said Arabi, 'you will discover and be able to prove that all Egypt was with me—the Khedivial family—the old men of Mehemet Ali's time, the Ulemas, the army, and the peasants, but in the presence of prison, arrest, torture and threats, who will own me now? Why, I should not be surprised if my very children denied me to my face before the Commission of Inquiry.' Arabi then gave a circumstantial account of his own troubles when in prison, and observed that if he was treated thus what could his more humble followers expect or hope for?' Then, as to his own conduct, he said he divided it into two parts:—what was done before the 11th July, and what happened afterwards. At no time could I be fairly called a rebel. The Khedive shared our opinion that we should return the British fire, and the Sultan expressed his satisfaction at my proceedings. Afterwards the Khedive became your prisoner, and I continued to follow the orders of the Council of Ministers, sanctioned and supported by the whole country, and still approved by the Sultan. If the Khedive and the Sultan are my superiors I may have been your enemy, but I was not a rebel towards them. All that I tell you I hope to be able to prove. I fear nothing, as I had no concern with the outbreak at Alexandria last June, or the incendiarism which followed the bombardment.

The next thing to be done was to recover Arabi's papers, and these at length were obtained and, for the sake of security, lodged at the British Consulate, where, at Bro. Broadley's request, they were translated by Mr. Ardern Beaman, a student interpreter doing duty with Sir Charles Wilson. Passing over Chapter X., which is entitled "A Digression from the Blue Books," and Chapter XI., in which the author makes acquaintance with more of his future clients, we enter upon a long account of the rise and progress of the National movement in Egypt, as set forth by Arabi himself in his instructions to his counsel. This account is extremely interesting, the following, in which he sketches his relations with the Sultan shortly before and after the outbreak of hostilities, being especially so:—

"Talát Pacha, the Circassian, was sent, in November 1881, on a mission to Constantinople on the part of the Khedive. He was instructed to represent to the Turkish Ministers and to the Sultan that Egypt was in a state of rebellion, that it was proposed to form an Arabian Empire, and that Ahmed Arabi and the British Government had come to an agreement on that point. These rumours, spread by Talát Pacha, began to gain ground at Constantinople—we had no special agent there to contradict these falsehoods. I was, therefore, obliged to have recourse to the learned and pious Sheikh Muhamed Zaffer, the Sultan's confident and spiritual adviser, whom I knew by fame, although I had never met him personally. I wrote to him, through Ali Rágheb, contradicting all the projects which had been attributed to us, and requesting him to explain to His Majesty the loyalty of my feelings, and my strong attachment to the fundamental principles of our sacred law, which make it a duty to obey the Ameer El Moumaneen (Commander of the Faithful).

Digitized by Google

"The Sheikh was pleased to answer through Ali Rágheb aforementioned; his letter, written in the Turkish language, stated that he had laid before His Majesty the contents of my communication, that the Sultan was satisfied with my loyalty, and commanded me to persevere in my obedience; but added that His Majesty desired me to defend the country at all costs from invasion, lest it should share the fate of Tunis, and that he cared neither for Ismail, Helim, or Tewfik, but for the man who should carry out his instructions. So, also, wrote Ahmed Rátib Pacha, with whom I had a long personal conference when he was in Egypt, and whose letters came along with that of Muhamed Zaffer.

"Shereef Ahmed Essád, who came to Cairo with Dervish Pasha, also concurred in these injunctions, and took charge of a petition to the Sultan on our behalf. He also wrote me, later on, a letter in a similar strain.

"During the early part of the hostilities I telegraphed several times to Constantinople. About the middle of August I telegraphed to Bessim Bey, one of the Sultan's chamberlains, stating what had taken place during the hostilities, and submitting that the law was a legitimate and legal one, that the Khedive had gone to the enemy, and was therefore in exactly the same position as the Bey of Tunis.

"On the 12th Ramadan 1299 (6th August 1882) I telegraphed to Bessim Bey, stating that Dervish Pasha, instead of advising the Khedive to remain with his people, had allowed him to join the enemy, and that the town of Alexandria had been delivered to the British Admiral.

"When the news reached me that the Porte proposed sending troops to Egypt, knowing that this would be injurious to the Egyptians, I telegraphed, on the 8th of Ramadan (2nd August 1882) to Bessim Bey, stating that Egypt was sufficiently provided with men, arms, and ammunition, to defend the country, and protect the Sultan's rights; and that we were unanimous in our decisions to stand by those rights.

"Never, during those negotiations or afterwards, up to the present time, has the Porte disapproved of our doings. The Sultan has both by act and letter often approved them. How can I then be a rebel? Is not the Sultan admitted by Englishmen to be Sovereign of Egypt?"

The description of the events preceding and during the bombardment of Alexandria, if they may be relied upon, show pretty conclusively, what Arabi had previously stated, that in the part he played he was acting under the orders of the Khedive, and, as just now pointed out, with the Sultan's approval. His version of the events that followed up to his surrender show likewise that in this part of his conduct, he acted under orders from the provisional Government appointed by the Council, held at Cairo, and attended "by over five hundred persons of note." Of this Council, we read that it "made a minute examination into the Khedivial communications and orders, also into my own letters and telegrams to His Highness, and after a short debate it was agreed unanimously to disregard the Khedivial orders, and to prevent him from interfering in public affairs. At this Council a resolution was carried appointing me to the command of the army and to defend the country. This was signed by all those present at the Council, and a telegram to this effect was sent to His Majesty the Sultan, with the names of the most distinguished men who had assisted at the Council." As regards the Egyptian people, we are told they "made heavy sacrifices for the sake of securing to their country liberty, justice, and independence; some gave all they possessed, others the half, but all gave some mite to the national cause, as can be proved by numberless letters and telegrams. The war was supported both morally and materially, and nothing was wanting on the part of the Egyptians to defend their native land. They voluntarily offered themselves for enlistment en masse in the army; some individuals supplied as much as thirty horses and three thousand ardebs of grain. The telegrams and communications received at the Ministry of War from these benevolent patriots and from the governors of the various provinces fully testify to the truth of these statements; so much so, that within the space of thirty days an army of volunteers, numbering a hundred thousand men, with eight thousand horses, and four thousand mules, was supplied, the war stores filled with provisions, and considerable sums of money flowed into the War Treasury. Such spirit of patriotism and display of zeal on the part of the Egyptians has had no precedent in the history of Islam. Moreover, the Ulemas and notables of Cairo never ceased for a moment to give us their moral support and advice on all occasions." It is clear from this record of facts, as set forth by Arabi—if at least they are capable of proof—that, as he states, "it is quite evident that the Egyptian nation cannot be treated as insurrectionists acting from a spirit of fanaticism, but, on the contrary, as a nation seeking their liberty by justifiable means." What follows, however, is still more significant. "I may add, that a considerable quantity of cattle and fruits were supplied gratis to the various camps at Rosetta, Kafr-el-Dowar and Tel-el-Kebir. These supplies came principally from the chief Dawas at Cairo, from Riaz Pacha and Khian Pacha (notwithstanding their absence from Egypt), also from the various Dairas of the Khedive's family. The communication in cypher telegrams never ceased between Kafr-el-Dowar, Cairo, and Constantinople, until the telegraph wires were destroyed at the former place."

With these one or two other excerpts from Arabi's enumeration of the measures which Arabi took for the maintenance of order and the preservation of the lives and property of Europeans we shall conclude this portion of our notice.

"The Government promptly took the necessary steps to arrest all the looters they could, and sent them to the Council with letters stating the nature of their crime and the quantity of loot in their possession, in order that they might be punished according to the laws of the country; and this is well known to one of the departments connected with the Ministry of War at Kafr-el-Dowar."

Again:—

"A short time before this incident"—the massacres at Tanlah, when Arabi took measures to restore order—I issued a circular to all the provinces, governors, and administrations, giving strict orders for the safety of all Europeans then remaining in the different localities, in conformity with the Moslem law, which enjoins us to shelter all those who live with us as brothren, even Englishmen when not carrying arms in the field against us; and thus gave help and protected all those desirous of leaving the country."

Also:—

"On another occasion we captured two officers, one doctor, and nine privates, Germans, who landed near Aboukir by mistake. On application being made by their Consul at Alexandria they were at once set at liberty, having been well treated. Two other officers were also taken prisoners near Salbein, and on them was found the sum of three hundred pounds; they were kindly treated and sent to Cairo with all care."

(To be continued).

MARK MASONRY.

—:o:—

ST. JOHN'S MARK LODGE, BOLTON.

THE annual meeting of this Lodge was held on Thursday, the 13th instant, at the Commercial Hotel, at half-past five o'clock in the evening. Bros. William Cooper P. Prov. G.D. W.M., J. B. Taylor S.W., John Kenyon J.W., John Partington M.O., W. Wadeson S.O., N. Nicholson J.O., James Horrocks P.M. P. Prov. G.D. Registrar, Thomas Morris P.M. P. Prov. G.S.B. Secretary, W. Court Conductor, H. Tongue S.D., R. H. Phillips Steward, Thomas Higson Tyler; Past Masters John Alcock Past Provincial G.D., John Harwood Past Provincial G.D., Brothers James Eckersley, William Wood Thomas Naylor, Thomas Forrester, John Priestley, James Allen, Benjamin Topp, John Barrett, Robert Jones. Visitor—Bros. J. D. Murray P.M. 158 Grand Standard Bearer. Lodge was opened in due form by the W.M., and the ordinary business transacted. The following brethren were balloted for, and elected:—Bros. Henry Broughton Craft Lodge 146, Thomas Nightingale Craft Lodge 146, Enoch Hird Craft Lodge 146, Alfred Jones Craft Lodge 348. The three latter being in attendance, were advanced to the degree of Mark Master Mason by the W.M., who also instructed them in the working tools of the degree, and delivered the traditional history. The W.M. read a letter from the Right Worshipful Bro. G. P. Brockbank Senior P.M. of the Lodge and Past G.W. of England, regretting his inability to attend to conduct the installation of the Wor. Master elect, he having sustained a severe chill on his recent journey to London to attend Grand Lodge, and informing the brethren that Bro. J. D. Murray, P.M. of the daughter Lodge, Rose and Thistle, Wigan, and Grand Standard Bearer of England, had kindly consented to officiate in his stead. Bro. Murray accordingly assumed the chair, and the W.M. elect having been presented in due form, was forthwith installed, proclaimed, and saluted, and he proceeded to appoint his Officers for the ensuing year as under:—Bros. John Kenyon S.W., John Partington J.W., W. Wadeson M.O., Nath. Nicholson S.O., W. Court J.O., James Horrocks Registrar, Thomas Morris Secretary, Henry Tongue Conductor, John Barratt S.D., Thomas Forrester J.D., R. H. Phillips T.K., J. F. Shelton Organist, John Alcock M.C., John Eckersley Steward. Bro. G. I. Brockbank was re-elected Treasurer. A cordial vote of thanks was awarded to Bro. Murray for his kindness in coming to Bolton to assist in the business of the evening. Hearty good wishes were given from the Visitors, and the Lodge closed in peace and harmony at 7·30.

PROVINCE OF EAST ANGLIA.

A SPECIAL meeting of the members of the newly-constituted Provincial Grand Mark Lodge of East Anglia was held in the Masonic Hall, Ipswich, on Tuesday evening, 18th inst. In the unavoidable absence of the R.W. P.G.M. (Lord Henniker G.M.M.) and the D.P.G.M. (V.W. Bro. the Rev. C. J. Martyn) Bro. Thomas J. Ralling J.G.D. England Prov. G.S.O. East Anglia, presided. The Bye-laws, which had been freely circulated throughout the Province, were considered seriatim, and eventually passed with one or two unimportant additions.

The following dinners were held at the Freemasons' Tavern during the week ending 22nd December 1883:—

Monday, 17th—Grand Masters' Lodge, British Lodge, Asaph Chapter; Tuesday, 18th—Enoch Chapter, Royal York Chapter, Caledonian Lodge, City Swiss Club; Wednesday, 19th—Commercial Travellers; Thursday, 20th—Great Northern Lodge, Linnæan Club, Globe Club. Friday, 21st—Jordan Lodge.

FUNERALS.—Bros. W. K. L. & G. A. HUTTON, Coffin Makers and Undertakers, 17 Newcastle Street, Strand, W.C. and 30 Forest Hill Road, Peckham Rye, S.E.

Digitized by Google

CONSECRATION OF THE QUEEN'S WESTMINSTER LODGE, No. 2021.

IT is not to be supposed that because some Lodges have their origin in special bodies they are limited to the admission of one class of society. The spirit of Freemasonry is universal, and all Lodges under the English Constitution are bound by the same written and unwritten laws. There is no reason, however, why particular bodies of men should not enjoy special facilities for meeting together. There is the Gallery Lodge, for instance, the members of which are engaged in work during a part of the year which precludes them from enjoying Lodge association except on one night of the week. A Lodge therefore has been formed to meet the requirements of the Press men, and judging from experience they have succeeded admirably. The same reasons cannot be advanced with regard to Volunteer corps, yet they have a motive for desiring to be united in Masonry as well as in arms that deserves respect. This feeling has found exemplification in the Victoria Rifles, the Ranelagh, the South Middlesex, the Macdonald, and the London Rifle Brigade. To this list must now be added the Queen's Westminster. Bro. George Lambert is Captain of the D company of this Volunteer corps, and as he is a Mason of forty years' standing, a P.M. of several Lodges, a Past Grand Sword Bearer, and a liberal supporter of the Institutions connected with the Craft, it is natural that he should desire to have a Lodge bearing the title of the body of citizen soldiers to which he is so honourably attached. For the same reasons he was peculiarly fitted to promote such a union, and to be the first Master of such a Lodge. His experience gave him a claim upon Grand Lodge, and his reputation is a guarantee for the success of any undertaking he may embark in. The event we are about to chronicle was a most auspicious one. Over one hundred brethren assembled on Monday afternoon at, 8A Red Lion Square, the home of the new Lodge, on the occasion of its consecration. Brother Colonel Shadwell H. Clerke Grand Secretary was the Consecrating Officer, and he was assisted by Bros. F. A. Philbrick, Q.C., P.G.D. as S.W., Captain N. G. Philips P.G.D. as J.W., Rev. Ambrose W. Hall P.G.C. as Chaplain; Frank Richardson P.G.D. acted as Director of the Ceremonies, and Colonel James Peters Grand Sword Bearer as I.G. Among those present were:—Bros. F. Marx P.M. 957, T. Coulthard S.D. 1624, J. R. Wood 173, C. Jones 1420, P. Flatterly P.M. 1624, W. T. Woodruf J.W. 957, R. Rowell S.D. 1980, W. M. Bywater P.M. 19, J. Lavies P.M. 291, &c., B. L. Wilson J.W. 1366, T. McElmore (I.C.) 26, C. Brown J.W. 1962, F. Delevante W.M. 1319, A. W. Fenner P.M. 1693, J. Lewis Thomas P.A.G.D.C., D. H. McLeod P.M. 1624, H. Massey P.M. 619 and 1928, W. Hilton P.M. 1351, J. Grist 1624, G. D. Bundy 902, A. C. Treadaway 1298, G. C. Matthews W.M. 706, John Read P.M. 720, J. H. Bond W.M. 1314, P. Levy 1681, C. Tayler W.M. 1624, C. W. Fromholz J.W. 141, P. Goldney 1489, H. Tolson S.D. 1604, C. J. Lovett, J. L. Goode S.W. 1964, G. A. Potter J.W. 1904, C. J. Shoppee W.M. 382, R. Pearcy P.M. 228, W. H. Rose Chap. 1964, G. P. Brotheridge 1694, J. T. Rowe, F. Archard W.M. 198, A. Rule P.M. 263 (I.C), Watkin Brown 1612, W. Vincent 1194 G.S.B. Middlesex, T. Hastings Miller P.P.G. Org. Middlesex, G. A. Corderoy J.W. 19, H. M. Levy P.M. 188, G. Flint 558, E. Pole 125, C. Kempton J.W. 1287, G. T. K. Tribble P.M. 1287, J. Pearce 569, T. H. Fry 1815, F. T. Freeman 198, C. R. Chamberlain 1743, A. Barfield P.M. 35, E. J. Mills 1194, Edgar Bowyer G.St.B., E. J. Brown, W. Lake 131, Courtenay Wynne W.M. 25, H. J. Price 55, George Cowell P.M. 198, J. Carr S.W. 198, John Finch 173, T. B. Linscott P.M. 55, J. T. Woodstock P.M. 749, A. McDowall Past Prov. Grand Director of Cer. Berks and Bucks, W. W. Morgan S.W. 211, T. Fenn P.G.D., John S. Heine W.M. 538, Samuel Larcombe P.M. 788, F. Binckes P.G. Steward, W. Smallpeice W.M. 969, Henry Green W.M. 19, J. Terry P.P.G.S.W. Norths and Hants, Robert Croft P.M. 198, D. M. Dewar, &c., &c.

The Lodge having been formally opened, the Grand Secretary addressed the brethren. They were met that day on an occasion which would naturally be very interesting in all matters of Freemasonry—to consecrate a new Lodge, and to add one more name to that long roll which at present existed under the Grand Lodge of England, and under which there were at present more Lodges registered than was the case in any Grand Lodge in the world. The brethren were all aware that the Grand Lodge of England did not grant warrants for Lodges limiting them to the admission of any one class of society; but, at the same time, there was no doubt there were many Lodges which practically were instituted for some particular section of the community, and as in London they had among the volunteer forces a very large number of zealous and worthy members of the Masonic Order, it was only to be expected that they should have among themselves Lodges which were more particularly for their benefit and use—Lodges such as the Fitzroy, the Macdonald, and the City of London Rifle Brigade. It happened that among one of the most distinguished of the volunteer regiments were enrolled a great number of brethren of the Order, and it had occurred to some of them lately to endeavour to found a Lodge which should be, to a great extent, for their convenience and use. They had addressed a petition to the Grand Master, and he had been pleased to grant a Warrant for a Lodge, to be called the Queen's Westminster, and to meet at 8A Red Lion-square. It was for the purpose of consecrating this Lodge that they were now met together. The founders had very sensibly and wisely selected as their first Master a brother well known to every class in London for his zeal and energy in every walk of life, and who was most distinguished for his philanthropy and charitableness. The Mason he alluded to was Bro. George Lambert Past Grand Sword Bearer, and an old Past Master. He was sure that under Bro. Lambert and his skilled management the Lodge would progress in a very remarkable manner, and would speedily achieve a highly satisfactory position among the Lodges of the metropolis. The formal consecration of the Lodge was then proceeded with; the oration was given by Bro. the Rev. Ambrose W. Hall Past G. Chaplain, and was listened to with rapt attention. Col. Shadwell Clerke then concluded the ceremony with that due regard to detail which characterises his work. Bro. George Lambert was presented by the Grand Acting Director of Ceremonies, and he was formally installed as first Worshipful Master of the new Lodge. The following were the Officers appointed:—Bros. Captain Probyn P.M. S.W., Capt. Payne J.W., Bombadier Bellerby Treasurer, Serjeant George Coop Secretary, Herbert C. Lambert P.M. 198 P. Prov. G.P. Herts S.D., W. Jones P.M. J.D., Colour-Serj. Jones I.G., Lieut. Watkin Brown W.S., and Staff-Serjeant Bradley Tyler. Bro. G. Lambert was very happy in the selection of his remarks on investing the Officers. It is clear from what he said that the brethren who constitute the working staff have had experience of each others capabilities in another sphere, and doubtless will work well together in the one they have now entered upon. Bro. Colonel Shadwell Clerke then delivered the addresses. On the motion of the W.M., duly seconded, a vote of thanks was ordered to be recorded on the minutes of the Lodge to the Grand Secretary for consecrating the Lodge, and to the other Grand Officers who had assisted. The Lodge also elected these brethren honorary members. After these compliments had been acknowledged by Bro. Colonel Clerke, Lodge was closed. The customary banquet took place at the Holborn Restaurant, where a capital menu was provided by Bro. Hamp, the energetic manager of this popular establishment. On the cloth being cleared the W.M. introduced the Toasts. In proposing the toast of The Queen and the Craft, Freemasons, he said, were especially loyal, and in a Lodge composed of brethren who wore the Queen's uniform the toast should be received with greater warmth, if possible, than elsewhere. The second toast, the M.W. the Grand Master, having received full honours, the W.M. proposed the Pro G.M. the Earl of Carnarvon, the Deputy G.M. the Earl of Lathom, and the rest of the Grand Officers Past and Present, and called on Bro. F. A. Philbrick P.G.D. to reply. Bro. Philbrick said the estimation in which the W.M. of this Lodge, who was also a Grand Officer, was held was a guarantee, if guarantee were wanted, that the traditions of the Craft would be well and worthily upheld by the Queen's Westminster Lodge. With regard to the rest of the Grand Officers, he might assure those who were young Masons that the services of the Grand Officers had ever been at the disposition of the Craft, and had been ungrudgingly given, ofttimes at great cost of time. No efforts had been spared by those who had stood at the helm of the good ship Masonry to make her voyage prosperous. The estimation in which Masonry was held by the public showed that the efforts of the Grand Officers had not been unfavourable, and that its progress and success had not been altogether left to take care of itself, but had been most sedulously watched over, most anxiously guarded, and most devotedly served by those who had been placed in the position of Grand Officers. It was not every day which saw a fresh addition to the rank of Lodges on the roll of Grand Lodge of England, and among the additions it was not every addition that could be looked on as so full of promise as the Queen's Westminster. From the eloquent oration the brethren had listened to they had learned much of the secrets of Masonry's great success and continued prosperity; and, if he might venture to go one step beyond what the Grand Chaplain had said, it was by fidelity to the principles, and the consistency with which the Lodges upheld them, that the progress of Masonry was due. The W.M. was a skilled Mason, a tried veteran of the Craft, and as a Past Grand Officer was called upon to assume a most important and delicate position as Master of this Lodge. It was in the initial steps in the Lodge that the key was centered; it was by zealously guarding the entrance to the Lodge that they would best keep up the high reputation with which it started, and which as an honorary member he was proud it held. It would be a difficult task to an inexperienced Mason to set the standard as it ought to be set in the Lodge, and to keep it up so that the Queen's Westminster might be second to none in the respectability of its members, its excellent working, and its material success. But in the continuance of the great Masonic career of the W.M., which had endeared him to his friends in Masonry, lay the surest pledge that the first year of the Queen's Westminster would be a year of prosperity, which would set working the whole apparatus of the Lodge—a year which would be marked not only by its inauguration, but by the initiation into Masonry of many worthy comrades in arms. The Rev. Bro. Hall proposed the health of the Worshipful Master. In the Lodge he (Brother Hall) had had the high privilege to be allowed to speak on the duties of Masonry; he would now speak for a short time on the private duties that appertained to the Master of a Lodge. He said if it were necessary, because he felt assured that his excellent friend and coadjutor, as a Grand Officer, knew those duties so well that the prosperity of a Lodge could not have been entrusted to better hands, or to a brother who would bring more zeal and energy to the cause. The Lodge had done him (Brother Hall) the high honour to elect him an honorary member. This had been already acknowledged by Colonel Clerke; he now acknowledged it individually, because it gave him an opportunity of saying that his honorary membership would enable him to come again to the Lodge, and see the progress it would make. Although he regretted the absence from the banquet table of the Grand Secretary, who should have proposed the present toast, he did not regret it on his own account, because he was able to pay a tribute of homage to a good Mason, and a good man, and bid all the Officers and members God speed in their new work. He wished the Lodge a glorious career, and that it might take a high place on the roll of Lodges of England. He hardly knew how to say enough of the Wor. Master, or of his Lodge, but he knew, from the present Worshipful Master's long career in Masonry, everything would be done in order. In acknowledgment Bro. Lambert said he was fully impressed with the duties which devolved on a Master taking the chair in a Lodge that had been established for years, but he felt there was a more onerous task before him; to endeavour to conduct a new Lodge, and pilot it into a happy haven. Still, he would endeavour to do his best. In the Lodge, when he was called upon to say what he would do, and how he would carry out the duties, he had said that which he would now repeat—By God's help he would. He knew it was a difficult task to preside over a Lodge and to carry out the work to the full appreciation of every brother, but they must bear with everything that came before them, and therefore he would say that before coming to the chair there were little rocks ahead against which he must have been shipwrecked but for the assistance of the other founders, who were old Past Masters or instructers of Lodges. Therefore they had been enabled to surmount the difficulties and keep their head to the wind. That had been their intention, will, and desire, and no effort of his should be spared, either in Freemasonry or anything else, to carry out his duties to the fullest extent. He considered it a great compliment to have so many Grand Officers present. During 40 years association with Freemasons he had been in the chair several times, and he hoped and trusted his energy would not be diminished, and that he might be all the brethren desired. He should look for their cordial co-operation in bringing the Lodge well to the front. Bro. Frank Richardson P.G.D. responded to the toast of the Consecrating and Installing Officer. Those who had assisted in the consecration felt it a great honour to be elected honorary members of the Lodge. Several other toasts followed; the several speakers all agreeing as to the success which had attended the inauguration of the Lodge, which undoubtedly bids fair to be one of the most successful of those recently established.

Digitized by Google

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our Correspondents.

All Letters must bear the name and address of the Writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return rejected communications.

—:o:—

PROGRESS OF MARK MASONRY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I read your account of the proceedings of the Special Grand Lodge of Mark Masons with peculiar interest. For the moment I thought you had caught the Mark fever, seeing that you devoted so much space to Mark Masonry in connection with the accession to its ranks of the Prince of Wales. Supposing that the caution so strongly enforced on all sides that this act of the Prince of Wales is not to be taken as the forerunner of an attempt at amalgamation with the Craft, is fully realised, I can perceive that not only will harm not arise, but there is every prospect of good coming out of it. Of the inherent value of the Mark degree I do not profess to speak; that it has received the sanction of the highest and best Masons in the land is enough to satisfy me, and, I should think most other people also, that it is a worthy adjunct of, though to be kept separate from, Craft Masonry.

I am not surprised to learn that Mark Masonry has received a great filip in consequence of its recognition by the Prince of Wales, and that Lodges are likely to spring up and the Order develope with great speed. You know the old proverb, Mr. Editor, "the more haste the less speed," and I would commend this lesson to the brethren who now enjoy what may be termed a distinguished position in the Masonic world. There will be no difficulty in multiplying Lodges now, but never was there a time when greater care was needed in the selection of proper candidates. The prosperity that has already been attained by the Mark Grand Lodge, and the still greater prosperity that in all probability will follow, will become a temptation to many to join the body, some it is to be feared with the distinct object of profiting thereby. I trust therefore that those who are members now will not be in too great a hurry to swell their numbers, and that they will carefully weigh the claims and position of every candidate before admitting him to the degree.

Yours fraternally,

MARK.

THE HIGH GRADES OF ANCIENT AND PRIMIMIVE MASONRY.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—Absence from England has prevented my replying earlier to the letters of "YOUR REVIEWER" and "S. J. B." To the former I need only say that I am quite willing to accept his disclaimer of any intended offence, and express my hope that he will excuse anything similar in the warmth of my reply. I regret that he will not concede that others may perhaps have a knowledge of matters with which he may be unacquainted, as I wrote in a great measure from actual acquaintance with my subject, and did not touch cyclopædia literature. Whilst this correspondence has been going on, a gentleman from India, a non-Mason, called upon me with an introduction from the Theosophical Society, and, amongst other matters, mentioned to me how he had become acquainted with the existence of an old occult society in India consisting of several degrees. A Colonel —— had given him a recognised sign which led up to the subject. This Theosophical Society has a branch in London consisting of nine degrees, founded upon the plan of the ancient societies. With brethren of a certain class it is useless to discuss, as their forte is simply to try to crush out all that which the bent of their education does not enable them to comprehend.

With "S. J. B." it is different, and I am bound to admit a slip of the pen, as I have ought to have said G.M., or rather P.G.M., Sayer. There were also a few misprints in my first letter, of which I may here mention two, viz., Norma, should of course be Numa, and I wrote Trinitarian and not Unitarian.

Hyneman's book has several errors, but I quoted it for the sake of the numerous facts confirmatory of my statement. His idea is that the Grand Lodge of 1717 was a rebellious pretender against the authority of the Grand Lodge at York, and that the Ancient Masons were in reality true York Masons. It is certain that York Masonry and Ancient Masonry were identical. But, doubtless, Modern Masonry, as Craft Masonry, was truly the Ancient Craft system, and the so-called Ancient Masons could only claim that designation as a Rite having its existence prior to the establishment of G.L. This is a subject which it is very difficult to discuss without exciting a considerable amount of antagonism. But I adhere to the view propounded in my lecture. It was the practical policy of the G.L. of 1717 to ignore the mention of the G.L. of York, as well as its subordinates: this was politic, but not honest. In Anderson we find mention of only four old Lodges—that is, four assemblies of Masons meeting at four public-houses; but the author of "Multa Paucis" mentions six such, and there may have been many others at a time when such confederations were illegal and nothing written allowed. In 1719 we find it stated that "several old brethren who had neglected the Craft visited the Lodges." And if there were not other Lodges practising a system not recognised by the G.L. of 1717, to whom did Samber in "Long Livers" 1721, address himself on the High Grades, as the G.L. of 1717 repudiated all but the three degrees, and even conferred the last in their own body? It is evident that in 1721 there were Lodges, or at least a Lodge, which recognised certain High Grades, neither possessed or desired by the G.L. of 1717. There are frequent mentions of unrecognised Masons, and of those hailing from the Holy Lodge of St. John of Jerusalem, and it is to them that we are indebted for the Seven Degree Rite of the Ancient Masons. As those were not Modern Masons they were Ancient York Masons, and after 1739 simply Ancients: for the peculiarity of these Ancients was that their system was identical with that of the G.L. of All England at York. Several writers of the period allude to the Rosicrucian proclivities of this section, and old Ephraim Chambers says that "there are some Free Masons who have all the character of Rosicrucians."

As I said before, Hyneman claims that all the Schismatics denounced by G.L. were Ancient York Masons, and after 1739 simply Ancient Masons. That the variations between Anderson's 1723 and 1738 charges were made to conciliate the Ancients, and in this I perfectly agree. He shows, also, that the Lodge Lists of Anderson and Entick are irreconcilable, and one or both of them are false. That in 1717 there were 4 Lodges; in 1721, 12 to 20; in 1722, 24; and in 1723, 25; yet in 1723 there are only 10 known Lodges. Numerous were the schisms; in 1722 Wharton collected a few Masons irregularly and got himself elected G.M. In 1730 Sayer was reprimanded for attending schismatic Lodges. In 1734 resolutions were passed against what G.L. calls illegal conventions of Masons. These dissensions increased down to 1739, when Raymond ordered an inquiry. Then followed the erasure of about two-fifths of the Lodges. In 1742 there were 3 erased; in 1743, 7; in 1744, 2; in 1745, 20; in 1746, 4; in 1748, 4; in 1752, 3; in 1754, 21. In 1755 the Ancients had become well established, and for over 15 years there had been, according to Preston and others, bad blood between the G.L.'s of York and London. Fresh restrictions were passed against the Ancients in 1755, and it could have been no light matter occasioned all this turmoil against a body so highly patronised by noble personages as was the G.L. of 1717.

The facts indicate, however, that modern historians are correct in stating that the 1739 organisers of the Ancients were, chiefly, schismatics who had seceded from the G.L. of 1717, but for the remote origin of that schism I assert that we must advance to about the year 1686, when some Lodge, or Lodges, adopted a ritual of the Holy Lodge of St. John with certain high degrees. Last century this ritual claimed the year 1686 as the period of its revival, and inquiry is in favour of the record or tradition.

However, I am not anxious to discuss this matter any further, but have drafted certain heads for extended inquiry. I am not much interested in the question, as I have more important matters with which to occupy my time. It is a question of antiquarian examination only, and is in no way intended to hint a precedent action. My intention is to bespeak a conscientious tolerance for all rites outside the Craft equally, and without bias to any particular system. The Masonic feeling, at present, seems to me to be neither good, just or tolerant, and therefore I rather prefer to withdraw gradually from Masonry altogether. In the Antient and Primitive Rite of Masonry we are able to gratify the conscientious scruples of those Masons who desire high-grade instruction, and object to Christian Masonry on religious grounds. We are universalists, and admit all religions equally; we only desire to be left alone, we are quite indifferent whether we become a powerful organisation or a weak one, or whether our members are socially great or small. We rather prefer a small and compact organisation of kindred spirits to a large and heterogonous rite.

Yours truly and fraternally,

JOHN YARKER P.M. P.M.K.M. P.Z. &c.

