EDITORIAL

Readers already familiar with earlier volumes of the UFO REGISTER may be surprised at the length of the present issue and the fact that, on this occasion, parts one and two which are normally separate, are here amalgamated. A quick glance at the contents listed above will show that the articles by Farish, Mansell, and Howard are scarcely long enough on their own to collectively form one of the two parts of this journal issued annually until this year, and that the Synopsis of the Great World-Wide UFO Wave of 1973 is, conversely, of almost inordinate length. The reason for this latter circumstance lies in the fact that the total number of ufo reports --- many of them of the highest importance --- accumulated for 1973 attained such large proportions that nothing short of the present length appeared to do justice to this remarkable year. It should thus become readily apparent that there has been virtually no way in which to avoid the creation of an issue as large as the present one. The appearance of so large an issue should, of course, be regarded as exceptional in a period when economies and ever-rising costs have become common-place. Nonetheless, Data Research has felt that, despite such general restraits, the high production costs that an issue as large as this inevitably entails should not be allowed to over-ride the necessity to present the ufo phenomenon for 1973 in as complete and comprehensive a manner as was reasonably possible. In other words, if the ufo record just so happened to be especially complex or abundant in 1973 (the year selected on this occasion for study), then the length of this journal should be cut accordingly.

As in previous years, Data Research continued to be heavily committed to the in-depth investigation of the ufo phenomenon throughout 1973 and 1974, and maintained widespread liaison on ufological matters with interested researchers and investigative bodies throughout the world. The large-scale synopsis of the 1973 ufo activity just alluded to amply reflects this collaboration. Exchange of information was also maintained, and also begun with new and/or hitherto uncontacted individuals and organizations. Simultaneously, a library of ufo photographs was started with a view to the compilation of a catalogue of these frequently intriguing lines of "evidence" and the creation of a permanent display unit enabling the exhibition of such photographs at meetings and lectures.

Since the last issue of this journal appeared, Data Research has regrettably lost the services of John Loveridge, to whom our grateful thanks are due for all the sterling work he undertook during his spell with us, but gained the services of Eddie Cox and Leslie Dudley. Of these, Eddie has managed after an immense of hard and tedious work to put very considerable library into usable order and will henceforth maintain the collection by acting as our librarian. Leslie, a serving member of the R.A.F., has already made significant contributions in various areas of research and will undoubtedly prove to be a valuable member in the already much over-worked Data Research Indeed, there are numerous occasions when the team, as a body, wishes that ufos would go away for a while in order to allow it to catch up the numerous backlogging tasks that still await its attention.

All readers interested to see historical ufo reports recorded will welcome the latest installment of Lucius Farish's now well-established annual catalogue printed on pages 3 o 6 herein, and will doubtless be glad to know that the unpleasant incident from 1886 dealt with by Derek N.Mansell has been "reopened" insofar as correspondence has been exchanged with the American Consulate and hospitals in Maracaibo in an effort to discover any records of the case that may have survived from the year in question. In due course, and dependent upon the outcome of Mr Mansell's investigations, hope to bring readers additional details of this now old but certainly very intriguing case.

The vast number of reports comprising the 1973 ufo "flap" forming the main feature in issue are admittedly of uneven quality --- from the detailed to the sparsely detailed. Nevertheless, they collective constitute an astonishing record and serve to indicate the true magnitude of that "flap", which, so far as printed accounts are concerned, has never previously been properly highlighted. The article, with its numerous individual cases, will presumably form a reasonable basis for others to conduct further researches, such as the application of the important "Law of the Times" (outined in part 2 of volume 4 of this journal (1973), pp.7-15), or an extension of Gordon Creighton's well-known catalogue of "animal reactions in relation to ufo manifestations" as published in several past issues of Flying Studies of the individual landing and occupant cases (of which there are many) should also prove highly interesting, and ought to be extended from the excellent start made on this aspect of the 1973 ufo phenomenon by Webb (see "1973 - The Year of the Humanoids").

The earlier (1972) events at Toledo in Oregon, forming the subject of J.Francyl Howard's article, represent another extraordinary link in the now lengthy chain of near unbelievable episodes littering the ufo story down the years. Yet, the occurrences Toledo, weird though they were, differ very little in degree of "strangeness" from many others reported elsewhere in such serious ufo journals as Flying Saucer Review, Canadian UFO Report, and Phenomenes Spatiaux. It is nonetheless strange that is series of truly remarkable events, although publish in several American papers, seem to have remained unknown to the main body of ufo researchers in general, this being in fact one of the principal reasons for publishing the present account . Howard personally investigated and interviewed many of the witnesses involved, thereby lending particular value to the resulting report.

