Cycles of Truth

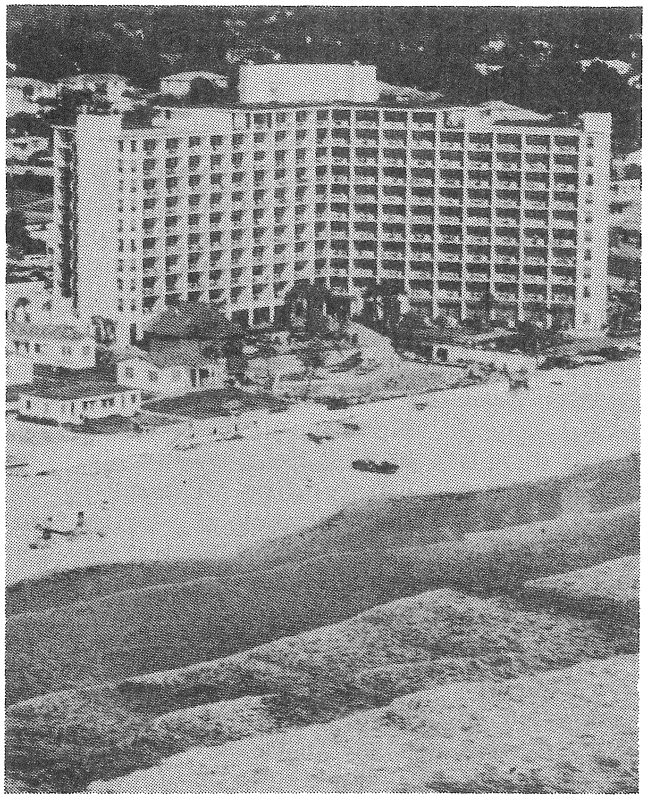

by Edward P. Cummings

We live in a world made of cycles, progression and unfoldment of truth occurring in these cycles. The spiritual consciousness of mankind has gone through many cycles. The Renaissance, a rebirth was the beginning of a new cycle. Spiritualism and its advent was timed and could not wait longer. Truth is on the upswing of yet another cycle.

Spiritualism has the choice of being a leader in this resurge of truth. We can and should choose to be a leader in bringing truth to millions. Many people have lost interest in the teachings of orthodox religions, but they unfortunately don't know what else they can believe. Spiritualism needs to promote its teachings of what God is and what man is.

Truth is being taught in many different areas such as the Saturday morning cartoon show "The Tarzan/Lone Ranger Adventure Hour." This series always has a spiritual message or lesson to teach in an entertaining way. Another area where truth is taught sometimes is in today's popular music. One such song is entitled "Spirits in the Material World," by the band that calls themselves the "Police." Another of their songs is entitled "Secret Journey" which is about a person's transition into the Spirit World.

There are many channels where truth reveals itself all over the world in many different ways. Everything is evolving and progressing in cycles. Truth is once again on the upswing of another cycle and Spiritualism will do its part to bring understanding to a hungry world overcoming all obstacles. People will learn who they are, a part of Infinite Intelligence and what they are, spiritual beings in the material world.

Spiricom - Undeniable Proof

by Herbert Ray Worth

At a press conference in Washington, D. C., April 6, 1982, during the week of the Easter Season, George W. Meek, President and Director of Research of the Metascience Foundation, Inc. made an announcement of a scientific breakthrough which to many may seem fantastic, far-fetched, and incredible. After twelve years of exhaustive research, an electromagnetic-etheric device has been perfected, known as Spiricom, which has established electronic contact with those living in the spirit world, commonly referred to as the so-called "dead."

The Spiricom at present is still in an elementary stage of development, if we can think of this highly complex system of electronic engineering as "elementary." It represents the utilization of natural laws which are only partially understood, but it has provided sufficient indisputable evidence to give to the world a marvelous demonstration of a purely scientific nature, of communications with other levels of human consciousness.

The twentieth century has brought to mankind many marvels and many wonders of man's ingenuity, but none compare with the accomplishment made possible by Spiricom, which stands alone, awesome and mind-staggering - the culmination of thousands of years of spiritual, intellectual and scientific growth and achievement.

The team of researchers assembled under the Metascience Foundation banner have collectively logged more than 200 man-years of engineering and related technical skills. These men have approached the subject of communication with those in the spirit dimension, not only with their vast scientific and technical knowledge, but they have examined every available source where there is the possibility of finding clues, leads, and enlightenment, which may be helpful in painstakingly constructing a theoretical hypothesis to guide the course and direction of their research and experiments.

Meek devoted many years to traveling in other countries, studying, researching, collaborating with physicians, physicists, surgeons, biologists, parapsychologists, psychical researchers, psychiatrists, hypnotherapists, clergymen, and others, as he made an in-depth study into the basic nature of man.

He has made an intensive study of the books, literature and many obscure works relating to these subjects which span a period of more than 100 years.

Meek comments on his findings with a deep inner conviction:

"We have found that there is a scientific basis for the central core teachings of all of the world's great religions! Protestant, Jewish, Catholic, Shintoist, Buddhist, Muslim, Coptic, Hindu, etc. When, in the decades ahead, such instrumental communication is perfected to the point that regular two-way communication takes place with the mental-casual plane, it will be possible to strip away much baseless dogma and creed. This will eventually make possible a true marriage of religion and science."

The idea of perfecting a mechanical device which would enable man to communicate with the so-called dead has intrigued man for well over half a century. Thomas A. Edison with 1,090 patents to his credit, worked in the closing years of his life to invent such an instrument. Edison, too, held a press conference and spoke at length with reporters, discussing the intent and objective of such an invention. Although the logic for Edison's hypothesis was sound, the technical means for such an achievement could only be realized many decades in the future. Edison made his transition in 1931, leaving to scientists of a later era, his endorsement for such an undertaking.

For many years Electronic Voice Phenomenon - EVP has been encountered on numerous occasions throughout the world, and considerable research has been made of this phenomenon. Voices are recorded on tapes from no known or explainable physical source. Dr. C. Raudive of West Germany was one of the outstanding pioneers in this particular field of research. Many obstacles and frustrations were met because voices were usually faint, most of the recordings were very brief, words were usually spoken rapidly, and a great amount of background noise was encountered.

The Metascience team

That Man Survives Physical Death

endeavored to build a more satisfactory instrument or device, which would provide two-way conversation with scientists now in the spirit dimension with advanced knowledge of electronics and their application, who would aid in this great venture.

Contacts were eventually made with several spirit entities, but the one with Dr. George Jeffries Mueller, a deceased American physicist was the one which at last made the entire undertaking a dramatic and highly evidential breakthrough.

Dr. Mueller was born September 1, 1906. A brilliant versatile individual, he held a B.S. in Electrical Engineering from the University of Wisconsin, an M. S. in Physics and a Ph.D. in Experimental Physics from Cornell Universiity.

