IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

HE WALKED THE AMERICAS

L. Taylor Hansen

THE MOST SIGNIFICANT BOOK WE HAVE EVER PUBLISHED!

His is the symbol of the Pierced Hand, yet his identity remains unknown. Almost 2,000 years ago He walked from tribe to tribe among the American Nations. He came to the west coast of Peru, South America, from the Pacific in the ocean-going canoes of the Polynesians, and after winning to the laws of God one of its ancient trading empires, left them for the lands of the jungles to the North. He sailed by ship as told in the Song of Quetzalcoatl from the now partly-sunken island of Cosumel, on the Atlantic coast of the Mayan country, and sailing North eventually travelled on foot around what is now the United States. Many years journeying, preaching and teaching the same message that Jesus used, brought him back at last to South America, to Tollan Mexico which was the greatest power of the ancient world. Who was he, this white Prophet who spoke a thousand languages, whose slightest touch was a miracle of healing? It is a question that will haunt us for years or may indeed never be answered. Yet, the facts are all there. In this highly original book, of special appeal to all those interested in the esoteric, L. Taylor Hansen gives us the results of 25 years of research. He has collected legends from many different tribes all over the Americas and has consulted museums, libraries and experts on folklore, correlating his findings into this fascinating volume.

Published in deluxe edition, full color on every page, with original Indian artwork and paintings, a collectors' first edition @ $6.95. Reserve your copy now, or purchase in advance if you wish, under delivery guarantee or money back.

EDITORIAL

WHEN WE PRINTED a $100 bill on the front cover of the August, 1962 issue of this magazine, we received a letter from an old friend who informed us that by printing this $100 bill we had violated the law and were liable to heavy fines and imprisonment. We appreciated this warning, but we had not acted unwisely or without being sure of our position. We had investigated what we could or could not do, and we were precisely within the law. At least we believed this was so.

Imagine our discomfiture, then, when a personable young man with heavy-soled shoes, a briefcase, and an impressive identification card with his photo in color, came to our printing plant and inquired for us. By the time we arrived, he had inspected our entire plant, and had informed all our employees of his mission, and had every one of them thoroughly scared.

As we appeared, he produced his identification, which informed us that he was from The Secret Service. His mission? He produced a copy of SEARCH for August, 1962 which he said he had purchased in Minneapolis. The $100 bill (worth $46 now in postage purchases over what it could buy ten years ago) was a violation.

Not so, we disagreed.

Did we have permission?

Naturally not.

Then it is a violation.

He produced a mimeographed paper eight pages in length which he said bore the facts - and if we didn't believe him, there was the paper. We accepted it, and glanced at it hastily. Sure enough, there were ominous words like $5,000 fine and 15 years imprisonment.

We waited for further words from the young man. They were not long in coming, as he produced a pencil, and took the mimeographed brochure from our hand to use as a writing pad. We furnished him with writing paper, and he proceeded to ask questions. How many employees did we have? How many hours did they work. How much did we print? Where did our magazines go? Who bought them? How were we paid? When would the magazine go on sale, and if it had already gone on sale, how long would it remain on sale? Where was the negative of the $100 bill? Where was the plate? Would we get it for him, as he had to confiscate it? Who does your camera work? Who writes your articles?

When he had finished his interrogation, we picked up the mimeographed pamphlet again, but in a moment or two, he found out he had to write something else, and once more the pamphlet became a back-up pad for his notes. A third time we secured the pamphet, and once more lost it. We finally asked if this was our pamphlet, or did he need to keep it? Oh, no. This was brought for our edification, to back up his words concerning our violation.

Now what? Well, he would have to call the attorney at Madison (the State Capitol - Wisconsin), and he would then return and give us the bad news as to what disposition was to be made of us. However, he did know one thing, that the magazine could not be sold. It would have to be called in immediately and each and every one confiscated. What would our recompense be? Nothing, of course. We had violated the law, and although he was sure there was no criminal intent (how could we spend these cardboard $100 bills printed in such a small size anyway, we wondered privately?), but ignorance is no excuse, and it was just tough luck.

Fortunately we were able to inform him the magazines were already off sale, and since the distributors did not return them, but destroyed them, we had none to turn over to him, nor would we be able to get any. He raised his eyebrows over this, as it was August, and was not this the August issue? No, the date is meaningless - magazines are dated two months ahead of time for some silly reason, and this magazine went on sale in June, and off sale in July, a month ago. Our October issue was already on sale.

Casually picking up the pamphlet, he prepared to leave, but we earnestly begged him to give us the present he had brought for us, so that in the future, we would not be violating the law through ignorance, but would have this little bible to keep us in the straight and narrow.

By this time we were anxious to read the pamphlet closely to see just how close we had come to a long sojourn in a federal prison, and a fine that would bankrupt us. What if he had come in June? We would have lost a month's sale, and would have suffered losses in the thousands!

Now, just to relieve your curiosity, we will quote verbatim from the little pamphlet. It reads as follows:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT
U. S. SECRET SERVICE

Use of illustrations and films of paper money, postage and revenue stamps, and other obligations and securities of the United States and foreign governments.

1. Introduction.

The treasury department sponsored legislation in the 85th Congress to liberalize and clarify the laws relating to the use of illustrations and films of paper money, postage and revenue stamps, and checks, bonds and other obligations and securities of the United States and foreign governments. This legislation was passed by the 85th Congress and approved by the President on September 2, 1958 (Public Law 85-921, 85th Congress).

This document contains information as to when it is permissible under the new legislation to print illustrations and make films of United States and foreign obligations and securities in comparison with what was permissible prior to its enactment.

2. United States and Foreign Paper Money and Other Obligations and Securities.

(A). Printed Illustrations. - Under the new law, printed illustrations of paper money, checks, bonds, and other obligations and securities of the United States and foreign governments are permissible for numismatic, educational, historical and newsworthy purposes. Previously, special permission of the Secretary of the Treasury was necessary.

The illustrations of paper money, checks, or bonds must be in black and white and must be of a size less than three-fourths or more than one and one-half times the size of the genuine instrument. The illustrations must appear in articles, books, journals, newspapers, magazines, or albums, and no individual facsimiles of such obligations are permitted. No illustrations may be in color, whether or not the color is the same as the color of the genuine instrument.

The following are some examples of situations where illustrations are now permissible without special permission of the Secretary of the Treasury, provide the illustrations are in black and white and conform to the size restrictions: (1) Illustrations of paper money . . . . . accompanying newsworthy articles . . . . in magazines.

We'll end our quote there, because we have given all the pertinent information in this pamphlet. As any reader can see, we did conform to the law down to the last iota, and we were not violators in any manner whatsoever.

We submit that the secret service man knew this too. His identification was in order, but he was out of Air Force Secret Service stationed in Minnesota, and not from Madison, Wisconsin. He did not call any attorney in Madison to learn what disposition was to be made of our case, and if he were making any report, it would be in great written detail through the channels peculiar to the secret service and all government agencies. He did not come back as he promised, with the decision. He did not do anything he would have done had he come about our picture of a $100 bill. He DID act like all his predecessors over the years who have kept careful check on SEARCH magazine, FLYING SAUCERS, and he failed in his PRIME purpose, to cause us financial loss by calling a magazine off sale, or preventing its placement on sale.

EVERY TIME this happens, we are reminded again that flying saucers are REAL, and that there is a secret somewhere we are in danger of revealing.

Let's clear this up for once and for all. We don't know any secret information about flying saucers. If the government has them, we don't know it, and further, we don't believe they have. One thing is CERTAIN, the flying saucer is not parked at any Air Base because it just isn't the nature of the beast!

We are flattered that we receive such constant (and unconstitutional) attention. But we leave the matter to the readers - did Mr. SS visit us to warn us we were violating the law, or did he visit us to see our new printing plant, which hadn't as yet been checked upon?

Somehow or other we are very clumsily and innocently treading on some very tender toes, and do you know, we don't really care!

What we do care about is the fact that our rights under the Constitution are constantly being violated under one guise or another, and each one of them turns out to be military. It all began with 1941 when we were held a week incommunicado as a suspected spy. Ever since, we have been constantly faced with uniformed men who have a total disregard for the Bill of Rights, and who violate it knowingly. We have had military men flaunt their power in our face - telling us baldly: "What are you going to do about it?" However that is not the subject of this editorial - what we want to tell you is the aftermath of this latest bit of ugliness.

We have our home office in Illinois. That is our legal office. As editor of these magazines, this worker can live where he pleases. He pleases to live in Amherst. He can also print his magazine anywhere there is a printer available. We have been printed in Vermont, in Ohio, in Illinois, in Wisconsin. We are engaged in inter-state commerce. We therefore pay inter-state commerce wages to our employees. We pay ourselves nothing, for the simple reason that there is no money left for the editor's salary. Fortunately we have another job - we work for FATE Magazine in the circulation department, as, if you wish, a shipping clerk. It earns us a living.

Imagine our consternation to learn that a Secret Service man in the Chicago area visited our Illinois home office, and finding the office manager (our sister-in-law and also unsalaried) absent (she also has a job to earn a living), inquired of neighbors and learned that her son did indeed work for a printer. This printer has no connection with SEARCH Magazine, and in fact never heard of Ray Palmer or his publishing and printing activities. Thus it was quite a surprise to receive such a caller. It might not have been so bad if the caller had come as did the SS man to Amherst. But instead, the local police were called upon to assist, and a raid was staged. When federal men and local police converge en masse upon an establishment, it is a raid. After much excitement, it was established the the boy had nothing to do with counterfeiters and was released. It is a miracle that his employer did not fire him just to be sure he wouldn't become involved in a nasty situation.

Everything done by these SS men was contrary to justice and to Constitutional rights. It was calculated to cause the most possible trouble and discomfiture and loss of money. It was a dirty, despicable thing. It was totally unfounded, and therefore deliberate in evil intent. It is based on idiocy, for as every reader of SEARCH and FLYING SAUCERS knows, there is no such thing as a UFO, and this editor is madder than a March Hare. Why, then, the persecution. Yes, persecution. It is nothing else. It is not possible in America, yet it can be and is being done with impunity. We ask, as one Air Force Major said: "What can we do about it - what ARE we going to do about it?" The answer is simple - we intend to scream and keep on screaming, and we intend to go on publishing about flying saucers or anything else in the field of the unknown that we feel is interesting and deserves looking into. We do not intend to stick our noses into an Air Base, and we won't even look up at a military jet plane. We wouldn't go across the street to watch a rocket launched to the moon. But we will ask many questions about such things as glowing mystery particles in space, bits of "paper" flying along at a mile-a-second beside the X-15 and mystery signals from space.

This earth is inhabited by more than Man. It is inhabited in an area we call the atmosphere. A hundred miles above our heads there is intelligent life. A thousand miles up there is more intelligent life - a life form much more intelligent.

Science has been telling us that it is only a remote accident that there is life on Earth; that the moon and the other planets do not have conditions suitable to life. The opposite is true. Everywhere in space and on the planets, there is life. It is aware of us, and we are aware of it. Our radar screens bring us intelligent signals - signals we suspect have been interpreted; and which have given us scientific advancement in the field of technology far beyond our real abilities, and certainly beyond our moral stature to control. We may have been given the means to destroy ourselves by an inimicable enemy who now will not have to raise a finger to take over this planet's surface.

Of course this is all fantasy. It is not believed by anybody. It certainly is not believed by those SS men who listen so intently to our ravings, and do all they can to sink SEARCH and FLYING SAUCERS right out of the arena of free speech. They cannot refute what we say, because such insanities need not be refuted, nor can they be given respectability by so much as an expose. Since we are engaged only in science fiction, why not just forget us, Mr. S. S.? Why bother? It isn't true at all. Ray Palmer is just out to make a buck. He hasn't made any yet, but why not let him try?

Would you rather he'd build a backyard radar and learn how to build a super yo-yo which will go like wildfire and make him a million? This editor really believes such messages might come over a home-made radar. They did once, in Wheaton, Illinois. Why not again?

For you readers who laugh at this crackpot, okay. Laugh if you will. But don't laugh at a man in uniform who feels the Constitution is an outmoded document, and is backed up by a president who feels the same way. If you do, one day you will be laughing out of the other side of your mouth. And your children will be cursing you as they remember the freedom that was their heritage, now gone forever because you forgot that "eternal vigilance is the price of freedom" and in this strange world, the word vigilance covers a lot of territory.

Do you think SEARCH is the only magazine to be persecuted by the military brass in defiance of the Constitution? Well, then, listen to this:

The August issue of REAL was removed from all PX newsstands (SEARCH can't even get on 'em!) in France and Germany because the magazine carried an article called "Germany's Plans To Start World War 3". The accuracy of the article wasn't questioned, and still has not been. But the magazine suffered a severe financial loss in addition to its abridgement of Article 1, of the Bill of Rights. Just in case you don't know what this Bill says, we'll repeat it for you:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

The freedom of the press of REAL magazine was violated, and it was allowed no redress. This was political censorship by mili-

...y officials. As REAL's editors said: "This looks as though the Brass was saying: don't print anything critical of us or our policies or we'll kick you off the newsstands. If they kick us off enough newsstands, we eventually will be forced to stop publishing."

"Absolute freedom of the press to discuss public questions is a foundation of American liberty." - Herbert Hoover.

In 1949 military men called at the office of William B. Ziff, publisher of Amazing Stories. Your editor was at the helm of that magazine then. He had planned a special flying saucer issue of the magazine, announced as telling everything known about flying saucers to that time. The special issue was killed by direct order of the military. It was the prime reason for the starting of FATE magazine, in which the censored material was presented in full in its first issue, and the resignation of Ray Palmer from a $9,000 a year job (he makes $3,000 now), the equivalent of $18,000 in 1962. Obviously your editor feels strongly about freedom of the press - how many of you readers have given up that sort of salary for Article 1 of the Bill of Rights?

So it can be safely said that the incident described in this editorial is not just a bit of persecution-complex, but is evidence of a very real type of censorship which is an outgrowth of too much military political power in this country. This military encroachment into the area of our Constitutional Liberties will be our downfall if it is not controlled. It will not be controlled by electing military men to high public office. It will not be controlled by dedicating our entire national effort to putting a man on the moon, or on Venus, or in Hell.

Unless the military's "great secret" is the knowledge that we are about to be invaded from space, and that the whole military world has banded together to defend this planet? If this is the secret, then it would bring world cooperation and world friendship in a common bond if it were NOT kept secret.

Or IS our enemy in space?

It is with a feeling of satisfaction that we can say, without boasting, that SEARCH has improved so much in recent issues that with this issue we are setting a standard which will be hard to meet in the future. We will continue to improve in quality of cover illustrations, as we grow more proficient in making color separations for full-color covers. We will soon graduate to color inside. We will spare nothing to continue this improvement. We feel that now is the time to move ahead with all the ability at our command, and to "give it the works" so to speak.

One of the prime reasons for this is the tax situation. We feel that we'd rather give the readers improved (and costly) quality than pay it out in taxes. We still do have that choice. And we don't propose to spend $2500 to put a man on the moon. That's what it will cost every family with three children, as we have. Divide the population of this country into the estimated cost of the project, and you will come up with this $500 per person figure. You and I can't go to the moon, so let's spend the $2500 on SEARCH to make it a magazine of top quality and content.

Speaking of content, how about the articles we've been running? Your letters have been so complimentary, we almost blush. But the articles in this issue are even better. We call your attention to Volney G. Mathison's "Imitation Death - Doorway To The Cosmos". It will surprise you quite a bit. We can't say if these experiments are actually going on, but we remember having read about them in some science magazine several years ago. "The Great Global Catastrophe" by Charles Mason Remey should interest those of you concerned with prophecy. And what about "The Little Old Woman Who Could Not Die"? Or even "Chaos", our "rib" at pronunciation? - Rap.

A ROMANCE OF TWO WORLDS
By Marie Corelli

Marie Corelli was perhaps the greatest psychic writer of them all. Her novels contain esoteric lore of tremendous importance. In this novel she treats of the world of the spirit, and its relationship to we who are in the world of the living.

THE SOUL OF LILITH
By Marie Corelli

In this book the author shows how close is the link between life before death and life after death. This body we live in holds our spirit; but what of the disembodied spirit, or the spirit that never lived? Can a body be alive without its tenant soul?

ETIDORHPA
By John Uri Lloyd

A truly important book! In all respects the worthiest presentation of occult teachings that has yet been written. Fiction? None but the ignorant would believe that! The author was an advanced student of occultism, and in his sensational book he has tried to place before his fellow men a tremendous reality he discovered concerning this earth of ours, and life on it, in it, and beyond it. Here is truth!

Predictions of the future by the ability known as psychometry. She can find lost objects, determine the state of your health, predict your future. Try her, and see.

THE COMMUNIST MILITARY BUILDUP in Cuba will continue. Cuba is already too tightly held in the grasp of the Soviet type of socialism, and in its true reality, as the people of Cuba now realize, it is totalitarian dictatorship, backed up by such armament that revolt by the people is as impossible as it was in Hungary. This country will not intervene directly, but will encourage training of Cubans on our soil. This training will be largely fruitless. Castro has not long to rule Cuba, but his successor will be much worse, because his purpose will be more definite, whereas Castro is a victim of his emotions and his weaknesses, most lately his weakness for drink. He is a sick man.

There will be many new and startling discoveries in space that will add a great deal to the mystery that surrounds this planet. Scientists will be baffled to explain, and many will frankly admit

FLYING SAUCER PILGRIMAGE

By Bryant & Helen Reeve

They went on a 23,000-mile pilgrimage to meet the people who claimed to have seen flying saucers, even ridden on them! They wanted to know these people for themselves, so they could judge their stories! Here, now, is their factual account of that pilgrimage. Meet them all for yourself: Adamski, Fry, Bethurum, Williamson, Angelucci, Van Tassel, Desmond Leslie, many others. And then they saw a saucer themselves! Read their exciting conclusions, their singular message to you!

"The absolute tops in over 100 books on the subject of flying saucers! Undoubtedly the most all-embracing on every aspect of the subject that has yet appeared! The Hon. Brinsley le Poer Trench, editor of the bi-monthly Journal of Space, FLYING SAUCER REVIEW.

Further comments:

"The authors have written the account of adventures and experiences in a most readable and delightful light-hearted manner, however do not be deceived by their gay and happy style. Oh, yes, they want you to enjoy their pilgrimage with them, and you will, too. But this book certainly goes "deep" and explores saucers, the space people and their raison d'etre, from every possible angle."