Witherington, near Manchester,
14th December 1883.

FIRE AT FREEMASONS' HALL!

LARGE photographs of the Temple, taken immediately after the fire, on 8th May (suitable for framing), 5s each; or framed in oak, securely packed, sent to any address in the United Kingdom, carriage paid, on receipt of cheque for 15s. Masters of Lodges should secure this memorial of the old Temple for their Lodge rooms.

W. G. PARKER, Photographer, 40 High Holborn, W.C.

Established 25 years.

Digitized by Google

THE IMPERIAL HOTEL,

HOLBORN-VIADUCT, LONDON,

Adjoining the Terminus of the London Chatham and Dover Railway, but distinct from the Viaduct Hotel.

THE BEST FURNISHED AND MOST COMFORTABLE HOTEL IN LONDON.
HOT & COLD WATER LAID ON IN ALL BED ROOMS.
The appointments throughout so arranged as to ensure domestic comfort.

EVERY ACCOMMODATION FOR MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS,
Public Dinners & Wedding Breakfasts.

The Crusaders Lodge, No. 1677, and Perseverance Lodge, No. 1743, hold their meetings at this establishment.

GOOD COOKING. FINE WINES. MODERATE CHARGES.
The Edison Electric Light.
TARIFF on APPLICATION to Bro. A. BEGBIE.

HOLLY BUSH TAVERN, HAMPSTEAD,

(Close to the Fire Station).

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; BALLS and ASSEMBLIES; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c. Rail and Bus within easy distance.

The members of the St. John's Lodge, No. 167, have held their meetings at this establishment for many years.

Full particulars and Tariff on application to
C. M. FROUD, Proprietor.

THE BOLTON HOTEL,

DUKE ROAD, CHISWICK,

A few Minutes from three Railway Stations—the Chiswick and Hammersmith on the North London; the Chiswick, on the South Western; and the Metropolitan, Turnham Green.

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c.

The Chiswick Lodge holds its Meetings here. "The 'Bolton' is a cosy and very pleasant home."—Vide Masonic Press.

Tariff and particulars promptly supplied.
THOMAS WRIGHT, Proprietor.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL SPECIAL BUILDING FUND.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

In connection with such Special Fund, attainable until 31st December 1883.

y present Life Governor of the General Fund, or any Donor who ay qualify as such up to the date named above, will receive—

TWO VOTES,—instead of One Vote, for LIFE, for every FIVE GUINEAS contributed to the "Special Fund."

Lodges, Chapters, &c., similarly qualified may secure Two Votes instead of One Vote—for every Ten Guineas contributed to the "Special Fund."

 Ladies, and "Lewises"—being minors—similarly qualified, and all Vice-Presidents, will receive FOUR Votes for every Five Guineas so contributed.

Contributors of less than Five Guineas, to the "Special Fund," will be entitled to Votes as under ordinary conditions.

Now Ready, Crown 8vo, 96 pp,

Price One Shilling,

Free by Post on receipt of 24 Halfpenny Stamps,

OCCASIONAL PAPERS
ON
THE HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.

Written expressly for delivery in Lodges of Instruction.

London: W. W. MORGAN,
Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N.
AND BY ORDER OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

Secretaries of Lodges of Instruction can be supplied carriage free, at 10/- per dozen.

PAUL & BURROWS,

MANUFACTURERS OF
SODA WATER AND SELTZER WATER,
LEMONADE AND GINGER BEER,
GINGER ALE AND POTASH WATER,
&c. &c.
FIRST CLASS QUALITY ONLY
WILSON and ENDELL STREETS, LONG ACRE, LONDON, W.C.
ESTABLISHED EIGHTY YEARS.

GREAT WESTERN RAILWAY.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS.

SPECIAL LATE TRAIN.

A SPECIAL LATE TRAIN, 1, 2, 3 Class, will be run from PADDINGTON STATION at MIDNIGHT on Saturday and Monday, 22nd and 24th December, for Reading, Didcot, Swindon, Bath, BRISTOL, Bridgwater, Taunton, EXETER, Dawlish, Teignmouth, Newton Abbot, TORQUAY, TOTNES, Kingsbridge Road, PLYMOUTH, and all Stations between Plymouth and Penzance.

For further particulars see Special Bills.

J. GRIERSON, General Manager.

VOTES AND INTEREST ARE SOLICITED FOR

MRS. JANE TRIBE, aged 63,

WIDOW of Brother George Henry Tribe, who was initiated 1858 in No. 604, Lyttelton, New Zealand; joined No. 609, Christchurch, New Zealand; was first Worshipful Master of No. 1241, Ross, New Zealand; subsequently District Grand Chaplain Westland; and District Grand Treasurer North Island, New Zealand.

Votes thankfully received by
Mr. C. BECKINGHAM, 415 Strand; or by
Bro. C. J. PERCEVAL (V.P.), 8 Thurloe Place, S.W.

SECOND APPLICATION, April 1884.

To the Governors and Subscribers of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

THE favour of the VOTES and INTEREST of the Governors and Subscribers is earnestly solicited on behalf of

LIONEL BLENKINSOP J. MANBY,
AGED 9 YEARS.

The Candidate's father, Bro. John G. Manby, was initiated in the Sincerity Lodge, No. 292, Liverpool, in 1859, and on his removal to London joined Prudent Brethren Lodge, No. 145, and the Chapter, and continued to be a subscribing member of the same until his death, which took place in January 1883. He leaves a widow and four young children very inadequately provided for.

Proxies will be thankfully received by the widow, Mrs. MANBY, Ashwick Cottage, Oakhill, Bath.

BRO. R. HIRST engages to provide, at short notice, an efficient Band for Annual Banquets, Dinners, Excursions and Quadrille Parties. For terms apply to "R. Hirst, The Three Crowns, 237 Mile End Road, E."

Twelfth Edition, post free, One Shilling.

DR. WATTS on ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS. A Treatise on the only successful Method of Curing these Diseases. By Robert G. Watts, M.D., F.R.S.L., F.C.S., &c., 5 Bulstrode-street, Cavendish-sq., London.
London: C. Mitchell and Co., Red Lion-court, Fleet-street; and Simpkin and Co., Stationers' Hall-court

RANDOM NOTES AND REFLECTIONS.

THERE are not wanting signs of a sharp, if not of a bitter contest for the office of Grand Treasurer. Already the conflict has begun, and, as is very often the case, first principles are forgotten, if not deliberately avoided. An elective office necessarily involves the right of nomination and choice. If the election takes place yearly, there may be an annual change, unless circumstances and custom determine otherwise. For instance, the Most Worshipful Grand Master is elected yearly, but it would be perfect madness to propose a rival candidate to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. In some cases of elective offices, it may be the duties are of such a character as to require special knowledge and experience to discharge, and no one would think of changing the representatives more frequently than was absolutely necessary. Where, however, the office is chiefly of an honorary character, there is no reason why the holder thereof should not be changed every year. This principle was fairly established when Bro. Allcroft was elected, and although the brethren who now wish to appoint him for a second year are clearly within their abstract right, they are wrong in the face of the understanding expressed, or implied, arrived at last year.

—:o:—

It is contended that the meeting held by the supporters of Bro. Horace Brooks Marshall was a challenge. To whom? Not, surely, to the supporters of Bro. Allcroft, who already fills the office of Grand Treasurer. As he represents the principle of a yearly change, it cannot with fairness be urged that his friends were bound to put him forward again. All this outcry about arousing bad feeling comes with an ill grace from those who unnecessarily take up a position that cannot be justified except upon the ground of unfitness of any other candidate. If the elective principle be admitted to its natural limit, there could be no impropriety in naming any suitable brother for the office of Grand Treasurer, even four or five months before the time of election. It should be remembered that Grand Lodge, except under peculiar circumstances, only meet once a quarter, and as the nominations were made only a fortnight ago, and the meeting in favour of Bro. Marsball preceded them by a very short time, it does not appear that any undue haste has been manifested. We confess we do not understand the brethren who issued the circular in favour of Bro. Allcroft. It was open to them to propose some other brother, and no one could reasonably object to such a course. In adopting Bro. Allcroft they have sown the seed of discord, that is, if discord is to come at all. They challenge the decision arrived at last year, and they are open to the suspicion of making the office of Grand Treasurer a sinecure in the hands of a self-elected Caucus. We have before said that we have no complaint to make against Bro. Allcroft, nor under ordinary circumstances should we object to his re-appointment. But if the elective right is anything but a name, if it is a reality and not a sham, then the yearly election of Grand Treasurer should be as free as it is possible to make an open contest.

Digitized by Google

—:o:—

"Comparisons are odious"—or "odorous," as Mrs. Malaprop has it—and we approach them with diffidence. It is urged that Bro. Marshall is a very young Mason, and has not yet won his spurs. It would be difficult to set up a test of qualification for preferment that should satisfy all persons. We are not aware of any canon whereby judgment can be determined, and we certainly shall not enter upon the delicate question of personal fitness. It will be enough for our purpose if we take the broad facts. Bro. Allcroft is an old Mason, it is true; but for many years he ceased to take an active interest in the Craft. Practically, his standing is not older than that of Bro. Marshall. The argument as to age and experience at once fails, and what members of Grand Lodge have to consider are (1) the principle of yearly election, and the right it gives; and (2) the essential qualifications of the candidates before them. To our minds, Bro. Allcroft does not answer to the first condition, and, therefore, the second cannot be applied to him.

—:o:—

Those who take pleasure in matters relating to the constitution, age, and locality of Lodges will be interested in Bro. Jacob Norton's letter that appeared in last week's CHRONICLE. Without traversing the facts of the special case he therein names, it is only just to him to state that he discovered a blunder in his copy, and sent the correction to us. By an oversight, the second letter was forgotten, and in consequence the mistake has appeared. We now desire to remedy the omission. Immediately following the list of names as belonging to the doubtful "79" Lodge, given in a record quoted, was the following paragraph:

> The lists of the names of the members of the Lodges in the said record were copied from reports made to the G.L. early in 1730, when Lord Lovel was G.M.

Now, instead of 1730, it should be 1731, for Lord Lovel was not the G.M. before the latter year. We apologise to Bro. Norton for the mistake that occurred, and trust the correction now given will make amends for our omission.

—:o:—

Bro. Thomas Wright, of the Bolton Hotel, Duke Road, Chiswick, has sent us a copy of his Presentation Diary and Almanack for 1884. It is a very neat little pocket companion, and a novelty in style and arrangement. In addition to the diary and calendar, there is much useful information as well as something amusing. The prices current contains all that the public can desire in the shape of wines, spirits, and beer. Few establishments, we should think, can offer such a choice. It is not long since we referred to the fitting up and accommodation at this hotel, and we now find that Bro. Wright has framed a tariff of charges for dinners for large and small parties which cannot fail to meet all wants. We know by experience how well Bro. Wright can cater, and those who need a centre of meeting on any special occasion will find every requirement at the "Bolton."

—:o:—

What is done so well in the West is not less efficiently carried out by Bro. Froud in the North. The conveniences at the Holly Bush, Hampstead, are on rather an extensive scale, but small as well as large parties can be served with all they desire. Bro. Froud's experience well fits him for the duties of caterer, and he is most ably supported by Mrs. Froud, who superintends the culinary department with all the skill of an adept in the art of management. The large assembly room at the Holly Bush is admirably adapted for balls and concerts, and having a separate carriage entrance, it is peculiarly fitted for any public or private purpose. A very old Lodge meets at this house, St. John's, No. 167. In looking over some records, we found that Bro. Samuel Aldrich, W.M. of the St. John's Lodge in 1856, lamented the financial condition of the Benevolent Institution, which precluded the possibility of admitting any annuitants on its funds during that year. He made a suggestion to meet the difficulty, and promised, in the name of St. John's Lodge, not only to support the Benevolent Institution, but also the other Charities, so that all should not be sent empty away. Bro. Aldrich made an earnest appeal, and we know that such a failure as he referred to in 1856 is scarcely possible now.

—:o:—

We are not disposed to give undue prominence to American Freemasonry. In all essential points the English body stand in the first rank of the Craft. Still there are some things worthy of imitation, even in America, and one of them is the interest taken in the formation of Masonic libraries. The Grand Lodge of New York are, at the present time, devoting care and money to their library, and have just succeeded in adding some rare works to their stock. We should be glad to hear of a similar movement in this country. We have a library, it is true, but who knows anything about it? how, or under what circumstances it can be used? Until the brethren themselves take more interest in this matter, it is scarcely likely that anything substantial will be done either to extend the library or make it more accessible. The Craft have the future in their hands, and we should be glad to hear that they were bestirring themselves.

—:o:—

Special arrangements have been made by the London and North Western Railway for the Christmas Holidays, and when the districts this line serves are considered, it will be found that the company offer no slight boon to the public. They run fast trains to such large centres as Birmingham, which is reached in three hours, and to Liverpool and Manchester in four and a half hours. Similar quick times are observed with regard to Edinburgh and Glasgow and the more northern parts of the same country. The company also provide omnibuses for family parties at very many of their stations, and undertake to deliver passengers' luggage under conditions highly convenient to travellers. Whether persons go from or come to London, they will find that the London and North Western Railway Company have met the wants that are likely to arise in a spirited and enterprising manner.

—:o:—

Bro. James Willing jun. announces that, owing to the large increase of his business as a Government and General Newspaper Advertising Contractor, he has been compelled to remove to more extensive premises, situate at 125 Strand, W.C. (Corner of Savoy Street), exactly opposite the premises lately occupied by him. We congratulate our worthy brother on this evidence of his success, and we trust his energy will be still further rewarded.

—:o:—

We understand it is intended to give a Masonic ball in Lancaster, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to a Masonic Charity. The Ex-Mayor and one of the oldest Town Councillors waited on the Mayor of Lancaster to ask for the use of the Town Hall (as a matter of course offering payment), but, we regret to learn, permission for the Hall being used for such a purpose was refused.

—:o:—

We have been requested to state, that in future the meetings of the Emblematic Lodge of Instruction, No. 1321, will be held at the Rose Tavern, Jermyn Street. The day of meeting will henceforth be Tuesday. The brethren assemble at 8 o'clock.

Digitized by Google

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

Prosperity Lodge of Instruction, No. 65.—At Bro. Maidwell's, Leadenhall-street, on Tuesday. Bros. Haynes W.M., Valentine S.W., Schadler J.W., Walker S.D. and Secretary, Buggins I.G., Moss Preceptor; also Bros. Roberts, Daniel, Maidwell, Fraser, Sainte. After preliminaries, the second degree was rehearsed, Bro. Roberts candidate. The W.M. vacated the chair in favour of Bro. Schadler, and the ceremony of installation was rehearsed; Bro. Moss was installed in the chair of K.S. Bro. Moss duly invested his Officers. Bro. Haynes resumed the chair, and Bro. Valentine was appointed W.M. for second Tuesday in January. A vote of thanks was recorded on the minutes for the excellent way in which Bro. Schadler had rehearsed the ceremony of installation. Lodge was then adjourned until the second Tuesday in January 1884.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—Held at the Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N., on 15th December. Bros. Moss W.M., Gush S.W., Godolphin J.W., Wright J.D., Gellen J.D., Ashton I.G., Pearcy Preceptor, Fenner Treasurer, Galer Secretary, and twenty-seven other brethren. Lodge was opened in due form, and minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Moss proceeded to work the sections of the lecture, assisted by Bros. Ashton, Galer, Prager, Fenner, Musto, Gush, and Powell. Lodge opened in the second degree, and the W.M. worked the sections of the second lecture, assisted by Bros. Musto jun., Musto sen., Weeden, Parnell, and Gush. Lodge was opened in the third, and the W.M. worked the sections of that lecture, assisted by Bros. Cohen, Galer, and Pearcy. Lodge was resumed, and Bro. Saunders, of the Stanhope Lodge; Bro. Harding, of the Temperance Lodge; Bros. Walmore and Turner, of the Kingsland; and Bro. Musto, of the Friars, were unanimously elected members. Cordial votes of thanks were accorded to Bro. Moss for his able working, and to the brethren who had assisted him. Nothing further offering for the good of Freemasonry, the Lodge was closed in ancient form, and adjourned to Saturday, the 22nd instant. Brethren are reminded that the second monthly meeting of the Masonic Association in connection with this Lodge of Instruction will be held on Saturday, the 29th instant, at the above address. Those who have not yet assisted the Charities should avail themselves of this easy method of making themselves Life Governors. For those who desire further information, we may add the Secretary's address is 12 Green Lanes, Stoke Newington, N.

St. Michael's Lodge, No. 211.—A meeting of this Lodge was held at the Albion, Aldersgate Street, on Tuesday, the 11th inst., when the W.M., Brother F. J. Hentsch, opened his Lodge at 6 p.m., supported by Bros. Past Masters Usher Back, Charles Greenwood Past Grand Sword Bearer (Treasurer), Alfred Green, Alfred Withers, William Radcliffe (Secretary); W. W. Morgan S.W., T. H. Peirce J.W., Henry Martin S.D., E. Thring J.D., Thomas Crapper I.G., Henry Lindfield, F. T. Bennett, Henry Green, A. Dixon, P. J. Burr, J. R. Maples, W. G. Aires, F. J. Goodall, &c. After the minutes of last regular meeting had been read and confirmed, the ballot was taken for Mr. Arthur Walter Hartley, who was proposed by Brother Burr and seconded by Brother Martin S.D. The result was in favour of the candidate, who was introduced and initiated by the W.M., who conducted the ceremony in a careful and painstaking manner. The case of a distressed brother was brought under consideration, and he was assisted, the sum of two guineas being voted from Lodge funds. Several propositions for joining and initiations were handed in, and after routine work Lodge was closed. The brethren afterwards spent a social hour together.

ST. JOHN'S LODGE, BOLTON, No. 221.

THE monthly meeting was held on Wednesday, the 19th instant, at the Commercial Hotel, Bolton, at half-past five o'clock in the evening. Bros. Isherwood W.M., Edwin Melrose S.W., Peter Bradburn J.W., G. P. Brockbank Treasurer, Charles Crompton S.D., James Walker J.D., H. J. Briscoe Organist, W. H. Chambers I.G., R. Cuerden and W. Siddon Stewards, Thomas Higson Tyler; Past Masters Boothroyd, Morris, Rutter P. Prov. Grand Steward, and Taylor P. Prov. Grand Organist; Bros. Haslam, Chirnside, Bradley, Fletcher, Makin, Swarbrick, Crompton, Sugden, Forrest. Visitors—R. Duxbury W.M. 146, E. G. Harwood J.W. 1723, R. H. Phillips S.D. 348, Greenhalgh 113, Crankshaw W.M. 348. The minutes of the last meeting having been confirmed, Bro. Crompton passed a satisfactory examination as to his proficiency as an Entered Apprentice, and having been entrusted, retired. Lodge proceeded to the second degree, when Bros. Makin and Swarbrick passed a satisfactory examination as Craftsmen, and, after the usual forms, were separately introduced and respectively raised to the degree of Master Mason; the former by the W.M., and the latter by Bro. Boothroyd. The working tools of the degree were explained to them, and then Lodge closed to the second degree, and Bro. Crompton was passed by the W.M., the working tools of that degree being explained by the Senior Warden, Bro. Melrose. Later on, Bro. Melrose was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing year. Bro. Brockbank was re-elected Treasurer. Bros. Haslam and Chirnside were elected Auditors of the Treasurer's accounts. It was agreed to celebrate the Festival of St. John on the ordinary Lodge night, 16th January 1 84. The thanks of the Lodge were accorded to Bro. Isherwood for the able and energetic manner in which he had discharged the duties of W M. for the past year, and it was resolved that a Past Master's jewel be presented to him at the Festival. Bro. Brockbank reported that he had attended the last meeting of the G.L. of England, on the occasion of settling the draft of the newly-revised Book of Constitutions, which have now become law, and binding upon the members of the Craft. Hearty good wishes were expressed by the Visiting brethren, and the Lodge closed in peace and harmony at eight p.m.

LODGE OF GOOD FELLOWSHIP, No. 276.

THE annual meeting of the above Lodge was held at the Corn Exchange, Chelmsford, on Thursday, 13th inst. Lodge was opened at three o'clock, the chair being occupied by Bro. W. J. Upton W.M., who was supported by the following Officers, Past Masters, Members and Visitors:—Bros. E. Shedd I.P.M., Arthur Mead S.W., Rev. F. B. Shepherd P.M. P.P.G. Chap. Chaplain, F. Whitmore Treasurer, Andrew C. Durrant S.D., A. G. Maskell J.D., Wilson Metcalfe I.G., A. Durrant P.M. P.P.G.S.W. Prov. G. Treas. M.C., C. Williams Steward, Thos. S. Sarel Tyler; P.M.'s Bros. A. F. Ginn P.P.G.S.B., J. P. Lewin P.P.G. Supt. of Works, A. Goodchild P.P.G.D., J. S. Brown P.P.G.S.D. and E. Shedd; also Bros. J. W. Hair P.P.G.R., T. W. Smith, J. Tomlinson, J. Taylor, R. Smith, T. J. D. Cramphorn, W. Winhall, T. R. Jarvis, A. Haxell, F. H. Meggy, E. Durrant, J. C. Creswell and W. Wood. Visitors—Bros. T. J. Ralling Prov. G. Sec., R. Clowes P.M. Prov. G.S.W., E. Robbins P.M. 193 and 276, D. Liddall 157, C. Stuart Barker 1632, F. Bird I.P.M. 1024 Prov. G.P., M. Mildred 1719, J. A. Reed 1228, E. Gowers 1024 P.P.G.O., R. Smith J.W. 1977 Prov. G. Steward, H. Duke 417, T. J. D. Cramphorn W.M. 1024, T. J. Smith W.M. 194, G. A. Eustace W.M. 697, T. Eustace W.M. 1977 P.P.G.S.B., J. Taylor jun. S.W. 1817, H. G. Everard W.M. 650, S. Lord W.M. 433, J. E. Wiseman P.M. 433 P.P.G.A.D.C., J. C. Earles W.M. 214, C. Osmond W.M. 51 P.P.G.O., M. L. Sanders J.W. 650, &c. Lodge having been opened, the W.M. proceeded to raise Bro. F. H. Meggy, at the conclusion of which the W.M. vacated the chair, which was thereupon taken by Bro. E. Robbins P.M. 193 and 276, who acted as Installing Master, and who ably performed the impressive ceremony of installing the W.M. elect (Bro. Arthur Mead S.W.) into the chair. The newly-installed W.M. then appointed and invested the Officers of the Lodge for the ensuing year, as follows:—W. J. Upton I.P.M., F. P. Sutthery S.W., A. C. Durrant J.W., Rev. F. B. Shepherd Chap., F. Whitmore Treasurer, J. Nicholls P.M. P.P.G.J.W. Secretary, A. G. Maskell S.D., W. Metcalfe J.D., C. Williams I.G., A. Durrant M.C., T. Winniatt Smith Organist, W. Langham and T. R. Jervis Stewards, and T. S. Sarel Provincial G. Tyler Tyler. Bro. Fred. Whitmore then moved, and Bro. Goodchild seconded, the election of the W.M. as the representative of the Lodge on the Charity Committee of the Province. The motion having been carried and acknowledged, the Worshipful Master proposed that a cordial vote of thanks should be tendered to Bro. Robbins, and entered on the minutes, for the admirable manner in which he had that day discharged his onerous duties of Installing Master. The W.M. added that Bro. Robbins initiated him into Freemasonry. Bro. Goodchild seconded the motion, which was carried with acclamation, and Bro. Robbins having briefly responded, the W.M. received the hearty good wishes, and the Lodge was closed. At six o'clock the brethren proceeded to the White Hart Hotel, where the annual banquet was thoroughly well served under the personal supervision of Bro. A. Haxell, who did his utmost for the comfort of his guests. Bro. Arthur Mead, the W.M., occupied the chair; and at the close of the repast, the usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly proposed and honoured. Bro. A. Durrant, in proposing the health of the W.M., stated that since his initiation into Freemasonry Bro. Mead had scarcely if ever missed a Lodge meeting, and he had gone through the various offices leading up to the chair with great efficiency. The toast list was interspersed with an excellent programme of music, the performers being Bros. E. Gowers, J. P. Lewin, R. Clowes, C. Osmond, A. C. Durrant, J. A. Reed, T. Winniatt Smith, R.A.M., F. P. Sutthery, and W. Liddell. The menu was artistically illustrated with portraits of the Officers, by Mr. Tom Hunt, of Chelmsford.

POLISH NATIONAL LODGE, No. 534.

THE usual monthly meeting of this Lodge took place on Thursday 13th instant, at Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen-street. Bros. E. T. Smith W.M., Lancaster I.P.M., Runtz S.W., Birling J.W., Tongue J.D., Jorden I.G.; P.M.'s W. Paas Secretary, Nowakowski Treasurer, Dr. Corrie Jackson and Dr. V. Jagielski. The business of the evening consisted in balloting for and initiating Mr. Thomas Potts Thompson, who was proposed by Bro. Beiling J.W. and seconded by Bro. Dr. Jagielski P.M. These gentlemen were elected and initiated into the Order. Bro. Davenport was then raised to the sublime degree in equally perfect manner; both the ceremonies were performed by the W.M. Other business having been transacted, Lodge was closed in the usual way, and the brethren retired for refreshment, when they spent a pleasant evening. The following Visitors were present—Bros. Saegert P.M. 548, Dalé 1613, Durrams 1305, Laker 1599, and Bradford Pierpoint 1452.

GREY FRIARS LODGE, No. 1101.

A REGULAR meeting of this Lodge, the first since the Installation meeting, was held on Wednesday, the 18th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Reading. Officers present—Bros. W. W. Ridley W.M., R. Dowsett I.P.M., J. S. Hawke S.W., R. C. Prickett J.W., J. T. Stranson Treasurer, W. P. Ivey P.M. Secretary, J. Greenaway Assist. Secretary, W. Ravenscroft S.D., H. Creed J.D., W. Hickie Organist, W. Cordrey I.G., M. Sands Steward, W. Hemmings Tyler; P.M.'s W. Ferguson, E. J. Blackwell, A. Welch, E. Margrett; Bros. Slaughter, Coates, Sparrow, Morris, Egginton, Parkes, Knight, James; Visitors—Bros. H. R. Lucker P.P.D.G.M. Herefordshire, P.P.G.S.W. Gloucestershire P.M. 702, 338, 1067, S. Wheeler S.W.

Digitized by Google

414, F. J. Ferguson W.M. 414, Bance Secretary 1714. Lodge was opened and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The ballot was taken for Messrs. Ernest W. Ridley, and Mr. S. Biggs, resulting in their approval. Bros. Hukins, Parkes, and Coates were elected on the Permanent Committee. Lodge was opened in the second degree, and Bros. Eggiuton and Morris gave satisfactory proof of their proficiency and were entrusted. After these brethren had retired Lodge was opened in the third degree. The candidates were re-admitted and raised to the sublime degree of M.M. The I.P.M. performed the ceremony in favour of the former, and P.M. Ferguson of the latter candidate. The address was given by the I.P.M., and the working tools presented by P.M. Ferguson. The ceremonies were admirably performed, the effect being heightened by instrumental and vocal music, under the direction of Bro. Hickie Organist. A joining member was proposed, the ballot to be taken at the next meeting, and, after the usual ceremonies, Lodge was closed. The brethren retired for refreshment to the Ship Hotel, where an excellent supper was provided by Bro. Bailey. A very agreeable evening resulted.

Burgoyne Lodge of Instruction, No. 902.—This Lodge of Instruction held its usual weekly meeting at Bro. Austin's, Victoria Hotel, 25 Charterhouse-street, E.C. Present—Bros. Batty W.M., Frost P.M., &c. Preceptor, Salter S.W., Chretien J.W., Cross S.D., Fidler I.G., and several other brethren. The Lodge was opened in due form, and minutes of the previous meeting read and confirmed. Second and third degrees were rehearsed, and the traditional history given by the W.M. Bro. Salter was voted for W.M. at the next meeting, which takes place on Wednesday, 2nd January 1884, and a good attendance of brethren is expected.

Ravensbourne Lodge of Instruction, No. 1601.—This Lodge of Instruction held its weekly meeting on Tuesday, 18th inst., at Bro. Walter Smith, the George Inn, Lewisham. There were present Bros. Shaw P.M. and Preceptor W.M., Williams S.W., Lane J.W., Broadbridge S.D., Wadsworth I.G., Wright J.D., and several other brethren. The Lodge was opened in due form, and minutes of previous meeting confirmed. The ceremony of passing was rehearsed. Bro. Batty was elected W.M. for the next meeting, which will take place on Tuesday evening, the 1st January 1884, at 7·30.

Kingsland Lodge of Instruction, No. 1693.—A meeting was held on Monday, 17th December, at Bro. Baker's, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N. Present—Bros. Brock W.M., Western S.W., Treadwell J.W., Defriez S.D., Collingridge Sec. J.D., Wheelock I.G., Cusworth P.M. acting Preceptor, and other brethren. After preliminaries the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed, Bro. Turner candidate. Bro. Brock delivered the charge very impressively. Bro. Turner answered the questions leading to the second degree, and in due course the ceremony of passing was rehearsed. Lodge was closed in due form, and adjourned till 31st December, which, being the fifth Monday in the month, will be Officers' night.

W. Bro. Quartermaster-Sergeant Farr, R.E., was, on Friday sennight, presented, at the Cambridge Hotel, Shoeburyness, with the jewel of a Provincial Grand Sword Bearer, as a mark of the esteem in which he is held by the members of the St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 1817, of which he is a Past Master. Bro. Farr, after being in the service twenty years, has just retired on a pension, and his genial presence will no doubt be greatly missed by the garrison officials, with whom he was very popular.

Bro. Charles Duval, whose Monologue is rapidly approaching its 150th representation, will appear on Boxing Day and the Christmas week in the Moore and Burgess Room, St. James's Hall, at two performances daily. Bro. Du Val's programme will receive the addition of some new "Speaking Likenesses," his "Five Act Drama," and a number of impersonations from his repertoire with which the London public have not yet become familiar. During the interim fresh ventilators and additional stalls will be placed in Bro. Du Val's St. James's Drawing Room.

A New Masonic Lodge was consecrated at Alton, on 13th inst., by the Prov. Grand Master, W. W. B. Beach, Esq., M.P., who was assisted by the Officers of the Province, including Bros. Hickman D.P.G.M., M. E. Frost P.G.S.W., Revs. Arnold and Barker P.G. Chaplains, R. J. Rastrick P.G Treasurer, J. G. Le Fouvre P.G. Sec., Hickley P.G.S.D., &c. There was a large attendance of brethren from Winchester and Farnham, and many Provincial Officers of Surrey. The new Lodge, which is designated the Shalden Lodge, is the first Lodge at Alton. Bro. Major William Shalden was installed as the W.M., Bro. H. Harbour being installed S.W., and Bro. T. G. Timbrell J.W.—Portsmouth Times.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—Cough, Influenza.—The soothing properties of these medicaments render them well worthy of trial in all diseases of the respiratory organs. In common colds and influenza, the Pills, taken internally, and the Ointment rubbed over the chest and throat, are exceedingly efficacious. When influenza is epidemic, this treatment is the easiest, safest, and surest. Holloway's Pills purify the blood, remove all obstacles to its free circulation through the lungs, relieve the over-gorged air tubes, and render respirations free, without reducing the strength, irritating the nerves, or depressing the spirits; such are the ready means of saving suffering when any one is afflicted with cold, coughs, bronchitis, and other chest complaints, by which so many persons are seriously and permanently afflicted in most countries.

WHICH SHALL GOVERN?

When men unite themselves together as a body, association, or society for any purpose, the first thing they do is to adopt a code of laws for their government. In all voluntary organizations of this sort the laws so formed are the express will of all those who are to be governed by them, whether voting for or against them, because they are bound to accept the will of a majority as their own. When so enacted they must be obeyed, not only by the majority who voted for them, but by the minority as well, for the same obligation rests upon the one as the other. Such laws, however, may be changed at any time in such manner as may be provided in them for alterations or amendments, or new ones enacted, should there be occasion for them.

Of course, all fundamental principles must be maintained inviolate, in order to preserve the institution in accordance with its original design.

It is a general rule of practice in all deliberative bodies, in the decision of all matters coming before them on which a vote is taken, that a majority shall govern. There may be a few exceptions requiring a two-thirds or three-fourths vote, or even unanimity, but unless so specially provided for, a majority decides all questions. Such is also the practice in Masonic bodies except so far as pertains to a secret ballot. A majority vote of the members present expresses the will of a Lodge, and after a vote has been taken, it is as much the duty of those who voted in a minority to sustain the action as if they had voted with the majority. This, we think, is sound Masonic doctrine, in accordance with the principles and teachings of Masonry, and as such is generally accepted by well informed Masons.