He held the positions of Physics instructor, and later Research fellow at Cornell University. He was employed by various industrial corporations, in the capacity of technical director, manager - research and development, director of engineering and consultant. He was for two years Supervisory physicist and chief, technical services division, Patrick Air Force Base, Florida.

The last position he held was Associate professor of engineering and mathematics, at Orange Coast College, Costa Mesa, California.

One of Dr. Mueller's lifelong hobbies had been a study of the theory of music. This, along with his extensive knowledge of harmonics, the science of musical sounds, made him uniquely qualified for his role in the experiments with Spiricom - fourteen years after his physical "death."

Dr. Mueller "died" May 31, 1967.

His first two-way voice contact via Spiricom occurred April 16, 1980.

At first the voice speaking through Spiricom had a robot-like quality. Gradually with the help of Dr. Mueller, speaking from the spirit side, advice was given on technical adjustments to be made, and advice on the various components to be used. As these suggestions were incorporated into Spiricom, the quality of the conversations improved.

Many hours of conversation with Dr. Mueller ensued. Through these conversations much information was given to prove conclusively that Dr. Mueller though "dead" fourteen years, continued living in a disease-free, pain-free environment, retaining his memory, personality, and vast technical knowledge, to which he continued to add after entering the world of spirit.

In one of the conversations (some of them lasted for periods of one hour) Dr. Mueller suggested that the team refer to a book which he had written in 1947, "Introduction to Electronics." The search began and for a time the efforts appeared futile. Even the U.S. Library of Congress was consulted. After months of searching, the book was located in the Army section of the archives of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, Dr. Mueller's home state. A copy of the book was obtained and some of the theories set forth proved to be very helpful.

Dr. Mueller's long-time interest in the subject of harmonics was put to practical use in constructing the voice which speaks from Spiricom.

Although Spiricom has the appearance suggestive of complicated radio equipment, it is clearly not a radio. Rather it is a device which generates a number of different frequencies. If proper tuning is made to the correct combination of frequencies, the communicator from the spirit side is able to shape these sounds into recognizable words. Dr. Mueller advised the mixture of audio tones which make tonal inflections possible. These totaled thirteen in number, and are demonstrated on the taped voice of Dr. Mueller.

Samples of the recorded spirit voices have been sent to the University of Florida, in an attempt to filter and analyze the spoken words.

Dr. Mueller supplied many other details of his earthly life which researchers were able to check and verify. Evidence of an indisputable nature was given when he provided telephone numbers of various people who could furnish confirmation or assistance, several of these being unlisted numbers.

Dr. Mueller also demonstrated that he could see the laboratory where the experiments were being made, often reading material and checking diagrams as the work on Spiricom proceeded.

Dr. George Jeffries Mueller who made the transition from the physical body May 31, 1967. He communicated through Spiricom from the spirit side in the first two-way voice contact April 16, 1980. He made numerous suggestions which were incorporated into Spiricom, greatly improving its operation. He also provided many facts constituting undeniable evidence that man survives the so-called death, retaining his identity, memory, and personality.

It is gratifying to note that the proof given to a group of scientists, physicists, and engineers in a laboratory in 1982, was similarly demonstrated by the young Fox Sisters in their Hydesville home March 31, 1848, when the spirit of Charles B. Rosna, the murdered peddler, demonstrated that he could see as well as hear.

Decades of scientific advancement and independent proof have in every instance confirmed, and never contradicted the revelations and truths given through spirit since the advent of Modern Spiritualism.

The research goes on, and certainly will continue for many years to come. (The phonograph invented more than one hundred years ago, is still the subject of continuous research and development, as new and better recording techniques are employed.)

Todate, five models of Spiricom have been constructed. These are identified as Mark I through Mark V.

William J. O'Neill, the dedicated inventor and electronics technician who built and operates Spiricom, realizes there are many problems to be overcome. There are periods of weeks, even months, when communications are not received. The research team is aware that some of the natural laws through which Spiricom operates are little understood. Energies are utilized in its operation which are at least in part outside the four energies recognized by present day science - electromagnetic, gravitational, nuclear, and radioactive.

The dramatic achievements which have been made through Spiricom give us tangible evidence of the great outpouring of spirit in our present times. Man is truly coming of age, in the awareness of his true nature, his intellect grasping this long dormant and little realized potential, as he rises to the full height and fullness of his stature. Man searches for a deeper meaning, a fuller expression of the life essence embodied within himself and in all living things. Many illusions will be dispelled and his vision will attain a truer, more realistic perspective.

The solid foothold, confirmed by indisputable scientific facts, will rapidly accelerate broad changes in man's concepts and beliefs, in both the religious and scientific areas. His grasp of the physical sciences will be modified and updated. Many time honored concepts based upon traditions of the past will be bypassed as obsolete and no longer relevant. That which is erroneous and superfluous in the path of man's progression will be left behind.

Man stands upon the threshhold of a new enlightened age.

Satellite Seances will soon present to the world a message of truth, in its rightful context, in a setting of serenity, beauty, and dignity. Spiritualism has proclaimed this truth courageously throughout its one hundred and thirty four year history.

The facts will speak nobly, eloquently, and convincingly for themselves!

Developing Spiritual Strength

by Rev. Joan Youngblood

On these trying times and in times of personal crises one must depend on his inner spiritual strength to aid or to carry him through. One should keep in mind at the outset, that as Spiritualists, we shall use or abide by nature's physical and spiritual laws that we may grow in spiritual strength.

Spiritual strength has to do with the strength of the soul, cosmic consciousness or highest part of a person.

Self-realization or the highest potential of the self cannot be realized by a person who is destitute of personal strength. It is spiritual strength that carries one forward in his movement on the spiritual path.

One can look at past saviours for examples of spiritual strength such as Buddha, Mohammed, and Jesus. Jesus was the embodiment of spiritual strength as he bore the cross with a balanced mind. Socrates drank the poison hemlock for his beliefs. Mahatma Ghandhi was able, through his spiritual strength, to move the masses of India.

Spiritual strength from a leader can cause social and political change.

It is difficult for an aspirant or a person who is trying to grow spiritually, to truly understand how one gains spiritual strength, unless he has some understanding of the mind and soul.

Various forms of strength involve physical strength, vital strength, mental strength, and intellectual strength. Spiritual strength is the focal point and nourisher of all forms of strength. The ultimate purpose and significance in all other forms of strength, lie in discovering the spiritual strength of one's own soul.

The self, being very powerful, manifests in three levels, knowledge, will, action and is the embodiment of dynamic energy.

This dynamic energy that a person has is the part that can break down the obstacles and help bring good health and congenial circumstances in the life of the individual.

The person who is strong in will is more highly integrated on the various levels - mental, physical, and spiritual and thus can operate on a higher level mentally and spiritually.