"Are contactees chosen in advance by the space people? Why don't they land? How do we look to the space people? What are they like? What can we learn from space beings? Is this civilization ending? Why are the space people coming to earth in such great numbers at the present time? Are the space beings hostile or friendly? These are just a few of many questions discussed in this book."

This winter will distinguish itself by its unusual weather, continuing the unique pattern begun in the last winter. The jokes concerning weather predicters will be very popular. Unusual effects will be noted in the sky, some of them attributed to radiation influence on the auroral displays. This comes with great vividness during December and January.

Death of a very important leader. The nation where this occurs will suffer from civil war, and it will only be stopped by intervention by United Nations troops.

A startling new invention that will revolutionize communications particularly in regard to space and signalling to other planets. It will be discovered that the U. S. Venus rocket is damaged, and the signals expected will not come.

HOW TO GET A PSYCHOMETRIC ANALYSIS

Select a short verse from the Bible, perhaps your favorite, and write it on a separate sheet of paper, meanwhile concentrating on your problems. Then mail the sheet to Mrs. Dorothy Spence Lauer, Amherst, Wisconsin, and enclose $4.00. Bear in mind the reply may take several weeks.

Send a snapshot of yourself to Dorothy Spence Lauer, Amherst, Wisconsin, and enclose $4.00 to cover the cost. Be sure to include your return address! Surprisingly many applicants forget this! And please, if possible, report the results to SEARCH magazine after their accuracy or inaccuracy is determined. Remember, reports of inaccuracy are as important as those of accuracy.

Editor's Note: Dorothy Spence Lauer is a Psychometrist, specializing in precognition. Ordinarily she needs but an object belonging to, or handled by, the subject, or the presence of the subject, to become aware of the psychic influences from which she draws her information. However, by writing out a verse, while concentrating, as described in the instructions given on this page, a sufficiently powerful psychic impression will be made to enable the medium to receive the information she seeks. We have made this service available to our readers purely in an experimentative atmosphere, in an attempt, first to determine whether or not this ability is of a nature both real and valuable; and second, to provide you with an interesting bit of entertainment. IMITATION DEATH - DOORWAY TO THE COSMOS

BY

VOLNEY G. MATHISON

How the multi-thousand-year time factor in interstellar space flight will be cancelled.

THE integration of nuclear and biophysical research has of late been a source of formulations that are underwriting some fantastic experiments. Much of this work is so highly classified, that is, secret, that one finds it difficult to present it in enough detail to make a connected understandable account of what is going on. However, certain aspects of this research are, to a limited degree, dealt with herein.

One phase of bionucleonic research involves a considerable elaboration of paleontological and biophysical theory, particularly with reference to the origin of life on this planet. There is now a good deal of corelated data which indicates that powerful cosmic radiations have been bombarding this earth probably ever since the first moment of its existence. As the globe cooled, hot floods surged about over the fissuring rocks. The steaming waters were heavily charged with sodium, chlorine, and many other atomic elements leached from the cooling igneous masses.

At a certain critical temperature, probably below 100 degrees, Fahrenheit, the molecular, atomic, and sub-atomic whorls of entrap-

FREEZING-POINT APPARATUS, designed by J. A. Ramsay and R. H. J. Brown of the University of Cambridge, is contained in the box at right. The experimenter is about to insert the sample-holder. Freezing is observed through microscope eyepiece at top of box.

ped energy in the chemicalized waters seems to have arrived at a harmonic resonance with the super-frequency inflow of cosmic-ray energy arriving from interstellar space. On a miniature scale, violent atomic or nuclear reactions occurred. The previously random submolecular whorls became polarized, and at that moment there was created a semi-organic structure that one scientist has called a "bion," meaning a "living ion."

When observed with a powerful microscope under the open sky, or in a roofless laboratory, bions multiply, cohere, and form groupings, casting off extraneous electronic particles in this implosive process. The excess electronic particles surround and cling to the bions, as "protoplasmic matter." The complete affair is a living cell - organic life. The super-physical motive power of this manifestation appears to be inflowing cosmic ray energy unobstructedly impacting upon critically heated molecules.

It also seems probable that inflowing cosmic radiation is the source of the energy rise that manifests itself in every organic cell, which causes it to swell, and to form a relatively high-tension surface area in a plane parallel to the incoming energy flow. The super-energized cell begins to quiver or vibrate with increasing violence, until a severance occurs, and two cells exist where there was one before. This basic multiplication of living cells has never ceased; it goes on at this moment at a tremendous rate.

In the case of human beings, the whole enormous miracle of perpetual cell-division is reenacted from the moment of conceptions, when two single cells fuse, and then begin dividing. Within months, the dividing process has created trillions times trillions of cells, associated and organized into complex systems. An astounding biohistorical drama is, in this instance, compressed from some billions of years to a reenactment in nine months.

The cosmic ray inflow that seemingly sparks the entire phenomenon is probably a one-way energy manifestation. We do not appear to flow out energy in return, back into interstellar space, and possibly we are therefore heavily entered on the debit side of the great book of the Universe.

Since the original bionic groupings into cells are the first known forms of life on this earth, and have propagated in an immortal fashion, by forever dividing, it becomes apparent that every human being living today must inherit a fractional part of some original ancient cell created billions of years ago. We have a tremendous genetic inheritance. Every part of the body, from the most deeply hidden gland to the surface of the skin, has an individual genetic memory. With reference to the skin, this genetic memory has been lately termed the "dermal psyche." In addition to its individual genetic memory pattern, every skin cell, through the intercommunicating nerve structures of the body, also has a certain degree of subconscious perception of states deep within the entire organism.

This phenomenae of the "dermal psyche" is now utilized to achieve the operation of an instrument actuated by skin-contacting electrodes, called an electropsychometer. This instrument registers on indicating meters certain subconscious bionuclearly based responses of a person to whom it is applied. It is largely through electropsychometric research that the data herein presented in an abridged form has been arrived at.

In conducting bionucleonic research based upon the electropsychometric registrations of the dermal psyche, a baffling and inexplicable enigma presented itself, the resolution of which comprises, to a degree, the principal theme of this present paper.

One of the important functions of the electropsychometer is to register on an electrical meter an arithmetical summation of a plurality of psychophysical or "nervous" tensions and glandular imbalances, as reflected by varying electro-dermal skin conditions.

The arithmetical summation of a person's several nervous or psychophysical tensions is called his or her "electropsychometric tone." This is registered by a moving meter needle on a complex arbitrarily numerated scale. The significance of the readings appearing on this meter scale may be more readily grasped by describing the scale as it is depicted in a symbolical form. In a symbolic expression, the electropsychometric tone scale is shown as a large circle in a vertical plane, and can best be visualized by comparing it with the dial of an ordinary clock.

At the zenith of this vertical circle, corresponding to 12 o'clock on a clock dial, is placed the arbitrary numeral "3", which, in the electropsychometric system denotes an ideal or generally excellent mind-and-body condition. Hence a person who reads at "3" on the scale is regarded as being in an over-all first-class, tip-top shape.

Declining counterclockwise, to the left, on this symbolical circle, the numeral "2" appears at a position that corresponds to about 10 o'clock on a clock dial. Declined counterclockwise still farther, the numeral "1" is placed on the circle at a position equivalent to about 8 o'clock.

Still farther down, near the bottom of the circle, at a point about equivalent to 7 o'clock, the tone-scale arc terminates in an arrowhead pointing toward "0", which is placed precisely at the bottom of the circle, corresponding to 6 o'clock on a clock dial.

The numeral "2" at 10 o'clock denotes the general area of meter needle registration consistently obtained in the examination of so-called "average-normal" persons who have the usual range of everyday concerns, anxieties, worries, and the like.

When the tone-meter needle declines to the numeral "1", corresponding to about 8 o'clock on a clock dial, this discloses excess flows of nervous energy, which in turn almost always indicates that the subject is making a desperate effort to combat some threat, such as disease or serious injury on the physical level, or acute and intense fear or anxiety on the mental level.

Still lower counterclockwise registrations, toward "0" at the bottom of the tone scale, indicate approaching death, as, for example, in a terminal case of cancer. One of the factors contributing to such grimly low readings on the electropsychometric scale is the increased exudation from the skin of fluids heavily laden with salts and acids.

The tone-meter registrations described in the above paragraphs are significant with reference both to states of emotional or psychical stress, and to physical pathology.

From the foregoing it would appear that the higher the tone reading obtained on the electropsychometric scale the better would be the condition of the subject being examined. But this did not prove to be the case. The value indicative of an examinee's optimum mental and physical state was just a rather short distance above the average-normal "Tone 2," and nowhere near the maximum observable range of the instrument. This optimum value was denoted as "3" - at the zenith of the symbolical scale.

And this now brings us to the bionucleonic enigma that has taken several years to resolve, and which, in being resolved, has led to some extraordinary research experiments: What about persons who do read beyond "3", or to the right of the zenith of the symbolical scale, at positions corresponding to 2 o'clock, 4 o'clock, and the like?

Persons registering in this area, while not acutely ill or disturbed, were nonetheless found to be, seemingly without exception, in some sort of thoroughly undesirable psychophysical state, as indicated by consistent attitudes of false calm, dullness, apathy, and by an obvious lack of energy or dynamic drive.

It was gradually discovered that most of the persons who registered in this area of the electropsychometric scale were apt to be adherents of philosophical or metaphysical systems of thought that severely minimize the value and importance of the physical body.

It was also consistently observed that sedation, opiates, tranquilizing medications, and the like, produced virtually the same electropsychometric registrations as did the prolonged acceptance of various anti-physical doctrines.

Further investigation disclosed, by degrees, that the puzzling area of the tone scale, declining down the circle to the right of the optimum "3" at the zenith of the symbolical scale, indicated a state identical to hypnosis, with reference to the cases of adherents to certain metaphysical beliefs, or identical to narcohypnosis, in the cases of persons experiencing the administration of anaesthetic medication.

It is necessary here to emphasize that the induction of the psychical condition indicated by the word "hypnosis" is not at all the monopoly of professional hypnotists. This special state is far more frequently induced by giving sustained, undivided attention to almost any idea, particularly an idea concerning some kind of non-physical dogma, for a considerable length of time. The end effect is that the sustained idea seems to become more real than one's actual physical surroundings.

Narcohypnosis, when expertly brought about, produces manifestations similar to ordinary hypnosis, but is much more swiftly established through the use of narcotics.

It became evident that as the needle of the electropsychometric tone meter went farther and farther clockwise, beyond a point corresponding to about 2 o'clock on a clock dial, it was registering deeper and deeper degrees of a state of either hypnosis or or narcohypnosis. A further discovery, which turned out to be the most significant of all, was that a major element of the hypnotic or hypnoidal syndrome was decreasing bionuclear energy flows in the physical body of the subject.

Such conditions of diminishing bionuclear energy flows are denoted on the electropsychometer, and, correspondingly on the symbolical scale, in the following manner: A meter registration equivalent to about 2 o'clock on a clock dial is numerated as tone "2-X," and about 4 o'clock as tone "1-X."

Declining still farther downward, clockwise, the symbolical tone-scale circle terminates in a second arrowhead pointed leftward toward 5 o'clock or thereabouts. This near-bottom area of the symbolical arc, adjacent to the zero of physical manifestation of life at the 6 o'clock position on the scale, was for a long while a question-mark area designated as tone "0-X," suggesting completely unknown negative factors. At the time this section of the tone scale was tentatively marked in this way, tone X-0 had never been remotely approached in any empirical test or examination. It represented some possible but totally unknown bionuclear condition.

Hence this posed two fascinating questions: Was electropsychometric tone 0-X attainable? And, if it was, what was it like?"

The elementary mathematical principle of interpolation indicated an approach toward the answer. If tone 2-X and 1-X denoted diminishing energy flow, then tone 0-X, or 0-Xn would presumably denote zero energy flow.

This seemingly would require a zero level of physical molecular activity in the body of the subject.

Would this be equivalent to death? Obviously it would not, since the molecules in a dead physical body are demonstrably in motion. Tone 0-Xn apparently would denote something far deeper than or different from physical death.

Ensuing research led directly into the field of medical anaesthesiology, wherein it has been known for some time that lowering the temperature of the physical body of an anaesthetized subject or patient to 80 degrees Fahrenheit immensely deepens the depth of achievable anaesthesia by reducing molecular activity within the physical body structure.

It has also been observed many times that under hypnosis varying degrees of anaesthesia can be achieved, similar to that obtained through the use of pentothal - but with this vitally different aspect: that whereas with dosages of the drug, communication between the operator and the subject is lost, under hypnosis communication between the operator and the subject is immeasurably heightened.

Experiments were next conducted wherein the subject was both lightly anaesthetized and deeply hypnotized - that is, he was placed in a state of narcohypnosis - and was then instructed that he would be able to experience continuous and extensive reductions of his bodily temperature, without injury. Specifically, the subject was first informed that a small spot on his forearm would be reduced in temperature to a point far below zero, causing an actual physical freezing of this localized area; that it would be gradually thawed out again, while he was still hypnotized, and that on being returned to consciousness, he would find that no damage had been inflicted in the temporarily frozen area.

Although certain factors were encountered and overcome that are still of a highly classified nature, it can be disclosed that an actual chemical refrigerant was used, and not mere mental suggestion; and that the experiments were carried out with success. Also that the experimentally frozen area was increased, cautiously, to include an arm, then a foot, a leg.

The next year, with considerable misgiving, tests were conducted in a different way. The subject was placed in narcohypnosis and instructed that his entire physical body would be subjected - without the slightest physical injury - to lower and lower temperatures. To Fahrenheit 40, 33, 32, 31, 30, 20, 10, 0, 10 below zero, 20 below. . .

These temperatures, of course, were not achieved in one single experiment. The bodily temperature was gradually reduced, lower and lower, in the course of a great number of consecutive experiments.

It has been found that at a certain temperature all detectible molecular activity ceases. The heart has long since stopped. Breathing has ceased. The subject, to all appearance, is as completely dead as a chunk of polar ice. The actual temperature of his body, is, in fact many, many degrees below that of any ordinary kind of ice.

It must be pointed out here that this research attests to the as yet under-estimated potentialities of hypnosis. An unhypnotized subject, no matter how carefully he was subjected to such an experiment, would certainly never recover. Under narcohypnosis, and with certain precautions, nothing injurious occurs. The present writer has been through this experience, and is able to report that from the moment of the action of the preliminary light injection of pentothal, to speed up induction, to the time of returning to consciousness, the period is blank, without dreams, visions, discomfort, sensations, or perceptions of any kind. There seem to be no side or after effects.

For a long while, this research was conducted with the utmost secrecy. Nothing could be disclosed concerning it. It was known that the Nazi government of Germany had, in 1940, conducted certain biorefrigeration experiments on war prisoners, and that all the accumulated data pertaining thereto had fallen into the hands of the Soviet government.

Very recently, it has been positively ascertained that Soviet scientists know far more about the possibilities of biorefrigeration under narcohypnosis than does any one in America.

The foregoing might appear to be an account of pure research, of an exceedingly strange type, having almost no conceivable application. Such a view would be erroneous - for this research is being integrated into the problem of conditioning future space-ship crews physically to withstand the maddening boredom of a long flight. Even more essentially, a crew in this special state would require neither food nor water nor oxygen during the vast span of years that might be required for the trip.

Who would embark on such a flight - and why?

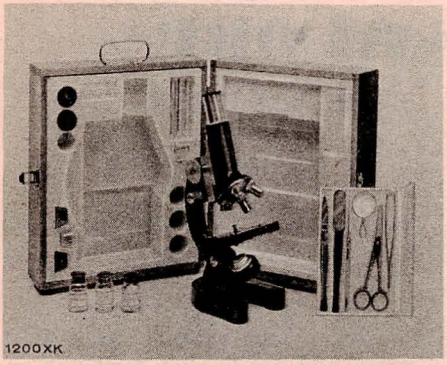

To answer this question now requires a brief seeming digression. One major government has constructed a system of enormous "electronic lenses" hundreds of feet in diameter, and at this moment has them in operation in a remote desert behind miles of militarily guarded barbed wire fence. These wire-network lenses are concentrating interstellar or cosmic space-waves of high-frequency energies. At least one of these energy flows coming in from outer space is modulated, which is a technical way of saying that it carries intelligence.

On this planet, so far, presumably no equipment has as yet been designed or built that can successfully demodulate these interstellar signals, or interpret them into humanly intelligible terms. But this is going to be achieved.

And then, as this earth eventually enters into an inevitable state of decay and death, similar to that apparently developing on Mars, it may be that space ships with narcohypnotized and frozen crews and passengers will be launched from this globe, and, guided by interstellar beams of communication, will be piloted on controlled flights to younger planets.

This may seem a bit fantastic, yet it is perhaps less fantastic to us than the story of the atomic-powered submarine, Nautilus, seemed in the days of Jules Verne. This submarine today maneuvers in the oceans.

So these are serious matters upon which vast sums are being expended in further research.

the worms at our vitals

By DR. W. D. CHESNEY, M. D.

A CENTURY ago right this month, my father passed his bar examination at Ottowa, Illinois. Shortly thereafter President Lincoln persuaded him to go to Topeka, Kansas, the bleeding state, and stand for the office of County Attorney. Father was elected to that office in November 1864 and sworn in, January 4, 1865. Mr. Lincoln wrote father in November, 1864:

"Ez, due to the war large corporations have taken over and an era of dishonesty and rascality in high places in government will surely follow. These soulless corporations will usurp more and more until the republic is destroyed." The word soulless connotes a condition in which there is no love for God or man, without mercy or honor. And it is our duty to point out a few of those soulless corporations. Those with half a memory should recall to mind that many large such corporations actually sold military secrets to our enemies, and traitorous scoundrels in high places took the blood-tainted gold and accepted small token fines from the treasonable corporations. For a stamped, addressed envelope this writer will name a few of them.

