Important Note and Definitions

In reading this magazine be very, very certain you never go past a word you do not fully understand.

If the material becomes confusing or you can't seem to grasp it, there will be a word just earlier that you have not understood. Don't go any further, but go back to BEFORE you got into trouble, find the misunderstood word and get it defined.

E-Meter Note: The Hubbard E-Meter is a religious artifact developed for the exclusive use of ordained Ministers and theological students who are trained in its use in Church ministrations. It is not intended for and is forbidden by the Church to be used in any medical or physical treatment or in the diagnosis, treatment or prevention of any disease. By itself it does nothing and is strictly not to be employed for medical or scientific purposes. Its purpose is to assist the minister to locate in his parishioner areas of travail so that he can assist in the relief of spiritual suffering. The existence and use of the E-Meter is sanctioned by law and the copying of it or attempts by unqualified persons, doctors, scientists, psychologists, psychiatrists, to obtain or use one are actionable under law in the United States. To obtain an E-Meter one must be a sincerely enrolled student of the Church of Scientology or a fully qualified Minister of that Church and must undertake as well to become wholly skilled in its purpose and use. No other persons are permitted to have E-Meters. The Church permits the E-Meter to be sold, possessed, or owned only under these conditions.

Notes from the Editor

Training. That's what is featured in this issue of Source, beginning on page 9. A lot of research goes into articles. For this particular article I had the pleasure of spending time in and around Flag's course rooms and interneship, watching what goes on, talking to the supervisors, the students, the internes as well as Flag Auditors and C/Ses. You could lose an Editor if I do much more research! I left with the urge to sign up for training to be a Flag Auditor! I've tried to convey the doingness and the spirit of these areas of Flag training, and just what goes into making Flag courses and interneships so standard and so effective. Enjoy a short journey to Flag Training!

I always tell you to use the data in the articles in Source by Ron. The article beginning on the following page, "Communication and Interest" is full of tech you can use. Try out the data on "interested" and "interesting"!

In March we had the experience and pleasure here at Flag of hosting the New OT Civilization Convention. This wasn't any come-and-listen convention, it was a productive weekend of teamwork, organization, planning for nearly 600 Scientologists. It was so successful, another convention is planned for August this year in Los Angeles. All details for both conventions is on pages 6, 7 and 8.

To all who sent in your Census from the last issue of Source, thank you! The data has been very valuable. If you didn't send your Census in, it isn't too late. Just fill it out and send it to me right now.

See you in August at the Convention?

Communication & Interest

and the resolution of the physical universe

BY
L. RON HUBBARD

THE FORMULA OF communication is Cause-Distance-Effect, with an Intention to communicate at Cause, with Attention toward the Effect, and with Attention from Effect to Cause and with a Duplication at Effect of what emanates from Cause.

If in communication only attention is used, you will find attention developing a heavy particle flow because attention is not close enough to consideration. Attention belongs in the field of mechanics.

We have to go into considerations, a little closer up to the thetan, and that is accomplished by interest. Do you see that the bridge between consideration and mechanics is interest?

Now, that is an interesting thing because it means that a communication line can be pepped up, speeded up and everything else, simply by injecting interest.

But if you are only going to inject attention into it, nothing but attention, this is going to be a little bit difficult in the auditing session.

An auditor had better get out of the field of sitting there with rather solid but nevertheless alert attention, looking at the preclear, listening to him, and get up into the field of interest if he expects that communication line to flow.

There is a difference between interest and attention and the difference is simply particles, particle flow. Attention is much more solid and much less fluid than interest.

You can do anything with interest; you can sit back and look at something and still be interested in it. You can communicate more broadly about something because you are closer to consideration and less out of communication.

If the interest is missing, an impaction or ridge will result.

Do you want to know how to get out of this universe? You had better get out of this universe by being interested in the smallest particle in the universe, the whole universe simultaneously. Interested in it, not giving attention to all the particles. Get the difference? You don't have to give attention to every individual particle in the universe, but you certainly have to be in a frame of mind which permits you to be interested in every part of the universe.

Let's take another little factor in this, the dilettante. "Dilettante" is an item that comes into the field of the arts, mainly, but we will extend it to all of man's activities.

A dilettante is somebody who starts in, gives a savage run at something and is very enthusiastic at first. He is going to learn how to be a jet pilot — with great enthusiasm. Oh boy, is he going to be a jet pilot! And then the instructor says, "Well, first we have to learn to do this and do that. Army regulations say you have to learn how to make a bed." He is not quite as enthusiastic as he was before. He gets a lesson or two and the next thing you know he is out there at the commandant's office asking to resign.

Why is he asking to resign? What is the highest common denominator to his activities, to the activities which cause these withdrawals from life activities, goals and enthusiasms? He has as-ised all the interest in the whole subject of jet pilots. He didn't have much interest to begin with, he couldn't mock it up. He suddenly had come unto a deposit of interest, he had gotten sold by a poster or something of the sort. This interest was very slight and he himself cannot create interest.

He simply goes into something and then as-ises, in other words erases, all the interest he has on the subject which leaves him with nothing but some attention which he had given it before. He is kind of stuck with it and feels rather soggy about the whole thing, but he is not interested in it any more.

Well, he gets out of that and he decides he's going to be a piano player. He takes one lesson, two lessons, three lessons, and he meets a couple of other piano players. And the next thing you know, he is not even interested in the piano any more. He quits. He is through. He doesn't take it any further.

He decides he isn't so successful in that particular field so the best thing for him to do is to become something completely out of this world, something he is tremendously enthusiastic about. He's going to be a painter!

He gets to the point where he learns how to clean a brush and he quits. What does he quit for?

That's a very important thing to an auditor because every preclear that is sitting there in the chair or in the group has quit, just like this, in various parts of life. He has quit time after time. And he is only sitting there because he has quit. He is just as good, actually, as he ever was in 74 trillion years, and yet his considerations have turned over so that he quits. The consideration is this: he can no longer create interest, he no longer runs on the interest which he himself generates. He just takes somebody else's interest, or a little bit of interest, and he as-ises it before he gets into anything like hard work.

"A fellow who is interesting is pulling everything in on himself. His only salvation is to be interested. And he is as alive as he is interested."

Believe me, it takes a lot of interest to get you through the task of digging away half a mountain to find some gold or sawing down a redwood tree (and they didn't have saws when they first cut these things down, they had very bad axes). It takes a lot of interest to keep a fellow at a job all the way through.

Interest is not at fault. It isn't because you have become interested in things and then have been disabused or betrayed so you had to withdraw from them. That is not what is wrong with the preclear. It is simply that he failed to keep on generating interest in what he was doing.

There are an awful lot of people out there, let me tell you, looking for happiness. A lot of your preclears are going to sit there looking for happiness. They'll ransack their whole banks looking for happiness.

Well, the clue to happiness is being interested in life. People's happiness is as great as they can create it. They will not experience happiness from any other quarter than their own generation. That's all. They will get the amount of happiness that they can generate. But this happiness is not itself an emotion, it is a word which states a condition and the anatomy of that condition is interest.

Happiness, you could say, is the overcoming of not unknowable obstacles toward a known goal, that is the Dianetics Book One definition of happiness.

The anatomy back of it is simply this, no more, no less: how much interest can he generate and can he generate enough interest to get him over all those heavy energy particles which have to be invested along the lines? It is how much interest can he generate himself, how much can he himself keep interested in life, that makes him happy.

Happiness is the application of self to existence, and that is all there is to happiness.

So, what happens to this dilettante? He doesn't create interest any more. And you will find this individual looking for happiness? Oh, no! He is looking for happiness. Nobody else's happiness is going to be of any use to him whatsoever. The only happiness he will ever get is from being able to create his own interest in things.

Now, a thetan who is in good shape and who is exteriorized can get some of the darnedest levels of interest.

Did you ever have anybody you were auditing exteriorize and then go prowling around the beach to find a grain of sand or something like that, and just sit there and look at it?

You say, "What is this fellow doing? Here he is a half an hour in this chair and he hasn't said a thing." You thought you were working with a comm lag or something, but you are not; something else has occurred here.