Finally, readers of the last issue of the REGISTER (vol.4, p .2, 1973, p.3) should note that the date of 1971 cited for ufo landing at Moron, Spain, ought to have been 1972. The real date was May 11th., 1972. This emends the record.

A CATALOGUE OF HISTORICAL UFO REPORTS: PART THREE,

by

Lucius Farish.

(In part two of volume three of this journal, and in part one of volume four of this journal, installments were published of a detailed catalogue of incidents involving ufos or ufo-like phenomena antedating 1947 --- the year in which the modern ufo saga may be said to have generally begun. We now present the third part of this catalogue, which, like the preceding parts, retains the original wording of the various accounts as far as possible and furnishes the sources from which the listed incidents have been extracted.

Although the author has amassed huge numbers of additional historical incidents which will be detailed in future installments of this catalogue, he cordially invites all readers who come across old accounts in this category to forward copies or details of them to him, either via Data Research's headquarters at Cumnor, or direct to home on Route One, Plumerville, Arkansas 72127, USA. All such contributions will be gratefully received and duly acknowledged: ED.)

Incident 41: AD.1253. At Alveston, England, on the night of October 14th, the following phenomenon was seen in the sky:

> "About the hour of vaspers the sky being clear, suddenly a large bright star appeared out of a black cloud with two smaller stars in the vicinity. A battle royal soon commenced, the small stars charging the great star again and again, so that it began to diminish in size, and sparks of fire fell from the combatants. This continued for a considerable time, and at last, the spectators, stupified by fear and wonder, and ignorant of what it might portend, fled".

Reported to Burton Abbey by one Nicholas of Findern, according to a letter to the editor of the Derby Evening Telegraph of August 26th., 1965.

Incident 42: AD.1385. In John Malvern's Continuator of Higden's Polychronicon we read that:

> "...on the fifteenth day of July, at London and likewise at Dover, there appeared after sunset a kind of fire in the shape of a head in the south part of the heavens, stretching out to the northern quarter, which flew away, dividing itself into three parts, and travelled in the air like a bird of the woods in flight. At they joined in one and suddenly disappeared".

(Quoted by John Cleary-Baker in BUFORA Journal, Spring/Summer 1971)

Incident 43: AD.1639. In March of this year, James Everall, "a sober, discreet man", was crossing the Muddy River near Boston, Massachusetts, with two other men. At approximately 10.00p.m., they saw a "great light" hanging stationary in the sky. It seemed square or oblong in shape and appeared to be about nine feet across. The light then moved swiftly towards Charleston, Mass., and came back near the observers. The light continued its maneuvers for more than two hours, hile the observers huddled in their boat in fright. When the light finally disappeared, the men found that their boat was further upstream than when they first sighted the light. Some force seemed to have pushed them back against the tide. The same light was seen by several other persons in the Boston area.

(INFO Journal, vol.1, no:3, "John Winthrop and UFOs in Colonial New England" by Andrew Rothovius, quoting from John Winthrop's "Journal")

Incident 44: AD.1644. A globe of light, about the size of the full moon, was seen rising from the northeastern sea horizon by many people on the Boston, Massachusetts, waterfront. This occurred about 8.00pm. on January 18th. Shortly after the sighting of the first globe, a second one was seen to approach from the east. The two lights converged over Noddle's Island in Boston harbour. Then began a game of "tag" between the lights; as they chased each other, "sparkles of light" were occasionally emitted from them. At this same time, people in boats on the water between Boston and Dorchester heard a voice from the sky saying "Boy, boy, come away, come away". The witnesses, all described as "sober and godly" people, claimed they heard the voice about 20 times, seemingly coming from various directions. The voice seemed to be at a great distance and repeated its beckoning call in "a most dreadful manner". The lights were seen again a week later and a week following that, when the voices were again heard repeating their ghostly call.
(same source as for incident 43)

Incident 45: AD.1783. At Leicester, England, on an unspecified date in this year, observers saw, at about 9.00pm. on a Monday, "a most uncommon phenomenon" which they described as a "globe of fire, apparently about the size of the moon in full, with a tail of several yeards, like that of a comet, and seemingly not more than forty yards above the tops of the houses..." As it passed over the town, "its motion did not appear swift, nor the colour of the flame red and terrifying, nor was it accompanied with any extraordinary heat in the atmosphere, nor any rumbling noise". The fire was described as being of a "liquid pearl colour" and was very beautiful.