Treasonable American corporations always whoop it up for patriotism. This reminds us of good old Sam Johson's epigram: "PATRIOTISM IS THE LAST RESORT OF A DAMN SCOUNDREL". However, the most detestable gangs plot to destroy America by administering poisonous drugs and poisoned foods to so weaken our young folks with 2,000 synthetic chemicals such as DDT, dieldrin, parathion, arsenic, selenium, manganese, in truth compounds that do not oxydize and remain in the soil to poison all plants and animals. And the great corporation, our mother-in-law U.S. government, knows these positive facts and does absolutely nothing to correct this system of universal poisoning. Our paid servants in government have positive proof that cigarets are killing hundreds of thousands per annum, and are sentencing future generations to chains and slavery, yet winks the eye because these poisons bring in great tax revenue. The same thing can and should be said of another corporation, the American Medical Association, which was incorporated as a money making organization on April 14, 1897, an Illinois corporation. How many times I have referred to you the horrible crimes against life committed by this money-grabbing corporation? How many times I have urged you, for Humanity's, which is really for God's, sake to exercise your constitutional right to demand redress?

If a felon entered your home, assaulted you and your family and took everything but the kitchen sink, would you not call the police and demand punishment for the felon? Every second of the day you and yours are poisoned and robbed. And most of you supinely do nothing about it. What must our Revolutionary forefathers, who were willing to sacrifice their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor, think about this jelly-spined generation? How many times must one call your attention to the FitzGerald report to Senator Tobey's committee to discover why the A.M.A. was depriving 300,000 American cancer victims of known cancer cures THAT CURED? And criminal placards condemning a known positive cancer cure? And what was done with Krebiozen, and the Drosnes-Lazenby known cancer remedy?

I now quote one of our most reputable American magazines:

"WHILE FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION OFFICIALS PERMIT THEMSELVES TO BE USED BY THE AMA . . . THE WHEELS OF JUSTICE ARE GRINDING SLOWLY IN CASE OF DR. HENRY WELCH, FORMER CHIEF OF THE ANTIBIOTICS DIVISION OF THE U.S. F.D.A.". WELCH, FALSE TO THE HIPPOCRATIC OATH HE TOOK VOLUNTARILY, WAS ADVERTISING AND PASSING KNOWN DEADLY POISONS THAT ARE STILL DESTROYING THE HEALTH OF YOU AND YOURS. FOR THESE ACTS HE DREW A NICE BIT OF EXTRA FOLDING MONEY TO THE TUNE OF $287,000.00. WHEN CAUGHT, HE WAS PERMITTED TO RESIGN. THE PROOFS OF THIS IS COLLECTING DUST IN THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE. SENATOR KEFAUVER BROUGHT FORTH THIS EVIDENCE. THE SENATOR WANTS, NEEDS AND MUST HAVE YOUR MORAL SUPPORT AS EVIDENCED BY CARDS AND LETTERS TO HIM. Do not get the silly idea that this author is buttering up, or giving hades, to any political party. As well-expressed by the greatest newspaper publisher, William Allen White: "SO I LEFT THE DAMNED GANG OF REPUBLICATION THIEVES IN KANSAS AND WENT OVER TO MINGLE WITH DAMNED DEMOCRATIC THIEVES IN MISSOURI."

But I have many times GIVEN YOU THE GREAT SECRET: Politicians will vote for anything provided the people will firmly inform them, "YOU VOTE FOR METHODS OF REDRESS, OR IT'S YOUR POLITICAL NECK." I'll give you two examples out of hundreds in my files: When Bricker of Ohio, would not permit the FitzGerald report to come before the SENATE some old fuzzy eared so-and-so started a card campaign in Ohio and buried Bricker. When President Eisenhower got too chummy with a Wall Street gang about financing a great monopolistic power plant, to be paid for by US, some old maverick started a letter campaign and the President had to withdraw this steal. THESE TYPICAL CASES WERE REPORTED IN FULL IN THE PRESS. Have you forgotten?

Lest you consider this writer biased against the Republican party, in justice we must give the other side some attention. Do you remember the young Democrat under FDR who kicked sick soldiers off a plane so that his two dogs could be transported? The same one who forced, through his father, the president of the A&P chain to loan him the neat bundle of $300,000.00 to finance a radio broadcasting station at Ft. Worth. It flopped and the A&P man settled for a few cents on the hundred dollars. REMEMBER?

I have at your disposal some juicy bits of facts in the following two administrations that WE ARE PAYING FOR. And your grandchildren will continue to pay for in the year A.D. 2,000.

Representative Frank J. Keefe made two great pleas for redress in 1949, pointing out the mass poisoning of American citizens. He named the poisons contained in grains, flour, bakery goods, dried fruits, meats, all dairy products, in the air and water. CONGRESS VOTED HIM DOWN. Representative Ussher Burdick, July 17, 1957, made an impassioned speech before the HOUSE pointing out that there seemed to be little doubt that government men had conspired with foreigners to poison our people so that "THE REPUBLIC IS DESTROYED." Again Congress turned thumbs down on Mr. Burdick, YOU and AMERICA.

300,000 Americans will DIE from the effects of CIGARETS THIS YEAR. Get Readers Digest (June, 1962) and read the lead article, "LUNG CANCER AND CIGARETS," and discover that this old fool told you the same thing some eight years ago in Ray's Mystic and SEARCH. You did nothing about it. And since then several MILLION Americans have died from cigaret cancer. This Readers Digest article said, "Congressmen have dodged or pigeonholed the smoking-health issue for ten years." Do you doubt longer that a broad cross section in government is selling YOU down the river for the blood-stained gold of other soulless corporations? This article also points out the heart disasters arising from cigarets. Heart diseases, our No. 1 killer!

EVERY DAY CHILDREN UNDER TEN YEARS ARE OBTAINING CIGARETS FROM SLOT MACHINES. While our great government is exchanging brickbats with Russia, that country is in a full scale war on cigarets. In Britain large placards are everywhere warning poor, weak-minds to avoid cancers and heart diseases by refraining from cigarets. And in this land of the free (?) the bait is held up in front of every viewer of TV. It would be funny, if it was not so horribly tragic, to hear our overpaid officials throwing filth at each other about the Estes steal and the Teapot Dome steal while we march on to destruction. Three years ago it was officially announced that radioactive strontium had increased 300% in two years. Tens of thousands of gallons of milk were dumped into rivers to further pollute man's first necessity - water. Thousands of tons of wheat were buried because it was radioactive. BUT NOT ONE WORD ABOUT THE FACT, WELL KNOWN, THAT RADIOACTIVE ELEMENTS PERSIST FOR WHOLE CENTURIES. AND THAT THEY ACCUMULATE IN THE HUMAN BODY, BUT ARE NOT ELIMINATED. It is a known fact that our latest bombs are filling the air and every food product with radioactive iodine. The perpetrators admit this, but state the conditions are not hazardous YET. YET? Good heavens just watch the thyroid cancers multiply faster than a mamma rabbit.

During Eisenhower's sojourn as President, Congressman Delaney (D-N.Y.) tried to get an amendment in a weak-kneed antipoison bill. He demanded an anti-carcinogen clause. That is, a clause ruling out known cancer-stimulating chemicals from our foods. THE F.D.A. FOUGHT TO KEEP OUT THE PROTECTIVE CLAUSE.

THAT IS THE REASON CANCER, OUR NO.2 KILLER, IS NOW COMPLETELY OUT OF CONTROL. IT WILL SOON BE OUR NO. 1 KILLER.

Time was when all sausage casings were the intestines of healthy animals, thorougly cleansed and safe.

According to the U.S.D.A. casings are now composed of such nasty, disgusting, poisoning garbage as: 1. Synthetic rubber treated with chemical. 2. Coal tar resins. 3. Regenerated cellulose, (Whatever that is! Cellulose is the indigestible bark of trees, corn stalks, colitis-producing bran. etc) saw dust, cotton linters, all plasticized with coal tar synthetics.

Atheistic communism and Nazism killed a few million humans. OUR WASHINGTON BUMBLERS ARE NO BETTER!

THE LITTLE OLD WOMAN WHO COULD NOT DIE

By Blanche F. Swisher
as told by
Ann Bennaton

WHILE sojourning in Latin America I spent a month in Honduras at the home of a friend I had met in Guatemala. A linguist and traveler, she was German, married to an English man. Big hearted and generous, her charity extended to all the natives within her reach. Children lined up along her path to hand her flowers and fruits.

Now consternation reigned among the natives where an elderly woman lay deathly ill. She lived in Rio Verde, a tiny village tucked into the jungle at the foot of a mountain ridge. Her house, like most of the others, was a tiny palm thatched hut with floor of hard black dirt. Every one called her Abuelita (little Grandma). She had no idea how old she was. All she could remember, in clear moments, was that Diaz was President when she took her first communion. Her friends figured she must be 70 or more, which is very old in the tropics, and the little old woman was ready to die. She wanted very badly to leave this world for the better life beyond. Her religion, her dearest hope, filled her heart and life.

She just dozed through the long days and never-ending nights - or so they seemed. She hardly ate a thing but she never missed her strong sweet coffee early each morning.

Daily, friends and neighbors dropped in to inquire about her health. They all wanted to help her. After many days they became puzzled as to why she didn't get well, or, since she wished it so much, just die! Why, they asked, did she live on and on when she was so old and so sick. They would gladly do anything. They talked it over. Finally they called and suggested she send for the Padre. He would give her the Holy Sacraments, and THEN she could peacefully die. The good Padre came all the way from San Pedro and gave the little old woman the last rites, assuring her she would now have the peace for which she had so long hoped. She need not linger longer.

When the young Padre bent through the door of the low hut, and straightened up, his eyes beheld rows of friends assembled and waiting outside. They were ready to start wailing the moment she was dead. They would honor the dear soul in this native fashion! But she didn't die that night, nor the next day, nor the next.

Then someone came up with the idea that there might be something in Abuelita's life that kept her from being released - something not fulfilled, something that must yet be accomplished. Perhaps that was the reason she could not die. Her most intimate friends were sent in to find out. Had she asked and prayed for something maybe, and then received it, but had not paid for it as she had promised? After all a vow had to be kept, an obligation paid!

Sighing deeply Abuelita searched back into her past life, thought hard and long - then, yes, she remembered something. A long time ago after one of her children had recovered from a severe illness she promised to go to Santa Ana on her knees, and offer prayers of thanks. She had not done it. Would the fulfillment of this almost forgotten promise bring her peace to die?

She ordered her oldest son to her bedside and told him that since she was too sick, too old now, and too frail, he must do this for her. Otherwise how could she die in peace? But the eldest son was unwilling. "That is a woman's work," he said. After thinking awhile, he said he would earn the money and give to her daughter, that she might make the trip. The eldest daughter willingly complied, the obligation was taken care of according to the wishes of the little old woman. The family and friends and neighbors now awaited her death! - She did not die!

Late one night she called her family of children and grandchildren all together. Silently and soberly they filed in. The light of four candles played over their somber and serious Indian faces. They all held deep respect for the oldest member of their family. There was a hushed expectancy. What final truth were they about to be told? Their drawn faces showed the somber acceptance of what was to come. There seemed to be a a shade of ancient superstition carried over from the times not too far back, when they had worshiped heathen deities. The women quietly knelt down. The men sat on their haunches. Many who had not found room in the little hut stayed outside. The shrill screeching of thousands of crickets came from the darkness. But no one heard or heeded it as they turned their attention to Abuelita. She did not look up or notice any of them. The feeble but almost eerie light of the candles flashed and fluttered. Finally she spoke.

She had pondered and thought and at long last had found what it was - just why she could not pass on to eternal happiness. Yes, the Lord had forgiven her for her sins in life, but He had not pardoned her children and grandchildren for their sins done to her. - Concerned and anxiously waiting, everyone listened. The shrunken bit of humanity lying there on her straw mat dominated the whole ghostly scene, with the authority of the oldest one in their midst - and she laid down the law!

Yes, she told them, unless all of her children and grandchildren were chastised, she would not find the peace to die. They would all have to be punished by leash, with the exception of Jesus, the yard-boy. Although he was a bad little rascal, he had always been good to her.

A compadre (godfather of one of them) was called upon to do the punishing, but he refused! Then the comadre (godmother) arose to her feet, calmly unfastened her man's leather belt, her face determined and set. If he would not, SHE WOULD. One by one the men knelt down and received their lashing without an utterance of refusal, or sign of pain. Slowly but deliberately she dealt out the lashing with practiced strokes. The candle light swished madly through the room, wilder than ever. Then came the remaining ones from outside. Each took his ghastly turn. None was left out.

Finally the very last to be flogged stood up from the punishment. All had suffered with every lash of that stout leather strap, wielded by that determined hand. It was over.

Breathless and bleeding there was a solemn hush. Even the crickets had completely quieted down. The candles shone with a soft calm light. They turned, one and all, to Abuelita for their assurance and approval. All had willingly suffered for their sins. A calm relief filled the tiny hut!

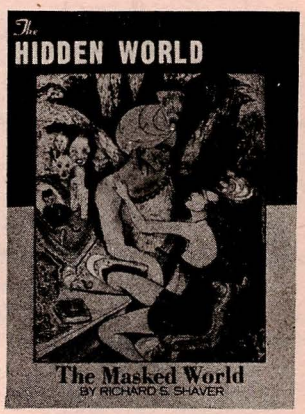

She lay so quiet, her face relaxed and at perfect peace. They drew closer. Why! Abuelita had calmly died. Their little Grandmother was now with the Angels. Gone from the trials and turmoil of earthly cares, gone to her long sought rest and peace!

THE HIDDEN WORLD

A NEW IDEA IN BOOK PUBLISHING
THE SUBSCRIPTION BOOK

Here it is at last! The entire Shaver Mystery in book form! The greatest single obstacle to publication has been cost — the average book costs $4.00. And the Shaver Mystery, in its entirety, will take a whole series of books, perhaps as many as ten. Now we've solved our problem — we can give you these books, 192 pages (large size), fine quality book paper for permanence, excellent printing, in heavy enamel paper bindings, at a saving of $2.50 per book! The difference is in the binding, plus regular quarterly publication. We will publish one book every three months, and sell them by subscription only, one year for $6.00. Each book will contain 115,000 words, twice the average book! In addition to the Shaver Mystery, we have other mysterious and thought-provoking books to publish, and that is why these new books will have an over-all title of THE HIDDEN WORLD. Now, via the Subscription Book, the researches of thirty years can be published. You've wanted to know what I REALLY know and think! Here's your chance at last, at a price you can afford.

What is the Shaver Mystery? There are many theories: There are those who support Shaver in his materialistic honeycomb of caverns the world over. heritage of a Titan-Atlan race which fled a poisoned world over 12,000 years ago. There are those who call his caverns the "astral", his dero the spirits of the dead. Some say it is "another dimension", another realm of life alongside ours, invisible under ordinary circumstances. They fight among themselves, but in one way they join solidly together — the Shaver phenomena are REAL.

the great global catastrophe

A prophecy of the future from a former leader of the Baha'i Faith, the world's newest religion

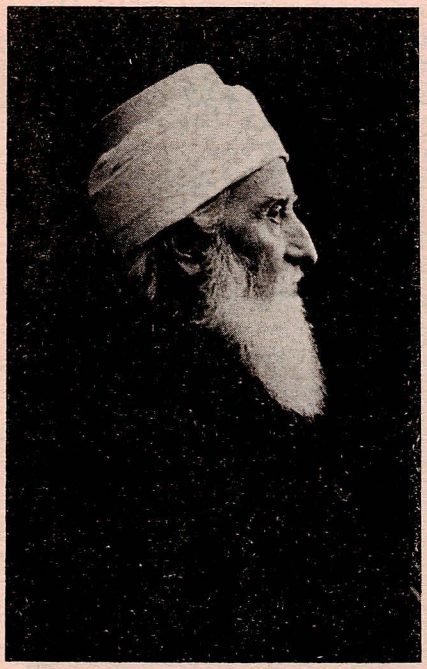

BY

GUARDIAN
Of The
BAHA'I WORLD FAITH

IN THE years 1909-1910 in company with Howard Struven, a Believer whose home was then in Baltimore, I made a tour of the world in the interests of the Baha'i Faith in this country, to Hawaii, Japan, China, Burma, India, Egypt, and to the Holy Land where we made our pilgrimage to the Baha'i Shrines spending some days in Haifa with the Master 'Abdul-Baha - the Center of the Covenant of the Baha'i Faith.

Detailed accounts of these travels, written by both Howard and myself, have been placed in the National Archives of the Baha'i Faith now* (*In 1961 I had all of my personal records removed from Chicago to Santa Fe', New Mexico where they are now in fireproof storage at an altitude of 7000 feet above Sea Level.) housed in the Baha'i Temple in Wilmette, Illinois. The first believer in the Baha'i Faith to make the complete tour of our planet was Mme. Aurelia C. Bethlen of Chicago. Howard and I were the first two men to accomplish this complete tour.

In those early days of pilgrimage to the Holy Land an outstanding feature of the visit was the privilege of posing certain questions to the Master for reply. These replies were treasured and later shared by the recipients with others; often in the form of notes, these replies were sometimes written up by the pilgrim to be Multigraphed and distributed. Not a few pamphlets and booklets giving account of such experiences by these pilgrims were published. These form a substantial part of the Baha'i literature of those early days of the Faith in the western world.

During our talks with the many Baha'is, whom Howard and I met in crossing America, questions came up concerning the teachings of the Faith which we were asked to present to the Master for elucidation. Amongst these queries was one concerning the meaning of a certain prophecy in the 12th Chapter of the Biblical Book of Daniel. Some of the Friends had come to the conclusion that the prophecy of the one thousand three hundred and five and thirty days indicated the date 1917 A.D. and they wished to know just what might be expected to happen in the world at that time. One day, with Mirza Moneer Zaine - son of Jenab'i'Zaine - interpreting our conversation, I put this question to the Master. Replied the Master (apparently not answering the question directly to the point): "after the year 1917 there is coming a very great catastrophe in the world!"