You quietly ask him, "What are you doing?"

"Oh," he says, "That's the most interesting thing!"

"What's the most interesting thing?"

"All of these little electrons, you know, they keep going around with this grain of sand and — oh! — it's fascinating! Very, very interesting!"

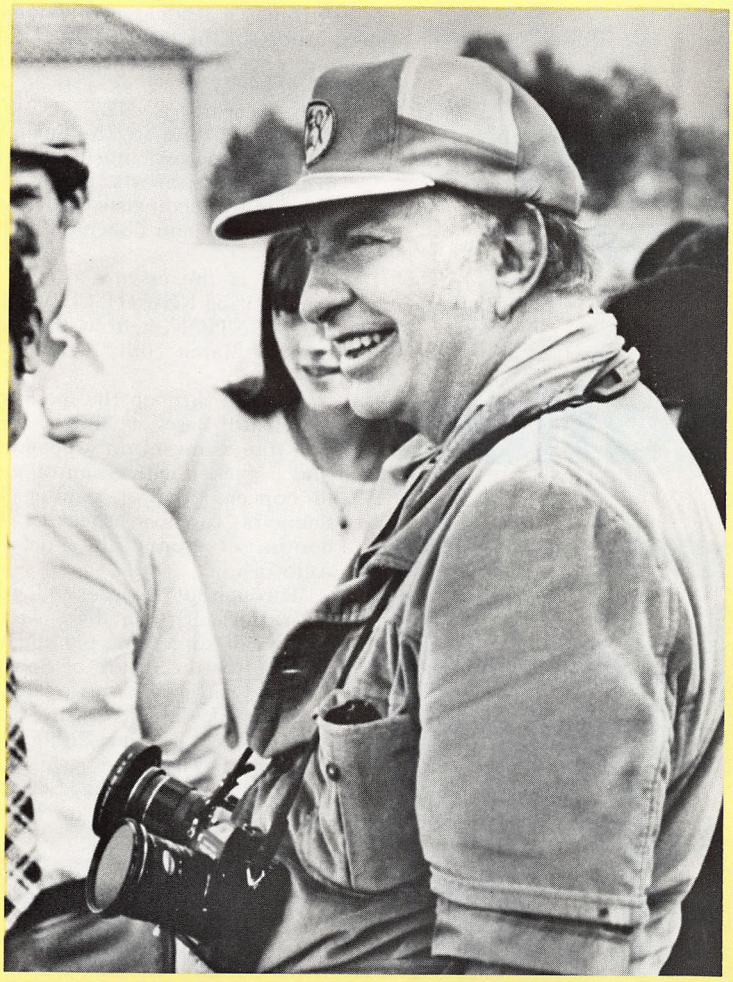

Nothing wrong with him. That is the natural state of affairs. An individual should be able to get interested in anything.

Interest is a beautiful index for preclears.

In the first place, they are either interest*ed* or interest*ing*. Get the difference?

A fellow who is interesting is pulling everything in on himself, he is trying to get interest from other people. He never will to a satisfactory amount. His only salvation is to be interest*ed*. And he is as alive as he is interest*ed*.

If you have processed many movie stars, as I have processed, you would get the idea after a while that people who are walking around trying to be interesting get into a remarkable state of nervous breakdown. They are expecting everybody to be interested in them and they themselves forget how to be interested. They can only be interesting. And this is the most ghastly state of affairs you ever saw. They are unhappy, they don't know what they are doing.

What has this got to do with two-way communication? Well, a two-way communication is between the auditor and the preclear. The auditor should be interested — and it is a very interesting thing to watch the workings of the mind, believe me — not just sitting there doing a job, giving attention to something, but he should be interested in what is happening. The preclear is being interesting. And the way he is being interesting is to dream up more problems than the auditor can ever solve.

A real two-way communication is where people are alternately interest*ed* and interest*ing*. The fellows can swap. A fellow is at Cause on the communication line of Cause-Distance-Effect. He is being interested and the Effect is momentarily interest*ing* to him.

When we get a reply on this communication line it swaps and the person who was interesting is now interested and is now Cause.

The two-way communication goes like this: the fellow who is at Cause is being Cause then Effect, Cause then Effect, Cause then Effect. He is being interested, interesting, interested, interesting, interested, interesting. Cause is interested. Effect is interesting. He is perfectly able to shift between being interested and interesting.

If an auditor is unable to shift, unable to change his gears on this, he can't go into adequate two-way communication. And there sits your preclear, only being interesting. Does interesting ever assume Cause? No, it is Effect. It is trying to be the effect of interest. And there he sits. Why is he sitting there? Because he has lost his interest in life. Oh, but he is being interesting, isn't he? He is trying to get some interest from life instead of trying to generate some interest. And you wonder what is wrong with the preclear? Just sum it up in that category and you have got it. He is going to be an effect as long as he is being interesting.

Believe me, more preclears can dream up more things to become interesting than any auditor has ever been able to log. You can cure their sinusitus, you can cure their ingrown toenails, and all you have done is take something away from them, which then made them less interesting. This is because they know how to be interesting: be sick! Everybody comes running around saying, "Dear, what can we do for you now?" They've learned the good, heavy lesson. The way to be interesting is to be unhealthy. Kind of nutty.

They got interest from the teacher by being stupid. "I don't know how to do this arithmetic problem." And the teacher said, "Well now, dear, it's very simple. You do it this way and that way . . ." What is he doing being stupid on this subject of arithmetic? What is he doing in school, anyway? He had a full Oxford education in his last life. Where has it gone? Well, it has gone right where he means it to go: out and away. He wants everything to be fresh and interesting again, otherwise he wouldn't be able to do it twice. So he "doesn't remember." He is asising interest when he begins to lose all of his past experience.

If you take "interested" and realize that that is Cause, and take "interesting" and realize that this is Effect you have, actually, the Theta-Mest theory.

What is this Theta-Mest theory? What are we doing all of a sudden throwing that at you?

Well, it was a theory generated by myself in the Fall of 1950 as an effort to explain this phenomena which had been observed of an analyzer working in one direction and a reactive mind working in quite another. It was just a theory, you understand, thrown in there to fill some holes. We can say now the reactive mind is being desperately interesting and the analyzer is being interested.

Theta is a static. A thetan is a static. The definition of static would be the definition of true zero. A static is something without mass, without wave length, without time and actually without position.

A spot out in space is not a true zero. There is still space.

This is one of the things the world at large did not have as part of its technology. It did not have a definition of true zero. A zero is a variable.[1] In

Hundreds of Professional Scientologists meet at Flag Land Base to plan a new OT civilization

IMAGINE A GATHERING of nearly 600 Scientologists, many of Scientology's leading professionals. The purpose of the meeting is to bring these very able and influential Scientologists together to work as a team to help Ron forward a NEW OT CIVILIZATION. These are the Scientologists who are doctors, musicians, businessmen, lawyers, artists, judges, authors, economists, ecologists, movie and TV personalities and dozens of other professions.

This is the essence of the fruitful and exciting NEW OT CIVILIZATION CONVENTION, held at the Flag Land Base on March 10th, 11th and 12th of this year.

A stroll through the main lobby of the Land Base at almost any hour over the Convention weekend would find it packed with Scientologists deep in conversation, or striding to their seminars to hear speakers or visit booths set around the Fort Harrison Auditorium.

Throughout the weekend, you could sense the spirit that here was the beginning of something big and very important for the future of Scientology!

The Convention was opened on the morning of March 10th by Liz Gablehouse, Ron's Personal Public Relations Officer at Flag. She gave a message from Ron welcoming Scientologists and briefed attendees on Ron's plans for a NEW OT CIVILIZATION, from Ron's HCO Bulletin of 1960, "Special Zone Plan." This was the beginning of a busy and productive three days.

The weekend was a balance of speakers, seminars and presentations, with time for booth visiting and get togethers between attendees.