If a person can attain this higher level of integration of himself, there will be a balance of personality, a dawning of wisdom, the discovery of the self's essential nature.

When a person is endowed with spiritual strength, he is able to develop the higher qualities such as endurance, patience, non-violence, forbearance, faith, control of senses and tenacity in pursuing the path of spiritual growth. Without spiritual strength, one cannot persevere with patience, he cannot think with clarity and resolve with firmness.

The goal of any spiritual seeker should be to practice meditation and spiritual inquiry which leads to spiritual enlightenment where one discovers his essential nature.

All that is good and beautiful comes from the intuitional state of consciousness. The highest form of spiritual strength is achieved at this level as well.

The methods of discovering spiritual strength have to do with positive thinking and gaining an insight into thoughts and what they do to yourself and to the world. One must learn the art of eliminating negative thoughts.

One's life and circumstances are the result of his thoughts because, as Spiritualists, we know that thoughts are things and we bring things to ourselves through the Law of Attraction.

Therefore, as one practices meditation, prayer, spiritual inquiry, devotion and surrender to Infinite Intelligence, his subconscious becomes filled with divine impressions and he is filled with spiritual strength.

A spiritual seeker bases his life on the higher ethical and moral values, recognizing the fact that love is superior to hate, humility is better than too much pride, compassion is desirable over cruelty - an individual is able to gather much spiritual strength within his soul.

One must learn that art (and I emphasize the word "art") of maintaining positive thought. Enough cannot be said about this art and the benefits it can have on your life. Every human mind is linked together with cosmic thought. Just think, if you think low thoughts you are going to attract, through the law of vibrations, thousands of other people's low thoughts to you - thus creating a mountainous load of negativity for yourself.

If one gives license to negativity within himself, soon there is a slope down which the mind moves with increasing momentum.

When you see a highly successful person, the reason he is advancing is due simply to the fact that he has maintained, in his mind, a positive thought. Thus, he drew to himself thousands of people's thoughts. With this mountain of positive thoughts and vibrations coming to his aid, he became successful.

A person who wants to grow, must be interested in his own soul growth. A person's thoughts are his treasures and shouldn't be wasted. We need to keep ever vigilant over our thoughts.

We should watch our actions and what we say, for our actions and speech effect the level of our mind. If our actions are good and positive then we can elevate our minds.

One cannot shout, give license to personal weakness, mistreating others in word or thought - creating destructive elements in the mind and expect to develop spiritual strength.

The secret in developing spiritual strength lies in practicing concentration (which is focusing the mind) and meditation (which is the focused level of the mind). When the ego is transcended, it dazzles your mind. One who follows the spiritual path through the process of prayer, concentration, meditation and seeking, is able to discover an endless stream of energy within himself.

Further, when a person seeks after truth and practices truth, he becomes endowed with the universal strength of the soul.

One should practice friendliness. If you keep before your mind ideals of great qualities, such as real friendliness, you will develop awareness that life in our world is linked by a kindredness and a sympathetic chord.

When one becomes aware that the sky is his friend, that the air is his friend, and continues to dwell on these higher qualities, his mind becomes free of animosity and not so much energy is wasted.

The mind then becomes filled with the joy of expansion and there is a healthy bliss of an unraveling of the self. One should meditate on joy and cheerfulness.

Even if the mind doesn't accept positive thoughts, you should keep presenting the mind with them.

In developing spiritual strength, it is extremely necessary to maintain good associations. One has to live in an environment or emotional climate which helps him to maintain higher thoughts and feelings. One must shun those associations which force him to hold thoughts of cruelty, selfishness, greed and passion.

By gaining spiritual strength, one can overcome gradually the weaknesses of body, mind, and soul.

A weak will expresses itself through indecisiveness and negative thoughts. Whereas if you have a strong will, it will be linked to spiritual strength.

Persons of great spiritual strength transcend the world, giving inspiration to others.

A person has to break down the barriers that prevent the development of great spiritual strength. Whoever develops spiritual strength is really a help to the world and has an unlimited positive effect on many others through the positive thoughts and vibrations that they are continually sending out across the ethers.

Conquer your lack of action and self-discipline in development of spiritual strength. Do not always follow the path of pleasure and of least resistance. Pursue with vigor the path of development of spiritual strength, even though it presents many difficult lessons to learn.

As one thinks positive thoughts, dwells on higher qualities, performs good actions, speaks positively, prays and meditates, he can develop great spiritual strength.

By gaining spiritual strength, one can overcome gradually the weaknesses of body, mind, and soul.

In addition, in developing spiritual strength - one must have developed a philosophy of life which will carry him through troublesome, as well as, good times.

In Robert Collier's book Secret of The Ages he states, "it is the difficult things in life that develop our mental and moral muscle, that build up courage and stamina. In tropical countries where man's food practically grows on trees ready to eat and where there is little or no housing or clothing problem, the people are naturally indolent. They are brutal in their passions. They know little of self-mastery or mastery of conditions, adaptation to a severe climate, or the conquest of a hard and stubborn soil. Consequently, these people have contributed but little to civilization. The things that make life worth living: the achievements, the inventions, and discoveries the noble deeds, the advancement of industry, science and art have been contributed by men who have struggled with hard conditions of Nature, who have fought and conquered obstacles, who have lived in temperate zones and who have experienced the rigors of cold and enervation of heat."

Mr. Collier goes on to say

Monumental Moments

by Marian Egner

Fact or fancy? An active mind continually questions. He is curious and is not easily satisfied. He looks a bit longer, taking time to see more than the obvious.

He may accept the answers given him when he trusts their source. But even then, he is not truly satisfied, and will try out some different thought on the subject.

The unquestioning one will accept all statements as facts. He is limited in his thinking, preferring that others do the questioning and research.

This becomes a habit and he remains in a rut he has created for himself. Limited in experience, limited in action of thought, his life is like a treadmill, with no excitement or curiosity.

If all the population followed this route there would be slow progress. We are indebted to the explorers, the inventors who will never be satisfied with the known, but forever forge ahead, seeking out new frontiers.

They are the ones who bring us so much pleasure with new ways of occupying ourselves. The inventions come to most of us eventually. The explorations we may read about and our souls are stirred by their descriptions.

In this way, we too, expand our horizons. When we find it impossible to see for ourselves, we may do the next best thing, study about the subject. If we have questions, there will be other sources lending information also.

There will always be some theories set forth in glowing terms. And here we go questioning again. Is it a fact or only a fancy? We demand proof and if this is not forthcoming, we remain credulous.

Why are there some who delight in giving out information that they cannot prove? Do they have a feeling of satisfaction or superior knowledge? This cannot be lasting if truth is not the foundation.

We are all entertained by fairy stories as children. But, does the mature mind wish to continue hearing and believing fairy stories? Are not factual stories even more exciting?