Observers in Nottingham simultaneously saw a large ball of fire which "moved first horizontally and with incredible velocity. It afterwards passed in an oblique direction upwards, when it burst into a number of parts". A great hissing noise and a noise like remote thunder was heard in connection with the object.
(Source: Letter to the London Daily Mirror, of August 4th., 1967, quoting an unnamed newspaper of 1783)

Incident 46: AD.1819. At Amherst, Massachusetts, on the evening of August 13th, between 8 and 9 o'clock, a brilliant white fireball was seen to fall from the sky. It was subsequently examined by Rufus Graves, a former lecturer of chemistry at Dartmouth College. The object was circular and resembled a solid dish. It was about eight inches in diameter and one inch in thickness. The colour was bright buff, with a fine nap on the surface which resembled milled cloth. The nap was removed, revealing a buff-coloured pulpy substance, similar in consistency to soft soap. It had an offensive and suffocating smell which produced nausea and giddiness. Upon exposure to the air for a few minutes, the substance changed colour until it resembled venous blood. A sample was placed in a tumbler where it soon liquified and formed a substance which closely resembled starch. The tumbler was left undisturbed for two or three days, after which, upon examination, all the substance was found to have evaporated, leaving "a fine ash coloured powder, without taste or smell". It was subjected to concentrated and diluted solutions of muriatic and nitric acids, but no change could be observed. Upon adding concentrated sulphuric acid, "a violent effervescence ensued, a gas was evolved, and the whole substance nearly dissolved".

(Annual Register for 1821)

Incident 47: AD.1844. On October 22nd., about 30 miles south of Montreal, Canada, a strange cloud was seen in the northern hemisphere about 10.00 o'clock in the evening. "It stood like a great arch, resting its pillars on the earth, while a magnificent circle towered into the heavens. The upper and lower sides of the cloud had a silver lining that increased in brilliance, and from this bright circle proceeded innumerable jets of flame. These pillars of fire, leaving their position in the north, commenced to move forward like a grand army and filled the whole hemisphere in every direction. They appeared to touch the earth and move upon its surface with their base, while their heads reached far up into the heavens, and in connection with their movement there issued from them a strange sound, and while they moved back and forth, sometimes passing between me and others that viewed the sight, we could even feel the moving of the warm air as it brushed by us. Some of the people were terrified, believing that the day of judgment had come. We watched it all night until next morning, when it rose up from the earth and finally disappeared".
(Source: "A Phenomenon", by Elder W.J.Bursell, printed in an unnamed publication)

Incident 48: AD.1855. On the night of August 11th, at Petworth, Sussex, England, a red object was seen to rise from behind distant hills at 11.30pm. Projections like spokes of a wheel or "stationary rays" were visible as the object rose slowly into the sky. It remained visible for 1½ hours, after which time it slowly diminished. These "spokes" or "rays" were also of a red colour.

Incident AD.1856. An Irish observer reported that on the night of July 30th., at about 10.30pm., he and a friend saw "a globe of fire as large as a good-sized orange, with a broad tail of light extending about 18 inches from the body". The witnesses were standing near the "salmon-weir, on the platform before the mills of Corbally". The object was seen for an hour after it rose up from behind a mountain. It appeared again on each of the two succeeding nights, and was watched for nearly three hours on the final occasion.
(Notes Queries for August 9th., 1856, quoting the London Times of August 5th., 1856, which was itself quoting from the Limerick (Ireland) Observer of August 2nd., 1856)

Incident 50: AD.1869. At Adamstown, in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, at noon on August 7th., a "most singular phenomenon" was observed. "About 200 yards north of the village...a luminous body was seen to settle near the center (sic) of (an open) lot". It took on took on a square shape and shot up into a column "about 3 or 4 feet in height and about 2 feet in thickness". In the sunlight, the object glinted "like a column of burnished silver". Upon reaching full brightness, it gradually faded away and entirely disappeared in 10 minutes. After it had vanished a number of people examined the spot where it had been, but nothing unusual could be found. It was noted that similar objects had been seen in that area previously, but never before in daylight hours. There were no swamps nearby, so

* "Flying Saucers From the Moon".

marsh gas did not seem a likely explanation.
(Reading (Pennsylvania) Eagle, August 14th., 1869).

Apart from bemoaning the fact that no records appear to have been kept of these earlier ufo-like events at or near Adamstown, it is surely nonetheless relevant when reviewing this incident to note that on precisely the same day other strange aerial events involving parallel lines of moving bodies were seen during the solar eclipse that took place on that date crossing the solar and lunar discs. Observations of these objects were made from Mattoon, Illinois, from Ottumwa, Iowa, and from Shelleyville, Kentucky. And at the same time in St.Paul's Junction, also in Iowa, an unknown crescentically illuminated body was seen in space near the Sun and the Moon. Further details of these observations are furnished by Fort in "New Lands" (Sphere Books edition, p.98-9), where the original sources are cited.