The speakers, successful professionals from a kaliedoscope of fields, told of how they use Ron's tech in their professions, of the results they've had in doing this and of their own plans and ideas for expanding the application of Ron's tech in their fields.

Seminars were held for 18 separate professional groups, all seminars working several hours a day. Their purpose was to get Scientologists of similar professional interests together so they could pool their ideas and resources. Some of the seminars included were Health, Business, Arts, Acting, Education, Economics, Broad Dissemination, Law and Justice, Ecology and Environment, Sciences and Sports. The seminars were the foundation for the production of the Convention. Plans and projects were created in them to further the overall goal of Scientology through their fields.

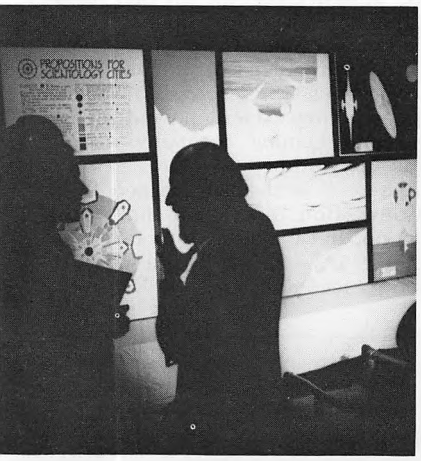

One highlight of the Convention (there were so many!) was a presentation by Mexican Scientologists covering their phenomenal wins and expansion

"I came here to relax, and never worked so hard in my life! The seminars were the most inspiring moments of my life — so many dedicated people uniting to get Ron's wisdom out into the society! The beauty of creation was here. And wait until tomorrow!"
— M.P., New York

"With Ron's tech to guide us, and the incredible willingness unleashed at this Convention I know there is no way we can be stopped. We can and will win, and the certainty of that is one of the greatest feelings I've ever encountered!"
— M.L., London

"I haven't stopped moving since I got here! The people, the goals, the future mapped out here — I just gotta be a part of this NEW OT CIVILIZATION."
— D.S., Dallas, Texas

(Top) Felipe Gil, songwriter and singing star from Mexico, and (bottom) Billy Davis, singer, were just two of the outstanding entertainers on March 13th for Ron's Birthday Celebration. The evening was without a doubt the most exhilarating party ever held at Flag; an apt conclusion to a successful and productive weekend!

throughout Mexico. They showed clearly the results of a united team effort of Scientologists thinking big in creating a safe environment and a new OT civilization.

Ron's completely revised and updated Have You Lived Before This Life? was released at the Convention to such an enthusiastic response that all copies of the book were sold out within minutes!

Following the Convention, more than 1,500 people joined in the March 13th Celebration of Ron's Birthday. The spirit of Scientology expansion and future so evident throughout the weekend rose to an exhilarated crescendo as the evening festivities progressed through a presentation of special plaques and trophies to Ron in acknowledgement for his tremendous contributions in so many fields. Through the challenge delivered by Ricardo Garcia, Assistant Guardian Mexico, to the world that Mexico would be the first Clear country. Through a glittering array of entertainers that gave truly unforgettable performances. It was an extraordinary evening, uniting performers and audience in a promise to Ron that the NEW OT CIVILIZATION is a future reality!

The weekend efforts produced over 65 projects, now being forwarded by the professionals concerned.

The Convention created a solid reality that it is team spirit and organized, united effort of all Scientologists that will get the job done.

Demonstrations of the effectiveness of Ron's technologies in so many fields is accelerating the growth of Scientology, making evident its indispensibility, and helping so many people around the world.

If there is a message learned from the Convention, it is that we have a big job to do, but it can be done far faster and better if we all work, and work together, to accomplish it.

HIGH STANDARDS

A close-up of Flag Courses and Interneships: what it takes to make a really standard, certain auditor

8:40 A.M. and the bright Florida sun is already high in the sky. Along the Gulf beaches early morning swimmers test the water, joggers trot up the beach while tourists prepare to migrate to the beaches or to nearby Disneyworld.

A short distance across Clearwater Bay, on the 10th floor of the graceful Fort Harrison silhouetting the skyline, it's all business!

"Smith."

"Here."

"Juarez."

"Here."

The sharp-eyed supervisor looks over the students just arrived from 8:00 a.m. breakfast, calling a brisk roll.

She gives the news of the day. Then begins the study day with a rousing "START!" There's the bump of chairs, the sound of shoes on the polished hardwood parquet floors, as students go for books and materials. Soon the course room settles down to a quiet bustle for the day.

In the Practical Course just next door, things are off to a not-so-quiet roar, punctuated occasionally by a shout or laugh with noisy TRs, Mood TRs, Upper Indoc Drills all in progress.

On the 11th floor Mezzanine, overlooking the Theory Course, the internes are doing daily morning TR-0 and other TRs, side by side with Flag Auditors, as the morning sun spills over their shoulders through french windows which stretch from ceiling to floor.

Another day has begun at the Flag Land Base.

Flag training and interneships are open to all Scientologists. Listen in on twins on any of the courses and interneships; you'll hear languages and accents of many nations. Get to know students and you find not only church and mission staff, but also Scientologists from all walks of life, all professions.

Prior training and auditing experience aren't even necessary or mandatory. A Scientologist can do his first training and interneships at the Land Base and only at the Land Base if desired, from the Student Hat on up. Sure, it's a tough gradient for someone with no auditing experience but it's been done with success. And it pays to have that certainty you're a Flag-quality auditor.

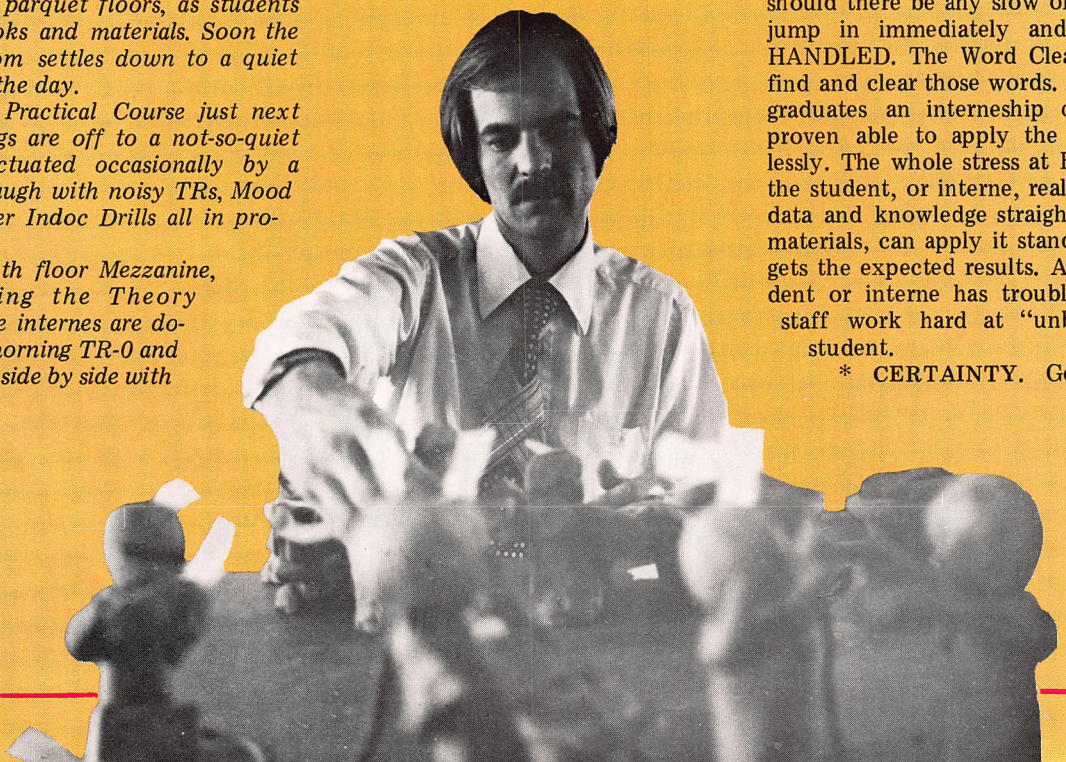

Why Flag training and interneships? What is the advantage?