Only the provable truth will satisfy the true thinker. Until he is satisfied on all counts, he will continue to question these tales he hears. He has been given the power to think for himself and he has learned to use this power well.

There need be no arguments over the question of fact or fancy. One may go along quietly, listening and learning and judging. For arguments and debates do not settle the question. They are apt to stir up feelings that should be held down. Each for himself, to choose or discard, this will prove the way toward truth.

that "the man who waits for favorable conditions and for favorable circumstances will find that, success in any field, is never a walk-over. It is the man who wins in spite of circumstances, in spite of adverse conditions, the man who wins when other people say he cannot, the man who does the impossible, the man who rides over all the obstacles, who gets on in this world. And why? Because the very struggle to overcome the obstacles in his way, develops the power that carries him step by step to his goal."

Grenville Kleiser thinks "many people today need a physician of the soul. Disheartened, apprehensive, ill people have sought surcease in drugs, diets and other material means, but all in vain. Many have become heartsick and even rebellious. If you are in this category and should ask a physician of the soul what to do in your extremity, he would probably say: "Your primary need is for mental poise and stability. You have mental habits of long standing that should be supplanted by right habits of thought. When you establish a calm within yourself, you will be able to think properly and constructively. The remedy for your ailment is within yourself." How utterly profound these words are!

In Homer Curtiss's book The Voice of Isis it states "This life is but one day in the school of the soul. Your real life is not at school, but at home with Infinite Intelligence. If things in school do not go just as you would have them, nevertheless realize that everything belongs to you or is a part of your soul, is yours upon the soul-plane. There are many

In Memory of the Rev. Paul D. Wilson

Hello Paul:

It seems strange to be talking to you this way. We had always seemed to expect you to be on this side of life with us for a long time yet. As you so often put it, it just seemed the 'Natural Way' of things.

Our talks across the table, in a park or at the Leolyn seem so far away now and yet so close. How many people did those talks encourage or fortify? How many questions did you anticipate and answer? How many would be where they are today without your help?

You always wanted to be a medium and felt you never could be. Still you had an insight that even few mediums attain, and instead of becoming one yourself, lighted the path for many of us who are, and for still more who just wanted to reach for a bit more enlightenment.

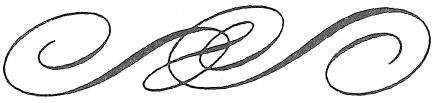

Your ability to "keep things simple" made clear as crystal many clouded precepts in our philosophy. With clear concise wording you cut away at mysticism and brought to light the simple basic truth.

Your words are still with us in your books, they will live on to help many in your stead. It was a marvelous adventure working so closely with you on them, an experience we shall never forget. You were always there to answer questions, but how much of your knowledge was never tapped?

To us, to all who sat on the porch of the Leolyn Inn, listened while you chaired the Thought Exchange, chatted thru dinner or while walking the grounds of Lily Dale, we all shall miss your physical presence. Still, in the hearts of all who loved you, we know that when the flag is raised to open the season this year at Lily Dale, we'll see you here. We will see you standing on the porch of the Leolyn or behind its desk. We'll sense your presence at the Thought Exchange and at the Auditorium as you take your rightful place among us.

Never a good-by my friend, there are no good-bys for us. Its just a new morning, a new day, brighter and clearer than ever before.

With all our love,
Andy and Sharon

expressions of the soul and these expressions may manifest in different ways upon the different planes.

You only prolong the deprivation by refusing to pay attention to your lessons. You are like a ship, while in the ocean, even if blown temporarily from its course, it is still victor over currents, tides, and storms. But, if this same ship anchors for a time in ever so beautiful a harbor, it will become covered with barnacles, things that do not belong to it. And the longer it lies there the greater the encrustation. The only way it can be set free is to have the barnacles scraped off - a slow and tedious process. Try to understand and realize that anything you cling to for the mere gratification of the personal self, no matter how desirable it may seem, is but a barnacle holding back your spiritual advance. Your higher self now has everything necessary for its perfection, and will and must scrape off the barnacles before it can bring the little self into its own divine consciousness and perfection.

Some famous quotations for you to keep in mind on the path of developing spiritual things are:

"Try to be somebody with all your might, find your purpose and fling your life into it."

"The iron will of one stout heart shall make a thousand quail."

" 'Impossible' is a word to be found only in the dictionary of fools."

"He who has resolved to conquer or to die is seldom conquered."

The Spiritualist Principles

Fourth Declaration

by Steven W. Ross, NST

The Declaration of Principles are a summary of the beliefs and teachings which form the foundation of Modern Spiritualism. The continuation of this series is presented for a broader, more comprehensive enlightenment, in the perspective of present day understanding.

We affirm that the existence and personal identity of the individual continue after the change called death.

The change called death is a natural, inescapable episode in the existence of all mortal beings.

There are many ways this change can be initiated; it can be sudden, due to accident, willful distruction of vital parts of the physical body, or due to a lingering disease - even simple aging.

Regardless of the specific cause of physical death, Spiritualists know that death is a natural sequence to physical life. It is a metamorphosis, liberating the soul from the imprisonment and resistance of the coarser, less refined world of physical matter. However, it is not the end of things, rather a new beginning for that infinitesimal part of Infinite Intelligence which is the individualized divine spark in every human being.

Spiritualism recognizes no death! With the separation or release from the physical body, there is a change to a higher vibratory rate, which also necessitates changes in man's mode of expression, yet the spirit entity remains very much alive. Compare this with the change of water to steam. It is still water - now in a different state - a different form.

This principle addresses individuality and personality which are terms often confusing to many people. Hence, I will try to clarify:

Man is part of the Infinite Intelligence, a small part to be sure. You could compare him to an atom. This elemental part is the individuality given by God. Yet each of us is different. No two individuals are totally alike.

Man is a triune being. One of the components of this trinity is the soul. So, man must try to realize the potentialities of his soul through spiritual unfoldment. He is given a will to accomplish this task. And through this will he develops a personality, which means the development of certain characteristic mannerisms, such as behavior and character. These are personality traits. These do not range as widely as individualities.

Given personalities fit many people and can only be used to differentiate groups, not individuals. Individuality is the unit of incarnation of spirit. Personality, on the other hand is generally acknowleged as the unit of evolution resulting from individual efforts and utilization of personal resources.

Nothing in this universe is ever lost. We carry our individuality and personality through the stepping stones of each expression of life. We keep the characteristics developed on earth and are known by those traits.

Death does not change this personality, for death is merely the entrance into another expression of life.

In her book "Unfinished Symphonies" the British medium Rosemary Brown explained her work with spirit composers such as Liszt, Schuman, Chopin and others. Since she was poor and had little formalized schooling, she had to learn how to write and play music. Her primary teacher was Franz Liszt who was a hard task master. Often he instructed her to play pieces over and over again. So once she thought, notice: just thought, to herself: "Oh dear - what a fusspot." That did it; Liszt disappeared and was not heard from again for three weeks. He was offended. This is a typical example of personality. He had taken offense before in physical life, and then as a spirit, more than a century later, this personality trait emerged again.