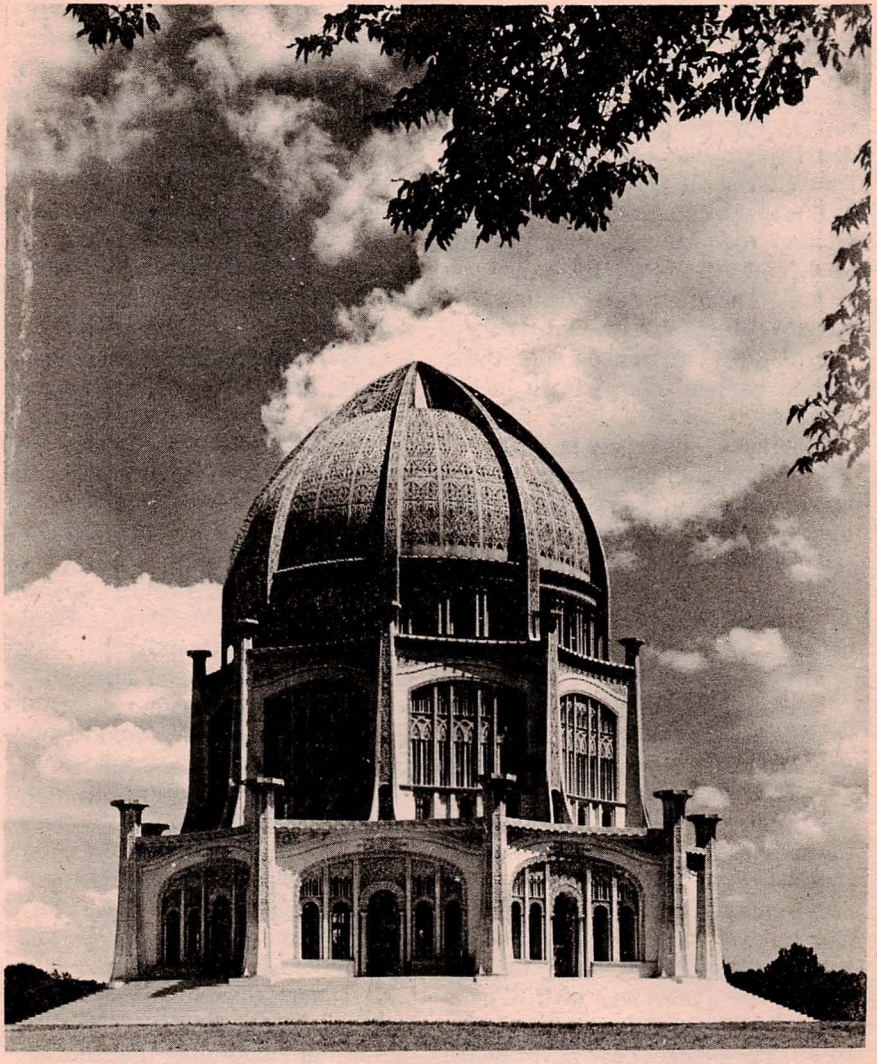

Pressing the issue, I followed up with the question: "Will it be anything like an earthquake such as the explosion of Kratatowa (which I remembered having heard something about as a small boy) or the Martinique or the Messina disasters?" Other disasters were mentioned, to all of which the Master replied: "Earthquakes such as these are frequent and will continue to be in the future as they have been in the past, but this great catastrophe of which I speak will be of a scale so much greater than these you mention as not to be comparable with them." Continued He: "In the past, there have been great catastrophies that have completely wiped out and effaced whole peoples and civilizations from off the earth; leaving no vestige nor trace whatsoever of their existence. Of such a nature will be this great catastrophe that is to come."

At this point I asked still another question: "Would this be soon after 1917, or in the distant future?" to which the Master replied: "Not soon after nor distant." Here closed the issue; the Master turning the conversation to other matters.

So far as I have been able to ascertain, the Master had never spoken to anyone about this particular event save to me. However, in some of his talks, as well as in the writing of Baha'u'llah - as also in the Biblical prophesies relating to happenings in these latter days - there is mention of calamities that will befall the world of humanity in this period or day of change from the old human order or things to the New Day of God's Kingdom Triumphant on earth.

Upon my return to America from the world tour of 1910, I wrote out a statement of the Master's Prophecy of The Great Catastrophe and had twelve copies made which I signed and shared with some the well-known Baha'i's of some prominence in those days. Naturally this matter stirred up a great deal of talk among the Friends. In those early days of the Faith in America, there were many impressionable souls in our midst whose imaginations often got the better of them. Some of these people had dreams and visions of New York and other cities being swallowed up; sinking into the sea. These and other visions of that kind have gradually faded away with the passage of years and people have not been thinking nor talking about this particular calamity. Nevertheless, there is much talk of a possible third world war and the extinction of our great metropolitan centers and cities by the A - the H - and now the plutonium bombs feared by so many. I myself have been advising my sisters and my brother and his wife to move away from the crowded metropolitan centers of population in which they live; these being the target centers for destruction in case of an all-out combat - which world war III will surely be if it comes - and come it will, I believe, unless something super human happens to stop it. I personally believe it surely will just "happen" in the same way that World Wars I and II have already happened; that is, it will happen unless stopped by some great force higher and more formidable than human action. While few, if any, people really want war, the probability is, judging from past history, that someone or ones will trigger off something in some part of the world that will result in a combat in which all nations will be engaged. Such to me, as I have written, is the probability - again, I repeat; unless something should happen to forestall such a world conflict.

In these past ten years or so I have been doing much traveling the world around and a question I find myself being constantly asked by the people of the Baha'i Faith is: "Will there be a World War III?" These people usually ask me what the Beloved Guardian, Shoghi Effendi, had to say about this.

During my years in Haifa in the House of the Beloved Guardian, Shoghi Effendi, I have heard him speak many times and say much about the collapse of the present materialistic world civilization that would be followed by a truly spiritual civilization. He has also told others, in my presence, of the fall of the present world institutions - of great loss of life, property and of most terrible calamities. I personally have never heard him definitely prophesy a World War III that will be directed against the United States. If Shoghi Effendi ever spoke making this prophecy, I was not present nor do I have any record of such.

To reiterate again many people have asked me about the coming of a World War III which, like the former two World Wars, would involve practically all nations. Whenever asked about this matter, I told them frankly what I had heard The Guardian say - the same as has been related in the foregoing parapraphs in this writing. On the other hand, when people have asked me my personal opinion of the situation, I have told them that I believed that with the way in which the armaments amongst the nations are at this present time building up, that an eventual World War III was inevitable sooner or later; - always qualifying my statement with: "unless the Hand of God should step in and stay this catastrophe" by precipitating upon the world a more terrible calamity such as, for instance, the shifting of the polar axis of our planet; a matter that of late I've been reading of in some of our many current popular publications. Prof. George Gramau, in his "Birth of the Moon" writes that the earth is now in a geological epoch or an age of great geological changes. He qualifies his statement adding that this geological epoch, like all geological epochs, is one of a possible millennia of years and not one of cataclysmic upheaval of mountain ranges that is perforce in the very immediate future as historians measure time.

Other popular articles that I have read in these past few years have suggested that the polar axis of the earth may make a sudden shift, pointing out that at the time of the last glacial age in the Northern Hemisphere the North Pole was some degrees south of its present position on the east coast of Greenland.

Some articles have also been published of late attempting to show that such changes in the Poles were not the slow workings of natural forces but rather quick and very sudden movements of the earth's surfaces. This has been attested to by some recent discoveries in Siberia where the remains of a herd of prehistoric animals were found preserved and intact through freezing. The preservation of the flesh, hide and hair of these animals (even to the partially digested fodder in their stomachs) showed that their deaths had been due to a sudden quick freeze and not by a slow change of climate over a long period of time.

In thus expressing my belief that naught but a special act upon the part of God could allay a World War III, I was always careful when talking to Baha'is making certain that they understood what was said represented my own personal opinion and was not prophetic with Baha'i sanction.

Apart from that which I have already stated in this writing - I have been thinking much over a number of years of things that have been reported around amongst the Baha'is; things that the Master had said while He was in America; statements that, to me, have an application to this matter of The Great Catastrophe.

I don't know where nor when nor to whom the Master made the remark that in the catastrophic days to come there would be safety for people in the Rocky Mountain area in the United States. At another time, He was reported to have said that in time to come Greenland would have a temperate climate and that the New England States would become tropical.

A number of persons with whom I have talked tell me that they also had heard that the Master made these statements, but no one seemed to know just where and under what circumstances nor to whom he spoke of these matters.

Several years ago, putting together into one mental picture these sayings of the Master - what He told me about the coming Great Global Catastrophe and what I had been reading about regarding the shifting position of the earth's axis - of my accord conceived the picture of the North Pole's moving down into Asia; - which movement would make New England tropical, Greenland temperate in climate, and would completely put the deep freeze on parts of Eastern Siberia and Northern China, Thus, within a few hours time, this change would so knock things out that there could be no possibility (let alone any probability) of a World War III.

In some of my notes and writings of the past several years, I have made some mention of these matters, but merely as a theory that seemed to me to fit these various conditions about which the Master had so definitely spoken to me regarding the Great Global Calamity. These, along with those things He was reported as having said to others about the changes in climate in Greenland and in America, were put into one picture which falls in harmony with some the hypotheses of some scientific minds of the day.

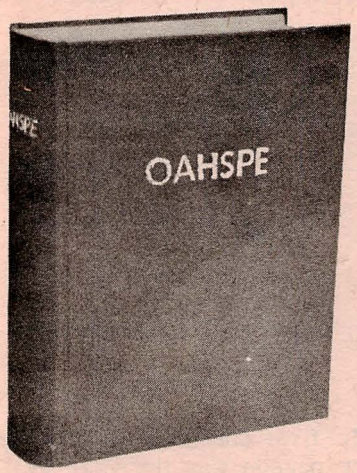

Therefore, reiterating once again, when Baha'is have asked me about this World War III, I have told them of this theory of mine: that the Hand of God might conceivably move (as I have drawn the picture) thus saving the world from the calamity of a World War III by causing a still greater calamity upon the world: The Great Catastrophe prophesied by the Master to me in 1910. That would allay such a war.

Now, at this late date June 1958, I find an article in the Saturday Review of June 7th, 1958 reviewing the book entitled: "The Earth's Shifting Crust". In this book the author (Charles H. Hapgood) tells the world that this change in the position of the Poles with respect to the surface contours of the earth, is imminent - in fact, that the earth is now at the critical point for such a catastrophe!

I am adding a photostatic copy of this review of this book to this book to this statement that I now write about this coming "Great Catastrophe". The writer of this book designates Lake Baikal in Siberia as the probable new position of the North Pole upon the crust of the earth.

Let me add one more word concerning "safety in those days" in the Rocky Mountain Area of the United States. Although this was not covered by my own thinking, it is suggested by Hapgood, the writer of this accompanying article; - namely, the flooding from the ocean of many of the valleys and low areas of America! This may mean that the height above present sea level of the Rocky Mountain area will be a preserve of safety and of life to the people there, while in the low-lands all life will be annihilated! This theory gives ample ground for speculation and thought. Nothing of all this can be foreseen in detail but only approximated until the Great Catastrophe actually takes place.

OAHSPE—THE LONG LOST, AUTHENTIC, UNEXPURGATED, UNCHANGED FIRST EDITION

AFTER 75 YEARS!

THE 1882 EDITION OF THE WONDER BOOK OF THIS AGE, PHOTOCOPIED FROM THE ORIGINAL, NOT A COMMA CHANGED!

In 1891, for reasons not acceptable to many, including myself, John Ballou Newbrough and Andrew M. Howland issued a "revised and corrected" edition of OAHSPE. These revisions and corrections (and omissions and additions) have never been satisfactorily outlined, and because since 1885 the first edition could not be purchased anywhere, the public has been unable to ascertain what these changes were. In all my life, I have been able to find but one copy of the 1882 edition. Others are rumored to exist, but if they do, they are in private collections. With this photocopied edition of OAHSPE, reproduced from this lone volume, the 1882 edition is once more made available to the public. With the advent of the Space Age, OAHSPE is being vindicated, thus I am pleased to make this controversial edition available to those who, like myself, believe it to be one of the world's important books.

Perhaps the best way to describe OAHSPE is in the words of the book itself: "A sacred history of the dominions of the higher and lower heavens on the Earth for the past twenty-four thousand years, being from the submersion of the continent of Pan in the Pacific Ocean, commonly called the Flood or Deluge, to the Kosmon (present) Era. Also a brief history of the preceding fifty-five thousand years, together with a synopsis of the cosmogony of the Universe; the creation of the planets; the creation of man; the unseen worlds; the labor and glory of gods and goddesses in the etherean heavens; with the new commandments of Jehovih to man of the present day. With revelations from the second resurrection, formed in words in the thirty-third year of the Kosmon Era." The purpose of the book is: "To teach mortals how to attain to hear the Creator's voice, and to see His heavens, in full consciousness, whilst still living on the earth; and to know of a truth the place and condition awaiting them after death."

This edition of OAHSPE contains 928 pages. It also contains nearly three quarters of a million words, and calculating from actual time of writing, it was written at the rate of 120 words per minute! This on an 1880 Sholes typewriter is a miracle in itself. Many of the drawings in OAHSPE were done at the same time . . . in the dark! The Book of Cosmology might have been written by today's space scientists! Much of the science in OAHSPE has only recently been "discovered". Newbrough could not have "guessed" so rightly, especially in the face of all the authorities of his day. Today space satellites are discovering "how it is" out in space, while in 1882 OAHSPE contained the same information! As an instance, the now famous Van Allen radiation belts, complete as to nature and height! The scientific reader is overwhelmed by the science of OAHSPE.

OTHER PLANET PEOPLE

By

Bretta Lynn Thompson

ARE THERE really people from other planets living on Earth today? How much speculation I have heard about the presence of other planet people among us who walk the earthways undetected! I may be one of few, or one of many, who can vouch for the existence of these rare entities because of a personal experience. Experiences we hesitate to relate lest our friends turn from us with derision and misgivings.

It seems to me the time has come to speak out, let sanity and integrity be challenged if they must! But if this account does no more than add to speculation or pave the way for others to speak out, it has served a purpose.

My first contact with another planet person was the year 1955 in New York City. It made a profound and lasting impression, yet I doubted my own senses until recently when I encountered my second such entity - seven years later and in another part of the country.

The resemblances, the characteristics and the similarities of situation are too obvious to be ignored. I no longer doubt! I say with pride, "other planet people have befriended me." And my guess is the other planet is Venus. Only the Venus-born could bring to Earth such a revolutionary concept of love!

Although, in each instance, the entities sent to me were male, this account is a far cry from a male-female situation as we comprehend it. One is instructed in the beginning to attach no importance to the sex of the being. Indeed, an Earth person could not sustain long association with these people.

Let me describe them. Of average height, delicate bone structure and beautifully formed bodies, they radiate a kind of magnetism that can hold an earthling spellbound at twenty paces. Their skin, hair and breath carry a peculiar, slightly sulphuric aroma that is in no way unpleasing. They are immaculate and their silhouette is luminous in the dark. They can move without sound and convey thoughts without words. But when they do speak, the low, musical vibrancy of voice stirs or lulls an Earth person beyond my poor ability to describe.

Compelling as the voice may be, the eyes are even more commanding, or "appealing" seems a better word as these people neither compel nor command. Large, dark eyes, appearing to be entirely pupil, seem to search the face of the companion as if looking beyond the face into the soul.

These are creatures of light and beauty. How sad it is then that, in my experience, their respective visits did not exceed 72 hours. From the first, one is made to understand that their mission must be accomplished within that period of time. Where do they come

FLYING SAUCERS

America's only Fact Magazine with complete coverage of the famous UFO.

Flying saucers are a fact. A national poll has proved that one American in every four is aware of the truth of that statement. In spite of this, FLYING SAUCERS Magazine is the only publication devoted to presenting all the facts and all the latest news concerning unidentified flying objects. It is the only magazine wherein the public can pierce the fog in which official sources have shrouded a matter of vital and general public concern. Here is a magazine you can depend on to keep you up to the minute on every development. More than 5000 sightings have been reported to the editors, and new sightings come in daily. Hundreds of these are from reputable people, airline pilots, scientific experts, even clergymen. FLYING SAUCERS has a staff of experts who evaluate every sighting, subject every photo to exhaustive tests, analyze every theory presented, and who meticulously report the truth as they see it. Today Man is aiming his sights at the stars. He intends to fly to other planets. But are the inhabitants of other worlds already visiting us? It may be so, but even if not, this magazine is writing the daily history of the new space age!

from? They will tell you from this or that part of the country, but once they have departed, you may employ any method you will - they never are rediscovered!

In each instance of encounter I was undergoing a devasting emotional experience. I had exhausted my own resources and cried out for help from any source. I mention this as a sidelight. I cannot say that it has anything to do with their coming. At any rate, in 1955 I had just been handed a pronouncement of cancer and had gone to New York to seek medical aid. I was alone and frightened. I spent a great deal of time walking the streets in the vicinity of my midtown hotel, hoping the sights and sound of the city would distract me from the treadmill of my thoughts while waiting for what well might be the most fatal interview of my life, with the specialist.

This particular night, late in September, I returned to my hotel exhausted, picked up my room key and entered the elevator. I paid no attention to the others in the car and they paid none to me as I was not young, outstandingly attractive or fashionably dressed.

At this point I wish to stress that I have never been alone, in state of hallucination or immediately aware of the other planet person at first meeting. An elevator seems a very prosaic place for such an encounter. Nevertheless, that's how it was. Deep in dismal preoccupation, I hadn't even given my floor number. A voice, and what a voice, jarred me back to reality.

"My name is Jason Naylor (fictitious). I must talk with you. Will you do me the honor of visiting my studio on the top floor?"

I looked up to see whom he was addressing. Everyone had left the car except this man, the elevator boy and me. He had the kindest eyes I had ever seen. He was wearing a beard and, for that reason, reminded me of the Christ although, at the moment, I didn't realize it.

Stupidly I blurted: "I've either met you or seen your photograph somewhere."

Smiling, he answered: "That is possible. Will you trust me? Will you come?"

Without a word I gestured that I would continue upward and, shortly, found myself gazing about the most arresting studio one can imagine. Everything was aglow with some strange, indirect lighting and the walls were magnificent with paintings of the most colorful and peculiar marine life, deep sea creatures that appeared to observe the viewer as he observed them. But of all the beauty in that room, nothing was so incredibly beautiful as the man who stood before me. A timeless face with the wisdom and compassion of the ages in his eyes.

"The paintings," I said. "These wonderful paintings."

"Mine," he replied. "And that is one reason I asked you to come to my studio. I wish to do a sketch of your face. There is a quality of your eyes you must see through the eyes of the beholder. Eyes truly are the mirrors of the soul. Will you sit?"

Obediently, I sat. Nothing seemed strange about this strange situation. The man worked rapidly, smiling reassuringly from time to time. I watched his face as he worked. Strength was there and the evidence of a dynamic personality, but overshadowing everything else was the utter and absolute gentleness of expression. On our plane we have nothing to which we can make comparison.