* STANDARDNESS. Courses and interneships are run "by the book," just as Ron says to run them.

* HIGH QUALITY. Flag training is the very best available in all aspects.

* THOROUGHNESS. Even before beginning the first training, a special clean-up of past training and application is done so this will be out of the road when doing Flag services. And supervisors are SHARP. They let the student doing well get on with it, but should there be any slow or bog, they jump in immediately and see it is HANDLED. The Word Clearers really find and clear those words. An auditor graduates an interneship only when proven able to apply the tech flublessly. The whole stress at Flag is that the student, or interne, really gets the data and knowledge straight from the materials, can apply it standardly, and gets the expected results. And if a student or interne has trouble the Flag staff work hard at "unbugging" a student.

* CERTAINTY. Getting certainty of the tech, of how to audit standardly is what Flag is about!

* SPEED. It is usual for students and internes to go a lot more quickly at Flag than they would elsewhere. Course is full time, morning to night, each day of the week. It's intensive. The speed of particle flow is fast, the production level high, the tone level high.

* NO DISTRACTIONS. Living matters are taken care of so the student can just STUDY or AUDIT. There's no worrying about cooking dinner, does the car have gas, have to clean up when I get home, or any of the hectic necessities of day-to-day survival.

* TOP QUALITY TECHNICAL STAFF. All are highly trained and thoroughly interned to Flag standards from the Word Clearers to Interne Case Supervisors. Some have worked under Ron on tech lines.

* ENVIRONMENT. It's friendly, comfortable, beautiful and safe. But here are hundreds of Scientologists all working at high velocity applying Ron's tech in auditing, in study, everywhere you turn. From here hundreds of auditors, executives and others will go and make life better for thousands, even millions, by using Scientology standardly. You can see and feel the connecting up with the powerful on-Source Scientology lines.

NEW FLAG PRE-TRAINING ACTION

Before beginning Flag training or interneship, the new Flag Pre-Training Step is done. This action helps to speed up and make easier and more effective all subsequent study and interneships. Yet it takes just 2 to 6 days to do.

It is done in Qual with the Cramming Officer and in the Training Department.

The Flag Pre-Training Step is a thorough clean-up of any previous faulty training, correction, cramming or application of tech. It leaves the student free to move through training with no slows or barriers stemming from confusions, misunderstoods, questions or other blocks to study from earlier training or auditing.

Here are excerpts from a few typical responses to this new Flag Pre-Training Step:

"This has been a most incredible and simple action! I no longer have the nagging feeling I 'missed something' in my training . . . I'm in present time on my tech for the first time in years!"

". . . has got to be the most successful action I ever did in Scientology!"

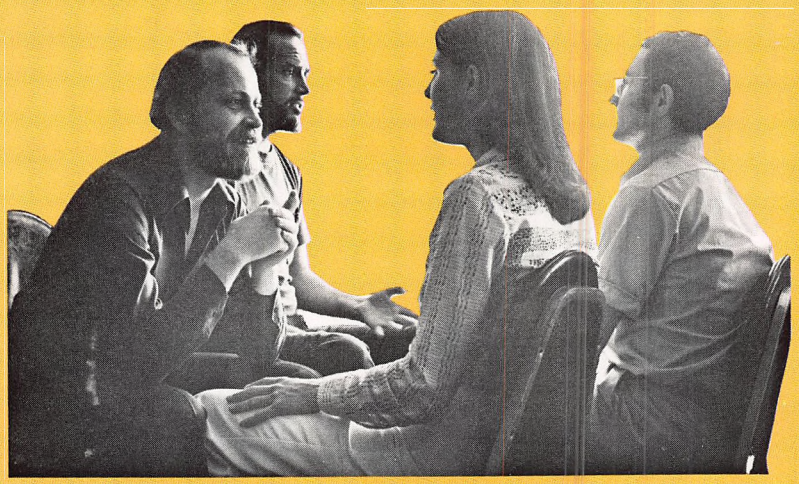

"Absolutely incredible! I blew the basic MUs [misunderstood words] I had in reference to my misunderstanding how Dianetics was standardly applied! I recommend this action for everyone!

"I'm really glad this cycle is here! I cleaned up all my former confusions on tech . . ."

STANDARD TRAINING. At the Flag Land Base the supervisors refer the student to the correct source of data on any confusions or queries; they don't give verbal data or verbal references at all. And they are pretty amazing at their knowledge and speed in locating that exact reference needed.

Speed of particle flow on courses is fast. Be ready for some hard work! It isn't that students are pushed to complete or "to get points," the game is that the student win at duplicating the tech and getting new skills and wins at doing these at a faster and faster rate! You know the LRH datum, "Production is the basis of morale"? You'll see students rushing, even running, to find that reference, complete that drill, get that tape or book.

You get the idea — quite correctly — that the purpose and interest of all the Flag technical staff is to see you, the student, get Ron's data, duplicate it, be able to apply it, and WIN at it. Their dedication to Ron's tech and to students shows in the results.

If a student is doing well, the supervisor just lets him get on.

If a student is in trouble, the Tech staff will just about climb mountains to get it handled. Sometimes it's just a word to get cleared up. Sometimes it's a lot more and the persistence and patience of supervisors, word clearers and everyone involved pays off.

Course materials, and in several languages, are readily available. There are many many different dictionaries, there are encyclopedias, there are references on all manner of subjects available. And the Course Admin is right there to help you find what you need.

The end result of high-powered Flag training, no matter which level, is full certainty on the technology and full certainty on what it takes to get standard results.

It's 10:15 a.m. and tourists on the beach seek relief from the hot sun with a dip in the warm Gulf waters.

In the course rooms on the 10th floor the supervisor has just called a break. It's 15 minutes of chatter and gossip with fellow students, talk of how things are going back home, sharing cognitions about that last bulletin just read. And maybe go down to the lobby for a cup of coffee.

Then it's back to course and good hard work. The supervisor has made rounds earlier setting the production targets for the day, tough but not impossible targets.

After morning TRs, the 11th floor Mezzanine nearly clears out. Flag Auditors go into session. Most internes go into session. The few internes on drills and checkouts are left. Or any internes in Cramming will be found across the Mezzanine working hard to finish that cram and get into session. For most internes, from morning till night is auditing, and more auditing.

Lunchtime isn't long, but it's long enough to eat and catch some of that Florida sun out by the pool, or do a bit of fast shopping down the street, or write a fast letter home, or play a few games of shuffleboard.

There is time each week for students and internes to handle personal cycles such as laundry. If doing well on course, the student can enjoy the movie showing on Wednesday nights and a day off every other week.

After lunch, the rest of the day is study and more study. Or TRs, drills, etc., with afternoon and evening breaks and dinner.

STUDENT BOOSTER RUNDOWN. Occasionally there is the student who runs into study difficulties that aren't resolved through standard supervisor techniques and word clearing. There is a Flag-only service developed by Ron in late 1975 that resolves this: The Student Booster Rundown.

When getting the Booster, the student remains on course so progress continues.

The Student Booster Rundown is an auditing action of precision. It is a series of actions that put the student "back on his feet" and at the same time give a real case boost. It cleans up the case barriers that get in the way of study and pinpoints the cause of study troubles.

The Rundown enables the student to complete faster and a lot more easily all courses and interneships done thereafter.

UNCOMPROMISINGLY STANDARD INTERNESHIPS. The maxim of Flag Interneships is "You will be a flubless, standard, certain auditor and get expected results on every case."

Certainty and standardness are gotten in from the basics on up.

To begin an interneship, the course for that level must be completed. It can be done at an org or mission or at Flag. Of course, students who have done the training at Flag have a lower rate of correction and retreads.

So, we start with the basics of Auditing: the Flag Hard TRs Course. It's a requirement for any Flag interneships. This is where TRs are gotten in, really in. The course covers TRs 0 through 9, Mood TRs and Assessment TRs. It's usual for TRs course students (even seasoned auditors) to rave that on this course they've gotten their TRs correct and really in, for the first time.