In addition to teaching Rosemary how to play, he also dictated new music to her. Since every composer has his own characteristics, these preferences could be recognized by any musical expert as the work of Franz Liszt. The style of music was and is like a fingerprint, so here we see an example of individuality. Both are preserved in the spirit world. I don't think I know of a better example to prove this concept. And that brings up a point. This principle starts with: We affirm . . . As I told you, an affirmation is more than a belief, it states that we have evidence that it is so, and here I have given you some evidence to support this conclusion.

This month the N.S.A.C. Healing Center proclaims "complete remission" in a child's long bout with a rare, usually terminal malignancy.

Travis Melick, age 5, on May 22nd - received his second six-month total remission examination report.

Over two years ago, Travis had a malignant tumor removed from his lower back area. The cells were of a rare and extremely terminal type in children.

The Healing Center was notified and the request was placed on the healing network. About three years later, after completing all treatment which included chemotherapy, he is in good health and has considerably more hair than his grandfather.

The Medical doctors are amazed and proud.

The Healing Center is very proud to make this announcement on behalf of its constituents. Every healing oriented class, development class, healer and meditation student is a vital part of this unique Healing Center. Since the Center has no geographical boundries, or restrictions of time or space, its all encompassing function is unification of power and prayers of persons everywhere across these United States and "yes" the world.

On behalf of Travis' parents Jim and Linda, grandparents Marjorie and Bill and all of the Melick family and friends "thank you" to everyone everywhere.

Interferon and Vitamin C

Like most scientific subjects, the interferon story was bound to get more complex before it got simpler. In recent months, researchers have discovered that his highly touted, natural disease fighter isn't one substance after all.

There are at least three basic interferon types - two produced by different white blood cells, and one by connective-tissue cells, plus uncharted variations of each.

All this variety may explain why heavily publicized anti-cancer trials of interferon are yielding mixed results. One or another form of interferon may be effective in treating a specific kind of cancer, and certain combinations may be especially effective.

Since headlines reported that interferon has exciting potential for treating cancer, millions of dollars have been spent on attemps to manufacture it synthetically in the laboratory. Discovered in 1957, natural interferon is a hormone-like substance, part of the body's own immune system. When viruses attack the body, the immune system produces natural interferon to fight disease.

Studies show that the body requires ascorbic acid to produce interferon. Since ascorbic acid (vitamin C) was discovered in 1928, many diseases have responded well to large doses. It is obvious that much of vitamin C's cure rate in the treatment of viral diseases, collagen and auto-immune diseases, cancer, and others is based on the ability of vitamin C to activate interferon.

One of the best things about making interferon with the help of ascorbic acid is the low price of the acid: a little over a penny a gram. Interferon made from human white blood cells or cultures derived from them costs about two million dollars a pound. Also, when interferon is manufactured in the body, there is no toxicity, no chance of the interferon being impure or causing alergic reactions, as is the case with interferon factory. In 1947, Dr. F. R. Klenner, of Reidsville, N.C., started using large doses of ascorbic acid buffered with sodium during an epidemic of poliomyelitis. His results were dramatic. He saved many polio victims from paralysis of the lungs, including his own daughter. Later, he used ascorbic acid for cancer, pregnancy, childbirth, poisonings, and many diseases with great success. (Houston Career Digest, March '82 issue.)

In his book, Vitamin C and the Common Cold, Linus Pauling stated "Ascorbic acid successfully treats virus diseases because it helps manufacture interferon." He believes so strongly in ascorbic acid, that he applied for funds to study the treatment of cancer with it, four times and was turned down all four times.

During the last year, the manufacturing of synthetic interferon with new purification procedures and recombinat DNA techniques have paid off with pure interferon in larger and more reasonably priced batches available to the medical socity for research purposes.

One of the most familiar laments that we hear; that modern medicine can cure almost anything but the common cold, may soon go by the wayside. A nasal spray now being tested in England promises to prevent cold miseries if inhaled before a cold virus comes along. The spray's basic ingredient? Interferon.

David A. J. Tyrell, M.D., deputy director of the clinical research center at Harrow Hospital in London, gave the nasal spray to eleven (11) healthy volunteers, who then got intranasal injections of a human rhinovirus, one of perhaps hundreds of viruses that cause cold symptons. Over the next nine days, not one volunteer came down with a full-blown infection, although some of them did sneeze.

In contrast, 8 of the 11 other volunteers who got a nasal spray without interferon fell prey to colds.

If Dr. Tyrell's next step works - applying the anti-virus after the cold has already started - interferon sprays could reach drugstores in just a few years.

Sounds good, but if we believe what Dr. Edwin Stone, author of "The Healing Factor, Victamin C Against Disease," says, "ascorbic acid is a practical, harmless, non-toxic, non-specific virucide." He has been a vitamin C researcher for 50 years, recommending that we take this vitamin every day of our lives. If our tissues are always saturated with it, our cells will be healthy, we will be able to ward off viral and other diseases with the help of one of our body's natural defenders, a part of our own immune system: Interferon!

Mourn Not

Death tho blessed, brings sadness to the heart,
When from our loved ones, for a while we must part;
And yet, tho sad, we know full well,
That in a better land they live and dwell;
So lift your heart and eyes unto the hill,
And know your loved one does live still.
That so-called death has not from you,
Taken your loved one, you loved so true;
Pray and be thankful to God each day,
That he caused this Truth to come your way;
Your eyes will see, your ears will hear,
Your heart will know that they are near;
And tho sad, you live anew,
Knowing each day, they'll help you through;
And you thank your God for all he's done,
From this day forth till set of Sun.

Satellite Seances and the Future of Spiritualism

by Douglas S. Boggs

Those of us who have read these pages over the past few months know what positive results we envision from Satellite Seances. Most of us are hoping, along with the optimistic authors whose works have recently graced this magazine, that a new era of acceptance of Spiritualism and the truths that it encompasses, similar to the era between the 1848 Hydesville rappings and the Civil War, is about to dawn upon the Western world. Whether or not such a new age will really come about depends, primarily, upon all Spiritualists and how we meet the new challenges of the increased public and scientific interest these TV presentations may bring. Are we prepared for a new round of scientific and pseudo-scientific enquiries and tests, much like the enquiries in the late 1840's.

They'll be upon us in droves - the skeptics trying to disprove spirit communication, the types who stick pins in mediums while they are in trance. These "scientific" types, who are so unscientific and illogical that they think if they uncover one phony medium they have exposed all mediums as phonies, will be back again in great numbers. What can we, as Spiritualists and mediums do to prepare for this onslaught? What is to be done to spread the word of truth in the times ahead? Ours, if the very idea of Satellite Seances is to succeed, is a great responsibility in the days ahead. Satellite Seances can only lay the foundation. For it to work, we must be ready.