The low, slightly accented voice brought me back from contemplation. "You must go to your room and rest now. The sketch is incomplete. I shall complete it and deliver in person tomorrow."

I returned to my room and slept as I had not in months. Morning sounds from the streets far below aroused me at last. As I dressed I was suddenly aware that I felt no fear of illness or the future.

It is a characteristic of the other planet people that timing is no problem. They arrive at the exact moment you are ready to receive them. I had no sooner asked myself: "Was last night a dream?" than Jason rapped at my door bearing an armload of food and exotic flowers. And thus began the instruction period which, alternated by sleep for me, consumed the remainder of the 72 hour period allotted the Earth person who is so blessed.

The philosophy of these people is amazing in its simplicity. "Ye shall love one another," but, in loving, seek only to serve! This love they preach and demonstrate transcends anything we earthlings may think we know of love, either earthly or spiritual. If we of this plane had the capacity for love as they teach it, wars would end for all time and God would rejoice! But such love is accompanied by selflessness and humility impossible for self-centered man. He explained the significance of Jesus washing the feet of his disciples and much more.

The reader is to bear in mind that this instruction continued for many hours and only excerpts can be included in a record of this length. And, further, that the more esoteric teaching is not permitted to be revealed to the world until the world is ready. In connection with the teaching he said only, "It first was given to you (meaning earthlings) on the banks of the Jordan."

As they talk, these people lightly touch the hands, the face or any afflicted part of the body. The gentle impersonality is not objectionable. As the time drew to a close Jason said: "Your illness will pass away. You need no operation. You need only the consciousness of your worthiness in God's sight. Return to your home. Be productive and happy."

The thought of parting from this radiant creature was unbearable. I wept. He comforted as one comforts a child. "God go with you," he said, "and if you ever have urgent need of me, you shall hear my voice."

To the story of Jason there are three footnotes: I did return to my home without ever consulting a doctor. That was in 1955. This is 1962. I have never consulted a medical doctor since that day.

The second footnote: I brought home with me the sketch Jason had made. Only the eyes were mine. The rest depicted the woman I could have been and that I might have become had I been worthy of his teaching. In time, I began to live a less loving, less humble, more material life. The sketch simply disappeared. I have searched high and low.

The third footnote deals with his parting statement: "You shall hear my voice." Some years after our meeting I ran into a spell of deep dejection. Sitting before my television one night, I felt a sudden urge to turn the dial. And there, just signing off, was Jason - with beard, gentle eyes and soft voice, exactly as I had known him. Inquiries to the broadcasting company revealed no more than I knew. A Jason Naylor had been featured on such and such a program on such and such a date. No more than that. Other planet people. How elusive they are!

We come now to the second encounter, just a few weeks ago. We find a woman seven years older, who should have been seven years wiser, alone and grief-stricken over the tragedy of a loved one's death. That woman, I, have a too great capacity for either joy or grief and so, in grief, I again walked the streets this time of my small hometown, not speaking, not seeing as I passed the friends who would have detained me. Walk and pray, walk and pray. . .

The night came on and I returned to my lonely apartment. How shall I bear it? How survive the aloneness? My mother, with whom I had shared this home, taken from me by a tragic accident! What apology does one make for grief? Selfish and senseless tho' it may be, it, nevertheless, descends like a dark pall over the souls of those who have channeled all of their love to one pool. I disconnected the doorbell and threw myself across my bed to weep.

Silence was shattered by someone pounding on my door and calling my name. I ignored it. Go away! Go away! But the clatter was insistent and I had no choice except to open. My caller was a former family maid and entirely devoted. She was carrying packages and behind her I perceived a young man whose arms also were laden.

"What in the world?" I said irritably. "Where did you come from and what do you want?"

Someone had told her I was grieving and not eating. They had come to feed me and keep me company. The young man had spoken to Mary in the store and offered to carry her packages home. She didn't know him and neither did I.

I didn't want company and I didn't want food, but before I could express my opinion the young man stepped past Mary, lifted my face to the light, looked at my eyes intently and said: "You are the one. We must stay."

Two things happened simultaneously - I recognized another planet voice and caught the faint aroma of sulphur! I backed to a chair and sat down. The boy, whom we shall call Ramon, moved gracefully across the floor and sat down at my feet. Mary bustled toward the kitchen to prepare food. "It won't be necessary," he called after her. And it wasn't. 72 hours later not one of the three of us had eaten a bite. This is a matter of record since poor Mary, who sat through the 72 hours, finally dropped over from lack of food and exhaustion.

From the first part of this account it is obvious that other planet people are direct, uninhibited and wholly unconventional, according to our standards. Having more recently come to this plane Ramon was much more "Other World" than Jason had been. His speech was more melodious, his accent more pronounced and his syllables more slurred. To me, it was the most fascinating voice I had ever heard. And it spoke great truths. Not as Jason had spoken great truths, but as my need for certain truths at this particular time. Ramon spoke simply, sensing no need for fancy words. And this was the wisdom of Ramon:

He spoke of death as the "great release" and of grief as an affront to God's intelligence. He, too, stressed the value of selfless love which permits the beloved to move onward or upward, as is God's plan. On the subject of man's misconception of what constitutes virtue he dwelt at length. This subject occupied much of each man's discourse. At the risk of being repetitious, the emphasis placed on service to others must not be overlooked. To serve, to the other planet person, is a definite need, a joy, the ultimate in happy living. Gentleness and kindliness are universal in their kind. Not acquired qualities. They are selfless, and strangely without ego as we know it.

A great deal is said in 72 hours and more was said by Ramon since, the truth having penetrated my brain at last, I asked more questions, made more mental notes. The first day and last night of his stay there were guests. Besides Mary, these people saw and talked with Ramon. He is no figment of my imagination - nor can he be of their's since, at one point, he is quoted as saying as a friend approached me: "Do not come nearer. It is not permitted." No one knows the significance of the remark or why, at that particular time, my person was untouchable.

Came the inevitable hour of departure. It is conveyed by thought. Memory served me well. I made no protest. I did ask: "Shall we ever meet again?"

Ramon had a gentle, angelic smile. It lit his face like sunlight falling on water. "No", he said softly. "I leave and go far. But I leave you fine memories. A new faith, I hope. And grief is to be a forgotten thing. A wounded heart cannot welcome a new love and one will come for you. And now my love must sleep." The gentle kiss, the lingering touch and Ramon was gone out into the night and out of my life.

As the recipient of two intensive courses from such beings I can never be the same, of course, never forget that I have had two unbelievable experiences. But having had the experiences, I do not know why I was selected to have them. Others more worthy of help have been threatened by lingering death or bowed by the loss of loved ones as dear to them as mine to me.

But this I do know: other planet people are among us. They have certain recognizable characteristics in common. They are loving, gentle creatures of light. Unselfconscious and entirely lacking in impulse toward self gratification. I was struck by the fact that neither entity ate solid food in my presence, neither called me by name and each made a point of searching for something significant in my eyes.

I can anticipate the questions, arguments and downright disbelief if this account makes print. As the old man said: "I don't rightly care what people think." As a matter of fact, I don't "rightly" know what to think myself.

These men did not claim to be "other planet." I can't swear that they were, but I am reasonably sure they were not of this world. Is it possible that mental telepathy, healing and hypnotism came so naturally that they didn't realize they were unique?

And what did they possess that enabled them to land smack on target at a crucial hour, find the person in need, treat, heal or whatever was required and be out of existence again all within 72 hours?

And now we come to the ending, for which I have saved a special bit of information and a very special commentary on our charming society.

Each of my strange visitors warned me against revealing, or attempting to teach, certain aspects of the philosophy as revealed to me. And each produced very persuasive arguments to dissuade me, namely their respective discharges from mental hospitals where they had been taken for "observation" and held as long as a year at a time. They didn't know exactly why. It was a matter of not conforming, they guessed. Neither was bitter. Each had found some unfortunate to help in the hospital to which he had been committed.

I do not recall Jason's "Alma Mater", but Ramon had been a guest of the government. All of this is too much for coincidence. Here we have two men of widely divergent backgrounds, two cases wholly unrelated, but teaching the same philosophy seven years apart, and what do you have? Identical experiences insofar as society's acceptance is concerned!

Do you know "another planet person"?

It happened January 20, 1960. And it was Sydney Omarr's sensational THOUGHT DIAL that did it—stopped the famed Art Linkletter House Party show!

Linkletter, an admitted sceptic, challenged Omarr to demonstrate THOUGHT DIAL. Omarr did, whereupon an amazed Linkletter muttered before a TV-Radio audience of millions, "Fantastic, simply fantastic!"

In THOUGHT DIAL, which includes an actual "Thought Dial," Omarr has combined astrology, numerology and Jungian depth psychology.

THOUGHT DIAL helps you tap the subconscious, answer direct questions; it is of aid in locating lost articles and contains a section on "picking winners!"

FATE MAGAZINE terms THOUGHT DIAL, "a landmark in psychic research."
YOU WILL WANT TO BEGIN YOUR EXPERIMENTS IMMEDIATELY!

The New Age - What

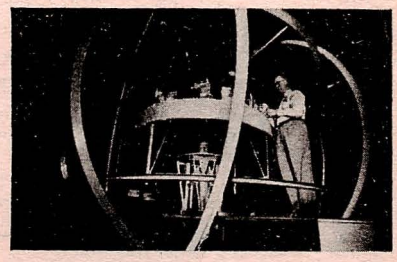

Will It Be Like

By HUEY P. BEASLEY

WE LIVE in a rotten world. Twenty years ago we were in the midst of a great world war which left more than 30 million dead. The Nazis in Germany attempted to destroy a whole race of people and at the same time to destroy all human dignity in their concentration camps. Since that time the communist party in Russia has extended its own form of slavery to engulf almost half the world. Hundreds of millions in Asia and elsewhere live in abject poverty and hunger. Even in the western world, the so-called "Christian" nations, and particularly in America, crime and corruption are spreading rampant. Mental disease in America afflicts one-half of all hospitalized patients. A clear indication that in spite of our relative material prosperity, we are not happy. Over it all hangs the threat of nuclear warfare (or nerve gas, or chemical warfare - take your choice). A world which has had war at least in some part of it for 2700 years out of the past 3000 years has now reached the point where man can utterly destroy himself.

Our scientists say that we have now the power to annihilate all human life on this planet. Seventeen years ago world leaders were saying that the United Nations was our last hope of achieving peace on earth. Now many of these same leaders are saying that the U.N. has failed.

What is the answer?

Many people realize the terrible conditions that exist, and are concerned about them. Many of these people, failing to find any answer to the world problems in the organized churches of the land, have turned to such things as spiritism - seeking information from what they suppose to be departed loved ones. Others take refuge in Flying Saucer cults, following those who claim saucer contacts, and who claim that friendly space men are coming here from other planets to save us from our troubles. They cling to this hope because they know no other; in spite of the fact that there is no evidence that people from other planets are visiting earth, or that what someone may have contacted was necessarily telling the truth. Many writings have appeared from the pens of these people regarding a "new age" of peace on earth, which is supposed to be ushered in with the help of space people, and through man's continuing spiritual development. There is no proof for their belief, but there is proof that a new age is coming.

The Bible is a book which is composed of the writings of many men over a period of almost 2000 years. Yet they all agree and supplement each other. Furthermore, a person is quoted as speaking through these men and saying "I am God". One third of this book is prophecy. Most of the prophecy relates at least in part to this present age, and to the next 10 to 25 years. Evidence that these prophecies are from God and are dependable may be found in the fulfillment in detail of many prophecies which were of past events, but which were written before the events occurred. Let us see what a few of the prophecies say about the new age, the millenium of peace which is soon to begin on the earth, at the return of Jesus Christ to rule the earth. Daniel, after describing the various earthly kingdoms down to the present time, wrote: "And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom which shall never be destroyed. . . It shall break in pieces and consume áll these kingdoms, and it shall stand forever". Dan. 2:44. He also points out in chapter 7:18-27 that the saints of God shall possess this kingdom.

Isaiah says, in chapter 2:2-4, "And it shall come to pass in the last days, that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established . . . and all nations shall flow into it. And many people shall go and say, come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob: and He will teach us of His ways, and we will walk in His paths: for out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. And He shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people: and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." This is repeated in Micah 4:1-5. Here is an end to war! More about this kingdom is found in Isaiah 11. "He (Christ) shall with righteousness judge the poor, and reprove with equity for the meek of the earth. . . The wolf shall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid; and the calf and the young lion and the fatling together, and a little child shall lead them. And the cow and the bear shall feed: their young ones shall lie down together; and the lion shall eat straw like the ox. And the suckling child shall play on the hole of the asp, and the weaned child shall put his hand on the cockatrices' den. They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain; for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea." Even wild animals will be peaceful then! See also Psalm 67:4, Jeremiah 3:17, 23:5-6.

Before Jesus was born, the angel revealed to Mary "He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of His father David; and he shall reign over the house of Jacob forever and of His kingdom there shall be no end". (Luke 1:32-33.) Jesus Himself continually preached the "gospel" or good news of the kingdom or government of God which was to be established on the earth. He came into Galilee preaching the gospel of the Kingdom of God (Mark 1:14-15). See also Matt. 9:35 and many other scriptures in the 4 gospels. Many of his parables were about the Kingdom of God. But He also said "My Kingdom is not of this age" (The greek here translated is "eon" meaning "age"). (John 18: 36.) His disciples used this same word "eon" in Matt. 24:3 when they inquired regarding the end of the world or age. That the early church believed in the return of Jesus Christ to rule the earth for 1000 years is shown in Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, chapter 15. He says, "The ancient and popular doctrine of the millenium was intimately connected with the second coming of Christ. As the works of creation had been finished in six days, their duration in their present state . . . was fixed at six thousand years. By the same analogy it was inferred that this long period of labor and contention . . . would be succeeded by a joyful Sabbath of a thousand years; and that Christ, with the . . . saints . . . would reign upon the earth till the time appointed for the last and general resurrection." "Gradually," he continues, "the fact that Jesus must come a second time to intervene in world affairs was regarded as unnecessary. Within a century and a half after Christ it was treated as a profound allegory - a fable of the Jews. Finally it was regarded as rank heresy, punishable by death." Then developed the idea that the church is the Kingdom of God, and since the church is the kingdom, the church has the right to rule nations. Thus the "Holy Roman Empire" of the Middle Ages. This is why people are uncertain today, because the powerful organized church held back the truth about God's coming kingdom. But the small, scattered, few who remained faithful to God have always believed the "gospel of the kingdom." To the shepherds (ministers) who refuse to feed the flock the truth, God says "woe to the shepherds . . . I am against the shepherds. . . I will require my flock at their hand." And "I, even I, will search my sheep, and seek them out . . . and deliver them . . . and feed them . . ." (Ezekiel 34).

In Revelation 20:4 we find the Christian martyrs "living and reigning with Christ 1000 years" and in Rev. 5:10 the saints say

"we shall reign on the earth." Many prophecies too lengthy to mention here show that God will allow man to bring the world to the very brink of destruction, where there is no hope left, and then He will send Jesus Christ to intervene and save the world from destruction. He will stop the armies, and the H-bombs, of dictators with supernatural power, and shall rule all nations with a rod of iron (Rev. 12:5).

What shall the rulership be like for those who are rulers? Is it something to be grasped for personal power and selfishness? No. Jesus Christ told his disciples, when they had strife over who should be greatest, "The Kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them" (or "lord it over their subjects") . . . But ye shall not be so. He that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger, and he that is chief, as him that doth serve. (Luke 22:25-27, Matt. 20:25, see also I Peter 5:3.) So the object of being in power in God's Kingdom is to see how much good you can do, how much loving service you can render to others. But there will also be power to put down rebellions of people like Hitler and Krushchev, if such should ever show up at that time.

During this time, peace, prosperity, happiness, and the opportunity for eternal life will be present for all. And certainly most will use that opportunity. And, eventually, those who have died in the past (before the millenium) will be resurrected and given the same opportunity. This is what the real new age will be like. But humans won't "gradually develop" it, neither will it be brought about by men from other planets, or by some earth-bound spirits. Rather Jesus Christ shall come, assisted by the angels of God and the saints (Matt. 24:30-31, Zechariah 14:1-9) and establish headquarters at Jerusalem. Whether any "space ships" of any type will be used might be open to question. If such are used, the Bible is silent regarding this. We are told that when Jesus ascended to heaven after his crucifixion, he ascended "from the Mount of Olives" and "a cloud received him out of their sight" (Acts 1:9,12), and that he will come again in the same manner as he ascended (Acts 1:11). Luke 21:27 says he will come in a cloud, and Zechariah 14:4 says He will descend to and stand on the Mount of Olives. This is all we are told. But one thing is clear. His coming will be accompanied by a great noise described as a trumpet blast (Matt. 24:30-31, I Thess. 4:16, I Cor. 15:52) and all shall see him (Matt. 24:30-31, Rev. 1:7). There will be no secret coming, no secret desert meetings like the UFO contactees claim! Truly this will be a new age worth living in!

THE HYPNOTISM HAND-BOOK

Have your subject gaze fixedly at this spiral and then READ TO HIM the hypnotizing techniques given WORD FOR WORD in Chapter Two of this "Handbook of Hypnosis for Therapy." As soon as he is hypnotized, READ TO HIM the particular WORD FOR WORD therapy which applies to his particular problem. Many such therapies are given, always in the exact WORD FOR WORD form, which is essential in any scientific or professional use of hypnosis.

There has never been a book like this. A few years ago an article in Western Family said about its principal author: "Along the west coast, the 'hypnotism man' whose students you'll most likely run into, is Charles Edward Cooke."

Cooke has taught doctors of medicine, dentists, psychiatrists, psychologists, ministers of the gospel, nurses, and many others, from San Diego, California, to Spokane, Washington. Cooke has mass hypnotized as many as 400 people at once by READING the WORD FOR WORD hypnotizing technique in this work.

Although written for the professional man, this book will have a wide appeal among laymen who seek precise methods rather than the vague directions that have hitherto been available. THE HYPNOTISM HAND-BOOK was written by Mr. Cooke in collaboration with science-fiction novelist and short story writer A. E. Van Vogt.