We have endeavoured to define our position clearly upon this point before copying a short article from the last number of the Voice of Masonry, to which we wish to reply briefly. The Voice says:—

"The Masonic Advocate has taken its place in the ranks of the conquesting theorists in forming Grand Lodges. It cannot see why minorities should have any rights, in such cases, that should be respected. It forgets that oft the one black cube is right and all the white balls wrong, and that it was Satan who ruined Paradise. We do not believe in any dissent when a Grand Lodge is to be formed, but, should there be any, we insist that it shall be overcome by fraternal love,—not by coercion and outlawry. We are right, and will not swerve from our duty."

Every Grand Lodge in the United States we believe, with one exception, has decided that it is the right of three or more Lodges, or a majority of them when more than three, working in the State or Territory in which no Grand Lodge has been established, to unite and form a Grand Lodge for such State or Territory, and when so formed it shall have exclusive jurisdiction within it. This we hold to be good Masonic law and practice, and for this opinion the Advocate is charged with being a "conquesting theorist" by the Voice, which holds to the doctrine that no Grand Lodge can thus be formed, should there be one Lodge unwilling to enter into the organisation. There may be five, ten or twenty Lodges in favour of it and only one opposed, but the Voice would have the one control all the rest. This is its idea of how the rights of the minority must be respected. We do not take any stock in such foolishness, and are happy to say there are but very few Masons who do.

But what can Bro. Brown mean when he says, "It forgets that oft the one black cube is right and all the white balls wrong, and that it was Satan who ruined Paradise." He says that he is right, and must therefore be the black cube among the white balls, but how about the balance of the quotation? We must confess our inability to discover the point Bro. Brown would make in his favour by representing the author of that little trouble that occurred way back in the honeymoon of Paradise. The illustration is too far-fetched for our comprehension. What a black cube among white balls, or Satan in Paradise, has to do in deciding the question whether a majority shall rule or not in forming a Grand Lodge is beyond our ken.

If they are to illustrate the respective rights or merits of majorities and minorities in general, we are willing to concede all their virtues to the minority. Our experience in Masonry is, that when there is but one black cube among the white balls, it is generally as far from being right as Satan was in Paradise. We have no desire to be represented by either of them in our connection with Masonry.

But to clinch the whole matter the Voice says: "we are right, and will not swerve from our duty." We like to see a man stand upon his convictions of right, but when we find ourself standing alone against the opinion and judgment of all others, it is hard to resist the conviction that we may possibly be wrong. At least the presumption is so strong in such cases that we are willing to abide the result, and let the responsibility rest upon the majority. This right we claim as a minority, and it is all we can ask.—Masonic Advocate.

Dancing.—To Those Who Have Never Learnt to Dance.—Bro. and Mrs. Jacques Wynmann receive daily, and undertake to teach ladies and gentlemen, who have never had the slightest previous knowledge or instruction, to go through every fashionable ball-dance in a few easy lessons Private lessons any hour. Morning and evening classe

Prospectus on application

Academy—74 Newman Street, Oxford Street, W.

Bro. Jacques Wynmann will be happy to take the management of Masonic Balls. First-class Bands provided.

EDUCATION. — HAMBURG.

Bro. JOHN A. NEECK, 9 Bundesstrasse, HAMBURG,

Is prepared to receive into his Family

TWO OR THREE ENGLISH YOUTHS AS BOARDERS

During the time they attend School in this City.

CAREFUL SUPERVISION, KIND TREATMENT, BEST BODILY & MENTAL CARE

High References in England and Hamburg.

PROSPECTUS FREE

Digitized by Google

DIARY FOR THE WEEK.

We shall be obliged if the Secretaries of the various Lodges throughout the Kingdom will favour us with a list of their Days of Meetings, &c., as we have decided to insert only those that are verified by the Officers of the several Lodges.

—:o:—

SATURDAY, 22nd DECEMBER.

198—Percy, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., at 8 (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7 (Instruction)
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
1871—Gostling-Murray, Town Hall, Hounslow
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-st., W., at 8

MONDAY, 24th DECEMBER.

Grand Mark Masters, Masonic Hall, 8a Red Lion Square, W.C.
22—Loughborough, Cambria Tavern, Cambria Road, near Loughborough Junction, at 7.30. (Instruction)
45—Strong Man, Excise Tavern, Old Broad Street, E.C., at 7 (Instruction)
174—Sincerity, Railway Tavern, Railway Place, Fenchurch Street, at 7. (In)
180—St. James's Union, Union Tavern, Air-street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
186—Industry, Bell, Carter-lane, Doctors-commons, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
548—Wellington, White Swan, High-street, Deptford, at 8 (Instruction)
1425—Hyde Park, Fountain Abbey Hotel, Praed Street, Paddington, at 8 (In).
1489—Marquess of Ripon, Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-rd., Hackney, at 7.30 (In)
1607—Metropolitan, The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C., at 7.30 (Inst.)
1685—Royal Commemoration, Fox and Hounds, Putney, at 8. (Instruction)
1608—Kilburn, 46 South Molton Street, Oxford Street, W., at 8. (Inst.)
1623—West Smithfield, Clarence Hotel, Aldersgate Street, E.C. at 7 (Inst.)
1625—Tredegar, Royal Hotel Mile End Road, corner of Burdett Road. (Inst).
1632—Stuart, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1891—St. Ambrose, Baron's Court Hotel, West Kensington. (Instruction)
R.A. 933—Doric, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 7. (Instruction)

48—Industry, 34 Denmark-street, Gateshead
382—Royal Union, Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge. (Instruction)
734—Derby, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
999—Robert Burns, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
1449—Royal Military, Masonic Hall, Canterbury, at 8. (Instruction)
1894—Herschell, Masonic Rooms, Slough
R.A. 241—Friendship, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 258—Amphibious, Freemasons' Hall, Heckmondwike

TUESDAY, 25th DECEMBER.

253—Tyrian, Masonic Hall, Gower-street, Derby
299—Emulation, Bull Hotel, Dartford
310—Unions, Freemasons' Hall, Castle-street, Carlisle
573—Perseverance, Shenstone Hotel, Hales Owen
1016—Elkington, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
1358—Torbay, Town Hall, Plaignton
1506—Ellington, Town Hall, Maidenhead
1609—Dramatic, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1675—Antient Briton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 103—Beaufort, Freemasons' Hall, Park Street, Bristol
R.A. 823—Everton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
M.M. 168—Keystone, Old Ship Hotel, Brighton
K.T.—Plains of Tabor, Swan Hotel, Colne

WEDNESDAY, 26th DECEMBER.

507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, S.E.
898—Temperance in the East, 6 Newby Place, Poplar
1017—Montefiore, Regent Masonic Hall, Air Street, W.
1056—Victoria, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street, E.C.
R.A. 13—Union Waterloo, Masonic Hall, William Street, Woolwich
R.A. 753—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood

32—St. George, Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool
117—Salopian of Charity, Raven Hotel, Shrewsbury
163—Integrity, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester
220—Harmony, Garston Hotel, Garston, Lancashire
304—Philanthropic, Masonic Hall, Great George-street, Leeds
439—Scientific, Masonic Room, Bingley
724—Derby, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
996—Sondes, Eagle Hotel, East Dereham, Norfolk
1039—St John, George Hotel, Lichfield
1083—Townley Parker, Mosley Hotel, Beswick, near Manchester
1085—Hartington, Masonic Hall, Gower-street, Derby (Instruction)
1219—Strangeways, Empire Hotel, Strangeways, Manchester
1283—Ryburn, Central-buildings, Town Hall-street, Sowerby Bridge
1392—Egerton, Stanley Arms Hotel, Stanley-street, Bury, Lancashire
1633—Avon, Freemasons' Hall, Manchester
1953—Prudence and Industry, George Hotel, Chard, Somersetshire
1967—Beacon Court, Ghuznee Fort Hotel, New Brompton, Kent
R.A. 225—St. Luke's, Freemasons' Hall, Soane Street, Ipswich
R.A. 226—Benevolence, Red Lion Hotel, Littleborough
R.A. 606—Segontium, Carnarvon Castle, Carnarvon
R.A. 1356—De Grey and Ripon, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
M.M.—Howe, Masonic Hall, New Street, Birmingham
M.M.—Northumberland and Berwick, Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle
M.M. 174—Athol, Masonic Hall, Severn-street, Birmingham

THURSDAY, 27th DECEMBER.

General Committee, Girls' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
3—Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-street, Fitzroy-sq., at 8 (Instruction)
10—Westminster and Keystone, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
27—Egyptian, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction
87—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth, at 8 (Instruction)
147—Justice, Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford, at 8. (Instruction)
435—Salisbury, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
704—Camden, Lincoln's Inn Restaurant, 305 High Holborn, at 7 (Instruction)
754—High Cross, Coach and Horses, Lower Tottenham, at 8 (Instruction)
901—City of London, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, at 6.30. (Instruction)
1158—Southern Star, Pleasant, Stangate, Westminster-bridge, at 8 (Inst.)
1185—Lewis, Kings Arms Hotel, Wood Green, at 7 (Instruction)
1227—Upton, Swan, Bethnal Green-road, near Shoreditch, at 8 (Instruction)
1339—Stockwell, Cock Tavern, Kennington-road, at 7.30 (Instruction
1421—Langthorne, Swan Hotel, Stratford
1426—The Great City, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
1614—Covent Garden, Cranbourne, 1 Up. St. Martin's Lane, W.C., at 8. (Inst.)
1622—Rose, Stirling Castle Hotel, Church Street, Camberwell. (Instruction)
1673—Langton, Mansion House Station Restaurant, E.C. at 6. (Instruction)
1677—Crusaders, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 9 (Inst.)
1681—Londesborough, Berkeley Arms, John Street, May Fair, at 8. (Instruct).
1950—Southgate, Railway Hotel, New Southgate, at 7.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 753—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, at 8. (In.)
R.A. 1471—North London, Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, at 8. (Instruction)
M.M. 118—Northumberland, Masons' Hall, Basinghall-street

51—Angel, Three Cups, Colchester
78—Imperial George, Assheton Arms Hotel, Middleton, Lancashire
111—Restoration, Freemasons' Hall, Archer-street, Darlington
203—Ancient Union, Masonic Hall, Liverpool. (Instruction)
249—Mariners, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8 (Instruction)
286—Samaritan, Green Man Hotel, Bacup
348—St. John, Bull's Head Inn, Bradshawgate, Bolton
594—Downshire, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
784—Wellington, Public Rooms, Park-street, Deal
807—Cabbell, Masonic Hall, Theatre-street, Norwich
904—Phœnix, Ship Hotel, Rotherham
935—Harmony, Freemasons' Hall, Islington-square, Salford
966—St. Edward, Literary Institute, Leek, Stafford
1313—Fermor, Masonic Hall, Southport, Lancashire
1325—Stanley, 214 Gt. Homer Street, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
1459—Ashbury, Justice Birch Hotel, Hyde-road, West Gorton, nr Manchester
1505—Emulation, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1580—Cranbourne, Red Lion Hotel, Hatfield, Herts, at 8. (Instruction)
1626—Hotspur, Masonic Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle
1892—Wallington, King's Arms Hotel, Carshalton. (Instruction)
R.A. 67—Humber, Freemasons' Hall, Hull
R.A. 113—Unanimity, Bull Hotel, Church Street, Preston
R.A. 216—Sacred Delta, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 279—Fortitude, Freemasons' Hall, Halford Street, Leicester
R.A. 314—Royal Architect, Bull Hotel, Church Street, Preston
R.A. 394—Concord, Freemasons' Hall, Albion Terrace, Southampton
R.A. 431—Ogle, Masonic Hall, Norfolk-street, North Shields
R.A. 442—St. Peter's, Masonic Hall, Boroughbury, Peterborough
R.A. 1037—Portland, Masonic Hall, Portland, Dorset
M.M. 34—St. Andrew, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester

FRIDAY, 28th DECEMBER.

Emulation Lodge of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
25—Robert Burns, The North Pole, 115 Oxford-street, W., at 8 (Instruc.
144—St. Luke, White Hart, King's-road, Chelsea, at 7.30. (Instruction)
507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30. (Instruct.)
569—Fitzroy, Head Quarters, Hon. Artillery Company, E.C.
766—William Preston, St. Andrew's Tavern, George St., Baker St., at 8 (In.)
834—Ranelagh, Six Bells, Hammersmith (Instruction)
933—Doric, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1056—Metropolitan, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. at 7. (Instruction)
1158—Belgrave, Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
1298—Royal Standard, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, at 8. (In.)
1365—Clapton, White Hart, Lower Clapton, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1642—E. Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
1789—Ubique, Guardsman Army Coffee Tavern, Buckingham Palace-road, S.W., at 7.30. (Instruction)
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich. (Instruction)
R.A. 65—Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall St.
R.A. 79—Pythagorean, Portland Hotel, London-street, Greenwich. (Inst.)
M.M.—Old Kent, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, E.C. (Instruction)

453—Chigwell, Prince's Hall, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30 (Instruction)
810—Craven, Devonshire Hotel, Skipton
1303—Pelham, Freemasons' Hall, Lewes
1391—Commercial, Freemasons' Hall, Leicester
1393—Hamer, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1621—Castle, Crown Hotel, Bridgnorth
1712—St. John, Freemasons Hall, Grainger Street, Newcastle upon Tyne
General Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, at 7
R.A. 242—Magdalen, Guildhall, Doncaster
R.A. 680—Sefton, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
R.A. 1086—Walton, Skelmersdale Masonic Hall, Kirkdale, Liverpool

SATURDAY, 29th DECEMBER.

198—Percy, Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N., 8. (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7. (Instruction)
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
Sinai Chaptor of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-street, W. at 8.

1462—Wharncliffe, Rose and Crown Hotel Penistone
1965—Eastes, Parish Rooms, Bromley, Kent

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:o:—

FIDELITY LODGE OF INSTRUCTION, No. 3.

LODGES of Instruction—properly speaking, Masonic schools—abound in London. They are usually ably conducted, and afford opportunities to the neophyte to work up that are often wanting, or are but scantily supplied, in the provinces. One of the oldest and now most successful of these useful auxiliaries of the Craft is the Fidelity Lodge of Instruction, the anniversary of which was held on Tuesday night, at the Holborn Restaurant. Opportunity was taken on this occasion to recognise, in a substantial way, the good services rendered by the Secretary, Bro. F. Sillis. It is customary with some Lodges of Instruction to preface refreshment with labour, but in this case the brethren devoted themselves entirely to social intercourse. The banquet took place in the Queen's Room of the elegant establishment already referred to, and was worthy of the fame the catering there has obtained. Between fifty and sixty brethren partook of the many good things provided, under the genial presidency of Bro. W. M. Stiles W.M., P.Z., and W.M. Elect of the Savoy Lodge. The tables were so arranged as to admit of several Vice-Presidents being appointed, and the respective chairs were filled by the following much-esteemed members of the Order: Bros. J. W. Smith, W. A. Scurrah, R. Ross, H. Dickey, and G. Court. Bro. Stiles was supported right and left by Bro. Sillis, the guest of the evening, Bros. Scales P.M., J. C. Smith Assistant Preceptor, E. Storr, and others. Among the other brethren present were F. Marx P.M., T. Batland, Simner, Bryan, H. Sillis, Saunders, Ashton, Nadenick, Fletcher, Hamilton, Crane, Kauffman, Barling, Jagels, Ager, Lambourn, Barnett, Harrison, Ormiston, Holland, Emblin, W. Smith, W. Fieldson I.P.M. 518, Glynn, Sylvester J.D. 193. The business proceedings began with the toast—Loyalty to the Throne and devotion to the Craft, in which was included the Queen, the Prince of Wales, the Earl of Carnarvon, and others holding eminent positions as rulers in Freemasonry. The toast was given from the chair in brief but suitable terms, was drank with heartiness, and was followed by a fire sharp, resonant, and precise, and a verse of the National Anthem. Permission to smoke was given, and after several challenges had been passed and responded to, Bro. Stiles gave what he described as "the toast of the evening,"—success to the Fidelity Lodge of Instruction. He referred with regret to the unavoidable absence, through illness, of Bro. Koester, their respected Preceptor, to whom the brethren owed much, as indeed they did to Bro. J. W. Smith Treasurer, Bro. J. C. Smith, who so ably filled the post of Preceptor in Bro. Koester's absence, and to their old friend Bro. Sillis Secretary. The Fidelity Lodge of Instruction was one of the oldest—goodness knew how long it had been established. It was warmly supported by the brethren of the Savoy Lodge, and through good working, it had been made one of the finest in the Craft. Many dear and lasting friendships were formed by means of these Lodges, and as one who took an interest in this particular Lodge, he had great pleasure in proposing the toast, coupling with it the names of Bros. J. W. and J. C. Smith. Bro. Sylvester here introduced one of "Helen's Babies" in a very quaint and humorous song, and several times during the evening he delighted those present with his grotesque musical sketches. Bro. J. W. Smith, in reply to the toast, referred to the pleasure it gave him to do anything for the Fidelity Lodge of Instruction. His heart was in Freemasonry, and his services were at the command of the Craft. Bro. J. C. Smith also observed that he was always ready to do what he could for Masonry, and the Fidelity Lodge of Instruction particularly, in any shape or form. This latter brother, as an old friend of Bro. Sillis, asked the President to be allowed to assume the chair for the next toast, a request that was readily granted. Bro. Smith then proposed the health of the Secretary. Bro. Sillis was one of the best members they had had the pleasure of meeting in the Craft; to enumerate his good qualities would take up too much time, but it might be said of him that his general demeanour, his kindness, and his uniform courtesy had endeared him to them all. At one time the Lodge met in small numbers, and it was feared it was dying out, but Bro. Sillis had brought it to the prosperous condition in which it was now placed. When it was realised how earnest he had been in the interest of the Lodge, it became their privilege and duty to show that they esteemed him and his work. On behalf of the Fidelity Lodge of Instruction, therefore, Bro. Smith, addressing Bro. Sillis, proceeded to say: I have great pleasure in presenting you with this chain, and I sincerely hope that you may live many years to wear it. The chain was of massive gold, and was admired by the brethren generally. We need scarcely say that the remarks of Bro. Smith were received with cheers, which were renewed when Bro. Sillis rose to reply. He remarked that he hardly knew how to thank the brethren, but he did thank them with deep emotion,—not only his dear old friend, Bro. Smith, for proposing the toast of his health, but also the brethren for the way in which they had received it. When he became Secretary, four years ago, the Fidelity Lodge of Instruction used to meet three or four at a time, now, thanks to the many gifts brethren had made of furniture and other articles, and persistent effort, their weekly gatherings numbered eighteen. This showed their success, of which he was proud, and not less so of the gift they had made him that night. He hardly knew how to express his feelings. He hoped, however, to be spared a few years longer to wear the chain he had received, and to work in the cause of the Craft. Bro. J. C. Smith next proposed the health of the President, Bro. Stiles. The toast was exceedingly well received, and was responded to in a very happy manner. Want of space will not permit of giving Bro. Stiles' remarks, nor of those of others who followed him; we can only mention the succeeding toasts, viz., the health of the Visitors, of the Vice-Presidents and Stewards, and of the members of sister Lodges of Instruction. Coupled with the first-mentioned toast were the names of Bros. Fieldson, H. Sillis, Thomas, Simner, Wall, Hamilton, Hyams, Kane, Frewin, and Marx. In replying for the Vice-Presidents, Bro. Scurrah observed, that although credit had been given to him for gifts he had made to the Fidelity Lodge of Instruction, it should be remembered that Bros. Field, Charles Knightley and Court had also been generous donors to the Fidelity Lodge. The following brethren were mentioned in connection with the last toast:—Ashton New Concord, Emblin Justice 147 and Star 1275, R. Ross Metropolitan 1507, Kauffmann King's Cross, and Cook past Secretary of the Fidelity Lodge of Instruction. In addition to those we have named, Bros. Ashton, Hyams, Court, and Hamilton sang some capital songs. The whole proceedings were highly successful and reflected credit upon the promoters, and especially upon the Chairman, who knows so well how to enjoy himself, and communicate pleasure to others.

Digitized by Google

MASONIC BALL AT SOUTHSEA.

THE Grand Masonic Ball, held at Cawte's Assembly Rooms on Wednesday evening, the 12th inst., was a most enjoyable affair, efficient arrangements, a representative company, and a capital programme, all contributing to its success. It was in aid of the funds for securing for Portsmouth a Scholarship in the Royal College of Music. The Prince of Wales is at once the Founder of that Institution and the Chief of the Masonic Order, and the local members of the ancient Craft were consequently paying a graceful compliment to His Royal Highness, as well as helping forward a most praiseworthy movement, in arranging the ball. A Scholarship demands an endowment of three thousand pounds, and two-thirds of this sum was munificently given by Alderman J. G. Whitcombe. The remainder had to be raised by public subscription, or such other means as might be considered desirable, and with the proceeds of concerts, and other entertainments for which arrangements have been completed, there can be little doubt that the thousand pounds will be obtained. The ball, though held under the particular banner of the Phœnix Lodge, No. 257, was supported by all the local Lodges, and it was under the distinguished patronage of the Prince of Wales, Prince and Princess Edward of Saxe Weimar, Admiral Sir G. T. Phipps and Lady Hornby, Prince Louis of Battenburg, and the Borough Members the Hon. T. C. Bruce and Sir H. Drummond Wolff. The company numbered nearly two hundred, and all the brethren wore their Masonic regalia, so that with the tasteful toilettes of the ladies the scene presented in the ballroom was not without its picturesque features. That room does not require any ornamentation, and indeed the only decorative additions made to it were the banners of the different Lodges, which, with that of the Phœnix in a central elevated position, were effectively displayed on the front of the gallery. The banners flanking the emblazoned scroll, "H.R.H. the Prince of Wales M.W.G.M.," were Phœnix Lodge, No. 257; Royal Sussex Lodge, No. 342; Adopted Brothers Lodge, No. 1069, Hampshire Lodge of Emulation, No. 1990; Duke of Connaught Lodge, No. 1834; and Landport Lodge, No. 1776, upon which was "Brotherly Love, Relief, Truth." Promenading and seating accommodation was afforded by the carpeted corridor facing the sea, and by the spacious coffee room, which is cosily furnished, while light refreshments were served in the room beyond, supper being also provided at midnight. The company began to arrive shortly before nine o'clock, and at that hour a well-arranged programme of twenty-two dances was commenced, the music being admirably played by Mr. Wilton's band. There were six waltzes, two schottisches, two polkas, five Lancers, three quadrilles, two Mazurkas, the Caledonians, and the Circassian circle. During the evening, too, a couple of waltzes were redemanded. The entire arrangements were in the hands of an influential committee, with Bro. Ernest Hall as the popular and courteous chairman, and Bros. S. R. Ellis and E. S. Main as the indefatigable Secretaries, while the M.C.'s, who showed no little judgment in the discharge of their important duties, were Bros. R. W. Beale, T.C., G. H. Dean, T.C., G. W. Burridge, E. Hall, W. E. Atkins, G. F. Brown, A. Jolliffe, and J. Mitchell. Prince and Princess Edward of Saxe Weimar had promised to attend the ball, but their Serene Highnesses were unavoidably absent through pressing engagements, which necessitated their presence in London. Sir H. Drummond Wolff, M.P., however, accompanied by Mr. G. Feltham, was present, and the hon. gentleman was cordially received by the principal members of the committee. Bro. H. Cawte had made complete preparations for the comfort and convenience of the company, and the floor was in splendid condition. Pale blue and cream were the colours most affected by the ladies, and probably the prettiest dresses in the room were those of cream brocaded satin, of white tulle with chenille spots, and of pale blue and cream satin with swansdown and other fancy trimmings. There were also some effective black costumes which toned down the more brilliant hues. The ball passed off without the least hitch, and as the Lodges had generously undertaken to defray all incidental expenses, it will doubtless have the result of substantially contributing to the fund which is so prominently identified with the name of Alderman Whitcombe.—Portsmouth Times and Naval Gazette.

Justice Lodge of Instruction, No. 147.—A meeting was held on Thursday last, at the Brown Bear, High-street, Deptford. Bros. B. R. Banks W.M., H. C. Freeman S.W., Penrose J.W., S. R. Speight P.M. Sec., W. E. Dilley S.D., J. Bedford Williams J.D., Ingram P.M. I.G.; P.M. Bro. Hutchings Preceptor. Visitors—Bros. Good, Catt. The Lodge was opened in the first degree, and after the confirmation of the minutes of the previous meeting, was advanced to the third, and the ceremony of raising rehearsed, in a very able manner by Bro. Banks, who is the W.M. elect of the Lodge of Justice. Lodge was then called off; on resuming, it was closed to the first degree. Bro. Catt, of the Connaught Lodge, was elected a member of this Lodge of Instruction, and an Audit Committee having been appointed, Lodge was closed in due form.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—A meeting was held at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge, on Friday, 14th instant. Bros. C. E. Botley W.M., Gunner S.W., A. Turner J.W., Cannell S.D., Smee J.D., B. Blasby I.G., Andrews Preceptor, F. Botley Hon. Sec.; also Bro. Sperring, &c. Lodge was opened in due form, and the minutes read, confirmed, and signed. The ceremony of raising was rehearsed, including the traditional history and explanation of tracing board of the degree. Bro. F. Botley was the candidate. Lodge was closed in third and second. The third section of the first lecture was worked by Bro. Preceptor and the brethren. Notice of motion was given that after the meeting on 21st December, the Lodge adjourn until the second Friday in January 1884, on which occasion Bro. Gunner W.M. 780 will fill the chair.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

IT IS THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE PRESENT CENTURY.

It is the best known remedy for Coughs, Consumption, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, and Asthma.

It effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal Diseases—Diphtheria, Diabetes, Fever, Croup, Ague, &c.

It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only known Specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

It effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, Convulsions, and Spasms.

It is the only Palliative in Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

It rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause, allays the irritation of Fever, soothes and strengthens the system under exhaustive diseases, restores the deranged functions, stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, gives quiet and refreshing sleep, and marvellously prolongs life. It may be taken by old and young at all hours and times.

It is extensively used by Medical Men in their official and private practice, at home and abroad, who have given numerous written testimonials of its wonderful efficacy.

SPECIMEN TESTIMONIAL.—From JOHN TANNER, M.D., L.R.C.P., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., L.M., Physician to Farringdon Dispensary, Physician to the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon's Metropolitan College, London, &c., 102 Harley Street, Cavendish Square, W.—"It gives me great pleasure to bear testimony in favour of FREEMAN'S Chlorodyne. I have [illegible] it extensively, and in cases of Asthma, Chronic Bronchitis, the last stage of Phthisis, and the Winter Cough of the aged, I have never found any substitute or chemical combination its equal."

Sold by Chemists and Patent Medicine Dealers all over the world, in bottles 1s 1½d; 2 oz. 2s 9d; 4 oz. 4s 6d; half-pints 11s; and pints 20s each, and by the Inventor, RICHARD FREEMAN, 70 Kennington Park Road, London, S.E. Free by post. Purchasers are CAUTIONED not to have palmed upon them any substitute. See that the Trade Mark, "THE ELEPHANT," is on the wrapper, &c., and the words "FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE" are engraved on the Government Stamp—which is the only TRUE CHLORODYNE.

Digitized by Google

Price 3s 6d, Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

FIRST SERIES.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

1 OUR LITERARY BROTHER.
2 A DISTINGUISHED MASON.
3 THE MAN OF ENERGY.
4 FATHER TIME.
5 A CORNER STONE.
6 THE CRAFTSMAN.
7 THE GOWNSMAN.
8 AN EASTERN STAR.
9 THE KNIGHT ERRANT.
10 THE OCTOGENARIAN.
11 A ZEALOUS OFFICER.
12 THE SOLDIER.
13 FROM UNDER THE CROWN.
14 OUR HERCULES.
15 A MERCHANT PRINCE.
16 THE CHURCHMAN.
17 THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER.
18 THE MYSTIC.
19 A MODEL MASON.
20 A CHIP FROM JOPPA.
21 A PILLAR OF MASONRY.
22 BAYARD.
23 A RIGHT HAND MAN.
24 OUR CITIZEN BROTHER.
25 AN ABLE PRECEPTOR.
26 AN ANCIENT BRITON.
27 THE ARTIST.
28 THE FATHER OF THE LODGE.
29 A SHINING LIGHT.
30 AN ART STUDENT.
31 THE MARINER
32 SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.
33. "OLD MUG."

Second Series, Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 3s 6d, post free.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

SKETCHES

OF

DISTINGUISHED FREEMASONS.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

BY G. BLIZARD ABBOTT, OF LODGE No. 1385,

ASSOCIATE OF KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

NESTOR
(Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, 33 deg., Past G.S.B., Past Dep. P.G.M. Hants, Assistant Secretary Sup. Council A. and A. Rite.)

THE STATESMAN
(The Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, 33 deg., Pro Grand Master, Pro Grand Z., Past G.M.M.M., and Past M.P.S.G. Commander A. and A. Rite.

THE TREASURER
(Bro. F. Adlard, P.M. and Treasurer Royal York Lodge of Perseverance, No. 7).

THE DEPUTY
(The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, 33 deg., Deputy G. Master, Grand H., G.M.M.M., Great Prior of the Temple, and M.P. Sov. G. Commander A. and A. Rite.)

A PROVINCIAL MAGNATE
(Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Hants and Isle of Wight, Past G.M.M.M. and Prov. G. Prior of the Temple, for Hants).

TIME-HONOURED LANCASTER
(Bro. J. Lancaster Hine, P. Prov. G.S. Warden East Lancashire).

THE SCHOLAR
(Bro. John Newton, F.R.A.S., P.M., P.Z., Author of Works on Navigation).

OUR NOBLE CRITIC
(The Right Hon. Lord Leigh, 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Warwickshire, Past G.M.M.M.)

OUR PERIPATETIC BROTHER
(Bro. C. Fitz Gerald Matier, 30 deg., G. Steward Scotland, and Past G.S. Warden Greece).

A BOLTON LUMINARY
(Bro. G. Parker Brockbank, 31 deg., Past Prov. G.S.D., and P. Prov. G. Treas. [Arch] E. Lancashire.

A WARDEN OF THE FENS
(The late Bro. John Sutcliffe, Past Prov. G.S. Warden, and Prov. G.M.M.M. Lincolnshire).

A WARDEN OF MARK
(The Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, 32 deg., Past G.S. Warden, and Dep. G.M.M.M).

A MASTER OF CEREMONIAL
(Bro. Thos. Entwisle, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. of Works E. Lan.)

OUR COSMOPOLITAN BROTHER
(Bro. Samuel Rawson, 33 deg., Past Dist. G.M. and G. Sup. China).

A GREAT ARITHMETICIAN
(Bro. R. B. Webster, Member of the Finance and Audit Committees of the R.M. Girls' and Boys' Schools).

AN INSTALLING MASTER
(Bro. W. Biggs, Past Prov. G.S.W. Wilts, and Past Prov. G. Sec. Herks and Bucks).

A VETERAN
(Bro. W. Kelly, Past Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Leicestershire and Rutland, Prov. G.M.M.M. Leicestershire).

A GRAND STEWARD
(Bro. John Wordsworth, 30 deg., Past G. Steward, Past Prov. G.J.W. W. Yorkshire, and Prov. G.M.M.M. W. Yorkshire).

VIR Veritas
(Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M and Past Prov. Grand. Soj. [Arch] Herts).

ACHILLES
(Bro. E. J. Morris, Past G.J.D., and Past Dep. Prov. G.M. of Eastern Division of South Wales).

A DEVON CRAFTSMAN
(Bro. J. E. Curteis, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. Warden Devon).

SIR RHADAMANTH
(Bro. J. M. Pulteney Montagu, J.P. D.L., 33 deg., G. J. Deacon, Past Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, and G. Chancellor Supreme Council A. and A. Rite).

HIPPOCRATES
(Bro. J. Pearson Bell, M.D., Past G. Deacon, Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. N. and E. Yorkshire).

A CESTRIAN CHIEF
(The Right Hon Lord de Tabley, Past G.S.W., Prov. G.M. Cheshire, Grand J., and Prov. G Sup. Cheshire).

A HARBINGER OF PEACE
(Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., Past Prov. G.J.D. Herts).