Certainly many peculiar things seem to have happened in Earth's skies or in the vicinity of Earth on August 7th., 1869. This fact should serve to stimulate investigators into researching all known records (scientific as well as newspaper) for that date and the weeks immediately following, in order that additional facts (if present) can be amassed for what unquestionably was a most interesting interlude in North American history.

A NASTY EPISODE FROM 1886.

Attentive readers of Flying Saucer Review will recall the truly horrifying case of Joao Prestes described in part 2 of volume 19 (1973, pp.14-6). Readers may also be interested to learn that further investigations into this case are being made by Data Research headed by Derek Mansell, and that liaison about the affair with the secret biological research centre at Porton Down, Wiltshire, has shown that considerable interest in the case is being shown there too. In due course, it is hoped that further information on this thoroughly unpleasant episode, all properly confirmed and documented, can be laid before our readers. Meanwhile, we would draw readers' attention to another, not dissimilar, event of rather earlier date, which took place near Maracaibo, Venezuela in 1886. The original account of this case appeared in The Scientific American for December 18th., 1886, p.389, and takes the form of a letter, dated November 17th., sent to the editor of that journal by Warner Cowgill, the then U.S.Consul at Maracaibo. The printed account appears under the heading "Curious Phenomenon in Venezuela", and readsas follows:

"The following brief account of a recent strange meteorological occurrence may be of interest to your readers as an addition to the list of electrical eccentricities.

"During the night of the 24th of October last, which was rainy and tempestuous, a family of nine persons, sleeping in a hut a few leagues from Maracaibo, were awakened by a loud humming noise and a vivid, dazzling light, which brilliantly illuminated the interior of the house.

"The occupants, completely terror stricken, and believing, as they relate, that the end of the world had come, threw themselves on their knees and commenced to pray, but their devotions were almost immediately interrupted by violent vomitings, and extensive swellings commenced to appear in the upper part of their bodies, this being particularly noticeable about the face and lips.

"It is to be noted that the brilliant light was not accompanied by a sensation of heat, although there was a smoky appearance and a peculiar smell.

"The next morning the swellings had subsided, leaving upon the face and body large black blotches. No special pain was felt until the ninth day, when the skin peeled off, and these blotches were transformed into virulent raw sores.

"The hair of the head fell off upon the side which happened to be underneath when the phenomenon occurred, the same side of the body being, in all nine cases, the more seriously injured.

"The remarkable part of the occurrence was that the house was uninjured, all doors and windows being closed at the time.

"No trace of lightning could afterwards be observed in any part of the building, and all the sufferers unite in saying that there was no detonation, but only the loud humming already mentioned.

"Another curious attendant circumstance is that the trees around the house showed no signs of injury until the ninth day, when they suddenly withered, almost simultaneously with the development of the sores upon the bodies of the occupants of the house.

"This is perhaps mere coincidence, but it is remarkable that the same susceptibility to electrical effects, with the same lapse of time, should be observed in both animal and vegetable organisms.

"I have visited the sufferers, who are now in one of the hospitals of this city; and though their appearance is truly horrible, yet it is hoped that in no case will the injuries prove fatal".

Slight variants of this report have been presented in past issues of UFO Info, APRO Bulletin, and FSR Case Histories; but as those publications may be difficult to consult or even obtain for some readers, this astonishing account has been reprinted here. Although it is now nearly 90 years since this event occurred, correspondence on the matter has been sent by Data Research to hospitals and the US Consulate in Venezuela in the hope that further details of the case may be obtained from hopefully still extant files.

Comparison of this case with the earlier Joao Prestes (1946) and Steve Michalak (1967) incidents are, perhaps, inevitable. Like the Joao Prestes affair, this Venezuelan 1886 affair has no fully demonstrable connection with ufos in the sense that tangible alien "machines" were apparently involved --- just light of great intensity. On the other hand, Michalak approached too close to a landed "machine" conforming externally to one of the recognizable types of ufo, and some of the effects he afterwards suffered were very similar to those (or some of those) experienced by Joao Prestes and the nine Venezuelans mentioned above. The chronic nausea, persistent internal stench, the cutaneous blisters and blotches, and the sores, swellings, and horrible discoloration of Michalak's body (see SAGA's UFO Report, Spring, 1974, pp.68-70), all find parallels to varying extent in this 1886 case from Venezuela, and to a lesser extent in the Joao Prestes case.