Then a short Interne Hat is done at no charge.

The first interneship done at Flag by everyone, no matter what interneships have been done elsewhere, is the Dianetic Interneship. It isn't that auditors haven't had good results or done good auditing elsewhere. But the level of standards at Flag require that Flag quality go in from the very bottom up.

This is by long and hard experience.

The procedures of the interneships are the same for all levels.

As a first step, the Interne Supervisor thoroughly checks out the interne's TRs and metering.

Then the basic technical data for that level is word cleared and checked out. And the technical actions are drilled.

Then an interne moves onto auditing.

The interne audits all day (after morning TRs). The pc folders go into the Flag C/Ses for grading.

If there is a session goof, the interne visits Flag's Cramming Section which has become famous for precise and thorough correction. The Cramming Officer locates the basic reason or reasons for the goof and handles it, using word clearing, checkouts, demos, clay demos, drills or anything that is needed to correct the material missed, misunderstood or misapplied.

As the interning auditor improves, tape recordings of sessions are made and turned in to the Interne Supervisor to check. The Interne works on specific techniques one at a time, rather than trying to be perfect all at once. Any outnesses are corrected. When the Supervisor passes the tape, it goes on to the Class XII Flag Senior C/S for OK.

There is an additional "electronic" tool just recently introduced into Flag Interneships. This is TV demonstration.

The interne gives a real session in a specially set-up room. This room has two video cameras and sound recording. One camera is on the E-Meter and the other on the overall session.

The session is inspected by the interne, then the Interne Supervisor. If passed by the Interne Supervisor, it goes to the Senior C/S for OK.

On this TV demo line, general and assessment TRs and metering in session are all checked out separately.

This new line has raised interne auditing quality and results more quickly!

Obviously, it makes it easy for the Interne Supervisor and Senior C/S to see exactly what is going on in session. And, very importantly, it lets the auditor see exactly what he or she is doing. Any outnesses are exactly pinpointed; correction is faster and more certain.

When a Flag Interne is fully passed on tape and TV demonstrations and consistently produces flubless sessions with the expected results, the title "Flag-quality auditor" is well earned and deserved.

Yes, Flag interneships are thorough and tough. But because of intensive study and auditing, and fast thorough correction, they usually don't take long. For example, the Dianetics Interneship takes only about 3 weeks. The time it takes usually depends on the quality of previous training and the honesty and hard work of the interne.

AN IMPORTANT INGREDIENT to any of Flag's training is the integrity and willingness of the student. It takes hard work and in-ethics. There can be some tough hills to climb in becoming a Flag-quality auditor; it would be a lie to say the route is all roses. At Flag no compromise is allowed when a Scientologist is working to be an auditor. Given the student's willingness and hard work, there is every Flag Tech and Qual staff member and all the tech Ron has given behind him to see he makes it.

STANDARD CASE SUPERVISION is the backbone of Standard Tech in any area of the world where Scientology is applied.

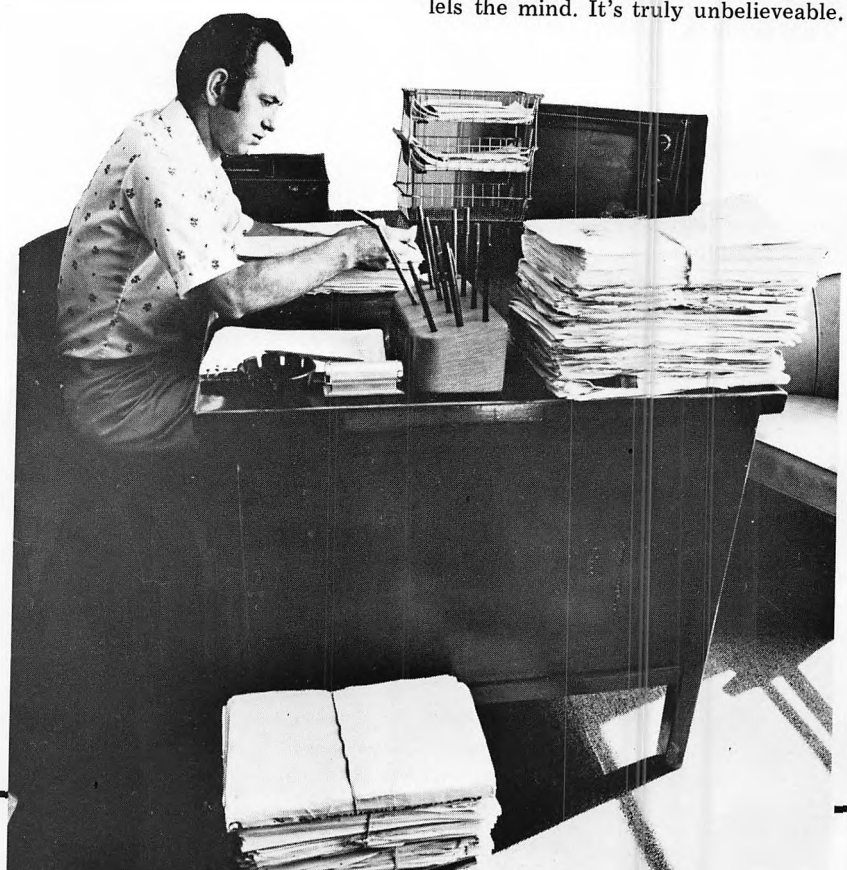

A case supervisor trained at Flag, under the top C/Ses, is a priceless asset to any area. The C/S must see to proper programming and case handling of preclears, proper auditing quality and even see to training quality in an area so his auditors are standard.

The following came in from an auditor (not Flag-trained) auditing under a Flag-trained C/S, to the Flag Senior C/S:

". . . I've been fortunate enough to audit under M. who was fortunate to C/S under you.

"I thought it proper to inform you of just exactly what you have done for this place . . .

"I personally have never been so at ease, yet so confident with auditing. All programming of all cases exactly parallels the mind. It's truly unbelieveable.

Completions? Out the top! Winning pcs? All over the place! Expansion? Well . . . no need to tell you where that's at.

"By your superb application of LRH's Tech both as a C/S and executive you've given M. a tremendous boost in her demands for standard tech. Completely ruthless." (And the letter continues for 3 pages more!)

On C/S Courses the auditor learns Ron's tech on the mind, cases and C/Sing.

On C/S Interneships the tech is put into practice under the supervision of skilled Flag C/Ses. The interne C/Ses actual sessions and cases until proven competent and completely standard.

The Flag Senior C/S Course is interned directly under the Class XII Flag Senior C/S.

FLAG DELIVERS ALL TRAINING SERVICES of Dianetics and Scientology including auditor training courses and interneships and C/S courses and interneships. From the Student Hat and Basic Dianetic Books Course through Class IX. (Class X, XI and XII training for auditors who deliver the famous L-10, L-11 and L-12, are available only to Flag Sea Org staff.)

There isn't some special action or special data that makes Flag training and interneships so good.

The secret of Flag's courses and interneships is the uncompromising standards, the insistence that Ron's tech be understood and applied standardly. This goes for study, TRs, drills, metering, in auditing itself, in coaching, right down to the running of courses.

That is why the Flag Land Base is the mecca for those who seek technical perfection.

It's 10:45 p.m. and most of Florida has retired for the night.

Back on the 10th floor, the supervisors have given a "that's it" for study and students straighten up the course rooms in preparation for night muster. Theory and practical courses get together and call for wins of the day. One student explains she finally got that meter drill right when she found the basic she'd been missing. Another student raves he is having phenomenal results by honestly looking up words (which he hadn't done before Flag). Several share amazing personal wins they've had from really understanding some piece of Scientology tech.

Up on the Mezzanine, Internes go over their wins and results of the day. You might hear comments like these actual wins from internes:

"Passed TV demo for general TRs. This cleared up a chunk of a pc problem I'd had for 18 years . . . got some missing data that totally blew my confusion."