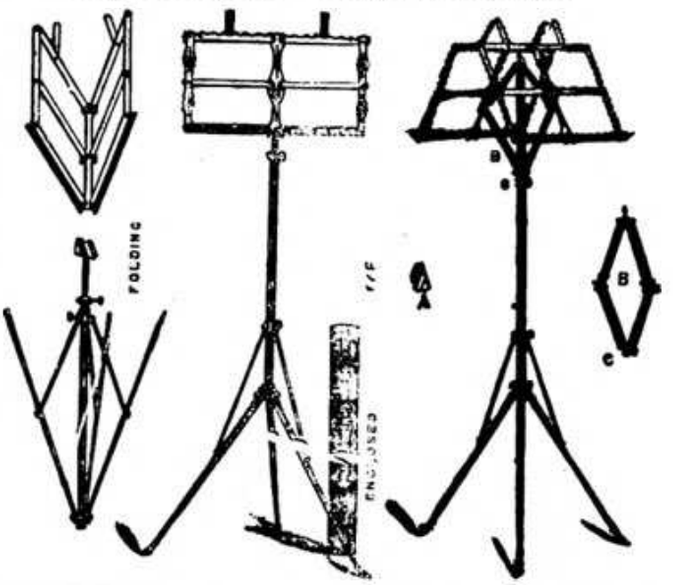
THE LORD OF UNDERLEY
(The Earl of Bective, M.P., Prov. G.M., Prov. G. Sup., and Prov. G.M.M.M. Cumberland and Westmoreland, and Past G. Sov. of the Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine).

A BOON COMPANION
(Bro. E. C. Woodward, P.M. 382, 1637, &c.)

A GRAND SUPERINTENDENT
(Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Berks and Bucks).

ÆSCULAPIUS
(Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., 32 deg., Past G.S.B., Craft, and Past G.St.B., Arch, Intendant General Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine for North Lancashire).

London: W. W. MORGAN.



By Order of all Booksellers, or will be sent direct, by post, from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N

THE AMERICAN

PORTABLE MUSIC STANDS.

J. F. WALTERS' PATENT.

Iron, from 10/6 each. Brass, from 30/- each.

THESE Stands are unsurpassed in simplicity, strength, portability cheapness, and elegance of finish. They are suitable for Military Bands Orchestras, Reading and News Rooms, Libraries, Studies, and Drawing Rooms. When opened to their full capacity they stand 5 feet high, and can be folded and enclosed in a case 21 inches long by 2 inches diameter. The weight is about 3 lbs. 12 oz., and they will support a weight of 50 lbs.

To be obtained of all Music Dealers, and of the Manufacturers and Proprietors of the Patent,

HARROW & CO.

MUSIC SMITHS, BRASS WORKERS, &c.

13 and 14 Portland Street, Soho, London, W.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

Free by Post, Price One Shilling.

THE

REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS;

CRITICALLY CONSIDERED,

AND

COMPARED WITH THE OLD EDITION.

—:o:—

A SERIES OF ARTICLES,

REPRINTED FROM THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

—:o:—

LONDON:

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE;
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL & Co., 4 STATIONERS' HALL COURT;
AND OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

"All Freemasons interested in the Revision of the above, should read this work."

Crown 8vo, price 2s 6d, cloth lettered.

Uniformity of Masonic Ritual and Observance.

By Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M., P.Z., &c.

"May be read with advantage by the whole Craft."—Sunday Times.

"Grand Lodge should at once set to work to secure the desired uniformity."—Sheffield Post.

"The subject is ably argued by the author."—Western Daily Mercury.

"Useful and valuable in the highest degree."—Exeter Gazette.

"Will have a material effect on the future of Masonic Ritual."—South Western Star.

"The author adduces many variations in the language used by different Preceptors."—Cox's Monthly Legal Circular.

"Ought to be in the hands of every Mason."—Northampton Guardian.

"To Freemasons generally it will be found useful and valuable, and we commend it to their notice accordingly."—Surrey County Observer.

"Bro. Stevens' motion for a Committee on the subject of Uniformity of Ritual was carried by a large majority."—Freemason's Chronicle report of Grand Lodge meeting, 3rd December 1879.

Sent, by post, on receipt of stamps, by the Author, Bro. JAMES STEVENS, 112 High-street, Clapham, S.W.; or by Bro. W. W. MORGAN Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

Digitized by Google

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE,

A Weekly Record of Masonic Intelligence. Sanctioned by the Grand Lodge of England.

Price—13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE will be forwarded direct from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N., on receipt of Post Office Order for the amount. Intending Subscribers should forward their full Addresses to prevent mistakes.

Post Office Orders to be made payable to W. W. MORGAN, at Penton-street Office. Cheques crossed "London and County."

Advertisers will find THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE an exceptionally good medium for Advertisements of every class.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Per Page...	£8 0 0
Back Page	£10 0 0

Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1s per line.

General Advertisements, Trade Announcements, &c. single column, 5s per inch. Double Column Advertisements 1s per line. Special Terms for a Series of Insertions on application.

Agents, from whom copies can always be had:—

Messrs. SPENCER and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C.
Messrs. CURTICE and Co., 12 Catherine-street, Strand.
Messrs. KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.
Mr. RITCHIE, 6 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SIMPSON BROS., Shoe Lane.
Mr. H. SIMPSON, 7 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SMITH and SONS, 183 Strand.
Messrs. STEEL and JONES, 4 Spring Gardens, Charing Cross.
Mr. G. VICKERS, Angel Court, Strand.
Mr. H. VICKERS, 317 Strand.

RICHARD PEARCY,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
31 PACKINGTON STREET, ISLINGTON,
LONDON, N.

Watches Made and Repaired in the very best manner.

MASONIC JEWELS.

THE THEATRES, &c.

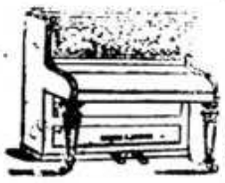
DRURY LANE.—On and after Wednesday, 26th inst., CINDERELLA.
HER MAJESTY'S.—On and after Wednesday, 26th instant, at 7.45, LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD.
HAYMARKET.—At 8, LORDS AND COMMONS.
PRINCESS'S.—At 7, A CLERICAL ERROR. At 7.40, CLAUDIAN.
LYCEUM.—At 7.45, A SHEEP IN WOLF'S CLOTHING. At 9, PYGMALION AND GALATEA.
ADELPHI.—At 7.45, IN THE RANKS.
OLYMPIC.—At 7.30, A REGULAR FIX. At 8.30, SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER.
ALHAMBRA.—At 7.45, THE GOLDEN RING.
SAVOY.—At 8, PRIVATE WIRE. At 8.40, IOLANTHE.
GAIETY.—At 7.45, THE ROCKET. At 10, FRA DIAVOLO.
OPERA COMIQUE.—At 8.15, LOTTA.
AVENUE.—At 7.30, OBLIGING A FRIEND. At 8.15, LA VIE.
TOOLE'S.—At 7.30, NAMESAKES. At 8.30, ARTFUL CARDS. At 10, STAGE-DORA.
COURT.—At 8, THE MILLIONAIRE.
STRAND.—At 7.30, A MUTUAL SEPARATION. At 8, ROAD TO RUIN.
GLOBE.—At 7.45, MAN PROPOSES. At 8.30, THE GLASS OF FASHION.
GRAND.—On and after Wednesday, 26th inst., at 7.30, JACK AND THE BEANSTALK.
VAUDEVILLE.—At 8, AN OLD MASTER. At 9, CONFUSION.
COMEDY.—At 8, FALKA.
ST. JAMES'S.—At 7.45, A CASE FOR EVER. At 8.15, A SCRAP OF PAPER.
ROYALTY.—At 8, DECEIVERS EVER. At 9, THE THREE HATS.
STANDARD.—On and after Wednesday, 26th inst., PUSS IN BOOTS.
SURREY.—At 7.30, JACK AND JILL.
ST. JAMES'S HALL.—Mr. DUVAL'S ODDS AND ENDS.
MOHAWK MINSTRELS, Agricultural Hall.—Every evening, at 8.
EGYPTIAN HALL.—Messrs. MASKELYNE AND COOKE. Every evening at 8.
CRYSTAL PALACE.—This day, BLUE BEARD. CONCERT. PANORAMA. Open Daily, Aquarium, Picture Gallery, &c.
AGRICULTURAL HALL.—WORLD'S FAIR.

BRO. G. S. GRAHAM,

The Popular Tenor and Buffo Vocalist, from St. James's Hall, Crystal Palace, &c.

(Provincial Grand Organist Middlesex)

IS OPEN TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FOR



Concerts, Entertainments, & Masonic Banquets.

Bro. G. S. Graham's Party of Eminent Artists can be engaged for Masonic Banquets, Consecrations and Installations, &c. For Opinions of the Press, and terms, address—G. S. GRAHAM, St. John's Villa, 91 Fernlea Road, Balham, Surrey.

PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS ON EASY TERMS.

GROVER & GROVER

LET ON HIRE, WITH OPTION OF PURCHASE,

BEAUTIFUL AND PERFECT INSTRUMENTS.
PURCHASERS CHOOSE THEIR OWN TERMS,
FROM 15s TO £3 3s PER QUARTER.

The Advantages of a Trial, with the Convenience of the Three Years' System at Cash Price, by Paying about a Quarter of the value down, the Balance by Easy Payments, from 15s per quarter.

GROVER & GROVER (late AVILL & SMART),
TABERNACLE SQUARE, FINSBURY, E.C.
ESTABLISHED 1830.

PIANOFORTES, £19 10s.
AMERICAN ORGANS, £9 5s.
HARMONIUMS, £5 15s.

Perfect in Tone and Touch. Elegant Walnut Cases. Every Instrument warranted to stand any extreme climate.

SHIPPERS AND DEALERS SUPPLIED.

Before deciding on purchasing, write for a descriptive Price List and Testimonials to G. LINSTEAD, Manager.

COBDEN PIANOFORTE COMPANY, 18 & 19 Eversholt Street, Camden Town, London.

HOTELS, ETC.

CARLISLE—Bush Hotel. SUTCLIFFE HOLROYD, Proprietor
EALING—Feathers Hotel
EASTBOURNE—Pier Hotel, Cavendish Place. View of Sea and Pier. A. TAYLOR Proprietor
HAVERFORDWEST.—Queen's Family and Commercial Hotel. BEN. M. DAVIES Proprietor.
KEW—Star and Garter. Good accommodation for Lodge & Dinner Parties. J. BRILL Proprietor
MILFORD HAVEN.—Lord Nelson Hotel. T. PALMER Proprietor
SANDWICH—Bell Family and Commercial Hotel, Good Stabling. J. J. PILMER Proprietor

ALL WHO SUFFER
FROM
GOUT AND RHEUMATISM
Should immediately have recourse to
EADE'S CELEBRATED GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS.

Known throughout the world as the safest and most effectual remedy for the instant relief and rapid cure of Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Lumbago, and all Pains in the Head, Face, and Limbs.

OF ALL CHEMISTS, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d,

GEORGE EADE.
SOLE PROPRIETOR,
72 GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

BILLIARD BALLS, Chalks, Cues and Tips, at HENNIG BROS., Ivory Works, 11 High Street, London, W.C. Cheapest house in the trade for billiard-table requisites and ivory goods in general. Old balls adjusted or exchanged, and tables recovered. Price Lists on application. Established 1862.

RHEUMATISM.

THE only real remedy for this complaint is the Northern Cure (patent). In bottles 1s 1½d each, to be had of all Chemists. Proprietors and Manufacturer, EDWARDS AND ALEXANDER, 29 Blacket-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR GOUT and RHEUMATISM.

The excruciating pain is quickly relieved and cured in a few days by this celebrated Medicine.

These Pills require no restraint of diet during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.

Sold by all Chemists at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.

SMOKE CHARLESWORTH & AUSTINS TOBACCOS AND CIGARS
BORO' S.E.
Old Chums 2d
Favourites 2d & 3d
Golden Shag 4d & 5d

Digitized by Google

SPIERS & POND'S
FREEMASONS' TAVERN,

GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

For MASONIC BANQUETS.

PUBLIC FESTIVALS and PRIVATE DINNERS.

WEDDING BREAKFASTS.

BALLS. EVENING PARTIES. SOIRÉES.

Spacious Hall for Election and other Public Meetings.

Rooms for Masonic Lodges, &c. SPIERS & POND, Limited.

JOSEPH J. CANEY,

DIAMOND MERCHANT, AND MANUFACTURING JEWELLER AND WATCH MAKER,

44 CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.

MASONIC JEWELS, CLOTHING AND FURNITURE.

Specialité—First Class Jewels—Artistic—Massive—Best Quality—Moderate in Price.

CATALOGUES POST FREE.

A LARGE STOCK OF LOOSE BRILLIANTS FOR EXPENSIVE JEWELS

Diamond Rings, Brooches, Studs, Earrings and Bracelets in Great Variety.

MASONIC JEWELS FOR ALL DEGREES.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS AND DECORATIONS.

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD IN ALL SIZES.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEDALS AND BADGES.

A. D. LOEWENSTARK & SONS, Medallists, 210 STRAND, LONDON, W.C.

MANUFACTORY—1 DEVEREUX COURT, STRAND.

R. W. GALER,

PRACTICAL WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

12 GREEN LANES, LONDON, N.

(Six doors from Newington Green).

OLD GOLD and SILVER BOUGHT or TAKEN in EXCHANGE.

PRESENTATION WATCHES AND MASONIC JEWELS MANUFACTURED ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

Communications by Post punctually attended to.

G. W. KNIGHT,

Carver, Gilder, and Picture Frame Maker,

LITTLE BELL ALLEY, BACK OF MOORGATE STREET, CITY,

AND

38 CHAUCER ROAD, BRIXTON.

CORNICES AND FRAMES OF ALL KINDS REPAIRED AND REGILT.

W. W. MORGAN,

LETTER-PRESS, COPPER-PLATE, LITHOGRAPHIC PRINTER,

BELVIDERE WORKS,

HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE.

SUMMONSES, MENU CARDS, &c. ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED.

Sketches or Designs for Special Purposes Furnished on Application.

Books, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Catalogues, Posters, Billheads, Showcards, &c.

Every description of Printing (Plain or Ornamental) executed in First Class Style.

ESTIMATES SUPPLIED.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER

7s 6d.

If with Pockets, 6d each pocket extra.

225 HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.

DRESS SUITS from £3 3s to £5 5s.

Demy 8vo, Price 7s 6d,

THE CHESS OPENINGS,

By ROBERT B. WORMALD.

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE.

CONCERTINAS,

ENGLISH AND ANGLO-GERMAN.

G. JONES, 350 Commercial-road, London, E., inventor of the Anglo-German with chromatic scale. His tempered steel notes never get out of tune. Used by the leading performers. Price List of Musical Instruments of every description free. Established 1850.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY Limited, 7 Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General accidents. Railway accidents. | Personal injuries. Death by accident.

C. HARDING, Manager.

RIPPINGILLE'S PATENT

WARMING STOVES.

THE only Perfect Oil Stoves. Made to burn absolutely without Smoke or Smell, Trouble or Dirt. Unequalled for Warming

GREENHOUSES, VINERIES, SHOPS,

BEDROOMS, HALLS, OFFICES, DAMP ROOMS, &c.

Perfectly safe, require no pipes or fittings, will burn from twelve to twenty hours without attention, give off no injurious vapour, and are the best stoves ever invented to save plants from frost, keep out the damp, &c.

Price, from a few shillings.

Write for Illustrated List of Warming Stoves to

The Holborn Lamp and Stove Co.

118 HOLBORN, LONDON, E.C.

And say where you saw this Advertisement.

Bro. A. OLDROYD, Stratford, London

MANUFACTURER OF TOBACCO POUCHES,

With any name in raised letters.

CAN be obtained direct from the Maker, at the undermentioned prices, on receipt of P.O.O. payable at Stratford.

	Price		Will take a name of
No. 3	2/0	...	9 letters
,, 4	2/6	...	11
,, 5	3/0	...	12
,, 6	3/6	...	13
,, 7	4/0	...
,, 8	4/6	...
,, 9	5/0	...

A. OLDROYD,

Agent for Algerian Cigars, and Importer of Havana and Continental Cigars,

64 HIGH STREET, STRATFORD, LONDON, E.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

BIRKBECK BANK.—Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Current Accounts opened according to the usual practice of other Bankers, and Interest allowed on the minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £25. No commission charged for keeping Accounts.

The Bank also receives money on Deposit at three per cent. Interest, repayable on demand.

The Bank undertakes for its Customers, free of charge, the custody of Deeds, Writings, and other Securities and Valuables, the collection of Bills of Exchange, Dividends, and Coupons; and the purchase and sale of Stocks and Shares.

Letters of Credit and Circular Notes issued.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

31st March 1880.

The Birkbeck Building Society's Annual Receipts exceed Four Millions.

HOW TO PURCHASE A HOUSE FOR TWO GUINEAS PER MONTH, with immediate Possession and no Rent to pay. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY.

HOW TO PURCHASE A PLOT OF LAND FOR FIVE SHILLINGS PER MONTH, with immediate possession, either for Building or Gardening purposes. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Printed and Published by Brother WILLIAM WRAY MORGAN, at Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, Saturday, 22nd December 1883.

Digitized by Google

THE

Freemason's Chronicle;

A WEEKLY RECORD OF MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

SANCTIONED BY THE GRAND LODGE OF ENGLAND.

Registered at the G.P.O. as a Newspaper.

VOL. XVIII.—No. 468. SATURDAY, 29th DECEMBER 1883. [PRICE THREEPENCE. 13s 6d per annum, post free.

THE YEAR 1883.

THERE are good reasons why we should be satisfied with the progress which Freemasonry has made during the year that is now on the eve of closing. It is true it has not been marked by anything especially eventful; it may be taken as a good sign that the number of new Lodges which have been placed on the roll is not excessive, while the strength of those previously constituted has been confirmed rather than extended. Indeed, from a numerical point of view, the present state of the Craft may be looked upon as being pretty much what it was twelve months ago. Again, though Death has removed from our midst several distinguished brethren, our losses in this respect have not been exceptionally severe either in point of numbers or merit. It is the sad fate of every one who takes a retrospect of the events which have happened during a particular period of time to miss many old and familiar faces, but on the present occasion our sorrow, if it is not less than usual, is certainly not greater. On the other hand, there is one feature connected with 1883 which stands out with unusual prominence. In the whole history of Masonry there never has been a year in which the sum raised by the voluntary subscriptions of brethren towards the support of our Charitable Institutions has reached so magnificent a total, while in the case of one of them—the Boys' School—its Anniversary Festival, in June last, proved vastly more productive than any similar celebration in behalf of any charitable Institution, whether Masonic or non-Masonic. It is possible, of course, in some measure to account for this by the exceptional attractions that were held out to brethren to contribute freely of their bounty; but we are not inclined to accept this explanation as in any wise detracting from the exceptional merit of the subscription. It was made clear that there was the need for a supreme effort to accomplish a particular purpose, and the supreme effort was made with a success which is unparalleled in the history of Charitable Festivals. No amount of explanation can deprive the brethren of the pleasure they must derive from this achievement. Then the work of revising the Book of Constitutions has been completed in the main satisfactorily. We know there are brethren who regret that some changes should have been made, as there are those who would have gladly welcomed others that have not been made; but, on the whole, it may be said that, as the result of the revision, nothing has been done by way either of commission or omission which has materially affected the characteristic features of our Constitutions. In their new, as in their old, form, they constitute on the whole a wise and politic code of laws for the government of the Craft in England, and more than this it would be unreasonable to expect.

Thus far we have spoken in general terms of the Masonic events of the year 1883, but, doubtless, our friends will be better satisfied if we enter somewhat into particulars, so that they may read and judge for themselves whether or not our notions of satisfaction with the twelve months' retrospect are in accordance with theirs. As regards the increase in the number of our Lodges and Chapters a comparison of the new Grand Lodge Calendar with that for 1883 will show that in the case of the former some thirty-seven fresh warrants have been granted, while in that of the latter there have been some seventeen. When it is remembered that these new bodies are distributed among the London District, the Provinces, and Abroad, it will be seen that our statement as to the numerical increase in our strength having been, speaking comparatively, of no appreciable extent is fully borne out by the circumstances on record. Then as to our personal losses by death they have been sufficiently numerous to excite a strong feeling of sorrow, but they have not been above the average of past years. Among them must be mentioned one Grand Officer, Bro. W. G. Harrison, Q.C., who died within a short time before completing his year of office. Of Past Grand Officers there have passed away Bro. John Deighton, a P.G.J.D. D.P.G.M. and Prov. G. Supt. of Cambridgeshire, and Bros. Jas. Mason, Duff-Filer, and Lucia, all P.G. Sword Bearers. Other deceased notabilities include Lord Sherborne Past Provincial Grand Master Gloucestershire, Captain Standish Deputy Gaand Master Victoria, Bro. J. Wordsworth P.G. Steward and P. Prov. G.J. Warden W. Yorkshire, and as well as G.M.M. Mason for the same Province, Captain Hanham, R.N., Past Prov. G.S.W. Dorsetshire, Bro. Dr. Wilson Iles D.P.G.M. Hertfordshire, Bro. Henry Murray P.Dist. G.M. China, &c. All these brethren were more or less conspicuous by their support of our Institutions. As to our Anniversary Festivals, that of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution was held on the 28th February. Bro. Gen. Brownrigg, C.B., Prov. G.M. Surrey, occupied the chair, and the total which Bro. Terry had the satisfaction of announcing in the course of the evening was in excess of £13,000. We sincerely hope that the result of the approaching anniversary will be to the full as productive, if not more so. The Festival of the Girls' School took place early in May, under the presidency of Bro. W. W. B. Beach, Prov. Grand Master of Hants and the Isle of Wight, the result being a total of subscriptions amounting to upwards of £10,500. The last of the three anniversaries came off at the Crystal Palace in June, the presiding genius for the occasion being Viscount Holmesdale Prov. G. Master of Kent. The total of the donations and subscriptions which it was the privilege of Bro. Binckes to announce on this ever-memorable occasion was about, in round figures, £22,500—increased by amounts subsequently received on account of outstanding and other lists to over £23,000—of which sum £15,000 were in respect of the General Fund and £7,500 for the Building Fund of the proposed Preparatory School. Thus, the three Festivals of 1883, taken together, yielded between £47,000 and £48,000 if we include sums subsequently received for the Girls' and Benevolent, while in no previous year has the aggregate been much in excess of from £37,000 to £38,000. It is unnecessary to enlarge on figures such as we have given: they tell their own tale.

Two other events of interest are connected with the year's record of Constitutional Masonry. On the 18th of July, the Prince of Wales, as Grand Master of the English Craft, laid the foundation-stone of the new Institute for art, literature, and science in the ancient city of York. The occasion was a brilliant one, there being a large concourse of brethren not only from the Province of N. and E.

EPPS'S (GRATEFUL COMFORTING) COCOA.

Digitized by Google

Yorkshire, of which York is Masonically the centre, but likewise from the adjoining Province of West Yorkshire, from London, and other districts. The other event is the installation of H.R.H. the Duke of Albany as Prov. Grand Superintendent of Royal Arch Masons for Oxfordshire, which took place at Oxford during Commemoration week, when, as invariably is the case, there is an exceptionally large gathering of the brethren. On this particular occasion the meeting was numerous, beyond comparison with other meetings of a similar character, and Oxfordshire can now boast a ruler who in himself combines the important offices of Prov. Grand Master and Prov. Grand Superintendent.

One signal misfortune befel us this year. Before midnight on the 3rd May, there was an alarm of fire at Freemasons' Hall, and in a very short time it was discovered that the portion of the building known as the Temple had been attacked by the flames, and in spite of the efforts made by the Brigade, in a very few hours there was but little left beyond the bare walls of one of the handsomest structures of its kind in England. The catastrophe has been generally attributed to an overheated flue in the kitchen of the Tavern, which set fire to a massive beam that ran athwart it and was somehow connected with the Temple. At all events, the Hall with its magnificent roof, its handsome furniture, and its array of pictures of former Grand Masters, no longer exists, nothing of any considerable value having escaped except the marble statue of his late Royal Highness the Duke of Sussex, G.M. 1813-43, by Bro. Bailey, R.A., which is only slightly damaged by the heat and smoke. At the meeting of Grand Lodge immediately following, the question what course should be pursued was discussed at some length, and, in the end, a Committee was appointed to consider what steps should be taken. However, the arrangements proposed do not appear to have been acceptable to the brethren, and it has now been resolved to rebuild the Temple with the moneys due by the Insurance offices, the question of enlarged accommodation being left to be dealt with at some future time. We cannot, however, dismiss this subject without expressing our satisfaction that the loss caused by the destruction of the portraits of certain Grand Masters has been already to a certain extent repaired, so far, at least, as this, that other counterfeit presentments of these worthies have been obtained by G. Lodge, chiefly through the kind instrumentality of sundry brethren, we ourselves having the satisfaction of having been able to supply the one needed to complete the series. It should also be mentioned as a subject of congratulation that the regalia of Grand Lodge remain intact, the destruction caused by the fire having been confined entirely to the Temple, its furniture, and appointments, the Grand Master's and other chairs, which were carefully stowed away in another part of the building, being an exception.

Our further remarks will be limited to a brief sketch of Mark Masonry, which, from its extremely flourishing condition, and the interest its doings have so generally excited, may be said in a certain sense to have for the moment eclipsed the other branches of Freemasonry. It is well known that the Mark Degree has for many years past been rapidly increasing in favour among the brethren. At the time this journal was started there were considerably under two hundred Lodges ranged under the banner of the Mark Grand Lodge. There are now considerably over three hundred subordinate Lodges. Its financial condition is equally prosperous. Its invested moneys have been largely added to, and the Educational Fund, which is an offshoot from the Benevolent Fund, has for some time past been demonstrating its utility in a very practical fashion. The Festival of the Benevolent Fund, which was held in this instance under the auspices of Sir Pryse Pryse, Bart., P.G. Mark Master of South Wales, proved a far more successful gathering than any that had taken place in previous years, the aggregate of the subscriptions announced being over £710, the next highest amount being over £557, contributed in 1882. So considerable an advance must be accepted as an indubitable evidence of what we have already stated as to the increasing estimation in which the Degree is held among all classes of brethren. But the crowning illustration of this increase will be found in the advancement of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, and his subsequent installation as a Past Grand Master of the Order at an especial Grand Lodge held at Freemasons' Tavern, on Saturday, the 8th December. At the Summer Half Yearly Communication in June, Lord Henniker M.W.G.M. had the satisfaction of announcing that the Prince had expressed a desire to be received into the Order, though such reception was not to be taken as any indication on His Royal Highness's part of a wish to disturb the relations heretofore existing between Craft and Mark Masonry; or, in other words, that it was not his intention or desire to do anything to bring about an amalgamation of the two, as it was once proposed in the Craft Grand Lodge some quarter of a century since. The Prince's wish was received with acclamation by the brethren, and on the 30th October a Special Meeting of Grand Lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, 33 Golden Square, when His Royal Highness was advanced to the degree, in accordance with the established ritual laid down, by his brother, H.R.H. the Duke of Albany, after which Lord Henniker installed him as Worshipful Master of a Lodge of Mark Master Masons. On the 8th December His Royal Highness was further installed as M.W. P.G.M.M.M., and assigned rank at the head of the distinguished brethren who have passed the chair of Grand Lodge. That an event so auspicious must exercise a beneficial influence on the future fortunes of the degree is more than probable, and as its influence is always being exercised on behalf of whatever gives lustre to Freemasonry, we feel sure the general body of Masons will cheerfully wish it God speed in all its undertakings.

MARTIN LUTHER.

1483. 10th NOVEMBER. 1883.

WE have just passed an anniversary which all through the intellectual world called to mind one of those great mortals who have, at intervals, appeared upon earth. Not all are born with great ability, nor amid those circumstances which help make or reveal all the high attributes, nor do all have greatness thrust upon them. As when diamonds are sought for in the rich sands the hard toilers wash out many a hundred and many ten thousand before they find one that is large and dear, fit for a Queen's crown, so these rare things from heaven—the human soul—pass along in mighty multitudes before the world can with one accord point toward one man who is high above the great throng in all that confers excellence! The days and weeks have led us gradually toward a point in the calendar made illustrious by him who at that place in time wept his way into this world. Martin Luther was born the 10th of November 1483. Four hundred years have passed since Margaret and Hans Luther looked upon the face of that infant, which was to become a turning point in the march of mankind.

Luther repeated history by being born in humble life. The wheels of youth rest or rust in riches; in poverty they all run. Wealth says, How shall I enjoy myself? Poverty says, What labour shall I perform? Out of the former come those who play; out of the latter those who work. But the scarcity of money must be joined to a great degree of sensibility and culture inherited from ancestors or found in the earliest surroundings of youth. For if poverty alone were able to make greatness, the African tribes and the Zulus should be supplying the world with statesmen, and the mud huts of New Mexico should be sending forth poetry. That hardness of childhood which grows mental force must be attached to an awakened mind—it must be a hardness like that of Shakspeare and Franklin and Lincoln in hearts surrounded by civilisation. There are women in India who have more sorrow than fell to the lot of the Bronte sisters, but in India the suffering is not joined to a cultured brain. Thus it is hardship and civilization combined that make the wheels of the brain go. The infant Luther enjoyed such a twofold impulse. Christ was indeed born in a manger, but that manger was carpeted with all the wisdom of the East, and canopied by the love of an enlightened mother, so that while the little body of Jesus was near the straw and hay, His soul was where Greek and Roman and Hebrew wisdom and taste combined to make a new air. Thus Franklin and Lincoln were born in poverty of money, but in the perfect splendour of liberty and education and hope. Luther was the son of a slate digger and cutter, but of a slate cutter who had refinement enough to desire to educate his little boy up to the highest standard of that period. When the child was only six months of age the parents moved to where there could be found in a few years the good of education. Thus the natural power of the child enjoyed that advantage found in the ambition of its father. If it was not heir to gold, it was born to an estate of parental solicitude and ambition. Much of German eminence among men has come from the devotion of father and mother to the care of each child. As each Hebrew mother had a remote suspicion that perhaps her boy was to be the Saviour of Israel, so each German parent easily reached the conclusion that the Nation had long been waiting for his son to appear; and so far as lay in their power the German fathers and mothers urged their offspring onward toward a dreamed of destiny. Stilling and Mozart and Beethoven and Goethe were not only born to great powers, but also were whipped into success by their fathers. All complain of the pitiless cruelty of their early surroundings. Stilling's father whipped him almost daily. To common cruelty the father of Beethoven added drunkenness; but yet so anxious was he that his son should become an extraordinary musician, that he falsified regarding the child's age that he might seem the more a prodigy. In keeping with this record Luther came to the task of life miserably flogged all through his first ten years. And what omission of the birchen switch may have occurred at home was fully atoned for by the zeal of the village schoolmaster, and between the home and the schoolhouse no lesson of duty or piety remained free from this barbarous mode of enforcement. In mature life Luther looked back with something of sorrow upon such treatment—sorrow for himself and sorrow for the mistakes of those whom he deeply loved. He wrote: "My parents treated me so cruelly that I became timid. They felt that they were sincerely right, but they had no discernment of character that would have enabled them to know when and upon whom, and how punishment should be inflicted." While our times have no sympathy with this brutality, it cannot but look with approval and delight upon that parental care and ambition which encompassed all these great children in their old German homes. In framing an explanation of many of the leading men of the whole past, we must find a part of the causes of things to rest in the culture and ambition of the father and mother. Cicero's father moved to Rome that he might educate his boy. Augustine's mother cared for her child with an infinite enthusiasm until he had reached almost middle life. She lived for him alone.

Digitized by Google

Thus out of a poor home as to money, but out of a home good as to judgment and ambition and piety, came upward the mind which was to turn the stream of the Western thought and life. In imagination we can picture this youth of fourteen leaving his home that he might attend a school that should prepare him for the university. He performed the journey on foot, and carried in a knapsack all his possessions. Rude as his home had been, the scene before him was so dreary that it made the cottage behind him seem an enchanted ground; and as he moved away from the charm of the one and toward the hardship of the other, the tears rolled down his cheeks. Once located at the school, he sang songs under the windows of the rich, and supported himself by what small coins fell at his feet. He performed this musical circuit twice each week. At last his voice, rich in itself, but made more touching by his poverty, won the sympathy of a woman of wealth, and out of these songs under a window came a woman's kindness, which paid for four years of education in that school, and for a home in the house won by his music. You can recall the picture. A boy singing in front of the quaint house of Dame Ursula Cotta. A kind face comes to the window and looks and listens. Weeks and months pass, and by degrees the dame begins to wish that the little Martin Luther would come again. Each week the coins the kind hand tosses out increase in size and number. At last the woman talks with the boy, and hears the simple story of his struggles and hopes. She at last says, "Well, you need not sing for money any more, I shall help thee onward."