The similar biological effects present in all these, and indeed several other, ufo incidents invite much deeper investigation than they have hitherto received, and it is to be hoped that properly qualified individuals will undertake such studies without delay. If ufos, or some ufos, are as dangerous to Man as the above described events indicate, then it is incumbent upon all interested parties to investigate these matters on a top priority basis. UFOs can be dangerous!

SYNOPSIS OF THE GREAT WORLD-WIDE UFO WAVE OF 1973,

Compiled from numerous sources

by

J.B.Delair.

Introduction:

By now, few readers of the ufo literature will be unaware that ufo activity during 1973 was unusually intense and of global distribution. Many readers will also know that this activity has since occasioned the publication of at least one book (1), a study of the landing reports (2), and several articles (3; 4; 5; 6; 7; and 8) which, although not reflecting the true magnitude of that activity, detail certain aspects of it. Despite these publications, however, and a general awareness among ufologists that 1973 was a "big" ufo year, the real extent of ufo activity then was actually much greater than any statement hitherto published about it has managed to indicate.

This synopsis endeavours to rectify that position by bringing together the very numerous, far-flung reports constituting our knowledge of this activity which it has been possible to locate. In this way it is hoped to disclose for the first time the true immensity of ufo activity during 1973.

Some Necessary Preliminaries:

The reports listed here, although collectively still very numerous, represent but a fraction of the total number of sightings believed to have been made in 1973. For example, references to "dozens", "scores", and even "hundreds" of sightings occur in many newspaper accounts of specific events. Such references are vague, but do at least indicate the enormous number of sightings made at certain localities in 1973. The Spring issue of SAGA's UFO REPORT (1974), p.46, for instance, refers to some 1000 sightings having been made in the first few months of 1973 around Dighton, Kansas, alone. The Autumn (1974) issue of the same magazine (p.71) mentions that no less than 1,388 "valid sightings" were made in Japan during 1973, "more than the total of the previous 10 years". Only a few Japanese reports are listed hereafter.

Few, if any, details of these vaguely referenced sightings have ever been published, and it is, in many cases, doubtful whether proper records were ever kept of them. It is similarly doubtful whether the contents of police blotters and provincial newspaper office daily-notebooks, two of the principal sources for first-hand ufo observations telephoned-in by eyewitnesses, have always been retained and filed. It is unlikely, therefore, that a very significant percentage of the total number of reported sightings for 1973 have even survived. And many more observations were doubtless never reported at all for fear of ridicule, etc.

Again, many researchers realizing early on the importance of the 1973 ufo "wave"collected much information about individual cases and ultimately accumulated large masses of data through interviewing witnesses and by other field methods. Much of that information has still to be properly processed, evaluated and released. Certainly, the greater part of it has not be accessible to Data Research, or, indeed, to any single body or organization concerned with monitoring total known ufo activity in 1973.

In combination, the above factors disclose that even the present summary is necessarily incomplete, and that even more detailed later ones will, to a certain extent, also be incomplete. Nevertheless, it is hoped that these few lines will stimul te those who hold as yet unpublished material to release it for eventual publication as soon as time and resources permit, for 1973 will undoubtedly go down in ufological annals as one of the largest "flap" years on record.

The Material:

Not unexpectedly, the present material is of highly variable quality, and often lacks critical elements. Many of the only known versions of a large percentage of the reports appear in newspaper accounts. It is instantly conceded that, on several counts, such sources are far from being scientifically ideal, although before condeming the use or acceptance of such sources critics ought first to remember that in many cases the newspaper accounts are the only ones we possess for study, and should then read Bowen's very interesting defense of this very same matter (9) published last year, when the validity of using such material was excellently argued.

Some cases, which have received wide or fairly wide coverage in earlier publications, have been presented by different writers offering conflicting statements about the same details. Inus, in a few instances, different dates have been ascribed by different writers to the same event, or the names of witnesses have changed somewhat from account to account. Where noticed, these are noted in the following catalogue. Every effort has been made to record all the ingredients of the catalogue correctly, although it must be immediately admitted that time and resources have not been sufficient to enable the facts of all cases to be fully confirmed and verified throughout.

The Presentation the Material Here:

Earlier volumes of this magazine have dealt with ufo reports for specific years on an analytical basis, but a deviation from that approach is followed here for a variety of reasons, not least of which has been the feeling that a mere series of tables and statistical information cannot really convey the true magnitude of the 1973 ufo "wave". At one stage it was considered advantageous to present the 1973 reports in much the same way as the late Dr Jessup compiled his important "UFO Annual" (10), but the abundance of the reports soon made such a possibility unworkable, for nothing short of an encyclopaedia-sized publication would have done justice to the 1973 reports had they been treated by that method. For better or for worse, therefore, the reports have been presented in skeleton outline only, so that only their salient features (which nevertheless, permit useful comparisons to be made) are recorded. Unless original reports are involved (and these are simply designated by the latter 'o') full references are given to the sources in which the published accounts of the cases originally appeared. These sources provide much fuller information about the cases listed.