The first thing we must do is to remember that no worker should submit himself to any indignity in the name of so-called science. Let no one be impressed simply by an investigator's academic credentials, but, rather, make certain beforehand that the investigator is truly that - an investigator with a humble, sincere, open mind, not one who has decided ahead of time that we are all phonies and is out to see if he can twist his facts to disprove that, about which he knows nothing. Then, if the medium is convinced about the open-mindedness of the scientist, investigator, or reporter he must not submit to any investigative technique which the medium deems improper or undignified.

The second thing we must do is to police ourselves. There have been phonies over the years, many of them only spiritists who called themselves Spiritualists, who have discredited our religion in the eyes of the uninformed public. This is perhaps the primary reason for credentials from bonafide church organizations. We must make it clear to the public that we do not necessarily vouch for every "Madame LaZonga" with her shingle out. Properly, a Spiritualist medium should be certified by a church organization which has a clear and bonafide system of study and testing and which holds, or its subsidiary or chartered churches hold, bonafide and regular worship services. Certainly we all know qualified workers outside a bonafide church, but Spiritualism cannot certify them. These workers should be encouraged to get their papers and, where necessary, come to church.

Sad to say that, over the years, there have been some workers - basically excellent mediums - who have admitted a questionable practice into an otherwise beautiful ministry. With the advent of the interest generated by Satellite Seances, we can no longer afford this type of medium. We must all make sure that our own personal ministry and mediumship is only the highest and purest. Only then will we be able to stand up under the onslaught of investigative interest - and antagonism - which is so soon before us in the exciting times ahead.

Satellite Seances Special

The documentary film "Satellite Seances" is now available on VHS video cassette. The cassette film is brand new. (We expect to begin delivery of orders by June 1). It is prepared especially for N.S.A.C. Churches, auxiliaries and other organizations interested in Spiritualism. The promotional educational film features Reverends Joseph H. Merrill and Evelyn L. Muse as well as others of the past and present. Also excerpts are included from the previously advertised documentary.

An agreement to donate a set amount for use of the video film is required. A per person donation is recommended for fund raising when showing the television show. The proceeds from such showing can be forwarded to the N.S.A.C. Special Fund for Satellite Seances. A signed agreement is required plus a fifty dollar deposit which is returnable.

(The "Satellite Seances" documentary replaces the older film, "There Is No Death, There Are No Dead.")

For reservations of the film, write:

Satellite Seances is making news. The April issue of TNS - Summit had hardly hit the press with the news of an available film "There Is No Death, There Are No Dead" when we were notified the film was outdated. There is a new video cassette film which takes its place.

SATELLITE SEANCES is it's title and its message.

The new documentary is a promotional educational film, produced by Videography and National Spiritualist Association of Churches, on behalf of "Satellite Seances."

President Joseph H. Merrill and Trustee Evelyn Muse of N.S.A.C. together with Bob Kiger of Videography, began shooting the film Monday April 19th. I have been advised that Mr. Kiger is as tough in demanding perfection as he had indicated at convention. The video film will be available by or before June 1, 1982.

The preparatory steps have begun. Satellite Seances is under way. Not on the airways, but on that steady progressive direction.

Reservations for scheduling the use of the film are required.

The new cassette film "Satellite Seances" is on VHS cassette and requires a cassette player, which in turn, shows the picture on your television. The film is available to N.S.A.C. charter churches, auxiliaries and organizations sincerely interested. It is the preparatory step on the ascent to the bursting forth on the airways of cable televising the weekly Satellite Seances programs. Nearly a month ahead of time, we now have it - the beginning stages of "Satellite Seances."

Make reservations and use the film to help raise funds for the momentous event of the launching experience.

We need your help. You love your religion. You love to receive a message from Spirit. You understand that there is Life after so-called death.

Have you ever wished you could shout from the housetop the good news about communication with the Spirit World?

Now you can, I can, we all can. Not literally from the housetop, but greater than that. Satellite Seances is preparing to do it for you. For all of us. It's the greatest missionary effort ever conceived. The waiting world will correctly receive the message of "life after death" and its blessings.

All things worth-while require effort. The effort is the help that all of us can give. Satellite Seances requires a great deal of money. Please help, by giving generously to this "life's eternal message."

Will you give $25.00 - $100 - $1000? Please do. We need your help.

Contributors Column

The Satellite Seances Special Fund was boosted by several contributors during the past month.

The Illinois State Association made a contribution of $2,000, plus an additional $1,000 from individual donations.

The Indiana State Association contributed $600, with an additional $250 donated by individuals.

The Pennsylvania State Association and the Getter Memorial Church contributed the receipts from a special fund raising Medium's Rally.

The Royal Oak Church, Royal Oak, Michigan sent a check for $100.

The Psychic Science Church of Indianapolis, Indiana has sent two $100 donations.

Mr. John R. Rowe of Columbus, Ohio sent a beautiful letter which reads in part:

"Enclosed is my personal check in the amount of $500 for the Satellite Seance program.

I would like to make this contribution in memory of my wife of 52 years, the Rev. Maudella Jane Rowe, who made her transition May 11, 1981, after serving as pastor of the First Spiritualist Church of Linden, Columbus, Ohio from 1948 to 1981.

I know she must be thrilled at the giant boost that the proposed Satellite Seances will give to her beloved religion of Spiritualism to which her life was dedicated, and it is in that same spirit that our $500 is being dedicated.

An eighty-eight year old gentleman expressed his interest and enthusiasm, along with a $20 check.

An eighty-two year old lady writes, "wishing you much luck in the new project," enclosing a $25 check.

A letter from a lady, accompanied by a $50 donation, shares her convictions:

"I trust this will be a great feat in opening the door of Truth to many who are in darkness, and do not understand what Spiritualism is and does in its pure essence."

Friends, let us each remember that in the spirit world there are no cemeteries, mauseleums, mortuaries or "In Memoriams." There all is life - continuous, vibrant, abundant. What greater memorial can we on the material plane offer, than the means to perpetuate the glorious truth which Spiritualism proclaims?

The past twelve months have witnessed more dramatic and sensational events which are capable of placing Spiritualism in its rightful, respected place among the world's religions, and in the rightful perspective of world affairs, than have previously occurred in all the twentieth century!

We stand on the threshhold of a new and enlightened age, and Spiritualism has a very definite role in the great changes which are to come.

In an atmosphere of warmth, friendliness, and dignity befitting our beautiful religion, Satellite Seances is waiting to make the presentation of our truths an inspiring and memorable reality.