Mark the quality of his studies in these formative years—grammar, rhetoric, poetry, and music. Upon such a course our age has not made much improvement. Our period offers more facts—those of science and of history—but it offers less of inspiration. Facts are a poor substitute with the young mind for rhetoric and poetry, because these are the wings of the soul, whereas facts can be acquired and retained by a man without soul. Either method is in itself defective. A perfect course would be that which should combine the acquisition of knowledge with the highest development of language and rhetoric and the imagination. It was the good fortune of this German youth, and of the world through him, that he became strong in music and poetry and language, for these helped him rise to an enthusiasm which was able to burn like an eternal fire. When the times needed impetuosity, Luther became impetuous; when inspiration was asked for, this man became inspired. Vast learning would have quieted that heart, which was needed not as a library, but as a burning torch. Toward such a restless zeal these studies all pointed. Poetry underlies more heroism than learning alone can boast. It only rises above the common things of the shop and market place, and perceives the immensity of human and divine affairs. The heart which could proceed to the city of Worms to meet perhaps death, was the heart which could the day before the journey began compose the words and the music of a hymn that seemed fully able to sustain its author. The poet was the hero.

"A tower safe our God is still,
A trusty shield and weapon;
He'll help us clear from all the ill,
That hath us overtaken."

Thirty-six such lines as these, sung in the outset and chanted in the choir of the soul, were the band of music for that march of one man against the potentates of the age. His prose was all ornamented like a wall covered with vines. Speaking of a tree covered with ripe fruit, he said: "Had Adam not sinned, we should have seen the beauty of these things; every bush and shrub would have seemed more lovely than though it were made of gold and silver. It is really more lovely, but we are as stupid as beasts. God's power and wisdom are shown in the smallest flowers. Painters can not rival their colour, nor perfumers their sweetness; green, yellow, crimson, blue and purple—all growing out of one earth. We trample upon lillies as though we were so many cows."

It was the design of the young man to study law. It is singular that neither Luther's father nor Calvin's held theology or the priesthood in much esteem. Each father was heartbroken over the religious drift of his son. A comment this, not upon the piety of the fathers, for they were deeply devout, but upon the condition of the clergy in those days. The vices of the age had made their black mark upon many of the monastics. Many of the monks who were not dissolute were simply lazy beggars. Luther, with all his lofty powers, was to take the path of the law. It offered some honour and some industry and money, and much less hypocrisy. Toward this the father pointed, and toward it the son turned his face.

For the law the youth at last had no heart. Pure and innocent himself, Luther saw the Church through a clear, divine air. Its music charmed him. And, moreover, there often come to young hearts melancholy years. It would seem that early life should produce nothing but smiles and laughter. Youth is thus pictured by painter and poet, and in general it is full of joy or peace; but from some unknown cause nature inserts a melancholy year between ten and twenty-five. Tears come easily. The heart is morbidly sensitive. It writes farewell notes to friends. The soul loves to creep into its corner and to distrust the voice of love. A few hearts thus in life's sweet morning wholly break, and suicide ends the scene. The wave of sadness rose high around this gifted youth. The storm may have come from injured health, but more probably it came from unseen recesses in the spirit. No path of duty seemed clearly defined. But as he walked in a field with a fellow student a bolt of lightning killed the companion in an instant and left Luther still in this world. Full of superstition the astonished youth fell on his knees and vowed all his powers to God. He entered a convent, and thus began the Reformation. It was kindled by a flash of lightning.

A fact must be mentioned here which will betray at once the need of an overthrow of the past. The cup of folly was full. The people had been long enough fed upon the marvellous stories of ascetics, and idlers and miracle-mongers. Luther went into the convent taking with him two books, the only books, perhaps, he possessed. What were they? Were they the Testaments, full of the simple god-like life of Jesus, and of the labours and teachings and glories of St. Paul and St. John, and the lofty strains of Job, and David and Isaiah? Oh, no! This educated youth of the sixteenth century took into the convent with him Virgil and Plautus! The secret of the Reformation is out. Luther had been reared to manhood in the Church without ever having seen the Bible. It was almost a lost volume. Where existing, it was in a foreign tongue.

Digitized by Google

Custom of the monks had become the standard of morals and the basis of all doctrine.

All gifts of learning and genius would have been vain had not Luther possessed piety. His soul was purely religious. God and Jesus Christ were loved, and lived for and trusted. Christianity was not a form, but it was his joy and his hope. In fervour he was more like the Madam Guyon and Fénélon to come after him than like those who had passed before him. His hymns were not full of theology but of affection.

Thou Strong Defence, Thou Holy Light,
Teach us to know our God aright,
And call him Father from the heart;
The Word of Life and Truth impart
That we may love, not doctrines strange,
Nor e'er to other teachers range,
But Jesus for our Master own,
And put our trust in Him alone.
Hallelujah, Hallelujah!

Thou Sacred Ardour, Comfort Sweet,
Help us to wait with ready feet
And willing heart, at Thy command,
Nor trial fright us from Thy band;
Lord, make us ready with Thy powers,
Strengthen the flesh in weaker hours;
That, as good warriors, we may force
Through life and death to Thee our course.
Hallelujah, Hallelujah!

Such was the personal approach of Luther toward an unseen but vast work. His acquisition, his natural power, his honesty, his fervour, his stubborn will, and his unequalled courage, fitted him to be a leader from darkness to light. He was one of those whose life shines in history like a sun in the sky.—Masonic Review.

The New Year's Entertainment to the "Old People," resident at the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, at Croydon, will take place on Wednesday next, the 2nd proximo.

Our readers will regret to learn that Brother James Stevens, on Wednesday evening, the 19th inst., met with a somewhat serious accident. In alighting from a tramcar, opposite his house, Bro. Stevens slipped, and received a severe scalp wound, which for some three hours bled so copiously as to create no small amount of alarm among the medical men in attendance. However, it is satisfactory to know that matters have since taken a favourable turn, and that Bro. Stevens is on a fair way to recovery. Bro. Dr. Eugene Cronin, of Clapham, is in charge of our zealous brother, who we trust will realise the necessity of strictly adhering to the injunctions laid down by his medical attendant,—"that he must keep quiet." We tender our best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Thomas Holloway, the well-known manufacturer of patent medicines, died of bronchitis, at his residence, Tittenhurst, near Sunningdale, Berks, on Wednesday night, at the advanced age of 84. The deceased gentleman's name will be long remembered for the munificence which he manifested in the closing years of his life. In 1873 he put aside a quarter of a million of money to erect, for the use of the middle classes, an asylum for the insane and hospitals for incurables and convalescents. This asylum has since been erected, at St. Ann's Hill, near Virginia Water, and forms a prominent object as seen from the surrounding country. A few years later he gave another quarter of a million, and promised £100,000 additional for endowment, for a building to be called the Holloway College for the Higher Education of Women. The first brick of this building was laid in September 1879, near Virginia Water, and its erection has since been proceeded with.

We have received a specimen copy of "Woods and Forests," a new illustrated journal devoted to tree planting in all its branches. Large areas of the poorer lands of the United Kingdom and of the hill and mountain country, of no agricultural value, are fitted for the profitable growth of timber. The landscape beauty of our country is owing mainly to the taste for planting long characteristic of the country gentleman. These interests may be deepened and the love of planting extended by this high class weekly journal, which will furnish to the planter useful information on every subject connected with tree culture. The offices for this journal are at 37 Southampton Street, Covent Garden, London, W.C.

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our Correspondents.

All Letters must bear the name and address of the Writer, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return rejected communications.

—:o:—

GRAND MASTER SAYER.

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—In your issue of 22nd instant, you published a letter from Brother Yarker in which he states that, "in 1730, Sayer (formerly Grand Master) was reprimanded for attending Schismatic Lodges." This may possibly have been another slip of Brother Yarker's pen, so, for his benefit, as well as for the information of your readers generally, I shall be obliged if you can find room for the following particulars copied verbatim from the written minutes of the Grand Lodge of 28th August 1730.

"A paper signed by the Master and Wardens of the Lodge at the Queens Head,* in Knaves Acre, was presented and read, complaining of great irregularities having been committed by Brother Anthony Sayer, notwithstanding the great favours† he hath lately received by order of the Grand Lodge.

"Ordered, that Bro. Sayer be summoned to attend at the next Quarterly Communication to answer the said complaint, and that the persons who signed the same do also attend at the same time."

15th December 1730.

"Brother Sayer likewise attended to answer the complaint made against him, and after hearing both parties, and some of the Brethren being of opinion that what he had done was clandestine, others that it was irregular. The question was put, whether what was done was clandestine or irregular only, and the Lodge was of opinion that it was irregular only.

"Whereupon the Deputy Grand Master told Brother Sayer that he was acquitted of the charge against him, and recommended him to do nothing so irregular for the future."

This is the only complaint recorded against Sayer, and as you will observe, there is not a word about attending schismatic Lodges; nor, in my opinion, anything likely to lead an impartial reader to that conclusion, and so far from being reprimanded, he was not even found guilty.

Unless Bro. Yarker can give us further and more reliable information, he will pardon me for preferring my own opinion as to the nature of the said complaint.

Yours fraternally,

H. SADLER P.M.

---

* Sayer was a member of this Lodge.—H. S.

† He was relieved in the preceding April with £15.—H. S.

BRO. JACOB NORTON AND No. "79."

To the Editor of the FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER.—Brother Jacob Norton has a great deal of the stubbornness of John Bull in his nature. I sometimes fancy he follows the instincts of the animal which is supposed to be the type of Englishmen, and that he rushes wildly to conclusions. He seems to me, however, in this matter of the "79" Lodge to be on safer ground. I do not say he is right, but I am justified in saying that he has furnished proofs and reasons for his contention that will be hard to refute. He ventures into the realms of speculation, it is true, but the sober facts keep him tolerably safe to the main purpose. I hope some one better able than myself will take up this question raised by Bro. Jacob Norton. It is an interesting one, and just now in a rather exciting condition.

Yours very fraternally,

INQUIRER.

The approaching North London Masonic Benevolent Ball, to which we have already referred in these columns, bids fair to have a very successful result. It will take place on Tuesday, the 8th January, at Myddelton Hall, Upper Street, Islington. If any of our readers desire further information, the Hon. Secretary, Bro. Edwin Woodman, of 50 Marquess Road, Canonbury, will be happy to furnish it.

A fortnight since we had the pleasure of congratulating Bro. John Mason, collector of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, on the compliment proposed to be paid to him by the Feltham Lodge, No. 1567, on the occasion of his silver wedding. Since then fresh cause has arisen for congratulating him, a few of his friends having banded together, and presented to him by the hands of Bro. James Terry, the Secretary of the Institution, and one of their number, a handsome salver, bearing the following inscription:—

"Presented to Brother John Mason, by a few of his friends, on the occasion of his silver wedding. 25th December 1883."

Digitized by Google

PARTIAL DESTRUCTION OF THE NEW YORK MASONIC TEMPLE.

FROM THE KEYSTONE.

ON Saturday morning, 1st inst., when the Freemasons of Philadelphia read the telegraphic announcement on the bulletin boards of the newspapers that the New York Masonic Temple was on fire, the deepest sympathy was expressed for the loss of their brethren of the jurisdiction of New York, and the most earnest and anxious hope was voiced that the fire might be suppressed, and the Temple as a whole saved. Most fortunately this hope was realised, and although the moneyed loss is large, the main portions of the Temple are only damaged, not destroyed. The corner-stone of the New York Masonic Temple was laid in 1870, and the edifice was dedicated in 1875. It cost, with the ground on which it stands, about a million and a half dollars. The total damage is estimated at 140,000 dolls., which is covered by insurance, so far as the building is concerned, although it is said the loss on furniture may not be fully covered. Bro. James A. Rich has sent us the following letter with regard to the fire, which, with the accompanying description, we lay before our readers:

NEW YORK, 1st DEC. 1883.

EDITOR KEYSTONE,—DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—I enclose you the best account which I find of the fire this morning, at our Masonic Temple, as I know you feel interested. The ruins are a sad sight. The whole of the Commandery Asylum, which was handsomely fitted up, and the adjoining closets for the uniforms of the Sir Knights; also the "Austin Room," which was the handsomest room in the Temple, are destroyed. The entire building is water-soaked, and the damage by water will be very great. Fortunately, Palestine Commandery has saved its banners and the greater part of the uniforms and equipments of its members, and the loss will be very much less for No. 18 than the other Commanderies meeting there. Our Conclave was to have been held on Monday evening next, but we have engaged rooms over the Grand Opera House, where our members will meet. It will be a long while before we can again meet in the Temple.

Yours fraternally, JAS. A. RICH.

Shortly after 8 o'clock Saturday morning, 1st Dec. 1883, a dense volume of smoke was seen issuing from the dome of the Masonic Temple, corner of sixth avenue and Twenty-third street. Policeman Philips, of the Broadway squad, was standing on the corner of Twenty-third street and Broadway at the time, and seeing the smoke, he ran down Twenty-third street for the purpose of sending out an alarm, but found that a citizen had anticipated him. The first alarm brought three engine companies and a hook and ladder company to the scene. Immediately on the arrival of Chief Gicquel with Engine Company No. 18, he sent out two other alarms, which speedily brought eight more companies. A number of firemen and policemen made their way to the top floor at once and found that the fire was making its way through the halls surrounding the large room at the eastern end of the building, known as the Commandery Room. The firemen and policemen, beside assisting in stretching a pipe line across this room, also went to work to remove the valuable paintings and furniture which it contained. Captain Williams was also at work directing the police in their operations.

While this was going on the fire was gaining and creeping along the roof. The smoke was so dense that the firemen had great difficulty in maintaining their positions. Suddenly there was a fearful noise, as of an explosion, and it was soon known that the glass in the dome had fallen in. With the falling in of the glass came a fierce gust of wind loaded with dust, smoke and cinders, that drove back firemen and policemen. The cry arose that there must be some persons buried under the débris, for three or four loud shrieks were heard.

Bravely the police and firemen re-entered the scene of the disaster to rescue the injured persons. In spite of the heat and suffocating smoke they succeeded in carrying out four men, the only ones that were badly injured. They were Patrick Tyrrell and Samuel Warren, of Engine Company No. 18, and James McManus and Patrick Carr, of Hook and Ladder Company No. 3. They were all injured about the head, shoulders and arms, besides being almost suffocated with smoke. They were removed to one of the Lodge Rooms on the northern side of the building, where every attention possible was paid to them. An ambulance was sent for, but the men preferred to be taken to their homes, which was done as soon as they had recovered sufficiently from the effect of the smoke. Fireman McGinn, of Engine No. 1, was struck by the pole of Engine No. 14, at the corner of Twenty-third street and Sixth avenue, during the progress of the fire, and was severely injured. He was taken home.

During all this time the firemen were stretching up lines of hose through both the principal stairways on the Twenty-third Street side and the rear stairway on the Sixth avenue side. The water tower was placed on Twenty-third Street, directly opposite the main entrance, and it poured a steady stream through one of the top windows, which had a wonderful effect upon the flames. Considering the time which the fire was burning before an alarm was sent out or the engines arrived, it was soon got under control. The damage will be principally by water, with which the whole building, it might be said, was flooded.

The Assistant Grand Secretary, Bro. William H. Corsa, estimates the damage to furniture alone at about 40,000 dollars. The damage to the building will amount to 100,000 dollars, making the total damage probably not less than 140,000 dollars. The furniture and decorations in the Commandery Room were completely destroyed. They were valued at 20,000 dollars. The furniture in the Chapter Room was also greatly damaged by water principally. The fire itself was confined to the north-eastern part of the building, on the top floor, but the water thrown on it soaked through the ceilings as far down as the large hall on the second floor. The news of the fire seemed to have spread through the city in a very short time, for within an hour after it broke out numbers of members of the different Lodges, Chapters, and Commanderies who occupy the building were at hand, and were working industriously removing valuable paintings, precious documents, and other articles to places of safety. It seemed to be a matter of surprise to many of them that a fire could have gained such headway in the Temple, as they considered it fireproof. Among the articles removed was a picture of the late Dr. Kane, which one of the members of Kane Lodge said could not be replaced at any price.

John W. Kelsey, the janitor of the building, said to a Telegram reporter: "I was in one of the stores on the ground floor when the fire broke out. It was first discovered by Mrs. Knight, who went up to the Commandery banquet rooms, on the top floor, to clean up the place, it having been used last night by the Mystic Shrine, who had a banquet there. On opening the door of the room she smelled smoke, and immediately hurried to our apartments, which are on the same floor, and notified my wife that the building was on fire. The latter called me up stairs, and I hurried to the passage-way outside of the banquet room, on the north-east corner of the floor. Here I saw fire in a portion of the wall, and immediately threw several buckets of water on it, putting it out. I noticed, however, the fire was also eating its way along another wall, toward the banquet room. I then sent a young man down into the street to send out an alarm. At the same time I called down to the man in charge of the boiler-rooms to fire up and to set the force-pumps at work. I then took the fire-hose, and as soon as I got the water I directed a stream on the burning wall. When the firemen arrived I yielded my post to them. As to the origin of the fire, I think it was caused by a defective flue. I am certain that it was not caused by the fire in the kitchen, as that is in the north-west corner of the floor and one hundred and forty feet from where the fire broke out."

Fire Marshal Sheldon, who was at the scene of the fire, said: "From the hasty investigation that I have so far been able to make, I am certain that the fire was caused by a steam radiator, as it broke out in the wall immediately back of one of them. The building itself is only fireproof up to where the Mansard roof begins—that is, up to the top floor, on which the fire originated. That floor, as well as the dome, is only a shell, though it is claimed that the walls are filled with fireproof brick."

Professor Van Cott, of the Fire Commissioners, said: "The fire was a very hard one to fight, though the men succeeded in keeping it at one end of the building. They met with great difficulty in getting to the spot where the fire was. They were compelled to carry up their lines of hose over the winding stairs, which was very difficult work. After they had got them up they could barely work, owing to the blinding and suffocating smoke. On the outside of the building, the same enormous difficulties had to be overcome. The only stream that could be thrown into the windows was from the new fire tower, and that barely reached them. The firemen were compelled to run hose up through the St. Omer Hotel, on Sixth avenue, and through No. 69 West Twenty-third street to the roof of those buildings. From there they had to use ladders to get to the roof of the Temple. In this roof they had to cut holes, through which they fought the flames. All this trouble would have been obviated if the owners of the building had complied with the department's suggestions in regard to having ladders on the outside of high buildings. If this had been done the firemen could have reached the fire easily, and there would have been very little loss."

The following is the official report of the fire: At 8 a.m. fire was discovered on the fifth floor of the Masonic Temple, in a hallway in the rear of Palestine Commandery room, also Austin Lodge Room, causing damage to the building and Lodge Room properties of 60,000 dollars. The loss to individual members will amount to 5,000 dollars. There is 200,000 dollars insurance on the building in ten companies, the names of which are unknown. During the fire James McManus, of Hook and Ladder Co., No. 3, and Samuel Warren and Patrick Lynch, of Engine Company, No. 18, were slightly injured by falling plaster.

The parlour of the Grand Master, the office of the Grand Secretary, and the fireproof archive rooms, which were damaged by to-day's fire, were handsomely furnished and decorated. The adornment of the Grand Master's Room was particularly choice. Heavy lambrequins depended from its windows. The bases of the walls were sheathed with black walnut in panels and their upper parts were painted a handsome dark shade of blue. The ceiling of the room was beautifully frescoed. On the eastern side of the corridor is the Grand Lodge Room, where the water from the fire tower played sad havoc. Over the central entrance to this apartment, imbedded in the wall, is a piece of an ashlar, or pedestal, said to have been a part of the substructure of the Temple of Solomon. In a panel surmounting this relic is the coat-of-arms of the Grand Lodge of the State of New York. In a similar panel opposite is the coat-of-arms of the State of New York. The room is 92 by 85 feet and 28 feet high. It has seats for 1000 persons. Its architecture is of the Romanic-Ionic order, festoons being a prominent feature. A double row of columns adds largely to the beauty of the room. They support the enormous weight of the upper stories. In the eastern side of the room is a recess containing the Grand Master's throne. At the right of the throne are entrances to committee rooms, and on the left is the organ chamber. The ceiling and walls of the room were painted a lacklustre white and decorated in polychrome. At the northern end of the main corridor, beyond a light gate of bronze, is the main staircase. At the first half-ascent of the stairs is a niche where the marble statue of "Silence" is placed. In the mezzanine floor, over the Grand Master's Room, is the library of the Grand Lodge. The valuable books on Masonry and the paintings on its walls were seriously damaged by water. The entire fifth floor was devoted to the use of the Commanderies of Knights Templar and the A.A. Rite. It was considered the most completely arranged set of rooms in the world. A tiled corridor in white and black mosaic, six feet wide and eighteen feet long, leads directly from the main stairway to an octagonal room twenty feet in diameter and vaulted in a tent-like manner. The sides of this octagon contain doors leading to the various apartments. The main or eastern door opens into a promenade or passage seven feet wide and fourteen feet high, which bounds the asylum of the Temple. This asylum is seventy-eight feet long, — feet wide, twenty-one feet high, and is designed in the French-Gothic style of the fourteenth century. The canopied stalls along two of its sides, for the accommodation of the Sir Knights, were designed strictly after this fashion, and also with a view to comfort. They are constructed of black walnut, and elaborately carved in high relief, and upholstered in maroon leather. The stations of the Eminent Commander, Generalissimo and Prelate are surmounted by a lofty grained canopy of fine arches. The water did considerable damage in this part of the building.

Digitized by Google

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Cough, Influenza.—The soothing properties of these medicaments render them well worthy of trial in all diseases of the respiratory organs. In common colds and influenza, the Pills, taken internally, and the Ointment rubbed over the chest and throat, are exceedingly efficacious. When influenza is epidemic, this treatment is the easiest, safest, and surest. Holloway's Pills purify the blood, remove all obstacles to its free circulation through the lungs, relieve the over-gorged air tubes, and render respirations free, without reducing the strength, irritating the nerves, or depressing the spirits; such are the ready means of saving suffering when any one is afflicted with cold, coughs, bronchitis, and other chest complaints, by which so many persons are seriously and permanently afflicted in most countries.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:o:—

YARBOROUGH LODGE, No. 551.

ON Tuesday, 18th Dec., Bro. the Rev. James Jones was installed W.M. of the above Lodge for the ensuing year. There was a capital attendance of the brethren, including a number of visitors from Portsmouth, Ryde, Shanklin, and Sandown. The ceremony was performed by Bro. G. M. Burt P.M. P.J.G.D. in a most efficient manner. The W.M. invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. J. Webber S.W., P. Todham Jones J.W., W. J. Knight S.D., T. H. Clough J.D., Rev. J. A. Alloway Chaplain, G. M. Burt Treasurer, T. H. I. Petherick P.M. Secretary and Organist, G. Brockington I.G., F. M. Darwin and R. H. Tolman Stewards, and Jeffrey Tyler. The banquet took place at Cass's, Crab and Lobster Hotel, and was of the most récherché description. Between thirty and forty brethren sat down, and an enjoyable evening was spent. The usual Loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, and altogether the gathering was one of the most successful which the Lodge has held.

GREAT NORTHERN LODGE, No. 1287.

A REGULAL meeting of this excellent working Lodge was held on the 20th instant, at the Freemasons' Hall, W.C. Bros. T. Owen W.M., T. E. Bathard S.W., C. Kempton J.W., S. Webb P.M. Treasurer, T. H. Staton P.M. Secretary, Cano S.D., J. B. Lancaster J.D., J. Edgar I.G., Morant Organist, Hemming M.C.; P.M.'s Cleghorn, H. T. Reed, E. Lancaster. Lodge was opened, and the minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Brother George was passed to the second degree, and Bros. Davis and Bulling were raised. Both ceremonies were perfectly and impressively rendered. The Bye-Laws were read. The election for W.M. then took place, and Brother C. Kempton J.W. was unanimously chosen. The S.W., Bro. T. E. Bathard, having signified a desire to retire for the present year. Brother Kempton, in a very neat and appropriate speech, returned thanks for the unexpected honour paid him by electing him W.M. Brother S. Webb P.M. was re-elected Treasurer, Bro. Rawles Tyler, and Bros. Jackson and Paul were elected Auditors. Bro. S. Webb P.M. proposed and Brother Lancaster P.M. seconded that the sum of ten guineas be given from the funds of the Lodge towards a testimonial to Brother T. H. Staton P.M. and Secretary. This was carried unanimously. Brother Cleghorn P.M. in supporting the motion said every credit was due to Brother Staton for his valuable services as Secretary, a post he had held for seven years, and wherein he had discharged the duties most satisfactorily. The W.M., in a very eloquent speech, said he was pleased to present the testimonial. Brother Staton had initiated him some nine years since, and he was now Master of the Lodge. During the time Bro. Staton had occupied the post of Secretary he had ably fulfilled his duties, and had also done noble work for the Charities. He hoped Bro. Staton might be spared for many years to be their Secretary, and now, in the name of the brethren, he presented him with a cheque for £60, which all agreed he well deserved. Brother Staton, in an eloquent speech, returned thanks. Fourteen years since he assisted in obtaining the warrant of their Lodge; his work since had been a labour of love, and while he had health and strength his services were at the command of the brethren. Brothers Lancaster P.M., Reed P.M., and S. Webb P.M. supported the remarks of the W.M., all agreed that the testimonial was one Brother Staton well deserved. Brother S. Webb then proposed that a Past Master's jewel, of the value of ten guineas, be supplied from the funds of the Lodge to the retiring Worshipful Master, for the able and efficient manner in which he had discharged the duties of the chair, and in token of the respect he is held in by every member. Lodge was then closed and the brethren sat down to a very excellent supper provided by Messrs. Spiers and Pond (Limited), and superintended by Brother E. Dawkins. The Worshipful Master, who presided, proposed the Loyal and Masonic toasts. Brother Cleghorn I.P.M. proposed the health of the W.M.; this was the last time he would occupy the chair. Twelve months since he had predicted the W.M. would do credit to the office; that had been fully verified. All the brethren had seen how ably and efficiently every duty required of their W.M. had been accomplished. The W.M., in reply, thanked Brother Cleghorn for his kind remarks. On leaving the chair he trusted the brethren thought he had done his duty, and he thanked them very heartily for their kindness. The toast of the W.M. elect was next given; they had seen him work the three degrees in the Lodge of Instruction; he would uphold the dignity of the Lodge. He would ask them to drink to Bro. Kempton's health, and to a successful year of office for him. In reply, Bro. Kempton said a great responsibility had been thrown on him. The Great Northern Lodge is known as a good working Lodge; he would try and do his best to carry out every detail, and to follow in the footsteps of his predecessors; he hoped to have the co-operation of the Past Masters; this undoubtedly would render his office a success. In speaking to the toast of the P.M.'s, the W.M. said Bro. Cleghorn's good working is proverbial; Bro. Webb is one of the Founders; Bro. Staton, whom they all respect, and Bro. Reed were ever kind and genial; he would ask them to drink the toast with cordiality. Bro. Cleghorn, in reply, congratulated the brethren on their selection of a Master. Bro. Bathard had taken a consistent view of the situation, and wisely refused it. In the name of the Past Masters he thanked the members. The toast of the Junior Officers and the Tyler's toast was given. Bro. H. M. Levy P.M. 188 was present as a visitor. A special musical treat was afforded to the brethren, in the shape of some excellent songs, by Bros. S. Webb P.M., Adelman, Paul Doughty, Reid, Kempton, Lloyd, and Bulling, Bro. Morant Organist accompanying on the piano.

SANDOWN LODGE, No. 1869.

THE installation took place at the Masonic Hall, Sandown, on 20th inst., when Bro. J. Bunt jun., W.M. elect, was installed for the ensuing year. The attendance of brethren was large, amongst them were Bros. Francis Newman W.M. 1384 P.P.S.G.W., the Rev. P. G. W. Pickering P.G.C. and S.W. Medina 35, E. U. Cust Medina 35, W. Judd Sec. Chine 1384, Francis Cooper S.W. Chine 1384, F. Rayner I.G. Chine 1384, S. Wheeler W.M. elect Albany 151, E. H. Fradd Albany 151, T. Kentfield W.M. Albany 151, J. G. Cannon Lucknow 532, J. W. Give S.D. Harmony 309. The following Officers and brethren were present at the ceremony:—Bros. Latimer H. Saunders W.M. P.P.G.S., J. Bunt jun. W.M. elect, R. Dampier-Child J.W., F. W. Brown Secretary, A. Shaw Acting Secretary, A. J. Firth J.D., H. C. Rembridge M.C., W. Garland I.G., A. Callaway Tyler. R. H. Cole, J. W. Bignell, H. M. Barker, G. W. S. Withers, H. Pigeon jun., and H. Bunt. The ceremonies associated with the installation were performed by Bro. F. Newman P.P.S.G.W., &c., and on their completion the W.M., Bro. J. Bunt jun., appointed and invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. Latimer H. Saunders I.P.M., R. Dampier-Child S.W., A. J. Firth J.W., H. M. Barker Sec., A. Shaw S.D., H. Pigeon jun. J.D., Rembridge I.G., G. W. T. Withers Steward, and A. Callaway Tyler. Other business disposed of, the Lodge was declared duly closed, and the company repaired to the Sandown Hotel, where an excellent repast was prepared by Bro. W. Mew.

Justice Lodge of Instruction, No. 147.—A meeting was held on Thursday, at the Brown Bear, High-street, Deptford. Bros. B. R. Banks W.M., Ingram P.M. S.W., J. Bedford Williams J.W., S. R. Speight P.M. Secretary, W. E. Dilley S.D., Penrose J.D., Greener I.G. P.M.'s Hutchings Preceptor, J. W. Freeman, &c. The Lodge was opened, and after the confirmation of the minutes, the ceremonies of initiation and passing were rehearsed. Bro. J. W. Freeman personating the candidate. Lodge was then called off, and, on resuming, was closed to the first degree. Votes of thanks were then accorded to the Preceptor, Treasurer, and Secretary, for the able manner in which they had discharged their respective duties during the past year.

Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 198.—Meeting held at the Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N., on Saturday, the 22nd instant. Bro. Gellen W.M., Ashton S.W., G. Ferrer J.W., A. Ferrer S.D., Gribbell J.D., Cross I.G., Pearcy Preceptor, Galer Secretary; also Bros. Cohen, Kidder, Powell, Turner, Mullord, &c. After preliminaries, Bro. Powell offered himself as candidate, and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed. Bro. Pearcy worked the first, second, and third, and Bro. Cohen the fourth sections of the lecture, assisted by the brethren. Bro. Cross, of the Burgoyne Lodge 902 was elected a joining member. Bro. Ashton was elected W.M. for the ensuing week. Nothing further having offered for the good of Freemasonry, Lodge was closed in ancient form, and adjourned to Saturday, the 29th instant.

Royal Alfred Lodge of Instruction, No. 780.—A meeting was held on Friday, 21st inst., at the Star and Garter Hotel, Kew Bridge. Present—Bros. Gunner W.M., B. Blasby S.W., Thomas J.W., C. E. Botley S.D., Maton J.D., F. Botley I.G., C. Andrews P.M. Preceptor. After formalities had been observed, Bro. C. E. Botley answered the questions leading to the 2nd degree, and the W.M. rehearsed the ceremony. Bro. Maton answered questions leading to the third, and the ceremony of raising was rehearsed. Lodge was regularly closed and adjourned until 4th January 1884, when Brother B. Blasby will occupy the chair.

New Finsbury Park Lodge of Instruction, No. 1695.—At the meeting held on the 18th inst., at the Hornsey Wood Tavern—Present: Bros. Eldridge W.M., Morris S.W., Bolt J.W., Berry Secretary, Gush Preceptor, Hall S.D., Haynes J.D., Scott I.G.; also Bros. Fenner, Larchin, Tremere, Knights, Cox, Yeoman and Gregory. The Lodge was opened in due form, and minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Fenner offered himself as candidate, and the ceremony of initiation was rehearsed. The first and second sections of the first lecture were then worked by Bro. Larchin. Lodge was opened in the second and third degrees, and Bro. Hall having taken the chair, the ceremony of raising was rehearsed, Bro. Tremere candidate. Lodge resumed, and the following alteration in the Bye-laws, proposed by Bro. Gush, was discussed and carried, viz.—"That the ceremonies of initiation, raising and passing be rehearsed on the first, second and third Tuesdays in the month respectively, and that the sections referring to such degrees be worked. That the business of the fourth Tuesday be at the discretion of the W.M. for the time being, and that when a fifth Tuesday occurs in any month it shall be the privilege of the Secretary to take the chair." Bro. Morris was then elected W.M. for the next meeting, and all business being ended, Lodge was closed in perfect harmony, and adjourned to Tuesday, the 8th January next, at eight o'clock.

