Editorial 1

Requirements and Suggestions for an ESP Test Machine.....J. B. Rhine 3

A Machine for Research in Extra-Sensory Perception.....Ernest Taves 11

Reply to Critics of the Stanford Experiments on Thought-Transference
J. E. Coover 17

Adequate Experimental Testing of "Extra-Sensory Perception" Based on Card-Sorting.....Knight Dunlap and Others 29

Covariance Methods in the Comparison of Extra-Sensory Tasks
Gardner Murphy and Ernest Taves 38

Further Data from a Case of High Scores in Card-Guessing
Bernard F. Riess 79

Symposium on ESP Methods, at the Meeting of the Southern Society for Philosophy and Psychology..... 85

Introduction.....J. B. Rhine

A Summary of Mathematical Advances Bearing on ESP Research
T. N. E. Greville

Some Mathematical Problems for Future Consideration Suggested by the ESP Research.....Joseph A. Greenwood

A Further Advance in Methods of Testing Extra-Sensory Perception.....J. G. Pratt

Some Unsolved Problems of Methodology.....Charles E. Stuart

The Role of Selection in ESP Data.....Vernon W. Lemmon

Discussion

Letters and Notes..... 116

NUMBER 2, DECEMBER, 1939

Editorial 119

Size of Stimulus Symbols in Extra-Sensory Perception
J. G. Pratt and J. L. Woodruff 121

A Method for ESP Testing.....J. H. Manley 159

A Covariation Statistic.....J. A. Greenwood 163

A Theory of Extra-Sensory Perception.....O. L. Reiser 167

A Review of Recent Criticisms of ESP Research, II.....C. E. Stuart 194

Experiments on the Nature of Extra-Sensory Perception....J. L. Kennedy

Repetitions of the Rhine Experiments..... 206

A Critical Review of "Discrimination Shown Between Experimenters by Subjects," by J. D. MacFarland..... 213

The Recording Error Criticism of Extra-Chance Scores..... 226

Letters and Notes..... 246