"Well, I really went through the Valley of Despair over my E-Meter handling, but came out the other side. I know, without a doubt, that THIS IS THE PLACE TO FINALLY GET IT!"

PEOPLE AT THE FLAG LAND BASE

BARBARA AND IAN RINDER of Adelaide, Australia, are truly an example of using Scientology in life. Since they first were introduced to Scientology in 1961, they have used the technology to create a very successful home life with four children, businesses and to get themselves up the Bridge! Barbara and Ian used a successful formula of building up a business from nothing to wild success, then selling it to go to Saint Hill for services. With that formula they got themselves Clear and OT and through the Dianetics Course. That is, until they hit upon their present business, "Bertie's" restaurant which they created from nothing and have made into a regular institution in Adelaide using many Scientology basics. Expansion now is in the plan for two more restaurants.

Barbara and Ian Rinder of Australia.

Ann Briscoe of Canada.

Why did they choose to come to Flag for services all the way from Australia? "We heard glowing reports about it," says Ian, "and about the excellence of service so we decided we'd come here." Says Barbara, "We decided we wanted the best for ourselves, the greatest service on the planet." "And Flag lives up to that," says Ian. "This is a true religious retreat." Barbara continues, "Aesthetically, a being is treated like a being. There is nothing to enturbulate a person. I like coming here and not having to handle anything, just get auditing. If anybody on the planet asked me where to go, I'd say Flag." Says Ian, "We even get good reception in the stores. People pick up that you're from a foreign country and ask if you're from the Fort Harrison and are genuinely pleased. And I find the Land Base is the sanest place I've ever been, it's totally predictable. The results are perfect. The auditing is so thorough, so professional. One thing I've noticed here is the TRs of the auditor are so natural. And the C/S is so accurate. Every session I could see me."

Leon Matthew of California, with Charity Roberts.

I FIRST CAME HERE on a visit. I was so impressed with what I saw I wanted to get services here. So I made arrangements . . ." In one trip to the Land Base, Leon Matthew got set-up auditing. On his next trip, he went from Solo on up to OT III Expanded! Leon was very successful in mushroom farming, recently bringing it into Power and selling it to retire.

Really get your case handled. You'll fly!

With Flag Auditing (spiritual counselling) you can be certain of real case handling, superlative handling like you've never had before!

There are three important ingredients that make Flag Auditing so good.

First, the programming and case supervision are the very best. The C/Ses know Ron's tech forward and backward. And they know how to apply it correctly to get the expected phenomenal results with auditing.

Another aspect of Flag C/Sing is when they handle something on your case they really HANDLE it, from every angle and with all the standard tech "tools" Ron has given.

That's why you hear so many Flag pcs comment on the "spot-on C/Sing," and on how the C/S seems to pick up things and handle them sometimes even before the pc was aware of that aspect of his case.

Another key ingredient of Flag auditing is of course the auditing itself. Flag Auditor's (Minister's) TRs are completely smooth and natural, leaving the pc free to confront and handle bank. Some preclears have described Flag Auditing as completely natural and comfortable, like talking with an old friend with incredibly high ARC and understanding.

As with C/Sing, in auditing you can be sure things will be HANDLED. If there is a confusion, misunderstood or bother, it is usually picked up immediately by the auditor and handled so the session can continue without distraction.

The result? Just what can be expected from smooth and standard application of Standard Tech: incredible case handling and case gains.

The other factor is the environment. Auditing requires a safe environment without enturbulation or distractions. Everything at the Land Base is designed to provide you with a friendly, calm, in-ethics, distraction-free space. Plus, you are away from the daily grind and hassles. You're not leaving session only to confront rush hour traffic. You can relax, enjoy meals that are cooked and served for you, have your room cleaned, get plenty of rest.

The quality of C/Sing and Auditing, the environment; these things combine to make Flag Auditing a lot faster, smoother and more effective.

Get your case really handled, at the Flag Land Base.

You may wish to take one or more of the special Flag Rundowns, such as L-10, L-11, L-12 or the New Vitality Rundown. Or you may wish to get case clean-up. Or move up the Grade Chart.

Welcome to a safe and friendly place...

Welcome to the Flag Land Base! Enjoy a beautiful, friendly and peaceful place while you partake of the best in Dianetics and Scientology training and auditing. Or while you treat yourself to a marvelous vacation! (Yes, Scientologists can come to the Flag Land Base just to visit and vacation.)

From the moment the Motor Pool driver meets you at the graceful, modern Tampa Airport the Accommodations staff work to see to your comfort and enjoyment.

Consider, when you step through the front doors of the Fort Harrison — home of the Land Base — that you have arrived at your second home. The graceful 11-storey main building, with its modern cabana wings and lush garden and pool area, make an aesthetic as well as comfortable "home."

You can settle in immediately to a comfortable room. You have your choice of a variety, from the most lavish and spacious suites to cozy privacy. The suites are great if you want to entertain, some have full kitchens if you enjoy cooking and they have plenty of space if you like a lot of elbow room.

All the rooms are comfortable, with thick shag carpeting, color TV, private bath (some suites have two), individually controlled air conditioning/heating.

There's a wide choice of things to do around the Land Base between sessions or in free time.

During the day, a popular spot is the lawn and pool area. You'll find people sunbathing on the lawn chairs, playing shuffleboard, swimming in the azure pool.

Then there's the comfortable Guest Lounge. Here you'll find games, table tennis, magazines and books. And plenty of space for you to relax and read, talk, play chess (or checkers or backgammon). Each afternoon and evening, there is a playing of one of Ron's tapes. Throughout the week there are talks organized by fellow Scientologists about their professions, parties, get- togethers for those who wish to attend.

The meals are a pleasure in the Hour Glass Dining Room. The famous Abdel makes sure you are well taken care of. To take the edge off afternoon and evening hunger, there are snacks provided in the Hour Glass.

Your fare is planned for tastiness and sound nutrition. And special diets can be accommodated at a small additional donation.

When you have a day off from course, or your Auditor has a day off, you can join one of the many excursions. You might see Disneyworld, go gliding, deep sea fishing, visit Cape Kennedy.

If you are planning a stay at the Land Base, either for services or as a vacation, you should make reservations in advance. The better rooms are booked months in advance so it is wise to make arrangements early.

Suggested donations for rooms range from about $20.00 per day on up.

Contact the Accommodations Counsellor at the Flag Land Base to reserve your suite or room or for more information. (Or contact your nearest Flag Service Consultant.) Addresses are on page 2.

when he went to see "what this is all about" that his son was involved in. "After I got into Scientology I became friends with my son. In fact, the whole family became friends. Before we had been at loggerheads with each other."

Doing Clear and OT Levels in the peaceful space of the Land Base has its advantages. "I couldn't have found a better place to come. When it is said it's the friendliest place and most beautiful space, they are so right! The ethics level is so high you don't have any counter actions or outside enturbulation. It's just so clean. Of course the service has been wonderful and everyone has been so helpful. I feel perfectly safe auditing in my room, or being audited. I really couldn't recommend it more highly. Ron's tech is so much in here. It shows with the people in their feelings. The staff, and everyone, are so happy!"

ANNE BRISCOE IS a perfectly charming lady who presently resides in the more wild section of western Canada in the town of Kamloops. Anne knew she had found what she was looking for when she found Scientology five years ago. And she knew when she arrived at the Flag Land Base in 1977 that "This is a home for me!" She has done the New Vitality Rundown, general Flag Auditing, Power and Power Plus and L-10 at the Land Base, and plans to come back for training and Clear late in 1978.

"The New Vitality Rundown was a completion; I had every win it was possible for a being to have. I got rid of a bushel of engrams in one fell swoop. In my general auditing, we cleaned up everything, and we did it in no time flat. I'm on L-10 now and it's getting better each day! I don't feel a day more than 35! I've had more than I expected, and I'm not finished! There is no comparison to Flag auditing! Flag Land Base has everything and a great deal more than I ever heretofore experienced. This is just ideal. One would have to experience it to appreciate it as I do!"

mathematics, they used zero as a constant[2] and yet it was a variable. You would have to have qualified every zero in a mathematical formula perfectly before you could have used zero as a constant. Any time they reached up into upper ranges of mathematics, they would have come a cropper, wouldn't they. And so they did. Because they had zeros in the line and these zeros do not happen to be absolutes at all. They are qualified zeros; they are zero of something in the first place, at a position, in a time. This is why mathematics has never really advanced beyond the kindergarten stage on this planet. They just didn't have a definition of zero. Well, they do now!