Digitized by Google

YORK LODGE, No 236.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Duncombe-place, York, on Monday, 17th inst. The W.M. Bro. George Kirby presided, and was supported by the whole of his Officers, there being also present amongst the large assembly the following Past Masters: Bros. Joseph Todd P.P.G.R., T. B. Whytehead Prov. G.S.W., Sir James Meek, J. S. Rymer (ex-sheriff of York), J. S. Cumberland, Captain Giffard, Mark Rook, Major McGachen, Major J. A. Barstow, A. Buckle, B.A., Qr.-Master Banks, G. Lee, Rev. J. J. Needham P.G. Chap. West Riding Yorkshire, McNay, G. Balmford, W. H. Gainforth, and John Blenkin W.M. elect 1611, amongst the other brethren being Sir F. Milner, M.P., and Alderman Terry, J.P.

ST. MARYLEBONE LODGE, No. 1305.

A REGULAR meeting of this Lodge was held on the 12th instant, at the Langham Hotel, Portland Place. Bros. E. White W.M., Draper P.M. as S.W., Hill J.W., J. Chaplin Treasurer, J. L. Baker P.M. Secretary, M. W. Halliday S.D., F. Smith J.D., Drake W.S., Kift Organist; P.M.'s B. Phillips, Pope, T. Foxall P.G.P., Ashwell. Visitors—W. Braham P.M. 720, Baylis P.M. Nine Muses, G. Everett P.M. 177, R. Andrews 35, J. Emanuel 15, A. Edmonds 1328, Purdue 884, Beckley P.M. 507, F. Higgins 280, B. L. Wilson 1366, Warner P.G.S., Cummings 188, Colonel Burgett, McCulloch, Scott, H. M. Levy P.M. 188, Grassi New Cross. After preliminaries, Brother C. M. Woolf answered the questions and was raised to the third degree. Mr. W. Smith, who had previously been balloted for, was initiated into the order. The Worshipful Master worked in both degrees with great ability. Brothers H. Rankin 89 (Antrim), and W. Braham P.M. 720, were unanimously elected joining members. The report of the Benevolent Committee was received and adopted. A distressed brother was assisted with the sum of £20. Hearty good wishes were given, and the brethren, fifty-nine in number, sat down to a sumptuous and récherché banquet and dessert, provided by Captain Gordon. The W.M. proposed the Loyal and Masonic toasts, which were received with enthusiasm. In speaking of the R.W. the Earl of Carnarvon Pro Grand Master, the W.M. referred to the way he had presided at the last meeting of Grand Lodge, and spoke of the difficulties attendant upon the circumstances of their being so numerous an assemblage. Brother White also spoke of the ability displayed by the Grand Officers at all times. They had a Past Grand Officer present, namely, Brother Foxall P.G.P., who he would call upon to respond. After a suitable reply had been made by Brother Foxall, Brother B. Phillips I.P.M. proposed the health of the W.M. The W.M. in reply said, while occupying the chair all his efforts were exercised for the good of the Lodge. He was pleased to see so large a muster of the members; he could assure them he would do all in his power for the welfare of the Lodge. The toast of the Initiate was next on the list, and Brother Smith acknowledged the compliment. For the Visitors, who were next toasted, Bros. Everett, Warner, Scott, and Grassi responded. The other toasts given were the Treasurer and Secretary, Bros. Chaplin and Baker, both acknowledging the toast; the Wardens and Officers, and then that of the Tyler. As is the custom at this Lodge, harmony was in the ascendant. Brother Raymond Curtis played an artistic melody on the concertina. Brother Grassi contributed a capital selection; Bro. Dr. Spurgin sang "Little Ben Lee;" and Brother Halliday S.D. "Good Company." Bro. Kift, the Organist of the Lodge, not only sang, but courteously accompanied the other brethren on the piano.

MARK MASONRY.

—:o:—

JORDAN LODGE, No. 319.

THIS Mark Lodge assembled on Wednesday, the 19th inst., Bro. John Lane W.M. in the chair. There were also present Bros. W. J. Hughan P.G.W., A. T. Blamey S.W., Walter Bradnee J.W., and a number of visiting brethren, including Bro. Chapman P.M. 1402 P.P.G.D. Devon, who was proposed as a joining member. The W.M. advanced three candidates in a most pleasing manner, the ritual being exactly rendered, and the Officers doing their duties exceedingly well. Although it was only the third meeting of the Lodge, so thoroughly had Bro. Lane and his Officers perfected themselves, that there was not a hitch, and the Degree was done justice to. By desire of the W.M., an address on Mark Masonry was delivered by Bro. W. J. Hughan, and on concluding his short lecture, Bro. Lane proposed him as an honorary member, that the Lodge might have a right to Bro. Hughan's services. The S.W. seconded the proposition, and it was most heartily agreed to. This Lodge attained its majority of twenty-one Masters by the elections on the 19th, and bids fair to be one of the most prosperous and ably worked Lodges in the Province of Durham. Bro. Colonel Davy was unable to be present.

PRESENTATION TO BRO. E. DAWKINS.

A SELECT company of the Masonic and private friends of Bro. E. Dawkins, who for some years has been associated with the Freemasons' Tavern, met, on the 20th inst., at the Horse Shoe Tavern, Tottenham Court-road, for the purpose of presenting him with a testimonial, in token of their sincere respect for his uniform courtesy. A sumptuous collation and dessert was provided by Bro. Charles Best, that gave great satisfaction. Twenty-nine guests were present. Bro. Muir ably occupied the chair, and Bros. Palmer and Morley acted as Vice-Chairmen. In proposing the toast of the Queen, the Chairman said it was not his intention to make long speeches. After this toast had been honoured, Bro. Muir said he had now to speak of the purpose for which the company had met to-night. He (Bro. Muir) had been associated with Bro. Dawkins six years; many present had known him longer; but without flattery he could say Bro. Dawkins possessed great equanimity of temper, and all who know him respect him. Some short time since, a few of his friends conceived the idea of presenting him with some slight testimonial, and opportunity was now taken of his recent marriage to carry this out. He (the Chairman) might say that a hearty response had been made, and several letters had been received conveying sympathy with, and a desire to assist in, the movement. After several other speakers had testified their appreciation of his estimable business qualifications, Bro. Muir formally presented Bro. Dawkins and his wife (who with other ladies was present) with a handsome Salver and Tea and Coffee Service, also an illuminated vellum testimonial with the names of the subscribers to the fund. Bro. Dawkins, in acknowledging the gifts, said he could scarcely form words to express his feelings. The handsome present made to him and Mrs. Dawkins had taken him quite by surprise; he could only say from his heart he thanked them, as also did his wife. This kind mark of the kindness of their friends would never be forgotten by them. Several other toasts followed, and the proceedings throughout were enlivened by some capital songs and musical selections. Bros. Graham, Kift, Morley and others rendering goodly service. Bro. Bertram exhibited marvellous dexterity in some clever card tricks.

MASONIC SOIREE AND BALL.

ON the 20th inst. a soirée in connection with Lodges 43 and 258 was held in the Town Hall, Carrickfergus. About one hundred brethren and their friends sat down to tea at eight o'clock. Brother Stevens W.M. 43 presided during the evening. After tea, Bro. Dr. Taggart addressed the brethren on the subject of Freemasonry, and the advantages derivable therefrom. He was followed by Mr. John Jellie J.P., who, although not a brother, highly eulogised the Order and its principles, so far as they were known to him. Dancing was commenced about ten o'clock, and kept up with vigour till an advanced hour in the morning. The music was supplied by the band of the 2nd Brigade North Irish Division Royal Artillery. The following were the teamakers:—Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Thomas Feeney, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Larmour (Joymount), Miss Dorman and Miss Carnaghan. Stewards—Bros. J. Newton P.M., T. Patterson S.W., T. Feeney M.M., W. J. Morrison, R.A., W. Larmour Secretary, — Gillispie M.M., and — Higgins M.M.

ROYAL ARCH.

—:o:—

ECCLESTON CHAPTER, No. 1624.

THE regular Convocation of this excellent working Chapter was held on the 26th instant, at the Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street. Comps. W. Vincent P.Z. as M.E.Z., J. G. Fisher H., J. Wyer P.Z. J., Beckham S.E., Tayler S.N., Bond P.S., Coulthard 1st Assistant, Lee 2nd Assistant. Chapter was opened, and the minutes confirmed. The election for M.E.Z. was the principal feature. Comp. Fisher was unanimously elected M.E.Z., Wyer P.Z. H., and Tayler J., Beckham S.E., Bond S.N., Isaacs Treasurer, Flatterly P.S.; he appointed Comps. Coulthard and Lee as 1st and 2nd Assistants, and Shepherd Janitor. Bro. Purnell Creston Lodge was proposed for exaltation at the next meeting. The S.E. announced that a dispensation had been obtained from the M.E.G.Z. that R.A. clothing might be worn at the Eccleston Ball, on the 11th January 1884. The Chapter was then closed until the fourth Wednesday in March. There was no banquet.

DANCING.—To Those Who Have Never Learnt to Dance.—Bro. and Mrs. JACQUES WYNMANN receive daily, and undertake to teach ladies and gentlemen, who have never had the slightest previous knowledge or instruction, to go through every fashionable ball-dance in a few easy lessons. Private lessons any hour. Morning and evening classes.
PROSPECTUS ON APPLICATION.
ACADEMY—74 NEWMAN STREET, OXFORD STREET, W.
BRO. JACQUES WYNMANN WILL BE HAPPY TO TAKE THE MANAGEMENT OF MASONIC BALLS. FIRST-CLASS BANDS PROVIDED.

EDUCATION.—HAMBURG.
Bro. JOHN A. NEECK, 9 Bundesstrasse, HAMBURG
Is prepared to receive into his Family
TWO OR THREE ENGLISH YOUTHS AS BOARDERS
During the time they attend School in this City.
CAREFUL SUPERVISION, KIND TREATMENT, BEST BODILY & MENTAL CARE
High References in England and Hamburg.
PROSPECTUS FREE

Digitized by Google

THE IMPERIAL HOTEL,

HOLBORN VIADUCT, LONDON,

Adjoining the Terminus of the London Chatham and Dover Railway, but distinct from the Viaduct Hotel.

THE BEST FURNISHED AND MOST COMFORTABLE HOTEL IN LONDON.
HOT & COLD WATER LAID ON IN ALL BED ROOMS.
The appointments throughout so arranged as to ensure domestic comfort.

EVERY ACCOMMODATION FOR MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS,
Public Dinners & Wedding Breakfasts.

The Crusaders Lodge, No. 1677, and Perseverance Lodge, No. 1743, hold their meetings at this establishment.

GOOD COOKING. FINE WINES. MODERATE CHARGES.
The Edison Electric Light.
TARIFF on APPLICATION to Bro. A. BEGBIE.

HOLLY BUSH TAVERN, HAMPSTEAD,

(Close to the Fire Station).

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; BALLS and ASSEMBLIES; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c. Rail and Bus within easy distance.

The members of the St. John's Lodge, No. 167, have held their meetings at this establishment for many years.

Full particulars and Tariff on application to
C. M. FROUD, Proprietor.

THE BOLTON HOTEL,

DUKE ROAD, CHISWICK,

A few Minutes from three Railway Stations—the Chiswick and Hammersmith on the North London; the Chiswick, on the South Western; and the Metropolitan, Turnham Green.

ACCOMMODATION for MASONIC LODGE MEETINGS and BANQUETS; PAROCHIAL DINNERS; RIFLE, CRICKET, and FOOTBALL GATHERINGS, &c.

The Chiswick Lodge holds its Meetings here. "The 'Bolton' is a cosy and very pleasant home."—Vide Masonic Press.

Tariff and particulars promptly supplied.
THOMAS WRIGHT, Proprietor.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL SPECIAL BUILDING FUND.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES.

In connection with such Special Fund, attainable until 31st December 1883.

Any present Life Governor of the General Fund, or any Donor who may qualify as such up to the date named above, will receive—

TWO VOTES,—instead of One Vote, for LIFE, for every FIVE GUINEAS contributed to the "Special Fund."

Lodges, Chapters, &c., similarly qualified may secure Two Votes instead of One Vote—for every Ten Guineas contributed to the "Special Fund."

 Ladies, and "Lewises"—being minors—similarly qualified, and all Vice-Presidents, will receive FOUR Votes for every Five Guineas so contributed.

Contributors of less than Five Guineas, to the "Special Fund," will be entitled to Votes as under ordinary conditions.

Now Ready, Crown 8vo, 96 pp,

Price One Shilling,

Free by Post on receipt of 24 Halfpenny Stamps,

OCCASIONAL PAPERS
ON
THE HISTORY OF FREEMASONRY.

Written expressly for delivery in Lodges of Instruction.

London: W. W. MORGAN,
Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N.
AND BY ORDER OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

Secretaries of Lodges of Instruction can be supplied carriage free, at 10/- per dozen.

PAUL & BURROWS,

MANUFACTURERS OF
SODA WATER AND SELTZER WATER,
LEMONADE AND GINGER BEER,
GINGER ALE AND POTASH WATER,
&c. &c.
FIRST CLASS QUALITY ONLY
WILSON and ENDELL STREETS, LONG ACRE, LONDON, W.C.
ESTABLISHED EIGHTY YEARS.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys,

WOOD GREEN, LONDON, N.

Patron:
Her Majesty the Queen.

President:
His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, K.G., M.W.G.M.

H.R.H. THE DUKE OF ALBANY, K.G.

R.W. PROVINCIAL GRAND MASTER OF OXFORDSHIRE,
Has most kindly consented to preside at

THE EIGHTY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY FESTIVAL,

TO BE HELD IN JUNE 1884.

The services of Brethren willing to act as Stewards are earnestly solicited and will be gratefully acknowledged.

FREDERICK BINCKES (P.G. Std.,)
Vice-Patron, Secretary.

Offices—6 Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen Street, W.C.
28th December 1883.

VOTES AND INTEREST ARE SOLICITED FOR

MRS. JANE TRIBE, aged 63,

WIDOW of Brother George Henry Tribe, who was initiated 1858 in No. 604, Lyttelton, New Zealand; joined No. 609, Christchurch, New Zealand; was first Worshipful Master of No. 1241, Ross, New Zealand; subsequently District Grand Chaplain Westland; and District Grand Treasurer North Island, New Zealand.

Votes thankfully received by
Mr. C. BECKINGHAM, 415 Strand; or by
Bro. C. J. PERCEVAL (V.P.), 8 Thurloe Place, S.W.

SECOND APPLICATION, April 1884.

To the Governors and Subscribers of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.

THE favour of the VOTES and INTEREST of the Governors and Subscribers is earnestly solicited on behalf of

LIONEL BLENKINSOP J. MANBY,

AGED 9 YEARS.

The Candidate's father, Bro. John G. Manby, was initiated in the Sincerity Lodge, No. 293, Liverpool, in 1859, and on his removal to London joined Prudent Brethren Lodge, No. 145, and the Chapter, and continued to be a subscribing member of the same until his death, which took place in January 1883. He leaves a widow and four young children very inadequately provided for.

Proxies will be thankfully received by the widow, Mrs. MANBY, Ashwick Cottage, Oakhill, Bath.

BRO. R. HIRST engages to provide, at short notice, an efficient Band for Annual Banquets, Dinners, Excursions and Quadrille Parties. For terms apply to "R. Hirst, The Three Crowns, 237 Mile End Road, E."

Twelfth Edition, post free, One Shilling.

DR. WATTS on ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS. A Treatise on the only successful Method of Curing these Diseases. By Robert G. Watts, M.D., F.R.S.L., F.C.S., &c., 5 Bulstrode-street, Cavendish-sq., London.
London: C. Mitchell and Co., Red Lion-court, Fleet-street; and Simpkin and Co., Stationers' Hall-court

REVIEWS.

All Books intended for Review should be addressed to the Editor of The Freemason's Chronicle, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

—:o:—

How we defended Arabi and his Friends. A Story of Egypt and the Egyptians. By A. M. Broadley, Barrister-at-Law. Author of "Tunis Past and Present." Illustrated by Frederick Villiers, Special Correspondent of "The Graphic" in Egypt. London: Chapman and Hall (Limited). 1884.

Not long after they had received their instructions from Arabi for his defence, the author and his learned brother in the law were retained as counsel for others among the prisoners, Yacoub Sami Pacha being one of the number. It became necessary, therefore, that they should have interviews with their new clients, and visits were accordingly paid to Toulba and Yacoub Sami Pachas, Ahmed Rifat Bey, &c. Of these Ahmed Rifat would seem to have been about the most conspicuous, and certainly the most distinguished personage, as well as the man of greatest culture. In his cell, we are told, were "books, embroidered cushions, a Persian carpet, a looking-glass, and elaborate mosquito curtains." At their first interview he gave his counsel something of his history. He told them his father was "Kani Pacha," who lived at Constantinople, had been more than once "Minister of Finances," and was spoken of as "the only honest Turk." He added, "I was educated at Paris, and went through the training necessary for the legal profession, but before I took my degree I returned home to marry the daughter of Kamil Pacha the Imperial Master of Ceremonies. I was next sent back to Paris as attaché at the Embassy, but I lost my post for visiting the exiles of the jeune Turquie party. Shortly afterwards I was appointed Director of European Correspondence at the Foreign Office of the Porte, but I resolved to seek my fortunes in Egypt. Ismail Pacha first employed me, and I gradually rose, till on the accession to office of Mahmoud Sami in February last I became Secretary of the Council of Ministers and Director of the Press Department." As a Turk, he pointed out, he had no motive to say what was not true, and he went on to speak of Arabi in the following terms, which certainly confirm the statements of his leader. "Arabi had on his side the sympathy of the whole of Egypt. He also gained mine. Arabi was the leader and spokesman of an enslaved and deeply-wronged people striving for freedom, and all Egypt was with him in his struggle. He was betrayed by the Khedive and deceived by the Sultan. The National cause is hopelessly broken now, and the Egyptians, like all oppressed people, are cowards, and cannot withstand the moral demoralisation of their complete defeat. Who can dare bear witness in our favour now? Even I trembled and faltered before the Commission of Inquiry, which only sought to force me to compromise my chiefs. In spite of all this, if we have a fair trial in the light of day, Europe will learn the true nature of Arabi's conduct, and the universality of his cause will, in spite of the power of our enemies, become apparent. Arabi need fear nothing then."

Digitized by Google

We are next introduced to a high personage very differently placed, namely Ismail Pacha Eyoub, President of the Court of Inquiry, described as "really a remarkable man," whose career had been a chequered one. "While undergoing banishment in the Soudan he somehow or other contrived to acquire a fair knowledge of English, French, and German. By one of those turns of fortune so common in oriental history he next became governor of the province which had been the scene of his exile, and succeeded in sending a satisfactory balance of revenue to Cairo. His enemies pretend he was not unfriendly to the Slave Trade, which contributed not a little to his financial success, but I never heard any proof advanced in favour of the assertion. Since his return to Cairo he has held several posts in a creditable manner, including the titular presidency of the International Tribunals, and the portfolio of Public Works in the Cherif Cabinet of 1881-82." This Ismail Eyoub, we further learn, "had joined the National cause, like everybody else, was even a member of the Council of Defence at Cairo, and took part in a famous congratulatory picnic held under the shade of Arabi's tent at Kafr-el-Dowar. Like a prudent man, he had not burned his ships, and contrived to come to terms with the successful Palace faction in the early days of the Restoration. As a sign of his complete submission, he had accepted the invidious task of helping to judge his fellow-rebels. His character presented a curious combination of uncommon intelligence and great weakness, and his endeavours to please everybody in the discharge of his duties were highly diverting. Between Riaz Pacha, Lord Dufferin, the Khedive, and the Counsel on both sides, he had a very difficult task to perform. His really sound judgment and good feeling generally pointed out the course he should take, but at the critical moment his moral courage failed him, and he often went hopelessly wrong. An ordinary spectator would have thought him prejudiced and arbitrary, while his experiments at speaking diplomatically certainly savoured strongly of deliberate prevarication." Such is the description given of the President of the Tribunal before which Arabi was to be examined; the other members, "selected almost entirely from the Turkish and Circassian parties," do not seem to have very favourably impressed Bro. Broadley with either their talents or impartiality. Thus, Ali Ghaleb Pacha and Yusef Choudy Pacha, both of whom were "Circassian memlouks," had "left the army with Osman Pacha Rifki, and the latter had been twice degraded and once exiled to the Soudan." Muhamed Zeki Pasha, "the creature of the Minister of the Interior Riaz," on succeeding Ismail Eyoub as President of the Commission, "did his utmost to harass the prisoners and ourselves. Although a near relative of the lady Aisha Hanem, he had endeavoured to gain favour by loudly applauding her deportation, and the escape of Arabi drove him nearly to frenzy. Every one of his decisions were reversed by the Ministry, and I am glad to say he did not even get a decoration when he went with his colleagues to give the Khedive an account of his stewardship." Saad-ed-Dine Bey, once Governor of the Behereh, "had gained credit by ill-treating some peculiarly obnoxious prisoners on their road to the Soudan." Muhamed Hamdy Bey was a Turk and brother-in-law of the prisoner Ahmed Rifat, "against whom he entertained a strong personal animosity. He has adroitly managed never to furnish the details of his administration of the late Mustapha Fazil Pacha's estate." It was this person who was told off to give out papers to our copyists, and at first was impertinent and disobliging, even going so far as to play a disreputable trick; which, however, was discovered. After Arabi's escape from death, his demeanour changed and he became "friendly and even servile." Others are described as "nonentities of the genus sea-lawyer," much given to browbeating prisoners and witnesses, so that the tribunal was far from being a brilliant one.

As to the testimony collected by the Commission against the prisoner, it is delared by the author to have been worthless, its gist being, however, very simple. "Everybody now thought Arabi a rebel and Tewfik a model Sovereign; the whole Egyptians nation had acted from a terror of Arabi and the Army; some persons had heard Arabi had burned Alexandria, and considered it probable that he had something to do with the massacres of June; nobody had any doubt now that Arabi deserved ill of his country, he had not succeeded, and should certainly be punished." It is added, "hardly a question had been asked which was not of the kind technically described as leading, and internal evidence of undue influence was afforded almost by every page. Whole days had been consumed in those humourous trivialities so congenial to the oriental mind; twenty witnesses had been examined to prove that the accused Mahmoud Sami had said, that 'the Khedive should pack up his portmanteau and go to Shepheard's hotel,' while one of the gravest items of accusation against some of the notables of the Sharkiya province was that of having 'shot at some dogs and cats dressed up as Sir Garnet Wolseley and Sir Beauchamp Seymour!'"

In the Chapter headed "What Arabi's Papers contained," will be found many important documents, which are given in order to illustrate Bro. Broadley's views of Arabi's character and conduct, among them being the "firmans of rank" issued by the Sultan in Arabi's favour, the one giving him the dignity of a Pacha, and the other the first grade of the Order of the Medjidieh. There is also the following, written by Mr. Blunt, when publishing by authority six months before the war the programme of the Egytian Nationalists:—

"They acknowledge the Sultan Abd-el-Hamid Khan as their Suzerain and Lord, and as actual Caliph or Head of the Mussulman religion; nor do they propose, while his empire stands, to alter their relationship. They admit the right of the Porte to the tribute fixed by-law, and to military assistance in case of foreign war. At the same time they are forcibly determined to defend their national rights and privileges, and to oppose, by every means in their power, the attempts of those who would reduce Egypt again to the condition of a Turkish Pachalik. They trust in the protecting Powers of Europe, and especially in England, to continue their guarantee of Egypt's administrative independence."

But undoubtedly the most important of these documents is the judgment passed by the "great theological doctors of the El Azhar (a Moslem university almost as old as Islam itself) upon the Khedive Tewfik." It is too long to quote in full, but the following excerpt from the istifta or question is most significant.

"What say you of a Suzerain who, being named by the Prince of the Faithful to govern his subjects with justice, and to act according to the rules of God, has violated the compact, and sown dissensions among the Moslems, and has broken their staff of unity? This so-called Sovereign has gone so far as to prefer the government of the Infidels to that of the Faithful, and asked nations who are straying from the path of the true religion to establish their power in the Mussulman country over which he rules. . . . And when the Faithful counselled him to change his conduct, he refused, and stubbornly continued in disobedience to the Sultan and the Holy Law. Knowing this, can this sovereign legally continue to reign, to enable strangers to strengthem themselves in the country of Islam, or must he not be deposed and another appointed in his place, who will watch over and keep the law?"

And in the "Fetwa," or opinion, it is answered, "In this case he shall be cast out, and in his place shall be named one who will watch over the law and defend it, and respect the rights of the Prince of the Faithful, our Lord the Caliph, Successor of the Messenger of all men," the judgment being supported by several passages from Moslem holy writ.

In the chapter that follows we have a succinct and graphic account of the difficulties in which the English counsel found themselves placed as regards the "procedure rules." As these had long been settled, it might have been supposed that the settlement would have been allowed to pass unquestioned, but the Egyptian authorities thought lightly of evading or attempting to evade them, and it was as much as Bro. Broadley and those acting with him could do to get them observed even partially. However, as good luck would have it, Lord Dufferin arrived in Egypt just at this critical stage of the proceedings, an event which caused very great excitement, especially on the part of the Khedive and his ministers, who "knew full well that he had baffled the tortuous diplomacy of the Yildiz Kiosk," and awaited the result of his advent "with fear and trembling." Arabi's counsel very soon obtained audience of his lordship, and after that Bro. Broadley tells us he felt "perfectly convinced that the Nationalists need no longe despair of justice," an opinion which after events very soon confirmed. But, perhaps, it was as well that Lord Dufferin should have appeared upon the scene at this period, as Bros. Broadley and Napier once more had their patience severely taxed over the procedure rules, and were again compelled to have recourse to the strongest protests in order to maintain their ground, and this they were enabled to do, thanks to the intervention of British officials.

It is to be regretted that our space forbids us describing even in brief the versions given by Ahmed Rifat, Yacoub Sami, and Muhamed Abdu of the events which had then so recently occurred. They fully bore out Arabi's statement and justified him in the course he pursued before and during the war, while Chapter XX., in which is recorded the examination of Ahmed Rifat, is equally telling in the same direction, and serves likewise to give the reader an even better idea than he may possibly have formed from previous particulars of that personage's ability and tact. Rifat was more than a match for the Commission before which he appeared, so that his examination was, it is almost needless to say, not unnecessarily prolonged. In Chapter XXI. we learn all about Suleiman Sami, who turned approver in the hope that he might succeed in proving Arabi responsible for the burning of Alexandria, but who in the end was justly hanged, on his own confession, for having had a principal hand in the crime. In the course of this portion of his story, Bro. Broadley incidentally refers to Egyptian Freemasonry and its difference from Freemasonry as it is known in England, from the fact of its having in it a strong admixture of the political element. He also tells us that many letters reached him from persons evidently Masons, who appeared to take a great interest in the trial.

Of the trial itself little need be said. It was the result of a compromise, brought about chiefly by Lord Dufferin. Arabi and his principal coadjutors pleaded guilty to rebellion against the Khedive and received sentence of death, which was immediately commuted into one of perpetual banishment from Egypt and its dependencies. It was no doubt a happy settlement of a very serious difficulty, especially for the British Government, which stood committed to the cause of the Khedive, whose case, if we may judge from Bro. Broadley's narrative, appears to grow weaker as Arabi's defence is more developed. As to the rest of the work, it is undoubtedly interesting, but, after the length to which our review has run, we hardly think it necessary to enter into any details respecting it. The greater portion of it is subsidiary to the main narrative and as such is only of secondary value. But in saying this we must not be understood as wishing to underrate its merits. It is only thus briefly dismissed, firstly because it is not essential to the completeness of the story of Arabi's defence; and, secondly, because, if we did dwell upon it, we do not think it would serve to make more apparent the opinion we have already expressed of the whole work, to the effect that it is difficult to decide whether the matter it contains or the manner in which the author has set it forth is the more worthy of commendation.

Digitized by Google

The usual meeting of the General Committee of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls took place on Thursday afternoon, at Freemasons' Hall, under the presidency of Bro. Col. Creaton, Past Grand Treasurer, among the brethren present being Bros. Robert Grey P.G.D., F. Richardson P.G.D., Lt.-Col. James Peters Grand S. Bearer, C. F. Matier, J. H. Matthews, S. H. Parkhouse, H. Massey, and F. R W. Hedges Secretary. After the reading and confirmation of the minutes, Bro. Richardson, on behalf of Bro. J. A. Rucker P.G.D., brought forward the motion of which the latter had given notice, to the effect that the salary of the Secretary, Bro. Hedges, be increased by £50 a year, thus raising his total stipend to £500 per annum. The motion was seconded by Bro. Col. Peters, and supported by Col. Creaton, who attended expressly for that purpose, Bro. Massey, and others, and carried unanimously. Bro. Hedges, who had been absent from the room was hereupon recalled, and expressed his thanks to the brethren for their kind recognition of his past services, and assured them of his determination to use his utmost endeavours to promote the success of the Institution. Ten guineas having been voted towards the Twelfth Night Entertainment to be given to the pupils on Wednesday, the 9th January, Bro. Hedges read a letter he had received from Col. Leach, R.E., under whose superintendence the recent drainage works at the School had been carried out, in which that officer spoke in warm terms of commendation of the manner in which the drainage had been done by Messrs. Fish, Prestige and Co., and the plumbing by Bro. Thomas Crapper, and he expressed a strong opinion that the services of Mr. Prestige, and his liberality in reducing the amount of the firm's charges, as well as those of Dr. Corfield and Bro. Crapper, should not be allowed to pass unnoticed by the Committee. Col. Leach's letter is appended, but it should be mentioned that, acting on the suggestion, Bro. Gray gave notice of a motion to the effect that Bro. Prestige be elected an honorary Life Governor of the Institution, with eight votes; that letters of thanks be sent to Dr. Corfield, for his services in connection with the sanitary arrangements, and to Bro. Crapper, for the manner in which his firm had executed the plumber's work. The other business included the consideration of twelve petitions, of which five were accepted, one rejected, and six deferred, the number of candidates for the April Election being fixed at 35, and the number of vacancies 23. Notices of motions by Bros. Martin and Matier affecting the laws of the Institution were given, and on the proposition of Col. Creaton it was arranged that, as there was a balance of £1700 to the credit of the Sustentation Fund, while the interest on the said fund was slightly in excess of £293, £500 out of the former amount and £250 of the latter should be invested. The proceedings closed with the usual compliment to the Chairman. The following is the letter referred to:—

"3 St. James-square, S.W., 14th December 1883.

"Dear Mr. Hedges,—I enclose the accounts for the drainage and plumbing work at the Institution. Fish, Prestige and Co.'s accounts amount together to £696 2s 2d, of which £550 has already been paid. I have arranged with Mr. Prestige, who, from the long connection of his firm with the Institution, desires to act liberally towards it, that there shall be a discount of £46 2s 2d, or, in other words, that a further payment of £100 shall settle these accounts. Crapper's account amounts to £468 9s 11d, which, barring the odd shillings, will stand as sent in, deduction for the old lead having already been made. £400 has been paid to Mr. Crapper, on account. The total cost of the works has been: Fish and Co., £650; Crapper, £468; and Dr. Corfield, £25; total, £1143.

"The accounts include many things which could not have been originally foreseen, but which were found to be necessary during the progress of the work, as well as some other small items of work done to the house occupied by the younger children. I went over the Institution a short time back, after a year's trial and experience, and found everything working satisfactorily, and I was glad to hear from Dr. Howell that not only had there been no case of serious illness since the work was done, but that the tendency to sore throat, which was formerly prevalent even among the servants, has disappeared. I think, therefore, it may be considered that the expenditure, though large, has not been unprofitable. Contrasting the expenditure with previous estimates, and bearing in mind that they would have been considerably increased by the extra work, I think the expenditure cannot be considered otherwise than moderate, and I am sure it will be satisfactory to the Committee to be able to report that they have so material a saving in the money voted to them. I should be glad if some acknowledgment were made of the ready liberality with which Mr. Prestige met my views, and in sending Dr. Corfield's fee, if not already done, a few complimentary expressions of well-deserved thanks from the Committee would no doubt be agreeable to him.