Chapters from THE HYPNOTISM HAND-BOOK

CHAPTER 1: A dialogue example of a new skeptical patient on whom mild hypnosis is applied to gain the patient's confidence and at the same time tell a good deal about hypnosis.
CHAPTER 2: This is the Basic Word for Word Technique for Inducing Hypnosis.
CHAPTER 3: What You Should Know for Your 1st Hypnosis.
CHAPTER 4: The Mechanics of Hypnotizing.
CHAPTER 6: Variation of Speed of Response.
CHAPTER 7: Disguised Hypnosis—Its Use in Therapy.
CHAPTER 8: Relaxing the Patient.
CHAPTER 10: Conditioning in Auto-Hypnosis—Monologue Method Word for Word.
CHAPTER 12: Hypnotic Re-education.
CHAPTER 13: Insomnia.
CHAPTER 14: Headache.
CHAPTER 15: Constipation.
CHAPTER 16: Overweight: Reducing; Dr. and Patient.
CHAPTER 17: Breaking the Habit of Smoking.
CHAPTER 20: Hypnotic Anaesthesia.

PRYING INTO THE UNKNOWN

By Will Carson
and Jeannie Joy

WITH THIS edition, "Prying" becomes a duo project; and in anticipation of any misconceptions our seeming preoccupation with the off-beat may bring down upon our heads, we wish to assure you that we do NOT dwell in haunted houses consorting with familiars, muttering incantations or poking porcupine quills into effigies of people who don't see eye to eye with us: we are a normal (we hope) average, married couple with perhaps a slightly overactive curiosity about the myriad mysteries of life, of which there are SO many in this world that we wonder why more people are NOT curious.

We trust, however, that readers of SEARCH do have an itch to scratch at the unknown, so . . . let us pry.

THE "DEAD SPOT"

Any of the oldtimers around Virginia City, Nevada, will verify the following and that the man we shall call S.D. is not given to fancies or fabrications; as well as that no power on earth can persuade him (a veteran miner who is normally at home in the deepest, darkest tunnel) to reenter the old Justice Mine.

It was several years ago while surveying alone deep in the bowels of that famous old "glory hole" that S.D., rounding an ell at the end of a long, deep shaft, beheld in the light of his carbide lamp a scene that stopped him dead:

The body of a man trapped in a cave-in - still alive! his face grimacing in agony, his hands flailing helplessly!

Ordinarily S.D. would have taken immediate steps to free the man, but now he could only stand and gape, while his stomach knotted with terror - for no slightest sound issued from the frightful tableau before him, and his mind flashed back to the stories he used to laugh at about the old Justice being haunted by the ghosts of unrecovered victims of an early cave-in.

S.D. will be the first to admit that he forthwith took to his heels. But in his panic he failed to duck low enough under an outcropping of rock and the flame in his lamp was knocked out. In the dark now, there was nothing to do but stop and take hold of his wits long enough to relight the lamp and, in so doing, reason returned to him and he rationalized that what he had seen had been neither an illusion nor a spectre and, undoubtedly, it had been in one of those "dead spots," not uncommon in tunnels, where some trick of accoustics will muffle sound.

Then there WAS a man trapped back there to whom precious seconds may mean life or death.

Now S.D., once more in control of his wits and desperate to rescue a fellow man, hurried back the few yards he had run, rounded the ell and - there was no cave-in, no trapped man, only a solid rock wall where long ago the mining operation had come to a halt!

He could not have made the wrong turn since there were no other ells in that section, and besides, everyone knew that no one had been in the old Justice in years, and S.D. would have heard and/or felt the concussion of any cave-in so recent that the victim would still be alive.

It should go without saying that this time S.D. exited from the old Justice Mine without once stopping to reconsider or look back. And now when this sober, rugged man can be persuaded to relate his experience, it is not with any twinkle of humor but in grave retrospect and with an almost irrepressible shudder.

Whether it was an actual supernatural occurrence or purely subjective, we believe S.D. was telling the dead truth, at least.

POLES OF MYSTERY

Since our prime purpose in conducting this department is not to gratify our own egos but to try and satisfy our curiosity, we may impress you at times as extremely naive, because that's the best way in the world to learn - if you can stand a little humility.

We believe, too, that Ray Palmer does not try to sustain the unknown for the sake of selling magazines, but is just as anxious as we to find and publish the answers to life's many enigmas. On this premise we tender the following, sent by a reader of SEARCH who has done a fair amount of research on the polar regions and subject which has received considerable attention in recent issues of these publications.

"The expression 'land beyond the pole' is common among polar explorers. Putting a label on directions is a problem around the poles where there is only one 'direction' to go. Therefore, if an exploration party approaches the South Pole for example from 90 degrees E. Longitude is to call it the land beyond the pole. As for the 'land in the sky,' this merely refers to the high altitude of the Antarctic plateau which lies a good two miles above sea level. Byrd once used a similar expression in describing a mirage also. The polar regions abound in weird mirages and optical phenomena found no place else on earth. The 'land beyond the pole' Byrd wanted to explore was the so-called pole of inaccessibility which lay beyond the geographical pole from the direction from which the traverse party had come. The reasons for this inaccessibility were simple straightforward matters of logistics. Extreme cold, impossible terrain, dangerous crevasses all conspire to make the pole of inaccessibility hard to get at."

A chart and info re the S. Pole area is available from U.S. Naval Support Force, Antarctica, Building "D", Sixth & Independence Ave., S.W., Washington 25, D.C.

There's a charge of 50¢ for the chart, but the information folder is free.

The reader's reaction may be that any such information issued by an agency of the government would withhold any facts of a controvertial nature (which would be of interest to us here), however, the man in charge of this naval organ has offered, in private correspondence, at least partial confirmation of the alleged polar basins.

IFOs IN ACTION

Another favorite topic of RAP's has been the tendency of our orbic eyes to lend the illusion of sphericity to distant objects. We recently witnessed a dramatic example of this effect. Approaching Reno from the east, the setting sun was blocked from our view by a low cloud bank but emitting bright rays into the clear sky above them. Suddenly, into the glaring sunlight, there flashed three PERFECT ORBS, in fast V-formation. In the contrasting highlight and shadow they look exactly like three giant steel ball-bearings. But then they passed out of the sunlight and into the shadow of the cloud bank and immediately we could see (much to our disappointment) that they were merely conventional jet planes. The glaring reflection obliterating detail, our globular eyes had translated them into orbs. Our UFOs had become IFOs - Identified Flying Objects.

But not so the following:

RIDDLE:

What looks like the Evening Star, blinks on and off like an airplane light but remains stationary in the sky?

This we saw, two years ago, above the Sierras; were able to observe it for about ten minutes and ascertain that it did not change its position but blinked on and off at pulsating intervals in the twilight sky. A short time before that several jets had passed between us and the mountain range at what seemed like tree-top level, accompanied by a sonic boom that stopped traffic. It was in the same area where three musicians reported, in a recent issue of Flying Saucers magazine, a huge "flying saucer" flew over their car - and where the U.S. Government has one of its radio telescopes located.

It's things like this which make us pry into the unknown. But -

WARNING!

- BUYING into the unknown is something else!

We recently were reading a brochure advertising land parcels for sale and it sounded like just the sort of place we'd always been looking for, and at a better price than we'd ever dared dream of. Then we read further and it dawned upon us that we were standing upon the very location we were reading about!

The "sparkling stream" described in the folder is actually one of the most notoriously muddy, sluggish, incomsumptible sloughs ever to bear the designation of "river;" the "virgin soil" is virgin because nothing but sage brush has ever been persuaded to sprout from its alkaline womb; the "salubrious climate" is the same one that caused the early immigrants and their livestock to die like flies as they passed thru this area; the extolled "year-round" sunshine is that same merciless mass of blistering radiation that only gives way in the winter to killing blizzards, with temperatures in the minus 20s, and in the spring turns them into floods like the one this year that almost wiped out a town of 2000. And the "opportunities" that the brochure hints at are simply non-existant - unless you want to make a living collecting and selling scorpion and rattlesnake venom, in which case you will be well advised to "act now while this limited chance of a lifetime is still available" as the brochure tells you.

It should not be necessary to warn an intelligent person not to buy anything sight unseen, and yet apparently Barnum was right, and we see it happen all the time. If, through this article, we prevent even one person from dumping even a few of his hard-earned dollars down some falsely represented dry-wash it will have been well worth the meagre effort.

Especially in this time of "population explosion" and consequential diminution of available land, to the person chained to a routine job in an asphalt jungle the idea of owning a piece of the earth to call his own can be a very appealing aspiration, one with which we can sympathize; and if one can gratify this hanker at a fair bargain, well and good! But too many unscrupulous characters are exploiting the situation, to the detriment of the land as well as to their victims.

Remember that any real "steals" in rural, or urban, real estate - with the possible exception of Alaska - are non-existant in the U.S. Any really choice "virgin" properties have long been snapped up and no one's going to offer any of it to you for less than a reasonable price - unless maybe you've got something on them.

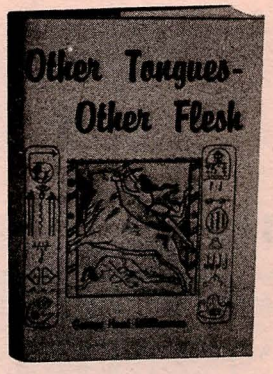

Last year one of the big ranches in this area sold out to a promotional concern in a neighboring state. The land was chopped up into parcels and advertised for sale in the biggest cities in that state, where there were lots of asphalt jungle dwellers to prey upon. We read one of the brochures on this promotion and must admit that if we had not known what this location really was like we would have been ready to sink our life's savings into one of these parceled "ranchos". As it was, we are quite familiar with that whole valley and stand ready to testify that it is already supporting more life than its mean water average warrants. The past winter had an unusually high precipitation and the promoters are working fast to make the most of this. But even in the best years there wouldn't be enough water for a fraction of the population presupposed by the exploitation now going on; but of course the exploiters know that only a small fraction - if any - of the investors will ever make the last payment. In fact, they base their whole margin of profit on it, on reclaiming the land over and over on default. This is why they prefer unproductive property that's as far away as possible from their potential "suckers" and with a gimmick on which they can base their buildup. The above-mentioned ranch was just about perfect for this.

PREVIEW

In the next issue we plan to bring you one of the most intriguing adventures with the unknown we've ever run across . . . a man who has been bringing up evidence of a ship buried over 3000 years ago (according to carbon 14 decay in specimens) along with crew and passengers, undoubtedly, of both sexes who were clad in silks and armor made of metals we "moderns" only recently have begun to use - and the site of this incredible discovery: 300 feet down IN THE CALIFORNIA DESERT!

Other Tongues -- Other Flesh

George Hunt Williamson

In more recent times, there has been a growing realization that on other worlds than ours, even in other universes, there are other living beings. The idea that earthbound man may someday journey into the heavens to discover other men and women, like or unlike himself, grows by leaps and bounds. Within man's soul lies the truth — mortals exist on other spheres!

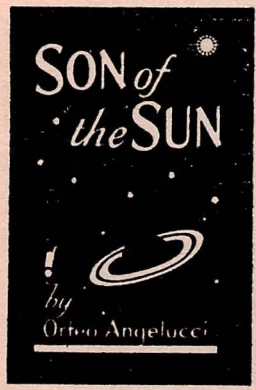

In this book, many references and quotations are given from the latest authentic reports on Saucer phenomena. Because many believe there are contradictions in some of the reported happenings, it has been necessary to show that there is a great story and purpose behind all these experiences.

Here, in this book, is the history of OTHER TONGUES, and of OTHER FLESH; calm, scientific evidence that there are brothers of ours in the skies overhead.

We are not alone in the Universe!

HERE IT IS AT LAST!

Orfeo Angelucci's NEW BOOK

Orfeo's first book THE SECRET OF THE SAUCERS, went into five editions! The glimpse its readers got of cosmic perceptions raised a demand for more—and in this book, Orfeo has given what is in his heart.

The dynamics of the Universe are presented simply in Son of the Sun. The Cosmos lives in a music of the spheres as a concept of Infinity and Eternity is laid bare. In this very real Space Age there is a moral and spiritual undercurrent which soon may swell into world tides, for Man not only seeks all the truth, but knows it when presented.

CHAOS ANONAMOUS

DEAREST creature in Creation,
Studying English pronunciation,
I will teach you in my verse,
Sounds like corpse, corps, horse and worse.
It will keep you, Susy, busy,
Make your head with heat grow dizzy,
Tear in eye your dress you'll tear,
Queer, fair seer, hear my prayer;
Pray, console your loving poet,
Make my coat look new, dear, sew it!
Just compare heart, beard and heard,
Dies and diet, lord and word.
Sword, and sward, retain in Britain,
(mind the latter, how it's written);
Made has not the sound of bade;
Say, said, pay, laid but plaid.
Now I surely will not plague you
With such words as vague and ague,
But be careful how you speak,
Say gush, bush, steak, streak, break, bleak
Previous, precious, fuchsia, via,
Recipe, pipe, studding-sail, choir,
Woven, oven, how and low,
Script, receipt, shoe, poem, toe,
Hear me say, devoid of trickery,
Daughter, laughter and Terpsichore,
Typhoid, measles, topsails, aisles,
Exiles, similes, reviles,
Wholly, holly, signal, signing,
Same, examining, but mining,
Scholar, vicar, and cigar,
Solar, mica, war and far,
From "desire": desirable admirable from "admire":
Lumber, plumber, bier, but brier,
Topsham, brougham, renown but known,
Knowledge, done, lone, gone, none, tone,
One anemone, Balmoral,
Kitchen, lichen, laundry, laurel,
Gertrude, German, wind and mind,
Scene, Melpomene, mankind,
Tortoise, turquoise, chamois-leather,
Reading, Reading, heathen, heather,
This phonetic labyrinth,
Gives, moss, gross, brook, brooch, ninth, plinth.
Billet does not end like ballet,
Bouquet, wallet, mallet, chalet.
Blood and flood are not like food,
Nor is mould like should and would.
Banquet is not nearly parquet,
Which exactly rhymes with khaki.
Discount, viscount, load and broad,
Toward, to forward, to reward.
Richocheted and croqueting, croquet?
Right! Your pronunciations's O.K.
Rounded, wounded, grieve and sieve,
Friend and fiend, alive and live.
Is your r correct in higher?
Keats asserts it rhymes Thalia:
Hugh but hug and hood but hoot,
Buoyant, minute but minute.
Do you know the Book of Joshua?
Are you fond of it? Of course you are.
Would it tally with my rhymes
If I mentioned paradigm?
Twopence, threepence, tease are easy,
But cease, greasy, grease and greasey?

Venice, nice, valise, revise,
Rabies but lullabies.
Would you like some more? You'll have it
David, Affidavit,
Calico, but caliph. Sheik
Has the sound of Czech of ache.
Liberty, library, heave and heaven,
Rachel, ache, moustache, eleven,
We say hallowed but allowed,
People, leopard, towed but vowed.
Mark the difference, moreover,
Between mower, plover, Dover;
Leecher, breeches, wise, precise.
Chalice but police and lice.
Camel, constable, unstable,
Principle, disciple, label.
Petal, penal and canal,
Wait, surmise, plait, promise, pal,
Suit, Suite, ruin, circuit, conduit
Rhyme with "shirk it" and "beyond it"
But it is not hard to tell,
Why it's pall mall but Pall Mall.
Muscle, muscular, goal, iron,
Timber, climber, bullion, lion,
Worm and storm, chaise, chaos, chair,
Senator, spectator, mayor.
Ivy, privy, famous, clamour,
Has the a of drachm and "hammer",
Pussy, hussy and possess,
Desert, but desert, address,
Golf, wolf, countenance; lieutenants
Hoist, in lieu of flags, left pennants.
Courier, courtier, tomb, bomb, comb,
Cow but Cowper, some and home.
Stranger does not rhyme with anger,
Neither does devour with clangour,
Soul but foul and gaunt with aunt,
Font, front, wont, want, grand and grant.
Arsenic, specific, scenic,
Relic, rhetoric, hygienic,
Gooseberry, goose and close but close,
Paradise, rise, rose and dose.
Say inveigh, neigh but inveigle,
Make the latter rhyme with eagle.
Mind! Meandering but mean,
Serpentine and magazine.
And I bet you, dear, a penny
You say mani-(fold) like many,
Which is wrong, Say rapier, pier,
Tier (one who ties) but tier.
Arch archangel! Pray, does erring
Rhyme with herring, or with stirring?
Prison, bison, treasure-trove,
Treason, hover, cover, cove.
Perseverance, severance, Ribald
Rhymes (but piebald doesn't) with nibbled.
Phaeton, paean, gnat, ghat, gnaw,
Lien, phthisic, shone, bone, pshaw,
Don't be down, my own, but rough it,
And distinguish buffet - buffet:
Brood, stood, roof, rook, school, wool, stool,
Worcester, Boleyn, foul and ghoul.
With an accent pure and sterling,
Say you year, but some say yearling;
Evil, devil, mezzotint,
Mind the z! (Gentle hint)
Now you need not pay attention
To such sounds as I don't mention,
Sounds like pores, pause, pours and paws,
Rhyming with the pronoun yours;
Nor are proper names included,
Though I often heard, as you did,
Funny rhymes to unicorn,
Yes, you know them Vaughan and Strachan,
No, my maiden, fair and comely,
I don't want to speak of Cholmondeley,
No. Yet Froude, compared with proud,
Is no better than Macleod.
But mind trivial and vial,
Tripod, menial and denial,
Troll and trolley, realm and ream,
Schedule, mischief, schism and scheme.
Argil, gill, Argyle, gill. Surely
May be made to rhyme with Raleigh,
But you surely must not say:
Piquet rhymes with sobriquet.
Had this invalid invalid,
Worthless documents? How pallid.
How uncouth he, couchand, looked
When for Portsmouth I had booked!

House-wife, verdict, and indict.
Don't you think so, reader, rather,
Saying lather, bather, father?
Finally: which rhymes with "enough?"
Though, through, plough, cough, hough, or tough?
Hiccough has the sound of "sup" . . . . .
My advice is - give it up!

DOES DANDRUFF MAKE YOU WANT TO HIDE YOUR HEAD IN SHAME?