A static is not something in an equilibrium of forces, the way you were taught in your high school text or college text. It is not something in an equilibrium of forces by its own definition because something cannot be in an equilibrium of forces in this universe and still exist.

When you are trying to explain things to an engineer, he is liable to point out to you, "Now look, if you put a brick right there on that flat surface, it is being held up by Earth, you see, on the flat surface, and is being pulled down by gravity and it is therefore in an equilibrium of forces."

"Oh no," you say, "Didn't you ever study astronomy?"

"What's astronomy got to do with it?" the fellow says.

Well, nothing except that brick which is sitting on that table is moving in eight different directions at enormous velocities. Any object on the face of Earth is moving in eight separate, different directions. To take the main vectors of motion on this planet, there is the precession of the planet, its orbital course, and its turn-around every day so the sun can come up and go down — that's the main one. And just with that last one, this brick that he said was a static, is traveling about 1,000 miles an hour. Well, that doesn't look very static to me or thee, does it?

An absolute zero would be something which would fulfill all these categories: no mass, no wave length, no time, no position. So if you find somebody having an awfully hard time and he keeps exteriorizing into 1812, don't be too upset. If he were a true static he would not only be in 1812, he wouldn't be there either. But he would still be able to communicate with his body and do other things because the static, which we call a thetan and call life, is something which can make considerations and generate a sufficient quantity of energy just by changing its mind.

How far off physics was! It thought that there was such a thing as a conservation of energy, that you couldn't create new energy, it was all old energy. I don't know where they got this idea. By changing its mind a thetan can create energy. This being a "physical impossibility" by the current textbooks it has a tendency to be completely overlooked and never viewed, even vaguely.

A thetan can create energy. He can create energy so markedly and so definitely that you can test it on a meter.

What energy is it? Is it the energy of the mind as different from the energy of the physical universe? I'm afraid not. The energy of the mind is thinner when created by most thetans before they're in good shape, it's much thinner than this old stuff called Mest. That's about the only difference.

Now, maybe that stretches your credulity. We don't ask you to stretch your credulity. The old Theta-Mest theory was just a theory, thrown in there to test things. It was stated that a static or theta (we didn't have the term thetan at that time) was something that was motionless. And Mest was simply a solid, an all-motion thing which had become solid. In other words, here we had a no-motion thing against an all-motion thing.

Let's go a little bit further and go over communication. A communication is as good as it is a straight wire strung between Cause and Effect. And it is as bad as it has to go through relay points. It is as good as it is just Cause to Effect. It is as bad as it is Cause to to Sub-cause—Sub-cause—Sub-cause—Sub-effect—Sub-effect—Sub-effect—Effect. It gets complicated. You have to use old energy to do it and you have to do all sorts of weird things.

When you've got enough sub-causes and sub-effects intervening between a Cause and Effect you have a solid. You get such a tangled ball of energy that everybody has lost track of where the Cause was in the first place and where the Effect was. It is like some kitten sitting down trying to untangle a ball of string. He will give up trying to untangle it and he will just bat it. It will get in his claws, he will try to separate it out and it will get all over the floor.

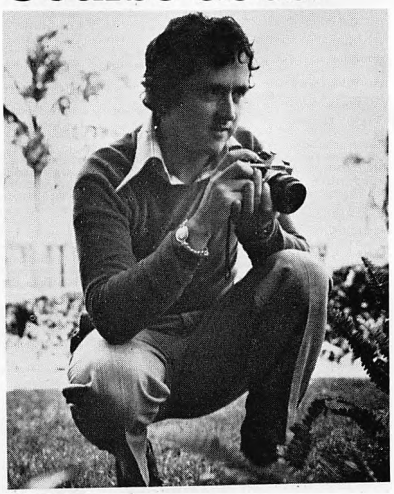

A solid is simply made up of these vias. It is no longer a straight line. And that is what a ridge is. People will tell you about heavy energy masses they get on their faces. They get all sorts of deposits in their body, they get arthritis. What are all these things? It is simply a case of too many vias. And that, of course, makes a problem, which is simply: what is cause and what is effect? Thus you get a solid.

A solid is not a straight, understandable, locatable communication line from Cause to Effect.

A preclear who is in rough shape is a ball of energy which has a lot of sub-causes and sub-effects so twisted up and so jammed in together with so many vias on this communication line that he can no longer find the beginning and end of it. (continued on page 20)

2. Constant, a quantity that always has the same value.

"You have to learn how to handle other people and situations on other dynamics. That's very much what the Flag Hard TRs Course does!"

HUBERT HELLER, OT III, Class VI Prov., Professional Photographer:

I've done a lot of TRs, but never really got my TRs in. I felt if I came and really learned to do TRs this would greatly help me in auditing and in life. I got what I thought I'd get and a lot more!

When you're OT you get rid of your own aberrations. But after that you have to learn how to handle other people and how to handle situations on other dynamics. And that's very much what the Flag Hard TRs Course does.

One thing is handling originations. It is so important in life to handle originations people come up with or they get upset.

My intention can now cut through anything, any counter-postulate, any counter-effort, and I know I can get what I want.

I'm much more willing to handle other people.

I had hundreds of cognitions. This course will change the life of anyone who does it!

This course was just one big adventure! It's like you're looking for a treasure chest. You've got the map — that's the tech. You take away all those additives you've been buried under. You get to the end and the treasure is . . . you! You see then how simple it is but how complicated you've been making it!

Here at Flag Ron's tech is really being duplicated, 100 per cent!

The Flag Hard TRs Course is available to any Scientologist! The only prerequisite is Flag C/S OK to do TRs.

Donation is $1,000.

For more information, or to advance schedule for course, contact the Flag Land Base Letter Registrar. Address is on page 2.

Auditors, Solo Auditors: You should have two E-Meters.

The E-Meter is an essential companion to every auditor (minister), whether an auditor auditing others or a solo auditor. It is a religious artifact used by Ministers of the Church to measure the state and change of state in a preclear.

Your Meter is so important, per a recent bulletin (HCOB 4 December 1977) you need a second, spare E-Meter for a properly set-up session.

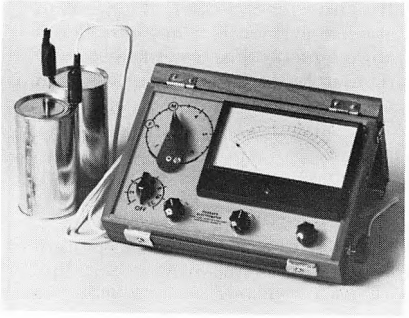

Make sure you have an E-Meter, and a spare, to hand when you need!

Order your E-Meter, or your second Meter, today from the Bookstore Officer at the Flag Land Base. Address is on page 2.

An E-Meter, made to the exact specifications of Ron, will be shipped to you with leads, cans, charging cord and calibration resistors.

Price is $325.00. Membership discount applies.

(Only Scientology auditors and auditors-in-training may own an E-Meter.)

(If unavailable, order from your Publications Org: 4833 Fountain Ave., East Annex, Los Angeles, Calif. 90029; or Jernbanegade 6, 1608 Copenhagen V, Denmark.)

Communication and Interest

What has this got to do with two-way communication? Well, it has a lot to do with two-way communication because you're talking to somebody who has gotten onto the Mest side of the Theta-Mest theory.

Theta could be said to be the solver of problems and a perfect solution is a static. When you as an auditor entered, it was a bunch of vias.