"As Mr. Crapper did his work remarkably well, and well knows all connected with the plumbing work, and also has the pattern of the closet basins, which were made specially, I would venture to suggest that if anything material is required in that direction, he should be again employed.

"A short memorandum of what was done, and a complete plan of the drainage, as it now exists, would be useful for future reference, and I will have them prepared.

"If I can again assist the Committee in any matter connected with the building, I shall have pleasure in doing so.

"I am, Dear Mr. Hedges, yours truly,

"G. A. Leach, R.E.

"F. R. W. Hedges, Esq."

ST. JOHN'S DAY.

WHY WE MASONS CELEBRATE IT.

THE New Year's Day of the Masonic Fraternity is rapidly drawing near, and will be appropriately observed by the universal Craft. In Pennsylvania (as our readers are aware) the officers of the subordinate Lodges and Royal Arch Chapters for the ensuing Masonic year are installed on or before St. John the Evangelist's Day, and the Grand Officers of both Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter are installed, the former at High Twelve on St. John's Day, and the latter in the evening of that day. It is evident, therefore, that St. John's is no ordinary day. With reference to it an esteemed Brother, and subscriber to the Keystone, has just written us the following inquiry:

I am anxious to learn the origin of St. John's day, what connection it has with Masonry, and whether 'Holy St. John' is supposed to have been a Mason?

We shall endeavour to throw some light on this subject, and to answer these inquiries as fully and satisfactorily as it is possible, perhaps, now to do.

Let us plant our feet at the outset upon the rock of Masonic history. There are certain FACTS that are incontestable, and to these we first advert. They are not new, but they are true.

There is no Masonic record superior to the Minute Book of a lawful Lodge. In Edinburgh, Scotland, there is at the present time the Lodge of Edinburgh (or Mary's Chapel), No. 1, which possesses its Minute Books back to the year 1598, nearly three hundred years ago. The minutes of date, 27th November, 1599, contain the following entry:

"Item, ordanis all wardenis to be chosen upoun Sanct Johneis day yearlie."

In the same year (1599) the Warden-General of the Lodges of St Andrew's, Dundee, Perth, &c., convened them at St. Andrew's, and made the following order:—

"XXVII November, 1599. First, it is ordainit that the haill Wardenis sal be chosen ilk yeir precislie at Sanct Ihoneis day, to-wit, the xxvii day of december; and thaireaftor the said Generall Warden be advertesit quha are chosen wardenis."

No record has been preserved of the action taken by this Masonic assembly (History of the Lodge of Edinburgh, No. 1, by D. Murray Lyon, Grand Secretary of Scotland. Edinburgh 1873). Facsimiles of both of these deeply interesting entries are given in the above-mentioned history. These are the earliest known historic references to an observance of St. John the Evangelist's Day as the day of election for Officers to serve the Craft. Thus, three hundred years ago, 27th December, was the Craft's New Year's Day. Bro. William Preston, in his famous "Illustrations of Masonry," gives what purports to be an historical relation of a Masonic occurrence, which was as follows:

"On the 27th December, 1663, a General Assembly was held at which Henry Jermyn, Earl of St. Albans, was elected Grand Master, who appointed Sir John Derham, Knight, his deputy, and

Digitized by Google

Mr. (afterwards Sir) Christopher Wren and John Webb, his Wardens."

This assertion is unsupported by any valued authority, except Roberts's 1722 edition of the "Constitutions of Freemasonry." A part of the statement we feel confident is incorrect. Sir Christopher Wren was not made a Mason before 1691, so that he could not have been a Senior G. Warden in 1663. We set no especial value on this reference to a Masonic observance of St. John's Day. At all events it occurred subsequent to the Scottish observance of 1559.

The next Masonic reference, in order of time, is to St. John the Baptist's Day, 24th June. Both of the Sts. John's Days have been observed for at least several centuries by Freemasons. The Grand Lodge of England was "revived" on St. John the Baptist's Day, 24th June, 1717: and the brethren sat down to their Feast annually on that day until 1727, when they substituted for it St. John the Evangelist's Day, 27th December. The former is often called "Summer St. John's Day," and the latter "Winter St. John's Day," and Ancient Craft Masonry has been sometimes styled "St. John's Masonry," because of the prominence of the two "Holy Sts. John" as patron saints of the Craft.

St. John the Evangelist's Day was Masonically observed in 1726 by the "Grand Lodge of all England," at York, by "a speech delivered to the Worshipful and Ancient Society of Free and Ancient Masons by the Junior Grand Warden." This speech may be read in full in Bro. Hughan's "Masonic Sketches and Reprints" (New York, 1871). This is the earliest Grand Lodge address on St. John's Day, of which a complete record and report remains.

We may here allude to two references to St. John, carved in stone. One is on the ruined walls of Melrose Abbey, which was erected by the Mediæval Operative Masons, who have been proven to be our Masonic ancestors. The carving embodies a prayer, and reads as follows:

> And : sweet : St : John : keep : this : holy : kirk : fra : skaith :"
> "I : pray : to : God : and : Mary : baith :

"Thus early," says Bro. Fort, "St. John appears to have been a patron saint of Operative Masons." And in this connection he notices the fact that Bishop Henry, an architect as well as an ecclesiastic, when he erected the Wurzburg Cathedral, in the Eleventh century, dedicated it to "Saint John," and erected in front of it two "symbolic columns," which stand isolated, supporting no superstructure, being distant from the main wall, and by the side of a Gothic portal. Bro. Fort says: "There is every reason to believe that these columns were raised with a typical design by that Master Mason." (See Fort's Early History and Antiquities of Freemasonry).

The Masonic observance of the Sts. John's Days is not confined to the Scotch, English and American Craft, but extends also to that on the Continent of Europe. Bro. Findel says of St. John the Baptist's Day:

> "This day is celebrated by all German Lodges, as the day of the anniversary of the Society of Freemasons. It is the high-noon of the year, the day of light and of roses, and it ought to be celebrated everywhere." (Findel's History of Freemasonry.)

The Festival of St. John the Baptist was kept by the Grand Lodge of Scotland until 1737, when the annual election was changed to St. Andrew's Day. The Grand Lodge of England practically now holds its annual Festival on St. George's Day. Both of these customs are departures from primitive practice; Masonry, has so far, been sacrificed to patriotism. In Pennsylvania, for many years (until about 1816) the subordinate Lodges elected their Masters twice a-year; one term of service beginning on St. John the Baptist's Day, and the other on St. John the Evangelist's Day. Thus were both of these days emphasised and utilised. In England, we believe, since the union of the two Grand Lodges in 1813, Lodges are no longer dedicated to the Saints John, but only to "God and His service." This also was a departure from previous practice, doubtless made in order to avoid the appearance of sectarianism, but such exclusion of the Saints John was unwise, being a departure from long-established Masonic custom. These great names have been for too many centuries authoratively connected with Freemasonry to be thus cast aside. This action was probably in accordance with the "new day, new duty" theory, which we do not recognise as ever justifiable. We have commemorated the Saints John for at least three hundred years, so that they are, so to speak, now a part of the "body of Masonry." Let no one among us dare to attempt to dismember Masonry by following so bad a precedent as that occasionally adopted abroad.

Having thus stated and substantiated our opinion of the observance of the Sts. John's Days in Freemasonry, we will next consider the ORIGIN of the Sts. John's Days. As our readers are aware, traditionally Freemasonry antedates the Christian era, and therefore the period in which the Sts. John lived. If our traditions be true, the Craft observed festival days before those saints were born. Our readers are aware of the frequent references to the SUN in Masonry. Now it is quite a remarkable coincidence, that has been noted by Masonic writers, that the sun enters the zodiacal sign "Cancer," just before St. John the Baptist's Day, and "Capricorn" just before St. John the Evangelist's Day, when we have, respectively, the longest and shortest days in the year. Freemasonry being so full of symbolic allusions to the sun, it is not surprising that its festivals should have been observed at the two important heliacal periods, 24th June and 27th December; and it was quite natural, when the vast majority of Masons had become Christians, that they should have continued to observe their original festival seasons under the designation of the two Sts. John. St. John the Evangelist, especially, as the "Apostle of the mysteries," the Grand Hierophant of the religion up to which it seemed to them their own religion, that of Judaism, naturally led, and into which it merged, was regarded as worthy of all honour and praise.

Perhaps we should now be prepared to answer the question, Were the Holy Saints John, or either of them, Masons? But we are not. We have no historic information on the subject. Nothing but tradition. We do know that both of these "patron saints" were standard bearers of TRUTH, and heralds of good news to the world. St. John the Baptist's career was meteoric, illuminating darkness with Light. St. John the Evangelist was undoubtedly a mystic, a hierophant of the mysteries of the ever-living God, and champion of a Love that was faithful and boundless—just such sincere Love and Charity as Masonry teaches and practises. The Saints John were good men and true in fact, if not in Masonry, and our traditions lead us to believe that they were Freemasons.

Some brethren are exceedingly specific in their Masonic allusions to the Saints John, so that one might infer that they had a special revelation on the subject. For example: Bro. John Beach, in 1856, said: "The most excellent Masonic authority, our ancient worthy brother and Past Master, St. John the Evangelist, tells us that 'God is Love.'" (Morris's Code of Masonic Law, Louisville, 1856). Such allusions are a mistake. They assert too much, and thus weaken, and even tend to destroy, one's belief in the Masonic tradition on the subject.

We answer the question, Why do we celebrate St. John the Evangelist's Day? by saying, Because Freemasons for three centuries have observed it, as we learn from our Lodge records; and that it was observed in like manner during many prior centuries we are informed by Masonic tradition. We deeply revere the characters of both St. John the Baptist and St. John the Evangelist, and we trust the day will never dawn when the Craft shall cease to honour their names and commemorate their festivals.

Keystone.

We are pleased to find that that valuable publication, the Civil Service Candidate, whose appearance in the field of journalism we recently noted, is apparently making such progress that there is every chance of its becoming ere long a necessity with the class to whose needs it so ably ministers. We would especially draw attention to a very able article on "The Growth of Competition for Appointments in the Civil Service," which was brought to a conclusion last week, as well as to an important feature which has just been introduced, namely, a list of Text Books on the subjects of Civil Service Examinations. This list, so far as it goes, appears to contain most of the works which have been found serviceable by candidates for this class of appointment.

FUNERALS.
Bros. W. K. L. & G. A. HUTTON,
COFFIN MAKERS & UNDERTAKERS,
17 NEWCASTLE STREET, STRAND, W.C.
And at 80 FOREST HILL ROAD, PECKHAM RYE, S.E.

Digitized by Google

DIARY FOR THE WEEK.

We shall be obliged if the Secretaries of the various Lodges throughout the Kingdom will favour us with a list of their Days of Meetings, &c., as we have decided to insert only those that are verified by the Officers of the several Lodges.

—:o:—

SATURDAY, 29th DECEMBER.

198—Percy, Jolly Farmers', Southgate Road, N., 8. (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7. (Instruction)
1624—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-street, W. at 8.

1463—Wharncliffe, Rose and Crown Hotel Penistone
1965—Eastes, Pariah Rooms, Bromley, Kent

MONDAY, 31st DECEMBER.

Grand Mark Masters, Masonic Hall, 8A Red Lion Square, W.C.
22—Loughborough, Cambria Tavern, Cambria Road, near Loughborough Junction, at 7.30. (Instruction)
45—Strong Man, Excise Tavern, Old Broad Street, E.C., at 7 (Instruction)
174—Sincerity, Railway Tavern, Railway Place, Fenchurch Street, at 7. (In)
180—St. James's Union, Union Tavern, Air-street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
186—Industry, Bell, Carter-lane, Doctors-commons, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
548—Wellington, White Swan, High-street, Deptford, at 8 (Instruction)
1425—Hyde Park, Fountain Abbey Hotel, Praed Street, Paddington, at 8 (In).
1489—Marquess of Ripon, Pembury Tavern, Amhurst-rd., Hackney, at 7.30 (In)
1507—Metropolitan, The Moorgate, Finsbury Pavement, E.C., at 7.30 (Inst.)
1585—Royal Commemoration, Fox and Hounds, Putney, at 8. (Instruction)
1606—Kilburn, 46 South Molton Street, Oxford Street, W., at 8. (Inst.)
1623—West Smithfield, Clarence Hotel, Aldersgate Street, E.C. at 7 (Inst.)
1625—Tredegar, Royal Hotel Mile End Road, corner of Burdett Road. (Inst).
1693—Kingsland, Cock Tavern, Highbury, N., at 8.30 (Instruction)
1891—St. Ambrose, Baron's Court Hotel, West Kensington. (Instruction)
R.A. 933—Doric, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 7. (Instruction)

63—Social, Queen's Hotel, Manchester
148—Lights, Masonic Rooms, Warrington
383—Royal Union, Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge. (Instruction)
1110—Tyrian, Gildredge Hotel, Eastbourne
1177—Tenby, Tenby, Pembroke
1449—Royal Military, Masonic Hall, Canterbury, at 8. (Instruction)

TUESDAY, 1st JANUARY.

Colonial Board, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
9—Albion, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
55—Constitutional, Bedford Hotel, Southampton-bldgs., Holborn, at 7 (Inst).
101—Temple, Ship and Turtle Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C.
141—Faith, Queen Anne's Restaurant, Queen Anne's Gate, St. James's Park Station, at 8. (Instruction)
186—Union, Criterion, W.
172—Old Concord, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
177—Domatic, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30 (Instruction)
188—Joppa, Champion Hotel, Aldersgate-street, at 7.30. (Instruction)
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney (Instruction)
753—Prince Frederick William, Eagle Tavern, Clifton Road, Maida Hill, at 8 (Instruction)
765—St. James, Bridge House Hotel, Southwark
820—Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond, at 7.30 (Instruction)
860—Dalhousie, Sisters' Tavern, Pownall-road, Dalston at, 8 (Instruction)
1044—Wandsworth, Star and Garter Hotel, St. Ann's-hill, Wandsworth (Inst).
1298—Royal Standard, Club, Upper-street, Islington
1321—Emblematic, Rose, Jermyn Street, W., at 8 (Instruction)
1349—Friars, Liverpool Arms, Canning Town, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1360—Royal Arthur, Rock Tavern, Battersea Park Road, at 8. (Instruction)
1381—Kennington, Horns Tavern, Kennington
1448—Mount Edgcumbe, 19 Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8 (Instruction)
1471—Islington, Champion, Aldersgate Street, at 7, (Instruction)
1472—Henley, Three Crowns, Woolwich
1540—Chaucer, Old White Hart, Borough High Street, at 8. (Instruction)
1558—D. Connaught, Palmerston Arms, Grosvenor Park, Camberwell, at 8 (In)
1601—Ravensbourne, George Inn, Lewisham, at 7.30 (Instruction)
1602—Sir Hugh Myddelton, Queen's Head, Essex Road, N., at 8.30 (In)
1695—New Finsbury Park, Hornsey Wood Tavern, Finsbury Park, at 8 (Inst)
1707—Eleanor, Trocadero, Broad-street-buildings, Liverpool-street, 6.30 (Inst)
1949—Brixton, Prince Regent, Dulwich-road, East Brixton, at 8. (Instruction).
Metropolitan Chapter of Improvement, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, 6.30
R.A. 1365—Clapton, White Hart Tavern, Clapton, at 8. (Instruction)
R.A. 1538—St. Martins-le-Grand, Goldhall Tavern, Gresham-street
M.M. 1—St. Mark's, Freemasons' Tavern, W.C.

70—St. John, Huyshe Masonic Temple, Plymouth
103—Beaufort, Freemasons' Hall, Bristol.
120—Palladian, Green Dragon Hotel, Hereford.
124—Marquis of Granby, Freemasons' Hall, Old Elvet, Durham
158—Adams, Masonic Rooms, Victoria Hall, Trinity-road, Sheerness
209—Etonian, Masonic Hall, Windsor
226—Benevolence, Red Lion Hotel, Littleborough.
241—Merchants, Masonic Hall, Liverpool (Instruction)
248—True Love and Unity, Freemasons' Hall, Brixham, Devon.
265—Royal Yorkshire, Masonic Club, Hanover-street, Keighley
364—Cambrian, Masonic Hall, Neath.
393—St. David, Masons' Hall, The Parade, Berwick
493—Royal Lebanon, Spread Eagle, Gloucester
558—Temple, Town Hall, Folkestone.
673—St. John, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.
734—Londesborough, Masonic Hall, Bridlington Quay.
794—Warden, Royal Hotel, Sutton Coldfield
804—Carnarvon, Masonic Hall, Havant.
847—Fortescue, Manor House, Honiton, Devon.
948—St. Barnabas, Masonic Room, Linslade, Leighton Buzzard
960—Bute, Masonic Hall, 9 Working-street, Cardiff.
995—Furness, Masonic Hall, Ulverston.
1002—Skiddaw, Lodge Room, Market-place, Cockermouth.
1134—Newall, Freemasons' Hall, Salford.
1244—Marwood, Freemasons' Hall, Redcar.
1322—Waverley, Caledonia Inn, Ashton-under-Lyne.
1336—Square and Compass, Corn Exchange, Wrexham.
1473—Bootle, 146 Berry-street, Bootle, at 8. (Instruction.)
1488—St. Eleth, Castle Hotel, Amlwch, Anglesea
1619—Sackville, Crown Hotel, East Grinstead
1674—Caradoc, Masonic Hall, Bank Buildings, Sussex Street, Rhyl
1750—Coleridge, Sandringham House, Clevedon.
R.A. 203—St. John of Jerusalem, Masonic Hall, Liverpool.
M.M. 69—United Service, Assembly Rooms, Brompton, Chatham.

WEDNESDAY, 2nd JANUARY.

Winter Entertainment to the "Old Folks," R.M.B.I. Asylum, Croydon
15—Kent, King and Queen, Norton Folgate, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
30—United Mariners', The Lugard, Peckham, at 7.30. (Instruction)
73—Mount Lebanon, Horse Shoe Inn, Newington Causeway, at 8. (Inst)
193—Confidence, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, at 7.30 (Instruction)
228—United Strength, Prince Alfred, 13 Crowndale-rd., Camden-town, 8 (In)
538—La Tolerance, Morland's Hotel, Dean Street, Oxford St. at 8 (Inst)
720—Panmure, Balham Hotel, Belham, at 7 (Instruction)
781—Merchant Navy, Silver Tavern, Burdett-road, E. (Instruction)
813—New Concord, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, N. (Instruction)
862—Whittington, Red Lion, Poppin's-court, Fleet-street, at 8 (Instruction
902—Burgoyne, 25 Charterhouse Street, E.C., at 7. (Instruction)
1278—Burdett Coutts, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel Road, E., at 8. (Inst.)
1288—Finsbury Park, Cock Tavern, Highbury, at 8 (Instruction)
1445—Prince Leopold, Moorgate Tavern, Moorgate Street, at 7 (Instruction)
1475—Peckham, Lord Wellington Hotel, 516 Old Kent-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1524—Duke of Connaught, Royal Edward, Mare-street, Hackney, at 8 (Inst)
1604—Wanderers, Adam and Eve Tavern, Palmer St., Westminster, at 7.30 (In)
1662—Beaconsfield, Chequers, Marsh Street, Walthamstow, at 7.30 (Inst.)
1687—The Rothesay, Inns of Court Hotel, Lincoln's Inn Fields
1707—Eleanor, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet Street, E.C.
1791—Creaton, Prince Albert Tavern, Portobello-ter., Notting-hill-gate (Inst.)
1827—Alliance, Guildhall Tavern, Gresham-street
1922—Earl of Lathom, Station Hotel, Camberwell New Road, S.E., at 8. (In.)
R.A.—Camden, The Boston, Junction Road, Holloway, at 8.30. (Instruction)
R.A. 55—Constitutional, Private Rooms, Leytonstone
R.A. 177—Domatic, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-st., at 8 (Instruction)
R.A. 1328—Granite, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
M.M.—Thistle, Freemasons' Tavern, Great Queen Street, at 8 (Instruction)

74—Athol, Masonic Hall, Severn-street, Birmingham
298—Harmony, Masonic Rooms, Ann-street, Rochdale
326—Moira, Freemasons' Hall, Park-street, Bristol
327—Wigton St. John, Lion and Lamb, Wigton
406—Northern Counties, Freemasons' Hall, Maple-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne
417—Faith and Unanimity, Masonic Hall, Dorchester
429—Royal Navy, Royal Hotel, Ramsgate
471—Silurian, Freemasons' Hall, Dock-street, Newport, Monmouthshire
594—Downshire, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7. (Instruction)
611—Marches, Old Rectory, Ludlow
845—Humphrey Chetham, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester.
673—St. John, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8 (Instruction)
678—Earl Ellesmere, Church Hotel, Kersley, Farnworth, near Bolton.
838—Franklin, Peacock and Royal Hotel, Boston
972—St. Augustine, Masonic Hall, Canterbury. (Instruction)
992—St. Thomas, Griffin Hotel, Lower Broughton
1010—Kingston, Masonic Hall, Worship-street, Hull
1013—Royal Victoria, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
1037—Portland, Portland Hall, Portland. (Instruction.)
1085—Hartington, Masonic Hall, Gower-street, Derby
1091—Erme, Erme House, Ivybridge, Devon
1167—Alnwick, Masonic Hall, Clayport-street, Alnwick
1206—Cinque Ports, Bell Hotel, Sandwich
1274—Earl of Durham, Freemasons' Hall, Chester-le-Street
1323—Talbot, Masonic Rooms, Wind-street, Swansea
1335—Lindsay, 30 King-street, Wigan
1354—Marquis of Lorne, Masonic Rooms, Leigh, Lancashire
1356—De Grey and Ripon, 140 North Hill-street, Liverpool, at 7.30 (Inst)
1363—Tyndall, Town Hall, Chipping Sodbury, Gloucester
1431—St. Alphege, George Hotel, Solihull
1511—Alexandra, Hornsea, Hull (Instruction)
1620—Marlborough, Derby Hall, Tue Brook, Liverpool
1842—St. Leonards, Concert Rooms, St. Leonard's-on-Sea
1903—Prince Edward of Saxe Weimar, Masonic Hall, Portsmouth
R.A. 54—Hope, Spread Eagle Inn, Cheetham Street, Rochdale
R.A. 200—Old Globe, Londesborough Rooms, Scarborough
R.A. 300—Perseverance, Pitt and Nelson Hotel, Ashton-under-Lyne
R.A. 304—Philanthropic, Masonic Hall, Great George Street, Leeds
R.A. 342—Royal Sussex, Masonic, 79 Commercial Road, Portsea
R.A. 1125—St. Peters, Masonic Hall, Fore Street, Tiverton
M.M. 36—Furness, Hartington Hotel, Duke-street, Barrow-in-Furness

THURSDAY, 3rd JANUARY.

3—Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-street, Fitzroy-sq., at 8 (Instruction)
27—Egyptian, Hercules Tavern, Leadenhall-street, E.C., at 7.30 (Instruction)
45—Strong Man, Masons' Hall Tavern, Masons'-avenue, Basinghall-street.
87—Vitruvian, White Hart, College-street, Lambeth, at 8 (Instruction)
147—Justice, Brown Bear, High Street, Deptford, at 8. (Instruction)
192—Lion and Lamb, City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street
231—St. Andrew, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
435—Salisbury, Union Tavern, Air-street, Regent-street, W., at 8 (Inst.)
538—La Tolerance, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
554—Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney
704—Camden, Lincoln's Inn Restaurant, 305 High Holborn, at 7 (Instruction)
754—High Cross, Coach and Horses, Lower Tottenham, at 8 (Instruction)
901—City of London, Jamaica Coffee House, Cornhill, at 6.30. (Instruction)
1158—Southern Star, Pheasant, Stangate, Westminster-bridge, at 8 (Inst.)
1185—Lewis, Kings Arms Hotel, Wood Green, at 7 (Instruction)
1227—Upton, Swan, Bethnal Green-road, near Shoreditch, at 8 (Instruction)
1288—Finsbury Park, Cock Tavern, Highbury
1339—Stockwell, Cock Tavern, Kennington-road, at 7.30 (Instruction
1360—Royal Arthur, Village Club Lecture Hall, Wimbledon
1426—The Great City, Masons' Hall, Masons' Avenue, E.C., at 6.30 (Inst.)
1445—Prince Leopold, City Arms Tavern, St. Mary Axe, E.C.
1614—Covent Garden, Cranbourne, 1 Up. St. Martin's Lane, W.C., at 8. (Inst.)
1622—Rose, Stirling Castle Hotel, Church Street, Camberwell. (Instruction)
1672—Mornington, London Tavern, Fenchurch-street
1673—Langton, Mansion House Station Restaurant, E.C. at 6, (Instruction)
1677—Crusaders, Old Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, at 9 (Inst.)
1681—Londesborough, Berkeley Arms, John Street, May Fair, at 8. (Instruct).
1950—Southgate, Railway Hotel, New Southgate
R.A. 753—Prince Frederick William, Lord's Hotel, St. John's Wood, at 8. (In.)
R.A. 1471—North London, Alwyne Castle Tavern, St. Paul's Road, Canonbury, at 8. (Instruction)
R.A. 1507—Metropolitan, Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C.
M.M. 199—Duke of Connaught, Haverlock, Albion-rd., Dalston, at 8.30 (Inst.)
M.M. 244—Trinity College, 13 Mandeville-place, W.

24—Newcastle-on-Tyne, Freemasons' Hall, Grainger-st., Newcastle.
31—United Industrious, Masonic Room, Canterbury
38—Union, Council Chamber, Chichester
41—Royal Cumberland, Masonic Hall, Old Orchard-street, Bath
50—Knights of Malta, George Hotel, Hinckley, Leicestershire
123—Lennox, Freemasons' Hall, Richmond, Yorkshire
249—Mariners, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
254—Trinity, Craven Arms Hotel, Coventry
266—Napthali, Masonic Hall, Market-place, Heywood
269—Fidelity, White Bull Hotel, Blackburn
289—Fidelity, Masonic Hall, Carlton-hill, Leeds
294—Constitutional, Assembly Rooms, Beverley, Yorks
295—Combermere Union, Macclesfield Arms, Macclesfield
300—Minerva, Pitt and Nelson, Ashton-under-Lyne
309—Harmony, Red Lion, Fareham
317—Affability, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester.
419—St. Peter, Star and Garter Hotel Wolverhampton.
425—Cestrian, Grosvenor Hotel, Chester
442—St. Peter, Masonic Hall, Peterborough
446—Benevolent, Town Hall, Wells, Somersetshire.
483—East Surrey of Concord, Greyhound, Croydon.
509—Tees, Freemasons' Hall, Stockton, Durham.
637—Portland, Masonic Rooms, Town Hall, Stoke-upon-Trent.
792—Pelham Pillar, Masonic Hall, Bailring-lane, Great Grimsby
913—Pattison, Lord Raglan Tavern, Plumstead
974—Pentalpha, New Masonic Hall, Darley-street, Bradford
1012—Prince of Wales, Derby Hotel, Bury, Lancashire
1074—Underley, Masonic Room, Market-place, Kirkby Lonsdale
1182—Duke of Edinburgh, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1211—Savile, Royal Hotel, Eland
1282—Aucholme, Foresters' Hall, Brigg, Lincolnshire
1284—Brent, Globe Hotel, Topsham, Devonshire
1304—Olive Union, Masonic Hall, Horncastle, Lincolnshire
1344—Equity, Alforde Chambers, Widnes
1473—Bootle, Town Hall, Bootle, Lancashire
1500—Walpole, Bell Hotel, Norwich
1504—Red Rose of Lancaster, Starkie's Arms Hotel, Padiham, near Burnley

Digitized by Google

1513—Friendly, King's Head Hotel, Barnsley
1580—Cranbourne, Red Lion Hotel, Hatfield, Herts, at 8. (Instruction)
1594—Cedewain, Public Rooms, Newtown, Montgomeryshire
1639—Watling-street, Cock Hotel, Stoney Stratford, Bucks
1807—Loyal Wye, Builth, Breconshire
1829—Burrell, George Hotel, Shoreham
R.A. 187—Charity, Freemasons' Hall, Park Street, Bristol
R.A. 325—St. John, Freemasons' Hall, Islington-square, Salford
R.A. 758—Bridgwater, Freemasons' Hall, Runcorn, Cheshire
R.A. 1016—Elkington, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham
R.A. 1074—Bective, Masonic Rooms, Kirkby, Lonsdale
R.A. 1393—Hamer, Masonic Hall, Liverpool
M.M. 53—Britannia, Freemasons' Hall, Sheffield

FRIDAY, 4th JANUARY.

Metropolitan Masonic Benevolent Association, 155 Fleet-street, E.C. at 8.30.
Emulation Lodge of Improvement, Freemasons' Hall, at 7.
25—Robert Burns, The North Pole, 115 Oxford-street, W., at 8 (Instruc.
144—St. Luke, White Hart, King's-road, Chelsea, at 7.30. (Instruction)
507—United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell, at 7.30. (Instruct.)
706—Florence Nightingale, Masonic Hall, William Street, Woolwich
766—William Preston, St. Andrew's Tavern, George St., Baker St., at 8 (In.)
780—Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge. (Instruction)
834—Ranelagh, Six Bells, Hammersmith (Instruction)
933—Doric, Duke's Head, 79 Whitechapel-road, at 8. (Instruction)
1066—Metropolitan, Portugal Hotel, Fleet-street, E.C. at 7. (Instruction)
1158—Belgrave, Jermyn-street, S.W., at 8. (Instruction)
1298—Royal Standard, Alwyne Castle, St. Paul's-road, Canonbury, at 8. (In.)
1365—Clapton, White Hart, Lower Clapton, at 7.30. (Instruction)
1643—E. Carnarvon, Ladbroke Hall, Notting Hill, at 8. (Instruction)
1789—Ubique, Guardaman Army Coffee Tavern, Buckingham Palace-road, S.W., at 7.30. (Instruction)
1815—Penge, Thicket Hotel, Anerley
1901—Selwyn, East Dulwich Hotel, East Dulwich. (Instruction)
R.A. 3—Fidelity, Freemasons' Hall, W.C.
R.A. 65—Prosperity Chapter of Improvement, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall St.
R.A. 79—Pythagorean, Portland Hotel, London-street, Greenwich. (Inst.)
R.A. 1469—Ezra, 90 Ball's Pond-road, N
M.M.—Old Kent, Crown and Cushion, London Wall, E.C. (Instruction)

44—Friendship, Freemasons' Hall, Cooper-street, Manchester
81—Doric, Private Room, Woodbridge, Suffolk.
127—Union, Freemasons' Hall, Margate
219—Prudence, Masonic Hall, Todmorden.
243—St. George, Guildhall, Doncaster.
306—Alfred, Masonic Hall, Kelsall-street, Leeds
375—Lambton, Lambton Arms, Chester-le-street, Durham
453—Chigwell, Prince's Hall, Buckhurst Hill, at 7.30 (Instruction)
531—Truth, Freemasons' Hall, Fitzwilliam-street, Huddersfield.
538—St. Matthew, Dragon Hotel, Walsall.
574—Loyal Berkshire of Hope, White Hart Hotel, Newbury
601—St. John, Wrekin Hotel, Wellington, Salop
680—Sefton, Adelphi Hotel, Liverpool
709—Invicta, Bank-street Hall, Ashford
837—De Grey and Ripon, Town Hall, Ripon
839—Royal Gloucestershire, Bell Hotel, Gloucester
1333—Athelstan, Town Hall, Atherstone, Warwick.
1096—Lord Warden, Wellington Hall, Deal
1387—Chorlton, Masonic Rooms, Chorlton Cum Hardy
1393—Hamer, Masonic Hall, Liverpool, at 8. (Instruction)
1528—Fort, Masonic Hall, Newquay, Cornwall.
1557—Albert Edward, Bush Hotel, Hexham.
1561—Morecambe, Masonic Hall, Edward-street, Morecambe, Lancashire.
1648—Prince of Wales, Freemasons' Hall, Salem-street, Bradford.
1654—Gosforth, Freemasons' Hall, High-street, Gosforth
1735—Douglas, College Gateway, Maidstone
General Lodge of Instruction, Masonic Hall, New-street, Birmingham, at 7
R.A.—General Chapter of Improvement, Masonic Hall, Birmingham
R.A. 349—Peace, Freemasons' Hall, Albion Terrace, Southampton

SATURDAY, 5th JANUARY.