We are presently far short of the initial $100,000 funding. Work at the Videography Company is progressing ahead of schedule. We cannot afford a delay in this unprecedented event. Our dollars our needed! Now! Certainly Spiritualits are aware that to activate the law of abundance, requires a positive action on our part. If we are to receive, we too, must give. Have we not each felt a strong inner urge, many times in our lives to do something for the cause of Spiritualism, something which would enable the light of truth to shine out in such a way, that its radiance would penetrate and illuminate the very being and consciousness of all who are earnestly seeking truth.

Spiritualism has that truth to offer all mankind, also the vehicle - Satellite Seances, the most effective means of conveying this message in our 134 year history.

We need everyone to rally to this cause. Today is the time for action. Let us give generously, prayerfully, with the deep conviction that we have had a very needed, very important part in a movement with a positive, constructive potential which is beyond our comprehension. Our gifts should not be merely token contributions. They should register our faith, our conviction, a personal testimonial of our stewardship of the material blessings which God has entrusted to our keeping. Our gift should be an expression of our love for all humanity, motivated by a heartfelt desire that others' lives, as well as our own, might be touched and blessed by the great spiritual abundance which is available to all for the asking.

Send your tax deductable donation today.

Spiritualism came into the world to restore faith, and add to faith knowledge.

H. Gordon Burroughs

Mankind will endeavor, continuously, to discover through inspiration new ideas: for life is never at rest but continuously unfolds some new thing, as life continues toward some definite goal of progress, something new, yet there is nothing new, actually, in Infinite Intelligence being expressed - it is always there waiting to be brought forth as life unfolds its need and purpose in living.

NOTES from the FIELD

Michael Bell Christening Ceremony Held April 23rd

Mrs. Bell - Mother, Rev. Joseph Sax, Mr. & Mrs. Larry Bell - Godparents, and Michael Bell

On April 23rd, Michael Bell was christened at the First Spiritualist Church of Clinton (Iowa) in a beautiful ceremony with the Rev. Joseph Sax officiating.

In addition to the proud mother, Mrs. Bell, the godparents Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bell, a number of family, friends, and guests were in attendance, some coming from Illinois and Minnesota.

After the service, a well attended pot luck dinner was held and young Michael was the recipient of a number of cards and gifts.

The day was a happy occasion for all, and we are sure a very special blessing for Michael.

Indiana Association of Spiritualists Hold Seventy-Eighth Convention

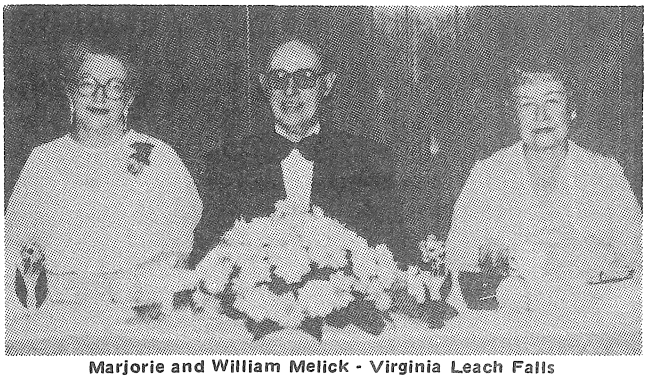

The Indiana State Association of Spiritualists held the seventy-eighth annual convention April 29 and 30, May 1 and 2 at the North Meridian Inn in Indianapolis.

Rev. William F. Melick in the president's annual message, speaking of world conditions, cited the need to stress education in all areas, also the need for greater unity of all Spiritualists, in meeting the challenges of today and in the future.

Two sessions hosted by the Rev. Virginia L. Falls entitled "Speakout" and "Questions, Questions, Questions," drew a spirited participation and response. These sessions showed clearly that the delegates were indeed aware of the role which Spiritualism can and will play in our present-day society in a positive enlightening program which will lead to a better and more spiritually minded world.

The Spiritualist Loyalty Pledge, which was received from spirit during the 1981 I.S.A.S. Convention by Mrs. Richard (Joan) Hambrock was adopted - to be used with the Spiritualist Sunflower Banner. The resolution also recommended that the Spiritualist Loyalty Pledge be presented at the N.S.A.C. Convention for adoption.

Jessie James, delegate to the National Convention, presented a 3 x 7 foot pictorial display concerning various people and events. He also played a portion of a cassette tape of Bob Kiger's Satellite Seances presentation, which was recorded at the 89th N.S.A.C. convention in Denver last October. Fund raising for the launching of the Satellite Seances program was discussed and several special donations were made.

Marjorie and William Melick - Virginia Leach Falls

Saturday evening delegates, families and friends relaxed at a buffet style banquet. Miss Barbara Hackler was in charge of the entertainment which followed, and there was sufficient laughter to prove to everyone within earshot that Spiritualists are a happy people. (ISAS entertainment on page 33).

Fortieth Anniversary Celebrated by Fourth Spiritualist Church of Camden, New Jersey

Under the able pastorship of the Reverend Elizabeth Giberson, the Fourth Spiritualist Church of Camden, New Jersey, celebrated their fortieth anniversary on April 25th at its same location of four decades.

Guest speakers were the Reverend Joseph H. Merrill, president of N.S.A.C., and the Reverend Larry Clark, National Spiritualist Teacher and medium. Mr. Merrill spoke of the past, present, and future of Spiritualism. He explained how important the Satellite program will be for the future expansion of Spiritualism in the new age. Mr. Clark shared his experiences as director of a large mental rehabilatation center, emphasizing everyone's need of love. He explained how Spiritualism has helped him in working with the center's inmates.

Edith Pedrick and her assistants served up a delicious dinner for the celebration in the bright and cheerful, newly decorated, rooms refurbished especially for the celebration. The Reverend Hank Armstrong generously lent his gifted singing talent, accompanied by Phyliss Bullock at the piano, with many inspirational renditions interspersed throughout the daylong celebration.

Tribute to Adolph Gross

Anna, Robert, relatives and friends of Adolph Gross.

I know your hearts are heavy at the physical loss of husband, father and friend, but as we know Adolph discussed his day of resurrection openly, frankly and without emotion. He wasn't afraid or apprehensive. He was ready to accept whatever was ahead, for he knew that life according to his philosophy, was built upon his understanding of Spiritualism and that of "There is no Death and there are no Dead." That life is a continuous extention of itself, a life style that was uniquely his own and could be noble or ignoble. Adolph developed a pattern of living that need not be measured by time, but by thought and action - a pattern of living that included a philosophy based on "There is no Death, there are no Dead."

In all the years I have known Adolph, I have never known him to complain - an attitude of courage in the face of lifes vicissitudes - a courage particular to his case. How many of us could hold to such an attitude? From this we can only conclude that Adolphs' life was noble.

Anna, Robert and all - I pray we here today can find strength and comfort in that which we here see exemplified in the earthly life span of Adolph Gross.

So, we say - until another day; Auf Wiedersehen, Adolph.

Delivered by: Rev. Bernard B. Powell, NST at the Puritan Spiritualist Church in Burnham, Illinois.