All cases have been presented in chronological order, and, where possible, in temporal order too.

In addition to the above listed periodicals and associated organizations, grateful thanks are due to the following individuals who, in various ways, generously supplied details of sightings that might otherwise have remained unknown to the present writer, and who, collectively, furnished a great deal of valuable information.

Miss Susanne Stebbing, and messrs Kiril Terziev, Noel Rigau, Luigi Guarrera, Jacques Bonabot, Rudy de Groote, Vicente Juan Ballester-Olmos, Dr.Frank Salisbury, George Fawcett, Lucius Farish, Kurt Glemser, John Schuessler, Peter Rogerson, Brian Straight, George Stewart, John G.Williams, Rupert Drew, and the numerous Contact (UK) members who either submitted first-hand reports or sent in cuttings from local or provincial newspapers. Without such collaboration, much of the following catalogue could never have been compiled.

Some Final Notes:

British reports in the following catalogue have been recorded under the old (pre-April 1974) county arrangement, as the events they describe occurred when that arrangement was still in operation.

All reports have been awarded a separate reference number, arranged numerically. Even separate reports of apparently the same object have been treated as separate accounts meriting separate numbers as it can seldom be positively determined whether the same object. or whether several objects in a group (each manifesting itself briefly and independently of its companions), were actually observed. Several cases describing such effects are known. Again, different viewers of the same object positioned at different vantage points frequently describe it in quite different, even contrary or contradictory, terms. Thus, until some sensible method is devised whereby inconsistencies in separate descriptions of particular ufo manifestations can be rationalized satisfactorily, it seems best to accord such different accounts individual reference numbers on the chance that the accounts actually relate to a group of dissimilar objects, not all simultaneously visible, possibly observed at different individual stages of materialization and dematerialization by separate observers at different locations. Too many well documented cases in this particular category are on record for the possibility just outlined to be ignored or dismissed.

City, Indiana, USA, when they, too, saw 2 small silvery-suited entities like those reported by Mrs Carney (case 809). He then saw the same or closely similar entities in a ploughed field some 75 feet distant from him. Flatter turned his vehicle's spotlight on the beings, but had soon to turn it off because the entities turned their whole bodies towards him and caused such a light reflection (his own spotlight's) that he was nearly blinded. Flatter said that both entities had egg-shaped heads, and wore what looked like gasmasks provided with hoses running down to their chests. Their feet were square and had heels, and seemed to provide the motive power for slow or lazy jumping actions. On the final jump that Flatter observed, the entities flew off "like a helicopter in feet down position". Later, strange footprints were discovered in the field. Hartford City (Ind.) The object made a noise like a lawn-mower. 2 entities, 7-8 feet tall, were seen moving along a fence-line about 75 feet away from the witnesses, who were distant from the ufo by some 240 feet. Both entities had greenish-yellow eyes, long dark grey hair, and arms that hung almost to the ground. They seemed to communicate with each other by whining sounds. Rifle shots were fired at the larger entity, at which it moved its right hand up whereupon the ufo disappeared and the lawn-mower like sound ceased. The entities then walked slowly back into the woods nearby. Afterwards a state trooper and a ufo investigator who visited the site and interviewed the witnesses, noted several odd effects, especially with the farmer who went temporarily beserk. A powerful odour was also encountered, and the headlights of the farmer's car dimmed as he approached the ufo initially. The following report was inadvertently omitted from the main catalogue, and is here added to complete the December record. It has been accorded an "a" number to indicate its correct position in the overall list.

1126a. 7th. Early a.m. (exact hour ?). Two deer hunters camping at Steele Creek, near Bremond, Texas, USA, saw a tremendous ufo havering above them. One hunter fired his rifle at the object repeatedly, and could hear his bullets strike the underside of it with a metallic noise. The object then silently and swiftly rose straight up into the sky. S, Spring, 1975, p.69.

MONTHS UNCERTAIN:

1178: Date unknown (probably in late January or early February). Many people saw several globular lights on different occasions in the sky over Piedmont, and around Clearwater Lake near Piedmont, Missouri, USA, at very low altitude. One object at least was seen to enter the waters of Clearwater Lake, and another was seen to emerge from it. Medford Mail-Tribune, 26.3.1973; U, vol.18, no:5, 1973, p.14.

1179: Date unknown (but probably in January). Times unspecified. A cigar-shaped object, an orb-like object, and other undescribed objects were seen on various occasions near Melkbosch and at other localities in Cape Province, REP.SOUTH AFRICA. Sk., no:26, 1973, p.12.