General Committee Boys' School, Freemasons' Hall, at 4
198—Percy, Jolly Farmers' Tavern, Southgate-road, N., at 8 (Instruction)
1275—Star, Five Bells, 155 New Cross-road, S.E., at 7. (Instruction)
1364—Earl of Zetland, Royal Edward, Triangle, Hackney, at 7 (Instruction)
1573—Carnarvon, Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street
1622—Rose, Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell
1634—Eccleston, King's Head, Ebury Bridge, Pimlico, at 7 (Instruction)
Sinai Chapter of Improvement, Union, Air-street, Regent-st., W., at 8

308—Prince George, Private Rooms, Bottoms, Eastwood
1362—Royal Albert Edward, Market Hall, Rochdale
1458—Truth, Private Rooms, Conservative Club, Newton Heath, Manchester
1466—Hova Ecclesia, Old Ship Hotel, Brighton

INSTALLATION MEETINGS, &c.

—:o:—

ST. JOHN'S LODGE, No. 348.

THE installation meeting of this Lodge was held on Wednesday, 27th inst., at the Bull's Head Inn, Bolton, at three o'clock in the afternoon. Present—Bros. Wm. Crankshaw W.M., J. B. Taylor I.P.M., John Kenyon S.W., John Partington J.W., John Alcock P.M. Secretary, Thos. Raby P.M. Treasurer, R. H. Phillips S.D., M. Chadwick J.D., John Harwood P.M. Organist, Robert Jones I.G., Thos. Higson P.M. Tyler; P.M.'s Israel Albert Greenhalgh, James Horrocks P. Prov. G. Steward, Saml. Barrett, Hy. Greenwood P.Prov. G. Purst.; also Bros. Jas. Eckersley, G. Barnes, Jas. Mansell, Wm. Greenwood, Joseph Wood, Wm. Green, Alfred Jones, John Harmer, Jos. Calderbank, Jas. Allen, G. W. Dyson, Wm. Woods. Visitors—Bros. G. P. Brockbank W.M. 37 P. Prov. G.D. Grand Steward Scotland, R. Duxbury W.M. 146, Benjamin Taylor P. Prov. G.Tr., J. W. Taylor P. Prov. G. Org., Rooke Pennington P.M. 37, Wm. Heywood Org. 146, Joseph Sutton 484, Edwd. Bridge 986 Croston, Robert Latham W.M. 1723 (St. George's), E. G. Harwood J.W. 1723 (Mayor of Bolton), J. Priestley 1723, Nathaniel Nicholson P.M. Secretary 1723, Thos. Naylor Steward 1723, T. Barber 1250. Lodge having been opened, the minutes of preceding meeting were confirmed, and a Board of Installed Masters having been formed, under the presidency of Bro. John Alcock, the W.M. elect Bro. John Kenyon was introduced by Bros. Israel A. Greenhalgh P.M. and Henry Greenwood P. Prov. G. Purst., and installed, proclaimed and saluted in ancient form. Bro. Thomas Raby P.M. was re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. Jas. Horrocks re-elected Charity Representative to the Province. The following brethren were appointed to the several offices named:—Bros. John Partington S.W., R. H. Phillips J.W., Thomas Raby P.M. Treasurer, John Alcock P.M. Secretary, Wm. Chadwick S.D., R. Jones J.D., Jas. Eckersley I.G., A. Jones and G. W. Dyson Stewards, R. Harwood and John Harwood Masters of Cers., Thos. Higson Tyler. The addresses to the W.M. and Officers were delivered by Bro. John Alcock P.M., and the Officers were invested by Bro. John Harwood P.M. M. of Cers. Hearty good wishes were given by the visiting brethren, and the Lodge was closed in peace and harmony at 5.30, and adjourned to banquet.

PERFECT FRIENDSHIP LODGE, No. 376.

AT the anniversary meeting of this Lodge, held at the Freemasons' Hall, Ipswich, on the 19th instant, Brother E. Buckham was installed to the office of Worshipful Master. The installation ceremony was ably performed by Brother S. B. Anness. Bro. Buckham invested his Officers as follow:—Bros. J. W. B. King S.W., J. M. Franks J.W., W. P. Mills Treasurer, H. Sidney Secretary, J. Hunt S.D., F. A. Bales J.D., H. J. Wright M.C., C. Christopherson I.G., J. Soare S.S., H. Pettit J.S., Gould Tyler. Subsequently the commemoration festival was held in the banquet room. Bro. Buckham W.M. presided, and amongst the Visitors were—Bros. C. Carter 41, Thomas J. Ralling P.G.S. Essex P.M. and Secretary 51, R. K. Casley W.M. 114, B. P. Grimsey I.P.M. 114, H. Miller P.M. 114, R. Tidbury 114, George Elliston 114, Dr. J. E. Taylor, J. L. Brook W.M. 225, George Abbott P.M. 225, James Napier 225, A. Barber P.M. 225, W. Leathers 225, E. C. Smallman 332, Harry George Everard W.M. 650, E. Snow W.M. 959, D. D. Steele P.M. 959, &c. The Worshipful Master proposed the Queen, the M.W. Grand Master of England H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, the R.W. Pro Grand Master, Deputy Grand Master, Past and Present Grand Officers, and the R.W. Prov. Grand Master, the V.W. Deputy Provincial Grand Master, and Past and Present Prov. Grand Officers. Brother B. P. Grimsey P.G.J.W., and Bro. J. B. Fraser P.P.G.J.W. responded. The Worshipful Master proposed the health of the Installing Master, and alluded to the solemn and dignified manner in which Brother Anness had installed him. Brother S. B. Anness responded, and proposed the Masonic Charities, to which Brother Tracy responded, stating that during the past year the Province of Suffolk had contributed over £600 to the Charities. The Worshipful Master proposed the I.P.M., Brother A. A. Bennett, who responded, and proposed the health of the Worshipful Master. In electing Brother Buckham to the Master's chair, he felt the Lodge had done well. Bro. Buckham held a very high position in the town, which he owed to his own exertions. He had secured the confidence and esteem of his masters, and they were rather numerous. A man who could gain the good-will of the Town Council was sure to have the good-will of his Lodge. The Worshipful Master in response said nothing could be more gratifying to him than the kindness he had received from every member of the Lodge since he first took office. He looked forward with confidence to the future because he knew that he should be supported by very efficient Officers, and with their assistance he hoped he should be able to preside over the Lodge to the satisfaction of the members. The W.M. proposed the Visitors, coupled with the names of Bros. Carter, Ralling, Casley, and Smallman, who responded. The W.M. proposed the Past Masters, to which Brother J. B. Fraser responded. The W.M. proposed the Officers of the Lodge, coupled with the names of Bros. Wright, J. W. B. King, and J. M. Franks, who responded. The Tyler's toast concluded the toast list.

The East Anglian Daily Times states that H.R.H. the Duke of Albany has been elected to, and has graciously accepted, the post of Worshipful Master of the Royal Clarence Lodge, at Clare, for the ensuing year. His Royal Highness has appointed Major-General Cecil Ives, of Moyns Park, as his Deputy.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only true.

IT IS THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE PRESENT CENTURY.

It is the best known remedy for Coughs, Consumption, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, and Asthma.

It effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal Diseases—Diphtheria, Diabetes, Fever, Croup, Ague, &c.

It acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only known Specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

It effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, Convulsions, and Spasms.

It is the only Palliative in Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

It rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause, allays the irritation of Fever, soothes and strengthens the system under exhaustive diseases, restores the deranged functions, stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, gives quiet and refreshing sleep, and marvellously prolongs life. It may be taken by old and young at all hours and times.

It is extensively used by Medical Men in their official and private practice, at home and abroad, who have given numerous written testimonials of its wonderful efficacy.

SPECIMEN TESTIMONIAL.—From JOHN TANNER, M.D., L.R.C.P., M.R.C.S., L.S.A., L.M., Physician to Farringdon Dispensary, Physician to the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon's Metropolitan College, London, &c., 102 Harley Street, Cavendish Square, W.—"It gives me great pleasure to bear testimony in favour of FREEMAN'S Chlorodyne. I have prescribed it extensively, and in cases of Asthma, Chronic Bronchitis, the last stage of Phthisis, and the Winter Cough of the aged, I have never found any substitute or chemical combination its equal."

Sold by Chemists and Patent Medicine Dealers all over the world, in bottles 1s 1½d; 2 oz. 2s 9d; 4 oz. 4s 6d; half-pints 11s; and pints 20s each, and by the Inventor, RICHARD FREEMAN, 70 Kennington Park Road, London, S.E. Free by post. Purchasers are CAUTIONED not to have palmed upon them any substitute. See that the Trade Mark, "THE ELEPHANT," is on the wrapper, &c., and the words "FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE" are engraved on the Government Stamp—which is the only TRUE CHLORODYNE.

Digitized by Google

Price 3s 6d, Crown 8vo, cloth, gilt.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

FIRST SERIES.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

1 OUR LITERARY BROTHER.
2 A DISTINGUISHED MASON.
3 THE MAN OF ENERGY.
4 FATHER TIME.
5 A CORNER STONE.
6 THE CRAFTSMAN.
7 THE GOWNSMAN.
8 AN EASTERN STAR.
9 THE KNIGHT ERRANT.
10 THE OCTOGENARIAN.
11 A ZEALOUS OFFICER.
12 THE SOLDIER.
13 FROM UNDER THE CROWN.
14 OUR HERCULES.
15 A MERCHANT PRINCE.
16 THE CHURCHMAN.
17 THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER.
18 THE MYSTIC.
19 A MODEL MASON.
20 A CHIP FROM JOPPA.
21 A PILLAR OF MASONRY.
22 BAYARD.
23 A RIGHT HAND MAN.
24 OUR CITIZEN BROTHER.
25 AN ABLE PRECEPTOR.
26 AN ANCIENT BRITON.
27 THE ARTIST.
28 THE FATHER OF THE LODGE.
29 A SHINING LIGHT.
30 AN ART STUDENT.
31 THE MARINER
32 SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.
33. "OLD MUG."

Second Series, Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 3s 6d, post free.

MASONIC PORTRAITS.

SKETCHES

OF

DISTINGUISHED FREEMASONS.

REPRINTED FROM "THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE."

BY G. BLIZARD ABBOTT, OF LODGE No. 1385,

ASSOCIATE OF KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON.

—:o:—

LIST OF PORTRAITS.

NESTOR
(Bro. W. Hyde Pullen, 33 deg., Past G.S.B., Past Dep. P.G.M. Hants, Assistant Secretary Sup. Council A. and A. Rite.)

THE STATESMAN
(The Right Hon. Earl of Carnarvon, 33 deg., Pro Grand Master, Pro Grand Z., Past G.M.M.M., and Past M.P.S.G. Commander A. and A. Rite.

THE TREASURER
(Bro. F. Adlard, P.M. and Treasurer Royal York Lodge of Perseverance, No. 7).

THE DEPUTY
(The Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, 33 deg., Deputy G. Master, Grand H., G.M.M.M., Great Prior of the Temple, and M.P. Sov. G. Commander A. and A. Rite.)

A PROVINCIAL MAGNATE
(Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Hants and Isle of Wight, Past G.M.M.M. and Prov. G. Prior of the Temple, for Hants).

TIME-HONOURED LANCASTER
(Bro. J. Lancaster Hine, P. Prov. G.S. Warden East Lancashire).

THE SCHOLAR
(Bro. John Newton, F.R.A.S., P.M., P.Z., Author of Works on Navigation).

OUR NOBLE CRITIC
(The Right Hon. Lord Leigh, 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Warwickshire, Past G.M.M.M.)

OUR PERIPATETIC BROTHER
(Bro. C. Fits Gerald Matier, 30 deg., G. Steward Scotland, and Past G.S. Warden Greece).

A BOLTON LUMINARY
(Bro. G. Parker Brockbank, 31 deg., Past Prov. G.S.D., and P. Prov. G. Treas. [Arch] E. Lancashire.

A WARDEN OF THE FENS
(The late Bro. John Sutcliffe, Past Prov. G.S. Warden, and Prov. G.M.M.M. Lincolnshire).

A WARDEN OF MARK
(The Right Hon. the Earl of Donoughmore, 32 deg., Past G.S. Warden, and Dep. G.M.M.M).

A MASTER OF CEREMONIAL
(Bro. Thos. Entwisle, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. of Works E. Lan.)

OUR COSMOPOLITAN BROTHER
(Bro. Samuel Rawson, 33 deg., Past Dist. G.M. and G. Sup. China).

A GREAT ARITHMETICIAN
(Bro. H. B. Webster, Member of the Finance and Audit Committees of the R.M. Girls' and Boys' Schools).

AN INSTALLING MASTER
(Bro. W. Biggs, Past Prov. G.S.W. Wilts, and Past Prov. G. Sec. Berks and Bucks).

A VETERAN
(Bro. W. Kelly, Past Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Leicestershire and Rutland, Prov. G.M.M.M. Leicestershire).

A GRAND STEWARD
(Bro. John Wordsworth, 30 deg., Past G. Steward, Past Prov. G.J.W. W. Yorkshire, and Prov. G.M.M.M. W. Yorkshire).

VIR Veritas
(Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M and Past Prov. Grand. Soj. [Arch] Herts).

ACHILLES
(Bro. E. J. Morris, Past G.J.D., and Past Dep. Prov. G.M. of Eastern Division of South Wales).

A DEVON CRAFTSMAN
(Bro. J. E. Curteis, 30 deg., Past Prov. G.S. Warden Devon).

SIR RHADAMANTH
(Bro. J. M. Pulteney Montagu, J.P. D.L., 33 deg., G. J. Deacon, Past Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. Dorsetshire, and G. Chancellor Supreme Council A. and A. Rite).

HIPPOCRATES
(Bro. J. Pearson Bell, M.D., Past G. Deacon, Dep. Prov. G.M. and Prov. G. Sup. N. and E. Yorkshire).

A CESTRIAN CHIEF
(The Right Hon Lord de Tabley, Past G.S.W., Prov. G.M. Cheshire, Grand J., and Prov. G Sup. Cheshire).

A HARBINGER OF PEACE
(Bro. Charles Lacey, P.M., Past Prov. G.J.D. Herts).

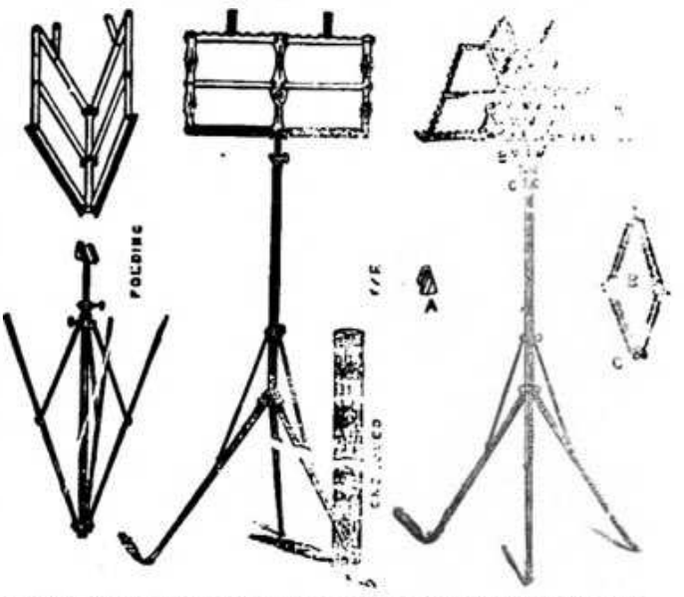
THE LORD OF UNDERLEY
(The Earl of Bective, M.P., Prov. G.M., Prov. G. Sup., and Prov. G.M.M.M. Cumberland and Westmoreland, and Past G. Sov. of the Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine).

A BOON COMPANION
(Bro. E. C. Woodward, P.M. 382, 1637, &c.)

A GRAND SUPERINTENDENT
(Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., 30 deg., Prov. G.M. and G. Sup. Berks and Bucks).

ÆSCULAPIUS
(Bro. J. Daniel Moore, M.D., 32 deg., Past G.S.B., Craft, and Past G.St.B., Arch, Intendan' General Order of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine for North Lancashire).

London: W. W. MORGAN.



By Order of all Booksellers, or will be sent direct, by post, from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N

THE AMERICAN

PORTABLE MUSIC STANDS.

J. F. WALTERS' PATENT.

Iron, from 10/6 each. Brass, from 30/- each.

THESE Stands are unsurpassed in simplicity, strength, portability cheapness, and elegance of finish. They are suitable for Military Bands Orchestras, Reading and News Rooms, Libraries, Studies, and Drawing Rooms. When opened to their full capacity they stand 5 feet high, and can be folded and enclosed in a case 21 inches long by 2 inches diameter. The weight is about 3 lbs. 13 oz., and they will support a weight of 50 lbs.

To be obtained of all Music Dealers, and of the Manufacturers and Proprietors of the Patent,

HARROW & CO.

MUSIC SMITHS, BRASS WORKERS, &c.

13 and 14 Portland Street, Soho, London, W.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

Free by Post, Price One Shilling.

THE

REVISED BOOK OF CONSTITUTIONS;

CRITICALLY CONSIDERED,

AND

COMPARED WITH THE OLD EDITION.

—:o:—

A SERIES OF ARTICLES,

REPRINTED FROM THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE.

—:o:—

LONDON:

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE;
SIMPKIN, MARSHALL & Co., 4 STATIONERS' HALL COURT;
AND OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

"All Freemasons interested in the Revision of the above, should read this work."

Crown 8vo, price 3s 6d, cloth lettered.

Uniformity of Masonic Ritual and Observance.

By Bro. JAMES STEVENS, P.M., P.Z., &c.

"May be read with advantage by the whole Craft."—Sunday Times.

"Grand Lodge should at once set to work to secure the desired uniformity."—Sheffield Post.

"The subject is ably argued by the author."—Western Daily Mercury.

"Useful and valuable in the highest degree."—Exeter Gazette.

"Will have a material effect on the future of Masonic Ritual."—South Western Star.

"The author adduces many variations in the language used by different Preceptors."—Cox's Monthly Legal Circular.

"Ought to be in the hands of every Mason."—Northampton Guardian.

"To Freemasons generally it will be found useful and valuable, and we commend it to their notice accordingly."—Surrey County Observer.

"Bro. Stevens' motion for a Committee on the subject of Uniformity of Ritual was carried by a large majority."—Freemason's Chronicle report of Grand Lodge meeting, 3rd December 1879.

Sent, by post, on receipt of stamps, by the Author, Bro. JAMES STEVENS, 112 High-street, Clapham, S.W.; or by Bro. W. W. MORGAN Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

Digitized by Google

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE,

A Weekly Record of Masonic Intelligence. Sanctioned by the Grand Lodge of England.

Price—18s 6d per annum, post free.

THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE will be forwarded direct from the Office, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, N., on receipt of Post Office Order for the amount. Intending Subscribers should forward their full Addresses to prevent mistakes.

Post Office Orders to be made payable to W. W. MORGAN, at Penton-street Office. Cheques crossed "London and County."

Advertisers will find THE FREEMASON'S CHRONICLE an exceptionally good medium for Advertisements of every class.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ADVERTISEMENTS.

Per Page...	...	...	...	...	..	£8	0 0
Back Page	...	...	...	...	...	£10	0 0

Births, Marriages and Deaths, 1s per line.

General Advertisements, Trade Announcements, &c. single column, 5s per inch. Double Column Advertisements 1s per line. Special Terms for a Series of Insertions on application.

Agents, from whom copies can always be had:—

Messrs. SPENCER and Co., 23A Great Queen-street, W.C.
Messrs. CURTICE and Co., 12 Catherine-street, Strand.
Messrs. KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.
Mr. RITCHIE, 6 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SIMPSON BROS., Shoe Lane.
Mr. H. SIMPSON, 7 Red Lion Court, E.C.
Messrs. SMITH and SONS, 183 Strand.
Messrs. STEEL and JONES, 4 Spring Gardens, Charing Cross.
Mr. G. VICKERS, Angel Court, Strand.
Mr. H. VICKERS, 317 Strand.

RICHARD PEARCY,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
31 PACKINGTON STREET, ISLINGTON,
LONDON, N.

Watches Made and Repaired in the very best manner.

MASONIC JEWELS.

THE THEATRES, &c.

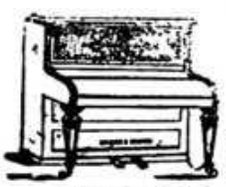
DRURY LANE.—At 2 and 7.30, CINDERELLA.
HER MAJESTY'S.—At 7.45, LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD.
HAYMARKET.—At 8, LORDS AND COMMONS.
PRINCESS'S.—At 7, A CLERICAL ERROR. At 7.40, CLAUDIAN.
LYCEUM.—At 7.45, A SHEEP IN WOLF'S CLOTHING. At 9, PYGMALION AND GALATEA.
ADELPHI.—At 7.45, IN THE RANKS.
OLYMPIC.—At 7.30, THE CRIMES OF PARIS.
ALHAMBRA.—At 7.45, THE GOLDEN RING.
SAVOY.—At 8, PRIVATE WIRE. At 8.40, IOLANTHE.
GAIETY.—At 7.45, THE ROCKET. At 10, GALETEA AND PYGMALION REVERSED.
OPERA COMIQUE.—At 8.15, MUSETTE.
AVENUE.—At 7.30, OBLIGING A FRIEND. At 8.15, LA VIE.
TOOLE'S.—At 7.30, NAMESAKES. At 8.30, ARTFUL CARDS. At 10, STAGE-DORA.
COURT.—At 8, THE MILLIONAIRE.
STRAND.—At 7.30, A MUTUAL SEPARATION. At 8, ROAD TO RUIN.
GLOBE.—At 7.45, MAN PROPOSES. At 8.30, THE GLASS OF FASHION.
GRAND.—At 7.30, JACK AND THE BEANSTALK.
VAUDEVILLE.—At 8, AN OLD MASTER. At 9, CONFUSION.
COMEDY.—At 8, FALKA.
ST. JAMES'S.—At 7.45, A CASE FOR EVER. At 8.15, A SCRAP OF PAPER.
ROYALTY.—At 8, DECEIVERS EVER. At 9, THE THREE HATS.
INTERNATIONAL.—At 7, MIZPAH.
STANDARD.—At 7, PUSS IN BOOTS.
SURREY.—At 7.30, JACK AND JILL.
ST. JAMES'S HALL.—Mr. DUVAL'S ODDS AND ENDS.
MOHAWK MINSTRELS, Agricultural Hall.—Every evening, at 8.
EGYPTIAN HALL.—Messrs. MASKELYNE AND COOKE. Every evening at 8.
CRYSTAL PALACE.—This day, BLUE BEARD. Dr. LYNN. PANORAMA. Open Daily, Aquarium, Picture Gallery, &c.
AGRICULTURAL HALL.—WORLD'S FAIR.

BRO. G. S. GRAHAM,

The Popular Tenor and Buffo Vocalist, from St. James's Hall, Crystal Palace, &c.

(Provincial Grand Organist Middlesex)

IS OPEN TO ACCEPT ENGAGEMENTS FOR



Concerts, Entertainments, & Masonic Banquets.

Bro. G. S. Graham's Party of Eminent Artists can be engaged for Masonic Banquets, Consecrations and Installations, &c. For Opinions of the Press, and terms, address—G. S. GRAHAM, St. John's Villa, 91 Ferndale Road, Balham, Surrey.

PIANOFORTES AND HARMONIUMS ON EASY TERMS.

GROVER & GROVER

LET ON HIRE, WITH OPTION OF PURCHASE,

BEAUTIFUL AND PERFECT INSTRUMENTS.
PURCHASERS CHOOSE THEIR OWN TERMS,
FROM 15s TO £3 3s PER QUARTER.

The Advantages of a Trial, with the Convenience of the Three Years' System at Cash Price, by Paying about a Quarter of the value down, the Balance by Easy Payments, from 15s per quarter.

GROVER & GROVER (late AVILL & SMART),
TABERNACLE SQUARE, FINSBURY, E.C.
ESTABLISHED 1830.

PIANOFORTES, £19 10s.
AMERICAN ORGANS, £9 5s.
HARMONIUMS, £5 15s.

Perfect in Tone and Touch. Elegant Walnut Cases. Every Instrument warranted to stand any extreme climate.

SHIPPERS AND DEALERS SUPPLIED.

Before deciding on purchasing, write for a descriptive Price List and Testimonials to G. LINSTEAD, Manager.

COBDEN PIANOFORTE COMPANY, 18 & 19 Eversholt Street, Camden Town, London.

BILLIARD BALLS, Chalks, Cues and Tips, at HENNIG BROS., Ivory Works, 11 High Street, London, W.C. Cheapest house in the trade for billiard-table requisites and ivory goods in general. Old balls adjusted or exchanged, and tables recovered. Price Lists on application. Established 1862.

RHEUMATISM.

THE only real remedy for this complaint is the Northern Cure (patent). In bottles 1s 1½d each, to be had of all Chemists. Proprietors and Manufacturer, EDWARDS AND ALEXANDER, 29 Blaskett-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR GOUT and RHEUMATISM.

The excruciating pain is quickly relieved and cured in a few days by this celebrated Medicine.

These Pills require no restraint of diet during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part.

Sold by all Chemists at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box.

HOTELS, ETC.

CARLISLE—Bush Hotel. SUTCLIFFE HOLROYD, Proprietor

EALING—Feathers Hotel

EASTBOURNE—Pier Hotel, Cavendish Place. View of Sea and Pier. A. TAYLOR Proprietor

HAVERFORDWEST.—Queen's Family and Commercial Hotel. BEN. M. DAVIES Proprietor.

KEW—Star and Garter. Good accommodation for Lodge & Dinner Parties. J. BRILL Proprietor

MILFORD HAVEN.—Lord Nelson Hotel. T. PALMER Proprietor

SANDWICH—Bell Family and Commercial Hotel, Good Stabling. J. J. FILMER Proprietor

ALL WHO SUFFER FROM
GOUT AND RHEUMATISM
Should immediately have recourse to

EADE'S CELEBRATED GOUT AND RHEUMATIC PILLS.

Known throughout the world as the safest and most effectual remedy for the instant relief and rapid cure of Gout, Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Lumbago, and all Pains in the Head, Face, and Limbs.

OF ALL CHEMISTS, 1s 1½d and 2s 9d,

GEORGE EADE,
SOLE PROPRIETOR,
72 GOSWELL ROAD, LONDON.

SMOKE CHARLESWORTH & AUSTINS TOBACCOS AND CIGARS
BORO' S.E.
Old Chums 2d
Favourites 2d & 3d
Golden Shag 4d & 5d

Digitized by Google

SPIERS & POND'S
FREEMASONS' TAVERN,

GREAT QUEEN STREET, W.C.

For MASONIC BANQUETS.

PUBLIC FESTIVALS and PRIVATE DINNERS.

WEDDING BREAKFASTS.

BALLS. EVENING PARTIES. SOIREES.

Spacious Hall for Election and other Public Meetings.

Rooms for Masonic Lodges, &c. SPIERS & POND, Limited.

JOSEPH J. CANEY,

DIAMOND MERCHANT, AND MANUFACTURING JEWELLER AND WATCH MAKER,

44 CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.

MASONIC JEWELS, CLOTHING AND FURNITURE.

Specialité—First Class Jewels—Artistic—Massive—Best Quality—Moderate in Price.

CATALOGUES POST FREE.

A LARGE STOCK OF LOOSE BRILLIANTS FOR EXPENSIVE JEWELS

Diamond Rings, Brooches, Studs, Earrings and Bracelets in Great Variety.

MASONIC JEWELS FOR ALL DEGREES.

MINIATURE WAR MEDALS AND DECORATIONS.

ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD IN ALL SIZES.

ATHLETIC SPORTS MEDALS AND BADGES.

A. D. LOEWENSTARK & SONS, Medallists, 210 STRAND, LONDON, W.C.

MANUFACTORY—1 DEVEREUX COURT, STRAND.

R. W. GALER,

PRACTICAL WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

12 GREEN LANES, LONDON, N.

(Six doors from Newington Green).

OLD GOLD and SILVER BOUGHT or TAKEN in EXCHANGE.

PRESENTATION WATCHES AND MASONIC JEWELS MANUFACTURED ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

Communications by Post punctually attended to.

G. W. KNIGHT,

Carver, Gilder, and Picture Frame Maker,

LITTLE BELL ALLEY, BACK OF MOORGATE STREET, CITY,

AND

38 CHAUCER ROAD, BRIXTON.

CORNICES AND FRAMES OF ALL KINDS REPAIRED AND REGILT.

W. W. MORGAN,

LETTER-PRESS, COPPER-PLATE, LITHOGRAPHIC PRINTER,

BELVIDERE WORKS,

HERMES HILL, PENTONVILLE.

SUMMONSES, MENU CARDS, &c. ARTISTICALLY EXECUTED.

Sketches or Designs for Special Purposes Furnished on Application.

Books, Periodicals, Pamphlets, Catalogues, Posters, Billheads, Showcards, &c.

Every description of Printing (Plain or Ornamental) executed in First Class Style.

ESTIMATES SUPPLIED.

BRO. ADLARD'S JEWEL ATTACHER

7s 6d.

If with Pockets, 6d each pocket extra.

225 HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.

DRESS SUITS from £3 3s to £5 5s.

Demy 8vo, Price 7s 6d,

THE CHESS OPENINGS,

By ROBERT B. WORMALD.

W. W. MORGAN, BELVIDERE WORKS, PENTONVILLE.

CONCERTINAS,

ENGLISH AND ANGLO-GERMAN.

G. JONES, 350 Commercial-road, London, E., inventor of the Anglo-German with chromatic scale. His tempered steel notes never get out of tune. Used by the leading performers. Price List of Musical Instruments of every description free. Established 1850.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY Limited, 7 Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General accidents. | Personal injuries.
Railway accidents. | Death by accident.

C. HARDING, Manager.

RIPPINGILLE'S PATENT

WARMING STOVES.

THE only Perfect Oil Stoves. Made to burn absolutely without Smoke or Smell, Trouble or Dirt. Unequalled for Warming

GREENHOUSES, VINERIES, SHOPS,

BEDROOMS, HALLS, OFFICES, DAMP ROOMS, &c.

Perfectly safe, require no pipes or fittings, will burn from twelve to twenty hours without attention, give off no injurious vapour, and are the best stoves ever invented to save plants from frost, keep out the damp, &c.

Price, from a few shillings.

Write for Illustrated List of Warming Stoves to

The Holborn Lamp and Stove Co.

118 HOLBORN, LONDON, E.C.

And say where you saw this Advertisement.

Bro. A. OLDROYD, Stratford, London

MANUFACTURER OF TOBACCO POUCHES,

With any name in raised letters.

CAN be obtained direct from the Maker, at the undermentioned prices, on receipt of P.O.O. payable at Stratford.

	Price		Will take a name of letters
No. 3	2/0	...	9
.. 4	2/6	...	11
.. 5	3/0	...	12
.. 6	3/6	...	13
.. 7	4/0	...
.. 8	4/6	...
.. 9	5/0	...

A. OLDROYD,

Agent for Algerian Cigars, and Importer of Havana and Continental Cigars,

384 HIGH STREET, STRATFORD, LONDON, E.

ESTABLISHED 1851.

BIRKBECK BANK.—Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Current Accounts opened according to the usual practice of other Bankers, and Interest allowed on the minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £25. No commission charged for keeping Accounts.

The Bank also receives money on Deposit at three per cent. Interest, repayable on demand.

The Bank undertakes for its Customers, free of charge, the custody of Deeds, Writings, and other Securities and Valuables, the collection of Bills of Exchange, Dividends, and Coupons; and the purchase and sale of Stocks and Shares.

Letters of Credit and Circular Notes issued.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

31st March 1880.

The Birkbeck Building Society's Annual Receipts exceed Four Millions.

HOW TO PURCHASE A HOUSE FOR TWO GUINEAS PER MONTH, with immediate Possession and no Rent to pay. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK BUILDING SOCIETY.

HOW TO PURCHASE A PLOT OF LAND FOR FIVE SHILLINGS PER MONTH, with immediate possession, either for Building or Gardening purposes. Apply at the Office of the BIRKBECK FREEHOLD LAND SOCIETY.

A Pamphlet, with full particulars, on application.

FRANCIS RAVENSCROFT, Manager.

Southampton Buildings, Chancery Lane.

Printed and Published by Brother WILLIAM WRAY MORGAN, at Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, Saturday, 29th December 1883.

Digitized by Google