Joan Hambrock, author of Spiritualist Loyalty Pledge, and TNS editor, William F. Melick.

On Sunday May 16th, Rev. Virginia L. Falls was guest speaker and medium at the Union Spiritualist Church in Evansville, Indiana, and as always when Rev. Falls visits Evansville, the church is filled to capacity. Rev. Falls is the Pastor of the First Church of Spiritual Science, N.S.A.C. of Muncie, Indiana and is vice-president of the Indiana State Association of Spiritualists.

We in Evansville wish to sincerely thank Rev. Virginia L. Falls for filling our lives with such a beautiful day of spiritual sunshine.

I Said a Prayer for You Today

I said a prayer for you today
And know God must have heard -
I felt the answer in my heart
Although he spoke no word!
I didn't ask for wealth or fame
(I knew you wouldn't mind) -
I asked Him to send treasures
Of a far more lasting kind!
I asked that He'd be near you
At the start of each new day
To grant you health and blessings
And friends to share your way!
I asked for happiness for you
In all things great and small -
But it was for His loving care
I prayed the most of all!

Transitions

Castonguay, Leger J. of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio passed to the higher expression of life on April 19, 1982. He was 74 years old. He is survived by his wife Doris E. Castonguay, and a sister Dorothy Louvray, also of Cuyahoga Falls.

Anna May Dods officiated at the funeral services.

Mr. Castonguay will be especially remembered by those who knew him at Lily Dale, New York.

Wilson, Rev. Paul D., born March 2, 1897 in Indiana, passed to the higher life May 13th in Los Angeles, CA.

He settled in California in the early thirties. After becoming a member of the Central Spiritualist Church in 1936, he served Spiritualism in many places across the United States.

His service extended to civic duty as well as his religion. He had been serving on jury duty approximately three months, but was off the day he became ill and later passed over.

Mr. Wilson attended the Morris Pratt Institute resident school and was one of the few graduates still on this side of life. He was currently a member of the MPI board of trustees.

Paul will long be remembered because of his many accomplishments as well as a helping hand. Three Volumns of Modern Psychic Phenomena were among his latest publications.

Paul was almost a fixture at Lily Dale each year while serving at the Thought Exchange, Leolyn Hotel or strolling the grounds discussing Spiritualism with newcomers or veterans of it.

Many unsung praises are his because of the quiet dignified manner in which he helped - sometimes where others often followed after he showed the way. Lily Dale and Summit Publications (two of his greatest loves) will long remember his manner of encouraging progress for Spiritualism.

There are many who can say, "He was a good friend."

Mr. Wilson requested that there be no funeral service. Memorial comments were included in the afternoon services at the Central Spiritualist Church in Los Angeles May 16th, conducted by Reverends Katharine Tobey and William F. Melick. Cremation was at the Chapel of The Pines.

A date for the memorial service at Lily Dale has not been set.

Historical Facts

With the news of the scientific breakthrough of Spiricom, which has made possible electronic contact with those living in the spirit dimension, it is worth noting that most of the great discoveries, inventions and scientific breakthroughs have met with ridicule, skepticism, even adamant and violent protest, from zealots in both the scientific and religious arenas.

One of the most classic examples on record was witnessed by the eminent French astronomer, Camille Flammarion (1842-1925) also for more than sixty years a pioneer researcher of psychic phenomena.

The occasion was the first public demonstration of Edison's new invention, the phonograph, before the Academy of Sciences in 1878.

The event was dramatically captured for posterity in Flammarion's own words:

"Professor Bouillaud, who was a member of the Academy of Medicine, of the Academy of Science, and of all the most accredited learned societies, was a particularly remarkable type of those very small souls shut up in the narrowest possible brains that one can imagine, firmly set in their religious beliefs and absolutely incapable of reasoning freely. He was the hero of the anecdote which I related in "L'Inconnu," concerning the invention of the phonograph. On March 11, 1878, I was present at the meeting of the Academy of Sciences, that day of hilarious memory, when the physicist Du Moncel presented Edison's phonograph to the learned assembly. When the presentation had been made the apparatus began to recite docilely the sentence registered on its record. Then we saw an academician of ripe age, his mind imbued, saturated even, with the traditions of the classical culture, revolt nobly against the audacity of the innovator; we saw him hurl himself upon Edison's representative and seize him by the throat, crying out: "Wretch! we are not going to let ourselves be duped by a ventriloquist!" This member of the Institute was Monsieur Bouillaud. The most curious part of it is that six months later, on September 30th, at a similar meeting, he esteemed it an honor to declare that after a mature examination he was convinced that there was nothing to it but ventriloquism and that "we cannot admit that a vile metal can replace the noble apparatus of human phonation." The phonograph was to him only an acoustic illusion. Such people are "fastened to the rear of the chariot of progress" and delay everything by impeding its forward march and succeeding in hiding the light under a bushel, for their official titles impose upon the sheeplike masses."

I.S.A.S. Convention Entertainment

When Miss Barbara Hackler was approached to serve as entertainment chairman, ideas began to click immediately and a sequence of acts began to fall into place. While hosting the entertainment, she appeared as Miss Maxie Pearl (no relation to Minnie Pearl) in a red polka dot dress, pink stockings, hat with a dangling $2.98 price tag, and ad libbing with the nonchalance and eloquence of the late Groucho Marx.

Acts were interspersed with group sing-a-longs. Kim Norwood did a beautiful ballet number to "Edelweiss." Jim McLeod, just recently retired, did some fancy dancing and harmonica playing. Jim also performed in a disco sequence with Frances Norwood, which lured several participants from the audience, including Jesse James of Gary, Indiana.

In a skit, "Dramatic Moments of History," Mary Shafer played the aging Queen Victoria busied in the elaborate preparations for her Diamond Jubilee, (celebrating her sixty-year reign) as she consulted her personal medium for many years, John Brown. Herbert Ray Worth, replete with gray wig and gold-headed cane portrayed John Brown. The queen had returned from Frogmore Castle, with feet aching from standing several hours in a reception line. She was apprehensive and "not amused" as the scene opened.

Bit by bit, John Brown was able to determine that the pony which pulls her little cart about the palace grounds, also had a very special taste for fresh roses. He had entered the royal greenhouse and dispensed with several of the very choice bouquets.

In the excitement which followed, John Brown got his foot trampled, and quit in a huff, while the queen made her exit - running down a corridor yelling royal commands. The strains of Nellie Melba's recording "God Save the Queen" were heard as the curtain fell.

The entertainment concluded with a beauty contest (both men and women participating). Only the legs of the contestants were visible below a screen, as they danced and vied for the audience applause - which determined the happy winner.

Laughter was the order of the evening, which turned out to be a real rip-roaring fun fest.

Please send your convention and camp news - or "whatever" news, to the editorial secretary, Herbert Ray Worth.