1181: Date unknown (but before April: several different dates are involved). Time unspecified. Four squarish lights and many globular lights were seen by several observers in the sky over Katoomba, near Wentworth Falls, and at various localities in the Burragorang Valley, New South Wales, AUSTRALIA. Some photographs were taken of these objects. UFOIC Newsletter, no:38, 1973; U, vol.18, no:10, 1973, pp.12-13.

A couple driving near Fish Creek Bridge, located between Marlin and Bremond, Texas, USA, saw a bell-shaped object in the sky emitting a reddish-orange glow from its bottom area. It was poised over a large tree, situated close to an abandoned farmhouse on Highway 6. It then apparently dematerialized and, as suddenly, rematerialized, and followed the car driven along the road. S, Spring 1975, pp.68-69.

1188: Date unknown (probably in late November or early December). Night time (exact hour ?). Felix R.Luna, an 18-years old student, watched a triangular pattern of bright lights in the sky over the Brazos River Bridge, Texas, USA, and on another occasion saw, with his entire family, a brilliant light rising and falling in the sky over the same area until it disappeared at dawn. 1193: Date unknown (probably in December). Time unspecified. Alfred Conitz and his wife Helen, saw a flat pie-pan shaped object moving erratically in the sky from his home on the outskirts of Calvert, Texas, USA, for a period of about half an hour. It looked at one stage as if it intended landing, but, so far as the witnesses knew, it never did. S.Spring, 1975, p.69.

1194: Date unknown (but probably in December). Time unspecified. Reports were received from the Kings Ranch, approximately 75 miles S.of Calvert, Texas, USA, and situated in sparsely populated country, that many ufos were observed there "almost every night" for a while, and that numerous animals had mysteriously disappeared. The latter were mainly top quality cattle and thorough-bred horses. Other animals were found dead, although the causes of death were not apparently determined. S, Spring 1975,pp.69-70. This case should be compared with case 1115 in which valuable bulls were found dead after known ufo visitations in the Camargue region of France.

1195: Date unknown. Time unspecified. A driver near Gil, some 8 km.from Colonel Dorrego, Bahia Blanca, ARGENTINA, saw an unusual object (undescribed) in the sky that caused his car engine to fail, and which seems to have temporarily paralysed the percipient. These marks were not there the previous day, and greatly resembled similar marks associated with landed ufos elsewhere. No ufo was seen on this occasion. Sk, no:24, 1973, p.10.

Some Final Notes:

Readers who have worked their way through the foregoing reports will have realised that even that impressive body of testimony falls far short of the total number of ufo observations made during 1973. The remarks concerning the large numbers of sightings made in Japan and around Dighton, Kansas, to mention only two areas, made on page 8 supra, amply confirms this. There is absolutely no doubt at all that 1973 was one of the greatest ufo "flap" years we have yet recorded, the true magnitude of which may, for the reasons given on page 8 supra, never by fully known.

As this is not the place for an analysis of the 1973 reports, suffice here to remark that outstanding aspects of the overall record (as presently known to us) include the enormous number of landings (with and without occupants), the great increase in low level flights, and the obvious interest in plant and animal life on the part of ufonauts. One can only hope here that the present effort will encourage other researchers to conduct the analyses the 1973 material so clearly demands.

WEIRD PHENOMENA AT TOLEDO, OREGON, USA.

by

J.Francyl Howard

During the early days of March a succession of very strange happenings centred at or near the Douglas Reeves farm at Pioneer Mountain near Toledo, caused this otherwise quite normal family at the farm to abandon it, and to make other local residents to doubt their senses. The following information summarizes several of the many weird events that occurred during this period.

Pioneer Mountain, incidentally, is situated in a sparsely populated region between Toledo and Siletz in Oregon. Also, a total of some or persons claim to have witnessed extraordinary effects and aerial objects near the Reeves property so there can be little doubt that the undermentioned account describes events that really took place.

The beginning of the succession of events culminating in the Reeves' vacating of their farm began in early March when 16-years old Kathy Reeves, and a girl friend, were walking through woods near the farmhouse, when they glimpsed out of the corners of their eyes a fire apparently burning in an open section of ground cleared of trees only shortly before. Approaching closer, the two girls realized that the "fire" was really some type of object hovering only a few feet above ground level and which gave off a ruddy glow visible from some distance. The object appeared to be dome-shaped, with sparks and smoke flying outwards in all directions, almost as if the object was burning up. Somewhat frightened the two witnesses hurried homewards to fetch older relatives to confirm their sighting. But, hurrying now through the woods, they found themselves confronted with what appeared to be a large searchlight beacon. Thinking that they were the victims of a poor joke, the girls picked up stones and small rocks and threw them at the light's source. Suddenly, and without warning, they found themselves surrounded by identical lights, that seemed to be moving in on them from all sides. Near to panic, the girls now raced at top speed back to their farm to tell their parents.