You might as well, if you're going to let dandruff and scale and skin rash make you bald as an egg. You've bought plenty of preparations, and they don't work, you say? Of course they haven't! You've probably been cheated as many times as I have. I'll bet I've spent hundreds of dollars on jim-dandy goo, and wound up with worse dandruff than I started with. Made me plenty mad, too. I always get mad when I think of the lousy junk designed to chisel your honest dollars out of you. Mad enough so that when I find something good, I'm not bashful about telling my friends about it. And SEARCH readers are my friends. I had dandruff all my life, and despaired of getting rid of it, until one day Ken Arnold (the flying saucer man) left a half bottle of Turn-er's at my house, and flew off to Boise without it. I tried the stuff, because Ken's no sissy, and he doesn't put perfume on his hair. Well, in one week my dandruff was gone! And my hair had begun to darken. My wife tried it, and her rash disappeared. You can bet we wrote Ken in a hurry and asked where he got it! And now, we're telling you. But don't just take our word for it—here are a few testimonials from our readers, to back us up.

As I have about used up one bottle of your hair preparation, please send me another. I have had very good results in ridding myself of dandruff and itching. Lionel O. Branberg, Sharon Springs, Kans.

Enclosed find money order for $10.00 for two more bottles of Turn-er's as soon as possible. You sure found a good product. In the sixth application my dandruff was cured. Thanks to you. It does all you say and more, too. And it sure brings back the natural color to your hair. Thanks! R. E. Van Gordon, 1905 W. Milham Road, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Enclosed please find check for $5.00 for another bottle of Turn-er's as soon as possible. I have been bedeviled by a terrible itching in my eyebrows for over thirty years. It seemed to be a large flaky dandruff, but if I combed it out too near the skin, a watery substance would start, causing a scab-like condition. I have been to dozens of doctors . . . none did the slightest bit of good. After reading what Ray Palmer said, I decided to try Turn-er's. After the sixth application, I have not had an itch in my brows, and the skin underneath is as clear and clean as my face. I certainly am thankful to Mr. Palmer for bringing such a fine product to my attention.—S. W. Crusen, 2336 Fillmore Ave., Buffalo 14, N. Y.

Enough? Well, then take it from Ray Palmer, one bottle of

THE DEATH DRIVE

AT BIRTH the infant comes from a marine existence of a constant temperature of about 98 degrees. It comes into atmosphere of 80 degrees or less. The temperature in atmosphere is inconstant and the infant encounters air currents for the first time, the currents caused by other persons moving about, the currents caused by its own motion in air, and the commonplace air currents present in even the most well-equipped room as a result of different temperatures at different levels.

It encounters light for the first time.

It encounters unyielding substance.

It finds itself ringed about by vague monsters in no way resembling itself. It is not to be presumed that the infant can see well. It is nevertheless in the presence of what it must record in cellular level memory as giants seemingly bent on its destruction.

With nothing about it but air it has a sense of much greater gravity than it had in the womb where, by the displacement of fluid, the counter to gravity was evenly distributed. It has a sense of falling which will later occur again in nightmares and in fear of high places. This is magnified a hundredfold when it is swung up by the ankles in the familiar practice of obstetricians. This is usually the point of shock where it begins to breathe.

Suspended by the ankles, its inner organs respond to gravity and press toward the head. The blood likewise. The sensation is that the heart is moving up into the throat; the stomach into the chest. All these sensations will recur later in fear, for the adrenalin gland begins functioning at a high rate at this point to supply the energy essential to power the normal reaction and struggle against this manner of handling.

The grip about its ankles and feet is equal to the combined pressure over its entire body when its weight was supported by evenly distributed fluid. The free circulation of blood is impeded and in later existence this may recur as a reaction in sweating feet and swollen ankles.

Its secretions begin as it begins to breathe. Its nostrils are clogged to keep it from drawing fluid into its lungs in the womb. It has to clear these by a gasp, or they have to be cleared by others. This is aided by secretions. Secretions begin in the ducts of the eyes to wash them free of dust that floats in the atmosphere and to keep the eyeballs lubricated so that the eyelids may move up and down.

All these things will recur later and be called colds. They will be accompanied by a feeling of congestion or tightness in the chest and lungs, similar to that caused by the external pressure as it came through the narrow passage from the womb, and stuffiness in the head similar to that when its head was shaped to fit the passage and when it swung head down and its head filled with blood.

At least 10,000 localized incidents and sensations here will recur in life and be called illnesses.

Its umbilical cord is severed. The experience is that of a shock. In order to grasp it, it is essential to understand something about a human.

A human is an awareness animal. About two to ten per cent of a human is aware and voluntary. The remainder is involuntary which is to say, subconscious.

The subconscious of a human is everything about it that isn't governed on an awareness level. These things include the function of the heart, the liver, the digestion, the glands, the blood circulation, the breakdown and reproduction of cells, the respiration, and in the neighborhood of one billion other things and functions.

The subconscious has two basic functions which are opposite in nature. They are both physical and may be described as motion. The two basic motions are simply direction and its opposite. Since there are no such things as up or down, backward and forward, north or south, except as concepts, the two functions can best be understood by calling them inner and outer. It should be understood that they are directions of motion: toward the outer; toward the inner. Another way of understanding it could be described as from smallness to largeness, or largeness toward smallness.

Wherever there are two opposites of function possible there are also all the shades between these two opposites. Thus the function of the subconscious has only two directions but is infinite in scope nevertheless.

The subconscious records things. That means that the awareness doesn't carry in awareness a complete listing of all its experiences and knowledge. The repository for these is the subconscious.

The recording of the shock that occurs at birth tells of a dynamic effort to escape. The blood flows hastily back through the umbilicus and through the placenta still in the womb. It is moving from the terrifying surroundings of monsters and atmosphere and air currents back into security and even temperature. It must be replaced by more blood from the placenta, which encounters the same shock. The shock appears to be more than it can readily adjust to. By flowing back through the placenta and its seeming security the blood appears to shed some of this shock and return to the infant with renewed effort to meet the situation.

It must be accepted that the blood is the basic part of the subconscious. It has created the cells; it has built the body. It has direction; it has a definite goal. Unless man denies his subconscious, he must admit that the blood has intelligence within the confines of two directions of motion and within the overall scope of all directions of motion.

The blood makes use of the placenta as long as the umbilical cord is attached. The severing of it is a profound shock. It is suddenly thwarted. It is suddenly terrified. It can no longer move from insecurity through security.

Later some of this panicky fear may be manifest in fear of cuttings, such as fear of castration in males. It will also appear in things that will be called genital ailments, both male and female. About one million other sensations and fears will recur later and be called neuroses and ailments. Except for the fact that life and many things about it are accepted as commonplace, a number of the things which will later result from the severing of the umbilicus would be called miracles. They are the result of a very high order of genius on the subconscious level, all logical and all in accordance with basic physical laws.

The infant is then washed. It was born in a protective coating to make its first period in atmosphere bearable. In most cases this coating is scrubbed off it, and it is like scrubbing off a layer of skin or washing a scab off an ulcer. In the case of the infant it is all over the body. It burns and stings all over. And this is the origin of the concept of hell as pertaining to fire. The origin of the concepts of cold hells is the change of temperature. All of the hells are miserable and birth is the origin of all their concepts, and this is why man mistakes life for hell and seeks to escape.

The first impression of the infant is that breathing life is terrifying, deadly and agonizing. The first wish of the infant on the subconscious level is to escape.

Later, as it grows older, the child hears of heaven, a place where life floats on in timeless tranquillity, where there is no pain nor sorrow, and where all needs are met, and it recognizes this place, for it has been there in the womb.

Birth is the origin of the basic philosophies of all mankind. All cultures are built on these basic philosophies. This is true also of atheistic cultures. The death drive begins at birth. It is basic in man. Short of lifting it to a conscious level, he cannot escape it. No culture, apart from a death-drive culture, could occur on the earth short of understanding the death drive itself.

About a billion things and sensations will later occur as a direct result of the experience at birth. They will all be related. They will all be directed toward escape; that is, away from breathing life.

This is where the genius of the life drive begins to work. Man could not live without a life drive; he could not die without a death drive. Nothing in the cosmos is haphazard. Laws are there. They are never in error.

The determination to die must essentially result in death. Cause must have an effect. But this not the whole determination of man. The determination is, rather, to escape life. This is on a subconscious level. It is in the nature of a compromise. It doesn't want life; it doesn't want death. But it wants something.

Prior to birth, or some accident or agony in the womb, there couldn't have been a death drive. Everything must have a cause. On the other hand, there must have been a terrific life drive. The cause is not immediately apparent, but the effect is a miracle of creation. The sperm and the ovum have combined and multiplied themselves into billions of cells and an almost infinite number of functions, all within 285 days.

It must be presumed that the life drive is very high indeed. It must be presumed that it is the sole drive of the first nine months. To halt that powerful drive, or to alter its course, must take a force of comparable power.

The infant has only so much drive. Until birth it has all been devoted toward life and growth. This means literally that the death drive and the life drive are one and the same. There is no other force comparable to them. Thus there must be a division of force beginning at birth and with the first effort to escape. It is apparent and obvious that some part of the original life drive continues past this point. It is apparent and clear that this force is the stronger in the beginning and with growth increases its strength.

It is also apparent that the death drive is cumulative and responsive to externals. It is possible to see how it is renewed and magnified and how it gains new strength with each succeeding cold which is in the nature of a synthesis of birth. It is possible to see how temperatures might influence it; how sounds, light, philosophies and beliefs might urge it on.

Because these things are cumulative, and part of the environment, it is easy to see how it must eventually become greater than the life drive.

But so long as there is life some portion of the life drive must remain. It must have a direction opposite from the death drive. It must essentially move toward life.

The recording of the shock that occurs when the umbilical cord is severed is manifold. It is not merely fear; it is a thousand things, including a sense of loss.

Loss of the other self.

Such terms are often taboo and hint of mysticism, but the object is not to mystify but to lift the shroud of mystery and reduce realities to their basic form and understanding.

The infant does have another self in the womb. The placenta made it seemingly complete, self-sustaining and eternal. This part of it is cut away. But just as a man or woman will search for a missing wallet the infant will go on searching for its other self. Short of lifting this to conscious understanding, it will continue searching all its life just as it will continue seeking to escape.

Its search is by way of trial and error. As of now, the closest approach a human has made toward finding its other self is by way of sex. Throughout all of known history humanity has been in this stage.

Sex originated out of the motive in the search for the other self.

Sex had to have a cause. The life drive, facing defeat by a rapidly growing death drive, had to find a way to perpetuate itself at a certain level of development. The alternative was to begin with one-celled creatures.

And so the life drive, given direction by the search for the other self, creates new life through sex.

We have the spectacle of two diametrically opposed drives, which were one in the beginning, each achieving its own goal, both escape from life and new life itself.

The penis, of course, is modelled on the concept of the umbilicus. The female organ is an inversion of this. The displacement has nothing to do with the fact. The blood moves; it also does the creating. It can and does experiment. Its method is by trial and error. Its conflict is between the life drive and the death. It needed this conflict in order to get the opposites which would give it the ranges to work through infinite variations between them. For instance, without a death drive it couldn't create a cancer. It couldn't create germs. And without a life drive it couldn't create antibodies.

These are all experiments, but not in the haphazard nature that they seem. They follow a pattern as certain as day and night. Man himself is an experiment. It appears that the blood is the prime mover of his evolution. The object appears to be to unite once again the two drives and end his futile struggles with himself so that he may live in peace with others. This means literally that his evolution must rise to a conscious level.

In order to achieve that man must have in his possession more than he now imagines he has. He considers himself an isolated creature among billions, all differing and not in communication with one another. Oral and written communication is so limited that, for the sake of illustration, it is hardly communication at all. The subconscious of one person can't tell another in words how to modify his reactions and how to create a germ or cell. And yet the subconscious must do all those things and a million others.

An infant could not learn to speak if it had to depend solely on oral instructions. It is doubtful any person could describe the function essential to speech and do it in words. It is doubtful that anyone can in words impart full meaning. Under analysis, these words break down into symbols. The subconscious uses them in a method that seems to be infinite in scope. But the words themselves could never impart knowledge. The mind that receives them turns them into meanings modified by all the experience of a lifetime in the two opposing drives.

It is essential to look for another means of communication in the beginning, a means as definite as the original single drive. It is essential to understand this is in function at birth and in the early days, weeks, months and years, but that it deteriorates with the growth of the death drive and endless frustration and denial that it exists.

Not long since a person with uncommon talent, or anything out of the seeming norm, was burned at the stake or racked. It is possible to see how this came about. The philosophy responsible was conceived in the death drive.

But it is nevertheless a fact that subconscious can communicate with subconscious. It goes on day after day. When man lifts his evolution to a conscious level he will understand how it is done.

It is not too difficult to grasp when it is understood that the subconscious has only two directions of function. Everything begins with these two. It is possible to see that if each cell has two directions, a million combinations of directions are possible in the body.

But the basic function is to imitate or to do the opposite. These are primary and can be understood by considering a one-celled creature. In order to gain intelligence about an object it must press against that object. It moves or extends part or all of itself until it comes in contact with something that resists. That object makes a slight indentation in its gelatine-like surface. It draws back, retaining briefly this impression. It now has knowledge of the shape. It has part of the shape indented into its own surface.

Human cells are electrical systems. They have the ability to link together and add or multiply their power. This is apparently done first on the level of the blood itself. This adding of electrical potential may be the way the blood regulates its temperature. It is certain that this is done in infinite combinations.

Wherever there is an electrical system there is an electromagnetic field. This is one of the laws of electronics. Each cell in the human body has a positive and negative pole. This is one of the more recent discoveries.

In order to get information the subconscious extends its electromagnetic field to the electromagnetic field of another subconscious. It must be remembered that it doesn't need to stop here. It can and does go on through things into cells and on down to the atomic and electron level.

If you wish to try it, gaze at another person's back and think about that person. When he or she turns around he or she will be a little astonished and not really know why. That is because the whole function is subconscious.

To prove that the gazing is not the entire matter, have someone else watch for the other person's turning, or watch in a mirror, and concentrate on that person. The results will be astonishing particularly if you are conscious of what you're doing, for your subconscious has been struggling all your life to get information to your consciousness so that the two might work together instead of in conflict. It has done this with every kind of sensation imaginable, including itching, stinging, sharp pains, ecstasy, and through startling and seemingly inspired impressions.

Its language is impressions. It often hands these up in dreams in the form of symbols because the basic philosophies of all the world are based on symbols. Psychologists attach these to sex. There is good reason for this. Basic philosophies usually attack sex. There is considerable evidence that it is very much hated. This is understandable as part of the death drive. There are quite a few more ramifications to the reasons. The fact is, sex is the crucial compromise between life and death and the thing that enables both drives to achieve their goals.

It is not basic. Life and death are basic. Sex is their offspring, the primary they created.

It is quite possible to bring subconscious communication to a high level. Some have written of machines. Some of these machines would function only for their inventor. This is just another substitution, as all things that men do are substitutions for the original effort to restore the other self and thus be complete, self-sustaining and seemingly eternal.

The electromagnetic field of man can be demonstrated, not merely by one, but by anyone, as something that can be extended from subconscious to subconscious. Distance doesn't have to alter this. The planet is a magnetic field. When the field of the body is essentially in rapport with another being it can extend itself through the field of gravity of the planet. They are both much the same thing.

Nor does time need alter this. Electromagnetism is not clearly understood, but a tape recorder can keep the records of yesterday. The gravity of the planet is a gigantic magnetic wire recorder. Nothing that ever happened can ever be lost as a record. It can be modified of course, but that is improbable. All of space is a magnetic field or gravity field. Whatever the field of the planet records it will essentially impress on the field of space. Man will not do much modifying there as of now. Which means literally that whatever has happened from the beginning has been recorded down to the most infinitesimal motion or energy.

This accounts for history repeating itself with modifications. The functions of the subconscious are two. One of them is to imitate; the other is the opposite. It takes an impression and reproduces that impression within itself. Children do this especially well. Apes also. They imitate many things. In rebellion against imitation, the effort not to conform, the subconscious uses the opposite. In between these two are billions of shades. Thus man evolves. Until now he has done this subconsciously.

But it is easy to see that however labeled no secret can be kept. Scientists in one part of the world will bring into being, with modifications, the same things as scientists in another part of the world, for they are somewhat in rapport, having a common goal to learn and having a background of related knowledge.

The opposite must be considered. It is certain that man doesn't consciously want to die. He probably doesn't consciously want to escape, though under analysis his thoughts will be found to trend in this direction. His death drive is below the awareness level. This means that the conscious and the subconscious are often in conflict. Since the conscious is small in present development, it cannot win against the subconscious. Man in general can't say, "I will remove a tumor," and do it. This means only that his subconscious doesn't obey his conscious.

The subconscious obeys externals. This begins at birth. If it had any say in the matter it would not permit itself to be terrified. The externals go on functioning, swinging it about by the heels and slicing off its umbilicus and its other self. It must now move its intake up to its nose and mouth, its elimination downward from the umbilicus. It must depend on externals.

Its terrific efforts to escape take it into subawareness which is called sleep. In this seeming security, which it had found a bit earlier in the placenta, it goes back into life drive. It does this simply by walling off memories. It ceases to remember that it is in breathing life. All the experience there is on another level, and so it restores itself.

This is interrupted. It has to come to awareness in order to get food. Its eliminations are bothersome. Noises and vibrations compel it to accept externals. Gradually it sleeps less and less, and in awareness it finds that it must adapt to routines. Eventually it sleeps when others sleep and eats when others eat. It conforms.

But all the way it is dependent.

It finds that it must obey externals. Whatever it wants as an infant it must turn to externals to get it. Afterwards it must go on conforming, always realizing that its wishes will be satisfied only when it obeys externals, and that it is punished or deprived of something or otherwise made unhappy when it doesn't.

Thus the subconscious surrenders control in the first years of life, and short of understanding never retakes it.

A demonstration of how dynamic this, and the terrifying genius and power of the subconscious, is a commonplace hypnotic trick. The hypnotists tells the subject his body will become rigid enough to support the weight of another person. Others tell the subject that his arm has been burned and watch a blister rise there precisely as if fire had touched it.

These things are not recommended - by this author at least - and illustrate only the power of the death drive in some persons. Too often the hypnotist suggests something destructive. That is death-drive.

In those early years the subconscious learns to deny the conscious. It is well that it does this, for all cultures are masochistic-sadistic, which means only that they are both life drive and death drive in nature, and a single mind coupled with the power of its subconscious would of course upset the world so long as it remained in a death drive. As a matter of fact, that is just what they have done all through history.