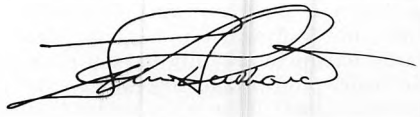

Theta-Mest theory is something you should understand very clearly. Theta is classified, qualified and defined as a static. A thetan is not quite a pure static. He does have location, he does have a position in time. And if he gets this adjusted so that he is in present time and so forth, he feels pretty alert and pretty confident. Normally, thetans count on bodies to keep them in present time and keep them in contact with the various aspects of existence.

Mest simply means Matter, Energy, Space and Time, which is the material universe. It is composed of a bunch of communication lines of various kinds and a bunch of space which consists of anchor points which are fairly solid and from which has been lost, so it will persist, the Cause point.

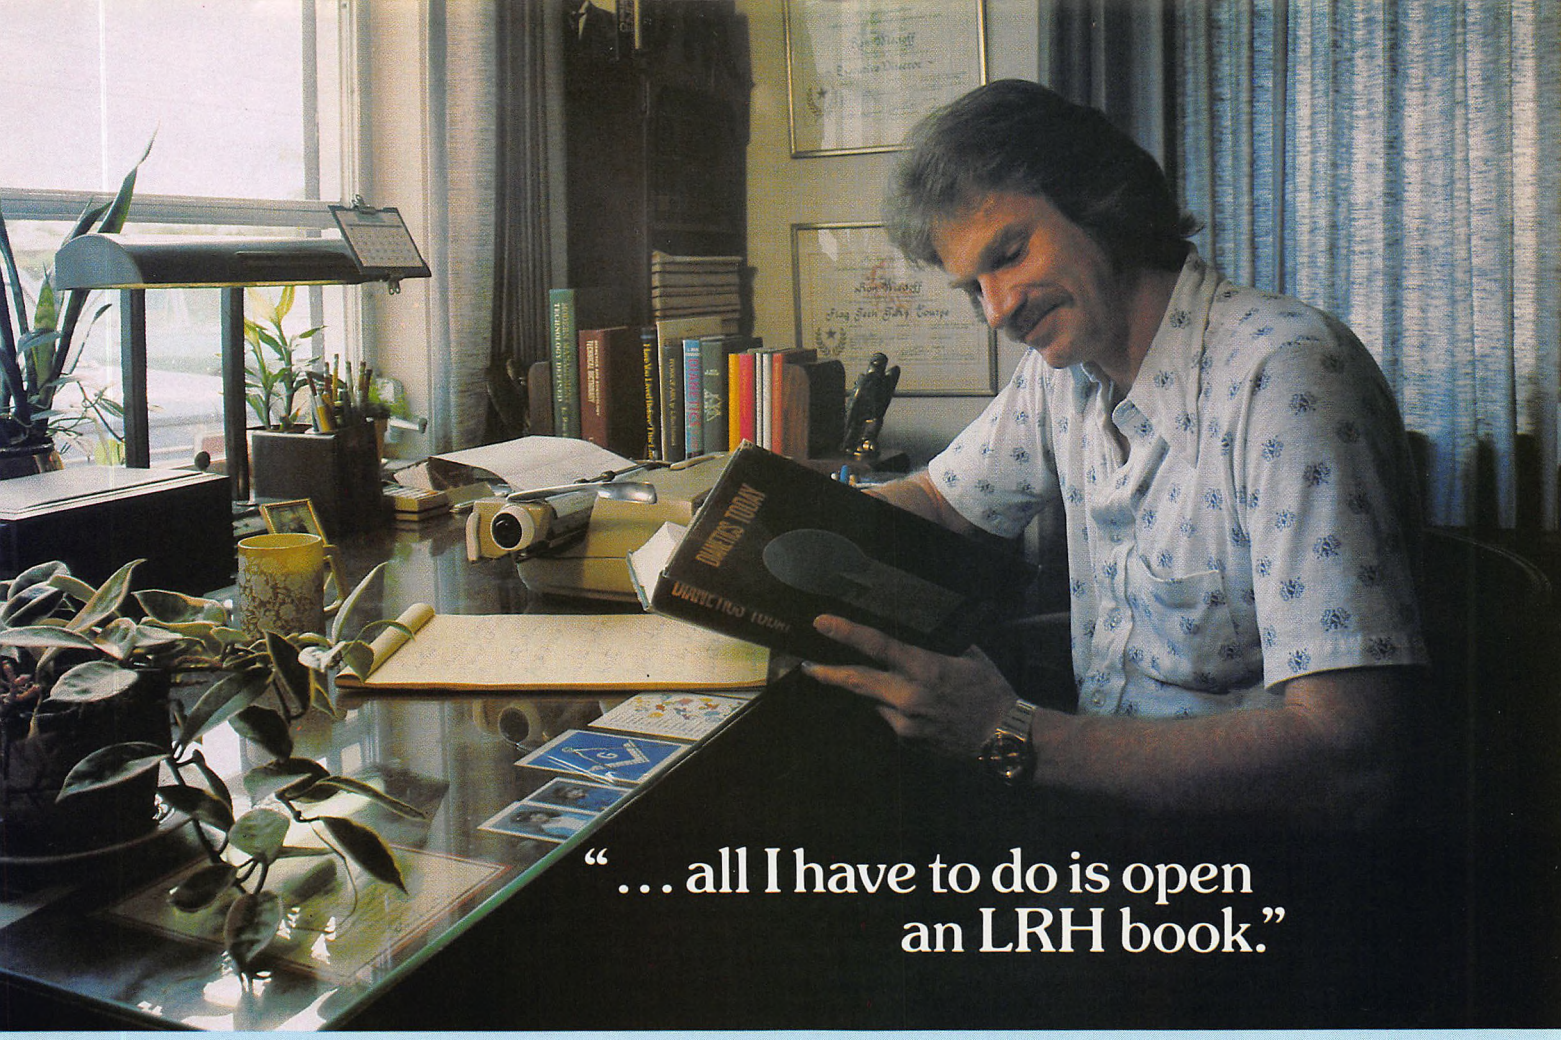

Theta-Mest theory of Fall 1950 can be reinterpreted today for an auditor for the purposes of two-way communication this way: a thetan is the solver of problems and Mest is the problem. If we classify it in this way we will understand very clearly what our preclear is all about. The auditor is being theta, the preclear is being mest. Interesting, isn't it? And only because we are making it possible for this preclear to straighten out communication lines do we have any business auditing at all.

So as a preclear gets his communication lines straighter and straighter he becomes more of a solver of problems and less the problem. And so he himself ceases to be a problem to himself, to his environment and to his auditor. And he ceases to go gimping around on crutches or some such thing, being interesting.

That is the whole trick of auditing.

This article is from Ron's lecture "Two-Way Communication" given 6 October 1954 at the 8th Advanced Clinical Course. The lecture is available on reel-to-reel tape, including on the second side of the reel the lecture "Basic Elements of Processing." You can obtain both lectures by ordering Reel Number 548ACC 3/4 from the Flag Land Base Bookstore (address on page 2). Price: $50 for two lectures, one reel. Membership discount applies. (If unavailable, order direct from Publications Organization, Jernbanegade 6, 1608 Copenhagen V, Denmark.)

Books by L. Ron Hubbard make it easy to use Scientology in daily life

"Throughout all of my training and auditing I have, of course, had tremendous wins and have become more causative and more able, whether it be in the work-a-day world or in just plain livingness.

"But what about that time period between training and auditing cycles? Books by Ron, that's what!

"I have had tremendous gains by reading, for instance, The Phoenix Lectures. To name one success example, to read, duplicate and apply the data on time and the Four Conditions of Existence has given me a tremendous advantage in operating in the physical universe. To know what time really is and to know what certain conditions do exist is being causative, and allows me to make more and more cycles go right.

"Another example would be using the DEI (Desire, Enforce, Inhibit) to CDEI (Curiosity, Desire, Enforce, Inhibit) Scale from the book Scientology 0-8. I have used this scale very successfully in sales.

"If I have not covered needed data on a particular course I've taken, then the way out is still there; all I have to do is open an LRH book!

"Thank you Ron for being you and doing what you did so all of us can have the tech we so vitally need."