Arriving at the Reeves' farm, the teenagers blurted out to Kathy's mother all that had befallen them. Kathy's mother, Evelyn Reeves, did not at first take the girls' story seriously, but then noted how extremely frightened they were and that they would not retract their story no matter how much she tried to get them to. After discussing the matter with her husband and the parents of the other girl, Mrs Reeves decided the best course was to keep silent about the events that had supposedly happened.

However, about midnight the same day, after everyone had retired to bed, Mrs Reeves was awakened from a sound sleep to find her bedroom filled with a strange pitched hum unlike anything she had previously heard. Rising to investigate, she was instantly attracted to a pulsating light shining through the curtains of the partly opened window. Drawing the curtains apart, the entire room was filled by a harsh glow emanating from what appeared to be a large object sitting in the yard outside. Suddenly the same glow filled all the rooms in the farmhouse, and likewise appearing from nowhere were strange doughnut shaped lights that seemed to be creeping up the very walls of their dwelling. By this time, the hum had increased in intensity and the doughnut shaped lights were rapidly increasing in numbers.

Grabbing a gun from a rack in the living room, Mr Reeves pointed it toward someone or "something" he thought he saw moving outside. Immediately the house sparkled anew with bright lights and many more "crawling lights" materialized on the walls. Indeed, for a while it seemed as though the Reeves family would be overwhelmed by literally hundreds of these weird lights.

Then the original reddish harsh glow gradually dimmed and disappeared, the humming sound fading away at the same time.

Realizing the unbelievable nature of their experiences, the Reeves family decided to remain silent about what they had seen and heard. As the days passed and no further similar events occurred, the Reeves began to forget about their strange experiences, and felt that they could again live normal existences. But their hopes were in vain.

After a while, however, the family began again to woken up about 2 or o' clock in the morning by a rosy filling the entire farmhouse which was so intense that one could "read a newspaper by it". These occurrences became so frequent and annoying that the Reeves boarded up their windows. This failed utterly to exclude the glow, and, worse still, the "crawling" doughnut-shaped lights returned in various rooms.

About this time, the Reeves decided it would be best to call in experienced ufo investigators. One, the percipient of weird ufo activity himself, later told how he had observed various disc-shaped lights flying in helter-skelter fashion through some trees in the Reeves's apple orchard. They flew at high speeds and produced an almost inaudible high-pitched hum.

Another witness, Max W.Taylor, a chemist with the Georgia-Pacific Corporation reported how he and a group of neighbours camped, at the request of the Reeves family, on their property in an effort to find a rational explanation of these amazing happenings. Originally skeptical, Taylor soon joined the ranks of believers when he, and his co-watchers, saw several strange pulsating blue lights that appeared on the outside walls of the kitchen at the farmhouse. Telephoning the local police, Taylor brought in deputy sheriff Thomas W.Price, from Lincoln County. At approximately 1.30am, Price arrived at the Reeves' property, and, as he got out of his squad car, saw a very fast moving unknown aerial object speeding from northeast to southeast. It emitted a high-pitched whine. It was orange and appeared to be spinning. It also made a complete stop, then passed on again towards the southeast. Price said that the object "made the hair on the back of my neck stand on end".

Other initially skeptical neighbours likewise reported odd occurrences. Five or six of them, described by police as "apparently sober", insisted that they had seen "stumplike" entities moving across an open field near the Reeves Farm on two occasions.

On another occasion, Douglas Whitlow, a 17-year old high school senior, found himself being followed down the Siletz-Toledo highway by a bright object that criss-crossed the road for over an Others watched strange lights through binoculars, some witnesses asserting that the objects were oval-shaped and that they appeared to be scanning Earth as though conducting a survey.

Similar sightings continued to be made in the Pioneer Mountain region into May, while the astonishing and unnerving activity around the Reeves Farm persisted to such a degree that it forced the Reeves to abandon their home. Apparently unable to stand these visitations any longer, the Reeves family suddenly left their home and left no forwarding address. Their present whereabouts is unknown.

This, and many other strange aspects of this series of sightings, are still under investigation. One day, perhaps, we will know the purpose behind these events, why the Reeves appear to have been singled out by the ufos, and what in fact became of the ill-fated family. All that is certain is that ufos continue to be sighted in this remote area of Oregon.