It is possible to retake control of the subconscious. It is a long process through many ramifications and entails recovery of billions of recordings. It is not conceivable that any person can do it for another. The most anyone can do is explain the principle which essentially will be incomplete under the limitation of words. However, there is hope. One is that man has come to a crucial point in evolution. He is able to destroy not merely himself but the life drive. He must lift his evolution to a conscious level. The alternative is to go winging to his nebulous glory in the womblike heaven he has envisioned. Thus radiology, nerve gas and bacteriological weapons impose upon man the necessity for the longest single step he has ever made in his upward striving. He will take that step. Else the experiment that is man will have failed and the law of life will of necessity have to begin with a new species.

This is the main part of the hope. It appears that the drive in man imposes a condition and then furnishes all the information essential to solve it. By tracing this out it is possible to find this condition developing through the millennia. Bearing in mind that the subconscious obeys externals and strives to bring them into being, we find the prophecy millennia in the past that the world shall ultimately be destroyed. Billions of subconscious minds accepted this over and over down through the ages. The subconscious, owing to the fact that it does bring into being things, and had found no alternative to obeying externals, and had no alternative to obeying what it believed to be the will of the Creator, had by its nature to evolve man to the point where the prophecy could be fulfilled. With modifications, of course. But the life drive has not surrendered, and as long as it persists there is hope that man will achieve awareness of the truth about himself and his function.

The second part of the hope is that the subconscious knows the truth about itself. It knows it on a different level. It knows that it can create. It know in which direction it is moving. It strives to get this information to the conscious. For the law of the subconscious is something on the order of inertia. Set on a course, it tends to continue in that direction. That is why it is so hard to change anything about a human. The first concepts are the ones that seem to be vital. It never departs entirely from the original course, but this is modified from time to time. There is, of course, no modification comparable to birth. In a few minutes of thought the subconscious will provide all the logical evidence that this is so; that being dropped from an entirely different existence into this one is comparable only to the concept of being dropped naked and terrified into hell before such a place had ever been conceived in the mind.

Clear understanding of the absolute fact that man's endeavors are an effort to escape, and that his most profound search is for his other self, gives the subconscious an opportunity to ferret out causes and effects. Once on this course, it tends to go ahead. For the purpose of the awareness appears to be the function of correlating and determing external relatives and overall effects.

The conscious does not do any actual reasoning. It has no means of doing that. In order to reason two directions are required. The subconscious has these to infinity. The conscious appears to be merely awareness where many things and symbols and concepts can be brought together in order to form a coherent pattern.

Unhappily this awareness has in the past denied everything in the subconscious that wasn't death drive. The reason for this is simply that all the physical side of man finds life a matter of sensations, mostly pain or unhappiness, and must accept these things as realities. They are that. In his effort to escape man denies and turns away from life.

Sensations are experiments. Basically they are an effort to find the other self.

If you gaze at the back of another person, perferably of the opposite sex, you can definitely establish this. This works better when the sex is opposed. Your subconscious, if it used words, would be asking this question: "Is that my other self?" The thought that makes the other turn and look, when it is taken out of symbols and impressions and put into words, is this: "Is that my other self?"

The turning to look, the looking itself, is nothing more than an effort to cross-check impressions. Vision. Impressions are gained through the five senses. One sense can bring very little information. Two multiply the information, apparently. Three and four take it to an enormous peak of knowledge. In the sexual act it is conceivable that the two subconscious minds momentarily conceive that they have found their other selves. But soon they are searching again, for the other self no longer exists on a physical level.

One of the reasons man is so slow about learning silent communication from subconscious to subconscious is that his basic philosophies have made him a prude and a neurotic about sex. The sex drive is, of course, the one that is searching. It is certain that a good many compatible persons are able to anticipate each other's moods and desires. It is equally certain that a good many others do precisely the opposite and conflict.

Life and death drives. They are both the same and yet two opposites. Man will have to reconcile them. He will also have to reconcile a great many of his conflicting teachings and beliefs. As of now, he has only one half of something: the death half. Because he obeys externals he is able to pursue that half without conscious knowledge. In the course of living his life drive must essentially deteriorate. And yet they are both the same.

Silent communication is possible and has been possible for at least several thousand years. It is not telepathy. It is an exchange of impressions. All that is necessary now is to attain something approximating conscious evolution, so that man won't commit suicide en masse, as he has tried over and over to do in the past, and get chummy with his subconscious so that he can learn something that isn't devoted to death, and the experiment that is man might turn out to be a success.

It comes in several forms—either in individual aluminum foil envelopes (it'll never deteriorate!) containing just enough to make one batch, enough for eight people; or in 1-lb. bags, or in 5-lb. cans (in case you run a restaurant, and you want to have people lined up for blocks waiting for that WONDERFUL CHILI they can get only at YOUR place). Send for any amount you want, from one small envelope to a ton. Your money back, if your palate doesn't tingle with delight!

Here's What Our Customers Say:

Need more chili seasoning, as I have been eating it until it almost comes out of my ears! Just can't seem to get enough of it. Enclosed find my check for $3.50 for which please send me five cartons of five 8-person servings, and I will be able to continue my orgy of chili. Have several friends who are anxious to try it also. C. A. Andrew, 905 E. Isaacs Ave., Walla Walla, Washington.

Not too long after getting my small order of your chili seasoning, I made up a pot of chili and forgot your seasoning. After eating a small dish of it, I remembered the two envelopes of "Williams" I had, so I dumped in one package and forfot it until dinner. Well, the whole thing in a nut shell is I'll never be without Williams Chili Seasoning again! It's wonderful! I've always prided myself on real good chili, but not any more! Enclosed find $1.00 for five more envlopes of seasoning, so I can have some more REAL chili Virginia Walters, Rear 1165 Harrison Ave., Columbus, Ohio.

Where The Reader Has His Say

Dear Rap:

Congratulations on the "new" Search. If you haven't achieved the eye appeal of news-stand buyers and the contents to please the most discriminating I don't know what would. To me this is what a book like yours should look like to reach more people. I was also pleased with your editorial and the article "Reincarnation and Nonsense - More About it". It's the first really logical work I have seen. I enjoy the whole book however, because I like to hear and read about people's uncensored beliefs and experiences. Mary, 121 Fannin St., Corpus Christi, Texas.

Dear Mr. Palmer:

In the past I have written you about the Occult. I have never received an answer. Did you get to read those letters? In these letters I claimed the Shaver Mystery to be a fake or fiction. Oahspe is fiction and the man that wrote it was an imposter. I have read some of these books on life in the other or Spirit World including Cayce books and Brandon - not true, none of them. The mediums are fakes, the poltergeists too.

You are boasting some of these books as true. How do you know this? I also see the Spirit World, that's how I know. Now which one do you think is telling the truth? I have forgotten more of the Spirit Universe than Shaver, Newbury, Cayce and Marie Corelli put together. There is more fraud and deceit in the books of the Occult than in any other subject. Now you know and I know that if we knew the truth one book is all it needs, and it would put all these other fakes out of business.

Now it seems that publishers of Occult books do not want the truth for that reason. Now that is alright as long as they do not claim the book tells the truth and scientists are ignorant. The dupes are not scientists but the people who believe these faker's stories. Nobody knows better than a scientist how little he really knows, so he keeps quiet. But these fakers know everything, how the Universe was formed and where we came from and where we are going. Their nerve is colossal, and that is Newbury for you.

Now the question is, who do you, Mr. Palmer, believe?

If you think I am the fraud ask some questions you want answered and then see if your fakers can answer them. I know they cannot. Their's is all fiction. This is laying it on the line, no fooling. R.W. Peter, 1051 McKindrie St., San Jose 26, Calif.

• How do YOU know? - Rap.

Dear Ray:

Search magazine was wonderful this issue (Oct.). Let's have more by Harry W. Evans about Races and subraces. I didn't understand. Could he take a race at a time and place them and then I don't think I'd get so confused about all the sub-races. And maybe simply trace one race thru changes and migrations? Or maybe if he'd start with a subrace number and trace it backwards I could stay with him.

I also always enjoy Dorothy Lauer's articles and sent for a psychometric analysis. So far only the unpleasant things have happened, but I'm looking forward to the nice ones! Darlene Chladek, 924 N. Jackson, Casper, Wyo.

Dear Mr. Palmer,

I have just read your Editorial in Search magazine for August, 1962 and all I can say is "WOW". It's great. This is what I like to see, plain talk. If I was interested before I'm doubly interested now.

I have never missed an issue of Search or Flying Saucers but I've always taken Search pretty lightly and I haven't really been interested in obtaining a copy of OAHSPE. Now I can't wait until I get anough money for a copy and I'm going to subscribe to Search as soon as I can. Keep talking plain. It hits hard but boy it gets through.

I'm a Baptist minister's wife and as a Christian I've kept the occult at arms length because I know it can be very dangerous to get mixed up in. But I do want to know the facts plain and simple. You have hinted all around and played peek-a-boo with the truth for us for some time but it's too easy to forget like that. We really don't retain enough from one issue to another to put it together intelligently. I'm all for you serving it up straight.

I like the new small print too. As for Shaver's psychic stones I

Congratulations on a good magazine and hoping for more in the future. Elaine M. Hackett, 2715 Island Ave., San Diego 2, Calif.

Dear Search Readers:

It is most gratifying to this writer, and must be to Ray Palmer, to know that a very great number of Search readers have written me they have written to Senator Kefauver, as suggested in my article in a recent Search.

However, a few are concerned about speaking of medical racketeering, as in my suggested card to be written to the Senator. An admission that they fear to tell the known and admitted facts about the greatest racket on earth proves the necessity of bringing the laws of God and of man to bear on the American Medical Association. A great many of you have read my "Doctor Is Born". Right now, read page 93 where a high government official, FitzGerald, accuses the AMA of "The most corrupt motives, intrigue, selfishness, jealousy, obstruction and conspiracy I have ever seen."

That is a government report. FitzGerald also pointed out in his report that Hoxsey and several other researchers have cured all types of cancer, without the AMA hokum of radiation, radium and surgery. The reports quote real radiologists to prove that the AMA technique cures nobody of cancer. And FitzGerald said, "To illustrate the stranglehold of the AMA on legislation which in turn effects every household in America . . . how long will the American people take this?"

If you only consider the FitzGerald report, how can you doubt for a second that the medical monopoly is a racket of the vilest order for it has turned the whole American people into Guinea pigs. But this is just a starter. One out of every four or five who now read this, is going to die with cancer. I asked you to read page 340, Information Please, and discover that every degenerative disease is out of control. Did you? If you do not already know it, 75% of our diagnostic laboratories cannot be depended on. They report false findings to doctors who depend on their findings to diagnose and prescribe treatment. Do you get the picture? Cancer instead of colitis. Diphtheria instead of strep throat, or ordinary quinsy. A smudge on an X ray plate diagnosed as a gastric cancer. Hundreds of thousands of false diagnoses and treatments every year - and you may be the next.

Think on this: Dr. Hawley, head of the American College of Surgeons, stated in print that millions of unneeded operations are performed each year, "for just, plain, dishonest blood money". Did you know that AMA surgeons tear out hundreds of thousands of wombs, ovaries, appendices every year, not one half of them are found diseased? This is attested by the greatest names in medicine. You will find the full data in my new book, "Confidential Medical Catechism", now at the printers. Did you know that over one half of the 9,500,000 operations, performed by AMA approved surgeons, are not indicated? You will find full documentation in C.M.C. Did you know that the greatest throat specialists have proved that children, whose tonsils have been taken out are more prone to diseases than the children that retain their tonsils?

Did you know that the use of tranquilizers is causing countless patients taking them to take their own lives? Full proof in C.M.C. You will also see verification of the facts concerning the charges made against AMA doctors by the Los Angeles County Better Business Bureau. Charges that the druggists were forced by AMA doctors to skyrocket their charges in order to give the doctors great kickbacks.

Did you know this: Acting under AMA ethics, one doctor will not testify against another doctor of medicine, even if the first party had decimated a whole state. That is a fact. Think back just a few years. Why didn't AMA type medicine save the lives of some of our most prominent citizens after AMA type doctors had pulled out their whole bag of tricks? A great, and honest doctor, Dr. R. Matas of New Orleans wrote, "They (the doctors) resort to all sorts of subterfuges to lure the patient to the operating room and do not hesitate to perform any operation, whether it is indicated or not, provided it will bring in the coveted fee. . . Some men of this type do not hesitate to remove normal and inoffensive organs." Now, I ask you straight out, have you not at long last been convinced that medicine, as presently practiced by a large number of AMA members, is just one gigantic racket? If not, then God help you.

A noted New York surgeon, Dr. Norman Barnesby stated openly, "Crime is inevitable as long as doctors abide by the AMA code of ethics. It is a disgrace to any country vaunting civilization!"

Well friends, is the AMA a racket, a criminal racket, or isn't it? But Dr. Barnesby said further, "I wish to stigmatize the spirit of false ethics and infallibility that the medical profession has succeeded in preserving intact - a memorial of the myths and inhuman practices of our medieval prototypes." Is that strong enough for you? Or perhaps this may influence you to think and act, today, before you become a victim of the only profession that can murder a patient and get away with it. Dr. John M. Good, a great doctor, and honest doctor and fearless doctor, as well as author of many authoritative medical works, wrote this, "The science of medicine is a barbarous jargon and the effects of our medicines are in the highest degree uncertain; except, indeed, that they have destroyed more lives than war, pestilence and famine combined!"

If the AMA and certain of their serfs in government are not brought under control now, your turn is coming up to be the victims of the most heartless, soulless corporation for profit only, that now exists, probably ever has existed, because that corporation deals with your very life, with the lives of those bound to you by the closest and dearest relation, with the continued existence of all Humanity.

Be assured that your cards and letters to Senator Kefauver are accepted under great secrecy and confidence. You and yours will never be mentioned, without your written consent.

Friends, we are about to bring the medical monopoly before a Senate committee for investigation of its racketeering and worse.

Don't let God down, now! Don't let humanity down. Don't let yourself and your dear ones down. Get those cards to Hon. Estes Kefauver, Washington, D.C. You have read how the electric trust, that thought itself above Law, was brought under the Law. And many more trusts are in for the same treatment very soon.

Get those letters or cards off to the senator. Perhaps this will save your life. - Dr. W.D. Chesney, M.D., Milton Junction, Wis.

Dear Mr. Palmer:

I was surprised and delighted that you at last relented and "said something" in your editorial in the last issue of Search magazine instead of hinting at hidden knowledge. But one statement you made about the Great White Brotherhood amused me no end, and I am sure they were equally amused.

The Great White Brotherhood do not hide in any Tibetan caves, or in any other caves, or anywhere. They are decidedly ubiquitous and are working like mad to foil the evil forces that you at last acknowledge exist. Please acknowledge the existence of the Great White Brotherhood as well. Its members are legion.

I have read Bender's book, just released. He seems to think that he has solved the secret of the saucers, entirely. His experiences are interesting and explain some of the saucer activity, but not all

Mr. Palmer:

Q. I've read that President Kennedy attended The Lasky School of Socialism in London. Seems incredible, but isn't it true? - K. Hanley, Ft. Worth, Texas.

A. There is no such school. The item is untrue. The name of the late professor who taught at the University of London was Harold J. Laski.

The above clipping was taken from Walter Scott's Personality Parade, 733 Third Ave., New York City 17, a few weeks ago, which is a weekly newspaper column.

In contrast to your statement on page 44 of the August issue of Search, about Kennedy attending a commy school, I am inclined to believe the Scott statement as true for the simple reason that newspapers (90% of them) have no predilection to printing anything complimentary, and are not anxious to correct a derogatory story, about any democratic administration unless they have a gainful reason to do so.

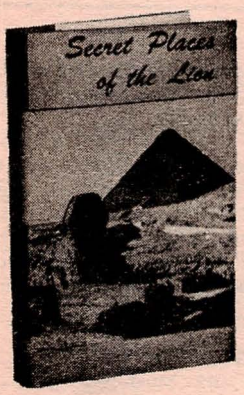

Your reference to Eisenhower making the opinionated statement that Kennedy was out to destroy the Republic seems far fetched. When did he say it? Under what circumstances did he say it? Was it a speech, a magazine article, or at a card party?

To continue with your same paragraph, same sentence, " - and who should know better than a man who has held the same office?" By the same token, any judgment that Truman made regarding the Eisenhower adminstration would have been true?

I am a registered Republican, but when I read anything that deals with politics I want to read historical facts and truths whether I like them or not, and not some editor's opinions that he cooks up in the hope of pacifying, or winning the favor of, his advertisers. Richard H. Townes, 4750 Kenmore Terrace, San Diego 16, Calif.

• We did not say Kennedy attended a commy school. We said he attended a socialist school. Check it for yourself. Eisenhower said what he said in a public speech. It was on page one of all the newspapers I read. I've got the AP clippings, but why don't you readers do some of the work, just once? Look through all the back issues of the last six months. You insult me, call me a liar, ask what advertisers I am catering to, and then you ask me to WORK for you, finding clips you would have seen if you had read the papers daily, as I do. - Rap.

"I have a somewhat unique idea to communicate to those who are interested. I wish to communicate this idea only to those persons dissatisfied with organizations tending to centralize all their power in one or a few individuals. Do not expect an immediate reply to your letters to me. I believe in shaping my replies carefully. You must also have the quality of patience as will be demonstrated when my idea is revealed to you. Only those who show that they have enduring qualities will be able to follow this idea to its fulfillment. This is for serious-minded people only. Write to Kent W. Campbell, 1131 28th Avenue, Sacramento 22, Calif.

Develop . . . "KNOWLEDGE UNLIMITED through . . . TRANSITIONAL SLEEP"

"Knowledge Unlimited" is one of the most startling publications of our time.

- Learn how Transitional Sleep, the scientific system of Sleep Learning and Self Development, was perfected.
- Read about "Fourth Dimensional Hypnosis," the scientists' tool for probing the mysteries of the Universe.

You will read how scientists developed and used this entirely different hypnotic procedure to transport subjects into higher dimensions of time and space. You will learn how subjects perceive the human aura, do astounding calculations and converse on subjects of a profound nature.

Here are a few authentic highlights of a seven-year research project that leave you spellbound:

1. Unlocking the subconscious
2. Ascending the stairs to wisdom
3. Age regression.
4. Sleep and metabolism
5. Time distortion and longevity
6. Tapping Universal Mind.
7. Growing into light . . . applying the principles.
